

$33.33 Was Going Rate for Death in Cuba

(Editor's Note: Pontiac Press Sports Editor Bruno Kearns is in Florida covering the Detroit Tigers spring training, and visited a Cuban friend who had as guests three Cubans who described horrors committed by the Batista government in Cuba. Last names of the men are withheld because of possible reprisals against their relatives still in Cuba.)

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—“Thirty-three, thirty-three” were figures which meant death and blood money for many Cubans.

A young bank executive from Havana, one of three “liberated” Cubans visiting in St. Petersburg, is now free to tell a gruesome story of mass murder and male torture.

Men died in Cuba at a rate of 30 a day and each was worth $33.33 to some informant.

This young banker, named Manuel, told of men who grew wealthy from Batista government checks they received for selling the lives of their countrymen.

This writer had the privilege to meet Manuel and his two friends, Senen and Ocaro, while visiting a mutual friend named Raul in St. Petersburg.

Many stories have been told and printed about the overthrow of the Batista government by Fidel Castro, but none were as grisly as told by these Cubans about Batista's regime.

To them and Cuba, Castro is the liberator. They compared the Batista rule to the French reign of terror as told in history books.

“The stories presented to the American people after Castro's victory were distorted,” said Manuel. “They put Cubans in the role of barbarians and they painted a picture of martyrdom for Batista's cruel henchmen.”

“Not one story ever printed gave Americans the true picture of the horrors which took place in Cuba under Batista,” he said.

“American reporters never did get the real stories while in Cuba during Batista's rule because there wasn't a Cuban who dared open his mouth,” Manuel added, “and those who did never lived long enough to open their mouths again. They died for $33.33.”

There were hundreds of Cubans who came to Manuel's bank to cash checks, each made out by Batista's government for $33.33.

“Some had as many as 50 checks,” the Cuban told. This $33.33 was the amount paid to anyone who turned in a name of a person who was considered as an anti-Batista or pro-Castro supporter.

“Men, women and children were tortured or killed mercilessly,” said Manuel. “The informant merely had to turn in a name of someone he disliked and it meant probable death for the victim and a monthly check for the informant.”

“There were men who actually turned out to be 33-33 professionals,” he continued. A cab driver was known to have become wealthy from the number of checks he received each month for each name he had submitted.

“People disappeared and were never heard from again. Men were tortured and parts of their bodies dismembered. Women were attacked and their husbands made to watch,” the Cubans told in detail.

“This went on all during Batista's regime,” said Manuel, “and when these same murderers died for their crimes after Castro's victory, you Americans were horrified. You called the (Continued on Page 2, Col. 2)

Do More Crowing, Michigan Urged

“Michigan's name suddenly is Mud — economic, political and industrial Mud,” declared Merritt D. Hill in a talk this noon in Pontiac.

“We have permitted partisan politics to become so intermingled with the economic situation inside our state that we have made a spectacle of ourselves,” Hill said.

Hill, of Bloomfield Township, is chairman of the Michigan Industrial Ambassadors Corps whose job it is to sell back to the rest of the nation what a wonderful place Michigan is to live and work in.

The selling job, Hill told members of the Pontiac Rotary Club, is necessary since editorials and political cartoons in newspapers across the nation late have given “the impression that our state is on the verge of economic chaos.”

Hill is general manager of the Tractor and Implement Division of the Ford Motor Co. in Birmingham.

He called upon Michigan residents to quit the “defeatist attitude” and take a lesson from the Texans and do a little more bragging about the state's assets, instead of complaining.

“We should take a lesson from the rooster,” he said, “and do more crowing and less clucking.”

His talk to Pontiac Rotarians was the first of an intensified program of some 200 business, industrial, and civic leaders who make up the Ambassador Corps, who try to spread the word that “It's great to work and live in Michigan.”

The non-partisan group has been in existence over a year after being appointed by Gov. Williams.

Hill said, “I think it is a case of our people being so engrossed in making and selling products that we have neglected to sell state pride.”

Little Praise for Straley in Willman's Testimony

The praise he bestowed upon suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley earlier was missing from City Manager Walter K. Willman's testimony last night before the Civil Service Commission.

“For the good of the police force, the chief must be separated,” Willman told the Civil Service Commission at its hearing into removal charges against Straley.

Willman said the controversial police official showed a lack of leadership and failed to develop loyalty in the department.

Willman also said Straley had no continuous training program for officers, didn't delegate responsibility, failed to organize a planning group to consider future department needs, and often battled courts, prosecutors and other law enforcement agencies.

The chief's relations with press and radio representatives were often strained, the manager testified, and because of strife in the department, the police force was not as efficient as it should have been.

“I would have liked to view the department as a team working together,” the manager said. “But we haven't had it, and no one is happy with the present situation.”

SOME KIND WORDS
In only one area of police work did Willman have kind words for Straley. He said that under the chief the department had been commended for its work with juveniles.

Crash Kills Former Judge

Glenn C. Gillespie, 73, a Pontiac attorney and former Oakland County circuit judge, was killed yesterday in an auto accident on the Turner Turnpike near Bristow, Okla.

His wife, Leola, 71, who was driving, is in satisfactory condition today in a Bristow hospital.

She suffered a broken arm and hip when the car veered off the road into a concrete bridge abutment. Police said Mrs. Gillespie apparently had fallen asleep at the wheel.

The couple was returning to Pontiac after three months at their winter home in Pasadena, Calif. Their home is at 80 Cherokee Rd.

Gillespie is also survived by two daughters, Dr. Eleanor M. Gillespie of Sturgis and Mrs. Eunice J. Hendrix of Ann Arbor; four grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. Vera E. Sutherland and Mrs. Florence I. Tinknell, both of Romeo.

Services are being arranged at the Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

Gillespie's brilliant career here spanned almost half a century. Widely acknowledged as the dean of Pontiac lawyers, he was held in high esteem in state and national legal circles.

Born on an Addison Township farm in 1885, Gillespie attended public schools in Oxford and Lake Orion, then worked five years as a railroad telegraph operator in Lake Orion to earn money for college.

He was graduated from University of Michigan Law School in 1910 and entered private practice in Pontiac a year later.

Gillespie became the youngest circuit judge in Michigan when, at age 35, he was appointed by Gov. Grosbeck to fill a 1921 vacancy on the Oakland County bench.

Gillespie went on to win election to two six-year terms before retiring at the end of 1938 in a squabble over salaries.

Although a judge, he took the unusual step of bringing suit against the county, successfully blocking a move to cut judges' pay in half for economy reasons during mid-term in 1934. When salaries were cut legally the next year, Gillespie did not seek re-election.

The dispute was settled by the Michigan Supreme Court, and this was the beginning of Gillespie's long specialization in cases that went before the high court.

A portrait of Judge Gillespie, presented to the Oakland County Bar Assn. on his retirement, still hangs in the courtroom of his successor, the late Circuit Judge George B. Hartrick.

In 1940, Gov. Dickinson named Gillespie as his legal adviser in Lansing. The same year, Gillespie was elected president of the Michigan State Bar and treasurer of the Republican State Central Committee.

Gillespie was on the State Supreme Court's 21-member commission that organized the state bar and served as president of the bar foundation in 1947.

Early in his career, Gillespie served four years as an assistant prosecutor under his friend and associate, Frank L. Doty, and was elected Oakland County prosecutor in 1920. He won all his cases during one of the four years he held that job.

Senators Locked in Disagreement on Compromise

Can't Decide Whether to Ask $100 Million in Bonds or Dump Plan

LANSING (AP) — After almost two hours of caucusing, majority Republican senators today remained locked in disagreement over a new compromise borrowing plan.

In effect the issue was whether to turn thumbs down on a House-approved 50 million dollar proposal or to raise the amount to 100 million dollars.

The larger figure in all probability would be acceptable to the House and would speed the plan toward a statewide vote April 6.

Sen. Frank Bessie of St. Clair, Republican majority leader, called the caucus.

There reportedly was increasing support to boost the amount of the proposed bond issue from 50 to 100 million dollars.

Caucus leaders refused to discuss the differences with newsmen, but it was known that a hard core of conservative senators was holding out for a sales tax increase plan that was certain to blow up any chance of submitting a bond issue to voters April 6.

Asked how he thought the sentiment was running, Sen. Lynn O. Francis (R-Midland), GOP floor leader, threw up his hands and said:

“Who knows? I've tried three times already to make a prediction and every time I've been wrong.”

In their change of heart, some senators apparently felt they were on the spot and would have to take the rap for payless paydays if a borrowing solution cracked up against adverse Republican votes.

The caucus late yesterday took a solid stand in favor of a two-year increase in the sales tax to back up a 100-million-dollar bond issue.

CERTAIN DOOM
Gov. Williams and Democrats have stood adamantly against a sales tax and to have inserted it into the resolution was certain to doom getting a proposition on the April 6 ballot.

Bessie, who was absent yesterday when the Senate Republican caucus flatly rejected any bonding plan, said minutes before today's session that he was hopeful of substituting a no-tax 100-million-dollar bond plan.

“Now that we've had a chance to sleep on it we may yield a little,” another Senate Republican leader said.

GOP Senate leaders vowed last night the borrowing plan, which would go on the April 6 ballot, would die unless a sales tax were tied to it. Democratic opposition to the sales tax was solid.

House Acts Today on Bill for Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a move to speed Hawaii statehood the House today shelved its own bill and took up the measure passed 76-15 by the Senate last night.

House leaders expressed confidence of sufficient support to defeat any amendment which would require a subsequent House-Senate conference or concurrence of the Senate.

Chest Elects New President

Glenn Replaces Griffin Who Declined to Seek a Fourth Term

Robert M. Glenn was elected president of the Community Chest of Pontiac at its annual meeting yesterday noon in the Community Services Building.

Glenn, secretary-treasurer and director of the board since January 1956, was unanimously elected to replace Glenn Griffin.

Glenn is chairman of the Pontiac Area United Fund—Community Chest Administrative Committee, second vice president of the Greater Pontiac Community Council and a past president of the United Fund Community Chest Budget Steering Committee.

The out-going president, Griffin, has served in this office for three terms and requested that his name not be placed in nomination for a fourth term. He will, however, remain on the board as a director.

Mrs. Gelston V. Poole was re-elected as vice president and Robert Nelson was elected secretary-treasurer.

Other business included the adoption of an amendment to the organization's constitution and bylaws increasing the number of board members from six to eight.

The two new board members are John Wilson, past president of the Camp Fire Girls, who was nominated as a candidate for the position by that agency, and Mrs. Paul Gorman, who was nominated by the Girl Scouts. The terms of the two new members will run until March 1962.

The 1958 financial statement was audited, was presented and reviewed by the board.

God-Given Brawn, Brains Conquer Michigan Wilds

By VAN VARNER
Writing for Michigan hunter, Herman Simonds

For weeks the weather had been raw with fierce temperatures and heavy snowfalls. Finally, alarmed and fearful, Harold Simonds called the Michigan State Police.

“My father is missing. His name is Herman Simonds. He and my mother live on a farm near Gregory.

On Nov. 18 he headed north on a camping trip, alone, saying he'd be back Dec. 1. He's eight days overdue.”

Then he called the Conservation Department at Manistique, told them, too, how his father had left in his 3-ton truck which he had converted into a house car for such trips. He was 65 years old, used a cane because of the crippling arthritis in his legs, but was accustomed to venturing off alone.

After 55 years of hunting and fishing in the wild, unpopulated reaches of Michigan's Upper Peninsula, the old man knew his way. But just where he could have gone in that vast wilderness of tangled forest, creeks, ravines and treacherous bogs, no one could even guess.

Throughout the whole unsuccessful search, only one person in the world knew about the one-man fight then being waged. That was Herman Simonds himself.

On Nov. 19, Herman Simonds sat in the cab of his truck and tugged at his chin in indecision. “Well, Old Man,” he said to himself, “where now?”

Retired after 40 years as a New York Central engineer, he could wander at leisure. He had his guns in tow, but he didn't really hunt any more; these days he went forth simply to enjoy nature.

He thought about Scott's, the site of a tiny lumbering camp now in ruins. Once a railroad had touched there to transport timber, but the rails and ties had long since been removed, leaving only a grading which the forest was reclaiming. A staunch vehicle could travel it however, and he thought he'd have a go at it.

of the policies he helped establish there are still in effect.

He remained the city's chief legal officer over the years and his advice and aid figured in many important occasions.

The latest was last year when Gillespie represented Pontiac General Hospital in the $250,000 damage suit brought by Dr. Neil H. Sullenberger and managed to get the case tossed out of Circuit Court before any testimony was taken.

Returning briefly here last month, he was asked to aid the Pontiac Civil Service Commission in the current hearing on Police Chief Herbert W. Straley's suspension. Gillespie declined, his law associate, James G. Harrick, took on the task.

Gillespie returned to California two weeks ago to accompany his wife on the trip back home.

Gillespie was one of the few lawyers who gained a wide reputation in both criminal and civil law.

He was the author of the four-volume Gillespie's Michigan Criminal Law, considered as the standard reference work in all Michigan criminal courts.

But in his own practice, Gillespie handled nothing but civil matters.

One of Gillespie's final important cases was an attempt to block removal of the Oakland County courthouse offices from downtown Pontiac to the north-west side of town.

Gillespie won his case, filed against the county in behalf of the Oakland County Taxpayers League, in Circuit Court last summer but the decision was reversed by the State Supreme Court last month.

The reversal was surprising, for Gillespie had a reputation of winning in the Supreme Court.

Although Gillespie used a cane and limped badly due to a childhood leg injury, he was an enthusiastic sportsman. He was considered an excellent marksman with a rifle on hunting trips and a top-notch angler. A baseball fan, he rarely missed an opening day of the Detroit Tigers in Detroit, both at Briggs Stadium and the former Navin Field.

Gillespie was a member of the county, state and national bar associations, and belonged to the Michigan Bar Association, the American Bar Assn. and the Judiciary Society.

He belonged to the Pontiac City Club and the Detroit Athletic Club; was past president of the Pontiac Rotary Club and was a member of the Elks Club and the Knights of Pythias.

Driving Snow Piles Up Trouble in Northeast U.S.

By The Associated Press

A driving snow slashed at the northeastern section of the nation today, moving eastward from Ohio and making highway travel treacherous.

In New York City, about four hours after the snow started falling before midnight, 3½ inches were measured by the Weather Bureau, which predicted moderate to heavy accumulations before the fall abated in the afternoon.

It already was the heaviest snowfall of the winter for the city. The heaviest previous fall was 3 inches Dec. 5-6.

In Western Maryland, state police reported 8-12 inches in the mountains, with mixed snow and rain across northern counties.

Snow accumulations during the early morning hours amounted to 8 inches in sections of western Pennsylvania.

As snow moved into Connecticut, the Weather Bureau forecast 4 to 8 inches. Temperatures were slightly under freezing. The storm entered Connecticut from the southwest, where it originated in West Virginia. Up to 8 inches of snow was forecast for other sections of New England.

of these butchers acts of barbarism."

"Your government supported the Batista government because your diplomats were blind. They did not see what was taking place."

"Why didn't your government try to use military force to stop Batista from sentencing Batista's men to their death? Because the United States realized its error in giving support to Batista," he said.

interior, murky swampland on both sides and trees bowing over him. At a little island clearing, he camped and crawled into his bunk.

It snowed during the night, a deep snow, 12 inches of it.

Next morning he started driving, but snow kept tumbling from branches, blinding the windshield. He got out and shook the trees ahead with his cane, then started up again, only to slide into a deep hole, his wheels spinning futilely without traction.

Hours were consumed in adjusting chains and working the truck free, and then it was snowing again.

Then it came upon him for sure. He was snowbound. He was 450 miles from home; nobody knew where he was, and nobody would be worried about him for some time to come.

Over his stove that night, he faced the situation squarely. "Don't panic, Old Man! No sense in that. God gives you eyes so you can enjoy His beautiful world. But He also gives you brains and muscles. It's your own fault if you don't use them, so stop fretting and figure your way out of this."

Certain decisions had to be made at the outset. He couldn't return by Scott's as he had come. That road was too hilly and tricky. No, he would have to push through on the grading until it reached another highway many miles distant. He could not hike out; he had to stay with his truck—his legs could not be lifted through that much snow.

The next day there was more snow, but he rose and methodically started digging. He would shovel the left wheel track for four hours and then switch over and work his way back on the right for another four. Then he'd move his truck up as far as he had shoveled it.

Night came again and then again. Some days he worked for six hours, some days eight.

Now 25 days had passed. A high knoll off the trail suggested to him the chance for a good view of the terrain ahead, and he set about shoveling a footpath to its summit. Once on top, he gazed out below him and there, there was salvation.

It was a clearing made by the loggers. They were not working now but they had left behind a truck and a jammer for lifting timber, and, more important, a cleared road.

At 1:30 a.m. Dec. 17 Herman Simonds wearily lifted his feet up the steps of his own farmhouse. His face was heavy with beard, his body 25 pounds lighter. In 26 days he had hoisted 14 miles of snow over his shoulders. He had not panicked. He had survived simply by using the brains and muscles that God had given him.

"In becoming so engrossed with the techniques of 'back-alley infighting,' we appear to have almost forgotten how to take a constructive approach to economic problems," he said.

Hill went on, "Michigan apparently have forgotten the saying 'united we stand, divided we fall.'"

"And there is no doubt in my own mind that we are in serious danger of falling unless we find a way to compromise our differences of opinion and start working toward some common goals."

He criticized those in the state who have not realized this pending danger sooner, although "the warning flags have been flying for a long time."

Hill urged, "It is time for an end to the 'let George do it' attitude toward our state's problems."

"And it is certainly time for an end to the 'damn George for the mess we're in' attitude."

This was obvious reference to the political bickering now going on in Lansing between Republicans and Democrats, who for weeks have been unable to find a solution to Michigan's money problems.

Republicans have been blaming Williams and Democrats say it is the Republican-controlled Legislature that's responsible.

"Our state administration, Legislature and citizenry need help, not hindrance," Hill declared.

sending the hatchet men to their death.

"Castro is young. He has a lot to learn about diplomacy and public opinion," said Manuel, "but he is intelligent and he wants for Cubans the same freedoms about which you Americans talk so freely."

Who were the men Castro put to death?

"All Cubans knew who they were. We knew from bank records. We knew who they were from the records Batista left behind. Most of them were men of the '33-33' or those who actually did the torturing and murdering," Manuel said.

"Does this fear which you say prevailed under Batista exist today with Castro?" I asked the three Cubans.

"You can see the change in the faces of the Cubans. You can hear it in their conversations. Once again we can talk politics and we can criticize without fear of some 33-33 informer," Manuel answered.

"Why don't your reporters talk to the Cuban people and ask them how they feel about the present situation? They would learn that all Cuba has accepted Castro and is free from fear of Batista," he replied to his own question.

The young banker and his friends told of the wealth and the escape of Batista. "There were over 15 million dollars in safety deposit boxes in our banks, but this was a pittance compared to the money he took with him," said Manuel. "It was estimated he got out of the country with more than $300,000,000 in money and jewels."

The other Cuban, employed at the airport, told of Batista's escape by plane. "Hundreds of Batista's officers and henchmen jammed the airport when his government fell. Batista attempted to get away by himself with his money, but when some of his top officers learned he was fleeing, they demanded to go along."

"As a result some of the crated money had to be left behind," said Senia.

"One of those who escaped with Batista was Mas Ferrier, whom the Cubans called the mad butcher," Senia added, "and your country has given him asylum in Miami."

"Will Castro be another dictator and why doesn't he call for elections now?" I asked.

"The people wanted elections immediately. But Castro was realistic. He knew he would have been elected president," said Manuel.

"He will run for the presidency, but you must remember that the people of Cuba have had no political voice for a long time. They need time to assemble the qualified candidates for office and Castro wants them to have that time to get the right men in government," said Manuel.

"Can you blame him? Neither he nor the people want another Batista government because of hantiness," he added.

The Cubans returned to their country after visiting St. Petersburg, Raul, whom this writer had met in Detroit, visited Cuba recently.

"I hope you can see the true picture now," he said to me, "I can now call my friends or relatives in Cuba without knowing there is no censor to interrupt my calls. I get letters now which have not been tampered and which include everything from politics to sports."

Raul is proud that he soon will be an American citizen. "The Americans recently celebrated the birthday of George Washington. He was a revolutionary figure and he became president. This was Cuba's fight for freedom," he pointed out.

"We must stop being defensive about the things which are wrong with our state. They exist, but they have been magnified out of proportion to their real size."

"We must start now to change the things we don't like, put a positive slant on the things which we can't change, and then look for ways and places to tell people why we're proud to be here."

"That is an action program for every one of us," Hill emphasized. "Neglect it, and our state's name will indeed be Mud."

Hill, of 955 E. Gleditsia Circle, called for an all-out effort on the part of everyone to restore to Michigan an earlier reputation as "the home of the automobile industry, the birthplace of mass production, the symbol of American industry and ingenuity."

"Let's throw back our shoulders and tell people proudly that we're from Michigan," Hill suggested.

It is necessary to do this now, he pointed out, because "Michigan probably is the most maligned state in the nation, and we must change this reputation."

Hill passed out booklets to Rotarians and their guests outlining some of the great assets Michigan has to offer.

Among the "surprises" he said were the facts that Michigan's population is growing faster than any other state except for California, and that the state ranks first in the nation in per cent of total income derived from manufacturing.

Must Remove Chief, Willman Testifies

reversal of his past statements before the Commission. Last Thursday he declared the chief "did a pretty fair job," and was a "meticulous, industrious worker."

Willman said many police officers came to him with their problems, indicating that the department was not running smoothly.

"I was aware of the animosity between the chief and a large group in the department," Willman said. "I hoped the PAS report would put an end to the friction, but it hasn't."

The city manager said dissension has grown to "large enough proportions to warrant the chief's dismissal."

NOT RECEPTIVE

Straley was "not receptive to new ideas, methods and techniques," he testified.

An analysis of the PAS report he asked Straley to prepare was more a criticism of the courts, prosecutors and Samuel Chapman who authored the report, Willman testified.

Willman told commissioners after bringing Straley and Public Safety Director George D. Eastman together on Eastman's first day in the city he made no further attempts to bring the two men together.

"It occurred to me, but I never did," Willman said. He added that "this was not an oversight," but did not explain what he meant.

He refused to go into technical matters contained in the charges under cross examination by Straley's attorney, Clarence L. Smith.

"I don't know enough about them," he said, "but I assume the full responsibility for Eastman and the charges."

"We can't go back to where we were," Willman said. "The city must move ahead on the basis of the PAS report."

The only other witness on the stand last night was retired Police Capt. Walter Krause, a veteran of 34 years on the force when he retired in December last year.

He is now a constable (process server) for the city.

Krause said that many officers felt they were not being properly handled by Straley and constantly complained of harassment.

REBUKED, BELITTLED

"They said they were being rebuked and belittled when they shouldn't have been—and no one likes to be called down in the presence of others," Krause said.

One officer told him, Krause said, that the officer was pleased because the chief had vowed the policeman would "never" be promoted while Straley headed the force.

Krause said he had seen nothing to make him believe that the Pontiac Police Officers Assn. (PPOA), with whom Straley has been feuding for almost three years, has been trying to run the police department.

"The morale in the department suffered greatly because of the chief's attitude toward PPOA members," Krause said.

On the other hand, Krause said, the Pontiac lodge of the Fraternal Order of Police received favored treatment from Straley. He called the FOP, which was organized last year, a "counter-irritant" to the PPOA.

Some persons committed violations and "got by" while others were punished, Krause told the commission.

He said the chief lacked an understanding of human relations. "I told him in our conversations that he could be a better police officer if he understood people better," the former captain said.

He called it unfortunate that Straley did away with issuing citations for meritorious duty. "All men need to be patted on the back—sometimes up, sometimes down," Krause asserted. "After all, men are just grown-up boys."

Calling himself an "old-fashioned flatfoot," Krause said that modern police officers must "sharpen up their pencils, not night-sticks." The PAS report was asked for to find out what was wrong with the department, yet Straley was highly critical of it, Krause said.

He said that a delay in purchasing new uniforms made "spectacles" out of some officers, and many outgrew their clothes. "Some were ashamed to walk on the street the way they looked," Krause declared.

As a captain, Krause said, he could not discipline anyone without first writing a report to Straley and waiting for a decision from the chief, one way or the other.

"This made for trouble because of his favoritism toward certain officers," Krause said.

The hearing will continue at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the City Commission chambers. Krause will be on the stand for cross-examination.

She's Mending Her Ways

LONDON (UPI)—Called into court for playing hooky 61 times this school year and setting fire to her home with cigarettes, a 13-year-old girl promised the judge: "I have given up smoking now."

The Day in Birmingham

Girl Scouts to Celebrate With Program Saturday

BIRMINGHAM—Several hundred Girl Scouts of the Birmingham District, Southern Oakland County Council, will meet at the Community House Saturday from noon until 4 p.m., to observe Troop Day.

Layettes made by junior needlework Girl Scouts for distribution in Oakland County will be turned over to Mrs. John Shenfield and Mrs. John Pletch.

A senior troop from Bloomfield Hills Junior High School will demonstrate camping techniques used on their An Sable canoe trip and Porcupine Mountain pack trip last year.

Other exhibits will include social service projects, handicrafts, art and puppetry.

Mrs. J. H. Ohlmes, general chairman, said member troops taking part are from Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills, Bloomfield Village, Franklin Village, Beverly Hills, Walnut Lake and Wing Lake.

Birmingham Police again are warning merchants of accepting checks from unknown persons.

A bonafide money order for $85 and a check for $29 were cashed in local stores last week by a man who claimed to be Vincent A. Basta of Detroit. After the checks were refused by banks, police investigation revealed that Basta had reported the theft of several identification cards some time ago.

Birmingham Det. Merlin Holmquist said this morning a driver's license is not sufficient identification. He suggested asking that the check be signed in the presence of the person cashing it, and also that the thumbprint of the cashier be placed on the back of the check.

Municipal Judge Edward Emery yesterday fined Raymond Jackson, 22, of 618 Camden St., Ferndale, $100 for attempting to steal hub caps, and ordered him to pay court costs of $10.

Police said the man was arrested after he had been interrupted in his attempted theft at the Birmingham Bowling Alley parking lot.

Three Democratic candidates will be honored at an open house tomorrow from 1-2:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Eassey, 747 W. Maple Ave.

Honored guests will be incumbent State Supervisor of Public Instruction Dr. Lynn Bartlett; Mel Bleich, Wayne State University Board of Governors candidate, and Mrs. Cornelia Robinson, candidate for the State Board of Education.

Dr. Edward Howlett Dies at City Home

Dr. Edward V. Howlett, a leader in city and state medical affairs, died of a stroke this morning in his home. He was 83.

Dr. Howlett, of 1013 James K. Blvd., served the city of Pontiac for half a century, coming here in 1909. When Dr. Lucius A. Farnham arrived here in 1911 the two joined offices, Howlett & Farnham, presently located in the Riker building.

Surviving are his wife, the former May Rockwell of Stockbridge; two sons, Dr. Robert R. Howlett of Caro and Lucius E. Howlett of Pontiac; two grandchildren; and two sisters, Mrs. G. A. Reid of Stockbridge and Mrs. Howard E. Marshall of Gregory.

Dr. Howlett's body is at Donaldson-Johns Funeral Home.

Car Afflicted by Worms

FAREHAM, England (UPI)—Michael Delaney was fined six pounds ($18.00) for driving a car afflicted with worms. Delaney said the worms got in the wooden door of his 1929 car and he had to tie it to the steering column with wire. He was charged with having a dangerous door.

Moon Carrying Turkey's Flag?

No, Just Venus Flirting and Mercury Along as the Chaperone

By The Associated Press

A bit of heavenly horseplay Wednesday night titillated a host of citizens from Salt Lake City to Miami.

Laymen saw what appeared to be a bright star perched atop the slim new moon, looking much like the design of Turkey's flag.

Newspapers and police stations in Salt Lake, Denver, Kansas City and Miami were flooded with telephone calls.

"Is that the Soviet rocket?" asked one excited caller.

Not at all, various astronomers agreed. It merely was the planet Venus flirting with the moon, while the planet Mercury lurked in the background.

Technically, the phenomenon was caused by the conjunction of Venus, Mercury and the moon between the earth and the sun. The planets, of course, are millions of miles apart and Mercury may not be visible, though it has a hand in the proceedings.

The phenomenon isn't rare, astronomers said. But Mrs. Mark Kinsey, president of the Kansas City Astronomy Club, said it seldom is seen more than once in 10 years. That's because the moon and the planets are invisible during the day and there are too few cloudless nights.

"Venus is that close to the moon at least a week out of every year," said Adolph Krugman, another Kansas City astronomer. "It actually reaches occultation (when the moon gets directly between Venus and the earth's view) quite frequently."

"I've been expecting this rush of telephone inquiries," said Mrs. Kinsey. There'll be more this summer when Venus will be closer to the earth and more people will be outdoors to see it."

The bulk—or tote—bin is a recent development in handling apples. Each bin has a capacity of 26 to 28 boxes of apples and saves handling time in the orchard and at the warehouse dock.

STORE-WIDE BARGAINS! Simms Is SALEbrating With a—

President's Party

Everybody Is Invited—

We're staging a bargain-giving demonstration the likes of which you've never seen before. The "big-boss" himself picked each and every item personally so everybody is certain of saving on each and every purchase. Even if you are not a regular Simms customer, you are invited, too.

A Message to YOU from Our President:

Since our birth in 1934, Simms Brothers has been dedicated to bringing bargains to Pontiac.

It has always been our aim to give customers wanted and needed merchandise at less than they expect to pay. Avoiding the extravagance of landlords (we own our own building) . . . fancy fixtures (we build most of our own) . . . credit plans (somebody has to pay for it) . . . and all the other hidden costs that raise prices, we sincerely try to save money for our customers.

How well we've succeeded was illustrated last year (1958) with our biggest-in-history volume of business. Folks evidently approve of our "Business in Millions—Profit in Pennies" policy. This event is being staged to say "Thank You" in the best way we know how . . . by bringing you bargains.

Sincerely Yours,
MEYER SIMON
— PRESIDENT

Sen. Proxmire Deplores Caucus Rule Decline

Wisconsin's Democratic Senator PROXMIRE again has criticized Majority Leader LYNDON JOHNSON's single handed control of the Senate and he has good grounds for doing so.

So far Sen. JOHNSON's rule has not come into serious question because he has used his powers wisely and well. The Texan has become the mediator between Northern liberal Democrats and Southern Democrats. This gives him control over the middle ground position which all but extremists are compelled to support.

"The typical Democratic Senator has literally nothing to do with determining the legislative program and policies of his party in the Senate," warns Mr. PROXMIRE. He deplores the decline of the caucus as a useful, even indispensable technique of party unity, responsibility and discipline. Revival of the caucus was one of the fundamental reforms sought by the LaFollette-Monroney Reorganization Act of 1946.

The use of policy committees today, principally by the Republicans, testifies to the soundness of the advice given by the special committee on reorganization of Congress and is a direct outcome of its recommendations. In fact, one of the complaints against former Minority Leader MARTIN was that he had let the caucus system fall into decay and thereby had lost contact with his own party.

No doubt Sen. Johnson thinks he has good reasons for by-passing the caucus and thereby has increased his personal power in the Senate. Without being consulted his fellow Democrats will have to share the consequences of such one man rule.

The Wisconsin Senator emphasizes that he has no personal criticism of Sen. JOHNSON but does object to his methods. Sen. PROXMIRE merely is expressing the private opinion of many Senators.

Girl Scouts Celebrate Anniversary This Week

This week is the 47th anniversary of Girl Scouting. Approximately 3 1/2 million girls in the nation will be celebrating the movement.

Right here in northern Oakland County we have 501 active Girl Scout troops. This represents a membership of 9,609, according to recent figures. From this total figure Girl Scout leaders number 2,464 that are donating their time and skill to this worthy project.

Throughout the years this youth movement has progressed until today one out of every seven girls in the United States is a Girl Scout. This vast membership has played a leading role in helping to mold our young girls in the arts of home making and community service.

Their many projects have added greatly to our youth program and the North Oakland County Council, as well as the girls themselves, should be proud of their activities.

One of the outstanding traits that the girls are learning is that democracy depends on citizens who are willing to serve their communities.

During this anniversary week, it would be a tribute if each of us would spare a moment to congratulate one of our Girl Scouts or the women who serve as volunteers.

Outburst of Profanity Inexcusable in Senate

Senator CRYDE H. GEERLINGS (R-Holland) should feel like a small schoolboy about to have his mouth washed. His fit of anger and profanity on the floor of the Senate was in exceedingly poor taste.

When our elected lawmakers get so emotionally upset that they cannot control their tempers it is about time they stepped aside. If they are unable to control themselves in debating issues, how are we to have faith in their legislative judgment?

It could be that their decisions would be based on emotion rather than judgment. Perhaps Senator GEERLINGS is right when he said, "I'm going back to school teaching."

The Man About Town White Birch Out

Tree Now Nearly Unknown in This Part of Michigan

Grouch: A person never satisfied unless dissatisfied.

White birch trees which originally covered thousands of acres of woodland in the Pontiac area now are nearly extinct here. They only exist in some isolated spots, or where they have been pampered and raised for shade trees.

Usually growing in clusters of from two to eight trees, from a common root, they still are predominant in Northern Michigan. They seem to relish winters that are a little colder than ours.

The present largest local collection of these beautiful white trees from which the Indians made their birch bark canoes and secured their writing paper is located on the north side of the Elizabeth Lake Road pavement about eight miles west of Pontiac. It comprises several dozen trees, but also is showing signs of dying out.

Rarely growing to a size comparable to an oak or elm, the largest known white birch tree in the Pontiac area was located in the rear of the home of

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Merrill in Holly. It died the past year. Nearly 18 inches in diameter, it made several cords of good fireplace wood for their neighbor, the architect of this column.

Don't feel too bad if you forgot to renew your driver's license until a traffic cop discovered it. I've just read the life of Henry Ford, which says he never had a driving permit.

A Georgia city has cut its traffic accidents in half by the erection of signs at its limits.

"Slow Down: Officer in Rush." There's no such officer, but it does the trick.

Some of the 1959 cars will have a small refrigerator in the instrument board for soft drink bottles. Can you imagine the rest—and more accidents?

In case you've never counted 'em in yours, you'll be interested to learn that the National Automotive Council says there are 13,617 parts in the average automobile.

Sign noticed on used car lot: "You can feel some of the people some of the time, and that's good enough for us."

First report in some time of the legendary black panther was made this week. It was sighted in the wee hours of the morning near Commerce.

P. J. Kinsella of 2189 Ferndale, Sylvan Lake, gives us some hope that winter won't be with us forever. He recently saw a big flock of geese heading north.

David Lawrence Says:

Ike's Crisis Leadership Masterful

WASHINGTON—They may quibble and pout in the London press about some feeling of hurt pride or envy supposed to exist here concerning the possible assumption of world "leadership" by Prime Minister Macmillan.

They may worry in Paris whether enough attention is being paid to Gen. De Gaulle. These are petty matters.

For the simply phrased, dispassionate comment by President Eisenhower gives the only answer—that the United States, whether or not it likes the role, has been involuntarily placed in a position of leadership because of her financial resources and military strength in the free world.

Despite the sniping from the partisans in this country, Eisenhower is exercising leadership in a masterful manner.

History will record some day that he kept his head amidst the hysterical and the politically ambitious voices all around him and steered America through a dangerous crisis because, along with an exhibition of courage, he used ordinary common sense.

The President has said he wouldn't yield an inch on the Berlin crisis, and he hasn't. The President says American armed forces are adequate for the task—and he stakes his reputation on it as one who served in the post as supreme commander of the Allied armies in Europe during World War II.

He couldn't depend on guesses then, and he isn't depending on them now.

Eisenhower has been accused of being more interested in budget balancing than in national safety—a foolish, partisan and silly charge.

He answered bluntly at his news conference Wednesday that, even if the federal government were operating at a surplus, he wouldn't spend more than is currently being recommended in the budget for the armed forces. Instead, he would use that surplus for such things as improving education.

The President might have gone further. He might have said that a deliberate effort is under way to unbalance the budget not so much to add appropriations for national defense as to break down the whole bulwark of government finance so that almost everything for which special interests want to spend money will have a clearer field.

For, once the budget is unbalanced, the argument would be heard that to add a billion or two more to the deficit will not do any harm.

But it was in dealing with the possibility of a ground war, instead of a nuclear war, that President Eisenhower gave at his news conference.

The Country Parson

"Prayer may not solve your problems but it will give you the strength to bear them."

'Not Real' Farmer Takes Issue With Mr. Yankus

Stanley Yankus is foolish and the soil bank and preceding programs have benefited farmers and taxpayers alike. A man who might have sold his wheat for 80 cents a bushel instead of 11.80, had it not been for the government program, must be blind to favor a law of supply and demand which is in effect a feast or famine deal and is as inadequate to the nation's needs as a tractor without a governor cultivating corn in a hilly field.

If farmers' notions aren't governed, surpluses will result with farmers losing money and taxpayers will meet with consumers paying premium prices or going without. The farmer who's out of step with these up and downs will go under. This would leave only the wealthy able to live free from want.

What if the whole program were scrapped and all we "not real farmers" grew so much wheat the "real" farmers had to become "not real" farmers to make a living.

Called "Not Real Farmer"

Little Girl Misses Her Pet Terrier

I'm a little girl who was given a toy terrier for Christmas and love him very much. He didn't come back after Mommie put him out the other day so my parents think someone has him. I'm only a year old but my Mommie knows how terribly I miss him so she's writing for me.

It's Just Another of Ike's Mistakes

President Eisenhower is against the two term limitation on the Presidency and that is just one more of his mistakes. That's one of the best things we've done in many years. It wasn't necessary for more than 100 years, but we finally got an "indispensable" man who intended to stay in office "until he was carried out or voted out." That showed the U.S. the necessity of this important move. Once again Ike tumbles some important legislation.

Two-Term Democrat

'But What Happens After First Stage?'

One of the main troubles with socialism that the Democratic party seems to think so highly of is the fact it depends upon wealthy employers to "soak" and as soon as they're all soaked good and put out of business, then socialism has to fall back on those that preach it plus all the rest of the people, too.

By that time you've been putting employers out of business and then what? Don't argue the "socialist state" will run all the business, for they're still trying that in Russia and in Russia the standard of living for human beings is about on the level of stray mongrel dogs in the U.S.

I prefer capitalism and my TV, auto and three weeks at the lake.

Jim E.

'But What About Minority Freedom?'

Lover of God and Freedom can't be a true lover of freedom if he would restrict the freedom of those who prefer not to indulge in religious rituals. Opening the school day with prayer might not be offensive to a majority of people, but may be to a minority. Freedom of the minority is just as precious to them as to the majority.

Agnostica

'How Much More Can World Stand?'

How much more can the world go through as a result of Germany? The heavy loss of life, the terrible destruction of both world wars. It seems impossible after two such experiences there should have been careful study over any peace treaty. But Churchill said he could handle Joe Stalin. With what result?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Incentive Needed to Lose Weight

Mary's social life was threatened by a common problem that besets thousands of teenagers. And the more frustrated she became, the more her problem enlarged. So scrapbook this case and the follow-up tomorrow. We must learn to solve our own dilemmas, instead of leaning on Uncle Sam or some outside miracle worker.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case A-476: Mary B., aged 16, is a high school junior.

"Dr. Crane, I wish I were dead!" she began.

"You can see that I am a fatty. I weigh 172 lbs. though I am only 5' 4" tall."

"And I don't get any dates for what boy wants a fat girl? Besides, they even tease me and call me fatso."

"My family doctor says all I need to do is diet and take more exercise, but I tried that for a week and I lost only three pounds."

"I do admit that I think my unhappiness increases my problem for I eat because I feel frustrated."

"Don't you think I ought to take some drugs for a quick weight loss?"

Drugs are often prescribed by us physicians for obese patients, but Mary's doctor has already told her what to do.

For why penalize your heart by speeding up its rate and zooming your blood pressure, just because your brain fails to make you push away from the table on schedule?

Drugs will increase your rate of burning up calories, but they usually make your heart work harder. It is unfair to your human "motor" to punish it when your brain should handle dieting problems.

But it is hard to diet alone, so I urged Mary to challenge her dad to a contest, and even include her mother of the latter was 25 pounds overweight, too.

Her dad is a chain cigarette smoker. His doctor has warned him to quit and he knows he'll probably die prematurely of a heart attack, but he has failed to declare a revolt against tobacco.

So I coached Mary into having a family contest. Sometimes rewards help motivate people. At other times, penalties are more effective.

For example, last summer my two young boys challenged Mrs. Crane and me to a dieting contest. We have dieted, and successfully, on several previous occasions, but the weight always came back a few years later, so our motivation was low.

Mrs. Crane wanted to go to New York to visit our married daughter, Judy.

That was the reward if she lost 20 lbs. But no reward seemed adequate for me, so the boys tried to hit on something that would be a real penalty.

Dr. and Mrs. Goff, of the Chicago Temple, had been coaxing us to go with them on an airplane trip to Europe. Mrs. Crane wanted to go. I didn't, for I prefer American scenery.

So the boys made me promise that if I hadn't lost my 20 lbs. in 8 weeks, I'd go to Europe. And that did the trick. I lost the 20 lbs.

Accordingly, I helped Mary set up a schedule of rewards and penalties for her whole family, all of them cooperated nicely, since they knew Mary's social life was threatened by her excess poundage.

To help her dad, I suggested that he carry candy coated gum in the same pocket where he had previously had his cigarettes. He was to reach for the gum, shake out a piece, and chew it every time he felt the urge for a cigarette.

Much of the hunger for cigarettes is not a chemical or nicotine desire, but a craving to wave the hand and arm as a means of getting rid of surplus nervous tension.

Send for my booklet on "How to Break the Tobacco and Liquor Habits" enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). See tomorrow's follow-up for Mary's success in dieting.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan enclosing a long stamped, self-addressed envelope and be sure to type and print your name when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Fleming Raps Failure to Hire Older Workers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Arthur S. Flemming says job discrimination against older workers is "absolutely indefensible" and a "diservice to the country." Flemming said refusal by some firms to employ persons in their 50s and 60s "represents an unjustifiable waste of our human resources because these are people who can render real service."

Rep. Martin Suffering From Type of Arthritis

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass.) is suffering from a non-crippling form of arthritis in his right leg.

Physicians examining Martin yesterday made public their diagnosis of the ailment which sent the former Republican House leader to Bethesda Naval Hospital early last week. They said the 74-year-old Congressman would have to stay in the hospital for a few more days in order to receive treatment and assure complete rest. First job in show business that Flo Ziegfeld, of Follies fame, found was as a kid sharpshooter with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show.

Find Fumes Overcame Pilot Killed in Crash

DETROIT (AP)—The pilot of a single-engine plane which crashed into two east side Detroit homes last week was overcome by carbon monoxide fumes, Dr. Edward Kawadecki, Wayne County medical examiner has ruled. The examiner said yesterday that a chemical analysis of the body of James Denahue, 35, showed a high content of carbon monoxide in the blood. This could have affected the pilot's abilities, he said, and caused the crash in which the pilot was killed. More than 99 per cent of Alaska's lands are held in United States Government ownership.

Most Men Shave Right Cheek First

morning, in front of the bathroom mirror, before cleaning his teeth, combing his hair or taking his shower. He wears his pajamas and shaves his right cheek first and his neck last.

a recent survey among new purchasers of its electric razor.

The survey also showed that the average shave lasts two to six minutes and that most men use this time either listening to the radio or TV—or doing what they described as "nothing."

Police Welcome Sight

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UPI)—A

Buffalo motorist was happy when two policemen flagged him down for going the wrong way on a one-way street. He had witnessed a purse snatching and was trailing Flory Jones, 25, who was quickly arrested by the officers.

The production of America's first straw bonnet is generally credited to Betsey Metcalf of Providence in 1798 when she was 12 years old.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Police

are wondering if the burglars who invaded a Knoxville grocery got their values mixed. After scattering $5 in pennies on the floor and stacking $16 in cash on a counter, the thieves walked away with a dozen bottles of catsup.

Wildlife studies indicate that ducks always migrate back to within a few miles of the spot where they were born.

Nasser 'Hanged'—Blasts Reds

U.A.R.-Iraqi Feud Boils

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The feud between President Nasser of the United Arab Republic and Iraq Premier Abdel Karim Kassem got hotter Wednesday. It brought back memories of the days when Kassem's predecessor, pro-Western Nuri Said, and Nasser were the chief contenders for power in the Arab world.

This time, though, the Communists were on Kassem's side and Nasser was blasting them. Moscow busily tried to blame the West for the new turn of events but the Soviet propaganda did not appear to be having much effect on the disputants.

In Baghdad, crowds hanged Nasser in effigy and blamed him for the brief, unsuccessful army revolt against Kassem in northern Iraq.

The occasion was the funeral of a Communist leader, Kamel Kazangi, whose death was blamed on pro-Nasser Arab nationalists in the center of the revolt.

An estimated 150,000 Iraqis marched behind Kazangi's coffin and thousands more lined the route. Cheerleaders led chants of "Death to Nasser." "For shame, Gamal Abdel Nasser." "Imperialists and traitors will be defeated." and "We don't want federation with Nasser—we don't want Nasser's embassy in Baghdad." Troops guarded the deserted U.A.R. Embassy in Baghdad, Kassem expelled nine members of its staff Tuesday after his forces put down the revolt.

In Damascus, capital of the Syrian province of the U.A.R., Nasser accused Kassem and the Iraqi Communists of teaming up to try to divide the Arab world. He was cheered by a crowd chanting "Kassem is a traitor."

For the first time Nasser branded the Arab Communists as agents of a foreign power who receive instructions from abroad. He did not name the foreign power but there was no doubt he meant the U.S.S.R.

The U.A.R. leader said he had supported Kassem and his revolt against the pro-Western monarchy last July "because we believed their revolution would consolidate the power of Arab nationalism."

Kassem after taking over the government last summer appeared to be playing off pro-Nasser elements in Iraq against the Communists. But in recent months the former group had been pressing for him to come closer to the U.A.R. leader, and Kassem turned more and more to the Reds. Western observers have speculated that Kassem sees himself rivaling Nasser for the leadership of the Arab world.

Kassem now is expected to lean more than ever on the Communists for his principal support. Reliable informants here predict the Iraqi Reds will launch a sweeping purge of Arab nationalists which will leave the Communists in virtual control of Iraq and its rich wells from which the West takes about 500,000 barrels of oil a day.

Nations Advised to Give a Little

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Former British Prime Minister Clement Attlee says there is no insurance against a war that will wreck civilization unless nations sacrifice some of their sovereignty for a world government.

The 75-year-old Laborite told the Foreign Policy Assn. Wednesday night that "We live so closely packed together in the world that we cannot afford to have states without any authority over them but their own."

Attlee said the U.N. has failed because member nations have refused to yield any of their individual rights.

To Discuss Honor

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Dr. Margaret Clapp, president of Wellesley College, will address the University of Michigan's annual honors convocation May 8. "The honor bound" will be her topic.

There's No Place Like Home, but Phone Booth Out

CAROLINA BEACH, N.C. (AP) — Police in this resort town figured the elderly vacationer was overdoing it in making himself at home. They found him cooking his meals in a telephone booth.

Inside the booth on Fisherman's pier were a small oil stove, a frying pan, cheese, some eggs and cooking oil. An old broom was propped outside.

"We found out," said City Manager William Gary, "that he couldn't cook inside the room he had taken in a rooming house. So he went to the beach but the wind blew into his food out there and he moved into the booth." Officers found him a room with his cooking privileges.

$2,000 Sylvan Lake Budget Cut Proposed

Sylvan Lake City Manager David E. Firestone submitted a proposed budget cut of "about $2,000" to the City Council at its monthly meeting last night.

Firestone said his 1959-60 budget would run "in the neighborhood of $2,000 less than the present $108,294 budget" which expires July 1.

"The exact cut will hinge entirely on a pending sewage agreement with the city of Pontiac," he said.

Firestone also outlined suggestions for a new form for the annual budget which would "give us a more exacting picture of where the money was being spent."

The main difference between the present and proposed forms would be in detailed breakdowns within departmental budgets, according to Firestone. Presently just the total allocation and disbursement of a department is recorded.

The sewage plan under investigation would change sewage tax rates of Sylvan Lake residents from a set rate on a per-house basis to a metered rate.

The meter would measure sewage entering the Pontiac system. City officials and engineers currently are running a set of tests to determine whether the cost to the city would be more under the meter system than it is now.

"When we arrive at a figure we believe to be a safe estimate, we will be able to more accurately figure the budget cutback," Firestone said.

The Council will hold a special meeting to discuss the proposed budget changes. No date has been set.

In other business a resolution was adopted transferring funds to pay some $3,900 in bills incurred last year but not covered by the budget. The Council also appointed Firestone as the city's street administrator.

Tabled for further study were a resolution designating personnel policy, and bids for proposed purchase of a new police car.

A special meeting to review bids on the new car has been scheduled for next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

The Council also will consider at a future meeting adoption of

59ers Cross Over Into Canada After Refreshing Stop

GLASGOW, Mont. (AP) — Applauding Montanans gave the 59ers a carpet beater to "fight off Alaskan mosquitoes" and turned the Glasgow Civic Center into a bath house for the weary voyagers Wednesday night.

When the refreshing stop ended this morning, the 34 Alaska-bound pioneers started the remaining 2,000 miles of their motor trip, swinging north into Canada.

A venison dinner, games and square dancing came after the baths. One woman said the bath was her first since the group left Detroit last Thursday.

The caravan includes cars, trucks, trailers, station wagons and a 1934 model moving van.

Son Being Quizzed at Ramsay

Dead Woman in Well

BESSEMER (U) — The body of a 73-year-old woman was found stuffed in a 26-foot well in the basement of her home in nearby Ramsay last night.

State Police said the body of Mrs. Betty Backlund was discovered by troopers and Gogebic County sheriff's deputies summoned by a daughter of the dead woman.

Help for investigation was the woman's son, John, 35, a former patient at the Newberry State Hospital.

State Police said a daughter of the dead woman, Mrs. Elmer Allen of Ramsay, discovered her mother missing when she went to the woman's home yesterday.

Mrs. Allen told deputies she asked her brother where her mother was and he said he told her "You'll find her in the well."

The well, a 24-inch wide tile shaft, had not been used since Mrs. Backlund's home was served by city water. Police said the woman maintained it as an auxiliary water supply system.

Mrs. Allen told police her mother and brother had argued over use of the well. She said her brother had dumped rubbish into the shaft and that Mrs. Backlund had tried to stop him on previous occasions.

An autopsy last night failed to offer conclusive cause of death. Backlund was released from the Newberry State Hospital last September. He had done odd jobs since his release. Police said Backlund was released at the request of his mother.

Mrs. Backlund's body was found head-down in the well. Deputies said bottles, papers, firewood and other rubbish had been placed on top of the body.

Chief trainer A. Tarasov said Kutchevsky's playing had been spotty while Cherpanov's worsened sharply, and he even showed signs of cowardice, on the ice. Both men were promised reinstatement if they gave up "their harmful habits."

Harnack raised a complaint that a reciprocal code should be set up to enable heating contractors in Sylvan Lake to compete on an equal basis with outside firms already having such a code.

Arrested After Knife Robbery

Detroiters Tells Police R. J. Sox, 20, Got Ride, Stole $186

ROCHESTER — A 20-year-old Rochester youth last night brandished a knife and robbed the man he hitched a ride home with of $186, Rochester Police reported today.

Robert J. Sox of 136 Main St., was apprehended by a Rochester Police officer and two Oakland County Sheriff's deputies at his home. He is in Oakland County Jail today, charged with armed robbery.

Sox had hitched a ride home from Detroit with Robert E. Medenwaldt, 21, of 1215 E. Kalamia St., Madison Heights, according to police, and at the rear of Sox home, the youth pulled a knife and took Medenwaldt's money.

Medenwaldt, who is a collector for the Doty Discount Corp., in Detroit, arrived at the police department here at about 10 p.m. to report the robbery.

Officer Raymond Russell summoned deputies, and the three officers picked up Sox at his home.

Clarkston Drops Exchange Plan

Says Michigan Week Mayor Swap Day Too Costly for Results

CLARKSTON — Village President Edward Thomson won't be going to Tawas City for the Michigan Week Mayors Exchange Day after all, Ralph Thayer, village clerk, announced today.

"We don't feel the expense involved warrants the trip," Thayer said, adding "last year's exchange cost Clarkston $150 to entertain Cassopolis dignitaries here for the day."

"And our village president didn't feel that his visit to that community was beneficial to us," he said.

Thomson was to take over chief executive duties for one day, May 18, in Tawas City, an Isoco County community with a population of 1,441.

Tawas City was notified yesterday of Thomson's withdrawal.

Announce Engagement

LAKE ORION — Mr. and Mrs. Loren E. Tyler of 705 W. Clarkston Rd. here announce the engagement of their daughter, Betty Lou, to Richard Hollingshead of Flint. He is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hollingshead of that city. A spring wedding is planned.

The Rev. Roy F. Lambert, pastor of Lakeland United Presbyterian Church in Waterford, performed the marriage ceremony in his church at 8 p.m.

A waltz length gown of chantilly lace with a taffeta and tulle gored skirt and a modified sabrina neckline edged in lace were features of the bride's dress.

An imported German crown of lace and seed pearls held a fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of gardenias and stephanotis.

Mrs. Duane L. Gregory of Detroit was the matron of honor and Leanna Richmond of White Lake Township, a sister of the bride, was the flower girl. Mrs. Katherine L. Pappas of Pontiac and Arlene Frake, of Union Lake, were attendants.

Duane L. Gregory of Detroit was the best man and Ray Jenkins of Commerce, John Breit of White Lake Township and Gary V. Richmond of Waterford Township were the ushers.

The reception was held in the church parlors following the ceremony.

The bride attended Pontiac Business Institute.

Police remained on the lookout today for the lone gunman who held up the Ferndale branch of the First Federal Savings and Loan Co. yesterday and escaped with $500 to $600.

A car answering the description of the bandit's was stopped shortly after the robbery at a police roadblock on Eight Mile road at Telegraph road, but the driver proved to be someone else.

The bandit handed a teller, Mrs. Mary Smith, a paper bag and a note demanding "all the money" or he would shoot. She put the money in the bag and the man walked out of the bank unnoticed by 10 other tellers and customers.

MRS. DONALD A. PELTON

Couple Makes Home at Oxbow After Wedding

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Residing at their new home at 63 Myrick Dr., Oxbow Lake, following their Saturday wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Donald A. Pelton.

The bride, the former Gail Ann Richmond, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlton M. Richmond of 63 Danforth Dr., Harold M. Pelton of 325 Lakeview Dr. and the late Mrs. Pelton are the bridegroom's parents.

A & P Says Thanks, America, During 100th Anniversary Year

The nation's oldest chain retailer, the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, known to most Americans as A & P, is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year.

Theme of the company's year-long celebration of the historical milestone is "Thanks, America," according to M. W. Alldredge of Detroit, A & P vice president in this area.

"We are indebted to our customers, whose patronage through the years has built our business," Alldredge said.

The history of A & P closely parallels that of the entire mass distribution industry. Its creation provided the inspiration for the subsequent development of the big variety and department store chains.

Storm clouds of the Civil War were gathering when George Huntington Hartford bought an entire clipper shipload of tea and sold it directly to the New York City public, thus eliminating many costly in-between steps.

So successful was this first venture that Hartford opened his first store in New York City. His early promotional techniques included a brass band that played on Saturday nights.

Today the original five divisions have grown to seven, now located in Detroit, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Jacksonville, Boston and New York.

STEADY GROWTH

In the '30s the supermarket entered the scene and has grown steadily ever since, except for the war years.

A & P claims to be the first to distribute southern and western fruit on a national basis. It also was the first to put fresh seafood on the tables of average income families in inland cities.

A basic company policy is to promote within the ranks. The president today is Ralph W. Burger who started his career with the A & P as a clerk in a little store in Glen Falls, N. Y. He has headed this 4,000-store chain since 1950.

ROME (UPI) — Giulio Coraggio, 21, jumped into the Tiber River last night because his 15-year-old girl friend wouldn't marry him. After a minute in the icy water he changed his mind, swam back to shore and went to a hospital asking to be treated for exposure. Coraggio's name is the Italian for "courage."

Flannery said he struck at his roommate's head with the gun as a club.

"I didn't stop until it (Neitling's head) stopped moving," he said. "I tried real hard, but I couldn't stop."

Flannery's father, sometimes appearing distraught, said his son appeared to have retreated into a world of sleep and strange dreams though he once was normal.

The younger Flannery, accused in the fatal shotgun beating of his roommate, Thomas Neitling, 21, of Tecumseh, last Nov. 26, spoke in a low voice, sometimes sobbing his words.

Wearing a salt and pepper sports jacket and slacks, he gave his story under questioning of Chief Defense Counsel Joseph W. Louisell of Detroit.

SPECTATORS WEEP

The defense has promised to show that young Flannery was insane at the time Neitling was beaten to death in their rooming quarters with the stock of the gun and that he still is insane.

Some spectators in the courtroom dabbed at their eyes with handkerchiefs as Flannery testified.

Earlier testimony had brought out that Flannery and Neitling, the latter an upperclassman, apparently had been chums and that the older youth had been revered by his junior.

Flannery testified that upon looking into a mirror after Neitling was clubbed to death in his bed he saw "an ugly face. The closest I can say it was the Devil."

He made the statement in answering a question from Louisell.

At another time he said he scratched his face in jail until it bled because the Devil "came again."

"It must be the Devil," he said. "I heard something moving in the cell. I knew he would be around. I just know when he is coming."

Hawaiians Full of Joy as Senate Okays Statehood

HONOLULU (U) — Exuberant Hawaiians air-expressed 600 leis to Washington for members of Congress today after Senate passage of the Hawaii statehood bill.

Acting Gov. Edward E. Johnston proclaimed a two-day holiday throughout the islands to start immediately after Congress completes passage of the bill.

The Honolulu Star-Bulletin hit the streets with an extra and radio stations interrupted programs to broadcast the news.

In anticipation of the House completing approval of the measure, preparations were rushed for fireworks and celebrations. Hawaiian Airlines planned to fly flags with 50 stars and flash the word to its pilots in flight for passengers' information.

The Honolulu Stock Exchange reacted with the heaviest trading in months.

Cure-All Buyers Really Get Taken

Today's Medicine Men Have Inflated Claims and Their Profits

(This is the second of three dispatches reporting on the racket in phony health cures and what the Federal government and the medical profession are doing to combat it.)

By LOUIS CASSELL

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The snake oil salesman of yore was a modest fellow compared with some of today's purveyors of "nutrition" nostrums.

The old-fashioned medicine man was usually happy to get a couple of bucks for his bottle of secret elixir, guaranteed to cure all ailments from baldness to bunions.

His modern counterpart sicks his customers for 10 to 100 times that much. And his claims are often as inflated as his prices.

The claims made for some vitamin-mineral products are illustrated in a recent federal court action involving a West coast firm's "food supplement" product.

The U.S. District Court at San Francisco ordered the condemnation and destruction of a batch of the company's promotion material, including pamphlets and photographs, records, which had been seized by the U.S. Food & Drug Administration.

The FDA charged in its formal complaint that this material represented the products as being "effective in preventing, treating or alleviating digestive problems, loss of weight, fatigue, weakness, dry skin, hair or nails, lusterless eyes, functional or organic diseases, arthritis, heart trouble, sinus trouble, chronic infections, virus infections, headaches, colds, constipation, emotional instability, lowered body efficiency, distorted heart rhythm, skin inflammations, mental confusion, dental caries, diarrhea, loss of manual dexterity, fear complex, insomnia, neuritis, sores, poor blood coagulation, cancer, coronary thrombosis, allergies, cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis, infantile paralysis, muscular dystrophy, epilepsy, nephrosis, tuberculosis, deafness, blindness and diabetes."

These statements, said the FDA, were "false and misleading since the article is not effective in preventing, treating or alleviating such conditions."

Sometimes it is the salesman's oral claims, rather than the printed literature, that run afoul of federal laws against misrepresentation.

The FDA has lodged successful criminal prosecutions against five door-to-door salesmen who claimed that another widely-sold "food supplement" would cure a vast range of ailments from varicose veins to prostate trouble.

ERIC E. ZISMAN said application for leave to appeal was filed with the State Supreme Court within the statutory 20 days following sentencing last November.

However, no answer whether the appeal will be granted has been received yet, Zisman said.

Meanwhile, Kierdorf, 68-year-old uncle of torch death victim Frank Kierdorf, remains free on a continued $15,000 bond.

The elder Kierdorf, of Madison Heights, was sentenced Nov. 10 by Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams after a jury convicted him of owning the pistol silencer.

The silencer was turned over to a neighbor's daughter last July when Herman was scheduled to testify before the Senate Rackets Committee.

Rocking Couch 'Too Rough'; She Sues for $5,000

MIAMI (UPI) — Mrs. Rose Bloom says the ride she received on a rocking couch named "Seabiscuit" was a bit too rough.

Mrs. Bloom filed suit for $5,000 damages yesterday against the Slenderella Co., charging that the reducing machine rocked her about so wildly that she received abrasions of the back, leg and posterior.

Her husband, Philip, filed a joint suit in the same amount for loss of his wife's companionship.

The machine, called "Seabiscuit" by the firm, was described in the complaint as follows:

"While dream music murmurs in the background, the couch massages the customer gently at first, then changes pace to shake the client in horseback-like fashion."

Mrs. Paul Bahe, manager of the salon, said she received no complaint on the machine and knew nothing of any injury to Mrs. Bloom until the suit was filed.

3-Hour Yawn Ends at Cincinnati Hospital

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI)—Jackie Smyth, 19, of Cincinnati, was walking to work one recent morning when she casually yawned. The yawn lasted three hours.

Something clicked in Jackie's jaw when she yawned and her mouth wouldn't close. She went into a drugstore, but the druggist couldn't do anything. Clerks called police, who took her to Cincinnati General Hospital.

There, after three hours, a doctor was finally able to end the yawn.

Scientist Says Food From Ocean Unlikely

HONOLULU (AP)—There's a lot of food in the ocean, but a scientist says the chances that you'll get to eat much of it are slim.

"It'd be better to mow your lawn and eat the grass," advises marine biologist Albert J. Bernatowicz. "And cheaper."

The University of Hawaii scientist pointed out that a column of water one yard by 100 feet would contain only about 1/2 of a pound of vegetable matter even though the oceans catch far more solar energy than does the earth.

Mash cooked parsnips with butter or margarine and a little onion salt and turn into a small pie plate. Heat and brown under the broiler.

World Population Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—World population is 2.5 billion, according to the Population Bulletin. The 1958 increase was 47 million. At current rates, there will be about 3.4 billion people in the world in 1969 and six billion by century's end.

Boy Attends School Via 2-Way Phone

SANDUSKY, Ohio (UPI)—David Bortel, 12, goes to school electronically.

Because he was born with hemophilia, a blood disease, his doctors ordered David to stay home following a swimming pool accident last summer.

But David is able to "attend" classes at Perkins Junior High School thanks to a two-way conference telephone system installed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

The device enables him to hear everything that's said in his sixth grade classroom and to answer questions put to him by his teacher, who visits David in person every once in a while to conduct tests and pick up his homework.

Children's Emotional Problems Are Probed

CHICAGO (AP)—Psychiatry is shedding new light on the emotional difficulties of children.

Dr. Victor Balaban of the National Assn. for Mental Health says parent's care is essential to a growing child, but it's overdone if it could strangle his security. How can a parent tell when a child needs help with an emotional problem? Prolonged unhappiness, frequent crying over trifles, signs of withdrawal, unreasonable fears, more than normal aggressiveness, severe truancy, and signs of tension are some of the most common symptoms. Dr. Balaban suggests if you don't know anyone to consult if there's something about your child that worries you, ask your local medical society or mental health group. There are four main human blood groups as major divisions but scientists estimate that blood group factors are capable of producing about 132,710,400 combinations.

Blasts Material Study Incentives

Authority on Children Says Youths Should Learn for Satisfaction

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Promising junior a new sports car for a string of A's on his report card, a new wardrobe for B's or a fishing rod for C's is not the proper way to get him to study harder, says an authority on dealing with mentally disturbed children.

This placing of values on material things is the great internal crisis in America today, Dr. Ralph D. Rabinovitch, director of the Hawthorn Center, a children's psychiatric unit at Northville, Mich., declared yesterday.

Dr. Rabinovitch addressed some 500 teachers at a meeting in Devilbiss High School here.

If America is going to make any real advances in education, he said, youngsters will have to want to learn as a matter of personal satisfaction.

"At a time when expediency is at a premium, and when affluence is more prized than integrity, it is not surprising that many children are having difficulty finding motivation for hard work and devotion," he said.

Dr. Rabinovitch also predicted that if educational television ever is adopted on a large scale, there will be a great many more children with emotional and related disturbances.

Use Prenatal Thyroid Doses

U. of M. Makes Discovery in Cretinism Treatment

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The University of Michigan Medical Center today reported what it termed a major discovery in the treatment of cretinism, a congenital disorder caused by improper functioning of the thyroid gland.

Cretinism produces irreparable brain damage, usually an enlarged head and idiocy.

The center reported that for the first time in medical history its doctors had counteracted the dread disease by treating the patient before birth.

It emphasized work thus far had been on a limited scale, but that doctors successfully had stopped cretinism in one child, with no ill effects to either the mother or child.

The before-birth treatment included massive doses of thyroid extract, seven times the normal daily dosage prescribed for underactive thyroid glands.

The treatment was given two women statistically likely to give birth to cretins. Both delivered non-cretinous children.

One child, doctors found subsequently, had no thyroid gland. He definitely would have been a cretin if the treatment had failed, doctors said.

Dr. Edward A. Carr and Dr. William H. Beierwaltes headed the university's research team that made extensive studies before applying treatment.

They came to the conclusion that any cure for cretinism would have faithful dance hall hostess — and the faithful horse can go eat grass, for all anybody cares.

Kissing pretty actresses seems an ideal job to the average man. But there are days when Gene Barry would just as soon turn this chore over to a stand-in.

For a temperamental actress, he implied, can be worse than a temperamental mustang.

"Some of them try to give you that old feminine flimflam," Gene said.

"Then it's pretty hard to make love to them. But a fellow can always manage. I always ask myself, 'If their own mother loved them, why can't I?'"

Barry, like that real-life Western character, Billy the Kid, was born in New York City. In his first stage role he played Bluebeard in the sixth grade in Public School 121 in Brooklyn.

He began his professional career at 16. He sold jewelry, shoes and ladies' wear before making the big time on Broadway.

Since then he has been in a dozen films, traveled the night club circuit, and appeared on more than 100 television shows before he hit the real pay dirt as Bat Masterson.

His derby hat, tight suit and gold-headed cane — it often takes the place of a pistol — are now symbols of elegance to the teenagers (and middle-aged ladies) who idolize him.

Barry is well aware of the fickle loyalties of the television audience.

"In Europe, a star is big for life," the tall handsome actor said. "Once he gets a following he keeps it forever. His public never leaves him."

"The public here is different. Perhaps it's because life here moves so much faster. Sometimes we don't seem to have the time of day for yesterday."

He hopes to go on to directing and producing. But if the present mania for Westerns should fade and leave him stranded — unlikely, since he is a man of many talents — he's ready to take up a new career.

"I'd go in for contracting and building," he said. "I recently built my own house, and I like the field."

Barry recently said his goal was to have "a greater concern for the more simple and basic things" in life.

Then he added with a grin: "But first you gotta get rich. Then you don't have to worry about dough and can afford to squander your money on the simple, basic things."

Gene, who went to work after high school, gives this advice to young actors: "Go to college. An education is important. There's nothing worse than a dumb actor."

Sales Nearly 8 Times Higher Than Last Year

S-P's Story: Out of Gloom-Into Glory

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer
DETROIT — For one of the brightest spots in the automotive industry right now consider Studebaker-Packard and its prospects. A year ago the company, boasting two of the most honored names in transportation history, was given a rather slim chance of survival in the hotly competitive car industry. Production and sales dwindled almost to the vanishing point.

Today S-P is building and selling more cars than several of its more comfortably positioned competitors. The more than 32,000 cars it produced in January-February this year were nearly eight times the total of last year's like period.

Its 16,582 car output in February also was the highest monthly volume since March 1953, when 19,633 units were built.

FIGURES NOT AVAILABLE

Specific sales figures are not yet available for January-February but the S-P production totals more nearly reflect retail demand than they do in the case of the company's larger competitors.

Studebaker-Packard cannot afford to heavily stock its retailers. It tries to gear output as closely as possible to actual demand.

The first three-month profit since Studebaker and Packard were joined in 1954 was reported in the final quarter of 1958. It was a modest $3,700,000 profit but it gave a tremendous boost to S-P's overall prospects.

To reduce a large backlog of dealer orders the company recently stepped up its production schedules to 84 cars an hour. It had been building 73 units an hour.

Its output for this year's January-March quarter will come close to 83,000 units and there still will be unfilled orders on hand.

By all present indications earnings for the current quarter should be up from those of the October-December period last year.

SEVERAL FACTORS

Behind the sharp turnabout in Studebaker-Packard fortunes are several factors.

Most of them can be summed up in the personality of Harold E. Churchill, company president, his administrative policies and the wholly new, smaller automobile he introduced at the start of the 1959 model car year.

Churchill, cautiously optimistic and well liked in the car industry, was born in Cass County, Mich. nearly 56 years ago. He joined the then Studebaker Corp. in 1926 as a draftsman. He has been described as a realist who never makes extravagant forecasts.

One of his initial moves when he became president of S-P in 1956 was to work out what he described as a "hard and lean" program for the organization.

Many top level salaries were slashed. Some plants outside South Bend, Ind., were disposed of. Many operations were consolidated. Without impairing efficiency costs were whittled wherever possible.

Then last fall Churchill brought out the new smaller car designated the Lark, dropped virtually all the larger models including the Packard series and put additional emphasis on the company's imported Mercedes-Benz models.

But Studebaker-Packard's future pretty well was tied to the smaller Lark. It was aimed at getting — and it has been getting — a bigger slice of the economy car market.

Employment Figures Steady Last Month

WASHINGTON (AP)—Both employment and unemployment rose slightly between January and February, but so little as to be practically unchanged. The government reported employment in February at 62,722, up 16,000 from January. It calculated unemployment at 4,749,000, up 25,000. These changes are so small as to be within the realm of possible error.

Compared with February a year ago, employment is up 734,000 and unemployment is down by 424,000. Between January and February last year employment rose by 428,000 while unemployment rose by 679,000. In reporting relatively no change in last month's job picture, the joint report of the Commerce and Labor Departments said: "This stability marked the usual seasonal pause between the heavy winter contraction in employment and the normal spring expansion in economic activity."

Jobs for Spring Grads May Be Plentiful

ANN ARBOR (AP)—An indication that jobs may be a little easier to find by the college graduate this spring has developed at the University of Michigan. The university reported today that approximately 130 firms, compared with 100 last spring, will interview business administration students this semester.

A. S. Hann, director of placement for the school of business administration, also reported that recruits are considerably more optimistic about the number of offers they will make and indicate salaries will be about three percent higher than the $430 per month average of last spring.

California Bill Would De-Smog Auto Exhausts

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—The California Senate has taken a preliminary step towards requiring de-smogging of auto exhausts. A bill by Sen. Richard Richards of Los Angeles to require the state Public Health Director to determine and publish standards for auto exhaust emissions by Feb. 1, 1960 was passed yesterday.

The bill does not provide for enforcement of the standards. A similar measure, backed by Gov. Edmund Brown and introduced by Assemblyman Thomas M. Rees of Los Angeles, is pending in the Assembly. Canada's air defense system is substituting missiles for jet plane interceptors, a vast saving in the budget.

Worried by Oil Edict
OTTAWA (AP)—Canadian officials expressed concern today because the United States included Canada in the new U.S. compulsory oil import curbs. Ottawa already had protested the voluntary curbs in effect the past year. Hoover dam is higher than the Washington monument.

Predicts Flight to Moon in Less Than 3 Hours

WASHINGTON (AP) — Space flight to the moon in less than three hours may be possible, a noted scientist says.

So might a 4½-year flight to Pluto, the most distant planet in the solar system, says Dr. Lee Dubridge, president of California Institute of Technology.

But, he indicated, space distances are so enormous that any vision of flight to even the nearest star beyond our sun appear out of the question.

Reason: the spacemen would have lived through a normal lifetime, thousands of years before the trip was over.

If a spaceship could be developed having a speed of 90,000 miles an hour — or 25 miles a second — it could reach the moon in 2½ hours, the sun in 43 days and Pluto in 4½ years, Dubridge said. But it would take the same ship 30,000 years to reach Alpha Centauri, the nearest star beyond the sun.

"It is true," he said Wednesday night at a symposium sponsored by Resources for the Future, Inc., "we can come day probably exceed the speed of 25 miles per second."

"But the 25,000 miles per second required to bring the nearest star within reach is not in sight."

The maximum speed so far obtained by experimental space probes is somewhat less than 25,000 miles per hour.

Capital Needed for 49th State

Alaska Rich in Natural Resources but Poor in Investment Dollars

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UPI) — Financing, and lots of it, is one of Alaska's greatest needs.

Richer than other states in natural resources, Alaska is poorest of all in ready capital. Its seven federal and 11 territorial banks have total deposits of only 170 million dollars, enough to meet only a fraction of the loan demands expected in a state that wants to grow up in an area two and a half times the size of Texas.

As Bob Baker, one of this city's leading bankers, explained, "Most of the money that will develop Alaska will have to come from other states. We believe Washington State will supply most of it, because the people there understand us better."

Whether their brief on-the-spot inspection will result in more investment dollars for Alaska remains to be seen. But a hint came from Frank Jerome, president of the Seattle First National Bank system, who said:

"We have made a lot of screwball, high-risk loans in Alaska, but we haven't had them go sour on us. I attribute this to the fact that Alaskans, by-and-large, are of an energetic, industrious, imaginative and completely honest nature."

Alaskans will go along with that. They consider themselves their most important collateral.

He refers to private capital for home-owned business and industries, not defense dollars which so far have played the biggest part in building Alaska's population to a total of 212,000, including 45,000 military personnel, 16,000 Eskimos and 12,000 Indians.

Alaskans don't sell pedal the part huge defense appropriations have played in the territory's growth.

But they look forward to the day when Alaska's economy can go it alone, no more dependent than any other state on defense spending.

Baker recently had a chance to explain the 49th state's financial situation to the heads of Washington state's leading banking and investment houses. They were on a four-day "goodwill tour" of Alaska with other business leaders.

Security for You Give Complete Evidence

By RAY HENRY

You might call this "The Case of the Missing Evidence." It started out about two years ago when 52-year-old Daniel Saraceni had a heart attack. His doctors told him he'd have to quit work.

He did and on July 29, 1957, applied for disability payments at his San Francisco Social Security office. As usual, he was given a medical report form for his doctor to fill out describing the heart condition.

After the doctor had returned the completed form, the Social Security office asked for more information. It couldn't decide whether Saraceni should have payments based on the first report.

DIDN'T QUALIFY

Then, in March 1958, after a second report had been submitted, Saraceni was told he wasn't disabled enough to qualify.

He asked to have his case reconsidered. It was, but again he was told he didn't qualify.

A few days later, he got a personal explanation of why he had been turned down. New evidence was necessary if he was ever to qualify.

On Oct. 20, 1958, he submitted new evidence based on a medical report from the San Francisco Heart Assn. and asked for a formal hearing.

The hearing wasn't necessary. The new evidence was enough. On Feb. 19, 1959, he was told he qualified.

Two days later, a retroactive check for $3,042 arrived in the mail. But Saraceni had died of a heart attack during the night.

His wife can keep the back payments, but she'll get no further payments based on her husband's Social Security record until she reaches 62.

What could Saraceni have done to get a decision on his disability sooner? How can a person who may become disabled benefit from Saraceni's experience?

I asked the Social Security Administration these questions.

There probably would have been no more than the normal delay, I was told, if complete information about Saraceni's disability had been submitted along with his original application.

Thus, the best way to protect yourself against a similar experience is to make sure a complete picture of your disability is given to the Social Security Administration.

Noted Hawaiian Restaurateur P. Y. Chong Dies

HONOLULU (AP) — P. Y. Chong, who opened — and failed in — 20 Chinese restaurants in Honolulu and found "life velly funny, up and down," died Wednesday.

Chong, who was 62, was an immigrant who had thousands of friends throughout the world. His showiest restaurant, Lau Yee Chai on famed Waikiki Beach still is a show place — but operated by other owners. It is world famed among tourists and service men.

He invariably introduced himself as "Me P. Y. Chong, alias name No. 1 cook." He explained his business failures: "Me soft. Give away too much."

He is survived by his widow, five sons and a daughter. Sen. Hennings Resting Following Collapse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas C. Hennings Jr. (D-Mo.), hospitalized after collapsing in a hotel room, was reported resting comfortably today.

Robert Bevan, Hennings' administrative assistant, said doctors had assured him there is nothing critical about the senator's condition. Bevan said Hennings has a history of cerebral apoplexy and had two attacks in the last two years.

Hearings Set on Phone Rates

Request for Increase to Get Public Airing Before PSC May 4

LANSING (UPI) — The Public Service Commission has set May 4 as the date for hearings on the Michigan Bell Telephone Co. request for a "multi-million dollar" rate increase.

Bell made the request yesterday but specified no amount because "past results have been disappointing."

Commission Chairman Otis M. Smith said Bell asked increases totaling $12,500,000 in 1957. It was granted a $2,800,000 increase in 1957 and $2,200,000 more at a rehearing last year because of wage increases in the meantime.

The telephone company based its latest plea on increased costs including a $5,000,000 wage increase recently granted its employees.

Smith said it was the third time Bell had asked for increases since 1955.

He indicated hearings might take several months before a decision is reached by the commission.

Bell President William M. Day said telephone rates have increased about a third as much as most other prices since 1940.

One company spokesman said Bell, the state's fourth largest employer, needs a "multi-million dollar" rate increase.

Should the commission authorize a revenue increase, Bell will seek specific changes in local and long distance rates to comply with the authorization, he said.

Khrushchev on Way Home

East Germany, Russia Pledge Peace on Terms Allies End Occupation

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio said Premier Khrushchev returned to the Soviet capital by jetliner this afternoon from his visit to East Germany.

The Soviet leader's tour wound up with a joint Soviet-East German communique Wednesday night calling for a peace treaty on terms already rejected by the West.

The Soviet Union and the East German satellite regime pledged to keep the road open between West Berlin and the West—but only on condition that the Allied occupation ends.

Meanwhile in Washington, the Western powers are expected soon to offer the Soviet Union the definite possibility of a summit conference later this year.

The major Western condition for a top level meeting probably will be that an earlier conference of foreign ministers should make progress toward settling the Berlin crisis.

Eisenhower and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan will go to a secluded mountain lodge for their initial talks starting March 28 on the Berlin crisis.

The sessions will be at Eisenhower's retreat in the Catoctin Mountains near Thurmont, Md. Announcing this today, the White House said the President and Macmillan probably will be at the lodge for at least three days—through March 22.

'Lifting Controls on TVA Would Harm Michigan'

A bill to permit almost unlimited expansion of the Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA) will be another serious blow to Michigan industry if it becomes law, warned Congressman William S. Broomfield (R-Oakland County) today.

Hearings on the bill were held this week before the House of Representatives' Public Works Committee, of which Broomfield is a member.

Early committee action is expected to bring the bill to the floor of the House.

"We are already in enough trouble in Michigan because of industry moving from our state," said Broomfield. "There is no reason why the federal government should compound our problems."

Broomfield said that the TVA expansion bill, if passed into law, would take control of the federal power agency out of the hands of Congress and the executive branch and give our nation's taxpayers a "second mortgage" on TVA development and control.

Telling the Lords Apart

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—Shortly after the turn of the century, a Professor Lord taught mining at Ohio State University. When another Professor Lord was added to the faculty, this one to teach astronomy, students distinguished between the two by calling one the "earthly Lord" and the other the "heavenly Lord."

Second Series of Polio Clinics Begin Monday

The second series of polio clinics sponsored by the Pontiac Council of Parent-Teacher Associations will begin Monday.

The 8,132 county residents who received Salk vaccine shots last month at the first sessions now will have the opportunity to receive subsequent shots.

Here is the schedule for next week: Madison Junior High School, 1275 N. Perry St., Monday; Wilson Elementary School, 511 S. Sanford St., Tuesday; Bethune Elementary School, 154 Lake St., Wednesday;

Pontiac Youth Hurt in Intersection Crash

Eighteen-year-old Robert D. Dunn was slightly injured yesterday when his car collided with an auto driven by Wayne S. Harlacher, 28, of 1741 Ashton St., Walled Lake. The accident occurred at Ottawa drive and Menominee road.

Dunn, of 58 Union St., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released.

Waterford Teen Admits Break-In at Restaurant, Other Burglaries

A 19-year-old Waterford Township youth was arrested yesterday and has admitted breaking into and stealing $50 from Whitey's Restaurant, 3600 Crescent Lake Rd., according to Township Police. Gary Williams of 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd. also admitted about 10 other break-ins during the last month and attempted break-ins early yesterday of the Lighthouse Drive-In, 4966 Highland Rd., and the Compton Hardware Co., 4900 Highland Rd.

The restaurant, drive-in and hardware establishments are located in the immediate area of the Waterford Township Police Station.

George Demich, owner of the Lighthouse, who lives behind the restaurant, said he heard a noise, turned on the porch light and saw a man run from the building. He called police and gave them a description.

Police Chief Millard Pender, cruising in a patrol car notified two other officers of a suspicious man he had seen walking on M59 at Pontiac Lake road.

When officers picked up Williams he had the money in small change on his person, they said, along with four jackknives. He readily admitted to the burglaries, officers said.

Williams was to be arraigned today.

Fire in Apartment Causes $600 Damage

A fire yesterday in the apartment of George Brown, 37 Mechanic St., caused an estimated $600 damages, city firemen reported today.

The fire was started by careless use of matches in a clothes closet, firemen said. It was extinguished in half an hour.

The residence is a two-story frame, multi-family dwelling.

Forests cover about 84 per cent of Maine's land area.

Nikita Drowns His Own Words About Drinking

BERLIN (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev, who wants Soviet workers to drink less, tossed down at least a dozen brandies publicly last night at a reception for 900 Communists at the Soviet embassy in East Berlin.

What he consumed in the backroom while talking to a group of Russian generals was not revealed. The Soviet premier spent just over three hours at the reception, for a drinking average of one shot every 15 minutes or so.

Khrushchev, his chest bedecked with "workers' hero" medals, seemed to be having a whale of a time. In between brandies he ate little spicy sausages and squeezed and hugged the women to whom he was introduced.

Khrushchev didn't lose his temper once. At Leipzig last week, Khrushchev became angry when photographers took pictures while he was drinking. "You know, I've told the Russian people to drink less," he said. "But a great man, just because he has a weakness, is none the less a great man."

Royal Oak Girl Wins State Title

Michigan Homemaker of Tomorrow Is Senior at Shrine High School

A Royal Oak girl who enjoys baking bread and sewing has been chosen Michigan's homemaker of tomorrow.

Mary Jo Bane, a senior at Shrine of the Little Flower High School, won the title and with it a $1,500 scholarship yesterday in a contest sponsored by General Mills.

Mary Jo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bane, also qualified for national competition toward a $5,000 scholarship. She plans to go to Marquette University and take up chemistry.

Elizabeth Price of Detroit won second place and a $500 scholarship.

Among outstate honorable mention winners were Linda Mesler of Albion, Pauline Joseph of Bellaire, Irene Fortuna of Grand Rapids, Patricia Bachman of Hartford, Eileen Zylestra of Hudsonville, Kathleen Box of Marne and Clara Root of Lawrence.

Bob Considine Says:

8 Ounces of Germ Could Kill All on Earth

NEW YORK — Sir Robert Watson-Watt, the cheerful little Scot who developed radar, has encouraged news for those who would do in the species.

"Eight ounces of Botulinus Bacillus, properly distributed, could kill all 2,500,000,000 inhabitants of the earth," rosy-jawed Sir Robert told us over one ounce of spiritus frumenti.

We asked where we might pick up some, cheap.

"In any badly cooked pork improperly canned foods, and not infrequently in oysters," said the man whose chief gift to science turned the tide of the Battle of Britain.

"I'm a bit sorry to say that about oysters. I find them delightful. But there it is, or rather, there it is on certain occasions."

"A yellow substance, this Botulinus when reduced to its most lethal form. You know, I'm quite concerned about the ease with which we can now end this pleasant world. This looks like the most effective thing yet."

"It ranks over what I like to call the Big Boy's Bomb type of war — you know, the H-bomb and all that sort of thing. Very expensive and messy way to end the human race."

"Botulinus Bacillus might be called the Cheap Boy's Poison. It would leave all the buildings standing. If there were any one left to occupy the area which had been hit by such a bacteria bomb, it would be safe to enter after 12 hours. At least, that's our best estimate."

He sounded as if consideration had been given to its use.

"Of course," Sir Robert said, surprised. "The Allies included it among their poison gas and germ warfare research and development during the war."

Senate Rejects Bill to Resume Highway Maps

LANSING (AP) — A bill to put the state Highway Department back in the business of issuing road maps has been defeated in the Senate.

Its rejection yesterday settled nothing since the department holds it can put out maps unless authority to spend funds for this purpose specifically is withheld in its 1959-60 appropriation bill.

The vote was 17 to 16, with 18 favorable votes required for approval.

The Republican-sponsored measure would have clamped restrictions on Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie, a Democrat. He would have been barred from putting his name on maps and limited to expenditures expressly provided for. Most Democrats opposed it.

Publication and distribution of maps was discontinued last year by legislative edict.

Among Perfect Students

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — La Rae J. Dull of Clare, a senior, was among 11 Central Michigan College students with a straight A average last semester. Miss Dull majors in art.

"There had been interest in it for ten or twenty years, at least on our side. In fact ever since an entire family in Lochmarie, North-west Scotland, was wiped out by a single meal. Bad can of salmon, as I recall."

"We had to assume the Nazis

Saginaw Legislator Blasts Lobbying $$

LANSING (UPI) — A Saginaw lawmaker yesterday blasted lobbying efforts in the Legislature as a bill he opposed sailed through the House with more than two-thirds of the legislators approving it.

Rep. Robert Gilbert (R-Saginaw), in attacking a bill to change the state's racing laws, said passage of the measure was "a good example of how a powerful lobby with a lot of money to spend can work against the public interest."

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Lloyd Gibbs (R-Portland), was worked over in committee from its original state which would have created two state racing commissioners.

As it was passed by the House, it reverted to the single commissioner system but removed his power to set prices on track admissions, concessions and programs.

It also would increase the percentage of the receipts going to the state General Fund by $500,000 to $800,000 a year.

were doing similar work. So we let them know that we knew. We made up a quarter million vaccine shots against the stuff and leaked the information that all Canadian troops in the invasion force were being inoculated."

"They were not, certainly, but the leak had the desired effect. It said, in effect, that if we had a vaccine we must also have the bacillus itself. It said further, of course, that if they used theirs, we'd use ours."

We wondered if our side had messed with the junk."

"Rather," he said, pleasantly. "Your Merck people put out a public booklet on it but the Army picked up every copy it could find. Philip Noel Baker gives Botulinus a whole chapter in his 'Arms Race.'"

Questions in the House of Commons recently brought to light that British bacteriologists are working on 40 types of cultures suitable for germ warfare. Sir Robert assumes the other major powers are busying themselves likewise.

"I suppose it's the thing, if you insist on wiping out mankind," he said warmly.

The father of radar, though maintaining a commendable indifference to the potency of eight ounces of Botulinus Bacillus, grew mildly indignant about the sluggish progress of radar.

"Absolutely ridiculous that a field like LaGuardia here in New York should not have every radar protection," he said.

"I was stacked up over Toronto recently for so long, because the field lacked proper radar guidance equipment, that my flying time across the ocean was an hour and a half slower than Alcock and Brown, 1919."

"The collision of the Andrea Doria and the Stockholm was completely unforgivable. So was the iceberg sinking of the Hans Hedtoft."

"Bridge officers just don't practice radar navigation as they should. They do no radar plotting on paper, but rely on their memory of where the blip or image was last seen, shocking neglect."

We asked Sir Robert, whose autobiography, "The Pulse of Radar," has just been printed by Dial Press, how he came to develop the miracle.

"No midnight oil was burned," he said apologetically. "The War Office people came to me mulling something about inventing a death ray. Rubbish, I told them, but as a compromise I promised I could locate aircraft approaching invisibly as far as 50 miles away. Simple as that."

Home Dynamited in Textile Strike

HENDERSON, N.C. (AP) — Police today investigated the dynamiting of a worker's home as mediators called another meeting in an effort to settle a bitter mill strike that began 17 weeks ago.

The explosion, second this week, tore out part of the kitchen in the home of Sam Harris Wednesday night.

Harris, 25, a nonstriking employee of the Harriet-Henderson Cotton Mills, said he was watching television in the living room with his wife when the explosion "blew a hole in the kitchen floor."

Harris, his wife and their children, asleep in a bedroom, escaped injury.

Monday, an explosion damaged the boiler room in one of the mills' two plants.

There were minor demonstrations by pickets Wednesday, when nonstriking employees entered and left the plants. Police said two cars carrying workers were stoned. One striker was arrested and charged with assault.

Symphony to Tour

His Money Embarrasses Fred MacMurray

By PHYLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Fred MacMurray has a peachy-looking wife, four children, a house, a ranch, a saxophone and an embarrassing amount of money.

He is not saying how much money he has — only that the amount has embarrassed him.

"There was an article in Cosmopolitan some time ago," Fred recalls, "letting the richest people — they called them 'the very, very rich' — of the world. My gardener showed it to me, as he asked for a raise. I was appalled."

"There was a picture of the Aga Khan. A picture of Barbara Hutton. A picture of Doris Duke. And there was me. Underneath me were the simple words, 'real estate.'"

He mopes his forehead, remembering. "How much that article cost me, you'll never imagine. One does not get that wealthy on a couple of small pieces of acreage in Riverside, one-tenth of a frozen food locker and a part of an apartment house."

What he is well-fixed enough to do, MacMurray says, is "avoid taking on a TV series. I am just exactly financially secure enough to look askance at working six days a week on television, which must be the toughest grind in the world."

The six-three veteran of films in the lovable low-tax era is returning to movies in Walt Disney's "The Shaggy Dog," in which he plays the father of a boy who turns into an English sheepdog.

"An interesting role," he says. "Just as well I'm not a method actor."

It is his first comedy in five years or more, though comedies always were his forte. "I've tried to analyze why comedies fell on their faces for awhile in movies, and I've got a theory. It isn't much, but I got it."

"Early TV was all comedy. Hollywood had to offer the public something different — like high-class westerns — to get them out to the movies. Now TV is all westerns, and Hollywood's got to offer the public comedy."

Career women, the successful variety, are less likely to marry than girls who never held jobs, or who never delighted in working. At the same time, the career woman who does manage to latch onto a spouse is more likely to stick with him than the average housewife.

1 Dies, 5 Are Critical After Poison Mishap

ZAMORA, Spain (UPI) — Five members of a family were in serious condition and another was dead today because Manuela Rodriguez mistakenly put arsenic in her family's soup instead of salt.

The woman's 63-year-old father died after eating the poisoned soup. Mrs. Rodriguez, her husband and three children were rushed to a hospital by neighbors after the error was discovered.

These facts are revealed by James Ethridge, director of research for the new "Who's Who of American Women."

In checking the statistics on some 20,000 women of business, education and civic life for biographies to be included in the first edition, Ethridge came up with these facts:

Of the outstanding career women, 2.6 per cent are divorcees. In the comparable age group of the general population, the rate is 2.8.

Only 58 per cent of "successful" career women have been married; while 89.4 per cent of all U.S. women have been wed.

Despite their good marital record, successful career women seem to be more prolific at work than at home. Of the married ones, 32.4 per cent are childless. Percentage among all U.S. married women is only 19 per cent.

What a pity. Half the fun of being in "Who's Who" is impressing the kiddies.

Gurley to Aid Wife Who Would Kill Him

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Ernest Gurley has hired counsel for his wife, Beatrice, charged with seeking his murder.

"I love my wife," said Gurley, 45. "And I'm going to stick by her — even if it takes everything I've got."

Gurley makes $80 a week as a truckdriver. His wife, 41, was charged Wednesday with attempting murder after allegedly admitting she tried to hire someone to shoot him to death.

That's the Phone Order in Britain

Calling All Operators: Be More Human

By RAYMOND E. PALMER
LONDON (AP)—Britain's telephone operators were told to be more human today. They are being encouraged to greet the customers and even address them by name if they know it.

The new approach, ordered by Postmaster General Ernest Marples to make the service more helpful, was only a couple of hours old when we rang our local operator to see how things were going.

"Fleet Street operator, can I help you?" The voice was distinctly masculine.

"How's this good morning business going?" we asked.

"Oh, you mean the friendly telephone service?"

"That's it," we said. "How's it going?"

"Well, we're supposed to try to make your lives happier—and ours, of course."

"How?"

"By being less formal. We don't have to use standard phrases any more, like 'number please'."

"Anything else?"

"Yes, we can give our names now. We don't have to give our names, but we can if we want to."

"Is this going to make much difference?" we wanted to know.

"Well, it'll probably make more difference during the day than during the night."

We said we could understand that, since the operators during the night are all men and the operators during the day are girls.

"Will the girls be able to give their names under this new friendly telephone service?" we asked.

"If they want to."

"And what about addresses?"

"Are you kidding? The telephone service isn't that friendly."

We excused ourselves.

"That's all right," said the operator. "Hope you've learned something about the new service."

We assured him we had learned one thing. If a man answers, hang up.

Blueprints Involve 330,000 Men U. S. Plans Test Convoy If Berlin Blockade Set Up

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States has drafted a plan for sending a test convoy through a Berlin blockade if the Communists impose one.

The need for a test convoy would arise if Russia abdicated its Berlin responsibilities, signed a treaty with East Germany and gave the East Germans control of traffic routes to Berlin.

It can be reported that blueprints for the test convoy and for putting America's 330,000 military men in Europe on increased alert now exist. Further, they can be adapted to whatever needs emerge from Allied conferences.

The plan as it now stands apparently calls for sending a normal size unarmed convoy of four to ten trucks over the 110-mile road from Helmstedt in West Germany through East Germany to West Berlin.

MIGHT CALL TANKS
If the convoy were stopped, it might then be strengthened with tanks and go ahead. What would happen if it drew fire from East German guards was not known.

It can be said that there are plans for Western military forces to establish control of the highway through East Germany if high policy dictates.

The increased alert presumably would apply to British and French forces as well as to U.S. Army and Air Forces in Europe. The U.S. Army has about 230,000 men in Europe, of whom 175,000 comprise the 7th Army.

For some years now, 85 per cent of the 7th Army has been on two-hour call. Some units are on instant readiness. The alert time could be reduced sharply under the standby plans.

The U.S. Air Forces, numbering close to 100,000 men in Europe and Britain, have some units on "runway alert," ready to take off in 15 minutes. Their numbers could be increased sharply.

Other plans available for various contingencies that might arise include:

— Increasing the number of Strategic Air Command bombers kept on 15-minute alert in this country.

— Beefing up Strategic Army Corps divisions in this country to "over strength" status and readying them for immediate movement.

— In the realm of possibility, but not being seriously considered, is the call-up of a few National Guard and reserve units.

Pilots Readied for Jet Age in New Trainer

DENVER (UPI)—Airline pilots are training here for their jump into the jet age with a new version of the familiar Link Trainer. The massive gadget was built by Link Electronics. It is an electronic duplicate of the DC-8, first jet transport designed and built specifically for civilian airline use. The 26-ton training aid is owned by United Airlines which is preparing its pilots for the opening of Jetliner service next summer.

Besides being a gadgeteer's dream, the simulator is said to trim the cost of training a three-man flight crew by $15,000. Even with the training aid the tab will still be $30,000.

United's flight operations chief, D. R. Petty, said that by the end of 1959, 180 qualified flight officers will have received jet simulator training.

In addition to 20 hours of training in the grounded jet cabin, pilots receive 112 hours of special school instruction and will get 12 hours of actual flight training when the DC-8's are delivered this spring.

Marauding Cat Kills Third of Racing Birds

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Homing pigeon-breeder C. H. Lyne blames a marauding cat for loss of nearly a third of his fine racing birds. Lyne said a big alley cat raided his fourth-story loft and killed 11 of his 36 pigeons. He valued them at $4,000.

"I spent 15 years breeding my pigeons to their present state of perfection — then along comes this cat," complained Lyne.

School Plan Opposed

SAGINAW (UPI)—The Saginaw Board of Education has gone on record against a proposed law to put every Michigan child into a kindergarten through 12th grade school district. The board says the proposal, which includes annexation by force if necessary, would put the school district into competition with townships for revenue, and pointed out the loss of one mill in tax revenue to a township would cost the City of Saginaw District $300,000 yearly.

Billy Graham Advertising Pulled Down in Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) —Advertisements for a revival meeting Billy Graham will hold at Melbourne University Friday were removed during the night. Organizers of the American evangelist's local crusade said some of the students are opposed to the meeting. Graham winds up his crusade in Melbourne Sunday and will take a two-week holiday on the Queensland coast.

You can shoot only one black bear in a season in West Virginia, to determine how much the bear weighs before you shoot the pounds. It's up to you, says Con-critter.

Tough-built Chevy truck bulls its way deep into the woods for mammoth loads

This big Series 60 Chevy bulls its way as far as 8 miles into the Louisiana woods, fights over ruts and jagged stumps... then grinds back out with towering loads of logs! The Sabine Lumber Company attests to the truck's ability to take it: "Chevrolet makes the best truck for our type of operation."

Out where a truck is known for the beating it can take, Chevy's making friends fast. Truckers like the way these toughies hold up; the way they wade right in, take their lumps, yet stay in shape.

Today, it's grit that Chevy's showing the trucking industry. Real toughness that pays off in job-after-job dependability... in ability to get work done at least expense. You can match Chevy muscle against any tough light-, medium- or heavy-duty job and know you've got it beat!

Your Chevrolet dealer's ready right now to meet your special work requirements. Stop by and see him soon.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

CHILDREN'S CHAIRMAN — For her outstanding work as chairman of the children's play and storybook committees of the Pontiac General Hospital Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. Robert A. Tripp (right) wins an orchid from Helen Harper, director of the hospital's nursing service. The presentation at a luncheon yesterday is the first in a monthly series honoring volunteer workers.

Child's First Dental Visit Should Be Social

NEW YORK (UPI)—A child's first visit to the dentist should never be delayed past the age of three, whether the youngster seems to need dental care or not.

This visit, says the American Dental Assn., can be in the nature of a social call, giving the child a chance to get acquainted with the dentist on terms that do not associate him with discomfort or pain.

The idea is to set the stage for providing the youngster with dental care in those early years when the foundation is laid for healthy teeth throughout life.

Brushing should also begin at an early age, dentists agree, even though the first teeth will be later replaced. This establishes a pattern of dental care and prepares the child for the "six-year" molars, which are permanent teeth.

There are "kid-sized" toothbrushes and "kid-sized" toothpaste tubes to help interest the child in taking care of his teeth when it counts most.

For dentists say that the child without any home training and whose first visit to the dentist is put off until he's six, seven or even twelve years old is the one most likely to have tooth trouble later on.

New Flint Expressway Cited for Traffic Rise

LANSING (AP)—The Flint-Clio Expressway development resulted in a 32 per cent traffic increase in the Flint area last year, the State Highway Department has reported.

At the same time, a 24 per cent reduction in the accident rate was noted.

Department traffic engineers said a study showed that new expressways encourage more travel and greater traffic volume but still are safer than the old routes they replace.

Wife Recognizes Talent

Judge Rolls Dice to Fix Length of Man's Jail Term

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A city judge's roll of the dice sent Tommy Jackson to jail for 30 days.

Jackson appeared before Judge Mitchell Goldman on a charge of gambling. Goldman convicted the 27-year-old man and found out he had three previous dicing convictions. Jackson also had a pair of dice.

"You want to roll for the time?" asked the judge. "No, sir," said Jackson.

"I'll roll for you," said Goldman, rattling the dice. "H'mm—an ace and a deuce. Three. Thirty days."

Sheriff Finds the Holes in Test of Roadblock

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Sheriff Myron Gilbert of Ada County decided to test the local roadblock system for trapping wanted criminals.

Twenty-seven officers were assigned to roadblocks in the area to watch for Gilbert, who theoretically had held up a grocery store and stolen a getaway car in Boise.

Gilbert eluded the dragnet and made it to Mountain Home, Idaho—43 miles away—without once being challenged.

Gold was first discovered in Colorado along a small stream that flowed into Cherry creek, not far from the present site of Denver.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Henry Silva and flame-haired Cindy Conroy, Miss Canada in the 1958 Miss Universe contest, are shopping for furniture. They obtained a marriage license Wednesday, and Miss Conroy said they would be wed St. Patrick's Day. He is 32, she is 21.

Flying Insects Deans of the Air

Have Been Airborne for 200 Million Years as Fast as 43 M.P.H.

WASHINGTON—Insects are the most experienced fliers in the animal world. They have been airborne for some 200 million years, and during half that time had the air all to themselves.

In flight they surpass birds and bats, and in some ways are superior to any flying machine. An airplane may fly further and faster, but a common housefly can outmaneuver a jet plane.

Nature's flying machines work hard at staying aloft, the National Geographic Society says. One species of fly vibrates its wings 1,000 times per second. The mosquito flaps its wings about 300 times a second; the bee, nearly 200. Even a relatively sluggish butterfly beats its wings five times per second.

The wings of most insects are attached to a special plate on the thorax. Contractions of muscles in the thorax move the plate up and down, producing a converse rise and fall of the wings. Some insects, notably dragonflies, have muscles at the base of the wings to move them directly.

Although the phenomenal wing-beating of insects uses much energy and fuel, it doesn't produce exceptional speed. Dragonflies are among the fastest fliers, but their limit is estimated at 43 miles an hour in short bursts. The honeybee cruises at about eight miles and can accelerate to 14 miles an hour. However jet-propelled a mosquito may seem on a summer's night, it is moving no faster than six miles an hour.

MSU Studying Center on Police Leadership

EAST LANSING UP—Michigan State University will study possible creation of a community relations center to develop police leadership in meeting municipal and human relations problems.

An $18,100 grant from the Field Foundation of New York will finance the study which will be directed by A. F. Brandstatter, director of the MSU School of Police Administration and Public Safety.

"There is evidence," Brandstatter says, "that many local communities must meet an ever-growing demand to devise and implement programs which will tend toward reducing friction among individuals and groups."

Unions Have Unwanted Feeling

What Do We Do Now?

KELLOGG, Idaho (AP)—The 299 employees of the Star Zinc Mine at nearby Burke held an election Wednesday to pick a union.

They were given a choice between the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers and the United Steelworkers of America in the balloting, set up by the National Labor Relations Board.

Eighteen voted for the Steelworkers; 47 for the Mine-Mill Union. The remaining 234 voted for no union at all.

Brass Rail Aids Back, Now What of Hangover?

DETROIT—A scientist has confirmed what every long-standing bar room character knows—the brass rail helps your aching back.

Dr. James K. Stack, associate professor of orthopedic surgery at Northwestern University Medical School says hooking your foot on the rail when you stand at a bar straightens your back and reduces strain, making you more comfortable.

Sugar is the chief food item in international trade and its annual volume ranks first, surpassing wheat.

Midway to Be Greeted by Kentucky Belle

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A pretty Kentucky belle greets the carrier Midway as she arrives today with 3,500 sailors and fliers.

Phyllis Ann Cox, 19 of Lexington, Ky., was chosen Miss Midway by the ship's crew. She is the sister of a crewman, Aviation Ordnanceman William S. Cox.

Miss Cox, a ched at Georgetown (Ky.) College, is 5-feet-1 and 35-22½-35. She'll get a great cheer from the Midway crew, which has been in the Far East seven months.

Rich Cream Cheese Pastry

If you want an absolutely wonderful rich pastry for turnovers, cream a three ounce package of cream cheese with a quarter pound of butter, then mix in a cup of unsifted flour and a dash of salt. Chill before rolling out on a prepared pastry cloth. New cooks may find it easiest to roll out this delicate pastry thick; experienced cooks will be able to roll it out thin.

Irish Type Dinner Honors St. Patrick

Sure, and you'll be wanting to serve an authentic Irish meal, straight from the old sod, on St. Patrick's Day. Corned beef, cabbage and green beans are a must, but your grand finale should be an Irish Potato Cake.

Made for centuries in the kitchens of the Emerald Isle, this chocolate cake has been modernized with the addition of mint-flavored cherries... truly "wearin' the green"! For an extra little festive touch, serve a Minted Fresh Fruit Salad.

Irish Potato Cake

2 cups sifted cake flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine, softened
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
2 tablespoons hot milk
1 cup chopped mint-flavored green cherries, drained (about 15 cherries)
Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream butter or margarine and sugar together until light and fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla and beat until smooth. Combine chocolate, milk and potatoes; blend until chocolate melts. Add flour mixture and potato mixture alternately to butter or margarine mixture, beating until smooth after each addition. Fold in cherries.

Turn into 2 greased 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 minutes, or until cake tests done. Cool. Frost and garnish with additional mint-flavored green cherries, as desired.

Minted Fresh Fruit Salad

1/2 cup diced fresh pineapple
1/2 cup sliced bananas
1/2 cup cubed oranges
1/2 cup mint-flavored green cherries, quartered and drained (about 10 cherries)
1/2 cup quartered marshmallows
1 1/2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons mint leaves, finely chopped
Combine pineapple, bananas, oranges, cherries, marshmallows, sugar and lemon juice. Chill thoroughly. Add mint and toss lightly. Serve topped with whipped cream, if desired. Serves four.

Learn About Lamb at March 19 Meeting

Spring may be around the corner and the voice of the turge about to be heard in the land. But on Thursday, March 19, a loud baa-a-a may be heard at Tel-Huron Community Center.

Mrs. Marie Harding, Regional Home Economist with the American Lamb Council, will give lamb demonstrations at 9:30 in the morning and again at 1:30 in the afternoon.

Her talk, titled "Spring Lamb the Year 'Round" is planned to show different lamb cuts and how to select good quality. You'll learn also how to store lamb and many ways to use it.

There will be lamb dishes to taste and recipes to take home. These demonstrations are open to the public.

A chef's knife and a generous-sized cutting board are wonderful in the kitchen. They take care of all kinds of fine and coarse chopping chores.

Bake Apples, Pork Together

As in most homes, you probably have certain meat and vegetable combinations that are served frequently and always in the same way. For example such dishes as boiled tongue with spinach or pork chops with sauerkraut or cabbage might be the favorite meals that meet with your family's approval.

However, here's a new method of fixing an old favorite that will surely receive a hearty welcome at the dinner table. It's a savory baked pork chops prepared with tart apples, brown sugar and caraway seeds that is cooked in a juicy tenderness. Accompanied by a side dish of sweet tangy glazed sweet potatoes, this meal will brighten up any winter menu.

Pork Chops and Apples
 4 pork chops, 1/2" thick
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 1/2 cup caraway seeds
 2 apples, core and cut in half
 1/2 cup brown sugar
 1/2 cup water

Sprinkle half the salt and pepper on chops. Brown chops in skillet. Place chops in 1 1/2 quart casserole. Place apples, skin side down, on top of chops. Sprinkle with sugar.

Add caraway seeds and remaining salt and pepper to water and pour over chops and apples. Cover. Bake in preheated moderate oven 350 degrees 30 to 40 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Sliced celery cooked in beef or chicken stock is a delicious addition to your fresh vegetable repertoire.

 Pontiac Press Home Editor

Can you believe that a simple thing like a homemade cookie will make someone very happy? We are not talking about small children to whom cookies are a treat. We are talking about adults.

Patients at Pontiac State Hospital who are nearly ready to return to the outside world attend parties at the hospital, sponsored by the Oakland County Citizens Committee for the Pontiac State Hospital. Homemade cookies are always part of the refreshments.

These cookies have been furnished by members of the Committee, but many more are needed. We talked recently with Mrs. Arthur J. Heaton whose husband is president of the Committee. She has been doing this monthly baking for nearly a year now.

Anyone is eligible to join this citizens' group. It exists solely for the purpose of helping patients. Meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month at the hospital and parties the second Wednesday.

Anyone who would like to bake cookies once a month and prove to a State Hospital patient that someone cares may contact the Heaton at FE 4-5750.

PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES
 By Mrs. Arthur J. Heaton
 1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
 1 cup white sugar
 1/2 cup shortening
 1 cup peanut butter
 1 teaspoon soda
 2 well beaten eggs
 2 cups sifted flour
 Pinch of salt

Cream shortening and sugar. Add peanut butter, eggs and sifted dry ingredients. Break off small pieces of dough and place on a cookie sheet. Press down with a fork. Bake 15 minutes at 300 degrees.

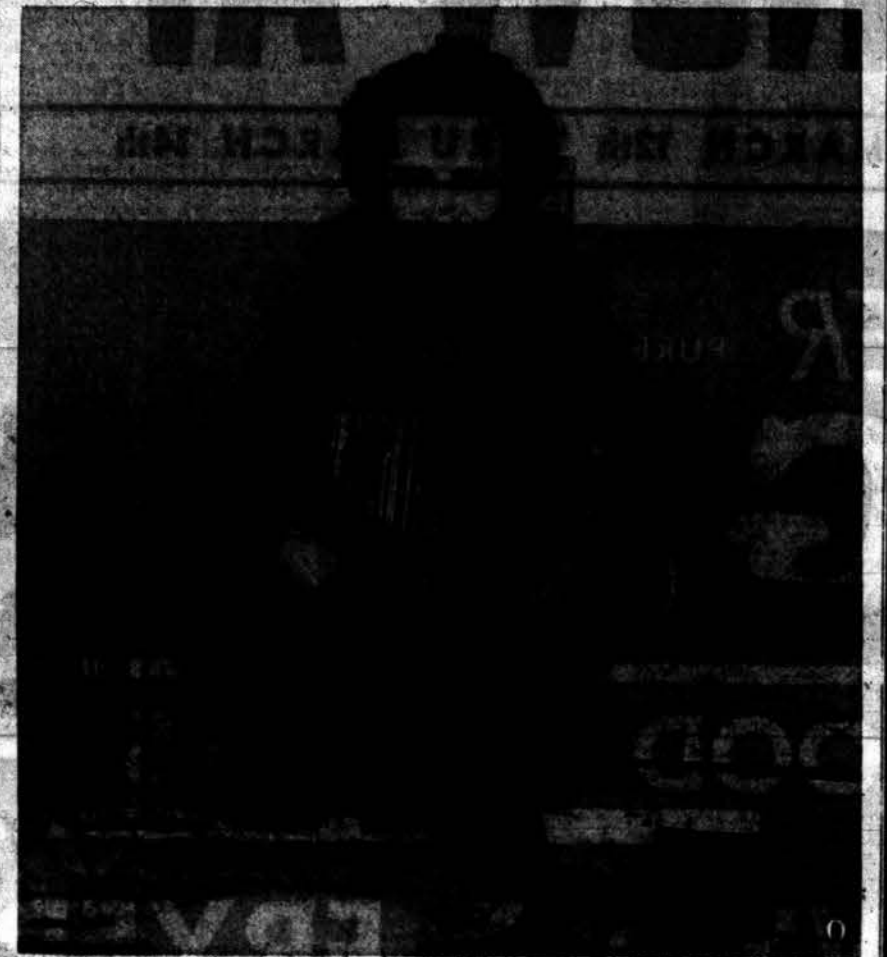

You may like to try this recipe now for your family and use it next month for someone else's treat. These oatmeal cookies are kept moist with the addition of applesauce to the dough. Top each cookie with a bright red candied cherry. A nutcracker would do as well.

 1/2 cup candied cherries

spices into bowl. Add oats, brown sugar, shortening, egg and applesauce; beat until smooth, about 5 minutes.

Drop by tablespoons onto greased cookie sheets. Flatten with bottom of glass dipped in cinnamon-sugar mixture. Sprinkle with additional cinnamon-sugar mixture. Top each with candied cherry half. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Look for Lamb Again; Check Pineapple, Spuds

Checks in local markets show no drastic changes in food supplies for those of a week ago. Red meats plan to brisne or use some other moist heat method (where liquid is added and the lid is left on) the lower grades will cook just as tender, if cooked at low temperature.

Fresh produce is dependent upon weather conditions, so some items are in good supply, others in light supply. Those canned fruits and vegetables in largest supply from last year's pack are being offered at special prices in many stores.

Meat dollars will go far when you study pork cuts the MSU Marketing Agent comments. Boston butt at 13 to 15 cents, loin roasts at 16 to 20 cents and picnics at about 20 cents per serving are the thriffter choices this week. Some stores bone the Boston butt so that you may roast it with a stuffing.

Notice the price range on bacon. This is true mainly because there are different forms and grades of bacon. Most shoppers buy bacon in one or two-pound packages. Number of slices in a pound vary from 18 to 20 depending upon whether it is regular or thick sliced. Highest grades vary in amount and distribution of fat and lean and in the width of slices.

Some retailers say we have reached the peak of lamb supplies for the spring and that we can now expect prices to increase gradually. Lamb quality is excellent. Since the proportion of lean meat to bone is greater from a large size lamb, you get more meat for the money you spend than when you buy cuts from a small size lamb.

Lamb shoulder is not easy to carve. One way to use it to better advantage is to remove the bones and stuff it as a rolled roast. Another way is to have it ground for meat loaf, patties or balls. It can be cut into cubes and oven-broiled on a skewer with vegetables for shish kabob. Lamb shoulder is 16 to 24 cents a serving this week; leg is 23 to 26 cents.

Treat Family to Apple Muffins

For a leisurely soul-comforting, old-fashioned breakfast, there is nothing like a mess of homemade muffins. So put this recipe in your file against the morning when you can find time for a little less hurried living.

Apple Date Muffins
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 eggs
 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 cup baking powder
 1/2 cup cinnamon
 1/2 cup nutmeg
 1/2 cup salt
 1 cup canned sliced apples, chopped
 1 cup pitted dates, chopped
 2 tablespoons melted butter
 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 1/2 cup sugar

Cream together shortening and one-third cup sugar. Beat eggs; add. Sift together flour, baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, nutmeg and salt; add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Fold in apples and dates. Fill greased muffin pans two-thirds full. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F) 25 minutes.

At end of 15 minutes brush with melted butter and sprinkle with mixture of 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon and 2 tablespoons sugar. Bake in oven for remaining 10 minutes.

Note: If desired, butter may be brushed on muffins and sprinkled with cinnamon and sugar before baking.

Chill Over Ice Water
 You can quickly chill a gelatin mixture for a pie filling, before beaten egg whites or whipped cream are folded in, by putting it over ice and water; stir occasionally to keep jellifying uniform. And watch the mixture so it doesn't get past the slight jellifying stage you need.

Nut Bits a Surprise in Banana Dressing

Top a citrus fruit salad with this unusual Banana Cheese dressing.

Banana Cheese Dressing
 1 1/2-cup package cream cheese
 1/2 cup light cream or milk
 1/2 cup banana
 1/2 cup lemon juice
 1/2 cup sugar
 1/2 cup salt
 1/2 cup chopped peanuts

Blend cream cheese with cream or milk. Mash banana with fork; add lemon juice, salt and sugar; blend. Stir mixture into cream cheese, blending until smooth and thick. Add chopped nuts.

Serve with fruit salad. Makes 6 servings.

Hot Apple Drinks Spike Cold on Winter Nights

What's the first thing we all offer guests? Why, something to drink, of course. And in the cool weather the "something to drink" can be a hot drink, fragrant, spicy and spirited... a gay drink that warms and lifts the spirit. It could, in fact, be one of these happy apple drinks... so simple to serve, so "filled with apple fruitiness."

The Hot Buttered Rum is particularly good on a nippy day when friends turn up looking a little blue around the edges. It's guaranteed to put them in a cozy glow... but soon. This is how to make it:

Hot Buttered Rum

2 quarts apple juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cup butter
*Rum, a jigger for each mug
Nutmeg or cinnamon

Heat apple juice and sugar until sugar is dissolved and juice reaches boiling point. Add butter. Put rum in each mug or glass. Pour on hot apple juice mixture. Sprinkle with nutmeg or cinnamon. Makes about 16 servings.

*Or use 2 teaspoons rum flavoring, adding it to apple juice mixture just before pouring.

Hot Apple Toddy

1 quart apple juice
1/2 cup dark brown sugar
1/2 cup lemon
Dash of angostura bitters

Combine apple juice and sugar. Slice lemon; add. Bring to full rolling boil; simmer 5 minutes. Add dash angostura bitters. Serve warm. Makes 8-8 servings.

—and pass the cookies. Here are some cheerful little nibbles. They're on the soft side, rich and nutty, and the chopped canned apple slices in them help keep them deliciously fresh for days:

Apple Nut Drops

1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon cinnamon

Southern Dish Is Hearty, Tasty

In the South, a favorite vegetable is corn pudding or custard. This recipe is a glamorous version of that treat because of the gay bits of red pimiento. Another exciting addition is the tender white rice.

Here's a quick idea for the vegetable spot on your lunch or dinner menu. Served with crisp strips of bacon, this Rice and Corn Custard can serve as a main dish.

Rice and Corn Custard

1/2 cup uncooked white rice
1/2 cup water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cream style yellow corn
2 cups milk
2 eggs, beaten
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons chopped whole canned pimientos

Put the rice, water and 1/2 teaspoon of salt into a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat down low. Cover the saucepan with a lid. Simmer over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove the saucepan from the heat but leave the lid on 10 minutes.

Mix the rice, corn, milk, eggs, 2 teaspoons of salt, pepper and pimientos. Pour into a greased 2-quart glass baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water. Bake in a pre-heated 350-degree oven for about 1 hour or until a knife blade comes out clean when run into the center of the custard. Serve as soon as possible. This recipe makes 8 servings.

Whip Evaporated Milk to Save on Calories

Whipped evaporated milk is the dieting dessert-lover's best friend. It has less than 1-3 the calorie count of whipped cream. To whip, empty can of milk into refrigerator tray and chill in freezing compartment until ice crystals form around edges, whip in cold bowl with cold beater.

For longer-lasting stiffness, add 2 tablespoons lemon juice for each cup of evaporated milk before whipping.

Spicy Pudding Served Hot With Sauce

Hearty spicy dessert that tastes particularly delicious with hot, brisk cups of tea.

Spicy Pudding Cake

1/2 cup sliced pitted dates
1/2 cup drained sliced preserved Kumquats
1 cup broken walnuts
1 cup boiling water
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 cup dark brown sugar
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
2 cups sifted cake flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons cold water

Put dates, kumquats and walnuts in a mixing bowl; pour boiling water over. Cream butter and sugar; beat in egg thoroughly. Stir baking soda into fruit and nut mixture. Stir flour and salt into creamed mixture alternately with fruit mixture in 4 additions, beginning and ending with flour; stir in cold water just until blended.

Turn into buttered 8-cup tube mold and bake in moderate (350 degrees) oven about 1 hour or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Serve hot with a lemon sauce or whipped cream. Leftovers may be cut into portions and reheated over boiling water.

You Need Less Salt

If a baking recipe has been tested with butter or margarine, and you want to use vegetable shortening instead, remember that you usually need one-half teaspoon of salt for every half-cup of the shortening.

New Packaged Mixes Keep on Coming

Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's been months since we discussed what's new in the food world. The arrival of a big box with six new mixes in it for us to sample started us thinking about all the other new foods we've seen.

The mixes—from a famous flour company—include an Orange Angel Food, a Pineapple-Lemon Angel Food, Banana Cake and a Pound Cake. These last two were loaf-size. The other two boxes held Popover Mix and Apple Crunch Mix.

One package of foolproof Popover Mix makes 12 popovers. In the Apple Crunch box there is a foil pouch that you use as a cooking pan. Individual fish fillets are pre-seasoned with butter, lemon, paprika and parsley. All you have to do is bake or boil them for less than 20 minutes.

If you like your angel food cakes frosted, you might like to try the fairly new Fluffy Orange Frosting Mix.

Two years ago at the Food Editors' Conference in New York we tasted a new seafood called Langostina. A product of Chili, it resembles rock lobster in taste. We were delighted to find this frozen seafood in our favorite food store not long ago.

Another new frozen fish dish comes wrapped in an aluminum foil pouch that you use as a cooking pan. Individual fish fillets are pre-seasoned with butter, lemon, paprika and parsley. All you have to do is bake or boil them for less than 20 minutes.

You can now buy frankfurters and baked beans together in one can, either the individual size or the larger size. These may be eaten just as they come from the opened can or heated. File this memo away for a quickie lunch idea; all you or the children need is a can opener.

Babies aren't forgotten. Their newest juice is a blended one. Carrot, tomato, spinach, lettuce and celery juices are blended, mildly seasoned and pasteurized. The juice has been strained so that it will go through a nursing nipple.

FOOD CLEMBED SLOWER

We all fuss about the cost of food. However, the Grocery Manufacturers of America tell us that food prices have not risen as much as the government's cost-of-living index. They have stayed at or below the August, 1952 peak.

We know we spend more money at the grocery store. But we tend to forget that we are eating better; our tables have more meat, vegetables and fruits and fewer potatoes. We purchase many non-food items in food stores every week. And that outlay for food is so frequent.

MOTHERS CHEER BORDEN'S NEW MILK DISCOVERY

NEW SUPER STARLAC DISSOLVES FASTEST

Two Testing Laboratories Prove New Super Starlac Faster Than Other Brands

Smoother dissolving, too, there's no paste, no waste to leave an aftertaste.

Two well-known independent testing laboratories recently proved Super Starlac's superiority in a series of tests against two other leading brands of nonfat dry milk.

In every case, test after test, new Super Starlac dissolved faster, more completely!

New Super Starlac outdates slow old-fashioned crystals that cling to the side of the glass; outdates slow old-fashioned powders that get pasty and leave an aftertaste. It's modern, new "hearts of milk" that dissolve faster, more completely, to give you the smoothest nonfat milk you ever drank.

In laboratory tests, Super Starlac dissolved at least twice as fast as the other brands compared. Furthermore, only Super Starlac dissolved completely. The proof: only Super Starlac nonfat milk poured right through the finest sieve, with no paste, no waste to leave an aftertaste. The other leading brands left definite undissolved crystals and lumps.

Smooth drinking, flavor fresh Super Starlac is fast becoming a favorite with smart, modern homemakers. They like its extra speed and convenience, its extra smoothness, its nourishment, its economy.

Proved Fastest, Smoothest

Four a glass of new Super Starlac through a fine sieve. It dissolves so quickly, so smoothly there's no paste, no waste to leave an aftertaste. Other brands even those calling themselves "instant," cannot pass this critical test. Laboratories have proved it!

As Little as 8¢ a quart for Super Starlac

When you pay as little as 8¢ a full quart, you can easily figure what Borden's new Super Starlac saves you on monthly milk bills. It's milk nutrition—minus milk's fat—in its most economical form!

Super Starlac is smooth, fresh-flavored for drinking. It's great on cereals. It's ideal in your favorite recipes. It's the modern way to all the protein, B-vitamins, calcium, and other minerals of freshest whole milk. All this, and economy, too!

Enjoying "Super" Milk Shakes

Miss Susan Hubcock of Yonkers, New York, finds new Super Starlac Milk Shakes have real "cool" date appeal! They're delicious!

SUPER STARLAC SPARKLER

(Makes two 12 oz. servings)

1 cup liquid Super Starlac, chilled

1 (7 oz.) bottle orange or raspberry flavored carbonated beverage, chilled

Place ice cubes in two 12 oz. glasses. Pour 1/2 cup liquid Super Starlac into each. Add carbonated beverage to Starlac, slowly, stirring constantly.

SUPER STARLAC CHOCOLATE MALTED

(Makes about 8 oz. serving)

1 1/4 cups ice water

2 teaspoons Borden's Chocolate Flavored Instant Malted Milk Powder

3/4 cup Super Starlac (dry form)

Combine all ingredients in large glass. Stir briskly until smooth. You'll find this a thrifty, low-calorie beverage everyone likes!

New Packages, Double-Foil Wrapped For Freshness

New double-foil wrapped packages keep Super Starlac extra fresh! There are three convenient sizes. 3-quart and economy 12-quart packages have new easy-pouring spouts. The 6-quart size has 6 individual 1-quart aluminum foil envelopes. Borden's new Super Starlac is at your grocer's now.

SUPER STARLAC FOR COOKING

by Evelyn Costick

Use it for soups, sauces, main dishes, desserts

New Super Starlac is most convenient, economical and versatile for cooking. It can be used easily in your favorite recipes. Use it dry, or in liquid form. Complete directions are on every package.

In many recipes, you can add extra milk protein with Super Starlac, just as you can use it to fortify whole milk. Also, you'll find it helps whatever you bake "brown" better. Why not write for a Super Starlac recipe leaflet? Simply address a card to: Super Starlac, Box 72, New York 46, N. Y.

Low-Calorie Whipped Toppings

Now, enjoy whipped toppings, with no fat! Fat-free Super Starlac whips into smooth, tempting toppings in minutes. They're delicious, low in calories, inexpensive.

Instead of "whipped cream," now, just whip Super Starlac according to package directions. You'll love it.

Try it as a topping for puddings, fruit, "Betty's," gingerbread. Or, use whipped Super Starlac in Bavarians, tapioca and a variety of frozen desserts. It's extremely versatile!

Applesauce-Cheese Pie a quick, delicious new flavor blend; thrifty, too

Bake one 9" pastry shell

1/2 cup water

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 cup Super Starlac (dry form)

2 cups (1 lb., 1 oz. can) sweetened applesauce

1 oz. (about 1 cup) finely shredded Borden's Vena Sharp Cheese

1 tablespoon lemon juice

1/2 teaspoon cinnamon

Combine water, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and Super Starlac in small mixer bowl. Beat with electric mixer until stiff, about 6 minutes. Mix applesauce, cheese, remaining 1 tablespoon lemon juice and cinnamon together, well. Fold into whipped Super Starlac. Spoon lightly into baked shell. Chill about 2 hours.

Handy 6-Pack Has Six One-Quart Envelopes

The 6-quart size of Borden's new Super Starlac contains 6 individual 1-quart envelopes. These handy individual packages mean no more measuring Super Starlac. You save time, have fewer dishes to wash! Each envelope is of stay-fresh aluminum foil, and each makes a full quart of nonfat milk—the most convenient amount for most families.

In Just 6 Seconds, Makes Smoothest Nonfat Milk Ever

"Quicker than instant," even in ice water

Right before your eyes, new Super Starlac dissolves in just six seconds. Stir gently and watch its tiny "hearts of milk" turn into the smoothest nonfat milk you ever drank. It's so fast, so smooth there's not a lump in a glass. New Super Starlac is truly "quicker than instant." It gives you brand new convenience for quicker mixing, delicious drinking, always on hand.

This Borden triumph is modern progress. It's the way to mix modern milk without fat—and to mix it sipping smooth, flavor fresh. You just can't find an undissolved particle in a glassful of Super Starlac.

Super Starlac "hearts of milk" dissolve as soon as they touch water. They give you smooth nonfat milk; smooth, smooth drinking from the top to the bottom of your glass.

Because Super Starlac dissolves completely, you get the smooth, fresh flavor of milk. In addition, you get all of whole milk's protein, B-vitamins, calcium and other minerals.

So Smooth Children Love It

Super Starlac makes pure nonfat milk with smoother, fresher flavor

Mrs. Emerson Dickman, Jr., of Hawthorn, N. J., is shown above enjoying a glass of new Super Starlac with her son, Robert; they both say, "It's really smooth!" Other families agree.

Mrs. Dickman knows new Super Starlac provides all the whole milk protein, B-vitamins, calcium and other minerals growing children need to help maintain a balanced diet.

Children and adults alike appreciate Super Starlac's smoother, fresher flavor. It's smooth—drinking nonfat milk from the top to the bottom of the glass. That's because new Super Starlac is tiny "hearts of milk" that dissolve completely. There's no paste, no waste—just wonderful taste! It's always smooth, mixes smooth, in just six seconds.

DIET PROBLEMS SOLVED

Super Starlac actually has more protein per glass than fresh, whole milk, plus all of milk's B-vitamins, calcium and other minerals. It's the heart of milk, the best part. The fat, however, has been removed. Therefore, new Super Starlac is the perfect answer for everyone on a nonfat diet. It's also ideal for any low-calorie or high-protein diet.

Parents are discovering the benefits of Super Starlac for teenagers. Because it provides needed nourishment without fats, it helps with both weight and skin problems. It is also recommended for use in many different types of fat-free diets. Delicious Super Starlac fits these diets to perfection.

Hurry-Up Meal Stars Sardines

If you have a can of Maine sardines — plump and flavorful little fish — a can of tomato soup and a box of pre-cooked rice on your kitchen shelves, you have one answer to a hurry-up meal at the end of a busy day. In a matter of minutes, by following this recipe for Quick Sardine Creole from the National Fisheries Institute you can serve your family a main dish generously endowed with proteins, vitamins and minerals.

Quick Sardine Creole

1 can condensed cream of tomato soup
1 small onion, sliced
1 green pepper, chopped
1 teaspoon chili powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 can Maine sardines
1 medium pre-cooked rice

Empty tomato soup into saucepan but do not add water. Add onion, green pepper, chili powder, salt and pepper and sardines. Let simmer until sardines are heated through and rice is prepared. Pre-prepare rice according to directions on package. Arrange around edge of warm platter, fill center with sardine mixture. Makes 3 servings.

Fix New Sauce for Shellfish Appetizers

Shrimp richly deserve their popularity as appetizers. The rosy little shellfish are attractive by themselves, or with other foods, on hors d'oeuvre plates. What's more, they are welcomed by everybody. And now that frozen shelled and deveined shrimp may be bought so readily, with cooking a matter of minutes, hostesses find this seafood easy to prepare and serve. As it's smart to serve two or more sauces with the shrimp appetizers, here are new recipes from the Shrimp Association of the Americas.

Black Olive-Avocado Dip

1 cup soft ripe avocado
1 tablespoon minced onion
2 tablespoons mayonnaise
1/2 cup chopped black olives
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon Tabasco

Peel avocado and mash. Stir in onion, mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt and Tabasco. Blend well. Stir in black olives. Makes about 1/2 cup dip.

Garlic Dip

1/2 cup sour cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
2 or 3 garlic buds
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup chili sauce
1/2 teaspoon freshly ground pepper

Blend together sour cream and mayonnaise. Put garlic through a garlic press into sour cream mixture or mince garlic and blend with salt; add to sour cream mixture. Add remaining ingredients. Makes 1 1/2 cups dip.

Hot Wine Mayonnaise

Hot wine mayonnaise will make cauliflower, asparagus, green bean or broccoli a party dish. For 4 servings, add 1 tablespoon instant minced onion to 3/4 cup sauteur. Let stand 10 minutes, add 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 tablespoon lemon juice and 1/2 cup mayonnaise. Heat over hot, but not boiling, water.

Now's the Time to Eat, Freeze Pork

If you have a home freezer or freezer locker, this is your signal to fill it with pork to be eaten over the next several months. Many stores offer special prices on half-carasses of pork, and will do the cutting for you, and wrap each cut in heavy, moisture-proof paper, all ready to go into the freezer.

Whether you have a freezer or not, a period of low-cost pork is a time to include more pork in the family meals. Loin roasts, tenderloin, roast shoulder, fresh ham, broiled chops all are things that come to mind when someone mentions that pork is wearing an attractive price tag.

For a variation, you might try serving Savory Pork on Toast. Cut up a pound of pork. Brown in a hot frying pan. Add 4 cups chopped celery and leaves, 1 chopped onion, 2 cups canned tomatoes. Cook for 15 minutes. Blend 2 tablespoons each flour and butter and stir until mixture has thickened. Serve on slices of thin, crisp toast.

Melted butter with bread crumbs and a dash of lemon makes a wonderful easy sauce for many vegetables like asparagus, broccoli and cauliflower.

Mushroom Soup Serves as Chipped Beef Sauce

Here's an easy way to make 6 delicious servings of creamed chipped beef: Use 4 ounces of dried chipped beef. Rinse the beef in boiling water to remove the excess salt; drain, then tear into shreds.

Heat 2 cans of cream of mushroom soup with an equal amount of milk. Add the shredded beef. Beat one egg until foamy and very light. Fold it into the dried beef just before serving. Lots of protein in this!

OES Holds Brunch, Card Party

Countywide Event Given Wednesday at CAI Building

The annual brunch and card party of the Oakland County Association of the Order of the Eastern Star was held Wednesday afternoon at CAI Building. A style show was given by the DeCor shop.

Wilma Bendle of Holly was general chairman of the affair, assisted by OES Chapter leaders of Oakland County. Hospitality committee was composed of the Oakland County officers.

Mrs. Marvin Roberts was style show chairman. In charge of tickets were Mrs. Samuel Max, Mrs. Fred Schwartz and Mrs. Auval Frazier.

The luncheon committee was made up of Mrs. David Squires and Mrs. Lester Oles. Mrs. Clair Ford and Mrs. Charles Marts were on the dining room committee.

Serving was under the direction of Mrs. Thomas Schlenker, Mrs. Robert Scharf and Mrs. Axel Fost.

Others on committees were Mrs. Carl Ferguson, tallies; Mrs. Les Kellogg, Mrs. Donald Booth, Mrs. Thomas Rhodes, and Mrs. Gill Thran prizes; and Mrs. Eugene Perkio, publicity.

A style show was featured on the program for the afternoon. Modeling the fashions by the DeCor shop were, left to right, Mrs. Oliver Godsey, Mrs. Frank Anderson and Mrs. Marvin Roberts.

Teach Them to Use Mr. and Mrs.

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have a son who is just learning to talk and I have been teaching him to call our friends Mrs. Jones, Mr. Greene, etc. I was taught to call my parents' friends by title and wouldn't think of calling them by first name."

"Today, however, all of our friends and neighbors permit their children to call everyone by first name regardless of their age and they think the terribly old-fashioned and tell me that I am making my child stilted and snobbish by insisting he call older people by title."

"I certainly don't want my child to be considered a 'snob' and yet I do want to bring him up properly. Am I being too strict in this present day of informality?"

Answer: I cannot approve of the growing trend of permitting children to call grown people by their first names.

"Dear Mrs. Post: The Faculty and Student Committee at our new high school are formulating policy for graduation exercises. It is a coeducational school. The seniors will wear caps and gowns and are anxious that the academic procession be proper."

"A few of the schools in the vicinity have a tradition in which the girls carry two dozen roses. There seems to be some doubt in our minds as to the correctness of such a procedure. Will you please advise us on this matter?"

Answer: It will be more dignified and will avoid any possible suggestion of a musical comedy scene if the girl students do not copy the tradition of the schools you mention.

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a friend who has accepted as an usher or bridesmaid, has to be replaced at the last minute because of illness, should he, or she, be given a present just the same, or may this present be given to the friend who is substituting?"

Answer: When possible, an extra present is bought. If not possible, then the one who is substituting should get it.

"Dear Mrs. Post: After my husband's death five years ago I gave up my apartment and went to live with a relative. I sent many of my things to storage as I had no place to put them. However, I did take several things with me which my cousin has been using in her house."

"I am going to remarry shortly and will be moving to my own house. I would like to know if it would be proper to ask her for these things as I could use them in my new house."

Answer: If you did not give your cousin these things to keep, you may certainly take them with you when you move.

Vasa Lodge Plans St. Patrick's Party

Vasa Lodge 510 will sponsor a St. Patrick's Party at Knights of Pythias Hall at 9 p.m. Saturday. An out-of-town orchestra will furnish the music. All Scandinavians and their friends are invited.

Serving on the committee for the affair are Mr. and Mrs. Gustaf Persson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stenman and Mr. and Mrs. Keith Potter.

Bigger Hats Mark Paris Style Picture

PARIS—The bigger the better is the word for new Paris hats.

Brims of all shapes and sizes are the dominant note in all collections, in both tailored and frilly versions.

Paris milliners say there's a hat for every woman's taste in the new lineup. The tailored girl may take her pick of trim, mannish sailors and derbies, preferred in shiny straws and often worn with big-mesh veils drawn snugly over the face.

Great swaths of fine tulle veiling also are much in evidence, either softening the severity of tailored hats or adding drama to evening confections.

The big, dramatic black hat for restaurant dining also stages a comeback this spring. A striking example is a huge crownless cartwheel made of shirred black tulle, spangled by a huge jeweled ornament front and center. This is designed by Paulette.

In addition to brimmed hats, there are plenty of deep cloches and bulky pillboxes, but even these take on added height and width.

Missionary Speaks for Philathea Class

Mrs. Herbert Smith, a missionary to Venezuela who is home on furlough, spoke to 45 members of the Loyal Philathea Class of First Baptist Church Tuesday.

Bloomfield Hills Highlights

Vacation Trips in News Focus

By RUTH SAUNDERS. BLOOMFIELD HILLS—Vacationing Bloomfield residents are beginning to return home reluctantly, some just in time to speed others just starting out. Many have waited until vacation time to spend these early spring days with the school set.

Among the latter are Mr. and Mrs. Richard B. Wallace who will fly to Fort Lauderdale the end of this week. They will get the yacht "Poseidon" in readiness for a trip to the Keys when their daughters Christine and Margaret join them next week. The girls will fly down Wednesday when their studies at Kingswood School Cranbrook are over, for three weeks with their parents.

Mrs. Raymond T. Perring is joining friends in New York this weekend and will spend 10 days enjoying new plays, new art showings and many musical treats.

Several Bloomfield parents will drive their families to Detroit next Saturday, March 21, to attend the last of a series of young people's concerts which the Detroit Symphony orchestra has been giving this winter.

There will be two concerts in the Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium, one at 11 a.m. and another at 2 p.m.

Going with their families will be Mrs. Robert Wardrop, Mrs. Charles D. Perry Jr., Mrs. Kenneth W. Cunningham, Mrs. Robert Dexter, Mrs. W. H. Baldwin, Mrs. John K. Bagby, Mrs. Stephen F. Booth, Mrs. Richard Morris and many others.

Mr. and Mrs. Eero Saarinen honored Mr. Saarinen's mother, Mrs. Elin Saarinen, at dinner Sunday evening to celebrate her 80th birthday.

Mr. Saarinen has been asked to go to Indonesia to consult with architects there on a building program for the next Olympic games.

With Mrs. Saarinen (Eero), he will fly over this weekend, going on to Japan for a brief holiday. They plan to be away three weeks.

Also postponing their trip to the Thunderbird Club at Palm Springs, Calif., are Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gossett. With their daughter, Tibbie, they plan to leave as soon as she gets out of Kingswood School for her spring vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Micon are on the high seas journeying to Japan for a visit with their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arnat Esterer.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fitzgerald have returned to their home in Cranbrook Court. They motored in central Florida and spent a week at Balaire, Fla.

Mrs. John G. Wood left Sunday for Palm Beach where she will stay for the next three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest F. Kern have returned home from a visit at Punta Gorda, Fla.

Heads down is the rule at a Rome hair stylists' competition where these models have to look camera-shy to show off the new coiffures. The style created

Two Sides to Story of Broken Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

"How could a man just walk out on a wife and three children the way Joe did?" the women asked each other.

As far as the friends of the wife were concerned it was a complete mystery—and Joe was an out-and-out scoundrel.

But then a man had the temerity to speak up. "I'm not defending Joe," he said. "But if you want to understand why he walked out—you women had better consider the whole picture.

"Sure Jane was a good mother—if you call making her children's happiness her whole life being a good mother. But what place was there for Joe? The house was always a mess—with the kids finger painting in the living room, the kitchen a shambles and dust on everything.

"Why you couldn't even sit down in a chair without moving the junk on it to another chair. There wasn't a corner or cubbyhole in that house where a man could sit down in peace and quiet.

"It would have driven me crazy in less time than it took Joe to get fed up. So while I'm not saying he should have run out on his family, I am saying his wife and children didn't make any room for him in his own home or in their lives.

"All Joe was expected to do was bring home a pay check every week, and not interfere with whatever Jane thought was best for the kids. Maybe that's a woman's idea of what marriage should be, but I can tell you it isn't any man's idea of marriage, home, and family."

I have to report that every wife present should look shocked by this crack in the picture window as pointed out by a man.

If they had noticed it themselves, it apparently hadn't seemed too important.

That's why it's well for women to listen attentively when men voice their opinions on marriage. There are two sides to any broken marriage—but women tend to see only the woman's side.

Exercise Will Help

Weight OK but Proportions Off

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This column is prompted by a letter I received recently. It raises a point concerning the figure about which I feel many women are confused. This is the letter.

"Dear Mrs. Lowman: I am 25 years old, five feet eight inches tall and weigh 145 pounds. My bust measures 34 inches, waist 28½ and hips 40. I don't believe I am overweight, but I know I am all out of proportion.

I've read of so many different exercises and am wondering if some are better than others. If so can you tell me which I need most?"

In the first place, this reader is correct. She is not overweight but she is out of proportion. Many factors besides overweight affect our silhouettes. Your figure depends on your body structure, your muscles, your fatty deposits and your posture. All of them play their part. This reader should concentrate on waist and hip slimming exercises.

You cannot change your bony structure but you can lose extra weight, build up muscles to increase certain measurements and you can correct faulty posture.

If you do not believe that your carriage has a tremendous effect on your figure, then try the following: Stand in front of a full length mirror. Look at yourself sideways. At first let your abdomen protrude and your spine droop. In other words, slump. You will notice not only the protruding abdomen but also that your waistline thickens and your bust practically disappears.

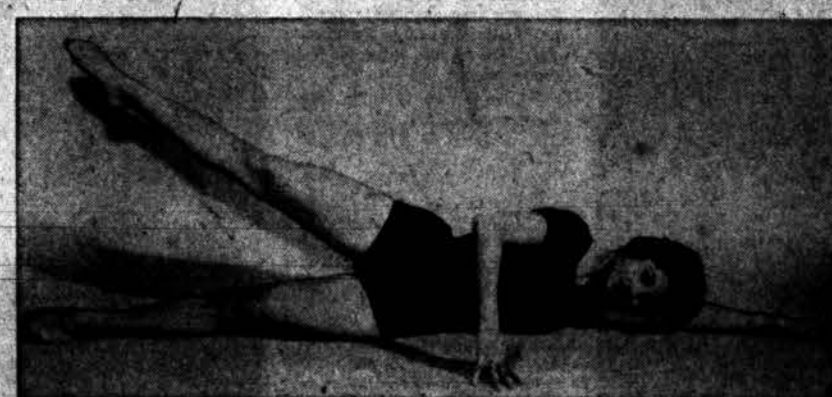

Now pull your abdomen in, straighten your spine all the way, and lift your ribcage. Your bust will be much more prominent and your waist much slimmer.

If you are the correct weight but out of proportion, exercise is the only answer, but this is a magic answer. With exercise you can redistribute your weight much more attractively.

There are specific exercises for reducing certain measurements. It is possible even to gain weight and at the same time lose in inches. I often have seen this happen in my classes.

If any of you would like to decrease your abdominal, hips or waist measurement, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 5. Address it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Tomorrow: "This Reader Wants to Fatten Her Legs."

There are specific exercises for reducing certain measurements. The young lady pictured is doing a hip exercise from Josephine Lowman's leaflet No. 3. She lifts her leg toward the ceiling, then lowers it. This is repeated 10 times.

Proper Care Adds Life to Woolens

Whatever price range your budget permits, your fine wool clothes will last lots longer if you take proper care of them. Here are some quick tips to help you get more mileage from your winter-weight worsted suits, Shetland sports coats, flannel slacks, lamb's wool sweaters and furnishings. You'll find that in the long run these tips won't require much of your time.

CLEANING HINTS

Wool suits should be dry-cleaned and pressed periodically. Remember that the longer spots remain in a fabric, regardless of what the fabric is, the more firmly they become imbedded, and the tougher they are to remove. To make it easier for your neighborhood dry-cleaner, bring to his attention what caused the spots you want removed—whether they be ink, alcohol, coffee, paint, etc.—so he'll know what to use on them.

When having a suit pressed, remind your dry-cleaner you want the sleeves "rolled." Most men in business today prefer the "rolled" sleeves to those with a sharp crease. You, too, will be amazed at how much dressier you'll look. Trouser cuffs should be brushed out frequently by yourself, as well as your cleaner. Dust can damage the fabric if left in them too long.

TIPS FOR MEN

For longer wear and a neater appearance, hike up your wool trousers when you sit down in the office. If your job requires you to sit behind a desk a greater part of your time, get a fabric-covered seat pad. Constant friction of leather or wood against any suit fabric will put a sheen on trousers.

It makes sense to keep your wool sweaters flat in a drawer rather than on a hanger, whether they be jumbo knitted wool cardigans, or sleeveless pull-overs that you wear to work under your suit jacket.

RULES ON COLOR

When outfitting yourself this spring '39 in the newest wool-worsted suits, and this year the styles are really distinctive, choose the right colors to suit your hair-coloring and complexion. An easy rule to remember is the general rule of contrasts.

A dark-haired man with a deep suntan looks best in medium-to light-colored clothes. Blond men, on the other hand, look well in dark-toned, spring-worsted suits. You'll find the new spring worsteds are slimmer-cut in single-breasted styles designed to flatter your appearance.

Space Heating Is Done With Electric Rug

British engineers in collaboration with a textile firm, have developed space heating by carpet.

It is actually an electrically-heated carpet underlay from which connection can be plugged into the wall like an electric blanket.

The carpet is designed to give a floor temperature of 70 to 75 degrees. It is claimed it will heat the air evenly in a room and take the place of central heating in mild climate.

Yomar Group Plans Dinner on April 3

Mrs. Richard Wright read a Lenten paper at the meeting of the Yomar Group of First Presbyterian Church held Tuesday in the church parlors. Plans were made for the spring dinner to be held April 3.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Emil Brustle, Mrs. Glenn Foss, Mrs. J. E. Frankfield and Mrs. Gene Feneley.

Nancy to Leave Sunday on Tour

LANSING 10—Mrs. Nancy Williams, wife of the governor, will leave Detroit's Metropolitan Airport Sunday on the first leg of a world-girdling tour.

She will inspect World Health Organization (WHO) facilities at the invitation of the United Nations.

The first airplane hop will be to Seattle Sunday night. The governor's wife and Mrs. John T. Abernethy, wife of a Williams' aide, will fly from there to Tokyo. Other stops will be made in Asia, the Middle East and Rome.

Group Meets to Plan Wever School Fair

Roommothers, staff and PTA executive board of Wever School met in the school library Tuesday morning for a coffee hour to make plans for the school fair. The theme will be "Carnival Capers."

Cochairmen of the affair to be held May 13 are Mrs. Samuel Ritchie and Mrs. Carl Pearson.

Mrs. Barton Schumaker was the hostess for the morning.

Lincoln Junior High School PTA will sponsor a dance for Lincoln students from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday, called the "Shamrock Shindig." Members of the Student Council are handling decorations, publicity and

Hide-Away Beds Are Not So New

Beds which disappear at the flick of a finger, common in today's homes in the form of attractive dual purpose equipment, are really as old as ancient Egypt.

Early examples which were found intact date from the Empire Period from 1500 to 1100 B.C. This was a folding bed that was hinged for storage or transportation. It had a woven leather thong mattress, a far cry from today's comfort designed mattresses.

Lincoln School PTA to Sponsor Saturday Dance

Lincoln Junior High School PTA is sponsoring a dance, "Shamrock Shindig," from 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday at the School. A local disc jockey will play records.

The student council is in charge of decorations, publicity and clean-up. Mrs. Robert Baldwin is in charge of chaperones and coat room, and Mrs. Fred Goines heads the committee for contest judges.

The snack bar is under the direction of Mrs. Harold Soule and Mrs. Virginia Batchelor. Mrs. Melvin Norberg and Mrs. Robert Baldwin have charge of tickets.

High Forehead Can Be Hidden

A too high forehead can detract from beauty but, at least, it's a fault that can be concealed.

Always keep a high forehead powdered so that a shine will not make it more noticeable. A slightly darker shade of powder than that used on the rest of the face helps, too.

Wispies bangs and eyebrows arched a little higher than usual, are also good minimizers. Try all of these tricks, and you'll find your forehead and face will appear beautifully symmetrical.

To Ripen Tomatoes

To ripen tomatoes indoors select mature tomatoes that are full size and ready to turn color. They ripen best at temperatures of 70 to 75 degrees. Put them where they'll get plenty of light but not too much heat.

Dear Abby . . .

Dejected Bride of 3 Months Finds Honeymoon Is Over

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: I'm a bride of three months and my husband is very good to me, when he's awake. After dinner he stretches himself out on the sofa and watches TV and then falls asleep. He doesn't do this every night. Two nights a week he plays league basketball and I don't see him at all. I feel so unneeded. Seriously, Abby, I'd like your advice."

ABBY

DEAR DEPRESSED: When a groom of three months falls asleep right after dinner in front of the TV set, it's a pretty poor commercial for his wife. If he's got the pep to play league basketball, he's got plenty of vitality. I'd say it's your move.

"DEAR ABBY: We are a family of five. My husband traded in a perfectly good five-passenger sedan for a two-seater sports car. What would you say he had in mind?"

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Himself.

"DEAR ABBY: Two years ago I fell in love with a married man, and at the time I didn't know he was married. Naturally when I found out I quit seeing him. I never stopped loving him though.

Last week he called to tell me he had his divorce and he wants to see me. I still care for him. Abby, but my parents do not approve of him because he didn't tell me he was married when he first went with me. I am 24 and have a good job. I would like to see him. Please tell me what to do."

TORN

DEAR TORN: There are two possibilities: This man could still be married in which case he's poison. He could be free now but if you married him he could "forget" to tell the next young lady who looks good to him that he is married to you. Lose him.

"DEAR ABBY: I am a young woman of 22 and am nothing special. The man next door is in his 60s and has cancer. The doctor says he can't last more than a year. He's not bedfast yet and drives a car and goes to work half-days. He's not married and has a nice home and money in the bank. He wants me to marry him.

"I am not in love with him and to tell you the truth it makes me sort of sick to kiss him but he says he wants a little happiness and companionship before he dies. After he dies I can marry someone my own age. Would I be doing wrong to marry him? My mother says to marry him and my preacher says it would be a sin. I'd like your advice."

NOTHING SPECIAL

DEAR NOTHING: To marry

a man (whose kisses make you "sort of sick") and wait for him to die so that you can get his money reduces the holy sacrament of marriage to a cold dispassionate business deal. Your preacher is right.

CONFIDENTIAL TO BABY DOLL: Never mind the cry child. Hold out for orange blossoms.

For a personal reply, write to ABBY in care of this paper. Enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

'Drive to Stamp Out Fantasy Killing Creativeness in U.S.'

NEW YORK (UPI)—Don't give Buchmueller said. "To the pre-junior just the facts, mom. Lack of fairy tales, nursery rhymes and fantasies can produce a mediocre generation."

So says A. D. Buchmueller, executive director of the Child Study Association of America.

"Fantasy enables children to learn and to develop curiosity and creative capacity. But we are so obsessed with drives toward success and goals couched in materialistic terms that we are killing off the spirit which enables a person to be a creative individual."

The result? Mediocrity and a false sense of values," said Buchmueller, the father of three, in an interview.

The association promotes wholesome family life through leadership training groups, consulting services, research and evaluation of current trends in child development, education and mental health. It will hold a conference in New York March 16 for educators and scientists to find ways in which parents can help children achieve mental and emotional stability in the pressures of the space age.

FANTASY NATURAL

"All children have fantasies. It's a natural part of childhood."

"For example, children build fantasies around parents, especially fathers. They think their father is like God—and I suspect fathers encourage this—but later they realize parents are human beings."

"Parents are afraid the child is a pathological liar when he invents imaginary playmates or situations, and so handle fantasies the wrong way."

For instance, Buchmueller said, when a child says he saw a bear in the yard and shot it, his mother or father says either, "You mustn't say things like that—it's not true" or "Yes, I saw him, too."

The first way represses the creative spirit of fantasy, and the second puts too much play into the fantasy, confusing the child or stimulating him unwisely so that his differentiation between fantasy and reality is less clear, Buchmueller explained.

The correct way is to let the child know you accept the fantasy as fantasy by saying, "Tell me more about it," and then, "Okay, you shot the bear, now come in and wash your hands for dinner."

Parents also can help by reading the child stories and encouraging him to play games. Teachers also can help stimulate fantasies. For example, in kindergarten, children should be encouraged to build castles in a sandbox.

In grades, later, they can build model homes, ships, planes.

"These projects are fantasies related to reality, the things that stimulate children into becoming an architect, scientist, or creative adult in any field," said Buchmueller.

Can parents tell if fantasies have become unhealthy, signaling emotional illness?

"Yes, by the way in which the child withdraws, especially between 8 and 10 years of age," Buchmueller said. "He is sick if he is unable to function in a world of reality."

Of course, fantasies sometimes have a "wolf-in-the-suit" ending. One story, which Buchmueller swore was true, concerned a boy who said a bear was in the yard. His mother didn't believe him, later went to the door, saw a bear, and promptly fainted. The bear had escaped from a visiting circus.

Pomade Keeps Lipstick On in Cold Weather

If you find that your lipstick tends to cake and peel off in cold weather, try using a lip pomade before you apply lipstick. This acts just as a liquid foundation does in protecting your skin and creating a base. The lipstick will stay smooth and creamy for hours.

Be sure to let it "set" however, for at least 20 minutes before you blot it with a cleansing tissue. That way, it will stay on longer and with a clear outline.

PTA Elects Leaders at Whitfield

Mrs. Charles Coppermith was elected president of Daniel Whitfield School PTA at its meeting held Wednesday evening in the school.

Serving with her for the coming year will be Mrs. William Cotting, vice president; John Griesen, father vice president; Mrs. Robeanna Spickie, teacher vice president; Mrs. Robert Mehlberg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Steven Velle, treasurer; and Mrs. Ralph Puckett, historian.

Council delegates will be Mrs. Anthony Oster, Mrs. Jack King and Mrs. William Cotter.

Janice Antons, teacher of Pontiac citizenship classes, and representatives from her classes gave a program on what new citizens learn and a description of their countries.

George Woodworth, school music director, opened the meeting with group singing.

There's Beauty Ideal for Any Age, Says Star

Lovely actress, Cornelia Otis Skinner, proves the truth of the idea that there is an ideal of beauty to be achieved no matter what a woman's age.

Miss Skinner is not an ingenuite but she is a beautiful woman. In her current play, she wears clothes entirely suited to her age and therefore most becoming.

Her evening dresses have cover-up for shoulders and arms, her suits fit perfectly. Her legs and feet are enhanced by sheer nylons worn with neat and perfectly plain leather or satin pumps. Her clothes tend toward simplicity. They are chic because they rely on handsome fabrics and expert cut.

That Miss Skinner was endowed with good looks to begin with is obvious. But it's also obvious that she's not trying to appear kittenishly young. She's a most attractive woman at an age which is her own secret.

After Styling

Learn Coiffure Upkeep

Once you've had your hair cut and set, keeping it lovely becomes your particular problem. Some women attempt to solve this by combing their hair very gingerly.

This, of course, is a mistake. If your hair is healthy, a fresh set can be brushed the usual 100 strokes. And if it isn't healthy, it's time to do something about it.

But holding the line of the set can be achieved by using common sense. To begin with, ask your operator how she set it. Notice if she uses pins or rollers and watch how and where she places them. Because in these days of soft permanents and casual hairdos, no one should expect a set to last from one week to the next.

It will need help from your own hands. Best aid for your home setting is a spray net tailored to your hair type. The regular is for defined hairdos and the supersoft is for casual styling and fine, silky hair. Use it daily; it contains no sticky resins.

A Decorative Touch

For a gay decorating touch, line cupboards with self-adhesive plastic shelving. This is available in bright patterns, won't slip or slide on the shelf, and can be kept sanitary by wiping often with a sudsy sponge.

Bragging Hints Fear of Being Unwanted

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Holding Paul's map up before his Aunt Lou and little sister, he said, "Miss Purdy said mine was the best map any kid made in class today."

Later Paul showed the map to his mother. Laying it on the table, he said, "Oh, for heaven's sake, Paul where she was serving cocoa to his Aunt Lou and little sister, he said, "Miss Purdy said mine was the best map any kid made in class today."

Something in his voice so irritated his Aunt Lou that she snapped, "Oh, for heaven's sake, Paul why do you always have to brag about yourself?"

This question so troubled Paul that he couldn't drink his cocoa and retreated to the solitude of the sunporch.

I don't wonder. As a first-born child he can't help exaggerating his achievements. It's how he expresses his old fear that he's an unsatisfactory child. By exaggerating Miss Purdy's approval of his map, he insists he isn't. His idea is "Unless I brag I'll have to go on being the child who so disappointed Mother that she had to arrange for another one—and have sister."

Parents who have been first-born children themselves should find it especially easy to understand their oldest child's bragging.

We have only to recall our own childish explanation of our brother or sister's arrival. Like Paul, we accounted for the rival in only one way: we were a disappointment.

Even today, we may not be fully conscious of how we felt because the feeling was very scary. But out of that secret fear of our worthlessness we probably developed a need of our own to exaggerate our achievements. And may still be struggling with a tendency to boastfulness.

Bragging is a common way human beings express their fear that they are unwanted.

In a business recession, advertisements get awfully boastful. They insist quite shamelessly that their manufacturer's products are much, much better than any other manufacturer's.

Just as Paul has to declare his map the best in his class, frightened business tycoons who think we won't want their products find it necessary to start exaggerating the products' value.

Although we can tell what's back of the tycoons' bragging, we don't always see what's back of children's.

What Young People Think

Can't Spell Worth Beans, Teenagers Admit

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.
"I before e, except after c."
Or is it the other way around?
Many teenagers admit they're not sure—about this or the other old guides to better spelling.
We asked 627 youngsters to rate themselves as spellers. Only 53 per cent considered themselves good, while 30 per cent said they are fair. The remaining 17 per cent said their spelling is pretty hopeless.

But 96 per cent put a high value on good spelling. "People judge you as a person by a lot of different things," said 14-year-old Sue Rohler of Detroit.

"Spelling is one of them."
"Misspelling," said Scott Bradford, 16, of Exeter, N. H., "is as bad as being illiterate."

Typically, many of the poor spellers blamed others—school teachers, word irregularities. But a surprising number candidly admitted they had only their own poor study habits to blame.

REALIZE HANDICAPS
Only half of the teenagers said their schools conduct spelling classes, while only 60 per cent believed their English teachers put enough importance on good spelling.

The youngsters agreed that poor spelling can detract from school marks as well as a person's business life.

"Everyone needs to know how to read and write their own language," said Jan Woods, 18, of Lakewood, Ohio, "and many can't do it properly if they can't spell."

"Correct spelling," said 14-year-old Thomas Foster of Augusta, Maine, "is essential in any business you are in."

"It's a sign of good learning," said Mary King, 18, of Charleston, Ind.

Almost 9 out of 10 of the teenagers said their parents think good spelling is important, but only 6 out of 10 said their parents keep after them to improve.

Andy Jackson, 16-year-old Detroit boy, said his parents tell him
"it is a sign of slipshod thinking to spell poorly."

And 18-year-old Maurice Dee of Hartford, Conn., said his parents "trained me to spell correctly."

But some of the teenagers said their parents can't spell and rely on them when a word has them stumped.

PINPOINT CAUSES
In trying to pinpoint the difficulties in spelling, we came up with the following: Three out of 10 admitted spelling problems arise from their own neglect in studying. Some find it hard to concentrate.

Other reasons that rank high are irregularities in spelling, inadequate training in school, and just plain indifference.

The good spellers had reasons for their skill. "There's no trouble if you think about what you're doing," said Karen Boswell, 17, of St. Louis, Mo.

"I take my time and concentrate," said 19-year-old Robert Abair of Ludlow, Mass.

The youngsters also had suggestions on how to improve spelling.
The most basic answer came from 17-year-old Sue Fulgham of Detroit, who advised "study, study, study."

"Study, memorize, practice writing words," said John Warmunde, 17, of Boston, Mass.

"Take all English courses available, take Latin, and practice," advised 17-year-old Terry
Penniman of Sac City, Iowa.

Marcia Johnson, 16, of Duluth, Minn., suggested that teenagers
"take Latin and learn root meanings."

BACK TO FUNDAMENTALS
This idea of learning to spell by going to the very roots of the English language was popular among good spellers.

"Let them read their own language and others, that they may learn spelling through memory and knowledge of derivations rather than through ridiculously non-existent rules," said R. Gordon, 17, of Belmont, Mass.

Most of the youngsters put it squarely up to the individual. Only one or two of the good spellers suggested that schools should do more.

"Never use a word unless you can spell and define it," said 18-year-old Margaret Swain of Washington, D. C.

"Try concentrating," said Bonnie Humphrey, 14, of Augusta, Maine.

Perhaps all of the poor spellers would be wise to heed the advice of Jan Woods, 18, of Lakewood, Ohio, who warned: "You'd better know how before you get to college. They can flunk a good paper because of one misspelled word."

Your legs need creaming

For this purpose, keep a bottle of body lotion handy and use it generously. This is the best way to avoid that scaly look

Group Urges Many Changes

Draft New Family Code

BARABOO, Wis. (UPI)—"The chief cause of divorce is marriage."

This is not the remark of a cynic. It's a sober statement by a man whose job it is to help draft a family code for the citizens of Wisconsin.

The man is Judge Robert H.
Gollmar of Baraboo. He hopes the new code will "encourage young people to take a good, long look before rushing into marriage" and provide services to help head off the break-up of existing marriages.

Proposed changes of the family code drafted by members of the state legislative council would "raise the dignity of marriage" by:

—Raising the minimum age for girl to wed without parental consent from 15 to 16 and eliminating pre-marital pregnancy as a reason for waiving the age requirement. The minimum age for boys would remain 18.

—Taking away from justices of peace and court commissioners authority to perform marriages.

—Requiring a divorced man with minor children to get approval for a second marriage from a judge "who knows what divorce is all about."

—Creating a new post of "family law commissioner" who would "make a real step to try to reconcile the parties" to a divorce action.

—Requiring a 60-day "cooling off period" in divorce actions during which the "machinery is in operation" to try to bring the couple back together.

Judge Gollmar said he isn't trying to "play Solomon and say this of that person shouldn't get married." But generally speaking, a "marriage that doesn't have a normal period for young people to adjust is not good."

It would be better to have a child born out of wedlock to a 15-year-old girl than for that girl to marry a 17-year-old boy who "has trouble enough adjusting to marriage, without having the emotional problems of fatherhood within months," Gollmar said.

Girl Scouts Meet at McCarroll School

More than 80 Girl Scouts and their leaders from the Malkim-McCarroll School neighborhood met at McCarroll School Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. N. Reid Graham, neighborhood chairman, introduced the troops taking part in the program.

Troop 9 of Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church gave the flag ceremony.

Others taking part were Troop 63 of Oakland Park Methodist Church who enacted the Girl Scout Laws, and Troop 512 Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church, who gave a dance.

Songs were sung by Troop 8 of Malkim School and Troops 569 and 570 of McCarroll School.

A Lavender Lift

It may sound daring but it will be a lift to your spirits this spring: a pair of lavender kid pumps. Pretty with navy blue and stunning with the softer blues.

Give It the Care It Deserves

Hair Can Be Crowning Glory

Every woman knows that a lovely, well cared for head of waved hair is a perfect frame for the face and presents an overall picture of femininity. So, it is the wise woman who makes sure that her hair is in top condition before she gives herself a home permanent, so she can get the best results possible.

Just as the summer sun causes hair problems, the winter months of cold weather, steam-heated apartments and constant head covering play an important part in creating hair problems.

The three most prevalent problems aggravated by winter weather are caused by an imbalance of natural hair oils. 1. Dry, fly-away hair—a condition caused by lack of natural oils and usually accompanied by noticeable dandruff.

Treatments for this problem are massaging the scalp with the fingertips to wake up the oil glands, plus warm oil and steam applications for the hair ends before shampooing.

Rub warm mineral or olive oil into the hair ends, then wrap head in a towel that has been wrung out in the hottest water you can stand. Cover with a dry towel to hold in the heat and leave on for 20 minutes. Repeat three times. Shampoo.

After shampooing and drying use a soft bristled brush and brush gently 100 strokes. Repeat brushing every night for two weeks. This will not only massage the scalp but held to distribute natural oil to the hair ends and, at the same time, get rid of the dandruff flakes.

2. Oily hair—a condition caused by overactive oil glands in the scalp and sometimes accompanied by patches of dandruff. Constant brushing with a stiff-bristled brush and frequent shampooing are the treatments for this condition.

For excessive dandruff patches, apply warm oil to the scalp and let it soak in for an hour. Then use a blunt-toothed comb to loosen the patches. Follow with shampoo. Shampoo twice a week or as often as necessary.

The Coronet coiffure pictured above can be styled only with hair in shiny-bright condition. Dipping gently over the cheek, the side wings soften and flatter the face. The light tracery of a shoestring bang echoes the side wave pattern. The high, sweeping crown and soft, wide waves are particularly flattering.

Between shampoos, wrap cheesecloth around the brush and brush the hair vigorously. This will absorb some of the oil.

Here's another effective practice, particularly if you are going out and there's no time to shampoo. Dampen a wash cloth with cologne and rub hair and scalp vigorously. This will remove some of the oil and also the dank odor that usually accompanies an oily scalp.

3. Normal hair that is dull and lacking highlights.

This problem can be overcome by the use of a proper shampoo and making sure that all of it has been removed after washing.

Lemon juice or vinegar in the last rinse water will insure this. The hair should then be dried thoroughly and brushed, brushed, brushed, to polish the hair shafts and bring out the highlights. Be sure to dry thoroughly and brush

Take Time to Groom Wardrobe

When you come home from a rugged day at the office, you want to get out of your clothes and into loose, comfortable garments. It's possible that the only concession you'll make to your wardrobe is to hang up your dress.

But no smart woman depends entirely on the cleaners to keep her clothes in good order. Remember that your clothing went through the same hard day that you had.

You wouldn't leave your living room undusted and cluttered after the family had used it for the evening. And, by the same token, you should never hang up a dress you've worn without first giving it a good brushing and looking it over for small tears.

It might seem like an exhausting procedure when you've just returned from eight hours at the office, but 15 minutes devoted to your clothes after you remove them each night will give you months of extra wear.

Besides, what could be more pleasant than opening a closet or drawer, knowing you'll have the full choice of your wardrobe in readiness for the next wearing at any time?

This is the season when social activities take a turn toward the younger set. If you're planning an Easter party for the children, why not plan to get them together for an afternoon of making party decorations preceding the big event? They'll take great pride in pointing out favors they have fashioned themselves, and you'll find it easy on the budget. These tots are making place-favor bunnies to hold little cups of candy.

Tots Enjoy Making Own Easter Favors

Easter vacation marks the start of the spring social season for the youngsters almost as certainly as it does for their elders.

Aside from the flurry of birthday parties which must be met and survived as they come, there are clubs, school and social organizations, all planning some sort of event that may involve your children (and you) in some key capacity such as planning refreshments.

Although there is a wealth of clever, ready-made party table decorations available, a limited budget precludes any big expenditure on decorations.

Youngsters like a festive setting, but want the money available to be spent on food.

Recently a committee of Brownies met to plan a spring-time program agreed to test ideas for gay party table favors which would be very inexpensive, easy enough for a 9-year-old to make and not too difficult to whip up and look bright and fun-filled.

BUNNY FAVORS

Two colorful contributions are place-favor bunnies holding little cups of candy and a centerpiece of bright "flowers" which echo the colors of dyed eggs and candy ones around them.

The materials needed include construction paper, an empty cottage cheese container, cellophane, and plastic tapes, cotton swabs, drinking straws, and water colors.

Make a pattern for the bunny—one with arms and legs outstretched, about six inches.

Cut bunnies from construction paper and paint features on the face. Bow tie, hands, and feet, you can snip from colored plastic tapes, or you can use paint.

Bend each bunny at waist and fold his arms around a nut cup. Tape in place with clear tape. For extra security use a small piece of tape or paste to stick cup to his lap.

The flower pot is made by covering a cottage cheese container with colored construction paper. Fasten with cellulose tape. Ornament it with a painted design around the sides, using brush and water colors or a cotton swab dipped in paint. Turn container upside down and punch six small holes in bottom.

SIMPLE FLOWERS

To make flowers, outline simple flower shapes with black ink on bright colored papers and cut them out.

Snap a cotton swab in half and insert in center of each flower. Insert the end into a drinking straw and put the straw into a hole in cottage cheese container.

Scatter small candy eggs around the base of the flowers. If you are using the flower pot at center of table, you might want to set it on a lace paper doily backed by colored paper and weighted with home-dyed Easter eggs.

DON'T BOIL EGGS

And as any good cook knows, the way to boil eggs is not to. If eggs are to be eaten later—and most are—they should be simmered slowly. Fresh, clean and white smooth ones give the best color. They should be thoroughly cooled before dyeing.

Easter egg colors are certified food colors and, therefore, perfectly safe for children to use.

Has Seen Many Upheavals

Algiers Lives Casually With World Tensions

WASHINGTON—Algiers, long a pirates' paradise and still famed for its Casbah, has come to live casually with tension in recent years.

Residents of the troubled Algerian capital have been frisked by officers of the law at the entrances to department stores. They have seen bullet-proof vests for sale. They have watched helmeted soldiers patrolling with rifles. But despite the disquiet of Algeria's lingering rebellion, the people of Algiers go about their business with considerable calm.

In Algiers, two ways of life blend—and clash. Industrially oriented Europeans live near Arabs who have had little or no training. The Europeans have built roads, factories, hospitals, and schools, but the country's rapidly increasing population has largely offset the economic gains. Poverty has remained.

Algiers' eventful history goes back to Roman times, the National Geographic Society says. A small town called Icosium was located on the site; it had a Christian bishop as late as the 5th century. The town disappeared, and North Africa passed under Moslem control.

The present city, today numbering some 400,000 citizens, was founded in A. D. 944 and thereafter experienced one invasion after another. In the early 1500s, Spaniards built a fortress, Penon, on an island off Algiers to keep the Arab city under their canons.

To free themselves from Christian domination, the Arabs of Algiers appealed to pirates for help. The pirates could not capture the Spanish fortress, but one of them seized Algiers itself and set himself up as ruler. His successor, a brother, formed an alliance with Constantinople that was to last until the 19th century.

The Spaniards had kept a precarious toehold on their island fortress. In 1539 Algeria captured the Penon, tore down part of it, and used the materials to build a mole linking the island to the mainland. The structure created the port that was to harbor the world's most daring pirates. Piracy continued until

Ancient People Thought Nudity Reverent State

JERUSALEM (UPI)—The ancient people who inhabited the underground villages near Beersheba between five and six thousand years ago considered nudity the utmost expression of reverence for their gods, according to Jean Perrot, director of the French Archaeological Mission to Beersheba.

Ivory figures discovered during the excavations of a site known as Bir es-Safadi, a little southwest of the modern city of Beersheba, are always naked and lacking mouths when supposedly facing a divinity, according to the French archaeologist who has just completed his seventh season digging here.

The absence of a mouth on a figure that is meant to represent someone paying respect to his god is taken to mean that the worshipper was expected to remain completely silent when in an attitude of devotion.

The village at Bir es-Safadi was founded sometime around 3500 B.C. It is the last of six underground villages unearthed by Perrot just outside Beersheba.

Perrot believes these people lived underground because such villages afforded the best protection against the blazing sun of the day, the bitter cold of desert nights and lashing storms which darken the winter skies of Israel's Negev south.

Whales Migrate to Baja, California

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI)—Each year, for about two or three months in midwinter, several hundred giant whales migrate from the Bering Sea in Alaska to warmer waters off the coast of Baja California, Mexico.

The huge mammals travel the more than 6,000 miles to reach their calving grounds, remote lagoons sheltered from the winds and the waves of the Pacific Ocean.

It's during this mass migration that scientists have their best opportunity to study the habits of the earth's largest form of animal life.

The whales obligingly pass close to San Diego's Jutting Point Loma, where experts make a daily count and take notes on their activities.

'High Cost of Leaving' Charged to Taxpayers

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)—When the Wyoming Legislature passed a bill increasing from $15 to $35 the cash payment given prisoners discharged from the state penitentiary, Rep. Oscar Hall had a logical explanation. He attributed the increase to "the high cost of living."

New State Serum Lab to Be Tested

LANSING (AP)—A new laboratory, geared for increased production of life-saving blood serums, will be given a trial run here Monday by the state Health Department.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said the stepped-up program will assure production adequate to meet the state's demand for gamma globulin—the most widely used serum distributed by the department.

The serum, which has been in short supply, is used to ease measles in babies and reduce other infectious diseases.

The laboratory will also produce serums for victims of shock, to halt hemorrhaging at childbirth and to stop bleeding in persons whose blood does not clot normally.

The state Health Department is one of the few laboratories to produce the latter serum—fibrinogen. Shipments of this serum have been flown to remote places of the world following emergency calls for assistance.

An agriculturist (says J. O. Jewett) is someone who used to be called a farmer before he could afford a station wagon . . . Ostriches, according to one unhappy wife, sound like they'd make ideal husbands — they can see very little and they can digest anything. —Earl Wilson.

Police Say Robbers Not New at Trade

EAST MEADOW, N. Y.—Four men accused of robbing a Massapequa, N. Y., bank of $75,000 last Monday are veteran bandits, police say.

When seized Tuesday, the quartet claimed the robbery was a spur-of-the-moment operation, a means of solving their financial worries. Police were inclined to believe them because none of them had a previous criminal record.

Wednesday, authorities said, the men admitted seven other cash holdups on Long Island over the past two years—working singly and in pairs. Four of the victims were loan companies. The total loot was set at about $6,000.

Held on armed robbery charges in the Nassau County jail here are Thomas Parks, 27, a plumber; Richard Hatch, 33, a blueprint developer; William T. McHenry, 31, an unemployed insurance salesman; and Anatol Rytsky, 44, owner of a tavern, said to be the ringleader.

Veteran Comedienne, 74, Well After Surgery

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Mary Boland, veteran stage and screen comedienne, was reported resting well today after undergoing surgery in Hollywood Presbyterian Hospital.

The 74-year-old actress was operated on Wednesday to halt an abdominal hemorrhage. Her doctor described her condition as "very satisfactory."

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—Each spring since he was obtained from the Chicago White Sox in 1954, Bob "Red" Wilson always comes into training camp as the second or third ranked catcher on the team.

But by mid-season, Wilson is either sharing or doing the first string catching duties on the team.

First there was Frank House, then Jim Hegan and Tim Thompson, and now it's Lou Berberet. In each instance Wilson was tagged as second-fiddle.

House, Hegan and Thompson are long gone but Wilson is still around, after his 1958 season it is most likely he'll be back as the number one man behind the plate this year.

In 103 games last year, Wilson batted .299 and was over .300 most of the season.

The surprising thing for most people is to realize Wilson's speed. He led the Tigers in base stealing with 10 in 10 attempts.

How does Wilson feel about the situation each spring in which he is given second billing?

"It doesn't bother me," said Wilson, "naturally I would like to play most every game, and when I'm catching I'll do my best for the team."

"That's one thing about Red, he hustles all the time," said coach Billy Hitchcock.

Comparing Wilson's statistics to the other catchers in the league shows that he was third best defensively among the regular backstops. Yogi Berra and Elston Howard are the only other two who can show better defensive marks.

Berra had 550 chances without an error, Howard had 382 with one error, Wilson had 604 chances with only five errors. Triandos, White, Lollar all had more errors and had more passed balls on their respective teams than Wilson.

Even Berberet who is supposed to push Wilson for the job cannot match his mark defensively. In 268 chances last year with Boston and Washington he had five errors and four passed balls. He had a field percentage of .981 compared to Wilson's .994.

One column where Wilson fails to come close to matching catchers like Berra, Lollar or Triandos is in the home run and RBI department.

Now that he doesn't have to be second best to someone else on the team, Wilson could aim for the fence more freely.

He overcame a lot of obstacles, especially competition, and he might not be the best in the league but he certainly has earned the right with the Tigers to be called the first string catcher for the first time in spring training.

Tigers in Contention for Grapefruit Pennant

Billy Labels Him 'Fall Guy'

Ex-Bengal Martin Goes to Bat for Jack Tighe

SCOTTSALE, Ariz. (UPI)—Billy Martin, ever the scrapper, is going to bat for Jack Tighe, whom the Detroit Tigers fired as manager midway through last season.

"He was the fall guy for our poor showing," said Martin yesterday before an exhibition game between Cleveland and the Red Sox. "It wasn't Tighe's fault that we weren't doing better. We just played poor ball. There were some people on the club who didn't like him and so he got canned."

Martin, who is returning to his beloved post at second base this year for Cleveland, described Tighe's alleged enemies as "the type who want sugar and cream with everything they get."

Billy wanted to make it clear, however, that neither Harvey Kuenn, Frank Bolling or Red Wilson were among the "sugar and cream" group.

"Those fellows play hard day in and day out without grumbling," Martin said.

Bill Norman replaced Tighe and during the last month of the season asked Martin to stay in the lineup to try and help the fifth-place Tigers end up in the first division.

"I'd injured my ribs and every time I swung at a ball it hurt," Martin said. "I had been hitting .280 and wound up at .255."

Billy added that he isn't sold on late season drivers.

"If a club is going any place it should win its quota of games throughout the season," he said.

Martin shifted between third base and shortstop last year and is happy to know that manager Joe Gordon of Cleveland will play him at second base.

"That's my best position," Martin said.

Billy has changed clubs three times now in as many seasons after an era of six and one-half years with the Yankees.

Martin, who likes Kansas City, was disappointed to leave the town after one season.

"I don't think that club has improved itself with so many deals," Billy the Kid said. "I guess they don't want high-salaried players. Yet general manager Parker Carroll gets a raise after they finish seventh. When that happens to ball players they take a cut."

MEAs Coaches Confer Friday at Southfield

Prep athletic coaches from all sections of Michigan will convene Friday at Southfield High School for their annual meeting. Frank Crowell of Avondale High announced this morning. Crowell is secretary for the Department of Coaches of the Michigan Education Association.

"We expect to have about 200 for this annual session," Crowell said. "The program will cover election of group officers, and include a football clinic at 1:30 p.m. by Monte Charles and his staff." Session takes up at 8:30 a.m.

Crowell is chairman for group No. 7, covering this area, which was organized some six years ago by PCH's Art Van Ryzin and Crowell.

Moore Heading for New Record

Gets 38th Goal, Now Has 86 Points; Hawks Gain Playoffs

Dickie Moore, Montreal Canadiens left winger and leading scorer in the National Hockey League, had a chance today to break Gordie Howe's all-time point record for one season.

Moore tallied his 38th goal and collected two assists last night at Toronto when the Canadiens trounced the Maple Leafs 6-2. Moore, with 48 assists, now has 86 points. Howe scored 49 goals and had 48 assists when he set the record of 95 points with the Detroit Red Wings in the 1952-53 season.

With five games left before the Canadiens go into the Stanley Cup playoffs, Moore has only to average two points per contest.

The Chicago Black Hawks ended a three game losing streak by whipping the New York Rangers 5-3, thus clinching a playoff berth for the first time in six years. It was the fourth straight time Chicago had beaten the Rangers in New York.

Andy Bathgate registered the three goal hat trick for the first time this season, but failed to gain on Moore and Montreal's Jean Beliveau in the scoring race.

Spring Showing Boosts Advance Sale of Tickets

Detroit Starts 4-Game Stand at Henley Field Against Cardinals

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

LAKELAND, Fla.—If it means anything, the Tigers are in the "thick" of the Grapefruit League race as they prepare for a four-game "home stand" at Henley Field.

As far as giving any indication as to how the teams will do in regular season play the Grapefruit circuit could hardly be used as a criterion. The Yankees are a good example. They usually play .500 ball in Florida and then walk off with the American League pennant by the 4th of July.

Kansas City and the Pittsburgh Pirates are often red hot in spring training and have been known to flake completely out of the picture when the regular season starts.

The box office personnel of the respective clubs appreciate a good Grapefruit showing more than anyone. Ticket sales in the home-towns usually perk up when their teams do well in training camp games.

This has even been true in Detroit this week, according to traveling secretary Charles Creeden.

"Winning three of four games has perked the sale of tickets for early season games," he noted, and this is what the Tigers want because it has been no secret that the advance sale has been below that of the past few seasons.

Today, the Tigers face the St. Louis Cardinals for the second time. Last Sunday in St. Petersburg the Bengals whitewashed St. Louis 4-0 behind the pitching of Billy Hoelt, Tom Morgan and Jim Raugh.

Jim Bunning, Paul Foytack and Ray Narleski are slated for the mound today. This is the trio which was engaged in the lone defeat last Saturday to the Senators.

It was Narleski who was hit hard by the Nats with a big four-run 8th inning.

Tomorrow, a full house will be on hand for the visit of the Yankees, and it will be the big test for Hoelt.

Hoelt has looked good in two appearances, one in a three-inning intra-squad appearance. He will share the mound duties with Morgan and rookie Raugh.

Yesterday, the Tigers went through three hours of drills as manager Bill Norman put the pitchers through their paces in bunt plays and pickoff sessions. Norman got to discussing a couple of the rookies who appeared here with the Los Angeles Dodgers on Tuesday.

"The Dodgers got themselves a couple real prospects in those two outfielders Don Fairly and Frank Howard," he said.

Howard is the former Ohio State basketball player who signed for a reported $100,000 while Fairly was signed off the Southern Cal campus for $80,000.

"That Fairly is sure to be a regular with the Dodgers," Norman said. "He's a powerful boy with good reflexes and coordination for his size. And he can hit the ball a country mile."

"There's the kind of kid we need on this club right now. We'd be in good shape with a prospect like him," Norman added.

The Tiger "B" saw action yesterday and scored a 7-4 victory over the White Sox "B" squad in Tampa.

Hank Aguirre, George Susce and Jim Stump pitched for the Tigers with Charley Lau doing the catching.

Larry Osborne and Maury Wills each had three hits for the Tigers while Norman Cash homered for Chicago in the 9th. The "B" squad now has a 2-3 record.

Chiefs Advance to Regional Final

LEGGO! — Rochester's Gene Lothery (right) and Harrison Munson of Pontiac Central both seem to be saying "let go, it's mine" as they battle for possession of the ball in last night's regional Class A semifinal at Southfield. Rochester's Larry Hummel, with his back to Munson, keeps his eyes on Pontiac's Bill Hayward, who takes a tongue-in-cheek attitude. The Chiefs raced past Rochester, 73-47, and meet Livonia Bentley on Friday night for the regional title.

Rochester No Match for PCH Quintet, 73-47

Bandy and Bailey Pace Central to Title Game With Bentley

By BILL CORNWELL

Hustling, keyed-up Rochester made a fight of it for eight minutes or so, then crumbled under the pent-up firepower of Pontiac Central in Wednesday night's Class A regional semifinal basketball game at Southfield.

Held to a skimpy 13-11 lead at the end of the 1st quarter, the Chiefs cut loose with a 21-point barrage in the 2nd period and went on to crush the outclassed Falcons, 73-47.

The runaway triumph propelled the Chiefs into Friday night's regional championship final against Livonia Bentley on the same Southfield court. PCH and Bentley will tip off at 7:30 p.m.

Deadly shooting by John Bandy and Amos Bailey wilted the Falcons into submission after they gave their all and played the Chiefs on even terms for one quarter.

Four PCH cagers broke into double figures in the scoring column to highlight Central's explosive offense.

Bandy headed the point-making parade with 27, including seven of eight at the foul line, and Bailey came next with 10 field goals for 20 points. Phil Rabbia and Harrison Munson each added 10 points to the well-balanced attack.

A combination of scrappy, aggressive play by the Falcons and some poor shooting by Central kept the score close during the 1st stanza.

Rochester tallied the first point of the contest on a free toss by Gene Lothery and the Falcons held a brief 7-6 lead midway through the 1st period.

The Chiefs really unloaded in the 2nd quarter to pile up a commanding 39-22 halftime lead and Rochester's upset hopes were smashed. Pontiac's lead hit 27 points in the 3rd session and the Falcons came no closer than 20.

Lothery and Eugene Hofl sparked Rochester's scoring efforts with 14 and 13, respectively. The Falcons ended their season with a 14-4 record.

St. Stephen and Romeo in 'B' Final Friday

Clarkston Eliminated

By CHUCK ABRAIR

A surprised crowd of over 2,000 saw how a full-court press can sometimes completely change the complexion of a ball game as Clarkston was eliminated in the Class B regional at Pontiac Central last night.

The Wolves, given a 2nd chance by the Avondale forfeit, bowed to Port Huron St. Stephen 71-68 after leading for the first 22 minutes of play.

Tourney favorite Romeo and St. Stephen clash Friday at 7:30 p.m. in what should be a wild running affair.

Anyone who might have left the gym during the 1st half was probably amazed to learn the outcome. Clarkston completely dominated the play during those two periods and it looked like the Wolves would be able to romp with ease.

CHS opened up in front 11-0 and stayed ahead by from 10 to 16 until the intermission. It was 24-11 following the 1st eight minutes and 43-31 at halftime.

Port Huron skipper Jerry Lynch came up with the strategy that

Holly Whips St. Johns; Maples, Berkley Kayoed

Holly had to work hard to stay alive and Birmingham, Berkley and Brighton fell by the wayside in high school regional basketball activity last night at three tournament locations.

Leroy Decker's Holly quintet was pushed all the way to defeat St. Johns, 66-61, in the opening round of Class B action at the Flint IMA. The Broncos now face Clio on Friday night at 7:30 in the semifinal.

Birmingham made a respectable showing against powerful Hamtramck before bowing, 63-54, and Highland Park threw a defensive blanket on Berkley's Dave Burris and downed the Bears, 45-31, in Class A regional play at Birmingham.

Wayne-Oakland League champion Brighton reached the end of the life at Willow Run where mighty River Rouge, last year's state runnerup in Class B, handed the Bulldogs a 69-46 licking. Millington took a 71-41 lacing from Flint Holy Redeemer at Bay City to fall out of the running in the Class C ranks.

Six-foot-six George McDaniel tossed in 28 points, 10 at the foul stripe, to lead Holly past St. Johns. The score was 28-23 at halftime and it was a nip-and-tuck battle all the way with Holly wrapping up the decision in the final three minutes.

Hamtramck led Birmingham from start to finish, but the Cosmos were never far enough ahead to relax their guard. Their biggest lead was 15 in the 3rd quarter. Art Reid of Hamtramck captured scoring honors with 25 points while Merv Gallop and Bill Massey each tallied a dozen for the Maples.

The Parkers completely shackled Burris, often putting three men on him and holding him to an unbelievable low of three points. Berkley trailed at the half, 23-13, and never came close to catching up. The Bears made only one field goal in the last four minutes.

Brighton and Rouge were tied at 25-25 in the 2nd period, but the Panthers pulled away to a 38-26 halftime edge and rolled unabated after intermission. Don Appleton scored 21 points in Brighton's losing cause.

Austin Catholic, Michigan's defending Class A champ, smothered Notre Dame of Harper Woods, 52-28, yesterday in the East Detroit tourney. Austin will meet East Detroit for the title.

Ohio State Votes 'No' on Rose Bowl

COLUMBUS, Ohio—(UPI)—The question of whether the Big Ten will re-new its pact with Rose Bowl officials was tossed right back in the lap of the conference's faculty representatives yesterday by Ohio State University.

The Ohio State Faculty Council voted to instruct Dean Wendell D. Postle, the University's representative to the Big Ten, to vote against taking part in the annual post-season classic.

Only last week the Big Ten representatives voted to start negotiations with Rose Bowl personnel to continue the current agreement under which the conference champion plays a West Coast school.

Two 'C' Games Tonight

Prep regional basketball tournament action in the Oakland County area is on the slim side tonight with only two games on the docket. Grosse Pointe, St. Paul meets Detroit St. Thomas at 7 o'clock and New Haven faces Detroit St. Bernard at 8:30 in the Class C regional tourney at Birmingham.

Ex-Area Star Turns Umpire

Most young ballplayers dream of some day being a pitching or batting star in the Major Leagues but 22-year-old Steve Ryerson of Waterford Township has a different angle.

He hopes to make the grade as an umpire—of all things—following in the footsteps of former local pro arbiters Tom Kennedy and "Mutt" Morse.

Ryerson was recently among 55 to graduate from the Al Somers Umpiring School at Daytona Beach, Fla. He was one of only 10 placed in professional jobs and the youngest of the group.

Steve has been assigned to the Class D Nebraska State League for two years. The loop was formed two years ago by a group of Major League teams for placing young prospects.

"It will be rough. There will be small pay and a lot of traveling and they tell me lots of fellows drop out along the way but I hope to stick it out. The motto of the umpire's school is 'Don't Quit,' said the determined former three-sport star at Waterford High.

Ryerson, whose family operates a super market near the Pontiac Country Club, will report to Waycross, Ga., March 20 to work in spring training exhibition games. Waycross is the headquarters for Milwaukee's Minor League operations. Regular league play will follow.

In the competition for jobs, the local fellow was at a great disadvantage since the majority of the other students had previous experience officiating baseball.

"I had never had a mask on my head in my life before but in a way it was good because many of the guys had picked up the wrong habits, which are hard to break while working amateur games. They were starting from scratch with me."

"I thought I knew a little about baseball until I went there. Now I understand the umpire's side of things," commented the future man in blue.

Somers, a Pacific Coast arbiter, also had two others from Triple A ball and some in lower loops as teachers while Major Leaguers Augie Donnell and Ed Hurley conducted some courses.

The veteran arbiters put the boys through a rugged 6-week course which included field work daily and classes four nights a week, stressing rules and enforcement. Several of the field sessions included games with students alternating as players and umpires.

Although the Somers' school is located at the Cleveland Indians' Minor League training site, two players who helped out at the school as baserunners on sliding or 1st base calls were St. Louis Cardinal candidates Lee Tate and Wally Shannon. Ryerson also met Hank Greenberg and Lou Boudreau.

His hope like that of every young player entering the Minors is to move up the ladder rapidly although the constant folding up of such leagues keeps cutting down the openings.

Steve will have over $300 invested by the time he actually begins league work including the school and the purchase of necessary uniforms and equipment. He expects to receive a salary of $275 to $300 per month.

Still single, which helps make it possible to start at the bottom rung, the former All-Inter-Lakes shortstop has worked in the family store since his graduation from WTHS in 1954. But his folks have encouraged him rather than try to prevent his entering the baseball field.

The likable Elizabeth Lake road resident picked up several valuable pointers at the school with the stress placed on sticking to a decision and not holding grudges.

Having made his share of "beefs" on close plays as a prep and semi-pro player, Ryerson feels he now knows both sides of the situation and is anxious to start what he hopes will be a successful career as an umpire.

He is sure to have some rugged days ahead but may have that sincere determination a big time umpire needs to stay with it. Don't forget the ear plugs, Steve.

33 Tiger Tilts Are Weekenders for TV Viewers

DETROIT (AP) — It will be mostly a weekend pastime in watching the Detroit Tigers on television in the 1959 season.

Forty Tiger games are to be televised over a seven-city network and 33 of them fall on Saturdays and Sundays. The TV schedule of Tiger games opens April 11 with the Detroit-Chicago game here.

Twenty-eight games of the TV series will be from the road. Twelve will be Tiger home games. WJBK-TV is the Detroit outlet. Others on the network will be WSPD-TV of Toledo, WJIM-TV of Lansing, WKZO-TV of Kalamazoo, WWTW of Cadillac, WPBN-TV of Traverse City, and WJRT of Flint.

MAN, I'M HAPPY! — A Pontiac Central cheerleader leaps with joy as the Chiefs chalk up another basket against Rochester in last night's regional Class A game at Southfield. The other happy cheerleader is more restrained — she merely claps her hands. PCH routed Rochester, 73-47, and faces Bentley for the crown.

Chisox 'Knot' Still Tied

CHICAGO (AP) — Baseball's strangest stalemate continued today with the self-styled boss of the Chicago White Sox ignoring the man who just assumed control of the club, or thought he did.

Bill Veeck, who Tuesday bought 54 per cent of the club, said he would visit Comiskey Park for the second consecutive day with hopes of a first official get-together with co-vice president Chuck Comiskey.

Yesterday, Comiskey hastily departed the ball park just as Veeck and his top associate, Hank Greenberg, arrived for a first look at "what we bought."

Comiskey didn't even return a distant wave by Greenberg from in front of the park where he and Veeck were being photographed. Later, Chuck said he had to leave for an appointment and denied he was avoiding Veeck.

Chuck said if his path crossed Veeck's, he'd talk with him, but not on Sox business. "I'm not officially or unofficially notified by a bona fide Sox officer yet that my sister's (Dorothy's) stock has been sold," said Chuck. "I don't know what position Veeck holds."

Veeck has announced that John Rigney, Dorothy's husband and the other Sox vice president, ap-

Obedience Training Begins at Rochester

Rochester area dog obedience training class gets under way tonight at 7 p.m. in Rochester's Woodward school. Persons interested may take their dogs for registration at its time. Training class is a board of education approved activity, with training under direction of Southern Michigan Obedience Training club.

Course runs 10 weeks, costs $10. Small dogs will be worked from 7 to 8 p.m., large ones from 8 to 9 o'clock. John McNary is the trainer-director.

This is the first class in obedience training of canine pets or field dogs for the Rochester area. Many similar classes are under way in Oakland county, with some about concluded for their first periods.

The Babe and I

Too Much Drink, Ruth Told

By MRS. BABE RUTH
with Bill Slocum

(Condensed from "The Babe and I," Copyright 1958, by Mrs. Babe Ruth, Inc., published by Prentice Hall, Inc.)

Jim Barton was a big star, and also a big Yankee fan. So his boy was right behind the Yankee dug-out on the third base side of Griffith Stadium in Washington, and there we were one warm day in May.

The Yanks were taking batting practice. Jim called Babe over to the box and introduced us. Babe took off his hat, smiled a rather sweet smile, said what I thought was a perfunctory "Hello."

He was 29 and looked every year of it. His face and his stomach were fat, his legs like a chorus girl's.

As he and Jim talked, I realized his "Hello" was really not gruff. He simply had a rough voice. He was friendly with Barton, although singularly uninterested in the two young ladies from "Dew Drop Inn."

It was not an impressive meeting, and the man did nothing in the course of the game to make me doubt that Cobb was the ball player of his day.

The sum total of this first meeting was, I am sure, typical of any single woman's reaction: He is famous, so it's nice to be able to say you've met him; he is pleasant, and he's married.

HOW ABOUT DINNER?

We had a matinee the next day, and when I arrived at the National Theatre a note was waiting for me:

"I don't know what hotel you're at, so I'm sending this note. Will you have dinner with me this evening? Babe Ruth."

It was written in a remarkably clear and flowing hand. Except for the size of the lettering, it could have been written by a girl.

I said to Eddie Bennett, the hump-backed but boy who brought the note: "Tell him I'll have dinner with him tonight — if I can bring my girl friend."

In very little time I got a phone call backstage. "I'll be delighted to have you both," the Babe's voice boomed. He gave me his hotel and his suite number.

I asked him if there weren't any restaurants in Washington. "Lord, Miss Hodgson," he replied, plaintively. "I can't go into any restaurant."

"And why not?"

"Because I get mobbed every time I try to eat in a restaurant."

Then his laughter shook the telephone. "Don't worry. You and your girl friend won't have anything to worry about. My suite'll be lousy with people."

A BAD YEAR

So Bobbie Kane and I had dinner in his suite. And it was lousy with people. People that were utter strangers to me, and people that were virtual strangers to Babe. My host was morose. And he was drinking. We sat in a corner and I realized I was hearing the baseball player's version of an unhappy businessman's complaints.

This was the beginning of the 1923 season, and Babe was miserable. The 1922 season had been a catastrophe for him. He didn't want to face another like it, but he was afraid he would have to. He was afraid, in fact, that he was washed up before he was 30. All the world adored him. He thought all the world hated him.

And he knew he hated himself. There was liquor in this talk. But there was no drunkenness. The Babe was not then, nor was he ever afterwards, either a drunk or a teetotaler. He liked to drink, and no "overgrown kid" could have fought and licked alcohol as Babe Ruth did.

SLOW DOWN INDICATED

And they never made enough beer or whisky to turn Babe mean or nasty.

But there were many reasons why he would have to slow down, and these reasons began to appear as we talked.

He told about 1921, the year he hit 59 home runs, batted .378, knocked in 170 runs, and played in 152 (all but two) games. That was the year when he proved that 1920, a year almost as fabulous, had been no freak.

But the year before our meeting — 1922 — had been disastrous. Not for a great star but for the star of all great stars. He had gotten in a fight with Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis and had been suspended.

He had fought with the owners of the Yankees; he had fought with the ball-players — real fights, with fists and blood. And he was in perpetual warfare with Miller Huggins.

He was reviewing all these things with a woman he didn't know very well.

"FRIENDS" HELP OUT

And as he described the home run output that had fallen from 59 in 1921 to 35 in 1922, and the batting average that had fallen 63 points, and the 46 games he had missed for one reason or another, I noticed there were more people in the room.

And, although he never left his chair, there was always a drink in his hand. Somebody he didn't even know always saw to that. Babe would growl a "Thanks, Keed!"

I said to him, at long last, "You know you drink too much. Drinking is no good for you."

He made a wry face and replied, "You sound just like Miller Huggins." He obviously hadn't asked a lady to dinner because she sounded like the manager he loathed.

It was time for the lady to leave. At the door Babe said, "So long, Keed."

Then he stopped, looked around the room at his "friends" and "guests" and said, "You know what? A lotta newspaper guys and ball players have told me I should stop drinking so much. But you're the first dame who ever told me."

Tomorrow, And so they get married, and the Babe swears one for his bride.

Kramer Tennis Troupe at U-D

Pro Netters in Detroit This Evening for Only Michigan Appearance

DETROIT (AP)—Jack Kramer, tennis player turned promoter, is swinging a racquet again with his professional road show that makes its only Michigan stop tonight.

Kramer's troupe, headed by Pancho Gonzales, king of the pro set, will stretch its portable canvas court over the basketball floor of University of Detroit's fieldhouse.

Gonzales faces Lew Hoad, an Australian with booming strokes. The Aussie has been holding the tempestuous, temperamental Gonzales fairly even in this year's tour. Gonzales won a 51-36 majority of the matches last year in Hoad's rookie season as a pro.

Impressario Kramer has introduced Ashley Cooper, 1958 Wimbledon and United States champion, into his current tour. Cooper was the star of Australia's 1958 Davis Cup Team that lost to the United States.

Kramer, who at 37 retains much of the artistry that made him a net great, was forced back into action by a back injury to Mal Anderson. Anderson, another ex-Australian Davis Cupper, also is a rookie member of Kramer's troupe.

Cooper plays his boss in a preliminary singles match before the Gonzales-Hoad duel. Gonzales and Kramer then meets Cooper and Hoad in an American-Australian doubles match.

All-ACC Player

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Little Lou Puccio of North Carolina State, a second team All-America, has added new laurels to his basketball awards by being named Atlantic Coast Conference player of the year.

Royal Oak Man Submits Entry in '500' Race

INDIANAPOLIS (UPI) — The Indianapolis Speedway Wednesday the number of cars entered in the Memorial Day 500-mile race rose to 17 with the entry of cars by J. M. Robbins, Royal Oak, Mich., and Frank Arciero, Montebello, Calif.

Don Freeland of Speedway, Ind., and Clark Shortly Templeman, Seattle, Wash., both veteran drivers at the speed classic, were nominated as drivers for this year's race.

Spartans Will Meet Marquette at Northwestern

MSU Coach Anderson Confident Even Though Opposition Rough

EAST LANSING (AP) — "It will take a real good team to beat us," Michigan State basketball boss Fordey Anderson declared today as his Big Ten champs started after NCAA honors.

"We're not underrating the opposition," Anderson added. "It will be terrific. But the opposition better not underrate us, either."

The Spartans are flying today to Evanston, Ill., in time for an afternoon workout on the Northwestern University McGraw memorial hall floor. They will meet Marquette in the first round of the regional playoffs Friday night.

Marquette got into the tourney by whipping Bowling Green 89-71 Tuesday night. MSU was automatically in after winning the conference title.

Michigan State is rated seventh in the Associated Press national poll. Marquette ranks 20th. MSU has an 18-3 record and Marquette a 23-4 mark.

"We know it isn't going to be easy," Anderson said. "Marquette has a typically good club and a fine stockpile of players."

Kentucky and Louisville meet in the other half of the Friday night twin bill. Winners will fight Saturday night for the regional title and the right to go into the four-team NCAA final at Louisville, Ky., March 20-21.

The Spartans will be one of the smallest entries, by big league basketball standards, in the tourney. The pogo stick jumping of John Green still has enabled State to control the backboards against taller opposition.

A 10-station network, originating from MSU radio station WKAR, will air the games.

West Virginia meets St. Joseph's, Cincinnati vs. Texas Christian, California vs. Utah and St. Mary's battles Idaho State in other games.

At New York, the National Invitation starts tonight with St. John favored over Villanova and Fordham meeting Butler.

In the only NCAA major college tournament action last night, Idaho State defeated New Mexico State, 62-61.

4 City Boys in State Meet Mat Finals Start Friday

Four Pontiac boys will be among 34 Oakland County wrestlers taking part in the state high school wrestling championships at Michigan State Friday and Saturday.

Jerrel Reid, who made the best local showing in the regionals at Farmington last weekend with a runnerup in the 165-pound class, and captain Duke Relyea will be representing Pontiac Central.

Maurice "The Mountaineer" Lackey and Winfred Miracle will carry Pontiac Northern's colors into state competition for the 1st time. Relyea is a 175-pounder, Lackey goes 154 and Miracle 135.

Royal Oak Kimball, Hazel Park and Berkley head the county delegates with six entries each. Farmington will have five, Southfield four, Royal Oak Dondoro two and Oak Park one.

Hazel Park's 103-pound sensation Ruford Black is a strong candidate for state honors as are Dan Oldham of Berkley and Farmington heavy Dave Marsh.

Lansing Eastern, state champion the past two seasons, and Lansing Sexton are the team favorites with Jackson and Ypsilanti rated close behind.

More than 200 entries from some 40 schools will begin preliminary

Campanella Big Help to Drysdale

By United Press International

Don Drysdale, one of the biggest flops of the 1958 baseball season, is exhibit A today that Roy Campanella can help the Los Angeles Dodgers even from a wheelchair.

The partly paralyzed Campanella, serving as a Dodger coach this spring, insisted at the start of training that he could help the 22-year-old Drysdale recover the form that made him one of the National League's most effective pitchers in 1957. Drysdale slumped to a 12-13 record and 4.16 earned run average last year after a 17-9 and 2.89 slate in '57.

Campanella insisted that Drysdale was losing his effectiveness because he had unconsciously discarded his three-quarter motion in favor of a sidearm delivery. He and Drysdale discussed the problem shortly after Campanella arrived at the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., base and the 6-foot, 5-inch, 210-pound right-hander decided to follow Roy's advice.

How correctly Campanella analyzed the case was demonstrated again yesterday when Drysdale stretched his string of shutout innings in exhibition play to eight with five scoreless frames in a 7-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds. Don Demeter singled with the bases filled in the ninth to cap a three-run rally and give the Dodgers their third win in five games. Johnny Temple led the Reds' attack with four singles.

The 1958 tallenders in each league "had a ball" for themselves, meanwhile, as the Philadelphia Phillies whipped the National League champion Milwaukee Braves, 13-7, and the Washington Senators shaded the world champion New York Yankees, 13-12.

Wally Post hit two homers and Gene Froese hit one to pace a 17-hit Philadelphia attack on four Milwaukee pitchers. The Braves announced after the game that Mel Roach, the ailing substitute who was being groomed to replace Red Schoendienst, will fly to Milwaukee Thursday to have his left knee examined by Dr. Bruce Brewer, who operated on it last August.

Rookie Bob Allison, a former Kansas fullback, rapped a two-run homer off Murry Dickson in the eighth inning as the Senators handed the Yankees their third straight setback. Norm Zauchin also homered for Washington while Gordon Windhorn hit two and Norm Siebern one for New York. The Yankees played without ailing Mickey Mantle who remained behind at St. Petersburg, Fla., to rest his sore right shoulder.

The San Francisco Giants clubbed out a 10-5 decision over the Chicago Cubs, the Boston Red Sox edged out the Cleveland Indians, 4-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-4, in other exhibition games between Major League A-teams.

Willie Mays hit a two-run triple and Hank Bauer a grand slam homer for the Giants.

The Red Sox ran their perfect spring record to four straight victories with the help of a three-run fourth inning rally.

Nowak '59 Trout King

Announcement was made today by officials of the 23rd annual National Trout Festival at Kalkaska, selection of the 1959 Trout king. The new king is Walt Nowak of Alpena, publicist for a brewery or organization, an ardent outdoorsman and nature photographer.

The festival takes place the opening weekend of Michigan's trout-fishing season, April 24-25-26.

Hollywood Headlines:

Pioneers of Michigan Novelist's Inspiration

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie, TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Dale Van Every is a crop-haired pipe smoker who might be a newsman, movie producer or novelist.

Actually, he has been all three, but novels are his great love. That's why he gave up the well-cushioned chair of producer for the novelist's bed of nails.

Fifteen years later, his decision is being vindicated. His 10th book "The Scarlet Feather" has been drawing excellent reviews and sharp interest from booksellers.

The novel has been purchased by producer Howard Beck, who plans to give it the wide-screen epic treatment. To further the book's fortunes, author Van Every came to town from his Santa Barbara home to explain why he abandoned Hollywood.

"I grew up in Michigan around the turn of the century, when there were still some vestiges of the frontier. Some of the pioneers who settled the country were still alive.

"These pioneers made a profound impression on me. They could be ruthless and dirty and wild, but by heaven, they weren't afraid of anything. That seems a rare quality to us in these times, when there is so much fear in the world.

"I became a newspaperman, covering the White House and such stories as Lindbergh's flight. That was exciting, and so was writing for movies, which I began in 1928, just as sound was coming in.

"But after a dozen or more years at it, I realized that movies are not a writer's medium. Nor is the position of writer-producer the answer. I did that, too, but I found there are too many elements that stand between the writer and putting his own work on the screen.

Van Every surprised his friends and co-workers by turning his back on Hollywood for a cattle ranch and typewriter. Eventually he had to choose between the two, "because I found I was so interested in the cattle that I spent days away from my writing. So I gave up the ranch."

The writer stuck to the field that intrigued him most — the pioneering days of the Midwest. Now he is being hailed as the successor to Kenneth Roberts.

Castro Cracks Down on Loan Sharks

HAVANA (AP) — A crackdown on loan sharks has been announced by Prime Minister Fidel Castro as one of the steps in his campaign to make Cuba over.

Calling the loan sharks "buzzards," Castro told Cubans: "I propose that you refuse to pay them."

The bearded leader said he had been assured by Cuban banks that they propose to develop a personal loan business at moderate interest rates.

The loan shark racket has flourished in Havana for years, with interest rates running 10 per cent a month and in some cases up to 20 per cent. Laws against usury have largely been overlooked in the past but strict enforcement is expected now.

Duncan Case Soon to Jury

Prosecutor Claims Any Wife of Frank Would Have Been Slain

VENTURA, Calif. (AP) — Any girl who married Frank Duncan would have met the same fate as did strangled Olga Duncan, a prosecutor says.

"This might have been anybody's sister, anybody's daughter," Dist. Atty. Roy Gustafson told the jury of eight women and four men trying Elizabeth Duncan.

The grandmotherly defendant, 54, is accused of being so jealous of her 30-year-old son, Frank, that she hired two men to kill his pregnant bride. Luis Moya and Augustine Baldonado have admitted the Nov. 18 slaying. They claim Mrs. Duncan promised them $5,000. She denies it.

In final arguments, Gustafson Wednesday urged the jury to convict Mrs. Duncan of first degree murder or set her free. First degree murder carries a penalty of death or life imprisonment.

"We couldn't possibly have a murder which was any more deliberate, premeditated, thought out and planned than this one," the district attorney said.

He called Mrs. Duncan "a mean and wicked woman." He declared her testimony that Moya and Baldonado were blackmailing her "just doesn't hold water."

Gustafson argued that the defendant's motive was clear—"Intense hatred" of Olga and "intense love" for her son.

The case is expected to go to the jury Friday or Monday.

to Lead a Dog's Life

SUDBURY, Mass. (AP) — A coyote aspiring to a dog's life will receive the consideration of the board of selectmen tonight.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Martyn Hall, owners of the little alien beast, want for it the same legal status enjoyed by canines.

It is, said Mrs. Hall, "a constant companion for our five small children. He likes children very much and even looks after them. He is very, very tame."

Hall killed the coyote's mother during a hunting trip in Colorado five years ago. The Halls want their pet authorized to carry a dog license and enjoy the same freedom given dogs.

The surface of Lake Erie is about eight feet lower than that of Lake Huron.

Showing Greater Vigor With Adams, Dulles Gone

Ike Sounds More Emphatic, Blunter

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, who in recent weeks has had to depend more on himself than at any time since entering the White House in 1953, sounds more emphatic, blunter. This showed at his new conference Wednesday. At his meetings with congressional leaders last weekend he reportedly was very much in charge.

The two men he leaned on most are now out of the picture. Sherman Adams, Eisenhower's chief of staff in the White House until he resigned last summer, was a great cushion against the burdens of the presidency. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, now ill with cancer, had an extraordinary relationship with the President. He was Eisenhower's eyes and ears in foreign policy and much of the time his spokesman.

Now far more of the presidential load has landed on Eisenhower's shoulders, along with its many irritations. And Eisenhower is responding with a show of vigor.

In times past, if you attended one of his news conferences and didn't have to concentrate on taking notes, your mind was apt to wander as Eisenhower rambled through generalities that lacked a sharp edge.

Not Wednesday. He still got wound up in long, involved sentences which often scrambled subjects and predicate, but he made points that did have an edge.

Perhaps it was out of exasperation with congressional Democrats, who have been calling on him to pump more men and money into the armed forces, that he finally said in effect:

There's not going to be a land war in Europe; and if the Allied troops there can't cope with whatever is done by the far more numerous Soviet troops, then the whole situation has passed beyond the point of limited war.

He didn't volunteer any statement that if war could not be limited to land engagements then nuclear weapons might have to be used. But under questioning he indicated he was not ruling out the possibility of nuclear war.

This might have been intended to make the Soviets think soberly before they tried any adventures around West Berlin. But, since it might also make American Allies in Europe edgy, he must have thought of that, too, before he spoke.

It was tough talk. But Eisenhower's attitude on the crisis Premier Nikita Khrushchev cooked up on Berlin has been increasingly, although not blatantly, tough.

Perhaps the best sign of his bluntness came when he was asked what he thought of Khrushchev's proposal that maybe the Berlin problem could be solved by letting Soviet troops join Allied troops in West Berlin.

At first, almost as if from force of habit, Eisenhower launched out on an explanation with a generalized moral tone.

He said this country would consult in the most democratic way with its allies in framing an answer to the Soviet demands about getting out of West Berlin and leaving it a free city.

Then, as if impatient with himself for not getting to the point on the question about Khrushchev's proposal, Eisenhower wound up by saying: "Now, as to the violating everything I have said, I'd say I don't think much of it."

Lost Metropolis Being Dug Out

Find Oldest Mayan City Dzibilchaltun, Located in North Yucatan

WASHINGTON—The ruins of a lost metropolis of the Maya Indians are emerging from a sun-beaten, thorny wilderness in Mexico. Dzibilchaltun in Northern Yucatan is the only known Maya city that existed from prehistoric times until after the Spanish Conquest. Then the Maya, the most civilized people of the pre-Columbian New World, vanished from the pages of history. The city crumbled into oblivion.

The National Geographic Society and Tulane University are carrying out extensive excavations at the site. The project is headed by Dr. T. Wyllys Andrews, an archeologist affiliated with Tulane's Middle American Research Institute.

Luis Marden, editor of the National Geographic foreign editorial staff, leads an underwater team that is exploring a huge cenote or natural well in the center of the ancient city.

FOUNDED 3,000 YEARS AGO

"The findings we have made there, the pottery, artifacts and architecture, all show that this amazing city was founded between 2,000 and 1,000 B. C., if not earlier," Dr. Andrews reports.

"Its culture developed on the spot and flowered through the Classic Period, when the city was perhaps the largest in the New World. Then, instead of being abandoned, it kept on growing, thriving uninterrupted, through all the remaining crises of Maya history, on into Spanish colonial times."

Dzibilchaltun's gaunt, gray ruins cover an area of some 20 square miles north of Merida, the Yucatan capital. The city's huge size is significant, for Maya towns were formerly thought to have been ceremonial centers where Indians gathered to worship and trade. Dzibilchaltun doubtless had a large permanent population.

In its heyday Dzibilchaltun bristled with pyramidal temples, palaces and buildings of vaulted stone. Thatched houses on stone foundations crowded among the more massive buildings. Outside the central area were suburbs equally dense in vaulted temples and residential platforms.

Now Dzibilchaltun's glory has passed. Buildings crumbled, and stones were carted away to build modern towns, haciendas and roads. The great metropolis became a lost city, overshadowed by the dramatic grandeur of other well-known Maya centers in Yucatan such as Chichen Itza. What remains, however, is opening new vistas into the shadowy story of the Maya.

Surgeon Says Grafts Can Cure Atomic Skin Burns

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Atomic skin burns can be cured by skin grafts, says a plastic surgeon.

Dr. J. Barrett Brown of St. Louis told the Southeastern Surgical Conference that recovery can be attained by removing the burned skin and replacing it with grafts.

Missile Work All Wrapped Up With Red Tape

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Because government contracts finance the missile business almost completely, "the paper work needed to meet legal requirements is intricate, complex and confused beyond imagination."

Richard D. Geckler, vice president of Aerojet-General Corp., gave this picture to a Chamber of Commerce space age business conference.

"The patience of Job, the wisdom of Solomon, and the unconquerable spirit of Alexander the Great usually will see one through," Geckler said.

'Reporters Need More Safety'

Illinois Legislator Asks Confidence Setup Like Doctors, Lawyers Have

"I think reporters for newspapers, radio and television should have the same safeguarded relationship with news sources as lawyers have with clients and doctors with patients," an Illinois lawmaker said before introducing a bill in the state Legislature.

The proposed law, by Rep. Michael Zlatnik (D-Chicago) is part of a widespread move to extend protection to reporters who refuse to name the source of the news they gather.

Proposed new laws or amendments have been introduced in the U.S. House of Representatives and at least 10 state legislatures in the wake of the widely publicized Marie Torre case.

Miss Torre, a radio-TV columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, served a 10-day jail sentence for contempt of court. She declined to name the source of comment about entertainer Judy Garland she used in a story. The publicity spurred attempts to detail just how far a newsmen may go in protecting his sources.

Four separate bills are pending in New York state, scene of Miss Torre's trial and conviction.

They provide that (1) no newspaper publisher, editor or reporter could be compelled to disclose the source of information committed confidentially; (2) persons who gather, publish, broadcast or televise news could not be punished for criminal contempt for refusal to disclose news sources; (3) newspaper, radio and television personnel could not be compelled to testify or disclose sources at any proceedings of any court or government agency and (4) news reporters would have immunity from disclosing sources only if they had pledged secrecy to the source and the information could not have been obtained without such a pledge.

Twelve states already have laws which are generally similar and two of them, Pennsylvania and Ohio, are considering revisions to extend such protection to radio and TV reporters.

The first state to provide legal protection for newsmen was Maryland in 1896. Similar statutes are in effect in Alabama, Arkansas, Arizona, California, Indiana, Kentucky, Michigan, Montana, New Jersey, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Hope to Make Soft Wood Hard by Radiation

DENVER (UPI)—The research laboratory of the Denver & Rio Grand Railroad is conducting a series of experiments aimed at changing Colorado soft pine into hardwood by atomic radiation.

Ray McBrien, engineer in charge, said the railroad's interest is in tougher, cheaper, longer-lasting railroad ties. But successful culmination of the experiments would be a boon to all industries using wood.

McBrien explained that researchers are looking for a chemical that will penetrate the soft pine and then harden when irradiated to the strength and duration of oak, maple and hickory.

Such impregnated wood hardened under atomic radiation would produce timber that would not warp, crack or rot under most extreme conditions.

Initial experiments have made use of waste materials from atomic reactors as the source of radiation for the hardening process. The impregnating liquid has been urea and formaldehyde.

The $200,000 holdup of a Federal Reserve Bank truck as it left the U.S. Mint in Denver in 1922 has never been solved.
