Big British Protest on Viet Contained

LONDON (AP) — Police yesterday contained and controlled the largest demonstration against the Vietnam war ever held in London and repelled a small attack on the U.S. Embassy without using nightsticks.

The only serious damage reported was not in London but at the John F. Kennedy Memorial at Rummymede, west of the capital. An explosion Saturday night split the seven-ton stone slab down the middle. The local chief of detectives said it could have been an antiwar protest or possibly a protest against Mrs. Kennedy's marriage to Aristotle Onassis.

Police estimated about 30,000 persons marched through London, all but a few hundred peacefully. Some 7,000 demonstrated in Grosvenor Square, site of the American Embassy, and 200 to 300 extremists broke away for a flying wedge attack on the big white building.

Related Picture, Page A-2

The police slowly pushed and shoved the militants back, penning them into the southwest corner of the square and stopping any attempt to breakout. Gradually the young demonstrators ran out of steam and drifted away. London was quiet again by 9 p.m.

FEW INJURED

Casualty figures were low. Five policemen and about 40 demonstrators received medical treatment, although hundreds more had minor cuts and bruises.

Thirty-nine demonstrators were arrested, for carrying chains, sticks and bottles as "offensive weapons" and for a brief burst of window-smashing and bottle-throwing.

'REVOLUTION'

The demonstration had been billed by the organizers as a "day of revolution." Militant circles had buzzed with rumors that government buildings, banks, the stock exchange and conservative newspapers would be stormed and occupied. None was.

The London School of Economics was occupied by its students for the weekend as a hostel and casualty station for demonstrators.

The main march drew about 20,000 less than expected, but it was the largest in London since the ban-the-bomb marches of the late 1950s and early 1960s.

Snow Flurries Forecast Today

Oakland County residents have had a taste of Squaw Winter and Indian Summer, and now it looks like they may have a touch of real winter.

This morning's showers, according to the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast, will continue sporadically throughout the day — at times mixed with snow flurries.

The strong gust winds, from the southwest to west at 12 to 25 miles per hour, will tug leaves from trees until this afternoon when they will swing to the west-northwest at 8 to 14 m.p.h. By tomorrow, winds will be from the west at 5 to 15 m.p.h.

Mideast Cooling After Suez Fight

TEL AVIV (AP) — The usual sporadic firing along the cease-fire lines around Israel resumed last night after a nine-hour battle across the Suez Canal the day before. U.N. observers said the Egyptians started it.

Israel said two civilians were wounded by Jordanian rockets today in the Beisan Valley north of the Allenby Bridge across the Jordan River. A Jordanian spokesman claimed Israeli gunners fired first, shelling two Jordanian villages. He said there were no Jordanian casualties.

The Israeli army said an Egyptian sniper on the west bank of the Suez Canal wounded an Israeli soldier on the east bank today.

The battle across the canal Saturday was one of the hottest along the waterway in the 17 months since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war ended. Israel reported 15 of its soldiers dead and 34 wounded. Egypt said five of its soldiers were killed and nine wounded.

EGYPTIAN ROCKETS

The U.N. report by Norwegian Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, the chief observer, said Egyptian rockets fired first in three successive exchanges.

Informed sources in Tel Aviv said Israeli troops may have been caught by surprise. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, hero of the 1967 war, was reported visiting troops along the east bank where Israel reported sharpened watches.

The area was quiet yesterday although the U.N. team said Egyptians west of the canal fired on Israeli planes flying east of it. It said fires were still burning in Egyptian oil refineries at Port Suez.

The national Lebanese news agency charged that Israel shelled one of its border villages yesterday, wounding two Lebanese soldiers. It said a U.N. truce commission conducted an investigation.

Charges Traded Meanwhile by Nixon, Hubert

From Our News Wires

The presidential election campaign roared into its final week today with partisan appeals from President Lyndon Johnson and former President Dwight Eisenhower. Meanwhile, the candidates exchanged charges and countercharges.

From a sickbed in Washington, former President Eisenhower wrote GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon that the country needs a leader to unite it, deal with crime and its causes, cope with Vietnam and other foreign problems and decentralize a federal power structure which is "the heritage of years of Democratic rule."

"You, better than any other political figure I have seen or heard, are equipped to do these things," the general told his onetime vice president.

President Johnson, on a quick trip to a New York Democratic luncheon yesterday, called Nixon and the Republican party "apostles of inaction," and predicted "Hubert Humphrey is going to wake up the morning of Nov. 6 as the president-elect."

RED THREAT CITED

He said Russia was threatening to bury America when Eisenhower left office and there was danger of a Communist take-over in the Congo.

Nixon said last night on television that he did not believe Johnson would use the Paris talks on Vietnam for political purposes, but he indicated there were others in the administration who might.

Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon will be in Oakland County tomorrow at a rally at the Raleigh House in Southfield, Telegraph north of 10 Mile Road. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Nixon. The event begins at 1:15 p.m.

Humphrey immediately said that if Nixon has evidence any member of the administration "is playing politics with the peace negotiations, I call on him to spell it out now — openly."

In a national radio broadcast yesterday, Nixon said the administration had "frittered away" the chance for a "swift decisive stroke" to end the war and that including Communists in a coalition government in South Vietnam would amount to a "thinly disguised surrender."

Heroic Flint Youth Cited in Rescue of Orion Man

By JEAN SAILE

A 19-year-old Flint youth has been recommended by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies for a heroic citation for his successful efforts in keeping an unconscious Orion Township man from drowning.

Johnny R. Blake of Flint reportedly spent 45 minutes in the chilly waters of the Clinton River early yesterday keeping the head of David R. Regner, 23, 255 Peters afloat until the area man could be freed from his partially submerged car.

Regner was reportedly traveling north on I-75 about 2:50 a.m. when he lost control of his auto. It struck the bridge abutment over the Clinton River in Pontiac Township and plummeted about 30 feet into the river where it sank to the windows.

Blake, traveling north with his sister and a cousin, saw the accident and stopped to assist Bloomfield Township police who were on the scene.

LOWERED INTO RIVER

He volunteered to have a rope tied around his waist and to be lowered over the embankment into the river. Once in the water, Blake tried to open the car doors but they were jammed. He succeeded in breaking a window and was able to hold Regner's head clear of the water until he was freed by the Pontiac Township Fire Department.

Regner is in the intensive care unit at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital where he is being treated for facial lacerations and possible chest infection, according to his mother, Mrs. John Regner of 2436 Pauline, Waterford Township.

Blake was treated for exposure following his ordeal and released. "It took all day yesterday to get warmed up again," reported the youth. Regner is married and the father of two.

Bunker and Thieu Meet Again on Peace Proposals

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Nguyen Van Thieu met today for the eighth time in 13 days, presumably to discuss American peace proposals to North Vietnam.

The meeting at the presidential palace lasted about 45 minutes. A spokesman said another session was scheduled later today. There was no comment on what was discussed.

Prime Minister Tran Van Huong of South Vietnam said in remarks reported today by the Vietnam press agency, the "main obstacle" to peace was a North Vietnamese demand that representatives of the National Liberation Front (NLF) the political arm of the Vietcong, be included in negotiations.

Huong said the Saigon government's position is that the NLF is "only a tool of Communist North Vietnam."

ECHOES VIEWPOINT

"The NLF can appear at the conference table only as an element of the North Vietnamese delegation," Huong said.

Ton That Thien, the South Vietnamese information minister, echoed Huong's viewpoint. "If we sit in Paris, there will be three delegations — from South Vietnam, Hanoi and the United States — and no NLF as a separate delegation," Thien said.

She 'Scores' in Grid Contest becomes the recipient of the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

How did it all happen?

LONE BELIEVER

The contest went into its seventh game with five contestants backing the favored Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes with but a lone believer in the Auburn (Ala.) Tigers.

But the ferocity of the Tigers out-matched the gusts of the Hurricanes as they clawed their way to a 31-6 victory and the contest title for Miss Nelmes.

The losing quintet may salvage a bit of consolation, if nothing more negotiable, in the knowledge that Miami was the pick of the predictors.

Our own panel of five Swarms were 3-2 for the Hurricanes. Also moonish over Miami was that perky and pontifical pigskin pundit, Major Amos B. (for Blimp) Hoople.

The winner has been a regular participant in the annual contests and had had several near-misses before coming up with the winning combination for the one just concluded.

Miss Nelmes modestly disclaims any occult powers in making her picks, crediting her success to the traditional trait of feminine intuition.

Feminine intuition as applied to our football contests has proved far more productive than its masculine counterpart — the male hunch. Since the inception of the yearly grid games, the ladies have been posting wins with monotonous — for the men — regularity.

Miss Nelmes has no immediate plans for her windfall, though travel is in her mind. A native of Wales, it wouldn't be surprising were she to visit the country and relatives not seen for nearly half a century.

The 1968 contest was shortened dramatically when the first game ended in a tie, cutting the starting field of nearly 4,000 entrants to 65. It was the first tie since 1963, when Michigan and Michigan State played to a 7-7 deadlock and brought that year's contest to an early conclusion. During the interim, the contests have run through 13, 14, 15 and 12 games, respectively.

Hubert Calls Foe a Militarist

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey opened the final week of his campaign today with a charge that Republican Richard M. Nixon advocates "an increasing militarization of American life, and American foreign policy."

To begin his stretch-drive for the presidency the increasingly optimistic Democratic candidate led his forces into Ohio—a state rich with electoral votes but one which many surveys indicate as Nixon country.

But the vice president, appearing on television Sunday, said private surveys show he has better than a 50-50 chance to win in Ohio and he added: "You know we do not get these surveys to please us. We get these voter surveys and polls to give us some sense of direction ... I believe the trends indicate we are on the move and one of the sure things in politics that's vital and important is what is the trend as you move to Election Day. And I believe the trend is absolutely in our favor."

'FAST AND LOOSE'

Humphrey, in remarks prepared for a rally in this tire-making center, turned his fire once again on Nixon's assertion that the Johnson and Kennedy administrations had permitted a security gap which Nixon would correct as president.

Humphrey charged that his Republican opponent is playing fast and loose with our national security.

Humphrey accused Nixon of "urging a mad escalation of the nuclear arms race. And he is advocating an increasing militarization of American life and American foreign policy."

Humphrey said that the figures his opponent has used on American arms strength are "phony and his facts are wrong."

'TOO PERILOUS'

"I say these times are too difficult and perilous for anyone to tell less than the truth about our national security."

"And Mr. Nixon certainly has given us less than the truth," Humphrey said that the "real Nixon" was emerging in these final days of the campaign and he declared:

"So batten down the hatches for the most desperate and cynical display of political irresponsibility ever seen in America. That's the real Nixon—and that's the Nixon we're going to beat next Tuesday."

In this final week of the campaign, Humphrey is hitting the big states. After four stops in Ohio, he goes on to Pittsburgh tonight.

Surge of Optimism Buoy Dem Camp

By HARRY KELLY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON — Eighteen and nineteen-hour days. Long motorcades. Longer flights with the steady drumming of the jets. A croaking voice and tired eyes ... and a sudden feeling of optimism in Hubert H. Humphrey.

There are roses on the flagship of the Humphrey campaign fleet. Roses are for winners. And Humphrey seems almost convinced he is one. It's not a cocksure feeling. There are its —is named California, Texas and New York, for instance.

Late at night, after a day of bubbling enthusiasm on the public platforms, he can be realistically frank when talking to those who have contributed $1,000 apiece to his campaign: "I'm not at all sure how this election's going to come out. I wish I could come here and just tell you that I think we've got it wrapped up. That the trend is so good that it's going to be ours. I'm not sure of that. I suppose my advisers will say, well, there you blew it again."

News Analysis

"But I think candor is required. The fact of the matter is that we are on the upward market trend. There isn't any doubt about it. We're moving and we're moving fast."

Fast enough?

With a week to go, the polls show Humphrey has begun narrowing the lead Nixon has held since the Republican convention. Money is falling more freely into the Humphrey campaign account—and out again in more advertising.

Kenneth O'Donnell, the Kennedy aide and ally, has joined the campaign. Joseph Rauh, the vice chairman of the Americans for Democratic Action who was one of the first supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy's presidential effort, flew out to California with Humphrey. And he stayed behind to work with McCarthy and Kennedy dissidents who have refused to support Humphrey.

The vice president says he has at least a 50-50 chance of winning Texas and New York—along with Maine, Connecticut, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Rhode Island, Delaware, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri, Tennessee, Minnesota, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Maryland, Kentucky, Washington and West Virginia.

Paper Throws Support to VP

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The Milwaukee Journal, in an editorial in its Sunday edition, endorsed Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey for president. The newspaper also called a vote for George Wallace "a wasted vote and a dangerous vote."

The Journal said that there were two basic issues — "The war in Vietnam and the complex racial-urban-poverty problems at home."

It said that neither Humphrey nor former vice president Richard Nixon "is wholly satisfactory" on the Vietnam issue, and added, "Either, given the temper of the nation, would have to seek peace avidly if it does not come before January."

The Journal said, "As to which one might do it better, one can judge only the past record."

'FIGHTS FOR PEACE'

The newspaper said, "Humphrey has been a leader in the fight for peace." It said, "Nixon has been a hawk over the years."

The Journal also said that Humphrey "has a chance to get substantial black support" while Nixon "has all but ignored the Negro in his campaign."

Talks Stress Pay in Huron Valley

Teacher contract negotiations in the Huron Valley School District will continue this week as administrators and teachers meet to discuss salaries with a state labor mediator.

Both parties will meet tomorrow to discuss money matters in the contract. Noneconomic differences were discussed at a meeting held last Tuesday also attended by the state mediator.

Teachers in the district reported back to their classrooms on Sept. 4, the first day of school, after overwhelmingly rejecting a proposed three-year contract including a salary reopener after two years.

The board of education had approved the contract in July.

NO BITTER FEELINGS

Mrs. Kathryn Meagher, president of the Huron Valley unit of the Michigan Education Association, said the faculty has no bitter feelings regarding the contract.

She said the most salient objection the teachers have is the proposed salary and the duration of the contract.

Minimum and maximum salaries for the first year of the proposed contract are: B.A., $6,900-$9,821; M.A., $7,762-$11,048; specialist degree, $8,731-$12,428. Maximum for all degrees can be attained after nine years.

Swartz Creek Teachers Approve New Contract

SWARTZ CREEK (AP) — Teachers in Swartz Creek agreed yesterday to a new contract, an 11½-hour bargaining session and schools opened today.

The teachers, who have been working without a contract since September, had voted Saturday to strike today if a contract settlement was not reached.

The agreement was reached last night after bargaining teams met several times over the weekend.

Details of the contract were not released pending the ratification vote this morning.

Teeples Is on Year-Round Campaign

Traffic Biggest Killer, Holly Chief Says

HOLLY — "I'm excited over people being killed, and traffic is the biggest killer," said Police Chief Omer Teeples. Chief Teeples, who is always on a year-round traffic safety campaign, says most accidents happen to people with poor driving patterns.

Many of the serious automobile accidents are caused by motorists driving at high speeds, he contends.

Teeples, who spent 25 years on the Detroit police force before coming to Holly, says it is easy to establish a speedy driving pattern, especially if one uses the freeways often.

'EVERYBODY'S FASTER'

"Everyone is driving faster these days by habit, because of the experience gained through increasing use of expressways," Teeples says.

"Take a meek, timid little girl who usually drives 25 miles per hour, and send her out on the freeway for about 30 miles every day. Within a short time she will develop a feel of the powerful machine in her authority. She will then drive that car with more guts than the entire backfield of a college football team."

Many teen-age girls and women are increasing their speed and contributing more to automobile fatality and injury statistics, he adds.

"In the old days, women didn't drive as much as men, so their accident rate was much lower. There are at least two cars in almost every family now, and women are logging as many or more miles per day than most men. They drive the fast, easy-handling cars, too," Teeples continues.

DRIVER CAN'T STOP

One of the biggest problems with speed, is that the driver often can't stop soon enough to avoid an accident. A car moving at 25 miles per hour can stop in 67 feet. A car traveling 70 mph will travel at least 532 feet before it can come to a complete stop — if it doesn't hit a guard rail, another car or a tree first, he contends.

"Holly is a low-accident area," Teeples says. To stay in this category, there must be education, engineering and enforcement.

"Are you the first one away from a traffic light? If so, you may be narrowing your chances of avoiding a serious traffic accident," Teeples comments.

He cites another poor driving pattern. Kindergartners learn to look both ways before crossing a street. Many motorists fail to remember that this rule also applies to them.

WEEKEND RECORD

Enforcement also has a lot to do with the accident rate, Teeples says. There are more accidents on weekends because police patrol is lighter: then. "More people are killed in traffic accidents than in any other manner. People should get more excited over this and do more toward education, engineering and enforcement, to attempt to cut down traffic accident rates. Then they can crack down on motorcycle gangs, rapists and riots," concludes the Holly chief.

Inn Is Robbed; Alert Officer Aids Arrest of 2

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The Kingsley Inn, 1475 Woodward, was robbed of $400 at gunpoint early yesterday, but two suspects were apprehended about a half hour later due to alert police work by Birmingham Officer Keith Pennington.

One shot was fired in the 3:30 a.m. robbery, and night clerk William Mason was reportedly knocked out by two blows on the head.

Mason was confronted by two men who pulled a gun and demanded money. After striking Mason, the bandits fired one shot as he lay on the floor according to police. The shot missed, hit the block wall behind his desk, ricocheted and landed on the counter.

Mason was able to furnish police a description of the bandits, but not of the getaway car.

FOLLOWS CAR

Pennington, on rounds at Woodward and Oakland, reportedly heard the description and saw two men who answered it sitting in a car at the intersection waiting for a stoplight.

He tailed the car, attempting to get a vehicle description, then, when he learned none was available, attempted to halt the car.

Bloomfield Hills Police Chief Walter Sluiter said the suspects' car then accelerated. A chase began, and the suspects were finally stopped on Livernois in Troy when they were met by Troy officers coming from the opposite direction. Two Birmingham police cars were slightly damaged in the chase.

Due to be arraigned this morning before Judge Jack Baldwin of Bloomfield Hills are Homer L. Yott, 19, and Floyd Davis, 20, both of Highland Park. They are charged with armed robbery.

MONEY RECOVERED

Sluiter said $282.62 of the money, obtained from the Kingsley Inn cash register and a money drawer, had been recovered. He said the money and the gun had been thrown from the fleeing car.

A bullet, either from a 22- or 25-caliber gun, according to Sluiter, was recovered.

Ex-Convict Is Arrested in Rape-Shooting Case

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — An ex-convict has been arrested in connection with the rape-shooting of a Kalamazoo woman who was found wandering along a toll road northwest of Chicago.

Dennis Pearson, 26, Battle Creek, was charged with taking a stolen auto across state lines. Federal Bureau of Investigation officials said. The auto was identified as belonging to Mrs. Sally Heaton, 31, who remained in critical condition in a suburban Chicago hospital after being shot five times.

Pearson also was wanted by the Cook County, Ill., sheriff's department for assault with intent to commit murder, the FBI said.

Nelson E. Weaver, 26, was arrested in company with Pearson at Pearson's Battle Creek home Saturday, officials said.

State warrants were outstanding against Weaver charging him with armed robbery, the FBI said.

Pearson had been paroled from Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson Oct. 8.

Mrs. Heaton, a mother of three, told police she left a Kalamazoo bar Tuesday night in the company of two men who raped her, shot her three times in the head, once in the hand and once in the neck and dumped her on the highway.

United States Commissioner John T. Peters Jr. set bond at $100,000 for Pearson. A preliminary hearing was scheduled for Nov. 1.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases — to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind. The secret is Preparation H® — an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress — Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK — Richard M. Nixon is escalating his strategy and retracing his route through the major electoral vote states in the final eight days of the Republican campaign for the White House.

He is running harder than before, covering more ground, making more speeches, purchasing more television time.

There is in this a hint of GOP concern at the shape of the public opinion polls, which show Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey narrowing the Nixon lead. But Nixon's strategists say they expected the big margin to be cut and the current pace is part of a master plan shaped 10 weeks ago.

"WE PLANNED IT"

"This is the blitz," said one top Nixon adviser. "This is the way we planned it."

News Analysis

And the planning has been meticulous. Sunday, for example, preparing for his appearance on the CBS television program "Face the Nation," Nixon studied 35 questions — and suggested answers — prepared by his staff as likely to come up during the interview.

The Republican nominee, who had shunned the television interview earlier in the campaign, also plans to appear next Sunday on the NBC-TV program "Meet the Press."

It is all part of the escalation — and supplies Nixon with two half-hour chunks of free, nationwide television time in the final campaign days.

"LIFE POLITICS"

The Nixon campaign also produced a half-hour show of its own Sunday night, featuring the nominee's reminiscences about his youth and his life in politics. Thursday night, there is an hour-long telecast — worth about $150,000 — of a Nixon rally at Madison Square Garden.

And on election eve, Nixon will stage a two-hour televised session from Los Angeles, answering questions.

This week, Nixon is scheduled to campaign in the seven biggest electoral vote states: New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Texas and California.

He has been in all of them before; he rates them all as crucial.

One concern of Nixon strategists: Should a handful of those states, in each of which Nixon has claimed the lead, slip into the Humphrey column, the result could be an Electoral College deadlock. That prospect, of course, is raised by the third-party campaign of George C. Wallace.

Another feature of the campaign windup: an intensified attack on Humphrey. Nixon has called his rival a man bankrupt of ideas, a candidate whose symbol should be a dinosaur, a pupil in Lyndon Johnson's obedience school.

Through it all, Nixon appears to be working to insulate himself against the possible political shock waves of a dramatic peace move in Vietnam.

Friday that he had learned of a peace drive aimed at a bombing pause and a possible cease-fire. Humphrey presumably would reap major political benefits, which had overrun the island of Santa Cruz, 60 miles west of Los Angeles, is being restored to cattle grazing of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

Nixon Is Put on the Defensive

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, appearing suddenly embattled in the final week of his presidential campaign, is defending himself against a series of charges.

Nixon, making his first network television interview, appeared in two years, also suggested directly Sunday night that "people within the White House staff" — but not President Johnson — are trying to achieve a Vietnam bombing halt in an 11th-hour effort to boost the candidacy of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey. He did this in trying to explain an earlier public statement that stirred controversy.

The defensive stance of the GOP candidate, generally regarded as the front runner in the campaign, was further underscored by public statements from two top aides attacking a national public opinion poll that, it was suggested, will soon indicate a Humphrey spurt.

Nixon, heading for rallies today in Albany, N.Y. and Pittsburgh, was questioned about Agnew's past business dealings on "Face the Nation" on CBS.

Asked to comment on an editorial Saturday in the New York Times accusing Agnew of "clear and repeated conflicts of interest" and controversial real estate deals, Nixon said:

"This is the lowest kind of gutter politics that a great newspaper could possibly engage in. It is not news that's fit to print."

Agnew, campaigning in San Francisco, had no comment Sunday night.

The Times, in its news pages, subsequently printed a comment by John B. Oakes, editorial page chief:

"The editorial... was a moderately worded expression of some of the reasons for the Times' belief that Mr. Agnew is indeed unfit to be vice president of the United States."

NO FACTS DENIED

"Amidst all his verbal enunciation Mr. Nixon denies no statement of fact in the editorial except one detail on which he is quite imprudent."

Nixon said in defense of Agnew that his running mate has demonstrated in the campaign that he can take political heat. He went on:

"I have made some mistakes; he has made some mistakes. And when he makes them or I make them, I think we try to get up and say, well, we admit them and try to correct them. But he is a strong man... I am

The GOP candidate also was questioned about a statement Friday in which he raised, and rejected, charges of "a cynical, last-minute attempt by President Johnson to salvage the candidacy of Mr. Humphrey" by arranging a Vietnam bombing halt and perhaps a cease-fire.

Nixon said he issued the statement because of news accounts and "a great deal of discussion" that this might be the case.

NO SUCH DISPATCH

The Republican nominee cited but one news account as having helped prompt his statement. "A UPI report from Washington indicating that there was a lot of speculation that there were insiders in the White House staff who were attempting to work out some sort of a settlement, and that the President was going to be used for that purpose."

'Vote for George Wallace Is Not Wasted'

Wallace can win. Many do not realize that in a three-way race for president Wallace needs only slightly more than one-third of the popular vote to give him the state's electoral votes. This has happened in the past: Thomas Jefferson, John Quincy Adams, John F. Kennedy, Abraham Lincoln, etc. Considering that only a plurality is needed to win and not a majority, a vote for Wallace is not wasted.

Helmet legislation is widely opposed. If our personal safety is anyone's business but our own, we are no longer free. We are not a stupid race and are quite capable of making decisions concerning our own safety. How about spending some legal efforts in some other field where it is needed.

It Seems to Me . . .

Many Countries Feel Blast of Kremlin's Vile Outbursts

Without making any specific attempt to enumerate the countless examples of Russian belligerence in the past several weeks, one thing becomes apparent:

The Reds are ugly.

How can the people put up with such war-mad leaders? The average Russian citizen isn't any more anxious to engage in pitched battle than the average American. But he knuckles down willy-nilly before these savages in the top Kremlin posts.

One of the comforting thoughts slowly spreading in regard to Russia concerns the Red Chinese. Some people believe that if the United States can put its own house in order at home and leave the Southeastern Asian battlefields, Russia and China may possibly concentrate on each other.

This would be a happy circumstance for us.

Baseball Popularity Fades . . .

Is baseball on the way out? RED BARBER says it is.

This may be a strange time to voice such sentiments as the Tigers just won the pennant. But BARBER is looking at the over-all picture.

He bases his observations on the fact he hears the young people discussing surfing, skin diving, boating, football, golf, tennis, etc. He believes baseball has lost the young generation.

Baseball is helping kill itself with the interminable length of time it takes. The pitcher takes a throw from the catcher, looks around, settles back, stretches slightly, stoops over to peer for a signal, straightens up, steps off the mound, kicks a meaningless dust pile, looks at the left fielder, looks at the ball, shuffles back to the mound, stretches, goes into a trance and finally pitches.

And the ump says: "Ball two."

The players are killing the game themselves and BARBER says the owners and managers aren't observant enough to catch on. Pitchers today are overpowering the hitters and fans want action. There's no thrill in a routine grounder or a pop fly.

Don't cite current attendance statistics in the championship areas. Wait for tomorrow—and tomorrow.

'Wrong Way' Senator . . .

The disheartening regularity with which Senator PHILIP HART supports the wrong side is turning Michigan voters away from him.

His name isn't in the dispatches often as he doesn't do enough, and when he does, you find him voting the wrong way.

He always peers anxiously at the White House to see which way the President's thumb is pointing.

HART's name isn't on the ballot this November, but it comes up two years hence. Unless there's an amazingly reversal, he'll be retired to his phantom home in Michigan.

Battle Against Rats . . .

When the $40 million bill to exterminate rats first came up in Congress, many people laughed openly—and loudly. The sponsors retreated. But the awful truth slowly came into the limelight and the matter was reopened. That was in the U.S.

Now consider India.

Death there from starvation rates highest and yet the Indian Food and Agriculture Ministry estimates ten per cent of India's entire grain crops are consumed by rats. The problem is deadly.

Can't the world declare war on these murderous pests?

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

When this year concludes, rented automobiles will have carried passengers more than two billion miles. The rent-a-car business is flourishing. . . . More than 125 million turkeys will be raised this year in the U.S. Did you know the poor, old turkey is about the dumbest bird or beast extant? They hardly know enough to eat. On an experimental basis, some have been grown to 70 pounds.

When a veteran tells you he's familiar with all varieties of fish, just smile. There are 40,000 species.

It's That Time Of Year

David Lawrence Says:

Czech Plight Virtually Ignored

WASHINGTON — A puzzling indifference prevails in the United States today among so-called "intellectual" groups toward the plight of peoples who are either under the despotism or threatened with invasion by a foreign regime.

Loud cries have been heard in America for free speech and freedom of dissent and against any interference with "demonstrations" in behalf of such principles. But the tragedy of the invasion of Czechoslovakia — perhaps the most flagrant defiance of international morality in many years — has awakened no massive manifestations of disapproval.

The Soviet government, meanwhile, has arrogantly broadened its political doctrine and has indicated that communism must be accepted by the countries in Eastern Europe along the lines dictated by Moscow, or the Soviet army will enforce obedience.

The official newspaper organs in Moscow have blatantly declared, moreover, that the "doctrine" of communism supersedes all else and gives the Soviet government the right to intervene in any Communist country which is threatened by external or internal forces deemed to be "reactionary."

This week marks the 50th anniversary of the birth of the republic of Czechoslovakia. University students in Prague have wanted to celebrate it as a pointed reminder of the sacrifices made by many Western countries, including the United States, in World War I when President Wilson won the approval of the world for his 14 points — among which was the right of every people to determine its own form of government.

The present Czechoslovakian regime, however, harassed by Moscow, is urging the students not to demonstrate lest they offend the Soviets.

In the face of such ominous circumstances, what is the United States doing?

NO OPPOSITION

There are no expressions of disapproval by most of the so-called "liberal" organizations which are waging a campaign against America's role in the Vietnam war. They are insisting almost in the language of the Communists — that is "imperialism."

Experience has shown that, if the free nations of the world remain indifferent to military threats against the smaller nations, a larger conflict inevitably ensues.

This is what led to World War I in 1914 and again to World War II in 1939.

Czechoslovakia remains a serious problem, the dangers of which are being intensified by the Soviet government while America's "liberal" voices of protest — particularly those of students and their sympathetic professors on the campus — are strangely silent.

DAVID LAWRENCE

Bob Considine Says:

Evangelism Isn't Dead, Claims Dr. Billy Graham

NEW YORK — Ran into Dr. Billy Graham on a plane to Memphis the other day and asked him if he had issued any statement in response to a British clergyman's recent piped into 34 other auditoriums. All were packed each night.

"No, I have not," the handsome preacher said, putting aside Time's account of the Jackie-Arl nuptials. "I didn't think it was worth commenting on, coming as it did, from one disgruntled man."

"I've held three crusades in England. The second was bigger than the first, the third bigger than the second. The last time I was in London — it was at Earl's Court — my services were piped into 34 other auditoriums. All were packed each night.

"I have 8,000 invitations on hand to bring the crusade to cities or make speeches. We are going to Australia and New Zealand pretty soon. And just yesterday we completed plans to take over Madison Square Garden next summer. It will be telecast, live."

WHAT ABOUT POLITICS?

That seemed to take care of the disgruntled deacon of Devonshire.

He was Dr. Billy doing with the politicians?

"There's been plenty of pressure put on me this year, to come out for this or that candidate," he said with a sparkly smile. "As you know, it's very difficult for me to remain neutral because one of the candidates happens to be one of my closest friends."

I asked him if Nixon had applied any of the pressure.

"He has never asked me for a favor in our long friendship," Dr. Graham said solemnly. "Matter of fact, it's just the reverse. I took him to church last Sunday in New York — Calvary Baptist — and while we were walking home, threading our way among the photographers, he told me once more to stay away from politics. I respect his advice. It's no place for a man in my position."

RARE GOLFING TRIPS

He paused, then grinned.

"But some of his people have been after me," he said.

The pressures of his work have permitted him only rare trips to the golf courses this year, he said when asked how his game was holding up. (He's probably the best golfer ever among men-of-the-cloth.) But when he has played, things seem to have been all in glorious Technicolor.

"I believe I played with President Eisenhower in what might be his last round of golf," he said. "It was out in California, Palm Desert, just before the first of the recent heart attacks."

Reviewing Other Editorial Pages

Champ . . .
Vancouver (Can.) Province

U.S. tennis champion Arthur Ashe has shown his countrymen that lobbying fire bombs into ghetto streets isn't the only way for Negro militancy to make its mark on American society.

He's achieved a greater effect by lobbying — and smashing — tennis balls with such precision that he is now his country's national singles champion, the first Negro to score this triumph. (Althea Gibson, a Negro, captured the women's title ahead of him, but racial acceptance is notably harder for Negro men than women.)

Americans are applauding his skill. They should also applaud his outlook. He is a self-confessed militant. Circumstances, he says give him no other choice.

But his feelings haven't driven him to boycott U.S. tennis, as some Negro athletes threatened to boycott the Olympics. And he doesn't want to bomb or burn, unless it is to search an opponent off the court.

In fact, he says his biggest thrill will be to help his country recapture the Davis Cup, tennis' international prize. That sounds like a man more concerned for his country than the narrow interests of race.

Respect for Law

Asbury Park (N.J.) Press

Born of the lawlessness that has made a shambles of law and order in the federal capital, three Maryland judges have combined to urge the teaching of the fourth "R" — respect for law — starting with the elementary school level.

The idea has limitless possibilities for good.

They have worked out a course of study. A large part of it would be given to field trips to see courts and law enforcement officers' action.

Such an inside view should give the youngsters the purpose of the courts and law enforcement officers to protect them and their families, not to harass and persecute them.

Another step in the course would be for classes to write constitutions for their own conduct. Here is an approach to the nation's No. 1 domestic problem that is original and imaginative.

Youngsters learning the basic principles of law at an early age would be better prepared to observe the law and to lead others to do so.

Wallace Begins Swing North

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—His popularity in the political polls showing a decided dip, George C. Wallace will spend the final week of the presidential campaign wooing voters who have given his third-party candidacy its national dimension.

The former Alabama governor, apparently feeling his Deep South electoral base secure, will concentrate his efforts in the remaining days before the election in border states and large industrial cities of the East and Midwest.

He begins the swing today with a rally in Hamilton, Mo., and a visit to the old home place of Mark Twain, then a speech in the Gulf Coast oil city of Beaumont, Tex.

Other stops on his final week's schedule include Detroit, Philadelphia and, tentatively, Chicago, as well as Enid, Okla.

Wheeling, W.Va., and Hagerstown, Md.

HOURLY LONG SHOW

Wallace and his running mate, Curtis E. LeMay, are scheduled to appear on an hour-long television panel show next weekend. Then Wallace will return to Montgomery to await the election returns.

A national poll published Sunday showed Wallace with a 15 per cent popularity rating, five points down from his previous level of about one-fifth of the electorate.

Aware of the poll before its publication, Wallace concluded last week with blistering attacks on the pollsters, calling them liars and contending they were in league with the front running Republican candidate maliciously to influence the election outcome by creating a reverse bandwagon psychology against Wallace.

Nonetheless, Wallace started the final week in good spirits, resting at his home in Montgomery. He called last week one of the most successful of the campaign.

3rd-Party Candidate Lashes Out at Polls

By REX THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—Third-party candidate George C. Wallace goes into the closing week of the presidential campaign talking like a winner and belittling the polls which show him losing ground.

Wallace says he will be elected; that the polls are "liars... trying to rig the election;" that they have been wrong before and are wrong again.

News Analysis

After the returns have been counted Nov. 5, he says, "we're going to put some of the polling outfits out of business."

STANDING OVATION

The former Alabama governor's campaign juices have been bubbling furiously since a crowd of about 17,000 greeted him with a 15-minute standing ovation Thursday night at Madison Square Garden in New York. It was the highlight of an intensive and hectic week of campaigning, mostly in the industrial East and Midwest.

His visibly buoyant spirits were uplifted again by a turnout of more than 10,000 shouting followers Saturday in Cincinnati. They had waited for him almost two hours because he was late in arriving.

"Does that look like my campaign is sagging?" he grinned. A national poll released Sunday gave Wallace 15 per cent of the vote, a drop of 5 points.

Wallace returned home for a weekend rest before starting today on the homestretch drive. His itinerary, still uncertain beyond Thursday, will take him back into Missouri, Texas, Oklahoma, Michigan, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Virginia.

College Boards, State Policy at Stake

Parties Vie in Education Races

LANSING (AP) — Four educators — two of them women — will represent the major parties in the statewide race for two seats on the State Board of Education Nov. 5.

Also at stake are two eight-year terms each on the Michigan State University Board of Trustees, the University of Michigan Board of Regents and the Wayne State University Board of Governors.

Seeking reelection to an eight-year state board term is Marilyn Jean Kelly, a Detroit Democrat. Miss Kelly — now Mrs Richard Stout but running under her maiden name — first was elected to a four-year board term in 1964.

A graduate of Eastern Michigan University with a master's degree from the Sorbonne, Miss Kelly has taught at EMU and now studies law at Wayne State.

GOP OPPOSITION

Miss Kelly's feminine opposition comes from Mrs. Barbara Dumouchelle, a longtime Republican Party worker from Grosse Ile. Mrs. Dumouchelle was appointed in 1964 to the state school district reorganization committee by Gov. George Romney. She holds a bachelor's degree from Stenna Heights College and did graduate work at MSU.

Democrat Michael Deeb of Highland Park and Republican James Ten Brink of Muskegon, also seek board seats.

Deeb, 33, teaches at Highland Park Community College, directs Citizens for Humphrey efforts in the metropolitan Detroit area and sponsors Michigan Teen Dems and Young Democrats groups. He holds a bachelor's degree from Hope College and a master's from MSU.

James Ten Brink, 62, retires this year as superintendent of the Muskegon area Intermediate School District and is past president of both the Michigan Association of Intermediate School Administrators and the Michigan Rural Teachers Association. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees from Hope College.

Major party candidates include:

• Warren Huff, 59, of Plymouth, Democrat and a former board member. He is executive director of the National Association of the Partners of The Alliance, Inc., and is a self-employed agriculture and manufacturers representative.

• Dr. Blanche Martin, 31, of East Lansing, Democrat. Martin, a former star football player at MSU who turned briefly to professional football, now is a dentist.

• David Diehl, 49, of Damsville, Republican. Diehl, a farmer, also starred on the MSU football team and played four years with the Detroit Lions.

• Richard Ernst, 45, of Bloomfield Hills, Republican. A partner in a Grand Rapids firm that manufactures high school class rings, Ernst graduated from MSU and has remained active in alumni affairs.

U-M REGENTS

The U-M Board of Regents — including one Democrat, the rest Republicans — lists two incumbents among those seeking seats:

• Lawrence B. Lindemer, 46, of Stockbridge, is a former Republican state chairman. He was appointed in May by Romney to fill a board seat left vacant when Robert Briggs was named to another state post.

• Frederick C. Matthaei Jr., 42, of Bloomfield, Republican, was named to the board in June, succeeding his father who retired. The younger Matthaei is president of Management and Capital Co., Birmingham.

• Robert Nederlander, 35, of Detroit, Democrat. Nederlander, a U-M graduate, is an attorney.

• Gerald R. Dunn, 33, of Flushing, Democrat. Dunn, a former state senator, graduated from Central Michigan University and has studied at U-M. He serves as director of federal and state relations for the Grand Rapids Board of Education.

Seeking spots on the WSU board — which is left with four Republicans and two Democrats, are:

• Kurt Keydel, 64, of Detroit, Republican. A U-M graduate who for 25 years published Michigan's only German language newspaper, Keydel serves as vice president of the GOP state nationalities committee.

• Victor G. Raviolo, 54, of Grosse Pointe City, Republican. A WSU mechanical engineering graduate, Raviolo is group vice president for American Motors Corp. and was a presidential appointee to the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics.

• Augustus Calloway, 60, of Detroit, Democrat. Calloway, a U-M graduate, is director of community affairs for Michigan Bell Telephone Co. and serves on the Democratic State Central Committee.

• George Edwards III, 27, of Detroit, Democrat. Edwards, the son of U.S. Appeals Court Judge George Edwards, is an attorney, graduate of Southern Methodist University and WSU and a former Peace Corps member in Africa.

Czechs Start Toward Two-State Federalization

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders took the first steps Sunday to federalize their country into Czech and Slovak states, still united under the Prague government but less tightly controlled.

At a special golden jubilee session in Prague Castle, the 265-member National Assembly unanimously approved the federalization act effective Jan. 1, 1969. Because of delays caused by the Soviet invasion in August, the leaders said further action still is required to settle

Czech-Slovak disagreements about the division of powers.

The federation law, to be signed Wednesday in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, at this stage does little more than give the names of the two new states, their single-house legislatures and the new two-house national parliament.

The special legislative session was a highlight of the weekend celebration of the 50th anniversary of Czechoslovakia's independence, proclaimed on Oct. 28, 1918. It was the first official independence celebration in 20 years of Communist rule.

interfere. Army vehicles and a Russian ambulance moved quietly through Prague's flag-decked streets, and it was reported that Soviet units camped in the countryside were alerted to move into town in the event of anti-Soviet demonstrations.

Soviet soldiers who usually go night-seeing on the castle grounds were not in evidence when the assembly met. Nor were there any red Russian flags among the hundreds of Czechoslovak blue and white tricolors.

A crowd of about 500 persons cheered when Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky and President Ludvik Svoboda arrived for the meeting.

Smrkovsky said the fact that Czechoslovakia is pursuing federalization proves "our indomitable will to pursue and develop all the positive measures that were the essence of our policy since January."

"No other period in our 50-year history has had the same character as today," he continued. "We are here to establish a pattern of celebrating, not with flag waving and shouting but with deeds."

Thousands lined up in a gray October mist to view the Bohemian crown jewels at one side of the castle. It was only the second time since World War II the jewels had been publicly displayed, and Prague television commentator said they "are evidence of the fact that hundreds of years ago there existed our sovereign state, honored and recognized by the whole world."

And then again it isn't! Remove the spread and it can swing apart into two extra long twins.

A new concept in comfort

Now you can have the appearance of a glamorous King size bed with all the comforts and conveniences of two extra long twins. Two beds in one—with advantages no one big bed ever had.

The Twin King lets each of you select the exact mattress firmness you like. One mattress can be regular, the other extra firm. Or both can be the same. Either way you choose, you have true single bed comfort.

Twin King ends the battle of the blankets. And the 3 a.m. tug-of-war. You each have your own blankets. The kind you want. The amount you want.

Twin King doesn't require King size pads, sheets, or blankets. One King size spread is all you need, which is nice.

Twin King takes better care of you when you're sleeping because its individually pocketed coils give every part of your body a good night's sleep. And when you're not sleeping, Twin King is easy for you to take care of. Easy to make. Easy to clean under. Easy to turn.

Why You Need This EXTRA CASH Plan In Addition To Ordinary Hospitalization And Medicare

You know, of course, that the tremendous jump in hospital costs has forced millions who already have hospitalization to dig into savings or go into debt. Even with Medicare, they risk using up their savings or, worse yet, turning to family and friends for help. In fact, very few people have enough savings, hospitalization or income to cover the TOTAL cost of being sick or injured.

How long could you stay in the hospital without worrying about the pileup of daily expenses? Who will pay for the expenses of costly X-rays, doctor bills, drugs and medicines? And how about the expenses at home—rent, food, telephone and others that just go on and on? With expenses like these, could you avoid having your savings wiped out and your family life upset?

Better Safe Than Sorry

Wouldn't it be comforting to know these problems could be solved by your Extra Cash Income Plan—the plan that gives you $100.00 a week—IN CASH—tax-free—from the very first day you're in the hospital for up to 100 full weeks.

PAYS YOU CASH
PAYS YOU CASH
PAYS YOU CASH
PAYS YOU CASH

...$100.00 a week tax-free cash from first day in hospital
...to a maximum of $10,000.00 for any hospital stay lasting 100 weeks!
...Money mailed direct to you—not to the doctor or hospital
...in addition to hospitalization, Medicare and Workers' Compensation!

18 Important Questions Answered

That tell you how Union Fidelity's $100.00-A-Week Extra Cash Income Plan gives you the protection you need—at amazingly low cost!

- How much will this policy pay me when I go to the hospital?
You will receive $100.00 per week.
- When will my hospitalization benefits start?
The day you enter the hospital.
- Will I be paid if I am in the hospital for less than a full week?
Yes. This new Plan pays for you in the hospital for only a day, or a week, a month, a year.
- Does this policy have any "waiting periods" before I can use it?
No. It will go in force on the very same day that we receive your payment for the first month's coverage.
- How long will I continue to receive my Extra Cash?
For every day you are hospitalized for as long as 100 weeks for every covered accident or sickness.
- Is there any red tape to join?
No. We only ask you to complete and mail your Enrollment Form before the deadline date shown. No questions to answer. No salesman will call.
- Suppose I collect benefits for a certain sickness or accident. What happens if I am hospitalized again for the same condition?
You go back to collecting your $100.00 a week until you've been hospitalized for a total of 100 weeks and have collected $10,000.00. Then, if the same condition puts you back in the hospital after you've resumed your normal activities for six months, you become eligible to receive $100.00 a week again, for up to 100 additional weeks. Any new condition will be covered immediately, of course.
- How may I use these benefit payments?
You may use them any way you wish—for hospital and doctor bills, rent, food, household expenses or anything else. You alone decide how to use the money.
- Why do I need your Extra Cash Plan in addition to my other insurance?
Chances are your present hospital insurance won't cover all your hospital and medical expenses. Even if it did, you will still need extra cash to cover all your household expenses.
- May I join if I am over 65?
Yes. You are welcome to join no matter what your age is. This Plan has no age limit.
- Can you drop me? Can you raise my rates?
No. We will never cancel or refuse to renew your policy for health reasons so long as you make your premium payments on time. Also, we guarantee that we will never cancel your protection or adjust your rate unless we take the same action with regard to all policies of this type in your state. You, of course, can drop your policy on any renewal date.
- What is not covered by this policy?
The only conditions not covered are hospitalization caused by mental disorders; act of war; pregnancy, childbirth or miscarriage; or care provided in a government hospital. You are even covered for any chronic ailment or pre-existing condition after your policy has been in force for only two years. EVERYTHING ELSE IS COVERED!
- Can other members of my family take advantage of this special offer?
Yes. Just add their names to the Enrollment Form when you fill it in.
- Why is this offer good for a limited time only?
Because by enrolling a large number of people at the same time our underwriting, processing and policy issue costs can be kept at a minimum. These savings, of course, are passed on to you.
- Do I need a medical examination or a statement from my doctor?
Definitely not. Send no money. Just fill in the Enrollment Form and mail today.
- What other advantages are there of joining this Plan now?
By joining now you do not need to complete a regular application—just the brief form in the lower right-hand corner of this page. During this enrollment period, there are no other qualifications—no "waivers" or restrictive endorsements can be put on your policy.
- How does the Money-Back Guarantee work?
Examine your policy carefully in the privacy of your home. If for any reason you are not completely satisfied, return it within 30 days and we will promptly refund your money. Meanwhile, you will be protected while making your decision.
- How do I join?
Fill in the brief Enrollment Form (be sure to sign your name) and send no money. Mail it to Union Fidelity Life, Dept. MM, 1515 Locust Street, Philadelphia, Pa. 19102.

'Psychedelic' Seminars Give Execs a View of Bias

ATLANTA, Ga.—Businessmen in seminars across the nation are putting on prismatic colored glasses and are being jolted into a distorted, psychedelic world. Asked to bounce a small rubber ball or to work a simple six-piece puzzle, most find they can't.

The idea is to create the kind of psychological disorientation that employees from disadvantaged backgrounds feel on a new job.

About 20 supervisors and training directors took part in Atlanta's seminar and similar ones are taking place in 49 other cities.

'SENSITIVITY KIT'

The seminar was developed by the Atlanta-based Human Development Institute—HDI—and is aimed at involving supervisors with the complex problems of the hard-core unemployed, now suddenly employed.

A "sensitivity kit" contains prism glasses, each lens a different color; two Halloween masks: a red rubber ball, and a supervisor's notebook.

With the glasses on, the businessman is too disoriented to work the puzzle. And, with numerous distorted views of his own hands in front of him, it's almost impossible for him to even touch his fingers together. By now, he's well aware of what it's like to feel confused and as if he doesn't belong.

Later, he dons a black mask in an effort to experience a black man's frustrations and angers when thrust into a new job.

ASKS QUESTIONS

One supervisor wears a white mask, another, representing the Negro employee, a black one. And a third acts as observer, asking questions from the notebook.

Sam, the white supervisor, says, "Joe, I want to talk to you."

"Okay, what's up?" replies Joe, the black employee who has been chronically late on his new job.

Sam: "You've already been warned about being late on the job. What seems to be your problem in getting here on time?"

ON THEIR OWN

After this, the black-masked businessman is told to react the way he believes a Negro new to the job might react. And the supervisors are on their own.

The idea is to help the white employer relate to the black man's attitudes and bring about a solution. This particular encounter was chosen because an institute official said hard-core employees account for about 90 per cent of absenteeism and tardiness.

"This exercise," said Dr. Jerome Berlin, 37-year-old president of HDI, "is to demonstrate as accurately as possible, the frustration, embarrassment, confusion and anger the hard-core worker feels in a new and strange situation. This is no exaggeration."

The institute is presenting the seminars under a $600,000 Labor Department contract. They are the key to successful hiring of minorities.

Job training, he says, must be in the ghettos, the willingness for interacting with the whites is growing less. They think the whites haven't done anything for them voluntarily."

Berlin says the confrontations in the program may help top managers to counter major stumbling blocks for those from slum backgrounds.

The hope is to create the essence of involvement in line supervisors — those who hold the key to successful hiring of minorities.

Yank Civilian in Viet Hot Spot Likes His Job

CON THIEN, Vietnam (AP) — Howard Thien likes his job. He's an engineer with a fresh piece of equipment. He thinks his employer is tops and the pay is pretty good, too.

But the place where Thien works could drive to distraction an industrial safety expert at one of the company's plants back home.

The place is Con Thien, the U.S. position below the demilitarized zone on the very front porch of the war. Enemy gunners have snatched it with hundreds of artillery rounds.

"When I joined the company I knew I'd be doing a lot of traveling," says Thien.

"BUT NOT HERE"

"I also knew I'd come to Vietnam, but I didn't think I'd end up in a place like this."

His world at the moment was one of faded bags and bunker timbers grayed by sun and rain. The pervasive dust, which turns to soup and mud with the monsoon, was red and as excitable as the air.

"I'm getting to see a war from the front seat. It's sort of an adventure."

Winthrop, Mass., and a graduate in electrical engineering at Northeastern University. He put in a hitch as an Army Signal Corps officer in Okinawa and then joined Sanders Associates of Nashua, N.H., the maker of the secret, ultrasensitive detection gear he has followed to Vietnam.

RESIDENT EXPERT

At Con Thien Titus is resident expert to a team of Army technicians operating the new piece of classified equipment. It's an on-and-off job that often goes around the clock.

Otherwise, there's a tape recorder for music and an occasional bridge game for diversion. Hot meals and a shower nozzle hooked to a 55-gallon drum of water make for comparative luxury. Now and then C rations must fill the culinary gap and Titus is in the military majority that despises one particular menu—ham and lima beans. For a break there's a leap trip now and then along the dustiest road in Vietnam to the big Marine base at Dong Ha, 13 miles away.

No telling Titus as a civilian by the looks of him. He wears standard GI issue. The Army program he works under has seen that he has an MIT. The redhead has cultivated a red mustache, and like many others, he's watching his State-

Film Aborted by Invasion Gets New Life

BY BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HAMBURG, Germany — Four American actors were faced with the job of resuming a film that was suspended by the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Their reactions: "If we can bring some unity to the picture, it will be a miracle. The whole project is being so Mickey-Moused back into production that it will be hard to match what went before."

Bradford Dillman: "Czechoslovakia had a feel and look to it that you just can't get anywhere else."

Ben Gazzara: "As far as I'm concerned, what we're doing now is a totally new picture."

George Segal: "Look—a movie is a movie. As long as you're the Russians moved in. Two while German film workers reworking with good people—and days later, a taxi caravan with constructed the Czech sets. Pro-

"YOUR HEALTH"

PINCHED NERVES

By Dr. H. H. Alexander

If you are nervous, irritable, suffer from frequent headaches, dizziness, experience pain in your neck, shoulder, back or leg or often feel a tightness and pain in your chest and in between your shoulder blades — the chances are you have pinched and irritated nerves!

Often falls, sprains and faulty posture cause misalignment of the spine, which results in pressure on nerve roots. Any pinching of these nerves as they leave the spine can cause trouble in the organs and limbs served by them.

Chiropractic has specialized in the analysis of spinal disorders and misplacements of vertebrae that cause pinching and irritation of nerves. Consult your chiropractor in cases where nerve pain is suspected. Treatment is directed towards lasting correction by removal of the spinal misalignments.

LBJ Goes All Out for Hubert, Says Nixon Misleads Voters

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, after a busy weekend of ripping into Republican

Richard M. Nixon as a man of the past, says he is going all out this week to help elect Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey confirming—or ruling out—any thing in the way of specific plans, other than a speech on NBC television next Sunday.

Johnson already has got in some political licks for Humphrey there. And over the weekend he hit not only New York but also some of the cities and hootin' hollows of West Virginia and Kentucky.

Dedicating a dam at Pikeville, at the eastern tip of Kentucky, Johnson took credit for his administration, for bringing progress and better times to the Appalachian region. He slapped at "wooden soldiers of the status quo," "old voices of reaction," and "forces of cold indifference" and declared:

"The surest way you can reverse the tide of progress in America is to go out and elect yourself a Republican president and a Republican Congress."

Advising his listeners to vote the straight Democratic ticket a week from Tuesday, Johnson contended Humphrey of all men is the best qualified to follow him in the White House.

In support of the "man from the past" label, Johnson ticked off what he called examples:

Detroit Poll: Negroes Want to Join System

DETROIT (AP)—Negroes in Detroit's ghetto area, the scene in 1967 of the nation's worst racial riot, are showing a new readiness to join the city's economic and social mainstream, The Detroit Free Press said Sunday.

In releasing the first results of a computerized survey among 452 Negroes in the riot area, the Free Press concluded the goal of all but the most extreme minority among black militants is to work within the existing systems in the country to improve their lives.

A staff of 22 Negro interviewers conducted the survey designed by staff members of the University of Michigan Survey Research Center.

It was compared with results of the Free Press' survey in the ghetto area immediately after the riot, in which 43 persons died.

'MORE AMERICANS'

Philip Meyer, a member of the Free Press' Washington staff, analyzed the results as he did in last year's survey.

The Free Press said that "Detroit Negroes express more awareness of their own problems than they did in 1967. They are quicker to gripe about jobs, education and housing than they were immediately after the riot."

"Despite the complaints, black Detroiters who think they have moved ahead since the riot significantly outnumber those who feel they are standing still. And the number who think their lot is getting worse is quite small," stressed the Pulitzer Prize for its coverage of the riots and their after-effects last year.

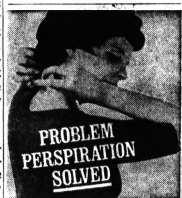

Backed the Democratic slate before an audience of New York's polyglot population Sunday, Johnson said:

"I hope between tonight and next Sunday night all of you will do what I am going to do, everything that I can to see that Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund Muskie are elected on Nov. 5."

If the weekend presidential performance was any gauge, the president will be on the campaign trail in several states and on the airwaves.

even for thousands who perspire heavily

A new-type formula has been found to keep underarms absolutely dry—even for thousands who perspire heavily. After decades of common "deodorants," it took a chemical invention to make this truly effective protection possible—with the same safety to clothing—the same skin mildness as popular "deodorants." Called Mitchum Anti-Perspirant, it is the product of a trustworthy 55-year-old laboratory. By the thousands, women with problem perspiration are finding the protection they need—and never could find before. And fully effective as a deodorant, too, of course. If you perspire more than average—even heavily—get the positive protection of Mitchum Anti-Perspirant. Your choice, liquid or cream. Ninety-day supply, each $3.00. 'Election Issues Are Lost in Fog'

By WHITNEY M. YOUNG, JR.
Executive Director
National Urban League

This election is one of the most important in our history, but the issues have been lost behind a fog of meaningless slogans like law and order, designed to appeal to the backlash vote. The real issue in this election is the commitment to social reform and the effort to bring equality to black Americans.

Don't let all the charges and countercharges candidates hurl at each other confuse you. Look at the records of the candidates and at their past and present commitment to the cause of equal rights — and then cast your ballot for the man who will work hardest to make black people first-class citizens in the land that has oppressed them for 350 years.

America's list of unfinished business is long. We need massive housing for low and moderate income families; more jobs; a real war on poverty; better schools; an economic security program to replace the welfare system; and strict enforcement of civil rights laws.

The man who is President for the next four years has to work for these measures, and he also has to heal the deep and bitter divisions that are creating, as the Kerner Commission reported, "two societies, one black, one white — separate and unequal."

GREAT MISTAKE

Those who say they aren't voting this year are making a great mistake. They are looking for perfection in a world where it doesn't exist. It might be pleasant to think of someone we like better than the people who are running this year, but day-dreaming doesn't change society.

We have to choose among the men who are candidates, and this year that choice may decide whether American democracy will at last work for everybody, or whether it will collapse under the strains of racism.

Those who say they aren't voting usually have the luxury of making such a choice. They don't live in slums, their kids aren't ruined by inadequate schools, and they have jobs. But for millions of others, that choice doesn't exist.

The seven million registered black voters also have to inform themselves about other issues besides the Presidency. Local officials, not the President, will decide whether their streets will be paved, their schools improved, and countless other issues. The ghetto has traditionally been short-changed on these, and the only way to get equal treatment is through the ballot box.

BALLOT POWER

That's why I can't understand why some black power advocates have come out against voting this year. Ballot power is black power. The power of the vote, wisely cast, is more powerful than shouting slogans.

A big vote in the ghetto could provide the margin of victory in many elections, and that means the ghetto has a bill to present, the victor in the form of support for what the ghetto wants.

With greater voting participation, black people have gotten more official positions too. Nearly 700 Negroes now hold elective offices, and this year 350 are running — a third of them in the South.

But black people shouldn't vote on racial lines alone. Often a dedicated white official is more concerned than some black politicians. The real test should be whether the candidate will work as selflessly for the interests of the neglected black community as Southerners in Congress work to hang on to the vestiges of segregation.

The stakes are high this year. The Wallace candidacy is bringing the hate vote to the polls, and the John Birch Society and other extremists are really active this year. Unless black voters and the great majority of decent, concerned white voters show the same zeal, the next four years could become a nightmare for us all.

'Maggie' Has Moments

BY WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Critic

NEW YORK — Five authors get program credit for creation of the musical "Maggie Flynn" which opened Wednesday night at Broadway's ANTA Theater. It is regrettable that somewhere along the creative way they couldn't have decided what they were doing.

The classy husband-wife team of Jack Cassidy and Shirley Jones, dimpled charmers both, spin through the disheveled fable with stellar zing, and there are moments when the production promises to become something special. Just moments.

The basic idea, provided by John Flaxman, concerns a grass widow, Irish to be sure, who runs an orphanage for Negro children during New York's violent antidraft riots of Civil War 1863.

The other collaborators on the book include Director Morton Da Costa, and a music-lyrics trio, Hugo Peretti, Luigi Creatore and George David Weiss.

Cork, with a population of about 82,000, is the third largest city in Ireland.

Proposition Five: Legislators Ask for a Break

LANSING (AP)—Of the five statewide proposals which will be on the Nov. 5 ballot, the last one is probably the least discussed and the least understood. But although the legal mechanics of Proposition Five are complex, the result of its approval by voters is simple: It would allow members of the Legislature to run for other state offices.

Lawmakers now are ineligible to run for state office during the terms for which they are elected to the House or Senate because of an attorney general's interpretation of the State Constitution which the Michigan Supreme Court has upheld.

Two legislators have seen their political ambitions stymied by the ruling in the past two years. That's why lawmakers put Proposition Five on the ballot.

Auto Industry Competition Cited by GM

NEW YORK (AP)—General Motors Corp. says it's fine to be the front-runner in the highly competitive automobile industry but you have to keep looking back over your shoulder to see if a rival is about to pass you.

GM, the world's biggest auto maker, contended last week in a 100-page statement to Congress that existing competition in building and selling cars is responsible for greater quality and stable prices.

Competition, it said, has been the cause of fluctuating shares of the market which GM, Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. have been able to obtain over the years.

GM outlined its views in response to questions raised about car price increases by the Senate Select Committee on Small Business, of which Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., is chairman.

OPINIONS ASKED

The committee has also asked Ford and Chrysler to express their opinions on competition.

A spokesman for Sen. Nelson said Nelson didn't feel the GM statement was responsive on the matter of prices and that he would ask GM executives to appear before his subcommittee. They will be permitted to testify in executive session if they desire, the spokesman said.

GM's statement pointed out that its own share of the new car market has ranged from 38 per cent in 1946 to 52 per cent in 1962 and to 48 per cent in the first eight months of 1968.

Legislators would still be eligible to be appointed by the governor, Legislature or other "state authority" (except for the electorate) to other offices until their legislative terms expire.

Here are some of the pro and con arguments cited by nonpartisan organizations which have analyzed Proposition Five:

FOR: Making legislators ineligible deprives voters of the opportunity to elect experienced persons and to promote those who have served well in Lansing.

AGAINST: Legislators are chosen with the understanding that they will represent their districts for terms of specified length; the voters are entitled to have them serve out their terms.

FOR: Why should members of the Senate and House be singled out by this special prohibition? Other state officers, as well as private citizens, are eligible to become candidates for positions which are closed to lawmakers.

AGAINST: The purpose of the existing constitutional provision—and it's a good one—is to prevent lawmakers from using their legislative powers to create lucrative jobs with themselves in mind as candidates to fill them.

Mrs. Grace Carrothers, president of the Pontiac Area Urban League Guild, (center) and vice president Gertrude Overton (right) welcome Mrs. Aleathia Mayo of Cleveland to the Mideastern Conference of Urban League Guilds, hosted by the local group Saturday in the Community Services Building. Mrs. Carrothers resides in Birmingham; Miss Overton on West Pike Street.

'New Thrust' of Urban League Topic of Mideastern Conference

"The 'New Thrust' of Urban League activity, as outlined at the recent New Orleans convention, has already become the 'Expanded New Thrust,'" said Mrs. Aleathia Mayo, mideastern regional coordinator of Urban League Guilds. Her remarks were addressed to the Mideastern Conference of Urban League Guilds, held Saturday in the Community Services Building.

Keynote speaker of the morning was Robert Neal, assistant regional director of the National Urban League.

Three workshop sessions dealt with the goals of the local guilds: "Interpreting the Work of the League," "Meeting the Needs of the Black Ghetto," and "Education."

Mrs. Alice Taliaferro, retiring secretary-treasurer of the National Council of Urban League Guilds, served as consultant to the Workshop groups.

Ted Cobb, associate director of community resources of the National Urban League, addressed the luncheon meeting in the Holiday Inn.

REPRESENTATION

The conference was attended by representatives from 14 guilds in Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and West Virginia.

Hosting the meeting were Mrs. Grace Carrothers, president of the Pontiac Area Guild, and her officers, Mesdames Charles F. Leonard, Thomas McMillin, Harry Reed and Leslie Seay and Gertrude Overton. Assisting were Mrs. Odell Walker, Mrs. Otis Lawrence and Mrs. James Napier.

Local speakers included Mrs. William Long, Mrs. Carrothers, Julian A. Cook and Mrs. T. Warren Fowler (representing the City of Pontiac).

Presiding at workshop sessions were Mrs. Myrtie H. Mosley, president of the Cincinnati, Ohio Guild; Mrs. Naomi Reed, president of the Akron, Ohio, Guild, and Elick Shorter, acting director of the Pontiac Area Urban League. Mrs. Robert Turpin also participated as a workshop recorder, among others.

Nancy L. Sobold of Creston, Ohio (left) appears on the field between halves of the Michigan-Minnesota football game on Saturday as the 1968 U-M homecoming queen. At Kalamazoo, on the same day, Genna Rae McNeil from Dallas, Tex. (right) was crowned Kalamazoo College's first Negro homecoming queen.

Writers Exchange New Plays in the Word Game

By JEANNE NELSON

The old writing game was played with enthusiasm and wit at Saturday's Writers' Conference, jointly sponsored by the Detroit Women Writers and the Division of Continuing Education at Oak University.

The University's campus was the scene of all the hustle-bustle that brought pen wielders from as far away as Sarnia, Ont., and the upper lower parts of Michigan.

Individual lectures and panels on poetry, the short story, the juvenile article and story and writers' markets were covered by noted personalities in the writing field.

Shop talk spilled over into the lunch period where small groups compared the morning sessions. Writers have often been tagged non-vocal types but the din of voices Saturday hardly substantiated such a judgment.

One of them was the liquid tones of Joyce Carol Oates, whose recent work is "The Expensive People." She chided magazine editors for their mysterious ways. Her advice included some tips on agents, their methods, purposes and value.

Writing to the juvenile market seems to be a whole new game. Vera Henry moderated a panel with Bess Tefft, Josephine Wunsch and Lois Breitmeyer on this subject.

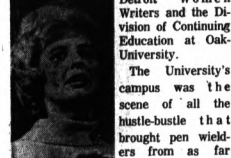

ACTION is the key here. And it must be laced with lots of mystery, specifics and a satisfying end. To compete effectively with TV's visual sell, the writer must invoke a sustaining interest at all times.

Most professional writing still contains the old sin, suffer and repent format, but in an up-dated tempo. Elyse Rogers, who spoke on this, pointed out some of the changes in this area.

As sociological changes occur in everyday life, then so will the confession story change, she offered.

Mort Peraky, Robert Johnstone and William Hinds, all editors of area published vehicles, spoke on their individual needs, payment and requirements for submitted material.

Joyce Carol Oates, noted author who lives in the Detroit area, touched on highlights from her latest book, "The Expensive People," at Saturday's Writers' Conference at Oakland University. A master of the short story, in her latest work, a full length novel, she presents a familiar background of the Detroit area. Her delicate, slender features deny the robust hours of work she has maintained to achieve her success.

And Pray a Lot

Keep Quiet for Husband's Sake

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor (I'll call her "Mrs. X") is divorcing her husband, and she is looking for proof of adultery. Knowing Mr. X, I'm sure she will have no trouble, as I have seen many strange cars parked in front of their house all night when Mrs. X has been out of town.

Mrs. X has asked me some leading questions which indicate that she knows that her husband has been playing around—and with whom!

My problem is this: two years ago, my husband and I were having some difficulties, and I foolishly had a brief affair with Mr. X. I had never been unfaithful before, and I'd never do it again. I have a jewel for a husband, and I think he could forgive me if he ever found out, but it would hurt him deeply and I don't want to do that. But if the truth is going to come out in my neighbor's divorce, I'd rather have my husband hear it from me than in a courtroom.

Should I help the wife in her search for evidence? And what should I do about my own guilty conscience?

ABBY

I don't go crazy over cards the way they do.

Abby, I love this guy, and I have really tried to like cards, but there is no use fooling myself. It's boring. Besides, some of Joe's "interesting" evenings have cost him more than he can afford to lose.

Now I am being told (by Joe's relatives) "If you intend to marry Joe, you had better learn to like cards."

Don't misunderstand me. I think it's all right to play once in a while. But all weekend, and every night?

WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: You mention Joe's relatives, but how does Joe feel about it? Gambling can become just as serious an "addiction" as booze, tobacco, and other undesirable habits. Take a second look at Joe just to be sure the joker isn't too wild.

Time Is Precious in Jewel Case

Most elaborate in new wall clock designs by one manufacturer is a clock inspired by the crown jewels of European royalty. Taken with the fiery brilliance of these treasures, the makers created an intricate time machine case over two feet high and 21 inches wide. It is studded with enormous make-believe rubies, emeralds, and other precious gems. Glistening Roman gold finish enriches the filigree areas, and a glass crystal with brass bezel covers the ornamental dial.

Mrs. Robert Hague of Birmingham is chairing the annual scholarship fund-raising dance of the Women of Wayne State University. The Grand Ballroom of the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Detroit, is the place; 9 p.m., Nov. 9, the time. The public may attend.

MANAGEMENT SUGGESTERS—Martin J. Sackrider Sr. (right), purchasing analyst. The idea has saved the division $170,000 annually. Number two sug-gester John R. Gallagher, quality assurance inspection foreman, looks on during the Division Management Improvement Proposal Program Banquet at Kingsley Inn. Gallagher created savings of $119,545 annually with a suggestion to change the type of metals used in some component parts.

GM Truck's Management Ideas Feted

Savings of $2,657,282 annually were celebrated by some 200 management suggesters at the GMC Truck and Coach Management Improvement Proposal Banquet Saturday night at the Kingsley Inn.

The MIP program has been in operation since the start of the 1968 model year. It was initiated by Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president and divisional general manager, to increase the number of suggestions to improve manufacturing operations at management level.

Caserio cited at the banquet, the importance of "constructive discontent" in which people learn to look at their job and with a critical eye to determine ways to improve it.

B. T. Olson, general manufacturing manager, lauded management personnel for their aid in saving the company millions of dollars annually.

The savings came through suggestions resulting in increased efficiency, improved systems, use of better and less expensive materials and other labor-saving devices.

If You've Seen One Candidate for VP...

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Earlier this month when a vice presidential candidate made a campaign appearance in this area I invited my friend Grinitch to accompany me to the rally.

"Count me out," he said. "I saw a vice presidential candidate last month, and when you've seen one you've seen them all."

I was a bit shocked by his reaction. "You shouldn't say things like that," I said. "I happen to know you are deeply concerned over the plight of vice presidential candidates. But this makes you sound callous and indifferent."

"I didn't mean it the way it sounded," Grinitch said. "What I mean is that all vice presidential candidates are essentially in the same boat."

"Rather than make speeches that develop their own views, they are expected to compose variations on the themes of the presidential candidates."

"They must be careful not to upstage their running-mates, though they may be more dynamic campaigners."

"And even if they attract large followings of their own, it does them little good. If a presidential candidate sinks, the vice presidential candidate goes down with him."

"NO LONGER ADEQUATE"

"That may be true," I said, "but it is the way our political system operates. Surely you do not mean to teach and advocate the overthrow of the system."

"The saying that a system that was adequate for the conditions of yesterday and the day before doesn't necessarily meet the needs of today and tomorrow," Grinitch replied. "The subjugation of vice presidential candidates is a national disgrace that can no longer be tolerated. They should be liberated and allowed to function as coequals in the campaign."

I said, "But that could create all sorts of confusion. Instead of Humphrey and Muskie running against Nixon and Agnew, we might find Humphrey running against Muskie and Agnew running against Nixon."

"Exactly!" Grinitch exclaimed. "We should have a choice of vice presidential candidates as well as presidential candidates."

"Why should a voter be bound by a Humphrey-Muskie, Nixon-Agnew or Wallace-LeMay ticket if he would prefer a Humphrey-Agnew, Nixon-LeMay or Wallace-Muskie ticket?"

I agreed that unleashing the vice presidential candidates might make for a more interesting campaign. But I pointed out that it could result in the election of a president and a vice president who refused to speak to each other.

"So much the better," Grinitch said.

Duds Drop in Lions' Frustrating Offensive Attack

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

With an aerial attack that dropped more duds than bombs and the top ground rubber in the NFL on the sidelines, the Detroit Lions lost the comedy of errors to the San Francisco 49ers yesterday in Tiger Stadium, 14-7.

The defenses of both teams played havoc with their opposing offenses, each defensive unit scoring a touchdown.

Quarterback Bill Munson had his poorest passing day of the season, unable to hit in key situations, several times when the targets were in the clear.

He completed only 15 of 35 passes and was hit four times in his own backfield. But Munson was way off target, overthrowing speedy Earl McCulloch on the long aerials or the short receivers with ineffective tosses.

ONLY 2 CARRIES

Meanwhile, Mel Farr, who last week piled up 143 yards rushing, had only nine yards on two carries, suffering a freak injury in the opening minutes of the game.

The Lions moved from their own 28 to the 49ers' 34 and in the series, Farr went for a 6 yard gain after a 27 yard pass to Billy Gambrell.

On the tackle by Matt Hazeltine, Farr lost his shoe and in the process of putting it back on trying to hurry back to the huddle he twisted his ankle and started limping.

The timeout was necessitated to help Farr off the field and he never was able to return into the game until late in the final quarter.

The Lions missed a 42 yard try for a field goal and a moment later the sure handed Lem Barney had a sure touchdown in front of him when he dropped an interception on the 49ers' 38 yard line.

Fumbles and penalties plagued the Lions, who were fortunate on several occasions for some sloppy play on the part of the 49ers.

After an exchange of fumbles, Barney on a punt and Ken Willard on the Lions 18 on the next play, the 49ers downed a Lions' punt on their own 35.

TOUCHDOWN BOMB

On the first play, Clifton McNeil got by Barney and took a pass from John Brodie for a 63 yard touchdown play.

McNeil, whom the 49ers obtained in a gift deal with the Browns played havoc with the Lions' secondary by taking nine passes for 143 yards.

It was a listless game of offenses with Steve Spurrier punting nine times and the Lions' Jerry DePoyster eight times.

A 47 yard pass to Gambrell in the third period was nullified for holding and twice in the period the 49ers missed field goals of 36 and 39 yards.

On a third try by Dennis Patera, Barney took the short attempt on the six and raced 94 yards for the touchdown to tie the score at 7-7 with De Poyster's point.

2 MORE FUMBLES

Twice more in the third quarter, the Lions fumbled and another time after a complete pass, Dick Wilcher fumbled and Wayne Walker recovered.

But Gambrell, who was all alone on the 49ers' 46 yard line, the Munson pass sail far over his head.

Early in the 4th quarter, a 44 yard punt gave the Lions good field position at their own 42, but immediately safety John Fuller intercepted a pass to end the threat.

With 9:25 left in the final period, after a disputed play, the 49ers scored their final TD on a pass and a fumble.

Brodie passed to McNeil who went out of bounds at the Lions' 47, but before going out, the ball dropped loose and stayed inside the field of play.

Captain Joe Schmidt argued it was a free ball and Tommy Vaughn had recovered, but the 49ers got possession for a first down eventually leading to the touchdown.

PICKS UP FUMBLE

Gary Lewis took a 31 yard pass from Brodie, he fumbled at the 12 and Wilcher picked it up and ran into the end zone for the touchdown to make it 14-7.

Red Wings Handle Chicago Impressively, 4-3

Coach Gadsby Satisfied by Season's Second Win

By JERE CRAIG

Perhaps the hard conditioning is paying off for the Detroit Red Wings.

The struggling Wings gained their second victory of the young National Hockey League season Sunday evening with an impressive 4-3 conquest of the Chicago Black Hawks before 12,943 at Olympia Stadium.

The Detroiters — driven hard in daily morning workouts by first-year coach Bill Gadsby who hasn't been happy with the over-all performance of the East Division cellar dwellers — skated hard, checked hard and kept pressure on the Chicagoans.

Except for a brief letdown in the final period, the Red Wings didn't look like the squad that had lost three of its first four games.

"We were hittin' tonight," a satisfied Gadsby commented in between glances at a taped video replay of the third quarter defensive breakdown that saw the Hawks score two goals in 13 seconds to make a 4-1 easy win into an uncertain 4-3 struggle.

"We forechecked pretty well. I thought the kid line (Nick Libett, Pete Mahovich and Ron Anderson) had more jump and zip," the coach noted.

RESHUFFLING

A shuffling of lines may also have been a factor. Gadsby put Alex Delvecchio back on the first line between Frank Mahovich and Gordie Howe.

Young Gary Unger was dropped back to the second line to center for Pete Stenkowski and Bruce MacGregor. The moves paid off.

The new first unit scored three goals with the veteran Howe netting his 691st and 692nd in regular season efforts. He also received an assist when Mahovich put in a rebound off the big right-winger's close-in shot late in the second period.

It was Mahovich's second goal of the campaign. Delvecchio assisted on it, too, as he did on both of Howe's goals. Unger also scored in the first 13 seconds of the second period for his third goal of the season.

MacGregor, who skated very well all night, was on his knees in the corner but along the puck to Unger who moved to the front of the goal and whipped a 25-footer past Denis DeJordy of the Hawks.

OPENS SCORING

Delvecchio hit Howe with a perfect pass and he fired a 15-footer over the Chicago netminder's left shoulder midway in the opening period to open the scoring.

Unger and Mahovich's goals were sandwiched around a power play marker by the Black Hawks' Stan Mikita who now has five goals on his NHL leading 16 points.

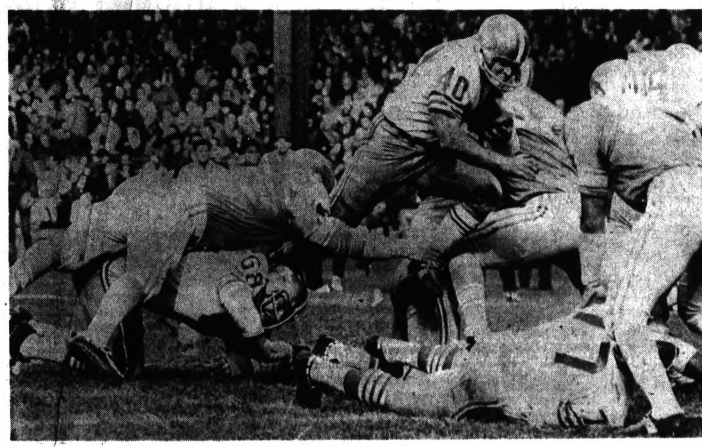

In the final session, the lead grew to 4-1 when Howe deflected a Delvecchio pass between DeJordy's legs in the first two minutes of action.

Boxer Wins Last Event

107 Medals Won by U.S.

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Big George Foreman stood there in the center of the ring, a tiny American flag clutched in his huge black fist, a battered, bleeding Russian hulking nearby—a near-perfect symbol of American domination of the 19th Olympic Games.

Foreman, a 6-foot-3, 218-pounder, held aloft the little flag with a broad grin on his face — as he accepted America's record 49th gold medal after demolishing Jones Cepulis for the heavyweight boxing championship, the last event on the last full day of competition in the trouble-riddled Games.

His victory was icing on the cake for the Yankee team which collected a total of 107 medals and clearly outscored the Soviets in total medals for the first time since the Russians entered the Games at Helsinki in 1952.

Foreman finished with a total of 92 medals, 30 of them gold. In 1964 at Tokyo Russia led in total medals 96-90 while the United States led in golds, 36-30.

ALIBI TIME

Naturally enough, there was an excuse for the Russian showing this year. It came from Gabriel Korobkov, the Soviet's track and field coach.

"Most of the world lives downstairs. They hold the Games upstairs," he said, referring to the 7,347-foot altitude of Mexico City. "It throws the Games out of balance."

Perhaps a more accurate explanation would be found in the almost incredible performance of the United States' swimming and diving team, along with the gymnastic exploits of Vera Caslavskaya of Czechoslovakia — the sweetheart of the Games and Japan, which cut heavily into the Russian potential total.

The United States' swimmers and divers bagged 23 of the 33 gold medals and a total of 47 of the 89 medals up for grabs. Twelve more golds came in men's track and field, and three more in women's track and field — where the Russians failed to score a single gold.

MORE GOLD

The Americans also picked up two golds in boxing, two in sailing, one each in shooting and equestrian. And Henry Taft's superbly coached, pick-up basketball team, spurred by many of the top collegiate stars, continued its unbeaten string.

World records, most of them by Americans, fell almost as quickly as arose controversies, incidents and demonstrations.

In the latter category, the most flagrant was by American sprinters Tommie Smith and John Carlos, both Negroes, who finished 1-3 in the 200-meter dash.

There were hints of under-the-counter payoffs to athletes by manufacturers of athletic goods, charges of fixed wrestling matches, a Dutch masseur was sent home for giving vitamins to his cyclists, a Bulgarian wrestler was disqualified for sniffing smelling salts.

Green Bay Facing Do-or-Die Contest Against Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas and Green Bay—rivals in the last two National Football League title games—collide tonight before a national television audience and a sellout crowd.

The battle means survival for the Packers and pride for the Cowboys.

The Packers are struggling to stay alive in the Central Division with a 2-3-1 record and sorely need the victory in their quest for a fourth consecutive NFL crown.

Dallas, sailing along with a 6-0 mark in the Capitol Division, needs the game psychologically. The Cowboys have never beaten the Packers in three regular season and two championship games.

STERN TEST

The game tonight, before 72,000 in the Cotton Bowl, will provide a stern test of whether Dallas has overcome its Green Bay phobia—folding in the last crucial moments.

Game time is 9:30 p.m., EST, and will be televised by CBS.

Ring Division Vacant After No-Contest Bout

ROME (AP)—The world junior middleweight boxing title retained by Italy's Sandro Mazzinghi after American boxer Freddie Little gave him a savage beating Friday night was declared vacant Sunday by the European Boxing Union.

The action was taken after Joe Kiernan, manager of the Las Vegas, Nev., boxer, filed a protest with the EBU against the outcome of the Mazzinghi-Little title fight. The referee had ruled it no contest after the eighth round, leaving the crown with the badly battered Italian.

Farmington's Larry Williams Sets 10:04.3 Winning Pace in Class A Regional

READY FOR STATE RUN — A happy group of Pontiac Northern Harriers and their coach display their state Class A Regional championship trophy after Saturday's surprising victory at West Hills Junior High School. The Huskies upset favored Birmingham Brother Rice to give Pontiac its third

Harrier Crown for PNH Huskies

The boys from Pontiac still know how to pick 'em up and lay 'em down!

Although neither Pontiac Northern nor Pontiac Central, this fall could claim league cross country championships or post impressive dual meet records, the city still has a state regional harrier title trophy today.

PNH's improving Huskies stunned heavily favored Birmingham Brother Rice by 30 points Saturday morning in the prep regional at West Hills Junior High School.

The surprising championship gives Pontiac three such Class A championships in the past four years. PCH was the defending local regional titlist and Northern also won it in 1965.

Brother Rice's runner-up finish qualifies it, too, for the state finals this Saturday at Eastern Michigan University. The Warriors and PNH join Royal Oak Kimball and Hazel Park as County class A qualifiers.

LOSERS CROWN

Oxford lost its Fenton Class B Regional title but was second to the host Tigers and will be at EMU Saturday, also. Bloomfield Hills Lahser will send four runners in the "B" individual competition.

Northern captured its title by placing five runners within seven seconds of each other. Butch Shelton was ninth with a 10:30.7 clocking.

Close behind him were Tom Knibbs (10th), Andy Liddy (11th), George Pickering (15th) and Mike Taylor whose 10:37 timing was good for 18th place. Brother Rice's pointmakers were Len Clavarella (8th), Chuck Hotelling (12th), Bob Bennett (24th), James Keating (25th) and Bob Schriener (26th).

Area Gridders Help in MSU Win

By FLETCHER SPEARS
EAST LANSING — That 21-17 Michigan State victory over Notre Dame was a shocker for the Irish here Saturday but not in all quarters.

"It's no surprise to us," said young Craig Wycinsky of North Farmington, a junior offensive tackle for the MSU Spartans.

"We knew it was coming," Wycinsky continued. "The past two weeks we pushed two teams around (Michigan and Minnesota) — I'm not knocking them, we did it — but we still lost. We were just like a big sleeping bear."

LIKES BEATING IRISH
"Boy, I like beating them (Irish) better than anybody. Maybe that's not nice but I do," added Wycinsky, just one of the outstanding players in the MSU victory.

SPARTAN COACH DUFFY
Daugherty was a happy man, also. The win evened his record against Notre Dame coach Ara Parseghian at 2-2-1, and from a modern-day standpoint, the triumph gave MSU a 13-1 edge since 1948. The Irish haven't won at Spartan Stadium since 1949.

ARA, UNHAPPY
While Duffy was happy and passing out compliments, Parseghian lauded MSU's victory but took the officials to task for some questionable calls, and in one case, the lack of a call on a questionable tackle.

It was a stirring game from start to finish. The Spartans opened with a gamble that paid off — an outside kick — and finished with a gallant goal line stand as the Irish pressed for the winning touchdown.

DUFFY FORGIVING
The officiating riled Duffy a little, too. "I never comment publicly on officials," said Duffy smiling, then adding, "I'm willing to forgive those things now."

"I don't know when I've been more pleased," continued Duffy. "This is one of the most satisfying wins in my years at MSU. These young people just made up their minds that they'd win. Football is such an emotional game in every respect."

SECOND LOSS
The loss was the second of the season for the Irish — they lost to Purdue earlier — and the result left Notre Dame, ranked No. 5 in the nation in the AP poll, and MSU with 4-2 records for the season.

The Spartans opened with that outside kick — "I warned 'em," said Duffy — by Gary Boyce and defensive back Ken Heft, a graduate of Birmingham Seaholm, recovered the ball for MSU on the Irish 42.

PRODUCTIVE GAMBLE
It took quarterback Bill Triplett just seven plays to reach paydirt. Halfback Tommy Love picked up the final 11 on a dash around the left side and Boyce added the point with just 1:55 gone.

Then it was Notre Dame's turn. Terry Hanratty, who completed 27 of 42 passes for 312 yards, marched the Irish 67 yards later in the first quarter for the tying score. Bob Gladiuev dived over right tackle for the final yard.

SPARTANS LEAD
After an Irish fumble on their own 43 late in the first, MSU took the ball over in nine plays with Triplett sneaking the final two yards.

The Irish came up with a 33-yard field goal by Scott Hempel — one which Duffy termed questionable — making it 14-10 at halftime, and took the lead in the third when defensive end Bob Kuechenberg recovered Triplett's fumble in the MSU endzone.

SCORE CLINCHER
The Spartans added the clincher at 9:36 of the third when Love went over left guard for the final yard to cap an 80-yard drive and give the Irish a 21-17 lead.

Then it was defense. Middle passes for 141 yards, raced into guard Charles Bailey, the left corner of the endzone linebacker Rich Saul, Heft and where Heft waited. Seymour is captain Allen Brenner 6-5, Heft is 5-8. Hanratty fired spearheaded the defense which the ball and Heft tackled stopped Irish drives three times. Seymour. The crowd sensed in the game hall for his efforts, knocked down a fourth-down pass intended for Jim Seymour of Royal Oak after the Irish had moved to the MSU 10.

FINAL STAND
And that final stand. The Irish had a final down on the MSU 3. Gladiuev made one yard over the right side. Ron Curl and Bill Dawson stacked the middle and threw Ron Dushney for a one-yard loss.

The next play is the one that

On fourth down, Hanratty rolled to his left but Brenner hit him at the two. He fumbled, the ball rolling to the five, and MSU took charge and ran out the clock.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — No one was quite sure what was in the Little Brown Jug, but whatever it was it smelled like rose water to the Michigan Wolverines as they won a surprisingly easy 33-20 Big Ten football game against Minnesota Saturday.

The victory returned the jug to Ann Arbor and was the fifth straight win for the Rose Bowl hopeful Wolverines, whose only major obstacle to a trip to Pasadena, Calif., next New Year's Day seems to be Ohio State.

Halfback sensation Ron Johnson said the momentum of the five wins will carry Michigan "all the way down to Columbus," where the Wolverines play the Buckeyes on the last game of the season.

In the next three weeks, Michigan meets Northwestern, Illinois and Wisconsin, the three teams currently bringing up the rear of the Big Ten. But quarterback Dennis Brown said, "We're not taking anybody easy."

Three Teams Share Honors in OU Meet

Eastern Michigan University, University of Michigan and Western Michigan picked up honors in the Oakland University invitational cross-country run Saturday.

The Hurons from EMU won the four-mile college division with 15 points, while U. of M. and Western shared the university six-mile division with 41 points apiece.

TAKES TITLE
Chris Abuhall posted a time of 22:15 to spark the EMU victory. Dave Campbell, Ken Head, Al Puffer and Bob Boudreau followed to make it a clean sweep.

Mark Dutton and Mike McCarran ran 12-13 for Oakland University, while placed third in the college division.

Ken Leonowicz, former Hazel Park star, turned in a time of 32:04.5 to take individual honors for Michigan State, which placed third in the team standing. Ken How of U. of M. placed second and John Bennett of Western was third.

The Minnesota game was expected to be closer than it was and the winner was expected to have a good chance of winning the conference title.

But the Golden Gophers couldn't get anywhere the first three quarters against Michigan's alert and determined defense, and the Wolverines' offense took advantage of every opportunity to show their power as they led 30-0 at halftime.

It was the fine signal calling of Brown and the hard running of Johnson that proved superior for anything Minnesota could muster.

Western Gains 40-12 Rout Over Marshall

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Tom Majerle scored three touchdowns in leading Western Michigan to a 40-12 football victory over Marshall Saturday. Majerle scored on three one-yard runs. Halfback Ken Woodside scored twice on runs of one and 15 yards.

Marshall's John Oertel threw two touchdown passes but was intercepted seven times, a Mid-American Conference record. Western Michigan's Sam Antonazzo picked off four, also a conference record.

The loss extended Marshall's victory drought to 18 games, longest in the nation.

"Brown was the big player," said Minnesota Coach Murray Warmath. "He was a genius on the field. I've never seen a better game from a quarterback. This is what chopped us up. His quick passes were tremendous."

Johnson's a great back and he runs real well, but Brown was the big man today," Warmath added.

Johnson picked up 84 yards rushing, almost entirely in the first half, and scored two touchdowns on one-yard plunges before he was relieved early in the third quarter. He is only 37 yards short of becoming the second all-time leading rusher in Michigan history. Tom Harmon is the leader with 2,134 yards from 1938 to 1940. Johnson has 1,822 from 1966 to 1968.

St. James in Playoff

Titans' Triumph in Vain

By JERRY CRAIG
Pontiac Catholic rallied to capture the game it had to win but it was in vain as Farnside St. James mauled Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows, 40-21, to earn the divisional playoff berth.
St. James and the Titans finished in a tie for the Northwest Catholic League championship with 6-1 records, and the Eagles gained the playoff nod since they whipped Pontiac Catholic during the season.
An aroused Orchard Lake St. Mary eleven battled PCHS' Titans successfully for three periods before sagging in the final session and dropping a 13-0 decision to the dismay of several Waterford Our Lady's gridders in the Wisner Stadium stands.

The Lakers had kept their hopes alive Saturday night by overpowering Royal Oak St. Mary, 46-19. WOLL finished with a 5-1-1 mark.
Waterford OLL would have gone to the divisional playoff game if both St. James and Pontiac Catholic had lost.
HOLDS LEAD
OL St. Mary led, 6-0, over the Titans until the last quarter. Despite burdened with an uncommon five-game losing streak, the Eagles repulsed PCHS at their own five-yard line on a fourth-down-and-one after its 60-yard drive with the opening kickoff.

The visitors then proceeded to sustain a march of their own. Faced with the same situation as the Titans, OLSM sent hard-charging Tad Cymam into the line and he got the first down at the four.
Two plays later he plunged over from the two. The two drives, mostly using ground plays for short yardage, consumed 16 of the game's first 24 minutes.
OL St. Mary mounted a push into Titan territory late in the third quarter. Mick Kroglecki's pass to Steve Ervank hit him at the 20 but immediately the big end was raked hard by defensive back Rick Vidriq. The ball squirted free and PCHS' Bill Martin fell on the pignik at the 17.
The homers needed 13 plays plus a 15-yard penalty to cover the 83 yards. Tim Boyer darted in from the six to tie the score with 8:54 remaining.
The Titans then stopped St. Mary at their 40 on downs. Boyer broke loose on a sweep for 30 yards and a first down at the OLSM 29. Herb Larson lofied a perfect pass to lanky Dave Bierlein but he dropped it at the goaline.
SECOND CHANCE
Boyer gained just three yards in two tries; but on fourth down, Larson again passed to Bierlein in the end zone and this time he made the catch for the winning six-pointer with 4:39 left to play.
St. Mary's Eagles began a drive at their own 36 after the drive and they reached the Titans' five only to have time run out.

Dentists Urge Use of Guard
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) - The NCAA was urged Saturday by dentists who specialize in dentures to make the wearing of mouth guards mandatory for college football players.
A resolution adopted by the American Prosthodontic Society at its 40th annual meeting here said such guards have virtually eliminated mouth injuries among high school and junior college players.

Career's End for Damascus in Poor Finale

By the Associated Press
Quicken Tree won the Jockey Club Gold Cup, but it was the horse who finished last, almost 37 lengths back, who made the news. The horse—Damascus; the news—the end of his racing career.
Mrs. Edith W. Bancroft's 1967 Horse of the Year bowed a left front tendon Saturday during the running of the two-mile, $109,800 Gold Cup at Belmont Park and will now go to stud.

Jockey Larry Adams, substituting for Manny Yonca, who has a back injury, dismounted shortly after crossing the finish line, and Damascus was yanked from the track.
It marked the end of a brilliant career which saw the 4-year-old Damascus earn $1,176,701, sixth on the all-time list, with 21 wins, seven second and three thirds in 32 starts. His sixth-place finish Saturday was the first time he finished out of the money.
His victories included scores in such prestigious stakes as the Preakness, Belmont, Woodward, the 1967 Gold Cup, Travers and American Derby. In all, he won 19 stakes.

Here Is State-by-State Look at Congressional Races

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The former Gov. Leroy Collins, D, for seat of retiring Rep. George Smathers, D, GOP could gain two House seats and lose one it holds in delegation, now 9 to 3 Democratic.

ALABAMA—James B. Allen, pro-Wallace Democrat, expected to win over Perry Hooper, R, for Senate seat of retiring Sen. Lister Hill, D. Democrats expected to gain one seat—possibly three in House delegation, now 5 to 3 Democratic.

ALASKA—Mike Gravel, Anchorage real estate developer and victor over Sen. Ernest Gruening in Democratic primary, favored to beat Elmer Rasmuson, R, banker and former Anchorage mayor. Race could be complicated by write-in votes for Gruening, who could pull votes from both parties. Rep. Howard Pollock, R, expected to win reelection.

ARIZONA—Former Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, R, far ahead of Roy Elston, D, for seat of retiring Sen. Carl Hayden, D. No change expected in present 2 to 1 Republican lineup in House.

CALIFORNIA—Alan Cranston, D, running in polls ahead of Max Rafferty, R, for seat of Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, who lost to Rafferty in primary. CONNECTICUT—Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D, favored for reelection over former Rep. Edwin H. May, R, in race clouded by uncertainty about whether George C. Wallace supporters will vote for members of Congress after casting a presidential vote. Nixon sweep could mean GOP pickup of one or more House seats.

DELAWARE—Rep. William V. Roth Jr., R, favored over former Rep. Harris McDowell, D. No senatorial election.

FLORIDA—Rep. Edward J. Gurney, R, given slight edge

House Democratic Whip Hale Jolly has only slight edge.

MAINE—Democrats favored to retain both House seats and lose one it holds in delegation, now 9 to 3 Democratic.

GEORGIA—Sen. Herman Talbot, D, heavily favored for reelection over Earl Patton, R, businessman. Democrats have chance to recapture the Republican House seats in 10-member delegation.

HAWAII—Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D, heavy favorite for reelection over Wayne Thiesens, R, and Oliver M. Lee, a professor on the Peace and Freedom ticket. In contest for two House seats from state at large, Mayor Neal S. Blaisdell of Honolulu, R, could unseat Rep. Spark M. Matsunaga or Patsy Mink, both Democratic incumbents.

LOUISIANA—Sen. Russell B. Long, D, unopposed.

Democrats expected to retain all 8 House seats, although

SOUTH CAROLINA—Polls put Sen. George S. McGovern, D, in front of former Gov. Archie Gubbrun, R, in his bid for reelection, but a Nixon sweep could unseat McGovern. Republicans should keep the 2 seats in House.

TENNESSEE—All nine incumbents in House, 5 Democrats and 4 Republicans, appear safe. No election for senator.

TEXAS—GOP, which now holds 3 of 23 House seats, should gain one or two. No senatorial election.

How Do Parties Differ?

BY JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — What is the difference in economic philosophy between the Democrats and the Republicans? Surprisingly, as necessary as the answers are, many people couldn't state them.

Most people won't find an awful lot of help either in read-aloud CUNIFF's two platforms, for there are perhaps as many similarities as difference, at least to the inexact eye.

IMPORTANT ASPECT

"I think this is an important aspect. It isn't to imply that there are no differences. There are, although the middle ground they share is substantial.

"It means to me that the key difference revolves around the allocation of money to the private and public sectors. This is critical to our nation's economic welfare.

"The Republican position is more nearly what I would call the liberal position," McCracken said. He conceded a semantic problem with "liberalism" in the classic sense, which would mean fewer rather than more federal restrictions on private enterprise.

"But as you get beyond these," he continued, "there are really sharp differences." There is a difference, he said, in "distributive preference" in regard to revenues. "Nixon is upper-income inclined, Humphrey is inclined toward the lower incomes."

"What are the tangible manifestations?" he continued. "In a Democratic administration, the federal budget four years hence would show higher expenses and taxes than the Republicans." But, he said, "they'll probably be higher in any case."

Heller said he also believes there is an area of agreement in economic philosophy but great differences, too.

"You start out with the fact that both Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Nixon have available the tools of modern economic—tax changes, budget changes, monetary changes, to move the economy. There is essentially a bipartisan consensus on this."

"But as you get beyond these," he continued, "there are really sharp differences." There is a difference, he said, in "distributive preference" in regard to revenues. "Nixon is upper-income inclined, Humphrey is inclined toward the lower incomes."

McCracken, a University of Michigan economist, was a member of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's Council of Economic Advisers from 1956 to 1960, and is mentioned as a possible council chairman should Richard M. Nixon be elected president.

Heller, economist at the University of Minnesota, was council chairman from 1961 to 1964, serving both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson and remaining an influential voice in policy after leaving the job.

Their opinions were expressed as spontaneous reactions to questions, asked of them separately, rather than in prepared statements. In both instances the men spoke of individuals rather than as party spokesmen.

Crosby said the nation "can hardly bear another four years of indecision and wild political spending characteristic of the present administration."

The dinner was held to raise campaign funds for Richard D. Kuhn, GOP candidate for county prosecutor.

Crosby said that Kuhn is "the kind of man Nixon needs on the local level to help reverse the trend toward lawlessness and declining morals."

Police Saturday had identified the victim of the fatal shooting early Thursday as Arthur Bryan, 32, of Milwaukee. Police said the name Bryan was an alias. He had formerly lived in Pontiac, Mich., they added.

McCauley was found beaten to death in a room at the Sheraton-Schroeder Hotel registered to another man, whom police are still seeking.

Q—At 76, my wife and I are meeting. I retired two years ago on Social Security, a small pension and dividends from Cities Service Co., Ford Motor Co., Sanle Fe Industries, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Affiliated Fund and Wellington Fund. Should we invest some of our $20,000 savings to get more income?—L. H.

A—Your portfolio offers a good balance of adequate income and moderate growth potential.

Because Cities Service moved up sharply on its participation in the ownership of a Atlantic Richfield preferred shares—in the Alaska oil boom, yield is currently on the low side. Nevertheless, shares should be held for their appreciation prospects.

Jersey Standard needs no additional comment—having been recommended here repeatedly.

Sanle Fe—holding company for Atchafalaya, Tokpa—has the appeal of continued diversification into nonreal activities and should be held for income.

Some Progress

Negotiators Return to Flint Sessions Today

FLINT (AP) — A Buick spokesman reported "some progress made" in 11 hours of bargaining Sunday in efforts to end a strike of the giant Buick auto complex in Flint by the United Auto Workers Union.

Negotiators returned to the bargaining table today. The spokesman said they adjourned the talks at 10 p.m. Sunday after negotiating since 9 a.m. Sunday morning with only a break for lunch.

Some 21,000 workers are idled by the strike which began Oct. 16. This includes 17,000 UAW members who walked off their jobs in protest of alleged speed-ups in parts production and assemblies, and 4,000 laid off at a companion Fisher Body plant.

Robert Kessler, Buick general manager and a General Motors Corp. vice president, said that the strike will affect assemblies of Buick cars this week in GM Assembly Division plants in five other locations. He said a lack of components from the Flint Buick complex would cause halts in the Buick assemblies at the plants.

"There will be no layoffs in these plants," a Buick spokesman said. He said assemblies of Chevrolets, Pontiacs and Oldsmobiles would be stepped up to compensate for the absence of Buick assemblies in the GM Assembly Division plants.

Use Records Better, Urges Traffic Expert

Counties need a workable system of traffic records to help cut accidents, Bruce B. Madson, managing director of the Traffic Improvement Association (TIA) of Oakland County, said today.

Madson addressed the opening session of the 56th National Safety Congress in Chicago.

He told the traffic experts that Oakland County has scored a dramatic breakthrough in establishing safety priorities with a comprehensive study by a citizens' group providing a 12-point countywide program of traffic priorities.

Madson said there is a greater need for planning and executing traffic programs at the county level than at the state or federal level.

MSU SURVEY
He said that of 50 counties surveyed by the Michigan State University Highway Traffic Safety Center, only five had accident records used by engineers to identify high hazard locations.

In the other 45 counties engineers did not receive copies of accident reports and did not maintain location files of accidents, he said.

Madson said this is a situation that is typical throughout the country, particularly in the rural counties.

Giraffe a Classic Example of Adaptation

WASHINGTON — The only living things in the world taller than giraffes are trees. But trees can't run 35 miles an hour.

The sky-scraping creatures also possess the world's highest blood pressure, 18-inch-long tongues, and front legs powerful enough to kick the head off a lion.

The giraffe is a classic example of adaptation, the National Geographic Society says. The animal's whole frame, which may tower 19 feet, is specialized for browsing in the higher branches of trees.

The giraffe's elongated neck is indirectly the source of its high blood pressure. The heart's powerful action in pumping blood up the eight-to-ten-foot stretch to the brain gives the animal a blood pressure three times that of man.

Junior Editors Quiz on OVENS

QUESTION: Who discovered ovens?

ANSWER: When early men found they could make a kind of crude bread by crushing grain, they cooked it on flat, heated stones.

It is thought that floating spores from yeast plants may have settled on masses of dough and deepened within it, making it much lighter and fluffier. Then the Egyptians discovered that such lighter bread tasted better when cooked slowly in a hot enclosed area. This led them to construct the first ovens.

We still use the oven principle, although for more than just bread. Notice the Navajo woman with her oven of adobe. Large brick-lined ovens were important in American Colonial days. Hot fires of brushwood were built inside such an oven, heating the brick.

When the fire died down, the ashes were raked out and food put in and allowed to bake slowly. Dutch ovens were like pans on stilts which were covered with a lid and then with hot coals.

In our modern ovens, we can bake or roast many kinds of food. We still need hot dry air, but since we have no heated brick sides we use some degree of gas or electric heat to keep the air hot enough.

... traveling through Germany, Sir Andrew Millington-Hackett (imports advisor to HHS) paused for a time at Munich—home of famous Lowenbrau beer. While having dinner at a local Ratlskeller, Sir Andrew spotted these beffy steins.

Now, it stands to reason that the country that makes the best beer and drinks the best beer should have the best steins to put the beer in. Ja? And here are three samples of what Sir Andrew sampled from—all from West Germany: (A) Blue design stein with lid, at $11. (B) Frankfurt and Hildeburg assorted designs with lid, at $9. (C) Beer steins in regular or barrel shapes with lid, half-liter steins at $7, quarter-liter steins at $5.

HAS WINNING WAYS —Ena Nelmes of 60 Douglas, winner of the 1968 Press Football Contest, receives a $500 U.S. Savings Bond from Press staffer Howard Heldenbrand. Outlasting nearly 4,000 starters, the 62-year-old retiree correctly called the outcomes of the first seven contest games, the final one being Auburn's 31-6 upset of Miami Saturday.

Grid Contest Prize Not at All Upsetting

By HOWARD HELDENBRAND

Seldom have there been as many football upsets as those witnessed Saturday, and none of more local interest than the one that upset The Press Annual Football Contest and made Ena Nelmes of 60 Douglas the 1968 Peerless Seeress.

For her flawless soothsaying, the 62-year-old state civil service retiree becomes the recipient of the winner's award of a $500 U.S. Savings Bond.

How did it all happen?

LONE BELIEVER

The contest went into its seventh game with five contestants backing the favored Miami (Fla.) Hurricanes with but a lone believer in the Auburn (Ala.) Tigers.

But the ferocity of the Tigers out-matched the gusts of the Hurricanes as they clawed their way to a 31-6 victory and the contest title for Miss Nelmes.

The losing quintet may salvage a bit of consolation, if nothing more negotiable, in the knowledge that Miami was the pick of the predictors.

Our own panel of five Swans were 3-to-2 for the Hurricanes. Also moonish over Miami was that perty and pontifical pigskin pundit, Major Amos B. (for Blimp) Hoople.

The winner has been a regular participant in the annual contests and had several near-misses before coming up with the winning combination for the one just concluded.

Miss Nelmes modestly disclaims any occult powers in making her picks, crediting her success to the traditional trait of feminine intuition.

Feminine intuition as applied to our football contests has proved far more productive than its masculine counterpart — the male hunch. Since the inception of the yearly grid games, the ladies have been posting wins with monotonous — for the men — regularity.

Miss Nelmes has no immediate spend-in plans for her windfall, though travel is in her mind. A native of Wales, it wouldn't be surprising were she to visit the country and relatives not seen for nearly half a century.

The 1968 contest was shortened dramatically when the first game ended in a tie, cutting the starting field of nearly 4,000 entrants to 65. It was the first tie since 1963, when Michigan and Michigan State played to a 7-7 deadlock and brought that year's contest to an early conclusion. During the interim, the contests have run through 13, 14, 15 and 12 games, respectively.

Big British Protest on Viet Contained

LONDON (AP) — Police yesterday contained and controlled the largest demonstration against the Vietnam war ever held in London and repelled a small attack on the U.S. Embassy without using nightsticks.

The only serious damage reported was not in London but at the John F. Kennedy Memorial at Runnymede, west of the capital. An explosion Saturday night split the seven-ton stone slab down the middle. The local chief of detectives said it could have been an antiwar protest or possibly a protest against Mrs. Kennedy's marriage to Aristotle Onassis.

Police estimated about 30,000 persons marched through London, all but a few hundred peacefully. Some 7,000 demonstrated in Grosvenor Square, site of the American Embassy, and 200 to 300 extremists broke away for a flying wedge attack on the big white building.

The police slowly pushed and shoved the militants back, penning them into the southwest corner of the square and stopping any attempt to break out. Gradually the young demonstrators ran out of steam and drifted away. London was quiet again by 9 p.m.

FEW INJURED

Casualty figures were low. Five policemen and about 40 demonstrators received medical treatment, although hundreds more had minor cuts and bruises.

Thirty-nine demonstrators were arrested, for carrying chains, sticks and bottles as "offensive weapons" and for a brief burst of widow-smashing and bottle-throwing.

'REVOLUTION'

The demonstration had been billed by the organizers as a "day of revolution." Militant circles had buzzed with rumors that government buildings, banks, the stock exchange and conservative newspapers would be stormed and occupied. None was.

The London School of Economics was occupied by its students for the weekend as a hotel and casualty station for demonstrators.

The main march drew about 20,000 less than expected, but it was the largest in London since the ban-the-bomb marches of the late 1960s and early 1960s.

From Our News Wires

The presidential election campaign roared into its final week today with partisan appeals from President Lyndon Johnson and former President Dwight Eisenhower. Meanwhile, the candidates exchanged charges and countercharges.

From a sickbed in Washington, former President Eisenhower wrote GOP candidate Richard M. Nixon that the country needs a leader to unite it, deal with crime and its causes, cope with Vietnam and other foreign problems and decentralize a federal power structure which is "the heritage of years of Democratic rule."

"You, better than any other political figure I have seen or heard, are equipped to do these things," the general told his onetime vice president.

President Johnson, on a quick trip to a New York Democratic luncheon yesterday, called Nixon and the Republican party "apostles of inaction," and predicted "Hubert Humphrey is going to wake up the morning of Nov. 6 as the president-elect."

He said Russia was threatening to bury America when Eisenhower left office and there was danger of a Communist take-over in the Congo.

Nixon said last night on television that he did not believe Johnson would use the Paris talks on Vietnam for political purposes, but he indicated there were others in the administration who might.

Humphrey immediately said that if expect from Nixon this week "the most desperate and cynical display of political irresponsibility ever seen in America."

Nixon defended his running mate, Spiro T. Agnew, against a New York Times editorial stating some of the Maryland governor's business dealings have presented "clear and repeated conflicts of interest."

Nixon said "this kind of libel by the New York Times doesn't help the decision-making process" and said a retraction would be demanded.

The Times editorial said Agnew and partners had profited from real estate investments partly through favorable zoning and government decisions.

Third-party candidate George Wallace rested yesterday in Montgomery, Ala., but renewed his charge that "eastern money interests" have rigged the national political polls, which show a decline in his popularity.

Israel said two civilians were wounded by Jordanian rockets today in the Beisan Valley north of the Allenby Bridge across the Jordan River. A Jordanian spokesman claimed Israeli gunners fired first, shelling two Jordanian villages. He said there were no Jordanian casualties.

The Israeli army said an Egyptian sniper on the west bank of the Suez Canal wounded an Israeli soldier on the east bank today.

The battle across the canal Saturday was one of the hottest along the waterway in the 17 months since the 1967 Arab-Israeli war ended. Israel reported 15 of its soldiers dead and 24 wounded. Egypt said five of its soldiers were killed and nine wounded.

EGYPTIAN ROCKETS

The U.N. report by Norwegian Lt. Gen. Odd Bull, the chief observer, said Egyptian rockets fired first in three successive exchanges.

Informed sources in Tel Aviv said Israeli troops may have been backed by surprise. Defense Minister Moshe Dayan, hero of the 1967 war, was reported visiting troops along the east bank where Israel reported sharpened watches.

The area was quiet yesterday although the U.N. team said Egyptians west of the canal fired on Israeli planes flying east of it. It said fires were still burning in Egyptian oil refineries at Port Said.

The national Lebanese news agency charged that Israel shelled one of its border villages yesterday, wounding two Lebanese soldiers. It said a U.N. truce commission conducted an investigation.

Bunker, Thieu Meet Again on Peace Proposals

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and President Nguyen Van Thieu met today for the eighth time in 13 days, presumably to discuss American peace proposals to North Vietnam.

The meeting at the presidential palace lasted about 45 minutes. A spokesman said another session was scheduled later today. There was no comment on what was discussed.

Prime Minister Tran Van Huong of South Vietnam said in remarks reported today by the Vietnam press agency, the ladies have been posting wins with monotonous — for the men — regularity.

Huong said the Saigon government's position is that the NLF is "only a tool of Communist North Vietnam."

ECHOES VIEWPOINT

"The NLF can appear at the conference table only as an element of the North Vietnamese delegation," Huong said.

Ton That Thien, the South Vietnamese Information Minister, echoed Huong's viewpoint.

"If we sit in Paris, there will be three delegations — from South Vietnam, Hanoi and the United States — and no NLF as a separate delegation," Thien said.

"If Hanoi wants to pick anyone from the NLF as the number one, number two or number three man in their delegation, it's none of our business. But they will have to speak as representatives of Hanoi."

Unconfirmed reports have said American and North Vietnamese diplomats have been discussing terms of an American proposal that would expand the current Paris talks to include NLF and South Vietnamese representatives.

Heroic Flint Youth Cited in Rescue of Orion Man

By JEAN SAILE

A 19-year-old Flint youth has been recommended by Oakland County Sheriff's deputies for a heroic citation for his successful efforts in keeping an unconscious Orion Township man from drowning.

Johnny R. Blake of Flint reportedly spent 45 minutes in the 30-degree waters of the Clinton River early yesterday keeping the head of David R. Regner, 23, 2561 Peters afloat until the area man could be freed from his partially submerged car.

Regner was reportedly traveling north on I-75 about 2:30 a.m. when he lost control of his auto. It struck the bridge abutment over the Clinton River in Pontiac Township and plummeted about 30 feet into the river where it sank to the windows.

Blake, traveling north with his sister and a cousin, saw the accident and stopped to assist Bloomfield Township police who were on the scene.

LOWERED INTO RIVER

He volunteered to have a rope tied around his waist and to be lowered over the embankment into the river. Once in the water, Blake tried to open the car doors but they were jammed. He succeeded

VP's Rise in Polls Stirs Hint of GOP Concern

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer
NEW YORK — Richard M. Nixon is escalating his oratory and retreating his show through the major electoral vote states in the final eight days of the Republican campaign for the White House.

He is running harder than before, covering more ground, making more speeches, purchasing more television time.

There is in this hint of GOP concern at the shape of the public opinion polls, which show Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey narrowing the Nixon lead. But Nixon's strategists say they expected the big margin to be cut and the current pace is part of a master plan shaped 10 weeks ago.

WE PLANNED IT
"This is the blitz," said one top Nixon adviser. "This is the way we planned it."

News Analysis

And the planning has been meticulous. Sunday, for example, preparing for his appearance on the CBS television program "Face the Nation," Nixon studied 35 questions—and suggested answers—prepared by his staff as likely to come up during the interview.

The Republican nominee, who had shunned the television interview earlier in the campaign, also plans to appear next Sunday on the NBC-TV program "Meet the Press."

It is all part of the escalation—and supplies Nixon with two half-hour chunks of free, nationwide television time in the final campaign days.

LIFE POLITICS

The Nixon campaign also produced a half-hour show of its own Sunday night, featuring the nominee's reminiscences about his youth and his life in politics. Thursday night, there is an hour-long telecast—worth about $150,000—of a Nixon rally at Madison Square Garden.

And on election eve, Nixon will stage a two-hour televised session from Los Angeles, answering questions.

This week, Nixon is scheduled to campaign in the seven biggest electoral vote states: New York, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Ohio, Illinois, Texas and California.

He has been in all of them before; he rates them all as crucial.

One concern of Nixon strategists: Should a handful of those states, in each of which Nixon has claimed the lead, slip into the Humphrey column, the result could be an Electoral College deadlock. That prospect, of course, is raised by the third-party campaign of George C. Wallace.

Another feature of the campaign windup: an intensified attack on Humphrey. Nixon has called his rival a man bankrupt of ideas, a candidate whose symbol should be a dinosaur, a pupil in Lyndon Johnson's obedience school.

Through it all, Nixon appears to be working to insulate himself against the possible political shock waves of a dramatic peace move in Vietnam.

Thus he chose to report on Friday that he had learned of a peace drive aimed at a bombing pause and a possible cease-fire. Humphrey presumably would reap major political benefits should that occur prior to Nov. 5.

But Nixon has declared that if President Johnson should order bombing ended, he will support the move. He has said repeatedly that he trusts the President to take that action only if it will save American lives.

So, should a bombing pause occur, Nixon will be on record as guardedly forecasting and fully supporting the action.

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases—to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so.

And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind. The secret is Preparation H—an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it. In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress—Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection. Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Nixon Is Put on the Defensive

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, appearing suddenly embattled in the final week of his presidential campaign, is being run in by Spiro T. Agnew against conflict-of-interest charges.

Nixon, making his first network television interview appearance in two years, also suggested directly Sunday night that "people within the White House staff"—but not President Johnson—are trying to achieve a Vietnam bombing halt in an 11th-hour effort to boost the candidacy of Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey. He did this in trying to explain an earlier public statement that stirred controversy.

The defensive stance of the GOP candidate, generally regarded as the front runner in the campaign, was further underscored by public statements from two top aides attacking a national public opinion poll that, it was suggested, will soon indicate a Humphrey spurt.

Nixon, heading for rallies today in Albany, N.Y. and Pittsburgh, was questioned about Agnew's past business dealings on "Face the Nation" on CBS. Asked to comment on an editorial Saturday in the New York Times accusing Agnew of "clear and repeated conflict of interest" and controversial real estate deals, Nixon said: "This is the lowest kind of gutter politics that a great newspaper could possibly engage in. It is not news that's fit to print."

Agnew, campaigning in San Francisco, had no comment Sunday night.

The Times, in its news pages, subsequently printed a comment by John B. Oakes, editorial page chief:

"The editorial ... was a moderately worded expression of some of the reasons for the Times' belief that Mr. Agnew is indeed unfit to be vice president of the United States."

NO FACTS DENIED

"Amidst all his verbal enunciation Mr. Nixon denies no statement of fact in the editorial except one detail on which he is quite imprecise. As soon as we have that detail, we will be in a position to defend our statement."

Nixon said in defense of Agnew that his running mate has demonstrated in the campaign that he can take political heat. He went on:

"I have made some mistakes; he has made some mistakes. And when he makes them or I make them, I think we try to get up and say, well, we admit them and try to correct them. But he is a strong man ... I am very proud to be on the ticket with him."

The GOP candidate also was questioned about a statement Friday in which he raised, and rejected, charges of "a cynical, last-minute attempt by President Johnson to salvage the candidacy of Mr. Humphrey" by arranging a Vietnam bombing halt and perhaps a cease-fire.

Nixon said he issued the statement because of news accounts and "a great deal of discussion" that this might be the case.

NO SUCH DISPATCH

The Republican nominee cited but one news account as having helped prompt his statement—a UPI report from Washington indicating that there was a lot of speculation that there were insiders in the White House staff who were attempting to work out some sort of a settlement, and that the President was going to be used for that purpose.

A spokesman for United Press International said the news agency carried no such dispatch from Washington but had carried two reports by a newsman covering the Nixon campaign that said "the Nixon campaign organization" felt some White House insiders were trying to use the Vietnam peace question politically.

The Nixon camp Sunday raised questions about the accuracy and fairness of the Louis Harris national public opinion poll, which Sen. Joseph D. Tydings, D-Md., said last week would soon report a Humphrey spurt.

Ike Foresees 'Big Victory'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower has told Republican Richard M. Nixon in a personal letter that Nixon is best equipped to run the country and will win a "sweeping victory" at the polls Nov. 5.

Eisenhower's praise for his former vice president was contained in a letter dated Oct. 24, composed at Walter Reed Army Hospital where Eisenhower is recovering from his seventh heart attack. The letter was released Sunday.

Eisenhower praised Nixon for the position he has taken on Vietnam, saying, "You have stood steady and talked straight, despite what must have been heavy pressures and temptations to reach for popular support through irresponsibility."

The former president said he hoped and believed "that our fellow citizens will show that they recognize this by rolling up for you a sweeping victory next Tuesday."

Czechoslovakia Federalizes Country Into 2 States

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Communist leaders took the first steps Sunday to federalize their country into Czech and Slovak states, still united under the Prague government but less tightly controlled.

At a special golden jubilee session in Prague Castle, the 265-member National Assembly unanimously approved the federalization act effective Jan. 1, 1969. Because of delays caused by the Soviet invasion in August, the leaders said further action still is required to settle

Czech-Slovak disagreements about the division of powers.

The federation law, to be signed Wednesday in Bratislava, capital of Slovakia, at this stage does little more than give the names of the two new states, their single-house legislatures and the new two-house national parliament.

The special legislative session was a highlight of the weekend celebration of the 50th anniversary of Czechoslovakia's independence, proclaimed on Oct. 28, 1918. It was the first official independence celebration in 20 years of Communist rule.

interfere. Army vehicles and a Russian ambulance moved quietly through Prague's flag-decked streets, and it was reported that Soviet units camped in the countryside were alerted to move into town in the event of anti-Soviet demonstrations.

Soviet soldiers who usually go sight-seeing on the castle grounds were not in evidence when the assembly met. No there any red Russian flag among the hundreds of Czechoslovak blue and white tricolors.

A crowd of about 500 persons cheered when Communist party chief Alexander Dubcek, National Assembly President Josef Smrkovsky and President Ludvik Svoboda arrived for the meeting.

Thousands lined up in a gray October mist to view the Bohemian crown jewels at one side of the castle. It was only the second time since World War II the jewels had been publicly displayed, and Prague television commentator said they "are evidence of the fact that hundreds of years ago there existed our sovereign state, honored and recognized by the whole world."

Hundreds more persons jammed cemeteries at Lany and Sedmohra to watch a government delegation place wreaths on the graves of Czechoslovakia's pre-Communist presidents, Thomas G. Masaryk and Eduard Benes. Both were "nonpersons" after the Communist coup in 1948, and both were rehabilitated by Dubcek's reform regime.

In contrast, only about 50 persons showed up at a wreath-laying ceremony at the state mausoleum where Czechoslovakia's two Communist presidents, Klement Gottwald and Antonin Zapotocky, are buried.

GM Truck's Management Ideas Feted

Savings of $2,657,383 annually were celebrated by some 200 management suggesters at the GMC Truck and Coach Management Improvement Proposal Banquet Saturday night at the Kingsley Inn.

The MIP program has been in operation since the start of the 1968 model year. It was initiated by Martin J. Caserio, a GM vice president, and a divisional manager, to increase the number of suggestions to improve manufacturing operations at management level.

Caserio cited at the banquet, the importance of "constructive discontent" in which people learn to look at their job and with a critical eye to determine ways to improve it.

B. T. Olson, general manufacturing manager, lauded management personnel for their aid in saving the company millions of dollars annually.

The savings came through suggestions resulting in increased efficiency, improved systems, use of better and less expensive materials and other labor-saving devices.

Court Limits N.M. Elections Statute

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — A New Mexico law requiring a candidate for Congress to live in his congressional district has been ruled unconstitutional.

The State Supreme Court said congressional candidates can live anywhere in the state and seek office from either of the two districts. This is the first time the state has been divided into two districts. New Mexicoans previously voted on their two candidates at large.

The court said the legislature could not set qualifications for a congressman in addition to those set by the U.S. Constitution.

Dem to Show How to Beat Shell Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., is promising a public demonstration of how service station dealers can beat Shell Oil Co.'s "Mr. President" game.

Shell station customers play the game by collecting groups of coins, each with a picture of a former United States President. Prizes ranging from $1 to $5,000 are promised participants who collect specified sets of coins.

The coins are given by Shell dealers to their customers in sealed envelopes. Presumably, the identity of the president portrayed is not known until the customer opens the envelope.

But Dingell said Nicholas Del Spina, president of the United States of New Jersey, Inc., a trade association, learned how to identify the names and faces on the coins without marring the sealed envelopes. Del Spina will demonstrate the technique at a special showing here Thursday to which staff members of the Federal Trade Commission have been invited, Dingell said.

Dingell is chairman of the House small business subcommittee which earlier this year held hearings on various "gasoline games" sponsored by oil companies.

Some motorists told the subcommittee they get few if any winning tickets, and they have trouble collecting the advertised prizes. Dingell said dealers claim the games do not always increase sales, as they are intended to do. Service station operators also complained they were pressured by oil firms to buy the games and that much of the cost falls on them and the sponsoring companies, he said.
