

Romney Vows He Wouldn't Bow to Viet Reds

Drafting Instructor at PCH Is Honored

A Pontiac Central High School instructor last night was named recipient of the 1967 Master Teacher Award at the 39th annual convention banquet of the Michigan Industrial Education Society in Detroit.

Receiving the award was Joseph L. Atwell, 62, of 810 Menominee.

He is a drafting instructor and head of the vocational education department at Pontiac Central.

Atwell is a 40-year member of the MIES and has held teaching certification in tool and die design and engineering drafting for the same length of time.

During his teaching career, Atwell has participated in many drafting conventions throughout the state, displaying die design, demonstrating the use of classroom models and speaking to assemblies.

COAUTHORED BOOK
In 1948 he coauthored a book entitled "Job Sheet Manual for Sheetmetal Dies" with A. A. Vezani of the University of Michigan.

Atwell's dedication to helping youth is especially evident in what he considers his greatest accomplishments — the awards his students have received.

Dems Say Talk Lessens War as Campaign Issue

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney vows a Republican White House under his command would not yield to Communist terms in Vietnam. Democrats said Romney's position would lessen the war's impact as a presidential campaign issue.

Republican Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky said Romney spoke the view of an American majority — "that we should follow the lead of the President" in the Asian conflict.

The White House called the Michigan governor's words "a strong endorsement of the administration's position on Vietnam."

There was Romney criticism, too, but the White House dismissed that as "a few partisan morsels..."

For Romney, moving toward a bid for nomination to challenge President Johnson in 1968, last night's speech was a crucial pre-campaign test. His supporters were convinced he had passed.

INFLUENTIAL OPINION

One influential Republican who privately has expressed misgivings about Romney said the governor had strengthened his political position. He said a specific position on the war was crucial to Romney's budding candidacy.

The position Romney took: "It is unthinkable that the United States withdraw from Vietnam..."

"Our military effort must succeed. I believe that we must use military force as necessary to reduce or cut off the flow of men and supplies from North Vietnam, to knock out enemy main force units, and to provide a military shield for the south. We must give our gallant fighting men our full support."

Romney unveiled his Vietnam policy before more than 500 persons at a black-tie dinner celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Hartford Times.

NO LONGER ISSUE?

"Basically, he comes out in full support of Lyndon Johnson," said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who was there. "A few more statements like this and Vietnam ceases to be a political issue. It seems the Republican party has accepted the position of the Democratic party as the national position."

Romney criticized past Johnson decisions, said Congress has been bypassed and charged that administration pronouncements on the war produced "a rupture of trust" between the government and the governor.

He counseled against "massive military escalation" and outlined a proposed future "peace with amnesty" for defeated Communists in South Vietnam.

"We must learn from the lessons of this tragic war to avoid similar involvements in the future," Romney said. "There has been a failure to decide what the scope and nature of our Vietnam commitment ought to be."

He said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was right in his decision not to deploy ground troops in Vietnam.

He asserted the massive U.S. troop commitment in the small Asian land "has the inevitable result of turning it into an American dependency."

Romney stressed heavily what he called "the other war," the effort to pacify Vietnam, "to win back those Vietnamese members who are more nationalists than Communists — and most of them are nationalists, not hardcore Communists."

AMERICAN FLAG BURNED—Young Paris demonstrators burn the American flag near the Place d'Iena during an anti-U.S. meeting yesterday while Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey was in the same vicinity attending a ceremony at the Arc de Triomphe. The ceremony attended by Humphrey commemorated the 50th anniversary of the American entry into World War I.

Sets Off Huge Fire in Teeming Slums

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A twin-engine South Korean air force transport plane smashed into a Seoul slum area today.

Officials said 55 persons perished—including all 14 aboard the plane and 41 on the ground. They added that six persons were missing and 30 were injured.

The crash set off a huge fire that trapped many victims inside their wooden houses.

The injured included 13 high school students who jumped from second-floor classrooms after the plane exploded 50 yards from their school.

Among the dead were the pilot, Capt. Suh Keun-joo, two crewmen and 11 passengers on the plane.

11 PERSONS MISSING

Besides the students, 17 persons were seriously burned or injured. Eight persons were missing.

Authorities said the C-46 transport belonging to the 5th Air Transport Squadron fell shortly before noon, five minutes after taking off in a drizzle from Yoido Air Base on a flight to Tae-gu, 130 miles to the southeast.

Eyewitnesses reported that the plane appeared to have engine trouble.

FIRE SPREAD

A series of explosions followed, as gasoline spilled from the plane and spread the fire.

About 30 wooden buildings housing about 70 families were burned.

The area is populated by laborers, many of whom had stayed home because of the rainy weather.

Narrow alleys kept fire engines from reaching the area but the blaze was brought under control in 1½ hours.

1,000 to Honor Hart at Dinner

U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart will be honored tonight by an estimated 1,000 persons at a dinner at Oakland University.

The 10th annual dinner is planned for Vandenberg Hall at 8 p.m.

Among the state dignitaries attending will be former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, State Central Chairman Zolton Ferency, State Central Vice Chairman Patti Knox, National Committeeman Neil Staehle and National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffries.

Earlier this week, a spokesman for county Democrats predicted tonight's dinner would be the most successful Hart dinner yet.

Shuttle buses will be used to transport guests from the main parking lot at the university to Vandenberg Hall.

Seoul Plane Crash Kills 55

Rescue workers recovered 15 bodies, including those of crewmen and children, within two hours.

Bits of bodies and debris from the plane were found 450 yards from the crash site.

Mayor Kim Hyun-ok and Air Force Chief of Staff Lt. Gen. Chang Chi-ryung directed rescue efforts.

Police took a roll call but the confusion made it impossible to determine exactly how many were killed and injured.

Showers, Sunshine Will Take Turns

A few showers will alternate with sunshine in the Pontiac area over the weekend.

Showers or thundershowers forecast for tonight will end tomorrow with temperatures warmer.

The official U.S. Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Sunny and warmer, the high 55 to 60. Increasing cloudiness and not so cold tonight with a chance of showers or thundershowers late tonight or early tomorrow. Low 40 to 46.

SUNDAY—Partly clearing and mild. MONDAY—Partly sunny and a little cooler.

Nicklaus Fails to Make Cut as Masters Race Gets Hot

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — The race was as hot as the weather as play opened in the third round of the 31st Masters golf classic at the Augusta National course today.

The thermometer hit a record 91 degrees yesterday and 12 players with par or sub-par rounds were in the thick of the chase at midpoint.

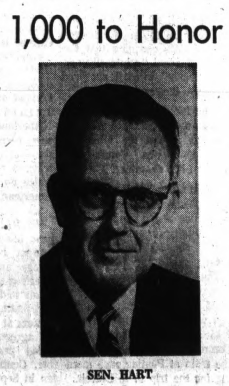

Bert Yancey of Tallahassee, Fla., held a one-stroke lead after 36 holes with a four-under-par 140, but the big news was the failure of defending champion Jack Nicklaus to make the cut.

Nicklaus had a 79 yesterday and his 151 total missed the cut by a stroke.

Fifty-five golfers began teeing off at 10:40 a.m. today, with all of the top contenders in late starting time around 1 p.m.

Palmer, with one 146 at the midpoint, thrilled his army of followers on the first hole today when his second shot rolled just past the cup to miss an eagle. He canned a three-foot putt for the birdie.

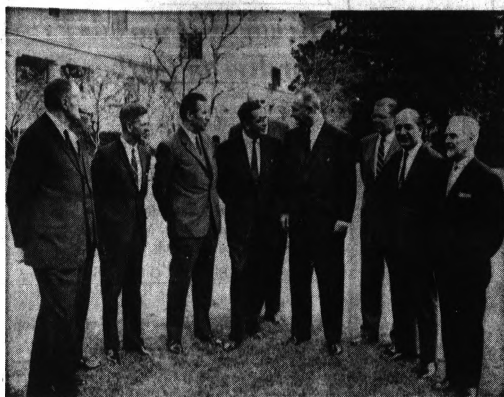

The forecast is for another 90-degree day, and the wind gusts are expected to reach 35 miles an hour.

Netherlands; Gerhard Schroeder of Germany; Denis Healey of Great Britain; Harlan Cleveland (at rear); U.S. ambassador to NATO; the President; Defense Secretary Robert McNamara; Ahmet Topaloglu of Turkey; and Robert Tremeloni of Italy.

NATO Backs Strong Offense

Little Interest Shown in Missile Defense

WASHINGTON (AP)—America's European allies apparently back Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's contention that the best defense against nuclear attack is a potent missile offense.

Defense ministers of seven North Atlantic Treaty Organization members were reported to have shown little interest in antiballistic missile defense systems during the two-day meeting of NATO's nuclear planning group which ended Friday.

Instead, sources said, they urged expansion of the U.S. missile striking force. McNamara is said to have told them the United States has five to six times as many deliverable nuclear warheads as the Soviet Union.

Some members of Congress are urging that the United States develop and deploy an antiballistic missile—ABM—defense system to shield key American cities. Their interest is spurred by deployment of more effective offensive missiles.

McNamara has said deploying ABMs would only add fuel to the offensive arms race by requiring the United States and Soviet Union to develop more sophisticated offensive weapons.

At President Johnson's request, the Soviets recently opened negotiations with U.S. envoys aimed at forestalling an ABM race between the two nations.

But the Soviets are believed to have insisted that the talks include limiting offensive nuclear weaponry as well.

McNamara reportedly told other NATO defense chiefs that the United States now possesses 1,446 intercontinental ballistic missiles, both land- and sea-based, plus nuclear weapons that can be delivered by 680 long-range bombers.

He is said to have estimated Soviet nuclear strength at 470 ICBMs and 155 intercontinental bombers.

JEAN LOUISKA

SMHS Senior Teen of Week

This week's teen is Jean Louiska, a senior at St. Michael High School.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Louiska, 83 Ogema. She participates in many extra curricular activities while maintaining a B average in her college prep studies.

Jean is an avid basketball fan and besides attending all of the boys' games, has participated in the girls' side of the sport since her freshman year. She is also vice president of the Student Council.

Upon graduation, Jean plans to attend Oakland University and study elementary education. Eventually, she will make a major of science and math.

Waterford to Begin Annual Beautification

The Greater Waterford Community Council officially will launch its annual cleanup, fix-up and beautification month at its 8 p.m. Tuesday meeting at Pierce Junior High School.

Scheduled to speak are Elmer Johnson, who will take over as Waterford Township supervisor Monday; John R. Forbes, president of the Natural Science for Youth Foundation of Westport, Conn.; and Dearborn's John N. Park, a director of the Beautification Council of Southeastern Michigan.

Parkhurst will discuss Dearborn's Beautification Commission which strives to upgrade the city through its "Dear Merchant" program.

Parkhurst twice has served as chairman of the commission. He has been a member of 15 years.

Forbes, who helped organize the Drayton Plains Nature Center, will talk about conserving natural resources and the nature center.

Johnson will speak briefly in support of the beautification campaign which will continue through May 20.

Record Snow Piles Woe on City Budget

Usually a "snow job" protects the recipient faced by adverse elements. No such favorable outcome marked the snow job inflicted upon the City of Pontiac during the 1966-67 winter.

City Hall is still shivering from the effect of the $137,000 bite the record snowfall took of the municipal budget for snow removal from city streets and parking lots.

To give you an idea how deep was the bite, but $63,000 was spent during the previous winter to do the same job.

The City Fathers optimistically budgeted $97,818 for snow removal during 1967. Since, however, the early months of the year took a hefty swipe at the amount earmarked and the upcoming months of November and December are yet to be heard from, the DPW is keeping its fingers firmly crossed against a repetition of the flaky onslaught that last year began in November and continued without mercy.

Mounting Vandalism a National Disgrace

The term "vandalism" derives from the name of an East Germanic tribe—"Vandals"—who in 455 A.D. ravaged Gaul, Spain and northern Africa and sacked Rome.

But its antiquity makes it no less reprehensible, and abhorrent to the society when practiced within the context of our times.

Nationwide, the schools have been particular targets for this revolting form of depredation, a fact that has baffled both educators and sociologists.

Bitterness over disruptive home atmosphere, classroom frustration and release of antisocial tendencies serve as plausible, if inconclusive, motivation.

Pontiac area school systems have suffered their share of vandalism—that of Waterford Township being the most recent target when its William Austin Burt School was forced Wednesday to suspend classes for 375 students after being struck by marauders the night before.

Needless to say, school officials have explored plans, and implemented some, for the protection of their buildings. The dilemma they face, however, is that the cost of protective programs invariably exceeds the amount of damage inflicted.

One significant fact, though based on limited experience, is that where the community school concept has been introduced into a school system, vandalism at the schools involved has notably decreased. A ready explanation is that when the total family and community revolves around its educational structure, a sense of personal identification with the schools finds expression in enhanced moral respect for the buildings.

Along with many other problems posed by America's adolescents, vandalism stands as one of the most serious. It is also one of the most inexplicable.

Government's Appetite for Land Is Unappeased

Sweden is a Socialist nation, and under socialism, the state owns the property and sources of production. But oddly enough, Sweden, the Socialist country, has less land in government ownership than the United States.

In Sweden, the state owns 25 per cent of the forest and wildlife lands with the remaining 75 per cent in private ownership.

In this country, by contrast, Federal, state and county governments own 50 per cent of the forest and wildlife lands in Oregon and 47 per cent in California. In the United States, 39 per cent of the total land area is controlled by government, and the trend toward public land ownership is accelerating.

Government purchase of 77,000 acres in Texas for a national park would appear to most people to have little significance in the national pattern of land ownership. Condemnation of 4,000 acres of farmland by the Pennsylvania State Game Commission arouses no alarm in Iowa, and purchase of 100,000 acres by the Corps of Engineers in Alabama does not seem unreasonable.

But viewed in total, the proposed and completed land acquisitions represent a steady flow of the Nation's land resources from private ownership into government hands.

This trend toward public ownership of land is one that should be scrutinized by every American. Private ownership of property is a part of the American tradition. The increasing conversion of land to government domain strikes at the base of our democratic structure while shrinking local tax bases, with relative increase of tax rates on property remaining in private ownership.

Rugged Winter Scars Area Roads

By DICK SAUNDERS

The legacy of winter will long remain with us, so it seems. We can't complain about the cold, icy winds anymore. We can't brush the snow off our hats. But we can certainly FEEL the leftovers—on our streets.

Not only did our snow removal costs soar this winter, but we're now left with far more repair work on city and county roads than in past years.

There may be no end to this year's spring breakup. In some areas it may remain unrepaired through the summer. This points out a need for more revenue at both the city and county levels to adequately build and maintain thoroughfares.

Neither has enough to do the job.

According to Frazer W. Staman, chairman of the board of Oakland County Road Commissioners, it's the worst spring breakup in at least six years. "It would take at least $1.5 million just to restore the roads to their former condition," he estimated last week.

That $1.5 million takes on some significance when you realize that the road commission only gets about $2 million each year to maintain, improve and build county roads. While some of the cost may be shared by individual communities, that still means the road commission would have to spend a major portion of its budget just on repairs. That doesn't leave much for paving graded roads, widening paved streets and building new roadways.

In Pontiac the breakup is so severe that the city is considering returning at least 10 paved streets to gravel. There simply isn't enough money to repave them according to city officials. The only other alternative is for abouting property owners to petition for repaving and pay for it themselves.

It looks like that Sunday afternoon drive may become an endurance run this year.

The POWER of FAITH

By WOODI ISHMAEL

Gilbert Neil Amelio, artist, sculptor, poet, athlete, Air Force officer and a student nearing graduation from law school, has evolved one of the greatest expressions of faith that this artist-writer has ever been privileged to see.

It started when Gil, now a Major at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas, was stationed on a lonely radar site island. A devout Catholic, he made a Novena, praying for an assignment where his wife and four children could be with him. His prayers were answered with a four-year tour at the University of Detroit, and Amelio responded with a promise to do something with his hands to express his faith.

He conceived "The Face of Christ." It is a 40-minute dramatic presentation in which he models the head of Christ from 300 pounds of clay. This is done to music. His dialogue before Christ's face through two art periods—the Byzantine and the Italian Renaissance—and concludes with the Passion. Major Amelio has presented it to groups in all denominations, and the response has always been the same, "A gripping spiritual and artistic experience."

Confident Living:

We Can Be Free From Worry

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

One May morning my wife and I were driving in West Virginia. Spring breezes tripped lightly over the Allegheny Mountains. The sky was blue. The air was full of the song of birds. Dogwood was in bloom. It was the kind of day when man's restless spirit yearns to commune with nature.

At an intersection we stopped momentarily and I noticed a weathered old sign pointing to a little road. "Sunshine Valley," it said. "What do you say we go to Sunshine Valley?" I asked Ruth—and she was all for it.

It was dusty and bumpy and very narrow. It went deep into the hills and then down into a valley.

Presently we came to an old wooden bridge. Its planks rattled as we crossed over them. And the stream surging beneath was sparkling clear. We stopped and sat by this stream for a while.

While we were sitting on a log drinking in the fresh beauty all around us, a boy came into view. I took him to be about 12 years old. He walked very erect. He was wearing a blue denim shirt that looked as though it had been washed a thousand times. His pants, likewise well washed, were short for him and ragged. He had on a straw hat with holes in it.

And I never saw such a wad of bubble gum. He kept blowing it out like a balloon, obviously enjoying his chewing. Over the boy's shoulder was an old-fashioned fishing pole. The level gaze of his big brown eyes as he approached wasn't particularly curious, nor shy—just normal. I liked him at once.

"Hi, folks," he said. "What's your name?" I asked.

"Tommy Martin," he replied. "Where's your fishing pole?" Sheepishly I confessed I didn't have one. "Oh, that's okay," he said. "Just come along with me. I'll fish for the three of us."

We followed him up stream to where two brooks ("creeks," he called them) came together forming a deep pool. He told us there were lots of trout in this pool and they ran big. Wading out into the water he prepared to cast. "What are you using, Tommy?" I asked. "Dry flies or hares?"

"Just plain old worms," he said. "I dug them this morning. Trout like worms." He threw in his hook and came up with a big trout. "How do you like that one?" he grinned. "Hold it for me a minute."

I held it while he cut and trimmed a forked stick. This he stuck skillfully through the gills of the fish.

"You going to hang some more on there, Tommy?"

"Yep," he answered, still admiring the fish. "Pretty, eh?" Then: "You know something? I shot a deer in this woods last fall."

Then I did a stupid thing. Remembering it was Thursday, I inquired, "Tommy, how come you're not in school today?" His reply was a masterpiece of indifference. And I really was ashamed of myself, for where could a boy get more education on a May morning than wading in a trout stream in green woods splashes full of sunshine?

I hope no schoolteachers notice these reflections! Anyway, I didn't press the issue. Much impressed by this youngster, I asked him, "Tommy, do you ever worry?"

"He stopped what he was doing, looked at me and said, 'Worry? Shucks, no. What is there to worry about?' And I stood staring in admiration, feeling that maybe Tommy had a sounder grasp of life than I did."

Of course we cannot always be as carefree as 12-year-old Tommy Martin. Adult life brings serious concerns and problems to solve. And in the world there are plenty of problems to be concerned about: wars, poverty, injustices and the like. But intelligent concern is one thing; worrying is quite another. Worry is fear-thinking. It wastes energy and limits achievement. It is misery-producing. So an example like Tommy makes one want to be free of that mind-sickness called worry.

The Bible tells how to do that. It gives a good anti-worry formula consisting of three points: "For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind."

Power . . . power based on healthy self-confidence. Love . . . love of God and man. Sound mind . . . normal-mindedness, no obsessions or mental shadows.

Try that formula. Why worry?

Township Needs More Police Protection

How do Independence Township officials feel they deserve a raise of approximately $5,000 while the increase is needed in police protection? It was had enough when the sheriff's department stopped patrolling the township because of lack of funds from the township, but now they have to cut the expenses again for our police department.

It's a sad affair when you need a policeman and he is not there to help. I guess it will take a few more break-ins, accidents and other crime in the township before the people and township officials wise up.

By talking to Mr. Cain at the Department of Parks and Recreation, 333-7131. He said his department would be happy to form such a group if sufficient interest is shown. So, all you aspiring Julietts and Romeos, let the department know you're interested.

Washington Notebook:

By DAVE BURGIN

WASHINGTON (NEA)—The subject of grants is now being battered around the Senate and House chambers, so much so that there is talk here and there about you guessed it!—an investigation.

"While you are up," the joke is, "name me a grant."

Then it's, "I have uncovered a federal grant that will top any federal grant you've uncovered."

Here are some of the better toppers, from both Democrats and Republicans:

"$5,000 for a study of the world views and life of the Guajiro Indians of the Guajiro Peninsula in Colombia and Venezuela."

"$5,000 for the study of British and French fur trade between 1770 and 1820."

"$20,000 research grant to the National Science Foundation for the study of German cockroaches."

"$15,000 for preparation of a dictionary of popular beliefs and superstitions in the field of folklore, magic and witchcraft."

As for the latter, Rep. Richard L. Roubicek, R-Ind., was moved to say, "Maybe they can find some magic way for the taxpayer to finance lousy government projects such as this."

Halftime score from the political arena: Hawks, 6; Doves, 0.

Which means the Doves haven't had the ball yet, as it pertains to a list of six cracks, published in the Republican Congressional committee Newsletter, aimed at Democrats in general and "doves" like Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., in particular.

The herbs suppose how history might have read if Sen. Kennedy's influence has prevailed back when . . .

"David Farragut might have said: 'Damn the torpedoes! Still, we are a big country and enemy torpedoes are no excuse for us to take aggressive action in return.'"

"Commander James Lawrence might have said: 'Don't give up the ship, unless, of course, it appears that what we're doing will cause us to be judged harshly in the court of world opinion.'"

"Patrick Henry might have said: 'I know not what course others may take, but as for me, give me liberty or the nearest equivalent that we can work out at the negotiating table.'"

"John Paul Jones might have said: 'Surround! Well, at least we should make every effort to reach some honorable settlement.'"

"Charles Pinckney might have said: 'Millions for defense, but not one cent for military retaliation.'"

"Oliver Hazard Perry might have said: 'We have met the enemy and we are theirs.'"

Even since the first foreign emissary stood and screamed, "How dare you call my country backward!" the State Department has been extremely word-conscious.

"Backward," it evolved, became "undeveloped," which became "less-developed," which became "less-developed."

We ran across a State Department dictum the other day changing the preferred "less-developed" to the preferred "developing."

The next step should signal a whole new era, we suggested to a State Department spokesman, who then totally confused us by saying, quite seriously, "All these terms are relative."

4 Teens Admit Bomb Threats

Four teen-agers have admitted telephoning bomb threats last week to two Utica-area schools.

Both schools — Sterling Junior High and Utica High 8 were evacuated and searched when the threats were made Wednesday. No bomb was found.

Police said the four Sterling Township youths face suspension from classes for the rest of the current semester and are in custody of Macomb County Juvenile Court.

Three of the four, two 13-year-olds and a 15-year-old, attended the junior high school. A 16-year-old in custody attended Utica High. They were arrested Thursday night.

Maurice Polz, township police chief, said the four denied any responsibility for the placing of two dud bombs in a first-floor lavatory in the junior high school within the last six weeks.

He said neither bomb was designed to explode and he did not believe the four were involved, "although it may have given them the notion to make the threats."

Holdup Men Have Bad Day in Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Three men were behind bars today and a fourth was at large with $218, all that was uncovered in three separate robberies involving a total of more than $31,000. All the holdups took place within 45 minutes.

The first holdup was in suburban Crosby where a man, his face darkened with makeup, made off with $29,500 and bank president Arnold H. Garbs, 56, as a hostage.

A slow-motion chase ensued Bayou. He was held without ball with 75 law enforcement cars and other autos in a motorcade along freeways and back streets. The robber was careful never to break the speed limit. Thousands lined the chase route and an Air Force helicopter flew overhead.

Finally, a police car rammed the getaway vehicle and dGarbs wrestled a .22-caliber pistol away from the driver. Police identified him as William M. Archer, 51, of suburban Green's Bayou. He was held without ball on charges of armed robbery. The money was recovered.

ROBS OFFICE
In southwest Houston, a stock bandit in his 40s entered the trailer office of American Savings and Loan and cleaned the cash drawer of $218.

He tied up four women, raped a fifth twice, then sprayed all of them with an aerosol bomb — apparently containing insecticide — promising: "When you wake up, you won't remember what I look like."

He escaped and remained at large. In the third robbery, a man showed a holdup note at a teller at the downtown Liberty Savings and Loan Association, getting $1,300.

Detective James H. Jones, off duty but in a city car, heard about the robbery on the radio and began trailing a car leaving the scene. He held the two occupants until reinforcements arrived. Arrested were Fred Perez

Bustillo and Eugenio E. Rodriguez, both 22, of Sinton, Tex. They were charged with robbery and held without bail. The $1,300 was recovered.

Stick to Business
DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan has ruled out daytime private practice of law by any of his 40 assistants. He has ordered them to restrict their practice during working hours to county business.

Mortgage Note Rates Are Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal National Mortgage Association cut its interest rates yesterday on short-term discount notes, reflecting the current trend toward easier money.

The rate was lowered from 4.25 to 4.15 per cent on notes maturing in 60 to 270 days. The association issued the reduction as a result of the Federal Reserve Board's lowering the prime discount rate on Thursday.

Finally Captured

Alice the Seal Slippery as Eel

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — They finally caught Alice the runaway seal, after she appeared at a bus station and then ducked under an all-day chase in a canal.

The 3-year-old, 150-pound seal slipped away Wednesday from the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum through a gate left open for a directors meeting. That was the last anyone saw of Alice until she showed up Friday at the Greyhound bus station. A commuter spread the word. Alice meanwhile had waddled into a canal. Museum men chased her toward the shallow end, but Alice ducked under their boat and fled to deeper water. Several pursuers fell in the canal. Finally, the museum men gave up and called for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Four of its men with a 50-foot net snared Alice.

American Youth Performs is an organization originating in New York City and formed by professionals dedicated to the establishment of a launching platform for young, performing artists. Artists are selected through auditions and recommendations from music teachers throughout the country. The ages of American Youth Performs artists range from 18 to 40, depending on the type of voice and instrument. Our program is designed not only to provide a stage, an audience and practical experience for our young artists, but to inspire cultural awareness and appreciation of music, art, and literature among young adults. The Pontiac Honors Orchestra directed by Mr. Robert Peterson and Alanzo Seaboldt; Pontiac Northern Choir directed by Mr. John Tousley.

Outstanding Young Men of America

Missionary and Minister on List

The Rev. William McKee, missionary to the Philippines and former Pontiac resident, has been selected for inclusion in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

Dr. Ronald K. Hoelz who served as pastor of the Bible Baptist Church of Aberdeen, Md. for eight years and now associate pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, Pontiac, was another young man chosen to be included in the 1967 edition.

Publication date for "Outstanding Young Men of America" is May 15.

Selection of the men was made by a 14-man National Board of Editors.

Doug Blankenship, past U.S. Jaycee president who is serving as chairman of the board, said the men selected "have distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding."

The men chosen are between the ages of 21 and 35.

"Outstanding Young Men of America" is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 10,000 young men of outstanding rank throughout the country.

Nominees for the book come from many sources.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has said about the book: "The decision to honor in this manner the outstanding young men in our country is most welcome."

It serves to spur these future leaders of our land to even greater accomplishments and it encourages others to follow their example."

The Honorable Arthur J. Goldberg and Leonard Bernstein will write the introductory messages for the 1967 edition.

Missionary McKee who travels extensively is a challenge to young and old in his presentation of the Word of God.

In Okinawa witnessing to teenagers from the U.S. Military Base he will soon be in the Philippines playing with the Venture for Victory Basketball Team and preaching nightly.

A graduate of Northwestern College, he is sponsored by First Baptist Church, Pontiac.

The team's playing and preaching itinerary will take about six weeks.

After his return to the United States, he will continue his missionary, Bible and youth conference schedule. He presently resides at 11920 45th Ave., N. Minneapolis, Minn. with his wife, Sharon and two children Tami and Jay.

DR. HOELZ

A native of New Jersey, Dr. Ronald K. Hoelz received his bachelor of arts degree in Bible from Bob Jones University in 1955.

During his junior year he was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

He received his divinity degree from Faith Theological Seminary in 1959. Last year the Bob Jones University conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of divinity.

Dr. Hoelz was ordained to the ministry in 1957 by the General Association of Regular Baptists and pastored the Community Park Church in Riverside, N.J., before being called to the Aberdeen congregation.

He resigned the pastorate in January to come as associate pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, and as assistant to the president of Midwestern Baptist College, Pontiac.

While in Aberdeen he served as president of the Maryland Bible Institute, secretary of the American Council of Christian Churches of Maryland, and editor of the bimonthly religious publication, "The Challenger."

Dr. Hoelz is married to the former Mrs. Jean Savage, also a B.J.U. graduate. They have four children, Douglas, Diane, Daniel and Daryl.

Probe of AT&T Earnings Nearing Climax

By STEPHEN M. AUG WASHINGTON (AP) — The most important part of the government's investigation of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. reaches a climax this month — and the results ultimately will affect every telephone user in the nation.

What the Federal Communications Commission decides after final arguments during the next couple of weeks will determine how much the world's largest communications combine may be permitted to earn.

Because these earnings translate into charges for telephone calls, the results will reach virtually every American home.

Ostensibly, the investigation concerns only AT&T's financial structure affecting interstate and foreign service. But whatever the FCC decides should be AT&T's fair rate of return will be an important factor in similar decisions to be made by public utilities commissioners of every state when they consider local telephone charges.

Since the independent telephone companies — which represent 16 per cent of the nation's 93.9 million telephones — are supporting AT&T's stand, they can be expected to seek equal treatment in both local and long distance charges.

The FCC investigation involves four primary areas. The part most observers consider of greatest importance is rate of return.

Strictly speaking, this rate of return is only on facilities used in interstate and foreign service. AT&T figures its investment in these facilities last year at about $8.6 billion. But total AT&T investor-supplied funds in 1966 were about $31 billion, with total assets pegged at $35.5 billion.

AT&T says it should be permitted to earn an average of at least 8 per cent on all its invest-tor-supplied funds, working upward eventually to 8 1/2 per cent. Opposing this are several economists hired by the FCC and some state public service commissions. They say AT&T earnings should be limited to 7 per cent.

Traditionally, AT&T has been permitted to earn 7 1/2 to slightly more than 8 per cent. Or, as one AT&T official said, "every time we crowded 8 per cent we came in (to the FCC) and talked."

Last year, AT&T earned 8.19 per cent "as recorded, and 8.81 per cent, as adjusted for known changes," according to their FCC briefs.

Those April...

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) — It may be spring according to the calendar, but you might get an argument out of the residents of Houghton Lake Friday. No less than five inches of snow fell on the tiny community in northern lower Michigan in a six-hour period.

Butterfly fish are named because they flit about the reefs like butterflies do on land.

Junior Editors Quiz on CAMPING

QUESTION: Why is camping so much fun?

ANSWER: Our forefathers were rugged people living in the outdoors a lot of the time, doing things for themselves. Perhaps we have inherited some of their ideas.

It's nice to have a comfortable house filled with modern equipment, but it's tremendous fun, too, to be on your own outdoors, to make your own fires, cook and even catch your own food, as the boys are doing in the top picture.

Exercise and fresh air make us feel strong and alive and there are many beautiful and interesting things in nature to see and enjoy—still more excellent reasons for the fun of camping.

Still another is that people love to get away from cities or suburbs for awhile, relax, breathe deeply, enjoy the wonders of nature. Camping, these days, has entered a new phase. Our National Park System has made many camp grounds available to people who can travel by car.

This means that a large number of Americans can get to know the interesting places in their country with very little expense. In these camp grounds (lower picture) almost everyone, old or young, can enjoy nature and the outdoors.

1st Meeting of GOP-Led Board Slated

Waterford Township's new Republican-dominated board will meet for the first time at 7 p.m. Monday.

The five new board members and holdovers E. Frank Richardson and Robert Richmond will face a very tight agenda. Richmond will be the only Democrat on the seven-member board.

By contrast, the outgoing board consisted of six Democrats and one Republican.

Supervisor-elect Elmer Johnson will begin his fourth year term at the helm of township government following a four-year respite.

Other GOP officials assuming township office Monday are: Treasurer Mrs. L. Catherine Wolters and Trustees Ted McCullough Jr. and Herbert C. Cooley.

In the Nov. 8 election, Johnson defeated Mrs. Dorothy Olson, Sally beat Elmer Fanger, and Mrs. Wolters outpolled James Schell in the closest contest.

Cooley and McCullough won out over William Dean Jr. and Rudy Mansfield.

The trustee terms are for four years, the others two.

Guam Life Goes On in Shadow of War

ANDERSEN AIR FORCE (this Strategic Air Command Base, Guam (AP) — The (SAC) base on Guam, 2,400 school bus pulled to the curb and several youngsters climbed out. They ran up the perfectly manicured green lawn toward their home.

Halfway they paused, as the roar of engines filled the air. They looked up to watch a giant jet plane, its flexible wings slowly rising like a vulture's, climb into the sky.

The plane was a dull brown. Bright yellow stripes under each wing provided the only touch of color. The stripes marked a load of 750-pound bombs.

Exactly 60 seconds later another big plane took off. Then, after another 60-second interval, a third screeched into the air.

BOMB RUN

They were B52s on their way to Vietnam on a bomb run from their identical one-story bungalows, with laundry drying in the back yard and bikes and toys on the front porch, seem a part of stateside suburbia. Children go to school. In the afternoon and weekends they play football and baseball on neighborhood fields.

Mothers shop at supermarkets like post exchanges and commissaries or go to beauty parlors. During off-duty hours, fathers often browse in a hobby shop or a sporting goods store, or sip coffee in the shopping center cafeteria.

Yet around the clock the B52s are coming and going on their deadly missions.

Mid low, rolling hills, the black tails of the eight-jet, $8 million planes stab toward the sky like the dorsal fins of a school of sharks. Officially authorities admit "more than 50 B52s" operate from Andersen. A few, however, are being moved to Thailand this month.

Mrs. Willis McCrea of Ironstone Drive, (left) learns from Mrs. Paul Petrice of Stoddleigh Drive, both of Avon Township, how to make colorful tissue paper flowers. The blooms to be placed in individual pots, will adorn the stage and luncheon tables at Wednesday's conference "Every Woman Has a House" at Oakland University.

Highlight Houses at OU Conference

Alden B. Dow, award-winning architect and fellow in the American Institute of Architect will highlight the "Every Woman Has a House" conference at Oakland University on Wednesday. Mrs. Lynn B. Townsend will introduce Dow, who recently built the Townsend's magnificent home "Treetops" on Island Lake.

This is the second of three major conferences for women sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education and entitled "Three Days in Spring." It is intended as an exploration into the meaning and use of the house as a serious concern, since women spend one-quarter of their lives on a house, and most of their lives in it, according to conference director Priscilla Jackson.

Mrs. Durward B. Varner, wife of the chancellor of Oakland University, will welcome the delegates and Mrs. Jackson and Jane Greenwalt (Mrs. Samuel), Continuum Center Associate, will take an active part in the program.

Featured during the morning session will be an address by Bruno Leon, dean of the School of Architecture, University of Detroit, in response to the question "Does Human Nature Require a House?"

Dr. Jeanette Lee, dean, Home Economics Department, Michigan State University; William J. Davy, planner, Bloomfield Custom Kitchens; Dr. Beatrice Paolucci, professor of home management and child development, Michigan State University; Bengt Swenson, A.I.D., Seattle House Designers, Inc., will form a symposium on homemaking as a profession.

The conference for wives and mothers, single girls, widows, career women or divorcees was designed for the woman who loves her home and is content to live out her life within it, the woman who may enjoy part of homemaking and dislike the rest, and the woman who hates housework and doesn't care who knows it.

Fee for the entire day including tuition, registration and luncheon is just $4.00. Balance of the cost is being underwritten by the Mott Foundation. Reservations should be made as early as possible. For further information contact the Conference Department, Oakland University.

Interest Is High for Drama Class at University

Interest is running high but the number of applications is still low for Oakland University's new Academy of Dramatic Art, school officials reported this week.

According to W. W. Kent, assistant dean of the OU School of Performing Arts, requests for information and application forms have been pouring in at the rate of about 12 a day. However, only a score of completed forms have been returned by prospective students.

Believed to be the first school of its kind to be introduced by an American university, the two-year academy will offer concentrated training for a professional stage career. It will be directed by John Fernald and based on the plan so successfully evolved during his 10 years as head of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London.

Fernald, who is also artistic director of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland, has produced more than 300 plays, with English repertory companies in London's West End, and on Broadway.

Fernald and his staff are hoping a surge of applications will follow the recent interest. The application deadline is April 15, but those received later than that will be considered if possible, he said.

Fifteen students will be chosen through auditions to begin classes on Oct. 2. The auditions will begin May 14 at the Rochester campus and others will be held within the following two weeks in New York City and Chicago, the exact dates and locations yet to be determined.

Similar auditions will be held later for additional classes of 15 students each to begin in January and April of 1968.

Teen Limits and Rules Should Be Mutual Pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the middle of a muddle over setting limits and rules for your teenagers?

Don't run up the white flag—even if they are taller, talk louder and faster.

Rather, enlist their support, including help from their peers. Get together the teens, and parents of same either in your neighborhood or in your school. Work out a teen-age conduct code.

Finger Bowls Once More In Limelight

ELIZABETH L. POST

A reader has sent me another story about finger bowls which is printed below. I hope more of you readers will send me stories involving amusing or embarrassing things that have happened to you or your friends.

Dear Mrs. Post: Your "roses petals" story reminded me of one I've heard my parents tell many times. While entertaining a guest from the country at dinner, finger bowls were used. It was then customary to use a thin slice of lemon in the water. The guest drank it with the comment that it was the poorest lemonade she'd ever tasted!—Mrs. C. S.

Dear Mrs. Post: When four women are having lunch and meet a gentleman they know seated at another table, and the gentleman tells the waitress that he will take care of the check, who is obligated to leave the tip at the table where the women were seated?—Dorothy.

Dear Dorothy: I can't imagine four women accepting the gentleman's offer to pay when he didn't even have the pleasure of their company as compensation.

Since they apparently did, however, they should ask the waitress if the man included the tip when he paid, and if not, each one should figure approximately 15 per cent of the price of the meal she ordered and leave that amount on the table.

Who do you tip? When and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in Elizabeth L. Post's new book, "The Etiquette of Tipping."

To get a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

The new brides will reside in San Diego, Calif. where the bridegroom will be stationed with the USN.

Two collegiate chapters will receive awards in State Achievement and highest scholastic standings by Mrs. Allan Otto and Mrs. Julius Lerch.

Dear Bride--It's What You Call 'Fair Exchange' in This Game

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Wilbur and I are planning a June wedding. My mother and I went to a bridal consultant who is supposed to know all about wedding etiquette, and she told us the bride's folks give the wedding, the pre-nuptial dinner, pay for all the flowers, the minister, the vocalist, and the organist.

Also, my folks give the wedding dinner and the reception afterwards, including all the refreshments and drinks. What do Wilbur's folks give?

ABBY
DEAR SUE: Wilbur.

DEAR ABBY: Why should people who do not use the public schools have to pay taxes for them? We are taxed to death. I don't mind paying taxes for things I get some benefit from, but we haven't had any children in the public schools for 12 years, so why should we have to pay to get other people's children educated?

DEAR K. C.: Free public education, paid for out of general taxes, is the only way to give all children an equal chance to learn. It is considered a "community service," such as parks, highways, libraries, and the police and fire departments are. Such services and such a community are possible only if everyone pays for it. We would be in a fine fix if, for example, our fire department were financed by collecting from only those who "used" it.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a traveling salesman should dance while he's on the road?

It's not the actual dancing I object to, but I think it could lead to more serious things. I became aware of this when my husband started bringing home shirts with lipstick on the collar, shoulders, and down the front.

Lipstick seems to get on the shirts only when he dances away from home. Never when he's in a group with his wife. I would appreciate your opinion.

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Not many traveling salesmen feel like dancing on the road, but if yours does, he'd better cut it out before he gets all tripped up.

DEAR ABBY: Anyone who has an "interference" problem and suspects a ham radio operator of being the cause should write to: THE AMERICAN RADIO RELAY LEAGUE, 225 Main St., Newton, Conn. 06111. They will handle it efficiently and promptly.

Too Bad, Mom Failed

By BETTY CANARY

Now I ask you. What is this bit about students grading their teachers? I mean, where is this going to lead?

It isn't that I'm completely proteacher mind you, at least, not any more than I am anti-child. Who I am trying to protect is ME.

The thing is, if this catches on (and they are really trying if in some schools) everyone knows that after teachers come parents.

I have already earned an "F" in "Always Has Pants Pressed for School." But at least now, when I'm frantically ironing clothes before breakfast, all my kids do is line up and glare. I don't know if I can take them standing there with charts.

The possibilities of this kind of child-power really gets me, so I'm busy building my defenses. Already I'm tossing little tidbits out to the kids—just to show them that, after all, chocolate cupcakes for dessert every single night isn't EVERYTHING.

Just this morning, for example, when Stu was whining around because I had forgotten to buy him new sneakers, I said, quick as a wink, "You'd better not eat any leaves off a pear tree because they are FULL of hydrocyanic acid!"
"Gee, mom, I just can't tie these anymore!" he snuffed.
"Listen, Stu," I confided, "the jimson weed is considered responsible for more poisonings than any other plant in the U.S.!"

"For gosh sake's, mom! So what?"

"Do you know any more?"

"More what?" I asked.

"Poisonous weeds."

"Oh, sure!" I said, "Castor bean plants, and poinsettia leaves, and . . ."

"Well, look, mom," he said.

"If I promise not to eat any of THOSE, will you promise to get me some shoestrings?"

"What I'm going to do is start grading THEM. But, should I give Stu an "S" in "Sarcasm" or "A" for "Smart Aleck?"

Future Latin Aid Pegged to Self-Help

WASHINGTON, (AP) — U.S. cause of charges that some of aid to Latin America, long a topic of debate at home and even among recipient nations, now has become tied firmly to the principle that Washington will help only countries trying to help themselves.

President Johnson apparently feels there is broad enough acceptance of the principle to take the idea into the summit meeting of hemisphere presidents Wednesday through Friday, together with a pledge of new U.S. aid to Latin America.

He says self-help is the only way to give the alliance for progress — the subject of the meeting in Punta del Este, Uruguay — the push it needs.

For years Washington advocated — first gently, then insistently — the idea that Latin-American nations had to do for themselves the major job of finding the means — through tax, land and other reforms — for their own economic and social development. Now key nations generally accept the concept, although a few areas of resistance still exist.

"GREAT TOOL"
The alliance, Johnson says, is "one of the great tools for human betterment," and has "a clear record of progress." But "its success is by no means assured," due to the enormous tasks remaining.

There is general agreement on two facts about the alliance: 1. Its accomplishments are remarkable in building new schools (28,000 classrooms), hospitals, housing (350,000 units), water systems (1,170 benefiting 50 million people), health (100 million now protected from malaria), and in highways, factories, power plants and in social, tax, land, fiscal and economic reforms.

2. The problems remaining — accumulated over centuries of neglect, revolutions, discouragement, inept or dishonest governments and antiquated tax, land and social systems — are so immense as to be of almost unbelievable magnitude. Johnson says "our sister countries know, and know well, that the burden of the task is theirs, the decisions are theirs, the initiative to build these new societies must be theirs." The "only obligation tied to our aid is the recipient's obligation to itself — to mobilize its own resources as efficiently as possible."

70 PER CENT
Johnson plans to put nearly 70 per cent of Latin American aid into Brazil, Colombia, Peru and Chile, and still not overlook the Dominican Republic and Panama. Yet everything has not been rosy even in those countries, in aid activities. Washington recently suspended financial help for school projects in Brazil's poverty-ridden northeast because of charges that some of aid to Latin America, long a topic of debate at home and even among recipient nations, now has become tied firmly to the principle that Washington will help only countries trying to help themselves.

Sen. Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, once issued a report charging Washington with bad management of a string of projects in Chile.

Mexico and Venezuela are considered so well advanced in their economic and social development they do not need relief-type aid, but both get large credits and major development projects.

HOUSE APPROVED
The House approved the general idea, 248 to 116, despite a suggestion by Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, that it was "only the down payment for a commitment that runs to eternity."

But the Senate Foreign Relations Committee brought out a version that would recommend due consideration to increasing Latin-American aid when the time comes. Some administration officials termed the committee version "worse than useless" and, together with the leadership of both parties, decided not to push the issue.

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., the committee chairman, had opposed the administration draft, charging it went too far in committing Congress to additional aid.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., once told the Senate Washington should act more forcefully on two major problems: land reform and education. As a major part of that move he recommended "not extending our material and moral support to those who actively oppose necessary political, economic and social change."

"What made communism in Cuba was the policy of the United States during the 1950s" — with dictator Fulgencio Batista, Kennedy said at another point.

Rep. Edward J. Derwinski, R-Ill., said recently of Latin America:

"All they do down there is talk, and expect our money to do the rest of the work."

Rep. Paul A. Fino, R-N.Y., told the House:

"Our President's forthcoming visit to Latin America reminds me of a rich uncle going to see his nephews and nieces — if he does not stop to buy them a sack full of candy they will kick him in the shins and pull his nose."

The Punta del Este summit conference is expected to put the alliance program on a new course.

A major item on the agenda is the creation of a common market for all Latin America, something economists say is basic if the alliance is to get better results.

Another is to encourage multinational projects which, with the common market, would be aimed at production of better goods at lower prices; creating a new market within Latin America itself. Greater emphasis on education, health and agriculture also is planned.

U.S. aid to Latin America began as a major activity after World War II. President John F. Kennedy mentioned an Alliance for Progress, embracing political as well as economic and social stability, in a campaign speech in Tampa, Fla., Oct. 18, 1960. As President, he proclaimed the program March 13, 1961, as "a vast cooperative, unparalleled in magnitude and nobility of purpose."

Shelby Township Home Of Joseph Rivards Jr. Designed By Harold Barley Of Rochester

Quadlevel Accents Tomorrow

By JODY HEADLEE
Home Editor, Pontiac Press

As modern as tomorrow is the attractive quadlevel of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rivard of Valley Drive, Shelby Township.

Built by Charles Wiegand of Utica, the house features many innovations such as the suspended staircase, the double-faced diamond-shaped fireplace and the four bolted ceiling beams bearing the complete weight of the roof.

Mrs. Rivard's affinity for color and line, revealed throughout the home's decorating scheme, is a perfect foil for the multilevel's contemporary design.

Matching barrel back chairs in an abstract print of red, royal purple and antique gold, and cerise love seats are grouped about the walnut octagonal coffee table in the formal living room.

"I chose the table's octagonal shape," said Mrs. Rivard, "to offset the sharp point of the fireplace."

The unique hanging fixture lighting the grouping was made by Mr. Rivard from an antique hand-blown glass sponge bucket centered by a hammered copper liner. He also created the fixture above the walnut dining table of large scarlet and small frosted plastic cylinders.

To mediate the effect of the living room's cathedral ceiling, Mrs. Rivard selected tall cane-backed dining chairs.

Royal purple cushions on the slate hearth repeat the tone of the chair print and add a touch of the dramatic to the fireplace grouping.

The made painting mounted on the fireplace planks also stresses the purple shades.

All paintings throughout the house are the products of Mrs. Rivard's artistic talents.

She is currently enrolled at Oakland University, majoring in art.

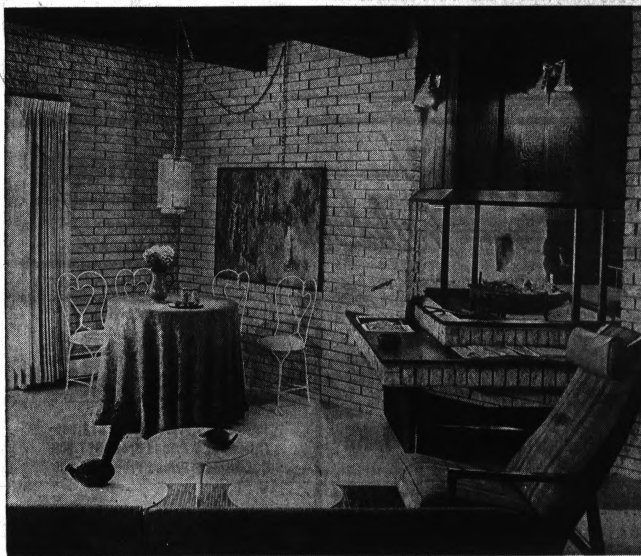

In the lower leveled family room, hangs an abstract textured oil emphasizing the earth colors of rust, terra cotta and gray.

"The color blends made me think of fire," said Mrs. Rivard, "so I named it 'Fire dance.'"

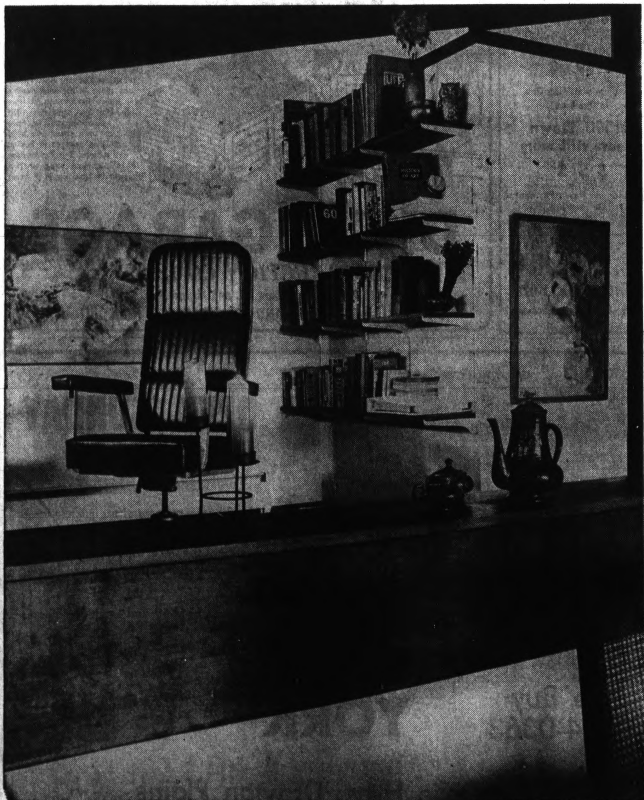

Studying the painting one also gets the impression of tall buildings in the mist of dawn or a convoy of ships rendezvousing in the fog — adding weight to the proposition that abstracts can and do mean many things to many people.

Two Points to Consider

Gas air conditioning offers at least two excellent reasons for its place in your home.

First, it will provide your family with complete summer-time comfort.

Second, it will enhance the resale value of your home.

Adhesive-backed rubber strips attached to the back of floor mats or small rugs will help to keep them from skidding.

Wood Paneling Is Washable

Wood paneling is enjoying renewed popularity for both home remodeling and new construction.

Wood lends gracious dignity to any room, lasts a lifetime, eliminates need for frequent redecoration, and can be maintained in lovely condition with minimum care — using only soap or detergent suds.

Soot and dust should be washed off periodically with cloths wrung out of sudsy water, followed by rinse-wiping and drying.

Check the Roller

Lambwool rollers should never be used with latex paint! Water makes the wool curl and mat, causing an irregular, mottled finish on the wall.

For best results, try rollers made of synthetic fibers for use with latex paints.

VACATION OR YEAR-ROUND—This A-frame Chalet, a prime favorite in the House of the Week series, has the appearance of a vacation home but is designed with all the livability features that would make it suitable for use 12 months of the year.

A-Frame Chalet Very Popular

It is always interesting to discover what people like — and attempt to determine the reasons for their approval. With that objective, we researched the records to find the most popular house used in the House of the Week series in recent years.

Not too surprisingly, in view of an emphatic trend, it turned out to be an A-frame vacation structure with enough features to make it a permanent residence for those who want a casual but comfortable home.

It's a chalet-styled design that has the rugged look of a traditional Swiss mountain lodge, with three bedrooms and a front deck 47' wide, large enough to make it an outdoor dining, living and play area whenever weather conditions permit.

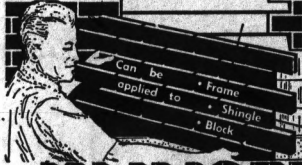

The main floor of this house, first presented two years ago, contains the basic living section. There are two bedrooms, a bathroom and a large combined living room, dining room and kitchen — a striking, attractive area.

CENTER CHIMNEY The chimney runs through the center of the house, permitting a large fireplace in the living room and another directly below it in the recreation room.

With the ceiling rising clear up to the roof, with a picturesque balcony looking down from the second floor and with a wide, peaked window expanse, plus sliding glass doors leading to an outdoor

A-Frame Chalet Very Popular

SECOND FLOOR PLAN

GROUND FLOOR PLAN

deck, the main floor is indeed unusual and beautiful.

The two bedrooms on this floor are divided by a wall of closets.

And each bedroom has sliding glass doors leading to a rear patio. The bathroom, at a center foyer, has a diamond-paned window, similar to that in the kitchen.

Stop right here and you have 977 square feet of comfortable livability for any family that requires no more than two bedrooms.

But there are two bonus areas: a third bedroom behind that second-floor balcony, as well as a lavatory and two closets; and a ground floor plan that includes a recreation room, a laundry, the utilities, a place for sports equipment and general storage — and a section large enough to handle an automobile or a boat.

The long outdoor deck at the front of the house can be reached from stairs on either end as well as from the inside.

UNDER DECK

Under the deck is a patio-type area ideal for outdoor relaxing when the sun is too hot for taking it easy on the upper deck.

Why was this house so popular? We can't be sure, but architect Derick B. Kipp must have been doing something right when he designed it.

Its popularity might be due to the combination of exterior chalet styling with the typical A-frame plan. Or to the excellent merging of the outdoor and indoor areas.

Or the general atmosphere of still not tall enough to see himself in the mirror, place a small mirror under the large one, and watch how his interest in washing and good grooming picks up.

ness of the design — all within overall dimensions of 47' 4" by 47' 4", including the front deck — makes certain a continuation of its appeal for a long time.

Grooming Tip

If your child can stand on a stool at the wash bowl but is still not tall enough to see himself in the mirror, place a small mirror under the large one, and watch how his interest in washing and good grooming picks up.

If you don't like it where you are...

why not move?

Dip Putty Knife in Soap Suds

Advice from professional glaziers: dip a putty knife into er, speedier job of sealing window or detergent suds from down panes. time to while working.

This serves as a lubricant to keep the putty from sticking to weather — better stay in port.

Give Interior a Lift

Change Room Accents

How much of the costume jewelry you wear frequently today was in your jewel box five years ago?

Check, if you're not sure, and you may be surprised to realize how fashions and your taste have changed.

"Give your home the same kind of check-up, and you may discover you've fallen behind times in the all-important area of decorative accessories," suggested Mary Ann Wills, interior design consultant to the makers of Archesse wall accessories in Traverse City.

In her opinion, a change of accessories should be just as much a part of any redecorating and refurbishing plans as new colors for walls, carpeting, or furniture.

Pictures, plaques, mirrors and so forth should be kept only if they remain in harmony with changing room decor.

"Even simple changes, such as new draperies, reupholstering the sofa, or painting walls may make old accessories unsuitable," Miss Wills pointed out.

"A major change, like moving to a new home, nearly always calls for a reexamination of decorative accents," she added.

The typical family, according to her findings, buys furniture on a grand scale only twice, possibly three times, in a lifetime.

NEWLUP WEDES

Newly-married couples, setting up housekeeping, naturally must choose furnishings and accessories that fit within a limited budget and restricted living space.

Basic needs are expanded as a family grows, but the second major furnishings purchases may be delayed until children are out of their more destructive stages.

Furniture purchased earlier is often moved to a family room, and more expensive and highly-styled pieces remain in the living room.

Then, as their family matures and young adults leave to start their own families, parents may decide in favor of smaller, more intimate quarters.

They may keep some furniture, but they probably will buy some new, smaller-scale pieces for their new home, too. There will be many minor changes in the decorating schemes.

"Within each stage, of course, the consultant said.

"Too many homemakers hang onto pictures and plaques for their sentimental value, or because one hates to give up an item that looks as new as ever."

ACCESSORIES

"Don't be one of them," Miss Wills urged. "Rather than let an outdated accessory mar an otherwise attractive room, try to find other places for the favorites."

Sump Pump Handy Helper

Winter is usually fun for the kiddies, but for most grownups it's irksome at best. Transportation becomes snarled. Grocery shopping is inconvenient. Schools close down after every heavy snowfall, and children are constantly underfoot or tracking the nasty white stuff in and out of the house.

But the thaw that follows a heavy snow can be even more of a problem—and mighty expensive if it means flooding in a basement that's been converted into a utility room, recreation area or workshop for dad.

The basement should be protected against flooding at all times, not only to prevent damage to valuable equipment but also for health reasons, the Plumbing Heating-Cooling Information Bureau points out. One way to do it is with a sump pump or cellar drainer.

The pump is installed in a pit or sump at a convenient spot. When water in the pit reaches a predetermined level, a float switch automatically activates the pump. It continues to operate until all the water has been drained out, when it shuts off automatically.

Basement flooding can result not only from snow thaws but also from heavy rains, broken water mains and even plumbed-in appliances. A sump pump can solve most flooding problems.

It comes in different types and sizes, and homeowners with flooding problems should consult a plumbing contractor on the right choice of equipment.

Pep-Up Fireplace in a Minute

Looking for a way to pep up a "tired" fireplace? Here's a suggestion that the home handyman can execute with professional results.

Install prefabricated hardboard paneling in a distinctive Travertine marble pattern right over the old solid surface.

Wallboard adhesive is used to secure paneling to any solid backing. This paneling is highly-resistant to heat, moisture and stains. It can be damp-sanded; never needs refinishing.

"If there are too many, store some away and rotate them with the seasons in bedrooms or den," she suggested.

Better still, create an amusing gallery in the family room or recreation room, with all the leftover pictures, plaques, and knickknacks together like an antique dealer's display."

As for ideas for new accessories that are appropriate to your current decorating scheme, you'll find a limitless range of these in your local furniture, department, and gift stores.

Make Small Area Appear Larger

A small dark room will appear larger if light colors are used throughout.

A new floor of vinyl asbestos tile in off-white or light beige with walls painted to match will visually expand the room size. Furniture should be small in scale.

Kidnap Charges Dropped for State Woman in Reno

RENO, Nev. (AP) — Kidnaping and Dyer Act charges against Mrs. Mary Kathryn Evans of Michigan, who testified against her stepbrother and another ex-convict in the kidnaping of Mrs. Edith Grisham of Harold's Club.

The charges were made against Mrs. Mary Kathryn Evans of Michigan, who testified against her stepbrother and another ex-convict in the kidnaping of Mrs. Edith Grisham of Harold's Club.

The stepbrother, Robert Lee Gamme of Ecorse, Mich., and William Thomas Banks of Little Rock, Ark., were convicted of kidnaping, violation of the Dyer Act, which prohibits interstate transportation of a stolen car, and interstate transportation of a firearm by a fugitive from justice. Sentencing will be April 14.

Mrs. Evans said during her testimony that she had been promised immunity from prosecution. She claimed she was coerced into joining Gamme and Banks in the kidnaping. Washoe County authorities said a parole hold had been placed against Mrs. Evans by the California Youth Authority and another hold by the U.S. Marshal's office in Wyoming.

But they said the two holds might be dropped, and Mrs. Evans might be released in the next few days.

quality & economy with Stran-Steel buildings

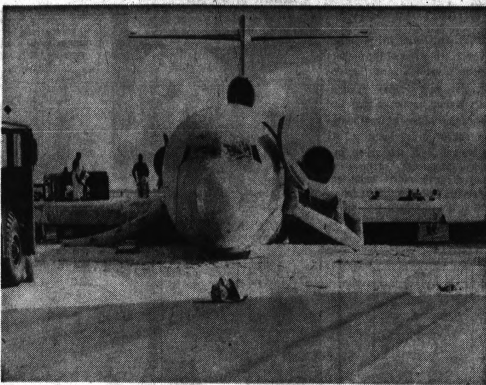

You get economy with Stran-Steel buildings because economy is literally designed and built into every steel component. It is the natural result of quality planning, mass production techniques that are not only better, but also economical. The savings are passed along to you.

Before you build any building, discover why a Stran-Steel building is a better investment. Find out why Stran-Steel is able to offer written guarantees to back up the performance of the steel components. Lower heating and cooling bills are the direct result of exclusive insulated wall systems. Faster construction, often 60 to 90 days, will get you in business sooner.

BELLY LANDING—A United Air Lines Boeing 727 rests on the MacDill Air Force Base runway yesterday afternoon in Florida after a wheels-up emergency landing due to a landing gear malfunction. The jet was on a Rochester-Buffalo-Tampa-Miami run and was carrying 96 passengers. The runway was covered with foam for the landing and foam was sprayed over the plane when it came to rest. There were no injuries.

Jet Carrying 96 Crash-Lands

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—A United Air Lines plane with 96 passengers aboard slid on its belly to a safe landing at MacDill Air Force Base yesterday after one of its wheels became locked in flight.

The pilot, Capt. John C. Aiken, of Miami had alerted the base that his hydraulic gear would not lower the right main wheel. He said he would try a "wheels up" landing.

Air Force crews flooded the field with foam, and none of the passengers aboard Flight 375 were injured as the Boeing 727 jetliner came in with "a bit of a bump" amid the sound of ruptured steel.

The jet skidded some 3,000 feet before it stopped and incurred only relatively minor damage.

A little rough to the nonprofessional, maybe, but to an Air Force pilot on the scene "It was one of the greatest landings I've ever seen. It was like landing on a piece of velvet."

A passenger, Cheryl Maxwell of Rochester, N.Y., agreed that "The pilot did a terrific job" and the stewardesses were superb.

Authorities at Tampa International Airport, where Flight 375 was supposed to land, ordered Aiken to land at nearby MacDill AFB after the pilot reported the faulty equipment.

Books Moved

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Student and faculty volunteers today moved the remaining 50,000 books from Kalamazoo College's Mandell Library to new quarters in the recently completed Upsilon Library. More than 80,000 volumes already have been taken to the new $1.75 million library which will be formally dedicated April 25. The Mandell Library, built in 1930, will be remodeled for use as the college of administration building.

Students Turn the Tables, Grade the Professors at OU

By PAT BRAUNAGEL
The name of the game is Ripport Cards.
But at Oakland University the rules have been changed.
It's the students who did the marking and the professors who were left to await their grades.
The results of this switch in the system can be seen in "Oakland Undiscovered," a 56-page booklet which went on sale this week on the campus.
The title of the booklet and its cover satirize the university's emblem, with its square-rigged sail which campus wags long ago dubbed the "Flying Diaper."
GRADED ON 7 ASPECTS
Only those faculty members who have been at OU for less than a year were untouched by the students' scrutiny.
For the rest, grades are based on seven aspects of their performance.
Numerical grades on a five-point scale rate faculty members on their ability to motivate students, hold attention, affect attitudes and introduce meaningful information and skills.
Also covered are a faculty member's knowledge of his subject, his value to students outside of classes and the degree of difficulty of his course.
EVALUATION
A paragraph of subjective evaluation follows the objective marks.
Thumbing through the review, a student can learn that one professor is a "rigorous grader" while another "conducts a stimulating and extremely informative seminar."
Other comments cover assignments peculiar to a professor, whether he gets papers back to students quickly and whether he is apt to emphasize theory over practical aspects of a course.

The students who coordinated the grading efforts took their jobs pretty seriously, although they did try to inject some humor into "Oakland Undiscovered."
RESPONSIBLE GUIDE
"We're doing the best job we can, but this is not God's truth," admitted Martin Reisig, Oak Park senior who was editor-in-chief of the review.
What the students were attempting to create was "a fairly responsible guide to the faculty to aid incoming students and provide feedback to faculty members," Reisig said.
Convinced that OU has a top-notch faculty, the students also believed their review could improve the quality of teaching on the campus.

"Student-faculty relations here are great — we want to do nothing to harm them," Reisig said. "This is one of the strongest points of the university."
PROPER ROLE
Kathryn Rest, a Mount Clemens senior who was one of three editors of the review, sees the expression of opinion on faculty members as a proper role for students.
"There's a big emphasis now for a professor to publish," she commented. "We think a good professor should be known by his teaching."
As resident advisers, she and Reisig often are called upon to recommend an instructor for a new student.
"Students come to us and their faculty advisers," she said. "There's no way to advise

Students Will Fete Employers

16th Annual Banquet for Part-Time Bosses

Employers of Pontiac high school seniors participating in an on-the-job training program will be feted at a banquet Tuesday by the students.

It will be the 16th year that the students enrolled in the co-operative education program have honored their part-time bosses.

The 6:30 p.m. dinner will be held at Oakland University.
Being honored are the more than 100 merchants, businessmen and professional people who have hired the seniors from Pontiac Central and Northern to give them practical experience.

Under the plan, which the Pontiac School District pioneered in the 1930s, seniors devote at least three hours daily on a job, with the remaining time in the classroom.

300 IN PROGRAM
There are currently some 300 students involved in the program, which includes training in the fields of nursing, drafting, auto mechanics, printing, selling and clerical work.

The guest speaker, William Schlager of the Michigan Bell Telephone Co., will discuss "The Amazing Laser."

During the next 6½ weeks 15 Pontiac area women's bowling teams will be journeying the same paths followed by numerous local men's teams last spring to Rochester, N.Y.

The attraction now as it was then is the annual high point of the season for the majority of the country's amateur bowlers: the national championships. The Woman's International Bowling Congress Tournament will begin Thursday at Gates Bowl with its team event, and the singles and doubles action will start Friday at Olympic Bowl.

Last season the men's American Bowling Congress Tournament was in the Rochester city auditorium. The local men didn't do exceptionally well, although Larry Angott and Dick Viles of Union Lake were among the doubles leaders.

Hopes are naturally high that the women may fare better. Three of them—Bonnie Kozak of Orchard Lake, Marvel Sant of Pontiac, and Rochester's Laura Mead—are entered in the Queens Tournament May 10-14. That is the spotlighted phase of the entire proceedings.

Two springs ago Mrs. Mead finished second in the WIBC all-events competition and earned a berth on the United States team that competed in the hemisphere championships at Guatemala City.

Let's hope there's a prize winner among our 75 entrants this year at the WIBC's 50th anniversary tournament.

JAYCEES The Rochester (Mich.) Junior Chamber of Commerce are having a first hand exposure to the tournament bowling today as more than 500 kelpers invade their territory for the Jaycees annual state tournament.

Beginning at 8 this morning, North Hill Lanes and Hilltop Bowling are entertaining the doubles and singles entries, respectively.

Al Larson is guiding the bowling phase of the day's activities while Bill Burr has arranged a two-shift evening buffet and entertainment session for the Champion Hall on Walnut Street.

Supervising the entire festivities is tournament chairman Gary Garver.

Rochester's Jaycees earned the host's role with a film presentation.

Heat's on Pros in Draft Report

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Lucien N. Neftci, who says there is apparent immunity of professional athletes from the military draft, announced Friday a finding that there are 360 such athletes in military reserve units.

The Michigan Democrat said the Department of Defense made the finding at his request and has made available to him an interim report on the matter. A final report is expected late next month.

The report lists 313 pro athletes in Army Reserve and National Guard units, 28 in the Air Force Reserve and Air National Guard, 16 in Marine Reserve and 3 in Naval Reserve. It says all but two already were professionals at the time of enlistment.

Neftci said the report is "interesting and one that provides the basis for a more searching inquiry, although at this point it does not answer the question of whether or not some athletes have been accorded preferential treatment after becoming members of the reserves."

Oxford Boxer in Local Bout

Ring Show Stated for Wednesday

The lineup for next week's amateur boxing show at Pontiac Central is taking shape with a speedy Oxford boxer heading a 10-bout card.

The Oxford boxer is Jim Bovee, a 135-pounder, who ranks as one of the best in his class in Michigan.

Matchmaker Harold Duggan, 35, a former pro battler, expects to have an opponent for Bovee Monday.

The bouts are set for Wednesday in the PCH gymnasium with the first fight scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

Duggan won't have the card completed until he finds out how some of the state's boxers fare in the National AAU tournament now under way in San Diego.

SOME HERE Barring injuries in the coast fights, some of those boxers are slated to see action in the PCH ring.

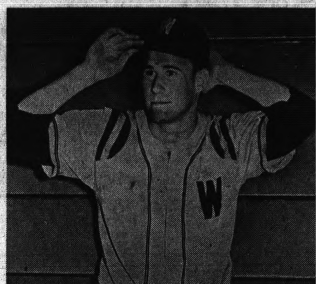

Duggan has paired two of the leading bantamweight boxers—Tim Reynolds of Grand Rapids and Dave Hernandez of Saginaw. In an earlier meeting, Reynolds gained a nice decision.

Another in the lighter class on the card is Dick Reynolds of Grand Rapids, the state novice bantamweight champ.

Three champions from the Flint club will be on hand. They are: 147-pounder, the featherweight titlist; Tyrone Lynn, owner of the 147-pound novice crown; and Floyd Lewis, the light heavyweight champ.

Another Saginaw boxer on the card is Jesse Schack, a 147-pounder. Lansing's Bob Every, winner of the 147-pound AAU title two weeks ago in Detroit, will also be on hand.

Tickets for the show are on sale at Frayer's Furniture on 22nd and Frayer's Steakhouse on Wide Track Drive.

CHECKS FIT — Returning regular Gary Biskner checks the fit of his Waterford Township baseball uniform as the Skippers prepare for next Tuesday's doubleheader opener at Pontiac Central. Biskner is expected to divide his time between the mound and the infield.

Pitchers Boost Title Hopes at Waterford

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles regarding the coaches' forecasts for their high school baseball leagues races; today the Inter-Lakes League.)

A succession of hard-throwing pitchers made Pontiac Central a perennial contender for the Inter-Lakes League diamond laurels. Last spring the Huskies shared the title with Waterford.

The I-L preseason outlook doesn't indicate such a dominant mound prospect on any of the teams, but hurling depth does rate WTHS the respect of the opposition consistently.

Farmington and Northern have pitching potential, and the development of pitching talent could make Walled Lake and Livonia Stevenson dark-horse contenders.

Coach "Bud" Thomason at Waterford admits he has five potential starters on the mound. Bill Hill and Gary Biskner are returning regulars; while Roy Kennedy, left-hander Mike Vidor and Steve Golt are highly regarded newcomers to the staff.

The infielders will need experience but Hill is a dependable second sacker when not pitching. Kirk Hamilton's catching should be a plus factor.

HUSKIES Art (Oz) Jackson is expected to be the mainstay on the PCH mound staff with newcomers Don Hayward and Gerald Steve Renda is a veteran catcher.

The infield will be quick in the field and on the bases, plus dangerous at the plate. Center fielder Rick Blaney could be one of the best in the county if he continues to develop.

A lot of Farmington's hopes rest on the shoulders of hurler Mike Thompson, a 6-4, 215-pound fastballer. If he can't charge on the mound, the Falcons will be tough.

Captains Chris Norton, an outfielder, and Al Kilika, a shortstop, are expected to key sees a round of holes and birdies yesterday. He hit six birdies and four bogies in posting a two-under-par 70 for a 141 total.

Gallery sentiment appears to lie with Boros, the 47-year-old veteran who credits his success on the current fall-winter tour to his improvement in putting.

Boros has always been known as a hot weather player. He admits most of his victories have come in the hot summer months and he has never won between January and May.

But the 90-degree heat at Augusta yesterday had Boros in mid-season form. He came out of a bunker on No. 2, and came on an eight-foot birdie putt. At No. 11, he dropped a 12-footer; at No. 13 it was a six-footer and at No. 16 the crowd roared as he again blasted out of trouble and canned a six-footer.

"I hope I'm up on the press interview stand again, Saturday and Sunday," he said. "I've been trimmed down a little hoping for a nice fit of that green jacket."

'Superficial' Quake Shakes Ohio Area

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Father Joseph P. Lynch, in charge of the seismograph at Fordham University in New York City, said the quake was recorded at 11:48.06 p.m. 500 to 600 miles south and west of New York. He called it a "resettlement from Columbus East Side to Athens in southeast Ohio, a distance of about 75 miles."

A man in the Hebron area, about 25 miles east of here, said the vibrations almost shook his house trailer from its base. A highway patrol dispatcher there said his desk "which weighs at least 500 pounds, was bouncing around like a toy for a few seconds."

Corn consumption in the United States at present averages about 75 pounds per person annually.

Seaway Opens

ST. LAMBERT, Que. (UPI)—The 8,270-ton British freighter Carrigan Head slipped through the locks at noon yesterday to open the 1967 shipping season on the St. Lawrence Seaway. The carrier Head, under the helm of Capt. T. Sellers, is owned by the Ulster Steamship Co. of Belfast, Ireland.

Police, Firemen OK Pacts

NEW YORK (AP) — A strike for each man. First-grade firemen and policemen now receive $8,438 per year. When approval came, the firemen were in the midst of a mail vote on whether to strike. A new product being tested in New Zealand is a sausage meat made from fish.

CITY MAN HONORED—Pontiac Central High School teacher Joseph L. Atwell (right) receives the 1967 Master Teacher Award from Charles Fry, selection committee chairman, at the 39th annual convention banquet of the Michigan Industrial Education Society in Detroit last night. A 40-year member of the society, Atwell lives at 810 Menominee.

Drafting Instructor at PCH Is Honored

A Pontiac Central High School instructor last night was named recipient of the 1967 Master Teacher Award at the 39th annual convention banquet of the Michigan Industrial Education Society in Detroit.

Receiving the award was Joseph L. Atwell, 62, of 810 Menominee.

He is a drafting instructor and head of the vocational education department at Pontiac Central.

Atwell is a 40-year member of the MIES and has held teaching certification in tool and die design and engineering drafting for the same length of time.

During his teaching career, Atwell has participated in many drafting conventions throughout the state, displaying the design, demonstrating the use of classroom models and speaking to assemblies.

COAUTHORED BOOK

In 1948 he coauthored a book entitled "Job Sheet Manual for Sheetmetal Dies" with A. Vezani of the University of Michigan.

Atwell's dedication to helping youth is especially evident in what he considers his greatest accomplishments — the awards his students have received.

Under his supervision, Pontiac Central students have won Ford Industrial Arts Awards, the American Society of Body Engineers drafting contests and regional and state MIES awards.

In the current school year, more than 50 of his students placed in the MIES regional competition and more than 20 placed in state competition.

Atwell is a Boy Scout leader, a Hi-Y leader and teaches Sunday school classes. He has sponsored a model airplane contest for eight years.

Speck Quoted: Sex Fiend Did It

PEORIA, Ill. (U) — Richard Speck, accused of killing eight nurses, was quoted at his trial as telling tavern acquaintances a few hours after the massacre, "Whoever did it must have been a sex maniac."

The testimony came yesterday as the state strove to prove that Speck spent July 14, the day of the multiple killings, trying to hide his identity and elude police who already were on his trail.

Speck, a 25-year-old drifter and sometime seaman, is charged with strangling or stabbing the nurses in their townhouse dormitory on Chicago's South Side.

The first week of testimony in the trial ended yesterday.

Robert Red Gerald, who shipped briefly with Speck on an oil tanker, testified he toured taverns with the defendant less than eight hours after the girls were slain.

MADE A CALL

Gerrald, a merchant seaman, told of meeting Speck at 11 a.m. July 14 in a tavern where they had drinks and where Speck chewed a few bites from a hamburger.

They visited another bar, Gerrald said, and Speck made a telephone call.

"There was a lady and man in there and they had brought up about these nurses being killed," Gerrald said. "So Richard, he made a statement to the bartender, 'Whoever did it must have been a sex maniac.'"

Gerrald said the drinking concluded at the Shipyard Inn where Speck had a room.

He said both men left the inn in a taxi and that he last saw Speck at 15th Street and Ewing Avenue, where Gerrald left the cab.

Dems Say Talk Lessens War as Campaign Issue

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney vows a Republican White House under his command would not yield to Communist terms in Vietnam. Democrats said Romney's position would lessen the war's impact as a presidential campaign issue.

Republican Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky said Romney spoke the view of an American majority — "that we should follow the lead of the President" in the Asian conflict.

The White House called the Michigan governor's words "a strong endorsement of the administration's position on Vietnam."

There was Romney criticism, too, but the White House dismissed that as "a few partisan morsels..."

For Romney, moving toward a bid for nomination to challenge President Johnson in 1968, last night's speech was a crucial pre-campaign test. His supporters were convinced he had passed.

INFLUENTIAL OPINION

One influential Republican who privately has expressed misgivings about Romney said the governor had strengthened his political position. He said a specific position on the war was crucial to Romney's budding candidacy.

The position Romney took: "It is unthinkable that the United States withdraw from Vietnam..."

"Our military effort must succeed. I believe that we must use military force as necessary to reduce or cut off the flow of men and supplies from North Vietnam, to knock out enemy main force units, and to provide a military shield for the south. We must give our gallant fighting men our full support."

Romney unveiled his Vietnam policy before more than 500 persons at a black-tie dinner celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Hartford Times.

NO LONGER ISSUE?

"Basically, he comes out in full support of Lyndon Johnson," said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who was there. "A few more statements like this and Vietnam ceases to be a political issue. It seems the Republican party has accepted the position of the Democratic party as the national position."

Romney criticized past Johnson decisions, said Congress has been bypassed and charged that administration pronouncements on the war produced "a rupture of trust" between the government and the governor.

He counseled against "massive military escalation" and outlined a proposed future "peace with amnesty" for defeated Communists in South Vietnam.

"We must learn from the lessons of this tragic war to avoid similar involvements in the future," Romney said. "There has been a failure to decide what the scope and nature of our Vietnam commitment ought to be."

He said former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was right in his decision not to deploy ground troops in Vietnam.

He asserted the massive U.S. troop commitment in the small Asian land "has the inevitable result of turning it into an American dependency."

Romney stressed heavily what he called "the other war," the effort to pacify Vietnam, "to win back those Vietnamese members who are more nationalists than Communists — and most of them are nationalists, not hardcore Communists."

1,000 to Honor Hart at Dinner

SEN. HART

U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart will be honored tonight by an estimated 1,000 persons at a dinner in his honor at Oakland University.

The 10th annual dinner is planned for Vandenberg Hall at 6 p.m.

Among the state dignitaries attending will be former Gov. G. Mennen Williams, State Central Chairman Zoltan Ferency, State Central Vice Chairman Patti Knox, National Committeeman Neil Staehel and National Committeewoman Mildred Jeffries.

Earlier this week, a spokesman for county Democrats predicted tonight's dinner would be the most successful Hart dinner yet.

Shuttle buses will be used to transport guests from the main parking lot at the university to Vandenberg Hall.

Sets Off Fire in Teeming Slums

Seoul Plane Crash Kills 48

SEOUL, South Korea (U) — A twin-engine South Korean air force transport plummeted into a teeming slum and exploded today.

Rescuers reported 48 dead and 30 injured, and feared that the toll would go higher.

The crash set off a huge fire that trapped many victims inside their wooden houses.

The injured included 13 high school students who jumped from second-floor classrooms after the plane exploded 50 yards from their school.

WALKS IN FLOOD — Mrs. William Schulz, a resident of the Shore Acres area near La Crosse, Wis., takes a stroll through a flooded area wearing hip boots and with daughter Sigrid strapped to her back. Mrs. Schulz' home fronts on the flooding Mississippi, which crested at 14.6 feet yesterday, 2.6 feet above flood stage.

Among the dead were the pilot, Capt. Suh Keun-joo, two crewmen and 11 passengers on the plane.

11 PERSONS MISSING

Besides the students, 17 persons were seriously burned or injured. Eight persons were missing.

Authorities said the C46 transport belonging to the 5th Air Transport Squadron fell shortly before noon, five minutes after taking off in a drizzle from Yoido Air Base on a flight to Tae-gu, 130 miles to the southeast.

Eyewitnesses reported that the plane appeared to have engine trouble.

They said it circled at low altitude three times, struck the dome of a Christian church on a hill and crashed in flames.

FIRE SPREAD

A series of explosions followed, as gasoline spilled from the plane and spread the fire.

About 30 wooden buildings housing about 70 families were burned.

The area is populated by laborers, many of whom had stayed home because of the rainy-weather.

Narrow alleys kept fire engines from reaching the area but the blaze was brought under control in 1½ hours.

Rescue workers recovered 15 bodies, including those of crewmen and children, within two hours.

Bits of bodies and debris from the plane were found 450 yards from the crash site.

Mayor Kim Hyun-ok and Air Force Chief of Staff Lt. Gen Chang Chi-ryang directed rescue efforts.

Police took a roll call but the confusion made it impossible to determine exactly how many were killed and injured.

Showers, Sunshine Will Take Turns

A few showers will alternate with sunshine in the Pontiac area over the weekend.

Showers or thundershowers forecast for tonight will end tomorrow with temperatures warmer.

The official U.S. Weather Bureau report looks like this:

TODAY — Sunny and warmer, the high 55 to 60. Increasing cloudiness and not so cold tonight with a chance of showers or thundershowers late tonight or early tomorrow. Low 40 to 46.

SUNDAY—Partial clearing and mild. MONDAY—Partly sunny and a little cooler.

Nicklaus Fails to Make Cut as Masters Race Gets Hot

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

AUGUSTA, Ga. — The race was as hot as the weather as play opened in the third round of the 31st Masters golf classic at the Augusta National course today.

The thermometer hit a record 91 degrees yesterday and 12 players with par or subpar rounds were in the thick of the chase at midpoint.

Bert Yancey of Tallahassee, Fla., held a one-stroke lead after 36 holes with a four-under-par 140, but the big news was the failure of defending champion Jack Nicklaus to make the cut.

Nicklaus had a 79 yesterday and his 151 total missed the cut by a stroke.

Fifty-five golfers began teeing off at 10:48 a.m. today, with all of the top contenders in late starting time around 1 p.m.

MORE HEAT

The forecast is for another 90-degree day, and the wind gusts are expected to reach 35 miles an hour.

As the temperature rises, so do the chances of "hot weather" players Julius Boros and Bobby Nichols, both one stroke behind Yancey.

One of the definite favorites now is Gay Brewer, also at 141, along with Britisher Tony Jacklin.

Yancey, a 28-year-old ex-insurance salesman who left West Point in 1960 following a nervous breakdown, has been overflying with confidence since his opening-round 67.

His one-over-par 73 yesterday was one of the most unusual rounds of the tournament. He had seven bogeys, six birdies and five pars.

15 FOREIGN PLAYERS

Yancey and Jacklin were paired for a 2 p.m. starting time today. Among those who made the midpoint cut are eight amateurs and 15 foreign players.

Nicklaus came here looking for his third Masters title in a row and fourth overall.

The Ohio strongboy captured the crown for the first time in 1963, and after sharing second place behind Arnold Palmer in 1964, he came back to win the last two events, setting a record 271 in the '65 classic.

Among the old-timers still in the field are Ben Hogan and Sam Snead, both former champions.

Lie Test Is Planned for O'Brian Partner

Grand Ledge police plan to give a lie detector test to the mental patient who accused a Pontiac man, Donald V. O'Brian, in the rape-murder of a 10-year-old girl.

Police Chief William Evelevich said he planned a polygraph for Donald Ringler, 32, who turned himself in Thursday after escaping from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane March 26 with the 40-year-old O'Brian.

Both Ringler and O'Brian were imprisoned at the institution as criminal sexual psychopaths.

While police stated they were not satisfied with Ringler's story, one source hinted that O'Brian might be dead. Banks of the Grand River, which flows through Grand Ledge, are being searched.

Little Rona Cypher was found in shallow waters of the Grand River last Saturday.

Ringler told police he had "a

'$250,000 a Year Charity Racket Aim'

WARREN (AP) — A one-time employee testified Friday in Warren Municipal Court that leaders of a group accused of operating a charity racket hoped to collect $250,000 a year in Michigan and planned to expand nationwide.

The witness was Larry John Murdock, a Detroit real estate salesman, who admitted under cross-examination he had conferred with Center Line police and a member of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley's staff before accepting a job with United Crippled Children's Fund, Inc.

It was not made clear, however, whether he deliberately was planted by police as an informer.

Murdock was one of 32 persons subpoenaed to appear in a felony examination of eight defendants arrested April 6 on charges of obtaining money under false pretense and violating the state's charitable solicitation law.

ARRESTED IN RAID

The eight defendants and another who waived examination were arrested in a raid on a Center Line office building.

Other persons, including B. Murdock, testified they had been hired by the group as solicitors, then Judge Verne Brown recessed the examination until 1:30 p.m. Thursday.

The judge reduced bail from $25,000 for each defendant to amounts, and strangled as she walked to her grandparents' house after buying a bag of potato chips at a nearby grocery store.

Ringler has warned police that O'Brian would not surrender peacefully.

O'Brian was committed to Ionia from Pontiac in 1963. He was charged with the rape and murder of a 55-year-old city woman in July of that year and at least five other assaults on women.

S. Viet Asking One-Day Truce

Offers to Talk as Fear of DMZ Trouble Grow

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnam proposed today a one-day cease-fire despite the threat of expanded warfare in the demilitarized zone, and offered to discuss with North Vietnam the possibility of a longer truce.

With concurrence of the United States and her other allies, South Vietnam proposed a 24-hour truce for May 23, the birthday of Buddha. It proposed meeting representatives of North Vietnam in the demilitarized zone at the Ben Hai Bridge to consider a possible extension.

Expanded fighting in the zone has been a matter of mounting concern.

The U.S. mission disclosed that six nurses were evacuated from Hue, biggest city near the zone, and that preparations have been made to evacuate about 50 other American civilians in the two northernmost provinces of South Vietnam.

The North Vietnamese are known to have some 35,000 soldiers in the immediate area of the demilitarized zone.

Some U.S. officials occasionally have voiced fears of a direct Red invasion across the DMZ. Tension began to mount when the North Vietnamese attacked the South Vietnamese capital city police post Wednesday and followed the next day with a wave of pre-dawn attacks on Quant Tri City 10 miles to the south.

THE WINNERS—Miss Pamela Jean Rudden, 21, New Jersey's princess at the 1967 National Blossom Festival in Washington, D.C., was chosen queen of the festival at a ball last night. Miss Rudden, who has never lived in New Jersey, is the daughter of Rear Adm. and Mrs. Thomas J. Rudden and is a junior at the University of Maryland. Adm. Rudden maintains his home address in New Jersey. He is stationed in Washington.

Master Plans for Airports Will Cost County $9,000

Consulting engineer Robert G. Peckham of Lansing was selected yesterday by the aviation committee of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors to prepare master plans on the two county-owned airports.

Peckham's proposal to update the master engineering plan at Pontiac Municipal Airport will cost the county $3,500, and a fee of $5,500 was specified for a complete new plan for Allen Airport in Orion Township.

Three other proposals for the master plan work, ranging from a total of $6,500 to $2,000, were considered by the committee.

Peckham prepared an earlier master plan for Pontiac Municipal Airport in 1963 and will complete the updating of this plan by May 15. The Allen Airport plan will be ready by June 15.

In other business yesterday, the committee recommended that runway marker lights that flash in sequence be installed at Pontiac Municipal Airport and DETROIT (UPI) — A young couple questioned in connection with the fatal stabbing of an elderly woman were cleared of charges yesterday when Recorder's Judge Samuel H. Olson ruled at their examination there was not enough evidence to hold them for trial. The couple, Drew Flowers, 19, and a girl, 15, were arrested shortly after the death of Mrs. Eleanor Dodd, 63.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Joseph Rastoriarzko, 77, petitioned Allegheny County Court for permission to change his name because of difficulty in its spelling and pronunciation. Judge Albert F. Glick granted the order yesterday and Rastoriarzko is now: Joseph Petrovich Hitler Rastoshan Mtr.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The House subcommittee that keeps watch on the nation's space program is to begin hearings Monday on the Jan. 28 fire that killed three Apollo astronauts. The first witnesses before the House National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) oversight panel are expected to be top space agency officials who investigated the accident.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The $800,000 asked by the National Park Service to acquire land for the Picture Rocks National Lakeshore project in Michigan isn't enough, Rep. Philip E. Ruppe, R-Mich., said yesterday. The congressman added in a statement the park service made a commitment to the people of northern Michigan when Picture Rocks was authorized by Congress and "Now they are obligated to do something about it."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. William Bates, the top-ranking Republican on the House Armed Services Committee, said he has tentatively decided student deferments should be continued. The Massachusetts congressman said yesterday he sees no advantage to the lottery method of drafting that Congress is considering and added that he believes the idea of an all-volunteer military force would not be feasible.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Seven countries have been added to the State Department's list of nations whose citizens may receive lifetime, multiple-entry visas from the United States. The latest additions are Barbados, Cyprus, Finland, Jamaica, Luxembourg, Trinidad and Tobago, and the Netherlands and Antilles. The new permanent visa policy, previously extended to 24 countries, is granted to citizens of American visitors.

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Agreement has been reached on a contract between Ferris State College and Local 109 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees representing 250 non-teaching workers at the college. Terms of the agreement were not revealed pending a ratification vote. Contract negotiations began in September.

DETROIT (UPI) — A panel of three federal judges ruled yesterday that the Grand Trunk Western Railroad may not abandon its overnight train service between Detroit and Chicago.

The panel sent the case back to the Interstate Commerce Commission, charging that the ICC had acted "arbitrarily and capriciously" when it approved an end of the service.

The ICC had given the railroad an okay despite assertions that the Grand Trunk Western Railroad was an ICC examiner.

The Public Service Commission, the state attorney general's office and a group of Oakland County commuters had appealed the ICC ruling to the federal panel.

The trains involved include one which leaves Detroit at 11:45 p.m. daily except Sunday and which returns to Detroit at 7:35 a.m. on the same basis. Commuter cars are attached to the train at Pontiac each morning for the trip in to Detroit.

BIRMINGHAM — Three driver training courses will be offered this summer to school district students.

Registration will begin April 17 and application forms can be obtained at the schools.

Assignments will be on a priority basis, with students above 15 getting preference in the event classes are filled.

All public and nonpublic students over 15 in the district are eligible. Class dates are June 17 to July 7; July 8 to July 28; July 29 to August 18.

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Parents can preregister their children for kindergarten in the fall at meetings that will begin April 10.

School officials will be at the meetings to explain details of a actual registration and screening which will be held 24-28 and May 1-5. Children should not attend.

Preregistration meetings are: April 10: Eastover, 1:30 p.m.; Pine Lake, 10 a.m.

April 11: Hickory Grove and Truhab, 10 a.m.

April 12: Vaughn, and Booth, 1:30 p.m.

April 13: Conant, 2 p.m.; Wing Lake, 10 a.m.

BIRMINGHAM — Dr. and Mrs. Charles Whitfield, of the Grace Baptist Church, Lincoln at Edgewood, have returned from a three-week tour of the Holy Land and Middle East.

The church extends an invitation to residents to view slides the couple took in the trip on Sunday evening in April and May at 7 p.m.

Judges have been announced for the poster contest at the Baldwin Public Library. Final day for entries is Monday.

Winning posters in various categories will be awarded cash prizes.

The work will be used in National Library Week activities, April 16-22.

Judges will be: Gary Heppard, graphics department of Ford Tractor; Down DeVetter, advertising at J. L. Hudson; and James Siddle, local artist.

No Progress Made in Radio-TV Talks

By JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) — The striking American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and representatives of the three major broadcast networks report no significant progress in their contract dispute, now in its 11th day.

There was little optimism expressed on either side Friday night and the walkout continued to disrupt programming.

Donald Conway, executive secretary of the AFL-CIO union, emerged angrily from a five-hour negotiating session and said that a Richmond County, Ga., judge had granted a restraining order barring AFTRA pickets from the CBS telecast of the Masters Golf Tournament in Augusta today.

He contended that the order, which would bar pickets, had shoved AFTRA-CBS relationships back "to the 1880s."

A CBS spokesman said the network had nothing to do with the action.

Comment on Conway's statement was not immediately available from network officials.

The talks, which ended shortly after midnight, were the first since AFTRA negotiators walked out of bargaining sessions in Washington last Sunday.

The strike knocked Monday night's Academy Awards ceremonies off ABC radio and television, caused cancellation of coverage by CBS of this year's Stanley Cup hockey playoffs at Montreal and necessitated a reshuffling of some weekend interview programs.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., refused to cross a picket line that appeared on ABC's Sunday broadcast of "Issues and Answers." He was replaced by Barry Goldwater, to be interviewed by ABC supervisory personnel flown to Goldwater's Arizona home.

New York Mayor John V. Lindsay refused on two occasions to appear before television.

Holdup Men Have Bad Day in Texas

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — with 75 law enforcement cars and other autos in a motorcade along freeways and back streets. The robber was careful never to break the speed limit. Thousands lined the chase route and an Air Force helicopter flew overhead.

The first holdup was in suburban Crosby where a man, his face darkened with makeup, made off with $29,500 and bank president Arnold H. Garbs, 56, as a hostage.

A slow-motion chase ensued on charges of armed robbery. The money was recovered. ROBS OFFICE In southwest Houston, a stocky bandit in his 40s entered the trailer office of American Savings and Loan and cleaned the cash drawer of $218.

Finally, a police car rammed the getaway vehicle and Garbs wrested a .22-caliber pistol away from the driver. Police identified him as William M. Archer, 51, of suburban Green's Bayou. He was held without bail

He escaped and remained at large. In the third robbery, a man showed a holdup note at a teller at the downtown Liberty Savings and Loan Association, getting $1,390.

Detective James H. Jones, off duty but in a city car, heard about the robbery on the radio and began trailing a car leaving the scene. He held the two occupants until reinforcements arrived.

Arrested were Fred Perez

Bustillo and Eugenio E. Rodriguez, both 22, of Sinton, Tex. They were charged with robbery and held without bail. The $1,390 was recovered.

Stick to Business

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne County Prosecutor William L. Cahalan has ruled out daytime private practice of law by any of his 60 assistants. He has ordered them to restrict their practice during working hours to county business.

Mortgage Rates Are Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal National Mortgage Association cut its interest rates yesterday on short-term discount notes, reflecting the current trend toward easier money.

The rate was lowered from 4.25 to 4.15 per cent on notes maturing in 60 to 270 days. The association issued the reduction as a result of the Federal Reserve Board's lowering the prime discount rate on Thursday.

MAKE OVER PAGES

Alice the Seal Slippery as Eel

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — They finally caught Alice the runaway seal, after she appeared at a bus station and then fled pursuers on an all-day chase in a canal.

The 3-year-old, 150-pound seal slipped away Wednesday from the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum through a gate left open for a directors meeting.

That was the last anyone saw of Alice until she showed up Friday at the Greyhound bus station. A commuter spread the word. Alice meanwhile had waddled into a canal.

Museum men chased her toward the shallow end, but Alice ducked under their boat and fled to deeper water. Several pursuers fell in the canal. Finally the museum men gave up and called for the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Four of its men with a 50-foot net snared Alice.

Outstanding Young Men of America

Missionary and Minister on List

The Rev. William McKee, missionary to the Philippines and former Pontiac resident, has been selected for inclusion in the 1967 edition of "Outstanding Young Men of America."

Publication date for "Outstanding Young Men of America" is May 15.

Selection of the men was made by a 14-man National Board of Editors.

Doug Blankenship, past U.S. Jaycee president who is serving as chairman of the board, said the men selected "have distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor to the point of being outstanding."

The men chosen are between the ages of 21 and 35.

"Outstanding Young Men of America" is an annual biographical compilation of approximately 10,000 young men of outstanding rank throughout the country.

Nominees for the book come from many sources.

President Lyndon B. Johnson has said about the book: "The decision to honor in this manner the outstanding young men young and old in his presence in our country is most welcome."

It serves to spur these future leaders of our land to even greater accomplishments and it encourages others to follow their example."

The Honorable Arthur J. Goldberg and Leonard Bernstein will write the introductory messages for the 1967 edition.

Missionary McKee who travels extensively is a challenge to the outstanding young men of the Word of God.

In Okinawa witnessing to teenagers from the U.S. Military Base he will soon be in the Philippines playing with the Venture for Victory Basketball Team and preaching nightly.

A graduate of Northwestern College, he is sponsored by First Baptist Church, Pontiac.

The team's playing and preaching itinerary will take about six weeks.

After his return to the United States, he will continue his missionary, Bible and youth conference schedule. He presently resides at 11920 45th Ave., N. Minneapolis, Minn. with his wife, Sharon and two children Tami and Jay.

DR. HOELZ

A native of New Jersey, Dr. Ronald K. Hoelz received his bachelor of arts degree in Bible from Bob Jones University in 1965.

During his junior year he was named to "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges."

He received his divinity degree from Faith Theological Seminary in 1968. Last year the Bob Jones University conferred upon him the honorary degree of doctor of divinity.

Dr. Hoelz was ordained to the ministry in 1967 by the General Association of Regular Baptists and pastored the Community Park Church in Riverside, N.J., before being called to the Aberdeen congregation.

He resigned the pastorate in January to come as associate pastor of Emmanuel Baptist Church, and as assistant to the president of Midwestern Baptist College, Pontiac.

While in Aberdeen he served as president of the Maryland Bible Institute, secretary of the American Council of Christian Churches of Maryland, and editor of the bimonthly religious publication, "The Challenger."

Dr. Hoelz is married to the former Cora Jean Savage, also a BJU graduate. They have four children, Douglas, Diane, Daniel and Daryl.

St. Stephen Lutheran Holds Mission Program

"What in the World Is Going on in the hChurch" is the question to be resolved this month during the missionary education program at St. Stephen Lutheran Church, 3795 Sashabaw, Waterford Township.

The program which began last Sunday includes color slides and talks by returned missionaries with many curious and articles brought back from other lands on display in booths.

The spotlight is also focusing on the work of the church in the city.

Guests from other areas of the Church's mission to appear during the next three weeks include Rev. Roger Ruff, Lutheran campus pastor at Wayne

State University; the Rev. David Eberhard of Riverside Parish in Detroit; Thomas Krenshaw, missionary to the Spanish migrants in Michigan; and David Schaas and his wife, presently at St. Trinity Lutheran School.

Mr. and Mrs. Schaas are on furlough from serving as teachers in the Lutheran Church in America.

Others speaking will be the Rev. August Klenke for 16 years missionary to Brazil; Mrs. Edward Azzam, representative for the Lutheran Mission to Hong Kong; and children from the Lutheran School for the Deaf in Detroit.

Maps, charts, pictures, books, recordings and films will be used to help describe what Christians are doing in China, East Asia, Middle and South America.

Heading arrangements for the month is Harold Mozingo, chairman of the central planning committee.

Assisting with plans are Ervin Miller, Arthur Fritz, Emil Hagen, Eugene Geniges, Mrs. Raymond Zona, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ross, Thomas Edginton, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams.

Pilgrim Holiness Youth in Concert

The Owosso College Choralaires will present a concert of sacred music at Pontiac Pilgrim Holiness Church at the 10:45 morning service tomorrow.

Included among the 40 young people singing in concert are Denis Doe, Penny and Sam Hart of the Pontiac church.

The programs combine traditional and contemporary church related music, as choral masterworks, hymns, anthems and gospel songs.

REV. N. C. JIMERSON

Dr. PAUL ORJALA

Guest Preachers Speak in Bethany, Nazarene

The Rev. Norman C. Jimerson, an educational director at Kalamazoo College, will find the pulpit at Bethany Baptist Church at 11 a.m. Sunday preaching on "Heart, Soul and Mind."

His doctoral work was completed at Hartford Theological Seminary in linguistics and anthropology.

The guest speaker, director of career-service program at the college, is also a member of the faculty.

A graduate of the University of Michigan School of Engineering, the Rev. Jimerson received ministerial training at Andover - Newton Theological School.

Graduate work was taken at Brown University.

He served as chaplain at a federal reformatory in Virginia and as executive director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations with offices in Birmingham.

Currently, Jimerson directs a new kind of educational project at Kalamazoo College.

Sophomore students are placed in jobs related to their academic studies and career goals.

They work in industry and various social agencies, including churches with a community outreach program.

Following the service the Rev. Mr. Jimerson will talk with parents and young people about their education and vocations.

Services are at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. week nights.

Prior to serving as a teacher at the seminary, Dr. Orjala pioneered the work of the Nazarene Church in Haiti.

He not only built churches, but also a Bible School, which today is producing native pastors who are making Haiti one of the fastest growing mission fields in the denomination.

A native of California, Dr. Orjala is a graduate of Pasadena College and Nazarene Theological Seminary. He returned to the Nazarene Church in 1955.

Dear Bride--It's What You Call 'Fair Exchange' in This Game

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Wilbur and I are planning a June wedding. My mother and I went to a bridal consultant who is supposed to know all about wedding etiquette, and she told us the bride's folks give the wedding, the premarital dinner, pay for all the flowers, the minister, the vocalist, and the organist.

Also, my folks give the wedding dinner and the reception afterwards, including all the refreshments and drinks. What do Wilbur's folks give?

ABBY
DEAR SUE: Wilbur.

DEAR ABBY: Why should people who do not use the public schools have to pay taxes for them? We are taxed to death. I don't mind paying taxes for things I get some benefit from, but we haven't had any children in the public schools for 12 years, so why should we have to pay to get other people's children educated?

K.C.

DEAR K. C.: Free public education, paid for out of general taxes, is the only way to give all children an equal chance to learn. It is considered a "community service," such as parks, highways, libraries, and the police and fire departments are. Such services and such a community are possible only if everyone pays for it. We would be in a fine fix if, for example, our fire department were financed by collecting from only those who "used" it.

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a traveling salesman would dance while he's on the road?

It's not the actual dancing I object to, but I think it could lead to more serious things. I became aware of this when my husband started bringing home shirts with lipstick on the collar, shoulders, and down the front. Lipstick seems to get on the shirts only when he dances away from home. Never when he's in a group with his wife. I would appreciate your opinion.

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: Not many traveling salesmen feel like dancing on the road, but if you do, he'd better cut it out before he gets all tripped up.

DEAR ABBY: Anyone who has an "interference" problem and suspects a ham radio operator of being the cause should write to: THE AMERICAN RADIO RELAY LEAGUE, 225 Main St., Newton, Conn. 06451. They will handle it efficiently and promptly.

Conference Report Given

Reports of the state conference of Daughters of the American Revolution were given at the recent meeting of General Richardson chapter, Miss E. Grace Clark, Mrs. E. G. Clark and Mrs. Frank E. Allen all participated.

Mrs. E. M. Peterson hosted the event in her West Ingoles Road home with the assistance of Mesdames Louis West, Frank Spraker, F. H. O. Warner, W.

H. O'Laughlin, Everett Hathaway, D. R. MacDonald, Lloyd Porter, Theodore Cleveland, James Yeager and Miss Emma Howard.

Due to the efforts of Janice Antonia, the chapter received a special award for its American and DAR manual for Citizenship.

Another citations were received for the largest membership of state chapters.

New officers elected at this meeting were Mrs. Eva L. Tomlin, regent; Alice Serrell, first vice regent; Mrs. Clark, second vice regent; Mrs. L. B. West, chaplain.

More are Mrs. Cleveland and Mrs. J. M. Lomerson, secretaries; Mrs. T. W. Jackson, treasurer; Sara Van Housen Jones, registrar; Margaret Wilmut, historian; Mrs. Duncan McVean, parliamentarian; Mrs. E. C. Wallace, librarian.

Board members are Mrs. L. Dunlap and Mrs. Harvey Bidstrup.

Highlight Houses at OU Conference

Aldert B. Dow, award-winning architect and fellow in the American Institute of Architect will highlight the "Every Woman Has a House" conference at Oakland University on Wednesday, Mrs. Lynn B. Townsend will introduce Dow, who recently built the Townsend's magnificent home "Treetops" on Island Lake.

This is the second of three major conferences for women sponsored by the Division of Continuing Education and entitled "Three Days in Spring." It is intended as an exploration into the meaning and use of the house as a serious concern, since women spend one-quarter of their lives on a house, and most of their lives in it, according to conference director Priscilla Jackson.

Mrs. Durward B. Varner, wife of the chancellor of Oakland University, will welcome the delegates and Mrs. Jackson and Jane Greenwald (Mrs. Samuel), Continuum Center Associate, will take an active part in the program.

Featured during the morning session will be an address by Bruno Leon, dean of the School of Architecture, University of Detroit, in response to the question "Does Human Nature Require a House?"

Dr. Jeanette Lee, dean, Home Economics Department, Michigan State University; William J. Day, planner, Bloomfield Custom Kitchens; Dr. Beatrice Paolucci, professor of home management and child development, Michigan State University; Bengt Swenson, A.I.D., Skania House Designers, Inc., will form a symposium on homemaking as a profession.

The conference for wives and mothers, single girls, widows, career women or divorcees was designed for the woman who loves her home and is content to live out her life within it, the woman who may enjoy part of homemaking and dislike the rest, and the woman who hates housework and doesn't care who knows it.

Fee for the entire day including tuition, registration and luncheon is just $4.00. Balance of the cost is being underwritten by the Mott Foundation.

Reservations should be made as early as possible. For further information contact the Conference Department, Oakland University.

Interest Is High for Drama Class at University

Interest is running high but the number of applications is still low for Oakland University's new Academy of Dramatic Art, school officials reported this week.

According to W. W. Kent, assistant dean of the OU School of Performing Arts, requests for information and application forms have been pouring in at the rate of about 12 a day. However, only a score of completed forms have been returned by prospective students.

Believed to be the first school of its kind to be introduced by an American university, the two-year academy will offer concentrated training for a professional stage career. It will be directed by John Fernald and based on the plan so successfully evolved during his 10 years as head of the Royal Academy of Dramatic Art in London.

Fernald, who is also artistic director of the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre at Oakland, has produced more than 300 plays, with English, repertory companies, in London's West End, and on Broadway.

Fernald and his staff are hoping a surge of applications will follow the recent interest. The application deadline is April 15, but those received later than that will be considered, if possible, he said.

Fifteen students will be chosen through auditions to begin classes in Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 2. The auditions will begin May 14 at the Rochester campus and others will be held within the following two weeks in New York City and Chicago, the exact dates and locations yet to be determined.

Similar auditions will be held later for additional classes of 15 students each to begin in January and April of 1968.

Teen Limits and Rules Should Be Mutual Pact

NEW YORK (UPI) — In the middle of a muddle over setting limits and rules for your teenagers?

Don't run up the white flag—even if they are taller, talk louder and faster.

Rather, enlist their support, including help from their peers. Get together the teens and parents of same either in your neighborhood or in your school. Work out a teen-age conduct code.

Finger Bowls Once More In Limelight

ELIZABETH L. POST

A reader has sent me another story about finger bowls which is printed below. I hope more of you readers will send me stories involving amusing or embarrassing things that have happened to you or your friends.

Dear Mrs. Post: Your "Rose-petals" story reminded me of one I've heard my parents tell many times. While entertaining a guest from the country at dinner, finger bowls were used.

It was then customary to use a thin slice of lemon in the water. The guest drank it with the comment that it was the poorest lemonade she'd ever tasted!—Mrs. C. S.

Dear Mrs. Post: When four women are having lunch and meet a gentleman they know seated at another table, and the gentleman tells the waitress Elizabeth L. Post's new booklet "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Since they apparently did, however, they should ask the waitress if the man included the tip when he paid, and if not, each one should figure approximately 15 per cent of the price of the meal she ordered and leave that amount on the table.

Who do you tip? When and how much? You will find the answers to these questions in Elizabeth L. Post's new booklet "The Etiquette of Tipping." To get a copy, send 25 cents in coin to cover booklet and shipping expenses, to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tokyo Embassy Is Wedding Site

Wed in the American Embassy in Tokyo, Japan recently were Yoko Atsumi and Chief P.O. 3.C. Carter H. McElquham Jr.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Atsumi of Hayamachi-Kanagawa, Japan, and the Carter McElquhams of Jersey Street.

This is best accomplished when the school student council helps in the task. Discussions, meetings are called for. Together, list the problem areas and ask the teen-agers for suggested rules to solve the problems—or, at least, curb them.

SAMPLE CODE
A teen-age conduct code endorsed by the King County Washington Juvenile Court in Seattle is one version. Some of the rules might fit the situation in your area.

Examples:
• "Parents should know where their sons and daughters are while away from home, what they are doing and with whom they are spending their time. Parents should also know what time their young people return home."

• "The home should be the center of young people's activities. The young people should be encouraged to bring friends into the home and to accept the invitations to visit the home of friends."

• "Social activities in grades 7, 8, 9 should be limited to weekends and holidays."

CENTERS ON HOME

• "The home should be offered and encouraged as a possible place for dating. Parents should cooperate by providing some privacy."

• "Group or double dating, rather than single dating, is to be encouraged."

• "Young people should come directly home from a function, unless other plans have been approved by the parents."

• "Trained driving instruction is urged."

• "Drinking among high school students represents a serious problem in which parents and youth must consider their responsibilities."

• "No one has the moral or legal right to serve any alcoholic beverages to other people's children."

Sigma Kappas Will Gather at Conference

An all day conference today beginning at 9 a.m. will see a number of area Sigma Kappas gathering in the Rackham Building, Detroit.

Included are Mesdames Robert Tarr, Robert Farlow, Edward Bosford, Albert Maas, Delmar Mahrt and Donald Barlow.

The annual state day celebration will feature writer Lillian Budd of Lombard, Ill., as keynote speaker. One of her books, "One Heart One Way" has been chosen as theme for the day.

Mrs. J. Stannard Baker of Glen Coe, Ill., who is editor of the sorority's magazine "Triangle" will be a guest. Six collegiate chapters and several alumnae groups including the St. Oakland unit, will be participating.

Two collegiate chapters will receive awards for "State Achievement" and highest scholastic standings by Mrs. Allan Otto and Mrs. Julius Lerch.
