U.N. Troop Airlift Starts

2 U. S. Planes Fly to Colombia to Pick Up Men

Norwegians and Danes Assembling in Europe for Trip to Canal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States sent two big transport planes today to carry the first contingent of Colombian troops for the U.N. truce force in Egypt.

The planes, which will carry about 50 troops and their equipment from Bogota, Colombia, to a staging area at Naples, Italy, took off shortly after 2 a.m. Pontiac Time from Charleston, S. C. Air Force Base.

Plans call for airlifting about 1,000 Colombian troops for the purpose, but the initial request by the U.N. called for only one planeload of about 50 troops. An Air Force spokesman, noting that two planes were sent, said Bogota's 8,000-foot altitude limits the loads of the planes.

Secretary of Defense Wilson announced late yesterday the order for transporting the "initial complement" from Colombia.

The Air Force has tentatively earmarked almost a score of the big four-engined Constellations of the Military Air Transport Service to carry other troops.

In Europe, the American Air Force also was preparing to fly Norwegian and Danish troops to the U.N. force assembly point at Naples. This country has been asked only to provide transportation. No U.S. troops are involved.

The route chosen for the transports on the 5,000-mile Atlantic ocean hop — by way of Puerto Rico and the Azores to Naples — will keep them well away from the Air Force's major bases in

And the Bands Go Marching By

Merchants and C. of C. Sponsor Big Festivities as a Tribute

Thousands, jamming two and three deep in the downtown area, watched the glittering spectacle sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and Retail Merchants Assn.

They saw for the first time the complete new line of Pontiac cars manufactured here.

With no official estimate of the crowd, police said they believe it was the largest in years. Spectators lined the curb the entire 12-block route from Whittemore street to Sanderson street.

There was plenty of entertainment along the way.

The 30 new Pontiac automobiles were interspersed with other attractions.

New General Motors Corp. trucks of many varieties took part. They are the latest products of the city's GMC Truck and Coach plant.

There were high school bands from Pontiac, Waterford and Avondale High Schools playing spirited tunes.

MARCHERS

Uniformed Boy Scouts and members of M Company, 125th National Guard Infantry Regiment marched proudly. Company Commander Capt. A. J. Largent was parade marshal.

Women reached eagerly for gift certificates attached to hovering balloons.

They were awarded prizes at a 1 p.m. contest at the Tel-Huron Shopping Center.

At the tail end of the parade came General Motors' big gift to the city.

That was the $75,000 GM Parade of Progress bus, the Futuriner, turned over to the city at a brief ceremony.

The bus will be used by the Parks and Recreation Dept.

Wilson Doubts War Will Grow

Says Russia Too Busy Battling Unrest at Home to Join in Shooting

WASHINGTON (INS) — Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said last night, "I don't think there is any probability" the Middle East crisis will explode into World War III.

Wilson also said he "would think" Russia will be too busy putting down revolts behind the Iron Curtain to launch aggression elsewhere.

Asked about the recent readiness alert for U.S. armed forces, Wilson replied:

"I wouldn't say it is any great cause of concern for the people. It's a normal kind of thing to do."

Asked about Russia's "veiled threats" to intervene in the Middle East, Wilson said:

"I wouldn't think they would do it against the world opinion of all the other nations, practically all of them."

WORLD WAR III?

As for the possibility World War III will result from fighting in the Middle East, Wilson said:

"There is always some small danger in that area, but I don't think there is any probability of it at all, and I'm very hopeful that finally there will be enough men of good-will and understanding at the heads of their respective governments, to be able to work the thing out without another big clash."

He said he believes, "The Russian people really don't want any war" and the Soviet "dictators" will "finally have to be responsible to the will of the people in this regard."

Asked what the United States would do to aid captive nations behind the Iron Curtain which are trying to break away from Russian rule, Wilson said:

"They certainly have our great sympathy and moral support and to the extent that we can help them without increasing the friction in the world we certainly want to do so."

Women Thinking More About Men Who Can Think

CHICAGO (INS) — Actress Marilyn Monroe's marriage to playwright Arthur Miller has started a trend among American women in favor of the so-called "intellectual man."

Modern Man magazine, which is conducting a nationwide survey among women for their idea of the most representative American male, revealed today Marilyn's choice "has had its impact on a large segment of our female populace."

The magazine added:

Cold Expected to Stick Around Over Weekend

Topcoats and gloves were common around the Pontiac area today as the second successive day of winter-like weather hit. More is expected over the weekend.

A drop to 24 degrees early this morning was the lowest temperature this fall, and Thanksgiving still is two weeks away.

Fair and cold weather is expected tonight with a low of 28-30. Cloudy and cold is predicted for Sunday with a high from 40 to 44. The mercury is expected to dip to 32-36 tomorrow night.

Don't let Old Mr. Sun fool you these November mornings. It's mighty cool outside and will likely be from now on.

One Week to Go
UF Drive Hits 75 Pct. of Goal

The Pontiac Area United Fund campaign is slightly past the three-quarter mark, Campaign Chairman Walter K. Willman announced today.

Volunteer solicitors will begin their final, intensive week with $464,113 collected of the $612,202 goal, he said. An all-out effort this weekend, Monday and Tuesday was urged.

Industrial and Commercial Division leaders met yesterday to prepare for the big battle to put the drive over the top in time for Friday's victory luncheon.

Willman announced these divisional totals so far:

Geographic Division (quota, $19,116), $15,857; Industrial Division (quota, $414,000), $305,292, and Commercial Division (quota, $158,086), $121,064.

These figures put the drive 75.8 per cent of the way to victory, Willman said.

A LITTLE OPTIMISM

Meeting with the Commercial Division yesterday, Willman said he is "optimistic, but not" overly-optimistic.

"If we're going to reach our goal, we'll have to 'run scared' the rest of the campaign," he said.

Willman pointed out that the UF has conducted seven successful drives in the past and there is no reason for failure this year.

He emphasized the vital role that the 54 UF agencies play in the health and happiness of local residents.

Group captains who reported to Commercial Chairman James F. Nye said they believe their sub-quotas mostly will be met by Friday.

Nye urged all volunteers to turn in reports as soon as possible.

He added, though, that his division has reached 100 per cent by victory time only once in the UF history.

All-out solicitation through Tuesday is important, he and Willman said, because many area donors leave Wednesday to go deer hunting.

City Offices to Close for Monday Holiday

City and county offices, banks and the Federal Savings and Loan Assn. will be closed Monday to observe Veterans' Day, which falls on Sunday. Post offices also will close and no mail will be deivered.

This is the third year the national holiday, once called "Armistice Day," has been observed as Veterans Day. The name was changed in a bill introduced by President Eisenhower and passed by Congress in 1954.

Maj. Emil Ulonawicz, commander of the 516th AAA Missile Battalion, will be guest speaker at a 10 a.m. breakfast served by the American Legion Cook-Nelson Post at 206 Auburn Ave.

4-Man Crew Bails Out
Navy's Giant Seamaster Falls Apart in Test Flight

DOVER, Del. (AP)—The Navy's Seamaster, an experimental jet attack bomber valued at $5,600,000, broke up in flight yesterday and crashed in flames in northern Delaware. Its civilian crew of four bailed out safely.

The sea-based plane, designed the XP6M, was on a test flight from the Glenn L. Martin Co. plant in Baltimore, where it was built.

It was the second Seamaster to crash in a year.

The crew landed about two miles from the wreckage. All were unhurt. They were identified as pilot William Turner, co-pilot William Cunningham, and flight engineers Thomas Kenney and William Compton.

The plane went down on a farm owned by Hyland Bullen, between Odessa and Mt. Pleasant about 25 miles north of this capital city.

The Navy said the plane, reportedly capable of 700 miles an hour, was streaking along at 22,000 to 25,000 feet before it went down. It took off from the Martin plant at Middle River, Md., at 2:44 p.m. and crashed at 3:36 p.m.

The first Seamaster to be built crashed last Dec. 7 after breaking apart over the Chesapeake Bay at the mouth of the Potomac River. Three Martin employes and a Navy officer aboard were killed. The Navy said that wreck was caused by a malfunction of the tail control which forced the sea jet to loop over and break apart while flying at almost the speed of sound.

The Seamaster, described by Chief of Naval Operations Adm. Arleigh Burke as "the fastest low-altitude attack aircraft in existence today," was equipped to carry bombs or mines. It was able to carry a payload of more than 30,000 pounds. It slender hull was 134 feet long, and it stood 31 feet high with a wing span of 100 feet.

County Schools to Hear Report on Colleges

By PETE LOCHBILER

Boards of education across the county will hear more of the community college story next week, according to Pontiac Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer.

DR. WHITMER

School superintendents will pass on information developed by a committee of their Oakland County School Superintendents Assn.

The association has been studying the need and possibility of post-high school education here.

Dr. Whitmer heads the committee appointed in September to come up with facts and figures.

He announced the committee's first report to the city Board of Education this week.

The report says, for instance, that Oakland County—the second most populous in the state—has no community college, while eight other counties do.

This includes Wayne County, where two public junior colleges are located in addition to Wayne State University.

Oakland County had a population of 515,000 in 1954, a figure census takers believe has risen considerably.

JACKSON COUNTY CITED

Yet in the same year, Jackson County with a population of 117,000 was able to support a community junior college, the report shows. Here are other populations in counties maintaining junior colleges:

Kent, 321,000; Genesee, 318,000; Macomb, 241,000; Berrien, 136,000; Muskegon, 132,000; and Calhoun, 125,000. All are less populous than Oakland.

Most of these junior colleges were established before World War II. Southern Macomb Community College started in 1953. The Grand Rapids Junior College dates from 1918.

The report states that Oakland County graduates a sufficiently large number of high school pupils each year to justify one or more community colleges.

There were 3,219 graduates last year. About 34 per cent of them, or 1,112, were enrolled in college.

In Muskegon County, which supports Muskegon Junior College, there were only 903 graduates last year, with 34 per cent of them in college.

MUSKEGON HAS COLLEGE

The point is, many of the Muskegon graduates went on to attend Muskegon Junior College. In Oakland County graduates had to seek higher education outside the county.

Not only is there a present need for community college service, but also, according to the report, there is an increasing need.

By 1970, it is estimated there will be 200,00 students enrolled in Michigan institutions of higher learning. At present, there are about 98,000.

However, Michigan lags behind

Academy Head Weaver Dies

Led Adelphian Group at Holly and Managed Mill for 18 Years

E. P. Weaver, leader of the Adelphian Academy at Holly and manager of its mill for 18 years, died yesterday morning at his home on North Saginaw street, after a long illness. He was 66.

Mr. Weaver, who came to Holly in 1934 from St. Charles, was Academy principal for four years and managed the huge Adelphian mill which is a half-million-dollar-a-year business employing about 100 persons, most of whom are students. The school is operated by the Seventh Day Adventists.

Service for Mr. Weaver will be held at 11 a.m. Monday in the E. P. Weaver Audiotrium which is named for him. The auditorium building itself, begun about a year ago and employing mostly student labor, is not complete, although the auditorium, with a seating capacity of 1500, is finished.

Burial, following the 11 a.m. service, will be at Lakeside Cemetery. Mr. Weaver's body will be at the Dryer Funeral Home here until 9 a.m. Monday.

His family requests that tributes be made in contributions to the E. P. Weaver Memorial Fund at the Academy.

U. N. Airlift Starts Moving Men to Suez

French Morocco, along one possible route to Naples.

While the Pentagon went about preparing for its part in transporting the Middle East U.N. truce force, it continued to keep a wary watch on affairs in Europe, where Russia has been shifting army divisions about behind the Iron Curtain.

There were no indications that Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, commander of North Atlantic Treaty forces guarding Western Europe, had instituted any broadscale shift of his international force to match the Soviet shifts.

Reports from Europe mentioned that four of the five American Army divisions in the NATO force currently are engaged in routine field maneuvers.

On the U.S. West Coast, the Navy sent the aircraft carrier Philippine Sea and four escorting destroyers sailing from San Diego and said the carrier Wasp was loading planes at that port. Other naval vessels were expected to put out to sea soon from Long Beach.

The movements were presumably a part of policy to improve U. S. defensive capabilities in the present unsettled period.

The beachhead at the north end of the Suez Canal that British and French invasion forces seized earlier this week was quiet. Britain began pulling assault forces out of Port Said and replacing them with regular infantry. The British have promised these troops will leave when the U. N. force can take over.

A cease-fire has been in effect in the Suez battle zone three days.

Mrs. Ethan B. Cudney, of 159 Marlborough Rd., whose purse and $40 were stolen here 21 years ago, got the purse back in the mail yesterday.

School Must Defend Expulsion

Student's Mother Takes 'Presley Haircut' to Court

The mother of an expelled Romeo High School student will take the battle of Elvis Presley-type haircuts to court next Friday.

Members of the Romeo School Board and the principal and superintendent of the Romeo Community High School have been ordered to appear before Macomb County Circuit Court Judge Alton Noe to explain why Robert C. Phernetton, 16, was dropped from classes this week by school officials.

The court show-cause hearing was ordered after the boy's mother, Mrs. Clark Phernetton, filed a suit against the school board claiming their ruling against Robert was "arbitrary, capricious and whimsical."

"If Robert's hairdo was good enough for our family, it ought to be good enough for the school board," she said.

STUDENT EXPELLED

The student was expelled Tuesday when school officials claimed he had failed to comply with a ruling against long sideburns and "sloppy" clothing. The school board backed the expulsion in a 3-1 vote.

* * *

James C. Danet, attorney for Mrs. Phernetton, today called the haircut "not bad enough to cause comment." Dr. Ralph G. Renwick, director of the Board of Education, has stressed the fact his group is "within its rights." He commented: "When an education problem arises, we have a right to take action."

Ike Increases Plurality as Last Tallies Come In WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower today boosted his plurality over Adlai Stevenson to 9,320,837 out of a total unofficial vote of 60,134,999 in Tuesday's election.

With 3,663 of the nation's 154,874 precincts still uncounted, the vote stood at 1 p.m. EST:

The President's vote well exceeded the previous high recorded by a presidential candidate, 33,927,441 received by Eisenhower in winning his first term four years ago. Stevenson polled 27,314,992 in 1952.

The incompleted total vote count was nudging the record of 61,551,918, also set in 1952. Only 17 states had completed their unofficial tabulations and the official results will have to be awaited to determine if a new record has been established.

Offers to Help Rebel Refugees Flood Capital

WASHINGTON (AP) — A heartwarming flood of offers of aid to Hungarian refugees from Communist tyranny mounted at the State Department today.

Pierce J. Gerety, deputy administrator of the Refugee Relief Act, said yesterday homes, jobs and financial aid have been promised in scores of telephone calls.

The response came shortly after publication of President Eisenhower's order for "extraordinary measures" to admit 5,000 refugees into the United States, waiving some restrictions in the ordinarily tough admittance procedure.

European reports indicate 14,000 to 16,000 Hungarians fled the country in the wake of fierce fighting with Soviet troops. Offers of havens and aid also came from other nations.

The United Nations also announced yesterday it is granting one million dollars to the United Nations for relief of Hungarian refugees.

Additional staff officers have been ordered to the U.S. Embassy in Vienna to help speed the refugee program for "those who want it," an aide said.

Stassen Quits as Formality (?)

Cabinet Resigns Too in Following Tradition, but Ike Won't Accept

WASHINGTON (INS) — The old tradition of Cabinet members offering resignations after a President's re-election set off a flurry of rumors in Washington today that Harold E. Stassen has quit his disarmament post.

As the President's "secretary of peace," Stassen has Cabinet rank, although he is not an official Cabinet member.

MERE FORMALITY

Hagerty said none of the resignations was taken seriously. The President always has the privilege of picking up any he pleases before starting his second term.

Stassen incurred widespread displeasure within the Republican party by his effort to replace Richard M. Nixon with another vice presidential candidate.

But the President has praised Stassen's services as a disarmament adviser in warm terms, and indications are that Stassen will remain in the post if he wants to.

Larson Next in Line as Information Head

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House may announce today the appointment of Arthur Larson to head up this country's information forces in the cold war battle against communism.

Larson, 46, and now under secretary of labor, would replace Theodore C. Streibert as director of the U. S. Information Agency.

Citing personal reasons, Streibert has resigned as USIA chief, effective next Thursday. He has been the agency's top man for more than three years.

Word that Larson is expected to supplant Streibert came last night from a government official who asked to remain anonymous.

Larson's book, "A Republican Looks At His Party," has drawn praise from President Eisenhower. Larson, former dean of the University of Pittsburgh Law School, has been under secretary of labor since 1954.

The Day in Birmingham

Metro Areas Leading in 'Mixed-Up' Folks—Peale

BIRMINGHAM — Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, minister and author who talked to nearly 3,000 in his two Town Hall talks here this week, said, "New York is probably the headquarters of mixed-up people, but Detroit is running us a close second."

"Tension," he told the almost completely women's audience, "is not limited to business executives and their wives, but extends to their children."

"Youngsters from 11 on up who are disturbed because their parents argue too much, scream at one another, drink too much and act crazy" account for a quarter to a third of the thousands of letters Dr. Peale receives, he said.

Putting his religious teachings into imagination - catching anecdotes and using turns of phrases that put his audience into gales of laughter, Dr. Peale used many ideas that have made his book "The Power of Positive Thinking" and others, so popular.

Pioneer in the field of psychiatric counselling, Dr. Peale used instances of problems handled by his church, the Marble Collegiate Church in New York, and its 15 psychiatrists on his staff.

Mrs. Alice P. Hook of Cincinnati, O., governor of Altrusa Internation's fifth district, will talk to the Birmingham chapter members Monday at 7 p.m. at the Community House.

Mrs. Hook, who heads the 36-chapter unit, is librarian of the historical and philosophical society of Ohio. She will talk on international philanthropic projects.

Accidents last month caused $7,320 in damage, points out Chief of Police Ralph W. Moxley. He blamed right of way violations and following too closely for 50 of the 43 accidents involved.

Eight persons received minor injuries, bringing the year's total to 106, he reports.

Among changes in the business scene is the new location of Jesse McNeal's Plymouth-Dodge agency, which now occupies the block-size point at the Hunter-Woodward intersection. With a tripled-operation, McNeal now has parking for 150 to 160 cars.

other states in number of college enrollees. According to the report, it ranks 25th. Many of the states ranking higher than Michigan do not have the state's financial resources.

MORE WITH LESS

They are managing to do more on less because higher education is considered worth it, Dr. Whitmer said.

About 10.4 per cent of Michigan youth is estimated to be enrolled in college. Utah, the highest-ranking state, has 18 per cent enrolled.

The report further points out that developing society is demanding more of youth educationally. Community colleges are an important instrument in meeting this need, the report says.

A community college can provide more than preparation for advanced study at regular universities and colleges, according to the report.

It also can fill these important needs: Vocational education, adult and general education and community service education.

3 POINTS

The report makes three other points: New sources of power are reducing the need for manpower, but are increasing the need for skills.

The needs for retraining of industrial workers will become more pressing as automation and mechanization require more and more trained technicians.

There is a changing pattern of family life with both husband and wife working.

A vocational program of study, easily accessible and tied to area industry, can help labor make these changes, the report says.

On this level, the community college serves adults as well as youth.

Hen of New Breed Sets Egg-Laying Mark

HONOLULU (AP) — A hen named Hattie of a new Hawaiian breed has laid what her owner believes is an unofficial world's record for eggs.

Onitsuka attributes his hen's success to new breeding techniques that has led to a new registered breed called the Hawaiian Red.

Guards Bar Red Cross Convoy From Bringing Help to Hungary

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

VIENNA — An international Red Cross motor convoy this morning made several unsuccessful attempts to enter Hungary at the Austrian border point of Klingenzach, Burgenland, just across from the Hungarian town of Sopron.

The convoy, made up of 15 clearly marked Red Cross ambulances, trucks and cars, reached the border early in the morning.

Officials tried to induce Hungarian and Russian border guards to permit the convoy to cross.

A similar bid made by a convoy of the Danish Red Cross two days ago at the Austrian border point of Heiligenkreuz was rejected by Hungarian Communists with the remark, "There is no need in this part of Hungary."

Meanwhile, the United Nations in New York confronted Russia today for the third time with a demand to get its troops out of Hungary and insisted the borders be thrown open to a score of nations rushing relief to stricken Hungarians.

WANTS TO GET IN

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold also is pressing harder for entry into Hungary of U.N. investigators instructed by the emergency session of the General Assembly to make an on-the-spot inquiry into massacres of Hungarian patriots by Russian troops and armor.

The United States announced immediately after the vote that it will contribute one million dollars to aid Hungarian refugees.

The American contribution will be sent to Hammarskjold "for immediate use through appropriate channels" to help alleviate the plight of the Hungarian refugees.

The Soviet bloc fought all Friday against three resolutions ranging from sharp censure of Russia and withdrawal demands to appeals for food, medicine and clothes from all U.N. members.

India's V. K. Krishna Menon once again sought to strip any harsh indictment of Russia from these resolutions, which were approved in complicated voting late Friday.

And in Vienna, Communist-controlled Budapest Radio admitted fighting continued today in the Hungarian capital. Reports reaching Vienna indicated Janos Kadar may be dumped as boss of the slave government.

Shivers in Spot for Upper House

If He Swings to GOP, Dem Who Backed Ike Can Tie Up Senate

AUSTIN, Tex. (INS) — Texas' Democratic Governor Allan Shivers, who "likes Ike" so well he supported him twice, could well be in a position also to give his party control of the U. S. Senate.

Dopesters in Texas admit it would entail a long string of "ifs" but here's how it could be done:

Shivers, who is reportedly retiring from politics after seven and a half years as governor, could run for the Senate seat being vacated by Sen. Price Daniel, a Democrat.

Then, if he could get elected, which is possible but questionable, he could go to Washington on Jan. 3 and vote with the Republicans to organize the Senate.

With the Democrats apparently in control 49-47, this would tie it up and Vice President Nixon could break the tie.

COULD TIE UP SENATE

Or, if Senator-elect Frank Lausche (D-Ohio), sticks with his plan to stay away from the Senate until his term as governor expires Jan. 14, Shivers could do the same thing and tie it up at 47-47—and Nixon could break the tie.

There is no indication that Shivers is even thinking about such a plan, but it is known that many of his conservative-Democrat and Republican friends would be very happy about it.

However, he has said he is not running for any public office. Shivers is apparently in a position to "accept" Daniel's resignation from the Senate at any time and call a special election to replace him.

Daniel is urging him to do it quickly, in time for a successor to be elected by Jan. 3, the opening day of Congress.

Shivers said yesterday he would have a statement "on the Senate situation" sometime next week.

Freshmen Gals Try Out Lipstick on Footballers

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Freshman girls, angry at the Athletic Lettermen's Club, stormed into the University of Oregon Student Union Building last night and smeared members of the football squad with lipstick.

The 250 screaming girls were no match for the 40 gridders, whose dinner they interrupted. The players grabbed the lipsticks and smeared the girls.

Sally Shea of Garden Home, Ore., was knocked unconscious when she slipped and fell on the floor. She was hospitalized but her condition was not serious.

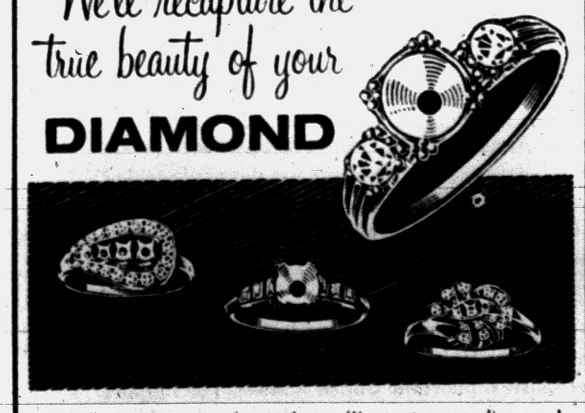

The girls later raided the Phi Delta Theta and Sigma Chi fraternity houses. They were driven off with hoses, paddles and cans of paint.

Ringleaders of the raid said it was retaliatory. The lettermen have been smearing lipstick on the faces of freshmen girls who fail to wear the traditional green ribbon in their hair for homecoming week.

FRANK LAUSCHE

Lausche Skillful at Sidestepping

Newly Elected Ohioan Hints He'll Dodge Vote on Control of Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big, 60-year-old Sen.-elect Frank J. Lausche will carry with him to Washington next January a solid reputation for independence.

Capitol Hill also will find he is adroit.

Is Lausche, the only five-term governor in Ohio history, a nominal Democrat but a Republican at heart?

Lausche says, "I am an American first and a Democrat second."

What will that statement mean in political performance? No prudent person would even hazard a guess.

Consider the prime question which plagued Ohio's practical politicians during the campaign which resulted in a Lausche victory over Republican Sen. George H. Bender.

"Will Lausche actually vote with the Republicans to organize the Senate?"

As early as last June, Lausche let it be known he might consider just such a move (1) if he were elected to the Senate, (2) if President Eisenhower were re-elected, and (3) "on the balance of strength in the Senate."

Many Republicans voted for Lausche Tuesday. Eisenhower carried Ohio by a record 827,000, but Lausche came out on top by 200,000.

Now he holds the balance-of-power vote in the Senate, made up of 48 Democrats, 47 Republicans — and Lausche. Should the Ohioan with the unruly shock of iron-gray curly hair throw Senate organization into a 48-48 tie, Republican Vice President Nixon would be the tie-breaker.

Lausche, however, has been "on the hook" before. Political friends and foes agree he is an expert at getting off.

Only 24 hours after his election, he told newsmen:

"I will finish my term as governor of Ohio. If the Senate is not organized by the time I am sworn in, I will then cast my vote, taking into consideration the composition of the Senate the fact that Eisenhower is President and such other matters as I believe are pertinent."

That statement told the other 48 Democrats in the Senate: You will have 11 days — from the Jan. 3 opening of the Senate session until Lausche steps out of the Ohio governor's office on Jan. 14 — to organize the Senate.

Lausche, of course, would be right back on the hook if the Democrats have not succeeded in organizing the Senate before his arrival in Washington.

Lausche is the son of Slovenian immigrant parents, had a difficult and impoverished youth after his father's death, played professional baseball but abandoned that career for the study of law and fought his way to the top of the state's political heap at 48.

Special Students Change Rooms

Transfer to Basement From Classes Outside Emerson School

Superintendent of Schools Dr. Dana P. Whitmer agreed after a Board of Education meeting last night that the students, mentally retarded, needed better classroom conditions.

The youngsters had been attending in a temporary classroom outside the building.

Parents who appeared before the board last night seemed satisfied the children will get a basement classroom inside the school.

ONLY TEMPORARY

Whitmer said the basement room is a temporary measure until the board comes up with a permanent solution.

There are still more than 800 Pontiac area pupils attending school in temporary "shacks," Whitmer said. Added to these are the nearly 1,500 students attending in what the board considers substandard classrooms.

The basement classroom at Emerson is listed as substandard, he said.

Parents complained there were no toilet or drinking facilities in the temporary classroom. They added that heating was inadequate.

According to the board's 10-year building program, almost all of the substandard or temporary classrooms will be eliminated by 1960.

State Parks Neglected?

Matheson, general manager of the Automobile Club of Michigan, said Thursday. Matheson told Monroe civic leaders that unconcern by voters is responsible for "the present plight" of state parks.

Chapter 14

Dottie Harris smiled a welcome at me and it was a pleasure to see. She was a lovely, pretty girl . . . and as refreshing as a white violet in a blanket of fat red roses.

"Hello, there!" she said brightly. "Hello, Hester Frost."

"Oh, you know me."

"You're my new neighbor. I've meant to drop in to see you, but it's been one of those days. Here," she said, "sit down. Get off those feet. Have a cigarette?"

"Why, thanks."

She gave me a cigarette, lit it for me, then did the same for herself. She was regarding me seriously, curiously. I knew what she was thinking.

"No," I said. "Taking Anita Farrell's place hasn't bothered me too much."

She looked startled, then smiled. "I guess everybody has asked you that. But didn't you keep wondering if each one of your pupils mightn't be the Waltzer?"

"No, they all seemed pretty normal to me."

"You're so right. Most of them are so normal they're dull. Oh, some of the duds I've had! Deliver me!"

"Well, now, I can name you an exception, Dottie. How about that five o'clock scholar of yours? There's a virtual dream boy."

Her laughter filled the studio. "Dream boy is right! I don't even have a five o'clock scholar."

"But you did today, didn't you?"

"Not today or any other day. That's my dinner break . . . five till seven. What made you think I had a lesson then, anyway?"

"Well, I passed by and the door was open. The music was playing and I saw this man. I just took for granted you were giving a lesson."

"Uh, uh, not me." She took a small engagement book from her purse, flipped it open, found a certain page. "Here," she said, "see for yourself."

I saw for myself. The five and six o'clock spaces were empty.

I said, "Does some other teacher use this studio when you're not here?"

"Not that I know of . . . why, Hester? Why does it matter, why's it important?"

"Oh, it isn't, not at all! But as you said, there are so few interesting men around here. I just wondered who this one was."

"What did he look like?"

"Young, but probably not as young as he looks. Dark, attractive in a kind of rough, tough way."

"Hester, if a fellow like that ever walked into this studio, he'd still be here. I'd see to that. But you're wrong. You must have got the wrong studio."

"I guess so," I said.

She stood up. "Listen, if you see him again, introduce me. Hester, it's nice knowing you. We'll be seeing a lot of each other, I hope."

"Let's make a point of it, Dottie."

"I've got to run now. So long."

I stood for a moment in the hallway, trying to figure it out. I still would have bet that the conversation about Rhinebeck Place had gone on in the studio next to mine. But there was an outside chance that I had become confused in the maze of catwalks above the false ceiling, that the young man and the troubled girl had been in some other room. There was only one way I could find out.

The conference room was empty and I quickly climbed the ladder in the closet. In just a few minutes I had wormed my way to the spot where I thought I had heard the two voices. I looked down through the grill.

It was Dottie's studio. I could see our two red-tipped cigarette stubs still smoldering in the ash tray. There was no other grill close enough to me to make it possible for the voice to have come from some other studio.

There was no doubt that the young man had been in Dottie Harris' room. But Dottie Harris had not been the teacher to whom he was talking, and I knew no way of finding out who it might have been.

I was discouraged and crawling back along the catwalk on all fours, I felt more than a little foolish. There must be a more dignified, more comfortable way of discovering who had murdered Anita Farrell.

I had climbed down the ladder in the conference room closet. I had my hand on the door knob when I heard the voice. I withdrew my hand, stood very still behind the door. Murder or no murder, Detective Lieutenant Bolling was spending entirely too much time hanging around the Crescent School of Dancing.

". . . as far as I can gather," Bolling was saying, "you knew Anita Farrell better than anybody else around here."

"I wouldn't say that." The cool, efficient voice of Miss Leone Webb was hitting a new high in cool efficiency. "What makes you think that?"

"You lived with her. You must've been buddies."

"Yes, I did live with her. But we were hardly buddies."

"Yo umean the reverse? You didn't get along?"

"I didn't mean that at all," Leone said emphatically. "I simply mean we never became very good friends. Our sharing an apartment was strictly a matter of convenience. As soon as I could manage an apartment of my own, I moved out of Rhinebeck Place."

"When was that?"

"Last winter, the beginning of February."

"So you were there . . . how long?"

"A little more than five months."

I heard a door open and close. Mr. Oliver Bell was using his well-oiled voice. "Oh, I'm not intruding, I trust?"

"No, no," Bolling said. Alongside Bell's, his voice sounded like gravel in a tin chute. "I'm just trying to get some facts about Anita Farrell from Miss Webb."

"Oh, I see."

"But I'm afraid," Leone said, "that I'm not being of much help."

Bolling said, "In all that time you lived with her you must have learned something about her. You got some impressions didn't you?"

"Very few," Leone said.

"I'm not surprised at all," Bell said. "Miss Farrel was a very close-mouthed person. Oh, charming, radiant . . . but close-mouthed."

"Okay," Bolling said. "Close-mouthed. Miss Webb, were there any special men friends?"

"No, I'd say not. At least, not while I lived with her. She was out a great deal with men . . . theaters and night clubs. Only occasionally would a man come to the apartment. And then just to pick her up or stop in for just one drink. I do mean exactly that, just one drink. We had an agreement about that, Anita and I."

"How long had Miss Farrell worked here?" Bolling asked.

"She came here almost a year before I did. That would make it nearly three and a half years."

"Miss Webb, I'll just ask one more question, then knock off. You still can't remember who Miss Farrell's seven o'clock pupil was?"

Leone answered wearily. "I still can't remember."

"Miss Webb," Oliver Bell said, "perhaps if you throw your mind back to the intermission after the seven o'clock lesson, perhaps you might remember seeing Miss Farrell's pupil leave, go through the reception room. . . ."

"No," Leone cut in. "I wasn't in the reception room then, Mr. Bell. I was introducing a new student to you for an interview. Don't you remember?"

"Oh, yes, of course. Sorry."

"I've already told you that, Mr. Bolling, haven't I?"

"Yes, you did, Miss Webb, and if you have nothing new to tell me . . ."

Bolling went on speaking, but his words became inaudible as the door opened and, in a moment, closed. There was silence in the room. I waited a full thirty seconds before I eased open the door.

I was staring straight into the face of Mr. Oliver Bell. Fortunately, he didn't see me. His eyes were tightly closed, his head slightly bent.

He had his receptionist, Miss Leone Webb, clasped in his arms and he was kissing her. And he was a boy who was being kissed back. Miss Leone Webb was not being the cool, efficient Miss Leone Webb at that moment. In fact, her passion was a little alarming. I almost warned them to break it up . . . somebody might come in and catch them.

The Llama

The llama is still an important animal in the modern republic of Peru, and in 1931 and 1932 stamps showing it were issued.

Llamas are strong and sure-footed with big, well-cushioned feet. They are related to camels, but they have no hump. Like camels, they can go for long periods without water.

When you color this picture with your crayons make the border brown. The llama can be brown, brown and white or black. Paste the picture down on cardboard. Cut out the saddle, and cut away the open space in the top half. Fix the saddle on the llama's back by folding the tab behind him.

Fold the lower center panel forward leaving the piece under his stomach to lie flat. Fold the end tabs under and then he will stand.

Nixon Gives Out Sound Reason for Loud Singing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon "stopped the show" last night when he helped singer Carl Brisson with a piano rendition of "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

The Danish-born Brisson, appearing at a hotel here, confessed he was stuck after somebody in the audience requested a Texas song.

Nixon, who was on hand with his wife and a group of friends, volunteered to accompany Brisson on the piano. Nixon also helped on the song's chorus.

The audience gave Nixon a standing ovation after what one spectator called a "nice and loud" performance.

Later, Brisson, who described Nixon as an old acquaintance, said he thanked the vice president — but suggested jokingly to Nixon that he shouldn't "come around too often and steal the show."

5 Killed in Texas as Car Hits Bridge

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Five persons were killed early this morning when the car in which they were riding hit a bridge abutment.

Two of the dead were children. Another child is in critical condition.

The dead are:

J. D. Sims, 31, of Waco; his wife, Wanda Lou, 26; their 9-month old son Jeffery Dell, their 8-year-old son, J. Frank, and Mrs. Sims' sister, Margie Nell Gillum, 18.

In critical condition is another Sims child, about 5 years old.

Highway patrolman Sam Fuller said the five were dead on arrival at a hospital.

VETERANS' DAY

Thirty-eight years ago shells screamed overhead while mud and cooties were underfoot. Suddenly, all was quiet. An Armistice came. Men hugged one another, happy smiles spread over grim faces, that war was over.

Today, some of those men have passed to their great reward, others are in hospitals while a few are at home contemplating tomorrow, remembering those terrible days of yesterday.

M. E. SIPLE

Veterans Day can be celebrated by passing on, to those men our deep appreciation of their sufferings, their bravery, patriotism, bring again the remark of Dr. Minninger: "This magnificent drama of conflict sets us our highest ideal — spiritual and social nobility and achievement." It costs each American only 42 pennies a year for the United Nations—

World War II cost each American almost 1000 times that much a year!

This is the 11th Anniversary of the UN—the 11th Anniversary of man's first completely organized search for peace

Nobody has ever said that he was sure the United Nations will prevent a war.

But then, nobody ever said he was sure a cure for cancer could be found.

The fight for a cure for war must go on, just as the fight for a cure for cancer must go on.

The United Nations is now 11 years old. With each passing year it has gained the support of more and more people. In fact, a recent survey shows that only 7% of the American people are for quitting the United Nations. The rest believe, and rightfully so, that we can never find lasting peace unless we look for it . . . unless we work for it.

Above, you counted 42 pennies. That's what the UN costs each American per year. Look at just a few of the things that your 42¢ is buying.

1. The UN Children's Fund (UNICEF) has helped organize health campaigns that examined 400,000,000 children in 95 countries, and vaccinated 75,000,000 children against tuberculosis.
2. Membership in the ten Specialized Agencies is helping to provide more food, better health and education for millions of people, and to bring about world cooperation on such matters as aviation, communications, weather, and the peaceful uses of atomic energy.
3. The UN has helped to produce peaceful settlements in Iran, Indonesia, Kashmir and Palestine, any one of which could have led to World War III.
4. The United Nations provides technical assistance to 78 countries. It works to eliminate sickness, irrigate deserts, and increase food production, thereby taking constructive action for peace.
5. The United Nations is the greatest loud-speaker in the world. We and other free nations can use this loud-speaker constantly, to tell the truth, to show up and probe Communist fallacies, and ultimately help develop a common worldwide sense of justice, the only basis for true and enduring peace.

By attacking some of the underlying causes of war—hunger, poverty and disease—the United Nations is helping prevent war. At every opportunity, support the United Nations. You support it best by knowing what it's doing—and by letting others know what it's doing. A better understanding of the United Nations means a better chance of peace for the world!

Audrey Scared; Mel to Join Her

Hepburn Sees Riots in Parisian Streets and Wants to Leave

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—Yesterday Audrey Hepburn telephoned Mel Ferrer from Paris, saying that riots are going on and the streets are filled with men and women protesting the war.

She said that the Soviet embassy has been stoned and there was continuous fighting in the streets, and she wants to get out of there as soon as possible.

So Mel, who has been in Hollywood to finish "The Purple Harvest" for MGM, appealed to the studio to get him through his scenes as quickly as possible. He will plane out by Scandinavian airlines system tomorrow night to Audrey.

He said that Billy Wilder, who is directing Audrey, Gary Cooper and Maurice Chevalier in "Love in the Afternoon," wants to get all of the Americans out of Paris and is working night and day to finish the picture.

Mel said that he and Audrey had intended to go to London for the opening of "War and Peace" but he has an idea the picture will be canceled now. Audrey's mother is in London and she says that the dead and the wounded are already arriving back from Cairo and there is much sadness among the people.

Audrey also told Mel that England's new gas and oil rationing is very sad, since the last of the rationing from World War II was removed only in 1955. Gas is also rationed in Paris now.

GORGEOUS GAL—Three fabulous guys and a gorgeous gal made such music together that they thrilled a whole generation with rhythms that today are household classics. The girl—Sheree North (above) and the men—Gordon MacRae, Dan Dailey and Ernest Borgnine portray the leading figures in "The Best Things in Life are Free," now at the Oakland Theater.

Liz Taylor Alters Divorce Plans, Beau Has to Wait

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Actress Elizabeth Taylor now says she has changed her mind and plans to obtain a California divorce from British actor Michael Wilding and that her attorney may file the complaint today.

Previously she had indicated she would go to Nevada or Mexico for a "quickie" divorce to clear the way for her expected marriage to show producer Michael Todd, who recently gave her an engagement ring. It takes a year for a California divorce to become final.

Miss Taylor told a reporter "I want a divorce but I don't want one that, under any circumstances might be questioned at a future date. I am thinking not only of myself but of my children."

Asked if her decision to wait a year means that she and Todd have quarreled, she replied: "Oh, I suppose everybody will be saying that. No, of course we haven't. I hope to see him tomorrow." The actress said she may fly to New York tonight.

Planners Suggest Ban on Future Autos

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Architects and city planners see the automobile as less of a convenience and more of a nuisance in the future unless something is done to solve traffic problems.

"Let's keep cars as our servants, not as our masters," Victor Gruen told the Florida Architects convention. Gruen is an architect and a consultant on city layouts.

He and fellow speakers said city congestion can be solved in part by banning the automobile from areas where common sense indicates the public interest is better served by giving pedestrians an unchallenged right of way.

Another avenue cited toward relief was the building of parking garages.

Rocket Can Circle Moon and Return, Moscow Claims

LONDON (AP) — Moscow radio said today a Russian scientist has figured out a way to shoot a rocket around the moon and back to earth without using any fuel except on takeoff.

The scientist was identified only as Prof. Chebotaryov of the Institute of Theoretical Astronomy of the Soviet Academy of Sciences.

"We believe the flight of a rocket to the moon and around it may become a practically proposition within the next 5 or 10 years," Chebotaryov was quoted.

Fuel will only be required to start the rocket off on its flight," he continued. "The initial speed of such rockets must be 6.8 miles per second. Near the moon this speed will drop to zero."

The broadcast did not elaborate on these details.

Chebotaryov estimated that the rocket round trip would take about 10 days. He said trajectories had been worked out which would allow rockets to circle the moon at a distance of between 3,100 and 3,700 miles.

U.S. Rejects Red Offer to Help Pacify Egypt

Every American has a right to fume with indignation over the bald cynicism of Russia's proposal that it join the United States to "crush aggression" in Egypt.

Similarly, everyone of us has a right to feel pride in the promptness with which this brassy proposal was rejected at the White House as "unthinkable."

Seldom in international affairs has such an irresponsible proposal been advanced. The U.N. Assembly already had demanded that fighting stop in Egypt and that U.N. forces enter to stabilize the situation.

The cynicism of Russia's proposal becomes more apparent when it is remembered that the USSR is engaged in brutal, barbaric crushing of the Hungarian people. Right now it is ignoring the United Nations demand that it "cease immediately . . . military operations against the Hungarian people and withdraw . . . forces from that country."

Thus the proposal that Russia collaborate with the United States looks like a thinly veiled propaganda play to hide the USSR's own oppressive colonialism and tyranny. It is fresh evidence that Russia is anxious to meddle further in the Middle East.

There are two reasons why we should resent this Russian proposal. First, it is a barefaced invitation to us to help the USSR get a military foothold in the Middle East. Second, it is an invitation to us to make war on our Allies. Nothing seems surer than that if Russia were once permitted to get an armed force into the Middle East, it would take a world war to get it out.

At present the one hope of action to end Mideast hostilities lies in the Canadian plan already approved by the General Assembly. This wisely restricts military contributions to a U.N. police force to small powers.

We share the view of those who believe that the most important contribution we can make to deter Russian intervention is to refrain, ourselves, from direct involvement.

FDIC Doing Well

One Federal agency that drains nothing from the National Treasury is the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation.

FDIC was born in 1933 to protect depositors against the kind of losses that were plaguing banks in depression days. It was started with $150,000,000 from the Treasury and $139,000,000 from Federal Reserve Banks.

Since then it not only has repaid all of this money but in addition it has paid interest totaling $80,500,000. Moreover, it now can be said to be soundly established on a firm financial foundation having built up a large reserve fund.

FDIC essentially is an insurance operation and most of the country's deposit banks are members. Each account is insured against loss up to $10,000 should the bank fail. At present about $116 billion in deposits is so insured.

In the last 10 years banking offices have increased 14 per cent while assets have grown nearly $75 billion. Yet attesting its good management over the years is the fact that FDIC has fewer employes than it did 10 years ago.

The people of Michigan have a special interest in FDIC because one of its most ardent and influential advocates was the late great Republican Senator, Arthur H. Vandenberg.

Sunday, Veterans' Day

It is fitting that the people of Pontiac observe Sunday, November 11 as Veterans' Day.

By Presidential proclamation and Congressional enactment this 38th anniversary of the Armistice that ended World War I has become a day set apart to pay tribute to all our war veterans, living and dead.

In his 1956 proclamation President Eisenhower said:

"It is appropriate that we should set aside one day each year to express our gratitude and indebtedness to those who have sacrificed so much and to rededicate ourselves not only to the preservation of our heritage of freedom but also to the task of achieving an enduring peace with honor among all nations of the world."

On Veterans' Day, therefore, as the President has suggested, let us recall with solemn gratitude the courage and sacrifices of our veterans. Let us reconsecrate ourselves to the preservation of our cherished freedom.

The People's Business:

Williams' Future

1958 to Be Decisive Year for Governor's Ambitions

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—One of the big political questions around the Capitol is about Gov. Williams. It is "where does he go from here?"

For years, many have supposed that his goal is the White House. Assuming they are right, Williams will have to wait at least until 1960 before making his big push.

That leaves 1958 as a year of decision for the governor, since his time until than will be occupied in serving out his record fifth term as the state's chief executive.

What are the most likely choices open to Williams in 1958?

He isn't discussing this, but his close associates cite three ocurses: (1) To seek the U.S. Senate seat now occupied by Republican Charles E. Potter; (2) to bid for a sixth term as governor, and (3) to step out as governor and spend full time in an avowed and vigorous candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

OBVIOUS ADVANTAGES

As evaluated as the moment, in the wake of Williams' smashing triumph last Tuesday, the advantages of going after Potter's seat are obvious.

This would give him a national forum for his views, and possibly open the way for a big political break—perhaps a role before a nationwide television audience in some sort of spectacular investigation. It would assure him public office until 1964.

But there are disadvantages, too. One of the governor's close advisers pointed out that as a freshman senator the likelihood is that Williams' chances to really shine would be few.

Moreover if any came his way and he grasped too eagerly for it, jealousies would be aroused among colleagues—as witness the case of Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) and his 1950 crime investigation.

VOICE IN THE PARTY

As for seeking a sixth term, here again the governor would be assured, if he won, of maintaining the strong voice the governor of a populous state has in national party affairs, and be kept by virtue of his office in the public eye.

But he would be handicapped in that the time he could spare for active electioneering would be held down by the duties of office.

The third course—that of merely stepping out as governor and starting to run in January 1959 for the presidential nomination—is the riskiest.

If Williams failed to capture the nomination, or if he won it and lost the election, then he might find that at the age of 49 he had shot his political bolt.

Resident of Walton Heights Tells of Local 'Drag Strip'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters, but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I agree that teenagers should have a drag strip. I don't know if there is a fund for this purpose, but there is a drag strip just outside of Pontiac.

Out here in Walton Heights subdivision the public and some of the residents use Walton road, east of Opdyke, for a drag strip. I would not advise any teenager to use this road as a drag strip, because the competition is very stiff.

If your car can't do better than a hundred miles per hour in less than half a mile, man, you're only cluttering up the highway.

Asks Employers for 'Free' Jobs

Why do they allow these employment offices to operate? Who wants to pay $100 or $150 for a job. This is supposed to be a free country. Believe me, there is little left that is free."

Why do good employers turn their jobs over to these outfits? Don't they remember when a dollar meant so much to them? After all, there is a good U. S. Employment Office located in every city. Why not give the poor working man a chance, instead of taking everything away from him?

Did you ever try to get your money refunded from one of these places if the job doesn't work out? Let me tell you, it would be easier at Fort Knox. Also, they don't give you a chance to even earn the money. They want it on the line.

Plenty of Losers, but Who Is Victor in Suez Fracas?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's a winner in the Egyptian conflict he is not yet in sight.

The fighting was done by the British, French, Israelis and Egyptians. The United States and Russia are in it up to their necks, trying to stop it and trying to come out looking good.

The United Nations is mixed up in it too, trying to gain a victory for world opinion and moral force over military force.

The Israelis said they attacked Egypt to put an end to torments by their neighbor who had been raiding over their border.

The British and French said they went into Egypt to separate the Israelis and Egyptians and to protect the Suez Canal. But the only ones they shot at were Egyptians.

They may have gained a point on agreeing to quit the canal because they will turn it over to a U. N. police force in the hope later an international agreement will take control of the waterway away from Egyptian President Nasser.

But they can't be sure of that now. It was primarily Nasser's seizure of the canal and fear that he might close it any time he pleased that took them into Egypt in the first place, no matter what reason they gave.

The British, French and Israelis shared one thing in common when they ganged up on Egypt: it was to destroy Nasser. Instead of destroying him, they may have strengthened his grip on the Egyptian people.

Meanwhile the British and French put a big hole in their alliance with the United States by making the attack. They also antagonized the whole Arab world and the Middle East against the West.

Eisenhower then had the unpleasant job of trying to bail out the British, French and Western influence in the Middle East by putting all the heat he could on the British and French to back up.

Whether his influence turned the trick is not known. For the Russians, seeing their chance to pose as the only friend the Arabs had and thus move into the Middle East if the West loses out there, got into the act too.

Premier Bulganin wrote to Britain's Prime Minister Eden. Bulganin didn't — in so many words — threaten to get into the Middle East war if the British and French didn't quit. The British and French seemed to think he might mean that. The British began to sound softer.

Days of All Faiths

Tomorrow Is Stewardship Day

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

Every year the second Sunday in November is the day on which many churches in the United States and Canada begin their campaign for financial support in the coming year.

Known as Stewardship Sunday, the day is sponsored in the U. S. by the National Council of Churches' Joint Department of Stewardship and Benevolence.

The term Stewardship refers to the Christian (and Jewish) teaching that all creation belongs to God Who made it and each man is God's agent or steward, handling a portion of God's property. The material things a man ordinarily calls his possessions are not really his at all. They belong to God—man only takes care of them for a while.

On this Sunday each year the churches appeal for next year's support of their members' sense of responsibility as faithful stewards of the money God has entrusted to them. The annual financial campaign is one great opportunity for the Christian to acknowledge God's sovereignty over "the earth and all that therein is."

MARTINMAS

St. Martin's Day or Martinmas is a day rich in traditions in the old country. It is very strange the many European peoples who have come to America have not brought along the legends and customs in which this day abounds back in their native lands.

St. Martin, Bishop of Tours (France) in the fourth century, is the patron saint of France, of tavern keepers, of beggars, of winegrowers and of drunkards, both practicing and reformed. With such a clientele to celebrate his memory, it is no wonder that St. Martin is honored with one of the most convivial days in the calendar.

St. Martin's Day comes, of course, at a happy time of year for rural people. The crops are in, the animals are slaughtered, the new wine is ready, the hard work is over. Any saint's day that fell at this particular season would probably have been a cheerful one in medieval times.

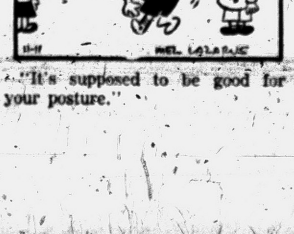

One essential to the proper observance of St. Martin's Day is roast goose for dinner. Actually this is probably because geese are fat and plentiful now, but legend gives a more colorful reason. The story is that when Martin heard, in 374, he had been elected Bishop of Tours, the thought of being a bishop so horrified him he ran and hid in a barn.

But a stupid, meddlesome goose found him there and set up a racket that led the searchers to the hiding place. Descendents of this goose are still paying for his disservice to the good man.

MEN'S AGES

The arrival in New York of a 167-year-old man from South America, together with the news that many people in this man's native Colombia live at least as long, has reminded some of our readers of the ages recorded in the Old Testament. In earliest times, according to the book of Genesis, this South American would have been a mere adolescent, hardly even of voting age at 167. Adam was 930 when he died, Noah 950 and Methuselah 969. Later on he could have qualified a little better. Abraham died at 175; Moses at 120.

This matter of how long the ancients really lived is one of the mysteries of the Bible. Those who believe the Scriptures literally and word-for word have no problem, but others have long looked for some explanation.

"It's supposed to be good for your posture."

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Cites Benefits of Natural Childbirth

I appreciate especially your fine articles about natural childbirth. If mothers only knew what a wonderful experience it is, most obstetrical anesthetists would have to move to another field!
(Mrs. J. W. P.)

Answer — The trouble is that so few prospective mothers want to know about it. Many of them actually believe that in natural childbirth the patient is denied anesthesia. The truth is that she can have an anesthetic any time she wants it.

Can a person with borderline or fringe diabetes drink liquor in moderation withou tdanger? (M. S. W.)

Answer — No. Send 35c and stamped self-addressed envelope for booklet "Training for Diabetes."

Answer—"Natural Childbirth," by Helen Heardman, was published by the Williams and Wilkins Co., Baltimore, 1948. If it is no longer available, perhaps your public library has a copy.

If you have anything on piles or hemorrhoids, please send it in the inclosed stamped, self-address envelope, and don't return the currency in any case — have a cup of coffee on me next time you visit the bowling green . . .(D. I. P. S. — Can internal hemorroids in a woman be cured by ambulatory treatment? (D. K. P.)

Answer—No thank you, but Ill buy a package of my favorite blend and gladden the hearts of some of the Scotsmen who are always running out of tobacco at a critical moment. The ambulatory (ambulant, injection, office) treatment is especially for internal piles. Which physicians give such treatment I cannot tell you. Canvass the list in the telephone book, or inquire at the County Medical Society office, or ask any doctor you know. The pamphlet "You Need Not Suffer From Piles is free to anyone who asks for it and provides stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SAYS SURGEONS OBJECT

Why do many doctors advise people not to take an iodin ration? They claim surgeons will not operate if they know a patient has been taking it . . . (Mrs. H. S. M.)

Answer — I'll answer the hypothetical objection if any doctor or surgeon of standing acknowledges sharing it. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for the pamphlet "The Iodin Ration."

I had amazing results from the use of the Chamomile Flowers dressing for varicose ulcer. God Bless you. Your column is almost like having a doctor in the home. (E. B. A.)

Answer — Thank you. Instructions for preparing and using wet dressings of chamomile tea for painful, obstinate varicose ulcer in pamphlet on Varicose Veins, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

MIGRAINE GONE

Since I started to take my daily ration of Ca & D last March, I haven't had a migraine headache and feel on top of the world every day. (Mrs. S. L. C.)

Answer — Of course, it may be coincidence, but in any case it can do no harm to try. Send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for (a) booklet "The Calcium Shortage and (b) pamphlet Why Have Headache?"

Thirty, eczema for ten years, started on leg, then . . . doctors say it is inherited and can't be cured . . .(W. B. C.)

ACNE IS PROBLEM

I am a girl aged 15, and I have acne . . .(B. J.)

Answer — So have a million other normal teen age girls. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for pamphlet on "Acne-Pimples and Blackheads."

Severe case of calluses and corns both so painful that the young man can hardly walk . . . (H. A.)

Answer—Send 35c and stamped selfaddressed envelope for booklet "Care Of The Feet."

Advised by friend to take a good pinch of cream of tartar on tongue followed by a glass of water each morning to reduce high blood pressure. What effect has it besides moving the bowels? Have been taking it for a week and feel great . . .(V. A. M.)

Answer — No effect other than the slight laxative effect of any kind of salts. It is comparatively harmless if you believe it makes you feel better.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Youth Show Interest in Religion

Dr. Hess placed no coercion on his students in the experiment described below. They did as they pleased. But the results bear repetition widely. We need to accentuate the positive virtues of modern youth instead of always stressing the occasional delinquents in their ranks. Young folks want to be good and happy and healthy, so help them!

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-318: Dr. L. W. Hess, aged about 50, is one of our outstanding applied psychologists.

He is now engaged chiefly in private practice, but while he was head of the Psychology Department at Hillsdale College in Michigan a couple of years ago, he conducted an interesting experiment.

His large classes in Applied Psychology were using my textbook entitled "Psychology Applied," which has 20 chapters covering all the major fields where psychology is used.

So Dr. Hess assigned his students the written homework problem of picking out the one chapter which they liked best. Then they were to write a short essay explaining their choice.

"Which chapter do you think was their favorite?" I was later asked.

Well, I pondered the matter briefly. Among the 20 chapters were several which I figured would rate fairly high with college youth.

Well, of those 10 foremost chapters, which one do you readers think modern college youth would make their first choice?

I decided that college youth would select Ch. VI, which was the one headed "How to Improve Your Personality."

"No, Dr. Crane, the most popular choice was Ch. XVIII," came the surprising reply.

Ch. XVIII who headed "Psychology Goes to Church," and contained advice on teaching Sunday School, increasing church attendance, etc.

It also had a section entitled "Jesus—the World's Greatest Applied Psychologist."

And 90 per cent of these college men and women selected that chapter as their first choice:

IDEALISM OF YOUTH

It is very encouraging to parents, as well as to us educators, to see such tangible proof of the idealism of modern youth.

For we read so many stories about delinquency and juvenile gangs that many folks get the erroneous idea all modern youth are going to the devil.

That is definitely not true. Never before in human history have we had such a high level of religious idealism among youth. And this is not idle flattery.

In Colonial Days, only 5 per cent of Americans belonged to any church, whether Jewish, Catholic or Protestant.

The figure was only 25 per cent in 1900. But now it has zoomed to 60 per cent. And a much larger percentage of youth are in Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and Sunday school than ever before in American history.

So focus more often on the virtues of modern youth instead of high lighting the few cses of delinquency and crime.

To help young folks live moral lives, be sure they have access in your home or church or high school library to my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents.

This is a non-profit educational service of this newspaper so take full advantage thereof.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

CONFESSIONS OF A CONVERTED JEHOVAH'S WITNESS!

30 YEARS A WATCHTOWER SLAVE

by W. J. Schnell
former zone servant for Jehovah's Witnesses

The simple, impelling, and powerful story of a Christian caught in the meshes of this movement, his rise to positions of authority, the hopelessness of his situation, and remarkable conversion in 1954, after an entire night of prayer. Out of that conversion, came a pledge to write his book.

Here, for the first time, is an exposé of the Watch Tower society, its brain washing techniques, its genius for organization, and perversion of Scripture.

Everyone wants to read this book! Buy it for yourself. Give it as a gift. Buy several to spread its message.

St. Andrew's Episcopal Moves to New Church

St. Andrew's Episcopal Church will hold three services in the new church building located on a four-acre site at Hatchery and Crescent Lake roads Sunday. Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 a.m., and worship services and Sunday School are scheduled for 9:15 and 11 a.m.

The Rev. Waldo R. Hunt will be assisted tomorrow by layreaders John B. Landon and Francis J. Mansfield.

The church was organized as a mission of All Saints Episcopal Church, Pontiac, in 1951 under the guidance of the Rev. Ivol I. Curtis and the late Bert F. Ede with 76 communicants from the mother church.

The first service was held in the CAI Building, Waterford on July 1, 1951. The congregation worshipped there until March 1, 1953, when it moved to the Drayton Plains theater, which the congregation and the Pontiac church had bought. The theater was sold and the group then held services in the Pontiac Lake School from Sept. 2 until now.

The new building constructed of brick and block will serve as a church and activity center for the area. The structure is 42x66 feet in size and is of cathedral-like appearance.

It includes nine education rooms and the boiler room on the ground level: A sanctuary, multi-purpose rector's office is on the second floor. The cost of the building was $90,000.

church large enough to seat 400 persons.

The present structure will then become an educational building and parish hall.

Serving on the building committee were R. Lloyd Walker, chairman, John Sterling, Mrs. W. R. Forbes, Mrs. Angus Hiller, Mrs. W. S. Richardson, George Elliott, Clark Easley and John Walker.

Ex-officio members were the Rev. Mr. Hunt, the Rev. C. George Widdifield and the late William F. Maybury.

J. D. Boardman was chairman of the building fund committee and Clayton Tibbals, treasurer.

Couple Career Missionaries

Pontiac High Graduate Helps Husband Attend to Church Duties

BOSTON, Mass.—Rev. and Mrs. Harold William Fryday of Deansboro, N.Y., have been appointed career missionaries to the Philippines by the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions. They will sail with their two children, David, 7, and Douglas, 5, early in 1957.

Mr. Fryday, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Fryday of (18 Fernbank Ave.) Toronto, Canada, was educated at Bloor Collegiate Institute, Toronto, and the University of London, England.

In 1945, at age 19, he worked with a pioneer preacher in Northern Quebec and the following year went to a homesteading community in Northern Quebec to teach and conduct religious services. While there he organized a Sunday school and held weekly services at two locations.

Since 1948 Mr. Fryday has served as pastor of Gospel Tabernacle, Covington, Ky.; Salem and Verdon Congregational Churches at Salem and Verdon, Neb.; and the Deansboro Congregational Church.

Mrs. Fryday, the former Helen Louise Sheffield, was born in Detroit. She attended Pontiac High School and completed the missionary course at St. Paul Bible Institute, St. Paul, Minn. She also took courses at Laval University, Quebec, Canada; and Utica College, Utica, N.Y.

After graduating from St. Paul Bible School, Mrs. Fryday went to Quebec to do Christian work among the French Canadians. It was there she and Mr. Fryday met and were married. She has conducted the choirs and participated in all other phases of the work of the churches served by her husband.

Church Leader Calls for Prayer

Chairman Asks Council to Face World Crisis With Observance

LANSING—Dr. John E. Marvin, Chairman of the Division of Life and Work of the Michigan Council of Churches, issued the following call to the Michigan Churches to face the deepening world crisis with a special day of prayer, Sunday.

"We call upon the churches of Michigan to make Sunday, November 11, a time of special prayer for the restoration of peace in the Middle East and Eastern Europe.

"The leaders of our Michigan churches are deeply concerned over the present outbreak of hostilities and the resort to unilateral action by nations in defiance of the United Nations Charter and world opinion: because in this interdependent age any war can easily spread into a world conflagration.

"We urge prayer that the leaders of all nations be impelled to re-establish the procedures of peaceful negotiation of their grievances through the United Nations and that our own government leaders be strengthened in their purpose to continue to uphold the banner of negotiated settlement of international conflicts through the United Nations."

Pope Gives Talk to Journalists on Their Craft

VATICAN CITY — The ideal of the journalist must be to preserve "frank objectivity without ever losing contact with the public," said Pope Pius XII at an audience granted to members of various European news agencies.

"We can only urge you," continued the Pope, "always to aim at that ideal, and never to sacrifice truth. Divine precepts or the common good merely to satisfy the masters of one day or the tastes of the readers.

"If you follow this line of conduct, you will always be helped by two forces—Divine protection and the approval of good men. These two forces are, in the end, the decisive ones."

The importance and responsibilities of journalists, said His Holiness, have grown considerably in the last 40 years. The reasons for this growth are to be found in the close relations between the press and public opinion.

Rev. T. Walter Harris to Preach in Detroit

The Rev. T. Walter Harris, pastor of the Providence Missionary Baptist Church, will conduct a revival meeting all next week at the Cosmopolitan Baptist Church of Detroit.

Confident Living

Daily Problems Solved by Work and Prayer

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Last Tuesday, people all over the United States went to the polls and made some choices that will affect the future of our country. Most of them no doubt thought seriously about these choices and voted in the sincere belief that their particular choice was the right one.

DR. PEALE

But the problem of how to make a right choice is not limited to Election Day. It is with us all year round. We face a series of choices — important and unimportant — each day we live. And the only way we can be certain of making a right choice is to take God's guidance in arriving at any and all decisions we may have to make.

A New Yorker in the construction business was telling me about his company the other day. "This business," he said, "was once on the edge of failure. I couldn't get any of the answers I needed. And I didn't know what to do.

FOUND GUIDANCE IN SOLITUDE

"Then, one day, I was alone and at the end of my rope. I went into my own office and shut the door. It seemed the Lord was right there with me, and I just began to talk to Him like I would speak to a close friend. I told the Lord that He was my partner. I began then to check all decisions in prayer and received definite guidance. God and I rebuilt this business together," he declared, and then continued.

"The first thing that happened to me was that I stopped worrying. I became calm and quiet. I lost that feeling of panic. Then, I began to get new and creative ideas. And I acted on them. My choices and decisions worked out right. My business began to catch hold; I paid off old debts and made progress. I am sure now that this business has been maintained only by the guidance of God and His help in making the right decisions. I have no lack of confidence about the future."

This is true in business and it is equally true in personal affairs. If you take God in as a partner and let Him help you with your choices, you need feel no lack of confidence in your future. Your ratio of good decisions will greatly increase.

But this doesn't mean that you can sit back and let God do it. God expects you to do your utmost. He gave you brains — but the responsibility for the use of that brainpower is yours. He gave you a body too. And all of us know how the body deteriorates if we neglect it — the muscles become flabby, the bloodstream grows sluggish. The brain is no different — it ceases to give you the best decisions if you do not exercise it.

Here, too, God can help you. He can guide your thinking, watch over you, lead you to correct solutions. Prayer is the best technique for obtaining this help and guidance. Ask God to activate the brain He gave you so that it shares His ideas and His insights. Keep your thinking in contact with Him and He will show you the way to make all the right choices in life.

The late Dr. Peter Marshall was chaplain of the United States Senate. He once wrote a prayer that is worth remembering, not only before making a choice, but on many other occasions: "Our Father, give us the faith to believe that it is possible for us to live victoriously even in the midst of dangerous opportunity that we call crisis. Help us to see that there is something better than patient endurance or keeping a stiff upper lip, and that whistling in the dark is not really bravery.

"Trusting in Thee, may we have the faith that goes singing in the rain, knowing that all things work together for good to them that love Thee."

Methodist Mission Board Asks More Careerists

The Board of Missions of the Methodist Church has announced openings for 602 career missionaries for its home and overseas fields during 1957.

In announcing its needs for the coming year, the Board, through its Office of Missionary Personnel, 150 Fifth Avenue, New York 11, N. Y., said that a step-up in the number of personnel needed for lifetime service has been brought about largely because of the evangelistic emphasis planned in the next four years.

The emphasis, termed "A Call to Witness and Decision," aims at increased evangelism in all overseas fields and concentrated efforts in four selected countries — the Belgian Congo, Korea, Sarawak (North Borneo) and Bolivia.

The Division of World Missions has openings for 242 single men or couples and has set as a minimum goal for the year 136 persons (68 couples).

The Woman's Division of Christian Service is seeking 250 single women for service in its overseas fields and 100 men and women for service in home fields. The women in home fields are deaconesses and the men are home missionaries.

The breakdown of overseas needs by vocation shows that the largest numbers of persons are needed in educational work, church and social work and medical work.

Smaller numbers are needed in the fields of agriculture, building, engineering, business, commerce, secretarial work and accounting.

The precise number of persons needed for various occupational listings in home fields cannot be given, but openings include teachers for mission schools, case and group social workers for community centers, children's homes and homes for the youth and aged, evangelistic-educational workers for town and country churches, nurses, technologists, dietitians and other medical workers, housemothers and houseparents for youth and children's homes and administrators, superintendents, secretaries and accountants for homes, hospitals, schools and other institutions.

The qualifications for both home and overseas services are basically the same and include: Age — 23 to 35 years (except in special cases). Education — a college degree with specialized training required for such fields as medicine, college teaching and the evangelistic ministry.

Experience — at least one year of successful experience in work similar to that to which the person will be assigned.

Health — there are thorough physical and psychological examinations.

Religious experience—the Board says "the basic essential is a first hand experience in what Christianity is and does, a confidence in the importance of Christ to all men and a desire to share one's Christian faith and experience in all phases of living."

To WHICH CHURCH did the APOSTLES BELONG?

There is much unnecessary confusion about the beginning of the Christian Church—the early New Testament Church to which the apostles belonged.

Much of this confusion is rooted in the fact that some segments of Christianity in the twentieth century have claimed the early New Testament Church as their own exclusive ancestry. In so doing there has inevitably been distortion in presenting the picture of the early Church.

The fact is, the early Church did not have various "faiths" and "denominations." It was simply composed of those who came to believe in the risen Saviour, Jesus Christ. Through their faith in Christ they knew that they would be saved from the wrath of God. The Bible says that "the Lord added to the church daily such as should be saved." (Acts 2: 47)

Bible-believing Christians today do not maintain that the Church is made up of just one sect or denomination. The basis of membership in the Church has not changed since the first century. The Church is still composed of all those who believe in Jesus Christ as Saviour. It is still made up of all those who are saved.

There is close fellowship today among Bible-believing Christians in numerous Protestant groups, just as there was close fellowship among the various groups of believers in the days of the apostles. Among these believers the Bible has always stood as the supreme authority in spiritual matters.

Through the Bible message of salvation these Christian believers have come to know a newness of life which was known to the apostles—and to all believers of their day. The Bible says that "if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away: behold, all things are become new." (II Corinthians 5: 17)

World Community Day to Be Observed Monday

The Pontiac Council of United Church Women will observe World Community Day Monday in the First Congregational Church. The theme of the day is "For the Sake of My Brethren, My Kinsmen."

Blankets, and children's outgrown clothing are also wanted.

The World Community Day offering will be used in the Far East for physically handicapped victims of war who need vocational training: in South East Asia for small Christian hospitals needing equipment, medicines and surgical dressings.

In Europe, the offering will help refugees in camps waiting for visas to open doors of hope and opportunity. They need tools and equipment to fit them for their new life.

Registration will be from 9:45 to 10:30 a.m.; the program will then begin and continue until 12 noon. Luncheon is scheduled for 12:15 and the business session will follow.

Longshoremen Refuse to Haul Poles' Baggage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two tons of baggage owned by arriving Polish diplomats remains on a luxury liner due to sail for Europe today.

Angry longshoremen hauled the baggage back aboard the French liner Liberte yesterday when they found out who the owners were. The dockworkers said they acted in protest against the Soviet attack on Hungarian rebels.

The diplomats, members of Poland's U. N. delegation, appealed to the State Department in hope of retrieving the 29 pieces of baggage.

'Biscuit Tin' Bible Comes to Light in Dark Uganda

A current news item has called attention to one of the earlier and most successful Bibles ever translated by modern missionaries into a primitive tongue.

From Entebbe, the seat of British administration in Uganda, East Africa, comes word that there has recently been loaned to the museum there a copy of the "biscuit tin" Bible. This was the nickname given to the first editions of the Bible in the Luganda language, spoken by the people of Uganda.

* * *

It was so called because it is about three inches broad and with the same thickness, and fitted snugly into one of the two-pound biscuit tins then plentiful in Uganda and was thus protected against white ants and mildew.

How Word in Stray Bible Spread Throughout Japan

This story appeared in the Bible Society Record for February 1866?

"We clip the following from the New York Observer. It is an additional evidence of the truth of Scripture: 'My Word shall not return unto me void':

"At the weekly prayer meeting of the Park Street Church, Boston, lately, Captain Bartlett, sailor-missionary, spoke of a young Japanese sitting by his side.

"The Japanese had gone to China, found a Chinese Bible — which he could read—and then ran away and worked his passage to this country to learn more of the true God and eternal life. Alpheus Hardy, Esq., in one of whose vessels he came, has kindly undertaken his education. That he promises to be worthy of this effort to make him useful is evident from the following prayer, which he wrote out in a good, clear hand:

"'O God! If thou have got eyes, please look upon me.

"'O God.! If Thou have got ears, please hear for me.

"'I wish heartily to read Bible, and I wish to be civilized with Bible.

Joseph Nei Sima.'

"Is not this 'feeling after God?' May not this man be of those who should 'come from the East and the West?'"

AT RESULTS

In retrospect it is possible to relate how this same young Japanese studied at Amherst College and Andover Theological Seminary.

On his return to Japan he was instrumental in the establishment of Doshisha University in the ancient capital city of Kyoto.

Today Doshisha stands as a living memorial to Joseph Nei Sima (or Nijima, as his name is now spelled), and he is remembered with love and respect as one of the great Christian leaders of 19th-Century Japan, really "worthy of this effort to make him useful."

Bishop Ordass Now Reinstated

Restored to Lutheran Post in Hungary After Anti-Red Rebellion

Bishop Lajos Ordass, former head of the Hungarian Lutheran Church, has been reinstated in his bishopric. It was indicated the reinstatement has resulted in a wide reorganization of the Protestant churches begun in the wake of the anti-Soviet revolution.

Informed sources reported that churchmen known for their collaboration with the former Communist regime have resigned and new elections are scheduled to replace them.

Meanwhile, information was received at World Council of Churches headquarters in Geneva, Switzerland, to the effect that all church schools and other institutions closed by the Communists will be reopened.

Dr. Ordass, once convicted and jailed on the charge of currency violation by the Hungarian Soviet regime, had been declared innocent and exonerated from all guilt. Subsequent to this action by the government, the bishop was restored to good standing in the church. For the past several months he has been a professor at the Lutheran Theological Seminary in Hungary.

Bishop Ordass' first action after his reinstatement was to preach a Reformation Day sermon at Deak Square Church, his former headquarters.

'Mission of Jesus' Subject of Sermon

Mrs. Blanche Joki, minister of the Unity Church of Oakland County, has chosen as her topic Sunday morning, "The Mission of Jesus."

The service will be held at 11 o'clock in the church rooms at 71½ N. Saginaw St. Sunday School will be held at the same time.

A class in Old Testament interpretation is being held on Thursdays at 7:30 p.m. in the church rooms. Mrs. Joki will be present for consultation each Thursday from 1 to 5 p.m.

Presbyterians Favor Combining Churches

Forty-nine of the 250 presbyteries of the Presbyterian Church in the United States have returned affirmative votes on the proposal to adopt a Plan of Union with the United Presbyterian Church. Voting on the plan will continue in both churches until the respective General Assemblies meet next spring. Denominational officials said no negative votes have been recorded. If union is approved the new church body would be known as the United Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. It would have three million members in 9,200 churches.

79 Mission Units to Send Delegates to 5-Day Parley

Representatives from 79 different Protestant foreign mission boards and agencies will gather at Buck Hill Falls, Pa., this month to map out future strategy for world-wide evangelical and welfare work.

In an intensive five-day meeting they will work on a three-year blueprint for the overseas work. Protestant Americans this year will contribute $100,000,000 to the work.

The seventh annual Assembly of the National Council of Churches Division of Foreign Missions to convene Nov. 26-30.

Taking as the general theme "The World-Wide Mission of the World-Wide Church," delegates will meet in 10 plenary sessions plus a number of smaller groups to study the implications of present developments in 20th century overseas church work.

"Underlying all discussions will be concern for evolving up-to-date policy and program in light of the growing number of indigenous churches in traditional mission areas," the Rev. Dr. Eugene L. Smith, National Council vice president for foreign missions, said in New York today.

GROUPS TOTAL 150,000

Known as "the younger churches," these native groups now number close to 150,000. They include both organized church bodies and congregations with more or less he said.

"Their existence," he declared, "calls for a new undestanding of the Christian mission as we have known it. On the one hand we have the assurance of the existence of a Christian Church in almost every land — the fruit of the earlier missionary efforts launched from the West. On the other, we have an urgency born of the fact that there are thousands throughout the world who still have not heard the Gospel of Jesus Christ."

Migrant Workers Describe Lives on U.S. Farms

NEW YORK, N. Y. — Three migrant farm laborers told some seven hundred church-women from all over the country that they like to see farmers get good crops "because that makes it better for us."

They participated in a panel discussion at the second annual migrant luncheon, sponsored jointly by the National Council of Churches' Division of Home Missions and General Department of United Church Women.

It was the first time in the thirty-year history of the National Council's Migrant Ministry that any of the wandering farm laborers had been called upon personally to describe their lives.

Mrs. Monica Owen of New York, national director of program and training for the Migrant Ministry, said its purposes are to provide migrants with "a faith relevant to their lives," direct health and welfare services, and develop local community acceptance and support of migrants.

Plan Regional Meetings for Seminary Students

Three thousand seminary students representing more than 30 Protestant denominations will learn about the world-wide cooperative church movement in a series of regional conferences scheduled during the 1956-57 academic year under the auspices of the Interseminary Movement, a unit of the National Council of Churches

The Rev. Richard Heaton, executive secretary, said the meetings are designed to promote support of the ecumenical movement by seminarians from a wide range of theological backgrounds. Students from 95 different seminaries and schools are expected to attend.

Bible Readings Group to Get TV Cooperation

It is expected that not less than three hundred television stations will run a one-minute spot movie of the Worldwide Bible Readings one or more times daily in the period from Thanksgiving to Christmas.

As last year, Don and Vera Ward and their daughters Mari and Laura have appeared in the thirty-four scenes, which all show Bible reading in the home.

Help Bible Reading With Radio Records

Several centuries ago the printing press made it possible to increase immeeasurably the distribution of the Bible in Europe. No,w modern invention again steps in to provide new media for sharing widely the age-old message of Life.

In Liberia, for instance, a daily radio program over sation ELWA is responsible for an unprecedented interest in regular Bible reading there. Every weekday at 6:27 a.m. hundreds and possibly thousands of Liberians open their Bibles.

They all turn to the same passage and, at the cue from the program, they read in unison for 15 minutes—many reading aloud — following the Talking Book records supplied by the American Bible Society.

Plan Research Center

The National Christian Council of India has voted to establish a research center for the study of non-Christian religions in the country, especially Hinduism. Dr. P. D. Devandandan, currently visiting professor at Union Theological Seminary, New York, has been invited to serve as director of the new program.

'Codfish Center' to Get Chapel

Norwegian - American Methodists to Build Fishermen's Church

According to the Rev. Arne-Jacob Kristoffersen, of Atorp, Sweden, "the Methodist congregation in Svolvaer, Norway, one of the world's biggest codfish centers, has been in need of a church building for several years."

Says Mr. Kristoffersen, "At last they are to have a building that will not only serve their spiritual needs but will perform a social ministry for the codfishermen of Svolvaer, who double the town's population in fishing season.

"Early in October Bishop Odd Hagen, Methodist bishop of Scandinavia, flew north of the Arctic circle to Svolvaer to lay the cornerstone for the new building. Norwegian and American Methodists have contributed funds for the church and it is expected the building will be completed in the spring of 1957.

"The church will have ample space for meetings, dinners and other public events. In the fishing season, there will be reading and writing rooms for seamen, a small cafe, and a clinic. The church will thus render spiritual, medical, and social service to the fishermen.

Clergymen to Learn Acting, Playwriting

Union Theological Seminary, New York, has inaugurated a three year experimental program in religious drama to train future clergymen in acting, directing and playwriting.

Expressing British public opinion, the guests greeted the Russian diplomat with complete silence and stoney expressions as he and his wife walked down the 50-yard-long carpet to meet the mayor.

But in direct contrast, guests applauded thunderously at the arrival of the Polish Ambassador and Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden.

Earlier in the evening Malik met with a deputation of six labor leaders including Hugh Gaitskell, who went to the Russian Embassy to complain that they "were shocked and horrified by the tragic events in Hungary."

The cold interview ended with Malik promising he would relay the Laborite complaints to the Kremlin.

Meanwhile two hundred students demonstrated outside the Soviet Embassy building and clashed repeatedly with mounted police attempting to restore order.

Men Now Outdo Women in Their Group Activities

Males Had Better Stop Poking Fun at Feminine Organizations

By RUTH MILLETT

There's been a lot of fun poked at the American clubwoman—most of it by men.

But while they have been laughing at the women, the men, themselves, have been becoming more and more organized.

Many a wife of a business or professional man will tell you that she is a "club widow." She sits home night after night while her husband rushes out to meetings—a fund drive for this organization, a publicity committee for that one, and a dinner meeting of some other group.

And I just noticed in the paper that some of the men in our town, obviously so booked up with meetings they are running out of time, have organized a breakfast club to meet at 6:45 one day each week.

MEETINGEST SEX

That certainly takes the honor of being the meetingest sex away from the women. Women may be persuaded to meet in the late morning, at lunch and in the afternoon.

Occasionally they'll get together in the evening, though many women still refuse to leave their husbands sitting home nights while they traipse off to club events. But women certainly wouldn't get up in time to get to a weekly meeting that starts at 6:45 a.m.

So it looks as though it is time for the men to quit making fun of the American clubwoman and start checking up on their own meeting habits.

It may astonish them to discover that they, too, have become joiners.

They also might have to admit, if they are entirely honest with themselves, that a lot of their meetings accomplish no more than the women's meetings they regard with such a superior air.

Bureau Cites Requests

Motor Aides Are Needed

The need for motor aides was stressed when the board of the Central Volunteer Bureau met Thursday morning at the YWCA.

* * *

Mrs. C. B. Shelton, placement chairman, reported that requests have come from several agencies for weekly, hourly, and "spur of the moment" volunteer help with transportation.

Motor aides furnish transportation, either with their own or an agency car, for the sick or crippled who have need of medical, clinical or hospital attention.

Several other ways that these volunteers can serve were discussed. For instance, transportation is needed for a teenaged girl, now living in a Family Care home, who is taking ballet lessons at the Jackie Rae Studios.

Miss Rae gives the lessons free of charge and they have been a marked help to the patient. However, the lessons have had to be discontinued because her means of transportation were cut off.

The Central Volunteer Bureau, a Pontiac Area United Fund agency, serving the Birmingham-Pontiac-Waterford area, has its office at 218 National Building in Pontiac. The office is now open Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, according to Mrs. Shelton.

The conference with social-service agency executives slated for later this month has been postponed until Dec. 13.

The bureau has been functioning two years and board members hope to offer better service to the agencies and the community as a result of the conference.

Amateur Chef Profits From Hobby

By ANNE HEYWOOD

How wonderful it is to see older people living rich, productive lives—and having fun, too!

* * *

I'm lucky, because my work brings me into contacts with many such people, so that now I really believe age doesn't have to be a miserable, lonely thing.

Mr. and Mrs. A. are a case in point. Both in their late 60s, they have a varied and interesting life.

They live in a small, comfortable house in a well-populated section of town. At one time, they just had barely enough to live on but now, thanks to their home project, they have icing on their cake, too.

"It all began," Mrs. A. told me, "because my husband is an honest man with a strong sense of justice.

JUST NOT FAIR

"When he retired, he could take it easy while my work went right on—the cleaning, marketing, cooking and so forth. Andy decided that just wasn't fair, so he volunteered to do the cooking.

"I knew Andy had always liked to cook—outdoor barbecues, an occasional Welsh rarebit — things like that. But I must say I thought this was a phase which would go before long.

"In the first place, our food budget wasn't very big. Preparing meals took real ingenuity, plus lots of hard work.

"She underestimated the old man," said Andy, who was very pleased with himself.

"I went to the library, got the best cookbooks I could find and studied them. Then I bought three really good ones.

"I experimented, worked plenty hard and found a great deal of pleasure in cooking. Even Maude admits I'm one of the best!"

Maude took over.

GOOD EVERY TIME

"His beef and kidney pie is especially good," she said. "It is inexpensive and delicious and comes out just as good every time.

"We began serving it as a dinner dish when we had guests, and they all loved it. Finally, one friend got up the courage to ask if she could buy one—once a week, no less!

"That was the beginning. Next thing we knew, all kinds of people were ordering Andy's beef and kidney pie. We had regular standing weekly orders!"

"I charged enough to make a good profit," Andy said. "And I worked out a system for mass production. Then I advertised in our local paper.

"I make nothing but beef and kidney pie—that's my specialty. And we have a good, steady, lucrative and interesting business!"

Aunt, Uncle Disagree With Coed

Object to Parties in Men's Apartment Without Chaperons

By EMILY POST

"I am a 23-year-old college student and am in love with a young man who goes to the same college. He shares an apartment with two friends.

"I have been going to his apartment to parties and, on occasion, to dinner. Even though I never go there alone, my aunt and uncle, with whom I live, object to this as they do not think it proper for young people to be left alone in an apartment, unchaperoned.

I cannot see any harm in it as long as there are others present. Will you please give your opinion?"

Answer: I definitely agree with you.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Some time ago I gave a friend of mine a lovely picture inasmuch as I could not find any space to hang it in our very small apartment, and rather than store it away, I said she could use it. I did not, however, mean for her to keep it.

"Now we are in a large house and I could use the picture very nicely. This friend has made no offer to return it to me. Would it be proper to ask her for it? Please let me hear from you on this matter."

Answer: It is obviously necessary that you do ask for it or you won't get it. The sooner you ask the better, because the longer she keeps it the more she'll regard it as her own.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My girl friend and I disagree on the following and we would like you to settle it. In the case of an engaged couple who meet every morning to go to business together, is it up to the girl to pay her own carfare, or should she expect her fiance to do so?"

Answer: When going to work, she is not his guest and therefore she should pay her own way—at least as a general rule. (On some occasion he might happen to pay it, but not habitually.)

Ten patterns that will help you create lovely handmade items for Christmas-giving, or provide a distinctive gift for that lady interested in Needlework! Either way, you'll want at least one of these "Pattern-Christmas-Packages" for your own use or for gift-giving. No. C-106—Price $1.00.

Send $1.00, your name, address and the Pattern Number to Anne Cabot, The Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy Street, Chicago 6, Illinois.

Now available — the colorful 1956 Needlework Album containing dozens of lovely designs from which to choose more patterns in crochet, embroidery and knit—plus 3 gift patterns, directions printed in book. Only 25c a copy!

Follow 5 Rules for Care of Hands

BL JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Many women and men do not know what to do about their hands when standing or sitting.

One thing is certain—our hands are always in evidence.

Even when we are not conscious of them, others are. Care of the hands and nails, therefore, becomes an important factor in the impression we give others.

If we are to look well-groomed we must either give ourselves a manicure once a week or have one at a beauty salon. In between times a nail brush and perhaps a little polish patching is all that will be necessary.

There are, however, some extra measures which will greatly enhance the appearance of these appendages. Here are some of them:

1. Whenever possible, keep your hands out of very hot water. When doing cleaning or laundry or anything which calls for strong soaps, use rubber gloves. Always use a hand lotion of course, after washing the hands.

MASSAGE HANDS

2. Once or twice a week massage hand cream into the hands and then wear a pair of little hand mitts while you sleep. Many of these are most attractive.

3. Never cut the cuticle if you have to use cuticle scissors if you can avoid it. Naturally you will have a hangnail. Otherwise, push the cuticle back gently, using an orange stick with a little oiled cotton on the end of it.

Never cut the cuticle if you can avoid it . . . push the cuticle back gently, using an orange stick with a little oiled cotton on the end of it.

4. Many women write about large veins in the hands. These are an inherited characteristic. Sometimes extreme underweight makes the veins more prominent.

Keep the hands out of hot water and when you sit hold them up, whenever feasible, or place them on the arms of the chair rather than in your lap.

5. Paint the nails all the way to the tip if your fingers are short. This is slenderizing. If you would like to have my hand exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 12 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Lutheran Leader's Talk, Methodist Drive Slated

TO GIRDLE GLOBE — After finishing their tour of the world which began for them today, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rolland of the Milford area will work on a 44-year-old dream. They'll settle down in Italy and write a book.

Would Write a Book in Sunny Italy

Folks to See World, Then Settle Down

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD—In spite of the international crisis, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Rolland plan to go ahead and "see the world" anyway.

They left the Milford area this morning bound for Moscow—Idaho, in the first leg of their journey. Siphra and Hugo will celebrate Thanksgiving with their son, Siegfreid, then head for the west coast, where they will board a Danish freighter to Manila and Hong Kong.

From the Orient they plan to visit Saigon, Asia, where their daughter, Sandra is working with U. S. Government officials.

Object of the world tour for the Rollands is to gather research material in order to write a book on political science. They plan eventually to settle down in the central part of Italy off the coast of Tuscani, near Florence. Here they will begin work on a "44-year-old dream."

For 20 years Hugo Rolland has worked as a skilled decorator and has done intricate work on most of the big theaters in Detroit. They purchased an old farm on Commerce road and brought the land back to grad-A government specifications.

Although Hugo was born in Italy and has been back several times, this time he plans to "dig up things that he published years ago," and enlarge on his ideas concerning economic and political data.

Retirement? — Of this Rolland said, "There is no such thing for me. We've always had a desire to see the world then settle down and write—so that's what we're doing."

Start Petitions Against Dump

Waterford Homeowners to Block Establishment Near Subdivision

The dump site, approved by the township board last February, is to be located west of Crescent Lake road about 400 feet from the grounds of the township's high school.

Township Supervisor Lloyd L. Anderson today disclosed he is working to secure another site, which he says would eliminate the need for the Crescent Lake road dump "for the time being."

Anderson also said he has proposed to Ward T. Brockman, president of the homeowners' group, that a high board fence be erected around the dump to conceal it.

"There has been no work done yet," Anderson said.

Brockman's formal protest, lodged with the board Monday night, has been "taken under advisement," Anderson said.

Brockman said today the board told him Monday he must find an alternate site within 12 days, or "the dump will be put into operation despite our objections."

MIG Jet Fighters Based at Airfield on Syrian Soil

PARIS (AP) — A foreign office spokesman, discussing reports of Soviet MIG17 jet fighters at a Syrian airfield, said today that all the French government knows for sure is there were "some dozens" of these planes.

He said it had not been learned whether these were planes sold to Egypt by the Soviet Union which were sent to Syria at the outbreak of hostilities, or whether they were new Soviet planes just flown in from Russia.

Businesses Reach Peak

NEW YORK — The number of operating business in the United States reached a record high of 4,250,000 at the start of 1956. In 1929 the ttal was 3,000,000.

Sheree Feels No One Can Replace Marilyn

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Sheree North—the girl who was picked to fill Marilyn Monroe's sweaters—is not the happiest girl in Hollywood.

"I thought at first to get that check every week would be great, but really, it's not that great," Sheree told me in a remarkable moment of candor when she visited New York recently.

"I usually get put in a picture when somebody else doesn't want to do it," the ash-blond Sheree added as she looked across a table at me at a television rehearsal.

"Oh, come on, you're doing very well!" I protested—for I could remember only three years ago when she came to Broadway a complete unknown in a show called "Hazel Flagg."

"I don't mean they haven't been wonderful . . . but I'd like to work more . . . I suppose everybody would," she shrugged.

"But I don't want to be a big dramatic actress.

"I mean those movies where they're always having babies in the rain—or stabbing their grandmother. Very Studio One. Well, I leave that to the better actresses.

"And I don't fit into 'South Pacific' or 'The King and I'—I guess I'm at the awkward age," Sheree said with a sad little smile.

"You know I was signed at the time they weren't sure Marilyn Monroe was coming back," she reminded me.

"My feelings were and still are that nobody's going to replace Marilyn Monroe especially not me. And now they've got another voluptuous blonde, Jayne Mansfield.

"I don't think you're as ambitious and as driving as Jayne Mansfield," I said.

"Maybe not. I'm not angry if I'm not recognized, and if I want to go out in levis, I go out in levis. You see another problem the studio has with me, is they can't put another unknown in a picture with me because I'm not a Big Name."

So she has done three films since she went to Hollywood three years ago, she's got married, and she's changed her hair to black—and back to blonde.

"Why did you change it to black?" I asked Sheree whose platinum blondness was her trade mark on B'way before Hollywood.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

On learning that some nude pix of her had been cut from "God Created Woman," French actress Brigitte Bardot groaned, "What a pity. And I was so beautiful!" . . . Harry Belafonte, who holds the Waldorf's 25-yr. record for crowds and receipts, has been signed to open the Empire Room every autumn through 1959. Lisa Kirk's singing and shower meanwhile make crowds happy every night (except Sunday) . . . At only 18, Pamela Moore, daughter of Photoplay Editor Isabel Moore, sees her best seller "Chocolates for Breakfast," planned as a TV spectacular.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Nowadays girls aren't nervous when they get married; they get over their nervousness the moment the guy proposes."—Henny Youngman.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Two Boston women, sightseeing in California, thought it was hotter there than in Boston; then one said: "You have to remember, too, that out here we are 3,000 miles from the ocean."

ATWOOD STADIUM, FLINT—Flint Northern's unbeaten Vikings rode to another victory Friday night before some 4,500 fans, and by defeating Pontiac's Chiefs virtually clinched the SVC title for 1956.

But for three periods of last night's 32-12 battle in freezing temperatures, Andy MacDonald's Norsemen knew they were in a redhot argument.

Fired-up, upset-conscious Chiefs threw the big scare into the Viking camp at the very outset. They got the ball on a fumble after a kickoff that went only to Northern's 43. In a half dozen plays, including one fumble recovery, Pontiac had a TD, Dick Whitmer going over from the two.

Stunned and dismayed, by the unexpected fury of the PHS drive, Vikings took the ensuing kickoff, marched 65 yards straight down the field to equalize the count, and then add the point that put them in front. Burly speedster Arden Relaford, the game's outstanding runner, skittered 19 yards to set up John Sharpe's TD smash of five yards. Ken Waters converted.

Norsemen's counter came midway in the period, and when it ended they were back in striking position again. But they lost possession on Chiefs' three. Pontiac, unable to get out, punted. Then came the most spectacular play of the tilt.

Breaking into the clear back of some terrific blocking, Relaford threaded his way downfield 73 yards to set up Northern's 2nd tally a minute later. The run followed Poe's punt a minute and a half after the start of the 2nd period. Relaford was stopped on the three by Joe Hill, but drove over on the next play.

Chiefs staged a 65-yard drive of their own for the next TD. The touchdown was made on the end of a 15 yard pass thrown by Jim Shorter to husky Charley Robinson all alone in the corner of the end zone.

That ended Pontiac threats. Chiefs never again were in scoring territory.

Northern went back in the 3rd frame to add its 3rd TD, on a 50-yard gallop by Phil Gaines, and then jam over two more in the finale. The 4th came early in the period with Sharpe going over from the seven. Final scoring was Relaford's 23-yard jaunt with three and a half minutes left.

For Pontiac it left it with only a single Valley win, the 21-6 victory over Saginaw.

But in defeat Chiefs showed probably the best football of the season. "I was proud of the way they played," said Coach Ed Graybiel. "Particularly in the first half." He gave credit to most all his club. Twenty-five players were used, and practically every senior got into the finale." Those Northern backs were terrific" he added. Northern has a great team. We were great out there too."

Relaford, John Sharpe, Gaines and Ken Waters provided virtually all the explosive power for the Vikings. Charley Robinson, Charley Spann, Lon Humphrey, Jimmy Shorter, Dick Whitmer did very good for the Chiefs' ball-moving department. Art Poe was a standout on defense as good as any on the field last night. Joe Hill also shone in that department, with his stop of Relaford an the three after his great run, a fine bit of action.

Scoring:

PONTIAC	8	6	0	0—12
NORTHERN	7	7	6	12—32

Touchdowns — Pontiac, Whitmer (2 yds.), Robinson (pass end zone); Vikings, Sharpe, 2 (5 yds., 7 yds.) Relaford 2, (3 yards, 23 yards), Gaines (49 yards). Conversions—Ken Waters, 2 (K).

St. Fred Meets Wolves Tonight

Football teams from St. Frederick and Clarkston, hampered by injuries, clash tonight at Wisner Stadium in the final game of the 1956 season for both schools.

It has been an unrewarding season for each squad and victory would do much to erase the sting of a painful year. Clarkston has a 2-5-1 record while the Rams have lost seven and tied one in eight starts.

Injuries have been especially heavy at the guard spots. Jerry Dirker and Joe Sharpe, St. Fred starting guards, have been hard hit and may not play tonight. The Wolves' Dennis Alexander, a 200-pound stalwart, is also a doubtful starter.

Centella Beats Chavez

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Using a firebrand left hook, Kid Centella, 135¼, Nicaragua, stopped veteran Carlos Chavez, 135½, Los Angeles, in a scheduled 10-rounder last night at the Olympic Auditorium. Referee Tommy Hart awarded Centella a technical knockout after the fifth round.

JUST FOR FUN — Avondale's left halfback, Fred Hyten (No. 28) was off on a terrific kickoff runback in the 3rd period of last night's game with Rochester when The Press' camera caught the action. Only trouble, it was just for fun, as a clipping penalty nullified the 80-yard sprint. Rochester won 33-12.

St. Michael Outclassed by Mountaineers, 39-6

The St. Michael Shamrocks gave everything they had Friday night at Wisner Stadium, but class told the story as Mt. Clemens St. Mary raced to a 39-6 triumph in the season finale for both schools.

It was the most one-sided defeat for the Mikes since 1952 when they were handed a 38-0 licking by the same opponent.

St. Mary's versatile offense was sparked by the Nebel twins and quarterback Leo Nickels. Bill Nebel scored two touchdowns and brother Jack tallied once while Nickels accounted for one TD in addition to hitting pay-dirt twice through the air.

St. Mike fought courageously and actually had a 6-6 tie in the 2nd quarter, but two touchdowns in the last 40 seconds of the 1st half gave the Mountaineers an 18-6 lead at intermission and paved the way for a 2nd half landslide.

Mt. Clemens opened the scoring with a 15-yard run by Bill Nebel in the 1st period. The Shramrocks marched 65 yards to tie the score with Chuck Brown crashing over the seven.

A 40-yard pass from Nickels to to end Barney Peltier started the Mikes on the road to ruin and another Nickels' aerial, this time a 20-yard heave to Bill Nebel, came just before the end of the 1st half.

St. Mary scored twice in the 3rd period on a two-yard sneak by Nickels and a 45-yard jaunt by Jack Nebel. Fullback Jim Shanahan plunged two yards in the 4th quarter for the Mountaineers' final touchdown.

The loss gave the Shamrocks a 4-5 record for the year. St. Mary finished the season with an impressive 7-1 mark.

S. Lyon Hunter Misses Chance at 'Derby' Prize

An opportunity to take over the lead in The Press' pheasant derby was missed yesterday by John Ellsworth, 425 Donovan, South Lyon. John downed a fine ringneck rooster on his father's farm, on Nine Mile road Thursday afternoon, hunting with his dad, Ernest.

The bird was about 3½ pounds in weight, and a fast measurement indicated it was 40 inches long, enough to be leader in that division. But before it was reported to The Press it had been skinned and was in the process of being mounted at a taxidermist shop. That nullified its eligibility.

"We didn't have too good luck this year," John reported. "My dad and I got only three between us and we didn't see very many birds."

Ellsworth says he's going to look for a big buck, to enter in the forthcoming 2-way Press deer contest (starts Nov. 15).

Rochester Routs Avondale, 33-12

By BILL CORNWELL

Rochester struck for two quick touchdowns and Avondale could never recover from the shock as the Falcons rolled to a 33-12 victory Friday night at Rochester in the season windup for both teams.

Halfback Dave Eldred accounted for three touchdowns and two extra points while quarterback Fred Weaver scored twice to spearhead the Rochester attack.

A pass covering 31 yards from halfback Dave Peters to Eldred, a 66-yard jaunt by Weaver, and Eldred's conversion from placement handed Rochester a 13-0 lead in the 1st quarter.

The early TDs were all that the Falcons needed as they coasted the rest of the way.

Avondale's Sven Blomberg dashed 18 yards for a touchdown in the 2nd period, climaxing an 89-yard drive, but Weaver's 28-yard gallop on a quarterback sneak gave Rochester a 19-6 halftime advantage.

The Falcons increased their margin in the 4th quarter when Eldred sprinted 12 yards for a touchdown and booted the extra point.

Avondale bounced back with a 23-yard touchdown aerial from Dick Gronski to end Jim Greenlees, but Rochester retaliated with a 34-yard TD run by Eldred and a placekicked conversion by Peters to complete the scoring.

The Jackets turned in the picture play of the evening and it didn't count. Fred Hyten, taking a handoff from Blomberg, returned a Rochester kickoff 80 yards for a touchdown in the 3rd period, only to have a clipping penalty nullify the effort.

Rochester wound up the season with six wins and two losses. The Jackets finished with a 5-4 record.

Waterford Scores, 20-19 Upset

Skippers Nip Wayne

By PAUL RIPLEY

Waterford, showing first-half power for the first time this year, grabbed a 20-13 lead at the halftime and then hung on grimly to upset favored Wayne 20-19 before an excited Homecoming crowd last night.

The first-half surge, plus Clayton Roth's all-important placements, his 21st and 22nd, gave the Skippers an 8-1 mark which goes down as the best in the school's history.

Fumbles hurt Wayne. The visitors last four bobbles and also had two passes intercepted at crucial times.

After a fumble recovery on the 35-yard line following the opening kickoff, the Skippers hit paydirt in six plays with Lyndie Salathiel going the last 18 yards. Roth converted.

Wayne, led by Phil Martinez, evened the score immediately on a 50-yard dash with Bill Hawley converting.

Late in the quarter, Wayne was on its own five-yard line as the result of a 50-yard punt by Salatheil. On the second play from scrimmage Larry Fidh raced 94 yards to score. Tom Davies blocked Hawley's try for point.

Davies latez fell on a Wayne fumble at midfield and Stan Jones went 33 yards but Roth's point was wide and it was 13-13.

Another Wayne bobble was covered by Dave Struble on the 29-yard line, and Salathiel climaxed the short drive by going 17 yards. Roth's kick was good.

Wayne wasted no time taking the second half kickoff and marching 80 yards with Martinez going over from the one. Hawley missed the all-important point, and the 20-19 margin stood up.

Two other Wayne drivers were thwarted by pass interceptions. Salathiel and Jim Larkin both suffered injuries in the finale which saw 17 Skippers in final appearances.

Utica Wins, 27-0

Bubble Bursts for Romeo

Romeo's bulging bubble, filled with eight straight victories, exploded with a bang last night as Utica handed the Bulldogs a shocking 27-0 defeat on the Romeo gridiron.

The arch-rival Chieftains took command right from the start with Ray Vandeweghe and Bob Kregar smashing the Bulldog line with a fine offensive display.

Vandeweghe passed to Tom Jankowski for 26 yards, and Kregar scored twice on 16 and 6 yarders. Dick Pfeil passed to Wayne Stewart covering 40 yards for the other TD. Vandeweghe ran the three extra points.

The absence of halfback Dave Proper also hurt the Bulldogs, however, Coach Ted Engdahl refused to alibi.

"We were outplayed right from the start," he said. "They outcharged us, and I think our boys just took too much for granted."

The loss might have knocked Romeo out of top ten in "B" rankings, which will have a final poll next week.

Northville Gains 20-7 Final Win

Two TD's by Biery Spark Triumph Over West Bloomfield

Wayne-Oakland champion Northville finished the league season unbeaten by downing a hard-fighting West Bloomfield contingent, 20-7, last night.

Touchdown runs of 82 and 40 yards by speed merchant Dick Biery and a one-yard plunge by Holdman took care of the victors' scoring. Veteran quarterback John Lucadam scored the only Laker six-pointer on a 20-yard dash and passed for the extra point.

Despite the loss of stellar end Roger Wolfe, who suffered a shoulder injury after catching a 40-yard pass in the opening minutes of play, the underdogs battled back from a 14-0 first quarter deficit to make things interesting.

West Bloomfield was inside the Northville 20 six other times, including twice in the late stages of play, but could not go all the way. Biery's second tally wrapped it up. The Lakers finished with a 2-5-1 overall record.

The victory made it 12 wins against four losses, with one tie, for the Dodgers on their exhibition tour of Japan.

Green Gets 20

Royals Win With Rookies

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sihugo Green of the youthful Rochester Royals is making a strong early bid for rookie of the year honors in the National Basketball Assn.,

Green popped in 20 points last night as he teamed with Maurice Stokes, last year's top rookie, and Dick Ricketts to knock over the Philadelphia Warriors, 95-93, in the only league game played.

Ricketts and Stokes controlled both backboards for the Royals and hit for 18 and 21 points respectively. It was their single free throws late in the game which provided the final margin of victory.

The Rochester team is the youngest in the league with Green, former Duquesne star, and four second year men—Stokes, Ricketts, Richie Regan and Jack Twyman, a 1,000-point man for the Royals in his freshman season last year.

Paul Arizin, high scorer of the Warriors, led a rally that brought the losers within two points with 20 seconds left. Arizin notched three baskets in a row after his team fell behind, 94-87, but Philadelphia lost the ball before getting off a last shot. Jumpin' Paul wound up with 25 points, followed by Neil Johnston, who made six of his first seven shots and finished with 20.

Olympic Five Wins Another

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Scoring ace Bill Russell, former San Francisco University basketball center, was held to five points last night but the U.S. Olympic team nevertheless beat Kirby Shoes 88-59.

The barnstorming Olympians grabbed an early lead and held it all the way. Led by Chuck Darling of Iowa, with 16 points, they won their 10th straight contest before 3,000 fans at the Long Beach City College Gymnasium.

Big 10-PCC Agree in Film Exchange

CHICAGO (INS) — The Western Conference announced today that all Big Ten and Pacific Coast Conference teams still in contention for the Jan. 1, 1957, Rose Bowl game, have agreed to an exchange of films from any two games.

The announcement, made jointly with the PCC, said that this is being done in place of personal scouting.

In making thespecial announcement, assistant Big Ten commissioner Bill Reed said that this same method was adopted last year and workedout well.

Score 41-0 Win

Vikings Crush Milford

By JERRY BARNFATHER

Walled Lake High proved itself worthy of any state-wide recognition which might come its way with a resounding 41-0 victory over Milford last night.

The Vikings registered in every period. On the second play from scrimmage, Larry Dion sprinted 53 yards for the first tally.

Walled Lake added two points when Milford's Bill Kelley was trapped in his own end zone in the first period following a brilliant defensive stand by the Redskins on their own one. Two other first quarter touchdowns were nullified by penalties.

A short punt and a failure to make a first down on a fake kick play set up second period scores for the victors with Frank Fink going over from the 9 and 11 to give Walled Lake a 21-0 halftime lead.

John Walker joined the scoring parade in the third canto on a 43-yard run and reserve Jim Pierce tallied twice in the last half, going 44 and 22 yards, respectively. Bob DeSormier kicked three extra points to complete the scoring.

Milford went all the way to the Viking three-yard line in the closing minutes of play in a desperate effort to break into the scoring column but faltered despite the running of Del Munson and Bob Kauppi.

Broncos Win, 20-14

Holly Downs Lake Orion

By CHUCK ABAIR

A steady ground-gaining attack paved the way for the Holly Broncos to come from behind twice and whip Lake Orion 20-14 in a Parents' Night thriller on the frigid Orion gridiron last night.

It was a mild upset for the victors in the final tussle for both schools and enabled Holly to close with a 4-4 record. The host Dragons finished 5-4.

Piling up 343 yards rushing and a total of 20 first downs, the Broncos dominated the play throughout but never held the lead until fullback Bob Letson scampered 37 yards for the clinching tally in the final quarter, breaking the second deadlock of the night.

Lake Orion battled in the waning minutes hoping to pull out a victory or at least gain a tie but the clock ran out after the Dragons had marched from their one to the Holly 47, sparked by Doug Storey's line smashing.

It was a bitter pill to swallow for the Orions who had led most of the first three periods. Erratic passing greatly hindered the Dragon attack.

Nick Neira passed for a second period score to break a 7-7 tie on the finest play of the night as Ralph MacLachlan took it over his head running into end zone. The other LOHS six-pointer came on the first play of the second period when center Ted Shaw dashed 56 yards after recovering a fumble. Chuck Mendoza kicked both extra points.

The frustrated Broncos saw three apparent scoring marches falter deep in enemy territory but Coach Reese Protz' gang finally went all the way late in the second quarter with Bob Taylor passing to Don Clark for the TD from 12 yards out.

Deer hunters from the Pontiac area planning early trips north today were advised that the highway north of Curran is open for travel. The section leading to many area deer camps has been torn up much of the summer while blacktopping was being done. It is not yet finished but is open for use.

Berrios Scores Unanimous Call

NEW YORK (AP)—When they get around to picking the fighter who has improved the most in 1956, little Miguel Berrios should get a solid vote.

Berrios, a 5-2 Puerto Rican, made it two in a row over Gabriel "Flash" Elorde of the Philippines by winning a unanimous decision in 10 rounds last night at Madison Square Garden. Berrios weighed 128, Elorde 129½ pounds.

At the start of the year, Berrios was just another willing workman with an ordinary record. After winning eight out of nine in '56, the fiery little gent with the beady eyes is rated No. 2 in the division by the National Boxing Assn.

Berrios's only defeat this year was a 10-round decision to Cherif Hamia, the classy Algerian, June 15. He wants nothing more than another whack at Hamia.

Cranes Drop 20-14 Tilt to Fitzgerald

Van Dyke Fitzgerald ended Cranbrook's grid season on a sour note by scoring twice in the 2nd period and once in the final to earn a 20-14 victory.

Western Open Awarded Plum Hollow in '57

Tournament Date Set for June 27-30 With $25,000 Purse

The 1957 Western Open golf championship will be sponsored by Plum Hollow Country Club, according to an announcement by G. K. Johnson, Plum Hollow's newly-elected president.

It will be the 1st major tournament sponsored by the Plum Hollow course since the National PGA event was held there in 1947 when Jim Ferrier defeated Chick Harbert to win the title.

The $25,000 tourney will be played over the Plum Hollow links on June 27, 28, 29 and 30.

Jim Funston, Plum Hollow member and prominent amateur golfer, has been named tourney chairman by Johnson, coordinator for the affair. Funston will appoint a five-man advisory committee in the near future.

The Western Open is rated one of the top four events on the annual tournament circuit, along with the National Open, PGA and Masters.

Card-Giant Battle Tops NFL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Chicago Cardinals and New York Giants, tied for first place in the National Football League's Eastern Conference, meet at Yankee Stadium tomorrow in the big NFL game of the day.

All 12 teams will be in action, with other important struggles scheduled between the Detroit Lions and Redskins at Washington, and the Green Bay Packers invading Chicago for another meeting with the Bears.

Detroit leads the Western Conference with six consecutive victories with the Bears breathing on the Lions' necks with a 5-1 record.

In other contests, the Baltimore Colts take on the Browns at Cleveland, the Pittsburgh Steelers play the Eagles at Philadelphia, and the San Francisco 49ers tackle the Rams in Los Angeles.

With good weather, the Giants look for a record crowd of some 60,000 at Yankee Stadium. New York shifted home base this year from the Polo Grounds, which could not accomodate such a turnout.

This will be the second meeting of the fall between the Eastern leaders, the Cardinals having outscored New York in the second game of the season at Chicago, 35-27. The Cardinals won four in a row, lost to Washington 17-14, but came back last Sunday to defeat Philadelphia 28-17.

The Giants have won four in a row, capped by a hard earned 17-14 win over Pittsburgh last week.

It doesn't seem that Washington can turn on a league-leader for the second time and upset the dope, but Detroit had a busy time last Sunday before downing San Francisco 17-13. The 49ers made a touchdown in the final two minutes, but it was nullified on an offside penalty.

This will be the second meeting between the Bears and Green Bay, Chicago having taken the earlier game 37-21.

Four other opponents will be paired for the second time, Philadelphia having defeated Pittsburgh 35-21 last month, while San Francisco edged Los Angeles 33-30 a month ago.

Baltimore, only team to defeat the Bears, 28-21 in the season opener, will try to keep in the running in the Western race, by winning at Cleveland.

Last week Baltimore and Washington were idle. Baltimore is in third place with a 2-3 record, while Cleveland has a 2-4 mark, tied with Philadelphia and Pittsburgh for last place.

Hungarian Olympians Receive Huge Welcome

MELBOURNE (AP) — Hungary's Olympic team received a tumultuous welcome today while at nearby Puckpunyal Mervyn Lincoln turned in a 4:04.8 mile in the feature of a Pre-Olympic track carnival.

These were the latest developments on the Olympic scene with the opening of the Games on Nov. 22 less than two weeks away.

The Hungarian athletes, many of whom fought against the Russians in the recent rebellion, were the center of attraction on their arrival at Essendon Airport.

More than 1,000 persons, including a small group of Russians, were on hand, but the Russians were completely snubbed.

Most in the crowd were Hungarians who came to Australia years ago. They wore the Hungarian colors of red, white and green with a mourning stripe of black.

To the chant of an American version of "We Want a Touchdown" they yelled the Hungarian war cry of "Hooy Hooy Hoorah."

Tears flowed down the cheeks of the athletes, some of them also wearing mourning stripes, as the crowd sang Hungary's national anthem.

Many small children were hoisted on their parents' shoulders to get a glimpse of the arriving Hungarians. Tykes in native dress stood before the visitors with two large Hungarian flags on each side as the crowd paid tribute to the athletes.

The Russian contingent, headed by Mikhail Pesliak, village commandant, and Peter Sobolev, Soviet Olympic attache, were present to join in the greeting, but they were completely ignored by the Hungarians, including Hungary's own chief of mission, Arpad Csanady.

The Hungary athletes declined to talk politics or to tell of their recent experiences apparently because they feared for the safety of relatives at home.

Dawson Is Still Ailing

EAST LANSING (AP)—Purdue was expected to be operating without the services of Lenny Dawson, its potent passing quarterback, at the Boilermakers went against Michigan State in a Big Ten football game today.

Coaches said Dawson is still bothered by the injury to the shoulder of his passing arm received in the 7-7 tie with Illinois last week. It was reported that Dawson might not even dress for the game.

Michigan State, fourth-rated team in the nation, had a 5-1 season's mark going into the game. Purdue has a 2-2-2 record.

The Spartans, operating on home grounds where they could take full advantage of their deep bench strength, were 20 point favorites.

Last week, in beating Wisconsin 33-0, Michigan State used 16 men in the backfield—four at each position.

Left half Dennis (The Menace) Mendyk is state's leading groundgainer. The MSU backfield also should be strengthened by the return to top form of Walt Kowalczyk, burly right half who has been slowed by an ankle injury in early season games.

Main topic for speculation was whether the Spartans would use the hurry-up huddle, the race horse type of play that provided the major excitement in last week's shutout of Wisconsin.

Protest Made by Hungarians Over Soviets

MELBOURNE (AP)—The Council of Hungarian operations in Australia sent a formal protest to the International Olympic Committee today asking that Russia be banned from the games as "murderers."

In a cable to Avery Brundage, president of the IOC, in Chicago the group called attention to the fact that Japan and Germany were barred from the 1948 games in London although the second world war had been over three years.

The protest said it is an impossible situation for Russia to compete when that government has been responsible for the "murder of thousands" in the recent Hungary rebellion.

Enthusiastic Boxers Temporarily Stopped

MELBOURNE (AP) — Australian boxers have been so enthusiastic in workouts lately that four of them have been sidelined temporarily.

Cranbrook Booters End Season by Winning, 2-1

Cranbrook completed its best soccer season in history by added Chatham Vocational School, of Ontario to its list of victims, 2-0.

Line Forms for Bowl Bids

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

College football went a-bowling today in a half dozen games that should set up an early line on the New Year's Day classics.

Expenses - paid winter tours to the Rose, Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls were among the loot as Georgia Tech and Tennessee tangled in a battle of unbeatens, Minnesota made its pitch against Iowa, Stanford played Oregon State, Colorado met Missouri, Maryland confronted Clemson and Texas A&M had it out with Southern Methodist.

Oklahoma, Michigan State and Ohio State, barred from bowl play, had "nothing" more of an incentive than national rankings and conference titles in their games. The top-ranked Sooners, of course, also had that elastic winning record ready to be stretched to 37 games in a meeting with Iowa State.

The other three members of the top 10 in this week's Associated Press poll have a mixed diet. Syracuse, No. 9, carried hopes of a bowl bid (perhaps the Gator) against Holy Cross. Michigan, played Illinois and hoped to stay in position for the Big Ten's Rose Bowl assignment should Iowa or Minnesota falter. Miami (Fla.), No. 8, was idle.

The Sugar Bowl — that New Orleans' extravaganza which finds itself virtually limited to Southern teams by Lousiana's segregation law—had a scout at Atlanta for the Tech-Tennessee tussle. Both winner and loser, however, probably can feel safe about looking forward to a bowl date, with the Cotton Bowl beckoning along with the Sugar.

Also at stake in the battle between Tech's second ranked Wrecks and the third-ranked Vols was the Southeastern Conference crown.

Minnesota, No. 6, and Iowa, No. 15, belted each other in the TV game of the day as each tried to nail an initial trip to the Rose Bowl.

Texas A&M could take a good grip on the Southwest Conference title by beating SMU, but the Aggies need a pardon from the NCAA next week to make it as the host team in the Cotton Bowl.

* * *

Elsewhere, Navy played at Duke in a battle of first-rate second-raters; Florida laid its slim Southeastern Conference hopes on the line against Georgia; Pittsburgh tried to push yet another burr under Notre Dame's collar.

Vic Seixas in Sydney for Davis Cup Round

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—America's big tennis hope for the Davis Cup Challenge Round, Vic Seixas, flew into Sydney by strato-clipper from the United States today.

He said he did not know "how the Davis Cup line-up is going to work out, as I have not seen Bill Talbert (U.S. team captain) in a month.

"I also don't know who I will play in the doubles against Australia, that is, if we beat India in the Interzone final at Perth," he said.

"We are the underdogs this time but we will have to do a lot of experimenting to get out the best team.

E. Detroit Rips Dales

Powerful East Detroit rolled over Ferndale, 26-0, with all-state ing up his 22nd and 23rd touchdowns of the season to lead the attack.

Bloomfield Hills Loses Final to Lakeview, 20-12

It was a sad season ending for Bloomfield Hills last night at Lakeview where the Barons dropped a 20-12 decision in the finale.

Bloomfield took a 6-0 lead in the 1st period, when Jim Kearney hit from the three, but Lakeview made it 7-6 at halftime.

The home team made it 13-6 in the 3rd period, but early in the 4th stanza Kearney went over from the four to make it 13-12 as the point was missed, to end the Baron scoring.

It gave Bloomfield a final 5-3 record for the season and was the last game for 12 seniors. Kearney, a junior, picked up 110 of the team's 195 yards rushing.

'M' - Illinois Renewal Has Renown Tradition

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Michigan-Illinois series—the 42nd renewal takes place today—is renowned for providing football history.

Undoubtedly the most discussed encounter between the traditional rivals occurred in 1924, the day Memorial Stadium at Champaign, Ill., was dedicated.

Illinois trounced Michigan 39-14, but the big story of the day was the happenings of the first quarter.

The fighting Illini had a speedy junior back named Red Grange and that day against Michigan he became a football immortal.

The galloping ghost scored four touchdowns in the first 10 minutes. He took the kickoff and cantered through the entire Wolverine team, 95 yards for a touchdown.

Before Michigan could catch its collective breath, Grange had compiled three more runs of 70, 57 and 43 yards, each for a touchdown, and then left the field.

But the galloping ghost wasn't through. Back on the field in the third quarter, he scored his fifth touchdown on a 15-yard ramble. In the fourth period he decided to let someone else score, so he passed for a touchdown.

In the 41 minutes Grange played, he gained 402 yards rushing and another 64 yards passing.

It was the greatest one-man show in the history of the sport and it remains so until this day.

Jamaica Race TV Attraction

Woodley Lane Farm's Reneged, who developed too late to make a challenge to D. & H. Stable's Needles for 3-year-old honors, bids for his sixth straight success against horses of his own age in the $59,300 Roamer Handicap at Jamaica today.

Reneged heads a field of 13 sophomores named for the mile and three-sixteenths test on 5. The final Saturday of the New York racing season, which ends Thursday.

Return of Wallace Helps Bears' Defense

CHICAGO (AP)—In top shape at 207 pounds after two seasons of football in the Army, former Illinois fullback Stan Wallace has rejoined the Chicago Bears and will add defensive strength for their game with the Green Bay Packers Sunday.

Wallace played both offense and defense for the Illini as a teammate of J. C. Caroline, who will again be a defensive colleague of Wallace's Sunday.

Wallace's debut with the Bears was delayed until Nov. 1 of 1954 after he fractured his wrist while training with the College All-Stars. Although in only five games, he was considered an outstanding National Football League rookie. In the Army, he played at Ft. Eustis, Va.

* * *

The Bears released J. D. Smith, a rookie fullback, to make room on the roster for Wallace.

Blocked Punt is Margin for Birmingham Win, 14-7

The Maples scored in the first period after recovering a Berkley fumble on their own 40. On the first play from scrimmage Mike Nordstrom went the remaining 60 yards for the first tally. Tom Da Fonseca added the point.

Berkley drove 80 yards in the 2nd period and Herb Duncan went over from the one. Duncan passed to end Larry Werscky for the tying point. It was 7-7 at the half.

In the final period, guard Jim Fry blocked a Berkley punt and recovered the ball in the end zone to give Birmingham the victory, as Da Fonseca converted.

Birmingham, with a 4-4 record, has Royal Oak to play in the traditional Thanksgiving Day game.

Ailing Titan Gridder Placed Under Oxygen

DETROIT (AP) — An attack of asthma will keep University of Detroit's co-captain, Bob Chendes, out of the Titan's football game with Drake today.

Imlay Wallops Oxford, 34-13

Two touchdowns by scoring ace Orrill Franz paced the South Central League champion Imlay City footballers to a 34-13 victory in the season final for both schools last night.

Larry Dorow, Bill Stawecki, and Stan Stover added TDs as the Spartans finished the season with an impressive 7-1 record.

Stover's 43-yard run was the top scoring jaunt of the tussle.

Bill Kennedy and Wendell Smith hit paydirt in the losing cause in a game which broke wide open following a scoreless first period.

Imlay never trailed after Franz opened the scoring on a three-yard plunge and Dorow passed for the extra point early in the second quarter.

Tigers Re-Hire Skaff to Manage Charleston

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers announced today that Frank Skaff has been re-hired as manager of the Charleston Senators of the American Assn. League, the Bengals' top farm team.

Frank "Stubby" Overmire, former Tiger pitcher, has been appointed skipper of the Tigers' Hazlehurst farm club in the class D Georgia State League, the Tigers said.

8,000 Get Preview of Wilt 'the Stilt'

LAWRENCE, Kas. (INS)—Some 8,000 Kansas University homecoming fans got a peek at their phenomenal basketball star, Wilt Chamberlain, last night and came away talking in terms of a national championship.

"The Stilt," as the seven-foot Chamberlain is called, tossed in 20 points and sparkled on defense the 15 minutes he was in the game as the Jayhawkers' varsity clobbered the freshmen, 87 to 40.

Wilt recently underwent surgery for removal of an obstruction in his throat but appeared to have recovered completely.

Detroit City League Title Won by Denby

DETROIT (AP) — Once-tied Denby High School captured the Detroit City League football title last night by taking a 13-0 victory from unbeaten Detroit Western.

Cashing in on opportunities presented by Western miscues, Denby won the right to meet St. Ambrose or DeLaSalle, the Catholic champions, in the Goodfellow game next Friday night.

Louisville Goes After NFL Franchise

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Louisville, Ky., apparently bent on obtaining a National Football League franchise, has found the Pittsburgh Steelers "happy to talk" and the Philadelphia Eagles willing to listen.

"I'm vitally interested, and I've already had my office in Pittsburgh wire these people that we'll be happy to talk with them," Art Rooney, Steelers president, said yesterday in response to the Kentucky State Fair and Exposition, which asked either one of the teams to transfer its franchise to Louisville.

* * *

The enthusiams wasn't matched by the Philadelphia club, which said it would listen to more details of the proposition.

"We're quite happy in Philadelphia," said Eagles Treasurer Joseph A. Donahue.

Rooney said his overhead at Forbes Field is the highest in the league.

"Our expenses these days are so great that even when we sell out the 34,000 seats at Forbes Field we have a hard time making ends meet," he declared. Rooney's contract with the Forbes Field management has run out, so he has no ties to prevent his making a favorable move.

Owner George Preston Marshall of the Washington Redskins said he had received an offer earlier from the Louisville group.

A telegram to both teams from Bill Henry, sports director of the state fair, said in part:

"Our stadium will be enlarged to seat around 47,000. Our parking facilities are the best in the world with a tremendous capacity of 27,000 automobiles. The citizens of Louisville are eager to have an NFL franchise. We have over 2½ million people in a 100-mile radius. We will appreciate your consideration and we are ready to meet with you at your convenience, either here or in Philadelphia (Pittsburgh)."

Commissioner Bert Bell said he didn't believe any of the teams in the league wanted to move. He said he had received an offer from Louisville for a new NFL franchise and reiterated that when the lowest teams in the two divisions each win four games "a few years in a row, we'll be interested in expanding."

Third Charge of Murder Facing Pontiac Man, 57

A 57-year-old Pontiac man who has spent 34 years in prison on two murder charges will be arraigned here today on still another, Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor said.

Taylor said Saint Helm will be charged with the knife-murder in 1924 of Cora Wickwire in her home at 56 Wesson St.

Ironically Taylor said one of the two murders of which Helm already has been convicted was the 1918 shooting of Willie Tanks in the same house.

Taylor said Helm served four years in Jackson state prison for shooting Tanks and was released in 1923. He allegedly knifed Cora Wickwire in 1924, escaped a police search and moved on to New York.

In New York, Taylor said, Helm was convicted of first-degree murder in 1926, and served 26 years of a life sentence before his term was commuted.

He was then returned to Jackson prison to serve out the maximum sentence for the 1918 murder.

Released last week, he was brought to Pontiac to face charges for the third murder.

Reveals Building Plan

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Construction next spirng of a $1,800,000 General Electric Appliance Co. building to serve west Michigan dealers was announced Thursday by District Manager George L. Essenburgh. Offices, service department, warehouse, showroom and auditorium are planned in the new building, which will be separate from the firm's present Grand Rapids facilities.

Safety Council Group Named

Steering Committee to Formulate Plans; Set December Talk

A 50-member steering committee representing every part of the county was named last night to begin forming plans for an Oakland County Safety Council at an opening meeting held at the Birmingham Community House.

The committee, made up of police, civic and business leaders, will hold its first meeting Dec. 4 at the Oakland County Annex building in Pontiac to discuss the rules to be followed and plans of operation.

Over 150 persons attended last night's gathering which was the first step towards creating a Council to work towards decreasing Oakland County's rapidly mounting death rate. It reached 140 last year, State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs told the group last night. He pointed out that the county had led Michigan in rural traffic deaths for five successive years.

Childs said a better informed public and complete support of enforcement officers, engineers and schools is needed to make such a Council a success.

Royal Oak Mayor Howard Kelly, chairman of the meeting, said each community represented is expected to have its own chairman when the Council is formed. Selected to represent Pontiac on the committee was Clyle R. Haskill, chairman of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce Safety Committee.

MONTICELLO, Ark. (INS)—An Arkansas A&M College instructor found one girl absent while checking the roll and asked the class if anyone knew anything about her. A boy replied: "She's a sweet girl."

Eatin' at Its Best With Bars Chef, Say Prisoners

DANBURY, Conn. (AP) — They serve good food at the federal correctional institution here.

That word comes, not from institution officials, but from the inmates, who said frankly that "many of us have done time in other institutions and know what good food means."

That statement was contained in a petition presented to Warden Harold E. Hegstrom by 314 of the some 500 inmates asking if Claude O. Lerche can be persuaded to postpone his scheduled retirement as steward.

Lerche, the petition said, "has served some of the finest meals some of us have ever had in an institution."

But Lerche, 51, who came here in 1943 after serving on the staff of Leavenworth, Kan., prison annex, said he is going ahead with his retirement. He will have completed 20 years in the federal prison service Feb. 9.

"He hasn't had a vacation in three years," Lerche's wife, Mildred, told a reporter. "Of course, he's really quite proud of the tribute."

Your Neighbor's House:

Colonial Features Blend Easily Into Modern Ranch Type

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

From the street the house looks low and rambling. From the rear it looks like a southern Colonial home with white pillars supporting the roof. Mr. and Mrs. John W. DeLind Jr. have combined the charm of the Colonial with the conveniences of a ranch type home.

The exterior is gray brick with white trim. Around the front door is board and batten painted white. The roof is dark gray. The attached two-car garage looks like a wing of the house.

From the black-topped drive pastel stepping stones lead up to the front door. There are seventeen acres in this piece of property owned by the DeLinds. On one side, down the hill, is a swampy area where the Clinton River starts its journey southward.

Behind the house is a small body of water called Park Lake. Since the street on which the house is built is a dead-end street, the DeLinds have a quiet and peaceful location.

The DeLinds are Clarkston residents of long standing. Their former home was on Main street, near the center of town. When their present property came on the market, Mr. DeLind designed a home to fit the sloping terrain. He did his own contracting.

There are Oriental throw rugs on the slate floor of the entryway. The walls have a quaint paper that pictures a Victorian farmhouse and barns. Woodwork throughout the house is white.

Working with a manufacturer of kitchens, the DeLinds got exactly what they wanted in the way of cupboards. Using maple —in some cases curly maple— they designed an entire wall of floor-to-ceiling cupboards.

In addition there are more cupboards over and below the working surfaces. Above the scalloped maple valance at the top of the cupboards, the remainder of the walls is paneled in maple.

The wrought iron breakfast set has a plastic top in a wood grain design. Chair seats and backs are gold and black on beige. Yellow dotted swiss curtains hang at the windows.

Flowered yellow wallpaper sets off the white dado and the two corner cupboards. The furniture is traditional mahogany, includes a dropleaf table and rush-seated chairs with ladder backs. The curtains are sheer white ruffled ones.

Family antiques are used throughout the house. In the dining room there are two walnut chairs upholstered in rust velvet. A little washstand painted black stands under the window between the chairs.

Around the corner in the living room are more antiques. At one side of the fireplace is a mahogany oval-backed chair covered with green velvet. Opposite it is a mahogany rocker with a flowered tapestry cover. In front of one chair there's a low round footstool with needlepoint top.

There are no glass curtains in the living room. A valance and pulled-back draperies of heavy gold material make the windows what they should be— a frame for the lovely view outside.

Deep armchairs slipcovered in flowered cotton lend an air of informality to the room. The fireplace wall which is wood— and the ceiling — are painted white. The other three walls are pale aqua. In contrast the black marble frame and hearth of the fireplace stand out.

Between the dining room and garage is the family or Florida room. Jalousie windows and bamboo furniture, as well as the bright curtains, give the room its name.

Here are collected many of the souvenirs Mr. DeLind bought during his trips to various Far Eastern countries. At one time he was in the export business and traveled extensively. There are dolls in native costume, carved figurines and a large African war drum used as a table.

The floor is slate, the walls paneled in birch. One wall has built-in bookcases and cupboards. This room doubles as the TV room also.

There are three bedrooms in the other wing of the house. One is a small room, just large enough for a single bed, dresser and desk. Its one window looks out on the lake.

The front bedroom is the guest room. There's a wide frame of polished oak floor showing around the blue Chinese rug. This rug has in it several of the rich shades of blue usually found in the Chinese, rather than the other Oriental rugs.

There are blue spreads on the twin cherry beds. The upholstered armchair is covered in rose velvet and checked gingham. The Colonial armchair has a pale blue chintz cover.

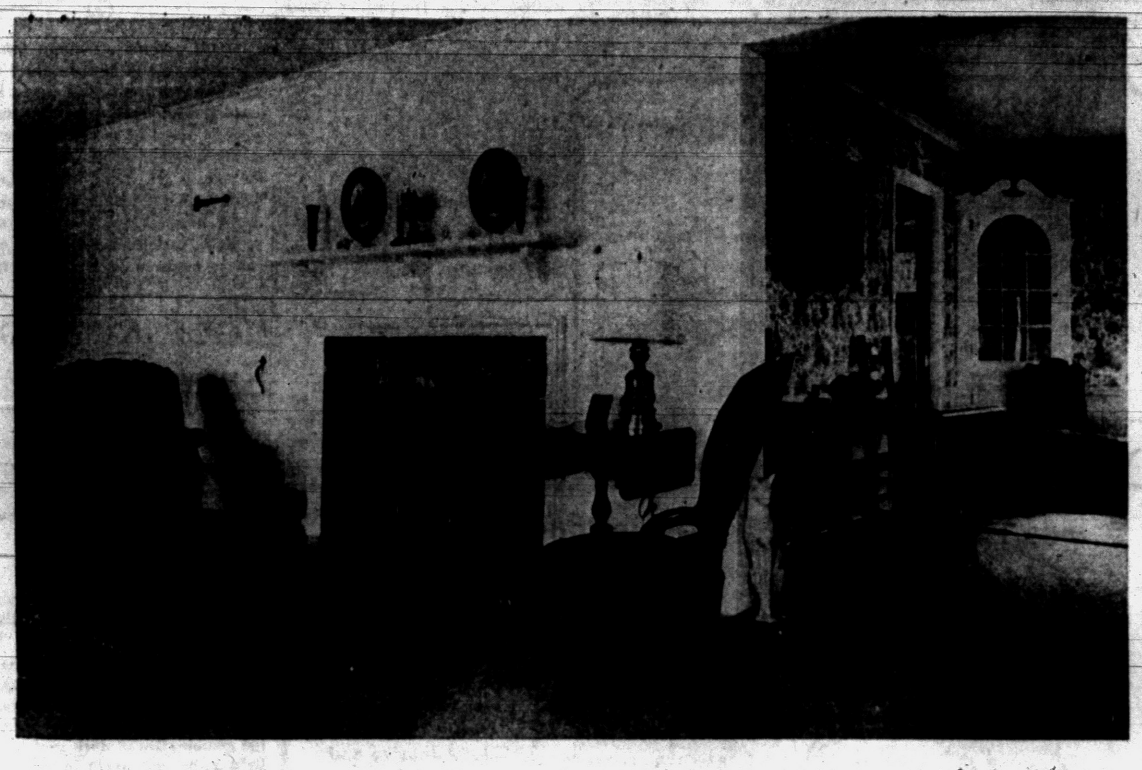

Off the master bedroom is a tiny lavatory with a stall shower. It's done in pink and gray with a pretty pink seashell paper above the pink tile. The main bathroom is also pink and gray.

In the bedroom the white wallpaper with a large pink flower design makes the large room seem even more spacious. White is used for ceiling, woodwork, doors and ruffled curtains.

There's a green rug on the floor. Pink roses are appliqued on the white chintz spreads. All the furniture is fruitwood. Inviting relaxation, a pink chaise longue occupies one corner.

As yet the basement is unfinished. Mr. DeLind intends to fix an office for himself down there. The rest of the space will be a rumpus room. He has already found a huge log that is to be hand hewn for the fireplace mantel.

The DeLind house is exactly one hundred feet long. Taking out the three months the DeLinds vacationed in Florida and all work ceased, it took about nine months to complete the house. The couple moved in in July and look forward to happy years in their retirement house.

Pontiac Press Photos by Jim Maher

LOW AND RAMBLING IN FRONT — From the street the John DeLind home on Washington street in Clarkston looks like a rambling ranch type house. This one-hundred-foot-long house is gray brick with white trim. It sets up on a hill, surrounded by seventeen acres of land, including some swamp and lake property.

Protective Paint Applied to Red Man by Artist

For almost a century the Indian has devoted himself to keeping alive myths that have sprung up about him, says an article in a national magazine, and all in order that the white man will not be disappointed.

A man who is well qualified to refute one and all the misconceptions people have concerning the Indian is David Miller. Having lived with and painted Indians for over 20 years, this Western painter is considered one of the best informed authorities in the U.S. Therefore it is from first hand knowledge that he exposes these myths for what they are.

Ideas such as Indians are tight lipped, unfriendly, and that Indian women are virtual slaves are entirely untrue, says Miller. "As for the myth of the Indians' stinginess as exemplified by that familiar phrase, 'Indian giver'," explains Miller, "nothing could be farther from the truth. In reality the Indian is one of the most generous people alive. He lists generosity as the first of the four cardinal virtues."

By outlining what the other three virtues, physical courage, bravery in battle, and moral integrity, mean to the Indian, it can clearly be seen how wrong the white man has been in his thinking all these years.

SLOW REFLEXES

Miller states that most people maintain that the Indian is able to endure suffering with little outward sign because his reflexes are slower. Here Miller tells the real reason of how Indian children are trained from babyhood to hide his emotions, and cites their discipline as a further example.

Do Building Blocks the Economical Way

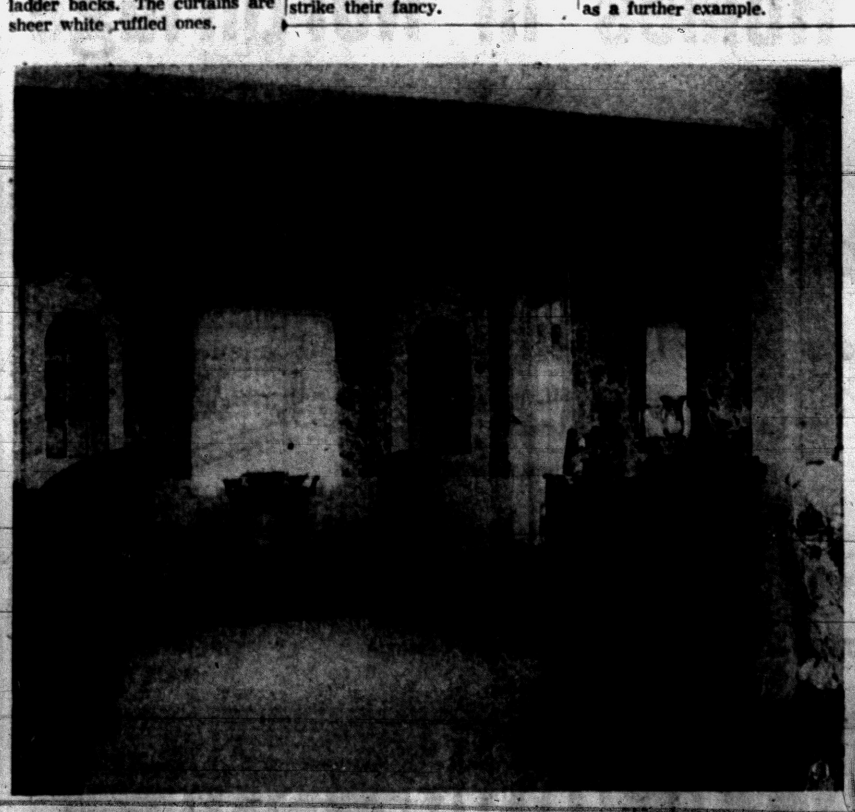

Scrap pieces of masonite ⅛ inch presdwood, if cut into uniform widths and notched, make fine building blocks for the pre-school and primary grade child. A good width is 3 inches, and lengths may vary from 4 inches to 21 inches, or so.

Notches placed uniformly 1½ inches from each end cut preferably with a power saw to a width of ⅛ inch and a depth of ¾ inch at each side are the means of fitting two strips together. This is the familiar egg-crate construction.

Youngsters will find all kinds of make-believe structures to build with these unusual and low-cost blocks, which can be primed and painted colorfully to give them a festive appearance. They'll make a fence, fort, garage, house, barn, ship, bridge and other items that strike their fancy.

TWO STORY REAR VIEW — From the back of the property the DeLind house looks like this. Suggestive of southern Colonial, it has tall white pillars supporting the roof. The basement area will have an office for Mr. DeLind and a rumpus room. The room at the right in the upper story is the Florida room. From the house the land slopes gently down to Park Lake. Mr. DeLind is standing near the house, but we couldn't persuade his wife to pose.

COLONIAL CHARM — Wallpaper in a formal flowered design, white dados and corner cupboards combine to give the dining room the feeling of eighteenth century homes. Mrs. DeLind has added some Victorian family chairs with velvet coverings. The other dining room furniture is traditional.

FRAMING THE VIEW — Any of the large windows in the living room frame this peaceful view of the small lake down the hill. Heavy gold draperies are drawn back to provide maximum light and sight. Chairs covered in flowered cotton, chairs upholstered in plain colors go well with the aqua carpeting and the aqua walls.

Admit ROK Planes Flew Over North Korea in Fog

PANMUNJOM, Korea (AP) — The U. N. command said today two South Korean planes attacked by Communist MIG fighters had accidentally crossed into North Korea because of cloudy weather. The command demanded the return of one shot dow.

At a meeting of the Joint Allied - Communist Korean Truce Commission, the U. N. command charged the Communists with an unwarranted attack in the clash Wednesday between two North Korean MIGs and two South Korean propeller-driven F51 Mustangs.

Over 200 years ago, a London club called the "Sublime Society of Steaks" was formed solely for the purpose of consuming grilled beefsteaks.

Three Rookie Police to Join Local Force

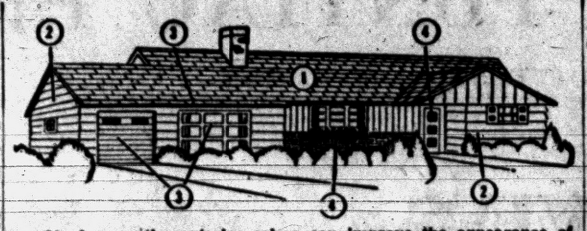

Three new patrolmen will join the Pontiac Police Department after graduation from eight-weeks training at the Detroit Police Academy next week, Police Chief Herbert W. Straley announced.

They are: William Gracey, 28, of 275 Bondale Ave.; Raymond Dickinson, 21, of 82 Ivy St. and George L. Scheuern, 32, of 1240 Maurer Rd.

Pontiac residents have been invited to attend graduation ceremonies at 8 p.m. Wednesday at Mumford High School in Detroit, according to school superintendent, Insp. Merril Pace.

Brush Needed, Also

Remember, when you use a roller for that paint job you will also need a brush to fill in the corners and the areas close to woodwork.

Used correctly, exterior colors can improve the appearance of any house, old or new. In order to achieve the most effective results with exterior colors and avoid a "patchwork" effect that can ruin architectural lines, color stylists recommend concentrating on four general areas of color. They suggest starting with the roof (1) to obtain a "key" color. Another, harmonizing color is recommended for siding (2). Trim, wood windows and garage doors (3) should blend with the siding or be painted white. An accent color (4) on doors, flower boxes and shutters adds bright points of interest. One of the newest home decorating trends is to make use of the exterior color scheme in decorating the interior of the house.

Roof Key to Right Color, Says House Expert West

"Before you commit yourself to pale pink walls and a gray roof, consider three things," says Miss West. These are:

1. Size and architecture. "A dark roof makes a house look lower," the color stylist says. "On a ranch house, for instance, the combination of dark roof and light walls may seem to cut the house in half horizontally.

"If your house is an old one, large and nondescript, you probably will want a color scheme that breaks up the bulkiness.

BE DIFFERENT

2. Roof and exterior wall materials. Painting, says Miss West is only one part of an exterior color scheme. Roofs may be covered with asphalt shingles, which have their own integral color. Stone walls usually have a neutral, natural color. Wood walls, and ponderosa pine windows and panel doors can be stained or painted, and various types of siding have colors built in.

3. Location. The site of a house is important in color planning, says Miss West, because the colors generally should fit the climate and surrounding landscape.

"Vivid colors seem at home in sunny climates, but are likely to appear gaudy when the leaves fall in a northern region," she says.

Where does a color scheme begin?

"Plan from the roof down," advises Miss West. "The roof represents the largest unbroken expanse to the eye and is the most likely part of a house to stay unchanged for the longest time. Colors now available in roofing range from pastels to dark tones."

Starting with the roof gives you a "key color" for siding, painting trim and wood windows, and even for interior color schemes. Miss West says that the siding should harmonize with the roof but can be another color altogether. Trim and windows should match the siding, or be painted white. A third, accenting color, can be used on doors and flower boxes to add bright spots of interest.

Home Buyers: Building Down, Prices Up in 1957

WASHINGTON — The nation's home builders expect higher price tags on houses constructed in 1957.

This is a firm conclusion. Otherwise, the home builders are uncertain how many new houses they will build next year.

Housing starts are expected to be down from this year's anticipated output of 1,100,000 new homes.

However, one thing is certain—home builders are confident they will sell every house they build in 1957. They expect the heavy demand for new homes will be reflected in sales as good or better than this year.

The 600 builders are members of the NAHB Builders' Economic Council, and they represent 6,000 years of home building experience.

The survey disclosed that the median price on the 1957 house is expected to be about $15,200 as compared to $14,700 this year. This is an increase of about 3.4 per cent.

Color 'Good Business'

The world of business is becoming increasingly color conscious. Office furniture and machines are more often being chosen with color harmony in mind, using the effects of color to achieve happier working conditions and thus more efficient service.

Canned fish output of South Africa and South West Africa continued at a high level last year, with 2,218,108 cases of one-pound "talls" packed, Pretoria reports.

Know What Kind of House You Want, Expert Advises Future Home Buyers

"How do I want to live?" is the first question home seekers should ask themselves. Chloethiel W. Smith, noted architect, advised those attending the "School for Home Buyers" recently conducted at the National Housing Center.

"Make a check list for yourself, based on your own needs and desires," urged Mrs. Smith, who has won many awards on house design, "Be very clear in your own mind just how you want to live. Go to your local library and look up issues of shelter and home magazines for the past 10 or 15 years —this will give you perspective and uncover a lot of good things you may have forgotten about. Such a list will make you see yourself and your family clearly—not as a 'typical' family, but as your own special family."

Mrs. Smith was one of the panelists who addressed the "School for Home Buyers" on various topics, including financing a home, how to tell good construction, what constitutes a well-designed house, and what home owners can expect after they move into their new home.

The "School" was developed by the National Housing Center to be conducted by local affiliated associations of the National Association of Home Builders. At the recent "School," conducted in cooperation with the Home Builders Association of Metropolitan Washington, the crowds that turned out were so large that the Center was unable to take care of all the prospective "students" and scheduled a sedond "School." Twenty four hours after the first session of the first School began, enrollment for the second School was completely filled.

"Your list should be broken into three sections," said Mrs. Smith. "They should be headed 'Essential,' 'Desirable,' and 'Really Want.' This will help you weigh and evaluate your needs. 'Really Want' should contain those items you consider absolutely essential. Such a list will help not only the home seeker to locate the home she wants, but also the architect who has to know what his clients basic desires are.

"Sometimes it is helpful to forget cost for a moment. Try to think of one really non-essential and even costly item you covet—something you want above all else. This approach often helps a client who wants to build a custom house, but it is extremely helpful to anyone wanting a new or old house. It may be that this one item will give your house the individuality that every home seeker seems to want."

Mrs. Smith also suggested that home seekers look ahead a few years in making up their lists. She pointed out that too often home buyers make judgments based on their present needs alone. However, the pre-school child taken care of today becomes the teenager of tomorrow who needs privacy both inside and outside the home, who will keep pets, and will want room for friends, bicycles, and active recreation.

On the subject of storage space, Mrs. Smith declared, "Just plain space is the most important of all. Specialized, over-designed space is fine for those who have the time or aptitude for hourly organization. But many of us don't—and it's a nice way to live to be able to shove a tricycle, fire-engine, pile of paper dolls, and dog-eared books into a big unorganized space just before company arrives."

Builders, mortgage men, architects, and government people who comprised the panels of the "School for Home Buyers" expressed amazement at the intelligence, seriousness, and eagerness of those attending the four sessions ably due, suggests Bernard E. Loshbough, General Manager of the Housing Center, to the fact that practically all of the students were married people. About two-thirds of those attending fhr four sessions were couple, and when queried on their future plans for home buying, about 75 per cent said they were interested in buying a home.

The eagerness of the students was shown by the avid note-taking during each session, the forest of hands which arose as soon as the question-and-answer period was announced, and the throngs of students who clustered around panelists at the close of each session, still seeking information on how to buy a home.

Hardboard Panel Satisfies Junior's Urge to Scribble

Every child needs some sort of writing board in his room to work out homework problems or vent his artistic bent. A door paneled in glossy white Marlite pre-decorated hardboard makes an ideal writing board for a child's room without the messy chalk dust typical of the ordinary blackboard. Equipped with a grease pencil or wax crayons, Junior can scrawl to his hearts' content on a Marlite-paneled door without fear of Mom's wrath, because any dirt of marks are easily removed using only a damp cloth.

Paneling a door with a plastic-coated hardboard is a particularly good idea if the door is stained and scarred. Covering the scratches and mars with a pre-decorated hardboard panel is easy, quick and inexpensive and much less troublesome than repairing the door with wood-filler and varnish or paint.

The plastic coated paneling can be fastened with special wallboard adhesive either to a flush door or an old-fashioned door with panels. Depressions in a panel-type door should first be filled with insulation board to muffle sound. The door may be given a finished appearance by applying matching edge molding. A fine-tooth saw may be used to cut the material.

Available at lumber yards in several attractive woodgrain patterns, marble patterns and solid pastel colors in addition to white, the paneling may also be used to cover the walls in a child's room. Such paneling resists abrasion and is easily cleaned.

Before Siding Installed, Caulk Basement Walls

Before beginning any installation of wood walls in a basement, the masonry or concrete walls should be coated with a good, commercial waterproofing material—available everywhere—to form a moisture barrier. All cracks should be filled with crack caulking compound to prevent any possible leakage of water from the outside.

The furring (nailing) strips should be treated on all four sides with a toxic wood water repellant, as should the back side only of all paneling. Though it is common practice to backprime such paneling with paint, new types of repellant on the market are easier and less expensive and provide adequate protection against unforeseeable moisture problems such as molds, stains, rot—and even termites.

Alcohol Cleans Stove

Moisten a soft cloth with rubbing alcohol and rub the surface of the oven door and cooking top of your stove until the finish is bright and shiny and the alcohol has evaporated. One word of caution: Be very sure the heating units are off and cool.

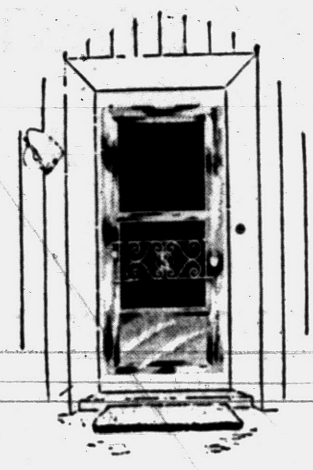

Sealer Must Penetrate

A good penetrating sealer product will penetrate the top surface of the maple floor. The finish becomes an integral part of the wood, and will only wear away as the wood itself wears away.

Sponge Is Cleaning Aid

Sponges are among the finest washing aids you'll find. The minute pores hold lots of soap and by "squishing" the sponge you can multiply thin suds into a wonderfully dense cleansing lather. This technique works fine whenever you need to wash some surface with thick suds and little moisture.

Insulating Glass Walls Carport

Carports, breezeways or garages can be turned into window-walled, year round sitting or bedrooms quickly and easily by enclosing them with double-paned insulating glass, according to H. Creston Doner, director of design and color for a national glass company.

"I've seen many examples of such space converted into living area," said Doner. "And as close to the building industry as I am, I am often surprised at how much such a room adds to a house for the amount of money it costs to enclose it."

The secret of the economy is in using existing roofed areas, instead of adding to the roof line, Doner explained. These spaces already have concrete slabs and structural supports so all that is needed are the walls.

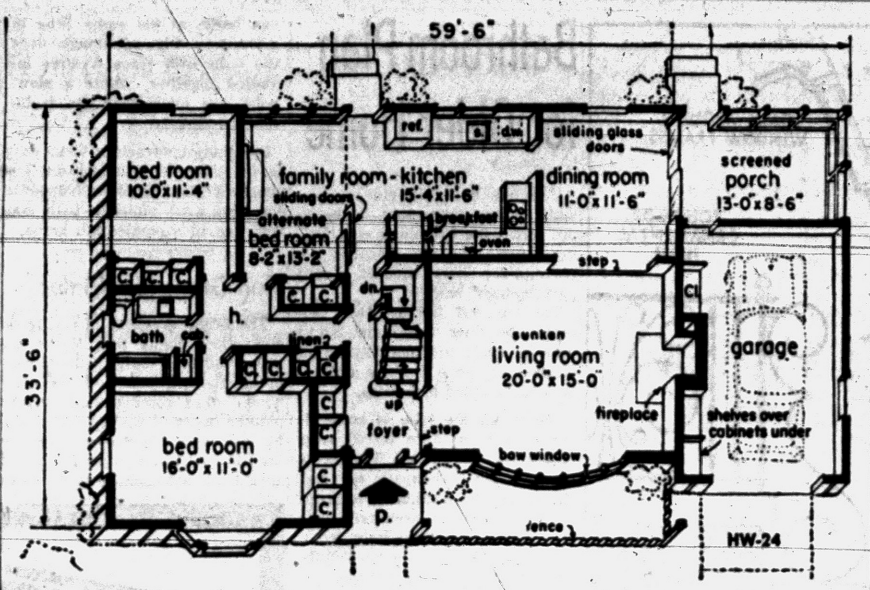

Doner explained that rabbeted two-by-sixes in a grid are often used to form the sash for the Thermopane insulating glass, and that by using such a system a whole wall can be enclosed at a time.

KEEP SIZES STANDARD

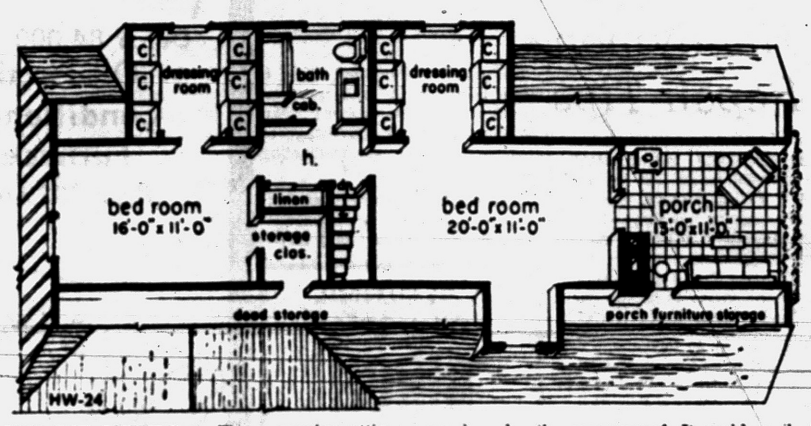

By designing the new window walls so standard sizes of insulating glass can be used, the homeowner is able to make an additional saving, according to Doner. And the use of a glass wall eliminates the need for sheathing, siding and dry wall board or lath and plaster.

In finishing off a garage into an additional room, Doner said insulating glass is the ideal replacement for the garage doors.

"Thermopane insulates as well as an eight inch stone wall," the designer said, "and it adds a modern touch to older homes."

BASIC PLAN — This basic plan serves all family's needs for two or three bedrooms. The sunken living room gives more ceiling height. Whether you use just this one floor at first or complete the upstairs, you have a house that is ample in size, yet inexpensive.

FOR THE FUTURE — The expansion attic provides space for two additional bedrooms, each with a dressing room. An unusual feature is the porch under the garage roof. It could easily be screened and it is already roofed.

Apply Hardwood Sealer According to Directions

The instructions will tell how to prepare the floor for finishing, how the finish should be applied and how many coats are required. Also, how long each coat should be allowed to dry, how the finished floor should be cleaned and how and when the floor should be refinished.

Wall Paint for Radiator

Radiators should be painted with a flat wall paint of the same tint as the walls, or with an enamel. The practice of using metallic paint on radiators has lost favor because it has been established that this retards radiation of heat. Such metallic coatings are used instead on pipes and storage tanks where it is important to keep heat in.

Dust Easily Checked With Today's Vacuums

Neglected homes have a way of telling on the occupants. If dust is visible on tables and hard-surface furniture, if fuzz balls show up on floors, if hangings and upholstery look dingy, then you will be safe in believing that such a home is not getting the care it should. With the vacuum cleaners of today it is an easy matter to whisk dust and dirt away almost effortlessly.

An elderly man who was at home most of the time was compelled to call a doctor because of a severe attack of asthma. As soon as the doctor entered the home he suggested that the house receive a thorough vacuum-cleaning. He said he could smell the dust, which is one contributing factor toward respiratory troubles.

'Adjust' Ceiling Height

If your ceilings are too high, paint them with warm colors—coral, terracotta, yellow. If they are too low, use cool colors—turquoise, gray, blue, green. Warm colors seem to advance, while cool ones seem to recede. Select complementary wall colors from your paint dealer's color card.

Cold Weather Handymen Receive Home Repair Tips

Now is the time for all good home handymen to complete the little jobs they've been putting off the past few months.

Many of the chores are warm-climate do-it items as well as things the northern homeowner should do to put his house and belongings in order for the winter.

Take, for instance, the matter of calking around window frames.

It isn't the cold air alone you'd like to keep out of the house — moisture is the real villian that creeps through such crevices. Now's the time to calk above windows and along sides of window frames where they butt with the siding. Apply calking compound with steady, even pressure of calking gun and remove any gobby excess with a putty knife.

COOL DAY CALKING

If cracks or other openings are wide and deep, you may need to plug them with some type of packing material — perhaps oakum. And calking material can be smoothed into small cracks in siding with a putty knife.

If you plan to do your calking on a chilly day, warm cartridge of calkicg compound on a radiator, register or in a pail of hot water for a few minutes — and then work fast. In fact, if you must do the job in cold weather it's a good idea to have two guns, and have one warming while the other is being used, as calking compound stiffens rapidly in cold weather.

If you have iron stair, porch or patio railings, or if you're leaving iron furniture out all winter long, now's the time to check for rust spots. Sand, burnish with steel wool and then touch up with a paint suitable for use on iron work. Your best bet, if you have time, is to repaint completely the iron work in question.

Have you drained water pipes which lead to the outside of the house? Chances are no damage has been done — yet — if you forget, but don't put off the job any longer.

Turn off shut-off valve which you'll find somewhere along the pipe leading to each outdoor faucet. Hang a bucket or large can from water pipe directly under this valve and open small knurled drain plug.

DRAIN WATER

Then, open outside faucet part way. After all water has drained from pipe between faucet and shut-off valve, close drain plug, but leave outside faucet open a crack just in case your shut-off valve leaks. If water should continue to flow, an open connection will prevent pipe from freezing and splitting near faucet.

Service all motor-driven appliances according to manufacturers' instructions and BE SURE TO DRAIN FUEL TANKS, especially if you're storing mowers and tillers in the basement. DON'T bring supplies of gasoline into the house for storage. If you have no outside place away from the house in which to keep it, get rid of it.

It's cheaper to buy a few dollars' worth of gas next spring than to pay for a new home to replace one destroyed by fire.

Empty bird baths and bring ornamental globes inside unless you're fond of replacing these not inexpensive items each spring.

These are but a few "to-dos" which should be accomplished before the advent of winter. They'll probably suggest other things you want to do in the near future.

Cut this jolly fellow out of hardboard and paint him in natural colors to stand by your Christmas tree in the house or near your front door. Pattern 359 gives an actual-size cutting and painting guide and complete directions. It will be mailed for 25 cents. This pattern is in a packet of Christmas Cut-Outs for Lawn and House. Price. $1. The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Bedford Hills, New York.

Bathroom Plan for Older Home

Families living in older homes with roomy connecting bedrooms are lucky, the Plumbing and Heating Bureau explains, because this permits the installation of a compartmentized bath.

Here, for the sake of convenience, it is wise to install twin countertop lavatories. The extra storage space beneath the fixtures will be needed in a large bathroom, which eventually will be shared simultaneously by a number of members of the family without sacrifice of privacy.

The bathtub-shower combination and water closet should be installed in a closed-off compartment by themselves. A section of one of the bedrooms — the larger one, undoubtedly—would be allotted to this part of the bath, which requires surprisingly little space.

The outstanding benefit of this compartmentized arrangement derives from the fact that three can bathe at the same time in privacy—a big advantage over the bath with three fixtures installed together, where a slow-poke can monopolize the facilities indefinitely.

Plumbing contractors these days have any number of interesting and practical plans to show homeowners who want multiple bath convenience in a single-bath home.

Plan Grens for Winter

The bright greenery of ivy, ferns and other plants that thrive indoors will help many homemakers break the monotony of the long winter days coming soon. Indoor planter boxes of waterproof, colorful and easily cleaned ceramic tile are ideal for maintianing that fresh spring-like atmosphere in the hom

When purchasing a penetrating sealer floor finish, make sure it becomes necessary to touch up worn spots it can be accomplished is of such quality so that if it without complete refinishing.

Sound-Control Methods Reduce Noise in Home

Today's homes are the most comfortable and convenient in the history of mankind—but they're also the noisiest, says Practical Builder, light-construction industry magazine.

The very gadgets that make life easier in the modern home—automatic washers, dryers, mixers, dishwashers, refrigerators, power tools, air conditioning, television, heating equipment, and other mechanical devices—are noise-makers by nature.

Homes today are surrounded by increased noise from outside—the racket from airplanes, and heavy truck and automobile traffic. Houses are closer together, and the sounds of outdoor living add to the uproar. Houses are smaller, and noise is intensified in limited space.

But scientifically developed sound-control methods are now helping home modernizers overcome the problem. Many of the solutions can be put into effect by the home-owner himself.

REDUCE NOISE

Without extensive remodeling, noise can be reduced by using sound-absorbing materials. Ceilings can be covered with acoustical tile. Wall-to-wall carpeting, heavy draperies, and rubber or cork floor tile will help deaden noise.

Sound - absorbing materials, however, prevent relatively little noise from passing into other rooms. The most effective sound barrier is solid masonry, the thicker the better. Since this is impractical for interior partitions conventional lath and plaster walls can be improved acoustically with a new layer of lath and plaster on one or both sides of the partition.

An even more effective method of reducing the passage of sound from one room to another is to build a row of closets along the wall. This has the same effect as an intervening room.

In more extensive remodeling, a contractor can build a special double wall that will have the same noise resistance as a solid brick wall nine inches thick. This also can be used as a sound-deadening exterior wall.

In two - story houses, noises from above can be dulled with well-padded carpeting laid on cork or rubber tile on the second floor. A suspended ceiling will make the treated floor even more noise resistant.

Outside noises, says Practical Builder, can be baffled by building an attached garage on the noisy side of the house. Strategically-placed trees and shrubbery will absorb considerable sound.

Crib Construction Plan Available Free

The Dad or older brother who can use a saw and hammer will find it easy and pleasurable to make a doll bed and toy chest combination for the young lady of the household. A free plan is available for constructing a good-sized crib with a storage drawer underneath.

Splinter-free masonite panels are used for the sides and ends of this well-designed doll bed. This is an important feature. The tempered board is smooth and so durable that even a "chewing" youngster can't make an impression on it.

Masonite panels take a beautiful finish of paint or enamel. A time-saver is a factory-primed panel, which costs only nominally more at lumber yards than the unfinished board.

Plenty to Consider in Buying a Washer

It's easier to buy when you know what to look for—and that goes for automatic washers and dryers.

One guidepost in selecting a washer to suit your needs is the hot water supply in your house. Is it ample to meet the requirements of one complete cycle of the washer? Consider the washing actions of the machine. Do you prefer agitator, pulsator, cylinder, or tumbler, agitated tub or energized water?

Be sure the machine will fit the space available. Washers range from 25 to 30 inches wide. Check to see if there is a built-in ground wire and find out where it is. Also, ask about the fuse or circuit breaker which will protect the motor in case of an overload.

Another important factor to consider is the "fill." How your machine fills is controlled by a timer or some other device. If the water pressure is below 15 to 20 pounds, this question will be especially important. With a timer-controlled fill when water pressure is low, the tub will not completely fill without resetting.

Think, too, about the convenience of the washer. Will it be easy to load and unload? Can you add clothing after the machine has started? Are the dials easy to read?

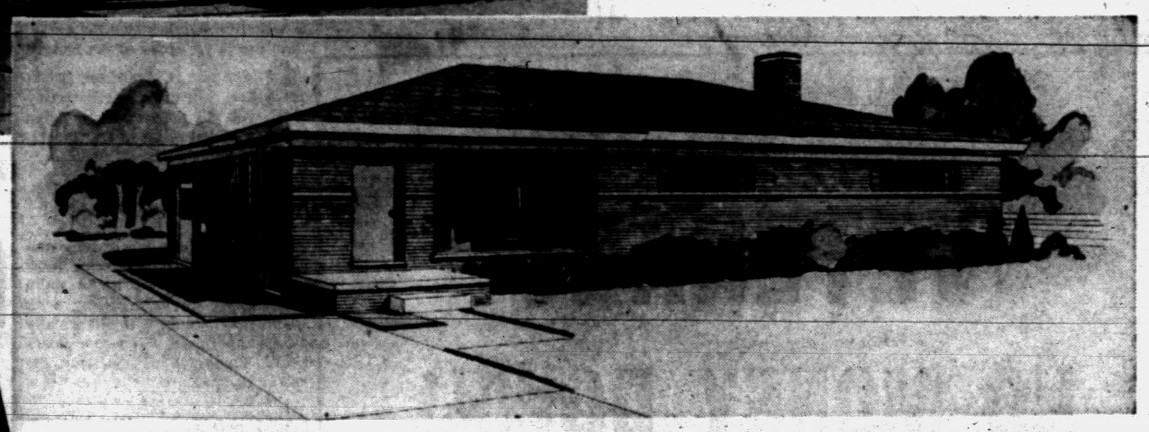

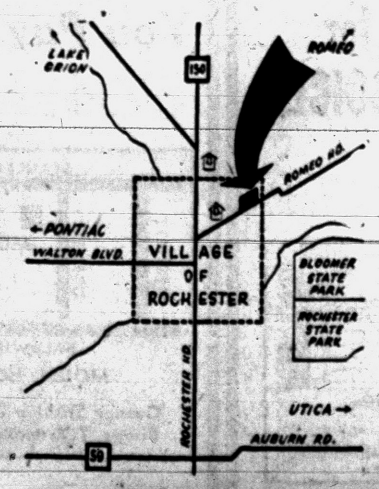

New Color Effects

The brilliant and colorful effects achieved on Christmas tree ornaments and on the colorful foil packages used in food and cosmetic industries result from the skillful combination of colored coating materials and mirror-like reflecting surfaces. Some of these bright and sparkling effects are obtained by adding polished aluminum flakes to a somewhat transparent enamel.

Don't paint a wooden ladder; use linseed oil or some other clear finish that will enable you to spot splits or other breaks in the wood.

Set Plans Early for Retirement

Construct Your Home With Rules in Mind for Old-Age Comfort

Mortgage experts all say the best time to buy a house for retirement years is when you're young.

Unless a couple can expect definite, planned income for their life after age 65, they probably will find it difficult to borrow money to buy or build a home at that time. Purchase of the home in the couple's thirties or, at the latest, the forties when earning power is highest, is recommended.

Obviously, this long-time home should include only lasting materials and be so planned that it will serve a growing family now, as well as the needs of oldsters when they eventually are alone.

One factor to consider is the avoidance of plans which divide space into many small rooms. Designs are best which incorporate double-purpose rooms that always will be useful.

TILE EASY TO CLEAN

Ease of cleaning for the elderly homemaker, as well as the busy young one, should be kept in mind when materials are selected. For example, bathrooms and kitchens are best constructed of simple-to-clean surfacing like ceramic tile which has the added advantage of never needing replacement.

Out of regard for the physical requirements of older persons, there should be at least a powder room on the first floor of the home that ultimately will be a retirement residence.

Be sure that the heating system is automatic, economical to operate, and the most modern available. The current trend is radiant heating installed under conductive flooring such as ceramic tile in all areas of the home.

The land site is important. Select one which, you may be reasonably sure, will not depreciate in value and is situated close to transportation and shopping.

Buff With Steel Wool

Modern methods of cleaning maple, beech and birch floors have been simplified and made quite inexpensive through buffing with steel wool, usually with electrically driven equipment. Smoother floors result. The smoother the floor, the easier to clean.

Wall Pill Dispenser

Since vitamin and other pills have become a part of everyday living, a new pill dispenser with seven compartments and designed for easy mounting on bathroom or kitchen wall is offered by a Cleveland firm.

Home Owners Increasing

During the last ten years, a surprising discovery has been made in America. Just as it once turned out that every family could own a car, now it turns out that every family can own a house.

An article in a current magazine, which contains a report to the world on how Americans live, says you can take the word "every" with a grain of salt. But if you do some research, you'll find that in the last ten years a new home has been built for one out of four American households. Most of them have been small single-family houses. Many of them have been bought by people who would normally have rented. Home ownership has risen from forty to sixty per cent of the population. This fact marks the biggest change in the looks of the country since the coming of the car.

All told, today's housing is a business governed by the self-interest of sellers and buyers. It has been very profitable for the sellers. And the buyers keep coming: a million of them each year sign on the dotted line.

When you buy a house today, you borrow money from the bank as before, but the government now signs your mortgage papers along with you. It insures the lending institution you borrow from against loss in case you default on your loan. This mortgage insurance idea has built ten million houses. Since 1945 more than 50 per cent of all privately owned houses have used this system. It has made the Little Man a big customer.

This article says that the Little Man's performance in paying his debts has been excellent. Mortgages that had 20 to 30 years to run are being paid off in 11 years. By the millions people have got their homes free and clear, and millions more are getting out of the danger zone.

New Type Doors Dress Up Home

NEW YORK (INS)—Doors used to be functional rather decorative—now they're both.

If you're tired of the same old traditional type doors in your home, try the swing-door variety or the kind that folds like an accordian.

This type door may be obtained in three popular decorator colors—off-white fabric on off-white wood, beige on beige and grey on grey. It is offered in 13 different sizes as well as custom-made.

CAFE DOORS

The swing, or cafe doors, with double action hinges are particularly effective in natural wood or they may be varnished or painted various colors to fit into any color scheme.

* * *

More and more screens are being used in doorways, both plain of with designs. Screens may be covered in floral patterns to fit into a bedroom decor, or they can be done in unique modernistic patterns to fit in elsewhere in the home.

Pillows Today Not Only Colorful but Versatile

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — Time was when a "pillow under my head" was the most descriptive use for this fluffy article — but times have changed.

You can find a pillow almost anyplace these days — on the floor before the TV set, as seats around a low legged Oriental-style table or wedged behind milady's back to make her comfortable in a chair designed for the man of the house.

If you can't make up your mind what color you want the pillows for your sofa — then make them a quarter of normal sofa pillow size — about nine inches square in a multitude of colors.

DECORATOR'S SQUARES

You can have four times as many in this fashion and take advantage of decorator's squares which you can often find at a bargin in the upholstery section of your favorite store.

One chair manufacturer has a slim-line chair long enough in proportions to suit a man but with a matching wedge pillow to fit at the small of the back and make it comfortable for the man's shorter wife.

And if you are the tailored type, how about a pair of rectangular pillows to go along the inside of the arms of your sofa? Make them of the same material for a sleeker look.

Pillows also turn a bench into a sofa when extra guests arrive. Remove tte pillow and the bench reverts to a coffee table.

This lusty family of carol singers stands over six feet high including the cut-out lamp post. They are made of hardboard and it is great fun to splash in their bright colors. Pattern 414 gives five large sheets of actual-size guides for cutting and painting them. It will be mailed for $1.

Take Inventory of Woodlot Before Cutting Off Timber

Commercial timber sales by the farmer or landowner can greatly improve woodlands or turn them into a liability, Al Phillips, District Forester at Lapeer feels that the landowner should get disinterested advice and help from a qualified person before making this important dcision. The results of this decision may be felt for fifty years or more. Most owners are at a disadvantage in the sale of timber.

A careful on-the-ground survey is necessary to properly size up the cutting possibilities. Proper land use based on soil capabilities should be given much consideration.

A cruise or inventory may be made to help the owner to know more about the condition of the woodlot and the possibilities for management.

There is no standard method of cutting. In local hardwoods, a cut taking all merchantable trees down to 8 to 12 inches in diameter at stump height is considered to be a commercial clearcut. Diameter limit cuts down to 16 to 22 inches at stump height may leave some woodlands in fair to good growing condition. Such cutting may still take out most of the ripe, mature timber.

MARK TREES

Marking the trees which are to come out by the landowner and forester usually leaves the woodlot in the best condition. Such cutting may be light or fairly heavy. Only trees ready for cutting will be marked. The needs of the owner and the size and condition of the woodlot are considered. The owner can then approach prospective buyers knowing what he has for sale.

The actual sale of the timber to be cut is important. Competitive bidding usually will get a fair price. Sometimes several buyers or sawmill operators will want to bid.

Phillips is the Conservation Department District Forester for Sanilac, St. Clair, Lapeer, Macomb and Oakland. He may be contacted direct at the Federal Building, Lapeer, thru the local county agricultural agent, or the Conservation Department's forestry division, Lansing 26.

Coatings for Masonry Help Repel Moisture

Various types of coatings are available which will help to make masonry walls moisture repellent. If you want to provide such protection for masonry without changing its color, use one of the transparent coatings prepared for that purpose.

If you want another color, you have a choice of house paint, cement-base, synthetic rubber, chlorinated rubber, or the special emulsion paints—all excellent for use on masonry.

Clean-lined buffets can take over a place in foyer, living room or dining room and they have a surprising amount of storage space.

BIGGER THAN IT LOOKS — A big home can grow from a small outlay by expanding economically within itself. You plan in the beginning for future changes.

Seal Out Water With Calking

Like a boat, a house must be watertight. A good roof is not enough. Water blown into cracks around the frames of windows or doors and freezing can cause serious damage.

You won't have much of a house left if you let this go on. A good calking job is the way to prevent it.

Calking is especially important where shingles or siding meet masonry work. Also, wherever wood overlaps brick or cement, you have a potential trouble spot.

One of the problems in using most calking guns is the continued oozing of the calking compound after the bead or fill has been completed. You lay the gun down and it keeps on oozing.

CUTS OOZING

Now there's a cartridge type calking gun that eliminates such annoyance and waste to point where they're nicknaming the gun "the Wizard of Ooze." A plastic diaphragm at the base of the cartridge takes up the pressure as soon as the ratchet rod of the gun is withdrawn.

Another feature is a flexible plastic nozzle which can be adjusted to produce almost any shape of bead merely by squeezing the sides to suit.

The cartridge idea, of course, is very handy. One cartidge is supposed to produce 15 to 20 linear feet of calking bead. When empty, you throw it away and put in a new cartridge. No messy job of filling and cleaning the gun.

Don't while working on a ladder, reach out more than an arm's length from it.

KITCHEN AND FAMILY ROOM — This drawing shows how the kitchen merges with the family room. Note sliding doors. There is an outside door to the back yard just beyond the refrigerator.

To Save on Expansion, Plan Well in Advance

The way to build a house with a modest initial investment and have a house that can grow with your family, without involving expensive additions, is to plan in the first place for economical expansion.

Advantages in such foresight are illustrated in Design HW-24 for The House of The Week—a plan that adjusts itself from two to five bedrooms with no structural alterations required.

This is a house that virtually gives each new baby a birthday present of a separate room without compelling the homeowner to undertake a major construction project at a time when he can least afford it.

At all stages of expansion, this is a beautiful and livable home, with a sunken living room dropped one step to add ceiling height, a family room adjoining the kitchen, sliding glass doors merging dining room and screened porch, in addition to many other attractive details.

You can start this house on a comparatively modest budget because it covers only 1,390 square feet—a popular size. The garage, figuring separately in building estimates, adds 276 square feet. When, as and if you finish the upstairs, you gain 846 square feet of added floor space. This gives you a total of 2,245 square feet of livable space, which would be a big and expensive house if sprawled out on one level.

A vital feature that you can't see in this plan is the security of investment which it provides. Resale is difficult with most two-bedroom houses. Here, however, you have a three-bedroom capacity even on the first floor by virtue of sliding doors to separate family room from kitchen and create extra sleeping space.

SPACE AS NEEDED

Further resale value is added by a real expansion attic. A buyer needing four or five bedrooms will not be kept out of your market with this plan, whether you finish the upstairs or not. The space is there.

No basement is needed with this house. Although the blueprints for HW-24 include plans for a full basement, if desired, a separate conversion sheet is included to show how the house can be adapted to construction over a crawl space or on a concrete slab.

The abundance of closet space in this house and the suitability of the closet in the garage for a modern heating plant next to the chimney make it easy to omit a basement.

The sizes of living room, dining room and kitchen also make this home suitable for expansion. Too man so - called "expandable" homes are not fit for expansion because of limited living space. Even at full capacity, with the upstairs finished off, this house will not bulge at its seams in living, dining, cooking and bathing facilities.

An obvious economy in this plan is the single bathroom provided on the main floor. This most expensive room for its size is adequate to serve the two or three bedrooms on this floor. A second bathroom, which can be completed later upstairs, is located directly above the kitchen to economize on plumbing lines.

A charming touch has been given this house by Rudolph A. Matern, its architect who is noted for attractive embellishments in his houses. This particular touch is an upstairs porch under the garage roof. Here is a delightful retreat for relaxation, a good book or sleeping outdoors.

The open end of this porch could be easily screened by a handyman, if screening is needed. A long flower box surmounts the guard rail which is formed by a continuation of the outside wall.

LONGER LINE IN FRONT

This porch is given a vaulted ceiling by the natural gable of the roof. At the same time its roof gives the front of the house that longer line so much in the mode. A long Dutch dormer giving full ceiling height to dressing rooms and upstairs bath is concealed in the rear of the house.

* * *

This is a house you could be proud of and enjoy for a lifetime.

Shellac Floors, Paneling

Shellac is one of the popular finishes for wood floors, stair treads and risers. It's also good on wood trim and wood paneling.

Former Gridder Finds Boon for Fracture Cases

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Hahnemann Hospital has announced that one of its staff doctors has developed a quick-hardening chemical, known only as "X," which reportedly shortens immobility in some fracture cases from six months to three days.

The substance and the "cementing" operation technique was developed by Dr. Michael P. Mandarino, assistant in Hahnemann's orthopedics department who played with the National Football League's Philadelphia Eagles in 1945-46 to pay his way through medical school.

Dr. Mandarino said that the substance "X" — its ingredients were not disclosed — was still in the "preliminary" stages. It was demonstrated at a special symposium of orthopedic surgeons.

Dr. Donald Twining Jones, former chief of orthopedics at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital, said that the substance could prove revolutionary in the whole field of treating bone fractures, especially in the case of elderly persons who sometimes are bedridden for years due to hip fractures.

EXPERIMENTS YEAR

Dr. Mandarino said he experimented with substance "X" for a year on animals then, after no failures, tried it successfully on two men.

The substance, white in color, is poured into the broken bone which—in Dr. Mandarino's technique—has been cleaned out and filled partially with stainless steel wires to provide reinforcement. It hardens in about a half hour and, as it hardens, the surgeon trowels off the excess just as in cementing.

Dr. Mandarino said experiments are being conducted to determine whether bone tissues will grow through the substance or whether new bone growth will build itself around the material.

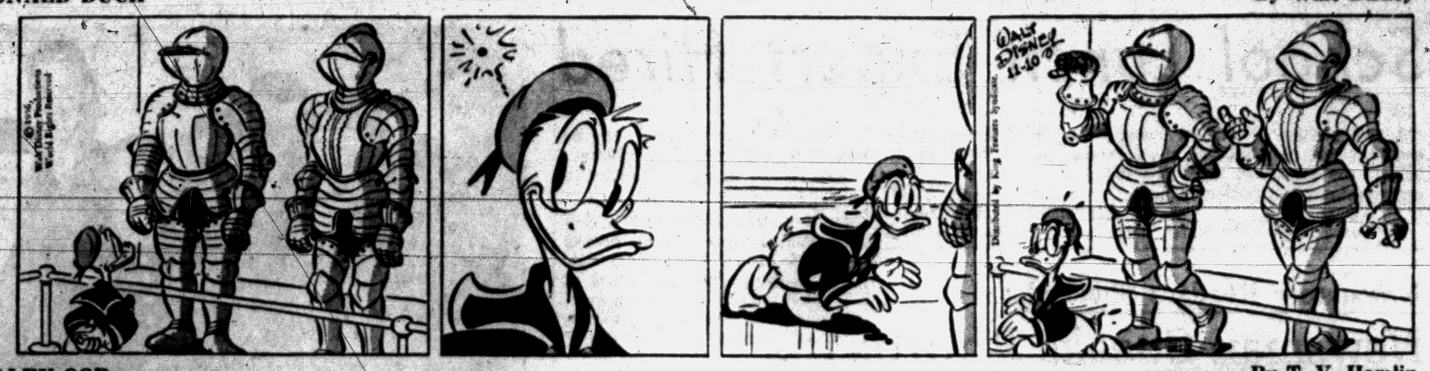

Changes Plea to Guilty of Cluttering Sidewalk

Stephen L. Secora of 319 Orchard Lake Ave., charged wth obstructing a city sidewalk with 42 inches of dirt, changed an earlier plea to guilty yesterday before Municipal Judge Cecil B. McCallum.

Sentencing will be Nov. 20. Maximum sentence is $100 and 90 days.

Secora pleaded not guilty Oct. 19 to a charge of allowing tons of fill dirt to flow over the sidewalk at the southwest corner of Orchard Lake and Chapman.

School Lunch Expert Hired

A new position created by the county board of education gives help to the 132 school lunch programs going on in Oakland County.

The board hired Mary Slater, a native of Mitchell, Ind., to fill the new position of school lunch consultant.

Miss Slater says her position with the county Board of Education is threefold. "I'm working with federal reports, government contracts and reimbursement procedures, for one thing."

Secondly Miss Slater is a consultant who goes into the schools on invitation, helps them out, helps them plan. "Regardless of whose problem it is, lunch manager, cook, I'm there to recommend possible improvements," she said.

So far this school year (she started in September) Miss Slater has helped with the simplification of kitchen work in one of the schools, helped plan and revise blue prints for one of the new schools being built in the county, helped lunch managers plan nutritional education programs, giving them source material to help them plan well balanced meals for children.

BALANCED DIET

She has also encouraged animal experiments to show the success of a well balanced diet against a poor one.

* * *

Third part of her job, Miss Slaer says, is in service training in various districts in the county. "We'll be setting up classes for school lunch personnel in areas where we can reach all of them.

* * *

Miss Slater was director of school lunches for the city of Battle Creek last year.

She was a lunch supervisor for the schools in Huntington, nd. for several years. In Mitchell she helped organize a new cafeteria program and directed it for four years.

At present she is doing graduate work at Michigan State University in the Institution Administration division under the school of Home Economics.

Newspaper Readers Shocked

Newsman Sneaks Photos of War Horror Into Cairo

(All Cairo was shocked today with the publication in their newspapers of the first photographic evidence of death and destruction that swept Port Said during the Anglo-French invasion early this week. These photos were brought back by Olew Anderson who had to smuggle the film across Anglo-French lines. He tells what he found in Port Said in the following exclusive dispatch.)

CAIRO (INS)—I have just returned from the city of horror—Port Said which is the northern gateway to the Suez Canal.

In more than 15 years of photographing wars from Okinawa to Germany to Korea, I have never seen anything worse.

And I have pictures to back up every word I write.

That's why a British Lieut. Colonel wouldn't let me back across the cease fire line the same way I entered the smoking battered city of death 36 hours earlier.

He "invited" me to fly to the Anglo-French headquarters in Cyprus to have my film "developed."

When I refused his invitation, he held me two hours. When I finally agreed to return to the British Headquarters at Port Said, he sent a radio message that I was coming and let me go.

BOARDED FISHING BOAT

But instead I was smuggled aboard an Egyptian fishing vessel with 80 homeless refugees among the thousands fleeing the city.

It took us five hours in the sailboat built to carry 35 persons to cross shallow Lake Manzala to the town of Mataria where I hired a taxi that drove me all the way back to Cairo with the loss of only one roll of film.

In some places the stench of dead bodies was too much for me. I couldn't bear to get close enough for pictures. In Gamil area along the seafront, 300 homes were wiped out.

DIG IN RUBBLE

Dazed men, women and children wandered through the rubble looking for corpses of their families, trying to salvage whatever they could from the debris before joining the long line of refugees leaving the city.

Fires raged out of control and people had no drinking water.

Doctors at Mohammed Ali hospital told me they had to keep washing their hands in the same water time and again while trying to operate on some 500 patients brought in daily.

Pavlov's Ideas Gain in Russia

Apply Reflex Theories to Red Foreign Policy, Professor Claims

MADRID (INS) — An American professor of medical history has indicated that the theories of "conditioned reflexes" put forward by Russia's Ivan Pavlov are gaining importance as an instrument of Communist foreign policy.

Prof. John F. Fulton, chairman of Yale's department of the history of medicine, made this known in a lecture delivered at the 15th international congress on the history of medicine, which was held in Madrid.

Dr. Fulton reported that "in the Soviet Union the government is actively supporting conditioned reflex studies in every medical school within its borders and in Communist China four new medical schools are being built around conditioned reflex laboratories."

As an example of how conditioned reflexes can be created for political purposes, Dr. Fulton cited the "Heil Hitler" slogan and the upraised-arm salute which, he said, helped reduce the Germans to "blind conformity" to Hitler.

Referring to Russia, the professor said "whether this expansion of study in the conditioning reflex field stems from the respect in which their great hero Pavlov is held, or from other more basic consideration is not entirely clear."

Dr. Fulton said he began studying the resurgence of Pavlov's theories "some time ago when several friends who are advisers in Washington asked me as a physiologist to what extent I thought conditioning was being used in shaping foreign policy in certain European and Asiatic states."

He added his information is not yet complete but appears to be "of some significance."

Dr. Fulton pointed out, however, that the creation of conditioned reflexes can be perfectly ethical.

Pavlov, who died in 1936, is a hero in the Soviet Union largely because his theories of conditioned reflexes developed in experiments on dogs, gave the Communists a basis for claiming that human behavior can be controlled scientifically.

Try to Block Floating Hotel

State Conservationists Claim Tawas City Ship Violates Law

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Department started legal action yesterday to block a huge passenger ship from operating as a "flotel" at Tawas City.

Gerald E. Eddy, department director, said he will ask Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh to start court action to remove the "SS Western States" from its moorage at an East Tawas municipal pier.

The ship has been repainted and outfitted as a hotel. The grand opening is scheduled for this weekend.

"We feel the owners are violating the Submerged Land Act, since they are unlawfully occupying part of the lake bottom," Eddy said.

Owners of the ship say the vessel is floating, but an inspection by department officials revealed it is permanently fastened to the lake bottom, he said.

Eddy said the ship, refurbished at "considerable" cost, is to have 160-175 rooms available next spring.

Rule Paper Justified in Firing Red Suspect

NEW YORK (AP) — An arbitrator has upheld the New York Daily Mirror's dismissal of a rewrite man who refused to tell Senate probers whether he ever had been a Communist party member.

Arbitrator Burton B. Turk ruled yesterday that a newspaper is entitled to know the answers to such questions when "publicly posed" to such an employe.

The employe, Daniel Mahoney, worked for the Mirror almost 22 years. He was called before the Senate Internal Security subcommittee last Jan. 3.

Doctor Warns U. S. of Eating Too Much

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The United States, with an unlimited food supply, nonetheless has a serious malnutrition problem, says Dr. Carles Glen King, executive director of the Nutrition Foundation.

This problem arises not from too little to eat but from too much, adds the New York Food Authority.

"The amazing fact is that in the United States the most serious form of malnutrition is overeating, with resultant excess in body weight," he said in addressing the Institute of Food Technologists and Nutrition Foundation.

"We appear to be badly spoiled x x x we 'burn up' the highways instead of the calories x x x".

Russia Says Ike Won Election on Personality

MOSCOW (AP)—In Moscow's first press reaction to the U.S. elections, the Literary Gazette said today the Republican presidential victory was a "clearcut case of the Eisenhower personality defeating the Stevenson personality."

The newspaper said it found nothing to choose between the platforms of the Democrats and Republicans. The American voters picked Eisenhower, it added, because of his personality and stature.

Salvation Army Cites Ohioan for Long Service

LONDON (AP) — The Salvation Army said today American-born Commissioner John Allan has been awarded its 50-year service medal.

Allan, a native of Columbus, Ohio, pioneered Salvation Army work among boys on New York's Bowery, served as a chaplain to U.S. troops in to orld ars and in 1946 became second in com- with headquarters in London.

He will retire at the end of this month and return to Columbus.

Pontiac, Take Heed!

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Torch Drive has gone almost six per cent over its goal of $15,300,000. Walter Laidlaw, executive vice president of the United Fund, announced at a campaign dinner Thursday that $16,201,540 had been collected or pledged.

U. S. Treasurer Talks

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Mrs. Ivy Baker Priest, treasurer of the United States, will speak Tuesday night in Hill Auditorium at the Universi of Michigan on 'our monetary system."

'Air Power' TV Series Makes Debut on Sunday

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—For two years some creative minds at CBS-TV have been quietly grappling with a fascinating idea which finally will be visible on the home screen Sunday.

"Air Power," the first of a 26-part weekly filmed series depicting the development of flight and its impact on the 20th century, will have its premiere on the network Sunday at 6 p.m., EST. The first program will be an hour in length; subsequent shows will be a half-hour.

An imagined Russian air attack on the United States will be the theme of the first program, with everyone from generals to privates of the U.S. Air Force playing the roles they actually would fulfill in such an eventuality. Sequences filmed on location will show what would happen if radar were jammed, an off-coast search were instituted, an inventory made of the Soviet air force, and the Strategic Air Command alerted throughout the world.

It's an interesting fact that Perry Wolff, the producer and spark of "Air Power," served as an infantry private in the 84th Division during World War II.

In general the series will move chronologically, with the greatest emphasis on World War II. Air activities of the Navy and Army, as well as the now separate branch of the Air Force, will be thoroughly reviewed.

Wolff and associate producer James Faichney have scoured obscure sources to obtain some of the films. Shots showing German fighter planes shooting down B-17s were obtained, for example, from a former Luftwaffe pilot, now in Italy, who stole his own gunsight camera films.

Faichney obtained some extraordinary footage of Japanese air activity from Pearl Harbor to the fall of Singapore from 19 tons of film which the U.S. Army "liberated" in Japan after the end of the war and which found its way into the archives of the Library of Congress.

CBS commentator Walter Cronkite will serve as the regular narrator of "Air Power," with numerous other prominent persons — from actor Art Carney to Gen. Jimmy Doolittle — narrating parts of some programs.

Nanette Carefully Plots Her Future TV Career

By BOB THOMAS

The pert Nanette won the awards as best comedienne and best new personality because of her yeoman work on the Sid Caesar hour. This year she was replaced by Janet Blair on the Caesar show, giving Nanette time to assess the future of her career.

She's not riding off in all directions. Last week she made her first TV appearance of the season on the Shower of Stars. On Nov. 26, she'll co-star with Hal March and Don Ameche in an NBC spectacular, "High Button Shoes." She'll play the role she created in the Broadway hit.

"I've done a lot of thinking about the future," she remarked, "and I've come to two conclusions: 1. You cannot continue as a guest star for more than one season; you've got to have more exposure to keep an audience; 2. If you play the same character in a series, you can expect it to last only two years — three at the most.

"I've had several series offered to me and that is the feeling of all the producers: they all say, 'We'll do it for two years, then take the money and run.'"

Green Thumb Reaps Harvest of Folding Green

WEATHERFORD, Tex. (AP) — Dairy farmer Oscar Womack picked a crop of $25,000 green bills yesterday and then stopped his harvest because he "just got tired of picking it up."

His mother, Mrs. Annie Womack, about 50, brought the dirty bills into the First National Bank here wrapped in a yellow scarf. Amazed bank officials immediately got in touch with the Secret Service in Dallas.

Womack, 27, arrived at the bank sometime after his mother. Told it might be good money, he left saying, "guess I'll go back and pick up some more."

Measures said "I've straightened out about $25,000 of it, and there's still more.

"There has been an attempt to burn it and it had been rained on and was muddy. The face of the bills looked good, but the backs looked pale, and it may be counterfeit," he said.

BE PENNY WISE

Would you entrust a fine watch to a neighborhood handyman for repairs? Chances are that you wouldn't even think of doing such a thing. Likewise, it's not advisable to allow a complex electronic device, your TV set, to receive that type of service. Why not have professional service? It may cost a few cents more, but most likely it will save you money. An honest, reliable repairman with the skill born of years of experience and an adequate supply of top quality replacement parts is the best combination for efficient and economical service. Call an Oakland County Electronics Association Member. Save time. Save money.
