

Shoppers Throng Stores

With only five more shopping days until Christmas, shoppers are thronging stores to complete their purchases in time, and streets take on a gay, holiday mood. Our photographer went shopping too, for some holiday pictures. Below are some that he found.

FAMILY TOUR—Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Smith, of 63 Poplar St., appear to have had good success on their holiday shopping tour. A number of the parcels certainly are planned for daughter Susie, 2 years old.

BE SEEN' YA CHRISTMAS?—David Cate, age 4, of 526 West Huron St., makes a new friend in a local store and perhaps hopes the friendship will be lasting. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Cate.

LIST CHECKING—An important aid to any shopping tour is a list telling who and what. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Mitchell, of 6651 Rowley Dr., check their list. Two-year-old son Glenn seems to approve.

Avon Gunman Committed

'Abnormal Fear' Called Reason for Hail of Shots

Probate Court Rules Alvin Heath Insane in Trial Hearing

Alvin Heath, 33-year-old Avon Township laborer who terrorized his neighborhood Dec. 5 with a six-hour shooting spree and held off besieging Sheriff's deputies for half an hour, was committed to Pontiac State Hospital yesterday after a sanity hearing in Probate Court.

Sheriff's Deputy Fred Pender, who testified in the hearing, said Heath has been promised a bed in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Battle Creek, and will probably be transferred there today.

On the stand, Heath admitted having abnormal fears. "I become afraid of things the average man would have no fear of," he said quietly. "Like being invited into a restaurant for a cup of coffee."

Heath's wife, Jean, 37, told Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore Heath had told her, "I feel like everybody's watching me, eyes are watching me all the time so I can't even work in the yard."

Asked if he thought he needed medical aid, Heath said, "My main aim is to have something done to me so I can do right by my wife and kids in the future. I haven't done a very good job."

Pender and Sheriff's Det. Steve Hawlik, who aided in subduing Heath after he had emptied his gun at them three times in the one-sided battle, shook his hand and congratulated him after the hearing.

PSYCHIATRISTS REPORT

Two Pontiac psychiatrists, Dr. A. Tauber and Dr. Clinton J. Mumbly, submitted reports to Judge Moore recommending that Heath be committed. The reports were not detailed in the hearing yesterday.

Committing Heath, Judge Moore said, "Personally, I think the laws should be changed to provide for compulsory treatment of cases like this before it's too late."

"At present the law says they can't be committed until they are ruled legally insane."

After the hearing, Oakland County Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said justice court examination of Heath, scheduled for today, will be indefinitely postponed. Heath had been charged with assault with intent to murder.

Postman Bows to Yule Spirit and Heavy Load

Pity the postman in times like these. As he slogs along the street, bowed under the weight of two bulging mail sacks, working overtime to deliver millions of Christmas cards, some citizens may feel a twinge of guilt. Are the Christmas cards really worth all that agony?

Surprisingly, the postmen themselves don't mind it a bit.

Listen to Dick Hummel, 45, a Pontiac postman for 10 years: "Sometimes we gripe a little, but I'd say 99 per cent of the letter carriers here don't mind Christmas a bit."

"You get a lot of enjoyment out of the Christmas spirit, when you see how happy people are over their cards and packages. You get a lot of the spirit back that way. And when it's all over, when we all leave the post office late Christmas eve, we have a lot of the Christmas spirit ourselves."

"Of course," he added, "we're motivated by the dollar sign, too, because we get a chance to make a little extra dough ourselves for Christmas presents."

Egyptian Police Due in Port Said

To Assist U.N. Forces in Maintaining Order During Pullout

PORT SAID, Egypt (AP)—A 350-man Egyptian police detachment was due in Port Said today to help U.N. troops keep order during the departure of the last British and French forces.

The Egyptians are the vanguard of more than 1,000 police coming to place the Suez Canal's northern gateway once more under the rule of President Nasser's Cairo government. The U. N. Emergency Force intends to pull out as soon as possible after the British and French, leaving Port Said's administration strictly to the Egyptians.

Indications pointed to the complete withdrawal of British and French troops by tomorrow or Thursday. The rapidly dwindling garrison was barricaded behind barbed wire at the docks. The Egyptian underground kept up its harassment, killing a French Foreign Legionnaire as he boarded ship.

A wrangle over who would do the job threatened to delay clearing the debris-blocked canal. The salvage fleet the British and French have massed at Port Said apparently will sail with the last of the British-French troops unless their crews are guaranteed protection by U. N. forces.

When He Talks With Press

Dulles Expected to Report on Danger to Free World

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles is expected to report today that Soviet satellite uprisings hold grave danger for the Free World.

His statement would spell out widely-held fears that the Kremlin may resort to war in desperation to solve the internal problems caused by the satellites.

The secretary will be queried on this problem when he faces his first news conference in two months today.

He must also cover a series of vital topics ranging from the Hungarian crisis to last week's NATO meeting and the Middle East trouble spot.

Dulles is known to believe that Moscow's difficulties with the East European satellites—apparently helpful to the West—contain serious risk and make increased vigilance more necessary than ever.

Dulles is also expected to report that the rift separating the U. S. from its western European allies since the Suez seizure has been narrowed.

State Department officials have stated that U. S. relations with Britain and France have greatly improved as a result of private talks Dulles held in Paris last week.

Lost Hunter Comes Out of Woods

Signs of Progress Noted in Fisher Strike Talks

The first indication that progress has been made toward settlement of the week-long Fisher Body Division strike was voiced today as both management and union officials resumed arbitration talks.

Harold A. Grant, president of Fisher Body Local 596, said "slight progress has been noted" as the result of a 20-hour bargaining session Sunday.

From Detroit a Fisher Body Division spokesman issued the following statement: "The face that negotiators from both sides met in continuous negotiations for 20 hours over the weekend indicates some progress is being made."

As the strike of 4,300 Fisher workers entered its seventh day, Pontiac Motor Division announced that half, or 6,000 of its 12,000 hourly workers had been laid off because of the strike. Last night at midnight, 1,000 employees were sent home.

The Fisher plant manufactures all the auto bodies for the Pontiac cars turned out at the local factory.

After recessing at 9:30 yesterday morning, both sides returned to the bargaining tables at 1 today.

Workers left the factory last Tuesday evening after a five-day session between union and management failed to settle alleged grievances for which a strike vote was taken Nov. 14.

CHARGES SPEEDUP

The union charges the company with speeded up production and the elimination of plant privileges previously granted to other workers.

Grant this morning said progress was noted as a newly elected vice president of General Motors Corp. and two top International UAW officials from Detroit sat in on the marathon session.

A Pontiac Motor Division spokesman said no more layoffs were expected today, but more would ensue if the strike continues Wednesday.

GIVES ANSWER

Grant today answered a statement made yesterday by Thomas F. Wiethorn, Fisher Body plant manager, that the "responsibility for the present situation rests elsewhere."

"We had to go out now because if we hadn't management would have penalized a number of workers with families as Christmas approached, because our men couldn't keep up with the speed up production standards," he said.

Wiethorn's statement was made in reply to a letter from Mayor William W. Donaldson requesting that work be resumed during negotiations in light of Christmas holiday nearing.

Missing Hunter Turns Up Safe

Snowbound for Month, Man, 65, Shovels Way Out of Woods

MANISTIQUE, Mich. (AP)—Snowbound for nearly a month in Michigan's north woods, a 65-year-old hunter shoveled his way out and was reported safe late yesterday.

Herman A. Simonds of Gregory, in south-central Michigan, was in good condition, police said, although he lost 25 pounds during the ordeal.

Simonds went into the Upper Peninsula Nov. 20. He was trapped next day by a four-foot snowfall.

His family reported him missing Dec. 9 when the hunting season ended and he failed to return home. State police had been searching for him with an airplane.

Simonds, a retired railroad engineer, said he was "just caught" by the heavy snow but "kept shoveling a path" for his pickup truck and finally worked his way out yesterday. For shelter he had a sleeping cabin mounted on the back of the truck.

Zeus—And a Spark in a Pagan Night

(Editor's Note: This is the second in a series of eight studies of the birth and times of Christ. It describes the status of religion in the heartland of civilization at the time Jesus was born.)

By GEORGE CORNELL
(Associated Press Writer)

Let us go back. Far back. Back into the shades of indelible time. Let us wander in the byways of a strange moment when dawn came at midnight.

It is long ago, but today it still is real. The marvel of that hour remains, imperishable and shimmering new.

And yet, it seems so strange. How unfamiliar and remote the atmosphere, how charged with dread this ancient year when swarms of grotesque gods prevail and a new-born Baby cries in Bethlehem.

It is a curious circumstance. A lonely spark, deep in a pagan night. An isolated candle in the dark. Yet it shapes our world.

Out of a Babel of delusion, one single chord strikes through the overriding din, and guides the march of destiny. It transforms men and governments. It forges the matrix of a faith.

Here, in Romeo's old empire, arid the faded finery of Egypt, Greece and Persia, here astride the crossroads of a bygone age, a thousand deities hold sway, their clamor thunderous above the still, small voice.

See those ivory shrines, those freakish images of creatures partly man and partly goat, those chanting hordes of white-robed eunuch priests, those lofty temples

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (INS)—The U. N. Assembly unanimously adds Japan to its ranks today as its 80th member. Confess Hoax at Northville

62-Year-Old Woman Admits Huge Swindle, 'Ready for Jail'

A 62-year-old domestic worker accused of swindling $80,000 from Northville residents admitted the swindles last night, police say, on a plane returning her to Detroit for questioning.

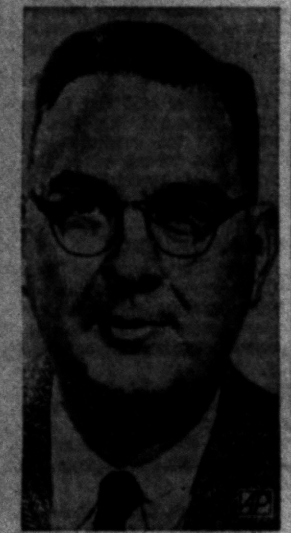

Posing as a housekeeper in Parma Heights, Ohio, Mrs. Yvonne Chavuin, was linked to the Northville hoax when her employers noticed that she wiped her fingerprints from coffee cups. Police found that she had the keys to two safe deposit boxes in a Detroit bank.

Police say that she had set herself up in Northville as an elderly matron with a chauffeur and housekeeper. She spread the word that she was heir to $500,000, they said, and began borrowing money from a number of persons claiming her inheritance was tied up.

Mrs. Chavuin told Detective Jack Wooley of the Michigan State Police that she was fed up and would plead guilty. She also resigned herself, Wooley said, "to spend the rest of my days in jail."

Mrs. Chavuin quipped: "Those people took me for a wealthy widow and were just as greedy as I was. I was after their money and they were after mine. I want to get the trial over with and get to the Detroit House of Correction by Christmas so I can spend the holidays with old friends."

Police say Mrs. Chavuin has had 15 aliases and a police record dating to 1934 for larceny by trick, forgery, parole violation, as an habitual offender, and for engaging in a confidence game.

Crash Names Twisted

Monday's Pontiac Press carried an accident story which erroneously stated that a car driven by Leroy R. White, 43, of 125 S. Airport Rd. was struck from behind by a vehicle operated by Ellis C. Seal, 62, of 251 W. Longfellow Ave. Saturday on Baldwin Avenue.

It was the Seal car which was hit by White who reported he was pushed into Seal when he also was struck from behind. Police have found no trace of a third car having been involved.

Wealth of Unusual and Attractive Items to Please Those Who Like Gift for Home

By JANET ODELL

Yesterday we talked about family gifts. Today let's see what we can buy for the house. Yes, we know some people hate getting gifts for the house. But others like them.

Tablecloths get prettier all the time. We've seen some beautiful hand painted ones with napkins matching one of the colors in the design. These cloths are made of linen.

One store sells an interesting barbecue set with seasoning salt and barbecue sauce, also a recipe book. According to the label on the sauce, it is "made from the recipe of an infamous and cantankerous old chuck wagon mechanic now gone to tend other fires."

This same store has metal ash trays made in the form of a leaf—very graceful looking.

Glass pitchers are always welcome gifts. You can get one design in sizes ranging from about half a cup all the way up to the two-quart size.

BEJEWELED DUSTPAN

If you go in for whimsical gifts, you might buy a gilded dustpan that is jeweled! Or matches with the recipient's name written on the folder in gold.

For friends with a fireplace there is a little item called Quick Fire. Wax string enables you to start fires quickly and easily.

If other friends don't have a fireplace, get them some incense named Campfire Memories. It is supposed to smell like "the natural aroma of an evergreen campfire."

Brass wastebaskets and magazine racks will fit into almost any scheme of house decoration. The magazine racks are either solid pieces or made of brass wire.

TABLE MIGHT PLEASE

Marble-topped tables are back in style. We saw a beautiful fruitwood lamp table with a white marble top. The table has two drawers in it.

An amusing plastic gadget we saw only last night is a small dispenser for salted nuts. It keeps the food clean and shells out just a handful of nuts at one time.

The Day in Birmingham City Increases Limits on West Maple Parking

BIRMINGHAM — City Commissioners not only upheld police Chief Ralph W. Moxley in his part-time parking ban on West Maple Avenue between Chester and Southfield Streets last night, but went one step farther.

It is their opinion that parking should be banned from this strip at all times because of heavy traffic.

Forbes Hascall, representing the Hersey family of 460 West Maple appeared before commissioners to request that early evening parking be permitted in front of their home for the convenience of their guests and those visiting residents in the apartment in their building. This was denied along with the complete parking ban.

The part-time parking plan had been on a temporary trial basis. Other measures set up at that time are still being tested, Moxley told commissioners.

Persons entering the Birmingham Post Office might at first glance jump to the conclusion that the governmental unit is taking in washing, but "nothing could be wrong."

In order to speed along the thousands of Christmas cards being mailed, several canvas baskets have been placed in the lobby, marked for mail to Birmingham, Michigan, but outside the city, and outside the state borders.

Postmaster Roland W. Reese says the baskets do away with the task of retrieving mail from the boxes behind the customary mailing slots.

Tremendous volume of mail fills these usual receptacles and additional pieces of mail cascade to the floor adding to time and increasing confusion, Reese commented.

Double deliveries are being made in the city daily to keep the incoming volume of mail from completely taking over postal headquarters.

Activities at the Community House beginning Thursday will include the Oakland County Civil Defense Dinner at 6:30 p.m. that day. Defense officials and mayors of cities in the area will meet to discuss plans.

At 7 p.m. that night, the Senior Planning Board will meet, while at 7:30 p.m., Recovery, Inc., Boy Scout Training Group, and Troop B-25 will meet.

At 10 a.m. Friday, the Girl Scout Council meeting is scheduled. The Horticultural Society meets at 7:30 p.m. Friday, and the Coterie Club and Civil Air Patrol have dances, slated for 9 p.m. that night.

Mrs. Frederic W. Sevin Service for Mrs. Frederic W. (Elizabeth) Sevin is set for 2 p.m. tomorrow at First Presbyterian Church, with burial to be in Erie, Pa.

Mrs. Sevin was active in Chi Omega Alumnae Assn., and the AAUW as well as the church and was a University of Michigan graduate. Her husband, her only survivor, is a Socony Mobil Oil Co. executive.

It is requested that tributes be given to the church's memorial fund.

Marie Flin, 28, and James Bass, 31, were recently married in Angier, N. C. They met on a fishing boat.

BIRMINGHAM—Requiem mass for Cassam A. Wilson, 53, 535 Hanna St., local attorney who died Saturday after a brief illness, was said at Holy Name Church this morning. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 8, 1903, he had lived in Birmingham for 10 years. Partner in a law firm, Wilson, Ingraham and Kavanagh, he practiced from their Pierce street offices.

He was a member of a committee of prominent citizens attempting this fall to organize a new bank in the city.

A graduate of the University of Michigan, he held BA and LL.D. degrees. He belonged to the New Center Exchange Club, Holy Name Church and its Ushers Club, Forest Lake Country Club, Detroit Bar Association, Association of the Bar of New York City, and Chi Psi fraternity.

He was also a member of the Board of Trustees for the Birmingham Community House.

Exchanges Complicate Gift Return

Girl Should Send Original Presents if Possible

By EMILY POST
A reader tells me: "I was given a shower two months ago. At this shower I received several duplicate presents which I took back to the stores and exchanged for other things I did not have and needed. Two weeks ago my engagement was broken and I am told that I have to return all the presents that were given to me."

"What do I do about the presents that I exchanged? Must I return the original presents, or would it be proper to send back the present I received in exchange, with a note of explanation? Will you please tell me what is the proper thing to do in this situation?"

Answer: If you can exchange the things back again for the original presents, that would be the thing to do. If you cannot do this, writing a note of explanation is all you can do.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it wrong to mark the envelope of a very personal letter to a member of a large family 'personal'? I have received such a letter from a friend and certain members of my family have taken offense—particularly my mother who considers it a gross insult to her integrity."

Answer: I agree with your mother. "Personal" on an envelope sent to your family address is discourteous because it indicates that the person writing to you thinks that someone in your family might open your letter.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My parents are going to announce my engagement at a family dinner soon. My fiancé's sister is 'planned' to a boy from out of town. Are we obliged to invite him to our engagement dinner? We had planned on having only the immediate families—that is, his parents and brothers and sisters and my parents and brothers and sisters."

Answer: If they are engaged, then he should be invited. If they are not engaged he does not have to be invited to this family party.

Right Cleaner Removes Stains of Tree Needles

Don't let your Christmas tree get you down during the holidays—all you have to do is remove pitch stains and needles with a drycleaning fluid.

Tree needles can stain a carpet and walking on them may grind them into the pile, so it is best to pick them up as soon as they fall. Any marks that are left by falling pitch from the tree or the needles can be wiped away by using some non-toxic cleaner on the stained area. Blot the spot with clean, white terry cloth or cleansing tissue, then rub lightly but be sure to start on the outside of the stain.

Do not use carbon tetrachloride as this solvent is highly poisonous.

One-half a million of the known organic chemicals can be produced from oil.

Water and Sewer Decisions Loom in 3 Townships

Apartment Planning Wins Sylvan Favor

Plans for a row of 18-apartment multiple dwelling units along Woodrow Wilson street in West Bloomfield Township, has won the interest of neighboring Sylvan Manor subdivision homeowners but awaits a township board decision.

The strip, long a problem as to development because of its running parallel to the railroad, between the track and Woodrow Wilson, is

Election Recount Tomorrow

Southfield to Check 38 Voting Machines of 12 Precincts

SOUTHFIELD — A recount of the Dec. 3 charter election will begin at 1 p.m. tomorrow, starting at the fire station at 13 Mile Road.

All 38 voting machines in the 12 precincts will be counted and checked with the figures given by the various chairmen of the election board, says chairman of the charter commission Leo J. Walton.

The recount, set up at a specially-called meeting of the charter group last night, had been asked by Ray Wood, Patrick Flannery and Vincent Sojo.

The claim that absentee ballots were improperly counted and machine tabulations read incorrectly.

The city charter lost by 43 votes.

Walton added that he anticipates no mistakes being found in the election figures.

Expecting to attend the recount are seven of the commissioners, with Mrs. Elizabeth Molnar, other member, advising the group she would be unable to be present.

Unused Well Now in Service

Residents Have Fresh Water After Cleaning, Parts Installation

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — A new well was put into operation for a section of the township last week, at a cost of about $1,000 to the township, reports Supervisor Albert Gain.

Residents there were traveling to Northville for water to bring back containers of water to their non-running-water homes. The well, put in years ago by the subdivider for community use, had fallen into disuse and its pump was broken.

Cleaning, a new screen and pump and installation of a hydrant was taken care of by the township board.

Many other homes in the township's "dry area" have shallow wells. "I'm worried about them, with water coming from only ten or twelve feet down, and septic fields close by," says the supervisor.

Our new health officer will help, though, he adds. Dr. Sylvan A. Broadman was named to the township health office last week by the board.

Blaze Damages Jack Frost Home

ROMEO — Fire and smoke caused an undetermined amount of damage to the Jack A. Frost home, 61741 Campground Rd., Washington, early yesterday afternoon.

A tinker was cleaning brass panelling behind the stove in the kitchen and had removed a switch plate when a spark from steel wool set fire to the cleaning fluid and nearby woodwork.

Home fire extinguishers were used and the flames were brought under control before Romeo and Washington volunteer firemen arrived. Local Fire Chief Walter Werth said smoke filled the home and flames had scorched the kitchen.

Gains Says Population Double Census

'We Need New Form of Government'

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — "We should have a different form of government," Township Supervisor Albert Gain said today as he talked of an organization meeting tonight of the township's new planning committee.

Up for nomination as the ninth board member at the meeting will be Harvey Freeman, who was dropped from membership in the township board's reorganization of the planning group last week.

Freeman, Percy Guardhouse, Joseph Meisel and Thomas Cornell had formed the previous board. Cornell resigned when the reorganization took place. The other two were named to the new group, along with Charles Ghesquire, Howard Warner, Charles Hamaan, Howard Wiest, and Ross Patterson.

"A City government would solve a lot of this bickering," Gain says, "there's only so much that a planning group in a township can do."

A lot of energy is misplaced," he said of the recent tempests in the township board and planning unit sessions over water and sewer problems. "We are working under the 1950 census, which says we have 10,000 people, and our population is actually double that figure."

"It makes a lot of difference in allocated money. Every day we have inquiries from people wanting to know when the township will install sewers and water here and there.

"With our funds, we just have to put those utilities where the centers of the population are. The other areas have to wait."

"City government might not be the answer, but some other form would help," he said, comparing the area to that of Livonia at the time of its incorporation.

"We don't have the industry of Livonia," he says. "They have about two-thirds of their revenue coming from industry, while we are practically all residential. But we do have some industry."

State Asking 52 Inch Pipe on Farmington Interceptor

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Enlargement by ten inches of the proposed piping of the Farmington Interceptor sewer has been requested by the state, according to Max Sheldon, coordinator for the interceptor plans.

Cost of the proposed sewer, estimated at about $2,000,000, may rise if the request is complied with, officials say.

The drain, which will run from Keego Harbor through Orchard Lake, West Bloomfield Township and Farmington Township, may be delayed by the requirement.

Farmington Township supervisor Albert Gain said after receiving Sheldon's advice yesterday.

Presently planned for 42 inches, the pipeline size should be 52 inches, according to the state, Sheldon wrote Gain.

Cost may not be too much, since excavating will remain the same, Gain said. Sheldon had advanced no estimate of boosted cost.

"But," Gain adds, "Everytime you add $100,000 that's that much more we have to scrape up."

"If the state feels we should install pipe large enough for the 1980 population, they should help pay for it," he jests.

"We'll have to go back to the subdividers and builders, who have been very cooperative with cost plans to this point, and see if the extra money is available," he said.

Gain looks toward other delays on the interceptor, which the engineering firm a month ago said might see construction start next year.

Bonding difficulties might also set back the construction, he surmises, pointing to recent bond advertising which has attracted no bids whatsoever.

Canadian Grain Has Good Year

Record Best Season Since 1945 as Last Ships Load Cargo

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Dec. 17 — Canadian grain shippers yesterday reported "a very good year" as elevators poured about 600,000 bushels of grain into the last three ships to head East, bringing the year's total to a healthy 365,000,000 bushels.

The total is well above the 1934 total of 292,000,000 bushels and the 266,000,000 bushels in 1935. More than 450,000,000 bushels were shipped in the record year of 1945.

Two ships, the Hagerty and Glencaig, were expected to arrive here to load grain before going into winter berths. They will bring the year's arrivals to 1,305, compared with 999 in 1935. Icebreakers have been busy keeping slips open for the boats braving late-sailing hazards.

Determining factor in shipping cut-offs in most years is the operation of the locks at Sault Ste. Marie. Although the locks usually close Dec. 15, locks on the American side will stay open until Jan. 1 this year to allow passage of ore shipments, slowed earlier in the year by a strike.

Insurance rates rise progressively as winter conditions worsen on the lakes.

Heavy shipments of grain mean more space in elevators for further shipments from country elevators on the prairies. Most elevators now are only half full and railways are bringing in grain at a normal rate.

Navigation to the Lakehead opened this year April 5. The last move of the season, either today or Wednesday, will be the removal of lighthouse keepers from their posts after the last two ships are escorted to their winter berths.

County Group Elects Engineers to Board

The Oakland County Engineering Society today announced the election of its new board of directors for 1937.

Elected president was Arnold Marens, of Walled Lake. The first and second vice-presidents, respectively, are John Picard, of Bloomfield Hills, and Jesse Medlen, of Ortonville.

Other officers are James Taylor, Senior Director, of Ferndale; Thomas Brien, Intermediate Director, of Berkley; Howard Stiffler, Junior Director, of Birmingham; James Baynes, Secretary, of 441 Lowell St., Pontiac; and Roy Goodspeed, Treasurer, of Ferndale.

No Flood, No Mud No More

It's a New Year, a New Yule for Yuba

YUBA CITY, Calif. — A new Yuba City, with a strong new spirit, has risen out of flood rubble of its grim Christmas of 1935. The broken levee has been packed solid. Homes have been rebuilt, business buildings remodeled. The streets are dry and clean, and most of the flood scars removed.

Yule trees are going up in homes where a year ago water and mud covered everything. Gay and colorful decorations brighten downtown streets where rescue workers had traveled about by boat.

Stores are jammed with shoppers, and business is good. Dale Tressler, president of the Yuba City Merchants Assn., reports sales up as much as 40 per cent over last year.

A toy dealer says: "The children of this town missed Christmas last year. This time their parents all seem to want to make up for it."

Many townspeople say they are in better shape now than they were before the flood.

Miss Helen Ferguson came home to find her little house had floated into the next block. "But I found out I had a lot of friends," she said. They put up new siding and installed a patio with an ultramodern sun roof.

"It's nicer than it ever was," said the delighted owner.

City Administrator Edward McCombs said:

"Every one of those houses that was reconstructed had to be rebuilt in accordance with the building code. Many of them are stronger and safer than they ever were."

Something is being done to make sure Yuba City is never caught without warning again, said Col. Wilbur R. Pierce, the new full-time director of the county-city disaster office.

"We can never guarantee the levee won't ever break again," he said. "But we can assure people that they will be given timely warning."

The colonel, an ex-artilleryman, said an early-warning system coordinated with the State Department of Water Resources and the U. S. Weather Bureau will give plenty of advance notice of flood danger.

Mrs. Ruth McCampbell, Red Cross chapter director, said the Red Cross spent four million dollars in Sutter County on flood relief and rehabilitation.

About 7,500 families suffered some sort of loss. Nearly 4,000 received Red Cross grants, The HONORED QUEEN — Oril Ann Holmes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holmes of Commerce, will be installed publicly Jan. 12, at 7:30 p.m. in Commerce Masonic Temple. She recently was elected honored queen of Commerce Bethel No. 23, Job's Daughters.

Oril, holder of the 1935 Coy Honor ribbon for Job's Daughters, recently won second place in the Mobile Economy run held at Walled Lake High School, where she is a junior. She also has attended Commerce Methodist Sunday School for 13 years without missing a Sunday.

organization rebuilt 14 homes and repaired 1,192 others.

"And yet of all the families who suffered, I only know of about a half dozen who gave up and left," Mrs. McCampbell said.

Hans Miller, executive director of the Sutter County Housing Authority, estimates that only about 50 families throughout the county still haven't been able to move back into their homes.

Yuba City replaced its mayor, police chief, city administrator and four city councilmen since the flood.

Now it has grown together again — closer than ever. People are civil minded. And there's a feeling that "we all came through something together."

200 to Enact Yule Program at Walled Lake

WALLED LAKE — Over 200 students will take part in the Walled Lake Senior High School Christmas program for the PTA and the public on Thursday at 8 p.m. in the High School gymnasium.

The band will open the program by playing six seasonal numbers under the baton of Helmut Holland-Moritz.

Part two is the story of Christmas with Al Eoston, a student, as narrator. Other members of Mrs. William Duckwitz's speech class are cast in seven tableaux.

Mrs. Ronald Lamontagne's vocal music classes will provide appropriate music to accompany the narration and tableaux.

Janice McBroom will be the soloist and Mary Thibodeau will accompany the choruses.

The program will be given for the high school student body during the day.

Royal Oaker Wins Rhodes Scholarship

ROYAL OAK — David W. Baad, a University of Michigan student from this city, is Michigan's only representative on a 32-person list of those winning Rhodes scholarships.

He will be eligible for at least two years' study at Oxford University in England. He is expected to enter next fall.

Baad, who will be 22 on Christmas Day, is assistant to the dean of men at U. of M., and is working on his master's degree in Far Eastern Studies. He lives at 2514 Galpin St.

Rhodes scholars are selected on the basis of academic achievement and leadership qualities under a plan begun in 1903 under the will of Cecil Rhodes, an Englishman who became a South African millionaire.

About 70 students from the U. S. and Britain attend Oxford each year on the scholarships.

Illini Spoil Don's Win Streak

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — College of San Francisco Coach Phil Woolpert's pet weapons.

The defense-minded Dons had not been beaten since the third game of the 1954-55 season when UCLA whipped them 47-40.

"The end was bound to come," said Woolpert after the game, "and I'm glad it was against a good team like Illinois."

There wasn't much doubt about the Illini's victory. Illinois moved to an 8-0 lead, boosted it to 31-15 at halftime and then refused to let up.

Center George Bon Salle led the attack with 19 points while his teammates bottled up the Dons. San Francisco was limited to 20 shots in the first half and 12 baskets in the entire game. Six of the 12 Dons were held scoreless. The Dons had won five straight this season and their first victory set a record for consecutive games won. Their 56th triumph surpassed the all-time record of 55 by Peru, Neb. Teachers in the 1920s.

The Dons were beaten last Saturday by the U.S. Olympic team in a pre-holiday Chicago Stadium tournament, 83-52, but the loss didn't count since the game was considered an exhibition.

"I thought Illinois did a real good job," Woolpert said. "We have a better team than it looked — at least the way it played — tonight."

"I don't know if we could have beaten Illinois even if we had played our best because Illinois was really fired up tonight. I've never seen a team so fired up."

Woolpert said he thought Bon Salle was good but added San Francisco center Mike Farmer did an excellent job against Bon Salle.

Illinois Coach Harry Combes said he was "satisfied" with his team's showing and praised Farmer, who was San Francisco's outstanding performer with five baskets for 10 points. Al Dunbar scored 12 points, eight on free throws.

The victory was undefeated Illinois' fourth of the season.

Bob Boyd to Undergo 2nd Operation Today

BALTIMORE (AP) — A second operation was scheduled today for first baseman Bob Boyd of the Baltimore Orioles who broke his left elbow on a mighty throw from the outfield last spring.

X-rays taken yesterday indicated the original fracture apparently has healed but that a thin strand of wire inserted in the elbow last spring to speed the healing process had snapped.

West Virginia Five Manhandles Broncs

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Western Michigan was hardly in the game after the three-minute mark last night as the Broncs bowed, 103-75, to Marshall which opened defense of its Mid-America Conference basketball crown.

Marshall, now 3-1 overall this season, went ahead 8-4, then doubled the score twice more to a 42-21 halftime bulge.

Iowa Line Coach Lauds Hawkeyes

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The University of Iowa's line coach, Bob Flora, said his piece about the Hawkeyes, who play Oregon State in the Rose Bowl New Year's Day, and he let it be known the team is tough.

Flora told the Football Writers Assn. yesterday while Coach Forest Evashevski was drilling the squad in East Los Angeles Junior College stadium:

"Our team improved from week to week. We have 11 solid players and great morale. This is probably the soundest defensive team we've had at Iowa. It isn't a flashy team but it is rugged and durable."

"We'll be at full strength for the game. I don't know what condition the boys are in, but I know we're going to have to work hard for a week because of the change in climate and because we were set back by snow and cold weather. We haven't been able to run outdoors in several weeks."

Asked to compare the Big Ten teams, Flora dodged. "It's too difficult," he said. "In the Big Ten you have to put forth your very best every week to win."

Has Iowa improved? "Yes," Flora said, "primarily on techniques."

As to the type of offense, Flora called it "more of a grinding attack than a flashy, quick scoring one."

Coach Tommy Prothro of Oregon State wasn't here because the team hadn't arrived, but through John Eggers of OSC, who had talked long distance with him, he relayed this bit of information: "I don't think we could beat Iowa even if we repeated the best game we played this season."

Sooners Also Students — 4 Named to 'Brain' Team

NEW YORK (INS) — When an encyclopedia goes about selecting an all-star collegiate football team, it's only natural that marks are considered — classroom marks, that is.

All-America Tommy McDonald, sensational Oklahoma halfback, was among the players named today by the American Peoples Encyclopedia for its 4th annual list of all-conference scholastic teams in seven major collegiate conferences.

Included in the selections are players who made "B" or better classroom average while starring on the football field.

The national champion Sooners placed four men on the Big Seven "brain" team. In addition to McDonald, ends Bob Timberlake and John Bell and quarterback Jay O'Neal were selected for scholastic prowess.

Some of the nation's outstanding players figured in this year's

'D' Cagers Steal Show

The Wolverines, Boys Club and Peitz Market emerged victorious Monday night at the Lincoln Junior High gym as Class D teams swung into action in the City basketball League.

Meanwhile, CIO Local 594 nosed out Both Homes and Griff's Grill bowed to the Pontiac Police in adult attractions at Pontiac High.

In Class D games, Rudy Quinke scored 12 points to spark the Wolverines to a 31-22 victory over State Spartans; Boys Club conquered Bussey's Whirlwinds, 49-45, and Peitz Market edged Both Homes, 57-36.

Boys Club downed Bussey's team despite a 20-point scoring effort by Bussey's Perry Williams, which was tops for the game. Gordy Clayton led the Boys Club with 19 points.

A 15 to 2 scoring edge for Peitz in the 3rd quarter eventually proved the difference in the Market squad's narrow win over Both. Bud Hayward paced the winners with 18 points.

Mei Taylor's field goal in the last second of play broke a 70-70 deadlock and gave the CIO a 72-70 decision over Both Homes. Taylor took scoring honors with

Steelers Head Denies He's Firing Coaches

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Art Rooney, president of the Pittsburgh Steelers, last night denied reports that he plans to fire Walt Kiesling, head coach, and every member of the coaching staff.

Rooney said he conferred with Kiesling yesterday "and I decided to do nothing for a month or two,

The Dons' loss to the U. S. Olympic team 83-52 Saturday, was in a game rated as an exhibition and did not count in the season standings. The Illini were ranked fifth.

North Carolina picked up 12 firsts more than anybody except Kansas, to move into third place. Coach Frank McGuire's team will play at Madison Square Garden Thursday and at Boston over the weekend.

Southern Methodist edged up a step to fourth with two firsts, followed by Illinois, Louisville, Ken-

SCORTICINI SCORCHED — Bleeding from the eye after a first round knockdown, Willie Graves of Edmonton, Alberta, connects with a right to the head of Italo Scorticini of Italy in final round of 10-round bout in St. Nicholas' Arena, New York, last night. Scorticini gained unanimous decision.

3-Way Battle Develops for NBS Scoring Lead

NEW YORK — The scoring race, with a third of the National Basketball Assn. season completed, has narrowed down to a three-way affair among Paul Arizin and Neil Johnston of the Philadelphia Warriors and St. Louis' Bob Pettit — each a former champion.

Weekly statistics released by the league today show Arizin in the lead by 10 points over Johnston with Pettit 23 behind. Arizin has 600 and Johnston 590 points, each in 24 games. Pettit has collected 577 in 23 starts.

By playing in one less game, Pettit has the top per game average — 25.1 to 25.0 for Arizin and 24.6 for Johnston.

Although the averages aren't especially high, scoring continues at a record pace in the pro games. Last week, the average per game in 13 games played was 104 points. Boston, New York, and Philadelphia all are averaging better than 100 a game for the season, led by Boston with 104.4.

Other individual leaders are Johnston in field goal percentage with .481, Bill Sharman of Boston in free throw percentage with .926. Maurice Stokes of Rochester in rebounds with 390, and Boston's Bob Cousy in assists with 175.

The scoring leaders:

Scorticini Wins Over Greaves

Italo in Line for a Bout With Giardello After Unanimous Victory

NEW YORK — Italo Scorticini heads towards a bout with Joey Giardello and Willie Greaves goes home to Edmonton, Alberta after last night's unanimous decision at St. Nicholas Arena.

The International Boxing Club may match Scorticini, 25, with Giardello on its TV schedule.

Jake Mintz, Greaves manager, who never is at a loss for words was yelling his loudest in the dressing room.

"They bumped heads," said Jake explaining both the first round knockdown and cut left eye suffered by his newest "tiger."

"He didn't know where he was for four rounds," said Mintz. "You didn't see the real Greaves fight."

Scorticini had a different version of the knockdown.

"It was my right hand," he said holding the hand or high. "Next you know he'll be saying somebody else hit him."

It was Greaves' first knockdown in his brief 16-bout pro career since leaving the amateurs. It was also his first cut, according to Mintz, a gash that required eight stitches.

County to Send Largest Group to GOP Meet

Oakland County again will have the largest delegation of any Congressional district in the state Republican convention in Detroit Feb. 9, county chairman Chad M. Ritchie said today.

Official computations based on the number of GOP votes cast for secretary of state Nov. 6 give the county a delegation of 141, 17 more than went to Grand Rapids for the nominating convention Sept. 1.

County precinct delegates will meet Jan. 30 in the County Office Building to select the 141 state delegates, Ritchie said. The county convention will begin at 8 p.m.

A total of 1,549 official delegates will meet in the Henry and Edsel Ford Auditorium in Detroit Feb. 9 to pick Republican candidates for State Highway Commissioner, Superintendent of Public Instruction, two members each for the State Board of Regents and State Board of Agriculture, one member of the State Board of Education and three Justices of the Supreme Court to run on the non-partisan ballot.

Delegate apportionment for each county was set at one for each 950 votes cast in the Nov. 6 election. Oakland County's GOP total for secretary of state was 134,172. State Chairman John Feikens said the Executive Committee increased the ratio from one delegate for each 650 votes because of the heavy Republican turnout in the election.

Heaviest interest in the spring elections will be in the post of Highway Commissioner. Incumbent Charles M. Ziegler, who has been under heavy fire from Democrats and some Republicans, announced Friday he will not seek re-election. His chief deputy, George M. Foster, has announced he will seek the job. Foster may face opposition from Grand Rapids Mayor Paul Goebel, a civil engineer and former University of Michigan All-American end.

Feikens himself, whose job is at stake in the convention, may be opposed by J. Addington Wagner, of Battle Creek, former Michigan commander of the American Legion.

Canal Could Be Cleared Quickly

But U.N. Has to Hurry in Order to Use Ships of British-French

LONDON (U) — Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd stated yesterday British and French salvage ships and crews could clear the blocked Suez Canal in seven weeks if given the chance.

He told the House of Commons clearance of the canal would take at least double that time — and probably much longer — if the United Nations declines to use British-French resources.

His declaration followed a statement by an informed source in Paris that the United Nations had better hurry if it wants to use the British-French salvage fleet. He fixed a Wednesday deadline, indicating that was when French and British forces would be out of Port Said.

Unless the 15 ships and their crews are called upon before then, and assured of U. N. protection, this informant said, the salvage fleet will be withdrawn. He said the U. N. has been informed of the situation.

Lloyd also said Britain is prepared to allow its salvage ships, crews and equipment to be used under United Nations auspices in the clearing operations provided effective protection is given to them by the U. N. policing force.

He explained the British government has agreed to release two German heavy lifting vessels and their tugs now on charter to the Admiralty — provided the owners and crews agreed to continue canal-clearing work. British salvage vessels have cleared two channels through the wreck-littered canal at Port Said, but most of the 103-mile waterway remains blocked by sunken ships and blown-up bridges.

Cold Trek to Washington Alaska 'Solons' on Way

SEATTLE (U) — A senator without a seat and a congressman with nothing but constituents arrived here last night from Alaska after the coldest trek prospective lawmakers ever made toward the national capital.

"Sen." William Egan and "Rep." Ralph Rivers and their wives reached here after a seven-day, 2,300-mile trip on which the lubricants in one of their cars froze when it stalled in 65-below-zero cold.

They hope their quest of statehood for the northern territory, bigger than Texas, will be warmer than their trip.

Egan and Rivers, with "Sen." Ernest Gruening, a former Alaska governor who was in the States ahead of them, were elected to Congress under the so-called Alaska-Tennessee plan. All are Democrats.

The plan got its name from the Police Embarrassed by Honest Prisoner

PHOENIX, Ariz. (U) — A highway patrolman, bringing in a prisoner for drunk driving, stopped at the desk to check his gun. It's a rule that officers can't take their pistols near the jail where prisoners might grab them.

As the patrolman slapped his pistol on the desk, the prisoner reached into his pocket and brought out his own gun.

"Here," he said, "you better take mine, too."

Police were so embarrassed they refused to give out the name of either the patrolman or his prisoner.

Debate Refunds by Gas Firm

State Group Mediates Argument on Rebate by Consolidated

LANSING (U) — When are some 360,000 Michigan gas users going to get refunds for overcharges they paid three and four years ago?

The question, eventually to be decided by the state Public Service Commission, still appeared far from an answer today after a wordy hearing Monday consuming several hours.

The principal combatants in the dispute are Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and one of its bulk suppliers, Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co.

In separate cases, the two utilities are battling each other over gas marketing rights to industry.

The potential refund, totaling four million dollars more or less—depending on another dispute going on in Washington, stems from a rate increase put into effect by Panhandle in 1932.

Michigan Consolidated raised its rates accordingly, but later on Panhandle was obliged by federal authorities to rescind the rate increase and to rebate revenues derived from it. Earlier this year, Panhandle refunded to Michigan Consolidated.

Michigan Consolidated in September outlined a plan to the commission under which it says an average of $3.70 would go to ordinary household gas users, $10 to $16 to space-heating customers and a total of $713,000 to commercial and industrial users.

However, it says it wants to await the outcome of an argument before the Federal Power Commission in Washington over how much, if any, these amounts should be raised because of accumulated interest, so the refund can be completed in a single operation.

Yesterday, Panhandle objected to the Michigan Consolidated position, and urged the Public Service Commission to order immediate payment of money for refunds now on hand.

Spokesmen for the cities of Detroit and Mt. Pleasant appeared to argue that Michigan Consolidated should be required to pay a larger amount in refunds.

Commissioner James H. Lee introduced the question of how much of the administrative cost of actually paying the refunds should be borne by Michigan Consolidated.

As he rambled in making his point, expressions of impatience came from Chairman John H. McCarthy, and an angry exchange ensued.

Finally, the hearing broke up with nothing decided.

Hollywood to Rival TV Moviegoers Get Scoop on Censorship Revision

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (U) — What will the new revision in the film industry's censorship code mean to you, the moviegoer?

You'll see franker movies, but not necessarily sexier ones. You'll see more chaste kissing, hear more "damns" and "hells." You'll see treatments of previously banned moral and social problems.

Last week's announcement of the first big change in the film industry's self-censorship code in 26 years was long expected. Recently producers have been ranking under hard and fast rules. They wanted to deal with topics their rivals in TV could tackle frankly.

They felt they needed more freedom to lure the fickle public back to the theater.

But the code revisions brought not only freedom. Some rules became stricter. This was the result of other forces. Foreign censors have long complained that Hollywood movies are too brutal. Church groups, especially the Catholics, have criticized increasing sexiness of films.

So provisions concerning brutality and sex have been tightened. Other elements in the code changes:

1. Miscegenation is no longer mentioned in the code. That gives the green light to the recently filmed "Island in the Sun."

2. Abortion, white slavery and dope addiction, completely banned until now, may be treated on the screen but with restrictions.

3. Open-mouthed kissing is banned.

4. The code now admits the use of "hell" and "damn" can be dramatically valid, but advises restraint.

5. More limitations are placed on seduction, rape and details of crime.

6. Nudity is still forbidden, but, oddly, infants' sex organs can now be shown.

7. Bans on sex perversion, venereal disease and sex hygiene still remain.

The results of the code revision will not be completely seen for a year, when today's scripts will hit the screen. Even then, the change-over will be gradual. Hollywood has learned not to make drastic changes in its moral positions, lest a multitude of censors sweep down on the industry.

Tomorrow: How and why the code originated. How it operates.

Discuss Limit of Bridge Speed

Officials Eye 45 M.P.H. as Possible Maximum for Straits Span

LANSING (AP)—Mackinac Bridge Authority members are talking about a 45 miles an hour maximum speed on the Straits bridge.

However, a decision will have to await the recommendation of traffic experts, says Prentiss M. Brown, authority chairman.

The authority has asked the highway traffic safety center at Michigan State University to study this and other questions about how to manage traffic on the bridge.

One of the problems under discussion is how to deal with automobile breakdowns on the 100 million dollar structure, due for completion next year.

Brown said the bridge probably will be patrolled continuously, and disabled cars towed to one end or the other at the motorist's expense.

The chairman said that the toll charge will in all likelihood be fixed on a per car basis, rather than on the combination car-passenger formula used in the Straits ferry service.

The amount of the charge is expected to roughly equal the ferry toll—between $3 and $3.50 now on most trips.

Pays Back Taxes to Clear Conscience

LANSING (AP)—The state got a $210 Christmas present today from a conscience-plagued man who paid up some back taxes on his motor boat.

Secretary of State James M. Hare said the morning mail brought the season's first "conscience money." The letter said:

"Dear Sir: Enclosed you will find $210. The money should go to the watercraft tax fund."

"For some years I have owned a pleasure craft and have failed to pay the tax."

"The Bible tells Christians to pay tribute to whom tribute is due and to this end is this money sent."

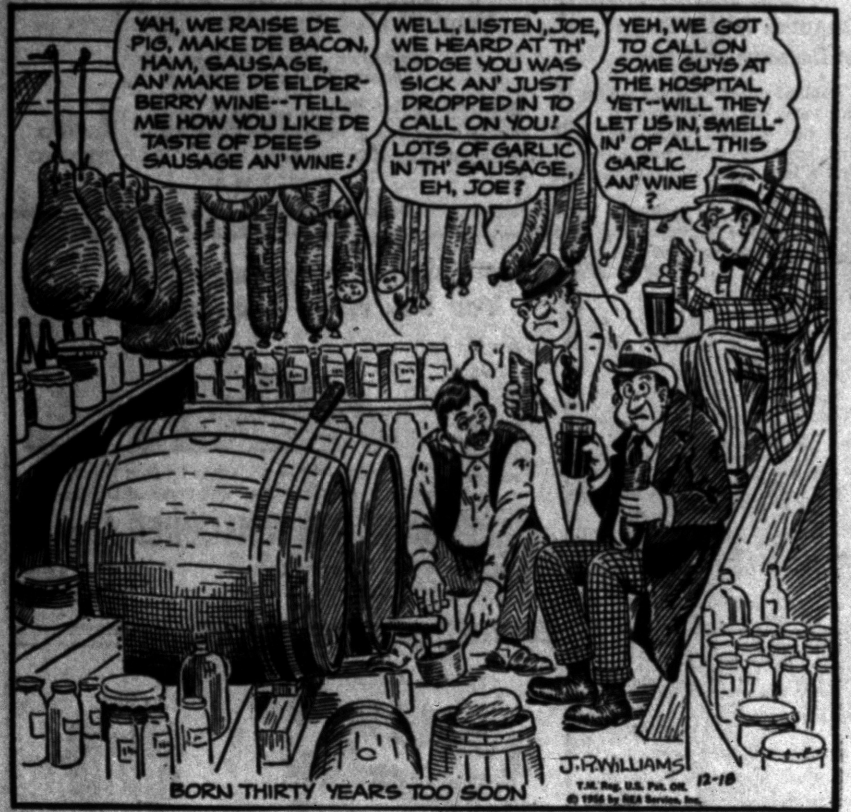

Small Thief—Big Haul

DECATUR, Ill. (AP)—Circumstances show that the thief who burglarized the south side tavern was small-sized. The entry was gained through a rear window which measured 12 by 15 inches. Owner Harry Schneider reported $200 was taken.
