Hanoi Charges U.S. Delays Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam accused the United States today of resorting to "ill-founded pretexts to shun or postpone contacts" for peace talks.

"It is quite clear that the U.S. still shows no sign of good will," said Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan.

The paper's charges came on the heels of a Vietcong announcement of a three-day cease-fire starting today in An Giang Province, near the Cambodian border, to mark the Cambodian or Khmer-new year.

Nhan Dan issued similar charges yesterday.

Hanoi said the United States, while refusing sites for preliminary peace talks including Phnom Penh, and Warsaw, had escalated its attacks against North Vietnamese targets.

'AIM TO PROLONG WAR'

The article signed "commentator," said "after refusing to use Phnom Penh as a place for contacts between representatives of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the U.S., the U.S. government has rejected the idea of choosing Warsaw as another venue."

Nhan Dan added: "U.S. military activities in North Vietnam since President Johnson's March 31 address have shown what the 'limited bombing' really is.

"The United States continues bombing an important part of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam comprising four provinces and one area.

"Meanwhile, U.S. air reconnaissance is going from Thanh Hoa Province northward. On April 4 in particular, U.S. aircraft attacked Lai Chau province capital.

Lai Chau is about 300 miles northwest of Hanoi. Washington has denied the charge that the provincial capital was bombed April 4.

Clues in Slaying — 'Substantial'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — FBI agents have uncovered "very substantial" physical evidence as they work "around the clock pursuing every lead" in the search for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassin, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said last night.

"The FBI is devoting every possible resource to this investigation," Clark said. "... While it remains impossible to predict when the killer will be arrested, I remain hopeful that it will be soon."

Clark, like FBI officials, refused to answer newsmen's questions. "All I can say is no comment," said Robert Jensen, special agent in charge of the Memphis FBI office.

In New York, the Daily News reported today it had learned that the FBI had definitely established that the white Mustang sports car abandoned in Atlanta was the same car seen driving away from the murder scene after the assassination.

The Daily News said witnesses in Memphis gave investigators the license number of the car.

It quoted unnamed sources as saying the plate numbers matched those of the car found in Atlanta. The FBI in Memphis said it had no comment on the News report.

SNIPER VICTIM

King was shot and killed by a sniper April 4 as he stood outside his motel room here.

In Washington, Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, said a welter of "premature and contradictory statements" was clouding the investigation and asked the FBI to "set the record straight."

The search for the assassin has spread hundreds of miles from Memphis, sources report, and involves thousands of investigators.

Easter Is Marked by Unusual Touches

By The Associated Press
This year's world Easter scene, which comes to its joyous climax tomorrow in memory of Christ's resurrection, is dominated by traditional celebrations but flecked with unusual touches.

Thousands of pilgrims streamed into Rome for the Roman Catholic Easter vigil service tonight in St. Paul's Basilica.

On Good Friday the Pope Paul VI bore a cross through the heart of what once was pagan Rome.

The 70-year-old Pope declared in a sermon that all men were "coresponsible" for the death of Christ, because He died to save all men from their sins.

The ancient holy city of Jerusalem was different this year: It was united under Israeli rule, and Christian Easter coincided with Jewish Passover.

WATCH PROCESSION
Hundreds of Israelis watched as Christian Arabs and pilgrims from many lands including the United States trod the Way of the Cross along the Via Dolorosa and filed into the Church of the Holy Sepulchre for the final stations.

It is believed Christ was crucified on the spot where the church now stands and also entombed there.

A bit of Christian-Jewish ecumenism was to occur in Starved Rock State Park near Ottawa, Ill.

There the Rev. Joseph Donnelly, a Jesuit, will conduct a Judeo-Christian Mass near the place where another Jesuit, the Rev. Jacques Marquette, held the first non-Indian religious ceremony in Illinois 250 years ago.

At Colgate University, chaplain Dr. Donald Berry will conduct an interdenominational Easter service in the administration building for 500 students and faculty members who've been holding a sit-in there since Wednesday.

Showers Threaten Easter Bonnets

Milady should be prepared for showers when venturing out in Easter finery tomorrow.

The temperature soared to 78 at 4 p.m., yesterday tying the record high for that date set in 1896.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports the following day-by-day official forecast:

TODAY — Cloudy, chance of occasional showers this afternoon or tonight. High 68 to 75. Low tonight 48 to 52.

Winds mostly southwesterly 15 to 25 miles per hour.

TOMORROW — Chance of occasional showers. A little cooler.

MONDAY — Partly cloudy with little temperature change and a chance of showers in the morning.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent: today 50, tonight 70, and tomorrow 60.

A balmy 54 was the low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. By 2:00 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 73.

Study Planned for Crystal Lake 7 Seats Are at Stake

Development of housing in the area around Crystal Lake is moving closer to reality with the announcement that a Detroit, all-Negro planning firm will begin preparing a study of the area and of prospective tenants.

Charles M. Tucker Jr., president of the newly formed nonprofit corporation, Harambee, Inc. said the corporation has decided to engage the planning firm for professional fees initially totaling about $18,000.

Harambee (an African word meaning, Let us Work Together), was organized as a nonprofit corporation to get widespread involvement in efforts to provide new housing, and commercial facilities, and to rehabilitate old housing in the south end of the city.

Tucker said Harambee has pledged (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 4)

Commission Vote Monday

Registered voters will go to the polls Monday to elect seven city commissioners for new two-year terms.

Fourteen candidates, including five incumbents, are seeking office.

There are no issues on the ballot.

The candidates:
District 1—T. Warren Fowler Sr., incumbent, and Charles M. Tucker Jr., District 2—Robert C. Irwin, incumbent, and Louis E. Fairbrother.

District 3—William H. Taylor Jr., incumbent, and Earl D. Spring Sr.
District 4—F. Jack Douglas and George Grba.

District 5—Robert F. Jackson and Arnold R. Jones.

District 6—Wesley J. Wood, incumbent, and John F. Leonard.

District 7—James H. Marshall, incumbent, and Robert A. Landry.

Two city commissioners decided earlier this year not to run for reelection.

Next Tuesday's city commission meeting will be the last for District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson and District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan.

COMMISSION VETERANS

Hudson has served two terms on the commission and was mayor pro tem during those four years. Dugan dropped out of contention this year for the first time in 14 years. He was first elected to the city commission in 1954 and lost in a reelection bid only once, in 1962.

The election this year features rematches in Districts 1 and 7. Fowler and Tucker were opponents in 1966 as were Marshall and Landry.

BONE PUZZLE — Pontiac Patrolman Freeman Stallions, an identification bureau officer, studies bones uncovered in the city yesterday by an excavation worker. Otis Jones, 43, of 230 Crestwood discovered a skull when working his earth mover about 6 p.m. at the site of a future parking lot at Kennett and Oakland. Found were another skull, plus leg, arm and rib bones. Stallions said laboratory tests will be run on the find next week.

Army Tests Could Cause Disaster—Doctor

TOOLE, Utah — Dr. Kelley H. Gubler, chief of staff of the Toole Valley Hospital, says it is possible that chemical and biological testing at the Army's Dugway Proving Ground could cause a "massive human disaster."

In reference to the death of 6,700 sheep in Utah's Skull Valley in March, Gubler said:

"The sheep's worries are over, now I'd start worrying about the people. Undoubtedly the wind shifted and the Army failed to take adequate precautions."

He discussed the subject in the April 12 edition of Medical News World, a weekly magazine.

"We should bear in mind that with a slight amount of misdirected containment, there could be a massive human disaster," he said.

RECORDS CONFIRM WIND

U.S. Weather Bureau charts and Dugway records have confirmed prevailing winds up to 35 m.p.h. blew across Dugway into Skull Valley 20 miles northeast and on toward Toole and Salt Lake City on March 13, the day before the sheep began dying.

The Army has withdrawn an earlier denial and admitted spraying a nerve gas agent from an airplane that day.

Veterinarians and state investigators claim the army nerve gas testing March 13 caused the sheep deaths.

"It's ridiculous for the Army... to soft-pedal the human health hazard," Gubler charged, emphasizing "We've blown our stacks before over Dugway incidents. We occasionally see patients who have gotten an anticholinesterase overdose at the proving ground."

"But will the Army admit it? Never. They refuse to take a realistic attitude."

DEAD SHEEP TESTED

Tests done on the stricken sheep showed them suffering from a depression of cholinesterase which incapacitates its victims by blocking the enzyme action at nerve endings, causing spasms and convulsions.

Gubler said that although he treated one worker with the depression symptoms, "the Army vehemently denied he had received an overdose."

He said the man later went into convulsions, "suffered nervous impairment and had to receive long-term treatment."

Army spokesmen at Dugway say there is no human health hazard, insisting blood tests on Army employees at Dugway following the sheep's deaths showed no signs of nerve gas.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah says he has "proof positive" that the Army test caused the sheep deaths.

Birmingham Area

Banker Gets Village Fair Chairmanship

BIRMINGHAM — Harold H. McCarthy, 6963 Heather Heath, West Bloomfield Township, has been named general chairman for the fifth annual Birmingham Village Fair.

McCarthy was appointed by the fair board of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the event.

He served on the board for last year's fair.

A member of the Birmingham Exchange Club, McCarthy is manager of the Wabash branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Spring term classes sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills Recreation Department will begin the week of April 22.

Among the offerings will be such diverse subjects as dog obedience, creative weaving, yoga and French cooking.

Those interested may obtain further information from the department office, located at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School.

BIRMINGHAM — Police here are cautioning residents against being taken in by a confidence scheme which has been attempted here twice recently.

Detective Richard Chambers said the department has been notified of two instances in which elderly women were phoned by someone impersonating a police officer.

The impersonator, Chambers said, told the women that police suspected someone of robbery in the bank in which they kept their savings.

He then asked the women to withdraw their money and give it to him outside the bank for security purposes, the detective added.

Both women contacted the police, Chambers said, adding that anyone else receiving such a call is urged to do the same.

State House Okays Antistrike Measure

LANSING — A bill designed to head off strikes by teachers and other public employees was given bipartisan House approval yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The bill, written by the House Labor Committee, sets up elaborate machinery for resolving contract disputes, while taking public employee strikes out of circuit court jurisdiction.

As finally approved 91-3 by the House, the measure provides:

- Either party to a contract involving public employees must give 60 days' notice of any plan to end or modify the contract.
- Parties to the contract should schedule attempts to resolve their differences so as not to throw off other necessary considerations, such as preparation of school district budgets.
- The State Labor Mediation Board (SLMB) may step into the dispute at the request of either party, and must step in if bilateral collective bargaining breaks down.

- If SLMB mediation also fails to end the deadlock, a three-member board of inquiry would enter the dispute in a fact-finding role. The chairman of the board of inquiry would be picked from a new 12-member public employee relations panel to be appointed by the governor. The other members of the board would be picked by the parties to the dispute.

- The board would make private recommendations to the parties, and could make the recommendations public if they were not accepted within seven days.
- Parties to the dispute would be encouraged, but not required to finally submit to binding arbitration if the earlier methods failed to bring agreement.

The House bill also specifically authorizes public employee unions to negotiate agency shop agreements, under which nonunion employees would pay union dues or their equivalent.

TRE ORE SERVICE — Christians gathered in hundreds of area churches yesterday for the traditional three-hour services commemorating Christ's crucifixion. Worshipers arrived early in First Presbyterian Church, Wayne and West Huron, for the service sponsored annually by the Pontiac Area Council of Churches. The Rev. Galen E. Hershey, host pastor, led the worship.

Vote Is Monday for Commission

Grba was a candidate for the commission in 1966. This is the first attempt at election to the commission for Fairbrother, Spring, Douglas, Jackson, Jones and Leonard.

There are 29,805 registered voters in the city, down from the 32,320 that were registered during the general election in 1966.

City officials are cautious about predicting voter turnout. Pontiac's election usually draw no more than 30 per cent of the registered voters.

PRIMARY LURED 22%

About 22 per cent of the registered voters took part in the city's primary election in March.

Pontiac's 26 polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

2-Car Crash Kills Walled Lake Man

LANSING (UPI) — State Board of Education President Edwin Novak said today the $615-million school aid bill passed Thursday by the House and Senate does not appropriate enough money for schools.

Crystal Lake Study Is Scheduled itself to "bringing to fruition, with full community knowledge and participation, the accomplishment of those goals which will provide housing, rehabilitation, business opportunities and a beautiful and productive community through self-determination, cooperation and mutual trust."

The first phase is expected to begin within the next few days. This will entail identifying physical, social, economic and commercial aspects of the area and of compiling the needs and wants of residents of the area, bounded by Orchard Lake, Bagley, Rapid, Franklin Road, Fildew, Wren, Arthur and Golf Drive.

COMPLETION DATE

Urban Design's representatives said they could complete their studies within 12 weeks. The firm will be working in conjunction with Harnabee, Inc. — an all-Negro corporation of Pontiac residents — and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA).

MDCDA has been provided with an initial $500,000, by Metropolitan Fund — a Detroit foundation — to boost housing efforts in the six-county southeastern Michigan area.

It is expected to provide "seed money" for the planned project. This money will initiate development and be returned to MDCDA when feasible.

Urban Design said a socioeconomic analysis of the family characteristics within the project area will allow recommendation for the type of housing which will meet immediate and future housing, socioeconomic and educational needs of the likely residents of the area.

SECOND PHASE

A second phase involving the firm calls for preparation of working drawings, specifications and architectural plans for final construction. Working on the project will be an urban planner, a sociologist, an architect and a specialist in building design and construction.

Tucker said Harnabee's board of directors has indicated that it favors approving the proposal of Urban Design Development Group to work on the project with the following stipulations:

- That Urban Design will seek out local Afro-American lay persons and professionals to employ them in all phases of the project.
- That Urban Design will make special reports to citizens groups when deemed advisable by Harnabee.
- That the firm be encouraged to complete its plans in 45 to 60 days to "facilitate time and provide opportunity for the earliest possible ground-breaking."
- That the Urban Design Group make regular progress reports to Harnabee and MDCDA.
- That the firm, with the aid of the MDCDA Pontiac coordinator, put all matters requiring Harnabee approval in writing and that these communications should be delivered in sufficient time to "allow deliberation and discussion resulting in collective decisions."

2nd Airport Buy Shows Cost Jump

By JEAN SAILE

Facts continue to bear out the theory that once the county gets interested in purchasing a piece of property its value increases sharply.

The most recent purchase by Oakland County for expansion of the Oakland-Pontiac Airport involved 47.5 acres of land north of the present airport in Warrenton Township.

Its value increased $72,500 in two transactions a little more than seven months apart. In the meantime it had become worth $164,296 for mortgage purposes.

The county paid $190,000 for the property, $4,000 an acre.

Deeds on file at the Oakland County Court house show the land, on Aug. 31, 1967, was sold by William J. and Joan G. Rogerson, 15517 Evergreen, Detroit, to Standard Airways, Inc., of Michigan. The price at that time was $117,500, as verified by the revenue stamps affixed to the deed.

The corporation reportedly then gave title of the land last Oct. 30 to Merrill O. Bates and his wife, Barbara, who live at 1250 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Township.

Bates was an officer of Standard Airways, according to its president, Allen Tucker. He no longer is, Tucker said.

Tucker said Bates got ownership because of the company's default on a $25,000 loan from Bates.

No money changed hands in the Standard Airways-Bates transaction, but the deed shows that Bates assumed mortgages on the property to the value of $164,296.

DEBTS WIPED OUT

The county's purchase price of $190,000 reportedly wiped out the mortgages and the $25,000 debt to Bates.

The county purchased the property March 13 after approval by vote of the full County Board of Supervisors.

According to Daniel Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors, Tucker, had originally attempted to sell the land to the county for $5,200 an acre.

The airport committee of the county board refused the $5,200 price, although the property was included in the master plan for airport expansion made public last fall.

Murphy said negotiations were then started on 39.8 acres of the Wade property north and west of the airport, and on Jan. 9 the alternate parcel was purchased at $3,750 an acre.

PRICE MORE REASONABLE

Later Murphy said the 47.5 acres, at this point owned by Bates, was offered at what county officials considered the more reasonable price of $4,200 an acre and reduced by negotiation to $4,000 an acre.

Asked about condemnation proceedings in view of rising land costs, Murphy said while the land itself may be purchased for less by condemnation, the court costs and the time delay involved may make the overall costs higher.

In condemnation cases, he said, a jury is asked to decide the cost on the basis of evidence presented by appraisers for both the buyers and the sellers. He noted that appraisals can vary widely and that the ultimate decision rests with the jury.

Murphy dismissed the fact that the 47.5 acres carried a Waterford Township assessed valuation of $9,500, which would put its market value, according to the township's assessing formula, at $40,000.

"Vacant land is always assessed below market price," Murphy continued, "and there is often a time lag in which assessments do not catch up to market value."

The county once again used the services of appraiser Richard Irwin of John K. Irwin and Sons, 313 W. Huron, Pontiac, in the deal Murphy said.

JONES

City Commissioner
District #5

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The successor to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference says the group will continue King's work, including the poor people's campaign in Washington.

"Be assured," the Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy said at a news conference Friday, "the work will go on."

He said King's widow would join the Washington march but added that because of Mrs. King's family responsibilities she would not be "imposed upon."

King's brother, the Rev. A. D. Williams King, pledged to continue the commitment to nonviolence in civil rights work.

"LOVE MAINTAINED"

"The Southern Christian Leadership Conference was not just one man, my brother," he said, "it is made up of many people who struggle with themselves to withstand indignities and cruelties—some beyond belief—and still maintain love."

Abernathy said he hoped King's assassin would be caught and brought to justice.

"It will be tragic if he is not caught," he said.

Clergy Deferments Defended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department told the Supreme Court Friday that draft boards do not have the power to cancel draft deferments for ministers and divinity students, because these deferments are conferred by Congress.

The government memorandum, filed with the court, was signed by Erwin N. Griswold, solicitor general.

It dealt with the case of James J. Oestreich, a student at Andover Newton Theological School, who last November was declared a delinquent by his Selective Service board. It said he had failed to carry his registration card or provide his current status to the Selective Service System.

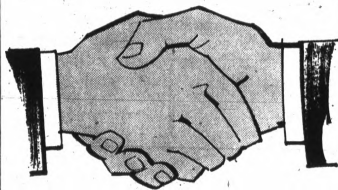

The same day Oestreich's 4D classification as a theological student was changed to 1A and shortly thereafterward he was ordered for induction. Oestreich claimed in his appeal to the Supreme Court that the law which requires him either refuse induction, or permit himself to be drafted and then seek a court order to get him out of the Army, is unconstitutional.

He claimed that the delinquency regulations are vague, and that the requirement to possess a draft card, as applied to those who turn it in as a form of political protest abridges the first amendment's guarantees of free speech.

Forest Fire Peril Is Seen

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's forest fire threat is described as "the most explosive in years," by Milton Bergman, chief of the Conservation Department, forest fire division.

Scant snow and rain since January, an early spring runoff, recent high winds and low humidity all have combined to create the high hazard conditions, Bergman said.

Wild fires already are off to a sizzling start and landowners and outdoor users are urged to take no chances.

Even rain is no insurance against fire disasters, Bergman said.

"After rain falls, it just takes a few hours of high, drying winds at this time of the year to wipe out the moisture cushion and whip up a big threat for fast-moving fires," he said.

"Many residents are anxious to spruce up their yards and cottage grounds by burning debris, but we can't over-emphasize that the lid could really blow off this spring unless these people take extra fire safety precautions."

Pastor Sees Resurrection as Constant Spiritual Force

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In keeping with our policy of publishing guest editorials from time to time, our Easter editorial has been written by Rev. Henry Schmidt, pastor of the Auburn Heights Free Methodist Church.)

By REV. HENRY SCHMIDT

"If a man die shall he live again?" (Job 14:14) Job answered his own question: "For I know that my Redeemer liveth, and that He shall stand at the latter day upon the earth; and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God." (Job 19:25-27)

Nature has its resurrection every spring. The lawn that is dry and appears to be dead soon resembles a soft green carpet. The bulb stored for the winter is placed in the earth and evolves as a beautiful flower.

REV. SCHMIDT

He shall save His people from their sins." (Matt. 1:20-21) He thrilled the hearts and changed the lives of a few who believed Him to be the MESSIAH. But the authorities were disturbed. He insulted the orthodox religion and was condemned to die between two thieves on a cross. He died, was buried.

What then was so unusual about the Jesus of Nazareth? The empty tomb was the difference. Luke 24:6 asks, "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" Mark 6:6 states, "Ye seek Jesus who was crucified; He is not here; behold the place where they laid Him."

Our hope for eternal life is in our LORD and SAVIOUR JESUS CHRIST. In John 14:19 we read, "Because I live ye shall live also."

The Roman seal and guard could not hold Him in the tomb. The angel came from heaven and rolled away the stone as the guards stood by helpless.

Eyewitnesses report that they had seen Him. "He was seen of CEPHAS, then of the twelve... about five hundred brethren at once... after that He was seen of JAMES, then of all the apostles..." (1 Cor. 15:3-8)

Jesus said in John 14:1-6, "Let not your heart be troubled... I go to prepare a place for you, and if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again and receive you unto myself that where I am, there ye may be also."

Faith in CHRIST does make a difference as seen in the testimony of a dying atheist compared to that of a true believer of CHRIST. THOMAS HOBBS said, "I am about to take my last journey, it is a fearful leap into the dark." VICTOR HUGO said, "I feel in myself the future life, I am rising toward the sky, the sunshine is on my head."

Age Is Sought After in Government

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In a poll of students who will have reached the age to vote for the first time in the November elections, survey teams of the Amarillo Globe-Times canvassed young men and women on the campuses of two universities—Southern Methodist at Dallas and Baylor at Waco. They asked the question: "What 10 people in public life do you most admire in the United States?" U.S. Senator Everett M. Dickson, more than old enough at 72 to be their grandfather, was the choice. He was named by 39 per cent of the students as the country's outstanding public figure.)

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

Year by year, more and more people in public service get older and so, quite naturally, the question is sometimes raised: whether at some given age a person has retained his talent and capacity for that public service. What do the 20 million senior citizens think? What do the younger citizens think?

DIRKSEN

"The facts show that age, in spite of a seeming national emphasis on youth, is respected and sought after in government; not only in our country but in countries everywhere in the world."

In the United States, for example, Senators Gruening of Alaska and Hayden of Arizona are well over 70 years of age, and 13 other senators are over 70. Six of them are chairmen of important committees.

Contemporary history furnishes some other good examples. Chiang Kai-shek, who directs the affairs of Free China, is 80. Ho Chi Minh, who is the North Vietnam thorn in our side, is 76. Franco of Spain is very active at 75.

The late Konrad Adenauer was well over 85 when he stepped down as German chancellor. Averell Harriman, our trouble shooter on foreign affairs, is 75. J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, is 73. A very active former president, General Eisenhower, is 77. George Meany, who is president of the AFL-CIO, is 73.

Many of us in government have learned, much to our pleasure, that it simply is not true our young people have little use for their elders; as you might sometimes be led to believe now and then.

The young adults show their use for older people when they go to the polls. It is there that all of us show our concern for the affairs of the nation, for the future of the nation.

No man or woman could be elected to public office these days if the voters who are both young and old did not choose to send them there. Election Day is the time when nobody fools anybody very much anymore.

I think the national attitude on age probably has centered on one point in 1968: It is not age alone that earns respect. A public servant of some years must have something else besides years, something added, to qualify him to sit at the council tables and help to untangle the affairs of our country.

The 20 millions of us who are past 65, the nearly 100 millions who are not yet 30, have proved that we both have a respect for age — if age carries with it the ability to help to govern with the consent of the governed.

Age does not necessarily dull a man's alertness or sharply impair his vitality.

Our future is better because of the 20 millions who have helped to build our affluence — let us not forget it.

Our future is better because of the young people who are showing that they are eager to work in government with the older people.

The young people of today amaze us. They are better trained at 25 and 30 than we seniors were. Their interests are wider than ours were.

We only knew what was in the books when we got out of college. Today, by the time a college student is ready to graduate, he probably has worked in somebody's political campaign, and he is likely to know the score.

We older people in politics work with the younger ones. And it is wonderful to see the trend.

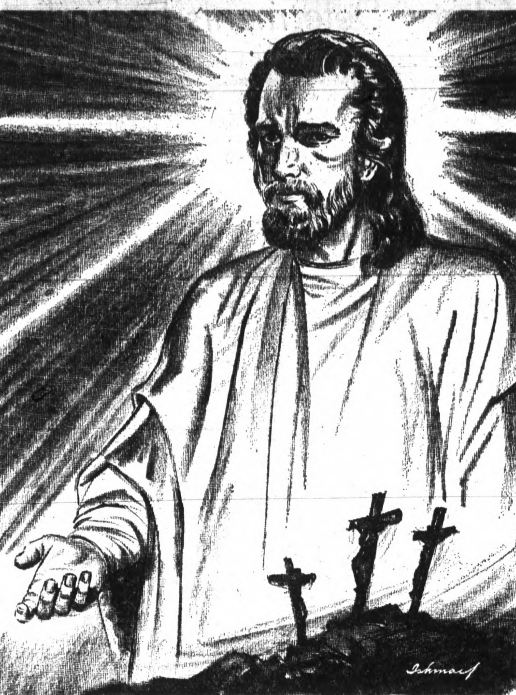

More young people are training particularly for participation in politics. They want to serve, they want to work for government.

The older people amaze us, too, because they understand and because they, too, are living for the future.

(The Carl Ribler Jr. Syndicate)

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

After Jesus gave the supreme test of His love for mankind on the cross, He rose from the tomb after three days on that first Easter Sunday. His concern was still for mankind and his last words according to St. Matthew were, "... and, lo I am with you always, even unto the end of the world."

Confident Living:

Easter Is Reminder of Victory

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Like a breath of fresh air in this troubled world comes Easter. It drives away at least momentarily the dark shadows of war, racial strife and every other trouble.

DR. PEALE

Easter reminds us that the end result of human striving is not defeat, but victory — and that human earthly existence leads not to extinction, but to everlasting life.

The Easter message offers strength against adversity, freedom from the fear of death, and healing balm for grieving hearts. Sadly, however, there are some who cannot accept the Easter message of life after death.

They find it difficult to conceive how a person could exist apart from the physical body which perishes at death and disintegrates. Such persons need to consider the very nature of human personality which obviously is more than mere physical matter.

Let me quote from a paper written by a college student. "Now you may say, 'When die our body turns to dust. Are we not our body?' Well, let us take a look at the constituents of our body. The body is composed of so much phosphorus, silicon, iron, carbon, lime, water, etc. Anthropologists tell us that this is our body. But is it you?"

"It is surely this visible part of our personality, the house in which we live; but it is not the personality, nor the tenant of our house."

"It is a known fact that the body is completely recreated in tissue and structure about every seven years, but YOU are still here. Along with this reformation of the body, your brain is completely renewed also, but you still remember significant happenings of the past... So we are not a part of our body, but our body is a part of us."

These thoughts struck me as extra interesting because they were written by Jeffrey Anderson, a college student who was killed recently in an automobile accident. Can such a perceptive personality be dead? One wonders!

Further evidence of the nonphysical character of man is found in psychic phenomena — the strangely convincing experiences many rational persons have in which the invisible presence of departed loved ones is sensed.

The late famous songwriter, Geoffrey O'Hara, told me of meeting a Canadian army colonel in World War I whose command was practically wiped out in Flanders. Later the colonel paced through the trenches, mourning the slain men whom he had loved as sons.

Then something happened that changed him permanently from an agnostic to a man of unwavering religious conviction. He seemed to be "hearing voices and being touched by hands." He became aware of the living presence of these cherished fallen comrades.

In telling of the experience he said, "I could hear their voices, I could feel the touch of their hands, I could feel their breath upon me. I tell you, they have not died."

Geoffrey O'Hara captured in the lyric of one of his best-known songs something of the colonel's deep spiritual experience. I tell you, they have not died. They live and breathe with you. They walk here by your side... They live, they know, they see! They shout with every breath: 'All is eternal life! There is no death!'

A lot of people regard all such experiences as illusions or wishful thinking because they are under the impression that modern science has somehow ruled out all possibility of an afterlife. But any number of scientists have taken pains to dissociate themselves from this false notion.

For the millions who strive to live according to the teachings of Jesus, His words and His appearances to His disciples after His death and resurrection give convincing evidence of a life hereafter.

At the Last Supper Jesus said, "In my Father's house are many mansions... I go to prepare a place for you."

you... that where I am, ye may be also." The practicing Christian hears in these words the voice of the highest authority he knows.

Physicist Charles Alfred Coulson puts it very simply: "If our Lord who had such tremendous insight could speak like that, and if I have tested many other things that He said and found them true — then that seems to me a pretty good beginning for my own belief in an afterlife."

The majestic manifestation of the risen Christ described in the Easter story has for the believer the impact of reality.

"Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled... came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you."

Campaign Donations Total $2

By NOEL GROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The announced candidacy for the presidency by Rep. Wayne Hays D-Ohio may not be gathering much financial momentum, but at least it has bipartisan support.

At last word, approximately $2 million of support from congressmen toward his campaign "some of it from Republicans as well as Democrats," said a member of his office staff.

Hays' candidacy is tongue-in-cheek testimony to the dangers of political promises and fervor. So sure was he that Lyndon Johnson would run for another term that Hays announced March 20 on the House floor that if LBJ didn't run, he would.

Asked the following day about his vow, Hays said he was rehashing. But some of his rib-jabbing colleagues aren't making it easy for him to forget his promise.

A prize-winner this year in the politics-make-strange-bedfellows category is a situation in Oregon, where dove Robert Kennedy shares a campaign manager in that state with hawk Bob Duncan, a Democratic contender for

I commend the parents and friends of the Herrington School community that helped clean walls, floors and furniture after our recent fire so that we could have school.

'Negotiations Mean Surrender in Vietnam'

Disagrees With Representative's Statement

I was shocked to hear Walter Cronkite quote Senator Mike Mansfield as saying "the white people of this nation want the Negroes in the ghettos." I do not want people of any race living in ghettos. Why must we have ghettos in a country as rich as ours? Could it be because we have men like Mr. Mansfield representing us in Washington? Isn't it ironic that boys from the ghettos, of all races, fight side by side in Vietnam in order that the peasants there might have a better life?

Pontiac Shopper Regrets Closing of Waite's

With the closing of Waite's Department Store I feel as though I'm losing a close personal friend. Waite's has been my favorite store since I came to the Pontiac area 24 years ago as a bride. It is with much sadness and great personal regret that I say farewell to all those wonderful salesgirls, the fine merchandise and the hours of pleasure I've had shopping at Waite's.

Question and Answer

Did the "ethnic neighborhood" exist in the American colonies around the time of the Revolutionary War? What non-English groups were most prominent at the time?

E. RETTING
ORTONVILLE

REPLY

Information from several university history departments indicates there were ethnic groups which segregated themselves from the English, the largest being German and Scotch-Irish in Pennsylvania, migrating down the Appalachians to the Carolinas, Virginia and Georgia. Others were Huguenots, Welsh, Swede, Finn, Dutch and some Jews. The largest non-English group was the African Negro slaves, about 300,000 or more at the time of the Revolution, according to Gordon Wood at U. of M.

"Dear Bob," read the note. "While I'm gone... solve something... Ron."

"See America first — visit the nation's capital," was the cry when the balance of payments issue came to the forefront of the news. For those early-season tourists who compiled last week, there was opportunity for eyefuls of the extraordinary. Some examples:

Ugly black clouds of smoke arising from three different directions; the acrid smell of tear gas at 8th and H Streets.

Machine guns on the Capitol steps, troops manning checkpoints at downtown intersections, and a soldier with a flame thrower in front of D. C. public library.

The terrified face of a 12-year-old Negro boy, surrounded by policemen with leveled shotguns after he was caught looting a Washington store.

A white paratrooper on guard duty on riot-torn 14th Street N.W., showing a group of Negro boys how he operated his field radio.

A main thoroughfare in downtown Washington, deserted by strict curfew at dusk Saturday, a newspaper scudding slowly down the street, and a radio somewhere blaring the song from "Lilies of the Field"... a-a-men, amen, amen.

Ex-Defense Chief Playing Minor Role in Kennedy Drive

WASHINGTON (AP) — For-mer Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, who has remained aloof from elective politics during seven years in Washington, is playing a modest role in the campaign of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Theodore Sorensen, a top Kennedy adviser, said Friday McNamara appears on two television tapes that will be used in Kennedy's drive to win the Democratic presidential nomination.

He refused to discuss the content of the tapes.

The Washington Post reported that on one McNamara and Sorensen reminisce about the Cuban missile crisis of 1962 when Kennedy, as attorney general, was one of those counseling his brother, President John F. Kennedy. Sorensen, then one of the president's closest aides, was another insider during the history-making confrontation with the Soviet Union over the missiles it was secretly supplying to Cuba.

McNamara left the Defense Department at the end of February to become president of the World Bank.

Before coming to Washington in 1961 to assume the top job at the Pentagon he was a registered Republican but was not active in politics.

Whatever assistance Mc-

Namara provides to Kennedy is expected to be slight in comparison with the services the candidate will get from Lawrence F. O'Brien, who resigned as postmaster general Wednesday and is already immersed in organizational details of the campaign.

O'Brien, a political pro whose skills played a major role in John F. Kennedy's winning 1960 campaign, took part Friday in a huddle of Robert Kennedy's political braintrust in Indianapolis.

Some of the senator's political aides say the likely winner in the May Indiana primary is the state's favorite son candidate, Gov. Roger D. Branigin. The third man in the three-way Democratic contest is Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy of Minnesota.

"I think we could call it a victory if the combined vote for Kennedy and McCarthy exceeds that for Branigin," one of the pessimists in the Kennedy camp said.

Kennedy was in West Virginia today for a motor tour of mining counties where his brother struck a lode of support in the 1960 West Virginia primary.

McCarthy is spending the weekend in Washington. He took a breather from campaigning on Good Friday, although he did chat for a few moments with newsmen in Boston.

He criticized the "quibbling" between the United States and North Vietnam about the site of preliminary peace talks as "pretty silly."

McCarthy also said he is unconvinced that the administration would be willing to deal directly with the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Vietcong, or accept a coalition in South Vietnam to end the war.

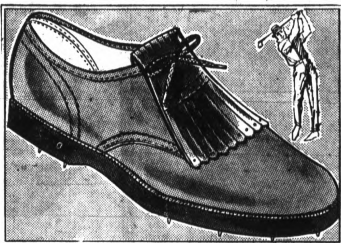

"The mood of the country has changed," he said, "but White House policy, I'm afraid, hasn't changed that much."

Hubby Gone, Luci and Baby Lyn Travel to LBJ Ranch for Easter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family have gathered in Texas for the Easter weekend — minus son-in-law Patrick J. Nugent.

Nugent, 24, an airman first class, arrived today in Vietnam where another presidential son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, is serving as an infantry company commander.

LUCI

Luci Johnson Nugent, arriving here on the presidential jet plane Friday afternoon with her parents and nine-month-old son, Patrick Lyndon, brought the news of her husband's departure overseas.

She said Nugent was headed for Cam Ranh Bay, a U.S. base the President has visited twice on overseas trips.

The President came to Texas for a bit of rest and relaxation at his LBJ Ranch before he goes overseas, too. He is scheduled to leave Monday for conferences in Hawaii with Pacific military advisers and South Korean President Chung Hee Park.

Johnson also was giving top priority to efforts to get preliminary diplomatic talks started in negotiations to end the war in Vietnam.

TRANSFER

In Washington, neither the White House nor the Pentagon had any comment on how Nugent worked a transfer to the war zone, where he said he wanted to go.

He has been assigned since March 20 to the Air National Guard's 113th Tactical Air Fighter Wing, stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., near Washington. He had switched just three weeks ago from a desk job to start training as a weapons mechanic.

Luci said she saw Pat off at Andrews Thursday night.

The President called the 113th to active duty shortly after the Jan. 23 seizure of the USS Pueblo by North Korea.

Nugent, then with a Texas Air National Guard unit, requested transfer to be activated 113th in which he had served before his August 1966 marriage to Luci. He said he wanted to go on active duty and would try to get sent to Vietnam.

The 113th has not received overseas orders as yet.

Luci and Pat attended a state dinner at the White House Wednesday night in honor of Chancellor Josef Klaus of

Women's Confab Will be Cancelled

WASHINGTON D.C. — The Women's Conference, scheduled for Washington May 19-21 has been postponed until next Spring, it was announced today by the Democratic National Committee.

Vice Chairman Margaret Price said that the decision was made at the request of national committeewomen and party leaders across the Nation.

"Our women felt that this was the best possible decision in such a critical campaign year. Each of them is currently so active within their local states that it was simply a matter of not having time to spare for a national conference," she said.

Austria. Protocol was put aside so they could sit together — the only couple so seated — on their last night together before Nugent's departure.

SIZE 3

Luci, 20, slimmed down to a size 3 dress, wore bright green at the airport, her skirt at a very mini-length.

She said she planned to wear an outfit of red, white and blue for Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Johnson was showing a spirit of economy for Easter. The White House said she'll wear the same outfit she wore to open HemisFair '68 last Saturday.

It's an azalea pink lightweight gardenage coat and sleeveless white dress of the same material, designed by Adele Simpson of New York.

Luci Johnson Nugent, younger daughter of the president, told reporters Friday her husband, Airman 1st Class Patrick J. Nugent is on his way to Vietnam. She and her son, Patrick Lyndon, arrived at Berstrom Air Force Base, near Austin, with the President and Mrs. Johnson, who are spending the Easter holidays at their Texas ranch.

What's Wrong With Boston, George? --Even Her Passengers Can't Say

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That letter from George the bus driver caught my eye because I am also a bus driver. And to add to the coincidence, my name is also George.

Where are all those lovely flirtatious ladies who like to get the seat directly behind the bus driver so they can whisper sweet things in his ear, press their telephone numbers into his palm, and coquettishly blow on his neck?

I've been a bus driver for eight years and I have never had that kind of luck. Our uniforms are good looking, and I wear mine with pride. But it seems that the person who invariably occupies the seat directly behind me is one who has just consumed a hearty meal, well-seasoned with garlic, washed down with cheap wine.

Could I be driving in the wrong city? GEORGE IN BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a 24-year-old son who is engaged to the girl next door. We have lived as neighbors to these people for over 20 years and have always been very friendly. My problem is known only to the lady next door.

You see, I am the father of her daughter, which puts my son in the position of marrying his half sister. The lady next door refuses to tell her daughter, and insists it is my place to tell our son. If I do, he will tell his mother. Hurry your advice, as time is running out.

STUMPED Tell your wife and be prepared for whatever follows.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year and a half and I guess before another six months I will be pregnant. Not because I want a baby, but I am made to feel that it is my "duty" — and to keep putting it off just shows my "selfishness."

All I hear from my friends and relatives is, "Aren't you pregnant yet?"

And my mother-in-law acts like I have been married and childless for 20 years.

Abby, the plain truth is that I am not ready to have a baby. Is it so awful of me to enjoy my freedom? To be perfectly honest about it, I would like to wait about five years before having my family.

Once a baby comes, you are tied down and your life is never the same. Oh, I know there are many blessings, but there are lots of worries and headaches, and I am in no hurry for them.

Some of our friends who have had families right away seem so tired and irritable, and they don't get along with each other as well as they used to. What do you think?

NOT READY

DEAR NOT: Don't worry about what others say. You have to answer only to your husband and your own conscience. Until and unless your attitudes change, and you can think of good reasons for wanting a child, remain childless. If you have a baby because you fear criticism, I feel sorry for the child.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "OLD SARGE" he is not alone. I have been married for 22 years and I have the same problem. I have bought my wife dozens of beautiful sheer nightgowns, but she wears flannel ones to bed. I think they make those sheer gowns for men to buy, not for women to wear.

I love my wife, and I would give anything if she would put on one of those beautiful nightgowns and look glamorous — just for me. But she never has. I have come to the conclusion that some women just don't want the bother and mess of being loved. If you use this, please don't use my name. She would kill me.

"IN THE SAME BOAT"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETSY: I wouldn't wait too long for a 34-year-old fellow whose mother still waits up for him.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Frederick Hubacker of Troy and Katherine Godbold of Houghton Lake were matron and maid of honor. Junior bridesmaids were Julie Hubacker of Cheboygan with Nancy Gebert of Rochester as flower girl.

Best man honors were performed by Frederick Hubacker with Neal Harmon of Haslett and Joseph Speroni of Detroit as ushers.

Prior to their departure for a wedding trip to Puerto Rico, the newlyweds were honored with a reception at the Rotunda Country Inn.

Farm Union Easing Its Livestock Boycott

CORNING, Iowa (AP) — After two months of effort and little if any effect on prices, the National Farmers Organization is relaxing its 35-state boycott of livestock markets.

NFO President Oren Lee Staley insisted at the militant farm organization's headquarters here that the holding action, keeping products off the market to force prices up, will continue.

But in a recorded message heard by NFO members in Belgium, Wis., Staley said the NFO will begin a bloc selling plan as a new strategy and to relieve pressure on farmers.

This could involve members pooling their meat animals and selling them collectively, much as the NFO has conducted group sales since April 1965, when it started a "marketing arrangements" program.

SPECIFIC STEPS

"We don't want any production sold that doesn't have to be sold," Staley said in the recording, "but for what has to be sold we will give you specific steps. If you start selling as individuals, you will kill all the gains that have been made."

Prices have varied little since the livestock holding action started Feb. 12.

Dallas McGinnis, a market specialist at Iowa State University, compared current weekly averages of market prices with those of two months ago.

McGinnis found 200-220-pound butcher hogs in the week just ended at $13.20 a hundredweight, or 25 cents less than the week ending Feb. 17, on the interior Iowa and southern Minnesota market.

EXACTLY THE SAME

He said the price for 900-1,100-pound steers in the Iowa-Minnesota market averaged $26.30, exactly the same as two months ago.

The NFO seeks a price increase of $4 to $5 a hundredweight.

Staley said in his taped message he realized that farmers who have kept their products off the market are feeling financial pressure. He said the bloc selling plan can temporarily ease the problems.

He promised details of the plan will be revealed Tuesday night at NFO meetings in 35 states.

WITHHOLDING GRAIN

The NFO also is holding grain from markets. Staley has said the boycott will be extended to dairy products when the time is right.

McGinnis also examined grain prices and found little or no reaction to the NFO effort.

He said the Chicago price for No. 2 yellow corn was $13.13 a bushel for the past week, compared to $12.70 two months ago.

The decline related to a government report last week that farm stocks of corn were 16 percent higher on April 1 than on the same date in 1967, McGinnis said. Another factor, he said, was a reduction in the amount of corn being exported.

ANITA SALAZAR

Teen of the Week Advises Others: Set Your Sights

"Set your sights at an early stage in education," Pontiac's teen of the week advises other students. "Then do everything to strive to attain your goals."

These are the words of Anita Salazar, Eastern Junior High School ninth grader. She is the daughter of Francisco and Guadalupe Salazar, 8 North Eastway.

Anita is an honor roll student, maintaining a B-plus average. She is actively involved in the school orchestra and is a hall guard.

Anita hopes to major in history at either Michigan State University or Oakland University.

Detroit Unit Sets Big Rally of Hope

DETROIT (AP) — The Interfaith Action Council announced Friday it plans a "Rally of Hope" at 6 p.m. Sunday in the University of Detroit Stadium and forecast an attendance of 20,000.

The council said the meeting is aimed at involving people in social justice programs and that those attending will be given commitment cards on which they may volunteer for any one of eight programs, including the Poor People's March on Washington.

Bishop Dwight E. Loder of the Michigan Methodist Conference and the Most Rev. Thomas J. Gumbelton, auxiliary bishop-elect of the Detroit Catholic archdiocese, are to speak.

Dumping Pact to Be Mulled

The renewal of an agreement with Pontiac for the use of the city's dump will be considered at the Monday meeting of the Waterford Township Board.

Only residents of the township who have been issued permits by the township can use the dumping site on Kennett.

In other business, the board will conduct a hearing on street lights for Hillcliff.

Plans call for the installation of 14 lights at a cost of $14.88 to each of the 35 benefiting property owners on the street.

The meeting will be held in the Waterford Township High School beginning at 7 p.m.

The board will also present certificates of appreciation to some 25 reserve police officers for their assistance over the last year.

In another police matter, the board will receive a report concerning the amount of overtime worked by members of the regular department.

IN ONLY 16 YEARS . . .
It's A Fact: Seven out of every 10 prescriptions today for drugs that were not even known in 1950 — only 14 years ago.
Your costs? Research is the answer. What of the future? The pharmaceutical industry this year will invest over $300 million on more research. That's nine times as much as was invested in 1950.
Only 2% of drug industry research is industry-financed. Quite a record? Quite a success!

Home's Decor Oriental

BY JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Contemporary simplicity sparked by Oriental accents and original art characterizes the interior decor of Dr. and Mrs. Vince E. Greesons' gracious ranch home.

To incorporate the beauty of the site into the over-all decoration theme, the living room features a wall of glass. Should the Greesons desire privacy, off-white traverse draperies can be pulled.

Walnut paneling and off-white carpeting and walls add to the room's neutral background. Twin armless chairs, the sofa and a loose-cushioned chair are covered in matching shades-of-brown boucle.

A white rice paper covered globe lights the massive bleached-walnut table serving the armless chairs. White chrysanthemums in a three-footed brass-washed Chinese container and a brass butterfly are decorator touches on the table's top. An abacus is used as a wall hanging in the grouping.

UNDERWATER SCENE

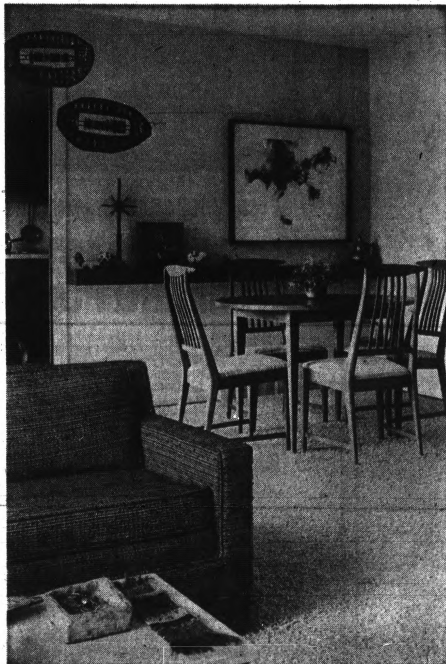

In the dining portion of the L-shaped room, art objects highlight the walnut service shelf. A backlit Glenn Michaels' piece incorporating old-fashioned phonograph needles, crystal heads and glass gives the effect of an underwater scene. The charcoal "Rocks in Snow" above the plank was done by Milliken.

Black framed photographs of the Greesons' two daughters, Robin and Brooke, by Bettie Shields Wagner balance burlap matted oils above the family room's black leather sofa. Black leather high-back chairs add to the comfortable seating arrangement.

Prevent Wood Decay at Construction Time

Eventual wood decay can seriously threaten the value of your home. And the time to prevent it is when you build the home.

Carlton Edwards, Extension specialist at Michigan State University, told Mrs. Rosalie Hawley, Extension home economist in Oakland and Wayne counties, that many people don't consider the eventual decay of wood in many parts of the house as a threat to their present plans.

"Wood decay could be a serious matter," says Edwards, "if not properly prevented when the house is built."

He suggests a preliminary check list be used before you start to build.

- Use only seasoned or naturally durable wood where moisture can be controlled.

- Sufficient ventilation should be maintained in attics and under basementless houses.

- Windows, doors and roof edges should have adequate flashing.

- Avoid wood parts coming in direct contact with the soil or wood parts embedded in masonry near the ground.

- Use a plastic sheet moisture barrier on the inside of the framing in exterior walls and ceilings (that's the warm side of any insulation).

- Corners of windows and doors should be properly joined.

- Roof should have overhang and rain gutters.

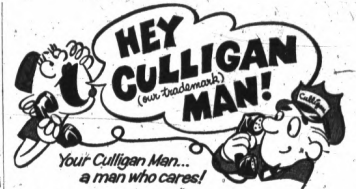

- Grade stakes, concrete forms or stumps should be removed from soil near the house.

"Wood decay," says Edwards, "is not always visible to the naked eye. However, most decay damage can be avoided since it only occurs in wood when it contains more than 20 per cent moisture. The biggest safeguard against decay is to prevent moisture from entering the lower part of the structure."

Remember, he advises, that once the house is well constructed with dry wood, only good maintenance will keep it free of decay.

Further information on "Wood Decay in Houses" can be obtained through the county Extension office, 155 N. Saginaw Street, Pontiac, Michigan 48068.

Time Increases Value of Home

A home is one of the few things you can buy that does not necessarily deteriorate or wear out.

If it's properly designed and built and attractively situated, it should actually increase in value with the passage of time.

Structural soundness is the first prerequisite. The framework which holds the home together should be formed with strong lumber, properly seasoned and pre-shrunk before being surfaced to final size.

This is the foremost assurance of minimum maintenance and maximum resale value.

A PLAY PEN WITH TOYS built in has a floor well off the ground, is easy to store and quickly set up. Amusing ducks slide along the top and a cut-out acrobat set in a side panel flips over and over. Varnishing Tips for Handymen

When varnishing an object, you can get better results if the surface is horizontal.

Whenever possible, keep turning the furniture that is being finished so that you have a horizontal surface on which to work.

Annoying Sounds Cut by Installation Technique

It makes little difference to a sleepless person what the reason is for his forced insomnia—jets taking off directly overhead, or heavy trucks accelerating past his window. Both create noise that if uncontrolled results in baggy eyes, frayed tempers, and—in motel, office or apartment buildings, an empty cash register.

Sound is an increasing problem to building component designers who have been asked to reduce noise levels in downtown hotels being remodeled or converted to luxury apartments, in new hotel-motels springing up near airports, and in schools, hospitals and office buildings.

Attracting attention in the construction industry is a solution to the noise problem found by Unit Products Corporation. The firm uses a window and door installation technique that substantially dampens sound transmission from the outside into rooms and at the same time speeds construction.

The secret is the installation of a sound reducing glass, a neoprene zipper gasket and the use of a small hand-held installation tool that allows the window and door frame to be fabricated in subassemblies and shipped to the site to be zipped into place.

Complete window assemblies were recently installed in the 500-room Marriott Motor Hotel near Chicago's O'Hare International Airport where jet blast rattles conventional windows every 50 seconds during peak air traffic periods.

The window assembly is constructed of an aluminum sub-frame into which is glazed a hermetically sealed unit constructed of two panes of glass of different thickness, separated by two inches of dead air space. The dissimilar thicknesses of the panes of glass increase their sound deadening properties.

SOUND CUT

Tests by Chicago area consulting engineer, Lyle F. Yerges, determined that the complete installation effectively reduced the transmission of the objectionable sounds by as much as 44 decibels. Acoustics experts say that a reduction of 3 decibels is just barely perceptible, 10 decibels an apparent reduction in noise of one half, and 15 decibels a great change in noise level.

The Marriott Motor Hotel's door frames were preassembled and installed as a unit with the zipper. The zipper mounting method cushions the door frame, reducing "door slam" and ending a major source of irritating noise.

The zipper gasket is actually a continuous neoprene extrusion installed by fitting flanges on the subassembly and the window opening into slots on opposite sides of the zipper and then forcing a hinged flap into a wedge-shaped opening. This latter operation compresses the neoprene tightly against the flanges.

The use of the neoprene gasket is expected to increase markedly on all types of building projects. Designers are calling for construction techniques that bar noise, heat, cold and dust without a substantial increase in building costs.

Units installed are maintenance free, and using the tool, can be quickly unzipped to replace vandal-damaged glass.

Perfect for Hobby Center

Try Remodel or Add-on Project

A "something else" room is a room for the entire family. Or it might be "something else" — a husband-and-wife workshop, for instance.

The room can be a conversion of existing space — such as a porch, basement or attic. Or it can be an add-on. In either case, it'll have an important role in family life, providing a specific place for a particular activity.

A "something else" room removes the pressure of too much "togetherness" in a family of parents and children with various and conflicting interests.

It could give Dad and Mom a chance to share a home workshop and hobby center, for example, leaving the family room to the younger, noisier generation.

One of the big secrets behind successful "something else" rooms is today's versatile, handsome, low maintenance paneling. Several new panels have been introduced with these multipurpose areas in mind.

The very newest is a deeply embossed prefinished hardboard panel which reproduces the look and feel of rough-sawn lumber. It's available in charcoal brown and shale white. Other new panels are Danish teak in the exclusive bookmatched diplomat series and two fruitwood patterns, cinnamon cherry and candlelight cherry.

For a free booklet on "something else room" ideas, send a postcard to Masonite Corporation, Box B, Chicago, Ill. 60690 requesting Form No. 6820. Vignettes in color show home owners the many possibilities that fit into their plans for a special room.

Saves Time

Time to Buy Home Is Now

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Is this the right time to buy a house? Read this:

"Barring a major economic collapse, which appears highly unlikely, there won't be any price drops in new houses regardless of whether there is an increase or a decrease in the number of houses built this year. Land is worth more than it ever was."

Construction costs are high and possibly going higher. Builders forced to pay premiums to arrange financing will have to pass the extra charge along to the purchasers in one way or another. Buyers want all the modern conveniences and are willing to pay more for them."

That answers the question. If you want a house and can afford it, the time to buy is now. But do you know when that analysis was made? In an article we wrote on Feb. 18, 1960! Every word of it is still true. Especially that part about buyers wanting all the modern conveniences and being willing to pay more for them."

There are so many factors that enter into the cost of a house that it would be impossible to generalize about prices.

But experience has proved that, everything else being equal, buyers will pay from $500 to $3,000 extra for a house which contains the features they want, even when it brings the cost above what they originally intended to spend.

This is a wise practice for families whose pocketbooks can stand it, because it always costs more to have improvements made at a later time than it does during the original construction.

An excellent example of the willingness of the public to pay for what it wants — rather than accept what is offered because it is cheaper — has occurred in the vacation or second-home market.

The supposition of many builders was that a family wanted nothing but the bare necessities in a vacation home and therefore would not pay a good price for it.

So they offered as little as possible and kept the prices very low. In some cases, in fact, they offered nothing more than a shell — and some companies still do.

It soon was discovered, however, that vacation or weekend houses which contained most of the comforts of year-round homes sold much faster than the skeleton like structures, even though the prices were considerably higher. Most people, while professing a desire to "rough it," actually are in search of comfort in their days and weeks away from their regular homes.

To meet this need, more and more builders are turning out second homes with all kinds of luxury touches — and selling them faster than they sold shells.

The public also is willing to pay more for good locations for vacation houses. In one actual case, a builder constructed three rows of houses close to a body of water suitable for swimming and boating.

One row of houses was 400 feet from the water, one was 300 feet and the third was 200 feet. Each house in the row 400 feet from the water cost $12,000. In the second row, the price was $15,000; and in the row closest to the water, it was $18,000.

All houses were identical, yet a matter of 200 feet meant a price difference of $6,000. What happened?

THIS 40'x26' "J. V. RANCHER" is priced right for you early spring buyers who wish to beat the rush at only $17,450 on our 100'x250' lots. Paved streets, Clarkston Schools, telephone. Jacoby on Bridge

By OSWALD AND JAMES JACOBY

Yesterday's column showed how British expert Albert Rose made a six club contract (that at first seemed to depend on the winning one of two finesses) by working out a play to discard three hearts on dummy's 10 of diamonds suit.

The essence of the Rose play was that the JACOBY gave himself an extra chance this way since apparently he reserved the timing to finesse later, in case diamonds broke 5-2.

Today we find South in the same contract with the identical cards in his hand and dummy and the same opening lead, but we have given East five diamonds and the king of hearts so that South can't get three heart discards and will have to try the heart finesse to make his contract.

The play starts with dummy's king of spades and according to diamonds taking the first three tricks. A third diamond is led and trumped with the nine of clubs. If West overruffs, South will make his contract because he will wind up taking a successful heart finesse, but suppose that West just discards a heart.

South will be sure that the club finesse will win. He will play the ace of spades and lead the jack for a finesse. If West produces his queen at this point, South will be able to get back to dummy with the 10 of clubs; but suppose West is smart enough to play a low club.

Won't South be sure that East holds the club queen and won't South lead the 10 of clubs and finesse again to guard against an initial club holding by East of four to the queen?

If he does, West will finally produce his queen and lead back a black card. There will be no entry to dummy and South won't be able to take the heart finesse.

Squirrel Drives Machine Nuts

PLAINVIEW, Tex. (AP) — The photocopying machine in the County Clerk's office here is working again. When the $10,000 piece of equipment wouldn't work, County Clerk Mildred Tucker, sent an SOS to Oklahoma City.

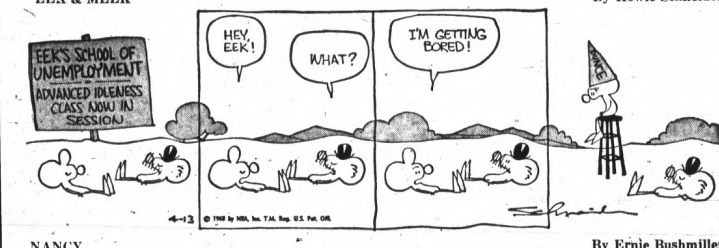

The repairman found the wiring had been severed by small sharp teeth. Rat poison was put out, but the machine soon needed repairing again.

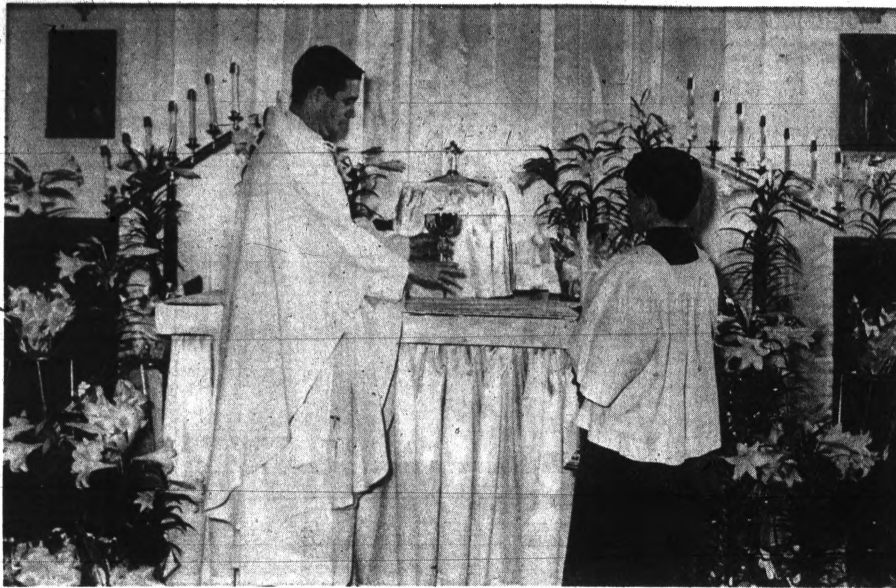

It was then found that a squirrel had climbed the pipe from boiler room, squeezed through a hole in the floor and chewed the wires. With all holes plugged, the machine was put back in order.

ROMEO CHURCH—The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Romeo situated on a hillside at 239 W. Gates will be dedicated at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. services tomorrow. The structure was designed by Irwin L. Broecker of Battle Creek, a former member of the church. Arthur G. Lewis of Romeo superintended the construction. The church and property are valued at about $200,000. The exterior of the building is of Chicago common brick and redwood. Windows were designed to take advantage of the hillside location.

Romeo Church-Dedication

Mrs. Ann Snowberger of Mt. Clemens accompanied by JoAnn Hart at the organ will sing "Open the Gates of the Temple" by Fanny Crosby at the dedication services of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Romeo at 11 a.m. and 4 p.m. tomorrow.

The Christian Science church in Romeo was started in 1917 when several residents got together to form a church group. Meetings were first held in the Romeo Hotel with about 12 people present. In 1920 services were held in private homes.

This practice continued until the church was formally organized in 1922. A charter was obtained from the State of Michigan on April 25 of the same year under the name Christian Science Society, Romeo. Recognition was soon received from the Mother Church in Boston, Mass. Meetings were then held in the Masonic Temple.

Soon the membership included residents of Almont, Washington, Imlay City, Armada as well as Romeo and larger quarters were found above the A & P Store to house the group.

In 1926 the society purchased the building at 122 W. Washington which served for the next 34 years. The building with a seating capacity for 75 was remodeled and dedicated as debt-free property.

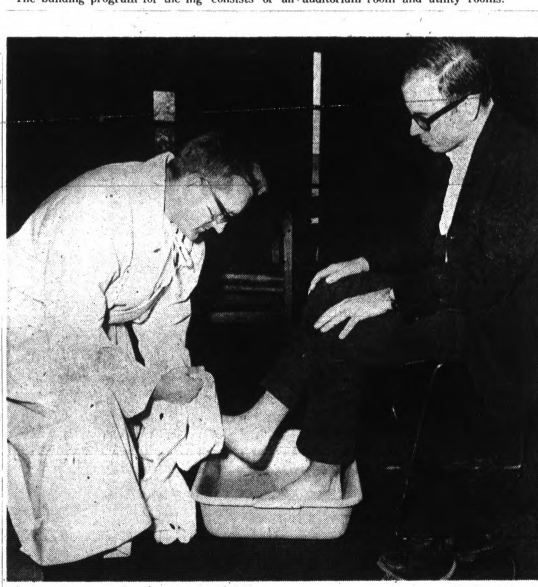

In 1941 a reading room was located on Main Street. Since 1962 the Reading Room has been in the present church building at 239 W. Gates.

The Reading Room is open to everyone from 7 to 7:50 p.m. every Wednesday and from 1:30 to 4 p.m. each Saturday.

In 1944 the society was qualified by the Mother Church to present church was launched in 1953. The present one-acre site was donated. Opening services were held July 31, 1960.

Johnson Weighs Risks in N. Viet Bombing Halt

By DONALD H. MAY
WASHINGTON (UPI) — What would be the military risks of a complete halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam during peace talks of unknown duration? This is one of the biggest questions facing the Johnson administration, for what Hanoi has actually offered to discuss with the United States is the "cessation" of all bombing so that peace negotiations could begin.

Among military men at the Pentagon, there is considerable belief that, despite all the appearances of the recent Communist Tet offensive, the United States militarily is in a strong position in South Vietnam — strong enough to assume risk.

Some military men say that if all bombing of the North did stop, and the Communists, in bad faith, tried to take advantage of it, the United States would learn of the betrayal quickly and would not suffer disastrous loss.

INFILTRATION

One factor which complicates the assessment is that North Vietnamese infiltration to the South has already increased.

Defense Secretary Clark M. Clifford told a news conference Thursday that this increase — which he termed "substantially higher" — came before President Johnson's March 31 peace speech and has not changed since the speech.

Other officials said the increase was observed in the form of a greater volume of truck traffic southward through Laos. North Vietnam and through

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — By his attire, Gary Player didn't look like Gary Player yesterday as he walked the Augusta National fairways toward a round of 67 and a share of the mid-point lead.

Instead of the underaker's black he normally wears, he was dressed in white shirt and shoes, and blue pants.

For his physical build, however, he looked like Gary Player all the way.

The sturdy rancher from South Africa is the strongest advocate of physical fitness among pro golfers and he wasn't afraid to warn all those in golf, pro or amateur or weekenders, that "physical fitness is a great advantage and golfers will be more concerned about it in the future."

"I'm very proud to be kept on physical fitness," said Player, "and as golf scores continue to improve in the future, it will be the golfers who adopt this attitude toward physical conditioning who will be playing the better games."

"Golfers," he said, "are the last athletes to do physical exercises as part of their training regimen, but they are coming to it. It will certainly be an advantage to be able to hit the ball further and stronger."

Player has been a user of weights, but he also has a small itinerary of isometrics—especially when he is on the road.

HITTING FARTHER

"I've never been considered a long ball hitter, but I'm hitting the ball farther and better than I've ever hit it, and I'm proud to say it's my concern over physical fitness which has done it."

He scoffs at those who point to his lack of victories on the tour in the past two years with the idea that his fitness preaching hasn't done much for him.

"I'm an inch and a half bigger in the thighs, I'm bigger in the calves and I'm at least a half inch bigger in the arms. Don't you think this will be to my benefit when stamina and physical strength become a factor in long tough tournaments?" he questioned.

Yesterday, Player pointed out that he reached the No. 2 and No. 15 holes with rans, whereas "I could never do that before here. I always used woods."

"I'm not a bug on diets either. I'm pretty much the normal eater, but I don't drink coffee or tea and I've made it a habit to avoid fattening food."

"Would you call me a normal eater? I eat a lot of beef and . . . bananas," he laughed.

In answer to the question as to why he hasn't done much on the tour in the past two years, Player said, "I've been doing a lot of work on my ranch, and I'm really well rested from all the travel after two years, and I'm definitely playing the best golf of my life."

"On my ranch I have 20 quarter horses and I have 800,000 pine trees. It will be a timber and horse ranch, this is what I want to do when I'm through with golf," he said.

CONSISTENT GOLF

Player has been in 22 rounds of tournament golf on the U.S. tour this year and "I've broken 70 on 16 occasions," he noted.

"How can anyone say I'm playing too badly to win? I can't win if I don't play," he said.

He has played in three tournaments in South Africa and he has won all three this year.

As for the Augusta National he says, "This is a hungry golf course and I'm hungry enough to really try to win it."

"I don't take this course ever for granted, even if I were 10 over with 9 holes to play, so I plan on going after this championship with that attitude."

Player's attitude about physical fitness is similar to his attitude about golf, and the fact that he has cashed in 184 of 175 tournaments certainly supports his philosophy about both.

Gary Player Class Will Begin Monday

Interested in a few golf lessons with Gary Player? Here's the teaching.

Then join Player in classes three days a week in The Pontiac Press.

Detroit Outfielder Feeling Much Pain

DETROIT — Outfielder Willie Horton was feeling plenty of pain today as the Detroit Tigers opened a two-game series with the Chicago White Sox.

Joe Sparrma was expected to make his season's debut for the Tigers against Chicago's Gary Peters in Tiger Stadium. Both teams were idle yesterday.

But it's not the left heel directly that's the problem. It was operated on during the winter to alleviate Achilles tendon injuries.

"Last year I had to hit flat-footed because the heel hurt when I moved it," the slugging leftfielder said. "This year I can move it and I'm swinging normally again."

"I'm moving into the plate when I swing," Horton said pointing to the results.

HIT BY PITCH

He had "an apple" on his right-front shoulder, the result of a John Wyatt pitch which hit him in Thursday's game of the Detroit Red Sox. In the Wednesday game Horton was also hit, by a Dick Ellsworth delivery, behind the left knee.

"The left heel still hurts," Horton said. "But each day I feel myself doing more with it. I told my wife the other night 'I wonder if I'll ever have a healthy year again.'"

It's hard to believe Horton, who reminds you of a squat bundle of muscle, is hurting even slightly.

He drove in 101 and 103 runs during the 1965 and 1966 seasons, the only American Leaguer to do so both years, but missed 43 games and appeared in many as only a pinchhitter in the Tigers' unsuccessful drive for the pennant last season.

He batted in only 67 runs and his home run production fell from 27 to 19.

Horton, who stole a base during spring training, is running at top form and has already made several fine catches in the outfield.

"I love this game and I want to play (he hates sitting on the bench)," Horton said. "You always play with some hurts."

The genial 25-year-old, who has trouble keeping his weight at 200 pounds, although he's only 5-foot-10, reminds some observers of Roy Campanella.

"STRONG MAN"

"I used to be a catcher in high school, but my father told me I'd go farther if I played the outfield," said Horton, one of the strongest men in baseball.

He usually works out on his days off and always is working to strengthen some weakness.

"You can always sit down after a

Some Golfers Unconcerned

Pin Locations Stir Reaction

AUGUSTA, Ga. — The pin placements on the Augusta National Golf Course brought varied reactions from the pros, some happy, some angry and some unconcerned.

"Even a Houdini couldn't find some of the placements," said Jack Nicklaus, "I couldn't believe some of them."

"The pin placements were very difficult, but I mastered them; I just closed my eyes and the ball seemed to roll the right way," said Frank Beard, whose 65 was the best round of the day.

"I've played this course a lot. They were no tougher than they usually make them here," said Don January one of the coliclers, at mid-point with 139.

"There were a few tough placements, but I wouldn't say they were severe," said Billy Casper, the first-round leader, who shot a 75 to go with his 68.

"I'm fortunate to still be in contention the way I played, but those sausages and peaches I had for breakfast were a mistake. My stomach was a little upset all day," he added.

FRIGHTENED

"The pin placements frightened me to death. I was a nervous wreck when I reached 18," said young Britisher Tony Jacklin who at one time held a temporary lead at 5-under par before he finished with 2-under 142.

"There were seven holes at least in game and find something you did wrong," he said. "I don't want to just be known for one area of the game."

"Billy Bruton helped me a lot when he was with Detroit and (hitting coach) Wally Moses is another who works with me on my fielding," Horton said.

It's goods news for Detroit fans to hear Horton is healthy because they know he's going to make a few other teams sick before the year is through.

Sparrma posted a 169-record last season while Peters was 16-11. Mickey Lolich or Earl Wilson will work on the mound for the Tigers in tomorrow's series final.

Detroit will move to Boston Monday and Tuesday before returning home Wednesday and Thursday for single games with Cleveland.

The Tigers, who missed the pennant on the last of the 1967 season, are still trying to correct a chronic problem — leaving runners stranded on base.

Last season they led both leagues with an average of eight per game. In splitting two games with Boston, the Tigers left eight on both times.

UNLUCKY NUMBER—Arnold Palmer's caddy drew No. 13 on his coversalls and it didn't prove lucky for the popular golfer. Palmer (hitting his ball to the coast) had a 79—including eight on one hole—during the second round Friday and failed to make the Masters Tournament cut for the first time in 14 trips to the Augusta (Ga.) National classic. He had 151 for his two rounds.

Player in Tie With January After 36 Holes

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — Proud Augusta National is looking for its 1968 master and from all indications it might take all four or even more ballots to see who will carry the coveted title.

In one of the wildest scrambles at mid-point in the history of the Masters Golf Championship, Gary Player and Don January have a one stroke edge over three other challengers with their 36-hole totals of 5-under par 139.

The big round yesterday, however, was that of Frank Beard who fired a 7-under par 65 tying him at 140 with Jack Nicklaus and Bob Goalby. Equally surprising was the poor round of 79 by four-time winner Arnold Palmer, whose 151 total caused him to miss the Masters cut for the first time in his 14 appearances in the tournament.

Palmer also left the field with his poorest hole ever at Augusta National. He went into the water twice on the $20-yard 15th and took an 8 on the hole.

"I put my second shot, a 3-iron into the water, dropped the ball and pitched it in again. There was the eight on my card," he said in calling it the worst round he had ever played on this course.

Palmer wasn't the only one with a disastrous hole. Bruce Devlin who stood 6 under par on the 10th hole, after 27 holes of the tournament, suddenly found himself only 1-under on the 11th green.

LOSES GROUND

Devlin bogeyed the 10th by missing a four-foot putt and on No. 11 he lost four more strokes by taking an eight. The lanky Australian still managed to recover and he finished the 36 holes at 2-under par 142, tied with Bert Yancey, Ray Floyd, Tony Jacklin and Roberto DeVicenzo.

Devlin, who had the poorest season of his 7-year pro career in 1967 when he finished 9th on the tour with only $1,800 in winnings, birdied all of the par fives on the course but his quadruple bogey at 17 was the shocker.

"We (Gay Brewer and he) stood on the 17th tee for about 15 minutes, apparently Ray Wall had lost his ball," he said, "and I guess this cooling off period psyches us."

"Brewer got off a bad drive and then I pulled my drive into the rough. I then hooked a 3-iron into the water and when I dropped another ball, it hit the bank and ran back into the deep grass on the fringe of the water."

"I then had to wade into the water and slashed at it, but it rolled further down. At this point I didn't know whether I was going to finish the hole and I changed from a pitching wedge to a sand wedge. I finally got to the green and two putted for an eagle."

"It would shake anyone up to lose five strokes to par on two holes," he added.

PUTTER PROBLEMS

Brewer, the defending Masters champion, finished with a 74 to go with his 72 for a 146 total, and, although he had plenty of his own troubles as he claimed he missed four putts of 24 feet or less, complimented Devlin for keeping "his composure" on the 11th hole.

"I told him I was very sorry for what happened, but he certainly has to be complimented for his composure. He could be 7 or 8 under par now for the tournament," said Brewer.

Player, who had a 33-34 for the day, said he played as well in the second round as he did in 1965 when he started out with a 65, or as good as he played in 1961 when he won the Masters.

"I'm hitting the ball farther and better than I've ever hit it," he said as he distributed this to his excellent physical condition.

"I hit my putts well but they didn't start dropping until the back nine, but I certainly can't say I'm unhappy with a 67," he added.

Mario Andretti Puts 3 Racers in Lineup for Indianapolis 500

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mario Andretti, who has set qualifying records for the Indianapolis 600-mile auto race for three straight years, entered three cars Friday in the 52nd annual contest May 30.

His best finish was a third in 1965. Andretti, who lost his 1965 Indy 500 Club driving championship to A. J. Foyt Jr. in the last race of the 1967 season, bought the racing equipment of the late Al Dean, Long Beach, Calif.

The little Italian-born driver from Nazareth, Pa., named himself to pilot a new car with a 1968 turbocharged Ford engine. No drivers were named for two 1967 model racers, one with a turbocharged Ford and the other with a conventional Ford.

Miler Added to Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Miler Dyrrol Burslen, hopeful of making the U.S. Olympic team, Friday was added to the Amateur Athletic Union track and field squad which will compete in the Northern Games at Trinidad this weekend.

TV Host Bishop Has Learned a Lot About Audiences

The year Joey Bishop has been up front as host of ABC-TV's late-night show has given him an appreciation of the people who watch the proceedings in person.

"These people and how they react are an important part of a live show like ours," he explained, "and we tell them that."

Joey said that most of the studio audiences he's played to since the debut of "The Joey Bishop Show," last April 17, have been "warm" ones. "But there have been exceptions. Every so often we get a cold audience — all those people sitting on their hands."

No one has ever figured out why one audience will react with warmth and enjoyment, while on another night the same number of people will show up with a grim determination not to be entertained.

A comedian once attributed such an audience to an enemy, claiming his foe had rounded up all the husbands and wives who had just quarreled and sent them to his show.

SHYNESS CAUSE

Bishop, on the other hand, believes shyness may have something to do with it. "Despite all our efforts to make them feel at home, sometimes we get an audience that is ill at ease with all the cameras and TV equipment around them," he said.

"Instead of becoming a group and enjoying themselves, they remain individuals, apart from each other."

One night, after a remarkably cold reception to a joke, Bishop ad-libbed with a straight face, "Don't go overboard, folks." It got the audience loosened up.

Another night after the audience had literally refused to laugh or applaud, he said with mock seriousness: "Wow! You're a lovely crowd. Why don't we all join hands and try to contact the living."

AN ADMONISHMENT

On occasion he has admonished the audience. "Want to remind you that this is a live show. So laugh now and try to figure it out later."

Wednesday Bishop celebrates the first anniversary of the late-night series.

Actor Lee Marvin, a Marine Corps veteran with a Purple Heart decoration to his credit, is host-narrator for ABC-TV's color special, "Our Time in Hell," an account of Marine Corps battles fought in the South Pacific during World War II. The hour-long program will be aired Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. on Channel 7.

"Escaped convict Glenn Griffin (George Segal) holds Mrs. Hilliard (Teresa Wright) hostage in the mystery classic 'The Desperate Hours,'" to be shown Wednesday from 9 to 11 p.m. on Channel 7. Also starring Arthur Hill and Yvette Mimieux, the Joseph Hayes drama is the fourth adaptation of a contemporary stage hit that ABC-TV is presenting this season.

Portugal Fishermen Profiled

It's a Tough and Lonely Life

Joao dos Santos Vareiro could retire, but he continues to work as a young man's task, laboring as a Portuguese doryman, one of the world's loneliest and most physically demanding jobs. Joao Vareiro reflects the rugged courage of Portugal's codfishermen.

The story of Joao Vareiro and his brave comrades is the subject of this season's fourth National Geographic Society special, "The Lonely Doryman — Portugal's Men of the Sea," to be presented in color Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. over Channel-2.

The broadcast follows the dorymen, who cling to centuries-old traditions on a six-month, 6,500-mile adventure in search of cod.

Part of the world's largest codfishing fleet, these men, young and old, using techniques long discarded by their competitors, sail each year from Lisbon to the Grand Banks of Newfoundland and to the Davis Strait off Greenland.

SIX SAILING SHIPS

The broadcast, narrated by Alexander Scourby and produced in association with Wolper Productions, focuses on the six sailing ships remaining in the fleet that began these annual voyages possibly before America was discovered.

Joao Vareiro has been a doryman aboard the Jose Alberto, one of the sailing vessels, for more than a quarter-century. Born in 1916, he is the oldest man aboard. Yet he works his 14-foot, flat-bottom dory alone against the worst the North Atlantic can muster.

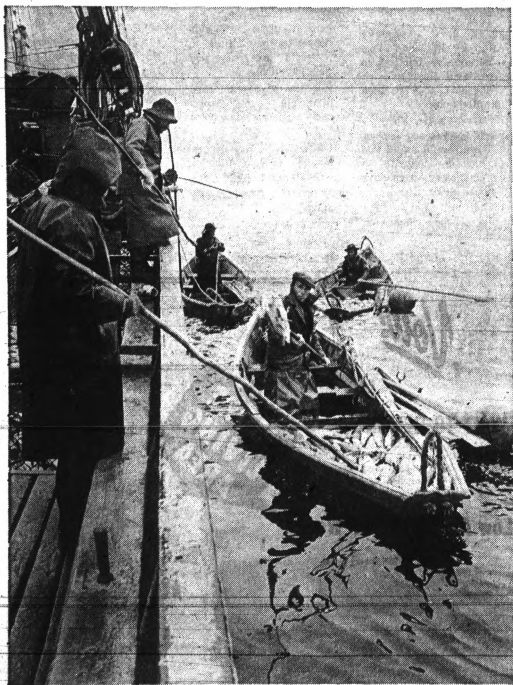

He and his colleagues, some younger by 30 years, battle the treacherous waters, pulling cod from the sea in the manner of their forefathers some 500 years earlier.

Joao Vareiro will continue in his work until he is no longer able.

Also a part of this adventure is Abreu da Silva, captain of the Jose Alberto, who has been given his first command of a fishing vessel.

In his own way, da Silva reflects the courageous credo of the dorymen as does Joao Vareiro.

Using only the sun and sextant to chart the ship's course, Capt. da Silva's skill is constantly tested.

Dorymen return to their mother ship after a 12-hour-day on the sea seeking cod, in "The Lonely Doryman—Portugal's Men of the Sea," this season's fourth National Geographic Society color special. The hour-long program is set for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday over Channel 2. Cameras follow the world's largest codfishing fleet in its annual six-month, 6,500-mile voyage.

Salmon Releases Start in Northern Streams

LANSING (AP) — The State Conservation Department reports plantings of nearly 27 million Coho and Chinook salmon fingerlings started this week in Michigan's Great Lakes waters.

The releases, expected to continue through the first week of May, will be in 20 streams emptying into Lakes Michigan, Superior and Huron.

The plantings will include about 1.8 million young Coho and 850,000 young Chinook.

First releases in streams leading to Lake Superior will be: Anna River, near Munising, 175,000; Falls River, at L'Anse, 60,000; Ontonagon River, 50,000; Sucker Creek at Grand Marais, 40,000; Cherry Creek, near Marquette, 25,000. All these will be Coho.

NEW ON LIST

New on the Coho planting list on the Lake Michigan side will be: Boardman River, 100,000; Whitefish River, near Escanaba, 100,000; Pere Marquette River, 75,000; Bear Creek, at Petoskey, 50,000; Boyne River, 50,000.

Lake Michigan's Platte, Little River, Muskegon and Muskegon rivers plus Thompson Creek — All stocked with Coho previously — will receive another planting. These will include: Platte, 250,000; Muskegon, 150,000; Little Manistee, 150,000; Thompson Creek, 25,000.

In expanding the salmon program to cover Lake Huron streams, the department is making initial releases of 150,000 Coho in the Tawas River, 100,000 in Thunder Bay River, 75,000 in the Au Sable River and 50,000 in the Carp River.

Of the 850,000 small Chinook to be released, 300,000 will go into the Little Manistee River, another 300,000 in the Muskegon River, 200,000 for the Oscque River on the Lake Huron side, and 50,000 in Cherry Creek.

PLAN STUDY

The department also is stocking a small number of Chinook in the Thunder Bay River for a study in cooperation with Alpena Community College.

Following the recent hatchery dieoff of young Coho, blamed on DDT the department trimmed 200,000 Chinook from the planting scheduled for the Little Manistee and shifted the number to the Oscque River.

The switch is aimed at starting a Chinook brood stock in Lake Huron, where pesticide levels are lower than in Lake Michigan.

Only Seven Baseball Teams

Saginaw Hastens SVC Change

(This is the ninth article in a series discussing the coaches' forecasts for the area high school baseball league races. Today the Saginaw Valley Conference.)

The Saginaw Valley league athletic picture is slated for revision next fall, but Saginaw has hastened the change.

With the addition of Flint Northwestern to the football race, the SVC planned a two-five-team divisional setup. But repeated mileage failures have cost Saginaw and Arthur Hill their spring sports.

Thus, the baseball race this spring will go with seven teams. And if there isn't a sudden reversal of the trend in Saginaw, an eight-team grid lineup is probable.

The main concern of the baseball coaches, though, seems to be Midland. The Chemics, nearly always have a good team and their rivals sense another possible diamond crown this season to add to the one they shared last spring.

The three Flint entries — Central, Southwestern and Northern — plus Pontiac Central all have drawn support as the main opposition for the Chemics.

Defending co-champion Flint SW appears to have good balance again but will depend upon juniors filling six starting slots. The Colts' hitting could be strong.

QUESTION MARKS

Northern has an experienced, infield but its pitching and hitting are question marks. Eight letterwinners are returning to the Vikings' lineup.

Flint Central's Indians lost the league's top hitter in Tim Bograkovs and that leaves a major hole to plug in their batting order.

PCH hopes its strong defense and the broad shoulders of junior moundsman Victor Quince will keep it in the game long enough for the hitters to develop plate savvy and start producing runs.

The keynote roles seem in good hands with Clyde Duncan at second and Randy Sutt at shortstop. Terry Villereal is a standout at the plate and around third base.

Catcher Larry Tremper returns and will act as tri-captain with pitcher — outfielder

Bill Rollo and speedy outfielder Dale Houston.

Two other pitchers expected to see action in the Chiefs' numerous twin bills are Rich Vine (who also plays first base) and Steve Bass.

Central is off to a fast start with three straight victories and expects to improve upon last spring's 13-12 mark. The Chiefs will have a rough opener in league play, though, meeting Midland Apr. 22 at Wisner Field in a double-header.

Palmer Misses Cut in Masters Tourney

His chip shots helped him on No. 8 where he stopped within 18 inches for a birdie, and on No. 10 where he chipped to four feet from near the scoreboard at salvage a par, and on No. 15 Greensboro and three here in where he chipped to two feet for a birdie. He climaxed his round with a 20-foot birdie putt on No. 18.

January, the 1967 PGA champion, was the chipping star of the day as he wedged in a 25-footer on No. 11 for a birdie and a 9-iron chip from 115 feet for an eagle-3 on the 520-yard 15th hole.

EARLIER EAGLE

In the first round he chipped in a 70-footer on the 13th hole for an eagle.

"This is hard for me to believe," said January, "sometimes I wait three years to chip one in, and just in the past three weeks I chipped in three at Jacksonville, four at Greensboro and three here in two rounds."

Beard, who was a three-time winner on the 1967 tour, put together a 33-32 yesterday by paring the four par-5 holes. His best was the 30-footer on the short 16th hole.

In his four Masters appearances, Beard's best previous round at Augusta was a 68 in 1965. In the first round Thursday he had a 75 and he said "the strong winds on Thursday bothered me and cost me at least five strokes."

Nicklaus, who was critical of the pin placements yesterday, said he "chipped poorly and played badly."

"I'm never happy to be off the pace of the leader, no matter how I'm playing," he added.

Commenting on Palmer's failure to make the cut, Nicklaus said, "I know Arnie must feel bad, like I did last year, but he'll come back maybe next week and play some great golf."

Goalby, with a 70-70-140 almost aced the par-3 No. 6 hole when his drive hit the cup area and rolled back down the hill 30 feet. "That's how tough that pin placement was there," he noted.

The cut was made on the basis of the 10-stroke rule of those from the leader, including all at 140. This meant 52 players instead of the 44 would go into the third-round today.

State House Clears 29 Bills

LANSING (AP) — Members of the House of Representatives spent Good Friday on the job, trying successfully to clear 29 bills from their calendar before taking a week's vacation.

Approved measures authorizing a new county tax, creating a state youth authority, dealing with public employee strikes, and defining conflicts of interest by state officials and officers of local governments.

The House worked from 9 a.m. until about 5:30 p.m. Friday, meeting its deadline for passage of bills originating in the House. From here on, House members will be considering Senate bills.

The Senate, having completed work on its own measures Thursday, took Friday off. Neither house is to meet next week.

HIGHWAY TAX

Given 82-4 approval was a measure allowing county supervisors, with voter approval, to levy a tax to be used for work on highways, roads and streets. Cities, counties and villages would share the new revenue.

The conflict-of-interest bills both sponsored by Rep. William Hampton, R-Bloomfield Hills, spell out in elaborate detail the limits to which public officials, state and local, can go in financial dealings with state and local agencies.

VW BOOSTER DIES—Heinz Nordhoff, who guided the growth of Volkswagen to become Europe's largest auto manufacturer, died of a heart ailment yesterday in a Wolfsburg, Germany, hospital. He was 69. American auto industry leaders had only praise for the man called the "Wizard of Wolfsburg." Said Earl E. Daum, GM vice president and manager of overseas operations, "The world auto industry has lost one of its finest leaders."

A bill introduced by Rep. Lionel Stacey, R-Benton Harbor, and passed 71-8 would create a nine-member state youth authority which would take over administration of the state boys' and girls' training schools and other juvenile facilities now operated by the Social Services Department.

A pair of public employees labor bills—one requiring binding arbitration for firemen and policemen, the other spelling out procedures for settling disputes involving other types of employees—also won house approval.

FACT-FINDING BOARD

One bill, introduced by Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, House Labor Committee chairman, would establish a fact-finding board to deal with disputes involving teachers and other public employees.

Given 96-3 approval was a bill making the director of the State

LBJ Moves to Insure Dem CAB Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, who has announced he won't seek reelection, has moved to insure that the Civil Aeronautics Board will be controlled by Democrats regardless of who is elected to the White House this fall.

Johnson has nominated CAB Chairman John H. Crooker Jr. of Houston, Tex., to a six-year term.

Crooker, a Democrat, is the newest board member, being appointed last Feb. 16 to fill a vacancy.

It is believed that this is the earliest CAB reappointment nomination on record.

3-70-2 EDGE

After Johnson said March 31 he would not run again, it was assumed in the aviation field he would leave to the new president the appointment to the CAB post opening Jan. 1.

If the Democratic-controlled Senate confirms the nomination, the CAB will have three Democratic and two Republican members until 1971, and a new president would be unable to change the situation.

Sen. Norrie Cotton, R-N.H., ranking minority member of the Senate Commerce Committee which will take initial action on the nomination, said Friday, "there could easily be objection to a President trying to tie the hands of his successor."

News of the nomination appeared this week in The Congressional Record. No announcement was made by the White House.

DETROIT (AP) — Sales of passenger cars by General Motors Corp. during the first 10 days of April rose by about 10,000 vehicles over the same period last year. However, there were nine selling days during the period and only eight in 1967.

H.E. Crawford, vice president in charge of the marketing staff, announced the figures Friday. Passenger cars sold totaled 122,854 for the period as opposed to 112,756 for the equivalent time in 1967.

There has been much talk of the sickness of the Pontiac downtown area, and it is not wrong. This sickness was made very obvious when Sears, Roebuck & Co. refused to take part in the Taubman Plan. I submit that this proves a lack of confidence in the downtown area by the big stores. I am not a big businessman with a lot of big plans. I am just a worried citizen who feels the future of his city is at stake; and I too, can see how outsiders would have a lack of confidence and perhaps be unwilling to risk a major investment in Pontiac. I can see that a city that advances its inadequacy by setting up a planning council that involves people from outside the city is not very attractive and has little confidence in its ability to govern itself. I can also see that a city that will permit urban renewal planners to propose a zoning program that totally disregards the investments made by our tax-paying property owners and literally takes away their rights and money and destroys their confidence is sick.

People used to have confidence in Pontiac. They must have had when they first invested here. When did the gangrene set in? What do we do about it? I think, sincerely, that a city commission that will govern in terms of the democratic obligation of elected officials rather than in terms of a federally inspired take-over of the rights of local citizens can correct the situation. I know the people of Pontiac, and I have faith in their ability to make adult decisions and I will dedicate every effort to assure that their right of self-government is not taken from them.

I believe that this can be done by a return to the fundamentals on which this country was founded and which made it great. These fundamentals were the strong, American, Christian moral tradition and the individual initiative displayed by our forefathers. I think such a program will re-establish confidence in ourselves and, with that, we will see people show a confidence in our city. I know that this program will soon fill our urban renewal desert. I am convinced that such a program will also establish a personal pride in the City of Pontiac that will permit the attraction of additional police officers, for example, that are so badly needed to take the strain from those dedicated few who have stayed with the city through its illness. Even more significant this pride will, all by itself, reduce our crime rate.

God Shows Kate He Really Loves All

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is in the lives of sincere people. The last in a series of 40 articles. Some contributors are famous, others relatively unknown.)
to be published by The Pontiac Press during Lent telling personal stories of faith in action

By LUCILLE CAMPBELL
Cainville, Missouri

"You mean to tell me God loves every one of the 'undesirables' in this world?" Kate demanded in obvious disbelief.

Our women's Sunday school class was studying a lesson stressing the importance of the individual and God's love for him.

"Well, listen to me!" she snorted. "Nobody ever loved me! Not my parents, not the two husbands who deserted me. Why even my children don't shade to give light, kicked a And I guess God doesn't love me either. What has He ever done to show me He loves me?"

She rose and stamped out of the class as we watched her, stunned.

Kate had first come to our church one hot morning. She would admit no special need. "Just came to sit down because my feet hurt," she claimed.

CALL FOR HELP
After her outburst, Kate didn't return. I couldn't forget her, though. Her angry words had been a call for help.

I kept thinking, too, of her question: "What has God ever done to show He loves me?" And I thought of myself. Why was I so sure of God's love?

It came to me that I hadn't needed theological assurances of His love. His love had come to me through my parents' love, my husband's faithfulness, my friends' devotion. Their love was the transmission of God's. And this is what Kate had missed.

Could I do anything to show it to Kate, I wondered? Wondering and finding no answer, I prayed for an answer. As a result I was prodded to go see Kate. I drove to her street. The sidewalks were heaved and split, a few dusty weeds sprouted in the cracks. Various odors, rotting, moldy, drifted from alleys.

VISIT A SURPRISE
Kate, surprised to see me, recovered her poise and invited me into the better of her two rooms. She jerked up a broken chair to give light, kicked a And I guess God doesn't love me either. What has He ever done to show me He loves me?"

A boy was building a tower of some scrap pieces of lumber on a chair. She brushed it off so it could sit down, gave him a sharp slap when he started to protest.

"Jimmy," she said gesturing toward him, "worthless like his father. Nodding to two big-eyed little girls crouching in the corner, she added: "Judy and Joyce, souvenirs of the second bum I married."

I had come intending to have a little visit with Kate and to urge her back to church. Now I could see she needed more than talk. She needed understanding, a chance to respect herself, help to care for the children, person-to-person love.

From the first Kate didn't take graciously to being helped, and she was difficult to like. I alone love. One friend of mine took her a good assortment of used clothing, dishes, pans, some pieces of stout furniture. Kate looked them over carefully.

COMPLAINS ABOUT GIFTS
"I do wish," she drawled, "that people who donate old things to me would have the good taste to buy decent stuff in the first place!"

She once expressed a wish to make her own living — she existed on a welfare check — but when several of us offered her housework and sewing, she plainly didn't appreciate it.

"No, thank you! Not me!" she sniffed. "Why should I break my back doing someone else's dirty work? The government won't let me starve!"

Kate's darkest side was her treatment of the children. "You were born dumb!" she told Jimmy once, looking at his report card. "You'll never learn!"

"Always dirty, always noisy, always in the way!" she charged the little girls.

We felt a separation would benefit both Kate and her children, and so some of us often took the little girls to play in our homes with our children. They made friends readily, and blossomed like tightly closed buds opening to the sun. One neighbor hired Jimmy to work on his lawn and garden four hours a day.

Things grew better slowly.

When she wasn't with them all the time, Kate was more patient with the children.

Then she had to have an operation. We cared for the children, seven people from the church gave blood for her.

In the hospital, she'd become interested in the practical nurses working there. She wanted to be one, and the welfare office cut through red tape to finance the year's education and training. As she worked toward her goal, she gained a lot more self-control. She was kinder to the children.

Soon she was attending church again. Then one Sunday I had a message that a relative was dying. My husband must drive me to her.

"Now I'll look after the kids," Kate said immediately. "Don't worry about them tonight."

ROUGH NEIGHBORHOOD
My heart sank. That rough neighborhood! That miserable house!

Yet I sensed she needed to do it, and she beamed when I chose her over those of her relatives and other friends. The children had a fine time and excellent care.

When Kate finished her training, she took work in the hospital and went out of relief. Two elderly ladies invited her to share their large home.

They loved her children, and badly needed someone younger and stronger in their house. In this way they could remain independent, yet be safe with competent care at hand.

The last time I saw Kate, she invited me to sit down in the kitchen and chat while she saved me coffee and cake. The little girls were laughing over a new game. Jimmy was frowning over homework.

MESSED UP FOR 30 YEARS
"Pretty good for me, after I messed up everything for 30 years," she mused, her gaze taking in the neat apartment, the well-dressed children. "I have a lot to be thankful for."

She really did. And I was reminded of Kate's long-ago question: "What has God ever done to show me He loves me?"

Chrysler Awarded NASA Study Pact
WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration awarded Chrysler Corp. space division, New Orleans, a $900,000 contract Friday for a one-year study of needs and designs for an intermediate type of launch vehicle for future space operations.

The study will deal with a range of boosters mightier than the 2.4-million-pound-thrust Titan 3C rocket but smaller and less powerful than the huge Saturn 5 moon vehicle.

It will consider launch vehicle needs for such space missions, in the period after 1973, as long-duration manned satellites in low orbits around earth, in manned spacecraft in synchronous orbit 22,300 miles above the earth, logistic support for manned exploration of the moon, and unmanned planetary deep space probes.

Chrysler Corp. is working on a study of boosters mightier than the 2.4-million-pound-thrust Titan 3C rocket but smaller and less powerful than the huge Saturn 5 moon vehicle.

U.S. Is Way Out in Front in the Minisub Race

By SCIENCE SERVICE
WASHINGTON — Though they may be rarer, flying saucers are no stranger than the weird flotilla of tiny research submarines that is invading the ocean depths.

Dozens of minisubs are owned by at least seven countries, and the quest for the sea's riches is keeping the pressure on for more.

For to exploit the apparently boundless wealth of the sea, men must first understand it; research submarines are gathering knowledge that will one day be golden.

The newest member of the minisub club is Britain, which launched its first such craft, the Standard Underwater Research Vehicle (SURV) late last year. Yet the sub was barely launched when the country began considering a huge "tender" vessel, to act as a mother ship to a whole school of manned underwater probes.

Few countries, however, and certainly not Britain, have enough minisubs to warrant such a project. The U.S. is by far the richest country in sheer number of minisubs.

ABOUT 60
The Committee on Marine Research Educational Facilities estimates that there are about 60 "research submarines" in the U.S., versus perhaps 15 in the rest of the world.

Outside the U.S., the big spender on research subs is the Soviet Union, which has at least five operational craft and another three under construction.

One sub in the Soviet fleet, the Severianka, may be the most luxurious in the world, an oceanographer's dream. It was converted from a 240-100 military submarine.

Thick glass portholes were installed in the sub's windowless sides. Powerful search lights were mounted outside each porthole, along with still and motion picture cameras, controllable by each observer.

Among the Soviet sub's early findings was the discovery that many fish are very passive, almost lethargic, at night; they would remain calmly in the water, unfrightened of the submarine, until morning when they would become much livelier and dart away.

OTHER RUSSIAN SUBS

Other Russian minisubs include the Atlant 1, which looks almost like a huge fish itself; the Tmno 1, which is only 36 feet long but can sustain its five-man crew on journeys up to 1,200 miles long; and a pair of unnamed bathyscaphes reportedly capable of descending to 36,000 feet below the surface.

This phenomenal distance, almost seven miles straight down, is as great a depth as any sub has ever reached. The only two, besides the Soviet craft, to accomplish this are the Trieste II, which was used in the search for the crushed military submarine Thresher, and the French Navy's Archimede.

The father of the current generation of minisubs is the predecessor of the Trieste II. The Trieste I, carried out research for a decade, averaging more than a dozen dives a year, before it was finally retired in 1964.

Another country with an active minisub program is Japan, which has at least three sea probes of its own. One of these, the Kuroshio II, is powered from the surface through an extension cord some 1,900 feet long and more than an inch in diameter.

Another, the Yomiuri, was sometimes surprisingly reluctant to discuss critical features of their underwater triumphs.

The reason is that when man begins to fully exploit the sea, the prize will be a rich one indeed, and bizarre submarines that are now merely scientific one-shots may turn out to be valuable commodities.

MINISUBS EXPENSIVE
Again, accurate figures are hard to come by, but an official for one large American company with a division in the mini-sub business, said that the British SURV, at $50,000, was "a steal."

If you absolutely have to have one, and right now, perhaps you can. But you'd better hurry.

The Augusta Picard, which carried 40 passengers at a time 900 feet down in Lake Geneva during the 1964 Swiss National Exposition, has been for sale for almost two years with practically no takers.

Now, at last there's a tentative deal... but maybe you can be the first one on your block.

Romney Will Shun Migrant Event Sunday

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney Friday told a group planning a rally by migrant workers at the State Capitol on Easter Sunday that he will not break his "no business on Sunday" rule to attend.

The governor, however, offered to meet representatives of the Michigan Committee to Aid Farm Workers in his office Monday afternoon.

Jack Carper, coordinator of the committee, wired Romney asking him to attend the rally and spell out his program to "end legislative poverty for farm workers."

"I do not attend public meetings or political meetings on Sunday," the governor replied. "Consequently I will not attend your rally on Easter Sunday."

PROTEST MARCH

The governor then made his offer for a 3 p.m. meeting Monday.

They said they also planned a protest march to the governor's rented home at East Lansing although Romney and his family will spend Easter weekend at their Bloomfield Hills home.

East Lansing police, meanwhile, planned to call men to special duty Sunday to protect the governor's East Lansing residence.

Waterford Man Treated for Burns After $7,000 Fire

A Waterford Township man was burned in a fire at his apartment at 4468 Sahasabaw at 2:30 a.m. today.

Warren Beaudry was treated at Pontiac General Hospital for burns on his face and arms and later released.

Waterford Township firemen estimated damage at $4,000 to the building and $3,000 to the contents.

The fire apparently erupted in a bedroom and was confined mostly to that area, according to firemen. However the rest of the structure was damaged by smoke.

Firemen said Beaudry was burned while dragging a burning mattress from the apartment.

Youth Arrested for Defacing Flag

VERNON, Conn. (AP)—A youth was arrested Friday after spraying an American flag with red paint and placing it on top of a monument in Central Park.

James Burrows of Vernon said the red paint represented "the blood of Martin Luther King," police said.

The white youth was charged with misuse of the flag, breach of the peace, resisting arrest and refusing to be fingerprinted. He was jailed in lieu of $300 bond.

Sex Threatens to Become Newest Spectator Sport?

By WARD CANNEL

NEW YORK (NEA)—It should come as no surprise that shortly after publication, a book called "The Naked Ape" by Desmond Morris has installed itself firmly as a best seller.

It should come as no surprise. But it does. This sort of recurring event always comes as a surprise to us.

For some reason we have never understood at all, there is simply no topic more appealing to people than the scientific study of their sexual behavior. And the more scientific, the more best selling it is.

Last year it was courtship rites as studied by Konrad Lorenz. The year before, it was the Masters investigation into the sex mechanism. The year before that—well, suffice it to say that we have been astonished annually since the Kinsey report.

Just what the scientists are trying to discover in their pursuit is hard enough to explain. But what the average reader hopes to learn from these loads of research data is impossible to figure out. As far as we can tell, the whole sale market in this commodity has very little bearing on the retail trade.

LONG PROCESS

The scientific theory seems to be that the creative, intelligent creature called man is the product of a long evolutionary process of selective mating.

To find out how this selecting has been accomplished, scientists go out and observe the mating habits of some species related to man, such as the rat, the goose or the college student.

This year, science is observing the mating habits of the ape.

And average readers, as usual, are reading about it as fast as they can. But what they expect to learn about themselves remains a mystery.

OBSERVING APES

For our part, we have read through the current studies of the ape and his mating behavior. Moreover, we have spent as much time as is humanly possible in the zoo observing real live apes.

And we can report from both our reading and looking that the wonder is not how apes mate, or whom they select for the job. The astounding thing is that they can bring themselves to mate at all.

But even if they do, as science claims, it is hard to see how they are getting anywhere with it. From what we have been able to find out, apes today are not any more creative or intelligent than they were, say, at the end of World War II.

In that regard, the human is not doing so well, either. According to a recent study at the University of California (Los Angeles), in nine out of 10 cases Doris Day ends up with Rock Hudson rather than George Bernard Shaw.

HARD TO UNDERSTAND

So, as we said, why people persist in this observation of mating behavior is very hard to understand. It would be much more reasonable if the apes were observing people's habits. But that's not the case.

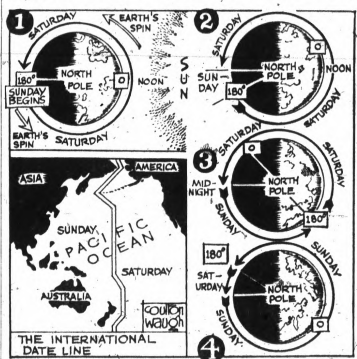

Quite the contrary. You cannot read a book of any sort nowadays, or go to a movie, play, university or park without being made to observe sexual behavior in every variation and tedious detail.

And now, it appears, television has joined the trend with a documentary telling more about conception than anybody really wants to know.

Whether all of this means that sex has become just another spectator sport, it is too early to tell.

But we notice, according to a scientific study conducted by the Bureau of the Census, the American birth rate is dropping.

Junior Editors Quiz on TIME ZONES

QUESTION: Why do the time zones follow a zigzag pattern?

ANSWER: In (1), we look down on the earth, which turns in the direction of the arrows. The sun shines at right. The square marked "X" to the left of the sun shows the zero meridian, a north-south line running through Greenwich, England, from which east-west distances are measured. In this position of the earth, it is noon at Greenwich. Just opposite is the 180th meridian, which runs through the middle of the Pacific. This is the International Date Line and here it's midnight on Saturday. But the instant the Date Line moves past with the earth's rotation, a new day, Sunday, begins (1), (2).

As different parts of the earth pass the midnight line, it becomes Sunday there too, so the Date Line carries Sunday right around the earth (3), (4).

The Date Line has zigzags in it by arrangement between different countries. If it had been straight at the top, for example, a part of Siberia would have been in a different day from the rest of Siberia. Further south, the line is angled so groups of islands can be in the same day together.

Can you figure how it would be possible to sail from Sunday back into Saturday?

YOU BE THE JUDGE!

Open Letter to Pontiac Citizens:

As voters in the City of Pontiac we notice that we have a city election for commissioners next Monday.

We wonder for whom we should vote? We notice in District 6, it follows by the name of John Francis Leonard is asking the people to vote for him... BUT we also notice he has a Police Record of many, many AND varied violations from 1944 through 1967.

How can we ask our neighbors to vote for such a record? 777-7777-7777-7777?

He is appointing a man who has lived in Pontiac all his life with NEVER A MARK against his record! That man is Mr. WESLEY WOOD.

In our opinion Wesley Wood deserves our vote and yours! But better cast your vote for Wesley... it will be better for Pontiac, and us all.

Night Is Quiet in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's capital has passed its curfew in a week without a riot and the mayor has asked President Johnson to authorize the orderly withdrawal of some 14,000 troops from the city.

Mayor Walter E. Washington told the President in a letter Friday he has been advised by military and city officials that "order has now been restored in the District of Columbia."

The troops moved into the capital April 5, the second of three nights of violence in Negro sections following the April 4 assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King in Memphis, Tenn.

Mayor Washington lifted the curfew completely beginning Friday night but retained some restrictions, such as a ban on gun sales and the sale of gasoline in containers.

Bars were allowed to stay open until midnight. The usual weekend closing time is 2 a.m.

Vote Today in Singapore Is a Shoe-In SINGAPORE (AP) — Singapore held general elections today with Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew's Peoples' Action party, PAP, assured of victory.

The party won 51 of the 58 Parliament seats by default on nominating day last Feb. 14, when only seven opposition candidates decided to contest the elections.

The PAP was given a good chance to sweep the seven contests and win 100 per cent control of the new Parliament.

The only major race was one pitting Prime Minister Lee against a relatively unknown Indian merchant, Rangaswamy Vetrivelu, an independent. Vetrivelu virtually conceded defeat before the polls were closed when he told a press conference that many of his supporters were afraid to vote for him.

He also said he had sent a letter to U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant complaining that there was no guarantee that the voting would be done in secret.

CORE Youth Aim at Black Leaders

NEW YORK (AP) — The youth group of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) has been revitalized with an aim toward developing black leadership, a spokesman says.

Leonard DeChamps, national director of the student arm, known as the Students Congress of Racial Equality (SCORE), said Friday: "The purpose of SCORE is to get black youth who now have nothing to do but wander in the streets to get more than a job, to contribute to the economic institutions of America. It's to develop black leadership that will save the country."

Among those addressing the youths at a conference were entertainer Ossie Davis and James Farmer, chairman of the national advisory committee of CORE.

Ask the next five people you meet who makes the best portable T.V.

You're going to get five different answers. Some people wouldn't let one brand into the house. Others swear by that same brand. One model by a particular manufacturer is best if you live in a fringe area. But don't take it out on a boat. Sure, you'll get five different answers, because people have different needs and different wants. When you pay your money and take your choice there's a reason for your choice. And luckily, we live in a country with a system that offers a big choice. It's called the free enterprise system.

Newlyweds Die in Road Crash

MURPHY, N.C. (AP) — A newly married couple from Hayesville, in the mountains of western North Carolina, were killed Friday when their car crashed into a gasoline tank truck near Murphy.

Police said Richard Patton, 24, and his wife Phyllis, 21, had just started on their honeymoon.

White Eggs in Demand

BOSTON (AP) — Traditional, New England housewives prefer brown eggs to white. Thus poultrymen normally receive more for the browns than the whites.

But not during the week preceding Easter.

White eggs command higher prices in this period because they are easier to color.

Earl and Peter Talk Pictures Amid Thinkers and Drinkers

By EARL WILSON

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia—Peter Falk and I were behind the Iron Curtain here in a very pleasant part of Titograd—the bustling bar of the Hotel Metropole where many of the thinkers and drinkers around us were well-dressed Communists.

"Peter," I asked, recalling his criminal lawyer series on TV, "is it true that you were just arrested here as a photographer?"

PETER, (grinning): "As a matter of fact, yes. I haven't enough tape to record the times I've been arrested all over the world, Cuba, Paris, Naples, Trieste, Moscow, and now Novi Sad, Yugoslavia."

WILSON

"I bought a Nikon with four lenses and there isn't a goose or a pig in Serbia I haven't shot. I went into the marketplace in Novi Sad and I saw a peasant woman with an interesting face and I started to shoot her. A cop asked me for my passport and of course I never remember to carry mine with me. He called the paddywagon and he brought me in."

"They didn't put me in a cell. They took me to an office. When they found out I was an American actor . . .

(Falk is filming "Castle Key" with Burt Lancaster, and, to escape boredom during waiting periods, has been running all over Yugoslavia with his camera.)

" . . . they let me go. In fact, the cop offered me a cigaret and kissed me on both cheeks. They are still a little sensitive about being poor and were concerned about the fact that I was shooting the poor people."

THE WEEKEND WINDUP

Veteran producer-director George Abbott, 80, told Joe Kipness at Kipp's: "If you want to see me more often, put in some dance music." . . . Sonny & Cher'll star in "The Fantasticks" this summer at the Kenley playhouses in Ohio. (And Dagmar'll be in "Pal Joey" with Buddy Greco and Ariane Fontana) . . . Harvey Stone'll tour with Wally Cox in "Odd Couple" . . . Stage actor Arthur Frier's a $25,000 winner in the N.Y. State lottery.

Bobby Darin had a recording studio built in the basement of his Hollywood home . . . Louis Armstrong goes into the Latin April 17 . . . Rocky Graziano wore his "love beads" at Gallagher's - miniature golf boxing gloves on a chain . . . Sidney Poitier said at Miss Lacey's he's trying to find time to read the 22 film scripts he's been offered . . . Sergio Franchi'll appear on three networks this spring.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jane Morgan, who had a bumpy ride atop an elephant at the Ringling Bros. circus opening, says: "I don't know about an elephant's memory - but I know elephant riders never forget!"

WISH I'D SAID THAT: A budget is a plan for pay-as-you-go - if you don't go anywhere. - Les and Liz Carpenter.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Always put off till tomorrow what you shouldn't be doing at all."

EARL'S PEARLS: A police official discussed gun laws: "I'd like to see them made so strict you'd almost need a license to watch 'Gunsmoke.'"

Joan Rivers says her interior decorator likes to emphasize seductive lighting: "He even put a red bulb in my refrigerator."

That's earl, brother.

Psychiatric Tests for LSD Advocate

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) - Timothy Leary, an advocate of LSD, has been ordered to appear April 22 for a psychiatric analysis at the federal medical center in Springfield, Mo.

Leary, 47, of Millbrook, N.Y., was convicted at Laredo, Tex., in 1966 on two marijuana charges. He received a 30-year sentence and a $30,000 fine, which will be reviewed after the examination.

U.S. Judge Ben C. Conally, who presided at the trial, signed the order Friday.

Hanoi Charges U.S. Delays Peace Talks

TOKYO (AP) — North Vietnam accused the United States today of resorting to "ill-founded pretexts to shun or postpone contacts" for peace talks.

"It is quite clear that the U.S. still shows no sign of good will," said Hanoi's official newspaper Nhan Dan.

The paper's charges came on the heels of a Vietcong announcement of a three-day cease-fire starting today in An Giang Province, near the Cambodian border, to mark the Cambodian-Khmer new year.

Nhan Dan issued similar charges yesterday.

Hanoi said the United States, while refusing sites for preliminary peace talks including Phnom Penh and Warsaw, had escalated its attacks against North Vietnamese targets.

'AIM TO PROLONG WAR'

Nhan Dan declared "these bellicose acts of the U.S. are not meant to 'move toward peace.' What they aim at is to prolong the war."

The article signed "commentator," said "after refusing to use Phnom Penh as a place for contacts between representatives of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam and the U.S., the U.S. government has rejected the idea of choosing Warsaw as another venue."

Nhan Dan added: "U.S. military activities in North Vietnam since President Johnson's March 31 address have shown what the 'limited bombing' really is.

'U.S. AIR RECONNAISSANCE'

"The United States continues bombing an important part of the Democratic Republic of Vietnam comprising four provinces and one area."

"Meanwhile, U.S. air reconnaissance is going from Thanh Hoa Province northward. On April 4, in particular, U.S. aircraft attacked Lai Chau province capital."

Lai Chau is about 300 miles northwest of Hanoi. Washington has denied the charge that the provincial capital was bombed April 4.

Clues in Slaying ... 'Substantial'

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — FBI agents have uncovered "very substantial" physical evidence as they work "around the clock pursuing every lead" in the search for Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s assassin, Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark said last night.

"The FBI is devoting every possible resource to this investigation," Clark said. "While it remains impossible to predict when the killer will be arrested, I remain hopeful that it will be soon."

Clark, like FBI officials, refused to answer newsmen's questions. "All I can say is no comment," said Robert Jensen, special agent in charge of the Memphis FBI office.

In New York, the Daily News reported today it had learned that the FBI had definitely established that the white Mustang sports car abandoned in Atlanta was the same car seen driving away from the murder scene after the assassination.

The Daily News said witnesses in Memphis gave investigators the license number of the car.

It quoted unnamed sources as saying the plate numbers matched those of the car found in Atlanta. The FBI in Memphis said it had no comment on the News report.

SNIPER VICTIM

King was shot and killed by a sniper April 4 as he stood outside his motel room here.

In Washington, Rep. Charles W. Whalen Jr., R-Ohio, said a writer of "premature and contradictory statements" was clouding the investigation and asked the FBI to "set the record straight."

The search for the assassin has spread hundreds of miles from Memphis, sources report, and involves thousands of investigators.

EASTER BUNNY ARRIVES—A U.S. 9th Infantry Division soldier holds an obliging bunny at his post in the Mekong Delta in South Vietnam. The rabbit took a short hop from an experimental farm at Dong Tam just in time for Easter.

Easter Is Marked by Unusual Touches

By The Associated Press

This year's world Easter scene, which comes to its joyous climax tomorrow in memory of Christ's resurrection, is dominated by traditional celebrations but flecked with unusual touches.

Thousands of pilgrims streamed into Rome for the Roman Catholic Easter vigil service tonight in St. Paul's Basilica.

On Good Friday the Pope Paul VI bore a cross through the heart of what once was pagan Rome.

The 70-year-old Pope declared in a sermon that all men were "co-responsible" for the death of Christ, because He died to save all men from their sins.

The ancient holy city of Jerusalem was different this year: It was united under Israeli rule, and Christian Easter coincided with Jewish Passover.

WATCH PROCESSION

Hundreds of Israelis watched, as Christian Arabs and pilgrims from many lands including the United States trod the Way of the Cross along the Via Dolorosa and filed into the Church of the Holy Sepulchre for the final stations.

It is believed Christ was crucified on the spot where the church now stands and also entombed there.

A bit of Christian-Jewish ecumenism was to occur in Starved Rock State Park near Ottawa, Ill.

There the Rev. Joseph Donnelly, a Jesuit, will conduct a Judeo-Christian Mass near the place where, another Jesuit, the Rev. Jacques Marquette, held the first non-Indian religious ceremony in Illinois 250 years ago.

At Colgate University, chaplain Dr. Donald Berry will conduct an interdenominational Easter service in the administration building for 500 students and faculty members who've been holding a sit-in there since Wednesday.

Palmer Is Out; Two Share Lead

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
AUGUSTA, Ga. — With Arnold Palmer, the general of golf's largest army of fans, spending Easter at home in Latrobe, Pa., the mad scramble for the green jacket of the Masters golf champion continues in third round play today at the Augusta National course.

Palmer, a four-time Masters champion, failed to make the midpoint cut with his 72-79-151.

Setting the pace in this hectic tournament, which has 19 golfers within four strokes of the lead, are PGA champion Dan January and 1961 Masters champ Gary Player, with 36-hole totals of 139.

With Palmer out of the picture, everyone is pointing to Jack Nicklaus, who is shooting for his fourth crown.

Nicklaus, with a 69-71-140 is tied for second place with Frank Beard and Bob Goalby.

PALMER MISSES BY 2

Palmer missed the cut by two strokes, the first time in 14 Masters that he has failed to complete the tourney.

One reason was the triple bogey eight he took on the 520-yard 15th hole known at this course as the "Fire Thorn Hole."

On the 445-yard "White Dogwood" 11th hole, another contender, Bruce Devlin of Australia, was knocked from the lead for taking eight strokes.

Devlin was six-under par, the highest margin of the tournament, after 27 holes. He came back with a couple of birdies after his eight and now stands at 142.

A total of 52 golfers, including 13 foreign players, made the cut and began teeing off this morning under sunny skies and temperatures expected to be in the 80s.

Friday's 78 Ties Record for Date

Milady should be prepared for showers when venturing out in Easter finery tomorrow.

The temperature soared to 78 at 4 p.m., yesterday tying the record high for that date set in 1896.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports the following day-by-day official forecast:

TODAY — Cloudy, chance of occasional showers this afternoon or tonight. High 88 to 75. Low tonight 48 to 52.

Winds, mostly southwesterly 15 to 25 miles per hour.

TOMORROW — Chance of occasional showers. A little cooler.

MONDAY — Partly cloudy with little temperature change and a chance of showers in the morning.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent: today 50, tonight 70, and tomorrow 60. A balmy 34 was the low in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. By 3:30 p.m. the mercury had climbed to 75.

Study Planned for Crystal Lake 7 Seats Are at Stake Commission Vote Monday

Development of housing in the area around Crystal Lake is moving closer to reality with the announcement that a Detroit-Albany planning firm will begin preparing a study of the area and of prospective tenants.

Charles M. Tucker Jr., president of the newly formed nonprofit corporation, Harambee, Inc. said the corporation has decided to engage the planning firm for professional fees initially totaling about $18,000.

Harambee (an African word meaning, Let us Work Together), was organized as a nonprofit corporation to get widespread involvement in efforts to provide new housing and commercial facilities, and to rehabilitate old housing in the south end of the city.

Tucker said Harambee has pledged (Continued on Page A-2, Col. 4)

Registered voters will go to the polls Monday to elect seven city commissioners for new two-year terms. Fourteen candidates, including five incumbents, are seeking office.

There are no issues on the ballot.

The candidates:

District 1—T. Warren Fowler Sr., incumbent, and Charles M. Tucker Jr.

District 2—Robert C. Irwin, incumbent, and Louis E. Fairbrother.

District 3—William H. Taylor Jr., incumbent, and Earl D. Spring Sr.

District 4—F. Jack Douglas and George Gribb.

District 5—Robert F. Jackson and Arnold R. Jones.

District 6—Wesley J. Wood, incumbent, and John F. Leonard.

District 7—James H. Marshall, incumbent, and Robert A. Landry.

Two city commissioners decided earlier this year not to run for reelection.

Next Tuesday's city commission meeting will be the last for District 4 Commissioner Leslie H. Hudson and District 5 Commissioner John A. Dugan.

COMMISSION VETERANS

Hudson has served two terms on the commission and was mayor pro tem during those four years. Dugan dropped out of contention this year for the first time in 14 years. He was first elected to the city commission in 1954 and lost in a reelection bid only once, in 1962.

The election this year features rematches in Districts 1 and 7. Fowler and Tucker were opponents in 1966 as were Marshall and Landry.

Army Tests Could Cause Disaster—Doctor

TOOLE, Utah (AP) — Dr. Kelley H. Gubler, chief of staff of the Toole Valley Hospital, says it is possible that chemical and biological testing at the Army's Dugway Proving Ground could cause a "massive human disaster."

In reference to the death of some 6,700 sheep in Utah's Skull Valley in March, Gubler said:

"The sheep's worries are over, now I'd start worrying about the people. Undoubtedly the wind shifted and the Army failed to take adequate precautions."

He discussed the subject in the April 12 edition of Medical News World, a weekly magazine.

"We should bear in mind that with a slight amount of misdirected contaminant, there could be a massive human disaster," he said.

RECORDS CONFIRM WIND

U.S. Weather Bureau charts and Dugway records have confirmed prevailing winds up to 35 m.p.h. blew across Dugway into Skull Valley 20 miles northeast and on toward Toole and Salt Lake City on March 13, the day before the sheep began dying.

"The Army has withdrawn an earlier denial and admitted spraying a nerve gas agent from an airplane that day."

Veterinarians and state investigators claim the army nerve gas testing March 13 caused the sheep deaths.

"It's ridiculous for the Army... to soft-pedal the human health hazard," Gubler charged, emphasizing "We've blown our stacks before over Dugway incidents. We occasionally see patients who have gotten an anticholinesterase overdose in the proving ground."

"But will the Army admit it? Never. They refuse to take a realistic attitude."

DEAD SHEEP TESTED

Tests done on the stricken sheep showed them suffering from a depression of cholinesterase which incapacitates its victims by blocking the enzyme action at nerve endings, causing spasms and convulsions.

Gubler said that although the treated one worker with the depression symptoms, "the Army vehemently denied he had received an overdose."

He said the man later went into convulsions, "suffered nervous impairment and had to receive long-term treatment."

Army spokesmen at Dugway say there is no human health hazard, insisting blood tests on Army employees at Dugway following the sheep's deaths showed no signs of nerve gas.

Sen. Frank Moss, D-Utah says he has "proof positive that the Army test caused the sheep deaths."

Birmingham Area Banker Gets Village Fair Chairmanship

BIRMINGHAM — Harold H. McCarthy, 6963 Heather Heath, West Bloomfield Township, has been named general chairman for the fifth annual Birmingham Village Fair.

McCarthy was appointed by the fair board of the Birmingham-Bloomfield Chamber of Commerce, which sponsors the event.

He served on the board for last year's fair.

A member of the Birmingham Exchange Club, McCarthy is manager of the Wabek branch of the Detroit Bank and Trust Co.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Spring term classes sponsored by the Bloomfield Hills Recreation Department will begin the week of April 22.

Among the offerings will be such diverse subjects as dog obedience, creative weaving, yoga and French cooking.

Those interested may obtain further information from the department office, located at Bloomfield Hills Andover High School.

BIRMINGHAM — Police here are continuing residents against being taken in by a confidence scheme which has been attempted here twice recently.

Detective Richard Chambers said the department has been notified of two instances in which elderly women were phoned by someone impersonating a police officer.

The impersonator, Chambers said, told the women that police suspected someone of robbery in the bank in which they kept their savings.

He then asked the women to withdraw their money and give it to him outside the bank for security purposes, the detective added.

Both women contacted the police, Chambers said, adding that anyone else receiving such a call is urged to do the same.

State House Okays Antistrike Measure

LANSING — A bill designed to head off strikes by teachers and other public employees was given bipartisan House approval yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The bill, written by the House Labor Committee, sets up elaborate machinery for resolving contract disputes, while taking public employee strikes out of circuit court jurisdiction.

As finally approved 91-3 by the House, the measure provides:

- Either party to a contract involving public employees must give 60 days notice of any plan to end or modify the contract.
- Parties to the contract should schedule attempts to resolve their differences so as not to throw off other necessary considerations, such as preparation of school district budgets.
- The State Labor Mediation Board (SLMB) may step into the dispute at the request of either party, and must

Vote Is Monday for Commission

Grba was a candidate for the commission in 1966. This is the first attempt at election to the commission for Fairbrother, Spring, Douglas, Jackson, Jones and Leonard.

There are 29,805 registered voters in the city, down from the 32,320 that were registered during the general election in 1966.

City officials are cautious about predicting voter turnout. Pontiac's election usually draw no more than 30 per cent of the registered voters.

About 22 per cent of the registered voters took part in the city's primary election in March.

Pontiac's 26 polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

step in if bilateral collective bargaining breaks down.

• If SLMB mediation also fails to end the deadlock, a three-member board of inquiry would enter the dispute in a fact-finding role. The chairman of the board of inquiry would be picked from a new 12-member public employee relations panel to be appointed by the governor. The other members of the board would be picked by the parties to the dispute.

• The board would make private recommendations to the parties, and could make the recommendations public if they were not accepted within seven days.

• Parties to the dispute would be encouraged, but not required to finally submit to binding arbitration if the earlier methods failed to bring agreement.

The House bill also specifically authorizes public employee unions to negotiate agency shop agreements, under which nonunion employees would pay union dues or their equivalent.

It forbids agreements which would require employees to join the union.

Another bill passed 91-3 by the House, provides that labor disputes involving police or fire employees would be submitted to binding arbitration if not resolved by mediation within 30 days.

Gun Curb Confusion Stalls Anticrime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Further Senate action on a sweeping anticrime bill is being held up by confusion over its proposed curbs on handgun sales.

As a result, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's plan to bring the bill up for debate shortly after Easter has gone awry.

Another meeting of the Senate Judiciary Committee may be necessary to straighten out the situation, Senate sources said yesterday.

There is a dispute over what action was taken on the controversial firearms control section of the bill.

TRE ORE SERVICE — Christians gathered in hundreds of area churches yesterday for the traditional three-hour services commemorating Christ's crucifixion. Worshipers arrived early in First Presbyterian Church, Wayne and West Huron, for the service sponsored annually by the Pontiac Area Council of Churches. The Rev. Galen E. Hershey, host pastor, led the worship.

SECOND PHASE

A second phase involving the firm calls for preparation of working drawings, specifications and architectural plans for final construction. Working on the project will be an urban planner, a sociologist, an architect and a specialist in building design and construction.

Tucker said Harnabee's board of directors has indicated that it favors approving the proposal of Urban Design Development Group to work on the project with the following stipulations:

- That Urban Design will seek out local Afro-American lay persons and professionals to employ them in all phases of the project.
- That Urban Design will make special reports to citizens groups when deemed advisable by Harnabee.
- That the firm be encouraged to complete its plans in 45 to 60 days to "facilitate time and provide opportunity for the earliest possible ground-breaking."
- That the Urban Design Group make regular progress reports to Harnabee and MDCDA.
- That the firm, with the aid of the MDCDA Pontiac coordinator put all matters requiring Harnabee approval in writing and that these communications should be delivered in sufficient time to "allow deliberation and discussion resulting in collective decisions."

COMPLETION DATE

Urban Design's representatives said they could complete their studies within 12 weeks. The firm will be working in conjunction with Harnabee, Inc., an all-Negro corporation of Pontiac residents — and the Metropolitan Detroit Citizens Development Authority (MDCDA).

MDCDA has been provided with an initial $500,000, by Metropolitan Fund — a Detroit foundation — to boost housing efforts in the six-county southeastern Michigan area.

It is expected to provide "seed money" for the planned project. This money will initiate development and be returned to MDCDA when feasible.

2nd Airport Buy Shows Cost Jump

By JEAN SAILE

Facts continue to bear out the theory that once the county gets interested in purchasing a piece of property its value increases sharply.

The most recent purchase by Oakland County for expansion of the Oakland-Pontiac Airport involved 47.5 acres of land north of the present airport in Waterford Township.

Its value increased $72,500 in two transactions a little more than seven months apart. In the meantime it had become worth $164,296 for mortgage purposes.

The county paid $190,000 for the property, $40,000 an acre.

Deeds on file at the Oakland County court house show the land, on Aug. 31, 1967, was sold by William J. and Joan E. Rogerson, 15517 Evergreen, Detroit, to Standard Airways, Inc., of Michigan. The price at that time was $117,500, as verified by the revenue stamps affixed to the deed.

The corporation reportedly then gave title of the land last Oct. 30 to Merrill G. Bates and his wife, Barbara, who live at 1250 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Township.

Bates was an officer of Standard Airways, according to its president, Allen Tucker. He no longer is, Tucker said.

Tucker said Bates got ownership because of the company's default on a $25,800 loan from Bates.

No money changed hands in the Standard Airways Bates transaction, but the deed shows that Bates assumed mortgages on the property to the value of $164,296.

DEBTS WIPE OUT

The county's purchase price of $190,000 reportedly wiped out the mortgages and the $25,800 debt to Bates.

The county purchased the property March 13 after approval by vote of the full County Board of Supervisors.

According to Daniel Murphy, chairman of the County Board of Auditors, Tucker, had originally attempted to sell the land to the county for $25,000 an acre.

The airport committee of the county board refused the $25,000 price, although the property was included in the master plan for airport expansion made public last fall.

Murphy said negotiations were then started for 47.5 acres of the Waterford property north and west of the airport, and on Jan. 9 the alternate parcel was purchased at $3,750 an acre.

PRICE MORE REASONABLE

Later Murphy said the 47.5 acres, at this point owned by Bates, was offered at what county officials considered the more reasonable price of $4,200 an acre and reduced by negotiation to $4,000 an acre.

Asked about condemnation proceedings in view of rising land costs, Murphy said while the land itself may be purchasable for less by condemnation, the court costs and the time delay involved may make the overall costs higher.

In condemnation cases, he said, a jury is asked to decide the cost on the basis of evidence presented by appraisers for both the buyers and the sellers. He noted that appraisals can vary widely and that the ultimate decision rests with the jury.

Murphy dismissed the fact that the 47.5 acres carried a Waterford Township assessed valuation of $9,500, which would put its market value, according to the township's assessing formula, at $40,000.

"Vacant land is always assessed below market price," Murphy contended, "and there is often a time lag in which assessments do not catch up to market value."

The county once again used the services of appraiser Richard Irwin of John K. Irwin and Sons, 313 W. Huron, Pontiac, in the deal Murphy said.

Change Appearing in Attitude Toward a Halt in Bombing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — What would be the military risks of a complete halt in U.S. bombing of North Vietnam during peace talks of unknown duration? This is one of the biggest questions facing the Johnson administration, for what Hanoi all bombing of the north did stop, and the Communists, in bad faith, tried to take advantage of it, the United States would learn of the betrayal quickly and would not suffer disastrous loss.

One factor which complicates the assessment is that North Vietnamese infiltration to the south has already increased.

News Analysis

has actually offered to discuss with the United States is the "cessation" of all bombing so that peace negotiations could begin.

Among military men at the Pentagon there is considerable belief that, despite all the appearances of the recent Communist Tet offensive, the United States militarily is in a strong position in South Vietnam — strong enough to assume risk.

Some military men say that if

Other officials said the increase was observed in the form of a greater volume of truck traffic southward through North Vietnam and through Laos. Presumably it could mean an increase in the infiltration of men or supplies or both to the south.

Clifford told newsmen the question of how a complete bombing halt would affect U.S. forces in the south was one he could not answer with "specificity."

"In the event that the bombing is stopped entirely in North Vietnam," he said, "then it would be anticipated, as the President said in his San Antonio address, that we would assume that they would not take advantage of it. Now, we are proceeding upon that attitude and on that basis."

He declined to say whether there would be a bombing halt. On March 31 President Johnson ordered bombing of the north to be held below the 20th Parallel.

From April 3 through at least April 10 the bombing actually was held south of the 19th Parallel, although Johnson and Clifford have carefully avoided any official statement that the 19th is the new line.

At another point in his news conference Thursday Clifford said: "If we did order a cessation of the bombing in North Vietnam and found that they were taking advantage of it, then we would have to make a policy decision then as to what we would do in view of their decision not to comply with the formula that is in our minds."

As evidence of U.S. military strength in Vietnam — despite Tet attacks on South Vietnamese cities — U.S. officials cite the lifting of the siege at Khe Sanh, which they attribute importantly to U.S. airpower.

Hubby Gone, Luci and Baby Lyn Travel to LBJ Ranch for Easter

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family have gathered in Texas for Easter weekend — minus son-in-law Patrick J. Nugent.

Nugent, 24, an airman first class, arrived today in Vietnam where another presidential son-in-law, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, is serving as an infantry company commander.

LUCI Luci Johnson Nugent, arriving here on the presidential jet plane Friday afternoon with her parents and nine-month-old son, Patrick Lyndon, brought the news of her husband's departure overseas.

She said a Nugent was headed for Cam Ranh Bay, a U.S. base the President has visited twice on overseas trips.

The President came to Texas for a bit of rest and relaxation at the LBJ Ranch before he goes overseas, too.

He is scheduled to leave Monday for conferences in Hawaii with Pacific military advisers and South Korean President Chung Hee Park.

Johnson also was giving top priority to efforts to get preliminary diplomatic talks started in negotiations to end the war in Vietnam.

TRANSFER

In Washington, neither the White House nor the Pentagon had any comment on how Nugent worked a transfer to the war zone, where he said he wanted to go.

He has been assigned since March 20 to the Air National Guard's 113th Tactical Air Fighter Wing, stationed at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., near Washington. He had switched just three weeks ago from a desk job to start training as a weapons mechanic.

Luci said she saw Pat off at Andrews Thursday night.

The President called the 113th to active duty shortly after the Jan. 23 seizure of the USS Pueblo by North Korea.

Nugent, then a Texas Air National Guard unit, requested transfer to the activated 113th, in which he had served since his August 1966 marriage to Luci. He said he wanted to go on active duty and would try to get sent to Vietnam.

The 113th has not received overseas orders as yet.

Luci and Pat attended a state dinner at the White House Wednesday night in honor of Chancellor Josef Klaus of

Women's Confab Will be Cancelled

WASHINGTON D.C. — The Women's Conference, scheduled for Washington May 19-21 has been postponed until next Spring, it was announced today by the Democratic National Committee.

Vice Chairman Margaret Price said that the decision was made at the request of national committeewomen and party leaders across the Nation.

"Our women felt that this was the best possible decision in such a critical campaign year. Each of them is currently so active within their home states that it was simply a matter of not having time to spare for a national conference," she said.

Austria. Protocol was put aside so they could sit together — the only couple so seated — on the last night together before Nugent's departure.

SIZE 3

Luci, 20, slimmed down to a size 3 dress, wore bright green at the airport, her skirt at a very mini-length.

She said she planned to wear an outfit of red, white and blue for Easter Sunday.

Mrs. Johnson was showing a spirit of economy for Easter. The White House said she'll wear the same outfit she wore to open Miami's '68 last Saturday.

It's an azeala pink lightweight gabardine coat and sleeveless white dress of the same material, designed by Adele Simpson of New York.

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: That letter from George the bus driver caught my eye because I am also a bus driver. And to add to the coincidence, my name is also George.

Where are all those lovely flirtatious ladies who like to get the seat directly behind the bus driver so they can whisper sweet things in his ear, stress their telephone numbers into his palm, and coquettishly blow on his neck?

I've been a bus driver for eight years and I have never had that kind of luck. Our uniforms are good looking, and I wear mine with pride. But it seems that the person who invariably occupies the seat directly behind me is one who has just consumed a hearty meal, well-seasoned with garlic, washed down with cheap wine.

Could I be driving in the wrong city? GEORGE, IN BOSTON

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I have a 24-year-old son who is engaged to the girl next door. We have lived as neighbors to these people for over 20 years and have always been very friendly. My problem is known only to the lady next door.

You see, I am the father of her daughter, which puts my son in the position of marrying his half sister.

The lady next door refuses to tell her daughter, and insists it is my place to tell our son. If I do, he will tell his mother. Hurry your advice, as time is running out.

STIMPEDE Tell your wife and be prepared for whatever follows.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for a year and a half and I guess before another six months I will be pregnant. Not because I want a baby, but I am made to feel that it is my "duty" — and to keep putting it off just shows my "selfishness."

All I hear from my friends and relatives is, "Aren't you pregnant yet?"

And my mother-in-law acts like I have been married and childless for 20 years.

Abby, the plain truth is that I am not ready to have a baby. Is it so awful of me to enjoy my freedom? To be perfectly honest about it, I would like to wait about five years before having my family.

Once a baby comes, you are tied down and your life is never the same. Oh, I know there are many blessings, but there are lots of worried headaches, and I am in no hurry for them.

Some of our friends who have had families right away seem so tired and irritable, and they don't get along with each other as well as they used to.

What do you think?

DEAR NOT: Don't worry about what others say. You have to answer only to your husband and your own conscience.

Until and unless your attitudes change, and you can think of good reasons for wanting a child, remain childless. If you have a baby because you fear criticism, I feel sorry for the child.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "OLD SARGE" he is not alone. I have been married for 22 years and I have the same problem. I have bought my wife dozens of beautiful sheer nightgowns, but she wears flannel ones to bed. I think they make those sheer gowns for men to buy, not for women to wear.

I love my wife, and I would give anything if she would put on one of those beautiful nightgowns and look glamorous — just for me. But she never has. I have come to the conclusion that soft women just don't want the bother and mess of being loved. If you use this, please don't use my name. She would kill me.

"IN THE SAME BOAT"

CONFIDENTIAL TO BETSY: I wouldn't wait too long for a 34-year-old fellow whose mother still waits up for him.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, c/o The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

For Abby's new booklet "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1.00 to Abby, c/o The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P. O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056.

Acree to Get Beetle Pellets

LANSING (AP) — The State Agriculture Department reports it will start treating some 160 acres of Chikaming Township, Berrien County, for Japanese beetles on Monday.

The chemical dieltrin will be used, which many conservationists claim has a harmful effect on birds, fish and animals.

B. Dale Ball, department director, said the small acreage to be treated is a cutback from original plans to treat 2,800 acres.

Ball said the treatment will be with ground pellets instead of aerial spraying, as originally planned.

The Conservation Department will cooperate in monitoring the effects of the treatment on soil, water and wildlife, he said.

THREAT TO GRAIN

Plans are to use about two pounds of the chemical an acre. The Japanese beetle feeds on almost every type of vegetation and is a particular threat to grain crops.

Ball said the treatment followed careful consideration of the scientific evidence of effects of the treatment. He said the department is seeking a control alternative to dieltrin.

"Prospects are," Ball said, "that if the state did not treat this limited acreage, growers in the surrounding areas would be faced with the need for individual controls. Much more use of the chemicals might result."
