Ted Loses License in Wake of Fatality

From Our News Wires

EDGARTOWN, Mass. — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, already charged with leaving the scene of an accident last weekend in which a young secretary was killed, had his driver's license suspended today.

The decision was announced in Boston by Richard E. McLaughlin, state registrar of motor vehicles.

McLaughlin said the registry "makes a preliminary finding of fault on the part of Sen. Kennedy, and accordingly, his driver's license has been suspended as required by Massachusetts law."

He said the suspension would remain in effect until a hearing is held in the case, as required by law.

NO EVIDENCE

McLaughlin's announcement was released as Police Chief Dominic J. Arena was telling newsmen here that he had no evidence to support any charges against Kennedy other than leaving the scene of an accident.

★ ★ ★

Earlier, in response to a question, special Dukes County Prosecutor Walter E. Steele said he was considering whether to bring charges of driving to endanger and driving under the influence of alcohol against the Senate majority whip.

★ ★ ★

Asked today if there are any other charges pending or under consideration that might possibly be brought, Steel said:

"You can't rule out other charges. But we have not a scintilla of evidence to point to any other charges."

MILD CONCUSSION

Kennedy received a mild concussion and a neck strain in the accident in which Miss Mary Jo Kopechne, a secretary to his late brother, U.S. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., drowned when Kennedy's car went off a narrow bridge on Chappaquiddick Island around midnight last Friday.

★ ★ ★

In other developments yesterday, Arena said a deputy sheriff, Christopher Look Jr., saw a car early Saturday in the vicinity of the intersection where Kennedy said he made a wrong turn prior to the accident.

Look was reported as saying he believed it was the Kennedy car, and that it held a man and possibly two women, whom he did not recognize. The driver, seemingly confused, turned toward the bridge. Look reportedly said.

★ ★ ★

A purse belonging to Miss Rosemary Keough, Kennedy's secretary, was found in the car.

'FULLY CLOTHED'

Arena, who recovered Miss Kopechne's body from the wreckage with the aid of skin divers, said the pretty blonde secretary "was fully clothed and everything was buttoned right up."

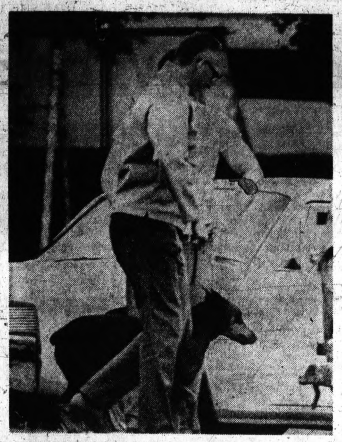

Sources close to Kennedy said earlier yesterday that the Massachusetts Democrat, after conferring with at least a half-dozen friends and political associates late Saturday and early Sunday, decided against making a statement in the foreseeable future and might never make one.

★ ★ ★

Unanswered questions may be answered during court proceedings in coming weeks. The next step in these is Monday's show-cause hearing.

WHERE CAR PLUNGED OFF BRIDGE—This aerial view shows the one-lane bridge across an inlet on Chappaquiddick Island, near Martha's Vineyard, Mass., off which a car driven by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy plunged into the water last weekend killing a passenger, Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington. Charges of driving to endanger and driving under the influence of alcohol may be placed against the senator. AP Wirephoto

Reporter Takes Oath of Klan

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of a series on the investigation into the activities of the Pontiac Ku Klux Klan.)

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

Tonight—June 22—I was to be sworn in as a member of the Invisible Empire, White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, United Klans of America.

I met my sponsor Klansman, Pat Galloway, 34, of 473 Tallahassee, at our prior restaurant - meeting place. I followed his car to the Bemis-Olsen Post of AMVETS, where the meeting was to be held.

ADCOCK

Galloway was dressed up for the occasion of installing two new members. He wore a brown suit, a narrow black tie with the symbol of the Klan emblazoned on the front, a Klan lapel pin, white socks and black scuffed shoes.

Galloway's 18-year-old son, Pat, contrasted to his father's appearance. He was stylishly dressed and a quiet, serious type.

A CONCEALED WEAPON

First to file into the meeting hall was Neil MacKinnon, 34, of 1730 Bolton, Walled Lake. Neil was carrying a concealed weapon — a six-shot 22-caliber revolver. He was proud of his weapon, saying it would "penetrate just about any type of clothing short of a heavy overcoat."

★ ★ ★

A check of the State Police weapons registration bureau in East Lansing shows that MacKinnon owns the following registered firearms: a Smith & Wesson 357 magnum revolver, considered an extremely high-powered pistol; a Colt 45 six-shot automatic pistol; a Ruger Blackhawk 30.6 rifle; a 22-caliber derringer; and a Ruger six-shot 22-caliber revolver.

★ ★ ★

MacKinnon is the owner of a two-year-old Doberman Pinscher, "Connie," which he claims kills on command. He is also the owner of several motorcycles and, ironically, the Motown Furniture Warehouse in Detroit.

Wallace E. (Woody) Fruit, 26, of 6114 Adamson, Waterford Township is "exalted cyclops," or president, of the Pontiac KKK.

APPEARS SINCERE

He appears sincere in his belief that the Communists control all three television networks and most of the newspapers.

Next to arrive was Jack Ellis, 40, of 325 Wise, White Lake Township, vice chairman of the 19th District American Independent Party (AIP).

★ ★ ★

Jack is muscular and middle-aged. He dressed all in black — muscle shirt, tight pants and construction boots.

"Alabama is mecca," says Ellis.

Ellis is the Klan's contact man with the area chapters of the John Birch Society. He reports that the Birchers regard the Klansmen as "hillbilly gangsters."

OTHER INDUCTEE

Besides myself, Woodrow Wilson Bais was installed into citizenship of the Klan. Bais is a former West Virginia coal miner who says the Klan will "better America." He is very old and struck me as pitiful.

The ceremony itself was a pretty routine hocus-pocus fraternal-type ritual. I swore to God that I would defend to my death the flag, Constitution, America and my new brothers.

★ ★ ★

The difference from most oaths, of course, was that I also swore to defend to the death white supremacy and that I would never — under the penalty of expulsion from the KKK and fatal revenge — divulge the secrets of the KKK.

The Klansmen were all dressed up in their silk robes and peaked hats. I could identify Galloway and MacKinnon through their hoods — Galloway's hair sticking out of an eye-hole and MacKin-

Yearning Trio Make Midcourse Burn

Earth Pulling Apollo 11 Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Yearning for home, Apollo 11's moon explorers streaked ever faster in the pull of earth's gravity today on a perfect course that is to land them in the Pacific Ocean tomorrow.

"No matter where you travel, it's nice to get home," astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. said as they beamed a television picture of earth from more than 180,000 miles away last night.

★ ★ ★

"It's getting appreciably larger now," said Michael Collins. "It's looking more like a world."

Looking ahead to splash-down, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong asked about the weather in the recovery area.

10-MILE VISIBILITY

"It looks real good out there," mission control told him. "The forecast is for scattered clouds at 3,000 feet and a visibility of 10 miles."

Apollo 11 is to land at 11:49 a.m. (Pontiac time) about 1,200 miles southwest of Hawaii.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts set their course yesterday by firing a short engine burst to achieve a precise path intended to land them near the aircraft carrier Hornet.

They left lunar orbit early yesterday.

SPACE COMEDY

The telecast from Apollo 11 started like a comedy show. When a picture of the moon flashed on the monitor in mission control, the capsule communicator, astronaut Charles Duke, commented: "We see the earth in the center of the screen."

After a pause, Aldrin corrected him with: "Believe that's where we just came from."

★ ★ ★

"It is, huh? Well I'm really looking at a bad, at a bad screen here," Duke said. "Stand by one. Hey, you're right!"

Related Story, Page C-3

Later, when a picture of the earth was shown, Duke said: "I refuse to bite on this one. You tell us."

BOXES OF ROCKS

Armstrong showed viewers two sealed boxes in which are packed precious bits of soil and rock that he and Aldrin collected during their momentous two-hour walk on the moon Sunday.

The final television show from Apollo 11 is scheduled at 6:30 tonight.

★ ★ ★

As they head for their fiery dash back through the atmosphere, the astronauts may see an unusual number of lights along the west coast of the United States.

Homes and businesses in several cities have been asked to turn their lights on early Thursday. The idea originated with a Seattle radio station.

DIFFERENT WELCOME

When Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins hit the Pacific, they'll be treated more like plague bearers than moon conquerors.

They, their rocks and their spaceship will be placed behind a biological barrier on the remote chance they have brought home lunar bacteria that could harm life on earth.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts will don special suits and step into a raft sprayed with a disinfectant. On the deck of the Hornet they will be taken to a sealed trailer which will be their home for 2½ days during a sea-air transfer to a lunar receiving laboratory in Houston.

President Nixon, who will be on the Hornet, will keep a safe distance until they are aboard the trailer and then speak to them by telephone. He'll see them through a window.

Appeal Denied 15 in Steren Raid

The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday refused to hear the appeal of 15 men convicted four years ago in the Steren Assembly Club raid in Madison Heights, called by police "the biggest on a Mafia gambling setup in Detroit-area history."

★ ★ ★

The action means the 15 can take the case no further in state courts and may mean an end to lengthy legal maneuvering. All have been in the county jail since April when their bonds were canceled.

★ ★ ★

They are expected to be transferred to the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson tomorrow.

The high court gave no reason for refusing to hear the appeal of gambling conspiracy convictions previously upheld by the state Court of Appeals.

FEDERAL APPEAL POSSIBLE

The 15 could take their case to federal district court if they wish to appeal further, according to Oakland County Asst. Prosecutor Dennis Donohue, who had challenged the appeal.

Michigan State Police arrested 49 persons in the raid Oct. 11, 1963, after a police spy infiltrated the club posing as an out-of-towner.

★ ★ ★

Margaret Allen, an attractive secretary, was the state's key witness in the case. Twenty of those arrested were convicted in 1965 of charges stemming from the raid, including two men identified in U.S. Senate hearings as Detroit-area Mafia officers.

They are Joseph Brooklier, 56, of Mount Clemens and Eddie Guarella, 52, of Las Vegas, Nev.

★ ★ ★

45 Waterford Employes Walk Out in Pact Dispute

About 45 Waterford Township employes walked off their jobs this morning, protesting unsatisfactory progress in contract negotiations with the township.

Police and fire officials were not involved in the walkout.

The strikers, who were picketing at the township hall this morning, are members of AFL-CIO Council 23. They are mostly secretaries and water department employes.

The workers' contract expired last December, and negotiations are continuing under the guidance of the Michigan Labor Mediation Board.

TOWNSHIP STATEMENT

Attorneys for the township, Booth, Patterson, Hays and Karlstrom, said this morning:

"The present dispute between the township and the union has been, at the request of both parties, under state mediation.

"Mr. Leonard Bennett has been assigned to this matter by the State Mediation Board, and when a meeting is requested by the state mediator we shall, of course, resume negotiations with the union."

Township Supervisor Elmer Johnson said offices will remain open.

Johnson said he thought the dispute was basically over a wage package, but he said he had not been well enough informed about the dispute to comment further.

Showers Clouding Weather Picture

The weatherman says skies will be partly cloudy tonight. There is a chance of showers or thundershowers tomorrow.

Temperatures, falling into the 60s tonight, will climb to a high of 80 to 85 tomorrow. Fair is the forecast for Friday.

Southeasterly to southerly winds will continue at 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 20 today and tonight and 30 tomorrow.

A pleasant 64 was the low recording before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The thermometer reading was 87 at 2 p.m. p.m.

Tight Control of Gas Warfare Projects Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are predicting a top-level government review of U.S. gas warfare projects will lead to some policy changes and tighter supervision of the controversial program.

The military evaluation of the National Security Council study came after the Pentagon announced yesterday that what it said was a previously planned removal of lethal chemical agents from Okinawa would be speeded up.

★ ★ ★

The statement yesterday was the first time the government acknowledged placing gas weapons outside the United States. And the announcement came only after news disclosures that 23 U.S. soldiers and a civilian worker had been affected when a gas container sprung a leak July 8 at a U.S. base on Okinawa.

The Pentagon officials, in making their predictions about the NSC review, avoided giving any indication whether the removal of some nerve gases and other chemical weapons from Okinawa will result in pullbacks of such materials from other overseas bases.

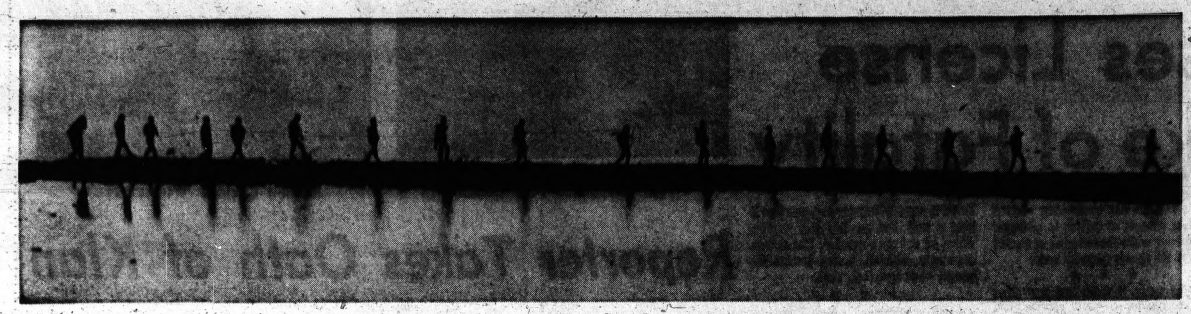

Pentagon authorities, still refusing to discuss overseas deployments other than Okinawa, avoided any indication as to whether the policy of maintaining such munitions in forward positions would be changed.

The closest thing to an official hint about overseas deployments of gas came in a statement by Dr. John S. Foster, Pentagon research and development chief, in response to questions raised by Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.

Foster said "carefully controlled inventories are adequate for tactical response against enemy military forces."

★ ★ ★

Since tactical weapons normally are based within a theater, it would seem that Foster was referring to stocks of chemical agents in areas where the U.S. forces are posted abroad.

Probes 6 Girls' Killings

Mystic Hurkos Stuns Police

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Police officers working with Dutch mystic Peter Hurkos on the unsolved sex slayings of six girls in the area in the last two years say they are becoming believers in his "powers."

"He has made observations that I don't believe he could have made except for having some kind of special power," said Eastern Michigan University Police Lt. Ken Fuller yesterday after Hurkos had scoured the area where a 13-year-old girl was savagely murdered in April.

★ ★ ★

Hurkos, 58, who claims to get visions from objects belonging to persons, was given a skirt, jacket and shoe belonging to Dawn Basom, the fifth girl to die in the series of six unsolved slayings. The girl's belongings were given by her parents because local police agencies would not release any evidence.

Hurkos arrived here early yesterday at the behest of a local real estate salesman and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allen, who are paying $1,000 in expenses.

'CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE'

The Allens were spokesmen for a special "citizen's committee" of hippies and students from the University of Michigan who tried previously to raise $2,500 in fees and a $600 round-trip ticket.

Fuller said Hurkos went around to locations connected with the Basom girl. He checked the road where she was last seen walking, the farmhouse where they believe she was killed and the spot where her body was found.

★ ★ ★

Hurkos said a single male was involved in the Basom girl's death, but wouldn't discuss the other slayings until he had viewed the spots where the bodies were found and handled some of their personal belongings.

"He told us things that had not been released to anybody," said Lt. William Mulholland of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's department.

"He's made me a believer, Mulholland said. "I'm more a believer today than I was yesterday."

City Developer Is Selling Firm

Charles L. Langs Inc., a Pontiac land development firm, is being purchased by National Homes Corp. of Lafayette, Ind., a builder of prefabricated homes.

★ ★ ★

Immediately involved would be an exchange of about 41,000 shares of National stock. Ann additional 168,000 shares would be exchanged at later dates, according to National's announcement today.

★ ★ ★

Under the agreement, the present management of Charles L. Langs Inc., 785 Auburn, will continue. Langs said that, as a division of National Homes, his firm would be able to expand its Pontiac operations considerably.

★ ★ ★

The agreement to acquire Charles L. Langs Inc. is subject to the approval of the National Homes Corp. board of directors.

★ ★ ★

The Langs firm has several projects under construction in the Pontiac area including the Sheraton Motor Inn on Woodward across from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and a complex of over 500 units of rent-supplement housing on West Kennett near Alcott School.

U.S. Cost of Living Jumps Six-Tenths of 1 Pct. in June

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's living costs jumped another six-tenths of one per cent in June with soaring food prices providing the biggest upward kick, the government reported today.

Housing, clothing, transportation, medical care and recreation costs combined with the big food increases to push the Labor Department's Consumer Price Index to 127.6.

★ ★ ★

This means it cost Americans $12.76 in June for every $10 worth of goods and services in the 1957-59 period, on which the index is based.

Grocery prices leaped 1.7 per cent in June, and food prices so far this year were climbing at a seven per cent annual rate — double last year's increase.

The biggest food price increases were on meats, poultry and fish, up 4.5 per cent in June.

The year's living cost increase is the highest in 18 years.

In today's report, the Bureau of Labor Statistics also said that weekly earnings of some 45 million rank and file workers averaged $115.06 last month, a gain of $1.58 from May, and purchasing power was up 46 cents a week despite the sharp climb in prices.

costs were up five-tenths. Chase said the rise in medical costs represented some

However, Assistant Commissioner Arnold Chase said purchasing power was down five-tenths of one per cent from a year ago because of increased taxes and rising living costs.

★ ★ ★

Clothing prices were up three-tenths of one per cent in June and medical care slowing down to about the same rate of increase as other services.

"Medical care had been leading the parade," he said.

Area Ford Exec to Run Census

President Nixon yesterday confirmed speculation that Ford Motor Co. executive George H. Brown of Bloomfield Hills will be named director of the 1970 census, replacing A. Ross Eckler.

Brown, 58, of 1735 Tiverton was suggested to the President by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.

Brown is Ford's director of marketing research. He received his doctorate degree in economics at the University of Chicago and is a graduate of Oberlin College and Harvard.

Brown, the youngest professor of marketing in University of Chicago history, played a leading role in the development of the Thunderbird, Falcon, Fairlane, Mustang and Mark II cars.

Brown is past president of the American Marketing Association. He sits on the executive board of the marketing adviser committee to the U.S. Department of Commerce and is a trustee of the Foundation for Research for Human Behavior.

Special or Rescheduled?

School Meeting Called Illegal

The legality of last night's special Pontiac Board of Education meeting was questioned by members of the capacity audience of about 100 persons.

Members of the audience wanted to know if last night's session was a "special meeting" or a "rescheduled regular meeting."

★ ★ ★

If it was a special meeting, they claimed, the board could act on only the one item for which the meeting was called.

If the board was going to call it a rescheduled regular meeting, then board members would have had to vote on it in a public meeting. Some in the audience said they had heard no such vote in recent meetings.

SPECIAL MEETING

The meeting last night, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school attorney Harold Dudley and board members, was a special meeting, called Monday by board president Russell Brown, for the express purpose of completing the agenda of last Thursday's meeting.

Dudley last night read from the board policy, and said that the session was a special meeting, and legal, since it had been called by the board president and board members were notified 24 hours in advance.

Throughout the 3½-hour meeting last night, members of the audience continued to question the legality of the meeting, however, reading copies of school board policy rules.

The legality of a school board meeting was challenged once before this year on Feb. 25, when a rescheduled regular meeting was called by the board in an executive session.

LATE CONVENING

Last night's meeting, scheduled to begin at 7:30, did not convene until 8:10 p.m. Brown told the audience that board members were late in entering the board room because it was a special meeting. He announced at least one night's change in how the meeting would be conducted.

★ ★ ★

He said that the audience could participate in discussion of agenda items if each person who wished to speak

Related Stories, Pages A-10, C-13

would be recognized by the chair, and state their name and address. This was a concession from his ruling on meeting procedures last Thursday.

That meeting did not get past the first agenda item, entitled "Communications, Petitions and Delegations," during which members of the audience protested President Brown's announcement that no one but board members could participate in discussion of agenda items as they come up.

ENDED IN SCUFFLE

That two-hour meeting, 40 minutes of which were spent in recess, ended in a scuffle between several persons in the audience and uniformed police officers called by the board during their recess.

Three persons were arrested that night and charged with creating a disturbance. One woman, Mrs. Lynwood Nichols of 41 Bagley, was additionally charged with resisting arrest and assault and battery of a police officer. Her husband received the additional charge of resisting arrest. Mrs. Carole Sweeney, 228 Orchard Lake, was the third person arrested.

★ ★ ★

Vic Boukeart, executive secretary of the Pontiac Education Association, was critical last night of the handling of last week's meeting.

Quoting from the 1965 Michigan School Code, Boukeart said that Section 970 of that code prescribes a procedure for removal of disorderly people from board of education meetings.

"You did not follow the law last Thursday when you ordered two people removed," he said.

"Section 966 of the school code involves a misdemeanor penalty on all of you at that table if you knowingly allowed your chairmen to break the law," he said.

Officer Slain in Detroit Shot With 2 Guns?

DETROIT (UPI) — A weapons identification expert testified yesterday slain Patrolman Michael Czapski may have been hit with bullets from two different guns in a shoot-out with black nationalists in March outside the New Bethel Baptist Church.

Earl C. Leedle, chief of the State Police scientific laboratory, said he studied a 30 caliber bullet taken from Czapski's chest, but he said two bullet holes in the patrolman's sleeve could have been caused by a 30-06 caliber rifle.

The hearing was to resume today.

The star witness in the preliminary examination of Rafael Viera, 20, who is charged with Czapski's murder, had testified earlier Viera fired "five or six shots" at the officer with a boltaction 30-06-caliber rifle.

Witness David Brown, 19, Compton, Calif., said Viera fired after Czapski told him to halt outside the church following a meeting of the black separatist Republic of New Africa.

Leedle, an executive lieutenant with the Detroit Police Department at the time of the March 29 shoot-out, said he studied 22 spent shells outside the church and all came from 30-caliber carbines, "at least two guns and maybe three."

Plan Study Need Is Explained

The board of directors of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday heard architect Bruno Leon of Bruno Leon & Associates spell out Pontiac's need for a comprehensive planning study, taking into consideration all segments of the community.

Following a discussion on the necessity of such a comprehensive plan Chamber President E. Eugene Russell told his fellow board members:

"The Chamber of Commerce has failed to properly identify the city's problems and their causes in terms of the community at large."

★ ★ ★

"It has failed to show solutions to these problems and has failed to put into practice a plan for change," Russell added.

"We have all types of leadership in this community — good and bad — but we have to organize to be effective," Russell—a Michigan Bell district manager said.

'CREATIVE COOPERATION'

Leon, meantime, said the criteria for a comprehensive planning study, taking into consideration the political, social economic and geographic factors of the entire community, includes creative cooperation among the community's decision-making bodies.

C. Don Davidison, chief designer for Bruno Leon & Associates, said, "It is difficult for community leaders to put aside the whole process of unilateral decision making."

He explained that governmental agencies should not make isolated decisions, politically, socially or economically, but communicate and check with each other to avoid future conflicts.

The Pontiac Area Planning Committee is the city's first step in realizing that unilateral decisions are not a benefit to the community as a whole, he added.

'READY FOR PLAN'

Leon and Davidson agreed that although comprehensive planning is a novel concept in urban planning, Pontiac is ready for such a plan.

★ ★ ★

When quizzed about the cost of such a comprehensive study, Davidson said the city must first hire a professional firm to make a six to eight-week study analyzing the city's institutions to determine the cost and who should pay the cost of a future comprehensive planning study.

He said, since the city's utility companies would tend to benefit greatly from such a study they could be requested to pick up a large share of the cost.

Dr. Ben Brett, chairman of the local legislative committee, asked that the committee discuss the comprehensive planning idea before taking any action.

The matter was turned over to Brett's committee for discussion.

In the absence of a quorum, the eight board members present acted as a committee of the whole to approve Richard Mineweaser as chamber representative to a city drug abuse program, headed by Kenneth Walker, a black nommunity leader.

Bald Mountain Project Nearly Ready for Use

ORION TOWNSHIP — Completion of a $415,000 expansion project at the 2600-acre Bald Mountain Recreational Area should be ready in time for late August use, according to Alfred Masini, district park supervisor.

The expansion project is expected to relieve part of the crowding pressure from nearby state and county parks in the northern Oakland County area, according to Masini.

The Bald Mountain project, financed by fees from motor vehicle permits, includes a 1,000-foot bathing beach on a man-made lake and a bathhouse-outdoor toilet complex.

Masini said the beach development should accommodate approximately 5,500 persons. There will be parking available for 1,100 cars.

MARKS EMPHASIS

The Bald Mountain expansion is one of the first developments marking the beginning of new emphasis on state parks and recreation spending in southeastern Michigan.

A considerable portion of the $100-million bond issue for state parks and recreation site recently passed by the legislature is reportedly earmarked for future expansion of parks in the southeastern Michigan region, Masini said.

* * *

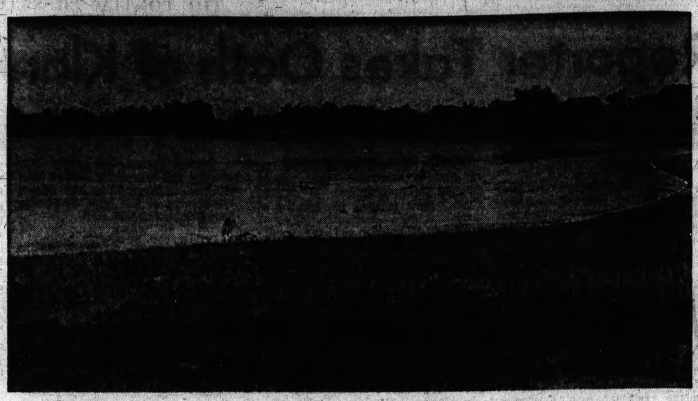

The Bald Mountain recreation site is located approximately 10 miles north of Pontiac off M24. A new access road to the beach complex just north of Silver Bell Road has been completed.

The Bald Mountain site has previously provided only camping, picnicking, target shooting and trout pond facilities.

PROJECT COMPLETED

Masini noted that a $215,000 expansion project at Pontiac Lake Recreation Area in White Lake Township which includes new beach house facilities and a beach extension has been recently completed.

He said the Pontiac Lake site, which has been experiencing considerable crowding difficulties on weekends this summer, should now be able to accommodate considerably more users.

Brandon's School Millage Gets 2nd Chance Monday

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — Voters in the school district will go to the polls for the second time in less than two months Monday to consider a millage package of 14.8 mills that includes a 6.8-mill increase.

The proposal was defeated by a 444-to-422 vote on June 9. The school board originally had asked for the 14.8 mills spread over five years.

* * *

That request has since been altered on the new ballot to three years because of a possibility of state tax reform within the next few years.

Schools Supt. Clyde Fisher said that registration of about 50 to 60 of what he termed "positive-thinking voters" since the June 9 defeat should greatly enhance the millage proposal's chances at the polls this time.

AFFIRMATIVE HOPE

"The no voters definitely will be out again. We simply have to hope that the residents who voted yes last time plus the new registrants, whom we feel will vote affirmatively, will turn out," Fisher cited.

Less than half of the district's 2,000 registered voters voted June 9. Fisher said that an election in mid-summer when a lot of people are away makes it difficult to forecast whether there will be a more enthusiastic response of the electorate on Monday.

* * *

The superintendent previously has told voters that the Brandon district faces eventual annexation if the millage request continues to fail.

The 14.8-mill proposal has been deemed as the absolute minimum that the Brandon School District can operate with for the 1969-70 school term.

RECOMMEND ANNEXATION

Fisher said he would recommend annexation to the board if the millage issue is defeated for the second time. The board has refused to comment what kind of action they might take on such a recommendation.

Residents turned down an annexation proposal in 1966 by a 4-to-1 margin. Administration officials and the school board had assumed that the overwhelming vote against annexation had indicated that local residents were interested in keeping their school district intact.

* * *

A second millage defeat will mean a definite reduction of the curriculum to strictly core subjects, elimination of all athletic activities, reduction of offerings in music and art, staff reductions, no new teachers, double shifts, half-day sessions and cutbacks in transportation services, according to school officials.

The present total millage of 28.7 mills, which includes bonded indebtedness, is the lowest total millage operational rate among all school districts in Oakland County. The eight voted mills is also the lowest.

$20 MORE YEARLY

Fisher has said that even a 6.8-mill increase would keep the district near the bottom in terms of total millage.

The millage-package proposal will cost residents with a $20,000 market-value house approximately $20 more per year.

The actual taxpayer cost can now only be approximate, Fisher said, until the board sets the bonded indebtedness figure for the three previous bond issues.

* * *

The bond issue proposal of $3,675,000 which was also defeated on a tie vote at the June 9 election will not be placed back on the ballot until probably January 1970.

6-Member Unit Named to Honor Public Employes

LANSING (AP) —Gov. William Milliken has announced the appointment of a six-member awards commission to give recognition to distinguished work by public employes.

Named to the commission were Grand Rapids Mayor Chris H. Sonneveldt, Detroit Free Press Managing Editor Frank Angelo, Chairman Frank M. Poorman of the Berrien County Board of Supervisors, federal Judge Damon Keith of Detroit, former state health director Albert Heustis of East Lansing, and Robin Edwin Pickup of Grosse Pointe Farms, executive director of the Citizens Research Council.

* * *

"This commission will direct the selection and reward of public employes who have performed exceptionally well in their jobs," Milliken said.

"Michigan now has no formal over-all program or system for rewarding the workers in state, city, village, county or township government. There are more than 150,000 such employes and it is very important that such recognition be given.

"Because they are public employes, these people throughout Michigan sometimes receive criticism," Milliken noted. "Because of this, it seems appropriate that when they perform exceptionally well, they also should receive considerable credit and this will be one of the primary duties of the commission."

$142.8 Million OK'd

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon signed into law yesterday legislation authorizing $142.8 million for Coast Guard craft and construction.

The bill represents an increase of $60 million over funds requested by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Rep. Bishop Conducts Survey

Strong Opinions in Poll

ROCHESTER — Voters in the district of State Rep. Donald Bishop, R-Rochester, have registered some strong opinions on crime and crime control.

In a recent questionnaire sent by Bishop, 91 per cent of the voters replied that parents should be made financially responsible for acts of vandalism; 79 per cent favored legalized wiretapping under court order; 60 per cent favored legislation that would make it a criminal offense for anyone ever convicted of a felony to own or possess a firearm; and 82 per cent said persons convicted of a crime in which they used a gun should be punished over and above the normal penalty.

* * *

On the issue of gun registration, however, 50 per cent were against compulsory registration of firearms, 41 per cent were for registration and 9 per cent had no opinion.

Bishop's district covers, roughly, the northeast part of Oakland County.

Another hot issue still in the legislative hopper is legalized abortion. Here, voters split evenly among four alternatives.

OPINIONS ON ABORTION

A slim plurality, 36 per cent, favored allowing a woman to make her own decision concerning abortion under any circumstance. Some 25 per cent said abortion should be allowed in cases of rape or incest while 24 per cent felt that only a panel of doctors should decide when abortion would be performed. Finally, 10 per cent said present laws were adequate, permitting abortion only when the mother's life was adjudged endangered.

Sixty-three per cent of the voters indicated the Legislature should pick up a greater share of local school costs through a greater state income-tax bite.

* * *

The voters also definitely indicated their opposition to the litter problem created by no-deposit beer and soft drink containers.

A majority of 59 per cent of the voters — all over 21, of course — indicated a preference for raising the minimum driving age from 16 to 17.

Wooden Nickel Making Scene for Centennial

ROCHESTER — Take wooden nickles.

Yes, take wooden nickels and help support the Rochester Centennial.

* * *

Beginning July 28, merchants in downtown Rochester will offer as change wooden nickels and brass-plated half-dollars. The "coins" will be just as good as the real thing, but the idea is to keep the nickels and half-dollars as souvenirs.

Issued by the revenue division of the Centennial Commission, the coins can be redeemed for face value at the centennial's conclusion. Shoppers are not bound, of course, to accept the wooden nickels and brass-plated half-dollars.

COMMEMORATIVE COIN

The revenue division is also offering a more refined collectors' item, a commemorative coin oxidized and encased in plastic. The commemorative coin is the size of a half-dollar and will sell for $1.

The commemorative coin is available at centennial headquarters, 507 Main.

Controversial Rezoning Fails in Farmington

FARMINGTON — A controversial request to rezone a house from single family to office category so Gary Jackson of 21718 Farmington can sell his home has been denied by the City Council.

Jackson has been unable to sell his house through a conventional mortgage. Apparently no one wants to buy the home because the property immediately to the north is zoned for multiple dwellings. One lot over is Kensington Manor Apartments.

* * *

The request for a change in zoning was made after Gilbert Willis, a manufacturers representative from Wixom, made a formal offer to purchase the Jackson home for use as an office.

The purchase offer of $30,500 was contingent on the rezoning of the proprty.

* * *

Willis had indicated that he would leave the house as is—using it for an office — and would lease the rear portion of the property to the adjoining subdivision for five years. Some 95 per cent of the neighbors, however, objected to the rezoning at the planning commission hearing.

Despite apparent sympathy from some City Council members, the rezoning was also rejected at this week's council meeting.

Founder's Festival Starts in Farmington

FARMINGTON — The annual citywide carnival — Farmington's Founder's Festival — begins with the basting of oxen by the Farmington Elk's Club today.

* * *

The three-day fair will culminate in a parade Saturday morning with Gov. William Milliken as the featured guest.

Festivities formally begin at 6 p.m. tonight when the first barbecued steer is offered in sandwiches.

* * *

Events will be held all over Farmington for the next three days with the main centers of activity at Demery Shopping Center and the Downtown Farmington Center.

QUEEN TO BE CROWNED

Games, food concessions, sidewalk sales, a kidddie carnival and the Chrysler Showboat will all be part of the scenes.

Troy Residents Vote Monday on 2 School Issues

* * *

Property owners and non-property owners will vote on the two issues.

MASKED PATROL—Troops of the 25th Infantry Division move through heavy underbrush during a sweep of the Black Virgin Mountain in Tay Ninh Province, northwest of Saigon. The men wore gas masks to protect themselves against lingering tear gas, left from weeklong artillery and bomb barrages on the mountain. The area was hit heavily when intelligence reports indicated possible enemy buildiup for an attack on a nearby province capital.

Topless Sacrifice

Is Dance Rite or Wrong?

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP) — There's a storm brewing over Carmen Perez' daily sacrifice to the Aztec rain gods.

Miss Perez, a 24-year-old shapely carnival dancer, appears topless for 23 seconds while performing at Milwaukee's annual Summerfest Celebration.

"There's nothing suggestive or dirty about this, this is a religious rite," said Howard Meister, president of the association which signed the act.

The police vice squad thinks otherwise. It arrested Miss Perez three times Tuesday—after each performance—for disorderly conduct by indecent exposure. She was freed on bond for a court hearing Aug. 29.

FULLY CLOTHED

Miss Perez, a member of the Flying Indians of Acapulco, appeared fully clothed during weekend performances after her troupe received police warnings.

Then she returned to what she called Aztec tradition Monday night, stripped away her upper garment to present herself as a sacrifice to appease the rain gods. She said the ritual dates back 500 years.

On Tuesday afternoon police arrived for the first of three daily performances and arrested Miss Perez.

A spokesman for Miss Perez said she would remain true to Aztec tradition for today's performances.

We Salute Apollo 11

Although it is still hard to believe, America's astronauts have completed their moon landing and rock hunt, and are cruising home toward the end of a spectacular voyage of discovery.

Millions throughout the world sat enthralled Sunday night, staring in shocked silence as NEIL ARMSTRONG and BUZZ ALDRIN descended from their craft to a historic first on the moon's surface.

Contrary to cartoonists' concepts, they found neither empty vodka bottles nor "no parking" signs.

★ ★ ★

Since its earthshaking blast-off last Wednesday, the entire project has been almost completely free of any problems which could destroy the astronauts and their mission. Everything went like clockwork—a very expensive but very efficient clock.

★ ★ ★

The only thing different from early science fiction movies was the lack of a villain, or the lurking space monster which is always dispatched with a blast from the ray gun.

The cool professionalism of the trio has also amazed the world which listened to every interchange. Most of the time it sounded like a routine flight between Detroit and New York, except the audio was more clear than when the airline pilot tells you that's Toledo below to the left.

★ ★ ★

Fortunately, those high in the space program are convinced that the value of television equipment is worth the additional weight. The impact upon the world would have been materially less had not the television camera sent back the startling pictures to earth. It was instant history in the living rooms of the world as first Armstrong and then Aldrin backed down the ladder to the surface of the moon.

★ ★ ★

Watching the pair erect our flag, and go about their experiments probably produced the highest television rating ever measured. The rights to the reruns would probably pay off the national debt.

Unfortunately, the highlight of the whole adventure, lift off from the moon surface, was not televised on this occasion, but indications are that future lunar trips will even have this, too.

Unless everything went exactly as planned and designed, we could have had the first colony on the moon, for at least 12 hours. Then the oxygen would have run out, killing the intrepid spacemen. But the fantastic technology continued to function perfectly, and they rose to join astronaut COLLINS in the command ship.

★ ★ ★

Regardless of future voyages, the Apollo 11 flight has to go down as one of man's biggest achievements, and biggest thrills.

Watch It!

David Lawrence Says:

Tax Reform Push Is Worrisome

WASHINGTON — The big news today affecting the pocketbooks of the American people has not yet reached Congress. But back home millions of taxpayers — both individuals and businesses — find themselves confused, uncertain and worried about so-called "tax reforms."

LAWRENCE

If Congress extends the tax surcharge which has been in effect, this would not disturb the economy.

★ ★ ★

The vague innuendoes and contradictory declarations, however, by the leaders of the Democratic party in Congress have brought a state of uncertainty that could have a damaging impact immediately on business and on employment.

This does not mean that the public doesn't want tax reforms that are proper and equitable. But it doesn't want to see laws enacted that will upset business operations and planning by individuals, including the future of estates and bequests for their children.

★ ★ ★

Tax regulations are imbedded so deeply in the whole economic mechanism that if Congress tampers with many of the existing rates and rules, it can only result in panicky sales of property that would not otherwise have taken place.

PLENTY OF CONCERN

Plenty of concern is being exhibited by colleges and universities, as well as by hospitals and charitable institutions, which have been dependent upon large contributions from persons of middle or high incomes.

★ ★ ★

For the government to require higher tax payments than before will merely diminish the money given to charity. The future value of lots of family farms, too, will be adversely affected by changes in tax rates on what are known as capital gains.

CAN BE FOUND

Tax loopholes that ought to be closed can, of course, be found in present laws. But it is one thing to correct inequities here and there, and quite another to institute a program of "tax reform" which changes the basic principles of the existing income-tax system.

To tamper with the capital-gains tax, for instance, is a risk to the economy, and may encourage the sale of property that ought to be held for long-term investment.

★ ★ ★

What is back of all the demands for tax reform? Presumably it arises from a public sentiment which favors tax relief for middle- and lower-income groups.

What is the answer? For one thing, Congress should extend the income-tax surcharge promptly.

QUICK ACTION

Also, if it is going to enact any tax reforms, they should be adopted in the next few weeks instead of allowing the whole matter to drift for many months while private planning is frustrated and properties subject to the capital-gains tax are dumped on the market, with values falling.

There is, to be sure, a need for tax revision. But unless the Democratic party, which is in control of both houses of Congress, can act immediately to let the people know how they are going to be taxed and what is to be exempted, the United States may find itself in the midst of a recession by the early part of 1970, if not by the autumn of this year.

★ ★ ★

The responsibility for this will be placed in the 1970 elections upon the Democratic party and not on the administration.

Voice of the People:

Reader Expresses Views on Anti-ABM Campaign

The united front now coalescing for the national anti-ABM campaign looks like an old grad parade at reunion. They all line up—veterans of "Ban the Bomb," "No ICBMs," "Universal Disarmament," "Better Red Than Dead," "Burn Your Draft Cards," "Recognize Red China." This is the assembly of the softs linked in these successive operations with hards and very hards of the anti-American and revolutionary Left. There are those in our midst who are always on the side of the Communists.

★ ★ ★

The ABM is a defensive system. How could the Russians be angered by an American defensive system? The absurdity is all the greater inasmuch as the Soviets already have an ABM system deployed around Moscow and Leningrad.

★ ★ ★

As for the need of the ABM, the President is in a better position than anyone to know the full extent of the Soviet missile menace today. As for the system's feasibility, the scientists who have the greatest expertise in ABM systems are those employed in developing them. If the spirit of national defense is struck a blow by the U.S. Senate, the American people may be exposed to more serious peril than at any time in history. The Soviet marshals may counsel the Kremlin leaders that the time has come to attack the United States.

'Mothers Get No Raises for Child Support'

So many men who are divorced and paying child support forget that while the prices of food, clothing, school supplies, etc., go up, child support payments remain the same. Mothers still try to raise their children on the same amount of money they received four and five years ago. Everyone gets a raise, but the support money remains the same. We can't strike for more money. The father gets a big raise on his check but the mother's check never goes up. Is this fair?

Question and Answer

Is it true that once the U.S. had no summer? A small bet is resting on your answer.

REGULAR READER

REPLY

We don't want to encourage gambling, so we'll say yes and no. In 1816, the whole world had unusual cold spells, but New England and eastern Canada got the worst of it, and for them it was known as the year without a summer. June storms killed crops and brought heavy snow. Birds and farm animals froze to death. Frost and snowfalls occurred throughout the "summer." Even many late crops were killed, others never matured. Other parts of the country weren't hit so hard, so you'll have to decide for yourselves who wins the bet.

Question and Answer

I know the moon always has the same side toward the world, but does it look the same to people all over the globe?

CURIOUS

REPLY

No. It depends on the latitude of the observer and angle of the moon. At 29 degrees below the equator, the "man in the moon" begins to turn over. The "top" of the moon is the part that is farthest from the horizon, so it looks different from different parts of the world

'Stay Home' Plea Ignored

Americans have plenty of "get-up-and-go," and trying to keep them at home is a hopeless task, Congress has found out. That august body has been seeking to take the strain off our balance of payments with other nations by encouraging tourists to stay home and spend, rather than traipse overseas.

The flood stage at passport offices indicates Congressional suggestions have fallen on deaf ears. By the end of 1969, more than four million U.S. travelers will have made the foreign scene, leaving more than $5 billion.

★ ★ ★

Cutting the limit on duty-free purchases from $500 to $100 didn't help much, Washington noted.

As you might expect, members of Congress in large numbers ignored their own pleas to stay home. Last year 274 senators and representatives made at least one trip outside the Country, compared to 266 the previous year.

The answer may well be to encourage more foreign visitors to come here, and help the balance of payments that way. The influx from overseas has been moving slowly but steadily upward, to more than two million last year.

★ ★ ★

But this is still not enough to offset the number of Americans departing the Country in everything from oxcarts to gliders.

Moon Trip Won't Dazzle Future Astronaut Wives

WITH PRESIDENT NIXON — Astronaut Herman Zilch, returning from the moon in 1974, has trouble with his wife.

"Where have you been the last eight nights?" Mrs. Zilch demands, suspiciously.

CONSIDINE

"I went to the moon," Zilch says, defensively. "Didn't you know?"

"A likely story. There wasn't anything on TV about it."

"Well, sweetie, TV doesn't cover things like going to the moon any more."

★ ★ ★

"That's right, Herman, baby, but don't give me that jazz. There's been a lot of talk about you and that chick at Jackass Flats." (Editor's Note — Where work is under way on a nuclear space engine.)

You know very well that we haven't been able to take a girl — I mean an outsider — to the moon since that scandal of last year when Life magazine arranged to have Dr. Joyce Brothers go there to psychoanalyze the Russian colony."

Pat Ryan, writing in Sports Illustrated, estimates that 150 million golf balls are retrieved each year from water holes around the country. This means a recapture of about $52 million, believed lost forever.

★ ★ ★

Nearly every course now has official ball scavengers working under permit from the pro. The scroungers go in for gear ranging from fisherman's high boots to, one supposes, bathyspheres.

The recovered balls find their way to the pro's bargain counter, are sold in great quantities to driving ranges, and many are returned to their watery graves: the U. S. Navy buys hundreds of thousands of them each year to be hit off the decks of carriers. Many more are lost on golf courses, of course.

Nixon Concessions to South Inevitable

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—The flurry of Justice Department actions on school desegregation affecting many southern and some northern school districts is being viewed too narrowly in the heat of the controversy over HEW guidelines.

BIOSSAT

The common judgment is that the department's filing of a flock of lawsuits is wholly and simply an effort by the Nixon administration to offset the impression left by its recent muddied HEW statement that it was taking the desegregation pressure off many slow-moving southern school districts.

★ ★ ★

Probably the President, having measured the furor over the HEW guideline statement of July 3, did indeed want to alter that impression.

The timing of the Justice Department moves was hardly coincidental, despite assurances that these actions were long in the works.

JUST AS PLAIN

On the other hand, it is just as plain that the President also intended to persuade the South, so helpful to him in his election, that some real delay and softening of desegregation guidelines would hereafter be possible.

★ ★ ★

There are some published reports that only the intervention of beleaguered HEW Secretary Robert Finch prevented a much greater easing.

CONCESSIONS INEVITABLE

Whatever the fact of that situation, aides to the President were privately saying last winter that his campaign utterances, plus the South's contribution to his victory, made some concessions inevitable.

It should be understood, however, that the Nixon administration could not employ unlimited latitude in easing desegregation requirements even if it wanted to.

The strongest governing factor is not the 1964 civil rights act with its provision for a cutoff of federal funds to districts which fail to move steadily toward desegregation. It is the Supreme Court decision of early 1967 in the case of New Kent County, Va.

★ ★ ★

It was that high court ruling which truly spelled ultimate death to the dual school system so long prevalent in many parts of the South.

FLAT DECLARATION

It declared flatly that the test of any freedom of choice plan was whether, in fact, it worked to end desegregation and eliminate dual schools.

Critics of the HEW July 3 guideline statement took lightly the assertion that the burden is on local districts to prove they need more time.

★ ★ ★

Actually, it is a hard fact of life. Even if some delay and softening is allowed, the doom of dual schools is sealed and the final hard crunch for the slowest-moving areas is not very far off.

Elk Plan

Denver Post

The evidence has been clear for some years that the elk herd at Yellowstone National Park simply cannot be allowed to multiply. The animals eat themselves into starvation, destroying ground cover in the process.

Sporadic attempts to control the elk have been made by the U.S. Park Service.

★ ★ ★

Trapping hasn't been effective and reduction by shooting by park rangers raised so much public outcry ("slaughter!") that former Interior Secretary Stewart Udall at one point halted the shooting.

The new secretary, Walter J. Hickel, now approaches the problem by saying that selective shooting by sportsmen may be the best way. Possibly he is right. A carefully supervised hunting program in which the animals had some sporting chance might be less annoying than ranger "execution squads."

We'd want to be sure that nobody brought his four-wheeldrive vehicle (or any other vehicle) in to chew up Yellowstone's hillsides. And we'd want assurances that the rangers selected both hunters and hunting areas with the utmost of care. With those provisos the Hickel plan is worth pursuing further.

Pollution . . .

(The Grand Rapids Press)

A Mississippi River barge recently rammed into a dam, spilling thousands of gallons of fuel oil into the river. Birds and other wildlife were in great danger as the oil rode the crest of the river all the way to the Gulf.

★ ★ ★

Protests by naturalists and conservationists didn't quite reach the volume of the one that followed the oil leak in the Santa Barbara Channel off the coast of California, but they, nevertheless, were loud and insistent enough to be heard in Washington.

The result was a hearing, at which the barge pilot explained quite simply that, after having navigated the Mississippi for years without accident, his barge slammed into the dam this time only because he was temporarily blinded when a downdraft blanketed him and his boat with smoke billowing out of the stacks of a plant located near the river.

★ ★ ★

The pilot's testimony was corroborated by witnesses of the dam-ramming incident.

The lesson is quite obvious. Pollution breeds pollution.

Marx Marker Makes Money for Cemetery

LONDON (AP) — Karl Marx would probably roll over in his grave if he knew it. The capitalists are making money from his tomb.

So many photographers, movie and television companies take pictures of Marx's burial plot in London's Highgate Cemetery that the cemetery is charging fees.

★ ★ ★

"Karl Marx earns about 40 pounds—$950—a year," said a spokesman for Location Ltd., a television and film company that handles bookings for the tomb of the father of communism.

Marx died in London and was buried beneath a 12-foot stone memorial in Highgate in 1883.

SPLITS PROFITS

The cemetery said it had so many demands for photo sessions that it turned them over to the film company, which splits the profits with the graveyard.

The rates are $25.20 an hour for movies, $12.60 an hour for still cameras.

Prof Studying Snoring Riddle

Problems Steered His Marriage Onto Rocks

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — "There ain't no way to find out why a snorer can't hear himself snore," Mark Twain once wrote.

But Marcus Boulware, Florida A&M University speech pathology professor, is working on it.

"Snoring is a disorder only in the ears of those who can't tolerate it," Boulware, whose own snoring problems steered his first marriage onto the rocks, observed in an interview.

"It's just like stuttering — if we knew what it was or what caused it, we could cure it," he added. "I picture it more or less as a riddle that has not been solved. Whoever could find an almost-perfect cure could get rich."

FOLK REMEDIES

The one-man "Sonorous Breathing Research Project" has so far been confined to researching, which has uncovered some interesting but ineffective folk remedies.

"One lady snored because she slept in bed with curlers," Boulware recalled, so she quit wearing them to bed.

★ ★ ★

"Then there was one man who was baldheaded and caught cold easily," he continued. The cold would close the man's nasal passages and the unharmonious tone was the result.

Statistics aren't available on what per cent of Americans are afflicted with log sawing troubles, but Boulware has found experts willing to estimate from one out of every eight up to one out of every six.

★ ★ ★

His plans call for testing some of the more likely looking cntisnoring devices, experimenting with sleeping positions and, if all else fails, working on ear plugs to "filter" out the overtones for the insomnia suffering masses.

"I feel I at least have the sources," Boulware said. "How we are going to measure some of this will have to be played by ear as we go."

Board Ignores Policy in Awarding PNH Pact

Despite protests that it was violating board policy, the Pontiac School Board last night awarded an architectural contract prior to investigation of the firm's compliance with nondiscrimination in hiring.

There were numerous protests from both black and white members of the audience and a school attorney's opinion that compliance must be determined before a contract is awarded.

Nevertheless, the board retained the firm of Charles Sherman and Associates, by a 4-2 vote, for architectural work on a $1.1-million expansion of Pontiac Northern High School.

This new firm, formed within the last two months, has five employes, none of whom are black.

FIRM UNTESTED

All of the employes of the firm joined Sherman in the new firm when he left his position as executive vice president of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, Inc. of Birmingham. As a firm, this group has not yet done any architectural work.

Both the Sherman firm and O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach were bidding for contracts for architectural work on the additions to Northern and on the planned new $15.8-million, seven-level high school, to be built on the present Crofoot Elementary School site.

* * *

Rather than awarding both contracts to one firm, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer recommended a split of the contracts.

O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach was awarded the contract for work on the new high school. The board and audience appeared satisfied with nondiscrimination compliance on the part of this firm.

NO BIDDING

The was no competitive bidding for the contract.

Without prior determination of compliance on the part of Charles Sherman and Associates, the board awarded the firm the contract for work on additions at Northern.

School Attorney Harold Dudley's opinion was sought on request from the crowd of about 100, and he said he felt that board policy called for determination of compliance before a contract is awarded.

Board member Christopher Brown abstained from the vote on the contract to be awarded to Sherman, stating he preferred to wait until the firm's compliance with board policy is checked.

'SHOULD BE TABLED'

Board president Russell Brown voted a hestitant "no" and Dr. Robert R. Turpin also voted "no."

Dr. Turpin said earlier, when the motion was made, that he felt the motion should be tabled until compliance of the Sherman firm had been determined.

Charles Tucker, executive director of Harambee, then said, "I feel it is extremely regretful that a majority of you (the board) couldn't table the contract awarding until the next session."

* * *

"I can't attribute it personally, but you can bet your bottom dollar that there will be an official complaint filed with the (Michigan) Civil Rights Commission as of tomorrow morning from a whole section of the community of Pontiac," Tucker said.

Dr. Turpin moved to rescind the action, but his motion lost by a 4-3 vote, with Dr. Turpin, William Anderson, and Christopher Brown voting in favor. Russell Brown, who had voted against the action in the first place, was among the four voting "no."

His reason for voting negatively, when questioned, was, "I thought it was best to do that."

* * *

Schools Supt. Dana P. Whitmer said that the Sherman firm would be checked for compliance before the contract is signed. He said he felt confident that Sherman would comply. Sherman, present at the meeting, said he was planning to make every effort to comply.

Several persons in the audience indicated that they felt the entire project package should have been awarded to the established firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, and Christopher Brown made a motion to that effect.

LACKED SUPPORT

His motion died, however, for lack of support.

The queston of compliance by O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach was answered by Carl Luckenbach, who introduced Nate Johnson of a black Detroit architectural firm.

EXCHANGING STAFF

Luckenbach said that his and Johnson's all-black firm would be exchanging staff for the project. He said that his firm has been working with Johnson and his architects for a number of years.

* * *

When board member John K. Irwin Jr. moved to award the contracts according to Whitmer's recommendation, Dr. Turpin amended the motion to include only the contract for the new Central High School. "No" votes on the amendment recorded were from Irwin, Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek.

Of the Sherman firm, Whitmer said, "We believe the new firm to be confident and efficient. They recognize that they have a task in front of them to build their total architectural organization, and for this reason the addition to Northern, Which would be a smaller project at this time, would be more appropriately suited to the new organization. This would bolster a new, thriving Pontiac firm," Whitmer said.

* * *

He said that the administration also believed there are advantages to continuing friendly relationships with both firms.

"In continuing these relationships, the decision that is being made would be desirable and good for Pontiac," Whitmer said.

QUESTION FROM AUDIENCE

Also questioned last night by the audience was the ability of Sherman's firm to do the job. "I understand they haven't built anything. You can have a friendly relationship without passing out a contract for a million-dollar project," was one comment from an unidentified member of the audience.

Another person said, "I don't think we should be a proving ground for a new firm. When they are established, then they should come back."

* * *

The vote on the amended motion to award the architectural contract for Central to O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach received only one negative from Mrs. Mihalek.

Compensation Bid Is Accepted by City

The Pontiac City Commission last night concluded four weeks of studies concerning workmen's compensation offers for city employes and voted to accept the lowest bid on an insurance package from a local agency.

The commission voted unanimously to contract with the Huttenlocher Insurance Agency, 1007 W. Huron, Waterford Township, to provide workmen's compensation for city employes.

* * *

The local agency will write the policy with the Maryland Casualty Co. Net payment of the city for the policy will be $147,424 for 12 months.

* * *

The Huttenlocher bid was one of five received by the city for workmen's compensation last month. It was the lowest bid and will guarantee a dividend which will be determined by the size of the city's loss during the year.

City Manager Joseph A. Warren told the commission a reasonable loss would be between $78,000 and $87,000, in which case the city would pay a reduced premium of $124,522.

* * *

In other business, bids were opened for bituminous concrete surfacing, curb, gutter, sidewalk and drainage improvements on Cameron, Kenilworth and Pearsall streets.

* * *

The work will be done by the Ann Arbor Construction Co. for $225,206. The firm was the lowest of four bidders.

* * *

The commission also agreed to contract with Weissman Contracting Co. to reinforce concrete paving on several city streets. Their $349,007 bid was the lowest of five submitted.

Work will be done on Franklin, Joslyn, Mansfield and Linfere streets.

GO-AHEAD TO PROJECTS

The commission also gave the go-ahead for three water main projects in the city. Special assessment rolls for a water main at Perry and Giddings were approved, and a separate assessment roll was approved for construction on Brooks from Joslyn to the east end of the street.

* * *

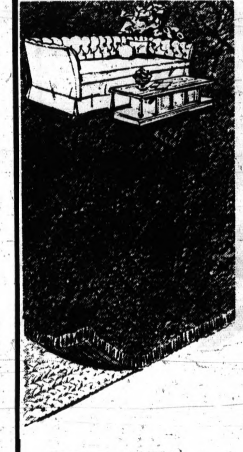

City Engineer Clyde Christian's cost estimate for construction of a water main in Northfield from Joslyn to the west end of Northfield was also approved. He estimated costs at $14,500. The city will pay $4,170. A hearing was set for July 29.

Delta HQ Given Over to S. Viets

SAIGON (AP) —U.S. troops turned a brigade headquarters in the Mekong Delta over to South Vietnamese forces today in another step toward completing withdrawal of 25,000 Americans from the war zone by Aug. 31.

Control of Fire Support Base Moore at Cai Lay passed from the U.S. 9th Infantry Division to the 12th Regiment of the South Vietnamese 7th Infantry Division.

The base, 45 miles southwest of Saigon, has been headquarters of the American division's 1st Brigade and one of its combat battalions. The 7th Vietnamese Division is the major unit assuming responsibility for continuing the fight in the delta region as 11,400 men of the 9th Infantry's pullout under President Nixon's order reducing U.S. combat forces.

About 7,400 troops of the 1st Brigade are slated to begin the transfer to Hawaii in about a week.

GIs AMBUSH CONG

Meanwhile, a Ranger patrol of the division's 3rd Brigade—which is staying in Vietnam—scored an ambush victory over the Vietcong. The U.S. Command said six of the enemy were killed when the Rangers ambushed two sampans on a river 22 miles southwest of Saigon. There were no U.S. casualties.

* * *

The U.S. and South Vietnamese commands reported one of the quietest nights across the nation since the current lull began June 18.

* * *

U.S. headquarters said there were 11 enemy shellings from 8 a.m. Tuesday to 8 a.m. Wednesday, six of them against American installations, but only one American was wounded.

For the third time since the lull began, the U.S. Command issued Tuesday a daily communique that contained no reports of Americans killed in combat, although it reported nearly 60 Vietcong or North Vietnamese slain. A spokesman said, however, that some Americans were killed in small-unit actions not considered important enough to include in the daily communiques.

CASUALTIES LIGHT

U.S. forces suffered light casualties, but no one was killed, in a four-round mortar attack on an Americal Division engineer camp near Duc Pho, 329 miles northeast of Saigon, the U.S. Command reported.

Government troops reported 12 enemy killed in light encounters near Quang Tri, south of the demilitarized zone.

In Saigon, government sources said that about 90 per cent of the Saigon University students ordered to report for a month's military training had done so. The remainder will be inducted into regular military service.

On Monday, 3,009 students were summoned to report for the month's training. About 2,700 showed up, the sources said.

As the training period approached, students staged sit-down strikes and other demonstrations. They argued that the training period would cut into time needed to study for examinations. The government agreed to extend the study period for exams after military training.

South Vietnamese University students usually receive exemption from the draft while in school.

British Aroused by Six Arrests

Tiny Park Fee Protest Now a National Issue

LONDON (AP) — A local dispute over a six-cent increase in a park fee became a national issue today because six prominent citizens who conducted a protest were jailed for the weekend, then taken to court in handcuffs.

The case made the front page in nearly all Britain's major newspapers. Four editorials ridiculed the police for treating citizens convicted of nothing like hardened criminals.

Irate members of the House of Commons prepared to demand an explanation from Home Secretary James Callaghan in Commons.

Six parents in Havant, Hampshire, held the sit-down demonstration to protest an increase from 6 to 12 cents in the admission fee to the local children's park. The fee was raised because of damage that vandals did to the park.

ARRESTED SATURDAY

The six were arrested Saturday after they refused to promise that they would not make a further protest. The police said they had violated a 600-year-old law, and charged them with conduct likely to endanger the peace.

The five men who demonstrated were handcuffed. The woman was not, but she was also a local magistrate.

The six spent the weekend in jail. One of the men was told to do the same work as convicted prisoners, such as sewing mailbags.

They were taken to court Tuesday in Winchester—the men handcuffed—and there freed on $12 bail each to await trial Aug. 7.

Mrs. Anne Loizides, wife of one of the handcuffed men, said, "They were treated like hardened criminals. This is outrageous and needs investigating."

Tom Driberg, a Labor MP, called the incident barbaric.

Unrest at Noted British School

LONDON (AP) — Student unrest is quietly invading Eton, the 500-year-old boys school from whose playing fields came generations of British leaders.

An underground organization called the Schools Action Union claims it has infiltrated the most famous of Britain's prep schools. Its aim is to extend the student revolution from the universities to Eton and the other private institutions which the British call public schools.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the movement, who declined to be identified by name, said a promising number of Etonians had signed up to push against the school's traditions.

Some of the traditions already are gone.

APPAREL DROPPED

The binding black jackets and celluloid collars that made the smaller Etonians look like Little Lord Fauntleroy have been done away with in the past few years. Prebreakfast classes have been abandoned. Latin is no longer a compulsory subject. The boys don't have to go to chapel Sunday mornings. Errant Etonians are still caned by upper classmen, but the beatings get rarer every year.

★ ★ ★

The man responsible for Eton's reforms, Headmaster Anthony Chenevix-Trench, announced this week that he is retiring next year because, although he is only 51, "the stress and strains on a headmaster have clearly increased."

★ ★ ★

He told friends he thinks he should make way for a younger man while he himself is still young enough to move into another job. Some expect him to move into the state school system.

★ ★ ★

One friend said Chenevix-Trench was "keen to make changes, but Eton was changing faster than he, or possibly anyone else, could cope with."

BATTLED GOVERNORS

In his five years at the school, the liberal Chenevix-Trench had to battle against the school's governors to make even minor changes in routines that began in 1440, when King Henry VI founded the school near Windsor Castle, 20 miles outside London.

★ ★ ★

He has also had to defend his pupils against muted complaints by the governors about conduct in the school.

★ ★ ★

Ten boys in the past five years have been discovered smoking marijuana. Each was reported to the police then handed back to the headmaster for punishment, and the cases were kept out of court. Last March, a teen-age boy was found with a loaded gun in his room.

★ ★ ★

Chenevix-Trench argued that marijuana "is no major problem in the school—10 boys out of 1,220 is not very many." The pistol turned out to be part of a gun collection.

"I don't know what these Schools Action Union chaps think they're going to accomplish," said one old Etonian. "I think they'll find that many of the changes they want have already taken place at Eton."

Nixon Orders Cuts; Congress Eyes Military

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's order for executive departments to cut spending an additional $3.5 billion appears to have supplied the impetus for a fresh congressional assault on military outlays.

Senate Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said he assumes military procurement will be the prime target of those determined to reduce spending.

★ ★ ★

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana forecast in a separate interview the Senate will slice another $1 billion off a pending military authorization bill, already cut $2 billion below Nixon's estimates.

Mansfield cheered Nixon's action, saying "this will go a good part of the way toward bringing about a curb on inflation."

ACTION WELCOMED

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., vice chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee, said he welcomes Nixon's action as "a good start" but Congress should make additional reductions.

"I think the military, space and public works budgets can be reduced substantially," he said. "I don't suppose we can cut space much this year in view of the moon mission success.

★ ★ ★

"And the President will have to take the lead in reducing public works outlays," Proxmire added.

Nixon said in a statement Tuesday no federal program will be above scrutiny in the effort to trim spending back to the $192.9 billion target he set in April. He said there will have to be a further lowering of personnel ceilings.

The President said increases in public debt interest, Medicare, Social Security, public assistance and veterans benefits make action necessary.

★ ★ ★

He complained that Congress has done nothing about boosting postal rates, has increased aid for schools in federally impacted areas and has not ended agriculture conservation programs as he recommended.

A fifth of the total investment in India's development in the past three five-year plans came from foreign aid.

Board Faces Conflict on Sex Ed

LANSING — The president of the Michigan PTA told the State Board of Education last week that "extremists and fanatics" are exploiting the issue of sex education to their own advantage in Michigan.

Mrs. Jane Tate of Detroit, in an appearance before the board, said opposition to a set of proposed guidelines for sex education has been fanned by "persons who use this issue as a recruitment device, through front groups, for extremist organizations.

* * *

"To date, the real profit has been to the coffers of the extremist groups from their sale of wild pamphlets, films and film strips," she told the board.

"In short, the debate to date has produced heat but not light and has encouraged agitators, tricked the concerned, and threatened educators and education," she said.

SCATHING DENUNCIATIONS

Mrs. Tate's scathing denunciation of the "extremists and fanatics" came during a presentation to the board of a set of PTA policies adopted at the group's last state convention.

She said the Michigan Congress of Parents and Teachers "would urge the State Board of Education to adopt the guidelines as presented by their advisory committee for safe, sane sex education programs in our schools and the preparation of suitable instructional materials that will assist school directors in giving proper emphasis and balance to the emotional, physical, ethical and social responsibilities in sex education, as part of a sound curriculum."

Mrs. Tate said she did not mean to say there was no room for "legitimate disagreement" on the subject of sex education.

PEOPLE DUPED

But, she said, many of the "legitimate people are being duped by the persons who have assumed the leadership in this attack and who have a hidden agenda."

Her statement produced a lengthy exchange between her and board member James F. O'Neil of Livonia, a vocal critic of the proposed guidelines.

Mrs. Tate said O'Neil was "pulling things out of context" in some of his criticisms of material included in a bibliography of sex education materials proposed by the study committee which drew up the proposals.

* * *

She also said the PTA in Michigan has supported the idea of sex education in the schools since 1951.

An apparently organized move to stymie sex education courses in Michigan schools is expected to be taken into consideration when the State Board of Education decides the fate of proposed guidelines.

Opponents outnumbered backers of the proposed guidelines at a series of public hearings — at least 3-to-1 in one case.

* * *

Board President Peter Oppewall of Grand Rapids does not believe the testimony was representative of public feelings.

"We'll see how much criticism is valid and how much is not" when the board sifts through stacks of hearing testimony transcripts, Oppewall said Tuesday.

"There was evidence of an extremely well-organized minority," he said. "Some of the people appeared at two and sometimes three hearings. Many were quoting from the same documents over and over again."

RIGHT-WINGERS

Oppewall said, "There's not much doubt that there are some right-wing groups" involved in the fight. He cited testimony including quotations from documents "which are put out by the Movement to Restore Decency, that's been identified as a John Birch Society group."

The April Birch Society bulletin mentions the decency committees and says:

* * *

"Already, from several parts of the country, we have received reports of major victories in various efforts to keep sex education out of the schools and in the home where it belongs. And this is just a beginning."

Oppewall said, however, that he believed the board would "have to judge the arguments on their merits.

"I don't want to do the same thing they're doing — condemning an argument because of the organization," he said.

Oppewall quickly added that many who testified "insisted they are not members of right-wing organizations."

"I think there are some very sincere and well-intended parents who are concerned about the way sex education has been handled in some districts. I don't doubt but what there are a few questionable slides and movies that have been used," he added.

* * *

"But I'm convinced that that's a small minority of the cases," Oppewall said, "and I would feel that these exceptions could be handled very easily on a local level. All it takes is a local advisory committee or local board or local superintendent or teacher to throw out objectionable materials."

MARILYN HORNE

HENRY LEWIS

Two Guest Artists in Concert

The Meadow Brook Festival concerts Thursday and Friday will feature soprano Marilyn Horne as guest soloist with The Detroit Symphony. She will sing Mahler's "Kindertotenlieder" and Brunnhilde's "Immolation" from Wagner's "Gotterdammerung."

The orchestra, under guest conductor Henry Lewis, will be heard in three selections from the same opera and Haydn's Symphony No. 104 in D major, the London Symphony.

Concert time at Baldwin Pavilion is 8:30 p.m. The grounds open at 6:30 p.m.

Local Approach May Be Considered

LANSING (AP) —A fourth set of proposed sex education guidelines, with the major emphasis on tailoring the programs to local needs was before the State Board of Education today.

The guidelines, drawn up by Dr. Leroy Augenstein, a member of the board, differ from those drafted by a 25-member advisory committee to the board only in their emphasis on a local needs, he conceded.

Augenstein, who said he does favor sex education programs, called for establishing local advisory boards of parents, educators and churchmen to help schools in devising appropriate programs.

The third set of guidelines was prepared by the treasurer of the state education board, James F. O'Neil. He suggested that sex education not be started until the children reach the age of puberty, usually around the sixth grade.

O'Neil also suggested that parents, not students, be given sex education so that they can be informed and teach their children.

The fourth report, similar to O'Neil's, was drawn up by Mrs. Susanne Talt in a minority report to the advisory committee.

* * *

In announcing his guidelines, Augenstein said he thought only 5 to 10 per cent of parents are opposed to sex education, "and these parents are protected by the law because they can remove their children from classes when the subject is being taught," he said.

He also said he thought the major objections of those parents was not to the family life portions of the classes, but to teaching students about intercourse itself.

Other than the emphasis on local control, Augenstein agrees with the earlier report, which recommended integrated sex education programs from kindergarten through senior high school.

"The guideline I propose rejects the implication of some people that you can make people good by keeping them ignorant," Augenstein said. "In fact the moral person is the one who has the necessary facts at hand and makes the proper choice."

Augenstein also said he thought the State Board of Education's guidelines would leave most of the final decision up to the local schools. He said drawing up "hard, fast rules for teaching sex education" would be harmful.

Although the Aug. 15 deadline set by the Legislature for the board's sex education guidelines has been lifted, Augenstein and other board members feel they should be completed before school starts in the fall.

Reuther, UAW Seek to Supply Art Activity for Labor's Leisure

The UAW seems set to jump into the arts field for the sake of its 700,000 Michigan members.

At a symposium at Oakland University arranged by the Michigan State Council for the Arts, Walter Reuther, president of the UAW, said Monday he will appoint a top-level union committee to work with the council in finding ways to take the arts to the people.

* * *

The need to do this, he said, is dictated by the vastly increased leisure time with which union members and retirees are soon to be faced.

* * *

The chairman of the council, Dr. D. B. Varner, Oakland's chancellor, promised, "We will move fast on this. It could be a model form of cooperation for the whole country."

* * *

Reuther said no section of American life has been starved more consistently than the arts. America, he said, spends proportionately less on the arts than any other industrial country, and less than some of the emerging nations.

BROADENING FUTURE

Science, he said, has brought an economic abundance which allows every American now to grow as a social being and "we must begin to work today to prepare Americans" for constructive use of the leisure time which technical progress in the next fifty years will bring.

* * *

The only way to bring about creative use of that leisure time, Reuther said, is to get the broadest possible base of participation in the arts.

* * *

The labor movement, Reuther said, has a special role to play in taking the arts to the people, because it has unique contacts with the masses. The labor movement "is about the whole man and the whole society," not just about wages and hours and pensions.

* * *

The arts council was established three years ago and funded by the legislature, which this year appropriated $140,000, an increase of $30,000 over last year.

A Good Excuse Doesn't Make Your Affair Right

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been married nearly 30 years. We have grown children who all have families of their own. It seems that over the years I have lost my wife to our children. All her time is spent with this daughter or that son and their families, who all live within 20 miles of us. She has made a regular career out of "sitting" every evening with one of her grandchildren.

Night after night I have sat in my den alone watching television. My wife gets home about midnight or a little after, at which time I am already in bed.

* * *

My wife insisted I go out and enjoy myself, so I took her advice which led to meeting a beautiful 51-year-old widow. We are compatible in every way. In short, we have fallen in love. Now I'm not lonely anymore and neither is this widow.

My problem is, am I doing the right thing? How can I tell my wife about this affair? She doesn't suspect a thing as I'm always home before she is.

DISILLUSIONED

DEAR DISILLUSIONED: If you want what sounds like a "good excuse" for your affair, you have one. But that does not make it right.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My wife spoon-fed our son until he was nearly five years old. He is nearly 16, and she is still "babying" him and catering to his every whim.

Unfortunately he is our only child so she has been able to devote her entire life to being a "good" mother to him.

Her excuse, "He will be going into the service pretty soon and I want him to enjoy life at home while he can."

The day he was eligible to drive a car she bought him one with her "savings." He has always been the best dressed kid in Highland Park, Ill., and he's so spoiled you can smell him in Kenosha, Wis.

He is smart, but he's lazy, and barely makes his grades even with tutoring.

My question: If my wife decides to listen to a competent family counselor, can this kid be saved? Or do you think it's too late?

HIS FATHER

DEAR FATHER: It's never too late. The word from here is "try."

* * *

DEAR ABBY: As Dr. Paul Ehrlich of Stanford University has observed, "Anyone who stands in the way of measures to bring down the birth rate is automatically working for a rise in the death rate."

Those who understand what the unchecked increase in population means to the future of the world believe that it is morally wrong for a couple to have more than two children.

Tell "ARGUING" to explain that to her husband when he insists that she agree to having four children. (Or better yet, have two, and adopt two.)

CONSERVATIONIST

DEAR CONSERVATIONIST: Lord Brain of Great Britain, another like-minded man said it still another way: "When, wherever you live in the world, you can have children only when you wish, that will be a revolution with more far-reaching effects on the pattern of human culture than the discovery of atomic energy."

CONFIDENTIAL TO "MARINE'S GIRL": Do as he has asked you to do, and go with others while he is gone. If you really "love" him, and there is faithfulness in your heart, it will remain there until he returns. You are only 16, and a bit too young to wear a "RESERVED" sign.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Currant Dish Pleases Nixon

DETROIT (AP) —The way to the White House's heart is through raisin strudel.

* * *

Or so Mrs. Anna Sherline of Detroit must think. She wrote to President Nixon some time ago asking him if he'd help locate a sister in the Soviet Union she hasn't heard from in two years.

* * *

As an encouragement, she sent along 70 pieces of her special raisin strudel.

* * *

A polite return letter from the White House said someone would try and "thank you for the strudel." But that wasn't all.

Last weekend she got two more letters, one from the White House complimenting her "excellent" strudel and one from the State Department telling her the Red Cross would try and locate her sister.

* * *

Mrs. Sherline fled Russia, while her sister stayed with the rest of the family, during the programs against the Jews before the Russian Revolution. She maintained contact by letter until two years ago.

Area Author Expects New Work to Stir Controversy

By JEANNE NELSON

"The public is in for a shock." Birmingham author, Rene Noorbergen was speaking of his recently published book containing documented passages on the former activities and violent death of the Rev. Martin Luther King.

* * *

Noorbergen's book, "Jeane Dixon: My Life and Prophecies as told to Rene Noorbergen," is due in Detroit area book stores by early August. And by the writer's own admission, it's a controversial work.

* * *

Reports of the author's past would lead this interviewer to conclude that controversy is itself is no stranger to the direct, outspoken Dutchman whose life as a foreign correspondent has touched down on more than a few disputations.

Supping with international figures, bivouacking with Castro revolutionaries and sitting behind locked-door conferences on world political hot spots, is all part of the colorful past that prompts his remark, "Detroit is completely dull."

But, Dullsville or not, Noorbergen has not lived here without being active. The past three years have been spent in what he terms a cradle of security doing public relations work for the automotive industry. In between times he started the book on Mrs. Dixon.

* * *

His association with the noted visionary began some years ago when he wrote a magazine article about her. The ensuing friendship puzzles many people.

Mrs. Dixon represents all the gossamer shadows between fantasy and realism while he seemingly only functions at ease in the role of the investigative writer and researcher.

The study of history and archaeology, in which he holds Masters' Degrees from the University of Groningen, Netherlands, has, he believes, cleared journalistic paths and given dimension to his creativity.

EXPERIENCE

His first major international assignment was covering the 1956 Israeli-Egypt conflict as chief European correspondent for "The Soldier Illustrated." The following eight or nine years, he turned in assignments on such history-making events as the Cuban Revolution, the aftermath of the Dalai Lama's escape, assassination of Trujillo, guerrilla attack on Haiti, Hungarian revolt, etc.

In addition, he did all of his own photographic work. During "slow periods" he managed to turn out hundreds of free lance articles for a number of the best known European and American magazines.

* * *

At the invitation of the U.S. Defense Department, he spent three months on a detailed pictorial coverage of U.S. installations in the Far East.

With the ink not yet dry on the last book, he has already rough-drafted several chapters on a new one dealing with (so he promises) "explosive information on personalities and situations within the United Nations."

* * *

This he explained, will be sandwiched in during off hours of his newest appointment as executive director of Children to Children, Inc., a world-wide charitable foundation begun some time ago by Mrs. Dixon.

The foundation calls for a computerized hospital built exclusively to serve desperately sick children from all over the world. Ground breaking for the facility, to be located in the Washington, D. C. area, is proposed for 1970.

* * *

Steadfastly refusing to name names, the new administrator did say that pledges for the unique hospital include internationally prominent individuals and even some royalty. When the dream of this vast eight-wing medical complex is at last brick and mortar, it will contain a center chapel featuring a spire of eternal flame representing all faiths.

Noorbergen was unsuccessful at masking a smile when asked if this top position would mean a family move. "Yes, we have bought a home in Fairfax, Va. and I have opened offices in the Capital," he said. Now, not bothering to disguise his disenchantment with our area, he added "unlike that famous general, I shall NOT return."

Moon Glow Lights Up Hills as Residents View History

By SHIRLEY GRAY

History was made last weekend and most of us saw it in the blue glow of our television sets. All set to stay up 'til four a.m., we got a break when the first men ever to step onto the moon's surface did so in prime time.

The Lynn Townsends saw the show on TV, just like the rest of the world, but they had a front row seat at Cape Kennedy. The William R. Shaws of Bloomfield Hills were flying home from a convention in the Bahamas and so could not watch the lunar landing. But their pilot, bless him, gave the passengers a blow-by-blow account.

By the time Sunday evening came around, Mrs. Henry L. Woolfenden of Clarkston had already had her own little spectacular — a surprise party sprung on her the evening before by her husband, a Birmingham attorney.

About 100 friends gathered at the Woolfenden home on the mill pond for swimming, steak dinner catered by Bloomfield Open Hunt, dancing to a five-piece orchestra, and, for dessert, cake and ice cream slices with a likeness of Mrs. Woolfenden, finished off with a brown frosting "picture frame."

A goodly number of the guests were from Bloomfield Hills, where the Woolfendens lived until four years ago, among them the William Gossetts, the West Galloglys, the Luther Leaders, the C. Robert Weirs, the Milton Manleys, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Davies, the Don Cargills, the Philip Moons, the Robert Muzzys, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Van Vurst, Mrs. Lloyd Sherwood, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Staggall.

MORE GUESTS

Others were Mrs. C. F. (Kay) Ekland, Dr. and Mrs. Howard Barker, Mrs. W. Lloyd Kemp, the Robert Watts, the William Hanways, Mr. and Mrs. Knut Erichsen, Mr. and Mrs. George Cary, Mrs. A. D. Kirk, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stevenson, and, from Fenton, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Phillips.

* * *

Former Bloomfield Hills residents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving MacKenzie, drove in from Leland. The two Woolfenden daughters were there too — Joyce Chesbrough of Ann Arbor and her husband Richard and, from Chicago, Mrs. Edward (Carolyn) Cote.

Robert A. Marfuta kisses his bride, the former Diana L. Studaker, after a wedding service performed in a Detroit service station Monday night. Bruce Greene, right, an ordained minister and station attendant, volunteered to perform the marriage after overhearing Marfuta's attempts by phone to reach a justice of the peace to officiate before their marriage license expired at midnight. Mrs. Charlotte Carreker, the minister's sister, serves as witness.

Her Foot in Camelot Kicking Up Some Dust

NEW YORK (AP) — Winter was "the season of budget disputes" between Jacqueline Onassis and her late husband, President John F. Kennedy, during their White House years, her former secretary says.

Mary Berelli Gallagher, in an excerpt from her book "My Life with Jacqueline Kennedy" in the current issue of Ladies Home Journal, says the President was both concerned and annoyed by his wife's spending.

★ ★ ★

After the President's assassination, Mrs. Kennedy tried to economize by cutting back on her staff's salaries but did not ease her demands for services, Mrs. Gallagher writes.

Mrs. Gallagher, who worked for the Kennedys from 1957 to 1964, says the President asked for reports on how much his wife spent in the first two months of 1963 compared to the same period in 1962.

★ ★ ★

The totals "indicated some improvement," she writes. "For example, in January 1962, Jackie's clothing purchases had added up to around $5,000, whereas in January, 1963, they only approached $2,000.

However, Mrs. Gallagher says, "Jackie was pregnant in early '63 and not buying many clothes."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Gallagher says that in the economizing after the assassination Mrs. Kennedy could not understand "that her small staff did not like being called on to provide all the services, accommodations, conveniences and comforts that she had grown so used to receiving from a much larger staff during her years at the White House.

★ ★ ★

"Her staff's attitude, as far as I could see, puzzled her," she writes. Mrs. Kennedy used two Navy stewards assigned to cook for her as "butlers and moving men in addition to their regular duties," she says.

Mrs. Gallagher was not pleased when Mrs. Kennedy, on moving from Washington to New York, informed her secretary by long distance telephone that her services would no longer be required.

Despite their differences, Mrs. Gallagher says, she and Mrs. Kennedy parted friends and she is grateful for having had the opportunity to "put one foot in Camelot."

JACKIE KENNEDY IN 1962

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer,

Just what is the secret of making an invisible hem? No matter how tiny my stitches are, I can see a pulled look from the right side.

Also, by the time I get the hem finished around the entire dress, the hem looks as if it is pulled on the bias and I often have some material left over that just won't fit in.

Janet T.

Dear Janet,

My first suspicion would be that you are pulling your stitches too tight. The most important thing to remember about hems is to keep the thread loose and don't pull the stitches too tight. It's actually less objectionable to see a stitch occasionally than to see that pulled look.

★ ★ ★

About your last question, too many women forget to carefully pin the hem in place before they begin the hand stitching. If the skirt has an A-line, each seam of the hem must match the seam of the dress, easing in the excess between seams.

The more circular your hem becomes, the narrower the hem should be. For a complete circle, applying a bias hem binding for the hem works beautifully. You stretch the bias binding as you apply it to your hem which will actually draw the fabric up slightly and work in beautifully for a smooth, professional finish.

TAILOR TRIX WINNER

Mrs. John Pruette, Ellenboro, N.C., is this week's winner of the Tailor Trix pressing board for her following suggestion:

"When you are making a dress that is cut in one piece but has long darts that extend through the waistline section, these darts must be clipped at the waistline to release the fabric and avoid a pulled look. I have had such disastrous luck when I have clipped fabrics that ravel (and most of them do today), that now I machine stitch a V from the cut edge to the seamline where the seam is to be clipped. Use a very short stitch and clip at the center of the V and it will never ravel past the seamline."

Dear Eunice Farmer,

I have just purchased two Arnel jersey dresses with permanent pleated skirts that fit perfectly but they are too long. I can't cut them off at the waistline because they are cut in one piece with elastic through the waistline. My question is this: The instructions attached to the dress says, "Adjust the hem with your scissors, it won't ravel or run." I really hesitate to cut the hem because if the fabric won't ravel or run, why does the dress have a one-inch hem when you buy it?

Mrs. L. M. C.

Dear Mrs. L. M. C.:

I have to agree with you, it does seem as if someone is double-talking. Most dresses are completed with a small hem because theoretically they will hang a little better because of the extra weight at the hem.

However, if your instructions tell you to cut the fabric you certainly must have confidence and go ahead and shorten the skirts. A good insurance would be to keep the printed instructions along with the date of purchase and the shop where purchased, you won't have any trouble getting a refund if all does not work as advertised.

Wayne U's Theaters Present Varied Play Fare

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum," a revival of the production which Wayne State University toured overseas in 1967, opens Wednesday, at 8 p.m. at the Hilberry Theatre. The musical joins the company's national award-winning production of "A Flea in Her Ear," with which it will alternate Wednesday through Saturday evenings through August.

* * *

"The Sport of My Mad Mother" by Ann Jellicoe opens the following night, at 8:30 p.m. in the Studio Theatre, downstairs at the Hilberry. This award-winning British play joins Pinter's "The Homecoming" for the Studio's "mini-rep" season running through August 22.

"A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum" is the hit Broadway musical based on the farces of Plautus. It was originally produced by Wayne State University with a combination Hilberry-Bonstelle cast.

The production is directed and designed by Russell Smith, who created the tour production, praised by a U.S. Service publication for its "zest" and "ribald enthusiasm." The production, it said, was "the best yet — everyone agreed."

Musical direction is by James Hohmeyer and lighting by Gary M. Witt.

"The Sport of My Mad Mother" is an energetic unconventional play about a London street gang. Its author, an actress, stage manager and director, also wrote the well-known stage and film comedy, "The Knack."

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

Q. I am going on a diet but I love yoghurt and I cannot find, for the life of me, how many calories there are in each container. I have consulted many sources and no one shed light on the subject. Please help me — MUST KNOW.

A. Dear MUST KNOW; no wonder you are confused because the calorie content in yoghurt varies greatly, depending on the flavor. I do not know which kind you crave.

It is a good healthful food, but you should stick to plain yoghurt if you are reducing. One cup of plain yoghurt, made from partially skim milk, has about 125 calories. One cup of plain yoghurt, made with whole milk, has about 150 calories. One cup of raspberry yoghurt has about 250 calories. See what I mean??

Q. I have a problem under my eyes. About three months ago something that looks like whiteheads appeared there. What can I do about it?

A. I think you should see a dermatologist (skin specialist). These can be removed.

Q. I just discovered your column about a week ago and I already like it. I am 15 years old and my measurements are 34-26-34. I would like to lose three inches off my waist. Do you have an exercise for that?

A. I have just discovered YOU and I already like you too. Your measurements are very good for a young woman your age. For perfection you need to lose only two inches from your waist measurement. Be conscious of your posture! If you pull your tummy in and tuck your hips under it just might take care of those two inches.

Had you been reading my column sooner you already know some ecellent waist reducers. This is a good one, and not difficult to do. Lie on your back with your arms overhead resting on the floor.

Bend both knees and grasp your knees with your hands. VERY slowly, straighten your legs toward the ceiling and lower them to the floor (with stiff knees) as you return your arms to the overhead position. Then take time to stretch out, making yourself as long as possible. Repeat, slowly.

Marriage Costs High; Divorce Even More

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Money may not be all important in marriage — but whether you're getting into it or getting out of it, the cost does count. One letter today asks: "Can we afford to get married?" and another wonders and worries: "Can I afford to get a divorce?"

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley:

We are planning to be married, but I'm afraid we cannot live on his income. He brings home $105 a week, has a $55 car payment and a $6 life insurance premium a month.

He is 20 years old, and in about two years will make much more money. In the meantime, we must live. I work, but I don't want to count on my pay check, for what if I should have to quit.

I know money problems can hurt a marriage. Please advise me.

L. C. Pontiac, Mich.

Dear L. C.:

I never did hold with the theory that two can live as cheap as one. But I do think it's pretty risky to tell a young man in love to come back later when he's making more money!

* * *

Lest you rue the day you do that, consider some compromises. On his net monthly income of $455, averaged over 52 weeks, you might try for these budget figures and see how far you think you can get:

Rent, $10; food, $80; car payment, $55; life insurance, $6; car operation and insurance, $50; clothing, $36; utilities, $22.

This would bring you up to about $350, leaving a margin for personal allowances and some recreation. I agree you'd be wise to put aside your own salary for emergencies, doctor and drug bills, savings and to eke out other running expenses. But at your young ages, you might well postpone starting a family till you're in better financial shape.

Young couples these days are proving that logic takes a licking from love, when put to the crucial test. Of course, love needn't make you lose your common sense entirely. But it can make it worthwhile to cut corners and shop for bargain living quarters and skimp right down the line for a couple of years. For the best payoff in the world, that's a pretty small investment in time and effort.

* * *

Dear Miss Feeley:

Will you help me with a budget, since I am contemplating getting a divorce and wonder and worry whether I can make it financially.

My take home is $298 a month, which would be augmented by $30 a month board from my mother and $15 a week from my 19-year-old son. Besides myself, there is a 16-year-old daughter. Other than a house payment of $65 a month for one more year, and $50 a month for car payments for two more years, I have no major bills.

What do you think?

L. S., Toledo, Ohio

Dear L. A.:

Divorce looks too expensive from a practical point of view, frankly. Figuring all expenses on a bar-bones basis — $160 a month for food for four; $13 clothing for you and your young daughter; your-on-the-job expenses and a small allowance for your daughter, $60 — plus all the other necessary running expenses, you'd need about $560 a month — and you'd have only $393.

* * *

Even when the house and car payments go off, you'd be running about $50 or so a month over your income. And no savings, no recreation, no insurance on yourself.

Looks like the answer at this point is more money, or more compatibility.

Drop Them Dry

Spring-type clothespins suspended from the top of the clothes chute can be used to hang damp towels and other items until they are dry, rather than dropping them into the basement while they are still wet.

Flower Talk

THE RAFFLESIA

Would you believe a flower could weigh 15 pounds? Would you believe this same flower would be from three to four feet across? Well, believe it or not there is a flower of this type. It is named the Rafflesia and is found in the East Indies. It is the largest known flower in the world today, and the funny thing about it is the entire plant consists of only one blossom. The cup which is in the center of the plant can hold three gallons of water. The natives shun these flowers because they have a bad odor.

We don't have any flowers this large, but all our flowers do smell good. Check our complete selection of flowers.

An Acoustical Triumph

OU's Meadow Brook Is Tops

By BERNICE ROSENTHAL

Six years ago, when the first concert was heard at Meadow Brook, a new impetus was given for the performing arts. Since that time, the Saratoga Center in upstate New York has been completed, and last summer marked the opening of the Blossom Music Center of Cleveland, which this reviewer visited last weekend.

Blossom Center, a $7,500,000 project, is breathtakingly beautiful. A gigantic shell, which seems to hover protectively over the gentle valley in which it is lightly anchored, it sends out light, music and the beauty of its rustic wood construction.

Its pavilion area seats over 6000, almost three times the size of Meadow Brook, and its broad lawn area extends in all directions.

* * *

The many walks leading down to the pavilion are lined with exhibits of sculpture and natural plantings to delight the eye as well as the ear. There is a feeling of great space and airiness about its uncluttered tranquility.

Here at Meadow Brook with the contours of the hill on two sides, and the elevator at the rear, there is a natural sound chamber where every tone, every nuance is projected perfectly, where orchestral balance is so beautifully blended that there is no echo, and no sound is lost.

It is a triumph of acoustical science that the stage was so shaped and baffled that this sound comes out in all its true beauty.

SOUND DIFFICULTIES

Despite every effort to achieve this same effect at Blossom, the man with the headphones and imposing instrument panel maintains a constant vigil. Banks of amplifiers line the rafters and pick-up instruments hang from the ceiling of the stage.

* * *

While this is intended to project the sound to these seated on the lawn, there is evidence, in the pavilion, of mechanically stressing some instruments as others are soft-pedaled. While each section stands out on occasion, there does not seem to be a blended tone, on the whole.

In addition, an inexplicable sonic boom occurs once in a while, during the performance, like a not-so-jolly green giant slamming a heavy steel door with resulting dull, deep reverberations.

* * *

Last weekend, two of the regular concerts of the Cleveland Orchestra were performed with the impeccable taste that is expected of this mighty organization.

While Blossom Center is imposing, beautiful and the music beyond reproach, this listener is moved to remark fervently, and with increased appreciation for its perfect sound and high standard of performance, "Make mine Meadow Brook"!

Meeting Tonight

There will be a general membership meeting of Parents without Partners, Pontiac chapter, today at 8:30 p.m. in the Oakland County Supervisors' Auditorium.

Adhesive Tapes Useful in Boats

Boat owners are finding that vinyl adhesive tapes save time and effort in making boat repairs and in decorations. The tape has been tested as a waterline decoration on a fiberglass hull for a year in salt water.

* * *

Tape is good to repair tarpaulins, cushions (not recommended for life cushions) and to anchor such objects as ashtrays, charts and accessories. Tapes are also used to form registration number and the boat's name.

Polished silver placed in a plastic bag and tightly tied will not tarnish.

Parliament Okays Franco-Named Heir

MADRID (AP) — A Parliamentary delegation called on Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon today to notify him he had been chosen Spain's future king and heir to Generalissimo Franco's title of Head of State.

The delegation visited Zarzuela Palace to inform the 31-year-old grandson of King Alfonso XIII that the Cortes elected him Heir to the Throne Tuesday night. The post makes him chief of state when Franco retires, becomes incapacitated or dies.

★ ★ ★

As king, however, he will have severely limited power rather than the virtual blank check Franco has enjoyed since he led the revolution that overthrew the Spanish republic in 1939.

The government will be run by a premier whom the king must choose from nominees of the Franco-picked Council of the Realm, and the premier can be removed only on recommendation of the council.

FRANCO NOMINATION

Franco nominated the prince to be his successor during an extraordinary session of the Cortes. The 553-member parliament promptly ratified the nomination with a 491-19 roll-call vote. Nine members abstained and 34 were absent.

The generalissimo in effect quashed speculation that he might resign soon. He told the Cortes that he would keep Juan Carlos by his side "to perfect his knowledge of national problems."

★ ★ ★

The prince was to appear before another extraordinary session of the Cortes tonight to take an oath of "loyalty to His Excellency the Chief of State and fidelity to the National Movement and other fundamental laws of the kingdom." The National Movement is Spain's only legal political organization and the offspring of Franco's Falange party.

Franco's elevation of Juan Carlos appeared to put an end to any chance at the throne for the prince's father, Don Juan, the 56-year-old Count of Barcelona and Alfonso's heir at the time the Republicans drove him from the throne in 1931.

CLAIM ABANDONED

Don Juan, an exile in Portugal, abandoned his claim with a bitter statement Saturday and left Tuesday aboard his yacht for a Mediterranean cruise.

The 76-year-old generalissimo, dressed in the white summer uniform of a captain general of the Spanish army, disposed of Don Juan's claim as well as that of the Carlist pretender, Prince Carlos Hugo of Bourbon-Parma, with these words in his speech to the Cortes: "The kingdom which we have established, with approval of the nation, owes nothing to the past. We are not trying to go back into the past but to incorporate the principles of our historical tradition.

★ ★ ★

"Our case is one of installing and not restoring. Only after the crown has been installed in the person of a prince will the regular order of succession foreseen by the laws begin."

After praising Juan Carlos, who since he was 10 has been educated for the crown under the generalissimo's supervision, Franco made his commitment:

"I esteem that the moment has arrived to propose to the Spanish Cortes the person called in his day to succeed me, with the title of king, Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon . . .

'PROCESS COMPLETE'

"In the last few years, with the Law of Principles of the National Movement and the Organic Law of the state, we have completed our institutional process.

"Passing of any more time, due to my age, will not bring about any additional element of judgment that might make my decision change."

★ ★ ★

Under Spanish law, Franco may still withdraw the designation of his successor even though the Cortes has ratified it. But some took Franco's speech to mean that he does not plan to change his mind.

As Franco spoke, about 100 youths demonstrated in Madrid against the government. Police broke up the demonstration, and the youths left.

SPAIN LOOKS TO MONARCHY—Gen. Francisco Franco's nomination of Prince Juan Carlos de Borbon yesterday as his successor-designate was promptly ratified by the Spanish parliament. Juan Carlos will be king and chief of state when Franco steps down. The move ended chances of the prince's father, Don Juan, heir to the throne of his father, King Alfonso XIII, driven into exile in 1931. From left are Don Juan, Prince Juan Carlos, Alfonso and and Franco.

Detroit Commission Fires Police Critic

DETROIT (AP) — Outspoken Richard Marks was fired as director-secretary of the city's Commission on Community Relations (CCR) Tuesday and was promptly replaced by the man he picked to be his assistant.

The commission, with Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh's strong support, voted 8-1 to dismiss Marks and then named Negro lawyer Curtis Rodgers to take his place, effective today.

Marks, 47, who held his post since 1957 when he was promoted from assistant director, had recommended Rodgers for the position a short while ago. Because of civil service rules, he can remain with the CCR as assistant director, which he said he would do.

Cavanagh said it was Marks' outspokenness rather than his race relations policy that caused the ouster.

GIVES EXAMPLE

The mayor cited Marks' blasting the police department at a news conference last week while the commission was considering a report critical of the police as an example of his practices.

★ ★ ★

Marks and the commission have been extremely critical of the police in the last few months. But Marks reportedly angered Cavanagh not because of what he said but how he said it.

Marks was accused of a strident, attacking tone when he commented on reports on the police department.

'A HABIT'

CCR Chairman John P. Casey, who voted for Marks' ouster, said, "Mr. Marks made a habit recently of speaking for the commission while the commission was still considering policy."

"This issue," he added, "is who's running the commission."

★ ★ ★

He also denied that the fact that his advertising agency is handling the mayoralty campaign of Richard Austin had anything to do with the dismissal.

Marks said he would be silent in his position as assistant director, letting Rodgers speak for the commission.

'A PROFESSIONAL'

Asked about his decision to stay with the CCR, Marks said, "I'm a professional. I was a professional when I accepted this job 12 years ago. I am in it for the duration."

Both he and Rodgers indicated they expect to get along well in their new, though surprising, relationship.

Rodgers has been on Cavanagh's staff for the last 11 months. He had been chief of community services with the CCR from 1966 until he took the job with the mayor.

New College to Turn Lack Into an Asset

DETROIT (UPI) — With no campus and no local tax support, Wayne County Community College will swing into operation this fall with an estimated 6,000 students.

Classes will be held at 18 high schools around the county, 11 of them in Detroit and the rest in suburbs.

★ ★ ★

"We are turning our lack of a permanent campus into a positive advantage," said Murray Jackson, executive director of the college, yesterday. "Our 18 centers will bring our college conveniently close to all residents and help to make it an integral part of the community."

Voters in Wayne County, though electing a board of trustees for the college, have rejected taxes to support it.

$150,000 GRANT

Undaunted, the trustees have already gotten a $150,000 grant from New Detroit Inc. to help fund operation and are seeking more private funds.

The bulk of the new college's budget will come from state aid and student tuition.

★ ★ ★

"Time for discussing a community college has ended," said Jackson. "We must begin to provide the educational services our community needs."

Courses to be offered include English, foreign languages, black studies, psychology, sociology and mathematics. Vocational offerings include business administration, data processing, accounting and secretarial skills.

In fiscal 1966, the government received $34.2 billion income from nontax sources, such as bridge tolls, utility revenue, postal services, etc., on all levels of government.

Thais Plan Gala Reception for Nixon

BANGKOK (AP) — "If there is a perfect place," Richard M. Nixon once wrote, "I would nominate Thailand."

The citizens of Bangkok, who were greatly flattered by this remark, are now preparing to return the compliment with one of the biggest welcomes of President Nixon's round the world trip.

★ ★ ★

Although Nixon has asked that the trappings and ceremony of state visit be kept to a minimum, the Thais are planning a welcome fit for a king.

★ ★ ★

It will mix the Oriental pageantry of one of the world's oldest monarchies with the informal sight-seeing of the ordinary American tourist.

POLICY TALKS

Also in the schedule are long hours of consultations with Thai leaders who, in recent months, have expressed doubts about future American policies in Asia.

★ ★ ★

Nixon is scheduled to arrive in Bangkok from Jakarta, Indonesia, next Monday and go to the Grand Palace, once the home of Thailand's kings. It is now virtually a museum, used only on the most important royal occasions.

★ ★ ★

The evening of his arrival, Nixon and his wife will attend a state dinner at the Grand Palace, given by King Bhumibol.

★ ★ ★

CANAL TOUR

The following day, July 29, the Nixons will make an early morning tour of the Floating Market, one of Bangkok's favorite tourist attractions. As hundreds of thousands of American tourists have done in recent years, they will board a launch for the two-hour tour along the twisting canals that branch off the Chao Phya River.

★ ★ ★

Their launch will weave among hundreds of small boats loaded with all kinds of produce from bananas to betel nuts.

★ ★ ★

Later Nixon will begin talks on regional problems with the prime minister, Field Marshal Thanom Kittikachorn, and his cabinet, while Mrs. Nixon, accompanied by Queen Sirikit, visits the Red Cross hospital school for the blind.

★ ★ ★

A working lunch at government house has been scheduled for the president and the afternoon has been left open for further talks. That evening the Nixons will dine with Thanom and his wife at their home.

OPEN DATE

The following day has no fixed scheduled beyond a dinner given by the President for the Thai leaders. The absence of a program has given rise to speculation in Thai government circles that Nixon will make a flying visit to South Vietnam or to one of the American air bases in Thailand.

On July 31, Nixon will call on King Bhumibol before driving to the board Air Force One for the flight to New Delhi.

★ ★

Nixon has made six visits to Bangkok since 1953. On his first visit, as vice president, he was mobbed by crowds wherever he went. He frequently left his car to shake hands with Thais lining the streets.

He's Still Kicking

LIMA, Peru (AP) — Two young hoodlums jumped 69-year-old Felix Hinojoza and tried to take his wallet.

★ ★ ★

He told police the men fled after he dropped one with two quick karate chops and stunned the other with a karate kick.

Trips to Deep Space? Man Is Set, Fuel Isn't

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The moon now. The planets next.

But where will man, the intrepid adventurer, find the power to carry spaceships to the stars so he may probe the galaxies?

* * *

The energy, a National Aeronautics and Space Administration official says, will come from the mysterious nucleus of the atom.

"We at least know in principle what the source of energy could be, and it requires only an invention to make it available," said Dr. George Mueller, NASA's associate administrator for manned space flight.

IT FUELS THE SUN

"That source of energy, of course, that I'm referring to is the same one that fuels the sun —fusion of hydrogen to make helium."

Mueller referred to nuclear fusion—bringing together at high temperature and pressure the nuclei of two atoms until they fuse and release vast amounts of energy.

Uncontrolled nuclear fusion already has been achieved. It is the source of energy for the awesome hydrogen bomb.

Controlled fusion, in theory at least, would make the same amount of energy available, but in small quantieies as needed. A rocket fueled with just a few ounces of deuterium or tritium, heavy atoms of hydrogen, could travel for years.

USES OF ENERGY

Released as heat, fusion energy could be converted to propel a spacecraft, generate electricity or even manufacture life-giving oxygen through some yet undefined chemical process.

Under development, but not yet flown in space, is a rocket engine using another nuclear reaction, called fission.

* * *

Mueller said present technology, including this engine, will allow exploration of earth's solar system.

"It seems quite clear that the planets of the solar system are well within our ability to explore both manned and unmanned at the present time," he said. "Our technology will permit us the necessary energy to carry out such exploration."

FISSION IS REVERSE

The nuclear-fission engine uses the same reaction that provides energy for the atomic bomb. Fission is the reverse of fusion. The nucleus of an atom of uranium, or its near cousins, is split, giving off energy.

But the fission process has several disadvantages.

* * *

Fission gives off harmful radioactive wastes. Fusion does not. In addition, the fusion process produces greater amounts of energy per unit volume.

Scientists at Los Alamos (N.M.) Scientific Laboratory have spent $30 million in the last 12 years studying how to harness fusion. They are stymied by their inability to contain a fusion reaction at the necessary high temperatures and pressures, although they have produced a tiny fusion reaction for less than a thousandth of a second.

DISTANCE A PROBLEM

But even if science perfects a fusion engine and life-support systems for manned flight to the stars, the enormity of the distances poses virtually insurmountable problems.

The nearest stars are several light years away. A light year is the distance light travels in a year, a trillion miles. If a spacecraft were built that could fly at close to the speed of light, constellations outside the solar system might be in reach.

* * *

But Albert Einstein's theory of relativity says that the speed of light cannot be exceeded, and experiments with atomic particles have confirmed the theory.

Even at light's speed, the outer limits of the universe could take hundreds of years to reach. Space voyagers returned to earth might find their planet completely changed and all knowledge of their mission forgotten.

DECONTAMINATION SUITS—Three NASA technicians model the type of decontamination suits to be worn by the Apollo 11 astronauts after they land in the Pacific Ocean tomorrow. The suits will be given to the astronauts through the spacecraft's hatch, when it is opened for less than 30 seconds. After the astronauts have donned the suits, the hatch will be reopened for five minutes to let them out. The trio will complete the 21-day quarantine, which began Monday, at a germ-free lunar receiving laboratory at the Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston.

Spooning Milk? That's a No-No

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — No, children. Drinking milk from a spoon is a no-no, even if astronaut Michael Collins does it. And that big yellow circle in the sky is the moon—even if mission control thinks it's earth.

And if you pick up a hundred or so pounds of rocks and put them in your closet like Neil Armstrong, mommy will spank. And if you try to float a slice of bread like Edwin Aldrin did, it will fall smack-dab on its ham spread.

* * *

In other words, Tuesday night's exercise in educational television from that big Apollo studio in the sky has to be put in proper context.

Opening shot—a pale moon 61,000 miles back.

* * *

"We see earth in the center of the screen," said Charles Duke on the ground, talking to the spacecraft. "It's very hazy at this time."

UNSPOKEN AHEM

There was silence from the spacecraft, an unspoken ahem.

"Believe that's where we just came from," said Aldrin finally.

Embarrassed silence from the ground.

"It is, huh?" said Duke. "Well, I'm really looking at a bad screen here. Stand by one minute." Then: "Hey, you're right."

* * *

Said Aldrin: "It's not bad enough not finding the right landing spot—you haven't even got the right planet."

And Duke: "I'll never live that one down."

Armstrong showed his treasure chest, lots of rocks from the moon. They were neatly packaged and stowed away in compartments—not a bad lesson for the kids, at that.

WATER TRICK

"As soon as we get onto the (recovery) ship, I'm sure these boxes will immediately be transferred and delivery started to the lunar receiving laboratory," Armstrong said.

Then came the episode of the spoon and water.

"I was gonna show you how you drink water out of a spoon," said Collins. "I'm afraid I've filled the spoon too full and if I'm not careful I'm gonna spill water right over the sides.

"I'll tell you what. I'll just turn this one over and get rid of the water and start all over again, okay?"

Well, whadda you know. The water just stayed. Collins pushed it off with an index finger. Still the water stayed, a big blob. Collins blew at it. It floated off in big droplets and Collins fielded them with his mouth.

BREAD SPINNING

Aldrin spun a piece of bread coated with ham spread while he did another demonstration of weightlessness with the can that the spread came out of. The bread kept spinning and the can stayed up.

That's how it went, until a final, familiar shot of earth.

"Have a picture now, Houston?" Collins asked slyly.

Plans for Parade Recall Lindbergh

NEW YORK (AP) — The ticker-tape parade President Nixon has set up for the Apollo 11 moon men will inevitably be measured against the salute this city gave a flying hero of an earlier age—Charles A. Lindbergh.

New York plans to welcome the astronauts Aug. 13 after they get out of postflight quarantine in Houston, Tex. Afer their New York appearance, they plan to fly to Chicago for a parade in the Loop, then to Los Angeles for dinner with President Nixon.

* * *

Lindbergh's arrival here on June 13, 1927, three weeks after his historic New York-to-Paris flight, is a tough act to follow. The New York Times estimated the crowds at four million, a figure which, if accurate, would have been equivalent to two-thirds of the city's population at that time.

Four hundred excursion boats, jammed with 30,000 onlookers, filled New York's Lower Bay with a din of whistles as Lindbergh touched down aboard the amphibious plane San Francisco.

WELCOME BOAT

Thousands lined the shores in South Brooklyn and Staten Island. Lindbergh was shuttled to the city's welcome boat and an hour later he stepped ashore at the Battery.

The tip of Manhattan was jammed. The brokerage firm of Hemphill & Weeks had turned down an offer of $1,000 for the use of its windows at 42 Broadway as parade vantage points. Other choice floors had rented for an average of $500.

* * *

The procession, headed by 15,000 soldiers and sailors, crawled up lower Broadway. At times the blizzard of falling ticker tape and paper was so thick it cut off the smiling Lindbergh from view and dimmed the bright afternoon sun.

* * *

All along the way the crowds grew thicker. The noise occasionally drowned out the voices of radio announcers trying to describe the scene.

MEDAL OF VALOR

Overhead, a skywriter scrawled "Hail Lindy" across the sky in smoke.

At City Hall, Mayor Jimmy Walker looped the city's Medal of Valor around Lindbergh's neck while 3,000 invited guests looked on and a crowd of 100,000 roared "Lindy!" Walker called him "the man who has won the love and admiration of the world."

* * *

Lindbergh stopped at Madison Square to lay a wreath at a memorial for the city's war dead. At St. Patrick's Cathedral he received the blessing of Cardinal Hayes.

At Central Park Mall, Gov. Alfred E. Smith gave the young pilot the state's Medal of Valor.

"I didn't think it would be like this. It was wonderful for them to welcome me so," Lindbergh, then 25, wrote in the next day's Times.

INDESCRIBABLE

"I had no idea it was going to be so much more overwhelming than all the others. I simply cannot find words to describe my feelings.

* * *

"My mind is ablaze with noise, terrific noise, oceans of upturned friendly faces and an electric sort of something that can hardly be described."

Collins' Wife Calls Moon Nice---to Come Back From

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Mrs. Michael Collins got a special look Tuesday night at her returning husband and his fellow moon explorers.

"Beautiful, beautiful," she said of the brilliant half-moon telecast by the Apollo 11 astronauts, and then added: "To be coming back from."

* * *

Mrs. Collins and her sister, Mrs. Bernard Golden of Boston, watched the big television screen at mission control during the astronauts' first telecast of their return trip.

Also special guests at the control center for the telecast were the sons of Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. —Mike, 13, and Andy, 11.

ANDERS GIVES PARTY

After the telecast, Mrs. Collins joined the other two Apollo 11 wives at a presplash-down party given by astronaut Bill Anders, a backup crew member.

* * *

While they were attending the get-together, astronaut Collins asked mission control from deep in space:

"I was just wondering how everything's going on the home front. All the wives and kids in one piece?"

* * *

Ground communicator Charles Duke replied, "Everything's doing fine. All the gals are having a little party tonight as far as I know."

"Oh, good, glad to hear it," Collins said.

Station in Orbit of Earth in '72 to Carry Telescopes

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — An elaborate bundle of telescopes will be launched in 1972 aboard America's first manned, earth-orbiting space station to uncover secrets of the sun and universe.

The new plan, announced Tuesday by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, changes a schedule that called for the first space workshop to be orbited in 1971 with less complex scientific and medical experiments.

* * *

Under the revised plan, the first two stages of a Saturn 5 rocket—the type booster used to launch Apollo 11 to the moon—will orbit an unfueled third stage outfitted on the ground with an experiment called an Apollo Telescope Mount (ATM).

Packing nine telescopes to peer at the sun and stars from above the veil of earth's atmosphere, the ATM is expected to provide clues to the origin of the universe and enable astronomers to better predict radiation storms on the sun.

UNMANNED LAUNCH

The workshop will be launched unmanned, NASA said. Three astronauts will be orbited by a smaller Saturn 1B rocket the next day to dock with the space station and occupy it for four weeks.

Later crews wil lvisit the laboratory for missions lasting up to 56 days.

* * *

Earlier plans called for astronauts to be launched in 1971 to outfit in orbit the spent second stage of a Saturn 1B. Several months later, the ATM would have been launched unmanned by another Saturn 1B to automatically dock with the space station.

AQUATIC ANTICS—Mark Armstrong, 6, son of Apollo 11 astronaut Neil Armstrong, cuts loose with some clownish maneuvers on the diving board of a neighbor's swimming pool near the Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston, Tex., yesterday.

3 Space Heroes Asked to State

DETROIT (UPI) — America's men on the moon have been invited to visit Detroit in September and take part in the Aviation and Space Week staged by the Michigan Aeronautics and Space Association.

James V. Votta, executive vice president of the Michigan organization, said today the invitation to astronauts Neil Armstrong, Buzz Aldrin and Michael Collins was sent to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration NASA July 7, but there has been no reply.

* * *

Votta said he hoped the astronauts' schedule would permit them to visit the Motor City so the city could stage a giant parade like others have been doing after successful space flights.

Collins has already visited Detroit as a speaker at the association's annual banquet in 1966.

Priest Dies at 73; Taught at Seminary

Rev. Constantine S. Cyran, professor-emeritus of theology and philosophy at Saints Cyril and Methodius Seminary and Saint Mary's College in Orchard Lake, died Monday after a long battle with cancer. He was 73.

Requiem Mass will be 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Shrine Chapel on St. Mary's campus with burial in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield. Mass will be concelebrated by Bishop Walter Schoenherr of Detroit and priest-members of the Orchard Lake faculty.

★ ★ ★

Surviving are five brothers and three sisters.

REV. CONSTANTINE S. CYRAN

At the age of 12, Father Cyran went to Poland to study at Mielec and then at the Gmnasjum Szujski in Tarnow. He began his theology studies at Orchard Lake in 1915 and was ordained into the priesthood in 1919, beginning his teaching career at Orchard Lake in 1922.

SERVED AS DEAN

From 1922-25, Father Cyran served as the seminary dean of discipline. He was dean of studies from 1946-55 and served as spiritual director from 1955-67.

★ ★ ★

Father Cyran held the distinction of being elected the first prefect of the Sodality at Orchard Lake when it was organized in 1917. He was moderator of the 1934 yearbook "Lake Reflections."

★ ★ ★

Despite failing health that forced him to resign his teaching duties in 1967, Father Cyran observed his 50th anniversary as a priest June 14 this year by concelebrating Mass on a portable altar outside his apartment.

Tito Congratulates U. S., 3 Astronauts

BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito warmly congratulated the American people and the Apollo 11 astronauts Tuesday during a meeting with former Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a spokesman for Humphrey said today.

The spokesman said Tito and Humphrey talked for two hours at Brioni, the Yugoslav president's Adriatic island, about the U.S. space program, the Middle East crisis, and other topics of international interest.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey and his party then went to Dubrovnik, a summer resort, where the former vice president will rest until he returns home at the end of the week.

He's Flying High

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — This advertisement appeared in a weekly magazine: "Bachelor farmer with private pilot's license would like to meet girl with own airplane. Photo of airplane with first letter will be appreciated."

The name Maundy Thursday comes from the Latin Mandatum or commandment.

Space Wives Given Roses

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Roses from Canada arrived again Tuesday in the space community.

★ ★ ★

Between launch and the Apollo 11 moon walk, the astronauts' wives each received a dozen long-stemmed red roses from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burke of Guelph, Ont.

Just before Tuesday night's television show from the returning spaceship, mission control announced receipt of a similar gift. The announcement addressed the sender only as "a moonstruck Canadian."

California had 59,000 farms last year, some 5,000 less than the year before, but the average size is 627 acres, up 46 acres from the preceding year.

TV-Less Dinners

BRAKPAN, South Africa (AP) — There is no television in South Africa, but American-style TV dinners are a big success. A food company that introduced the dinners a few weeks ago says they are selling at more than 1,000 a day.

THE GRIM REAPERS
By Ed Reid
(Henry Regnery $6.95)

This lengthy study of the Mafia or Cosa Nostra, billed as "the anatomy of organized crime in America," lacks the intensity and thoroughness to make it truly definitive.

Reid, a veteran crime reporter, has divided the chapters into a city-by-city analysis of the Mafia's power, from California to the Caribbean and New York.

★ ★ ★

It seems the New York area, which for years has been the hub of the country's organized criminal network, could provide more than 23 pages out of 280.

Reid's style ranges from the dry recounting of events seen in police reports to florid, over-embellished tales ascribing a king of demonic chivalry to the bosses, underbosses, consigliore and caporegime.

Walter Winslowski (UPI)

LONG TIME COMING AND A LONG TIME GONE
By Richard Farina
(Random House, $4.95)

Richard Farina's first and only novel, "Been Down So Long It Looks Like Up To Me," had been in print only two days when he was killed in a motorcycle accident near Carmel, Calif.

He is in danger of being made legend because of his youthful death, as well as by the memory of his proficiency as a folk singer who wrote and recorded his own songs, and by the book itself, which is less a polished masterwork than a poignant indication of what the author might have become.

A collection of Farina's short stories, poems and songs now has been published as "Long Time Coming and a Long Time Gone." Notes from a taped interview with his widow, Mimi Baez Farnia (whose sister is Joan Baez), introduce the pieces.

Farina at his worst was almost banal but at his best he was powerfully moving.

Timothy Ferris (UPI)

THE COTTON PICKERS, by B. Traven
(Hill and Wang, $5.00)

There is really no time in this novel for the reader to relax. It is fast moving in plot and meaningful in content. Though there is nothing earth shattering about the book, it is a creative and astute observation of real life situations among migrant workers in Mexico — a group not often discussed.

Traven's main character and the teller of the story is an American who goes to Mexico to work. His bosses take an instant liking to him and offer to pay him more money than the others.

Traven creates real people and puts in real situations. And though his main character sometimes seems too intelligent to fit into the story at all, he tells the tale with frankness and authenticity.

Pickle Slices Go Into Sauce

Whether the weather is windy or warm, any month at all, spaghetti sometimes is the answer to an anguished menu's cry for change.

This spaghetti is even the solution for tired spaghetti recipes — and the simple secret is tucked inside any jar of fresh cucumber pickle slices. Serve it — and use any leftover sauce for sandwiches.

SUPER SPAGHETTI SAUCE

1½ pounds ground beef chuck
1 tablespoon shortening
1½ cups coarsly chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup chopped fresh cucumber pickle slices
1 can (1 pound 12 ounces) tomatoes
1 can (6 ounces) tomato paste
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons oregano
2 teaspoons basil
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown meat in shortening in heavy pan over moderate heat. Add onion and garlic; cook until onion is tender. Stir in flour. Add chopped pickles, tomatoes, tomato paste, salt, oregano, basil, and pepper; mix well.

Cover; simmer 30 minutes. Uncover; simmer until sauce is desired thickness, 20 to 25 minutes. Spoon over drained cooked spaghetti; sprinkle with shredded Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Yield: About 6 servings, allowing 1 cup sauce per serving.

Dice Cukes

Add finely diced cucumber to a tuna salad mixture you are planning to use for stuffed tomatoes. Good flavor combination!

GRILLED TURKEY — For an unusual meal cooked on the outdoor grill, roast a 12 to 14-pound turkey. Scalloped potatoes can be cooked at the same time, also corn on the cob in season. Two and a half hours should take care of all the cooking.

Roast Turkey Makes Meal a Banquet

An outdoor meal turns into a banquet when tender, juicy, flavorful roast turkey is the mealtime attraction. Turkey roasted on a covered grill is easy, takes less time than in the kitchen oven, and the cooking moves into the yard where it is nice to be in the summertime.

A 12 to 14 pound turkey is best for grilling. Prepare the turkey as you would for oven roasting only do not stuff it as this increases the cooking time. Stuffing can be baked in a foil pan on the grill beside the turkey during the last hour of roasting, if you wish.

Brushing the turkey skin with melted fat helps the turkey turn to a glistening golden brown color during the roasting. No further basting is necessary, however. The fat cannot penetrate the skin to give the turkey any added flavor or moisture.

Corn on the cop and scalloped potatoes can be cooked on the grill with the turkey to add to the turkey banquet. For a different twist add barbecue sauce and a little minced onion to a white sauce.

Barbecued Scalloped POTATOES

1 stick (½ cup) butter or margarine
6 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
½ cup minced onion
½ cup barbecue sauce
1 quart (4 cups) milk
10 medium baking potatoes, pared and sliced thin

Melt butter in large saucepan. Blend in flour, salt, minced onion and barbecue sauce. Add milk slowly. Stir and cook over medium heat until thick.

Divide potatoes and place in two 8 by 5 by 2¼ inch foil pans. Pour half of the sauce (2¼ cups) slowly over potatoes in one pan covering top with sauce. Repeat for second pan.

About 1½ to 1¾ hours before the turkey is cooked, place the uncovered pans on grill at the sides of the turkey. Return grill cover over all and continue cooking.

INDOORS

For indoor cooking, place potatoes in two deep 1½ quart casseroles and bake in a moderate (350 F) oven for 1½ to 2 hours.

TO THAW: Follow the directions on the turkey bag.

TO PREPARE GRILL: Open all the dampers on the grill and the cover. Leave these dampers open during cooking. Make a drip pan using a double thickness of heavy duty foil. Put pan on bottom rack. Place 25 to 30 briquettes on each side of drip pan.

Light briquettes and let burn 15 to 20 minutes or until white in color. Place top rack inside of kettle over coals with handles opposite those on grill.

TO PREPARE TURKEY: Free legs and tail from tucked position of thawed bird. Remove neck and giblets from main cavities. Rinse turkey and drain. Fasten wings behind back by twisting the wing tips. Do not stuff.

Stuffing can be baked in a foil poke or disposable foil pan on the grill beside the turkey during the last hour of cooking. Draw skin over neck. Return legs and tail carefully to tucked postion.

Brush skin of turkey with oil or melted fat. Rub outside with salt and pepper. Insert roast meat thermometer into the center of the thickest portion of the thigh next to the body cavity, not touching bone.

TO COOK UNSTUFFED TURKEY: Place thawed unstuffed turkey on top rack. Cover with top of grill. To maintain constant heat, add 4 to 5 briquettes to both sides each additional hour of cooking. Check for donesness after 2½ hours of cooking for a 12 to 14 pound turkey.

TO TEST FOR DONENESS

- Before removing the turkey from the grill, check to be sure the thermometer has not been displaced. The internal temperature of the roasted turkey should be 180 degrees to 185 degrees.
- Protect thumb and forefinger with paper or cloth. Pinch the thickest portion of the thigh. The meat should feel soft.

In greasing cake tins when baking, grease them with lard. Butter causes the cake to burn or stick to the tin.

For Hot Sandwich

Cheese Mixture Put on Meat

Whether meat's been roasted on the rotisserie or in the oven, a few slices from it make a delightful sandwich offering for supper.

* * *

Beef, pork, lamb or veal may be used for this open-face sandwich, topped with a two-cheese mixture that's broiled, declares meat authority Reba Staggs, of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

* * *

To retain flavor and juices, refrigerate leftover meat as soon as possible. Cooked roasts are best when stored closely covered.

SUNDAY SUPPER SANDWICH

4 slices cooked lamb, beef, pork or veal
4 slices bread
Butter or margarine
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
1 tablespoon crumbled blue cheese
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Toast bread on one side. Butter untoasted side. Place meat on buttered side of bread slices.

Cream together cheese, mustard and onion. Place 2 tablespoons mixture on each sandwich and spread to within ½ inch from the edge of the meat. Sprinkle parsley on top.

Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees F.) for 8 to 10 minutes. 4 sandwiches.

Dry Well Food That's Dredged

When dredging food with flour, the food should be dry enough to result in a thin, even, unbroken covering of the product.

Fish fillets, shrimp, meat, or anything with a moist surface, should be wiped dry with paper towels first, then dipped in flour.

It's Top Flavor

Next time you charcoal broil a steak, rub it first with lemon juice, olive oil, garlic powder and chopped parsley. Broil, sprinkle with salt and freshly ground pepper and dab with butter before serving.

SMOOTH WHITE SAUCE IS UNIVERSAL BASE

Everyone has at some time in life known a really superb cook. If you know more than one, you are indeed fortunate; and it just might be that you are one of these people yourself. Cooks perform their magic with a minimum of pots and pans, the simplest of ingredients and plenty of imagination. One kitchen magician I know says she starts off with a white sauce and continues from there. A good basic white sauce can go on to be cream soup or a base for the casserole. It can be gravy or the difference between plain green beans and Green Beans Parisienne. Let's start with the white sauce itself, remembering that the magic is in the choice of ingredients. You use Keyko Margarine as a spread, have Keyko on the table and use it for baking. Make the white sauce with Keyko, too!

Melt ¼ cup Keyko in saucepan over low heat
Blend in ¼ cup flour
Gradually add 2 cups milk

Always use low heat or make the sauce in a double boiler to keep the delicate Keyko flavor. Use a large spoon for blending the flour and keep stirring as you add the milk. When thickened, keep the sauce hot over boiling water. Add salt and pepper as needed, of course. 2 cups cooked, diced potatoes, 1 tbsp. chopped chives and a little more milk makes potato soup. Slice up some sharp cheese in the sauce and pour over cooked macaroni for a casserole. For gravy, simply add the basic sauce to the pan drippings after the roast has been removed. Put a little curry powder in the sauce and serve on left-over lamb curry. Those beans? The white sauce, plus ½ cup chopped onion and a small can of drained mushrooms with cooked green beans. The white sauce must be smooth which means stirring constantly and you must start with the best ingredients, which simply means using Keyko Margarine. You supply the imagination yourself.

BETTER TASTING
better for you

Here's how to get even the fussiest members of your family to eat all those vitamin-packed vegetables. Use Keyko Margarine to add fine flavor, satisfying richness and extra goodness to everything you cook and bake.

Deaf persons who would like to apply for work with the U.S. Post Office as clerks or carriers may attend training sessions Aug. 11-14 from 9 a.m. to noon.

The training will be held at 3401 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, the office of the State Division of Vocational Rehabilitation. A deaf interpreter will conduct the sessions in sign language for the deaf.

The purpose of the training sessions is to acquaint the deaf with the types of questions asked on the Civil Service Examinations.

Those who attend the training may take the atcual examination Aug. 15 in Room 101A of the Federal Building at Huron and Perry.

* * *

Because a hearing examination is needed to qualify, interested deaf persons may contact Daniel Reeves at the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation.

Names of deaf persons who pass the test will be placed on the Civil Service Post Office Register and will be considered for jobs along with nondeaf persons who passed the test.

The pay is $2.95 an hour, and regular Civil Service Insurance and Retirement benefits are included.

Deaf persons who wish to take the test should complete an application form before Aug. 7. The forms are available at local post offices—announcement No. CH-76-10-1967.

New Job For Actor Lee Bowman

To Polish Radio-TV Styles

GOP Hires Actor Bowman

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans preparing early for next year's elections have hired veteran actor Lee Bowman to help polish the radio-television style of GOP representatives and senators.

Bowman, possibly best known as a sophisticated, man-of-the-world type leading man in romantic roles, is working for the Republican Congressional Committee.

* * *

"The job is much like Bob Montgomery's work with President Eisenhower," said Bowman in an interview.

He said his duties go beyond merely tutoring young congressmen. He gives advice on radio-TV-movie appearances to Republicans at all levels.

ADVICE TO POLITICIANS

In a letter aimed mainly at freshmen representatives and those from marginal districts, Congressional Committee Chairman Bob Wilson of California urges the Republicans to draw on Bowman's experience not only as an actor but also as a producer-director-writer.

"Since you will undoubtedly have a tough reelection campaign on your hands next year, I urge you to take advantage of Lee's services—which will include consultation with you on your radio-TV-speech performance, delivery, content and staging—preferably in advance of your actual participation in such activities," Wilson writes.

* * *

Wilson advised the GOP congressmen that Bowman's services are available to them the first two weeks of each month.

In addition he will be available for "special assignments in your district" the last two weeks of each month, Wilson's letter said.

JOB HARD TO DEFINE

Bowman has an office in the committee's offices in a hotel a block from the Capitol.

The committee is a fund-raising group aimed at getting Republicans elected or reelected to the House.

* * *

Bowman said his job is difficult to define.

"I give them a word here, a hint there," he said. "These people know what they're doing before a camera or a crowd in the first place. They're all experienced at it. And they've all got their own personalities—you don't want to change or play with that.

HELPFUL HINTS

"But there are tips, hints that a professional can contribute."

Bowman, who got into acting in 1933 after dropping out of law school at the University of Cincinati, said he works as much with aides to the politicians as he does the office holders themselves.

* * *

He gives advice on writing techniques and other facets of communications and "I generally make myself useful whenever anyone needs me."

When not in Washington, "I move between New York, Los Angeles and New Canaan, Conn."

Bowman recalled his leading ladies have included Jean Arthur and Rita Hayworth, and his latest appearance was on the television series, "Judd for the Defense."

Man Reaches Moon; Paradoxes of Earth Remain

BY RICHARD BLYSTONE
Associated Press Writer

As American astronauts landed on the moon, 3.5 billion terranauts were flying an infinitely more complicated space vehicle, earth, by the seat of their pants.

Fortunately for the terranauts, they do not have to worry about guiding earth's course through space. They have trouble enough already with bugs in the system — ancient ones like war and new ones like threats to the life support apparatus.

★ ★ ★

The age of moon flight has brought earth voyagers a mood of passionate expectation — of overwhelming gloom and boundless hope—with ample ground for both.

While the astronauts carried their message of peace to the moon, earthmen were fighting wars on three continents, in Vietnam, Nigeria and Central America, and lesser engagements in several localities. Russia and China were bickering over their border and their applications of communism.

STUBBORN PARADOXES

Meanwhile, U.S.-Russian arms control talks were in prospect, and in Paris and at the United Nations men were trying to resolve their differences by talking.

As man attained the moon, the state of his home planet offered a host of stubborn paradoxes.

★ ★ ★

The Pacific splash-down point of Apollo 11 is only inches, in cosmic measure, from New Guinea, where some tribesmen still in the Stone Age treasure the colorfully decorated heads of their enemies.

Elsewhere, men have conquered diseases like polio and gone on to probe the inmost secrets of the living cell. They build automated washing machines and electric letter openers.

Manipulating the atom, they discover how to power an artificial human heart with a speck of fuel, and how to blow up everyone many times over.

"How infinite in faculties," Shakespeare wrote of man, and yet "this quintessence of dust."

In Vietnam, the United States as of last week listed 37,019 of its young men dead and reported the killing of 528,085 of the enemy. It is an age that can round off such numbers with no loss or gain in comprehension of the suffering.

★ ★ ★

Capable of extremes of hate and compassion for the most exotic reasons, the same species that maintains implacable enmity as Jew and Arab in the Middle East can mass loving mobs for a man merely because of his singing style.

More than 20 million Americans are more than 20 pounds overweight; they take warehouses full of diet pills and in extreme cases have sections of digestive tract removed. Half the people of the "underdeveloped" world are so badly nourished they cannot function properly.

YOUNG GOADED

The Rand Corp., an American "think tank," commissions hundreds of studies with titles like "Identification from Aperiodic Discrete-Time Data with Applications to the Estimation of Exponential Parameters." Thirty-nine per cent of adult mankind cannot write their names.

It is the young of all races who are goaded most sharply by such disparities and whose expectations are chiefly aroused. Scarcely a country escapes their assaults on authority.

★ ★ ★

At American universities they demand changes in curriculum and enrollment policy. Thousands of them march to protest war, to demand racial justice. They stage sit-ins at the seats of power, clamoring for a share.

In Western Europe, Japan and Latin America, students man barricades and hurl fire bombs at those they deem servants of oppression.

NOT TO BE ENVIED

In Czechoslovakia, they have been exhilarated by a whiff of liberty, and although orthodox communism has choked it off for a time, communism may never be the same. In Africa, the young learn to build nations from assorted tribes, opting for the problems of motor traffic over those of the tsetse fly.

The young are not to be envied the problems they face as leaders of the future. While astronaut and peasant fumble with centuries-old issues, the 20th century is flinging changes at them with ever-increasing speed. By comparison, moon flight is child's play.

Each challenge met brings new problems.

A new rice called IR-8 is part of a "Green Revolution" in Asia. It can triple a peasant's harvest but requires him to modernize, fertilize, find ways to store and market his crop. The windfall drives back starvation, but it also relaxes the will to curb the population explosion.

The forecast is that earth's population will double to 7 billion people by the end of this century. The cities to hold them have not been built; those that exist choke with smog, trash and overcrowding.

BALANCE OF NATURE

This year, American industry alone will emit 130 million tons of pollutants into the air, 8.5 million junk automobiles will accumulate and 1 million more acres of earth will be paved.

Carbon dioxide builds up, and the green plants that turn it to oxygen dwindle. Man has begun to introduce new plants and imported creatures to correct imbalances he has made in nature. But each new adjustment tilts the balance in a direction not foreseen.

★ ★ ★

From space, the earth shows swirling patterns of white cloud against blue sea, unbroken curves that span and bridge continents. They remind men of the vast forces they have not mastered, are only tampering with.

"I think we fear the future's opacity and try not to pierce it with concrete plans," says sociologist David Riseman. "What we fear to face is more than total destruction: it is total meaninglessness."

EASIEST GOAL

So men reach for the moon, perhaps because it is more easily defined than other goals. They do so in the manner appropriate to the age.

Apollo 11 is not like the quests of Icarus and Lindbergh; it is the triumph less of an individual hero than of an anonymous group of technicians. A major secondary achievement of the program, rivaling development of hardware adaptable to commerce, is its refinement of coordinating huge numbers of people — 300,000 — in a multitude of specialized tasks.

For many on earth, no organization can take the place of one striving human. Many feel left out of this venture, although most of mankind has contributed indirectly to its undertaking and millions watched it on television around the world.

Many, leaders of social movements especially, claim it is madness to spend so much energy vaulting three men to a dead satellite while so many kinds of disaster loom on earth. Others recall that previous ages of exploration preceded golden ages, ages of rebirth in society—in painting and music as well as metalsmithing and politics.

"I decline to accept the end of man," said the late William Faulkner. "I believe that man will not only endure: he will prevail. He is immortal not because he alone among creatures has an inexhaustible voice, but because he has a soul, a spirit capable of compassion and sacrifice and endurance."

Tots in School—as Are Mothers

Two small boys—one 2½, the other 3 — argue over whether the fire truck should go into the refrigerator in the toy kitchen.

In another room, several 4-year-olds worked diligently, spreading brilliant fingerprints every which way on large sheets of paper, delighting in getting more paint on themselves than on the paper.

A nursery school? Well, sort of.

Fifty-two youngsters are following the old practice of imitating their mommies and older brothers and sisters—they're going to school this summer.

Although they go to Bethune School every morning with their mothers, when they reach the door, each goes his separate way—mother to her Oakland Community College-credit classes and child to his preschool class.

★ ★ ★

Young as the children are—2½ to 5 years—they are starting their public school education. Their mothers, participats in the Bethune teacher-aide program, are advancing their status in the program by accumulating college credits.

"The program for the youngsters is academically oriented, designed to give the kids a sense of enrichment," said Nathaniel Clay, preschool program coordinator.

★ ★ ★

Most of the children live in the Bethune School attendance area, which is classified as a disadvantaged area.

They are taught to play several games, to get along with one another and to paint and sing songs. They are frequently read to by their teachers or teacher volunteer assistants and sometimes are treated to field trips.

★ ★ ★

Their teachers are three college students who are living for the summer at St. Basil's, a recreation center in Pontiac Township. They spend their afternoons working in the homes and with parents in the black community. Transportation and wages for the college student-teachers are paid by the Oakland County Office of Economic Opportunity.

Three youths from the Neighborhood Youth Corps program are also assisting in the preschool program, which began the last week in June and will continue until Aug. 1.

★ ★ ★

Encouraged by the interest and involvement demonstrated by the tots in the program, Clay said he hopes the Pontiac School District can extend the program, with the same children, into fall—"sort of a Head Start program".

This hope, however, depends on available funds for such a project in the fall, he said.

Mars Engine Being Readied

Could Take Astronaut to Planet by 1977

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — As the crew of Apollo 11 returns from the moon, Westinghouse Electric Corp. is working on a nuclear rocket engine capable of flying man to Mars by 1977.

Dr. Walker H. Esselman, director of Westinghouse's Astronuclear Laboratory in Large, Pa., a Pittsburgh suburb, says the engine will have twice the performance of a chemical engine like the one used in the Apollo flight.

★ ★ ★

"If this engine were used in the moon landing," he remarked, "the astronauts could have taken an extra 25,00 pounds of rock and stayed on the moon for 100 days."

At a news conference Monday, Esselman said, "The engine will be about the size of a desk and have the power of the Hoover Dam."

READY BY 1977

He said the total project, which includes the vehicle and the engine, is being funded by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Atomic Energy Commission at a cost of $1.5 billion. Esselman predicted the engine would be ready to go to Mars by 1977.

But he said landing on Mars is a "question of course, of national goals. There's no problem technologically. It could occur in the 1980s."

★ ★ ★

"However," he added, "after Apollo 11, I think man will spend alot of time learning to use the space between the earth and the moon to solve the problems of man in space—and once he's learned to use the space for his benefits, he'll go to Mars."

To Head Reform Drive

Milliken Vows Education Push

LANSING (AP) — Gov. William Milliken expects to spearhead a hard-fought drive to win approval of educational reform, executive office sources said yesterday.

"You can damn well be sure I'm going to be in the thick of things," a source quoted the normally mild-mannered governor as saying.

★ ★ ★

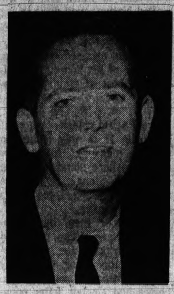

Milliken has been meeting with the Educational Reform Commission to come up with sweeping reforms to improve both the educational process and its financing.

Milliken reportedly expects the commission's report to the Legislature this fall to closely follow his own recommendations.

STUDY POSSIBILITIES

Besides the question of financing public education, sources said, the commission has been studying such things as teacher incentives and the possibility of putting teachers on civil service status.

Milliken reportedly feels that schools today are teaching too many worthless subjects and that vocational programs fail to teach persons the knowledge needed to land and keep a job.

GOV. WILLIAM MILLIKEN

The controversial issue of parochiaid also is expected to be considered by the commission on the basis of the total needs of state education, sources added.

Milliken reportedly feels that any additional revenues neede to finance the reforms would have to conform with his desire to establish a more equitable tax structure.

★ ★ ★

The governor also will attempt to head off any efforts to use educational reform as a means of revising the state's tax structure, sources said.

Milliken is expected to address the state in a television speech later this week to explain some of the problems and issues confronting the commission.

"Half the battle will be to build a climate of understanding, a climate of consent, if we are to achieve educational reform," the governor was quoted as saying.

Long: Today's Tax Loophole Is Yesterday's Reform

WASHINGTON (AP) — Question: how can you tell whether a provision of tax law is a loophole favoring the rich or a reform which eliminates inequities?

Answer: When it was enacted, perhaps as much as 40 years ago, it was a reform. But now, with economic conditions greatly changed and perhaps with a new twist in it found by an adroit tax lawyer, it's a loophole.

That's the view of Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the finance committee, who has had his staff digging into the history of all provisions being considered in the wave of tax reform demands now flooding the Capitol.

Long says "This Congress is gripped with tax reform fever," and he predicts that a broad bill will be passed on the subject before the 91st Congress ends next year.

DIFFERENT PROPOSITIONS

"But," he told a reporter, "it's one thing to be for reform in general, and it's quite another to be for a change in the tax law which socks one of your industries back home.

"How much reform we get will be determined by how senators will vote on these provisions one by one.

"And some senators will find reform in particular isn't as popular as it is in general."

For example, Long said he obviously would not support a reduction in the oil depletion allowance when it hits directly at one of the most important industries in Louisiana.

By the same token, he said, he would not expect Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a leading tax revision advocate, to vote for a provision which hits at the electronics industry which is highly important in Massachusetts.

Long, arguing the case for the oil industry, says many senators do not realize the burden of taxation the industry bears when state and local taxes are considered.

"If Sen. Kennedy would vote for a tax burden on electronics as big as that borne by the oil industry, I would vote for his oil depletion amendment," the Louisianian said.

Long said he expects the big tax reform push in this Congress to come on the bill now being drafted painstakingly in the House Ways and Means Committee.

This will be the case, he said, regardless of the outcome of the dispute over the House-passed surtax extension bill approved in his committee last week.

The Senate Democratic leadership wants tax revision considered as a part of this bill and has threatened to hold it up so this can be accomplished.

Republicans are trying to push the surcharge extension through before Congress takes a summer recess in August.

Long attempted unsuccessfully to arrange a compromise in his committee in which a few major reform amendments would have been added to the surtax bill, with all the rest of the proposed revisions left for the measure now before Ways and Means.

FORCED OUT

The Republicans rejected this idea and forced the surtax bill out of the finance committee without amendments.

* * *

Long says the controversy now will have to be settled between Senate Democratic leaders and the GOP minority.

* * *

But, in any event, he says his panel undoubtedly will have to hold weeks of hearings on reform once the House sends over its bill next month or in September.

This means, he says, the senate cannot pass the bill before December and even that would be a great accomplishment.

And, he adds, the work of tax reform will not end with this legislation.

"Tax reform is not a phenomenon of 1968 and 1969," he asserts. "It is a part of the never-ending process of legislating in the light of changing situations."

* * *

Long's research has turned up some interesting examples of the metamorphosis of tax reform efforts.

For example, he notes, "Capital gains was a major reform when this liberal tax rule was first enacted in 1921."

'BIGGEST LOOPHOLE'

But now capital gains is called by some legislators "the biggest loophole of all." The ways and means committee already has decided tentatively to reduce its scope.

The oil percentage depletion allowance, Long says, "was a tax reform in the nature of simplification of discovery depletion" when it was enacted in 1926.

Now tax reform advocates view a reduction in the allowance as the biggest single symbol of their fight.

To take a more recent example, Long says the 7 per cent investment credit was considered an important reform and a major achievement of the John Kennedy administration. I was enacted in 1962.

* * *

It was recognized the credit gave an important tax break to business but this was justified on the ground that it would make U.S. companies more productive and efficient and more competitive in world markets.

But now, Long emphasizes, it is widely agreed that the credit has been overstimulative and has contributed to inflation. The surtax bill carries a provision to repeal it.

During TV Milestone

ETOE OK With CSK, OVC

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The 20th of July will long be remembered as the day mankind took a giant leap in ETOE (extended television ocular exertion).

WEST

Marathon coverage of the moon landing provided the sternest test for televiewing endurance that has ever been devised. From all accounts, the nation's televiewers came through it gloriously.

* * *

I myself absorbed more than 12 continuous hours of BWT (black and white transmission) without experiencing any major ill effects.

At one point late Sunday afternoon I had a slight touch of Cronkitis, a condition in which one's eyeballs become uncoordinate as a result of peering too long at Walter Cronkite.

MALFUNCTION CORRECTED

However, this malfunction was quickly corrected by turning the CSK (Channel selector knob) of the PTR (portable television receiver) to Chet Huntley.

Otherwise, I suffered no unusual discomfort from the time I entered the LRVM (living room viewing module) at 1:13 p.m. Sunday until I lapsed into slumber in the OVC (overstuffed viewing chair) at about 1:30 a.m. the next day.

* * *

The stamina necessary to watch television for such a lengthy interval is not easily acquired. For me, it was the culmination of 10 years of preparation, training and conditioning.

* * *

I had gradually built up my endurance to the point where I could watch four football games on New Year's Day without faltering. Only then was I ready for the moon-landing telecast.

However, I do not regard my televiewing achievement as a personal triumph. Rather, it was a cooperative effort to which my entire household contributed.

Natalie Wood, Husband Are Headed for Moscow

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Natalie Wood sat on the couch, her hand on her husband's knee.

It was a little distracting to a fellow who had assigned himself to cover her honeymoon. Her big good-looking bridegroom, Richard Gregson, the agent-turned-producer, was being nice about me interfering.

WILSON

"What are you doing on your honeymoon?" I subtly inquired.

"We're going to the Moscow Film Festival," lovely Natalie, and she really is, murmured.

All 98 pounds of Natalie were there in a see-through ruffled lace white blouse and yellow-white-gray flowered transparent pajamas she'd bought in St. Tropez.

* * *

"I was invited when 'West Side Story' opened. But I was terrified to fly. Which I no longer am. The way I got over it, well, I wanted to see Richard, and the only way to do it was to jump on a plane."

"What else did you do on your honeymoon?" I asked delicately.

For reply, Natalie thrust out a finger showing a sapphire and diamond ring.

"Love, love, a new one," she smiled. He smiled back.

"I hate to bring this up on your honeymoon," I said to little Natalie, who buys some of her clothes in children's size 14, while I was at the same time trying to keep from seeing through her see-through "but I hear your new picture is very daring with a lot of nude Natalie and a lot of wife-swapping."

* * *

(The title is "Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice," and Natalie doesn't play either Bob or Ted.

"Yes, I think it is," Natalie nodded. "I claim that just one year every picture should have nudity, no matter what the picture's about. Then everybody would get it out of their systems."

Turning to the bridegroom, I asked, "Did you object to her nudity?"

"The only time we talked about it," he said, "was when they wanted her to be fully nude. We felt is unnecessary. She didn't do it."

* * *

"Do you plan children?" was my next blockbuster.

"Richard already has three. I hope to add to the family," Natalie said.

"By the way, what do you do with your spare time?" I asked Natalie.

"Well," she not exactly blushed, "HE takes up a lot of it."

Moon Book Preparation Is Continuing

By the Associated Press

Even before the astronauts had landed on the moon, the finished portions of The Associated Press book, "Footprints on the Moon," had gone to press.

The press run will continue while the final chapters are being written by John Barbour, the Associated Press space specialist who has had a prominent part also in reporting news of the moon landing.

* * *

His finished manuscript will be delivered by July 28. The book will be in final form after receipt from NASA of color pictures taken by the astronauts. These will be subject to delay because of quarantine but a sufficient number should be available by Aug. 1.

* * *

The first books should be ready in New York by Aug. 18.

* * *

The first printing runs to 100,000 copies. Paper has been ordered for another 100,000. Across the United States, nearly 700 Associated Press newspapers, like The Pontiac Press, will participate in distribution of the book at the special $5 price.

"Footprints on the Moon" measuring 9 by 12 inches, contains 224 pages and about 150 photos in full color.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Why do flickers drum on TV antennae — do they like the noise?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Frankly, we have never run across a flicker drumming on a TV aerial, or heard before of one doing so. But we make no claim to know about everything that's going on — so we'll have to admit the possibility.

But we doubt very much that such a flicker is drumming to satisfy his musical sense. Our guess would be that the bird had figured the antennae as the trunks of some new kind of tree; and since there were no leaves on these queer trees, they must be dead, and so, a flicker might think, there must be nice juicy grubs under the bark.

Flickers are a kind of woodpecker, but they don't spend all their time climbing trees. You might find a flicker probing an ant's nest with his long sharp bill, or busy-bodying around a pasture field for a change in diet—there are always beetles or grasshoppers to be found.

If there are no convenient holes in dead trees to lay eggs in, adaptable Mrs. Flicker may scoop out a hollow in the ground, using her tail as a digger as she turns round and round.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Star May Look Frail, but Has 'True Grit'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

CORONA, Calif. — Kim Darby harks back to the Lillian Gish kind of star: the frail-looking girl with will of iron.

She played that role to a fare-thee-well in the current success, "True Grit." She's the determined mid-teens miss who wheedles, cajoles and browbeats John Wayne and Glen Campbell into tracking down her father's killer.

THOMAS

Kim Darby, who this month became old enough to vote, is just as strong-minded in private life. "True Grit" made her an instant star, and you might expect that she would be grateful to her director, veteran Henry Hathaway. It doesn't turn out that way.

"I hate him," she comments.

ONLY SCORN

"I quote hate him unquote."

There had been reports during the filming that the actress and Hathaway did not get along, and she confirmed them. "He gave me nothing—except scorn and ridicule," she said. "Oh, I've had directors who did things like shooting a gin off in my face to get surprise; that I can understand. But I can't forgive rudeness."

Nor did Kim have glowing comments about her costar, John Wayne.

★ ★ ★

"We had no rapport, either in the scenes or out of them," she said. "He was Rooster, and I was the little girl, Matty, and he didn't have any regard for me."

Kim did get along with Campbell, a good thing because they are again costarred in "Norwood," a modern story being filmed in and around this southern California town.

HOLLYWOOD BORN

She's a hometown girl, born in Hollywood and reared in the San Fernando valley. Her name at birth: Derby Zerby—honest. Naturally it had to go when she started getting roles in television. She borrowed the Kim from a high school classmate and switched her first name to the British pronunciation.

★ ★ ★

"Television was a great school for me," said the slight brunette with the large, deep-brown eyes. "I played a lot of the series, usually as a peculiar, troubled girl, which I'm not. One of the series was especially lucky for me. It was a 'Run for Your Life,' which Ben Gazzara himself directed.

"Paul Nathan (producer Hal Wallis' assistant) happened to see it, and he decided that I was right for 'True Grit.' If it hadn't been for him, I'd still be doing television."

★ ★ ★

Much has happened to Kim in the past year. Four weeks before the start of "True Grit," she gave birth to a baby girl. She has since divorced actor Jim Stacy. She starred in "Generation" with David Janssen and Peter Deuel, her current boyfriend.

★ ★ ★

"Much more will be happening to Kim Darby, and she seems able to deal with any eventuality. Her own ambition: "I'd like to pattern my career after Sandy Dennis's. I think she has done a wonderful job of handling herself."

Research Sub 'All Windows'

Plexiglas 'Bubble' Opens Ocean View

HONOLULU (UPI)—Scientists will soon be able to see more of the ocean while keeping comfortable and dry in "bubble subs."

★ ★ ★

The new type of submarine is "practically all windows," according to William W. Walker, supervisor of the project at the Makapuu Oceanic Foundation, an ocean-oriented research institute here.

★ ★ ★

The two-man submarines, composed of 1¼-inch-thick Plexiglas, will be valuable for scientists exploring or teaching about marine life and for underwater industrial development such as oil-well construction or cable laying.

★ ★ ★

"The bubble sub is very similar to an underwater helicopter," Walker said. "For the first time, in a submarine, you can see in almost every direction."

STINCH BALL

The submarine was dubbed "bubble sub" because it looks like a 55-inch ball on a platform, Walker said. It is also called the "Kamukahi." Hawaiian for "first in a series."

★ ★ ★

Walker said the Plexiglas, which is transparent plastic, is able to maintain a comfortable temperature inside regardless of how cold the water is.

Foreign Newspapers Comment on Nixon, Nerve Gas Incident

LONDON (AP — The first five months of President Nixon's term "were idyllic," a Munich newspaper said, but in the sixth month "one accident after the other occurred."

"All put together," the daily Sueddeutsche Zeitung said, "they paint a picture of lack of leadership, tightrope walking between powerful interest groups and ideology, conflicting interests, and crippling of executive power through maneuvers from the left to the right and back again."

Other comment about America from abroad this week focused on reports that 24 persons were hospitalized on the U.S.-governed island of Okinawa last week in an accident involving nerve gas.

A correspondent for Tokyo's Asahi Shimbun reported from Washington: "A 'nerve gas' accident on Okinawa's has shocked the Nixon administration and at the same time caused an uproar in the United States because it is connected with international morals."

SERIOUS CONCERN

"The accident has touched off a serious concern among the public to chemical and bacteriological weapons," the newspaper said. "Until several months ago many of the American people had no knowledge of CBW. Even now they may not know it exactly. This is because CBW has been covered with secrecy."

In an article about vacation spots, the French newspaper Le Figaro described New York City as "dirty . . . but it's an admirable kind of dirt."

★ ★ ★

"When the wind blows lunch bags, old newspapers, dirty rags, they all fly away like so many birds or pieces of confetti, the multicolored leftovers of a daily holiday. Now don't just shrug your shoulders and groan, saying 'That's a lot of poetic junk.'

"If you don't get rid of some of your Cartesian logic it's not worth going to New York. Forget any hope of understanding and let yourself be carried away by this lovely drunkenness of the souls. New York is nothing but an immense Clubah, organized smelly and dirty.

MUSEUMS CLEANEST

"But if you're really a nut on cleanliness begin your discovery of New York with the museums. They're the best kept in the world and the best supplied with European paintings.

A British newspaper quoted a teacher of West African languages at a London school as suggesting such American expressions as "OK, guy, hip, cat (meaning 'person') and dig (meaning 'understand') may originally have been Africanisms, taken to the New World by West African slaves."

★ ★ ★

Prof. David Dolby continued: "Just as black Americans have been unjustly regarded as passive agents in the course of American history, so they have been regarded as largely passive agents in the shaping of American language."

World Health Organization Takes Aim at Smallpox, Malaria

By Science Service

BOSTON — The last reported case of smallpox in the United States occurred 20 years ago. That happy statistic costs this nation about $20 million a year in prevention. It also has been a long time since malaria was a threat in this country.

* * *

Yet, on a worldwide scale, these two diseases still constitute a major threat to life. And, as long as they remain endemic in Asia, Africa and South America, it is impossible to guarantee that they no longer present a hazard to other nations.

* * *

World Health Organization delegates from 131 member countries, who recently attended the 22nd World Health Assembly here, reaffirmed the priority of attacking these menaces.

* * *

In 1968, the world's reported smallpox cases dropped to 75,000, from 122,000 the preceding year. But today one thousand million persons live in the 27 nations where the disease still thrives.

'PERSISTS IN BRAZIL'

Of those 27, "Brazil is the only focus of smallpox which still persists in the American continent," Health Minister Dr. Leonel Miranda declares.

* * *

The story of malaria is similar. While there has been considerable success in eradicating the disease since WHO launched a concerted effort in 1961 (nearly 80 per cent of the populations of 146 originally malarial countries have been liberated from this threat), more than 350 million individuals run the daily risk of the disease.

WHO plans to earmark 30 per cent of its 1970 budget for measures to eliminate smallpox, malaria and other communicable diseases. A figure of $67.4 million for next year, to be shared by member countries, has been suggested.

Ban Puts Shades on Bedroom View

WORCESTER, England (AP) — People who live across from the bus terminal here complained that passengers on the top decks of buses could see into bedroom windows.

Now no one is allowed up top until the buses leave the terminal.

Mexico City, situated on a former lake bed, for many years was sinking slightly but during the last 20 years a change in the density of the subsoil has caused it to rise.

Art of Totem Pole Carving Is Being Revived—by Japanese

By National Geographic Society

WASHINGTON — The vanishing Indian art of totem pole carving is being revived — but not by Indians.

Japanese workmen are responsible for most miniature totem poles now sold at souvenir counters in British Columbia, birthplace of the centuries-old craft.

Some Indian-created poles can be found, but even these usually were fashioned on lathes, not by the traditional adze and knife.

Northwest Indians once regarded towering, magnificently powerful totem poles as their most cherished possessions.

LITTLE SIGNIFICANCE

Modern, mass-produced souvenir poles, however, hold little significance for today's Indians.

★ ★ ★

A traveler recently asked an Indian if his tribe still carves totems. The reply: "We don't carve them; we manufacture them."

Few full-size totems are carved anywhere, including British Columbia and Alaska, the traditional "totempolar region." Alaska has fewer than 50 genuine totem poles.

★ ★ ★

One of Canada's outstanding collections of poles is displayed in British Columbia's Thunderbird Park in Victoria. Many of the totems, however, are re-creations carved in the last decade or so.

The originals, created between 1850 and 1890, suffered a fate common to most poles: They decayed from exposure to the damp climate.

A totem told a story, and perhaps several. However, the poles were designed to be "recognized," not "read."

Opening lead—♥8

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

We are indebted to Frank Perkins of Boston for today's hand. It is taken from the pages of "Vital Tricks," published by George Coffin in 1937.

South is in a rather risky five-diamond contract but one that all of us would like to be in.

He ruffs the second heart and Analysis of the opening lead and Review of the bidding tells him that West is surely going to show up with the ace of clubs. If East held that card in addition to his good hearts, he would have opened the bidding.

★ ★ ★

A Count of winners and losers shows South that one club, plus six diamonds, plus four spades, represents 11 tricks but that he is likely to have trouble making four spades if spades and diamonds both fail to break. Then he sees an extra chance in How can I make this contract?

He immediately leads a club toward dummy. West ducks but South plays the king and leads a second club to put East in with the queen. East would do well to play a trump at this stage of the proceedings but he leads another heart. South is careful to ruff with the ace of trumps.

★ ★ ★

Then he leads his five of trumps to dummy's eight, ruffs a club with the king of diamonds, enters dummy with a spade, ruffs dummy's last club with the queen of diamonds, leads his nine of diamonds to dummy's 10, pulls West's last trump with the jack while discarding his fourth spade, and makes the last tricks with high spades.

This play, which is known as a dummy reversal, had given him seven trump tricks instead of only six.

What do you do now?

A—Bid six hearts. Your partner has asked you to do this if you can handle a second lead of clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump, your partner has jumped to three no-trump over your two spades. What do you do now?

Milliken Team Now Appears to Be Jelling Into Workable Unit

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The Legislature had been in session three weeks in January when William G. Milliken took over the governor's reins from George Romney. Milliken took a while to establish a solid rapport with the lawmakers. The development is chronicled in this dispatch.)

By BARBARA CRANHAM

LANSING (UPI) — Legislative observers think Gov. William G. Milliken's forceful attitude with lawmakers during the last two weeks of the summer session show his administration is finally jelling into a workable unit.

Criticism of the Republican governor built rapidly in both chambers after the session began in January, shortly before Milliken took over for former chief executive George Romney.

★ ★ ★

Most legislators were used to Romney's pressure tactics, which often resulted in explosive caucuses.

"The problem with Romney was that we had too many meetings," Senate Majority Leader Emil Lockwood said recently. "One time Sen. Frank D. Beadle walked out and then every time we had one, someone would blow up."

TOUGH ADJUSTMENT

Adjusting to the difference in the two personalities apparently was tough, and complaints ranged from Milliken being too distant from members of his own party to his habit of staying clear of legislators' territory.

From the beginning of July, however, until the legislative recess began July 18, appearances began to change.

★ ★ ★

Milliken's prized spending plan for the hard-fought $100-million recreation bond issue was argued for several months before winning final legislative approval July 2.

He wanted to put the lion's share of the funds into needed urban projects, instead of out-state districts largely represented by Republicans.

FLEW HOME

While he was in Kansas at the Midwest Regional Governors Conference the first week of July, House members bucked his recommendations and struck out a $25-million urban allocation. Milliken waited a day, then flew home.

He kept watch on members' actions from the House gallery for several hours July 2, while scribbling notes to his assistants who talked with representatives on the floor.

★ ★ ★

After a key provision was reversed in his favor, the governor returned to his office and called in representatives one at a time to discuss their votes.

Before the evening ended, the bill passed 65-42 with only a slight change from what Milliken wanted.

SHOW OF STRENGTH

While the corridors of the 90-year-old Capitol buzzed with this show of strength — one of the first really noticeable — observers realized Milliken's aides were beginning to be part of the scene in both chambers.

Months ago they were criticized for their youth and inexperience in dealing with lawmakers — especially during the attempt to pass some type of bill aiding nonpublic schools.

July 10, one of the governor's appointees came up for confirmation in the Senate.

A strong faction of Republicans, unfurling a "law and order" banner, balked at accepting Negro attorney Myron Wahls because of his past association with groups termed "un-American and Communist-front."

Fifteen of the 20 GOP members voted against Wahls in defiance of the governor's wishes. They requested that Milliken withdraw the name. He refused.

★ ★ ★

Senate Democrats — including the three-member black caucus — banded together with the remaining Republicans and saved the appointment.

Don Gordon, Milliken's top man, lobbied for an hour trying to pull dissident Republicans back into line.

★ ★ ★

In a late-night session July 7, the new Republican faction tried to dump Lockwood as majority leader by attempting to require him to always express the sentiment of the caucus. He fought back and saved his position.

FUNDAMENTAL

Milliken was notified of the meeting, and came to his office. He talked with Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, who led the opposition to Wahls. "I told him I fundamentally disagreed with his position," the governor said later in a characteristic understatement.

The governor's "new image" became its strongest shortly before the legislative recess. In his behind-the-scenes manner, he opposed bills granting autonomy to the Liquor Control Commission and establishing an independent osteopathic college.

When the medical school bill reached his desk, he didn't veto it, but returned it to both chambers with instructions on how to rewrite it. Lawmakers quickly gave it back to him as he wanted it — that the school be part of a university with a medical college.

IN LIMBO

The LCC autonomy bill is still in limbo, and may well be vetoed.

Although the Legislature could override a veto with a two-thirds vote of each house when it returns Oct. 6, Milliken isn't waiting.

Already, Lockwood is working with Senate Republicans to gain a pledge that Milliken's dismissal of bills will be upheld.

'Sleeper' QB Greg Barton Lions 'Rookie' Again

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Greg Barton, still in the "rookie" class even though this is his second Detroit Lions' training camp, isn't giving the Lions the old cry of "Play me or trade me," . . . yet.

The former Tulsa quarterback entered camp last year as the No. 9 draft choice but in the shadow of No. 1 selection Greg Landry of Masschusettes.

When he came to camp with very little fanfare many asked the question, "Who's he?"

★ ★ ★

The Lions immediately tagged him to be the "sleeper" draft choice.

During rookie camp and the early part of training when Bill Munson was not available because the NFL Players' boycott, and Landry was in All-Star camp, Barton had the practice field to himself and he convinced most onlookers with his long accurate passes.

LONG THROWS

In fact, there is still reason to believe that he can throw longer than any quarterback ever in Lions' history.

★ ★ ★

But, today Barton stands No. 3 in the depth chart behind Munson and Landry and he knows that when the season starts there won't be room for three quarterbacks on the roster.

★ ★ ★

"I've been completing my degree work at Michigan State, and I've enjoyed helping Duffy Daugherty with the team during spring ofotball drills," said Barton, "and I'm not crying about my chances here (with the Lions) they've got to go with two they think are the best.

"But, I don't think I want to sit around for another year. A friend of mine is in line for a head coaching job of a major college and he's already asked me if I was interested in an assistant's job.

MAYBE TONE

"That might be better than being bounced around this league from bench to bench," he said, but with a 'maybe' tone.

Barton has an overwhelming desire to want to play. He said he would have been happy last year working out with the Lions, if he had been permitted to play every week with a teamlike Pontiac in the Midwest Football League.

★ ★ ★

Instead, the Lions told him to play with the Michigan Arrows in the Continental Football League, a team which proved to be out of class with the league, and in the first period of his first game he was injured, with the team taking a 60-6 setback.

DUGOUT MINI-FALLS—Water cascades down the dugout of Washington's Kennedy Stadium where the All-Star game last night was rained out and was postponed until this afternoon. The rain came down in cloudburst proportions.

All-Star Tilt Washed Out

Big Celebration, No Game

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball's finest hour turned out to be one of its dankest and dampest.

A jazz band with a red-haired, long-legged female trumpet player struck up Dixie tunes. Congressmen, ambassadors and other assorted VIPs belted cocktails and gorged themselves on barbecue and hamburger while young waiters and waitresses in the grab of the 1890s passed among them with a seemingly endless supply.

It was baseball's 100th birthday party, and it was a dilly.

President Nixon had given a reception at the White House a few hours earlier and had told his cheering guests he planned to come out to the ball park and stay for the entire game.

EARLY START

"I never leave in the middle of anything," he said, telling of pressure from his advisers to get an early start for his Pacific rendezvous with the returning astronauts.

From the White House, baseball repaired to a huge, circuslike tent near Robert F. Kennedy Stadium for a pre-game whingding.

Then the rains came.

It started out as a shower, then grew into a downpour and finally into a thunder-and-lightning cloudburst that turned happy celebrants into a soaked, disheveled, frustrated lot.

★ ★ ★

Few made it to the ball park where 45,000 were expected. The President, disappointed, had to grab his plane for the Pacific Coast.

The game was reset for this afternoon

Earlier, Lefty Grove, the old Philadelphia Athletics left-hander voted Monday one of the two greatest pitchers of alltime, had told a press conference:

"People keep asking what's wrong with baseball? The answer is 'nothing.'"

SELECT GUESTS

The pre-game party had been arranged for about 2,000 selected guests—Congressmen, government officials, baseball brass, the press, and friends. The crowd grew to a packed 3,000.

Guests were bused to the site from Capitol Hill and downtown hotels. Food and drink were plentiful. Spirits were gay. Waiters wore straw skimmers and had badges which said, Happy Birthday, Baseball.

The water started pouring in buckets. Rivulets ran through the tent. Everybody got wet— and, at one stage, frightened.

"Everyone is asked to leave the tents immediately and go into the armory (the nearby D.C. Armory)," one of the authorities announced. "We are afraid the tent may collapse."

Joe DiMaggio, the former Yankee star, was among those caught in the deluge. His gray hair wet, his tailored-suit sopping wet, he ran, like others, for the armory.

Senators and representatives were also among those seeking shelter. Some of them queued up for DiMaggio's autograph.

Bowie Kuhn, the commissioner, came over and announced the game was off until today.

"It can't be the same," said one disappointed fan, expressing the sentiments of all.

Denny McLain Flies Back to All-Star Game

WAHINGTON (AP) — Denny McLain flew back to the nation's capital to throw the first pitch in today's rescheduled All-Star game.

McLain flew out of Washington in his prop plane shortly after the President's Air Force One lifted off. The unpredictable righthander returned to Detroit to keep an 8 a.m. dentist's appointment to have his teeth capped.

★ ★ ★

McLain said he would return in a jet after the dental work and should arrive with about an hour's clearance to reach the ball park, suit up, take some warmups and step up on the mound.

The weather forecast for today called for showers later in the afternoon. An early rain that would delay the start would force the starting time back as late in the day as necessary.

No plans have been made beyond Wednesday. If the game cannot be played, then Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said the decision over whether to postpone the game to another date or cancel it would be made at that time.

FIRST POSTPONEMENT

The postponement Tuesday night was the first in All-Star history going back to 1933 and covering 39 previous games in which the National League built a 21-17 edge over the American League. One game ended in a tie.

Two previous games were halted by rain. The 1952 game in Philadelphia was shortened to five innings and the 1961 game in Boston was washed out after nine innings of a 1-1 tie.

Firebirds Resume Drills

The Pontiac Firebirds, winners of their exhibition game last Saturday night against the Detroit Cowboys, 27-0, will resume drills tonight at Pontiac Northern's practice field.

The switch was made for this week only because of other activities at Wisner Field.

Dime a Dozen Time Is Past

OWOSSO (UPI) — Years ago, the oldtimers would tell you, guys like Brad Van Pelt were a dime a dozen.

But not today, Pops. The price has gone up.

★ ★ ★

Back in those alleged "good old days," a super-athlete like Van Pelt would have picked baseball, football or basketball and gone panting noisily behind the first scout who camped in his backyard for three days and fed him a good line.

But the same qualities which make the Owosso prep star special also make him typical. There are thousands of youngsters in the United States who are only different because their name isn't Brad Van Pelt.

LETTER OF INTENT

Michigan State has his 6-foot-4, 215-pound body signed to a national letter of intent-football.

"Duffy (head coach Daugherty) was up here for a celebrities day golf tournament and I was his caddy," Van Pelt said.

"He didn't try to pressure me.

"He mentioned he hopes I come to Michigan State to get an education. He said that's the most important thing in everybody's life — I think so too."

Two Inductees to Get Formal Entry in Hall

COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Stan Musail, the Man of the St. Louis Cardinals, and Roy Campanella, the catcher who rattled the fences of Ebbetts Field with the old Brooklyn Dodgers, will be inducted formally into the National Baseball Hall of Fame next Monday.

Joining them on their official entry into the shrine for baseball immortals will be pitchers Waite Hoyt and Stan Coveleski.

DEAD CENTER BACKHAND—Ian Wilson, who plays his tennis winter-long in Florida and during the summer in Michigan, as his job dictates, shows the sturdy backhand which has made him the top over-50 player in the Oakland County Open tournament and one of the challengers for the seniors' title which he lost to his doubles' partner Bob Neff in the finals last year.

'Touring' Net Star Paces Senior Field

Up to this point, and until someone proves differently, Ian Wilson of Miami and Southfield has to be the over-50 star of the Oakland County Open Tennis tournament which will reach the final stages this weekend at the Oakland U. tennis courts.

The tournament continued last evening with make-up matches and it is expected that all quarter-finals will be ready to start Saturday morning.

★ ★ ★

The semifinals of the huge field will be played Sunday morning and the finals with one of the best list of players in the 10 year history is scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Yesterday evening, Wilson advanced to the quarterfinals of men's senior singles by defeating Norm Seeber, 7-5 and 6-2, and a well played match at OU.

AWAITS FOE

He will now await the winner of the Morris Rosenbaum-Dick Noon match with Rosenbaum of Orchard Lake listed as favorite against Noon.

Wilson, who is associated with the race tracks in Michigan and Florida, plays his tennis during the winter in the Miami area and lives in Oakland county during the summer.

Last year, he his partner Bob Neff, former Southfield basketball and tennis coach, won the men's doubles and Neff then defeated Wilson in the men's seniors event. They are seeded 1-2 respectively in the seniors singles and No. 1 in the men's doubles.

Against Seeber last evening, Wilson fell behind 4-3 in the first set and rallied for his 7-5 triumph with a steady baseline game.

OTHER MATCHES

In other matches, No. 1 singles seed, Don Pierce easily ousted John Dorr, 6-0, 6-0, and his next match will be against Rosenbaum in third round play.

Fran Bartlett took the measure of Gary Dovre, 6-3, 6-0 and Ken Cowin eliminated Brian Stoutenberg, 6-1, 6-4 in other men's matches.

The mixed doubles, the new addition to this year's tournament, has some interesting matches coming up with all of the quarterfinals slated for Saturday at 5:00 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Top seeded Reid Rundell and Betty Trost will play a strong duo in McCully and Nethery Saturday morning while the other lower bracket match should be an interesting battle between David Scruggs and Lucy Scruggs against Frank Coppel and Phyllis Yambrach.

★ ★ ★

Harold Craft and Patti Goodrich advanced yesterday and will now meet the Hoffman — McPherson duo in a third round match, with the winner facing Cowin-Cowin Saturday at 5:00 p.m.

Players are reminded that their makeup matches should be played up to the quarterfinals, which are set for Saturday, or they will face default.

Diavolo Named Racing Winner

MACKINAC ISLAND (UPI) — Diavolo, skippered by Pete Stern of the Chicago Yacht Club, was the winner Tuesday in the 45th annual Port Huron to Mackinac Island yacht race.

Diavolo finished sixth but the corrected time put her first, ahead of the Detroit boat Gypsy and Inferno from Chicago.

★ ★ ★

Altogether, 206 boats finished out of 216 that started.

The boat that actually crossed the finish line first was Windigo of Holland, but her corrected time was ninth overall.

The Class B winner was Flying Jenny III, skippered and owned by John Snider, Detroit.

CINDERELLA BOAT

The winner in Class C was Gretch II, Detroit, owned by Bud Griener, Grosse Pointe. It was the Cinderella boat of the fleet, crossing the line 16th, and beating most of the bigger boats in the field. Gretch II placed seventh over-all on corrected time.

In Class D, the winner was Sesame of the Mentor Harbor Yacht Club; Nan Tim, owned by Ross Kogel, Detroit; won in Class E; and Makolo, owned by George Downing, Detroit Yacht Club, won in Class F.

★ ★ ★

The race was slower than average and one of the slowest in recent years because of the calm weather, and the last boat didn't arrive until 2 p.m., Tuesday, nearly three full days from Saturday's start. Final boat in was Mina of Grosse Ile Yacht Club.

Wings Schedule Start of Camp

PORT HURON (UPI) — The National Hockey League's Detroit Red Wings will open their training camp here Sept. 11, the second year in a row they have trained here after 10 consecutive seasons at their home arena of Olympia Stadium in Detroit.

★ ★ ★

General Manager Sid Abel said the training camp at Henry McMorran Sports Arena will run 10 days before the Wings open their preseason schedule.

★ ★ ★

According to Abel, last year's camp was the best in recent years and prompted the club to return to Port Huron, the home of the Port Huron Flags of the International Hockey League.

The Wings plan to play at least two of their preseason contests in Port Huron, Abel said.

Stuart-Green Duo Wins

Pro-Am Kingpins Team for Title

By FLETCHER SPEARS

BAY CITY — The two kingpins on Michigan' golfing scene have proved they merit their newly-won championships.

On a cool, overcast Monday late last month, Glenn Stuart of Battle Creek won the Michigan PGA Section title at Davison Country Club. Six days later and some 250 miles farther north, Peter Green of Franklin added the Michigan Amateur crown to his string of triumphs.

★ ★ ★

It would follow then, that if this twosome were to combine talents in a pro-amateur event, they'd win. That's the way it went.

CAPTURE PRO-AM

They put their shots together here yesterday in the 33rd renewal of the Michigan Pro-Am and captured their second title in four tries in the event.

★ ★ ★

The 35-year-old Stuart and the 28-year-old Green won the crown with a sizzling 19-under-par 197 over the par 72, 6,843-yard Bay City Country Club.

TWO SHOTS BACK

And just two shots behind the champions were first-round leaders Brien Charter and Chuck Blackett of Jackson.

Third place went to Dick Brooks, assistant pro at Orchard Lake Country Club—where Green is a member—and John Uffner of Birmingham at 201.

TIGHT DUEL

After an opening 66 on Monday, Green and Stuart checked in with 63-68 for the 36-hole finale yesterday, beating Charter and Blackett ina head-to-head match.

★ ★ ★

Defending champions Cass Jawro of Farmington and Dennis McInerney of Detroit were well off the pace at 210.

Stuart, who collected $400 for his efforts, and Green started the final 18 holes yesterday two shots ahead of Charter and Blackett.

UP, DOWN

The champions picked up a stroke on the front side, lost one at No. 10 when Charter rolled in a 20-foot birdie putt, but went four shots up when Stuart canned birdie putts of three and four feet at Nos. 11 and 12. The margin proved too much for the Jackson pair to overcome.

★ ★ ★

Green and Stuart won the title in their first attempt back in 1966. And their decision to combine their talents was almost an accident.

"He (Stuart) called Bud Stevens (ex-Michigan Amateur champion) first," said Green, "and Bud told him to call me."

★ ★ ★

"That's right," agreed Stuart. "He (Bud) couldn't play for some reason or other so I called Pete. I had never played with him before."

"I guess we met for the first time on the first tee at the '66 tournament," added Green.

BIG MOVE

The big move by Green and Stuart was the nine-under-par 63 in their morning round yesterday. Stuart collected four birdie putts and Green added five.

★ ★ ★

Another hot twosome in the morning round was that of Tex Ardoyno, former pro at Lincoln Hills in Birmingham, and now head pro at Alpena Country Club, and Jim Boynton.

HOT TIME

The 58-year-old Ardoyno and 44-year-old Boynton turned in a six-under-par on the back side for the low nine hole score of the tournament. They managed the 30 with birdies at 10, 11 and 12, and after a couple of routine pars, birdied 15, 16 and 17.

Brooks, 26, and Uffner, 42, assistant manager of the Detroit office of Republic Steel, picked up 17 birdies for the 54 holes along with only two bogies. Brooks collected $240, while Charter pocketed $325.

Another Orchard Lake Country Club pair—Mike Dennis and Sandy Federico Jr.—were in at 208, while Gene Bone, head pro at Bay Pointe, who won the event with Asher Tilchen in 1957, joined Ralph Allen for a 211.

WINNING CARD—Pete Green of Orchard Lake CC and pro Glen Stuart of Grand Rapids check over their scorecard after their victory in the Michigan Pro-Am held yesterday at Bay City. Green is the state amateur champ and Stuart won the state PGA crown this year.

Atkins Signed 'Burger' Pact

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Two cheeseburgers and eight beers. That's all Doug Atkins claims he got as a bonus for signing his first pro football contract.

"And I was a No. 1 draft choice, too," drawled the 6-foot-8 defensive end of the New Orleans Saints, who is launching his 17th year—a record—in the National Football League.

* * *

Atkins said as far as he's concerned holdout rookie O.J. Simpson, the 1968 Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, "is worth about $30,000 a year."

"It's ridiculous how they're spoiling college kids these days with these huge bonuses and no-cut contracts," snorted Atkins, who turned 39 in May.

Drafted by the Cleveland Browns after college stardom at Tennessee, Atkins says his first year's salary was $6,800 "and I had to hustle to keep from being cut."

Atkins admits that any game the next one, perhaps—could be his last. "I'm taking 'em one at a time. When I get by one, I'll start thinking about the next one. There's no way of knowing what's going to happen."

PROBABLY RETIRE

The terror of NFL quarterbacks for nearly two decades says he'll probably call it quits after this year. Previously he wouldn't talk about retirement.

"I just don't see how I can play next year," Atkins said.

In 1968, before getting a hairline fracture of the tibia late in the season, he had the finest of many fine campaigns.

* * *

He made 13 unassisted tackles in one game, earning accolades as Defensive Player of the Week and was chosen to The Associated Press All-NFL second team.

Atkins checked into camp last weekend at 286 pounds—six above his normal playing weight. He was down to 282 today.

"I feel pretty good. It takes a little longer each year to get in shape and I'm sure I've lost a little," he said. "But I learn a little each year, so it all balances out."

RECORD IN SIGHT

If Atkins makes it through the first regular season game, against Vince Lombardi's Washington Redskins, he will surpass the NFL longevity record of 16 years he holds jointly with Sammy Baugh.

In all of modern pro football, only George Blanda and Lou Groza, who both limited themselves to kicking specialist duties in their vintage years, have played longer.

"It's incredible that Doug's still around," says Saints Coach Tom Fears. "You can't compare him with a quarterback because they don't take a beating like a defensive lineman does."

"If the competition is balanced, regardless of the level of competition it is better than constantly getting drubbed by playing out of class," Barton said.

SPEEDY FLANKER

Before going to Tulsa, Barton was at Long Beach Junior College where he had as teammate Earl McCullouch, later the running mate of O. J. Simpson at Southern Cal, and now the speedy flanker of the Lions.

* * *

At Tulsa, as a junior, he was one of the leading college passers in the country with 133 of 235 attempts for 1,673 yards and 13 touchdowns.

* * *

As a senior he was injured and played only in the last three games in which he competed 56 of 87 passes for 64 per cent with 715 yards and six touchdowns. One of the teams he helped beat was highly rated Houston that year.

* * *

Barton admits, "I've learned a lot, and have a lot to learn, but playing is a big part of learning."

* * *

This is may be Barton's subtle way of giving with the "play me or trade me" bit many pro players often express publicly.

ROOKIE AGAIN—Greg Barton, who impressed the Detroit Lions early in training camp last year before being placed on the taxi squad, is back and anxious to do battle for spot on the regular roster. Barton completed his work for a degree at MSU this spring and he assisted the Spartans in spring football drills.

3 Davis Cup Veterans Lead Clay Court Play

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Cliff Richey, Charles Pasarell and Ecuador's Pancho Guzman, three veterans of Davis Cup competition, head for second-round play today in the 59th National Clay Court Tennis Tournament after having to go three sets to get there.

Richey, 1966 National Clay champion from San Angelo, Tex., and fourth seeded, stopped Richard Russell of Jamaica 6-1, 5-7, 6-3, Tuesday.

* * *

Pasarell, sixth-seeded American from Santurce, P.R., sidelined Australian Roy Keldie 8-6, 6-8, 6-2.

Guzman, No. 6 foreign seed and a finalist here in the 1967 Western, defeated Dave Harmon, Salt Lake City collegian, 8-6, 4-6, 6-3.

Much of Tuesday's schedule was rained out for the second straight day.

WINS ON DEFAULT

Top-seeded Arthur Ashe of Richmond, Va., didn't have to step on the court Tuesday as his first-round opponent, Terry Davidson of Australia, defaulted.

* * *

Defending champion Clark Graebner of New York, No. 2, opened with a 6-3, 6-2 victory over Italy's Victor Crotta.

No. 3 Stan Smith, Pasadena, Calif., member of the U.S. No. 1 doubles team, whipped Sergio Palmieri of Italy 6-4, 6-3.

* * *

Smith's doubles mate, No. 5 Bob Lutz of Los Angeles, beat Pedro Langre of Mexico 6-1, 6-3.

Only three women's singles matches were completed.

Louise Gonnerman, New York, topped Anna Cavadini of Argentina, 6-3, 6-3. San Francisco's Farel Footman defeated Charlotte Atwater, Lancaster, Pa., 6-2, 6-2. Wendy Tomlinson from South Africa dumped Martha Irby, Indianapolis, 6-1, 6-2.

Spell Ends in WDGA

Bonnie Lauer's spell in weekly Women's District Golf Association play was broken yesterday.

Miss Lauer, who was the favorite and upset in the 53rd Closed Championship last week, finished third with an 84.

She had won two previous weekly WDGA events.

The Toledo Mud Hens dropped the nightcap of an International League doubleheader to Columbus 3-1, after the Mud Hens won the opener 1-0 Tuesday.

In other IL action, Richmond and Lousville were tied 2-2 through six innings when rain washed out the game. A second game also was postponed. The Buffalo Bisons knocked off Rochester 6-2.

A two-hit effort by Norm McRae gave Toledo its first-game victory. The only run came in the bottom of the seventh on Mike Derrick's triple, two intentional walks and Tony Torchia's single. Tom Frondorf and Ed Hobaugh checked the Mud Hens on five hits for the Columbus triumph in the nightcap.

O. J. Simpson Waits for Negotiations

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Halfback O. J. Simpson says he wants to see what happens in his negotiations with the Buffalo Bills before he thinks of any other professional football offers.

Henry Hight, one of five owners of the San Antonio Toros of the Texas Football League, says he's offered the Heisman Trophy winner 80 per cent of San Antonio's net gate for the team's eight home games to sign.

Simpson said Tuesday "we're still hopeful we can work something out with the Buffalo Bills." The University of Southern California star said he was "flattered" by the San Antonio bid.

The Detroit Tigers drafted his strong frame and right arm which throws "smoke" from the pitcher's mound to home plate—baseball.

★ ★ ★

"They offered me this bonus," the thoughtful Van Pelt said. "They said they'd pay for my education and from there I go to one of their farm teams. I could go to school the rest of the time out of the baseball season."

★ ★ ★

Detroit wants him badly, says Ed Katalinas, director of player procurement for the Tigers. "We'll go high for him."

★ ★ ★

His uncle wants him, too, and that's part of the problem. His uncle named Sam, that is.

MILITARY OBLIGATION

"They gave me a 2S draft classification," the Class A All-State quarterback says. Van Pelt admits nobody has sat down and explained all the alternatives he has regarding his military obligation — and if he's not healthy, nobody is.

"It boils down to that it has to be my decision. My family hasn't even made up their minds yet. They want it to be my decision to make so I don't have to look back and say to myself, 'Why didn't I do that, instead.'"

★ ★ ★

Basketball, in which he was honorable mention for the All-State selections, is out. "I can go out for baseball if I go to Michigan State, That's already agreed."

It's not an easy decision for a lad of 18. But he does give a kind of clue which way he is leaning in his mind — and if you've already nudged that part of him into the pigeon-hole marked "dumb athlete," take it out.

Three Homers Hit by Thomas

Hank Thomas had the big bat in city slowpitch action last night. Thomas hit three homers to lead Conn's to a 15-6 triumph over Local 596.

Miracle Lounge pulled an upset in defeating Fredman's 9-6 by holding off a Fredman rally in the seventh inning.

★ ★ ★

Jerry Hesse led The Pontiac Press to a 13-6 win over Oxford Mattress with four hits and Dave Sweene scored the winning run on a double by Bob Nellis as Pontiac Piston nipped Bob & Ken's, 8-7.

★ ★ ★

In morning slowpitch activity, Perry routed the Filthy Few, 21-4, Seamon trimmed the Gophers, 9-2; Tucker walloped the Tigers, 30-2; Valwood Realty was beaten by D-K, 11-4 and the Hornets stung LJ's, 10-6.

★ ★ ★

Big hitter of the morning was Ray Donaldson of Tucker's with five hits.

Cranbrook Tops Bloomfield Nine

Cranbrook managed only three hits but scored four runs in the 5th inning to defeat Bloomfield Hills, 6-4 in class D baseball action in the city last night.

★ ★ ★

In another game Mets Club won over Rochester 7-0 while in a game played under protest State Tire won over Darnell Collision, 11-1.

★ ★ ★

Mike McNeil led the Eagles to a 11-1 win over Auburn Heights Boys Club with three hits and three runs.

★ ★ ★

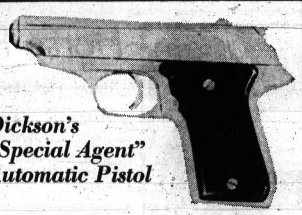

Dan Farnsworth was the hitting star in Widget play with a double single as he pitched the Indians to a 20-18 win over Aladdin.

★ ★ ★

Kevin Giroux knocked in the winning runs as Optimist No. 2 won over the Yankees, 4-3, and Optimist No. 3 rallied for five runs to defeat the Giants, 10-5.

★ ★ ★

The Red Sox scored 13 runs without a hit to win 13-10 over the Tigers.

New Breed Testing 'Monster'

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Golf's new breed, the rising stars who are threatening to displace the established names of the game, may once again steal the spotlight in this week's $125,000 American Golf Classic.

Frank Beard one of the most consistent golfers on the tour and a man who has proven he can play the monster Firestone Country Club course, may be one of the top choices for the $25,000 first prize—but shuns the role.

"I'm still tired," Beard said Tuesday after a practice round on the 7,180 yard layout, "I may not be as bad as I was a week ago, but I'm tired. I've just been playing too much lately."

★ ★ ★

Tired or not, he won the Minnesota Classic two weeks ago and finished fifth just one stroke off the leaders' pace last week in the Philadelphia Classic.

RANKS THIRD

That pushed him past $100,000 in earnings this year and put him in the third spot on the money list. And, so far as the course is concerned, a course most of the pros rank among the most demanding in the United States, he finished in a tie for the top after 72 holes last year before losing in a playoff.

He bowed out on the first extra hole while Jack Nicklaus and Lee Elder engaged in a dramtic five hole play off with Nicklaus finally winning it.

★ ★ ★

Big Jack, who isn't due until today, also will be among the top choices because of the length of the course if no other reason, but has had his troubles of late.

★ ★ ★

He hasn't won in months, has problems with the driver but was the low American in the British Open two weeks ago. He's been off since then.

LATE ARRIVAL

Arnold Palmer, another late arrival, hasn't won in more than a year but certainly will be among the gallery favorites when the 72-hole events gets started Thursday on the par 70 south course at Firestone.

★ ★ ★

Dave Hill, winner of last weeks Philadelphia Classic and the hottest man on the tour, will be among the top candidates for the first prize—if he shows up. Tourney officials were not sure he'd make it Tuesday, though he said Sunday he would play. The controversial Hill is the year's leading money winner and has won three of the last four tournaments he has entered.

Swedish Pair Leads Yachts

SANDHAMN, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish Sundelin brothers, Olympic champions at Acapulco last year, won the fourth race of the 5.5 meter class yachting world championships Tuesday with Robert E. Turner of Atlanta, Ga., second.

Charles Shumway of Providence, R.I., who headed the overall standings after the third race, was disqualified. His yacht Nemesis went down to the fifth place while the Sundelin brothers gained the lead. Turner was 11th in the overall standings.

Ex-Olympic Coach Dies

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James Needles, who coached the first football and basketball teams at the University of San Francisco and the U.S. basketball team in the 1936 Olympic Games, died Tuesday at his home.

LA Kings Set 1969-70 Slate

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Kings of the National Hockey League will open their 1969-70 schedule on Sept. 11 at Montreal.

Los Angeles released its 76-game schedule Tuesday. Under new Coach Hal Laycoe, the Kings will open their home season Oct. 15 against Oakland.

BALL POSITION VARIES FOR PUTTS

PUTTING IS NOT A GAME OF A SINGLE STANCE OR A SINGLE BALL POSITION. THE GREEN, LIKE THE FAIRWAY, OFTEN REQUIRES MOVING THE BALL BACK OR FORWARD IN ORDER TO ACHIEVE COMFORT AND STABILITY.

ON THE UPHILL PUTT THE BALL MUST BE PLAYED FARTHER FORWARD, AS IN THE CASE OF THE UPHILL FAIRWAY SHOT.

THE DOWNHILL PUTT, LIKE THE DOWNHILL FAIRWAY SHOT, CALLS FOR MOVING THE BALL FARTHER BACK TOWARD THE RIGHT FOOT.

Pre-Tourney Gallery Eyes Golf Entrants

MONTREAL (AP) — The pre-tournament gallery birds may be in for a preview today as three of the top golfers in this year's Canadian Open compete in the final practice round.

The $125,000 tournament over 72 holes starts Thursday on Pinegrove Country Club at near-by St. Luc with first-place prize money of $25,000.

The top three finishers in this year's British Open—England's Tony Jacklin, New Zealand's Bob Charles and Robert de Vicenzo of Argentina—agreed to instill some fireworks into today's final practice round by forming a threesome.

All are rated as pre-tournament favorites along with former Canadian Open champion Billy Casper.

One member of the Commonwealth delegation who will be absent is Australia's Bruce Devlin.

Devlin notified tournament officials Tuesday he was being admitted to the hospital in Miami for hemorrhoid surgery and will remain four or five days.

Dal Rees of Wales, a veteran member of Britain's Ryder Cup team over the years, is on hand for the vent.

Many-Named Fish Abounds in State Lakes

'Spec' Fishing Good; Bass, Bluegills Draw Interest of Anglers

Regardless of what name it goes by, there is one fish in most Michigan lakes that is included in a panfishermen's catch.

This is the crappie — calico, strawberry or speckled bass as it is sometimes known. Many perch anglers catch crappies while using minnows for bait over deep water.

★ ★ ★

The crappie isn't shy about grabbing a cricket-baited hook. Many bluegill experts wind up with more crappies than what they are after on certain days.

Some people specialize in fishing for "specs." They know the haunts of the flat-sided fish. Crappies up to 15 inches aren't uncommon, some even grow larger. Anything under 10 is usually thrown back because the large head and tail cut down on the meat content of anything smaller.

SCHOOL FISH

One good way to locate crappies in an unfamiliar lake is to troll a piece of cut bait or small plus along the drop-off about three feet from the bottom. Crappies are school fish and once located the action can be fast.

Small minnows, however, are the best bait.

Some of the better crappie lakes in the Oakland County area are Cass, Kent, Maceday, Deer, Bald Eagle, Union, Oxbow, White, Lakeville and Bush. Most of the deeper lakes contain fishable numbers.

Consistently good black bass fishing has kept interest up this month. Limit catches were made last weekend on Pontiac and Pine and some lunker class largemouths were turning up on Stewart.

★ ★ ★

Minnows are producing fair action on bass in Lake St. Clair's Anchor Bay and some bass and perch are being caught at Muscamoot Bay. Perch fishing is rated very good on Goose Bay with minnows.

Maceday and Cooley lakes continue to be good at night for rainbows with nightcrawlers and corn the favorite bait. Bluegills have been hitting on most waters with Walled, Orion, Pine, Pontiac and Lakeville among the better spots.

Bush has been very good for crappies, perch and pike.

FISH DERBY

The Press Fish Derby Contest still has over a month to run. Several challenges have been made on the bass division leader, a six-pound, five-ouncer. The top pike so far is a nine-pounder.

The contest is open to residents of Oakland County and the fish must be caught in county waters and brought to The Press sports department for weighing.

A $50 savings bond will be awarded for the top bass and pike entries.

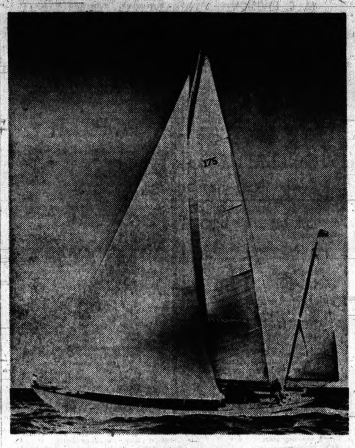

The schedule of Solunar Periods, as printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times, if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

The Major Periods begin at times shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The Minor Pesiods, shown in regular type, are of somewhat shorter duration.

WINDIGO FIRST OVER—The yacht Windigo, owned by Mitena Syndicate of Macatawa Bay near Holland was the first craft to cross the finish line in the Port Huron to Mackinac Island race. Windigo crossed the line at 49:19:31 but with a corrected time of 49:15:34, placing it 9th in the field.

Grouse Outlook Dim for Coming Season

The jury is still deliberating but a gloomy verdict has been rendered on the upcoming grouse season.

Preliminary indications point to an improvement in pheasant gunning next fall. But a final judgement won't be made until the rural brood count now under way is completed.

★ ★ ★

Reports from Department of Natural Resources field offices say there is a moderate decline in grouse numbers. The Gaylord district in the Lower Peninsula and the Baraga area above the Straits may be exceptions.

Andrew H. Amman, the DNR grouse specialist, believes cold, wet weather during the hatching season had a detrimental effect on the survival of ruffed grouse chicks.

However, Amman predicts that woodcock shooting should continue good.

RANKS NO. 1

"Last year was a very good year," he said, "and there is every indication that shooting will be just as good this fall."

Michigan is ranked No. 1 in woodcock hunting with an annual kill of 170,000 to 200,000 timberdoodles.

Sharptail grouse hunting will be curtailed this fall. Major reason is a continued reduction of habitat plus the DNR's attempt to keep areas from being overshot.

★ ★ ★

Ruffed Grouse hunting will open in the U.P. and northern Lower Peninsula Sept. 15 and in Southern Michigan Oct. 20. Final day is Nov. 14. There will be a special December season in Southern Michigan.

Woodcock seasons are the same.

Fire Hazard on Increase

Rains Cut Losses, but Causes Problem

The state's forest fire record has been good so far this year, but there may be danger ahead, says the chief of the Natural Resources Department forest fire division.

"The unusually heavy rainfall throughout the state since early May kept the fire total down," said Milton Bergman.

★ ★ ★

"But at the same time," he added, "it resulted in a lush growth of brush, ferns and grasses. A dry spell would turn this new growth into tinder, and then we would be in trouble."

So far this year only 6,581 acres have been burned by fires. This compares with 15,978 acres at the same time last year.

★ ★ ★

Bergman asked vacationers and visitors to the state forests to be fire safety conscious.

"Experience tells us that hot, dry weather is on the way," he said. "The law of averages will push the fire hazard index to dangerous heights during the remainder of the summer and early fall."

Orchard Lake Polo Team Wins Twice

The highpowered Orchard Lake polo team playing their first indoor game because of a heavy downpour, whipped Columbus, Ohio, Saturday, 18-2 with John Mager, Pat Mulligan, Al Tietel and Leo Couzens scoring the winners' goals.

★ ★ ★

On Sunday, Orchard Lake made a "lend lease" deal with Columbus, allowing Mager to play for the visitors and Orchard Lake won by a respectable score of 6-3.

★ ★ ★

This weekend the Orchard Lake team will play in the Michigan Championship matches in Grand Rapids.

Great Lakes Exotic Fish Plan Backed

VALPARAISO, Ind. (AP) — Despite concern over pesticide residues in Great Lakes fish, the Great Lakes Commission today was urged to expand its exotic fish stocking program.

Nearly 12 million hatchery-reared fish — principally coho salmon and lake trout — were released into the five Great Lakes last year in an effort to bolster the declining fishlife.

While many anglers rejoiced, the program was criticized by some after 34,000 pounds of commercially canned Coho salmon were seized by the Food and Drug Administration because the level of DDT in the fish exceeded five parts per million.

However, very few anglers objected to the program because of the high pesticide levels, reported the Michigan Department of Natural Resources, in remarks prepared for delivery to the commission.

The commission holds a one-day meeting today.

There is something intrinsically different between eating a sports-caught fish and one bought at the local market. Perhaps a typical reaction of the sportsman is that he hopes everyone else will be scared off so he can have the fishing all to himself," said A. Gene Gazlay, assistant director of the Michigan Department of Natural Resources.

"We can expect the commercial fish market for all fish, regardless of species, to suffer a temporary depression, particularly in the midwest," Gazlay said.

"This is common when housewives react to reports of tainted food. This market depression and the resulting reduction of fish prices may require two years for a full recovery," he added.

Good Berry Crop Seen in County

Wild blackberries will be ready for picking in about a week, according to Department of Natural Resources park personnel.

Blueberries and huckleberries already are ripening in Southern Michigan bogs.

Don Klinger, supervisor of the Pontiac Lake recreation area reports a good crop of blackberries this year. The same holds true for other state lands.

★ ★ ★

There are several huckleberry bogs in western and northern Oakland County. However, most are well-known and pickers have to keep a sharp eye on the berries to be there when they ripen or they'll be too late.

Building Team Trims Opponent

Michigan Building (12-2) stayed atop the Walled Lake A division in softball play last night by trimming Pyle Industry, 13-9.

★ ★ ★

The winners had a 8-0 lead in the first inning. Dale Schaffer and Don Freeman had four hits each for the winners.

New Search Rig Prepared

State 'Gangs Up' on Salmon

LANSING (AP) — Lake Huron salmon fisherman who have been returning to port empty handed should cheer up — the Department of Natural Resources has developed a multiple trolling rig to locate elusive schools of Coho salmon.

The new rig, expected to go into operation later this month, was developed by commercial salmon fishermen on the west coast.

★ ★ ★

As explained by Myrl Keller of the Department of Natural Resources, the rig will consist of six trolling lines attached to two outriggers. Each of the lines can carry up to 20 lures.

The lines will be trolled at varying depths until a fish strikes. Then the lines will be hauled in and the lures and leaders snapped off until the spoon with the hooked fish is reached.

STEEL LINES

One advantage of this method is that the lines can be quickly rerigged and returned to water. The stainless steel lines are 1-16 inch thick. Huge lead weights measuring 11, 21 or 30 pounds will be attached to the ends of the lines to reach various depths.

"We expect this method to be much more effective than the gill nets we are now using," said Keller. "We can't set gill nets deeper than 80 feet, for example, but we can troll down to 200 feet with our long lines."

★ ★ ★

Another advantage is that hooked fish can frequently be released unharmed. Salmon and other species of fish trapped in gill nets often die.

The multiple trolling rig will also enable the department to survey greater areas of the lake, Keller added, explaining that it wil ltake the new rig an hour to cover the same amount of territory that previously required a day with gill nets.

Keller said stabilizers would be attached to a 42-foot patrol boat to cut down on the roll when the multiple trolling rig is put into operation.

HYDRAULIC REELS

The rig is expected to be constructed as soon as a hydraulic reeling system used to haul in the lines is received.

Fishermen on Lake Huron have been reporting poor catches of salmon since a brief flurry of activity earlier this summer.

Meanwhile, the Steelhead, the Department of Natural Resources major survey vessel, will continue to ply Lake Michigan. It uses gill nets and sonar to locate schools of Coho and lake trout.

★ ★ ★

Keller added that the multiple trolling rig also will use different types of lures to determine which ones are favored by the schools of hungry Coho.

Michigan Paddlers Plan to Fly Home

GALVESTON, Tex. (UPI) — Two determined youths from Niles, Mich., who paddled a kayak more than 1,800 miles from Michigan to Texas, will take the easy way home — they'll fly.

★ ★ ★

Kent Berner and Marty Camp, both 18 and recent graduates of Niles High School, arrived here late Monday after a six-week trip via inland waterways, including the mighty Mississippi. A friend, Todd Olson, left the party at Memphis because of a job.

★ ★ ★

The pair planned to remain here until the end of the week when they will load their kayak on a plane and fly home to Michigan.

'Skins Acquire Running Back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Redskins announced Tuesday night they had acquired second year running back Vilnis Ezerins from the Los Angeles Rams for an undisclosed draft choice.

★ ★ ★

Ezerins, 6-foot-2, and 217-pounder, played for Whitewater State College in Wisconsin and was the Rams' eighth draft choice in 1966. He was on the Los Angeles club's cab squad for two seasons before making the active roster last year.

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

Can you imagine a baseball player batting .406 for a season and leading his league in runs scored and home runs, and still NOT winning the Most Valuable Player Award! . . . That oddity happened once to Ted Williams . . . Ted batted .406 in 1941, led the American League in runs scored and homers — but Joe DiMaggio won the Most Valuable Player Award — even though DiMaggio's batting average was 49 points lower than Williams!

Do you know why golf balls have those indentations or dimples on them? . . . They help the golf ball hold truer in its line of flight . . . Tests show that golf balls — with the indentations — fly far more accurately than if they had a smooth surface.

Did you know that one man was responsible for originally getting umpires to use hand signals to signify strikes, safe and out? . . . Bill "Dummy" Hoy, an outstanding outfielder who played for St. Louis, Cincinnati, Washington and Chicago from 1888 to 1902, was a deaf mute . . . Since he couldn't hear the umpires call, they began hand gestures to tell him what the count was, and whether he was safe or out . . . It thus started a custom which is used to this day.

In Memoriam 2

IN LOVING MEMORY of my wife, Evelyn N. Macko, who passed away July 23, 1965.
No one knows the silent heartache
Only those who have lost can tell;
The grief we bear in silence
Of the One I loved so well.
Though I cannot see Her smiling
I have only cherished memories left
That even death cannot erase
—Sadly missed by her Husband, Paul

IN LOVING MEMORY of Hiram S. Scribner, who passed away July 29, 1968.
You're not forgotten Father, dear,
Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last,
We shall remember thee.
Sadly missed by children and grandchildren.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Mrs. Florence E. Dykes, who passed away July 22, 1968.
It's one year since you went Away dear mother,
To us it's been but a day.
A wonderful mother, a faithful friend,
You suffered long, your strength to end.
Before you went to that great beyond,
We hope to meet you on those streets some day ...
Where pain and suffering is wiped away.
Dear Mom, we are sad we miss you Mom,
Sadly missed by your daughters and sons.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Ida Scribner, who passed away July 23, 1968.
Peaceful be thy rest dear Mother,
It is sweet to breathe thy name;
In life we loved you dearly,
In death we do the same.
Sadly missed by children and grandchildren.

FACTORY CARS

90 per cent of our cars have never been titled to a private indiv. These 1969 and 1968 models are like brand new. The bugs are ironed out, and the big new car price has been taken off, so the savings are all yours.

You must come, see, and drive these factory cars, and you will experience the ultimate in luxury driving of these factory cars. Our cars have as low as 1000 miles, and carry a full factory warranty. Come and see why, our business is just booming.

Also, we have many second car trades, that have been traded on our factory cars that you may choose, for second cars for your teen-agers.

Aretha Franklin Faces Disorderly Conduct Charge

HIGHLAND PARK (UPI) — Soul singer Aretha Franklin faces arraignment on disorderly conduct charges today after police said she cursed an officer and refused to cooperate in the investigation of a traffic accident.

Miss Franklin, 26, was freed on $100 bond yesterday and faced arraignment at 9 a.m. today in Highland Park Municipal Court.

* * *

According to the police report, Miss Franklin's car struck a parked vehicle in this Detroit suburb yesterday afternoon. Investigating officers said she was belligerent when they arrived and refused to cooperate.

Miss Franklin pleaded guilty in May to careless driving and was fined $75 in Detroit Traffic Court. The disorderly conduct charge is a misdemeanor with a maximum penalty of 90 days in jail and a $100 fine.

A Look at TV

Hot Star Started Slow

By JERRY BUCK
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — A few years ago in Pontypridd, Wales, a young singer named Tom Jones was rather leisurely about pushing for the big time. "I waited four or five years to make a move. You know, when you're young you think you've got plenty of time."

* * *

Tom Jones is moving now. He's the hottest new star of the year. His television show on ABC is tied for No. 16 in the latest ratings, and in personal appearances in this country he's breaking records. His income this year will exceed $2.4 million.

"It's happening here for me like it happened a few years ago in England," Jones said. "Only it's better because it's a bigger country."

MOBBED BY WOMEN

At the Copacabana, women who looked like they might have swooned over Frank Sinatra in his youth climbed on tables and threatened to crush him. The same thing happened at the Flamingo in Las Vegas, and this week he's at Framingham, Mass.

He will tape at least six shows for the new season in Hollywood beginning Aug. 26, then return to England.

* * *

"I always had it in the back of my mind that I would make it as a singer," Jones recalled. "I never bought a house. I never got seriously interested in a job.

"My mother would say, put yourself down for a council home. I always lived with my wife's mother. I knew that I had talent. It was the most natural thing to do.

HAD TO GET OUT

"I lived in South Wales for most of my life. It's so far away from any recording studios that you have to get out to do anything. I was 23 before I went to London. I was waiting for someone to discover me," he said.

In fact, he was discovered belting out songs in a workingman's club by Gordon Mills, who is still managing his career. Mills booked him into more clubs, and in 1965 he wrote a song called "It's Not Unusual." Jones recorded it and the rest, as they say, is show business history.

* * *

Tom Jones is hard to pin down as a singer. He has a booming voice, but there's a hoarseness to it that adds some appealing quality. He sings rhythm and blues and rock and ballads. His style is influenced by Muddy Waters, Big Bill Brumsy, Jerry Lee Lewis and, of course, Elvis Presley.

He gyrates about as Presley does, more so on the stage than on television. "On the first Ed Sullivan show I did they told me to cool it. Not so many bumps and grinds," he said.

* * *

Three years ago in Australia, the police accused him of obscenity and took motion pictures of his act. "They couldn't find anything bad," Jones said.

"I get carried away when I sing," Jones said. "The words come out automatically. You get carried away with the audience. You go along with them."

Green Bay's Mystery Ship Near Raising

EGG HARBOR, Wis. (AP) — Divers worked all night and into the day today in their concluding effort to raise Green Bay's mystery ship to the surface of the waters that claimed her during the Civil War.

"Once we start to raise her, we've got to keep going until we get her into a harbor," said Frank Hoffman, 41, who leads a crew that has been working two years to get the 110-foot, two-masted schooner ready for the return to the surface.

* * *

"When we get her off the bottom, she'll be at the mercy of any bad weather," he said.

Hoffman found the ship in 1967 when he dived to free a fisherman's nets that had become snared.

Then, 110 feet down, where the water is colder than tap beer, he and a group of friends brought up artifacts, pumped tons of silt out of the holds and strung under her hull the six big cables that will be used to pull the schooner out of her muddy bed.

CABLE BASKET

Tuesday, a 130-foot barge was towed into position and anchored over the wreck. The six cables were hooked to heavy-duty winches on the barge.

According to carefully laid plans, the ship will be raised, with the cables forming a huge basket, and it will be carried into shallow water.

* * *

There she will be eased down into mud and the cables rerigged. Then the ship will be brought to the surface.

The freighter, whose two masts were brought up last week, has not yet been identified. Hoffman believes it was built about 1830.

TO BE RESTORED

Her hull, which Hoffman said is solid, will be pumped out and she will be towed into harbor at Menominee, Mich., to be restored. He said he is convinced the hull will float once it has been cleaned out.

"Maybe, just maybe," Hoffman said, "we'll be able to sail her again."

Appeal Made to Housewives

NEW YORK (UPI) — Republican State Sen. Lorraine Beebe of Michigan Consumer Rights' Committee, today urged American housewives to fight the boycott of California table grapes called by the United Farm Workers.

Mrs. Beebe charged the UFW organizing committee and its leader, Cesar Chavez, with distorting the facts in the dispute and resorting to violence to achieve their goals.

* * *

"Chavez and his followers threatened housewives in some areas when they have gone to supermarkets to buy food and were told not to buy California table grapes," the state senator charged. "Grocery stores have been bombed and their employes have been injured seriously," she claimed.

* * *

Mrs. Beebe urged women shoppers throughout the nation to "band together and fight the horrible and illegal boycott of table grapes."

Ford Will Erect Building in NY

DETROIT (AP)— Ford Motor Co. Tuesday announced plans for a 20-story building in New York, with 500,000 square feet of rental office space, which would house Ford and Lincoln-Mercury dealerships on the first six floors.

Construction is scheduled to start later this year with completion in June 1971. The building site is on Manhattan's midtown West Side.

Against Boost in Printed Ads

FTC Warns Cigarette Industry

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission has indicated it may try to retaliate if there is a massive increase in printed cigarette advertising when the tobacco industry blacks out radio and television commercials next year.

FTC Chairman Paul Rand Dixon said Tuesday Congress and his regulatory agency should see to it there are safeguards against a new flood of advertising in newspapers, magazines and other ad media.

Dixon said his agency would put off until July 1971 any action on its planned effort to require that health-hazard warnings accompany printed cigarette advertising.

But after the two-year moratorium, he told a Senate Commerce subcommittee, the FTC will review the situation with particular attention to the industry's advertising moves—implying a major escalation in printed advertising would trigger renewed FTC efforts to impose the health-hazard warning.

BROADCAST BAN

Joseph F. Cullman III, spokesman for the nine biggest U.S. cigarette makers, announced Tuesday the industry would drop its broadcast advertising by September 1970, when major contracts expire.

He said tobacco firms would do so any time after Dec. 31, if broadcasters release them from those contracts.

Cullman asked Congress for an antitrust law exemption so the companies can act collectively.

Dixon said he wouldn't object, but expressed doubt that any exemption is necessary.

One major complaint came from a spokesman for broadcasters, who said the cutoff of cigarette advertising would mean "economic disruptions and chaotic conditions" for radio and television.

EVEN SKYWRITING

Vincent T. Wasilewski, president of the National Association of Broadcasters, said the cigarette companies want to keep advertising in every other medium, "be it newspapers, magazines or skywriting."

"This is no great sacrifice on their part," he said.

Cullman said he does not know how the industry will apportion its advertising budget in the post-television era.

But he came to the committee with a request that it prevent the imposition of health-warning requirements in printed cigarette advertising. Cullman said that would make advertisements self-defeating.

There are vast sums involved. Cullman said the cigarette industry spent $217 million on television advertising, $21 million on radio commercials last year.

That came to 77 per cent of the total cigarette advertising outlay.

Cullman said $44 million was spent on newspaper advertising.

Dixon told the subcommittee cigarette manufacturers spent $72.2 million on advertising outside the broadcast field in 1968. He said the outlay should remain in that area.

Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, the subcommittee chairman, said magazine and newspaper publishers should agree to maintain current ratios of cigarette and noncigarette advertising.

Moss said he would ask the publishers "what self-restraints they are now prepared to impose," and summon them to testify.

Fast Action Curbs Cholera Threat to State's Swine Industry

JONES (AP) — One day in June a shipment of 614 hogs made its way from Missouri to the rural Jones farm of James Rentfrow.

Nearly a month later Rentfrow discovered that some of the hogs were sick. Dr. Fred Aronson, a Three Rivers veterinarian, recognized the symptoms: high fever, weakness, going off feed, staggering.

Aronson immediately notified the State Agriculture Department, which sent its own veterinarians to the southwest Michigan community.

They confirmed suspicions. The animals were victims of the dreaded hog cholera, a No. 1 killer of swine throughout the United States.

ANIMALS DESTROYED

Last week the Missouri hogs and more than 1,100 others — all Rentfrow's herd — were destroyed with overdoeses of an anesthetic.

Five veterinarians spent six hours each giving shots to the swine in an all-out effort to stop spread of the highly contagious disease before it jeopardized Michigan's $42-million swine industry and the state's hard-won hog cholera-free status.

State authorities credit Rentfrow's quick action with curbing what could have been a severe outbreak of the disease in Michigan.

With the bodies of the diseased hogs now buried, decontamination chemicals sprayed throughout Rentfrow's property and all hogs within a 1½-mile area under quarantine, the department is cautiously optimistic.

CERTIFIED DISEASE-FREE

The hogs had been moved into Michigan, certified disease-free by the Missouri authorities. "Apparently the disease incubated after the animals were shipped," says a Michigan department spokesman.

"They were brought in under an interstate health certificate," emphasizes Dr. George Whitehead, deputy department director. "They had been approved."

If Michigan loses its cholera-free status — which allows freer interstate movement of swine — or not is up to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, Whitehead explains.

"But under the circumstances, since the disease did not originate in Michigan and we haven't had any further outbreaks, there's a good chance we won't lose the accreditation," he adds.

ADDED PRECAUTIONS

In an effort to insure no further spread of the disease, which has broken out in both Missouri and Indiana, the department also is:

★ ★ ★

• Checking hogs brought into Michigan under interstate health certificates since May 1.

• Contacting all persons who may have walked about the Rentfrow farm and possibly picked up the cholera germs on clothes or shoes to spread.

• Halted feeder pig sales in that area of the state.

Rentfrow, meanwhile, is to be paid some $61,000 in state funds for the loss of his hogs. "That's the appraised value of the animals," Whitehead says. "If he had kept them and fattened them up, it (the money) would have been a big difference.

"He probably won't lose too much at this point — but he won't have any crop of hogs to sell."

ANOTHER CHANCE

Rentfrow will have the chance to begin a new crop within 60 days, when some test swine are put on his farm.

"We'll watch them for about a month," the department says. "If they don't develop the disease, he probably can start up again."

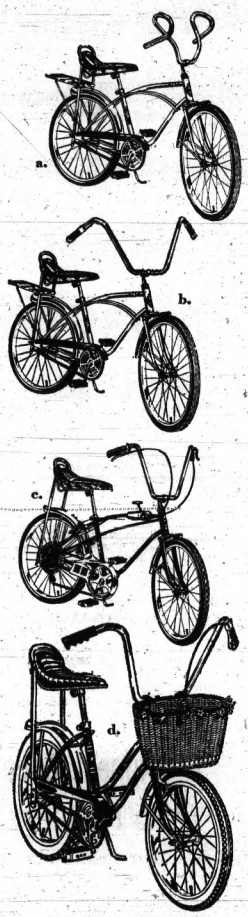

★ ★ ★

Hog cholera first was recognized in the United States in 1833 in southern Ohio. By 1880, the annual loss from hog cholera was estimated at $10-25 million.

Only seven years ago, hog cholera cost U.S. swine producers over $50 million, the USDA reports.

Milk Output Up

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's milk production in June was 414 million pounds, 10 million pounds more than for the same month a year ago, the Michigan Crop Reporting Service reported.

Summer Breakfasts Can Consist of Interesting Foods

By JANET ODELL
Food Editor, The Pontiac Press

If they could start the day later, more people would eat breakfast. Or would they?

Breakfast is probably the only meal on which so many persons disagree—especially mothers and children. There are unlimited excuses given by noneaters of breakfast.

We're in a minority, we know, but we approve of breakfast; we eat breakfast; we think it doesn't have to be a routine meal. But we'll concede that for people who have only half an eye-open early in the morning a routine breakfast is probably the only kind they can tolerate or even eat.

FORGET TRADITION

Tradition says we eat certain foods for breakfast. Kickers-over-of-the-traces say, "Phooey" to this idea and we're with them. We'll admit it took some adjusting to arrive at this state of mind.

But by the time the son got to the teen years, we were glad to give him anything he would eat at that time of day. Fortunately, he never went for the weird combinations some adolescents thrive on—like leftover pizza, cola drinks and cold mashed potatoes.

★ ★ ★

On these hot muggy mornings, if the children object to the usual breakfast fare, why not surprise them with something different? Have you ever considered giving them milk shakes? Those who diet with liquid diet foods are eating that kind of breakfast.

★ ★ ★

Drop an egg into the blender if you want to add some protein to the shake. Serve toast or even crisp crackers and a piece of fruit; you have all the elements of a basic breakfast: fruit, milk, a cereal food and protein.

SANDWICHES

Try peanut butter-bacon sandwiches if that appeals to the young set. Some may like these dipped in beaten-up eggs and milk and browned like French toast.

Why not a cereal parfait? Alternate layers of cereal, fruit and ice cream in a tall glass. Let the youngsters take these out to the patio or porch since they aren't particularly spillable.

However, if you want to be a bit more conventional, try some of the recipes on this page.

There's an interesting uncooked oat cereal-fruit combination that hails from Switzerland. There are delicious little jam and coconut-filled oat rolls or raisin-filled scones. There's even a freezer concoction.

EASY RAISIN SCONES

½ cup shortening
2 cups sifted flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup sugar
½ cup seedless raisins
1 egg Milk
2 tablespoons milk
Sugar
Margarine

Sift together the flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Stir in raisins. Cut in shortening using pastry blender or fork until mixture is the consistency of cornmeal or small peas.

★ ★ ★

Break egg into a liquid measuring cup. Add enough milk to measure ¾ cup. Blend together. Add all at once to flour mixutre. Stir until moist.

KNEAD AND SHAPE

Sprinkle flour onto pastry cloth. Turn dough over to coat both sides with flour. Knead 6 times. Divide in half. Pat each half into a round circle ¼-inch thick. Cut each into 8 wedges.

Place scones on ungreased cookie sheet. Brush them with milk and sprinkle with sugar. Bake in hot oven (450 degrees) about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Serve hot with margarine and jam or jelly. Makes 16 scones.

FROSTY BREAKFAST CAKE

1 (2-ounce) package egg custard mix
2 cups milk
1 egg yolk, optional
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 (3-ounce) package cream cheese
1 (10-ounce) package frozen sliced strawberries or raspberries
2 cups cereal flakes
1 tablespoon sugar
2 teaspoons grated orange rind
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Prepare egg custard mix with milk and egg yolk following package directions. Cool slightly; add butter and cheese. Stir until melted. Strain; cool. Chill just until cold, stirring occasionally.

Meanwhile, let raspberries stand at room temperature 30 minutes. Spread in the bottom of lightly oiled ice cube tray. Pour in custard. Freeze ½ hour. Combine cereal flakes with remaining ingredients. Sprinkle over custard; press lightly.

Freeze 4 to 5 hours or overnight. Makes 7 (approximately 1½-inch) servings.

To serve: Slice and let stand on plate 5-10 minutes, or until softened.

PEACH-COCONUT POCKETS

Topping

2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup butter or margarine
2-3 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
⅓ Cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon vanilla

Dough

1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
2-3 cup peach preserves
¼ Cup flaked or shredded coconut

Heat oven to moderate (375 degrees). For topping, combine sugar, flour and nutmeg in small bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Set aside.

★ ★ ★

For dough, sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt into medium-sized bowl. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Stir in oats.

Add milk, egg and vanilla; stir only until dry ingredients are moistened. (If necessary, add a little more milk to make dough hold together.) Form into ball.

Turn out on lightly floured board or canvas. Knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to form a 12-inch square. Brush with melted butter. Cut large square into nine 4-inch squares.

★ ★ ★

Place a tablespoonful preserves diagonally (for opposite corners) across each square; sprinkle with coconut. Bring other opposite corners together at center of square; press slightly to seal. Sprinkle each roll with topping.

Bake on greased cookie sheet in preheated oven (375 degrees) about 15 minutes or until golden brown. Drizzle with thin confectioners sugar frosting. Makes 9 rolls.

1 medium unpeeled apple, grated
2 tablespoons chopped unblanched almonds or walnuts
2 tablespoons chopped pitted prunes or raisins
1 tablespoon honey
1 can (5½-oz.) apple juice

★ ★ ★

Combine ingredients and chill for about 10 minutes. Makes 2 servings. Serve with fresh strawberries, orange slices or other fruit. Can be made the night before and refrigerated.

RAISIN SCONES WITH CRISP BACON AND FRAGRANT MELON

BROWN 'N' SERVE BRUNCH — Follow directions on an 8½-oz. package cornbread mix and prepare batter. Put ¼ cup batter into 5 greased au gratin or individual baking dishes. Drop an egg into center of the batter in each dish. Place 2 brown 'n' serve sausage links on batter on the outside of each egg. Bake at 375 degrees for 18-20 minutes or until eggs set. Serve in dish with butter and maple syrup. Makes 5 servings.

Good Meal Ready in Short Time

Dr. Ashley Montagu, social biologist and author of "The Natural Superiority of Women," told the food editors conference in New York last fall that "simply because women have been bound to the hearth for a million years, preparing food for the family, constitutes no good reason why they should slavishly continue to do so."

Cooking in the home should be less of a time consuming chore and more of a pleasure, he said.

★ ★ ★

To illustrate how this can be done, The R. T. French Company's test kitchens have created two recipes for a meat that can be prepared in 15 to 20 minutes. The broiled pizza meatloaf is ever-popular economical hamburger mixed with an envelope of ground beef seasoning with onions.

NEW METHOD

The seemingly impossible 15-minute scalloped potatoes can be made by a new top-of-the-range method using a packaged scalloped potato mix.

PIZZA MEATLOAF

1½ pounds ground beef
1 envelope (1⅛ oz.) ground beef seasoning with onions
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ cup barbecue sauce, catchup or chili sauce
3 slices process American cheese
1 can (3 oz.) sliced mushrooms, if desired

★ ★ ★

Mix togehter lightly meat, seasoning mix, bread crumbs, egg and ¼ cup of the barbecue sauce. In the bottom of a shallow baking pan shape meat mixture into a large flat pattie. (Or shape and broil in a pizza pan.) Broil for 10 minutes.

Brush remaining ¼ cup barbecue sauce over top of meat. Cut cheese slices in half diagonally and arrange on top of meat in a pie shaped pattern. Place mushroom slices on each piece of cheese.

Return to the oven and broil another 2 minutes or until cheese melts. 6 servings.

Top-of-the-Range Scalloped Potatoes

1 package (5¾ oz.) scalloped potatoes mix
4 cups water
1 cup milk
½ cup water
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Cornflake crumbs or buttered bread crumbs

Bring potato slices and 4 cups water to a boil; boil 10 to 15 minutes or until tender. Drain thoroughly. Return potatoes to saucepan.

Sprinkle contents of seasoning mix envelope over potatoes. Add milk, ½ cup water and butter. Stir until seasoning mix dissolves. Heat to boiling, stirring constantly.

Serve topped with cornflake crumbs or buttered bread crumbs. 6 servings.

New Charges Eyed in Kennedy Case

EDGARTOWN, Mass. (AP) — A special Dukes County prosecutor says he is considering whether charges of driving to endanger and driving under the influence of alcohol might be placed against Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

Walter E. Steele told a news conference yesterday that the additional misdemeanor charges were under consideration as an investigation continued into the accident early Saturday, which claimed the life of Mary Jo Kopechne, 28, of Washington, a young secretary riding in Kennedy's car.

Kennedy is already charged with leaving the scene of the accident.

He said there is no material evidence to indicate that the car in which Miss Kopechne died was operated in a manner to endanger.

WAS THERE DRINKING?

Steele said he hoped to determine whether there had been drinking — or heavy — drinking — at the party attended by Miss Kopechne the night she died.

A medical examiner reported yesterday that a sample of Miss Kopechne's blood showed a small amount of alcohol.

Dr. Donald R. Mills said it was insignificant, "such as might show in a person who has had a few cocktails."

Kennedy, 37, escaped with a mild concussion and strained neck muscles.

He did not report the accident until several hours after it happened. Kennedy said he was in shock after the accident.

'FULLY CLOTHED'

Edgartown Police Chief Dominic Arena, who recovered Miss Kopechne's body fron the wreckage with the aid of skin divers, said the pretty blonde secreatary "was fully clothed and everything was buttoned right up."

"If you'll forgive me," he said, "if she hadn't been wringing wet it was as if she was getting ready to go to work or to a party because everything was in place."

★ ★ ★

Asked by a newsman if he believed Kennedy had been in shock after the accident as he said, Arena replied: "Yes, but for how long?"

After attending Miss Kopechne's funeral in Plymouth, Pa., the senator returned to Cape Cod almost immediately and was met at the airport in Hyannis by a crowd of newsmen.

He brushed aside their questions at first but finally, when asked by one persistent newswoman whether he intended to make a statement, said: "This is the day of the funeral. This isn't the appropriate time, but I will at the appropriate time."

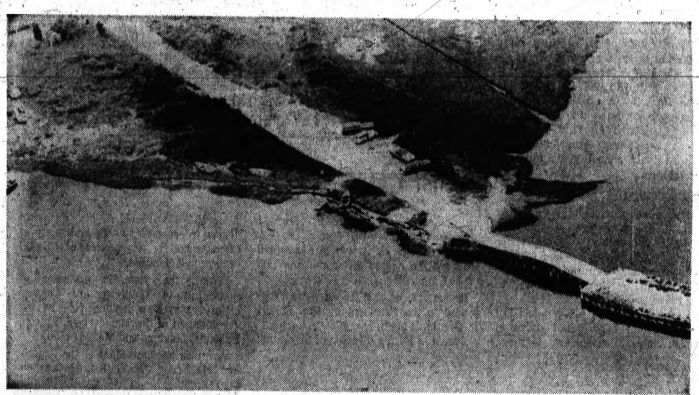

Accompaned by his wife, Joan, and two staff men, the senator quickened his stride and walked on toward his waiting car, pressing past the now-shouting reporters.

He stopped once more and said sharply: "I've just come from the funeral of a very lovely girl, and this is not an appropriate time to comment."

Sources close to Kennedy said earlier yesterday that the Massachusetts Democrat, after conferring with at least a half-dozen friends and political associates late Saturday and early Sunday, decided against making a statement in the foreseeable future and might never make one.

Unanswered questions may be answered during court proceedings in coming weeks. The next step in these is Monday's show-cause hearing.

Reporter Takes Oath of Klan

By T. LARRY ADCOCK

Tonight—June 22—I was to be sworn in as a member of the Invisible Empire, White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, United Klans of America.

I met my sponsor Klansman, Pat Galloway, 34, of 473 Tallahassee, at our prior restaurant - meeting place. I followed his car to the Bemis-Olsen Post of AMVETS, where the meeting was to be held.

ADCOCK

Galloway was dressed up for the occasion of installing two new members. He wore a brown suit, a narrow black tie with the symbol of the Klan emblazoned on the front, a Klan lapel pin, white socks and black scuffed shoes.

Galloway's 18-year-old son, Pat, contrasted to his father's appearance. He was stylishly dressed and a quiet, serious type.

A CONCEALED WEAPON

First to file into the meeting hall was Neil MacKinnon, 34, of 1730 Bolton, Walled Lake. Neil was carrying a concealed weapon — a six-shot 22-caliber revolver. He was proud of his weapon, saying it would "penetrate just about any type of clothing short of a heavy overcoat."

★ ★ ★

A check of the State Police weapons registration bureau in East Lansing shows that MacKinnon owns the following registered firearms: a Smith & Wesson 357 magnum revolver, considered an extremely high-powered pistol; a Colt 45 six-shot automatic pistol; a Ruger Blackhawk 30.6 rifle; a 22-caliber derringer; and a Ruger six-shot 22-caliber revolver.

★ ★ ★

MacKinnon is the owner of a two-year-old Doberman Pinscher, "Connie," which he claims kills on command. He is also the owner of several motorcycles and, ironically, the Motown Furniture Warehouse in Detroit.

Wallace E. (Woody) Fruit, 26, of 6114 Adamson, Waterford Township is "exalted cyclops," or president, of the Pontiac KKK.

APPEARS SINCERE

He appears sincere in his belief that the Communists control all three television networks and most of the newspapers.

Next to arrive was Jack Ellis, 40, of 325 Wise, White Lake Township, vice president of the 19th District American Independent Party (AIP).

★ ★ ★

Jack is muscular and middle-aged. He dressed all in black — muscle shirt, tight pants and construction boots.

"Alabama is mecca," says Ellis.

Ellis is the Klan's contact man with the area chapters of the John Birch Society. He reports that the Birchers regard the Klansmen as "hillbilly gangsters."

OTHER INDUCTEE

Besides myself, Woodrow Wilson Bais was installed into citizenship of the Klan. Bais is a former West Virginia coal miner who says the Klan will "better American." He is very old and struck me as pitiful.

The ceremony itself was a pretty routine hocus-pocus fraternal-type ritual. I swore to God that I would defend to my death the flag, Constitution, America and my new brothers.

★ ★ ★

The difference from most oaths, of course, was that I also swore to defend to the death white supremacy and that I would never — under the penalty of expulsion from the KKK and fatal revenge — divulge the secrets of the KKK.

The Klansmen were all dressed up in their silk robes and peaked hats. I could identify Galloway and MacKinnon through their hoods — Galloway's hair sticking out of an eye-hole and MacKin-

Yearning Trio Make Midcourse Burn

Earth Pulling Apollo 11 Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Yearning for home, Apollo 11's moon explorers streaked ever faster in the pull of earth's gravity today on a perfect course that is to land them in the Pacific Ocean tomorrow.

"No matter where you travel, it's nice to get home," astronaut Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. said as they beamed a television picture of earth from more than 180,000 miles away last night.

★ ★ ★

"It's getting appreciably larger now," said Michael Collins. "It's looking more like a world.

Looking ahead to plashdown, Apollo 11 commander Neil A. Armstrong asked about the weather in the recovery area.

10-MILE VISIBILITY

"It looks real good out there," mission control told him. "The forecast is for scattered clouds at 3,000 feet and a visibility of 10 miles."

Apollo 11 is to land at 11:49 a.m. (Pontiac time) about 1,200 miles southwest of Hawaii.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts set their course yesterday by firing a short engine burst to achieve a precise path intended to land them near the aircraft carrier Hornet.

They left lunar orbit early yesterday.

SPACE COMEDY

The telecast from Apollo 11 started like a comedy show. When a picture of the moon flashed on the monitor in mission control, the capsule communicator, astronaut Charles Duke, commented: "We see the earth in the center of the screen."

After a pause, Aldrin corrected him with: "Believe that's where we just came from."

★ ★ ★

"It is, huh? Well I'm really looking at a bad, at a bad screen here," Duke said. "Stand by one. Hey, you're right!"

Related Story, Page C-3

Later, when a picture of the earth was shown, Duke said: "I refuse to bite on this one. You tell us."

BOXES OF ROCKS

Armstrong showed viewers two sealed boxes in which are packed precious bits of soil and rock that he and Aldrin collected during their momentous two-hour walk on the moon Sunday.

The final television show from Apollo 11 is scheduled at 6:30 tonight.

★ ★ ★

As they head for their fiery dash back through the atmosphere, the astronauts may see an unusual number of lights along the west coast of the United States.

Homes and businesses in several cities have been asked to turn their lights on early Thursday. The idea originated with a Seattle radio station.

DIFFERENT WELCOME

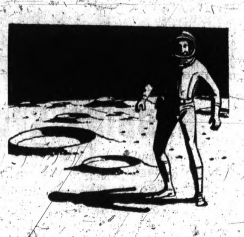

When Armstrong, Aldrin and Collins hit the Pacific, they'll be treated more like plague bearers than moon conquerors.

They, their rocks and their spaceship will be placed behind a biological barrier on the remote chance they have brought home lunar bacteria that could harm life on earth.

★ ★ ★

The astronauts will don special suits and step into a raft sprayed with a disinfectant. On the deck of the Hornet they will be taken to a sealed trailer which will be their home for 2½ days during a sea-air transfer to a lunar receiving laboratory in Houston.

President Nixon, who will be on the Hornet, will keep a safe distance until they are aboard the trailer and then speak to them by telephone. He'll see them through a window.

Appeal Denied 15 in Steren Raid

The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday refused to hear the appeal of 15 men convicted four years ago in the Steren Assembly Club raid in Madison Heights, called by police "the biggest on a Mafia gambling setup in Detroit-area history."

★ ★ ★

The action means the 15 can take the case no further in state courts and may mean an end to lengthy legal maneuvering. All have been in the county jail since April when their bonds were canceled.

★ ★ ★

They are expected to be transferred to the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson tomorrow.

The high court gave no reason for refusing to hear the appeal of gambling conspiracy convictions previously upheld by the state Court of Appeals.

FEDERAL APPEAL POSSIBLE

The 15 could take their case to federal district court if they wish to appeal further, according to Oakland County Asst. Prosecutor Dennis Donohue who had challenged the appeal.

Michigan State Police arrested 49 persons in the raid Oct. 11, 1963, after a police spy infiltrated the club posing as an out-of-towner.

★ ★ ★

Margaret Allen, an attractive secretary, was the state's key witness in the case. Twenty of those arrested were convicted in 1965 of charges stemming from the raid, including two men identified in U.S. Senate hearings as Detroit-area Mafia officers.

They are Joseph Brooklier, 56, of Mount Clemens and Eddie Guarella, 52, of Las Vegas, Nev.

★ ★ ★

The 15 men whose appeals were denied yesterday face prison terms ranging from one to five years.

Pay Water Bill or Else, Town Warns Air Force

JACKSONVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Air Force's station at Little Rock is getting its water, but Mayor John H. Harden of Jacksonville says it won't for long if it doesn't ante up on its city water bills.

This central Arkansas community of 18,000 supplies water for the base.

A few days ago, Harden said yesterday, he received a letter from the Air Force general counsel in Denver, Colo., who claimed that the base had overpaid the city for water for the last 12 years.

The letter demanded that the city produce $99,137.64, plus interest, and said the base would hold up its monthly payment — $9,000 to $10,000 — until the city paid up.

'I'LL PULL A CASTRO'

"Sue us," Harden replied.

"They've either got to pay me or I'll pull a Castro on them and turn their water off," the mayor said.

Several hundred persons, including crews for nuclear-tipped Titan II missiles and B58 bombers, are stationed at the base.

But, if the Air Force doesn't pay its bill by Aug. 10, "just like any other customer," it will find that the city has cut off the water, Harden said.

Cutting off the water isn't a happy choice, he added, since the Air Force payments amount to about a third of the city water department's $36,000 monthly income.

Showers Clouding Weather Picture

The weatherman says skies will be partly cloudy tonight. There is a chance of showers or thundershowers tomorrow.

Temperatures, falling into the 60s tonight, will climb to a high of 80 to 85 tomorrow. Fair is the forecast for Friday.

Southeasterly to southerly winds will continue at 10 to 15 miles per hour.

Probabilities of precipitation in per cent are 20 today and tonight and 30 tomorrow.

A pleasant 64 was the low recording before 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac. The thermometer reading was 85 at 12:30 p.m.

Tight Control of Gas Warfare Projects Seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon officials are predicting a top-level government review of U.S. gas warfare projects will lead to some policy changes and tighter supervision of the controversial program.

The military evaluation of the National Security Council study came after the Pentagon announced yesterday that what it said was a previously planned removal of lethal chemical agents from Okinawa would be speeded up.

★ ★ ★

The statement yestrday was th first time the government acknowledged placing gas weapons outside the United States. And the announcement came only after news disclosures that 23 U.S. soldiers and a civilian worker had been affected when a gas container sprung a leak July 8 at a U.S. base on Okinawa.

The Pentagon officials, in making their predictions about the NSC review, avoided giving any indication whether the removal of some nerve gases and other chemical weapons from Okinawa will result in pullbacks of such materials from other overseas bases.

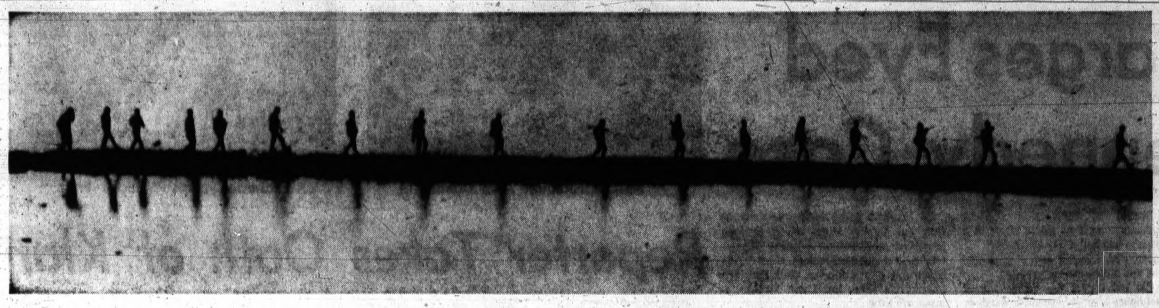

Pentagon authorities, still refusing to discuss overseas deployments other than Okinawa, avoided any indication as to whether the policy of maintaining such munitions in forward positions would be changed.

The closest thing to an official hint about overseas deployments of gas came in a statement by Dr. John S. Foster, Pentagon research and development chief, in response to questions raised by Rep. Richard D. McCarthy, D-N.Y.

Foster said "carefully controlled inventories are adquate for tactical response against enemy military forces."

★ ★ ★

Since tactical weapons normally are based within a theater, it would seem that Foster was referring to stocks of chemical agents in areas where the U.S. forces are posted abroad.

Probes 6 Girls' Killings

Mystic Hurkos Stuns Police

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Police officers working with Dutch mystic Peter Hurkos on the unsolved sex slayings of six girls in the area in the last two years say they are becoming believers in his "powers."

"He has made observations that I don't believe he could have made except for having some kind of special power," said Eastern Michigan University Police Lt. Ken Fuller yesterday after Hurkos had scoured the area where a 13-year-old girl was savagely murdered in April.

★ ★ ★

Hurkos, 58, who claims to get visions from objects belonging to persons, was given a skirt, jacket and shoe belonging to Dawn Basom, the fifth girl to die in the series of six unsolved slayings. The girl's belongings were given by her parents because local police agencies would not release any evidence.

Hurkos arrived here early yesterday at the behest of a local ral estate salesman and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Allen, who are paying $1,000 in expenses.

'CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE'

The Allens were spokesmen for a special "citizen's committee" of hippies and students from the University of Michigan who tried previously to raise $2,500 in fees and a $600 round-trip ticket.

Fuller said Hurkos went around to locations connected with the Basom girl. He checked the road where she was last seen walking, the farmhouse where they believe she was killed and the spot where her body was found.

★ ★ ★

Hurkos said a single male was involved in the Basom girl's death, but wouldn't discuss the other slayings until he had viewed the spots where the bodies were found and handled some the their personal belongings.

"He told us things that had not been released to anybody," said Lt. William Mulholland of the Washtenaw County Sheriff's department.

"He's made me a believer, Mulholland said. "I'm more a believer today than I was yesterday."

Search for Girl at Fremont Fails to Yield Clue

FREMONT (AP)—Four days of foot-by-foot searching have yet to turn up any concrete clue as to what happened to a 12-year-old Fremont girl who disappeared Saturday afternoon.

Cindy Hayward, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Hayward, was last seen just one half block from her home, a little over a half mile north of Fremont. She had talked to a friend and the friend's mother around 5:30 p.m. Saturday.

★ ★ ★

The search was all the more difficult because of the annual Old Fashioned Days celebration that swelled the town's population from 3,000 to more than 20,000.

"We don't know any more than we did the first day," a Fremont police department spokesman said.

PROBE POSSIBLE LINK

Authorities are also investigating any possible clue between Miss Hayward's disappearance and that of an 18-year-old mental patient who had been home in Fremont for a time on convalescent leave. He was last seen sometime Friday afternoon.

However, police said they have no evidence indicating any positive connection between the two missing persons.

Nixon Promise Gets Blame for Army Enlistment Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's promise to eliminate the draft, and other factors associated with the Vietnam war, caused the Army to miss its enlistments goal last year by 9,000 men.

The deficit and conclusion are reported by Army Recruiting Command officers who say they can't recall a year when the Army fared so badly in signing volunteers.

★ ★ ★

Army enlistments fell short of the recruiting command's objectives every month from November through June.

★ ★ ★

Figures just compiled for fiscal 1969 showed the Army persuaded 188,000 men to join up outside the draft, compared with an objective of 197,000. In the previous two years Army recruiters surpassed their annual goals by 8,000 and 9,000 men.

CLOSE ATTENTION

The situation prompted the recruiting command to pay close attention to what's been happening.

Col. Donald L. Roberts, chief of staff for the recruiting command, said in an interview that four factors combined to cause the severe drop:

● Richard M. Nixon pledged last fall that as President he would strive to establish an all-volunteer force, eliminating the draft when the Vietnam war is over.

★ ★ ★

● The recruiting command suddenly found its seasoned recruiters were being grabbed up for administrative and leadership duties in Vietnam. Recruiter strength fell by 500 to a low of 2,480.

● Dissatisfaction with the war left a bad taste with many young men who otherwise might have been susceptible to the persuasive powers of recruiters.

★ ★ ★

● Peace talks get under way in Paris, leading some young men to believe the war would soon be ending, after all, and maybe the Selective Service system wouldn't be ringing their doorbells.

Area Ford Exec to Run Census

President Nixon yesterday confirmed speculation that Ford Motor Co. executive George H. Brown of Bloomfield Hills will be named director of the 1970 census, replacing A. Ross Eckler.

Brown, 58, of 1735 Tiverton was suggested to the President by Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich.

Brown is Ford's director of marketing research. He received his doctorate degree in economics at the University of Chicago and is a graduate of Oberlin College and Harvard.

Brown, the youngest professor of marketing in University of Chicago history, played a leading role in the development of the Thunderbird, Falcon, Fairlane, Mustang and Mark II cars.

Brown is past president of the American Marketing Association. He sits on the executive board of the marketing advisor committee to the U.S. Department of Commerce and is a trustee of the Foundation for Research for Human Behavior.

Special or Rescheduled?

School Meeting Called Illegal

The legality of last night's special Pontiac Board of Education meeting was questioned by members of the capacity audience of about 100 persons.

Members of the audience wanted to know if last night's session was a "special meeting" or a "rescheduled regular meeting."

★ ★ ★

If it was a special meeting, they claimed, the board could act on only the one item for which the meeting was called.

If the board was going to call it a rescheduled regular meeting, then board members would have had to vote on it in a public meeting. Some in the audience said they had heard no such vote in recent meetings.

SPECIAL MEETING

The meeting last night, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, school attorney Harold Dudley and board members, was a special meeting, called Monday by board president Russell Brown, for the express purpose of completing the agenda of last Thursday's meeting.

Dudley last night read from the board policy, and said that the session was a special meeting, and legal, since it had been called by the board president and board members were notified 24 hours in advance.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the 3½-hour meeting last night, members of the audience continued to question the legality of the meeting, however, reading copies of school board policy rules.

The legality of a school board meeting was challenged once before this year on Feb. 25, when a rescheduled regular meeting was called by the board in an executive session.

LATE CONVENING

Last night's meeting, scheduled to begin at 7:30, did not convene until 8:10 p.m. Brown told the audience that board members were late in entering the board room because it was a special meeting. He announced at least one night's change in how the meeting would be conducted.

★ ★ ★

He said that the audience could participate in discussion of agenda items if each person who wished to speak

Related Stories, Pages A-10, C-13

would be recognized by the chair, and state their name and address. This was a concession from his ruling on meeting procedures last Thursday.

That meeting did not get past the first agenda item, entitled "Communications, Petitions and Delegations," during which members of the audience protested President Brown's announcement that no one but board members could participate in discussion of agenda items as they come up.

ENDED IN SCUFFLE

That two-hour meeting, 40 minutes of which were spent in recess, ended in a scuffle between several persons in the audience and uniformed police officers called by the board during their recess.

Three persons were arrested that night and charged with creating a disturbance. One woman, Mrs. Lynwood Nichols of 41 Bagley, was additionally charged with resisting arrest and assault and battery of a police officer. Her husband received the additional charge of resisting arrest. Mrs. Carole Sweeney, 228 Orchard Lake, was the third person arrested.

★ ★ ★

Vic Boukeart, executive secretary of the Pontiac Education Association, was critical last night of the handling of last week's meeting.

Quoting from the 1965 Michigan School Code, Boukeart said that Section 970 of that code prescribes a procedure for removal of disorderly people from board of education meetings.

"You did not follow the law last Thursday when you ordered two people removed." he said.

"Section 966 of the school code involves a misdemeanor penalty on all of you at that table if you knowingly allowed your chairmen to break the law," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Progress only comes through dissent. If we're all happy with the way things are today, then we'll have no progress. Let dissent be heard, and let's move forth," Boukeart said.

BIBLICAL PASSAGE

On the main altar the Bible was open to Romans 12. The Bible passage has to do with sticking to one's own kind and holding one's differing enemies at bay.

Along with the Bible were a folded American flag, a bayonet and a glass of water. Flanking the altar were the American and Confederate flags.

After the ceremony, Bais and I learned the secret password that is never printed or said above a whisper — "Eternal Faith." Then followed the learning of some rather simplistic secret handshakes (left hand) and hand signals.

After the installation ceremony, a general roundhouse conversation was held about "Communist Jews, niggers" and the like.

I learned during the general conversation that it was the Pontiac KKK that was responsible for the March cross-burning at the home of Pontiac District Judge James R. Stelt.

Officer Slain in Detroit Shot With 2 Guns?

DETROIT (UPI) — A weapons identification expert testified yesterday slain Patrolman Michael Czapski may have been hit with bullets from two different guns in a shoot-out with black nationalists in March outside the New Bethel Baptist Church.

Earl C. Leedle, chief of the State Police scientific laboratory, said he studied a 30 caliber bullet taken from Czapski's chest, but he said two bullet holes in the patrolman's sleeve could have been caused by a 30-06 caliber rifle.

The hearing was to resume today.

The star witness in the preliminary examination of Rafael Viera, 20, who is charged with Czapski's murder, had testified earlier Viera fired "five or six shots" at the officer with a boltaction 30-06-caliber rifle.

Witness David Brown, 19, Compton, Calif., said Viera fired after Czapski told him to halt outside the church following a meeting of the black separatist Republic of New Africa.

Leedle, an executive lieutenant with the Detroit Police Department at the time of the March 29 shoot-out, said he studied 22 spent shells outside the church and all came from 30-caliber carbines, "at least two guns and maybe three."

UAW Is Voting on Atlanta Pact

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Officials of United Auto Workers Local 34 and General Motors reached an agreement Tuesday on the unresolved issues of an 86-day-old strike at the General Motors assembly plant here.

★ ★ ★

A ratification meeting was scheduled today and, if the agreement is approved, some 4,200 striking workers will return to work Friday.

★ ★ ★

A tentative agreement was reached last week, but the union members rejected the proposal because, they said, the company "reneged" on issues involving grievances.

Bloodletting Is Big Business in Florida newspaper advertisements offering "up to $400 a month," more than 1,000 persons a day are peddling their life's blood to unregulated laboratories for $5 to $8 a bleeding.

★ ★ ★

The Miami News reported in a series this week that the blood is converted into tetanus and polio serums, concoctions to diagnose blood types, and fluids to counteract blood problems encountered by some women in pregnancy.

★ ★ ★

The blood takers are reluctant to talk about their business, the News reported, but a couple of operators estimated at least 1,000 pints are processed a day.

Using a process called plasmapheresis, blood is withdrawn from the arms of donors into the conventional one-pint bags. But instead of keeping all the blood, the plasmapheresis labs separate the plasma—the clear portion—and inject the remaining blood back into the same vein from which it was taken.

MORE OFTEN

Normally, a human can give a pint of blood every eight weeks. But in plasmapheresis, a donor is bled two and three times a week.

Donors are paid $5 a visit for the first month and $8 per withdrawal after that.

Some businesses are bleeding people up to five times a week, according to Dr. Maxwell Sayett, a pathologist who has a private blood bank and also does a small plasmapheresis business.

"That could be dangerous," Dr. Sayett said adding that it also may be dangerous to take two pints of blood instead of one, a common practice.

Sayett is a member of a Florida Medical Association committee that is drafting standards and probably will recommend legislation to regulate plasmapheresis.

Board Ignores Policy in Awarding PNH Pact

Despite protests that it was violating board policy, the Pontiac School Board last night awarded an architectural contract prior to investigation of the firm's compliance with nondiscrimination in hiring.

There were numerous protests from both black and white members of the audience and a school attorney's opinion that compliance must be determined before a contract is awarded.

Nevertheless, the board retained the firm of Charles Sherman and Associates, by a 4-2 vote, for architectural work on a $1.1-million expansion of Pontiac Northern High School.

This new firm, formed within the last two months, has five employes, none of whom are black.

FIRM UNTESTED

All of the employes of the firm joined Sherman in the new firm when he left his position as executive vice president of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, Inc. of Birmingham. As a firm, this group has not yet done any architectural work.

Both the Sherman firm and O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach were bidding for contracts for architectural work on the additions to Northern and on the planned new $15.8-million, seven-level high school, to be built on the present Crofoot Elementary School site.

* * *

Rather than awarding both contracts to one firm, Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer recommended a split of the contracts.

O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach was awarded the contract for work on the new high school. The board and audience appeared satisfied with nondiscrimination compliance on the part of this firm.

NO BIDDING

The was no competitive bidding for the contract.

Without prior determination of compliance on the part of Charles Sherman and Associates, the board awarded the firm the contract for work on additions at Northern.

* * *

School Attorney Harold Dudley's opinion was sought on request from the crowd of about 100, and he said he felt that board policy called for determination of compliance before a contract is awarded.

red to wait until the firm's

Board member Christopher Brown abstained from the vote on the contract to be awarded to Sherman, stating he preferred to wait until the firm's compliance with board policy is checked.

'SHOULD BE TABLED'

Board president Russell Brown voted a hesitant "no" and Dr. Robert R. Turpin also voted "no."

Dr. Turpin said earlier, when the motion was made, that he felt the motion should be tabled until compliance of the Sherman firm had been determined.

Charles Tucker, executive director of Harambee, then said, "I feel it is extremely regretful that a majority of you (the board) couldn't table the contract awarding until the next session."

* * *

"I can't attribute it personally, but you can bet your bottom dollar that there will be an official complaint filed with the (Michigan) Civil Rights Commission as of tomorrow morning from a whole section of the community of Pontiac," Tucker said.

Dr. Turpin moved to rescind the action, but his motion lost by a 4-3 vote, with Dr. Turpin, William Anderson, and Christopher Brown voting in favor. Russell Brown, who had voted against the action in the first place, was among the four voting "no."

His reason for voting negatively, when questioned, was, "I thought it was best to do that."

* * *

Schools Supt. Dana P. Whitmer said that the Sherman firm would be checked for compliance before the contract is signed. He said he felt confident that Sherman would comply. Sherman, present at the meeting, said he was planning to make every effort to comply.

* * *

Several persons in the audience indicated that they felt the entire project package should have been awarded to the established firm of O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, and Christopher Brown made a motion to that effect.

LACKED SUPPORT

His motion died, however, for lack of support.

The queston of compliance by O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach was answered by Carl Luckenbach, who introduced Nate Johnson of a black Detroit architectural firm.

EXCHANGING STAFF

Luckenbach said that his and Johnson's all-black firm would be exchanging staff for the project. He said that his firm has been working with Johnson and his architects for a number of years.

* * *

When board member John K. Irwin Jr. moved to award the contracts according to Whitmer's recommendation, Dr. Turpin amended the motion to include only the contract for the new Central High School.

"No" votes on the amendment recorded were from Irwin, Mrs. Lucille Marshall and Mrs. Elsie Mihalek.

Chamber Board Hears Leon

Plan Study Need Is Explained

The board of directors of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce yesterday heard architect Bruno Leon of Bruno Leon & Associates spell out Pontiac's need for a comprehensive planning study, taking into consideration all segments of the community.

Following a discussion on the necessity of such a comprehensive plan Chamber President E. Eugene Russell told his fellow board members:

"The Chamber of Commerce has failed to properly identify the city's problems and their causes in terms of the community at large."

* * *

"It has failed to show solutions to these problems and has failed to put into practice a plan for change," Russell added.

"We have all types of leadership in this community — good and bad — but we have to organize to be effective," Russell—a Michigan Bell district manager said.

'CREATIVE COOPERATION'

Leon, meantime, said the criteria for a comprehensive planning study, taking into consideration the political, social, economic and geographic factors of the entire community, includes creative cooperation among the community's decision-making bodies.

C. Don Davidison, chief designer for Bruno Leon & Associates, said, "It is difficult for community leaders to put aside the whole process of unilateral decision making."

He explained that governmental agencies should not make isolated decisions, politically, socially or economically, but communicate and check with each other to avoid future conflicts.

The Pontiac Area Planning Committee is the city's first step in realizing that unilateral decisions are not a benefit to the community as a whole, he added.

'READY FOR PLAN'

Leon and Davidson agreed that although comprehensive planning is a novel concept in urban planning, Pontiac is ready for such a plan.

When quizzed about the cost of such a comprehensive study, Davidson said the city must first hire a professional firm to make a six to eight-week study analyzing the city's institutions to determine the cost and who should pay the cost of a future comprehensive planning study.

* * *

He said, since the city's utility companies would tend to benefit greatly from such a study they could be requested to pick up a large share of the cost.

Dr. Ben Brett, chairman of the local legislative committee, asked that the committee discuss the comprehensive planning idea before taking any action.

The matter was turned over to Brett's committee for discussion.

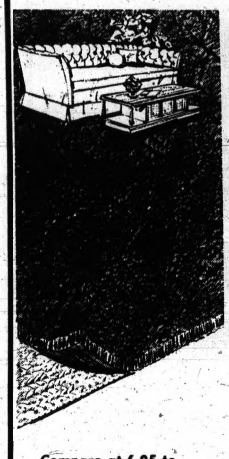

In the absence of a quorum, the eight board members present acted as a committee of the whole to approve Richard Mineweaser as chamber representative to a city drug abuse program, headed by Kenneth Walker, a black nommunity leader.

Despite failing health that forced him to resign his teaching duties in 1967, Father Cyran observed his 50th anniversary as a priest June 14 this year by concelebrating Mass on a portable altar outside his apartment.

TV-Less Dinners

BRAKPAN, South Africa (AP) — There is no television in South Africa, but American-style TV dinners are a big success. A food company that introduced the dinners a few weeks ago says they are selling at more than 1,000 a day.

Tito Congratulates U.S., 3 Astronauts

BELGRADE (AP) — President Tito warmly congratulated the American people and the Apollo 11 astronauts Tuesday during a meeting with former Vice President Hubert Humphrey, a spokesman for Humphrey said today.

The spokesman said Tito and Humphrey talked for two hours at Brioni, the Yugoslav president's Adriatic island, about the U.S. space program, the Middle East crisis, and other topics of international interest.

★ ★ ★

Humphrey and his party then went to Dubrovnik, a summer resort, where the former vice president will rest until he returns home at the end of the week.

He's Flying High

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — This advertisement appeared in a weekly magazine: "Bachelor farmer with private pilot's license would like to meet girl with own airplane. Photo of airplane with first letter will be appreciated."

The name Maundy Thursday comes from the Latin Mandatum or commandment.

Space Wives Given Roses

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Roses from Canada arrived again Tuesday in the space community.

★ ★ ★

Between launch and the Apollo 11 moon walk, the astronauts' wives each received a dozen long-stemmed red roses from Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burke of Guelph, Ont.

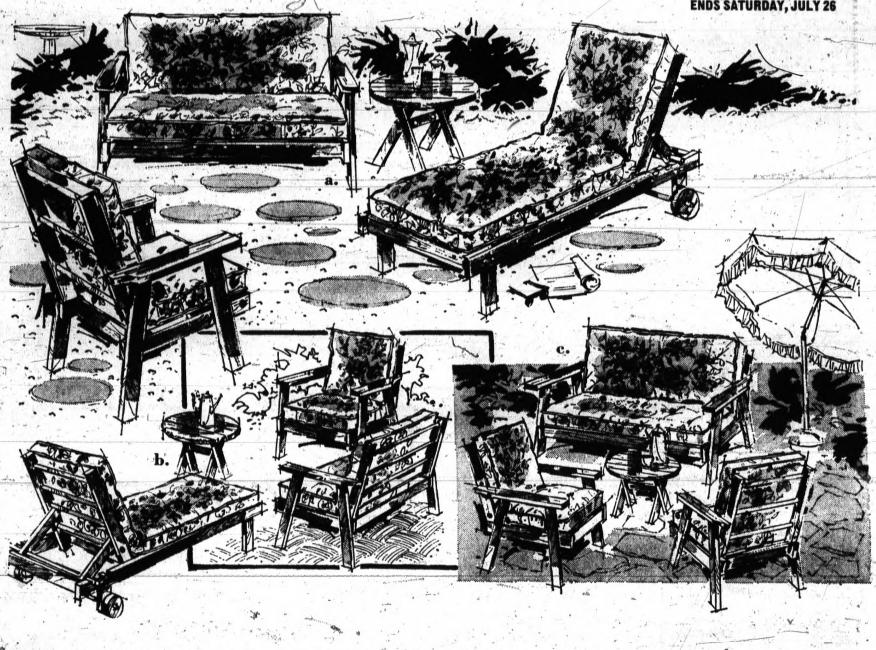

Just before Tuesday night's television show from the returning spaceship, mission control announced receipt of a similar gift. The announcement addressed the sender only as "a moonstruck Canadian."

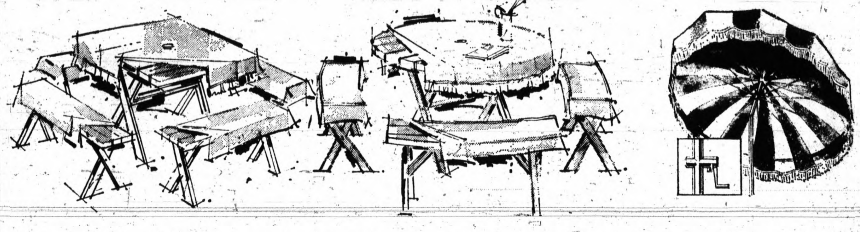

California had 59,000 farms last year, some 5,000 less than the year before, but the average size is 627 acres, up 46 acres from the preceding year.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Why do flickers drum on TV antennae — do they like the noise?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Frankly, we have never run across a flicker drumming on a TV aerial, or heard before of one doing so. But we make no claim to know about everything that's going on — so we'll have to admit the possibility.

But we doubt very much that such a flicker is drumming to satisfy his musical sense. Our guess would be that the bird had figured the antennae as the trunks of some new kind of tree; and since there were no leaves on these queer trees, they must be dead, and so, a flicker might think, there must be nice juicy grubs under the bark.

Flickers are a kind of woodpecker, but they don't spend all their time climbing trees. You might find a flicker probing an ant's nest with his long sharp bill, or busy-bodying around a pasture field for a change in diet—there are always beetles or grasshoppers to be found.

If there are no convenient holes in dead trees to lay eggs in, adaptable Mrs. Flicker may scoop out a hollow in the ground, using her tail as a digger as she turns round and round.

(You can win $10 cash plus AP's handsome World Yearbook if your question, mailed on a postcard to Junior Editors in care of this newspaper, is selected for a prize.)

Star May Look Frail, but Has 'True Grit'

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

CORONA, Calif. — Kim Darby harks back to the Lillian Gish kind of star: the frail-looking girl with will of iron.

THOMAS

She played that role to a fare-thee-well in the current success, "True Grit." She's the determined mid-teens miss who wheedles, cajoles and browbeats John Wayne and Glen Campbell into tracking down her father's killer.

Kim Darby, who this month became old enough to vote, is just as strong-minded in private life. "True Grit" made her an instant star, and you might expect that she would be grateful to her director, veteran Henry Hathaway. It doesn't turn out that way.

"I hate him," she comments.

ONLY SCORN

"I quote hate him unquote."

There had been reports during the filming that the actress and Hathaway did not get along, and she confirmed them. "He gave me nothing—except scorn and ridicule," she said. "Oh, I've had directors who did things like shooting a gun off in my face to get surprise; that I can understand. But I can't forgive rudeness."

Nor did Kim have glowing comments about her costar, John Wayne.

★ ★ ★

"We had no rapport, either in the scenes or out of them," she said. "He was Rooster, and I was the little girl, Matty, and he didn't have any regard for me."

Kim did get along with Campbell, a good thing because they are again costarred in "Norwood," a modern story being filmed in and around this southern California town.

HOLLYWOOD BORN

She's a hometown girl, born in Hollywood and reared in the San Fernando valley. Her name at birth: Derby Zerby—honest. Naturally it had to go when she started getting roles in television. She borrowed the Kim from a high school classmate and switched her first name to the British pronunciation.

★ ★ ★

"Television was a great school for me," said the slight brunette with the large, deep-brown eyes. "I played a lot of the series, usually as a peculiar, troubled girl, which I'm not. One of the series was especially lucky for me. It was a 'Run for Your Life,' which Ben Gazzara himself directed.

"Paul Nathan (producer Hal Wallis' assistant) happened to see it, and he decided that I was right for 'True Grit.' If it hadn't been for him, I'd still be doing television."

★ ★ ★

Much has happened to Kim in the past year. Four weeks before the start of "True Grit," she gave birth to a baby girl. She has since divorced actor Jim Stacy. She starred in "Generation" with David Janssen and Peter Deuel, her current boyfriend.

★ ★ ★

Much more will be happening to Kim Darby, and she seems able to deal with any eventuality. Her own ambition: "I'd like to pattern my career after Sandy Dennis's. I think she has done a wonderful job of handling herself."

Research Sub 'All Windows'

Plexiglas 'Bubble' Opens Ocean View

HONOLULU (UPI)—Scientists will soon be able to see more of the ocean while keeping comfortable and dry in "bubble subs."

★ ★ ★

The new type of submarine is "practically all windows," according to William W. Walker, supervisor of the project at the Makapuu Oceanic Foundation, an ocean-oriented research institute here.

★ ★ ★

The two-man submarines, composed of 1¼-inch-thick Plexiglas, will be valuable for scientists exploring or teaching about marine life and for underwater industrial development such as oil-well construction or cable laying.

★ ★ ★

"The bubble sub is very similar to an underwater helicopter," Walker said. "For the first time, in a submarine, you can see in almost every direction."

53-INCH BALL

The submarine was dubbed "bubble sub" because it looks like a 53-inch ball on a platform, Walker said. It is also called the "Kumukahi," Hawaiian for "first in a series."

★ ★ ★

Walker said the Plexiglas, which is transparent plastic, is able to maintain a comfortable temperature inside regardless of how cold the water is.

Kelley Blasts Small Loan Bill

LANSING (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has joined two Republican legislators in urging Gov. William G. Milliken to veto a bill on his desk which expands the lending power and interest rate charges of Michigan's small loan industry.

★ ★ ★

In a letter to the governor yesterday, Kelley said the bill "is contrary to the public interest and has so many faults, pitfalls and anticonsumer curves as to compel me to urge you to exercise your power of veto."

Reps. James S. Farnsworth, R-Plainwell, and Thomas G. Ford, R-Grand Rapids, said Monday the bill would have "very serious and undesirable consequences" if signed by Milliken. They pointed out it passed the House with only 57 votes, and the Senate with 21.

Specifically, the bill would raise the ceiling on small loans from $1,000 to $3,500. It would permit the charging of 18 per cent per year interest on the maximum $3,500. The rate on loans under $300 would stay at 30 per cent per year.

MORTGAGE SECURITY

The most "dangerous" provision of the proposal would permit a company to take a real estate mortgage as security for the loan, Kelley said. The change means a person could lose his home if he failed to repay a loan of $1,001, he said.

★ ★ ★

"The percentage of defaults on small loans upon this act is substantial," the attorney general's letter said. "The present legislation prohibits this type of practice for good reason. I think it would be outrageous to permit such mortgages to be obtained."

A provision of the existing law would be removed which prohibits the company from requiring the borrower to purchase insurance before receiving the loan, Kelley said. It also permits the lender to collect legal fees involved if the loan is defaulted, he said.
