Ike Tells U.S. He Won't Barnstorm

Let's Get Out of the Mud

Facts Juggled by Opponents of Parking Lots

Opponents of five cent parking have allowed their arguments to degenerate into mud throwing, name calling and vilification in its lowest form.

Parking has been almost forgotten in the heat of anger, passion and prejudice.

The City Manager was assailed personally.

The City Commissioners were assailed, too. The Mayor came in for a round of verbal abuse. The Publisher, Editor and Managing Editor of The Press were attacked. Merchants were thumped without mercy. The whole campaign sounded like a badly mannered little boy running berserk on the playground.

Personal abuse took its place.

This newspaper was accused of closing its columns to private parking.

This is untrue.

Believing Mr. Stolorow may have been duped and deceived by his own campaign manager, The Press phoned him early Wednesday morning and told him something we thought everyone knew: namely, that he could present his arguments in the news columns as everyone else does.

WE SUGGESTED A FULL COLUMN ON PAGE ONE WEDNESDAY AND FURTHER NEWS STORIES UNTIL THE CAMPAIGN ENDED.

Mr. Stolorow said he would come in personally yesterday afternoon, but this morning we received a note declining. We renew the offer to carry his arguments.

Mr. Stolorow said that we had not done him justice in a meeting that took place on Feb. 6. Mr. Stolorow said he spoke for twenty minutes and The Press hadn't carried his statement in full. He also said we omitted the most important part.

Perhaps we didn't carry the portion Mr. Stolorow thought the most important but we did give the event a half column with a three column head on page one. We carried the portion we believed would interest the most people.

Opponents of five cent parking submitted a list of questions to the City Manager in regard to the cost and operation of the plan. We devoted one full page Tuesday to Mr. Stolorow's questions and their answers.

Our columns have been open to both sides since the campaign started. No one from Mr. Stolorow's side has sought to use them. This is a plain statement of fact, irrespective of what irresponsible sources may jump up and down and shout in hatred and anger. The Press is always open to both sides.

Would we make an exception in this one instance?

We supported relocation of the Courthouse but we carried all the arguments for the other group.

That has been our policy forever.

Recently we supported fluoridation, but full space was given its opponents. We supported Eisenhower for election in the last campaign and a careful check after election revealed that we had printed more columns about Stevenson than we had about Eisenhower.

★ ★ ★ ★

Two of Mr. Stolorow's paid campaigners came in here a month ago and spent two hours and a half selling their cause to the Editor, Managing Editor and City Editor. They were welcome. After this meeting they vanished and never returned to the Editorial Department. Were we supposed to write stories for a month as a result of one visit? Even the veriest tyro and amateur in publicity matters knows more than that.

★ ★ ★ ★

The City Manager, the seven City Commissioners, the Mayor, a long list of downtown merchants, the Publisher, Editor and Managing Editor of The Press have all become personal targets. These people constitute a group that has labored to build Pontiac and make it the sound and substantial city it is today.

What is the reason for this unaccountable thirty-five cent frenzy?

Dye Trial Ends in Circuit Court

Jury Retires to Begin Deliberations on Case Against Attorney

Trial of former Fenton Village Attorney Clifford B. Dye on charges of assault with intent to murder ended this morning, when the jury began deliberation at 11:25.

Opposing attorneys took three hours summing up their views of the complicated murder charge against Dye yesterday afternoon.

Dye, 54, is accused in the non-fatal shooting of William C. Clark, 27, a Fenton tenant farmer who leased a farm from Dye's sister.

The pair had been involved in a series of verbal and legal disputes over Clark's management of the farm.

The farmer alleges Dye began shooting for no apparent reason. Dye claims self-defense, asserting Clark assaulted him.

Dye's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, claimed that Dye has been "persecuted by the newspapers." Dye is charged specifically with assault with intent to murder, which can bring any number of years in prison up to life, upon conviction.

15 Candidates Back Proposed Parking Project

6 Office Seekers Fail to Comment on Issue Before Voters Monday

Fifteen of the 22 candidates for the 1956-1957 City Commission yesterday endorsed the city's $600,000 municipal parking program while six others would not say whether they were in favor of it or not.

Commissioner Roy V. Cooley, District 1 incumbent, was out of town and could not be reached for comment.

On Monday, the voters of the city will cast ballots for or against the proposal which would add 624 5-cent-an-hour municipal off-street parking stalls to the city's present capacity of 413.

District 1

Samuel J. Whiters—"I am 100 per cent for it because private parking hasn't been able to provide for the needs of parking for the city."

David Simmons—"I am a union man and I see that all the unions have endorsed it and that is why I am."

John B. Woodward—"I am definitely for the five cent parking for it is a help to the people."

Andrew A. McCaskill—"Am in favor of it and I have given my endorsement to the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce."

District 2

Commissioner Philip E. Rowston—"I wholeheartedly endorse the program because I believe the citizens deserve more consideration when they come downtown to see the family doctor and paying monthly bills."

Frank O'Brien—"There is a distinct need for more parking in the downtown area to accommodate those folks who must go there to carry on their business. Therefore I favor the establishment of more short term parking lots."

William G. Spence — "Haven't had the opportunity to study it

March Enters Without a Roar; Lion Lamb-Like

A lamb-like high of near 50 is predicted for tomorrow.

And looking back, February wasn't quite so bad, either. The snowfall recorded, 10 inches, was more than two inches less than last year.

Further statistics show the average high temperature was 33.5 in February, a whole degree warmer than the second month of 1955: February, 1955 showed a -2 degree reading one day, but the coldest it got last month was 9.

The lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 24 degrees. The thermometer registered 50 at 2 p.m.

Steam Shovel Goes Sliding

Pontiac Press Photo

MIRED IN PONTIAC CREEK — A 25-ton city steam shovel sunk deep in three feet of water and mud after an early morning accident at Monticello and Blaine avenues. It was being operated by city employe William Baker to clean out Pontiac Creek of debris and while moving it struck an ice-coated area and slid into the creek. Baker was not injured. A city official said he hoped to remove it this afternoon if he could secure the necessary heavy equipment.

House to Get Excise Tax Bill

Measure Slates Gas, Tire Raise Plus Fee for Heavy Trucks

WASHINGTON (AP) — A bill to raise gasoline, tire and other highway excise taxes will go before the House with an added starter — a special registration fee for heavy trucks.

The House Ways and Means Committee, which voted for the truck tax yesterday, estimated it will add 900 million dollars to the proposed net taxes, raising the total during the next 16 years to nearly 14 billion dollars.

The money, along with the yield from present highway taxes, is to be used for a long-range road building program with emphasis on a 40,000-mile network of strategic interstate highways. Present and projected taxes will make an estimated $38,700,000,000 available as the federal share of the 51-billion dollar program.

Rep. Reed (NY), senior Republican on the committee, proposed the truck tax yesterday. A bill without it, he said, would be "completely unfair" to ordinary motorists.

It would impose a yearly registeration fee of $1.50 per 1,000 pounds for all trucks weighing over 26,000 pounds, based on either the weight of the unloaded truck or on its licensed carrying capacity, whichever is greater. The weight limit was fixed to make it apply to heavy commercial trucks, of which there are about 700,000.

Marilyn Pays $55

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP)—A $55 fine has satisfied the case of the people vs. Marilyn Monroe DiMaggio.

Demurely dressed in a black, high-necked dress, the actress pleaded guilty yesterday to a 1954 traffic fine, issued when she was still using the name of her ex-husband, Yankee Clipper Joe DiMaggio.

Autherine Lucy Expelled to Halt Return to School

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS)—Autherine Lucy was expelled today by the University of Alabama board of trustees to prevent her return to the Tuscaloosa school.

The action was announced by Federal Judge J. Hobart Grooms and an attorney for the Negro coed whose appearance on the campus touched off rioting Feb. 6.

The trustees voted the action last night and informed Judge Grooms and Miss Lucy's counsel, Arthur D. Shores, of their decision this morning.

The expulsion followed by less than 12 hours Judge Grooms' order yesterday that the young woman be returned to classes by 9 a.m. next Monday.

Attorney Shores said he had received a letter from university officials and added:

"They have expelled her." Shores would not release the text of the letter.

Court attaches said nothing has been filed so far for the record.

Earlier, a source close to the trustees said he had been informed that the grounds for expulsion were a petition filed in behalf of Miss Lucy which accused school authorities of criminal conspiracy to ban her from classes.

Struck by Auto, Pedestrian Dies

Driver Earl A. Dibble Not Held in Accident Killing Amel Puttcomer

A rest home man, 77, was killed instantly at dusk last night when struck by a car on Auburn road a half-mile from the home.

Dead is Amel Puttcomer, who Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said was hit by the west-bound car of Earl A. Dibble, 58, of 5533 Farm Rd.

Dibble made a statement to Assistant Prosecutor James Roberts and was not held.

He said he was passing another west-bound car at 45 miles per hour and did not see Puttcomer in time. Puttcomer, walking west against traffic, was struck from behind. Skid marks extended 147 feet, deputies said.

Deputy Coroner Dr. E. J. Geist, said Puttcomer suffered a broken neck and multiple compound fractures of the legs, body and head.

Traffic Deaths Go Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Nearly 3,000 persons were killed in traffic accidents in January, a 5 per cent increase over January 1955. It was the 11th straight month of increased traffic tolls, the National Safety Council reported. The nation's traffic deaths in the first month of 1956 totaled 2,960 compared with 2,820 in January 1955.

Offers Nation Reassurance About Health

President's Aides Say Nixon Is First Choice as Running Mate

WASHINGTON (INS)—President Eisenhower was off and running for a second term today after assuring the nation he is physically able to perform all the "important duties" of the presidency.

The chief executive gave Americans a candid appraisal of his health last night in a dramatic climax to his electrifying announcement that he will be a candidate for re-election.

He said that as a "recovered heart patient" he won't be able to make as many speeches, attend as many ceremonial dinners or

"barnstorm" the country for re-election.

But, he declared:

"As of this moment, there is not the slightest doubt that I can perform as well as I ever have, all of the important duties of the presidency . . . So far as I am concerned, I am confident that I can carry them indefinitely."

An estimated 100 million persons, an all-time high, tuned in to hear the President discuss in sober terms the factors involved in his decision to seek another term in office. His 18-minute prepared address was carried over all major radio and television networks at 10 p.m.

Presidential associates, meanwhile, removed any doubt that Vice President Richard M. Nixon is Eisenhower's first choice as a running mate.

FOLLOWING TRADITION

They said privately that Eisenhower was only following the traditional practice yesterday when he said it was up to the nominating convention to pick a vice presidential candidate.

The President's advisers said there is no question about Nixon being Eisenhower's choice, despite the pressure from some GOP leaders to "dump" the 43-year-old vice president in favor of another man.

The President praised Nixon in the highest terms at his news

Ike's Plans Prompt Variety of Reactions From Voters

Pontiac was no different than the rest of the nation yesterday, as millions of Americans were discussing the pros and cons of President Eisenhower's "affirmative" decision to seek a second term.

In a random survey taken yesterday in downtown Pontiac, results showed that citizens took Ike's decision with mixed emotions. Here is what they said:

KING

McCLINE

MERRIMAN

SARSERFIN

Miss Elaine McCracken, 2888 Baldwin Ave.: "Suits me fine on Ike's decision. It's a good thing he said yes because that's who I'm going to vote for."

Milton M. King, 63 Poplar St.: "His decision to run again is a good thing, if he would only pick a different running mate. Heaven help this country if Nixon ever became president. I would like to see Ike pick Earl Warren."

Janet McConnell, 2360 Pine Lake Rd.: "Think it is wonderful and I'm all for it. He has done a good job so far and if he keeps up the good work we will be all right."

Lee Stallard, 53 E. Beverly Ave.: "It's a great thing. I'm overjoyed on his decision."

Charles W. Merriman, 29 Virginia Ave.: "He's up for another four-year vacation if he makes it. I'm not in favor of his decision because he is too old and his health is poor."

Frank Sarserfin, 2 Stout St.: "I think it is a poor decision. The Republicans pushed him into running again. He is too old for another term and should retire."

Willie McCline, 446 S. Saginaw St.: "I'm a Democrat but I think Ike is a good man and his decision was right. I think he will win if he is nominated."

'56 Plates Become Law; Police Alert

ILLEGAL — Ticket-books handy, Pontiac Officers Howard J. Lenigan, left, and Lon Peters Jr. view a 1955 license plate which went out of style at midnight last night. Driving with last year's plate is a $2 offense.

At least eight area motorists had received $2 tickets by 8 a.m. today for driving with 1955 license plates.

The deadline was midnight last night.

A crowd of 3,000 last-day customers jammed the Michigan Secretary of State's branch office at 53-55 Parke St. yesterday. Doors were finally closed at 9 p.m.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies, who passed out four tickets, nailed their first driver at 12:10 a.m.

Pontiac police accounted for the other tickets.

Area justices and Pontiac's municipal judges said they will not be moved by a "sad" story, such as, "I didn't have time to get a license."

Plates may be purchased from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. tomorrow and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday.

Urged to Seek Re-election at Ceremony

Dondero Portrait Unveiled in Congress

A portrait of veteran Congressman George A. Dondero was the center of a ceremony in Washington, D.C., yesterday when the likeness of the 72-year-old lawmaker was unveiled in the House's Public Works Committee Room.

While government officials, relatives and colleagues watched, the Royal Oak Representative formally presented the picture which will hang in the room in recognition of his leadership of the committee from 1947 to 1949, and from 1953 to 1955.

Addressing a roomful of guests, Dondero said: "In this room I have served nearly a third of a lifetime—24 years of my official life as a member of Congress—that a likeness of myself is to adorn these walls is a distinct honor in itself.

"Politics rarely enter this room . . . if there is any lesson or any example that might be gleaned from the portrait now being placed here, it is that of complete confidence and harmony between men of different political faith and coming from widely-separated sections of the country."

Despite pleas from House Republican Leader Joseph Martin, Dondero made no mention of plans to seek a 13th term in the coming election. There has been speculation that he might retire at the end of his current term.

Among well-wishers was President Eisenhower who in a letter expressing "happiness" at the unveiling of the portrait wrote:

"For nearly a quarter-century you have ably served our country in the House of Representatives. During this period you have twice served as Chairman of the Committee on Public Works. Due to your leadership much legislation has passed that through the years will stand as a monument to your public service."

The President was represented at the unveiling by Sherman Adams, chief administrative assistant. Michigan guests included Wilber Brucker, Secretary of the Army, who joined Martin in urging Dondero to seek re-election.

District 3

Mayor William W. Donaldson—"The future of the downtown area depends on more adequate parking facilities through the cooperation of both municipal and private parking and short term parking can be best solved by municipal facilities."

Earl J. Smith — "Voters are going to make their own decisions on this issue which I am very much in favor of and I will go along with their decision."

District 4

Commissioner Floyd P. Miles—"I believe that adequate short term parking in the downtown area is very vital for residents of District 4. I am anxious that the needs of my district be met and because of this I am definitely in favor of additional municipal parking lots."

Basil W. Toles—"I am for it and I think it is to the advantage of all the people."

Norman R. Bolton — "I am in favor of it 100 per cent and will be out campaigning for it because I think the people in my district want it."

Louis H. Biles—"I am for it and I think it is necessary for the businessman of the downtown section so they can get the trade in the city."

District 5

Commissioner John A. Dugan—"There is absolutely no doubt about it. I am for this proposal without a question. We need it, but definitely."

Pat Stoglin—"I am for it because our downtown is crowded and private parking operators are charging too much for short time parking."

District 6

Commissioner John E. Carry—"Am definitely in favor of it and have always been and I hope the voters will give it an overwhelming vote of approval."

J. H. Patrick Glynn — "This issue will be decided by the electors in the districts and I will abide with their decisions because this issue is taken out of my hands for the fact there is an election on it."

District 7

Victor L. Smothers—"It is up to the voters to decide the issue and I don't care to make a comment on it."

Benjamin M. Gates—"Absolutely in favor of it because it is intended for the short term parker and these lots provide him with the ease to get out of these lots when he is ready to leave."

Robert Landry—"The people in my district will make the decision and I will abide by it."

Gilbert W. Long—"I don't care to make a statement at this time."

Spraying Project Cuts Indian Malaria Cases

NEW DELHI—Up to 1953 India had an average of 100,000,000 cases of malaria a year. Several million acres of good land could not be tilled because they were so infested with malaria-carrying mosquitoes. The annual farm production loss was estimated at 6 per cent.

A DDT-spraying project was started in 1953 by a trained group of 18,750 workers. In 1954 an area including 100,000,000 persons was sprayed two or three times. In 1955 the coverage was increased to some 136,000,000 and by 1957 the whole malarial zone will be covered. Malaria cases have been reduced to 25,000,000 a year.

Tunnel Workers Cooled

SAN FRANCISCO—Temperatures were so high during construction of California's Tecolote Tunnel, a water-supply project, that workmen had to be hauled through some zones in cars filled with cool water and had to be sprayed periodically with cool water.

The Day in Birmingham

Recreation Board Begins Interviews for Director

BIRMINGHAM — Recreation board members last night began interviews with candidates for the post of recreation director, vacated after a two-week employment of their previous choice.

There are 14 names as possible solutions to the personnel problem that has besieged the board for months. Some come from the National Recreation Association, whose help was sought recently, and others, direct.

A resolution, to go to the commission Monday, won almost complete board approval. First sections okayed were on city aid in hiring the director and his secretary and naming a coordinator to schedule recreation events on city properties. Charles Gale has already been named to that duty.

Next was the rule that the board report on scheduled events, with unspecified report date. Members felt "from time to time" would be better than the yearly report now made at budget time.

Members Open Vote Drive

The often spoken proverb that "children should be seen and not heard" is hoped to be cast aside for a week as the parents of 1,740 Boy's Club members listen to pleas that they get out and vote March 5.

Under the direction of Director William V. Coulacos, the boys started yesterday to remind their parents of Monday's balloting by taking home notices of their "Reminder to Vote Campaign."

The end result of this week long campaign will be a trophy to be presented by the Boy's Club to the City Commissioner whose district records the highest number of voters at each election held in the city.

This trophy will be a roving type and the winner after each election will display it before him in the city Commission chambers in the City Hall.

Tomorrow the members of the club will be displaying a tag reading "I reminded my parents to vote" if they return a card to the club signed by their parents.

Twice before the Boy's Club have staged similar voting crusades by distributing some 20,000 leaflets prior to city elections.

At Tuesday night's City Commission, Jim Cartier, committee chairman of the campaign, urged "everybody to get out and vote Monday and back the primary so the city would have something to set as a pattern for future years."

I'VE DONE MY GOOD DEED—So says young 10-year-old Tom Farmer, (left) one of 1,740 Boy's Club members who this week will urge their parents to vote next Monday in their "Reminder to Vote Campaign." Shown above admiring Tom's "I reminded my parents to vote" card are Club Director Bill Coulacos (center) and members Delbert T. Green, 14, and Dan Thomas, 10 (seated). The members will receive similar cards to wear when they return signed cards to the club showing they have told their parents of the March 5 primary election.

Police Chief Nabs Man, Himself, in Fast Time

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma City police Chief Roy Bergman nabbed his man in record time when he demanded the name of an officer who did not answer his police radio call quickly.

The chief was riding with Capt. Wayne Harbolt, chief of detectives, when the radio blared: "Headquarters to Cruiser 35. Headquarters to Cruiser 35."

There was no answer, the call was repeated, and Bergman asked the name of the officer.

Bergman checked his list of police cars, turned red and meekly told Harbolt, "That's me."

LEARN TO HANDLE ATOMIC MATERIAL — Two Ann Arbor, Mich. firemen look over the shoulder of a laboratory worker at the University of Michigan's Phoenix Memorial laboratories. The laboratory is dedicated to the study of the peacetime uses of atomic energy. But to the Ann Arbor fire department, it's another potential trouble spot. They're learning just how dangerous atomic materials are and how they can be handled in the event of trouble.

American-Leased Jets to Help Japan Launch New Self-Defense Force

TOKYO (INS)—Japan's new air force will put "rising sun" Sabrejets into the air today, but the nation's air force commander said it will take at least 2,000 more jet fighters to defend the country against aggression.

* * *

The seven airmen who will pilot Japan's first commissioned jet fighter wing today at Tsuiki Air Base in southern Japan are all veterans of Nippon's World War Two Kamikaze Air Force.

"We plan to have 770 jet fighters in the next five years," said Gen. Kentaro Uyemura, chief of Japan's air self-defense force.

"We also will have reconnaissance and trainer planes. But if we are attacked, we would need at least 2,000 up-to-date jet fighters for the air force alone."

* * *

This means that for "the foreseeable future, Japan must continue to rely on the U. S. Far East Air Force and American support as security against possible Communist attack.

PILOTS WW II VETS

Commenting on the fact that all seven pilots in the first jet wing all were veterans of World War II, Gen. Uyemura told INS:

"Almost all of the 400 air force pilots we have today are veterans of that war."

* * *

The first seven taking part in the March 1 ceremonies returned to Japan last month after completing a Sabrejet flight training course at Nellis Air Force Base, Nevada. They also have received refresher courses from U. S. pilots in Japan.

Other Japanese pilots are now training in the U. S. on a rotation basis.

The biggest drawback in Japan's World War II pilots, Gen. Uyemura pointed out, is their age. It has been more than 10 years since they were up in the air duelling with pilots of the same nations that are now Japan's close allies.

"But we have a tremendous number of applicants for pilot trainees from among the current generation of college graduates," the air force chief added.

* * *

He said that last year when the air self-defense force put out a call for 400 pilot applicants, 35 times that number or roughly 14,000 men joined in the rush.

Farmers of the U.S. have been forced to abandon more than 25 million acres of crop land in recent years because of soil erosion. Average loss is about 500,000 acres per year.

Pilot Dies as Jet Plane Crashes Into Jap Home

ATSUGI, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Navy F9F5 Panther jet crashed into a Japanese house today near the naval air station here. The pilot was killed and two Japanese women occupants of the house were taken to a hospital in a state of shock.

The house was almost destroyed and two others were damaged.

The identity of the pilot, who was on a routine training flight, was not announced pending notification of next of kin. The Navy said the cause of the crash had not been determined.

No Card, No Pinball

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP)—Some Ashland teen-agers without an identification card will be behind the eight ball as far as pinball machine playing is concerned. The City Commission has enacted an ordinance requiring those under 18 to show identification cards before playing the machines. Violators will be fined not less than $10 nor more than $100 and business places will lose their city license if they permit youngsters to play without the cards.

New York ranks first in the production of talc and gypsum.

Roseville Crash Victim Recovering in Hospital

Lawrence V. Hill, 23, of Roseville, injured in an automobile accident Feb. 19, is still being treated in Pontiac General Hospital, where he is reported in "good" condition.

Hill suffered a fractured left leg and right arm in a head-on collision with a Waterford Township car driven by John C. Linson, 23, who apparently went out of control on Telegraph Rd. near Orchard Lake Rd., according to Oakland County Sheriff's deputies.

Ann Arbor Firemen Set to Douse Atomic Furnace

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Ann Arbor fire department which sends out every piece of equipment every time there is an alarm at the University of Michigan, is learning some atomic age fire lessons.

* * *

In twos and threes the department staff has gone through the university's new Phoenix-Memorial laboratories, dedicated to the study of the peace-time uses of atomic energy.

By next year, the university will have in operation a full-blown, million dollar atomic reactor, the largest owned by a non-government agency.

But for Ann Arbor firemen, the hot uranium fuel will pose some special problems.

Actually, there will probably be no occasion for the firemen to worry about the separate reactor building at the end of the laboratories. It will be sealed off from the personnel area by a wall several feet thick.

The reactor itself will be submerged in a pool of water to cut down radiation hazards. The hot stuff—irridiated materials—enters the laboratories through small tunnel like holes in the wall between the two buildings. When not in use the holes are plugged by huge metal pins.

From this stage on, the firemen will be concerned. The hot stuff is worked on with artificial hands in huge concrete and steel cells. Laboratory workers are protected at all times by water, steel or concrete, extra dense and several feet thick.

* * *

But it's the fireman's job to be ready for an eventuality. And the Ann Arbor fireman is the only one in Michigan, at any rate, who has to worry about putting out a fire in an atomic furnace.

Actress' Ex-Husband Wants Child's Custody

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Barbara Payton's ex-husband wants custody of their 9-year-old son, charging the actress is raising the boy with "no moral education."

Air Force Capt. John Payton, 33, filed in Superior Court an affidavit seeking a new custody hearing. He contends that the boy, John Lee, "has been exposed to profane language, immoral conduct, notoriety and unwholesome conduct."

Novelist Gets Estate

Safety Program Hard to Analyze

Childs Says Michigan Has Long Way to Go to Save 200 Lives

LANSING (AP) — Joseph A Childs, State Police commissioner, says it will be hard accurately to measure the success of Michigan's current highway safety push until midsummer.

"We are on the right track but we have a long way to go if we are going to save 200 lives this year," Childs said at a meeting of the Michigan State Highway Safety Commission recently.

Reduction of the highway fatality toll by 200 is the goal of the current campaign, which included inauguration Feb. 3 of a state speed limit — 65 miles an hour in daytime and 55 at night.

Another influence still to be felt is the presence of an additional 200 State Policemen on the state road system. Childs said he hopes to have them in uniform by Memorial Day.

* * *

The police force increase was authorized by the 1955 Legislature. Training of the first batch of 154 candidates for the new positions began Monday. About 100 are expected to win jobs.

* * *

Fatalities in the last three days of the month, plus those occurring later on as a result of February accidents, probably will swell the February 1956 figure into the 90s, narrowing the favorable comparison.

Childs observed that February was a better month to make a good record than in the summer period when the roads are clogged with vacationists. Also, he observed, the figures for February 1955 were higher than usual.

The commission, meeting in the office of Gov. Williams, discussed plans for picking a successor to its executive secretary, Maxwell Halsey, Okemos, and changing the character of the job. Halsey has resigned, effective April 1.

It was agreed to replace Halsey, primarily a technician on safety questions, with a public relations type employe, and to ask the Legislature to approve a $10,000-a-year salary instead of the $8,000 received by Halsey. The new executive secretary will be backstopped by a technical expert.

Secretary of State James M. Hare, commission chairman, predicted that the February reduction in traffic deaths probably will amount to 10 to 20 per cent.

"That's not enough," he told a reporter. "We have to be shooting higher."

Fine Refunded for Book Overdue 35 Years Ago

GREELEY, Colo. (AP)—A former student who mailed $5 for a library novel she borrowed — and failed to return—35 years ago is getting her money back.

Bob Jones, librarian at Colorado State College of Education, said the check came from Kentucky but he declined to identify the one-time student.

"A novel over 35 years old might well have been discarded by now anyhow," Jones wrote in returning the check, "and I'm afraid my conscience would bother me if I accepted your money."

Ike's Decision to Run Delights GOP Leaders

Republicans are justifiably jubilant over President EISENHOWER's decision to seek another GOP nomination.

The news, released at the largest Presidential press conference in history, is just what party leaders have been waiting impatiently to hear for many weeks. It answers the question all Americans have been asking ever since the President was stricken last September.

As might be expected, Mr. EISENHOWER cleared up some other interesting questions in giving the correspondents his "positive-affirmative" answer. For example, he made it clear that he would not have agreed to run if he were not sure that his health is equal to another five years in the White House.

In answer to questions, the President indicated that he would campaign on the record of his Administration. He also left no doubt of his high regard for Vice President NIXON who, he said, had done a loyal and dedicated job.

Understandably, Republican leaders are paying no attention to the President's modest statement that the American people might not want him to seek a second term. They also were ignoring his statement that his decision should not exclude any other candidates who want to get into the race.

Instead, they wisely are planning for an Eisenhower acclamation at the party's National Convention in August. Certainly, the man who gave up an outstanding military career to lead the party to victory in 1952 has earned such a tribute.

With his Administration's excellent record of accomplishment and with DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER heading the ticket, it is hard to see how the Republicans can lose next November.

Warning in Tragedy

The drowning of LARRY and BARRY ALDRED, Waterford Township, has saddened everyone who knew these seven and six-year-old brothers and their parents.

Nothing we can say can soften the grief caused Mr. and Mrs. ALDRED by the tragedy which has befallen them. But we feel sure they would wish us to emphasize the warning implicit in this tragedy.

Especially at this season of the year in a county with 400 lakes, it is important for parents and teachers alike frequently to repeat their advice to stay away from thin ice.

★ ★ ★

Because children don't understand the danger and easily forget, the warning must be repeated again and again and again.

Fish Bill Deserves O.K.

A bill of vital interest to commercial and sport fishermen of the Great Lakes area is now before Michigan's Legislature.

It proposes expenditure of $375,000 over the next five years for the sensible purpose of restocking these lakes with lake trout, white fish and pickerel from State hatcheries.

While there is some dispute as to the efficacy of the program, there can be little debate about the need for such action. As one supporter of this legislation pointed out, the Great Lakes are the most neglected fishing waters in the Nation.

Biologists and conservation officials argue that there is no relationship between planting and catches. Yet, only a few days ago Interior Secretary McKAY testified in Washington that young lake trout are immune to attacks from sea lampreys during their first three years.

★ ★ ★

This strikes us as a strong argument for the bill which should be given legislative approval. By the time the lake trout have made a comeback as a result of restocking, control of the lamprey evil will have become most effective.

Labor Reds Ousted

Among cheering recent anti-Communist news is the announcement that Austria has asked the red World Federation of Trade Unions (WFTU) to move out of the country.

Under its peace treaty with Russia, the Austrians are pledged to perpetual neutrality. But there is no mistaking how they feel about this Communist organization. As a result WFTU, homeless for the second time, currently has only a temporary address in Rome.

Organized during World War II it started out in Paris to be an alliance of world labor organizations. British Labor joined it, so did our own CIO. But the AFL stayed out.

In 1948, after the start of the cold war, the free unions dropped out of WFTU and established the International Confederation of Free Trade Unions with headquarters in Brussels. Today the merged AFL-CIO is ICFTU'S strongest member group.

It is heartening to learn that the government at Vienna not only has ousted the Reds but has joined the Council of Europe to help promote Continental unity.

President's Assent Poses Big Question as to Who Will Be His '56 Running Mate

WASHINGTON—President Eisenhower ended one guessing game—and involuntarily started another.

Eisenhower will accept if nominated but who will be his running mate? Will there be just as vigorous a campaign for presidential nomination on the Democratic ticket as before? Is it a sure thing that Ike will be elected?

* * *

These questions may get one set of answers in March, and a different set several months from now.

The health of the President will be an issue but not as important as the Democrats think. Of all those Democrats who commented on Ike's decision to run, Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee made the most sensible and in many respects the best statement from a political standpoint when he said:

"I am glad President Eisenhower feels that his health will permit him to make a campaign seeking another four years in the presidency. Having been responsible for the record of the past four years, the President is the best qualified man to defend that record. The campaign can be waged on its merits without mudslinging but with no punches pulled."

This is in good taste and emphasizes that, in America, debate on issues rather than personalities is what counts most with the voters. They resent any effort at personal attack or disparagement of a man's physical condition. The Republicans never made an issue of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt's physical handicaps, and the Democrats would be making a grievous mistake if they tried it now with respect to Eisenhower.

NIXON FACES FIGHT

There will be an effort to "stop Nixon." Some Republicans, with a favorite candidate in their minds, may oppose the vice president's renomination, but most of the noise will come from Democrats and their sympathizers here in Washington.

Thus, although Eisenhower, sticking to political custom, made it clear at Wednesday's press conference that he wouldn't want to announce himself for any vice - presidential nominee until he himself has actually become the presidential nominee, this was twisted into an anti-Nixon statement.

Eisenhower went out of his way at the same time to say that his "admiration and respect" for the vice president are "unbounded."

From a strictly political viewpoint, any effort to eliminate Nixon would cause a cleavage inside the Republican party organizations, where Nixon is strong and where the bulk of the work in the precincts has to be done. That's why the Democrats are so anxious to stimulate dissension in the Republican ranks.

When did the President decide to run? He has wavered for weeks on both sides of the argument. The newspapers have reflected, by means of the verbatim reports of his press conferences, his own doubts and misgivings. But in the last two weeks there has been a definite swing toward the decision he finally made.

CONDITIONS FAVOR GOP

Is Ike a sure thing for re-election? Today's conditions are very favorable. Economic factors and emotional issues decide elections. Ike's popularity today is politically valuable to the Republicans only because there is "peace and prosperity." If adverse conditions such as have existed in the farm areas were to intensify and spread, no amount of personal popularity would save the day for Ike.

* * *

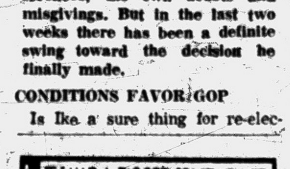

Today the emotional issues favor the Republican side. Peace is a very penetrating issue with the women as well as the men voters. That's why the Democrats in Congress are making a signal error in tactics in their reckless attacks on Secretary of State Dulles.

Eisenhower has just emphasized the perils of a divided government—the mistake the voters made in 1954 in electing a Democratic House and giving an even division to the Senate, which later became Democratic because a Republican turned Democrat and voted with them. Eisenhower told his historic press conference this week:

"If we are honestly dedicated to a two-party system—that is, to a single-party responsibility in this country—then the Legislature and the executive should properly be in the same hands, so that there can be responsibility fixed without crimination and recrimination . . . We should certainly, whenever it is humanly possible, have these groups under the control of the same party."

Check With Your Doctor Before Taking Any Iodin

By WILLIAM BRADY, MD.

For four days in the second week in May (writes a reader) I sneezed, wept and blew. Regular attack of chronic hay fever, nasal asthma, or what have you. Then I saw in your column a suggestion . . . (R. N. B.)

* * *

(No, the suggestion was not what some of you and I myself expected. It was, R. N. B. continues:)

. . . that a drop of iodine in water might stop a cold. I took it, and the sneezing, etc., stopped immediately. (R. N. B.)

The correspondent does not say when the suggestion appeared in my column or in what paper, but offhand I'd like to bet it wasn't my suggestion—oh, so, for once we can refer to the master copy to find precisely what I submitted for printing that day (May 13). It was a question and answer, as follows:

WHAT, IODIN FOR CORYZA?

Correspondent writes to a London newspaper from Pomerania to say that he has found that one drop of ordinary iodine taken in a glassful of cold water "prevents most colds if it is taken as soon as the symptoms appear." He adds that the same dose repeated after several hours does no harm, though in his experience, it has seldom proved necessary. I never have these so-called "colds" any more. I wonder if the reason is that I take a drop of iodine once a week. (D.C.C.)

Answer—I don't know whether it is an instance of similia similibus curantur.

PRODUCES SYMPTOMS

Iodin (old spelling iodine) or iodides such as sodium iodide or potassium iodide (KI) in excessive doses or in some persons in ordinary medicinal doses will produce such symptoms as R. N. B. described. Physicians call such manifestations iodism.

It is true that the old-timers recommended one or two pretty stiff doses of iodin or iodide for acute "catarrh" or coryza.

But we must not take the old-timers seriously. They contributed to medical literature some pretty weird concepts.

So my advise is just this: If you take iodin or iodide as a remedy for coryza or other acute respiratory infection, you had better have your physician's supervision. It is beyond my province.

I don't know whether getting an optimal nutritional requirement of iodin makes one less susceptible to the CRI, but it seems reasonable that any betterment of nutrition would tend to maintain immunity.

Please don't presume that I recommend medicinal doses of iodin or iodides for anything. I recommend, for every man, woman or child, only the wee, wee daily ration of iodin everyone should but generally does not get from food, salt, and-or drinking water. Instructions in the pamphlet THE IODIN RATION, for which send stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Romantic Campaign by Wife Banishes Middle-Aged Husband's Penny-Pinching

Frances reports the follow-up of her miserly husband's case after she had agreed to test the truth of the old axiom that miserliness and impotence are often related. Happy husbands must feel they have the power to dominate their wives' affection. If addicted to a sex defeatism complex, they often become penny pinchers.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-388: Frances W., aged 46, is the frustrated wife of miserly Tom, who was described yesterday.

You may recall that she reluctantly agreed to enter upon an experiment in domestic psychology.

* * *

Because of our marital axiom, "Miserly with money; platonic in the bedroom," I had thus urged her to become a siren in her own boudoir so she would restore her husband's deflated sex ego.

"A man with a sexual inferiority complex will often enshrine money as the substitute symbol of masculine power and thus be very stingy with his wife," I had advised.

So Frances launched upon a planned program for revitalizing her husband's romantic ardor, even though she still couldn't believe it would make him a generous mate.

Six months later Frances again entered my office. She looked almost 10 years younger, for her eyes shone and she radiated the self-assurance of romantic confidence.

"Dr. Crane, I am back to report on the experiment," she began with a smile, "but I must confess I didn't have too much faith at the start.

"However, I did as you advised. I got a new hairdo and changed my brand of perfume, so I would stimulate Tom by seeming like a different person.

"Then I took the initiative in kissing him. He pushed me away at first but I grew bolder.

"Well, a miracle happened. He began to change and before six weeks had passed, he would whistle as he shaved in the morning. Even his step had more spring and bounce to it. He looked much younger, too.

"And he began to show more thoughtfulness toward me. He would telephone me to meet him at his office in the afternoon so we could dine downtown.

"Then we'd attend a concert or the theater. Meanwhile, I continued to act brazen at home as any siren and let no scruples interfere with my plan to seduce him.

"After the first eight weeks had passed, he started giving me a monthly allowance check to spend for household needs. And he was very liberal, for it was $350 per month.

"He voluntarily admitted that I could do a better job at buying than he could, so he said he wanted me to handle such chores.

"One night we stayed home to read and listen to the radio. I was knitting when he finally came over and sat down on the hassock beside me.

"Then he confessed that he had been going through Hades for several years. He said he had feared he was losing his vigor, so he had taken testosterone shots for over a year, but they had not produced any change.

"So he was bitter and so panicky he finally had even considered suicide for he feared he would be a platonic husband forever.

"Dr. Crane, I cried and so did he to realize the suffering and mental torment he had gone through which I hadn't even dreamed of.

"Then Tom told me he was now happier than he had ever been in all our 25 years of marriage. He said he felt younger and his whole outlook on life had changed. He apologized for being so mean and selfish with me, but said he would never be that way again.

"And I told him I knew he would not, for I realize now that a wife can make or break her husband's morale by her bedroom behavior.

"Tom now is as generous as any husband could be. He has opened a joint checking account, too, and says I can be the treasurer of our family for he is tired of the job.

"I now realize the truth of your axiom that miserliness and impotence are often related. I wish you'd tell other wives about my case."

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c-stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Mr. Smith Denies Charges of Paper Against Parking

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Vested interests against city parking say they oppose it because it would waste taxpayers' money. Their real reason is they don't want to lose money from their parking lots. These lots charge at least five times more than metered lots.

Most Pontiac families have received a pamphlet trying to show that metered lots would not pay for themselves. It contains pictures of unused lots in other cities. Every shopper who drives knows that metered lots we now have are full most of the time.

Vested interests say metered lots cannot accommodate people who park all day. This is true, but city lots are only planned for shoppers. The city expects people who work and park down town all day will still use private lots.

The pamphlet says merchants should supply parking. When a shopper uses a store's "free parking," it is free only if he buys something. If he doesn't he must pay the lot 25 cents or more. Even if he does buy something, the price has been raised at least 25 cents on the merchandise, because the operator collects that much from the store.

Vested interests didn't mention this. Even they realize there is no such thing as free parking in the downtown area, but they won't admit it.

Betting and Beauty Blend at Miami's Hialeah Track

NEW YORK (AP) — Typewriter Tattle:

A minor leap year victory for the ladies this season has been the opening of what is claimed to be the first beauty parlor at an American racetrack.

DOWN IN FLORIDA

It's at Hialeah, outside Miami. Men have been clipped — and spent a lot of money on close shaves—at race tracks for centuries. But the thought is, well, a bit on the odd side.

I asked a Florida informant to check up on the progress of the experiment. His report has just arrived, scribbled on the margins of several old racing forms.

It seems the idea for the beauty parlor originated with Vincent Pellegi, of the Philadelphia firm of Vincent and Joseph. He figured that such a shop might provide a refuge for wives bored with watching their husbands bet the family budget on the ponies.

The beauty parlor caught on at once. Vincent has a staff of four now.

SHE'S NOT BORED

But he quickly learned one thing. The little woman who accompanies hubby to the racetrack isn't bothered by boredom. She wants some action, too.

Vincent is kept busy running upstairs placing bets on the next race by the ladies sitting under the dryers. He has thrown away his stock of women's magazines. The girls prefer to study the racing form, the green sheet, the horsemen's journal. They don't gossip about clothes, men or babies. They swap tips on horses.

If ladies have a one-track mind, the mind of these ladies is on the track outside. Some insist that their hairdresser keep a turban handy, so they can wrap it around their heads and rush outside to watch a particularly exciting race.

BETTING HABITS

The beauty parlor staff is fascinated by the betting habits of the women. Some are inveterate students who wouldn't think of laying their money on a horse unless they know his ancestry for three generations—and what he ate for breakfast. Others depend on feminine intuition, dreams, or merely close their eyes and stick a hairpin through the racing program. The systems work out about the same.

The ladies, especially the hunch players, are addicted to daily doubles. Vincent recalls one who won a $1,069 double after finding a 1955 penny on the way into the track. She bet on the No. 5 horses in the first two races.

The "dream" players don't depend merely on their own dreams. They'll bet on anybody's dreams, including those of their chambermaid at the hotel.

Vincent is an outspoken foe of the pony tail hair-do. He thinks it's only for the ponies.

The track hair style he is trying to popularize is something he calls "Flamingo cut." It is based on the wing arrangement of the big pink birds that live on Hialeah's inside lake.

One lady liked her new coiffure so well she insisted on carrying the realism even further by having her hair tinted pink!

Red China Benefiting From Food Rationing

Lois Mitchison, British newspaper writer, took a two-month tour of Red China as a British journalist. This story, written for The Associated Press, was forwarded through Hong Kong.

By LOIS MITCHISON

SHANGHAI (AP)—The people of Red China may go hungry sometimes, but they certainly do not appear to be starving.

People can be seen sitting by the doors of their houses at lunchtime, eating from large full rice bowls. Childrens' bellies are not swollen as they are in famine times; adults do not look unnaturally thin.

The government rations several important foodstuffs, including rice and other grains, flour, cooking oil and sugar. Pork has just been taken off the ration.

Cotton cloth, the staple clothing material in China, also is rationed.

The rations vary according to the individual's work—the biggest for the heaviest labor.

* * *

Chy Yu-chun of the Shanghai Municipal People's Council said Shanghai rations vary from 13 to 50 pounds a month. An office worker, for instance, gets 24 pounds of rice a month. A driver of a bicycle cab 41.

The Shanghai cooking oil ration is now 10 to 14 ounces a month.

The sugar ration is six ounces for people in the city, four for country people.

The cotton cloth ration for this year is 45 feet for adults in all Chinese cities and 32 feet for children. In the country it's 38 feet for adults, 30 for children.

* * *

Some unrationed food are in short supply. But vegetables and fish are plentiful. So are relatively expensive canned goods.

It requires about 15 minutes of camera shooting time for each minute of finished film to be produced for a typical television drama show.

Primary Popularity Test Says Kefauver

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), the only Democratic candidate in Wisconsin's presidential primary, says that race could be "considered a popularity contest" with President Eisenhower.

* * *

Kefauver left here today for Washington. During a 30-hour campaign visit he made five speeches, filed his slate of national convention delegates with the secretary of state and learned that Adlai Stevenson will not enter the Wisconsin primary.

Stevenson, also seeking the Democratic presidential nomination, announced his decision yesterday. In a letter to Elliott Walstead—former Democratic state chairman and head of the Wisconsin for Stevenson Club—he said his schedule would not permit time "for genuine opportunities to express my views on public policy."

Train Cars Jump Track

Driver, Car Vanish —One's Real Gone

CYNTHIANA, Ky. (AP)—A motorist just disappeared after twice running a school stop sign but his car was really lost.

* * *

Police Chief George Adams said Hanson P. Clifford disregarded the sign twice within a few minutes. A police cruiser abandoned a chase when Clifford's auto suddenly disappeared at a bridge.

* * *

Clifford explained when he reported to Police Court, where he paid fines totaling $70: The car had plunged over an embankment at the bridge and overturned several times. Clifford suffered only minor injuries but the auto was called a total loss.

Era of Motor Scooter Invading Staid Britain

LONDON (INS) — Britain has now entered the motor scooter age.

A British manufacturer has unveiled two scooter models at the Cycle and Motorcycle show. Hitherto foreign competitors have largely supplied the scooter demands.

The new British scooters retail at $207 and $560, purchase tax included. Until the show opened, they were a top secret in the industry.

Ionia County's Best

IONIA (AP) — Francis Larson, 33, who operates a dairy farm six miles southwest of Ionia, has been named Ionia County's outstanding young farmer. His 23-cow herd had an average production of 10,000 pounds of milk and 421 pounds of butterfat in 1955. He now is eligible for the statewide contest to select Michigan's outstanding young farmer.

Pennsylvania has 35 state parks with 103,987 acres; 25 state forests with 1,798,883 acres; and 111 community forests with 145,063 acres.

Man Sells 70 Trees He Doesn't Even Own

LONDON (INS)—To the list of those unhappy people who have brought the Brooklyn Bridge from persuasive strangers you can add a London timber merchant who purchased 70 trees.

Police said the merchant cut down the trees then discovered that Dimitri Kolzoff, who sold them, didn't own them. While the real owner gazed at the stumps in horror Dimitri, a stateless person, was sentenced to three months in jail at Newdigate, in Surrey county.

HERMOSILLO, Mexico (AP) — Workers in Mexico are quick to express their disapproval when their employers threaten an economy wave.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — An unidentified man grabbed Mickey Davenport, 22, around the neck from behind as he walked along the street.

Navy to Construct Missile-Firing Sub

WASHINGTON (INS)—Plans are under way for the construction of an atom-driven submarine capable of hurling nuclear explosives hundreds of miles inland.

The guided missile craft, scheduled by the Navy Monday, boosts the total of nuclear-propelled submarines built or planned for to 15.

At the same time the Navy announced that two other conventional submarines now under construction will be fitted for guided missiles.

The three submarines will be equipped to fire the Navy's "Regulus" missile, which travels at 700 miles an hour and has a range of 500 to 700 miles.

* * *

The new atomic submarine is to be constructed at the Mare Island Naval Shipyard near San Francisco.

Employment in Japan crossed the 43,000,000 mark and the number of jobless dipped to 66,000 recently.

Wants to Register Owners of Papers

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—The South Carolina House Judiciary Committee says it plans to introduce a bill that would require newspapers, magazines, radio and television stations to file a list of ownership sources with the secretary of state.

* * *

Said State Rep. Lake, a member of the committee:

"The thinking of a lot of people is reflected by what they read and hear and in so many cases the editorial policies of a newspaper or other news media is set by outside or Northern interests which do not reflect the thinking of the Southern people."

* * *

The bill would require news media to list names and addresses of the editor, managing editor, publisher, business manager and stockholders, if the publication is owned by a corporation.

* * *

Hope to Reduce Deaths

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The public has been invited March 9 to an "emergency meeting" of law officials concentrating efforts on reducing Kent County's 1956 traffic death toll. Accident prevention through law enforcement is the theme of principal speakers, including Capt. Leroy Hunt of the Rockrod State Police Post, Kent County Sheriff Arnold O. Pigorsh, Police Judge Edward G. Burleson and Wyoming Township Justice Cornelius Blanker.

The great flood of 1927 when the Mississippi broke its levees and spread over 20,000 square miles caused extensive property losses which were estimated to be almost $300 million.

Girdles Put Genuine Snap in Conversation

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—The hostess was quite obviously wearing a girdle. She had about her what girdle-loathers refer to as the "barred and tethered look."

* * *

The guest was uninhibited, having scarcely defiled his martinis with vermouth, so he approached her.

"Why do you wear a girdle?" he asked plaintively, in a carrying whisper.

"Why, John - - - -!" croaked the lady. "All ladies wear girdles."

This statement, laid out as flat as a boned-in waist, started no end of interesting talk, at the end of which nothing was resolved except the question of how to liven a dull party. Get the men arguing about girdles, that's how, and give parlor games back to the kiddies.

* * *

"The greatest legend in the world," said a man on this particular occasion, "is that a girdle makes a woman more slender, and therefore more alluring."

STOCKING EXCUSE

"That is absurd," another interrupted. "The greatest legend in the world is that women need a girdle to hold their stockings up. That's the excuse they always give you, y'know, because they don't want to admit their hips are too big."

* * *

"You are both wrong," said John - - - -, founder of the current argument and defender of this particularly intimate freedom.

"The simple reason why a woman looks lousy in a girdle is that she looks hard, like she was packed in concrete, and unnatural." (It should be repeated here, John was drinking martinis.) "She is being pressed in and strapped all out of shape."

Even heavy women should not wear girdles, elaborated John—while his girdled wife took on the hard look he referred to—because the result is untrue to nature.

"Look, so a woman's carrying a lot of weight and she pushes it around with a foundation garment. Who's she kidding? We know the weight's there."

* * *

GIST OF OPINIONS

The consensus was that: 1) A girdle does too hold up a woman's stockings, as other stocking holders are undependable and result in slippy seams; 2) A woman is formed with certain unfortunate bulges at the thighs and hips which tend, in sheath skirts, to resemble the foothills of the Rockie; 3) For an obscure psychological reason, a girdle is like white gloves—makes a woman feel like a lady.

* * *

"What's more," added the hostess defiantly, "a girdle is psysically necessary.

"For women with a lot of weight, it's comfortable. And for women lucky enough to be slender, it forces them, physically actually, to eat moderately. So they stay slender."

At this juncture, there was some delving into the old question of what makes a good figure anyway and who said so, and somehow or other the name of Marilyn Monroe came up.

"You notice Marilyn never wears a girdle," John said.

"That's what I mean," said his wife, snapping like the subject at hand.

What she really meant was never learned. Muttering something about her mind wearing a girdle, John took his spouse to dinner.

Williams Commutes Sentence of Lifer, 85

LANSING (AP) — Gov. Williams has commuted the sentence of an 85-year-old Van Buren County man serving a life term for murdering his sweetheart 20 years ago.

The governor commuted the sentence of John Leach, who killed his fiance, Ida Yerrington, because he was jealous of her attentions to another man.

The commutation makes Leach eligible for immediate parole. He will live with a son in Coloma.

Mayor-Elect on Tour

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Mayor-elect Paul G. Goebel and his wife plan to leave next Monday on a five-week tour of Europe on a combined business and pleasure trip as he visits sport goods manufacturers abroad. They are scheduled to return April 9. He takes office May 7.

Winner of TV Quiz Provides for Educations

NEW YORK (AP)—Fourteen-year-old George Wright, who won $100,000 on a television quiz program, has made certain he and his brother and sister get an education.

* * *

After a conference yesterday with bank officials, the following figures were disclosed:

State and federal income taxes: $52,500.

Family living expenses for the next year: $7,500. (His father will file a separate income tax return).

A tax-deductible gift to George's Madison Square Boys Club: $10,000.

* * *

For the education of the three children: $30,000.

George won the money on NBC's The Big Surprise.

Eagle Scouters Tour Ford Tractor Plants

Three area Eagle Scouts, interested in careers in agricultural engineering, were guests Monday of the Ford Motor Company, Tractor and Implement Division.

The boys toured Ford's Highland Park tractor plant, operated equipment at Deer Lake Hills Farm near Clarkston, and visited the division's Research and Engineering Center in Birmingham.

Guests were David Chalk, Birmingham; Alexander Clark, 3900 Pontiac Lake Rd., and John Sharon, Dearborn. They were among 150 Detroit-area Eagle Scouts honored Monday night in Detroit.

Who's Robbed?

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Richard Archalera told police he kicked in the door of the cleaning establishment to get police help the quickest way. He was waiting at the door as police answered a burglar alarm. He said a group of boys had beaten him and he wanted police officer—and quick!

Marilyn Bell Defeats Lake---'For the Crippled Kids'

By MARILYN BELL

It was raining pitchforks. Florence Chadwick was waiting for the storm to let up before trying to swim from Youngstown, N. Y., across Lake Ontario, to Toronto, Canada, so was I.

* * *

"What time is it?" I asked my trainer, Gus Ryder.

At that moment there was a little clapping from the crowd. Miss Chadwick went quickly down to the black water and slipped in. There was another clapping at the sight of her long, beautiful strokes, 80 to the minute. Shortly after I plunged in.

Gus Ryder speaking: MARILYN BELL

An hour out, Chadwick slowed down. She began to pace herself, and Marilyn passed her. Marilyn's team was strung out in front of her. I was nearest, in a lifeboat. Lightning flashes lit the pilot yacht up ahead. In it were Marilyn's parents; a doctor; reporters, and some observers.

* * *

In back of us, out in the water, came little Marilyn. She seemed just a child. She was so small, all alone there in the blackness, dreading the night and the cold and the eels. She hated eels. From Youngstown, N. Y. to Toronto is 32 miles. The English Channel swim is only 22 miles.

Marilyn speaking:

About 2:00 a. m., I think it was, I looked up from the water. To the west, and behind me, I could see the tiny green light of Florence Chadwick's boat. For a moment I thought it had stopped. Ahead I could see the light from Gus' boat. But it seemed far away, and I suddenly felt alone and sort of sorry for myself. Gus had warned me about this.

"It isn't the lake; it's your own mind that will be your real enemy," he had said.

Gus Ryder speaking:

I looked at my watch. It was after four. Marilyn had been swimming for more than five hours. A reporter came over to me with word that Florence Chadwick was in trouble. She was sick, exhausted. She had been pulled out.

Marilyn speaking:

Just before dawn I felt the first eel. For a minute I thought I was going to panic. Then for some strange reason, a scene popped into my mind. It was just before the swim, and my music teacher at school had taken me aside and said, "Now when you're out there alone on the lake, don't pray to make the shore, just pray to swim for one more hour."

I said aloud to the eel, "Well, I can't swim for one more hour with you latched to me," and with loathing, I reached down and squeezed his mouth until the suction broke, and I flung him away from me.

Gus Ryder speaking:

By early morning all of Canada knew who Marilyn Bell was. Broadcasts told how she was 16, weighed 119 pounds, was blonde, stood only 5' 2" high, went to high school and sang in the choir at the United Church on Sundays. They told how she had already beaten Chadwick, but they said that she was tiring.

Marilyn speaking:

For a little while after I learned Florence Chadwick had given up, I felt stronger. I looked up and I could see Toronto in the distance. I was so sleepy. At five in the afternoon I hit a low ebb. I began swimming mechanically. I didn't really know what I was doing. For a while I was sure I would have to quit. I couldn't feel anything from the waist down.

Gus Ryder:

I looked closely at Marilyn. She didn't look well. She had only two miles to go. I drew very close. She was just barely dragging one arm after the other. I saw her rest between strokes. Toronto was so close. "Marilyn! Marilyn!" I called. And I held up a sign.

Marilyn:

I opened my eyes. And I realized that I had been swimming, unconscious. I just had to stop. From the distance I heard Gus again, and I looked up and saw his sign: "For the crippled kids!"

Poor Gus. Poor kids at the pool. Gus and I teach crippled children to swim. I put my head down and started out again. I wasn't praying for an hour, I was praying for just 15 minutes. I said over and over to myself . . . If you stop . . . one more time . . . you . . . will . . . never . . . never . . . never . . . start . . . again . . .

Gus Ryder:

Marilyn wasn't swimming in a straight line now. She was responding to my calls as if she were a robot. There were hundreds of small craft circling about. Marilyn was almost to the breakwater. She was swimming jerkily, automatically. Now we could hear the conversations of the people as they crowded down.

Then rockets began to burst, and a great cheer broke like thunder from the shore. Marilyn touched the breakwater.

TOMORROW—Judge Harold R. Medina tells how, during the famed trial of Communists, prayer brought him a renewal of strength and helped him conquer an old fear.

Chronological Report of Ike's Attack and Recovery

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical mileposts the doctors erected along the road back to improving health have figured in President Eisenhower's mental tussling over his second-term decision. They show this:

An almost steady pace toward recovery from his heart attack, although a slower one than was expected at first.

* * *

Considerable wavering and weaving at times over whether Eisenhower would be able to run again.

At the start, Eisenhower's heart mended more slowly than in the average case. Eventually it caught up to schedule. The chief executive was in a Denver hospital longer than early forecasts indicated, at least in part because of his desire not to be rushed and to leave on his own power rather than on a stretcher. He lagged a bit behind predictions too in getting back into working harness at the White House.

NO REAL SETBACKS

But no real complications or setbacks developed at any point.

In order of time, these are some of the major and minor events that may have helped Eisenhower make up his mind on the big question:

* * *

Sept. 24—In early morning hours, searing pain of clot-clogged heart artery surges through President's chest. Early afternoon, his doctor takes him to Denver hospital, attack described at first as digestive upset, then mild coronary thrombosis. World shocked; stock market slumps.

Sept. 25—Attack now called moderate—neither serious nor mild. Boston heart specialist Paul Dudley White flies to Denver after declaring another term "quite conceivable." Justice Department asked for legal opinion on delegating presidential powers to others.

PATIENT PROGRESSING

Sept. 26—Dr. White tells news conference: patient progressing satisfactorily; might be able to go to Gettysburg, Pa., farm in about three weeks; barring complications, chances are "reasonably good" for complete recovery within two months; first two weeks are maximum danger period.

Sept. 27—Eisenhower "comfortable and cheerful"—no complications.

* * *

Sept. 28—Tension easing; President listens to tape-recorded music, wants Brahms and Bach, some recorded Shakespeare and Westerns. Doctors limit diet to 1,600 calories a day to hold down weight.

Sept. 29—Delegation of powers shelved; nurse reads to Eisenhower from magazine.

Sept. 30—Had first "excellent" night—no oxygen tent; perks up enough to ask for beef bacon for breakfast, get fill-in on World Series; signs two papers—first official business since attack.

The second week since the attack:

1ST EXCELLENT DAY

Oct. 1—The first "excellent" day.

Oct. 2—President is "a little tired this evening," not feeling "as well as usual," otherwise condition "is good."

Oct. 3—Eisenhower "rested and refreshed" again, no indication of complications; but heart healing rate slower than average—electrocardiogram showing "slow, progressive evolution;" X-ray in bed discloses no heart enlargement.

* * *

Oct. 4—Hilarious time opening "get well" gift packages from grandchildren — all with bubble-gum; to sleep for first time without sedatives.

Oct. 7—Allowed to read for first time.

DANGER ENDS

Third week:

Oct. 8—Fortnight of greatest danger ends without complications. Vice President Nixon, first visitor outside family and staff, says no mention of politics.

Oct. 9—White's second news conference: confirms slowness, but heart is healing; Eisenhower to remain in hospital at least four, maybe five more weeks—he doesn't want to be rushed or be carried aboard a plane; may resume White House job about Jan. 1.

* * *

Oct. 10—Bed rolled to terrace for first sunning.

Oct. 11—First business conference, with Secretary of State Dulles.

Oct. 14—Eisenhower's 65th birthday—gifts, good wishes, a bit of a party, good news from the doctors; electrocardiogram "stabilized at a satisfactory level."

Fourth week:

Oct. 15—No longer completely bedridden; President lifted into chair; doctors drop daily electrocardiograms.

Oct. 19—Tries hand at painting again.

Fifth week:

Oct. 22—Another White News conference: Eisenhower "on the road back to good health," heart healing faster.

* * *

Oct. 23—Stands erect unaided, and takes steps onto scales; he's lost four pounds. He and Mamie work crossword puzzles.

Oct. 25—Walks for first time, a step or two to a chair; cheerful and chatty, poses for pictures on sun deck.

Oct. 27—Shaves himself first time, sees first movie—a Western; works on State of Union message to Congress.

NO HEART ENLARGEMENT

Oct. 28—Laboratory X-ray and fluoroscope show no heart enlargement with increased activity; diet upped to 1,800 calories; allowed to walk, sit up and work as pleases.

Sixth week:

Nov. 2—Walking freely, to Mrs. Eisenhower's room, down corridor to paint.

* * *

Nov. 4—Another X-ray; doctors "very pleased," no enlargement.

Seventh week:

Nov. 5—Tries legs on stair steps.

Nov. 7—Gets report on complete physical checkup; decides to fly to Washington Nov. 11. White tells news conference he has "only good news again" but it may be late January or February before Eisenhower can make second-term decision; heart first must be exposed to "total strain" of White House duties.

* * *

Nov. 9—Final medical bulletin from hospital. "The President's condition continues to be satisfactory."

Nov. 11—Flies to Washington.

Eighth week:

Nov. 14—Drives to Gettysburg.

Nov. 15—Doctors find no fatigue and Gettysburg welcomes.

* * *

Nov. 17—Doctors say progress satisfactory, "no signs of fatigue or symptoms" from increased activity.

Ninth week:

Nov. 23—Another checkup; again no symptoms or fatigue.

CONVALESCENCE GOOD

Tenth week:

Nov. 30—Convalescence continues satisfactory.

Twelfth week:

Dec. 10—Eisenhower examined at Washington hospital; doctors report condition good, he looks and feels well. But official conferences have been tiring, work has taxed him. "No harm has resulted"; but he ought to "slow down," get a midday rest.

* * *

Thirteenth week:

Dec. 17—White tells Gettysburg news conference: fatigue wasn't due to heart, but probably "a nervous symptom"; President has made "excellent encouraging progress," he's "out of danger."

Dec. 20—Back to White House for Christmas, and birth of a new granddaughter.

OFF TO KEY WEST

Fourteenth week:

Dec. 28—Off by air for Key West, Fla.

Fifteenth week:

Jan. 6—Florida vacation doing "a world of good."

* * *

Sixteenth week:

Jan. 8—Eisenhower's first public statement on second term at informal news conference: "My mind is not fixed" but "I feel very much better—stronger—and much more able to get about." He flies back to Washington.

FULL DUTIES

Jan. 9—takes on what he calls "full duties" of White House.

Jan. 11—Doctors report health "excellent."

Seventeenth week:

Jan. 19—Eisenhower's first White House news conference since attack; doctors tell him, he says, he's making "normal and satisfactory progress," but "it would be foolish to pretend that my health can be fully restored."

* * *

Twentieth week:

Feb. 2—Personal physician says Eisenhower "should have more time—all the time he needs"—on second-term decision.

Feb. 8—President rounds out a month back on job; tells news conference that unquestionably at times he feels "more tired than, I think, I would have in the past, but that may be also just advancing years."

FIT TO RUN

Twenty-first week:

Feb. 14—He's fit to run, the doctors say. White tells news conference he "should be able to carry on an active life" in the presidency "for another 5 to 10 years;" his health is satisfactory, he's "made a good recovery," but the big decision still is his alone.

Feb. 15—Off to Thomasville, Ga., for another Southern vacation; golfing, hunting.

* * *

Twenty-third week:

Feb. 25—Back to Washington.

Britain now has 13,000,000 TV viewers.

Catholics in many countries will mark the double anniversary. But the major celebration will be held in St. Peter's Basilica here on Sunday, March 11, the day before the 17th anniversary of his coronation as pontiff.

* * *

The Pontifical Mass then will be attended by diplomats and high prelates of the church from around the globe.

The highlight of the birthday anniversary tomorrow will be a special audience in the Vatican Palace's Clementine Hall at which the Pope will receive about 200 children from a score of nations.

Fifteen children chosen to represent the United States, Britain, Canada, France, Italy, Denmark, Greece, Hungary, Germany, Poland, Ireland, Indonesia, the Netherlands, Russia and Spain will recite birthday greetings in their native tongues.

A Dual Purpose

HEREFORD, Tex. (AP)—Prisoners at the Deaf Smith County jail don't care for the latest improvement, that of using carbon tetracloride to clean fingerprinting ink off their fingers. Jailer Charles Skelton said they were fond of licking the old cleaning fluid off their fingers. He had been using whiskey confiscated in raids to remove the ink.

Perishable Goodies Cause Prison Post Office Woe

JACKSON (AP)—What to do with southern fried catfish is just one problem at the Southern Michigan Prison postoffice.

Inmates aren't permitted to receive food through the mail but many relatives persist in sending fried chicken, roast duck and other delicacies.

When possible unacceptable items are returned to the sender. But foodstuffs usually spoil in transit and have to be thrown away.

Paul Stowers, director of the prison mail office, and his staff handle some 700 incoming letters a day and about 400 packages a week. Outgoing mail averages about 1,200 letters a day and 150 packages a week.

Despite the mail volume and the close check each item gets, letters arriving at the prison in the morning are distributed to the men the same evening.

A big problem of the mail service is censorship. Each letter and package, both incoming and outgoing, is checked.

REJECT 50 LETTERS

Some 50 letters are rejected every day because they violate prison rules—the majority because they contain obscene language or threats.

Inmates are permitted to send 10 letters a month postage free to seven relatives and friends. In turn they may receive one letter a week from each accredited correspondent.

Prisoners may be sent underwear, socks, coats, sweaters, musical instruments and individual sports equipment. They also can get $15 a month from relatives to be spent in the prison stores. It must be in money orders or certified checks; currency is returned to the sender.

Prisoners are allowed to send business and special letters which require their personal attention. But they are not permitted to carry on a business while in prison.

Stowers said the mail staff reads more than just a prisoner's letters—they often "read" the inmate himself.

* * *

"A man will show an entirely different type of personality in his letters than when he talks," Stowers said.

"When he's alone in his cell, he drops his usual veneer and writes his letter from his heart. From his letters we can often tell his attitude, how he and his family get along, and other things which reveal whether a man is being rehabilitated."

He estimates there were 2,000 trips. That's 230,000 miles. He recently retired.

Dispute Slows Senate Probe

Haggle Over Chairman Delays Contributions, Lobbying Investigation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A dispute over procedure—including the power to be vested in the chairman—slowed today the start of a special Senate committee's $350,000 investigation of lobbying and campaign contributions.

The eight-member committee, divided equally between Democrats and Republicans, announced after its first session yesterday that it had deferred election of a chairman until it agrees on rules for its inquiry.

* * *

Sen. Bridges (R-NH), senior GOP member of the group, said in talking with newsmen later that "you have to know what rules you're going to operate under before electing a chairman."

* * *

Some of the questions to be decided, he said, are who is to issue subpoenas, who is to decide what subjects are to be investigated, who is to determine whether hearings are to be open or closed, and who is to hire the staff employes.

Bridges said that if a chairman were elected before some of these things were settled, "the die would be cast and it would be too late." He also remarked that some members might not want to be chairman under rules approved by the committee.

* * *

McClellan said the members had decided that as a first step it would be advisable to devise rules of organization and operation. He said Bridges and Gore were named to study the matter further and report back with suggestions when they are ready.

The inquiry is a sequel to the disclosure by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) that during debate on a bill to free natural gas producers from direct federal regulation he had been offered, and had rejected, a $2,500 campaign contribution.

Cambodian Sets Rules for Being Democratic

PARIS (AP) — Prince Norodom Sihanouk, premier of Cambodia, has warned ministers in his government they must be more democratic, the French News Agency reported in a dispatch from Phom Penh, the capital.

Follow these rules or resign, he told them:

Give up the title of excellency.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR: JUNIOR EDITORS

First submitted by: Charles Flowers, Chattanooga, Tenn.

The Seahorse

A seahorse is a funny little water creature, 2 to 12 inches long, with a head like a tiny pony.

A fish that doesn't look like a fish nor even swim like a fish, it travels upright with the help of its one back fin. Usually it attaches itself to a piece of seaweed with its curly tail, to anchor it so that it will not be swept away.

In North America the common seahorse lives close to the shore among the water weeds and feeds on small sea creatures and the eggs of other fishes.

Sometimes the very small or pigmy seahorse is kept in a home aquarium.

Here is an aquarium for you with a sea anemone, some sea lettuce and other seaweed in it. Also a seahorse for you to put in your aquarium.

Color the seahorse brown with green leaves behind it, the water light blue and green in alternating stripes. Make the sand yellow, the stones white and the sea anemone pink or lavendar and the sea weed deep green. Then paste the picture on cardboard and cut it out. You can hang this up as shown in the small sketch.

Cut out the seahorse and fasten it to the background by a brass fastener through the hole in the bottom of the plant to which it clings and through the stone in the bottom of the aquarium.

Then the seahorse can sway from side to side as if moved by the water.

Bipartisan Body OKs Ike's Tax Cut Stand

WASHINTON (INS)—The joint congressional economic committee today supported President Eisenhower's opposition to a tax cut in a time of booming prosperity.

* * *

However, it said a reduction may be necessary if a business decline develops.

In a special report to Congress, the 14-man committee declared that the President was right in contending that any modest budget surplus realized at this time should be used to reduce the huge public debt.

* * *

The bipartisan group added that a reduction may be justified if it becomes apparent that "economic activity is slowing unduly and a demand is required to provide the higher rate of increase in total impetus for maintaining the full use of our growing productive capacity . . ."

Sunspots Cause Stormy Rhubarb

Meteorologist Disagrees With Geophysics Prof on Weather Forecast.

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The value of sunspots as a weather vane touched off a mild storm today between two veteran weather prophets—one a government meteorologist and the other a university professor of geophysics.

It started when Prof. Edward M. Brooks of St. Louis University predicted an unusually windy March with the likelihood of more tornadoes, all on the basis of increased sunspot activity.

"I think the sun just got in his eyes," said government forecaster Harry F. Wahlgren, who termed it "poppycock."

As recently as Feb. 12, Brooks forecast rougher than usual weather for this area, including the possibility of tornadoes and floods during the next three or four years. He said then it could start within the next few weeks.

Brooks contends that extreme weather coincides with spots on the sun and that the period of maximum sunspot activity is approaching. In his March forecast, Brooks pointed to the early appearance of this year's first tornado which killed six and injured a dozen in nearby Illinois towns Saturday.

But Wahlgren doesn't go along with the sunspot theory. He said Brooks "knows no more as to whether or not there will be any tornadoes in March than I do, and that is practically nothing."

NAVY APPOINTEE — Vice Admiral Roscoe F. Good, Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Logistics, was named by U. S. Navy as commander of forces in Far East.

Comparative Survey

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dean Fedele F. Fauri of the University of Michigan's school of social work has called for a study of differences between methods used by Michigan's many juvenile courts. In this way, the dean said, it would be possible to find which youth aid methods are working better than others.

Minimum Wage of $1 Goes Into Effect Today

WASHINGTON (INS)—The National minimum wage automatically goes up to one dollar an hour today, and as a result 2,100,000 workers in the U. S. are due to receive wages boosts amounting to 560 million dollars a year.

* * *

The increase from 75 cents to a dollar an hour is authorized in a law passed by Congress last year. The effective date was delayed until March 1 to enable the industries concerned to adjust to the change.

The Labor Department said that more than half of the workers are in the South, and that the major impact in that section will be on sawmills and planing mills, where more than four-fifths of the workers have been receiving less than a dollar an hour.

AFL-CIO president George Meany declared that the increase will create a better living standard for the affected workers and their families. He said: "In fact, the entire economy will benefit from this new spending power."

* * *

Meany added: "There must be careful policing of these new minimums to insure that workers are not deprived of their just wages. History demonstrates that anti-social employers, who pay substandard wages, may seek to defy the law."

He expressed hope that Congress at the 1956 session will extend coverage of the law to the 20 million workers now exempt from its provisions.

President Eisenhower has asked Congress to place uncovered workers under the wage-hour act, but no action has been taken on the recommendation.

Meany said "economic justice and sound common sense dictate such action without delay." He declared that millions of the uncovered workers "are in traditionally low-wage industries and most have no labor union representation."

The President had advocated a floor of 90 cents an hour. Organized labor had demanded $1.25 an hour. Congress, under Democratic leadership, compromised on one dollar.

* * *

Administration officials have said that, if Congress ever comes to grips with the problem of extending the act to uncovered workers, it may be necessary to work out graduated minimums under a dollar an hour for numerous workers, particularly in the South.

They explained that wage scales are so far below that figure in some types of work that a sudden increase to a dollar would cause widespread economic dislocations in some sections.

In addition to sawmills and planing mills, the boost will affect these southern industries: Processed waste, work clothing, candy, men's and boys' dress shirts, padding and upholstery filling, and jute goods.

* * *

A sizable number of workers in the leather, textile, and various other industries will also benefit in the Northeast, Middle West and other areas of the country.

Report Iranians Nab Documents From Soviet

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—An informed source said Iranian special agents arrested Maj. Ivanovich Kouznetsoff, assistant Soviet military attache, last night and seized top-secret Iranian military documents found on him.

The source said the documents had been given him by an Iranian warrant officer he had been meeting regularly in secret.

There was no immediate confirmation of the report.

Desperado Visits

Curtice Hails Good News

Flow of Comments Follows Ike's Assent

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Harlow H. Curtice, president of General Motors Corp., termed "very good news for the country" President Eisenhower's announcement that he will seek re-election.

The head of the world's largest industrial firm added:

Curtice is in Los Angeles in connection with GM's Motorama.

KANSAS CITY (INS) — Harry S. Truman is not surprised by President Eisenhower's decision to run again and declared the Democrats would win "no matter who heads the Republican ticket."

Truman emphasized that the President's decision will have little effect on Democratic strategy "because we could lick anybody who ran."

ANN ARBOR (INS)—A University of Michigan business expert doubts that President Eisenhower's decision to run for re-election will change the long-term business outlook for the nation.

Prof. Paul W. McCracken said today both parties "want full employment and both are basically in favor of the free market system of economic organization."

"The Republican party has historically been less of an easy-money party, less confident that big government can contribute to material welfare, and therefore more inclined toward stern control of government expenditure," he said.

WASHINGTON (INS)—One of the more strange reactions to President Eisenhower's dramatic announcement he will be a candidate for reelection was reported today by the Democratic national committee.

A staff worker told newsmen that "we've had more calls from volunteers than ever before. The people were saying, 'we want to help. We didn't think up to now that you needed it.'"

BOSTON (INS)—Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston cardiologist and one of the physicians who attended President Eisenhower following his heart attack last September, today declared "the risk that the President has consented to take is a reasonable one.

Ike Looks Gay After Decision

President Seems Happy Following Resolve to Try for 2nd Term

WASHINGTON (AP) — Somebody remarked that President Eisenhower looked as happy and relieved as a fellow going fishing after shedding the care of the world.

* * *

Actually, only a few hours earlier he had announced his willingness to hang on to the cares of the presidency for a second term.

Just the same, he did look relieved that the big decision was behind him as he waited there in his White House office last night. He was about to go on television and radio to tell the American people why he decided as he did.

Grouped off to his right were members of his family—his wife, their son and daughter-in-law, the First Lady's mother and the President's youngest brother Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower.

The President had a cheery greeting for all of them as they arrived from the White House living quarters.

When he went on the air, Eisenhower's mood turned solemn.

Mrs. Eisenhower cupped her chin in her left hand and watched her husband intently when he said of his decision:

FAMILY DECLINES

"Even the closest members of my family have declined to urge me to any specific course, merely saying they would cheerfully abide by whatever I decided was best to do."

When Eisenhower concluded his talk, the First Lady joined him at his desk. TV watchers got a brief glimpse of her. She wore a black silk dress and a double strand of pearls.

* * *

When the photographers moved in for another picture after the broadcast, Mrs. Eisenhower was standing and the President was seated at his desk.

Enter Hardware Store, Empty Cash Register

A hardware store, broken into last night, was robbed of $12 to $20 in change, Pontiac police were told.

Thieves broke in at 822 Baldwin Ave. by smashing glass in the front door, they said. The owner, Galan Dawson, 37 Augusta Ave. said the money was missing from the cash register.

Nation Hears Ike Outline His Plans

conference yesterday, declaring his admiration and respect for the vice president are "unbounded." He declined to say in so many words, however, that he again wanted him for his running mate.

In his radio-TV address, Eisenhower said:

"I wanted to come into your homes this evening, because I feel the need of talking with you directly about a decision I made today, after weeks of the most careful and devoutly prayerful consideration."

* * *

"I have decided that if the Republican Party chooses to renominate me, I shall accept that nomination. Thereafter, if the people of this country should elect me, I shall continue to serve them in the office I now hold."

TALKS FRANKLY

He spoke frankly of the carefully ordered regime he must follow in the future, with regular exercise, recreation and rest. He discussed the heavy burden of the presidency, and the never-ending pressure on an occupant of the White House.

* * *

The old saying is true, he said, that "a President never escapes from his office."

But he declared he has been handling all of the essential duties of the White House for many weeks without any strain or damage to his mended heart.

He added: "The doctors insist that hard work of the kind I have described does not injure any recovered coronary case, if such a recovered patient will follow the regime they lay down. Certainly, to this moment, the work has not hurt me."

* * *

He said some of his medical advisers think he will actually be better off in the presidency than in any other job because of the watchful care he will receive from his doctors.

QUIET CAMPAIGN

He had never planned to do any barnstorming for re-election, the President said, even if he had never had a heart attack.

* * *

He said his campaign will consist chiefly of informing the American people of the aims and achievements of his administration through "mass communication"—radio and television.

He invited Republicans to nominate someone else if they decide they need a candidate who will campaign more actively, pledging to work in the ranks if they do.

Eisenhower need have no fears that the party will take him up on this invitation, however. Republican leaders have already declared their willingness to tailor the campaign to any pattern he wishes.

* * *

Overjoyed to have him as their candidate, they are confident he can win the election without ever leaving the White House, if that is the way he wants it.

FEWER DUTIES

The President said a number of duties he has performed in the past can be taken over by his staff to reduce his own workload.

* * *

Some of these, he said, are public speeches, office appointments, dinners, receptions and letter-writing.

He made no direct reference to the continuing cold war in reciting some of the reasons behind his decision.

But he said: "The work that I set out four years ago to do has not yet reached the state of development and fruition I then hoped could be accomplished within the period of a single term in this office.

* * *

"So if the American people choose, under the circumstances I have described, to place this duty again upon me, I shall persist in the way that has been charted by my associates and myself."

He said that while his heart attack may make him a "greater risk" than a normal person of his age, the doctors have assured him the percentage of risk is not great.

He had told a news conference earlier as he announced his soul-searching decision: "I assure you of this: My answer would not be affirmative unless I thought I could last out the five years."

Noted Aviatrix Kills Associate

Helen McBride Admits Shooting Partner After Spat in Florida Home

APOPKA, Fla. (AP)—Helen McBride, 49-year-old aviatrix, shot and killed a male business associate in her kitchen last night, Sheriff Dave Starr reported. Starr quoted her as saying they argued over some property.

* * *

Mrs. McBride is the sister-in-law of Mary Margaret McBride, the columnist and radio commentator. Her husband is Dr. Thomas E. McBride, 60-year-old physician in this small town 14 miles northwest of Orlando.

Starr said Mrs. McBride admitted pumping three bullets into Charles Richard Green, 33-year-old Orlando ticket agent for National Air Lines. Green formerly lived in Winston-Salem, N. C.

The sheriff said he charged Mrs. McBride with first degree murder.

Mrs. McBride said Green, a disabled World War II veteran and unmarried, had been a close friend of the family since he entered her flying school in 1946. He lived in the McBride home until a year ago when he moved into an airport apartment.

She said she called Green last night about overdue payments on some jointly owned property "and he got nasty" came to the house, slapped her and knocked her down.

The McBrides have four children: Capt. Tom McBride Jr., of the U. S. Army; Robbin S. McBride, in the Army Medical Corps in California; Maria, 13, and Mike 9. The younger children were upstairs at the time of the shooting.

Mrs. McBride is well known in women aviation circles. She formerly operated the Apopka Airport and flew in last year's Powder Puff Derby, an air race for women pilots from Washington, D.C., to Havana.

Bob Considine Says:

Irked Adlai Declares, 'I Am Not a Quitter'

WASHINGTON (INS) — Adlai Stevenson is sore. Not over the events of the President's press conference but over recent reports that if Eisenhower decided to run again he, Adlai, would search about for ways and means of waiting until 1960 to run again.

* * * *

"I am not a quitter," he told a friend in an unusually stern mood the other day, after hearing the report repeated on a radio program.

As outlined by those who started the story, both Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver would agree to come out in behalf of Gov. Averell Harriman.

The reason to be given (supposedly) was that Harriman's wartime experiences with the Russians and his vaster knowledge of foreign affairs made him the appropriate Democratic candidate at this trying time.

The unspoken reason (it was further pointed out) would be that it would be senseless to risk another defeat of Stevenson at this time—in view of the party's firm belief that a souffle most certainly can't rise three times even if a patch job raises it the second time.

* * *

But the "I am not a quitter" statement stands by itself and should answer all questions boiling out of the alleged conspiracy to throw the New York governor into the pit against Eisenhower.

Speaking of Stevenson, TV's Hal Block tells of the time Stevenson was invited to attend a Friars' dinner for Jack Benny at the Waldorf.

* * * *

Adlai had not long been in his post as governor of Illinois, Benny's home state. The great comedians on hand, and the hep audience, hardly had heard of the man.

One after another the greats did their stuff in Benny's honor. Each topped the other until finally Fred Allen topped them all with a talk on Benny that had the audience in a state of collapse.

Fred finished on a tremendous gag and in the din that followed, George Jessel preemptorily introduced Gov. Stevenson. One of two people in the crowded ballroom looked at him long enough to say, in effect, "The poor soul . . . having to follow Fred."

* * *

After a time the room quieted down enough to permit Stevenson to make himself heard. He said shyly that he was sorry but he did not have a speech.

It seems, he went on apologetically, that in the elevator on the way to the ballroom he noticed Fred Allen standing in the corner, the picture of dejection.

"I asked him what was wrong," Stevenson told the highly unimpressed audience. "Fred said to me, 'I'm in an awful fix. Benny and I are old friends but I just haven't anything to say about him. I haven't got a speech.' "

Then Stevenson paused, looked out across the multitude of Friars and their friends, shrugged and said, "So I gave him mine."

Knocked in the joint.

Stevenson is making a serious effort to be serious at all times. It is tough for a man of his wit to keep it from bubbling, even though advisers have lectured him on the basic hostility of the American voter to humor in an election year.

* * *

At the Chicago conclave in November when he announced he'd seek the nomination, a reporter asked, "How will you finance your campaign?" Stevenson bit his lip to try not to say it, but out popped, "With money." The reporter seemed quite upset.

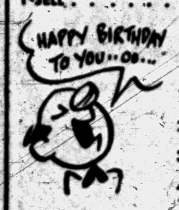

But his best line was his opening sentence in his speech before the Gridiron dinner in Washington, the first speech he made after the '52 election.

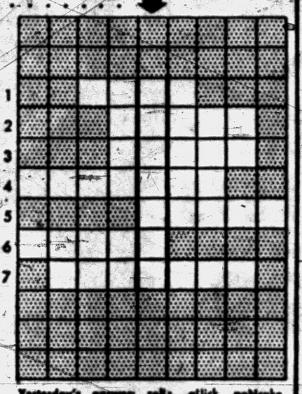

Surveying the distinguished audience, Stevenson said, "A funny thing happened to me on the way to the White House . . ."

Hubby Enraged at Divorce, Rips Household Apart

MARTINEZ, Calif. (AP) — Troy Fortner was more than somewhat disturbed when his wife sued for divorce. After a process server delivered a subpoena, he returned home and told his wife Joanne:

"We started without anything and we're going to finish that way!"

With which statement, police said, he wrecked a $600 television set, a living room table and chairs, a coffee table, beds, dressing tables, a refrigerator, an electric stove and various and sundry other items.

Later he pleaded guilty to malicious mischief and disturbing the peace.

Mrs. Fortner seeks a divorce on charges of extreme cruelty. She implies he has a temper.

MADRAS — India's Employes' State Insurance Scheme, was recently extended to the city of Madras. President Rajendra Prasad said in a speech marking the event that the scheme was "well on its way to cover the country's entire industrial population."

Seamen Recruits of Area Learn Guns, Fire Fighting

A Pontiac sailor in basic training with the civic-sponsored Pontiac-Flint-Saginaw Navy company in Great Lakes, Ill., has sent home another installment of his weekly log of company events.

William Imboden writes:

"The Company finished a disappointing third week with no competition flags won, but hopes are still riding on the fourth week.

"In the past week the men have been learning the uses and facts of Navy small arms. These classes are conducted at the rifle range.

"Fire fighting classes have played an important part in the past few days. The Navy considers fire fighting one of the most important parts of Naval recruit training.

"Next week the men will have an outdoor class in putting out actual large-scale fires of different types. These fires will be fought with the most adequate and latest model fire equipment the Navy has to offer.

"Outside of classes, the men find time to relax and use the excellent Navy conveniences, including library, recreation hall, bowling, ping-pong, television and weekend movies.

"Nevertheless, we still rely heavily on mail from home. Hope this might be a little reminder to the friends and relatives."

Cigarette Causes Death

CARO (AP) — A fire apparently started by a cigarette claimed the life of Chester Van Keuren, 64, Wednesday night. Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said Van Keuren evidently fell asleep in a living room chair and the lighted cigarette fell from his hand. His wife, who was visiting neighbors, discovered the fire. Damage was confined to the living room.

French Use Sunlight in Producing Ice

PARIS (AP) — A French scientist has announced he has found an efficient way to turn sunlight into ice.

Felix Trombe, director of a government laboratory studying solar energy, said he has developed a special refrigerator equipped with a square yard semi-cylindrical mirror which can produce two pounds of ice an hour.

A spokesman for the French Science Academy said the Russians earlier had developed a "sun-refrigerator," but never obtained this result. The Russian refrigerator has a mobile mirror while Trombe's is stationary.

Embassies Get Share of Elk Steak in Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Elk steaks were on the menu at the American, French, Norwegian and Swedish embassies after the return of the four ambassadors from a midwinter hunting trip in the Russian wilderness.

The quartet of envoys got only one elk. It was bagged by Dean of the Moscow Diplomatic Corps, Swedish Ambassador Rolf Sohlman. He shared his trophy with the other three—U.S. Ambassador Charles Bohlen, French Ambassador Maurice Dejean and Norwegian Ambassador Erik Braadland.

The hunting expedition took place at a Soviet Army Hunting Lodge about 100 miles northwest of Moscow.

Peron Gets Permit to Live in Panama

PANAMA (AP)—Argentina's former dictator-president Juan D. Peron has received a special residence permit from Panama. He was warned it can be lifted if he mixes in politics.

Authorities said Peron, who was evicted from the U.S.-owned Hotel Washington at Colon last week, has been declared a political refugee under Panama's recognition of the right of asylum.

Nickel Extra for Bread Rouses Lawmaker's Ire

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Burdick (R-ND) complained today that the House restaurant charges a nickel extra for bread with meals. That's no way to encourage people to eat up the wheat surplus, he said.

The restaurant manager explained that free bread might mean a deficit for the House eatery. Burdick quoted the manager as saying that when bread was free, some Congressmen used to fill up on it, buying nothing but a cup of coffee.

Baltimore 'Floor Managers' Preparing to Ease Hospital's Shortage of Nurses

BALTIMORE (AP) — Armed with federal money and a unique plan of action, Baltimore's Sinai Hospital will square off tomorrow with a nationwide problem—the shortage of nurses.

* * *

The U.S. Public Health Service has agreed to gamble $35,190 that Sinai's battle plan will prove the solution to the shortage. The hospital's experimental program is the first of its kind to be backed by the federal agency's funds.

Briefly, the scheme is this: to train "floor managers" who will relieve the nurse of her ever-increasing administrative duties so that she may devote almost full time to patient care.

To illustrate, this was a routine tour of morning duty for Mrs. Patricia A. Roland, head nurse of a surgical and medical floor at Sinai.

* * *

She checked her linen and emergency drug supplies . . . called housekeeping to have some vacated rooms cleaned . . . hurried to the linen department when a shortage of rubber bed mats developed . . . checked the special diets which the dietary department sent up for patients requiring them . . . and instituted a search for poles—the ones from which bottles of plasma and glucose are hung—when the floor ran short.

Between crises, she squeezed in her nursing duties.

LESS PERSONAL CONTACT

Still calm and unruffled, nurse Roland admitted: "We just aren't able to have the personal contact with the patients any more. Of course, the nursing aides are doing a good job in that regard, but I miss much of the personal satisfaction of nursing when I can't be with the patients."

Morris Throne, Sinai's assistant director, will direct the program. He says the project will be launched tomorrow in two major nursing units (floors) of the hospital—a 28-bed private maternity unit and nurse Roland's 31-bed semi-private surgical and medical unit. These are 2 of 12 nursing units in the 312-bed hospital.

Nurse Roland will continue in charge of her floor. But the floor linens, see that the vacated rooms are cleaned and chase down poles.

Under direction of the floor manager will be a staff of "general aides," young women capable and responsible for performing all duties on the floor now handled by the nursing aides and housekeeping and dietary maids working out of their separate departments.

* * *

"At the present time," Thorne said, 'the dieticians' office is responsible for serving food to the patient, the housekeepers' office for linens and cleanliness, the purchasing agent for supplies and the engineer for repairs. Now the coordination of all these tasks will become the responsibility of the floor manager."

Would See Rockets Meet Meteor Bits

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—More rockets should be fired at night to determine what happens when they meet meteor particles.

So says Dr. Fritz Zwicky, of California Institute of Technology, one of the farthest-out of outer space thinkers.

"Only at night," Dr. Zwicky told a Caltech research conference yesterday, "can we observe the flashes that would be made if the rocket were struck and pierced by bits of meteors traveling at speeds up to 38 miles per second."

Zwicky is optimistic about the safety of tomorrow's potential space travelers.

"My guess is that few, if any, spaceships are destined to be struck by large meteors that would knock them to bits," he said.

Teacher Goofs

Mental Health Talks Planned for 3 Days

A special conference of Michigan College and University teachers responsible for teacher training in mental health and mental hygiene has been called at Haven Hill tomorrow through Sunday, by the Michigan Society for Mental Health.

The program has been organized by the Society's School Mental Health Committee. Paul T. Rankin, of Detroit, is chairman.

Twenty-five representatives from eight major teacher training centers in the state will be present.

Ross Roy, Detroit president of the society said, "This is the first time that individuals teaching mental health courses to future teachers in training in Michigan Colleges and Universities will meet in such a statewide conference."

Head-On Auto Collision Injures Two by Hospital

Two persons were injured last night in a two-car collision in front of Avon Center Hospital on Rochester Rd.

Treated at the hospital and released were Thomas A. Silkowski, 19, of Utica and Agnes Phillips, 21, of Romeo.

Oakland County Sheriff's deputies said Silkowski ran head-on into the car of Harold Langdon, 19, stationed with the U. S. Army in Auburn Heights. Langdon said he was turning left into the hospital driveway. Miss Phillips was with Langdon.

Motor City Police Pinch 500 Car Plate Derelicts

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit police ticketed more than 500 motorists for driving without new license plates in the first six hours after the midnight deadline today.

* * *

William B. Aitkens, assistant manager of the state license division for the Detroit area, estimated that about 100,000 motorists were still without new plates.

* * *

Aitkens said the long lines that appear in front of issuing offices yesterday, some a half-block long, probably will continue throughout the week.

Several gallons of sap are required to produce one gallon of maple syrup.

Hospital Drive Success

JACKSON (AP)—Mercy Hospital's building fund campaign ended Wednesday with $1,294,279 in pledges and donations. The goal was $1,250,000. Authorities said it was the largest sum ever raised in a drive in city history.

Rescue Man in Fire

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Patrolmen Harry Hesley and Francis Akom, on their way to work Wednesday, rescued 83-year-old James Jones from a fire at his home where he lived alone. Hesley climbed in a window to find Jones while Akom called firemen. Hesley was overcome by smoke in the rescue but recovered without treatment. Jones was reported in fair condition Wednesday night at Mecosta County Memorial Hospital.

Move for Dismissal of Shooting Charge

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — The attorney for three Hazel Park youths accused of murder in the holdup slaying of a tavern keeper Jan. 24 has asked dismissal of the indictment against one on grounds he is only 17 years old.

The motion to dismiss was filed by Ernest S. Navarre on behalf of James Thornton of Hazel Park. Sheriff Robert Davidson said Thornton gave his age as 18 when he was booked after his arrest.

Navarre also filed a request for a bill of particulars on the circumstances surrounding the slaying. This was filed on behalf of Willie Thomas, 20, and Bernard Harris, 19. They also are from Hazel Park.

They are accused of murder in the holdup slaying of Charles H. Stolzenbach, 54, of Wapakoneta.

Common Pleas Judge Jacob T. Koenig set a hearing March 8 on the dismissal motion.

Jets to Replace Overland Vans, Says Trucker

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The head of a national trucking system says that, by 1961, giant jet planes may be moving cargo long distances as cheaply as overland vans do now.

* * *

James D. Edgett, president of North American Van Lines, told newsmen yesterday that he expects by that time new freight aircraft which will provide the airborne counterpart of today's "sea-van" system.

This consists of loading van bodies on ships, then transferring the same bodies to trucks again at the end of the voyage.

Archery Experts Exhibit Talents at Cub Meeting

Some 375 boys and guests of Whitfield School Cub Scout Pack 27 attended a banquet recently in the Teamsters Union Hall on Telegraph road.

An archery exhibition was given by Albert Tang and Joe Kerr, both of Pontiac.

Top award was presented to Rickey McRae, 10, who received a Lion Badge. Dennis Wheeler and James Moyer were named den chiefs.

Bentley Planning to Try for Congress Re-election

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Bentley (R-Mich) said today his "present plans" are to seek re-election to Congress.

* * *

He did not shut the door, however, on the possibility that he may run for Governor of Michigan.

Bentley told reporters at a news conference:

"In the absence of overwhelming desire from our party for me to enter the state race, I feel that I can render the best type of public service by planning to run for re-election to the 85th Congress. My present plans, therefore, lie in that direction.

The 37-year-old Owosso Congressman added "I do not feel that I would be acting in the best interests of the Republican party by participating in a gubernatorial primary which to date shows no signs of differing from those of past years."

Leonard, the GOP nominee in 1954, is the only candidate to enter the race thus far.

Keego Man May Appeal Drunk Driving Conviction

Found guilty yesterday of driving under the influence of liquor, Robert O. Smith, 43, of Keego Harbor indicated he will make an appeal in Oakland Circuit Court.

Pontiac Municipal Court Judge Maurice E. Finnegan freed Smith under $100 bond.

Smith claimed Pontiac police did not see him driving a car when arrested on downtown Saginaw St. at 11:30 a.m. Dec. 23.

Elderly Man Struck by Auto at Corner

John Brennan, 211 Judson, was released after treatment, authorities in St. Joseph Hospital said.

The driver, Donald A. Lynn, 28, of 288 Russell St. said Brennan stepped in front of a car ahead and Lynn struck him after skidding across the center line in an effort to stop.

Drooping Is for a Willow!

Drooping lines may be becoming on a willow tree, but they won't do for women.

* * *

If some mature women would give themselves a good, unrehearsed, searching look in a mirror, they'd see what this means.

Some women stand and walk as though they'd been left out in a hurricane. They carry too-large handbags on the end of long handles and their entire postures droop down to this massive weight.

Their shoulders slope as though they were under the weight of a perpetual load of groceries. Their torsos collapse like wet paper sacks.

In some cases, the effect is completed with a hem that's falling out or a coat that hangs down further in the front than in back because of the stooped posture.

One suspects that some of these women haven't looked at a friend's face in years, only the front of her coat.

* * *

Short or tall, a mature woman who's interested in living should pick herself up and look at life in the face.

Check Spring Wear Now, Then Decide

This is the time to check over last spring's wardrobe and decide on subtractions and additions.

Last year's clothes have a way of carrying on in those clothes bags—and getting themselves all wilted. So try them on to be sure they're still becoming. If they're not, get rid of them.

Bows Gracefully to Decision

First Lady Remains Good Soldier

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — First Lady Mamie, who would like nothing better than to be married to a Gettysburg farmer named Ike Eisenhower, accepted with stiff upper lip last night her husband's wooing—on Leap Year—of the American electorate.

* * *

She has proved a good soldier before. As Mamie's intimate friends watched her smile mistily at her husband on television, they could not help but recall her futile efforts in 1952 to dissuade the five-star general from the political arena. Losing that fight, she reacted like a true sportsman.

Pouring her all into the melting pot of American politics, Mamie campaigned side by side with Ike during the tumultuous five-month drive that led to the White House.

Never by a flicker of her dancing blue eyes did she lead a voter to suspect that Mamie of the breezy Western slang and warm handshake desired anything other than an exciting life in the executive mansion.

* * *

She proved the same loyal scout last night. A few hours before the President's radio - television announcement to the largest audience of all time, Mamie authorized the White House to make this statement for her:

"Mrs. Eisenhower will be at the President's side when he addresses the nation tonight, just as she has always been at his side."

BETWEEN THE LINES

The public, between the lines, could read its own interpretation. Mamie smiled valiantly last night when her husband told his millions of listeners that his family would "cheerfully abide by whatever I decided was best to do."

* * *

The First Lady, battle-scarred from the weeks-long watch beside her husband's sickbed in Denver last fall, had long been searching her own soul. Until a heart attack lamed Ike in the prime of his 65th year, she had been the member of the family who had to watch her health.

Plagued by a heart-murmur since early childhood, she well remembered the teen years when her well-to-do parents had trotted her from Denver to San Antonio, Tex., each winter to guard her fragile health.

It was on one of those journeys, in 1916, that she fell in love with a second lieutenant fresh out of West Point, named Dwight D. Eisenhower.

* * *

Life since their marriage has not all been hearts and flowers for Mamie. During the lengthy interim while Ike worked his way up from lieutenant to five-star general, Mamie kept house in a succession of rundown Army establishments, swept bats and rats out of a house in Panama, bore and lost one infant son, fretted about her husband during the battles of Britain and the Bulge, and wept unashamedly as she saw her only surviving son, Maj. John Eisenhower, off to the war in Korea.

In recent years, her life has been more comfortable, if not more tranquil. Despite Ike's loyal assertion, however, that his family had left the fateful decision of a second term up to him, friends say Mamie left little doubt that she would have preferred—for the years remaining to them—the quiet life of a Gettysburg matron in their reconstructed "dream house."

* * *

But the intimates agree that never once did Mamie try to impose her will on the President. Ike, who hates a quitter, wanted a chance to see his middle-of-the-road program through, and she agreed that the decision must be his.

With her mother, Mrs. John Doud, her son and daughter-in-law, her favorite brother-in-law, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, and her sister and brother-in-law, the George Gordon Moores, Mamie watched starry-eyed last night while her husband re-offered his services to the country.

All day long tourists had been gaping at the White House, trudging through its public floors, and envying the occupants of the historic mansion. Mamie, her friends say, would gladly have exchanged places with them.

Ike's decision, however, is now made. If the American people decide, in the majesty of our democratic system, to return her husband to the White House next January, none will be prouder than Mamie Doud Eisenhower.

For four more years, she will gladly assume the numerous burdens of charity luncheons, official guests and partisan attacks.

She will shake tens of thousands of unknown hands, answer letters and telegrams by the barrel, and run a 54-room mansion—all without pay.

You see, she loves that man!

Repair Quickly

Best upkeep for a wardrobe is to make repairs right away. Let those loose buttons and little rips accumulate and they look like a mountain.

Joan Crawford Relies Upon Healthful Habits to Preserve Her Beauty

(Editor's Note: This is the second article in a series about movie queen Joan Crawford.)

By MAY MANN

Joan Crawford, in a black beaded sheath, walked down the stairway of New York's 21. It was noticeable that women patrons took one look at her small waist, slender hips, flat smoothness in the right places.

It was easy to imagine each of the other women, in her mind's eye, inspecting her own measurements.

She receives thousands of letters from all parts of the world asking, "How do you do it? How do you look 25 at 45? What treatments and how much do they cost? How do you stay young and exciting?"

* * *

"A woman," said Miss Crawford, "rushed up to me and declared, 'It is impossible to look like you do. We are the same age. Have you had a face lift?'

NOT INSULTED

"I pointed to my hairdo—worn straight back from my forehead and ears into a chignon. 'Could I wear a hairdo like this if I had?' I laughed! 'Take a look, see for yourself!' I was not insulted. Just happy that she thought I looked so well."

* * *

Joan was the focus of all eyes at 21. From the governor of Utah and his lady to a headwaiter's daughter—they all stopped to pay their respects or take a quick and closer look at Joan Crawford in person.

They found an immaculately groomed, radiant woman with a fresh, clear skin, unlined, without makeup except powder and lipstick.

"I don't diet. I just don't overeat. I've learned not to like things that are not good for me. I'd adore a chocolate sundae piled high with whipped cream and nuts and cherries. Yes, I would . . . but if I had it once I'd have it again and again. So, I never have even one!

* * *

"I have learned to eat what I need for my health, and that's proteins, vegetables and fruit. This is typical." She pointed to her own food. "A small steak, a green salad of my own concoction, fresh chopped spinach with bacon and French dressing. I eat small amounts, but often, say every four hours.

"That way, I am never ravenously hungry, never gorge; that's the secret of retaining a flatness of figure, in the right places.

KIDS HAVE SWEETS

"This does not mean that my family must be deprived of sweets. My children love sugar cookies, chocolate cake and ice cream. I also have bowls of nuts, popcorn, candies and fresh fruit about the house for guests. Seeing them and resisting them is a matter of personal self-discipline.

* * *

"A well-balanced diet is paramount with me for good health. Each Sunday I make out the menus for the week for my family, seeing that they have fish one day, chicken the next, veal the next, and a wide variety of vegetables.

"My children must eat their food before drinking their milk at a meal, as I have found that they would prefer filling up on liquids and not leaving room enough for the solid food.

"When I have guests, I serve hot and cold hors d'oeuvres and a tray of fresh vegetables—raw carrots, cauliflower, olives, radishes and onions for those who are on a diet.

"For those not restricted in calories, I have fresh mushrooms dipped in sour cream, little meatballs wrapped in crisp bacon, or French-fried toast with peanut butter and bacon—all delicious things which I would adore.

* * *

"Just because I serve it doesn't mean that I eat it. But wait until they bring in the roast beef!

MANY QUESTIONS

"I've been asked if I take exercise, how much sleep I require, how I cope with the weight problem, what cosmetics I use, and if I really take care of my hair myself.

* * *

"Routine exercise is good, but a chore. My way is interesting, at least to me. I have trained myself to get up from a chair without using my hands, arms or elbows. My weight pulls my stomach and leg muscles. I stretch to walk.

"I've learned to exercise as I bend over to reach for a cigarette, from a coffee table, or a cup of tea. I never bend my knees when I reach down to pick up something from the floor. This keeps my body limber.

"When I made 'Torch Song' and began dancing eight hours a day for the first time in 14 years, every one expected me to be muscle bound. It wasn't easy, but to a certain extent I was ready—because of my daily exercises in movement.

"I do wash my hair and set it every day when I'm not working. When I'm in production, naturally my hairdresser, Shirley Madden, does it for me. I'd never let opportunity in love, romance, career or friendship pass me by because I needed a hairdo or manicure!

RESENTS SLEEP

"I require eight hours sleep. I am lucky if I get four. I always believe that I will sleep late on the completion of each picture, but every morning I automatically wake up at 4:45. There is so much to do—so much life to be lived. I don't want to miss it. And I don't. I actually resent the time sleep takes.

* * *

"Wrinkles come from skin being stretched with weight and sagged with the loss of weight. By maintaining an even weight, you avoid them. A makeup artist told me this long ago. That is why I never let myself gain more than three pounds, ever.

"You can say that is easy, for me. Let me tell you that I weighed 148 when I was first signed for pictures. I maintain my weight at 122 to 126, which is right for me.

"When I was desperately trying to get a job in the chorus in Chicago, I told the casting director, 'I know I'm not tall and pretty—just fat and short, but I can dance.' Why don't you do something about your weight — 20 pounds is standing between you and stardom,' he said. for months I lived on crackers and mustard and coffee.

"The result was a bad skin, reduced vitality. That's when I studied food, vitamin content and calories, for figure control and beauty.

SOAP AND WATER

"I scrub my face three times a day with soap and water. When my skin is dry, I apply a heavy night cream. However, now, being a bride, I have had to rearrange my schedule. Since I'm married I don't put cream on my face at night. It just doesn't become a bride, and I want my husband to see me at my best.

"Also, it doesn't go with chiffon nighties. I've had to make time to set my hair and cream my face during the day, when my husband is at his office.

"This interferes with business, yes, and there are times when I arrive for an appointment with my fresh hairdo still a little wet. But I work it in.

"A woman can't be exciting if her man sees her in curlers and cold cream. Never!

* * *

"Instead of reading magazines or listening to gossip at a beauty parlor, I have carefully watched how hair is set—whether a flat or round pin curl is made, and which way to comb it and style it.

"Every woman should consider such an education a part of her standard equipment. Then, no matter where she is, she can always look attractive."

In the third of this series, appearing tomorrow, Joan Crawford discusses her new marriage and the cause of her three previous martail failures. And she underlines the ingredient that she considers most important in marriage.

(Copyright, 1956)

"Since my marriage I don't put cold cream on my face at night," says Joan Crawford. "No woman can be exciting if her man sees her in curlers and cream! Never!"

What is the secret of Joan Crawford's magnificent figure? "Routine exercise is dull and a bore," says Miss Crawford. "Mine is interesting—I've learned a system of my own that's as simple and natural and easy as breathing."

Doing Favors May Be Profitable

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I'm tired of doing things for other people when there's nothing in it for me," I heard a woman say on a bus the other day.

As I thought it over, I realized what a mistake she was making.

You never know, in advance, whether there's anything in it for you or not.

Many people have done some favor with no thought of return and then found that the returns, while perhaps indirect, were enormous.

I often think of Mrs. A.

Mrs. A. is a woman in her early 50s. She married late, in her 40s and after a lifetime in business.

HAPPY AT FIRST

At first, she loved settling down, furnishing her home and taking care of her husband and his three teenage children. But when the children went to college, time lay heavily on her hands.

"I love decorating," Mrs. A. told me, "and while I knew nothing much would come of it, I enrolled for a course in decorating, with a correspondence school, since we live far from the city. I just loved it and, if I say so myself, I'm very good at it.

"Of course, I fixed up our own house and put into practice all the things I had learned. Friends, too, began asking my advice and I enjoyed helping them.

"One day, my husband's boss visited us. Among other things, he mentioned the employe turnover in his company and the difficulty in getting the girls to stay.

"Finally, I piped up and said that maybe if they decorated the offices more attractively, made them more restful and pretty, people would stay around longer.

A BIT STARTLED

"The two men looked a little startled and then the boss, who is president of the firm, asked if I'd take charge. Naturally, he said nothing about paying me for it, but it sounded like fun and it certainly was a challenge.

"I went to the office and made a complete estimate of what I thought should be done. The boss listened, then said to go ahead.

"Everything worked out beautifully. The employes liked their attractive surroundings and the turnover was cut down.

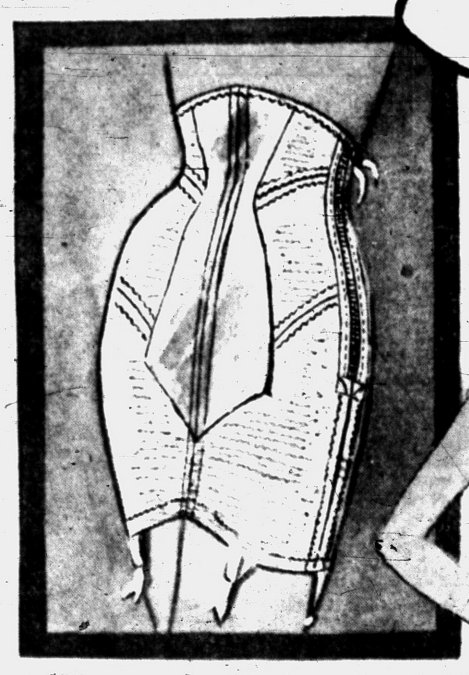

"My friends all said I was a fool to do it for nothing. But that Christmas I got a big check, which the president said was a bonus for cutting down labor turnover.

"Since then, I've had four customers, other businessmen who want me to decorate their offices. I'm in business now and all because I did someone a favor!"

Man Bored When Wife Has Guests

But She Demands That He Stay and Join Conversation

By EMILY POST

The following letter comes from a man: "Every now and then one of my wife's girl friends stops by in the evening to pay her a visit. My wife insists that I stay in the room and join in their conversation.

"I wouldn't mind if they talked about something in which I was interested, but sooner or later the conversation turns to clothes, new hairdos or something of that sort.

"I would much prefer to read a good book than to listen to this talk, but my wife says it would be very rude to her friend to do this. Will you please come to the aid of a poor defenseless husband?"

Answer: To sit in the room and read would be very rude, but you can certainly take the book into another room and read. If a man and his wife came you would, of course, have to join them, but a woman alone who has come to visit your wife does not require your presence.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Recently I went to a reception composed of university faculty wives. I knew no one and therefore had to introduce myself to some of the guests.

"I introduced myself as Martha Scott. I noticed that several others introduced themselves as Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Green, etc. Was I wrong, and will you please tell me the correct way to introduce myself socially to strangers?"

Answer: A married woman always says, "I am Mrs. John Scott." To say "I am Martha Scott" implies that you are unmarried.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am secretary of a women's club and very often it becomes my lot to write notes of sympathy on behalf of members of the club. I would like to know if these notes must be handwritten, or may I typewrite them?"

Answer: As it is sent from an organization, a typewritten letter would be correct.

Most Men Love Leather Luggage

A man loves leather luggage. Shiny black top-grain cowhide is new this year in the ever-popular two-or three-suiter. But he may be the type who prefers the more traditional chocolate brown or light tan.

To put inside it are any number of utility items such as shaving kits, stud boxes, writing cases, and tie cases.

Nylon lingerie is inexpensive these days. So, if your white things are turning gray, by all means replace them.

'Secretary of the Year' to Be Honored April 22–28

The secretary is one of the most important women in business today. If all of America's secretaries were to go on vacation at one time, America's business world would come to a standstill.

* * *

It is not only because of the secretary's present importance, but because of her effort to improve herself and her profession as a whole and because the largest number of women executives of the future must come from her group that National Secretaries Week will be observed April 22-28.

The last full week in April has been set aside each year to honor all American secretaries. It is in recognition of the vital role of the secretary in the function of business, industry, government and education.

Oakland County's own "Secretary of the Year" will be honored during this week. The secretary chosen for the honor will be selected from among members of the Pontioak Chapter of the National Secretaries Association employed by business and professional men throughout Oakland County.

* * *

If you know someone, or employ someone yourself, who is a member of the Pontioak Chapter, and whom you consider has the attributes of the ideal secretary, you may nominate her by sending an application to Morene Frady, 3155 Baldwin Ave., chairman of National Secretaries Week.

State the qualifications your secretary has that you believe fit her for the title of Secretary of the Year. Applications must be received not later than April 9.

OLD PROFESSION

Secretarial work is centuries old. As far back as the first century B.C. a system of shorthand was unfolded for the keeping of court records and, although the whole notion of cryptic writing was outlawed during the Middle Ages as a form of witchcraft, it was revived in England during the first Queen Elizabeth's reign and has been in practice ever since.

A continental design destined to win the favor of American women is this double-breasted cotton poplin coat. The coat and matching hat are Zelan treated to shed showers and to resist non-oily spots and stains.

* * *

In 1837, the first of the modern shorthands was introduced by Isaac Pitman, and in the 1880's John Robert Gregg added his own system.

In 1874 the second secretarial tool, the typewriter, was developed and the secretarial story was ready to begin in earnest. However, this by no means meant an open door for women.

The notion of women in any kind of business was still a mildly scandalous one, so the first calls to "take a letter" went out to young men. And many a prominent executive got his start just as the girls of today are doing—as a secretary.

* * *

During the late years of the 19th Century, woman did begin to filter into secretarial work, but it wasn't until a large number of young men donned uniforms and went off to fight World War I that the girls they left behind took up notebook and pencil.

IMPROVED FIELD

By the time the war was over, the secretarial field was woman's property. The secretaries of the '20s set about improving their field by equipping themselves for wider activities and greater responsibility.

* * *

They began bringing a maximum of education to their job by studying subjects which made them more valuable to their firms.

Secretarial work has created its own future. In that manner of all top-flight professions, the secretarial field has its trade association—the National Secretaries Association, which is a non-profit, non-political, non-sectarian organization open to women who have had two years of experience as a secretary, are actively employed and are of good moral character and integrity.

The general aims of the organization are to elevate the standards of the profession, foster social and business contacts and cooperate with civic organizations for the advancement of community interests.

Steady Rates Higher Than Other Friends

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

So your boy friend's jealous? The quiet type that just seethes until he's sick when he sees you even talking to another boy? Or the outspoken kind that makes scenes in public when his darling's attention begins to stray?

Either kind has a tendency to think he can lock up his love in a gilded cage. Each suffers the tortures of loss when she so much as beats her wings against the bars.

Such is jealousy. A sad thing. But it doesn't flare up without some provocation. When you give him no cause, he's as meek as a lamb. So how much of your boy friend's jealousy is really your fault?

That's the question I'd like to ask this girl whose big problem is her boy friend's resentment of her other friends. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've liked him for months now, but he's terribly jealous. The other day I was talking to a boy I know, and he came over and asked me why I had been talking to him.

"If this keeps up, I'm going to lose some friends, and I don't want that to happen. Please tell me what I can do as I don't want it to get any deeper."

Answer: Your boy friend, watching you from the sidelines, feels very much cut off from a big part of your life. You apparently have friends you don't share with him. You have relationships that matter quite a bit to you personally—and with which he has nothing to do.

He knows of those relationships, but he doesn't know how much they mean to you. He suspects the worst, and it makes him feel very insecure. He begins to doubt his own position in your life. It makes him bitter, suspicious and resentful. And you don't like it.

But you are bringing the whole thing on. Just because you think you can have your cake and eat it, too.

You want all of those other friends and the special relationships you have with them. You want the liberty to flirt with them, to tease them, to laugh with them as though you were free and independent. Which you are not. You have a steady boy friend.

* * *

If you're not hiding anything from him, welcome him to any duet conversation you're having with another boy. Be open and aboveboard.

"Draw him into the chat, let him in on what's going on. Give him the certainty that you're not doing anything behind his back—and that he can share all of your activities and friendships.

For you can't be independent and go steady at the same time. You chose him and put him ahead of your other friends. While you have him they're relatively unimportant. If he knows you feel that way, he won't be provoked to jealousy.

War of Nightgowns Looms

PARIS (INS)—The latest Paris fashion battle revolves around whether women's sleepwear should stress beauty or comfort.

* * *

On one side are the "pajama girls" and those who like to wear shorties with bullfighter pants or bloomers. On the other side are those who want to wear romantic-looking nightgowns.

The latest entries by the long nighties team are romantic, feminine and charming.

The nightgowns have an old-fashioned touch in the boudoir style of 1900. Often white, they are trimmed with lace frills and ribbons. Those with deep round or square shoulder yokes, from which ruffles out ground-length fullness, are the most romantic. More simple models are made of white or pastel cotton, or flowered nylon.

The pajama camp marks a point with a smart new model. It is a coral colored poplin outfit of which the top is a slip-on shift with long sleeves with a kangaroo-pouch pocket patched on front and center.

* * *

Homemakers Plan Future Programs

Ruth Carole Smith Wed at Kirk in the Hills Chapel

A floor-length gown of Chantilly lace and tulle was worn by Ruth Carole Smith for her marriage to Edward Ribolin. The lace bodice featured sweetheart neckline, and scallops of lace accented her bouffant skirt of tulle.

* * *

A lace cap secured her fingertip veil of illusion and she chose a spray of white camellias, stephanotis and ivy for her bridal bouquet.

The Rev. Harold DeWindt officiated at the ceremony Saturday afternoon at Cedarholm Chapel, Kirk in the Hills. One hundred and fifty guests attended the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Smith of Birmingham are parents of the bride. Edward is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ribolin of Walnut Lake road.

Mrs. Karl Rhodes of Birmingham served as matron of honor. She was gowned in ballerina-length pink crystallette with a matching veiled headband. She carried a bouquet of deep pink carnations and ivy.

* * *

A gown of pink crystallette was worn by Karen Smith, sister of the bride, for her duties as bridesmaid. Her bouquet was of pale pink carnations and ivy.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Robert Seldon of Detroit served as best man. Seating the guests were Roger Tyrrell of Royal Oak and David Smith, brother of the bride.

* * *

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Smith wore a blue silk dress with navy accessories. Mrs. Ribolin chose a navy blue and white dress. Their corsages were of pink camellias.

Film Garb Gains Realism

By EMILY BELSER

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—It isn't the clothes that make the woman it's the woman that makes the clothes—in this case designer Edith Head.

* * *

Edith is the gal who whipped up all those scraggly rags that Anna Magnani wore in "The Rose Tattoo."

"The entire wardrobe," Edith declared, "including the dresses for Marisa Pavan, didn't cost as much as a single one of the costumes I made for Hedy Lamarr in "Samson and Delilah" (1948).

The designer, who recently was nominated for another Academy Award for costume designing (she already has collected a half dozen), says there has been a gradual trend in motion pictures to make the clothes and costumes an intregal part of each film.

* * *

"Back during the heyday of Clara Bow and even as recently as the films of Carole Lombard, there was no reality in costume design—or anything else.

ALL WAS LAVISH

"No matter what kind of picture it was," Edith went on, "everybody had six butlers and lived in palaces. Even the secretaries sported silver foxes and diamonds."

* * *

She recalled that in one instance Miss Lombard played the role of a nurse done up in a fancy satin nurse's uniform and Miss Bow played tournament tennis in a pair of spike-heeled shoes.

"I remember that Joan Bennett went through an Indian massacre, a prairie fire and two floods and came out of each one with a different and newly pressed costume," she laughed.

Not so with Italian fireball Anna Magnani.

Edith dressed her down to look like a hag throughout most of "The Rose Tattoo" — Magnani's first American-made film.

* * *

"She was so afraid I was going to try to make a glamor girl out of her," Edith explained, "but later, after she saw the rags I made for her she said it was wonderful and that she would never have believed that could happen in Hollywood."

NOTHING FANCY

All of Magnani's clothes were hand-made—even the corset and the girdle—and she wore no fancy undies and no makeup.

"More and more," the designer said, "clothes are carrying out motion pictures' themes. The idea used to be that if a dress wasn't extravagantly beautiful it was no good for movies.

"But that's all changed now. We no longer dress modern-day islanders in sequined sarongs, lady horseback riders in gold riding boots or telephone operators in black velvet and ermine.

"The movie industry has achieved a new integrity, and realism has come into its own."

Badges, Emblems Add to Appearance

Badges and emblems add a dress-up appearance to any item of sports apparel, which, considering the growing dress-up trend in sportswear, may explain their unprecedented rise in popularity.

1956 being Olympic games year is also a factor which has contributed to the success of the badge. Many spring and summer sport jackets have pocket emblems resembling the badges worn by U. S. Olympic athletes.

To Honor Hothouse Rhubarb

MRS. DONOVAN O. TUBBS — With one Rhubarb Upside Down Cake already made, Mrs. Donovan Tubbs of Rochester measures out ingredients for a second cake. Mrs. Tubbs will enter this recipe in the Hothouse Rhubarb recipe contest in Utica on Saturday.

MRS. ROBERT ROGERS — Mrs. Robert Rogers of Rochester carefully takes her pan of Rhubarb Crisp from the oven. This delicious dessert, served warm with whipped cream or ice cream, is one she hopes will win a prize at the Hothouse Rhubarb Festival in Utica on Saturday. Michigan cooks find many ways to use one of the state's most famous foods.

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Rhubarb will be "Queen for a Day" this coming Saturday, March 3, at the first Michigan Hothouse Rhubarb Festival in Utica.

Many of you know that Michigan produces about one fourth of the nation's rhubarb. Macomb county grows some 85% of all the hothouse rhubarb grown in the United States.

To honor this industry and to show how indoor rhubarb is grown and used an entire day is being devoted to it. From 10:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m. in the American Legion Hall on Cass Avenue in Utica visitors can see a miniature hothouse and rhubarb in all its various stages of growth.

Indoor rhubarb is grown from the same roots as the outdoor plant. For two years these plants are allowed to grow outside, are cultivated and heavily fertilized.

After the second year's frost has killed the leaves, the plants are plowed out and allowed to remain dormant for six weeks. Then they are forced indoors under electric lights.

The tender pink stalks are carefully picked, boxed and shipped to distributors all over the eastern part of the country. Today's picking will be in New York or Chicago for tomorrow's breakfast.

Trucks that are temperature controlled carry most of the hothouse rhubarb out of the state. It is perishable unless kept under good refrigeration. It should not be frozen or canned as it loses its color within a short time.

In addition to the growing exhibits, there will be a contest for prepared rhubarb dishes, using hothouse rhubarb, of course.

Two Rochester homemakers, Mrs. Donovan Tubbs and Mrs. Robert Rogers, have been busy working on their entries for this contest. Mrs. Tubbs' entry is a Rhubarb Upside Down Cake, while Mrs. Rogers is entering Rhubarb Crisp.

If you have never tasted the delicate flavor of this forced rhubarb, do it now, using one of these excellent recipes from two hopeful contestants.

RHUBARB CRISP
By Mrs. Robert Rogers

2 cups rhubarb (1½ pounds)
¾ cup quick oatmeal
¾ cup brown sugar
½ cup sifted flour
½ cup butter or margarine

Cut rhubarb into ½-inch slices and put into baking pan or pie tin. Combine remaining ingredients and sprinkle over the rhubarb. Bake at 350 degrees for 35 minutes. Delicious served with whipped cream or ice cream. Serves 6.

RHUBARB UPSIDE DOWN CAKE
By Mrs. Donovan Tubbs

4 cups rhubarb, cut into one-inch pieces
1 scant cup sugar
1 cup marshmallows cut into eighths

Heat above ingredients in saucepan over low heat until rhubarb is partially cooked (don't overcook). Meantime, mix the batter. Sift together in bowl:

1⅛ cups sifted cake flour (1 cup plus 2 tablespoons)
½ teaspoon salt
1½ teaspoons baking powder
⅓ cup white sugar

Add all at once:

1 unbeaten egg
¼ cup soft shortening
¼ cup evaporated milk
¼ cup water
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat batter just two minutes. Pour over fruit which has been turned into greased 8-inch, round deep pan.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes, or until cake pulls from edge of pan. Serve warm with whipped cream or ice cream.

Doughnuts Filled With Purple Plums

Purple Plum Doughnuts

3 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 can (No. 2½) purple plums (well drained)
1 package (14¼ ounces) hot roll mix
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
Fat for frying
Confectioners' sugar

Mix sugar and cinnamon. Pit drained plums. Prepare hot roll mix according to package directions.

When ready to shape, roll out on lightly floured surface to one-half-inch thickness. Cut into 2½-inch rounds. Sprinkle sugar mixture over half of rounds and top with plums; dot with butter.

Cover with remaining rounds and seal edges very well. Put in warm place and let rise until doubled in bulk, 30 to 60 minutes.

Fry in hot deep fat (375 degrees) about one minute on each side, or until browned. Drain on absorbent paper and sprinkle with confectioners' sugar.

Makes about 1½ dozen.

Kitchen tongs turn bacon slices and sausage links nicely. Keep the tongs handy!

Add Crisp Bacon to Stuffed Potatoes

Bacon-Stuffed Potatoes

1 medium-sized baking potato
1 tablespoon hot milk
1 tablespoon butter
Salt
White pepper
1 slice bacon
Paprika

Bake potatoes; cut a slice of skin from the top the long way; scoop out insides and put through ricer.

Beat in milk, butter, salt and pepper to taste.

Meanwhile cook bacon until crisp; drain and crumble into potato mixture; spoon back into shells and sprinkle with paprika.

Reheat in hot oven just before serving. Recipe makes one serving.

When you are using cooked giblets in a poultry stuffing or gravy, or in a sandwich spread, be sure to cut away the cartilage or gristle from the gizzard.

TreeSweet's exclusive INSTOVAC process seals in fresh flavor and Vitamin C.

❷ Spoon other ½ of batter in muffin tin—bake ten delicious light-as-a-feather rolls. Now isn't that easy?

It opens a new world of easy baking!

"Wherever I travel, I notice that the restaurant that serves a variety of fresh-baked rolls or bread adds a great attraction to a meal—and now there's no reason why you can't add this 'something special' to the meals you serve at home, not once in a while but often.

"For two years, we have been perfecting a mix that would answer all my requirements. It should make everything from golden-crusted dinner rolls to a fancy tea ring, with all the wonderful variations of sweet rolls in between. A mix you can turn into something simple or rich—and, of course, so easy and failproof it will convince you there's no mystery to baking with yeast.

"Now this mix is at your grocer's. I hope you will pick up a package soon. I know you will discover a new baking pleasure—and your family will know the old-fashioned, never-forgotten hominess of rolls fresh from the oven."

Save Up Leftovers for Goose Ragout

Goose Ragout

2 cups cut-up goose meat
2 cups leftover gravy (or—use two cups water and three bouillon cubes)
1 small can tomatoes (No. 1 size)
½ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons chopped chives
3 medium size onions, minced
¼ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon prepared mustard
½ teaspoon caraway seeds
Salt and pepper to taste

Saute onions, garlic and celery in 3 tablespoons goose fat in a Dutch oven. Add gravy (or substitute), tomatoes, salt, pepper, paprika, caraway seeds and prepared mustard.

Cover and let simmer over a low flame about a half hour. Add goose meat and let cook eight minutes more.

Turn off burner, then add chopped chives. Serve with mashed potatoes, or buttered noodles sprinkled with poppy seeds.

Add capers to mayonnaise when you plan to serve it over fresh or canned cold salmon. Then be sure to serve with wedges of lemon.

Win Your Guests' Praise With Sesame Seed Cake

Sesame seed is a delectable spice to add to cakes and cookies, both in the batter and as a speckled topping on frostings.

You'll find your reputation as a cook soaring to new heights when you serve a sesame seed cake at your next party!

Toasted Sesame Seed Cake

2¼ cups sifted cake flour
3 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ground mace
1½ cups sugar
⅓ cup toasted sesame seeds
⅓ cup shortening
1 cup milk
2 eggs, unbeaten

Sift the first five ingredients together into a mixing bowl. Blend in sesame seeds. Add shortening and three-fourths cup of the milk. Mix until flour is dampened. Then beat two minutes in a mixer at low speed or 300 strokes by hand.

Add eggs and remaining milk. Beat one minute in mixer at low speed or 150 strokes by hand. (Scrape down bowl and beater or spoon often.)

Turn into a well-greased, lightly floured tube pan, measuring 7-½ inches across the bottom, 8-½ inches across the top and 3 inches deep. Bake in a preheated, moderate oven (350) one hour or until done.

Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pan. When cold, frost with Mocha Frosting. Sprinkle toasted sesame seeds over the top. Yield: 12 servings.

To Toast Sesame Seeds:

Place sesame seeds in a large shallow pan. Toast in a preheated, moderate oven (350) 20 to 25 minutes.

Mocha Frosting

1-3 cup butter or margarine
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
1 teaspoon instant coffee
3 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
1 tablespoon white corn syrup
4 to 5 tablespoons light cream or undiluted evaporated milk
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 tablespoon toasted sesame seeds

Brown butter or margarine in a saucepan. Add chocolate and stir until melted. Stir in instant coffee. Gradually add confectioners' sugar alternately with corn syrup, and light cream or evaporated milk. Blend in pure vanilla extract.

Sprinkle with toasted sesame seeds. Yield: Sufficient frosting for top and sides of Toasted Sesame Seed Cake.

Toasted Sesame Seed Cake.

An assortment of 2 or 3 kinds of homemade preserves, jellies or fancy pickles in small containers makes a nice gift any time.

SESAME SEED CAKE — Tiny, honey-colored sesame seeds give nut-like flavor and texture to a white cake batter. They also garnish the frosting.

Pep Up Cauliflower With Peas, Sauce

Cauliflower and Peas With Almond Butter Sauce

1 medium head cauliflower
2 cups green peas
4 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¼ cup slivered toasted almonds

* * *

Cook cauliflower and peas separately in boiling, salted water, until tender. Melt butter, add seasonings, lemon juice and toasted slivered almonds.

* * *

Place cauliflower on warm serving plate and surround with peas. Pour sauce over vegetables. Makes 6 servings.

Small fry like cupcakes spread with peanut butter. Or use peanut butter as a spread for muffins.

For extra flavor, garnish potato salad with finely chopped green onion or chives.

Foreign Flavor Enhances Dish

Many good cooks treasure old world recipes that relieve the monotony of modern, everyday meals. A favorite main dish with a foreign flavor is Old World Cabbage Rolls.

* * * *

Wheat germ, natural heart of wheat, also adds high-quality protein to supplement the meat protein. And its zesty, nut-like flavor enhances the flavor of the other foods.

Old World Cabbage Rolls

2-3 pounds cabbage
1 large onion, chopped
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 pound ground veal
½ pound ground pork
¾ cup wheat germ
1¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon seasoned salt
2 cups cooked rice

Core cabbage, set in large pan. Scald with boiling water to loosen leaves. Separate leaves and cook about five minutes to soften. Pare down heavy veins.

Saute onion in butter. Mix together meat, wheat germ, seasonings and onion. Add rice; blend well.

Fill each leaf with 2 or 3 tablespoons of the meat mixture. Roll leaves, tucking in ends. Place rolls, lapped end down, in heavy roasting pan. Yield: Sixteen to eighteen rolls. Add sauce and bake.

Sauce

1 can condensed cream of mushroom soup
2½ cups tomato juice
¼ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper

Blend together mushroom soup, tomato juice, seasonings. Pour over cabbage rolls. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350) for 1½ to 2 hours.

A Bit of This 'n' That Is News in Food Now

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Well, now they've put date bars into package form. We had them at our house last weekend.

There are two envelopes in the box. One contains the dehydrated filling, the other the crust mixture. The finished cookie was tasty, but I prefer to have whole dates in the filling. One good taste addition in the filling is coconut.

Green Pea soup comes in dehydrated form nowadays too. And very good, I might add. It actually has the ham bone flavor so essential to good pea soup. It's very simple to make. Watch for it in your store.

Two of the newer frozen foods are Potato Patties and Pancakes. The patties may be fried, broiled, made into soup, or cooked to use for salad. The pancakes are heated in a toaster.

Another new frozen food that we did enjoy is frozen Chicken a la King. It comes in a convenient size can and takes but 20 minutes to heat.

Chicken a la King'wiches

1 can (10 ounce size) frozen chicken a la king
4 slices bread
4 thin slices ham
1 package (12-ounce size) frozen asparagus, cooked

Heat chicken a la King. Meanwhile, broil ham and bread on both sides (under broiler). Arrange a piece of ham and a few hot asparagus spears on each piece of toasted bread; pour steaming a la king over the top of each open-faced sandwich.

One thing that impresses me as I do my weekly food shopping is the abundance of produce available nowadays. Compared with just a few years ago, our choice is almost unlimited.

For instance, I've noticed Bibb lettuce packaged in clear plastic bags. Granted it is high in price; it does add an extra touch to a salad, and you don't need much. Fortunately, it weighs little.

There are always five or six different kinds of greens in the store where I shop—lettuce, escarole, endive, Chinese cabbage, Bibb and leaf lettuce and romaine.

The small plastic containers for fresh tomatoes makes them look so good and protect them from overenthusiastic customers. The tomatoes may not taste garden-fresh, but they certainly add needed color to a salad.

A food we shall appreciate this coming summer is frozen grapefruit. Think how wonderful it will taste on a summer luncheon plate. At our house we have frozen several dozen boxes of grapefruit ourselves as an experiment.

The Better Half helped one evening, and we skinned and segmented about twenty-four juicy fruit. We merely put them in plastic bags and froze them. No sugar was added. If they turn out to be too sour when we defrost them, we can always add sugar. We're looking forward to trying some.

CAROL PETERSEN — Until the pictures of the Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow contest winners were published last week, we did not know that Carol Petersen, daughter of the William Petersens of Keego Harbor, was also a local winner. Eighteen-year-old Carol will graduate from West Bloomfield High School in June. She likes to dance, swim and listen to records. Sewing is her chief interest in the homemaking field. Her plans for next year are not yet complete.

Canned Lunch Meat Makes Tasty Loaf Ring

Use the canned luncheon meat to make a pretty and tasty meat loaf ring. Place seven thin slices of luncheon meat against the outside edge (but partially on the bottom) of a greased 9-inch ring mold.

Chop the rest of the luncheon meat from 12-ounce can. Add 4 cups hot cooked salted rice, one-half can condensed cream of mushroom soup, one-half cup water, one-third cup chopped stuffed green olives, dash of Tabasco sauce, one-half teaspoon salt and one-eighth teaspoon black pepper. Place on meat in the mold. Press in firmly.

Loosely cover mold with a lid or foil. Bake at 350 for 45 minutes. Allow to stand five minutes. Unmold and serve with the rest of the soup heated with one-half cup water.

Ham 'n' Cabbage Team to Provide Different Dinner

For something a little different, try a Ham 'n' Cabbage Dinner.

* * *

It's smoked boneless shoulder butt, baked, sliced, and served with cooked cabbage wedges. You may have been accustomed to simmering this meat, but it takes to baking, too, and it's just as easy as simmering.

* * *

Smoked boneless shoulder butt weighs from 1 to 5 pounds. It can be sliced and fried like ham or Canadian-style bacon.

* * *

The smoked butt, like all cuts of pork, is a rich source of thiamine, or vitamin B1, and it has the complete high quality protein, other vitamins, and essential minerals for which all meat is famed.

Ham 'N' Cabbage Dinner

Place 1 to 4 pound boneless smoked butt (cottage roll) on rack in open roasting pan. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes per pound, or until meat thermometer registers 170.

* * *

Slice and serve with steamed cabbage wedges. Yield: Three to four servings per pound.

Baked Succotash Has Old-Fashioned Appeal

Succotash suggests the good country cooking we all rave about. To enjoy its flavor wherever you are, prepare this simple baked dish:

To a can of succotash, add a tablespoon of chopped onion browned in butter. Put in a baking dish, sprinkling with a fourth cup poultry bread dressing. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 35 minutes.

Want a tasty sandwich filling? Mix grated cheddar cheese with chopped chutney. These sandwiches taste particularly good when they are pan-toasted in butter in a skillet.

SMART AND SIMPLE DESSERT. — When dinner has been rich and filling, here is the perfect dessert. Spicy, refreshing fresh winter pears are chilled, sliced and served with wedges of sharp cheese and crisp crackers. The cheese shown in this picture is Gruyere. You may substitute some other variety.

Crown English Muffins With Tasty Toppings

Such good things to put on toasted English muffins! Cream cheese and guava jelly for instance! Or granulated sugar mixed with cinnamon and finely chopped pecans!

* * *

Good Cake Topping

Want a good topping for coffee cake? Mix a quarter cup of flour with a half cup of sugar; cut in a couple of tablespoons of butter or margarine until the mixture is crumbly. Sprinkle over coffee-cake batter (made with baking powder) before baking.

For a glorified garnish, spread a spoonful of deviled ham on pear or peach halves, orange slices or pineapple rings, then broil as usual.

Avoid Monotony in Midwinter Menus

Everyday meals needn't get monotonous this season of the year. There are many different, hearty meals which can be planned, even using the same cut of meat.

* * *

Midwinter is one of the best times for serving succulent spareribs. They can be prepared by several cooking methods and with a variety of accompaniments.

Cooking methods for spareribs are left up to the cook—simmering, broiling and baking, or roasting. Some cooks use two cooking methods, such as in this recipe for stuffed spareribs.

Two matching sides of spareribs are broiled until a crisp brown, stuffed, and then baked until tender.

Spareribs With Cornbread Stuffing

2 sides spareribs
Salt and pepper
¼ cup melted butter or margarine
¼ cup finely chopped onion
¼ cup finely diced celery
1 tablespoon snipped parsley or celery tops
1 cup milk
Cornbread (made from 1 standard recipe or 1 package mix), crumbled

Brown spareribs on both sides under broiler. Sprinkle both sides with salt and pepper. Place one side of ribs in a shallow baking dish.

Mix 1 teaspoon salt and one-half teaspoon pepper with the remaining ingredients. (More milk can be added if a moist stuffing is preferred.) Place stuffing on top of ribs in dish.

Place the other side of spareribs over the stuffing. Bake in a 325-degree oven two hours or until meat is tender. Six servings.

Spareribs may be simmered on top of the range, too. If you like, brown them first. Here is a recipe for simmered spareribs with sauerkraut—an old-time favorite.

Kraut and Ribs

2 sides spareribs
2 cups hot water
2 branches celery
1 medium onion
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 No. 2½ can sauerkraut
1 teaspoon caraway seeds
1 tablespoon sugar

Have meat man cut spareribs into serving size pieces. Place in a large, deep pan.

Add water, celery, onion, salt and pepper; simmer covered for 1½ hours. Lift out ribs; pour off liquid and save for seasoning vegetables and soups.

Place ribs over sauerkraut, cover pan, and continue cooking 30 minutes. Six servings.

Vary Celery Soup by Adding Clams

Clam and Celery Chowder

1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of celery soup
1 can (7 ounces) minced sea clams
½ cup milk
½ cup heavy cream
½ teaspoon celery salt
Minced chives or green onion tops or parsley

Empty cream of celery soup into a 1 to 2-quart saucepan; add clams, including liquid in can. Stir in milk, cream and celery salt with a fork or whisk.

Heat slowly, stirring often, until of serving temperature; do not boil.

Serve sprinkled with minced greens. Makes 3 cups—two large or four small servings.

Roast pork or breaded chops are even tastier when served with a sauce made of pureed applesauce and currant jelly that have been beaten together.

Pork, Beef, Lamb, Fish Spotlighted as Good Buys

There is good news for today's food shopper since retail meat prices average 10 to 12 per cent less than they did this same week in 1955. Good quality and reasonable prices place several cuts of pork, beef, lamb and fish in the limelight.

* * *

Some stores are offering the butt half of ham at about 10 cents less per pound than last week, with even greater reductions on the shank half which yields 2½ to 3 servings per pound.

Bulk sausage and bacon, including the thick-sliced 2-pound packages, are priced to fit the smallest budget. Boston butt at about 40 cents a pound is one of the best pork values again this week.

For an extra special dinner, rib roast of beef may be a good choice. For greatest satisfaction, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, consumer marketing information agent of the Cooperative Extension Service, says the outside of the roast should be covered with at least a quarter of an inch of fat, the bone should be red in the center and have a soft cartilege tip. The lean meat should be bright red with flecks of fat distributed throughout.

TO COOK ROAST

Beef rib roasts are most delectable when cooked at 300 to 350 degrees. For a medium-well done roast allow 25 minutes per pound for a standing rib roast, or 35 to 40 minutes per pound for a rolled rib roast.

Lamb shoulder roast can be a penny-saver this week, or for more elite meals leg of lamb is reasonable for the fine quality offered.

Consumers can find leg of lamb sold in three ways: The whole leg including the loin and shank; family-size—a leg from which a few sirloin chops have been removed; or the shank end—which has a large amount of meat and small bone. Leg of lamb gives about three servings per pound.

Economical frozen fish will fit many Lenten meals, and the family may enjoy fish more when new varieties are used. Look for packages that are firmly frozen.

If the fish is wrapped in a tray, check to see that the package has not been thawed. Thawing is usually indicated by juices of the fish in the bottom of the tray. There are good supplies of pike, cod, haddock, and ocean perch at most frozen food cases.

ONIONS FOR SPICE

Dry yellow onions can add the necessary spice to an otherwise ordinary meal. These 3 and 5 pound pliofilm bags of Michigan onions are just right for creaming or escalloping. At five to 8 cents a pound in many stores they score as one of the best vegetable buys of the week.

Cabbage also demands top billing among fresh vegetables. There is a good supply and most stores have priced it at about 10 cents per pound. This may suggest a favorite boiled dinner; cabbage and corned beef; or cabbage leaves filled with ground meat, rolled, baked and served steaming hot.

Bright-colored carrots are a a natural complement to cabbage. Michigan potatoes are another leader in economy at about 3½ to 5½ cents per pound when sold in 10-pound packages. Potatoes being shipped in are around five to eight cents per pound.

Citrus continues to bring sunshine to winter's fruit bowl. Eight-pound mesh bags of grapefruit and oranges offer most for your citrus dollar. The 75-88 size California oranges are reasonable at about 50 cents per pound in some stores. Bananas compare favorably to prices of pears, grapes and some varieties of apples.

* * *

Large-size eggs, most in evidence, are one of the best protein buys for the family. During this season they are often substituted for meat and become main dishes for many meals. Since last week, egg prices have decreased several cents per dozen in some markets.

Ham Loaf

1 pound ground ham
½ pound ground lean pork
1 cup crushed corn flakes
½ cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cloves

* * *

Combine ingredients and mix well. Pack firmly into 1¼-quart greased ring mold. Bake in a moderate oven (350) for 45 minutes. Six to eight servings.

* * *

Oven-Fried Fillets

2 pound fillets
1 tablespoon salt
1 cup milk
1 cup bread crumbs
¼ cup butter or other fat, melted

* * *

Cut fillets into serving-size portions. Add salt to milk. Dip fillet in milk and roll in crumbs; place on a shallow, well-greased baking pan. Sprinkle each piece of fish with fat.

* * *

Bake in a very hot oven (500) for 10 to 12 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve at once on a hot platter, plain or with a sauce. Serves six.

Apricots Featured in Angel Pudding

Apricot Angel Pudding

2 cups cooked dried apricots (drained)
¾ cup sugar
1¼ cups apricot whole-fruit nectar
24 quartered marshmallows
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
1 tablespoon lemon juice
2 egg whites
1 cup heavy cream

Force apricots through a sieve, or mash thoroughly. Blend in sugar, stirring until it is dissolved.

* * *

Heat 1 cup nectar slowly with marshmallows until marshmallows are completely melted. Soften gelatin in remaining one-fourth cup apricot nectar, and dissolve in hot marshmallow mixture.

* * *

Blend in lemon rind and juice, and apricots. Cool until mixture thickens slightly. Fold in stiffly whipped egg whites and whipped cream.

Turn into 8-inch angel cake pan and chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with whipped cream and apricots if desired. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Homemade bread does take a little extra time, but it isn't difficult to make; so why don't you treat your family to a real old fashioned culinary thrill?

If you will remember, finicky breakfast cereal will give an extra appetites rarely lasted long when rich taste and crunchy texture tasty homemade bread enteped the to your bread. picture. Perhaps this is the answer to that too-small appetite in your family circle.

* * *

Here is a space and trouble-saver. Now you can make whole wheat bread with bite-size shredded wheat biscuits. You won't have to worry about the short keeping quality of whole wheat flour or your constant lack of storage space.

You'll find, too, that the malt and sugar flavor of this popular

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD — This delicious homemade "Whole Wheat" Bread will give your family an old-fashioned taste treat, "like Mother used to make." Prepare it the modern way with bite-size shredded wheat biscuits. Your loaves will disappear like magic.

"Whole Wheat" Bread

2 cups bite-size shredded wheat biscuits
2 teaspoons salt
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup shortening
1 cup milk
1½ cups water
1 package active dry yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast
4½ cups sifted all-purpose flour

Put bite-size shredded wheat biscuits, salt, sugar, and shortening into a 4-quart bowl. Pour milk and 1½ cups of the water into a saucepan. Bring to a boil over low heat. Pour over cereal mixture. Stir. Cool to lukewarm (80-85), stirring frequently.

Dissolve yeast in remaining one-quarter cup water. For dry yeast, use water at 110-115 degrees (few drops on wrist feel warm). For compressed yeast, use water at 80-85 (few drops on wrist feel cool).

Stir dissolved yeast into the lukewarm cereal mixture. Add flour a cup at a time. Mix well after each addition. Finish mixing with hands and form into a ball. Turn onto floured board and let rest for 10 minutes.

Knead until the dough is smooth and elastic. This will take about 8 to 10 minutes. If dough sticks to board or hands, flour them just enough to keep the dough from sticking. Form into a ball. Wash the bowl. Grease it and two 8½x4½-inch loaf pans.

Put dough in greased bowl and turn it over so top of dough is greased. Cover with cloth wrung out in hot water. Set in warm place (80-85) until double in bulk, about one hour. Punch fist down into dough. Pull edges into center. Turn dough completely over in bowl.

Cover and let rise again in warm place (80-85) until double in bulk, about one hour. Punch dough down and pull edges into center again. Place on floured board. Knead for a short time, about two minutes. Cut dough in half. Press cut edges down firmly to seal and form two balls.

Form each ball into a loaf. Place in greased pans. Cover with cloth wrung out in hot water and let rise in a warm place (80-85) until almost double in bulk, about 30 minutes. About 15 minutes before loaves have fi nished risng, heat oven to moderate (350).

Bake on center rack one hour or until hollow sound is heard when top of bread is tapped. Remove from pans at once. Cool on a rack or crosswise on top of bread pans. Makes two loaves.

Here Are Facts About Cooking, Serving Rice

You might like to remember:

That there are quite a few types of rice. . . Cooking times and methods do differ somewhat. . . Always follow package directions.

* * *

That it's easy to mold rice into interesting forms!

Fill cupcake tins or individual custard cups.

Make balls with an ice-cream scoop.

Shape rice into peaks or mounds with a spoon.

That leftover rice can be fluffed:

Place rice in covered saucepan with a few tablespoons of water and heat over a low flame for a few minutes. . . Use just the way you'd use freshly cooked rice.

That deviled ham adds that "something extra" to almost any rice dish.

Shape Gingersnaps With Cookie Press

Gingersnaps

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
½ cup butter or margarine
½ cup sugar
1 egg

Sift together the flour, baking soda, cinnamon, cloves and ginger. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly.

Stir in sifted dry ingredients until well combined; dough will be on the stiff side.

Force dough through ribbon disk of cookie press onto lightly greased cookie sheet. Cut dough into bars (each about 2 inches long) and separate with spatula.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until done—8 to 10 minutes. Remove to rack with spatula to cool.

Store when cold in tightly covered container and cookies will stay crisp.

Potato Baked With Cabbage

Potatoes are an important and even major part of the diet in many countries because of their high all-around food value and the abundance in which they can be grown.

* * *

They are a good source of protein, energy and a long list of minerals such as phosphorous, iron and vitamins, including vitamin C.

* * *

They contain enough of this vitamin to supply the required amounts in countries which do not have citrus and tomatoes readily available.

Potato and Cabbage Casserole

6 medium (2 pounds) potatoes
1-inch boiling water in pan
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup finely chopped onion
3 cups cooked shredded cabbage

Pare and cook potatoes until tender in 1 inch of boiling water and 1 teaspoon of the salt. Drain if necessary. Mash until smooth.

* * *

Add the remaining salt, black pepper and 3 tablespoons of the butter or margarine. Mix well.

Add onion and cabbage. Turn into a buttered 2-quart casserole. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350) for 15 minutes.

* * *

Remove from oven. Dot with butter or margarine. Return to oven and bake 5 to 10 minutes longer or until potatoes have lightly browned. Serve very hot. Yield: Six to eight servings.

City of Tangier Gave Its Name to Tangerines

If all citrus fruits are regarded as "sisters under the skin," the tangerine is the one with the skin that's easiest to get under. The fact that its skin comes off so easily makes this Asian-African-American fruit popular with almost everyone.

If that combination of three continents seems surprising, you need to remember that all the citrus fruits, oranges, grapefruit, lemons and tangerines, had their beginning in southern Asia, thousands of years ago.

Some of them have picked up new names as they've moved around the world, while others have stuck to names which reflect their Asian ancestry.

For example, the tangerine is really one type of Mandarin orange, and Mandarin is about as Chinese as a word can be. But centuries ago, some of the Mandarin oranges were carried westward, and became established around the Mediterranean Sea.

* * *

One type grew well in North Africa, near the city of Tangier in Morocco. So, Europeans came to know the thin-skinned, easily peeled oranges as "Tangier oranges," and then the name was shortened to "Tangierine." From there it's only a short step to its common American name, "tangerine."

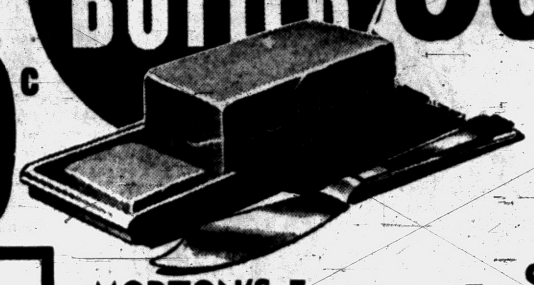

But when it comes to flavor, that delightful blend of sweet and tart, and the convenience of eating, tangerines rank right at the top.

Teamsters Give Funds to School

Roman Catholic Head Pays All Bills, Still Has Cash in Bank

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Little Roman Catholic Bellarmine High School has $193.61 in the bank, its bills are paid and its automobile, "thank God, runs well for a change."

* * *

And all because the wealthy International Teamsters Union gave the Jesuit - sponsored school $9,125. The story came out with the current issue of the International Teamster, official magazine of the big union headed by Dave Beck.

The accounting was in the form of a letter from the Rev. Father F. A. Toner, S. J., head of the school of 400 students.

* * *

"During the past month," Father Toner wrote, "I have paid off bills, many of which have been outstanding for the greater part of a year. For example, $2,256 went to support the young men of our faculty who are not yet ordained and must attend summer school each year; $1,150 paid in full the tables we purchased in December for our cafeteria; $1,307.69 was paid on the amount that remained on the bill for kitchen equipment installed a year and a half ago.

"$480—For a new motor and repairs on a car that now, thank God, runs well for a change.

"$600—Agrocery bill that is paid in full for the first time in 20 months.

"$300—Insurance. Actually, we were delinquent on two policies because we just didn't have the money to pay the premiums.

"$5,000—A loan made a couple of years ago on which we were paying interest.

* * *

"In short, for the first time since I came here, our bills are paid in full and we still have money in the bank. Actually, my bank balance today is $193.61. No doubt, such a bank balance would be cause of concern to you or someone in business, but to me it is a beautiful sight . . . I want to tell you how sincerely grateful I am to you and to all the teamsters who helped us out."

Rhee Warns World About Commie Phrase

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — President Syngman Rhee warned the free world today against "the Communist phrase 'relaxation of tension' because the Communists themselves never practice it."

Rhee spoke to a huge crowd massed in the Seoul Stadium to celebrate the 37th anniversary of the "Declaration of Independence" signed by a group of Korean patriots in 1919. The Japanese crushed the movement.

Billboards, Coffee Breaks, Naps Eliminate 'Highway Hypnosis' Threat

CHICAGO (INS)—Billboards and drive-in restaurants along the highway may be a truck driver's best friend.

* * *

An expert at putting people to sleep asserts that such "distractions" help keep a driver awake.

Hypnotist Edwin L. Baron expressed this opinion today because the question has been put to him almost as often as queries on how to quit smoking or lose fat.

Baron is director of the Hypnotism Institute of Chicago. He has made a career of teaching people how hypnotism works and performing the craft for classes, theaters and club groups.

And invariably each time he appears before a motor or truckers group, someone asks:

"What about highway hypnosis? Do these accidents happen because the driver is hypnotized by the monotony of the straight concrete slab, the drone of the engine and the hum of the tires?"

Baron replies:

"I'm a hypnotist, not a safety expert. So, what I say is unofficial.

NO HIGHWAY HYPNOSIS

"But I do want to emphasize that I don't believe in the so-called highway hypnotism.' When a driver falls asleep at the wheel, I believe it's the result of pure, normal fatigue."

If hypnotism is involved, Baron added, "it's caused by talk—by implanting the suggestion in the driver's mind—that the monotony of driving can hypnotize him.

"If driving, itself, produces hypnosis, the driver who pulls off the road for a half-hour nap would start dozing again after he resumed his trip. But he doesn't. The nap refreshes him. Fatigue, not hypnosis is relieved by rest."

Naps and coffee breaks — frequent stops—form Baron's idea of a solution to dozing-driver accidents. And he feels monotony is relieved by routes where billboards, curves and restaurants break up the sameness of scenery.

Baron was interviewed in his loop office where nearly 100 persons come each week for help in losing weight. Another 15 want to stop smoking.

SENT BY PHYSICIANS

Many of both groups were sent by family physicians, Baron said, because their only trouble is a need to curb appetites.

He said:

"For those with weight problems —most of them are women—I implant in their minds a dislike for fattening foods and a satisfaction in eating smaller meals, with no between-meal snacks."

Easing a person's tension is another benefit, he said, and his instruction classes have included 200 dentists who wanted the information to use in their practice.

As a youth, Baron aspired to teach school. Through a psychology class demonstration at Loyola University in Chicago, he became enthralled by the subject of hypnotism. He was graduated with a bachelor of philosophy degree and proceeded to teach, while also handling social work and psychotherapy.

Hypnotism was a hobby until 1941. Then he turned professional World War II sent him to the Pacific with the Army medics attached to the 25th Infantry.

Baron relates he saved a soldier from going berserk under aerial bombardments—by hypnotism. He said:

"With each bombing, he became hysterical. He'd dive into a trench and claw at the bottom with his fingers, trying to dig in deeper. I was able to calm him and implant the suggestion in his mind that he no longer would be afraid. After that, he seemed a new man."

A gift from New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman, it bears the Pope's coat of arms and symbols of the Four Evangelists. Three rows of applied crystal on the stem of the glass represent the three crowns in the papal tiara which symbolize the temporal, spiritual and purgatorial authority of the Pope.

Texan Pair, 89, Seek Title as Oldest Twins

PARIS, Tex. (AP)—If there is an older set of twins living in the United States, two spry 89-year-old sisters—Mrs. Ellen Whitten and Mrs. Ellen Buchanan—want to know about it.

* * *

Born Dec. 3, 1866, they believe they have the Texas championship wrapped up but would like to know how they stand nationally.

* * *

The twins don't think there's anything unusual about still being able to wash dishes and do other household chores. After all, they point out, their mother lived to be 101.

Marks 101st Birthday for the Second Time

TULARE, Calif. (AP)—Fred Wells, a native of Grass Valley, is celebrating his second 101st birthday today. He always thought he was born March 1, 1853, and until he found out differently, he was planing to observe his 103rd birthday.

But baptismal records in Grass Valley revealed recently he was born March 1, 1855. So now he's going to be 101 all over again.

Two years don't make much difference to Wells, who says:

"The first 100 are the hardest."

MODERN "COVERED BRIDGE" — This model shows a device similar to the covered bridge of old. It's designed to speed loading and unloading of cargo planes. The hooded ramp can be moved up, down, sideways or in and out. It eliminates the need for hoist trucks and double handling of cargo by bridging the gap between aircraft floors and loading piers of varying heights. Self-propelled, the device is 64 feet long, but it has a telescoping extension which enables it to stretch to 84 feet. Supported on hoists and mounted on movable dollies at either end, it is powered by an electro-hydraulic system.

UM Prof Sees Easier Driving

Electronic Computer System Predicted as Guide During Travel

ANN ARBOR (AP)—In this increasingly mechanized world, how much can they take the human element out of driving?

* * *

Harry H. Goode, professor of electrical engineering at the University of Michigan, doubts if they should or can realistically go too far. But there are some ways to make driving easier for humans.

Within the next 30 to 40 years, Goode thinks, there is a good chance of having some sort of system which tells drivers about traffic conditions ahead, but out of sight. It's still in the "dream" phase, however.

A dashboard may flash the driver a small television screen on the a picture of the traffic ahead—or maybe a small speaker would advise a shift to Route A, instead of Route C.

In crowded metropolitan areas like New York or even Detroit, this would get drivers out of town on the quickest and least-used route.

* * *

Each area of perhaps 20 blocks square would be serviced by a road reporting station. Each city would be a separate control area with its streets, traffic lights and cars, guided by electronic computers.

FIRST STAGES READY

The computers would know at an instant the capacity of a street and the flow of traffic.

The first stages are ready now, Goode thinks. The university has planned a traffic control experiment in three parts to at least begin the work. But the work is stymied for lack of money.

In essence the computers would make use of techniques developed in work for the army on battlefield problems.

* * *

The work consists of developing a library of mathematical procedures. These procedures can then reproduce given situations on a computer. Add to these the facts of a problem, and some answer would be forthcoming.

Goode says electronic computing might help traffic engineers understand their systems now, predict impending situations and finally allow them to force problems on synthetic situations to reach an answer.

* * *

So far as having electronics run the cars, too, Goode doubts it. Individually people are not statistical, he says, but as a group, "people will be statistical because there are so many of them."

Besides, Goode says, "I like a mechanized world, but I don't want to give up freedom for it . . . I think it will be quite a while before they design the human being out of the system."

There are about 1,200 species and sub-species of birds in the U.S.

Acquitted in Accident

COLDWATER (AP)—Frank C. Upton, 56, Coldwater auto salesman, was acquitted by a circuit court jury Wednesday of a negligent homicide charge in a traffic accidents last Oct. 24 which claimed two lives. Upton's car collided with one driven by Mrs. Helen M. Milliman, 58, of Quincy on U.S. 27 near here. Mrs. Milliman and Upton's wife, Doris, 58, were killed.

Train Cars Derail

Luxembourg's Festivals See Thousands Take Part

LUXEMBOURG CITY—Nestled amidst the borders of Belgium, France and Germany, Luxembourg, smaller than Rhode Island, dominated half the Continent 500 years ago.

Today, all that remains of the powerful realm that was the House of Luxembourg is the Grand Duchy, comprising 999 square miles, a tiny land that lives amid the castles, moats and relics of bygone glory.

Spring is the festival season in Luxembourg. The biggest celebration is the Procession of the Octave, which takes place five Sundays after Easter and date from 1677, when the Virgin Mary was proclaimed protector of the country. Some 10,000 paraders march through flower-decked streets to the Cathedral carrying statues of the Virgin.

Here, the tolling of a seven-ton bell, presented to Echternach by the Emperor Maximilian begins a ritual in honor of St. Willibrod, patron of the town. Music dating from the Middle Ages is played, and the participants dance through the streets—three steps froward and two steps backward until they reach the 900-year old Basilica of Saints Peter and Paul.

THE WINE FAIRS

Both Easter and early fall is the time for wine fairs. Vineyards throughout the land offer free samples.

Luxembourg City, the best base for sightseeing, is a majestic medieval fortress which has evolved into a modern metropolis. Everywhere are turrets, walls and towers reminiscent of those days long ago when knighthood was in flower. Perched on huge rocks, the city towers above the crooked alleys and thatch-roofed cottages in the suburbs.

In her glory, Luxembourg was composed of 53 forts, all linked together by some 16 miles of tunnel hewed from the solid rock of the citidel. So invincible was the city as a fortress that it was called the Gibraltar of the North.

U. S. CEMETERY

The United States Military Cemetery, three miles from Luxembourg City, stirs memories for Americans. Thousands of soldiers including General George S. Patton Jr., lie buried in the spacious fields surrounded by pine woods.

A favorite excursion from Luxembourg City leads south into the rugged hill country of the Ardennes. All along the way are white-washed farm houses, quaint old churches and musty castles atop sharp crags.

In the heart of the Ardennes at Vianden is the 9th Century ancestral home of Luxembourg's Grand Duchess Charlotte and Duchess Charlotte and Queen Juliana of the Netherlands. A few miles away is Clervaux Castle, whose war-damaged towers are being restored.

Injuries Prove Fatal

COLDWATER (AP)—Injuries suffered in a traffic accident Monday proved fatal to Mrs. Mary H. Wiehe, 66, of Detroit, who died Wednesday in Branch County Medical Center. She was riding in a car which left U.S.27 near the Michigan - Indiana border and smashed into a tree. Her husband, Fred, the driver, escaped injury.

Home owners in the United States have increased 71 per cent in number since 1940, and from 1940 to 1950 the number of renter-occupied units increased by only 5 per cent.

Russell, Freeman Top All-America List

NEW YORK (AP)—Dominated by big Bill Russell and little Robin Freeman, five seniors from San Francisco, Ohio State, Duquesne, Furman and Holy Cross were named today to the 956 Associated Press Collegiate All-America basketball team.

Selected with Russell and Freeman by a vote of 329 sportswriters and broadcasters were Sihugo (si) Green of Duquesne, Darrell Floyd of Furman and Tom Hensohn of Holly Cross. Russell, Freeman and Floyd are repeaters from the 1955 All-America while Green moves up from the 1955 second team and Heinsohn from the 1955 third team.

The 6:10 Russell, who awed fans all over the country during the Dons' early season cross-country trek en route to their string of 49 straight victories, received 308 first team votes and seven 2nd team marks for a total of 1,554 points. Five points were given for a first team vote, two for the second team. Freeman, only 5:11 but one of the nation's best shooters, polled 233 firsts and 46 seconds for 1,257 points.

Green was third in the voting with 861 points on 153 firsts and 48 seconds followed by Floyd with 813 on 125-94 and Heinsohn with 624 on 98-82.

Ronnie Shavlik, North Carolina State star who fractured his wrist last Saturday; K. C. Jones, Russell's teammate at San Francisco; Rod (Hot Rd) Hundley of West Virginia; Len Rosenbluth of North Carolina and 7 ft. Bill Uhl of Dayton were picked as a second team.

George Washington's 6:6 star, Joe Holup; Julius McCoy of Michigan State; little 5:09 Bill Ridley of Illinois; Bob Burrow of Kentucky and Willie Naulls of UCLA make up a third team.

Charley Tyra of Louisville; Paul Judson of Illinois; Hal Lear of Temple; Morris Taft of UCLA and Vic Molodet of North Carolina State head an honorable mention list of 21. The 15 on the first three teams will receive certificates from the Associated Press.

The feats of Russell, known as The Stuffer, are so well - known they hardly need any repeating. Virtually unknown a year ago he leaped into the limelight with his uncanny ability on the court to lead the Dons to the NCAA championship and their victory string of 48 straight. This year he has done even better.

Repeat selections of Freeman and Floyd, who have battled for the major college individual scoring lead all season, vindicates those who voted for them in 1955.

ALL-AMERICA CAGERS — Here are the members of the Associated Press 1955-56 All-America basketball team, as selected by AP sportswriters, and broadcasters. THE POWERHOUSE

By Jimmy Powers

Observation Car: Certain ball park telecasters this season will return to the practice of installing a microphone in the grass near home plate. With the proper warning to athletes this will pick up ordinary discussions between players and umpires. A censoring button will shut off red-hot explosions of temper although the average fan sitting in the front rows of boxes can hear almost every word . . . I'd like to listen in on Tommy Byrne when he operates. Tommy enjoys teasing the hitters. He tells them whether a curve or fast ball is coming. Yogi Berra laughs about it . . . "To tell you the truth, Jimmy, Tommy keeps me on edge just as much as he does the hitters. I don't know when he's kidding or when he's serious. He doesn't do it all the time. Just when the whim hits him, but that's upsetting enough."

The catcher who annoys hitters most is the Cubs' Clyde McCullough. Clyde keeps up a constant chatter around the plate talking to the hitter, the pitcher, the umpire and even to himself . . . Birdie Tebbets says the outfield experiment on Ray Jablonski is ended. "He plays only at third and I'm willing to bet he'll drive in over 100 runs hitting behind Kluszewski, Bell and Post." PCL pilot Bob Elliot helped Jablonski a great deal with his fielding weaknesses last year . . . Warren Spahn has fanned over 100 batters in nine consecutive seasons!

MILWAUKEE IS HOT BASEBALL TOWN

Did you know that in the three years they have been represented in the majors, Milwaukee has averaged more than 28,000 fans for each contest! What a phenomenal baseball town it is!

Toughest hitter for Giant chuckers to stop at the Polo Grounds is Hank Aaron. The brilliant Brave belted .398 last year including five homers . . . If Jackie Robinson is sincere about quitting if he can't win the third base job, he might as well save himself the trip to Florida. Fresco Thompson told me: "Jimmy, we didn't go to the trouble of getting Randy Jackson from the Cubs to put him on the bench."

Asked if the Cards intended to trade Stan Musial if the right offer came around, Frank Lane blasted: "Before I'd trade Musial I'd trade myself!" Frantic Frankie surprised many St. Louis writers by disclosing the Cards looked upon Milwaukee and not Brooklyn as the team to beat. "The Dodgers have a good club but their key players are in the danger thirties. Milwaukee, on the other hand, is loaded with great talent on its farm club and definitely should get better . . . Fresco Thompson advises any high school youngster who can hit the ball to learn how to catch. "It's the quickest way for anyone to reach the majors. Good hitting catchers just aren't around in the minors."

City Tourney Opens

The Independents and Trojans in Class C and Oliver Buick and Boys Club in Class D were 1st-round winners of the city league basketball playoffs that started Wednesday night at Jefferson and Lincoln Junior High Schools.

In Class C at Jefferson, the Independents nipped Griff's Grill in a 49-48 thriller. The winners were forced to fight off a last quarter rally by Griff's to gain the decision.

Three Grill cagers scored in double figures—John Bridgewater making 13, Chuck Franklin 12, and Larry Spencer 10. But the Independents had better balance, paced by Merl Taulbee and Dick Dewling with 15 and 10 points respectively.

Mel Karrigan poured in 24 points to spark the Trojans to a one-sided 70-48 victory over Louie's Tavern. Steve Kebler tallied 15 for Louie's.

Oliver Buick turned in one of the finest Class D performances of the year while downing the Police Association, 56-45, at Lincoln. Perry Williams headed Oliver's attack with 22 points. The Policemen were unable to place a shooter in two figures.

Boys Club outscrapped a taller Meteors quintet for a 49-39 win. Andy Ramsey bucketed 16 points for the winners while Dick Singleton scored 19 for the Meteors.

The double-elimination tournament continues tonight. In Class D at Eastern's gym, the Meteors battle the Police Association at 7 o'clock and Oliver Buick clashes with Boys Club at 8:30. The 'C' playoff resumes Saturday night at Jefferson.

Independents	12	10	13	14	49

Bibb Falk, 57, an outfielder for 12 seasons in the American League with Cleveland and Chicago, is coaching the University of Texas baseball team. He led the Longhorns to NCAA titles in 1949 and 1950.

OSU's Freeman Climbs Fast in College Scoring Race

NEW YORK (AP) — Robin Freeman's chances of beating Furman's Darrell Floyd out of the major college individual basketball scoring championship are slim but the Ohio State All-American could well become third highest point maker in history.

* * *

NCAA Service Bureau statistics, released today and including games through Feb. 27, show Floyd in first place with an average of 33.5 points per game on 872 points in 26 games. Freeman has a 32.4 average with 647 markers in 20 contests.

Floyd has finished his regular season and has the possibility of playing from one to three more games in the Southern Conference tournament starting today. Freeman winds up his career against Michigan State on Saturday and Minnesota on Monday.

Freeman's 43-point barrage against Illinois last week sent his average soaring to a position where he needs only to keep it to pass Buzz Wilkinson of Virginia in the all-time rankings. Wilkinson compiled a 32.1 point average to rank behind Frank Selvy, who preceded Floyd at Furman.

Bill Von Weyhe of Rhode Island retained his free throw lead, when he made 10 of 10 last week to boost his percentage to .872. Tom Jorgensen of Michigan is second with .866.

Joe Holup of George Washington continued his supremacy in field goal accuracy (.648) and rebound recovery with .258 per cent of all the rebounds available in his team's games.

Holman Makes Easy Work of Beating Joe Rowan

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Big John Holman, a slow man in the ring but a fast climber recently in the heavyweight boxing ranks, overpowered Irish Joe Rowan of Philadelphia last night and looked forward to a bout with Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson.

* * *

"They promised to give us Jackson next," said Holman's manager, Bernie Glickman, "and if we win that one we should be in line for a shot at the championship."

* * *

Holman, the fourth-ranking contender for Rocky Marciano's crown, was an easy winner over Rowan in a nationally-televised 10-round fight in Miami's Bayfront Auditorium.

Rowan, a much faster boxer, took a slight edge in the opening round but the plodding Holman's great advantage in weight and punching power put him in command in the second and he gradually built up a wide margin in points. Holman weighed 203½, Rowan 182½.

* * *

The big Chicago Negro's brutal uppercuts put a quick end to each of Rowan's attempted flurries and at the end the young Philadelphian's face was a blotchy red and his left eye was swollen shut.

Referee Billy Regan gave Holman a 100-92 margin. Judge Mark Erwin voted it 99-92, Judge Jerry Sherrard 98-93 and The Associated Press 99-94.

Loses 2 Boxers but Holds Lead

Quarterfinals Find St. Louis Glovers in the Driver's Seat

CHICAGO (AP)—St. Louis lost two of its star fighters, twins Dan and Don Eddington, but clung to the lead for its third straight team title as the Golden Gloves Boxing Tournament swept through the quarter-finals last night.

* * *

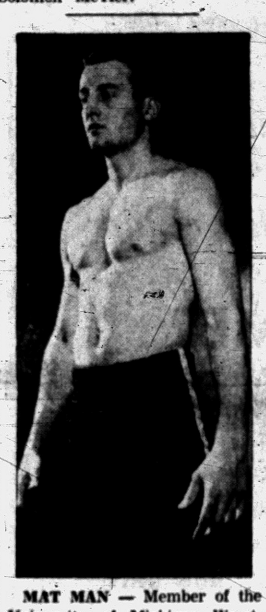

St. Louis had two battlers left for the semifinals at Chicago Stadium March 9. The finals are the same night, leading to the inter-city bouts at New York March 21.

* * *

St. Louis compiled 17 points, based on 1 point for each victory, in the first three days of the tourney. Montgomery, Ala., was second with 15; Toledo, Ohio and Nashville, Tenn., each had 11, and Sioux City, Iowa, and Louisville, Ky., each 10.

* * *

Carrying St. Louis hopes into the semifinals are lightweight Joe Shaw and welterweight Leon Brooks. But Montgomery appeared set to stake a claim for the title by advancing four fighters—Leon Banks, 112; Ed Crook, 160; Jim Boyd, 175, and heavyweight Solomon McTier.

MAT MAN — Member of the University of Michigan Wrestling squad is sophomore Cal Atwood, 177 pounder who hails from Birmingham. The Wolverines expect him to figure well in next season's plans.

Spotlight on Jim Brideweser

Turns in Fine Job, Bidding for Chico's Vacant Spot

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—The "pros" were moving into the Chicago White Sox camp today, headed by third sacker George Kell.

However, camp talk centered on the performance of shortstop Jim Brideweser yesterday in his bid for Chico Carrasquel's vacated shortstop berth.

* * *

Brideweser slammed a homer and three singles as the "Gutteridges" blanked the "Myatts" 7-0 in an intrasquad contest.

When Carrasquel was traded to the Cleveland Indians, it was suspected that touted Rookie Luis Aparicio had the inside track at shortstop with Brideweser and Carl Peterson long shot prospects.

* * *

Besides Kell, second baseman Nellie Fox, and outfielders Ron Northey and Ed White arrived yesterday with some eight other arrivals expected for today's drill. That will round out the club's 43 player roster.

Manhattan Named to NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK (INS)— Manhattan College (15-6) is the latest at-large entry in the NCAA's national collegiate basketball tournament.

The Jaspers were named yesterday to compete in the 1st round at Madison Square Garden March 12 with Yankee Conference champion Connecticut, the champions of the southern Atlantic Coast and Mid-Atlantic Conferences and at-large entries Holy Cross, Canisius and another to be named.

Indians' Sale Approved for Near 4 Million

Greenberg Among Men in New Company That Will Operate Club

CLEVELAND (AP) — Sale of the Cleveland Indians for $3,961,800 was approved last night at a meeting of the baseball club's stockholders.

* * *

Formally ratifying action club directors took Feb. 14, the stockholders voted to sell at $1,550 a share to a new company headed by William R. Daley, 63, president of Otis & Co., an investment firm; Ignatius A. O'Shaughnessy of St. Paul, president of the Globe Oil Co. and Hank Greenberg, Tribe general manager since 1950.

* * *

The name of the property will be changed from the Cleveland Baseball Co. to the Cleveland Indians Baseball Co. Involved in the sale are the American League franchise, a 19-year lease for use of Municipal Stadium, players' contracts, current assets, radio and television contracts, and stock of the Reading Pa., club in the Class A Eastern League.

* * *

The deal represents a profit of around three million dollars to holders who paid $100 a share for stock when Bill Veeck purchased the club 10 years ago.

Junior Ski Events Carded for Weekend

FRANCONIA, N.H. (AP)—The national junior ski championships get under way today on Cannon Mountain with good conditions forecast for the opening events—the slalom races on separate course for boys and girls.

Foot packers worked until dark last night smoothing the icy 900-foot descent on Cannon's Zoomer Trail. Packing was made necessary by a recent thaw.

The downhill race will be run Friday over the full mile and a half of Cannon Trail. Originally it was scheduled for the 2,000-foot descent over the upper and middle Cannon trails and the Zoomer but icy conditions caused the switch.

Cross country competition is set for Saturday.

It's Hot Stove League Time and—

You're the Manager

(Nineteenth of a Series)

The Kansas City A's enjoyed a successful season in 1955, finishing in sixth place instead of the cellar where most of the experts picked them to wind up.

Much of the credit for their good showing has been given to Lou Boudreau, the A's veteran skipper.

BOUDREAU

Here's an example of a successful bit of strategy by Boudreau which enabled Kansas City to defeat the Yankees.

What would you have done?

(R) stands for a righthanded batter or pitcher and (L) for a lefthanded batter or pitcher.

The Athletics and Yankees are tied 1-1 in the last of the seventh at Kansas City with Tom Sturdivant (R) on the mound for New York. There's one out when Hector Lopez singles and races to third on Joe Demaestri's one-bagger. Joe Astroth (R) is the next scheduled batter with pitcher Vic Raschi (R) to follow.

Would you:

a. Put in a lefty pinch-hitter for Astroth?

b. Let Astroth swing away?

c. Gamble on a double steal?

d. Order a squeeze bunt with Astroth at bat?

Result: D—Astroth bunted and popped an insurance run in the eighth and won 3-1 (July 22). The A's squeezed home Lopez. The A's added an insurance run in the eighth and won 3-1 (July 22).

Holguin Tunes Up With Record Round

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Tony Holguin has given fair warning he will be hard to beat as he tries for his third Mexican Open golf title in the annual tournament beginning today.

* *

After getting here ahead of time and practicing several days, the pro from Midlothian, Ill., shot a 9-under-par 63 yesterday on the 6400-yard Chapultepec Golf Club course where the tournament is being held. That was a new course record, one stroke better than the previous mark set by defending champion Roberto DeVicenzo in 1954.

Green Leads Win Over Flyers

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Si Green, named today to the Associated Press basketball All America, is a jumping jack-of-all trades for Duquesne, shooting, rebounding, passing and defending, but the springy-legged 6-2 kid from Brooklyn practically has made a trade-mark of cutting Dayton down to size.

A year ago in the title game of the National Invitation Tournament, it was Si who canned 33 points and paired with All America Dick Ricketts to score all of Duquesne's points in the first 27½ minutes while belting the Flyers 70-58.

With Ricketts graduated, it finally looked as if Dayton was too much for Green, beating the Dukes 68-52 last month despite Si's 30 points.

But last night Si was back at the old stand, peppering home 40 points—including the clinching basket on an easy layup with 10 seconds left—as the Dukes rallied to upset the Flyers, ranked No. 3 in the AP poll, 87-86. It was only the third defeat in 25 games for Dayton this season while upping Duquesne's so-so record to 14-9. Both again are headed for the NIT.

The upset doesn't change the NIT picture much. Dayton and Louisville still rate the favorites with the Dukes a bit too thin, perhaps, for a tough tourney grind.

* * *

Louisville wrapped up its best regular season ever with a 23-3 record last night, avenging an earlier 40-point thumping by belting NIT-bound Xavier of Ohio 83-70. Phil Rollins and Jim Morgan hit 7 of 8 jump shots in the first 10 minutes of the second half as Louisville spurted to a 68-51 lead.

St. Joseph's of Philadelphia came a step closer to gaining the Mid-Atlantic berth in the NCAA Tournament by outlasting Muhlenberg 74-63 for a 19-4 record.

Texas Tech made it to the NCAA by clinching an undisputed Border Conference championship in its final league game, 87-66 over New Mexico A&M.

* * *

Canisius, an NCAA at-large entry, defeated Syracuse 76-73 by sinking 42 of 52 from the foul line. Niagara, headed for the NIT, breezed past Siena 78-44, but Marquette, another NIT entry, was dumped by Notre Dame for the second time in nine days 87-69.

Old-Timer Says New Balls Make Majors High Scores

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The flood of smooth new baseballs now used in major league play was advanced by Sunny Jim Bottomley today as the answer to the mystery of what happened to the low-score games of yesteryear.

* * *

"Pitchers are handicapped now," said Bottomley, the great first baseman of a quarter of a century ago. "Those roughed up balls that we used—the pitchers could really make them dance a jig."

Sunny Jim isn't an advocate of the popular theory that a hopped-up baseball, given added bounce by the manufacturers, is responsible for the easy home runs and scoring splurges of recent seasons.

* * *

He also cited as factors the change over to night baseball, smaller parks, and more polite pitchers who seldom "dust off" the batters.

* * *

The former Cardinal great, who compiled a lifetime batting average of .310 with the Cards and two other clubs over a 16-year-period, is a wealthy retired farmer of Sullivan, Mo. Now 55 and gray-haired, he expounded his theory while in a St. Louis hospital for medical tests and a series of blood transfusions for unexplained anemia.

Cagey Clem Sez . . .

Well, ah'm back for another look at that crystal ball to see if mah luck is as good as it was last time. Ah picked 17 right out of 20 last Friday to bring my season's score to 125 right and 41 wrong. Not bad, if ah do say so myself.

Picked Avondale to dump Fitzgerald, and that's what happened. Pontiac kind'a made me look bad and those Lake Orion boys didn't come through for me either. But ah can't kick too much, ah guess.

This is ole Cagey's last gaze at the glass for the regular season, what with almost everybody callin' it quits after Friday night to get ready for those tournaments comin' around.

Ah'm stringin' along with the favorites this week. That Pethers boy'll help Northville out, but ah'm still choosin' Milford (a close one, though). And Pontiac looks better than those Trojans and Fitzgerald, mighty upset after that Rochester game, is lookin' mean at Clawson.

King Haran Gets Chance to Prove His Top Ranking

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—King Hairan, a good-looking Florida-bred with a big white blaze on his face, gets a chance today in the $32,800 Hialeah Juvenile Stakes to prove if he is another Needles in the making.

* * *

Fastest and most impressive 2-year-old uncovered here this winter, King Hairan meets 19 other capable juveniles in the 3-furlong straightaway feature at Hialeah Park.

* * *

King Hairan won both his starts impressively and tied a track record at :32 2-5 in his first outing. He won the Florida Breeders Stakes in his second appearance and already has earned $17,125.

* * *

The early careers of King Hairan and the Flamingo hero, Needles, are strikingly similar. Both were foaled at Dickey Stables near Ocala, both won the best-in-show award, and both were sold early—Needles to the D&H Stable for $20,000 and King Hairan to Leo Edwards and Harry B. Massey for $35,000.

The only other Florida-bred in the race is Hunter Lyon's Busy Harvest, who started five times and won his last easily under 120 pounds compared with the 112 he carries in the juvenile.

Spartan Club Honors Preps at Birmingham

In honor of outstanding area high school gridders, the Michigan State University Club of Oakland County will hold its annual football banquet tonight at the Birmingham Community House. Event begins at 7 o'clock.

The guest speaker is Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty, MSU head mentor and "coach of the year" who will bring along his entire coaching staff and several senior members of this year's Rose Rose Bowl championship team.

Master of ceremonies for the dinner will be Bob Reynolds, WJR sportscaster. Reynolds will make his 6:15 broadcast from the banquet scene.

One of the evening's highlights will be motion pictures of the 1956 Rose Bowl classic. The films, in color, will be narrated by Daugherty.

Tigers Begin Work; Two Missing

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — The Detroit Tigers opened their official baseball spring training camp today with only two men missing from the 49-man roster.

* * *

Absent were shortstop Harvey Kuenn and 1st baseman Earl Torgeson. Last-minute efforts yesterday to sign these two regulars failed and there was no immediate indication when they would agree to terms.

General manager Herold (Muddy) Ruel, who handles most of the Tiger contract negotiations, still is in Detroit. He is expected here Monday. Walter O. (Spike) Briggs said he had advised Ruel he thought the club offers to the two players were fair and that he didn't see any reason to go any higher.

Kuenn reportedly is seeking the highest salary on the club, somewhere above the figure received by 3rd baseman Ray Boone and star outfielder Al Kaline. This would put him near the $30,000 class.

Torgeson is said to be asking a bonus arrangement, similar to one in his last year's contract when the Tigers bought him from the Philadelphia Phillies.

* * *

Joining the normal 43 man roster today were six players from the Tigers' rookie camp that closed yesterday. These players still haven't "made" the team, but will be given a further look in regular drills.

For the 1st workouts manager Bucky Harris split his squad into morning and afternoon groups for closer inspection.

First 10 days of the month will be devoted mainly to loosening up exercises and batting and fielding drills.

The Tigers' 1st exhibition game will be March 10 here in Lakeland against the Washington Senators.

The six rookies chosen for a try-out with the Tiger regulars are shortstop Buddy Hicks, 2nd baseman Frank Oneto, 3rd baseman Steve Demeter, outfielders Gene Neff and Ben Downs and catcher Carl Wagner.

American Netter Wins First Round

PANAMA (AP)—Tom Brown, top-seeded player from San Francisco, won his first-round match as the Panama International Tennis championships opened last night. Brown beat Gan Koen Hie, Indonesia, 6-2, 6-2.

Top-seeded Shirley Fry, of St. Petersburg, Fla. whipped Barbara Bradley, Reno, Nev. 6-2, 6-4 in the women's singles.

Rangers Beat Bruins for Playoff Spot

NEW YORK (AP) — Coach Phil Watson looked to an "even brighter" future for his New York Rangers and a lighter one for himself today as the Blueshirts were assured of competing for the prized Stanley Cup for the first time since 1950.

* * *

"Why we'll be even be better next season and the one after that," he grinned. "It sure is good to make the playoffs. Frankly I would have settled for fourth place but now we're shooting to stay in second.

* * *

Watson, in his first year as a National Hockey League pilot, admitted he had lost 14 pounds since the season's start last October.

"None of my players can make that statement," he said. "Who knows how much more I'll lose before we get through with the playoffs?"

But he didn't have to sweat too much last night as the Rangers whipped the Boston Bruins 4-2 on second period goals by rookies Bronco Horvath and Andy Hebenton.

The triumph gave New York 67 points. The best the fifth-place Bruins can get is 66.

* * *

In the night's only other action, the Toronto Maple Leafs led by two goals by Rudy Miga, downed Montreal 4-1 to take a 4-point lead over Boston in the battle for the final Stanley Cup spot.

"I don't care who we meet in the playoffs," Watson declared. "Our first objective is to finish second (they lead third-place Detroit by 1 point). After that we'll see."

* * *

Watson magnanimously lists the "breaks" as responsible for the Rangers' success this year. They had finished either fifth or sixth every year since the 1949-50 campaign."

Stone Front wrapped up 3rd place with a 78-47 win over Booth Homes as Don Williams pumped in 19 points. Ron Hetherington notched 17 for the losers.

Spots Herd of Deer

UNION CITY (AP)—Farmer Victor Allwardt, who lives near this southern Michigan community, looked out a window Wednesdday and saw a herd of deer peacefully grazing in his cornfield. He counted 13 bucks, does and fawns. Deer, especially in such numbers, are not often seen in this part of the state.

GRAPEFRUIT League

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Steve Ridzik, figured as an early - inning reliefer by the New York Giants, may have come up with an extra something that he missed as a sidearm righthander with Philadelphia and Cincinnati in the past.

* * *

Pitching Coach Frank Shellenbach has changed Ridzik's grip on the ball and the 27-year - old veteran, who slumped to the minors last season, now has a sinker on his fast ball.

* * *

Said Manager Bill Rigney: "He's got a good curve, fast ball and slider, but I've been looking for a pitcher with a good sinker for a long time. Now, maybe I've found him"

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Charley (Chuck) Templeton, a 6-3, 210-pounder, and Ken Lehman, a 160-pound 6-footer, look more and more like the southpaw replacements the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers will call upon when Johnny Podres is called into service.

* * *

Templeton, 23, is up from St. Paul and has shown good control with his fast ball. Lehman, 22-9 with Montreal last season is 27 and has a delivery so graceful and effortless one of the Brook catchers, Charley Thompson, observed: "It looks like he didn't give a hoot."

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—The regulars took over from the hopeful rookies as spring training officially opened today in the New York Yankee camp, but Manager Casey Stengel is going to take it easy with the likes of Hank Bauer, Mickey Mantle and Irv Noren.

* * *

"You may recall," said Case, 'we went through last October's World Series with those three outfielders incapacitated. All are supposed to be in good shape again, but I don't intend to rush them. In fact I'm going to let them take it easy for a while and give some of the young boys—Lou Skizas, Whitey Herzog, Bob Martyn and Norm Siebern—plenty of work."

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

TRICKY No. 7 PIN — Experts agree the No. 7 pin spare, over in the extreme left-hand corner of the alley, should be simple to make, yet it's tricky. That was illustrated by the many times it was missed in the recent world match tournament in Chicago.

The spare is so simple that too often one gets careless in shooting at it. The angles, with hook or straight ball, are from the right of alley-center, approximately from strike-ball position. Moving too far to the left for the delivery is the common mistake that puts an error on the score-sheet. From an "inside" angle the ball shoots straight down the alley, skidding much of the way, to whiz past the right side of the pin.

In shooting the No. 7 it is important that (1) you turn toward the pin, face it, and then (2) that you follow-through smoothly with reach.

Birmingham Tankers Win 8th Straight Loop Title

Birmingham High School justified its solid backing by winning the Eastern Michigan League swimming meet Wednesday night in the Barnum pool at Birmingham.

The Maple tankers warded off the threats of three other league members to capture their 8th consecutive EML championship.

Birmingham took 1st in every event except the 200-yard medley relay to amass a total of 97 points. Hazel Park scored 59 points, Mount Clemens 41, and Ferndale 25.

* * *

If it hadn't been for an illegal turn the Maples would also have won the medley. But they were forced to settle for 2nd place with Hazel Park receiving credit for the decision.

Three individual records were established by the Maple swimmers, two by Wayne Geggie. Geggie recorded the time of 1:04.6 in the 100-yard backstroke and 1:42.3 in the 150-yard individual medley. Pete Sintz set a new mark of 25.1 in the 50-yard freestyle.

Ironically, Hazel Park's fortunate victory in the 200-medley relay also set a new record. The Viking tankers posted the time of 2:09.8.

* * *

John Hyde, Birmingham freshman, qualified for the state meet in diving by compiling 155.7 points.

Negro Tourney in Final Stage

Defending Champ Tops Field in North-South Golf Event

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Finals were scheduled today in the third annual North-South Negro Golf Tournament with defending champion Charles Sifford of Philadelphia leading the field.

* * *

Sifford had a par 70 over the 6,500-yard Miami Springs course yesterday for a 36-hole total of 143, four strokes better than Ted Rhodes of Los Angeles.

* * *

Ben Davis of Detroit had 150, followed by Herbert Dixon of Bartow, Fla., and Willie McDonald of West Palm Beach at 151. Willie Reynolds of Brunswick, Ga., had 155 and O. Z. Collins of St. Petersburg, 156.

* * *

Eural Clark of Los Angeles led amateurs at the end of 36 holes in the 54-hole tourney with 149.

* * *

Lorraine Sawyer of Philadelphia led the women's division with 183. Myrtice McIver of Dayton, Ohio, had 190; Amela Lucas of Washington had 193 and Myrtle Patterson, defending champion, was far back at 195.

Bulky Field Set for Rich Coast Derby

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—The lineup for the $100,000 added Santa Anita Derby is still a matter of guesswork, but it seems certain that a buky field of 16 to 20 3-year-olds will take a shot at the feature Saturday.

* * *

The so-called solid candidates, deemed almost certain to go in the mile and one-eighth race, are Rex Ellsworth's Terrang and Like Magic; Charles Turner's Fathers Risk; and Miss Nancy Kerr's Family Album, as well as Social Climber, Count Chic and Polly's Jet.

* * *

Definite riding assignments include Willie Shoemaker on either Terrang or Social Climber and George Taniguichi on Family Album.

Arthur Swanson Jr., bonus pitcher signed by the Pittsburgh Pirates last August, won 15 letters in high school while participating in five sports.

Finale at Pontiac High

Mikes vs. Oxford Tonight

St. Michael brings down the curtain on its regular 1955-56 basketball season tonight with the traditional finale against Oxford at the Pontiac High School gymnasium.

The annual game will serve as a tournament warmup for both schools, since they engage in district play on the PHS court next week.

Oxford, which also winds up its season with this one, has struggled through a disappointing season. Jean Harkness' Wildcats have suffered 10 setbacks while winning only two, both over neighboring Lake Orion.

St. Mike, on the other hand, has enjoyed a successful campaign, even better than pre-season forecasts indicated. Bob Mineweaser's Shamrocks boast 10 victories in 14 games and gained a tie for the Suburban Catholic League title before dropping the playoff to St. Benedict.

The Wildcats could soothe their ruffled feelings by upending the Mikes. Despite the fact that the Shamrocks' competition has come from smaller schools, they rate a slight favorite's role.

Santee's Worth Only a Card, AAU Reports

NEW YORK (AP)—The Amateur Athletic Union, in meting out a lifetime ban to miler Wes Santee, did not—as has been suggested—get rid of a goose which laid it some golden eggs.

Santee, for all his drawing power at the gate, represented exactly 50 cents a year to the AAU, no more. That's the price of a registration card.

So said Dan Ferris, AAU secretary-treasurer, today in lashing back at reports that the AAU had used the great Kansas miler to fatten its coffers and then suspended him on the matter of a couple of thousand dollars' extra expense money.

20-Game Winner!

Pierce Thinks He'll Do It During 1956

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Billy Pierce, his sore arm a thing of the past, believes this is the long-awaited year when he will achieve his ambition of becoming a 20-game winner.

* * *

The little Chicago White Sox lefthander today cited three reasons for his optimism.

* * *

1. The shoulder soreness which plagued him on and off during the past few seasons prior to last year has completely vanished.

2. The tough luck he encountered last year cannot possibly continue.

3. Manager Marty Marion's recent pronouncement that he will be given more starting assignments than in 1955.

* * *

"I'm delighted to hear that Marion intends to start me once every five days instead of once a week as he did last year," said Pierce. "I hope he sticks to it. Such a schedule would permit me to start at least eight more times. I won 15 last year under the once-a-week plan. Had Marty pitched me more often, I believe I could have won 20."

* * *

The closest Pierce came to achieving his goal was in 1953 when he captured 18 decisions. He had 17 by the end of August. The arm became sore and weary and he failed to finish five of his last six starts, completing only his final game for his 18th victory. The pain didn't leave him all of the 1954 season and he finished with a sub-par 9-10 record.

* * *

Pierce's arm came back strong as ever last year but bad luck continued to dog him in another form. He won 15 and lost 10, four of his setbacks being by 1-0 scores he also dropped two 3-2 decisions. On the brighter side, he hurled six shutouts and led the major league pitchers with a brilliant 1.97 earned run average, the lowest ERA mark in the majors since Hal Newhouser's 1.81 in 1945.

Studies Show Dead Deer Provide Food for Foxes

LANSING—Preliminary findings of predator tracking studies in northern Michigan indicate that dead deer is a major winter food for foxes.

* * *

Conservation Department game workers are conducting a fox tracking project to study the animal's living and feeding habits in the north. The current project is a companion study to similar work completed last year in southern Michigan's pheasant range.

* * *

Raymond D. Schofield, department game biologist in charge of the project, said the present study shows that foxes fed heavily on deer intestines and the remains of 21 deer carcasses, many of which were killed during last fall's hunting season.

* * *

More than 200 miles of fox trails on good tracking snow have been followed this winter by Schofield and wildlife management students at Michigan State University.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Cardinals today signed as an assistant coach Chuck Drulis, All-National Football League guard in 1948-49 and last year an assistant coach with the Philadelphia Eagles.

The game fish tarpon are sometimes found 80 to 100 miles inland from the sea in Mexico fishing waters.

Jim Swink of Texas Christian university was the nation's major college football scoring champion in the 1955 season with 125 points.

SEEING DOUBLE—Little Chuck Steinbeck, 8, mimics his grandfather, Charlie Grimm, as the Milwaukee Braves' manager shows the youngster how he gives slide sign to runner coming into third base. BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Cary Middlecoff and Ted Kroll, double winners in the winter tournament trail, today open their bids for a third victory as they tee off in the $12,500 Baton Rouge Open.

Spring Drills Now Official

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

It's "batter up" for real today as baseball's spring training season officially gets under way in 16 major league camps.

* * *

Optimism? It's rampant.

The rookies are sure to make the grade. The vets are certain to come back with a good year and if you take some predictions at face value, they're liable to have eight first-division clubs in each league this season.

* * *

Let's start with the veterans.

"Willie Jones, a nine-year man with the Philadelphia Phillies, reports he's in the best shape of his career.

* * *

"Just six pounds overweight," he gloated. "I'll be a streamlined gazelle when the season opens. Best shape you'll ever see. I'm the Phillies' third baseman. Don't forget that."

Dale Mitchell, who's been around even longer than Jones, showed up in Cleveland's camp yesterday and worked out at first base.

* * *

"Just so I stay in shape. Then where," he said.

* * *

And in the Chicago Cub's quarters in Mesa, Ariz., pitcher Russ Meyer, obtained from Brooklyn during the winter, indicated he was ready to work in one of the intrasquad games this weekend. This despite some arm trouble he developed earlier this week.

Jim Hearn, Johnny Antonelli and Hoyt Wilhelm, three veteran pitchers, were named to pitch in the New York Giants' first camp game Sunday.

* * *

Now for the rookies.

* * *

Bonus pitcher Jim Brady pitched three more hitless innings in Lakeland, Fla. and Detroit Manager Bucky Harris called him "impressive." Brady now has hurled six hitless in camp contests.

* * *

Glen Cox, a big right-hander the Kansas City A's bought from Brooklyn, figures his knuckle ball will help him make the grade in the majors. He was 11-5 for Montreal in 1955.

* * *

In Verno Beach, Fla., Bob Wilson, 28-year-old outfielder who hit .317 for Montreal, was touted as the newcomer most likely to make the Dodgers.

SW-I-I-I-SH — Skiing in Michigan's state parks is growing more popular each year. Conservation Department workers report that an increasing number of outdoor enthusiasts are busy this winter in many of the state's 58 parks and recreation areas. This scene is at Porcupine Mountains state park in the western upper peninsula.

Bird Dog Trials Reach Finale Today

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn. (AP) — The National Bird Dog Championship drew to a squeaky tight finish today with final quail hunts of the 2-week-old trial.

* * *

Bill Wade, owned by Dr. W. H. Garnier of Bastrop, La., and Wade Garnier of Amite, La., was braced with Lexington Village Mike in the first hunt. Mike is owned by Walter Wimmer of Rockville, Ind.

* * *

Paladin Sue, owned by Dr. P. T. Kilman of Malakoff, Tex., ran the second hunt. She was the 37th dog to show and had no official bracemate.

The Seattle Rainers won the 1955 baseball crown in the Pacific coast league and attracted 342,101 fans which was more than double their average attendance in the 1954 year.

On Dons' Bench!

Jones Replaced in Lineup

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — K. C. Jones draws a seat on the bench for the first time in two years tomorrow night when the national champion University of San Francisco Dons go after their 49th straight basketball triumph.

* * *

Jones, ineligible for National Collegiate Athletic Assn. (NCAA) Tournament play, will be replaced in the starting lineup against Pepperdine at Los Angeles by sophomore Gene Brown, Coach Phil Woolpert said today. The change will give fans their first look at the club Woolpert will floor at Corvallis, Ore., March 16-17 when the Dons open defense of their NCAA title.

* * *

How much will Jones' absence hurt USF's chances?

"It's hard to assess. I can't really say," Woolpert admits. "At best it's only an hypothesis, but obviously you can't lose a man of Casey's ability and not feel a loss."

Trotters Plan Russian Trip Late This Year

NILES, Mich. (AP) — Abe Saperstein plans to take his famed Harlem Globetrotters basketball team on a tour of Russia some time this year, a team spokesman reports.

* * *

Leo Leavitt, booking agent for the Negro professional basketball club, said last night that Saperstein has made arrangements through Soviet Union officials in Tokyo. All that remains now is clearance from the U.S. State Department, he said.

* * *

The Globetrotters will compete against top Russian teams.

* * *

Saperstein hopes the tour "will help bring about good will between the two countries," Leavitt said.

Leo Brown at 168 pounds, was Ohio State's lightest football end in the school's history in the 1955 season.

Space Ship Jaunts Only 5-10 Years Away

WASHINGTON (INS) — An Air Force scientist predicted today that within five or 10 years rocket space ships will be carrying travelers from coast-to-coast in 25 minutes.

* * *

A fantastic future of rocket ship travel was outlined by Dr. Hubertus Strughold, a German-born space medicine expert, in a copyrighted interview in "U.S. News & World Report."

Dr. Strughold, now assigned to the Air Force School of Aviation Medicine at Randolph Base in Texas, forecast that the rocket ship passengers will be carried through space at a speed of 10,000 miles an hour.

He said the rocket lines would be shot to a point 100 miles above the earth, then glide to their destinations.

The scientist said development of the hermetrically sealed space cabins would make such flights practical to almost any point of the world. He estimated that a flight from New York to San Francisco would require only 25 minutes.

Strughold asserted that the passengers would experience little more discomfort of unease than a person ordinarily feels when an elevator descends.

SMOOTHER FLIGHTS

He predicted such flights would be much smoother and less noisy than present-day trips in conventional aircraft. A pilot would guide the rocket ship to a landing at the end of the trips.

Here is how Strughold described the flights of the future:

"The surrounding situation is this: it is dark outside; below you, you see the reflected sunlight from the earth; in the sky you see the stars and, if you are not in the shadow of the earth, at the same time you see the sun.

"This is a very strange psychological situation, but it might be a fascinating one as well, so that the passengers would forget the dangers involved in such flights. The shortness of this flight, the time factor, also is very important. It might be that such short flights would bring no more psychological stresses than . . . a 15-hour flight across the Atlantic in present-day aircraft."

* * *

Strughold pointed out that astronomers minimize the possible chances of such craft being struck by meteors and he said that the space ships could be equipped with "meteor bumpers," shields of steel which would absorb the impact of a meteor.

The space expert also predicted that ultimately, it will be feasible to send scientists up in a satellite vehicle.

Dulles Reveals Cold War Stand

Views of GOP Toward Commies Clarified in Recent Speech

WASHINGTON (INS)—Out of the tumult and shouting of six days of the great American foreign policy debate has come the most clear-cut definition yet of what the Eisenhower administration wants to do in the cold war.

* * *

The goal is not to "defeat" Soviet Russia, either in a shooting war or by competitive coexistence.

The ultimate goal as stated by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is to induce Russia to become "a decent member of the society of nations."

As Dulles explained it, the road is risky but the alternatives are worse. In testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in a speech in Philadelphia and at his news conference, Dulles made it clear that American policy is based on two fundamentals.

The first is to make the consequences of a shooting war so ghastly that the Russians will not dare to start a fight.

The second is to make cooperation with the free world so attractive that gradually the Russians will want to get along with the rest of the human race.

REDS DECEIT THREATENING

Dulles said these two things make a third world war less likely.

He recognized, however, that "guile" is the new tactic of the Communists and that this poses new threats to the free world. But he expressed confidence that the free world will be able to withstand this form of the Communist assault in what he called the "second round" of the cold war.

One of the objectives of President Eisenhower at the summit meeting in Geneva last July was to try to convince the Russians that they have nothing to fear from the United States if they would abide by accepted international rules of conduct.

* * *

The reason that the Eisenhower administration prefers not to push for orthodox victory over Russia in competitive coexistence appears to be that it does not want to push the Soviets into a corner where they would be forced to fight.

Two Editorials on Michigan Blue Cross

Featured below are the full texts of two editorials which appeared in The DETROIT TIMES on February 26, 1956 and in The DETROIT FREE PRESS on February 27, 1956. Because they present the considered editorial judgment of two of Michigan's great newspapers, we are reprinting them in full as a public service for the information of our 3,600,000 Blue Cross members and all the people of Michigan.

From The Detroit Times, February 26

BLUE CROSS FUSS

We didn't suspect a week ago today, when we started a series of articles on Blue Cross, that the fuss over hospital prepayment would attain the intensity it has now reached.

The amount of hullabaloo, frankly, is getting out of hand.

Rep. Allison Green has a bill for the Legislature, which he fondly hopes will solve everything. It won't.

Insurance Commissioner Joseph A. Navarre has been quoted with some remarks which we suspect he will regret when he begins to realize what he has said.

A group of unions in Detroit and Flint is proposing to set up a rival "Blue Cross plan," which is entirely within their rights, even though we doubt it will look as simple to them once they have gotten into what is a very complicated problem.

Of the three—Rep. Allison, Commissioner Navarre, and the unions—we think the unions are behaving most reasonably. We differ with them only in our opinion as to whether they CAN produce what they think they can.

But of the whole lot, we think Blue Cross and its present managers are the most capable of providing what we want. We think Blue Cross is getting a vicious and needless pushing around.

In our news stories we have tried to tell what was happening without letting our opinions sway us.

First of all, a series of articles which began concurrently in another Detroit paper is, for all we know at this moment, still running. We don't have any quarrel with the facts in it.

We do believe it has placed too much emphasis on "over-utilization"—that is, the complaint that some people either stay too long in the hospital, or get in under Blue Cross when they shouldn't—when they aren't really sick.

The Times reported that. We can take you back in the files a couple of years and show we were the first newspaper to report there was some of this chiseling going on. It should be halted. We think it is being halted.

But it makes a rather sensational subject to write about—and some people talk too much about it. This "over-utilization" while it does happen, is not occurring to the extent that it makes any vast difference in premium payments.

First, because a Blue Cross study group itself was the first to dig into the matter. No attempt to hide anything. Just an effort to correct the situation, since chiseling by one subscriber is paid for by all the honest ones.

Second, Blue Cross, by subsequent and continuous inquiry, thinks that this evil is under good control, even though there is still an occasional violation.

Third, because Michigan isn't the only Blue Cross plan. The same general plan exists in all the states, each under its own laws and its own management.

If the plan here happened to be at fault, in some way, it is hardly possible that all the states would be at fault in the same way.

Somewhere in the country we would find that Blue Cross rates were markedly lower—we would find it, that is, if Michigan's Blue Cross were letting the customers get away with murder.

Somebody would have found a solution, and would be bragging about it. But no, rates are pretty comparable anywhere you go.

Therefore, we suspect this "over-utilization" has been publicized into a bigger fault than it really is. We don't think very many people get much fun out of going to, or staying in, a hospital.

Now Rep. Green thinks he could bring about lower rates, and thwart all the chiselers (such as there are—most people are honest) by a law making Blue Cross change its policy.

He would make everyone who uses Blue Cross pay the whole cost of the first day in the hospital (the most expensive day, because then you have all the tests, and usually the operation if you need one) and also pay 15 per cent of the cost after the seventh day.

Of course that would reduce the premium you pay for Blue Cross—but you'd soon find it didn't save any money. Furthermore, it would put the biggest burden on the people who are most seriously ill. Who wants that?

Rep. Green, with the best of intentions, has over-simplified the situation. Besides, he wants to make this compulsory for everybody—doesn't even want to give subscribers a choice of which way they'd rather do it.

Commissioner Navarre, for reasons which escape us, has indorsed Rep. Green's notion. We suspect some politics somewhere, because we think Navarre ought to know better.

We wonder, too, why Navarre has questioned the sincerity of the Blue Cross in offering a so-called "deductible" policy.

Blue Cross made no secret of the fact that such a policy was being offered. People could have it, at a lower price, if they wanted it. They didn't want it.

To get back to the unions, now. They'd like a policy which gives more benefits at lower cost. Who doesn't like the idea? Who doesn't want the good five-cent cigar back, or the $700 automobile, or the three-cent newspaper, for that matter? We'd like them all back.

Its prices haven't gone up any faster than factory wages. It has been so good that it now has 3,600,000 people, or half of the whole state, using Blue Cross, and liking it.

* * *

Trying to make out, all of a sudden, that something is "wrong," or that some simple little bill in the Legislature can turn time backward and make things cost less—that's nonsense.

We don't think this union group can do it, either, but we'll concede their right to try. At least they aren't trying to tell everybody else how to do it. They're undertaking to show how to do it.

From The Detroit Free Press, February, 27

Hospital Insurance Costs

TRYING TO SPOT THE REAL VILLAIN

Old melodramas had their advantages. It was easy to identify the villain. This is not so in the current uproar about hospitalization insurance. Rates have skyrocketed. Many think Blue Cross has thrust its hand too deeply into the pockets of its 3,600,000 Michigan subscribers. Investigations are being made, bills are being submitted to the legislature, and the air is blue with charges.

Much is still being learned, but we think some observations can be made now.

The public's demand in the last decade for better medical and hospital care has been great. Therefore, on top of inflation must be added the cost of this improved care. An increase in Blue Cross rates might, then, be considered automatic.

Ample proof to the contrary appears in surveys of hospital cases covered by hospitalization insurance. The studies indicate clearly that alarming abuses have cropped up. These take the form of unnecessary hospitalization, prolonged stays for convenience or comfort and excessive use of drugs and laboratory facilities.

The problem remains the same. Whom do we hiss and boo?

Is it hospitals for operating inefficiently? Is it physicians who find it convenient to group patients in hospitals for quick and lucrative rounds of call that require only an hour or so each morning? Is it patients who unnecessarily demand and get from their doctors a hospital bed and costly care? Is it Blue Cross for permitting such known abuses to continue?

Frankly, we suspect the answer to all such questions may be "Yes!"

At least one offered solution appears to be precipitous and shortsighted. A bill introduced in the Michigan Legislature suggests a deductible plan similar to auto insurance. The proposal to make subscribers pay for the first day of hospitalization and 15 per cent after seven days no doubt would cut rates. It also would greatly reduce the value of the service. It would not, we believe, strike hard enough at the abuses.

It would, however, seem logical to offer optional plans. Blue Cross has such a plan, in which the patient pays the cost of the first two days and $2 a day for the remainder of the hospital stay. The saving of but 16 per cent in premiums does not seem adequate, considering that the average stay is seven days. Blue Cross also is readying a "catastrophe" policy, but if the saving is no greater than offered under the year-old deductible plan it too probably will not be widely popular.

One additional thought stands out prominently. Physicians, through their dealings with patients and because they control both the hospitals and the Blue Cross organization, have failed, in our estimation, to take an active public stand on the abuses under the voluntary hospitalization insurance plans.

Because they are so closely involved in the abuses and because voluntary plans were their answer in a period when socialized medicine appeared around the corner, they should be available to counsel the public. The public wholeheartedly accepted the voluntary plans and should have the wise advice of doctors.

Agriculture Bill Voting to Start

Expect Senate Decision March 10 on Measure to Hike Farm Income

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Senate is under an agreement today to start voting next Thursday on its hotly disputed bill to raise farm income but it may take three days to reach final action.

Senate Agriculture Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La) told the Senate there are some 50 amendments to be voted upon. He said he is hopeful a final vote will be reached no later than March 10.

The first vote is due to come on the storm center of the bill—the provision to restore 90 per cent price supports on basic crops.

President Eisenhower said at his news conference Wednesday that he is still unalterably opposed to the increased supports and wants to retain flexible props.

'SURE TO SIGN'

But Ellender told newsmen: "I am sure the President will sign the bill even if it has 90 per cent supports. He will not risk alienating the farm vote. When a man becomes a candidate, he turns politician to the core."

Eisenhower's decision to run again sparked the farm bill debate with political quips.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC), said that Eisenhower "finally realizes it is a lot easier to run for re-election—heart attack or not—than to make a living farming."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn), said the President "found he cannot afford to retire on his Gettysburg farm while (Ezra Taft) Benson remains secretary of agriculture."

PRESSURE MOUNTS

Pressure for votes from both sides of the price support issue mounted in the wake of Benson's disclosure he has offered southern Democrats cotton inducements in return for their acceptance of flexible supports.

Humphrey said that the Senate's new lobby-influence investigating committee should determine if Benson violated the lobby law in plumbing for the flexible system in this manner.

The line-up is so close that a single senator's vote could determine the outcome.

Marlette Council Set for March Election

MARLETTE—At the meeting of the Village Council, the matter of angle parking on the side streets adjunct to Main street was discussed. No immediate action was taken.

Election officers were appointed for the March 12th election. They are; Mrs. Walter Thompson, Mrs. Mac Walker, Mrs. Howard Yockey, J. R. Davies and Rev. George Hoeflinger.

House Labor Group Assailed by Williams

LANSING (AP)—The Legislature passed an important milestone Thursday in a flurry of committee action which left hundreds of bills by the wayside.

* * *

Wednesday's session was devoted almost entirely to last minute committee meetings on bills threatened by a midnight deadline.

The death of much of Gov. William's labor legislation in the House Labor Committee touched off a political squabble which may prove a prelude to a full-scale battle in the weeks ahead.

* * *

Williams assailed the committee for killing bills to hike unemployment compensation, establish a state minimum wage, protect migrant labor and raise industrial safety standards.

* * *

He said the House labor group has worked since January and reported only one major piece of labor legislation—the bill of Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland) setting a limit on concurrent payments of state unemployment compensation and private supplemental pay.

Lapeer to Name Dairy Princess

Contest to Be March 22; Winner Goes Directly Into State Contest

The Annual Lapeer County Dairy Princess contest, will take place March 22. The princess will be named at the Dairy Banquet sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at the County Center building.

In the past six years, three state dairy queens have been named from Lapeer County. This record began in 1950 when Ola Belle Steckley, now Mrs. Bruce Middlesworth of Lansing, was named Michigan's Queen of Dairying. Her reign was followed by Jane Seelye, now Mrs. Donald Knox of North Branch. Three years then passed before Joanne Barrett of Lum was selected as Michigan's Queen of Dairying in May of 1955. Miss Barrett is now in Nurses Training at McAuley School of Nursing, St. Joseph Hospital, Pontiac.

The Princess contest is open to all girls in Lapeer County, ages 17 to 20, who have a dairy farm background.

Entry cards may be secured from any farm bureau group, home extension group, of 4-H club in the county. They also are available at the county extension office located in the basement of the post office.

The county princess will go directly into the State Contest in May as the District Contest has been eliminated this year.

Basis for the selection of the county and state princess will be as follows:

1. Appearance
2. Personality, poise and tact
3. Ability to speak before an audience and on radio
4. Dairy farm background

All entries for the Lapeer County Princess contest must be in the county extension office by Saturday, March 17.

Committee working with Jim Crosby, Assistant Agricultural agent, planning this activity is: Mrs. Ralph Grossbauer, chairman, Ed Buckner and Clare Barrett.

Student Program Big Success

Lapeer 'Government Day' to Become Annual Event

LAPEER—Lapeer County school officials have decided to make "Senior Government Day" an annual event, due to the success of a recent Government Day program in which seniors from all over the county had a part.

Purpose of the program, held at Lapeer High School, was to show students how the state and local governments function.

Legislators, heads of governing bodies and public services, civic and educational leaders were present to lead discussion in 13 different categories.

Among those present to assist the students were Sen. Frank D. Beadle, Rep. Louis C. Cramton, D. Hale Brake, state treasurer, R. A. Grettenverver, Lapeer County superintendent of schools; and Lapeer Sheriff Clark Gregory.

There was a general assembly in the morning. After lunch, students broke up into groups to take in the particular department they were most interested in. Sessions were held with discussion on such topics as recreation, judicial, legislation, law enforcement, mental health, roads, conservation, agriculture, responsibilities of a citizen, education, and welfare. The heads of these departments formed panels to discuss the particular topic and to answer questions.

Eye $1,000,000 Bond Proposal

Need New High School, Elementary Additions for Growing Area

HOLLY—A capacity attendance is expected this evening at the public meeting at the high school gymnasium, called to discuss the proposed bond issue for school building extensions in the Holly Area Schools. It is to start at eight o'clock.

The bonding election is to be held soon, and the voters will be asked to confirm an expenditure of over one million dollars. This is to cover a new high school building and other extensions, both at Holly and Davisburg, with other projects possibly being included.

Eugene Rogers, president of the board of education, will make a report on the school census growth in the area, and the need for new buildings at this time.

Information in regard to the plans for the proposed buildings will be given by Henry Haberkorn, the architect's representative. John Thomas, the board's attorney, will explain the school's present financial situation.

Questionnaires which were recently sent out to a large number of representative citizens of the area, will be explained by Lynn Parker, the board's treasurer, and participating in the discussion will be Charles Coggins, superintendent, and other members of the faculty.

The event is under the sponsorship of the various PTA units of the Holly Area Schools, whose territory is the largest in the county from a geographical standpoint. It covers over 100 square miles in five townships in the northwest part of Oakland County.

A program of music and other features by the school pupils will precede the discussion of the bond issue.

New Terramatic Drive

200% more crawler speed and maneuverability

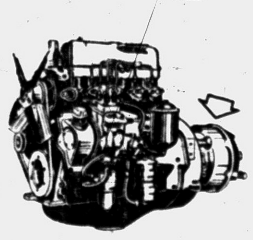

new all-hydraulic Terramatic transmission gives you automatic power-shifting in any speed or gear selection. You get 4 speeds forward, plus 4 reverse speeds up to 6.2 MPH (twice as fast in reverse as most other crawlers). You also get "magic-touch" hydraulic steering, with both power and pivot turns, for faster work-cycles under all conditions.

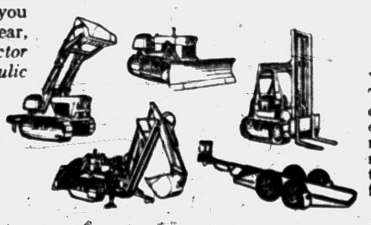

BIGGEST NEWS in the tractor world today is TerraTrac's revolutionary new all-hydraulic Terramatic drive and hydraulic torque converter, which make crawler tractor operation easier than driving a new car.

With Terramatic drive, there is no de-clutching! No shifting gears! No engine stalling! You get twice as much power, speed and maneuverability, to do twice as much work per dollar of cost. This is why the powerful new TerraTracs, with Terramatic drive, easily outperform ordinary tractors costing thousands of dollars more.

You'll find there's as big a difference between the Terramatic drive and ordinary tractor transmissions, as there is between the automatic drive on your new automobile, and the old manual "clutch-and-shift" system. Come to TRACTORAMA and see for yourself how you can make more money, more days per year, with TerraTrac — the only crawler tractor in the low-priced field with all-hydraulic Terramatic drive.

New hydraulic torque converter boosts engine output 2.17 to 1 . . . enables powerful new TerraTracs to handle much bigger jobs than ever before. Torque converter automatically balances tractor speed to load . . . eliminates all shifting, jerking, and engine stalling. It also cushions power train, so inexperienced operators can't damage your tractor.

New productivity in working tools

You'll see new direct-action Terra-Trac loaders up to 1 cu. yd. capacity, with dumping heights over 9' . . . plus full line of powerful new dozers, backhoes, fork lifts, scarifiers, winches and transport trailers . . . all designed, built and fully warranted by TerraTrac.

Come early . . . stay late!

Government Quells Rebellion in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—The first small rebellion against the government of President Juscelino Kubitschek has ended after 18 days of low-keyed activity. Shots were fired only twice during the revolt and only one death was reported.

* * *

The rebellion leader, Air Force Maj. Haroldo Veloso, was captured yesterday by government troops.

* * *

His handful of active supporters holding a small airstrip at Jacare-Acanga, deep in the Amazon jungle 1,500 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro, had surrendered a short time earlier.

The rebel forces were said to number no more than 200 men.

Hollywood Headlines:

Dale Robertson to Profit From Career Setbacks

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, March 1 (AP)—Dale Robertson, newly embarked on a free-lance acting career, could write a book titled "Mistakes I Have Made."

* * *

The drawling actor is getting his career off the ground after a sensational beginning and then a dull period. Despite a generous fan following, Robertson failed to fulfill his promise. Now he can look back on the experience and profit from what went wrong.

TOO TRUSTING

He admits that he was too frank and too trusting.

* * *

"I got some of the press mad at me," he remarked. "In October two years ago, I counted up 183 layouts that had been done on me that year. That was entirely too much. Even if you're very fond of chicken, you're going to get tired of it if I feed it to you every day.

"So I said I wasn't going to do any more publicity for the last two months of that year. But people didn't like that. The press started potshooting at me, and some of them haven't let up since."

* * *

His big mistake, he concluded, was allowing those 183 layouts to be made in the first place.

ERRED IN SIGNING

* * *

"I had a good role in 'Fighting Man of the Plains,'" he explained. "The studios started courting me, and my agents urged me to sign with Fox. I thought it would be better to play the independent field; I had offers for four pictures. But my agents argued that I needed a big studio behind me.

"So I signed. And I never did get a role as good as the one I had in 'Fighting Man of the Plains.'"

* * *

The Oklahoman did some films on the lot, then became the loan-out king. He figures the studio made around $800,000 profit on his services to other producers.

LOWEST LOAN

The low point was his loan to Howard Hughes for the gaudy, girly "Son of Sinbad."

The start of Robertson's rebellion came when the studio planned to lend him for "White Feather"—"playing fourth lead to Robert Wagner." That's when he drew the line—and his first suspension.

* * *

Thereafter he underwent a period of siege with the studio, finally getting his release last December. Since then he has made "Dakota Incident" for Republic, a Ford Theater TV show and plans to go to London next month for another film.

Red Military Attache Jailed as Spy in Iran

TEHRAN (INS) — Iran announced today the arrest of Russia's deputy military attache in Tehran and charged him with spying.

The Soviet officer, Maj. Anotoli Ivanovich Kuznetsov, was expected to be expelled from the country.

The military governor of Tehran, Gen. Bakhtiar, said that maps and photographs of Iranian air force installations had been found in Kuznetsov's possession when he was picked up last night by Iranian military security officers.

Solon Heralds Clan, but Forgets His Wife

LANSING (AP)—The Williams clan descended on Lansing yesterday to see their favorite legislator in action.

In the time-honored custom of the Legislature, Rep. Frank D. Williams (D-Detroit) rose to introduce "a few friends in the east gallery"

* * *

Whereupon he reeled off the names of eight brothers, one sister, an aunt and uncle and his mother and father.

Counting in-laws, there were 22 Williams' backers in the gallery.

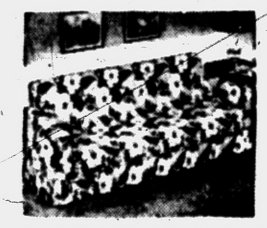

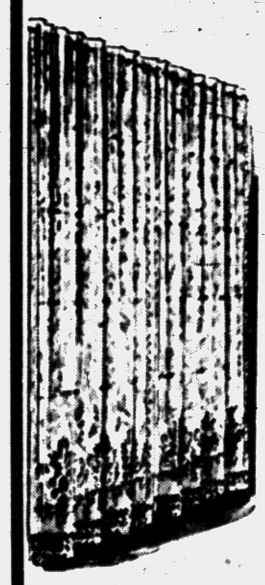

Williams sat down beaming at the applause of his colleagues, only to jump up an instant later with a red-faced apology.

"I forgot my wife—Mary," he said.

Air Toll: 7 Wrecks, 28 Lives

Military Plane Crashes Puzzle Air Force Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—A rash of military plane crashes—without any apparent pattern of cause—is giving the Air Force considerable concern.

Since early January, 28 airmen have died in seven air accidents, not including crashes of jet fighters in routine operation and training flights.

* * *

These crashes have involved some of the oldest and newest planes used by the Air Force—a C47 transport and a B52 jet bomber, for example.

Officials decline to disclose the exact number of accidents. They contend this information would be valuable to Russia.

But according to published news accounts:

A B36 bomber caught fire as it landed at Ellsworth Air Force Base, S.D., Jan. 4. The crew escaped. An F101 Voodoo, one of the "century" series of supersonic jet fighters, crashed Jan. 10 at Eglin AFB, Fla., killing the pilot.

* * *

A B52, newest, biggest and fastest of the heavy bombers, came apart in the air near Tracy, Calif., Feb. 15. Four men parachuted to safety and four died. A KC97 cargo plane crashed on takeoff near Palm Beach, Fla., Feb. 21, killing five men.

A C47 crashed into a mountain peak in Spain Feb. 24. Three died, three survived. On Feb. 27 there were two crashes—a B50 bomber near Dayton, Ohio, killing 11 men; a B47 medium jet bomber near Sedalia, Mo., killing four.

There were close calls, also, like the C124 which limped to Iceland with engine trouble.

Because there seems to be no immediately discernible pattern in this upsurge of accidents, officials are hesitant about pointing to possible causes. They mention many things that happen in civilian as well as military flying—things like pilot deficiencies. They talk about "unairworthy" airports and navigational aids.

* * *

They mention too a growing shortage of experienced maintenance personnel. Air Force mechanics find better paying jobs in industry.

And these officials wonder if there shouldn't be more money available to buy fuel to allow more flying time for pilots.

No two punches used by railway conductors are exactly alike in pattern or design of the perforation. Each is registered in the name of the conductor who currently uses it.

Market Moves Quietly Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market spent all of its enthusiasm for Eisenhower yesterday, and today it was quietly higher in the early afternoon.

* * *

Today's market made up about as much ground as it lost yesterday with trading hitting a pace around 2,000,000 shares for the day. That compares with 3,900,000 shares traded yesterday in a five-month high volume.

* * *

Prices today were up around a point at the best. Losses usually were fractional.

The burden of the advance was carried by the steels, motors, coppers, oils and many individual issues. The railroads were depressed slightly and a few other areas were mixed.

* * *

Among advancing stocks were Texas Co., Johns-Manville, F. L. Jacobs, General Electric, DuPont, Union Carbide, Reynolds Metals, American Telephone, Zenith Radio, Boeing, Sears Roebuck, Chrysler and Bethlehem Steel.

Going down were Illinois Central, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, International Paper, General Motors and Mohasco.

* * *

Ford Motor over the counter was slightly lower and quiet at 61⅝ bid and 67⅞ offered.

At noon the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was up 40 cents at $179.50. It was down 50 cents yesterday.

February Auto Sales May Top '55 Mark

DETROIT (INS) — Automotive News, the industry trade paper, said in its current issue that new car sales in the month of February may have set a record.

The paper said sales should total more than 505,000 as compared with the record 476,584 units sold a year ago.

Automotive News said the all-out sales push is aimed at reducing stocks with profit a "secondary goal." It pointed out factories are giving their dealers a hand "for the first time in a long time" by complete shutdowns and cubacks in assembly.

The paper said production well below last month and about a third as high as it was a year ago.

Grain Prices Swing About

CHICAGO (AP)—In another erratic market with rapid price swings soybeans and old crop wheat futures held firm on the Board of Trade today.

* * *

The market opened mixed. New crop wheat futures, as well as March corn and March oats, retreated under quite heavy selling pressure. Shortly after the start, a good buying movement sent contracts of all grains higher.

This upturn could not be held. New crop wheat fell back under the previous close. Feed grains also quickly retreated. But soybeans held onto a good part of their early gains while old crop wheat futures managed to stay above the previous close.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ⅝ lower to ½ higher, March $2.19⅝; corn ½ lower to ½ higher, March $1.27¼; oats unchanged to ¼ lower, March 59½; rye ⅛ to 1 cent lower, March $1.29; soybeans ¼ to 2 cents higher, March $2.55¾, and lard 5 to 7 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $11.85.

Fishermen Ram Gigantic Sharks

British Columbia Boat Spears 50 With 5-Foot Saw-Tooth Pole

WASHINGTON — The long seagoing arm of Canada's Fisheries Department has struck vigorously at the enormous basking sharks that smash the gear of salmon fishermen off the British Columbia coast.

* * *

A five-foot steel ram with pointed edge and saw-tooth top, joined in the spearhead fashion to the fisheries protection vessel COMOX POST, bagged about 50 of the monsters in one month's campaign, the National Geographic Society says.

The ram is considered an improvement ovre other basking-shark extermination methods. When harpooned, the shark often descends to sea bottom and rolls about to dislodge the weapon, sometimes with success. The ram also favored over rifle fire, a dangerous and frequently ineffective means of ridding waters of the increasing shark depredations.

The basking shark's range includes the area from British Columbia to southern California. It takes its whimsical name from a habit of drifting slowly along the sea surface as if basking in the sun. One of the sea's largest fishes, it sometimes measures 30 feet or more long. One weighed 8,600 pounds. Its liver was 60 per cent oil and weighed 2,100 pounds.

* * *

Basking-shark oil has medicinal value. Other parts of the fish are used to make fertilizer and chicken feed.

The enormous size of the fish, however, makes landing it always difficult and sometimes dangerous. A blow from the massive tail can stave in a small boat. Fishermen have found whaling craft uneconomical in hunting the baskers.

Earnings

CLEVELAND (INS)—Standard Oil Co of Ohio reported today record sales in 1955 of $329,705,635, 12 per cent above the previous year. Net income increased to $23,068,462, equal to $5.53 per common share, compared with $18,527,045, or $4.41 per share, in 1954. President C. T. Foster told stockholders the firm looks forward to 1956 "with considerable optimism." He predicted demand will continue to expand and prices should remain reasonably firm.

NEW YORK (INS)—Record net income of $52,127,975, equal to $3.72 per share today was reported for 1955 by Allied Chemical & Dye Corp. in its annual report to stockholders. The income was 21 per cent ahead of 1954. Sales increased 18 per cent to $628,514,087. The company announced its plans to spend between $70 and $80 million for new plants and equipment in 1956.

NEW YORK (INS)—American Tobacco Co. today reported record net income of $51,661,990, or $7.45 a share, in 1955, compared with $43,051,087, or $6.12 a share, the previous year. Sales expanded to $1,090,844,818 from $1,068,579,299 in 1954.

Competition Keen on Drawing Boards

Autos of Future Set Hot Design Pace

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—There is a great deal of competition in the engineering and styling departments of the nation's automakers these days. The experts are striving to be first with several new features.

* * *

Right now, for example, there is competition to see which make of car will be first to offer exhaust reduction devices and which will be first with access panels in the car tops.

The exhaust reduction units have not yet been demonstrated, but at least two manufacturers hope to have them ready for 1957 model presentation.

Cars with doors opening well into the top or with sliding panels to furnish more headroom for the driver or passenger entering and leaving the car have been shown at most of the auto shows this year.

* * *

Cars with the access panel feature generally have been called "dream" models. But spokesmen for the companies showing these models say this is just coincidental; that the panels are coming and that the general styling of the vehicles so far displayed discloses the trend for 1957.

Probably it safely may be said there is competition also with respect to the fuel injection systems designed to replace conventional carburetors. The systems that spray fuel directly into the combustion chambers have been under test for several years. Their introduction, also on an extra-cost basis, now is being generally described as "imminent."

That means that a couple of makers, probably in the higher price field, may offer them in their 1957 lines.

It takes several model years for major engineering advances to be brought to the market. Aside from the factor of production costs, every such advance undergoes almost ceaseless tests on proving grounds and on the highways.

The engineers explain it very simply: "We can't afford to make a mistake with a major engineering change; it could ruin a car manufacturer." They admit a lot of proposed changes are discarded each year.

Probably a good example of the engineering device that requires years of study and change before it reaches the car buyer is the gas turbine engine. The engineers know how to make a successful gas turbine; they have installed it in test cars and have driven the cars satisfactorily on the public highways and city streets.

But they haven't yet determined how to produce it economically. They need cheaper metals with capacity to stand terrific heat. However, few industry analysts doubt the gas turbine engine some day will be presented as a stock car power plant.

And, if the "dream" cars mean anything, cars of the near future will have even more glass areas than the present day models. Windshields and rear windows have been wrapped around about as far as they can go, but the trend appears to be to extend the glass farther into the top of the car.

Tamed Sunflowers Yield More Says Group

DALLAS — The Texas Research Foundation reports development of tame sunflowers that it says may supplement supplies of vegetable oil and livestock feed.

The foundation says a new variety increased production of seeds to 1,000 pounds an acre in experimental plantings compared with yields of 100 pounds an acre from wild sunflowers.

The foundation says the new sunflower permits harvesting by machine because it grows less than five feet tall.

Germans Train Happy

BONN—More people are traveling, and traveling farther, by train in Germany these days. During the first seven months of 1955 some 721,000,000 passengers rode German trains, an increase of 9.2 per cent over the corresponding 1954 period, and they traveled more than 12 billion miles, a gain of 8.2 per cent in passenger miles over the same months in 1954.

Argentina has become one of the world's chief exporters of grain, mostly corn, but still produces much less than the annual U.S. crop.

Business Notes

Richard Mineweaser, of 684 Bird St., Birmingham, has been cited in a recently-published equitable Life Assurance Society booklet as being among the firm's top 50 agents in its home ownership plan of financing.

Mineweaser, whose offices are located in the Pontiac State Bank Bldg., is credited by the company with having obtained $537,560 in accounts during 1955.

J. F. Wolfram, Oldsmobile general manager and GM vice president, recently was cited by the Grand Valley Chapter of the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers for "outstanding contributions" to the profession.

The GM executive was awarded a mahogany plaque in Lansing. The award was the first of its kind ever made by the society.

V-8 Captures Fourth of GMC Truck Sales

Nearly one out of every four GMC gasoline trucks sold in the U.S. during the past year was a V-8, according to R. C. Woodhouse, general truck sales manager. The models constituted 24.4 per cent of the market, he said.

Woodhouse pointed out that the popularity of the V-8s has resulted in more, rather than fewer, sales of trucks powered by 6-cylinder gasoline engines. The V-8 was introduced in March of 1955.

Most of the deliveries, Woodhouse said, have been in the quarter-ton to ton weight class, comprising mainly pickup trucks. During the 12-month period, nearly 32 per cent of GMC's total domestic deliveries have been in the latter class.

Places Order for Cars

An order for 100 covered-hopper cars has been placed by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, according to General Manager Francis A. Gaffney. The 70-ton cars are to be built by the Pullman Standard Car Manufacturing Co. at a cost of about $1 million.

Surinam Joins World Family

Bauxite Is Main Wealth of New Member of U.N. From South America

WASHINGTON — In Surinam, newest self-governing American state by United Nations decision, contrasting cultures mingle in tropical settings.

* * *

Once an English colony, and later Dutch, Surinam has enjoyed internal self-government for some five years, along with the Netherlands Antilles — Curacao, Aruba, Bonaire, St. Eustatius, Saba and St. Martin. The Nethelands retains control of defense and foreign affairs.

In this hot, moist and once-remote country, traded by England to the Netherlands for Nieuw Amsterdam (New York) in the 1667 Treaty of Brenda, earl Dutch colonists established plantations along the coast. They soon realized, however, that only laborers bred to the tropics could withstand work in the humid climate. Finding Indians unsuited to plantation work, colonists imported Africans in large numbers. Later, free laborers were attracted from India and Java. Smaller groups of Chinese came to Surinam as merchants and shopkeepers.

But Surinam's real wealth is bauxite, the basic ore of aluminum. Surinam holds some of the richest deposits in the world. Its proven reserves that can be economically mined and shipped total some 50,000,000 tons. Deposits lie close to navigable rivers, enabling loading onto seagoing vessels at or near the mines. The United States has drawn heavily on Surinam bauxite.

* * *

Surinam boasts the "most valuable road in the world," connecting the capital with a 30-mile-distant airport. Built by the United States in World War II as a part of the Allied supply line, the road has a mahogany log base and a surface of aluminum ore.

An estimated 75,000 of Surinam's 214,000 people live in Paramaribo, the capital, situated on the broad Suriname River. Neat wooden houses and orange trees frame many of the streets. The health standards are high, and the literacy rate is about 70 per cent, due primarily to compulsory education for children between the ages of seven and twelve. The urge for learning is nothing new in Surinam: the compulsory education law took effect in 1876.

'Folly' Mansion Lures Tourists on Jamaica

One of the more unusual tourist haunts in Jamaica is "Folly," the ruins of a mansion built by an American millionaire at the turn of the century.

The wealthy builder imported quantities of tiles and stone blocks from as far as Italy to make the house the most luxurious in the Caribbean.

However, he made the mistake of mixing the concrete with sea sand and the salt from the sea water soon corroded the metal sections and the building disintegrated. The unlucky owner died a year after the mansion was finished and now the roofless, floorless, windowless, ruins are a prime picnic grounds for latter-day Americans.

Turkish Mystery Ring Insured Wife Loyalty

One of the most popular souvenirs of a trip to Turkey, is a silver ring that separates into four pieces when removed from the finger.

An old legend has it that an Eastern potentate would place the ring on the finger of his wife when leaving on a trip but never told her how to put it together. Thus the husband eliminated any ideas the wife might have of removing the ring for greater freedom during his absence.

Jackie Gleason to Stay 'on Film' Next Season

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Cocky Jackie Gleason'll stay "on film" next year with the same half-hour "Honeymooners" format . . . ignoring appeals that he "go live" for a whole hour in his Battle of Saturday Night with Perry Como.

★ ★ ★ ★

Apologizing for not finding "something nasty to say in a lovable way" about Jackie at the City of Hope testimonial dinner, Robert Q. Lewis said, "The worst I can say about him is that he is too fat."

JANE

"He brought us so many wonderful things in music — such as Elvous Presley," said Steve Allen, referring to the sensational young side-burned "country singer" from Tennessee. Art Linkletter claimed the Transport Workers Union voted him "the bus driver most likely to run over Perry Como." Jane Russell dropped in to say, "I heard you'd run out of jokes about Jayne Mansfield." Toastmaster George Jessel, looking around the Waldorf Grand Ballroom, said, "If these old walls could speak—what an accent they'd have."

Gleason himself was tersely eloquent. "After hearing all these nice things, all I have to say," he said, "is, believe me, 'Life Begins at 40'."

★ ★ ★ ★

Franchot Tone's studying singing—hoping he can handle the lead singing role in "Shangri-La," the Sheilah Bond-Harold Lang show based on "Lost Horizons" . . . Frances Faye, always candid, breaks them up at the Cameo by stroking her short red coiffure and saying, "When you're pretty, it doesn't matter how you wear your hair" . . . Salvador Dali's learned English so well that he now greets friends at night with a cheery "Good morning!" And he eats soup with a little spoon and grapefruit with a big spoon.

★ ★ ★ ★

Jerry Lester mentions at the Latin Quarter "a woman who has a body shaped like a tear-drop" . . . Some NY cops looking for traffic violators now ride with their police caps off in cars with N.J. plates . . . Beautiful singer Kathy Barr and Milton Schwartz of Chicago are getting it annulled . . . Danny Dayton, Dagmar's spouse, goes into "Strip for Action" with Joey Faye at Joey's suggestion. A few seasons back, Joey went on Dag's TV show "Canteen" at Danny's suggestion.

★ ★ ★ ★

Kim Novak met Favre Lebret, president of the Cannes Film Festival, to receive an invitation to the festival. "Oh, Mr. Lebret," Kim said, "I'm so disappointed in you. After I put on my hand my best and most expensive French perfume, you didn't kiss it." He apologized, saying he had been so busy here he was getting Americanized.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Menfolk are atwitter over a rumor Gina Lollobrigida's coming over soon . . . Is Humphrey Bogart due for an operation? . . . Gretchen Wyler of "Silk Stockings" goes into Le Cupidon, and Butterfly McQueen, the maid in "Gone With the Wind," opens at "Upstairs at the Duplex." . . . The Leon Schinasi's cook gave 'em corn beef-and-cabbage and crepes suzette.

GLORIA

Joan Benny's Reno wedding was delayed; bridegroom Buddy Rudolph couldn't get a plane till the pilot "bumped" another passenger . . . Marie Wilson may do a TV show with her brother-in-law, disk jockey Milton Q. Ford . . . Sugar Ray Robinson refused to ride an elevator to agent Joe Glaser's 20th floor office, signed contracts in the lobby.

Fat Jack E. Leonard, recovered from his illness, is sought again for TV guest shots . . . Showgirl Penny Davidson hit 12 straight passes for her beau at Lefty Clark's Sans Souci in Havana . . . Herb Jeffries starts a 104-week concert tour after his Le Cupidon stint.

★ ★ ★ ★

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

The whole argument can be reduced to this: If she puts it on her head, it's a hat.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "A bachelor's a guy who may not have all his buttons, but still has all his marbles."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Al Cooper met a pessimistic actor who grumbled, "Television has opened up a whole new field of unemployment."

Act of Kind Interest Gets Returned in Kind

AMSTERDAM—In gratitude for $2.60 saved from an overcharging waiter, an American couple have brought a newly married Dutch couple to the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Goetz, of Wilmington, Del., visited a night club in Amsterdam a year or so ago, it appears, and while Goetz was paying his bill Thom Maas, 24, sitting nearby with his fiancee, noticed that the waiter had overcharged them.

He intervened and the waiter returned the money. Maas and Greta Scheepbouwer, 23, now his bride, later were told by Goetz that he would pay their costs of emigration, reserve rooms for them in his large home, and find them jobs. Mrs. Goetz sent an ivory-colored satin wedding gown to Greta.

Freshmen Will Vote Even for a Phantom

BALTIMORE (AP)—Editors of The News-Letter, Johns Hopkins Univeristy student weekly, got their point across.

They contended freshmen didn't know enough about the candidates to elect a class president only five weeks after entering the univrsity. Then they backed up their argument by adding Bob Clarke to the list of candidates.

Bob Clarke, who exists only in the imagination of the editors, drew 8 per cent of the vote.

Texas Wieners Selling

DALLAS—Three months after a Dallas meat-packing company began flavoring its weiners with butter and honey its wiener sales tripled, rising to a total of 89,000 pounds a week.

Runway Anchor Slows Down Jet

Nylon Parachute Halts Thunderstreak Landing on Smaller Fields

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (INS)—Landing one of the nation's fastest jets, a pilot now can use a "runway anchor" to help him roll to a stop.

* * *

The "anchor" is a nylon parachute, housed in a tubular container under the tail of the Republic F84F Thunderstreak fighter-bomber. The pilot can release the chute after the plane has touched the ground.

The chute tugs back with a force equal to 8,000 pounds when the plane, which holds the cross-country speed record of 652 miles per hour, is rolling along the runway at 150 m.p.h.

When released by the pilot, the chute billows out to 16 feet in diameter 35 feet behind the plane. The chute's rope-like shrouds are attached to three feet of nylon belt fastened to 19 feet of two-inch braided steel "ribbon" which is hooked to the plane.

* * *

In tests, the braking aid of the chute helped the Thunderstreak roll to a stop 2,400 feet after landing, 1,000 feet less than a normal landing run without the chute. The device also aids landings on slippery runways.

Men! Here's Few Tips for Picking Future Mate

According to a recent magazine article couples who stay at home and are all bound up with house and children tend to have happier and more lasting marriages than those who want to go out as much as possible.

Marriage expert Purnell Benson of Drew University found this true in analyzing reports on hundreds of marriages. Also indicated (as a warning to single men): Girls who are mad about traveling, don't usually settle down to being well-adjusted wives.

$250,000 Awaits Grand Winner

Critic Asks if Program Won't Really Look for Most Interesting Girl

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, which eventually dabbles in all the social phenomena of our time, is going to put a foot in the beauty contest business.

* * *

The cosmetics manufacturer who sponsors The $64,000 Question is preparing a half-hour weekly program to be called The Most Beautiful Girl in the World. No network is definitely set, although there have been reports it will replace Johnny Carson on CBS Thursday nights. Three young women will compete each week on the basis of physical beauty, a quiz, and talent—meaning singing, dancing, acting and the like. Winners will be picked on the basis of phone calls to viewers.

THE MOST DOUGH

The winner of the year's final contest will receive $250,000—the most dough anybody has ever taken home from a TV contest, less the chunk the Internal Revenue Service will receive.

* * *

America's persistent, frenetic search for the most beautiful woman is a strange phenomenon. Nearly everybody just about everywhere is constantly running a beauty contest.

* * *

Any reporter who ever has covered a beauty contest knows that they're basically dull affairs. Photographers have a festive time, but a reporter has to think up things to write about the well-chaperoned girls who are out to win.

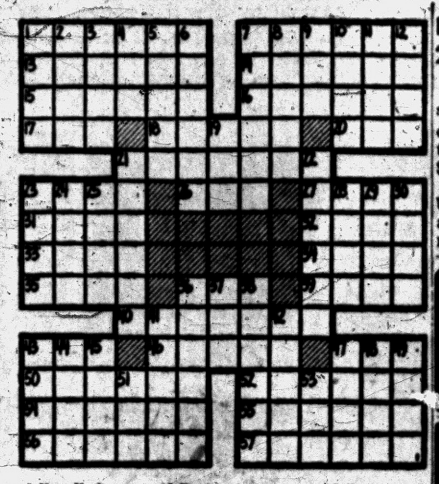

Oddly enough, there's seldom much to say about a beautiful woman—except that she's beautiful.

The title "Most Beautiful Girl in the World" is misleading. Rarely can even six people agree on which of three attractive women is most beautiful. But it's always easy to establish a clear majority on which of three is most interesting.

* * *

An interesting woman is one who holds your attention. She succeeds in this with a modicum of physical beauty, a dash of wit, a reasonable poise, and a tremendous amount of understanding rather than a fund of knowledge. The people who thought up this program don't seem to know it yet, but actually they're looking for the most interesting girl in the world rather than the most beautiful.

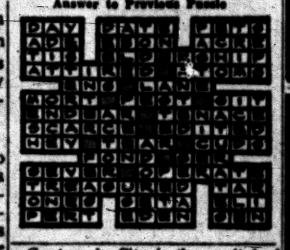

The most beautiful may not televise well, but the most interesting will shine through any communication medium.

Ike's TV Speech Costs 2 Networks $150,000

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's television-radio address to the nation last night cost two major networks an estimated $150,000 in canceled programs.

CBS-TV said dropping of the United States Steel Hour meant about a $100,000 loss. NBC estimated canceling of This Is Our Life cost it some $50,000.

The ABC-TV network delayed a prize fight for half an hour in order to carry the President's talk.

Solution to North African Woes Must Include Spain

By BRIG. GEN. FRANK L. HOWLEY, USA (Ret.)
Vice Chancellor, New York University

(World Copyright, 1956)

NEW YORK (INS)—The United States is building bases in Spain under a joint anti-Communist defense plan running into billions of dollars. Is it worth it?

To look at Spain politically you have first to look at Generalissimo Francisco Franco. For Franco and Spain are like the popular song "Love nad Marriage." If you want one you've got to have the other.

In my tour of the huge defense area that includes France, Spain and North Africa I talked with Franco. But I also talked with many other people.

Let's not fool ourselves that Franco does not represent the overwhelming majority of the Spanish people. Rich and poor are for him.

The first impression gained of Franco is that of internal calm. Nobody is going to push this fellow around or get him excited.

TOLD HITLER "NO"

I can well believe that at the time the irresistible Nazi armies were at Spain's border he sat and quietly told Hitler "no!"

Spain would not join the Germans in their war, and no, Hitler could not march through Spain to deny access to the Mediterranean to the allies.

Hitler reportedly walked up and down in front of Franco, first pleading with him and finally screaming threats at him. The answer still was a quiet "no."

My private interview with the Spanish chief of state lasted nearly two hours. I was told beforehand it might last only ten or 15 minutes.

On the North African political turmoil Franco said:

"It is difficult, but every problem can be solved. In the case of the Arabs you must remember that the Arabs are suspicious of all foreigners and non-believers. Final solutions in North Africa must be worked out through the Arabs with the joint cooperation of France and Spain.

SHOULD BACK ARABS

Franco believes that strong Arab leaders who are good should be backed and aided by both Spain and France. He never approved and was not asked in advance when the French ousted Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef—an error the French corrected last year by restoring the sultan.

Franco had interesting comments about the Moroccans and the so-called Moors for whom he has a deep respect and great knowledge.

"They are mountain men," he said, "and they are mighty good soldiers. They think city men and the men who live on the lowlands are softies."

"Why," I asked Franco, "did you want to become a member of the United Nations Organization after all the insults which were piled upon you and your government in the past by members of that organization?"

The answer was: "We are happy to be there. Admittance is a righting of past wrongs. Spain, as well as all other nations, has inter-related mutual obligations."

Spanish leaders naturally are aware of the Communist threat to the West—after the agony of their own civil war. And the memory of Reds who fought in Spain against Franco. It's a long list but it includes Yugoslavia's president, Marshal Tito, the current French Communist executive head, Jacques Duclos, and of course Wilhelm Zaisser, who helped organize the East German Red army now a part of the Warsaw Pact. Zaisser then was the notorious "Colonel Gomez."

NOT IN NATO

Yet Spain is not a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. The feeling seems to be that Madrid leaders are well satisfied with bilateral arrangements such as the one with the U. S. Such agreements escape the endless debate and charges which might result from a suggestion that Spain at this date be brought into NATO.

As I was leaving Franco after our long talk I asked him:

"What happens to Spain when something happens to you? When, for example, you may decide to spend all of your remaining years fishing (he loves deep sea fishing)? You know, we in the United States have a strong leader and when he had a heart attack the people were so scared that the value of stocks on our New York Stock Exchange fell $14 billion."

The calm man with the large, understanding eyes and pleasant smile said:

"It is all arranged by law (the monarchial succession plan) and the change will be very smooth and entirely legal.

"It was too bad about your great President, Eisenhower, but even in his case those stocks did gradually go on back up, didn't they?"

If the Germans don't have time to arm, the French get bogged down in debate and the North African bases are handicapped by sabotage, we Americans still will be able to count on Spain, its troops, the government and the bases we now are building.

(Tomorrow: Another look at Spain, our ace in the hole ally.)
