Two Local Men Held in Robbery

Brothers Charles and Gordon Ervin Linked With Cox and Minder

Two Pontiac brothers were arrested in Detroit last night as suspected accomplices of accused bank robbers Hugh Cox and James Minder Jr., in the $4,800 robbery of an Ann Arbor supermarket last February.

The brothers were identified as Charles E. Ervin, 37, of 470 Oakland Ave., and Gordon Ervin, 27, of 88 W. Mansfield Ave.

They are held for investigation of armed robbery and as fugitives from justice. Both are ex-convicts.

Detroit Police said they arrested Charles Ervin in the Union depot as he inquired about Chicago train schedules. Gordon was seized at the Fort street depot entrance.

An unconfirmed report said that Cox' wife, Juanita, 19, lured the two men into the station. She reportedly fainted after police arrested the brothers.

Police indicated the Ervins were linked to the Feb. 26 holdup by Minder and Cox. But the brothers denied being involved. Cox also is from Pontiac and formerly lived in an apartment at the Mansfield address.

Officers who made the arrest with drawn guns said no weapons were found in the brothers' possession. A check of the Mansfield house turned up no incriminating evidence.

Police and FBI agents seized Minder, Cox and his teenaged wife last week in a Dearborn house. Minder and Cox were accused of the $53,000 robbery of the Manufacturers National Bank in Dearborn April 2.

They were indicted on the charge Tuesday by a federal grand jury in Detroit and face arraignment today.

7 'U.S. Spies' Get Death

LONDON (AP)—An Albanian court has sentenced seven men to death and another to 10 years imprisonment on charges of spying for the United States, Riana radio reported today.

State Health Officials Ask Doctors to OK Polio Tests

LANSING (AP) — An advisory group, meeting with the State Health Department, today asked the Michigan State Medical Society to approve the proposed program of inoculations with the new Salk anti-polio vaccine.

The resolution was approved by some 50 physicians attending a meeting on the proposed polio inoculation program.

They included representatives from the 11 counties planning to participate in the tests and members of a special advisory committee named to work with the State Health Department.

The resolution declared:

"That the medical people present recommend to the Michigan State Medical Society that it take favorable action and approve this (the anti-polio inoculations) program immediately."

Approval of the resolution was not unanimous since some of the physicians wanted to delete the word "immediately."

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, called the meeting to determine whether the state should go ahead with the test.

Still to be answered were the questions of just when the vaccine will be made available by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, and just who will

Williams to Reveal Political Aim Soon

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. G. Mennen Williams told a group of Democratic supporters last night that he would make an announcement within a week or 10 days, on whether he will run for the U. S. Senate or seek a fourth term as governor.

Williams' announcement at a dinner meeting came almost at the same time that Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit became the first candidate to announce officially his intention of seeking the Democratic nomination for senator.

Solons Unbiased on A-Scientist

To Wait and See but Probably Will Let AEC Handle Oppenheimer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional groups took a wait-and-see attitude today toward the government's suspension and investigation of pioneer atomic scientist J. Robert Oppenheimer on security grounds.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), declining to elaborate, said he has affidavits purporting to show that Oppenheimer once was a member of the Communist party—an affiliation the scientist has categorically denied.

From two other persons familiar with the case came statements that the accusations against Oppenheimer had been reviewed and discounted years ago. In notifying him of his suspension, however, the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) spoke of "additional investigation" last year.

The AEC said in a formal statement yesterday that President Eisenhower had ordered "a blank wall" placed temporarily between Oppenheimer, one of the chief developers of the atomic bomb, and secret data to which he has had access for over 10 years.

Pending the report of an AEC investigating panel headed by former Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray, Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY) and Sen. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) fixed a hands-off policy for the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

And McCarthy told newsmen at Phoenix, Ariz., that while Oppenheimer's suspension was "long overdue—it should have been taken years ago," he has no plans how to get into the case with the Senate investigations subcommittee he heads.

"I wouldn't want to interfere with anything that is being done," he said. "As long as the administration continues to act,

Merchant Wins GOP Primary

Joseph Meek to Oppose Paul Douglas of Illinois for Senate Seat

CHICAGO (AP)—Joseph T. Meek, who calls himself a "no-label, unhyphenated Republican," romped off with the Illinois GOP senatorial nomination early today in the nation's first primary of 1954.

The 50-year-old head of an organization of 60,000 Illinois merchants, Meek has said he would support most but not necessarily all of President Eisenhower's policies. But he says, too, he is neither "a Taft-Republican nor an Eisenhower-Republican."

All 25 Illinois House members were renominated, including four committee chairmen who overpowered varying degrees of competition.

In next November's Senate race, it will be Meek, a man who never has run for public office, before, against Paul H. Douglas, a first-term Democrat.

Douglas had no opponent in the Democratic primary.

Meek easily outdistanced Edward A. Hayes and left seven others in a nine-man field strung out back in the dust. Hayes is a former national commander of the American Legion.

Robert B. Chiperfield, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, finally beat back the challenge of Atty. Lawrence Stickell and took the Republican Congressional nomination in a district he has represented 16 years.

Harold H. Velde, chairman of the Un-American Affairs Committee, had an easier time of it with Robert Allison, a state representative for 20 years.

Chairman Leo Allen of the Rules Committee pushed past three opponents with no trouble, and Chairman Chauncey Reed of the Judiciary Committee took a pair of contestants into camp.

France Agrees to Britain-U.S. Asian Proposal

Bidault Says Plan to Halt Red Aggression Is in Line With His View

PARIS (AP) — France joined Britain and the United States today in declaring it would examine the possibility of creating a collective defense in Southeast Asia "to assure the peace, security and freedom of this area."

The agreement was announced in a communique issued jointly by U. S. Secretary of State Dulles and French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault after a day of conferences concerning Asian hot spots, to be discussed later this month at the Geneva conference.

The communique was in the same pattern as that issued by Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in London last night proposing to seek a military alliance of 10 nations to stem further Communist thrusts into Southeast Asia and the western Pacific.

The communique said:

"For nearly two centuries it has been the practice for representatives of our two nations to meet together to discuss the grave issues which from time to time have confronted us.

"In pursuance of this custom which we hope to continue for the benefit of ourselves and others, we have had an exchange of views on Indochina and Southeast Asia.

"Mr. Dulles expressed admiration for the gallant fight of the French Union forces who continue with unshakable courage and determination to repel Communist aggression."

Showers Predicted With 70-Degree High

Scattered thundershowers late tonight and Thursday are forecast for the Pontiac area by the U. S. Weather Bureau.

Considerable cloudiness tonight will be coupled with mild temperatures ranging from a low of 56 to 60 degrees. The high Thursday is expected to be from 66 to 70.

Tuesday's fair weather sent the mercury rising from a low of 43 to a high of 68 degrees here. A trace of rain was also recorded in the area yesterday.

At 8 a. m. today the reading was 55, but by 2 p. m. in downtown Pontiac the temperature stood at 72 degrees.

Jail 15 for Sabotage

It is a large white ballibuntal straw with flat crown and slightly curving brim. The edging is of navy blue grosgrain with navy grosgrain tabs at the back. The hat is shown by New York model, Pat Wing, who also wears a navy and white polka dot dress similar to that the first lady will wear.

As Long as Necessary

Britain Will Keep Troops on Guard Duty in Europe

LONDON (AP) — Britain pledged today to keep troops on the European continent as long as there is a threat of aggression.

To speed French ratification of the six-nation European Army Treaty, Britain also offered to integrate army and air force units in the European Defense Community.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden announced the pledge in the House of Commons to quiet fears in France—and among left wing Laborites at home—over rearming West Germany.

West German units would be included in the projected one-uniform European army.

The U.S.-backed EDC treaty has been ratified by the Netherlands, Belgium, West Germany and Luxembourg. Only Italy and France have yet to enact the treaty legislation.

The British pledge represented an effort by London to meet a condition attached by the French Assembly to its own consideration of the treaty—closer British association with the defense organization.

Eden told Commons that Britain regards the 20-year NATO pact "as of indefinite duration, and are confident that it will develop as an enduring association for common action between the member states."

Explaining the agreement reached yesterday with the six EDC countries, Eden said:

"Her Majesty's government have undertaken to continue to maintain on the mainland of Europe,

Highway Patrol Increased by 50

New State Policemen to Be Watching Roads by Autumn

LANSING (AP) — Fifty additional State Police officers will be patrolling Michigan highways this fall in an effort to cut down the state's rising traffic toll.

A special legislative appropriation of $261,300 will pay for the additions to the State Police highway force.

"We'd like to get them on the highways by Labor Day," said Commissioner Joseph A. Childs, "But I'm afraid it won't be possible. The new men should be on duty, though, by some time in September."

Childs said the State Civil Service Commission is now taking applications for the additions to the force.

2nd Yard Burns Within 12 Days; Loss $125,000

Firemen Detect Smell of Kerosene at Lee Co. Blaze; Suspects Freed

An arsonist, believed responsible for at least three fires in Fenton within 12 days, was sought by State Police and Fenton detectives today.

The rapid spread of the $125,000 fire which swept the Lee Lumber Co. early today and "the odor of kerosene or fuel oil" at the scene led officials to believe a firebug was responsible.

Less than two weeks ago the Fenton Lumber Co. was destroyed by a $250,000 fire. Twice yesterday firemen were called to extinguish blazes at a barn on the Judge Ira Jayne farm. The farm is on the outskirts of the village.

"There is a definite possibility of arson," Det. Jack Coltson of the State Police arson squad said after visiting the scene of today's fire.

"There isn't anything in there we believe could have started it," he said.

"Several firemen said they smelled the odor of kerosene or fuel oil," he added. "And although I didn't get here until an hour and a half after the fire started, firemen reported that it spread rapidly, which is unusual for a lumber yard fire."

Similar rapid spreading was reported in the other lumber yard fire.

Destroyed today were "six or seven carloads" of lumber and two trucks said co-owner Lynn Avery. Avery owns the Lee firm with Floyd Lee.

Also damaged was the Universal Machine Co. which is next to the Lee yard. The machine company manufactures jet airplane parts and the 50 firemen fought to keep the fire from damaging costly machinery there.

Squads from Holly, Linden and Swartz Creek aided the Fenton fire fighters.

First alarm on the blaze came at 2:11 a.m. The first call on the Fenton Lumber Co. fire was set at 2:30 a.m. The two barn alarms yesterday came at 2:30 and 11:30 p.m., Coltson said.

The lumber yards are a few blocks apart, while the Jayne barn is about a mile away, he said.

A skeleton crew of firemen is expected to remain at the lumber yard all day to snuff out further outbreaks.

A giant crane was brought in this morning to permit firemen to extinguish buried smoldering remains.

Fenton fireman Howard Craft, who fought both lumber yard fires said both seemed to start the same way. "The places were all afire at once," he said.

Two Flint youths, picked up near the scene this morning, were released. Coltson termed them "eager beavers who wanted to be firemen."

Liquor Action Postponed

Renewal of 'C' Licenses Delayed by Commission

Renewal of 27 1954 liquor licenses was postponed one week by Pontiac City Commission last night after one member questioned the legality of 12 licenses. Before the commission last night were class C, tavern and hotel licenses.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles of District 4 said he thought the last dozen class C liquor-by-the-glass permits issued might be illegal because they increased the total over the 24 allowed by a city ordinance.

There are 35 class C permits in Pontiac now, but only a few of these were up for renewal last night, according to City Clerk Ada R. Evans.

City Attorney William A. Ewart stated the city ordinance conflicted with a state law which allows more class C licenses, one for every 1,500 people in Pontiac.

In his opinion, Ewart said, the 12 permits questioned are legal. "The state attorney general and Oakland County Circuit Court have ruled in line with this opinion," he added.

"However, appeal proceedings are pending to the Michigan Supreme Court on the Circuit Court decision," Ewart said.

Commissioner John E. Carry of District 6 moved to renew the licenses, but Miles' motion to defer action one week was passed with only Carey opposed.

Jesus Breaks Bread With Disciples in 'Last Supper'

Judas Iscariot Gives Betrayal Kiss to Rebel Teacher Expecting Arrest

Editor's Note: This is the third of six articles in which reporter Ora Spaid tells of the events of Christ's last seven days, in the style of today's news.

By ORA SPAID
Pontiac Press Special Writer

JERUSALEM, Nisan 15 (Thursday).—A kiss of betrayal by Judas Iscariot, a disciple of Jesus, tonight identified the rebel Nazarene rabbi for arrest by Jewish High Priest Caiaphas's palace guards.

Led by Judas to Gethsemane, overlooking Jerusalem, the guards took Jesus into custody after his disciple stepped from the troops, approached the rabbi saying, "Master, Master," and kissed him.

The betrayal occurred only a few hours after Jesus had predicted, for a second time, that he would be betrayed and crucified.

The 33-year-old teacher announced his imminent betrayal to 12 of his closest followers at a ceremonial dinner held in observance of the Feast of Passover.

The earlier forecast of doom by the bearded, frail man who is accused of claiming to be the son of God came yesterday at Bethany, when he said he would be "betrayed to be crucified."

Although Jesus did not name his betrayer, Judas was seen yesterday entering the grounds of Caiaphas's palace, where the high priests were meeting.

Caiaphas had announced that prosecution of Jesus would be delayed until after the feast day. Both he and Judas refused to comment on the arrest of Jesus.

A source close to the rabbi said at the dinner Jesus also predicted wavering by another of the inner group. He was said to have told Peter (Simon Bar Jonah), a disciple:

"On this night, before the cock crows three times, you will deny me three times."

JUDAS ISCARIOT BETRAYS JESUS IN GETHSEMANE

Peter could not be found for comment.

The source said during the dinner Jesus told his followers it would be his last with them. He outlined a memorial ritual for them.

He was reported to have taken a portion of bread from the feast table and asked his associates to eat it, telling them:

"This is my body, which is given for you. Do this in remembrance of me."

Then the rabbi was said to have given them wine to drink. He likened it to his blood.

"This cup is the new testament of my blood," he said, "which is shed for you."

The source could not explain the significance of the ritual. He suggested, however, that the 12 disciples at the dinner apparently are convinced their leader will soon die.

On the other hand, they were said to have argued over what positions each would hold when Jesus assumed kingship.

Jesus was quoted as reprimanding them by saying:

"The kings of the Gentiles

Birmingham Plan Board Ponders Ways of Solving Traffic Problems in City

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—Looking to future development of land north of the Pembrook area of the city, Birmingham's planning board last night discussed several ways to prevent through north-south traffic from flooding the residential streets in the area.

Plans considered were vacating Edenborough and St. Andrews streets from Pembroke to Derby; erecting street diversions, or to channel the traffic to the east or west.

Also considered were: 1. Moving a house to the vacated portion of either Edenborough or St. Andrews, and cutting a street through the resulting empty lot, or 2. Vacating Edenborough between Buckingham and Windemere, adjacent to the end of Pembroke park, and vacating St. Andrews from Pembroke to Derby, thus staggering the direct north-south routes.

Planning Director Robert Boatman told the board that a one-day origin and destination survey has been scheduled for the W. Maple-Cranbrook Rd. intersection, to gather traffic flow information.

Boatman added that the information will help determine the volumes of traffic that would use 14-Mile road if it were extended to Cranbrook road.

A May 3 hearing to rezone property bounded by Eton road, the Grand Trunk Western Railroad right-of-way and Graefield Terraces from single family residence to terrace zoning was called by the City Commission this week.

This followed Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty's opinion Monday that single-family rule there is "confiscatory and unreasonable."

The case was brought against the city by the Industrial Land Co., Frank Newell and others after the city refused to re-zone the area to multiple or business zoning.

City Attorney Forbes Hascall said the Pembroke Manor Assn., intervening party in the case, still has the right to appeal.

2 Pontiac Places Report Breakins

$100 in Tools Stolen at Well Driller's; Housing Office Damaged

About $100 worth of tools including 500 feet of hose were stolen by thieves who broke into a well drilling firm's storage shed, Pontiac Police reported today.

Meanwhile police said that the Lakeside Housing Commission Office at 535 Branch St., had been entered last night for the second time within seven days.

Roy B. MacAfee, executive director, said nothing was taken. Entry was gained through a broken window.

Last Thursday night vandals broke into the office and caused about $2,500 damage in an unsuccessful safecracking attempt.

Joseph W. Gable, Pontiac Water Works superintendent, said the breakin at the well drilling building was only one in a series of burglaries and vandalisms that has plagued the firm since operations began on a new well on Telegraph road extension near Little Silver Lake.

Since last November the company's drilling rig has been riddled with bullet holes, tools have been stolen and the well casing clogged with scrap iron.

The firm, Lane-Northern Co. of Lansing, is drilling the new well to augment Pontiac's water supply. Work, according to Gable, has been seriously hampered by the vandalism.

In the latest breakin, thieves took several wrenches, shovels and two hose nozles in addition to the hose. Entry was gained by breaking a door lock. Police said the shed was entered early yesterday or Monday night.

Solons Keeping Out of Scientist Probe

there is no reason for us to move in."

Discussing the Princeton, N. J., scientist's case with newsmen, McCarthy said, "I have affidavits that show that he was a member of the Communist party" and that he had "hired and recruited individuals who were Communists or at least had been Communists to handle atomic work." The senator did not say who had made the affidavits.

Oppenheimer, 49, has freely acknowledged associating with some Communists and fellow travelers years ago, but said he thinks his experience makes him more fit to serve the government. He is contesting the charges and has asked for a hearing. Since June 1952 he has been an AEC consultant.

* * *

Cole and Hickenlooper said in a joint statement yesterday that when the "orderly review" of the case is completed by the AEC, the Senate-House committee "will be in a position to take whatever action, if any, may be appropriate in the public interest." Cole is chairman and Hickenlooper vice-chairman of the group.

The AEC said that "propriety requires that it make no further statement" pending a decision.

"The disposition of this case is within the responsibility and authority of the Atomic Energy Commission," Cole and Hickenlooper said. "The joint committee has found no fault with the procedures taken by the Atomic Energy Commission in this case . . .

"We do not believe it necessary for further congressional action at this time."

Former President Truman was asked about Oppenheimer last night following a speech at the University of Missouri. Declining to comment in detail, he said:

"I inherited Dr. Oppenheimer. He was considered a great scientist — one of the greatest—in connection with the atomic bomb. Don't convict anybody by implication or gossip."

Hospital Superintendent Elected to Trusteeship

Sister Mary William, superintendent of St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here, has been elected a member of Detroit Area Hospital Council's board of trustees.

The Pontiac superintendent will serve a three-year term. Council members elected Jacqus Cousin, Oakwood Hospital director, as new president.

Collision on Cass Damages 5 Cars on Used Auto Lot

An automobile involved in a two-car accident yesterday veered into a used car lot at 57 Cass Ave. and smashed into five autos, causing an estimated $400 to $600 damage.

Robert Kidd, 62, of the Chapman Hotel, told Pontiac Police that the impact of a collision with a car driven by Thomas G. Walls, 64, of 3221 Dixie Highway, caused him to lose control of his auto.

The car swerved over the curb and sidewalk and plunged into the Central Lincoln-Mercury Used Car Lot. One of the parked cars was severely damaged, said Fred Foster, use car manager.

Kidd was making a left turn off Cass avenue when struck by the Walls car. Walls was ticketed for having defective brakes. Neither man was injured.

Fowler Gets Word Reese Is Appointed

BIRMINGHAM—Postmaster Bernard E. Fowler has been notified that Roland W. Reese has been designated acting postmaster.

Fowler received a letter from Assistant Postmaster-General N. R. Abrams yesterday with the notification.

Postmaster here since 1948, Fowler was dismissed last October for "operational irregularities."

His ouster appeal to the regional Civil Service office was rejected and he is currently appealing to the Civil Service Commission in Washington. He has not received any word on the appeal.

Abrams' letter set no date for the changeover.

Williams Blasts GOP 'Inaction'

Congressmen, Millard Counterattack in Gas Rate Dispute

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams lambasted Michigan Republican congressmen for inaction while petitioning the Federal Power Commission to reopen a hearing on new wholesale natural gas rates. And the Republicans also fired inaction charges at the governor.

Williams wired the FPC yesterday after Rep. Charles Oakman (R-Mich) said it was reliably reported that the commission planned to grant a Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co. request for an increase in its rates.

Oakman said the increase would cost Michigan natural gas consumers more than $400,000,000. He has presented a bill to the House Commerce Committee which would forbid the FPC from granting Panhandle a rate based on the "fair field value" of its resources. He charged that Panhandle's proposal would change the rate-making formula.

Earlier he had sent Williams a wire in which he said, "Your failure to give our cause real support may spell its defeat."

In turn, Williams charged "deals" in the 1952 political campaign.

Republican Atty. Gen. Millard also fired an "inaction" charge at the Democrat governor. Millard filed a request for FPC reopening of the hearing almost simultaneously with Williams.

The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., one of Panhandle's largest customers, also has asked for a reopening. Many of Michigan Consolidated's customers are in the Detroit area.

Health Officials Ask OK of Polio Tests

stake the responsibility if anything should go wrong in the tests.

It was the concensus of the group that safeguards to be set up in the laboratory were sufficient to assure that there would be no live virus in the vaccine.

Dr. Thomas Francis Jr. of the University of Michigan School of Public Health said very extensive tests would be run in three laboratories to check on the safety of the vaccine.

He said that the tests would then be reviewed by Dr. Thomas Rivers, chairman of the special advisory committee to the National Foundation for Infantile Parlysis.

Dr. Francis quoted from a letter from Dr. Albert E. Engelbach, medical consultant for the national foundation.

"Only after Dr. Rivers personally certifies to the national foundation that a lot has met the minimum specifications, and that the safety tests indicate that no live virus is present, will the national foundation in turn release that lot to you," the letter said.

Dr. Otto K. Engelke, director of the Washtenaw County Health Department which has withdrawn from the test, objected that Dr. Rivers did not represent an official unit of any department of government.

"Sometimes I think I would rather take the guarantee from an independent laboratory than from some governmental agency," responded Dr. Russell Allen of Adrian.

Dr. John R. Pedden Jr. of Grand Rapids, president of the Kent County Medical Society, said it should be pointed out that as far as known now the polio vaccine is as safe as any other vaccine that is administered daily.

Dr. Vlado A. Getting, who said he was representing the city of Detroit at the hearing, said there was still some possibility that there might be some live virus in each batch of the vaccine.

Dr. Francis said the possibility was so small "that statisticians can't figure it."

Little Leaguers Meet Saturday for Team Trials

BIRMINGHAM—Tryouts for Birmingham's eight Little League baseball teams will be held at 9 a.m. Saturday.

American League candidates — those living south of a west Maple-Woodward-east Lincoln dividing line—will report to St. James Field.

Boys who want to play on National League teams—those living north of the line—will work out at Pierce School.

All boys in the 8 to 12-year-old group will report at the same time this week. On the following three Saturdays, separate times will be assigned each age bracket.

William R. Barrett, league president, urges all fathers desiring to take part in this year's program to show up at the tryouts. Last year more than 500 Birmingham boys played on major or minor Little League teams.

Boys who fail to make a major league squad are assigned to one of 16 farm teams which also play regular schedules.

Boy Seriously Hurt Darting Before Car

A five-year-old Waterford Township youth injured when he was struck by an auto yesterday is in critical condition today at Pontiac General Hospital with face and head cuts, a concussion and a fractured leg.

Buddy Lee White, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Q. White of 2743 Mott, was playing with a group of children on the shoulder of Pontiac Lake road near Tyrone street, when he suddenly darted in front of an eastbound car driven by Harlan J. Henderson, 30, of 5838 Tubbs Rd., Waterford Township. Michigan Sate Police of the Pontiac Post said.

Crushed by Truck in 3rd Suicide Try

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Police said a 35-year-old Detroit man took his own life last night by throwing himself under the wheels of a truck after failing twice to kill himself in similar fashion a few minutes previously.

The man was identified as Donald P. Donaldson. He died of internal injuries shortly after he was admitted to Receiving Hospital. Police said witnesses described how Donaldson stood on a corner and suddenly stepped off the curb in front of an auto. The driver swerved and missed the man.

Moments later, Donaldson ran in front of a semi-trailer truck driven by James Garrison, 35, of Walcottville, Ind. Garrison swung the truck in an effort to avoid the pedestrian. However, Donaldson was hit by the right front fender. Donaldson was uninjured and Garrison drove on.

Seconds later, Donaldson succeeded. He was fatally injured when he dived under the rear wheels of a tractor-trailer unit driven by 25-year-old John E. Reade of LaGrange, Ind. Reade was not held.

Find 2 Detroit Boys Missing for Four Days

DETROIT (AP) — Two brothers, one 11 and the other 9, were safe today after living outdoors for four days. Police said the two told them they ran away from home because their parents beat them.

The parents, Kenneth Shrader, 34, and his wife, Brunelle, 32, were detained by police for investigation of cruelty to children. Mrs. Shrader is the stepmother of the boys, William and George.

Police had searched for the boys since their disappearance last Friday. The two said they had slept in a truck parked in a field.

When William and George complained of beatings, police said they talked with neighbors of the Shraders. Questioning of the parents followed.

Say Boston Newsmen Paid by Race Track

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)— The Journal-Bulletin today printed a story saying 10 Boston newspapermen were paid sums by the Rockingham Park race track last year ranging from $100 to $2,500.

The newspaper quotes Lou Smith, vice president and general manager of the Salem, N.H., track as saying the men were paid for services ranging from "not doing a d— thing" to assisting in the publicity department.

The paper quotes him further as saying the practice was "more or less necessary" to run an efficient publicity bureau and that it was an "accepted practice" to assist newspapermen.

Sam Cohen, sports editor, Boston Record, $2,500.

George Clarke, columnist, Boston Record, $600.

Robert A. Waldo, track writer, Boston American, $100.

William McCauley, track writer, Boston Record, $600.

Matthew Keany, sports writer, Boston American, $500.

Gardner L. Frost, bureau manager, United Press, $500.

The Boston Post issued a statement saying Robinson is not an employe of that newspaper but "is a private contractor who sells a race service" to the Post and other papers.

Frank J. Starzel, general manager of The Associated Press, said King was dismissed after the news service investigated reports "that a member of its Boston staff had received substantial payments from a New England race track in 1952 and 1953 which were not disclosed to his employer."

Bert Masterson, New York-New England division manager of the United Press, issued a statement saying Frost "resigned voluntarily from the United Press on Monday, April 12. He had been with the UP for 17 years."

No executive of the Record-American, which, the Journal-Bulletin said, had six writers listed, was available for comment.

exercise lordship over them; they are called benefactors. But with you this shall not be so. He that is greatest among you, let him be as the younger. He that is chief, let him be as one who serves."

This remark was interpreted by an officer of Caiaphas's staff as further evidence of insurrection by Jesus. By upholding the status of the Jewish layman, Jesus could be considered as attacking the claimed holiness of the priests.

The officer would not say whether this remark touched off a reconsideration of the situation, which led to Jesus's arrest. He said he did not know what charges would be brought against the Nazarene.

Beresford Mayor of Bloomfield Hills

Remove 8-Foot Splinter

ARCATA, Calif. (AP)—Trinity Hospital reports Virgil Cates, 43, is doing all right after having a splinter removed from his abdomen.

The splinter was 2x1½ inches by 8 feet and was driven through the right side of his abdomen and out the left in a lumber mill mishap Monday.

Pontiac Deaths

Mrs. Mary Ann Bicknell

After a prolonged illness, Mrs. Mary Ann Bicknell, 81, of 50 S. Jessie St., died Tuesday morning.

Born Feb. 16, 1873, in Webster County, Mo., she was the daughter of John and Lucinda Burnett Hooten. She came to Pontiac eight years ago.

Surviving are two sons and two daughters, Josephus Bicknell, Mrs. Alice Sage and Mrs. Dorothy Myers of Pontiac and Charles W. of Bicknell, Ind.

Also surviving are three brothers, Grover of Alton, Ill., William of Bicknell, Ernest of Grand Rapids; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Chadwick of Saginaw; five grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The body is at the Pursley Funeral Home.

Elmer J. Hickmott

Elmer J. Hickmott, 81, of 152 E. Iroquois Rd. died at his residence Tuesday at 3:45 p. m.

Born Oct. 8, 1872, in Pontiac Township, he was the son of James and Cecelia Hickmott. He married Alice C. Richardson July 1, 1896.

Mr. Hickmott, who was a retired farmer, had resided in Pontiac 27 years.

Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters and a son, Mrs. Merrill D. Petrie and Kenneth R. Hickmott of Pontiac, Mrs. B. Dow Ellwood of Birmingham, and five grandchildren.

Also surviving are three sisters and a brother, Mrs. Mary Bigler of Auburn Heights, Mrs. Maurice Brownell and Ralph Hickmott of Oxford and Mrs. Floyd LeRoy of New Lothrop.

Funeral will be Saturday at 11 a. m. from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel, with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery.

William E. Westfall

Funeral for William E. Westfall, 83, of 498 Cameron Ave. will be Friday at 3 p. m. from the Voorhees-Siple Chapel. Elder Rigby Leighton of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints will officiate. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Mr. Westfall died Tuesday.

James E. Williams

After an illness of four months, James E. Williams, 65, of 40 Clarence St. died at 2:35 a. m. today in Pontiac General Hospital.

Born in Arcadia Township, Lapeer County, June 6, 1888, he was the son of James E. and Eliza Jane Hicks Williams. He married Ethel Joy Hunter at Mt. Clemens, Jan. 28, 1910 and came to Pontiac 40 years ago. He was a carpenter.

Besides his widow he is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Earl Frick of Clarkston, Mrs. Kenneth Duberville of Pontiac; two sons, Roy of Metamora and Russell of Pontiac; 10 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Norman Turner of Imlay City.

Funeral will be Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at Voorhees-Siple Chapel. Dr. H. H. Savage of First Baptist Church will officiate, and burial will be in Perry Mt. Park Cemetery.

including Germany, such armed forces as may be necessary and appropriate to contribute a fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area.

"We have also stated that we have no intention of withdrawing from the continent of Europe so long as the threat exists to the security of Western Europe and of the European Defense Community."

Eden disclosed Britain is "ready to place a British armored division within an EDC corps. This will be one of our armored divisions now in Germany."

"When the European air forces have been formed," Eden said, "it is our intention that Royal Air Force units shall participate with European units in each Nato air group.

"They will be controlled by a single integrated headquarters."

Racing Head Given Show Cause Order

LANSING (AP) — The State Supreme Court today ordered State Racing Commissioner James H. Inglis to show cause May 18 why the court should not order him to permit running races at Northville Downs in October.

Mark Leach petitioned the court on March 31 to issue a writ of mandamus against Inglis to permit Leach to operate a 24-day meet beginning Oct. 4.

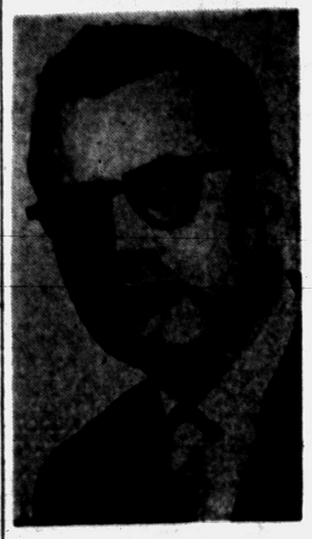

Leach operates Green Acres stock farm in Bloomfield Township, Oakland County. He has entered into an agreement with Northville Downs for use of the track for the meet.

Makes Comeback in Belgium

Brilliant Paul-Henri Spaak Tells Europe: Unite or Die

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Paul-Henri Spaak, one-time "boy terror of socialism" and "Bolshevik in a dinner jacket," has made a comeback in Belgian politics.

The impact may be felt throughout Europe, as well as Belgium.

His Sosialist party gained nine seats in the chamber of deputies in Sunday's parliamentary election, largely at the expense of Premier Jan Van Houtte's Social Christian party.

Dispatches from Brussels say Spaak probably wil become premier or foreign minister— or both — in a Sosial-Liberal coalition government.

In him, Belgium has one of the most brilliant statesman of Europe. Some say he is the most brilliant in his own field of foreign affairs.

Spaak is recognized as one of the world's outstanding orators.

He is the foremost champion of European "integration" — the unification of the nations of Western Europe in a historical unprecedented economic and political coalition.

"Unite or die," he warns.

At 55, Spaak is already one of the most durable men in European politics.

He entered parliament in 1929, was made foreign minister for the first time in 1936, and became the youngest premier in Belgian history in 1938, when he was 39.

Spaak is burly, with a cherubic round face and little twinkling eyes. He wears a big floppy sombrero-type hat that makes him look like a conspirator.

His mother, Belgium's first woman senator, was a Socialist and Spaak followed her. His idea as a youth was to destroy everything and start afresh.

He was called the "boy terror of socialism" because of his radical views in those days — long since abandoned — and "Bolshevik in a dinner jacket" because, as a member of a wealthy family, he was a member of exclusive clubs. He is athletic and was a tennis player of national rank.

Spaak has led mobs and has been beaten by mobs. He was imprisoned for two years in World War I when the Germans caught him trying to get through their lines to join the Belgian Army.

He was imprisoned in Vichy, France, in World War II, escaped to Spain only to be arrested by the Franco government and escaped to London disguised as a Francisan monk.

Spaak's international ranking as a statesman is shown by the fact that he was elected first president of the United Nations assembly and chosen first president of the organization charged with carrying out the Schuman plan to merge Western European coal and steel resources. Those are only two of similar posts to which he has been elevated.

Average Navy Plane Costs $814,450 in 1954

WASHINGTON (AP)—The average cost of naval airplanes is increasing about 50 per cent in a single year, but the Navy says they're better planes.

Rear Adm. Apollo Coucek, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics, told a House Appropriations subcommittee last month that planes cost an average of $814,450 each in the fiscal year ending this June 30.

For the next fiscal year, he estimated the average cost for all types of planes at $1,292,720.

Tenor to Resume Role in Carmen to Grim Finish

PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Tenor David Poleri once again will assume the role of Don Jose in the opera "Carmen" to complete some unfinished business: the stabbing of soprano Gloria Lane.

The pair appeared together ina New York City Opera Company production of the opera last Nov. 19 in Chicago.

And Poleri, 28, in what the company called an "emotional outburst," stalked off the stage, leaving Miss Lane, as the heroine, unstabbed. She improvised a natural death to conclude the performance.

A spokesman for the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company said Poleri "would stay around to finish the job this time" when the pair do Carmen here April 29.

State Rep. Werner, Wife Hurt in Crash

REED CITY (AP) — State Rep. Harry B. Werner (R-Leroy) and his wife, Mary, 64, were injured last night when their car overturned after colliding with another, 12 miles northeast of Reed City.

Werner, 65, suffered face cuts. His wife suffered shoulder and ankle injuries. Both were taken to Reed City hospital for treatment.

State Police said the representatives' car overturned after a collision with another auto driven by C. M. Kenney, 64, of Route 1, Leroy.

Car Runs Red Light, Kills Detroit Woman

DETROIT (INS) — A 47-year-old Detroit woman was killed early today when her car, stoped for a traffic signal, was hit by another auto speeding through a red light.

The victim was Mrs. Mildred Schneider. Police held the driver of the speeding vehicle, 19-year-old Jimmie King of Detroit, as a police prisoner in Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital. He suffered a possible skull fracture and severe lacerations.

Two passengers riding with King received temporarily serious injuries. They were Robert Maney, 20, and Walter Matthews, 20, both of Detroit.

Injured Rabbi Endures Years of Pain but Comes Back to His Loving People

By DR. MORRIS KERTZER
Director, Interreligious Activities
Division of The American Jewish Committee

DR. KERTZER

One February night in 1947, George and Sylvia Lieberman caught the crack Red Arrow Express in Canton, Ohio for New York. They were fast asleep in their berths when suddenly, without warning, the train shuddered violently, left the tracks and plunged into a deep ravine. Half a dozen passenger cars were scattered over the hillside.

George Lieberman, rabbi of the McKinley Avenue Reform Temple in Canton, was in Upper 6 of a Pullman coach. When the train catapulted, his berth snapped shut, trapping Lieberman with his legs inside the jammed compartment and his body hanging head down, in the aisle.

The pain and the shock brought immediate unconsciousness. When he came to, there were moans and shrieks — and utter darkness. He shouted his wife's name, but there was no answer.

He did not know that the car had buckled and Sylvia Lieberman had been hurled to the other half of the Pullman car, badly bruised, but safe.

Knowing that his spine injury would be aggravated without some support for his back, Rabbi Leiberman managed to pull some suitcases and bedding under him.

Others among the injured and the dying heard that there was a rabbi in their car, and called on this man of God to pray.

Over the sound of the moaning and the tears, the calm voice of the rabbi was heard, repeating the familiar words of the Psalms; "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me."

Lieberman, in such unbearable pain that he occasionally blacked out for minutes at a time, forgot himself as he forced his weary voice to bring solace to those around him.

Slowly the work of removing the dead and the injured got under way. There were 25 dead, 100 injured. Some six hours after the wreck, the salvage crew reached the rabbi's berth.

The rescue men set to work on the locked berth. The tedious work of prying the rabbi loose took almost an hour. For a while it was thought that his legs would have to be amputated to release him.

As his closest rescuer labored with his tools, George Lieberman tried to remove some of the tension under which he worked. "What is your name, my friend?" he asked.

"Gabriel," came the casual reply.

"Gabriel," the rabbi whispered, half in jest, half in delirium. "Are you from here or from up there?"

The six-hour ordeal in that locked Pullman berth left the rabbi's legs paralyzed. Some of his doctors held out little hope that he would ever leave a wheel chair. Without the wonders of modern science, he could never have survived.

But medicine alone did not work this miracle. It rested heavily on Lieberman's indomitable courage and spirit — a spirit kept buoyant during the weeks and months of pain, uncertainty and disappointment, by the unfailing love and affection of all with whom he came in contact.

And later, as weeks became months and months years, when even as strong a spirit as George Lieberman's was tempted to give way to despair, there was the faith of his congregation to sustain him.

For they waited patiently, certain that one day he would return. They had gone along without a spiritual leader, making no effort to retire or replace him, content with improvised arrangements — until their rabbi could come back to them.

And from the very first day of the accident, his congregation of well-wishers had mushroomed to include the entire community of Canton. Christians and Jews alike sent gifts and letters to Lieberman's bedside to wish him well and tell him that he was not alone.

During these years, Rabbi Lieberman learned also the brotherhood of suffering as he brought solace and hope to others in the hospital.

He wrote to a friend: "Even when submerged in a whirlpool of hot water, in a cast, in a wheel chair or on crutches, undergoing physical therapy or secluded in a hospital room, I can carry on my ministry."

Finally, Rabbi Lieberman made the attempt to preach in his own temple for the first time in three years. A steel brace supported his back, another brace lent strength to his legs, as he inched his way to the center of the pulpit and eased himself into a specially constructed device which made him appear to be standing, though he was sitting down.

In one of the front pews, his wife nodded to him with a smile of encouragement. The congregation arose to chant the Shema, the ancient Hebrew affirmation of faith.

Rabbi Lieberman then thanked the good people who sat in the pews befor him, "What," he asked in his sermon, "are life's most precious possessions?"

He spoke of simple things, homely matters, things we take for granted like the air we breathe.

Speaking in the shadow of 35 months of nightmarish suffering, the rabbi concluded: "Whatever the circumstance, the crisis, the pain and the failure, whatever 'the bludgeoning of chance,' do not give up. Hold on. Live on. And pray."

The prayers were ended and the rabbi intoned the benediction.

The congregants filed past the rabbi as they left the sanctuary. "Good Sabbath, Rabbi. Good Sabbath, Mrs. Lieberman. Welcome back."

Abandoned Vessel Claimed as Salvage

ST. JOHNS, Nfld. (AP)—A capricious windstorm sent 10 Canadian sailors rowing to safety yesterday, then turned their abandoned 100-ton motorship into the path of another vessel which claimed her as a salvage prize.

Capt. Frank Collins and his nine-man crew fled from the leaking, coal-carrying Cornwall II when her engine failed and a roaring wind drove her toward the jagged rocks of Newfoundland's Burin Peninsula.

They rowed safely to Grand Bank.

But a change of wind headed the Cornwall back to sea. The 235-ton Alberto Wareham grabbed her and towed her to Burin.

New Mayor Experienced

Our new City Commission's unanimous choice of William W. Donaldson to serve as Mayor for the next two years was both a happy and a natural one.

He alone among the six new Commissioners has experience in our municipal government. A member of the Commission from 1944 through 1948, Mr. Donaldson served both terms as Mayor pro tem, a post that will be filled during the next two years by Commissioner John A. Dugan.

★ ★ ★

Our new Mayor was born in Pontiac 48 years ago and got his higher education at the Universities of Michigan and Colorado and his degree from the latter institution. Besides the insurance agency he operates, Mayor Donaldson is president of the Pontiac Foundation and is active in many business and civic groups.

It is good to know that such an experienced hand is at the municipal helm.

Stockpiling Speedup

President Eisenhower has decided on a new policy that will result in a speed-up of strategic metals stockpiling.

The policy which the Office of Defense Mobilization has been asked to put into operation as soon as possible has cheered lawmakers from the mining States.

According to Congressional Quarterly, it calls for an ODM review of stockpiling objectives and will affect 35 to 40 metals and minerals. The White House stipulates that these purchases are to be made, whenever possible, from domestic producers and spread over a considerable period of time. The policy also provides that in purchasing, preference will be given metals newly mined, and minerals of domestic origin.

★ ★ ★

Utah's Sen. Bennett welcomed this program as "an evidence of the Administration's good will toward our domestic mining industry which has long been in dire need of solid assistance." Though approving the program, Sen. Dworshak of Idaho argues that the real solution for the mining States is to slow imports of lead and zinc.

On the other hand, Utah's Sen. Watkins also applauded the announcement and added:

"If the buying and stockpiling is sufficiently large, and I have assurance it will be, this will contribute to the reopening of mines now closed and will help keep in operation mines now on the verge of closing."

Besides its effect on stimulating employment in Mountain States, this policy has another great virtue. It will prepare us better for a metal shortage which might develop in the event of unexpected war.

Why Should We Pay Them?

Dispatches from The Hague indicate the dispute over compensation to discharged American employes of the United Nations soon will be taken up by the World Court.

The dispute arose when 17 American employes of the U. N. Secretariat were discharged after invoking the Fifth Amendment. It is charged that they did this to avoid answering questions about their alleged Communist and pro-Communist activities.

After examining their appeals from these dismissals, a U. N. tribunal decreed that the employes be reinstated or paid a total of $197,000 damages.

The United States, largest contributor to U. N., rightly objects to paying these damages. Our Government holds that the tribunal's decision is reviewable by the General Assembly, and the latter has taken the case to the World Court.

After accusing the Assembly of pussyfooting on this issue which it had investigated, the Jenner Committee said in its second report:

"...the subcommittee feels strongly that there must be no restrictions on the power of the Secretary General to remove from the Secretariat any U. S. citizen who is under Communist discipline and to deny employment to any such person.

"We cannot allow the U. N. to become a cover for the Communist conspiracy to destroy our Government nor should the U. N. subject itself to the deteriorating influence of such a conspiracy against any of its member states."

The Committee is 100 per cent right. Persistence of these discharged employes and the Assembly's action simply puts ammunition in the hands of those who already are suspicious of this international body.

Helen G. Ferguson Urges Humane Care of Baby Rabbits, Chicks at Easter Time

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

It is something of a paradox that the Easter season, the time of year when all Christianity should naturally be turning to thoughts of kindness and compassion, should be chosen by commercial interests for the sale of tiny members of the animal kingdom as pets for children.

Baby chicks and rabbits are the most common animals sold for this purpose, but ducklings are also included on the sales list.

Baby rabbits require careful attention by an adult who will be responsible for the animals' care. Like the chicks, they will not survive mauling, improper food or improper living conditions.

Animal lovers are legion in this country. It would be most distasteful to them to deal with a store that so offends their sense of justice.

Says Christians Know Foes; Must Fight Them

Mr. Keeling's recent letter seems to be an echo to some of my own. Any sincere, born again Christian should realize that we must include God the Father, Son and Holy Spirit in our lives, not only family but national.

To stand up for Jesus and fight against His foes, regardless of the consequence. Let the U.S. go back to the early church . . . the beginning with Peter and John being put into prison and after warned by the enemies of God not to preach anymore.

Every true Christian must come out in the open for his Saviour, willing even unto death.

We must fight the enemies of our Lord in open battle and we know who they are! So onward Christian soldiers.

Oppenheimer Publicity Given by Him; AEC Was Protecting Individual's Rights

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, leading atomic scientist, has been formally suspended by President Eisenhower and the Atomic Energy Commission from access to classified material pending a study of his security status.

This strange case illustrates better than millions of words of debate or television pictures what a difficult problem the government of the United States is up against nowadays.

On the one hand, the congressional committees are assailed as unfair and as engaged in "witch hunting," and the cry is heard that every man must be considered innocent until proved guilty.

But, on the other hand, affiliation with the government is not a right or privilege and employes can be ruled as security risks merely because there is reasonable doubt as to their eligibility to remain in the government. It is not a court procedure at all.

At this writing, nobody knows whether Dr. Oppenheimer is or is not a good security risk for continuance as a member of the science advisory committee under the office of defense mobilization.

His file has been under review for some time, and his suspension took place in December 1953. In accordance with the rules of fair play, the Eisenhower administration didn't publicize this fact.

It refused to be a party to the arousing of public suspicion, since it was not prejudging the case but was dealing with it confidentially and in an orderly manner.

Then how did it get into the headlines? It came from the Oppenheimer side. Selected newspaper reporters were given all the documents and the right to publish them Tuesday morning.

The all-important fact that the initiative came from the Oppenheimer side — probably his attorneys—was not disclosed in the press in the articles on Tuesday morning.

The Atomic Energy Commission, however, promptly issued a statement, declaring that it had sought to "protect the privacy of individuals appearing before its personnel security boards" and that "departure from this practice in this instance is only due to the fact that Dr. Oppenheimer has exercised his privilege of making public an account of the matter."

Why did Dr. Oppenheimer decide on full publicity? It is often done as a device to forestall an attack, and perhaps in this case the hint given by Sen. McCarthy in his television speech last week —without mentioning any names —that there was something mysterious about the delay in deciding to make the H-bomb indicated that maybe the Wisconsin senator himself was going to blow the lid off.

Hence it may have seemed better to get all the documents out first, with the Oppenheimer version given sympathetic handling in the press.

Now it is disclosed by Sen. Mundt of South Dakota and by members of the house that the whole matter was under scrutiny by the McCarthy committee about last May but that the Wisconsin senator had decided several months ago not to go into the subject, since it would be handled by another committee or executive agency.

It could be that the speech by Sen. McCarthy had no relationship to the Oppenheimer publicity effort to argue the case in advance, yet the effect was to link the two in public speculation.

The situation is by no means clarified yet, and the strategists who advised Dr. Oppenheimer may find in the end they made a mistake in forcing the case into the open before all the facts had been gathered and the investigation had been completed.

So far as the public is concerned, it now will want to know not so much the details of the "derogatory information" in the file of Dr. Oppenheimer — as the phrase is used by the Atomic Energy Commission in its statement—but the reasons and motivations for some of the curious recommendations of policy made by the scientist.

In the top councils of the government, for example, he opposed the strategic air command concept of the U. S. Air Force and delved in military strategy. He opposed the use of bombs as a "deterrent."

He argued for more disclosures to the world of atomic data, and he was opposed to the development of the H-bomb. A reinstatement of Dr. Oppenheimer's views now becomes more important than ever.

The whole episode illustrates why it isn't so easy to dispose of security questions without a lot of background and why publicity isn't always the fault of the congressional committees.

Dr. Oppenheimer was a leader and his leadership meant that nearly all the scientists were opposed to American development of the H-bomb.

The average citizen will wonder why he was so active in matters outside the field of science, but it is only fair that the Oppenheimer case not be prejudged till all the facts are revealed.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Claims Children Can Be King or Slave of Emotions

Grace grew hysterical. She cried and screamed and was sick at her stomach. She was sleepless till 4 in the morning. And it was all because of a foolish fear which she must conquer. Some fears are sensible but never let yourself be a slave to an illogical terror. Study the 3 ways to conquer fears, as shown below.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case K-375: Grace L., aged 11, should be of interest to all children.

"Dr. Crane, she is frightened about going to school," her mother told me.

"And I think it started when she began the first grade. We lived in the country then, so Grace was picked up by the school bus.

"Another little girl got sick on the bus and vomited all over Grace's dress. The teacher let Grace sit that way all day and then come home on the bus with her soiled, smelly dress.

"Anyway, Grace has had a phobia of school ever since. And this year we moved to a new neighborhood.

"When school began, she cried and developed hysteria about going in the bus. She lay awake till 4 A.M. the night before, and even after she fell asleep, she whimpered and cried in her sleep. So how can we handle this problem?"

Some fears are good while others are bad. Thus, it is sensible to be afraid of rattlesnakes and reckless auto drivers, etc.

But when you develop a fear of something that is desirable, then you must reorganize your attitudes and emotions.

School is good for everybody. So even if a child gets off on the wrong foot, so to speak, the youngster should be retrained to like school.

An understanding teacher is a big aid. Grace's present teacher is very considerate, and helpful, but still Grace gets hysterical.

So here is what Grace must remember. She will want to grow up and be a normal young woman, liked by boys and ultimately married to one of them.

So if she wants to be a normal, happy wife in adulthood, she must grit her teeth and force herself to act like a normal girl even now.

Normal children may grumble about school but they don't fight it till they grow hysterical and sleepless.

You kids can become king or slave of your emotions. It is chiefly up to you. Parents and teachers can't win the battle for you.

So face your foolish fears. And continue to face them, instead of running away from them, even though you tremble and feel panicky.

We have a "Law of Three" in psychology, which says you will become king instead of slave if you force yourself to do the proper act three times.

Oh, the first time you may be scared almost to death. Your heart pounds and you shed cold sweat and are sure you'll die in the attempt.

But you don't die, so the second time you face the dreaded situation, you have at least the memory that you went through it once before without dying

And by the third success, you begin to realize that you are now master of the situation and no longer a slave to your fear.

So follow that "Rule of Three," and grow calloused to your fears when they are unwise or illogical dreads.

Secondly, remind yourself that you want to be popular when you grow up and lead a normal life. So you must start doing what normal people do, which means go to school and make passing grades.

Third, to turn your attention off yourself (which helps produce courage) analyze your classmates every day for good traits. Then pay at least three of them an honest compliment apiece. Repeat next day, etc.

With kindergarteners or first graders, you mothers can help by getting the children well acquainted via parties at your home prior to the first day of school.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3-cent stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.)

Do you know of any woman outside of a strippeuse danseuse who would travel 10,000 miles with nothing but a brief case?"

Dag has something there even if it's not in the portfolio.

We do not know of any woman who would travel 10,000 miles on a toothbrush. That's even smaller than an English saddle.

Unless we have been misinformed we thought an Indian lady ran U. N. for a couple of seasons. At which time there was some talk of including the ladies within the scope of human rights.

If we're right about this we don't want to be corrected.

This powdered insurrection will bring no spring cleaning in the U. N. citadel. We have always claimed what civilization needed most was a married man's fort.

The next war is going to be between the men and the women. And we don't want too many citizens going to Denmark.

Dr. Brady's New Booklet on Rheumatiz Stresses Use of Calcium as Daily Food

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

By now, I hope several thousand readers are more or less aware that I believe nutritional deficiency all through the years is accountable for the physical degeneration commonly known as rheumatiz.

If you don't know about this or if you have the rheumatiz or think you may be developing it, send me a stamped envelope bearing your address and ask in writing (I do not consider a clipping a request) for the pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz.

I should estimate that not more than one in a hundred victims of the rheumatiz who have asked for my advice have followed it.

Formerly I tried to tell these poor souls with the rheumatiz that what I recommend is not medicine but nutritional essentials every one should get from everyday diet if the life of our daily food were not removed by processes of refinement and preparation.

But this goes in one ear and out the other. After all, it looks like medicine, and you get it at the drugstore, so don't give them that stuff.

Well, then, I tried another tack. You have to admit that at any rate I recommend nothing for your rheumatiz that isn't or shouldn't be normally present in your blood and other tissues (blood is a tissue).

But they countered this by quoting the latest Uncle Pete or Aunt Polly report about the eminent (never before nor since heard of) "research investigator" who claims that "too much" calcium or "too much" vitamin D may cause "deposits" of calcium in the joints, arteries, et cetera.

I stay in there for a few rounds, screaming—or, more accurately, squeaking in my stickful of space.

According to our present knowledge of pathology, the deposit of calcareous matter or calcification of the tissue occurs only as a consequence of long-standing trouble such as chronic inflammation, damage from injury, or degeneration, and rarely if ever as a forerunner or cause of joint, artery, kidney or other trouble.

If any competent pathologist can refute this statement I promise to print his or her statement here, with or without identification as the author may prefer.

If no physician or other authority feels ethically bound to contradict my teaching I'll continue hammering away at it and, who knows, some people may think it is the truth.

In the latest revision of the Calcium and Rheumatiz pamphlet (March, '54) I harp no more on these strings, but merely suggest that (1) my treatment can do no harm in any case, (2) you had better take it as you do pork and beans or bread and butter, every day from now on or every day in the year.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

Press for Bigger Farm Budget

Coalition Drive to Boost Appropriation Opposed by House Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee appeared to be on the run today before a coalition drive to give the Agriculture Department a bigger budget than it sought.

Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn), managing the bill for the committee, said he was doubtful if he could hold the line when the House resumes today consideration of actual money allotments.

Andersen told newsmen he would oppose all proposals to boost amounts recommended by an Appeared to be on the run today which he is chairman. But, he added, "a lot of pressure apparently has been applied from somewhere to raise the figures."

* * *

Andersen's subcommittee, with full committee approval, held the Agriculture Department to the $698,741,813 in new cash it requested but boosted by $45,000,000 the $275,500,000 it sought in new lending authority for the fiscal year starting July 1.

* * *

In the first test of strength Monday, the committee was upset as the House voted to add $2,198,635 for research activities.

Andersen and most committee members opposed the increase, which was approved by a standing vote of 59-38, subject to a roll call vote before final passage today.

Support for the larger research funds came from Democrats and Republicans alike, and the same group was ready to try for higher allotments for other activities.

Blowtorch Test Proves to Judge Man Not Guilty

BOSTON (AP)—Chipper, 71-year-old Herbert Page told the Municipal Court judge he was innocent of a charge of stealing $2,000 and proved it—with a blowtorch.

Herbert Monahan, 51, of Lexington, said Page induced him to part with the money to help in experiments to produce a "noninfalamable" paint.

Monahan told Judge Frank W. Tomasello he just didn't believe Page had such a paint.

In answer, Page trained a blowtorch on pieces of plaster smeared with his "special" paint. There was much smoke—but no flame.

"There you are, your honor," coughed Page as spectators headed for the exits, 'just like I said, the paint doesn't burn."

Jackson Grocer, Youth Killed in Car Crash

JACKSON (INS)—A 58-year-old last night on U. S.12 near Chelsea were killed in an auto accident Jackson grocer and his passenger while returning from the Detroit Tigers opening baseball game.

The victims were Joseph Martino, and Richard Buchanan, 15. Sheriff's officers said Martino lost control of the wheel while passing another car, drove onto a soft shoulder, and rolled the car several times.

Kalamazoo to Promote Ft. Custer AF Academy

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Mayor Glenn S. Allen, Jr. has named a committee of five civic leaders to work with a similar committee at Battle Creek to help bring the new national air academy to Ft. Custer.

The two committees are to hold a combined meeting tonight at Battle Creek.

F-51 Drops Wing Tank; Blast Destroys Church

DAYTON, Ohio (INS)—A brick church at Ithaca, Ohio, was destroyed by an explosion and fire yesterday when an Illinois National Guard plane dropped a wing tank on it.

No one was injured but damages to the church ran to $130,000. The pilot of the F51 Mustang had just refueled at Dayton Municipal Airport and was en route to Peoria, Ill. He was James C. Gutshall, a member of the 169th Fighter-Bomber Squadron.

Somebody Bad Stole Chimp's Cadillac

CLEVELAND (AP) — Zippy the chimpanzee, a night club and television performer, is the victim of some monkey business. Someone stole his Cadillac while he was being cared for by a chimp sitter.

Along with the Cadillac went 1,000 pictures of Zippy, 100 copies of the book 'Zippy, the Chimp," his bicycle, scotter, roller skates, high chair, trench coat, two strollers and a table.

The car and its contents were stolen downtown Monday night while Zippy was with a chimpanzee sitter at a trailer park. His trainer, Lee Ecuyer, and Ecuyer's wife Bonnie were watching a movie.

Zippy and the Ecuyers are due in Detroit Saturday to open an engagement at the Detroit Athletic Club. They live in Oceanside, N.Y.

Taxpayer in New York Says Son Ate W-2 Form

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—The Internal Revenue Service yesterday accepted the explanation of an unnamed Rochester taxpayer who did not attach a withholding statement when filing his income tax return.

The explanation: "My 17-month-old son ate my W-2 form."

Town's Problem Unique: How to Spend $31,850 Gift

ADAIRSVILLE, Ga. (INS)—The will of a grateful native son who went West and got rich has pitched the city of Adairsville into an almost unbelievable municipal quandary.

The problem: how to spend $31,850.

* * *

For Adairsville, a little north Georgia town that straddles tourist-bearing U.S. 41, that is more than three times the annual income from taxes. Adairsville has a population of about 990.

* * *

Banker W. A. Graham, who moved away from here as a young man and amassed a seven-million-dollar fortune, willed the city $30,000 when he died at the age of 100 in Pryor, Okla. A court dispute over the will's validity was settled April 7 and the gift to Adairsville became final and legal.

The wealthy Oklahoma banker died more than two years ago and his gift has been growing ever since—$1,850 has been added as interest.

What do a mayor and City Council do when the problem becomes how to spend money rather than how to get it?

* * *

Mayor J. E. McKelvey of this poor little rich town hasn't found the answer, and his four-man City Council is equally undecided.

"There haven't been many suggestions about how to spend it," says the mayor. "People all have different ideas about those things."

How are the town's finances?

"I would say fair for a city of this size," says McKelvey. He points out that Adairsville's only indebtedness is for sewer bonds, and its tax rate is only 12 mills. That takes care of all the municipal functions, including the one-man police force.

* * *

The mayor makes no suggestions, but he points out that the town has no municipal park or recreational facilities.

R. D. Barton, Adairsville's funeral director, recalls that Graham on a visit here several years ago told friends that when he reached his 100th birthday he intended to give Adairsville some money.

In fact, the promise went back further than that.

"He sold his interest in the Vech Milling Co. for about $15,000 and left here when he was about 30 years old," says Barton. "He said when he left that when he left the world he would give the town back as much as he had taken away."

Realism for Movies

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Twentieth Century-Fox will use the actual throne in the Biblical spectacle "The Egyptian" that Tut-Ankh-Amen ruled from centuries ago. The throne was loaned to the studio by the Brooklyn Museum.

United Press Telephoto

UNFAIR TO BEARS — Unseasonably warm weather has made most of Denver's (Colo.) population very happy. All except Mr. Polar Bear, who's pretty heated up about it. "Seems a shame to keep him all bundled up like that," observed the young lady who's shown perched on the fence of his dwelling at the zoo.

Rockefeller Gives Million to Rescue Giant Sequoias

By LAURA Z. HOBSON
International News Service

Any American who's ever felt his heart lift at the towering sight of the giant redwoods and sequoias up north of our Pacific coast, should raise a little hymn of praise right now to John D. Rockefeller Jr. and the state of California.

Oddly enough, what I'd call a perfect hymn of praise appeared nearly a year ago in a British newspaper, and was written by an Englishman who may never have seen our trees with his own eyes. But I'll get to that in a moment.

What John D. Rockefeller has just done is to donate a million dollars to spare those trees from the woodman—more prosaically, from lumbering operations long scheduled by the Pickering Lumbering Co.

The Calaveras south grove in Tuolumne County, California, is one of the most magnificent stands of giant redwoods in the world, numbering over a thousand Sierra sequoias—and now it will remain standing for the foreseeable future.

To keep the axe from falling, the U. S. Forest Service had previously donated the $35,000 worth of land on which the giants grow, and the Save-The-Redwoods League and the Calaveras Grove Association had already raised $130,000 in small private contributions.

That was nowhere near enough—until Mr. Rockefeller's gift of a million dollars. Now the sovereign state of California will complete the life-saving of these ancient kings of the forest by matching all those sums with an equal amount.

"The Rockefeller gift," said Gov. Goodwin J. Knight, "is a magnificent one, and the people—of California as well as the nation are the beneficiaries."

As one such beneficiary, I suddenly remembered the piece I'd come upon in "The Manchester Guardian Weekly" on a day last summer, and was glad something had made me save it. Signed only "A.H.G.," it said in part:

"Growing in a heap of road rubble among a tangle of scrub and weeds not far from here is a tiny cutting from a tree which some people consider the most remarkable in the world. The baby is about 18 inches high but already it is straight and sturdy and one day it may become a great forest tree.

"The tender young sapling, as many of you will have guessed, is a Dawn redwood, the legendary tree which the scientists said had been extinct for sixty million years or more, until the Chinese found one growing in a sacred grove on the bank of a river with an unpronounceable name.

Tiny shoots from the seed of the tree which the dinosaurs knew (and probably browsed on) had reached the lake district, and cuttings have been taken in a greenhouse in the heart of the national park."

The writer said there was an experimental half-acre of the baby trees, and since botanists tell us that all redwoods and sequoias are related to the Chinese Dawn redwood, I found a deep thrill in the idea of that special half-acre in England.

Which is why those initialed paragraphs in a foreign paper now come to seem so pertinent to the story of our "rescued" California grove. Those baby trees across the sea seem in themselves to sing a hymn of praise.

Missing Cent Worth $205

TEMPLE CITY, Calif. (INS)—Better look twice at your pennies. Mrs. Irene E. Hinds, 43, of Temple City told sheriff's deputies that someone stole a penny she had been keeping all these years. The value of the rare 1904 Indian head coin was placed at $205.

Japan Cold to Asian Military Pact Plans

TOKYO (INS)—The Anglo-American joint declaration proposing a Pacific collective security pact today met with a cold reception in Japan which is already fearful of the mounting tensions in southeast Asia.

Policy-making officials of the foreign office explained that U.S. pressure on Japan to join such an alliance, as projected by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden would not only prove embarrassing to the government but would also provide dangerous propaganda material for the Reds.

Some foreign office spokesmen said that in the latter connection the propaganda could take the line that the U.S. is leading an imperialist offensive against the Asian people.

In official quarters it was explained that it would be difficult for Japan to participate actively in Indochina fighting or in any Pacific anti-Communist alliance.

American motorists wasted more than 40,000,000,000 gallons of gasoline during 1953, according to a study by Universal C.I.T. Credit Corp. Improper driving methods and poor car maintenance were the major causes of the waste.

Policeman Grows Shorter as His Age Advances

WICHITA, Kan. (UP) — People grow up, but Frank Parsons reversed the trend and grew down. The policeman is two inches shorter than he used to be.

The officer returned to duty after a long hospital stay which included an operation that shortened one of his legs. It was an evening-up operation.

In a traffic accident several years ago one of Parsons' legs was broken and it healed two inches short. The operation reduced the other leg to the same length. He is now five feet, 9¾ inches tall.

No Bounty, Staff Bounds

JEFFERSON, Iowa (UP) — The county auditor's office was deserted quickly when Junior McCain walked in toting a new rifle and an animal that friends had told him was worth a bounty payment. There's no bounty here on skunks.

Navy Cautious About A-Power

Plans 2 Conventional Subs in Coming Year, 3rd Nuclear Vessel

By C. YATES McDANIEL

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy is reluctant to put all its eggs in the atomic basket, at least right now.

That apparently is why it plans to start building two new conventional submarines—as well as a third nuclear powered sub during the coming fiscal year.

The Navy's cautious approach to this and other innovations was pointed up in recent testimony by the chief of naval operations, Adm. Robert B. Carney, before the House Appropriations Committee.

* * *

Carney's testimony in support of Navy money requests for the year starting July 1 was made public today.

Describing what he termed the Navy's "orderly" approach to new developments, Carney said he is convinced that nuclear power will have a revolutionary effect on fleets of the future.

But, he added, "until we know exactly where we are going" he would not recommend a "large and precipitate building program."

The Navy asked $9,870,000,000 for next year, about 500 million more than it got this year, despite the fact that Navy and Marine Corps manpower will drop by 61,000 and the Navy will operate about 50 fewer ships.

* * *

The Navy wants to earmark 840 million of this for 1,455 new aircraft and 30 new ships, including the third atomic-powered submarine and a fourth 60,000-ton Forrestal Class aircraft carrier. The building program also includes conversion of 17 older vessels and purchase of 1,000 landing boats.

Carney testified that the fleet air arm is now about 45 per cent modern, and that by the end of December 1956, Navy aircraft will be about 87 per cent jet-powered.

Man Beats Coffee Prices; Grows Own

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — A blind, 78-year-old Miami man has a simple solution to the problem of soaring coffee prices—he grows it himself.

Charles F. Oxar got two pounds of coffee from his 100-by-200 foot garden last year. This year he hopes for a bigger harvest.

Oxar said he began his coffee-growing experiment near the end of World War II when his son, who was in the Navy, brought home a coffee plant from Brazil. It was from this plant that Oxar got his coffee last year, but now he has 30-odd more trees on their way to becoming bearers.

"Why worry about coffee prices when you can grow coffee?" Oxar asked. "All my plants are growing, they're coming along fine."

Has Wright Autograph

SANTA ANA, Calif. (INS) — An international flying license signed in 1924 by Orville Wright, inventor of the airplane, is the prized possession of John Martin of Santa Ana. Martin, who started a flying field in Santa Ana in 1920, said that he obtained the license at a time when Wright was chairman of the National Aeronautics Association of U.S.A., Inc.

Use hot milk to make mashed potatoes smooth and fluffy. Add the milk gradually.

Stalled Motorist Sells Oklahoma to Indiana Man

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)— Dave Kerr, an insurance salesman, can lay claim today to one of the fastest sales of his career and he didn't get a dime out of it.

He was selling the state of Oklahoma as a wonderful place to live.

His customer was a Good Samaritan, Jack Rogers, a Mohawk, Ind., restaurant operator who sold out and was moving his family to Oregon when he stopped to push Kerr's stalled auto o 5'he Turner Turnpike.

That was last week. Kerr, an enthusiastic Oklahoma booster, didn't let the traveler escape without a Chamber of Commerce speech.

The Indianan was impressed. He stopped to investigate business opbought a restaurant and would Rogers telephoned him he had portunities. Yesterday, Kerr said, make his home here.

Rheumatism Arthritis Pains Relieved IN FEW MINUTES with Doctor's External Prescription

Make This 24 Hr. Test

Enjoy blessed relief from swollen, aching joints, arthritis, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago or neuralgia—or no cost to you for trying this prescription formula called Muscle-Aid, widely used by hospitals, massage parlors and gymnasiums; also recommended by doctors, coaches and trainers for muscle soreness, strained ligaments, painful sprains and bruises. Don't dose internally except under doctor's orders.

Here's How

To get safe, quick relief, simply apply this pleasantly scented liquid EXTERNALLY wherever you feel pain — limbs, joints, shoulders, neck, back. Note how much more comfortable you feel all day, how many more hours of restful sleep you get at night.

Sleeps All Night

"I'd tried everything, with no results. Pain in arms and legs was agonizing. Thanks to Muscle-Aid, I sleep free from pain. Sufferers should keep it handy." Mrs. R. Dekoff, Phil., Pa.

Nothing Like Muscle-Aid

"My patients and I are more than pleased. Warmth supplied soothes and produces circulation to carry off many toxins. Nothing compares to Muscle-Aid for relieving the suffering from arthritic and kindred pains," states T. T. Connos, physiotherapist, Phil.

Relief Right Away

"I could hardly walk from rheumatism, arthritis or something until I used Muscle-Aid. It was wonderful—a god-send." Roscoe Pickering, San Francisco.

Thanks For Blessed Relief

"I'm a minister and I want sufferers to know my experience. My neck, shoulders, arms, hips and legs were so full of rheumatism pains I could hardly work. I read about Muscle-Aid and bought a bottle. Results were immediate: I feel 20 years younger." P. H. Dorsey, Atlanta.

Money Back Guarantee

No prescription necessary. Get inexpensive Muscle-Aid from any Druggist and prove its value. Use one-half the bottle and if you are not amazed and delighted in every way with the results — return what's left in the bottle and we will cheerfully refund all you paid without question. If your Druggist has not yet put in a supply, order today from Muscle-Aid Company, 991 W. Jefferson Blvd., Los Angeles 7, California.

Practical Joker Finds 'Tain't Funny, McGee'

By BILLY ROSE

Not long ago, I unhinged the stop-clasp on my wallet and ordered a good tape-recording machine. Next day, a fellow named Eddie showed up at my office to install it.

BILLY ROSE

"I understand these dinguses go out of whack now and then," I said.

"Not this model," said Eddie.

"In the nine months it's been on the market, I've installed over a hundred of them, and only once did a customer ask us to take his machine back."

"What went wrong with it?"

"The trouble was," said Eddie, "it worked too darned well . . ."

As Eddie told it, last October he delivered a recording unit to a necktie merchant named Dave Brown who lived in Great Neck, Long Island.

When he rang the bell, Brown himself opened the door and stuck out his hand, and when Eddie shook it he jumped a yard — the cravat king had one of those trick buzzers concealed in his hand.

"It gets 'em every time!" said Brown. "But if you ever want a real laguh, I'll let you in on a better gag. Next time you're at a party, get hold of two people who don't know each other, take each one aside and tip him off that the other is hard of hearing. Then introduce them and listen to them holler their heads off at each other. Man, it's one of the funniest sights in the world."

From this, Eddie concluded that Brown was a practical joker, and when he asked to have the tape recorder installed in the library and the microphone concealed in the portieres over an alcove in the adjoining playroom, Eddie guessed he was going to spring a joke on someone. As he learned from the butler when he came around to take the machine back, his guess was right.

That Saturday night, it seems, Brown used the hard-of hearing gag on a couple of people who were at his house for the first time, passed out several exploding cigars, and told a string of stories which aren't usually told in mixed company.

Around midnight he made an announcement. "Folks," he said, "now for the grand finale. There's been a microphone hidden in the alcove all evening, and every word said there has been recorded on tape. For your edification and amusement, I'm going to play the tape back."

"Fun's fun," said a real estate man named Jake Hess, "But this is carrying it a little too far. You're invading people's privacy, and you might make somebody look pretty silly."

Most of the guests backed up the real estate man, and their prankster host finally gave in. "Okay," he said. "Seeing as how it makes you jittery, we'll forget the whole thing."

He went to the library, came back with a spool of tape and pitched it in the fireplace.

An hour later most of the guests had left, leaving the Browns with a few old friends.

"Now that the sourpusses are gone," said the practical joker, "Let's hear what's on the tape." He explained that the reel he had burned had been a blank.

The necktie man's wife spoke up. "Are you sure you want to?" she asked.

"This is strictly for laughs," said her spouse. He snapped on the switch and the playback began.

At first it didn't amount to much — typical Martini talk. Then a woman's voice said, "Our host is sure a clown, isn't he?" A man's voice answered, "That he is. Let's give big parties for the next twenty years and don't invite him."

A quarter-minute later another pair of voices was heard. This time it was Jake Hess, the real estate man, and Mrs. Brown, the practical joker's wife.

Jake: "How much longer are you going to put up with that sophomore?"

Mrs. Brown: "Only a few more months, darling. Dave went in for a checkup last week, and his doctor told me off the record he's got a bad heart. Said he doesn't figure to last out the year. Isn't that wonderful news sweetheart?"

The necktie man stared at his wife. Then at the real estate man. There was, as the saying goes, dead silence in the room.

His wife's voice came on again. "Dave," it said, "while I was setting out the flowers this afternoon, I spotted the microphone in the portieres. Tonight Jake Hess is going to ask you to destroy the tape, and if you do you'll never hear what was on it.

"But if you trick your guests — and it's my hunch you will—then I'm sure you'll bet a big laugh out of the lie we just made about your bad heart. We're doing this to prove your point — that nothing peps up a party like a good practical joke. Ha! Ha! Ha! you baboon!"

Hopes Oppenheimer Can Still Serve U.S.

HOBBS, N. M. (AP)—Sen. Clinton Anderson (D-NM), a member of the Joint Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, says he "regrets very much the cancellation of clearance" for Dr. Robert Oppenheimer.

Anderson said the wartime A-bomb director "did fine work on development of the A-bomb, but I know something of the circumstances which moved Adm. Strauss to the action taken."

Anderson did not elaborate on his knowledge of circumstances of the action yesterday but said, "I still hope we can find a way so that a man of Dr. Oppenheimer's great talent can continue to serve this country."

Senate Resumes Debate on Federal Building Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate resumes debate today on a bill sponsors say would launch a big government building program. Leaders predicte passage late today or tomorrow.

The measure, already passed by the House, will make it possible for the government to contract for post offices and other public buildings, and buy them with long-term payments like rent.

Gridiron Club Holds Last Meet Tonight

Some 50 members and guests are expected at the annual ladies' night of the Pontiac Gridiron Club today at 6:45 p.m. in the Haven Hill Lodge near Milford.

The affair will mark the club's last meeting of the season, according to John C. Houston, chairman of tonight's event.

Highlighting the program will be a panel discussion on "Is Joe McCarthy a Saint or a Sinner?" Members of the panel are Robert McKinnon and Carmi Odell. Panel moderator is Clark Adams, former chief justice of the State Supreme Court.

Houston said an auto caravan will leave for the lodge from Huron St. and Elizabeth Lake Rd. at 6:15 p.m.

North Carolina's three chief agricultural crops in order of their importance are tobacco, cotton and peanuts.

FISCHETTI AND TOP CARTOON: Some day, up the slopes.

Cartoonist's Climb to Fame Spurred by Long-Time Idol

By NEA SERVICE

NEW YORK (NEA)—One of the nation's top honors for political cartoonists has been awarded to John Fischetti, cartoonist for NEA Service and the Pontiac Press.

The medal of Sigma Delta Chi, national journalistic fraternity, was presented to Fischetti Tuesday night at a dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

The cartoon which won the vote of the judges as topics in 1953 was "The Scepter," a powerful commentary on the death of Russian Dictator Josef Stalin.

Drawn on the day that Stalin was reported breathing his last, the cartoon depicts the struggle for power which was even then shaping up inside the Kremlin. A spiked mace symbolic of absolute power has fallen to the floor from the limp hand of Stalin, hanging from his deathbed. And three clutching hands are reaching toward the handle of the mace.

The cartoon was so striking that many newspapers used it on their front page. It was produced in record-breaking time, less than an hour from conception to engraving room.

This is Fischetti's second national cartooning award in three years. In 1952 he won the National Headliners' award for "consistently outstanding" cartoons during the previous year.

There was little about the tall, scholarly man in well-cut flannels who stepped up to receive the SDX medal to suggest the life which has helped to mold Fischetti, in his late 30's into one of the country's foremost editorial cartoonists.

He had been an infantryman in World War II, an artist on Stars and Stripes in the last months of the war, and before that an animator in the Walt Disney studios in Hollywood, a struggling commercial artist, and still earlier a wandering "depression kid."

He was one of five children of a Brooklyn barber. As a boy he practiced sketching and collected the political cartoons of the masters of that time. One of these was the great Rollin Kirby at the old New York World.

At 19 Fischetti was a bellhop and elevator operator in New York's Gramercy Park Hotel. Each evening a tall, white-haired gentleman would go up to his apartment. John would greet him reverently. "Good evening, Mr. Kirby." The cartoonist would reply, "Good evening young man."

It is typical of Fischetti that he never once told Kirby of his ambition to emulate him. Fischetti says of Kirby today: "He was a god."

A few days before his death in 1952, Kirby learned for the first time that the dark-eyed bellhop had begun to scale the heights. Delightedly he accepted an invitation to present the Headliner's award. Six days later he became ill and died.

Of awards, Fischetti says: "I think I know better than to overrate prizes. They're great to receive but they don't make you any better artist than you were before. The great ones lie Rollin Kirby always seemed to live on a mountain. Now I just feel that if I keep plugging patiently some day I can climb the slopes of that mountain."

County Employs Publicity Man

William Jory Will Tell Need for Courthouse, Before August Election

William Jory told Oakland County Board of Supervisors Tuesday that "it will take everyone's cooperation" to tell the public about the need for new county offices.

Jory, the former secretary of Royal Oak's Chamber of Commerce, has been hired to lead the county's drive to tell voters "the courthouse story" before they go to the polls Aug. 3.

The county will ask taxpayers Aug. 3 to vote an extra half-mill (50 cents on each $1,000 worth of property as valued by the county) to build a new courthouse-office building. The tax would run 15 years.

Supervisors plan to build the new courthouse on the "county center," which straddles Pontiac's West Boulevard boundary line. The children's home, infirmary, contagious hospital and several other county buildings now are located there.

Lloyd Clawson of Royal Oak, chairman of supervisors' special courthouse committee, introduced Jory after the board backed its committee in hiring the "education chairman" for $4,000 for four months.

Clawson said Jory will prepare publicity matter on the county's building plans and will be available to address clubs and civic groups on the proposal.

New Zealand Rare Reptile Lives, Thrives

WELLINGTON, N. J. (UP)—For the first time, the tuatara, unique lizard-like reptile found only in New Zealand, has been successfully hatched and reared in captivity.

Two of these rare creatures related to the dinosaurs, and sole survivors of a life-form more than 100,000,000 years old, are now thriving at Victoria University College here under the care of W. H. I. Dawbin, lecturer in zoology.

Other tuataras have been hatched in captivity, but none ever survived for more than a few weeks. Thus a systematic study previously has been impossible, and authentic information about the tuatara is scant indeed; on some points non-existent.

Adult tuataras are about two feet long. The reptiles are nocturnal, sleeping during the day in caves or burrows which they often share with sea-birds. They eat flies, insects, spiders, grasshoppers, and similar small ground - prey. With the onset of winter, the tuatara loses appetite, and retires to hibernate until spring.

$10 May Buy Freedom From Jury Obligation

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UP)—For a minimum of $10, Tennesseans can get out of jury duty — but there's a catch to it.

According to a Tennessee law passed in 1933, donors of $10 or more to a National Guard company "shall be exempted from jury duty" for a year. The catch is that there is a limit on the number of persons allowed to donate such funds.

Scientists Testing Effects of Space Travel on Humans

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Maj. Chuck Yeager, the Air Force's famed test pilot, made a quick check of the instruments of his onrushing jet, then glued his eyes on the pencil resting on top of the instrument panel.

An ever-so-smooth movement of the stick raised the pencil mysteriously into the air. By making an imperceptible change in the motion of his hands on the controls Yeager then kept the pencil suspended exactly at eye-level.

When the pencil dropped or rose Yeager made a slight adjustment in his controls and restored it to eye-level. Then, at the end of almost a minute Chuck pulled back on the controls, sending the pencil slamming to the cockpit floor.

By flying a carefully-prescribed arc in the air Yeager had performed a zero-gravity maneuver. For almost a minute he had completely neutralized the earth's pull inside his cockpit by matching it against the centrifugal force of the semi-circle he flew.

In a special seat behind him, a blindfolded man tried to mark crosses in little squares which ran diagonally down a sheet of paper. He got the first couple of marks in the squares but the rest went off at a right angle.

This test is just a small part of a big research program to determine whether human beings can survive space travel. It was described at a recent meeting of the Aero Medical Assn., an organization composed mostly of military doctors.

A general conclusion from the reports is that machines will soon be capable of flying into space away from the earth's gravitational pull. But a lot of questions have to be answered before it is determined whether man is capable of surviving in such a machine.

The man taking the test behind Yeager experienced the same sensations everyone does when subjected to zero gravity. He was completely disoriented, unable to gauge distances or to move his hands the way he wanted to.

Yeager has performed this maneuver so often he has learned to adjust partially to the zero-gravity state. The fact that he is strapped tightly to his seat lessens the feeling of disorientation, it has been learned.

But the discovery that it does take time to adjust to the absence of gravity and that it's not sure that a human can make a 100 per cent adjustment are the important findings right now. It raises the questions as to whether a pilot could maintain control of a space ship beyond the pull of the earth, and whether he could establish enough coordination to keep handling the ship even after a period of semi-adjustment.

Here are some of the other problems raised in connection with the possibility of man becoming a space traveler:

Results show radiations more complex and possibly more lethal than those resulting from hydrogen bomb explosions. Patches of fur on mice turned gray in the few moments the rodents were at the extreme altitude.

Miscroscopic examinations showed that certain cells of the animals were destroyed by the cosmic rays.

On the encouraging side, tests by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. show that human beings experienced very little physical effect when an aircraft suddenly loses its pressure while flying at 25,000 feet. Altitudes were simulated in huge tanks and 381 persons subjected themselves to very rapid drops in pressure.

A great boom at the instant the pressure changed tended to confuse the persons for a few seconds. But they all recovered from the noise shock. Those persons suffering slight sinus trouble actually reported relief after the change in pressure.

On the other hand, persons with bad teeth reported that they experienced pain. This is explained by the expansion of the gasses in decaying teeth.

Basically the Lockheed tests showed that humans are able to stand the lower pressures of the upper altitudes much better than the scientists had thought possible.

However, they also showed that the pilots and passengers of planes some day flying in and out of the earth's atmosphere must be in excellent health because the conditions of such flight exaggerate most physical defects.

UNDER PRESSURE: Aviatrix Dianna Bixby undergoes quick pressure change in Lockheed laboratories at Burbank, Calif., while flight surgeon Dr. C. I. Barron watches through window.

Longer Physical Old Age Looms but Nerves Decay

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — Man's ancient dream of eternal youth may become a partial reality within the next half century — but with a big hitch.

Dr. Herman B. Chase of Brown University, noted for research in skin biology, said today that slowing up the effect of degenerative diseases is the key to science's present striving to extend man's lifetime.

And he predicted that "we will have gone a good way" within the next 50 years.

"Cancer, heart and kidney diseases, hardening of the arteries, all the things you wouldn't have to worry about if you died young — these are the diseases that keep men from living into the 80s and 90s," said Dr. Chase. "This is the field that now is being considered as of major importance."

What kind of man would we have then in 2004?

Dr. Chase said persons as they aged would be like those few who live to a ripe old age today.

"Our goal is to get more people equal to the best we have now," he said. "The Toscaninis and Churchills."

Still, Dr. Chase said, no one would want to live to be much more than 100. Because here's the big hitch.

"Although we can foresee advances in slowing up many degenerative processes, so far we can't foresee within the next century any slowing up the steady downhill path of our aging nervous systems," he said.

"So as we age our minds continue to decline. A Churchill at 80 is less acute than he was at 60. Even the best go downhill sooner or later. And I don't think eventual second childhood is what people particularly want."

As it becomes commonplace for persons to live to advanced age, the problem of senility would increase proportionately.

Also, he said, the problem of what, to do with our oldsters will grow more serious.

"It is the price we will have to pay for keeping our best who die at 50 alive longer, and our Churchills and Toscaninis alive longer still," Dr. Chase said.

Not Even a Scratched Fender

April 28 in Kalamazoo to Be 'No Accident Day'

KALAMAZOO (UP)—On "No Traffic Accident Day" here April 28, Kalamazoo drivers are going to try to get by 24 hours with nary so much as a scratched fender.

With 90,000 licensed drivers in the city and county it's going to be quite an accomplishment, even the traffic safety division of the Kalamazoo Safety Council agrees.

"We may not reduce accidents to 'zero' but we do feel that drivers will cooperate to the extent such accidents will be materially reduced," said Willard Kane, chairman of the traffic safety division which is sponsoring the observance.

He called on pedestrians, young and old, to cooperate as well as the drivers, pointing out that "all individuals figure into the traffic picture."

The No Accident Day will be observed from midnight to midnight April 28.

The county's teenagers have pledged their cooperation. Through Janet Pound, president of the county Teenage Traffic Association, the young people said they hoped the day could also be an example day that will be long remembered.

Tax Check Pays Off

BOSTON (UP) — A door-to-door canvass for federal income tax delinquents in Massachusetts has produced $1,388,733 since last July. During November, for example, revenue agents found that 1,170 or 14.1 per cent, of the 8,279 taxpayers interviewed had failed to file one or more of the required forms.

78,400 Working in Pontiac Area

Rise in Labor Force Increases Number on Jobless Rolls

Pontiac area employment figures for the 30-day period preceding mid-March stood at 78,400, a total of 400 more than for the same period last year, according to Luther C. Olson, manager of the Michigan Employment Security Commission office here.

Adverse weather conditions in March held down the usual seasonal increase in non-manufacturing.

But, Olson said, about 800 jobs should open in manufacturing the next two months.

Employment in the Pontiac area fell off 800 in the 30-day period with 700 being dropped from the motor vehicle industry and 100 in miscellaneous plants.

The only increase during the period was 100 persons added to payrolls in the metal industry, Olson said, while the same number were dropped in the truck transportation field.

Employment trends in the next two months should provide jobs for 300 persons in the construction business; 200 in the retail trade; 200 in service and 100 in outdoor government work, Olson said.

There's no clear trend in manufacturing, according to Olson, who predicts that employment to mid-May will either remain at present levels or decrease moderately.

Demand for workers in manufacturing during March was limited almost entirely to journeymen skills; patternmakers, electricians, machine repairmen and tool and die makers.

In non-manufacturing service workers, especially cooks, were in demand and women with stenographic, typing and bookkeeping experience were being hired.

Unemployment at mid-March was estimated at 4,200 compared with 4,000 in February and 3,500 in January. Though current employment is above that of a year ago a growing labor force has served to increase the number of unemployed above year's level, Olson said.

Unemployment insurance payments in March were set at $197,883, compared to $186,488 in February and $132,084 in January.

KENNETH H. SHEARER

CHARLES W. GALE

Police Officials Honored

Two local law enforcement officials were elected to office last week in the Michigan-Ontario Identification Assn. at a meeting at the Hotel Fort Shelby in Detroit.

Kenneth H. Shearer, head of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department identification bureau, was named president, and Detective Charles W. Gale, of the Pontiac Police Department, was named secretary-treasurer.

Hosting the meeting was the Detroit Police Department.

Senate Group to Probe Housing Scandal

BY RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Banking Committee today laid aside the administration's new housing program and launched an investigation of "irregularities" in the Federal Housing Administration.

Chairman Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind) called a closed session to plan the inquiry into the housing scandals that could cost the government $75,000,000. Capehart said the committee would delay further action on President Eisenhower's new housing proposals until the investigation is complete.

Two other investigations of the FHA already were underway. The administration ordered a full-scale inquiry into the agency Monday after the scandals were disclosed.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), chairman of the Joint Committee on Reduction of Federal Spending, said his group has been looking into FHA's operations for more than a year.

Byrd promised to report some of his findings in a Senate speech today.

Caphart said there is no question but that the banking committee has the "responsibility" to make the investigation. But he said the group would be glad to get help from Byrd.

Byrd showed no inclination, however, to drop his separate inquiry. He said his committee would hear testimony next Tuesday from Internal Revenue Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews and Housing and Home Finance Administrator Albert M. Cole.

On Monday, Cole disclosed abuse in two programs under FHA jurisdiction—government-insured loans for small home improvements and for construction of large-scale apartment projects.

He said many home owners had been fleeced by high-pressure building salesmen who talked them into taking out government insured loans for repairs or improvements.

Under the apartment program, Cole cited 251 cases in which builders had obtained government-insured loans for $75,000,000 more than the value of the projects.

Under both programs, the government is liable to repay the loans if the borrower fails to do so.

Cole charged that Guy T. O. Hollyday, ousted Monday as FHA chief, had condoned "illegal or unethical" actions by other housing officials, some of whom may face criminal charges.

Hollyday was replaced by Norman T. Mason as acting housing commissioner.

The Mortgage Bankers Association sharply protested Hollyday's removal. The group said reasons given for the dismissal were "absolutely false" and declared Hollyday had been conducting an "intensive investigation" of the "misuse" of FHA programs.

Cole said the administration was investigating to determine whether fraud or negligence was involved in FHA activities under the present and previous administrations.

The Byrd investigation involved only part of the activities being checked by the administration. His inquiry involved government-insured loans to builders of multiple-family dwellings under a now-expired law.

It was understood, however, that Byrd was preparing amendments to prevent the practices to which he objected from developing under the housing legislation before Congress this year.

In checking 1,800 cases, Byrd's staff found theat the government-insured loans on 712 of them exabout $100,000,000.

In a statement Tuesday, Byrd said the records indicate that some builders were "profiteering" on the loans by dividing the excess among stockholders who then sought to take a capital gains tax on their profits instead of higher income tax rates.

Cities Grow Despite Exodus to Suburbia

No one in America needs to mourn that cities are disappearing and that in another generation everyone will be living in suburbs, according to census data cited this month by the Institute of Life Insurance.

Suburbs have grown enormously in the past few years, but the 106 largest cities of the United States as a whole are doing very well, too — not only commercially and as shopping centers but also as places for families to live and raise their children.

Cool Iron for Silk

Lovely and fragile as it seems, silk generally takes very well to washing. However, white silk does tend to become creamy after several sudsings. Use a very cool iron on all silk fabrics.

Try This Test and See!!

For just one day, keep your eye on every member of your family as he reads the Pontiac Press. You may be surprised! For you'll find junior scanning the general news as well as the comics; you will find your mother reading sports and market news as well as fashions and recipes; and you may turn to society or editorials.

There is lots of "cross-over" reading in EVERY family! This means, in planning and editing the Pontiac Press that we must make every section interesting to almost everybody! It means that accuracy, good taste, objectivity and clean handling are just as important on page 22 as on page one! What's in the story may vary; but the writing of that story must be easily understood, non-technical and interesting.

Every Pontiac Press writer and editor knows this. So you hear more folks every day say: "I find the Pontiac Press easier to read!"

Convalescent Home Ceramics Students Proudly Display Work

Therapy Class Develops Patients' Creative Talents

Christ Church Social Service Group, St. James Auxiliary Are Sponsors

By JANET ODELL

Eight weeks ago a ceramics class for women was started at the Oakland County Convalescent Home. Tuesday afternoon at an invitational tea, the students of this ceramics class displayed and sold the products they have so recently learned to make.

"I thought they were giving me mud to play with," laughed slender little Mrs. Belle Schooley, one of the students. Mrs. Schooley has made nearly a dozen pieces, most of them interestingly shaped ashtrays.

Adele Davis, a Birmingham teacher of ceramics, organized the class and has given unstintingly of her time each Tuesday since the beginning. She says the women in this new class do every bit as good a job with the clay as do her beginners in any class. "In fact," she said, "they have more patience."

Many of them need unusual patience when their crippled fingers are slow to respond. But the finished earrings, pins, buttons, tiny bowls, and Christmas tree ornaments testify that they did persevere.

The Social Service Group of Christ Church Cranbrook and the Women's Auxiliary of St. James Episcopal Church in Birmingham are sponsors of this new occupational therapy at the convalescent home.

While the ceramics class is the newest and most popular one at present, other groups are also functioning. The patients do knitting, crocheting, weaving, leather work, woodwork and flower arranging.

Howard Estes, manager of the convalescent home, had this to say about the program: "The work which was started in an organized way during the past few months has gained momentum so that many patients are now spending many hours at constructive work, producing articles of value as well as benefiting their health materially.

"The work has been done largely with volunteer workers who have given unstintingly of their time and materials. This is one of the most constructive pieces of work that can be undertaken in any convalescent hospital. The work of these volunteer workers is deeply appreciated."

Mrs. Rebecca Gould sang several Easter songs at the tea.

Members of the committee in charge of arrangements were Mrs. William A. Alf, chairman of the Christ Church group; Mrs. E. K. Ives, Mrs. Ivan Post, Mrs. E. F. Brumbaum, chairman of the Horticultural Therapy Group; Mrs. George Weinhold, Mrs. H. H. Brown, Mrs. E. A. Fuller and Mrs. Lester Colbert, all of Birmingham.

Mrs. Colbert and Mrs. Weinhold presided at the tea table.

Kenneth Blaughs Residing in City

Sallie Jo Bigelow of Orchid drive became the bride of Kenneth L. Blaugh March 20 at United Brethren Church of Fort Wayne, Ind.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bigelow, and Kenneth, who resides on Shimmons road, is the son of the Byron Blaughs of Fort Wayne, Ind. The Rev. R. E. Vance performed the 8 o'clock service.

For the occasion the bride wore a navy suit with a corsage of pink roses. She was attended by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Hilda Hampton, and Gerald Blaugh attended the bridegroom. The couple is residing in Pontiac.

Pre-Dinner Mint Will Cut Appetite

If Americans would eat their after dinner mints at the start of meals instead of at their close, fewer people would be overweight.

So says Sugar Information, Inc., which declares that in normal persons the intense hunger that leads to overeating and consequent gains in weight is often caused by low sugar blood level.

By eating or drinking something containing sugar just before mealtime, blood sugar levels are raised the appetite is slowed down. A before dinner mint, or some other food or drink containing sugar, is suggested.

Minimize Wrinkles

After washing slacks or trousers, hang them by the legs to dry so that most of the wrinkles will fall out as the garment dries.

Bleach Simplifies Kitchen Cleaning

No longer are energy and grim determination the first essentials in cleaning kitchen cabinets—the baked-on enamel kind. Just add dry bleach to your wash water and then proceed with gentle serenity.

With the chlorine bleach in the water, grime and dust are removed with ease. About one-eighth cup of the dry granules per 2 gallons of water is a good proportion.

Soften Those Premature Dry-Skin CROW'S-FEET Into Attractive Accents For Your Smile

Premature crow's-feet at the corners of your eyes are often caused by skin dryness. Skin dryness is caused by your skin's inability to make enough lubricating cholesterols and esters. Penetrating Lanolin Plus Liquid used nightly as a cleanser—then a few extra drops gently massaged into your skin before retiring—next day a few more drops used as a powder base. This keeps your skin constantly supplied with an abundance of cholesterols and esters. Result: dry skin is overcome—premature dry-skin wrinkles quickly fade, giving you a surprisingly younger look. Get your Lanolin Plus Liquid today. Use it tonight. Actually SEE and feel a difference tomorrow morning. All this for but one dollar, plus tax.

Oscar Awarded to Mrs. Bunce

Toastmistress Club Meets

Easter was the theme chosen by the Pontiac Toastmistress Club when the group held a dinner meeting Tuesday evening in Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. J. A. Shaw gave the invocation, and table topic mistress was Mrs. Lester Snell. "Where would you like to go this summer — money and time unlimited" was the topic.

The Oscar was awarded to Mrs. Robert Bunce for the best table topic. Speakers for the evening were Mrs. Gertrude Nethercott, who talked on "Symbolism of Resurrection," Mrs. Joseph McLeod on "Just Mable McLeod" and Mrs. James Palmer on "Life."

Critics for the evening were Mrs. W. A. Vernon, Mrs. Wendell Green and Mrs. Clayton Rule.

The special event of the evening was given by Mrs. Orben Wilkins, and Mrs. Robert Sutton was toastmistress for the evening.

Special reports were given by Mrs. Vernon on community service, Mrs. Milton Freet on public relations, Mrs. Howard Wheatley on chairmen for the Toastmistress open house to be held May 11.

Reports on the Council Four meeting held April 3 in Dearborn were given by Helen Turek and Helen Lapisch. Guests for the evening were Katheryn Sumpter, Mrs. Evelyn Cole and Mrs. W. J. Dean.

Dirt Gardeners Meet Tuesday for Birthday Tea

Blue Star Thanked for Aiding Orphans

A note of thanks for gifts sent to Korean orphans was read to Blue Star Mothers Chapter Four Tuesday evening at the YMCA by Mr. William Morris.

The note was from a Korean subscription to the Pontiac Press missionary. The group renewed a for the VA Hospital in Dearborn, and announcement was made of a membership drive this month. All interested persons may contact Mrs. George Leinenger or Mrs. George Kemper for membership information.

Texture Important in Cotton Apparel

Texture is the fashion story on cottons this season. You will choose them by feel almost as much as by eye appeal. To be dry and crisp is most important, and always there is surface interest.

Embroidered effects are most interesting. These range from breathtakingly lovely embroidered linens in pastels that look good enough to eat, to popular priced denims flocked in motifs that simulate embroidery. Flocking, you know, is a method of creating pattern on fabric by "pasting" to the cloth tiny clumps of fibers in motif arrangements.

MOMS Plan Party on Easter Monday

Michigan State Board of MOMS of America, Inc., will hold its annual Easter Monday luncheonette and card party in Kern's auditorium, Detroit.

Mrs. Joe Marshall is general chairman for the 12:30 p.m. event, and she is assisted by Mrs. Frank Polasek and Mrs. L. B. Arnold, both of Auburn Heights.

Whitney Group Gathers

Guest Addresses WCTU

Mrs. W. B. O'Neal, national field secretary for the WCTU, was guest speaker Tuesday afternoon for Dora B. Whitney, WCTU, at the home of Mrs. Howard Brown of Loon Lake Shores.

Speaking on a definition of the WCTU she said it was organized "to protect the home, to abolish liquor traffic, and for the triumph of Christ's golden rule in custom and in law."

She urged all to uphold the purpose of WCTU. Mrs. Joseph Green, president of the 18th District WCTU, was also present at the meeting and Mrs. L. G. Rowley, national WCTU director of visual education, used "Root of Bitterness" as a devotional topic.

Mrs. Glenford Haviland and Mrs. David Gee offered prayers and Mrs. Andrew Stimer, president of the federation, announced a May 4 breakfast to be held in First Methodist Church. Mrs. John McCormick assisted the hostess with refreshments.

Nuptial Shower Honors Bride

Barbara J. Brabbs opened her home on Harper street Monday to honor Mrs. J. H. McKee with a post nuptial shower. The bride is the former Caroline Townsend.

Mary Huemiller, just like any other little girl, can't resist a doll, as she looks wide-eyed at the dolls her mother, Mrs. Clarence Huemiller of Walnut road, is arranging. The dolls were made by Pontiac Chapter, American Association of University Women, for children who come to Michigan Children's Aid Society before being placed in foster homes.

Contributes to Children's Aid

AAUW Gives Dolls, Toys

Dressing dolls for little girls who are en route to foster homes has been a special project of Pontiac Branch of American Association of University Women, according to the president, Mrs. Clarence Huemiller.

The last of 36 dolls and toys was donated recently to the Michigan Children's Aid Society to keep the agency's cupboard stocked throughout the year.

"These dolls are filling a real need," explained Oriel Endelman, executive secretary of the society, as she thanked AAUW for the gifts.

She explained that many children who come to the society are emotionally upset and unhappy, and the society has found that giving the child a doll or other small toy to take with him to his new home gives him some measure of comfort and security needed at that time.

"Many little girls' eyes light up when we tell them they may keep the dolls for their very own," Miss Endelman said. "It helps them to forget the past."

Year-round work of placing these children from broken homes in suitable foster homes is made possible by Pontiac area contributions to the United Fund

Shine Up Vases in Bleach Solution

While you are spring cleaning you will want to shine up your glass and pottery vases and flower bowls and pitchers so they will be ready for spring flowers.

The easiest way is to pour a little of the new bleach that comes in dry form into the hot water in the dishpan. One-eighth cup of the dry granules to the dishpanful, about 2 gallons, is the right proportion. Wash, rinse, wipe and you're done. And what satisfaction to see how gleaming bright your vases and pitchers will be!

Consider Sleeves

When selecting a blouse for your spring suit, consider the cuts of the sleeves of both garments. For example, a blouse that has dolman sleeves should not be worn with a jacket whose sleeves are set in.

Spent 7 Months Touring Far East

Miss Steward Returns From Asia

Margaret Steward returned to her home on Washington street Monday evening after a seven-month tour of the Far East.

One of the highlights of the holiday was a boat trip with two others out of the tourist range on the Fiji Islands, where she was treated to a ceremony reserved for visiting chieftains and given an opportunity to make movies of the participants in their tribal costumes.

Another highlight was Hawaii, where Miss Steward said she had more orchid corsages than she could comfortably wear at one time.

The trip also included visits to Japan, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Thailand, Singapore, Australia and New Zealand, and back to Honolulu before her return to the mainland.

Club Hears Cellist, Soprano, Pianist

3 Artists Inspire Musicale Audience

By DORA DAWSON

A prayer for the continuing spiritual uplift and inspiration of music was offered by the Rev. Otto Schultz at the Tuesday Musicale meeting held Tuesday in Grace Lutheran Fellowship Hall.

The prayer presaged a program that filled the members with exalted appreciation. Mrs. Paul Eliason, cellist, Mrs. Jack Wignall, soprano, and Mrs. Howard Heldenbrand, pianist, were the artist members.

The three opened the program with tuneful and artistic songs dating from the 15th Century. Photostatic copies were made for their use from original Gabrielli manuscripts.

Mrs. Eliason followed with two numbers, the soulful "Arioso" by Bach and the allegro and grave movements of a sonata by Sammertini, played with virile and authoritative tone quality on an instrument not easily mastered but of rich depth.

She was later heard in the Jewish melody "Kol Nidrei," in which the cello is capable of expressing pathos and pleading. Mrs. Eliason also played a minuet and described, in sound, the playful antics of a harlequin.

In all these numbers Mrs. Eliason showed her fine training and expert ability with fluent bowing and finely drawn tones.

Mrs. Wignall's soprano voice is an instrument of warm timbre and dramatic feeling. She was heard in a group of three German lieder, sung with distinction, and in three English songs that expressed the depth of longing and grief.

To the work of these two young artists was added the artistic and complementary accompaniment of Mrs. Heldenbrand, whose ability is outstanding.

An all green and white tea table centered with Easter lilies and white snapdragons was arranged by Mrs. George Sutton and Mrs. M. L. Buck. Mrs. J. O. Radenbaugh and Mrs. Frederick Rodeck presided at the tea service.

Assisting with the name cards that each member wears during the meetings were Mrs. C. D. Wright and Mrs. W. D. Thomas Jr.

It was announced that the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs will hold its 37th annual convention in Detroit May 10 to 12. Mrs. Gordon Woolcock and Mrs. Ralph Norvell will attend as delegates from the Tuesday Musicale.

JUDY STEINHELPER

Representing Pontiac Junior Achievers for the title "Queen of JA" will be Judy Steinhelper of Spence street.

Judy will be one of 20 girls at the April 23 prom in Detroit, each representing a JA business center for the crown.

Judges of the contestants will be television's Soupy Sales, Donald S. Leonard, Detroit police commissioner; Blanche Parent Wise, Detroit councilwoman; Corinne Patterson and Stuart Richards. Tickets for the dance are available at the JA business center on Mill street.

Build Rack on Door

A magazine rack built on the back of a door will give you added storage space for your favorite reading matter without taking away needed floor space.

Star's PJ Top Must Be Chic but Not Risque

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Nightgowns may take a back rack in milady's wardrobe when Judy Garland shows up in her new movie rakishly garbed in a pajama top.

A simple pj top, worn by Judy without bottoms in her forthcoming film, "A Star Is Born," raised a perturbing problem for her studio.

The question was—how low is chic and how high is risque?

The question stirred more debate in Hollywood than the fashion dueling of Christian Dior and Jacques Fath over the up or down hemline.

If the hemline came down to the knees, then the pajama top was no longer a pajama top but a pajama coat instead, experts declared.

Pajama coats, according to fashion leaders, are always worn without bottoms by pretty young girls. But Judy's shirttail was supposed to look as if it came with bottoms, even though they were missing.

"Poetry in Prints" are one of 1954's prettiest groups of Sanforized broadcloth novelties. This one shows double rows of tiny leaves fluttering down in stripe formation, in an interesting frock that will go everywhere this summer. Sleeveless, it features close neckline and an unusually slimming bodice, although the inverted front pleat permits plenty of action.

Lose up to 20 lbs. in 10 weeks or receive your money back

All of those uncomfortable things which have always been considered necessary in order to lose weight have suddenly become outmoded.

Now, with this new "slimming" formula, you can reduce automatically—without dreary dieting, massage exercise or drugs.

Over-Indulgence Control Is the Secret!

TEK-TROL actually works while you eat! Because it provides the bulk your stomach craves—without the elements that build fat.

Here's how it works. Before each meal, you simply take three small TEK-TROL Tablets with a glass of water. That's all. Your meals look just as good—taste just as good—and you eat all you want of all the foods you like. But you won't eat as much—and the pounds drop off.

Absolutely Safe

Dietless — drugless — reducing with TEK-TROL is safe! Try TEK-TROL and watch the extra pounds and years of discomfort slip away.

Check these Features

• Easy to swallow tablets—no chewing • Tasteless—no cloying sweet—no saccharin from coal tar • Aids elimination through bulk slickage

2-week "money back" test

Get a two week package of TEK-TROL, today. If, at the end of two weeks, you have not lost weight and are not completely satisfied—return the TEK-TROL package to your health food dealer and get every cent of your money back.

City PTA Presidents Are Feted

J. Cecil Cox and Mrs. Harry King Talk at Breakfast

By MAUDE H. DONAHUE

J. Cecil Cox, assistant superintendent of Pontiac Public Schools, and Mrs. Harry E. King, state president of PTA, addressed the group Tuesday morning when Pontiac Council of PTA honored past and incoming presidents with a breakfast in the YMCA.

Mr. Cox welcomed new members and spoke of the need for a PTA to work for improved conditions for an expanding school population.

Mrs. William Wright, new council president, responded, saying the PTA would work for the best facilities possible and would make the welfare of children its primary responsibility.

Speaking of the change in PTA attitude in the last 30 years, Mrs. King pointed out the increase in younger, more vital members and officers, and a new, more interested attitude toward city politics affecting the schools.

Mrs. King also described the coming convention at Saginaw, saying the emphasis in the workshop this year wouuld shift from leadership training to a discussion of school problems, including the teacher shortage, the increase in children and new buildings.

Mrs. Donald North, outgoing president of the council, expressed her thanks for the cooperation given her, and Lester Stanley, principal of the Hawthorne School, described the program set up by the fathers of the school.

Blue Star Mothers served the breakfast.

Sorority Plans Future Activities

Plans for future activities were made at the Tuesday evening meeting of Omega Mu Sigma sorority held in the Denby drive home of Mrs. A. A. Dodd. Mrs. Harlan Oakes assisted the hostess.

A cooperative supper will be served by the group on April 27 at Mrs. Oakes' home on Denby drive. Members will come dressed in United Nations costumes.

Members also discussed plans for formal initiation to be held on May 11 and for a May breakfast on the 23rd.

Discuss Teenage Problems

Conference Monday at Y

The seventh Annual YW-YM Teenage Conference is being held at the YMCA, on Mt. Clemens Street Monday, from 9 a.m.-5 p.m., and 8:30 p.m.-11:30 p.m.

Tickets covering all conference expense may be purchased at the YWCA, YMCA, or their respective organizations in the high schools. Refreshments and recreation will be provided as part of the program, and a dance will be held in the evening.

Topics dealing with teenage problems and interests will be discussed after the opening speech given by Jay J. Sherman, head of the department of government at Wayne University.

Sherman, who has taught for 29 years, is now faculty religious adviser at Wayne and has an outstanding reputation for work done with young people in Detroit.

Discussion groups will be led by professional adults in the community taken from the fields of social work, education, law, religion and vocational guidance.

Louis Creekmur will give a short talk on sports, and he will show movies of football highlights to round out the full day's activities.

Although the conference is for young people in grades 10-12, anyone who could be of assistance on the program, and enjoys informal discussions on dating, boy-girl relations, marriage, race relations, careers, citizenship in world affairs, safe driving, sportsmanship, or rowdyism, is invited to participate.

Further information may be obtained from Jeannette Kidneigh, teenage program director, for the YWCA or George Balch, boys work secretary for the YMCA.

PEO Gathers at Matson Home

Mrs. Charles Matson of Denby drive opened her home Monday afternoon for a meeting of Chapter CL, PEO Sisterhood. Mrs. Charles Buck, president, presided at the business meeting.

A short program on the founders of the sisterhood was given by Mrs. Matson. Thirteen members and one guest, Mrs. William Miller, were present.

McConnell to Stage Variety Program

A variety program is planned by McConnell School PTA for Thursday in the school gym. The program, which will begin at 7 o'clock, will consist of four sports films, a cartoon and a "keyboard conceit."

The event is to raise funds for the PTA Council scholarship fund.

Tips to Give Leather Long Life

Make certain that your new suitcase, brief case or wallet gets a good start by caring for it before you put it into use. Here are some tips suggested by manufacturers which should guarantee long life and trouble-free service:

Leather: A coat or two of neutral shoe polish, plus buffing with a soft cloth will keep that just-new look, protect against scratches. For articles in frequent use such as billfolds, key cases, pocket secretaries, and brief cases, renew polish from time to time.

Renew polish on suitcases after each using. Store articles in a ventillated place, avoiding extremes of temperature or humidity.

Fabric: Coated fabrics, such as canvas used to cover luggage, react well to a coat of clear liquid wax—the same wax you use for linoleum floors. Buff to a glossy finish.

If leather bindings are used as trim, coat these with paste shoe wax or creme instead, and buff both polishes at the same time. Uncoated fabric such as those used for traveling garment bags and accessory luggage, should be stored to prevent dust from settling on them; use sturdy brown paper if necessary.

Keep fabric billfolds and accessories in tissue paper between usings.

Decorated Egg Mobiles Lend Enchantment to Child's Easter Basket

Here's a mobile Easter basket that will enchant any child. Eggs that are blown and decorated are fastened with thread and cellophane tape to crossed metal rods on the top of the basket handle for this unusual effect. Let your imagination take over when it comes to decorating the eggs. Transparent tape was used to fasten little chicks, flowers and sasheen ribbon bows on some, and on others, dyes, nail varnish and watercolors created a wide range of designs.

Wash Angora With Success

NEW YORK (INS)—Angora can be washed and still look good.

Squeeze angora gently through lukewarm soapsuds and rinse, cupping it in the hands to prevent stretching. Roll in a towel to blot out moisture, and then spread on a thick bath towel to dry.

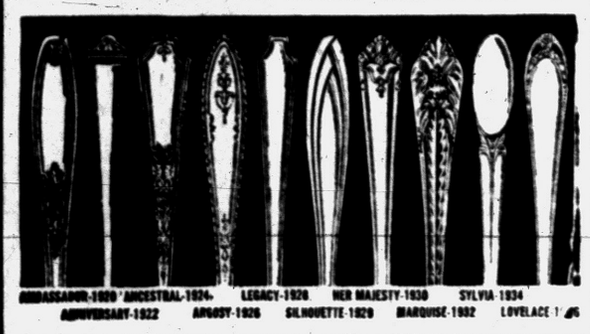

To get angora back to its natural shape, flat articles should be outlined on a piece of paper, and then dried on that pattern. Berets can be slipped over a plate of about the original size of the hat. Sweaters should be dried on a sweater form.

The angora will "grow" back, fluffy as ever.

Look Slimmer

Even the slimmest girl looks trimmer when she wears a girdle. A foundation garment eases the flesh into a smooth, neat line. For those girls who need this gentle assistance there are many lightweight garments that are comfortable to wear even in warm weather.

Married Folks Better Insured

A lot of young bachelors and single women in America own life insurance but, as might be expected, they are not apt to own as much as married couples, the Institute of Life Insurance reports this month.

A study made by the University of Michigan and cited by the institute shows that 78 per cent of all the families in America headed by young single persons own life insurance compared to 87 per cent of all married couples.

But few of these "single" families are putting very much money into life insurance premiums compared to the amounts used in this way by married families. Defined as a "family" are many different kinds of households and other "spending units," including some which consist of only one person.

A married couple with children under 18 is more likely than any other family group to put rather large amounts of money into life insurance, the study shows. This is true regardless of the age of the family's chief breadwinner.

Man Wants to Send Girl Home in Cab

Proper in Daytime; He Should Escort Her at Night

By EMILY POST

A young man asks me this question: "Is it permissable to put my girl friend into a taxi after our date and send her home alone?

"She lives in the opposite part of town from my home, and it would cut my sleep to the point of handicapping my efficiency at the office the next day.

"The taxi would take her straight to her door and certainly would be safe. I would very much appreciate your opinion."

Answer: In the daytime, it would be quite all right for you to do this, but at night you certainly must see her home—unless the town is sufficiently small for the taxi driver to be someone you know.

Dear Mrs. Post: Don't you feel that a housewarming is a first cousin to a shower and therefore should not be given by the new tenants themselves? I've never yet been to a housewarming to which the guests did not take presents.

Answer: The tenants themselves usually give such a party because it is not always convenient to be "surprised" with a party in their own house. Furthermore, a housewarming is the showing of a new house and does not obligate anyone to take a present.

A shower, on the other hand, is the showering of a guest of honor with presents, and all who accept the invitation to such a party must take presents.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a serving dish is passed and the portion held toward you is too big, or too well done, is it proper to search through the portions until just the right piece is found?

Answer: If you don't have to disarrange the whole dish and can serve yourself quickly, you may take whichever piece you prefer.

But you can't go prodding about with spoon and fork and muss up the dish doing it.

Dishes Will Gleam

All those pretty dishes that have been gathering dust on the top shelf — get them down and sparkle them quickly this spring. Just add 2 tablespoons of bleach to a dishpanful of hot water, about 2 gallons. In go the dusty dishes for a speedy wash, then rinse. And out they come positively gleaming, in all their fresh color and detail. It's so easy to do, you'll decide to use the best dishes more often!

IF big girl—

Little-girl prettiness emphasizes your large frame. Blouses worn as casually as a shirt suit you.

Miss B. G. — Toreador type shirt with embroidered bib and push-up cuffs, with figure shaping shorts are especially smart for the big, well-proportioned girl.

Cultivate Voice

After listening to a radio announcer for a while, people tend to imagine what he looks like. That's because voice plays such an important part in general impression people have of one another.

You're wasting your time if you work at achieving an attractive appearance without cultivating a charming voice.

If all of the passenger cars in the United States were placed bumper to bumper, it is estimated that the line would be 125,000 miles long.

Newlyweds Escape Money Fights Due to Her Fund

By ANNE HEYWOOD

It's popular for people of the older generation to complain about the carelessness and thoughtlessness of youth, but as far as I'm concerned, this new generation is well-endowed with good sense.

For example, here is a letter from a 23-year-old girl who has been married six months.

"I worked for five years between high school and marriage," she says, "and during that period I learned a good deal.

"Like all girls, I wanted to get married, but I began to notice a funny thing that happened when my girl friends did marry.

"They had been used to having jobs and money of their own, but after marriage they had to ask their husbands for it.

"This made them uncomfortable, and also, the husbands sometimes didn't realize how much money goes on little extras.

"So everybody was a little edgy, and there were money fights. No matter how much or how little money there was, there would be bickering.

"Well, when I met Bob and fell in love, I decided I didn't want us to start that way. So instead of blowing all my money on a fabulous trousseau and linens and such things, as my friends had done, I saved a good deal of it.

"I still had a nice trousseau, but I also had a nice nest egg.

"When we got back from our honeymoon, I didn't have to ask for extra money all the time. I just dug into the nest egg, little by little.

"If I wanted flowers and candles when Bob's boss was coming for dinner, I could get them.

"It saw us over the first few months nicely, and Bob was able to get used to all the extra money which housekeeping requires, and yet I didn't have to feel embarrassed or nervous about it.

"After a while, I had a talk with him and explained about how I had, so to speak, eased him into it.

"We both had a good laugh, and he dicided to give me a small sum every week, without being asked, which could go to my nest egg or extras or whatever I liked.

"It worked like a dream, and I do believe more working gals should consider such a project.

Washer, Freezer Wanted the Most

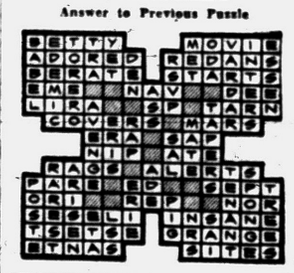

STORRS, Conn. (INS)—Household appliances most desired by homemakers are automatic washers, freezers, dishwashers, clothes driers and ironers, in that order.

The list of favorites was indicated by a study made in home economic classes at the University of Connecticut.

Betty Jane Johnston, assistant professor in home management and household equipment, said her study showed that the most highly favored equipment required little skill to use while doing the most fatiguing and disliked work.

She added a note for salesmen: "Giving a homemaker a chance to use a household appliance in her own home may be a strong factor in influencing her to buy it."

Beauty Clinic

WHAT IS A PERMANENT?

What does a permanent wave mean to you? It is an aid to better hairdresses . . . or do you think of it as being a hairdress and the end of your trouble?

Perhaps I can help you to more pleasure and satisfaction from your permanent wave. A permanent is a process which changes naturally straight hair to artifically curly hair. And, though this artifical curl increases the beauty and lasting qualities of a finger wave, it still has limitations. Hair that is limp and fine before a permanent is still limp and fine after the permanent wave is given. The curl is an aid in managing this kind of hair but the original texture must be considered when styling, dressing and caring for it. The same is true of other textures.

The solution of your hairdressing problems is a blend of the best style for you plus the right kind of Permanent wave plus the proper care between hairdressing appointments. This isn't as complicated as it sounds. May we help you with your hairdressing problems?

Girl Grows Tense and Quiet on Dates

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'm considered lots of fun and a good sport by mostly everyone — yet my closest friends tell me to let myself go when I'm out. With my girl friends I can be so relaxed, but just let it be a double date and I freeze.

"What is it about the opposite sex that scares me? I get so tense — so quiet, dull, moody. I seem to take things so seriously!

"How many times I have tried to be good company! But even boys I've been out with several times eventually fade away.

"After a date like the last one when I tried my best and the evening was a complete flop, I go home so downhearted it's pathetic. By now I should have gained some self-confidence — I'm 22 years old. Can you help me?"

Right now before someone else asks you for a date and puts you in that same old panic, let's get that attitude of yours changed.

You've been trying too hard! I'll bet from the moment you agreed to go out you thought of nothing else. In anticipation, you planned what you would wear, what you would talk about, wondered what he would think of you—spent hours rehearsing your little act.

By the time the date was ready to begin, you already had stage fright. Complete paralysis of the conversation — you forget your lines. Rigid tenseness — shame and self-consciousness over being such a dud.

It was bound to flop because you had anticipated too hard. You'd frozen your ability to take things as they came along. There was nothing impromptu left in you.

The trick is not to care so violently. Here comes a date. A few hours out of a lifetime spent in the company of other congenial people. There will be boys around. But they're just boys — human beings who like to eat, laugh, chatter and flirt with girls.

Most of them are plenty self-conscious too. They plan little acts of their own, develop lines and methods of approach — and they wonder how it's all going over with the girls — they worry over the impression they're making.

My tip to you is to get ready calmly to go out on a date and be impressed by a boy.

Maybe long, leisurely tubs usually relax you. But before a date they give you too much time to think. Better a brisk, business bath and a speedy hop into your clothes with enough time to spare to slick the hair, get the makeup on straight, file that catchy nail and put your perfume in the right places. Knowing you look well will give you self-confidence.

You can forget about yourself and put your whole mind on what's going on. Start off the doings with a good laugh. Not just a begrudging smile — put back your head and have a good one.

Then sit up and pay attention. React to what he says. Respond to his chatter. Follow the lead — and find fun in whatever comes along.

Let the guy impress you — and show it. Just plain appreciate him. There's nothing quiet, dull, pathetic about warm hearted appreciation!

Vicki Mills Says Video Isn't All Glamor, Glitter

NEW YORK (INS)—Being a television performer isn't all glitter and glamor, warns a 19-year-old singer who has made the grade on TV.

Brunette Vicki Mills, the girl who sings the songs on "Name That Tune" every Monday evening, wants other girls to know that she works 45 hours a week to make a TV appearance that usually lasts less than 15 seconds.

Vicki, a native of Danbury, Conn., not only has to learn languages, since the gimmick of her show is disguising popular songs in 32 different languages, but she has to study ballet, dramatics and voice.

The lessons, plus rehearsals, run a minimum of 45 hours, sometimes more.

"All this is so I can appear three times during one half-hour show, and I'm only allowed a maximum of 10 seconds each time.

"If a contestant guesses the tune immediately, they cut me right off—and sometimes all you see of me in 30 minutes is about 15 seconds."

The singer emphasized that getting a job in any theatrical field is hard work, and that keeping the job afterwards is even harder work.

Thumb No Guide

Contrary to what palmists say, the length of the thumb has nothing to do with personality. A study at Fordham University compared the thumb measurements and personalities of 100 males, and found no relationship at all.

About two million school-age children in the United States have impaired hearing.

Go Over Make-up

After all your make-up has been applied, take one more step for perfection. Using cotton balls or cotton-tipped sticks, go over your face lightly to remove excess powder, mascara, eye shadow and lipstick.

Exercise Your Piano

Don't allow your piano to become inactive. The strings need exercise to keep them in good condition. At least a few hours playing every week will do it.

Don't Stifle Resentment to Obey Rule

Correct Youngster Publicly if Motives Are Kind, Sensible

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

One afternoon, 11-year-old Gwen went shopping for a new spring coat with her mother. A shell-pink one, priced at $49.95, caught her fancy. When her mother reminded her that this exceeded the price they'd agreed to spend, Gwen became angry.

Sulkily, she shrugged through other, less expensive coats offered by the salesclerk. "I don't care what you buy. You don't pay any attention to what I want anyway," she said to her mother.

This was an unjust charge. Gwen had been told she could have any coat she wished that cost $29.95. Her mother had read so many books that warned of the evil of correcting children before other people that she kept silent.

But like you and me, she did not enjoy being misinterpreted to justify someone else's anger.

The result was that Gwen sensed her mother's resentment. Growing more sullen, she refused any coat at all.

When they reached home after their wasted afternoon, Gwen's mother corrected her. As antagonism had been accumulating in her for an hour and a half, she reproved Gwen with exaggerated and unnecessary violence.

This is the kind of thing that happens when we blindly obey dogmatic rules for human relationships. It is what's bound to occur when we respect rules of action toward children that ignore the vital importance of the feelings behind action.

The one that forbids anything but private correction of children is typical of such rules.

If reason and kindness motivate our correction of Gwen, we can, of course, correct her in public or private without any evil result. No child whose dignity has been consistently respected will find reasonable and kind correction offensive to his dignity.

AAnd it's my frank opinion that rules like this are responsible in some measure for the uncertainty with which we do behave toward children. For nobody can keep his mind on someone else's rules for all his actions and remain a spontaneous, self-confident person.

The promoters of the rules do not intend to deliberately mislead us. Usually they are people whose work has associated them closely with children who suffered tragedy at the hands of parents incapable of reason and kindness.

So the promoters became anxious for all children, with the idea that none of us was capable of trustworthy motives for action.

Home Economics Course Broadened

A home economics education these days, says Ruth Schooler, means more than cooking and sewing.

Miss Schooler, city supervisor of home economics education in Gary, Ind., wrote an article for the Journal of Home Economics to point out that today's courses are designed to help students "understand the values of home and family life and to master essential managerial and other homemaking skills."

Three important spring style trends are combined in this cute coat . . . the fitted princess silhouette . . . executed in navy all-wool covert . . . highlighted with plaid taffeta. The tight bodice with cut steel buttons is in perfect contrast to the wide gore skirt. Narrow bands of plaid are used on the matching navy straw hat, cuffs, string tie — and the plaid completely lines the coat.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

Brooms and Calendars Banished on Moving Day

"Not the broom—don't you dare take that broom!" my neighbor, smart in her mink jacket and spring bonnet, called to a moving man as her goods and chattels went into the service elevator on the way to the big red van parked in front of our apartment house.

If I'd had my eyes closed, I could have imagined myself back in a Missouri yard, with Mama hollering those same words to Papa, about to drive away with most of our household goods in his big wagon.

MISS McBRIDE

We wouldn't move brooms, and we wouldn't move calendars. That was because there was a superstition in our part of the country, as there is in New York, that to carry an old broom or a calendar to your new home would mean unhappiness there.

Why brooms and calendars should be symbols of bad luck I don't know. Any more than I understand why Manhattan movers sometimes sprinkle their vans and then the floors of the new abode with salt for good luck.

Mama never wanted to move on Friday, and New Yorkers agree. Though if May 1, or Oct. 1, comes on Friday, New Yorkers pick up and go—for these are their official moving days and nobody moves oftener than a New Yorker, not even the McBrides back in Missouri.

"Mrs. McBride, if I wuz you I'd just have Walker put the house on wheels," Abel Johnson shouted at us above the rumble and creak of the big wagon Mama and I were riding in to one new home.

The reason we moved so much, Mama said, was because of Papa's being a born trader. No sooner were we settled and the orchard bearing, the corn and wheat doing well and Mama making the house look a little more home-like, than Papa was at it again, swapping for a bit of cash and another place on the prairie.

"It's hardly worthwhile to have anything nice," I used to hear my mother groan as she watched the careless men banging chairs, tables and dressers.

Of course, moving doesn't have to be painful. A man I know decided to change from a hotel suite to an unfurnished apartment and turned the whole project over to an organization which found, furnished and decorated his new home.

On May 1, the company moved his clothes, golf sticks and old love letters and he appeared just in time to play host at a housewarming. A hat-check girl opened the door, his living room was bright with flowers, a butler was arranging canapes on a tray. All he did was write a whopping check.

In contrast, only a few weeks ago a woman who evidently had been stuck with all the packing and settling by herself went berserk when her husband insisted on moving again after a month in a new location.

Maybe Abel Johnson had the right idea—a house on wheels, with everything built in, even the broom!

Queen Cake Is Genuine Royal Treat

Mrs. Hernandez' Dessert Calls for Peach Nectar

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Here is a cake fit for the grandest party you ever had, Peach Queen Cake. It is contributed by Mrs. Ralph Hernandez. The unusual feature of this cake is that it uses canned peach nectar.

Mrs. Hernandez is a homemaker with three children to keep her busy. She lists her hobbies as embroidery and playing the guitar, as well as singing. She is very pleasant to talk with.

PEACH QUEEN CAKE
By Mrs. Ralph Hernandez

2½ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg yolks
¾ cup milk
1 cup peach nectar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Cream shortening, add sugar gradually. Blend in egg yolks, one at a time, beating for one minute after each addition. Add half of sifted dry ingredients, mix well. Blend in milk.

Combine peach nectar and vanilla extract. Add to creamed mixture alternately with remaining dry ingredients, beginning and ending with dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly after each addition.

Bake in three well-greased and lightly floured 9-inch layer pans. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes. Cool.

Peach Filling

Combine one-half cup cornstarch with one-half cup peach nectar and mashed peaches. Blend well. Add 1 cup additional peach nectar; mix until smooth.

Cook over direct heat until thick, about five minutes, stirring constantly. Add 2 teaspoons vanilla. Cool.

MAKE FRIENDS

Mrs. Smith wanted to have her good friend, Mrs. Jones, accepted by a club to which she belonged. Instead of quietly putting up her name, and saying nothing to Mrs. Jones until she was voted in, she told her about the nomination. Mrs. Jones wasn't voted into the club, and it was mighty embarrassing to Mrs. Smith.

A lot of awkward moments can be avoided by not counting chickens before they are hatched.

Argentina to Get Diesel Taxicabs

PARIS (INS) — Argentine taxis today are switching to diesel engines, according to a German auto manufacturer.

Three thousand diesel-engined taxis have been ordered from Daimler-Benz AG., Germany, by the Argentine Taxicab Drivers Union, the company announced.

The taxis are Mercedes-Benz type 170 S-D's one of the first mass-produced diesel-engined passenger cars. They will be specially equipped with enlarged rear seats, radio and taximeter.

Parts for the new taxis will be shipped to Argentina, then assembled there.

The successful importation of 500 diesel cabs into Argentina some months ago was the reason for the large order, Daimler-Benz said.

Comedians' Joke on Fire Turns Out to Be True

WEYMOUTH, England (AP)—Comedian Tommy Fields and mimic Tony Fane, heading the bill at the Ritz Theater, were fishing from a pier yesterday when a fire broke out several blocks away.

"Maybe they're burning the Ritz down to get rid of us," Fields gagged.

Suicide Victims Shun Room 13 as Bad Luck

RICHMOND, England (AP)—A couple who registered at a local hotel yesterday declined to take room 13, saying it might bring bad luck.

The superstitious pair — later identified as James McCulloch, 45, and Miss Olive Bailey, 40—were reassigned to room 12.

They were found dead in gas-filled room 12 last night, leaving behind a join suicide note.

'Teahouse' Named Best Play of '53-'54 Season

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Teahouse of the August Moon" was overwhelmingly voted by the New York Drama Critics Circle yesterday as the best play of the 1953-54 season. Second place went to "The Cain Mutiny Court Martial."

About 54 per cent of the total land area of western Europe is suitable for farming or grazing.

Woman Ages a Year Giving Birth to Twins

OMAHA, (AP) — Mrs. Elmer Clausen was 31 when the first twin, Pamela, was born at 11:43 p. m. Twenty-three minutes later, at 12:06 a. m. the next day, Patricia, came into the world. Her mother then was 32, it being her birthday.

A war bride from Ipswich, Australia, Mrs. Clausen and her husband have three other children.

'Toots' Proves to Be Just a Friendly Dog

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP) — Police were confident they would soon nab a holdup man when they found a little dog that was with him at the time of the crime.

A couple who had been robbed while seated in a parked car told police the gunman had called to the frisky mongrel, "Come on, Toots," and walked away with the dog trotting at his heels.

When the dog was found shortly afterward, one over-confident officer predicted that "Toots will lead us to his owner."

But "Toots" turned out to be merely a friendly stray answering to any name and quite willing to make up with anyone, including police.

Contractor Asks to Withdraw Bid

County Board Studies Request Which Delays Farmers' Market

A contractor's request to withdraw the low bid for constructing a new Oakland County farmers' market here stalled further Board of Supervisors action on the project yesterday.

Gallagher-Schurrer Co. asked to withdraw its $68,964 bid — the lowest of nine — after it found a $9,500 error. The company said it would take a loss of $5,179 if held to its bid.

Supervisors couldn't decide whether to let the market contract to the next lowest bidder or throw out all bids and call for new ones.

They asked their markets and buildings and grounds committees to decide the matter and make a suggestion at Monday's board meeting.

Harry W. Horton, building and grounds chairman, said the company asked to withdraw its bid shortly after sealed bids were opened last week.

Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, said he thought the bidder could legally withdraw before contracts were awarded.

The company has offered to pay the $60 advertising charge and committee meeting costs if the county wants to ask for new bids.

William T. Dennis of Hazel Park said rejecting all bids would reveal what the amounts were — "and if everyone knows what the estimates were, it destroys the purpose of taking sealed bids."

Set Scoring Records

* New all-time season scoring records for Michigan State players were set during the 1953-54 season by basketball forward Julius McCoy and ice hockey center Weldon Olson.

Baseball Fan Misses Game Despite 3 TVs

NEWARK, N.J. (AP)—Stein Drake was all set for the opening of the baseball season.

He had three television sets—one in the living room of his apartment, another in the kitchen, and a third in the bathroom.

That was before detectives Philip Smith and Arthur Shine arrived to take inventory. They claimed the sets were stolen from three homes, and told Drake they got his description from a taxi driver.

Drake was held today on theft charges at police headquarters. He missed the opening game.

Ferrari Was Honored

Al Ferrari, Michigan State's crack basketball forward, following the 1953-54 season, was named "most valuable" to his team for the second straight year in separate polls of teammates and press-radio people.

Tick Means Life to Man

Clicking Sound Means Plastic Valve Regulates His Heartbeat

DENVER (AP)—Leonard Grenz of Denver is really ticking.

The sounds come from a plastic valve which Denver surgeons inserted just outside his heart in a three-hour operation.

It takes the place of his own aortic valve which was damaged by rheumatic fever when he was six-years-old and living on his father's farm near Lake Benton, Mass.

The fever scarred the mechanism which regulates the flow of blood from the heart to the lower portion of the body. Grenz, 37, has been plagued with heart trouble ever since.

Grenz, married and the father of two small children, had to quit carpentry work entirely six months ago, after his natural aortic valve froze in the open position. His heart worked at killing speed.

A team of Denver heart surgeons gave Grenz the choice of trying the plastic valve operation or facing inevitable death.

The doctors had studied the work of Dr. Charles A. Hufnagel of Georgetown University's medical school in Washington, D. C.

Circulation through the aorta artery to the lower part of Grenz' body was blocked off for 27 minutes while the valve was spliced into the artery just outside the heart.

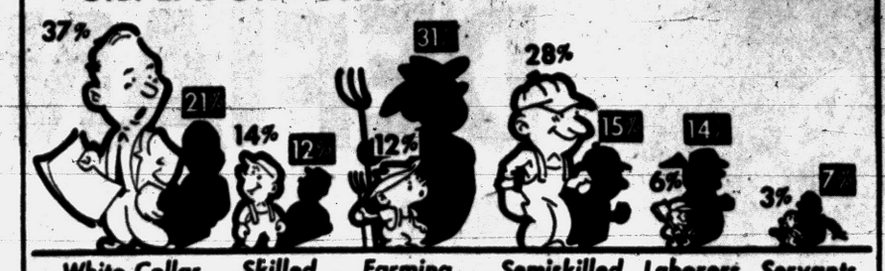

The valve, similar to a trap valve used by plumbers, is a tube about 2½ inches long and 1½ inches in diameter which bulges on the sides. A solid plastic ball, slightly larger than the diameter of the tube, rests loosely inside the bulges.

With his natural aortic valve frozen open, each inward thrust of his heart sent the blood rushing back into it.

Now the ball in the artificial valve permits blood to pass around it through the bulges on the outward thrust of the heart. On the inward thrust, however, the ball is sucked to the other end of the tube into a pocket, shutting off the backward rush of blood.

Doctors say Grenz is now on the road to recovery, although he will always hear that life-giving "click . . . click . . . click."

Transit Company Gives Child Care

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UP) — Manager J. H. Bagley of the Montgomery City Lines says "baby sitting" and delivering lost and strayed children to their parents has become a major part of his company's job.

Increasing numbers of the 2,200 children who ride his transit system back and forth to school every day seem to forget where they live, Bagley said.

"It takes two cars just to cruise around and gather up the little fellows who don't know where they live," he added. "It's gotten so bad we've just told the drivers to keep 'em and bring 'em in until we can locate their parents."

The worst part is the parents' seeming indifference, Bagley said. He told of one mother who was reached by telephone and told to come and get her lost, first-grade child who was "crying on a bus and did not know where to get off."

"Oh, he is?" the woman said. "Well, just ride him around for a few hours, and when I get around to it I'll get him off."

Citizens Crowd Holly Meeting to Oppose Annexation Plan

Rustlers Blamed as Cattle Vanish From Pasture

Cattle rustlers have been blamed for the disappearance of three head of cattle from a pasture at W. Maple and Drake Rds., according to Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post.

Omar Hollon of 455 Sparks Lane, Novi Township, told police that he pastured the cattle there Sunday. When he returned yesterday the cows were missing, and an all-day search failed to locate them

Two of the cows are Holstein heifers and the third is a Guernsey bull, Hollon said. They weigh between 500 and 600 pounds.

Royal Oak Balks at Post Office Site

ROYAL OAK — A request for a change in zoning to make way for a proposed site for a new post office building here was denied by city commissioners Monday.

Leonard Fink of Van Dyke had requested that two lots in Highland Subdivision be changed from residence A to business B.

Fink told the commission that the U. S. government had specified that the site of the post office be at or near 13-Mile road and Main street.

The proposed location, at 12-Mile and Main, was the nearest one containing 11,700 square feet specified by the government and enough area for parking required by the city ordinance, Fink stated.

Issue Involves Two Townships

Holly, Rose Residents Say Loss in Tax Would Hit Areas Hard

By WILLIAM THOMAS

HOLLY — About 35 Holly and Rose Township and village citizens crowded into the Village Council meeting here last night to hear their chosen leaders persuade the council to reconsider a proposed annexation of township property.

At a council meeting two weeks ago it was proposed that the Village annex into its limits the property running ¼ mile north of Quick road, ¼ mile east of Falk road, ¼ mile south of S. Fenton road, and ¼ mile west of Fish Lake road.

E. A. Hartz, first to speak for the group opposing annexation, in asking for the reconsideration said:

"The village has nothing to give them (township property owners). The village facilities are not enough to reach out, not even with water perhaps, and it is an injustice to the property owners."

"We don't intend to get mad and we hope that we won't have to go any farther. But if this isn't done (reconsideration of annexation) then I suppose we'll have to go to some expense—I'd hate to see the people, and the Village go to this expense."

Another speaker for the group, Henry Ellis, said, "I believe we have all we can do to take care of the present village area. The village is trying to reach out and tax them and give them practically nothing in return.

"Have any (Township people) petitioned to come in? What about the school, library, fire department, and road programs in the township if the township population and revenue is cut in half?"

Cass Waters, Holly township supervisor, pointed out that the proposed annexation would bring into the village limits about 672 people, and hand the township a loss of $5,880 in taxes every year.

"That would mean about $12,800 taken away from the schools every year, and the village would have seven or eight more miles of roads that they would have to keep up. I don't think you wish to wreck the township."

Henry Saeger, another Holly township resident, quizzed the council—"If you did go out there and sold lots and the city put in restrictions, how soon before the city would improve our facilities, how many years would we be paying taxes without benefits a lifetime? A lot of people would like to know the answer to that question."

A proposal was made by Walter Lentz, another township spokesman, for the village to appoint a planning commission.

"Don't try to do in one month or six weeks something that will affect the destinies of the people and their children. A planning commission can't help but give some ideas to the council."

"Let well enough alone. We're happy here," said Hartz, which brought immediate reply from councilman M. Bryce Dabler, "I don't think it should be left alone."

Dabler went on to point out that the village needs room for expansion, more lots; at which Hartz said there were 200 acres of land, room for 1,000 homes.

"There are lots of building lots, I'll grant," said Dabler, "but how much fill would be needed. A lot of this land is under water."

The council also noted that a sound planning program is needed now for zoning the township for future planning of business and residential areas.

The council voted to withdraw their annexation petition to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and to further study the problems.

3 Firms Move in Drayton Area

Keasey Co., Cecile's, Buckner Finance Will Open at New Locations

DRAYTON PLAINS—Spring, ordinarily a clean-up time, also seem to be moving time in Drayton Plains.

Three business establishments have announced they will open or have already opened in new locations.

Keasey Electric Co., which has been located at 4494 Dixie Hwy. since the company was formed, is now moved to its new location at 4620 Dixie.

Miss Dawn Giroux, owner of Cecile's Ladies' Wear store, announced that the shop will be moved to the larger building vacated by Keasey Electric Co. at 4494 Dixie.

Miss Giroux said that a children's wear department would be added in the new location and that the opening is expected soon.

Buckner Finance Corp. will open tomorrow in the Kruger-Giroux-Hicks building, 3391 Dixie. Manager is William Kase, assisted by Miss Carol Kelley.

Auxiliary Will Give $100 for Beach Improvements

Theme of the workshop will be "Better Mental Health for Classroom Students." Educational practices versus the educatinal needs of students will be considered in discussions.

Keynote lecture will be delivered by Dr. Marie Rasey, professor of education at Wayne University and a nationally known psychologist.

Educational consultants will be Dr. Wilmer Menge, assistant professor at Wayne University, for the secondary teachers, and Dr. Edith R. Snyder, principal of Webster School in Pontiac, for the elementary teachers.

Serving as faculty chairman will be Miss Betty Murphy. Assisting her in arranging the conference was Donald Weed, Roosevelt High School principal, Jesse Mosher, Robert Buckmaster, Wilbur Lindeman, Miss Mary Barnes, Miss Mary Barnes, Miss Florence Kane, and Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, elementary consultant.

Easter vacation in West Bloomfield Schools will also begin tomorrow, with classes to resume next Tuesday.

PTA Is Postponed

WATERFORD CENTER — Tomorrow's meeting of the Waterford Center PTA has een postponed to next Thursday.

County Sets Election Date

Walled Lake Votes June 8 on Home-Rule City Issue

Oakland County Board of Supervisors Tuesday set June 8 for Walled Lake voters to decide whether that area will become a home-rule city.

But the board postponed setting dates for elections on Southfield Park's incorporation as a city and Clawson's proposed annexation of 101 acres of Troy township.

The board's boundaries committee, headed by William A. Ewart of Pontiac, reported progress on all three moves.

The Walled Lake area includes about three square miles of Commerce township, bounded by Commerce, Decker, and Fourteen Mile roads and a line slightly beyond Ladd road to the west. Latest census showed 2,569 people.

The area is somewhat smaller than the one which organizers tried to get incorporated as a city more than two years ago. That move included part of Novi township. Many who signed the new petitions, however, also backed the incorporation move two years ago.

The boundaries committee decided not to suggest a Southfield Park election date until it had a chance to look into a request for a June 7 vote. The committee had been considering June 14.

The Southfield area is a mile-deep strip across the bottom of the township and includes the multi-million-dollar Northland Shopping Center, a valuable addition to any tax roll.

Clawson's move to take in 101 acres of Troy Township was stalled when supervisors backed Norman R. Barnard, Troy supervisor, who asked the boundaries committee give it more study. The committee had recommended an Aug. 3 election.

Barnard said some people who signed the petition urging annexation had since changed their minds; and others didn't live in the property now.

Despite a charge of "delaying tactics" hurled by Robert W. Wright of Clawson, the matter was re-referred to committee.

The land in question is bounded by Fourteen Mile road, Stephenson Highway, Clawson city limits and a point even with Badder avenue on the north and has few people living there. Real estate companies, who own most of the land, want it taken into the city so they can have sewer and water services handy to build homes.

Pontiac City Affairs

New Commission Debates Cement Firm's Request

The new Pontiac City Commission's first meeting was marked by a long debate over a request to reconsider action by the previous Commission revoking a building permit for a ready-mix cement plant at 115 W. Walton Blvd.

A representative of F. G. Van Horn & Sons, the firm desiring to build the plant, said the building permit was revoked without consulting the Pontiac Zoning Board of Appeals as required by the zoning ordinance.

He said the Van Horns had secured the building permit properly and committed themselves to spend over $13,000 before the city revoked the permit.

Leslie H. Hudson, speaking for property owners in the area, said it was thought the plant would create a health danger and public nuisance by spreading cement dust.

He said property owners feared value of their real estate would decrease if the plant is built. Hudson stated about 140 valid signatures had been obtained on a petition against the plant.

City Attorney William A. Ewart said the Van Horns could take the matter to court for a decision if they desired. The Commission's only action was to receive the firm's request.

In other action, a request to rezone to C-1 part of a block on the north side of West Huron was referred back to the City Plan Commission.

Deferred for two weeks on request of property owners in the area was a public hearing on intention to construct curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Rundell from Baldwin to Saginaw.

A protest petition against the work had been submitted and residents asked the two weeks to circulate a counter petition in favor of the planned improvements.

A special assessment roll was received and a public hearing set for Tuesday on proposed construction of curb, gutter and drainage and related work on Hazel Bend from Belmont to Jessie.

A public hearing was held and confirmation deferred on a special assessment roll for planned construction of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on Wisner from Cass to Short.

Special assessment rolls were approved and public hearings set for Tuesday on proposed building of curb, gutter, drainage and related work on:

Walton from Perry to the west city limits.
South boulevard from the Belt Line Railroad to Opdyke.
Montcalm from Baldwin to Perry.
Kennett from Baldwin to the west city limits.
Paddock from the Michigan Airline Railroad to Jessie.

An ordinance was approved rezoning to M-1 parts of the southwest quarter of section 18 and the northwest quarter of section 19, totaling about 1,400 acres.

An application was approved from Wrigley's, Inc., for a SDM package beer and wine license at 45 S. Telegraph Rd.

A land contract was approved with Hugh C. Lee for purchase of parts of city-owned lots 19, 20, 21, 22 and 23 in Mount Clemens Hills Subdivision.

Approval was given a land contract with Edward C. Lee for purchase of city-owned lots 852 and 853 of Perry Park Subdivision No. 1, and lot 1, except the west 30 feet, of Mount Clemens Hills Subdivision.

Drayton WCTU to Hold All-Day Meet Tomorrow

DRAYTON PLAINS — An all-day institute will be held by the WCTU in the parlors of the United Presbyterian Church tomorrow, starting at 10:30 a.m.

Speaker for the afternoon session will be Dr. Arthur Weaver of Pontiac General Hospital.

A noon potluck luncheon is scheduled. General chairman is Mrs. John Watkins.

Travel Film Ends Series at Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Dr. Gerald Hooper's travelogue "Italian Interlude," held Tuesday at the high school auditorium, completed this season's travel-adventure series by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

Over 500 persons joined Dr. Hooper in his travel through modern and ancient Italy.

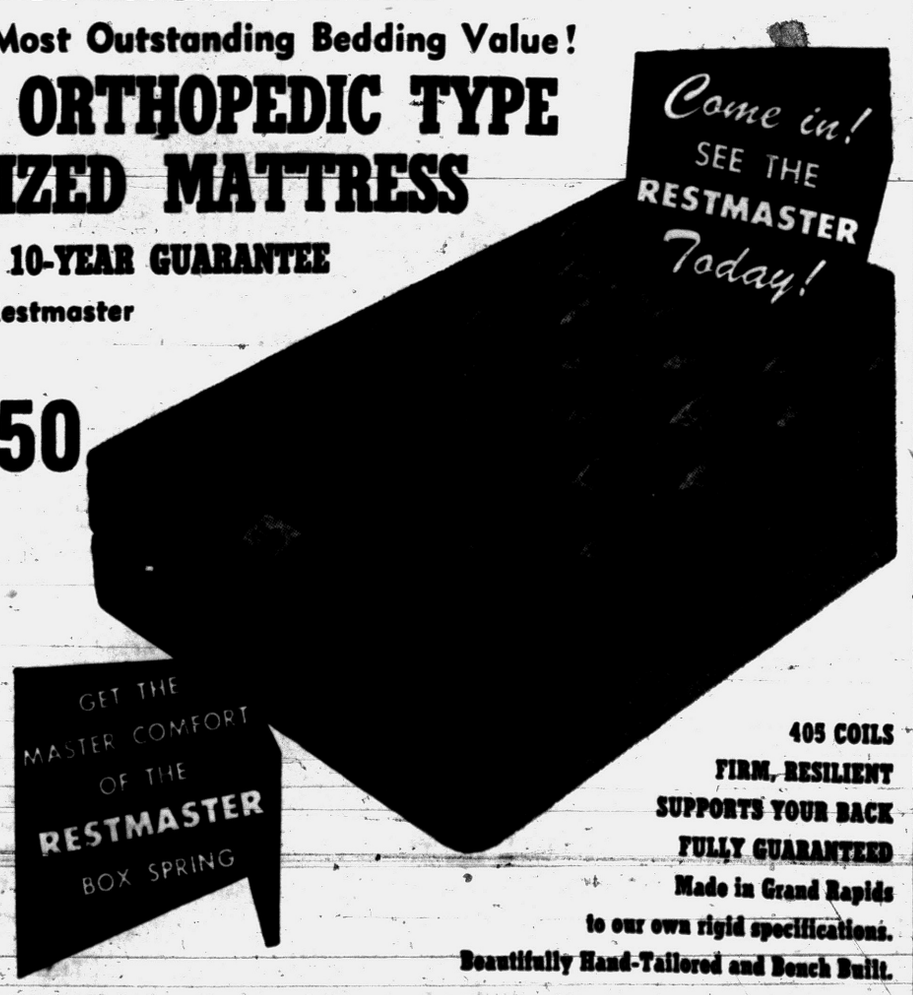

During intermission, the audience selected programs which might be featured on next season's schedule of six programs.

"The film-narration selections for next season was excellent with many nationally known adventure personalities as possible guests for our programs," said Thomas Belton, recreation superintendent.

Ex-Yanks Have Good Day With Other Clubs

Renna, Power, Bollweg Pace Athletics to 6-4 Win Over Red Sox

NEW YORK, (AP)—The New York Yankees got off on the wrong foot in their bid for a sixth straight American League Pennant yesterday, dropping a 5-3 decision in 10 innings to Washington. Several ex-Yankees had good days as the 1954 season got under way however.

* * *

Outfielders Bill Renna and Vic Power and first baseman Don Bollweg, the trio the Bombers dealt to Philadelphia last winter, paced the Athletics to a 6-4 victory over the Boston Rex Sox. Renna banged in three runs with a double and a triple. Bollweg had two singles and one run batted in and Power had one safety in five trips.

* * *

Other ex-Yanks who sparkled were Jackie Jensen of the Red Sox, with a double and a home run in two at bats, Clint Courtney of Baltimore with two of his club's seven hits against Detroit and Hank Majeski with a pinch-hit single which scored two runs for Cleveland against the Chicago White Sox.

* * *

Roller Skaters Pass Proficiency Trials

Earning the bronze dance bar were Richard Hamlin, Marsha Bigsby, Forest Miller, Wayne Fransico, and Skipper Darimont. Bronze dance medals were won by Carolyn Hedger, Diane Clouse and Dorothy Miller.

Tiger Tales

DETROIT (AP) — Overheard in Briggs stadium:

Only dull note in Detroit's brilliant opening day victory was a freak injury sustained by catcher Matt Batts in batting practice. He twisted his neck and had to retire from the game after catching two innings.

Batts will be sidelined for a few days and with Frank House returning to the army today to get his discharge papers, Al Lakeman was slated to catch his first game for the Tigers.

"And if he gets injured," said manager Fred Hutchinson, "we'll have to put Swiftie in there." He was referring to Bob Swift, Tiger coach and former backstop.

"I play before all the big crowds," said House. "The first time I ever caught for the Tigers there were 72,000 in Yankee stadium. And was I scared!"

For the record, House hit two singles and walked twice for a perfect day. He's batting 1.000 and even Ted Williams never did that.

First baseman Walt Dropo, a dismal failure last season, was pleased with his 370-foot home run and single. "Believe me, it's important to get off to a good start," he said. "I hit well during the spring and I'm ready." The big slugger couldn't recall his first home run in Briggs stadium last season. It didn't come until the season was many, many weeks old.

Oriole players are eagerly looking forward to playing in Baltimore this season. "It'll make a big difference with all the players," said Vic Wertz, Baltimore's rightfielder. "It was pretty rough to play just for the ushers day after day in St. Louis."

Ray Herbert, who looked impressive in exhibition games, was scheduled to pitch for Detroit today. He was to be opposed by Duane Pillette.

A's Buy Contracts of Van Brabant, Rozek

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics today purchased the contracts of pitchers Camille (Ozzie) Van Brabant and Dick Rozek from their Ottawa farm club in the International League.

Van Brabant pitched two innings in relief of Bobby Shantz in today's 6-4 victory over the Red Sox. He allowed one run and three hits.

Southfield High may have found a right hander to take some of the load off southpaw mound star Tom McCormick this prep baseball season.

The bespectacled little lefty hurled the Bluejays to the Inter-Lakes title last spring, but was a very tired pitcher by the season's end. Tuesday, Southfield opened its campaign with a 7-0 victory over Taylor Center.

Shutout work was that of Dick Cobera, who fanned 10, walked none and had a no-hitter going with two out in the final inning. Then Larry Drouillard drilled a single to left to break it up.

Don Bradley had three hits to lead Southfield's 11-hit attack.

Waterford evened its record at 1-1 by downing Rochester, 6-3, in the Skippers' home opener. Waterford tallied five times in the last two innings on a series of Falcon errors along with Bill Gard's double and singles by Steve Kebler and Bill Wood. Jim Attard homered in the 5th.

Kebler fanned six in getting the win and scattered Rochester's hits until the 7th when tw oruns were scored on singles by Lovelace and McCulley and Max Powell's triple.

Gene Debitze's double and a single by Lamar Nally broke up a 5-5 tie in the 9th inning and gave Northville a 6-5 win over Holly in the Wayne - Oakland League game. Northville trailed twice before tying the game in the 6th.

Dick Moritz had a double and two singles for Holly.

Imlay City's great right hander, Steve Parnicky, appears ready for another big season. He worked a total of 5 1-3 innings Tuesday as Imlay downed Brown City, 3-2. He yielded one hit, walked one and struck out 12.

In track, OL St. Mary routed Milford, 71-38, with Bob Leszcynski winning both dashes. Vince Peruicki set a school 880-yard record (2:05.6) and Tom Kalasz set a pole vault mark (11 feet).

Dennis Singleton, Jack Borah and Gary Rogers each won two events as Keego Harbor defeated Walled Lake reserves, 76-33. Singleton won the broad jump and 220 and was 2nd in the 100. Borah took the pole vault and 440, while Rogers swept the hurdle events.

Lake Shore won a triangular with 67½ points to 49 for Troy and 18½ for Fraser. Fred Burnard, 6-4, 200-pounder, won both dashes for Troy.

All-Time 'Mr. Shortstop' Is Honored Before First Game in Pittsburgh

By HERB ALTSCHULL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mickey Vernon took it like the old pro he is, the dramatic 10th inning home run and the handshake from the President of the United States.

But, Vernon conceded today, "it was just about the biggest thrill I ever had."

* * *

That takes in a lot of territory, for Vernon, the 35-year-old first baseman for the Washington Senators, has won the American League batting championship twice and broken up more than his share of ball games.

* * *

His 10th inning blast yesterday gave the Senators a 5-3 victory over the New York Yankees.

After Mickey had trotted around the bases President Eisenhower called him over to shake his hand in congratulation.

What did Eisenhower say?

"He said he was glad to see me come through," Vernon said. "I don't remember his exact words."

Hutchinson Is Delighted With Shutout Victory, 3-0

Detroit's Pilot Especially Pleased With Club's Sparkling Defensive Play; Lauds Drive of Outfield, Pitching of Gromek

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Fred Hutchinson, manager of the Detroit Tigers, normally doesn't say much after a ball game.

But yesterday was different — in many ways. It was opening day. That alone makes it different. The Tigers won the game. That, too, is a little different.

They clubbed three home runs and Steve Gromek hurled a clever seven-hitter to spoil Baltimore's return to the American League. The score was 3-0.

But what had Hutch buzzing was Detroit's sparkling defense.

"I'd say this is the best defensive club I've ever seen in Detroit," he said after the game. "And I can remember back to the days of Gehringer and Greenberg.

"The kids looked good," Hutchinson added, a smile crossing his face. "You can't beat the drive of those outfielders. They're not the best hitters but they're fast, and they can throw."

Hutchinson obviously was pleased with the result, as were most of the 46,994 fans in Briggs Stadium. They saw Ray Boone, Walt Dropo and rookie Frank Bolling slam home runs, and they saw Gromek vindicate Hutchinson's nomination as opening day hurler.

The veteran righthander scattered seven hits and fanned nine Orioles, getting cleanup slugger Vic Wertz three times.

Detroit was flawless in the field, and at times even looked flashy. Bolling, a 22-year-old newcomer who pushed Fred Hatfield off 2nd base, made a snappy gloved-hand stab of Eddie Waitkus' blooper while running into short centerfield in the 5th inning. And he and shortstop Harvey Kuenn clicked off the game's only double play in the 4th inning as though they were teammates for years.

Don Larsen, a fast-balling righthander, was given the chore of hurling Baltimore's 1st big league game in 52 years and pitched well, except for the three home run balls. Boone connected in the 4th inning, Dropo in the 6th and Bolling in the 7th. Boone also had two singles, and Dropo one.

Baltimore never threatened in the sunny 65-degree temperature. The Orioles put together back-to-work singles by Billy Hunter and Clint Courtney with two away in the end, but Gromek quickly fanned Larsen to avoid any trouble. That was the only inning in which they had more than one hit.

Home Run Hitters Busy in Openers

NEW YORK (AP) — More than twice as many home runs were hit in this season's opening major leagues games than were hit in the 1953 campaign openers.

A total of 21 home runs were hit yesterday—12 in the National League and nine in the American. Last year, major league players accounted for only 10 circuit blows—six in the National and four in the American—on the first day of the season.

Batting—Jim Greengrass, Redlegs—tied a major league record, slamming four doubles to lead Cincinnati to a 9-8 victory over the Braves.
Pitching—Steve Gromek, Tigers—shut out the Orioles 3-0, spreading seven hits and striking out nine.

Fire Assisted Orioles' Return to Major Loop

Old Park Was Too Small to Get City AL Franchise

BALTIMORE (AP) — Major League baseball pennants will flutter for the first time in 52 years in Baltimore tomorrow with the help of a fire 10 years ago.

There might never have been a stadium suitable for major league baseball if one hadn't burned down on July 4, 1944.

The Baltimore Orioles might still be playing in their own bandbox park, and still in the International League.

Instead, they'll be playing the Chicago White Sox in a huge double-decked stadium where, the concrete is barely dry.

Baltimore baseball fans were a sad lot July 4, 1944 when fire leveled Oriole Park. The 30-year-old wooden place only sat 11,000.

It had once been the home of Babe Ruth, Lefty Grove, George Earnshaw and other famous baseball names.

About 51,000 will jam into it after a welcoming parade through the city for the Orioles after their arrival from Detroit.

Then the Baltimore fans hope the Orioles set another fire, to the American League.

Larson Named Troy Junior High Principal

Boyd Larson, athletic director at Troy High School since the school's opening in 1949, was named principal of the new Stuart Baker Junior High School at a Tuesday night meeting of the Troy Township school board.

Larson's promotion will become effective in September. At the same time, Peyton Goodwin, Troy basketball and baseball coach, will assume the athletic directorship.

Annual all-sports banquet for Troy's athletic teams will be held Thursday, April 29, with former Detroit Lion center Vince Banonis the principal speaker.

'Morale Never Better'

Opening-Day Loss to Detroit Tigers Doesn't Perturb Orioles' Jimmy Dykes

By JIM SMALLEGAN

DETROIT, April 13 (AP)—It was billed as a truly great day for the Baltimore Orioles.

* * *

The sun was shining. The band played. The crowd was 46,994. They were making their first appearance in the American League in 52 years. Their morale was high when they walked into Briggs Stadium to meet the Detroit Tigers on opening day.

* * *

This was before the game. Just two hours and two minutes later they were as quiet as when they lost their final game as the St. Louis Browns last season.

This was in the dressing room after the game they had lost 3-0.

Among the quiest was manager Jimmy Dykes. As he puffed placidly on a cigar, Dykes was asking questions instead of answering them:

"What do you expect when you run into pitching like Steve Gromek's? You have to hit to get runs, don't you? I've seen Gromek when he couldn't pitch four innings. But how can you stop a pitcher that looked like he did today?"

Then Dykes answered a few questions.

What did he think of newspaper accounts that said his club was the St. Louis Browns of last year in Baltimore uniforms?

* * *

"They'll be singing a different song before the year is over," he said. "Our morale was never better and this isn't the same club St. Louis fielded last year."

How would the fans react to the club in a big Baltimore parade scheduled for Thursday if the Orioles dropped the second game tomorrow?

* * *

"It won't make a bit of difference," said Dykes. "Just wait until we start winning a few. We'll have every fan in Baltimore with us."

Golfers Divided Again Over Las Vegas Open

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP)—The next super event on golf's golden trail, the Las Vegas Tournament of Champions, is scheduled to be played for the second time at the Desert Inn Country Club, April 22-25, with $35,000 prize money at stake, and it appears that the money stars are preparing to split again over the propriety of appearing in the so-called "Slot Machine Open."

* * *

It will be recalled that there was considerable hullabaloo before, during and after the event a year ago. Numerous name attractions including Ben Hogan, did not accept invitations. Hogan was accused of having demanded $5,000 appearance money, and his angered Lloyd Mangrum, who did play and who fully intends to play again.

Those professionals who are "for" the fabulous event point out that gambling is as lawful in Las Vegas as playing hopscotch in other states, and say there is no reason they should be affected by the gambling atmosphere. They also emphasize that the promoters donate another $35,000 to the Damon Runyon Cancer Fund.

* * *

Those opposed say the tournament was conceived for the sole purpose of gaining nationwide publicity for the Las Vegas gaming tables, and that members of the PGA should not lend their talents to such a project.

The latest issue of Golf Graphic features an article which attempts, by giving both sides of the controversy, to bring the issue into some kind of focus. The conclusion to be drawn by the reader is that the editors of the publication see no great harm in the tournament.

LaMotta Puts Comeback Effort on TV Tonight

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—More than a year after a brutal beating by Danny Nardico sent him into retirement, former middleweight champion Jake LaMotta will be seen on television tonight in a comeback effort against Billy Kilgore of Miami.

The "Bronx Bull" has been made a 3-1 favorite over the unrated Kilgore in a 10-round main event which will be telecast by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Top Rider Grounded

SAN MATEO, Calif. (AP)—Jockey Ray York, the nation's leading stakes rider this year, was set down for 10 days today by the stewards at Bay Meadows race track for careless riding.

The suspension will not affect his assignments to ride Determine in the Bay Meadows Derby on Saturday and the Kentucky Derby Trial at Churchill Downs April 27. These stakes engagements were already on file.

Billy Wells Thinks Line Is Key to Spartan Hopes

EAST LANSING (AP)—Billy Wells, who blasted for the two touchdowns that put away the Rose Bowl game, was on the sidelines for the opening of Michigan State's spring football practice.

The "Menominee Meteor" was asked what he thought of MSC's chances this fall.

"They should go good," he said, "if the line holds up. Our line was getting pretty weary toward the end of the season last fall."

He was asked about his own position—right halfback.

"With Bert Zagers out this spring the position looks wide open," Wells commented. "Travis Buggs is awfully good, though. There should be a good fight for the position."

Wells has signed to play pro with the Washington Redskins. He will start workouts in July at Los Angeles along with Paul Dekker, former Spartan End from Muskegon, and Al Dorow, ex-Msc quarterback from Imlay City.

Wells doesn't mind going to the West Coast one bit for he's still corresponding with Debbie Reynolds, the Hollywwood starlet he dated while on the Rose Bowl trip.

Dates Are Set for Officials' Clinics Here

Annual softball and baseball officials clinic conducted by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department is set to start Monday, April 19 for softball and April 26 for baseball, and to continue each Monday through May 10.

Each of the four sessions will be divided into two parts: 7 to 8 p.m. for review and discussion of softball rules and 8 to 9 p.m. for baseball rules. Clinic will be held in Room 105 at the Pontiac High School.

All persons interested in being considered by this department for officiating assignments during the present softball and baseball season should attend the clinic.

Those persons who officiated these sports during 1953 and for good reason cannot meet with the schedule of this clinic should call John A. Streit, FE 2-7131.

Foul Ball Injures News Sports Editor

DETROIT (AP)—Henry Ford Hospital today reported the condition of H. G. Salsinger "potentially serious" but said his eye injury should heal in four or five days.

Salsinger, 67, sports editor of the Detroit News, was injured when struck by a foul ball in the rooftop press box at the Detroit-Baltimore season opener in Briggs Stadium yesterday.

Doctors said the cornea of the eye was lacerated.

Arcaro May Be Up on Goyamo on Derby Day

NEW YORK (AP) — Eddie Arcaro, who has ridden five Kentucky Derby winners, will be up on Goyamo May 1 at Churchill Downs if the Woodvale Farm colt runs well in the Blue Grass stakes at Keeneland. The Blue Grass is down for decision April 22.

"As good as any three-year old I've been on this year," said Eddie Tuesday in confirming selection of Goyamo as his derby mount. Arcaro was aboard Royce Martin's colt when he finished second to Correlation in the Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park after leading to the final sixteenth of a mile.

"I still figure Correlation is the one to beat," Eddie said. "But Goyamo is one of those with a good chance."

Arcaro was down to ride Duke's Lea before the Calumet Farm colt went wrong on the west coast several weeks ago.

Milwaukee, Baltimore Will Help Boost Attendance Figures, but Philly, Pirates, Cubs May Have Woes

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—It seems to be out of place during the green and sunny days of April to speak of a matter as sordid as attendance figures.

* * *

The new baseball season has just opened to the delight of a large flock of fans who have been champing at the bit, but the entire situation is far from serene.

For during the past five seasons, the attendance in the two leagues has been falling away at the rate of 500,000 a year. Naturally, this decline can't last forever or there will be precious few fans looking at the various games.

* * *

So the main problem this season will be this—how many customers will pay their way into the park and what will the drop be? If it hadn't been for the gay and gaudy entrance of Milwaukee last season, the falling-off would have been over a million more.

* * *

The home of the Braves will again be a big help to the other 15 clubs. Baltimore is likely to show her wares to a million people and this will be another help. But the two big leagues can't keep adding a new team every year to replenish the attendance at ball parks.

Philadelphia isn't going to be too strong and neither is Pittsburgh, unless the Pirates keep up their rather astonishing spring-season pace.

They have had a very fine spring and, while this pace is hardly expected to be continued, Pittsburgh will rally back of the squad if given any chance to cheer. Pittsburgh happens to be one of our better baseball cities.

* * *

There is the chance for a strong skidding movement on the part of the Chicago Cubs. In the first place, firing Phil Cavaretta didn't help matters a bit. The fact that the Cubs are a poor club with a gray future, minus hardly any good ballplayers, could be the reason.

* * *

What has caused the constant falling-off? TV has naturally played a big part. The feeling that spectators are not looking at the best talent in the world, due partly to the constant drain of the draft, removing many skilled players from baseball action, hasn't helped any.

General class hasn't been too high. The 5th straight pennant and World Series victory by the Yankees hasn't made the game any more popular in many cities. Baseball is in deep need of a shaking-up of some sort.

Cup Rivals Square Off for Concluding Tilt

Canadiens Knot Series on 4-1 Home Victory

Seventh Game Back in Detroit, Friday; Wings Not Too Downhearted

MONTREAL (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens—old hands at coming from behind—were back in the National Hockey League championship picture after winning the sixth game of the best-of-seven final series with the Detroit Red Wings.

Canadiens, who have won the last two Stanley Cups, squared the series at 3-3 last night by trouncing the Red Wings 4-1. The final game for the cup will be played at Detroit Friday night.

Although there was a lot of shouting in the Montreal dressing room, Coach Dick Irvin said he didn't think his Canadiens played as well as they did in shutting out the Red Wings 1-0 on Sunday.

Floyd Curry, who scored two of the Montreal goals, said he had injured his right knee just after getting his first goal and turned toward the bench but his relief wasn't in sight so he skated down the ice and tallied his second.

Teams battled through a scoreless first period and at 12:07 of the second Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion drove home a 25-foot shot past Terry Sawchuk to give the Canadiens a 1-0 lead.

One minute later Curry scored his first goal and 78 seconds after that he fired a 10-footer past the surprised Sawchuk.

Detroit, winner of six straight regular season titles, cut the Montreal margin to two goals in the final period as Metro Prystal scored unassisted. Maurice (The Rocket) Richard closed out the Montreal scoring at the 10-minute mark after taking a pass from Elmer Lach.

But the Red Wings didn't appear too downhearted.

"When you lose 4-1 you're outplayed and that's all there is to it," said Coach Tommy Ivan. "Somebody was due for a bad game and it turned out to be us."

SAFE AT THIRD—Outfielder Colle Hunt slides safely into 3rd for a stolen base after smashing a double in the 3rd inning of yesterday's Pontiac High-Cranbrook baseball game here. Hunt's double drove in Don Daniels with the 2nd run of the game. Cranes' Don Slotkin waits for the throw. Chiefs won the game, 8-1, behind Marv Caswell's 2-hit pitching.

Caswell Hurls Two-Hitter as Chiefs Dump Cranes

Pontiac High's baseball team opened its season here Tuesday, beating Cranbrook, 8-1, behind the 2-hit pitching of senior righthander Marv Caswell.

Caswell went the route for the Chiefs, striking out 15 and issuing only two bases on balls.

He hurled no-hit ball through the 1st five and two-thirds innings, until Crane Captain Don Slotkin smashed a double. Cranbrook's only other hit was a single by George Cochran in the 7th.

Pontiac scored its 1st run in the 2nd inning, when Colle Hunt walked, advanced on Walt Poe's single and came home on Caswell's grounder. Chiefs posted another tally in the following frame on successive doubles by Don Daniels and Hunt.

A combination of two hits, two errors, two walks and a hit batter produced six runs for Pontiac in the 5th and ended scoring.

PHS nine plays host to Waterford Thursday afternoon.

Cage Push Shot Developed Out of Necessity

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Basketball's one-handed push shot was developed years ago out of necessity, says R. W. (Bobby) Richardson, former coach.

"In the old days we just pushed our opponents away with one hand, and had to hold them there while we shot with the other," says Richardson.

"The game was rough then — considerably more bodily contact was allowed and the uniforms were heavily padded. Development of the one-handed push shot was a simple case of necessity—if you wanted to shoot at all."

Richardson, now 70, played on Utah's LDSU team of 1903. After his playing days he coached for several years and then directed the Desert Gym here for 40 years. He now works for the water department.

President Plans Golf in Georgia

Patton 1 Stroke Over Snead and Hogan; Will Play With Ike Friday

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — President Eisenhower, starting an Easter holiday, tunes up his golf today for a round later in the week with the sensational North Carolina amateur who came close to winning the Masters Tournament.

The President, accompanied by Mrs. Eisenhower, arrived here by plane from Washington last night for about a 10-day stay at "Mamie's Cabin," named for the First Lady, on the edge of the Augusta National Golf Club.

* * *

Eisenhower found most of the talk at the club still centering on 31-year-old Billy Joe Patton of Morganton, N. C., whose play in the Masters won him probably more attention than the winner.

* * *

Patton finished the regular 72-hole tournament at the Augusta National with a 290, just a stroke more than Sam Snead and Ben Hogan. Snead won in a playoff.

Bobby Jones, president of the Augusta National, met Eisenhower at the airport and told newsmen neither Snead nor Hogan had been able to stay over for a game with the President.

But Jones said Patton had been invited back to the club for the Easter weekend. He probably will team up with Eisenhower Friday.

Little Success Reported by Rainbow Anglers

Tax Measure Hits Sportsmen

By JAMES A. O. CROWE
Associated Press Outdoor Writer

LANSING (AP)—Gov. Williams is casting a cautious eye over a bill that went through the legislature with little attention from those affected most, the licensed hunters and fishermen.

The measure passed the senate by a handsome majority, but only 53 votes were cast for it in the house. If anyone had been interested enough in stopping it, they could have knocked off those three house votes to defeat the bill without much trouble.

As it is, the only thing standing in the way of its becoming law is the governor's signature.

This line runs roughly through Pentwater, Clare and Pinconning.

Every state park, game area and recreation area below that line, except land bought before 1931, will be reassessed by the state tax commission and brought up to its current value. Exempted from the valuation, however, are plantings and like improvements made for the benefit of fish and game.

Under present law, such land is taxed at half of the average assessed valuation for the five years before the land was bought by the state.

The new law, sought by local units of government who are chronically short of cash despite heavy state aid payments, will force the conservation department to dig down for an estimated $55,000 additional money a year. Payments under the present law total $55,000, and that is expected to double.

But that is not all.

Under present law, all the money comes out of the state general fund. The new law requires that taxes on land bought with restricted hunting and fishing license money (the game and fish protection fund) must come out of that fund.

Conservation department estimates that this new charge against the already hard-pressed fund will come out at about $47,000 a year.

High, Muddy Waters Face Fishermen on Opening Day

By JACK PATTERSON

In case you missed the opening of the special rainbow season and feel bad about it, don't. Although many fishermen showed good sense by staying home, there were still plenty along open streams discovering the hard way that the fish, if in the streams at all, weren't having any of the offerings tossed at them by shivering anglers. Our own peregrinations took us from the mouth of the East Branch of the Au Gres up to the state weir, limit of open water in the Iosco County section of that stream. We didn't see anyone catch a fish, didn't hear of anyone catching one, or for that matter didn't run into anyone who'd had so much as a strike. We did a little offhand experimenting in the high, muddy waters with the same result.

PATTERSON

With practically every fisherman in the state trying to think up ways to kill sea lampreys, the nemesis of Great Lakes sport fishes, it might seem odd for anyone to go to a lot of trouble to keep one alive. But we spent the better part of the afternoon a few days ago doing just that.

* * *

Chuck Rogers was the recipient of a lively 2-footer from Lexington and was determined to display it alive. We tried putting it in a standard aquarium, but it promptly reared up out of the water and onto the floor.

* * *

After several abortive attempts Chuck got a grip on its slimy hide and returned it to the water. With the aquarium ruled out on security grounds we decided to try a narrow-necked 5 gallon jug. "Red" Lemeaux, who always shows up at times like this, grabbed the beast and fed it into the jug, along with an "O-tab" to supply oxygen. This worked fine for awhile, but the lamprey failed to "carry" overnight, and by morning was about as dead a specimen as you'd be likely to run across. So, Chuck is now in the market for a new lamprey and has an advanced theory on keeping it alive. Meanwhile, does anybody have a good suggestion for removing a dead one from a borrowed 5-gallon jug?

Fishing tackle manufacturers seem determined to prove the Western world's independence of that useful material, bamboo. Latest gimmick from industry is a fiberglass version of the old cane pole which extends from a handy-to-carry four feet to a fishable 12 feet at the flick of a wrist. Lighter than cane, but with similar action and "feel," and impervious to the elements, this gadget should find favor among the long-pole enthusiasts and costs less than $10.

* * *

This is the season when a good many people raise pheasants from eggs for restocking, with the laudable purpose of providing better shooting. Only drawback, according to Conservation Department's Game Division is that such restocking is apt to be wasted effort.

* * *

Division recommends restocking only in areas suitable for pheasants where some specific cause has reduced pheasants to the point of extinction, and where that cause has been eliminated. Overshooting of cocks is not such a cause. The divisions publishes a pamphlet "The Life and Times of Michigan Pheasants" which pretty well answers the question of the value of restocking.

WHEN YOU KNOW YOUR BEER

When it comes to beer, millions of people do "put all their eggs in one basket"... they always drink Budweiser. They know that no other beer can match the distinctive taste of Budweiser, brewed by the costliest process on Earth.

(Incidentally, Budweiser tastes wonderful with hard-boiled eggs!)

Enjoy

Fishing Seen 'Picking Up' in Michigan

Smelt Runs Expected to Hit Peak by This Weekend

LANSING (AP)—Fishing is picking up in Michigan, the state conservation department reports.

It said that smelt runs began to boil over the past weekend and that peak sport should be available by next weekend.

The shiny little fish were reported running in Advance and South Arm creeks and in the Jordan river of Charlevoix county, the Thunder Bay river in Alpena county, Tawas river in Iosco county, Whitney Drain in Arenac county, and in all the traditional streams in Grand Traverse, Leelanau and Benzie counties.

Fishermen have not been too numerous to date, the department said.

High, roily water and cold weather combined to hold down the upstream rainbow runs, as well as the number of fishermen.

The early season opened on about 70 streams and lakes ahead of the regular trout season opening April 24.

The Great Falls, Mont., Ski Club had to cancel one of its races the other day. There was too much snow.

Gray to Head Conservation Publications

LANSING (AP)—John Gray, administrative assistant to the state tourist council, today was named head of the state conservation department's publications and information section, effective May 2.

Widely known in Michigan outdoor circles, Gray formerly was editor of the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill and editor of the state health department magazine. He has been No. 2 man in the tourist council since 1945.

Gray succeeds Clifford Ketcham who was promoted to conservation commission secretary.

Compete for Tartars

Spaniel Field Trial Planned

Southern Michigan Springer Spaniel Training Club will hold an AKC-licensed field trial April 24-25 at the Highland Recreation area.

Judges for the event will be George Brown of Westlake, O., and Edward L. Abraham of Milwaukee, Wis.

Silver trophies will be awarded winners, and points will be given toward the Danforth Challenge Cup. Mr. and Mrs. Roy D. Chapin Jr. of Grosse Pointe will offer their silver challenge trophy for the open all-age stake.

Anyone wishing to enter a spaniel in the test may contact Keith Van Duzen, 15330 Lauder, Detroit 27, for further information.

Foster New Chairman of Sportmen's Board

New secretary of the board is Jack Greathouse, Drayton Plains, who succeeds Leonard Bullard of Oxbow Lake.

Pontiac High Track Team Wins Opener

Pontiac High's track team, paced by versatile Ed Ringgold, opened its outdoor season yesterday afternoon at Flint with a resounding 73 1-3 to 35 2-3 triumph over Central's Indians.

Ringgold won the high jump and finished 2nd in the broad jump, 100-yard dash and low hurdles to pile up 14 points. Chiefs' only double winner was Willie Wilson, who won both hurdle events.

Pontiac's other 1st were taken by miler Bill Douglas, quarter-miler Norris Jackson, half-miler John James, pole vaulter George Thrasher, shot-putter Jack Hopkins and medley relay team of Coley Gracey, Jim Shorter, Charles Robinson and Jack Humphrey.

Summary:

120-yard high hurdles—Wilson (P) 1st; Catlin (PC) 2nd; Spalding (PC) 3rd. Time 17.1 seconds

MSC TV Station Will Air All Home Baseball Contests

EAST LANSING (AP)—All Michigan State college home baseball games will be telecast by the college's television station, WKAR-TV, this year.

The opening game is with Wayne University, Saturday, April 17. The station will begin telecasts at 1:15 p.m. (EST) with flag-raising ceremonies, dugout interviews and music. Play-by-play reports will be handled by Bob Shackelton and Larry Frymire.

The college will also televise these games:

University of Detroit April 21 and University of Illinois April 30, both at 3:30 p.m.; Purdue May 1 in a double-header starting at 1 p.m.; Notre Dame May 5 at 3:30 p.m.; Michigan May 14 at 3:30 p.m.; Indiana May 21, 3:30 p.m.; Ohio State May 22 in a double-header starting at 3:30 p.m. and Western Michigan June 8 at 3:30 p.m.

Great Lakes Is Host to Service Cage Test

GREAT LAKES, Ill. (AP)—The top Armed Services basketball teams—one each from each of the four branches—open play tonight in a special "World-Wide" interservice tourney.

The teams, champions of their own branches, are:

Great Lakes (Navy), Camp Chaffee, Ark., (Army), Andrews AFB (Air Force) Washington, D.C., and Quantico (Marines) of Virginia.

Slaughter's Replacement Gets Homer on 1st Attempt

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The young lefty stood up there relaxed. The count was two balls, no strikes. A fast ball came in. He swung easily, met it good and the ball bounced atop the right field pavilion roof—a home run.

* * *

That's how Wallace Wade Moon, who had never seen a major league game before, made his debut as a St. Louis Cardinal yesterday against the Chicago Cubs.

The homer, a 350-foot clout, came in the first inning, adding Moon to the list of rookies who have hit home runs on their first trip to the plate in the majors. It didn't have much to do with the game's outcome. Chicago won, 13-4.

* * *

"It was quite a thrill," said Moon.

"Sure I was nervous," he admitted. "But I felt good at the plate. I was more nervous in the field than at bat."

The Cards' new centerfielder had cause to be nervous. Not only was it his first major league game, but he was in the lineup replacing Enos Slaughter, the veteran fan-favorite who was traded to the New York Yankees Sunday.

Junior High Teams Open Track Slates

Defending champion Washington met Eastern and Jefferson took on Wever, in a double-header event at Wisner field. Lincoln traveled to Waterford to meet the Junior Skippers in the 3rd test.

Women's Softball Loop Meeting Set

Plans are now being formulated by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department for the operation of the Women's Softball League.

Initial meeting of managers is set for Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the office of the Parks and Recreation Department, 35 Hill Street.

Team managers, or their representative, who intend entering city league competition should plan to attend this meeting.

Purpose of this first meeting is to get an indication of the number of teams likely to enter the league, discuss league organization and assign practice facilities.

Just Old Stuff!

DETROIT (AP) — There were 46,994 sitting in on yesterday's opener between the Detroit Tigers and Baltimore Orioles.

It was old stuff for Otto Bobceau and Wayne W. Adair of Mt. Clemens. It was their 36th consecutive opener in Briggs Stadium.

It's Time Out

Champs Look Like Chumps As Majors Start

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's a long way to the end of the major league baseball season but on opening day the champs looked like chumps.

* * *

The proud champion New York Yankees bit the dust in Washington 5-3. The National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers tasted defeat at the hands of the Giants 4-3.

The highly rated Milwaukee Braves were dumped in Cincinnati 9-8 . . . the well regarded Boston Red Sox were knocked off by the lowly Philadelphia Athletics 6-4 . . . the high flying St.Louis Cardinals were soundly thrashed by the Chicago Cubs 13-4 . . . the hustling Chicago White Sox were stalled by Cleveland 8-2 . . . and the fighting Philadelphia Phillies were upset by the upstart Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2.

Otherwise everything went according to script . . . well, nearly everything. Eddie Mathews, whose 47 home runs made him king of the majors in 1953, whacked two out of the park for the Braves.

Mickey Vernon, AL batting champion, homered for Washington to beat the Yankees in a 10-inning tussle.

Sal Maglie, who has made a living out of whipping the Dodgers, beat 'em again. And the old St. Louis Browns, who are now the Baltimore Orioles, lost by absorbing a 3-0 shutout in Detroit.

Weatherwise, it was an ideal day to inaugurate the season. Crowds totalling 236,414 turned out in generally cool, sunny weather to watch the 16 teams get under way. It was the first time in 16 years that every club began the season simultaneously.

Jim Greengrass cracked four doubles to tie a major league record and highlight Cincinnati's first opening day victory since 1949. The husky outfielder drove in two runs and scored twice as the Redlegs thrilled a capacity crowd of 33,185, clouting 13 hits off four Braves' hurlers.

Held scoreless by Robin Roberts through seven innings, the Pirates pounced on the Philly ace and Jim Konstanty, his reliever, for four runs in the eighth to pull the game out of the fire. After rookie Bob Skinner's pinch hit single had tied the score, Hal Rice doubled to drive in the winning run.

* * *

Successive fourth inning home runs by Wally Westlake and George Strickland opened the gates for the Indians who staged a 15-hit assault on Billy Pierce and three relievers to gain their one-sided victory in Chicago. Early Wynn went the distance spacing nine hits.

* * *

Stan Hack's managerial debut was a marked success as his Cubs shelled starter Harvey Haddix and four other St.Louis hurlers for 16 hits. Paul Minner handcuffed the rookie-sprinkled Cardinals on six hits. The Minner-Clyde McCullough battery hit homers—so did rookie Gene Baker for the Cubs. Stan Musial and Wally Moon homered for the Cards.

Muscle Spasm in Hurling Arm Benches Shantz

Athletics' Ace Forced to Leave Game After Fine Start

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Bobby Shantz won a ball game yesterday but he's wondering today if it was his last.

The 28-year-old southpaw, had to leave the game between the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox yesterday because of a muscle spasm in his valuable pitching arm.

* * *

The Athletics were leading 5-2 as Shantz pitched to Boston's Billy Goodman in the top of the sixth inning. The little lefty broke a beautiful curve ball across Goodman's letters. Shantz doubled over after the pitch.

* * *

He motioned to the dugout and manager Eddie Joost came running out. They talked and then Shantz, his head bowed, walked to the dressing room where trainer Jim Tadley went to work on him.

Bobby was sidelined most of last year by an arm ailment he suffered in Boston on May 21. He went to see Dr. Charles Van Ronk, a retired Philadelphia physician who in the past has helped quite a few baseball players with an arm trouble. The doctor gave Bobby his special treatment and pronounced the pitcher fit to work again. He looked good in the early innings against the Red Sox, working with that smooth, effortless motion so familiar to the Philadelphia fans.

8 Players Take Advantage of New Fly Ruling

NEW YORK (AP)—Eight players already have taken advantage of the major league's restored sacrifice fly rule.

* * *

Under the regulation, a player hitting a fair outfield fly which scores a run is credited with a sacrifice and is not charged with a time at bat.

* * *

Broncos Defeat UM Behind Gary Graham

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Western Michigan, behind the two-hit pitching of Gary Graham, scored a 4-1 victory yesterday over Michigan's defending NCAA baseball champs.

Outfielder Hal Nagle smashed a two-run homer while the Wolverines fumbled two more Broncos over the plate.

Chief Netters Drops 4-3 Test

Best match of the test saw PHS sophomore outlast Saginaw's Bob Adams in three hard-fought sets, 8-6, 3-6, 6-4. Other Pontiac victories were scored by Eddie Macadaeg, who defeated Jerry Granville, 6-4 and 6-3, and the doubles team of Jim Ryerse and Ted Wiersma, who beat Ted Mathews-Tom Craun, 6-1, 6-2.

Other results:

Ken Anderson (S) def. Lowell Satterlee (P), 6-0, 6-0
Don Savell (S) def. Kent Mills (P), 6-1, 6-1
Bob Barth (S) def. Norm Levin (P), 6-1, 6-2
Harold Moldenhauer-Jerry Wagner (S) def. Paul Kampner-Jack Niggeman (P) 6-2, 6-0.

Pafko Reported Okeh

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. H. C. Boehner said Andy Pafko, Milwaukee rightfielder who was beaned by a pitched ball in yesterday's baseball opener here, probably would be released from the hospital today.

The physician said X-rays were negative, indicating he suffered no fractures.

Bible Students Are Genuine Circuit-Riders

FORT WORTH, Tex. (INS) — Graduate Bible students at Texas Christian University make the old circuit-riding preacher look like a stay-at-home.

One student-pastor travels 865 miles each weekend from Fort Worth to Gruver, in the Texas panhandle. He is Frank Reece of Forth Worth, who estimates he'll travel some 30,000 miles — by train — during the school year.

Doyle Green, of Aransas Pass, uses his car for his weekly long trip to Crystal City, less than a hundred miles from the Mexican border. His round trip is 780 miles a weekend.

ROKs Attend Band Clinic

WITH THE 45TH DIVISION IN KOREA (INS) — Seven Korean band leaders — four of them graduates of Tokyo University music school — attended a music "clinic" with the 45th Division band recently. The idea was to get Republic of Korea Army and American Army playing and marching techniques on a common basis for formal ceremonies.

Church First Renovated, Then Is Rededicated

PHILADELPHIA (INS) — A church founded 56 years ago by Russian sailors has been rededicated following several months of renovation.

The church is St. Andrew's Russian Orthodox, which owes its beginning to seamen who came to the U. S. to man the battleship Varig under construction at a Philadelphia shipyard.

The Varig was scuttled during the Russo-Japanese War. But art work from the vessel's chapel was salvaged and sent to help decorate St. Andrew's.

Young Thieves Get Gifts

AUBURN, Calif. (AP)—Two boys stole 32 pigeons from merchant Jack Patrick, but police caught the boys and recovered the birds. Then Patrick, hoping to combat juvenile delinquency, gave each boy two mated pigeons to start his own flock.

Eartha Scared as She Wows Club Patrons

By BOB THOMAS

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Six years ago, a frightened little dancer played a night club here as one of the Katherine Dunham troupe. Today Eartha Kitt is the headliner at the same spot—and still frightened.

The Eartha Kitt show at El Rancho Vegas is the top ticket in this fabulous town, meaning that reservations are the toughest to get. The sultry songstress' records are selling in the millions. She is the star of a current movie hit, "New Faces." She has enough offers from TV. movies, niteries and the stage to keep her busy for a decade.

* * *

But she's scared.

"It wasn't so bad in the theater in New York, because I was accustomed to the theater," she remarked between shows. "But when I played the Mocambo (where she scored her first big hit), I was terrified. And when I opened here, I was so frightened I didn't think I would be able to go on. I was in a trance during most of the show."

It may be some consolation for her to know that George M. Cohan once said a performer couldn't be good unless he's a little scared before going onstage. And Eartha is good.

* * *

She's no beauty, resembling a dusky Spike Jones. But she has a fascinating, alive face which can range from a savage look to one of tenderness. She prowls around the stage with a feline grace. Her songs are as intimate as a wire-tapped boudoir.

For much of her success, she can thank the Los Angeles City Council. Certain councilmen objected to her material at a banquet here for the King and Queen of Greece last November. The mayor also chimed in that the songs seemed too racy for royal ears. The King, on the other hand, said he and his wife were delighted with the evening's entertainment.

"There is no doubt that the council gave my career the big push," said Eartha, who was nevertheless abashed by the whole affair. "People began buying my records to see if this girl was as bad as they said."

* * *

This is probably the first time in legislative history that city fathers have established a star. The furor came just in time to plug Eartha's disc, "Santa Baby," a catchy combination of sex and Santa Claus.

Eartha is a gal who refuses to be typed. She started out in show business as a dancer. But after going to Paris with the Dunham She also did a play with Orson dancers, she turned to vocalizing. She also did a play with Orson Welles.

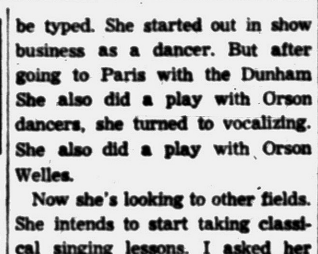

Now she's looking to other fields. She intends to start taking classical singing lessons. I asked her why.

* * *

"Because I was offered the film version of 'Carmen Jones,'" she replied. "That kind of singing will take a bit of practicing."

Israel May Soon Grow All Its Food

TEL AVIV (AP) — Experts think Israel can grow all her own food within seven years. To do so she would have to add 41,000 farm units and multiply irrigation by four. The farm population would be doubled.

Government policy backs the program. Bad farm practice is a legal offense. One collective farm was fined recently for promoting erosion by failure to use contour plowing.

Meanwhile, efforts are being made to expand home grown foods. To supplement meager meat supplies, poultry projects are being expanded. About a million chickens a month go to a population of 1,700,000. These are being provided after three months when no one but the sick got a meat ration. Meanwhile officials promote consumption of large quantities of locally grown vegetables.

Wanted—1 Jefferson

JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind. (AP)—City officials sent to Indianapolis for a portrait of Thomas Jefferson and the picture was the central piece in a float for a progress parade. Then the new Thomas Jefferson school was opened. Officials obtained the same portrait to place on the school walls, but it never was hung. A school official said it was a good picture, not of Jefferson, but of Andrew Jackson and not too appropriate for the Jefferson School in Jeffersonville.

The first man to introduce the famous Hereford cattle in the United States was the statesman, Henry Clay.

'MARRY ME AGAIN' starring Robert Cummings & Marie Wilson

Bob Considine Says:

Title 'New Look' Irks Ike, Because It's Inadequate

WASHINGTON (INS) — The President said at a recent news conference he didn't like the term "new look" for the military. It is as inadequate as calling Hitler and Stalin "spoilsports."

Not that the front lines in any future war promise to be vacation spots. They, too, will be affected by the "new look" if there is war. Some 50 miles below Washington, at Quantico, Va., single platoons of U.S. Marines now demonstrate that they possess perhaps more fire power than was packed by the entire Army of Geh. George Washington.

A handful of Marines, with their recoilless 75 mm. cannon, flame throwers, demolition pillows, Browning automatics, rifles and grenades—if thrust backward into the history of war—could have decided any great battle in history farther back than Wold War I.

We stil speak in awe of the 4,000 ship armada which disgorged Eisenhower's troops on the Normandy beachheads between Cherbough and Le Havre. And of the MacArthur's landings during the long fight from New Guinea to the Philippines. And of the Marines' bloody invasions of Tarawa, Guadalcanal, Iwo, Okinawa and the other places.

Such invasions could not be repeated today if an enemy had access to the counter measures which this country could take if similarly confronted.

The Marines have perfected a landing and a grouping of convoy ships which could survive one 20 kiloton A-bomb attack. The plan could not withstand a couple of bombs. One or two H-bombs would have wholly annihilated the opening of the second front.

If Hitler had come up with atomic weapons, as he nearly did, a lot of us now would have a German accent, and be plotting revolution in the radioactive New York underground.

Hitler's last great aerial thrust of World War II was the V2, a rocket with a one-ton TNT warhead that had a range of about 200 miles.

Sir Winston Churchill in "Triumph and Tragedy" reports that the Germans launched 1,190 of them in 1,359 attempts. About 500 of these hit London, killed 2,724 and seriously injured 6,467. Five hundreds tons . . .

Jimmy Doolittle's B25s, raided Tokyo and several other Japanese cities on April 18, 1952, America's first real counter-punch of the big war, carried a total of 16 tons of bombs. The six tons that fell on huge, sprawling Tokyo caused Japanese war lords to pull back to the homeland many fighter planes needed by Japanese forces sttrung sout hfor thousands of miles. Six tons . . .

Germany collapsed when its cities were hit by bombing raids utilizing as many as 3,000 planes, dropping, about 6,000 tons. Six thousand tons . . .

Today, one B47, capable of flying at 50,000 feet and close to the speed of sound, could drop a single bomb equivalent to about 14 million tons of TNT. Fourteen million!

At the peak of their strength in World War II the Allies would have neded about 7-millioin bombers to achieve a similar raid on an enemy city. Doolittle, in 1942, would have needed the wholly incredible number of 14-million B25s to do what one B47 can do today.

The mind reels, and gropes for something more expressive than the term "new look."

Walled Lake Park to Open on Easter

A pre-season opening of Walled Lake Park has been planned for Easter Sunday, April 18, park officials announced today.

The park will be open to the public every Sunday thereafter until the grand opening in early May, date of which will be announced later.

The popular Oakland County resort will feature roller skating and thrill rides at the early opening, and the picnic gardens, groves and baseball diamonds will all be available for public use.

Mother Planning to Start College—She's Only 69

BOSTON (AP)—Mrs. Ida Jacobson, 69, proudly displayed her high school diploma today and then decided—'now I'm going to college."

A native of Latvia, Mrs. Jacobson was one of 325 students who were graduated from Boston public evening schools last night. She attended classes at Boston Clerical School.

She entered night school in 1944 when two of her five children were serving overseas. She wanted to learn to write to Richard, a Boston newspaperman, and William, an Army major, without having to bother the rest of the family.

Philippines, Japan Meet on Reparations

MANILA (AP) — Vice President Carlos Garcia said today after a two-hour meeting with Japanese Minister Katsumi Ohno that the Philippines accepted in principle the latest Japanese reparations offer.

Garcia said Japan's 400 million dollar offer would serve as an initial payment that would eventually produce $1,400,000,000 in reparations.

Garcia said formal reparations talks would start immediately.

Secret Service Veteran Dies at 76 in California

ATHERTON, Calif. (AP) — Capt. Thomas B. Foster, 76, Secret Service man who guared presidents from McKinely to Roosevelt and at his retirement headed Secret Service operations in 12 western states and Hawaii, died at his home here yesterday.

A native of Washington, D. C., Foster joined the Secret Service in 1901. He retired in 1945.

Hal Boyle Says:

Modern Home Puts Wife at Advantage Over Hubby

NEW YORK (AP)—The other night I heard a man say right out loud that if he ever had a chance for a second life, he would prefer to return to the earth as a woman.

This startled me. Being a woman has always seemed to me one of those unlucky mishaps in life that happen to about half the population.

Whenever I hear a woman bragging about how she enjoys womanhood, I figure she's just being a good sport and is trying to put her best face forward and make the most of a raw deal.

But for a man to want to essay the role of woman! Outlandish! Would a dog want to be a cat?

* * *

"Why?" I asked this male traitor.

"Because woman is the sex of the future," he said. "and anyone who wants to keep in step with the times would, if he had a choice, naturally prefer to be a woman.

"This is the twilight of the American male. Men have been going downhill ever since they quit packing swords and started carrying umbrellas.

"In two centuries man has degenerated from cock-of-the-walk to a servile lackey to a lady. Women control so much of the world's wealth today that five out of six husbands have to borrow bus fare from a woman even to go to work in the morning.

* * *

"In another generation at the most the process will be completed. Then only ignorant people will be men. But they won't be really men; they'll be abject prisoners. Worse even—slaves."

"Just how do you figure that out?" I asked.

"Well," he replied, "let's look at what is happening. In the old days a man came home tired and hungry and looking for peace. His wife was all worn out, too, from toting in firewood, doing the washing, lugging water from the well, feeding the kids and slopping the pigs—and maybe even milking a few cows.

"Both husband and wife were too exhausted to pick on each other, and marriage was a draw."

"You mean it isn't now?" I murmured.

* * *

"Anybody with any sense knows it isn't," he replied sharply. "the husband still comes home all worn out from work. But the housewife has so many gadgets to lighten her labor that she still has some fight left in her at nightfall. This gives her a big edge in an argument; the husband simply doesn't have the strength left to defend himself."

"And you think this situation will get worse?" I inquired.

"Worse?" he whined. "Wake up, man, you're facing utter disaster!

"In the pushbutton home of the future, a wife will press one button—and zingo!—The dishes are washed. She plays another small tune on a control panel and the vacuum cleaner will gallop around the house and clean it up in 12 minutes.

* * *

"The wife will then have the rest of the day in which to lie down and rest while she dreams up new ways to act as a Monday morning quarterback to her husband.

"When he comes home, all worn out naturally, she will push another button and out will pop his precooked, pre-frozen dinner. By the time he has gupled it down there is mama, fresh and strong as a buffalo in April, ready to tell him 1,001 things that are wrong with him. What chance has he to argue back? He's all worn out from earning her a living.

"All he can do is to sit there and cry, remembering a time when men were men, and swords hung from their side.

"Marriage in the future will be strictly a one-way deal—and it'll be the woman's way. Wouldn't anyone with a grain of intellect prefer being a woman in that kind of a civilization?"

Oh, well! I still think that guy is probably as nutty as a pecan grove, but on the other hand—hmm, hmm, hmm.

Shoulder Warmers Help Dog With Rheumatism

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Remember Phez, the dog aided by a hearing aid made by his master, Dr. R. M. Erwin Jr.? Phez got his name and picture in the papers all over the country.

His master took him duck hunting recently. His shoulders were lamed by rheumatism or arthritis. Doctor Erwin tried a heat lamp treatment, but it didn't do much good. Then he got two hand warmers that are activated by chemicals. He sewed pockets in Phez's canvas coat and buttoned in the hand warmers.

The shoulder stiffness disappeared quickly.

New Soybeans Show Strength

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains sold off slightly in early dealings and then rallied on the board of trade today.

The net result of these movements was that the market got back to around previous closing levels. Dealings were routine. New crop soybeans showed the most strength.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅛ to 1 cent higher, May $2.15⅝, corn ⅜ to ¼ higher, May $1.52⅛, oats unchanged to ¼ lower, May 75¾, rye ¼ to ½ higher, May $1.06¼, soybeans ½ lower to 1½ higher, May $3.79¼ and lard 3 to 20 cents a hundred pounds lower, May $20.90.

Brake Hits Talk of Business Slump

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — State Treasurer D. Hale Brake declared last night Michigan has a big public works program now under way —216 million dollars by the state and millions more by local governments.

Brake, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, hit at those who predict a business slump.

"It appears to me," he said, "that if we were going to have a recession this year, we've had it already. National income is not down, building is proceeding at a high level. Manufacturing . . . has climbed down from the abnormal level of Korea to the more normal level of 1950 or pre-Korea days."

Deputies to Travel County to Issue Drivers' Licenses

Oakland County Sheriff Clare L. Hubbell will send deputies out into the county to issue drivers' licenses, the County Board of Supervisors learned Tuesday.

The board, meeting in the County Office Building, also greeted new supervisors, learned who its salaries and ways and means committeemen will be, and discharged a special health and welfare committee.

Winson Moberly, miscellaneous committee chairman, said Sheriff Hubbell has promised to send deputies into outlying areas regularly to save township residents a trip to Pontiac to get drivers' licenses.

Michigan Department of State told area cities last month to stop issuing drivers' licenses to people who live outside their city limits. Farmington and several other communities have been issuing such licenses for some years, with the sheriff's approval.

Farmington City Council told the board in a letter that the city had issued 7,500 licenses last year. Farmington officials say most went to outside residents.

Supervisors asked Oakland County Department of Social Welfare to sign a quit-claim deed to the county center on Telegraph road, turning it over to the county. Harry Horton, buildings and grounds chairman, said the land was bought in 1866 for a "poor farm" and is still formally held by the welfare department.

The board dissolved its special health and welfare committee at the request of Committee Chairman David Levinson. Levinson said the committee has organized a six-man health council to meet regularly for closer cooperation between the health department, tuberculosis sanatorium, infirmary and other such services.

Councilmen are the tuberculosis sanatorium medical director and manager; chairman and vice chairman of the welfare commission, and director and deputy director of the County Health Departent.

Supervisors decided the county board of auditors' payment of $918 to Frank H. Williamson for cattle that died of rabies after being bitten by dogs was a fair one. Williamson appeared at the board meeting in January, claiming that the auditors paid him the 'average market price" for cattle and some of his cattle were worth much more.

The board changed its resolution governing such payments to read "shall pay at the prevailing market price at time of loss," instead of "average market price," to avoid any future confusion.

Consulting engineers for Pontiac asked the board to let them run a water line through county property east of Oakland avenue from wells near Silver Lake.

The board changed its bylaws on meetings to read "9:30 a. m." instead of "10 a. m." at the request of the bylaws committee chairman, William C. Hudson.

Salaries and ways and means committees were named by Board Chairman Floyd Andrews Tuesday.

Forest I. Brendel, White Lake, was named to the ways and means committee in Andrews' place. Reappointed were Fred W. Smith, R. C. Cummings, J. Wesley Duncan, James L. Gardner, Delos Hamlin, David Levinson, George Schweigert and Frank Shimmons.

New salaries committeemen are Frank J. Voll Sr., of Oakland Township; Norman R. Barnard, Troy Township, and A. Taylor Menzies, Clawson.

Pontiac's supervisors introduced new Mayor William W. Donaldson. New supevisors from Pontiac are Francis H. Schneider and Mrs. Lee Hill.

Stock Majors Upward Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Substantial progress was made today in the stock market with leadership firmly implanted in major divisions.

The market started ahead at the opening and continued its forward movement into the early afternoon.

Gains ran to between 1 and 2 points in several sections of the list with a few pushing out beyond that limit.

The aircrafts, which have been exceptionally strong recently, were neglected. The textiles suffered from the spreading curtailment of production of synthetic fabrics.

Container Corp. was ahead on favorable dividend news, and other advancing included U. S. Steel, Atlantic Coast Line, Pacific Western Oil, Anaconda Copper, Allied Chemical, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman Kodak, and Chrysler.

Reserve Banks OK Rate Drop

Now at 1.5 Per Cent in 5-State Chicago Area; Will Ease Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board today made its anti-recession easy money policy a little easier by approving a drop in the discount rate in the five-state Chicago Federal Reserve District.

The new rate, 1½ per cent instead of the 1¾ per cent in effect since February, became effective at the opening of business today. It was expected that most, perhaps all, of the other 11 federal reserve districts will also ask a lower rate.

The change for the Chicago bank, announced yesterday, was the second decline in two months in the rate at which federal reserve banks lend money to member commercial banks.

In February the board approved a system-wide drop in the discount rate from 2 per cent to 1¾ per cent.

The 1½ per cent rate approved for the Chicago district was last in effect from 1948 to August 1950, the board successively put the rate up to 1¾ per cent and then to 2 per cent to combat the post-Korea inflation.

The discount rate can have a general effect on the economy because if member banks can borrow more cheaply at the federal reserve system, they can lend more cheaply and more easily to their clients — if the clients want loans and the banks want to make loans.

Therefore, lowering the discount rate is an offer of easier, cheaper money which commercial banks and their clients can convert into a more plentiful flow of money and credit.

Driver in Hospital After Fiery Crash

One car smashed into the rear of another on M15 yesterday, igniting the gas tank on one car, and hospitalizing one of the motorists, according to Michigan State Police of the Pontiac Post.

Police said Robert Ackerman, 27, of 612 Beuna Vista, Lake Orion had just backed out of a driveway near Robertson Ct. when a northbound car driven by Robert L. Ditch, 41, of 5380 Marvin Rd., Clarkston, smashed into Ackerman's car, setting it afire.

Independence Township firemen were called to fight the flames, which caused an estimated $700 damage to Ackerman's car, police said.

Movable Fire Hydrant Solves Parking Problem

CINCINNATI (AP) — A Cincinnati businessman solved his parking problem by using his own fire plug.

He found the old plug at the waterworks. Every day the porter at his business establishment would roll out the plug about 6 a. m. After his boss parked, he would bring it in.

He got away with it for months. Then a policeman got curious about a fire plug which sometimes wasn't there. He doused the false fire plug idea right then and there.

Business Good in Los Angeles

Easter Trade and Cars, Homes and Electronics Plants Climbing

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Some signs of a spring upturn in business are sighted here today—in a region that's grown so fast that its people habitually expect tomorrow to be a still brighter day.

* * *

Sales of new cars are picking up. Most auto assembly lines—a big industry in southern California since the war—are going full tilt with an eye toward the hoped-for big summer selling season. Used cars, their prices pared some time back, are selling better now.

* * *

The new turn in world affairs raises expectations here of steady, if not increasing, production in the important aircraft and allied industries.

Indochinese war tensions and risks, plus the turmoil over the hydrogen bomb, make industrialists here confident that the days of cutting back on national defense are over—especially with the new emphasis on air power, guided missiles and electronics. Southern California has a large concentration of them. In this area they account for perhaps one fourth of the economy.

* * *

The Aircraft Industries Assn. reports that employment in its members' plants is now at a post-war high, with order backlogs insuring it will continue so, and with fears of further stretchouts fading. Spokesmen for the industry say that the somewhat painful adjustment caused by past cancellations and dropping of some plane models for later advanced ones is now over.

* * *

More men in the Los Angeles area are out of work now than a year ago. But the Security-First National Bank of Los Angeles points out that the labor force has been steadily increasing and that the percentage of unemployed is well below that at this time in either 1949 or 1950, the years of an inventory recession.

Officials of the Bank of America, the nation's largest, say that inventories here are less out of line this time than in some other places. They report definite signs recently that unbalanced inventories have been pretty well adjusted here and that factory purchasing agents should be more active again soon.

* * *

Consumer loans, especially for buying on time, are down from a year ago. But construction loans are holding up well. Bankers say that collections continue good, despite loss of overtime pay in many factories. They say defaults and delinquencies continue to be minor.

* * *

California's industrial output isn't hit as much as that of the nation as a whole, bankers say. They believe the Southwest's continuing population growth should pull the region's industries through any business dip better than those in older sections.

Tourist trade continues healthy, but the bankers point out that it isn't as weighty a factor in the region's economy as before the war. The postwar influx of young veterans, and of new industries, like electronics, to hire them, has changed the economic picture.

"Public psychology is still the main thing," says one leading baker. "It decides how much will be spent and whether we'll go on growing. So far it's good here.

"There's a lot of excitement around here just now about Indochina and the chances of our becoming involved. That's a strong, if unfortunate, factor in keeping people from expecting a business dip here of any size."

McCarthy Centers Fire on Army, Bypasses Navy and AF

By DON WHITEHEAD

WASHINGTON (AP)—Back in 1949 Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy first turned his guns on the Army and the men connected with the Army. He's had them under fire from time to time ever since.

The Navy and the Air Force for the most part have been out of range.

In the past five years McCarthy has:

1. Accused Army officers of extracting war crimes confessions from German SS troopers in such a manner that "our government had been placed in a position of condoning a brand of brutalitarianism worse than that practiced by the most morally degenerate in either Hitler's or Stalin's camps . . ."

2. Linked the name of Gen. George C. Marshall as World War II Army chief of staff with what he called "a conspiracy of infamy so black that, when it is finally exposed, its principals shall be forever deserving of the maledictions of all honest men."

3. Pictured Dwight D. Eisenhower when he was chief of the Allied forces in Europe as "invariably" siding with Marshall in decisions which he said aided the Russians.

4. Charged the Army was "run by politics" and "political generals." This was after former President Truman had fired Gen. Douglas MacArthur from his Far East commands.

5. Accused the Army of "20 years of softness" in dealing with Communists.

6. Accused the Army of "blackmail" in releasing a report which claimed he and his chief investigating counsel, Roy Cohn, had sought special treatment for Pvt. G. David Schine, one of McCarthy's aides.

Claims Only Army Hides Communists

Question: ". . . When you get around to the armed services, however, you seemed thus far to have investigated only the Army in any major way. Is there any reason for that?"

McCarthy: "If we found any Communists in the Air Corps or in any other branch, we of course would have to expose them. We have only found them in the Army so far . . ."

McCarthy had not yet entered the field of Red-hunting when he fired his first shot at the Army. That was to come almost a year later. But even then he displayed the same bruising drive in the same type of controversy which has made him the most talked-about figure in American politics today.

His first brush with the Army came over the Army's handling of the prosecution of German SS troopers accused of slaughtering 160 Americans in the infamous "Malmedy Massacre" of World War II.

Senate Accused of Whitewash

Before the hearing was over he had charged a Senate investigating subcommittee with planning a "whitewash" of the Army and accused the committee chairman, Sen. Raymond Baldwin, Connecticut Republican, of acting "criminally wrong."

He demanded a Senate probe of all the Army's war crimes trials in Europe. He called for State Department and Army officials to testify and said that unless they promised "corrective action" he would call for public hearings "even if they do irreparable damage to our policies and certain individuals."

McCarthy didn't explain what irreparable damage might be done—but his demands created a stir.

Earlier, several senators had joined McCarthy in voicing concern over death sentences given 12 SS men in the Malmedy case.

Their concern arose from the fact that military-civilian commissions had reported questionable methods had been used to obtain some evidence. The commissions, however, discounted reports that the convicted men had been forced to sign statements they later repudiated in court.

The controversy became so intense that Gen. Lucius D. Clay, U.S. military governor in Germany reviewed the 12 death sentences. He came to the conclusion that six of the 12 had been proved guilty even if the statements they disowned had not been used against them.

A subcommittee headed by Baldwin was set up by the Army Services Committee to look into the Malmedy cases, and McCarthy was given a seat on it even though he was not a member of the committee.

Before the hearings had ended, McCarthy accused his colleagues of "attempting to whitewash a shameful episode." He quit the subcommittee when it refused to use lie detectors on Army witnesses.

Baldwin declared McCarthy apparently had accepted the word of Hitler's own men as to what happened over "the sworn testimony of American officers and military personnel."

McCarthy called Baldwin's inquiry "a sham, a farce and a very deliberate attempt to whitewash." He ripped into Baldwin for retaining the committee chairmanship when his law partner—Maj. Dwight Fanton—was involved as a principal in the conduct of the trials.

Senate Shocked by Verbal Duel

It was a verbal whiplashing the likes of which the staid Senate hasn't heard in years. A friend of Baldwin's said it was a factor in Baldwin's decision to resign from the Senate and accept a judgeship in his home state of Connecticut.

In the end, McCarthy won. The death sentences of the six Germans were changed to life imprisonment.

Two years later McCarthy made his attack on Gen. Marshall.

The implication of the speech was that the American armies—through decision by Marshall—had been sent against Germany in such a manner that Eastern Europe was left to the Red armies, perhaps deliberately. McCarthy pictured Russian expansion after the war as a result of a deliberate "retreat from victory" by U.S. policy makers.

McCarthy said: "I realize full well how unpopular it is to lay hands on the laurels of a man who has been built into a great hero . . .

"Were he merely a professional soldier who had given his lifetime to the service of his country, I should hesitate to lay hands on his laurels. We cannot too much honor the men who have dedicated their lives to our military service.

"We can afford to deal lightly with their mistakes of judgment but not with their lapses of honor. Had Gen. Marshall been content at the end of World War II to rest upon his laurels instead of assuming command of our military and political decisions and ranging himself with stubborn zeal at the side of the old Acheson-Hiss-Yalta crowd, we might never have found occasion to audit what he did in World War II."

Marshall Blamed for Red Land Gains

McCarthy said the most significant decision in World War II was this: "The decision by Marshall, which was made against Roosevelt's halfhearted wishes and Churchill's bulldog determination, to concentrate on France and leave the whole of Eastern Europe to the Red armies."

The generally accepted concept of Western Allied strategy in World War II was that the Channel invasion was made because it was the most direct route to the heart of Germany—and the least costly in lives.

However, McCarthy saw an ominous conspiracy behind this strategy. The senator said Marshall "triumphed" over Churchill in the decision to attack across the Channel rather than via the Mediterranean and the Balkans to seal off Eastern Europe from the Red armies.

Speaking of the first Quebec conference in 1943, McCarthy said:

"That conference marked the end of Churchill's sway over the great decisions of war—a sway always modified by Marshall. Thereafter, the policy of the United States in the European war was wholly and without deviation the policy announced by Joseph Stalin . . . The United States thereafter was found always on the side of Stalin."

The Marshall speech created stormy reaction across the country—the sort of tumult which seems sooner or later to become identified with whatever the Wisconsin senator says or does.

It was with this background of assault against the Army—and Army men—that McCarthy entered the present knockdown fight with the Army.

Jail Sentence Upheld in Attack Upon Referee

IONIA (AP) — Thomas Metzger, Ionia auto salesman and former Greenville businessman, is serving a 30-day jail sentence after losing an appeal in an assult on a basketball official who had penalized his son, a player.

Circuit Judge Morris K. Davis yesterday upheld the Justice Court penalty, including a $50 fine. Metzger, appealing, had said the sentence was too harsh.

Judge Davis ordered Metzger to begin serving his sentence immediately. He also ordered Metzger to pay the $50 fine and $100 court costs or face an additional 60 days imprisonment.

Metzger pleaded guilty in both courts to assault and battery on referee Theodore Horn of Battle Creek. The assault took place at Ionia March 6.

Horn, while officiating at a state high school tournament basketball game between Greenville and Lowell, tossed Metzger's son, Dan, out of the game on fouls in the closing seconds. Lowell won the game.

Horn said he was attacked by Metzger when he ejected the player.

Metzger is currently on probation from Federal Court. The probation stems from the illegal sale of government stored grain by a Greenville food company he formerly headed.

AN EASTER FANTASY—One of the many video treats scheduled for the coming holiday will be the delightful tale of "Once Upon an Eastertime." Buddy Clark (above) who has the leading role as the Evil King, gets some charming assistance from his two lovely co-stars, Gwen Verdon (left) who portrays the dancing Glow Worm, and Doretta Morrow who will be seen as the Princess in the Tower. Miss Verdon, whose work in the musical Can Can have earned her many plaudits, shares stellar honors with Doretta whose Broadway success in "Kismet" has been highly acclaimed.

TV Boy Actor in Star Part

Pud Flanagan Imagines Wicked King, Princess in the Tower

NEW YORK — An hour-long dramatic fantasy, Once Upon An Eastertime, starring comedian Bobby Clark, Doretta Morrow of the Broadway hit Kismet, and Gwen Verdon, dancing star of the Broadway musical, Can-Can, will be a special Easter presentation on television Sunday.

Leon Leonidoff, senior producer of Radio City Music Hall, will stage the production, which will feature Pud Flanagan, nine-year-old television actor, as Jimmy, a young boy whose vivid imagination serves as the focal point for the program's fantasy sequences.

The story revolves around the struggle between good and evil as it is personified, in Jimmy's imagination, by Mr. Paul Pell, the music teacher who turns into the Wicked King, and his beautiful sister, Sally, who languishes as a prisoner in a lonely tower.

The talents of Leon Leonidoff are admirably suited for converting this simple but meaningful story into a deeply moving television production. Since the Radio City Music Hall first opened its doors in 1934, he has staged between 38 and 40 major spectacles a year.

Best known of all his productions are his annual Christmas and Easter programs, The Nativity and The Glory of Easter, which to date have been seen by more than 10,000,000 persons.

Leonidoff will be assisted on Once Upon An Eastertime by choreographer Eugene Loring, who will direct a special corps de ballet of 24

Woman Works Until Her Baby Is Born

DETROIT (UP)—In the light of all the facts the Wayne County Board of Institutions is taking another look at a woman worker's suspension.

The board may have to wink at civil service rules.

In violation of the rules the woman stayed on her job until the day her baby was born. The rules requires an expectant mother to go on leave of absence six months before and one month after the birth.

The woman explained she had to stay at work. Her husband had deserted her and her two other children.

1 Woman's Stop Is 3 Others Poison

ATLANTA (UP)—All Mrs. Marie McKenzie did was stop her car on the street. Here's what happened:

1. A car driven by Thomas Williams banged into the back of the McKenzie car.
2. A tractor-trailer and two cars in the opposite lane stopped when the accident occurred.
3. But a bus behind didn't stop and smashed into the rear of the second car, driven by C. J. Vaughn.
4. The Vaughn car was knocked into the one in front, driven by Mrs. Effie Jarrett.
5. The Jarrett car smashed into the rear of the tractor-trailer. Final Score: Three injured, damage amounting to upward of $1,000.

City Ordinance Forbids Smoking in Restaurants

FAIRBURY, Neb. (UP)—Douse that cigarette if you want a sandwich in Fairbury. A city ordinance makes it illegal to smoke in places selling food. Other ordinances forbid:

Starting a dog fight.

Leading animal across a sidewalk.

Zoot-Suiters Snooty

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—After a dozen zoot-suiters ganged up on two college students, one of the youths explained, "They made fun of my clothes."

Convicts Would Pay Raise for Warden

FLORENCE, Ariz. (UP)—The state of Arizona won't accept the offer of 500 state prison inmates to pay the salary of Ted O. Mullen, acting warden.

As a result, Mullen plans to return to his higher paying job in the Department of Liquor Licenses and Control.

The convicts made the offer yesterday in a petition to Gov. Howard Pyle after the Legislature refused to raise the warden's salary from $4,800 to $7,200 a year.

"We are willing to deduct from our inmate fund the balance to make up Mr. Mullen's salary," the petition stated.

Vets Face Loss of GI Benefits

Many, Near Expiration of College Opportunity, Must Enroll Soon

More than a million Korean veterans must use their educational benefits under Public Law 550 before the end of 1954 or forfeit this privilege.

Korean veterans discharged prior to Aug. 20, 1952, only have until Aug. 20, 1954 to be enrolled. Other veterans, who left service after Aug. 20, 1952, have two years from the time of their discharge to begin attending school.

This means that any veteran whose enrollment cutoff date arrives before the 1954 fall semester must begin attendance this spring or at the latest during the summer session.

Fred S. Galloway, director of the Oakland County Office of Veterans' Affairs, pointed out that just filing an application before the cut-off date, and intending to enter training later, will not satisfy the law.

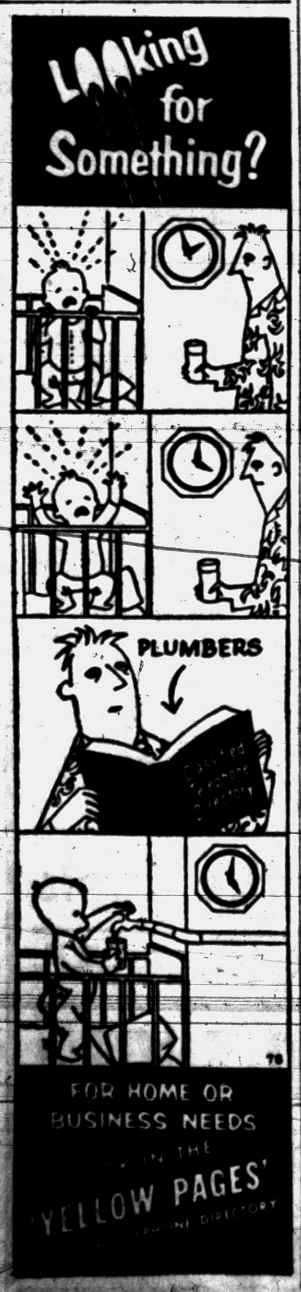

In many cases, Galloway said, it will be necessary for a veteran to apply and enroll far in advance of deadline because this two-year discharge anniversary falls at the wrong time in the academic year.

For example, a Korean vet discharged or released on Aug. 30, 1952, can start school no later than the 1954 summer term. To wait until the fall semester in September would make him ineligible. There is no provision for a grace period.

Help in filing for these or other benefits may be obtained at the Oakland County Veterans' Affairs office, at 1 Lafayette St., or 111 S. Troy St., Royal Oak.
