Ike Sees Economic Upswing by March

After 30 Years of Service at Pontiac Office

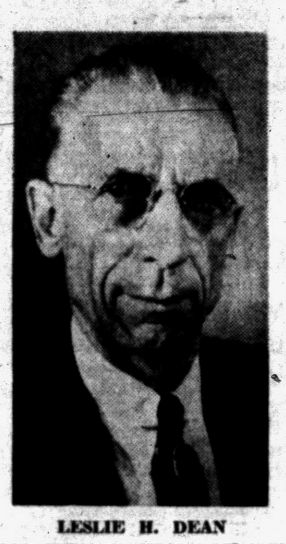

City Postmaster to Retire

After more than 30 years of service at the Pontiac Post Office, Leslie H. Dean, acting postmaster, will retire.

The 63-year-old father of nine children announced his plans today to retire effective February 28.

Representative William S. Broomfield (R-Roya. Oak) said he expected to "announce the appointment of an acting postmaster very soon." Broomfield will appoint someone as acting postmaster until Civil Service examination is held for the postmaster position.

Dean has been acting postmaster since June 30, 1953 when he was appointed by George A. Dondero, then Republican congressional representative from Royal Oak, following the resignation of George L. Stockwell because of ill health.

LESLIE H. DEAN

Dean's announcement of his retirement came several months before the anticipated completion of Pontiac's first main post office, now under construction on West Huron between Genesee avenue and Chippewa road.

Prior to this appointment, Dean was a postal clerk since 1927.

Dean is a veteran of World War I and past officer of both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. He is also a Master Mason and member of the Roosevelt Lodge No. 510 and the Metropolitan Club.

Dean said he had nothing in particular planned after retiring. He thought he would "just like to take life easy for awhile" and possibly travel to California to visit a daughter.

He lives with his wife Ellen at 64 Close St.

Asks $2 Billion for Post Office Modernization

Program Would Create Jobs All Across U.S. Pending Upturn

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower expressed confidence today the economic downtrend is about over. He said March should see the start of a rise in employment and the beginning of the end of the downturn.

In a statement of concern for those now without jobs, and of confidence in the future, Eisenhower said:

"From the best advice I can get, and on my own study of the facts regularly placed before me, I believe we have had most of our bad news on the unemployment front.

"I am convinced we are not facing a prolonged downswing in activity.

"Every indication is that March will commence to see the start of a pickup in job opportunities.

"That should mark the beginning of the end of the downturn in our economy, provided we apply ourselves with confidence to the job ahead."

Eisenhower, moving to shore up the slumping economy, sent to Congress last night a two-billion-dollar program to modernize post ofices and postal services.

White House press secretary James C. Hagerty, disclosing plans for the postal modernization program, described it as one expected to "afford greater job opportuni-

JACK FROST WAS HERE — Little 5-year-old Robin Pigman, of 5902 Jerose St., Waterford Township, finds it's quite a chore during these frigid days to even look outdoors to see whether the sledding is good. Teamster Boss to Hand Reins to 614 Members

Move Seen as Attempt to Clean Up, Return Into AFL-CIO Fold

James R. Hoffa has decided to end his stormy, 4½-year trusteeship over Pontiac Teamsters Local 614.

The Teamsters president said in Miami Beach, Fla., yesterday that meetings were being held preparatory to returning its charter and scheduling new elections.

Local 614 President Leaun Harrelson said he was not surprised by the announcement. "We've been expecting the trusteeship to end. As yet, I have not talked personally with Mr. Hoffa about it, nor seen anything official in writing."

In Florida, the Teamsters executive board moved yesterday to hand back the reins to 36 locals now being run by the international under Hoffa trusteeships.

Hoffa said that elections are pending in 15 of these, including Detroit Locals 902 and 247.

The policy was interpreted as a "cleanup" move by Hoffa to get the Teamsters back in the AFL-CIO, which expelled the union on corruption charges two months ago.

The trusteeships were imposed at various times for various reasons, mostly because of charter violations by individual locals.

SHAKEDOWN CHARGES

Local 614's charter was suspended in October 1953 when President Daniel J. Keating and Louis C. Linteau, business agent, were accused in a $100,000 shakedown of Detroit area contracters. Both were later convicted.

Both Harrelson and Harmon were appointed by Hoffa as administrators after the shakedown scandal.

Since then, rank and file members of the local have made repeated charges of discrimination and lack of representation.

Harrelson, on the other hand, has maintained that the local under Hoffa's trusteeship was one of the best run in the union.

The anti-Hoffa faction, however, thought otherwise. One of the 600 to Attend Lincoln Dinner

Republicans in Oakland to Hear Mrs. Leeds in Pontiac Tonight

Oakland County Republicans will learn why one should "never under-estimate the power of a woman" when they turn out tonight to hear Mrs. Robert W. Leeds speak at the Lincoln Day banquet.

Although they will gather at 6:30 at the Elks Emple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave., to celebrate the birth date of our 16th president, Abraham Lincoln, the spotlight will be focused on the so-called weaker sex.

Mrs. Leeds, a widely-known attorney and trademark specialist, became in 1953 the first woman in the 155-year history of the United States Patent Office to be appointed to the post of assistant commissioner of patents.

Some 600 local Republicans are expected to pack the main ballroom to hear the featured speaker. Introducing her will be William S. Broomfield, congressman from Oakland County.

WASHINGTON (INS) A top scientist told Congress today that instruments in the U. S. Explorer are "working beautifully" and that the satellite's messages are being recorded in Russia as well as America.

Greenland Tops Houghton Area in Snow Battle

GREENLAND (AP) — Greenland has the cold comfort of topping the Houghton-Hancock-Calumet area in snowfall so far this season. A reading of 143 actual inches was reported in this upper Michigan community yesterday. Its rival to the northeast had only 100 inches.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Mississippi River boats are fighting through foot-thick ice from above Alton, Ill., to below the junction at Cairo, Ill. Traffic may soon be blocked entirely.

The Mississippi has been frozen over in the St. Louis area for 10 days, the longest freeze of the winter.

Morse Pledges to Return Files

But Will Seek Senate Probe of FCC, Other Federal Agencies

WASHINGTON (AP)— Sen. Morse (D-Ore) said today he would return files given him by a House subcommittee aide who was ousted in a row over a probe of federal regulatory agencies.

Morse said he also would demand a Senate probe of the same matters.

The ousted subcommittee aide, Dr. Bernard Schwartz, has said the material he gave Morse could help show that some White House officials "have influenced actions of the regulatory agencies."

Schwartz said he turned over his "personal working files" to Morse Monday after he was fired as chief counsel of the special House subcommittee investigating the Federal Communications Commission and five other regulatory agencies.

The senator reported that he had read the files and that they "prove the administration is honeycombed with political immorality."

Morse, interviewed from Washington via a TV program originating in New York, said he believed the files given him by the ousted subcommittee aide rightfully belonged to the House group and therefore he would return them.

$20 Million for Detroit

WASHINGTON (INS) — U.S. Postmaster General Summerfield said today Detroit can proceed with plans to build a new $20 million automated post office. The Detroit project would be included in the two-billion dollar program to build 12 thousand new post office buildings across the country.

Summerfield said, "There isn't anything that can contribute more to the economy than this post office program." The site of the new post office is located in the block bounded by Griswold, Shelby, Jefferson and Larned.

Get Ready to Shiver for Five More Days

You can expect to shake and shiver in this deep-freeze at least for another five days, says the Weather Man.

But if you think its bad here just pity the residents of Grand Marais and Pellston.

The mercury fell to a bone-chilling 29 degrees below zero at Grand Marais and to 28 below at Pellston.

The five-day outlook is for the mercury to hover 14 degrees below normal, which the Weather Bureau says is a high of 33 and a low of 19.

Area residents who had to be up at 4:30 this morning experienced a 1 below zero temperature, matching a previously recorded low for this winter.

Plagued by frozen gas lines and reluctant batteries in their cars, motorists in this and other areas flooded Automobile Club of Michigan emergency stations with more than 1,000 calls this morning.

Scattered snow flurries and a reading of near zero are predicted for Pontiac and vicinity tonight.

SLIGHT SNOWFALL

Except for the western section of the state, Michigan got no snow or only light flurries as the cold spell moved into its sixth day.

Over in Muskegon householders wondered where next to pile shoveled snow. More than 6 inches had fallen over the 24 hours preceding 7 a.m. today. This was on top of 29 inches on the ground.

Other temperatures recorded in the state were; Sault Ste. Marie -18, Baldwin -9, Traverse City -8, Alpena -6, Saginaw -4, Flint and Grand Rapids -2, Jackson -1, Ypsilanti 0, and Detroit 2 above.

Preceding 8 a.m. in downtown Pontiac the low recorded was -1. At 1 p.m. the mercury read 13.

Hot Tips to Cold Drivers

The Automobile Club of Michigan has these tips for motorists during the current cold spell:

— Fill gas tanks to prevent water vapor from freezing gas lines.

—Use non-vital electrical equipment, such as radios, sparingly to lessen drain on battery.

— Turn off all electrical equipment before starting car.

Can't Give Money Away

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. is having a hard time giving away $331,000. The money remains from refunds ordered by the Federal Power Commission. The company has been unable to complete the refunds either because the customers can't be found or they don't bother to cash small checks. Most of the unclaimed checks are for relatively small amounts.

Primary to See Race for 5 Posts

Commission Candidates Vie March 3 for Place on April Ballot

There will be contests for five City Commission seats at the March 3 primary election and for all seven at the April 21 general election, as a result of 21 candidates filing nominating petitions.

Districts where three or more candidates have filed to force a primary runoff next month are Numbers 1, 4, 5, 6 and 7. Two candidates in each district will be elected at the primary to run in the general election.

Since only two candidates have filed in Districts 2 and 3, these are the ones who will run in April. They face no primary next month.

Deadline for filing was 5 p.m. yesterday. The latest to file:

District 1—William A. Garling, of 502 Bloomfield Ave.

District 2—Earl J. Smith Jr., owner of the Brace-Smith Funeral Home, 138 W. Lawrence St.

District 4—Gerald W. Kehoe, a Fisher Body Division employe of 14 Cross St.

District 5—Ronald C. Hallenbeck, a Fisher Body Division employe of 25 Gingel Ct.

District 6—Thomas H. Bartle, a Pontiac Motor Division employe of 35 N. Ardmore St. and J. H. Patrick Glynn, a General Motors Truck & Coach salesman of 228 Chandler Ave.

Their entry into the race means the final primary lineup in March will read like this (two to be elected:)

District 1—Garling, Milton R. Henry and Samuel J. Whiters.

Officer Arraigned for Selling Licenses

ECORSE (INS) — Suspended Police Lieutenant Louis Audia today was awaiting examination on charge of selling drivers' licenses to unqualified motorists in Ecorse for $25 to $45 each.

Audia stood mute at his arraignment before Common Pleas Judge L. Eugene Sharp yesterday and was released under $2,500 bond. Audia and another man, Tommie Prince, 43, will be examined Feb. 21.

Five other persons were also accused of being in a ring to sell the drivers' licenses.

Meanwhile, Ecorse Mayor Eli Ciugnan ordered three top police officials who were under investigation by the Bohn grand jury, to be suspended. He also asked three fire commissioners to resign.

Controversial Measure Political Hay for Liberals

Dems to Blast GOP on Gas Bill Voting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Self-styled Democratic liberals made it clear today they will be prepared to cite the Republican voting record on the natural gas bill both in Congress and in the fall election campaign.

Both proponents and opponents of the controversial measure agreed, however, that the bill's chances of passage were lessened by the furore over a Texas group's tying support of the measure to a Republican fund-raising dinner.

Texas Republicans raised $100,000 Monday night through a $100-a-plate dinner in Houston, advertised as an appreciation dinner for House Republican Leader Martin (Mass).

H. J. Porter, Texas Republican national committeeman, urged contributors to purchase tickets because, he said in a letter, Martin had helped to pass a natural gas bill in 1955 and would need to muster support of 65 per cent of the GOP members to pass the bill this year.

Both the White House and the Republican National Committee disavowed any connection with the appeal and the national committee said it would accept none of the money.

Porter and other Texas party officials said they did not know what would be done with the proceeds.

Martin said he also knew nothing in advance about the gas bill's connection with the dinner, which he said he considered "just another one of those Republican fund-raising dinners."

Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler said in a statement that Martin's name was "used to give prestige and authority to the shoddy exercise in mass bribery . . . " He described it as shocking.

One Dies, 2 Injured in Head-On Collision

A head-on collision last night on Lahser road just south of 13 Mile Rd., Southfield Township, took the life of a Redford Township woman and sent two other persons to William Beaumont Hospital.

Oakland Highway Toll in '58 11

Mrs. Eleanor Klix, 40, of 9234 Marion, Crescent Rd., was pronounced dead on arrival at William Beaumont Hospital, said Redford State Police Post troopers. She was thrown from the car driven by her husband, Albert, 39, who is reported in fair condition at the same hospital.

The driver of the other car, Mrs. Frances Larson, 54, of 4830 Ardmore Rd., Bloomfield Township, was also reported in fair condition today.

The accident occurred shortly before 7 p.m. last night. Police investigating the crash have not been able to obtain statements from either driver.

City Law Permits $1 Ticket for Every Meter-Hour

Parking Violations Can Pile Up

If you're a smart guy who thinks it's worth while to park at a downtown curbside parking meter all day and collect a $1 parking ticket, better check your wallet.

It had better be fat with bills, because, under a parking ordinance passed by the City Commission last night a diligent police officer can keep hanging $1 parking tickets on your car for each hour of violation.

All-day parking beside a downtown parking meter can be expensive, the commissioners learned last night. The provision cropped up in the new ordinance, which goes into effect in 10 days.

City Manager Walter K. Willman called the provision vital to efficient on-street and off-street parking, but added that the repeated ticketing procedure is seldom enforced.

Willman said some drivers would prefer to park at a meter and pay a $1 ticket daily, rather than put their car in a lot. The repeated-ticketing part of the new ordinance is part of the existing law, and has been enforced occasionally.

Commissioners were not enthusiastic about the provision, and Roy V. Cooley warned that any public objection would lead him to move for a change.

If enforced with discretion, the law might have some merit, Mayor William W. Donaldson conceded. "I hope the police continue to be very cautious about it, though," he added.

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles questioned the wisdom of having a law that wasn't enforced. "And is it right to ticket a driver repeatedly for a parking violation that he has actually committed only once?"

Assistant City Manager Robert A. Stierer supported the law and cited a parallel with housing code violations.

"We ticket owners of substandard homes every day they are in violation. Why shouldn't we be allowed to ticket overparked drivers every hour?"

"On-street parking basically is for drivers visiting the downtown area for a brief time only," said Willman. "We've got to consider that when the parking spaces are filled, there are other drivers still looking for parking space.

producers from direct control of the Federal Power Commission, but would continue FPC regulation over interstate pipelines. It is generally favored in gas producing areas, but opposed by many major consuming areas, including many large cities.

While most supporters and critics of the measure thought the current publicity would kill it, House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex) said the bill will be called up in the House late this month.

Martin said he is still for the gas bill and will support it when it comes to the floor.

Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) predicted the bill will be defeated. He has contended the measure would result in an increase in gas bills paid by consumers.

Sen. Neuberger (D-Ore) said he was amazed by the "brazen approach" he said Porter and Texas oil contributors had taken in efforts to get the measure through Congress.

Sen. Clark (D-Pa) called on President Eisenhower to disavow the measure—similar to one Eisenhower vetoed two years ago because of the "arrogance" the chief executive said oil lobbyists had displayed.

"The event at Houston demonstrates that the oil men have lost none of their arrogance," Clark said.

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt), an opponent of the measure, said the bill is dead in this Congress, and Sen. Flanders (R-Vt), who voted for the bill Eisenhower vetoed, said he doubts that any new measure will be passed.

"Those oil and gas men spend all of their time cooking their own goose," Flanders said.

Know the Weather

By E. H. SIMS

What effect do sun spots have on the earth's weather?

Some weather experts believe the number of sun spots observed on the sun controls the intensity of the heat, of our weather, on earth. Sun spots indicate hot weather, according to this weather theory, the coming of hot weather on earth, that is.

Our sun is, however, only one of many, many in outer space. There are many suns far more powerful than our sun, and they may exert an influence on our weather by affecting the sun. Nuclear explosions of sufficient size, if ever detonated around the sun, might appreciably affect our weather.

Likewise, nuclear explosions in the earth's atmosphere might change our pattern of weather, by counteracting the effects of the sun. Control of the weather is currently one of the goals of scientists working with super bombs, atoms, etc. Until control is achieved, the more sun spots observed the hotter our weather.

Redstone Fired Last Night in 'Routine Test'

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Army fired another Redstone last night. The missile's fiery flight may have solved more of the secrets of space.

Belching orange fire, the bullet-shaped missile blasted off from the test center here at 7:52 p.m. Just 25 seconds later, it vanished into a thick, coal-black overcast.

The Army announced only that it had made a routine test firing.

The test may have helped pave the way for the launching of big satellites and the eventual placing of manned stations in outer space.

Basically a 280-mile ballistic missile, the Redstone is so far advanced the Army says that by midsummer it will be in operational use and can be handled by troops in the field.

As the first stage of the Army's Jupiter-C rocket, the Redstone helped blast the 30.8-pound satellite Explorer into space Jan. 31. The Army hopes to use it to launch bigger "moons."

first steps was to organize insurgents into a Rank-and-File Committee, which brought suit to end the trusteeship in early 1954.

Union members demanded then that their officials give an accounting of over $1 million in allegedly mishandled local funds.

Oakland County Circuit Judges dismissed the suit for lack of jurisdiction.

Inner quarrels broke out again early last spring, when insurgents picketed the union hall, 1410 Telegraph Rd., demanding Hoffa's ouster. After nine days, they gave up.

Later last year, they charged that their delegates to the national Teamster convention had been handpicked to assure votes for Hoffa. Their charges helped spur a law suit that brought about the present monitor system under which Hoffa holds his international office.

No date for relinquishing the trusteeship was given today. However, if there is a move to gain AFL-CIO favor, it was expected to come soon.

Meantime, AFL - CIO President George Meany has indicated that ending the trusteeships might not be enough. He has said that the Teamsters would be unacceptable as long as Hoffa is president.

Airman Passes 72nd Hour in Space Cabin

Scientists Study Effects of Music on 'Moon Trip'

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Whether soft background music will help space travelers of the future stay in orbit is another problem that Airman Donald G. Farrell is helping scientists solve.

Farrell, 23-year-old native of the Bronx, passes his 72nd hour in the Air Force's experimental space cabin at Randolph Air Force Base today. That is three times longer than any other known human has spent in a hermetically sealed container breathing the samc air over and over again.

If Farrell stays in the 3-by-5-foot tanklike cubicle until 9:35 a.m. Sunday scientists at the School of Space Medicine here believe he will have proved that a human can live in the crowded cabin of a space rocket for seven days.

DOING WELL

Lt. Col. George R. Steinkamp, chief of space medicine, reported that Farrell was doing "exceptionally well." He revealed that the blond six-footer was following a 14-hour sleeping and wakefulness cycle in contrast to the normal 24-hour day and night cycle. Farrell sleeps 4½ hours then has two four-hour work periods with half-hour periods of relaxation sandwiched in between.

During his work periods or relaxation he can request, by flipping a switch, that hi-fi music be piped into the steel cell.

"That's perfectly all right," Steinkamp said. "Kind of like a kid studying better with the radio turned on."

Steinkamp estimated that during Farrell's first full day in the space cabin, on Monday, the recorded music was played for several hours.

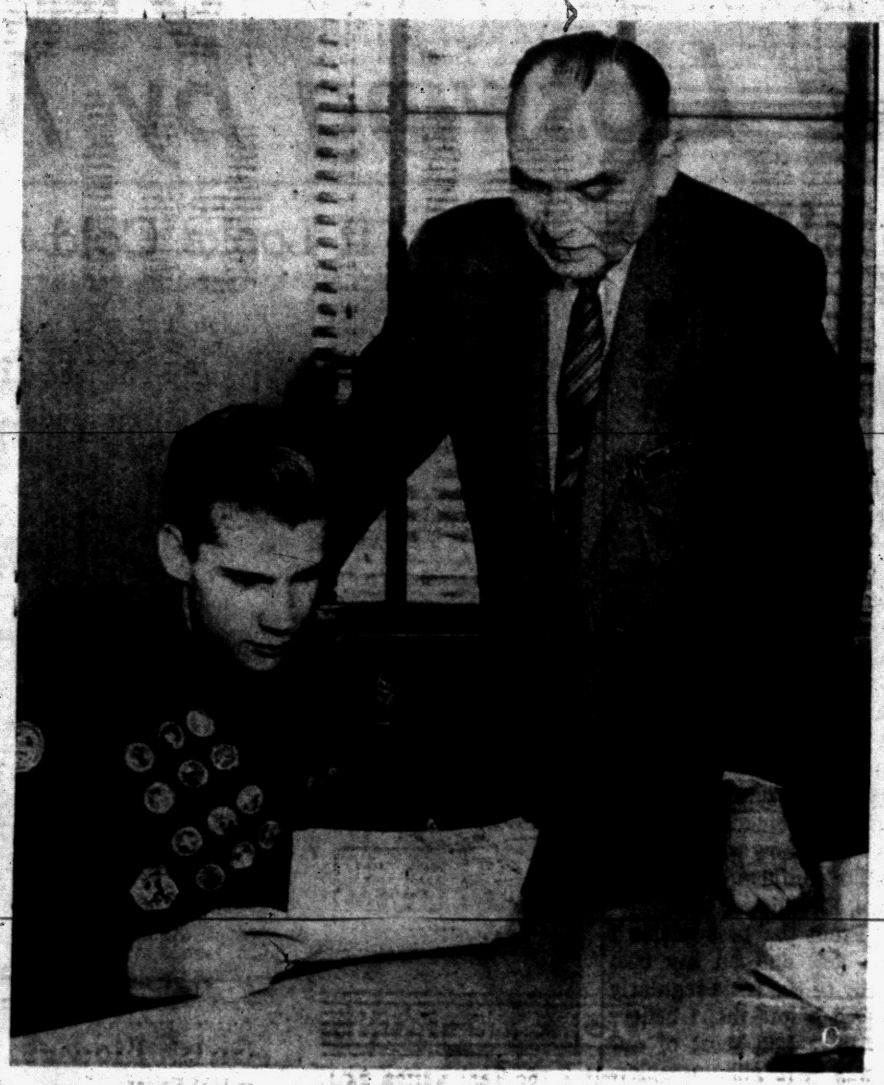

"We're watching the effect the music has on this man's work performance during the seven-day period and it might tell us whether background music would prove a means of relaxation in a regular space ship."

Scientists have said previously that it would be entirely possible for space ships orbiting around the earth to receive radio music broadcasts during at least part of their flight.

"He seems to like the light classics and popular songs of the ballad type most," said Steinkamp. "He definitely does not care for rock 'n' roll, thank goodness, because we listen to all of the music on a squawk box (loudspeaker)."

Steinkamp reported that Farell was in excellent physical condition. "His alertness is exceptional and there are no signs of boredom."

He said the battery of instruments attached to electrodes taped over Farrell's body show "no significant changes whatever" in respiration, heart, blood pressure, or other physical conditions.

FBI Man Called in Spying Trial

Sergeant Charged With Selling Information to Soviet Agents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The prosecution called in an FBI agent today in support of court-martial charges that M.Sgt. Roy A. Rhodes sold information to Soviet spies.

Rhodes pleaded innocent to charges of espionage conspiracy and falsifying a loyalty oath at the opening yesterday of his military trial.

Maj. Winchester Kelso Jr. prosecuting attorney, said it will be proved that while Rhodes was assigned to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow from 1951 to 1953 he peddled information to the Soviets for a fee.

That, Kelso said, was after Rhodes went night clubbing and drinking with a Soviet mechanic and two Soviet women, and wound up in the apartment of one of the latter.

Subsequently, he said, Soviet agents told Rhodes the woman was pregnant and used this as a threat to extract information.

Rhodes is married and his wife says she is standing by him because she believes in his innocence. Their home is Eatontown, N.J.

The tall, lean, 40-year-old sergeant listened intently but expressionlessly as Kelso told the 10 officers on the court-martial that Rhodes met the Soviets five or six times in Moscow, gave them information about his training in code work at the Pentagon and information on the habits of U.S. Embassy personnel, and received some $3,000.

Kelso said Rhodes also told the Soviets where he could be contacted on his return to this country.

Involved in the American end of what Kelso contended was an espionage conspiracy were two Soviet officers, Col. Rudolph Abel and Lt. Col. Reino Hayhanen.

Abel was convicted of espionage in a Brooklyn, N.J., trial last October and sentenced to 30 years in jail. The conviction has been appealed.

Hayhanen turned against the Soviet Union and was a key witness in the Abel trial, as he apparently will be in the court-martial case against Rhodes. Kelso said Hayhanen reported that Abel talked with him about a Soviet agent whose code name was "Quebec" and whose real name was Rhodes.

Cold Wave Causing Frozen Water Pipes

The present cold wave gripping Pontiac has resulted in many cases of frozen water meters and pipes in homes and business places, according to Joseph W. Gable, superintendent of the water department.

Gable advised persons to run their water often and to keep the home warm, especially where the meter is exposed to the zero temperatures.

Water users will be charged for repairs to meters and services, he said.

Car Runs Amuck With Driver Dead at Wheel

A car with a dead driver behind the wheel careened down Saginaw street this morning, smashing into three other cars but miraculously not hurting anyone.

Eugene C. Campbell Jr., 35, of 3826 Braker St., Drayton Plains, told police he spotted the car driving on the wrong side of the street headed south.

When he slowed for a light at Warren, Campbell said, the car crossed back into the south bound lane and hit the rear of his vehicle, glanced off and struck the side of another moving car, bounced off again and smacked the rear of a third moving auto before stopping.

Police officers found John Foster Hatchett, 61, of 180 Wessen St., dead in the driver's seat. Cause of the death was a heart attack, according to a coroner's report.

Tunisia Seeks to Oust French

Village Bombing Backed by Gaillard Government in Paris

TUNIS (AP) — President Habib Bourgiuba said today that only the removal of all French troops from Tunisia could restore friendly relations with France.

But in Paris, France rallied defiantly behind her government today for possible agonizing battles in the U. N. and with her NATO allies over the bombing of a Tunisian village.

During day-long debate in the National Assembly yesterday, Premier Felix Gaillard declared "The government does not admit guilt in this affair."

Early this morning the deputies gave hime a resounding 335-to-179 vote of confidence, something unusual for any government in post-war France.

The assembly passed a bland government - approved resolution accepting the government stand that the attack Saturday on Sakiet - Sidi - Youssef was an action by the "local command" in Algeria to destroy an Algerian rebel base on Tunisian soil.

The resolution expressed regret that Tunisian civilians were among the 75 persons killed in the bombing raid.

Thus faced with the sharpest crisis of the Algerian War, France achieved a rare moment of political unity, which means Gaillard can count on support at home if he insists as expected that Algeria is a French problem and not international.

All signs indicate Gaillard is ready to tell both the U.N. and NATO to "mind your own business!"

The U. N. will be brought into the affair by Tunisia, which announced last night she will inform the Security Council of "a situation endangering international peace and security."

From Washington the U.S. watched with deepening concern, signs that the French - Tunisian crisis was worsening instead of getting better.

U. S. officials said that the American government stands ready to use its good offices to help restore friendly relations between the two countries if both will accept.

Top officials expressed fear that Tunisia would insist that France evacuate its big naval base at Bizerte regardless of the outcome of the furor over the French bombing.

In the wake of the Saturday incident, Tunisian President Habib Bourguiba demanded evacuation of the naval base and removal of all French troops from his country. France was given 20-year rights to the base when Tunisia became an independent country. It is a key stronghold in the Mediterranean area.

Ike Sees Economy Going Up by March

ties in every section of the country."

Eisenhower proposed to finance it with revenues from an increase in postage rates. His request for a boost in postage on out of town letters from 3 to 5 cents faces an uphill fight in Congress.

Hagerty said "I think it would be fair" to describe the postal program as part of the administration's planning to combat the economic slump.

The announcement came on the heels of a Labor and Commerce Department report that the number of unemployed had soared 1,120,000 last month—biggest monthly rise since World War II—to a total of 4,494,000.

The White House announcement said the postal program would operate over the next three to five years.

The White House announcement estimated 1½ billion dollars of the new program would represent private investment in construction of new post offices.

The government's actual capital investment would be 175 million a year earmarked for new mail handling devices and other equipment for the leased buildings, plus rehabilitation or expansion of some federally owned post office buildings.

Eisenhower appende dto his statement today a summary of steps already taken aby the administration with the aim of combatting the recession.

He did not set out any new measures, but said that other steps wil be taken if it develops that they are needed.

In that connection, he noted that for some time the administration has been engaged "in systematic and comprehensive planning for expansion and modernization of public works and buildings.

"In all these matters of government policy," Eisenhower said, "it is well to remember that with an economy as complex as ours, it is necessary not only to avoid the taking of wrong steps but confidently take the right ones. This we propose to do."

The President's objective—to inspire confidence and avert any development of hysteria — was underscored by his decision to record his statement on film for television and theater newsreels.

Calls Him 'Quick Change Artist'

Reuther Attacks Romney

DETROIT (INS)—United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther today called American Motors President George Romney "a quick change artist,' a label the AMC chief quickly denied.

Reuther, replying to Romney's criticism of the UAW before the Senate Anti-Trust Subcommittee, claimed the AMC leader had changed his position on industry-wide bargaining and consumer rebates.

Romney denied he had changed his stand on either subject and declared Reuther "is hardly the person to talk about inconsistency as a review of newspaper files on his conflicting position on profit-sharing and industry-wide bargaining would show."

Romney has urged that the subcommittee approve legislation which would break up General Motors and Ford into smaller companies and also split the bargaining forces of the UAW into smaller segments.

The Day in Birmingham

Bloomfield Hills Posts Sought by Two to Date

BIRMINGHAM—Henry L. Woolfenden and James Beresford, both incumbents, have filed the only two petitions thus far for election to the Bloomfield Hills City Commission in the election April 7.

Beresford has been a member of the commission for several years. Woolfenden was appointed last year to fill the vacancy created by the death of Carlton Eden.

In Birmingham, City Clerk Irene Hanley said no more petitions were filed this week. Seeking City Commission posts in Birmingham are Harry Denyes, incumbent, and William H. Merrill, an attorney who is running for his first term as commissioner.

William Johnston, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald D. Johnston, 851 Chapin St., Birmingham, was injured yesterday afternoon when he was struck by a car near his home.

The driver, Mrs. Lorraine Rakich, 43, of 2446 Derby Rd., Birmingham, told police the boy stepped out of another car and ran in front of her auto as she was pulling away from the curb.

Johnston said this morning that his son is at the William Beaumont Hospital for observation of head injuries. His condition was described as good.

Eugene L. Johnson, Bloomfield Hills School superintendent, will moderate a panel discussion on "Are We Cheating Our Children." The program will be held at 8 p.m. Monday at Vaughn School for the Parent-Teacher Organization.

Panelists will be G. Robert Koopman, associate superintendent of Michigan Department of Public Instruction; Mrs. Florence Cleary of the Wayne State University Library Education Department, and Karl E. Scott, a member of the Bloomfield Board of Education.

Birmingham Senior Men's Club will hear a talk on the atomic energy development at Monroe at its regular meeting Friday at the Community House. "Inflation" is the subject chosen for the discussion group.

The Pierce School Kindergarten Players will present two showings Friday of a play, "Little Red Riding Hood," in the Brown Room of Cottage B. The production is under the direction of Miss Margaret Curlee, kindergarten teacher.

Performances will be given at 10:15 a.m. and at 2:15 p.m. Special invitations have been sent to mothers of the performers.

Mrs. Herbert Songer

Service for Mrs. Herbert (Ruby) Songer, 58, of 2805 Lahser Rd., who died yesterday at her home, will be held at 1:30 p.m. Friday at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home with the Rev. William Marbach of the First Presbyterian Church officiating. Burial will be in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Songer was a member of the Order of the Eastern Star, Chapter 228, and the First Presbyterian Church.

She leaves her husband and two sons, Robert J. of Flint and F. Bruce of Pontiac.

Sputnik Influences Language Studies

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The effects of Sputnik have been felt in the language departments of both the University of Michigan and Ann Arbor High School.

Prof. Deming B. Brown said second semester enrollment in beginning Russian has doubled over last year, jumping from 16 students to 32. He said another instructor has been added to handle the load.

The Ann Arbor Board of Education approved plans last week to teach conversational Russian at the high school level. One hundred students asked to be enrolled.

New York Shoveling Out

See No Immediate Relief for Nation in Cold Blast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Storms subsided but the season's coldest weather continued today in most areas from the Rockies to the Atlantic Coast.

No immediate general relief from the nearly weeklong cold wave was indicated. However, there was a slight moderation in temperatures in some Southern and Eastern sections yesterday.

Another morning of subzero cold chilled the Great Lakes region and the northern Plains. A slight warming trend in the upper Mississippi Valley kept the mercury above zero in most places. But it was cold, with readings close to zero.

One of New York state's most persistent winter storms of recent times has dissolved leaving a weary population to clean up in a bitter cold that promises to last for days.

The four-day storm blew itself out yesterday after a secondary blast at the western and central parts of the state.

Twenty - three deaths were blamed on the weather and hundreds of traffic accidents.

State, county and town highway departments were taxed to the utmost to keep main highways open.

Service Feuding Saps America's Confidence

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
Second of Three Dispatches

WASHINGTON (NEA) — America is frightened by the state of its defenses.

Russia has exploited this fear to tremendous advantage around the world.

But the disgraceful fact is that the intemperate feuding among the services has helped create this lack of confidence among Americans.

There are some obvious weaknesses in the country's military organization. But the problems of each service are not nearly as bad as the other services might have Congress and the taxpayers believe.

For years the Army has been criticizing and rapping many of the major projects of the Air Force.

Army spokesmen poked fun at the early Air Force efforts to develop its ballistic missiles. Some of them charge what almost amounts to criminal conspiracy between Air Force generals and the aircraft companies to corner the missile field. They have devoted enormous time and effort in ripping to shreds the Air Force concept of a quick, all-out war.

There's hardly one Air Force weapon which hasn't been picked to pieces by some Army "expert" who knows all about its weakness.

This same approach is taken by the Air Force to the weapons and plans of the Army and Navy. For years the aircraft carrier has been denounced, debunked and derided by the Air Force. Air Force experts have figured out more ways than the Russians have to sink a carrier.

Air Force spokesmen have been sniping at and criticizing the Army's anti-aircraft Nike missile from the day they learned of its existence.

The U. S. Navy is not quite as guilty of this kind of destructive criticism. But the admirals have long been sniping at the Strategic Air command and the Air Force efforts to build up an air transport fleet.

The recent Rockefeller report on the services says:

"The Secretary of Defense is so burdened with the negative tasks of trying to arbitrate and control interservice disputes that he cannot play a full part in the initiation and development of high policy."

Military speakers around the country constantly take swipes at the ideas and weapons of the other services. What they can't get away with for fear of Defense Department punishment is carried on by the semi-official Air Force Association, the Navy League and the Army Association. These associations blanket the country with reports and speakers.

"What we need are more patriots and fewer panners among our top service men," a Pentagon civilian official observes wisely.

Money is the root of all military feuding. During the Korean War, when there was plenty of money for all the services, feuding was at a low ebb.

Whether one service gets a huge new missile or weapon program with money to finance it might make the difference between many officers being promoted or not. A slash in funds inevitably means postponement of many promotions.

A Rockefeller report recommendation to have admirals and generals above one-star status put on a unified Defense Department promotion list is winning wide support as a means of curbing service feuding. It would force the top ranking officers to think in terms of overal defense goals rather than in terms of what's good for one service.

NEXT: HOW THE SERVICES HAVE SABOTAGED UNIFICATION.

Scientists Freed by Reds Arrive in East Germany

BERLIN (AP)—A group of 12 to 15 German scientists released by the Soviet Union crossed into East Germany today.

Soviet officials said the group and their families, about 33 persons in all, would go on by special train to their homes in West Germany. They left the Moscow Blue Express at the East German customs depot at Frankfurt-on-Oder.

The first three German scientists who arrived from Moscow last week remained in East Germany. The Communist regime claimed they had changed their minds about going to the West.

The scientists are from a group of 21 Germans who have been working for the Soviets at Sukhumi, on the Black Sea. The group was taken to the Soviet Union by the Red army after World War II and given work contracts. Their families were permitted to join them.

Hopes to Stifle Sunday Selling

State Church Council May Have Bill Ready Before Deadline

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Council of Churches hopes to beat the deadline with a bill that would slow retail business on Sunday to a trickle.

The deadline for entering bills in the Legislature is midnight.

The council, which represents 17 Protestant denominations, proposed the measure yesterday, describing it as an effort to halt the "rapidly growing trend to changing Sunday from a day of worship and family relaxation to a seventh day of retail selling."

Legislators expected to support the bill expressed doubt that a final draft could be prepared before tonight's deadline.

The proposal calls for Sunday sales to be limited to food, delicatessen and dairy stores employing not more than three persons.

Permitted would be sales of drugs, medicines, milk, ice cream, books, newspapers, magazines, gardening supplies, souvenirs, athletic and recreation equipment, tobacco products, certain farm products and wholesale fresh fruits and vegetables.

Violators would be fined from $25 to $300.

If drafted in time, the proposal will be submitted as an amendment to Michigan's blue laws which date back more than 100 years, few of which ever have been enforced.

State Rep. Mezzano (D-Wakefield), House minority leader, indicated he will support the bill. "The trend toward wide-open Sunday commercialism is rampant in my district," he said.

First Aid Course Will Open Monday

A new standard first aid course will begin at 7:30 p.m. Monday in Leggett Elementary School, Waterford Township.

The five-week course will be under the direction of Elbert Nichols, and is part of a renewed civil defense program now in progress in the township.

There is no charge involved, and registrations are open to both men and women, Nichols said.

ARTHRITIS PAINS UNBEARABLE SAYS DETROIT WOMAN

The real test of a medicine is not in printed words, but in its use. Thousands of people right here in Michigan like Mrs. Vera Robbins, 48 W. Ferry, Detroit, have tried O-JIB-WA BITTERS and have been so pleased with the results, that they are continually telling others about this time proven, successful medicine.

"Arthritis pains in my arm, right side and leg were absolutely unbearable. For over a year I couldn't comb my hair, put on my coat or even sleep at night because the pains were so bad. It finally got so I could hardly walk or even turn my head. I didn't have much luck with treatments or shots, as when they wore off, I suffered as bad as ever. Now, I want to tell every sufferer of arthritis and rheumatism how wonderful O-JIB-WA BITTERS really is, for if I hadn't of learned about it from a story in my newspaper, I would probably still be suffering. With other medicines, I always ended up disappointed, as none of them measured up to their claims. Right from the first, O-JIB-WA BITTERS was different, as in just two weeks the aches and pains began to leave. Soon I could move about good again, and now, just three months later, I am all better. My husband also tried it for his arthritis, and it helped him in just one week. I am very glad to have this opportunity to tell others about your swell medicine." Available in three economical sizes.

Lincoln Birthday a Challenge

There's immensely more than the prosaic occasion of a mere annual event in the observance of ABRAHAM LINCOLN's birthday this year.

In 1958 it means something more than a mere holiday or red figures on the calendar.

In few times in its history has our nation been in such a position for sober thought, reflection and contemplation.

Today we face a challenge that may mean more to us than those of 1776 or 1861 — and far more than occasioned by either World War.

The negative minded have been whipped into a fever that humanity itself may be exterminated. That has largely been done by propaganda.

In his commanding statesmanship, LINCOLN often said that his greatest forte was sober thought. That's what we need today.

Just as in LINCOLN's time, we have too many people who fear for the worst while enjoying the best. Such fears do not help the situation.

Nobody hated war any more than LINCOLN. His personal letters to mothers of soldiers who had paid the supreme price prove that.

He had hated slavery since boyhood, and when a mere lad when witnessing a slave auction in New Orleans said, "If I ever get a chance to hit that thing, I'll hit it hard."

He inherited the war, but saw that it had to be fought for the preservation of the nation. The situation was unique in world history. In many cases it was brother against brother. Like thousands of others, he gave his life for the cause. But he lived to see it succeed and a just peace declared.

Fear that some other nation has a head start in the rather uncommendable task of providing means to destroy the world doesn't help matters any in today's situation.

This is especially true when we really do not know what they have. We know only what this propagandists hand out, a highly colored product.

In LINCOLN's time, propaganda was in its infancy. Today it is an established science. Our colleges and universities teach it. A good propagandist is in the top bracket of many of our corporations. They may call him something else, but his only product is propaganda to favor his employers.

A good propagandist can do more with fallacies than a good statesman with the truth. If this nation has any major enemies they're feeding the world a diet of propaganda that agrees with too many digestive tracts, and settles down in too many skulls.

On this Lincoln Day we should endeavor to weed the grain from the chaff in the propaganda that any other nation puts out. Wait for the hard facts.

Truer today than in his time, our greatest forte should be sober thought.

Decline in Auto Deaths Good News to Pontiac

Pontiac is especially interested in the annual death rate in highway accidents.

In 1957, the total was 38,500 and while that is shocking, the fact still remains that it's a three per cent decline over the previous year based on mileage basis.

This is comforting.

Anything and everything that makes highway travel safer is a boon for our city. Pontiac's entire future is tied to transportation and anything that makes it better, safer, easier or more comfortable can be hailed by our citizens.

Now if all drivers everywhere can continue the good work and make still a bigger effort in 1958, we may make further gains and again enhance the value and utility of our products.

The Man About Town

Lincoln Birthday

Pontiac Was Among First Cities to Celebrate It

Open winter: One that often suddenly slaps shut.

Many years before it became a universal holiday as now observed, Lincoln Day was given official recognition in Pontiac. The first such occasion was in 1872, when issued a proclamation that "Feb. 12, birthday of the greatest American since George Washington, should be suitably recognized as a great holiday."

Mayor Augustus C. Baldwin

A program was given at the court house, with a former and later mayor, and

who later held that position, as the speakers. It then was arranged to make it an annual event, that observance being taken over in 1890 by the Oakland County Lincoln Club, and since continued by it.

Pioneer in Pontiac in the manufacture of means of transportation was

Stephen J. Cloonan,

who began making horse drawn vehicles here 106 years ago. His grandson,

Stephen J. Cloonan Jr.,

now sells drugs on Saginaw Street. That given name of Stephen has come down through several generations of the family.

Well known in Pontiac, where he has played with visiting dance orchestras, has been appointed general music director for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios in California.

Charles Wolcott

A Cleveland party of young people, under the guidance of

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Nieman, were bound for Northern Michigan to do some skiing. They saw the big crowd at Mt. Holly, wondered what was all the commotion, stopped to investigate—and went no further.

A Pontiac Lincolnia student reminds me that was billed on the program as

"Orator of the Day"

at Gettysburg on that bleak November occasion in 1863. He spoke for over an hour, and the New York papers next day called it a "masterful address," and printed it in full. They never mentioned the talk of

at the same time, who spoke for two minutes in what was to become world famous, and a classic of the ages, his which he had written on the backs of some old envelopes while on the train.

Verbal Orchids to—

Dayton E. Glass

of 32 Bagley St.; ninetieth birthday.

Mrs. Flora Johnson

of 60 Parkhurst St.; eighty-sixth birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. McDonald of Holly; formerly of Pontiac; fifty-first wedding anniversary.

Words for Today

David Lawrence Says:

'Summit' Conference Inconclusive

WASHINGTON — Can there really be a "summit" conference as the Soviet rulers envisage it? Can there be any agreements reached at such a meeting that are binding on the United States?

LAWRENCE

The Kremlin today is assuming that, when President Eisenhower goes to a "summit" conference, he has plenary power—that he can make a "deal." Not a word has been said in any of the exchanges of letters thus far about the fact that, under the American system of government, the "summit" is not reached when the President alone participates. For the United States Senate is not bound by what a President pledges.

At the Yalta Conference in 1945, the records show, Stalin cited the case of President Wilson, who attended a "summit" conference in Paris in 1919 and signed the Versailles Treaty, which never was ratified by the Senate.

The press has been filled in recent weeks with dispatches from abroad indicating that the Soviet government is undertaking now to tell the United States just what kind of conference will be permitted, and it has been made plain that the Moscow leaders do not want the foreign ministers to hold a session in advance of the "summit" meeting for fear it would reveal the impossibility of any agreements being subsequently reached. So Secretary Dulles himself, anxious to remove any technical obstacles, has just announced that a foreign ministers conference isn't necessary.

But the Kremlin has chosen to ignore completely the fact that no agreements whatsoever—even when made by the President, with or without the secretary of state at his side—will be valid unless the Senate ratifies them.

Nor does the Constitution limit the Senate merely to ratifying or rejecting what a President does when he makes an international agreement in the nature of a treaty. The Constitution says that the President "shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur."

There is no question but that "advice" means the giving of counsel during the actual making of the treaties. It could do no good after a treaty is signed. The President may reject the "advice" and go ahead and sign a proposed treaty but, unless the Senate gives its "consent," the document is not binding thereafter on the United States in its relations with other governments and countries.

Certainly it will not be argued that the matters to be discussed at the "summit" meeting will not involve binding agreements and that consequently it isn't necessary for the Senate to participate. For the whole world has been told that the "summit" conference is to be a means of solving the very critical problems that have arisen between the East and West, such as the scrapping of the NATO Treaty in favor of a new treaty to include the Warsaw Pact countries, and the withdrawal of American forces from foreign bases in exchange for some pledge concerning disarmament on the part of the Soviets.

Plainly these subjects are more important today than the topics covered by any previous agreements or treaties in the history of the United States.

There can't be truly a "summit" meeting, therefore, till the Senate votes to send its delegates to sit alongside the President—and that step hasn't even been discussed in the Senate, though the "summit" meeting could be important enough even for the majority and minority leaders themselves to attend. So far as the United States government is concerned, that's the "summit."

The Country Parson

"If you go around growling at people they'll be glad to see you go to the dogs."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Man, 88, Bowling Along on Just Two Meals a Day

Waiting on the bowling green, someone said something about somersaults. One of the players, O. N. B., father of lawn bowling in this part of the world, standing nearby remarked: "Somersaults?" — and before I could yell "Look out!" (he was past 80 at the time) he rolled one.

DR. BRADY

The man is 88 now. I'm hardly able to detect the signs of senility that are so obvious in most persons over 75. He can bowl for hours against much younger men who become just plain tuckered out.

Some time ago we toured the greens together, later found an attractive cafeteria. I was still selecting tempting items when O. N. B. had chosen his dinner and unloaded his tray. I finally tore myself away from the desserts and staggered to the table with my load. He had only a dainty dab of this and that.

That, I believe, is one reason why this extraordinary man wears his years so well. Dr. Osler was right. So was George Cheyne, the 17th century fat man who reduced his weight from 448 pounds to 150 pounds and wrote an essay on long life. Osler commended Cheyne's advice, that "Every wise man, after 50, ought to lessen at least the quantity of his aliment" etc.

It has been the custom of O. N. B. for many years to take only two meals a day—a fairly good breakfast and an early, not very hearty dinner.

He's a teetotaler.

He has never smoked.

But he makes no fuss about temperance.

Temperance in eating and drinking, I think, is one reason why this man has vite. I say nothing here about smoking, although I have tentative views on the effects of smoking, which are subject to change by new scientific evidence.

The second reason for the youthfulness of this octogenerian, in my opinion, is the fact that he still has all but one of his own teeth intact.

In Volumette XVI of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, (The 7 Keys to Vite) and in Volumette 1 (Save Your Teeth)—for either send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope—I say that for every tooth lost and not immediately replaced by a functionally efficient denture, subtract from one to two years from the individual's life expectation.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

'Do Employed People Hope to Cash In on Depression?'

Most people are still working, have excellent incomes and yet no one is buying anything. Are they waiting like vultures to cash in on the low prices of a depression? If so, they are fooling themselves, because they will scream the loudest when they have to support the willing workers on relief rolls, the workers they put out of business.

WORRIED

'Where Do They Get Averages?'

So Pontiac Motor's employment is approximately the same level it averaged for 1957. There are probably a number of laid off employes like me who would like to know how they arrive at that average. Maybe I just don't understand the meaning of "approximately."

May I ask who these employes are? Could they be the gentlemen in shirts and ties that line workers had to stumble over while trying to do their jobs?

Another Praises City Day Nursery

I, too, am grateful for the Pontiac Area Day Nursery. It is capably supervised, with the children's interest at heart, they get well balanced meals, fresh air and exercise every day, a long nap and many interesting play activities. It was started in 1929 and still there are many people who don't know about it.

When you model your career after Lincoln's don't forget he was honest.

Some filibusters think the battle was over in five minutes. And Abe's speech lasted three days.

It was that fellow Everett who talked the lid off an iron pot and the pot off the stove. If it hadn't been for a reporter Abe's speech would have gone down the drain with the skimmings off the chicken soup.

That speech was shorter than a walk on the front porch. If a fellow engraved the Ten Commandments on the head of a pin you can use Abe's speech for the point.

Head of House Probers Suddenly Gains Notice

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Morgan Moulder was never a congressman to seek the spotlight but in recent weeks he has been a center of controversy climaxed by his resignation as chairman of a House subcommittee probing federal regulatory agencies.

The hectic developments gave the 53-year-old Missouri Democrat more nationwide attention than he had received in all of his previous 10 years in Congress.

Riding herd on an unruly and strife - torn committee is foreign to Moulder's peace - loving nature. Thus those who know him best felt the committee would run away with the gavel and leave him shouting against the wind.

However, on the first day of the probe into activities of Federal Communications Commission members, Moulder put on the mantle of chieftainship, ordered an obstreperous witness to sit down, and stunned a turbulent hearing room into silence.

Up to the very moment he quit in protest against the firing of the subcommittee's chief counsel, Bernard Schwartz, Moulder made every effort to exercise his rights as chairman.

His function as stern master of the hearings was quite different from the part he has played for many years as a top-ranking member of the House Un-American Activities Committee. Even through that group's stormiest years, Moulder seldom had much to say.

He has always preferred to think of himself not as a congressional kingpin but just as a representative for the folks back home. He admits he has done more on the problems of his district than on the problems of the world.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Take Heed of Advice of St. James

Dean Harwood is a talented college teacher who realizes that it isn't enough to have students passively receive information. They must act upon it and test its effectiveness if they are to profit from college classes throughout later life. Scrapbook Dean Harwood's three student reports. And imitate his active type of teaching. That's the formula of St. James.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, when I visited your Sunday school class at the Chicago Temple, I was indelibly impressed with your 'Compliment Club.'

"And the experience of Maude, the millinery worker, has stayed with me.

"So I have included the 'Compliment Club' idea in a class entitled Personnel Management.

"Last week, therefore, I assigned my students the task of paying two compliments each day for a week.

"Enclosed are three typical reports. And thank you again for such helpful psychological 'ammunition' to enrich our students' education."

HEED ST. JAMES

"Faith without works," stated St. James, "is dead."

Tersely stated and in less beautiful language, runs this similar idea:

"Hell is paved with good intentions."

So it is not enough to assent as you read this clinical column daily. If you are to attain your maximum helpfulness in life, you should also DO SOMETHING tangible to put into action the psychological rules outlined herein.

That is why Dean Harwood decided to harness the power latent in words of praise and prod his students into proving for their own satisfaction that friendly praise causes coldness and hostility to melt away.

Student "A" thus reports as follows:

"People always smiled when I gave them a compliment. And a neighbor of mine who has never seemed to like me or even speak a full sentence to me in the five years I have lived beside her, was my test case.

"While out in the yard, I went over to the fence and praised her for her beautiful flowers.

"We engaged in conversation for several minutes. Later she graciously offered me some of her flower seeds and told me how to plant them.

"I have planted the seeds, and I believe a real freidnship will arise."

STUDENT "B"

The next student in Dean Harwood's Personnel Management class, says:

"Since I started complimenting my fellow employes, I have been amazed at their different attitude.

"One worker in particular had criticized me behing my back and had never spoken to me in the year I had worked there, except to acknowledge my greeting.

"So I addressed one of my compliments each day to her. She has thawed out and does everything she can to help me with my work.

"This new friend alone has sold me on paying compliments."

STUDENT "C"

"I have noted a lift in my own happiness ever since I started paying my daily compliments.

"And it is amazing how even the least compliment will bring a smile to the recipient's face.

"My companions thus seem much happier and so am I. We both feel so much better. It's wonderful what a little appreciation will do, isn't it?"

Yes, it truly is marvelous. And miracles of healing can also be produced by compliments.

For hypochondriacs (worry warts about their health) will forget their own "innards" to a large degree when they start paying compliments.

For they must then direct their attention off themselves and upon their companions in order to pick out the merits on which to phrase their words of appreciation.

This is excellent mental medicine for all neurotics.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed, envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs, when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

UAW Vice President to Speak in Pontiac

LEONARD WOODCOCK

A top UAW executive will address a mass meeting of Pontiac automotive workers Saturday on the upcoming new working agreement between the union and General Motors Corp.

Leonard Woodcock, UAW international vice president, is scheduled to speak before approximately 18,000 union members of GM's Pontiac Motor, Fisher Body and Truck & Coach plants.

Woodcock will outline the positions of both the union and the corporation as negotiations on a new three-year contract begin.

His talk will come less than 24 hours after the final meeting of corporation and union officials in Detroit tomorrow and Friday, when the corporation's offers will be disclosed for the first time.

It will cover the profit-sharing and wage increase demands adopted by the union at its special convention in Detroit last month.

"We are very fortunate to have such a high-placed union official address us so soon after the initial positions in the bargaining are clear," said Charles S. Curry, UAW regional educational representative.

UAW workers at General Motors' three big Pontiac plants and their wives are invited to attend, said Curry. The session will begin at 12:30 p.m. at the headquarters of Pontiac Motor Local 653. The other locals are number 596 at Fisher Body and 594 at Truck & Coach.

Grill Ex-Convict in Hood's Death

Gambling Kingpin Held by Police Investigating Anastasia Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—Police investigating the slaying of mobster Albert Anastasia have seized for questioning Meyer Lansky, reputed kingpin of a Havana, Cuba, gambling circle.

Lansky was arrestd on a vagrancy charge early today. This often is a device to allow exhaustive questioning by police.

Lansky's arrest was the second since two gunmen slew Anastasia, former lord high executioner of Brooklyn's once-dreaded Murder, Inc., gang. Lansky was once called a "director" of the crime syndicate.

He was trailed by detectives from his arrival at Idlewild Airport to Broadway and 53rd Street, where he was seized.

Under questioning, the 55-year-old ex-convict was of no help in the Anastasia case, police said. He readily admitted, however, that he has been engaged in Cuban gambling operations for the past two years.

Manhattan Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan has linked Anastasia's slaying to Cuban gambling.

Lansky said he came here from Miami for medical treatment. He said he was in New York a few days prior to Oct. 25, the day Anastasia was slain by two gunmen in the barbership of a Manhattan hotel.

The City Commission has rezoned a parcel of land on the south side of Ypsilanti avenue west of Baldwin avenue to make way for location of a proposed National Food Store branch there.

The parcel, lying west of the alley paralleling Baldwin, was rezoned from residential to Commercial on recommendation of the planning commission following a public hearing last night.

Name of That Movie? Doesn't Matter Now

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—When studio executive Robert Rains, 36, first asked actress Julie Van Zandt, 27, for a date she told him, she recalls, that she didn't care one way or the other about meeting him, but she was very eager to see the movie.

So she went along. That was two years ago. Yesterday they got a marriage license.

Despite Cries of Shortage

Doctor Supply Keeps Up With Demand, According to Medical Council Chairman

By TOM UYEMURA

CHICAGO (INS) — The chairman of the American Medical Association Council on Medical Education and Hospitals says that despite cries of a doctor shortage, the demand for physicians has been "about in equilibrium with the supply."

Dr. Leland S. McKittrick of Harvard University expressed his views in a press interview at the close of the 54th annual congress on medical education and licensure in Chicago. The interview follows:

QUESTION: Dr. McKittrick, is there a physician shortage in the United States?

ANSWER: "I don't think anyone knows if there is an actual shortage or not. It is a very complex matter but according to a panel which studied the matter during our three-day meeting, the demands have been about in equilibrium with the supply. In 1927, we had 137 physicians per 100,000, in 1940 we had 133, and again in 1955 it was 133. The earlier drop may have been due, in part, to the lessening of illnesses by improved medical methods and transportation."

Q: There will be more than 220 million Americans in 1975 as compared with 165 million in 1955. Is U.S. education equipped to produce the needed physicians?

A: "More physicians are being produced each year and the medical profession has kept the physician-populated ratio fairly constant the past few years. It probably will continue to do so."

Q: Is it true that medical schools have been keeping down the number of students accepted so that the field won't become overcrowded?

A: "Absolutely not. Medical schools are accepting students and teaching to full capacity at the present time."

Q: Is there any truth to the so-called "racial quota" system among medical schools?

A: "Harvard does not have a racial quota system and I'm sure many other medical schools operate the same way. We do not differentiate racially, provided the applicant has the capabilities scholastically and other intangible characteristics we seek. I believe some schools are on the side of taking colored students, recognizing what they can mean to the public in general. Also there are several good Negro medical schools."

Q: What are the intangibles in students sought by medical schools?

A: "We seek evidence of leadership in our students. We like a person who can assume responsibility in all types of activities. We're interested in what he might do in the summer time when he is taken out of the grind of school work and can show his imagination and initiative."

Q: What do you advise for youngsters who are planning on a medical career?

A: "I think he must be absolutely sure that he wants to become a physician. The job is too tough if one has any doubts. He should have a good, basic, rounded education. He doesn't necessarily have to be an 'A student' but he should show other interests besides science, bookwork and a college career."

Elvis Doesn't Wait for Army

Presley's Sideburns Go

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — That Army barber who yearned to scalp Elvis Presley's sideburns won't get the chance.

The rock 'n' roll singer is sporting a normal haircut for his current and last pre-induction movie — "King Creole." And it makes him look quite handsome.

Producer Hal Wallis, who got an eight-week deferment from Elvis' draft board, finally let a reporter on the set to talk with Elvis. He said he didn't cut his sideburns off because of impending Army duty.

"I've worn long sideburns in all my other movies," he explained, "so I figured I'd be a little different in 'King Creole.'"

Elvis finishes the picture March 14, takes a train for his home town of Memphis and expects to be at Ft. Chaffee, Ark., by March 22.

"I'm looking forward to going into the Army," he said. "I think it will be a great experience for me."

He said he is not the least bit apprehensive about going in.

"It doesn't bother me one bit but it's bothering some of the people employed by me."

Does he think that some tough sergeants may give him a bad time because of his fame?

"Well, if they do it won't be because of anything I do to provoke it. I'm going in to be a soldier and the Army can do anything it wants with me and send me any place."

Taxpayer Too Modest

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The district office of the Internal Revenue Service has a letter with $13 in it which the mailer said was the amount of his 1957 income tax. Said the writer: "I am not sending my name since I prefer to remain anonymous."

Two Former Detroiters Publish First Books

DETROIT (INS)—Daughters of two former prominent Detroiters will soon debut as authors.

"Mia Mine," a play about big business written by Mrs. Harriet Bennett Hamme, daughte of Harry Bennett, one-time aide of the late Henry Ford, will premiere at the Lydia Mendelssohn Theater in Ann Arbor tomorrow night.

"Preacher Mike," a biography of the late Rev. M. S. Rice, former minister of Detroit's Metropolitan Methodist Church, written by his daughter, Mrs. Elaine Chabut, will be published March 3.

The U.S. Navy now has a mechanical compression method to make fresh water from salt water.

Hoffa Ally Heading New York Truckers

NEW YORK (AP) — An ally of James R. Hoffa has been re-elected chief of the New York metropolitan area's 125,000 Teamsters Union members. U.S. Senate rackets probers subpoenaed the ballots and other election records.

Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, said the committee's aim is to "see to it that they have an honest election."

"We are subpoenaing these things to make sure they are preserved, because we had heard there might be a destruction of the records," he said.

The records are being delivered to the committee in Washington.

John J. O'Rourke, a supporter of Hoffa, international president of the Teamsters Union, won a five-year term as president of the Teamsters Joint Council 16. The council is composed of 58 locals in New York City, Long Island and seven New York counties north of the city. O'Rourke first won the post last year after a court fight.

Lead Fishing Sinker Creates Atomic Stir

GARLAND, Tex. (AP)—A Geiger counter was hurriedly brought to the school. Ambulances rushed up. Then came police and the sheriff. Finally a three-man Atomic Energy Commission team rushed in from nearby Dallas.

Then the AEC team found that the Geiger counter was haywire and that the suspected lost radioactive isotope, for which a wide search is being made in the Dallas area, was only a harmless lead sinker, the kind boys use in fishing.

More than 20 million acres of U.S. land are currently under lease for the exploration of oil deposits.

Sues School District

DETROIT (AP) — William P. McKinney, 17, sued the Wayne Community School District for $50,000 claiming he lost the sight in one eye while operating a lathe in a high school shop class. He also named Wallace K. Dulac, a shop instructor, as a defendant. The suit charges the students were permitted to work without safety glasses.

Richard Egan to Marry

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Marriage plans of actor Richard Egan and actress Patricia Hardy were disclosed yesterday by a spokesman for the actor. The marriage, tentatively planned for May, will be the first for each.

Dulles, Wife on Vacation in Atlantic City, N.J.

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles and his wife are spending the next 10 days on vacation at this resort city. They landed at the Atlantic City Naval Air Station late yesterday and motored to the city.

Dulles noted that the vacation won't be all rest and relaxation.

"Unfortunately," he said, "I'll have to do a little work, and a secretary will join me about the end of the week."

Sapphires, most of them suitable only for bearings in watches and fine instruments are mined in parts of Montana.

Uncover Seeds 6,800 Years Old

Archeology of Plants Takes on New Meaning for Scientists

WASHINGTON — In probing the mysteries of the past, archeologists find some of their biggest clues in small things.

A handful of charred pigweed seeds that turned up recently in a prehistoric Indian campsite west of Albuquerque, New Mexico, has been established by radiocarbon dating as 6,800 years old, plus or minus 400 years.

Such antiquity spotlights pigweed as one of the oldest wild grains used for food in North America. Almost as ancient was a cache of primitive Indian maize that came to light in Bat Cave, New Mexico. It is dated as about 6,000 years old, with the usual possible error margin of several centuries.

The archeology of food plants, wild and domesticated, has taken on new meaning with the development of more accurate dating techniques, says the National Geographic Society.

The science—a combination of digging and detection—involves anthropology as well as botany. Its findings bring knowledge of man's progress toward civilization, based on the transition from his gathering of food in the wild to the beginning of systematic cultivation.

From the remains of long-buried stores, discarded fragments of foods, and other relics and records, archeologists have traced the origins and use of many grains, vegetables, and fruits now familiar on the world's tables.

Primitive peas have been discovered in the mud of Swiss lake dwellings of some 3,000 years ago. In caves of central Europe, scattered pits of sweet cherries suggest that Stone Age man enjoyed this fruit.

Thousands Daily Pay Tribute at Shrine

Lincoln Memorial Inspiration to Visitors

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chatting and laughing, they come by ones and twos and busloads to the imposing marble memorial to Lincoln. They leave, most of them, solemn and subdued.

Today, on the 149th anniversary of the birth of a martyred man, special ceremonies are taking place at the glistening white memorial beside the Potomac. A presidential wreath will be placed there in honor of the Civil War President.

But day after day, ordinary people by the thousands come to pay their own tribute to Abraham Lincoln. As at no other shrine in the nation's capital, they seem to capture and carry away something of the spirit and character, something of the strength and serenity of the man here honored.

Many of them come for the first time, from over the country and all over the world. Many come again and again.

A middle-aged Washingtonian said: "I don't know how many times I've been here. It gives me a feeling of comfort and peacefulness and confidence. Particularly at night, when those soft lights make him seem so real and close to you."

Men stand before the massive, seated figure of Lincoln, then impulsively uncover their heads.

They turn to the south wall and scan the immortal Gettysburg Address. They read on the north wall Lincoln's second inaugural address, with closing words so applicable to the present: " . . . Let us strive on . . . to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

The gray-haired Minnesota farm wife remarked softly: "He based his philosophy so much on studies of the Bible." Her husband was jotting down his impressions in a notebook: "The most impressive thing I've seen in Washington."

"I believe he was the greatest man this country ever produced," he said, "because he was humble."

Trooping in a moment later, in orderly pairs, black and white, came a class of first-graders from one of Washington's racially mixed schools.

A smiling little Japanese-American first-grader from California knew that Lincoln was the 16th president. He had been begging his mother to bring him to the memorial, ever since they came here two weeks ago.

Softly she read him the inscription above the statue: "In this temple as in the hearts of the people for whom he saved the Union, the memory of Abraham Lincoln is enshrined forever."

Freak Chain of Events Sparks Explosion, Fire

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — Rube Goldberg would snow it happening this way:

Automatic washing machine vibrates (2) vibration shakes can of paint from shelf (3) falling can hits hot water heater (4) fumes rise from spilled paint (5) water heater pilot ignites fumes (6) explosion (7) fire.

Firemen put out the fire that began that way at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Earl McGriff. Damage was estimated at $35.

Sahara Is 'Land Good Only to Be Crossed'

ALGIERS — Nowhere is the Sahara Desert, the world's largest —2,500,000 square miles—less than 1,000 miles wide. It stretches 3,000 miles across the northern part of Africa from the Atlantic Ocean to the Red Sea.

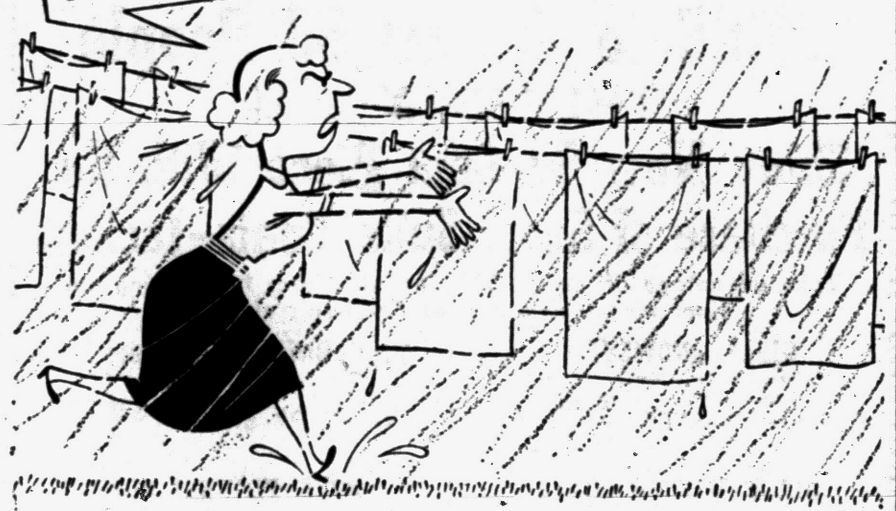

Its name is derived from a primitive word meaning "a wild land good only to be crossed."

Fewer than 500,000 acres are cultivated and there is no permanent river or stream in the entire desert.

CHAPTER 38

In a few brief sentences the inspector gave Dr. Morris an account of recent happenings.

"I remember seeing something in the papers about a woman found in a sarcophagus. So it was at Rutherford Hall."

"And there's reason to believe that the woman was Edmund Crackenthorpe's widow."

"Well, well, that seems extraordinary. More like a novel than real life. But who'd want to kill the poor thing—I mean, how does it tie up with arsenical poisoning in the Crackenthorpe family?"

"In one of two ways," said Craddock, "but they are both very farfetched. Somebody perhaps is greedy and wants the whole of Josiah Crackenthorpe's fortune."

"Damn fool if he does," said Dr. Morris. "He'll only have to pay the most stupendous taxes on the income from it."

"Nasty things, mushrooms," said Mrs. Kidder.

Mrs. Kidder had made the same remark about 10 times in the last few days. Lucy did not reply.

"Never touch 'em myself," said Mrs. Kidder, "much too dangerous. It's a merciful Providence as there's only been one death. The whole lot might have gone, and you too, Miss. A wonderful escape, you've had."

"It wasn't the mushrooms," said Lucy. "They were perfectly all right."

"Don't you believe it," said Mrs. Kidder. "Dangerous they are, mushrooms. One toadstool in among the lot and you've had it.

"Funny," went on Mrs. Kidder, among the rattle of plates and dishes in the sink, "how things seem to come all together, as it were. My sister's eldest had measles and our Ernie fell down and broke 'is arm, and my 'usband came out all over with boils. All in the same week! You'd hardly believe it, would you. It's been the same thing here," went on Mrs. Kidder, "first that nasty murder and now Mr. Alfred dead with mushroom poisoning. Who'll be the next, I'd like to know?"

Lucy felt rather uncomfortably that she would like to know too.

"My husband, he doesn't like me coming here now," said Mrs. Kidder, "thinks it's unlucky, but what I say is I've known Miss Crackenthorpe a long time now and she's a nice lady and she depends on me. And I couldn't leave poor Miss Eyelesbarrow, I said, not to do everything herself in the house. Pretty hard it is on you, Miss, all these trays."

Lucy was forced to agree that life did seem to consist very largely of trays at the moment. She was at the moment arranging trays to take to the various invalids.

"As for them nurses, they never do a hand's turn," said Mrs. Kidder. "All they want is pots and pots of tea made strong. And meals prepared. Wore out, that's what I am." She spoke in a tone of great satisfaction, though actually she had done very little more than her normal morning's work.

Lucy said solemnly, "You never spare yourself, Mrs. Kidder."

Mrs. Kidder looked pleased. Lucy picked up the first of the trays and started off up the stairs.

"What's this?" said Mr. Crackenthorpe disapprovingly.

"Beef tea and baked custard," said Lucy.

"Take it away," said Mr. Crackenthorpe. "I won't touch that sort of stuff. I told that nurse I wanted a beef steak."

"Dr. Quimper thinks you ought not to have beef steak just yet," said Lucy.

Mr. Crackenthorpe snorted. "I'm practically well again. I'm getting up tomorrow. How are the others?"

"Mr. Harold's much better," said Lucy. "He's going back to London tomorrow."

"Good riddance," said Mr. Crackenthorpe. "What about Cedric — any hope that he's going back to his island tomorrow?"

"He won't be going just yet."

"Pity. What's Emma doing? Why doesn't she come and see me?"

"She's still in bed, Mr. Crackenthorpe."

"Women always coddle themselves," said Mr. Crackenthorpe, "but you're a good strong girl," he added approvingly. "Run about all day, don't you?"

"I get plenty of exercise," said Lucy.

Old Mr. Crackenthorpe nodded his head approvingly. "You're a good strong girl," he said, "and don't think I've forgotten what I talked to you about before. One of these days you'll see what you'll see. Emma isn't always going to have things her own way. And don't listen to the others when they tell you I'm a mean old man. I'm careful of my money. I've got a nice little packet put by and I know who I'm going to spend it on when the time comes." He leered at her affectionately.

Lucy went rather quickly out of the room, avoiding his clutching hand.

The next tray was taken in to Emma.

"Oh, thank you, Lucy. I'm really feeling quite myself again by now. I'm hungry, and that's a good sign, isn't it? My dear," went on Emma as Lucy settled the tray on her knees, "I'm really feeling very upset about your aunt. You haven't had any time to go and see her, I suppose?"

"No, I haven't, as a matter of fact."

"I'm afraid she must be missing you."

"Oh, don't worry, Miss Crackenthorpe. She understands what a terrible time we've been through."

"Have you rung her up?"

"No, I haven't just lately."

"Well, do. Ring her up every day. It makes such a difference to old people to get news."

"Your're very kind," said Lucy. Her conscience smote her a little as she went down to fetch the next tray. The complications of illness in a house had kept her thoroughly absorbed and she had had no time to think of anything else. She decided that she would ring Miss Marple up as soon as she had taken Cedric hi meal.

There was only one nurse in the house now and she passed Lucy on the landing, exchanging greetings.

Cedric, looking incredibly tidied up and neat, was sitting up in bed writing busily on sheets of paper.

"Hullo, Lucy," he said, "what hell brew have you got for me today? I wish you'd get rid of that god-awful nurse, she's simply too arch for words. Calls me 'we' for some reason. And how are we this morning? Have we slept well? Oh dear, we're very naughty, throwing off the bedclothes like that." He imitated the refined accents of the nurse in a high falsetto voice.

"You seem very cheerful," said Lucy, "What are you busy with?"

"Plans," said Cedric. "Plans for what to do with this place when the old man pops off. It's a jolly good bit of land here, you know. I can't make up my mind whether I'd like to develop some of it myself, or whether I'll sell it in lots all in one go. Very valuable for industrial purposes. The house will do for a nursing home or a school. I'm not sure I shan't sell half the land and use the money to do something rather outrageous with the other half. What do you think?"

"You haven't got it yet," said Lucy drily.

"I shall have it, though," said Cedric. "It's not divided up like the other stuff. I get it outright. And if I sell it for a good fat price the money will be capital, not income, so I shan't have to pay taxes on it. Money to burn. Think of it."

"I always understood you rather despised money," said Lucy.

"Of course I despise money when I haven't got any," said Cedric. "It's the only dignified thing I do. What a lovely girl you are, Lucy, or do I just think so because I haven't seen any good-looking women for a long time?"

"I expect that's it," said Lucy.

Bandit Grabs $1,800 in Bank at Windsor

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — A shaky gunman robbed Canadian Bank of Commerce in downtown Windsor of $1,800 yesterday.

He fled into the crowded streets when a 35-year-old woman teller screamed after emptying a cash drawer for him.

The gunman, described as dark and about 35, waited in line with bank customers in front of the teller's cage occupied by Mrs. Corinne Grass.

Two witnesses told police the man was "so nervous he was shaking."

When he got to the teller's window he presented a check, then pulled a gun. Mrs. Grass gave him the money in a cash drawer

"He ordered me to come outside the counter," she said, "but I backed away. Then he began to back away, too, and bumped his head against a glass partition. When this happened I screamed."

The Gunman fled.

Scientists Strive to Perfect Vaccine for Common Cold

By JOHN A. BARBOUR
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP) — It's called the common cold. But 40 million Americans will find it uncommonly uncomfortable before the winter ends.

From now until the season passes its peak at the end of March, one of every four Americans will nurse a sore throat, cough or cold every single day.

Millions are spent annually on medicines to attack cold miseries. A greater cost is the 150 million work days lost each year to the common cold.

But now, for the first time, there is real hope that science may be narrowing the cold field.

Already researchers have clipped off the area labeled influenza. Their vaccines, says the public health service, are 70 per cent effective.

So well developed are their techniques they had a vaccine ready to meet the Asian flu invasion soon after its epidemic form was reported heading toward this country.

Doctors have also conquered a whole group of adenoviruses that prey on U. S. Army recruits in their first weeks of training. Adenoveruses cause fever, aches and pains, sometimes a sore throat and other cold-type symptoms.

Now they have taken the first small steps against the viruses of the common cold itself.

The signal to launch the attack against all cold-type diseases was sounded by three American doctors who perfected a way in which viruses could be grown on animal tissues. For their discovery, Drs. John F. Enders, Thomas H. Weller and Frederick Robbins won a Nobel Prize.

They also laid the basic technique on which was built Dr. Jonas Salk's vaccine against polio.

With this technique, viruses of influenza, adeno diseases and the common cold have been isolated and vaccines made from the killed viruses.

The latest discovered virus in the battle against the cold is one of the elusive members of the common cold family itself.

Called the 2060 virus, it was isolated by a Tulane University team of researchers headed by Drs. William J. Mogabgab and William Pelon.

These scientists are also working on ways to blend many of the virus vaccines into a multipurpose fluid that could protect against influenza, adenoviruses and some known common cold viruses.

As common as the common cold is, it's surprising how many misconceptions there are about how to treat a cold. The common cold foundation, which supports research in the field, offers these facts:

Cold weather, drafts or puddles don't cause colds — but they can lower your resistance, or make an existing cold worse. The same goes for poor nutrition or overfatigue.

The only way to catch a cold is by direct contact with an infected person — such as kissing. But don't let that stop you. It's still 9 to 1 you'll not get a cold from it.

Expectant Dad Can't Take It Like Mom-to-Be

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Actually men are the weaker sex," says Dr. W.C.W. Nixon, professor of obstetrics at the University of London, England.

He told a gynecological conference here that more than 15 per cent of English fathers insist on being in delivery rooms with their wives.

"One father fainted dead away while watching his child being delivered," Dr. Nixon said. "He smashed to the floor and was knocked out.

"When we could get around to him, we discovered he had a broken jaw. His wife went home with the baby in four days, but he spent six weeks in our hospital."

Home Improvements Will Be Displayed

The fifth annual Home Improvement Show sponsored by the Pontiac Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held April 24-27 at the Miracle Mile Town and Country Shopping Center on Telegraph road.

Jaycees this year have arranged to have exhibits displayed inside an unleased shop capable of holding 61 booths featuring the latest in improvements for both the inside and the outside of the home.

General Named to Replace Chou

New Foreign Minister Chen Yi Led Army in Routing Nationalists

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chen Yi, Red China's new foreign minister, is a fat man who was educated in France. His rise to his new post was a touch of irony.

A Communist since before the 1930's, Chen led the army in the rout of Chiang Kai-Shek's Nationalist forces from Shanghai, the east coast and the lower Yangtze Valley in 1949. His military feat was one of the finest of the Communist generals. But he got no immediate reward.

NATION ZONED

When Chiang and his forces were driven off the mainland, the Reds zoned the nation into several vast regions, called military and administrative districts. They were headed by the victorious generals — all except east China where Chen was the conqueror.

A die-hard Marxist, Jao Shu-shih, elbowed Chen aside and the military hero ended up in the relatively insignificant post of mayor of Shanghai.

Perhaps Chen got shoved aside because he hated foreigners—including Russians —and liked parties and good-time living. Neither of these would have gone well with purist Reds like Jao.

Chen, in name only, was still army commander, even when some of his units were fighting Americans and other U. N. troops in Korea.

STAR APPEARS

Then Chen's star appeared once more in the Red China sky. The military districts were broken up and Jao went to Peiping to become a member of the powerful Communist party Central Committee. A short time later, however, he was purged and either jailed or executed.

Chen was elevated to the National Congress. In 1955 he became vice premier under Chou En-lai, the man he succeeds as foreign minister.

His high position in the regime became evident when he went to the Asian - African conference at Bandung in 1955 as Chou's No. 2 man. In 1956 he launched a campaign to wipe out illiteracy in China.

He is a man who believes China is for the Chinese. He has been known to scowl at th sight of a white man in China.

Before the Geneva summit conference in 1955, he told an East German newspaper that Red China would invade Formosa if negotiations with the United States broke down.

"The Americans must vanish from Formosa," he said, "in order that China can assert its legitimate rights in Formosa."

Graham's Crusade Moves to Guatemala

GUATEMALA (AP)— Organizers of Billy Graham's revival meetings here called on the public to elcome the U., evangelist today with a mass demonstration and parade.

Graham speaks tonight and tomorrow night in Guatemala city's 25,000-seat football stadium.

Guatemalan Catholics, the bulk of the population, were warned by a priest "not to offer any kind of collaboration" with the two-day revival.

Half-page newspaper ads calling for attendance at the meetings were matched by ads addressed to Catholics by Father Isidro Iriarte, Jesuit chaplain of La Merced Church.

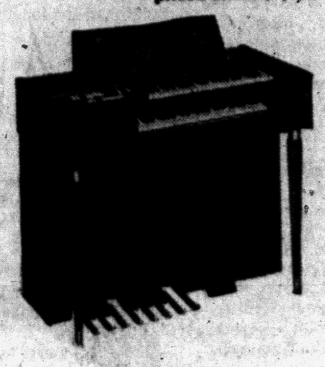

The priest acknowledged "indisputable merit in the person of Billy Graham" but warned that "his views and doctrine are inadmissible to Catholics."

The Brooklyn Bridge has more cables on one side than the other. Faulty cables were supplied, so additional cables were strung to make both sides of the bridge of equal strength.

Men's Night Marked by Musicale Chorus

It was "A Grand Night for Singing" and Mrs. George Putnam led Pontiac Tuesday Musicale's Chorus in a delightful program last night opening with the Rodgers and Hammerstein favorite.

BELLE OF THE BALL

"Aunt Dinah's Quilting Party" brought out the belle of the ball and the gay blade as Mrs. LaVerne Cox and the chorus sang the spritely number.

Mrs. Fred Stimpert and Mrs. O. L. Smith were presented in a comedy act, and Edward Banghart, guest singer, presented several folk songs.

All the way through the first act the chorus sang, danced and toted guns as was the custom in early days. A true Western number, "Wagon Wheels," was sung by June Rohr, guest performer, and the entire chorus.

MRS. GEORGE PUTNAM

The gayest blade of all was George Putnam, who appeared as a special "dandy" singing "I Wonder Who's Kissing Her Now?"

And the bird was never so gilded as when sung by Mrs. J. K. Helvey and the ensemble. (A slight tug at the bustled skirt and the audience had a peek at her high button shoes.)

CHILDREN PERFORM

The Tuesdi-Musi-Mouseteers, all young children of Tuesday Musicale members, got in the act with the Mickey Mouse theme song.

The second act opened with the spiritual "Set Down Servant" featuring Mrs. Clyde Marshbanks and George Putnam, and Mrs. Michael Siano was soloist for "I Believe."

Others featured were Phyllis Smith singing "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands" and Interlochen scholarship winners Deanna and Gary Relyea, duo pianists, playing "Chinatown" by Ravel.

The songs of Rogers and Hammerstein and Romberg were sung during the third act, with Mrs. J. W. Wignall and Mrs. Helvey as the soloists. Accompanists were Mrs. Addison K. Oakley and Mrs. Ferdinand Gaensbauer.

The program ended with the beautiful Rodgers and Hammerstein "You'll Never Walk Alone" sung by the chorus.

Filling the intermission period with more delightful music was Mrs. Arthur R. Dodge at the organ, and she also accompanied the group in the finale. Yes, the audience agreed, it was "A Grand Night for Singing!"

We Must Apply Nutritional Knowledge

Our Diet Is Often Sadly Deficient

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

We think of our national eating habits as being of a very high grade. This should be true since we have an abundance of food and since information concerning nutrition is widespread.

Yet a survey by the United States Department of Agriculture and many other studies have shown the diets of a large segment of humans are sadly deficient in one or more of the essential foods.

The National Food Conference which will be held in Washington, D. C., on Feb. 24 will highlight the need for good nutrition. Dr. Frederick Stare from the School of Public Health at Harvard University, Dr. David Allman, president of the American Medical Association, Margaret Mead, well-known anthropologist, and many other distinguished speakers will be present.

However, all of the information available today about the latest discoveries in nutrition is to no avail unless we apply it to our daily lives. People read about what they need in their diet every day and then fall back into the same old habits.

Many older people lose interest in food; others from middle age on eat plenty but the wrong kind. You can be overweight and still be starved for the essentials. The stresses and strains of life cause others to procrastinate about putting what they know into practice.

SHE LOST HEART

I have one friend in New York who hardly ever prepared a square meal for herself after her husband died. It was easier to have a cup of coffe at breakfast, a snack at noon and eat out of the icebox at night. She didn't have the heart for anything else.

An older man I know became a food faddist. In his late 50s he was ill a lot of the time. His family finally persuaded him to go to a famous clinic where his trouble soon was diagnosed. The doctors told him, "You are starving to death," and put him on a well-balanced diet. Soon he enjoyed better health than he had in years.

Milk is an important part of your diet and should not be neglected.

As we grow older our diet is of the greatest importance. Older folks need less food but should have a wide variety and use the protective foods constantly. For instance, many middle-aged and older people are deficient in calcium because they leave milk off their diet and do not compensate with other calcium-rich foods.

Mature and older men and women must be certain to get all of the seven basic foods necessary for balanced meals EVERY DAY, if they wish to prolong the youthful portion of life and avoid some of the maladies which strike at midlife and in older years.

Never forget how important your food is to your health!

Middle Age Isn't So Bad ---if You Have Grown Up

Mature Woman Discovers There Are Compensations for Getting Older

By RUTH MILLETT

Being middle-aged isn't so bad. Even for a woman it has its compensations. Once she reaches middle age—

A woman's looks are no longer so all important that she is miserable if her hair doesn't look just so or she hasn't exactly the right dress for a certain occasion.

By then she has learned that other people are going to be thinking more about themselves than about her, so she is freed of the self-consciousness that possessed her when she was young.

A setback isn't devastating, because she has lived long enough to expect reverses and to make allowances for them.

She doesn't waste much time on pretense, because if she has learned anything at all through experience it is that the only people who really matter are those who like her "as is."

A bad break doesn't throw her for a trrific loss, because life has taught her that things often turn out for the best, no matter how bad they look at a given moment, and that what seems like a bad break is sometimes a lucky one in disguise.

She doesn't expect others to be perfect, so she isn't disillusioned when someone she admires proves to be less than perfect. She has learned to take people pretty much as they are — the bad along with the good.

She no longer thinks she will "simply die" if she can't do this or have that, for the years have given her a sense of values that helps to keep things in perspective.

So it's really not so bad being middle-aged — if a woman has done a little growing up along with growing older.

South Sea Shades Glamorize Hosiery

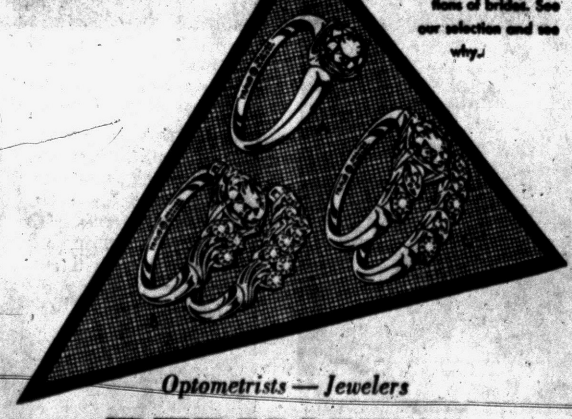

Newest idea in seamless stocking glamor is South Sea colors. Blue Lagoon, for example, is suggested for wear with spring blues.

Samoa, a pale golden tone, complements the season's range of yellows. Tiki, an apricot shade, is suggested for wear with vibrant orange.

Invitations Are Subject of Questions

Does Refusing Bid Cancel Obligation to the Hostess?

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: If I cannot accept an invitation to a bridge luncheon, (1) do I still 'owe' this hostess an invitation, and must I invite her to a similar party? (2) Also, I never know whether it is proper to ask a less intimate friend the second time if she has refused the first invitation, or if according to etiquette I must let the next invitation come from her?"

Answer: (1) According to etiquette, the invitation, even though not accepted, incurs an obligation which you ought to return if you can. This return need not be an invitation in kind.

(2) Certainly you may ask one who is in any degree a friend as often as you choose. But you naturally would not continue to ask those who have given no evidence that their feelings toward you are especially friendly.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a gentleman sees a lady into a taxi, should he pay the driver or give her the money to pay him?"

Answer: If he had invited her to go out with him and then for some unavoidable reason he could not see her home, it would be proper to pay the driver and give him the address.

But if he is merely a fellow guest at a party and, happening to leave at the same time, calls a taxi for her, he must not do anything about her fare. He shuts the door and says goodnight and that is all.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I received a very pretty horseshoe pin for my birthday and there has been some controversy as to the correct way of wearing it. I have been wearing it with the open end facing upward, but I have been told that it should be worn with the open end down. Will you please tell me which is correct?"

Answer: Most people wear the open end up, probably because of the old superstition that all the good luck in a horseshoe will run out of it if the ends are down.

Spiked Heels Enlarge Hips

LOS ANGELES (INS) — An expert has warned fashion-conscious women that spiked heels and big hips are synonymous.

Dr. Elizabeth Austin of the University of Southern California says that women who constantly wear high-heeled shoes develop bigger and rounder hips than do their "outdoor" sisters who go in for flat heels and sneakers.

Dr. Austin explained that high-heel shoes produce a type of posture that just naturally "over-exercises" the hip muscles.

Here's Meaning of Terms Used for Men's Wear

DETROIT (INS) — Does the salesman talk too fast for you when you buy clothes?

Here are some apparel terms which you probably heard before without actually knowing what they meant.

Gabardine is a wool worsted fabric with fine or bold diagonal lines and a hard finish. It's good for all types of weather and cleans well.

Cheviot is a medium weight wool with a slight shaggy surface. Men like this material because it holds its shape despite rugged wear.

Tweed refers to rough-surfaced, heavy wool material either with a plain or twill weave. It is often woven in more than one color to effect a check or even plaid pattern.

Sharkskin is a smooth all-wool worsted with a twill or basket weave. It has a sleek look and holds creases almost indefinitely.

Tired, Red Eyes Mar Loveliness

Tired, red-rimmed eyes detract from an otherwise sparkling appearance. After a day at the office, try this. Soak pieces of asorbent cotton in witch hazel, cold water or a mild solution of boric acid.

Lie down, close your eyes and place soaked cotton on them. Do this for about 15 minutes. The 15 minutes of quiet also will be generally relaxing.

Douse Cigarette

Don't smoke in an elevator. Better to waste that half-smoked cigar or cigarette than to annoy others who will have to breathe the tobacco smoke.

Judith Anne Gaylor and Dennis J. Daugherty Jr. were married Saturday. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Gaylor of Lake Orion. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Daugherty of Wolfe street.

MR. and MRS. D. DAUGHERTY JR.

Judith A. Gaylor Speaks Marriage Vows in Orion

St. Joseph Catholic Church in Lake Orion was the scene of the Saturday wedding uniting Judith Anne Gaylor and Dennis J. Daugherty Jr. The Rev. George E. Ging performed the ceremony in the presence of 100 guests.

Judith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon J. Gaylor of Lake Orion. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Dennis J. Daugherty of Wolfe street.

The bride approached the altar wearing a floor-length gown of white lace over slipper satin featuring a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of illusion was secured to a sweetheart crown of rhinestones and seed pearls, and she carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white carnations centered by a white orchid.

Maid of honor Valerie J. Gariepy of Detroit wore a turquoise floor-length gown of net over satin and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of American Beauty roses.

Bridesmaid Maureen Daugherty, a sister of the bridegroom, wore a floor-length dress of lace and net over pale pink satin and carried a basket of pink roses and carnations.

Acting as best man was Michael Keith. The guests were seated by Neil Gaylor of Lake Orion and Tom Poponea.

For a reception held in St. Michael Parish Hall, Pontiac, Mrs. Gaylor chose a pink wool suit with pink and black accessories and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Daugherty was dressed in a beige lace fitted suit with brown accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Before leaving on a trip to northern Michigan and Canada the new Mrs. Daugherty changed to a beige and brown striped sheath dress with brown accessories and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Many Parks Stay Open All Winter

Some of the West's finest national parks and forests, contrary to popular opinion, don't close down in winter months for late tourists.

The Rocky Mountain Motor Club notes that many lodges and other facilities close their doors in October because of the lack of visitors, but the parks remain open. Usually accommodations are readily available in the winter months at local communities.

Among those staying open the year around are:

Zion National Park in the massive, beautiful mesa country of southwest Utah.

Grand Canyon National Park, the West's most scenic view, is accessible on the southern rim year round. The northern rim closes in November.

Mesa Verde National Park, the fabled land of the Indian cliff-dwellers in southwest Colorado.

Grand Teton National Park in western Wyoming, a wooded wonderland with all the natural beauty of Yellowstone, but more accessible.

St. Anthony Unit of St. Benedict Elects Officers

Jane Pendergast was named captain of St. Anthony Unit of St. Benedict Guild Monday evening in the Voorheis road home of Mrs. Peter Aldo.

Also elected were Mrs. Aldo, co-captain; Mrs. Fred DeLongchamp, secretary; Mrs. Theodore Dobski, treasurer, and Mrs. Lane Foster, publicity chairman.

Others named were Mrs. Homer Moran, kitchen chairman; Mrs. Wayne Miller, dining room; Mrs. Bernard Stone and Mrs. Richard Chappell, calling.

Dear Abby....

Your Father Is Old Enough to Answer Calls Like Adult

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Please print this and you will be doing a lot of unsuspecting parents a favor. Our daughter is a lovely

ABBY

15-year-old honor-roll student. She would take her homework and go on "sitting jobs" to earn a little extra money.

The people (usually the man) would call for her in a car and bring her home. One night she came running into the house breathless. Instead of driving her straight home the father tried to get her to stop off for a beer with him.

When she refused he tried to get her to kiss him goodnight and there was a little struggle before she got out of the car. The wife telephoned the next day to apologize for him. Said he had been drinking.

Nothing serious happened but it could have. Parents, please check up on the homes where you let your daughters go to sit. Money isn't everything.

EXPERIENCED MOTHER

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my sister is 15 and our problem is our father. He won't let either one of us get any telephone calls from boys.

When one calls he either says it is the wrong number or Joe's Pool Room and when he hangs up he has himself a good laugh. Don't you think we are old enough to get calls from boys?

DISGUSTED WITH FATHER

DEAR GIRLS: You are old enough to get calls from boys—and your father is old enough to answer the telephone like an adult.

DEAR ABBY: My husband is quite a talker. I don't mind his talking but the only time he includes me in the conversation is to ask me a question that requires either a "yes" or "no" answer. Like "Did you feed the dog?" or "Do you think it's going to rain?"

All I ever get is a chance to say yes or no. I find this very tiresome. I am almost forgetting how to talk. Do you think I am unreasonable in objecting to this form of conversation?

YES OR NO

DEAR YES. No!

DEAR ABBY: I am a young man of 21 and have been working for my father since I was 14. All these years he has not paid me a penny in wages, just an allowance of five dollars a week.

I am very much in love with my girl and want to get married but I can't afford it. Should I take my father to court and get my money for all these years or what should I do?

ALL MIXED UP

DEAR MIXED: Before you take your father to court, you'd better get your figures ready. Start from the day you were born and add your food, clothing, education, medical expenses and entertainment (not to mention the high cost of worry, grief and heartache every parent endures.)

Do you think "helping your father" for five dollars a week leaves HIM owing YOU? Think it over, Son.

DEAR ABBY: If your correspondent who is allergic to cigarette smoke will light two candles, she will not notice the smoke at all. Don't ask me why, Abby. I don't know. All I know is that it works.

W. J. C.

CONFIDENTIAL TO R. W.: Don't be afraid to criticize me. I can learn more from my enemies than I can from my friends.

CONFIDENTIAL: DEAR DISGUSTED WOMAN IN HER 40s: There is a good reason why you are target for these gags. Probably because you let everyone watch your temperature rise.

I agree. Your co-workers have a pretty cruel sense of humor—but if you weren't so annoyed they'd find another goat. Either control your anger . . . or get another job, where the gang is more agreeable.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of The Pontiac Press. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Protect Child Against Inviting Resentment

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

This Christmas a wealthy, childless aunt sent 13-year-old Mary a nutria fur coat. The child teased for permission to wear it to school—and got it.

Her classmates oh'd and ah'd over the coat. But when Mary displayed her beautifully embroidered name on its lining, they suddenly lost interest in it. Later in the cafeteria, nobody offered to help Mary clear a place for her tray.

The other girls' coldness made Mary miserable; but instead of realizing she had created it by her boastful behavior, she experienced the snubbing as a queer, uncontrollable mystery.

Mary is a child who has never been taught what psychiatrists call "social reality."

In his book, "Children Who Hate," social worker Dr. Fritz Redl writes: "We have known many children who were stuck on a naive level of early childhood enjoying reciting a poem or song without the slightest awareness of the infantile quality of behavior which might have brought applause from auntie but which was poison to an audience of their contemporaries."

It is cruel to permit children to make boastful displays before other ones.

Always the boastful child senses the resentment he arouses. His problem is the helplessness it makes him feel. For like Mary, he's not been made conscious of his part in attracting it.

As his experiences with it multiply, he becomes frantic—and begins to make yet more aggressive demands on others' admiration. Thus, his boastfulness increases and with it, the coldness of others' response to him.

We permit Mary to wear her show-off coat to school because we ourselves have not registered the hurtful resentment we arouse by our own need to lord it over other people.

We have to get on to it, however, if we are to help Mary see what her boastfulness costs her. We'll just encourage her to go on inviting hurt instead of being able to say, 'No, you can't wear your fur coat to school. It will make the other girls hate you. If we are stung by too many wasps, we can get sick.

"If we invite too much hate, we can get sick, too. You have to learn how to protect yourself against a lot of hate just as you have to learn to avoid wasps' nests."

Washington Caters to Military Guests

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — To Joseph F. Donohue's way of thinking, the nation's capital is everyone's second home.

Donohue, now president of Recreation Services, Inc., says we have a very special responsibility in making the millions who visit us annually feel at home, but an "even greater responsibility towards the very young men in uniform who are stationed here throughout these difficult, critical years."

INFLUX OF GIS

Washington, leave and weekend mecca for scores of nearby military bases in Virginia and Maryland, sometimes has an influx of as many as 20,000 servicemen in a single weekend, according to Armed Services Police.

Many of these, over the years, have been calling Washington their "best leave town."

This is partly due to the Armed Services Hospitality Committee. It provided social and recreational facilities to many thousands during World War II. It was reactivated in 1950.

Donohue is chairman of the committee of more than 80 civic and social leaders appointed by the District of Columbia commissioners.

GOOD LODGINGS

Besides advising service personnel where to go and what to see, the committee found clean and inexpensive lodgings for about 19,500 military men in 1957.

It issued more than 55,000 free and cut-rate tickets to sports events, movies, theaters, symphony concerts and the circus; arranged 78 sightseeing trips for more than 3,000 and answered some 38,000 questions.

From the servicemen's point of view, tops in the committee's endeavors is finding them dates. Last year the group enlisted 19,540 girls to attend servicemen's dances at nearby installations and in town.

"The provision of junior hostesses for the on-post dances keeps the serviceman from tearing around looking for excitement elsewhere," Lt. Col. Van H. Tanner, USAF, commanding officer, Armed Forces Police, succinctly puts it.

MORALE PROBLEM

Mrs. William M. Galvin, executive secretary of the committee, explains that "lacking a shooting war, the morale problem of men who have to stay in uniform is most acute."

She urges every town near an armed forces installation to step up its hospitality program to help bolster the spirit and dispel some of the loneliness of the men.

Let Mixture Chill Well to Blend

Mrs. Herrington's Salad Mixes Fruit, Coconut and Cream

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Many of you may have eaten the salad for which we print the recipe today. It has become a favorite with many young homemakers Mrs. Jack Herrington calls it her Dream Salad.

A full time job and a new home keep Mrs. Herrington's hours pretty well filled. She and her husband are both interested in photography and both are Sunday School teachers.

DREAM SALAD

By Mrs. Jack Herrington

2 jars mandarin oranges, drained
1 can (No. 2) pineapple chunks, drained
1 package miniature marshmallows
1 can angel flake coconut
½ pint commercial sour cream

Mix together and let stand at least two hours. The marshmallows will stay whole for that length of time. They will dissolve and make the mixture creamy if you let it stand overnight. Serve on lettuce, topped with a maraschino cherry.

Mrs. Herrington and I think this would be good frozen. Let stand to become creamy; freeze in ice cube trays and cut in squares to serve. Serves eight.

Mary Margaret Crowder and Richard G. Evans were married Saturday. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Wesley G. Crowder of Home street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Evans of Oxford.

MR. and MRS. RICHARD G. EVANS

Mary Margaret Crowder Weds in Oxford Service

At a ceremony performed Saturday evening at the First Methodist Church of Oxford Mary Margaret Crowder became the bride of Richard G. Evans. Relatives and friends were guests at the event.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley G. Crowder of Home street, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. George T. Evans of Oxford and Melbourne, Fla.

For her wedding Mary chose a ballerina-length gown of brocade taffeta accented by a scoop neckline. A tiara secured her illusion veil, and she carried a pink rosebud and ivy floral cascade centered by a white orchid. Pearls, a gift of the bridegroom, were her only jewelry.

Maid of honor, Marjorie Crowder, sister of the bride, wore a dress of pink brocade taffeta patterned after the bride's gown. Her small hat was trimmed with pink illusion veiling, and she carried a pink rosebud bouquet.

The best man was Harold Hayden.

For a reception held in the Amvets Building Mrs. Crowder chose a sheer navy crepe dress with navy and white accessories and a red carnation corsage.

Before leaving on a trip to Canada the new Mrs. Evans changed to a gray knit three-piece ensemble with black accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet. The couple will reside on Williams street.

There's a big difference between bloused-back silhouette and the bulky, loose-all-around look. Back blouse slims heavy rear.

You can wear all around blousing to build up your bustline and since this is the new fashion, wear it for almost any occasion. The back blouse definitely makes hips appear smaller.

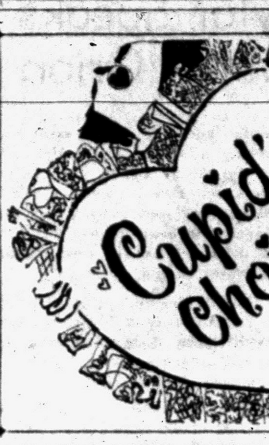

Librarians Get a Low Rating

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—People apparently think librarians are mousy, colorless whisperers who prefer books to people, says a personnel expert.

Mrs. Everett Randall, executive secretary of the Welfare Federation's occupational planning committee, says in a recent survey 4,000 Cleveland high school seniors ranked librarians near the bottom in prestige which asked to grade a long list of professions.

Cloves for Scent

In granny's day, the clove was not just a popular holiday spice. Stuck into oranges and carried in the purse, cloves were used by the ladies to leave the trail of a pleasant scent.

MR. and MRS. D. G. MOULTON

Married Saturday were Ann Margaret Pocs and Daniel Glen Moulton. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pocs of Dick avenue, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Moulton of Cherry court.

Ann Margaret Pocs Wed in St. Vincent Ceremony

Before an altar banked with white gladioli Ann Margaret Pocs became the bride of Daniel Glen Moulton Saturday morning in St. Vincent de Paul Church. The Rev. Fabian Weber celebrated the Nuptial High Mass in the presence of 125 guests.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Pocs of Dick avenue, and parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. Willard Moulton of Cherry court.

For her wedding Ann chose a silk taffeta gown accented by a Chantilly lace bodice, with insets of Chantilly lace bordering the skirt in the front and extending into a chapel - length train. A fingertip veil of illusion held her shell headpiece.

As her sister's maid of honor Julia Pocs wore a white taffeta ballerina - length gown with a red cummerbund forming a sash in the back and a red bow headband. Red carnations composed her nosegay bouquet.

Bridesmaids Patricia Barry of Lapeer, cousin of the bride, and Colleen Moulton, a sister of the bridegroom, wore white taffeta gowns with white bow headbands and carried red nosegay bouquets.

Flower girls Glenda Bacon of Alma, cousin of the bridegroom, and Martha Barry wore white taffeta ballerina - length frocks with red velvet sashes flowing to the hemline.

William Moulton attended his brother as best man. Steve Pocs brother of the bride, and Tony Grimaldi seated the guests.

For a reception held at the Pontiac Motor Division Union Hall on Kennett road Mrs. Pocs wore a royal blue dress with white accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Moulton chose a navy blue dress with a beige feather hat, beige gloves and a pink rose corsage.

Prior to leaving on a trip to Chicago the new Mrs. Moulton changed to a navy blue wool dress with white accessories and a red rose corsage from her bridal bouquet. The bride attended the St. Mary Academy at Monroe and Madonna College in Livonia.

Dorothy Falls Becomes Bride of Silas Moore

Married Feb. 3 were Dorothy Falls and Silas Moore. The Rev. Austin Steward, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, performed the ceremony in his home.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Falls of Shimmons road. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Redus Moore of Montgomery, Ala.

Thursday Night Program Slated by New Citizens

Members of executive board of New Citizens League of Pontiac met in the Stanley avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. George Durr.

Plans were discussed for the 20th anniversary of the group's annual Washington-Lincoln program which is to be held Thursday evening in Pontiac Central High School cafeteria.

Following the Saturday business session, refreshments were served by the hostess.

Kitchen Is Quieter With Rubber Tile

The ideal flooring for the kitchen, if you want to keep down clatter and confusion, is rubber tile. This resilient flooring material not only muffles sound, but also eases chances of breakage and is easy on the feet.

It's no chore to keep rubber tile bright and clean by a quick once-over with a damp mop.

LIPSTICK COLOR

Very recently a well dressed woman was heard to say, "I always wear pink lipstick." She was very nicely dressed in a brown knit, well groomed and yet somehow has looked prettier in a simple white blouse. Her remark was the key to the puzzle! She always wore the same shade lipstick! Haven't you ever wondered, when you applied your same make-up the same careful way, why you just didn't look as well, somehow?

Our lipstick must change and be color-keyed to our wardrobe!

Three lipsticks will answer every color problem:

1. True Red: for blacks, greys, whites and reds.
2. Blue Red; for violets, blues, pink tones.
3. Brown Red: for beige, orange and brown shades.

This guide will save you money when you are tempted to buy off shade lipsticks "for a change."

Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thorpe, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Ashley, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. James Hull, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew McConnaughey, Mr. and Mrs. Merrell Stephens, Mrs. E. D. Stephens and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin C. Blades.

Life on Tropic Island Is Crazy, Man... Crazy

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica (INS) —It takes about three days after arrival on a tropic island for a tourist's brain to be punctured with the certain notion that this was the way he was always meant to live.

Coddled like an egg by the sun, cuddled like a bug 'neath the moon, loose of limb and inhibition, he knows — knows, man — that things'll never be quite the same again on Wall Street.

This condition, accompanied by complications of delirium and illusions of palmed property at $1,000 a foot, is known as being "island happy." It is similar to being "stir crazy," except that much of the stir is missing; it is all an island-happy victim can do to crawl out of his sack to his patio for his bananas and papaya.

"Watch out for it carefully," warns John Pringle, one of the most powerful Jamaicans on the island. "It could mean the end of hot pastrami and television, it could offer slow death by baking.

"Island living is fine for awhile, but pretty soon you may find yourself doing crazy things. Followed by doing practically nothing at all. And everyone will know what you're doing and not doing. I tell you, you can never get away from people in Jamaica, or on any other island. Don't get the fever—stay in New York where there's privacy."

In New York, probably, John Pringle's advice would be looked upon as a "soft sell," especially since he is an old-family Jamaican who controls upwards of $30 million in swanky sanctuaries for tourists, including the newest hotel, "Casa Montego," and the costliest, "Round Hill."

But young John (at 31, a tycoon) is serious.

With an initial $3,000 profit from his New York men's haberdashery shop, Pringle was persuaded by his wife to return to his home island and open resorts. Now he is rolling in dough among the island-happy, and the only way he keeps his sanity is to make about 15 trips a year to New York.

Hobby Show Slated for PTA Meeting

An unusual hobby show will be on display at the PTA meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Monteith Elementary School, Waterford Township.

Such hobbies as handicrafts, radio, ceramics and stamp collections will be shown, and teachers will be hosts for the evening.

Grains Drop in Sweden

STOCKHOLM — Sweden's 1957 bread-grains harvest is estimated at 981,000 tons, consisting of 741,000 tons of wheat and 240,000 tons of rye. This is 240,000 tons, or nearly 20 per cent, under the 1956 total.

Fodder grains are estimated at 1,983,000 tons, a decline of 448,000 tons, or nearly 20 per cent.

One-Way Street System Sought in School Area

City Commissioner Gilbert W. Long has proposed a one-way street system for the protection of youngsters attending McConnell School, located on Paddock street between Willard and Cottage streets.

Long said that Willard should be made one-way heading east and Cottage one-way heading west for the block between Paddock at the front of the school and Jessie street at the rear.

"Parking on Willard and Cottage should be allowed only on the sides opposite the school," Long said.

"That way, parents can drive up to the curb to deliver and pick up their children. The youngsters won't have to run across the street in traffic to reach their parents' cars."

City Manager Walter K. Willman said the city's administrative staff would study the proposal and come up with a recommendation whether to adopt it.

Dam Work Delayed Till Frost Leaves

All construction work on the Pontiac Lake dam in Waterford Township has been halted until frost leaves the ground, according to Oakland County Drain Commissioner Dan Barry.

Yesteday's deadline date for completion of the dam was postponed until sometime in early April, when fill dirt is more available, he added.

Approximately 95 per cent of work on the concrete control structure has been completed and about 80 per cent of the earth work on the dikes is finished, Barry said.

Consul of France to Address Reserves

Jean P. Desparmet, consul of France in Detroit, will be the guest speaker at the Pontiac Air Force Reserve Squardon 9613 meeting tomorrow night, at squadron headquarters, 67 Oakland Ave.

Desparmet will speak on "The Algerian Situation" in connection with the reserve's policy of keeping members well informed about areas of current world interest.

A much decorated officer in the French Army, Desparmet was a member of the French underground in North Africa and served in the Tunisian, Italian, and French theaters during World War II. He has worked in the United Nations and was named to his present position in 1956. The meeting will begin at 8:15 p.m.

Hal Boyle Says:

Playwright Afraid of Dawning Space Age

NEW YORK (AP) — Playwright Peter Ustinov is a man with no desire to put his plastic mind inside a plastic helmet.

"I am convinced that in opening up the space age we will take ourselves mentally back to the 11th and 12th century," said the author and star of the Broadway satire, "Romanoff and Juliet," which spoofs the cold war between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"It is only the lack of space that has forced man to become as civilized as he is.

"If people get the idea there is more space to be occupied, they may go back to the earliest forms of colonialism, and engage in religious wars with the natives of other planets. Why not?

"There would be room to make again all the mistakes mankind made in the past.

"It might be a better thing if there were an invasion from space against us. That at least would consolidate mankind."

At 6 Ustinov, the London-born son of a Russian newspaperman, has become a literary enfant terrible of two continents. He bears a pudgy, bearded resemblance to Anton Chekhov. He talks like a mixture of Oscar Wilde, Bernard Shaw and H. L. Mencken.

As busy as he is unorthodox, Ustinov — he speaks five languages—has written a dozen plays and two revues, acted in ten movies and produced three. He is also a lecturer, a television star—and is currently turning out a novel.

"I work on it over weekends," he said. "It's difficult to say what it's about—except to say that it's about a man who learns how to survive by learning how to cheat and lie."

Personally one of the most charming imports from Britain in many a year, Pete—as the stagehands call him—gives the impression of a chubby teddy bear that deights in airing out-of-the-ordinary views.

Here are a few random sparks struck during a luncheon interview:

"Most humorists are quite serious."

"In this day and age I very much distrust experts. If and when the world blows itself up, the last coherent sounds heard will be an expert saying, 'It can't be done.'"

"I disike the military mind and politicians. The relative importance of politicians during their lifetime is out of all proportion to their importance in history. Who today can name the minister of finance in Austria when Beethoven lived there?"

"Self-pity is the worst of all personal vices, and the most socially embarrassing of all sins."

"If I am afraid of anything, it probably is dogs. Even the most intelligent dogs, it seems to me, act like sergeants."

Ustinov, who also has a low opinion of most generals, has a basic reason to distrust sergeants. In four years in the British army in the World War II he rose to the rank of private.

90 Pct. of French Cars Now Small, Functional

PARIS — Because of high taxes, high gasoline prices and urban traffic and parking problems, the percentage of smaller cars (less than 8 horsepower for tax purposes) is increasing in France.

Eighty per cent of the passenger cars made in France in 1956 consisted of these functional little cars; for the first eight months of 1957 the percentage had climbed to about 90.

Rob 'Good Samaritan'

DENVER (INS) — When Richard Gomez saw the four men lying in the street, he courteously stopped his car to see if he could be of any assistance. The four men jumped up, rushed him and when he came to, his billfold and $8 were gone.

Car License Plates Issued in Waterford

Automobile license plates were issued for the first time at the Waterford Township Hall, on Highland road Monday, and a final tally shows that business was heavy as 213 sets of 1958 plates were sold on opening day.

The new office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Saturday until March 8, when the office will close at 1 p.m. Applicants must have the title of their vehicle with them in order to receive plates.

Willis M. Brewer, Pontiac branch manager, happy over the first day turnout said, "This service will alleviate a great deal of congestion in the Pontiac office, as well as being a convenience for people in the Waterford Township area."

Timber resources on the public domain of the U. S. have an estimated current value of more than $100 million.

PLAN SWEETHEARTS BALL — The annual Sweethearts Ball, sponsored by parents of children at the Woodward - Stony Creek School, Rochester, will be held Saturday, Feb. 22. Proceeds from the dance will go into the library fund for the elementary school. Dancing will be from 9 p.m. to midnight, amid decorations of cherries and hearts.

April 7 Election Slated in Washington Township

Gas Franchise Is Ballot Issue

Firing of Zoning Official Also Decided by Board at Meeting Last Night

ROMEO—The Washington Township Board last night set April 7 as the date for a special election to vote on renewal of a 30-year franchise with the Southeastern Michigan Gas Co.

A member of the Township Zoning Board was removed from office for continuing to operate a gravel pit contrary to a recent vote of the Township Board.

Erwin Rush, of 64510 Dequindre, said in a letter to township officials that he did not consider he was in violation at the present time.

Rush claimed the pit he was operating, located near Mt. Vernon and Inwood Rds., had been a gravel pit for many years. He added that another pit was operating across the road, and because of these factors, he did not intend to resign.

Township Treasurer William M. Oming said last night there was no delinquency in the township's payment for fire calls to the Romeo Fire Department. He said there was no record of the account because no contract had ever been presented.

The matter will be cleared up, he said, as soon as official notification is received from the department.

A request will be sent to the Macomb County Road Commission asking that steps be taken to correct unsafe driving conditions in the township—particularly on Mound and 31-Mile roads.

The hazards are caused, board members said, by digging gravel "too close" to the thoroughfares.

Michigan Farmers Invited to Workshop

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Ohio and Michigan farmers were invited yesterday to attend a workshop here Feb. 20-21 on the nematode, a tiny parasite with an immense appetite for plant roots.

No bigger than a grain of salt, the nematode is blamed for destruction of more than a billion dollars worth of American crops a year.

Its method of feeding is to tap into roots with its hollow beak and suck out the juices. This withers and stunts plants in a manner that has led farmers for years to blame the nematode's damage on "worked out land" or "poor soil."

In two Midwest areas, federal and state agencies have put on quarantines to prevent the pest from spreading. One is in soybean growing regions of Missouri and the other is in potato fields of Wisconsin.

Twelve agricultural scientists have been scheduled to speak at the Toledo meeting in the Holiday Inn motel, at the Ohio turnpike and U.S. 120.

BERLIN — Some researchers credit Christian F. L. Buschmann with inventing the first modern harmonica and give the date as 1831. He is also said to have invented the handaeoline, forerunner of the accordion. Some say Frederick Hotz of Knittlingen made the first harmonica.

Doris Day Set to Co-Star in Comedy for Columbia

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—My neighbor, Doris Day, tells me she starts "The Wreck of the Old 57," a comedy at Columbia with Jack Lemmon, in May.

"What about your trip to Europe?" I asked her.

Doris said she decided not to go because her son Terry wants to come home for his Easter vacation. He is in school in the East, and she will be busy on "Tunnel of Love" for some weeks.

Like so many others in Hollywood, Doris was shocked over the death of Mannie Sacks, who did so much for so many people. She first met him when she was singing with Les Brown's band, and she told me he always gave her excellent advice.

Doris and her husband, Marty Melcher, tried to reach Mannie on the phone a week ago but he was too sick to talk.

Those two young producers, Jim Harris and Stan Kubrick, who made the highly successful picture, "The Killers," have been in a long distance huddle with Stewart Granger about playing the lead in "I Stole $16,000,000" for Kirk Douglas' Bryna Productions.

Granger is now doing "Harry Black" in Europe, and will then co-star with his wife, Jean Simmons, in "The Night Comers" in Singapore.

If Harris and Kubrick can wait until the end of the last picture, Stewart will accept the offer.

For George Raft crime has always paid off, on the screen of course. His best roles have always been tough guys.

Now he's returning to his first love as "Mr. A," head of a nationwide vice ring in "High School Confidential."

This is George's first appearance at MGM since he made "Rogue Cop" with Bob Taylor in 1954. "High School Confidential" is a teenage drama being produced by Al Zugsmith and it deals with one of the most pressing problems of the day, the teenage delinquent.

Carla Alberghetti, Anna Maria's younger sister, has blossomed into a beauty. She's lost weight and she's gained poise and confidence.

She dropped in to see me, and to tell me she has been engaged to play the lead in "Kismet" this summer in the Dayton, Ohio, summer stock company.

Carla is working very hard for her solo appearance at the Cocoanut Grove in March. This will be her first singing engagement without Anna Maria.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Young Vince, 14-year-old son of Kitty and Vincent Flaherty, had an emergency appendectomy at St. John's Hospital. He has also been quite sick with flu.

That record contract Rock Hudson made with Decca Records is for Rock to narrate, not to sing.

Charlie Chaplin's silent movie, "The Kid," narrated and with music, is currently showing in West Berlin.

From New York I hear that Peggy Lee received a standing ovation at the Copacabana night club.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

U. of M. Offers Hospital Course

Three-Semester Class for Medical Assistants to Begin at City General

The first of a three-semester course for medical assistants will begin Thursday at 8 p.m. at Pontiac General Hospital.

The course, offered through the University of Michigan extension service, is sponsored jointly through the cooperation of the Oakland County Medical Assistants Assn. and the Michigan State Medical Assistants Assn.

The first 16-week semester will stress medical orientation, anatomy, physiology, body functions as related to disease, laboratory techniques and office medical techniques.

No credit or certification will be given after completion of the course.

Wednesday at 8 p.m. a meeting will be held in the basement of St. Paul's Evangelical Church, 157 E. Nine Mile Rd., Ferndale, to discuss the course with county medical assistants.

Attending the meeting will be Doris E. Jarrad, president of the state organizaton; Marlouise Redman, past state president and Dr. Ralph Steffek, of the university.

Persons interested in the course have been invited to attend the Wednesday night meeting.

The other two semesters of the course, offered for the first time in Oakland County, will concern business orientation and humanities.

Industry Demand for Engineer Grad Found Lessening

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (INS) — Unversity of Arkansas officials say the average engineering graduate is no longer being hard sought by industry and so must hit the job hunting trail after graduation.

Louis Trager, head of the university's job placement department, said:

Trager said new and higher standards are being set by industry for new engineering employes and that quality, and not quantity, is the key to the new trend.

No longer are engineering graduates the much-sought-after objects of "wining, dining and fat salary" offers by industry recruiters who once flooded campuses in the spring, Trager added.

J. R. Bissett, associate director of the university's engineering research station, said he believed all Arkansas U's engineering grads would get jobs, but added:

"It seems recruiters are less hungry for graduates now. Opportunities for engineers are becoming more narrow. Recruiters want a better class of men."

University admission officials said the lessening demand may be the result of soaring enrollment in engineering schools, and the consequent increase of the engineering reserve—at a time when the government is cutting down on contracts.

Won't Up Cost of City Sewage

Tests of Clinton River to Continue Rather Than Build New Plant

Pontiac probably won't have to spend any money this year on new sewage treatment plant facilities.

Fears that the city would be forced to begin spending money or a new pant to eliminate polution of the Clinton river were eased last night by the State Water Resources Commission.

In a letter to the City Commission, the state board indicated it would continue testing Clinton's waters for impurities until "late this year," when a final report might be readied.

It would be on the basis of this report that Pontiac would learn whether it must build more treatment facilities in the near future. Failure to begin new construction if ordered by the state could lead to court action.

Calling the announcement "a reprieve," City Manager Walter K. Willman explained that to have been forced to spend sewage money this year "would have knocked the budget haywire."

In anticipation of possible court action, the city last year asked voters to approve a $2,700,000 bond issue for a new sewage plant and interconnecting facilities. The bond issue was turned down.

Since then, city planners have kept their fingers crossed, awaiting the state's report. The water commissfon has been testing the Clinton since last year.

As long as the city's existing treatment facilities keep working "at their highest possible standard," nothing further should be demanded until late this year, the water commission indicated last night.

Potter Says Dems 'Captive' of Reuther

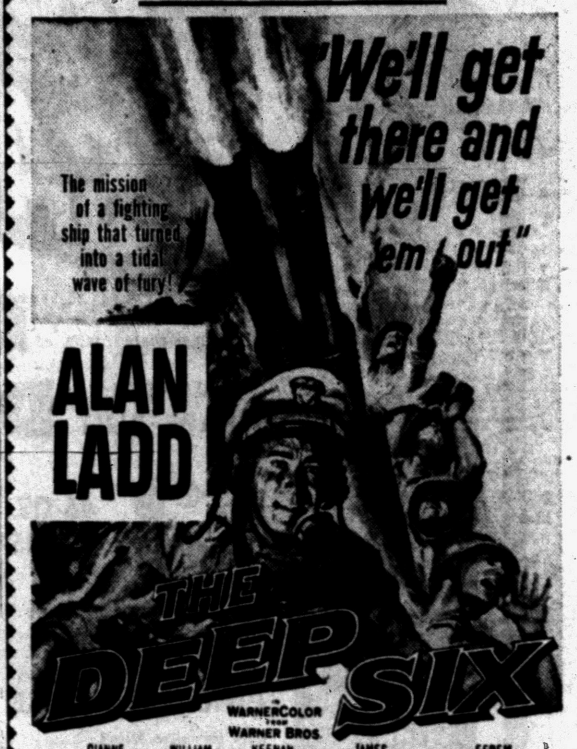

GRAND RAPIDS (INS) — Sen. Charles E. Potter (R-Mich) charged today United Auto Workers President Walter P. Reuther holds the Michigan Democratic Party "captive" and could possibly "dictate" who will be in the White House in 1960 or 1964.

Potter told a Lincoln Day banquet in Grand Rapids the state Republicans would be combating Reuther during the 1958 election campaign as well as the Democrats. He charged the union chief has held the Democrats "captive" since 1946. The senator added:

"I am old-fashioned enough to believe a majority of people will not want to let Reuther dictate who'll be the man in the White House in 1960 or 1964."

Young People Favor Theology

Saturday Night Dance Less Popular, Claims Presbyterian Minister

OMAHA (AP) — Will teen-agers pass up a Saturday night dance to talk about theology?

Yes, they do it every other week in Kansas City, says Dr. H. Dale Small, minister of education at the Second Presbyterian Church there.

His description of a young people's group he works with has attracted attention at a meeting of the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Education.

Dr. Small's group is called "Comrades of the Way."

There are about 75 high school juniors and seniors in the group, most of them members of the fraternities and sororities, leaders in school activities, some of them athletes—"sharp kids" according to Dr. Small.

The organization itself meets on Sunday night with 97 per cent about par for attendance.

Every other Saturday night, from 8 to 10 p.m., some 35 to 40 will gather for "fireside chats." They are encouraged to bring dates. The talk is about theology.

Dr. Small, 42, said the "Comrades" answered a need for a church group to capitalize on the desire of young people to belong to a group, an organization in some way exclusive and not "just another organization."

It is meant to appeal to the desire of youngsters to think for themselves, Dr. Small explains. It is not "sugar-coated with social activities.

Does the theology really take in the case of the teen-agers?

"One of my problems now is that the kids know so much more theology than their parents," confides Dr. Small.

"He's now reorganizing adult education in the church to help the parents catch up."

Junior Editors Quiz on TIME

QUESTION: How did measurement of time develop?

ANSWER: Man has used various devices to measure time. Early ones included the water clock, the hour glass and marked candles. Today we use accurate watches and clocks.

Astronomers figure time from the meridian which passes through Greenwich, England, where a famous observatory is located. If it is 3 o'clock at Greenwich, it is 4 o'clock at a point 15 degrees east of there, where the sun is nearer setting. And it is only 2 o'clock 15 degrees west of there, where the sun is farther from setting.

Because of that, there are four 15-degree strips or "time zones" in the United States, and you have to set your watch back three times when flying across the country.

Also, in traveling around the world, one comes to an "international date line" in the middle of the Pacific. Fly across that line and you find yourself in a different day. It curves around land masses so that people do not have to change days just while traveling from one side of an island to another.

FOR YOU TO DO: Here are a boy and girl with a map showing the international date line. Study it. Paste the picture on paper, color it and cut it out.

Glancing Wrong Way Causes 3-Car Collision

SUNBURRY, Pa. (AP) — Local police were sent to investigate an accident in which a moving car had smashed into the rear of a parked car, pushing it into a second parked car.

The motorist explained that he had glanced behind him as he passed an intersection to make sure he didn't go through a red light and hit the first parked car before he could turn around to look at the road ahead again.

Some 400 Songs Written About Abe Lincoln

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — America has always sung about its presidents and Abraham Lincoln was no exception.

Musical Americana, an organization that collects songs of America's past, reports that some 400 songs were written about Lincoln, the nation's 16th chief executive whose birthday is celebrated today.

His 1860 campaign song "Honest Old Abe" contained this verse:

"Ye Democrats list to my story,
"Ye Douglas-ites all give me heed,
"Though your candidate's running for glory
"He's not making very good speed
"But out on the wide rolling prairie
"A tall sucker has taken the course
"Who will wind up the race in a hurry
"And distance your stubby-tailed horse."

And on his death, a black-bordered song, "The Nation in Tears," was published. It was subtitled "A Dirge, in Memory of the Nation's Chief."

Woman's Lost Money Returned in Installments

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Mrs. Betty Gold, who lost her wallet containing $25 last month, is getting her money back on the installment plan.

The loss was noted in the Philadelphia Inquirer Jan. 16. Since then, Mrs. Gold has received three dollar bills in the mail, all postmarked from Waynesboro, Pa., 140 miles west of Philadelphia.

The first two envelopes contained only money. The latest had a little note asking Mrs. Gold to notify the newspaper the money was being returned.

'Almost' No Good as Chiefs Lose, 53-48

Highland Park Needs Rally to Defeat Pontiac

PCH Unable to Hold Lead as Lawson Leads Parkers

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

"Almost" is a word which just doesn't count in the final score of a sports event, but for Pontiac Central victory was "almost" a matter of 90 seconds on the Highland Park basketball court last night.

The Chiefs battled highly favored Highland Park to the limit before falling 53-48 in a thrill packed ball game on the little sardine-can court.

Eight straight free throws in the last minute and a half ended any thoughts Pontiac may have had in ending Highland Park's home winning streak which goes all the way back to 1950.

Pontiac roared back from a 23-19 halftime deficit and tied the score 25-25 early in the third quarter.

The score then changed hands 10 times and was tied twice during the second half. With four minutes to play the Chiefs led 46-41, but then all-stater Gene Lawson took control of the boards and helped the Polar Bears move ahead 47-46 with 2:18 to go.

Bill Hayward hit from the field to make it 48-47 with 1:45 left but the march to the charity line continued as Lawson got a pair and Dick Turner got two more to make it 51-48 as the game came to an end.

As the buzzer sounded John Cannis let go with a desperation shot from past midcourt and the official signaled it good to make it 53-48.

Second - ranked Highland Park had its widest margin to start the game at 8-2 with Lawson hitting his first three shots and Kannis adding three field goals in the first quarter which ended 16-11.

Lawson, who once resided in Pontiac, again led Highland Park to its 9th win in 10 starts by collecting 26 points and 19 rebounds.

Dick Whitmer, who got eight big points in the third period, led the Chiefs with 15 with John Bandy getting 14. Harrison Munson started slowly but his board work was instrumental in keeping the Chiefs in contention. He pulled down 18 rebounds.

Pontiac outshot the Bears from the floor with 20 field goals to 18, with the Chiefs taking 51 shots and Highland Park trying 58.

A dispute arose during the hectic second half when on three different occasions the clock ticked away after the play was stopped by fouls.

It was the 4th loss in 12 games for Pontiac, and now the Chiefs must get ready to meet another highly rated team, Flint Central Friday night on the PCH court.

The Pontiac Central reserve team defeated the Highland Park reserves, 60-54.

Grill Quintet Still Unbeaten

Griff's Grill continued to run away from the field in the Class B City Basketball League with a 68-56 victory over Boys Club last night at Madison Junior High.

Chuck Fortner scored 21 points to spark the Grill quintet, which is now unbeaten in 11 games. Roger Nosek tallied 16 for Boys Club.

In the other scheduled "B" game, Walled Lake handed the Merchants their 10th straight defeat, 60-52, behind a 26-point spree by Dean Hess. Bud Hayward meshed 24 in a losing cause.

The Auburn Heights Boys Club, paced by Jim Greenlees' 22 points, routed Jack's Bar & Grill, 53-29, and Dave Jones bagged 22 to pace the Westsiders to a 50-30 conquest of Central Christian in Class D contests.

Waterford, Avon Quintets Victimized

Orion, Rochester Victorious

Lake Orion's Nick Neira and Jim Drake were too much for Waterford and Rochester's balanced attack overtook Avondale in Oakland County's top prep basketball attractions Tuesday night.

The explosive Neira-Drake tandem accounted for all but 14 of Orion's point production as the Dragons nosed out Waterford, 63-62, in a thriller on the Orion court.

Rochester, down at halftime by a 24-21 margin, rallied behind the steady Carl (Peanuts) Montross and reserve Gene Hohf for a 50-43 victory over the Yellow Jackets at Avon.

Neira rained 28 points through the bucket and Drake collected 21 to pace Orion's conquest of the Skippers in a wide-open offensive battle where defense was something you only talked about.

Waterford had a double scoring punch of its own in Barry Campbell and John Herrington, but the Skipper sharpshooters were not enough to offset the efforts of the Orion scoring twins.

Campbell enjoyed his best offensive flurry of the season with 24 points while Herrington netted 20.

The Skippers refused to fold under the Neira-Drake bombardment and kept striking back for brief leads in the 2nd half.

Orion set the pace during the 1st half and held a 35-31 edge at intermission. Waterford rallied in a see-saw 3rd period which saw the lead change hands four times and the 4th quarter started in a 47-all tie.

Waterford had a 60-55 lead with only two minutes to go, but two straight baskets by Neira and successive pairs of free throws by Dean Callison and Drake gave the Dragons their winning margin.

It was Orion's 8th victory in 11 games and the 8th loss in 12 starts for the Skippers. Rochester's win was No. 11 this season and the 2nd over the Jackets, whose record is now even at 6-6.

It was a game of alternating halves at Avondale with Rochester having the decisive one.

The Falcons really had to battle for it. They trailed all except the opening minutes of the 1st half and the clash of nearby rivals was nip-and-tuck until Gene Lothery's field goal gave Rochester a 6-point edge with just under three minutes left.

Montross and Hohf were the sparkplugs of the winning surge. Avondale, showing some of its best hustle and team play in recent outings, had romped to a 17-9 1st quarter lead and still was ahead 24-21 at the intermission behind the amazing shooting of Dennis Evans.

Evans had scored in double numbers only once all season but he couldn't miss in the opening half. He hit his first four shots and a total of 6-for-8 plus a foul for 15 and four more the rest of the way to top both teams with 19 points.

But the Montross-Hohf duo stole his thunder, combining for 19 of 29 Falcon digits in the last half, seven of them big fouls by Montross. Rochester tallied 13 in the finale, holding Avondale to just four fouls.

Montross finished with 17, Chuck Ebersole hooped 12 and Lothery 11 for the winners. Jerry Hill added 11 to Evans' 19.

JUMPING GENE — It was a sorry day for Pontiac Central when the Lawson family moved out of Pontiac. "Jumping" Gene Lawson, Highland Park's all-state forward saw to it personally that the Chiefs would not win last night. He hit 26 points and had 19 rebounds to beat PCH, 53-48.

Van Ryzin was in Wisconsin for several days to be at the bedside of his ill mother. The Chiefs lost, 53-48.

Pistons Take Lacing From Warriors, 115-98

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Detroit Pistons, famed for their strong openings and weak finishes, reversed form last night but still missed the right combination.

The Detroiters tried the switch on the Philadelphia Warriors — outscoring them 32-30 in the final quarter — but when it was over the Warriors had chalked up a 115-98 national Basketball Assn. victory.

The Pistons were ragged on offense and weak on the backboards as they lost their second straight game before a crowd of 7,000 at Convention Hall.

The Warriors took a 10-1 edge in the first two minutes and by half-time led 57-35 on some fancy shooting by Paul Arizin and Woody Sauldsberry.

George Yardley, NBA scoring leader, was high for Detroit with 27 points. Arizin led the Warriors with 24.

The St. Louis Hawks are a step closer to the Western Division title today, thereby probably insuring coach Alex Hannum's job for next season.

The Hawks, with some late hot shooting by Cliff Hagen, defeated the New York Knicks 107-105 and whittled their magic number to 10 — any combination of wins and second place Cincinnati's losses — to clinch the division title.

The Boston Celts, with the same magic number, lost to Syracuse 84-76 in the first game of the Philly Convention Hall twinbill.

Cincinnati knocked off Minneapolis 106-103 in the opener of the doubleheader at St. Louis.

Shrine Loses Squeaker 63-62

Mikes Toy With Lamphere

By H. GUY MOATS

For a change, Pontiac St. Michael basketball club enjoyed a breather last night, when the Shamrocks romped over a hapless Madison Heights Lamphere five 47-20 in Pontiac Central High's gymnasium. The usual case all season, for Bob Mineweaser's crew, has been a battle all the way. Win squared the North Siders' season mark at 6-6.

Only one other game was played Tuesday in the parochial circuit. Shrine of Royal Oak lost another one-pointer in the West Side loop, 63-62 to Wyandotte St. Patrick. A try for the winning bucket was blocked in the final second.

Lamphere, loser of all but two games in 10, offered only token resistance to the Shamrocks, scoring two free throws in the opening frame, and a lone bucket in the second period. Mineweaser began sending in his subs in the first period and used all his bench. Ten of the 11 boys figured in the scoring. Halftime count was 24-4.

Shamrocks will be idle until next Tuesday, when they go to Orchard Lake for a return contest. Eaglets won the first, at PCH.

Shrine led at halftime, 31-29 over St. Pat, then slipped behind on two baskets in the 3rd by Jim Korwin, game's top scorer with 18. Pat McLoughlin and Pat Flannery led Shrine with 16 each.

Orion Cage Ace Still Rolls in Race of Points

It looks like Lake Orion sharpshooter Jim Drake is not going to slow down enough for anyone to catch him in the Oakland County individual scoring race.

Last week's list had him just ahead of teammate Nick Neira and Rick Moos with the latter closing in fast but Jim got out of that logjam in a hurry by hitting 35 and 27 on successive nights.

The talented senior took a season high mark of 24.5 per game into last night's local debacle with Waterford. He has topped the pack in average since the early weeks of play and now also leads in total points with 245.

Johnson & Anderson rallied for a 47-40 victory over M59 Sunoco Service last night in a Waterford League basketball game at Crary Junior High. An 18-3 scoring edge in the 4th quarter made the difference for the winners.

Keith Clauser led J & A's balanced offense with 10 points. Jim Robinson and Duke Thompson had 11 points apiece for Sunoco.

15 Tigers Still Unsigned

Bunning Fears 'Cover Boy' Jinx

DETROIT (AP) — Jim Bunning doesn't relish the idea of being the Detroit Tigers' 1958 "cover boy."

The Tiger roster book, off the presses this week, shows the 20-game-winning righthander on the front cover.

"Hey, I don't know about that," said the slightly superstitious Kentuckian. "Remember what happened to the guy who had his picture on there last year."

Bunning was talking about his teammate, Frank Lary, who was the "cover boy" a season ago. Lary got the prominent role after he won 21 and lost 13 in 1956. He slipped to an 11-16 record a year later.

The club's other 20-game winner in 1956, Billy Hoeft, had the same difficulty although he could not blame the press book promotion. Hoeft slipped from a 20-14 mark to a 9-11 record.

But Gen. Mgr. John McHale believes the signing of outfielder Al Kaline may have broken the slight logjam over new contracts. Although the Tigers have tightened up considerably on salaries McHale believes the club will enter spring training without a single holdout.

Young pitchers Bob Shaw and Don Lee, along with utility man Bill Taylor, came to terms yesterday. Fifteen players have not signed.

'Pay-as-You-See' TV Tried

CHICAGO (AP) — Pay-as-you-see television made its boxing debut last night and it appears only a matter of time before the public has to feed the meter to see certain shows.

The feature bout of a boxing program held at Midwest Gym in which Chicago welterweight Jerry Mortell won a unanimous eight-round decision over Don Alderson of Cannonsburg, Pa., was piped into a downtown hotel and viewed by newsmen and sports figures.

The event marked the first time in history that the International Boxing Club—sponsor of the Wednesday and Friday night fights—used the closed wire pay-as-you-see system.

For purposes of demonstration, the audience was told it could have a choice of a modern movie at the cost of 85 cents, a basketball game for 50 cents or the fight which also cost 50 cents.

The preliminaries of the fight were seen at no charge. Then a gentleman appeared on the screen and announced it would cost 50 cents—to be deposited in the meter—to watch the main event. The screen went blank, 50 cents was dropped into the meter and the show was on.

Except for the notable lack of commercials, the picture was the same as free television.

PCH Pins Waterford

Pontiac Central whipped Waterford 46-7 in the first wrestling match ever held between the schools and Walled Lake bowed in area mat features yesterday.

Ernie Slade, Ray Ronquillo, Mel Nosanchuk, John Herron and Duane Thomas all scored Pontiac pins as the Chiefs evened their record at 5-5.

Mel Farrar was the lone Waterford victor. A feature of the event, attended by over 200 fans, was a 7-7 draw between tiny Bobby Kiser of PCH and Dave Sherman in the 97-pound class. Kiser has lost every previous match of the season.

Walled Lake lost the 1st five matches and forfeited the 6th in dropping a 41-10 verdict to strong Willow Run.

Dennis Van Sicklen scored a pin, Gary Esklinen won a decision and Mario Diorcelli was in a draw to account for the Vikings' point. Bob Brown and Jim Teddy impressed in losing efforts.

Lakers Triumph, Hills Fall in W-O

Northville's rangy Mustangs pulled within half a game of league-leading Clarkston in the tightened Wayne-Oakland race with a 57-44 victory over Bloomfield Hills last night on the Hills' court.

While Northville gained ground on the idle Wolves, West Bloomfield capitalized at the foul line in the waning moments for a successful 56-64 invasion of Milford in another Wayne-Oakland scrap.

In the Eastern Michigan League, Ferndale, paced by Gordon Rodwan's 22 points, chalked up a 54-33 triumph over Port Huron for its 9th win of the season without a loss and Gary Ballman bagged 19 points to lead ast Detroit's 57-48 conquest of Hazel Park.

Cranbrook turned in its finest offensive performance of the year for a 75-42 rout of Royal Oak Kimball in an afternoon encounter at Cranbrook. Utica scored a surprisingly easy 54-30 win over Romeo and Lapeer conquered Owosso, 61-55, behind Mike Schenck's 22-point effort.

Pat McCary netted 14 points and teammate Lance Gentile added 13 as Berkley dumped Royal Oak Dondero, 52-45, for its 9th straight victory. Jerry Patenude tallied 12 in defeat.

In other area games yesterday, Harper Woods crushed Country Day, 61-21; Imlay City handed Capac a 78-35 drubbing for its 10th triumph; New Haven edged L'Anse Creuse, 42-39, and Wyandotte St. Patrick nipped Shrine of Royal Oak, 63-62.

Fitzgerald upset Roseville, 50-44, and Mt. Clemens clipped Van Dyke, 39,38, in additional contests.

Northville had to overcome a three-point deficit in the 3rd period in whipping upstart Bloomfield Hills. Bill Yahne led the way with 15 and John Dixon topped the Barons with 13.

Two free throws by John Lucadam and Ross Fockler with less than two minutes remaining broke a 52-52 tie and clinched the West Bloomfield triumph. Fockler finished with 13 and Lucadam 12. Terry Anderson's 15 was the best Milford effort.

Imlay City made its record 10 straight easily after a slow start. Four boys hit double figures for the South Central pacesetters with 16 by John Lengemann tops.

Cranbrook displayed a wealth of scoring power in its romp featuring a 22-point night for Bob Klein and 18 by John Studebaker. Jim Shields meshed 10 for Kimball.

Romeo scored only 10 points in the 1st half and could not bounce back as Utica's balanced scoring was too much. Jim Cole was the game leader with 15.

Harper Woods waltzed to a 33-11 cushion and then coasted along as Bill McHale tallied 22. John Derleth hit 11 for Country Day. New Haven had a busy time of it before getting by L'Anse for its 4th successful outing. Nate Petty was the big cog with 13.

8-Pin Count in Final Frame Spoils 300 Try

A shaky final ball in his first game at the B. and M. Recreation lanes in Walled Lake, last night, spoiled a big chance for a 300 game for Lee Winkler of Shankin drive, Walled Lake.

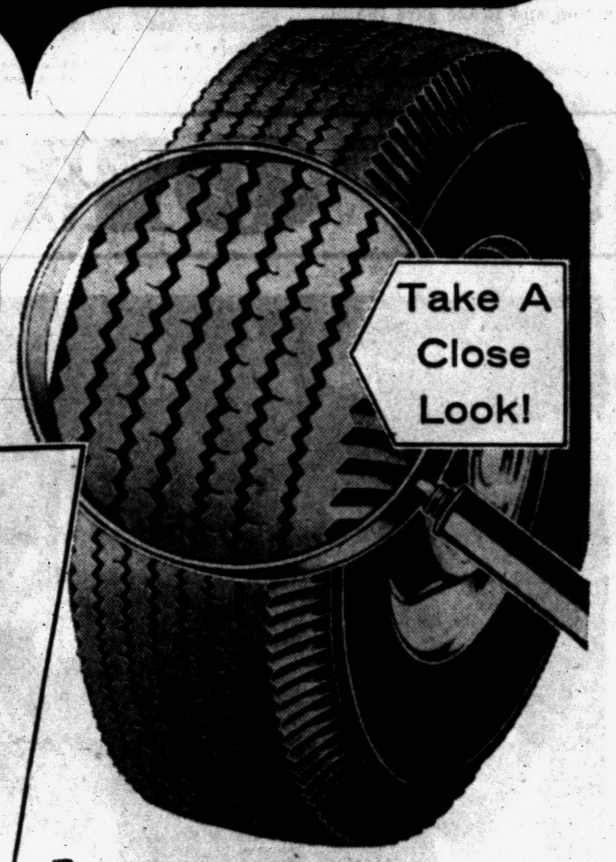

Winkler was rolling in the 9 o'clock league and had chalked up 11 straight strikes when the pressure became too much for him. His final ball was off the pocket and carried only eight pins for a 298 total.

The 298 is the top count for the lanes this winter, and is by far the best game the 171 average kegler has ever rolled.

Winkler bowls with the Weldon Sports Shop team, and his three-game series was 664.

Wings Need Help in 2nd Place Bid

DETROIT (AP) — Coach Sid Abel believes the chances of the Detroit Red Wings finishing in second place "depend on whether he can find a pick-me-up guy."

"We're going to have to start getting some goals from some of these other players," said Abel, meaning players like Johnny Wilson, Norm Ullman, Bill McNeill, Nick Mickski and Jack McIntyre—to name a few.

"We know we're going to get a lot of help from fellows like Gordie Howe, Alex Delvecchio and Red Kelly," said Abel as he ran his players through a lengthy drill. "But that's not enough. Some of these other fellows have to wake up if we're going to finish in second place."

Wilson scored 18 goals with Chicago last year but has counted only six with Detroit. Ullman, who scored 16 here last season, has just 11 goals.

The Red Wings coach said Mickoski, who has scored three goals in the team's last three games, is showing "signs that he could become a very important man in our stretch drive."

Mickoski is in his 10th National Hockey League season. He came to the Wings after several seasons with the New York Rangers. The rangy Bachelor, who is 30, is nearing the 150-goal mark.

Ten goals this year have put Mickoski at the 143-goal mark.

"I'd like to see him reach the 150-goal milestone with the Red Wings — and I mean this season," said Abel. "We need someone to give us a big lift in the closing weeks of the season."

Abel complained that his defensemen should have been more helpful this year in the scoring department. Al Arbour and Warren Godfrey each has one goal, Gord Strate and Marcel Pronovost have failed to score a goal. Red Kelly, who has 10 goals, has alternated between defense and forward.

"Our defensemen rush a lot, and rush well — and we shoot a lot," Abel added. "We just don't hit the net."

The Wings are idle until Thursday night when they meet the Bruins in Boston.

Vic Heyliger, whose Michigan hockey teams won a number of collegiate titles, now owns a restaurant in Colorado Springs.

Neild Gordon, former basketball star at Furman University, now assists coach Lyes Alley at the Greenville, S.C. school.

Iowa's Jim Gibbons led the Big Ten in catching footballs last fall. He caught 26 passes for 376 yards and three touchdowns.

Offers 44,000 Seat Stadium

Buffalo Seeking Team in Pro Grid Circuit

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—A stadium holding 44,000 people at a rental of $1,000-a-game awaits any National Football League club owner who wants to move to Buffalo this year.

This offer was made in writing yesterday to NFL Commissioner Bert Bell by the city. The letter was signed by Parks Commissioner Patrick C. McGroder, Mayor Frank A. Sedita and the leaders of both parties in the city council.

The prime local candidate is the Pittsburgh Steelers but hopes here were dashed on this score last night by Pittsburgh owner Art Rooney.

From his farm home in Sykesville, Md., Rooney said "right now our status remains the same — we'll play in Pittsburgh in 1958."

Asked if the Steelers might play a split schedule—three games in Pittsburgh, three in Buffalo — Rooney said:

"I won't comment on that at this time. I think the Buffalo fans have been built up and then let down too many times and I wouldn't want to do it again."

As additional lure, the city is offering to negotiate a long-term low-price contract for the civic stadium; to give the club the program concession and to negotiate for cuts of other concessions effective in 1959.

The letter to Bell included one more offer: To provide a new, centrally-located stadium adequate for major league baseball as well as football within a reasonable time.

In Philadelphia, Bell said there was no franchise "that I know of" planning to move at the present time and no immediate prospects of increasing the league.

STRIKES AND SPARES
By Joe Wilman

A Los Angeles reader wrote me recently asking for the quickest way to become a 200-average bowler. Here's my answer.

There is no easy or quick way to become a 200-average bowler. Too many bowlers are looking for one, but it just can't be done that way.

First, learn the fundamentals thoroughly. Practice until your footwork, armswing and timing are perfect. These three fundamentals are basic; without them you're lost.

Second, work for control and consistency. Know exactly where your ball is going each time you leet it go. Develop the ability to let it go. Develop the ability Learn to do the same thing over and over again until it becomes automatic. Have your delivery form at the foul line resemble our drawing each time you release the ball.

Third, you must gain both league and tournament-bowling experience. This experience enables you to perform well under pressure. There's no substitute for this experience.

First of five additional basketball games for St. Frederick cagers has been scheduled for this evening in the Ram's gymnasium. The opponent is Sacred Heart of Dearborn, an unknown quantity as far as Coach Gene Wright knows. Tilt follows a game between Ram Jayvees and St. James' reserves, at 7 p.m.

Other additional games include another contest with St. Michael Shamrocks (Freds won the first tilt 54-25) at PCH gymnasium on Sunday afternoon, Feb. 23.

New Chemical May Eradicate Lamprey Eels

U.S. Fisheries Expert Sees Control of Pest Moved Up Greatly

WASHINGTON (AP) — A chemical compound by the forbidding made of "Dowlap 30" may do a job on the Great Lakes sea lamprey.

An expert's testimony before a closed-door appropriations meeting, made public this week gives hope that the chemical may eradicate the lamprey menace at a savings of "perhaps millions of dollars."

Dowlap 30 is a complicated chlorine developed by the government in cooperation with the Dow Chemical Co.

Donald L. McKernan, director of the Interior Department's Bureau of Commercial Fisheries, said the compound will bring about control of the lamprey five or 10 years earlier than present electrical means.

He told of successful tests in a Lake Huron stream in Michigan. He said further tests are to be conducted in a dozen more Great Lakes streams in Michigan and Wisconsin this spring.

TIP-UP FISHING OK — Roger Vaughan, 487 Omar, making use of a standard ice-fishing tip-up rig has proved that the hardy outdoorsman can do just about as well outside, as the spearsman in a shanty, when it comes to taking big pike. Roger landed the five big northerns (above) which averaged from 8 to 10 pounds and from 30 to 36 inches long, on Morgan Lake, a private body of water north of Pontiac. He used minnows for bait.

Reversals Mark Westminster Show

Poodle New King of Dogdom

NEW YORK (AP)—Ch. Smefenjagenheim Domino, a Basset hound owned by Queenie Wickstrom of Orchard Lake, Mich., won second place in the hound group at the Westminster Kennel Club dog show yesterday.

Ch. Luxi Von Liebestraum, a German Shepherd owned by Emil Lederer of Union Lake, near Pontiac, placed fourth in the working dog class.

NEW YORK (AP)—Ch. Puttencove Promise, a high stepping standard poodle emerged from a carnage of shocking Westminster Kennel Club reversals today and stepped onto the throne of king of dogdom.

Promise, owned by the Puttencove Kennels of Manchester, Mass., went best-in-show last night in the 82nd edition of the ancient dog show to win the most coveted award of the canine set.

To accomplish his feat, Promise had to step over the remains of five pre-show favorites, including last year' top winner, Ch. Shirkhan of Grandeur, the Afghan.

Five of the six group winners from '57 returned, but none were around when the six finalists entered the ring.

The crowd of 8,000 in Madison Square Garden was so bewildered by the long trail of reversals that the dogs were awarded nothing more than a polite patter of applause as they pranced before Judge William W. Brainard Jr., of Far Hills, N. J. The spectators didn't seem to know which dog to favor.

AP Facsimile

SHOW STOPPER — Handler Robert German holds Ch. Puttencove Promise at the Westminster Kennel club dog show in New York, last night, beside the coveted best-in-show trophy. Promise is a standard poodle, first in more than 20 years to win the country's top canine award. Owner is Puttencove Kennels of Manchester, Mass.

It took Brainard 22 minutes to make up his mind. He didn't say what other dog he was considering but he observed:

"It was a very close decision at the end. I found the poodle immaculate, sound and in beautiful condition."

Promise scored a major upset himself. After wading through his breed he came up against Ch. Roadcoach Roadster, the sharp Dalmation, who won the non-sporting group last year. He trampled Roadster who could do no better than fourth in the group.

The other finalists were the whippet, Ch. Laguna Lucky Lad, owned by the Mardormere Kennels of Glen Head, N. Y., the hound champion; the boxer, Ch. Marjack's Golden Windjammer, sent in by Mr. and Mrs. John Phelps Wagner of Chicago, the working victor; the wire fox terrier, Emprise Sensational, belonging to Mrs. Munro W. Lanier of New York, the terrier winner; the pug, Ch. Pugholm's Peter Punkin Easter, entered by Frederick and Elizabeth Soderberg of Albany, N.Y., the toy winner, and the Irish setter, Ch. Kinvarra Kimson, sent in by Louise S. King of Port Chester, N.Y., the sporting winner.

Promise's triumph marked the first by a standard poodle since 1935 in this 82-year-old event.

Fun trials are scheduled for Feb. 23, starting at 9 a.m. and at the same time on March 23. Fun trials give amateur handlers and inexperienced dogs opportunity to become acquainted with field trial procedure at very nominal fees.

Spectators are welcome, without charge. Information can be had from Watson Campbell, Detroit ELgin 6-5866.

Experts Can Name It

Joe Young's Trout Big, Either Chinook or 'Bow

It doesn't make any difference to Pontiac's Joe Young whether his huge trout, taken last summer on a vacation trip to the far west is actually a rainbow or a Chinook salmon. Main thing, Joe says, is that he's got the fish, and he had the thrill of landing it.

Question over the identity of the fish has been raised in a story, written by Young, appearing in a national outdoors magazine.

Young recalled, in his story, ..the facts surrounding capture of the 40-pound fish from a small stream in Idaho. They were as Joe told them to The Pontiac Press in first announcing what he had been told probably was a world-record rainbow trout. The existing official record is 37 pounds.

Now, according to the article, Dr. Robert R. Miller of the University of Michigan's museum of zoology, and the publication's experts believe the fish is a Chinook Salmon.

Key factor in the mystery is the anal fin of the fish. A rainbow, fish, scientists say, has 13 or fewer rays (spines) in the fin, while the salmon has 14 or more. Examination has shown, the story says, that Young's fish has 16, possibly 17 rays in its anal fin.

The huge fish (trout or salmon) has been mounted and occupies a prominent spot in the Young home, 7076 Pickering.

BIG PIKE — One of the season's biggest pike, taken by hook and line during the current ice-fishing on Pontiac area lakes, is shown above. The husky northern weighed 12-pounds, 7-ounces, and was taken on a tip-up rig by Frank Lovejoy of Clarkston, from Middle Lake. Lovejoy, a modest angler, was overheard by a fellow-member of the Clarkston Fish club, saying he'd landed a "nice" pike. Frank Crowley, former Olympian, reported the catch to The Press.

Basset Hound Club Has Specialty Show

The Basset Hound Club of Greater Detroit today announced an AKC licensed specialty show for Friday, Feb. 28.

Show takes place in the Dairy building at the State Fair Grounds, with entries closing Feb. 18. Entry blanks may be obtained from the Bow Dog Show Organ, 4461 W. Jefferson, Detroit.

Officers for 1958 for the club include Chris G. Teeter of Birmingham, president; Ray King, vice president; treasurer, Eugene L. Dembicki and secretary, Charlotte King, Birmingham. Mr. King is also show chairman.

Show will run from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m.

Remove Fishing Shanties Before Ice Is Unsafe

LANSING — Ice fishermen are reminded that shanties and other shelters must be removed from lakes before ice conditions become unsafe.

Anglers failing to comply with this law may be assessed costs of removal, in addition to fines and court costs.

License Revenue Up, but Sales Total Down

LANSING — Revenue from sales of Michigan hunting and fishing licenses during the current fiscal year is up $1,635,844 over the figure for a year ago, as indicated by incomplete returns from license dealers through Jan. 31.

The increase is attributed to higher license fees. Actually, the number of licenses sold is down for all types.

Interested in Viszlas? State Club Planned

Norman Felt, owner of Pontiac's only Hungarian Viszla, a golden-skinned canine import from behind the Iron Curtain, is interested in organizing a Michigan Viszla Club. The dog is a rare breed in this area at present, with only a few in the entire state. Felt owns two and now has a litter of all-gold little Viszlas, sired by Falcon, mothered by Koldie.

David Humble of Durand also owns one of the dogs, and with Felt and American Viszla Club secretary, Charles Hunt of Illinois, is interested in the club move.

Those interested should contact Felt, at FE 2-7328.

Falcon went first in the miscellaneous class at the Utica show, last weekend.

Dog, Landowner Problem

Involves Basic Rights

By JACK PATTERSON

There has been much discussion lately about amending existing dog laws to permit trespassing dogs to roam lands of another with immunity. It seems to us that proponents of any such plan to grant supra-legal privileges to dogs are way off base. They overlook a basic right of landowners — the right to the exclusive enjoyment of their property. If the landowner chooses to regard the prescence of a strange dog is an invasion of that right, we feel that he's entitled to deal with the situation as he sees fit.

PATTERSON

Naturally, because there are many kinds of people and many kinds of dogs also, there are incidents that cause hard feelings on both sides of the fence.

There is no question but what some dogs are shot by irascible landowners for reasons that just wouldn't make sense to the average man — and bare tresspass is one of these. Though we believe the landowner is within his rights when he takes such summary action we find such an attitude morally unacceptable. Harmless dogs deserve a better break.

On the other hand, there are some situations in which the mere presence of a strange dog, amiably inclined or otherwise, presents a hazard, as any sheep raiser will tell you. As a matter of fact, Milford's Bob Gorsline did tell you in a recent letter to the editor.

We agree with Bob that much of the problem arises from road hunters who cut a trail on a country road, then turn their dogs loose. Trailing dogs are not subject to close control, much of the time, and the probability of their crossing lands where they are not welcome is ever present.

About the only way we know to solve this problem to the satisfaction of everyone is to limit such road hunting to public lands in non-farming areas. Otherwise it's a case of "Ask the farmer first."

It has been frequently said that dogs can't read and therefore any trespasses they commit are unwitting. That is very true but dog owners can read, and presumably think, too. The time to do the thinking and reading is before the dogs get shot.

Youngsters Publish Weekly Newspaper

MILFORD, Mass. (UP) — An idea spawed on a rainy day more than a year ago has sprouted into a weekly newspaper — a two-page mimeographed sheet with some 100 subscribers.

"The Crockett" is the brainchild of Charles W. Calcagni II, the 11-year-old editor, and his brothers, Paul, 9, and David, 6. Three other local youngsters also pitch in on the project.

The weekly contains local items, poetry and editorial comments on the weather, recipes and breezy neighborhood items. The boys' mother helps with the typing and supervises the final layout of the pages, including its advertising.

The editor, who doubles as subscription manager, reports the paper's income at about $5 a week. The "payroll" is non-existent after the expenses are totaled.

7 Children, Dad Perish in Fire

Mother and Baby Son Escape in Near-Zero Weather

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP)—A father and seven children died in a fire early today which destroyed their two-story frame home. Fire officials blamed an overheated coal furnace for the blaze.

The mother and a baby son escaped in the near-zero cold.

The victims were Robert L. Lilly, a chipper at the American Steel Foundries Co., and Cynthia, 13; Gregory, 11; Marshall, 8; Clara, 7; twins Robert and Roberta, 5; and Pamlin, 4.

Mrs. Barbara Lilly fled in her night clothes, carrying 5-month-old Miles.

Fire Chief Milo Sights said the fire started in the basement, curled up the stairway and whipped around to the first and second floors.

The father's body was found in the bathroom. Three of the children were huddled in a clothes closet in the front bedroom, four others in a back bedroom — two on the bed and two underneath it.

When firemen answered the call at 12:10 a.m. in the Negro section of this northeast Ohio city, the blaze had practically consumed the home. But a wirehaired dog calmly walked out of the basement unharmed.

Belleville Fire Destroys Feed Mill, Lumber Yard

BELLEVILLE (AP) — A windswept fire destroyed a feed mill and a lumber yard at this southeast Michigan community today. Train traffic on nearby Wabash Railroad tracks was blocked several hours.

The blaze started in the one-story frame main building of Belleville Milling Co. Wind carried sparks across a street and spread the blaze to Alban & Amerman Lumber Yard.

More than 50 men, most of them from neighboring fire departments, fought the blaze.

Fire Chief Irwin Stech estimated the loss of the feed mill building at about $20,000 and lumber yard damage at about $40,000.

Wholesale Food Prices Highest Since April

NEW YORK (AP) — Wholesale food prices, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Food Index, moved higher again this week.

At $6.52 the index compared with $6.47 a week ago and was back at the 1957-58 high first established in the week ending Jan. 21. The figure is the highest since April 1955. This week's index is 6.4 per cent above the $6.13 for the similar week a year ago.

State Pays $21 Million to Jobless in January

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Employment Security Commission paid out $22,003,881 in unemployment benefits in January, a record high, the agency said today.

Max Horton, director of the commission, said the previous high payment was in October 1945 when claims totaled $21,366,424.

Horton estimated that the effect of the payments on the economy amounted to restoring the earnings of one out of five unemployed persons.

GOP Bid for Governor Has Bagwell Undecided

EAST LANSING (AP) — Paul D. Bagwell, Michigan State University professor, said today he is undecided whether to try for the Republican nomination for governor.

Bagwell, GOP candidate for auditor general in 1956, told a newsman he had no knowledge of a meeting of Republicans last night where he was promoted as a leading choice for governor.

"I am not now a candidate and I have not yet made up my mind," he said.

Walled Lake Man Hurt in Three-Car Collision

Cecil Elkins, 22, of 2370 S. Commerce Rd., Walled Lake, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital Tuesday evening after being involved in a three car collision, said Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies today.

Elkins is reported in satisfactory condition with facial cuts. Deputies said the other two drivers, Edward L. Holmes, 22, of 722 Andrews St., Milford, and Charles T. Davis, 30, of 1765 Decker Rd., Walled Lake, were uninjured.

Davis told deputies he had stopped alongside Elkins' auto to tell him he had no lights on. Holmes came over a hilltop behind them and skidded into both cars on icy pavement while attempting to avoid them, said deputies.

Rome Court Postpones Rossellini's Marriage Suit

ROME (AP)—A Rome court today postponed until March 12 its hearing of film director Roberto Rossellini's suit for annument of his Mexican marriage to Ingrid Bergman.

Rossellini, now in Paris, asked for annument on the grounds that when the proxy marriage took place, May 24, 1950, Miss Bergman still was legally the wife of Dr. Peter Lindstrom.

Miss Bergman, who returned to Italy this week from London, is vacationing at Cortina d'Ampezzo with their three children.

The hearings are closed to the press.

Stock Market Down Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market drifted off in quiet semi-holiday trading today.

Leading issues were down fractions to around a point.

Many financial institutions were closed because of Lincoln's birthday. The market has gone through five straight daily declines under a barrage of unfavorable news capped by yesterday's report of the big January rise in unemployment.

President Eisenhower's two billion dollar public works program was a counter-recession measure but further news on economic policy was awaited in the president's upcoming statement.

Oils and chemicals were generally lower while steels and coppers were mixed.

Youngstown Sheet rose a fraction while U.S. Steel was firm. Republic Steel edged downward. Bethlehem eased.

Lockheed was firm as the government made known that the submarine - launched Polaris missile has been given top priority. Other aircrafts, including Douglas, North American Aviation and United, showed a lower tone.

Du Pont was down around a point. Johns - Manville picked up a major fraction.

Other opening blocks: Bethlehem off ¼ at 38⅝ on 2,000 shares; General Electric off ⅜ at 60¾ on 1,000; and General Motors off ⅛ at 34¼ on 3,500.

Over Autos of Decade Ago

Products of Car Makers Reflect Great Advances

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP) — The auto industry has made greater product improvement in the last decade than in any like period.

If you question this, try switching from a 1958 model to a well-conditioned car built five or six years earlier.

ENGINES EFFICIENT

The industry's latest cars have more efficient engines, smoother operating transmissions with quicker response to acceleration, better suspension systems, greatly improved air conditioning and a broader availability of power steering and power brakes.

And while fuel may cost more per gallon in many sections, the over-all miles per gallon has gone down little considering the distribution of power output. A steadily increasing percentage of the horsepower is being used for operation of a growing number of accessories.

Probably nothing the automotive engineers have developed since World War II has had as great a public acceptance as power steering and power brakes. In most instances they continue to be extra-cost options but many industry experts predict they will be standard equipment on all cars within the next few years.

DRIVERS ACCUSTOMED

Many motorists, becoming accustomed to these power assists, say they would rather forego some other item of comparable cost than give up power steering and braking.

Of course there have been basic improvements both in steering and braking aside from the power adaptation during the last decade. These would be immediately apparent to the motorist switching from a 1958 to an earlier model car.

The last decade also has seen major advances in automatic transmissions. There have been numerous variations of the original principle developed by General Motors engineers and presented shortly before World War II. In its original form the automatic transmission was a gear-shifting device.

Many transmissions now are a combination of gear shifting and torque conversion. Where gear shifting remains the basic feature the shift from one range to another now is scarcely noticeable to the car operator.

Brought out originally as a medium and high price car option automatic transmissions now are standard on most of the higher price models and available at extra cost on all others.

Power steering and braking and automatic transmissions probably have contributed most to the product improvement achieved by the auto industry in the postwar years.

In styling, two-tone exteriors and upholstery designed to match or harmonize with outside hues also came into their greatest development following World War II. Leather, simulated leather, mohair, jacquards and numerous synthetics and other materials are being given greater color treatment than ever before for use in car interiors.

Some makers currently are using finely woven nylon fabrics in varying color shades to enrich the interior appeal of their 1958 models.

Train Is Derailed as Cold Snaps Track

ANN ARBOR (INS) — The derailing of six cars of a 78-car New York Central freight train two miles northwest of Ann Arbor today was blamed on the cold weather.

The cars ran off the tracks at 12:30 a.m. when 28 inches of rail snapped due to the cold and the weight of the train.

Normal traffic continued on a detour around the spot, although the derailed train was stalled for 12 hours while repairs were being made.

Bennett Explains Vote to Fire Dr. Schwartz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Bennett (R-Mich) said today he voted to fire Dr. Bernard Schwartz as chief counsel of a House subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies because Schwartz' "position became untenable and impossible."

Bennett, a member of the committee, said Schwartz "wanted to run the whole show. He wanted to run the committee and have the committee members sit to one side."

Bennett said he was the congressman who moved to subpoena Schwartz to produce any evidence he might have to back up charges of irregularities against agency officials, particularly on the Federal Communications Commission.

ORION TOWNSHIP — The Township Board of Review will hold public hearings for five days this year. The hearings are scheduled for March 4, 5, 6, 10 and 11, from 9 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 5 p.m. each day.

Ernest Crawford, Walter Green and Supervisor Ferris Clark were appointed to the board at last night's township board meeting.

A notice is being mailed to all property owners whose assessments were raised so they may take advantage of this opportunity to discuss reasons for the increase.

In other business, the Township Board authorized a $1,000 payment to the Oakland County Board of Public Works as its share of the Clinton River sewage disposal costs already paid for by the county.

Lifts Load Limit on Some Roads

Mackie Labels 3,200 Miles of Highways as 'Frost-Free'

LANSING (AP) — Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie today designated 3,200 miles of Michigan highways as a "frost - free" network exempt from special truck weight restrictions heretofore enforced during the spring thaw.

He said the liberalized policy on seasonal truck load limits will save Michigan industries, agriculture and consumers millions of dollars a year."

Mackie's announcement was in a speech prepared for a meeting of manufacturing, commercial, agricultural and truck industry leaders.

Under the state's traditional policy, a blanket restriction of a 25 per cent reduction below rated weight capacity has been applied on all 9,300 miles of state trunkline highways during the spring breakup and in certain other periods.

The theory, was that this was necessary to protect pavements from cracking and other weight damage due to alternate freezing and thawing of water seeping underneath the slabs.

Mackie said an economic survey just completed showed the policy was unnecessary as a statewide measure and cost "upwards of 20 million dollars annually in economic losses."

Losses resulted, he said, from consequent inability of truckers and shippers to utilize over-the-road equipment to maximum utility and in reduced service to communities and industry accessible only by truck transportation.

He said the frost-free network was based on a mile by mile engineering study on the design and structure of trunklines.

"This study indicate that all new highways constructed in Michigan since 1940 were designed to carry full legal loads the year around," he said.

For the 13th straight work day, 5,000 employes at the Dodge Main plant were sent home by the company. Chrysler officials said the layoff was ordered because some employes failed to perform regular work assignments.

Labor Demands Government Act

Union Leaders Doubtful Prediction of Economy Picking Up at Midyear

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Organized labor expressed doubt today that the nation's lagging economy will begin recuperating at midyear as President Eisenhower anticipates and called for quick government remedial action.

That was the reaction of President George Meany and other AFL-CIO leaders to the government's announcement in Washington that unemployment jumped beyond 4½ million in January.

Meany forecast that the jobless figure will rise at least another million before the employment situation improves. He called for a stepped-up public works program and other stop-gap measures immediately.

"I think the situation is far worse than the administration seems to feel it is," Meany said. "Frankly, it's getting to the point now where unemployment is creating more unemployment. We need quick action to bolster purchasing power to stop this thing from rolling in a vicious circle."

The AFL-CIO leader pledged to work throughout the country with community groups to develop an effective program to see that no jobless worker or his family will go without food, clothing, shelter or medical care.

At concluding sessions of the 10-day AFL-CIO winter meetings, the union leaders ordered all affiliated unions to insist henceforth on labor contract clauses barring racial discrimination in the nation's factories and other working places.

Unions also were instructed to create procedures within their own organizations to carry out "a meaningful civil rights program."

Teamsters Union leaders, meanwhile, continued their separate winter meeting. The Teamsters expelled from the AFL-CIO on charges of corruption, nevertheless renewed a series of mutual aid agreements with AFL-CIO unions.

Iron Age Predicts Steels to Pick Up

NEW YORK (INS) — Iron Age magazine said today the steel industry will "bottom out" of its most severe recssion in recent years this month.

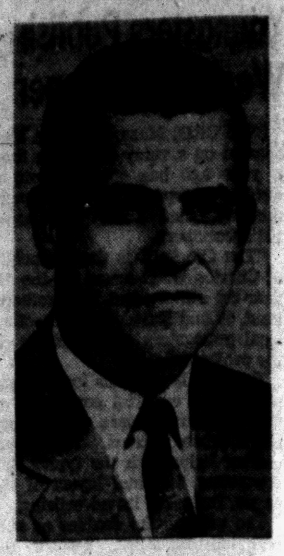

The national metalworking weekly cautioned however, that the end of the decline in orders and produciton by no means suggests an immediate splurge in new business. Instead, it states, there could be a "very mild" pickup in April and May with "some early straws in the wind in March."

Iron Age states the steel price structure shows no sign of bending and forecasts that the increase in labor costs in July will bring a price increase of $5 to $7 a ton.

One other child was missing and believed dead in the smoldering ruins of the two buildings.

From Social Grace to Social Welfare

Edsel Ford Home Used by UAW

By JAMES DEWEY

DETROIT (AP) — The old Detroit riverfront home of Edsel Ford, where the gasoline aristocracy once held court, is the scene of more social welfare than social grace nowadays.

The 25-room palatial limestone mansion visited by Edward VIII when he was Prince of Wales has been turned into business offices for the United Auto Workers Union social welfare departments.

And it is hard to catch the tinkling echo of departed gaiety in the utilitarian bustle of clerks and typists working over life expectancy tables in the paneled and wainscoted rooms.

Office workers in the converted nurseries where the young Fords were exhorted to fight the good fight can still take heart, however, from the heady classical quotations emblazoned on the walls in gilt and Gothic script.

"We may outrun by violent swiftness that which we run at and lose by overrunning," the Ford boys were taught to say in their tender years.

It was violent swiftness that overran the old house in an historic area of old Detroit.

The change came when the UAW purchased land for its international headquarters in the once-exclusive East Jefferson riverside section. Many of the moneyed families of Detroit had built huge, rambling homes there in the era preceding the first world war.

Few are left now. Most have been converted to offices and clinics. Others were torn down.

The Ford house was built in 1913 for Albert L. Stephens. It was 1920 before Edsel moved his family in. Ten years later he left for greener pastures on a two-million-dollar estate in Grosse Pointe Shores.

But in the intervening decade the house glittered in a social whirl—climaxed in 1924 when a dinner party was given in honor of the Prince of Wales.

Detroit newspapers described in fine detail the elaborate festivities and numbered the scores of guests on that glittering occasion. The highlight came when the future British monarch boarded the Ford yacht "Sialia," anchored at the riverfront, and was escorted across the Detroit River to Windsor where Edward began his royal progress through Canada.

Besides the home, there was a swimming pool and a multi-car garage with servants quarters. At the edge of the river stood the two-story boathouse where Edsel kept his yacht.

Edsel's family in 1920 consisted of himself; his wife, Eleanor, niece of the Detroit department store magnate, J. L. Hudson; and their sons, Henry II, 3, and Benson, 2. The family lived in the house five years before William Clay Ford was born. Later, a daughter, Josephine, was born.

After Ford moved the home was vacant. At one time the garage-servant quarters were used as a dancing school, but the house remained unoccupied until the UAW purchased the property in 1944.

Housed in it are the union's Fair Employment Department, the Social Security Department, the Women's Department, the Community Relations Department and the Office Workers Department.

Ultimately, the union says, these will move into Solidarity House next door. The Ford home will then be used to house UAW Education.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED — Former Detroit river front home of Edsel Ford now is scene of more social welfare than social grace. Limestone, 25-room mansion is business office for UAW union's social welfare department.

Pontiac City Affairs

Street Program Moves Ahead

The 1958 street improvement program moved ahead last night as City Commissioners ordered assessment roles prepared for paving portions of nine streets, declared paving parts of 13 other streets a public necessity and ordered public hearing next Tuesday on their intention to pave sections of eight more.

More improvements on other streets improved by curb, gutter and gravel work last year are still in the offing.

No protests were voiced at last night's public hearings. Assessment rolls were ordered for:

Burt street, LeGrande to Hillside; E. Chicago avenue, Baldwin to Pontiac; Oxford & Northern Railroad; E. Colgate avenue, Baldwin to University; Carlisle avenue, Cornell to Columbia; Colorado avenue, Bagley to Franklin road; Fairmount avenue, Baldwin to Carlisle; Hudson avenue, Pingree to Summit; Jefferson avenue, Cadillac to Kimball and Kimball street, Jefferson to its southern end.

Engineer's estimates on five of the jobs declared a public necessity last night were accepted and a public hearing on the intention to construct them at those prices were scheduled for 8 p.m. next Tuesday. The estimates were:

Bagley street, Arthur to South boulevard; assessed cost, $2,237; city cost, $6,301; cost for 195-foot side lot, $144. Hudson avenue, Putnam to Pingree; assessed cost, $905; city cost, $432; cost for 41-foot lot, $94. Jefferson avenue, Cadillac to Summit; assessed cost, $1,945; city cost, $2,925; cost for 115-foot side lot, $158. New York avenue, Baldwin to University; assessed cost, $3,343; city cost, $365; cost for 40-foot lot, $82. Northway drive, Astor to East boulevard; assessed cost, $1,715; school cost, $1,360; city cost, $507; cost for 80-foot lot, $115.

Also scheduled for similar hearings at the same time were three projects declared a public necessity last week and for which engineer's estimates were accepted last night. They are:

Cadillac avenue, Oakland to Rundell; assessed cost, $6,337; city cost, $2,059; cost for a 40-foot lot, $82. Homestead drive, Astor to East boulevard; assessed cost, $3,609; city cost, $581; cost for a 80-foot lot, $115. Ivy street, Perry to Montcalm; assessed cost, $2,894; city cost, $2,710; cost for a 50-foot lot, $115.

The city engineer was asked to submit estimates on the costs of 18 more projects next week. These were for the eight other improvements declared a public necessity last night. They are:

Pike street, Astor to East boulevard; Pingree street, Cadillac to LeGrande; Putnam street, Cadillac to LeGrande; Roselawn drive, Fiddis to Maines; Rundell street, Baldwin to Pingree; Tennyson avenue, Joslyn to Highwood; Tregent street, Baldwin to Saginaw and Yale street, Carlisle to Stanley.

If these estimates are accepted next Tuesday, public hearings on the intention to construct will be held the following Tuesday.

Youth Admits Bronx Killing

Girl, 7, Thrown 12 Floors

NEW YORK (AP)—A pretty 7-year old girl was lured to the roof of a Bronx apartment house yesterday with a promise of 10 cents and a lollipop and thrown 12 floors to her death.

Francis Michael Medaille, a 15-year-old boy suspended from a parochial school a month ago, surrendered to police and admitted: "I put my hands around her neck and choked her a little bit; I don't know why. And then I pushed her off the roof."

He was charged with homicide.

Police said Medaille, son of a hotel desk clerk, vehemently denied that he had any intention to harm the girl sexually.

Killed instantly when she landed atop a first-story abutment on the building was Kathleen Hegmann, one of eight children of John and Rita Hegmann, who lived in the same apartment house as Medaille.

Medaille told Deputy Inspector John V. Halk that he had said to the girl: "I need a strong girl to help me bring a heavy box down from the roof. If you come up and help me I'll give you 10 cents and a lollipop."

The boy appeared at a police station shortly after the girl was found dead and told police: "I just threw a girl off a roof. I want to turn myself in."

Medaille was suspended four weeks ago from Cardinal Hayes High School after he flunked three subjects.

She's Cycling Her Way to Broadway Stardom

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—A beautiful redhead, Paula Stewart, took me for a ride on her motor scooter and told me a strange Broadway story.

Rain lashed us in the face and wind roaring out of a side street almost lifted us off Park Avenue. We splashed through puddles and were practically nudged by trucks whose drivers yelled, "Hey, lady, wanta lift?"

WILSON

"I scare off more boy friends this way," Paula called back over her shoulder. "One of them always wants to ride with his Homburg on."

I was cold and wished to be somewhere other than on the rear saddle of this amazing conveyance. Paula, who also pilots a plane, kept congratulating me on not being scared. Little did she know.

"At first I thought it was a tomboyish, corny thing," yelled Paula, who's been in "Threepenny Opera," "Brigadoon," "Carousel" and top cafe shows. "Pedestrians are our biggest problem."

STEWART & FRIEND

Asked whether the scooter interfered with her acting career, Paula answered, "Quite the opposite. a Chicago-born Northwestern graduate.

"For quite a while I wanted to meet and get an audition with Arthur Klein. He was producing a show called 'Lady in Waiting.' But he wanted a big star for the part. I'm not that—yet.

"One day I was going to an audition for another show on my scooter. My accompanist was with me. Passing Shubert Alley, I saw a man step off the curb. I nearly ran him down. I was in such a hurry, I said, 'Gee, I'm awfully sorry. Excuse me now, because I'm going to an audition.'

"He said, 'You don't mean you're an actress and ride that thing, too?'

"I said, 'Yes, but I can't talk about it now. I'm due at an audition——.'

"He said, 'My name is Arthur Klein, and ——.'"

So she auditioned for him and got the part. And now: "He says he's going to put in the contract that I can't ride the scooter any more. But I won't let him. With a scooter I can find a place to park!" That's earl, brother.

Capt. O'Rourke Now at $90,000

Continues Competition on Television Program Tomorrow Night

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — My mother told me that Capt. Michael O'Rourke is "an intelligent, pleasant, well-mannered young man" and she hopes he wins a million dollars—or whatever it is you can win on nighttime Tic Tac Dough (NBC-TV, Thursdays at 7:30 p.m.)

Capt. O'Rourke has had mother glued to the set for seven or eight weeks. She'll be there tomorrow night waiting to see if O'Rourke stays at $90,000 in his contest with Mrs. Pat Nance, slips back or climbs to higher levels.

O'Rourke and I had a cup of coffee together the other day. While mother and I have disagreed on many things, we're in complete accord on the subject of O'Rourke. He's an intelligent, pleasant guy and I hope he wins a million bucks.

There's a lot of talk these days about TV quiz shows being primarily programs of personality or psychological interest while the matter of money is only secondary.

Probably that sort of talk has been overdone. The money is the most important element — at least for the contestant, and certainly for O'Rourke.

'AN AWFUL LOT'

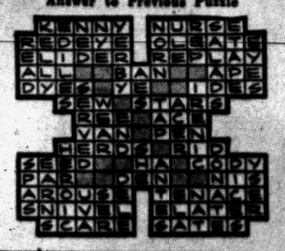

"I've never had $5,000 in my hands," he said. "I don't know exactly what it means. And $50,000 —well! I only know that it would mean an awful lot to the O'Rourkes."

O'Rourke, 29, is a native of Denver and graduate of the University of Denver, class of 1951. After graduation he shipped to Korea as a second lieutenant and served with the 2nd Division — which means that he didn't have a ball.

He's now in the regular Army, meaning that the Army wants to keep him. He intends to stay. No matter how high he goes on Tic Tac Dough he wouldn't think of quitting the Army.

Bob Considine Says:

She Prays to Khrushchev's Guardian Angel

NEW YORK (INS)—What better time to remind ourselves that Abe Lincoln once said:

"I have been driven many times to my knees by the overwhelming conviction that I had nowhere else to go. My own wisdom and that of all about me seemed insufficient for the day."

Speaking of prayer, consider that engaged in by Marie Aubuchon, editorial assistant of "Hospital Progress," which is published in St. Louis. In asking for some material on Nikita Khrushchev, Mrs. Aubuchon writes:

"Perhaps one reason I am especially interested in Khrushchev may be of interest to you. My daughter, Carol, a sophomore in the Arts College, St. Louis University, and several of her friends each day say one Hail Mary in honor of the guardian angels of certain Russian officials. The request to the angel is that he work overtime and persuade his charge to turn back to the philosophy of the gentle Man of Nazareth.

"Carol insisted that since I sold them on the idea I should pick a tough one for myself. I picked our friend Khrushchev. You know, I actually feel friendly to the man since I have started praying for him. And every time I pick up a magazine or hear a broadcast about him I'm trying to see if this guardian angel is doing a softening-up job on him.

"Of course, Khrushchev's poor angel is probably worn to a frazzle, trying. But someday I'm sure if I bother him enough he'll make Nikita see the light.

"I'm not even particular how he does it. If it takes strong arm tactics, who am I to quibble about an angel's M.O.?

"Since you say Khrushchev is a little nervous about God, he'd probably have a seizure if he heard someone is bombarding his guardian angel with the request to make him Christian. And he'd be still more nervous if he knew that five cute little sophomores from SLU are on their knees every day praying to five more guardian angels for five more conversions."

A breezy quote from Khrushchev, with an assist from a romantic linotyper . . . One of the papers that carried our interview with him stumbled during the terrible quote about how he proposed, in the event of a U.S. attack on the Soviet Union, to destroy our cities and bases."

"We will destroy your cities and your babes!" Khrushchev thundered—in that particular paper.

He's gone too far!

Plastic Corks Cheaper

LOS ANGELES — A good champagne cork costs about 6½ cents, nearly twice the price of a plastic bottle stopper. As a consequence, about 70 per cent of California's bubbly wines now are corked with plastic stoppers compared with 40 per cent two years ago.

Birth Control Drugs Tested in Puerto Rico

SAN JUAN — A hormone preparation called Enovid, developed by a New York concern for treating women with menstrual disorders, is being tested for a different purpose in Puerto Rico.

Preliminary tests indicate that the hormone, when properly used, can prevent ovulation in women, pointing to its possible use as an effective oral contraceptive.

The company reports that its product has been tested for 18 months on 125 women in Puerto Rico without any pregnancies occurring. Tests involving 70 other women are under way. The drug must be taken for 20 days each month and at present prices costs about 54 cents a day.
