Four Who Helped on Satellite Project

AP Facsimile

Vanguard Waits for Lull in Wind

Navy Hopes to Launch Grapefruit-Size Earth Satellite Soon

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Navy waited today for a lull in midwinter winds to attempt to launch its Vanguard rocket.

With more than a bit of luck in that effort the Navy hoped — after several days of inaction due to extremely high winds — soon to launch a satellite the size and shape of a grapefruit.

The 72-foot-long, slender Vanguard cannot be launched safely if ground winds are greater than 15 m.p.h., or winds aloft exceed 125 m.p.h.

It is 2 feet taller but only two-thirds as thick and hardly a third as heavy as the Jupiter-C, with which the Army launched the Explorer satellite Friday.

Dr. John P. Hagen, director of the Navy's Project Vanguard, said in Washington that present rocket "hardware" including sections of the 72-foot Vanguard is capable of circumnavigating the moon.

Hagen referred to use of the intercontinental Atlas Missile, and the 1,500-mile Thor and Jupiter rockets, to provide a more powerful thrust in the first stage. The more advanced Army experiments are expected to involve the use of the Jupiter, which has twice the power of the entirely different Jupiter-C.

A report circulated here that Soviet scientists are working on plans to put up a satellite containing a live ape. The report came from former German scientists employed on Army satellite projects.

The scientists, who declined to learned that colleagues in Germany had received point queries from Soviet scientists.

The Russians significantly wanted information on German studies of the respiratory and other effects of acceleration upon apes.

MUSKEGON (AP) — Police believe burglars who entered the summer cottage of Mrs. Christine Ramsey came through a garage window. Included in the missing loot was the window.

Area 'Ham' Operator Tunes In on Satellite

It took about $180 worth of special and extra equipment, but Bloomfield Township "ham" radio operator Edgar A. Cantelon has tuned in on America's first satellite, the Explorer.

"I'm positive it was the Explorer signal," said the 36-year-old Detroit television station engineer. He has sent a portion of his tape recording of the signal to the Naval Research Laboratories in Washington, D. C.

When he learned of the successful launching Saturday, Cantelon, an amateur radio "ham" for 20 years, installed a $150 extra-sensitive, gold-plated amplifier tube in his converter and set out after the signal.

Cantelon agreed with most local "hams" that without this extra equipment they would be unable to receive the signal because of its great distance from this part of the country.

The radio hobbyist listened to the signal for about six minutes Saturday and for 10 on Sunday.

Continue Hunt for Kidnaper

Officers Are Combing Paducah, Ky., Area by Land and Air

PADUCAH, Ky. (INS) — Hundreds of officers relentlessly combed the Paducah area by air and land today for the kidnaper of a Missouri state trooper in a search that already has cost the life of a woman sightseer.

Still at large is Carl W. Burton, 24, of Redwood City, Calif., who with a companion, ex-convict Harold W. Davis, 33, abducted Trooper William Little in his own car Saturday night.

Davis was found Sunday night with a self-inflicted wound in the stomach and is reported in critical condition.

Bulletin

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) AFL-CIO chiefs today postponed indefinitely plans to declare an open war on the expelled Teamsters Union.

The meeting today also decided to do nothing for the time being to interfere with mutual aid pacts several key AFL-CIO unions hold with the Teamsters.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, said the question was whether to war on the Teamsters or wait in hopes reforms will develop from within the ousted union.

Meany said he personally has not much hope that Teamsters reforms will occur but that the AFL-CIO had decided to wait and see.

The council okayed plans revealed earlier to cancel charters of rival AFL and CIO groups in Michigan and to compel formation of a new AFL-CIO organization in the state. Hoffa's Teamsters will be denied membership in the new Michigan setup.

Army to Launch More 'Moons'

Pentagon OKs Request to Shoot Up 700-Pound Sphere, TV Satellite

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubilant Army rocket men, confident that their first earth satellite will stay in orbit for 10 years, moved ahead with plans today to launch a 700-pound "moon" later this year.

Officials confirmed that the Army, riding the success of its "Explorer" satellite, requested and received Pentagon permission to try to put up a third-of-a-ton sphere, and before that a 300-pound TV-equipped satellite.

LIVE IN 'MOON'

At Pasadena, Calif., evidence that man could live in a satellite is being radioed back continually to the men monitoring America's first moon.

Temperatures inside the satellite are well within the range that human beings can tolerate and so far there has been no damage from meteorites, scientists disclosed.

They said the satellite's instruments also have confirmed the long-standing belief that cosmic radiation in space usually is well within the safe exposure limits for man. Hence these rays will not be a menace to astronautics, they said.

ROOM TEMPERATURE

The men who developed the Explorer told a news conference that temperatures within the tiny man-made moon are somewhere between 50 and 86 degrees Fahrenheit, or as scientists say, "room temperature."

"We designed the satellite to maintain these temperatures," said Dr. A. R. Hibbs, "and coded messages radioed back from the Ground Hog Seems to Have the Facts

The ground hog must have been right when he predicted six more weeks of winter.

Tomorrow's outlook is partly cloudy and a little warmer, but the high will only be near 30.

Eighteen was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. At 2 p.m. the reading was 34.

Starkweather, Caril Fugate Plead Innocent

Confessed Killer of 11, Girl Friend, Charged in Nebraska Murder

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP) — Pleas of innocent were made in Lancaster County Court yesterday by 19-year-old Charles Starkweather, admitted killer of 11 persons, and Caril Fugate, his 14-year-old girl friend.

They appeared separately. Crowds that jammed hallways and the courtroom in the city's old courthouse were orderly and silent beyond excited bursts of whispering after a first look at the defendants.

Both Charles and Caril appeared without counsel to plead to identical charges of premeditated murder and murder while in the commission of robbery.

On conviction the jury sets the penalty at death in the electric chair or life imprisonment.

Jensen's car was taken after the shooting and used for a return trip to Lincoln.

Starkweather and Miss Fugate, whose stepfather, mother and 2-year-old stepsister were among the slain, are held without bond.

It was indicated the District Court will be asked to appoint attorneys for Charles' March 1 preliminary hearing and Caril's March 8 hearing. Relatives of both indicated they lacked funds to employ attorneys.

Miami Cold Sinks to 36; Tampa Is 24

Miama had an early morning low of 36 degrees — the coldest Feb. 4 since 1917. Suburban areas had frost and freezing temperatures. Tampa's 24 was the coldest temperature in that city in 53 years. It was 27 in Jacksonville and 23 in Tallahassee.

Temperatures were expected to range from 33 to 37 near Lake Okeechobee and from 28 to 33 away from the big lake.

Continued cold was forecast for tonight and the federal - state frost warning service said frost is indicated in most farming areas in the northern and central districts of the state Wednesday.

J. O. Pearce of Okeechobee, president of the Florida Cattlemen's Assn., said cattle are dying by the hundreds and that in some areas 25 per cent of the range cattle may not survive the winter.

Freezes and floods over millions of acres of grazing land caused the cattle to die, Pearce reported. Water from heavy rains has covered all except the higher pastures.

Meany Doubting Wisdom of Profit-Sharing Plans

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President George Meany has cast some cautious doubts on profit-sharing plans such as Walter Reuther has demanded from the auto industry.

Meany said he always has been suspicious of such plans when proposed by employers in the past. But he added that perhaps a big union like Reuther's United Auto Workers (UAW)) could bargain out a workable profit-sharing scheme.

Newsmen brought up the subject of profit-sharing because Reuther has made it a major demand in contract negotiations this spring with General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, the "Big Three" auto makers.

The AFL-CIO today hauled the Operating Engineers Union, recent target of the Senate Rackets Committee, before labor's own corruption court.

The AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee reviewed the Senate committee's hearings which bear on Operating Engineers' President William E. Maloney and various union locals.

Head-On Crash Kills Lake Orion Youth

A head-on crash on the Ford Expressway in Dearborn killed a Lake Orion man, Neil McClary, 19, of 499 Joslyn Rd., early this morning, according to Dearborn Police.

They said McClary was driving east on a westbound expressway at about 3:30 a.m. Also killed was the driver of the second car, James Coldiron, 29, of Dearborn, Township.

McClary was dead on arrival at Wayne County General Hospital, while Coldiron died in the same hospital at 4:45 a.m. Both drivers were alone, said police.

Doerfer Blames Office Mistake for Double Pay

Returned Expense Fund on Learning Industry, U.S. Both Paid

WASHINGTON (AP)—John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, told House investigators today he repaid two weeks ago $162.12 received in 1954 from an Oklahoma television station.

Doerfer, protesting he was "seriously maligned," said he had banked the money under the misapprehension it constituted reimbursement for airline transportation for himself and his wife to attend a ceremony staged by station KWTV, Oklahoma City.

Doerfer is the first of the seven federal communications commissioners to be called before a special House subcommittee.

That group started out to check the working methods of six government agencies and branched into allegations of personal misconduct against five FCC members.

★ ★ ★

Subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz yesterday produced documents purporting to show that Doerfer was furnished airline transportation from Washington to Oklahoma City by KWTV, but that he traveled back to Washington via Spokane, Wash., at government expense.

Schwartz told the committee that subsequently Edgar Bell, KWTV manager, sent Doerfer a check for $165.12 representing the unused portion of a round trip plane ticket for Doerfer and his wife.

Schwartz called the $165.12 a "windfall."

Doerfer said it was "no windfall" but the result of a misapprehension that it was repayment for his own out-of-pocket expenses for a plane ticket to Oklahoma City for himself and Mrs Doerfer.

Doerfer testified he had signed

Munches Away While Attorneys Ponder Question

Unaware that she is the center of a rare legal entanglement, Dusky Diana continues to munch her meal of hay and oats at her home away from home.

The 10-year-old mare is in this position because attorneys in a law suit can't come to terms as to just where the horse belongs.

So Judge George B. Hartrick has ordered Sheriff Frank W. Irons to keep her where she is until Thursday when a hearing will be held in an attempt to settle differences.

She was quartered there last week after Judge Frank L. Doty granted a rare writ of replevin to Hoyt L. Wilson, 28, of Dearborn.

Wilson claims he is the rightful owner of the horse that he purchased last year. He has sued to get Dusky back from Ben Simms, of 723 Carpenter, Northville who he charges has held the race horse illegally since July 26.

Simms, however, says he won't turn over Dusky until Wilson pays some $1,000 he owes for stabling and feeding the mare.

We'll Be Healthier and Richer by 1983

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Americans will become healthier, more numerous, and will see average family incomes soar to $15,300 a year in today's purchasing power within the next 25 years, predicts former U. S. Sen. William Benton.

★ ★ ★

Benton, president of the William Benton Foundation and former Democratic senator from Connecticut, outlined his outlook for 1983 in a prepared speech before the conference on "America's Human Resources to Meet the Scientific Challenge" at Yale University.

★ ★ ★

The Benton Foundation is co-sponsoring the two-day meeting with President Eisenhower's committee on scientists and engineers.

"With leadership and with luck; with a revitalized educational system; with a technology oriented not merely to defense but to the fulfillment of man's needs and aspirations, America can expect tremendous economic gains in a quarter-century," he said.

"We shall be richer," he said. "Average family incomes in 1983 will be $15,300 a year in dollars of today's purchasing power, 2½ times the present level."

★ ★ ★

"We shall be physically and mentally healthier," he said. "At least half the people now being killed and maimed by the three worst causes of disability-disease of heart and circulation, cancer and mental disorders—will avoid them or survive in good health the attacks that would kill or disable them today."

★ ★ ★

"We shall be more numerous," he said. "By 1983 there will be 250 million Americans."

Courtrooms No Longer Drawing Crowds

Few 'Back-Row Barristers' Left in Pontiac

By MAX E. SIMON

The oldtimers who haunt the Pontiac courtrooms are the last of a vanishing breed, and modern Pontiac is partly to blame.

On most days now, jurists who venture a glance from their law books will peer over the heads of the attorneys and their clients to see row upon row of empty seats in their courtrooms.

In days gone by, the steam heat and beautiful rhetoric of the judges and defenders of the law often drew good-sized crowds of "customers."

What has happened to empty the courtrooms? The oldtimers are quick to voice their reasons for the exodus.

"It's no wonder that they don't see us anymore," grumbled one. "Ever since the city moved the municipal courts into that Public Safety Building, we've been staying away. You got to walk two blocks further than you did before, and climb a hill on top of that."

"And what happens when you get there?" chimed in another.

"For the prisoners, they got an elevator to take 'em to the lockup on the second floor. Me, I've been sittin' in court for more years than I care to remember and what've they got for me to get up the courtrooms. Nothin' but stairs."

Their gathering place in the county courthouse is the first floor candy counter. In the mornings when court sessions begin, there they meet.

Just as television and radio fans scan the daily papers for the listings of their favorite programs, so do these men check the daily court schedule to find out if there are any "hot" cases worthy of their attention.

And if what appears to be a dull case turns out to be a "sleeper," they will hear about it immediately. Some of the judges believe that they have developed an underground system of communication.

Every member of this group has a favorite judge. One, for instance, likes to listen to Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty's opinions, but is irked by the largeness of the courtroom. "You can't hear good in there," he contends.

★ ★ ★

Another will sit mainly in the courtroom of Judge George B. Hartrick. "He puts his opinions into words that I can understand," he explains.

Still others sit in the courtrooms of Judges Clark J. Adams and H. Russel Holland because they consider the verdicts handed down "fair."

And among themselves, they'll argue the pros and cons of their favorites. All of the circuit court judges are well-acquainted with these spectators.

"I think that they're missing the

City to Decide Fate of Streets

Meeting Tonight to Hear Resolution Based Upon Public Needs

The city's 1958 street improvement program will get under way tonight as City Commissioners hear a resolution calling for paving portions of 11 streets on a public necessity basis.

Should the resolution be adopted, the commission is prepared to accept engineer's estimates totaling more than $50,000 for the work. The total includes estimated assessments on property owners plus the city's share in the projects.

The streets involved are ones on which curb, gutter and graveling improvements already have been made, according to City Engineer Louis M. Wrenn.

Burt street from LeGrand to Hillside; Cadillac avenue from Oakland to Russell; E. Chicago avenue from Baldwin to the Grand Trunk Railroad; Columbia avenue from Bagley to Franklin; West Carlisle avenue from Cornell to Columbia; Fairmount avenue from Baldwin to Carlisle; Homestead drive from Adams to East boulevard; Hudson street from Fairgree to Summit; Ivy street from Perry to Montcalm; Jefferson street from Cadillac to Kimball, and Kimball street from Jefferson to its southern end.

City Will Hear Report on Suit Against Hospital

The City Commission tonight will hear a report on the $250,000 law suit against Pontiac General Hospital, after receiving bids on the $317,000 in tax anticipation notes it intends to sell to raise funds for completion of the hospital addition.

The report, prepared by the hospital board of trustees at the commission's request, covers procedures followed in the Nov. 13 suspension of Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger and the litigation that has resulted from the ousted staff surgeon's suit for damages and reinstatement.

If a low bid on the notes is accepted tonight, the extra funds could be in the hospital's hands sometime this month, it was believed.

The $317,000 represents the first third of $950,000 which the city has promised to give the hospital from capital improvement funds through 1960.

What is the difference in depth of the leading edge of a cold and a warm front?

The cold front usually extends to a depth of about a hundred miles, more or less, and this may sound like a great distance but it is actually a very narrow leading edge.

The warm front, on the other hand, slants forward, but the slant is so slight that the front itself might be over Chicago and New York simultaneously. Its depth is far greater than that of the cold front and often extends to 1,000 miles!

Abstract Painting Plunges Windsor Into Controversy

WINDSOR (INS) — An abstract painting of the "Last Supper" has the city of Windsor in a storm of controversy today.

★ ★ ★

The picture took top honors in the Essex County Annual Art Show. Artists are contending the clergy, who call it "sacrilegious" and "distasteful," may know a lot about the real thing but not much about painting.

2 Die in Crash of Bus, Truck

22 Injured as Vehicles Sideswipe in California High Sierras

COLFAX, Calif. (UP)—A Greyhound bus and an empty tank truck-trailer sideswiped last night in the High Sierra near Donner Summit, killing two persons and injuring at least 22.

Army Sgt. Edward L. Shank, 42, of Troutville, Va., was one of those killed, the State Highway Patrol said.

The other was a woman, not immediately identified.

Lt. Robert Steuver of the patrol said the bus was carrying 40 persons on an express run from San Francisco to Salt Lake City when the collision occurred on U. S. 40 near Nyack Lodge. The road was reported icy in spots.

Steuver said the bus was three feet over the center line on impact and most of its left side was sheared off. Four of five axles of the truck-trailer were knocked off, he said. Both drivers were among the injured.

Ambulances working in relays rushed the injured to hospitals in Auburn and Truckee.

Traffic was detoured around the wreck area for several hours while the highway was being cleared because of danger from highly flammable propane gas fumes from the tank truck.

'Copter Rescues Men From Lake St. Clair

DETROIT (UP) — Two fishermen were rescued by an Army helicopter after being marooned on an ice floe in Lake St. Clair for 45 minutes yesterday.

★ ★ ★

George Squillace, 45, of East Detroit, and John DeGrandis, 61, of St. Clair Shores, told police the section of ice carrying their fishing shanty broke off.

They were spotted by a housewife from shore who called a newspaper. Macomb County deputies notified authorities at Selfridge Field who dispatched a helicopter to pick the men up.

The men were reported chilled but otherwise unharmed.

Heavy Snows in East

One Foot Covers Buffalo

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UP) — A fresh winter storm draped a blanket of snow across western and central New York overnight, clogged roads and forced many school closings. Drifts were six feet high in places.

The areas south of here and around Rochester were the hardest hit.

Up to a foot of snow fell in Buffalo's suburbs and in counties to the south, and a fall of fifteen inches was reported in Rochester.

More snow was on tap, the Weather Bureau said.

In Rochester, which awoke this morning to drifts six feet high, the city schools and most suburban schools were ordered closed. About 100 more schools were closed throughout western New York and parts of central New York.

One death was attributed to the storm. Mrs. Rita Douglas, 46, of the Bronx, was killed in a three-car collision yesterday near Niagara Falls.

Rainstorms lashed the Pacific Coast and 50 m.p.h. winds carried rain and snow across the plateau region into Arizona, Nevada and New Mexico.

Almost 3½ inches of rain fell at Mt. Wilson, Calif., in the last 24 hours, running this area's total to more than 5 inches since Saturday. San Diego got 1½ inches and Los Angeles nearly an inch since Monday. Flagstaff, Ariz., reported four inches of snow.

Few Still Attracted to City's Courtrooms

old-time, flag-raising oratory of the attorneys," said Judge Holland as he mulled over the continuously smaller number of elderly spectators.

"But those that do come in are genuinely interested in the cases. Many people think that these old men are only interested in murder and other sensational cases. But that isn't true. Many of them express interest in zoning and taxation cases. And often, they have an amazing grasp of these involved problems."

Many years ago it was a different story.

Throngs of farmers once flooded into the courtrooms to warm themselves and watch the human dramas unfold before judge and jury.

In the basement of the county courthouse was a Grand Army of the Republic memorial room, where habitual benchwarmers could come together and argue passionately about the cases being heard upstairs.

★ ★ ★

There they unpacked the lunches their womenfolk had prepared and ate together during the noon recess. The courthouse was a focal point of social activity.

All that is but a distant memory today. The GAR memorial room is gone — the space now occupied by the county probation department.

Back 15 or 20 years ago, Judge Doty recalled, there was a good chance that one of the spectators would be called on to take the place of an absent juror. "And when one of their own was called upon to sit in the jury box, it created a great deal of excitement among the others."

A few years ago, attendance picked up when the county placed spikes on the railings outside the courthouse making sitting there uncomfortable. To overcome this thorny problem, loungers would gravitate inside to the courtrooms.

But many of these hangers-on have drifted away.

What interest does the courtroom hold for these oldtimers? "We've been coming here so cussed long, we've got no place else to go," said a veteran of 27 years courtroom attendance.

"Sure, some of us aren't coming here anymore. It's not like it used to be. The judges used to sit in court for eight hours and listen to case after case.

"Today, they're going into big huddles with attorneys, and there's a big lull between one case and the next. I don't think that we hear three hours of cases a day."

★ ★ ★

But there's another reason for the decline in attendance. As Judge Adams points out, Pontiac is no longer a rural community.

"We work faster and feel that we always have to be doing something," the judge explained. "No one feels that he has the time to just sit in a courtroom any longer."

And all the judges agree that should a new county courthouse be built at the County Service Center, the oldtimer sitting in the courtroom will disappear completely.

The French Tourist Bureau blamed "bad weather, social troubles in France and the high price of gasoline." It said nothing about the high prices generally, which many tourists complain about most.

The British Travel and Holiday Assn. reported 1,178,600 overseas visitors, including 262,730 Americans, came to Britain in 1957. The 1956 figures were 1,107,000 total, 255,440 Americans.

In France, the total American tourists dropped from 400,821 in 1956 to 350,015, and the total British from 97,484 to 90,152.

Would Split Up Disarming Plan

Sen. Humphrey Calls on Ike to Negotiate on Nuclear Test Ban

WASHINGTON (UP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) today called on President Eisenhower to "break up" his disarmament package and offer to negotiate with the Soviet Union on a two-year ban on nuclear weapons tests.

An agreement to ban such tests should be considered apart from other proposals, including that to halt production of nuclear weapons, Humphrey contended in a speech prepared for Senate delivery.

In a general review of disarmament efforts, Humphrey said Eisenhower has refused to supply the Senate Disarmament subcommittee with reports made by Harold E. Stassen's "task forces" on methods of providing inspection procedures for safe disarmament.

Humphrey quoted Eisenhower as writing that the reports were made by various persons with the understanding that they were for use of the President and the National Security Council, and to give them wider distribution "would not serve the public interest."

Humphrey said the President's nine-point disarmament program is fine, but that "no nation, least of all the suspicious, tightly controlled Soviet Union would agree to such sweeping provisions all at one time."

Most of the points, he noted, would require the installation of elaborate inspection systems.

Judge Punched by Tot; Session of Court Off

NAUGATUCK, Conn. (UP) —The weekly session of Police Court was called off after Judge M. Leonard Caine got a punch in the eye, requiring medical attention.

★ ★ ★

"I was just kidding with him and all of a sudden he hauls off and socks me one," the judge said.

Break Into Machines at Drive-In Restaurant

Judge to Fix Henson Charge

Must Decide if Worker to Be Tried for First or Second Degree Murder

Hazel Park Municipal Judge Robert C. Baldwin will decide Feb. 12 whether to bind Frank W. Henson, 54, over to Circuit Court on a first or second - degree murder charge.

Chief Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor George F. Taylor asked that Henson be bound over on the first - degree charge, for the Dec. 23 slaying of his 57-year-old wife Helen. He is now charged with second - degree murder.

Taylor has asked for the first degree charge based on the examination testimony which he said points closer to premeditated murder than original investigation showed. Hartrick argued that the prosecution hasn't shown that the woman was beaten.

Henson said he found his wife dead on the kitchen floor when he returned from the barber shop.

He's Not Lazy— Junior Suffers 'School Phobia'

TULSA, Okla. (UP)—A specialist in child psychiatry says junior's reluctance to attend school doesn't necessarily mean he's lazy or stubborn—just may have "school phobia."

Dr. Paul C. Laybourne, Kansas City, Kan., said in an interview that such a child may have a serious emotional problem.

"And these children are really not afraid to go to school," he said. "They are afraid of leaving home."

★ ★ ★

"Some are afraid their parents will get a divorce. So they want to stay out of school and keep watch. Others are afraid their father will kill their mother, and that their mother will die while they are gone."

It's Follow Leader in Current Gas War

Six major oil firms followed Standard Oil Co.'s lead yesterday and dropped retail prices another 1.2 cents.

The reductions were being passed on to motorists in the Pontiac and Detroit area today by dealers for Shell, Gulf, Sinclair, Socony Mobile, Speedway and Pure oil companies.

The latest cut put the new consumer rates at 29.1 cents a gallon for regular and 33.1 cents for premium gasoline. The total drop to dealers since Jan. 15 now amounts to 4.4 cents a gallon.

Meantime, a spokesman for the Oakland County Gas and Oil Co., one of the area's major independent firms said yesterday it probably would cut its prices again.

'Nice Valentines' Pitch Used to Sell Auto Plates

LANSING (UP) — Secy. of State James M. Hare suggested today 1958 auto license plates would make nice valentines.

In a bid to spur lagging sales, he made this pitch to wives, husbands and sweethearts:

"So that those they love won't have to stand in line at the month's end and perhaps catch influenza."

The deadline for purchase of 1958 plates is Feb. 28. Hare figured that about 2,500,000 Michigan vehicle owners have yet to obtain them.

OKs Bill to Kill Turnpike Body

Over the protests of Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson (R-Waterford Township), the House in Lansing yesterday passed a bill to kill the Michigan Turnpike Authority.

Anderson was one of four members voting against the resolution to dissolve the dormant, four-year-old authority and return its remaining $81,000 assets to the State Highway Department.

"Before killing the turnpike authority, we should make sure first that we're going to get all the freeways we need," commented Anderson.

Eighty-seven other members of the house voted against continuing the authority, which has spent nearly $600,000 without building a single mile of turnpike, and sent the bill to the Senate, where a similar measure already has been introduced.

The authority planned originally to build a 123-mile toll road from Rockwood past Pontiac to Bay City. However, it had trouble finding financial backers after the highway department announced plans to build freeways on roughly parallel routes.

The final blow to the authority came last fall, when the highway department announced plans for a new north-south interstate expressway from Detroit past Pontiac to Flint.

GM Vehicle Output Shows January Dip

All but one of General Motors automotive divisions showed production dips in January, compared to 1957's first month, a production report showed today.

★ ★ ★

Of the January total, 290,749 were passenger cars and 34,088 were trucks.

Chevrolet was the single division to produce more than in January 1957 and the difference was a scant 37 units.

Divisions and their totals for last month and a year ago are: Chevrolet, 151,818 in '58, 151,781 in '57; Oldsmobile, 40,652 in '58, 45,325 in '57; Buick, 36,463 in '58, 54,763 in '57; Cadillac, 13,459 in '58, 15,094 in '57.

satellite indicate our plans were successful."

Hibbs, 33, is section chief of the satellite research program of California Institute of Technology's Jet Propulsion Laboratory.

The Explorer was designed primarily to test instruments in space, but much of the information it radios back to earth will have value when a manned satellite is launched, Hibbs said.

"We will control the heat even more closely," he said, "and build an even harder shell for protection against meteorites."

He said he could not comment on when a manned satellite would be launched.

The Explorer's inner heat is determined by controlling the amount of solar radiation allowed to penetrate the shell. This was accomplished by striping the satellite with zirconium oxide, a white reflective paint.

Messages from the Explorer indicate the temperature on the outer skin ranges from 212 degrees below zero Fahrenheit to 572 degrees above. Without precautions, similar temperatures would be experienced inside and the instruments would not function.

California Coast Town Sees Force of Twister

GUALALA, Calif. (UP) — The 300 residents of this coastal hamlet were recovering today from the first twister in memory to hit the Mendocino County 100 miles north of San Francisco.

★ ★ ★

It appeared suddenly yesterday with a water spout 150 to 200 feet high, according to Joe Panick, manager of a hotel.

★ ★ ★

"It turned out to the ocean and dissipated about a block away from the front window," Panick said.

It also uprooted trees, blew down power and telephone lines.

The Day in Birmingham

Cab Firm Granted Delay in Revocation of License

BIRMINGHAM — The AAA Cab Co. last night won a 60-day delay on the revocation of its license in Birmingham pending the sale of the business.

★ ★ ★

One cab already has been ruled off the road and city commissioners, meeting last night, said the remaining cabs must be brought to the police station for weekly inspections.

City officials spent more than an hour weighing the question before reaching their decision. They said they did not wish to work a hardship for Maurice Thompson, owner of the company, but that in view of his past record, even this delay was extremely lenient.

Commissioners further conceded that in the event the cabs are ruled off the street, the individual license for each cab will remain with the firm. This was permitted after commissioners were told the license is the only tangible item the company can offer for sale.

The Taxicab Board had revoked Thompson's license and the appeal was made under provisions in the city taxicab ordinance.

No action was taken on the request that city commissioners deliver their opinions as to whether an SDD license should be granted to the Aiban Restaurant and Party-Time Store on Hunter boulevard.

Commissioners were divided on the question of granting such an opinion. Some said they felt the issuance of the license was a matter entirely for the State Liquor Control Commission.

More than 16,000 letters have been mailed to residents in the Birmingham Community House Roll Call drive, Mrs. Robert Watt, chairman, said today.

Mrs. William Milligan, Mrs. K. C. Gane, Mrs. Richard Nigbor, Mrs. Harry Gruber, Mrs. Howard Coe, Mrs. Carl Abbott, Mrs. Norman Terry and Mrs. George Paige have been named supervisors of the home solicitation.

They will appoint their own workers to make personal contacts with those persons whose contributions are not mailed in.

Detective Merlin Holmquist of the Birmingham Police Department said unlocked automobile trunks offered easy "pickings" last night for two Flint youths.

Dale Herman, 22, and Robert Rachow, 18, were arrested by Sgt. Richard Brown with three tires and wheels. Holmquist said the pair admitted taking them from unlocked cars parked in the Greenwood-Harmon-Vine street area.

Richard Wilson, Birmingham Exchange Club president, said today that for the fifth season a self-improvement clinic is being sponsored by the club.

The first free session will be held in the Community House, at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Birmingham Chapter 220, Order of Eastern Star, will hold its regular meeting at Birmingham Masonic Temple, 327 S. Woodward Ave., at 8 p.m. tomorrow.

$165 Was Error Claims Doerfer

a personal check in blank and turned it over to his secretary to purchase plane transportation for a five-day itinerary that took him to Oklahoma and Spokane in October 1954.

"Until I got back," he declared, "I was under the impression that I had paid the whole fare for my wife and myself from Washington to Oklahoma City."

When the check for $165.12 came along after his return to Washington, Doerfer said, he thought it was reimbursement for the Washington-Oklahoma City leg of the trip.

Vouchers produced by Schwartz yesterday showed that Doerfer did not charge the government for transportation to Oklahoma City, but did travel at government expense for the rest of the trip to Spokane and back to Washington.

REPAID MONEY

Doerfer said that on Jan. 20 this year—a couple of weeks ago—he learned that KWTV had actually supplied the plane tickets to Oklahoma City and he repaid the $165.12 "to correct the misapprehension."

"I did what any honest man would do. I returned the money to the Oklahoma Television Corp.," he said.

★ ★ ★

Doerfer attributed the mixup to his secretary, who he said handled routine matters like travel arrangements and handling invitations.

★ ★ ★

"Ninety-nine and nine-tenths per cent of my checks are drawn by my secretary," he said. "She does what little bookkeeping there is on my personal account."

Schwartz asked Doerfer if he had not "conjured up" a blank check to explain what happened. Doerfer denied it heatedly.

HITS BACK

Doerfer opened his second day's testimony by accusing Schwartz of misrepresenting a voucher for $792.80 paid by the government to American Airlines.

That payment, he testified, represented not only his air travel to Spokane and back but also the accounts of 12 other commission personnel. He said also that it was improper for Schwartz to indicate that the government paid any part of Mrs. Doerfer's travel expenses.

"I think it highly improper for a counsel to proceed as he has," Doerfer said.

Schwartz asked Doerfer if he interpreted the law to mean that a government official can "make a personal profit at government expense."

"That's a nasty way of putting it," Doerfer retorted hotly.

Doerfer, a Republican from Milwaukee, took office in 1953 and was named by President Eisenhower as chairman in July 1957.

CHARGES 'SMEAR'

The FCC chairman in a prepared statement lashed out at tactics of the committee investigating staff which he charged "smeared reputations by distortion and innuendo."

He was referring to a memorandum prepared by Schwartz, which listed numerous charges of misconduct on the part of some FCC commissioners, including acceptance of free color TV sets.

Slain Grocer's Wife Testifies

Mrs. Amanda Kolm, 64, told the details of the night of Oct. 23, saying Drew entered their store at 1010 Oakley Rd., and announced, "This is a stick-up."

She was one of nine witnesses to take the stand this morning in the opening day of the first-degree murder trial of Drew.

★ ★ ★

"My husband and I were having a little snack in the back of the store when we heard this man come in and then leave right away," Mrs. Kolm testified.

"I saw him getting some things out of a car and I thought he was picking up some bottles. He came back in with a grey coat over his arm. He tossed away the coat revealing a gun," she went on.

"This is a stick-up," she quoted Drew as saying.

Her husband then came from back of the store. "What's this, a joke?" Mrs. Kolm said her husband asked of Drew.

It was after this that he shot the 63-year-old grocer through the heart and then struck her several times in the head with the rifle, she said.

Mrs. Mary S. Douglas, 25, of 1383 Appleford St., Walled Lake, divorced mother of four children, testified she was with Drew the afternoon of the murder and that "he was feeling the effects of a half-gallon of wine."

She said also, she had loaned Drew a .30-.30 rifle because he said he wanted "to go out shooting" with a new dog he bought.

Jack Davey, 32, of 3080 Terry St., a block and a half from the store, said Drew had tried to sell the rifle to him, but that he refused because the magazine chamber was bent.

The trial was scheduled to resume this afternoon.

Cosmetic Firms Bent on Erasing Tomboys

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — There is a greedy, commercialized crusade afoot to wipe tomboys off the face of the earth. And, with them, sticky fingers and smudged cheeks and toes crusted betwixt with brown memories of rain-mushed gutters.

It mustn't happen! Tomboys have existed for centuries, grimy and aloof from the slings and arrows of outrageous boys.

They must not perish now, to be replaced by the type of impeccable urchins that the money-hungry cosmetics makers are striving for — small young ladies, age three and up, who take nightly bubble baths, reek of toilet water and bath powder, and retire to their chaste little bedlets smelling like lilies of the valley — instead of like kids who washed, but not all THAT good.

Yesterday, mud pies for Susie. Next week, mud packs.

I rebel strongly at the whole smelly (junior jasmine) idea. My main objection is that I believe tomboys grow up into the most feminine ladies. This is the law of reverse relativity, of perverse probability, peculiar to the female race.

* * *

In other words, a girl who has smashed a few boys' heads together in her youth is most likely to change dramatically when the proper time comes, and devote her adult years to "making up" to the male.

Secondly, women tend to become vain and indolent enough in maturity, without starting them out on a course of cosmetic narcissism at the point of departure from swaddling clothes.

A little Lady Fauntleroy of five seems likely to be a potential egocentric by her teens, if she sticks to the recommended nightly bubble bath and "emulate mommy" procedure for several years.

Motivational research has gone into this subject, of course. The Lentheric people, for instance, hired Mrs. Lucille Stein, parent counselor of the Child Study Association, to help them introduce their "Tweedie" line for babes and up.

Bob Considine Says:

Julius Caesar Started It When He Asked How Long Does Sun Take to Circle Earth

NEW YORK (INS)—Hello there, February. You're a cool month, Feb. Been reading all about you in the youngest kid's home work, and also in the current issue of United Air Lines' house organ, "Mainliner," which is secreted in the papoose bouch of UAL seats.

In case you've forgotten, Feb, you once had 30 days, which must have loused up that old poem pretty good. ("Thirty days hath Theptember, and tho have all the othersth, I guessth.")

Julius Caesar got you in all that trouble, as you know. He ordered his astronomers to figure out exactly how long it took the earth to spin around the sun.

They came up with the arresting total of 365 days, five hours, 48 minutes, 45.51 seconds. Caesar, scratching a wart, said, "Divide that in 12 months." Then he got sore because the month named after him—July—wound up with only 30 days. The bum should've had a Univac.

So his people took a day away from February, a defenseless sort of month, reducing it to 29 days. Otherwise, everything was dandy except that distressing little matter of those five hours, 48 minutes, 45.51 seconds dangling at the end of the calendar year. They couldn't be swept under the horological rug, Buster.

So the ruling was made that February would be restored its lost day, once every four years.

And that's how it was until the Emperor Augustus got sore because HIS month, August, had only 30 days. His people looked around and—of course—there stood weakling February. Little Augie grabbed a day from it. Woe to February!

Harold Stassen through? Seems unlikely. He has been a cork in our political sea, and the chances are that he will continue to bob to the surface. After all, he was close to the presidency in the U.S. and anyone who has been close wants another chance.

For that reason, I think, among the candidates for the Democratic nomination in 1960 will be Adlai Stevenson, Estes Kefauver and Averill Harriman.

You don't think he was close? Stassen was as close, perhaps, as anybody in our time. In 1948 he swept through primaries like a prairie fire.

Jim Hagerty and Paul Lockwood finally prevailed on Gov. Dewey to battle him in Oregon. They went there, actually made 50,000 phone calls, set the terms of the Dewey-Stassen debate on whether the Communist Party should be driven underground, saw to it that Stassen (6-4) never stood next to the diminutive Dewey in public. Dewey also was cured of laryngitis at the last moment. Dewey won the debate, and the nomination.

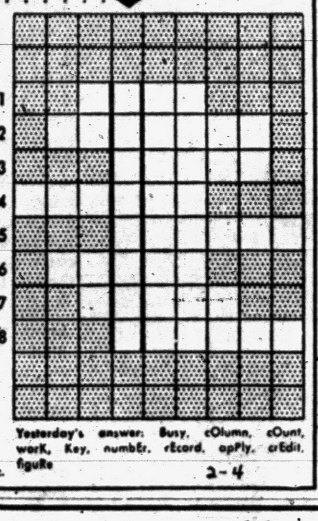

Stassen had the background of his wartime association with Adm. Bull Halsey, labor backing, appealed to the young veteran, was a gifted speaker. But he never laid a glove on the little fellow. He can never forget that he might have, with better luck or craftier management. And so, unquestionably, he'll try again, whether bounced now or not.

State's Dog Law Called Barbaric

Under current laws in the State of Michigan, a dog's life is in jeopardy a good deal of the time. Certainly this is wrong. The Pontiac PRESS feels that any law which allows shooting of dogs for the sport of it should be changed.

★ ★ ★

Currently there is a group, headed by Mrs. Lucille McCollough, a Democrat working to get a new law through our State Legislature. The law as it now stands should be modified.

Michigan's dog law now permits any landowner, or his agent, outside of a city or village limits to shoot a trespassing dog on sight.

The new bill which was introduced by Rep. CHARLES A. BOYER (Republican-Manistee) would permit farmers and others to kill any dog worrying livestock or poultry, but would protect dogs which merely wander into a field or enclosure unless sheep or poultry are confined inside.

This change seems reasonable enough since it prohibits the "shooting on sight" portion of the previous law. Mrs. McCOLLOUGH termed the present law as "the most barbaric in the United States."

★ ★ ★

In the past sportsmen have complained that thousands of dogs, including many valuable hunting animals, are needlessly killed each year. If a dog destroys, or is a menace to livestock or poultry that's a different matter.

No one questions this.

★ ★ ★

Our Strength in Science

Some of the facts emphasized by President GREENWALT of the E.I. du Pont Company at a meeting of the American Association for Advancement of Science in Indianapolis bear repeating.

★ ★ ★

Russia's concentration on missiles and space conquest has given it a lead and we must catch up. But, says Mr. GREENWALT:

"American science is not a weapon, its edge sharpened for military aggression, but a plowshare tilling the peaceful fields of our normal lives . . . our capacity to produce in time of peace is our greatest weapon in time of emergency or war. Hence strength in war, strength in peace and strength in science are synonymous."

★ ★ ★

President GREENWALT does not agree that Soviet science generally has outstripped our own. The sputnik achievement has been startling and the resulting propaganda far reaching, but it merely indicates a concentration of effort, manpower and brains on a single objective to the neglect of other elements of Soviet society.

★ ★ ★

We must not make the mistake of sacrificing everything for military weapons. Science has brought us strength in peace as well as war. Although Russia has forged ahead of us in a few areas, we should not be "provoked into similar patterns," says du Pont's president.

With this we wholeheartedly agree.

Seaway Deepening

Cutting in half the annual expenditure for channel work on the St. Lawrence seems to be a case of being penny wise and pound foolish.

Under President EISENHOWER'S budget plans the work of deepening channels would not be completed until 1965, instead of the original 1962 date. The Seaway itself is due for completion in 1959.

Including the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, Detroit River, St. Mary's River and the Straits of Mackinac joining Lakes Erie, Huron and Michigan with Superior, there are 130 miles of connecting channels. These are to be deepened to 27 feet.

Expenditures for channels are part of a capital improvement program. The sooner these are made navigable for larger ships the quicker we are going to get returns on our investment. Delaying work designed to accommodate greater tonnage not only will restrict benefits to lake ports but will cut down on tolls which are to go toward paying for the waterway.

★ ★ ★

One Way of Solving the Traffic Problem

David Lawrence Says:

Truman Didn't Tell All the Facts

WASHINGTON — Former President TRUMAN didn't give the American people the full story of the episodes concerning General Eisenhower and General MacArthur which he told to a television audience on Sunday. Neither did he give accurately the facts in what he did say—due either to faulty memory or to carelessness.

LAWRENCE

When Mr. Truman deals with the reputations of other public men, he admittedly fancies himself always in the political arena where anything goes.

Thus, for instance, Mr. Truman said that in 1945 he discouraged General Eisenhower from seeking the presidential nomination and argued that "a man at the top with a military reputation" shouldn't do it because he "could only have that reputation smeared if he went into politics."

In the book by General Eisenhower, published in 1948, he relates that at Potsdam in 1945 Mr. Truman told him: "General, there is nothing that you may want that I won't try to help you get. That definitely and specifically includes the presidency in 1948."

Another striking error in Sunday's television talk by Mr. Truman was his claim that General MacArthur was fired because he was "insubordinate" and because "he disobeyed orders directly." The facts were stated by General MacArthur in February 1956, when he issued a statement replying to similar charges in the "Truman Memoirs." The general said:

"This belated claim of insubordination is made by him not as a public official but as a private citizen. In making it he conveniently ignores the fact that the members of the joint chiefs of staff, my military superiors in the conduct of the Korean War, specifically, categorically and unanimously denied under oath before the Joint Senatorial committee investigating the reason for my release that I had ever been guilty of insubordination, and the joint-committee members themselves in the report made at the conclusion of the hearings were in complete agreement upon this point."

Mr. Truman, in his television speech last Sunday, also said that General MacArthur had sent "an article" to the magazine "U.S. News & World Report" and did not send a copy to the White House or to the President and that he found a copy in the press room of the White House and "suppressed it."

The fact is that it wasn't an "article" for this particular magazine, but it was the text of a message sent at the request of the commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for delivery at its meeting in Chicago in August 1950. The message had been distributed in advance, as is customary, to the press in this country.

The magazine in question obtained on a Friday from the press relations office of the Chicago convention an "automatic release" for publication of the MacArthur message in the issue coming out on the following Monday.

When Mr. Truman saw a copy of the message on Saturday morning, it is true it was discussed at a meeting of high officials, and, on instructions of the President, an order was sent to General MacArthur directing him to withdraw the document from publication.

The general promptly obeyed the order and on Sunday the VFW notified the press that the message was to be withheld. But it was too late—the magazine's copies containing the text of the message were already to the mails to subscribers for Monday delivery. The Chicago Tribune, learning this, also printed the text on Monday morning, as did other newspapers. The general was in no way responsible for the accident of publication. There was no "disobedience" involved.

What really caused General MacArthur's removal was something else—he was politically in disfavor with Harry TRUMAN.

Mr. Truman had a right to dismiss General MacArthur for political reasons or personal reasons if he wished to do so—but it ill becomes him to tell millions of Americans today that a heroic general, who was himself once chief of staff of the Army and knew military law as well as anyone, actually "disobeyed orders" and was "insubordinate."

Dr. William Brady Says:

Open-Gate Plan Helps Mental Patients Get Well

In June, 1956, the last closed ward at Central Mental Hospital, in Hatton, England, was opened—so that now any one of the 1,380 patients may walk out if he wishes.

The hospital has no main gates. The hospital is surrounded by farmland with ordinary hedges or fences and some 20 open gates in them. Nearby there is a canal and a main railway line.

DR. BRADY

At first there were several escapes; but now only a few and these give rise to less anxiety than escapes did before the conversion of the hospital from prison to health resort, because the patients are not anti-social.

To prevent escapes, a new technique in mental nursing is employed. It is calculated to keep known absconders constantly interested and occupied.

So far, no serious trouble involving residents of the hospital neighborhood or the police has occurred. The patients moving freely about the resort grounds do not annoy staff members or visitors.

BIG STEP FORWARD

The guests (not "inmates) no longer regard nurses and other attendants as turnkeys.

Seclusion of patiens in locked rooms has almost ceased—it is now confined to patients who have just been admitted.

Violence and hostility have virtually disappeared. Patients have learned to be independent and responsible. They behave at least as well with strangers or at parties as do people at large.

All of this, which I cadged from a report by the hospital superintendent, Dr. Edward S. Stern, in the Lancet, represents a long step forward in the treatment of mental illness. It provides more interests for the patient, respect for his dignity as a person, and the friendliness of the attendants in place of the menacing attitude of turnkeys or keepers.

The Hatton way should be more freely employed in mental hospitals in this country, at least for non-violent patients. It is employed in some hospitals and has been dound generally satisfactory.

Asks Subscribers to Pay Paper Boys on Schedule

Why will some newspaper subscribers keep their paper boy running to their homes constantly to collect? People complain about their paper and this and that, but nothing about the poor boy's extra shoe leather and time he spends trying to collect.

Why can't subscribers have money ready on collection night instead of making the boy wait? Sometimes it goes on two or three weeks, and he must pay his bill out of his own pocket. He also must pay for shoes and bicycle tires.

When we have a pay coming we want it on time so let's consider the young boys who trudge through all kinds of weather to bring us our reading material. I'm sure all the carriers would be appreciative.

'Young Toughs Present Problem'

What are we parents to do about the tough juvenile that threatens everyone within reach or has hurt them? What do we do about protecting our own who have been taught self respect and respect for older people and to abide by the laws? In order to get protection, must we teach them to create gangs and carry weapons against hoodlums that the law says we can't do anything about because they're minors?

Must they commit a murder before we can do anything? What kind of laws does Michigan have? No wonder we have gangs all over the county. Is it kill or be killed we're coming to? What are we parents going to do about it—power behind the teenage gangs or try to do something about it?

I say help the juvenile now to be a better citizen instead of filling Jackson full of boys that are too young to be there. These boys aren't entirely to blame. If parents can't handle a boy or girl, they should get help fast from someplace.

Pleased at Report of County Status

I recently heard a report of man hours, materials, police records, education reports, etc. My advice to dissatisfied people in Oakland County is to listen to some of these reports about what your county is doing and how much it costs. They even apologized for salt that is bad for cars, but said lives are more important. It was an excellent report and I say our leaders are trying to do all possible for the people.

Reds Release Scientists to West Germany—Why?

By JOHN H. MARTIN
INS Foreign Director

An object of great curiosity and doubtlessly intensive investigation will be the group of 21 German scientists and technicians to be released by the Soviet Union sometime this month.

Moscow made the recent surprise announcement that the group, which includes physicists and rocket specialists, would be allowed to return to West Germany in February.

The refugee ministry in Bonn said the 21 had been concerned mainly with rocket research in the Soviet Union, but it is considered unlikely that they have any detailed knowledge of the research that led to the launching of the two Sputniks, or earth satellites, and the first testing of the Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles.

IDLE SINCE 1955

The ministry said that the group has not worked since 1955, when they were moved with their families to Sukhumi, in Georgia on the Black Sea coast not far from the Turkish frontier.

At that time the Germans were to await repatriation to Communist-ruled East Germany.

The Germans were in a large group rounded up by the Red Army in the collapse of Germany in 1945 and were deported to the Soviet Union.

Some Germans accepted repatriation to East Germany about two years ago, but this group insisted on going to the Federal Republic of West Germany. Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has been insisting that these and other scientists be allowed to return home.

Now, after being detained presumably against their will for 12 years, the 21 scientists and their 33 dependents, are being released.

★ ★ ★

Why? This question may not be answered until after the repatriated men are interviewed. Even if they have not worked on any rocket project for at least two years, it would seem they must have some idea of the general direction and scope of Soviet rocketry.

SO FAR AHEAD?

One interpretation in Bonn is that Soviet researchers are so far advanced that the Kremlin doesn't care what bits of information that the scientists pass on to Western intelligence.

This interpretation apparently is borne out by much testimony of American military leaders who have told Congress of the great strides the Soviets have made in rocketry.

Also, there is the fact that this particular group has been secluded in the Black Sea area since 1955, and may not be considered by the Russians as valuable as others held in the Soviet Union.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

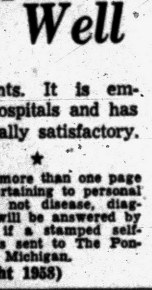

Become a Good Conversationalist

Rita is like millions of teenagers who have never been taught their a-b-c's as regards how to win friends and carry on an interesting conversation. Follow the advice below and study the booklet carefully, for in a few days you can change into a deft conversationalist and learn how to be popular.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

"But I am not popular," she protested miserably, "so I seldom am asked on a date.

DR. CRANE

★ ★ ★

"Besides, I don't know what to talk about. The last boy who dated me finally asked, 'Has the cat got your tongue?'

"That embarrassed me so much I have shunned boys ever since. But I want to have friends and be popular and go on dates.

"Dr. Crane, can you tell me what to do?"

TATTOOED AMERICANS

"I Want to Feel Important."

★ ★ ★

The first step in winning friends is to make our companions feel more important as a result of their being in our presence.

"How can I do that?" Rita eagerly inquired.

"Smile at them," I tersely stated the first step.

For a smile is a form of compliment that is understood in all languages. It says, in sign language:

"I am happy to see you and glad you are here."

That thought makes the stranger feel more important. Just keep up the process and soon you will be so essential to his happiness that he will want to be with you more often.

★ ★ ★

Love is simply the final result of this process, for the lover can't tolerate the thought of being away from his sweetheart. He wants her at his side constantly.

"But, Dr. Crane, suppose he just smiles back and says nothing?" Rita asked.

CONVERSATION STARTERS

Then Rita must resort to a simple "conversation starter," such as paying her companion a spoken compliment.

"I hope you don't think I am unduly forward for saying this," she can begin, "but I have been admiring that beautiful tie you are wearing. May I ask where you got it?"

Please fade out of your part of the dialogue with a question mark, instead of a period.

For the question mark is shaped like a fish hook and acts like one since it "hooks" the other fellow's interest at once and leads him gracefully into his reply.

"Oh, my sister gave me this tie for my birthday," the boy can easily reply.

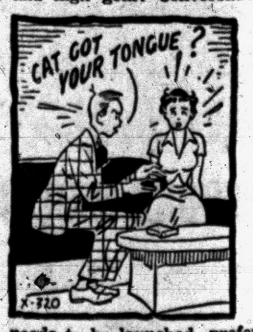

Notice what little effort is required of him! He doesn't have to think of any erudite topic, such as the Einstein theory or nuclear fission.

"Oh, you have a sister," Rita can gaily continue. "Is she younger than you?"

And by this simple, surefire method Rita can put her companion at ease and launch him into conversation.

Remember, starting a conversation is much like starting an automobile for there is a certain amount of inertia to overcome.

That's why cars have first, second and high gear. Conversation too, needs to be launched, preferably with a smile and the compliment as the self-starter.

★ ★ ★

After a few exchanges of remarks, the momentum will get the conversation into high gear where it will tend to roll along merrily without much effort on Rita's part.

To help you win friends by being gay conversationalists, send for my "Formula for Being an Interesting Conversationalist," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

★ ★ ★

Ralph Jackson, the LIRR watchman, had to be treated for shock before he could be questioned. He said the doctor ignored his waving lantern.

"He looked like he was trying to beat the train," Jackson said. "I just had time to jump out of the way."

Murdered Man's Wife Detained

Material Witness Held in Slaying of Engineer From Grand Rapids

MINEOLA, N. Y. (UP)—Mrs. Priscilla Rose is in jail as a material witness in her husband's slaying.

Mrs. Rose, 22, was held yesterday after a three-hour conference with police and Asst. Dist. Atty. William Cahn of Nassau county. She was unable to raise $20,000 bail set by County Judge Paul Widlitz.

Authorities said Mrs. Rose asked permission to move from Long Beach, N. Y., to San Antonio, Tex.

They also said it was only after "a long conversation" between Nassau Chief of Detectives Stuyvesant Pinnell and a lawyer in Grand Rapids, Mich., that Mrs. Rose returned to the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Rose had been permitted to attend the funeral of her husband, Clyde, in Grand Rapids, where his parents live.

Rose, 28, a Pan American assistant flight engineer, was found shot to death in his car two weeks ago, not far from Long Beach.

Authorities said Mrs. Rose got to New York City late Sunday and checked into a Manhattan Hotel. Accompanied by a lawyer, Joseph Zalk, of Manhattan, she arrived at Mineola police headquarters yesterday morning.

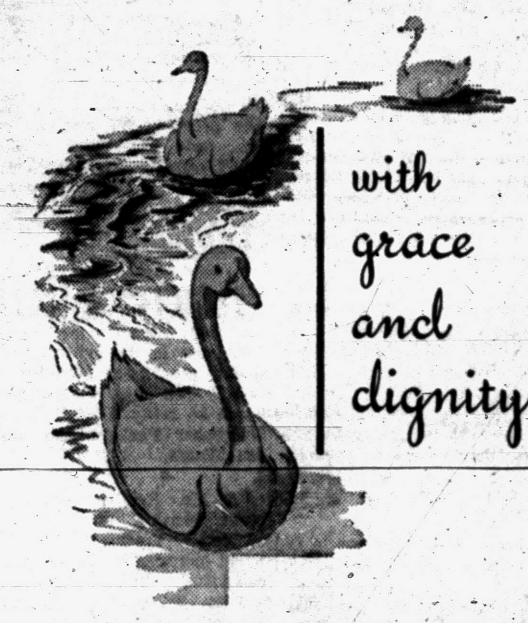

Cahn said she then requested approval to move. Authorities immediately served her with papers ordering her to show cause why she should be allowed to move.

Cahn asked that she be held in $50,000 bail as a material witness. Widlitz agreed to $20,000 after protests by Zalk.

Mrs. Rose, who left Mineola as a blonde and returned with dark brown hair, has said her husband left home early on the morning of Jan. 20 saying he was going out for a few beers. Later that day he was found shot to death.

Official of Ford Hits UAW Plan

Yntema Tells Senators That Sharing of Profits Would Raise Costs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Ford Motor Co. official declared today that "millions of little people will get hurt" if the new bargaining proposals of the United Auto Workers are adopted.

Theodore O. Yntema, a Ford vice president for financial matters, said the UAW proposals would cause a "massive cost-inflation" in the U.S. economy. His testimony was prepared for the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee.

He said further that UAW President Walter Reuther's proposal last August that car prices be cut $100 "would wipe out two companies in the industry and it would weaken Chrysler and Ford." The two companies to which he referred apparently are Studebaker-Packard and American Motors.

"If Mr. Reuther's wage and profit sharing proposals were adopted," Yntema said, "they would increase costs drastically in our industry and also across the country, as the wage pattern in automobiles was followed elsewhere.

"When Mr. Reuther says his labor proposals are not inflationary, he is talking nonsense. His basic minimum economic demands, which he did not explain to you, amount to some 40 cents an hour, or about 12 per cent of our hourly rates and a much higher percentage of wages generally."

Reuther appeared last week before the subcommittee in its investigation of auto prices. He devoted much of his testimony to pushing the profit sharing plan advanced for his union's 1958 bargaining negotiations with the auto companies.

Tabs Mystery Cylinder Near London Hoax

LONDON (AP)—A mystery cylinder with "Russian markings" that parachuted to earth near London has been tabbed a hoax by Britain's Air Ministry.

★ ★ ★

"The whole thing originated, we think, in this country," a ministry spokesman said. He added that the supposed scientific instruments inside the cylinder came from inside an alarm clock.

The cylinder, which landed south of London Sunday, carried directions in four languages asking that it be returned to the Soviet Aeronautical Institute.

Red Cross Head Dies

Wise Boss Picks Out Successor

Then He Can See His Own Policies Being Continued

By BEULAH STOWE

Philip M., who was a hero yesterday, is a bum today. That is his own description. The transformation came with retirement.

Mr. M. was an executive of a savings and loan corporation until he retired last year. He had a carpeted private office, a flat-topped walnut desk and a parade of employes consulting him every day.

The company brought in an outsider to replace Mr. M. when he retired. The new boss, considerably younger than Mr. M., had been second-in-command in a competing corporation.

STARTED REFORMS

And the new man, who owed Mr. M. no thanks for his job, began instituting certain much needed (he said) reforms in the business, and inspiring more up-to-date (he said) attitudes in the employes.

★ ★ ★

When Mr. M. comes back to visit, he gets a perfunctory greeting in the boss's office and a passing hello from his former co-workers.

"I made a stupid mistake," Mr. M. says. "I could have avoided this bum's rush if I had been wise enough to anticipate that the company would have to bring in a wonder boy from outside when I quit. This would not have happened if I had developed the talent within the firm while I was still boss.

"I was afraid to let anybody get too close to me. I was afraid to encourage the bright boys under me, because they might get too bright. One good idea too many, and I pushed their heads back under water.

"Now I wish I had left behind me some executives of my own choosing, who would carry on what I tried to build, and who would tell everyone in sight what a great guy I was.

"Maybe other executives, not yet retired, can profit from my experience."

Q—"I understand that as a working woman entitled to Social security, I can retire at 62 or at 65 and claim benefits. What's the difference in the amount I would receive? I am 61 now."—Mrs. E.T.K.

A—If you claim your benefit at age 62, you will get less money per month than you would receive if you began getting payments at age 65. The total amount of money you receive from social security, naturally, depends on how long you live.

If you claim benefits at the reduced rate (any time between 62 and 65) you will be ahead for the first 15 years. If you receive benefits for more than 15 years, the total payments you receive at the reduced rate will be less than you would get if you had waited until age 65 to make your claim.

Dinner-Dance Set

Birmingham Country Club will be the setting Saturday evening for a Valentine dinner-dance. Dinner is being served from 7 until 10 o'clock.

MRS. RONALD S. PUDDUCK

Patricia L. Fletcher and Ronald S. Pudduck were married Saturday in Ann Arbor. Mr. and Mrs. Calvert L. Fletcher are the bride's parents, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George T. Pudduck.

Ronald Pudduck Claims Bride in Ann Arbor Rite

Married Saturday in Douglas Chapel of First Congregational Church, Ann Arbor, were Patricia Louise Fletcher and Ronald Sidney Pudduck. The Rev. Leonard A. Paar performed the ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Calvert L. Fletcher of Dearborn, and the bridegroom is the son of the George T. Pudducks of Barnes avenue.

GOWNED IN LACE

For her wedding the bride wore a short embroidered lace gown with a princess-style bodice. Her veil was held in place by a seed pearl and lace crown which matched her gown.

The bride's only attendant was Mrs. Daniel C. VanderBroek, the bridegroom's sister. She was dressed in beige lace over taffeta with a matching hat of beige flowers.

ATTEND BRIDEGROOM

Daniel C. VanderBroek was best man, with C. Hugh Fletcher of Ann Arbor, brother of the bride, and Arthur Fletcher of Brampton, Ont., cousin of the bride, seating the guests.

The bride's mother was dressed in a beige knit dress with a matching feather hat. Mrs. Pudduck chose a blue silk dress and hat.

After a dinner reception the bride changed to a gold silk suit with a gold hat and black accessories. The couple will live in Utica.

Mr. Pudduck was graduated from the University of Michigan and the bride attends U. of M.

Dear Abby....

Tell Parents to Make Peace or They Can All Stay Home

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I love each other very much. Our problem is our parents. His parents and mine haven't spoken to each other ever since they had a misunderstanding about naming our twin boys three years ago.

ABBY

It is a regular tug-of-war every Thanksgiving and Christmas because both sets of parents want us to be with them. We can't invite one set to our home and ignore the other set, so consequently we have been seeing very little of either set.

His parents are as stubborn as mine. Please help us get them together?

BETWIXT AND BETWEEN

DEAR B. AND B.: Call both sets of parents and invite them to your home for a "Let bygones be bygones" party. Tell them they are punishing you as well as themselves by their childish grudge-holding.

Ask them to make up with each other as a favor to you, and if they don't put THAT in their peace pipes and smoke it — they can all stay home!

DEAR ABBY: I know your column is no place to make a speech but when I saw that letter from the woman whose neighbor tried to force planned parenthood pamphlets on her because she had seven children in as many years, it hit close to home.

I was the last of 12 children. We were so poor we didn't have enough blankets on our beds in winter. I remember how I used to cry all the way to school because I knew the kids would laugh at the way I was dressed. My clothes were hand-me-downs or rummage sale bargains and they were either too big or too small.

Large families are wonderful, Abby, for people who can afford them, but I think it is cruel to bring unwanted children into the world and make them do without. I wonder how many of your readers agree with me?

ONE OF TWELVE

DEAR ONE: Thank you for your intelligent letter. I, for one, agree with you.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: How dumb can a person be? I think I take the cake. I have been keeping company with this so-called gentleman for the past four years. Every year just before Christmas he manages to get in a big fight with me and we break up.

I caught on to him after this happened the fourth time. The reason? He doesn't have to get me a Christmas present. He comes around in February with a 10 cent Valentine to make up. How should I handle him?

NO GIFT

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a 26-year-old man and have just broken my engagement. The reason was because I learned that the girl I was to marry had been unfaithful beyond belief all during our courtship and engagement.

I haven't told anyone the reason for the breakup. Her father called and asked me and I couldn't give him a good reason for my actions. Please tell me, what should I say when people ask me who broke it off and why?

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Say, "We agreed to call it off — for personal reasons." Nothing more need be said.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "FORGIVING HEART": He needs the HALL OF JUSTICE . . . so haul him in.

And Young Marriages Rise Accordingly

Pre-Teen Dating Is on Upswing

(This is the second of four articles about the increasing number of teen-age marriages in the U.S. explaining why they take place and the problems they create.)

By VIRGINIA KACHAN
INS Staff Writer

At an age when their parents were most interested in throwing spitballs at the opposite sex, American youngsters are dating.

★ ★ ★

According to experts across the country, the trend toward pre-teen dating parallels the sharp rise of teenage marriages in the U.S. since 1950.

"It is no longer unusual for nine-year-old Suzie and Johnny to be invited to the same party," says family life specialist Frieda Kehm of Chicago. She reports:

"At 10, boys and girls go on movie dates. At 12, they are allowed to go on double and singles dates. Then they go steady."

Dr. Kehm, both a sociologist and psychologist, notes:

"Today a girl of 16 has had years of dating at an age where her mother had practically none.

"In setting these social standards for children, parents are throwing boys and girls together earlier than ever before. And yet, they want them to obey the same moral codes they did when they were growing up."

BRINGS COMPROMISE

All this has led to a "compromise," says Dr. Kehm, explaining:

"Many parents are looking at early marriage as a safety valve. It is a way of safeguarding their children's morals."

★ ★ ★

In her job as director of a family counseling agency, Dr. Kehm says she has observed "many parents, particularly those with adolescent daughters, who were shocked by the Kinsey reports of premarital sex experiences among men and women." She maintains:

"Parents today are more likely to choose to help their children to marry early, feeling that a delay is personally adding to their problems."

The social mixing of children barely out of rompers is cropping up all over the country and, in many communities, is being fought by parent-teacher groups.

★ ★ ★

For example, a group of San Francisco mothers has organized to prevent their sons and daughters from attending any mixed parties before the eighth grade.

CUSTOM PERSISTS

But early dating persists. Dr. Wynne Arnholter, consulting psychologist to the Indianapolis public school system, reports that children even begin "going steady" in grammar school.

★ ★ ★

Even though, she emphasized, "going steady" at this tender age "merely means a girl sits next to the same boy in the movies on several occasions—and usually after boys and girls pay their own way in." However, the psychologist adds:

"Going steady is the accepted cultural code, and a child who does not have 'a steady' is regarded as different by the others."

The Family Service Association of America compared marriage licenses for 1950 and 1956 in California's San Bernardino County—often nicknamed the "test tube" of the U.S. because it reflects national marriage trends.

★ ★ ★

In six years, the number of teen-aged boys and girls seeking to marry each other almost tripled—and included boys from 16 to 19 years of age and girls 14 to 19.

FOUND ALARMING

The mushrooming of teenage marriages is considered alarming by sociologists and family life analysts because researchers have found there is a higher divorce rate among couples under 21. Judson Landis of the University of California reports:

"A special research project in northern California high schools checked marriages that took place during the 1953-54 school year.

★ ★ ★

"Three years later, one-fifth of the marriages, or 20 out of each 100, had ended in annulment, divorce or separation; this is a considerably higher and quicker crack-up rate than that for the general population."

(Tomorrow: The Big Problems of the Teenage Couple)

Cash Registers Now 'in the Pink'

The year 1957 produced a new trend that may drive business men to distraction—pretty pastel pink cash registers.

★ ★ ★

Pink was selected because it is considered flattering to almost every woman. The pink registers are expected to be most popular in beauty salons.

Secretary Criticized for Inquiry

Asks Callers Why They Want to See Her Employer

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I would appreciate your opinion on the following matter: I am secretary to one of the executives in this firm. I have a desk just outside my employer's office. When someone comes in and asks to see him, I always ask, 'What do you want to see him about?'

"I have been told that this is very impertinent on my part as it isn't any of my business what he wants to see my employer about. Will you please tell me if I am wrong in asking this question?"

Answer: To ask this question of someone who comes into the office regularly would be very impertinent. But to a stranger coming into the office and asking to see Mr. Jones, it is entirely correct to ask the question. A busy person can't be interrupted by everyone who comes into the office.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a guest arrives late for dinner and the other guests have already been served the first and second course, is it necessary to have these two courses brought back to the table for the late guest or does he forfeit them and begin with the course that is then being served?"

Answer: In other days the late-comer was always served dinner from the beginning unless he was considerate enough to ask that the serving dishes not be brought back. But today so many people are carelessly — and even on occasion wilfully — late that it has become proper to bring no dish back after it has left the dining room.

"Dear Mrs. Post: What is the proper way to answer the telephone? I say one should say 'hello' upon lifting the receiver. Others say a long drawn out 'yes' is correct, too. I am speaking of a house telephone — not a business phone."

Answer: I think "hello" is the best answer when a house telephone rings.

Fruit Adds Flavor to Hot Muffins

By JANET ODELL

Today we have the girl who placed third in the Cherry Pie Contet, Joan Essenberg of Troy. She contributes a recipe for muffins flavored with orange as her "pet" recipe.

DELICIOUS MUFFINS
By Joan Essenberg

⅓ cup shortening
⅓ cup sugar
1 egg
½ cup bran cereal
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1¾ cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¼ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup orange juice
¼ cup milk

Put shortening, sugar and egg in a bowl. Beat well. Stir in bran, orange rind and sifted dry ingredients, alternately with orange juice and milk. Stir until all flour is dampened.

Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full. Bake 30 minutes in a 400-degree oven. Makes 10 muffins.

Ironing Delayed?

If ironing time must be delayed for a few hours, remove garments damp-dry from your automatic clothes dryer and store in a cool place until ironing time is available. If articles are to be stored for more than a day, refrigeration is necessary to retard mildew. Place in a plastic bag with heavier garments and linens on the bottom, and lighter cottons and synthetics on top. You'll conserve time, for lightweight articles may be pressed first while the ironer is warming up.

Westwood Charter OK'd

Vote Officially Forms Village

First Officers Elected for New Community in Southfield Township

WESTWOOD — The Village of Westwood, in the northeast section of Southfield Township, was established officially yesterday as some 2,000 voters went to the polls to give final approval to the village charter.

There were 1,286 votes cast in favor of the charter and 695 against it. The village has about 4,500 potential voters.

Officers elected for the new village were: Mrs. Alice Spencer clerk; three two-year councilmen, Marvin B. Cline, Hugh G. Allerton Jr. and Robert B. Reed, and four one-year council terms, Chester F. Guilmet, Edward M. Shurtleff, Dr. Douglas J. Wood and Theodore Sura.

Howard I. Bond, attorney for the village, said now that the charter has been approved, the village will be able to collect 1958 sales, gas, weight and intangible taxes from the state for the first quarter of the year.

The proposed village charter had been approved by Gov. Williams Jan. 6. By scheduling an early election, the village will profit from the first quarter tax monies, Bond said.

Embracing a 4½-square mile area, the new village has a population of about 7,500 people.

'KEEPER OF THE CLOCK' — Each Tuesday Patrolman Charles Meeker of the Romeo Police Department climbs the steep steps into the First Congregational Church steeple to wind the village clock. The ancient timepiece is now more than 82 years old and still serves the community well.

Romeo Landmark 82 Years

Old Village Clock Still Marks Time

By LEE WINBORN
Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO — The venerable village clock in the First Congregational Church steeple has served this community well for more than 82 years.

★ ★ ★

The intricate mechanism, which governs every tick of the clock and its hourly chime, is housed in a small, wooden and glass enclosure in the tower.

On the wall inside the door are signatures of all those who have ever served as "keeper of the clock" and the dates they held the job.

Romeo patrolman Charles Meeker has wound the clock every week for the past two years. Regularly every Tuesday — his day off — he climbs the 24 steep steps into the tower to perform the task.

"I was village clerk for 30 years," Turrell said, "and for about 20 years I wound the clock." He served without pay — unlike Meeker who receives four dollars a month for the job.

NO SMALL FEAT

Winding the ancient Seth Thomas timepiece is no small feat. It involves turning a large wheel which regulates the striking arm 80 times and the small timekeeping wheel about 60 revolutions.

Only one other Romeo man can challenge Turrell's longevity record as "keeper of the clock." He is Carl Dash, 79, who held the post for 25 years. He was a local clock and watch repairman, who served many years as a member of the village council.

Seventy-year-old Turrell said proudly, "You won't find a modern clock anywhere in better condition than our village clock."

The gleaming gears and sturdy wires which run the timepiece look practically new, but the Rev. Peter Vos, Congregational minister, says, "The clock loses about 10 minutes a week. I hope someday soon the village will consider electrifying it."

INTERLUDE OF HYMNS

The Rev. Mr. Vos said that several years ago children of his congregation began playing the church chimes at 5 p.m. each day. The carillon is located on the balcony near the steeple steps. This regular musical interlude of hymns has become an integral and accepted part of community life in Romeo.

★ ★ ★

"We are now in the process of recording the tunes so that they may be played automatically," the minister said. "When the changeover is complete, the chimes will be played at 5:15 p.m. — so they won't conflict with the striking of the clock."

New Deadline in Acreage Plan

Feb. 20 Is Final Day for Growers to Sign Up Corn Reserve Land

Deadline for signing up in the Corn Acreage Reserve Program, previously set for March 7, has been changed to Feb. 20, the Oakland County Agricultural Stabilization Commission announced today.

Walter R. Cook, County ASC Office manager, said farmers who already have filed agreements and find they cannot carry out the program requirements should write in their requests for cancellation by Feb. 20.

"Agreements are being accepted in county offices at a rapid rate," Cook said, "and in view of the interest in the program, it is likely that our funds may be exhausted before Feb. 20." Agreements are being accepted on a first-come first-serve basis to the extent of available funds," he added.

To be eligible to take part in the 1958 Corn Acreage Reserve Program, the farm must have a corn allotment. A soil bank farm base also will be established, which will be the average of the amount of land from which Soil Bank Base crops were harvested on the farm in the two years 1956 and 1957.

In acreage reserve agreements, participating farmers agree to limit their harvested crops to their farm Soil Bank Base, less the amount of land in the Acreage Reserve. This would include both wheat and corn if both allotment are assigned to the acreage reserve, Cook said.

"Farmers interested in signing up in the Corn Acreage Reserve should contact the local county ASC office immediately. Do not wait until Feb. 20, as delay might mean that funds will not be available to cover your agreement," Cook said.

The Oakland County ASC office is located at 18 South Perry St. room 321, Hubbard Building, Pontiac.

Increase in Taxes Deemed Unnecessary to Improve Certain Roads in Commerce

By STAN BOK
Commerce Correspondent

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — It now appears definite that certain roads in Commerce Township will be improved without increased taxation, according to Supervisor Thomas C. Tiley.

The Commerce Township Board, acting on a resolution passed by the Oakland County Road Commission last Sept. 17, and Michigan State Act 51 of 1951, as amended and supplemented by Acts 153 and 282 of 1957, has signed an agreement with the Oakland County Road Commission to improve certain roads when and if money is available.

Under this agreement the county will match township funds to the full extent of its ability.

Existing legislation enables Commerce Township to tax property owners up to three mills for road purposes without a vote by the people. The amount must come out of the statutory 15 mills which is levied for school, county and township expenses.

The township board intends to make application to the County Tax Allocation Committee for one mill for road purposes in 1958, Tiley said. The allocation of one mill would produce nearly $25,000, he said.

Township board members decided which roads would have priority for blacktop treatment after consultations were held with officials of the Oakland County Road Commission; Clifford Smart, superintendent of Walled Lake Consolidated Schools; the Rev. Raymond Jones of St. Williams (Walled Lake) Catholic Schools, and the Rev. O. A. Gerkin of the Lutheran School.

Following is a list of roads to be paved in the order of their priority ratings:

★ ★ ★

The Commerce Township Board has already deposited $25,000 with the Oakland County Road Commission in conjunction with the aforementioned agreement, a sum that will be matched by the Oakland County Road Commission. Commerce Township accumulated the amount on deposit during the past few years.

Over 500 Baton Twirlers Expected to Vie at Orion

By LAOMA SANFORD
Lake Orion Correspondent

LAKE ORION — More than 500 baton twirlers from the Midwest and Canada are expected to converge on Lake Orion Feb. 15 for the second annual baton twirling contest sponsored by Land-O-Lakes Majorettes. It will be held at Lake Orion Junior High School.

The contestants will vie for 65 trophies and 300 medals in the day-long competition starting at 9 a.m. Contests in beginner and intermediate classes will be held in the morning, with championship competition slated for the afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Sandra was the 1957 grand champion in the twirling competition at Indian Lake, Ohio. She placed third in Michigan State Fair competition in 1957, and is holder of numerous trophies and medals.

Because last year's beginner and intermediate contest attracted so many young twirlers that the afternoon championship matches were delayed two hours, six judges will be used this year instead of three.

★ ★ ★

Judges are Trudy Smith of Sharpsville, Ind., senior judge; John Kirkendahl and Joe Brown of Ann Arbor and Raymond Stewart from Ohio, who are certified judges in the National Baton Twirling Assn.; and Jackie Voorheis and Patricia Walk, open judges, who will work in the morning only.

Championship contests, at which spectators are welcome, will begin at 1 p.m. First will be competition in each age group, with seven places being recognized in each; then boys, two-baton, duets, strutting, junior and senior corps.

SANDRA SHELDON

Final contests will be competitions between the junior champions for their queen, and the senior champions (first-place winners) for the senior queen. These queens will be the grand champions of the show.

★ ★ ★

NBTA rules, regulations and score sheets will be used in the contest.

★ ★ ★

Two new divisions, the strutting and junior corps (twirlers 11 years and younger), have been added this year.

Roy Hess, director of the Land-O-Lakes Majorettes, has emphasized that the main purpose of the morning contests is to give the youngsters a start. He said this is the only contest which used the intermediate division last year.

Since the formation of a Parents Advisory Council for the Land-O-Lakes, more parents will be on the floor to assist Hess in the direction of the huge affair.

Mrs. Edward Smiddy of Pontiac, refreshment chairman, said food will be served from the cafeteria all day. Stanley Verbeck of Davidson is the registrations chairman.

★ ★ ★

Big Ten Hoop Race Scrambled

SPORTS

Indiana Upset as Ohio State and Purdue Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indiana, hoping for a share of the Big Ten basketball lead, ran into last place Minnesota last night and dropped a 69-66 decision.

The loss plunged the ambitious Hoosiers into sixth place while Ohio State and Purdue each climbed a notch closer to first place Michigan State with home court victories.

Both Michigan State (4-2) and Michigan (3-2) retained their one-three status through idleness.

Ohio State powdered Illinois 78-70 and took over 2nd place with a 5-3 record. Purdue scored its fourth triumph in seven games with an 84-72 victory over Northwestern.

The victory pulled the Boilermakers into a fourth-place tie with idle Iowa (4-3). Wisconsin (3-3), also idle last night, now shares sixth place with Indiana and Northwestern (3-5), Illinois (3-4) and Minnesota (2-5) follow in order.

Northwestern, Illinois and Minnesota must be counted out of the race for the time being but the other seven teams remain very one game separates Michigan State from Indiana and Wisconsin.

Four conference games are slated Saturday with Illinois at Michigan, Michigan State at Indiana, Minnesota at Wisconsin in a regionally televised matinee, and Ohio State at Purdue. Iowa is host to Miami of Ohio in a non-conference contest. Northwestern will be idle.

George Kline was the big man in the Gopher triumph, first in conference play since an 83-76 victory over Purdue. Kline tossed in five key points in the final minutes to wipe out a four-point Indiana lead. He finished the game with 21 points, high for Minnesota, but Indiana's Pete Obremsky was high for the game with 25. Archie Dees, the league's leading scorer, was held to 15.

★ ★ ★

Purdue, climbing fast, overcame an eight-point halftime lead with 55 points in the second half to trounce Northwestern. Harv Austin led the attack with 24 points while Willie Jones was tops for NU with 23.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

It may be well to adhere to the adage that "boys will be boys," but sometime we have to admit that often "boys will forget they are boys."

★ ★ ★

We say this to call attention to the fact that in the past few weeks, coaches of at least five area high schools have disciplined members of their athletic teams for breaking training.

It may not sound serious but it does well to point to some of the attitudes which many high school athletes have today.

Some of the players were thrown off the teams for smoking, for late hours and even for drinking and for bad attitude.

One must feel sorry for the boy, and he should be given opportunity for reinstatement, but the high school athlete had better realize that he can have all the guts necessary on the football field or basketball court, but he's not helping his future a single iota if he loses his self-respect, the respect of his teammates and coach.

It might be worth the effort of every coach to have each player start each athletic season with an individual introspection of the 14 rules of the athlete's code in the MHSAA book of regulations.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Overheard at the St. Benedict's sports banquet last night that Wally Fromhart is in a schedule making session in the South this week completing details to have Alabama, Florida, Miami, Tulane and Arizona State, the number one offensive team in the country last year, on the U. of D. grid schedules between 1958 and 1961.

When John Ivory moved his location from Eight Mile Road in Detroit in 1956 to the present site around Union Lake, polo took a leave for a year while the grounds and fields are being suitably set up.

Now that Jack Stefani, one of the top-notch young polo players, is due out of the service, the Rangers may be ready to get back into action with an outdoor field and a four-man team.

BOWLS AT 76 — Mrs. Anna Winters takes the honor at this time of being the oldest woman entry in the Press Bowlerama. A resident of Birmingham, Miss Winters is 76-years-old and she carries an average of 64. "I don't worry about my average, I just love to bowl," she said.

Birmingham Woman 76

Bowlerama Entry's Age Is Higher Than Average

Courage isn't a word that always has to be associated with a heroic deed.

Mrs. Winters entered the Press Bowlerama because she wanted to be the oldest woman entry in the tournament.

The interesting note in regard to her entry however is the fact that she carries an average of 64.

It takes a lot of courage for bowler whether nine or 90 to enter a tournament with a 64 average, but Mrs. Winters doesn't let her average worry her because, "I'm just crazy about bowling."

Being the oldest entry in the Bowlerama automatically earns her a feature gift, Mrs. Glenn Mason, 68, was the oldest entry prior to Mrs. Winters.

The elderly Birmingham bowler is a member of Catholic Women's League which bowls in Royal Oak. Her highest single game of the season was 115.

She has a daughter, Mary Winters of Lapeer, who is also a lover of bowling and a son, George William Heil, a frequent bowler in Royal Oak.

"I bowled quite often several years back, then I quit for a while and this year I started again," said Mrs. Winters, "and I really think it has helped me physically.

Mrs. Winters will qualify with the other women in the Bowlerama at Motor Inn, February 15th. Women have until next Monday midnight to submit their entries.

★ ★ ★

Oldest man entry in the tournament is J. E. "Cap" Holliday, who is 74 years old. Prior to Holliday's entry, Stephen Bone, 67, held the lead among the oldest bowlers.

In Podoley's Steps

2 Chips on Pro List

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — A pair of Central Michigan college linemen hope they will be just half as successful in the professional football ranks as their former teammate, Jim Podoley.

★ ★ ★

Podoley became the first CMC player ever to make it in the pro field and last season, his rookie year with the Washington Redskins, he was acclaimed as one of the brightest youngsters in the National Football League.

This year the Detroit Lions drafted guard Gordon Ringquist and the Baltimore Colts picked tackle-guard Bob Grimes.

The most surprising thing about the selections was the fact that Grimes was picked in the 26th round despite the fact that he has played less than 15 minutes of varsity football.

The 6-foot-2, 240-pound lineman from Ecorse missed the entire 1957 season with a broken hand. As a freshman at Central, Grimes suffered a shoulder separation that sidelined him most of the season. As a sophomore he alternated between the varsity and JV squads.

Grimes, who is only a junior, missed two seasons in high school because of a broken nose and a broken foot.

Grimes did not know of his selection until he read it in a newspaper.

Kelly cautions, however, that this may be true only "if his knee holds up."

Ringquist, a 6-foot-3, 250-pounder from Big Rapids, has been bothered throughout his football career by a trick knee. Last year he underwent surgery to have it corrected and says now the knee is completely healed. Getting back into his old form at mid-season, Ringquist led the Chips to four victories in their last five starts.

Jewelers Smack Royals, 76-54

Shaw's Jewelers avenged two previous lickings from the Lakeside Royals by slapping down the Class A league leaders convincingly last night, 76-54, in city basketball action at Pontiac Central.

Shaw's triumph, coupled with the CIO's 77-62 victory over the Knights of Columbus, moved the Jewelers into a 2nd place tie with the Knights.

A fat 36-point scoring spree by Ellis Appleton paced Shaw's as the Royals suffered their 2nd loss of the season. Big Hudson Ray scored 21 points for Local 594 while the Knights' Hal Trott took game honors with 25.

Veteran Cage Coach Asks 3 Rule Changes

NEW YORK (AP)—Howard Hobson, who can list more credentials than many coaches still in the game, today called for the elimination of thre evils which he said were plaguing college basketball.

Hobson, ex-Yale coach, former chairman of the Olympic Basketball Committee and one-time president of the National Assn. of Basketball Coaches, wants to see:

1. Only one foul shot awarded for a defensive infraction, but if it's good, the shot to count for two points.
2. A 30-second time limit for a shot by the attacking team.
3. A change in the scoring system to discourage the use of the zone defense.

Dickie Moore Leads Scoring

Montreal Winger Sets Pace in NHL; Teammate Henri Richard 2nd

MONTREAL (AP)—Durable Dickie Moore, so far one of the few hale and hearty members of the Montreal Canadiens to answer the call for every game, continues to set the National Hockey League scoring pace.

Dickie never has known it so good, in a scoring way. In 50 games he has collected 29 goals and 36 assists for 65 points, five more than teammate Henri "Pocket Rocket" Richard, the runner-up.

In the full 70-game schedule last season Moore compiled 29 goals and 29 assists. His 58 points topped anything he had done since breaking into the league with the Canadiens in the 1951-52 season. He finished eighth last season, 31 points behind scoring champion Gordie Howe of the Detroit Red Wings.

Ryff's Triumph Dimmed by Cuts

NEW YORK (AP)—Frankie Ryff's ring future depends on the advice of the doctor who performed plastic surgery on his face last June. Ryff was cut around both eyes last night while winning a unanimous decision over Tony DeCola in a ten rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Charlie Black, Ryff's manager, said the boxer would have his eye cuts repaired at New Rochelle Hospital.

DeCola, 147½ to Ryff's 140 and three inches taller, finished with a rush. Tony also started strong but Ryff beat him with body punches in the middle rounds. In the tenth, DeCola sent Ryff staggering across the ring and opened the deep cuts over his right eye in a gory finish. Both men were blood-spattered.

NHL Owners and Players Confer in Joint Session

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—An informal meeting last night set the stage for a joint meeting today of club owners and player representatives from each of the six teams in the National Hockey League.

Owners arriving early for the meeting said it was in no way to be considered as recognition of the newly-formed Hockey Players Assn.

"We are just the same as baseball," said Conn Smythe, president of the Toronto Maple Leafs. "We feel that management must retain direction, but at the same time we enter the meeting with a free mind and hope we can solve problems with the players. The meeting was called at their request."

★ ★ ★

Ted Lindsay of the Chicago Black Hawks requested the meeting in a telegram to Jim Norris, head of the Chicago club, said Smythe.

The players previously had announced the group would ask for an improved pension plan, a $7,000 minimum wage, payment for exhibition games, contract release for five-year men assigned to the minor, and recognition of the association formed last February.

Orion at Romeo Non-Loop Feature Tonight

W-O Battles Top Hoop Slate

By CHUCK ABAIR

Two interesting Wayne - Oakland League games and a local battle of independents headline a 17-game prep basketball schedule for teams in the Oakland County area today.

★ ★ ★

All will be played at night with the exception of Cranbrook's home opener in the Inter-State League which is this afternoon against Patterson.

Clarkston's invasion of Brighton carries the feature role on tonight's program due to its importance in loop play. West Bloomfield has hopes of upsetting Northville in the other W-O clash.

The only other league action on the slate will be at Birmingham where the Maples host Mt. Clemens.

Farmington at Clarenceville, Ferndale at Royal Oak Dondero, Goodrich at Ortonville, Hamtramck at East Detroit, Lakeview at Troy, Thurston at Oak Park, Mt. Carmel at Shrine, Madison Lamphere at Lutheran East, Kingston at North Branch, Millington at Lakeville and Country Day at Maumee, Ohio round out the schedule.

Clarkston (10-0), Troy (11-0) and Ferndale (6-0) continue to reign as the county's only unbeaten quintets but all face rugged assignments tonight.

Brighton is one of the chief obstacles Clarkston must hurdle to take Wayne - Oakland Lonors this year. The Bulldogs, with such steady scorers as Brian Watson and Russ Hudson, will be tough at home. West Bloomfield has been an up-and-down team but is capable of dropping any foe on a given night as Holly and Brighton learned.

Birmingham should get back on the winning side in the only EML tilt while Cranbrook will be going for the equalizer in its loop after an opening loss.

The Dragons of Hal Carlin will be heavily favored on the basis of an earlier 64-40 romp but are expecting considerable trouble on the small Romeo court where shooting stars Jim Drake and Nick Neira may be hampered.

Oxford has lost 10 straight, one a season opener battering by Avondale, and has little hope for snapping that string despite having the home court edge. Avon is 5-4.

The Farmington - Clarenceville, Ferndale-Dondero games bring together rival from different leagues while two of this sector's outstanding Class A teams will be meeting in that East Detroit tilt.

Martinez 'Byes' Finals

NEW YORK (AP)—Vince Martinez sits in the driver's seat in the welterweight elimination tournament. By drawing a bye into the finals, the handsome Paterson, N.J. boxer can pick his shots.

★ ★ ★

If Martinez chooses to wait, the winner of a proposed Isaac Logart-Virgil Akins bout must meet him before a champion is crowned by the World Championship Boxing Committee.

★ ★ ★

If Martinez accepts an offer to box Logart, the clever Cuban, the National Boxing Assn. said it would recognize the winner as the new 147-pound king.

★ ★ ★

Of course, Akins, the St. Louis slugger, already is champion—in Massachusetts.

Julius Helfand, head of the World Committee, held a drawing yesterday among the three survivors of the six men who originally were named for the tournament.

While Helfand watched, Nat Fleischer, Ring Magazine editor, plukced the names from a hat. Akins was first. Then Logart. That left Martinez with a bye.

Ironically, Martinez got his break in a drawing run by Helfand, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission. Helfand had set down his manager, Bill Daly, long ago for refusing to testify at a commission inquiry into Martinez' charges that he was being boycotted because of his break with Daly. Later Daly and Martinez got together on a new contract. Neither is licensed in New York.

Kansas Fails, So Does Wilt

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain didn't make it.

The Kansas All-America had an opportunity last night to move past Seattle's idle Elgin Baylor into first place in major college basketball's scoring race, but instead dropped to third.

While his Kansas team was losing in double overtime to Kansas State, Chamberlain scored only 25 points to fall into third with a 31.8 average. He needed 34 points to overtake Baylor's leading 32.43 mark.

Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson, also idle, moved into the runner-up position on the basis of his 32.25 average.

Boozer Outscores the Stilt

K-State Wins in Overtime

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wilt Chamberlain? Who's he? The big guy in major college basketball today is Bob Boozer, a 6-foot-8 junior who did a virtual one-man wrecking job on Kansas and The Stilt in Kansas State's big bid for a crack at the national title.

Boozer scored 32 points and carried the Wildcats in the clutch for a 79-75 double overtime victory at Kansas in a battle of ranked powers last night. He also paired with 6-foot-8 Jack Parr on a defensing job that held the 7-foot Chamberlain to 25 points.

It was the sixth straight success for the Wildcats and avenged their lone defeat. It also could go a long way toward ushering Kansas State to the Big Eight conference title and NCAA tournament berth.

Now 15-1, Kansas State is ranked No. 4 again in today's Associated Press poll, based on games through last Saturday. West Virginia (15-1), Kansas (12-3) and Cincinnati (15-2) retained the top three spots.

The two midland powers were the only top 10 teams active last night.

There was only one change among the top 10 in today's AP poll. After K-State, it's San Francisco, Oklahoma State, North Carolina, Maryland, North Carolina State and Temple, with the Owls moving up while Kentucky dropped to 12th, behind Bradley.

American, Japanese Skiers Cut Into Alpine Monopoly

★ ★ ★

After the first two days of the World Alpine championships, the United States, Japan and especially Norway have proved that they have learned a lot from the nations which more or less ruled the world's slalom and downhill trails in recent years.

★ ★ ★

On Sunday it was little Chiharu "Chick" Igaya of Japan and Wallace "Bud" Werner of Steamboat Springs, Colo., who broke into the ranks of the Austrians, Swiss and French racers to finish third and fourth in the men's slalom which was won by Austria's Josl Rieder and Toni Sailer.

The Norwegian girl waltzed through the gates of the ladies' slalom in true Viennese style to beat the skiing elite of Continental Europe.

Another Norwegian girl, Astrid Sandvik, finished fourth behind Bjoernbakken, Austria's Putzi Frandl, and Switzerland's Anne Marie Waser. Berit Stuve, another Norwegian girl, captured the seventh place.

Never since the unforgettable Stein Eriksen swept the 1954 world championships in Aare, Sweden, did Norway have such a great day in Alpine skiing.

Aaron, Braves Disagree Over Money Matters

MILWAUKEE (INS) — Outfielder Hank Aaron, the Milwaukee Braves' best hitter and the National League's most valuable player last season, has failed to come to salary terms for 1958 with Braves general manager John Quinn.

Aaron, who conferred with Quinn yesterday, said:

"We've talked but we are not even close (on pay terms). To my way of thinking, a fellow who has a good year is entitled to a raise. The one I was offered doesn't amount to much."

Hank, who will be 24 tomorrow, drew a salary last year estimated at between $28,000 and $30,000.

Kennedy Fined $100 for Hitting Canadien

MONTREAL (AP) — Forbes Kennedy, Detroit Red Wings forward, has been fined $100 by National Hockey League president Clarence Campbell for striking a Montreal lineman in a game here Thursday.

'55 Derby King Denies Charge

CHINO, Calif. (INS) — Rex Ellsworth, former owner of the thoroughbred champion Swaps, last night denied that the 1955 Kentucky Derby winner was "on the government relief rolls."

Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del), made the charge yesterday on the senate floor. He said that the Ellsworth ranch in Seligman, Ariz., received $28,914 for drought relief. The senator said the Ellsworth ranch was "one of the country's richest racing stables."

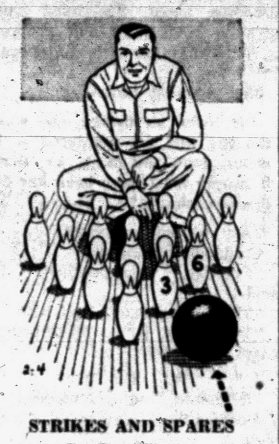

Ellsworth declared that the drought relief "has been examined a long time ago. It was passed on by three men on the local level and passed on by the head man in the state."

He said:

Strikes and Spares

By Joe Wilman

During a private lesson the other day, my pupil complained that his chief trouble is a ball that keeps coming into the 3-6 pocket. As you can see today, such a ball won't score a strike.

After watching my friend roll several frames, I spotted his trouble. His angle was wrong. He was a straight ball bowler, and he was releasing the ball too close to the center of the alley. I suggested he move a few boards to the right and try it again. After a couple of additional minor moves, he found his strike angle, and began putting the ball into that 1-3 pocket a lot more consistently.

If this is your problem, and you're a hook or curve-ball bowler, you may also be releasing the ball too far to the left, sending it too far out to the right for it to hook back and into the 1-3 pocket. Here again, you should move a board or two to the right to change your angle.

So, if you're having trouble getting the ball into the strike pocket, change your angle. That's the best remedy for such trouble.

THE STORY SO FAR: A blind in a train passing hers snaps up and respectable Mrs. McGillicuddy, on a prosaic trip to visit her friend Miss Marple, fluttery old lady with a shrewd brain and a gift for solving crimes, sees a man strangling a woman. After several trips over Mrs. McGillicuddy's route Miss Marple figures that the body must have been thrown out as the train passed the neglected park of Rutherford Hall, built by Mr. Crackenthorpe, rich manufacturer. She asks Lucy Eyelesbarrow, brilliant young woman who has made for herself a unique profession—taking temporary charge of households and running them like magic—to get herself employed at Rutherford Hall. Emma, Crackenthorpe's daughter, engages her. In a barn Lucy pries open a sarcophagus and finds the body of a murdered woman. Mrs. McGillicuddy identifies the picture of the murdered woman as that of the woman she saw in the train. Just before Christmas Martine, the girl Lt. Edmund Crackenthorpe, who was killed in the war, was going to marry, wrote asking Emma if she might visit them, but later canceled the visit. If Edmund had a son he'll inherit Rutherford hall and share in the trust. Inspector Craddock questions Dr. Quimper, the family physician, about a previous illness of Mr. Crackenthorpe. Did he suspect poisoning?

Craddock persisted.

"I see, Doctor. You were quite satisfied? You were not at all — shall we say — puzzled?"

★ ★ ★

"All right. All right. Yes, I was Yours Truly Puzzled! Does that please you?"

"It interests me," said Craddock. "What actually did you suspect—or fear?"

"Gastric cases vary, of course — but there were certain indications that would have been, shall we say, more consistent with arsenical poisoning than with plain gastro enteritis. Mind you, the two things are very much alike. Better men than myself have failed to recognize arsenical poisoning — and have given a certificate in all good faith."

"And what was the result of your inquiries?"

"It seemed that what I suspected could not possibly be true. Mr. Crackenthorpe assured me that he had had similar attacks before I attended him — and from the same cause, he said. They had always taken place when there was too much rich food about."

"Which was when the house was full? With the family? Or guests?"

"Yes. That seemed reasonable enough. But frankly, Craddock, I wasn't happy. I went so far as to write to old Dr. Morris. He was my senior partner and retired soon after I joined him. Crackenthorpe was his patient originally. I asked about these earlier attacks that the old man had had."

"And what response did you get?"

Quimper grinned.

"I got a flea in the ear. I was more or less told not to be a damned fool. Well —" he shrugged his shoulders. "Presumably I was a damned fool."

★ ★ ★

"I wonder." Craddock was thoughtful.

Then he decided to speak frankly.

"Throwing discretion aside, doctor, there are people who stand to benefit pretty considerably from Luther Crackenthorpe's death." The doctor nodded. "He's an old man — and a hale and hearty one. He may live to be ninety odd?"

"And his sons — and daughter — are all getting on — and they are all feeling the pinch?"

"You leave Emma out of it. She's no poisoner. These attacks only happen when the others are there — not when she and he are alone."

"An elementary precaution — if she's the one," the Inspector thought, but was careful not to say aloud.

He paused, choosing his words carefully.

"Surely — I'm ignorant in these matters — but supposing just as a hypothesis that arsenic was administered — hasn't Crackenthorpe been very lucky not to succumb?"

★ ★ ★

"Now there," said the doctor, "you have got something odd. It is exactly that fact that leads me to believe that I have been, as old Morris puts it, a damned fool. You see, it's obviously not a case of small doses of arsenic administered regularly — which is what you might call the classic method of arsenic poisoning. Crackenthorpe has never had any chronic gastric trouble. In a way, that's what makes these sudden violent attacks seem unlikely. So, assuming they are not due to natural causes, it looks as though the poisoner is muffing it every time which hardly makes sense."

"Giving an inadequate dose, you mean?"

"Yes. On the other hand, Crackenthorpe's got a strong constitution and what might do in another man, doesn't do him in. There's always personal idiosyncrasy to be reckoned with. But you'd think that by now, the poisoner — unless he's unusually timid — would have stepped up the dose. Why hasn't he?

"That is," he added, "if there is a poisoner which there probably isn't! Probably all my ruddy imagination from start to finish."

"It's an odd problem," the Inspector agreed. "It doesn't seem to make sense."

★ ★ ★

"Inspector Craddock!"

The eager whisper made the Inspector jump.

"We heard your car, and we wanted to get hold of you."

"Well, let's come inside." Craddock's hand went out to the door bell again, but Alexander pulled at his coat with the eagerness of a pawing dog.

"Yes, we've found a clue," Stoddart-West echoed.

"Damn that girl," thought Craddock unamiably.

"Splendid," he said in perfunctory manner. "Let's go inside the house and look at it."

"No," Alexander was insistent. "Someone's sure to interrupt. Come to the harness room. We'll guide you."

Somewhat unwillingly, Craddock allowed himself to be guided around the corner of the house and along to the stable yard. Stoddart-West pushed open a heavy door, stretched up, and turned on a rather feeble electric light. The harness room, once the acme of Victorian spit and polish, was now the sad repository of everything that no one wanted. Broken garden chairs, vast decrepit mowing machine, rusted spring mattresses, hammocks, and disintegrated tennis nets.

★ ★ ★

There were certain tokens of occupancy about. The decayed mattresses had been piled up to make a kind of divan, there was an old rusted table on which reposed a large tin of chocolate biscuits, there was a hoard of apples, a tin of coffee, and a jig saw puzzle.

"It really is a clue, sir," said Stoddart-West eagerly, his eyes gleaming behind his spectacles. "We found it this afternoon."

"We've been hunting for days. In the bushes—"

"And inside hollow trees—"

"And we went all through the ashbins—"

"There were some jolly interesting things there, as a matter of fact—"

"And then we went into the boiler house—"

"For when the boiler goes out and he wants to start it again—"

"Any odd paper that's blowing about. He picks it up and shoves it in there—"

★ ★ ★

"Found WHAT?" Craddock interrupted the duet.

Importantly, Stoddart-West, in the best detective story tradition, drew on a pair of rather dirty gloves and took from his pocket a Kodak photographic folder. From this he extracted in his gloved fingers with the utmost care, a soiled and crumpled envelope which he handed importantly to the Inspector.

The letter had been through the post, there was no enclosure inside, it was just a torn envelope — addressed to Mrs. Martine Crackenthorpe, 126 Elvers Crescent, N. 10.

"You see?" said Alexander breathlessly. "It shows she was here — Uncle Edmund's French wife, I mean — the one there's all the fuss about. She must have actually been here and dropped it somewhere. So it looks, doesn't it—"

Stoddart-West broke in.

"It looks as though she was the one who got murdered — I mean, don't you think, sir, that it simply must have been her in the sarcophagus?"

"Possible, very possible," he said.

★ ★ ★ ★

Stoddart-West gave a deep sigh.

"Smashing luck for us, wasn't it?" he said. "On our last day, too."

"Last day?"

"Yes," said Alexander. "I'm going to Stodders' place tomorrow for the last few days of the holidays. Stodders' people have got a smashing house — Queen Anne, isn't it?"

"William and Mary," said Stoddart-West.

"Mum's French. She doesn't really know about English architecture."

"But your father said it was built—"

Clever of Lucy Eyelesbarrow. How had she managed to fake the post mark? He peered closely, but the light was too feeble. Great fun for the boys of course, but rather awkward for him. Lucy, drat her, hadn't considered that angle. If this were genuine, it would enforce a course of action. There—

Beside him a learned architectural argument was being hotly pursued. He was deaf to it.

"Come on boys," he said, "we'll go into the house. You've been very helpful."

Craddock was escorted by the boys through the back door into the house. This was, it seemed, their common mode of entrance. The kitchen was bright and cheerful. Lucy, in a large white apron was rolling out pastry. Leaning against the dresser, watching her with a kind of dog-like attention was Bryan Eastley. With one hand he tugged at his large fair mustache.

"Hullo, Dad," said Alexander kindly. "You out here again?"

"Oh, I don't mind," said Lucy. "Good evening, Inspector Craddock."

"Not exactly. Mr. Cedric Crackenthorpe is still here, isn't he?"

"I'd like a word with him — yes, please."

"I'll go and see if he's in," said Bryan. "He may have gone round to the local."

He propped himself from the dresser.

"Thank you so much," said Lucy to him. "My hands are all over flour or I'd go."

"Peach Flan."

"Goodoh," said Stoddart-West.

"No."

"Gosh! I'm terribly hungry."

"My congratulations to you," said Craddock.

"Over what?"

★ ★ ★

"Very nicely done," he said.

"What are you talking about?"

"This, my dear girl — this." He drew it out.

Good Skiing, Skating in Area

Ski areas and skating rinks thrived on January's weather. Low temperatures and snow, but not as much as heavy snow warnings predicted, prevailed in the Pontiac area throughout the month making conditions ideal for all winter sports fans.

★ ★ ★

Low temperatures hovered around the zero mark during the first week of the month. On the fourth, winter's icy finger plunged the mercury to one below zero, making it the coldest day of January.

Pontiac area residents were not alone in their shiverings. On the eighth, Michigan became the nation's ice box. Temperatures of zero or below were reported in every section of the state except the Detroit area and the northwest section of the Upper Peninsula.

The cold snap broke over the weekend as temperatures rose to the high 30s. The highest reading of the month was 42 recorded on the 13th. Along with milder temperatures came fair skies.

CLEAR SKIES

Fair weather ended on the 20th as snow flurries hit the area. However, they were mild compared to the five inches of snow that was anticipated in heavy snow warnings issued in the early morning.

The U. S. Weather Bureau continued to issue heavy snow warnings that never materialized through the 23rd, but light snow flurries were in evidence every day from the 20th to the 31st.

HEAVIEST SNOW

The heaviest snow of the month blustered into the Pontiac area on the 24th. Evening snowfall piled more than three inches on the area by morning.

For the last six days of the month, the weatherman issued the same prediction every day. Unchanging temperatures and cloudy with snow flurries. The mercury remained in the 30s.

The statistics for the month are: Average high, 30.8 degrees; average low, 18.1 degrees, and the average temperature for the month was 24.9 degrees. Approximately six inches of snow fell during the month.

Man Stands Mute to Hit-Run Charge

★ ★ ★

Wooter, of 249 Harrison Ave., admitted driving the car which struck down and killed Mrs. Annie Gilmore, 67, of 456 Harvey St., last month.

★ ★ ★

Police later found Wooter's car parked behind his house, based upon a description from a witness who saw the accused stop only long enough to recover a piece of chrome trim knocked off the car at impact.

Stands Mute to Charge of Breaking, Entering

Charged with breaking and entering, Dick Hendrix, 23, of 653 Kinney Rd., yesterday stood mute and heard Circuit Court Judge George B. Hartrick enter a plea of innocent during his arraignment.

Hendrix, alias Roy Hendriks, along with a 15-year-old boy were found by Pontiac police on Jan. 17 after they broke into the City Beverage Co. at 117 Turk St.

Hendrix is now in the Oakland County jail awaiting trial. He could not post a $5,000 bond.

Man Put on Probation

Judge Frank L. Doty yesterday placed Jesus Medina, 19, of 1329 Locke St., on three years probation and assessed him $100 court costs for burglarizing 10 homes and business places in Pontiac.

Medina pleaded guilty Jan. 20 to breaking into the places along with a juvenile boy and girl.

Army-Wise Eddie Fisher Advises Draftee Presley

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The soon-to-be Pvt. Elvis Presley draws this advice from Army old-timer Eddie Fisher: Take your basic training and then entertain your fellow soldiers.

That's what Eddie did five years ago—"and it was the greatest experience of my life."

"I think the best thing for Elvis to do is to take his basic training and prove that he be one of the boys," said Eddie. "The other guys might be a little tough on him because of all the publicity he's had.

"I felt it when I was going through. There's no outright hostility, but they keep watching you all the time to see if you're going to goof off. When you're out on a long hike, you don't dare fold up and ride the truck, as some do. You've got to keep going—or else.

★ ★ ★

I pressed him, and he made these comments: "I don't know what he's got. Certainly, he's no singer; even he must admit that. Maybe it's the beat. All the rock 'n' roll singers have it, and the beat seems to be important in today's market.

$100 Million Lost Yearly in U.S. by Carelessness

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Did you know that Americans lose over 100 million dollars every year because of careless handling?

★ ★ ★

Horace Foulks, representing American Express, said the survey showed most of this money could be saved by more care.

★ ★ ★

He said that besides pocket-picking and bag-snatching, people lose money by leaving it in hotel rooms, hiding it in furnaces and other odd places, mailing it in letters that carry no return addresses, and letting it slip through holes in clothes.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Do birds have teeth?

ANSWER: When we say "scarce as hen's teeth," the expression could apply to all living birds. But in prehistoric days birds with teeth were not so scarce. We know that one long beaked bird called archaeopteryx had two rows of teeth, which made his mouth resemble that of a crocodile. This strange bird has been reconstructed from fossil remains found by scientific excavations. Modern birds, lacking teeth, digest their food in their craw. Seagulls often drop clams and oysters from great heights onto rocks in order to get at the edibles inside the shell.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Paste this picture down on cardboard, color it with your crayons and save in your bird and animal scrapbook. Visit a nearby woodland or beach to observe the eating habits of different kinds of birds. Do you think they are hampered by lack of teeth?

★ ★ ★

(An award of $10 goes to Linda Loveland of Corona, Calif., for submitting this winning question. Send your Junior Editors question on a postcard to Violet Moore Higgins, AP Newsfeatures, in care of this newspaper. Tomorrow: How did the Teddy Bear originate?)

8 Lutheran Bodies View All-Out Union

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Leaders of eight Lutheran church bodies today were asked to abandon plans for piecemeal mergers in favor of all-out union in a single church.

★ ★ ★

Such a merger would bring over five million persons — two thirds of all Lutherans in the United States and Canada — into one Lutheran body.

The appeal for total merger was made by the Rev. Dr. F. Eppling Reinartz, New York City, long an ardent advocate of Lutheran unity, at the 40th annual meeting of the National Lutheran Council.

★ ★ ★

Seven of the eight church bodies in the council are presently involved in discussions which could lead to two mergers.

19th Jane for Tarzan

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The 19th Jane since 1919 in the perennial Tarzan film series is a leggy, green-eyed blonde from Texas. Producer Sol Lesser announced that he has signed 24-year-old Eve Brent of Fort Worth to play opposite Tarzan Gordon Scott. He said he had looked at more than 3,000 girls and had given screen tests to 19.

Didn't Break Even

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Julius Boros, the golf professional from Mid Pines, N.C., didn't break even on his try in the $16,000 Phoenix Open. Boros tied with several others in sixth place for $258.34. Later he reported somebody had broken into his car and stolen clothing and jewelry valued at $1,666.50.

Warns of Peddlers Without Licenses

Pontiac householders were warned today by Lt. Charles Gale of the Pontiac Police Dept. not to do business with door-to-door peddlers who do not show a city license.

★ ★ ★

"The law requires every peddler or solicitor to get a city license and to display it by pinning it to his coat lapel," Lt. Gale said.

"Lately we have had an influx of unlicensed peddlers, mainly from Detroit, some of whom have fleeced local citizens," he said.

★ ★ ★

"Before we issue a license, we check the records of these people and can often eliminate the shady ones," he added.

Space Program Study Ordered

Ike's Science Adviser to Decide if Pentagon Should Carry On WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has ordered his science adviser to come up with recommendations on whether America's space program should be left in the Pentagon or turned over to some new agency of government.

★ ★ ★

Dr. James R. Killian Jr., Eisenhower's adviser on scientific problems, provided a briefing at the session.

★ ★ ★

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told reporters afterward that Killian will produce a report on "the type of up in the field of outer space activities—as to where it will be in the over-all structure of the government."

When the Killian report wil come along, Knowland didn't say. He said it will go first to the President and then to the Republican leaders on Capitol Hill.

It was these leaders, Knowland said, who requested the presence of Killian at this regular Tuesday legislative huddle with the chief executive.

★ ★ ★

The conference lasted two hours and 10 minutes. Rep. Allen (R-Ill) commented that "it was about the longest we've had in a long time."

Court to Determine How to Try Burnside

A hearing is scheduled for Friday in the Oakland County Probate Court to determine whether 16-year-old Robert Burnside, of Royal Oak Township, will stand trial for murder as an adult.

★ ★ ★

The announcement came out of a conference yesterday with Oakland County Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Le Roy McIntee, who is expected to seek a waiver from Probate Court to try Burnside as an adult.

Burnside allegedly admitted Sunday to authorities that he stabbed William C. Johnson once in a teenage brawl at a dance at the Royal Oak Township Community Building, 21075 Wyoming Ave., Saturday night.

Johnson, 17, of 8112 Cloverdale St., Ferndale, was dead on arrival at Detroit's Mt. Carmel Hospital. He had three stab wounds in the back, three in the chest and one in the abdomen.

Fifteen other youths at the scene have also been questioned with no results, detectives said.

General Replacing Gavin En Route From Korea

★ ★ ★

Trudeau, who has been commander of the Army 1st Corps in Korea, said the successful launching of the first U.S. satellite is "only a beginning."

★ ★ ★

"It would be most unfortunate," he warned, "If the American people turned over and went to sleep just because we put up a 30-pound satellite."

Argus Ups Sales Staff

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Argus Cameras Division of Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., is enlarging its sales force by more than 30 per cent. The program involves the appointment of 13 new district sales managers and a special West Coast representative, and the addition of seven new executives.

Stock Market Gains Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) — The Stock Market plugged ahead to slight gains in moderately active early trading today.

Most advances of key stocks were narrow but some stretched to about a point. Some special issues made wider gains.

★ ★ ★

Aircraft-missile stocks showed small plus and minus signs as the group seemed to have lost momentum following news of the first American space satellite.

The market, having topped the November highs, still remained in a zone of resistance where supplies of stock were for sale and upward progress was difficult.

An encouraging factor was a new sign of easier credit in the drop in U.S. Treasury short-term interest rates to the lowest since 1955.

★ ★ ★

Chrysler, prime contractor for the Jupiter-C which launched the satellite, eased, as did North American Aviation, maker of the missile's first stage rocket engine. Douglas and General Dynamics rose fractionally.

Union Carbide, selling ex-dividend, rose more than a point but Du Pont lost around a point. Vick Chemical added 2. Pfizer was up a fraction. High-priced IBM advanced about 5.

General Motors and Ford were firm. Among rails Chesapeake & Ohio dropped about a point but some other carriers made small gains.

Opening blocks included Royal Dutch off ¼ at 40¾ on 2,500 shares; Bethlehem Steel up ⅛ at 40¼ on 6,000; General Dynamics up ⅛ at 61⅜ on 3,000; and Boeing up ⅛ at 38¼ on 1,400.

Expert Points to Mid-Year

Sees Pickup in Economy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, expects the nation's economic growth to pick up around the middle of this year.

★ ★ ★

His testimony on unemployment trends and economic conditions was given to a House Appropriations subcommittee on Jan. 16 and was made public today by the committee.

"Economic growth ought to be resumed during 1958," Saulnier said when asked about increasing unemployment. "It is, I think, unlikely that we could expect that to happen in the first quarter of the year.

"I would certainly expect it to be under way before the fourth quarter of the year. And so, it becomes a question whether to expect it in the second or the third quarter. My guess is that it will occur around the middle of the year."

★ ★ ★

Saulnier said a decline in expenditures of business concerns on new plant and equipment "will probably continue through the early part of the year, but should not extend long into the year."

Top Court Rules Against NLRB

Victory for John L. Lewis

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, in a major victory for Mine Worker boss John L. Lewis, says unions don't have to comply with the Taft-Hartley Act to represent workers in collective bargaining.

The court took that stand in a unanimous ruling yesterday that the National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) exceeded its powers in ordering an Alabama company not to recognize District 50, the catch-all affiliate of Lewis' United Mine Workers Union.

Lewis, who has denounced the law as "a slave labor statute," has balked at complying with its provisions—including the filing of non-Communist affidavits with the NLRB and financial reports with the secretary of labor.

Yesterday's court ruling upset an NLRB order involving District 50 and the Bowman Transportation Co. of Gadsden, Ala., which the board had found had unlawfully assisted district 50 in an organizational fight with the Teamsters Union. The board ordered that the company withhold recognition of District 50 unless it complied with the Taft-Hartley Law.

Mike Todd, Liz Rush to Athens for Film Opening

ATHENS (INS) — Mike Todd and Elizabeth Taylor — becoming almost as famous a traveling team as Russia's B. and K., breezed into Athens last night — late because of the fog.

★ ★ ★

Against Change in Speed Limit

Waterford Board Fights Five-Mile Increase on Part of Dixie Highway

Waterford Township board members last night disapproved of the State Highway Department proposal to change the speed limit on a portion of Dixie Highway.

★ ★ ★

The board voted to write a letter to Joseph Marlow, district traffic engineer, stating they did not approve of a five-mile increase in the speed limit in the Drayton Plains shopping area.

This would be from Hatchery Rd. to the end of the Drayton Shopping Center, approximately one quarter mile north of Walton Blvd., supervisor Elmer Johnson said today.

The Highway Department suggested the speed limit on a portion of Dixie Highway approximately five miles long, from West Blvd. to Waterford Hill (the township line), be changed to 40 miles an hour. This strip of highway is now divided into two speed limits, 45 m.p.h. from West Blvd., to just north of Watkins Lake Rd., and 35 m.p.h. from that point to the township line.

The department proposal resulted from a traffic study made last year on five different sections of the highway from 2 to 4 p.m. The survey revealed drivers were exceeding the 35 m.p.h. limit.

The board also decided to refund $171 to the Simon Electric Co. of Detroit for building permits obtained in 1955. The Scholnick Dunitz Co., Detroit builders, had obtained the permits for the Doyan subdivision, but never used them.

A $1.50 administrative cost for each of the fifty-seven $4.50 permits was charged.

Clerk James Seeterlin was also given permission to obtain quotations for printing registration cards for voters.

Dodge Plant Closed; 5,000 Go Home

DETROIT (INS) — The Dodge Main plant in Detroit was closed today idling about 5,000 employes.

★ ★ ★

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said the plant closed an hour before negotiators for United Auto Workers Local Three and the company gathered to work out a solution to the dispute.

The spokesman said the shutdown resulted from trim shop workers refusing to maintain production standards.

It was reported union and company representatives were discussing a compromise to resolve the dispute. A prolonged strike at Dodge Main could idle some 70,000 in the Detroit area.

Conservative Leads in Costa Rica Race

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (AP)—Conservative leader Mario Echandi today appeared the winner in the contest for president of Costa Rica. But he was given little chance gaining control of Congress.

With only 207 of the 1,984 polling places still unreported, returns gave Echandi, lawyer and former foreign minister, 99,250 votes; Francisco Orlich, the government-backed candidate, 92,676; and Ljorge Rossi, Independent party, 22,453.

Announcers broadcasting the returns said only small isolated areas remained to be tallied. No runoff is necessary if the high man gets more than 40 per cent of the vote.

New York City Faces Problem

Mayor Appoints Group to Cope With Crime in Schools

NEW YORK (AP) — A mayor's committee of top city and school officials went to work at City Hall last night to draw up a program to cope with crime in the city's schools.

★ ★ ★

The group was appointed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner yesterday after he had met for two hours with school officials at Gracie Mansion, his official residence.

The calling of the meeting was Wagner's first direct intervention in a crisis which heightened in recent weeks as teen-age violence flared anew in Brooklyn schools. So far this week, the violence has subsided.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

The board accused the jury of "harassing" school officials and making a threatening statement to George Goldfarb, a Brooklyn school principal who committed suicide last week. The jury foreman, A. George Golden, accused the board of telling "deliberate lies" and said the charges were an attempt to divert the jury from its course.

At 3:36 p.m. firemen returned, and fought a kitchen wall fire for more than two hours, with the assistance of Independence Township firemen.

Faulty wiring was blamed again. Damage to the building was estimated at $3,000 with $1,500 to contents. Owner of the building is Frank Taylor. The Metropolitan Auxiliary served coffee to the firemen, utilizing the department's rescue unit.

Mountie Saves Crash Victims in Arctic Circle

WINNIPEG, Man. (AP) — Four persons whose plane crashed near the Arctic Circle owe their lives to a Canadian Mountie who happened by on his once-a-year patrol of the desolate wasteland.

★ ★ ★

The nearest outpost was Chesterfield Inlet, 18 miles away, but Mounted Police Constable Len Mascatto was making his annual patrol by dogsled along the coast. He spotted the plane 30 minutes after the crash.

Mascatto administered first aid while his Eskimo guide went for help. The victims were taken to Chesterfield by snowmobile, then were flown to Churchill and on to Winnipeg, where they were hospitalized last night.

★ ★ ★

The victims were Wiggo Norwang, Norwegian pilot, who suffered frostbitten hands, a broken leg and bruises; Dr. Jean Charles Patry, Chesterfield Inlet, broken ribs and leg; the Eskimo, Ayaruak, broken shoulder, arm, leg and ankle; and his 11-year-old daughter Annie, undisclosed injuries.

Here's New Gimmick for Stage-Struck Gals

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — An old friend of mine, Jeanne Carmen, who's been called "too torrid for TV," came to town and revealed the amazing secret of her Hollywood success.

★ ★ ★

"I put clothes on," she said, revolutionary though it sounded. Nobody'd ever thought of that. Jeanne, who's from Dallas, Houston, St. Louis and Chicago, used to be a lingerie model and later, a trick golfer.

WILSON

She was briefly a "body model"—if a movie company wanted a poster for a Susan Hayward film, and Susan happened to be in California, they'd call on Jeanne to put her body before the cameras. Susan's face would be used.

"I don't even remember whose bodies I did," Jeanne says now, lightly. "Hayworth, Darnell, Jane Russell. . ."

★ ★ ★

Jeanne played all the best bodies—but in Hollywood when she finally went, "if my dress was cut to the navel, nobody ever noticed."

"So I put on a dress that was high-fashion and covered—and it took me 30 minutes to get through the crowd.

"And now I spend money for good, good high-fashion clothes . . . and the guys keep calling and calling. It's kind of hard to resist some of those cats, too. I myself am impressed with those crazy bodies!"

The girl who made good by puttin' on instead of takin' off has been in three pictures—"Born Reckless," "Too Much Too Soon" and "The Naked and the Dead."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Martha Raye and NBC just severed their 10-year ("lifetime") contract. Martha asked for and got her "exclusivity" release—and NBC paid her six figures to wipe the whole thing out. But she must do four four more NBC shows in two years. She'll go on the CBS "Big Record" show (which just got its option picked up) on Mar. 5.

JEANNE

James A. Farley got the flu while resting from his leg injury and nobody could visit him this past week . . . Genevieve, of the French chanteuse opened her show to the music of Jack Paar's TV theme song . . . Sam Levenson will be Person to Personed Feb. 21 from Crown Heights, Brooklyn. Boston censors ordered the nude covered in Sir Laurence Olivier's "The Entertainer" and chopped the racy language . . . Hermione Gingold saw "The Brothers Karamazov," calls it "The Brothers Unpronounceable."

One reason Sugar Ray Robinson won't be in "Porgy and Bess"; producer Sam Goldwyn said, "He looks fine now—but how will he look after his next fight?" . . . The Bing Crosbys are buying furnishings from the Hearst San Simeon estate for their Palm Springs home . . . The GE Theater's trying to reunite Nelson Eddy and Jeanette MacDonald for a TV spectacular.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The old, experienced husband is one who sits down to rest when his wife says, "I'll be ready to go in a minute, dear." That's earl, brother.

Role Delights Sid's Colleague

Video Comic Believes He Has Good Chance of Winning Stardom

By ERSKINE JOHNSON

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — That handsome Carl Reiner fellow who helped TV's Sid Caeser murder the movies is in the movies now! Proving that Hollywood usually gets the last laugh.

Even if he is at MGM, which everyone was sure Caesar meant when his TV show heralded another film satire with a title card reading, "Real Expensive Pictures Presents."

And even if Sid dropped his head in mock shame when his TV laughmate for seven years told him that he had been cast with Glenn Ford and Doris Day in a Hollywood film comedy, "Tunnel of Love."

★ ★ ★

Carl isn't blushing because while he was helping Sid lampoon the movies "I was always dreaming," he told me, "of being in the movies someday. I thought I had a good chance because there are so few light comedians left in this world."

PLAYS NEIGHBOR

"Tunnel of Love," a zippy Broadway play laundred for MGM release by Producer Joseph Fields, has Carl as Glenn and Doris' next-door neighbor.

★ ★ ★

Glenn and his wife are worried about being childless after five years of marriage while Carl and his wife (Phil Silvers' TV girl friend, Elizabeth Frazer) just can't stop having babies—three in the house and one on the way when the film opens.

To say Carl is happy about the role is an understatement.

And you can bet he'll be back at Hollywood gold-panning, if his first movie role pans out the comedy nuggets I'm sure it will. He's rejoined Sid and Imogene Coca on TV, but it's a non-exclusive contract, he'll be free from May to September and he's sure Sid would give his blessings to now-and-then film acting.

★ ★ ★

The entire Reiner family—wife Estelle, 10-year-old son Robby and 8-year-old Sylvia Anne—moved out to Hollywood for three months with Carl, who rented film star John Howard's former Brentwood home to live it up in style.

A NOVELIST, TOO

Like Ernie Kovacs, who wrote "Zoomar," a novel about TV people, Carl's about to have a novel published, too. It's titled "Enter Laughing" but it isn't about TV.

The plot revolves around a 17-year-old boy and two action-packed days in his life when he discovers acting—and a woman.

Carl said he couldn't write about TV "because I'm not bitter about it, like Ernie, and I think it's too early to be nostalgic about it."

"People may think the boy is me," he laughed, "and I hope they do. It will sell more books. But the boy isn't me."

★ ★ ★

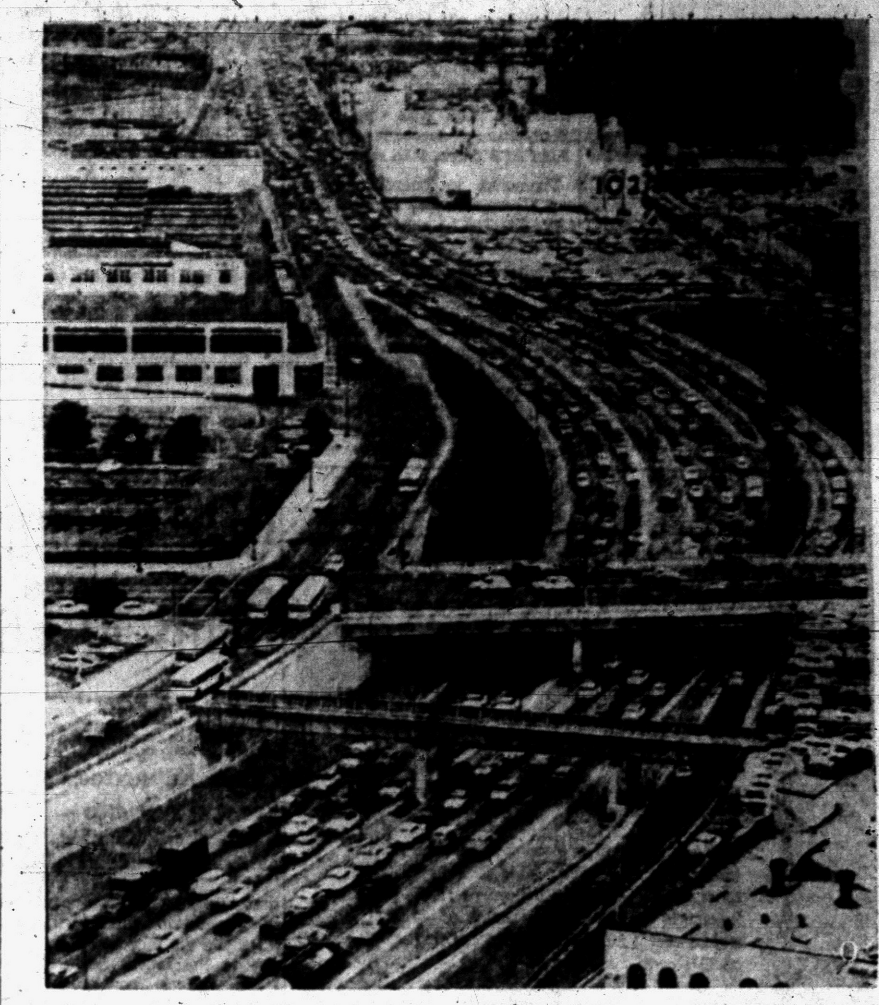

Along with all TV fans, Carl was puzzled when the NBC 10-years-of-television tribute faild to mention "Your Show of Shows," on which he first worked with Sid and Imogene, and that it even ignored Caesar. Here's the lowdown from Carl:

NBC wanted to use an old kinescope from "Shows" and Sid said fine if the network would give Producer Max Liebman credit.

But Max and NBC aren't talking while he sits out a three-year NBC contract. "No credit for Liebman," the network reportedly said. "Then no release from me," said Sid. And that ended that.

WHERE ARE THEY GOING? — A continuous flow of traffic to and from downtown Los Angeles stretches as far as the eye can see on the San Bernadino-Santa Ana freeway. Los Angeles county presents a strong example of how the automobile has taken over as a transportation favorite. Los Angeles county has more cars than all countries of South America and continental Asia combined — one for each 2½ persons. In fact, the number of cars in the county is larger than the number of families there.

Trends in U.S. Travel Modes Changing in Favor of Autos

By WILLIAM FERRIS
Associated Press Writer

First in 4-Part Series

The United States is undergoing a revolution in transportation.

It is as significant as the shift from the canal barge and the lake steamer to the train, as profound as the change from the horse and buggy to the trolley and interurban express. It affects us all.

It is a revolution which will accelerate enormously in the next few years. It will leave us a different country than we were at the end of World War II.

Railroads all over the country are cutting down on passenger service. Famous-name trains are being curtailed or consolidated just as surely as branch line locals. Says Ben Heineman, board chairman of the Chicago & North Western: "Our competitor is not the bus or the airplane. It is the private automobile."

Airplane travel has become the top method of public long-distance transportation. Yet the airlines themselves are hard pressed to make money, wondering how they can finance the movement into the jet age.

As for the smaller urban and suburban lines—in many a town the last bus has rolled into the garage, the doors have been locked and the company has gone out of business. Still more lines have cut back on service.

The bus lines have folded because of lack of patronage. The attitude of Dr. Gerald Timmis, a resident physician at Harper Hospital in Detroit, is typical: "I drive 10 miles because I can make it much faster than commuting on the Detroit street railway."

Three out of very four families in the United States own a car. There are 56 million cars on the road today compared with 26 million at the end of World War II. Twelve out of every hundred families own more than one car, compared with only three such families a decade ago.

Suburban living has increased the demand. Improved vehicles have stimulated demand — automatic transmissions, power steering, power brakes, greater use of the V8 engine. Cars have grown more dependable.

★ ★ ★

As Americans have rushed to buy cars, the cars themselves have undergone a transition. They are longer, wider, sleeker. This is Detroit style and underneath its wide acceptance a curious revolt appears to be growing.

The smaller car—a little less expensive to buy and considerably cheaper to operate—is gaining favor.

Yet the large auto companies are convinced they are giving the public what it wants. Numerous consumer surveys have proved the appeal of the longer, lower cars.

$1.4 Billion Voted for Speedup

Senate OKs Defense Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell (D-Ga) called on the Eisenhower administration today to follow up the Senate's 78-0 passage of a defense speedup bill with new moves to bolster U. S. military strength.

★ ★ ★

After 55 minutes of debate, the Senate passed the money bill with only minor amendments and sent it back to the House, where quick approval was forecast.

The measure would provide $1,410,000,000 to accelerate missile and detection developments, build more atomic submarines and disperse retaliatory bombers. The total is the same as that voted unanimously by the House.

By bipartisan agreement, no formal attempts were made in the Senate to increase the available funds, although Sen. Symington (D-Mo) contended the measure was inadequate.

Russell, who heads the Senate Armed Services Committee, said in an interview he regards the bill as offering only a first step toward building up an adequate defense in the space age.

As it was voted by the Senate, the bill carried $1,260,000,000 in new money and authority to transfer 150 million dollars in already available funds.

Symington told his colleagues the emergency measure afforded only a "piecemeal" approach to the over-all defense problem. He said an additional $2,130,000,000 in appropriations is needed.

Learns Consequences of Money Left Home

DETROIT (AP) — Patrolman Billy Keen can use himself as an example when he has occasion to utter the classic police warning: Don't leave large sums of money around the house.

Yesterday, thieves broke into Keen's home and made off with $840 in cash and his gun.

Hal Boyle Reports:

Blind Woman Busy Stage Show Producer

NEW YORK (AP)— A woman, blind since childhood, has become one of the busiest producers of off-Broadway shows here.

"Lack of sight has been no real handicap to me," said Stella Holt. "I won't let it. I keep too busy.

★ ★ ★

"People sometimes think it is frustrating to produce plays you can't see. But I do see them. I have a very good visual sense. Life is not a blankness to me. I remember what things look like. I haven't forgotten colors."

"She has wonderful judgment in picking plays," he said. "And she can tell instantly whether an actor or actress is honest in a role—or whether they are faking."

"I had myopia," she said, "and I simply read myself blind."

Despite her vision loss she went to Cornell University, was graduated, and spent many years here as an active social worker. In time that proved more frustrating to her than her blindness ever had.

"I enjoyed it, but at the same time I was depressed," she recalled. "I felt there was so little I could really do for people in ordinary social work."

"I found that my real talent, if any, lay in organizing," recalled Miss Holt—a lucky discovery for, if there is anything an off-Broadway theater needs, it is someone with a genius for organization.

★ ★ ★

In the years since then, Miss Holt has produced 14 plays, a number of which have been favorably reviewed by the city's top drama critics.

She and Hall recently opened a new theater in the ballroom of the Greystone Hotel on the upper West Side. Their first production is Walt Anderson's "Me, Candido," the story of a young Puerto Rican orphan who is adopted by three fathers. In the cast is Carlos Montalban, brother of Ricardo Montalban, the film star.

We have lost a companion — a loved one. It is natural that sadness should prevail — but not indefinitely. To do so would become sorrowing for ourselves — a type of selfishness.

GOP Chairman Believes Dems to Control Senate

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS) — Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn frankly conceded today that "I'd be kidding myself if I claimed that the GOP will win control of the Senate this fall."

Despite the fact that Democrats, due to the recent death of Sen. Matthew Neely, now enjoy only a 49 to 47 majority, Alcorn doubts that Republicans can do more than hold their own in the Senate

VOTE DEMOCRATIC

Too many GOP seats are at stake in the states which—except for the Eisenhower landslide that swept Republicans to power in 1952—ordinarily vote Democratic.

Alcorn does, however, insist that the Grand Old Party will win a "slim" majority in the House. To do so, Republicans will have to pick up approximately 20 seats

Alcorn's prediction of 20 additional GOP representatives is in marked contrast to the claim of his rival, Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler, that Democrats will gain 60 seats in the House, and five in the Senate

NORMAL TALK

But that's normal political talk at this season of the year!

The Connecticut politico, directing his first national election from the driver's seat, is inaugurating several brand-new devices which he believes will help turn the tide back to the Republican Party

To insure that one hand knows what the other is doing, the national chairman holds weekly breakfast meetings with the chairmen of the House and Senate Republican Campaign Committees — Rep. Richard Simpson, Pa., and Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel, Kans., respectively.

Out of this close-harness relationship has developed plans for the most detailed national political analysis ever undertaken. By pooling their combined staff efforts, the three groups will evaluate the local conditions in every state with a '58 Senate race, and in every congressional district.

OFFICIALS SPEAK

"As soon as we know which problem most concerns a specific locality," Alcorn explained, "we can assign it whichever key administration officials are best qualified to speak on that particular issue—whether it's labor, minorities, farming, or foreign affairs"

The Republicans have set a goal of $3,400,000 to be raised before election day. Forty-four dinners held this month have already produced several hundred thousand dollars, although the exact total is not yet known.

Alcorn will try to persuade House and Senate candidates to use their TV allotments for three five-minute speeches, instead of squandering the total on one spell-binding 15-minute oration. He believes the time is past when listeners will stay tuned in for lengthy speeches by other than the President and his cabinet.

The chairman favors putting increased emphasis on radio spot announcements and filmed pictorial presentations, and taking a hard new look at the questionable value of billboard and handbill advertisements.

Alcorn's most ambitious project this campaign year will be a neighbor-to-neighbor drive, with teams of two knocking on every door in the country — including the Democratic menages. This plan, when tried out on a pilot basis in three states during '56, produced $80,000 for the campaign.

"It's true that some doors were slammed in our faces that year," he chuckled, "but most people appreciated the chance to talk issues"

FORMAT REVISED

Alcorn has drastically revised the format of the committee's From The Shoulder", which goes to 400,000 Republicans, and has inaugurated a "chairman's fact memo" which gives 12,000 party leaders short, punchy ammunition for the upcoming campaign. This, he said, has brought "tremendously favorable response."

And what does Alcorn think of Democratic charges that "assistant president" Sherman Adams is the new hatchet man on the administration's roster of speakers?

A broad grin crinkled his eyes as the chairman replied: "The Republican Party leaders have greeted Sherm's speeches with the greatest enthusiasm. We think they're wonderful!"

ROME (AP)—Prince Filippo Andrea Doria-Pamphilj, first post-liberation mayor of Rome, died last night at the Doria Palace. He was 72.

The Italian nobleman was a descendant of one of Italy's greatest naval heroes, Adm. Andrea Doria, whose sea victory brought Genoa to the height of her naval power in the early 16th century. It was for this admiral that Italy named her luxury liner, the Andrea Doria which sank off Massachusetts in the 1956 collision with the Stockholm.

MENTAL ILLNESS CAN HAPPEN TO ANYONE...BUT IT'S NOT HOPELESS!

Mental illness isn't choosy. It pays no attention to vital statistics like age, sex, wealth, occupation, etc. No one is immune to mental illness . . . no one!

You who read this and we who write it have been lucky. The 16 million people mentally ill at this very moment haven't been lucky. They need our help. They need it badly.

Medical progress has cleared away much of the mystery about mental illness. In fact, with what doctors know today, 70% of all mental patients could improve or recover completely. Why don't they? Simply because most mental hospitals do not have the staff, the equipment, and the facilities they need to put this scientific knowledge into everyday practice!

That's where we come in. Our understanding and support can help these people get well . . . help them return to their families, their jobs, their lives!

We who have never faced the darkness of mental illness can do much to bring others out of it! Today, please work with and support your local Mental Health Association.
