

Raging Fire Threatens Movie Homes

Plan Mass Funeral for 87 Fire Victims

CHICAGO (AP)—Plans for a mass funeral for the 87 children who died in Chicago's worst school fire were announced today by church officials.

Twenty-five priests visited homes of the victims seeking approval for such a service and burial Friday.

Families were told they can make separate funeral and burial arrangements if they wish.

In the hospitals the fight for the living went on.

Seventy-five of the injured still required hospitalization. Two of them were nuns and one a school janitor. Eleven children were in critical condition.

Their battle made easier by the overwhelming response to appeals for blood and even skin for grafts.

Calls from prospective blood donors across the country were so great that many were told to call later in the week and even after.

State Demands Law to Inspect Schools

LANSING (AP)—In the wake of the Chicago parochial school fire tragedy, state officials joined today in demanding a mandatory school inspection law for Michigan.

Gov. Williams and Lynn M. Bartlett, superintendent of public instruction, both said they would try to push the measure through the 1959 legislature. Glenroy Walker, chief of the state fire marshal's division, was another asking passage of the law.

Bartlett estimated that there are 1,800 schools in Michigan of a combustible nature, most of them one room schools in rural areas.

"It would be tragically foolish to think what happened in Chicago couldn't happen here," Bartlett said.

In Detroit alone, he said, there are 38 schools rated combustible by municipal authorities "meaning these schools would most certainly burn if a fire starts."

Crowded classrooms, he said, compound the seriousness of the problem.

"It is an appalling thought in the face of the Chicago tragedy that Michigan has no requirement for state inspection of schools for fire hazards," Williams said.

A proposed measure would call for inspection of all public and private schools every three years by the state fire marshal and state health commissioner. Schools which failed to meet standards would be closed by July 1, 1961.

Similar legislation failed to pass the legislature during the past three sessions.

"We still have buildings that are as much a fire-trap as the one in Chicago," Bartlett said.

He noted that the fatalities come from the killing effect of smoke and gases and from panic as well as flames.

In addition to seeking the mandatory inspection bill, Bartlett said, he would immediately go ahead with his program. This will recommend that:

Wisconsin to Get Gunaco

LANSING (AP)—Gov. G. Menen Williams today issued a warrant for the return of John Gunaco to the State of Wisconsin where he is wanted on assault charges in connection with the 4½-year-old strike against the Kohler Co. outside Sheboygan.

All superintendents and school boards have an immediate inspection of their buildings made by responsible fire department officials.

DPW Shift Hits Possible Snag

High Court's Refusal to Clarify Sewage Case Hinders Plans

Refusal of the Michigan Supreme Court to clarify a 4 to 4 vote on the appeal of the Farmington sewage disposal system case might block Oakland County plans to consolidate the Drain Commission Office with the Department of Public Works.

This was the opinion of Harold K. Schone, department director, last night as he addressed 19 county legislators and officials at a dinner meeting in Berkley.

"These plans," said Schone, "have to be tempered until the Supreme Court looks favorably upon the constitutionality of the DPW act."

"If this is not done," he added, "the consolidation proposal we have made for you has gone for naught."

Schone and the Board of Public Works had asked the high court to clarify its split decision of October, by which, because of a rule of "affirmation by equal division," it upheld the late Judge George B. Hartwick's ruling that townships could tax over the 15-mill taxing limitation when matters of public health were involved.

Although this ruling from the Supreme Court supposedly gave the green light to the $4,900,000 proposed sewer system, county

Sinclair Raises Gas Price 5.1

Firm Reverses Trend Started Last Week; Others Due to Follow

Reversing a trend it began last week, Sinclair Refining Co. today announced a 5.1 cent a gallon increase in the tankwagon cost of gasoline to Pontiac and Detroit dealers.

Other major refineries, which last week fell in line with Sinclair's 3.3 cent cut in prices, were expected to follow Sinclair in the latest increase.

The boost pushes the tankwagon price for Sinclair gas to 14.5 cents a gallon for regular and 18 for premium. This set the new base retail price for motorists at 29 cents for regular and 33 for premium.

Fluctuating all year, gasoline prices in Pontiac averaged 33.2 cents for regular and 36.2 for premium at the first of the year. On Nov. 1 they stood at 27.9 and 31.9.

Did It Pay Full Fare?

BURTON-ON-TRENT, England (UPI)—A local bus driver was perfectly justified in saying, "Well, I swan" yesterday. A swan waddled up from the river, joined a bus crowd, and got onto a bus. It rode to the next stop, got off, and returned to the river.

Urge State Income Tax of $220 Million a Year

From Our News Wires
LANSING — The Conlin Committee last night formally urged a 220-million-dollar-a-year graduated income tax as a key measure to right Michigan's topsy-turvy tax structure and stave off state bankruptcy.

About three-quarters of its impact would fall on higher income groups, particularly those in the $10,000-and-over brackets, with rates ranging from 3 to 8 per cent.

The personal income tax, now levied by 31 states, Alaska and the District of Columbia, was but one of a host of recommendations sweeping across the entire state tax spectrum.

Nearly all, including a novel $3-a-year per person sales tax on food rebate feature, were in accordance with advance notice.

Seventeen members of the blue ribbon Citizens Advisory Group to the legislative Tax Study Committee headed by Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton) supported the program, including chairman Frank Seidman of Grand Rapids.

They conditioned their approval on acceptance of the entire tax package by the legislature, or virtually all of it.

GAIN $138 MILLION

In a summary of program effects, the committee majority figured it would bring in 391 million in new revenues and abandon 253 millions in existing revenue for a net gain of 138 million dollars a year.

The committee called for prompt creation of a special study group on local government tax and revenue problems.

Harvey E. Brazer, committee executive secretary, guessed that under the income tax proposal more than 1,500,000 persons will have to file returns, but not necessarily to pay tax. Federal income tax returns filed in Michigan run about 3,750,000 a year.

Many, particularly in the low income brackets or those with large families, would find any tax liability wiped out by tax credits of $40 for each adult and dependent child in a family. The first $1,000 of income would be exempt.

Thus, for a married man with two dependents, there would be no income tax liability for the first $3,400 of wages or salary.

Here are examples of the net cost of the tax to families in various income brackets:

COUPLE
Income	Net Cost
UNDER $4,000, NO TAX
$4,000	$16
$6,000	$88
$8,000	$172
$10,000	$480
COUPLE, TWO DEPENDENTS
Income	Net Cost
UNDER $3,400, NO TAX
$3,400	$24
$6,000	$109
$8,000	$211
$10,000	$448
SINGLE
Income	Net Cost
UNDER $2,000, NO TAX
$2,000	$47
$4,000	$111
$6,000	$257
$8,000	$413
$10,000	$670

As to higher income brackets, the report said:

"Since the state tax is deductible from income for federal income tax purposes, the net cost to the taxpayer of the state levy, after giving effect to the federal 'offset,' in no case exceeds 3.5 per cent of adjusted gross income, (notwithstanding the ceiling rate of 8 per cent)."

It would reduce total tax liabilities on business an estimated 31 million dollars a year.

Area Father Gets Fine, Court Ultimatum

Kept Girl, 12, Out of School 14 Months

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Barbara will go to school or Daddy will go to jail, Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer told a West Bloomfield Township man yesterday.

Judge Beer, in upholding a justice court conviction, ordered Elwin Clapp of 34344 W. 14-Mile Rd. to have his 12-year-old daughter, Barbara, in school within 48 hours or spend 90 days in the county jail. Clapp was also fined $50.

Clapp, a Detroit factory machinist, unfolded a strange tale of how the girl had been kept out of Decker Elementary School in Walled Lake for more than 14 months because his wife and mother-in-law feared for the girl's safety "because of a certain neighbor" with whom the family had been having a long-standing feud.

Clapp was scolded by the judge for allowing his wife "to dictate to him a violation of the state law" which requires children between 6 and 16 to attend school.

"You should realize you are head of the family and should not surrender this position," Judge Beer lectured Clapp.

ATTENDED 4 DAYS

Cecil G. Scott, principal of the school, said Mrs. Clapp had enrolled Barbara in the sixth grade in September of 1957. He said she attended only four days and then a continued absence was noted.

Donald A. Milligan, attendance officer for the Walled Lake school district, was pressed into action. Milligan said he visited the Clapp home several times only to be repelled by a sign on the front door telling visitors to leave their calling cards and they would be contacted.

Milligan never was. Registered letters also were returned to him unclaimed.

"It is always our last resort," said Scott, "so we asked for the warrant against Clapp."

West Bloomfield Township Justice Elmer C. Dieterle found Clapp guilty in January. Clapp immediately appealed to the Circuit Court where yesterday his conviction was upheld.

High Winds Fan Flames Toward Malibu Beach

2 Schools, 12 Houses in Path of Devouring Blaze, Residents Flee

MALIBU BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Racing flames today spread devastation through hills studded with the homes of movie stars and roared unchecked toward the famed Malibu Beach film colony.

The fire, driven by high winds, cut an eight-mile swath across the Malibu Hills, destroying an estimated 36 homes and routing hundreds of residents.

Firemen battled to keep the blaze out of Malibu Canyon, but lost the fight just before dawn when flames 100 feet high roared over the top of the last ridge and bore down on the homes half a mile below.

In the path of the flames are a dozen homes, a Catholic church and school and an elementary school that is being used as fire fighting headquarters and an evacuation center.

The fire has already destroyed several expensive homes, among them the $50,000 hilltop house of actor Lew Ayres.

A barn on actor Ronald Reagan's ranch burned. Ranches owned by Bob Hope and Glenn Ford had to be abandoned. Ford trucked out several head of prize cattle.

In the Malibu Beach colony, residents spent the night spraying water on their homes to keep them from being ignited by sparks from the roaring fire.

But as the flames topped the ridge at the head of the canyon, many persons packed their belongings and started to leave.

Fire officials said the blaze may be worse than the mammoth Malibu fire two years ago that burned for five days, blackening 42,000 acres and destroying 99 homes.

Some of the same ground is being burned over now, but most of the fire is in the hills running down to the picturesque seashore about 20 miles from Los Angeles.

Eight firemen were burned when a sudden wind shift sent the blaze roaring back at them. They fought through to safety but were hospitalized with first-degree burns on their faces and hands.

Evacuation centers were set up in three schools along the ocean side of the hills. More than 150 persons were bedded down in them.

About 1,000 head of cattle were brought out of the threatened (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

'Stags and Does' to Shop Separate in Pontiac Stores

Men and women will get their chance to get out and do some "separate" shopping tonight as Pontiac merchants observe Stag and Doe Night.

Beside the stores already staying open evenings until Christmas, about 16 more shops will keep their doors open until 9 tonight.

The men's stores will offer their services exclusively to female patrons, while men only will be admitted to the women's shops. The same will be true department-wise in larger stores carrying both men's and women's furnishings.

Many of the stores will feature professional models showing the latest fashions. Other stores will offer special gift wrapping services and some will supply special personal guides for shoppers who possibly "don't know just what to get him or her."

Some stores will serve refreshments.

Army Unveils Juno, Huge Moon Rocket

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The Army unveiled its huge moon rocket — Juno II — Tuesday when the service tower was rolled back as part of the preparations for a launching expected within a week.

The powerful rocket, very similar in appearance to the Jupiter-C that fired three Explorer satellites into orbit, will be used for the Army's first attempt to probe far into outer space.

When the tower was rolled away the base of the Army's highly touted Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile was seen. The top of the rocket was covered, however.

For the moon shoot, the Jupiter will be used as a first-stage booster rocket in place of the smaller Redstone missile which gave the big lift to the Jupiter-C satellite vehicle.

State Income Tax Urged by Group

tax, the committee proposed these other new or increased taxes:

A 5 per cent tax on corporate net income, 110 millions, with an offset of 45 millions through a halving of the corporation franchise tax rate and making it payable only as a minimum alternative to the income levy.

A 7 per cent tax on net income of banks, small loan companies, building and savings and loan associations and other financial institutions, increase over present structure of $11,500,000.

Business activities tax revision, including withdrawal of deductions for rent, interest and depreciation and bumping the rate applicable to public utilities to 6.5 mills, 5 millions gain.

Adjustments to taxes on insurance companies, 8 millions gain.

Impose sales and use tax on telephone, telegraph, leased wire and similar services, coupled with repeal of present exemptions under sales tax, 18 millions gain.

Twenty per cent tax on cigars, pipe tobacco, and other tobacco products other than cigarettes, four millions gain.

Replace present $1.25 a barrel tax on beer with a tax of 7 per cent imposed on the price invoiced to the distributor, 4 millions gain.

ESTATE, GIFTS TAX

Impose estate and gift taxes ranging from 6 to 22 per cent in place of the existing inheritance tax, $7,500,000 gain.

Raise tax on "handle" at thoroughbred race tracks to 7 per cent and on harness racing to 4 1/2 per cent, and discontinue state sharing of pari-mutuel tax with cities in exchange for granting cities administration tax authority, $2,200,000 gain. Existing rates are 6 per cent at thoroughbred tracks and 4 per cent at harness tracks.

Besides the 139 million dollar a year revenue loss from the personal property tax change and the 45 million loss in corporation franchise taxes, these tax repeals or reductions were proposed:

Intangibles tax repeal, reducing income 24 millions.

Nine dollar a person rebate on estimated sales tax paid annually on food, with state assuming a potential 63 million dollar obligation.

Chain store tax repeal, $500,000 a year loss.

Brazer observed that despite substantially increasing state revenues, the proposed tax package would reduce the burden of taxes borne by Michigan families with under $5,000 income.

"The increased load to be carried by the higher income groups ranges from 1/2 to 1 per cent of income for those in the $5,000 to $7,000 bracket to 2 1/2 per cent for those with incomes in excess of $10,000," he said.

More Cold Air Speeding Way Over Midwest

By The Associated Press

Rapid reversal of a warming trend in parts of the Midwest, near-zero cold in northern New England and mild temperatures elsewhere characterized most of the nation's weather today.

Cold air from Canada, pushed by winds nearly 30 miles an hour, sped through North Dakota and Minnesota. It was ending a trend toward higher temperatures from the mid-Mississippi Valley into the Great Lakes region.

By late afternoon, the rush of cold air was expected to push southward into Tennessee.

The clash of cold and warm air brought more than an inch of snow to the southern shores of Lake Superior. An inch or less fell from the eastern Dakotas to Lake Michigan.

Aside from northern New England and Fraser, Colo., which recorded 10 degrees, the lowest temperatures — 20s and 30s — were felt in portions of the Ohio Valley and the mid-Atlantic Coast states.

High Court Refusal Hinders DPW-Shift

Officials were leery about the legal strength of the split opinion.

In it, four justices sided with Judge Hartwick, while four others did not answer this particular question in the appeal.

"The reason for our rehearing request was to have them answer this one question which will have such a great effect on the sale of bonds for other DPW projects," Schone said.

County officials today were awaiting a written decree from Lansing, while Claude H. Stevens, the county's bond attorney, was re-analyzing the 44 decision to see what effect it will have on these projects.

The consolidation proposal, already approved by the Board of Supervisors, tops the list of legislation which county lawmakers will strive for during the session opening in Lansing Jan. 14.

The Legislative Committee of the Board treated legislators to a steak dinner last evening during a get-acquainted affair and study of the county's 1959 legislative program.

Only legislators in attendance at the Northwest Inn were State Senator L. Harvey Lodge and representatives-elect Arthur J. Law (District 2-Pontiac), James Clarkson (District 4), and William Hayward (District 5). The county's representative in the U.S. House of Representatives, William S. Broomfield, attended the meeting, also.

EXPERIMENTAL LIGHTING INSTALLED— The dark winter nights are a lot brighter these days at Saginaw street and Oakland avenue, as evidenced by this photo taken last night. The reason is four new experimental fluorescent lights installed by the Consumers Powers Co., the first of their kind in Michigan.

Street Lighting Experiment Creates Bright Glow in Pontiac

Shoppers and motorists in the downtown Pontiac area may be wondering what creates the bright glow at Saginaw and Oakland when viewing the intersection from a distance of several blocks.

The glow in this case is created by four experimental street lights. The four test lights were installed last Friday by Consumers Power Company in cooperation with the City of Pontiac.

The four fluorescent fixtures, using "power groove" lamps, are the first to be installed in Michigan and one of the first installations of their kind in the United States for street lighting purposes, according to Ed Karhan, Consumers Power district manager.

The immediate use of these new lamps is to highlight the new center-island recently constructed at the intersection. If the new lights prove to illuminate the intersection as efficiently as officials believe they will, more may be installed at other key city locations in the future.

The present downtown lighting system was installed in 1946. It makes use of 10,000-lumen lights and was considered a good lighting job at that time.

In December, 1955, Pontiac became one of the first cities in the state to install 30,000-lumen fluorescent lights around the new City Hall.

Another 71 of these lights were recently installed on Perry street to make it one of the safest streets for nighttime driving in Pontiac.

However, according to officials, the pedestrian traffic in the downtown area requires a higher level of illumination than arterial highways and suburban streets.

Thus, the four test lamps were set up, each lamp having an output of approximately 35,000 lumens.

This output is one and a half times that of the Perry street lights and three and a half times that of the present lighting on Saginaw street.

Mass Funeral Is Planned for 87 School Fire Victims

theory on the start of the fire was borne out by these facts:

It was usual practice about 2:30 p.m. for boys to take waste paper to the basement to be burned in the boiler room later by janitors.

A boy's washroom is nearby. It is a good place for a boy to steal a smoke. Old examination papers also were stored near the area.

Brown said two boys were in the northeast part of the building as late as 2:40 p.m. Monday, emptying waste baskets. That was two minutes before the first alarm was sounded. The boys said they smelled something smoldering.

But from his hospital bed James Raymond, 44, the janitor, insisted the area was clear of any refuse or stacks of papers as of last Thursday. He doubted anything was placed there Friday, a school holiday.

The FBI stood by in the case, saying "it is maintaining a liaison with Chicago officials to see if there is any way we can assist."

Examination of a steel 30-gallon can found near the wooden northeast stairway failed to turn up any helpful clues. Raymond said he had seen such a can before, but didn't know why it was there.

EXPLAIN SPEED

While the causes of the blaze remained unknown, some fire experts came forth with explanations for the terrific speed of the blaze. So fast did it spread that dozens of children were trapped and killed in their classrooms.

Fire Commissioner Quinn said, "When a fire gets going it moves faster than you can run."

In Boston, the National Fire Protection Assn., said open doors appeared to be the major cause of death. Association engineers reported heavy wooden doors on the second floor were open, permitting fire and hot gases to spread quickly.

First floor doors were closed, the investigators were quoted as saying, protecting classrooms there. Some 1,300 students were in the U-shaped building when the fire broke out.

A fund established by Mayor Richard Daley to aid financially the families of the injured and the dead reached $23,100. Two hundred dollars was collected in Jackson, Miss.

Defeat of Millage Increase Urged for Bloomfield Hills

BIRMINGHAM — Letters signed by Fred W. Graupner, of 6388 Dakota Circle, are being distributed to urge the defeat Monday of the Bloomfield Hills school district's proposed millage increase.

Arthur J. Picotte, chairman of the citizens' committee which Graupner represents, said a public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Friday in the Bloomfield Township Hall for further discussion.

Picotte claims the board of education information is not giving the whole picture and says that actually the increase will be 7.2 mills rather than the 4 the board states.

Graupner, who will be the principal speaker, says the "equalized value" will increase the four mills asked by the board 1.8 times, or a total of 7.2 mills.

This, he said, plus a $14 increase for the bond proposal, will put a total tax of $86 on a $10,000 assessment.

He also criticizes the educators' "anticipation program" and claims the board is asking residents to "spend money now for something that may happen in the future."

Meanwhile, Parent Teacher Organization groups are solidly backing the educators. Members have signed a resolution stressing their faith in the board and stand firmly behind the entire issue.

Superintendent Eugene Johnson said the Hills does not have a "fancy" construction program but "stresses well-built schools staffed by the best teachers available."

Mrs. Caroline Burlingame

Mrs. Caroline Burlingame, a former Birmingham resident who organized the Community Information Services for the Community Chest in 1945, died yesterday at the Whitehall Nursing Home, Ann Arbor, following a long illness.

Cremation was held today in Woodmere Cemetery. A memorial service will be held later.

Until she became ill in 1957, the 64-year-old woman lived at 436 Bonnie Briar, Birmingham.

She was director of the Community Information Services from 1945 to 1952. From 1952 to 1957 she was director of the Detroit League for Planned Parenthood, Inc.

Surviving are two sons, Richard of Ypsilanti and Andrew of Grand Rapids and five grandchildren.

The family requests memorial to the Detroit League for Planned Parenthood in lieu of flowers.

VICTOR J. MCKINLEY

Service for Victor J. McKinley, 65, of 156 E. Frank St., will be held at 1 p.m. Friday at the Marley-Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. McKinley died yesterday at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac, following a long illness.

He had been employed with the Birmingham street maintenance department for 22 years before he retired last year because of ill health. He was a veteran of World War I and a member of Birmingham Post 3645 VFW.

Surviving are his wife, Marion; two daughters, Mrs. Richard Nyberg of Clawson and Mrs. Robert Johnson of Ferndale; six sons, Richard, Thomas, William, and Charles, all of Birmingham; Harold of Troy and Robert of Royal Oak; a sister, Mrs. Marion Miller of Birmingham; a brother, Ruel McKinley of Auburn Heights and six grandchildren.

MRS. K. C. BUCKEY

Service for Mrs. K. C. (Minnie) Buckeye, 91, of 15525 Buckingham Rd., will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co. Burial will be in Joliet, Ill.

Mrs. Buckeye died yesterday at the Malcolm-Palmer Nursing Home, Southfield, following a long illness.

She was a member of the Westminster Presbyterian, Detroit and the OES Chapter at Heron Lake, Minn.

Surviving are four daughters, Mrs. Gene Perry, Esther Buckeye, Mrs. Russell Dawson and Mrs. Clifford Smith, all of Birmingham; a son, Garland of Gary, Ind.; seven grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Sputnik Carrier Due to Burn, Fall Today

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (P)—The Pullman-car-sized rocket of Sputnik III was expected to burn up and fall to the earth today.

Scientists at Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory indications were it would fall somewhere between central Europe and the Middle East.

The rocket has been orbiting since it fired Sputnik III into orbit last May 15. Sputnik itself is expected to continue circling the globe for another year because its more compact shape offers less atmospheric drag.

Smithsonian scientists said probably very little would remain of the carrier rocket as it hit the earth since it would burn up through friction on entering the earth's atmosphere.

Less fortunate were the deer that live in the hills. Their burned bodies littered roads in the area.

"This thing has gone crazy," said County Fire Chief Keith Klinger, who is directing more than 1,000 men on the fire lines.

A prolonged dry spell that left hillside brush bone-dry, a sudden rise in the wind, and a spark from an unknown source combined to touch off the fire at noon Tuesday along a main highway eight miles inland from the Pacific.

The possibility that an arsonist set the fire is being investigated. From its starting point the fire moved with incredible speed through grass, light brush and occasional oak trees toward the hills, which are dotted with luxury homes and ranches.

It swept over a huge ranch used by the 20th Century-Fox to make Western movies, causing a company shooting a television film to flee.

As it gathered momentum before the driving winds, sheriff's deputies in radio cars sped through the residential areas alerting homeowners to the threat. Families piled children, pets and whatever else they could grab into their cars and poured out of the hills.

Heroes by individual firemen were commonplace. One man was seen alone on the roof of a $30,000 home, pouring water over it while flames leaped 25 feet all around him.

Arsenic in Cigarettes May Be Causing Lung Cancer

NEW YORK (UPI) — A group of scientists said today that an increase in deaths resulting from lung cancer may be traceable in part to the increased content of arsenic in cigarettes.

They said cigarettes have been found to contain arsenic well in excess of the amount permitted in food.

The findings of the scientists—a research group of the medical research and radioisotope units of the Veterans Administration Hospital and the Department of Surgery, Southwestern Medical School of the University of Texas—were reported in the current issue of Cancer, a journal of the American Cancer Society. The study was supported by the National Cancer Institute.

The Texas scientists said that in the last 25 years the arsenic content of American cigarette tobaccos has increased between 200 and 600 per cent.

"The coincident increase in lung cancer deaths during this period suggests a causal relationship," they said. "However, this analogy remains to be proved by further laboratory and clinical research." The scientists said that in a study of five regular-sized, unfiltered leading-brand cigarettes they found the arsenic concentration ranging from 42.5 to 52 parts per million. They noted that three parts of arsenic trioxide per million is the maximum permitted in food products. Since cigarettes are not regarded as a food or drug, they are not regulated in this respect, the scientists said.

Most of the arsenic found in cigarettes is believed to come from insecticides used to spray tobacco plants, they said.

Of the 45 micrograms of arsenic found in the average cigarette, the scientists said, roughly one-third remains in the butt, the second third is in the ashes and the remaining third goes into the smoke.

Filters have proven less than 30 per cent effective as a protection against arsenic, they said.

The scientists said that some experts believed that the amount of arsenic in cigarettes was too small to cause lung cancer, while others felt that it might be a contributing factor.

As for themselves, the Texas scientists said they believed the inhalation of arsenic in minute doses might lead to changes which ultimately could result in cancer.

As Rightists Sweep Elections

Sees Fear for Future of Democracy in France

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Fears for the future of the democracy in France are now being more widely expressed than ever because of the number of rightists elected to parliament after bundling themselves in Charles de Gaulle's coattails.

The leader himself, whose election to the presidency is expected to be little more than a formality, is depicted as embarrassed.

His gerrymandering of election districts and voting regulations designed to wipe out the Communists not only accomplished his purpose, but also wiped out many moderates and socialists who are among the natural leaders of France.

Jacques Soustelle, propelled into the leading role in parliament through his leadership of a wide variety of rightist elements who voluntarily grouped themselves around him and tried to assume the aura of De Gaulle, was known during the Fourth Republic as a wrecker of parliaments.

While Soustelle himself is not rabid, and while no one is expected to offer a frontal challenge to De Gaulle, many of those who wrapped themselves in the Soustelle-De Gaulle banner are extremists.

In particular, many of them stand for imposition of complete integration on Algeria as against De Gaulle's own desire to devise a workable association with the Arabs.

Thus the majority bloc is itself divided, a situation which has become a commonplace in French politics. The question is how much this will affect the stability toward which De Gaulle is directing his efforts. The rightist bloc can hardly be called a party, and any program it may have is yet to develop.

Some are expressing the fear that it will be capable of interfering with civil liberties—especially strikes—and with freedom of the press in the name of stability, if a sufficient crisis arises.

De Gaulle, of course, will have the power no other president has had to rule parliament under the threat of dissolution. If he did not already have it under the new constitution, his popularity would give it to him.

But there is wonderment as to how many of the new rightist deputies, having proclaimed their fealty to De Gaulle in order to be elected, will not live up to it.

There also is wonderment as to the undercover pressures which may be built up by the fact that one-fifth of the nation's voters—some Communists and the rest protest voters who chose the Communist ticket as their means of expression—will have only one-fifth-fourth of the seats in parliament.

Dulles Rests at Ranch; Due in Frisco Thursday

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was resting at this desert resort today. He travels to San Francisco tomorrow to attend a luncheon.

Dulles arrived yesterday from Mexico City where he attended the presidential inauguration. He was staying at the Smoke Tree Ranch where President Eisenhower stayed during an earlier visit.

Dormitory Has Fire

HOLLAND — Durfee Hall, a women's dormitory at Hope College, was evacuated Tuesday while firemen put out a blaze which caused $500 damage to a third-floor room. School officials said the fire started in an electric hot-plate. Firemen were alerted by passing students who noticed smoke coming from the room whose two occupants were away.

Breech Reports on Industrial Rise

Europe's Economy Amazingly Strong

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Europe's economy has shown tremendous new strength and growth, Ernest R. Breech, chairman of the Ford Motor Co., said Monday.

In an address at the annual Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce dinner, Breech said that he had just returned from a six weeks' tour of Europe, adding:

"More countries are enjoying greater national solvency than in decades. There is substantially higher employment everywhere. Living standards are climbing sharply, a great single mass market is developing and European industry is furiously mobilizing to meet it."

Breech said that since 1950 Europe's economy, particularly its industry, has been overtaking us at an accelerating pace.

"In the period 1950 through 1957, for example," Breech pointed out, "Europe's gross national product increased 88 per cent compared to our 49 per cent."

Breech said he was most impressed by what he called the really striking improvement throughout Europe in the design, manufacturing and merchandising of automobiles and consumer durable goods. He added:

"You find single automobile plants producing as many as 2,500 engines and 2,000 or more bodies daily—levels of production that compare favorably with operations here in the United States."

"Moreover these countries are fast adopting modern managerial organization and practices. They are spending it freely on vastly improved plants and equipment."

Breech declared that European countries are innovating at a tremendous pace and important new developments and processes appear every day in mining and steel production and manufacturing. He added:

"As a result of these developments according to our own projection from the period 1957-1963, western Europe's gross national product will increase from 226 billion dollars to nearly 300 billion dollars."

"Steel will increase from 96 million to 130 million short tons—that exceeds our own 1957 production; coal from 544 million to 575 million tons; and electricity from 418 billion to 650 billion kilowatt hours—almost equaling our own domestic production."

"Production of cars and commercial vehicles will increase from about 4½ million units this year to 5½ million or more in 1963. In 1958 alone Europe is producing about 3½ million passenger cars compared to our estimated 4,300,000."

Senator Talks to Khrushchev

8-Hour Chat Leaves Humphrey Aware of Differences in Policy

MOSCOW (AP) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today an eight-hour interview with Premier Nikita Khrushchev left him convinced "the areas of disagreement between our respective foreign policies remain broad and deep."

"It does not appear that for a considerable time these differences will be resolved," the senator told newsmen.

Humphrey said Khrushchev gave him enthusiastic approval on his proposal for expansion of the international medical research program.

He decided not to comment publicly on other phases of Khrushchev's remarks "since I believe in always beginning with areas of agreement rather than discord."

He told correspondents he made this decision after consultation with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson Jr., about his long talk with Khrushchev. He wishes to present the details first to "the secretary of state or the President or whom-ever wants to talk with me in Washington," he said.

Humphrey said he visited Khrushchev's office Monday for what he expected to be a routine conversation.

But the long discussion covered many things from Berlin through the Middle East to Formosa and through the subjects of agriculture and foreign trade. The senator stayed on for dinner with Khrushchev and Dep. Premier A. I. Mikoyan.

Humphrey said Khrushchev endorsed a five-point proposal for Soviet-American cooperation on health that the senator had presented earlier to the Soviet Health Ministry and the Soviet Academy of Medicine.

That program:

1. Implementation and broadening of medical exchange;
2. An additional two-way flow of medical data;
3. A wide increase in personal contacts between medical scientists;
4. Speedy planning for an international public health and medical research year, probably in 1961, and

5. U.S.-Soviet collaboration on a campaign for intensified prenatal research.

Eleven Hurt as Bus Rams Power Pole

AURORA, Ore. (AP)—A Greyhound bus veered off a highway and ran into a power pole Tuesday night near this western Oregon town.

State police said 11 persons were injured. They were taken to Oregon City and Portland hospitals. None of them appeared seriously hurt, police said.

Police said the bus failed to negotiate a turn on Highway 99E, hit the pole and then came to rest against an embankment.

The bus was en route north to Portland.

Mackinac Ferry Sold as Giant Potato Bin

LANSING (UPI) — One of the Mackinac Straits ferries was sold yesterday as a storage bin for potatoes.

The State Administrative Board approved sale of The City of Cheboygan to the Edward H. Anderson Co., Chicago, for $25,000.

Deputy Highway Commissioner Sidney H. Woolner, who recommended acceptance of the bid, said it was not immediately known where the ship would be docked. He said the bid was about two and a half times higher than the top bid on the ferries last May.

"We have several proposals for disposition of the other ferries but none is concrete enough to talk about at this stage," Woolner said. The ferries were put out of business by the opening of the Mackinac Bridge last fall.

Prince Pignatelli Hurt by Motorcycle in Italy

ROME (UPI) — Prince Antonio Aragona Pignatelli, 66, husband of Texas-born Beatrice Molyneux, was run over by a motorcycle Monday and seriously injured.

Pignatelli is head of one of the most prominent noble families of Italy. He was rushed to Policlinic Hospital where doctors said his condition was serious.

15 Prisoners Escape in Football Smoke

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — The hunt was on today for 15 Irish political prisoners who escaped through a smoke screen set during a prison football game.

Authorities suspected the missing men were being sheltered by persons sympathetic to the outlawed Irish Republican Army, which wages a guerrilla campaign to unite British Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic.

The break was made Tuesday 25 miles south of Dublin at Curragh prison camp, where IRA men captured by the Irish government are held.

A guard spotted smoke billowing up from under his sentry tower during a football game in the camp compound and fired a warning volley. Soon more smoke rose from other parts of the compound.

Sixteen of the prisoners broke through the barbed wire fence around the camp and were swarmed up in a mist hanging over the flat Curragh plain. One was recaptured later and two other men were wounded by tear gas grenades.

State Grants Approval

Workers' Insurance Rates Going Up Nearly 26 Pct.

LANSING (AP) — One hundred and fifty-five firms writing workmen's compensation insurance have been granted rate increases averaging nearly 26 per cent, state Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre states.

About 50 million dollars in gross premiums were paid annually under the old rate structure by 112,000 employers for coverage of about 2½ million workers.

Navarre said more than half the increase, effective yesterday, is attributed to recent Supreme Court decisions more liberally construing circumstances under which covered employees are entitled to benefits.

The big increase does not directly affect coverage of employees for Ford, General Motors, Chrysler and many other major employers in the state who as "self insurers" undertake to underwrite their own risks.

The higher rates are effective on new and renewal policies only.

Pontiac Post Office Busy

Christmas Mail to Set Record

This year's Christmas mail will break Pontiac's 1957 record of 7,260,344 pieces of mail handled during the pre-holiday season, Robert C. Miller, acting postmaster, predicted today.

So far, there was an excellent response to his "mail early" appeal for Christmas parcels and greeting cards, he said. But he warned unless residents continue and step up their mailings, there will not be enough time for processing and delivering before Christmas.

Miller advised all mailers have their return address on all labels and envelopes. He also suggested the use of zone numbers.

"It's a good idea to include an extra addressed label inside your packages and place a piece of transparent cellophane tape over the addressed portion of the label on the packages to prevent defacing in transit," he added.

Other suggestions by Miller are:

1. Check the parcel post size and weight limitations, as they vary according to destination.
2. Use four cent stamps on all cards for prompt service. Three cents, the third-class rate, only allows a signature and no sealing.
3. Separate cards into two bundles, one for "all for local delivery" and the other, "all for out-of-town delivery." Labels with these notices can be obtained at the Post Office free of charge.
4. Mail out-of-town cards first.
5. Mail gift packages between Dec. 10 and Dec. 15.
6. Use corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of brown wrapping paper and strong cord.
7. Bring your mailing lists up to date first including changed addresses.

Beginning Dec. 12, service windows at both the main office at 735 W. Huron St. and the federal station on E. Huron will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, Saturdays, Dec. 13 and 20, both offices will be open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

Dec. 8 through 11 one window will be open until 7 p.m. at the main building.

Miller suggested residents mail packages and buy stamps before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30 p.m. to avoid standing in line during the rush hours.

16 Americans Reported Held by Cuban Rebels

HAVANA (UPI) — Reports from eastern Cuba said today 16 Americans are in rebel hands and upwards of 60 others have been deprived of water and milk supplies by insurgent action.

None of the Americans was believed to be in serious danger. The United Fruit Company reported that 14 Americans at its agricultural station in Guara fell into rebel hands 10 days ago when the village was captured by a rebel band which has since cut off water and milk supplies from the company's Preston sugar mill.

United Fruit officials said, however, that it is not yet thought necessary to evacuate 30 American families from the Preston Mill, which also is the home of about 6,000 Cubans.

At the same time, the rebel radio called on the U. S. Embassy and the Inter-American Press Assn. for help in getting an American reporter-photographer team back to civilization. One of the newsmen was identified as Pat Farley Zopane, of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

The insurgent broadcast said the two Americans cannot leave the rebel-held hills "because their arrest has been ordered." The report was denied by police in Cienfuegos, the city through which the Americans entered the hills.

"They can come down anytime they want, just the way they went up," a police spokesman said.

Earlier, the rebel radio had launched a bitter attack on the United States, accusing Ambassador Earl E. T. Smith of "meddling" in Cuban affairs.

"Enough is enough," a rebel announcer said. "We are tired of being branded as Communists by the American State Department. . . . If any (U. S.) Marines land on Cuban soil, they will be fought the same as (President Fulgencio) Batista's soldiers."

Picking Up Signals of Mystery Missile

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Scientists at the Lockheed Missile Tracking Station here disclosed last night that they have picked up mysterious new man-made signals from outer space.

The scientists said the new "unexplained" signal was picked up for more than 10 minutes beginning at 2:35 p.m. (5:35 p.m. EST) Nov. 26. It was "very similar but not the same as the telemeter signal from Sputnik I," the scientists said.

Lockheed said the signal was definitely from a man-made instrument in outer space, rather than a signal caused by natural phenomena such as have often been heard at the tracking station. It was a three-step telemeter tone received on a frequency of 20.003 megacycles.

Belding Girl, 19, Chosen Michigan Apple Queen

GRAND RAPIDS — Suzanne Davis, 19-year-old daughter of a Belding orchardist, will rule for the coming year as Michigan apple queen.

The brown-haired, hazel-eyed University of Michigan junior was crowned last night in special ceremonies as part of the annual Michigan State Horticultural Society convention under way in Grand Rapids.

Miss Davis represented Ionia and Montcalm counties. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Davis, she was one of eight candidates for the honor of representing Michigan's apple industry throughout the United States.

Iron Holds Key to Russian Plan

Ore Shortage Biggest Problem in Production Competition With U.S.

MOSCOW (AP) — Iron is a key — and a formidable problem — in the new Soviet master plan to out-produce the United States.

Where it once was available, iron ore now is in short supply. While the shortage is speeding the Soviet Union's approach to the age of plastics, iron ore still occupies a dominant role in the seven-year plan.

Laying down the terms of this plan for Soviet industrial expansion, Premier Nikita Khrushchev stressed to the Communist Party Central Committee that the iron industry — especially its iron ore base — ranked first among the tasks ahead.

The iron content in the ores of Krivoi Rog in the Ukraine and of the Urals, once the backbone of Soviet heavy industry, has been dwindling steadily. Articles in Soviet scientific journals have spoken of this as an iron brake on Soviet industrial expansion.

Mining Journal, a periodical for the industry, has pointed out that Soviet industry has been long suffering from an acute shortage of iron ore.

"The quality of (Krivoi Rog) ores poses an acute problem," the Journal said, "since the iron content of commercial ore has dropped from 60.3 per cent in 1933 to 55.3 per cent in 1956."

Discussing the same area, an Academy of Sciences journal called Questions of Economics reported early this year that in the first six months of 1957, the iron content of these ores was reduced by 0.70 to 0.75 per cent as compared with 1956.

The magazine added that as for the Urals ores, which never were of superior quality, the iron content dwindled even faster.

The government has conducted nationwide campaigns for scrap iron collection on a scale unparalleled since the war.

The iron ore shortage may be temporary, but a mighty effort will be required to cope with what Soviet economists describe as a bottleneck for further industrial expansion.

Soviet planners apparently feel they must take advantage of new deposits discovered in Siberia and Kazakhstan, suitable to fast open-pit mining, even though far from industrial centers of European Russia.

Under the seven-year plan, new deposits will form the base for large industrial combines in an eastern Soviet industrial area. The plan earmarks 40 per cent of its total investment for development of these areas, where iron will play a leading role in the attempt to bring the plan to fruition.

Blaze in Big Rapids Destroys 2 Firms

BIG RAPIDS — A fire, which for a time threatened an entire block on Big Rapids' main business street, destroyed two small business establishments yesterday.

The blaze swept through a two-story frame building which housed a cleaning establishment (Band Box) and an appliance store (Household).

Firemen extinguished the blaze some 3½ hours after it broke out. No one was injured. Fire equipment from Reed City, Morley, Rogers Heights and Stanwood aided Big Rapids firemen in preventing the flames from spreading to other buildings in the block.

Damage was estimated by an insurance adjuster at between $15,000 and $20,000.

Reds Wanted Him Stoned Dulles Escapes Plot

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican authorities were reported today to have thwarted a Communist plot to stone Secretary of State John Foster Dulles at Mexico City this week.

Dulles was there Sunday, Monday and Tuesday as head of the U.S. delegation to the inauguration of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos. He flew Tuesday night to Palm Springs, Calif., for a rest before addressing the California Chamber of Commerce in San Francisco Thursday. He returns to Washington Friday.

Advices reaching Washington said Mexican police were alerted last week to clandestine plans for an anti-Dulles campaign along these lines:

1. Stone-throwing by students of the University of Mexico, at the instigation of the Communist youth movement.
2. Wearing of black ties, a symbol of death, by demonstrators.
3. Whistling, a traditional Latin-American insult.
4. Distribution of 50,000 anti-Dulles leaflets and telephone calls to the U.S. Embassy saying, "Dulles, get out."
5. Painting of big red circles on the sidewalk as a Communist symbol.

U.S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill was reported gravely concerned. Memories are still fresh of the rough treatment accorded Vice President and Mrs. Richard M. Nixon in Venezuela last May. Hill consulted with Mexican officials last week and, it was said, these steps followed:

1. Outgoing President Adolfo Ruiz Cortines offered known Communists and agitators an alternative — get out of town during Dulles' visit or go to jail.
2. Police rounded up and jailed potential trouble makers still around.
3. Student leaders at the university were asked to keep their classmates in line. They apparently did, for no stone throwing was reported.

4. Demonstrators were dispersed as quickly as they assembled, and the whistling, black ties and red circles never materialized.

5. A print shop was raided and leaflets confiscated, although about 10,000 of them apparently got out on the street over the weekend.

Find Slain Girl at Cliff Bottom; Hunt Boy Friend

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Police are looking for the boy friend of a blonde, 19-year-old model whose body was apparently thrown off a steep mountain road.

The girl, Charlotte Trospers, was apparently stabbed before she was pushed off a precipice in the San Gabriel Mountains north of Los Angeles.

Her body was found Tuesday by a motorist on a ledge below a scenic parking area along the mountain highway.

She had been reported missing when she failed to show up at her modeling job at a photo studio Tuesday morning. Her employer, Emmett Hubbarth, went to her apartment and notified police when he found she wasn't there.

Hubbarth told the officers Miss Trospers had been having "difficulties" with a boy friend. Investigators learned that the boy friend had been at the apartment Monday night.

The girl's body was fully clothed except for shoes and stockings. One shoe was found along the road 30 feet from the parking area.

She had been stabbed in the chest and there were cuts on her hand as if she had tried to ward off a knife blow, the police said.

Jefferson Selleck Play Appeals to Henry Fonda

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Hot or cold, sunshine or rain, Henry Fonda and his wife, the former countess Aldera Franchetti, will spend Christmas in New York. Hank has made up his mind that next on the list for him will be "Jefferson Selleck," which Joe Mankiewicz is bringing to the stage.

Hanks wants to do this play above everything else because it's about actual people his family knew in his hometown of Omaha, Neb. MGM owns the screen rights to the Carl Jonas novel, "Jefferson Selleck."

Hank is just finishing "Warlock" at 20th and I look to see MGM come after him when they bring "Jefferson" to the screen.

Ring the bells, bring out the good news! By special decree of the Hollywood Women's Press Club, Tony Curtis is voted the most cooperative actor of 1958 and Dinah Shore the most cooperative actress. They receive the Golden Apple prize at the 18th annual luncheon.

Once before Tony won, but that was in 1952 when he was just coming up to fame and before he became the big star he is today. As for our girl, Dinah, this is the very first time a TV star has beaten out all screen actresses for the top spot. They tell me that both Tony and Dinah won by a mile. See what happens when you're nice to the press!

P.S.: The very first Golden Apple awards were won by Bette Davis and Bob Hope.

June Havoc, who has been in Brighton, England, sends me a note to say that she bought two wonderful properties in England for motion pictures. "One is called 'A Room in Moscow.' And it is written by a 21-year-old girl," says June, "who actually got a job and lived in Russia six months. Believe me, it's very interesting and tells a lot."

June doesn't say whether she'll make it in England or the U.S.A. Let's hope she comes home with her Russian epic.

The Debbie Reynolds shower for Mrs. Rory Calhoun was a gala affair with a silver fountain pouring champagne. Lita received so many beautiful gifts, and most of them very practical.

Good to hear Jack Warner's voice over the telephone. He sounds so well. I talked to both Ann and Jack and they're very glad to be home.

The whole Hollywood Brown Derby fell apart when Maria Callas walked in for luncheon. She was the guest of Mrs. Glen Wallich.

Brigitte Bardot's ex-husband, Robert Vadim, has his work cut out in trying to bring his current bride, the Danish actress Annette Stroybert, to the status of B.B. But Annette gets a break in having Carl Foreman direct her in her first picture, "Guns of Navarone."

Francoise Sagan is telling her intimates in France that Americans just do not understand her work and she was disappointed in the way "Bonjour Tristesse" was handled. She's going to adapt her own novels from now on.

Glass Brick May Aid Disposal of A-Waste

CHALK RIVER, Ont. (AP) — Glass bricks coated with a protective glaze may provide the key to disposal of radioactive wastes.

The wastes from atomic power plants: sometimes are stored in stainless steel tanks and placed in underground concrete pits lined with stainless steel.

So far this method has proved satisfactory at Canada's big atomic plant here. A better way must be found, however, for these tanks will not last indefinitely.

Experiments being carried out with glass bricks have been encouraging.

Cliburn No Rival to Presley, He Tells Children

KILGORE, Tex. (AP) — "Our product is rather different," pianist Van Cliburn grinned and said after somebody suggested he is a rival of rock 'n' roll singer Elvis Presley.

Cliburn, 23, said he isn't very good at rock 'n' roll but has "invested many nickels in juke boxes to listen to it."

This confession came after he received a long and loud ovation from an audience of children for his performance of the long Rachmaninov Third Piano Concerto.

"Cliburn said he inaugurated his concerts for children because he thought of himself as a boy. 'I wanted to play for my own contemporaries and convince them that my interpretation of classical music is good too,' he said.

Cliburn played two concerts, was acclaimed by speaker after speaker and honored at "Van Cliburn Day in Texas."

The lanky pianist was toasted in his home town here the first time formally since he won the Tchaikovsky piano competition in Moscow last April and became perhaps the most famous young musician of two continents.

Hoot Gibson Rides Again in New Movie

By PHYLIS BATTLE
SHREVEPORT, La. — Hoot Gibson, once the most magnificent cowboy of them all, is riding again. It's a slow, sometimes painful ride. They have to lift him onto the horse, because of a broken hip and crippled back and sundry smaller crimps to his great style, but he hides whatever he feels behind a wry sort of smile.

"Honey," he says, "this is what I was born to."

What Hoot earned, in his heyday, was not hay. He is said to have done away with more than $5,000,000 in generosity and bad investments.

Now, at the age of 65 or thereabouts, he looks like le petite Santa Claus in a dusty blue uniform as he sits in a Louisiana field waiting to be hoisted on a horse and called before the cameras for the film, "The Horse Soldiers."

"I've had a wonderful life and still have," he says, "although I'm broken up a little now. Did that in a plane, not on a horse. I crashed in the first International Air Race in 1933. They had to take the plane away in a barrel."

Earlier, much earlier, as a Nebraska schoolboy escaped from school he had run wild horses to California. This had led to his being elected the first "all around cowboy champion of the world" at Pendleton, Ore., in 1912.

Seven years later, he was the top paid movie hero in Hollywood silent films.

"I was making eight pictures a year, getting $150,000 a picture, and you know what the tax was—4 per cent."

"One day in 1929 I woke up with four bits."

Hoot runs a hand through his short white hair. "Four bits," he muses, "left over from three airplanes, four cars and a home in Beverly Hills."

"But I can't complain. My friends were all jumpin' out of windows. I still had a movie contract."

Hoot kept on in the movie business, his parts getting more and more minor, until 1945. But he doesn't call it acting.

"Naaah—I can't act. I just ride and follow orders."

When finally he retired, he says he told his wife, "Let's go find someplace out of this crazy town." So saying, they left Hollywood for a town of mout sanity called Las Vegas.

"We love it," he says. "My wife can play bingo and I play keeno. We don't like to gamble much."

They have a small home near Vegas, and Hoot claims to be completely happy away from the movie and TV business, which he laughingly told upon departing, "You people are all nuts and I don't want to have anything to do with it."

Last spring, however, famed film director John Ford came to the Golden Nugget, a gambling palace in Las Vegas. He asked to see "that old so and so, Hoot Gibson." Hoot just happened to be in another room.

"I used to room with Jack Ford,"

Hoot recalls, "back in the days before the war." That would be the first world war. "And he directed my first starring picture. I hadn't seen him for maybe 35 years."

"Anyway, he asked me if I could still ride."

"I said, are you kiddin'? I'm all smashed up."

Ford asked if Hoot could ride when lifted to a saddle. "That's a deal," Hoot said. So now he's back, Nebraska's wonder boy; he made millions and lost millions and now all he's interested in is a little keeno money for the day when he might possibly feel older.

Use of prescription-type drugs in the U. S. has increased to an estimated 70 million pounds today.
