SPEEDS PROCESS—Modern equipment in the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.'s new $1,412,000 dial-exchange building on Cass-Elizabeth Road in Waterford Township will enable trouble-checking of all lines connected through the exchange within a matter of seconds. The line insulation test machine shown here quickly pinpoints any trouble spot in Michigan Bell's intricate system locally, thus enabling faster repair than has been possible to date. The machine provides the necessary information on a card such as that being examined here by Cern LaFave (left), central office supervisor, and switchman Charles Kelly.

Big Area Phone Changeover Slated for Easter Morning

By DICK HANSON

The Easter Bunny won't be the only one busy hustling about in the wee hours of Sunday morning.

At one minute past 2 a.m. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employees will switch over more than 3,500 customers in an area immediately southwest of Pontiac to a new $1,412,000 telephone exchange on Cass-Elizabeth Road in Waterford Township.

Also at 2:01 a.m. Sunday, some 6,700 Michigan Bell customers served by the Utica exchange, including 300 in Washington and Rochester, will change to all numbers dialing when their telephones are re-routed through a new $1,721,500 central office in Utica.

The switchover, since it is being performed at the unlikely hour, will pass unnoticed by the majority of the affected customers. They will come to notice, however, that they are the first in the area to be assigned all-number telephone numbers.

No more FE 5-5555 for instance. A typical number will be 682-5555. Eventually all dial phones in the Pontiac area will be converted to all-number codes (ANC).

Those immediately to be affected in the Pontiac west area are customers southwest of Pontiac and west of Middle Belt and Telegraph roads.

"The Pontiac West office will provide relief for the downtown Federal office, and provide for future growth in the western part of the Pontiac area," said Ray H. Storm, local district manager for Michigan Bell.

All telephones in the Federal exchange will be converted to ANC by 1965, said Storm. The changeover will be gradual between now and then. The numbers will be converted as customers have occasion to summon telephone repairmen to their homes or places of business.

Actually, the only change will be in the suffix which will become 33 instead of FE. The rest of the phone number will remain the same.

The step in both cases is necessary to enable Michigan Bell to keep up with the ever-mounting demand for more telephones.

The telephone company is running out of combinations under the word-number system such as FE for Federal. You just can't find a word starting with JK for example, so that combination is ruled out as are several others. But, by substituting numbers, a great many more combinations to permit more telephone numbers is made available.

Mathematically the new all-number code (ANC) will provide 900 combinations for every 440 under the two-letter suffix-dialing system," Storm points out.

The changeover will make room for future additions in the number of telephones that can be installed besides the big increase presently made possible.

D.C. Citizens Get Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 23rd Amendment to the Constitution permitting District of Columbia citizens to vote for president and vice president became law today with ratification by three-fourths of the states.

New Hampshire and Kansas completed the process by voting in quick succession to become the 37th and 38th states to ratify.

Ratification procedure was completed at 12:14 p.m. (CST) in Topeka.

Thus, permanent residents of the national capital, situated originally on land ceded by Virginia and Maryland and officially incorporated in 1802, will vote for the first time in a national election in 1964.

The chairman of the District Board of Election estimates that between 200,000 and 250,000 residents will vote then.

Citizens in this area voted for president through 1800, but that took place under state laws before the capital was officially established.

Approve Plans for Fire Hall at Civic Center

City Commission OKs Bid Invitations; Will Open Them April 18

By PETE LOCHBILER

Offered cost estimates within their price ceiling, city commissioners last night approved final plans for the new Civic Center fire hall and authorized an invitation for construction bids.

To be opened April 18, the bids will go to the commission for final approval seven days later in hopes that groundbreaking can get under way soon afterward.

Architects' representatives were optimistic construction costs would fall within the $375,000 budget.

They estimated the costs at $357,000. The usual 5 per cent architects' fee accounts for the rest.

In addition, City Manager Walter K. Willman said, the city expects to spend $25,000 equipping the new building.

This does not include any major fire-fighting equipment, although a new ambulance to replace the present inhalator truck was provided for in this year's equipment replacement budget.

Thomas H. Hewlett and George K. Harris of the Birmingham firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Lockenbach said the two-story building of brick and limestone is designed to fit in architecturally with the other Civic Center buildings.

The new hall, replacing the 1867 building at the corner of Perry and Pike Streets, would perch on the hill across Pike Street from the Public Safety Building.

Plans call for an L-shaped building, with second-floor living quarters above the garage, and basement training areas under the administrative wing.

Capping the building like a giant chimney would be a tower for the drying of firehoses.

Hewlett and Harris mentioned these features:

1. Air-conditioning in the sleeping quarters and administrative offices. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Older Cities, Elderly Families Given Special Attention by President

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy sent Congress today a $3.2-billion housing bill to spruce up older cities and help low-income and elderly families get better-quality homes.

The money would be spent over 40 years, but most of it by 1970.

For fiscal 1962, which starts July 1, it would add about $300 million to the $728 million in housing outlays budgeted by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A surprise item in Kennedy's bill is a proposal for government insurance of 25-year, low-income improvement loans as a new way of rebuilding rundown neighborhoods with federal handouts.

Many of the items in today's bill were spelled out in Kennedy's special housing message to Congress.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy will not begin his Easter vacation in Florida before Thursday at the earliest, the White House said today. There had been indications Kennedy might leave tonight.

March 9. However, only a vague hint was given then of the far-reaching character of the improvement loan proposal.

The 25-year loan would carry a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent and could total up to $10,000 per family living unit.

Present improvement loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration run for only five years and are subject to $10,000 ceiling.

Improvement funds could be advanced in the form of first or second mortgages or other types of loans and would be available in all sections, although basic terms would be the same everywhere.

MAJOR WEAPON
Officials are hopeful that if Congress approves, the program will become the major weapon in attacking urban blight, without federal subsidy.

In his outgoing budget to Congress in January, Eisenhower asked Congress to authorize $948 million in future housing expenditures by the government, less than one-third of the Kennedy request.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Swedish heavy-lift Ingemar Johansson today was granted permission to leave this country pending final settlement of U.S. government tax claims against him.

Federal District Judge Emmett C. Choate permitted Johansson to depart after the fighter promised to return to this country when his testimony or depositions were required in a government suit to collect approximately a million dollars from his ring earnings.

"I think you and the attorney general did the proper thing" in detaining Johansson, Judge Choate told John J. McCarthy, department of justice attorney who led the tax team against the Swedish fighter.

Standing before Judge Choate, Johansson said through his attorney, Mathew Maues of New York City, that he wished to return to Sweden to see a brother who recently underwent brain surgery and had asked for him.

Johansson promised to return to this country when the government required his presence and Judge Choate said there would be no personal restrictions on him.

The Agonies of the Cross Couldn't Stay Christ's Love

(Editor's Note: At first glance Christ's words from the Cross to the two women He loved seem to be a personal, almost private, but there is a deeper meaning in them, and a prominent Presbyterian minister finds a lesson for Christians in today's Third of Five articles on Christ's last message.)

By THE REV. DR. EUGENE CARSON BLAKE
Written for Associated Press

"Woman, behold thy son... behold thy mother."

Unlike the other words which fell from the lips of Jesus in those last hours of his earthly life, this one — directed to his beloved mother and his equally beloved disciple — appears, at first glance, to have no deep religious or theological implications.

It has to do only with the future care of his mother and his friend, which, although important enough in itself, seems to be almost an aside and quite apart from the profound insights of the other utterances from the cross.

And yet, we make a grave mistake if we question too seriously the apparently private and personal words uttered amid those other words of universal import. For, certainly, a prime insight of the Christian gospel is this: The relationship between any two human beings is always of universal significance.

And, further, it is demonstrated here at the cross, and in a new way, that the only right relationship with all men is the family relationship at its highest and best.

Mrs. Lawrence Says She Was Forced to Pay Before Wife's Slaying
The former husband of a slain Independence Township housewife was expected to be called as a witness today. The move follows testimony that he was blackmailing the Berkeley woman accused of his wife's 1959 murder.

His former wife, Wynona DeWitt, 32, was shot five times with a .25-caliber pistol and died on the floor of her kitchen in her home at 8290 Shaw Apple Drive after Mrs. Sarah Sue Lawrence, 28, to the stand in Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom.

Mrs. Lawrence, 35, a former part-time beautician in Pleasant Ridge, is charged with first-degree murder in the April 13, 1959, shooting. She spent more than a year in a mental institution after the murder when she was judged insane.

Heard his stepson, 11-year-old Ronald Bailey, tell how Mrs. Lawrence came to visit his mother. He said that shortly he heard a "pop-pop" from the kitchen while he was watching television. "Then I ran in and saw my mother lying on the floor," he testified, "and I saw my mother's hand on the floor."

Wants County to Perform Basic Township Services

FLINT — For years, county government has been regarded as little better equipped than township to handle the problems of growing urban areas.

A multihatted creature with administrative functions carved up among a big board of supervisors, a number of elected and appointed officials and numerous boards and commissions.

This description is advanced as why the county has not been able to perform a serious role in meeting the problems of growth in this state.

But with many cities running up against a stone wall in their desire to expand and the inability of townships to function as urban governments, the county is getting a new going over as a possible instrument of metropolitan government.

Joseph A. Parist, executive director of the Michigan Township Association, advocates transferring five basic functions of local government to the county. He would take from cities and any townships engaged in any of the five and hand over to the counties: Police and fire protection, water supply and sanitary and storm sewer service.

Cities and townships, compensated for any physical properties given up, would then become subscribers to these county services. He has in mind a system popular in California in which county government—particularly Los Angeles County—performs most public services for local units by contract.

"These services are basic to the well-being of all our people and should not be subject to haggling because of city limits or township boundaries," Parist maintains. Under such a system, each city, village or township in the county retains its separate identity and becomes a middleman between the originator of the service and the public receiving it.

This middleman position removes local government from a position of control and reduces it to a negotiator, argues those against the contract plan.

"A natural for buck passing on the part of local officials and brazen disregard on the part of hard-to-reach county personnel," says John C. Ballens, nationally known municipal consultant.

Japan's Trade Dilemma to Be Fully Discussed

In discussing the effects of Japanese imports it must be borne in mind that Japan is our largest customer for foods and fibers and second only to Canada in purchases of other U.S. exports. The trade amounts to one billion dollars a year each way.

The present Liberal-Democratic government of Japan is under pressure from Socialists, Communists and others to reach some understanding with China and Formosa. They feel that would solve their export and other problems.

Formosan trade with Japan amounts to $160 million a year. Estimated potential trade with Communist China would be only $30 million. CHANG KAI-SHEK has threatened to cut off Japanese trade if any political or economic deal is made with mainland China.

Then, too, Japan could not afford and does not want to alienate American opinion by dealing with Mao Tse-tung. The country is dependent for its defense on U.S.-supported Korea, Formosa and Okinawa. Japan's leaders know that Red China's ambition is to establish Communist regimes in all of Asia.

These matters are being discussed in Washington where an eight man trade mission from Japan will present its case the end of this month. An American trade delegation will go to Japan later to try and work out some compromise.

In order to exist, Japan must have peaceful trade relations all over the world. It has to import raw materials and export finished goods. But the U.S. can't very well ask Japan not to trade with Red China or any one else if our importers, labor organizations and Congress are going to further limit Japanese exports to this country.

Saudi Arabia Cancels U.S. Lease at Dhahran

In asking the United States to get out of the air base at Dhahran when the lease expires in April 1962, Saudi Arabia is playing to the gallery.

The base was built with U.S. aid during World War II. It is not a vital one and no air command is stationed there. But it is being used for military transport planes and an air-sea rescue unit. The Royal Saudi Air Force may be sufficiently trained to use it when the Americans leave.

Palace politics is thought to have been responsible for the order which would have come sooner or later anyway. Prince FAISAL is more disposed toward Nasser-style neutralism than is King SAUD and naturally finds it easy to arouse Arab nationalism.

The major U.S. base in the Middle East is Wheelus Air Force Base in Libya. Three others in Morocco will be evacuated by the end of 1963 under an agreement made in 1959. Other bases are available to us in Turkey.

Modern missiles are making some bases obsolete. The main impact of Saudi Arabia's move, therefore, is political rather than military.

Speeders Would Be Identified Easily

One of the most novel punishments for speeding that has come along in some time originates in the East.

The proposal suggests that speeders' cars be equipped with domes on top, similar to police cars. These will flash green, purple or indigo lights and proclaim to everyone that a heavy-footed sap is in the area.

To most people, driving a car like this would be a real ignominy, but I suppose some of the beatniks could regard it as a badge of honor and an additional diadem in their personal crown of glory. The rate of speed at which the offender's car is driven would determine whether the light came on. If he behaved himself, he could drive in comparative anonymity.

Perhaps, ultimately, all cars will have exterior dome lights that flash vividly when you exceed a safe rate of travel.

The Man About Town

Oddities Continue Local Weather Baffles All History in Its Big Variety

Centennial Week: A time of unpredictable weather, since it covers two seasons.

The records show that Pontiac did not have its lowest temperature a year ago until spring had arrived. On March 25, 1960, the mercury registered six above zero here.

After such eccentric doings of the weather, we refuse to stick out our neck in a prediction for somebody who signs himself,

"Heat Crazy," who wants to be assured that it will be a cool spring, before entering our whistler contest.

The maple sap, which started to run about a month earlier than usual in the Pontiac area, has "backed up," according to Donald R. Harriman, who taps a few trees in Commerce Township. After a recent cold spell, his spouts went dry.

Claiming to be a very prolific whistler grower is "Follower of the Colors," whose letter seeks to learn whether the centennial week will be a blond, bruno or red head. He writes, "I can grow 'em any color."

Right now is the best time to send in your entry and those of your family in our baseball contest. Then you can forget it and not escape your chance on that $250 prize.

"I Hear Bob Kennedy Asked to Do the Autopsy"

David Lawrence Asks:

Would School Loans Aid Religion?

WASHINGTON—Word has gone forth on Capitol Hill that Speaker Rayburn is preparing to block any effort to include federal aid to parochial schools in the general education bill. The idea is to rule that the proposed amendments would not be "germane."

While this may avoid political embarrassment to some of those members of the House who are afraid of resentments in their home districts, whichever way they vote, it probably will deprive the American people nevertheless of an opportunity to see a record vote on this controversial issue. It could have a far-reaching effect on the 1962 congressional campaign.

Meanwhile, the debate by constitutional lawyers goes on. Rep. McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader in the House, put into the Congressional Record a few days ago a report prepared at his request by Arthur E. Sutherland, professor of constitutional law at Harvard Law School.

It differs from the view expressed by President Kennedy in his message to Congress and later at a press conference when he declared that aid to parochial schools at the elementary or secondary level is clearly unconstitutional. Prof. Sutherland concludes that the difference between existing federal aid programs to sectarian schools and the proposal to permit federal loans for construction are not enough to persuade him that "a measure providing for long-term loans of the character which I have described, to aid education in basic law subjects, would conflict with the provisions of the First Amendment."

UPHOLD STATE LAW
Prof. Sutherland also draws attention to an opinion in 1930 by Chief Justice Hughes—concurring in a unanimous opinion of the justices of the Supreme Court of the United States—which upheld a Louisiana law granting money to provide textbooks on general education free in all schools, sectarian as well as nonsectarian, private as well as public.

Then Chief Justice Hughes, speaking on behalf of the Supreme Court of the United States, said: "The legislation does not segregate private schools, or their pupils, as its beneficiaries or attempt to interfere with any matters of exclusively private concern. Its interest is education, broadly; its method, comprehensive. Individual interests are aided only as the common interest is safeguarded."

Since the highest court in the land says that when a state furnishes free textbooks to all schools

Provided she is intelligent, the woman in labor should have anesthesia whenever she wants it. Anesthesia to the obstetric stage, that is—just enough to take the edge of the pains so that she will co-operate with the doctor to get on with it as rapidly as safety will permit. Never enough to put her out of consciousness, the unborn baby into deep sleep, stupor or coma. After all, the baby has a right to live.

And for heaven's sake I wish people would stop talking about the husband being present to "witness" childbirth. Childbirth is not a spectacle or performance, it is a miracle. The place for a real man when his baby is being born is at his wife's side. Sharing the miracle.

public and private—it is constitutional, the question now is being asked why a federal or state loan to construct a school building isn't also a broad and comprehensive interest in aiding the educational process rather than a specific aid to any religion.

Supporters of aid to parochial schools by means of loans for construction now ask what is the difference between the purpose served by bricks and mortar in helping the general cause of education in parochial schools—both elementary and secondary—and the lending of money for equipment in teaching certain subjects in those same school buildings?

For certainly in parochial schools general education is taught in conformity with standards set by state governments, while religious instruction is separate and supplementary.

It is also being asked why the President, in his recent message to Congress, recommended approval of federal loans for construction purposes at colleges and universities operated by religious groups and didn't think this was unconstitutional.

Portraits

By JOHN C. METCALFE
Do not say that you will love me... Love me now and evermore... For the present has forgotten... Much of what has gone before... Do not swear to lofty heavens... Words of everlasting bliss... For a fleeting whispered promise... Rarely anyone will miss... Do not pray that you will somehow... Find a way to keep me here... For a heart must not be shackled... By the one whom it holds dear... Do not hope that you can change me... From the way which is mine... To me the loss of freedom... Is too high a price to pay... Kiss me now and kiss me deeply... In your tender arms enfold me... Let my heart go leaping madly... And then swiftly leave me cold.

Dr. William Brady Says:

YES, Husbands Should See Their Children Born

An Iowa reader sends an article clipped from a Sunday paper, with an eight-column headline across the top: "Should Husbands Witness Childbirth?" It quotes answers given by nurses, hospital "experts" and "sex men."

A sister nurse in charge of a hospital obstetrics department and an obstetrician or two and an ordinary doctor, as well as 25 mothers, said:

"Nearly all of these authorities disapproved of the DR. BRADY idea of a husband being present when his baby is being born. An obstetrician, quoted but not identified, in a newspaper interview, said:

"It serves no useful purpose to have father around... So far as the wife needing his comfort, that is ridiculous... 95 per cent of the mothers today are under anesthesia and asleep when childbirth is taking place."

This typical view of childbirth is on a level with that of the uneducated young woman who declined to listen to a discussion of natural childbirth, hortic delivery, rooming-in and similar subjects by her friends. "If or when I have a baby," she said, "I want to be rushed to the hospital, put asleep, and wake up until it's all over."

Neither she nor the doctor who said 95 per cent of women are asleep when childbirth is taking place seem to be concerned about the effects of deep anesthesia upon the baby.

Provided she is intelligent, the woman in labor should have anesthesia whenever she wants it. Anesthesia to the obstetric stage, that is—just enough to take the edge of the pains so that she will co-operate with the doctor to get on with it as rapidly as safety will permit. Never enough to put her out of consciousness, the unborn baby into deep sleep, stupor or coma. After all, the baby has a right to live.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Show Devotion Before Youngsters

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE H-245: When DANNY was 7, he put me on the spot.

It was during the winter. I was trying to formulate an outline for an address I was to give at 8 p.m. before a Chicago parent-teacher association.

The hour was already 7 p.m. And I hadn't yet shaved or bathed. Thirteen-year-old George mean-while sat on the edge of my desk pestering me with questions about first aid, for he wanted to undergo a merit badge test thereon that same evening for the Boy Scouts.

So I was growing more nervous every second. At this hectic instant Mrs. Crane rushed into my study to protest that the pipe on the furnace had come apart when she turned the damper therein.

"Why didn't you leave the damper alone?" I spoke sharply. "You don't need to turn it to damper the fire."

"But why have a damper if it isn't to be used?" she came back at me.

"Just open that iron door on top of the furnace and it will do the same things as the damper," I answered.

"What did you know that pipe was about to fall apart? Now I must waste another five minutes, and I'm due at the meeting at 8 o'clock."

"What did you marry her for if you are always going to argue with her?" Danny broke into our debate, apparently in all seriousness.

"If you don't love her, why did you marry her?"

Tells Why Pontiac Airport Shouldn't Be Jet Equipped

W. C. Crawford says the jet refueling tanker that crashed at Selfridge was prop driven and not a jet. This is true but the B52 jet bomber is even now rolling off the assembly lines and will soon be in common use throughout the military world.

I am not against jets or any aircraft. During 1951 through 1953 I used commercial airlines to the extent of 30,000 miles a year. If I travel any distance I prefer jet travel, but I don't want jet aircraft landing and taking off over the heads of my family.

What area "would be improved by commercial jets?" Would the prospective traveler stop at the corner grocery or hardware to shop? Millions have been bent to find an effective jet engine silencer. There has been no notable advancement, and few living adjacent to a jet airport would support us in the claim that there is "very little difference" in the decibel rating.

Let the one per cent of our population that must use the jets drive the 25 or 30 miles where they already have the 10,000 feet of runway.

Pontiac airport officials would want an extension of the east-west runway to two miles. This would require closing Airport Road and demolishing several blocks of homes. A corresponding number of east-west streets between Elizabeth Lake Road and Watkins Lake Road on the north would be within a five mile radius would most certainly fall.

Properties values within a five mile radius would most certainly fall.

More Readers Show Interest in Editorial

I want to commend The Press for the editorial stand against federal aid to parochial and private schools. I too, regret the necessity for a debate which can lead to charges of discrimination and bigotry from both sides. Such "specialized services" ought not to be subsidized by any group which acts for the general good. One does not hear often enough the argument that those who pay taxes to support public schools would be doubly taxed by also paying income taxes to support such federal aid. I earnestly hope that our Michigan congressmen will be wise enough to help prevent the passage of such provisions.

I could not resist writing to tell you how wonderful the article was on federal aid to schools. So much has been written and said for and against and I thought this article just perfect and the signatures the perfect ending.

Your joint editorial demonstrates American freedom of the press, which is almost unique in this world. Your right to disagree with your subscribers is unquestioned. But your position requires that honesty be exercised with fidelity. In your editorial you failed to mention your special responsibility.

I refer to your statements regarding the prompt absorption of parochial students in the public schools. The public schools are funds of teachers, and funds, yet you say the public school system would promptly take up the slack if the parochial schools were closed.

If you gave thought to your editorial, then you must assume your readers to be morons, who will think as you point. Even those in your editorial who oppose the Catholic parents' position, will be offended. If you cannot defend your position with truth, then it cannot be defended.

This sudden and unexpected comment broke the tension. Both Mrs. Crane and I had to smile.

"Oh, I love her all right," I replied. "Just because I argue with her, doesn't mean I don't love her."

"You quarrel with David, too, don't you, but that doesn't mean you don't love him, does it?"

Danny got my point and went on with his play. My interruption of our debate might have been due just to get me into a dilemma, for he was a fox boy and on several occasions had tried to trap me like this.

VALUE OF A KISS

But it is always wise for parents to countermand their evidences of quarreling by visible signs of affection.

Parents should thus kiss each other in front of their children! They should show tangible fondness for each other.

A child is more inclined to take his cues from your actions than from your words.

If you employ homely phrases on your wife, but come home drunk and even blacken her eye, the sight of this cruelty far outweighs the sweet phrases.

Similarly, if you quarrel with your wife, but later let your child see that you are devoted to her, as when you take her in your arms and kiss her goodbye or take her to a movie, then your child again is dominated by the visual, in contrast to the auditory, sensation.

As a consequence, he will be more inclined to remember the picture of his parents kissing each other, than their sharp verbal repartee.

These Three Men Staying Beardless

In your article, "Judges to brush off the brush," it said, "the judges' dignity would be infringed by the wearing of beards." In other words, all the Brothers of the Brush are not dignified. We say every man with a beard should shave it off so they can be as dignified as our dignified judges. One does not hear often enough the argument that those who pay taxes to support public schools would be doubly taxed by also paying income taxes to support such federal aid. I earnestly hope that our Michigan congressmen will be wise enough to help prevent the passage of such provisions.

'Followers of Christ Need Not Worry'

Today there are a lot of people worried and uneasy that Russia may start another war.

There is one group that has no worries of any kind. They are saved Christians, genuine followers of Jesus Christ.

On April 2 we celebrate His resurrection. The grave could not hold His followers. Many people are afraid the bombs will start falling. Bombs do not worry a saved Christian. One who has Christ is bomb-proof.

Focus on Health

Seems We're Never All Asleep

By The Associated Press
Alertness in your sleep, the allergy to old dust, tooth decay and teen-age drinking are subjects with a focus on health:

SLEEP ALERT

Part of your thinking brain may be wide awake, while you're asleep.

British researchers ordered a group of sleep volunteers to raise their names came up on the recording of 56 names in random order was played. The volunteers fell asleep listening to the recording, but many awoke with automatic hand movements when their names came up on the recording.

Some subjects, told to listen for a name other than their own, also awoke when the chosen name was called out, singling it out from the other names in their sleep.

DUST TO OLD DUST

It's the old dust around the house that sets allergy sufferers to sneezing, sneezing and itching, a chemist says.

House dust breaks down with time into the irritating products that cause the trouble. Fresh dust doesn't have the same effect, suggests Dr. Arthur Lietze of Oregon State College.

It's also likely that food allergies are based on digested products of the food, not on the food itself, he told the American Chemical Society.

TOO MUCH, TOO SOON

Teen-age alcoholics: Where do they come from?

A Boston study of 20 teen-age problem drinkers found these facts:
Almost all the fathers and some of the mothers were alcoholics. Often, the father had deserted, leaving the family nearly destitute. The pattern of excessive drinking was apparent before puberty. Most of the alcohol was stolen. Outstanding personality traits: Hostility, depression, impulsiveness and sexual confusion.

FEEL GOOD FAST

Worried? Feeling low? Have a good bracing medical checkup.

Regular checkups, besides being a good way to prevent trouble, make you feel healthy as well, a British doctor suggests.

Few of us—even the healthiest in mind and body—come out of a good medical examination without a feeling of elation, he says. Reason: We've been assured that our body's complex parts are intact and functioning well.

"For we so frequently harbor fear—varying in intensity from a stifled, nagging doubt to a positive phobia—that all is not well," says Dr. George Day. "Fear is humanity's commonest disease."

TOOTH DECAY

With fluoride dentifrices, good brushing technique and the amount of time the teeth are exposed to the dentifrices are factors in how effective they will be in preventing tooth decay, researchers report.

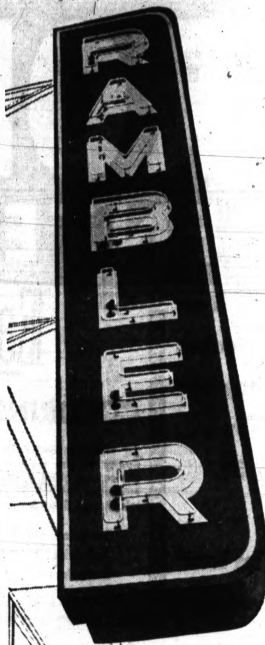

In addition, brushing with fluoride dentifrices will enhance the efficiency of fluorides applied to your teeth by a dentist, a recent dental research meeting was told.

State Counties to Spend Record Sum on Highways

LANSING (AP)—Michigan's 83 counties plan to spend a record $50 million for highway improvements this year, the State Highway Department reports.

The expenditures will exceed last year's outlay by an estimated $6 million, the department said. It based its estimate on program reports submitted to the department by county road commissions.

The increase on county road expenditures stems from an advance in federal funds to aid secondary roads. They will receive $7 million from the government this year, twice as much as in 1960.

Surprise Requires Planning

By The Emily Post Institute
Q: Is it proper for friends of new house owners to give a surprise housewarming for them, or is this party supposed to be given by the owners themselves? If it may be given for them, will you please tell me how this is arranged?
A: Occasionally when the new house owners do not give any party, and it is known that everything is reasonably in order, intimate friends get together and give them a surprise party.

In this case all they agree to meet at some place nearby and arrive together. And of course they bring the refreshments with them. The important thing to remember is to make a plan either to keep the new owners at home by making an arrangement to play bridge with them or to choose an evening when they are dining with one of the conspirators.

This is to ensure their being ready to receive at home or their coming home early, to prevent their being surprised in dressing gowns or possibly even routed out of their beds.

Q: My son has been invited to a tea dance which is to be held in a hotel from five until eight o'clock, in honor of a young girl he knows. What is the proper attire for him at such a party?

A: He should wear a dark suit — unless he arrives at the tea dance after six and is on his way to a dinner at which his tuxedo will be necessary.

Q: I am an unmarried woman in my early thirties. I would like to order some stationery for general use but am not sure how it should be marked. Would it be proper to have my name printed in full across the top of the paper? If not, will you please tell me how it should correctly be marked?

A: For general use, Miss Mary Anne Smith with your full address beneath would be entirely proper. But for invitations, acceptances and regrets and other social notes, having your paper marked M.A.S. would be in good taste. Or if you prefer, it would be equally good taste to use neither name nor initials but only your street address, without the city.

Abby Says: And the Woman Is Older

Youth Talks of Marriage

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My son is only 17 but he is big for his age. He is running around with a woman who is far too old for him. She has given him money, bought him gifts, and lets him drive her car. Is it any wonder he thinks she is wonderful?

Lately he has been spending more time with her than at home. At first he said she was only a friend, but now he has been talking marriage!

I am against it because I don't want a daughter-in-law who is two years older than I am. Can you help me? I am going out of my mind. I have had no husband to help me raise this boy.

WORRIED WIDOW
DEAR WORRIED: You obviously have no control over your son, so perhaps a nurse friend, relative or pastor will come to your rescue. The woman should be investigated. There could be legal as well as moral involvements, if the woman is guilty of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

DEAR ABBY: What does a girl need in order to have friends besides beauty, personality, brains, clothes, talent, poise and charm?

COOKIE: "Humility."

DEAR ABBY: I am engaged to a young man. Last night he went out with a married woman (she has two small children), and they went parking. He said he had to find out if he still loved her. He came back and told me he didn't love her any more and he loved me. He promised not to see her again, but he lies so much, how can I believe him?

I would like to write to her husband (he is overseas) and tell him what his wife is doing to him, but I hate to hurt their children.

Should I get in touch with this woman and tell her if she doesn't keep her hands off my fiancé she will have to answer to me? Should I write to her husband? Or should I forget the whole thing?

IN DEEP

DEAR IN: DON'T get in touch with the woman. DON'T write to her husband. But DO yourself a big favor and give your fiancé the gate. He sounds like a shifty character and the worst kind of husband material.

Child Study Club Hears Mental Talk

Child Study Club, Group III, met for luncheon and election of officers Tuesday at Rotunda Inn.

Speaker for the affair was Dr. Wallace Watt of the State Department of Mental Health.

Mrs. Robert Bego was elected president. Her co-officers are Mrs. Bob F. Rogers, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Shorey, second vice president; Mrs. John Hubbard, recording secretary; Mrs. Eddie O'Brien, corresponding secretary; Mrs. James Jenkins, treasurer; Mrs. Clarke Kimball, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Robert Knight, auditor.

Speaking on the topic "Home-Made Problems," Dr. Watt opened his talk with the question, "How responsible are we for everything our child sees or hears the moment he leaves our doorstep? Take the common saying, 'Blame the parents' with a grain of salt," he advised. "We must think well of ourselves. Many thousands are hospitalized for thinking ill of themselves."

Members were told that quarreling between parents can be a contributing factor to rebellious children, and that divorce can be detrimental to a child's social attitudes. "Children are superstitious to the moods of their parents."

Dr. Watt concluded his talk with a new theory regarding some cases of delinquency: "Sometimes parents practically induce their children into delinquency, because they never have matured themselves!"

Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. H. T. Baker were hostesses for the meeting. Guests were Mrs. Gordon Carlson, Mrs. Kenneth Poole and Mrs. Joe G. Benson.

Some Children Able to Read at Preschool Age

ANN ARBOR — As many as 20 per cent of gifted children may learn to read before they enter school, says a University of Michigan professor of education.

Dr. Irving H. Anderson said one set of statistics of children with IQs of 140 or better shows that two per cent learn to read by the age of three, and six per cent by the age of four.

For the most part, Anderson said, those who learned to read prior to entering school had no formal instruction but learned to read by themselves, needing only someone to tell them what the words are.

Pontiac Gal 'Traveling' in Korea

Meet a young woman on the go: Patricia Ronan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ronan of East Iroquois Road.

In recent weeks Miss Ronan has traveled from Washington, D.C. to Tokyo, Japan, and finally to Korea to begin work as an American Red Cross clubmobile girl. And she's still going strong at a rate of nearly 1,000 miles a month.

Assigned to the 1st Cavalry Division Red Cross clubmobile unit headquartered only a few miles below the DMZ (Demilitarized Zone) dividing North and South Korea, Miss Ronan is one of more than 40 clubmobile girls who make daily trips into isolated areas of Korea to bring entertaining programs to remote military units. She is "on the road" five days a week.

More than 11,000 servicemen per week take part in Red Cross clubmobile programs which Miss Ronan and her teammates bring in individual company areas on regularly scheduled "runs."

Traveling the rugged Korean terrain in Army three-quarter ton trucks, each two-girl Red Cross team covers from four to six military units a day, offering at each stop a series of fast-paced quizzes, contests, and games to complement the traditional clubmobile coffee and doughnuts.

Miss Ronan, who became a Red Cross staff member in February, arrived in Korea the following month after undergoing training and orientation in Washington, D. C., and Camp Zama, Japan.

She is a 1960 graduate of Stanford University, Palo Alto, Calif., having transferred there from Michigan State University at the end of her sophomore year.

Young women interested in clubmobile service in Korea may visit their local Red Cross chapters for further information, according to the American National Red Cross.

Applicants must be at least 21 years old, have attended college, and be in top physical condition and of the highest character.

Navy Promotes Exercise

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The armed forces always have been acutely aware of the value of physical exercise. Usually, after even a short period with one of the branches of service, men come back to civilian life in much finer condition.

ing letter from a commodore in the United States Navy who is now retired. He had just read a column in which I gave an abdominal exercise. If his letter does not kindle your enthusiasm about exercise, nothing will! He said:

"Today my maid brought me the enclosure (my column). After reading it I cut it out to send to you. Many years ago at Annapolis all men were required to do this exercise, not with one leg but with two. (This is the exercise in which you lie flat on your back, lift one leg in the air and slowly lower it.) We called it BOTH FEET and in the beginning we had to lift both feet 25 times, later 50 times.

HAS MUSCLES

"Now after 62 years—I am over 83—the stomach muscles are sufficiently strong to pull in hard. If held in hard for a short time, the pressure on the colon is very noticeable and there is never any constipation.

"Another exercise which is very effective is as follows:

"Lie on back. Raise both legs about 45 degrees, spread them as wide as possible. Then close the legs and then continue on until the legs are crossed, the right toe pointing to the left and the left to the right. Both legs are still held at 45 degrees. It's a fine and excellent exercise.

"I thought you might like to hear about one who has used the exercise for a long time. The results are always the same."

I think the commodore was most gracious to write to me and I hope the vitality he has at the age of 83 may spur some of my readers on to regular exercise.

If you would like to have my short routine of exercise planned especially for you, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 19. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Color Only Egg Whites for Gay Easter Salad

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

In Monday's mail we found today's recipe, sent in by a Mrs. F. M. Lanning says that she has colored Easter eggs in the following manner for over 30 years.

"My children would cry if we colored eggs and then peeled off the decorations. So this is why I fixed them this way."

EASTER EGG NEST

By Mrs. F. M. Lanning

Roll one dozen eggs hard. (We suggest you simmer them.) Cut in halves and remove yolks. Mash yolks and thoughtful reader. We DO like that sort of mail.

moisten with salad dressing, salt and pepper, as for deviled eggs.

Fill 4 cups half full of water. Add a different food coloring to each cup. Put in egg whites and let them stand in colored water until desired color is obtained. Drain and dry with a paper towel. Fill with yolk mixture and decorate with olive slices.

Arrange stuffed eggs on a platter lined with lettuce. Set a chocolate bunny in the center. Place a couple of yellow marshmallow chicks on each end.

This makes a beautiful platter and children love it. They don't have to throw away the pretty colors.

PEO Holds Program for Easter

Mrs. B. M. Mitchell was in charge of the Easter program presented Monday for members of Chapter CL, PEO Sisterhood. Assisting her were Mrs. George Putnam, Mrs. L. G. Rowley, Mrs. Richard Justice, Mrs. Charles Matson, Mrs. Russell Curtis and Elda Sutter. Mrs. Victor Lindquist sang three solos, accompanied by Mrs. W. Henry Sink.

The meeting was held at the West Ingalls Road home of Mrs. Charles Buck.

Committees for 1961-62 were announced by the president, Mrs. Clark Morgan. Named also were convention delegates to the state PEO convention to be held in Muskegon, April 20-22.

Mrs. Morgan and Mrs. Putnam are delegates, with Mrs. Harry Chapman and Mrs. Matson as alternates.

Mrs. Charles Matson Jr. was a guest for the program. The next meeting, April 10, will be a birthday luncheon at the Rotunda Inn. Mrs. M. O. Laine of Birmingham will be the speaker.

Here's the Answer

One way to have a pastel bridge handbag and keep it clean, too, is to buy one covered with clear vinyl. One style comes with pleated front and back.

New York City has about 350 miles of developed waterfront and employs an estimated 250,000 persons in the export and import business.

Couple Exchanges Vows at Orchard Lake Church

Orchard Lake Community Church Presbyterian was the setting for the Saturday evening vows of Virginia Mae Beebe and Edward A. Hunter. The Rev. Edward D. Auchard read the service in a candlelight ceremony before an altar background of white tulips and pomegranates.

The bride is the daughter of Loren T. Beebe of Meadowdale Drive and the late Mrs. Beebe. The George T. Hunters, parents of the bridegroom, were hosts of a family dinner in their home on Canterbury Drive following the church reception.

Styled along princess lines, the floor-length bridal gown of Chantilly lace and pleated tulle over silk, taffeta was trimmed with sequins and seed pearls. The molded neckline, extended into wrist-point sleeves.

The crown of pearls and sequins which held wrist-length veiling of silk illusion was designed in a heart motif. White carnations and hydrangeas rested on the bride's white Bible.

SISTER OF GROOM

Sharon Hunter, sister of the bridegroom, appeared as maid of honor in ballerina-length white nylon taffeta with pleated skirt and cummerbund, veiled crystal crown and orchid shoes.

Bridesmaids, Ellen Marks and Shirley Gruber, wore white nylon with mint green cummerbund. All attendants carried orchid and mint green tulips arranged to form a cross.

The bridegroom had John Minnick of Bloomfield Hills for his best man. Guests were seated by Clare Payne and David Ballard. For the honeymoon in Northern Michigan and Canada, the bride donned a fur-trimmed mauve tailored suit of sheer wool. The couple will reside on Canterbury Drive.

Mrs. Hunter chose deep lavender chiffon with matching accessories and white fur stole for her son's wedding. Her corsage was a purple orchid.

Named State Head of Her Sorority

Mrs. Forest Ellwell of Lambda Chi Omega's Beta Theta Chapter has been elected the sorority's state president.

Officers were elected at the group's recent state spring meeting in Farmington, attended by Mrs. Ellwell, along with Mrs. Louis Bors and Mrs. James Thornberry, also of Beta Theta Chapter.

The chapter's March social meeting was conducted at Pontiac General Hospital where members were taken on a tour by Donald Carros, assistant administrator.

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Mrs. Farmer:

"Please tell me as soon as possible, why, oh why, is it that every pattern we buy today is too long on the shoulders. If you make a dress by the pattern, the sleeve will hang at least 1/2 to 1" over the shoulder. How can we adjust the pattern before cutting the material?"

Mrs. D.B.

This is a typical letter received daily from women who want to know why some part of the pattern doesn't fit them.

A standard pattern will fit perfectly only the model for whom it was made. Yet hundreds of women with various shapes and measurements use the same pattern. That is why each and every one of you must learn to make some slight adjustment to your pattern so that it will fit you perfectly. As I discuss various pattern alterations, note particularly the adjustment that pertains to your figure.

Adjusting the width of the shoulder is one of the easiest changes to make on a pattern. Simply take a 1/2" fold at the shoulder, between the neck and the armhole. This fold should taper to nothing about 3" below the shoulder. If the shoulder is more than 1/2" too wide, make two small folds. This can be done on the bodice front as well as the back.

"Dear Eunice,

"In lining a lace dress, should I sew the lining in with the seam or should I make the two separately and then tack them together?"

Mrs. G.A.A.

A lace garment looks best if you use your lining as an under-lining. In other words, baste the two pieces of fabric together and treat as one piece. In this way, the same color and fabric will show through the lace in the entire garment.

"Dear Eunice,

"I have a great deal of trouble with underarm perspiration. I have ruined many good clothes by permanent stains. Have you any good suggestions for me?"

Desperate

I am sure many women with your problem will sympathize with you. I will pass on a tip that has been tried by my students and has proven successful.

Make separate curved shields out of a double layer of your garment fabric. These can be tacked into your garment and easily replaced before the garment itself gets ruined. You will find this suggestion especially helpful in suit jackets and coats.

By using the same fabric for the shields that you have used for your lining, they will not be noticeable when you remove your jacket.

YOUR SEWING GLASSARY:

Zip: Short fibers on fabrics which have been brushed smoothly in one direction. Such fabrics must be cut with each piece of the pattern laying in one direction. In fabrics such as this, the nap should run down as fur does—which you've all tested by running your hand down it. The opposite is true with pile fabrics such as velvet, velour and corduroy.

Please send all your questions and suggestions to Sew Simple, in care of The Pontiac Press. If you're making buttonholes, I can help you with free instructions in my leaflet, "Bound Buttonholes." Obtain it by sending a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Eunice Farmer, in care of The Pontiac Press.

At Pike St. Church of God

Vivian Thacker Marries

The Rev. Estel D. Moore officiated at the marriage of Vivian Carol Thacker to Clayton Griffin of Milan Saturday afternoon at the Pike Street Church of God. Altar flowers were white gladioli.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Dales of Stone, Ky., the bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Dol-

Duane Sheats of Milan assisted the bridegroom as best man. Lyle Griffin of Milan ushered at his brother's wedding, with Raymond Hardesty and Drew Williamson.

Leaving for a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the new Mrs. Griffin was wearing a dress of light blue sheer wool crepe.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Dales chose an ensemble of peacock blue wool and black accessories. Mrs. Griffin, in beige and brown silk chiffon over tulle, wore beige accessories. Shoulder corsages for both mothers were pink miniature tea roses.

A reception for some 300 guests at Mooreville Village, near Milan, followed the ceremony.

Shoulder-length veiling of white silk illusion, held by a beaded tiara, complemented the bride's waltz-length dress of white silk organza over tulle. A spray of stephanotis centered with a white orchid rested on her white-lace-covered Bible.

Charlotte Sue Neal, maid of honor, appeared in waltz-length lavender chiffon and carried a

Special Benefits Help in Reducing Tax Payments

WIDOW'S AID: The biggest benefit is the widow's aid. When a husband dies, the widow can claim a deduction for the unpaid income tax of the husband. This deduction can be as high as $1,000 and some have many more. This is the only of five articles, explains exemptions and may help you find some that you've missed.

By FRANK CORMIER
AP Staff Writer

The people who caused you financial woes in 1960 are apt to prove a blessing at income tax time.

If you strained the family budget to support a mother-in-law, or worried about financing a child's education, this is the season for dollar-and-cents relief from Uncle Sam.

Each of these financial problems now becomes a 9800 exemption.

The exemption is the biggest.

tax-cutting device of all. Each one places $600 of income beyond the reach of the tax collector.

You can claim one for yourself and one for each of your dependents. Be sure to study the rules carefully, however, because someone you regard as a dependent might not qualify under the law.

First of all, a taxpayer gets at least one exemption, for himself.

And a taxpayer who was 65 or older on or before Jan. 1, 1961, can claim a second. Any blind taxpayer is entitled to still an exemption.

On a joint return, you also get an exemption for your husband or wife — two if your mate is 65 or older.

Others who may qualify as exemptions on your return are your children, members of your household (not counting servants) and adopted children. They must meet these five tests:

1. Have received more than half their total support from you.

2. Not have filed a joint return for 1960 with their husband or wife, if you file jointly.

3. Be a citizen of the United States, Canada, Mexico, Panama or the Canal Zone. This does not apply if an alien child is adopted by and living with a U.S. citizen abroad.

4. Either have been a member of your household for the entire tax year or be related to you, or to your husband or wife if you file jointly.

5. Have received less than $600 in total reportable income during 1960.

The fifth requirement sometimes doesn't apply in the case of your children, stepchildren or legally adopted children. You may claim one exemption for each of these tain institutions' on-farm training courses for at least five months during 1960.

The value of any scholarship can be ignored in figuring whether you provided more than half the total support of a son or daughter who was a student. However, you must take into account benefits under the GI Bill.

Relatives who may be claimed as exemptions, even though they're not members of your household, are: mother, father, mother-in-law, father-in-law, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepfather, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, son-in-law, daughter-in-law, stepmother, stepfather, grandparents, grandchildren and, if related by blood, aunt, uncle, niece or nephew.

Sometimes several members of a family pool their resources to provide more than half the support of a relative. This often happens regardless of his or her income. provided the youngster was under 19 for the entire tax year or was a full-time student.

Tiny Land Battleground for World Struggle

Most Laotians Remain Indifferent to Their Civil War

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — What do the Laotians themselves think about the power struggle between those two far-away giants, the United States and Russia, over their tiny land?
For a lot of them, not much. Report after report from there tells of great indifference to the civil war between the Russian-backed rebels in the north and the American-supported right-wing government in the south.
The greatest popular support for neither side but for Prince Souvanna Phouma. He's neutral. To a lot of Laotians, therefore, the United States and Russia must look like a couple of busy-bodies. Yet the Laotians have to depend on someone. The country earns only a fraction of its expenses.
In 1960 its exports totaled $1.6 million while its national deficit was $33 million, about 20 times its export figure. Since 1954 this country put $310 million into Laos, most of it for the military forces.
DON'T LIKE TO KILL.
Yet The Associated Press reports even the combatants are devout Buddhists who don't like to kill and have to be coaxed into fighting by their big-power backers.
The Laotians don't even think as a nation. Many of them are split into tribes. One official said to most Laotians the civil war is just another family fight.
SHADES OF INDOCHINA
Since both the West and communism will propagandize the people in their area, in due time maybe the Laotians on both sides will learn to get angry enough at each other to fight in earnest.

All this sounds a little reminiscent—although the cases are not identical—of Indochina, half of which the French lost to communism in 1954.
The French had held all of Viet Nam from back in the 19th century. Being colonial-minded, they didn't train the Vietnamese for independence. Eventually, the Communists in the north revolted. From 1946 to 1954 the French fought them. But the French were so sure they didn't send any draftees to Viet Nam, just volunteers.

One thing was sure: They weren't getting many volunteers from among the Vietnamese who simply wanted the French out. If they volunteered it was usually with the Communist-led rebels in the north.
Eventually the French had to give up the northern half. Now, seven years later, the Communists are on the move again, sending their guerrillas into South Viet Nam.
If Laos is split in half the time will probably come when the rebels from the north put the heat on their southern brothers and there'll be a crisis of some kind all over again.

Governor's Wife in Hospital Again
LANSONG (U)—Mrs. Alice Swainson, wife of the governor, continued to rest at Lanning's St. Lawrence Hospital today after being readmitted for further treatment of a partially collapsed right lung.
The governor's wife was readmitted Tuesday. She was first admitted March 15 and treated for three days before being released. Gov. Swainson said X rays taken Tuesday were "very encouraging."
"What she really needs is the complete rest she can't get at home with the children," the governor said.

Asks $75 Million to Modernize Nation's Airports
WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration is asking Congress for $75 million to modernize the nation's airports. It was learned today.
The money, to be earmarked mostly for such air safety projects as longer runways, improved runway lighting and installation of modern navigation aids, is contained in the administration's revised budget for the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).
Former President Eisenhower's budget calls for $40 million in federal airport aid. The Kennedy budget would boost that to $75 million.

Tree-Trim Case at Selfridge Won by Government

DETROIT (U.S. District Court Judge Fred W. Kass ruled in favor of the government Tuesday in a dispute over trimming trees on the approaches to Selfridge Air Force Base.

A group of property owners in the neighborhood of the base had demanded that the government be compelled to acquire the entire properties — land and house — instead of merely obtaining an easement for tree trimming.

The government has offered to pay for the tree trimming. Judge Kass ruled that property owners could file damage claims with the U.S. Court of Claims if they believed they were entitled to greater compensation for any damage to their properties.

Japanese Cherry Trees Bloom in Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Washington's famed Japanese cherry trees bloomed into full springtime glory today and chances looked good for the annual cherry blossom festival next week.

Usually nature and festival officials get their signals crossed and the two events don't coincide. Probably half of all yearling buck deer have two points on each side of their antlers.

Rebels Pledge Help to Block Air Strike

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A group of rebel flight engineers who want to join the Teamsters Union have told government officials they will do everything possible to try to prevent another paralyzing airline strike.

The group, which claims 2,700 followers, met with President Kennedy's special committee on the airline controversy Tuesday. Before the meeting, they raised strong possibilities of another walk-out like the one last month.

But committee chairman Nat engineers pledged "full cooperation" in helping iron out their dispute.

Space Is Out for Teens, Says Moscow Radio

LONDON (UPI)—Russian teenagers can forget their plans to travel in space, Moscow radio said Tuesday night.

The radio said many youths have volunteered, but teenagers fall into the least fit age group for space flight.

"Youngsters cannot stand oxygen hunger, or the other unfavorable phenomena that may occur during such a flight... only a person with strong willpower and self restraint can take active part in the flight," it said.

Most Diseases Decline but Chicken Pox Jumps

Major communicable diseases, of measles reported in Pontiac with the exception of measles, showed a decline in Oakland County last week, according to the Oakland County Health Department.

In Pontiac, the exception was chicken pox. There were 13 new cases reported in the city last week and only 4 the week before.

In the county, chicken pox and mumps declined considerably while new cases of measles went from 38 two weeks ago to 55 last week.

There have been no new cases rheumatic fever and hepatitis last week. The following is a list of new cases of communicable diseases reported in Oakland County for the past two weeks.

Disease	Week Ending March 12	Week Ending March 19
Chicken pox	13	55
Measles	11	11
Mumps	11	11
Scarlet fever	11	11
Rheumatic fever	11	11

Police Arrest Widow With Unusual Alibi

DETROIT (AP)—Mary McBain, 44, a widow, told police Tuesday she had accumulated $5,000 worth of stolen goods in 10 years because she had "no one to talk to."

Officers said a fantastic variety of goods was found in the home of Mrs. McBain, arrested in a store on a charge of trying to take a necklace. She is held in $5,000 bond for alleged larceny.

"I steal because no one will listen to my problems," said Mrs. McBain.

Make 14,536 Arrests

EAST LANSING (U.S. State Police reported making 14,536 arrests in February, 13,261 for traffic offenses and 1,275 on criminal complaints. Department vehicles traveled more than 1.6 million miles during the month.

JFK 'Saving' Receives Criticism

Congress May Fight Cutback on B70

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A ranking Democrat forecast today that Congress would balk at President Kennedy's deep cutback in the B70 super bomber program, one of the "savings" in his $13.8-billion defense budget.

The prediction by a lawmaker who remained anonymous offered an index of congressional reluctance to accept Kennedy's defense shake-up without close scrutiny.

Increases in missile and ground force strength proposed in his $13-billion request generally were applauded.

Sharp opposition was voiced to Kennedy's announced abandonment of the nuclear powered aircraft program, on which $1 billion already has been spent.

And political ears were quickly cocked for more information on the 73 military bases he has earmarked for closing.

But the Chief Executive's decision to reduce the 2,000-mile-an-hour B70 from a weapons system project to a research undertaking drew the sharpest initial reaction.

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss.,

Senate Preparedness chairman, said the super-bomber program should be "pushed to the utmost." His view was shared by Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand, R-Calif., whose state would feel the economic impact of the B70 cutback, called it a "terrible blow to the national security of the United States."

North American Aviation Co., which is located in California, is the B70 developer.

Two UP Gas Firms Sold to Consolidated

DETROIT (UPI) — Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has purchased two Upper Peninsula gas distributing firms, the Sault Gas Co. and Celgas Corp.

R. L. Laumstein, president of the two Upper Peninsula firms, said the sale was approved by the directors and stockholders of the companies following several weeks of negotiations. Consolidated will take over the operations sometime in April, he said.

The Sault Gas Co. distributes gas made from liquid petroleum to some 1,000 customers in Sault Ste. Marie. The Celgas Corp. distributes bottles gas to some 3,500 customers in the Soo area and supplies gas to dealers at Drummond Island, Detour, Pickford, Tudyak and Brimley.

Indiana State Teachers College is located in Indiana, Penn., a city of about 13,000.

Time May Be Wrong but Outcome the Same

BEDFORD, England (UPI) — Jack Day, a 30-year-old car dealer who used a British magazine for a label because it said he had already been executed, was hanged today for the murder of his friend.

Day went to the gallows despite a last-minute appeal to the home office by his wife and mother. He was convicted of killing Keith Arthur, 25, whom he mistakenly believed to be having an affair with his wife.

Wants Government Aid for Moving Expenses

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The federal government should help defray expenses of workers forced to move for employment reasons, Rep. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., said Tuesday.

Griffin said he had introduced a bill in Congress which would permit a homeowner to take an income tax reduction for any loss incurred in sale of the home if the sale were forced by the need to move to a new job.

Baked Cheese Sandwich

Try this for a Lenten lunch — a fondue-styled Baked Cheese Sandwich. In a baking pan, arrange crust-trimmed sandwiches made with enriched bread and process

American cheese slices. Over the sandwiches pour this mixture: 4 beaten eggs, 2½ cups milk, ¼ teaspoon each, salt and pepper. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 30 minutes, or until light and golden brown.

Dates in Your Pudding

Snip fresh California dates into small pieces and fold into butter scotch pudding. Sprinkle each serving with chopped pecans or toasted coconut.

Low Calorie

For a quick relatively low-calorie pick-up try a Buttermilk Pudding. Just stir in a tablespoon or two of your favorite flavor of the frozen fruit punches, Strawberry-

Lemon, Grape-Lemon, Raspberry-Lemon or Pineapple-Lemon into a tall glass of buttermilk.

Arkansas school teachers receive an average of $900 a year more now than they did in 1955.

Refreshing Salad

Fresh winter pears, apples, canned Mandarin orange sections and plump California raisins toss into a beautiful winter salad. Add a bit of crisp celery for contrast and cut the fresh fruit into bite sized pieces. A dressing of half sour cream and half mayonnaise is a favorite with this combination.

Tardiness of 2 Students

Excused by College

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Two desperate telephone pleas for permission to register late reached

San Diego State College on the final day of registration. One was from a student in jail on a traffic violation. The other was from Colorado, where a student was trapped by a snow bank. Permission was granted to both.

European Cities' Names

Given to Sausages

What do these European cities have in common — Frankfurt, Germany; Genoa, Italy; Goteborg, Sweden; Lyons, France; Bologna, Italy?

These are just a few of the cities that have given their name to sausage, the American Meat Institute tells us. Medieval sausage-makers became so adept in spicing and processing sausages of distinctive types that the fame of their products spread throughout Europe. Rome became famous for its romano; Berlin for berliner; Baronschweig (Brunswick, Germany) for its braunschweiger.

French-fried turnips are good eating. Cut turnips in long thin strips. Blot dry with paper towel. Cook about a cupful of strips at a time in ½ inch hot bacon fat in

Fuss Over Roads May Alter Rules

By JIM LONG

The protests of 13 township supervisors over a new requirement of the Oakland County Road Commission in developing subdivision roads may bring about a revision in the specification.

The supervisors complained yesterday at a meeting with road commission officials that the requirement to allow 70 feet of county right of way when building streets with open ditches would cause hardships for townships wanting new housing developments.

The 70-foot width requirement which was adopted by the road commission in January doesn't change the width of the roadway, but only adds five feet right of way to property on each side of the street.

The purpose of this requirement, according to Commissioner Hiland M. Thatcher, allows flatter slopes on ditches, improving their appearance, and permits more room for sidewalks and utilities.

The requirement pertains only to open ditch road construction. Streets constructed with curb and gutter retain a 40-foot right of way, Thatcher said.

"The new specification, in effect, is stealing one lot out of every 10 from the township," said John C. Rehard, West Bloomfield Township supervisor. "And we can't afford it. We're having enough trouble getting developers to come into the township now," Rehard said.

An alternate proposal was made by Herman Frankel, Birmingham builder and developer. He recommended that instead of adding width to the right of way, a five-foot easement of both sides of the streets be included in the original plans when plans are submitted for approval.

Frankel said this would serve the same purpose as the new requirement and at the same time allow room for placing utilities without forfeiting any property.

The supervisors liked the idea. The road commissioners said they would study it.

County Lawmen Select Leader

Capt. Hazen Replaces Ex-Holly Police Chief at Meeting in Novi

Members of the Oakland County Law Enforcement Association last night elected Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department president of their organization.

Hazen, who has been with the sheriff's department since 1948 and a captain since the first of the year, succeeds James Parker, former Holly police chief.

The appointment of Hazen, 36, of 1729 S. Commerce Road, Walled Lake, came at a meeting of the law enforcement association held at the Saterzins Restaurant in Novi.

It was the first meeting of the police group since February 1960. One of the first steps to be undertaken by Hazen will be the reorganization of the association.

"Our main concern," Hazen said, "is to promote better relations between police departments."

Hazen, a graduate of Walled Lake High School, is married and has three children.

Nearly 40 members of the association attended the dinner meeting to hear George A. Henry, supervisor in charge of U.S. Alcohol and Tax Units in Michigan discuss common police problems, in combating the sale of moonshine, bootleg liquor and illegal weapons.

Road-Cleaning Costs Dip

LANSING (UPI) — Cost of keeping the roadways of Michigan's 9,400 miles of highways clean decreased from $1,000 a day in 1958 to $800 a day in 1960, the State Highway Department said Tuesday.

Highway Commissioner John C. Mackin said the decreased cost was at least partly due to public awareness of roadside maintenance problems and an "appreciation" of roadside beauty.

TO BE RAZED—The old municipal building which has served the village of Rochester for 67 years has been condemned and ordered torn down. Demolition work on the two-story brick structure which was built back in 1894 for $1,400 is slated to begin early next week under the direction of Thomas J. Turkette, Rochester's chief building inspector. The village offices, council chambers and police department now are housed in a new $100,000 municipal building in Stone Park which opened two weeks ago.

NEWS OF THE AREA

318-290 Closest Yet

ARMADA — For the third time in four months, voters in the Armada Area School District refused to approve a millage proposal for school operation at the polls here yesterday.

In the special election — the second held in the school district this month — a proposition which would have continued three mills for operation for two years was defeated by 29 votes, 318 to 290.

It was the closest election of any of the three held here since December.

Superintendent, School Supt. Kenneth W. Stanley pointed out that the Armada Board of Education was not asking for a millage increase in this election, but rather a continuance of the present operational levy.

"We have been operating on three mills for the past five years," said Stanley. "But the three mills went off with the last tax spread in 1960. They were for operation only until the end of this school year."

The school superintendent said the district now is faced with operating next year only on funds allocated by the Macomb County Board of Education.

In an attempt to extend the Armada district's present 36-week school term to 40 weeks, the board of education requested a six-mill operational levy in December.

That proposal was soundly defeated, 839 to 130, in the heaviest vote ever recorded in the district. A request for four mills for operation was turned down by nearly a 3 to 1 margin in a March 6 election.

The school board then asked to continue the three-mill levy yesterday only to see it defeated by a turnout of voters which was the smallest in any of the three school ballots.

To Use Leasing Program

To Build Postal Building on Auburn Heights Site

A new post office building is scheduled for construction in Auburn Heights. It was announced today by Michigan Senators Patrick V. McNamara and Philip A. Hart. U. S. Post Office Department officials have advised the senators that a post office site in Auburn Heights has been selected which meets departmental requirements as to cost, size and location.

The site includes 275,688 square feet of property on the south side of Auburn Road, about 1,100 feet west of Squirrel Road. The option is Fisher and Co. of Detroit.

Pontiac Postmaster William W. Donaldson has been informed by the department that the new Auburn Heights branch building will be constructed under the department's commercial leasing program.

The program utilizes the investment funds and resources of private enterprise to obtain needed postal buildings.

DATA TO BE AVAILABLE

The new Auburn Heights branch will contain about 5,000 square feet of interior floor space, a loading platform and parking and truck maneuvering areas.

According to Donaldson, bidding forms, specifications and other data will be available to firms which plan to bid on the project.

When bids are awarded the site will be transferred to the successful bidder who will purchase the land, construct the building and lease it to the department on a long-term basis.

The present Auburn Heights post office is located in a 16-year-old brick and concrete block building at 2310 Auburn Road. The existing structure is about one-half mile west of where the new one will be constructed.

The public meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at Woodward Public Library.

Accompanying the candidates will be James Bell, Democratic candidate for Congress from the 18th District in last November's presidential election.

Robert Coyie, chairman of the Avon Democratic Club, indicated that this meeting is the first of many in which the club will attempt to keep township residents abreast of matters of interest on the local, state and national levels through presentation of speakers and guests.

Pear Salads Grace Plate of Broiled Hamburgers

Tradition decrees that Monday we wash, Tuesday we iron and so through the week. Regardless of Saturday's task, it is a special day in everyone's book. It's a day for special food treats, too, such as these refreshing pear salads accompanied by tasty burgers.

There are few sweet fresh fruits on the market now, which makes these succulent pears a double treat. Three varieties of ripe pears are available during the winter and spring months but now the focus is on the stubby, green-skinned Anjou so ideally suited to a variety of uses.

Anjou pears may be broiled, baked or stewed and adapt themselves to an unending array of meat accompaniments. Also, they are so very good for fresh eating in succulent salads, juicy desserts or out of hand for midweek snacks and lunch hours.

You can always buy firm pears with confidence—they'll ripen at home in a few days at room temperature, becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Cheese is a boon companion to fresh, ripe pears. Thus the grated pound makes 4 patties 1/4-inch cheese sprinkled on the pears is thick.

The perfect complement to the sweet, mellow fruit flavor. What could be easier or more delicious for a Saturday lunch or supper than fresh fruit salads and juicy hamburgers? Come to think of it, this would make any day special!

Saturday Special Pear Salad
2 fresh Anjou pears
1 sliced tomato
1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup pineapple
Salted greens

Halve and core pears. Dip in lemon juice or antioxidant to prevent darkening. Place sliced pears in cavity of each pear half. Sprinkle with 2 tablespoons grated cheese; garnish with strip of pineapple. Place on platter lined with salad greens and serve with favorite dressing. Makes 4 servings.

Hamburgers
Ground meat is best if handled lightly to avoid packing. Divide with a knife, shape gently into balls and then flatten out. Roll or pan-broil the same as steak to rare, medium or well-done stage. Season when the patties are turned or after they are cooked. One pound of ground meat makes 4 patties 1/4-inch thick.

SATURDAY SPECIAL — Those traditional Saturday night hamburgers will taste better when they're teamed up with a fresh pear salad. Slip a cooked pear into the cavity of the fruit half, then top with shredded cheese. Serve everything on a big platter and let the family help themselves.

Taffy Peaches a Base for Luscious Desserts

Golden canned peaches, baked with butter and unsupplanted molasses, offer a dessert theme that lends itself to endless variations. The fruits derive their special flavor from rich unsupplanted molasses. The molasses glazes the peaches attractively, and lends the syrup a mellow caramel color.

We've covered our taffy peaches with a drift of meringue. They look festive, taste delicious, and can be made in two shakes of a wooden spoon. Other variations have equal merit; eliminate the meringue and try any (or all) of these combinations:

1. Line bottom of a glass bowl with lady fingers, stand lady fingers around the sides, put taffy peaches in the center of the bowl, and top with whipped cream.

2. Put a scoop of lemon sherbet in each taffy peach and sprinkle with grated lemon rind.

3. Fill taffy peaches with vanilla or peach ice cream, and garnish with slivered almonds.

4. Use the taffy peaches to make Taffy Peach Melba. Arrange peach halves over vanilla ice cream, top each with raspberry puree or raspberry jam.

5. Fill the taffy peaches with gingerbread crumbs and sprinkle with nutmeg or cinnamon.

6. Halve a banana lengthwise, put a taffy peach in the center of the banana slices.

7. Serve the taffy peaches with fruit-flavored dessert syrup.

8. Put an orange slice in the center of each taffy peach and sprinkle with grated coconut.

No matter how you choose to vary the taffy peach theme, it's simple to make — and simply delicious!

Taffy Peach Melba
1 can (20 ounces) peach halves, drained
1/2 cup unsupplanted molasses, divided
4 tablespoons butter or margarine, divided
1 egg white
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup heavy cream

Put drained peach halves in shallow baking pan. Top each peach half with 2 teaspoons unsupplanted molasses and dot each with 1/2 teaspoon butter. Bake in a very hot oven (450 degrees) 10 minutes.

Oregano's the Herb for Mushrooms
"L'erba di funghi," Italian cooks often call oregano — "The mushroom herb." During this peak season for fresh mushrooms, do try sliced mushrooms cooked with a pinch of this fragrant herb. Here's how:

1. pound fresh mushrooms
2. tablespoons butter or margarine
2. teaspoons fresh lemon juice
2. teaspoons fresh lemon juice
1. teaspoon ground black pepper
1. tablespoon finely dry bread crumbs

Wash, trim and slice mushrooms with stems attached. Melt butter in skillet. Add lemon juice and mushrooms. Sauté over medium heat until tender. Blend in salt, black pepper, oregano and fine dry bread crumbs. Serve hot. Yield: 4 servings.

Recipes for making ice cream go back as far as 1862.

They only other means of group transportation was a panel truck that "collapsed from old age" a week ago, according to Matus. Hope for Nike Funds Despite JFK Decision

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's decision not to ask funds to start limited production of the Nike Zeus apparently means the United States will be without an antimissile defense for at least five more years.

However, there's still a chance that congressional supporters of the Nike Zeus may get some production money into the defense appropriations bill this year.

The antimissile has some strong noters in Capitol Hill. One of them, Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., said, "We have already lost too much valuable lead time over the Communists in development and production of this important weapons system."

Omission of any Nike Zeus production funds from the revised defense budget Kennedy sent to Congress Tuesday came as a shock to the Army. Some of its officials had hoped to get about $100 million to start turning out long lead items, mostly radar and computer parts.

Kennedy said nothing at all about the Nike Zeus, but a high administration official said the anti-missile system has not advanced to the point where it can be said with assurance that it should be put into production.

This was the position maintained by the Eisenhower administration and Dr. Herbert F. York, Pentagon director of research and engineering, under that administration. Although York is, being replaced, his views apparently carry weight with the Kennedy administration, too.

Army officials felt things were going their way when the Joint Chiefs of Staff, for the first time, recommended this year a start on limited production.

Under the Eisenhower administration's farewell military budget—the one Kennedy revised—the Nike Zeus was down for about $250 million more to complete its test program.

U. of M. Survey Says Consumers Hold Confidence

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—Consumer confidence has shown no decline during the past three months despite growing unemployment and reduced personal income, the University of Michigan Survey Research Center said today.

The center said Americans have become more aware of the business recession and more concerned about job security and employment opportunities since the presidential election.

But the center said there was a widespread feeling of confidence that business conditions will improve in the next 12 months.

University researchers said in the two previous recessions, in 1932-34 and 1957-58, the opinion that "it's a good time to buy" was less widely held than it is now.

The center said more than half of the persons interviewed in a January survey expect business will be better a year hence than it is now.

Bill Would Prohibit Nonlocal Strikers

LANSING (UPI)—A bill to prohibit employment of professional strikebreakers by firms being struck by a union continued its stop-and-go progress in the Senate.

The measure, which has been amended to prevent persons not members of a striking local union from participating in a strike, was put over to today's session to permit an attempt to iron out differences.

Convicted Pair Are Both Tense

Finch, Carole Tregoff Await Life or Death Verdicts Fitfully

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Carole Tregoff cries in her cell and, in another part of the jail, her lover sleeps fitfully—a blanket pulled up over his head.

Neither Dr. R. Bernard Finch or Miss Tregoff, his codefendant, is very hungry. "Neither wants to be interviewed."

Both have missed several meals as they wait tensely for the final, life or death phase of their murder trial.

The couple, convicted of slaying the doctor's wife, Barbara Jean Finch, return to court Monday when—after another round of arguments by counsel—the murder trial jury will be asked to decide the penalties.

Jailers said both defendants passed up dinner after their conviction Monday evening and Dr. Finch, 43, refused breakfast and lunch but ate supper Tuesday. Miss Tregoff ate sparingly of her breakfast and lunch, then again turned down supper.

Detroit Whips Maple Leafs, 4-1, to Gain 3-1 Lead in Playoff Semi

Red Wings on Verge of First Cup Finals Since 1956

By BILL CORNWELL

DETROIT — There are rabid Toronto fans who claim that their beloved Maple Leafs outplayed the Detroit Red Wings Tuesday at Olympia.

This is a hot subject for debate, of course, but there was absolutely no argument about which team won the all-important contest.

The Red Wings did, 4-1, to take a commanding 3-1 advantage over the Toronto skaters in their best-of-7 Stanley Cup semi-final playoff series.

Now the two teams are bound for Toronto where the Leafs have their backs to the wall when they face off against the Wings Saturday night in Maple Leaf Garden.

If the Detroiters can't oust the Leafs from the playoffs there, they'll get another chance to do the job on home ice Sunday evening when the two National Hockey League clubs return to the Motor City.

The Wings reached the threshold of their first Stanley Cup finals berth since 1936 last night before 15,100 highly-appreciative Olympic spectators.

Toronto scored the first goal, but Detroit counted all the rest to put the favored Leafs on the brink of elimination.

Again it was peerless Gordie Howe and veteran goalie Terry Sawchuk who spurred for the Wings and defenseman Marcel Pronovost provided some Herculean assistance.

It was Howe who put the Wings ahead in the 2nd period and it was Sawchuk who kept Toronto's attacking forces at bay, especially during the 2nd stanza when the Leafs were swarming around the Detroit netminder.

Then it was Pronovost, the All-Star defenseman, who furnished the clincher for the Wings early in the 3rd session. Detroit's 4th goal was fired into an open net by Val Fonteyne with only five seconds remaining.

There was a little bit of everything in this game and everyone enjoyed the fireworks.

Detective wiring put the official clock out of commission when the battle was only two minutes old and NHL officials timed the balance of the contest with a stop watch.

A 2nd-period goal by Toronto's Dave Keon, which would have given the Leafs a 2-0 lead, was nullified by an interference penalty on Ron Stewart.

This decision by referee Frank Urdahl prompted Bert Olmstead, serving a tripping penalty for Leaf goalie Johnny Bower, to throw his stick on the ice and subsequently draw a 10-minute misconduct.

Dickie Duff had a fit of temper and lunged at Howie Young's stick over the glass among the spectators after Young had received a penalty for hooking him, but none of the officials saw Duff make the heave so no penalty was assessed.

A dozen penalties were called altogether, six on each side, and there were numerous scuffles and threatening gestures among the players as the action grew hotter.

A well-executed shot by Olmstead in the 13th minute of the 1st period gave the Leafs a 1-0 lead. Olmstead took Frank Mahovlich's pass and beat Sawchuk with a blistering 10-footer to climax a power play as the Wings were short-handed with Howe in the penalty box for interference.

Leo Lablanc tied the score at 1-1 in the final minute of the 1st stanza with a shot from a seemingly impossible angle that bounced over Bower's shoulder. Stewart was serving his interference infraction at the time and the Wings had a one-man advantage.

He received a perfect pass from Vic Stasiuk directly in front of Bower, who was completely unprotected, and beat him easily from point blank range with a rifle-like 6-footer.

The "old college try" by Pronovost and a gamble by Bower which backfired gave the Wings their clinching goal. Bower came 20 feet out of his net to steer the puck to the side, but Pronovost, on a breakaway, beat him to it, shot it between his legs and the puck slid into the cage to make the score 3-1.

Desperate Toronto gambled in the last two minutes by pulling

Bower out of the cage to put an extra forward on the ice and Fonteyne easily hit the open net for a goal that meant nothing except to change the final score.

Both goalies were credited with 32 saves, although Sawchuk actually was the busier of the two. The aggressive Maple Leafs had the ball on Sawchuk most of the time, but couldn't click.

Except for Olmstead's connection and Keon's goal which wasn't counted, it was an evening of frustration for Toronto. The Leafs had more and better scoring opportunities, but it was the Wings who really capitalized on their chances.

Don't Discount Hogan in 1961 National Open

It Was Oakland Hills Where Ben Posted His Greatest Triumph

At an age where play in other competitive sports is almost nonexistent, Ben Hogan must still figure in the 1961 United States Golf Association Open championship at Oakland Hills, June 15-17.

Oakland Hills was the scene of Hogan's greatest triumph over a course.

He didn't play as if he were fighting Bobby Locke, Clayton Heffner or Sam Snead or anyone else with a bag of clubs. He played against the course that had just been restyled by Robert Trent Jones — heavily trapped with tight fairways.

Two years later, after winning the British Open at Carnoustie, Hogan was asked if the Scottish course was the toughest he had played.

"No, it was Oakland Hills," Hogan quickly answered.

Ben started the morning round in 1951 five strokes behind South Africa's Locke. At the end of 54 holes he was two strokes behind Locke. Then he turned in a 67, one of only two sub-par 70 rounds in the tournament, to win. "I finally brought the monster to its knees," Hogan said at the trophy presentation.

The Hogan who won the 1951 Open, his third of four, was just two months short of 32. Unfortunately, Ben hasn't been able to stay at 29 like Jack Benny. He will be 49 in August. The oldest man to win an Open was Ted Ray, who was 43 when he did it in 1920.

So what about the Hogan of 1961?

"The swing is still there," says Oakland Hills pro Al Watrous, three-time PGA Seniors champion himself. "Ben has too much pride to just be a contestant."

It's not sentiment. In the last 11 years Hogan has played in 10 Opens. He withdrew from the 1957 event at Inverness because of a neuralgia attack.

In the 19 he played, his lowest finish was a tie for 10th in 1958 at Southern Hills. Hogan won three times, lost a playoff to Jack Fleck, tied for second, was third, tied for sixth and twice tied for fifth.

Hogan has had difficulty in his short pants lately — he just can't seem to take the putter back. At the 1960 PGA championship he failed to get a birdie on the 18th hole in his brilliant career. But from tee to green, Hogan's game still is flawless.

Top Pros to Bowl in Classic, May 18

DALLAS, Tex., (AP)—Most of the nation's top bowlers will be here May 18-20 for the All-American Classic.

The Professional Bowlers Association, which is directing the tour, today announced a partial list of the 114 who will roll in the $24,000 tournament.

GRAPEFRUIT WINNER—Don Mossi of the Detroit Tigers is showing no effects of the arm injury which sidelined him last season. Mossi received credit for his 4th Grapefruit Circuit victory yesterday as the Tigers defeated the Cincinnati Redlegs, 7-5. He pitched seven innings.

No Prep 'Sudden Death'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Three or players on the bench for heck major rules changes have been long, stomping, throwing towels or made by the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada.

The committee Tuesday also directed officials to penalize coaches.

The major changes, recommended last week by the National Association of Basketball Coaches, were:

1—Eliminate free throws when a foul is called against an offensive player who has an offensive foul. The defensive team will get the ball out of bounds.

2—Stop the clock after every violation. That will give coaches more chances to make substitutions. Under the old rule substitutions could be made only when the ball was dead or the clock was stopped.

3—Create a neutral zone along the free throw line to separate the first and second players by 12 inches when lining up for free throws. The buffer zone is intended to lessen shoving and jockeying for position on rebounds.

The committee also decided to allow coaches to signal players for time out or to give other instructions.

At the center jump circle, a jumper will have to have only one foot in or on the circle, instead of both feet as in the past.

The "sudden death" play in deadlocked high school games was eliminated. Now the teams will use as many three-minute overtime sessions as needed to break a tie.

Tiger Catcher Helps 7-5 Win Over Redlegs

Don Mossi Is Credited With 4th Grapefruit Pitching Victory

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — It probably is nothing more than a false promise of spring, but all of a sudden Detroit Tiger catcher Harry Chiti has become something of a hitter.

Chiti, who hit .163 in 37 games for the Tigers last season, is the closest thing to a Major League backupstop on the club's roster, a situation that has not exactly sent "ner officials into ecstasy.

But recently Chiti began clubbing the ball with authority and yesterday he house run and a single helped Detroit gain a 7-5 exhibition victory over the Cincinnati Reds.

Chiti also walked twice and has now reached base nine successive times. If the streak continues, he is certain to beat Dick Brown and Mike Roarke for the opening day assignment behind the plate. Rocky Colavito and Steve Boreas also belted homers for Detroit and the heavy artillery paid off as the Tigers were outbatted by the Reds, 19-8.

Southpaw Don Mossi hurled seven innings and gave up four runs and seven hits. His Grapefruit League record is now 4-0.

While Chiti's efforts may have lessened manager Bob Schepke's catching worries, his shortstop problem seems to be steadily mounting.

Chico Fernandez, last year's regular shortstop, was benched yesterday for lackadaisical play and Scheffing hinted that Chuck Cotler may start at the position when the club opens the regular season April 11.

The Tigers travel to St. Petersburg today for their first meeting of the exhibition season with the New York Yankees.

Montreal Evens Series With Hawks

CHICAGO (AP) — Having accomplished their goal of "winning one in Chicago," the weary and wounded Montreal Canadiens went home today with high hopes of winning their semifinal Stanley Cup series with the Chicago Black Hawks.

The Canadiens put on an amazing exhibition of skating Tuesday night before a crowd of 16,000 in defeating the Hawks 5-2 and squaring the series at two games each.

The Canadiens did it without the help of Bernie Boom Boon Geoffrion, the league's leading scorer who was sidelined with a knee injury. He is expected to return to action Saturday.

Led by Dickie Moore and Bob Hicke with two goals each, the Canadiens scored twice in the first period and twice in the second in the game marked by roughhouse tactics.

Some 13 minutes had elapsed in the first period when Elmer Vasko of Chicago and Marcel Bonin of Montreal got into a squabble which resulted in a total of 40 minutes of penalties for the two players.

Books fell on top of Vasko and started punching the Chicago defense. At no time at all, every player on the ice except the goalies was in the traces.

Referee Ed Powers managed to restore order but Bonin and Vasko mixed it up again with Vasko getting the best of the second match. Each drew a five minute penalty for fighting. Bonin was also assessed two 10-minute misconduct penalties and Vasko was tagged with one 10-minute misconduct penalty.

The Canadiens wasted little time in taking the lead. Phil Goyette trickled in a goal at 4:02 of the series resumes in Montreal Saturday with the sixth game of the series hit goalie Glen Hall's stick and bounded in.

The Hawks tied it up 2-2 seconds later on a 35-foot shot by Dollard St. Laurent, but before the period ended, Moore hammered home his first goal with less than three minutes to play, putting Montreal ahead to stay.

"We did what we had to do," said Montreal Coach Toe Blake, "and that was to win a game in Chicago."

BACK INJURY—Clyde Lovellette of the St. Louis Hawks is attended by physical therapist Bob Hickok in a St. Louis hospital for treatment of a back injury he suffered in Monday's playoff game against the Los Angeles Lakers. The Hawks hold a 3-2 edge on the Hawks in their playoff series.

Houston Favored to Repeat Win in Golf Meet

HOUSTON (AP)—The seventh annual All-America inter-collegiate golf tournament starts today with Oklahoma State University expected to give Houston the most serious challenge for the team title. The 20 teams play 72 holes at Pine Forest Country Club on a 6,710-yard, par 72 course.

Dave Williams, who has coached national champion Houston to five straight NCAA team championships, says the Cowpokes from Stillwater are the team to beat.

In addition to Oklahoma State and the Big Eight, the teams include Yale, the Eastern Intercollegiate champion; Louisiana State, Southeastern Conference champion, and Texas A&M, the Southwest Conference winner.

Arizona State failed to show and as a replacement Williams invited Texas Wesleyan, which finished second in the border Olympic meet this spring.

Doug Sanders Must Share With Palmer

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Doug Sanders had the strongest finish—a 6-under-par 66—but he had to share top spot with Arnold Palmer in the 36-hole, $10,000 Seminole golf tournament.

Palmer matched Sanders' two-day total of 138 by shooting a 67 on the last 18 holes Tuesday. They each netted $800, but Palmer picked up $300 more as a finalist in the Eastern Intercollegiate tournament.

Tom Nieporte, first-day leader with a 69, dropped into a five-way tie for third place and $300 prize money.

Palmer's amateur partner was Gay F. Kämmer of Grosse Pointe, Mich. Their best ball score was 65-61-138.

White Sox Hurling Continues Revival

By The Associated Press

The Chicago White Sox pitching staff, which cost the club the American League pennant last year according to Manager Al Lopez, is fast erasing the memory of the Sox's worst finish in 11 years as a major league skipper.

Southpaw Billy Pierce wiped out another hunt Tuesday in a 3-1 exhibition victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers as he limited the National League to two hits in a six-inning workout and became the fourth White Sox starter in succession to hurl low-hit ball.

Pierce's performance followed similar outings by Early Wynn, Frank Baumann and Herb Score, key members of the mound corps that also includes such proven holdovers as Bob Shaw, Turk

Low and Gerry Staley, along with newcomers Cal McLish and Juan Pizarro.

And the pitching must do it for the 1959 pennant-winners, says Lopez, who blames last year's third-place finish on the staff.

Wynn led the league in winning, felding and stolen bases, says the Sox. "So it must have been the pitching," McManish of the St. Louis Cardinals, who has lost ace right-hander Larry Jackson for at least a month with a fractured jaw, got a boost when replacement Al Cotto combined with Art Kay and Mickey McDermott to shut out Milwaukee 1-0 on four hits.

Pittsburgh right-hander Bob Friend also turned in an outstanding job as he went the distance, scattering eight hits in a 9-2 triumph over the New York Yankees and gaining a measure of revenge for the two losses he suffered in last year's World Series.

In other games, San Francisco edged Boston 3-1, Minnesota ripped Philadelphia 3-2, Baltimore beat Kansas City 8-7 in 11 innings, Detroit defeated Cincinnati 7-5 and Washington whittled the Reds 3-1.

The Cleveland-Los Angeles game was rained out.

Roy Sievers drove in two White Sox runs and that was all Pierce and reliever Russ Kemmerer needed to snap the Dodgers' seven-game winning streak. Jim Gilliam accounted for the Los Angeles run with a RBI single in the seventh.

A single by Hal Smith, an error and Bill White's wind-blown double in the fifth brought across the Sox's only score as the Cards whipped the Braves with the unearned tally. Carl Willey and Don McMahon spun a six-hitter for Milwaukee.

Dick Stuart's homer with one aboard and Roberto Clemente's solo shot gave Friend the support he required while becoming the first Pirate pitcher to go the route. Roger Maris homered for the Yankees, mired in the exhibition cellar with a 6-13 record.

Home runs by Bob Schmidt and Felipe Alou backed Sam Jones' three-hit pitching in a seven-inning stint for the Giants' victory over the Red Sox. Harmon Killebrew's one-on-rounder tripped in the ninth before the Twins from behind against the Phils.

Ran Hansen's fourth single drove in the clincher for the Orioles in their extra-inning struggle with the A's. Homers by Steve Berns, Rocky Colavito and Harry Chitt powered the Tigers to their win over the Reds, who got circuit blasts from Ed Kaske and Wally Poff.

Bellamy Leads West All-Stars

Indiana Star Scores 21 in 103-100 Victory Over East

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The West, hitting half its shots and dominating the backboards, defeated the East 103-100 in the annual Shrine All-Star basketball game Tuesday night.

Wait Bellamy, Indiana's 6-foot-10 great, and Kansas' Bill Bridges led the winning attack with 22 points apiece although four other West players carried their share of the scoring.

Gary Phillips of Houston scored 20, Tom Meschery of St. Mary's (Calif.) 16, Cedric of Kansas State 13 and Bill Melnick of California 9.

The West, coached by young Sharn Scheurman of Iowa, led 52-51 at the half and there was never more than a 6-point spread in the spectacular shooting contest.

Trailing by 5 points, with little more than a minute remaining, Bob Wiesenhan of Cincinnati and Larry Siegfried of Ohio State each hit for the East to narrow the count to one point. But Phillips made two free throws to settle matters.

Tom Stith, St. Bonaventure's great scorer, led the East with 20 points. Siegfried scored 17. Tony Jackson of Ohio State each hit for the East to narrow the count to one point. But Phillips made two free throws to settle matters.

Monte Carlo Winner

MONTE CARLO (AP)—Gardner Mulloy of Coral Gables, Fla., defeated Christian Duxin of France 74-60 in a second-round match of the annual Cup of Monaco Tennis Tournament Tuesday.

Nobody Wins House Chamber Deer Herd Debate

Whistling Swans Use Oakland Area Lakes

By DON VOGEL
Outdoor Editor, Pontiac Press

Those giant, white geese with black bills and legs visiting our area lakes in the last week aren't geese. They are migrating flocks of whistling swans.

First reports of this fowl with the rather mournful honking voice, came from Kensington Metropolitan Park 15 days ago. The swans were holding forth on Kent Lake.

About 50 swans spent a few days at Seymour Lake. Mrs. Peter Netzer, who lives on the east side of the Brandon Township lake, said the swans arrived about noon last Friday.

Since then, whistling swans have been reported near Lake Orion.

Many flights of geese have been observed passing over the county. Most of the flocks are Canada geese. But Thurmond Sauvage of Orionville reports that a good number of swans spent an afternoon and evening on Lake Louise.

More geese were seen on Watkins Lake by Frank Spraker. People should have little difficulty distinguishing between a snow goose and a swan. The latter is much larger, has a longer neck, and black bill and feet. The snow geese has black wing tips, a pink or orange bill and face, and reddish-orange legs.

Both species pass through Michigan in the spring and fall, going to and coming from the Arctic breeding grounds.

A trip along the Ohio turnpike last weekend disclosed hundreds of ducks on the many man-made ponds and small lakes along this roadway.

These ducks are en route north and thousands will be stopping in the Oakland County area for a few days. The drakes are in full plumage and all fly together. The females stay in one group. When the flights pour into the Canadian breeding grounds, the ducks pair off and set up housekeeping.

Many ducks, particularly mallards and teal, remain in Michigan through the summer.

Along with the waterfowl, song birds are moving into Michigan. Some have already started building nests.

A drive around the lakes or a walk in the woods at this time of year discloses the wonders of nature in all its spring glory.

LAWYER-FISHERMEN SCORES AGAIN
Appearing in local book stores lately is a book that should appeal to any die-hard trout fishermen.

"Trout Madness," by Robert Traver (St. Martin's Press, $4.95) is a lightly written and humorous work on trout fishing in the Upper Peninsula. Described in its pages are the angling experiences of a north woods lawyer.

This member of the bar eventually became a justice of the State Supreme Court. Robert Traver is the pen name used by John D. Voelker, who resigned from the high bench to devote his time to writing (mostly about trout fishing) and trying to get a brookie to live for his files.

NO MORE ALASKAN GRIZZLY RECORDS
Boone & Crockett Club, official keeper of North American big game records, has eliminated the Alaskan grizzly bear from its files. In its place will be a record for the brown bear class (genus ursus), covering Alaskan brown bears and grizzlies as one animal. A problem in distinguishing between the two is the reason.

Western United States grizzlies, however, will stay on the books.

Spring 'Madness' Will Begin Soon

By United Press International
Michigan, at various seasons of the year, is stricken with many kinds of outdoor madness but the maddest of all is about to get under way.

Sometime within the next couple of weeks a small boy perching from a bridge near the mouth of a Michigan stream, close by where it pours into Lake Huron, or Michigan, will see a flash of silver in the murky water.

Within minutes flocks of silver will be dancing from bank to bank of the stream and the boy will run to spread the word, "The smelt is running."

Osmerus is a big family of fish. It includes trout, salmon and char as well as the lovely smelt. While each of these is the object of its own breed of madness, the smallest member of the family causes the oddest behavior.

All members of the family have a trait which contributes to smelt madness, a drive that sends them dashing heading upstream to spawn.

When the rush is on in the spring, generally in early April, the banks of spawning streams on both peninsulas are lined with "fishermen" armed with dip nets and buckets and rods and cranks to hold their catch.

The activity continues day and night as long as the millions of smelt are in the water, and their spawning run. Tons of them are pulled from the water with every kind of "dipper."

Smelt have carved a place for themselves in recent years as a food fish and are highly esteemed by some. Smelt fries have become very popular and several Michigan cities sponsor smelt festivals.

High on the list are the Escanaba and the smelt meals at Mackinac City, Tawas City, Oscoda, Harrisville, Alpena and Rogers City are key smelt towns on Lake Huron.

On Lake Michigan the Charlevoix area, the Leelanau peninsula, Frankfort, Manistee, Ludington and Peninsular all make smelt areas but there is some less activity on Lake Michigan water than on Lake Huron.

The north shore of Lake Michigan, especially the Bay De Noc area, furnishes a number of smelt spawning streams and there is activity in Lake Superior streams but the general remoteness of many of them cuts most activity there to local fishermen.

The fish taken by dipping are normally between six and 10 inches long. Cleaning them for cooking is a simple task consisting mainly of cutting off the heads and sitting them open to clear the body cavity.

They can be fried in oil, with or without breading, or in butter. In some areas they are also pickled in the manner of herring or smoked or dried.

Since the introduction of ultralight spin tackle some sportsmen have tried taking smelt on spinners with some success. Action is fast and furious when the fish can be induced to bite.

There is no size limit or possession limit on smelt and about the only thing to bear in mind is that designated trout waters are off limits until April 22.

The law provides that hand nets not more than five feet in circumference, with or without handles, may be used on designated waters from March 1 to May 21.

A list of such waters is available at any conservation office.

Ron's Sunoco Wins 'B' Playoff Crown

Ron's Sunoco added the Waterford recreation league Class B playoff championship to its regular season crown last night by whipping Johnson & Anderson, 66-44.

Frostop ended Drayton Drugs, 66-62, in overtime for the lower division 'B' crown.

Jim Robinson and Bill Crow each scored 17 points to lead Ron's to its easy triumph. Tom Goff tossed in 10 points for the losers.

Drayton Drug blew a 37-point lead before regulation time ran out with the teams tied 60-60. Pat Mullin with 20 points and Armand with 20 topped the winners. Wayne Zilke threw in 15 for Drayton.

Over 400 Hear Opposing Views on Management

Experts, Hunters Give Testimony; 2 Measures Are Considered

LANSING (AP) — The battle of the Michigan deer herd hit a peak last night when hunters and conservationists from every corner of the state argued for three hours over who should decide what deer can be shot.

More than 400 persons crowded the gallery and floor of the House chamber for a hearing on two bills to weaken or wipe out the State Conservation Department's authority to manage the deer herd.

Nobody won the argument and the fate of the two bills is still in doubt. But some three dozen witnesses, ranging from ordinary hunters to top-ranking game experts, gave the House conservation committee the benefit of their opinions.

The turnout was the largest for any legislative hearing this year, considerably bigger than the audience at a recent hearing on bills to revamp the state tax structure.

One bill, introduced by Rep. Walter G. Nakula, R-Clinton, would empower county boards of supervisors to veto antlerless deer season set by the Conservation Department under its program to keep the deer and their food supply in balance.

The other, co-sponsored by 29 house members, would strip the Conservation Department of all its deer management authority, turning it over to the legislature.

County-by-county vote would return game management "to the horse and buggy days," said said C. R. Gutermuth of Washington, D. C., vice president of the Wildlife Management Institute.

"It is going to be a sorrowful day when vociferous minorities are permitted to prevent the technical knowledge that has been developed over the years for improved management of our wildlife resources," he said.

The big majority of organizations represented at the hearing voiced support for the department. Dissenters, however, were numerous.

Tom Buzo of Baldwin, representing the Greater Michigan Conservation League, told the committee that the department's deer program "can only lead to a vicious cycle of herd decimation."

John Van Patten, representing the Inland County board of supervisors, predicted that 100,000 of last year's 450,000 deer hunters won't buy licenses this year because of a decline in shooting success from 1959. This, he said, would seriously damage local tourist business.

Lavern Bowman, of Gladwin, vice president of the Titabawassee Conservation League, accused the department of spreading "conceivable lies and a distorted picture of the deer situation." In his area, he said, deer are far less plentiful than in earlier years.

Strong support for the department management program came from such organizations as the Michigan Bow Hunters Association, the National Wildlife Federation, the Michigan Grange, the department of fisheries and wildlife at Michigan State University, the Michigan Farm and Garden Club, the Michigan Humane Society and the Michigan Bear Hunters Association.

Paul Wendler, president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, said the 335 member clubs voted overwhelmingly to back the department.

"Deer management by emotion has no place in wildlife management today; it should be left to scientists," said Dr. John D. Bulger, representing the National Wildlife Federation.

Mrs. Jean Renard of Detroit, legislative chairman for the Farm and Garden Club, suggested that had hunting weather last November cut the deer all sharply, "Lansing would be hunters increased noticeably, however," she added.

Maurice G. Frakes of Saginaw, president of the Bear Hunters Association, contended that veto powers in the hands of supervisors or deer hunting "make about as much sense as allowing them to veto the department of agriculture or the highway department if their programs do not conform to their own duties or prejudices."

WORLD CHAMPION — Jim Caspers of Racine, Wis., last year archery champion, will demonstrate his shooting ability Saturday at the annual archers banquet at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Local Lawmaker Introduces Plan To Clean Lakes

LANSING (AP) — A plan to clean up Michigan's inland lakes topped conservation bills introduced into the legislature in the final rush of measures proposed for passage in the 1961 session.

The bill would make it possible for county boards of supervisors or two-thirds of the landowners on a public lake to create special assessment districts to dredge and remove debris from the lake.

The State Conservation Department also could petition supervisors for a clean-up on behalf of the state.

The measure was introduced by Rep. Lloyd Anderson, R-Pontiac, chairman of a House committee studying problems of inland lakes. He also sponsored a measure that would empower the State Conservation Department to require permits for construction of commercial or industrial docks on inland waters and the connecting waters of the Great Lakes.

Rep. Hans Rasmussen, R-Ludington, proposed that scheduling of mink and raccoon trapping seasons be placed in the hands of the State Conservation Commission. Seasons would coincide with the muskrat trapping season, already controlled by the commission.

Milford Man First in OCSC Trap Shoot

Robert Floyd of Milford was one of the winners Sunday in a special trap shoot at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

Floyd posted an 83x100 in the handicap event, shooting from 20 yards. He was tied by Rita Picot, of Flint, the only woman in the field of 40, who stood at the 18-yard mark.

Clay Montgomery, president of the Michigan Trap Shooter's Association, won the 16-yard event with a 91x100. David Worster of Pontiac was runner-up with 88x100.

High winds hampered the shooters and was the main reason for the low scoring, according to OCSC officials.

Sturgeon Get Special Attention This Spring

INDIAN RIVER — Spawning sturgeon will get special treatment during construction of two highway bridges across the Indian River near here.

From mid-May to mid-June, the spawning period for sturgeon, there will be no concrete poured below water on the two Interstate 75 bridges.

Until yesterday, the State Highway Department had planned to divert the river for about a mile of here while workers excavated muck in the river bed at the point where the two bridges will cross.

State Conservation authorities, however, decided that the muck and mair from the excavation would not interfere with spawning sturgeon.

The Highway Department said the excavation will be done this week.

World Champion to Be Speaker at Saturday Night Banquet

A state championship match, a demonstration by a world champion and a banquet will be the highlights for archery enthusiasts Saturday at the Oakland County Sportsmen's Club.

The OCSC shooters will participate against archery clubs from other areas in Michigan for the state final round championship.

A banquet at the club grounds will conclude the day's activities. Jim Caspers of Racine, Wis., world archery champion, will be the main speaker. He will demonstrate the technique that won him the championship.

OCSC archers recently won state Chicago round titles in both instinctive and freestyle divisions.

Saturday's shoot will be held in the new range house. The event is open to the public.

Trout Unlimited Urges Planting Program Cutback

BIG RAPIDS (AP) — Trout Unlimited, a sportsmen's group devoted to improved trout fishing, believes the State Conservation Department should decrease trout plantings and put more money into research and stream improvements.

Its stand was discussed before about 60 persons, including conservation commissioner George Griffith, as guests of secretary-treasurer John Keen. Trout Unlimited started in Michigan but has spread its interests to at least five other states.

The organization claims the maximum harvest from about two million legal size trout planted each year in Michigan is about 1.5 per cent. The remainder die or are destroyed.

It further claims much is wasted in plantings over about 15,000 miles of Michigan streams since more than one-third of that range is rated poor to unfit and another third is rated only average.

Hardesty Featured in New Fish Movie

World champion caster Ben Hardesty will star in a new movie about fishing in South America.

The movie was made while the Bloomfield Township angler traveled through Chile and Argentina. These countries are noted for their excellent trout fishing.

The 16mm film is scheduled for release about July.

It will be distributed by the public relations division of GMC Truck and Coach in Pontiac. The Shagpeers Company cooperated in the making of color and sound movie.

Basic Disagreement Remains

JFK Axes One Fiscal Uncertainty

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the many uncertainties that have plagued business so far this year is now removed.

Business knows today what the Kennedy administration proposes to spend in the next fiscal year—$100 billion. With defense spending added in, it would mean a deficit of more than $4 billion.

Business (prospering or declining), labor (employed or jobless), probably line up in one of three camps:

1. Those who feel that any departure from strict pay-as-you-go federal financing is bad for the economy because it can be a seedbed for inflation. This cuts the purchasing power of the dollar.

2. Those who feel that present economic conditions don't call for all the measures that would contribute to that $4 billion plus deficit. They hold the budget can be brought closer to balance and the majority be the better off for it.

3. Those who feel that the benefits proposed will, as the President contends, foster greater economic growth and thus more than pay for themselves.

Among businessmen there will also be a sizable group who are just plain relieved that the President's proposals don't add up to more than they do. Until the budget was spelled out guesses on the size of the deficit ran all the way from just a little to a real whopper.

The President broke the deficit to the nation in two steps. First he offered a budget with defective items left out. This would call for an excess of spending over receipts in the fiscal year starting July 1 of about $3.2 billion.

Tuesday he dropped the other shoe—a defense budget of $43.8 billion. Since this would be $1.9 billion more than the Eisenhower budget proposed, it would add to the total Treasury deficit by that amount. The Treasury would thus end up $4.1 billion in the red.

While business now knows what the President proposes, it doesn't know what the Congress will finally lay appropriate. Especially, business will be kept on the uneasy seat while Congress debates how much to spend for this and that item.

For it is these specific orders that often spell increased or declined profits for individual companies who would like to supply them. And the specific appropriations, since they mean orders for individual firms or whole industries, also go a long way in determining how many and what kind of workers will get jobs—or, lacking the orders, maybe even be laid off.

Steve McQueen Starts Digging for Movie Gold

By THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Notes and comment: Steve McQueen has laid down that hefty shooting iron and is prospecting for movie gold. Prospects are good.

McQueen made fine impressions in "Never 108"

"Few" and "The Magnificent Seven," but his film career was stalled by his involvement with "Wanted Dead or Alive" on TV. Now the series is dead and he can take movie offers, which are many.

Right now he's doing his first comedy, "The Honeycomb Machine," for MGM. Then he moves to Paramount for a war film, "Hell Is For Heroes," with Bobby Darin, Bud Newhart, Fred Parker and Harry Guardino.

What killed "Wanted Dead or Alive?"

"The Trend," says McQueen. "The half-hour Western is pretty dead now." Also, he said that the show was pulled out of its comfy Saturday night slot and sent to "death row" on Wednesday.

Marton Brando claims he, never reads anything about himself. But he's reversing himself and asking for the "One-Eyed Jacks" reviews. Fortunately, they're mostly good.

Carl Sandburg says there's no feud between him and Robert Frost, despite printed reports. "We have differed in the past," Sandburg said of his fellow octogenarian, "but I wrote a poem in praise of Frost which you'll find in my collected poetry. It still goes."

Alec Guinness says he won't do a film version of "Ross," the play about T. E. Lawrence he did in London. This should relieve producer Sam Spiegel, who is planning a Lawrence epic.

"Two pictures about Lawrence would be confusing, like the Oscar Wild film," Guinness said. "Besides, I'm too old to be getting on and off camels."

First of the Academy contenders for 1961 is "A Raisin in the Sun." The film is bound to stir up controversy, but not about the excellence of the acting and the fidelity of the writing.

Juliet Prowse is going to dance in the Academy Award show despite her suspension by 20th-Fox. "They can't stop me from making a free appearance," she says.

Special Vendor Licenses to Aid Centennial Fund

To add to centennial revenues, the City Commission last night authorized the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission to handle licensing of all special vendors, except those dealing in food, during the June 17-24 celebration period. Vendors of such items as balloons and other festive paraphernalia will bid high for the exclusive vending rights, City Manager Walter K. Willman pointed out.

The centennial commission, explained, will be able to sell vending rights at high prices, passing on to the city the usual license fees.

In the long run, the city stands to benefit from the arrangements since all centennial revenues eventually will be used to pay back the city for its $50,000 advance to finance the centennial.

State to Probe Insurance Pact

Royal Oak Firm and Another Complain Michigan Worker Plea

LANSONG by Gov. Swain said today he has ordered investigation into charges of irregularities in the awarding of a $3 million life insurance contract to a firm with 31,000 state employees.

The complaints were registered by Federal Life and Casualty Insurance Co. of Battle Creek, Michigan Life Insurance Co., and the Michigan State Police to the Civil Service Commission.

Franklin DeWald, State Civil Service director, denied them.

The civil service commission awarded the contract to United Benefit Insurance Co. of Omaha, Neb., which was the low bidder among 24 companies seeking the contract.

The program will go into operation July 1, with employees and dependents of the state.

John Panchuk, secretary a general counsel of Federal Life and Casualty, asserted that the company actually submitted the lowest bid for the policy on employees it concerned.

First Candidate for Delegation

Richard C. Van Duse on 1956 Slate for GC Makes Con-Con Bid

Oakland County has its first announced candidate for constitutional convention delegate in Richard C. Van Dusen, 35-year-old Bingham Farms attorney. He was 1956 Republican candidate for attorney general.

Van Dusen today announced candidacy to seek the Republican nomination from the county's fourth legislative district — Michigan voters approve the convention in Monday's election.

"The job of delegate to the convention will be as important as a political office as Michigan voters have to offer for some time," said Van Dusen, who has been mentioned frequently in some GOP circles as a possible gubernatorial candidate.

Should state voters approve on Monday, a primary election is expected to be held July 2 to nominate one Republican and one Democrat from each of the state's legislative and senatorial districts.

Oakland County would then Sept. 12 choose six legislative council delegates and one senate delegate to a convention which would sit Oct. 3.

Van Dusen, of 32305 Bingham Road, is a practicing Detroit attorney with the firm of Dickson, Wright, McKean & Cullen.

He served Oakland County's District as state representative two terms from 1952 through 1956 when he unsuccessfully for statewide office. He has not a candidate since.

He said he has "long supported a constitutional convention" and has been a member of the board of directors of Citizens for Michigan, which is spearheading the drive.

Sewage Plant Plans to Be Seen in Week

The city's next big construction job—the $3.5-million sewage treatment plant expansion—is proceeding fast on the heels of the new Civic Center firehall.

City Manager Walter K. Williams told city commissioners last night that inspection plans were ready for inspection next Tuesday night.

Representative of Jones, Henry and Williams, the city's consulting engineers, will meet with commissioners at 7 p.m. to go over latest revisions in the 3-year-old project, he said.

If plans are approved, the commission should ask for construction bids as soon as possible, man said.

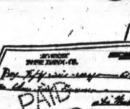

Under the court order in Clinton River politics, the bids must have 15 to 20 construction contracts.

It is anticipated that the will finance construction through general obligation bonds, Mr. Williams says the commission, however, cannot issue bonds out a public vote.

The order, issued by the Court Judge Stanton G. Doran last November at the request the water resources commission says will be expanded facilities curb pollution must be operated by June 1, 1963.

Parochial School Problem

Toucky Tax Handed JFK

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON: President Kennedy, who has been having his troubles with certain hierarchs of the Roman Catholic Church, is being handed another red-hot religious controversy by Democratic Rep. Roman Pucinski.

The Catholic congressman has asked Kennedy's newly appointed commissioner of internal revenue to rule that parents who send their children to parochial schools can deduct the tuition from their income taxes.

Unless Commissioner Mortimer M. Capin, a member of the Jewish faith, rules in favor of the proposal, Pucinski says he will drop a bill into the legislative hopper immediately after the Easter recess, and push for passage ahead of the administration's school aid bill.

Pucinski, a former Chicago newspaperman, said he has information that Capin, until recently a distinguished professor of taxation and corporate law at the University of Virginia, has already consulted President Kennedy about the toucky problem.

The congressman argues that since the founding days of the republic, rules in favor of the church and should be tax deductible, like their religious contributions.

"If the President is right that we cannot give federal aid to parochial schools because of the constitutional insistence of separation of church and state," Pucinski said "then we must conclude that tuition to Catholic schools is actually a church contribution, and thereby tax exempt."

ANNOYED AT CARDINAL. Kennedy has let it be known that he is more than a little annoyed at Cardinal Spellman and other high ranking churchmen, who flatly oppose his school aid bill unless Catholic schools are given long-term, low interest rate government loans.

Kennedy, our first Catholic president, has vigorously campaigned in support of the traditional concept of separation of church and state.

He has since hinted broadly that he feels some of the Catholic hierarchs who opposed his election are deliberately trying to embarrass him by pushing the church-school issue at this time.

Pucinski denies that he is trying to put the President on the spot with his novel proposal. The sponsor of last year's defeated school aid amendment which have provided 40-year loans to parochial schools at 3 1/2 per cent interest says he prefers his new measure exempting tuition from income tax.

In support of his measure, Pucinski points out that six million American children are in private and parochial schools. This is roughly fifteen per cent of the entire school-age population. If Catholic schools were suddenly abolished, billions of dollars would have to be appropriated to take care of the added load for public schools.

The Illinois congressman argues that unless the tuition can be written off, Catholic parents are paying double taxation by supporting both public and private schools.

Since this has been going on since the founding days of the republic, however, President Kennedy is reportedly wondering why Catholic churchmen and legislators waited until he captured the White House to pressure for change.

He has been leaning over backwards to avoid showing any favoritism, legislatively, to his own religion, so he naturally cringes at the thought of such headlines as:

"Kennedy administration rules Catholic school tuition tax exempt."

Pucinski is not going to let the administration off the hook with a mere "yes" or "no" answer, however. He has asked Caplin to set forth the conditions under which the tuition could be deductible.

The congressman stands ready to suggest that bishops simply assess their parishioners the equivalent of the tuition they would pay. The schools would then be free, and church donations are already tax-exempt.

Rooming-House Fire Fatal to Three Men

NEW YORK (AP)—Three men died early today in a fire which raced through a four-story rooming house in the Chelsea section of Manhattan. Five residents and two firemen were injured.

The blaze, which Chief Fire Marshal Martin Scott said apparently was caused by a tenant smoking in bed, burned out the rear of the rooming house.

It spread to the roof of an adjoining West 20th Street rooming house—the one in which the battered body of Edith Klercorius, 4, was found Feb. 26 after a massive search.

There is an Overcup Oak tree in the Ouchita river bottoms of Arkansas more than 16 feet in circumference and nearly 100 feet tall—the largest of its type in the United States.

The Agonies of the Cross Couldn't Stay Christ's Love

(Editor's Note: At first glance Christ's love seems to be the two persons he loved most. But there is a deeper meaning in a profound statement of the churchman finds a lesson for each of us in the story of the two persons who loved Christ's last message.)
By THE REV. DR. EUGENE CARSON BLAKE
Written for Associated Press
"Woman, behold thy son... behold thy mother."
Unlike the other words which fell from the lips of Jesus in those last hours of his earthly life, this one—directed to his beloved mother and his equally beloved disciple—appears, at first glance, to have no deep religious or theological implications.

It has to do only with the future care of his mother and his friend, which, although important, seems in itself, to be almost an aside and quite apart from the profound insights of the other utterances from the cross.
And yet, we make a grave mistake if we question too seriously the apparent private and personal word uttered amid those other words of universal import. For, certainly, a prime insight of the Christian gospel is this: The relationship between any two human beings is always of universal significance.

Recall the event. Three men are being executed. One of them is Jesus of Nazareth. A group of people is watching; some grieving, others—less mourning.

Among the mourners, at a little distance from the foot of the cross Jesus sees standing together the two whom he loved most intimately in all the world: A woman and a man, his mother and his most beloved disciple, John.

State Senate Gives OK to Wider Benefits, Softer Eligibility

LANSING (UPI)—Recipients of medical assistance for the aged under a federal program implemented last year were half way toward liberalized benefits today.

The State Senate unanimously adopted a measure Tuesday that would ease eligibility requirements and broaden benefits to include home nursing and nursing home care.

Sen. Lloyd A. Stephens, R-Southville, sponsor of the measure, said the number of eligible persons would nearly double under the new plan.

Eligibility requirements under the Medicare plan, adopted by the legislature in special session last year, were eased to permit married couples to have $2,500 in liquid assets instead of $2,000 and still come under the program.

The addition of nursing care, which was left out in a compromise move at the special session, drew out of hearings by a joint legislative committee which Stephens headed.

Approve Plans for Fire Hall at Civic Center

City Commission OKs Bid Invitations; Will Open Them April 18

By PETE LOCHBILER

Offered cost estimates within their price ceiling, City commissioners last night approved final plans for the new Civic Center fire hall and authorized an invitation for construction bids.

To be opened April 18, the bids will go to the commission for final approval seven days later in hopes that groundbreaking can get under way soon afterward.

Architects' representatives were optimistic construction costs would fall within the $75,000 budget.

They estimated the costs at $37,000. The usual 5 per cent architects' fee accounts for the rest.

In addition, City Manager Walter K. Willman said, the city expects to spend $25,000 equipping the new building.

This does not include any major fire-fighting equipment, although a new ambulance to replace the present inhalator truck was provided for in this year's equipment replacement budget.

Thomas H. Hewlett and George K. Harris of the Birmingham firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Lockenbach said the two-story building of brick and limestone is designed to fit in architecturally with the other Civic Center buildings.

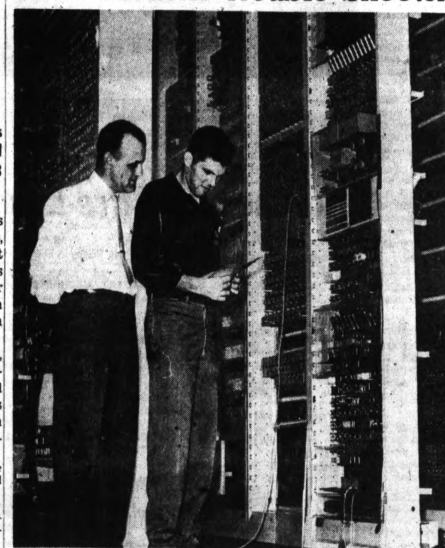

The new hall, replacing the 1867 building at the corner of Perry and Pine Streets, would perch on the hill across Pine Street from the Public Safety Building.

Plans call for an L-shaped building, with second-floor living quarters above the garage, and basement training areas under the administrative wing.

Cupping the building like a giant chimney would be a tower for the drying of firehoses.

Would Include 25-Year Loan Insurance Plan

Increased Budget Aims at Sprucing Up Older Cities, Aiding Aged

From Our News Wires

WASHINGTON — President Kennedy sent Congress today a $3.2-billion housing bill to spruce up older cities and help low income and elderly families get better quality homes.

The money would be spent over 40 years, but most of it by 1970.

For fiscal 1962, which starts July 1, it would add about $30 million to the $728 million in housing outlays budgeted by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

A surprise item in Kennedy's bill is a proposal for government insurance of 25-year home-improvement loans as a new way of rebuilding rundown neighborhoods with federal funds.

Many of the items in today's bill were spelled out in Kennedy's special housing message to Congress.

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy will not begin his Easter vacation in Florida before Thursday at the earliest, The White House said today. There had been indications Kennedy might leave tonight.

March 9. However, only a vague hint was given then of the far-reaching character of the improvement-loan proposal.

The 25-year loan would carry a maximum interest rate of 6 per cent and could total up to $10,000 per family living unit.

Present improvement loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration run for only five years, carry a rate of 8 1/2 per cent and are subject to $3,500 ceiling.

Improvement funds could be advanced in the form of first or second mortgages or other types of loans and would be available in all sections, although basic terms would be the same everywhere.

MAJOR WEAPON
Officials are hopeful that if Congress approves, the program will become a major weapon in attacking urban blight, without federal subsidy.

In his outgoing budget to Congress in January, Eisenhower asked Congress to authorize $948 million in future housing expenditures by the government, less than one-third of the Kennedy request.

Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver said the Kennedy bill "would emphasize the improvement of our existing housing supply instead of relying primarily on (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Big Area Phone Changeover Slated for Easter Morning

By DICK HANSON

The Easter Bunny won't be the only one busily hustling about in the wee hours of Sunday morning.

At one minute past 2 a.m. Michigan Bell Telephone Co. employees will switch over more than 3,500 customers in an area immediately southwest of Pontiac from the downtown office to a new $1,412,000 telephone exchange on Cass-Elizabeth Road in Waterford Township.

Also at 2:01 a.m. Sunday, some 6,700 Michigan Bell customers served by the Utica exchange office, including 200 in Washington and Rochester, will change to all numbers dialing when their telephones are rerouted through a new $1,721,800 central office in Utica.

The switchover, since it is being performed at the unlikely hour, will pass unnoticed by the majority of the affected customers. They will come to notice, however, that they are the first in the area to be assigned all-numeric telephone numbers.

No more FE 5-5555 for instance. A typical number will be 685-5555. Eventually all dial phones in the Pontiac area will be converted to all-numeric codes (ANC).

Those immediately to be affected in the Pontiac west area are customers southwest of Pontiac and west of Middle Bell and Telegraph roads.

The Pontiac West office will provide relief for the downtown Federal office, and provide for future growth in the western part of the Pontiac area," said Ray H. Storm, local district manager for Michigan Bell.

points any trouble spot in Michigan Bell's intricate system locally, thus enabling faster repair than has been possible to date. The machine provides the necessary information on a card such as that being examined here to Mern LaFave (left), central office supervisor, and switchman Charles Kelly.

Actually, the only change will be in the suffix which will become 33 instead of FE. The rest of the phone number will remain the same.

The step in both cases is necessary to enable Michigan Bell to keep up with the ever-mounting demand for more telephones.

The telephone company is running out of combinations under the word-number system such as FE for Federal. You just can't find a word starting with JK for example, so that combination is ruled out as are several others. But, by substituting numbers, a great many more combinations to permit more telephone numbers is made available.

Mathematically the new all-number code (ANC) will provide 800 combinations for every 240 under the two-letter suffix dialing system. Storm points out.

The changeover will make room for future additions in the number of telephones that can be installed besides the big increase presently made possible.

Redevelopment Studied Today

Business, Civic Heads Meet to Consider Plan for Downtown Area

Downtown redevelopment will come a step nearer reality today as civic and business leaders meet at City Hall to consider preparation of a plan.

City Hall officials reported that a definite proposal will be made to the Mayor's Downtown Steering Committee for a program prepared by Geer Associates of Bloomfield Hills, the city's planning consultants.

To finance such a plan, downtown leaders have raised $30,000, to be matched by another $30,000 included in the city's 1961 budget.

Representatives from Geer Associates and the City Planning Department were on hand to outline the scope of a plan and its benefit to the future of downtown.

Presumably, the plan would detail the future of the downtown area within the proposed downtown loop highway, which is considered the key to future development.

Three years ago, businessmen raised $17,500 to help finance the Barton Transportation Study, the main impetus for the loop highway.

Their Clubs Have the Oddest Names

Whisker Wearers Are Whimsical

Ordinarily, men wouldn't want to belong to a group with such a name as the Whisker Wearers. Nor, for that matter, to Watts Woolly Wolves or the Bully Wolves.

But centuries time is, in part, a time of fun and the names of the Brothers of the Brush reflect the mood.

More than 1,000 are signed up so far for beard permits, and headquarters of the Greater Pontiac Centennial said this early enthusiasm is one of the first signs that centennial participation will be widespread.

Ten or more beard-growers banded together can be chartered as a chapter and the names of the first two dozen chapters make an unusual list.

At the Waldron Hotel, for instance, there are the Waldron Wardens, headed by mustachioed John W. Hurlinger, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce.

A group of second-shift workers at Fisher Body Division decided

Prize for Police, Firemen

To welcome our city protectors, the firemen and policemen, to the ranks of the centennial participators, The Pontiac Press will sponsor another beard or mustache contest.

Although they are getting a later start than many in the community, there still is time to grow quite a facial bush by June. To encourage this historic adornment, The Press will award a $100 U.S. savings bond for the best regular police department employee beard, and the same prize for the top effort in the fire department.

Judging will be in Centennial Week, by the same sterling circle which will pick the top beard in the same employees' contest. It'll consider the top three beards from the smokers, and a like number from the starpuckers.

SEATO Threatens Military in Laos Resolution

Marines Leaving Hawaii; Bombers Roar Past Isle

From Our News Wire
BANGKOK, Thailand — The United States agreed today to a compromise resolution that let the SEATO powers say only they would take "appropriate action" unless the Communist bloc military intervention in Laos was stopped by the SEATO powers. Secretary of State Dean Rusk sought a tougher tone in the statement of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, but France threatened a veto.

The French argued that a stronger statement, indicating the anti-Communist alliance's readiness to use force, would present a virtual ultimatum to the Russians and perhaps torpedo hopes for negotiations.

At Honolulu, U.S. military movements sparked by the Laos crisis were made by a smoke-screen of official silence.

There was no doubt that some 6,000 men of the First Marine Brigade at Kaneohe Marine Air Station had left Hawaiian Islands aboard two transports in a state of fighting readiness.

The carrier Kearsarge was absent from Pearl Harbor, and the step-up in westbound traffic in the air force bombers roared the islands was heavier and impossible to hide from the jet-dreaded ears of every citizen.

There appeared to be fewer men in uniform on leave on Honolulu streets last week than usual.

WON'T PAY FOR CONGO

The French views at SEATO were known simultaneously with disclosure that France has refused to pay a share of United Nations costs in the Congo, another area where French and U.S. views are at odds.

Another factor leading up to the compromise resolution here, apparently, was Soviet peace feeling, raising hopes among the British and some other members of the organization.

The U.S. delegation appeared disappointed.

A spokesman said the resolution was considered a strong one but Secretary of State Dean Rusk did nothing to dispel the belief that the action of the eight foreign ministers was not entirely satisfactory.

The ministers' final communiqué said that if a British proposal for a cease fire, and peace negotiations "and there continues to be an active (Communist) military attempt to obstruct control of the Congo, the SEATO powers are prepared, within the terms of the treaty, to take whatever action may be appropriate in the circumstances."

The United States had come to the conference trying to set a plan that would have SEATO jointly commit itself to sending troops and weapons to Laos if the rebels did not stop their military drive and the Soviet Union did not stop supplying them with weapons.

Near end of the first day of testimony, Sheriff's Detective Marion Bauman was asked by Barry what he found when he searched the Crenshaw kitchen the day of the shooting.

Bauman said he discovered an envelope containing $500 in cash under the kitchen table. The detective said Mrs. Lawrence, who was wounded in the leg in a scuffle with Mrs. Crenshaw, claimed Crenshaw had demanded the money.

"She said she had been black-mailed and had been giving him money for quite some time and that if she didn't do it, he could make things pretty miserable for her," Bauman testified.

Crenshaw, now remarried, was seated in the court.

He heard his stepson, 11-year-old Ronald Bailey, tell how Mrs. Lawrence came to visit his mother. He said that shortly he heard a "pop-pop" from the kitchen while he was watching television.

"Then I Crenshaw and saw my mother lying on the floor," the boy said, fidgeting in the witness chair. "When I tried to pick her up, my grandmother (Mrs. Bessie Lee Smith) came in and told me to call an ambulance."

"I started to cry and told the operator to call the police because my mother had been hurt," Ronnie testified in a quiet voice.

MODERN NEW PLANT—Michigan Bell Telephone Co. will put its new $1,412,000 plant on Cass-Elizabeth Lake Road in Waterford Township into operation early Sunday morning. At that time 6,700 customers west of Pontiac will be switched over to the new building to relieve the downtown office and allow for future expansion. Customers involved in the switchover also will be assigned all numerical telephone numbers, eliminating the FE suffix. (See story on Page 1.)

The Day in Birmingham

Name New Legal Counsel for Bloomfield Township

BIRMINGHAM — Attorney R. Hamilton Co. Bural will be Thomas J. Dillon has been named legal counsel for Bloomfield Township, succeeding A. Floyd Blakeslee who held the post 36 years.

Dillon, 36, also is attorney for the city of Keego Harbor, Beverly Hills Village and Southfield Township.

He and his wife Doris live at 2067 Devonshire Road, Bloomfield Township.

Dillon, who takes over his new duties immediately, is in partnership with Howard Bond, with offices at 265 Orchard Lake Road, Sylvan Lake.

Blakeslee resigned two weeks ago in order to devote more time to his private practice and travel.

The Birmingham City Commission has approved the 1961 sidewalk replacement program, submitted by city engineer William J. Killen.

The area receiving this year's priority is bounded by 14 Mile Road, Woodward Avenue, Emmons and Grant streets.

Killen said that a field survey of this area indicates that the city will be responsible for replacing 11,500 square feet of sidewalk and property owners, 17,500 square feet.

The $54,848 budgeted this year for sidewalk replacement should cover the city's share of the improvement, Killen said.

Property owners will be notified if their sidewalks are in need of repair and the cost he said.

All sidewalks damaged by the city during the installation of sewer and water lines and during tree removal prior to Jan. 1 will be included in the 1961 project.

A modern law enforcement officer must be "a combination of lawyer, judge, father confessor and have the patience of Job," Birmingham City Manager L. R. Gare said yesterday at police "community relations" conference at Michigan State University.

Gare was the speaker at the final luncheon for 35 officers from Oakland, Wayne and Macomb counties who received certification for the new course in the in-service traffic law enforcement course presented by MSU.

Final instructor in the course was Birmingham Police Chief Ralph M. Morley, who is training chairman for the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police.

Gare stressed that police officers have more contact with the public than all other city employees combined, and that most of these contacts are in traffic enforcement.

"Service is the very essence of a municipality has to sell and so a whole government may be judged by its policemen," he said.

Albert C. Voss, Service for Albert C. Voss, 77, of 3245 Sheridan Drive, Beverly Hills, will be 11 a.m. Saturday at the Bell Chapel of the William Marshall Cemetery.

'Blackmail' Enters Trial

Mrs. Lawrence Says She Was Forced to Pay Before Wife's Slaying

The former husband of a slain Independence Township housewife was expected to be called as a witness today. The move follows testimony that he was blackmailing the Berkley woman accused of his wife's 1959 murder.

Jerome K. Barry Jr., senior assistant prosecutor, said he would call Donald Crenshaw, 28, to the stand in Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams' courtroom.

"His former wife, Wynona DeLore, 22, was shot five times with a .25-caliber pistol and died on the floor of her kitchen in her home at 6280 Ross Apple Drive after Mrs. Sarah Sue Lawrence, who once dated Crenshaw, visited her."

Mrs. Lawrence, 35, a former part-time beautician in Pleasant Ridge, is charged with first-degree murder in the April 13, 1959, shooting. She spent more than a year in a mental institution after the murder when she was judged insane.

Her trial began yesterday before an all-white jury.

Near end of the first day of testimony, Sheriff's Detective Marion Bauman was asked by Barry what he found when he searched the Crenshaw kitchen the day of the shooting.

Bauman said he discovered an envelope containing $500 in cash under the kitchen table. The detective said Mrs. Lawrence, who was wounded in the leg in a scuffle with Mrs. Crenshaw, claimed Crenshaw had demanded the money.

"She said she had been black-mailed and had been giving him money for quite some time and that if she didn't do it, he could make things pretty miserable for her," Bauman testified.

Crenshaw, now remarried, was seated in the court.

He heard his stepson, 11-year-old Ronald Bailey, tell how Mrs. Lawrence came to visit his mother. He said that shortly he heard a "pop-pop" from the kitchen while he was watching television.

"Then I Crenshaw and saw my mother lying on the floor," the boy said, fidgeting in the witness chair. "When I tried to pick her up, my grandmother (Mrs. Bessie Lee Smith) came in and told me to call an ambulance."

"I started to cry and told the operator to call the police because my mother had been hurt," Ronnie testified in a quiet voice.

Approve Fire Hall for Civic Center files — the first air-conditioning in any Pontiac fire hall.

A rear entrance for fire trucks returning from a call, a provision eliminating traffic tie-ups on Pike St. 3. An emergency control center, enclosed in glass in front of the building, where a single operator would handle all emergency calls with a 180-degree view of traffic.

4. A six-door garage, each door 11 feet high, with space for two engine companies, the aerial ladder and vehicles for the chief and assistant chief.

5. A rear garage, facing on Union Street, for standby equipment, to which the chief's vehicles could be moved if more firefighting equipment is ever needed.

6. A firemen's lounge on the second floor and a special shower on the first into which firemen, fully clad, can step at the return of a call to cleanse their rubber suits.

SPACE FOR PARKING

In addition, the architects said, there will be space for 20 employees to park their cars on the paved area leading from Pike Street to the rear of the garage.

Six doors at the rear of the garage will correspond to the six in front, allowing each piece of equipment to enter its respective slot, they said.

Three sliding poles will lead from the second floor to the garage, they said.

With a depth of 60 feet, the garage will be able to handle all existing equipment they said, including the 55-foot-long aerial truck which Fire Chief James R. White says might be replaced soon by a shorter vehicle.

For 21,395 square feet of space, the architects said, the city would be paying $16.49 a square foot, including air conditioning, if the cost estimates prove correct.

Meanwhile, commissioners indicated that a northside branch fire station might be the next pay-as-you-go project.

They responded sympathetically to a bid by the Weaver-Owen-Horne-Alcott Community Club for high priority for the project.

Leslie H. Hudson, club president, said it was necessary to protect industry as well as residential areas.

must have been torturing these three.

No loving mother needs to be told that Mary must have felt as she watched her son in the agony of crucifixion.

No faithful student who has ever had a teacher who became as well his close friend, needs to use much imagination to know what John was feeling as he looked at Jesus on the cross.

No loyal son needs to be told what Jesus' feelings must have been as that extra burden was added to his own, that of seeing his mother and his friends' grief and suffering for him.

But Jesus was not one to dwell on the sadness of the present moment. He looked instead to the future, and he knew that both these whom he loved would be lonely and lost without him.

So he told them in as few words as possible — for the effort to speak at all must have been great.

"My mother and my friend, you will need each other as the days go by. Mother, you will need me as I go. Friend, you will find in me a second mother."

This word, spoken in the agony of death, is final proof — if such is needed — that who so loved John, must go to die for them was not forgetful of his special love and responsibility for his stricken mother and his distraught friend.

This is as it should be. For one of us, Jesus speaks from the cross the essence of Christianity is love and concern for one another. And where can any of us better begin than within the circle of our family?

If love is not shown within that narrow circle, can we ever hope to find it spreading further? One of us, Jesus speaks from the cross the essence of Christianity is love and concern for one another. And where can any of us better begin than within the circle of our family?

Relocated Families Staying in Area

By PETE LOCHBILES
If there is a trend established yet, it shows that most Pontiac folks upon relocation from the urban renewal area will stay right here.

Only four families have moved so far. Of these, one retired couple chose to go to Florida. But the others have found new homes in the Pontiac area, one within the city limits and two in Waterford Township.

Reporting on the first relocations, the Planning and Urban Renewal Department said the program will begin speeding up soon.

So far, the department has paid out only $344 in relocation aid, but expects to have written more than $5,000 worth of checks within a short time, said Planning and Urban Renewal Director James Bates.

There are 19 other families on the relocation work load at present and six of them are depending on the city for relocation aid, said Bates.

Four individuals have relocated and a fifth is in the process of moving, he said.

All told, more than 300 families will relocate by the time the first project is over.

Of the 320 parcels to be acquired in the first urban renewal project, 35 have been purchased and 20 are under option.

"The first homes we bought were those whose occupants wanted to relocate right away," said Bates. "Now we are beginning to buy up homes rented by out-of-town owners."

"The city's policy is to allow tenants to continue renting from the city until their relocation plans are set."

The city is cooperating with the Pontiac Board of Realtors in relocation.

Displaced families have the right, under federal law, to obtain from the city information about at least three homes where they could relocate.

In preparing the list, Bates said, the city uses information furnished by realtors. He stressed, though, that the city is not acting as a real estate agent, but instead refers relocating families to agents handling homes that seem suited to the family needs and budget.

NOT A BIG PROBLEM

The prospect of 300 families moving does not daunt urban renewal headquarters on the second floor of City Hall.

In the first place, Bates said, urban renewal experience shows that a majority of families relocate on their own without turning to many of the relocation aides provided for by the federal government.

In the second place, the city's responsibility in relocation is specifically spelled out in the contracts for federal aid in the $2-million project.

One of the department's new workers, Stanley Kedzior, has been assigned full time to the task of spelling out relocation aides to the families and businesses that have to move.

Besides providing the information about three possible places to move, the department is required by contract to follow up on all relocations within the city, advising the families about whether their new homes measure up to the new city housing codes.

MOVING PAID FOR

The city provides up to $200 to cover costs of moving by professional movers or allowances of $10 per room, beginning at $15.50 for the first room, when families or individuals elect to move on their own.

The city also issues certifications on request to families applying for the special, broad-term FHA-insured mortgages on urban renewal relocation.

Bates explained that after applying for an FHA-insured mortgage, families can obtain the certificates from City Hall for submission to FHA officials.

The certificates are available both to home owners and tenants of the urban renewal area.

"It is our aim to accomplish relocation with as much sympathy and help as possible to the families affected," said Bates. "Our office is open daily for information and we continue to urge urban renewal families to seek answers here and not depend on rumor."

Red Chinese Hard at Work

Seek Test-Tube Babies

HONG KONG (AP)—China's 630 million aren't multiplying fast enough for the Communists. They are working on test-tube babies.

"Many theoretical and technical problems remain to be solved," a Chinese scientist reported in the official Peiping People's Daily.

The government organ devoted 3,500 words to the subject, indicating the importance the Peiping regime attaches to the possibility of test-tube babies in China.

It's part of Peiping's paradoxical but heavy propaganda emphasis on Communist China's need for manpower.

Despite its teeming population, China is short of machinery—on the farm and in the factory—and it must use manpower to fill the lack. In China, manpower is cheaper than machinery.

The scientist, Chang Tiao-kan, said in his report, "For human beings, nine months of pregnancy is no light or easy burden. Such diseases as poisoning due to pregnancy are detrimental to health."

"If children can be had without being conceived, the work and labor of mothers need not be affected by childbirth. This is happy news for women."

The Shady Valley district of Johnson County, Tenn., has produced manganese by mining since 1883.

Straley Battle in April Court

Legality of Ex - Police Chief's Dismissal to Be High Tribunal Case

The legal battle to return ex-Police Chief Herbert W. Straley to office will be argued before the State Supreme Court early next month, probably within a few days after the high court begins its new term April 4, according to City Attorney William A. Ewart.

In the suit, dismissed last spring by Circuit Commissioners Milton Ziem, City Commissioners Milton R. Henry and Robert A. Landry contend the 1960 charter amendment, under which Straley was fired, was improperly presented to voters.

They contend that to Pontiac voters who wanted to vote for the re-establishment and reorganization of the Police Trial had to vote, also, to remove Straley from the Trial Board's jurisdiction.

It was after the amendment passed in April of last year that City Manager Walter K. Willman fired Straley without a Trial Board hearing.

The city obtained dismissal of the suit by Judge Ziem by contending that the amendments were phrased correctly within the requirements of the state's Home Rule Act. The dismissal was then appealed.

A final answer by the high court is expected some time after the hearing.

Pontiac Seniors Take 5 Firsts

Band Festival Staged in Jackson

Five first-place ratings were won by Pontiac senior high school students in the Michigan School Band and Orchestra Association's annual solo and ensemble festival in Jackson last weekend.

Four of the top ratings went to soloists and one to a brass section. There was also one second and one third rating taken by Pontiac students.

From Pontiac Central, first, or "superior," ratings went to Jean Haffula, junior, violin soloist; Michael Pierce, senior drum soloist; and Larry Reynolds, senior oboe soloist.

From Pontiac Northern, the lone soloist was Perry Tison. He took a first rating with his cornet solo and was one of a brass section that walked off with top honors.

Other section members were Roger Richards, cornet; Ernie Humphreys, trombone; Allen Sommers, baritone; Delores Donnelly, French horn; and Michael Johnson, tuba.

A saxophone quartet made up of Robert Travis, William Basinger, David Johnson, and Gary Lloyd took a third-place rating.

Only those students who received a first rating in the district festival in February were eligible to enter in the Jackson festival.

Medical Society to Hear Officer From Air Force

The Oakland County Medical Society expects that the program for its April meeting will be one of the most interesting and unusual of the year.

Featured speaker will be U.S. Air Force Capt. George Poter Jr. The captain's topic is "Biophysical Instrumentation and Space Medicine."

The April meeting is slated for April 6 at the Kingsley Inn, in Bloomfield Hills. Dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m. with the program expected to get underway at 8.

Capt. Poter, with the medical corps at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base, Dayton, Ohio, has an extensive background in experimental psychology and physiology and in biophysical instrumentation.

Using illustrations, he will discuss his current work at the aerospace medical laboratory at the base.

The speaker will be accompanied by Dr. Paul V. Woolley Jr., Physician-in-Chief of Children's Hospital of Michigan, and consultant to the U.S. Air Force.

Several members of the Selfridge Air Force Base are also expected to be guests at the meeting.

Liz Taylor Back Home

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—To Elizabeth Taylor, returning home after just seemed to lift her. She left London, California never looked better.

The Californians who welcomed her at the airport Tuesday enthusiastically returned the compliment.

"Never more beautiful," said one writer.

"Radiant," wrote another.

It was cool and cloudy when the plane landed after the flight from New York. But as the actress—sitting in a wheelchair—was being carried down the ramp, the clouds parted and a warm sun prevailed.

Miss Taylor blinked happily.

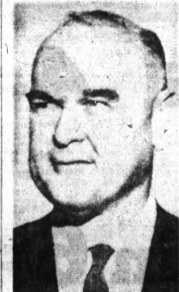

"I'm so glad to be home and see all this sunshine," she said.

"Now I know I can get lots of rest and get my health back."

Husband Eddie Fisher pushed the wheelchair to a waiting limousine.

"She never felt better than she did on this flight," said Fisher.

Corbett Jury Back to Work

Deliberations Resume on Verdict for Alleged Slayer of Brewer

GOLDEN, Colo. (AP)—The jury in the Joseph Corbett Jr. murder trial resumes deliberations today after 10 hours of discussion failed last night to produce a verdict.

The eight men and four women worked until 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and appeared little concerned before adjourning to a nearby hotel.

TWO VERDICTS
The jury is considering only two possible verdicts—acquittal or conviction of first-degree murder with a mandatory sentence of life in prison.

Corbett, 32, is accused of murdering Adolph Coors III Feb. 9, 1960 in an abortive kidnapping attempt. The prosecution claimed he schemed for two years to abduct the wealthy head of the Coors Co. brewery and ransom him for a half-million dollars.

Corbett retired early in his cell in Jefferson County jail. Officers said he took a book after dinner.

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — What do the Laotians themselves think about the power struggle between those two far-away giants, the United States and Russia, over their tiny land?

For a lot of them, not much. Report after report from there tells of great indifference to the civil war between the Russian-backed rebels in the north and the American-supported right-wing government in the south.

The greatest popular support is for neither side but for Prince Souvanna Phouma. He's neutral. To a lot of Laotians, therefore, the United States and Russia must look like a couple of busy bodies. Yet the Laotians have to depend on someone. The country earns only a fraction of its expenses.

In 1960 its exports totaled $1.6 million while its national deficit was $33 million, about 20 times its export figure. Since 1954 this country put $310 million into Laos, most of it for the military forces. DON'T LIKE TO KILL. Yet the Associated Press reports even the combatants are devout Buddhists who don't like to kill and have to be coaxed into fighting by their big-power backers.

The Laotians don't even think as a nation. Many of them are split into tribes. One official said to most Laotians the civil war is just another family fight.

Yet Russia wants the Communists to win. A Red Laos would be a foothold for a take-over in the rest of Southeast Asia. For that reason the United States is determined to block them.

So the Laotians are caught in the middle. If there is peace in Laos—and if the country is divided, as it probably will be, since the Reds don't usually yield any ground—both sides will have to work to win support.

SHADES OF INDOCHINA. Since both the West and communism will propagandize the people in their area, in due time maybe the Laotians on both sides will learn to get angry enough at each other to fight in earnest. All this sounds a little reminiscent—although the cases are not identical—of Indochina, half of which the French lost to communism in 1954.

The French had held all of Vietnam from back in the 19th century. Being colonial-minded, they didn't train the Vietnamese for independence. Eventually, the Communists in the north revolted. From 1946 to 1954 the French fought them. But the French were so dainty they didn't send any draftees to Viet Nam, just volunteers.

One thing was sure: They weren't getting many volunteers from among the Vietnamese who simply wanted the French out. If they volunteered it was usually with the Communist-led rebels in the north.

Eventually the French had to give up the northern half. Now, seven years later, the Communists are on the move again, sending their guerrillas into South Viet Nam.

If Laos is split in half the time will probably come when the Reds from the north put the heat on their southern brothers and there'll be a crisis of some kind all over again.

Governor's Wife in Hospital Again

LANSING 28—Mrs. Alice Swainson, wife of the governor, continued to rest at Lansing's St. Lawrence Hospital today after being readmitted for further treatment of a partially collapsed right lung.

The governor's wife was readmitted Tuesday. She was first admitted March 16 and treated for three days before being released.

Gov. Swainson said X rays taken Tuesday were "very encouraging." "What she really needs is the complete rest she can't get at home with the children," the governor said.

Asks $75 Million to Modernize Nation's Airports

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Kennedy administration is asking Congress for $75 million to modernize the nation's airports. It was learned today.

The money, to be earmarked mostly for such air safety projects as longer runways, improved runway lighting and installation of modern navigation aids, is contained in the administration's revised budget for the Federal Aviation Agency (FAA).

Former President Eisenhower's budget calls for $40 million in federal airport aid. The Kennedy budget would boost that to $75 million.

European Cities' Names

Given to Sausages

What do these European cities have in common—Frankfurt, Germany; Genoa, Italy; Goteborg,

Sweden; Lyons, France; Bologna, Italy? These are just a few of the cities that have given their name to a sausage, the American Meat Institute tells us. Medieval sausage makers became so adept in spicing and processing sausages of distinctive types that the fame of their products spread throughout Europe. Rome became famous for its romano; Berlin for Berliner; Brunswick (Brunswick, Germany) for its brunschweiler.

DEEP DISH TUNA PIZZA — Bake your pizza in a deep pie pan, use tuna instead of sausage, and you'll have a wonderful Lenten dish. You can vary this recipe with vegetables and cheese. Make a lattice top for the pie.

Bake Tuna Pizza in Deep Pie Tin

Deep Dish Tuna Pizza—A completely new pizza variation—and what a good tuna idea for Lent. Instead of making the pizza on a flat pan, use two 9" pie pans, a package of pizza mix and sauce, a can of tuna fish, some cheese and you have the main dish of a meal for a family of six! A leading pizza manufacturer has developed this pizza idea. For variation add mushrooms, or sliced olives, or even a can of corn and a sprinkling of cheese and you'll have a delicious Lenten meal.

Deep Dish Tuna-Mushroom Pizza
Prepare 1 pkg. (12½-oz.) pizza mix according to package directions. Divide dough into three equal portions, using two of these to line two greased 9" pie pans. Using a greased rolling pin, roll remaining dough into a square 9"x9" on a greased board. Cut into 12 strips.

Divide ingredients between the two pies:

- 1 can (½ oz. or 7 oz.) tuna fish, drained
- 1½ oz. grated cheese and/or 4 oz. mushrooms
- 4 oz. can mushroom stems and pieces
- ¼ cup chopped green pepper

Then make a lattice topping using 3 strips of dough in each direction for each pie. Crimp edge. Bake 425 degrees F. (400 degrees F. for glass pie plate) for 15-20 minutes or until crust is golden brown.

Cut each pie into 6 pieces (a scissors does a good job)—and wait for demands for "seconds."

P. S.—What a way to dress up an old stand-by, Beef Stew—put it in a deep dish pizza!

Fill Toasted Bread Cups With Shrimp Wiggle

Shrimp Wiggle — an intriguing recipe with a curious name—combines shrimp, vegetable and bread all in one dish. Make the toast cups by trimming "crusts" from eight thin slices of buttered bread, pressing each slice into a muffin cup and toasting in 375-degree oven until golden brown. Fill with Shrimp Wiggle made like this for eight toast cups:

Melt 4 tablespoons butter or margarine. Remove pan from heat. Stir in 4 tablespoons flour until blended. Gradually add 2 cups milk, stirring until smooth. Return pan to heat and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add 1 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 cup cooked peas, 1 cup cooked or canned shrimp. Cook just until shrimp and peas are heated through.

Modern Hot-Cross Buns Made With Roll Mix

Regarded for hundreds of years, with the deepest suspicion, fruit in the 18th Century became The Fashion. Fresh cherries were a wicked extravagance. They came up, ripe and red as rubies, from the Kentish orchards—by barge along the Thames—to Covent Garden. Here in the dawn light they were spilled into costermongers' barrows—along with oranges from Lisbon, China limes, lemons from the West Indies—and were cried all the day through the streets of London, thus:

"Cherry-Ripe, Cherry-Ripe, Ripe, I cry, Full and faire ones, come and buy."

On Good Friday morning only, the cherries were candied or glazed—to be baked into Hot Cross Buns and hawked about the streets, still warm from the oven. Of all the famous buns and small cakes of England, the Hot Cross Bun is the most familiar and the most durable.

Cross bread is very old and, being old, is full of pagan symbolism. To the pagan world the cross indicated the four quarters of the moon and the bread was sacred to the gods of the ancient Aztecs and Incas and to the moon goddess of the Egyptians. The sensible Greeks and Romans, seeing that their gods were so fond of it, started eating it themselves.

In England, the early Christian church adopted cross bread from the old Saxon rites—made it respectable and traditional as a breakfast bun for Good Friday. By 1778, "Hot Cross Buns" had become a street cry in England and the inspiration for a folk chant that every child knows: "Hot Cross Buns, Hot Cross Buns; one-a-penny, two-a-penny, Hot Cross Buns."

In America, it is customary to eat Hot Cross Buns throughout the 40 days of Lent and they are a familiar sight in our neighborhood bakeries. But how delectable they are when freshly made at home, and how simple they are to make. Our recipe uses hot roll mix which eliminates much of the work, but none of the flavor or the fine yeasty smell. Each bun is crammed full with red and green bits of glace cherries and bears a brave, bright whole maraschino cherry.

Cherry Hot Cross Buns
1 package (14½ oz.) hot roll mix
¼ cup water, hot but not boiling

Dissolve yeast (in package) in water; blend in egg. Mix in hot roll mix and chopped cherries. Cover and let rise in a warm place until dough is doubled in size. Flatten dough on lightly floured surface. Shape into ½-inch balls and place on greased baking sheets. Let rise in a warm place until doubled in size.

- Using scissors, cut deep cross in each bun. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees) 10-15 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool slightly. Maken about 18.
- Combine sugar and milk; mix until smooth. Pour into crosses. Top with whole maraschino cherries.

Beef's a Traveler
The average pound of meat travels 1,000 miles from the "open range" to the kitchen range," reports the American Meat Institute. Two-thirds of all meat is produced west of the Mississippi with two-thirds of all meat consumed east of that river.

More than one million acres of land in Oregon are now under lease for oil and gas exploration surveys.

Richard C. Van Dusen, on 1956 State for GOP, Makes Con-Con Bid

Oakland County has its first announced candidate for constitution at convention delegate in Richard C. Van Dusen, 35-year-old Bingham Farms attorney. He was 1956 Republican candidate for attorney general.

Van Dusen today announced his candidacy to seek the Republican nomination from the county's fourth legislative district — if Michigan voters approve the convention in Monday's election.

"The job of delegate to this convention will be as important a political office as Michigan will have to offer for some time," said Van Dusen, who has been mentioned frequently in many GOP circles as a possible gubernatorial candidate.

Should state voters approve convention Monday, a primary election is expected to be held July 25 to nominate one Republican and one Democrat from each of the state's legislative and senatorial districts.

Oakland County would then on Sept. 12 choose six legislative-concom delegates and one senatorial delegate to a convention which would set Oct. 3.

Van Dusen, of 22205 Bingham Road, is practicing dentistry with the firm of Dickinson, Wright, McKean & Cudlip.

He served Oakland County's 3rd District as state representative from two terms from 1952 through 1956 when he ran unsuccessfully for the state office. He has not been a candidate since.

He said he has "long supported" a constitutional convention having been a member of the board of directors of Citizens for Michigan, which is spearheading the drive.

Special Vendor Licenses to Aid Centennial Fund

To add to centennial revenues, the City Commission last night authorized the Greater Pontiac Centennial Commission to handle licensing of all special vendors, except those dealing in food, during the June 17-24 centennial period.

Vendors of such items as balloons and other festive paraphernalia will bid high for the exclusive right to sell these items, said K. Williams pointed out. The centennial commission, he explained, will be able to sell vendors the rights at prices pasting on to the city the usual license fees.

In the long run, the city stands to benefit from the arrangement, since all centennial revenues will eventually be used to pay back the city for its $500,000 advance to finance the centennial.

Knife Wielder Robs Attendant

A knife-wielding bandit robbed a lone attendant in the Texaco Service Station at 4500 Dixie highway in Waterford Township early this morning and escaped with $60.

The 31-year-old attendant, Harold Hale, who lives at 4032 Lamont Road in the township, told Pontiac police the bandit came into the station at 4:05 a.m. and asked for change to buy cigarettes.

Hale said that when he went to the cash register, the bandit pulled a knife and ordered him to hand over all the money.

The bandit took $43 from the register and $25 from Hale's wallet. He then showed the attendant into a small storage room and asked if he had a gun.

"When I told him no, he said he wanted to know me out," Hale told police. He said his assailant then struck him twice on the head with an oil can.

When this failed to knock Hale unconscious, the bandit told him to lie down on the storage-room floor and stay there.

The bandit then barricaded the other side of the door with a ladder and a grease can, and Hale waited in vain for himself within minutes and telephoned police.

He described the bandit as being 22 to 25 years old, weighing approximately 200 pounds, with dark hair.

Child in Fair Condition After Lighter Burns

A 3-year-old Pontiac girl who was burned yesterday while playing with a cigarette lighter in her home was in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

Paula K. Arnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Hipsher, 154 Lincoln Ave., suffered second-degree burns on her neck, chest and abdomen.

She's well known — and she should be. Becky has been at Pontiac State Hospital longer than any current member of the staff.

Still alert and looking forward to her second hundred, she has a twinkle of youth and she broke into a broad grin.

"My, my," she said. "I can't believe it."

FAMILY OF 80 During the party, the Shaw clan did a little adding on their fingers in an attempt to figure out just how big Becky's "family" is now.

When all the fingers were counted up, the total reached 80 that as 80 "living" relatives excluding brothers, sisters, nephews, etc.

Becky can count as "hers," 3 daughters, 16 grandchildren, 6 great-grandchildren and 12 great-great-grandchildren.

Most of her clan hails from Otisville, Clio, Mount Morris and Detroit. Instrumental in planning the party was a daughter, Mrs. Earl Skank, 65, of Otisville.

Becky was also congratulated by Dr. Walter H. Omond, medical director, about 20 nurses and social workers at the hospital and her fellow patients in the Geriatrics Building.

Her eyes widened with a twinkle of youth and she broke into a broad grin.

"My, my," she said. "I can't believe it."

"BECKY" HAS A BALL—At first it was a big surprise, but before long Mrs. Rebecca "Becky" Shaw was right in the swing of things celebrating her 100th birthday Tuesday at Pontiac State Hospital where she has been a patient since 1913.

It's Happy Birthday for 'Becky'

BY DICK SAUNDERS Yesterday was "Becky Shaw Day" at Pontiac State Hospital. The staff helped celebrate the 100th birthday of Mrs. Rebecca "Becky" Shaw, a patient at the hospital for the past 48 years.

For several months, the Psychiatric Attendant Nurses Association and Becky's relatives have been planning the gala event.

To her complete surprise, at about 1:30 Tuesday afternoon, she was suddenly surrounded by about 20 members of her family — some which she hadn't seen for almost 20 years.

Her eyes widened with a twinkle of youth and she broke into a broad grin.

"My, my," she said. "I can't believe it."

Sewage Plant Plans to Be Seen in Week

The city's next big construction job—the $15-million sewage treatment plant expansion—is proceeding fast on the heels of the new Civic Center firehall.

City Manager Walter K. Willman told city commissioners last night that engineering plans are ready for inspection next Tuesday night.

Representative of Jones, Henry and Williams, the city's consulting engineers, will meet with commissioners at 7 p.m. to go over latest revisions in the 5-year-old project, he said.

If plans are approved, the commission should ask for construction bids as soon as possible, Willman said.

Under the court order to curb Clinton River pollution, the city has until June 1 to sign construction contracts.

It is anticipated that the city will finance construction through general obligation bonds, which Willman says the commission, under the court order, can issue without a public vote.

The order, issued by Circuit Court Judge Stanton G. Dondoro last November at the request of the water resources commission, says that expanded facilities to curb pollution must be operating by June 1, 1963.

City commissioners had a number of traffic matters for consideration at the committee's last night.

Commissioner William T. Taylor Jr. called for parking restrictions on the Howard-Johnson Street route and for better synchronization of the lights at Howard and Baldwin Avenue and Oakland and Baldwin avenues to ease rush-hour congestion.

He reported a neighborhood move to eliminate some of the "lovers lane" alleys in the Norton Street area.

Commissioner Winford E. Bolton said "young" signs at the corner of Young and Owens Streets should be replaced by "stop" signs.

GIANT HAIL IN DALLAS—Brenda Northell, 48, and her brother Owen, 9, display giant hailstones that fell in the western section of Dallas Tuesday night when severe thunderstorms buffeted the area. Clag't you just imagine them fetching their friends in eastern Dallas and shouting, "Gang, gang, the hail's all here!"

Adventures of Kennedy Called Awkward Success

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI) — All the hazards that come from running the cutting room floor for snips of film were plainly evident in "Adventures on the New Frontier" last night.

But, more importantly, so were the rewards.

The one-hour "Close-Up" on ABC-TV seemed to toss in all available film on John F. Kennedy, from the Wisconsin primary to his day in the White House.

And in an awkward, strained, gaudy, nervous, primitive way, the program succeeded in its purpose.

That purpose, I gathered from narrator Joseph Julian, was to let us observe the decision-makers at the time, in the final whistle, the pacing around, the tension and the readiness to laugh.

Now when we read of a White House meeting, we're able to fill in the details: the office lay-out, Mr. Kennedy leaning back in his overstuffed velvet chair, aides seated or standing around his desk; the rapid conversation, complete with eras; the pacing around; the tension and the readiness to laugh.

Even when the film gave us nothing but the back of Mr. Kennedy's neck, the purpose of the program was served. Despite its obvious overload — there was enough here for five programs — Producer Robert Drew gave us an indelible impression of a rugged job.

Last night's "Project 20" program about Will Rogers, the humorist who made the world safe for Lenny Bruce & Co., will serve as a reminder of the life of an American phenomenon.

Graciously narrated by Bob Hope, whose credentials as a comedian must be the Rogers' primary, this warm, winning NBC-TV program offered more than familiar samples of Will Rogers' lasting humor, as called from his work in radio, motion pictures, newsreels, vaudeville and newspapers.

Brando returned from Tahiti last month where location shots for MGM's "Mutiny" were made. He was so impressed with the South Sea life that he is negotiating to buy property there.

"I'd like to make a permanent home there," he said, "but it is unlikely what with working here in Hollywood. But I'm buying a place on the island and will spend as much free time in Tahiti as possible. I like the anonymity on the island. They don't give a hoot in hell who you are. Their values are different."

The Moody Academy Award winner plans to direct more pictures, and not necessarily on the lavish scale of "One-Eyed Jacks."

"I've learned a great deal from the 'Jacks,'" he said. "The perspective of a director is altogether different from that of an actor. The director must consider his production from every point of view. Now I know what should be done and what can be accomplished."

"I'd like to make a picture for $50,000 — free of banks and studios which can take away when they feel like it."

Marlon also has branched out to become a drama instructor at a local acting school. But he refused to discuss it.

"I'm still trying to get the screen rights to 'The Chessman Story,'" he said, changing the subject. "But Columbia owns it and I don't know if I can buy it from them."

"If I do get the picture I'll be directing again."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bob Hope has won a battle with federal income tax officials in connection with a $100,000 donation to his private charity—the Bob and Dolores Hope Foundation.

The government contended the money, from a book on the comedian's life, should be taxed as income.

Tuesday a federal judge ruled in Hope's favor after the comedian's wife, Dolores, testified that the foundation was set up to aid handicapped and needy children.

Earl Surprised to See Frenchmen in France

By EARL WILSON

PARIS — A funny thing happened to me while visiting France — I saw some Frenchmen.

Probably because it's too early for the American vacationing tourists. I actually heard French spoken right here in France.

"I didn't know the French could afford France," somebody said. "I thought they'd all gone to live in Majorca."

The one English speaking voice we heard belonged to an Englishman-American: Stewart Granger. He was pacing around the lobby of the Hotel Meurice, ready to fly off to Morocco.

There he and Pier Angeli do more scenes for Sodom and Gomorrah. Pier playing Let's wife whom all you Bible students remember.

"I play Let," Granger said getting into his car to go to the airport. "It's a very salty part."

Alan Ladd's beautiful daughter Lana, 17, who looks older and played her dad's girl friend in a picture in Italy, has lots of film offers here. But her mother Sue insisted that she leave with them, from Paris for Hollywood.

Alan Ladd's dog, a beloved dachshund pup, "Clao," died the last day of the picture, and Ladd was so heartbroken he almost missed a big cocktail party in his honor given by Glida Dahlberg.

"Never fall in love," he mournfully told me as he arrived a couple of hours late at the party.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN NEW YORK

William Shrier will follow his best selling "Rise and Fall of the Third Reich" with "Rise and Fall of Adolf Hitler."

Mario Lanza's brother-in-law Bert Hicks will write the late tenor's film biography.

The Gaylords will record all the rock 'n' roll favorites in Italian.

One reason there are so many cars on the road is that people are afraid to be pedestrians. That's earl, brother.
