

U.S. Ends Aid to Vietnamese Special Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is cutting off assistance to the South Vietnamese special force troops that led government raids against Buddhist pagodas.

They will get no more U.S. help until they are assigned to field duty against Communist guerrillas.

The action, announced yesterday by the State Department, is a direct challenge to Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and reportedly the behind-the-scenes ruler in Saigon.

It is also, State Department officials said, in line with President Kennedy's announced policy — the United States will support what helps the war effort and will not support what does not.

The troops are an elite airborne corps numbering about 8,000. Beside military assistance they have been receiving about $300,000 a month from the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for special antiguerrilla warfare.

Headed by Col. Le Quang Tung, a devoted supporter of Nhu, about 4,000 of them were placed on special duty in August. In this role they led the government raids against Buddhist pagodas. An estimated 2,000 or more remain in Saigon, serving—according to some reports—as a palace guard to protect Nhu from domestic opposition.

Broomfield said he disagreed with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell Taylor that the United States could end the major share of its military aid to the southeast Asian country by the end of 1968.

"It isn't even going to be won in five years unless there is some breakthrough, which can't be foreseen at the present time," he said.

Broomfield, who was ranking Republican among the eight Congressmen on the trip, also reported an exchange between one of the group and Ngo Dinh Nhu about viet war troubles.

WIFE PROBLEMS
"Why can't you control your wife?" Ngo Dinh Nhu was asked, according to Broomfield.

The wife in question is Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, who currently is touring the United States voicing strong opinions on U.S.-Viet Nam relations, some of them derogatory to the Kennedy Administration.

"It is the same the world over," replied Ngo Dinh Nhu, "which Congressman put the question to Nhu, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, Nhu heads the country's secret police and is considered by many to be the real power behind the government."

Biggest Week at GM, Ford

Millionth New Car Comes Earliest Ever

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and General Motors built more cars last week than in any previous week in their history.

The fast pace helped swell the industry's output of 1964 cars to over a million as both production and sales kept up a blistering pace. The millionth car was built Oct. 17, marking the earliest date on which the industry reached that goal.

The previous record was set in 1963, when the millionth '63 model came off the production line Oct. 22.

Pontiac built 93,961 cars last week and had nine assembly plants on overtime operations last Saturday. The previous GM mark for a single week was 92,112, reached last mid-June.

Pontiac Motor Division production through October is fully one-third ahead of the same time last year.

October production stands at 40,600, compared to 31,800 for the same 1962 period. Pontiac production last week was about 13,500 units.

Ford had all 16 of its assembly plants on overtime last Saturday as its output climbed to 53,771 for the week. The previous Ford high of 51,414 was set in April 1965.

Chrysler and American Motors reported production ran strong last week, but both worked only regular five-day weeks.

SMALL FIRMS GIVE — While large firms are major contributors to the annual Pontiac Area United Fund drive, some 75 local small industries also do their part. The contribution from one of them, Vulcan Laboratories, is presented by Dolores Snyder to solicitor Ronald Porritt, a Pontiac Varish Co. employee. Donations from small firms today are reported at 15 per cent of their $5,248 goal.

Subpoenas Issued to 8 Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — At least eight big steel companies have been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in New York under mysterious circumstances. It was reported that the inquiry concerned steel prices.

However, none of the steel firms openly said so, and the Justice Department in Washington declined comment.

A spokesman for one company, Republic Steel Corp., said the subpoenas "took the industry by surprise."

An across-the-board increase in prices by most major steel producers within 48 hours in April 1962 erupted into an epic business-government clash. The $6 a ton hike was rescinded under White House pressure.

Among other things, a grand jury investigation was launched but nothing came of it.

President Kennedy expressed concern earlier this month over selective increases last spring and this fall covering about 70 per cent of all steel products.

Kennedy said the situation was being watched very carefully, along with markup in other industries, but said nothing about any formal investigation.

Besides Republic, the third-ranking producer, companies confirming receipt of subpoenas Monday included U.S. Steel Corp., Bethlehem Steel Corp., National Steel Corp., Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., Youngstown Sheet and Tube Co., Armco Steel Corp., and Wheeling. All except Wheeling are among the big eight producers.

Increases in which the White House acquiesced last spring were limited to steel sheets, used heavily by automobile and appliance makers, and steel strip.

3,250 Go On Strike at GM Dixie Plant

ATLANTA, Ga., (AP) — Nearly 3,250 employees went on strike at the Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac assembly plant of General Motors in suburban Doraville late yesterday. They demanded a change in production standards.

Negotiations between management and Local 10 of the United Automobile Workers were to be resumed this afternoon.

R. L. Stephens, chairman of the UAW bargaining committee, accused management of meeting out "disciplinary action at an alarming rate" and trying to get employees to do more than a normal day's work.

Rule Invoked to Force Bills in Committee

Republican Leaders Face New Obstacle to Fiscal Proposals

LANSING (AP) — Two Democrats flung a surprise obstacle into the path of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program yesterday, invoking an overlooked rule in the Senate handbook.

Sens. Stanley Rozycki of Detroit and Philip Raho of Iron Mountain stunned Republican leaders by calling on a requirement that certain bills go to the appropriations committee.

The first bill they named was Romney's income tax bill, the heart of his "jobs and justice" program, which only Thursday was freed from the Senate Tax Committee.

Romney's floor leaders jumped to their feet with a handful of motions and when the parliamentary smoke cleared, action on the Democrats' question was put off until today.

Raho said today he is confident the bills will go to the committee.

"They don't have the votes to keep them out," he said.

DRAFTING SUPPORT

Senate Minority Leader Charles McNamara, D-Detroit, who bitterly fought Raho on the move last night, today was drafting a Senate speech supporting the two Democrats.

The speech favored sending the bills into the committee to correct mistakes.

Last night, McNamara was the only Democrat to support the Republican request for a postponement on the issue raised by Rozycki and Raho.

"I think it's cowardly to attack Romney's program by refusing to let it see the light of day," said Senate GOP leader Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, who is responsible for piloting the program through the Senate.

STEP FORWARD

Thayer had gone to last night's session confident that the tax committee's release of all its 61 bills had been a step forward for Romney's 23, but said the Rozycki-Raho move caught him off guard.

7 Killed in Test Tragedy

Prize British Jet Crashes

TISBURY, England (AP) — Britain's new pride of the skies, the One-Eleven short-range jet airliner, crashed in flames on a test flight near this small southwest England town today. Seven pilots and observers aboard died in the wreckage.

Several American airlines have ordered 31 of the new planes which are scheduled to begin passenger flights in Britain late next summer.

The plane, which has two rear-mounted engines, was designed to fly at 550 miles an hour over distances from 100 to 1,000 miles with accommodation for up to 74 passengers.

A spokesman at British Aircraft Corp. said the plane was the prototype of the one with which Britain hoped to capture the world's shortest-range jet market.

The first One-Eleven was successfully tested for a cheering crowd on Aug. 20 at Bourne-mouth.

The One-Eleven was scheduled to go into service late next summer for the British United Airways on its route to Genoa, Italy.

BAC said it already had orders for 60 of the craft from airlines around the world, including those from American carriers.

Today's flight was another test for the prototype.

The BAC spokesman said the One-Eleven crashed just before noon 18 miles west of Boscombe down in Wiltshire about half an hour after it took off from the Civil Aircraft Test Center at Wisley in Surrey.

CIRCULAR TRIP PLANNED

It was to be a circular trip during which more tests were to be made on the plane's aerodynamics.

The crash area is about 100 miles west of London.

RALPH HOUK

Houk Named to Front Office by Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Houk, field manager of the New York Yankees for the past three years, was named general manager today, succeeding Roy Hamey, who retired because of ill health.

The successor to Houk as manager will be named Thursday, and the prime candidate is Yogi Berra, the long-time Yankee catching star.

Under Houk, the Yankees won three American League pennants and World Series championships in 1961 and 1962. They lost the '63 Series to the Los Angeles Dodgers in four straight games.

Houk has been in the Yankee organization since 1939. He joined the club in 1947 and served eight seasons as a catching understudy to Berra.

Tito Asks Summit Meeting to 'Chart Code for Peace'

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Tito of Yugoslavia told a jam-packed General Assembly today that a summit meeting should be held to chart a code for peaceful coexistence for the world's nations.

Speaking in his native Serbo-Croat, the Yugoslav leader made an urgent appeal for an end to the Cold War.

Delegates of the 111-member-nations filled the Assembly. He received a standing ovation as he mounted the rostrum to begin his speech.

A tight curtain of security enveloped the big glass and stone building from the moment Tito's motorcade rolled up to the main delegates' entrance.

The general public was barred during Tito's stay and a beefed-up guard force stood in the back of the hall keeping a sharp watch on the gallery, where there were about three-fourths filled with secretaries' families and delegates' families.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson and Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko sat at the head of their delegations.

Mounting concern over security measures for Tito's protection prompted the Yugoslav mission to the U.N. to cancel a reception for the president at the starlight roof of the Waldorf Astoria Thursday evening.

RECEPTION POSTPONED

The reception was called off after two hours were arrested last night near the Yugoslav leader's Waldorf Astoria suite and three of his men were involved in a street disturbance.

Tito appeared in good health despite his recent bout with influenza. He showed no signs of strain and delivered his speech in forceful tones.

The Yugoslav president wore a dark green suit and a dark four-in-hand tie. (See story, Page 15).

Thousands Boycott Chicago Schools

CHICAGO (UPI) — Negro children played hockey by the thousands today in a "freedom day" boycott protesting alleged de facto segregation in Chicago public schools.

Boycott leaders claimed more than 100,000 children had joined the boycott against 175 schools. School officials wouldn't set a figure. But it was apparent that only a handful of pupils had turned up at schools where thousands are enrolled.

Classes in some South Side schools were empty or had only two or three children sitting at their desks.

The boycott was followed up with a march of 10,000 persons through the Loop at rush hour time.

Plane Strafes Yank-Owned Ship Off Cuba

NEW YORK (AP) — An American-owned ship, registered under a foreign flag, was strafed by an unidentified plane off the coast of Cuba today, its owners reported.

The attack damaged the superstructure and hull of the J. Louis, carrying a cargo of ore, and set a fire in the fore-castle, but caused no casualties, according to the captain's radioed report.

A spokesman for W. W. Wagner of Universal Tankships, Inc., owner of the J. Louis, said the attack occurred about 12 miles off Cap Corriente, Cuba.

NUMBER, PLEASE? — A striking telephone operator in Long Beach, Calif., found everything in working order yesterday when she paused from her picket line duties to make a phone call at a booth near General Telephone Company's main office in Long Beach. The picket is a member of the Communication Workers of America, who have been on strike since Saturday.

Black Muslims Set Rally in Flint Sunday

FLINT — Black Muslims will hold a rally at Flint's IMA Auditorium Sunday. Representatives of the Negro organization say as many as 10,000 people may attend.

Elijah Muhammad the Black Muslim national leader who reputedly spends much of his time in New York's Harlem, will be a speaker.

Others on the program are expected to include Muhammad's son-in-law, Raymond Sharrief, a top figure in the Muslims; minister Philbert X. of Lansing and Malcolm X, next in line to Muhammad.

Sharrief heads the Fruit of Islam sometimes termed the disciplinary arm of the Black Muslims. It provides an honor guard for Muhammad.

RACE SEPARATION
Black Muslims advocate separation of Negroes and whites. They have taken the position that white men ultimately will be destroyed and Negroes should not share this fate.

The Black Muslims' history never has been planned down authoritatively. Their movement, however, is believed to have gotten its start in Detroit in the 1930 depression years.

A Negro factory worker from Georgia named Elijah Poole became the leader at the Muslims' "Temple of Islam" in Detroit. Before him, the movement reportedly started in a slum under leadership of a man calling himself W. D. Fard.

The Black Muslims have taken a stand against integration. They propose a separate state or "territory" for Negroes on this continent or elsewhere.

INTEGRATION HYPOCRITIC
Their paper, "Muhammad Speaks," has called offers of integration hypocritical and made by people trying to "deceive" Negroes.

"We believe that such deception is intended," the paper said, "to prevent black people from realizing that the time in history has arrived for the separation from the whites of this nation."

Failing a separate state or territory, the paper says, there should be "not only equal justice under the laws of the United States but equal employment opportunities — now!"

It is not clear whether the Black Muslims are accepted as "Moslems" in religious terms. The words mean the same. Once they were used to prevent their use of the terms "Islam" and "Muslim."

Reputedly, however, Elijah Muhammad once was permitted to make a pilgrimage to Mecca, a privilege permitted only to true Moslems.

Black Muslim teaches abstention from liquor and tobacco. Flint has a Black Muslim mosque.

Escapee From Ionia Captured in Manistee

IONIA — Robert Gallagher, 21, of Thompsonville, a trusty who escaped from Ionia State Reformatory last week, was captured yesterday in Manistee.

Gallagher fled Friday with another trusty, James Sandage, 22, of Detroit, who was caught near Lake City Sunday by Muskegon County authorities.

One Twin Dies After Surgeons Separate Pair

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. — Mark Genovese, joined head-to-head with his twin brother Michael since their birth almost a year ago, died Monday shortly after surgery to separate them.

Doctors at Baptist Hospital said they were "hopeful but very guarded" about Michael's chances of surviving.

The Siamese twins born last Nov. 3 in Wilmington, N.C., to Mrs. James Genovese, wife of a Marine Corps sergeant, weighed 10 pounds, 4 ounces at birth. Their combined weight before surgery was 32 1/2 pounds.

Eight surgeons worked five hours to separate the boys. They said Mark died because he had too little brain left.

Doctors quit smoking

CHICAGO — According to a University of Chicago National Opinion Research Center survey, 52% of American doctors do not smoke. Many quit recently due, according to the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, to the conclusive evidence linking cigarettes and lung cancer.

Many doctors gave up smoking without use of will power thanks to a new pill which helps to progressively eliminate the need for nicotine and, as a result, the desire to smoke. Thanks to this pill, 8,648 heavy smokers have already stopped smoking.

Smokers interested in receiving information (free) about this new pill are invited to contact directly the Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 740-L-1, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York 1, New York.

It is sufficient to send your name and address. Just a post-card will do.

24 Demand Hearing

Twenty-four men arrested Oct. 11 in a Madison Heights gambling raid will appear before Farmington Township Justice of the Peace Allen Ingle for examination on gambling conspiracy charges Nov. 19.

The men yesterday demanded examination at a preliminary hearing before Ingle at the Oakland County courthouse.

Their appearance before Ingle came immediately after Circuit Judge William J. Peir dismissed a writ of habeas corpus on which the 24 were free pending issuance of formal charges against them.

County Senior Asst. Prosecutor Robert L. Templin Friday issued felony warrants charging the 24 with three counts of conspiracy to operate a gambling establishment and three high misdemeanor gambling counts.

Templin said State Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley okayed the warrants.

Two of the gambling suspects have been named before a U.S. Senate committee as members of a national crime ring called Cosa Nostra. They are Eddie Guarella, 45, of St. Clair Shores, and Joseph Brooklier, 50, of Mount Clemens.

They were among 45 persons arrested in the raid at the Sterling Assembly Club in Madison Heights by state and local police.

Others arrested were charged with the misdemeanor of frequenting a gambling place. They will face examination before Ingle Nov. 5.

The 24 named in the felony warrants were released on $1,000 bond each pending their appearance for examination.

Nuptials Unite Couple in Milford Ceremony

MRS. JAMES A. GIBSON

MILFORD — Gowned in white Chantilly lace over taffeta, Alexie Darlene Pentz recently exchanged nuptial vows with James Arthur Gibson.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Pentz of Clawson and the son of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Gibson of 206 E. Commerce were married at Milford Presbyterian Church.

The bride's floor-length gown ended in a short train. The bodice featured a scalloped square neckline and long tapered sleeves.

A delicate pearl crown held her fingertip veil. She carried a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Matron of honor for her sister was Mrs. Daniel Barnett of Madison Heights. Arnette Rudolph of Detroit, Rhea Adair of Southfield, Vicki Fremlin of Milford and Kathryn Gibson of Milford, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids.

Standing with best man Theodore Gibson of Milford, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers Daniel Barnett of Madison Heights, Robert Wilks of Royal Oak, Lynn Bullard of Detroit and Spec. 4 Michael Conklin of Warren.

Miriam Barnett of Davisburg was flower girl.

Flare Sale to Raise Dance, Party Funds

ROCHESTER — Local Kiwanians will begin selling flares Saturday to raise funds for Halloween dances and parties they sponsor annually in Rochester schools.

Herbert N. Stoutenburg, is chairman of the flare sale.

Not only will purchasers of the packages of two flares brighten Halloween for school children, but they will also assure illumination of whole areas on the festive night.

At 7 p.m. the fire sirens will sound signaling the time for every flare buyer to light the flares which he has placed in front of his home or business place.

During the school day Oct. 31, all elementary school children will have cider and doughnuts, provided by the Kiwanis Club, in their rooms.

Dances will be held at Central and West junior high schools that night. Cider and doughnuts also will be available for the dancers.

Also during the evening a hootenanny will be staged at the senior high school.

SALE OF FLARES

The flare sale will be conducted in the village next Monday. Business places where flares can be purchased include Houghten & Sons, Inc., Ennis Shoe Store, Mitzfeld's department store, Whims Insurance Agency, Bebout's Restaurant Rochester Motor Parts.

Stoutenburg said earnings from the flare sale which are left over after the Halloween parties will go toward the Kiwanis youth and underprivileged children's program.

Trenton Approves Levy

DETROIT — Voters in the Trenton School District voted 781 to 114 to renew a three-mill operating levy for 10 years in a special election yesterday.

Utica to Face School Vote

Citizen Group, Officials Plan

December, January Eyed for Ballot Date

UTICA — The Citizens School Advisory Committee and school district officials last night started the ball rolling toward another school election here, to be in December or January.

They also agreed on a different way of informing the public of school needs.

The new selling program is being drafted in hopes that the forthcoming fund request won't meet the fate of the two proposals rejected in the past five months.

Schools Supt. Fred Atkinson said the exact date of the election and the amount to be requested will be determined at next Monday's board meeting.

TO ASK MORE

"The $5.5-million issue which was turned down in June would have carried us through 1965," he said. "But now we'll be asking for more, hoping to plan for 1966 too."

Atkinson said the school district is gaining approximately 1,500 students annually.

Right now we are in the process of preparing a booklet which will explain enrollment projections and needs of the school district."

Voters will be informed of the special election in a campaign which will be handled on an area-by-area basis.

WITH CITIZENS

Each school principal will work with a citizen chairman, presenting voters around their respective schools with information about district needs.

The school board officially ruled the situation "grave" after August's defeat of a proposed 3.5-mill operating levy.

At that time, members agreed that cutbacks in teaching, administrative and maintenance staff, athletics, replacement or repair of equipment and purchasing of school supplies would be necessary.

The school board will meet again with the citizen's committee on Nov. 4. At that session it will continue organization of the drive, and determine the number of volunteers working for the school district.

Film Fun Set for Students at Lake Orion

LAKE ORION — Elementary and junior high students in the Lake Orion Community School District have a film treat in store for them later this week.

The popular movie, "Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" and three cartoons will be shown at 7 p.m. Friday and again at 10:30 Saturday morning.

Length of the movie plus cartoons will be one hour and 55 minutes.

Tickets will be on sale at the school from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. tomorrow and Thursday. Any tickets not sold on these two days will be offered on a first-come, first-served basis on the day of the showings.

Officials of the Blanche Sims PTA, which is sponsoring the movies, request children to refrain from bringing refreshments to either film presentation.

Drop Charge of Larceny

A larceny by conversion charge against John L. Reid, a former Oxford funeral director and onetime president of the Oxford Chamber of Commerce, has been dropped, according to the Oakland County Prosecutor's office.

Reid, 28, had been awaiting trial since June 1962 on a complaint by Orley Groesbeck, 511 Bellevue, Lake Orion, that he paid Reid $120 for telephone book covers which he never received.

Senior Asst. Prosecutor Robert L. Templin said Groesbeck withdrew his complaint.

Avondale School Board Approves Record Budget

The Avondale School Board last night agreed on a record high budget of $1,246,562 for estimated school expenses during the 1963-64 academic year.

This year's figure is up from the $1,037,491 spent last year.

Schools Supt. George E. Shackelford said the increase is due in part to the addition of 11 new teachers, increased enrollment and the hiring of more clerical help.

Largest fund category in the budget is for instructional purposes, which includes salaries of teachers, principals and clerical employees as well as school supplies and textbooks.

Funds allocated for this usage amount to $870,737.

The second largest area of expected spending is for operation, which totals to $127,300. Included in this classification are custodial salaries and supplies, vehicle gas, oil and maintenance and miscellaneous supplies.

In other business at last night's session the board agreed to provide round-trip bus transportation for 37 Sacred Heart School students.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEM

Before last night's decision the pupils were taken to school in Avondale School buses, but

2 Are Killed in Area Crash

Car Hits Utility Pole After Leaving Road

UTICA — An area man and woman met violent deaths early today when their car sped out of control on Auburn and crashed into a utility pole 32-feet from the highway.

James A. Long, 29, and Mrs. Vincenza M. Kelly, 24, were added to the list of traffic fatalities shortly after 3:30 a.m.

The two were dead on arrival at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Mt. Clemens.

Police Chief Hazen S. Anderson said Long, 7877 Pierson, Washington, "Must have been driving at least 75 m.p.h. when the car went out of control."

The mishap occurred on the curve near Utica Road, Mrs. Kelly, of East Detroit, died of a fractured skull, according to Anderson. The police chief said Long's neck was broken.

No Quorum for Meeting

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — A special board of education meeting for consideration of school site purchases was canceled last night.

Board members had set the meeting to determine where to spend $400,000 granted them by district voters in June. The sum is the site portion of a $1.6 million bond issue designed for an over-all school improvement program.

The meeting last night was canceled because of the lack of a quorum, according to Schools Supt. Dr. Leif A. Hougen. He said he would attempt to schedule another special session next Monday.

Four wise rules for investing and how to use them

If you think the key to sensible investing is in the hands of "experts" only, here's an agreeable surprise.

Anybody can quickly learn four basic rules for what never to do—and what always to do—when acquiring stock.

Here they are:

Never get in over your head with money you can't afford to invest.

Always manage your money with an eye on both today and tomorrow. Living expenses have first call on your income. Then comes provision for emergencies. These cared for, you may be ready to consider investing.

Never be careless in choosing your broker.

Always look for a broker in whose experience or training you feel you can have confidence. If you select a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange, for example, you will have the help of a firm subject to Exchange regulations. And of a broker (Registered Representative) who had to meet Exchange qualifications to become a broker in a Member Firm.

Don't expect all Member Firms to be alike. Or brokers to be infallible. Do expect your Member Firm broker to place his firm's knowledge and experience at your service.

Never acquire stock merely on a hunch or a tip.

Always look deeper for facts. Your Member Firm broker often has at his elbow information on the company's financial position. Its earnings. The dividends it pays. Facts like these can be important in helping you make your own careful judgments.

Never ignore the risks of investing.

Always plan your investments with cool care. The wise investor chooses stocks he thinks will fit his needs and circumstances. And he doesn't overlook the relative safety of principal and income that good bonds usually provide. He remembers that prices go down as well as up, that a company may not continue to pay dividends or interest.

But he believes his country is growing, and he intends to grow with it—through sensible investment in good stock.

Send the coupon—or drop in at a local Member Firm—for a free copy of "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS," which describes the Monthly Investment Plan through which you can acquire stock with as little as $40 every three months.

Economy of Britain Continues to Grow

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Last April, with one eye on British voter and the other on Britain's dawning economy, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's government cut taxes and launched an impressive program to stimulate industry.

From an economic standpoint, the program has lived up to the hopes of its planners.

Last week, Britain's industrial production index hit a new high, and UPI's London financial editor, Harry Hobbs, reported Britain "still in the process of steady expansion."

Heavy communist purchases of grain have sent freight rates skyrocketing and long-depressed shipping firms now are earning fat profits.

Shipbuilding has come to life under the stimulus of government credit for new tonnage.

CREDIT RELAXED
The Bank of England has eased credit restrictions to permit close to a billion dollars in fresh money to be made available to industrial and individual borrowers.

The stock market, which had hesitated as Conservative party leaders squabbled over the selection of a man to fill the prime minister's post resumed its advance and closed out the week at a new high for the year.

Exports were continuing their steady rise.

A further sign of economic health was the fact that the government permitted several million pounds sterling to leave the country for investment in a new nylon plant in West Germany.

This was a direct reversal of previous policy which had limited British industrial investment to the sterling area unless it could be shown profits would start coming back within 18 months.

Throughout the country, unemployment which had been a cause of mounting concern only six months ago, was declining steadily.

All of this was good news for Britain, and under other circumstances the Conservatives logically might well expect some rewards from the voters.

But the trials which have beset the Conservatives for many months, including a string of losses in by-elections for seats in Parliament, continue to plague them.

President Charles de Gaulle's brusque veto of British membership in the European Common Market dealt a heavy blow to the Macmillan government's prestige.

The Profumo sex scandal and the attendant overtones of potential danger to national security further undermined confidence.

Irish Leader: U.S. Friendly

DUBLIN (AP)—Prime Minister Sean Lemass told the Irish people Monday night his visit to the United States showed a wealth of good feeling towards Ireland and held out prospects of valuable business ties.

During the visit, Lemass was entertained by President Kennedy at the White House.

"The atmosphere of cordiality and friendliness toward Ireland there was very noticeable," he said.

Britain Airlifts Troops to Berlin, Relieves Unit

BERLIN (AP)—The British army began a little airlift across the North Sea today to relieve a battalion of its Berlin brigade.

A chartered plane took elements of the 1st Welsh Regiment from the British air base at Gatow, in West Berlin, to Cardiff, Wales. The regiment spent 2½ years in Berlin.

Coming the other way by air were men of the 1st Somerset and Cornwall Light Infantry, from the RAF airfield at Lyham, Wiltshire.

The airlift will continue until Friday, when about 1,400 men and their dependents will have been exchanged.

Top U.S. Sportsman a Golfer to the End

The world of sports was saddened by the untimely death of Horton Smith, one of golf's illustrious figures.

For nearly a quarter-century the professional at Detroit Golf Club, the 55-year-old star was a two-time Masters Champion and the 20th golfer elected to PGA Hall of Fame, four years ago. He was also a member of seven Ryder Cup teams.

SMITH

Mr. Smith was PGA president from 1952-54 and became an honorary member of the British PGA in 1959. In 1960 he received the Ben Hogan award for overcoming illness to continue golf competition.

For six years he had gallantly and almost jauntily struggled with cancer. But the inevitable fate that awaits all mankind was not to be denied.

The luminary was stricken two days before the end while a spectator, fittingly enough, at the Ryder Cup matches being played in Atlanta.

In death, as in life, HORTON SMITH was a champion all the way.

Military Calls Shots in Latin America

Being in the middle is never an enviable role, but that is where official Washington seems to be vis-à-vis the recent rash of military take-overs in Latin America.

In recent months the military executed coups in four countries, despite belief of Administration functionaries that a few years of Alliance for Progress preachment about the democratic process would cure everything in that troubled section.

Actually, the military leaders whose government-usurping moves are causing much capital hand-wringing are our boys. And even though they may eventually relinquish overt control of the respective governments, it is hard to believe that their hands will not remain strong behind the scenes.

Though reacting to the new concept of democracy as though it were the bubonic plague, it is this power bloc that has been on the receiving end of the military aid the United States has been funneling into Latin American countries.

Many members of the soldier hierarchy were educated in American military schools, and are frequent Pentagon guests on trips to the U. S.

Unfortunately for our concept of hemispheric democracy, the strength of the Latin American countries resides in the military establishments because the best brains of the poverty-stricken states find their way there.

The development of a democratic consciousness amid the destitution and illiterate masses of Latin America is one calling for a prolonged period of patience and education along with surrender of closely-held prerogatives and monopoly by the privileged.

Since neither of these desiderata show signs of inception, any ideal solution to the governmental and economic trials of our neighbors seems a long way off.

That the U. S. population has reached 190 million is deplorable in one respect, as growth in population means an increase in the considerable number of people who get in one another's way.

Contest Hot for Lone Two 'Pot of Gold' Waits on Saturday's Winner

Slippery Rock (pop. 2,944), the site of Slippery Rock Teachers College, is a delightful community whose tree-lined streets offer—Oh! You want to know how the Rock's football team made out Saturday.

Well, it lost. Westminster slipped over a 9-7 cliff-hanger on the slippery slicks of Slippery Rock—and turned The Press' Annual Football Contest into another cliff-hanger.

Today there are just two entrants still breathing—Mrs. Nesbitt, 128 Whittemore, and E. T. Mazingo, of Derby, Ind. And outdoing a Hollywood script writer in suspense build-up, they are divided on next Saturday's Washington-Oregon bone crusher. Since neither of the inspired crystal gazers picked a tie, the award will be split should a deadlock result.

Both Washington Huskies and Oregon Webfoots (note to copy desk: nope—it's not Webfest) have had slow starts but now seem to have hit their strides. The game is a tossup, with a Washington victory earning the local contestant the $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

Since this is a neutral corner, it can only wish a double-dip of good luck to the distinguished duo who have so far scored 1,000, with five hits for five attempts.

Plenty of Time to Ready for '64

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Luckily for the politicians of both parties, they have a year to work themselves into a lather for the 1964 presidential campaign.

At this moment neither President Kennedy nor two of the most prominent Republican presidential hopefuls—New York's Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Arizona's Sen. Barry Goldwater—are giving off heat rays.

There is no crises. None is in sight. The country as a whole is complacent.

The evidence for that is in the almost incredible tardiness of Congress, which would be a lot livelier if it were under heavy public pressure.

President Kennedy seems to be banking on the idea of making his main campaign theme peace and prosperity—provided that between now and the 1964 race things turn out the way he hopes.

NOT FIRE
At this point, however, Rockefeller and Goldwater aren't very fiery, either.

They both have pecked away at the President's performance but they are unable to agree on what to peck away at, which leaves Kennedy in the wonderful political position of being able to say: "Let's you and him fight."

So it's not their fight with Kennedy but with each other that promises the most excitement for at least the starting months of 1964.

If by campaign time there have been no new international crises, or serious setbacks for this country overseas, the campaign heat will probably come mostly from Democratic-Republican differences over running things at home.

If He Can Just Handle It Okay—

David Lawrence Says:

Barry or Nixon?—Take a Guess

WASHINGTON — Under one set of circumstances, Richard Nixon could be nominated for the presidency by the Republican National Convention in 1964—and under another set of circumstances, Barry Goldwater could be named.

A final choice, as it looks now, will depend on the dominance of particular issues eight months hence. Indeed, the delegates themselves will hardly know the prevalent trend of public opinion until convention time is almost at hand.

For the Republican president nomination will not be decided just on the basis of popularity polls or personality charm as appraised inside the Republican party.

The decision will be related directly to the mood of the whole country in the summer of 1964—and not just the Republican mood. The delegates, of course will have to be the judges of the mood of the country and of the candidate who fits it best.

Which mood then would bring about a Goldwater or a Nixon nomination?

Sen. Goldwater's strength today arises largely from his hard-hitting campaign against the Kennedy administration. He is trying earnestly to convince the country that there ought to be a change.

Almost every speech or statement he makes meets with instant approval among millions of voters who feel deeply that the Kennedy administration has failed them. This is called "the negative vote."

FOR A CHANGE
If doesn't concern itself too much with alternative policies or causes but firmly insists that a change of administration is the first and most important goal to be achieved.

The strength of former Vice President Nixon, on the other hand, comes into focus when the assets and liabilities of the Kennedy administration are added up and the Republican analysts begin to calculate whether the President can be defeated for re-election.

There is one factor, for instance, which probably will have considerable weight. It is that Richard Nixon came close to winning in 1960.

Several times in history a defeated candidate has been given another nomination. A shift of a total of 30,000 votes in two states would have won the presidency for Mr. Nixon.

The question of experience and training for the office of president is bound to become a more and more important factor in forming a judgment on the candidates.

A man who has sat in the inner councils of government for eight years as the vice president of the United States and who has become intimately acquainted with many of the complicated matters of international and domestic policies at firsthand will have a big asset to start with.

If Gov. Rockefeller had not alienated so many voters by his divorce and re-marriage, he would have been pointed to with favor by reason of his two-term experience as head of the government of the most populous state in the union.

So if the political prophets of today can correctly analyze what the mood of the electorate will be in the spring and the early summer months of next year, they will have the key to the outcome of the Republican National Convention.

Bob Considine Says:

Great Moments Recalled as NY Mirror Laid to Rest

NEW YORK — A fellow has to be pretty hard not to shed a tear over the death of a newspaper. Any newspaper.

The New York Mirror folded because for all its popularity it lost a gang of money every time it hit the streets. Elementary as that, Watson.

Every time a newspaper collapses from the sheer weight of production and union costs or gouges, there are cries of conspiracy. After excessive waste of public funds, the inquiries come to naught.

The Mirror never pretended to be a great newspaper. But it had a devoted, daily readership of about 1 million persons through much of its 39 years of life.

Those who'll remember the Mirror longest, naturally, will be those who once worked on it.

I did a stretch on it from 1957 until after the big war and, on the whole, found it a rewarding experience.

There were laughs, which go with any newspaper job, and shouts of despair, which also are a part of the life of all who work in this field (and every other, one presumes).

NEVER DULL
Whatever it might have been, the Mirror was never dull, and seldom predictable.

For example, though it was considered by some as a pretty racy little journalistic item, it could be resolutely chaste, too, particularly in the sports department, whenever a gentle Clarence Cassin was on the desk.

I interviewed Jim Braddock along about 1938 to check on a rumor that he was planning a comeback. Jim snorted "Hell's bells, no. I'm not going to let 'em make a football out of my head."

I started my story with that forthright quote. Clarence, thinking of the tender sensibilities of our readers, and of my immortal soul, changed it to "heck's bells. Jim has looked at me rather oddly ever since."

Then there was a story I did about the finals of the national indoor tennis championship.

won by Don McNeill, a boy whose hair was the color of clean straw. I began it, "Two-headed Don McNeill today won the..."

Alas, it came out in the first edition, "Two-headed Don McNeill..."

There was never a dull moment, which must be an epithet that cannot justly be etched on the slab of each and every paper that has gone the way of all flesh.

In Washington:

Trade Barred by Stymied Talks

By PETER EDSON
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Any idea that the United States and Soviet Russia will follow up a wheat sale agreement with greatly expanded trade on other items overlooks the red tape angle.

This is best understood by taking into consideration all the troubles the United States is having in negotiations on new trade agreements with friendly countries.

The Trade Expansion Act of 1962, which was supposed to facilitate this business, has now been in effect a full year. So far it hasn't reduced a single tariff.

It will be another year at least before any tariff reductions can be negotiated, with the Europeans. Trying to cut the Russians in on anything like this as a favored nation would just mess up world trade hopelessly.

The situation already is so bad that the U.S. high tariff lobby is saying the act never should have been passed.

But since the protectionists opposed trade liberalization in the first place, their new complaint serves to beat U. S. trade czar Christian A. Herter over the head for doing something they never wanted him to do.

Neither Herter nor anyone else could foresee the troubles ahead when he took the job as chief negotiator for the President under the Trade Expansion Act.

Voice of the People:

'Our' in Lord's Prayer Refers to All Races

You know what fascinates me? By the way, I'm white. These whites who say the Lord's Prayer. What do they think they are saying, when they say Our Father? Do they think they are saying Our Father of whites only? Are they excluding the color and race of others?

Our Father means they are acknowledging all colors and races are their brothers and sisters.

If they don't believe it, give up the Lord's Prayer. Don't go under the banner of Christianity. You don't have to be a Christian. Be something else. Nobody will stop you. Don't kid yourself, you are not a Christian. The Lord's Prayer is the only prayer Christ gave us.

Writer Comments on City Investigation

As one who has watched the affairs of Pontiac for years, it seems strange to me that the present city commission is asking the State to come in and investigate their conduct. I am in no way defending them or saying that they have done wrong, but since they have asked for this investigation it is entirely up to the law enforcing agencies of the State.

If there is any evidence of wrong doing on their part in any way it should be known to the public and until such time they are the duly elected officials and have the right to operate city affairs.

This whole thing has gotten to be child's play by both sides and is doing the City a lot more harm than good. They should be allowed to make good or else, and the old adage should prevail at the polls: "If you the citizens don't like what they are doing, kick them out at election time."

'Compulsory Integration Is Dictatorial'

The United States of America is vulnerable to a military dictatorship caused largely by the President's attitude regarding compulsory integration and his endorsement of the Geesell report which proposed the use of military forces as an instrument to eliminate racial discrimination.

The President and the Attorney General's attitude are causing: public hysteria, mob violence, lack of faith in the future existence of the nation, prejudice, hatred and internal dissensions between various races and religious elements.

Federal court decisions have convinced the Negro race they are immune to school discipline, local and federal laws and are entitled to a racial percentage of all jobs throughout the nation, regardless of their ability and training.

The nation is governed by presidential executive orders and a group of politically appointed Supreme Court and federal judges.

Birmingham, Ala. C. C. McLean, M.D.

Progress on all these negotiations has been slowed down by a nine-year-old U. S. law which required reclassification and simplification of all tariff schedules. This was completed on Aug. 30 and is now in effect.

President Kennedy is ready to announce a list of newly classified items on which new rate negotiations can begin under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

For six to eight months American manufacturers and other interested parties may protest inclusion of their products in GATT negotiations. But after the Tariff Commission hearings the President is authorized to issue the final list. Negotiations may then begin.

This "Kennedy Round" of tariff negotiations is scheduled to begin May 4, 1964, in Geneva but may have to be held in abeyance until a U.N. conference on World Trade runs its course. The latter, called at the urging of Russia and some underdeveloped nations, gets underway in mid-March.

Freedom's Responsibilities

Take Duties, Negroes Told

Negroes must "fight" against discrimination and segregation, but "see that we are able to assume all of the responsibilities which go along with a free people."

This was the plea Saturday night of John F. Perdue, Bagley School principal, in a speech to the Pontiac Choir Union, an organization of Negro church choirs.

Perdue discussed "The Negro in a Changing World" at the group's 17th annual banquet.

He said the job picture is extremely bleak for the individual without any skills or profession. Automation means fewer jobs, he said.

PRIMARY AIM

"If this is true," he continued, "one of the primary aims of a person (must) be to obtain as much training as possible to compete in, or to survive in this space age."

Perdue said that Negro youth should realize that education is the road to complete freedom and equal status.

"The advancement of Negroes is proof that education is the haven of racial progress."

The school principal emphasized that while the walls of discrimination are crumbling, Negroes are "unprepared to grasp many opportunities presented them."

Man Charged With Perjury

One of three men who escaped May 30 from Camp Pontiac and later were found guilty of robbing a Waterford man hours after they fled was arraigned in Circuit Court yesterday on a perjury charge.

John W. Breathour, 29, of Port Huron, stood mute before Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem, who entered a plea of innocent for him.

Breathour is accused of giving perjured testimony in the trial of Charles Byas, 22, of Detroit, another of the three. Byas was found guilty of unarmed robbery by a jury and will be sentenced by Judge Ziem Oct. 29.

Breathour and Norman Royer, 21, of Avon Township, were brought from the state prison at Jackson to testify at the trial. The two had received 5- to 15-year terms after pleading guilty to the unarmed robbery of William R. Cleveland at his home at 1530 Williams Lake.

The three were accused of forcing their way into Cleveland's home and taking money and his car after their escape from Camp Pontiac, a minimum-security prison in White Lake Township.

who are breaking down barriers of prejudice are not qualified for the new jobs in industry and government now open to them," he said.

"Even worse," Perdue continued, "Negro students often fail to show even a desire to get ahead."

He said the National Urban League, which finds jobs for Negroes in industry "has more job openings than qualified Negroes can fill."

Perdue pointed out that only four of the 208 students from Negro colleges who took the U.S. State Department's foreign service entrance examination in the past four years made passing grades.

ALL FAILED

He said, for further illustration, that recently a major auto firm gave clerk-typist exams to 50 Negro girls in a certain city and all 50 failed.

The Urban League of that city offered a free typing course with the understanding that they could reapply for the jobs. Only one of the girls took the free course.

"Parents," Perdue said, "are just as responsible for achievement of these goals as Negro youth."

The principal said every right implies a responsibility; every opportunity, an obligation; every possession, a duty.

CONSIDER CONDUCT

He called for parents and Negro youth to seriously consider the conduct of young persons. He said the behavior of youth in some cities is creating "a bad image of the Negro."

"I have a dream that one day our Negro parents in all communities will insist that their children's conduct be the kind of which all will be proud."

Perdue added that Negro youth should "take heart and not feel discouraged today," for the opportunities are many for the trained individual.

"No longer can we say, 'I did not get the job because I am colored,'" Perdue said.

He concluded, "You are not selected on the basis of color any more in many fields, but on the basis of your training and knowledge."

'Bias' Stops Army Band

LAGRANGE, Ga. (UP) — The 3rd Army band from Ft. McPherson refused to play in the first LaGrange College homecoming parade because of an alleged segregation policy.

A 3rd Army spokesman said yesterday a recent Defense Department ruling banned service groups from taking part in segregated events.

Mark Johnson, student chairman of homecoming at the white college, said although there were no Negroes in the parade, none was barred.

Students Can Win Essay Prizes

High school students have been given an opportunity to win cash prizes by writing essays on Pontiac during the Civil War.

The objective of the contest is to stimulate interest of students about this period of history and to gather data that may eventually be published.

The Michigan Civil War Centennial Observance Commission is sponsoring the contest and the Downtown Kiwanis Club of Pontiac is providing the awards.

Open to students in the 10th, 11th and 12th grades at Pontiac's four high schools, the contest will end Nov. 29 and winners will be named by Dec. 15.

He's Ngo Dance Man

West Swings to Nhu Step

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — In the past fortnight, virtually every newsman with access to the public print has had a go at South Viet Nam's Mme. Nhu.
There is something about this incredible and controversial lady that is journalistically challenging. She has the s m a, effect on newsmen that Mt. Everest has on mountain climbers.
Not being an expert on Asian affairs, I wouldn't attempt to weigh the impact of her U.S. visit on relations between her country and America.
There is, however, one facet of her career that I am more than qualified to appraise. I refer to her act in banning dancing in Viet Nam.

If Mme. Nhu feels that some unkind things have been written about her, she might like to know that on this issue at

Republicans Pick Director

Area Accountant Will Head '64 Campaign

Madison Heights accountant Dale A. Feet was named yesterday to spearhead the Republican party's campaign in Oakland County next year.

Appointment of the 31-year-old Feet as the county GOP's 1964 campaign director was announced by Oakland County GOP Chairman Charles L. Lyle.

"With his talent for organization, his ability to work with people and produce the results we want, Dale Feet is a natural for the job," Lyle said.

CPA IN DETROIT
Feet, a certified public accountant with Price Waterhouse and Co. in Detroit, has been GOP director for the 6th Legislative District for the past year.

He was credited with pulling the district together and building a smooth working organization despite Democratic dominance of the district at the polls. Lyle said Feet, whose political activities began with a number of volunteer committees, was responsible for several "firsts" in the 6th district, including its first "Neighbor-to-Neighbor" fund drive and a machine catalog of canvass records and poll lists.

A former Pontiac resident, Feet is a graduate of the University of Florida. He and his wife have four children.

least there is one American newsman who is with her 100 per cent.

A BOON
Being one of the most dedicated non-dancers in the Western Hemisphere, I regard her antidancing edict as a boon to humanity.

"My country is the only country in the world where we never danced," Mme. Nhu explained when we met, we enjoy ourselves."

Bravo! Well said! There are few things on earth more deleterious to enjoyment than dancing.

Imagine a land that is free of the gavot, the minuet, the reel, the jig, the horripole, the cakewalk, the quadrille, the waltz, the polka, the mazurka, the schottische, the two-step and the fox-trot, not to mention the highland fling, the rumba, the samba, the bossa nova and the twist.

NO DANCE FLOOR
Imagine a land where a man can take his wife out to dinner without first surreptitiously checking to make certain the joint doesn't have a dance floor.

Imagine being able to go home from a party without having your companion of the evening berate you for making her feel like a wallflower.

Imagine never again being informed that you have insulted the hostess by not asking her to dance.

I'll tell you, chumps, if Mme. Nhu's policy were universally adopted, it would eliminate the single most tedious source of marital friction.

Possibly she deserved some of the criticism sent her way, but any woman who takes a stand against terpsichorean torture can't be all bad.

Exiles Claim Cuba Landing

MIAMI (UPI)—The leader of a militant Cuban exile group, a band of armed commandos have landed in Cuba's hurricane-ravaged Oriente Province to wage war against Fidel Castro and his Communist followers.

Dr. Luis Conte Aguiro, chief of the Sentinels for Liberty, made the announcement yesterday but would not say how many guerrillas were in the band.

The commandos, he said, were led by Maj. Marcelino Rodriguez, a former officer in Castro's rebel forces. Aguiro said this was the group's first landing in Oriente Province, but did not indicate if the commandos would try to join other underground units or fight on their own.

Aguiro refused to give any further details about the landing, which presumably was launched from a secret Central American base.

State Road Near Acme Will Be Modernized

LANSING (AP)—The State Highway Department yesterday announced plans to spend $1.4 million in modernizing 8 1/2 miles of M-72 in Traverse County east of Acme.

This would connect a modern segment westward from Kalkaska to U.S. 31 at Acme. Work is expected to start in 1965.

PLANT WRECKED — Flames and smoke billow from burning textile dyeing plant yesterday in Paterson, N.J. Gas explosions touched off the spectacular blaze. Twenty-eight persons were injured and one is missing.

Tennessee Williams

Lonely Life Is Led by Writer

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP)—Tennessee Williams sat in the bar of the Hotel Rio and stared at his first martini. "Writing is a lonely life," he said.

He wore only simple bathing trunks and a luxuriant Van Dyke beard.

The most prolific and proficient of American playwrights had come to this tropical resort to concoct some new scenes for the film version of his play, "Night of the Iguana." Although producer Ray Stark was prepared to pay him a small fortune for his efforts, Williams asked only for his expenses.

As he sipped the martini, he seemed world-weary. "I usually do my writing in Key West," he said. "There is no social life there, and that suits me. I avoid all social contact. I think a writer must."

EXHAUSTING WORK
"Nobody but a writer knows how exhausting it is to write. Nobody except perhaps a writer's wife. She knows what hell he goes through and how little he is paid for his efforts."

"I can only write three or four hours a day. After that I'm emotionally worn out. I've never been able to write very well in Mexico; it is too humid and enervating here. It is hot in Key West, too, but there you have the trade winds that make the climate continually interesting."

Williams, who is not married, said that he knows a few writers—he mentioned Carson McCullers as a particular friend—but generally he avoids his fellow craftsmen.

"They are under the impression that I am a rich man," he explained, "and that complicates things. The fact is that I am not a rich man, not rich at all. From the moment I started making money on my plays, I was in the 86-90 per cent income tax bracket. How on earth can I save any money?"

BUSINESS DEALS

When Williams finishes here, he will attend to some business in New York and then go to Key West to work on one of three plays he has in mind. His contribution to this season in New York will be a rewrite of last year's "The Milk Train Doesn't Stop Here Any More."

"It is about 65 per cent rewritten," he said. "I thought it might be valuable to get a new concept of the play and a new company. It came out during the newspaper strike and ran only 69 performances. I thought it was worth doing again."

It is mental energy that keeps him writing, Williams said. Every morning after breakfast he can be seen climbing the stairs to his hotel room, a large soft drink in hand and his Boston terrier Gigi at his heels, ready to face his three to four hours of the lonely life.

1 in 10 Faces Injury

Hunters Buck Heart Ills

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — More than one in 10 deer hunters over 40 years of age—possibly many more—face serious heart trouble in an all-out, successful deer hunt.

This was the chief conclusion of a unique series of experiments recently conducted in Minneapolis, in which hunters actually broadcast the strain put on their hearts under simulated hunting conditions.

Thirty-seven hunters, all over 40 and certified by their own doctors as having normal hearts, were re-checked by a volunteer team of doctors. Then they sloshed through heavy gravel for three minutes, dragging a 100-pound sandbag to simulate pulling a deer out of snowy woods.

Tiny radio transmitters strapped to their waists broadcast their electrocardiograms to receivers monitored by doctors nearby.

HALED TESTS

Of the 37 men, four showed abnormal heart activity sufficient to halt their tests. The test results, to be published in the November issue of Minnesota Medicine, were released in advance by the Minnesota Heart Association as a warning to deer hunters before the Minnesota season opens next month.

Since more than one in 10 of a carefully screened group failed the test, said Dr. Arthur C. Kerhof, director of the heart group's work valuation unit, it is probable that the percentage of failure would be considerably higher for the mass of over-40 deer hunters who take to the woods.

However, Dr. Kerhof said, a deer hunter who takes it easy has the odds much more in his favor.

"The tests were deliberately planned to measure maximum heart stress on a deer hunter who not only gets his deer but who drags it out of snowy woods single-handed," he said.

Abilene Unit Plans Chapel for All Faiths

ABILENE, Kan. (AP)—Plans to build a $150,000 all-faiths chapel at the Eisenhower Center in Abilene were announced Monday by Harry Darby, chairman of the Eisenhower Library Commission.

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was present for the unveiling of a portrait of himself at the library.

Darby said the chapel would be built as the result of a suggestion made by Eisenhower last July.

"We hope to have the chapel ready for dedication next fall," Darby said.

On his last visit here Eisenhower said he believed Americans should always have a place where they can sit down "and meditate about the greatness of God and about the future of all mankind in this world."

British Guiana Talks Resume

Latins Still Apart on Independence Plan

LONDON (UPI) — Colonial Secretary Duncan Sandys attempted today to get bitterly opposed political leaders of British Guiana to agree on a formula for independence in Britain's troubled South American colony.

Sandys was resuming an independence conference adjourned in London exactly a year ago because of a deadlock between Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan and opposition leader Forbes Burnham.

Since then, the split between the ruling People's Progressive party (PPP) and the opposition People's National Congress (PNC) has become wider.

Burnham's PNC, composed largely of Negroes, gave strong backing this summer to a disastrous 11-week general strike protesting a labor bill introduced by Jagan's government and since withdrawn.

SUPPORTED BY PARTY
The PNC has the support of the small United Force party headed by Peter d'Aguilar, who is of Portuguese extraction.

The bulk of PPP members, like Jagan, are of East Indian ancestry. The violent strike, in which several persons were killed and British troops had to be flown in to preserve order, aggravated racial hostility between Negroes and East Indians.

Jagan has been pressing for full independence for British Guiana and favors lowering the voting age to 16 because of the rising Indian birth rate and a reported large number of East Indian teen-agers.

Burnham and d'Aguilar oppose independence under Jagan's leadership and have expressed fears that Jagan will set up a dictatorship modeled on the regime of Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

WANT NEW SYSTEM
They want the present voting system, similar to that in the United States, replaced by proportional representation. This would give the Negro community political representation in relation to its total nationwide vote rather than the number of legislators it can elect in individual constituencies.

Jagan has made statements favorable to Castro and has asked for aid from both the East and West.

The United States rejected a request for financial aid this year but Cuba helped supply the colony with oil and other goods shipped in Russian ships during the general strike, in return for cotton and rice.

British Guiana currently has a large measure of internal autonomy under a British governor, but Britain still has charge of its foreign affairs and defense.

PROPOSES COMMISSION
Jagan proposed that a conciliation commission made up of representatives from British Commonwealth nations go to British Guiana and use its good offices to reach a settlement before the London talks were held.

Sandys refused to do this but the colonial office announced that the idea of such a commission has not been ruled out.

Jagan proposed Ghana, India, Ceylon and Trinidad as possible members.

When Sandys visited British Guiana soon after the end of the general strike in July, he suggested a coalition government be formed among members of all political parties. Jagan rejected the suggestion.

Governor Sets Midwest Talks

Parley Called to Deal With States' Troubles

OMAHA (AP) — Gov. Frank B. Morrison says it is important for states in the Midwest to deal collectively with political, social and economic problems common to the region.

The Nebraska governor made the comment at a news conference following a meeting held in preparation for the second Midwestern Governors' Conference to be held here Nov. 26-27.

Morrison is the host governor and will serve as vice chairman of the conference. The chairman will be Gov. William L. Guy of North Dakota.

Governors of South Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Minnesota, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio also are scheduled to attend.

ALSO INVITED
"In addition, we have invited the governors of Colorado, Wyoming and Montana to meet with us," Morrison said.

"We want to discuss some of the common problems of the Missouri River basin and the Old West Trail which we are implementing as a historical and tourist project. The trail originates at Omaha and extends through Nebraska, Wyoming, Montana and North and South Dakota."

Morrison said the conference agenda includes workshops on economic development, industrial expansion, agricultural marketing and research and educational problems.

"For example, education today is not only a cultural necessity but a necessity to industrial development," Morrison said. "It becomes a foundation on which industrial expansion must be built."

"The Midwest is not getting its share of research funds and projects," Morrison added. "This is one of the areas that needs correction."

'Russ Cuba Units Cut Two-Thirds'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Army Chief of Staff Gen. Earle G. Wheeler says that the Soviet Union has withdrawn about two-thirds of its forces from Cuba since last October's crisis.

Wheeler told the association of the U.S. Army yesterday the remaining Russians were mainly technicians, training personnel and some air defense specialists.

While Wheeler did not mention any exact figures, officials have estimated the peak Russian force at 22,000. His statement indicated there are only a little more than 7,000 stationed there at present.

Hastings to Obtain Building for Library

CHICAGO (AP) — The old post office in Hastings, Mich., will become a public library. The General Services Administration announced today the one-story building on a half acre of land has been assigned to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare for transfer to the city of Hastings for use as a library.

Junior Editors Quiz on ATOMS

IF GASES HAVE DIFFERENT WEIGHTS SO HAVE ATOMS

HERE'S A PROBLEM: 2 ATOMS OF HYDROGEN RUSH TO JOIN 1 OF OXYGEN

THIS MAKES A MOLECULE — BUT OF WHAT SUBSTANCE?

QUESTION: How can scientists speak of "atomic weight" when atoms are so small?

ANSWER: When John Dalton, in 1806, suggested the atomic theory of matter, scientists didn't try to weigh the atom in tiny scales — they got an atomic weight by another very ingenious method.

In 1811, the Italian Amadeo Avogadro made an important discovery called "Avogadro's law." This says that if different gases are put in the same sized containers, with the same pressure and temperature, each vessel will contain the same number of particles.

It had been found that gases had different weights, as symbolized in our picture. Avogadro knew that a gallon of oxygen was 16 times heavier than a gallon of hydrogen, but his law said that there were the same number of atoms in each gallon. So, an oxygen atom must weigh 16 times more than one of hydrogen.

Oxygen was taken as standard and given the weight 16; hydrogen then had the atomic weight of 1. Other materials were then compared with oxygen and given weights.

Other ways of weighing atoms have been worked out, but atomic weight is still spoken of as being the weight of some atom compared with an atom of oxygen, or, more recently, with an atom of carbon.

FOR YOU TO DO: Look up Dalton and Avogadro in an encyclopedia and learn more about the discoveries which led to our atomic age. (Did you work out our problem? If not, the answer is a five-letter word beginning with "w").

The English language usually is divided into three periods: Old English, middle English and modern English.

The U.S. Constitution does not give the American people their rights and liberties. It guarantees them.

Since January 1948 the standard out Australia have been fixed at 40.

Don't Insist on Paying for Spills

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: Last night I had several guests in to dinner and as we were being served, the waitress accidentally spilled some gravy on the dress of one of my guests.

Will you please tell me if I should offer to have the dress cleaned for her, or just what is a hostess supposed to do in a situation of this kind?

A: Since it was your maid who was at fault, you should offer to have your guest's dress cleaned, but if she refuses, which she probably will do, don't insist.

Q: My mother-in-law died recently. The day of the funeral, my husband's unmarried sister, his older brother and his wife plus their three half-grown children were seated in the first car.

My husband and I were seated in the second car. I think my husband's place was in the first car with his sister and brother and that the children should have been in another car.

Am I wrong in feeling that the grandchildren should not have been put before a son?

A: I don't see that you have any cause to feel that your husband was slighted.

I think it was wise to put the grandchildren in the first car with their parents who could keep an eye on them and see that they behaved themselves.

Q: My sister died a little over a year ago. Her husband remarried recently. His new wife has been a close friend of the family for many years. They were married quietly in another city. We received an announcement. Should we send a gift?

A: The mere fact of your receiving an announcement does not obligate you to send a present. You send one or not according to your own personal feeling for the bride and groom.

Women Stay on the Phone for UF

Telephoned reports of residential gifts are an important function of volunteer workers in the United Fund Drive effort.

During the 10-day women's campaign, solicitors let their chairman know how the campaign is going and assess their progress as well by phoning returns to neighborhood and district chairmen.

FIRST REPORT MADE

The first report was made Oct. 18. Women's campaign chairman, Mrs. William Brace received totals from Pontiac, Waterford and Lake Angelus chairmen toward the women's goal of $29,671.

At appointed times during each additional report day (Oct. 22, 25 and 28) solicitors will have been in touch with neighborhood chairmen in turn report to district chairmen.

The women hope to be "over the top" by Friday of this week.

Some of the chairmen who spend a great deal of time on the telephone during the United Fund drive are shown today.

They and all the other women volunteers will meet Oct. 30 for luncheon at the Elks Temple to celebrate the success of the drive and receive Indian Oscars for quotas met.

Voters League Sets Meetings

Two United Nations programs will be presented to the membership of the League of Women Voters of Pontiac this week.

Laura Belz, former State Board member, will speak on changing world conditions at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Francis J. McGinty on Crescent Point.

Miss Belz will review financing, economic and social changes, disarmament, and the Development Decade of the UN. Comparative costs of defense and peacemaking aspects of the UN will also be given.

GENERAL GROUP
LWV members will present a panel "Facts for Fallacies on the UN" at the general gathering Thursday at 7:45 p.m. in the Community Services Building.

At both meetings, the League's position: "Continued support of the UN system and an evaluation of means to strengthen that system under present-day conditions" will be discussed.

Women of voting age who subscribe to the principles and purpose of the League are eligible for membership in the LWV, a national organization which encourages active participation of citizens in government.

Guests are welcome to attend either meeting.

Furs Fashion in New Hat Styles

Fur felt bodies make a comeback in fall millinery. Look also for leathers, suedes and reptiles, more furs in the unusual category such as lynx, stenciled calf and white lamb, and ostrich for evening.

Trailing ostrich plumes falling almost to the waist on tiny skullcap hats were shown for evening with the Norman Norell designer collection of ready-to-wear.

MRS. W. FORSYTH, NEIGHBORHOOD CHAIRMAN

This Romance Can't Cross Barrier of Mixed Religion

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: I am a Catholic girl who has been going around with a Jewish boy for over two years.

We met on the street one day when I asked him for directions. I am 24 and he is 29.

He says he loves me, but he's never married. I have never met his mother. He says she is a very intelligent woman, but extremely religious.

In fact, her brother is a rabbi. My problem is that his mother is in very good health and she is not old, either.

I really love this fellow, Abby, and I'd give anything to marry him, except give up my religion. Do you see any future for us?

HOPING
DEAR HOPING: (I would hate to ask you what you are "hoping for.") Don't invest any more time in this man. You may "love" each other. But not enough.

DEAR ABBY: I am going to be married soon. The organ at our church is very old and doesn't have a very good tone.

I would like to have a stereo record player set up in the church and go down the aisle to that. My sister says it is a stupid idea.

I want my wedding to be something beautiful to remember, and not married by poor organ music.

Is my idea too out of the ordinary? Or do you think it would work?

ENGAGED
DEAR ENGAGED: It's your wedding, not your sister's. Use the stereo and don't let your sis needle you about it.

DEAR ABBY: When a man asks you for a date, is there any tactic way to ask him if he is married or not?

CAREFUL
DEAR CAREFUL: In the first place, a "careful" girl wouldn't go out with a man about whom she knew so little.

But if she finds herself in that situation, she should come right out and ask if he is married. Taft has nothing to do with it.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "SWEDEN"
It's sometimes difficult to tell whether one is acting out of the warmth of his heart, or coldness.

Vivian Rusch Wears Taffeta

The Robert Emory Beedles (Vivian Leah Rusch) who were wed Saturday in St. Michael Church, chose Niagara Falls for their brief honeymoon.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred A. Rusch of Newberry Road, Mrs. Emory R. Beedle of Airport Road and the late Mr. Beedle.

Sequins and pearls accented the bride's gown of bouquet taffeta and Chantilly lace. The full gathered skirt featured a lace front panel and tiered back ruffles cascading into a chapel train.

PEARL TIARA
A Swedish tiara of pearls held her French illusion veil. White orchids, carnations and Stephanotis rested on her misal.

Bronze and yellow pompons and chrysanthemums complemented gowns of avocado green peau de soie for Sue Springer, honor maid and bridesmaids Mrs. James Pass, Royal Oak and Karen Sage.

On the esquire side, were best man Joseph Umphrey, also Donald Beedle and William Wood who ushered.

the Community Activities Building.

Mrs. Beedle is a graduate of Oakland University and her husband attended Michigan State University.

Rebekahs Send Two Delegates

Mrs. Leonard Roberts and Mrs. Don Bussard are representing the Pontiac Rebekah Lodge 450 at the Rebekah Assembly this week in Grand Rapids.

At the October meeting Friday in Malta Temple, Mrs. Elton Houston, Mrs. Gene Lowery and Mrs. Mae Harder were initiated as new members.

The past noble guests met recently in the home of Mrs. Hubert McCann on Crooks Road.

Address Corrected
The address of Beverly Jean Segedi was incorrectly stated in Monday's paper. She lives on Glenwood Avenue.

Hears Travel Report

"World Travels" was the topic of Mrs. E. G. Garrison at the Monday meeting of the Pontiac Woman's Club at Pontiac City Library.

Mrs. E. M. Malone was appointed local chairman for the women's clubs "Dimes for Liberty" crusade to help provide an American museum of immigration at the base of the Statue of Liberty.

Mrs. Alex Christy and Mrs. LeRoy Hecox were welcomed as new members and Mrs. Anton Bego, as a guest.

CARD PARTY
Plans were completed for the benefit card party to be held Nov. 5 at the First Federal Savings and Loan of Oakland club rooms with Mrs. Earle Hoskins as general chairman.

Working on the hostess committee for the day were Mrs. Oro D. Brown, Mrs. George Crisman, Mrs. Aaron Fox, Mrs. Ora Haddrell, and Mrs. Charles Lloyd. Others were Mrs. Harvey W. Perry, Mrs.

Ivan Royal, Louise Paddock, Mrs. N. P. Warrenner, and Mrs. W. M. Morgan.

Indoor Garden Meeting Topic for Local Club

Harry Whang, former gardening consultant for H. L. Hudson Co., spoke on "Indoor and Outdoor Gardens" at the 1:30 p.m. Monday meeting of the Pontiac branch of the Womens National Farm and Garden Association.

Mrs. Harry Pearce, of Sylvan Lake, opened her home for the meeting with Mrs. W. K. Willman, Mrs. Bruce Annett, Mrs. F. Gaebauer assisting. Others helping were Mrs. Robert Castell, Mrs. Robert Armstrong, Mrs. Jack Van Covering, and Mrs. Robert Dunlay.

Four new members were introduced: Mrs. Harold Dudley, Mrs. Vaughn Garrison, Mrs. William Gordon, and Mrs. H. A. Mulvey.

Missionary Guilds Will Hold Fall Rally

Twenty-six area guilds will participate in a fall rally sponsored by the Lakeland Zone, Lutheran Women's Missionary League, Wednesday, in St. Paul Lutheran Church.

Host pastor Maurice Shackell will offer devotions and Mrs. Ardell Schmitgall will welcome an expected assembly of 250. Altar guild members Mrs. Ben Hawkins Jr. and Mrs. Raymond Greer will usher.

Luncheon hostesses will be Mrs. Ben Hawkins and Mrs.

Henry P. Jarrard. The kitchen committee includes Mrs. Norman Fraehlich, Mrs. N. W. Gironx and Mrs. Gilbert Buhl.

Mrs. Robert Tinson and Mrs. Glenn Solomon are dining-room chairmen.

Mrs. W. C. Grafe, zone chairman, and Mrs. C. A. Heumann of Berkeley, will direct the Christian Youth Program at 12:45 p.m.

Registration will open at 10 a.m. with Mrs. Edwin Solomon, Mrs. Lloyd Frisch and Mrs. Schmitgall assisting.

Extension Members Go to National Convention

Four Pontiac area women are among the 36 Michigan delegates at the National Home Demonstration Council (NHDC) convention in Little Rock, Ark. this week.

Mrs. Herman Trout, president of Oakland county council, heads the local group. With her are Mrs. Sarah Garrett, Mrs. William Looney and Mrs. Ora L. Porritt.

More than 5,000 women from throughout the United States will take part in the conference. Organized in 1956, NHDC provides informal adult education in home economics and family living. There are more than 30,000 members in the Michigan Home Economics Extension Council.

Delegates will hear Senator J. William Fulbright D-Ark., discuss "Better Homes through Education."

Another speaker is Dr. Margaret C. Browne, former member of the Michigan State University extension staff, and now director of the Division of Home Economics Programs, Federal Extension Service. Her topic is "Leadership—A Social Responsibility."

Use Oven Mitt for Protection

Overweights Sad

Overweight people are apt to be either unhappy or immature, according to three medical researchers who surveyed the records of 1,000 people.

'Painted Face' Needs Soap

When the children play grownup, or the sub-teens experiment with make-up, make sure that their faces are thoroughly washed before going to bed. It requires lots of warm soapsuds to scrub away all traces of lipstick, powder, rouge, and eye make-up.

against hard-to-remove smears. It will also teach youngsters the important lesson that "making down" is every bit as important as making up!

Records show night traffic accidents are twice as likely to result in fatalities as those in daytime.

Kids Plus Food—Contamination?

Instruct children to wash their hands in the bathroom—not in the kitchen sink. This health tip comes from William H. Cary, Jr., chief of the Washington, D. C. Bureau of Environmental Health.

Mr. Cary comments that children, after play, are about the most contaminated creatures that can come into a kitchen. Splashing dirt, as they wash their hands, can likewise contaminate nearby food or dishes.

The rain bar, a recent innovation in rain wear merchandising, has actually created a ready-to-wear department within the notion department according to manufacturing members.

Banging Bongos Good for Babies

A baby who bangs on the bongos is both enjoying himself and developing his muscles.

Unbreakable plastic drums, which come in pastel colors designed for the nursery, need to be suds-swabbed daily to keep them safely sanitary for baby hands — and mouth!

Bringing Up Baby.

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 3

I once asked the proud father of two wonderfully adjusted children what he thought were the best guides to good parenthood. Without a moment's hesitation he said: "Patience, perception and playfulness." Nice to have a father's viewpoint and such a good one, too.

Two-way plan. Fulllest enjoyment of a baby comes when both parents share in the fun and fanfare of baby care. And the biggest rewards for dads come when they spend some time alone with their heirs or heireses. If dad's too tired at night to take over, why not plan some Saturday time for baby and dad while you have a fling at shopping or something?

Protective measures. Gerber Snap-On Cover-All Bibs provide foolproof protection from spills 'n' splashes... spare baby's clothes from stains. Deep pocket across bottom of bibs catches stray droplets. Adjustable neck opening allows for proper fit and growth. Under-arm snaps make them ever so easy to slip on and off.

Gerber Cover-All Bibs are made of soft, white, polyvinyl film that's machine-washable and easily wipeable. A cunning kitten and bouncy bunnies grace the bibs in pink, yellow or blue. At supermarkets everywhere.

Wise words and true from a sensible mother: "It took me a long time to realize that Laurel ate more, and with more relish, when I stopped coaxing and clock-watching and started feeding her when she indicated she was really hungry."

Invitation to delight and a bright appetite. Gerber Strained and Junior Fruits are small-fry delicacies of the first order. That's because they're flash-cooked to preserve the wonderful flavors Mother Nature meant them to have. Cooking in seconds does something even more important! It helps preserve the utmost in precious vitamin values for your baby's nutritional well-being. Gerber Baby Foods, Box 72, Fremont, Michigan.

Why Grow Old?

Q. "My daughter's hair is blonde as mine was when I was a child. Mine is dark now. Will baking soda in the rinse water help to keep the hair light, and if so, how much should I use?"

A. I have never heard of using baking soda in the rinse water. Anything you apply to the hair is temporary in that it either colors the hair or bleaches it. When it grows out, the shade will be the same.

Some blondes remain that way all of their lives, with only slight darkening. However, the tendency is for hair to become darker as one grows older.

I would not worry about your young daughter's hair. When she is older she can do something about it if she wishes to.

Q. "What can be done for a dry scalp with dandruff which is not caused by infection?"

A. If the situation is extreme I think at least one visit to a skin specialist would be wise. Otherwise give yourself a few hot oil treatments and use cream shampoos only. Also there are excellent tonics for a dry scalp.

Q. "As we grow older and develop more hairs on the face will a bleach for the hairs tend to bleach the skin and make it blotchy too?"

A. I have never heard of an instance such as this.

Q. "Would it be all right to use cosmetic wax under the arms to remove superfluous hair?"

A. It seems simpler to me to use a depilatory or shave.

Q. "I am a 14-year-old girl, 5 feet, 5 inches tall and weigh 130 pounds. I have a large bone structure. My measurements are: bust 35 inches, waist 25 inches and hips 36 inches. I have read on height and weight charts that I should weigh 121 pounds. I have tried to slim down but without success. I would be happy if you would prescribe a diet and some exercises for me."

A. According to average weights you should weigh about 121 pounds. However these do not take into consideration bone structure. Your measurements are about perfect! I guess that your weight is correct for your build.

You do not need special exercises for a special measurement since you are well proportioned. If you or any of my readers would like to have my short exercise routine for the most usual figure faults (a well-rounded routine) send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with the request for leaflet number 19 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Stones Form Business Foundation

By GAY PAULEY
NEW YORK (UPI) — Helen Snyder has built a rare business on the rocks.

The Milwaukee-born woman to whom semi-precious stones and minerals are both a livelihood and an artistic satisfaction says she is "part pioneer, part engineer, part miner, part architect, part designer."

The pioneer title comes from the fact she calls herself from the first interior designer to use numerous varieties of minerals such as fluorite and quartz and semi-precious stones such as amethyst and aquamarine in home decoration.

DECORATOR'S DECORATOR

She said she's still unique in her role as a "decorator's decorator," running up custom order stone items for other decorators around the nation who want everything from wall scorces to fountains for their clients.

In Miss Snyder's busy New York street shop, there are "at least 1,000 types of minerals and stones" on display. And the lively, blonde-haired, blue-eyed woman said she knows the name of each — the quartzes, galenas, agates, garnets, opals, and infintum.

Trained in interior design and architecture, Miss Snyder began her career with decorative items for the home.

She will design, and she and her assistants Rose Rossi and Eddie Gaglio will run up smoothly polished tops for coffee or occasional tables, polished or smooth desk pen holders, paper weights, mirrors, lamps.

"They've done entire floors for some homes. The day I visited the shop, highlights, a mass of assorted stones had been shaped and sealed together, to form a four-foot fountain for a New York penthouse dweller. Her two assistants were busy piling small irregular shaped stone upon stone of rock crystal for lamp bases.

Lamp bases are one of the major parts of her business. To give you an idea of their cost, one New York shop is selling some of rock crystal for $300 each. But her stones go to private collectors, to museums, and often industry will call on her for a large order of a mineral.

When stones are cut, a diamond saw is used — "Jewelry stones are twice as hard as steel," said Miss Snyder. But she wouldn't disclose how she makes them stick together in, say, a lamp base. She did explain the material used "always is of the same density as the stone."

LIFETIME ART

Helen Snyder, 65, is the daughter of E. J. Snyder, 85, a Milwaukeean who has devoted a lifetime to art. He has gathered collections for a number of private clients and museums, including The Metropolitan Museum of Art, New York, she said.

Miss Snyder was graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a degree in art and economics, was graduated from The Parsons School of Design, New York, and traveled Europe studying art and interiors.

She opened a decorating shop in the 1920's in New York and built a clientele which included a lot of the Wall Street brokers and what she called the "polo playing set."

She decorated Averell Harriman's home at Sands Point, N.Y. During World War II, she worked for the War Department in its engineering division in Washington.

"After the war, I knew I didn't want to go back to decorating as such," she said. "I thought the time had come to be more creative . . . to make things for other decorators."

Fronzizi Recovering From Back Operation

BUENOS AIRES (UPI)—Quoted ex-President Arturo Fronzizi underwent surgery yesterday for the removal of a benign tumor from his back; it was announced today.

Eduardo Gonzalez, Fronzizi's private secretary, said the operation performed by Dr. Ger-

Good Guys in White

LONDON (UPI)—A 15-year-old boy from Wolverhampton, England, told a juvenile court yesterday that police search him every time he comes to London just because he wears a black undershirt, black shirt, black vest and black jeans.

State Takes Licenses of 16 Drivers

Drivers' licenses of 16 area motorists were recently suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to convictions of drunk driving were:

Donald E. Lennox, 5640 Oster; Arza E. Lord, 3105 Gerald, Rochester; and Paul T. Morath, 41698 14-Mile, Walled Lake.

BAD RECORDS

Unsatisfactory driving records caused the following to have their licenses taken away:

Charles Jackson, 440 S. Saginaw; James D. Nickolopoulos, 164 Chandler; Darwin E. Pace, 781 E. Beverly; Robert H. Anderson, 139 Wendleton, Troy; Harry A. Bauers, 3148 Varjo, Keego Harbor; William M. Dyer, 5059 Elkin, Union Lake; Richard J. Milks, 18138 Kirkshire, Birmingham; Glenn W. Orr, 764 Hazelwood, Birmingham; and George H. Thomas, 1680 Witherbee, Birmingham.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfactory financial judgments against them were:

Johnnie D. Smith, 512 Bloomfield; Willie L. Hardin, 5790 Fleming Lake, Clarkston; and Homer A. and Mildred L. Russell, 4515 Kempf, Waterford Township.

Bomber Blasts by Terrorists Hit Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—Terrorist dynamites bombed the Education Ministry here Sunday night, causing some damage but no casualties, it was reported today.

The bomb was the fourth set off here in five days, marking renewed activity by terrorists who had been lying low since the armed forces ousted ex-president Carlos J. Arosemena in July.

On Wednesday night, City Hall and the Finance Ministry were bombed and on Saturday a bomb was set off in the grounds of the Colombian Embassy. No one was injured by any of the blasts.

Arosemena, who had been living in Panama as a refugee, left that country Wednesday or Thursday. His present whereabouts are unknown.

Girl's Burns Are Fatal

DETROIT (AP)—Delores Heikkinen, 15, died in Children's Hospital yesterday of burns suffered Oct. 12 when her clothing caught fire. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heikkinen, told police the girl had been trying to light a cigarette.

'Fiscal Health Result of Jobs'

LANSING (UPI)—State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock says higher employment is the main reason for Michigan's present fiscal health.

Lock, looking at the July-August-September state revenue situation, found increased employment reflected in higher business activities tax and sales tax collections.

"The most significant increase occurs in the revenues received from the business activities tax which shows an increase of $3.3 million or 18.1 per cent more than the same period last year.

"Higher levels of employment and payrolls are primarily responsible for this marked improvement," Lock commented in a statement.

"It is encouraging," he said, "to note that while tax receipts from the sale of automobiles continue to show strength, a large portion of the increase in sales taxes is due to nonautomotive business triggered, no doubt by continued high employment levels."

Sales tax collections for the quarter were $117.8 million, a 7 per cent increase over 1962.

Convict Free; 20-Year Term Overlooked

MIAMI (UPI)—Robert Lawrence was released yesterday after 25 years behind bars.

It was a mistake.

Police discovered too late that the 58-year-old man from Bainbridge, Ga., had another year to serve. A pickup order was issued with the notation he left no forwarding address.

Lawrence pleaded guilty at age 33 to eight burglary charges and was sentenced to five years on each count.

He was paroled, wound up in a fight, and returned to prison with an additional 20-year sentence for assault to commit murder.

APPEALS CONVICTION

This year Lawrence appealed the burglary convictions on the ground that he didn't have a lawyer at the first trial. He was retried and sentenced to 10 years, which he had served.

Monday he walked away from the county jail. But someone forgot the 20-year sentence on the assault to murder conviction, for which he had a lawyer.

On Negligent Homicide

Teen Charged in Death

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth hit the two youths who were changing a flat tire.

Fatally injured were Ronald J. Church, 18, of 21634 Albion, Farmington, and Carl B. Neely, 17, of 43831 Grand River, Novi.

Danny L. Farnsworth, 12, Gingell, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and a preliminary examination was scheduled for Oct. 30.

Farnsworth was the driver of a car that struck and killed David Levering, 15, of 177 S. Jessie, while he was crossing Auburn near Sanford.

Pontiac police said Farnsworth was driving with defective brakes.

He was released in custody of his parents.

A preliminary examination for another Pontiac resident charged with manslaughter in the traffic deaths of two teenagers, also on Friday, will be held Oct. 25 before Bloomfield Township Justice Alice Gilbert.

George H. Paulson, 31, of 59 Wall, was released from the Oakland County Jail yesterday after meeting a bond of $500.

Paulson's car ran off Telegraph Road north of 13 Mile and

If you're shopping compacts, don't gauge economy by gas mileage alone.

You can get 28 to 38 mpg in a SAAB. But you can get 150 mpg in a motor scooter. The point is that, unlike most other compacts, SAAB is designed for total economy: initial cost, operating costs, length of life.

A SAAB is economical to buy. It comes fully equipped with factory undercarriage, windshield washers, padded dash and visors, electric clock, and more. Most optional extras on other cars are standard equipment on a SAAB.

A SAAB is economical to own. Its unusual 3-cylinder, 2-stroke engine takes oil through the gas tank for consistently fresh lubrication that reduces engine wear. (No sludge or friction-causing particles) What's more, SAAB has front-wheel drive and near perfect weight distribution that saves tires. Some owners get 60,000 miles on them. Some get only 40,000. Few complain. Neither do owners who hate to see a car rust out. SAAB has a full belly pan to keep dirt and mud out. And a heavy-gauge steel body. In general, a SAAB shuns towing and repair expense.

All this adds up to total economy. In a SAAB's lifetime you come out miles ahead. Test-drive an economical 1964 SAAB soon. Only $1895. (Suggested retail price at East-Coast P.O.E. Delivery and local taxes extra.)

*1964 SAAB models and different variations for 1965 are 14-2000 cc.

U.S. Stronger, More Alert, Since Crisis in Cuba

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — Swift-rocket fighters are poised in Florida. Navy planes watch for large-batch ships. High-flying U2s cover the island at least once a week.

It is a year to the day since the Cuban missile crisis pulsed to a peak, and the United States has spent the time beefing up its military forces — particularly in Florida and the Caribbean.

The buildup is also global.

In the fall of 1962 the Air Force had about 180 liquid-fuel intercontinental ballistic missiles in place. Now about 460 are on constant ready.

The Navy had nine Polaris missile submarines. Now 13 are in commission.

The Soviet Union and Cuba face a much stronger and more alert United States than they did on the night of Oct. 22, 1962, when President Kennedy declared to the nation: "I have directed the armed forces to prepare for any eventuality."

Through the summer of 1962 the United States was aware of a military buildup in Communist Cuba, but its proportions and offensive nature came as a surprise.

Today, Soviet military forces on the island number something over 7,000—about one-third last fall's top strength—and "those remaining are largely engaged in training and advising Cuban units," according to the Pentagon.

Still in Cuba is a formidable array of up-to-date Soviet-supplied tanks, artillery, battlefield rockets, MIG fighters, missile-equipped patrol boats and anti-aircraft missiles.

NO MISSILES
The latest intelligence information indicates there has been no Soviet effort to reintroduce offensive missiles or bombers.

The Pentagon says the old missile bases "are still in a state of disrepair." There is no reason to believe, it is indicated, that strategic missiles are stored in caves.

Everything that moves in or around Cuba is under constant reconnaissance. The island is regularly photographed by U2s. The Navy maintains an air and surface patrol around the passages leading toward Cuba's ports. The Guantanamo naval base has been strengthened.

The Army has a Nike Hercules antiaircraft missile battalion and two Hawk air defense missile battalions in the Miami-Homestead Air Force base area and Key West regions.

A detachment of four F102 jet interceptors at Homestead has been increased to a squadron of 24 faster F104 jets.

More powerful radar is being installed at McCoy Air Force Base in Florida and a squadron of radar picket planes has been added.

U.S. authorities apparently believe the military threat from Cuba has been contained.

But until all Soviet forces are removed from Cuba, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said recently, they will be a "source of danger to the hemisphere."

Neil Staebler Blasts Barry

DETROIT (AP) — Michigan's congressman-at-large, Democrat Neil Staebler, charges that ideas of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., on how to run the United States represent "extremist thinking running wild."

If the country were to fol-

Rocketfeller Goes West for Confabs

NEW YORK (UPI) — Gov. Nelson Rockefeller heads west today for some political push-taking in Utah and California.

The New York governor last night put himself in the vanguard of fighters for Negro equality by attacking the civil rights stance of both Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., and President Kennedy.

He charged Kennedy with trying to "water down" pending civil rights legislation and Goldwater with being willing to leave the matter up to the states. This "of course would include... Ross Barnett's Mississippi and George Wallace's Alabama," Rockefeller said.

"The struggle for human equality must not be a political chess game," he declared, "for the goal is human justice."

Both Rockefeller and Goldwater are considered as potential Republican standard bearers for next year's presidential race against Kennedy.

The governor is scheduled to stop off today at Salt Lake City, Utah for a conference with Utah Republican leaders and a speech at the University of Utah.

He then resumes his flight westward for a round of speeches and a news conference tomorrow in San Francisco. He moves on to Los Angeles on Thursday.

College Bill Back in House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent back to the House an amended $1.9 billion college construction aid bill. Prospects for final enactment still are uncertain.

Long-time supporters of such federal outlays noted that while both branches passed a college bill last year the final compromise worked out in conference died this year, however, appear brighter.

60-10 TO VOTE

The Senate gave a solid 60-10 vote to the bill Monday with 41 Democrats and 19 Republicans favoring it. Eleven Democrats, all Southerners, and 8 Republicans voted no. The House passed the bill 287 to 113 Aug. 14.

Rep. Edith Green, D-Ore., chief sponsor of the legislation in the House, said she was hopeful the measure could be sent to conference promptly.

One objection can shut it to the Rules Committee, often the graveyard of education bills, and such an objection appears certain when the conference is requested on the House floor. It then would be up to Rules to grant the conference.

low Goldwater's leadership, Staebler told the Economic Club of Detroit in a debate yesterday. "There is no question in my mind that we would end up at war."

Staebler's attack on Goldwater climaxed debate between the congressman-at-large and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Grand Rapids, chairman of the GOP House Conference, who the Democrat said had echoed some Goldwater ideas through defense of Republican attempts to cut back foreign aid programs.

Ford having used his allotted speaking time, had no chance to reply before the club. However, he told newsmen afterward that Democrats apparently have decided on what he called "a sort of McCarthy-like approach" to discredit Goldwater as a potential candidate for president in 1966.

Staebler's attack, Ford said, proves that Democrats assess Goldwater "as a tough candidate."

"They're cutting him up already," he said. "They're exaggerating his positions."

REAL CHARGES

Staebler said his charges from a proposed statement, and said Goldwater wants to "surrender the emerging nations to Communism," which, Staebler said, is what would happen if "we should stop foreign aid as he favors."

He would withdraw diplomatic recognition from Russia, Staebler said, "which makes no distinction between Red China and Russia, nor does he see any advantage in exploiting the current split between these Communist countries."

Ford, who frequently is mentioned as a potential Republican nominee for vice president in 1964, attacked the Kennedy administration's military and spending policies in his speech to the Economic Club.

Ford contended the United States was better off both militarily and economically during President Dwight Eisenhower's administration than it is under President Kennedy.

"They have not balanced the federal budget and it will not be balanced in any year," he said. Any tax cut, he said, should be accompanied by restraints in spending.

Ford said these were other examples of what he termed short comings of the Kennedy administration.

Continuing presence of the Berlin wall and the Soviet-backed dictatorship, the United States confined policy in Vietnam, the rise of military dictatorships in Latin America and other troubles abroad.

In answering Ford's charges, Staebler said the federal budget was unbalanced through most of the Eisenhower administration and that non-defense spending has decreased in proportion to the total budget since the end of 1960.

English Bus Arrived

Just a Bit Early

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — A scarlet, double-decker London bus ended a 600-mile dash from Memphis, Tenn., to Houston only for its crew to find their breakdown journey unnecessary. The No. 11 Routemaster, on a goodwill tour, was racing to catch a ship for home. After arriving here Monday, the drivers found the sailing date was today — 24 hours later than they thought.

Draws National Interest

N. Dakota Vote Has Clue

FARGO, N.D. (AP) — National leaders of both parties watched closely today as voters in 23 eastern North Dakota counties chose a congressman in a special election.

The result of the race between Republican Mark Andrews and Democrat John Hove is expected to provide a clue to electoral sentiment in farm areas.

Andrews, 38, rancher and former GOP national committee member was a slight favorite in the traditionally Republican district. His political future was regarded as being on the line after a 2,007-vote loss to Democratic Gov. William L. Guy last year.

Viewed also as a threat to Andrews is the candidacy of John Scott, 61, wealthy farmer-banker from Gilby. Scott decided to run as an independent because he said the Republican convention did not nominate a candidate conservative enough to suit him. He has denied being a member of the John Birch Society but has attacked both regular candidates as too liberal.

Hove, making his first bid for office, had Gov. Guy running interference for him during much of the brief campaign. Hove, 47, is a university English professor who made much in his talks of having spent the first half of his life on a farm.

Andrews, using the defeat of the wheat referendum earlier this year, has banged away at the Kennedy administration's farm, economic and foreign aid programs. He has been a constant critic of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman. Andrews favors crop controls but at county levels.

BACKS POLICIES

Hove, generally backing Kennedy policies, has been reluctant in his speeches to identify himself with Freeman. He, too, favors a voluntary system of controls but has not spelled one out in detail.

In a campaign limited to his northern tier of counties in the district, Scott has called for the federal government to get out of farming, business and edu-tory, where researchers are attempting to develop a controlled version of the hydrogen bomb.

Seek Signs in Tito Talk to U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — Yugoslav President Tito, the "man in the middle," returned to the United Nations today for the first time since the famous 1960 summit session.

The Communist leader was scheduled to address the General Assembly at noon as a feature event of his visit to the United States. Afterwards he was to hold a news conference.

Diplomats here looked to Tito's speech for some sign of how the current improvement in East-West relations can be expected to develop in the future.

Tito met with President Kennedy in Washington last week, and has been in Williamsburg, Va., and New York since that time. Yesterday he took a side trip to Princeton, N.J.

FOLLOWS LATIN TOUR

His visit to the United States, following a tour of Latin America, came just a few months after he entertained Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Yugoslavia. It underscored Tito's role as an "independent" Communist who maintains good relations with the West.

Khrushchev's 15-day visit to Yugoslavia last summer was designed as a "bury the hatchet" mission to get Tito's support in the Moscow-Peking quarrel. It was reported to have ended the Kremlin's dispute with Yugoslavia, which began in 1948 when Stalin kicked Tito out of the international Communist movement for his independent ideas.

Because Tito apparently has favor in both Moscow and Washington, diplomats believed he could shed some light on what Khrushchev and Kennedy think about the future relations between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Tito is looked upon by diplomats here as more of a neutralist than a Communist. Yugoslavia, though avowedly Communist, is not considered a member of the Soviet bloc in the United Nations.

No Big Crisis Seen

Diplomatic Calm Over

By ENDRE MARTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials expect the diplomatic frosts—both in the East and the West—to begin warming up again.

They feel that the relatively long period of calm during the limited nuclear test-ban talks with the Soviet Union and during the changes of government in Britain and West Germany is over.

But no real drama is expected, nothing like the U.S.-Soviet crisis over Cuba a year ago.

The truce on the cold war is believed here to have ended with this recent series of happenings:

Soviet troops blocking American and British convoys on the Berlin autobahn the Soviet attack on the planned NATO multilateral force and Ivestia's bitter comment on Exercise Big Lift, the U.S. experiment in transporting a whole division across the Atlantic by planes.

With the seeming end of the thaw, U.S. foreign policy experts figure the Kremlin will:

—Prod the West with tangible reminders that the Berlin issue is still alive.

—Seek opportunities to split the Western allies

—Continue to seek understanding with the United States on pending issues, especially on minor ones.

VARIETY OF TOPICS

The more peaceful activities will consist of talks on a variety of topics, ranging from negotiation on purchases of wheat to disarmament.

The situation with the allies appears to be a more complicated one. It will be Secretary of State Dean Rusk's task to find out, and soon, what if any changes in foreign policy the new governments in Britain and Germany represent.

No dramatic changes are expected, officials here said, but there may be skirmishing between the allies on a number of issues. Officials pointed out that differences between the four major Western capitals are always more accentuated before NATO's ministers convene—the council due to meet in Paris in December—and the Big Lift appears to contribute to existing misunderstandings.

The Kennedy administration is still hoping that by early 1964 it will have a decisive answer from its allies on whether they are ready to join in the multinational nuclear fleet, whether they have some other ideas or whether they want to scrap the plan.

Another problem is West Germany's concern that if Big Lift is successful, thereby proving the United States can swiftly reinforce Europe from bases in the United States—the U.S. force in Germany will be reduced.

State Department officials privately concede it will not be easy to convince Bonn that this is not the case. They blame remarks by Deputy Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatrick for stirring up the suspicion.

The Big Lift is expected to carry out "some shifts in the form of U.S. military presence" in Europe, Gilpatrick said in a Chicago speech last Saturday.

The speech caused considerable concern in Germany — and some confusion in Washington. The State Department, it was learned, did not agree with this part of Gilpatrick's speech, but its objections were overruled by the White House. State Department officials insist there is no immediate plan for troop reductions.

The speculation about a possible reduction in U.S. forces got another boost Monday with the Army's announcement that its overseas units will be given more nuclear firepower.

The Army said ground forces in Europe and the Far East will be equipped with additional units of Honest John missiles, an improved type of Honest John rockets and more atomic warheads for eight-inch howitzers.

High Cost of Mufflers

HENDON, England (UPI) — Magistrate E. Hudson, Davies, who recalled that he was fined $1.40 48 years ago for having a faulty muffler on his car, levied the same fine for the same offense on a defendant yesterday.

"To show that the cost of living has not gone up."

Steinbeck Praises Author Criticized by Khrushchev

MOSCOW (UPI) — John Steinbeck, Nobel Prize-winning American author, entered the Soviet literary dispute last night by praising as a "good and brave man" a Soviet writer criticized by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Steinbeck defended Ilya Ehrenburg before an audience of 500 Soviet teachers, critics, students, and intellectuals.

Khrushchev attacked Ehrenburg's "gross" ideological errors last winter during the government crackdown on writers and artists who were not following party advice.

"He is a good and brave man," Steinbeck said, "and the Russians should be proud of him. I have read him for many years and I think he is a great writer."

The Soviet literary battle is between liberal writers who demand a greater degree of experimentation — firmly backed by Ehrenburg — and the more conservative who stick to orthodox party convictions and sentiment.

ASKED EXPLANATION

Several times during the 90-minute meeting, Steinbeck asked if someone would stand up and explain the "hot war" in the Soviet literary world.

No one accepted. But finally an organizer of the meeting, Yelena Romanova, of the foreign commission of the Soviet Writers Union, suggested a special meeting later so Steinbeck could question the writers themselves.

Steinbeck, who gained great popularity here through his so-

Machines Carry Smoking Warning

NEW YORK (AP) — Cigarette vending machines at Columbia University are now posted with warnings against smoking.

Twenty machines scattered around the campus yesterday carried letters on university health service stationery which said:

"There is medical evidence that cigarette smoking impairs health. Because it is believed that an informed university student has the right to determine the state of his health, this cigarette machine and this information are here for his use."

"Good health is everyone's responsibility." A spokesman for the firm which services the machines, said he was notified of the letters in advance.

Set Boycott on Chicago Schools

CHICAGO (UPI) — Civil rights organizations were geared for a mass boycott of public schools today and a protest march by a predicted 10,000 persons on the board of education.

The twin demonstrations, which opponents have charged are "a form of dictatorship and mob rule," were called to protest alleged "de facto" segregation in the city's schools.

Boycott leaders said more than 30,000 youngsters would stay away from classes in 181 of the city's nearly 500 elementary and secondary schools.

At the center of the controversy was Schools Supt. Benjamin Willis, the second-highest paid public official in the nation. Willis resigned his $48,500-a-year job post and then withdrew his resignation in a storm of criticism.

Lawrence Landry, boycott leader and co-chairman of the Chicago area friends of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, said the retention of Willis by the school board was "conceived in ignorance and dedicated to the proposition that cynical politics shall reign supreme."

The school board, he said, "has issued an overt and public insult to those of us who seek high-quality, integrated schools in Chicago."

British Politico Hurt in Crash

HEREFORD, England (AP)—Michael Foot, 50, leader of the left wing of Britain's Labor party, was reported in dangerous condition today after surgery for injuries suffered in an auto collision.

His wife, movie director Jill Craigie, 47, had head and pelvic injuries.

A hospital spokesman said: "Mr. Foot has severe chest injuries and he has difficulty in breathing. His condition remains very serious indeed."

Fractures to both knees have been set.

The surgery included insertion of a tube in the windpipe to assist breathing. Foot suffers from chronic asthma.

Foot and his wife were injured Monday night while driving to London from Ebbw—pronounced Ebbow—Vale, the Welsh mining district he represents in Parliament.

Judge Pratt to Be Feted at Banquet

Michigan Supreme Court Justice Theodore Souris and State GOP Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. are among the speakers scheduled for a testimonial dinner Thursday in honor of Oakland County Circuit Court Judge Philip Pratt of Pontiac.

The dinner, planned for 6:30 p.m. at Kingsley Inn in Bloomfield Hills, is sponsored by the Pontiac Chapter of Ahepa and Daughters of Penelope, national fraternal organizations.

John G. Plumides, national president of Ahepa, will be the main speaker. Other speakers will be John Manos, National Hellenic Republican Committee chairman; and Clarence Smith, former law partner of Judge Pratt.

Some 250 are expected to attend the banquet honoring Pratt, who was sworn in Sept. 6. He is one of two new Oakland County judges appointed by Gov. George Romney to posts created last spring by the State Legislature.

England Will Buy Bombers From Firm

LONDON (AP)—The Ministry of Aviation announced Monday it will buy an initial 30 TSR2 supersonic bombers from the British Aircraft Corp. for use by the Royal Air Force.

The TSR2 is a hedge-hopping bomber designed to carry a variety of nuclear weapons, including free fall bombs and four types of missiles.

Described as the world's most advanced combat plane, the craft is designed to fly at twice the speed of sound but can operate from a field little larger than a football gridiron.

Bowlerama 'Doubles' Keen

Interest is growing in the newest phase of the seventh annual Press Bowlerama—the Mixed Doubles actuals.

Seven couples competed last weekend and several other "halves" bowled. The current leaders are Jerry Perna and Dot Chambers who had an 1144 total Sunday morning.

A cash prize and trophy will be presented to the winning couple at the awards banquet the first week of December.

The doubles portion of the Bowlerama does not require any additional entry fee from the participants. Nor do they have to bowl on the same day or at the same house.

Bowlerama entrants who competed last weekend without entering the doubles portion are not eligible since the first three-game actual totals rolled in the Bowlerama are used as the contestants' mixed doubles scores.

INDICATE ON ENTRY

All participants should indicate clearly on their entry blanks the partner's name.

Entrants are also reminded to specify their choice of qualifying site and time on their blanks. Bowlerama applications are available at all area bowling houses regardless of whether or not they have qualifying squads.

Entries may be mailed or turned in at The Press, or left at any establishment which has Bowlerama blanks.

Competition will resume Saturday at Collier Lanes, West Side Lanes, Lakewood Lanes, Huron Bowl, Cooley Lanes and Maple Lanes.

Sunday qualifying is slated for 300 Bowl, Montclair Bowling Centre, Howe's Lanes, North Hill Lanes, Airway Lanes and Woodland Lanes.

Squad times will be listed in The Press Friday.

The Bowlerama finals are scheduled for Dec. 1st at 300 Bowl. The tournament is American Bowling Congress and Women's International Bowling Congress Sanctioned.

The entry fee is $7 and first prize in the Bowlerama is $700 guaranteed, with $5,000 or more in total prizes.

INTRODUCING THE DEPENDABLES FOR '64

Big car lovers! We've got your number... 880

Big Dodge 880 may very well turn out to be your lucky number... because it puts so much automobile and luxury within your easy reach. Here's all the car a family man could ask for. A spacious interior. Hand-fitted upholstery. And an easy-going ride that only a large car can give you. Big Dodge 880 looks every bit as expensive as it sounds... except when you hear it from your Dodge Dealer. He will tell you that Dodge 880 is priced just a thoughtful step above the low-price field. Make it a point to see and drive the big Dodge 880. Two series, nine models. With each, you get a 5-year/50,000-mile warranty*.

*THE DEPENDABLE 5-YEAR/50,000-MILE WARRANTY—Chrysler Corporation warrants, for 5 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, against defects in materials and workmanship and will replace or repair at a Chrysler Dealer's expense any defective part of a new Dodge 880. The warranty covers the engine, block, head and internal parts, intake manifold, water pump, transmission case and internal parts, catalytic converter, manual clutch, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings of its 1964 automobiles. Provided the owner has the engine oil changed every 3 months or 1,000 miles, whichever comes first, the oil filter replaced every second oil change and the sparkplugs or filter changed every 6 months and replaced every 1 year, and every 6 months thereafter, such a dealer evidence of performance of the required service, and requests the dealer to verify (1) receipt of such evidence and (2) the car's then current mileage.

THREE WAY TIE — Captain William Ringrose (center) of the Irish Horse Show team, poses with Moffat Dunlap (left) of the Canadian team and Captain Juan Romero

Blanch of the Argentine team after the three men had faultless rides in the Pennsylvania Horse Show last night. Ringrose continues as the show's top rider thus far.

Captain Ringrose Has String

Irish Horseman Is Flawless

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Ireland's William A. Ringrose continued his string of flawless rides Monday night as Ireland, Canada and Argentina tied in the second international jumping event at the Pennsylvania National Horse Show.

Ringrose rode Loch An Espag over a difficult five-hurdle course four times to run his string to 40 jumps without a knockdown.

Joining the Irish army captain in the winner's circle were Moffat Dunlap of Canada and Argentina's Capt. Juan M. Romero Blanch.

Ireland maintained its team lead with 18 points, including six for the second event.

Blanch turned in the best rides of the night on Blackbird, never ticking a barrier as the jumps were raised higher and higher. The hurdles ranged from 3-feet-7 on the first jump of the first round to 5-feet-10 on the final hurdle of the last round.

U.S. BLANKED

The United States team, which won the opening night event Saturday, was blanked as far as the first round to 5-feet-10 on the second round, but retained second place in team standing with 10 points.

Ringrose's ride gave him sole possession of first place in the individual competition with 16 points, including a second and third Saturday on two different horses.

The surprising Irish team had gone through 69 jumps without a fault since the show opened before Diana Connolly-Carew knocked down the fifth hurdle.

She was the only rider failing to survive the first round.

Ringrose now is the only rider yet to commit a fault in the competition. There are 11 events remaining before the show closes Saturday.

Behind Ireland and the U.S. in the team standings is Argentina, with eight points. Canada has six points.

Tom Patch was added to the injury list when he suffered a fractured bone below his kneecap. Team co-captain Dick Steinhilber also received a broken nose in the game, but finished the contest.

Steinhilber was hurt in the first period, but scored a six-point in the fourth quarter as St. Mike outplayed the visitors in the final half.

St. Agatha took advantage of a couple breaks in the first period and built a 20-0 halftime lead before a large crowd at Wisner Stadium.

Bob Vanover went over from the two-yard-line for the Mike men's first touchdown in the third period. Steinhilber's run was from the three.

The Shamrocks remained winless on the season with the defeat. Earlier this year coach Jim Niebauer lost two promising linemen for the season with injuries, and numerous other aches and pains have limited the St. Mike gridgers' efficiency this season.

Another kicking specialist, Dick Van Raaphorst of Ohio State, follows with 23 points on six field goals and five extra points.

Georgia Tech Player Sorry

ATLANTA (AP)—"We've had actual game losses which hurt us worse, but few games over all have ever left us feeling so badly," said Coach Bobby Dodd of Georgia Tech today as his team tried to adjust to the loss of end Ted Davis.

Davis resigned from the football team Monday after publicly apologizing for kicking Auburn halfback David Rawson in the face in last Saturday's 29-21 Auburn victory.

Rawson was released from Emory University Hospital Monday night.

Davis said he was resigning to save Tech "the embarrassment of kicking me off the football squad."

"I hope David Rawson will try to forgive this terrible thing that I did in anger," the 21-year-old Memphis, Tenn., senior continued. "I pray that God will help me to control my emotions in the future."

Davis said his action violated every standard that Coach Dodd sets for his football players.

REMAINS IN SCHOOL

Dodd accepted Davis' resignation and said the end will play no more football at Tech. However, the Tech coach praised Davis for admitting his mistake and said Davis would remain in school to take his degree at next commencement.

"Of course I cannot condone what Ted did in the football game Saturday and like all of us at Georgia Tech I am most sorry it happened," Dodd said. "I am proud of Ted that he had the courage to face his mistake publicly."

Auburn Coach Ralph Jordan expressed disappointment that Davis was resigning. He said Rawson "holds no ill will toward him, and he doesn't owe us an apology."

Davis was ejected from the game following the incident and tech was penalized 15 yards for unsportsmanlike conduct.

Doctors checked the 20-year-old Rawson thoroughly to determine that he had not sustained permanent damage.

SEVERE BLOW

Davis' loss is a severe blow to Tech's football. Dodd said senior Frank Sexton, probably would take over the starting left end job in place of Davis, whom Dodd had called one of the finest college ends in the country.

The incident was similar to one in the 1961 Tech-Alabama game, won by Alabama 10-0. Alabama linebacker Darwin Holt struck Tech halfback Chick Graning in the face during the game with his elbow.

Graning was hospitalized and lost for the rest of the year. Holt apologized for the incident but remained on the team.

Top NL Soph Is Surprised About Honor

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Tim McCarver, named Monday the National League's outstanding sophomore of 1963, says the honor caught him completely by surprise.

"I just feel wonderful about it," the 22-year-old St. Louis Cardinals catcher said. "I'm really honored... well, I'm just at a loss for words."

McCarver, who is attending the University of Oklahoma, said he had been so busy catching up with classwork after enrolling late that "baseball had sort of left my mind. I've been hitting the books pretty hard."

McCarver, who is attending the University of Oklahoma, said he had been so busy catching up with classwork after enrolling late that "baseball had sort of left my mind. I've been hitting the books pretty hard."

McCarver received 20 votes in the balloting by 44 baseball writers. Lou Brock, Chicago Cubs' outfielder, was second with six votes, followed by Don Clendenon, Pittsburgh first baseman.

Ex-NFL Star Back Believes Running Easier Today

NEW YORK (UPI) — Steve Van Buren, the outstanding National Football League running back of the pre-Jimmy Brown era, believes "it's a little easier to run and tougher to pass" these days in pro football.

The former Philadelphia Eagles star, who now coaches the undefeated Newark Bears in the Atlantic Coast Football League, doesn't agree with those who feel there's an over-emphasis on passing in the modern game.

Van Buren points out that the more successful NFL clubs like the Green Bay Packers and Cleveland Browns have an ideal balance between rushing and passing; that there's a trend toward improved running throughout the league, and that "the fans like it."

"Whatever they're doing these days is the right thing," smiled the man who gained 5,860 rushing yards for the Eagles in eight seasons between 1944 and 1951.

"The attendance certainly bears that out. It's a more exciting game than when I played."

Van Buren cited the change in pro football defenses during the last 10 years as the reason why he felt it's easier to run these days.

Pro teams have changed from the lighter, swift-striking five-man front line of the 1940s and early '50s to the present-day four-man heavy-weight line.

The purpose of the change, Van Buren points out, was to drop one man back for improved defense against passing. And it opened a route for better rushing opportunities.

"Pro teams in my day used a 5-3 defense with only three men deep," Van Buren explained.

"Defensive ends were smaller but faster then. On a five-man line they played wider and had more room to maneuver."

"Ends like Ed Sprinkle (of the Chicago Bears) and Norm (Wild Man) Willey (of the Eagles) weighed only 200 to 215 pounds," Van Buren went on. "They wouldn't be heavy enough for the present-day lines, but I think they were harder to run against."

"I know I'd rather try to run past a 250- to 300-pound end than the faster, more maneuverable 200- to 215-pounders like Sprinkle and Willey," continued the 42-year-old Van Buren, who presently is only 15 pounds heavier than his playing weight of 205.

Van Buren, whose 194-yard haul in the 1948 championship game against the Los Angeles Rams still stands as an NFL playoff record, also had a few observations about some of the present-day backs.

"Jim Taylor (of the Packers) is a more punishing runner than Jimmy Brown (of Cleveland). He runs over tacklers. But Taylor does not have Brown's size, speed or finesse as a ball-carrier."

"Lenny Moore (of the Baltimore Colts) was one of the best pro backs I ever saw when he was in his prime a few years ago. He could do everything."

"Jimmy Brown would have broken the rushing record in any era he played," Van Buren allowed. "But he may not have gained as much yardage then as he does today."

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan has lost one of its brightest sophomore football prospects for the season.

Center Tom Cecchini, 19-year-old defensive signal caller, underwent knee surgery in University Hospital Monday. He was hurt in the first quarter of the Michigan-Purdue game last week.

Michigan will visit Minnesota Saturday and both teams will be looking for their first western conference triumph and possession of the Little Brown Jug, now held by Minnesota.

Michigan stands 1-1 for the season and Minnesota is 1-1.

MSU's Next Foe Is 9th Rated Team

EAST LANSING (AP) — Meeting ninth-ranked Northwestern (4-1) at Evanston Saturday should be a rough timesup contest for Michigan State.

The once-beaten, once-tied Spartans face second-ranked Wisconsin (4-0) the following Saturday. Then, after "breathers" against Purdue (2-3) and Notre Dame (2-2), MSU meets fourth-ranked Illinois (3-4-1) in its final game.

"Our five remaining games will test us," commented MSU coach Duffy Daugherty with a wry smile Monday.

Daugherty was pleased with the condition of his team after beating Indiana 0-3 last week-end. The Hoosiers inflicted no major injuries for the first time in five years.

Nicklaus Still Behind Palmer in Winnings

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus won the Sahara Invitational last week for his fifth PGA tournament victory of the year but still trails Arnold Palmer in total winnings by more than $29,000.

Unofficial standings in PGA tournaments only, showed today that Palmer is far ahead in official winnings with 128,230. He won seven of the 20 tournaments in which he competed.

Nicklaus won five of 24 tournaments and Julius Boros three of the 26 in which he competed to be third in total winnings with $77,366.

Boy Ordered Committed
Hit Guard With Brick in Escape Attempt

A 15-year-old boy who hit a guard in the head with a brick while trying to escape from the Oakland County Children's Center earlier this month was committed to Pontiac State Hospital yesterday.

The commitment order followed a mental health hearing by Probate Judge Norman R. Barnard.

The boy was returned, however, to St. Clair Hospital in Detroit to await admission to the overcrowded state hospital. He was placed in St. Clair after the attack on guard Donald Hunt, 49, of 615 Madison, Rochester.

The youth, who escaped from St. Clair Oct. 16 and stole a convertible but was apprehended a few hours later, joins 10 other boys and girls under 18 years old who have been committed to the state hospital for mental health treatment but have not yet been admitted.

Seven of the 10 are at St. Clair, where mental health cases considered dangerous are sent under emergency orders.

Judge Orders Trial for Youth

William Webb, 20, of 2300 Newbury, was free on $1,000 bond today after Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem yesterday ordered him to stand trial on a burglary charge.

Druggist Loses $50 in Pontiac Holdup

A Pontiac druggist was robbed of $50 last night by two armed men.

Joseph Garlock, 44, owner of Garlock's Drugs, 416 Orchard Lake, told Pontiac police he had just locked the store for the night and was getting into his car when he was held up.

He said the bandits wore masks. They fled south on Lake Street.

By Duplication of Studies

County Health Action Stalled

A duplication of studies has stopped county plans to shift welfare patients from the Medical Care Facility at the County Service Center into the county's Tuberculosis Sanatorium near Union Lake.

Today, members of a special study committee were wondering if it wouldn't be better to move TB patients into an enlarged Medical Care Facility. There has even been a suggestion that the sanatorium might be sold for $2 million.

The committee is being prompted to act by recent state marshal's orders to provide safer conditions for the welfare patients.

Until now the committee has been discussing the clearing of patients from the medical care facility and using it temporarily as badly needed quarters for juvenile court wards.

TEMPORARY MEASURE
Moving an overflow of young sters from the nearby Children's Center was planned as a temporary measure until permanent quarters could be built in the proposed Children's Village complex.

Now the federal government has approved a $223,000 grant as matching funds to construct the first units of the village.

Without knowing what is con-

The initial construction is to be completed within the next 12 months and is considered adequate to solve immediate space problems at the Children's Home.

Meanwhile, the committee is seeking to consolidate TB and welfare patients at one location, and develop the combined facility into a chronic disease hospital.

EFFORTS STYMIED
The committee's efforts are being stymied by a still pending study of all county-owned health facilities. The study was undertaken by the United Community Services, (UCS) at the County Board of Supervisors' request.

The study by a special UCS citizens' committee was supposed to have been completed and a subsequent report filed with the county last June.

The report still hasn't been filed.

County Welfare Director George Williams yesterday told members of the special study committee that the UCS report now is expected to be given to the county supervisors in early November.

The report will recommend how county health facilities can be best utilized for future development.

Without knowing what is contained in the report, the special study committee doesn't want to proceed.

Williams said the report might indicate it would be more feasible to sell the TB Sanatorium and enlarge the medical care facility—commonly called the county infirmary—to absorb TB patients.

He said he offered the thought "as a brain-thrust."

"We might find it easier to develop a combined chronic disease hospital if we can get some cash to work with," he added.

Williams said the Sanatorium, including a nurses' home and an 87-acre site, should be worth about $2 million.

INTERESTED IN HOSPITAL
He said maybe some general hospital would be interested in making the purchase.

Williams and another committee member, Robert Lilly, secretary-member of the County Board of Auditors, were asked by Committee Chairman Luther Heacock to contact Dr. Clare Gates, who has been doing the legwork for the UCS committee, in an effort to learn what course of action might be indicated in the forthcoming report.

The special study committee agreed to meet with all other county committees and boards whose interests would be involved in any shifting of medical facilities after Williams and Lilly have talked to Dr. Gates.

Those who are interested in the matter are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing, to be served by publication of a copy of this notice in a newspaper printed and circulated in said county.

Witness, the Honorable Norman R. Barnard, Judge of Probate in said County, this 18th day of October, A.D. 1963. (true copy) DELPHIA A. BOUGHINE, Deputy Probate Register, Juvenile Division, October 22, 1963.

Put Blame for Inaction on Mailman

A formal stand by the Waterford Township Board on the Nov. 5 incorporation issue failed to materialize last night as scheduled and at least part of the blame was heaped upon the mailman.

Trustee Loren Anderson, one of three board members who didn't receive the resolution in the mail before the meeting, refused to vote.

Anderson, who indicated a week ago that he favored a Yes vote, said he would have to have time to study the page-long resolution before casting a vote.

"I want to digest it," Anderson said. "It's important to know exactly what the resolution says and what it implies," he added.

NO MEETING MATERIALS
Trustees John Coleman and Charles Evans also didn't receive their meeting materials in the mail prior to the meeting.

Coleman, who drafted the resolution with township attorney Paul Mandel, passed out extra copies at the meeting.

All seven board members except Evans either last night or a week ago expressed support of an affirmative vote on the incorporation proposal. Evans has withheld comment.

In other business the board adopted an amendment to the township dog ordinance that will prevent future liability for animals killed by other animals.

AUTHORIZES PAYMENT
The board authorized payment of a $200 claim recently to the owner of sheep killed by dogs.

Board members also approved the lower of two bids submitted last week on fleet vehicle insurance coverage. The bid amounted to $3,635.58.

The hiring of Richard Shaul to replace retiring electrical inspector H. E. McCullough also was approved by the board.

Shaul, who has worked for Pontiac Motor Division since 1946, will begin his duties in the $6,200 job next Monday.

Board members also discussed possible methods of strengthening its present traffic ordinance and then directed Mandel to submit a report on a proposed course of action.

State Road Toll 1,406
EAST LANSING—Traffic accidents have killed 1,406 persons in Michigan so far this year, provisions figures compiled by state police showed today. The toll at this date last year was 1,289.

Temporary River Crossing to Be Eyed by Commission

Plans and cost estimates for a temporary perimeter road crossing of the Clinton River just north of East Huron will be up for approval at tonight's City Commission meeting.

The plan, prepared by City Engineer Joseph E. Neippling, calls for the city to install a metal pipe culvert and cover it with temporary pavement.

Approval of Neippling's plan and estimate tonight will free the city to start work on the culvert if it appears perimeter road paving under contract will be completed this year.

The perimeter road contract calls for intersections to be paved by Jan. 1, but the city has until June 1964 to have the first two sections completely paved and open to traffic, according to city engineers.

Man Injured in Auto Crash

A 58-year-old Pontiac Township man was hospitalized with serious injuries yesterday after his automobile crashed into portions of a water main under construction in Bloomfield Township.

George Rhano, 58, of 2581 Auburn, remained in poor condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital this morning. He is being treated for multiple fractures.

The accident occurred about 1:20 p.m. on Adams, a quarter-mile south of South Boulevard according to police.

The large concrete sections are at one of the construction sites for the main which will bring Detroit water to the township.

Bloomfield Township police, who are continuing their investigation of the accident, said Rhano's northbound car swerved off the west side of the road.

City Woman Is Released in Shooting

A Pontiac woman who was being held for investigation in the nonfatal shooting of her husband was released from jail yesterday after an investigation revealed she acted in self defense.

Assistant Prosecutor Daniel C. Devine said statements taken by him showed that Mrs. Barbara Joan Kirby, 33, of 58 Hudson was justified in shooting her husband, Claude, 43.

Kirby was wounded with a blast from a 12-gauge shotgun Sunday night. He is in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Devine said Kirby had been drinking and beat his wife and threatened his 11-year-old daughter.

Kirby was wounded when he attempted to take away the shotgun from his wife, Devine said.

Kathryn Borer told Waterford Township police that the band entered the store at 7:40 p.m. and demanded all the money.

She said they then forced her into the rear of the store at gunpoint and fled north on Dixie.

Gunman Gets $100 at Area Market

A man armed with a revolver robbed Borer's Market, 3440 Dixie, Waterford Township, of $100 last night.

Kathryn Borer told Waterford Township police that the band entered the store at 7:40 p.m. and demanded all the money.

She said they then forced her into the rear of the store at gunpoint and fled north on Dixie.

A WORD OF ADVICE FOR WIDOWS . .

The most important action a new widow can take is . . . NONE. Before you do anything . . . make any move or important decision . . . you should take a good look at what you have, what you hope for and what you are going to need. A single simple mistake in the beginning could possibly leave you in dire financial straits, or place a heavy financial burden on your loved ones, in years to come.

The best way to determine the course you should take, with impersonal clarity, is with the help of a professional. We have a broad experience in this field and will be glad to analyze your needs . . . of no cost to you. Each suggestion will be explained clearly . . . fully covering the pros and cons, the cost and possibilities. Just call, write, or stop in at our office. There is no obligation to follow and suggestions. Many others have taken this step, and their programs are our best examples.

SWAPPING IDEAS — Over 450 officials of credit unions in Oakland County gathered Saturday at 300 Bowl in Waterford Township to talk shop and mark "Credit Union Day."

In Italian Scandal

N-Official Suspended

ROME (UPI) — A scandal involving the government's nuclear energy chief today caused political complications for the ruling Christian Democratic party at a critical time.

Prof. Felice Ippolito, suspended head of the National Committee on Nuclear Energy (CNEN), was charged in a 200-page government inquiry report of acting "against the law or beyond the law" in handling public funds and operating the agency.

The caretaker government of Premier Giovanni Leone is preparing to end its term at the end of the month. Leone's Christian Democrats hope to form a new center-left alliance with the Socialists, Republicans and Social Democrats.

The charges against Ippolito were expected to make this task more difficult. The Christian Democrats already are under attack for not acting to head off the Vajont Dam disaster two weeks ago, which cost 2,000 lives.

USES PUBLIC FUNDS

Ippolito was accused of using public funds for his own benefit, billing his agency for travel expenses to a winter ski resort, and giving contracts worth millions of dollars without asking for bids.

The inquiry also found he had a direct financial interest in many of the companies with which the nuclear agency did business.

The commission's report was turned over to judicial authorities last week for possible action, and Ippolito was ordered to surrender his passport. The report was made public yesterday.

A complicating factor in the political controversy the Ippolito case generated was the position of the Socialists. Usually quick to criticize the Christian Democrats, they had long praised Ippolito for running a textbook example of efficient state enterprise.

The Socialists seek more such government intervention in the economic field. But the charges against Ippolito could dampen their campaign and become a cause of friction within the proposed center-left coalition.

Trip to Mars Under Study

Six Men Would Go on 16-Month Journey

WASHINGTON (UPI) — U.S. scientists are studying a possible space mission which would take six men on a 16-month round-trip to the planet Mars.

Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., chairman of the Senate Space Committee, told the Women's National Democratic Club yesterday that it was too early to determine the size of the Mars spacecraft, the number of its crew, or whether it would have built-in gravity, but that such a mission was under study.

"The journey to an orbit about Mars would take 140 days," Anderson said. "Forty days would be devoted to exploration of the planet. The return trip would take 240 days, or 110 days longer than the trip out."

"The Mars ship would comprise three main sections: a command unit to protect the astronauts during launch and return through the earth's atmosphere, a mission unit containing the crew's living quarters, and a landing craft," Anderson said.

In preparation for eventual interplanetary travel, Anderson said, valuable experience will be gained from long-duration flights in the Gemini and Apollo spacecraft. These are seen as the successors to Project Mercury which has placed astronauts in orbit around the earth.

"Two men in the Gemini capsule will spend several weeks in earth orbit, and three men in the Apollo spacecraft may stay aloft as long as two months," Anderson said.

Dentists Pick President

DETROIT — The Great Lakes Society of Orthodontists has elected a suburban Grosse Pointe dentist as its 1964 president. Dr. Robert E. Coleman, 49, will preside over the society's 25th annual meeting at Detroit next year. Toronto was the site of the group's 1963 meeting.

Latin Rioters Mar Exhibit

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A demonstration of apparent Communist interest marred the opening yesterday of a U.S.-sponsored technical exposition at Buenos Aires University school of architecture, it was reported today.

Shooting, stone-throwing rioters broke windows and put up a "Yankee Go Home" poster.

U. S. cultural attache William

Police posted a reinforced guard at the school.

Ringling Show Outbilled in France by Its Barnum

By EARL WILSON

VIENNA — What happened to the Bill Holden-Capucine romance? Friends in Switzerland are wondering if it's all over.

The expected announcement of marriage has not come through, and now Holden is reported off, as they call her.

John Ringling North was agitated that his famed Ringling Bros. circus was billed in Paris as "Le Cirque Barnum." His uncle John Ringling always considered the Ringlings "bigger than Barnum." . . . The Las Vegas Dunes Hotel, headed by Charles Rich, is next to import a French show, having arranged to use the name of the Casino de France. . . . Fans of Anthony Quinn would love the pictures of him in European papers, showing him with his seven-month-old baby son in his arms, while the baby's busy with a bottle.

BBardot tells everybody that her new guy, Bob Zaguri, 32, a Moroccan businessman now living in Brazil, is the only one who ever made her feel it was "more important to be feminine than to be BB"—whatever that means.

The Midnight Earl in N.Y.

Alan King turned down a $2 million TV deal—he doesn't want to quit N.Y. for Hollywood. . . . Shelley Winters may star in Joe Levine's next film, the Pollyanna biopic, "A House Is Not a Home." . . . Nancy Sinatra "suggested" husband Tommy Sands give up his hobby—bulldozing. . . . The Yankees' Joe Pepitone was at the Copa to hear Tony Bennett; he didn't drop anything. . . . The patron sitting nearby at Asti's watching Lauren Bacall, signing autographs; Pola Negri. . . . Singer Pat Scott, at the Blue Angel, has congratulatory wires from Jason Robards, Tammy Grimes and other stars.

SMALL FIRMS GIVE — While large firms are major contributors to the annual Pontiac Area United Fund drive, some 75 local small industries also do their part. The contribution from one of them, Vulcan Laboratories, is presented by Dolores Snyder to solicitor Ronald Porritt, a Pontiac Varnish Co. employee. Donations from small firms today are reported at 15 per cent of their $5,248 goal.

Britain's Prize Jet Crashes; 7 Killed

TISBURY, England (AP) — Britain's new pride of the skies, the One-Eleven short-range jet airliner, crashed in flames on a test flight near this small southwest England town today. Seven pilots and observers aboard died in the wreckage.

Several American airlines have ordered 31 of the new planes which are scheduled to begin passenger flights in Britain late next summer.

U.N. Says No to Red China

U.S. Hails Rejection; Vote Larger Than '62

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United Nations has again rejected membership for Communist China in a vote hailed by the United States as a clear indication of opposition to the Peking regime.

The vote Monday constituted another victory for the United States in its battle to keep Red China out of the world organization.

It was the 14th time that the General Assembly has either rejected or sidetracked Peking's admission.

The 11th member General Assembly defeated an Albanian-Cambodian resolution to seat Peking and oust Nationalist China 57-41 with 12 abstentions. Ethiopia, which voted for admission last year, was absent. Passage of the resolution would have required 74 votes, a two-thirds majority.

BIGGER VOTE

Last year the vote was 56 against and 42 in favor, with 12 abstentions.

Romney Tax Plan Stalled

Viet Nam Special Troops Cut Off From U.S. Funds

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is cutting off assistance to the South Vietnamese special force troops that led government raids against Buddhist pagodas.

They will get no more U.S. help until they are assigned to field duty against Communist guerrillas.

The action, announced Monday by the State Department, is a direct challenge to Ngo Dinh Nhu, brother of South Viet Nam President Ngo Dinh Diem and reportedly the behind-the-scenes ruler in Saigon.

It is also, State Department officials said, in line with President Kennedy's announced policy — the United States will support what helps the war effort and will not support what does not.

The troops are an elite airborne corps numbering about 8,000. Beside military assistance they have been receiving about $200,000 a month from the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for special anti-guerrilla warfare.

Headed by Col. Le Quang Tung, a devoted supporter of Nhu, about 4,000 of them were placed on special duty in August. In this role they led the government raids against Buddhist pagodas. An estimated 2,000 or more remain in Saigon, serving according to some reports — as a palace guard to protect Nhu from domestic opposition.

U.S. officials said the special force troops were given their bonus CIA pay in September for duty in August, but there have been no further payments to units assigned to Saigon.

U.S. officials said that all military assistance support to units not fighting the war or on special training assignments is being halted.

BORDER FIGHTERS

The special force was trained particularly for action on the northern border, used as entry into South Viet Nam by Communist infiltrators who travel through southern Laos.

A high State Department official speaking Monday night of aid to Viet Nam said, "We're in the business of helping them win the war. We're not going to support military units that are not being used against the Viet Cong. When they are, and come under the regular military chain of command, we will help them."

The U.S. action drew praise from Tran Van Chuong, who has resigned as Vietnamese ambassador to the United States in protest of the government's policy on Buddhists.

The crash area is about 100 miles west of London.

Five fire trucks raced to the scene of the scattered, burning wreckage.

Temperature to Vary Little in Local Area

Little change in temperature may be expected in the Pontiac area through Thursday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts fair and unseasonably warm with highs in the low 70s and lows around 54.

Today's southeast to south winds at 10 to 15 miles per hour will become westerly Wednesday.

A year ago today the high was 51, and a year ago tomorrow the first snow flurries of the season fell on the area.

Fifty-three was the low temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. The 1 p.m. recording was 68.

Broomfield Sees Long Viet War

WASHINGTON — Just back from an inspection tour of South Viet Nam with other members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, Oakland County's Congressman William S. Broomfield said yesterday the war against the Communists there "isn't going to be won in a year or two."

Broomfield said he disagreed with Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell Taylor that the United States could end the major share of its military aid to the southeast Asian country by the end of 1965.

"It isn't even going to be won in five years unless there is some breakthrough which can't be foreseen at the present time," he said.

Broomfield, who was ranking Republican among the eight Congressmen on the trip, also reported an exchange between one of the group and Ngo Dinh Nhu about wife troubles.

WIFE PROBLEMS

"Why can't you control your wife?" Ngo Dinh Nhu was asked, according to Broomfield.

The wife in question is Mrs. Ngo Dinh Nhu, who currently is touring the United States voicing strong opinions on U.S.-Viet Nam relations, some of them derogatory to the Kennedy Administration.

"It is the same the world over," replied Ngo Dinh Nhu. Broomfield declined to say which Congressman put the question to Nhu, brother of President Ngo Dinh Diem, Nhu heads the country's secret police and is considered by many to be the real power behind the government.

NEW YORK (AP) — Ralph Houk, field manager of the New York Yankees for the past three years, was named general manager today, succeeding Roy Hamey, who retired because of ill health.

ON THEIR WAY — Troops of the 2nd Armored Division, Ft. Hood, Tex., board a C130 jet transport near Austin last night for a non-stop flight to Germany. Exercise Big Lift

16,000 Troops Fly to Europe

From Our News Wires

FT. HOOD, Tex. — Sleek military jetliners and barrel-bellied transports streaked across the turbulent Atlantic from Texas to West Germany today in an aerial ferry for 16,000 GIs, including an entire armored division.

Within six hours after the first jet thundered off a runway at Bergstrom Air Force Base at Austin, Tex., the Army, Air Force and Military Air Transport Service (MATS) had started 1,863 troops of the 2nd Armored (hell on wheels) Division on their way to Frankfurt to exercise "Big Lift."

It was the biggest trans-Atlantic aerial armada of troops ever attempted.

Six C130 jet transports, four C130 prop-driven transports and 18 C124 Globemasters were in the vanguard. Platoons of planes were leaving every hour from four bases in Texas.

Each plane carried an average age of 84 persons including 72 soldiers, 9 crewmembers and 3 newsmen.

Propeller failure on a C124 transport forced its pilot to make a forced but safe landing at England AFB. It was the first hitch encountered on the 72-hour operation.

LANDED SMOOTHLY

The huge plane landed smoothly and none of the 80 soldiers and nine crewmembers was hurt. England AFB is near Alexandria, La.

The airlift, largest in U.S. military history, continues until Thursday afternoon. Then the 2nd Armored will tangle with the 3rd Armored Division in mock nuclear war.

The 3rd Armored, which plays the role of invader, is already in Europe. As five troop-laden transports filled the air every hour from Texas bases, about 100 tactical planes were leaving from two bases in Maine-Loring AFB and Dow AFB.

The exercise is a test of the U.S. military concept of global combat readiness and was a test of America's ability to hurl troops to foreign trouble spots in time of crisis.

Biggest Week at GM, Ford

Millionth New Car Comes Earliest Ever

DETROIT (AP) — Ford and General Motors built more cars last week than in any previous week in their history.

The fast pace helped swell the industry's output of 1964 cars to over a million as both production and sales kept up a blistering pace. The millionth car was built Oct. 17, marking the earliest date on which the industry reached that goal.

The previous record was set in 1962, when the millionth '63 model came off the production line Oct. 22.

GM built 93,981 cars last week and had nine assembly plants on overtime operations last Saturday. The previous GM mark for a single week was 92,112, reached last mid-June.

Ford had all 16 of its assembly plants on overtime last Saturday as its output climbed to 83,771 for the week. The previous Ford high of 81,414 was set in April 1955.

Chrysler and American Motors reported production ran strong last week, but both worked only regular five-day weeks.

SOME DELAYED

Reports throughout the industry said that would-be customers are being told of a four- to six-weeks' delay in getting specially outfitted cars delivered.

2 Dems Use Forgotten Rule to Block Bills

Senate GOP Leaders Stunned by Motions of Recombination

LANSING (AP) — Two Democrats flung a surprise obstacle into the path of Gov. George Romney's fiscal reform program yesterday, invoking an overlooked rule in the Senate handbook.

Sens. Stanley Rozyski of Detroit and Philip Rahoi of Iron Mountain stunned Republican leaders by calling on a requirement that certain bills go to the appropriations committee.

The first bill they named was Romney's income tax bill, the heart of his "jobs and justice" program, which only Thursday was freed from the Senate Tax Committee.

Romney's floor leaders jumped to their feet with a handful of motions and when the parliamentary smoke cleared, action on the Democrats' question was put off until today.

"I think it's cowardly to attack Romney's program by refusing to let it see the light of day," said Senate GOP leader Stanley Tyeher, R-Ann Arbor, who is responsible for piloting the program through the Senate.

STEP FORWARD

Thayer had gone to last night's session confident that the tax committee's release of all its 61 bills had been a step forward for Romney's 23, but said the Rozyski-Rahoi move caught him off guard.

"Ordinarily, bills are not moved under that rule unless someone points it out," Thayer said. Earlier, he had said he knew of no recommitment move afoot.

Rozyski and Rahoi quoted Senate rule 24B: "Every bill appropriating money, when reported back to the Senate favorably by another committee, shall ... be referred to the committee on appropriations."

The committee has seven Republicans and three Democrats, including Rozyski and Rahoi.

Subpoenas Issued to 7 Steel Firms

NEW YORK (AP) — At least seven big steel companies have been subpoenaed by a federal grand jury in New York under mysterious circumstances. It was reported that the inquiry concerned steel prices.

However, none of the steel firms openly said so, and the Justice Department in Washington declined comment.

A spokesman for one company, Republic Steel Corp., said the subpoenas "took the industry by surprise."

An across-the-board increase in prices by most major steel producers within 48 hours in April 1962 erupted into an epic business-government clash. The $6 a ton hike was rescinded under White House pressure.

Among other things, a grand jury investigation was launched but nothing came of it.

President Kennedy expressed concern earlier this month over selective increases last spring and this fall covering about 70 per cent of all steel products. Kennedy said the situation was being watched very carefully, along with markups in other industries, but said nothing about any formal investigation.

Increases in which the White House acquiesced last spring were limited to steel sheets, used heavily by automobile and appliance makers, and steel strip.

They were initiated by Wheeling Steel Corp., the 11th ranking company, and gradually spread across the industry.

Another round of increases started in September applied to oil field pipe, bars, plate, structural shapes and semi-finished steel by primary producers to processors, plus a few other products.

MAKE OVER PAGES Fidel Asks U.S. to Lift Embargo

From Our News Wires
HAVANA — Premier Fidel Castro, facing a staggering rebuilding job because of Hurricane Flora's devastation, asked the United States last night to lift its economic embargo against Cuba immediately.

The bearded Cuban leader made the request in the midst of a three-hour Havana radio and television speech. After disclosing that "starvation killed as many persons as floods" following the hurricane, Castro said he did not want American help.

"What we ask for is an end of the economic blockade of our country, especially at this moment," he said.

"We don't want Yankee imperialism aid nor do we need it. What we want is that they halt their hypocritical policy and the Cuban people did the right thing in rejecting their hypocritical aid."

RAISING PRICES
Castro announced that his government is raising the price of beef, poultry, beer and cigarettes to help pay for a $200-million flood control program in hurricane-devastated Oriente Province.

Castro also accused the United States of withholding weather information from Cuban meteorologists during the storm.

He said a charge by the United States that Cuba had refused to allow flights of U.S. hurricane spotter planes over Cuba was "absolutely false."

"How can they dare say this when they don't ask permission to fly their spy planes over Cuba every day?" Castro asked.

PRESSURE INCREASED
Castro's appeal came as the United States was reportedly stepping up pressure on free world nations to restrict shipping to Cuba.

The prime minister said a massive public works program for Oriente Province, in eastern Cuba, will include dams and flood control systems so there will never be a repetition of Flora's floods, which ruined crops in the rich river valleys.

Admitting heavy losses in the sugar crop, Cuba's principal earner of foreign currency, Castro said the price increases are necessary to buy heavy building equipment for the reconstruction program.

He said beef would be hiked to 55 cents a pound and poultry to 45 cents, while 5-cent increases would be added to cigarettes, now 10 cents a pack, and beer, now 25 cents a bottle.

LIMIT ON SUGAR
He said sugar consumption would be limited to a monthly quota of six pounds a person so exports can be increased.

Castro said the hurricane which swept the island two weeks ago had probably taken hundreds more lives than the 1,126 previously announced.

More than 100,000 persons lost all their possessions. There was great damage to crops and cattle, he said, but he gave a figure only for the coffee loss—over 50 million pounds.

Castro insisted "we will not only recover what was lost but will surpass it. This will make us shake our lethargy."

THANKS COUNTRIES
He expressed appreciation for relief sent by foreign countries and said only a U.S. offer of help was rejected.

"We have some reason for this attitude," Castro declared.

This was a reference to an offer from the U.S. Red Cross. Cuba has accepted help from the International Red Cross, which is partly supported by the United States.

Castro lashed at Cuban exiles in the United States who he said "have been delighted by the Cuban tragedy."

"We are strong enough to stand off 10 more Hurricane Floras and 50 invasions," he said.

RECORD HOLDER—Jack Pierce, 35, of Los Angeles, says he's been fired more times than anybody. He used his last money to run an advertisement, saying he'd been fired 73 times but needed one more chance. The ad brought many offers.

Hearing Postponed on State Subpoena

A Circuit Court hearing on an attempt by a Waterford engineering firm to have a subpoena by the State Auditor general declared invalid was postponed yesterday until Nov. 5.

Johnson and Anderson in 1960 for a survey Barry did on his own time.

Johnson and Anderson is one of several consulting engineering firms retained in establishing lake levels for the drain commission.

The firm's records and books were subpoenaed to be produced at a hearing in Lansing scheduled for today.

This hearing has been postponed for three weeks pending the outcome of a Circuit Court ruling on the subpoena.

Statements by Farnum indicated the matters under investigation was part of his regular auditing procedures and concerned a time period later than 1961.

Farnum said business firms usually cooperated with his office in its audits of county expenditures.

Disclosure in June of the $5,000 fee to Barry for a survey in connection with a Waterford Township water system development set off a storm of controversy in which Barry said what he did on his own time was none of Farnum's business.

Farnum said today it was the first time he had had to issue a subpoena against a business firm in his office's audits of county books.

He said the matter under audit was not specifically linked to a $5,000 fee paid to Barry by

Council Is Asked to Admit Women

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Leo Cardinal Suenens, one of the four executive moderators appointed by Pope Paul VI to direct ecumenical council discussions, today asked council fathers to admit women to their secret sessions in St. Peter's Basilica.

The Belgian cardinal also asked that lay auditors, admitted for the first time to the second session, be increased in number and made more representative in their selection.

He also suggested that representatives of religious orders who teach the gospel throughout the world, both men and women, be invited to the council sessions.

'SHOULD HAVE VOICE'
The cardinal argues that women make up half the population of the world and that on this basis they should have some voice in the debates on the nature and role of the Catholic Church in the modern world.

The cardinal clearly appeared to mean that both nuns and lay women should be admitted to listen to council sessions.

Cardinal Suenens said that not only members of the hierarchy but also lay people, both male and female, at the council.

The cardinal was not speaking in his official capacity as a moderator, but his authority is widely respected by council fathers.

WIDER REPRESENTATION
It was in this light that the cardinal suggested a wider representation of religious and lay persons, both male and female, at the council.

The cardinal was not speaking in his official capacity as a moderator, but his authority is widely respected by council fathers.

Murphy May Get the Job

Supervisors Ponder New Post

By DICK HANSON
More oil has been applied to wheels intended to carry County Clerk - Register Daniel T. Murphy into a new position of chief county administrator.

But the wheels are still squeaky.

In an effort to get the Murphy movement rolling again, David Levinson, chairman of the county supervisors and means committee, headed a meeting of some 30 supervisors Friday in the Court-House Auditorium.

The meeting wasn't announced publicly.

Attending the session were members of the ways and means and salaries committees and most of the chairmen of other committees.

Levinson said the meeting was held to feel out some of the supervisors as to whether they think a chief administrator is necessary.

He reportedly said a chief administrator is needed because of a laxity on the part of the County Board of Auditors to assume fully its responsibilities.

Levinson, with the support of the two committees, sought to have Murphy appointed to the board of auditors at the last board of supervisors' meeting.

MORE DUTIES
The plan was and still is to have Murphy then appointed chairman of the board of auditors with additional administrative responsibilities.

First, though, the board was asked to raise the salary of the new board of auditors member to an average annual salary of $30,000.

This would be about a $6,000 a year increase. Levinson said the increase was needed to cover the additional responsibilities yet to be spelled out and decided by the full board of supervisors.

GTW Seeks End to Durand-Detroit Run
DETROIT (AP) — Spokesmen for the Grand Trunk Western Railroad told a State Public Service Commission hearing yesterday that two trains operating between Detroit and Durand in Southeastern Michigan County are losing about $200,000 a year.

The railroad spokesmen testified at the commission's hearing on Grand Trunk Western's petition to discontinue both trains.

A PSC spokesman said the commission had received letters opposing discontinuance of Train 22, a commuter train which leaves Durand at 5:30 a.m. daily except Sunday and arrives in Detroit after nine stops between Pontiac and Detroit.

The second train, No. 37, runs daily except Sunday and arrives at Durand at 12:15 a.m., when it makes connection with a Chicago-bound train.

The railroad said patronage of the two trains has dropped sharply in recent years because main highways parallel their route, and that they no longer carry mail or railway express items.

Service OK'd for Firm Partly Outside of City

BIRMINGHAM — An agreement was authorized by the City Commission last night to provide municipal service to a new development which will be located partially outside the city.

The agreement is with Michigan Building Components, Inc., a manufacturer of wood trusses for home and commercial use.

The firm plans to construct a manufacturing and warehouse building on the 3 1/2-acre site at the east end of Cole. Most of the property, formerly owned by the Grand Trunk Railroad, is in the city of Troy.

The firm will receive water, sewer, fire and police services on a fee basis.

SUPPORT ANNEXATION
The agreement stipulates that Michigan Building take all necessary steps to provide for placing the question of annexing the property to Birmingham on the ballot at the next regular election in Birmingham and Troy. This includes the circulation and filing of petitions.

The agreement is not accomplished by election, the firm must continue to support annexation and will, if there is a change in annexation procedure, work toward annexation under whatever procedures are available.

Additional insurance for Birmingham auxiliary police and fire personnel was approved by the commission.

Thayer said his next move would be to see if he could get 21 votes — the three-fifths majority needed to support the rule. Last night, only 18, the simple majority required, voted for the postponement asked by Romney's leaders.

Sen. William Milliken, R-Traverse City, GOP Senate floor leader, speculated the Royce-Rahoi move could be a blessing in disguise.

"If we've got the votes in that appropriations committee, we could get the proper amendments put on there and then get it voted out again," Milliken said.

State Takes Licenses of 16 Drivers

Drivers' licenses of 16 area motorists were recently suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to convictions of drunk driving were:

Donald E. Lennox, 5640 Oster; Arza E. Lord, 3105 Gerald, Rochester; and Paul T. Morath, 41696 14-Mile, Walled Lake.

BAD RECORDS

Unsatisfactory driving records caused the following to have their licenses taken away: Charles Jackson, 440 S. Saginaw; James D. Nickolopoulos, 164 Chandler; Darwin E. Pace, 781 E. Beverly; Robert H. Anderson, 130 Wendellton, Troy; Harry A. Bauers, 3148 Varjo, Keego Harbor; William M. Dyer, 3659 Etkin, Union Lake; Richard J. Milks, 10135 Kirkshire, Birmingham; Glenn W. Orr, 764 Hazelwood, Birmingham; and George H. Thomas, 1089 Witherbee, Birmingham.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility due to unsatisfactory financial judgments against them were: Johnnie D. Smith, 512 Bloomfield; Willie L. Hardin, 5790 Fleming Lake, Clarkston; and Homer A. and Mildred L. Russell, 4515 Kempf, Waterford Township.

Bomber Blasts by Terrorists Hit Ecuador

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI)—Terrorist dynamites bombed the Education Ministry here Sunday night, causing some damage but no casualties, it was reported today.

The bomb was the fourth set off here in five days, marking renewed activity by terrorists who had been lying low since the armed forces ousted ex-president Carlos J. Arosemena in July.

On Wednesday night, City Hall and the Finance Ministry were bombed and on Saturday a bomb was set off in the grounds of the Colombian Embassy. No one was injured by any of the blasts.

Arosemena, who had been living in Panama as a refugee, left that country Wednesday or Thursday. His present whereabouts are unknown.

Girl's Burns Are Fatal

DETROIT (AP)—Delores Heikkinen, 15, died in Children's Hospital yesterday of burns suffered Oct. 12 when her clothing caught fire. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heikkinen, told police the girl had been trying to light a cigarette.

'Fiscal Health Result of Jobs'

LANSING (UP)—State Revenue Commissioner Clarence Lock says higher employment is the main reason for Michigan's present fiscal health.

Lock, looking at the July-August-September state revenue situation, found increased employment reflected in higher business activities tax and sales tax collections.

"The most significant increase occurs in the revenues received from the business activities tax which show an increase of $3.3 million or 18.1 per cent more than the same period last year.

"Higher levels of employment and payrolls are primarily responsible for this marked improvement," Lock commented in a statement.

"It is encouraging," he said, "to note that while tax receipts from the sale of automobiles continue to show strength, a large portion of the increase in sales taxes is due to nonautomotive business triggered, no doubt by continued high employment levels."

Sales tax collections for the quarter were $117.8 million, a 7 per cent increase over 1962.

Convict Free; 20-Year Term Overlooked

MIAMI (UP)—Robert Lawrence was released yesterday after 25 years behind bars.

Police discovered too late that the 58-year-old man from Bainbridge, Ga., had another year to serve. A pickup order was issued with the notation he left no forwarding address.

Lawrence pleaded guilty at age 33 to eight burglary charges and was sentenced to five years on each count.

He was paroled, wound up in a fight, and returned to prison with an additional 20-year sentence for assault to commit murder.

APPEALS CONVICTION

This year Lawrence appealed the burglary convictions on the ground that he didn't have a lawyer at the first trial. He was retried and sentenced to 10 years, which he had served.

Monday he walked away from the county jail. But someone forgot the 20-year sentence on the assault to murder conviction, for which he had a lawyer.

On Negligent Homicide

Teen Charged in Death

A 17-year-old Pontiac youth was charged with negligent homicide yesterday in the traffic death of another teen-ager Friday.

Danny L. Farnsworth, 12 Gingell, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and a preliminary examination was scheduled for Oct. 28.

Farnsworth was the driver of a car that struck and killed David Levering, 15, of 177 S. Jessie, while he was crossing Auburn near Sanford.

Pontiac police said Farnsworth was driving with defective brakes. He was released in custody of his parents.

A preliminary examination for another Pontiac resident charged with manslaughter in the traffic deaths of two teen-agers, also on Friday, will be held Oct. 25 before Bloomfield Township Justice Alice Gilbert.

George H. Paulson, 31, of 59 Wall, was released from the Oakland County Jail yesterday after meeting a bond of $500. Paulson's car ran off Telegraph Road north of 13 Mile and hit the two youths who were changing a flat tire. Fatally injured were Ronald J. Church, 18, of 21634 Albion, Farmington, and Carl B. Neely, 17, of 43831 Grand River, Novi.

If you're shopping compacts, don't gauge economy by gas mileage alone.

You can get 28 to 38 mpg in a SAAB. But you can get 150 mpg in a motor scooter. The point is that, unlike most other compacts, SAAB is designed for total economy: initial cost, operating costs, length of life.

A SAAB is economical to buy. It comes fully equipped with factory undercoating, windshield washers, padded dash and visors, electric clock, and more. Most optional extras on other cars are standard equipment on a SAAB.

A SAAB is economical to own. Its unusual 3-cylinder, 2-stroke engine* takes oil from the gas tank for consistently fresh lubrication that reduces engine wear. (No sludge or friction-causing particles.) What's more, SAAB has front-wheel drive and near-perfect weight distribution that saves tires. Some owners get 60,000 miles on them. Some get only 40,000. Few complain. Neither do owners who hate to see a car rust out. SAAB has a full belly pan to keep dirt and mud out. And a heavy-gauge steel body. In general, a SAAB shuns towing and repair expense.

All this adds up to total economy. In a SAAB's lifetime you come out miles ahead. Test-drive an economical 1964 SAAB soon. Only $1895. (Suggested retail price at East Coast P.O.E. Delivery and local taxes extra.)

*Engine, transmission and differential warranted for 2 years or 24,000 miles.

Wilson to Stay; Paul Brown Figured as GM

Wholesale Lions' Changes Expected Under Ford Control

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

DETROIT—The indication is strong that the Detroit Lions will have one quarterback running the front office—William Clay Ford.

The announcement that Ford has been assumed complete control of the club may come out of the Lions' stockholders meeting, October 29th.

It has been learned that Ford has already received commitment to acquire nearly 60 per cent of the Lions' stock after his reported $6 million offer for the franchise.

CHANGES EXPECTED

Other important developments expected to take place on the Detroit club are:

• Paul Brown, former Cleveland Brown head coach, has been offered the job of general manager now held by Edwin J. Anderson.

• Veteran linebacker Joe Schmidt will be hired as player-coach for the next season and only present coach George Wilson and assistant Les Binghamman will survive the shakeup of the coaching staff. This is not expected to involve Bob Nussbaumer, the club's talent scout.

• Ford will make an all out effort to secure the reinstatement of all-pro lineman Alex Karras, suspended for alleged gambling activities.

The hiring of Brown as GM is expected to be contingent on whether he would get control of the Washington Redskins which he is reportedly seeking.

He failed in his attempt to buy the Philadelphia Eagles couple months ago and it was rumored that with George Marshall, owner of the Redskins ailing, the Washington franchise would be sold.

If Brown did get control of the Redskins, which would then remove him from the Lions' picture, the word has it that Nick Kerbawy, former Lions' general manager who is now involved in a court suit with the Detroit Pistons, would figure prominently in the Lions' plans.

MORALE HURT

In regard to the ball club, since the gambling probe rife by NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle early this year, resulting in the suspension of Karras and fines on five other players, the morale of the Lions' squad has been very poor.

Several trades have also caused angry comments from some players and the poor showing of the team in the current NFL season has brought about bickering and criticism among the players.

A wholesale change is expected to take place on the offensive unit of the team which has been the target of irate comments by coaches, among players and from Lions' front office officials as well as the fans.

"At most, only eight players on the offensive unit may be around next season, "noted a source close to the Lions. Trade overtures and draft choices will be concentrated on a fullback, halfback, guard, two offensive tackles and a quarterback.

Ford, who immediately jumped into the ring in Karras' corner when the suspension was announced by Rozelle, is expected to make a strong effort to have the big tackle back for 1964, and he will push for a decision out of the December NFL draft meetings.

Schmidt, the all-pro veteran linebacker, has been held in high regard by Ford and while the former Pitt star has been contemplating retirement, it is expected that he will postpone this decision in order to fill the player-coach position next season.

A shoulder injury in Sunday's 25-21 loss to Baltimore has put Schmidt out for the season.

Ford, who took over the Lions' presidency after a long proxy battle among stockholders in 1961, admitted he had thought about buying the controlling stock of the club for over a year.

BIG RETURNS

The $6 million offer to buy the club is considered too lucrative for the top stockholders to pass up. By taking sole possession Ford said he wanted to do away with having 144 quarterbacks (the number of stockholders).

Tremendous gains have been realized in returns to stockholders. Two per cent, or 120 shares is said to be the maximum holding for any holder, and in selling out to Ford the return for a $100 share bought in 1955 would be 15 to one.

All of the original "two per cent" stockholders, seven in number, are reported being offered $240,000 for their $20,000 investment.

The seven who held the original two per cent or $20,000 maximum are Walter O. (Spike) Briggs, Jr.; Harry Wisner; George Cavanaugh, William Downey; Edwin Anderson; A. R. Hoffman and Lyle Fife.

Fife later reportedly sold some of his stock and Ray M. White became a maximum holder.

FRICTION REPORTED

Replacing of Anderson as general manager, since he stepped down as president in favor of Ford after the proxy battle, was spurred this season when friction was reported between Anderson and the coaches as well as with the players.

Several players have accused Anderson of "betrayal" when Rozelle made public the names and penalties of players involved in betting or gambling.

"Anderson and Rozelle both swore that names would not be brought into the picture when the investigations were being made," said one player, "Then they accused each other of forcing the matter to be brought into the open."

Players who were fined $2,000 each, have had the fines deducted out of their semi-monthly pay checks.

The players themselves are welcoming Ford's control of the club.

The 38-year-old auto executive is popular with many of the players and even though some admit his knowledge in governing a pro football franchise is lacking in experience they feel that the head coaching decisions will carry more weight rather than interference.

"One boss is better than 144." This is the opinion extended by several players.

Packers Lose Starr

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—A broken bone in his passing hand has sidelined Green Bay quarterback Bart Starr, the bright young mastermind in the power attack that made the Packers the National Football League champions two years in a row.

There was no immediate word on Packer emergency plans, but the development appeared to thrust reserve John Roach, a former starting quarterback in the NFL, into the position of coming off the bench to continue the Green Bay drive for an unprecedented third straight title.

Defense Has 4 Regulars Out for 1963

Others Hobble Badly as Wilson Prepares Makeshift Lineup

DETROIT—They say a wounded Lion is the most ferocious. If that's the case then the Minnesota Vikings are in for trouble next Sunday at Tiger Stadium.

The only falacy with this statement is that these wounded Lions are human and they are hurting so badly their numbers have dwindled far below the strength needed by a team.

Besides the five players, four defensive regulars, out for the season, the list of "walking wounded" may force coach George Wilson to double platoon some of his players.

John Gonzaga, and offensive tackle, had to move in at defensive end for part of Sunday's 25-21 loss to Baltimore, when Sam Williams and Darris McCord both hobbled with leg injuries.

LINEBACKING HURT

The vaunted linebacking trio of the Lions, Joe Schmidt, Carl Brettschneider and Wayne Walker is no longer intact as a unit and the Lions' can expect no longer to hold the top spot in the league in defensive statistics.

Schmidt, who injured his left shoulder Sunday, is out for the season and Brettschneider is also through for '63 after a knee operation. Walker is taped from the hip to the ankle and has not been able to handle the Lions' kicking, except the placements.

This situation puts 2nd stringer Max Mesner, rookies Dennis Gaudet and Ernie Clark in the linebacking roles. Clark has also been playing defensive end when Walker does get into the game. One of the biggest problems is the case of Milt Plum. Plum's confidence was shattered completely after the only pass he threw against Baltimore was intercepted by Andy Nelson and returned for the game winning touchdown.

PLUM'S CONFIDENCE

Wilson is not convinced that Plum is finished as a quarterback. He knows however that he has the biggest task he has ever faced in trying to help Plum regain his confidence, even if it means sacrificing all of 1963 to hope a fresh start in 1964.

The bad part of it all for the rest of the season is that the Lions still have the Bears, Packers and Cleveland Browns facing them, and three teams sitting atop the Western and Eastern Divisions.

And then there are the 49ers, who have come to life in beating the Bears last Sunday.

At one time or another the Lions have had 20 players injured on the squad. "We'll finish the season with the best 22 players left," said coach Wilson, "there are no players available to be obtained."

The Lions are hurting, there's no doubt, and they may even be underdogs against the Vikings.

Maples, Walled Lake Move Up in Ratings

Birmingham Seaholm moved up a notch to fifth place and Walled Lake took over 10th in the weekly Associated Press Class A prep football poll.

Willow Run gained enough support after trouncing Hamtramck 48-25 to move into first place in Class B.

Willow Run's advance marked the first time in six weeks that Bad Axe failed to at least share the top spot in Class B. Bad Axe dropped to second, while Hillsdale continued in third place.

Flint Central, though idle last weekend, retained its leadership in Class A, and Kalamazoo St. Augustine continued to rule in Class C-D.

Steels Suffer Sharp Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels took sharp losses early today as the stock market fell in heavy trading. Wall Street was upset by news that subpoenas were served on leading steel companies and worry that it might lead to a new government effort to roll back steel prices in the spring of 1962. The leading steels were delayed in opening due to an accumulation of sell orders. U. S. Steel fell more than 3 points, Bethlehem about 2.

Republic Steel dropped 3 1/2 to 40 on an opening block of 2,000 shares.

Jones & Laughlin dropped 3 1/2 to 40 on successive blocks of 15,000 and 3,000 shares. Inland lost well over a point, Armco more than 3. McLaughlin Steel 3. Selling spilled over into most other sections of the list. IBM stumbled to a 9-point loss, Xerox dropped, Polaroid 3, Control Data 2, High Voltage Engineering more than a point. Corporate bonds were lower.

U.S. Enlarges Tariff Cut List

Willing to Negotiate on About 6,000 Items

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States is willing to negotiate tariff cuts on nearly 6,000 items, or approximately 87 percent of all its imports, in a move to break down trade barriers around the world. The preliminary list, released by the White House yesterday, covered items to be considered for negotiations during the 33-nation session of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT) next spring.

It contained about 60 per cent more products than those on the same list in 1960 when GATT member countries last convened at the bargaining table for major trade negotiating sessions.

The present list may be pared down, however, after public hearings at which U.S. industries will be allowed to show the impact of tariff cuts.

The new list reflects President Kennedy's intention to use the broad tariff-cutting authority granted him by the 1962 Trade Expansion Act.

American trade negotiators have indicated that their primary aim will be to negotiate 50 per cent mutual decreases in tariffs. Such decreases would be carried out over a five-year period.

In a report to Congress yesterday, Kennedy said the new spring round of trade negotiations could lead to free world trade expansion "in all products and in all directions."

Teens Follow Leader

EDITOR'S NOTE—How do the teen-agers spend the billions of dollars at their disposal? This second of two articles reports on where their money goes and what it means to the economy.)

By JACK LEFFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK—Donald Moger, 17, gets 10 a week allowance from his parents and spends it all. This New York teen-ager's spending habits are fairly typical of the nine million boys aged 14 to 17 who, along with teen-age girls, make up a mammoth market that has emerged since World War II.

These boys spend $16 billion a year on everything from hot dogs to cars.

Donald, who boasts his spending power with part-time jobs, spends his money on clothing, records, hot rods books, refreshments, dates and a wide variety of other things.

Clothes are the top spending items for both boys and girls. They use their own money except for big ticket items such as coats, suits and dresses.

"Someone sets the style—the leader in the group," says Donald. "Someone will buy tight pants and then we all will."

Despite the tendency to follow the leader and an affinity for teen-agers generally for an "A" from market analysts for their purchases.

"They're rather astute in the selection of wearing apparel," says Morton Minsky, president of a New York consultant firm that concentrates on the boys' market.

START NEW INDUSTRY
Teen-agers can virtually start a new industry. This was the case with home hair dryers. Two years ago only 20 per cent of the girls owned dryers; now 50 per cent own them.

Girls spend $300 million a year, an average of $20 each on phonograph records, according to a report by the National Bureau of Economic Research.

CHICAGO—Rock Island Railroad management has told stockholders they would suffer a dilution of the interest if the Chicago and North Western should gain control.

The statement was contained in a letter signed by R. E. Johnson, president of the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co., soliciting proxies opposing an exchange of securities proposed by the Chicago and North Western Railway Co.

The Rock Island is seeking to merge with the Union Pacific and to acquire some of the facilities of the Southern Railway. The North Western is seeking to gain control of the Rock Island through an exchange of securities and cash payment.

The Rock Island said among other things that statements made by the North Western omitted to mention that North Western preferred stock has equal voting rights with the common.

NEW YORK—Private government and rural electric power systems as of Oct. 1 had on order and scheduled for operation a near record 45.6 million kilowatts of new generating capacity.

Robert Haines, 28, of 117 Cadillac, told Pontiac police yesterday that thieves entered his home and stole a coin collection valued at $700,000, two watches and a foot locker.

About $50 in change was stolen in a break-in at the Pure Gas Station, 687 E. Mount Clemens, an attendant, Laurant Galloway, 32, reported to Pontiac police yesterday.

Hanna Net Income Rises

CLEVELAND—M. A. Hanna Co. reports that net income for the first nine months rose to $16.7 million or 88 cents a share, from $10.2 million, or 84 cents a share in the similar 1962 period.

William A. Hobbs, president of the big closed-end investment company, said his firm's net assets at the end of Sept. 30 totaled more than $563 million, an all-time high.

This is equal to $46.13 a share on common stocks, and represented an increase of about $107 million since the beginning of the year.

Hobbs attributed the performance largely to an increase in market value of the firm's National Steel Corp. stock. He also noted improvements in Hanna's other stocks.

WASHINGTON—With market prices showing strength under big export prospects, farmers are storing less wheat under government price supports this year than last.

reports that 114.6 million bushels of wheat from this year's crop had been placed under supports through September compared with 135.5 million a year ago. This year's wheat crop is 4 per cent larger than last year's. Two years ago, 230 million bushels had been stored under support.

Grain Prices Start on Firmer Trend

CHICAGO (AP)—Grain futures prices started off on a firmer trend today with most commodities posting gains of a cent or more in spots during the first several minutes of activity on the board of trade.

Brokers said some of the support for soybeans appeared to be short covering and reinstatement of long positions on the recent declines. There also was some demand for exporters, probably to fill orders of a half million bushels overnight to Europe and Japan.

Short covering was apparent in new crop wheat markets along with scattered commercial demand for corn.

There are statistical services and manuals that show earnings, dividends, and price range over a ten-year period; but these are very expensive for the average investor. They are available, however, in most brokerage offices and in many public libraries — particularly college libraries.

If you inquire in any of the places I've mentioned, I feel sure you will get the information you want and should have.

Q. "In one of your recent columns, you referred to a list of Public Housing Authority bonds which you considered safe and satisfactory for tax-exempt income. I am interested in such issues and would appreciate your re-submitting this list." E.N.

A. Unfortunately, I cannot re-submit the same list, because the issues I mentioned have been sold. All bonds, however, issued under Annual Contribution Contract with the P.H.A. are equally secure.

In the opinion of the Attorney General, dated May 15, 1963, a contract to pay annual contributions entered into by P.H.A. is a valid and binding obligation of the United States Government. Housing Authority bonds are totally exempt from Federal income taxes, but are subject to similar state levies in most instances.
