Nixon Asks Cut in Tax Surcharge

23-Ship Force Ready for Duty in Sea of Japan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 23-ship task force including four American aircraft carriers has been formed to back up President Noxon's pledge to protect reconnaissance planes operating in the Sea of Japan, the Pentagon disclosed today.

It was the first official word of the scope of a U. S. naval armada formed for deployment in the Sea of Japan in response to North Korea's shooting down of an unarmed EC121 aircraft last week.

★ ★ ★

Daniel Z. Henkin, the Pentagon's chief spokesman, told reporters the new Task Force 71 has been activated by the Pacific fleet.

Along with the four carriers, which will be able to provide jet fighter protection for future reconnaissance flights, are three cruisers and 16 destroyers.

NO DETAILS

"We will not go into any details concerning the operations . . ." Henkin said.

Asked whether the EC121 flights have resumed, Henkin said he could not get into that operation aspect either.

The task force carriers include the Enterprise, Ticonderoga, Ranger and Hornet. The cruisers include the Chicago, Oklahoma City and St. Paul.

It was not disclosed whether all these ships are now in the Sea of Japan or whether all will be deployed there at the same time. They could take turns rotating in and out of assignment zones along the coast of Korea.

Henkin said the battleship New Jersey, which was diverted to the western Pacific during the crisis, "will be coming home."

LOCATION WITHHELD

He said operational considerations prevent him from saying exactly when the New Jersey will reach the west coast or precisely where she is at this time. The battleship had been due to dock on the west coast Friday after winding up a tour of service off Vietnam.

The large deployment of ships to the Sea of Japan apparently will not significantly affect naval operations off Vietnam. It is understood that the carriers Kitty Hawk and Bon Homme Richard will take up battle stations off Vietnam to support bombing missions in South Vietnam and Laos.

Thundershowers Possible in Area

Clouds dumped rain on the Oakland County area before noon with the possibility of thundershowers developing by evening.

Southerly winds at 15-to-20 m.p.h. brought mild temperatures through the day. The gusty winds will bring in cooler air as they become northwesterly before diminishing tonight.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy through the morning with skies clearing by afternoon. Tomorrow's high will be in the 56-to-62-degree range.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today and tonight 30 and tomorrow 40. Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 46. By 2 p.m. the thermometer read 50.

The Nixon Family Is Still Smiling After President's First 90 Days In Office

President's First 90 Days Assessed

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard Milhous Nixon has been President of the United States for three months, traditionally a time for assessing a new man's impact on the office. In the following article, a veteran White House correspondent examines Nixon's first 90 days.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Richard M. Nixon has developed a personal approach to the presidency in the 90 days he has held the office, it is to speak softly while moving cautiously, indeed slowly, toward any confrontation with crisis.

"We cannot learn from one another," said Nixon in his inaugural address, "until we stop shouting at one another — until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices."

★ ★ ★

Thus did Nixon give notice of the muted style — a dramatic contrast to that of predecessor Lyndon B. Johnson — that has set the official tone of the new Republican administration, from the White House to the last outpost of the capital bureaucracy.

If the cool world of Richard Nixon has failed to generate much excitement, it also can be said to have served effectively as a shock absorber to the jolts of real politik, at home and abroad.

MAJOR INCIDENT

Just six days ago, the Nixon administration found itself confronted with a major international incident. It reported a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane, carrying 31 men and loaded with sophisticated electronic surveillance gear, was shot down by North Korean jets over the Sea of Japan.

During the 1968 campaign, candidate Nixon condemned President Johnson's handling of the crisis precipitated by North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo, a Navy surveillance ship.

★ ★ ★

"When respect for the United Stated of America falls so low that a fourth-rate military power like North Korea will seize an American naval vessel on the high seas, it is time for new leadership," Nixon said then. "I pledge to you the American flag is not going to be a doormat for anybody at home or abroad."

Nonetheless, the Nixon administration reacted, outwardly, with all deliberate calm when faced for the first time with a strikingly similar situation.

BARE CONFIRMATION

For 29 hours and 51 minutes after the first reports of the incident, the government contented itself with confirming only that one of its planes was missing, while denying North Korean charges that the aircraft had intruded into that country's airspace.

OU Graduates Told: Seek Social Justice

". . . Justice, freedom, liberty, equality, human dignity. These must be the birthright and the property right of all men, and to make this so is your high calling or assignment or mission above all others," Oakland University Chancellor Durward B. Varner told the 389 students graduating in the seventh annual spring commencement exercises Saturday at the university.

Varner told he graduates that he is rich — because he was born white.

"Never in these 52 years (of my life) have I felt the utter hopelessness and futility which grows out of the cruel realization that a single factor — the color of my skin — stands as a permanent and undeniable barrier to my acceptance by my fellow human beings," Varner said.

He asked the graduates to assume a committment to achieve the qualities of humanity, compassion and understanding that would enable them to eliminate the social injustices and racial stigmatisms of today.

Among the 389 graduates, 372 received bachelor's degrees and 17 received master's degrees.

Honorary degrees were conferred upon former Michigan State University President John A. Hannah; Harry S. Broudy, professor of philosophy at the University of Illinois; and labor leader Walter P. Reuther, who is also a member of the Oakland University Foundation.

★ ★ ★

The Alfred G. Wilson and Matilda R. Wilson awards were presented to Ingo R. Dutzman of Utica and Cynthia Lou Attwood of Oak Park, Ill. Each of the students received $100, and their names will be affixed to a plaque honoring past winners.

The awards, named after the university's late benefactors, are presented annually to the man and woman graduates who have contributed most to the life of the university through scholarship, student leadership and the expression of responsibility in the solution of social problems.

Woman Wins $500 Bond

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Lady Luck smiled on Mrs. Annis E. Kinsey of 1465 Benvenue, Sylvan Lake. The smile was worth a $500 U.S. savings bond, since the recipient won the 1969 edition of The Press Annual Baseball Contest, which was decided Saturday by the Associated Press tabulation of player batting averages that appeared in the newspaper's sports section. She had pinned her bond hopes on Buddy Bradford of the Chicago White Sox.

But the smile and a Mona Lisa aspect — one of those inscrutable jobs — because the 75-year-old widow won the bond and title of Clairvoyant Woman of the Year in the most unusual finish ever recorded in these yearly contests.

First off, Gerry Moses of the Boston

WINNER RECEIVES AWARD — The winner of the 1969 Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, Mrs. Annis E. Kinsey, 75, of 1465 Benvenue, Sylvan Lake, receives a $500 U.S. savings bond from Press staffer Howard Heldenbrand. Her sole entry, submitted for Buddy Bradford of the Chicago White Sox, whose batting average was .429, won because contestants had failed to pick any of the four players with higher averages.

2 Million Poor Would Be Free of Income Levy

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today sent Congress a tax reform package including a one-half cut in the 10 per cent income tax surcharge within a year and removal of 2.2 million poor people from all income tax liability.

Nixon, in an eightfod tax reform package, also proposed immediate repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit.

★ ★ ★

Changing his position on a one-year tax extension of the surtax, Nixon proposed that it apply in full only until Jan. 1, 1970, and after that be cut to 5 per cent.

The package also includes a tax-the-rich provision to assure that the affluent pay some tax despite their ability to use deductions.

The message said a family of 4 would pay no income tax on income below $3,500; a married couple with $2,300 income would pay nothing, instead of the $100 they now pay; single persons, students and others who earn up to $1,700 in taxable income and now pay $117 in tax, would pay nothing.

The recommended repeal of the 7 per cent investment tax credit was a reversal of the Nixon administration's position. The change was made because the tax credit, a stimulant to business investment in new plant and equipment, has been widely criticized as fueling the flames of inflation.

★ ★ ★

The President also announced that he is asking Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy for a complete review of the entire federal tax system.

The recommendations should be in hand by next Nov. 30, Nixon said. This would permit submission of legislative recommendations for basic changes to the new session of Congress in January.

'IMPORTANT FIRST STEPS'

Meanwhile, Nixon called on Congress to "take important first steps in tax reform legislation during this session." He listed these:

- "Much stricter surveillance" on tax-exempt organizations, including private foundations.
- Curbing of the practice of many corporations of breaking their business up into multiple subsidiaries and affiliated companies to take advantage of the lower tax rates on the first $25,000 of corporate income.
- Toughter rules governing losses on farm operations to prevent abuses by so-called "tax farmers" who use losses there to cut the tax on other income.
- Tighter screening of deductions for charitable contributions.
- New rules on certain mineral transactions to prevent companies from creating artificial net operation losses in the mineral industries.
- A requirement that taxpayers who have certain untaxable income or other preferences would have their nonbusiness deductions reduced proportionately.

Court Quashes Welfare Laws on Residency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today invalidated state residency requirements for people receiving welfare assistance.

"Neither deterrence of indigents from migrating to the state nor limitation of welfare benefits to those regarded as contributing to the state is a constitutionally permissible state objective," said Justice William J. Brennan Jr. in the majority opinion.

★ ★ ★

The vote was 6 to 3. Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justice Hugo Black joined in one dissenting opinion. Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan dissented separately.

The ruling is a major legal advance for the poor. It is expected to make 100,000 to 200,000 poor people newly eligible for Aid to Families With Dependent Children. This would boost welfare expenses $125 million to $175 million a year.

★ ★ ★

The ruling dealt specificially with residency requirements in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. It is applicable to such regulations in about 40 states in all, including Michigan.

Chief Justice Warren, dissenting, said he believed Congress has the power to impose minimal nationwide residency requirements or to authorize the states to do so.

Biafra's Leaders Flee Nigerians; Talks Collapse

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Advancing Nigerian forces have driven Biafra's leaders to new headquarters, and the attempt to get peace talks started collapsed yesterday.

Reports reaching Lagos said Biafran leader Odumegwu Ojukwu and his staff have left Umuahia and established new headquarters at Orlu, 36 miles to the west.

* * *

Orlu is the last town of any size left in the 3,000 square miles that remain of Biafra after 22 months of civil war. It is located near the two airstrips the besieged secessionist government depends on to receive arms and relief supplies.

Federal authorities refused to confirm or deny that Umuahia has fallen, but a spokesman for the International Committee of the Red Cross confirmed reports that relief agencies have moved their headquarters out of Umuahia.

DISMISSED REPORTS

However, the Biafran official who headed his country's delegation at two days of unsuccessful attempts in Monrovia, Liberia, to arrange peace talks dismissed the reports of Umuahia's fall.

Sir Louis Mbanefo, Biafra's chief justice who once sat with the International Court at the Hague, said: "When you hear about the war ending with the fall of Umuahia remember the strength of Biafra is not in the towns, it is in the villages."

* * *

The Biafran delegation and the Nigerian delegation, headed by Federal Works Commissioner Femi Okunnu, met in Monrovia at talks called by the Organization of African Unity's seven-nation committee on Nigeria.

* * *

Biafra rejected an OAU declaration urging both sides to accept "in the supreme interest of Africa a united Nigeria which ensures all forms of security and guarantees equality of rights and privileges to all its citizens."

* * *

The Biafrans did not reject absolutely the idea of rejoining Nigeria, Mbanefo said, but "we cannot accept a united Nigeria without knowing the nature, form or extent of the security we are getting for our lives and property."

Baseball Contest Won by Woman

Red Sox was No. 1 on the AP hit list, but no contestant had picked him. So we went to No. 2. Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox. And, believe it or not, nobody had named him. There was an entry for May but it was the wrong one — Dave, of the Baltimore Orioles.

Next came Billy Conigliaro of the Boston Red Sox and he too was devoid of backers. Oh, sure, Conigliaro was not without supporters, but all 17 of them had marked their entries for Tony.

BARREN OF BOOSTERS

Elrod Hendricks of the Baltimore Orioles came in fourth and he was as barren of boosters as the first three.

That, at long last, brings us to fifth-place Bradford and a lone believer — Mrs. Kinsey. Although her predicted average was .330 against his actual .429, she had the field to herself since her miss was as good as the smile mentioned above.

* * *

A Pontiac resident for eight years and a long-time baseball fan, this was the winner's maiden contest. Indeed, she entered it on the casual suggestion of a neighbor who knew of her deep interest in the sport.

How did Mrs. Kinsey hit on Bradford?

CONFIRMED ROOTER

Well, she'd lived in many cities around Chicago and became a confirmed White Sox rooter. She noted that Bradford showed promise last year and, through reading The Press sports pages, saw that he was getting off to a good start in spring training this year.

A sidelight of the contest just concluded is that it preserved the uncanny record of successful soothsaying the distaff division has established in habitually winning the seasonal sweepstakes.

* * *

Mrs. Kinsey has no immediate spending plans for her windfall, but with her talent in art it should provide welcome wherewithal in the pursuit of her hobby.

Sirhan Appeals to Take Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whether the jury decrees death or life in prison for Sirhan Bishara Sirhan in the penalty phase of his trial, it will be a long time before the future of Robert F. Kennedy's murderer is finally determined.

Appeals are expected to take a year, perhaps longer.

* * *

For today's proceeding, prosecutor John E. Howard and defense attorney Grant B. Cooper said they would not take long to argue their cases before the same jury that last week convicted Sirhan of first-degree murder.

Howard, an advocate of the death penalty, said he would call no witnesses and would take only 20 minutes to "point out facts we think important — his lack of remorse, and the effect of political assassination on a democracy."

Cooper said the jury might begin deliberations on the sentence by late tonight or early tomorrow.

142 Arrested in Fights After Decency Rally

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Ninety adults faced trial on disorderly conduct or assault charges today as the result of scattered fights which broke out yesterday following a Youth for Decency Rally.

Another 52 persons, all juveniles, faced Juvenile Court action as a result of the widespread disturbances in the area of Memorial Stadium where the rally was held.

* * *

Hospitals in Baltimore reported treating more than 130 persons for minor injuries after the rally attended by 40,000 persons.

* * *

Maj. William A. Harris, chief of the Police Department's Community Relations Division and a Negro, described the trouble as "the blacks beating up the whites."

BLACKS ARRESTED

The Police Department confirmed that those arrested were predominantly Negro and those injured predominantly white.

* * *

The rally, attended by 40,000 teenagers, was modeled after an orderly and successful event last month in Miami protesting lewdness and obscenity in America. Its themes were "brotherhood, respect, responsibility and love."

* * *

FIGHTING ERUPTS

As the departing crowd streamed down exit ramps, fighting broke out.

* * *

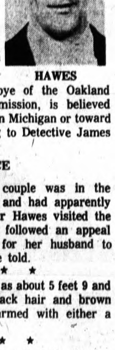
More than 500 police descended on the area in an attempt to restore order, but the violence spread to downtown Baltimore, where a number of windows were smashed.

REUTHER HONORED—Walter P. Reuther, labor leader and a member of the Oakland University Foundation, received an honorary degree at the university's commencement Saturday. Other honorary degrees went to former Michigan State University President John A. Hannah and Harry S. Broudy, educational philosopher and professor of philosophy at the University of Illinois.

Spouse Sought in Area Beating

Waterford Township police are seeking a 37-year-old man who allegedly beat his wife severely Friday with a poker and a croquet mallet.

Charged with attempted murder is Gerald G. Hawes of 1211 Bamford, whose wife, Bernita, 35, was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital about 1 p.m. after suffering critical head injuries.



HAWES

She is reported improving and in fair condition today.

Hawes, an employe of the Oakland County Road Commission, is believed headed into Northern Michigan or toward Alabama, according to Detective James A. Webb.

GETTING DIVORCE

Police said the couple was in the process of divorce and had apparently argued Friday after Hawes visited the house. The assault followed an appeal from Mrs. Hawes for her husband to leave, officers were told.

* * *

Hawes, described as about 5 feet 9 and 160 pounds with black hair and brown eyes, is believed armed with either a rifle or shotgun.

* * *

"We consider him potentially dangerous," said Webb.

Hawes is believed to be traveling in a 1964 Chevrolet pickup truck with a blue body and white top.

Sheriff Expects Break Soon

Ypsi Slaying Trail Warm

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey says he expects a break, and possibly some arrests "very soon" in the slaying of a 13-year-old girl last Wednesday.

"Instead of the trail getting cold as it usually does," Harvey said in an apparent reference to the unsolved murders of four other young women over the past 21 months, "It's definitely getting hotter."

* * *

Harvey said detectives discovered tire tracks, empty beer cans and footprints in the area where a sweater which had been worn by the most recent victim, Dawn Basom, was found.

* * *

Discovery of the clues followed a tip a couple was seen necking in the area of the abandoned farmhouse where the girl was killed.

TWO KILLERS POSSIBLE

The possibility is being considered that Dawn and the four other girls may have been victims of a couple rather than a single killer.

Other victims killed in the vicinity were Maralynn Skelton, 16, of Romulus, and Jane Louise Mixer, 23, of Muskegon, both killed last month; Joan E. Schell, 20, of Plymouth, killed last summer; and Mary Fleszar, 19, of Willis, killed the previous summer.

* * *

A Monroe County Sheriff's detective said there may be a link between the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area slayings and an unsolved 1968 murder of a 14-year-old girl found strangled with a length of telephone cord.

The body of Eileen Marie Adams, of Toledo, Ohio, was found on a road near U.S. 23, which leads to the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area.

WISCONSIN SLAYING

Speculation the slayings "conceivably" may be connected with the unsolved slaying of a University of Wisconsin coed 11 months ago was suggested by UW Police Chief Ralph Hanson at Madison, Wis., over the weekend.

UW coed Christian Rothschild, 18, was found beaten and stabbed last May 26 in shrubbery near a University building. Like Dawn Basom, she had been viciously stabbed in the chest and stomach.

* * *

Jittery residents of southeast Michigan were scared again Saturday when two girls, one 8 years old and the other 17, were abducted separately and released unharmed.

One girl, a Southfield teen-ager, was forced into her car by a young Negro at Northland shopping center.

* * *

She said her kidnaper forced her to drive about 40 minutes before he took over the steering wheel. She escaped when the youth pulled into a service station in Flat Rock.

The 8-year-old was picked up in Livingston County while strolling down the road near her home in rural Fowlerville. Police said a woman found her less than three hours later walking along another road 15 miles from her home.

* * *

A clue police first said "was too close to the murder to be written off" was written off Sunday. Police said a baby girl doll, clad only in a blouse and hanging on a barbed wire fence not far from where Miss Basom's body was found, had been on the fence since the first part of March.

The dinner will be May 1 at 6 p.m. in the Oakland Center cafeteria at Oakland University.

Speaker will be Dr. William B. Pollard of Milwaukee Public Schools, called the architect of that area's decentralization program.

Cong Steps Up Shellings; 35 Bases, Towns Are Hit

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietcong stepped up its spring offensive again last night, shelling at least 35 military bases and towns. One barrage killed 46 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 137 at a training camp. A rocket landed among about 100 U.S. Marines watching a movie near Da Nang, killing two and wounding 46.

Eight more Marines were killed in hand-to-hand battle with North Vietnamese regulars just below the demilitarized zone. And in Vietnam's southernmost province, An Xuyen, eight South Vietnamese were killed and 60 wounded in a mortar barrage.

With the enemy offensive now entering its ninth week, the purpose of the increased attacks obviously was to raise the allied casualty toll at small cost to the Vietcong and North Vietnamese.

In the central highlands along the Cambodian border, Green Beret troops encountered two North Vietnamese battalions infiltrating into the country. Authorities said 38 North Vietnamese regulars were killed over the weekend as the battalions sparred with two bands of irregulars led by American Special Forces men.

Other attacks hit the airfields at Da Nang, Nha Trang, on the coast, and Vinh Long, in the Mekong Delta. Authorities said damage was light and apparently only one aircraft was hit.

* * *

Barrages also hit the highland city of Pleiku, a district military headquarters about 50 miles southwest of Saigon, the headquarters of the American Green Beret force in Vietnam at Nha Trang and the U.S. 9th Infantry Division base camp at Dong Tam, 40 miles below Saigon.

* * *

Fresh North Vietnamese regulars fell upon a night camp of U.S. Marines less than half a mile below the demilitarized zone. For two hours the attacking force tried to overrun the band of fewer than 100 Marines, getting inside the perimeter at one time and hurling satchel charges and grenades before being thrown back in hand-to-hand fighting.

* * *

At dawn, with a gun-ship raking them with 6,000-round-a-minute bursts of mini-gun fire, the North Vietnamese pulled back, leaving 20 bodies and four badly wounded men.

Israeli Forces Drive Off Egyptian Commandos

By The Associated Press

An Egyptian commando squad crossed the Suez Canal today and attacked Israeli forces for the second time in three days. Arab and Israeli guns again dueled across the Jordan River, and Israeli warplanes hit suspected guerrilla positions in Jordan.

* * *

An Israeli army spokesman said the Egyptians crossed the canal 19 miles north of El Qantara and attacked an army patrol in the occupied Sinai Desert. One Israeli vehicle was damaged and three Israeli soldiers were wounded, he said, before the attackers were driven back across the canal.

Late Saturday night Egyptian commandos crossed the canal and attacked an army position, but the Israelis said they fled across the waterway without inflicting major damage.

Hostilities on the Jordanian front erupted at 5:20 a.m. when Arab guerrillas in the Beisan Valley fired at an Israeli army patrol near Beit Yosef and Neve Jr, Israeli spokesmen reported.

JET ACTION

Two or three Israeli jets were seen strafing and bombing the Manshiyeh area, sending up plumes of smoke and fire. A Jordanian military spokesmen said two Israeli jets raided an area west of Waqas village in the northern Jordan valley with rockets and napalm but inflicted no casualties.

Israeli spokesmen said Jordanian and Iraqi long-range artillery then opened up, pounding the Beisan Valley south of the Sea of Galilee and the Jordan Valley. The Israelis fired back with tanks and artillery.

* * *

Apart from a 10-minute lull around 9:30 a.m., artillery barrages were reported continuing along the entire front from the Sea of Galilee to the occupied Golan Heights of Syria.

Neither side mentioned any casualties.

RAIDS REPORTED

A spokesman in Amman said Israeli planes were used more than once. He said Deir Abu Saeed, Manshiyeh and North Shuneh in the Jordan valley came under heavy mortar and tank fire; artillery from the Golan Heights pounded areas around Irbed and "Israeli jet fighters raided intermittently the Soum and Zimal villages, using machine guns and rockets."

"At 9:30 a.m. the Israelis widened the scope of their attack using various kinds of weapons, and extended the clash to the whole of the confrontation line in the northern Jordan valley," he said.

* * *

Israeli settlers in the valley claimed the Jordanian and Iraqi troops are cooperating more and more with Arab guerrillas in their area. The settlers said there were no Israeli casualties in the shelling.

Sunday was another day of artillery dueling across the Jordan River and clashes with Arab saboteurs in the Jordan Valley. Five saboteurs and an Israeli soldier were reported killed.

EGYPTIAN CLAIMS

In Saturday's cross-canal raid by the Egyptians, Israel said one of its soldiers and two Egyptians were wounded in a brief burst of firing. Egypt claimed at least 30 Israeli soldiers were killed or wounded and "the Israeli position was under the control of our forces for two hours."

* * *

An Israeli soldier who witnessed the attack near Ismailia said the Egyptians moved in during the blackout and exploded a smoke grenade.

"We realized what was happening, and soldiers immediately swarmed into the trenches. We could then see the Egyptians moving about and shouting 'this is ours'," he said.

"They had a transmitter with them and kept using it. They kept running about, rather aimlessly it seemed to us, firing their weapons.

"A short while later the Egyptian batteries on the western bank of the canal started firing star shells to illuminate the area to help the commandos. As they fled they threw a single hand grenade which caused slight injuries to one of our men."

Israeli spokesmen dismissed the raid as a minor skirmish, but Cairo newspapers said Israel's 18-hour delay in announcing the attack belied Tel Aviv's claims that the raid failed to accomplish its objective.

The newspapers said Israel had kept silent assuming the Egyptians would not admit their forces had crossed the canal but had to speak out after Cairo made its announcement.

Shooting Kills 1

DETROIT (AP) — A man was shot to death and another seriously wounded Sunday after an argument in an East Side Detroit bar. Bobby G. Calhoun, 24, was killed. His brother, Herbert, 26, was wounded. Police held the bar's bouncer for investigation.

Officer Faces Hearing in Negro's Death

PORT GIBSON, Miss. (AP) — A policeman whose gun killed a Negro, touching off a weekend of racial strife, was scheduled for a hearing today on a murder charge. A Negro leader said he wanted to see "every black in the county at the courthouse."

The policeman, Jesse L. Wolf, 44, reported Roosevelt Jackson, 24, a riverboat worker, was killed in a scuffle Friday night. Wolf and a Negro patrolman, Henry McQuien, had gone to Jackson's house to arrest him for interfering in the attempted arrest of another man earlier in the day.

* * *

Wolf said his gun went off when Jackson grabbed for it. McQuien suffered a flesh wound from the same bullet.

A few hours later Negroes protesting the killing clashed at a church with highway patrolmen who had been called in to maintain order. One patrolman was shot in the leg.

BACK ON DUTY

Jackson's widow swore out a murder warrant for Wolf Saturday. Mayor W. P. Gordon, the city's chief magistrate, freed the policeman on $5,000 bond, and he went back on duty Sunday along with McQuien.

Charles Evers, Mississippi field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asserted that freeing Wolf on bond while he was charged with murder was illegal.

* * *

Evers called for a mass descent of Negroes on Wolf's scheduled afternoon hearing before Gordon at the county court house and urged a black boycott of white-owned stores.

Growth Potential Called Great

'Sleepy' Holly: One Eye on Future

By NED ADAMSON

HOLLY — The adjective "sleepy" still applies to this little village in northwestern Oakland County.

Holly is one of those towns that probably is the subject of its share and more of the small-town jokes.

* * *

The sign in bold black lettering . . . "The Church is a Light in a Dark World" comes out at you as you enter the village. That sign and the numerous churches scattered about town root the village in the spirit of the Christian ethic.

* * *

The church, the chicken suppers and, once in a while, a funeral for a soldier who came back in a box from Vietnam represent the crux of life here. The residents don't ask too many questions about life. They are still far removed from great change.

MANAGER MILTON DISBROW

Village Manager Milton Disbrow is quick to point out "We have good relations with the Negroes here. Negroes have no problems buying property here — in the township."

Virtually all of the Negroes live in scattered pockets outside the village limits. Many live in the Great Lakes subdivision north of town. What grabs the visitor's attention here is a high fence which seemingly enclosed the subdivision.

Sex education has come to the schools, and Schools Supt. Russell Haddon is attempting to implement that subject along with a revised social studies curriculum and more attention to the black man in the classroom on a gradual basis in order to minimize the potential feedback from the generally conservative environment.

The Transportation and Land Use Study (TALUS) and the village's planning consultant point to Holly as a strong potential urban growth center within the next 20 years with transportation accessibility as the key to growth.

The village lies between I-75 and US. 23, and plans are under way to link these two expressways with a connecting freeway within the next five to seven years.

Expansion might come here a lot sooner than some older residents would like.

Holly, and numerous other villages surrounding the outer fringes of the major metropolitan areas, are increasingly being viewed by disenchanted dwellers of the city and even the close-in suburbs as potential oases from urban social and economic problems.

The town is now virtually free of traffic jams and the usual gamut of city social problems.

* * *

Seely Tinsman, the supervisor for Holly Township, explains you will hear little griping up here from the farmers about the rising property assessment valuation.

Many of them are sitting on potential gold — property to be plucked for subdivision, industrial and commercial development.

LITTLE GROWTH YET

The village hasn't grown much yet, an estimated 20 per cent in nine years from 3,000 to 3,800. But Disbrow believes the next 10 years are likely to be a different story.

There are already rumblings of growth. A few apartment buildings, subdivisions and a shopping center ring the village.

* * *

Unlike most small towns, the business district is still mostly intact. One can still find two traditional all-purpose small-town dry goods stores. "Snow White" is running at the movie theater, and the Holly Hotel still flashes "packaged liquor" on its windows alongside the now-quiet railroad tracks.

The village progressives — along with Disbrow, some of the council members and residents like attorney Robert McKenney — would like to see Holly change its charter from village to city.

MOST WON'T HAVE IT

But Tinsman, who knows nearly everyone in town, staunchly says the hard-core long-time residents of the community won't have it. "Cityhood means only that you can borrow more money and nothing else."

* * *

The pro-city people feel that a city charter would be conducive to faster growth; would give the town fathers more latitude in policy making, particularly regarding fiscal and planning matters, and simply replace what they feel is now an antiquated form of government.

* * *

The village is currently putting the finishing touches on plans for an improved and extended water system.

Council president Leopold Oberheim maintains that once the water system project is completed, the council will then turn to the matter of putting charter change proposal to the voters.

Undoubtedly, it will get a fight!

Hearing Set April 28 on Water Assessment

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the supplemental assessment roll for the Duke and Forestbrook area has been set for 7:45 p.m. April 28.

Proposed special assessments were revised after bids for water mains were opened, and the lowest was $230 over the estimated cost of $990 per residence.

* * *

Other recent business saw the Township Board confirming the assessment roll for sanitary sewers in Springbrook Subdivision. The estimated cost is $53,300.

The first segment of the 10-Mile-Road sanitary sewer arm to service the subdivision also was approved. The arm, to extend some 3,000 feet west beginning at Middle Belt, has an estimated cost of $146,300.

CONTRACT APPROVED

The board also okayed a contract with Pure Oil Co. of Detroit to furnish bulk gasoline for township cars at 14½ cents per gallon.

A new fire truck was ordered from Bean Co. of Lansing for $33,300.

* * *

A license to sell bottled liquor also was approved for Mounir Haidar who owns Haidar's Party Store at 29470 10 Mile.

A request for a contribution to the proposed Farmington Area Community Center was rejected.

* * *

Upon investigation, the board discovered that it could not legally donate money since it wasn't going for a governmental purpose. The attorney cited cases where similar attempts to donate money had been legally stopped.

Disputed Plan Up in White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The controversial proposed multidevelopment plan for the M59-Hill Road area will be considered again at tonight's township planning commission meeting.

The requested rezoning of the 400 acres from agricultural to other uses should be decided at the 8 p.m. meeting at the Town Hall, township officials indicate.

The developers plan a mobile home park, apartments and townhouses, and business and commercial areas.

The Huron Valley Board of Education and others officially objected to the rezoning at the public hearing in February.

Orion Library Friends Set Week of Activities

ORION TOWNSHIP — Friends of the Orion Township Library have scheduled a full agenda of activities in observance of National Library Week, which began today.

The Friends will be contacting members of area service clubs and organizations as part of their membership drive. Discussiins will be held with neighboring library associations.

Highlighting the Orion activities is the used book sale. Collection dates are today through Wednesday with the sale slated for Thursday through Saturday at the library.

Lapeer Forms Historical Unit

LAPEER — A group of heritage-minded citizens has formed the Lapeer County Historical Society, adopting a formal constitution, electing officers and laying committee action plans.

Committee assignments will include library, museum, publications, historic sites, program, membership and possibly genealogy.

* * *

First president of the new organization is the Charles D. Braidwood, archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Other officers are James Jessop, first vice president) Ralph Lockwood, second vice president; Mrs. Hazel McCartney, treasurer; Miss Ruth Turnbull, recording secretary; Miss Bernice Dickerson, corresponding secretary; and Ron Jarvis, Mrs. William Goodell and Carl Van Wagoner, directors.

* * *

Charter memberships will be accepted until May 10. Single adult membership will be $5 per year, with husband-and-wife memberships at $7. High school students may belong for $1. Sustaining or organization membership is $25 and life membership, paid only once, is $100.

Some 70 persons signed up for memberships at the initial meeting of the society.

Vote Is Sought on Trailer Park

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — "It's a huge misunderstanding. We need the park," Township Supervisor Lee Valentine contends.

* * *

However, residents — about 500 of them — reply:

"You can't guarantee that there will be no children to crowd the schools!"

* * *

The dialogue is over a proposed trailer park 'club," primarily for senior citizens. A second peition drive in opposition to mobile home sites here has culimated under the sponsorship of Gillis Combs, 296 W. Drahner.

* * *

Voters rejected a mobile home park proposal in April of 1966 for a Coats Road site. Last March 12, the township planning board recommended approval of a trailer park for the 62-acre Mary Talik estate, options of which are held by D. J. AND G. J. Dougher of California and Waterford Township respectively.

* * *

The Drougher brothers want to install a 200-400 unit trailer court on land abutting West Drahner Road, a quarter mile off M24.

* * *

Combs has deliverered a 500-plus signature (300 names are necessary) petition to Township Clerk Wayne Converse that would force yet another trailer park referendum, presumably this time for June.

* * *

"Each resident of the trailer court would sign a contractural agreement wherein parents would agree to move out of the park by the time the child reaches 1 year of age," Valentine said.

* * *

Valentine said that the trailer court could provide "low-cost housing for our senior citizens. We need this project for the older residents, for we haven't got anything like it."

The sewer project, now in the preliminary engineering plan phase, will be explained in detail.

Possible financing procedures, line routes and other information will be presented by the village councilmen, attorney, tax consultant, engineer and a representative from the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

In other fatalities, David F. Wells, 21, ed when struck by a car Saturday on of Charlotte was killed in a head-on auto M60 in Branch County. crash Saturday on U.S. 27 south of Charlotte.

Ila M. Heiden, 66, of Romulus died in a two-car collision Friday night in the Detroit suburb of Taylor.

Lake Orion School Bonds Defeated

LAKE ORION — Voters, in a record turnout, rejected a $5.5-million school building bond issue Saturday by a 246-vote margin. The vote was 786 yes and 1,032 no.

"I suspect that the school board will propose the question on another ballot after the legal time limit has passed," said Supt. Lewis Mundy.

Lake Orion voters rejected the same proposal in June 1968. The issue would have added an average $27.90 yearly in property taxes, Mundy said.

"This will not affect us this fall," Mundy said, "but in the fall of 1970 we will definitely have to go to half-day sessions, even if a third proposal succeeds. The buildings could not be completed in time for fall of '70 if a third vote passes."

Mundy said students would have to be housed in portable classroom units next fall as a result of building crowding.

'The Great White Hope' Tops Tony Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Great White Hope," a drama about the first Negro heavyweight boxing champion, drew top honors for its author, producer and star Sunday night at the presentation of the 23rd annual Tony Awards for the Broadway theater.

A comedy about the American Revolution and the framing of the Declaration of Independence, "1776," was named best musical of the 1968-69 season, and its director was cited as best director of a musical.

* * *

"The Great White Hope," which is based on the pre-World War I career and private life of fighter Jack Johnson, was named the best dramatic play of the season, and its star, James Earl Jones, was named the best actor in a drama. Jane Alexander, who plays Jones' white mistress, was honored as the best supporting actress in a drama.

Other recipients of top awards were:

—Julie Harris, best actress in a drama, for "Forty Carats."

—Angela Lansbury, best actress in a musical, for "Dear World."

—Jerry Orbach, best actor in a musical, for "Promises, Promises."

TIMING IMPORTANT

After receiving his award, Jones, 37, said the timing of the play had a lot to do with its success. "People are curious about the black man in our society," he said.

Author Howard Sackler, who shared the best play award with producer Herman Levin, said he wrote the play "less because it was a topical issue than because it was someone struggling."

* * *

He said, however, that he was "very lucky" in his timing and did not think it would have been such a hit had he presented it eight years ago when he first conceived the idea. "The Great White Hope" is Sackler's first Broadway play.

The season also marked a first for Peter Hunt, director of "1776." He attributed the play's success to "a great truth in the material."

NEAR DEADLINE

It was noted that the play almost didn't make the deadline for the awards, opening only 15 hours before the nominating committee met.

The best musical award for "1776" was shared by Sherman Edwards, who wrote the lyrics and music; Peter Stone, author; and Stuart Ostrow, producer.

* * *

The comedy also brought an award to Ronald Holgate, best supporting actor in a musical.

The best supporting actress in a musical was Marian Mercer of "Promises, Promises."

Other awards went to: Al Pacino of "Does a Tiger Wear a Necktie" as best supporting actor in a drama, Peter Dews of "Hadrian VII" as best director of a drama, Boris Aronson of "Zorba" for best scenic design, Louden Sainthill of "Canterbury Tales" for best costumes and Joe Layton of "George M!" as best choreographer.

The Tony Awards were founded in 1947 in memory of Antoinette Perry, the actress and director, who died in 1946.

The Tony Awards are named for Antoinette Perry, actress and director who died in 1946. Jones and Miss Harris won for dramas, Orbach and Miss Lansbury for musicals.

Flags flew on public buildings and royal gun salutes were fired today in London to mark Queen Elizabeth II's 43rd birthday.

Public celebration of the birthday comes in June when there is less likelihood of bad weather spoiling the military review that is the high point of the occasion.

Holy Man Faces Court on Untouchability Stand

One of India's top four Hindu holy men, the Jagadguru Shankaracharya of Puri, has been ordered to appear in court Thursday in connection with charges that he publicly advocated untouchability.

The government last week announced in Parliament it had urged the Bihar state government to prosecute the Jagadguru for allegedly defending the practice of untouchability in a speech here last month.

The court hearing was called to help determine whether there are grounds for prosecuting under the 13-year-old untouchability act.

If convicted, Jagadguru could be jailed for up to two years and be fined $133.

5 Governors Study Fish Pollution

Pesticide Limit Haste Feared

CHICAGO (AP) — Governors of five states Sunday urged the federal government not to act too hastily in setting maximum limits on how much DDT and other pesticides would be permitted in Great Lakes fish meant for human consumption.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois, Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, Gov. Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin, Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb of Indiana and Gov. Harold Levander of Minnesota attended the two-hour conference.

* * *

Representatives of the U.S. Departments of the Interior and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) also were present.

The Food and Drug Administration recommended recenlty that pesticide levels in Lake Superior and Lake Michigan fish be reduced to 3.5 parts per million.

The governors said, however, that present DDT levels of 12 to 20 parts per million are not harmful. They issued a joint statement which asserted "that available information indicates no demonstrated health hazard in the current pesticide levels in fish."

The governors asked the federal government for $200,000 to expand existing insecticide monitoring programs in the five states and proposed to establish ofur technical committees with the funds.

* * *

The committees would focus on water pollution control, public health, agriculture and natural resources and recreation, and would issue a report by July 1.

The governors asked that the Food & Drug Administration consider the recommendations of the conference "prior to establishing interim or permanent" pesticide levels in fish.

* * *

They planned to present their recommendations to Robert Finch, the secretary of HEW, at the Republican governors' conference May 1 in Lexington, Ky.

Some 60 pickets from the United Auto Workers (UAW) representing the five Great Lakes states marched outside the governors' conference to demonstrate that "the people in the Midwest back them wholeheartedly, regardless of party affiliation, for action. . . to stop pollution of our environment."

It Seems to Me . . .

Nixon Merits High Mark for His Fiscal Program

By and large, the United States has been vigorously applauding President NIXON's determination to turn the annual and almost perpetual deficit into a surplus.

Those who have been honestly fearful for the economy ahead, assert this can be a powerful factor in restoring some semblance of order in the financial chaos we're experiencing.

There are exceptions.

There always are.

★ ★ ★

Those whose toes have been trod upon to bring about the end result are protesting and insisting that no part of the retrenchment should touch their own sacred bailiwick. But how can it be otherwise?

You can't reduce without reducing. That's certain. Hence, someone, somewhere, will have to feel the cutback. It simply resolves itself into the straightforward proposition that a reduction requires less expenditures. The Nation as a whole must be considered and not the individual outlets.

The President is determined to slash more than three billion dollars here and the current prospect is that the total Presidential budget may show a surplus of as much as five billion dollars.

What a step forward this is!

And it takes real courage.

This very significant procedure will be noted worldwide. The global nations have been viewing the finances of the United States with doubt and apprehension. The end seemed to be nowhere in sight and they were all losing faith and confidence in the world's greatest financial empire.

Surely the early days of President NIXON should enhance his image here and abroad. We are listening to hardheaded financial planning for the first time in many years. Our image overseas has been tarnished and blackened more than anyone likes to think. Our global leadership has been weakened over a succession of years.

★ ★ ★

Things look better — for all concerned. And by and large the squawkers whose personal lambs have been gored will provoke very little sympathy as they scream and rant.

Tornado Season . . .

According to the Red Cross, our tornado season is at hand. Their tips for safety say:

If you are outdoors when a tornado approaches, travel at right angles. If there's no time to escape, lie flat in a ditch or ravine.

If you're home and have a basement, go there and take shelter under a workbench or table. (But avoid heavy appliances on the floor above.)

If you have no basement, take refuge under heavy appliances on the first floor in the center of the house.

★ ★ ★

We don't have many tornados in Oakland County, but you might be caught in a less favorable location.

Dismal Picture . . .

A letter in the Voice of the People pointed out an eyesore in the outskirts of downtown Pontiac.

As you drive North on Wide Track Drive, the rear end of the Arcadia Court Apartments, called the Slater apartments in The Voice of the People, presents the most dismal civic picture in the entire center of the City.

★ ★ ★

If the owners aren't interested in meeting this sorry challenge, the City Commission should consider action in the interests of civic pride. This is truly an eyesore and it's looked upon daily by thousands and thousands. Many of these are visitors and this picture from Wide Track gives an unpleasant and inaccurate impression of Pontiac.

★ ★ ★

A coat or two of paint might help as a starter.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

The Swedish motion picture, "I Am Curious (Yellow)," ((correct)) currently showing in New York is the filthiest thing ever filmed for public or private consumption. It runs to standing room crowds. . . . . Horse racing's triple crown gets under way May 3rd with The Kentucky Derby. The Preakness follows May 17th and the Belmont Stakes, June 7. All will be broadcast by CBS. . . . . Remember the good old days when all you had to worry about was whether your airplane luggage would arrive at a wrong destination? Now you have to stew over whether you'll end up in Cuba yourself. Some 21 planes have been hi-jacked this year.

Personal nomination for one of the most attractive seniors in the current Oakland University graduating class: Mrs. Ralph ("Totsy") Behler, who's fortyish but doesn't look any part of it. . . . . A pal asked me to put a stopwatch on "Truth or Consequences" and I did the other night and discovered they allowed commercials to run a ghastly and stupid ten minutes and 55 seconds on a half-hour TV program.

★ ★ ★

Friends and enemies tell me I goofed last week on those "unusual sentences" by not making the matter clearer. Hence, here's a replay: How quickly can you find out what's so unusual about this part of our paragraph? It looks so ordinary you would think nothing was wrong with it at all and in fact nothing is. But it's unusual. Why? (And now I'll attach the answer right here.) There isn't an "e" included in these sentences and that's the most common letter in our language. . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—pals and enemies who kicked me around last week; the J's—me.

David Lawrence Says:

Plan Would Hinder President

WASHINGTON — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee has issued a report, approved by a vote of 11 to 1, recommending that the Senate adopt a resolution which, if put into effect, could paralyze the operation of foreign policy by the president of the United States.

LAWRENCE

America's ambassadors and ministers would hardly be able to carry on useful conversations or negotiations with foreign governments without first submitting virtually everything of significance for approval by a committee of Congress.

★ ★ ★

The alleged purpose would be to determine whether a "commitment" was being made by the United States — involving financial, military or other forms of cooperation between this and other countries.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in its report of April 16, includes a summary of the objections to the resolution as submitted by the Johnson and Nixon administrations. The latest memorandum of opposition was submitted to the committee by the State Department on March 10.

CONSTITUTIONAL POWERS

State Department on March 10.

It declares that a congressional resolution "could not change the constitutional powers of the president," and that the Constitution gives the president "the power to enter into many agreements and to initiate many actions that can be considered to be commitments to other countries."

The foreign relations committees of both houses are constantly consulted when critical situations arise. But, as under Secretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach said in a 1967 congressional hearing, this does not mean that the Congress "should seek to substitute itself for the president or even to share in those decisions which are his to make."

★ ★ ★

Incidentally, the Senate Foreign Relations Committee says in its report that the resolution is not intended to cover commitments already made and is concerned solely with the future.

It may well be wondered whether, if the president of the United States feels it is necessary to push a button to order the firing of missiles to deter a nuclear attack, he must first ask a Senate committee for approval.

POWER OF DEFENSE

The rebuttal made by members of the committee is that the president has the power of defense "against sudden armed aggression." But there are many possible steps necessary from time to time to thwart potential aggression, and these can require mutual-defense pledges to be made informally.

It is strange that only one member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee — Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo. — differed with the proponents of the committee's resolution.

Bob Considine Says:

Howard Hughes, AEC Help Vegas Bloom, Boom

LAS VEGAS — This place is jumping, particularly when the Atomic Energy Commission lets go with a gasser up there in rotten - rock hills.

CONSIDINE

Then there's that other shaker and maker, Howard Hughes. This week the Nevada Gaming Control Board recommended approval of his $17.3 million bid for the towering Landmark Hotel, a striking structure just off The Strip which never got itself quite finished. The Teamsters union pension fund has an $8 million mortgage on it.

★ ★ ★

If the board's recommendation wins the nod of the Justice Department's Anti-trust division it will become Hughes's sixth Las Vegas hotel. Its two gambling casinos, one on the ground floor and the other atop the tower, would be leased to Hotel Properties, Inc., which is owned by the Sands Hotel, which is owned by Hughes Tool Company, which is owned by a man named Hughes.

★ ★ ★

If the AEC is making the desert boom Hughes is making it bloom. The most active recluse of our time has poured countless millions into this community, created thousands of jobs, and has never been seen by any of his multitude of beneficiaries.

PROFOUND RESULTS

Six atomic tests have been held so far this year, 271 since 1957. More than 8,000 experts are employed at the Nevada Test Site, and 2,000 more at AEC headquarters in the city. The bombs and devices have given the U.S. profound new information about the nature of the beast.

★ ★ ★

We may one day dig a second Panama Canal with bombs that have been refined here. We have learned to cut the radioactivity a hundred-fold from such earth-moving since a bomb called Sedan, a 100-kiloton job, dug a crater 320 feet deep and 1,200 feet across in July 1962.

★ ★ ★

The underground shots in general are being harnessed more effectively. The last one shook Las Vegas so lightly that the AEC had to pay only three claims, totaling $583.

'Gas Was Off in Several Homes in Our Area'

I came home from a civic meeting and my wife, who is ill, told me the house was cold. I found the gas was off. After several hours, Consumers supervisory men had the heat on again.

Inquiry in the neighborhood indicated that a considerable area had the gas off. Some homes with gas stoves could have had an explosion with severe injury or damage. The Union will say that the gas failure was a common occurrence that could happen anytime. Funny how it never happened without the strike. Or they will say it was due to lack of adequate maintenance due to their being off the job.

★ ★ ★

I am an engineer and this failure was simply some union agitator stooping low enough to deprive us folks of gas even though death or damage might result. This area owes a great debt of gratitude to the supervisory people that went all out to save the area. In the book of most of the residents, they're heroes.

Wallace Magic

Arizona Republic

Is the George Wallace magic losing its appeal in the rural south?

It may be too early just now to write finis to the Wallace movement. But voters in Tennessee's rural 8th district buried the candidate of Wallace's American Independent party under a vote of 2 to 1.

Wallace himself, whose first political appearance since the Presidential campaign was on behalf of the Tennessee pro-Wallace candidate, told the crowd that the election of William Davis would show both major parties that "our movement will not be defeated."

The organizer for the Association of Wallace Voters, which is trying to form a permanent third party, admitted that the race "will be a good indicator of Wallace's strength as a future leader in building a new party."

The indications, then, are that his strength is very, very low.

★ ★ ★

Wallace easily carried the 8th district last year, winning almost as many votes as Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey combined. And this time there were 10 candidates, a factor that was widely felt to favor Wallaceite Davis.

The outcome, therefore, could only be a bitter disappointment to Wallace and those who viewed the Alabama ex-governor as Presidential timber. For while there might not be a dime's worth of difference between Republicans and Democrats, Tennessee voters saw much greater difference between Wallace and the organization Democrat, Ed Jones, who rolled to an easy victory.

★ ★ ★

We hope that this rebuff to the Wallace ticket indicates that Americans in 1969 are eager to put aside their differences, eager to see that the turbulence and dissension of last year indeed, of the last six to eight years — are thrust to the background.

The country has enough problems trying to calm the left flank occupied by student radicals, without having to worry about a resurgence of right-wing Wallaceism, with its appeals to unreason.

Nixon's 1st 90 Days: Speaking Softly, Moving Slowly

As Nixon prepared to confer with the National Security Council in a meeting scheduled before the incident, word leaked from the State Department that his first official reaction would be a strongly worded protest to North Korea.

* * *

After the meeting, the Defense Department confirmed that all available evidence tended to substantiate North Korea's claim that it had shot down the plane, but the Pentagon's 3½-page statement avoided any discussion of political or diplomatic ramifications.

* * *

And the White House press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, in reporting on Nixon's meeting with the security council, would say only that the President was following the situation closely and continuing discussions.

NOTHING MORE

The White House, said Ziegler would have nothing more to say on the subject that day, and declined to speculate on whether any presidential statement could be expected.

* * *

The net effect was to blunt public debate and criticism. When Secretary of State William P. Rogers, appearing at a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, declined to discuss the incident on the ground that "it would be inappropriate at this time," he wasn't pressed for an answer.

* * *

Then, in a press conference Friday, Nixon said he has ordered the flights to be resumed. They had been discontinued when the plane was shot down. And, the President said, "They will be protected . . . This is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact." Saturday it was reported that a number of U.S. ships were headed for positions off the Korean coast.

* * *

Despite the outcome of the Sea of Japan incident, it appears certain that Nixon's policy of avoiding open conflict will soon come to an end.

HIGH-DECIBEL DEBATE

Higher-decidel debate seems certain with the return from Easter holiday of a restive Democratic-controlled Congress. Virtually every Democrat, and many a Republican, can find something displeasing in a revised and reduced federal budget. Still to come, moreover, is the bulk of Nixon's long-awaited domestic legislative program.

* * *

Inflation prompted the budget cuts, which Nixon claims will produce a surplus in the coming fiscal year of 5.8 billion — biggest since the Truman administration. Nixon says he's confident a hefty surplus, coupled with more tight money, will halt erosion of the dollar's value.

INFLATION ACUTE PROBLEM

Although the chief executive sees inflation as currently the most acute domestic problem, foreign affairs claimed the greatest part of his attention during the first 90 days. The ratio of National Security Council meetings to sessions of the Nixon-created Council for Urban Affairs, its nearest domestic equivalent, was almost precisely two to one.

* * *

This was natural enough since Nixon believes his freedom of movement in the domestic arena will be limited by budgetary stringency until inflation is brought under control and the country can disengage itself from the Vietnam War.

In his inaugural address, Nixon signaled his intent to put foreign affairs on the top of his agenda:

"The greatest honor history can bestow is the title of peacemaker. This honor now beckons America — the chance to help lead the world at last out of the valley of turmoil and onto that high ground of peace that man has dreamed of since the dawn of civilization . . . This is our summons to greatness."

SMOOTH SAILING IN FOREIGN PORTS—President Nixon chats Saturday in his office with Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands (left) and Henry Kissinger, Nixon's assistant on national security affairs. The President's foreign policy course has not drawn substantial criticism.

STAKING A CLAIM

Within a few days, Nixon moved on three fronts to stake out a claim as peacemaker, a claim that has yet to be fully worked. But if effort alone means anything — and Nixon has been most free of criticism in the foreign policy area — he did move promptly to develop a still-secret program for ending the Vietnam war, to lay a groundwork for four-power talks that hopefully might hasten a Middle East settlement, and to edge toward eventual talks with the Soviet Union on taking some heat out of the arms race.

* * *

Voters must take the Vietnam part of the President's peace strategy on faith. He says he has an end-the-war plan but that to talk about it would destroy its value. Addressing the National Association of Broadcasters on March 25, Nixon said:

* * *

"As far as any negotiated peace is concerned, it will come from private rather than public talks because where both sides — and I am referring now particularly to the North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese — have a problem of prestige and a problem of face among many others involved, that kind of negotiation cannot take place in a goldfish bowl . . . If private talks are to be private, they must be private."

* * *

Still, some of the more persistent doves quickly began making rustling noises at the lack of public announcements of progress toward peace. Only time will determine whether the rustlings were well-founded.

Meanwhile, Richard Nixon is pleased that most Americans seem satisfied, at least for the moment, with his assurance that an end-the-war plan is unfolding in secret, that the South Vietnamese generals say publicly they do not feel direct negotiations with the Vietcong are out of the question, and that, on the basis of public hints and private "leaks," the United States can foresee a progressive scaling down of American military involvement — regardless of what happens in Paris.

CONCERN DEMONSTRATED

As for the Middle East, Nixon demonstrated his concern during the transition period by dispatching former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania to meet with Israeli officials and their Arab adversaries.

* * *

Then he set up bilateral talks between U.S. representatives and their counterparts from the Soviet Union, France and Britain — all with the aim of four-power sessions that now seem assured. Beyond that, Nixon's second official visitor, following Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, was the moderate of the Arab world, King Hussein of Jordan. And next came a personal representative of President Abdul Gamel Nasser of the United Arab Republic in what many believe was a prelude to resumption of diplomatic relations.

* * *

To the consternation of many, and the private hand-wringing of some who thought no good could come of it, Nixon made the first dramatic move of his first 90 days early in February, announcing a trip to Belgium, West Germany, Britain, France, Italy and the Vatican.

* * *

Nixon's motives were multifold: to buck up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by a visit to its Brussels headquarters, and by assuring allied leaders he intended to be a partner and not a dictator; to seek the good will of the president of France, Charles de Gaulle, and to restore at least minimal normal relations between two nations whose mutual aid ties go back to the Revolution; to talk with leaders everywhere — particularly in France and Britain — about possible approaches to a potential Middle East breakthrough; to discuss in Paris the Vietnam negotiators for the United States and Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky; to solicit a papal blessing for his peace quest, and far from least, to assure America's strongest European allies that their vital interests would not be sacrificed in direct U.S.-Soviet talks.

A LARGE AGENDA

The agenda was a large one, even though Nixon insisted, with justice, that there was no agenda; anoyne at any time could bring up any topic that troubled or merely titillated him. The President's insistence that he was bent on serious, quiet, ask-me-any-thing talks was underscored in his Feb. 23 departure remarks:

* * *

"It is a trip, I wish to emphasize, which is not intended and will not settle all of the problems we have in the world. The problems we face are too difficult to be settled by what I would call the 'showboat' diplomacy."

* * *

Despite the disclaimer, Nixon piloted a successful showboat.

De Gaulle indicated he could get along with the U.S. President, as evidenced by a promise to visit Washington formally early in 1970 — a coup that eluded John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. The Pope gave his blessing. And no host complained, through leaks or otherwise, about lack of progress on Vietnam or the Middle East. Moreover, the Russians made no waves. In fact, a threatened Berlin crisis evaporated within days.

'U.S. WILL NEGOTIATE'

"In due course," Nixon told the NATO Council in Brussels, . . . the United States will enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union on a wide range of issues . . ."

The reaction was one of approval.

* * *

Whatever spell the President may have cast over Western European leaders traditionally immune to legerdemain, there has been no hint yet that any of them was disquieted by anything Nixon said, including prospects for an American-Soviet summit. The betting is that such will occur, possibly in 1969.

Instead of making a speech to report on his trip, Nixon chose a television-radio news conference. It was a wise choice since he already had been impressive with apparent candor—before-camera, speaking easily without notes.

MISSILE PROBLEM

On March 14 he held another news conference — this time to propound his recommended solution to the antiballistic missile controversy — a difficult choice between the LBJ proposal to try to defend major cities with nuclear-tipped missiles and counterarguments that escalation of the arms race with the Soviets would result — and furthermore, that the ABM has no proven reliability.

Nixon decided on a cautious compromise — a thin shield around two Minuteman offensive missile bases in sparsely populated regions instead of the Johnson plan to deploy ABMs in silk-stocking suburbs with vocal citizens' associations.

* * *

On this issue, if no other, the Nixon administration displayed neophite status. Secretary of State Rogers quietly contradicted Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. Whereas the Pentagon chief suggested the Nixon-renamed "Safeguard" ABM was needed to ward off a Soviet threat to wipe out America's offensive punch with a Pearl Harbor "first strike," Rogers saw no such threat.

* * *

The outcome of the issue is in doubt. Everyone seems agreed that, at this point, the Senate vote on whether to provide funds needed to make Safeguard a reality is debatable. But perhaps more important to Nixon, a senator named Edward M. Kennedy is establishing himself as the leader of the ABM opposition. With a great many voters undecided about ABM, however, there seems little reason to believe the issue will be paramount, if it's even remenbered, in 41 months.

HESITANT APPROACH

What may be better remembered is Nixon's hesitant approach in his first 90 days to pressing domestic issues. On civil rights the new administration speaks with a plentitude of often-discordant voices.

Where the enormous problems of the cities are concerned, there have been vagully phrased promises that things will get better sometime in the future. As for the unrest of those over 30 concerning the unrest of those younger, Nixon produced a statement that barely penetrated anyone's consciousness.

* * *

Then there's crime in the streets, possibly the biggest of campaign issues. The President, early on, came up with an anticrime program for the nation's capital — a program that hasn't lit any fires in Congress. His national plan was about 90 days coming.

It was with Congress, whence he sprang, that Nixon had his worst luck in the first 90 days.

CRIES OF 'FOUL'

When the President announced he was stripping old colleagues on the Hill of longstanding patronage powers over the nomination of postmasters, all in the cause of merit instead of politics, there were cries of "foul" from some fellow republicans who hadn't been consulted; others in Congress applauded quietly, conceding privately that Nixon had relieved them of a burdensome chore.

Among congressional Republicans, there also were complaints aplenty about the chief executive's tortoise-style pace in filling potential high level vacancies inside the executive branch — jobs the GOP stalwarts felt should be assigned quickly to deserving Republicans.

* * *

Nixon discovered there were Democrats in the bureaucracy who, presumably because of merit, deserved a place on his team. And when he failed to retain Democratic holdovers, Nixon took his time about filling vacancies. Several hundred remain after 90 days.

Even the State Department, it seems, is immune to the wholesale housecleaning promised by candidate Nixon. That was the cleansing "that wasn't even done during the Eisenhower administration."

A BIT OF TROUBLE

With the Democrats in control of Congress, Nixon had trouble with the first of his legislative proposals.

When the new President suggested a reduction of that portion of the national debt subject to congressional limitation, the Democrats, aided by the more conservative Republicans, slapped him down. The Democrats, thinking 41 months ahead, felt that acquiescense might make Nixon appear to be a debt-reducer.

Nixon also has encountered trouble with a compromise plan to congressional limitation, tne designed to ensure that presidents are elected by majority vote — a current issue because of the close call on Nov. 5 and the third party bid of George Wallace.

Whereas Nixon recommended simple legislation to divide each state's electoral college vote in proportion to the popular vote, he is finding strong sentiment in Congress for a Constitutional amendment that would scrap the misnamed "college" and provide for direct election of presidents. That issue, too, hangs in the balance.

TENUOUS HONEYMOON

For all these tribulations, Nixon at the three-month mark has managed to preserve a tenuous honeymoon with Congress — and one that quite probably will last longer with the voters.

Still he continues to move cautiously and with lowered voice. It's 41 months before the next presidential campaign, and judging from Nixon's pace in the first 90 days, he is not convinced the race will go to the swift.

* * *

While two potential Democratic opponents, Sens. Ted Kennedy and Edmund S. Muskie, dart about the countryside like sprinters, Nixon exhibits the unhurried stride of a tortoise.

* * *

One must assume the President spoke with deliberation aforethought, and explained a lot, when he told Republican campaign workers, the day after his inaugural, an anecdote about President James Buchanan, a one-term Democrat who felt the nation's highest office had come to him too late.

FRIENDS, ENEMIES

Driving from the Capitol to the White House, Nixon related, Buchanan told his carriage companions, in effect, "That all his friends that he wanted to reward had died, and all of his enemies that he hated and wanted to punish were now his friends."

Perhaps a one-term president by choice, but more likely a striver for two, Nixon presented a piano to Harry Truman last month.

* * *

The tortoise could turn out to be a possum.

He Draws Mixed Reviews

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are capsule comments on congressional assessment of President Nixon's first 90 days in office:

"It is not too early to note the slowness of the pace of the Nixon administration. The time for action is past due."—Assistant Democratic House leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

* * *

"After being tempest-tossed by violent, discordant, chaotic and confusing events in recent months and years. America ached for quiet and a period of calm. President Nixon's administration is providing that air of quietude."—House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan.

* * *

"More has been accomplished than a mere show of action through a barrage of ill considered, hastily enaction legislative panaceas that have proven to create more problems than they solve."—House Assistant Republican leader Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

"From now on crises at home and abroad are likely to crowd in upon him,"—Senate Democratic leaders Mike Mansfield of Montant and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"Congress and the country can now expect a rapid series of messages dealing with the various items in (his) program." — Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader.

'He Has Not Realized . . . The Domestic Crisis'

Humphrey Is Critical of Domestic Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidedent Nixon has not realized the gravity of the domestic crisis," says former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Of $4 billion in recent budget cuts ordered by Nixon, Humphrey said, $3 billion came from domestic programs and this was "indicative of the administration's attitude."

* * *

Humphrey said he is not sure the military budget — cut by $1 billion — is too large, but he felt the time had come for "an indepth inquiry" into Pentagon spending.

Humphrey spoke on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

* * *

As for his political future, he said, "I'm not dead, and there are a few others around . . . I'm not through with public affairs; but I'm not sure about public office." He said he has not decided on whether to run for the Senate in 1970 or seek the presidency again in 1972.

Swerves in Patrol Car's Path

Kidnaped Driver Foils Captor

GILROY, Calif. (AP) — A man who shot a policeman, then kidnaped a man and four girls at gunpoint, was captured Sunday night when his captive driver purposely swerved in front of a highway patrol car.

The gunman was wounded earlier in the day in San Francisco during an exchange of gunfire with the policeman, guarding the home of San Francisco Superior Court Judge Bernard Glickfeld.

The man then ran into the street, waved down a car at gunpoint, and forced the motorist to drive him for four hours before he was captured near Gilroy, about 70 miles south of San Francisco.

With the gunman holding a gun in the back seat, the driver, John Grima, 21, spotted a highway patrol car and deliberately drove in front of it, said Sgt. Doyle Stubblefield of the Gilroy police department.

TREATED AT HOSPITAL

Taken into custody was Grant Richard Powell, 24. He was taken to a hospital for treatment of a shoulder wound and returned to the Gilroy jail to await arrival of San Francisco officers.

The wounded officer, Jay Rogovoy, 30, was reported in fair condition at a hospital following surgery to remove bullets from his neck and rib cage.

Rogovoy told investigators the gunman pulled a pistol on him as he sat in his patrol car at the residence of Judge Glickfeld.

Rogovoy was forced at gunpoint to go to the front door and was ordered to kick it in. Instead, he grappled with the man, and was shot three times, but managed to shoot back as the gunman was fleeing, he said.

"There's no doubt the man was going in to get the judge," said one of Rogovoy's fellow officers.

Judge Glickfeld had been criticized for leniency in recently sentencing William August Morris, 22, to a year of weekends in jail following his conviction for rape. The judge said he handed down a light sentence because Morris had no prior police record.

Since the sentencing, the judge said he had received a number of threatening telephone calls.

The police guard was set up when the calls continued.

The district attorney has appealed the rape case in a bid for a stiffer sentence.

Strike Shuts Air Canada; Talks Stalled

MONTREAL (AP) — While Air Canada officials waited in another room, union negotiators conferred in a downtown hotel today about Labor Minister Bryce Mackasey's call for a resumption of talks to end the air line strike.

Air Canada officials said it was up to the union to resume talks because "we're the ones who broke off negotiations" last Tuesday.

The airline, which normally carries 18,000 passengers a day, was grounded just before midnight Sunday when 6,300 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers walked off the job to back up pay demands.

Union members across Canada last week rejected a company offer of a 23 per cent wage hike over three years, demanding a 20 per cent increase in a one-year contract. Wages under the old contract, which expired last Dec. 31, ranged from $2 to $3.97 an hour.

On Thursday Air Canada embargoed all shipments of live animals and perishable goods. It was extended to all cargo shipments Friday, and the last passenger flights ended around midnight.

Domestic and international carriers sought to provide alternative service. An American Airlines spokesman in Toronto said three flights were added to the regular eight on the Toronto-New York run.

State Socialists Hold Convention

DETROIT (UPI) — The Socialist Labor party of Michign held its annual spring convention here yesterday and, among a series of resolutions, declared that demonstrations, strikes and protests aimed "at obtaining concessions from capitalist rulers" invite greater oppression.

The convention also took steps to obtain the signatures to petitions which are required to have a place on the 1970 Michigan election ballot.

Iraq and Iran Seen at Brink of War

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iraq and Iran today were reported concentrating troops, guns and planes along the broad Shatt al Arab River between the two countries at the head of the Persian Gulf.

★ ★ ★

Their dispute over navigation rights was seen in Beirut and nearby Arab countries as the beginning of a struggle for power and influence in the oil-rich area from which British forces are scheduled to withdraw in 1971.

★ ★ ★

"Danger of War Between Iraq and Iran," was a typical headline reflecting Arab concern over the situation.

★ ★ ★

The leftist regime in Iraq bluntly rejected Iran's abrogation over the weekend of the 32-year-old treaty on navigation rights in the Shatt al Arab.

★ ★ ★

The border river, formed by the confluence of the Tigris and Euphrates, separates rich oil regions in both countries.

State Sailor Dies

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) —A car-truck collision has claimed the life of Edward A. Jensen, 21, of Midland, Mich., a naval airman stationed at the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station. Police said the accident occurred Saturday just south of the Corpus Christi city limits.

Battle Lines Drawn for State Lawmaking Struggles

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Legislature has virtually finished drawing battle lines for lawmaking struggles in its 1969 session.

★ ★ ★

And if veteran observers of the legislative scene can be believed, it'll be quite a war before it is over.

★ ★ ★

Out of the 2,937 bills poured into the hopper have emerged such fundamental conflicts as these:

★ ★ ★

Labor vs. management — Shall the state minimum wage go from $1.25 to $1.50, $1.60 or $2 per hour; hould a three-year limit be imposed on the filing of job-connected injury claims under the workmen's compensation act; should collective bargaining powers extend to migrant farm workers?

★ ★ ★

Public employe strikes — Shall police and firemen be subject to binding arbitration — what about schoolteachers; should they go unpunished under laws prohibiting public employe work stoppages?

Parochial — should Michigan 1,000 parochial schools receive non-religious subjects such as reading, writing and arithmetic?

★ ★ ★

Public schools — Shall their financing structure be shifted from major emphasis on local property taxes to state and local income taxes; what level of additional tax aid can the state afford; should giant districts as those in Detroit, Flint, Frand Rapdis and other urban centers be decentralized?

Higher education — Shall the medical schools at Michigan State, Michigan and Wayne State universities be expanded together or emphasis placed on one or two; what can be done about the $200-million tax fund increase sought by the other eight state-supported colleges and universities?

Water pollution and recreation — Should the Legislature, State Water Resources Commission or the communities themselves have the principal say on how the $335-million water pollution control bond money is spent; what were the voters promised last November with regard to the $100-million recreation bond program?

Crime — is there a need to relax restrictions against police use of electronic surveillence (bugging) devices; should the attorney general and county prosecutors be granted broader supoena power.

Welfare — What can be done to cut the state's steadily spiraling welfare costs; should a comprehensive study of the Michigan system be initiated this year, with a hope or belief of improving it next year?

New state capitol — What design should the future seat of state government embrace; shall funding for actual construction get under way this year; what, if any, limit should the Legislature set on the overall price tag?

Spending — To what degree shall the state yield to the money demands of its departments and agencies; should lawmakers stick to Gov. Milliken's $1.51-billion budget or go beyond it?

Taxation — Shall the state income tax go up; what about the cigarette tax; should a greater effort be made to improve administration of local property taxes?

'Colleges Refuse to Spend Gains'

NEW YORK (AP) — A Ford Foundation report says colleges and universitie had passed up vast sums of money by refusing to spend capital gains from endowments—such as the increased value of stocks—as they now spend dividends from endowment investments.

★ ★ ★

"Like the cautious servant in the parable of the talents," the report released Sunday said, "they have been well pleased to bury their funds, complacent in the belief that if their talents cannot multiply under their supervision, at least they will not be lost."

Armed Black Students End Take-Over at Cornell

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — Armed Negro students wearing bandoliers of ammunition led a march from Cornell University building after a signed agreement with school officials ended a 36-hour occupation.

The evacuation followed day-long talks Sunday between Cornell administrators and leaders of the campus Afro-American Society (AAS), during which the school agreed to take no action against the students involved.

* * *

Later, standing before a row of followers carrying rifles, shotguns and improvised spears, Edward Whitefield, president of the society, read the agreement from the front steps of the organization's headquarters.

"We only leave now with the understanding the university will carry out the agreement reached," Whitefield said. "Failure to do so will result in further confrontation."

100 ENTER HALL

The occupied building, Willard Straight Hall, was entered at 6 a.m. Saturday by about 100 Negro students. The hall houses the Cornell Student Union, but was being used as a weekend guest house for 30 adults attending the annual Parents Weekend.

* * *

The invading students ousted the parents and 40 maintenance workers.

* * *

Spokesmen for the society said the occupation was a protest against reprimands imposed last week on three members involved in campus disorders last winter.

* * *

White students led by some university athletes attemped to evict the occupying group Saturday night but were beaten back in a fist-swinging melee.

UNLOADED WEAPONS

The AAS leaders saidt he guns were brought into the building later for self-defense. Ithaca city police said the weapons The AAS-school agreement were not loaded, and therefore no city law was violated.

* * *

The AAS-school agreement calls for 24-hour protection of the AAS headquarters and of Wari House, a cooperative residence for Negro women which was the scene of a cross burning early Friday.

The university also agreed to assume responsibility for any damage to the Student Union. School officials described the damage as minor.

* * *

In addition to its promise not to act against anyone involved in taking the building, the school said it would help provide counsel if legal complaint were lodged by other parties as a result of the occupation.

Big Dry Lake Now Wet, Bigger

VISALIA, Calif. (AP) — The runoff from record winter snowfall in the Sierra range has turned normally dry Tulare Lake into California's biggest body of water.

Already the lake is 125 square miles in area. It is rising two inches a day and is expected to cover about 200 square miles by midsummer.

* * *

George Voll, spokesman for one of the big farming corporations which own most of the land in the rich basin, estimates prospective losses of barley, safflower, cotton and other crops at $40 million to $50 million.

Tulare Lake went dry in the 1890s. Since then, water flowing into the basin each year from the Kern, Kaweah, Tule and Kings rivers and smaller streams fed by melting snow usually has soaked into the soil or evaporated.

RECORD SIERRA SNOW

Last winter the Sierra snows packed a record 249 per cent deeper than normal.

Dams on the major tributary streams normally provide effective control of the spring freshets. But this year, says Brent Graham, manager of the Tulare Lake Basin Water Storage and Drainage District:

"If it all comes at once, the dams and other flood protections will render no aid. There would be about two million acre-feet of water headed toward Tulare Lake and no way to stop it."

Graham said that in practice he expected a slow four-month melt, with the lake reaching its crest in July.

Most communities in the basin are on high enough ground to be safe, and the water is expected to damage mainly croplands and farming structures such as cotton gins and storage bins.

However, there is danger to the town of Corcoran, which has 5,200 inhabitants, and a levee is under construction to ward off the water.

Wife Plays Mother Role at Expense of Husband

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: A very dear friend of mine has three children all in school. Her husband is begging her to go to Florida with him for a two-week vacation, but she's the type who "can't leave" her children.

Her husband works hard and he NEEDS a vacation, but she says she won't go without the children. He says WITH the children it's no vacation.

* * *

It's not like she'd be leaving them on a doorstep. She has good help in the house and her own mother has offered to move into the house to supervise, but no, this foolish mother won't go.

How can I convince her that it's her DUTY to go with her husband? She says if she goes, she'll worry. I am only thinking of her poor husband. A DEAR FRIEND

DEAR DEAR FRIEND: I'm thinking of her "poor husband," too. And I can't imagine anything worse than being with a martyred wife who vacations with her husband out of "duty." She'll have a rotten time because she's all set to worry. And he'll have a rotten time, too. She'll see to that. Stay out of it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am planning my Sweet Sixteen party and have run into a problem. My best girl friend is going with a boy who, quite frankly, I can't stand. I want her, but not him. Should I invite them both, or just my girl friend? PLANNING MY PARTY

DEAR PLANNING: You'll not have a "successful" party unless all the guests have a good time. If you don't invite your best friend's boyfriend, SHE won't have any fun. Invite him. At age 16, it's time you learned to "stand" people you "can't stand" occasionally to please good friends.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband's sister's daughter is getting married in June and they're having a big wedding for her.

I don't know if I'm wrong or right, but I'm not going. I didn't tell her that, I'm going to wait until the time comes.

Here's the reason:

Two years ago my daughter eloped. I was very unhappy about it, but all is forgiven now. I tried to help them get started so I bought them a refrigerator, sheets, pans, etc. My mother and friends gave her little things for housekeeping, too.

My husband's mother and sisters said they were going to buy her something and kept asking me what she "needed." I said she needed most everything and I told them what she already had as a guide.

* * *

Well, none of them gave her so much as a dish towel.

Now here's the way I look at it, what's good for my daughter is good for their daughter. In their words, an eye for an eye. Am I wrong? TURN ABOUT

* * *

DEAR TURN ABOUT: I think you are. The only thing wrong with the "eye for an eye" game is that it results in total blindness. Don't punish your sister-in-law's daughter for her mother's thoughtlessness.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: A woman recently asked you if she should "give" her husband a divorce, and you said no.

In the first place, anybody who has been through a divorce knows that it's not a "gift." It's pretty expensive. And in the second place, it's the judge who "gives" the divorce. In most states anyone who wants a divorce can get one.

* * *

When a man tells me that his wife won't "give" him a divorce, I laugh, because I know he really doesn't want one. I think any time a man ASKS his wife for a divorce, he wants her to say "no." If he really wanted one, he'd get one in spite of everything. Very truly yours,

A LADY LAWYER:
HUNTINGTON PARK, CAL.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: How does a person stop exchanging Christmas gifts with folks he's exchanged gifts with for years, but hardly ever sees? I don't mean relatives. I mean people who are "friends" but not that close anymore.

I don't want their gifts, and would rather not have to send them anything, but naturally I don't want any hurt feelings. HARTFORD

* * *

DEAR HARTFORD: Around Thanksgiving time, write them a note and tell them you are "thankful" for friends with whom you can be perfectly frank. Explain that this year you are "trimming" your Christmas gift list, and are sending cards; and unless they are very unreasonable, they will appreciate your good sense and will reciprocate accordingly.

Fishing Takes Etiquette Too Says Writer

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Of the Emily Post Institute

Now that the fishing season is about to start I thought you might be interested in the trip my husband and I took last summer. We flew to Anchorage and then to King Salmon and finally to Ugashek Lake for 10 days of unbelievable fishing on the wild and remote Alaskan Peninsula.

I wish I could tell you more about the limitless numbers of salmon and trout and char and grayling we caught, or about the infinite variety of game we saw, or the excitement and danger of being chased from our stream by a bigger bear than I ever want to see again.

These stories, unfortunately , belong in another column in another section of the paper. What I can tell you, however, is that the basic principles of etiquette, thoughtfulness and consideration for others are even more important in a remote fishing camp than in the most elegant dining room.

FRIENDS

We were accompanied by three friends, Ann and Bob Gardner, and Bob's brother, Bill, whose wife is not as ardent a fisherwoman as Ann and I. Together we discovered there are unwritten rules about good fishing manners which one learns by experience — either being at the receiving end of break-down in these rules, or by the reaction of your companions when you "goof."

Here are a few of the more common offenses — or how to win the booby prize in the popularity contest. By:

Without an invitation, casting into the hole from which someone has just pulled two huge trout.

When working up a stream, always hogging the lead so as to hit the virgin territory first. Leap-frog method is fairer; so that each person gets a chance at the unfished pools.

* * *

Casting near someone who has a fish on his line. When the fish, in its wild rushes, tangles itself on the second line the result is — disaster.

When fly-casting, snagging a companion on your back cast. The tiny hook rarely causes vast damage, but dislodging it from clothing or hair can be difficult, and from flesh — painful.

The other side of the coin — when walking behind a fly-caster, not waiting for him to complete his cast or letting him know you are passing.

Maine Vows for Pair

MRS. GARY A. BAKER

The First Parish Congregational Church of York, Maine, was the setting for the recent marriage of 2d Lt. Gary Arnold Baker, son of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Baker of Hartford Drive, to Jeanne Ethlyn Treadwell.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Treadwell, of York, Maine, chose a gown of candlelight peau de soie in A-line style, complemented with a pill box holding her fingertip illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white and yellow spring flowers.

Marvin Baker was best man for his brother. Other attendants were Mrs. Ronald K. Andrews, Nancy Treadwell, Pamella Pratt, Gail and Edward Small, William Treadwell and David Persinger.

A honeymoon in New York City followed the vows.

Why Grow Old?

By Josephine Lowman

When a woman is feeling "down in the dumps" she is very likley to think of herself as unattractive even though this has not been her attitude in the past. Her depression may cause her to lose interest in herself as an individual. Nothing seems worthwhile.

* * *

Often this state of mind is temporary. Such a mood just suddenly descends on us. We do not know why we feel as we do. All we know is that we are, at the same time, restless and bored and too depressed to do anything about it. It is an awful feeling but we can just grit our teeth and stand it if we know it will pass.

Usually if we do a little personal detective work on ourselves we can discover the cause or causes. Perhaps our depression was due to some discouragement, which while not serious, knocked our spirit down. Very often this mood is the result of fatigue or loss of sleep. The latter, plus a disappointment, can put you under.

CONSULT CALENDAR

When women have these days, they should always consult the calendar. Many of them feel discouraged or depressed or irritable a few days before their menstrual periods. This is called premenstrual tension. Husbands and children should be aware of this so that they can be understanding and a little forgiving.

Naturally a woman should keep track of the date so she will not take her depression or worries too seriously and can control her irritability. I think it is most important for husbands and wives to recognize this fact. I am sure that the majority of domestic squabbles take place at this time of the month, and that many things have been said at these itmes which would not have been said otherwise. No important matters should be discussed and no important decisions made on these dangerous days.

* * *

If you live in a state of chronic depression which lingers on and on, then you should take firm steps to remedy the situation. A complete phsyical examination is in order. Many physical conditions can cause fatigue which makes one listless. If this does not reveal the cause then take an honest look at your mental attitude.

* * *

Are you worrying constantly about some problem you do not know how to solve? If an immediate decision is not crucial, push the problem to the back of your thoughts, and just drift. Don't gnaw it and youself to pieces! After an emotional rest you will be able to approach it with a fresh viewpoint. BUT, give yourself a crutch or two until you get over the hump.

* * *

It is a fact that a few new clothes are of therapeutic value. A lovely new suit or dress, or even a new hat, can brighten the day. It makes you feel more attractive. Selfimprovement is one of the most successful aids in overcoming depression. If you are overweight, lose, but don't wait to buy the new clothes. Do that now!

Plate Rail Well Filled

NEWTONIA, Mo. (AP) — In the dining room of Mrs. Nan Williams, retired teacher, the plates are on the wall instead of on the table. That's where she displays her collection of more than 120 plates.

* * *

Many have come from students and former students in the area, where she taught for 40 years. Oldest is a cake plate that has been an heirloom in her mother's family for 150 years.

* * *

The collection includes state souvenirs, reproductions of paintings, historical items, birds, and a number from foreign countries.

Finger-Press Lace

When ironing lightly starched small girl dresses, play suits, or bonnets, skip the tiny lace trimmings. Then when the whole garment is ironed. shape and stretch the lace with your fingers while it is still damp. This prevents tearing it with the iron and makes the lace stand out prettily.

Marketing experts believe that young people directly influence the spending of at least $30 billion of their parents' money.

Lace Accents Gown

MRS. MAX E. HARRIS

Alencon lace appliques highlighted the silk organza gown worn Saturday by Karen Ann Harvey, when she became the bride of Max Edward Harris in Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church.

The Empire ensemble was fashioned with high rise neckline, cap sleeves and A-line skirt. Miniature carnations with ivy and Stephanotis comprised the bride's bouquet.

* * *

Honor attendants for their sister and brother were Mrs. Dean Lindstrom and Rex Harris with Kathy Harris as flower girl and Vaughn Lindstrom as ring bearer.

Other members of the wedding party were Mrs. Dale Harvey, Carol Bixler, Harold Leach, Kirk G. and Dale Harvey and Keith A. Harris.

Tasty Appetizer

A delightful hors d'oeuvre is made this way: sandwich two halves of a large pimiento-stuffed green olive with a piece of cheddar cheese. Wrap in bacon and bake in a very hot oven until bacon is crisp.

Cheese Strips Make Crosses

Checkerboard sandwiches make a hit with the family as well as guests. To make, remove crusts from slices of bread. Spread each slice generously with deviled ham. Cut cheese into strips about one inch wide.

Polly's Pointers

Gives Shortening Tip

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for Mr. E. P. H. who wanted to know how to shorten trousers with permanent press creases. First, turn the cuffs down and cut them off with pinking shears just above the seam line. Leave the cuffs intact and set aside. Cut the required amount off the legs after carefully measuring.

* * *

Sew the original cuff back on again by sewing behind the cuff, where the stitching cannot be seen. I use the zigzag stitch on my machine so the seam is flat. The cuff is to the inside and the pant leg to the outside when stitching. Be sure to have seam to seam and crease on crease when you stitch. You can only shorten by one or two inches if the legs are tapered because the legs will be wider than the cuffs. When finished, turn cuff up and tack at corners so it will stay in place. — MRS. H. D. B.

POLLY'S PROBLEM

DEAR POLLY — I have a gooseneck lamp in very good condition except for the metal shade, which is peeling and flaking on the outside, no doubt from the heat. Has anyone any ideas on how I can make this lamp presentable looking again?—MRS. E. C.

* * *

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Mr. E. P. H. how I shorten permanently pressed slacks. Untack the cuff and take a tuck on the inside of the trousers as large as needed but be sure the seam is hidden back of the cuff.

Tack cuff back in place. I have shortened quite a few trousers this way and they have always been satisfactory.—HENRIETTA

* * *

DEAR READERS — The above Pointer would probably not have quite as professional a look but might be better for growing boys whose pants would doubtless need letting down before they were worn out.—POLLY.

Now Campers Take Along All Comforts

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — If, when you think of camping, you think of struggling with wet matches to start a fire and twisting a can opener around a can of beans held between your knees, you're behind the times."

More than 40 million Americans now go camping, the National Parks Service estimates, and a good percentage of them take along most of the comforts of home.

* * *

Battery-powered refrigerators make possible widely-varied menus. Zip-top cans let the camper merely peel off tin covers. Air mattresses and disposable pillows make sleeping more comfortable.

You no longer have to know the nine prescribed Boy Scouts knots to tie a boat to the roof of your car for a camping trip. Craft that fold up for storage in less space than your spare tire requires now are available.

AXE 'OUT'

And no more hacking and chipping with a hand ax is needed for a supply of firewood. Thousands of campers take along lightweight chain saws that they use not only for fuel gathering but to fashion cutting blocks, rough furniture, tent poles and even rafts for the kids, according to Omark Industries.

The most likely time to forget to put the drain plug in your boat is the first time you launch it in the spring. Although checking to see that the drain plug is properly installed should be second nature to all boatmen, it is amazing how often boats are launched without them.

Jim: "Have you ever noticed how easy it is for a player to see his partner's mistakes and how hard it is to see his own?"

Oswald: "I know. My own practice has always been to watch for my own mistakes and to try to correct them but I still find it much easier to note my partner's errors. Look at this hand! I was South."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "I see your partner Blackwooded you into an impossible slam. How did you make it?"

Oswald: "It was a cinch as long as both opponents cooperated. I false-carded my ace of clubs at trick one and played my singleton spade. West ducked and I went up with dummy's king. Then I ruffed a spade, led a heart to the ace, ruffed another spade and played a second heart. East won and led a trump.

"I thought thigs over awhile and figured out the actual distribution of both defending hands. Then I ran off four trumps, discarding my last two hearts on dummy's last trumps. West had to hold his ace of spades and was squeezed out of his club protection."

★ ★ ★

Jim: "Very neat indeed. West would have beaten you easily if he had taken his ace of spades but East could also have done the job if he had just played another heart when he was in with the queen instead of leading trump."

Oswald: "That's just what we were talking about earlier. East was very bitter about his partner's error. In fact, when the game was over he wanted to know if I had ever seen a worse play than West's."

Jim: "When you were my age, you might well have told him that his play was bad also. I assume this time you simply agreed with him and did not point out his own mistake."

What do you do now?

A—Just bid two hearts. You hope that your partner will bid again.

Man Faces Hearing in Hospital Slaying

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A suburban Detroit man faced arraignment on a murder charge today in what police said was a love-triangle slaying in a lounge at the University of Michigan Hospital.

★ ★ ★

John Witt, 50, of Taylor Center was ordered held without bond Saturday night several hours after Thames Karademos, 46, of Wyandotte was shot to death at the hospital.

★ ★ ★

Police said Witt found his estranged wife, Dorothy, sitting with Karademos in the lounge and opened fire with a 45-caliber revolver. The three had gone to the hospital to visit the Witt's paraplegic 15-year-old son, Jeffrey, who is seriously ill with pneumonia.

Lawmakers Hit for Pay Efforts

CADILLAC (AP) — A Cadillac lawmaker says legislators should stop "looking for ways to increase their salaries and expense accounts." Republican State Sen. John Toepp said Saturday that House Democratic Floor Leader George Montgomery reportedly wants to increase the $3,000 expense account now provided legislators.

★ ★ ★

"This $3,000 for expenses includes $10 a day for food, and if you can't live on $10 a day, there's something wrong," Toepp said. He urged legislators to show "some compassion for the taxpayers."

Hospital Robbed

DETROIT (AP) — A lone gunman held up Harper Hospital Sunday and escaped with about $1,000 police said. The bandit showed a clerk his revolver, placed a bag on a counter and ordered him to put all the bills in the bag.

New Broadway Conductor Unlikely Candidate for Job

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Wheeler, the 25-year-old who conducts the orchestra in the Broadway musical, "Promises, Promises," is a most unlikely candidate for the job.

He doesn't want to be a conductor. He hates Broadway. And he was hired originally as dance arranger for the show, a job he describes by saying, "After opening night, my job was all over."

Wheeler is one of Broadway's youngest conductors. He is also one of the few Negroes to conduct a Broadway musical and is believed to be the only one ever to have led the orchestra on opening night.

Perched on a stool in his crowded West Side apartment, Wheeler explained that he had never conducted before and, in fact, didn't really want to work in a Broadway show.

STYLISTIC COMPOSER

"I took the job because it was a great opportunity to do Broadway—which all my life I have literally hated because it was so far behind—and still work with a composer who was aware of what's happening stylistically," he said.

Burt Bacharach, the composer, moved Wheeler up to conductor because he liked the young man's piano playing.

* * *

Wheeler's main interests are playing and composing. "I hope I don't start getting a lot of offers to conduct other shows," he said.

Asked when he first became interested in music, Wheeler, a native of St. Louis, laughed and said, "I can start at 8 when I started taking piano or I can start at 4 when I started playing around with the piano. At 5, I was playing for my Sunday school class."

MUSIC STUDIES

He studied piano, with the aid of several scholarships, through high school, then continued his music studies at Howard University in Washington, D.C. After graduation in 1965, he worked in Washington nightclubs.

He went to the Manhattan School of Music on a student loan and worked at odd jobs until he was hired by CBS as program director for their FM radio stations.

But Wheeler no longer felt like a musician. "One Monday I didn't come in to work. Tuesday I came in and gave my notice," he said.

Between leaving CBS in February 1968 and getting the job with "Promises, Promises" in August, Wheeler free-lanced to pay the rent.

AP Wirephoto

HE HATES BROADWAY—Harold Wheeler, conductor of "Promises, Promises," works at the piano in his New York apartment. Wheeler, originally hired as the dance arranger for the Broadway musical, doesn't really want to be a conductor and says he hates Broadway.

Two new apples have been developed in New York State. Named Spijon and Jonagold, they are larger in diameter than most present apples, firm, juicy, delicious and red-cheeked.

Missing Bell Is Recovered

HARRISON (AP) — The mysterious travels of a 400-pound silver-plated bell have finally ended.

The bell is under lock and key in the antiques shop of Richard Foutch of Harrison.

Foutch was returning from a Florida vacation when he saw a trailer pass him going in the other direction. "There goes my bell," he remarked jokingly to his wife.

On returning home, he found it may well have been his bell—it was missing.

* * *

Since then, Foutch and the Clare County sheriff's office received numerous letters reporting sightings of the bell, always heading south.

Sheriff's officers said they got an anonymous call recently saying the bell was an a railroad grade five miles north of Harrison. The bell was where it was reported to be, with the only damage a few rough edges on the bottom.

Mackinac Bridge Scrip Policy Is Called a Success

ST. IGNACE (AP) — The Mackinac Bridge Authority has announced that its policy of selling scrip for Mackinac Bridge crossing since fares were slashed 60 per cent on Jan. 1, 1969, has been successful in its first quarter of operation.

The scrip replaced two previous systems which used credit or charge plates.

The scrip books, containing $15 worth of tickets, are usually sold through the mail, primarily to large trucking, and other commercial, firms.

Swollen New England, Southern Rivers Pose Threat

By The Associated Press

Swiftly rising rivers, swollen by heavy rains, posed new threats to New England and the South today while flood control workers along the rampaging Mississippi held their breaths, hoping newly built levees would hold.

In northern New England, some rivers began rising above flood stage over the weekend after a heavy rainfall.

* * *

The U.S. Weather Bureau in Hartford, Conn., issued a warning of flooding later "on many major rivers in New England."

Roads were closed by flooding in Vermont. Telephones in Westminster, Vt., were knocked out when water damaged a cable under a bridge over the Connecticut River.

5 FEET IN 24 HOURS

The Connecticut was reported to have risen five feet in 24 hours at White River Junction. A flood watch was set up throughout the state.

New Hampshire and southern Maine are also menaced by rising waters.

In the South, flooding was predicted today along the Savannah River at Augusta, Ga.

Along the Chattahoochee River in Blountstown, Fla., waters rose two feet above the 15-foot flood stage. The flood was expected to crest at 20 feet Tuesday.

MISSISSIPPI CONTROLED

The situation was, for the most part, under control along the Mississippi, which began its rampage last week.

With the precautionary evacuations out of the way and levee construction virtually completed, Wisconsin settled down to a week of high-water watch in confidence.

* * *

James Gruentzel, deputy administrator of the state's Division of emergency government, said the levees should hold, unless unexpectedly heavy rain upsets the high-water forecasts.

More than 600 Wisconsin residents have been moved from dwellings along the Mississippi banks with as many as 100 more ready to move if necessary.

ENGINEERS DEFEATED

Army engineers were admitting defeat at another point on the Mississippi. At Genoa, Wis., efforts to build a levee around a federal fish hatchery were abandoned.

The young fish, which were to have been protected by the levee, were hauled from their pools and shipped out of harm's way.

* * *

The Souris River, locally called the Mouse, continued to batter Minot, N.D., in lionlike fashion.

The Souris swelled to the highest level in 65 years at Minot Sunday with the worst still to come.

11,864 FLEE

The swirling waters forced 11,864 residents from 2,544 homes in the city of 35,000.

The seven-mile-wide town has been cut in half, with U.S. 83 linking the two sections closed to all but emergency traffic. Other traffic took a 20-mile detour around the floodwater.

* * *

The rain-swollen Wisconsin River—another source of official concern—is a major tributary of the Mississippi and could affect the level of the big river in several industrial centers in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

Floods elsewhere in the northern Midwest were reported receding.

* * *

The Red River, still a lake from Fargo to beyond Grand Forks along the North Dakota-Minnesota border, was receding along most of its length. The Big Sioux in South Dakota, the Minnesota in that state and the Des Moines in Iowa were no longer a threat.

In all, the floods drove 19,000 persons from their homes and caused damage estimated at $31 million in the Dakotas and Minnesota.

Demand for gasoline in the U.S. this year is expected to be 5.5 million barrels a day.

2 Planes Avert Aerial Collision

Private Craft Glances Off AF Jet in Texas

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — A twin-engine private plane glanced off an Air Force T37 jet trainer in a near-miss of a head-on collision at 20,500 feet.

A three-foot length of the jet's vertical fin was sheared away in the accident Sunday and a big hole knocked through its Plexiglass cockpit canopy.

* * *

The private plane's instrument panel was torn loose, jamming the controls.

Both made it safely to El Paso International Airport, four miles away, with nobody seriously injured.

TWO PILOTS

The pilot of the jet was Capt. William Norton, with Lt. Gilbert Harder as copilot. Both are from Webb Air Force Base, Big Spring, Tex.

The pilot of the private plane was Gary Garner of Salt Lake City, on an aerial mapping mission with Peter D. Christenson of Alpine, Utah, as photographer.

* * *

"I saw the jet coming at me lined up dead center," said Garner. "I just had time to pull back the control wheel. We went up and over him. Our underbelly hit his canopy and then our nose hit his vertical stabilizer.

"Christenson and I knocked our control panel back into place and came on in."

Commented Carter Porter, superintendent of maintenace at the airport:

"We have four people here who believe that God is not dead."

Shipping Starts

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — The first saltwater vessel of the 1969 shipping season arrived in Windsor over the weekend. It is the 581-foot Danish Himmerland, which carried 4,000 tons of steel pipe from Italy.

Hart: Military Could Soak Up Viet Savings

DETROIT (AP) — Any money saved by a Vietnam cease-fire could be quickly gobbled up by new military systems that are already in the works, Sen. Philip A. Hart said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery at Mercy College, the Michigan Democrat said the war's $20 billion annually might be quickly diverted to such systems as Minuteman III, the antiballistic missile, multiple-head intercontinental ballistics and new fighter-interceptors.

Hart, a leader of the Senate's anti-ABM forces, said "Every expensive new military venture ought to get the same kind of scrutiny" to which the ABM was subjected.

* * *

He said the "defense establishment has toted up $10.5 billion in white elephant projects over the past 15 years, much of it on various missile and aircraft systems that turned out to be unworkable or inneffective."

He added: "We are at that point in history where we ought to be as sensitive about military waste as we are about dollars misspent domestically."

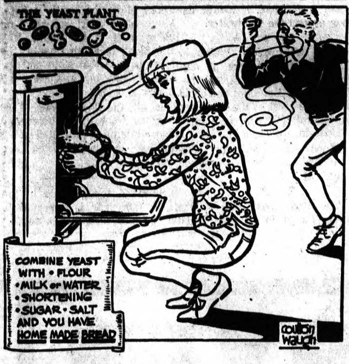
A Junior Editors Quiz About YEAST



THE YEAST PLANT
COMBINE YEAST WITH • FLOUR • MILK or WATER • SHORTENING • SUGAR • SALT AND YOU HAVE HOME MADE BREAD coulton waugh

QUESTION: How does yeast help in breadmaking?

★ ★ ★

ANSWER: Yeast is a tiny one-celled fungus plant, shown in the upper magnified view as it buds to produce new cells. Yeast can be kept as a compressed cake, with the plants dormant. When such a cake is moistened with lukewarm water, the moisture and warmth start the plants into action.

When making bread, yeast is added to flour and water. It changes the starch in the flour to sugar, which is then turned to alcohol and carbon dioxide gas. This process is called fermentation.

The gas bubbles up through the dough, causing it to rise in a fluffy, porous mass. Gluten, an elastic material in the dough, encloses the gas bubbles.

As the bread is baked, the alcohol and gas evaporate and the yeast plants are destroyed. But the light fluffy structure made by the gas bubbles remains. This allows the heat to thoroughly penetrate and cook the dough.

Making homemade bread is simple if you do it right. We recommend following cookbook directions closely and getting mother's help and advice.

Allegan Has a Problem: How to Use $2 Million

ALLEGAN (UPI) — The City Council has a problem — what to do with $2 million.

The council will take up the subject tonight. The question involves how to provide for the disposition of money coming from the proceeds of the 1965 sale of the local power plant to Consumers Power Co.

At the moment, the council can't do anything with the funds. A citizen's suit to stop the sale is still pending before the U.S. Court of Appeals. In the meantime, the money is earning interest at the rate of $109,000 a year.

A majority of council members lean toward a charter amendment which would require that the principal be kept in tact and the interest made available for municipal purposes — if and when the funds are released.

Charges Wildlife Expert

'Pesticides Peril Bald Eagles'

CADILLAC (AP) — A wildlife expert has blamed pesticide contamination for the growing disappearance of the American bald eagle.

★ ★ ★

Sergay Postupalsky of the University of Wisconsin says pesticides such as DDT and dieldrin are attacking the calcium metabolism in the birds' reproductive organs. He says thay cause the birds to lay eggs with shells too thin to support a living embryo.

★ ★ ★

Postupalsky, in Cadillac last week said, this was first noticed about 1947 after the introduction of DDT and dieldrin. He said he found one bald eagle's nest on the southern shore of Lake Superior containing an egg with no shell — just the embryo.

★ ★ ★

He said the birds are getting the pesticides by eating Great Lakes fish. While bald eagles in other areas are having about 50 per cent success in reproduction, those in the Great Lakes region have about 10 per cent success.

★ ★ ★

The ecologist said in a nationwide study of 56 bodies of bald eagles, all but one had high concentrations of pesticides. He added that Michigan's population of the bald eagle has dropped from about 300 to 400 breeding pairs in the 1940s to about 100 breeding pairs now.

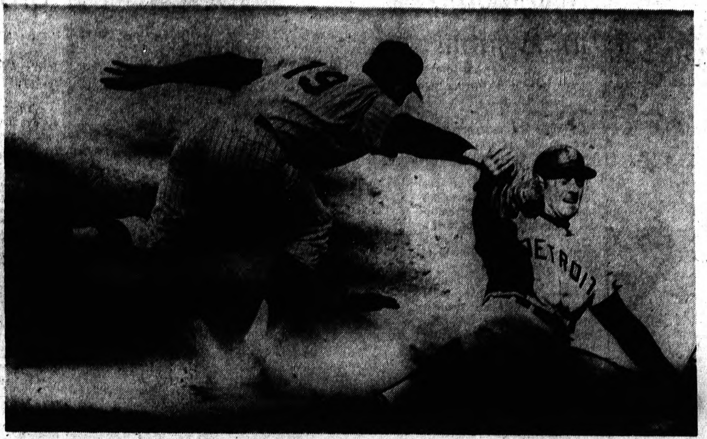
Wilson Ends Drought Against Yankees

But New York Whips Tigers in Nightcap, 2-0



AP Wirephoto

TAGGING A TIGER—Detroit Tigers' Dick McAuliffe is tagged out by New York Yankee pitcher Fritz Peterson at first base in a fifth-inning rundown during the first game of a doubleheader in New York yesterday. Peterson caught McAuliffe leaning toward second and fired to first baseman Joe Pepitone to trap the Tiger off base. Tigers won this one, 5-2, but dropped the nightcap, 2-0.

NEW YORK (UPI) — After seven dry years at pitching in Yankee Stadium, Earl Wilson was a little hungry. He even started the winning rally with a single.

Denny McLain waited for seven innings while holding the Yankees to two runs but rookie Bill Burbach kept the Tigers flailing air.

* * *

The Tigers split a doubleheader with the Yankees Sunday, taking the opener 5-2 but dropping the nightcap 2-0.

Wilson started the Tigers' winning rally in the seventh inning of the first game with a one-out single off Yankee starter Fritz Peterson. After Mickey Stanley singled, Lindy McDaniel replaced Peterson. Al Kaline, back from a strep-throat inspired one-for-17 drought, singled and scored Wilson.

FINISHING TOUCH

New York infielder Roy White overthrew the plate and Stanley also scored. Norm Cash applied the finishing touch, a home run that scored Kaline ahead of him.

Wilson, who notched his first win of the season, had not won in Yankee Stadium since 1962. He allowed eight hits and both Yankee runs in eight innings. Don McMahon came in in the ninth for the save.

* * *

"I had no idea it was that long," Wilson said of his seven-winless years at the stadium. "I've always pitched pretty well against these guys. But it sure is good to get that first win of the season. It takes the pressue off you."

The Yankees scored in the first inning on a triple by Horace Clark and a single by Jerry Kenney. The Tigers tied it in the second on singles by Cash, Willie Horton and Don Wert. New York regained the lead in the sixth on a homer by Joe Pepitone, his fourth of the year.

INITIAL VICTORY

In the second game, Burbach, who picked up his first major league victory, pitched against McLain where it hurts — by taking away the big hitting support the Tigers' 31-game winner usually gets. It was the second time the Yankees have shut down the Tiger bats, marking McLain's two losses against two wins.

"Denny pitched well," manager Mayo Smith said afterwards. "But like I said the other day, it doesn't figure that Denny is going to get as many runs as he did a year ago."

* * *

McLain also got caught minding the mound when he should have been minding first base in the third inning when the Yankees scored their first run.

Burbach socked one over the bag and McLain just stood on the mound as Cash knocked the drive down, then had no one to throw to back at first.

"Denny told me he thought Burbach had fouled it back," Smith said. "I believe him. When a ball is hit that way, you'll see the pitcher instinctively make a break, but Denny just stood there."

Burbach eventually scored after Clark's hit-and-run single and a grounder into a force play by Kenney. The Yankees added an insurance run in the sixth when Kenney singled, stole second and scored on White's single.

THIRD PLACE

The split with the Yankees and Saturday's rain out game left the World Champions in third place of the American League's East Division, a full game behind division-leading Baltimore.

Joe Sparma was to go for his second victory tonight at Washington.

No-Hitter Paying Off

MONTREAL (UPI) — To mark the outstanding no-hit performance of Montreal pitcher Bill Stoneman, a car was presented to him Sunday between games of the Chicago doubleheader.

Rookie Makes Bid to Replace 'Hawk'

By The Associated Press

The Hawk had hardly said goodby when the Yazoo Kid made a bid for the replacement role.

Rookie Gerry Moses knocked in five runs — four with a grand slam homer — to power Boston to a 9-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians Sunday.

* * *

The 6-foot-3, 205-pound catcher from Yazoo City, Miss., unleashed his production just a few hours after Ken "Hawk" Harrelson announced he would rather give up baseball than report to Cleveland to complete Saturday's six-man deal.

In other American League games, Chicago checked Seattle 3-2 and 13-3 thanks to a pair of timely homers by Bill Melton; Minnesota socked California 12-1; Kansas City trimmed Oakland 7-5, after dropping the opener of a doubleheader 5-1, and Baltimore defeated Washington 2-1 before losing 5-2.

Moses, who had two homers in 18 trips during a brief trial with the Red Sox last year, unloaded his bomb — his first of the season — in a six-run second inning. He doubled home another run in the eighth.

STRONG RELIEF

Meanwhile, rookie right-hander Ray Jarvis yielded only two hits after coming on in relief in the first inning.

But what was going on on the field was overshadowed by protests from some fans, miffed over the Red Sox' attempt to deal off the popular Hawk.

Several fans carried signs protesting the trade and chants of "We want the Hawk" sounded intermittently through the game.

* * *

Boston dealt Harrelson and left-handed hurlers Dick Ellsworth and Juan Pizzaro for pitchers 'Sonny' Siebert and Vincente Romo, plus Indians' catcher Joe Azuce.

At the request of the American League office, the other five players involved in the trade set out Sunday's game, pending some sort of a settlement.

Melton cracked an upper deck homer in the 10th inning of the first game to give the White Sox their victory, then tagged another to spark a splurge of four second-game homers.

Ron Hansen's three-run shot capped a five-run fourth in the nightcap and Duane Josephson, Buddy Bradford and Melton all homered in an eight-run sixth.

LEADOFF HOMER

In the opener, Wayne Comer's leadoff homer in the sixth permitted the Pilots to move into a 2-2 tie, setting the stage for Melton's sixth-inning clincher.

Cardinals Still Unable to Find Home Formula

By United Press International

Red Schoendienst says he isn't worried, but his St. Louis Cardinals are struggling through one of the costliest slumps in baseball history.

Their inability to win at home already has cost them the 1968 World Series and the same affliction is hampering their chances at this year's National League pennant.

* * *

The Cardinals fell before the New York Mets 11-3 Sunday, marking their 10th consecutive loss in St. Louis. They lost their last three home appearances to Detroit in the World Series, including the pivotal sixth and seventh games, and are winless in all seven St. Louis starts this season.

Only a better than average (4-1) road record is keeping the Cardinals out of the Eastern Division cellar, but they're still 6½ games behind the league-leading Chicago Cubs, who split a doubleheader at Montreal Sunday, winning the first game 6-3 but dropping the nightcap 4-2. St. Louis is a game behind the expansion Expos and only a half-game ahead of last-place Philadelphia, which beat Pittsburgh 7-1.

CAN'T GET STARTED

"I'm not worried yet," Schoendienst said after Sunday's loss. "We've been in every ballgame except three. We can't get started. The boys aren't down, they just can't get going."

Asked if he was ready to read the riot act, the Cardinal manager said, "No, I try to tell them to do the best they can, and as long as they go out and try, I'm not worried. It's too early in the season."

However, just a few days ago, Schoendienst told his players: "You can lose only so many games a season if you're going to win the pennant, and we're losing more than our share."

ABRUPT END TO GOOD DAY — Outfielder Tom Tippen grimaces in pain as his Waterford Township teammate Mike Sheldon (left) and coach Bud Thomason help him off the field Saturday afternoon following a leg injury sliding into second base. Tippen already had two singles and two runs batted in the first game of a twin bill sweep over Flint Northwestern. He hurt his knee beating a close force play at second.

Rolls 300 Game

Teen-Age Bowler 'Groovy'

A cool-headed teen-ager at Rochester High School shows promise of becoming one of the best young bowlers to develop in the North Oakland County area if recent performances are any indication.

Well-built 18-year-old Al Thomas was in the groove Saturday morning as he rolled a 300 game during the Youth Bowling Association junior league at North Hill Lanes just two weeks after hitting a startling 223 triplicate in the same league.

* * *

Although bowling in just the one league each week, the blond 6-foot-3 195-pounder carries a 187 average as his team's anchorman. In becoming what is believed-to-be the youngest sanctioned bowler with a perfect game locally, Al showed very little excitement over his feat.

AL THOMAS
Rolls 12 Straight Strikes

LITTLE NERVOUS

"I was a little nervous in the ninth frame. I had a 'Brooklyn' that carried and it kinda loosened me up," he reported. "I didn't feel a thing on the last two balls."

* * *

Adding to the pressure was the fact he needed a double in the tenth to give the team the game and help clinch the season title.

* * *

After an opening 210 and the 300, he tailed off to a 172 for a robust 682 series—falling two marks shy of the season high series for the youth circuit which is sponsored by Coca-Cola.

* * *

Al has been bowling for six years after being introduced to the sport in school. The husky right-hander also is a pitcher for the high school baseball team.

MORE EXCITEMENT

The teen-ager didn't provide all of the excitement at North Hill last week. Paul Dorey nearly beat him to the pocket Thursday night.

* * *

The 175-average member of the National Twist Drill League rolled a 299 game when his last delivery left the seven-pin on a Brooklyn hit.

It is the second 299 game sanctioned at the establishment this season. Dorey finished with a 667 series.

Bruising Bruins Win, 3-2, to Square Series With Habs

BOSTON (UPI) — It's taken a long while but the brash Boston Bruins figure they're finally ready to bump the haughty Montreal Canadiens from atop the National Hockey League heap.

Boston needs two big victories to do it.

* * *

The Bruins, hockey's version of baseball's old "Gashouse Gang," tipped the Canadiens, 3-2, Sunday to deadlock their best-of-seven eastern final playoffs at two wins apiece.

The teams are slated to meet in Montreal Tuesday night and back in Boston Thursday when, coach Harry Sinden believes, his club will eliminate the Habs from the Playoffs.

"The momentum has swung our way," the head man of hockey's roughest team said following a wild Boston Garden victory in which the Bruins led, 2-1, for almost two full periods but nearly fell before Montreal's patented comeback rush.

NOISY PLACE

Boston Garden is a noisy place at best but it went wild when stellar young Bruin defenseman Bobby Orr beat reserve Montreal goalie Rogatien Vachon for what proved to be the winning goal with 107 seconds left to play.

The Habs promptly pulled Vachon out of the net and sent six skaters raging into the Boston end, Serge Savard scoring with 54 seconds left.

* * *

The Bruins worked out the remaining time and are now at least even-up with the defending cup champions.

Sinden, who perhaps incautiously allowed that the Canadiens would win no more games after taking a pair of suddendeath verdicts in Montreal, stuck to his guns after the series was tied.

"I've felt all along that we could win it," he said. "We were the underdogs when we started but we've got our momentum going now."

VOCALLY UPSET

Canadien coach Claude Ruel, admittedly and vocally upset with the officiating of referee Lloyd Gilmour, agreed it is a "new series now" and took a pot shot at Boston's rock 'em, sock 'em style with the charge "They made their name on their muscle."

But even Ruel had to admit his own team's mistakes cost Montreal the fourth game of the series because two the Boston goals, by Eddie Westfall and Derek Sanderson, came while the Canadiens were skating with a man advantage.

Sanderson, perhaps the boldest of the bold Bruins, paid a stiff price for his first-period goal when he suffered a charley horse that left him a "doubtful" status for the Tuesday game.

* * *

Sanderson was joining a fairly lengthy injury list since Montreal Gump Worlsley was replaced by Vachon even before the game after suffering a hand injury. The Canadiens called up rookie Tony Esposito, younger brother of Boston star Phil Esposito, to sit in as their spare goalie.

Also hurt in the Sunday battle were Montreal's Bobby Rousseau with a leg injury, John Ferguson with a head cut, and Claude Provost with a sore wrist. Boston previously had lost winger Wayne Cashman with a broken hand.

St. Louis Blues Awaiting Finals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Winners of eight straight Stanley Cup playoff games, the St. Louis Blues today await the final National Hockey League series.

They'll face the winner of the Boston Montreal set deadlocked at two games apiece. St. Louis belted the Los Angeles Kings Sunday night 4-1 for a 4-0 series sweep.

* * *

Meanwhile, the future of Red Kelly as coach of the Kings is in doubt. His two-year contract will be up this summer and general manager Larry Regan said the situation will be assessed in the interim.

Rumors are that Kelly won't be rehired. He said only, "I'm not assessing my future right now. I'm not saying anything about my future."

ANOTHER CHANCE

Coach Scotty Bowman of St. Louis declared, "We like to get this chance again in the finals. We're better than last year. We must have something to win eight straight."

The Blues, who lost to Montreal four straight a year ago, wiped out Philadelphia and Los Angeles to win the West Division playoffs this time.

"The rest before the Los Angeles series really helped us," Bowman continued. "Now we'll have another week's rest."

* * *

The Kings scored the opening goal before the 7,388 at the Forum when Eddie Joyal slammed a 10-footer past Jacques Plante with the game just 1:48 old.

That 1-0 lead held up about 10 minutes before Terry Crisp scored for the Blues and the period ended 1-1.

"I think we got a good lift from that first goal of ours," Bowman said.

St. Louis scored twice in the second stanza with Red Berenson and Gary Sabourin tallying. It was Berenson's seventh goal of the playoffs and the sixth for Sabourin.

Camille Henry tallied in the third period on a power play when three Blues converged on Kings goalie Gerry Desjardins.

Ex-Champs Ready to Roll in ABC

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Pete Tountas, the defending champion, was joined by former titlist Ray Bluth early today in the opening phases of match play of the American Bowling Congress' annual Masters tournament.

Tountas, with a four-game series of 918, defeated Roger Weimer of La Crosse, Wis., who had 721. Bluth, of St. Louis, who won the Masters 10 years ago, defeated Jack Traver of Detroit.

* * *

Eliminations in the championship bracket continue until two men survive for Wednesday's title match. There were 58 qualifiers, plus six seeded entries.

Runners Look Sharp as Wolverines Engage in Head-Knocking

ANN ARBOR (AP) — There were several bright spots for Michigan Head Coach Bo Schembechler as the Wolverines held their first full scale scrimmage of spring football practice.

The Michigan first string blue team scored a 54-0 triumph over the second string white team Saturday and Schembechler said he was pleased with the performance of several players.

Garvie Craw scored four touchdowns and sophomore Glen Doughty of Detroit scored on a 54-yard run, a portion of more than 100 yards he gained in rushing for the day. Linebacker Ed Moore ran 42 yards for a touchdown after intercepting a pass.

MSU Busts Michigan 9 in Twinbill

EAST LANSING (UPI) — The jinx broken, their arch-rival twice busted and the Michigan State Spartans are ready to take on all comers in this season's Big Ten baseball fling.

* * *

For the first time in four years the Michigan Wolverines sandlot magic didn't jell Saturday as Michigan State brewed a spell of its own to take a doubleheader in the opening of the conference season.

* * *

Previously, Michigan had jabbed MSU with six straight losses, two each in 1966, and 1968. But sophomore Tim Bograkes' bases-loaded walk in the seventh inning notched a 5-4 first game victory and then the Spartans scored the most runs they have ever against a Wolverine team for a 18-3 second game scourging.

* * *

The twin win gave the Spartans a 14-5 record for the season while Michigan sank to 4-13.

UNEARNED RUNS

Spartan Mickey Knight gave up four unearned runs in the opening inning of the first game but didn't allow a hit the rest of the way although Phil Fulton picked up credit for the win for an inning of relief. Losing hurler Jim Burton walked Bograkes on a 3-2 pitch as Michigan State scored twice in the final frame to win.

* * *

Michigan pitchers walked 12 batters and their fielders betrayed them with five errors as each team had nine hits in the second game. The Wolverines, after losing four star players to major league clubs, easily were the weaekst they've been in years.

German Tanker Breaks Record

BONN, Germany (AP) — Hans Fassnacht of West Germany became the first man to swim the 400-meter freestyle event in under four minutes when he was timed in 3:59.7 minutes Sunday during an international swimming meet.

* * *

Swimming on a 25-meter course, Fassnacht edged America's Mike Burton, who clocked 4:03.2 for the distance.

TOP SCORER — Clarence Millen is alone as he heads for the finish line while anchoring Oxford's 880 relay team to victory over Waterford Township and West Bloomfield Saturday. Millen was the high individual scorer in the meet, won by Oxford, as he captured the 100, 220 and shot put.

Big Payoff for Player

RANCHO LA COSTA, Calif. (AP) — Gary Player went flying home to South Africa today for a three-week vacation from golf and was armed with $30,000 to finance the holiday.

"From tee to green, this is the finest I've ever played," the tough-minded little Johnnesburg rancher said Sunday after winning golf's $150,000 Tournament of Champions.

* * *

He had a final round 72 for 284, four strokes under par for four trips over the demanding 7,114-yard, par 72 La Costa Country Club course.

Lee Trevino, the wise-cracking U.S. Open champion, was ambushed by a pair of bogeys on the back nine, fell out of a share of the lead and finished in second, two strokes back at 286. He had a final round 74.

Arnold Palmer, with a 71, and Dave Stockton, 70, tied for third at 289.

Writing to a friend, Dwight D. Eisenhower once mentioned Winston Churchill, George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Robert E. Lee as great men, and then went on to establish his own scale for weighing greatness.

"It embraced," as Relman Morin writes in his new biography, EISENHOWER: A GAUGE OF GREATNESS," the qualities of vision, integrity, courage, understanding, and the ability to communicate."

You will be interested in Morin's judgement on how Eisenhower measured up to high standards that he himself set.

This is just one of the insights that Morin, a two - time Pulitzer prize winner, supplies into unknown and little known aspects of life of the war time commander and peace time president.

Frazier, Ziggy in Title Battle

HOUSTON (AP) — Heavyweight challenger Dave Zyglewicz says "I want that title," Champion Joe Frazier answers "all I can say is I'm going to beat him."

A sellout crowd of 11,000 is expected to watch Zyglewicz battle Frazier for his share of the title Tuesday night in a scheduled 15-round bout at Sam Houston Coliseum.

* * *

"I think I'm faster than Ziggy and I don't get hit as much unless I fool around," said Frazier, recognized as champion in five states, Mexico and Argentina.

Frazier, 24, the 1964 Olympic champion from Philadelphia, is a heavy favorite against Zyglewicz, a Watervliet, N.Y., native who moved to Houston several years ago.

Lakers to Meet Celtics in NBA Playoff Finals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "We need Elgin Baylor against Boston," declared big Wilt Chamberlain and it appeared the Los Angeles Laker captain has snapped out of his slump at the opportune time.

Baylor scored 29 points in the 104-96 victory over Atlanta on Sunday afternoon. That sends the Lakers against the Celtics of Boston on Wednesday night in the first meeting of the best-of-7 final National Basketball Associatoin playoff series.

* * *

In addition to dropping 14 of his 18 field goal attempts and adding one free throw, Baylor grabbed 11 rebounds and contributed 12 assists.

"There is no way you can stop the great ones forever," commented losing coach Richie Guerin of the performance. Baylor had averaged just 12.2 points in this season's playoff games against San Francisco and Atlanta.

WELL BALANCED

"This could be the key for them to go all the way," Guerin added. "The Boston-Los Angeles series should be well balanced and will be tightly contested. I like LA's chances."

* * *

With the first two games slated in the Forum, home of the Lakers, Wednesday and Friday nights, Los Angeles has the home court advantage. Even more important, says Tom Hawkins, "We have Chamberlain this year."

* * *

Los Angeles lost to Boston, in the playoffs a year ago in six games, but the 7-foot-2 Wilt wasn't on that club.

Atlanta trailed by 17 points with 5:31 left in the third quarter Sunday and then came on to actually move into an 87-86 lead at 7:30 of the final period. Two field goals by Baylor against a single free thrown by Zelmo Beaty put the Lakers back into the lead.

* * *

At that point, Chamberlain blocked three straight Hawk field goal attempts and thwarted the hopes of a successful comeback.

Cards Have 10-Game Home Slump

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, the Cincinnati Reds beat the Atlanta Braves 7-1, the Los Angeles Dodgers trimmed the Houston Astros 2-1 and the San Francisco Giants edged the San Diego Padres 3-2.

Kevin Collins smashed a two-run homer and Ron Swoboda doubled in another pair to highlight a five-run fifth inning outburst for the Mets after St. Louis had taken a 3-0 lead in the first. New York wrapped it up with three more runs in the ninth on a bases-loaded double by Jerry Grote. Reliever Nolan Ryan gained credit for his first victory.

The Cardinals have a team batting average of .217, 32 points less than their figure of last year.

Don Clendenon, appearing in his third game for Montreal, hit a three-run homer in the first inning to give the Expos their second-game victory and snap Chicago's winning skein at seven. The Cubs, who have an 11-2 record and a 2½ game lead over runnerup Pittsburgh in the East, won the opener behind the strong pitching of Ferguson Jenkins and three runs-batted-in by Al Spangler.

Reserve third baseman Rick Joseph drove in three runs with a bases-loaded groundout and a pair of singles to help Philadelphia overcome the Pirates. Rick Wise evened his record at 1-1 with eighth-inning relief help from Barry Lerch.

Lee May and Johnny Bench hit homers for the Reds and Tony Perez contributed three singles to back up the six-hit pitching of Jim Maloney. May's three-run homer climaxed a four-run first inning rally against loser Ken Johnson.

An eighth-inning homer by Wes Parker carried the Dodgers to their fifth consecutive triumph and moved them to within a half-game of front-running Atlanta in the Western Division. Claude Osteen went the distance for Los Angeles, allowing nine hits, to boost his record to 3-0.

Bob Bolin helped himself to his first victory with a two-run double in the sixth inning for San Francisco. Frank Linzy came on with two out in the eighth inning to save the triumph for Bolin.

Power Boat Driver Injured in Mishap

MIAMI (AP) — Power boat racer Ronnie Ball of Cleveland, Tenn., was critically injured Sunday when he flipped his triple engine Class X boat at the starting line in a Tri-Club Regatta heat at Miami Marine Stadium.

* * *

Ball was lagging behind the other boats and gunned his engine as he cross the starting line. His boat flipped over backwards.

* * *

Driver Ken Berkert jumped into the water and held Ball afloat until a patrol boat got to him. Ball was reported in critical condition with multiple fractures at Miami Mercy Hospital.

The race was canceled after the accident.

U. of D. Returns to Coaching Market

DETROIT (AP) — The University of Detroit is shopping again for a head basketball coach after the man who took the job resigned three days later, saying he'd made "a big mistake."

Don Haskins, 38-year-old coach at the University of Texas at El Paso, notified U-D he was resigning from the $23,000 job in a telephone call to the Very Rev. Malcolm Carron, university president.

"I made my decision too quickly," Haskins told Father Carron Saturday. "I have decided that I cannot accept the job at Detroit because my family is very upset about the thought of moving to such a large town and I cannot do this to them."

Haskins' resignation came only three days after the U-D held a news conference to announce appointment of a successor to Bob Callihan, head basketball coach for 21 years until he resigned recently to devote full time to his duties as athletic director.

University officials accepted Haskins' resignation "with regret" and said the search for a new coach would resume immediately.

Haskins posted a 160-50 record in eight years at University of Texas-El Paso. His 1966 team won the NCAA basketball championship, and in six out of his eight years there, his teams played in post-season tournaments.

Sources at the U-D indicated Haskins' rehiring by the Texas school is just a formality. Just hours after his resignation from the U-D post, Haskins was talking to newsmen about "resuming work on recruiting" in Texas.

Northern Surprises Chiefs in Baseball

Pontiac Northern surprised favored Pontiac Central, 7-3, Saturday by rattling 10 hits off the Chiefs' top two moundsmen in the first makeup game of their twice-postponed twin bill.

The second game will be played May 17.

Northville remained unbeaten by trimming a good Redford Union nine twice, 4-2 and 4-1. Waterford and Romeo each displayed lusty batting attacks in grabbing twin wins while preparing for key league encounters tomorrow.

WTHS' Skippers ripped into Flint Northwestern for 20 hits and 15-3, 17-1 victories. Romeo stung Marysville, 13-2 and then hung on for a 9-7 decision.

PNH was making its first start of the season while Central was unbeaten after three outings. The PCH squad jumped into a quick 3-0 lead on four singles and an error in the first inning.

RETALIATE

But the Huskies roared right back to tie it on three safeties and a pair of bobbles. Jerry Reddeman's singled knotted the score.

PCH couldn't dent winner Rob Clancy after the first. Northern's Andre McPhail singled in both the second and fourth to start scoring outbursts.

Larry Crivea's second hit, a double, climaxed the Huskies' scoring, and Dave Clancy also had two hits to figure prominently in the winners' three-run innings.

PCH begins its Saginaw Valley slate this afternoon with a twin bill at tough Midland. Northern will visit defending Inter-Lakes League titlist Livonia Stevenson tomorrow.

Waterford (6-2) will entertain preseason favorite Walled Lake Tuesday riding a four-game winning streak which was capped by the dual win Saturday over Flint NW.

GOOD PITCHING

Frank Ballard fanned 12 and scattered three hits in the opening game; and Bruce Carlson hurled five good innings in the nightcap. Third sacker Steve Goit cracked a triple, double and three singles in the two games.

He drove in five runs and scored six. Second baseman Larry Hemmerly had three singles to score six times and drive in two.

Romeo (4-2) now has three wins in a row after Chip Barnabo's strong hill work and a big day at the plate for Mike Semp Saturday. The junior right-hander stopped Marysville on three hits in the opener, then picked up a save by getting the final four outs in the second contest.

BIG HOME RUN

Semp blasted a decisive two-run homer in the sixth inning to cap a four-hit, six RBI day that also saw him score three runs. Catcher Tom Lerchen highlighted the opening game with a triple and single for a pair of runs, and Dan Klein scored twice on the same combination.

Jeff Taylor and Fred Holdsworth pitched Northville to its fourth and fifth wins against one tie. Terry Mills drove in three runs to back Taylor in the opener; and Rich Adams had a pair of RBI's on two singles in the nightcap.

Old Pros' Tips Help Douglass in Azalea Golf

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP) — Dale Douglass finished tied for 19th and won $2,100 in the Masters Golf Tournament last week, but he got $5,000 worth of helpful information from old pros Sam Snead and Tony Penna.

That was the amount he earned here Sunday for winning the $35,000 Azalea Open, his first victory in seven years on the tour.

* * *

He told newsmen that Snead and Penna had observed him in practice before the Masters at Augusta, Ga., and had made some suggestions.

* * *

"Sam said I was standing too far from the ball," the lanky 33-year-old from Denver said. "I was amazed at the change when I made an adjustment. It required a lot of practice."

* * *

He credited Penna, touring player of a generation ago, with correcting a flaw in his swing.

Armed with these helpful hints, Douglass followed a pair of 70 with a 66-69 finish in Sunday's 36-hole windup to win by three strokes.

Defense Dominates Spartan Scrimmage

EAST LANSING (AP) —The defense dominated the first major scrimmage of Michigan State's spring football practice.

Coach Duffy Daugherty explained after the Saturday scrimmage that the offense had an advantage because it was working on a new system and was confined to about five basic plays. However, late in the afternoon the offense got going and pushed across three scores. Freshman Eric Allen ran 56 yards for one TD, and quarterback Bill Triplett passed to Frank Foreman seven yards for another, then scored on a 46-yard keeper play.

Investor Concern Noted

Stock Mart Continues Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market continued lower early this afternoon, with brokers reporting some investors concerned over an administration recommendation that the investment tax credit be repealed.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was off 2.10 at 922.72.

Trading was moderately active.

Losses led gains by more than 150 issues.

Brokers attributed the market's downtrend in part to a package of tax reforms sent by President Nixon to Congress which included a recommendation that the 7 per cent investment tax credit be repealed—effective at once.

* * *

The credit, a stimulant to business investment in new plant and equipment, has been widely criticized as fueling the flames of inflation.

They said a drop in short interest, which declined in the month ended April 15 to a 19-month low, also was regarded by traders as a bearish-factor.

* * *

"Also weighing on the market," an anlyst said, "is the heating-up of the hostilities in the Middle East."

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off 1.3 at 331.3, with industrials off 2.1, rails off .7, and utilities off .5.

Escaping GI Almost Killed

Yank Copter Pilot Thought He was Red

SAIGON (AP) — A Michigan soldier who was found in a Viet Nam jungle last week 18 days after he had escaped from a 14-month Vietcong captivity almost was machine gunned to death before being rescued by Americans who did not recognize him at first.

"I called for clearance to open fire and was beginning my gun run when I saw he was an American," W.O. Carl D. Gray of Vinita, Okla., said Sunday.

Gary, in an observation helicopter armed with a machine gun, immediately radioed a Cobra helicopter gun-ship behind him: "It's a GI: Hold your fire."

The man rescued last Thursday was Spec. 5 Thomas H. Van Putten, 21, of Caledonia, Mich., who spent 18 days in the jungles after escaping from the Vietcong. He was captured in February 1968 during the Tet offensive.

Rescue pilot Gray and his observor, 1st Lt. Claude H. Nix of Dalton, Ga., were on a routine reconnaisance mission for the 1st Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division 14 miles northwest of Tay Ninh city, near the Cambodian border.

While passing over a stream bed, Gray spotted a figure clad in black pajamas leaning against a tree by the bank. That's when he radioed headquarters at Tay Ninh for clearance to open fire.

"I didn't think we could possibly get in there but Carl did it.," Nix said. Once we were down, our skids started to sink into the mud and we knew we had to get out fast. Carl pulled-up quick, popped the skids out of the mud and hovered there."

As the chopper hovered, Spec. 4 Dale E. Wampler of Everett, Wash., the crew chief, jumped to the ground to assist Van Putten.

"When I got to him he looked terrible," said Wampler. "He was extremely thin and seemed dead tired. I helped him over to the helicopter and got him strapped into my seat."

The light observation helicopter could hold only four men, so one man had to give up his seat and remain in the area infested with Vietcong and North Vietnamese troops. Wampler grabbed an M60 machine gun and 250 rounds of ammunition and dashed for the bushes. The backup Cobra helicopter continued to circle over him.

The rescue craft flew Van Putten to a 25th Division armored column on a sweep two miles from the stream bed, then returned to pick up Wampler.

Teacher to Defy Job Suspension

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — A Highland Park high school teacher, suspended from her job because she gave police the name of a 17-year-old student she said had information on the recent slaying of a white policeman, made plans to report to her classroom today despite the suspension.

Marlynn Marcks, 33, told police one of her students had information on the March 29 slaying of Patrolman Michael Czapski and the wounding of another officer after a rally of the black separatist Republic of New Africa.

Miss Marcks was suspended April 10 after police questioned the girl and she denied having told the teacher she was a witness to the shootings.

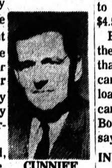
A community furor has developed over the incident, with many saying the teacher should not have reported the girl without first telling school authorities and others saying the teacher should not be suspended for trying to be a good citizen.

An agreement was subsequently reached between Miss Marcks and school Supt. Paul H. Emerich, which would have allowed the teacher to resume her post today.

But the decision was reversed by the school board, which decided to assign Miss Marcks to nonteaching duties. However, her attorney, David R. Kratze, said she would show up to teach anyway.

Britons Feel Pinch; Tax Hike Is Hefty

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst



CUNNIFF

NEW YORK—April is not the month that Englishmen, especially the wealthy ones, write nostalgic poetry about these days. A lament might be more appropriate, for the somber Britain of today is not the merry one of yesterday

It is, instead, a severe one. The theme of the economy is "produce more, use less." And the chief means of achieving this aim is to tax, tax, tax.

Already harsh, taxes have been raised even more this April, the purpose being to take another $816 million of purchasing power out of the economy and bring the nation's hopes more in line with its abilities.

It's a cold April, and were Robert Browning writing today instead of more than a century ago, you might speculate that he would not be inspired to write so wistfully, "Oh to be in England, Now that April's there."

ALL-ENCOMPASSING?

Were he there, he would learn that betting taxes are going up, that there's a brand-new tax on bingo game winnings, that the tax on a bottle of wine is being raised by 13 cents, and that gasoline taxes will total 54 cents a gallon.

True, these levies on consumer items are leavened by increases in old-age pensions and by the elimination of more than one million poor people from the income tax rolls, but they are stiff nevertheless.

To businessmen, the increases are simply shocking: The corporate profit tax goes up to 45 per cent from 42.5 per cent, and the payroll tax for employers rises to well over $5 a head from $4.50.

But business does better than the consumer in one area, and that is borrowing. Business still can deduct the interest cost on loans, but consumers no longer can do so, except for houses. Borrowing, the nation's leaders say, must be discouraged.

INDEED A JOLT

This, indeed, is a jolt, as can be attested by any American who recently finished itemizing his federal income tax deductions. Car buyers, for example often have deductions of several hundred dollars on loans. But no more.

The background for such austerity goes back a long way, even to the days preceeding World War II, and is tied to the breakup of the British Empire. The present Britain did not enter the postwar world very well equipped.

* * *

Not only did it lose some of its finest manpower in two wars, but its plants were damaged and old-fashioned, and its ability to utilize new technology was snagged in a cobweb of ancient labor and management work methods.

A reliable estimate shows that within the past few years Britain needed more than 200 men to turn out the same amount of steel produced by 170 West Germans or 160 Frenchmen or 100 Americans.

GOODS OVERPRICED

This, of course, means that British goods have been overpriced. In an effort to make them more competitive, the British devalued their currency in 1949 and 1967, thus lowering the price of exports, raising the price of imports.

These devaluations have had the aim of bringing money into the British economy, making industry more competitive, while at the same time making it more difficult for Britishers to spend money. But has it worked?

* * *

The latest figures show that 16 months after devaluation of the British pound sterling, the British slowly are improving their situation. Although still in debt, slow progress is noted.

More impressive is the rise in productivity of British workers, for this is the key to the ability of British goods to compete in foreign markets. Last year this productivity rose 6.3 per cent compared with 2.6 in other years.

PACE SEEMS SLOW

Nevertheless, the pace of improvements seems too slow to British leaders, and so they add on taxes—not only to take spending power out of the economy but to add revenues for putting it on a more stable foundation.

It's a stern discipline, and its more likely to evoke the recitation not of Browning but of a more recent English poet, T. S. Eliot. He wrote, "April is the cruelest month . . ."

Took a Bribe

Ex-Supervisor Sentenced

A former Royal Oak Township supervisor was sentenced today to six months to 10 years in the state prison for accepting a bribe while holding office.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Frederick C. Ziem imposed the sentence on Edward Kennedy.

* * *

Kennedy, 47, had pleaded guilty to the charge in January, and then last month turned state's evidence at the trial of four other men.

The other four were convicted of being involved in a bribery conspiracy and will be sentenced tomorrow by Judge Ziem.

* * *

The bribe was used to purchase votes on the Township Board to award sand removal contract to the now defunct Atlas Sand Co. of Detroit.

Charges against the five men were brought during a grand jury investigation of crime and corruption in the south Oakland County community in June 1966.

'Shorty' Powers Defends Nation's Space Program

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Lt. Col. John A. (Shorty) Powers, the retired Air Force officer who served as the "voice of the Mercury astronauts" in the space program's early days, says the whole point of space exploration is to help meet human needs.

"You cannot separate technology and social improvement," Powers said during an interview in Atlanta.

"It's not an and-or proposition," he said. "If the space program were canceled, it wouldn't fill one hungry stomach. Any country that quits or backs off from technological challenges becomes a second-rate country."

Wire Service Hails New Developments

NEW YORK (AP) — The board of directors of The Associated Press said today the tempo of change in the AP is stepping up, with developments under way to make the news report higher in quality, easier to use and faster in transmission.

One recent development was the reorganization of the General Desk in New York, which now assumes more direct control over the handling of copy on the main general news wires.

Another is the assignment of additional specialists in a number of fields, including urban affairs, sports, science and religion.

In its report to the annual membership meeting of the news-gathering organization at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, the board said copy now comes to New York from bureaus all over the country for assessment and editing by quality control editors before being relayed on wires to members.

The report said the quality control processing now is being done on budget stories and later will be extended to all copy except bulletins. Washington, which has its own quality control desk, continues to file direct.

"This system allows more effective analysis of the news report as a whole and provides a chance to trim secondary material to provide a more orderly and usable report," the board said. "it also helps eliminate errors, inserts and corrections.

"At the same time, handling of enterprise copy has been centralized with a special enterprise editor who provides the same quality control to the nonspot copy, which has become more and more important."

A detailed report on technical advances and a major reorganization of the AP's transmission and filing system was given to the members at their meeting.

Involved is a regionalization, the board said, designed to improve the quality of the news report by concentrating the filing of the various wires in the hands of a few top-notch news editors, thus freeing more newsmen to do more actual reporting.

AP Photo Offsetter, a sister product of AP Offsetter, already in operation at more than 80 newspapers, is now being installed in member plants. Photo Offsetter delivers the AP report in justified, high-quality photo composition form, while Offsetter utilizes a strike-on printing method.

The board said prototypes of two revolutionary printers have been obtained and production models soon will be available on a limited basis. Both are ribbonless.

Laborers OK Excavating Firms' Offer

Stoppage of work on the mammoth $28.5-million Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor was averted yesterday when the membership of a laborers' union voted to accept a contract proposal.

Ratifying an agreement giving workers about a 79-cent wage hike over the next 18 months were members of Local 1076 of the Laborers International Union of America.

Locals in Macomb County and Detroit also approved the contract, which involves work done by the Association of Underground Contractors.

* * *

The agreement did not cover tunnel work, however. A union official said any tunnel jobs under way will be picketed. About six such projects are under construction in the county, he said.

The vote on the new contract was about 60-40, according to union officials.

Inflation is Different things to different people.

To us it's paying 50 cents for parking to avoid paying $1 fine for over parking, while going in to pay 10 cents for a 5 cent cup of coffee. Quoted from T. C. News, Winter Garden, Florida.

BUT
The price of this farm is not inflationary — at $1750 per acre — in an area where land is selling for $3,000 per acre.

Approximately ½ mile road frontage, approximately 1 mile lake frontage. By surveyors report: 87 workable acres out of 113. Some of the 113 acres extend into the lake. Has the making of a beautiful development with island or recreational area or overnight camping site. On Nelsey Rd. just off Andersonville Rd.

A Look at TV

Tony Show Slows Up

By CYNTHIA LOWREY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The Broadway Tony awards, which in two previous television programs led the other awards shows in pace, class and general interest, seemed last night to be falling into the old Oscar trap.

With awards voted in 15 categories plus five special Tonys to hand out, plus scenes from several top plays to present, the show bogged down with the introductions of the presenters, the envelope-opening and the thanks speeches.

Just about every great theatrical name, however, was on stage at some time—Sir Laurence Olivier flew over from England to pick up his special award. The program, scheduled to occupy 90 minutes of NBC time, was close to 45 minutes late in winding up.

Tony's charm for the average viewer with little access to the Broadway theatre is always the liberal sampling provided from top shows. There were scenes from "Zorba," "The Lovers," "Promises, Promises," "1776" and "Hair"—the last perhaps a bit disappointing since the cast sang a production number completely clothed.

CBS plans to inaugurate a new policy of permitting television reviewers to preview some programs and have their judgments available to viewers before broadcast time.

U. S. Diets Most Often Lacking in Calcium and Iron

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A federal survey shows the nutrients most lacking in people's diets are calcium and iron — which are found in milk and meat.

Generally people get enough or nearly enough protein, vitamin A, thiamine, riboflavin and ascorbic acid, according to the Department of Agriculture's survey.

★ ★ ★

But calcium and iron were the nutrients most often found below the recommended dietary allowances, especially among women and children.

Iron deficiency can cause anemia — "thin blood" — resulting in weariness and exhaustion. Calcium is essential to strong bones and good teeth.

The department said that among poor people with incomes under $3,000 annually — and among southerners generally — diet levels were generally below the national average.

The report was one of a series of studies made from data gathered in a 1965 study of 14,500 men, women and children. Last year, on the basis of the same study, the department's analysis showed that 20 per cent of U.S. households had diets rated "poor" in contrast with 15 per cent in 1955.

The report, released Saturday, concentrated on evaluating average diets in a wide variety of different age and sex groups. No attempt was made to measure degrees of malnutrition.

The report said average diets for most sex-age groups were close to or above recommended allowances set by the National Academy of Sciences—National Research Council.

INFANTS, TODDLERS

But calcium and iron furnished by the daily food supply were more than 30 per cent below recommended levels for some sex-age groups, especially among girls and women. The iron in the diets of infants and children under 3 years was about 50 per cent below recommended levels.

The report said, however, that normal diets cannot supply enough iron to meet recommended allowances for some groups including children under three, boys from 12 to 14, and women under 55,

Officials said also that while some groups, including infants, received vitamin and mineral supplements, these were not counted in the department's nutrition analysis.

One purpose of the study, officials said, was to pinpoint sex-age groups with diets most in need of improvement. Experts conceded they found no clear-cut ranking was possible, but said the groups with average diets low in more than one mineral and vitamin were:

All Females over 9; boys 12-17; and men of 75 and over.

All girls and women from 9 to 55 had diets at least 20 per cent short of recommended levels of both calcium and iron, with most age groups short by 30 per cent or more.

In addition, women in the 55-64 group were slightly below recommendations for thiamine and riboflavin, while other age groups were subpar in vitamin A.

While the department said the new data did not provide any basis for conclusions about hunger, officials conceded that in groups falling below recommended allowances for several nutrients, "some persons . . . had diets in need of improvement."

'Manhood Diet Can Kill You'

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — A doctor says American males are dying of heart attacks because "social folklore" makes them prove their manhood by eating too much steak, ham and eggs.

"We have been sold on the idea that beefsteak and ham and eggs are the only food fit for a manly man to eat," said Dr. George Christakis, professor of nutrition at Mt. Sinai School of Medicine in New York.

★ ★ ★

"Such a diet may be fine for a cowboy on the range, but its death to the rest of us, especially those who are bound to the desk."

Christakis said American men and women could reduce the heart attack death rate immediately by 60 per cent with proper attention to diet, exercise and losing weight.

★ ★ ★

He said, "The time is ripe . . . for physicians to use cholesterol tests to screen everybody for coronary heart disease.

Nixon Tax Plan Goes to Congress

U.S. Fleet Sails Into Japan Sea

TOKYO (AP) — The carrier Hornet and 10 other American warships sailed into the Sea of Japan today, apparently to join in protecting U.S. intelligence flights off North Korea.

The Japanese Maritime Agnecy said that between 2 a.m. and 8 p.m. the 33,000-ton Hornet, an escort of five destroyers and five other warships passed through the Tsushima Strait between Japan and South Korea.

★ ★ ★

Asahi Shimbun, Japan's biggest newspaper, reported one of its planes spotted the nuclear-powered carrier Enterprise heading toward the Sea of Japan. The paper said the Enterprise, the world's biggest warship, was 121 miles north of the Sasebo naval base.

U.S. officials would not comment. They said warship movements are classified.

SPY-FLIGHT ESCORTS

The arrival of the Hornet indicated that the reconnaissance flights off North Korea, which President Nixon has ordered continued, will be covered by carrier planes. Japan's Kyodo news service said the U.S. government had informed the Japanese government that the escorts would not come from bases in Japan.

The intelligence collecting flights were suspended after North Korea shot down a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane with 31 Americans and special electronic equipment aboard April 14. North Korea said the plane invaded its air space but the United States insisted it had stayed far out over international waters.

★ ★ ★

The bodies of two crewmen were recovered from the Sea of Japan and were brought Sunday to the U.S. naval base at Saebo, in southern Japan. A search for the other 29 men was called off Saturday.

The Tokyo newspaper Yominuri said the Japanes government had informed the United States it considers reconnaissance flights in the area essential to Japanese security but wants the planes to refrain from action that might provoke North Korea.

★ ★ ★

The plane that was shot down near Tokyo, and Yomiuri said the government would ask the withdrawal of any planes from Japanese bases that invade North Korean air space.

Thundershowers Possible in Area

This morning's clouds are set to dump rain on the Oakland County area by afternoon or evening, with possible thundershowers developing.

Southerly winds at 15-to-20 m.p.h. brought mild temperatures through the day. The gusty winds will bring in cooler air as they become northwesterly before diminishing tonight.

★ ★ ★

Tomorrow will be mostly cloudy through the morning with skies clearing by afternoon. Tomorrow's high will be in the 56-to-62-degree range.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are today and tonight 30 and tomorrow 40. Low mercury reading in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 46. By 1 p.m. the thermometer reached 63.

President's First 90 Days Assessed

EDITOR'S NOTE — Richard Milhous Nixon has been President of the United States for three months, traditionally a time for assessing a new man's impact on the office. In the following article, a veteran White House correspondent examines Nixon's first 90 days.

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — If Richard M. Nixon has developed a personal approach to the presidency in the 90 days he has held the office, it is to speak softly while moving cautiously, indeed slowly, toward any confrontation with crisis.

"We cannot learn from one another", said Nixon in his inaugural address, "until we stop shouting at one another — until we speak quietly enough so that our words can be heard as well as our voices."

★ ★ ★

Thus did Nixon give notice of the muted style — a dramatic contrast to that of predecessor Lyndon B. Johnson — that has set the official tone of the new Republican administration, from the White House to the last outpost of the capital bureaucracy.

If the cool world of Richard Nixon has failed to generate much excitement, it also can be said to have served effectively as a shock absorber to the jolts of real politik, at home and abroad.

MAJOR INCIDENT

Just six days ago, the Nixon administration found itself confronted with a major international incident. It reported a U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane, carrying 31 men and loaded with sophisticated electronic surveillance gear, was shot down by North Korean jets over the Sea of Japan.

During the 1968 campaign, candidate Nixon condemned President Johnson's handling of the crisis precipitated by North Korea's seizure of the USS Pueblo, a Navy surveillance ship.

★ ★ ★

"When respect for the United Stated of America falls so low that a fourth-rate military power like North Korea will seize an American naval vessel on the high seas, it is time for new leadership," Nixon said then. "I pledge to you the American flag is not going to be a doormat for anybody at home or abroad."

Nonetheless, the Nixon administration reacted, outwardly, with all deliberate calm when faced for the first time with a strikingly similar situation.

BARE CONFIRMATION

For 29 hours and 51 minutes after the first reports of the incident, the government contented itself with confirming only that one of its planes was missing, while denying North Korean charges that the aircraft had intruded into that country's airspace.

Rid Social Injustice, OU Graduates Told

". . . Justice, freedom, liberty, equality, human dignity. These must be the birthright and the property right of all men, and to make this so is your high calling or assignment or mission above all others," Oakland University Chancellor Durward B. Varner told the 389 graduates attending the seventh annual spring commencement exercises Saturday at the university.

Varner told he graduates that he is rich — because he was born white.

★ ★ ★

"Never in these 52 years (of my life) have I felt the utter hopelessness and futility which grows out of the cruel realization that a single factor — the color of my skin — stands as a permanent and undeniable barrier to my aceeptance by my fellow human beings," Varner said.

He asked the graduates to assume a committment to achieve the qualities of humanity, compossion and understanding that would enable them to eliminate the social injustices and racial stigmatisms of today.

Among the 389 graduates, 372 received bachelor's degrees and 17 received master's degrees.

Honorary degrees were conferred upon former Michigan State University President John A. Hannah; Harry S. Broudy, professor of philosophy at the University of Illinois; and labor leader Walter P. Reuther, who is also a member of the Oakland University Foundation.

★ ★ ★

The Alfred G. Wilson and Matilda R. Wilson awards were presented to Ingo R. Dutzman of Utica and Cynthia Lou Attwood of Oak Park, Ill. Each of the students received $100, and their names will be affixed to a plaque honoring past winners.

The awards, named after the university's late benefactors, are presented annually to the man and woman graduates who have contributed most to the life of the university through scholarship, student leadership and the expression of responsibility in the solution of social problems.

Woman Wins $500 Bond

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Lady Luck smiled on Mrs. Annis E. Kinsey of 1465 Benvenue, Sylvan Lake. The smile was worth a $500 U.S. savings bond, since the recipient won the 1969 edition of The Press Annual Baseball Contest, which was decided Saturday by the Associated Press tabulation of player batting averages that appeared in the newspaper's sports section. She had pinned her bond hopes on Buddy Bradford of the Chicago White Sox.

But the smile and a Mona Lisa aspect — one of those inscrutable jobs — because the 75-year-old widow won the bond and title of Clairvoyant Woman of the Year in the most unusual finish ever recorded in these yearly contests.

WINNER RECEIVES AWARD — The winner of the 1969 Pontiac Press Baseball Contest, Mrs. Annis E. Kinsey, 75, of 1465 Benvenue, Sylvan Lake, receives a $500 U.S. savings bond from Press staffer Howard Heldenbrand. Her sole entry, submitted for Buddy Bradford of the Chicago White Sox, whose batting average was .429, won because contestants had failed to pick any of the four players with higher averages.

Specifics Due to Be Detailed During Briefing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon was expected to ask Congress today to begin removing the nation's poor from the federal income tax rolls and to give a better tax break to middle-income workers.

The White House planned to send Nixon's interim tax reform proposal to Congress at noon, EST.

★ ★ ★

Specifics of the program, however, probably will not be available until tomorrow when administration officials appear to testify before the House Ways and Means Committee on the tax reform package.

In his message to Congress, the President was expected to ask that loopholes in the federal tax law be either reduced or closed to allow at least some of the nation's five million poor families to be exempt from taxation.

EVENTUAL AIM

The goal was revealed last week by Arthur F. Burns, Nixon's top domestic adviser, who said it was the eventual aim of the administration to take all persons in the poverty category off the income tax rolls.

Burns said this would be done by eliminating or reducing the "tax shelters" and using the added revenue to offset the loss from removal of the poverty category from taxation.

Treasury officials indicated the cost of this initially would be slightly more than half a billion dollars, with a maximum of approximately $2 billion if all those officially designated as living in poverty were removed at once. The poverty line income for an urban family of four is considered to be $3,300 per year.

There was some indication the President's tax reform message would contain a call for some form of minimum income tax that would end the present system in which some persons earning a million dollars can escape taxes completely.

THREE-STEP PLAN

The proposal today was the first in a three-step plan by the Nixon administration to reform tax laws.

The message today is an interim move and is expected to be followed in June by a second set of loophole-closing proposals.

★ ★ ★

Between the two messages, according to Burns, Nixon can be expected to appoint a blue ribbon commission to begin a review of the entire internal revenue code with instructions to come up with recommendations that can be submitted to Congress by January.

Nixon spent the weekend at Camp David in Maryland's Catoctin Mountains, keeping a close watch on troubles in Czechoslovakia and the resumed reconnaisance flights off Korea.

Court Quashes Welfare Laws on Residency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today invalidated state residency requirements for people receiving welfare assistance.

"Neither deterrence of indigents from migrating to the state nor limitation of welfare benefits to those regarded as contributing to the state is a constitutionally permissible state objective," said Justice William J. Brennan Jr. in the majority opinion.

★ ★ ★

The vote was 6 to 3. Chief Justice Earl Warren and Associate Justice Hugo Black joined in one dissenting opinion. Associate Justice John Marshall Harlan dissented separately.

The ruling is a major legal advance for the poor. It is expected to make 100,000 to 200,000 poor people newly eligible for Aid to Families With Dependent Children. This would boost welfare expenses $125 million to $175 million a year.

★ ★ ★

The ruling dealt specificially with residency requirements in Connecticut, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. It is applicable to such regulations in about 40 states in all, including Michigan.

Chief Justice Warren, dissenting, said he believed Congress has the power to impose minimal nationwide residencey requirements or to authorize the states to do so.

Biafra's Leaders Flee Nigerians; Talks Collapse

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Advancing Nigerian forces have driven Biafra's leaders to new headquarters, and the attempt to get peace talks started collapsed yesterday.

Reports reaching Lagos said Biafran leader Odumegwu Ojukwu and his staff have left Umuahia and established new headquarters at Orlu, 36 miles to the west.

* * *

Orlu is the last town of any size left in the 3,000 square miles that remain of Biafra after 22 months of civil war. It is located near the two airstrips the besieged secessionist government depends on to receive arms and relief supplies.

Federal authorities refused to confirm or deny that Umuahia has fallen, but a spokesman for the International Committee of the Red Cross confirmed reports that relief agencies have moved their headquarters out of Umuahia.

DISMISSED REPORTS

However, the Biafran official who headed his country's delegation at two days of unsuccessful attempts in Monrovia, Liberia, to arrange peace talks dismissed the reports of Umuahia's fall.

Sir Louis Mbanefo, Biafra's chief justice who once sat with the International Court at the Hague, said: "When you hear about the war ending with the fall of Umuahia remember the strength of Biafra is not in the towns, it is in the villages."

* * *

The Biafran delegation and the Nigerian delegation, headed by Federal Works Commissioner Femi Okunnu, met in Monrovia at talks called by the Organization of African Unity's seven-nation committee on Nigeria.

* * *

Biafra rejected an OAU declaration urging both sides to accept "in the supreme interest of Africa a united Nigeria which ensures all forms of security and guarantees equality of rights and privileges to all its citizens."

* * *

The Biafrans did not reject absolutely the idea of rejoining Nigeria, Mbanefo said, but "we cannot accept a united Nigeria without knowing the nature, form or extent of the security we are getting for our lives and property."

Baseball Contest Won by Woman

Red Sox was No. 1 on the AP hit list, but no contestant had picked him. So we went to No. 2, Carlos May of the Chicago White Sox. And, believe it or not, nobody had named him. There was an entry for May but it was the wrong one — Dave, of the Baltimore Orioles.

Next came Billy Conigliaro of the Boston Red Sox and he too was devoid of backers. Oh, sure, Conigliaro was not without supporters, but all 17 of them had marked their entries for Tony.

BARREN OF BOOSTERS

Elrod Hendricks of the Baltimore Orioles came in fourth and he was as barren of boosters as the first three.

That, at long last, brings us to fifth-place Bradford and a lone believer — Mrs. Kinsey. Although her predicted average was .330 against his actual .429, she had the field to herself since her miss was as good as the smile mentioned above.

* * *

A Pontiac resident for eight years and a long-time baseball fan, this was the winner's maiden contest. Indeed, she entered it on the casual suggestion of a neighbor who knew of her deep interest in the sport.

How did Mrs. Kinsey hit on Bradford?

CONFIRMED ROOTER

Well, she'd lived in many cities around Chicago and became a confirmed White Sox rooter. She noted that Bradford showed promise last year and, through reading The Press sports pages, saw that he was getting off to a good start in spring training this year.

A sidelight of the contest just concluded is that it preserved the uncanny record of successful soothsaying the distaff division has established in habitually winning the seasonal sweepstakes.

* * *

Mrs. Kinsey has no immediate spending plans for her windfall, but with her talent in art it should provide welcome wherewithal in the pursuit of her hobby.

Sirhan Appeals to Take Year

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Whether the jury decrees death or life in prison for Sirhan Bishara Sirhan in the penalty phase of his trial, it will be a long time before the future of Robert F. Kennedy's murderer is finally determined.

Appeals are expected to take a year, perhaps longer.

* * *

For today's proceeding, prosecutor John E. Howard and defense attorney Grant B. Cooper said they would not take long to argue their cases before the same jury that last week convicted Sirhan of first-degree murder.

Howard, an advocate of the death penalty, said he would call no witnesses and would take only 20 minutes to "point out facts we think important — his lack of remorse, and the effect of political assassination on a democracy."

Cooper said the jury might begin deliberations on the sentence by late tonight or early tomorrow.

Race Violence Erupts After Decency Rally

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP)—Racial clashes following a Maryland Youth for Decency Rally in Memorial Stadium resulted in the arrest of 133 persons and injury to 88, including seven policemen.

"How do you find decency after this?" asked Lynn Dorsey, a high school senior on the rally planning committee, after the outburst of violence yesterday.

* * *

The rally, attended by 40,000 teen-agers, was modeled after an orderly and successful event last month in Miami's Orange Bowl protesting lewdness and obscenity in America. Its themes were "brotherhood, respect, responsibility and love."

Wade H. Poole, deputy police commissioner, said some of those at the Baltimore rally apparently became bored during the entertainment and speeches.

FIGHTING ERUPTS

As the departing crowd streamed down exit ramps, fighting broke out.

* * *

More than 500 police descended on the area in an attempt to restore order, but the violence spread to downtown Baltimore, where a number of windows were smashed.

About half of those arrested downtown were adults, most of them on charges of disorderly conduct or assault.

YOUTH STABBED

The injured included a youth who was stabbed in the chest and a policeman with a broken kneecap. Another police officer suffered an apparent heart attack.

* * *

Charles E. Moylan Jr., state's attorney for Baltimore, said it was difficult to place the blame for the outbreak. He expressed doubt, however, that it was advisable to bring so many teen-agers together in a rally without stricter supervision.

Spouse Sought in Area Beating

Waterford Township police are seeking a 37-year-old man who allegedly beat his wife severly Friday with a poker and a croquet mallet.

HAWES

Charged with attempted murder is Gerald G. Hawes of 1211 Bamford, whose wife, Bernita, 35, was rushed to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital about 1 p.m. after suffering critical head injuries.

She is reported improving and in fair condition today.

Hawes, an employe of the Oakland County Road Commission, is believed headed nto northern Michigan or toward Alabama, according to Detective James A Webb.

GETTING DIVORCE

Police said the couple was in the process of divorce and had apparently argued Friday after Hawes visited the house. The assault followed an appeal from Mrs. Hawes for her husband to leave, officers were told.

* * *

Hawes, described as about 5 feet 9 and 160 pounds with black hair and brown eyes, is believed armed with either a rifle or shotgun.

* * *

"We consider him potentially dangerous," said Webb.

Hawes is believed to be traveling in a 1964 Chevrolet pickup truck with a blue body and white top.

REUTHER HONORED—Walter P. Reuther, labor leader and a member of the Oakland University Foundation, received an honorary degree at the university's commencement Saturday. Other honorary degrees went to former Michigan State University President John A. Hannah and Harry S. Broudy, educational philosopher and professor of philosophy at the University of Illinois.

Sheriff Expects Break Soon

Ypsi Slaying Trail Warm

From Our News Wires

ANN ARBOR — Washtenaw County Sheriff Douglas J. Harvey says he expects a break, and possibly some arrests "very soon" in the slaying of a 13-year-old girl last Wednesday.

"Instead of the trail getting cold as it usually does," Harvey said in an apparent reference to the unsolved murders of four other young women over the past 21 months, "It's definitely getting hotter."

* * *

Harvey said detectives discovered tire tracks, empty beer cans and footprints in the area where a sweater which had been worn by the most recent victim, Dawn Basom, was found.

* * *

Discovery of the clues followed a tip a couple was seen necking in the area of the abandoned farmhouse where the girl was killed.

TWO KILLERS POSSIBLE

The possibility is being considered that Dawn and the four other girls may have been victims of a couple rather than a single killer.

Other victims killed in the vicinity were Maralynn Skelton, 16, of Romulus, and Jane Louise Mixer, 23, of Muskegon, both killed last month; Joan E. Schell, 20, of Plymouth, killed last summer; and Mary Fleszar, 19, of Willis, killed the previous summer.

* * *

A Monroe County Sheriff's detective said there may be a link between the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area slayings and an unsolved 1968 murder of a 14-year-old girl found strangled with a length of telephone cord.

The body of Eileen Marie Adams, of Toledo, Ohio, was found on a road near U.S. 23, which leads to the Ypsilanti-Ann Arbor area.

WISCONSIN SLAYING

Speculation the slayings "conceivably" may be connected with the unsolved slaying of a University of Wisconsin coed 11 months ago was suggested by UW Police Chief Ralph Hanson at Madison, Wis., over the weekend.

UW coed Christian Rothschild, 18, was found beaten and stabbed last May 26 in shrubbery near a University building. Like Dawn Basom, she had been viciously stabbed in the chest and stomach.

* * *

Jittery residents of southeast Michigan were scared again Saturday when two girls, one 8 years old and the other 17, were abducted separately and released unharmed.

One girl, a Southfield teen-ager, was forced into her car by a young Negro at Northland shopping center.

* * *

She said her kidnaper forced her to drive about 40 minutes before he took over the steering wheel. She escaped when the youth pulled into a service station in Flat Rock.

The 8-year-old was picked up in Livingston County while strolling down the road near her home in rural Fowlerville. Police said a woman found her less than three hours later walking along another road 15 miles from her home.

* * *

A clue police first said "was too close to the murder to be written off" was written off Sunday. Police said a baby girl doll, clad only in a blouse and hanging on a barbed wire fence not far from where Miss Basom's body was found, had been on the fence since the first part of March.

Urban League Dinner Theme 'Ghetto Power'

The theme of this year's annual Pontiac Area Urban League dinner meeting will be "Building Ghetto Power," and the guest speaker will discuss school decentralization.

The dinner will be May 1 at 6 p.m. in the Oakland Center cafeteria at Oakland University.

Speaker will be Dr. William B. Pollard of Milwaukee Public Schools, called the architect of that area's decentralization program.

Cong Steps Up Shellings; 35 Bases, Towns Are Hit

SAIGON (AP) — The Vietcong stepped up its spring offensive again last night, shelling at least 35 military bases and towns. One barrage killed 46 South Vietnamese soldiers and wounded 137 at a training camp. A rocket landed among about 100 U.S. Marines watching a movie near Da Nang, killing two and wounding 46.

Eight more Marines were killed in hand-to-hand battle with North Vietnamese regulars just below the demilitarized zone. And in Vietnam's southernmost province, An Xuyen, eight South Vietnamese were killed and 60 wounded in a mortar barrage.

With the enemy offensive now entering its ninth week, the purpose of the increased attacks obviously was to raise the allied casualty toll at small cost to the Vietcong and North Vietnamese.

In the central highlands along the Cambodian border, Green Beret troops encountered two North Vietnamese battalions infiltrating into the country. Authorities said 38 North Vietnamese regulars were killed over the weekend as the battalions sparred with two bands of irregulars led by American Special Forces men.

Other attacks hit the airfields at Da Nang, Nha Trang, on the coast, and Vinh Long, in the Mekong Delta. Authorities said damage was light and apparently only one aircraft was hit.

* * *

Barrages also hit the highland city of Pleiku, a district military headquarters about 50 miles southwest of Saigon, the headquarters of the American Green Beret force in Vietnam at Nha Trang and the U.S. 9th Infantry Division base camp at Dong Tam, 40 miles below Saigon.

* * *

Fresh North Vietnamese regulars fell upon a night camp of U.S. Marines less than half a mile below the demilitarized zone. For two hours the attacking force tried to overrun the band of fewer than 100 Marines, getting inside the perimeter at one time and hurling satchel charges and grenades before being thrown back in hand-to-hand fighting.

* * *

At dawn, with a gun-ship raking them with 6,000-round-a-minute bursts of minigun fire, the North Vietnamese pulled back, leaving 20 bodies and four badly wounded men.

Growth Potential Called Great

'Sleepy' Holly: One Eye on Future

THE PONTIAC PRESS
MONDAY, APRIL 21, 1969 A—4
Area News

By NED ADAMSON

HOLLY — The adjective "sleepy" still applies to this little village in northwestern Oakland County.

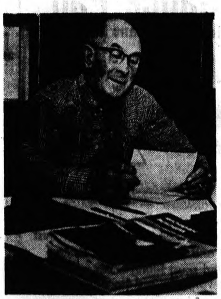
Holly is one of those towns that probably is the subject of its share and more of the small-town jokes.

★ ★ ★

The sign in bold black lettering . . . "The Church is a Light in a Dark World" comes out at you as you enter the village. That sign and the numerous churches scattered about town root the village in the spirit of the Christian ethic.

★ ★ ★

The church, the chicken suppers and, once in a while, a funeral for a soldier who came back in a box from Vietnam represent the crux of life here. The residents don't ask too many questions about life. They are still far removed from great change.



MANAGER MILTON DISBROW

Village Manager Milton Disbrow is quick to point out "We have good relations with the Negroes here. Negroes have no problems buying property here — in the township."

Virtually all of the Negroes live in scattered pockets outside the village limits. Many live in the Great Lakes subdivision north of town. What grabs the visitor's attention here is a high fence which seemingly enclosed the subdivision.

Sex education has come to the schools, and Haddon is attempting to implement that subject along with a revised social studies curriculum and more attention to the black man in the classroom on a gradual basis in order to minimize the potential feedback from the generally conservative environment.

★ ★ ★

The Transportation and Land Use Study (TALUS) and the village's planning consultant point to Holly as a strong potential urban growth center within the next 20 years with transportation accessibility as the key to growth.

The village lies between I-75 and US. 23, and plans are under way to link these two expressways with a connecting freeway within the next five to seven years.

Expansion might come here a lot sooner than some older residents would like.

Holly, and numerous other villages surrounding the outer fringes of the major metropolitan areas, are increasingly being viewed by disenchanted dwellers of the city and even the close-in suburbs as potential oases from urban social and economic problems.

The town is now virtually free of traffic jams and the usual gamut of city social problems.

★ ★ ★

Seely Tinsman, the supervisor for Holly Township, explains you will hear little gripping up here from the farmers about the rising property assessment valuation.

Many of them are sitting on potential gold — property to be plucked for subdivision, industrial and commercial development.

LITTLE GROWTH YET

The village hasn't grown much yet, an estimated 20 per cent in nine years from 3,000 to 3,800. But Disbrow believes the next 10 years are likely to be a different story.

There are already rumblings of growth. A few apartment buildings, subdivisions and a shopping center ring the village.

★ ★ ★

Unlike most small towns, the business district is still mostly intact. One can still find two traditional all-purpose small-town dry goods stores. "Snow White" is running at the movie theater, and the Holly Hotel still flashes "packaged liquor" on its windows alongside the now-quiet railroad tracks.

The village progressives — along with Disbrow, some of the council members and residents like attorney Robert McKenney — would like to see Holly change its charter from village to city.

MOST WON'T HAVE IT

But Tinsman, who knows nearly everyone in town, staunchly says the hard-core long-time residents of the community won't have it. "Cityhood means only that you can borrow more money and nothing else."

★ ★ ★

The pro-city people feel that a city charter would be conducive to faster growth; would give the town fathers more latitude in policy making, particularly regarding fiscal and planning matters, and simply replace what they feel is now an antiquated form of government.

★ ★ ★

The village is currently putting the finishing touches on plans for an improved and extended water system.

Council president Leopold Oberheim maintains that once the water system project is completed, the council will then turn to the matter of putting charter change proposal to the voters.

Undoubtedly, it will get a fight!

Hearing Set April 28 on Water Assessment

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A public hearing on the supplemental assessment roll for the Duke and Forestbrook area has been set for 7:45 p.m. April 28.

Proposed special assessments were revised after bids for water mains were opened, and the lowest was $230 over the estimated cost of $990 per residence.

★ ★ ★

Other recent business saw the Township Board confirming the assessment roll for sanitary sewers in Springbrook Subdivision. The estimated cost is $53,300.

The first segment of the 10-Mile-Road sanitary sewer arm to service the subdivision also was approved. The arm, to extend some 3,000 feet west beginning at Middle Belt, has an estimated cost of $146,300.

CONTRACT APPROVED

The board also okayed a contract with Pure Oil Co. of Detroit to furnish bulk gasoline for township cars at 14½ cents per gallon.

A new fire truck was ordered from Bean Co. of Lansing for $33,300.

★ ★ ★

A license to sell bottled liquor also was approved for Mounir Haidar who owns Haidar's Party Store at 29470 10 Mile.

A request for a contribution to the proposed Farmington Area Community Center was rejected.

★ ★ ★

Upon investigation, the board discovered that it could not legally donate money since it wasn't going for a governmental purpose. The attorney cited cases where similar attempts to donate money had been legally stopped.

Disputed Plan Up in White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — The controversial proposed multidevelopment plan for the M59-Hill Road area will be considered again at tonight's township planning commission meeting.

The requested rezoning of the 400 acres from agricultural to other uses should be decided at the 8 p.m. meeting at the Town Hall, township officials indicate.

The developers plan a mobile home park, apartments and townhouses, and business and commercial areas.

The Huron Valley Board of Education and others officially objected to the rezoning at the public hearing in February.

Lapeer Forms Historical Unit

LAPEER — A group of heritage-minded citizens has formed the Lapeer County Historical Society, adopting a formal constitution, electing officers and laying committee action plans.

Committee assignments will include library, museum, publications, historic sites, program, membership and possibly genealogy.

★ ★ ★

First president of the new organization is the Charles D. Braidwood, archdeacon of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Other officers are James Jessop, first vice presient) Ralph Lockwood, second vice president; Mrs. Hazel McCartney, treasurer; Miss Ruth Turnbull, recording secretary; Miss Bernice Dickerson, corresponding secretary; and Ron Jarvis, Mrs. William Goodell and Carl Van Wagoner, directors.

★ ★ ★

Charter memberships will be accepted until May 10. Single adult membership will be $5 per year, with husband-and-wife memberships at $7. High school students may belong for $1. Sustaining or organization membership is $25 and life membership, paid only once, is $100.

Some 70 persons signed up for memberships at the initial meeting of the society.

Orion Library Friends Set Week of Activities

ORION TOWNSHIP — Friends of the Orion Township Library have scheduled a full agenda of activities in observance of National Library Week, which began today.

The Friends will be contacting members of area service clubs and organizations as part of their membership drive. Discussiins will be held with neighboring library associations.

Highlighting the Orion activities is the used book sale. Collection dates are today through Wednesday with the sale slated for Thursday through Saturday at the library.

Vote Is Sought on Trailer Park

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — "It's a huge misunderstanding. We need the park," Township Supervisor Lee Valentine contends.

★ ★ ★

However, residents — about 500 of them — reply:

"You can't guarantee that there will be no children to crowd the schools!"

★ ★ ★

The dialogue is over a proposed trailer park 'club," primarily for senior citizens. A second peition drive in opposition to mobile home sites here has culimated under the sponsorship of Gillis Combs, 296 W. Drahner.

★ ★ ★

Voters rejected a mobile home park proposal in April of 1966 for a Coats Road site. Last March 12, the township planning board recommended approval of a trailer park for the 62-acre Mary Talik estate, options of which are held by D. J. AND G. J. Dougher of California and Waterford Township respectively.

★ ★ ★

The Drougher brothers want to install a 200-400 unit trailer court on land abutting West Drahner Road, a quarter mile off M24.

★ ★ ★

Combs has deliverered a 500-plus signature (300 names are necessary) petition to Township Clerk Wayne Converse that would force yet another trailer park referendum, presumably this time for June.

★ ★ ★

"Each resident of the trailer court would sign a contractural agreement wherein parents would agree to move out of the park by the time the child reaches 1 year of age," Valentine said.

★ ★ ★

Valentine said that the trailer court could provide "low-cost housing for our senior citizens. We need this project for the older residents, for we haven't got anything like it."

Clarkston OKs $3,000 Hike in New Budget

CLARKSTON — The Village Council has approved a budget of $33,531 for the new fiscal year, a slight increase over fiscal 1968's figure of $30,500.

Most of the increase will be used for cost-of-living salary increases for municipal employes.

A special informational meeting on the village's planned sewer system will be held tomorrow night at 8 at Clarkston High School.

The sewer project, now in the preliminary engineering plan phase, will be explained in detail.

Possible financing procedures, line routes and other information will be presented by the village councilmen, attorney, tax consultant, engineer and a representative from the Oakland County Department of Public Works.

Three Pedestrians

State Weekend Traffic Toll 7

By The Associated Press

Seven persons, including three pedestrians, were killed in Michigan traffic accidents this weekend according to the final Associated Press count of highway deaths.

The count began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended last midnight.

Pedestrians killed were James Williams, 42, of Detroit; Gary Briggs, 25, of Mayville; and Jerry Bates, 13, of Sherwood Township.

Williams was struck by a car Saturday while attempting to cross a Detroit street, Briggs died after a car hit him Friday night in Lapeer County's Deerfield Township, and Bates was killed when struck by a car Saturday on M60 in Branch County.

In other fatalities, David F. Wells, 21, ed when struck by a car Saturday on of Charlotte was killed in a head-on auto M60 in Branch County. crash Saturday on U.S. 27 south of Charlotte.

Ila M. Heiden, 66, of Romulus died in a two-car collision Friday night in the Detroit suburb of Taylor.

Enno Bytwert, 75, of Muskegon was killed in a head-on collision Saturday on M46 in Muskegon County's Eggleston Township.

Rudy Rodriguez Uranga, 35, of Milan was killed when his car hit a tree yesterday in Washtenaw County's Pittsfield Township.

Lake Orion School Bonds Defeated

LAKE ORION — Voters, in a record turnout, rejected a $5.5-million school building bond issue Saturday by a 246-vote margin. The vote was 786 yes and 1,032 no.

"I suspect that the school board will propose the question on another ballot after the legal time limit has passed," said Supt. Lewis Mundy.

Lake Orion voters rejected the same proposal in June 1968. The issue would have added an average $27.90 yearly in property taxes, Mundy said.

"This will not affect us this fall," Mundy said, "but in the fall of 1970 we will definitely have to go to half-day sessions, even if a third proposal succeeds. The buildings could not be compteted in time for fall of '70 if a third vote passes."

Mundy said students would have to be housed in portable classroom units next fall as a result of building crowding.

Picked to Head Antipoverty Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon today named Rep. Donald Rumsfeld of Illinois to head the administration's antipoverty program.

★ ★ ★

Rumsfeld, 36, is to become both director of the Office of Economic Opportunity and an assistant to the President with Cabinet rank.

Rumsfeld, a Republican, plans to resign his Congress seat when he is confirmed by the Senate in the OEO post. He will be paid the salary of a presidential assistant, $42,500, the White House said

'The Great White Hope' Tops Tony Awards

NEW YORK (AP) — "The Great White Hope," a drama about the first Negro heavyweight boxing champion, drew top honors for its author, producer and star Sunday night at the presentation of the 23rd annual Tony Awards for the Broadway theater.

A comedy about the American Revolution and the framing of the Declaration of Independence, "1776," was named best musical of the 1968-69 season, and its director was cited as best director of a musical.

★ ★ ★

"The Great White Hope," which is based on the pre-World War I career and private life of fighter Jack Johnson, was named the best dramatic play of the season, and its star, James Earl Jones, was named the best actor in a drama. Jane Alexander, who plays Jones' white mistress, was honored as the best supporting actress in a drama.

Other recipients of top awards were:

—Julie Harris, best actress in a drama, for "Forty Carats."

—Angela Lansbury, best actress in a musical, for "Dear World."

—Jerry Orbach, best actor in a musical, for "Promises, Promises."

TIMING IMPORTANT

After receiving his award, Jones, 37, said the timing of the play had a lot to do with its success. "People are curious about the black man in our society," he said.

Author Howard Sackler, who shared the best play award with producer Herman Levin, said he wrote the play "less because it was a topical issue than because it was someone struggling."

★ ★ ★

He said, however, that he was "very lucky" in his timing and did not think it would have been such a hit had he presented it eight years ago when he first conceived the idea. "The Great White Hope" is Sackler's first Broadway play.

The season also marked a first for Peter Hunt, director of "1776." He attributed the play's success to "a great truth in the material."

NEAR DEADLINE

It was noted that the play almost didn't make the deadline for the awards, opening only 15 hours before the nominating committee met.

The best musical award for "1776" was shared by Sherman Edwards, who wrote the lyrics and music; Peter Stone, author; and Stuart Ostrow, producer.

★ ★ ★

The comedy also brought an award to Ronald Holgate, best supporting actor in a musical.

The best supporting actress in a musical was Marian Mercer of "Promises, Promises."

Other awards went to: Al Pacino of "Does a Tiger Wear a Necktie" as best supporting actor in a drama, Peter Dews of "Hadrian VII" as best director of a drama, Boris Aronson of "Zorba" for best scenic design, Louden Sainthill of "Canterbury Tales" for best costumes and Joe Layton of "George M!" as best choreographer.

The Tony Awards were founded in 1947 in memory of Antoinette Perry, the actress and director, who died in 1946.

Flags, Salutes Mark Queen's Birthday

Flags flew on public buildings and royal gun salutes were fired today in London to mark Queen Elizabeth II's 43rd birthday.

With her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, the Queen spent the day at Windsor Castle, 40 miles west of London. She had no public engagements.

Public celebration of the birthday comes in June when there is less likelihood of bad weather spoiling the military review that is the high point of the occasion.

Holy Man Faces Court on Untouchability Stand

One of India's top four Hindu holy men, the Jagadguru Shankaracharya of Puri, has been ordered to appear in court Thursday in connection with charges that he publicly advocated untouchability.

The government last week announced in Parliament it had urged the Bihar state government to prosecute the Jagadguru for allegedly defending the practice of untouchability in a speech here last month.

The court hearing was called to help determine whether there are grounds for prosecuting under the 13-year-old untouchability act.

If convicted, Jagadguru could be jailed for up to two years and be fined $133.

5 Governors Study Fish Pollution

Pesticide Limit Haste Feared

CHICAGO (AP) — Governors of five states Sunday urged the federal government not to act too hastily in setting maximum limits on how much DDT and other pesticides would be permitted in Great Lakes fish meant for human consumption.

Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie of Illinois, Gov. William G. Milliken of Michigan, Gov. Warren P. Knowles of Wisconsin, Gov. Edgar D. Whitcomb of Indiana and Gov. Harold Levander of Minnesota attended the two-hour conference.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the U.S. Departments of the Interior and Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) also were present.

The Food and Drug Administration recommended recenlty that pesticide levels in Lake Superior and Lake Michigan fish be reduced to 3.5 parts per million.

The governors said, however, that present DDT levels of 12 to 20 parts per million are not harmful. They issued a joint statement which asserted "that available information indicates no demonstrated health hazard in the current pesticide levels in fish."

The governors asked the federal government for $200,000 to expand existing insecticide monitoring programs in the five states and proposed to establish ofur technical committees with the funds.

★ ★ ★

The committees would focus on water pollution control, public health, agriculture and natural resources and recreation, and would issue a report by July 1.

The governors asked that the Food & Drug Administration consider the recommendations of the conference "prior to establishing interim or permanent" pesticide levels in fish.

★ ★ ★

They planned to present their recommendations to Robert Finch, the secretary of HEW, at the Republican governors' conference May 1 in Lexington, Ky.

Some 60 pickets from the United Auto Workers (UAW) representing the five Great Lakes states marched outside the governors' conference to demonstrate that "the people in the Midwest back them wholeheartedly, regardless of party affiliation, for action. . . to stop pollution of our environment."

Nixon's 1st 90 Days: Speaking Softly, Moving Slowly

As Nixon prepared to confer with the National Security Council in a meeting scheduled before the incident, word leaked from the State Department that his first official reaction would be a strongly worded protest to North Korea.

★ ★ ★

After the meeting, the Defense Department confirmed that all available evidence tended to substantiate North Korea's claim that it had shot down the plane, but the Pentagon's 3½-page statement avoided any discussion of political or diplomatic ramifications.

★ ★ ★

And the White House press secretary, Ronald L. Ziegler, in reporting on Nixon's meeting with the security council, would say only that the President was following the situation closely and continuing discussions.

NOTHING MORE

The White House, said Ziegler would have nothing more to say on the subject that day, and declined to speculate on whether any presidential statement could be expected.

★ ★ ★

The net effect was to blunt public debate and criticism. When Secretary of State William P. Rogers, appearing at a luncheon of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, declined to discuss the incident on the ground that "it would be inappropriate at this time," he wasn't pressed for an answer.

★ ★ ★

Then, in a press conference Friday, Nixon said he has ordered the flights to be resumed. They had been discontinued when the plane was shot down. And, the President said, "They will be protected . . . This is not a threat. It is merely a statement of fact." Saturday it was reported that a number of U.S. ships were headed for positions off the Korean coast.

★ ★ ★

Despite the outcome of the Sea of Japan incident, it appears certain that Nixon's policy of avoiding open conflict will soon come to an end.

HIGH-DECIBEL DEBATE

Higher-decidel debate seems certain with the return from Easter holiday of a restive Democratic-controlled Congress. Virtually every Democrat, and many a Republican, can find something displeasing in a revised and reduced federal budget. Still to come, moreover, is the bulk of Nixon's long-awaited domestic legislative program.

★ ★ ★

Inflation prompted the budget cuts, which Nixon claims will produce a surplus in the coming fiscal year of .5.8 billion — biggest since the Truman administration. Nixon says he's confident a hefty surplus, coupled with more tight money, will halt erosion of the dollar's value.

INFLATION ACUTE PROBLEM

Although the chief executive sees inflation as currently the most acute domestic problem, foreign affairs claimed the greatest part of his attention during the first 90 days. The ratio of National Security Council meetings to sessions of the Nixon-created Council for Urban Affairs, its nearest domestic equivalent, was almost precisely two to one.

★ ★ ★

This was natural enough since Nixon believes his freedom of movement in the domestic arena will be limited by budgetary stringency until inflation is brought under control and the country can disengage itself from the Vietnam War.

In his inauugral address, Nixon signaled his intent to put foreign affairs on the top of his agenda:

"The greatest honor history can bestow is the title of peacemaker. This honor now beckons America — the chance to help lead the world at last out of the valley of turmoil and onto that high ground of peace that man has dreamed of since the dawn of civilization . . . This is our summons to greatness."

SMOOTH SAILING IN FOREIGN PORTS—President Nixon chats Saturday in his office with Prince Bernhard of the Netherlands (left) and Henry Kissinger, Nixon's assistant on national security affairs. The President's foreign policy course has not drawn substantial criticism.

STALKING A CLAIM

Within a few days, Nixon moved on three fronts to stake otu a claim as peacemaker, a claim that has yet to be fully worked. But if effort alone means anything — and Nixon has been most free of criticism in the foreign policy area — he did move promptly to develop a still-secret program for ending the Vietnam war, to lay a groundwork for four-power talks that hopefully might hasten a Middle East settlement, and to edge toward eventual talks with the Soviet Union on taking some heat out of the arms race.

★ ★ ★

Voters must take the Vietnam part of the President's peace strategy on faith. He says he has an end-the-war plan but that to talk about it would destroy its value. Addressing the National Association of Broadcasters on March 25, Nixon said:

★ ★ ★

"As far as any negotiated peace is concerned, it will come from private rather than public talks because where both sides — and I am referring now particularly to the North Vietnamese and the South Vietnamese — have a problem of prestige and a problem of face among many others involved, that kind of negotiation cannot take place in a goldfiish bowl . . .If private talks are to be private, they must be private."

★ ★ ★

Still, some of the more persistent doves quickly began making rustling noises at the lack of public announcements of progress toward peace. Only time will determine whether the rustlings were well-founded.

Meanwhile, Richard Nixon is pleased that most Americans seem satisfied, at least for the moment, with his assurance that an end-the-war plan is unfolding in secret, that the South Vietnamese general publicly they do not feel direct negotiations with the Vietcong are out of the question, and that, on the basis of public hints and private "leaks," the United States can forsee a progressive scaling down of American military involvement — regardless of what happens in Paris.

CONCERN DEMONSTRATED

As for the Middle East, Nixon demonstrated his concern during the transition period by dispatching former Gov. William Scranton of Pennsylvania to meet with Israeli officials and their Arab adversaries.

★ ★ ★

Then he set up bilateral talks between U.S. representatives and their cunterparts from the Soviet Union, France and Britain — all with the aim of four-power sessions that now seem assured. Beyond that, Nixon's second official visitor, following Canada's Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau, was the moderate of the Arab world, King Hussein of Jordan. And next came a personal representative of President Abdul a mleNasser of the United Arab Republic in what many believe was a prelude to resumption of diplomatic relations.

★ ★ ★

To the consternation of many, and the private hand-wringing of some who thought no good could come of it, Nixon made the first dramatic move of his first 90 days early in February, announcing a trip to Belgium, West Germany, Britain, France, Italy and the Vatican.

★ ★ ★

Nixon's motives were multifold: to buck up the North Atlantic Treaty Organization by a visit to its Brussels headquarters, and by assuring allied leaders he intended to be a partner and not a dictator; to seek the good will of the president of France, Charles de Gaulle, and to restore at least minimal normal relations between two nations whose mutual aid ties go back to the Revolution; to talk with leaders everywhere — particularly in France and Britain — about possible approaches to a potential Middle East breakthrough; to discuss in Paris the Vietnam negotiators for the United States and Saigon, Henry Cabot Lodge and Gen. Nguyen Cao Ky; to solcit a papal blessing for his peace quest, and, fra from least, to assure America's strongest European allies that their vital interests would not be sacrificed in direct U.S.-Soviet talks.

A LARGE AGENDA

The agenda was a large one, even though Nixon insisted, with justice, that there was no aglenda; anyone at any time could bring up any topic that troubled or merely titillated him. The President's insistence that he was bent on serious, quiet, ask-me-any-thing talks was underscored in his Feb. 23 departure remarks:

★ ★ ★

"It is a trip, I wish to emphasize, which is not intended and will not settle all of the problems fe have in the world. The problems we face are too difficult to be settled by what I would call tbe 'showboat' diplomacy."

★ ★ ★

Despite the disclaimer, Nixon piloted a successful showboat.

De Gaulle indicated he could get along with the U.S. President, as evidenced by a promise to visit Washington formally early in 1970 — a coup that eluded John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson. The Pope gave his blessing. And no host complained, through leaks or otherwise, about lack of progress on Vietnam or the Middle East. Moreover, the Russians made no waves. In fact, a threatened Berlin crisis evaporated within days.

'U.S. WILL NEGOTIATE'

"In due course," Nixon told the NATO Council in Brussels, . . . the United States will enter into negotiations with the Soviet Union on a wide range of issues . . ."

The reaction was one of approval.

★ ★

Whatever spell the President may have cast over Western European leaders traditionally immune to legerdemain, there has been no hint yet that any of them was disquieted by anything Nixon said, including prospects for an American-Soviet summit. The betting is that such will occur, possibly in 1969.

Instead of making a speechnto report on his trip, Nixon chose a television-radio news conference. It was a wise choice since he already had been impressive with apparent candor—before-camera, speaking easily without notes.

MISSILE PROBLEM

On March 14 he held another news conference — this time to propound his recommended solution to the antiballistic missile controversy — a difficult choice between the LBJ proposal to try to defend major cities with nuclear-tipped missiles and counterarguments that escalation of the arms race with the Soviets would result — and furthermore, that the ABM has no proven reliability.

Nixon decided on a cautious compromise — a thin shield around two Minuteman offensive missile bases in sparsely populated regions instead of the Johnson plan to deploy ABMs in silk-stocking suburbs with vocal citizens' associations.

★ ★ ★

On this issue, if no other, the Nixon administration displayed neophite status. Secretary of State Rogers quietly contradicted Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird. Whereas the Pentagon chief suggested the Nixon-renamed "Safeguard" ABM was needed to ward off a Soviet threat to wipe out America's offensive punch with a Pearl Harbor "first strike," Rogers saw no such threat.

★ ★ ★

The outcome of the issue is in doubt. Everyone seems agreed that, at this point, the Senate vote on whether to provide funds needed to make Safeguard a reality is debatable. But perhaps more important to Nixon, a senator named Edward M. Kennedy is establishing himself as the leader of the ABM opposition. With a great many voters undecided about ABM, however, there seems little reason to believe the issue will be paramount, if it's even remembered, in 41 months.

HESITANT APPROACH

What may be better remembered is Nixon's hesitant approach in his first 90 days to pressing domestic issues. On civil rights the new administration speaks with a plentitude of often-discordant voices.

Where the enormous problems of the cities are concerned, there have been vagully phrased promises that things will get better sometime in the future. As for the unrest of those over 30 concerning the unrest of those younger, Nixon produced a statement that barely penetrated anyone's consciousness.

★ ★ ★

Then there's crime in the streets, possibly the biggest of campaign issues. The President, early on, came up with an anticrime program for the nation's capital — a program that hasn't lit any fires in Congress. His national plan was about 90 days coming.

It was with Congress, whence he sprang, that Nixon had his worst luck in the first 90 days.

CRIES OF 'FOUL'

When the President announced he was stripping old colleagues on the Hill of longstanding patronage powers over the nomination of postmasters, all in the cause of merit instead of politics, there were cries of "foul" from some fellow republicans who hadn't been consulted; others in Congress applauded quietly, conceding privately that Nixon had relieved them of a burdensome chore.

Among congressional Republicans, there also were complaints aplenty about the chief executive's tortoise-style pace in filling potential high level vacancies inside the executive branch — jobs the GOP stalwarts felt should be assigned quickly to deserving Republicans.

★ ★ ★

Nixon discovered there were Democrats in the bureaucracy who, presumably because of merit, deserved a place on his team. And when he failed to retain Democratic holdovers, Nixon took his time about filling vacancies. Several hundred remain after 90 days.

Even the State Department, it seems, is immune to the wholesale housecleaning promised by candidate Nixon. That was the cleansing "that wasn't even done during the Eisenhower administration."

A BIT OF TROUBLE

With the Democrats in control of Congress, Nixon had trouble with the first of his legislative proposals.

When the new President suggested a reduction of that portion of the national debt subject to congressional limitation, the Democrats, aided by the more conservative Republicans, slapped him down. The Democrats, thinking 41 months ahead, felt that acquiescense might make Nixon appear to be a debt-reducer.

Nixon also has encountered trouble with a compromise plan to congressional limitation, tne designed to ensure that presidents are elected by majority vote — a current issue because of the close call on Nov. 5 and the third party bid of George Wallace.

Whereas Nixon recommended simple legislation to divide each state's electoral college vote in proportion to the popular vote, he is finding strong sentiment in Congress for a Constitutional amendment that would scrap the misnamed "college" and provide for direct election of presidents. That issue, too, hangs in the balance.

TENUOUS HONEYMOON

For all these tribulations, Nixon at the three-month mark has managed to preserve a tenuous honeymoon with Congress — and one that quite probably will last longer with the voters.

Still he continues to move cautiously and with lowered voice. It's 41 months before the next presidential campaign, and judging from Nixon's pace in the first 90 days, he is not convinced the race will go to the swift.

★ ★ ★

While two potential Democratic opponents, Sens. Ted Kennedy and Edmund S. Muskie, dart about the countryside like sprinters, Nixon exhibits the unhurried stride of a tortoise.

★ ★ ★

One must assume the President spoke with deliberation aforethought, and explained a lot, when he told Republican campaign workers, the day after his inaugural, an anecdote about President James Buchanan, a one-term Democrat who felt the nation's highest office had come to him too late.

FRIENDS, ENEMIES

Driving from the Capitol to the White House, Nixon related, Buchanan told his carriage companions, in effect, "That all his friends that he wanted to reward had died, and all of his enemies that he hated and wanted to punish were now his friends."

Perhaps a one-term president by choice, but more likely a striver for two, Nixon presented a piano to Harry Truman last month.

★ ★ ★

The tortoise could turn out to be a possum.

He Draws Mixed Reviews

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are capsule comments on congressional assessment of President Nixon's first 90 days in office:

"It is not too early to note the slowness of the pace of the Nixon administration. The time for action is past due."—Assistant Democratic House leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma.

★ ★ ★

"After being tempest-tossed by violent, discordant, chaotic and confusing events in recent months and years. America ached for quiet and a period of calm. President Nixon's administration is providing that air of quietude."—House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan.

★ ★ ★

"More has been accomplished than a mere show of action through a barrage of ill considered, hastily enaction legislative panaceas that have proven to create more problems than they solve."—House Assistant Republican leader Leslie C. Arends of Illinois.

"From now on crises at home and abroad are likely to crowd in upon him,"—Senate Democratic leaders Mike Mansfield of Montant and Edward M. Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"Congress and the country can now expect a rapid series of messages dealing with the various items in (his) program." — Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, Senate Republican leader.

'He Has Not Realized . . . The Domestic Crisis'

Humphrey Is Critical of Domestic Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Presidedent Nixon has not realized the gravity of the domestic crisis," says former Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

Of $4 billion in recent budget cuts ordered by Nixon, Humphrey said, $3 billion came from domestic programs and this was "indicative of the administration's attitude."

★ ★ ★

Humphrey said he is not sure the military budget — cut by $1 billion — is too large, but he felt the time had come for "an indepth inquiry" into Pentagon spending.

Humphrey spoke on the NBC program "Meet the Press."

★ ★ ★

As for his political future, he said, "I'm not dead, and there are a few others around . . . I'm not through with public affairs, but I'm not sure about public office." He said he has not decided on whether to run for the Senate in 1970 or seek the presidency again in 1972.

Laborers OK Excavating Firms' Offer

Stoppage of work on the mammoth $28.5-million Clinton-Oakland Sewer Interceptor was averted yesterday when the membership of a laborers' union voted to accept a contract proposal.

Ratifying an agreement giving workers about a 79-cent wage hike over the next 18 months were members of Local 1076 of the Laborers International Union of America.

Locals in Macomb County and Detroit also approved the contract, which involves work done by the Association of Underground Contractors.

* * *

The agreement did not cover tunnel work, however. A union official said any tunnel jobs under way will be picketed. About six such projects are under construction in the county, he said.

The vote on the new contract was about 60-40, according to union officials.

A Look at TV

Tony Show Rewarding

By CYNTHI ALOWREY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK — The Broadway Tony awards, which in two previous television programs led the other awards shows in pace, class and general interest, seemed last night to be falling into the old Oscar trap.

With awards voted in 15 categories plus five special Tonys to hand out, plus scenes from several top plays to present, the show bogged down with the introductions of the presenters, the envelope-opening and the thanks speeches.

Just about every great theatrical name, however, was on stage at some time—Sir Laurence Olivier flew over from England to pick up his special award. The program, scheduled to occupy 90 minutes of NBC time, was close to 45 minutes late in winding up.

Tony's charm for the average viewer with little access to the Broadway theatre is always the liberal sampling provided from top shows. There were scenes from "Zorba," "The Lovers," "Promises, Promises," "1776" and "Hair"—the last perhaps a bit disappointing since the cast sang a production number completely clothed.

CBS plans to inaugurate a new policy of permitting television reviewers to preview some programs and have their judgments available to viewers before broadcast time.
