

Senators Flore Up as Dem Program Slumps

From Our News Wire
WASHINGTON — Political tempers flared in the Senate today as Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy's legislative program neared general collapse.
Kennedy's running mate—Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson—engaged Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., in sharp debate on the Senate floor.
He charged that Republican "obstructionism" was delaying action on the House Rules Committee de-

Journal of the pre-election session.
The debate began when Goldwater asked Johnson to give some idea when adjournment might be possible.
Goldwater quoted Kennedy as saying in effect that "we might as well go home."
Johnson said adjournment will become possible when Republicans "obstructionism" was delaying action on the House Rules Committee deto permit minimum wage, housing and education bills to go to conference. He said the Republicans are following obstructionist policies, and "obviously want to make a political season of this."

Goldwater retorted that the House Rules Committee is two-thirds Democratic. He said it is surprising to me that the Democrats can't control it.
Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., said "many of us" will fight efforts to adjourn before a long list of bills is considered.
He mentioned an immigration bill, a housing bill, an area redevelopment bill and a farm bill which he (Kennedy) said he would introduce during this session.
"We should not adjourn," Keating said, borrowing a favorite phrase of Johnson's, "until we have attended to the people's business."

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, Republican national chairman, said in a statement no recent Congress has "had so many Democrats floundering so much and producing so little."
He said the Democrats had planned the present session "to provide a free political forum for their ticket."
"Instead, they have spent wearisome days bickering, floundering and politicking and generally making a sorry spectacle of themselves to the nation—all at the taxpayers' expense," Morton said.
"Sen. Johnson's political strategy has blown up right in Sen. Kennedy's face. Sen. Kennedy's frantic appeal now is: How do we fold our tents and steal silently away in the night."
The conservative House Rules Committee gave a go-ahead signal today for a compromise on Kennedy's minimum wage legislation. By a vote of 8-3, it cleared the way for Senate and House conferees to work out differences between the bills passed by the two branches.
The Senate bill would hike the minimum wage from $1 to $1.50 hourly and extend coverage to about four million more workers.
The House bill would provide for $1.15 an hour and coverage for a million additional employees.
Senate-House conferees neared final agreement on a compromise version of Senate and House-approved proposals for medical care to the aged. But they put off final action on the legislation until later today.
A spokesman for U.S. Sugar Company interests in the Dominican Republic urged Congress to reject President Eisenhower's appeal for power to curb sugar imports from that nation.

Publisher Skims Alps; Rome 'Internally Hot'

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press
ROME — The flight into Rome from Paris is truly spectacular. Perhaps this is one of the great scenic flights on the globe.
We crossed the Alps and the Alps are universally awarded international championships for sheer beauty and grandeur.
We swirled across this tremendous spectacle at slightly better than 600 miles an hour and took an hour and a half to accomplish a trip that requires three days' hard driving in an automobile.
The captain announced we were at 29,000 feet and yet at times the peaks seemed uncomfortably close.
I'll guarantee one thing: The Alps afford no informal landing fields. Snow capped peaks are connected by deep ravines that seem bottomless and the grand old patriarchs of nature stand there silently and grimly but full of defiance.
"Just try us," they challenge. "We'll settle your hash but good."
Here is Nature's most impressive range of lofty peaks. It's her mountainous masterpiece.
But the newest manmade device sails along serenely at speeds the old gal never contemplated.
Occasionally fleecy clouds surrounded some of the loftier tops and provided a softer, ethereal background than the overall picture.
When we left Paris, the mercury stood at an even 60. But when we touched our wheels on the airport at Rome, the temperature had soared into the 90s.
Rome's internally hot, but the Romans don't seem to mind, and when in Rome do as the Romans do.
Aye. That's the program.

Olympic Games Launched in Rome

Some Clouds, Little Warmer Friday Forecast

Friday will be partly cloudy and a little warmer, the weatherman says. High temperatures will reach near 84. The low tonight is expected to be 62.
Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers or thunderstorms is the forecast for Saturday. Southeasterly morning winds at 12 miles per hour will become 10-20 miles.
Fifty-eight was the lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The temperature at 2 p.m. was 80.

Lenders to Back City Renewal, Furnish Loans

Hesitate, However, on Special Liberal Terms Designed by FHA
Representatives of Pontiac's three main lending institutions promised co-operation Wednesday with the upcoming urban renewal program, but hesitated to commit themselves to granting special, liberal term loans designed by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) for urban renewal areas.
Conventional loans will be available for relocation to new homes and rehabilitation of existing ones, said the representatives, including Earl Bartlett, vice president of Pontiac State Bank; James Clark, executive vice president of Pontiac Federal Savings & Loan Assn.; and John Nigaman, vice president of Community National Bank.
The three spoke at City Hall during a city-sponsored urban renewal clinic attended by 50 Pontiac real estate dealers and contractors.
They shrugged their shoulders when asked about the availability of the special FHA loans.
Another speaker, James Con-way, director of the Detroit FHA office, said after the meeting that local banks and savings and loan institutions generally shy away from the FHA's urban renewal loans.
"But mortgage companies and other institutions that make a practice of reselling mortgages to the FHA to insure loans on low-cost housing at full value over a 40-year period for families displaced through urban renewal."
In Pontiac, the loans would be on new homes of up to $15,000 in value, with a 250 down payment and an interest rate of 5 1/2 per cent.
The city already has asked for certification as an area that qualifies for the special loans, said Robert A. Stier, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator, who led the clinic.

Protest Entered by Nationalist China Athletes

They Must Take Part Under Name of Taiwan; Gronchi Delays Start
ROME (AP) — The 17th modern Olympic Games opened five minutes late today amid ancient pagentry, modern electronics, intense heat, brilliant sunshine and a minor note of discord.
The delay was caused by the late arrival of President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy.
When he did enter Rome's new marble stadium, 10 trumpets blared, and the long march of the athletes representing 85 countries began.
The discord was sounded by Nationalist China, told by the International Olympic Committee earlier this week that it must compete under the name of Taiwan.
The Chinese leader said his athletes would compete under protest, and the team marched into the stadium without designation, although the identification patches on their uniforms carried the Nationalist flag.
The Italian heat—the temperature was well into the 90s—caused the officials a minor problem.
They had cut each country's number of marchers to the extent that all would pass in review in 45 minutes. But the heat was so great that most countries couldn't provide even the curtailed number and a hurried call had to be sent to the Olympic village for volunteers.

Candidates Slip On Traveling Shoes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
No slack is being allowed in the tight schedules of the two hard-driving presidential contenders, back in Washington today from speaking dates in Virginia and Michigan.
Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, heads for New York City and then Detroit today while Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his Republican opponent, goes on television.
In his first campaign swing into the South, Kennedy questioned the experience of Nixon Wednesday night at nearby Alexandria, Va.
"Mr. Nixon is experienced—experienced in policies of weakness, retreat and defeat," he said.
In recent years, he said, there has been a decline in the nation's prestige, "driving our friends to neutrality, and neutrals to outright hostility."
Nixon told the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Detroit that the United States "must always be firm without being belligerent."
Kennedy is to address the VFW convention Friday morning. He stops in New York today to speak before a national Zionist meeting and flies to Detroit immediately afterward.
Nixon is to appear on the Jack Paar television show tonight. Paar will conduct the interview before an audience in the Washington studios of the National Broadcasting Co.
DEBATES CLOSER
The way was cleared for joint TV debates between the two candidates when President Eisenhower signed a bill lifting certain equal time restrictions on radio-TV broadcasts.
There are reports of increased activity over the religious issue in the campaign.
The distribution of rabidly anti-Catholic material already is many times greater than we've ever seen it, said Bruce L. Feltner, executive director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.
"Every indication is that the

Jailed in Breach of Curfew Law

Pontiac Youth Guilty of Encouraging Minor to Violate Deadline
Putting teeth into the state's new curfew law, Birmingham Associate Judge Edward Emery sentenced a Pontiac youth to four days in the Oakland County Jail Wednesday for encouraging a minor to violate the midnight deadline.
Ralph E. Wilkinson, 17, 127 Orchard Lane Avenue, pleaded guilty to a charge of inducing a minor to violate the curfew law. He was ordered to pay $5 court costs.
Arrested at 3:45 a.m. Tuesday night police found him with a 16-year-old boy in his car. Wilkinson was the first youth to be arrested and convicted in Birmingham under the new law.
"This is just about the same thing as contributing to delinquency," said Birmingham Juvenile Court Officer Jack Kalbfleisch.
"We've got the law and as long as we baby the individuals we won't get anywhere."
"The law without enforcement is useless," he added. "We've got it and we're going to use it."

Typhoon Fatal to 10

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Korea today officially listed 10 persons dead, 4 missing and 81 injured by Typhoon Carmen. There were 6,190 persons left homeless, 161 boats sunk or wrecked and 5,000 acres of farmland flooded.
The city already has asked for certification as an area that qualifies for the special loans, said Robert A. Stier, assistant city manager and urban renewal coordinator, who led the clinic.

Castro's Man to Harangue Party Worker Quits Dem Post

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP) — Foreign Minister Raul Roa of Cuba said today the Soviet bloc is Cuba's friend and accused the United States of meddling in its island republic, creating Caribbean tensions.
Their efforts charged Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa's plan to walk out on the conference after he delivers a blistering indictment of the United States and its foreign policy.
The favorable outcome of the conciliation meetings, however, did not change general belief that the conference would formally convene.
Cuba's Raul Roa was the main speaker at the conference went into its fourth and possibly last session and he vowed to hold the floor "perhaps seven hours — perhaps one hundred."
Informed sources said Roa was under new orders from Havana to make clear once and for all Cuba's scorn for the United States and the "pawns" which sit with it in the Organization of American States (OAS).
The clue to what would happen when the diplomatic was finished came in the announcement that a special airman was arriving from Havana today, ostensibly to take home some Cuban newsmen.
Most observers believed Roa's resignation actually were the scheduled passengers.

Madlyn Scott Resigns as Dinner Committee in Letter of Protest

With a blast at the new Democratic Party leadership in the county, Mrs. Madlyn Scott, dropped earlier this month as a party officer, resigned yesterday as chairman of the annual fund-raising congressional dinner.
In a letter of resignation to James M. Ginn, new chairman of the Democratic County Committee, Mrs. Scott complained:
"I have tried very hard to get real Democrats to work for the dinner but have found it was impossible due to the makeup of the county committee selected by precinct delegates and confirmed by delegates in the county."
Ginn took over the reins of the party earlier this month when a labor-liberal faction succeeded in seizing power from former chairman Carlos G. Richardson.

Bus Plunge in Brazil Fatal to 60 Persons

SAN JOSE DO RIO PRETO, Brazil — An anticipated celebration turned into tragedy late Wednesday as a bus plunged into a river, killing 60 of the 63 persons aboard.
Fifty-nine of the passengers were members of this city's high school band, traveling to Barretos to take part in anniversary festivities there.
The bus plummeted from a bridge into the Turvo River. Authorities said 45 bodies had been recovered by this morning.
The students were 15 to 30 years old.
The accident occurred near San Jose do Rio Preto and Barretos, 40 miles to the northeast. San Jose do Rio Preto is in Brazil's interior about 136 miles northwest of Sao Paulo.

Not Beaten, Birmingham Boy, 7, Says

The mysterious accident involving Mark Creasley, 7-year-old Birmingham boy, who sobbingly told his mother he had been beaten Wednesday by three young toughs, has been cleared up by Birmingham police.
Questioned at William Beaumont Hospital by Juvenile Court Officer Jack Kalbfleisch, the boy, who had been in a coma for nearly eight hours, admitted that he had fallen off his bicycle while riding in Eton Park.
Two 5-year-old boys earlier had told Kalbfleisch Mark had been with them in the park and had fallen off his bike while riding no-handed.
Mark is the son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Creasley, 1718 Holland Ave.

These include the $15,000,000 Kresge Library and the $2,000,000 science engineering building. Ground-breaking for these buildings will be in late September, with completion scheduled for the fall of 1963. The playing fields are expected to be completed by the time school begins Sept. 19. University officials hope that work can also begin this year on an intra-mural athletic building just beyond the playing fields and on four dormitory units which would be off the picture to the left.

Still No School Offered for Negroes of RO Twp.

Two dozen ninth graders in Royal Oak Township who have no school building for classes next month, school board members from a county group that met with the Pontiac Urban League and asked help in raising living standards in the day all-Negro community.

The 24 elementary school graduates are the first victims of a decision not to accept new students from the township into the already crowded Detroit secondary school system.

School superintendents from neighboring Oak Park and Ferndale told the group of Oakland County Democrats who asked for the meeting that their districts also are too crowded to accept more outsiders.

Superintendents Roy E. Robinson of Ferndale and Dr. James N. Pepper of Oak Park said the bar was based on questions of policy, not racial discrimination.

Ferndale already accepts many township children in its schools.

Dr. Lynn Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction, attended the meeting but could offer no ready solution.

"No school district can be forced to accept these children if it chooses to do," he said.

Everett Sparlock, executive secretary of the Pontiac Urban League, said there were "moral considerations" involved in the refusal of outside school districts to take the youngsters.

"This could become another national issue, like the Little Rock fracas," he said.

The township has its own fractional school district—the Carver School District—but only one school, and it for elementary pupils only.

"The meeting asked Sparlock to muster a seven-member committee of county officials to devise into the problems of the township and find, if possible, means to alleviate them."

The school situation, it was noted, reflects the poverty of the township, its low standard of living, its ghetto-like existence.

Sixteenth of a square mile in size, the township has 7,200 inhabitants, but this amounts to only half the number that lived there in public housing during World War II.

The area was described as one of slums, as a breeding ground for crime and vice, as a dumping ground for criminals.

Corruption of youth is one of the worst features of the township, said James Roberts, assistant prosecutor assigned to the area.

"Kids drop from school hoping to better their lot by earning money, find they can't get a job because of their age and lack of education, then turn to crime and vice," he said.

Sparlock promised action.

"The people of Royal Oak Township have been kicked around too much," he said. "It will be our purpose to take a good look at the problems and do something about them."

Expect Castro's Man Will Quit Conference

Cesar Turbay Ayala of Colombia said late Wednesday night Khrushchev had assured him there would be no walkout. At the same time, however, the Cuban requested that the order of speakers be reversed so that he appeared last.

The pattern for Khrushchev's denunciation was set Wednesday by Castro in a two-hour harangue denouncing the United States as an "enemy of humanity," mocking the present inter-American system as a creation of "Yankee imperialism" and boasting that Russia and Red China "are our friends."

Latin delegations hoping for some last-minute conciliatory gesture from the Havana regime were completely disheartened by Castro's new attack.

It was felt the Latin republics had no other choice than to fall in line with Secretary of State Christian A. Herter's demand that Cuba be condemned for "encouraging" Russian and Red Chinese "intervention" in the Americas.

Ecuador Wednesday night joined Colombia, Argentina and Peru in a final call for Cuba to renounce Russia's offer of military protection and return to the friendship of the inter-American community. But there was no sign of an affirmative response.

BIRMINGHAM — The board of education has announced the promotions and appointments of 10 persons to administrative posts in Birmingham schools.

The appointments, including three to the central office, were authorized at the board's last meeting.

James A. Burchett, Derby Junior High School principal, will take Nagley's place at Groves High School, the board announced.

Commenting on the appointments, a board of education spokesman said, "In the interest of a vigorous educational program in our schools we hope to continue to encourage exceptional leadership."

"We look toward their working as an effective team with our new superintendent in a forward-looking approach to the challenges which lie ahead."

Sometime Wednesday night thieves broke open a safe at the home of Robert L. Brown, 111 Parkman Drive, Bloomfield Hills, taking over $500 in cash, Bloomfield Hills Police reported today.

Last October Brown reported over $1,600 worth of household furnishings taken.

He told police that Wednesday night the thieves completely ransacked his home, possibly stealing his recently-married son's wedding gifts stored in the basement, as well as the cash.

Young Able to Describe Kidnap, Now Being Hunted in Illinois

CARBONDALE, Ill. (UPI)—A Carbonado man invaded a lover's lane early today and kidnapped a blonde waitress after shooting her boy friend.

Police cordoned off surrounding roads and planned an air search but the gunman apparently made a clean getaway with his kidnap victim, Mary Lilly Roberts, 17, a 5-foot-2-inch attractive blonde from Carbonado, Ill.

The wounded youth, John Bryant, 20, of Carbonado, was taken to a hospital in fair condition with a bullet wound in his head.

He gave authorities a description of the kidnaper's car, then lost consciousness.

Living Cost Rises Tenth of Pct. in July

WASHINGTON (AP)—Living costs rose one-tenth of 1 percent in July to set a record for the fifth straight month.

A boost in the price of haircuts helped and Detroit's cost of living up 6 percent from June to July.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics of the Department of Labor reported the increase today, listing a 5.1 percent increase in "personal care" among the particulars.

The Labor Department national living-cost index rose to 126.8 percent of the 1947-49 base.

The July increase, which it raised the figure to a record, was the smallest June-July rise since 1964.

Increases for food and gasoline, and a continued increase in prices for services, were main contributors to the record.

Boy Scouts Cite Local Cubmaster

A Pontiac man has been honored by the Boy Scouts of America as one of the outstanding cubmasters in the United States.

He is John E. Stepleton, 41 Miller St.

For his leadership to boys through scouting, the national leadership committee of the Boy Scouts awarded him a scholarship for the Philmont Volunteer Training Center on the Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, N.M.

He attended the National Cub Leaders Training Conference held there earlier this month.

Stepleton is cubmaster of Pack 8 sponsored by Crofoot School Parents-Teachers Association.

He has been active in scout leadership work for three years, averaging last two years as cubmaster of Pack 8.

A projects and research engineer at General Motors Truck and Coach Division, the 38-year-old Stepleton is active in the Christian Service Brigade, the First Baptist Church Sunday School, the National Rifle Association, and the Society of Automotive Engineers.

He is married and has two sons. Both boys are active scouts—John, 13, as a member of Troop 130 sponsored by the Crofoot PTA, and Chris, 8, a cub in Pack 8.

Party Worker Quits as Dinner Chairman

a whole new slate of candidates for county committee posts.

Mrs. Scott was one of Richardson's group who fell by the wayside.

"Inasmuch as I am not on the group selected for the county committee, I honestly don't feel I could get any of the persons to work for me—at many of them are not even in the county during the day."

"I therefore did not feel they would be able to contribute much to the success of the event," she added.

Mrs. Scott, who still is a Watford Township precinct delegate, said "real housewife" would still be waiting for the party on the state and national levels.

"When I accepted the chairmanship of the dinner, I did not anticipate such wide and definite reply among Democrats and other groups within the party."

Mrs. Scott dropped off her letter of resignation at county headquarters yesterday afternoon. She was unavailable for comment later.

"I was very surprised to hear of this," Ginn said. "She's a very fine person and an active party worker."

Mrs. Scott was appointed dinner chairman by Richardson before the liberal-labor forces took over.

Forest Fire End Expected Soon

3,300 Men Secure Lines Around Blaze in High Sierras

TRUCKEE, Calif. (UPI)—Forestry officials expressed optimism today that their five-day battle against raging forest fires in the High Sierras may soon be over. But it will take a generation to restore the charred 75,000 acres of timber destroyed by three blazes, which caused an estimated loss of five million dollars.

The situation was described as "very good" at Donner Ridge, where some 3,300 men secured lines around all but three miles of the 18-mile perimeter of the fire north of Lake Tahoe. Officials hoped to have the blaze completely contained today.

The Donner Ridge fire destroyed 40,000 acres and burned to within 2 1/2 miles of Truckee, a railroad and resort town of 2,000 persons. A 30,000-acre blaze at Foresthill still was open on an 11-mile front. However, five smokejumpers were dropped into the area to prepare a heliport for the landing of 300 firefighters by helicopter today. The fire was expected to be contained Friday.

A 6,000-acre fire at north Star Junction was contained Tuesday and brought under control Wednesday.

Forestry officials explained that containment did not mean control. It means merely the lines have been forced around the fires—but they are not strong enough to hold in the event of adverse weather conditions.

Smoke winds were predicted for today, but chances of higher temperatures and lower humidities could hamper the fire-fighting efforts.

The Department of Defense was created Sept. 18, 1947, joining the Department of War, the Navy and the Air Force under a single head.

No Privileges for Unions, Urges Indiana Professor

EAST LANSING, Pa. — Trade unions should be tolerated at best, said economist B. A. Rogge of Wabash College.

They should in no way be encouraged or given special privileges and immunities, the Indiana professor wrote in the summer issue of "Business Topics," a publication by the Michigan State University graduate school of business administration.

"I am proposing that we place trade unions on the same basis as all other groupings in our economy and that whatever rules apply to the others would apply to unions as well," he said.

Government encouragement and protection of trade unionists violates equality before the law, he said.

He is opposed to right-to-work laws, he said, but regards their popularity as symbolizing the kind of authoritarian answer that is almost certain to become more popular.

Co-Champions Defeated

ALTOONA, Pa. — Louisville scored three unearned runs in the eighth inning to beat defending co-champion Cincinnati, 4-1 today in the National Amateur Baseball Federation tournament.

In other first round games, Youngstown (Ohio) trimmed Cleveland 3-1, Dayton (Ohio) shaded Chicago 6-5, Detroit, vainglorious Philadelphia 10-2, Maryland State beat Buffalo 8-4, and Gambrell (Ohio) defeated Pittsburgh 8-4.

Kennedy Runs Into Trouble on His Measures

President Racking Up Some Good Gains From Dem Congress

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower seemed on the way today toward getting more satisfaction out of the Democratic Congress than Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, has run into trouble from a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats in his efforts to produce legislation aimed at crossing the "new frontier," he has been talking about. Partly because of ominous world events, Eisenhower is racking up to get passed.

some gains in the international field. And the coalition is giving him some things in the domestic area that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the GOP presidential nominee, can talk about in the campaign. Eisenhower's batting average on the 21-point program he resubmitted to the post-convention session apparently will be a respectable .334. Kennedy may hit only .250. On four major measures he hoped to get passed.

Eisenhower got practically everything he asked for when the Senate passed a $3,989,054,000 foreign aid bill Wednesday. Even if disturbances in the Congo and Cuba contributed to this result, it came in a field dear to Eisenhower's heart. On the way toward final action is a bill to provide medical care on a federal-state matching basis. This is essentially the Eisenhower formula as opposed to the Senate-rejected Kennedy plan to finance such a program through Social Security taxes. If Congress finally passes a minimum wage bill, it probably will fit the Eisenhower administration pattern more closely than Kennedy's broader bill providing a higher minimum and extending coverage to more persons. The President got senate approval of the Antarctic treaty and appears likely to get congressional authorization for a 600-million-dollar Latin American aid program.

His proposal to put a food-for-peace plan before the United Nations — which the Democrats say they proposed first—is before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with indications that it will get quick action. A 100-million-dollar increase in the mutual security contingent fund was approved by the Senate. JACK DISAPPOINTED On the other hand, the congressional session has been a political disappointment thus far for Kennedy. In order to avoid a filibuster which might have tied the Senate in knots, the Democratic nominee joined in a vote to kill a hastily produced administration civil rights bill. He lost his fight for the kind of a medical care bill he wanted and condemned the measure passed by the Senate as inadequate. In the rush for adjournment before Labor Day, school construction and housing bills which have been locked up in the House Rules Committee appear likely to be postponed. That leaves only the minimum wage measure as a likely survivor of his social legislation program. And that troublesome combination of Republicans and Southern Democrats confronts him even there in his efforts to get an agreement on terms acceptable to both houses. Iowa has approximately 25 percent of the grade A farm land of the U. S.

Harriman in Senegal on Tour for Kennedy

DAKAR, Senegal (AP) — W. Averell Harriman arrived in Senegal today to start an African fact-finding tour for Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee. Harriman declined to make any statement after his overnight flight from Paris but said he would hold a news conference Friday. He will also visit Conakry, Mounrovia, Accra, Lagos, Brazzaville, Leopoldville and perhaps Elisabethville before returning home in mid-September. The U. S. is twice as densely populated as all of Russia.

New Michigan Curfew Could Be Beneficial

Good or bad, a new state curfew went into effect last week. It will make it illegal for Michigan youngsters under 16 to be on the streets between midnight and 6 a.m.

The law is for unincorporated areas where no local regulation is in effect. Some rural areas seem delighted and are hailing the new law as one way to fight teen-age crime.

Others such as the Michigan Crime and Delinquency Council are outspoken in their criticism of the curfew. The new law is really quite broad and will actually only reach 5 or 10% that are not supervised.

Local communities may adopt their own law or make stricter regulations as they see fit. For the areas that do not have statutes provided, no method is now available to get the teen-agers off the streets at a respectable hour.

It would seem that the control that this law will offer some of our unincorporated areas should be helpful. Idle youngsters congregating on any public street or highway between midnight and 6 a.m. can be up to no good.

Let's give it a try. At least it is some definite action that could lead to some better all around study of the whole curfew problem.

Hammerstein's Death Saddens Music World

A star has fallen in the untimely death of OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN II. His shingle was on New York's Broadway, but he was known by millions of Americans across the land.

Theatrical history has had many near and great personalities over the years. It will be difficult for any to be remembered like this gentle man that penned such favorites as "O! Man River" and "When I Grow Too Old to Dream."

HAMMERSTEIN was beloved by everyone. His name was a byword in musical shows and his lyrics will long be remembered.

Probably his best known musical work was "Oklahoma" which set an all time record for its run in New York. Like most plays many Americans did not see it, but few were not familiar with its songs.

The contributions Mr. Hammerstein is leaving behind from his chosen field are great. He worked for himself, to be sure, but oddly enough his work brought great laughter and sorrow to his public.

His passing will leave us poorer, but his career should be a permanent inspiration to all Americans. Not many men will leave as definite a mark when they pass on.

A grand American has taken his last curtain call.

Laotian Government Stresses Neutrality

Leader of the successful Laos rebellion, Capt. KONG LE says the reason for the coup d'etat was simply that the people were tired of civil war and wanted a "government that will incline neither toward the free world nor the Communist world."

Premier SOMSAKHIT was forced to resign and was replaced by moderate Prince SOUVANNA PHOUMA who headed the government prior to 1958 during an unsuccessful effort to make peace with the leftist Pathet Lao group. His half brother, Prince SORPHAN VONG leads that Communist dominated group. The new premier naively feels he can come to some agreement with his relative and so unite his country.

Under the terms of the 1854 Indochina settlement Laos was intended to be neutral and under the protection of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization (SEATO). As a further safeguard United Nations observers are on duty there at the present time.

One cause of concern is the fact that a junior captain was able to rally 1,000 men and take over a country guarded by 30,000 men and to dictate its policy. Furthermore, despite U.S. aid to Laos, more per capita than to any other country, anti-Americanism played a large part in the coup.

Because of its strategic importance as a buffer against the Communists to the north, any change in the Laotian government is of vital interest to the free world. SEATO members are meeting in an emergency session to discuss the situation.

The Man About Town Again After Oil

Drilling for the Black Gold To Resume in This Area

Romance: What starts when she sinks in his arms and ends with her arms in the sink.

Encouraged by the success, although of a somewhat limited nature, in our neighboring county, the same syndicate is soon to begin drilling for oil in Oakland County. Operations are scheduled to start within a few days.

The first pipe will be sunk on the former Elmer Prick farm in our Addison Township, about 18 miles northeast of Pontiac. It is located midway between Lakeville and Leonard.

The farm now is owned by Richard Young, who is the head of the syndicate that has put down a number of wells a few miles northeast of there. Two of these wells are each producing about 200 barrels per day.

In some of these wells oil was found around the 3,600-foot mark. Others were sunk to 6,000 feet with no trace of it. The last attempt at finding oil under Oakland County was made seven years ago near Andersonville, in Springfield Township, about 12 miles northwest of Pontiac. The pipe was driven down about 5,000 feet, with no oil in paying quantities.

The drilling went through a strata of salt several hundred feet thick. This finding has suggested a development in that location of a salt producing project.

They may raise taller corn out in the country, but.

Orville Farmer, of 202 Mechanic St., surely holds the Pontiac City honors, with some 16 feet high. Anyway, a man by that name should know how to grow corn.

Mrs. R. C. Blanding of Clarkston, who writes: "We moved out here from Detroit, principally because our friends here had sent us clippings of your column, telling what a wonderful section you have. And we find it even better than you printed."

"After fishing from coast to coast," says a letter from Gordon Mastock who recently moved to Keego Harbor. "I find that nothing can beat an Oakland County blugli for rich taste and wholesome goodness."

With a Pontiac postmark, a letter comes from

How Far Can Kennedy Lead Party?

WASHINGTON—The biggest news of the presidential campaign passed Tuesday night in Congress. A coalition of Democrats and Republicans in the Senate applied the brakes on unnecessary spending. Even though, for political purposes, the candidates of both parties wanted other legislation, the majority stuck to the fundamental principle that, regardless of party, the most important duty today is to prevent inflation and excessive governmental spending.

For many years now the Democrats have had majority control of Congress. But the Democratic party is split. Approximately 20 Democrats who are against inflationary spending usually join with 31 or more Republicans to make a majority against the "spenders." Although this happened several times, the most significant vote of all has just come on medical-care legislation. Because of its political importance, it was assumed that the Democrats would uphold Sen. Kennedy's position.

Despite the fact that the presidential candidate of their party was directly involved and that nearly all the Democratic senators have publicly stated their intentions to vote for the Kennedy-Johnson ticket, the so-called "conservative" group adhered to its principles and brushed aside partisan politics.

This means a good deal to the nation and especially to those voters who had begun to fear that if a change in administration should occur in January, there would be a spending orgy.

There were two proposals offered to the Senate as substitutes for the Senate Finance Committee bill. One, sponsored by a Republican group, wanted to provide a larger program of medical care but outside the Social Security system.

The cost would have been paid on a fifty-fifty arrangement between the states and the federal government. This aid would have been available on a voluntary basis to persons over 65 with incomes of less than $3,000 for an individual or $4,500 for a couple with beneficiaries paying not less than 10 per cent of the cost. It was estimated that the bill would have cost the federal treasury $150 million a year. This was rejected.

THE OTHER PROPOSAL, sponsored by Sen. Kennedy, would have required an increase in the Social Security tax. Everyone retired under Social Security would be eligible for medical benefits at age 68, with no distinction made between those who need and those who don't need such benefits. The cost was figured at about $700 million annually, but it was estimated that the additional tax on everybody's paychecks would total around $1 billion a year.

The Senate, after rejecting both substitute plans, finally passed the finance committee bill requiring an estimated $326 million a year from the federal government, though some argued that the cost would eventually be higher. The benefits would go only to needy persons over 65 years of age and those on old-age assistance. The states would determine who would be eligible and how big a program is needed.

To transfer to the federal government the whole burden of medical care for the aged didn't seem to be the majority in the Senate to be wise. It appears the House will take the same view in adjusting in conference the differences between the Senate bill and a somewhat similar measure already passed by the House calling for a smaller total of federal funds. It might have been thought that, during a political campaign, the Democrats would take a chance and pass any bill their candidate wanted and then let the blame fall on President Eisenhower, who, it is known, planned to veto any extreme measures.

But the Democrats who joined with the Republicans in voting

Dr. William Brady Says:

Belief Ice Water Delays Digestion Is Not Factual

There's a difference between "ice-cold" and "ice water"—if it's ice-cold it is freezing, whereas "ice water" is merely water cooled by ice—cooled until ice is melted and the water begins to get warm.

If a normal, resting woman drinks a glass of ice water (temperature 30 degrees), the temperature within her stomach reaches normal (98.6 degrees) in twenty minutes.

If one drinks more than a simple glass of ice water, it will of course take longer for the stomach to regulate the temperature, hence, there will be a corresponding delay in digestion.

TESTED EVERYTHING

So said Prof. Philip B. Hawk in his book "What We Eat and What Happens to It." Harper and Row, probably out of print now but available in the public library. Dr. Hawk who tested everything on volunteer subjects, said the popular belief that ice water cools in the stomach for a considerable time, chilling the organ and delaying the digestion to a pronounced degree, has no basis in fact.

This applies to iced tea, iced coffee, iced lemonade or what ever other cold beverage you may prefer. It applies even to "pop," although indulging in pop—except on rare occasions—is unwholesome, in my judgment.

As for iced coffee, chocolate, cream and the carbonated drinks, they are healthful for adults, if used in moderation, but in my opinion harmful to children under 16 years of age.

Healthful beverages for growing children are milk, lemonade.

Voice of the People

'Voting Is Serious Move for All U.S. Citizens'

In this election year, I wonder how many voters are considering the serious choice we are about to make? We aren't just voting for the men of our choice or the party of our choice. We must stop and realize the platform they are endorsing.

It hardly seems possible that we have American citizens who are willing to give up all freedom of the right to work, or who are willing to apologize for communism under defense measures. Really, such petty observations as the hands of a candidate's wife, or the fact that our paper sounds prejudiced are quite ridiculous.

I'm only thankful we still have the freedom to voice an opinion. Wake up to the serious consequences of this election! Realize we are voting with our very individual freedoms. Let's vote for the policies which will ensure our rights, as we have always known them, and leave politics out of our voting.

A Concerned Citizen

'Excellent Treatment at General Hospital'

As a recent surgical patient at Pontiac General Hospital, I would like to give a few words of praise for the best of care received.

The food was good and always served hot. I appreciated the convenience of the telephone in the room, but above all, I appreciated the visiting period from 10:00 noon to 5:00 p.m. Because of this, visitors do not crowd the room in any one period, but visiting is staggered and patients do not become overly tired. All hospitals would do well to adopt this plan.

Best of all, brotherhood is being practiced there. All races worked together side by side to give treatment to all patients, regardless of their race.

'Cemetery's Action Unsportsmanlike'

Mrs. R.W.M. said in the Voice of the People that George Nash was unsportsmanlike for buying a lot in White Chapel Cemetery and wishing to be buried there. I say White Chapel was unsportsmanlike for selling it to George Nash. In fact, I think it is worse than that. Touching the subject of his disturbing other people's thoughts, he didn't. White Chapel did. We're American people are not disturbed at something like this when we are no longer Americans.

Commends Fire Department for Service

The Pontiac Fire Department is deserving of highest commendation for the great effort in trying to save a life. My husband expired by reason of a coronary occlusion, but while there was a spark of life, and even after, three members of the department did everything in their power to revive him with oxygen and inhalator.

While my personal gratitude is to these three, I feel that they are but worthy members of a dedicated group, devoting their lives and abilities to public service.

May God, in His mercy, give them power and grace in future efforts, and may few of those efforts be futile.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Some Still Ruled by Superstition

Notice the "chain letter" racket below. Superstition is a sign of ignorance. But millions of adult Americans are gullible. They are often the gambler type who squander money on the horse, thinking in child-like fashion that luck or magic rules the world.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE F. 452: Here's a recent letter which I received. "This is a Good Luck letter. It was sent to me from Tokyo by an American soldier and I am sending it on within 24 hours."

"This letter has a lot around the world three times. The person who breaks this chain will have a lot of luck."

"Do not break this chain! You must post your copies within 24 hours after receiving this letter."

"Send a copy to each of seven other people at once. It will also bring them Good Luck."

"One person won $7,000. A doctor lost $5,000 by breaking this chain."

"Send no money. See what happens three days after you break this chain."

These chain letters appear and reappear from time to time. They show that many modern Americans are still not far removed from the gullible witch burners at Salem Mass. has been.

It has also been estimated by one of our leading psychologists that at least 80 per cent of our people believe in quick character analysis.

They will pay hard earned money

'MOMMY, I'M TIRED'—Three-year-old Kathy Stockus seems about to cry as she rests her head on a top Santa Claus at the end of a "Christmas in August" party in her Philadelphia home. The party was arranged because the little girl had said she wanted to "see Santa Claus once more." Doctors have told the little girl's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Stockus, that the three-year-old is acutely ill with leukemia and has only about two more months to live.

No Chance for Eisenhower to Meet With Khrushchev

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UPI) — Authoritative sources said Wednesday that if President Eisenhower decides to come to next month's General Assembly Session, he will not meet or consult with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

These sources said no decision had been reached on whether the President would decide to deliver the United States speech in the assembly's general, or policy, debate.

Usually, this is done by the secretary of state. But a plan is under consideration to have Eisenhower, in a farewell U. N. appearance, replace Christian A. Herter for the speech.

Russia has suggested a head-of-government disarmament debate in the assembly and Khrushchev has said he would like to come to such a session.

However, authoritative sources said that if Eisenhower and Khrushchev both should come here, there was no possibility of holding their first conference since the Russian insulted the President and broke up the Paris summit conference in May.

There would be no arrangements for Eisenhower to meet Khrushchev and no possibility of negotiations on disarmament or any other subject, they said.

A recent wedding ceremony at Montafone, Yugoslavia, 20 miles from Trieste, was conducted in a cave 130 feet underground.

Plague of Rats Caused by Lake

Kariba Dam Backs Up Waters, Provides Feast for Batoka Natives

SALISBURY, Rhodesia (UPI) — The Pied Piper of Binga is keeping a sharp eye on Lake Kariba, hoping for another plague of rats.

But Dr. James Mundie would be satisfied if they never came back.

Mundie, a government medical officer at Binga on the shores of Lake Kariba, wrote in a privately-circulated Ministry of Health Newsletter not long ago that the rats were eating him out of home, hospital and typewriter keys.

"To date, they have eaten the fly-sheet of my tent, two felts, three pairs of socks, the inside of my gun-case, some of my wife's clothing and the shift-key of this typewriter," Mundie wrote.

The rats, it seems, were being driven out of the valley by the rising waters of the lake, backed up by the huge Kariba Dam, Africa's biggest.

Salvation came in the form of the African pied piper, whom Mundie did not name.

This laborer, he said, discovered that rats were a real delicacy to the local Batoka tribesmen. So the Batoka women put down their two-foot-long calabash pipes and went hunting rats for the men's suppers.

The enterprising pied piper organized rat catching on a commercial scale, netting an average of 60 a day from traps along the lake shore. Then he sold them to the villagers for a penny each.

Within days, he had cleaned up the plague of rats.

But, Mundie noted ominously, the waters of the lake will start rising again when the rains come. And when the waters rise, so do the rats.

Four Cars Crash Inside Display Room

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Police reported that a four-car accident occurred in the middle of a local automobile dealer's showroom.

Glenn Burdick, owner of the agency, said a mechanic was working under the hood of a car parked in front of the showroom.

The mechanic apparently crossed the starting wires and the car, parked in reverse, booted through a plate glass window and into the other three cars.

Damage was estimated at $1,000. There were no injuries.

Better Arrives Too Late, Proprietor Is Arrested

BOSTON (UPI) — A veteran police sergeant and a detective who raided an alleged horse race betting establishment admitted they were a bit shocked when, just after the proprietor was arrested, a patron arrived to place a few bets.

She was a 13-year-old girl who appeared with $6 to place bets for her mother.

E. Reich Calls Expert Traitor

West Speculates He Is Scapegoat for Jet Airliner Failure

BERLIN (AP)—One of the top brains of the East German aircraft industry, Manfred Gerlach, 55, has confessed to betraying secrets of Communist jet aircraft production to West Germany, East German authorities announced today.

The Communist party newspaper, Neues Deutschland reported that the engineer's trial for espionage opened in Dresden Wednesday. The East German regime also announced Wednesday the arrest of 147 alleged agents for the American espionage service.

Western officials speculated that the Communist regime might be making Gerlach the scapegoat for the delay in producing the long-promised East German jet airliner.

The first prototype was supposed to have been ceremonially handed over to Communist party head Walter Ulbricht on May 1, 1959. But it crashed on a test flight the previous March and was destroyed. There were unofficial reports of arrests after the crash but no word of any trial. Last November the prototype of a smaller 30-passenger jet was reported due for delivery in 1961, but nothing has been heard of the project since.

Neues Deutschland said Gerlach "admitted his guilt," saying he had acted out of "feelings of enmity and hate" against East Germany and the whole Communist camp.

The report added that he was equipped with special American cameras, special paper for his spy reports and an innocent-looking teddy bear rigged up to conceal his films.

Berle Lives His Philosophy

'Blow Your Top to Prevent Ulcers'

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Milton Berle, rich and famous and owner of a stockpile of at least eight million jokes, has a simple formula for staying healthy—blow your top.

"The quickest way to get ulcers is to hold in your feelings when you are upset or annoyed," the comedian said.

"I believe in letting them out—not in tears, but verbally. A good shout can prevent an ulcer."

"I learned that early in television. You have to let off steam."

"I believe this is true—not only in the theatrical field, but in social life, at home and in business. It is one of the secrets of not getting in bad with your stomach."

Berle is a man who practices what he preaches. During a recent luncheon he was interrupted by a series of telephone calls. At each he erupted as regularly as a geyser.

"Everybody thinks I'm Alexander Graham Bell," he grumbled. But he currently is in a state of personal euphoria and wide good will. Next month he acts as host on a bowling program.

"I've made so many comebacks I couldn't count them," he remarked cheerfully.

"This is something new in my career, but I've been a sports enthusiast all my life."

At 32, a veteran of 42 years in show business, the fast-talking comic says he has no real professional goal left to conquer.

He has starred in vaudeville, movies, radio and television, and he is still one of the nation's highest-paid night club performers.

A lifetime contract with the National Broadcasting Co. guarantees him a six-figure income annually until 1980.

"I kept a copy of every routine I ever did, and I've done thousands," he said, flicking the ashes from a fat 7 1/2-inch cigar. He says he smokes or gives away 25 of these expensive cigars a day, which makes his annual bill in the neighborhood of $10,000.

"I believe I have one of the largest joke files in the world. It has about 2 1/2 million cards on which are cross-indexed between eight and 10 million jokes."

"I rarely use it myself—I keep about 200,000 jokes ready in my head—but I've made it available free to young comics coming up, and I've willed it to the Library of Congress."

Many people have wondered how he has stayed on top so many years, but Berle, still as brash as a burp at a wedding ceremony, has no doubt he feels it is the quality of endurance beaten into him by hard times in their youth.

"Too many people simply give up too easily. You have to keep the desire to forge ahead, and here is Berle's philosophy. You have to be able to take the blows of unsuccess," he said.

"You have to be able to flop at it. Do the best you can, when you flop, to die at Steubenville, can, if you can. Make people—and still go on. Success is just laugh and be happy yourself, or the whole thing isn't worth while."

Muskegon Officials Plan Court Appeal

MUSKEGON (AP)—City officials today planned a Supreme Court appeal from a $40,000 judgment awarded a workman who was injured in the collapse of a building being razed for a municipal parking lot.

A Circuit Court jury ended trial of the case before Judge Noel P.

For by awarding the damages in favor of Bernard Corbett, G. Corbett filed suit claiming permanent injuries, medical expenses and loss of earning power in the mishap Nov. 10, 1955. He claimed he suffered the injuries while employed by a private contractor engaged by the city to demolish the building.

Three other suits totaling $150,000, also claiming the city was negligent, are pending in the case. An average milk bottle makes 30 trips before breakage.

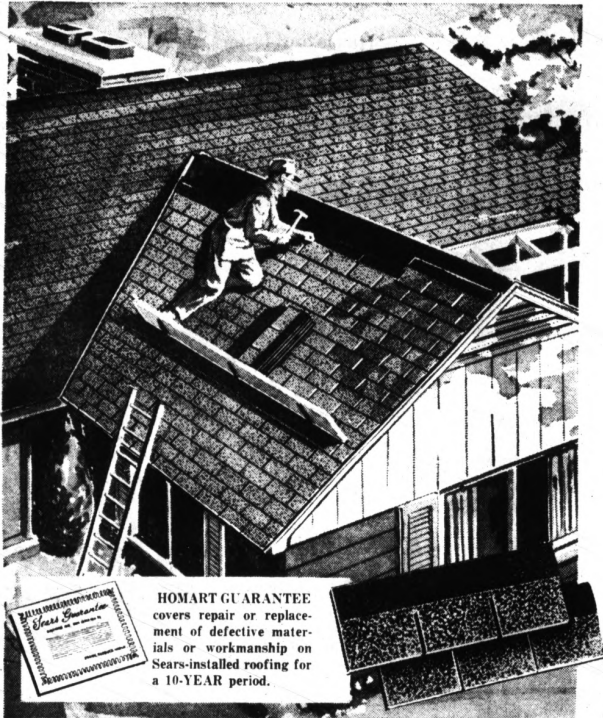

Chilean Rioters Quelled

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP)—Police dispersed striking hospital workers Wednesday night with tear gas bombs after they marched on the Congress Building shouting "Chile yes, Yankees no." The leftist strikers are demanding higher wages.

Because of the influence of the Japanese currents, sections of the Alaska coast have temperatures that seldom fall below zero in winter.

Bonn Totals Count on Russian Spies

BOON, Germany (AP)—A total of 1,270 Communist secret agents surrendered voluntarily to West German authorities in the first six months of this year, the government reported today.

A spokesman said West German courts sentenced 1,279 spies for East bloc nations between Aug. 30, 1951, and the end of 1959. An additional 17,182 agents were caught but were not punished for compassionate reasons or because they readily confessed their guilt, he said.

East German security officials who defected said the Communist bloc currently is using 16,000 agents in West Germany, and West Berlin, and that this number is being maintained despite the yearly loss of 2,400 to 2,800 agents, the spokesman reported.

Spilled Milk Calls for Money—Not Tears

BREWER, Maine 48 — There's no use crying over spilled milk— even 30 gallons of it.

A Canadian woman tourist, a milk truck driver and Brewer police agreed on that after the woman went through a stop sign. The truck had to stop so quickly that its cargo of milk cans upset. The woman paid for the milk and went on her way.

Confederate Daughters Get Large Rebel Safe

RICHMOND, Va. 48—A Confederate safe which has been gathering dust in the basement of the Richmond postoffice has been turned over to the United Daughters of the Confederacy which will exhibit it at the headquarters here. Postmaster Fergus McRae says he doesn't know the age of the safe, which weighs about a ton, but assumes it has been in the postoffice since before the Civil War.

Hazy Wisp Is Galaxy

NEW YORK — The most distant object visible to the naked eye is a hazy wisp in the constellation Andromeda. Once believed to be a nebula or a luminous cloud of gas, it now is known to be a galaxy like the Milky Way. It lies so far away from the earth that its light, traveling 185,000 miles a second, requires about 2,000,000 years to reach the earth. Its diameter measures 100,000 light years.

Williamsburg, the restored capital of Virginia, is about a mile long and half-mile wide.

Reaction to 'Manipulation' Slow

Easy Money Trend Pokes Along

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—How far and how fast will the trend toward easier money spread?
Short-term interest rates turned downward months ago. The first signs of easier mortgage terms have been reported. But it was only this week that the banks took the first step toward making business borrowing cheaper.

Convict Ex-Con in Sex Slaying

Killed 11-Year-Old Girl
Jury Launches Probe of Perversion Causes

BOONVILLE, Ind. (UPI) — Ex-Convict Emmett Hashfield has been indicted on first-degree murder charges in the sex slaying of Avril Terry, 11, last week.

A Warrick County grand jury Wednesday returned the indictment charging Hashfield, 33, with premeditated kidnapping and slaying of Avril, the daughter of a Boonville physician.

The jury then launched a "circuit" probe of the causes and cures of sexual perversion. The panel ordered nine civil leaders to act as an investigating committee to examine the problem.

Prosecutor Fred L. Mock said Hashfield would be arraigned Sept. 20 in Circuit Court.

He will be defended by Jack Broadfield, an Indianapolis attorney. Broadfield agreed to represent Hashfield after several other lawyers turned down the case.

Hashfield has served four terms in Indiana penal institutions for sex crimes against children.

that easier money would need a sluggish economy. The bulls said as inspired by government financial agencies and aimed at getting business on the go again. But many brokers aren't so sure that the easier money trend will spread to all bank borrowers soon. The cut to 4 1/2 per cent from 5 per cent was in the prime rate. And that is afforded only to a relatively few of the biggest corporations with the best credit ratings. These are the ones that are said to suffer least when money is tight and dear.

The majority of bank loans are made at higher rates. And each bank—with an eye on what his competitor is doing—determine how prime a customer is and how much he should pay for whatever money the bank is able and willing to lend him.

Even the charmed circle of those enjoying the prime, or lowest, interest charge is subject to contraction in times of tight money, or to expansion when the banks have idle money on their hands they need to put to work.

BANKS LOANED UP
Many banks complain that they are loaned up at present. This is especially true in some booming sections, such as the Pacific Coast, where bankers are saying there's no slackening in demand for loans and no reason for them to cut interest charges. And lending conditions and rates are often quite different in the big cities and the smaller ones.

While these banks may drop the prime rate, they can prune the prime list. And some say they may.

The Federal Reserve Board has taken pains to see that the banks as a whole have more money they can lend. It has twice cut the costs of borrowing such money from its banks, once in June and again this month.

And between today and next Thursday it is relaxing various bank reserve requirements so that in all some $60 million dollars more will be made available. These added reserves could be used to swell loans by about $1 billion dollars.

This should come in handy, since demand for business loans normally turns upward in the fall as factories borrow to produce and retailers to carry stocks for the Christmas trade.

And the banks will find it handy in bolstering their profits. Some see the added supply of lendable funds and the expected increase in demand for loans bringing in enough to offset any cut in interest charges likely in the next few months.

But for the banks' customers the question still is: When can I get money cheaper and how much cheaper?

For the lucky few on the prime list the answer is a cut of one-half of one per cent right now. In terms of earnings this means a drop of one-quarter of one per cent, since corporations change off interest costs before splitting earnings with the U. S. Treasury roughly $0.50.

For the majority of bank borrowers the answer is: It depends on the conditions where you are located, on your bank's opinion of your credit rating, and whether it is already loaned up or has some idle money to lend.

Want to Bounce TV Signals Around Earth

Space-Talking Scientists Just Beginning

HOLMDEL, N.J. (UPI) — The two scientists who probably have held telephone conversations via outer space than anyone else say their early talks are only the beginning.

If the recently launched Echo I communications satellite balloon stays on course for a few more weeks, the men hope to do even more talking. They also have their sights set on bouncing television signals around the earth.

The men are William C. Jakes Jr., 38, engineer in charge of the scientific and technical team at the Bell Telephone Laboratories here and Walter Victor, also 38, section chief of communications at Goldstone, Calif.

Since the 19-story radio mirror balloon was launched from Cape Canaveral by the National Aeronautics and Space Agency (NASA) Aug. 12, Jakes and Victor have held frequent telephone conversations across country, by relaying their messages off the balloon, 1,000 miles in outer space.

Last week the scientists participated in the first radio transmission from Europe, and the United States by bouncing a message from Holmdel to Issey, France, and at the beginning of the month they continued with each other via the moon.

Tuesday night voice messages and a recording of "America the Beautiful" were transmitted to the Jodrell Bank Experimental Station in England.

The main problem the two scientists face right now is how long will they be able to use the satellite balloon.

GOOD RECEPTION

"So far we're very pleased about it (the satellite)," Victor said in Goldstone. "The quality of the voice is good — at least as good as the telephone lines, and is better than hi-frequency radio."

"The only complaint we have, is that we can't talk long enough to each other," Victor said. "We're also wondering how long we will be able to look at it. The satellite is in the sun all the time, and soon will be in the earth's shadow. What happens then, we don't know."

Victor and Jakes hope the balloon will stay up for at least two more weeks. "Even if it deflates, pleased with the results of the re- some, the rough surfaces may still lay message testing so far, and hopes the testing can continue for the earth."

At Holmdel, Jakes is equally quite some time.

State's Alaska Homesteaders Really Rugged

Editor's Note: This is the first of ten stories by outdoors writer and author Howard Shelley of the State's Alaska homesteaders. Part of the story was a week's stay with Mrs. Jerry Donaldson.

By HOWARD SHELLEY
(Special to The Pontiac Press)

The foremost item of interest in our recent 25-day jaunt through out Alaska was the week spent across the turbulent waters of the Sushina River.

A quick hop-stop-and-jump, and we were quartering into a narrow runway in Sherry Bradley's sail field. The honey landing caused the right door to fly open, and we were sprayed with mud and water.

A chap from the nearby sawmill hauled us by jeep the remainder of two and one-half miles west on the Cache Creek Road to the homestead of Jerry and Bertha Donaldson.

It was just like repaying a visit to old friends. Instead of staying two days we enjoyed the Donaldson hospitality for a full week.

To turn we visited other homesteaders and learned directly of their trials which I personally prefer calling "the hard knocks of experience." during their first 16 months in Alaska.

FROM MICHIGAN

Presently the homesteaders in the Sushina Valley comprise 25 in number, of which 20 are from Michigan.

Make no mistake about it, these hardy settlers can quality as pioneers. Just ask an old-time Alaskan soundroving the meaning of the term, and he will quickly state that it implies or refers to an outsider, greenhorn or "Cheechako" who has weathered the storm and withstood a full year in the bush, and henceforth is appropriately considered a genuine Alaskan soundrover.

Truly, the homesteaders have learned this one de plume.

Their cooperative efforts of the first summer brought about discouragement in some and a fighting spirit in others. This resulted in their agreeing to disagree, and the originally intended cooperative phase of the venture thus ended last fall.

Now, each homesteader is primarily on his own. However, they still trade labor, borrow much needed items, and visit their neighbors much as before.

The first exceedingly difficult year in the bush has taught them many things. They have definitely proved that things will grow in the Sushina Valley. It was heartening to see their well-tended gardens.

Each family has its own greenhouse—usually built of logs, with transparent plastic for the roof. The warming winter sun does wonders. Seeds are planted as early as late February and early March, and nearly every vegetable common to Michigan is found growing in Alaska also.

Both Mrs. Donaldson and Carol Sik enjoyed fresh onions and radishes by mid-May. Their larger outside gardens are presently producing quite well and will continue doing so through early October. An excellent crop of green peas was gathered during our visit.

Clearing the land is without a doubt their most difficult task. By hand, it is slow, tedious, and almost back-breaking. A gold mining engineer with a huge bulldozer was clearing ground for them. His charge of $25 an hour was dirt cheap, and many of the homesteaders were availing themselves of the opportunity.

Tony Jurack has the largest clearing, nearly 25 acres, while Marino Sik has upwards of 20. The Donaldsons have nearly 13 acres, and other somewhat smaller areas.

In the clearing operation, the bulldozer would push over the trees, then shove them into many piles, or windrows which eventually would be burned.

Additional aid, in the form of local or outside jobs, has been of great help this summer to several of the men. Donaldson and Sik are working for the Alaska Road Commission on the gravel road running east and west directly by their homesteads. This pays $144 an hour for an eight-hour day, and should continue into mid-September.

Nick Rubino is doing carpenter work in Talkeetna, while Ray

Kula, Steve Panchowitz, Bill Orzechowski and Tony Jurack are with surveying crews, railroad building demolition crews and on various other odd jobs.

The Cache Creek Road will eventually lead northwest to McGrath, thus opening up new areas of South Central Alaska, while the newly proposed highway running north from Anchorage to Mount McKinley and Fairbanks has already been surveyed and will run north through some of the homesteaders' property.

A bridge is to be constructed across the Sushina River at a narrow spot seven miles south, near a whistle-stop known as Sushina. This will place the homesteaders within easy driving distance of Anchorage (117 miles) and the outside world, and will vastly improve the value of their holdings. They'll have ways to market their produce.

The first morning with the Donaldsons found excitement galore. Bertha rose at 6:30 upon hearing a noise at the back door.

Since we were sleeping in the house trailer 15 feet away, she thought it was us who already were up and about. She quickly learned differently. Looking through the small window of the back door, she was face to face with a black bear who was standing up and peering through the glass at her. Knowing of my desire for pictures, she tried her best to make us hear, but we calmly slumbered through the entire episode.

GOOBY BEAR

Jerry, still sleepy-eyed and in pajamas, grabbed his 30-06 from the wall rack and fired a shot through the open back door. The bear was about 50 yards away, and after being struck in the mid-section, collapsed in a heap.

Blood was everywhere. While Jerry was hurriedly changing into his clothes, Mr. Black Bear bounced up and scrambled out of the clearing.

Two days later, neighbor Danny Elwell missed three shots at a black bear after it had poked its head inside his cabin door and then fled into the bush.

Another morning, three tiny black bear cubs scampered across the narrow gravel trail directly in front of us. Seldom does a day go by that moose are not seen. Incidentally, the Sushina Valley is presently considered on a par with the famed Klamath Peninsula as being the home of Alaska's largest and most productive moose herd.

INDOOR GARDEN—Here Mrs. Jerry Donaldson shows Mrs. Howard Shelley through their greenhouse. The growing of all vegetables is started in the greenhouse. They are later transplanted in outdoor plots when the weather permits.

Seemed He Would Campaign Nonpartisanly

Ike Finally Sets POLITICAL Speech

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Thank goodness President Eisenhower finally has decided to make a political speech or two in behalf of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

He says he will speak at a Republican fund raising dinner in Chicago, Sept. 29. He will talk for Nixon again on the eve of election day.

It had looked for awhile like all Ike's campaigning for the GOP ticket was going to be the nonpolitical kind.

He and his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, have tried repeatedly to explain to reporters how this type of campaigning works.

The way the president puts it, he won't actually do much campaigning. But he will be out a lot making nonpolitical speeches between now and Nov. 8. He always smiles when he says this.

Just a few mornings ago Hagerty, who has proved his ability to explain anything from the federal budget to Helvia, was further trying to straighten us out.

He said the President would make three nonpolitical speeches on Sept. 26. Ike will fly that morning to Philadelphia to address some accountants and some editors. And he will proceed to New York to speak that night to a charity dinner.

GOOD OL' ANNE

That afternoon Hagerty was out of the office. His assistant, Mrs. Anne Wheaton, took over his chores. Somebody asked her whether the White House was ready to announce yet any of the president's plans for political speeches.

"None beyond those Mr. Hagerty told you about this morning," she replied.

Honest, open-faced Anne, we call her.

One reason the President doesn't feel the need to get out on the hustings, as he puts it, is that a president can always hold a press conference. Eisenhower has held three in three weeks since returning from his vacation in Newport, R.I.

In some no-nonsense years he hasn't displayed quite this enthusiasm for give and take with the press.

He sometimes has gone for weeks without giving out his views in this way.

President Truman, in his seven years at the white house, met the press 324 times. FDR, in a little over 12 years held 526 press conferences. The week held his 120th since taking office in January 1953.

He has explained on a couple of occasions why he doesn't set himself a regular schedule of, say, one press conference weekly.

"I never like to conform too much," he said once. "And just to say that one particular day each week I am going to be in the same exact spot the same time sort of puts me down."

"Now I have no objection, as long as we have got the time and something else isn't on my mind. I have no objection to doing it periodically."

Another time he said it was partly a matter of whim. Besides,

Accuse College of Press Curbs

Student Editors Cite Instances of Violation of Freedom Principles

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (UPI) — Student editors have accused four colleges of violating freedom of the press and charged the nation's wire services with unfair news treatment.

Student editors at the U. S. National Student Association (USNSA) congress approved a resolution Wednesday accusing the colleges, two in the east and two in the Midwest, of violating student press freedom.

The wire services, a resolution said, have been guilty of "rough and biased" reporting, particularly in connection with all demonstrations at Nashville, Tenn.

Paul Dubrul, former editor of the Student Arrow at Hunter College in New York, said wire service reporters favored segregation in their coverage of the story.

The four colleges criticized were Hunter and Brooklyn College of New York, the University of Illinois and Roosevelt University, Chicago.

In resolutions, the student editors said:

—Said Associate Editor Harvey Fisher had been dismissed from the Brooklyn College Paper for criticism of the college administration in a column.

—Said Hunter College exercised "administrative pressure" and censorship on the college literary magazine.

—Disapproved of former University of Illinois Teacher Leo Koch's diatribe for advocating conditional premarital sex relations in a letter to the student newspaper.

—Cited Roosevelt College for restricting "legitimate news coverage" on grounds it would be "bad publicity" for the school.

Bag Too Much Loot, Force Workers to Help

MASSAQUA, N. Y. (UPI) — Two burglars who entered a discount store Wednesday and filled their duffel bags in full of clothes, watches, jewelry and other loot they couldn't lift them, solved the problem in store order.

They found three cleanup men in going part of the store, and used them to carry the loot to their waiting automobile and fled.

9 Arab Nations Will Seek Help

To Call Volunteers to Join Algerians Against France

SHTAURA, Lebanon (AP)—Nine Arab League nations have agreed to call for volunteers to help the Algerian rebels fight France, but they balked at a rebel demand that the Arab world sever all ties with the French.

The Arab League Council wound up debate Wednesday on appeals for action by the Algerian provisional government and agreed to two other pleas from Foreign Minister Krim Belkacem:

1. To intensify efforts in the United Nations Assembly to get self-determination for Algeria,
 2. To "exert effective diplomatic efforts with all friendly countries" for early recognition of the Algerian rebel government.
- The Arab foreign ministers also agreed to warn the North Atlantic Alliance of "grave consequences" of French use of (NATO) arms against the Algerians. Belkacem had wanted the league to go farther and force evacuation of French and NATO troops from Arab states.

Two Flavors—Whisky, Cognac

Candies Stagger British

LONDON (UPI)—Candies with a kick—up to 11.7 proof—reportedly are jolting sales upward in Britain and raising fears among temperance leaders that youngsters will develop new exotic tastes.

The Daily Mirror said the new sweets, imported from Italy, are sold in two new nippy flavors in candy stores—whisky at 11.7 proof and cognac at 9.7 proof.

The alcoholic content has been tested by an official analyst who verified the strength.

Three packs of the whisky candy are the equivalent to two fluid ounces of whisky. Three and a half of the cognac flavor will give the sweet-toothed customer the same jolt as two ounces of brandy. Each pack has 10 pieces of candy.

If a customer eats only one piece of the cognac candy, he will have taken in the same amount of alcohol as he would get in a half-pint of very strong beer.

The Mirror said Britain's candy store owners have been warned by the candy's importers and temperance leaders not to sell the liquor-flavored candies to children.

Erle Stanley Gardner Slowing Up

Whodunit Writer Starts Chills

By PHYLAS BATTLE

NEW YORK — It is hot and humid. The upper lip is more soggy than stiff, and the backbone has gone the way of the starched collar, and the eyes have given over their glow to the nose, and the only thing dry is the palate. All in all, an excellent day for murder.

This was the rather macabre opinion of Erle Stanley Gardner when we met him some time ago—and it still gives a gratifying chill to think back on the conversation.

"Have you ever thought seriously of getting murdered?" inquired Mr. Gardner politely.

"Why, no," we said. "Not seriously."

"Perhaps—this is just a suggestion, of course—you might. The weather is beastly hot. And you know what hot weather does to the murder ratio, don't you?"

Indifferently, he glanced at the ceiling. "Goes up," he said. "Rather sharply."

The literary papa of Perry Mason and one of America's most prolific authors of "whodunits"—although, in the literature Gardner's case, "whodunits" is preferred—went on to warn that women are particularly susceptible to murder between the ages of 25 and 35.

Not to being murderers, he hastened to explain. But to being murdered.

These are critical ages, because "at these times women are more inclined to rebuke one man once too often."

And men are touchy about that, he admitted, "taken a week or more to write."

In his lectures, Gardner pointed out, he takes pains to advise an audience that, out of every 1,000 persons listening to him—four will one day be murdered. And those statistics are based only on the known murders.

"There are a heck of a lot more murders that people don't know anything about. For instance, a lot of deceased people, if dug up and examined, would be found to be full of arsenic."

"So you'd be surprised," he before.

Too Friendly With China?

PARIS (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, says V. M. Molotov is being removed as Soviet ambassador to Czechoslovakia because he was getting too friendly with Red China. Molotov has been assigned to the International Atomic Energy Commission headquarters in Vienna.

Watermelons are grown commercially in 22 states.

ELKO, Nev. (AP)—Police found Robert J. Mott washing his clothes in a self-service laundry — stark naked. Taken to court dressed in the still wet clothing, he was sentenced to 25 days for "offensive and tumultuous conduct."

Sales of snow-type tires during 1959 totaled 5.4 million units compared with 4.6 million the year before.

Money Scare Rocks Korea

Bank False Alarm Sets Off Rumors of Exchange of Army Scrip

SEOUL (UPI)—A false alarm of theft at a U. S. bank here last night started a black-market "bear" raid on U.S. Army scrip, reducing its value nearly 75 per cent before the mistake was discovered.

When the burglar alarm at the Bank of America's branch in U.S. Army Headquarters sounded about 7 p.m., all the headquarters gates were closed and no one was allowed to enter or leave until investigators determined that the alarm bells were set off by faulty wiring.

Outside, a rumor that the Army was calling in the scrip that U.S. soldiers here use for money raced through the streets. Koreans holding quantities of the scrip money hastened to change it at almost any price.

The price of a scrip "dollar" plummeted from 1,150 Korean won to 300 at the height of the scare, but by noon today it was back up to 1,000.

The Army periodically calls in its scrip and issues substitute certificates to curb black-market activities involving the special currency.

Calls Jack 'Foundering' Father of New Frontier

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. William E. Miller, R-N.Y., has called Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy the "foundering father of the new frontier."

Kennedy has used the "new frontier" term in his speeches.

Miller, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee, said the Senate defeat of the Democratic medical care plan for the aged "proves conclusively Kennedy's lack of leadership over his own party."

About half the population of made up of Indonesians and Surinam in South America is Hindustani.

Reich Socialist Party Nominates

Presidium Picks Brandt to Oppose Adenauer in November Election

BONN, GERMANY (UPI)—The opposition Socialist party nominated West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt Wednesday to oppose Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in next year's West German elections.

The 46-year-old mayor was named by the presidium, or executive committee, of the socialist party at a three-day meeting and is expected to be confirmed at a party convention in Hannover in November.

Brandt promptly accepted the nomination and immediately became the leading challenger to the 81-year-old Adenauer who has served as chancellor since 1949.

The Socialist leadership also nominated Carlo Schmid, vice president of the Bundestag as its "No. 2 candidate" but did not specify the office Schmid should seek.

Brandt, an energetic and popular figure, represents the so-called "Reform Socialists" wing. In his acceptance address he underlined the party's strongly pro-western position when he said:

"There should be no doubt among the German people that a government led by the Socialist party of Germany will leave this country firmly in the Western community and in the security organizations into which it has been placed . . . protection against Communism must be guaranteed."

Enrollment Up to Maximum at U. of M.

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—James A. Lewis, University of Michigan vice president for student affairs, said Wednesday enrollment for the fall term in some colleges and schools of the university "has reached its maximum."

He cited the college of literature, science and the arts in particular. Lewis said some well qualified students could still be placed on waiting lists in colleges where the enrollment peak has been reached and would be accepted in case of cancellations by those already enrolled.

He said U-M enrollment this fall would total about 24,300—an increase of 300 over last year.

Fungus May Replace Mice in Cancer Lab

EAST LANSING, Mich. (UPI)—Mice may be replaced by a common fungus as a means of testing potential cancer deterrents if a technique developed by Michigan State University scientists proves itself in further tests.

The usual method of testing unknown substances is by applying them to tumor-infected mice. MSU researchers have found, in preliminary tests, that an easily grown fungus, "achyla flagellata," yields quicker indications with less preliminary expense.

Korea Seeks Cash

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Premier John M. Chang's new government has asked the United States to provide $6 million dollars in extra funds to combat a mounting economic crisis.

Every delegate to Congress from Hawaii since 1959 introduced statehood bills.

Pat Nixon to Campaign in Buffalo

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Richard M. Nixon will hit the campaign trail on her own again Saturday, flying to Buffalo for the annual Republican family basket picnic at the fairgrounds there.

As guest of honor at the affair, the wife of the Republican presidential nominee will make a short talk of greeting in the afternoon.

Earlier, upon arrival at the Buffalo airport Mrs. Nixon will meet with women reporters, the vice president's campaign headquarters announced.

She will go from there to the fairgrounds grandstand building for a noon luncheon with about 100 members of the Federation of Republican Women's Clubs.

Then in advance of the 2 p.m. political speaking program in which she will take part, Mrs. Nixon will ride in an open car to greet the thousands of picnickers expected at the fairgrounds.

She plans to fly back to Washington in late afternoon.

Wounded Priest Jailed in Cuba

Facing Trial Before Castro's Tribunal for 'Anti-Government Plot'

HAVANA (UPI) — A Roman Catholic priest wounded in an incident outside Havana last week will be brought before one of Fidel Castro's revolutionary tribunals as an anti-government conspirator, informed sources said today.

Father Marcel Bedyas, a Spanish Jesuit, is interned in Havana hospital with a leg wound. He would be the first member of the priesthood to face "revolutionary justice."

The government was maintaining official silence about the Bedyas case, but reliable sources said the Jesuit was arrested with a group of "counter-revolutionary world's production. Cuban zinc mines" driving from Havana to the amounts of other minerals are province to pick up an illicit arms shipment.

According to the sources, Father Bedyas was accompanied by two union members and two military intelligence officers who were in the anti-Castro underground.

When the group reached the town of Bauta, 15 miles southwest of Havana, one of the officers, Capt. Alberto Jerez, exposed himself as a counter-espionage agent, pulled out a pistol and told his companions "the comedy is over, you're all under arrest," the sources said.

The other officer drew his revolver and in the ensuing battle, both he and Jerez were killed and Father Bedyas was wounded. The survivors were quickly found and arrested by local police, according to the report.

Government newspapers carried an obituary yesterday on Capt. Jerez, saying only that he died in "a tragic accident." There was no further explanation.

100 Soviet Subs 'Big Threat' to U.S.

PEARL HARBOR, Hawaii (AP) — The Soviet Union has about 100 submarines in the Pacific, says Adm. Herbert G. Hopwood, and "we have to assume they can fire them."

He told a news conference Wednesday the growing Red underwater fleet, which six years ago totaled fewer than 20 in the Pacific, is the greatest subtle threat to the United States.

Hopwood, 62, of Shamokin, Pa., will retire Aug. 31 as commander in chief, U.S. Pacific Fleet. He will be succeeded by Adm. John H. Sides, former director of the Defense Department's Weapons Systems Evaluation Group in Washington.

A Wasteland Only 50 Years Ago

Katanga Guards Its Rich Uranium Mine

WASHINGTON — Katanga Province, which has seceded from the new Republic of the Congo, was a mysterious wasteland in the heart of Africa only half a century ago. In 1908, it took a convoy of 1,000 men and 100 mules to make its way into Katanga. The carts carried metallurgical testing equipment—the key that unlocked the riches of the area. Immense mineral deposits were found beneath the dry, infertile plateau of Katanga, the National Geographic Society says. The sub-surface wealth contributed almost two-thirds of the revenue of the Belgian Congo, now the Republic of the Congo.

URANIUM MINE GUARDED

Today, the carefully guarded Shinkolobwe mine in Katanga is one of the largest producers of uranium. Katanga's vast copper belt yields about 7 per cent of the world's production. Cobalt, zinc, and manganese, tin, and lesser amounts of other minerals are also mined.

Centuries ago, native rulers, including the chief for whom Katanga was named, smelted green ore in adobe furnaces. Craftsmen hammered crude copper ingots of many sizes to be used as a medium of exchange throughout Central and Eastern Africa.

But the bulk of the mineral wealth lay untouched until a group of Belgian and British businessmen formed the Union Minière du Haut-Katanga and financed the 1908 prospecting expedition. The union mine transformed the mineral-rich southern half of Katanga, or High Katanga, from a primitive wilderness into a modern industrial center.

A network of railroads spread over the region. Subsidiary firms sprang up to furnish electricity, make explosives, mill flour, provide housing, and produce chemicals from mine by-products. The company also planned and developed Elisabethville, the capital of Katanga.

Elisabethville did not grow helter-skelter like many mining boom towns, but followed a planned development, with flower beds, shady streets, neat houses, and inviting shops. Located 4,000 feet above sea level, Elisabethville has a cool, healthy climate.

Hundreds of huge termite hills gave way to the city's broad avenues. The streets are literally paved with copper, since the pressed slag paving blocks contain traces of the metal. Many of Katanga's 1,600,000 inhabitants are immigrants. Formerly, a few isolated tribes eked out a living from scrub forest and unproductive soil.

The Union Minière brought in Baluba and Baluba tribesmen from near-by Kasai Province to work the mines, and they have become a major force in the province.

The Balubas, who have a highly developed civilization, are superb wood carvers. Their ceremonial masks are simple, yet strikingly dramatic. The mining plateaus are sparsely wooded savannah land sprinkled with towering termite hills. The savannas rise to the greener Kundelungu highlands, inhabited by lion, antelope, zebra, and rhinoceros.

Though agriculture still is largely undeveloped in Katanga, some cotton, corn and tobacco are grown. Huge cattle ranches stretch over a 6,500-foot-high plateau in the eastern section of the province.

'Hoffa Angling for Air Control'

Pilots' Chief Reports of Overtures to Many Industry Employes

CHICAGO (AP) — Teamster President James R. Hoffa is angling for a foothold in the nation's aircraft industry, says Clarence N. Sayen, president of the Air Line Pilots Association.

"Should Hoffa succeed in his bid, he could tie up air transportation any time he had a little dispute over fuel delivery or something similar," Sayen said Wednesday.

He said the Teamsters have made overtures to flight engineers for Continental and Eastern airlines as well as to other employees, such as stock clerks and mechanics.

"The Teamsters and flight engineers are known to be in active contact," said Sayen. "Hoffa would like nothing better than to get into the cockpit by bringing the engineers into the union."

32 People Offer Their Blood for Little Girl

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — A caravan of eight station wagons, escorted by state troopers, brought 32 people from Wilkes County Wednesday night to offer blood for a 12-year-old girl who undergoes heart surgery today.

The girl, Carol Cokerham, weighs only 53 pounds as a result of the heart condition.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Cokerham, met the caravan of blood donors. They said they did not even know some of the people.

No Substance to Story of Russian-Chinese Rift

By CHARLES R. SMITH
TOKYO (UPI)—Forget all this talk about a rift between Russia and Communist China. It just isn't so—yet.
That's the studied opinion of some of the most informed observers of Communist China and of Sino-Russian relations.
Disagreement, yes. But a serious rift, no.
Even the disagreements that arise occasionally — or perhaps frequently — probably are no more serious than the disagreements that occur frequently between the United States and some of her closest allies, such as Great Britain.

The dispute between the two countries over the interpretation of Marxist-Leninist dogma bears some significance and may be the seeds for future serious disagreements. But at the present time it is not nearly so important as some Western quarters have appeared to make it, according to some students of Sino-Soviet affairs here.

The reported mass exodus of Russian technicians from Communist China may or may not be true and it may bear some significance. But to attach great importance to it and interpret it as a sign of a widening rift between the two Communist giants is going too far afield.
Some reports say the Communist Chinese are getting ready to challenge the Russians for the leadership of the Communist bloc. But there are few firm signs to back up this speculation. There is little doubt anywhere that the Chinese would dearly love to take over the leadership of the Communist bloc and that someday they may try it. But today is not the day. The considered opinion of some of the closest observers of the China scene here is that this day still is far off.

China Concedes
In fact, hardly a day passes that Communist China does not publicly concede the Soviet Union its position of leadership.
The east wind continues to prevail over the west wind and the forces of peace over the forces of war. Red China broadcasts bare out almost daily, "and the socialist bloc under the leadership of the mighty Soviet Union is smashing the imperialists, led by the United States, at every turn."

There is no doubt that the Communist Chinese leaders are perturbed — if not angered — by occasional Russian slurs on their efforts to communicate China, particularly such slurs as Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's reference to the controversial people's communes as "old fashioned." But such things as this are not likely to drive a wedge between two such powerful nations who need each other as much as the Russians and Chinese need each other.

There is little likelihood in the near future of Russia turning on China or China turning on Russia as they both have on the Yugoslav "revisionists" in spite of their basic disagreements. They need each other too much for that.
Certainly, many observers here believe, this is not likely to happen before American recognition of the Peking regime.

AIRLIFT IN CONGO — Congolese troops rode airlift Wednesday from Leopoldville to Lualaba, dotted line, in Congo, pouring from the troubled nation's capital into Kasai Province, upset by strife and threatened with secessionist movement. Fighting in Albertville, underlined, in Northern Katanga Province, was reported ended. Rounding out the day's chaotic picture, was a statement that Belgian soldiers had entrenched themselves in the Lower Congo area. U. N. soldiers were asked to assist them.

Dann Gets Delay in Chrysler Suit

3-Week Postponement Pushes Back Deadline for Firm's Answers

DETROIT (AP)—A three-week delay has been granted Detroit attorney Sol A. Dann in his stockholders' suit against Chrysler Corp.
Chrysler attorneys had notified Dann to appear in Wilmington, Del., today to give preliminary testimony in the suit which he filed 18 days ago, charging gross mismanagement in the corporation.
Granting of the delay automatically postpones the Delaware Chancery Court's deadline for answers by the defendant—which includes the 20 directors of the corporation, former Chrysler President William Newberg, seven other individuals and 15 Chrysler supplier firms.
The court in effect has seized the Chrysler stock of the defendants pending their replies to the suit.

South Korea Asking Weapons and Cash

SEOUL (UPI)—South Korea's new government, keeping promises made in last month's election campaign, asked the United States today to approve a 16 per cent reduction in the strength of its 630,000-man army.

President John M. Chang asked the United States to give South Korea enough modern weapons to offset the troop cut, and to increase economic aid $50 million.
At a meeting with U.S. Ambassador Walter P. McCaughy, Chang said his regime proposes to demobilize 100,000 soldiers in 1961—50,000 in the first half of the year and 50,000 in the second half.

India Is Urged to Battle for Adequate Nourishment

NEW DELHI (UPI)—India faces an intense food crisis and a Ford Foundation inquiry committee has urged fighting the food battle on a "war footing."

Experts have warned the government that if the country does not accelerate food production three times the present speed, there may be a 25-million ton shortage in foodgrains in 1966.

India presently produces 61 million tons of foodgrains. But in view of the rapidly growing population, this amount will be far less than its requirements.

India's present population is about 350 million. By 1965-66, it is estimated the country's total population will be 400 million. At least 110 million tons of foodgrains will be required to enable this number of people to eat "just well," according to the investigating committee.

Indian leaders are anxious to prevent any food crisis, for this would not only jeopardize India's development plans but also have ground for the Communists to fill.

Prime Minister Nehru, realizing this, has come to a definite conclusion that only "cooperative farming and new methods" can save India's food situation.

He had agreed with major recommendations of the Ford Foundation committee and said "we are approaching each farmer with offers of good seeds and knowledge of new methods."

India has vast tracts of arable land, enough water and ample resources. If so, why then is it not able to cope with the country's demand for enough food?

He Rescues Child With Speedy Sprint

LOCKPORT, N. Y. (U)—Patrolman Joseph Monodoro was chasing his pet on a downtown corner when a 2-year-old boy broke from his mother's hand and dashed into the street.

Monodoro sprinted in front of an oncoming delivery truck and swept up the youngster. The truck narrowly missed them.

Then Monodoro discovered who he had rescued—the son of Patrolman Gerald Landrigan, who was walking his beat a few blocks away.

Plastic Projectiles Save Cash in Training Class

NEW YORK (UPI)—Reusable plastic projectiles costing less than a penny per firing have replaced live shells—at $14 per shot—in programs to train members of the U.S. armed forces in handling mortars, according to Modern Plastics magazine.

The plastic projectiles are strong enough so that no more than one missile out of 1,000 firings will be damaged, the magazine reported.

Bourbon Barrels Provide Headaches for Distillers

By DORMAN CORDELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (U)—Bourbon whiskey distillers get more headaches from whiskey barrels than drinkers do from the contents.

Bourbon may be aged only in new charred white oak barrels. They cost about $20. After one use, the resale value is about 15 cents.

"If somebody could figure out how to salvage used whiskey barrels, he'd never have to work again," says one distillery executive.

But a man whose firm buys used barrels said, "I don't even like to mention the subject. Everytime anyone does, we get a million letters suggesting all sorts of crazy things to use a whiskey barrel for. None of them are ever any good."

The barrel—buying firm sells them mostly to pickle makers, foreign distillers and blended whiskey firms.

Some bourbon distillers don't even bother to sell the used barrels. "Mostly we knock the hoops off and burn them," says one official.

BUGLING BARRELS
About two million barrels are used each year in the whiskey industry. A barrel holds about 50 gallons of bourbon at first, but during the four or more years of aging required about 15 gallons are lost by evaporation and absorption.

Some enterprising persons from time to time have steamed the whiskey from old barrels and drank or sold it. The Internal Revenue Service frowns on the practice.

Besides, the product isn't very good most of the time because of tannic acid from the wood or fuel oil and tars absorbed from the bourbon.

"The barrel represents about 50 per cent of the cost of producing whiskey," said Joe Schindick, public relations director at Brown-Forman Distillers.

"Actually it is one of the most important factors in producing good bourbon. We must use only the best white oak, and it's better than furniture oak."

Brown-Forman and several other distilleries have created their own cooperage companies to make the barrels.

Distilleries in making blended whiskey can use barrels five, six or seven times to store grain alcohol used in the blend.

The weight of whiskey barrels is one thing that cuts down the possibility of reuse. A new barrel with inch-thick staves weighs from 80 to 85 pounds. After one use, it weighs about 100 pounds. To ship an empty barrel from Louisville to New York costs $7.

A suggestion that a way be found to age bourbon without using charred white oak barrels gets responses ranging from mild disgust to unaccused outrage.

Youths Often Forget Data About Parents

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (U)—Daniel J. Murphy Jr., manager of the district Social Security Office, says a lot of young people have poor memories when applying for a Social Security card.

A common shortcoming he says, is not remembering their mother's maiden name—or the date of their birth.

Recently, one youth, filling in the space calling for his mother's name, wrote: "Ma."

Violators' Hope Soars

PORT ARTHUR, Tex. (U)—Franksters were blamed for placing a sign by the police department's traffic violation walk-up window that had motorists' hopes soaring. The sign proclaimed the department gave "Top Value Stamps."

BALTIMORE (U)—As Lee Poist, a soft drink supervisor, sat in a truck the other day, a man approached and asked him for money.

Poist says he'll keep it for life.

Lake Angelus Folk Bask Under Blue Summer Sky

Waiting to family on shore and singing as they sail around Lake Angelus with grandfather Robert M. Critchfield are Thomas, left, Susan, Jeffrey, Mary Jean and James Smith. The children and parents, the H. L. Smiths of LaGrange, Ill., will vacation with the Critchfields over Labor Day. Wearing a captain's hat, Mr. Critchfield of North Lake Angelus Road cruises around the island in his Century runabout, mahogany with white trim. The children also have fun splashing and swimming in the lake, climbing trees and cooking out.

Gliding along on the calm waters of Lake Angelus are James Houlett of East Iroquois Road and North Lake Angelus Road, and Dolores Riddle of Abington.

Va. The two agree canoeing is one of the most pleasant ways to enjoy a cool breeze and a summer sunset.

Not Correct to Order Costly Item

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I, along with two other women, was invited by a mutual friend to lunch in a restaurant. One of the women guests ordered the most expensive dishes on the menu. Although I myself like this particular dish very much I did not order it because of the price and ordered something else instead.

In discussing this later with a friend, I said that I thought this woman showed very poor taste in doing this, but she disagreed with me saying that when a menu is handed to a guest she has a right to order whatever she likes from it.

I think some consideration should be shown for the hostess' pocketbook. Am I correct?

Answer: If the hostess had suggested as being a specialty of that particular restaurant, it would have been quite right for her to say, "I'd like that very much." But to just pick out the dish of highest cost on the menu, was very unreasonable.

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been told that it is not good manners for a girl to stand talking to a man on the street. Is this true, and if so, why is it improper for a girl to stop and talk to a man friend to whom she may have something to say?

Answer: The street has never been considered a suitable place to carry on a long conversation, either between a girl and a man or between two girls, and still less by a group. She may perfectly well stop a man if she has something to say to him, but if they begin a long conversation, he should join her and walk in her direction.

Says Fall Fashions to Be Bright, Bulky

Editor's Note: Publisher is the second of six chapters on back-to-back wardrobe styles for the fall season, ranging from the East to the West Coast.

By PATRICIA COOK

Radcliffe College '61

BOSTON — The new look on the campus this fall is going to be startlingly different. The colors will be brighter, the skirts shorter, and the sweaters bulkier.

The fashion trend is toward more and more accessories: armloads of bracelets, big necklaces and earrings.

The skirts this fall are great fashion news. The new length is one or two inches below the knee. The knee-tickler length in the skirt, a little above the knee, will be extremely popular, too, especially for casual wear.

A good rule to follow in wearing the knee-tickler skirts, culotte skirts, and knickers is to wear them for the same type of occasion that you would wear Bermuda shorts.

The sweaters this year are bigger and bulkier. Most popular among these are the ski sweaters, bulky knits with the big big turtle necks, boat-necked sweaters, and sweaters with draw strings at the waist.

Blouses, too, have taken on a new look. Button-down collars are still very popular and there is a great emphasis on feminine collars on shirts.

Mr. and Mrs. West Gallogly have invited friends for dinner Saturday in their Lake Angelus home. Their guests, at another of a series of small dinner parties will be Mrs. Elliott S. Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Edward C. Parker of Metamora, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Thom, Col. and Mrs. Irving A. Duffy and Mr. and Mrs. M. S. Perry Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ewald Jr. of Washington, D.C., are visiting Mr. Ewald's parents the William R. Ewalds of Franklin.

The senior Ewalds are planning a cocktail party Saturday for their guests.

Bride-elect Sally Blanchard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Blanchard, arrived home Wednesday with just a little over a week to plan the final arrangements for her Sept. 3 marriage to Charles Richard Cadigan.

Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Austin Harmon will give the rehearsal dinner at Orchard Lake Country Club and Mrs. Sheldon Noble, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Sanders and Mr. and Mrs. J. Morrison Taylor will give a luncheon for members of the wedding party and out-of-town guests in the Taylor home on Lincoln Court.

Women Voters Outline Plans for Fall

Executive board members of the Pontiac League of Women Voters met at the Niagara Avenue home of Mrs. J. E. Scott Tuesday evening to outline plans for the League's early fall activities.

Publications chairman Mary Robert presented the latest literature from national board and that needed for the finance and membership drives were ordered. Serving as cochairmen for the local finance drive Sept. 8-30 are Mrs. Roy B. MacAfee and Doris Walker.

In cooperation with the Birmingham and West Bloomfield Leagues a bi-partisan political rally is set for the last week in September at Pontiac Central High School. Lillian Davidson of Pontiac, Mrs. Jack Eshroth of West Bloomfield and Mrs. Bonnie Tracy of Birmingham will arrange the rally, a biennial event of the Pontiac League since 1950.

The group discussed ways such as poster displays, registration reminders, Laura Belz, president, prompted the group in preparation for presenting Con-Con to the public before the Nov. 8 election.

Mrs. Donovan Gillmore, Mrs. Robert Matheson and Rose Selbert will supervise the League booth at the State Fair Sept. 11 to demonstrate voting machines and give out voter information. A State Fair Committee composed of area leagues will handle the booth for the duration of the Fair.

The board will meet next on Sept. 8 at the Cherokee Road home of Mrs. B. W. Habel.

Jerrie Passes Tests; Hopes to Be Astranette

NEW YORK (UPI) — Jerrie Cobb, 29, who admits grasshoppers scare her, said today she is sure that one day she will fly into outer space and that the prospect doesn't worry her a bit.

Miss Cobb, a fetching, pony-tailed blonde from Oklahoma City, is the first woman to undergo and pass the same grueling tests given seven male astronauts now preparing under "Project Mercury" for one of them to make the first space exploration.

Miss Cobb told newsmen she expected a woman to follow not much later—probably not alone but as a crew member in a space vehicle.

her birthplace, are enthusiastic about her plans, she said.

Her father, a retired lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, taught her to fly and she broke world altitude, distance and speed records in twin engine planes.

Miss Cobb says she has no real love interest now but doesn't think her career should rule out marriage although a husband might find it strange explaining that his wife is "out in space."

She blushingly recited her vital statistics as 121 pounds, five feet seven, blue eyes, and measurements 36-36-34.

Miss Cobb said she no superstitions but "had to 'fess up that I'm scared of grasshoppers." She is an unusually devout Protestant and has a private altar in her own home.

Abby Says: One of Those Things

You Did Your Best, Forget It!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: My grandfather died at 96 and it was up to me to notify all the relatives so they could come to his funeral. I sent out 14 telegrams and made 5 long-distance calls.

I couldn't contact a relative who lives in Omaha because he was up in Canada fishing, which was no fault of mine.

All this happened a year ago but I bring it up now because the will was read and the Omaha relative only got a dollar instead of $500 because he wasn't at the funeral. Now he blames me. Was it my fault?

TRIED MY BEST
DEAR TRIED: If you tried your best and couldn't reach the fisherman, he shouldn't blame you. All he can do is write it off as a $500 catch that got away.

DEAR ABBY: Please give your readers the lowdown—are you "Miss" or "Mrs." Is that your picture and when was it taken? And while I'm getting personal, how old are you?

NOSY
DEAR NOSY: I am MRS. and have been for 21 years (same man; I take my own advice). That picture is recent and I was 42 on July 4th.

DEAR ABBY: I got the shock of my life this morning when my 10-year-old daughter asked me a question about sex. I had no idea she knew as much as she did. I told her she was too young to know, which she certainly is.

I think this modern method of child-raising is all wrong. I mean telling children everything they want to know.

I must be right because statistics show that every year more young girls are getting into trouble. I would like your opinion.

OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER
DEAR OLD-FASHIONED: Girls get into trouble because they know too little—not too much. You're lucky your daughter comes to you with her questions. Don't discourage her with that foolish dog.

"You're too young to know." If she's old enough to ask, she's old enough to know.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago my husband and I gave his niece a very lovely present for her 17th birthday. We took a lot of time selecting this gift, and also the card that went with it. The niece just said, "Thank you" and she laid it on the piano and didn't bother to open the card or present while we were there. We stayed about an hour.

Shouldn't a gift be opened when the giver present it?

HURT
DEAR HURT: It should.

DEAR ABBY: When a man and his wife are sitting together in a restaurant, what should the man call the waitress?

My husband calls all the waitresses "Honey" and I have even heard him call them "Dear" and "Darling." This burns me up as he calls me Hazel. Please print your answer. I'd like to write this.

HAZEL
DEAR HAZEL: A waitress should be called "Miss" or "Waitress." It is never proper (although it is sometimes effective) to call a waitress "Honey," "Dear" or "Darling," but it does best. "Hey, you!"

CONFIDENTIAL TO KATHY: The surest way to make a man wonder what he ever saw in you is to keep making him.

Chief Bachelor Bites the Dust, Wedding Cake

LONDON (UPI)—The president and founder of Britain's Bachelor Association betrayed his followers Wednesday and got married.

"Ah, well, the last of the great bachelors must go some time," sighed Michael Medwin, a 37-year-old television actor who had been Britain's No. 1 bachelor.

Medwin met his Waterloo in the person of Mrs. Sunny Back, a 31-year-old divorcee with two children. The bridegroom had been acquainted with Mrs. Back for 13 years.

Members of the association shook their heads and moaned that Medwin lasted only five months from the time he started the group in business.

Strikers Ask Prince to Help; Chance Slim

LONDON (AP)—Two dozen women strikers have asked Prince Philip for help in their dispute with the British Automobile Association, but chances are slim any aid will come from him. The royal family keeps hands off anything that smacks of politics or trade union disputes. The prince is president of the automobile association and takes an active interest in its work.

Taxes and State Constitutional Reform

Issues, Not Names, in Spotlight for Dems

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—When Michigan Democrats gather here this weekend for their fall state convention, issues—not candidates—will be the prime consideration in this presidential election year.

And, of course, party members will be looking to see how Lt. Gov. John B. Swainson, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, conducts himself now that Gov. G. Mennen Williams is stepping out after being in the leader's spotlight 12 years.

Swainson has said he wants all the present members of the State Administration Board up for re-election in November to be on the Democratic ticket with him and Rep. T. John Lewis, the party's lieutenant governor candidate.

The convention is expected to fulfill Swainson's wishes when it completes the party slate.

This means Secretary of State James Hare, Atty. Gen. Paul Adams, State Treasurer Sanford Brown and Auditor General Otis Smith should all be nominated by the convention.

Swainson also has expressed the desire for the convention to nominate Theodore Souris of Detroit to run in the nonpartisan race to fill the unexpired term of John D. Voelker, who resigned as justice of the State Supreme Court in January.

Williams appointed Souris justice after Voelker stepped down with about 7½ years still left in his term. Souris, too, is expected to get the convention's nod.

This leaves the convention with the main job of hammering out a platform for the candi-

The big issue facing the Democrats is constitutional reform and taxes.

Swainson has openly presented his opposition to a measure on the November ballot to set up the structure necessary to call for a constitutional convention.

This proposal won a spot on the ballot through the efforts of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan League of Women Voters.

Williams has said he'll campaign for the proposal, thus going contrary to Swainson, the party's new leader.

Both Williams and Swainson say they agree constitutional reform is needed, but they differ on how to go about it. Swainson favors the idea of specific amendments in the State Constitutional, leaving the task to the legislature rather than a convention.

August Scholle, president of the state AFL-CIO and very influential among state Democrats, also is opposed to the constitutional convention plan. He is considered an important backer of Swainson.

The convention opens Friday with registration and briefing sessions for legislative and congressional candidates. A pre-convention platform committee will also start work Friday.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida will be the main speaker at a convention keynote dinner Friday night.

Convention floor action gets under way Saturday morning.

Medical care for the aged and an aging program—areas where differences with the Republican Party are generally spelled out.

Michigan's economic climate for industrial growth also is expected to be a platform issue.

The convention also will select 30 presidential and vice-presidential electors who would go to the electoral college if Democrats get the majority in the presidential election.

E. Coast-Alaska Northern Trail Blazed by N-Sub

WASHINGTON (AP)—The American Northwest-powered submarine Seadrifter, ducking under huge icebergs in the Arctic's northwest passage, has pioneered a short sea route from the eastern United States to Alaska.

The Navy announced the Seadrifter's feat Wednesday. It said the sub had blazed the trail for a possible military and commercial route through the Parry Channel.

The trip also helped develop techniques and test equipment for submarine under-ice operations.

The Seadrifter left Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 1. It headed north between Greenland and Labrador through Baffin Bay, then west through a series of sound and straits designated as Parry Channel. Part of the trip was made on the surface, part under water. At one point the submarine nosed down more than 300 feet to get under an iceberg 879 feet wide and 1,471 feet long.

Brazil grows about two-thirds of the world's coffee.

A HEAP OF LIVING—All New York appears to be in ruins as this towering pile of rubble seems to bury the Empire State Building, far in the background. The mountain of bricks and girders and wood is all that remains of hundreds of buildings demolished in a six-square-block area between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and 23rd and 29th streets. Scheduled for completion in late 1961, the Penn Station South development will consist of ten 21-story apartments. After the initial payment of about $650 a room, each apartment will have a monthly carrying charge of about $24 a room.

Claim Russ Handing Out Anti-Peiping Manifesto

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union was reported today to be distributing to Communist parties throughout the world an anti-Peiping ("manifesto") designed to stir support against Red China's challenge to Soviet leadership of the Communist world.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York Herald Tribune said existence of the document has been established "through information from behind the Iron Curtain and elsewhere and a summary of the manifesto's general line is available in high government circles."

The story speaks of a struggle for dominance within the Soviet bloc of nations and adds: "If Peiping is not soon brought to acquiescence with Moscow—or at least to silence about its disagreements—Washington would not be surprised if Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev attempted some form of Communist-bloc 'ideological quarantine' of Red China."

"Intended to serve as a guide line for Communist agitators to rally the masses for Mr. Khrushchev's case against the 'dogmatism' of Red Chinese boss Mao Tse-tung, the document vividly illustrates, experts here say, how paper thin was the facade of unity that the Communist camp tried to present in the final communique at Bucharest which purported to bridge over the differences between Peiping and Moscow."

"The anti-Peiping 'manifesto' (as it has been dubbed by Western diplomats) condemns those 'dogmatists' who mechanically interpret what Lenin said 40 years ago to mean that nuclear war is inevitable and that war is the only means by which the revolution can be made to triumph."

"This of course, refers to the Chinese argument that nuclear war is not to be feared because it would mean the triumph of communism over capitalism."

"The paper goes into detail as to why, in the nuclear age, the resort to war would be madness, especially since the triumph of communism is inevitable anyway."

"According to information here, health service.

Together Alone at Last Wife, Pilot Say Goodby

MOSCOW (AP)—Barbara Powers and her husband, Francis Gary Powers, were disclosed today. The young couple were left completely alone behind the closed door of his prison cell for more than an hour.

It was the first privacy they had had since before he left Turkey for his May Day U2 flight over the Soviet Union, which touched off an explosive situation internationally and led him to a 30-year sentence for espionage.

"Barbara is much brighter now than we've seen her for some time," said attorney Frank Rogers of Roanoke, Va.

Consequently, they said, they took it away with them and mailed it from a post box in a downtown hotel.

The two lawyers had gone to Brezhnev's office to deliver a short handwritten letter from Barbara begging the Soviet President to arrange a reduction in the 30-year sentence.

Box of Matches Causes Death of Miami Woman

MIAMI (UPI) — A box of matches caused the death of Mrs. Jeanette Graham, 36, Tuesday. Police said when Mrs. Graham struck a match to light a cigarette the match head burst and set other matches in the box afire. The flaming match box set fire to her pajamas, and she was burned to death.

VFW LISTENS TO NIXON — Vice President Nixon is shown on the rostrum at Cobo Hall in Detroit as he addresses the Veterans of Foreign Wars in convention Wednesday. Shown are hall delegates and others present to hear the GOP nominee.

Speaks Modestly

Nixon Belongs to VFW

DETROIT (AP)—Vice President Nixon was presented credentials of a delegate as he left the hall Wednesday, that he had attended its last seven national encampments, then added:

"This will be the last time I will speak to you as vice president, and, depending upon what happens in November, it may be the last time as an elected official of the United States."

There was a chorus of "No, No" from the floor, to which the VFW had admitted the general public, including some wearing Nixon-for-President buttons.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, D-Mass., Nixon's Democratic rival in the November presidential election, also is a VFW member and will address the convention Friday.

Ex-MSU Grizzer Traded

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—The Denver Broncos have traded center Larry Cundiff of Michigan State to the Boston Patriots. They received defensive tackle Gordy Holz of Minnesota.

Both were starters of their respective American Football League teams. The Broncos, however, recently acquired center Bill Kautz of Dayton from the Los Angeles Chargers. The Broncos play the Dallas Texans here Saturday.

Arraign Bartender on Rights Charge

DETROIT (AP)—A Detroit bartender was to be arraigned today on charges of assault and battery and violation of the Michigan civil rights law in the ejection of a Segregationist student from his bar.

A warrant was issued Wednesday against Steve Mondalek, 41, by Recorder Judge W. Volney Skillman. A customer in the bar, David Hutton, 27, was also named in the assault warrant.

The student, who is touring the United States under the State Department's cultural exchange program, charged that Mondalek refused to serve him in a Detroit bar Monday.

State Trooper Wouldn't Leave Motorists Flat

DELTA, Colo. (AP)—Travel on U.S. Highway 50 north of Delta was restricted to one-way while state Patrolman Red Ferrell spent an hour and 20 minutes picking up a spilled box of nails. The 25 pounds of asbestos siding nails scattered over the road after falling from a lumber supply truck.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four congressmen joined a picket line at nearby Glen Echo, Md., amusement park Wednesday night to protest its ban on Negroes.

The sign carriers were Reps. Charles O. Porter (D-Ore), Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.), Seymour Halpern (D-N.Y.) and Charles C. Diggs (R-Mich.).

Peaches in Heavy Supply Prices Lowest of Season

Summer's offering of fresh fruits and vegetables is a bountiful one, states the Marketing Information Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawry, Michigan peaches are in heavy supply and the lowest prices for the season are expected by the end of the week. This week there are few peaches in several kinds of meat, beef, hams, and smoked pork cuts are receiving most emphasis.

Peaches are the fruit of the season. According to some retailers, the largest supplies of the season are expected this week. Many of these will be the late Haven variety — one highly recommended by Michigan State University for canning or freezing.

It's up to you — whether you buy fresh peaches to eat or freeze for future use. Remember the figures! When a bushel costs $3 to $4 the cost for home canned or frozen peaches is 15 to 17 cents for a pint (2 cups). Last year's crop of canned peaches is now a thrifty buy in many stores at about 25 cents for the 2 1/2 size can (3 1/2 cups).

It's disappointing to find many fresh peaches are being picked "too green." Your attempt to ripen them at room temperature before use will be time lost if the background color is green. There's no chance for development of sweetness and flavor.

Local orchardists advise that this is the time to buy some of Michigan's best peaches. If you pick your own, you can pick the ripeness you desire . . . and nothing beats the true flavor.

Imports of bananas are heavy, and with so many other fruits in season, they are selling at low prices.

There's plenty of variety in color and texture in fresh vegetables. Retailers report that tomatoes are in peak supply. You may not agree that they are in peak condition. Weather conditions do affect shape and quality and shoppers have to control ripening — and need to in many instances.

Tomatoes that must be shipped across the state are picked before they are fully ripe. Otherwise, there would be a substantial loss before they reached the shopping cart. If you want fully ripe tomatoes you may need to allow some ripening time outside the refrigerator. Or you may choose from local growers who pick their ripe and ready for eating.

CHILL CORN

Less than a nickel an ear. That's the story on corn this week. It comes in husks or in the sack in the field. It will hold more of its natural color, sugar, and displays in most stores on ice or in a refrigerator. As an extra precaution, hurry it into the home refrigerator and use it the same day. Warm temperature changes corn's natural sweet sugar to flat tasting starch quite rapidly. Once this occurs, there is no reversing the process of the generous production.

Abundant supplies of cucumbers, beans and leaf lettuce, on the other hand, are expected to be at low seasonal prices this week.

Let's study the current meat situation. You are well aware of the fine supplies of grain-fed top quality beef which has made this summer's eating better for all. Although most retailers indicate wholesale prices about the same as they have been, you will find many cuts featured. The tender steaks, cut from the loin section are in greatest demand and cost the most per pound. The more economical choices will be found in chuck and rounds.

Pork supplies are not large and price of fresh pork has been fluctuating. Since smoked pork can be stored longer price is more stable. This week shoppers will find smoked ham, bacon and frankfurters getting special emphasis.

Some folks think the pork Boston butt, a fresh cut from the shoulder, has a lot of fat and waste. Well, show this is the leanest fresh pork cut. Boned and rolled, it makes a good roast for the rotisserie. Or have it cut into 1 to 1 1/2 inch steaks and grill with barbecue sauce until well done (about 45 minutes).

Have you noticed how often fryers could be grouped among the most economical meat buys this summer? There's a good supply and shoppers have had an opportunity to enjoy lower prices because of the generous production.

Seek Integration in City Cemetery

Hopewell, Va. Negroes Asking Burial Rights in Federal Lawsuit

By United Press International

Negroes picketed segregated lunch counters in Florida and South Carolina Wednesday, and Negro leaders at Hopewell, Va., vowed to fight for integration of a city-owned cemetery.

Eight Negroes filed a Federal Court suit last week demanding equal burial rights in Appomattox Cemetery at Hopewell. The city voted Tuesday night to sell the cemetery to private interests. Instead, said Negro leader Curtis Harris said anyone who buys it "will buy a suit along with it."

Harris also promised new anti-segregation protests today at drug stores in Hopewell where eight Negroes were arrested Wednesday for seeking lunch counter service.

Six Negro anti-segregation pickets were arrested Wednesday at Hopewell, S. C., on charges obstructing traffic. Bus Greenville's bus was damaged last month to curb racial violence, was lifted.

Police at Jacksonville, Fla., took four young Negroes — 14 to 18 years old — to juvenile court for taking part in anti-segregation picketing. Chief Probation Officer Joseph M. Lorimer Jr. said they were too young to demonstrate and their parents would be subject to arrest if the youngsters did it again.

Bob Kennedy Stumps NYC for Latin Votes

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's brother and campaign manager Robert stumped for the senator in New York City all day Wednesday in a drive to line up Spanish-speaking residents to register and vote the Democratic ticket.

Robert Kennedy quoted his brother as promising to name Americans of Mexican and Puerto Rican descent to ambassadorships to South and Central America if he is elected president.

Stolen Money Found; Woman Hugs Sheriff

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — When the sheriff told me they'd caught two men I was as happy that he'd come out here, I'd hug him," said motherly Mrs. W. H. Blaine today.

"And he did, and I did, too!" That, said Mrs. Blaine, 68, was her reaction to news of the arrest of two Italian men and recovery of most of the more than $20,000 stolen from her home 10 days ago.

Mrs. Blaine and her husband, 73, have operated a small grocery store in this western Kentucky town of 5,000 for 38 years. They work long hours and save their money.

Last week, thieves smashed a window in the Blaine home, snatched a purse containing savings bonds and cash and fled.

FBI Special Agent Wallace R. Haggard of Louisville said federal agents arrested Charles H. Hodges, 25, and Richard Lee Brownfield, 21, both of Morocco, Mo., Wednesday in connection with the theft. They face charges of unlawful flight, interstate transportation of stolen property, and larceny.

The FBI said it recovered $10,000 in bonds and $10,000 in cash from the Hodges home at Morocco. Another $5,000 was recovered from the home of Brownfield's father, Lester James Brownfield. The younger Brownfield was arrested in Winnebago, Ill., about 20 miles west of Morocco and 40 miles south of Chicago.

Mrs. Blaine said it was "green of me" to be carrying so much money, but "we just neglected to put it in the bank. Why, I've been carrying money like that for the 38 years we've had our grocery here, and we've never had any trouble before."

After Andrew Johnson became President of the United States in 1865, he was nicknamed "Sir Veto" because he vetoed so many congressional bills.

'Dear Friends,' They Say

Soviet Olympians Overwhelm U.S.

By EDDY GILMORE
ROME (AP)—In blazing Roman heat Wednesday the Russians broke first ice in a dramatic bid to end the cold war with the United States—at least for the Olympics. To do this, a delegation of Soviets marched to U.S. Olympic headquarters, smiled, held out their hands and presented gifts to the Americans.

"Dear friends," began Leonid Kominikov, Soviet Olympic official, "permit me in the name of our country to greet you and wish you great success in the 17th Olympic Games."

He was speaking to Kenneth L. Wilson, of Chicago, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee.

"As a symbol of our friendship we'd like to present you with our Olympic flag and wish your athletes the very best of luck," Kominikov said.

In presenting this symbol of friendship, we'd like to stress that we do it from the bottoms of our hearts."

OVERCOME

Wilson was almost overcome by the warmth of the greeting.

He swallowed hard, and then replied, "We appreciate very much your kind wishes for success and we hope to have the opportunity of visiting your headquarters and are looking forward to it."

At this point, the Russians caught sight of Daniel J. Ferris of New York, honorary secretary of the Amateur Athletic Union.

"Dan, Dan," they chorused, "here's Dan." They pronounced the name as if it was spelled "Den."

Kominikov hugged the gray-haired American.

Ferris beamed and warmly shook hands with the Soviet callers.

"We hope to see you soon in Moscow, Dan," said Gabriel Kominikov, Soviet track coach.

"Fine, fine," replied Ferris. "I hope so too."

Wilson then asked the Russians to have some refreshments, pointing to two refrigerators packed with American soft drinks.

Some accepted.

As the Russians and Americans were talking, a member of the U.S. Olympic delegation began distributing gift packages to the Soviets.

The packages contained a fact book—printed in Russian—about the United States, a paper-back encyclopedia and a roster of all U.S. officials and athletes at Rome.

The Russian official countered by distributing copies of an athletic magazine — printed in Russian.

The editorial pleaded for "peace and friendship" at the Olympics.

Grand Rapids Will Buy 49 Acres of Shore Line

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — The city will buy 49 acres of Lake Michigan shore line property south of Grand Haven as a step toward broadened $24,525,000 water supply system.

The city commission approved the purchase of the land, located at the Southeast corner of M50 and Lake Shore Drive, at its meeting Tuesday. This paves the way for a new water filtration plant for Grand Rapids.

Something's Missing in Walled Lake

Police Parade Without Bands

Officials Press to Find Music for Saturday's Homecoming Event

WALLED LAKE — Did you ever see a bird fly without wings?

Did you ever see a parade march by without music?

The city hasn't reported any thing about birds but it does have a homecoming parade without a tool.

Walled Lake's police department, happy with a chance to participate in the local homecoming, has scheduled a parade for 11 a.m. Saturday, but, alas, no bands.

They have accepted 45 entries for the procession, planned to run about 10 blocks from the Lake Side Market to the junior high school, but after scouring the area for available bands the policemen have come up empty-handed.

"I am at my wit's end," said Police Chief James A. Becker, "everything else has come along but music. I started looking before school was out last year but haven't found a thing."

"I suppose we'll have to resort to a loud speaker truck and records," he added disappointedly.

It appears as though the rest of the city's Second Annual Homecoming will come off as scheduled.

The affair begins at 8 p.m. Friday with a family midway and art show.

Contest rodeos will be staged on the athletic field of Walled Lake Junior High School at 8 p.m. Friday and Saturday with a special matinee slated for Saturday at 2 p.m.

Featured will be bucking-bronco riding, bull-bruins bull-riding, bull-dogging and catfishing by professional cowboys from throughout the Midwest.

Sunday will be Firemen's Field Day with fire-fighting demonstrations, water battles and a giant tug of war to be held from 2 to 5 p.m. on the junior high school athletic field.

It all sounds very gay, but what's a parade without a band.

Mrs. Richard L. Carlson, sister of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. David Kirby and Laurene Ginnell, both sisters of the bridegroom, and Gracie Collier.

Serving as best man was David Kirby, and acting as the ushers were Wendell Smith, brother of the bride, Stewart Ginnell of Lapeer and Duane Wiley of Pontiac.

The township also will request a county survey of Red Oak Lane for the purpose of road improvement and sidewalk construction there.

Expecting 4,000 Clarkston Pupils

September 8, 9 Set for District Opening Official Says

CLARKSTON — An estimated 4,000 students are expected to enroll in the Clarkston School District beginning at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 8 and 9, according to Dr. L. F. Green, superintendent of schools.

The Sept. 8 opening of the new senior high school will result in the separation of the junior and senior high school students for the first time in the school district's history.

The former combination junior and senior high building on Church Street now will accommodate junior high students only.

Sixth grade children also will attend the junior high during the crowded condition in the elementary schools and prevent any half-day sessions in the elementary grades, Dr. Greene explained.

The schedule for enrollment and opening of schools is as follows: Grade 1-5 will report to their respective elementary buildings at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 8 and 9. Kindergarten children will begin school Monday, Sept. 12, according to previous assignment.

All sixth grade enrollees will report to the junior high and grades 9-12 will report at the new senior high school at 8:15 a.m. Sept. 8. All cafeterias will be in operation beginning Sept. 12.

Bus transportation will follow as nearly as possible the same scheduled routes as last year with the exceptions that sixth graders will ride the high school buses.

Students who have not previously attended any of the Clarkston Community Schools may enroll in their respective buildings Monday.

The bookstores in the junior high and all elementary schools will be open from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. beginning Tuesday. The senior high bookstore will not be open until 1 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 8.

The school faculty will hold orientation and inservice training meetings Sept. 6 and 7 beginning with an informal get acquainted meeting at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

With the exception of livestock entries, all 4-H exhibits will be shown in the newly constructed junior exhibit building, located just southeast of the grandstand.

Officiating at opening ceremonies this evening will be the king and queen of the fair, Richard and Queen of the Fair, Delphine Broward of 3525 W. 22-Mile Road, Romeo.

Both are 18-years-old and 4-H Club members.

Queen Delphine and King Richard will be crowned at 8 p.m. Friday prior to the start of a talent show put on by 4-H members at the grandstand.

Festivities at the fairgrounds actually started at 1 p.m. today with the opening of the King Carnival midway.

A 4-H horse show at 7:45 p.m. and a gigantic fireworks display at 9:15 p.m. will round out today's activities.

Judging of exhibits will open Friday's program at 9 a.m. followed by the carnival opening, a tractor hauling contest, a Little League all-star game and a band concert.

In addition to the regular exhibits, free grandstand acts will be presented Saturday and Sunday. New picnic tables have been built at the fairgrounds this year for use by visitors to the four-day event.

This you should know . . .
Food costs up $136 since 1947...
farmer's share:
down $8

Yes, for the average family, the cost per year of food products has gone up $136 since 1947, according to official government figures. But the farmer who grows the food gets $8 less than he did in 1947.

How, in the face of rising costs for everything he buys, has the American farmer managed to get along?

The answer is the wonder of the world—the astonishing, growing efficiency of the hard-working, businesslike American family farmer! Today he squeezes 51% more food out of an acre of land than thirty years ago. In the past 18 years alone, the farmer has boosted his efficiency as much as in the preceding 120 years . . . and through progressiveness and mastery of new farming methods, he grows more and more efficient every day!

The increased efficiency of the American farmer benefits you, the consumer. Because of it the percentage of your income you spend on food today is the lowest in history. Had the farmer received price increases at the same rate as most other cost-of-living items, you would be paying as much as 25% more today for food and clothing!

This is a record of which all Americans can be proud. Increased productivity of the farmer is one of the most important factors in keeping America the strongest nation the world has ever known.

FAMILY HOME FROM RUSSIA—The parents and sister of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers are shown at New York's Idlewild Airport as they arrived from Moscow, via Copenhagen, Wednesday. Mrs. Powers, the pilot's mother, sits in a wheelchair and is flanked by her husband Oliver, a Pound, Va., auto repairman, and Mrs. Jessie Hileman, sister of the convicted pilot. In the background are newsmen and airport officials.

Any Official Mercy for Powers Unlikely

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. officials said today Moscow has promised an answer soon to repeated requests that an American Embassy official be allowed to talk with convicted U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers.

However, expectations were that the Soviets for their own purposes, would not agree now to let their personal or official clemency pleas for Powers.

Chances for winning freedom for Powers, under a 10-year sentence for spying were regarded as likely to be better later on after the tumult over his case subsides. He has been in Soviet custody since his plane went down deep inside the Soviet Union last May 1.

Powers' wife, Barbara, is preparing an appeal for clemency to President Leonid I. Brezhnev of the Supreme Soviet, or Parliament, the body which formally deals with such requests. She also has asked for a personal interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev to plead for her husband.

The pilot's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., arrived in New York Wednesday night after attending their son's trial. The elder Powers told newsmen he doubted that clemency appeals would succeed. But the parents still were clinging to hope their son soon could come home.

Speculation that the Kromm wants to hold onto Powers for the time being included the reasoning that:

1. The Soviet government does not want to turn him loose quickly

Polaris Fires Itself in Underwater Test

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Polaris missile has made a first and "highly successful" blastoff—from under water—under its own power.

The fleet submarine missile has previously been shot from under water by compressed air, then ignited in the air.

The Navy announced that a modified Polaris was ignited for the first time Wednesday under the sea. It was fired from a tube at the Navy's test facility at San Clemente Island.

The tube was the same type used on the USS George Washington, the nuclear submarine which has fired Polaris missiles more than 1,000 miles from under the ocean off Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Carole-Finch Split Apparent

New Evidence Setback for Ex-Model; Doctor Steers Clear of It

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The lawyer for Dr. R. Bernard Finch jockeyed today to disassociate the surgeon from seemingly incriminating evidence lodged against Carole Tregott.

The couple, once lovers, now are co-defendants in a retrial on charges of murdering Finch's wife because she sought his $750,000 fortune in a divorce suit.

A rift between attorneys for the couple immediately became apparent Wednesday when 23-year-old Carole suffered a major setback. The trial judge allowed the prosecution to introduce contradictory statements by Carole about a so-called "do-it-yourself murder kit."

The statements were regarded as potentially incriminating against Carole. They had been kept from the first trial after a bitter argument waged by her attorneys.

When Superior Court Judge Leroy Dawson upheld the prosecution's arguments that the statements should be allowed in the retrial, Finch's attorney, Grant Cooper, moved to have the jury instructed that his client was in no way affected by admission of the statements.

Cooper still was arguing his point when the retrial was recessed until today. The arguments delayed the expected conclusion of the state's case Wednesday. The defense now is not expected to start its case until Monday.

There Seems to Be a Slight Discrepancy

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Clint Moore said his records showed Commissioner James Moore really received a bank statement Wednesday showing a balance of $73,839.87 in his personal account.

85 Nations Gather to Compete in 18 Sports

Solemn Splendor Opens XVII Olympiad Today

ROME (AP) — The games of the XVII Olympiad opened today in solemn splendor — the highest and the most costly ever held. The cold war was temporarily called off in the Eternal City as nearly 8,000 athletes from 85 nations gathered in friendly rivalry to vie in 18 sports. All indications point to a close and dramatic struggle between Soviet Russia and the United States for individual team honors with the issue probably hanging in doubt up to the closing day, Sept. 11. The United States was the 1952

Olympic champion, and Russia was the 1956 champion. The United States has a chance to repeat the Russian here. More than 300,000 tickets were sold for the opening ceremonies in the sparkling white oval stadium that is the center of a $32,000,000 athletic plant unrivaled in the world.

So uninvited was the entry list that only 4,000 athletes participated in the colorful parade — but even this exceeded the 3,539 who competed at Melbourne.

The big United States team marched smartly in uniforms of blue and white with the girls carrying red handbags to complete the national colors. Russia was in white with little stars of the famous Communist red flag.

The combined east and west German team — favored to finish third behind the two big rivals — wore blue.

President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy proclaimed the games open, the giant torch was lit by a flame kindled on sacred Mount Olympus in Greece — it will burn day and night until the games end — and Adolfo Consolini, veteran Italian Olympic discus champion, took the oath of amicitia on behalf of all competitors.

Cannons boomed, thousands of doves circled into the roman sky, and the great choir of the national academy of Santa Cecilia sang the Olympic hymn.

It was a ceremony almost unchanged from the first modern games held in Athens in 1896 — simple and deeply moving, with the focus on the athlete.

The teams marched in alphabetical order, according to the spelling of their names in Italian, except that by tradition the Greek team, 34 strong, came first.

Near the end of the parade, immediately following Spain, came the United States, at the maximum parade strength of 245. The reason for their position in the parade is that in Italian the name is State Uniti d'America.

The American men wore white jackets, white trousers, grey suede shoes, and natural colored straw hats with blue ribbons. At the end of the parade, again by tradition as the host nation, was the Italian team of 197. They wore electric blue jackets, white trousers, and white straw hats.

Avery Brundage of Chicago, president of the International Olympic Committee, spoke briefly, and then President Gronchi said "I hereby declare open the games of the seventeenth Olympiad."

The big white all-olympic straw hats with blue ribbons that represent the five continents of the world was carried into the stadium by eight Italian athletes, a new tradition presiding by the city of Melbourne to the city of Rome.

Preceded by three salutes of cannon and the release of the doves, emblematic of the Olympic peace, the torch bearers entered the stadium in the climax to the brilliant ceremony. He circled the bright red running track holding the torch high and then stopped before the great brazier. After a dramatic pause he plunged the torch into the bowl and the Olympic flame leaped up.

The ceremony came to its end when the teams marched out in the same order as they had entered.

Competition starts tonight in boxing and water polo but the full panorama of the games will not unfold until tomorrow when basketball, boxing, canoeing, cycling, field hockey, the modern pentathlon, soccer, swimming, water polo and wrestling all go into action.

Track and field, which is considered the heart and center of the games and in the men's division of which the United States is favored to dominate by winning 10 to 14 medals starts next Wednesday, Aug. 31. It ends with the 26-mile marathon down the historic Appian Way on Saturday, Sept. 10.

In the past the track events were held at the start of the games, and there was a general feeling of lull when they finished. This time the International Olympic Committee hopes to build up the games to a climax in the marathon followed by the spectacular Equestrian event in the main stadium on Sunday, Sept. 11, the closing day.

Some young man from Indiana went to San Jose State and after graduation decided to remain on the West Coast. He is a Santa Clara High School teacher but his father has been developing young international swim stars.

As coach of the Santa Clara Swim Club he has three of his boys on the men's Olympic team and three of his girls on the women's team.

He took Steve Clark at the age of eight and built him into an 800-meter and freestyle relay star at 16. He took Chris Von Saltza, star of the women's team, at the age of 10 and now at 16 she is one of the world's best at 100 and 400 meters.

His other proteges on the U.S. team are 15-year-old Miss Warner, 17-year-old Lynn Burke, 20-year-old Paul Hail and 22-year-old George Harrison. It was Haines' coaching which also gained a place on the team for 13-year-old Donna De Verna of Lafayette, Calif.

During the Nationals at Indianapolis where—significantly—Miss Russia did not do too well, "Ruska" says he won't apologize. It looks sure he's going to wind up in court when we get back home. We want an apology."

Two defending champions—lightweight Dick McTaggart of Great Britain and light welterweight Vladimir Engelgardin of Russia—are listed among the 230-man field. Five other medalists from the 1956 games in Melbourne also are among the entrants.

Workouts indicate Great Britain, Russia and the United States figure to repeat as top nations in the ring competition.

Russia won three gold medals, Britain and the U.S. each two at Melbourne.

The U.S., as other top nations in boxing, is fielding a full 10-man squad.

It was coached for a while this week by coach Julius Ziehl, but he would be forced to go with only a nine-man team.

Welterweight Paul Baldwin was with pneumonia and the Olympic committee rejected the request for a substitute. But Baldwin, of Muskogee, Okla., was cleared by doctors and cleared in time to fly to Rome Tuesday.

Baldwin drew a first round bye.

Steelers Come 'Home' to Meet Lions Tonight

Old Memories Recalled With Parker, Layne

Brown Replaces Veteran Gil Mains in Starting Defensive Unit

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

There will be some new faces and plenty of old faces when the Detroit Lions and the Pittsburgh Steelers meet at Briggs Stadium tonight.

Oddly, more of the well known old faces will belong to the visiting team and Detroit football fans will have plenty of memories to associate with them.

Lion's fans can look back at the "great years" and recall when coach Buddy Parker and quarterback Bobby Layne brought Detroit four division titles in 1951-1953-1954 and second place finishes in 1951 and 1954.

Of these great teams only Yale Lary, Jim Martin, Joe Schmidt, Gil Mains, Harry Sewell are left along with later additions Hopalong Cassidy, Darris McCord and Ollie Spencer.

Most eventual period during this great decade of Detroit pro football championships, was the quiet night of 1951 when Parker quit the Lions.

Then came the big trade in 1953 which sent Layne to the Steelers. Sandwiched in between were the deals which sent Tom "The Bomb" Tracy, the pride of Birmingham, and John Henry Johnson to Pittsburgh.

Tonight it will be "old home week" in the Motor City. They all return to meet the Lions and possibly to haunt them.

Coach George Wilson wants to win this one badly; so does Parker. Wilson plans to send Jim Nowinski to the firing line as the quarterback to match the able Layne.

Nowinski has been the outstanding passer in two exhibition games thus far, having completed 21 of 33 passes for three touchdowns.

Rodgers will do the offensive and defensive lineups for the Lions.

Veteran defensive tackle Gil Mains will have to relinquish his job tonight to 290-pound rookie Roger Lee Brown.

Brown, who won four letters in football and four in track at Maryland State College, saw limited action last year since his return from the All-Star game where he and Alex Sandusky of the Colts tangled most of the night.

A new addition to the defensive backfield is Dick "Right Train" Lane, acquired from the St. Louis Cardinals this week in exchange for veteran tackle Jerry Perry.

Lane's presence gives the Lions nine defensive backs and it is customary of the team to carry only six.

Kickoff is 8:15 p.m.

Chicago (AP)—Gene Gresham of Detroit has started his climb up the ladder of lightweight contenders.

The polished 22-year-old former National AAU champion impressively hammered out a unanimous 10-round decision over fellow townsmen Leroy Jeffrey Wednesday night in a nationally televised bout at Chicago Stadium.

Wilson Is Tired of 'Taking Rap'

George Wilson said today he is so sick and tired of being the fall guy for Detroit's ailing pro football fortunes.

"I'm not going to take the rap any longer," said the coach. "We've had lots of problems, and maybe people don't understand them. We didn't have the personnel to win. I know that — but we could have been better the last two seasons except for some real problem guys on the squad."

Wilson, who was shoved into the head coaching job in 1957 when Buddy Parker walked out, led the Lions to the world championship, and then suffered through two disastrous seasons.

Wilson said that there were times when he questioned whether a guy was giving his best.

He cited quarterback Tobin Rote and fullback John Henry Johnson, who both departed, as the stonewall centers.

Rote never signed a contract last year and instead played out his option. At the end of the season, he was a free agent and signed with the Toronto Argonauts. Johnson was traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers.

"Everyone knew Rote was playing out his option. Every player on the squad knew where Rote and Johnson were making. And it's a fact that both of them had good pass protection from Tobin—that was one of our troubles — but when we did have it, he didn't pass well."

"We knew he was a hot-and-cold quarterback when we got him from Green Bay in 1957. But for the past two seasons, we kept waiting for one of those hot days — and it never came."

Wilson also criticized Rote's play selection. During the 1959 season, he questioned whether a guy was giving his best.

Johnson was an outstanding ball carrier in 1957. His first year with the Lions was getting good money here and frankly, some of the players felt he was digging it.

"Last year, we started off poorly, and little things mounted up into big things. We never got to a point where we were pulling together in the same direction. It has been the type of club that couldn't take a bad break — and we got plenty of them."

He said the Lions will be improved in 1960. They were 3-11 last year and 4-7-1 the season before.

"We got rid of a lot of people and the turnover will be good for everyone," he said. "The spirit in our camp now is as good as any I've ever seen. It's a long way back to the top and I'm certainly not predicting we'll make it right away. But we're on the right track simply because everyone is working together now."

Wilson said that there were times when he questioned whether a guy was giving his best.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. GARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: "Hitting from the top." DIAGNOSIS: A practice gimmick needed. TREATMENT: As we have observed, the greatest swing wrecker in golf is hitting from the top. By "hitting from the top," I mean starting the hit with the hands from the top of the backswing — before the hips have started turning to lead the way.

For some golfers, this faulty action seems irremediable. "I will not hit from the top on this swing," they say to themselves, and then go right ahead and do it.

One way to get around this fault is to make sure the first action of the downswing is planting the weight firmly on the left heel. Just jam the left heel into the ground.

This will automatically shift the weight over

Pirates Take Big Step Towards Pennant as Milwaukee Bows

By The Associated Press
The Pittsburgh Pirates, 30 games over .500 and 7½ games out from now can start thinking about the National League pennant on an official basis. If you follow the formula set up by Billy Southworth.

When he was managing the St. Louis Cardinals to three NL titles in the early 40's, and again when he won with the old Boston Braves in 1948, Southworth told his club: "You don't have any right even to think pennant until you get 20 games over .500."

"Every game over .30 entitles you to think more and more about the pennant," he used to say. "Then you either run out of games to play, or get so far ahead that they tell you the magic number is zero."

"Then," Southworth would add, "you can start talking about a pennant, too."

The Pirates put themselves 30 games above the break-even point, at 75-45, with a 195 last-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Wednesday. And they moved 7½ games ahead once more when the Los Angeles Dodgers and Frank Howard slugged second-place Milwaukee 5-3 in a tight game.

Third place St. Louis slipped nine games behind with a 5-3 loss to Philadelphia. Cincinnati beat San Francisco 5-3 in 13 innings.

The Pirates, rolling up 22 victories in 30 games since slugging out of first place for one day just a month ago, blew a 6-3 lead behind 16-game winner Vern Law before nailing the Cubs in the ninth. A double by Bob Skinner, who hurt his leg sliding into second, and consecutive home runs by Dick Stuart and Roberto Clement broke it up in a four-run rally that beat reliever Don Elston (6-7).

Elroy Face (9-6) was the winner with two innings of hitless relief.

The Dodgers, beaten by five

Milwaukee home runs Tuesday night, came from behind with four homers for all their runs against the Braves and defeated one-time nemesis Bob Buhl (12-7) for the fourth time in seven decisions. Howard socked two of the home runs, giving him 29 for the season. He's hit nine of them, and driven in 17 runs, against the Braves in 13 games.

Tommy Davis and Wally Moon, whose two-run shot off reliever Carl Willey clinched it in the fifth inning, hit the other two home runs in support of Johnny Podres (11-9).

The Dodger southpaw gave up eight hits, one a two-run homer by Ed Mathews in the first inning that made Mathews the first ever to hit 30 home runs in eight consecutive seasons in the NL. He also tied Mel Ott's NL record for most 30-home run seasons.

Unbeaten rookie Art Mahafey, of the Phils, whose other two victories were over first-place Pittsburgh and second-place Milwaukee, beat the third-place Cards with a five-hit job. He needed relief help from Chris Short, however, after Ken Boyer's 26th home run in the eighth, the Cards only earned run. Lee Walls and Tony Taylor homered for the Phils, who beat Larry Jackson (14-11) with three runs in the eighth. Pancho Herrera's sacrifice fly scored the winning marker.

A two-out single by Vada Pinson finally won it for the Reds at San Francisco. Jim Brown (6-2) was McCormick (11-9) went all the way the winner in relief. Loner Mike allowing nine hits.

Foxe Injured in Fall
GALESBURG, Ill. (AP)—Jim Foxe, 33, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, was hospitalized Wednesday with a back injury received when he fell down basement stairs in his home.

Foxe, reported in good condition, was to begin work with a horticultural nursery in Rocky River, Ohio, Thursday.

Happy Birthday, Ump

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Dodger baseball fans, so more reluctant than others to give umpires a hard time, gave one a happy birthday greeting Wednesday night.

Many fans here bring transistor radios to the park and—given signal from the Dodger play by play announcer just before the seventh inning—the crowd let go with a "Happy Birthday Frank Seary." It was the umpire's 40th.

Early TDs Pay Off, 26-21

Oakland 11 Beats Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—The Oakland Raiders struck for three first period touchdowns, added two field goals and withstood a determined rally by Buffalo for a 26-21 American Football League exhibition victory Wednesday night.

Before the first period was eight minutes old, the Raiders, directed by former Kentuckian Babe Parilli, had smashed into scoring territory three times.

Parilli, making his return to football a memorable one, was the key man, throwing for two touchdowns and scoring the third.

The margin of victory was produced by Larry Barnes who booted two field goals of 27 and 42 yards.

Tommy O'Connell, former Cleveland Brown quarterback, figured in all the Buffalo scoring, passing for a pair of touchdowns and punting for another.

The game was less than two minutes old when Parilli pitched a 53-yard pass to scatback Jack Larchied.

The second score was just as sudden, Parilli catching halfback Ron Drzewiecki in the open for a 14-yard scoring play.

Then, with a little more than seven minutes remaining, Parilli appeared trapped on the Bills 14 yard line but broke through the maze of linemen and plunged into the end zone.

County Caddies Win Scholarships

Former Pontiac Central track star Larry Beamer is among 28 caddies who have been awarded Chick Evans college scholarships by the Detroit District Golf Association.

The 28 new winners are from 18 clubs throughout the state. They will join 80 returning upperclassmen to form a record number of 108 Michigan boys enrolled this fall through the Evans program. A total of 15 of the new winners will enter Michigan, 12 Michigan State and one at Marquette.

Chapter houses are maintained at both 'M' and MSU where the scholars live and conduct their group activities.

The operation of the nationwide program is financed for the most part by the contributions of individual golfers. More than 22,000 took part this year.

The DDGA program is affiliated with the famed Evans Scholars Foundation sponsored by the Western Golf Association. This year the overall Western program will have 648 scholars in school. A total of 1,106 Evans scholarships have been awarded since 1939, 228 since the DDGA joined the plan in '48.

Each scholarship covers full tuition and room rent and is renewable for the next four years.

Yanks Get Even With White Sox

By The Associated Press

If you listen close, you almost can hear the New York Yankees resting.

After slipping past the Chicago White Sox 3-2, and regaining a 1-1 game American League lead Wednesday, the Yankees had a day off today—then head into a long, make-or-break weekend.

They face three doubleheaders in three days, all at home, with a somewhat strained pitching staff and only an outside hope that slinger Roger Maris can get back into the lineup. Maris, the AL home run leader with 35, has missed nine games, because of bruised ribs.

Call Emmanuel Gridders

The Pontiac Emmanuel Christian School's junior high (grades seven through nine) and varsity (grades 10 through 12) football teams will begin practice sessions next Monday at 9 a.m. It was announced by head coach Frank D. Thompson.

All interested players who have completed their physical examinations should report with full equipment at that time. For further information, call Thompson, FE-5-3525.

The work starts with a two-night pair against Cleveland Friday and the Indians stay around for two more on Saturday and there's a Sunday twinnbill with Detroit.

Manager Casey Stengel, somewhat optimistically, has set up a pitching rotation for the six games which piled up after rainouts on earlier visits by the Indians. Bob Turley and Whitey Ford face the Indians Friday with rookie Bill Stafford and Ralph Terry going Saturday. The Tigers will face Eli Graa and Art Ditmar, the ace of the staff who won his sixth in six games Wednesday for a 13-7 record.

Baltimore moved back into a second-place tie with the White Sox by beating Detroit 9-2 Wednesday night, ending the Tigers' winning streak at seven. Cleveland bounced back into a fourth-place visit by the Indians, defeating the Sox 10-1, while Kansas City spoiled the Senators 6-4.

The Yankees managed just four hits in seven innings off Roy Sievers, but beat the tough-luck lefty with a two-run single by Hector Lopez in the first inning and a clinching, seventh-inning home run by Tony Kubek. It was Score's eighth loss, third to New York, against four victories.

Ditmar, 3-0 against the Sox, allowed six hits, half of them by Roy Sievers, who was 3-for-3 and batted two homers for Chicago's runs. Ditmar left with two out in the ninth, after Sievers' 25th home run and singles by Al Smith and Minnie Miñoso. Reliever Luis Arroyo put it away on one pitch, striking Gene France on a grounder to second.

A two-run homer by Johnny Romano put the Indians back at 5-0, breaking a 1-1 tie in the seventh at Boston against Tom Brewer (7-13). Barry Latman, who had lost five in a row since Memorial Day, won his second with his first complete game in 12 tries. He allowed nine hits, walked just one and struck out seven.

Kansas City scored four unearned runs in the fifth, then called it with a two-run, pinch single by Hank Bauer in the seventh. Bauer's hit came off reliever Hal Woodeshick, but tagged the loss on Camilo Pascual (12-7). Johnny Kucka (4-7) was the winner, with relief help from Ray Herbert.

Boating

Know All the Rules

Skin Diving is Also Competitive

Real honest-to-goodness skin divers pursue every angle of the sport, and many of them include participation in competition.

Such is the case with Paul Dammann and Don Del Monico, 1959 National Champions, who have competed in tournaments throughout the United States and Europe. Some of the tournaments have taken them as far as Malta, where they dove with the United States team that competed in the 1958 world championship tournament, which took three places.

Skin diving, which requires only a mask, snorkel, fins and a snarl (a camera), attracts the majority of underwater enthusiasts, but each year thousands are graduating to the more elaborate and expensive equipment required by the so-called "scuba" divers.

Underwater explorations open up new frontiers for sportmen on every stretch of water front, whether on sea, bay or lake. The pioneer who would explore these unknown lands of the marine world need travel only a few miles.

Dammann and Del Monico insist that it is the safest of sports, providing the participant follows the simple rules. Despite the growing numbers who now devote some of their time to the activity, practitioners insist that more people are killed and injured as the result of the kick of a mule than suffer injury as the result of skin diving.

These two champion divers are like many of the true adherents to the sport. They engage in underwater exploration, and also in fishing and photography. Appealing to most divers is treasure hunting, and many bring up interesting and valuable trove from old wrecks.

In some areas, young skin divers have managed to pay for their equipment by diving for lost mailings, anchors and other boating equipment lost over the side at harbors and yacht basins.

Dammann and Del Monico find hundreds of exceptional skin diving areas within a radius of 50 miles of their home base of Miami, Florida. They pack their gear in a station wagon and a trailer and seek their adventure where they find it.

The rules laid down by Dammann and Del Monico are only seven in number, but they are important:

1. Never skin dive alone. Take a safe, dependable companion.
2. Know the waters where you are diving, especially if they are influenced by tides or currents.
3. Have an operating boat, preferably a boat, for real.
4. Know your own physical limits.

New Boating Guide

A new publication, "Recreational Boating Guide," has been published by the Coast Guard. It is an 80-page booklet with detailed information on numbering, minimum equipment requirements, recommended additional equipment, operating responsibility, aids to navigation, safety precautions, emergency procedures, etc.

Known officially as CG-340, the booklet may be secured from the Superintendent of Documents at $6 a copy.

1. Be familiar with the sea life of the area.
2. Do not dive in areas where others are fishing from boats or the shore.
3. Have a skin diving flag clearly visible to avoid danger from passing boats.
4. Be familiar with the sea life of the area.

Protective Steps Now Will Help Boat Later

Steps taken to protect your boat from marling now will minimize shore before going out to the boat, your maintenance and repair problems this winter. Mercury outboard authorities offer these suggestions:

Gravel beaches raise hob with the skin and finish of an outboard boat when landing and embarking. If you operate off a beach, find a waterlogged board and set it in the sand. By gliding up on its slick surface when landing, you will spare the boat much wear.

Use rubber auto floor mats under fishing tackle boxes, fuel containers, and anchors, and when cutting back, to save the boat's interior from scratches. Rubber mat flaps behind your car's wheels will do much to keep flying pebbles from pitting the sides and bottom of the hull when traveling poor roads.

If your trailer fenders are skimpy they probably let pebbles strike the hull, too. Good ones should cover the wheels over an arc of 180 degrees.

Much finish scuffing is due to sand tracked aboard on people's feet. Place a coconut mat at the beach end of your dock so passengers can wipe sand off their shoes before coming aboard.

Look for sharp corners on the upper ends of your trailer's roller support brackets. Sometimes the boat will roll onto a trailer perfectly straight and such edges can cause long scrapes in the bottom. File them round.

See that the bow fits snugly into the trailer's bow chock, with no metal contacting the hull. Other additional padding will be desirable to make the chock fit your boat.

Simple precautions such as these help maintain like-new appearance for years.

Motor City Pace Slated Tonight

DETROIT (AP) — The $25,000 Motor City Pace — the fastest racing series in Michigan — will tip tonight at the Wolverine Harness Raceway with 19 horses shooting for top money.

Racing Secretary Bill Connors, who calls the pacing field the finest he has assembled in the Midwest, had to divide the event into two divisions. Ten horses will be in the first 7:20 nine in the second.

River Conditions Change as the Summer Moves on

By late summer, many rivers, at the juncture of two rivers or a river and a stream, and bars have shrunk to and ghosts of their springtime fullness.

Mercury outboard authorities suggest checking with local authorities before trailering your boat to a distant river. The one you're member as being deep and fast moving may greet you with rocks and a sluggish thrille too shallow for boating.

When on the river, you can learn much about its depth if you know the "code." The deepest part of the river is generally the darkest in color. On a straight stretch, deep water will be in the center, but you'll find it deeper toward the outside of a curve.

Shallow water is more subject to rippling by the wind than deep water, which is more navigable by outstretches. Watch for rough patches boards far above this river. They'll or swirling ripples; they indicate probably not be marked, so move that there is some obstruction up-cautiously as you get further up-river.

OUTBOARD RECORD. — A new world speed record for outboards is set by Russ Hays of Spokane, Wash., as he pilots this custom-built hydroplane powered by a production 60-horsepower Mercury outboard motor through a one-kilometer course on Seattle's Lake Washington at an average speed of 115.347 mph. Russ, who went faster

U.S. Students Lose to British 22-17

CHICHESTER, England (AP) — British University students took a 21-lead over their American rivals on the second day of a sailing meet Wednesday.

Light winds cut the day's program to one race. Britain won this, 22-17 points to 27. A second race had to be cancelled because of a lack of wind.

The team's sailing in Alpha boats with mastsails and jibs, the 4-mile course was set three times around a triangle in Chichester Harbor.

The British made a good start and then covered their lead well. John Grogono of London University finished first, followed by Peter Gray of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Others on the finishing were David Prior-Palmer of Cambridge University; Jeremy Wright of Oxford; and Dennis Wright of Boston.

Boaters—Time for Midseason 'Safety Check'

Most outboarders start the boating season with a full complement of safety equipment on board, but many tend to neglect these things as the season goes along.

Now would be a good time to run a midseason "safety check" on your boat to make sure that everything is as it should be.

Commonly neglected items in many outboards are the life jackets and buoyant cushions. Check to see that all straps and ties are still secure and firmly.

If the life jackets have been stored in the forward hold or under the seats, examine them for any sign of mold or rot. Make sure that the covering of buoyant cushions has not worn through and that the stitching is tight and secure at all points.

Other items of other hardware should be checked to see that they are secure.

The inside of your boat should be given a thorough inspection. Are all seats tight? Are steering wheel and control lever secure firmly?

If there is any woodwork on your boat, check for splintering. A fire and sandpaper will remove the possibility of any splinters causing injury to yourself or your passengers. Smooth down the rough spots and revarnish them right away.

You have a fire extinguisher on board, and some sort of whistle or horn. But what about a first aid kit? If you have one, check its contents: If you haven't first, it is an important item you shouldn't put off acquiring.

Finally, give yourself a safety check. Go over the rules of safe boating. Review your knowledge of the laws and practices of the waterways.

Exotic Birds Thrive

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Iranian blackneck pheasants released in Virginia — 600 in number — are doing well. The state plans to release another 1,000 the next year.

Chinese ringneck pheasants were unsuccessful in Virginia although they have done well in many parts of the United States. The Iranian blackneck is a slightly smaller bird.

Reasonable Boating Rules Win Victory in Minnesota

Reasonable regulation of boating won a victory in Minnesota recently when a district court upheld a local ordinance which sought to impose restrictions on boating beyond those contained in the state law, according to the Outboard Boating Club of America.

In another finding on the same case, the court ruled that the ordinance was, in effect, automatically repealed by the Minnesota Water Act adopted by the Minnesota legislature in 1958.

A long outboard ride with the waves is more enjoyable than one against them. When possible, plan your trips to take advantage of the prevailing winds.

Keep Your Boat Ship-Shape the Easy Way

The Mercury outboard people have come up with a list of suggestions which will help you keep your rig ship-shape with a minimum of extra work. The secret, they say, is to keep ahead of the work by performing your work chores a little bit at a time, perhaps five or ten minutes before and after every use.

While waiting for guests to arrive, clean the windshield and forward deck, checking all fittings for tightness, and unhooking any lines which may have become tangled last time out. Examine bumper tie lines and life preservers at this time.

Working your way back along the hull, check all controls at the helm and then follow them back to the motor. Watch for excessive play and make sure that the wheels are tensioned securely to the dash.

Examine all wiring and fuel line connections in the motor and see to it that the motor is fastened securely to the transom. Both the clamp screws and the bolts which run through the transom require a periodic test for tightness.

At the end of a cruise, give the boat a quick once-over. Wipe up any spilled oil or gasoline immediately. A clean transom is the mark of a careful boatman. If you wipe it down, along with your motor, and remove all traces of oil after every run, there'll be far less chance of stains working their way into the finish.

Pleasure Boalmen

PLACER COUNTY should file claim with the federal gasoline tax refund, according to the Outboard Boating Club of America. Under the Federal Highway Act of 1950, part of the U.S. excise tax on gasoline is refundable if the fuel is used for purposes other than operating a highway vehicle.

Deadline for filing claims is September 30. Claims must cover a period from July 1, 1959 to June 30, 1960 and must be made directly to the Internal Revenue Service form 542 which can be obtained at your Internal Revenue Service office. About two-thirds of the claim also grant state gasoline tax refunds to pleasure craft operators.

Know the Wind for Better Outboarding

Relying so completely on the wind, the sailboat skipper learns early in the game that a good knowledge of its effect on the water and his boat are a vital part of his seamanship.

The Mercury outboard people suggest that outboarders too can profit from some tips about the wind to make their boating more pleasurable.

A long outboard ride with the waves is more enjoyable than one against them. When possible, plan your trips to take advantage of the prevailing winds.

The summer sun heats land masses faster than nearby water. Hot air over the land rises and cools air from over the water flows in to replace it, creating the so-called "sea-breezes." This is a daily occurrence in most areas, so your smoothest cruising times are in the cool of early morning and late afternoon. Save the mid-day for picnicking, fishing, or exploring lakes.

Goodwin Victor in Qualifying Finals at PYC

Two races at Pontiac Yacht Club have wound up the qualifying contests for 19 skippers. The Championships and Commodore sail-off series winners will be decided in races ending on Labor Day.

The latest winners at PYC were the same for both races. Black Goodwin-victor captured top honors with Bob Flack coming in 2nd and Andy Roulet Jr. taking 3rd.

Winners of the season's qualifying races were Bob Flack, 1st; Clarence Holman, a close 2nd; and Andy Roulet Jr., 3rd.

Betty Holman was the winner of the overall Wednesday Night Owls series. Andy Roulet Jr. took runner-up honors and Teddy Flack, a junior sailor, placed 3rd.

Thompson May Retire, Miss Saturday Event

Move Would Leave Eight Boats in Annual Classic

DETROIT (AP) — Rumors that speedboat driver Chuck Thompson would retire and withdraw Miss Detroit from Saturday's Silver Cup race threatened to cut the field to eight boats.

Miss U.S. is knocked out of the race Tuesday when it was severely damaged after rudder dropped off in a turn-up run. If Miss Detroit doesn't run, it would leave only Bill Castrell in Gale-V as a serious threat to favored Miss Thriftway in the Detroit River classic.

Sources said it was fairly certain Thompson, who gained fame as the hay-bugger driver of Miss Popai, would announce his retirement before the race.

Thompson himself was unsure, saying there is a slight chance he'll race in the Silver Cup.

Miss Detroit, formerly Guy Lombardo's Tempo V, has been a consistent bent winner. Thompson has been plagued with hard luck in recent races, however, as debris knocked him out of contention in the final heats.

Thompson held nearly every state outboard championship in the 1930s and moved to the Gold Cup class in 1950 when he drove for Walter and Roy Dixon.

First '81 Boat Motor Released Is 'Merc 800'

The first of the 1961 outboard motors, Mercury's new 80 h.p. Merc 800, has been announced by the Kierchfeger Corporation of St. Louis, Mo.

The Merc 800 is offered for 1961 either (1) as a full forward-neutral-reverse gearshift engine, or (2) as the direct-reverse engine, known as the Merc 800R and preferred by many experienced boaters.

Both motors, the most powerful family outboards ever put on the market, are now being shipped to dealers across the nation. The announcement in advance of the customary fall introduction date for the new line comes because the heavy demand throughout the season reduced stocks of the 80 h.p. Mercury below seasonal requirements, officials said.

The balance of the 1961 Mercury line will be announced in September. An aluminum propeller, alternator-type generator, shock absorber, fuel line assembly, and six-gallon fuel tank will be included in the engine price.

Oh Yes, the Olympic Games, Too

Double Chaos in Rome: Traffic and Gina

By BOB CONSIDINE

ROME — It was hard to decide for the visitor at least, which was the greater event: The opening of the Olympic Games or the arrival back on the Apennine Way of Mrs. Milton Sforza.

Both events were disturbing to many Romans. The Olympic Games are causing some serious problems in regard to auto traffic in Rome.

There is being made an undoubtedly great attempt to bring order to what had been one of the world's most chaotic since the invention of the internal combustion by Leonardo da Vinci some years back.

Some clever official figured out it might facilitate auto passage to and from the Olympic area if there were proper signs, one-way streets this way and that, traffic cops and similar devices all judged insane by the free-wheeling Roman driver.

The streets of Rome ring with curses and baffled shouts as Roman drivers, all descended from chariot-driving ancestors, try to adjust themselves to the modern norm. All the fun and sport and mayhem have been taken from the streets in Rome as a result of these preposterous new laws — one of which prohibits drivers of scooters from tooling through your antiques as you try to grab a bit of stalestaple at a sidewalk cafe.

Mrs. Sforza caused a greater commotion and more editorial. One magazine announced in a long story she had a 13-year-old daughter whose elegance and poise had never before been revealed.

In the body of the story an incident containing the editor's promise to look into the whole question raised in the article: Mrs. Sforza's maiden name is Lallorborg.

Getting back to the troubles the Olympics are causing Romans, there are complaints that the influx of tourists, athletes and officials will bring about a water shortage in many homes in the city. It's had enough to keep the fountains going through late August, they argue, but this crazy invasion is too much for the aqueducts.

There is an additional complaint that Roman shopkeepers and restaurateurs are getting so overawed that they are presenting bills to regular Romans which they should and do present only to Olympic visitors.

Rome's ladies of the evening are offended by the presence here of the games. Cops have been brought in from the provinces to enable Roman police to make a complete purge of them, at least those addicted to the pavement.

Rome's night club operators are equally incensed. Police have been assigned to these smoky places to insure that the guy with his food on is not gyped too badly.

But it was a brilliant party she or her producers gave at her late, where the sweep of lawn is like a splendid green carpet. We had a word with her.

We asked her how it felt to be back in the land that once kissed the hem of her garment and now curses her as "Italy's richest emigrant."

She shrugged her expressive shoulders. "I read today that I have a 13-year-old illegitimate daughter. There are many other things. If I read these things and believe them, then I cannot live. I cannot do my work. So I just do my work."

MEA Eyes Shift to Battle Creek

Awaits Ruling From Tax Commission on Its Exemption

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Education Association, was scheduled to study a plan to shift its headquarters from Lansing to Battle Creek at a meeting Saturday, officials said yesterday.

But a positive move to build a $1-million headquarters will probably wait until a decision is made by the State Tax Commission.

The MEA has asked if it can be classified as exempt from local taxes because of the nature of its organization. The tax commission was expected to rule within five or six weeks, an MEA spokesman said.

The organization has not had to pay local taxes on the present building in Lansing since 1929, a spokesman said.

"We cannot hope to continue tax exempt if the tax commission says we should pay taxes," the spokesman said. "We're not trying to put pressure on the commission or anybody else."

Atomic Age Cave: It's Furnished

LONDON (UPI) — An atomic-age "cave" was held out today pending trial on charges of furnishing his crude dwelling with all the comforts of somebody else's home.

Lawrence Say, 34, a drugstore clerk turned hermit, was accused of using yesterday of making off with nearly $1,000 worth of luxury goods, including a TV set, a radio, movie cameras and a record player — not in museum right boxes of milk stolen from a farm near his cave.

The milk theft was Say's undoing. Police investigating the loss found the entrance to the 400-yard long, shrub-shaded cave under the Sham Castle Hotel course where he had been living since February.

The ragged, ill-groomed and unkempt prisoner was charged on 11 counts of theft and shop-breaking.

"I don't know how the goods got into the cave," Say said. "I've never seen them before — after all, it's dark in there."

Point Creek Church Sets Annual Picnic Sunday

GOODISON — The annual church and Sunday school picnic of the Point Creek Community Methodist Church will be held here Sunday, starting at 12:30 p.m.

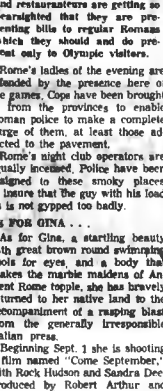

Those attending are asked to bring a pot-luck-dish to pass and their table service. Buns and ice cream will be furnished. Games and a hymn sing are also scheduled.

PET DOCTOR
By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. What can we do about our Chihuahua's very bad case of halitosis? K. M. of McPherson, Kan.

A. I know what a problem this can be. There's nothing subtle about his odor. I've seen cases where the owner couldn't stay in the same room with the pet. Unfortunately, your dog can't help himself by chewing gum or brushing his teeth.

Nor has he the tact to breathe through his nostrils and turn his head away. The most common cause of this unpleasant condition is dirty or decayed teeth. Infected tonsils or post-nasal drip can produce odor.

Insufficient stomach acid retards digestion, and this could well be the root of the problem. Kidney disease is another possibility. The cause can be detected and usually cured by your veterinarian. If a check-up reveals no clinical disturbance, your dog's social acceptance can usually be restored by giving a chlorophyll tablet in his food two or three times a day.

Kelsey-Hayes Co. to Move to Romulus

DETROIT (UPI) — The Kelsey-Hayes Co., which makes auto parts, has announced it will close its McKeesport, Pa., plant and move the operations to its new plant at Romulus.

Leslie R. Downie, executive vice president, said the move indicated the firm's confidence in Michigan and the Detroit area.

About 800 persons are employed at McKeesport. The company bought a former navy jet plant at Romulus last February and plans to spend at least $4 million improving the plant.

Durban Board Asks Higher Age for Apprentices

Boys of 12 and 13 are being apprenticed as jockeys in South Africa, on the Juvenile Affairs Board of Durban has advised other juvenile authorities throughout the country.

It says these boys do their riding before going to school and are receiving more money than is good for them. They flaunt the money at school and cause ill feeling among their friends.

"They are also subjected to bad influence by the undesirable company often found at race tracks," the board said. It is felt that working before school has a detrimental effect on the boys' schoolwork. An effort will be made to raise the apprenticeship age from 14 to 16.

India's Farms Yield Big Crop; Still Short

NEW DELHI (UPI) — India's food position improved during the 1959-60 agricultural year, but local farmers still did not produce enough to feed 400 million people. The Ministry of Food and Agriculture reported that production of food grains from April 1, 1959 to March 31, 1960 amounted to a record 73.5 million tons. Despite the improved crop — an 11 million ton increase over the previous year — more food had to be imported.

Publisher Skims Alps; Rome 'Inferno' Hot

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

ROME — The flight into Rome from Paris is truly spectacular. Perhaps this is one of the great scenic flights on the globe.

We crossed the Alps and the Alps are universally awarded international championships for sheer beauty and grandeur.

We swirled across this tremendous spectacle at slightly better than 600 miles an hour and took an hour and a half to accomplish a trip that requires three days' hard driving in an automobile.

The captain announced we were at 23,000 feet and yet at times the peaks seemed uncomfortably close.

I'll guarantee one thing: The Alps afford no informal landing fields. Snow capped peaks are connected by deep ravines that seem bottomless and the grand old patriarchs of nature stand there silently and grimly but full of defiance.

"Just try us," they challenge. "We'll settle your hash but good."

Here is Nature's most impressive range of lofty peaks. It's her mountainous masterpiece.

But the newest manmade device sails along serenely at speeds the old gal never contemplated.

Occasionally fleecy clouds surrounded some of the loftier tops and provided a softer, ethereal background than the overall picture.

When we left Paris, the mercury stood at an even 50. But when we touched our wheels on the airport at Rome, the temperature had soared into the 90s.

Rome's inferno hot, but the Romans don't seem to mind, and when in Rome do as the Romans do.

Aye. That's the program.

60 Die in Brazil Bus Plunge

Some Clouds, Little Warmer Friday Forecast

Friday will be partly cloudy and a little warmer, the weatherman says. High temperatures will reach near 84. The low tonight is expected to be 62.

Considerable cloudiness with scattered showers or thunderstorms is the forecast for Saturday. Southeasterly morning winds at 2 miles per hour will become 10-20 miles.

Fifty-eight was the lowest thermometer reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The temperature at 1 p.m. was 78.

Party Worker Quits Dem Post

Madlyn Scott Resigns as Dinner Chairman in Letter of Protest

With a blast at the new Democratic Party leadership in the county, Mrs. Madlyn Scott, dropped earlier this month as a party officer, resigned yesterday as chairman of the annual fund-raising congressional dinner.

In a letter of protest to James M. Glin, new chairman of the Democratic County committee, Mrs. Scott complained:

"I have tried very hard to get the dinner but have found it was impossible due to the makeup of the county committee and the product delegates and confirmed by delegates in the county."

Glin took over the reins of the party earlier this month when a labor-union faction succeeded in seizing power from former chairman Carlos O. Richardson.

The action supposedly backed a whole new slate of candidates for county committee posts.

Mrs. Scott was one of Richardson's group who fell by the wayside.

"Inasmuch as I am not from the group selected for the county committee, I honestly don't feel I could get any of these persons to work for me—many of them are not even in the county during the day."

"I therefore, did not feel they would be able to contribute much to the success of the event," she added.

Mrs. Scott, who still is a Waterford Township precinct delegate, would still be working for the party on the state and national levels.

"When I accepted the chairmanship of the dinner, I did not anticipate such a wide and definite split among Democrats and other groups within the party."

Mrs. Scott dropped off her letter of resignation at county headquarters yesterday afternoon. She was unavailable for comment.

Candidates Slip On Traveling Shoes

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

No slack is being allowed in the tight schedules of the two hard-driving presidential contenders, back in Washington today from speaking dates in Virginia and Michigan.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic candidate, heads for New York City and then Detroit today while Vice President Richard M. Nixon, his Republican opponent, goes on television.

In his first campaign swing into the South, Kennedy questioned the experience of Nixon Wednesday night at nearby Alexandria, Va.

"Mr. Nixon is experienced—experienced in politics of weakness, not in politics of strength," he said.

In recent years, he said, there has been a decline in the nation's prestige, "driving our friends to neutrality and neutrals to outright hostility."

Nixon told the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention at Detroit that the United States "must always be firm without being belligerent."

Kennedy is to address the VFW convention Friday morning. He stops in New York to make a speech before a national luncheon meeting and flies to Detroit immediately afterward.

Nixon is to appear on the Jack Paar television show tonight. Paar will conduct the interview before an audience in the Washington studios of the National Broadcasting Co.

DEBATES CLOSE

The way was cleared for joint TV debates between the two candidates when President Eisenhower signed a bill lifting certain radio-TV broadcast restrictions.

There are reports of increased activity over the religious issue in the campaign.

"The circulation of rabidly anti-Catholic material already in many times greater than we've ever seen it," said Robert E. Fulkner, executive director of the Fair Campaign Practices Committee.

"Every indication is that the anti-Catholic component in this campaign is going to be a critical one," said Fulkner.

The privately supported, non-partisan committee, which has questioned material, is backed by both major parties. Fulkner emphasized there was no indication any of the material came from responsible GOP quarters.

Adviser of Kennedy, a Boston Catholic, said a meeting will be set up with the Democratic campaign organization to deal with the issue.

President Eisenhower held his press conference to bolster his position should not be an issue, but it is almost certain to be the issue "as long as we have not strong emotional convictions and reactions in domestic affairs. You can't help it."

Jailed in Breach of Curfew Law

Pontiac Youth Guilty of Encouraging Minor to Violate Curfew

Enforcing the state's new curfew law to the teeth, Birmingham Associate Judge Edward Emery sentenced a Pontiac youth to four days in the Oakland County Jail Wednesday for encouraging a minor to violate the midnight deadline.

Ralph E. Wilkinson, 17, 127 Orchard Lake Road, pleaded guilty to a charge of inducing a minor to violate the curfew law. He was ordered to pay $5 court costs.

Arrested at 3:45 a.m. Tuesday when police found him with a 16-year-old boy in his car, Wilkinson was the first youth to be arrested and convicted in Birmingham under the new law.

"This is just about the same thing as contributing to delinquency," said Birmingham Juvenile Court Officer Jack Kaldishian. "We've got the law and as long as we baby the individuals we won't get anywhere."

"The law without enforcement is useless," he added. "We've got it and we're going to use it."

Castro's Man Expected to Storm Out of Parley

HE TALKS FOR CASTRO—Cuba's Raul Roa was to be the main speaker today at the foreign ministers' conference in San Jose, Costa Rica. Roa vowed to hold the floor "perhaps seven hours—perhaps one hundred." He was expected to proclaim Cuba an enemy of the U.S. and the inter-American system, and then storm out of the conference. Informers said Roa was under new orders to play up Cuba's scorn for the Organization of American States.

Most Victims Were Teen-Age Band Members

Tumble Into River Kills All but Three Bound for Celebration

From Our News Wire

SAN JOSE DO RIO PRETO, Brazil—An anticipated celebration turned into tragedy late Wednesday as a bus plunged into a river, killing 60 of the 63 persons aboard.

Fifty-nine of the passengers were members of this city's high school band, traveling to Barretos to take part in anniversary festivities there.

The bus plummeted from a bridge into the Turvo River. Authorities said 45 bodies had been recovered by this morning.

The students were 15 to 30 years old.

The accident occurred near Olimpia, about midway between San Jose do Rio Preto and Barretos, 40 miles to the northeast.

San Jose do Rio Preto is in Brazil's interior about 136 miles northwest of Sao Paulo.

Most observers believed Roa and his delegation actually were the scheduled passengers.

The clue to what would happen when the diplomat was finished came in the announcement that a special airliner was arriving from Havana today, ostensibly to take home some Cuban news.

Most observers believed Roa and his delegation actually were the scheduled passengers.

TO APPEAR LAST

Conference Chairman Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala of Colombia said late Wednesday night Roa had assured him the would be no walkout. At the same time, however, the Cuban requested that the order of speakers be reversed so that he appeared last.

The pattern for Roa's demonstration was set Wednesday by Castro in a two-hour harangue denouncing the United States as an "enemy of humanity," mocking the present inter-American system as a creation of " Yankee imperialism" and boasting that Russia and Red China "are our friends."

Latin delegations hoping for some minute of cordiality gave from the Havana regime were completely disheartened by Castro's new attack.

It was felt the Latin republics had no other chance than to fall in line with Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Argentina and Peru in Cuba were condemned for "encouraging" Russian and Red Chinese "intervention" in the Americas.

Quadruple Wednesday night joined Colombia, Argentina and Peru in a final call for Cuba to renounce Russia's offer of military protection and return to the friendship of the inter-American community. But there was no sign of an affirmative response.

Birmingham Boy, 7 Is Beaten Into Coma

Birmingham police today are investigating the wanton beating of a 7-year-old boy.

Mark Cressney, son of Mr. and Mrs. David E. Cressney of 1718 Holland Ave., is believed to have been knocked into a coma by three older youths Wednesday because he would not ride a bicycle.

He was reported "much improved and quite alert" this morning at William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Nurses there said the boy is no longer in a coma and that his condition is fairly good.

Suffering a concussion and multiple bruises, Mark staggered home and collapsed in his mother's arms, telling her that he had been beaten by three older boys because he would not ride a bicycle.

E. Coast-Alaska Northern Trail Blazed by N-Sub

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American nuclear-powered submarine Seadrug, ducking under huge icebergs in the arctic's northwest passage, has pioneered a short sea route from the eastern United States to Alaska.

The Navy announced the Seadrug's first Wednesday. It said the sub had blazed the trail for a possible military and commercial route through the Parry Channel.

The trip also helped develop techniques and test equipment for submarine under-ice operations.

The Seadrug left Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 1. It headed north through Barfleur Bay, then west through a series of sounds and straits designated as Parry Channel. Part of the trip was made on the surface, part under water.

At one point the submarine nosed down more than 300 feet to get under an iceberg 879 feet wide and 1.47 feet long.

Kennedy's Program Falling Around Him

FROM OUR NEWS WIRE

WASHINGTON — Democratic Presidential nominee John F. Kennedy's legislative program for the short-late session of Congress appeared today to have collapsed.

Democratic leaders were licking their wounds, mapping a salvage operation, and planning a quick windup of the session, probably late next week.

They denied they had thrown in the towel. They promised passage of half-a-dozen legislation of national care for the aged. They also intended to enact a moderate income tax cut.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Rules Committee gave a go-ahead signal today for a compromise on minimum wage legislation. By vote of 83, it cleared the way for Senate and House members to work out differences between the bills passed by the two bodies.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose one-tenth of 1 percent in July to set a record for the fifth straight month.

However, Kennedy already has written off such compromise bills as "appeasement inequities." He has recoiled himself in taking to the voters issues rather than legislative accomplishments in these areas and also in the field of school construction and housing.

The decision to adjourn, and yet still likely to become so, apparently was based on these factors:

1. The House Rules Committee people determined not to let a school aid bill go to a compromise committee. It still is blocking a debate.

2. But food prices rose less than they have in July.

Prices for automobiles, appliances and furniture continued to decline.

9 Arab Nations Will Seek Help

To Call Volunteers To Join Algerians Against France

SHITLAURA, Lebanon (AP)—Nine Arab League nations have agreed to call for volunteers to help the Algerians fight against France, but they balked at a rebel demand that the Arab world sever all ties with the French.

The Arab League Council would debate Wednesday on appeals for action by the Algerian provisional government and agreed to two other pleas from Foreign Minister Fernand Berthoin.

1. To intensify efforts in the United Nations Assembly to get self-determination for Algeria.
2. To "exert effective diplomatic efforts with all friendly countries" to get early recognition of the Algerian rebel government.

The Arab foreign ministers also agreed to warn the North Atlantic Alliance of "grave consequences" of French use of (NATO) arms against the Algerians. Berthoin had wanted the league to go farther and force evacuation of French and NATO troops from Arab states.

Two Flavors—Whisky, Cognac

Candies Stagger British

LONDON (UPI)—Candies with a kick—up to 11.7 proof—reportedly are jolting sales upward in Britain and raising fears among temperance leaders that youngsters will develop new exotic tastes.

The Daily Mirror said the new sweets, imported from Italy, are sold in two new nippy flavors in candy stores—whisky at 11.7 proof and cognac at 9.7 proof.

The alcoholic content has been tested by an official analyst who verified the strength.

Three packs of the whisky candy are the equivalent to two fluid ounces of whisky. Three and a half of the cognac flavor will give the sweet-toothed customer the same jolt as two ounces of brandy. Each pack has 10 pieces of candy.

If a customer eats only one piece of the cognac candy, he will have taken in the same amount of alcohol as he would get in a half-pint of very strong beer.

The Mirror said Britain's candy store owners have been warned by the candy's importers and temperance leaders not to sell the liquor-flavored candies to children.

Not Correct to Order Costly Item

By EMILY POST
Dear Mrs. Post: The other day I, along with two other women, was invited by a specially of that particular restaurant. One of the women guests ordered the most expensive dish on the menu. Although I myself like this particular dish very much I did not order it because of the price and ordered something else instead.
In discussing this later with a friend, I said that I thought this woman showed very poor taste in doing this, but she disagreed with me saying that when a menu is handed to a guest she has a right to order whatever she likes from it. I think some consideration should be shown for the hostess' pocketbook. Am I correct?
Answer: If the hostess had suggested it as being a specialty of that particular restaurant, it would have been quite right for her to say, "I'd like that very much." But to just pick out the dish of highest cost on the menu, was very unreasonable.

Says Fall Fashions to Be Bright, Bulky

By PATRICIA COOK
Radcliffe College '61
BOSTON — The new look on the campus this fall is going to be startlingly different. The colors will be brighter the skirts shorter, and the sweaters bulkier.
The fashion trend is toward more and more accessories: armloads of bracelets, big necklaces and earrings.
The skirts this fall are great fashion news. The new length is one or two inches below the knee.
The knee-tickler length in the skirt, a little above the knee, will be extremely popular, too, especially for casual wear.
A good rule to follow in wearing the knee-tickler skirts, culotte skirts, and knickers is to wear them for the same type of occasion that you would wear bermuda shorts.
The sweaters this year are bigger and bulkier. Most popular among these are the ski sweaters, bulky knits with the big big turtle necks, boat-necked sweaters, and sweaters with drawstrings at the waist.
Blouses, too, have taken on a new look. Buttondown collars are still very popular and there is a great emphasis on feminine collars on shirts.

Taxes and State Constitutional Reform

Issues, Not Names, in Spotlight for Dems

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—When Michigan Democrats gather here this weekend for their fall state convention, issues—not candidates—will be the prime consideration in this presidential election year.

And, of course, party members will be looking to see how Lt. Gov. John B. Swanson, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, conducts himself now that Gov. G. Mennen Williams is stepping out after being in the leader's spotlight 12 years.

Swanson has said he wants all the present members of the State Administration Board up for re-election in November to be on the Democratic ticket with him and Rep. T. John Ledniski, the party's lieutenant governor candidate.

The convention is expected to fulfill Swanson's wishes when it completes the party slate.

WANTS SOURIS

Swanson also has expressed the desire for the convention to nominate Theodore Souris of Detroit to run in the nonpartisan race to fill the unexpired term of John D. Voelker, who resigned as justice of the State Supreme Court in January.

Williams appointed Souris justice after Voelker stepped down with about 7½ years still left in his term. Souris, too, is expected to get the convention's nod.

This leaves the convention with the main job of hammering out a platform for the candidates.

Swanson has openly presented his opposition to a measure on the November ballot to set up the structure necessary to call for a constitutional convention.

This proposal was a spot on the ballot through the efforts of the Michigan Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Michigan League of Women Voters.

Williams has said he'll campaign for the proposal, thus going contrary to Swanson, the party's new leader.

Both Williams and Swanson say they agree constitutional reform is needed, but they differ on how to go about it. Swanson favors the idea of specific amendments to the State Constitution, leaving the task to the legislature rather than a convention.

August Scholle, president of the state AFL-CIO and very influential among state Democrats, also is opposed to the constitutional convention plan. He is considered an important backer of Swanson.

TO 4 PER CENT

Another November ballot issue will be a proposal on raising the state's sales tax ceiling from 3 per cent to 4 per cent. Democrats are generally opposed to such an increase, and instead want to install an income tax to finance state operations.

A party spokesman said the convention also can be expected to deal with federal aid and education.

medical care for the aged and an aging program—areas where difference with the Republican Party are generally spelled out.

Michigan's economic climate for industrial growth also is expected to be a platform issue.

The convention also will select 29 presidential and vice presidential electors who would go to the electoral college if Democrats get the majority in the presidential election.

The convention opens Friday with registration and briefing sessions for legislature and congressional candidates. A pre-convention platform committee will also start work Friday.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida will be the main speaker at a convention keynote dinner Friday night.

Convention floor action gets under way Saturday morning.

Claim Russ Handing Out Anti-Peiping Manifesto

NEW YORK (AP)—The Soviet Union was reported today to be distributing to Communist parties throughout the world an anti-Peiping "manifesto" designed to sow discord and confusion in the ranks of the Chinese leadership of the Communist world.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York Herald Tribune said existence of the document has been established "through information from behind the Iron Curtain and elsewhere and a summary of the manifesto's general line is available in high government circles."

The story speaks of a struggle for dominance within the Soviet bloc of nations and adds: "If Peiping is not soon brought to acquiescence with Moscow—or at least to silence about its disagreements—Washington would not be surprised if Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev attempted some form of Communist-bloc 'ideological quarantine' of Red China."

"Intended to serve as a guide line for Communist agitators to rally the masses for the Soviet bloc," the document vividly illustrates, experts here say, how paper thin was the facade of unity that the Communist camp tried to present in the final communique at Bucharest which purported to bridge over the differences between Peiping and Moscow.

"The anti-Peiping 'manifesto' (as it has been dubbed by Western diplomats) condemns those 'dogmatists' who mechanically interpret what Lenin said 40 years ago to mean that nuclear war is inevitable—and that war is—the only means by which the revolution can be made to triumph."

"This of course, refers to the Chinese argument that nuclear war is not to be feared because it would mean the triumph of communism over capitalism."

"The paper goes into detail as to why, in the nuclear age, the resort to war would be madness, especially since the triumph of communism is inevitable anyway."

"According to information here, the bill includes 675 millions in defense support funds. This is 15 millions above the House figure.

The defense support funds are limited to 12 countries which maintain large armed forces but whose economies can sustain without outside help. They are Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam, Turkey, Pakistan, Cambodia, Greece, Iran, Laos, the Philippines, Spain and Thailand.

Other items include 172 million dollars, in technical assistance and 700 millions for loans to underdeveloped countries for economic assistance to friendly but not heavily armed nations.

It Was Hi and Goodbye in Vegas

PARADISE, Calif. (UPI)—The husband of Alfred F. Milford and Marjorie Esberg lasted only two days—but at that it was twice as long as their courtship.

Milford, 40, met Miss Esberg, 23, on Friday in Las Vegas, Nev., and on Saturday they were wed.

On Tuesday Milford was arrested.

Police said he was paroled only last month from Florida State Prison after serving a bogus check sentence and since then had passed nearly $4,000 in worthless checks across the country.

Milford claimed his biggest splurge occurred in Las Vegas while he was attempting to impress Miss Esberg, a vacationing secretary from Chicago.

He was arrested when he presented at a local bank a phony $50,000 draft supposedly from a Florida bank and then tried to draw cash.

A HEAP OF LIVING—All New York appears to be in ruins as this towering pile of rubble seems to bury the Empire State Building, far in the background. The mountain of bricks and girders and wood is all that remains of hundreds of buildings demolished in a six-square-block area between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and 23rd and 29th streets. Scheduled for completion in late 1961, the Penn Station South development will consist of ten 21-story apartments. After the initial payment of about $80 a room, each apartment will have a monthly carrying charge of about $24 a room.

Bars Help to Friends of Cuba Dominican Republic

Senate OKs Full Foreign Aid Request

By JOE F. KANE

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate has passed a $3,989,054,000 foreign aid bill to help friendly nations, while leaving aid to countries which help Cuba or the Dominican Republic.

The measure, which now goes to a Senate-House conference, would give President Eisenhower almost all the money he asked. The Senate restored all cuts made by the House except 200 million dollars for military aid. It also added an extra 100 millions to deal with unforeseeable crises such as the Congo situation.

Democratic presidential nominee John F. Kennedy and his running mate, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, led 39 other Senate Democrats in backing the President's requests. Twenty-six Republicans voted for the measure.

Seven Republicans and 19 Democrats voted against it, bringing the tally to 67-35.

Eisenhower originally had asked $4,175,000,000. But in earlier legislation authorizing the program, Congress limited spending for the next year to $4,085,300,000. The appropriation last year was $3,600,000,000.

By voice votes, the Senate adopted amendments to deny foreign aid funds to any country which provides either arms or economic help to Cuba's Fidel Castro regime; deny aid to any country which supplies arms to any Latin American country being subjected to economic or diplomatic sanctions by the Organization of American States—the target of this limitation was the Dominican Republic; limit U.S. aid to no more than 50 per cent of the total cost of the entire program in any country.

The $3,989,000,000 provided by the Senate for military assistance is 500 millions above what Congress voted last year. In addition, the bill includes 675 millions in defense support funds. This is 15 millions above the House figure.

The defense support funds are limited to 12 countries which maintain large armed forces but whose economies can sustain without outside help. They are Korea, Formosa, Viet Nam, Turkey, Pakistan, Cambodia, Greece, Iran, Laos, the Philippines, Spain and Thailand.

Other items include 172 million dollars, in technical assistance and 700 millions for loans to underdeveloped countries for economic assistance to friendly but not heavily armed nations.

'Dear Friends,' They Say

Soviet Olympians Overwhelm U.S.

By EDDY GILMORE
ROME (AP)—In blazing Roman heat Wednesday the Russians broke first ice in a dramatic bid to end the cold war with the United States—at least for the Olympics. To do this, a delegation of Soviet athletes marched to U.S. Olympic headquarters, smiled, held out their hands and presented gifts to the Americans.

"Dear friends," began Leonid Kominikov, Soviet Olympic official, "permit me in the name of our country to greet you and wish you great success in the 17th Olympic Games."

He was speaking to Kenneth L. Wilson, of Chicago, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee. "As a symbol of our friendship we'd like to present you with our Olympic flag and wish your athletes the very best of luck," Kominikov said.

"In presenting this symbol of friendship, we'd like to stress that we do it from the bottoms of our hearts."

"Dan, Dan," they chorused, "here's Dan." They pronounced the name as if it was spelled "Den."

Kominikov hugged the gray-haired American. Ferris beamed and warmly shook hands with the Soviet callers.

"We hope to see you soon in Moscow, Dan," said Gabrill Kozlov, Soviet track coach. "Fine, fine," replied Ferris, "I hope so too."

Wilson then asked the Russians to have some refreshments, pointing to two refrigerators packed with American soft drinks.

Some accepted. As the Russians and Americans were talking, a member of the U.S. Olympic delegation began distributing gift packages to the Soviets.

The packages contained a fact book—printed in Russian—about the United States, a paper-back encyclopedia and a roster of all U.S. officials and athletes at Rome.

The Russian official countered by distributing copies of an anthology magazine — printed in Russian.

The editorial pleaded for "peace and friendship" at the Olympics.

Early TDs Pay Off, 26-21

Oakland 11 Beats Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y.—The Oakland Raiders struck for three first period touchdowns, added two field goals and withstood a determined rally by Buffalo for a 26-21 American Football League exhibition victory Wednesday night.

Before the first period was eight minutes old, the Raiders, directed by former Kentuckian Babe Parilli, had smashed into scoring territory three times.

Parilli, making his return to football a memorable one, was the key man, throwing for two touchdowns and scoring the third.

The margin of victory was produced by Larry Barnes who booted two field goals of 27 and 42 yards.

Tommy O'Connell, former Cleveland Brown quarterback, figured in all the Buffalo scoring, passing for a pair of touchdowns and plunging for another.

The game was less than two minutes old when Parilli pitched a 33-yard pass to scabbard Jack Larached.

The second score was just as sudden, Parilli catching halfback Ron Drzewiecki in the open for a 14-yard scoring play.

Then, with a little more than seven minutes remaining, Parilli appeared trapped on the Bills 14-yard line but broke through the mass of linemen and plunged into the end zone.

County Caddies Win Scholarships

Former Pontiac Central track star Larry Beamer is among 28 caddies who have been awarded Chick Evans college scholarships by the Detroit District Golf Association.

Rick McKinnon, who has been a football-basketball star at Troy and Lake Orion's Tom Sura are some of the others to be honored.

Beamer was a caddie at Tam O'Shanter Country Club. He will use his scholarship at Michigan as will Dale Stuart and Art Wright of Auburn Heights. Mike Wardinski of Port Huron and Southfield's Bob Dent.

Stuart and Wright worked at Bloomfield Hills Country Club. Wardinski was at the Black River Country Club and Dent was employed by Plum Hollow.

McKinnon, who was at Birmingham Country Club, will enter Michigan State next fall as will Sura and Oakland Hills' caddies Larry Jeffers and Larry Hansen. Jeffers is a Ulica resident and Hansen is from Detroit. Sura was at Indianwood Country Club.

The DDGA program is affiliated with the famed Evans Scholars Foundation sponsored by the Western Golf Association. This year the overall Western program will have 600 scholars in school. A total of 3,100 Evans scholarships have been awarded since 1926, 228 since the DDGA joined the plan in '45.

Each scholarship covers full tuition and room rent and is renewable for the next four years.

The operation of the nation-wide program is financed for the most part by the contributions of individual golfers. More than $2,000 took part this year.
