

Rusk Queried on Report U.S. Set to Use N-Arms in Viet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., has written Secretary of State Dean Rusk, asking for a report on rumors that the United States is prepared to use tactical nuclear weapons if American forces meet military reverses in Vietnam.

The question was raised yesterday as to whether such weapons would be used if American troops are dealt a setback in the expected major battle at Khe Sanh, site of a massive Communist buildup.

White House Press Secretary George Christian branded as false a statement attributed to Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., that the U.S. Command in Vietnam had asked for authority from President Johnson to use tactical nuclear weapons in an emergency. McCarthy denied making the statement.

Senate Democratic leader Mike

Mansfield said in an interview there had been only rumors of such action discussed within the foreign relations committee, of which he is a member.

Another member, Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, said he is satisfied tactical nuclear weapons will be quickly available to U.S. forces in South Korea if there's a North Korean attack. But he said he knew nothing about the situation regarding Vietnam.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey declined comment on a story from Washington published in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch that rumors persist "the United States has stockpiled tactical nuclear weapons in South Vietnam for use if the Communists threaten to overrun the allied force at Khe Sanh."

Hopes Again Rise for Return of Crew

SEOUL (AP) — Hopes rose again today for the release of the Pueblo crewmen, with the conclusion of the fifth private meeting between U.S. and North Korean officials and the impending arrival of U.S. trouble-shooter Cyrus Vance. North Korea has held the crewmen 17 days.

The talks at Panmunjom today lasted three hours, the longest session since talks began eight days ago.

American officials were silent on what took place but the speculation in Seoul was that both sides settled "final procedural matters" for the release of the one dead crewman and three injured men.

Sources also said that South Korea is expected to inform Vance that it wants to take back operational control of South Korea's 600,000-man armed forces. The United States currently has control of these forces under the auspices of the U.N. Command.

Smoothing things over with South Korean leaders is seen as a major though unannounced — purpose of Vance's visit.

RELATIVE INATTENTION

The South Koreans have been piqued by what they regard as the U.S. stress on the Pueblo incident and relative inattention to the Communist guerrilla attempt on the life of President Chung Hee Park.

The White House said yesterday that Vance was going to Seoul to see Park about "the measures to be taken by our two governments to deal with a North Korea suddenly grown more pugnacious."

North Korea has demanded an American admission that the Pueblo violated Communist territorial waters, an apology and a promise that it won't happen again. The Communists say this is a prerequisite for the crew's release.

As Vance's plane headed this way, South Korean sources reported that the American military was making special preparations to receive any crewmen who might be released.

SIMILAR PREPARATIONS

Similar preparations were made last Wednesday when hopes were high, but U.S. officials deny that any crewmen were received.

The newspaper Shin-a Ilbo said yesterday the Communists were likely to return the body and the three injured crewmen "within the next few days."

The paper also said the entire crew had been moved to the Communist border town of Kaesong, less than 10 miles from the true village of Panmunjom, in readiness for their eventual return to the U.S. side. The newspaper quoted "government sources."

U.S. Jets End Haiphong Lull

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes raided the Haiphong area yesterday for the first time in a month, apparently ending a bombing restraint ordered by President Johnson while American officials looked into peace prospects.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated that the peace probe ended after the Communists launched their biggest offensive of the war Jan. 30.

Fighting from that Red campaign against major South Vietnamese cities has died out in all but Hue and Saigon, where the allies reported some success in efforts to clear out Communist-held areas.

U.S. Marines managed to bring a truck convoy into Hue today for the first time since last Saturday.

The U.S. Command said the Communist death toll climbed by 1,085 Friday, reaching a total of 27,706 since Jan. 29. The allied death toll was reported as 2,707, including 929 Americans, 1,733 South Vietnamese and 54 other allies.

DELAYED REPORT

Besides reporting the air raid on Cat Bi, four miles southeast of Haiphong, U.S. spokesmen gave a delayed report which confirmed the presence of Soviet-built IL28 twin jet light bombers in North Vietnam.

Air Force fighter-bomber crews said their bombs hit near the IL28s in a raid Thursday on the Phuoc Yen airfield 18 miles northwest of Hanoi. The Air Force had reported several months ago it believed North Vietnam had six IL28s.

The Navy A6 Intruder pilots who attacked Cat Bi said strings of 1,000-pound bombs cut across the intersection of runways. But heavy overcast and darkness prevented further damage assessment.

Reds Execute 5 Yanks

HUE, Vietnam (AP) — At least five Americans are known to have been executed by Communist forces which seized the city of Hue Jan. 31, authorities said today.

The informants said that the bodies of four civilians and one soldier have been recovered.

Both UAW and Pontiac Div. Pleased About Agreement

Both Pontiac Motor Division and officials of UAW Local 653 expressed pleasure after arriving at a local contract agreement yesterday just 53 minutes before the strike deadline.

The tentative contract was signed at 1:07 p.m. after 30 straight hours of negotiation.

Union officials called the proposed agreement "history making."

T. B. Bloom, Pontiac Motor Division personnel director and the GM division's top negotiator said, "The agreement we signed is sound and workable for both the union and company. We are particularly pleased to have reached it without a strike."

The proposed contract covers working conditions only. The national contract, which involved wages, was settled in January.

Wayne Anable, local president, said a report meeting will be held Feb. 18, followed by a ratification vote the next day in trailers on the plant parking lots.

WILL BE PRINTED

The proposed pact will be printed for members' study, Anable said.

Anable and Ben Gales, chairman of the bargaining committee, both said they will be proud to present tentative agreement to the membership.

They cited improvement in the agreement concerning such areas as work relief times, protective clothing and

Holiday Closings Told

Community National Bank, Pontiac State Bank, First Federal Savings of Oakland, and the city and county offices are all closing Monday in honor of Abraham Lincoln's birthday.

The post office and most stores and businesses will remain open as normal.

ON THE SIDEWALKS OF NEW YORK — The garbage keeps piling up higher and higher, as evidenced on McDougal Street in Greenwich Village, as the New York City sanitation men's strike continues. Holding out against Mayor John V. Lindsay's repeated pleas for a guard call-up, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller accused the mayor of a breach of position in the strike and began new talks to seek a permanent solution. Lindsay earlier rejected a special panel's recommendations for a settlement.

Romney Rips Nixon on Viet

WISCONSIN RAPIDS, Wis. (AP) — Gov. Romney, easing his campaign-boostered throat with cough drops, has opened a Wisconsin offensive on former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

After days of soft-selling campaigning for the New Hampshire presidential primary, the Michigan governor aimed a direct challenge at Nixon, saying his Republican rival has no program for peace in Vietnam and advising voters to insist that any candidate for the White House produce one.

"I think the people of Wisconsin ought to insist that anybody asking your vote in this primary explain their basic approach," Romney said in a living room in Janesville.

"Nobody but George Romney in the capacity I occupy has come forward and said this is a fair basis for a peaceful settlement," Romney said in Kenosha. "The administration has no peace program. Mr. Nixon has no peace program other than to keep slugging it out."

Using menthol eucalyptus drops between speeches, Romney said U.S. involvement in Vietnam was a tragic mistake. "The President made the basic decision," he said, "but my opponent has been supporting him right down the line."

'SOUND, WORKABLE'

Romney told every audience his idea of a guaranteed neutralization of Vietnam and neighboring nations is a sound and workable proposal for peace.

Today, Romney moves on to Nebraska.

In Wisconsin Rapids last night, Romney answered Nixon's contention that his guaranteed neutrality proposal is not really a process that would lead to peace.

"My response to Mr. Nixon is this," he told more than 400 people at a Lincoln day dinner. "I don't believe we can get peace and I don't believe we can get leadership without providing a specific, clear, responsible alternative to the policies of the present administration."

Romney said his program meets that test. He also said:

"As for this Republican candidate for president, let the enemy be on notice here and now that a change in administrations in Washington will bring no lessening of American determination to see it through successfully in Vietnam. An honorable peace is what we all want."

RFK Hits War Again

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in his second attack on the Vietnam war in two days, said yesterday that the U.S. casualties last year had doubled those in 1966, while South Vietnamese casualties "declined during the same period."

2 Held in Trenton Holdup, Slaying

DETROIT (AP) — Two young Detroiters today were held on federal charges of murder and bank robbery in connection with the fatal shooting of a policeman after the holdup of a bank in suburban Trenton.

NATHANIEL SPIVEY

Orvis Frierson, 24, and Nathaniel Spivey, 19, both of Detroit, were ordered held without bond by U.S. District Judge Theodore Levin in Detroit yesterday.

They were charged in the death of Patrolman Robert Pare, 34, the father of five. Pare was shot twice in the chest after he stumbled on ice and lost his gun while arresting his slayer.

Police said Frierson, who had been captured by Pare, grabbed the gun and fired.

SPIVEY IN CUSTODY

Spivey was in custody of another policeman at the time.

Police said Frierson stole the policeman's squad car and sped through police barricades, hitting five cars.

Frierson was captured by Detroit police when the car went out of control on a Detroit expressway and crashed over an embankment.

Police said the two men, wielding knives, held up a branch of the Trenton State Bank at 11 a.m. Patrolman Thomas Vollerhausen said he saw two men back out of the bank and get into a convertible.

After hearing the robbery report on his police car radio, he gave chase. Pare, who was in another car, assisted him.

The two police cars forced the other off the highway after a high-speed chase.

Vollerhausen said he arrested Spivey, and Pare ran across the field to capture the other man. Police said that after Pare fell on the ice, the other apparently pounced on him and took the gun.

State AFL-CIO Urges Revocation of Broker License in Bias Law

LANSING (AP) — Thesent to state senators, Michigan AFL-CIO total representatives and AFL-CIO legislators Friday it favors a members statewide open housing law that would include revoking licenses of real estate brokers who housing should be on a non-discriminate in the sale or rental of property.

The labor organization which outlived its stand in a four-page position paper on current issues

"We are strongly in favor of the immediate enactment of tenants' rights and code enforcement legislation."

IN COMMITTEES

An open-housing measure now pending in the Senate does not include provisions for revoking brokers' licenses. Tenants' rights and code enforcement bills currently are in legislative committees.

"The AFL-CIO suggested that 'a great deterrent to discrimination in job opportunities would be legislation enacted requiring employers to report job openings with the employment service of the Michigan Employment Security Commission . . ."

The paper also said: "Educational appropriations should be met on an equitable basis with the emphasis shifting to taxation on profits. 'The outdated reliance on property millage votes to finance schools must be replaced with a statewide system of taxation based on ability to pay with reasonable efforts required of local school districts.'"

• Home owners should be relieved of "oppressive taxation," and the State Constitutions should be amended to allow a graduated income tax.

• Exemptions for the aged should be increased.

• Veterans' tax relief should provide that disabled veteran home owners be provided greater property tax relief.

• Stronger controls and stiffer penalties should be enacted for violation of air and water pollution standards.

Adjutant General Conflict Is Ended

LANSING (AP) — The Michigan National Guard was back to normal today — with only one adjutant general.

It was disclosed Friday that Acting Gov. William Milliken had issued an order Monday removing Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald from the retired officers list and reinstating him as state adjutant general with full pay and allowances.

The order, effective Feb. 5, and retroactive to Nov. 6, 1965, immediately relieved McDonald of his duties "under honorable conditions" and placed him back on the retired list.

News Briefs off the Wires

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — North Vietnamese army troops are preparing an attack on the south Laotian town of Saravane, which is about 60 miles west of South Vietnam and near the Ho Chi Minh trail, a Communist defector said today.

The defector, 2nd Lt. Nguyen Van Thanh of the North Vietnamese army, told a news conference in Vientiane the attack is planned for Monday. He said about 1,800 enemy troops already are in position.

'White Hats' Disbanded

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Official support of Tampa's "White Hats" youth patrol was withdrawn yesterday, breaking up a corps of young Negroes who banded together last summer to help end racial rioting.

Grecia's action came after three of the five White Hat leaders were charged with serious crimes.

'No Mideast Solution'

PARIS (AP) — Against a background of negotiations for Iraqi oil and French fighter-bombers, France and Iraq said today there can be no solution to the Middle East crisis until Israel evacuates the land she occupied in last June's war with the Arabs.

Air Service Resumed

HONG KONG (AP) — Civilian air service between Hong Kong and Saigon resumed today for the first time since fighting broke out Jan. 5 in the South Vietnamese capital and around Saigon's Tan Son Nhut airport.

Two of the four air carriers with runs to Saigon said they were resuming service.

24 Rescued After Leaving Sinking Ship

NEW YORK (AP) — Twenty-four persons were plucked from two lifeboats and a life raft in the stormy Atlantic today and brought aboard a rescue vessel after they abandoned their sinking freighter some 350 miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C., the Coast Guard said.

Some 10 hours after the skipper of the 313-foot Charny, out of Quebec, radioed he was abandoning ship, his crew of 22 and two passengers, a man and his wife, were reported aboard the Norwegian freighter Vinni, "all in good condition."

The Vinni was the closest vessel to the Charny when the distress call went out. Eight-foot seas and high winds still prevailed in the area, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

The Charny, built in 1948 and owned by North Shipping and Transportation, Ltd., was reported listing badly but still afloat.

NOT KNOWN

The Coast Guard cutter Abscon was en route to the scene. Where the crew and passengers of the Charny would be taken was not immediately known.

Soon after the first distress signal, radioed at 6:22 p.m. EST, Coast Guard planes and ships were dispatched to the area, dropping flares to dispel the ink darkness and enable the Vinni to maneuver into rescue position.

Drug Penalties Increased

LANSING (AP) — A bill increasing penalties for sale and possession of certain "minor" drugs won easy House approval Friday after a two-hour debate over the issue of mandatory minimum jail sentences in criminal cases.

The measure passed 79-9. It boosts the maximum penalty for abuses involving such drugs as barbiturates and amphetamines from 90 days and $100 to one year in jail and $500.

Violations involving such drugs as heroin and LSD, which are felonies, would not be affected by the House bill, which now goes to the Senate.

Rep. E. D. O'Brien, D-Detroit, raised the thorny question of minimum jail terms—once certain to appear often in this year's legislative session—with an amendment to the bill

Announcement of the appointment was made by Community House President Milton Coulson.

Guest is host of "On the Sunny Side of the Street" and "The Time Traveler," both daily WJR radio shows, and is a 30-year veteran of the newspaper and radio business.

He is also a corporate member of Boys' Clubs of Metropolitan Detroit and a member of the board of directors of Grace Hospital.

The Community House, located at 380 S. Bates, is a non-profit organization formed to promote civic, social, cultural and educational activities.

S. Tenney McGraw, 690 Kimberly, has been appointed local division chairman of the 1968 fund-raising campaign for Junior Achievement of southeastern Michigan.

Accord Ends Strike Against 3 Rail Lines

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen's strike against three major railroads has ended with the railroads agreeing to increase the size of 50 per cent of the train crews.

The railroads retained the right to negotiate the issue of the remaining crews.

The union struck the Missouri Pacific and the Texas & Pacific Monday and the Seaboard Coast Line the next day in a fight over the number of men assigned to operate trains.

The railroads called the walkout an attempt at featherbedding. The union said the matter of safety for trainmen and the public was involved.

BACK TO NORMAL

Railroad officials say they expect MOPAC operations to be back to normal by tonight.

Brotherhood President Charles Luna said the strike outcome "demonstrates that collective bargaining will work if the principals to the dispute are given the opportunity to work out their problems face-to-face without influence of others."

Curfew Quiets S.C. Violence

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — A dusk-to-dawn curfew and the exodus of students from two predominantly Negro colleges Friday night brought Orangeburg its first racial peace in five nights.

Previously three Negro students had been killed and 50 persons injured in violence touched off by attempts to integrate a bowling alley.

In ordering the curfew, Gov. Robert McNair blamed the trouble on "Black Power" advocates who represent only a small minority of the total student bodies at South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

In New York, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) referred to the violence in South Carolina as the "Orangeburg Massacre" and threatened revenge.

The committee's chairman, H. Rap Brown, said, "If we seek redress of our grievances through peaceful and so-called legal means, we will be shot down and murdered."

MINIMUM SENTENCES

Earlier in the day, O'Brien introduced a package of bills setting four-year minimum sentences for various felonies. He said judges who refuse to put criminals in jail are partly responsible for crime.

He pledged that if his crime package dies in the House Judiciary Committee, which appeared likely, he would offer amendments accomplishing the same purposes to other members' bills.

"If a man is a murderer and you let him stay out of jail, he will murder," O'Brien said. "If he is a rapist, he will rape."

Woman Guilty in City Slaying

A Detroit woman was convicted of manslaughter yesterday by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in the Jan. 1, 1967, slaying of a Pontiac bar owner.

The verdict was returned against Mrs. Margaret Overton, 40.

Judge Arthur E. Moore set a tentative date of Feb. 29 for her sentencing. A manslaughter conviction carries a maximum 15-year prison sentence.

After deliberating most of the day, the jury found Mrs. Overton guilty in the shooting of David B. Foster during an argument in his apartment at 473 S. Paddock. She had been married.

Foster, who then was the owner of Foster's Bar, 335 Wenden, was shot once in the chest with a 22-caliber pistol.

Mrs. Overton, a divorcee and former Pontiac resident, was arrested at her home in Detroit the day after the shooting.

Fight Enlivens GOP Event in New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Ed Foreman, a former Texas congressman, and Tom Clear, a candidate for New Mexico attorney general, were knocked down Friday night in a fist fight at a $100-a-couple Republican fund-raising dinner.

Standing 15 feet away as the punches were being thrown were the principal speaker at the dinner, former U.S. Rep. Walter Judd of Minnesota, and New Mexico Gov. David Cargo.

Foreman, the dinner chairman and master of ceremonies, was escorting Judd and Cargo into the ballroom when the fracas started. The governor said afterward, "Well, at least you've got to say we're fighters."

Foreman, now a Las Cruces, N.M., businessman, also was involved in an altercation with Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., just off the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives on Oct. 29, 1963.

Foreman and Clear, an Albuquerque lawyer, gave differing accounts of the fight.

Autopsy Eyed in Death of Orion Driver

Pontiac General Hospital officials said today an autopsy will probably be held to determine the cause of death of a Pontiac Township man who was killed in a crash after a Memorial Cemetery, Troy, by the William R. Hamilton Township Funeral Home, Birmingham.

John F. Ellison, 66, of 445 Heights died at the hospital about 5 p.m. after complaining of chest pains, according to Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Deputies said Ellison was apparently not seriously injured when the car he was driving was struck from behind by another car while standing at a stop sign on Odanah at M24.

Neither he nor William T. Cochran, 28, of 325 E. Shadolt, Lake Orion, was taken to the hospital from the scene.

Deputies said Cochran's vehicle skidded on the icy road surface when he attempted to stop behind Ellison's car.

Channel Study

The Corps' report will go to the Board of Engineers for Rivers and Harbors in Washington for review.

DETROIT (AP) — Two high-ranking officials of the Detroit Police Department have announced their retirements, effective in June. They are Eugene Reuter, 64, superintendent and first deputy commissioner, and District Inspector Arthur Sage, 58.

America Honors a Revered Son

Monday we observe the birthday of an American hero whose image gains luster with the passage of time. It was 159 years ago that ABRAHAM LINCOLN was born, a child of Destiny fated to become in a very true sense the savior of the United States of America.

But as with so many of history's immortals, LINCOLN's stature was little sensed by his contemporaries. Indeed, few national figures have been more vilified than he during his lifetime. It remained for future generations to frame him in true perspective and accord the Great Emancipator the acclaim and reverence justly due him.

LINCOLN

The precarious times in which

Lincoln was the Nation's leader were not unlike those that beset the Country today. Similarly, his convictions on national unity, on the sacredness of civil rights for ALL Americans, the rejection of mob violence to redress grievances and his equitable concept of "liberty," are as applicable now as they were 100 years ago.

It is for all Americans on the anniversary of this great patriot, statesman and humanitarian to pause for a few moments to meditate on the trials and tribulations endured by LINCOLN and the sublime faith by which he surmounted them.

God willing, the same faith and dedication on the part of his countrymen will guide them through the perils and uncertainty that today cast their shadows.

Waterford Township Jaycees to Eye Civil Areas

Highly commendable is the government-related program of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce which the organization has adopted as its 1968 activity.

Three different committees will involve themselves with community survey, crime study and governmental inspection.

It is self evident that the ramifications of the three areas command utmost consideration on the part of the citizenry if the American way of life is to flourish, let alone be preserved.

Not only is this of paramount importance in local communities, but on state and national levels as well. It is good to see those of the young generation so fully aware of the problems facing the Country and the assumption of responsibility for meeting their challenge.

We salute the Waterford Jaycees on their civil interest with best wishes for fruitful results.

Kansas Honors Memory of Distinguished Son

The late WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, whose 100th birthday is being observed in Kansas today, lived most of his life as editor and publisher of the Emporia Gazette. His newspaper's daily circulation never exceeded 7,000 in his lifetime. Yet when he died in 1944, a newspaper in London, England, published a 1,500 word story about his life, influence and character.

White's finest writing came in biting editorials that voiced the protests of rural America against the increasing dominance of a new industrial-urban society. "In this American government," he wrote in 1896, "paternalism plays no part. It is every man for himself. It is a free for all, and in the end the keenest, most frugal, and most industrious win." Later, however, he was to become a loyal supporter of Theodore Roosevelt's attack on the abuses of entrenched capitalist power.

One commentator of the WHITE era (WALTER JOHNSON in An American Primer) notes that WHITE's belief in the value of hard work, in the necessity of individual initiative, and in the importance of being successful are still deeply ingrained in the American conscience.

This is surely one of the reasons why Kansans planned a number of special observances in honor of the small-town editor with the "do it yourself" philosophy.

We Need More Women in Congress

By EVERETT DIRKSEN

We don't have to worry about the women who are serving in Congress because they are doing all right, as any red-blooded American male would have expected, had he given the matter any thought at all. There are, however, not enough women serving in Congress. Fortunately, such a state of affairs can be remedied.

DIRKSEN

House of Representatives when the voters of Oklahoma elected the country's first woman congressman, Mrs. Alice M. Robertson.

After 133 years, a woman took a seat in the all-male Congress.

How have women fared as legislators? While it may seem that national political service is a man's world, women have brought to Congress their practical minds, their great capacity for the hard work that a good congressman must perform to keep up with events, their high sense of patriotism and their wonderful ability to see through some of the dark camouflage that sometimes compels men to be pulled into cover over important affairs.

Clare Booth Luce, for example, delighted the nation and performed a great service indeed when one day she got up in the House as the Republican representative from Connecticut and made a speech on our foreign policy.

In that speech she thrust a single word into the national consciousness that was to place the critical situation into focus. The word was "globaloney." No man could have pointed more effectively to the problem in question.

Women have had to struggle in Congress to make the adjustment between their way of doing things and the way men do things.

They have succeeded in the man's world of Congress because they have perhaps worked harder to overcome any handicaps that may have stood in the way of their acceptance by their male colleagues.

Women take firm positions on public issues and they fight most convincingly to sustain those positions.

When Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine some time ago became impatient with some of the floundering that was going on in Congress, she made her famous "Declaration of Conscience."

It had an immediate appeal all over the country to both men and women and it served to help put Congress on firmer ground.

But there are not enough of these women in Congress. Out of a total House-Senate membership of 535 in 1968, there are only 12 women in the House and one — Sen. Smith — in the Senate.

That is less than three percent. We need more women in Congress.

The remedy, of course, is at the voting booth. If more women will seek national political office, and if more of the women voters — and the male voters, too — will support the ambitions of the women candidates, the ratio of men to women in the Capitol is bound to change, upward and for the better, too.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODY ISHMAEL

Odell Jackson found his faith and his purpose in life through music. He says: "I don't ever remember not playing the piano."

As a boy in Cincinnati, he played in church and Sunday school. Raised in a religious family where his grandmother and mother set the pace for his religious upbringing, he sang in the choir and was once a delegate to a Sunday school convention. Grade school teachers taught him about Beethoven and Bach. As he progressed he took to jazz music seriously and by the age of 14 he was playing with professional jazz musicians. It was a high life and he fell under the influence of narcotics.

Until he was arrested at age 30 for selling narcotics, Odell was an addict. In the Ohio State Penitentiary where he is serving his time, he continued with his music. Through the help of the chaplain he returned to playing sacred music and found it more a part of his life than jazz had been. He became director of the prison choir. Inspired by the chaplain, he rearranged some of the hymns and composed music for the Psalms and some hymn texts. One of his compositions has been published.

In prison Odell has found himself and a purposeful way of life. He says, "I think God had a hand in my life because I wasn't arrested, I was rescued."

Confident Living:

Build Up an Immunity to Fear

By NORMAN V. PEALE

"I can't keep my head above water. I feel swamped," a troubled man confided to a counselor at the religious psychiatric clinic where he had come for help.

He complained of being highly nervous and completely worn out. DR. PEALE could not sleep. He was hardly able to cope with his work and was increasingly irritable with associates.

others could swim; he could not. Water closed over his head; everything went black; he was choking... then someone managed to pull him out.

From that day on he would never go into the water. He was in mortal terror of it. He had long since dismissed this from his conscious mind—never thought of it anymore. But it had given rise to other fears now threatening to overwhelm him.

So here he was on verge of nervous exhaustion and imminent failure—when he should have all the vigor and efficiency of a man in his prime.

The doctor talked with him about faith. He had only intellectual belief. But he came to the point where he developed faith in depth.

Then the doctor went with him to the New York Athletic Club swimming pool. He sat beside him as he put his feet in the water, all the while talking faith ideas with him.

As the man happened to be somewhat overweight, the doctor also kept reminding him challengingly that swimming reduces the waistline. Little by little he learned to swim a few strokes, and the day came when he braved the deep end of the pool.

Eventually this man went back alone to the lake of his childhood experience and waded out. When his toes could no longer touch bottom he felt the old fear coming over him. But now he had the means of surmounting it. He had faith.

He sent up a prayer, "Lord, with your help I am going to swim across this lake and end this fear forever." And he did.

The Bible says, "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear (but) of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

The power referred to is the power of faith. Closely connected with faith is love. Trust and love go together, like the two sides of a coin.

Love God, have faith and, as the Bible also says, "perfect love casteth out fear."

Also, in shedding fear it is important to develop a sound mind. We pick up negative ideas, prejudices, superstitions, obsessions of all sorts. This mental clutter gives rise to fears.

By systematically replacing negatives with positives in your thinking you can in time banish every obsessive idea and have the boon of a sound mind. The clarity of a sound mind eliminates the shadow of fear.

Once you really make up your mind to conquer your fears, your soundness of mind will come to your aid. In a sense fear is like an infection.

Faith, love and a sound mind are healthy attitudes and they can build up in your mind an immunity to fear. So to shed fear build up a healthy form of thinking that will clear the fear infection from your thoughts.

Many 'Federal' Problems Can Be Handled Locally

A news item in The Pontiac Press stated that President Johnson has again asked for legislation to protect the consumer from fraudulent and deceptive practices in many areas. It seems that this could and should be a do-it-yourself project, especially at this time when there are so many more important things that need doing and not enough money to do them.

It is my belief that in many of the areas proposed by Mr. Johnson for Federal control and supervision the responsibility for such control and supervision properly rests with the states, local governments and individuals.

People Should Have Vote on Open Housing

I was furious with Mr. Hudson's statement regarding open housing: "It would be plain cowardice to vacate the Commission leadership role and turn over the responsibility to the voters." Hudson and other Commissioners are supposed to be representatives of the people to carry out the voters' wishes and not their own political ambitions. The only way to find out if the people want open housing is to put it to an open vote.

If we, as well as responsible Negro families, are forced to sell to the irresponsible because they have the closing costs, what will our neighborhoods look like in a few years? Our children will be raised with these children from the old neighborhoods. If the parents cannot keep their homes looking decent, how are the children being raised? Moving from one house to another is not going to change years of habits.

Let the people of Pontiac—all races—decide if we want open housing. If we go Communist, let us decide it. Actually it is the path to a Communist way of life—buy your home but let the City tell you to whom you can sell it, live where the City tells you to live and with whom they want you to live.

Teen Comments on Present 'Adult World'

To the leaders and adults: Next year I will graduate from high school, but I feel a little hesitant about going out into your world. The comment "why don't you grow up and quit acting like a child" should also pertain to adults and teenagers. A couple of three-year-olds could save the Pueblo crisis better than the people that are handling it now.

WORRIED TEEN-AGER

Views Elimination of Parking on Huron

The State Highway Department and City are going to remove all parking on West Huron from Wide Track to Perry. I have walked down Saginaw and seen the stores empty because of no parking on the main street. Many merchants moved to shopping centers or went out of business. Will merchants on West Huron face the same because of no parking on Huron from Wide Track to Perry?

Why don't they have three lanes of traffic in the morning, one eastbound on Huron and in the evening rush, 3 to 6 p.m., three lanes westbound the other way? After the last snow-storm there were many sidewalks in front of stores that people had to walk through snow and slush. Last time I was downtown the parking meter would not operate and as I approached my car a policeman had a ticket made out. I explained. A merchant said they came and rewound the meter at 9:50 or 10 a.m.

'Security of Citizens Is Basic to Progress'

Many of our political, religious, civic and business leaders of today sound un-American, unpatriotic, autocratic, socialistic and communistic. We will persevere and find reasoning, balance and intelligence out of all this conflict because we are men of good will and created in the likeness of God. Struggle and suffering bring strength, perfection and human dignity. The security of our people is of paramount value and basic to progress. This breakdown in law and order has been a most unfortunate situation and requires dedication and commitment for the betterment of our human relations and understanding.

The Open Housing Ordinance is unnecessary. The property owner cannot succumb to force in the management of his own affairs. The right to hold, own and control is basic and fundamental to our American way of free enterprise. It is to be safeguarded by all, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin. We still have a democratic form of government to preserve, not destroy. Our representatives Arthur LaFollette and Harvey Lodge are true to their election and are to be commended for their recent action.

Question and Answer

Isn't there a law in Michigan regarding restrooms in places of business like restaurants, drug stores, department stores, etc., where food is sold to be consumed on the premises?

WONDERING

REPLY

Mr. Cohen of the City Health Department tells us State law requires that toilets be furnished for the public at bars or taverns, and for employees of other establishments such as you mention. However, while it is the policy of most businesses to furnish such facilities to the public, there is no state law requiring it, according to Mr. Cohen.

Comments on Conditions of Roads in Area

All tire manufacturers should send $50,000 apiece to our area. Our pitted roads are making thousands of new tires necessary by spring. Does the rest of the nation suffer the same?

SORT OF MAD

Reader Gives Views on Centralized Schools

With an election in March for more school millage to build larger, more centralized schools, I protest any such move which would necessitate the busing of children. This is expensive and dangerous. When children have to rise early, sometimes in darkness, and stand on crime-infested streets in all weather waiting for buses, there should be a policeman at every bus stop. The crowded condition in school buses is a hazard to the children's health and safety. Besides the hazards of the road, the buses cause traffic congestion around consolidated schools.

In the past parents have made every effort to live close enough for their children to walk to school. Many problems are solved in this way. When most thinking people agree that decentralization of government and industry is desirable for the good of our Nation, why would we want to centralize schools? Some educators have advocated the one-room schoolhouse. Let's use a little common sense and less experimentation where our children are concerned.

'Suggestion Might Help Prevent Divorce'

Regarding the question of what can be done legally to prevent a divorce, instead of running first to a divorce lawyer people could contact someone specializing in interpersonal problems, such as a psychiatrist. He would see each spouse individually at first and jointly later. This approach, including techniques of psychotherapy and medication if indicated, has saved many couples the aggravations of a divorce settlement.

The argument that people cannot afford a psychiatrist is hardly valid. Many people are not aware that they have adequate insurance to cover this type of treatment. Drawing up divorce papers entails no small expense. If all efforts are in vain, then they know that they have tried to the fullest extent to get help for their marriage.

'Disagree With Criticism of Magazine Cover'

I disagree with "A Republican" who objected to the "hideous character" depicted on the cover of a current issue of a national magazine, as he reported in his letter. That "hideous character" has so debased the office of the President of the United States that he should be promptly impeached and evicted from the White House before he further debases the entire country, and before he leads it to the fate now facing Great Britain, if he has not already done so. That "hideous character" deserves nothing better than to have such a caricature on the cover of every national magazine.

'Taxpayers Will Protest New Assessments'

How anyone can sit in an office and decide the value of others' property without having seen it takes the nerve of a hardened politician. I have worked 50 years to pay for property only to face the prospect of losing it if this tax steal is carried out. My assessment was raised considerably and Mr. Johnson of the State Equalization Board tries to defend this practice.

I will not pay my taxes in their present amount without legal action and protest. I am sure thousands of others with similar grievances will do likewise. I voted for Gov. Romney and thought he did fairly well for a couple of years, but he has joined the ranks now as his actions on salary raises for state lawmakers and his "tax reform" clearly show.

MRS. JEROME S. FANGER

Today's Woman

Stars in Family Role

By JEANNE NELSON

Once glaring footlights and thunderous applause crowded the dreams of Shirley Messing Fanger. But, as will happen, the dreams were "upstaged" by marriage to fellow University of Michigan student, Jerry.

With the thrill of the theatre now just a memory, Shirley has turned her artistic talents to the more practical role of homemaker. In these duties, she shows the dramatic flair has never quite escaped her grasp.

The spacious home she and her husband planned over the last four years reflects a number of her own creative touches. Done in a romantic Spanish theme, several of the hardwood pieces (some discovered in friends' attics) were refinished by Mrs. Fanger. She also made all of the draperies and curtains, wallpapered and framed and matted the wall hangings.

ENTERTAINING

When she entertains for dinner, guests are assured gourmet fare.

Last year she and a friend even went into the catering business. Alas, the powers-that-be caught them up to their elbows in canapes, without a health department food license. Shirley's attorney husband closed down their Fanger kitchen shop in a hurry.

The evening before our scheduled interview, this vivacious brunette "whipped up" a little hostess ensemble, the likes of which would cost $50 in one of our area stores. She made it for less than $3.

Sloppy Housewives, Take Heed of What One Husband Is Thinking

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My wife is very careless about her appearance in the privacy of our home. She gets breakfast barefoot in her nightgown with her hair uncombed, which is not very pretty.

She knows better and can make herself strikingly beautiful if we're having guests or going out. It hurts to know she won't bother to make herself presentable for me.

Divorce is out because of the children, but believe me, it's crossed my mind. I start off my day in anger and disgust, and my mind (and eye) have begun to roam. She reads your column, Abby, so maybe if you print this, she'll see it, recognize herself and take the hint. Thank you.

HER HUSBAND
DEAR HUSBAND: I'll print it, but don't expect miracles. When something as important as one's marriage is at stake, the man who waits for his wife to read something in a newspaper column, "recognize herself and take the hint," may need more help than his wife.

Lay it on the line, man, lay it on the line. Maybe she thinks YOU don't care how she looks.

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I recently were guests for dinner at the home of some well-to-do friends. There were five couples altogether.

The hostess, called us to the table with this remark, "Soup I have only for the gentlemen." For dessert they served only coffee and some small squares of commercially-baked cake.

When I complained later to my host about the inadequate meal he replied, "In America it is customary for the guest to be satisfied with what the host offers him." I would like your opinion of such "hospitality."

CONFUSED FROM LUGANO
DEAR CONFUSED: To be "satisfied" with whatever is offered in the way of hospitality is universal — not of "American." I would be more critical of a "complaining guest" than an inadequate dinner. I happen to believe that it is what's on the CHAIRS, not what's on the TABLE that makes a successful dinner party.

DEAR ABBY: I am 52, but nobody takes me for a day over 40. After 27 years of marriage my husband decided he wanted a divorce, so I gave it to him. It was a blow to my pride, but the kids were all married and on their own, and I lived through it.

Children, love me and pets adore me. There isn't a dog I can't make friends with. Older men find me fascinating. I can get any man over 70 by snapping my fingers, but I can't seem to attract a man my own age. I have money in the bank, nice clothes, and a steady income. To get to the point, I want a man. What's wrong with me?

Early Arrivals Are Annoying to a Hostess

By ELIZABETH L. POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I've had a problem with guests arriving 45 minutes early. This happened twice in a row. At these times it took all of my will power to be decent about it.

I resented this mostly because I was deprived of my opportunity to refresh and relax just before they were expected. Is there some way a hostess can remind such people that they are infringing on another's privacy? I feel almost justified to be quite blunt.

Mrs. M.
Dear Mrs. M.: The only solution to the problem is, as you said, bluntness. I would simply say, "Please go into the living room and make yourself at home. I'm going up to dress and will see you a little later." Then take your time and get the few minutes relaxation you need.

SHOWER

Dear Mrs. Post: Since the prospective bride's relatives do not live near here, would it be considered proper for a shower to be given in the name of a friend at the home of the bride?

If this would be correct, how would the invitation be worded? — Jessie S.

Mrs. M.
Dear Jessie: As long as the bride herself does not issue the invitation or give the party, there is no reason it need not be held at her home. The invitations need not mention the fact that the address is the bride's home. A short handwritten note would be in the best of taste.

Dear Joan,
I am planning a kitchen shower for Marilyn (Jones) on Saturday, 7th at four o'clock at 400 East Lynn, Apt. 2B. Her kitchen colors will be red and white. I do hope you can join us.
Sincerely, Ginny (Foster)

State Press Club Confab Planned

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Women's Press Club will hold its winter convention here Feb. 16-18 for about 100 women reporters and editors from Michigan newspapers and other media.

Dick Evans, news editor of a Grand Rapids television station, will be the main speaker at an awards banquet.

Mary Gardner, the first and only distaff professor of the school of journalism at Michigan State University, also will speak.

Two workshops will be conducted. One by Norris Ingalls, Lansing State Journal staff writer, will be on photo-journalism. The other will be by George Hough III, an MSU journalism instructor, on interviewing techniques.

An August wedding is planned by Joan Elaine Mansfield and Jack Erwin Boynton. Their parents are the William Mansfields of Clarkston Road, Independence Township, and the Robert L. Boyntons of Birmingham. The bride elect is a graduate of Albion College where her fiancé is now a senior.

DEAR WANTS: The only thing "wrong" with a woman who wants a man is that everybody knows it — especially the men she wants. Be yourself, act your age, and broaden your contacts if you want to change your luck.

DEAR ABBY: What happens to a girl who dreams of being kissed passionately, but when a fellow tries to kiss her she won't let him?

DREAMER

DEAR DREAMER: Nothing.

Troubled? Write to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48066. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send it to Abby, in care of The Pontiac Press, Dept. E-600, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48066, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Chiefs Scalped by Saginaw; PNH Whips Walled Lake

Visitors at Central Roll Up 50-21 Margin at Halftime

By JERE CRAIG

"We were mentally ready for this game."

In view of the 76-56 whipping Saginaw's Trojans handed Pontiac Central Friday night, it isn't hard to guess which coach made which comment.

Playing as good a first half as any team could desire, Saginaw stunned PCH by rolling to a 50-21 lead in the first half, aided by a 14-field goal second quarter.

Coach Ken Gray saw the inspired Trojans run, jump and shoot at their best in the opening half. They hit 22 of 41 field goal tries and outscored their hosts, 30-12.

Central was down by two points at 2-0 and 4-2, but never came closer than six (11-5) thereafter. It was 22-9 at the break, and then the visitors exploded with a 14-0-22 gunning in the second period.

Oregon State Scares UCLA

By The Associated Press

The Oregon State Beavers and the Dartmouth Indians just weren't lucky. Otherwise they would have made college basketball history with two outstanding upsets.

The Beavers took UCLA and Lew Alcindor down to the last 60 seconds before the national collegiate champions and No. 2 in this week's Associated Press poll chalked up a 55-52 victory at Corvallis, Ore. Friday night.

At Hanover, N.H., the seventh-ranked Columbia Lions found it even tougher to down the underdog Dartmouth team. The Lions had to go two extra periods before winning 76-70 for their 10th straight.

In the only other game involving a team in the Top Ten, New Mexico State, No. 10, routed Arizona 93-75 at Las Cruces, N.M.

It was tip ins by the 7-foot-1½ Alcindor, who scored 20 points, that saved UCLA. A driving layup by Mike Markham pulled the Beavers within 52-50 with one minute left, but a free throw by Lucius Allen then accounted for what proved to be the winning point.

Vic Bartolome, the Beavers' 7-foot soph, played well against Alcindor and finished with 17 points.

FINALLY ROAR

Columbia and Dartmouth were tied 54-54 at the end of the regulation time and the Lions pulled it out. Heyward Dotson, with 22 points, and Jim McMillan, with 17, paced Columbia. Greg Pickering had 16 for Dartmouth.

Sam Lacey, who sat out the second half, sparked New Mexico State with 16 points. The Aggies led by 30 points at the half and their third team played most of the second half.

Kettering Finds Shooting Eye in Last Period

Waterford Kettering roared from behind in the fourth quarter last night to down Livonia Stevenson, 65-52, in a non-league basketball game.

The Captains trailed, 47-44, going into the last eight minutes, but sharpened their shooting eyes and tightened their defense to send the Spartans of the Inter-Lakes League to their eighth defeat in 13 games.

Bill Penzo pumped in seven points to lead the 19-5 final period. The victory was Kettering's eighth victory against two setbacks.

Penzo took game scoring honors with 22 points. Bob Lines chipped in with 16. This pair teamed with Gene Pankner to lead Kettering on the boards.

Visiting Stevenson, led by Jerry Dettler, Dave Mastny and Paul Pender, overtook the Captains in the third period after trailing, 30-28, at the half.

Kettering's next game will be a home court rematch with Waterford Township Tuesday night.

Ice Boats at Cass Lake

The International Ice Boat races slated for Sandusky, Ohio, were shifted to Cass Lake and are slated to have 100 boats from the Midwest and Canada today and tomorrow. The event begins at 10:00 a.m. Sunday.

But PCH—whose practice this week was limited to one session due to scheduling conflicts—benefited from its first half "workout" and cut into the Saginaw cushion.

With Alton Wilson gaining control of the backboards and scoring nine points, plus six each from Leonard Cole and Frank Russell, the Chiefs fought uphill and had the deficit cut to 60-48 midway through the last session.

After their blazing 50-point first half, Saginaw could manage only 10 points in the next 12 minutes against the hustling PCH defense.

But the Trojans regained their shooting touch to hit five straight and pull out to a 65-48 margin and the host Chiefs never threatened again.

Central grabbed 32 rebounds to 20 for Saginaw in the last half, cutting the final margin to 50-44 for the winners. The Trojans upped their Saginaw Valley league leading mark to 8-1.

Milestone for OLSM Coach

Eaglets' Mentor Gets 200th Win Topping WOLL

THE PONTIAC PRESS

SPORTS

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1968 B-1

They celebrated two basketball milestones at Orchard Lake St. Mary last night.

The Eaglets downed Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, 71-64, to give the Rev. John Rakoczy his 200th cage victory as head coach at OLSM.

It also earned the Eaglets a 12-0 Northwest Catholic League record. This was the first time OLSM has gone unbeaten in league play since the 1943-44 season.

It was the first year St. Mary was in the Catholic League and Fr. Rakoczy was a senior star on that team. He took over as head basketball coach at the beginning of the 1954-55 season. The Eaglets have lost only 63 since that time.

St. Mary hasn't been defeated since its opener with St. Ladislus and will carry a 12-1 record into the second division playoffs Sunday at University of Detroit Memorial Building against St. Gabriel at 5 p.m.

In other league action last night, Detroit St. Rita handed Pontiac Catholic an 88-85 setback.

HIGH SCORER

Tim Megge, Oakland County's top scorer, paced the Eaglets with 34 points. Greg Fiori connected for 22.

St. Mary, which won the NWCL title four straight times, appeared to have the contest well in hand after piling up a 42-27 halftime lead.

The Eaglets held a 62-46 advantage early in the fourth quarter, but the Lakers caught fire. They closed the gap to 65-60 with 2:30 to play. However, the Eaglets regrouped and made their basketball mark against the Lakers 12-0 since the two teams began meeting on the court during the 1961-62 campaign.

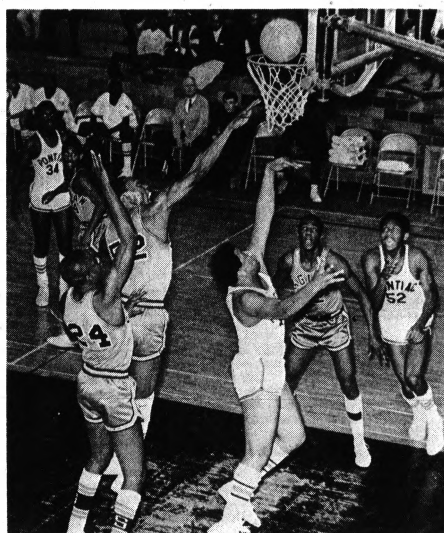

Megge, hitting from numerous places on the floor, collected 15 field goals in 24 tries and added four free throws.

The Eaglets continued on 29 of 62 field goal tries in their game for 47 per cent.

GOOD BALANCE

Five of the Titans hit in double figures for Pontiac Catholic, (48), which fell behind 47-32 at halftime and couldn't catch up.

Leading the way for the Titans was Butch Finnegan (24), followed by Gary Rodiger (14), Steve Hoffman (13), Sam Brady (12) and Herb Larsen (12).

Ready to move in for another rebound are Saginaw's George Forster (24) and Larry Pershly, plus the Chiefs' Rudy Churchwell (52). Von Nickleberry guards PCH's Frank Russell in the background.

Lahser Hands Mott Setback

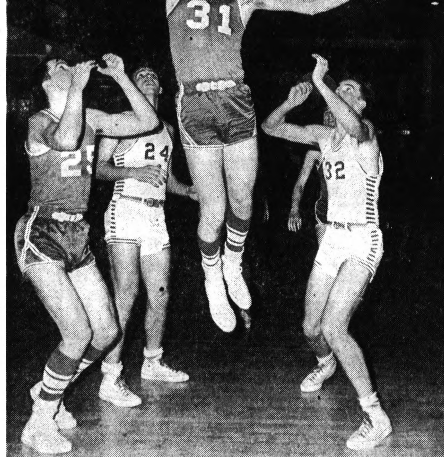

Bloomfield Hills Lahser applied a half court zone press in the second half last night and pulled away from Waterford Mott to a 71-54 victory.

It was the tenth loss for winless Mott in its first basketball season. Lahser, also in its initial season, now has a 10-3 record.

Mott battled the Knights on even terms in the first half which ended 28-all. But the half court press proved effective in the last two periods.

Scott Whiting and Bruce Gangnath paced Lahser with 14 points apiece. Roger Strader of Mott gained scoring honors with 19. Bill West played a strong board game for the Knights and Bruce Annett rebounded well for Mott.

T-Hawks After Four Straight

Boasting consecutive wins over the Battle Creek Braves and the Chicago Bombers, the Pontiac Tomahawks will challenge the same two North American Basketball League quintets tonight and tomorrow.

The Tomahawks invade BC Central High School's field house tonight for an 8 o'clock rubber match with the third place Braves.

The two units will enter the contest even for their season series and with the host Braves holding a one-game edge on the Pontiac pros in the NABL's Eastern Division standings.

Huskies Claim I-L Title; Farmington Tops Skippers

With one prize in hand, coach Dick Hall of Pontiac Northern may find it hard to keep the Huskies from thinking of an even bigger one.

In rolling past Walled Lake last night, 89-45, the Huskies filed claim on their seventh Inter-Lakes League basketball championship.

It was really only a half a claim. They chose their last two league contests, Waterford and Livonia Stevenson, and still tie for the title. Beating one of the two would permit them to rule the roost alone.

The next prize the Huskies may be looking at is the state Class A championship and the scramble for that gem opens early next month.

Before that, however, Hall will be trying to keep his charges sharp for Pontiac Central on Tuesday, and then Waterford, Kettering and Stevenson in that order.

WATERFORD FALLS

In another I-L contest last night, Farmington held onto second place with a 4-2 record by dumping Waterford's Skippers, 78-55.

Northern is now 10-0 — 6-0 in league competition — and en route to the school's best basketball campaign ever.

Both of those losses came in overtime — to Highland Park and Pontiac Central.

The Northern machine steamrolled Walled Lake in the first half last night and cruised in the closing half.

Hall pressed everyone into action and 10 players made marks in the scoring column.

Senior Bob Traylor, a 6-3 jumping-jack and one of the top preps in the area, turned in another sparkling performance for the Huskies. He hauled down 20 rebounds and contributed 18 points.

Guard Mike Clancy picked up 14, Stan Allison 11 and Don Hayward 10 to assist Traylor in the scoring department.

Allison, just back after recovering from a leg injury, scored all of his points in the fourth period.

For coach John Oswald and the Vikings, it was their eighth loss of the season and sixth in league play.

FADES QUICKLY

Waterford stayed with Farmington for one quarter (22-21) but the Falcons flew in front at halftime, 40-29, and the Skippers (5-6) didn't have enough firepower to catch up.

Randy Cleveland tossed in 18 points to spark the Farmington (5-8) victory, with help from Mark Lynott (12) and Mike Himmelspach (11).

Bill Foley came through with 19 points for Waterford and John Spanburg added 11.

Two Loops Tied, Third Round Showdown

Clarkston Posts Overtime Win

Northville, Lakers Shore W-O Lead

By FLETCHER SPEARS
Coach Dave Longridge of Northville has had pretty poor pay for working overtime this season.

Longridge and Northville's Mustangs have gone into overtime twice this season and suffered setbacks on both occasions.

The latest came last night and it took two overtime sessions before Clarkston could corral the Mustangs, 66-60.

Northville's defeat coupled with West Bloomfield's victory left the two tied for the top spot with 8-2 records in the Wayne-Oakland League.

West Bloomfield slipped past Brighton, 64-60. Bloomfield Hills shaded Livonia Clarenceville, 61-53, and Milford turned back Holly, 66-49.

NEEDED WIN
"We needed this one," said a happy Clarkston coach Bud McGrath after the Wolves had turned in their second overtime victory of the season. They earlier knocked out Bloomfield Hills.

Clarkston and Northville wound up regulation play in a 58-tied game. Neither scored in the first overtime as Clarkston missed one shot and Northville failed to connect on three tries, but the Wolves found the range in the second extra session to put it away.

Senior guard-forward Mark Erickson, who paced the Wolves with 24 points, scored three baskets in that second overtime to sew it up.

Helping Erickson with the scoring were Gerry Ostrum (12) and Eric Hood (11). Center Randy Pohlman turned in a strong performance for Northville by scoring 20 points and helping the Mustangs to a 63-35 edge in rebounding.

West Bloomfield came from behind the fourth quarter to snap a two-game losing streak.

After taking a 33-25 halftime lead, Brighton stormed back to lead after three periods, 45-43, but the Lakers staged a rally for their own and took the lead for good with 50 seconds left on a field goal by Larry Anding, 62-60. Two free throws by Dave Brown with six seconds left iced the game.

Gary Hannefeld led the Lakers with 19 markers while Anding finished with 14. Dave Brooks (15) and Randy Needham (13) sparked Brighton.

Down 29-16 at halftime, Bloomfield Hills poured in 45 points in the second half to down Clarenceville. Howard Richmond came off the bench and hit seven of nine shots in the second half and wound up with 16 points to pace the Hills attack.

Scoring as Mark Giegler ran into foul trouble and talked only two points, but his teammates took up the slack and routed Holly.

Dave Baker and Doug Powers scored 18 points apiece to lead the attack.

HAPPY MOMENT—Happy with the way things are going at the moment is this part of the crowd that was on hand to watch the Pontiac Northern-Walled Lake wrestling match last night. Walled Lake took the first two bouts giving the home crowd something to cheer about, but PNH came on to win the match, 30-14.

Walled Lake Victim

Huskie Matmen Win

Powerful Pontiac Northern events, but PNH came on to registered its 27th straight match in its wrestling victory last night, in-sion, during the team of another week at the top of the list in the state high school wrestling ratings.

Victim of the potent PNH 3-2, in the 98-pound match, and squad last night was the Vikings of Walled Lake, the No. 8 ranked team in the state, by a score of 30-14.

Some 2,000 fans — the stands were filled — were on hand to watch both the junior varsity and varsity matches.

PNH, the defending state champion, also took the junior varsity meet, 27-13, halting a record of 36 straight victories by the junior Vikings.

Walled Lake, losing for the second (9-2) time this season — the other loss was to Birmingham Seaholm — started strong by winning the first two

West Bloomfield came from behind the fourth quarter to snap a two-game losing streak.

Kimball Upsets Southfield Five

Birmingham Seaholm Falls to Ferndale

Southfield's title express was derailed by Royal Oak Kimball last night in a Southeastern Michigan Association contest.

The Knights of ROK came on strong in the fourth quarter to knock off Southfield, 55-54, and force a three-way tie for the lead in the SEMA.

In other games, Ferndale (6-2) grabbed a share of the top spot along with Southfield (6-2) and Kimball (6-2) by disposing of Birmingham Seaholm, 51-46, while Berkley surprised Hazel Park, 55-51.

Southfield, ranked eighth among the state's Class A basketball teams, headed into the fourth quarter against Kimball with a 42-35 lead, but Kimball opened up with a fast-break offense and pulled out the win.

Les Little sparked Kimball with 18 points, while John Schuler led Southfield with 20.

BEIG LEAD
Ferndale took a 32-19 lead at intermission and held on to down Seaholm (2-10). Leon Wells led Ferndale with 21 points.

Jack Benning tossed in 15 points to spark the Berkley (7-8) victory. Ron Kujawa led Hazel Park (5-8) with 25. Berkley led Southfield, 25-22.

Title Tilt Near in O-A League

Lake Orion, Romeo Post Easy Victories

Well before the season opened, coach George Elias of Lake Orion and Larry Randle of Romeo made it plain their teams would have to be reckoned with in the Oakland A League this year.

Both were right, and they're likely to settle who gets what next Friday on the Lake Orion floor.

Both won easily last night in the tuneup for the big match. Orion (10-1) a game ahead of Romeo (8-2) in the O-A chase, disposed of Avondale (58-44), while Romeo ripped Clawson, 78-59.

In the other O-A contests, Utica upset Troy, 46-37, and Rochester halted Madison, 66-46.

Orion had to put together a solid second half in a come-from-behind effort that produced the Dragons' ninth straight victory.

TRAILS AT HALF
Down 24-26 at intermission, the Dragons gained a 14-4 edge in the third period and rolled the rest of the way. Bill Foss triggered the attack with 20 markers and 67 Gary Mize tossed in 12.

Bob Burt and Duane McLaughlin led Avondale (1-10) with 12 apiece.

Rochester, winning four of its last six games, raised its lead to mark 7-4 and over-all record to 8-5.

The Falcons took a 33-21 lead at intermission and were never in trouble. Mike Phillips filled in 22 points to set the pace. Ed Havrelic kicked in with 19 for Madison (5-6).

"It was our best game in awhile," said coach Randle after Romeo had ripped Clawson with a 47-point second half.

SHARP GAME
Donnell Craft, a 6-5 forward who is rounding back into form after a midseason letdown, came through with 17 points and he hauled in 24 rebounds.

Clyde Cushingberry led Romeo with 25 markers and Dan Burzynski added 15.

Utica's slow-down tactics knocked Troy (7-4) off stride and the result was the Chiefs' fourth win of the season.

Playing a deliberate game, Utica led at halftime, 25-15, and took only eight shots in the second half and made six of them.

Robin Dilady led Utica with 15 points.

PLAYER INJURED

Highland Lakes, already victim of numerous injuries this season, suffered another last night when Larry Hojna suffered a possible broken ankle.

The Highlanders hit well, making 44 per cent of their shots, but Concordia hit better — 55 per cent — and pulled away easily in the second half after Hojna left.

Injuries Haunt United States' Olympic Team

Austria's Olga Paal First in Downhill; Scandinavians Win

GRENABLE, France (AP) — A record-breaking blonde from Helsinki dashed American hopes for another speed skating medal cup in the Winter Olympics today and the injured U.S. ski team lost teenager Karen Budge before the start of the women's downhill race, won by Austria's Olga Paal.

The United States finished out of the medal running in all three of the day's early events — the women's 1,500-meter speed skating test, the girls' downhill and the men's 15-kilometer cross-country ski race.

Finland's Jaika Justonen set an Olympic record of two minutes, 22.4 seconds and Dutch girls finished 2.3 in the speed skating event. Miss Paal, a shapely 20-year-old brunette, won the women's 1,500-meter race in 2:00.4.

Austrian teammate Christl Haas with a brilliant 1:41.33 clocking in the downhill. Norwegian lumberjack Harald Gronningen took the 9.3-mile cross-country grind in 47 minutes, 54.2 seconds, outdistancing defending gold medalist Eero Manta of Finland.

Middle Budge, 18-year-old downhill star from Jackson, Wyo., suffered a dislocated shoulder in a freak mishap on the practice course about an hour before the start of the race on the slopes above Chamrousse.

It was highly improbable she would be recovered in time to go in the giant slalom next Thursday, final women's Alpine event of the Games.

Jerri Elliott and Jim Barrows, both of Steamboat Springs, Colo., were injured in spills during the men's downhill Friday.

Miss Budge, who had been the top U.S. medal hope in the downhill, was testing her ski wax on the practice slopes when a male skier from another team cut across her path. She came to an abrupt stop and the man but then tumbled.

Newcomer Kiki Cutter, 18-year-old college coed from Bend, Ore., made the best showing of the three U.S. girls who started the race. She finished 17th with a time of 1:44.94.

Investigation Planned 'M' on Big 10 Carpet

CHICAGO (AP) — The Big Ten, rocked last winter by the Illinois slush fund scandal, personal investigation of a student paper's allegations.

The Michigan Daily sent the conference assistant commissioner John Dewey, and Wolverine athletic officials into action with claims of M athletes received discounts, free passes and parttime jobs at Ann Arbor business places and theaters with the knowledge of coaches.

It was conjectured whether the case had any parallel of the Illinois slush fund scandal which lost three coaches their jobs, including the head football coach, Bo Schemm.

Dewey, speaking in behalf of Commissioner Bill Reed, now in Chicago, said he would investigate the case.

Additionally, a former pharmacy owner said he gave discounts, free meals and parttime jobs to athletes in the year period from 1958 to 1967.

Dewey explained the Big Ten owners of one restaurant, a men's shop and two theaters admitted giving discounts and free merchandise, including movie passes, annually, to Wolverine athletes.

Sophisticated defense doesn't always succeed against a sophisticated declarer. Jais and Trezel played on the French club team that won the 1960 Olympiad, but there was one hand in their match against one American team when their sophistication failed to pay off.

When North put down the dummy, he remarked, "I hope we haven't missed a grand reason to play diamonds before slam." The nameless American expert who was declarer replied, "I know all about those grand slam bonuses."

North and the referee laughed. Trezel, sitting West, joined in the laughter while Jais, joined East, remained silent and looked very grave.

South went into a huddle after playing the ace of hearts and called for dummy's king of diamonds. When Trezel showed out, Jais turned to South and asked, "How did you know?"

South replied, "I always play queen over the jack," and proceeded to make his slam. At the other table, France also reached six no-trump. The French South gave the hand the classic play of trying the club finesse at trick two. Then, after winning the second heart, he played out all his spades and clubs in an effort to obtain a count. Finally, he went wrong in diamonds and was down three.

After the match, which France won rather handsily, in spite of this hand, when he was accepting congratulations Jais asked once more, "How did you know?"

The American tried to shrug it off, but Jais knew that he must have had some very good reason to play diamonds before he had to do so. The reason was that Jais was obviously trying to look like a man with the queen of diamonds, while Trezel was trying to look like a man who didn't have it, and the American just decided to believe both of them.

LBJ Foreign-Aid Bid Called Lowest

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's proposal for $3.5 billion in new foreign aid funds Thursday was billed by aides as the lowest such request ever following a record low appropriation last year.

That view is supported by official figures if only the Foreign Assistance Act, the main legislation for dispensing American economic and military help around the world, is considered. They show annual decreases over the last few years.

But they are not all of it, and any accountant who had access to everything would be under national security wraps, at least as to details.

Arms aid, for instance, which used to be part of the package, is now an item in the nation's own defense budget and much of it is secret, with great sums unquestionably set up for such areas as South Korea, South Vietnam, Laos and Thailand.

The over-all aid program has become increasingly diffuse in recent times with the establishment of various new means of dispensing assistance abroad.

The total includes money for the Agency for International Development under the main law, Food for Freedom farm shipments, contributions to international banks, and spending for Peace Corps workers overseas.

The most solid total figure is from William S. Gaud, aid administrator, who calculates it at $4.26 billion in the fiscal year 1969 presidential budget, up from $3.98 billion this year.

Johnson's foreign aid message gave little note to the supplemental foreign assistance activities, though he did speak of expanding the World Bank's inter-national Development Association, contributing to the Asian Development Bank's new special fund, an annual contribution to the Inter-American Development Bank's special economic aid and military aid since operations fund and further the overseas effort started with standby funds for that bank's the Marshall Plan for European recovery after World War II.

SEPARATE LEGISLATION

Johnson's proposal for the Fiscal Year starting next July 1 included $2.5 billion for economic assistance and $420 million for arms, under the Foreign Assistance Act. Another $100 million under this act would be appropriated for arms to South Korea in the current fiscal year. Still another $120 million in arms aid will be sought in separate legislation to replace the Pentagon's revolving credit sales fund for arms, which Congress has ordered abolished effective June 30.

According to official sources, following are the foreign assistance program figures, showing

Fiscal Year	Econ. Aid	Arms	Total
1967	$7.37	$7.37	$6.45

Your Child's Heart—2

Exercise Wards Off Disease

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the second article in a three-part series on how children can be taught to form good health habits to reduce the risk of heart attack in later life. The author also comments on heart transplant operations.)

By PAUL DUDLEY WHITE, M.D.

Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn. BOSTON — One rose does not make a summer, and one isolated instance does not constitute medical proof.

Nevertheless, when I contemplate the role of physical activity as a deterrent to cardiovascular disease, I frequently think of the late Clarence DeMar, a fellow Bostonian known as "Mr. Marathon." He completed more than 1,000 long-distance races, the last one a year before his death from cancer at the age of 70.

DeMar's coronary arteries were found, at autopsy, to be from two to three times larger than the usual normal diameter, and to be relatively free of obstruction.

A free public health forum entitled "Heart Attack Survival 1968" and sponsored by the Michigan Heart Association's Oakland County Heart Information Center and the Pontiac Press will be held at 8 p.m. Feb. 16 at Pontiac Northern High School.

I am not suggesting that middle-aged or elderly men embark upon careers as long-distance runners. But I am pointing out that exercise — regular exercise, and as strenuous as is consistent with one's physical condition — is well-established as a major factor in delaying or avoiding heart attacks and strokes.

Numerous studies have been made, for example, British bus drivers seated behind wheels versus British bus conductors who made endless trips up and down the stairs of double-deck vehicles.

MORE SURVIVED The step-climbers had fewer heart attacks; moreover, when they were stricken, their survival rate was higher.

Much the same story repeats itself when we compare sedentary postal clerks with mailmen who walk their rounds, or desk-bound railway clerks with railway switchmen. The clerks suffered a coronary mortality rate almost double that of their more active coworkers.

In my own medical practice, which bridges a half-century, I have seen the same cause-and-effect results in literally thousands of cases.

Returning now to the main focus of this series, namely, the high importance of establishing in children good heart and health habits, I should like to place major emphasis on this point: Parents can pass on to their children no richer legacy than a securely implanted habit of regular and meaningful exercise.

VEGETATING EXISTENCE

On the other hand, they do their offspring a great disservice when they encourage them to ride, not walk; to use escalators, not stairways; to stretch out on a beach, not swim; to drive the lawnmower, not push it—in brief, to lead a soft and vegetating existence.

Go to any school as the opening bell rings, and you will see what I'm talking about. Most children will arrive by bus. Others will emerge from private automobiles. As mother sees it, "Junior's physical stamina should not be overtaxed."

What mother fails to realize is that Junior isn't being done a favor. Junior is being set up for a life of slothfulness—one which may end years ahead of time. In short, Junior should be encouraged to get as much exercise as possible.

Also, communities should arrange to establish safe paths for school children to walk or cycle a mile or more to school from home and back each day instead of being enclosed in a school bus. This is a much-to-be-desired health goal as well as an economy for the town.

ACCUSTOMED STRESS

The well-accepted fact is that almost no amount of accustomed exertion, however strenuous, can harm a healthy heart. But over the years an established pattern of physical inactivity can have unpleasant consequences. These consequences can be seen every day — in sickrooms and hospitals.

It is quite impossible to overstate the importance of developing in children an interest in physical activities which they can carry through adult life.

One way to promote physical fitness is to choose an activity in which the entire family can participate—biking, badminton, Bowling, hiking, skiing, tennis and even golf or calisthenics.

In this the children are not the sole beneficiaries. The parents, too, taste the real joys of living and, very possibly, prolong their own lives.

2nd Wave of Red Attacks Expected

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top U.S. officials expect Communist forces to launch a second wave of attacks against the cities and towns of South Vietnam but say enemy losses in the first offensive have been so heavy the new onslaught should be weaker.

This assessment is based not only on their reported casualties but on their failure to hold any of the 36 provincial capitals and 64 district towns they invaded. Officials said that on the basis of information from prisoners and documents captured in the VC intended to hold many population centers and to set off a popular uprising. Presumably they would have the same objective in the expected new drive.

OUT OF TOUCH?

The hope of the Communist leadership in Hanoi of starting an uprising against the Saigon government is described as puzzling. Some high U.S. officials say Hanoi may be out of touch with reality of the war in the South—at least as U.S. leaders

They concede that the leadership may be 10 per cent wrong in its judgments about how the conflict is going but argue that the leadership in Hanoi may be as much as 80 per cent wrong.

Authorities believe U.S. and South Vietnamese forces are in a better state of readiness for the expected second wave than they were for the first.

This is attributed partly to the high state of alert on which these forces are being kept and partly to the heavy enemy casualties, which Washington authorities put at 25,000 killed and 5,000 captured.

POSITIVE SIDE

On the positive side of the intensive fighting so far, beginning with the Communist surprise assaults during the Vietnamese lunar New Year holiday, officials say no South Vietnamese military units defected to the enemy. There were no popular uprisings in support of the Communist invaders in the cities and towns, no population centers have been held by the Communists, and the Communists suffered high manpower losses, these officials said.

On the negative side are cited the problems of refugee care and rebuilding and the damage to the pacification program—designed to secure hundreds of South Vietnamese population centers and win the people's loyalty to the Saigon government by giving them security. One critical question still unanswered, it is said, is whether the dominant reaction of the South Vietnamese people to the Communist attacks will be anger or fear. Anger, it is pointed out, could strengthen popular opposition to the VC and North Vietnamese while fear would work in favor of the Communist cause.

Officials say they had known well in advance some kind of Communist offensive in the South was in the making but conceded the timing was not known.

INTELLIGENCE FAILURE?

There has been criticism that the surprise nature of the attack demonstrated an intelligence failure on the part of U.S. and South Vietnamese military leaders. From some high officials in Washington this criticism gets an angry brush-off with a response that precise tactical intelligence on the timing of enemy strikes is almost impossible to obtain.

Discussing this issue with newsmen, some officials complain bitterly about what they call probing for things to criticize in the allied conduct of the war.

Shoji Screens Dress Window In Den Carpeted In Aqua And Gold Twist

Pontiac Press Photos by Edward R. Noble

Wooded Site Chosen For The Reider Thoresons' Home In West Bloomfield Township

Oriental Simplicity Holds Home's Key

By JODY HEADLEE

Home Editor, The Pontiac Press

Oriental simplicity is reflected throughout the Reider Thoresons' hillside home in West Bloomfield Township.

The spacious living room appears even more spacious with its wall of windows overlooking the wooded slope. To leave their window walls open to the living picture of scurrying squirrels, skittish rabbits and an ever-moving kaleidoscope of birds, the Thoresons decided against draperies.

Instead, folding rice paper shoji screens are used. The screens remain open unless the sunlight glare becomes too great.

Paneled in Gaboon wood (African mahogany), the room features a ceiling of pickled knotty pine and carpeting of muted aqua.

The curved sectional repeats the same muted aqua. Outsize leaves of burned sheet metal dominate the side wall above the sofa, further emphasizing the Thoresons' love of the outdoors.

BRONZE DUCKS

Japanese bronze ducks on a solid cherry burl accent the square black table serving both the sectional and the shades of aqua and moss green striped chair.

A matching square table is used across the room beside the antique srttee of hand-decorated oak. Throw pillows of gold and bittersweet highlight the settee's bittersweet cushion.

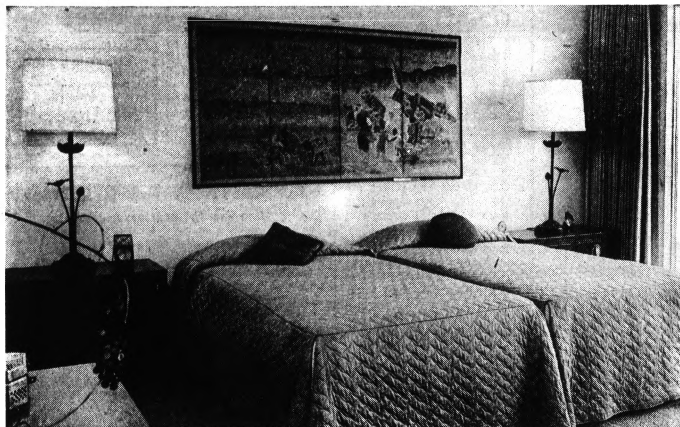

A crystal replica of a Norwegian ice bird is displayed on the table's surface.

"Legend has it," said Mrs. Thoreson, "that the Norwegian fishermen would find these little birds frozen from the winter cold. The men would then take the birds home where once warmed by the fireside, they could again fly."

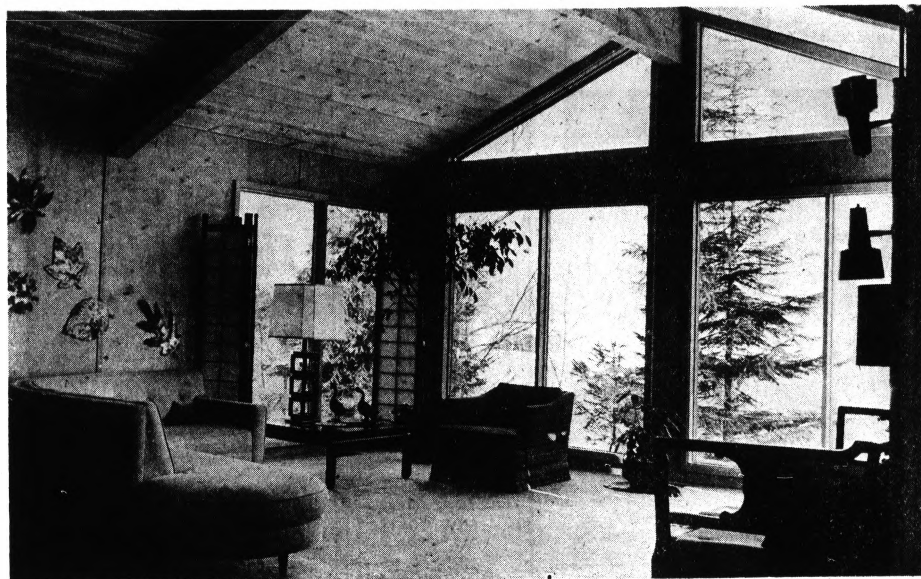

In the master bedroom, window walls again incorporate the outdoors into the over-all decorating theme.

White walls reflect the aqua tones of the room's carpeting and draperies and appear tinted with a muted aqua. The tapestry above the twin beds is Japanese.

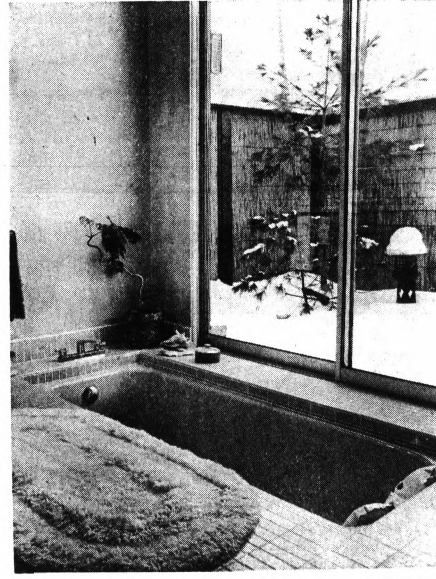

It depicts shell gatherers as they pick up the shells washed up on the sand following a bad storm. Muted colors predominate against a gold and black background.

Clay Pot Takes on New Look

By EARL ARONSON

You hardly would recognize the red clay pot that has such a warm spot in the gardener's heart. But there it was, in newly fashioned antique glory at the recent National Arts and Antiques Festival in New York's Madison Square Garden.

A handsome, sculptured red clay pot designed by Faith Sussman caught the eye. The artist says she finds clay a strong, earthy substance and uses it directly as it is dug. Artists Sussman also designed a red clay branch pot, a tall urn with triangles protruding from its side. It would enhance many kinds of flowers.

Garden landscapers had a field day. There were Etruscan and Roman terracotta figures, marbles, stone sculptures and lanterns from Pakistan, India, Nepal, Siam and Japan.

To bring color to your winter window, we suggest:
Shrimp plant, a small compact, evergreen with cream and purple flowers featuring large coppery bracts often bigger than flowers.

Lantana, blooming freely in late fall. They have flat-topped, varicolored flowering heads two inches in diameter. The plant related to verbena, prefers 70-degree temperature.

NO SUN
Watermelon Peperomia, also known as Watermelon Begonia, has round, (pointed at tip) leaves with stripes, and likes humidity. This plant requires no direct sun. A north or east window is a good spot for it.

Another foliage plant is baby tears, bearing hundreds of delicate tiny leaves. These occasionally are small white blossoms. It will do well in semishade of an east or west window.

Glacier Ivy is a branching, bushy plant that thrives in shade. It has many dark green, star-shaped leaves etched with cream-colored or off-white borders.

Tree Philodendron is a popular houseplant with escalloped leaves. It does well in little light, isn't fussy about its soil, the humidity or the temperature.

Governmental Appraisers Elect Officers, Alter Name

Vincent N. Lee of 29069 Fernhill, Farmington Township, was recently elected vice president of the Association of Governmental Appraisers (AGA).

Other officers elected were Joseph Toy, president; Milton talk on "Market Value in Ann Arbor — Present and Future." For further information contact Lee at his home address.

Members of the AGA recently voted to break away from its parent California Chapter to concentrate more on local problems, trends and influences, and to strengthen the organization's effectiveness by having qualified local appraisers guide the growth and educational pursuits of the chapter.

In keeping with this action, the organization changed its name from The Detroit Metropolitan Chapter of the Society of Governmental Appraisers to the Association of Governmental Appraisers.

Any governmental employee (state, city, county, township or federal) in any real estate activity is eligible to join the association.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 6:30 p.m. at the Collins Irish Selear, 1260 Griswold, Detroit. Robert Davis, president of the Ann Arbor Real Estate Board will talk on "Market Value in Ann Arbor — Present and Future."

A Dimensional Effect Is Favored

The modern trend in wood architecture is to display all dimensions of solid lumber—thickness as well as width and length. The material thus appears in the same pure light as it grows in the forest.

With modern patterns of Southern Pine paneling, there is a slight spacing between panels so that their thickness is visible. This creates a pleasing three-dimensional impression with striking shadows and highlights.

Framework Is Important

Most adult Americans are long accustomed to the sight of homes in framing stages where the skeletal structure of joists, studs and rafters is briefly exposed before finishing materials are applied.

Familiarity, of course, breeds indifference. The spectacle may register briefly in mind but seldom in memory. Once framing lumber has disappeared beneath floors, between walls and above ceilings, it's easily and quickly forgotten.

That is why many persons — including some home buyers — fail to realize that the great majority of houses commonly identified as "brick" are, in fact, wood-frame. Behind the facade of masonry veneer are wood 2 x 4s which support and constitute the real strength of the walls.

Regardless of external composition, most U.S. homes have structural frameworks of lumber. While this wood works unseen, it has far reaching surface impact. Safety, resistance to wear, degree of maintenance, heating and cooling costs, resale value — all are controlled to a surprisingly large extent by the quality of framing lumber.

Strength, nail holding ability and stable size are the prime essentials to look for in joists, studs, rafters and other framing elements.

Since the framework holds the house together, safety depends in the final analysis on the firmness with which framing lumber holds and grips its fastenings. Some species of lumber are blessed by Nature with greater nail-holding power than others. These differentials should be carefully weighed before selecting species.

It's equally important to use lumber which has been properly seasoned (dried) and pre-shrunk before being surfaced to final size. Nails will not loosen in pre-shrunk lumber as they do when unseasoned framing dries in service.

Tilt Toaster Saves Needed Space

A built-in toaster that tilts out of the kitchen wall when in use can be a convenient space-saver. As with other kitchen "heat" appliances, adjacent counters and backsplashes of fireproof ceramic tile will eliminate the possibility of heat damage.

Bottled Water Gains Public Favor

By-DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International

Cool, clean, fresh water when you're thirsty — one of life's greatest pleasures, if you stop to think about it.

And, increasingly these days, more families are stopping to think about it, what with headlines on pollution, fluoridation, pesticides, chlorine, low water tables and the like.

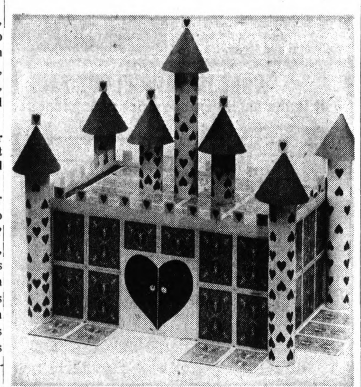

All communities have water that is safe to drink. But not all provide water that is good to drink.

What to do about it if your water is among those not so palatable as you'd wish? Presently in the United States, one out of every 600 homes uses bottled water for drinking. In some areas the percentage is far higher. In Southern California, for instance, it is estimated one of seven homes uses bottled water.

John G. Scott, president of Mountain Valley Water Co., Hot Springs, Ark., says the home market for bottled water is growing rapidly. He says "people are becoming more particular about the type of water they drink."

"People are becoming increasingly dissatisfied with the taste, smell or appearance of their tap water. Even well, pond or cistern water varies in degree of pollution — dissolved iron, sulphur and bacteria — and must constantly be tested.

"All of us," Scott noted,

CENTERPIECE — Card parties are ace-high entertainment. If you are looking for a centerpiece for your next party, you might like to try a card castle. This decoration can be completed in only a few hours. To obtain the full-size card castle centerpiece pattern number 441, send 75 cents (add 25 cents per pattern for airmail delivery) by coin, check or money order to: Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif., 91409.

"have visited other localities and found strange-tasting water. We sometimes don't realize that a stranger, visiting our community, might also find our own water distasteful. We get used to it, and consider it almost normal.

"At one time local Chambers of Commerce vied with each other as to which community was growing faster or which community had the largest population.

Today," he said, "the emphasis is on which city has the cleaner air and the largest supply of fresh water."

Pollution of waterways in the United States has increased some 600 per cent since 1900, Scott said. He noted President Johnson's recent statement that every major water system in the country is polluted.

He reported that a recent government study showed the country consumes 300 billion gallons of drinking water a day. By 1980, the study estimated the nation will need up to 600 billion gallons daily.

Within three years, Scott pointed out, 80 per cent of the nation's population will live in urban metropolitan regions where nearly all the population growth now occurs.

By the end of the century, the eastern seaboard from Boston to Washington will be one continuous city of 72 million people. The current population of the area is around 42 million.

The problem, according to water experts, is to produce and deliver enough potable water to meet the demands of our metropolitan communities, which occupy only two per cent of the land but contain 50 per cent of the population.

As a result, bottled water today is a $65 million industry, Scott said, and by 1970 sales are expected to reach the $100 million mark.

Scott's firm is the largest national distributor of bottled mineral water from one source — the spring at Mountain Valley, Ark. The company sells more than 10 million bottles annually — a gain of some 2,000 per cent since World War II.

Insulate

Lower Heating Cost

Of all insulation efforts to reduce winter home heating costs, installation of storm windows probably is the most effective, reports Carl Edwards, Extension agricultural engineer with Michigan State University.

Mrs. Rosalie J. Hawley, Extension home economist in Oakland and Wayne counties.

Without storm windows, a house which has single pane window glass can give off a lot of heat and take in a lot of cold from having large areas exposed.

With storm windows, however, the air space between the storm sash and the window acts as insulation, retarding flow of heat from the inside and cold air infiltration from outside. Storm windows provide most protection on north and west windows.

Moisture problems can be alleviated by use of storm windows, too. Cold windows, like a glass of ice water, tend to condense moisture on their surface when water vapor is present in the air.

By keeping the regular window warm, the storm sash helps prevent this condensation, helping keep a comfortably high humidity in the home. When the regular window is somewhat loose, moisture will leak through and condense on storm sash.

In addition to saving fuel and reducing condensation, use of storm windows makes areas near windows more comfortable. They can also reduce the operating cost of summer air conditioning, Edwards advises.

Steps to Take to Save Work

Baths Assume Luxurious Look

The bathroom has become one of the most luxurious rooms in the modern home, with dressing, bathing, exercising and even resting areas.

New appliances and accessories add to the comfort and luxury of these activities, while ceramic wall and floor tiles provide colors, shapes, sizes and textures to create any decor desired.

Before you begin painting, take a screwdriver, remove all the hardware from your doors, windows, walls and loosen lighting fixtures.

This will make your painting job easier and will give you an opportunity to clean and polish the metal so it will look like new!

Once polished the metal appearance may be preserved by spraying with a clear aerosol coating.

Open Garage Doors Neighborhood Blight

A new ailment is affecting Open garages which show neighborhoods all over the their untidy interiors to the country.

It's called "open-garage-itis," unfavorable impression of the neighborhood to prospective new residents.

Its first symptoms are open garage doors revealing messy, cluttered garage interiors — blemishes on the otherwise quite, attractive residential landscape.

So reports The Alliance Manufaturing Co. pany, whose findings are based upon data from the field furnished by their research department for "Genie" automatic garage door opener systems.

It's amazing, Alliance states, how many people carefully lock their front and back door yet innocently forget to close their garage when leaving home. The open garages thus present an unsightly scene to neighbors and passers-by.

UNSLIGHTLY

Once left open, these garages have a disturbing tendency to discharge their contents over lawns and driveways, spilling toys, tools, supplies, lumber and sports equipment out front for every passing neighbor to see.

The "acute" stage of "open-garage-itis" is reached, when there's more of what's supposed to be inside on the outside.

This new "disease" apparently shows no favor to old or new neighborhoods, large, small or medium houses, east, west, north or south. Elegant homes in prestige suburbs are as likely to become infected as more modest tracts along the throughways.

Close your garage door before you drive away, and improve the neighborhood's looks. And, as a secondary thought, this simple action prevents burglaries and thefts, too.

Tile Variety Sure to Please

Ceramic tile floors are not so square as they used to be. American manufacturers have seen to that. They have enlarged their selections of sizes, shapes, textures and colors, making tile a multiple-unit surfacing with an unlimited range of design possibilities.

Quarry tiles — once available only in earthen-red, six-by-six squares — now come in more colors, sizes and shapes than ever before and can be used to add authenticity to the popular new Spanish, natural and country look motifs.

A Moorish curved quarry tile floor, for example, is the chic finish touch to a room with a Mediterranean air about it.

And then there are the glazed and unglazed ceramic mosaic tiles and the new extra-duty glazed wall tiles. Also available in many shapes, sizes and colors, these are suitable for use in implementing any modern or contemporary decor.

In any room inside the house and on floor areas outside, ceramic tile is not only pretty, but also practical. It stays clean and new-looking with little more than an occasional once-over with a damp mop, resists scratches and wear, and will last a lifetime.

Plant Pines in Landscape

Grow pines and firs in your home landscape for yearlong foliage, says Walter Haldeman of the Pennsylvania State University.

According to a Penn State correspondence course on ornamental trees, a single tree of good selection does more to adorn your property than a dozen shrubs.

Native to northern United States, White Pine grows open and spreading, making an attractive tree at maturity. Needles come five in a bundle, two to five inches long, soft and pliable. The plants grow well in any kind of soil and need no pruning.

Austrian Pine is another side-spreading evergreen. The foliage of dark green, five-inch needles covers the branches densely. The roots go deep, plants do well in any kind of soil and are winter hardy as far north as the Great Lakes.

White Fir is a pyramidal evergreen with needlelike foliage having a bluish cast. Plants are hardy into southern Canada. It's the most popularly grown fir.

Northern Fir grows with dense, dark green foliage. A specimen on the Penn State campus is a stately tree.

To learn more about trees for your home landscape, study the Penn State correspondence course. You enroll by sending your name and address with $1.50 to Trees, Box 5000, University Park, Pennsylvania. There are no other charges and a course copy comes to you by mail.

Art Center for Dabblers

If there are budding Rembrandts, youthful dabblers or aging amateurs in the family, a home art center, or studio, will help to keep the rest of the house from turning into a psychedelic happening.

If there aren't, the painting center or studio may help to produce them.

There should be adequate light and storage, easy access to a water supply, counter space and room for an easel. Surfacing walls, floors and counters with an easily maintained material like ceramic tile will cut down time spent on nonartistic cleaning chores.

AN OPEN LETTER:

Over the years, thousands and thousands and thousands of dollars have been lost in the home building industry as a result of VANDALISM, THEFT AND MALICIOUS MISCHIEF by vandals, grown-ups and small children to homes under construction. These losses are reflected in higher construction costs to you, Mr. and Mrs. Home Buyer!

As competitive businessmen, we are constantly striving to deliver our product to you at the lowest price possible, but we are fighting a losing battle. Frankly, we need your help. You can help us by instructing your children not to trespass on new homes under construction. They could be seriously injured.

If you see an unauthorized person entering or leaving a home under construction displaying this sign, would you please call the police or the builder? By doing this we can save both money and much unpleasantness.

HARBINGER OF SPRING—Mrs. Marshal Cariveau of 1179 Polvadera, Commerce Township, points to the yellow blossom of her English primrose. Primroses of this type normally bloom in April but February's warm spell hoodwinked the ground hugging rocky plant into thinking it was spring.

Youth Market UpBuilders Optimistic

Young adults hold the keys to the situation seems to be improving everywhere.

Charles Ewing, associate editor of national Journal of Home Buildings in Washington, D.C., said recently "The increasing income potential of young adults is causing optimism among builders."

He said high interest rates in 1966 with a "tight" money policy hurt home building. "It was the worst year in 20 years for home builders, but

"I understand building permits have been up about seven per cent over last year. That is a good indication things are looking up," Ewing said.

He was gathering material for an article comparing new homes in different parts of the nation.

STEADY PROGRESS

"People in home building tell me conditions have been steady this year and builders seem enthusiastic," Ewing said.

Young adults got most of the credit.

"They have grown up in fairly prosperous times. Many of them have been used to nice homes and they don't want to move into something not as good," he said.

Elderly People Appreciate Privacy

So grandma is coming to live in your house. It means a bit of squeezing, but —. But no. The greatest need of an elderly person is privacy, to be able to get away from the turmoil natural in a home with children. So don't squeeze. If adding a new bedroom and bath is out of the question, look into the possibility of converting existing space: a dining room, attached garage, den, basement or attic.

Although you could spend as much as $5,000 on such a remodeling job, an entirely adequate one is possible for a few hundred dollars. Whatever that can double as extra rooms.

Frayed nerves and bickering are inevitable when three generations are living together. But when she (or he) can have privacy when it is needed, a grandparent's presence in a home can have a very beneficial effect on youngsters.

Mark edges of lawn and driveway with tall spikes to prevent gouging of turf by snow removing equipment.

"There were about 1.8 million marriages in the United States last year. Of course, newlyweds may not rush out to buy a house right after the honeymoon, but home ownership becomes more attractive when children arrive.

"And most of these couples will have a child during the first two years of their marriages," Ewing said.

Ewing said the homes he has seen offer many new features not available a few years ago—such as indoor-outdoor carpeting and paneled garages that can double as extra rooms."

Ancient Egypt
Popularized Bath

We hate to admit it, but the bathroom is not an American invention.

The Pharaohs of Egypt had separate 4-room apartments for every favorite in their harem. Each consisted of a bedroom, living room, clothes closet and bathroom.

Home-Garden Extravaganza to Open

Gardeners who are interested in flexing their green thumbs should circle next Saturday on their calendars. The 50th annual Home, Furniture and Flower Show will open at 1 p.m. in Cobo Hall.

Show hours are from 1 to 11 p.m. daily with the exception of Sundays. Feb. 18, the hours will be 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. and Feb. 25, from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

"The Garden Path" sponsored by the Michigan Horticultural Society (MHS) will feature model gardens, terrariums, bottle gardens, bonsai, hanging baskets and a flower arrangements section.

Sure to be of interest to the children as well as adults will be a family of gerbils on display.

Mrs. Lloyd L. Hughes, executive secretary, of MHS describes gerbils as "appealing little animals, smaller than hamsters, soft and furry, with bright, curious inquiring eyes and friendly dispositions."

FLOWER ARRANGEMENTS

Handling the details for the flower arrangements section is the Women's Exhibition Committee of the MHS. Title of this year's display is "Gwen Frostie's Michigan."

Gwen Frostie is a Michigan naturalist-artist who is known throughout the world for her block prints of the animals and birds that come to her studio windows. Miss Frostie is also a poet and author of several books. Her studio and printing plant are located in Benzonia, Mich.

James C. Scott of James C. Scott Associates, landscaping architects, 27 W. Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills; and W. Emory Wellman of Detroit will be responsible for staging the show.

Among the area women assisting Mrs. William J. Boustead, general chairman of the flower arrangements section, are Mrs. Werner M. Hoy of Bigelow Road, Springfield Township; cochairman with Mrs. Walter O'Connell of Detroit, in charge of placing.

Section chairmen serving from the area are Mrs. Frederick Balman of Old Homestead Road. Mrs. Donald Sovel of Tredwell Drive, Mrs. Harold A. Brown of Mayfield Drive and Mrs. Frank Carlee of Jacksonville Road, all of Farmington Township.

Others are Mrs. Frederick Trickey of Orchard Hill Drive, Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Arthur Cox of Charns Road, Commerce Township; and Mrs. Warren Kruger of Cedarcroft Drive, West Bloomfield Township.

Participating organizations with the MHS include Cranbrook Institute of Science, Ford Arboretum, Greenfield Village and Henry Ford Museum; University of Michigan Botanical Garden, Mayor's Committee to Keep Detroit Beautiful and Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan, Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

Others are Michigan State African Violet Society, Detroit; Chrysler Society, Detroit; Detroit Rose Society, Metropolitan Rose Society, Michigan and Detroit Audubon Society, Detroit.

In addition, the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation will create a formal garden accenting green and gold to commemorate the golden anniversary of the show.

A $20,000 grand prize will be awarded the ticket holder estimating the number of nails in a plastic model house displayed in the building section of the show.

The annual building, decorating and garden extravaganza is sponsored by the Builders Association of Metropolitan Detroit, with co-sponsors including the Michigan Horticultural Society, the Allied Florists Association, the Florists Transworld Delivery and the Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation.

AREA FIRMS

Among the area participants in the colorful exhibit are the Loeffler Cut Stone Co. of 1675 S. Telegraph, the Auburn Oaks Nursery of 3820 W. Auburn, Avon Township; the City Wide Landscaping Co. of 4255 Beech, Troy; the Northland Landscaping Co. of 23500 Middle Belt and Christopher Green Landscaping

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)

North Vietnamese army troops are preparing an attack on the South Lantian town of Saravane, which is about 60 miles west of South Vietnam and near the Ho Chi Minh trail, a Communist defector said today.

The defector, 2nd Lt. Nguyen Van-Tham of the North Vietnamese army, told a news conference in Vientiane the attack is planned for Monday. He said about 1,800 enemy troops already are in position.

'White Hats' Disbanded

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Official support of Tampa's "White Hats" youth patrol was withdrawn yesterday, breaking up a corps of young Negroes who banded together last summer to help end racial rioting.

Greece's action came after three of the five White Hat leaders were charged with serious crimes.

'No Mideast Solution'

PARIS (AP)—Against a background of negotiations for Iraqi oil and French fighter-bombers, France and Iraq said today there can be no solution to the Middle East crisis until Israel evacuates the land she occupied in last June's war with the Arabs.

Air Service Resumed

24 Rescued

After Leaving Sinking Ship

NEW YORK (AP)—Twenty-four persons were plucked from two lifeboats and a life raft in the stormy Atlantic today and brought aboard a rescue vessel.

The ship, the crew of 24, listed freighter some 550 miles off Cape Hatteras, N.C., the Coast Guard said.

Some 10 hours after the skipper of the 313-foot Charny, out of Quebec, radioed he was abandoning ship, its crew of 24 and two passengers — a man and his wife — were reported aboard the Norwegian freighter Vinni, "all in good condition."

The Vinni was the closest distress call went out. Eight-foot seas and high winds still prevailed in the area, a Coast Guard spokesman said.

NOT KNOWN

The Coast Guard cutter Abasco was en route to the scene. Where the crew and passengers of the Charny would be taken was not immediately known.

Soon after the first distress signal, radioed at 6:22 p.m. EST, Coast Guard planes hovered over the area, dropping flares to dispel the inky darkness and enable the Vinni to maneuver into rescue position.

Drug Penalties Increased

LANSING (AP) — A bill requiring a violator to spend at least 30 days in jail for possession of certain "minor" drugs won easy House approval.

Earlier in the day, O'Brien introduced a package of bills over the issue of mandatory minimum jail sentences in criminal cases.

The measure passed 77-9. It boosts the maximum penalty for abuses involving such drugs as barbiturates and amphetamines from 90 days and $100 to one year in jail and $500.

Violations involving such drugs as heroin and LSD, which are felonies, would not be affected by the House bill, which now goes to the Senate.

Woman Guilty in City Slaying

A Detroit woman was convicted of manslaughter yesterday by an Oakland County Circuit Court jury in the Jan. 1, 1967, slaying of a Pontiac bar owner.

The verdict was returned against Mrs. Margaret Overton, 40.

Judge Arthur E. Moore set a tentative date of Feb. 29 for her sentencing. A manslaughter conviction carries a maximum 15-year prison sentence.

After deliberating most of the day, the jury found Mrs. Overton guilty in the shooting of David B. Foster during an argument in his apartment at 473 S. Paddock. She had been charged with second-degree murder.

Foster, who then was the owner of Foster's Bar, 335 Wessen, was shot once in the chest with a 22-caliber pistol.

Mrs. Overton, a divorcee and former Pontiac resident, was arrested at her home in Detroit the day after the shooting.

Curfew Quiets S.C. Violence

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — A dusk-to-dawn curfew and the exodus of students from two predominantly Negro colleges Friday night brought Orangenburg its first racial peace in five nights.

Previously three Negro students had been killed and 50 persons injured in violence touched off by attempts to integrate a bowling alley.

In ordering the curfew, Gov. Robert McNair blamed the trouble on "Black Power" advocates who represent only a small minority of the total student bodies at South Carolina State College and Claflin College.

In New York, the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) referred to the violence in South Carolina as the "Orangenburg Massacre" and threatened revenge.

The committee's chairman, H. Rap Brown, said, "if we seek redress of our grievances through peaceful and so-called legal means, we will be shot down and murdered."

Foreman, now a Las Cruces, N.M., businessman, also was involved in an altercation with Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-Tex., just off the floor of the U.S. House of Representatives on Oct. 29, 1963.

Foreman and Clear, an Albuquerque lawyer, gave differing accounts of the fight.

America Honors a Revered Son

Monday we observe the birthday of an American hero whose image gains luster with the passage of time.

It was 159 years ago that ABRAHAM LINCOLN was born, a child of Destiny fated to become in a very true sense the savior of the United States of America.

But as with so many of history's immortals, LINCOLN's stature was little sensed by his contemporaries. Indeed, few national figures have been more vilified than he during his lifetime. It remained for future generations to frame him in true perspective and accord the Great Emancipator the acclaim and reverence justly due him.

Lincoln

Lincoln was the Nation's leader not unlike those that beset the Country today. Similarly, his convictions on national unity, on the sacredness of civil rights for ALL Americans, the rejection of mob violence to redress grievances, and his equitable concept of "liberty," are as applicable now as they were 100 years ago.

It is for all Americans on the anniversary of this great patriot, statesman and humanitarian to pause for a few moments to meditate on the trials and tribulations endured by LINCOLN and the sublime faith by which he surmounted them.

God willing, the same faith and dedication on the part of his countrymen will guide them through the perils and uncertainty that today cast their shadows.

The precarious times in which

Kansas Honors Memory of Distinguished Son

The late WILLIAM ALLEN WHITE, whose 100th birthday is being observed in Kansas today, lived most of his life as editor and publisher of the Emporia Gazette. His newspaper's daily circulation never exceeded 7,000 in his lifetime. Yet when he died in 1944, a newspaper in London, England, published a 1,500 word story about his life, influence and character.

White's finest writing came in biting editorials that voiced the protests of rural America against the increasing dominance of a new industrial-urban society. "In this American government," he wrote in 1896, "paternalism plays no part. It is every man for himself. It is a free for all, and in the end the keenest, most

By EVERETT MCKINLEY

We don't have to worry about the women who are serving in Congress because they are doing all right, as any red-blooded American male would have expected, had he given the matter any thought at all.

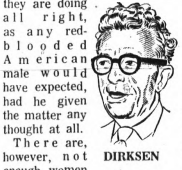

There are, however, not enough women serving in Congress. Fortunately, such a state of affairs can be remedied.

Men have dominated the field of public service ever since the Constitution was drafted. In that far-off day women in the 13 original states lived under the ignoble idea that they were to perform household duties, bear children, of course, and not to be heard.

Then, when the Constitution was amended, women were given their rights, with virtual equality with men, with independence, and with the right to vote.

Men, however, continued to dominate by using their vote to place men in public office instead of at least a few of the newly emancipated women.

Then gradually, here and there over the land, women were voted into local office as members of city councils, as members of state legislatures, and finally into the U.S.

DIRKSEN

House of Representatives when the voters of Oklahoma elected the country's first woman congressman, Mrs. Alice M. Robertson.

After 113 years, a woman took a seat in the all-male Congress.

How have women fared as legislators? While it may seem that national political service is a man's world, women have brought to Congress their practical minds, their great capacity for the hard work that a good congressman must perform to keep up with events, their high sense of patriotism and their wonderful ability to see through some of the dark camouflage that sometimes compels men permit to be pulled into cover over important affairs.

Clare Booth Luce, for example, delighted the nation and performed a great service indeed when one day she got up in the House as the Republican representative from Connecticut and made a speech on our foreign policy.

In that speech she thrust a single word into the national consciousness that was to place the critical situation into focus. The word was "globalism." No man could have pointed more effectively to the problem in question.

Women have had to struggle in Congress to make the adjustment between their way of doing things and the way men do things.

They have succeeded in the

The POWER of FAITH By WOODIE ISHMAEL

Odell Jackson found his faith and his purpose in life through music. He says: "I don't ever remember not playing the piano."

As a boy in Cincinnati, he played in church and Sunday school. Raised in a religious family where his grandmother and mother set the pace for his religious upbringing, he sang in the choir and was once a delegate to a Sunday school convention. Grade school teachers taught him about Beethoven and Bach. As he progressed he took to jazz music seriously and by the age of 14 he was playing with professional jazz musicians. It was a high life and he fell under the influence of narcotics.

Until he was arrested at age 30 for selling narcotics, Odell was an addict. In the Ohio State Penitentiary where he is serving his time, he continued with his music. Through the help of the chaplain he returned to playing sacred music and found it more a part of his life than jazz had been. He became director of the prison choir. Inspired by the chaplain, he rearranged some of the hymns and composed music for the Psalms and some hymn texts. One of his compositions has been published.

In prison Odell has found himself and a purposeful way of life. He says, "I think God had a hand in my life because I wasn't arrested, I was rescued."

Build Up an Immunity to Fear

By NORMAN V. PEALE

"I can't keep my head above water. I feel swamped," a troubled man confided to a counselor at the religious psychiatric clinic where he had come for help.

He complained of being highly nervous and completely worn out. He could not sleep. He was hardly able to cope with his work and was increasingly irritable with associates.

Through several interviews the psychiatrist noticed a significant recurring thought-pattern. Repeatedly such phrases were used as, "Things seem to engulf me . . . It's like I was about to go under in a sea of difficulties . . . I have the impression of darkness closing over me . . ."

The doctor surmised that the disturbance could have developed from residue of fearful experiences years before.

He explored the man's history and found that, when this man was a small child, he and some older children capsized a boat on a lake. The others could swim; he could not. Water closed over his head; everything went black; he was choking . . . then someone managed to pull him out.

From that day on he would never go into the water. He was in mortal terror of it.

He had long since dismissed this from his conscious mind—never thought of it anymore. But it had given rise to other fears now threatening to overwhelm him.

So here he was on verge of nervous exhaustion and imminent failure—when he should have all the vigor and efficiency of a man in his prime.

The doctor talked with him about faith. He had only intellectual belief. But he came to the point where he developed faith in depth.

Then the doctor went with him to the New York Athletic Club swimming pool. He sat beside him as he put his feet in the water, all the while talking faith ideas with him.

As the man happened to be sensitive about being somewhat overweight, the doctor also kept reminding him challengingly that swimming reduces the waistline. Little by little he learned to swim a few strokes, and the day came when he braved the deep end of the pool.

Eventually this man went back alone to the lake of his childhood experience and waded out. When his toes could no longer touch bottom he felt the old fear coming over him. But now he had the means of surmounting it. He had faith.

He sent up a prayer, "Lord, with your help I am going to swim across this lake and end this fear forever." And he did.

Fear is the most devastating of all afflictions. Great is its power. But the power of faith is greater. Indeed it is the greatest power in the world. Fear cannot withstand it. So a sure way to shed fear is to develop faith and depend on it—live by it.

Many 'Federal' Problems Can Be Handled Locally

A news item in The Pontiac Press stated that President Johnson has again asked for legislation to protect the consumer from fraudulent and deceptive practices in many areas. It seems that this could and should be a do-it-yourself project, especially at this time when there are so many more important things that need doing and not enough money to do them.

It is my belief that in many of the areas proposed by Mr. Johnson for Federal control and supervision the responsibility for such control and supervision properly rests with the states, local governments and individuals.

People Should Have Vote on Open Housing

I was furious with Mr. Hudson's statement regarding open housing: "It would be plain cowardice to vacate the Commission leadership role and turn over the responsibility to the voters." Hudson and other Commissioners are supposed to be representatives of the people to carry out the voters' wishes and not their own political ambitions. The only way to find out if the people want open housing is to put it to an open vote.

If we, as well as responsible Negro families, are forced to sell to the irresponsible because they have the closing costs, our children will be raised with these children from the old neighborhoods. If the parents cannot keep their homes looking decent, how are the children being raised? Moving from one house to another is not going to change years of habits.

Let the people of Pontiac—all races—decide if we want open housing. If we go Communist, let us decide it. Actually it is the path to a Communist way of life—buy your home but let the City tell you to whom you can sell it, live where the City tells you to live and with whom they want you to live.

Teen Comments on Present 'Adult World'

To the leaders and adults: Next year I will graduate from high school, but I feel a little hesitant about going out into your world. The comment "why don't you grow up and quit acting like a child" should also pertain to adults and leaders. A couple of three-year-olds could settle the Pueblo crisis better than the people that are handling it now.

Views Elimination of Parking on Huron

The State Highway Department and City are going to remove all parking on West Huron from Wide Track to Perry. I have walked down Saginaw and seen the stores empty because of no parking on the main street. Many merchants moved to shopping centers or went out of business. Will merchants on West Huron face the same because of no parking on Huron from Wide Track to Perry?

Why don't they have three lanes of traffic in the morning, one eastbound on Huron and in the evening rush, 3 to 6 p.m., three lanes westbound the other way? After the last snowstorm there were cars lined up in front of stores that people had to walk through snow and slush. Last time I was downtown the parking meter would not operate and as I approached, my car a policeman had a ticket made out. I explained, a merchant said they came and rewound the meter at 9:50 or 10 a.m.

We will persevere and find reasoning, balance and intelligence out of all this conflict because we are men of good will and created in His likeness. Struggle and suffering bring strength, perfection and human dignity. The security of our people is of paramount value and basic to progress. This breakdown in law and order has been a most unfortunate situation and a firm dedication and commitment for the betterment of our human relations and understanding.

The Open Housing Ordinance is unnecessary. The property owner cannot succumb to force in the management of his own affairs. The right to hold, own and control is basic and fundamental to our American way of free enterprise. It is to be safeguarded by all, regardless of race, color, creed or national origin. We still have a democratic form of government to preserve, not destroy. Our representatives Arthur Law and Harvey Lodge are true to their election and are to be commended for their recent action.

I am against the destruction of the woods behind our house. It is a playground by itself and they are tearing it down. I wish the owner would see what this woods means to the kids of our neighborhood.

Question and Answer

Isn't there a law in Michigan regarding restrooms in places of business like restaurants, drug stores, department stores, etc., where food is sold to be consumed on the premises?

WONDERING

REPLY

Mr. Cohen of the City Health Department tells us State law requires that toilets be furnished for the public at bars or taverns, and for employees of other establishments such as you mention. However, while it is the policy of most businesses to furnish such facilities to the public, there is no state law requiring it, according to Mr. Cohen.

Open House for Girls, Parents

Junior and senior high school girls and their parents are invited to the open house of the hall of DeLima Junior College, 775 W. Draher, Oxford.

Open house is planned for three Sunday afternoons between the hours of 2 and 5 tomorrow, and on Feb. 18 and 25.

Student hostesses will serve refreshments during the open house in the student lounge and escort visitors through the residence and around the campus.

The new dormitory housing 152 students was built at a cost of over $575,000.

The exterior, faced in white split-rock brick sets off the Georgian Colonial architecture from the woodlands and pine groves on campus.

The building is situated high above one of the many lakes on the property.

Each room houses three students. Rooms are arranged in suites with adjoining bath facilities for six.

Student rooms are furnished with awl-to-wall carpeting and appointed with walnut furniture accented with satin-finish aluminum trim.

Each student has her own studio bed, desk, dresser and wardrobe closet. The residence also provides living accommodations for four residence counselors.

BRIGHT COLORS

Carpeting throughout the building is in bold hues of orange, blue, green, gold and beige. Interior decor was planned by Sister M. Francesca, chairman of the Fine Arts department at the college.

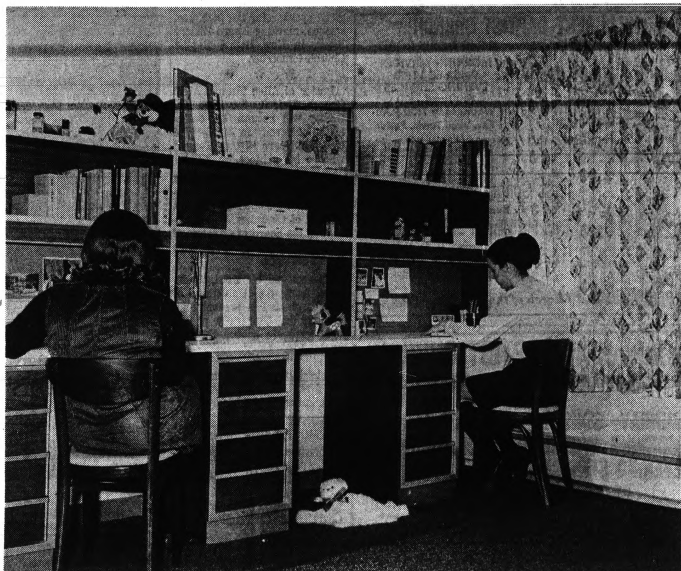

In addition to the student and counselors' living quarters, new residence hall contains student lounge, activity and TV room, laundry facilities, book store, faculty lounge, six classrooms and a home economics laboratory on the ground floor.

Student enrolled at DeLima Junior College come from 16 states, the Virgin Islands and three foreign countries.

DeLima is the only two-year woman's college in Michigan. It is conducted by the Oxford Dominican Sisters.

DeLima offers college transfer programs as well as two-year terminal curricula in liberal arts, modern language, commerce, fine arts, and home arts and family living.

Enrollment is projected at about 500 students during the 10-year development program now underway at the 150-acre campus.

STUDY—Michele Meo of Bloomfield, N.J. (left) and Margaret Howell of Grosse Pointe take time out from preparations for the open house at DeLima Junior College near

Bottled Water Gains Public Favor

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS
United Press International

Cool, clean, fresh water when you're thirsty — one of life's greatest pleasures, if you stop to think about it.

And, increasingly these days, more families are stopping to think about it, what with headlines on pollution, fluoridation, pesticides, chlorine, low water tables and the like.

All communities have water that is safe to drink. But not all provide water that is good to drink.

What to do about it if your water is among those not so palatable as you'd wish? Presently in the United States, one out of every 600 homes uses bottled water for drinking. In some areas the percentage is far higher. In Southern California, for instance, it is estimated one of seven homes uses bottled water.

John G. Scott, president of Mountain Valley Water Co., Hot Springs, Ark., says the home market for bottled water is growing rapidly. He says "people are becoming more particular about the type of water they drink."

"People are becoming increasingly dissatisfied with the taste, smell or appearance of their tap water. Even well, pond or cistern water varies."

"All of us," Scott noted,

"have visited other localities and found strange-tasting water. We sometimes don't realize that a stranger, visiting our community, might also find our own water distasteful. We get used to it, and consider it almost normal."

"At one time local Chambers of Commerce vied with each other as to which community was growing faster or which community had the largest population."

Today," he said, "the emphasis is on which city has the cleaner air, and the largest supply of fresh water."

Pollution of waterways in the United States has increased some 600 per cent since 1900, Scott said. He noted President Johnson's recent statement that every major water system in the country is polluted.

He reported that a recent government study showed the country consumes 300 billion gallons of drinking water a day. By 1980, the study estimated the nation will need up to 600 billion gallons daily.

Within three years, Scott pointed out, 80 per cent of the nation's population will live in urban metropolitan regions where nearly all the population growth now occurs.

By the end of the century, the eastern seaboard from Boston to Washington will be one continuous city of 72 million people. The current population of the area is around 42 million.

The problem, according to water experts, is to produce and deliver enough potable water to meet the demands of our metropolitan communities, which occupy only two per cent of the land but contain 50 per cent of the population.

As a result, bottled water today is a $65 million industry, Scott said, and by 1970 sales are expected to reach the $100 million mark.

Scott's firm is the largest national distributor of bottled mineral water from one source — the spring at Mountain Valley, Ark. The company sells more than 10 million bottles annually — a gain of some 2,000 per cent since World War II.

Insulate

Lower Heating Cost

Of all insulation efforts to reduce winter home heating costs, installation of storm windows probably is the most effective, reports Carl Edwards, Extension agricultural engineer with Michigan State University to Mrs. Rosalie J. Hawley, Extension home economist in Oakland and Wayne counties.

Without storm windows, a house which has single pane window glass can give off a lot of heat and take in a lot of cold from having large areas exposed.

With storm windows, however, the air space between the storm sash and the window acts as insulation, retarding flow of heat from the inside and cold air infiltration from outside. Storm windows provide most protection on north and west windows.

Moisture problems can be alleviated by use of storm windows, too. Cold windows, like a glass of ice water, tend to condense moisture on their surface when water vapor is present in the air.

By keeping the regular window warm, the storm sash helps prevent this condensation, helping keep a comfortably high humidity in the home. When the regular window is somewhat loose, moisture will leak through and condense on storm sash.

In addition to saving fuel and reducing condensation, use of the storm windows makes areas near windows more comfortable. They can also reduce the operating cost of summer air conditioning, Edwards advises.
