2nd Paratroop Drop Saves Congo Whites

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Belgian paratroopers landed at daybreak today at Paulis, last major rebel stronghold in the northern Congo, and swiftly began rescuing some 300 white hostages, including seven Americans.

Intensive ground fire hit four of the seven U.S. Air Force C130 transport planes in the operation but all were reported to have landed safely. One paratrooper was killed and five injured.

A U.S. Embassy spokesman here said the Belgians had "secured" the town in about two hours. Rebel sniper fire was continuing, however.

The Belgians shepherded the first group of whites aboard a transport plane for evacuation to Leopoldville. The flight included 34 men, 1 woman and 19 children.

The embassy spokesman said 267 paratroopers were flown to Paulis, 244 miles north of Stanleyville.

American and Belgian military officers kept the other 350 Belgian paratroopers at Stanleyville airport.

SECOND RESCUE

Today's dramatic rescue operation was the second and apparently final operation by the Belgian and American forces in the Congo.

In Washington, high U. S. officials said the next move would be to get the paratroop units out of the troubled central African country as quickly as possible.

In the first rescue mission Tuesday, the paratroopers were flown from Kamina Air Base near Leopoldville and quickly freed about 1,510 white hostages at Stanleyville, the rebel capital.

The paratroopers made a few

Dixie Killers Known by FBI

Agency Is Collecting Evidence to Prosecute

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The FBI knows who killed the three young civil rights workers at Philadelphia, Miss., last summer as well as who was responsible for the fatal bombing of a Birmingham church in 1963.

An FBI spokesman admitted officially for the first time yesterday that the agency knew the identity of the slayers of Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both of New York City, and James Chaney, 21, a Meridian, Miss., Negro.

He said that "intensive investigation is continuing to develop the case for prosecution as quickly as possible."

The bodies of the three men were found in a deep grave near an earthen dam in the vicinity of Philadelphia, Miss., about two months after they disappeared last June 21. All three had been shot.

★ ★ ★

The investigation into the Sept. 15, 1963, church bombing showed that a small group of Ku Klux Klansmen were believed responsible for the tragedy, the FBI spokesman said. Four Negro children were killed in the church blast.

'PREMATURE ARRESTS'

But, he said, "This investigation was prejudiced by premature arrests made by the Alabama Highway Patrol and, consequently, it has not yet been possible to obtain evidence or confessions that would assure successful prosecution."

The FBI statement was a reply to charges by the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. and other Negro leaders that the FBI was not providing adequate protection for Negroes in the South.

King, winner of the 1964 Nobel Peace Prize, had cited the lack of arrests in the Philadelphia and Birmingham killings in a telegram to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

★ ★ ★

King said those and other incidents showed inadequate FBI protection for Negroes in the South.

2 Ships Crash in Heavy Fog off N. J. Coast

No Early Indication of Death Toll; Report 33 Crewmen in Sea

NEW YORK (AP) — The Israeli luxury liner Shalom and a Norwegian tanker collided in heavy fog off the coast of New Jersey today, slicing the tanker in two and opening the liner's bow.

There were no immediate reports of deaths, but 33 crewmen from the sinking stern section of the tanker were reported to be in the water.

The Shalom, with 600 pleasure cruise passengers aboard, radioed that she did not require immediate assistance.

Also reported to be in no immediate danger were the 10 crewmen aboard the bow of the severed tanker, the Stolt Dagali out of Oslo.

Despite the fog, a Coast Guard helicopter removed a woman patient from the Shalom, pride of the Zim Israel Lines. She was flown to the Lakehurst, N.J., Naval Air Station.

INTERNAL BLEEDING

She was said to be suffering from extensive internal bleeding, not explained in early messages from the liner which carries doctors.

As rescue vessels groped toward the scene, 28 miles southeast of the Ambrose Lightship marking the approach to New York Harbor, the Shalom lowered lifeboats onto calm but obscured seas to search for the tanker crewmen in the water.

Ambulances sped to the Point Pleasant Beach, N.J., pier to take the rescued men to a hospital.

The collision occurred 17 miles northeast of Barnegate Light shortly after 2 a.m., just three hours after the Shalom left a Manhattan pier for a cruise in the West Indies. The 24,500-ton liner made her maiden call on New York last spring.

★ ★ ★

The 12,723-ton tanker, carrying solvents and fats, was en route from Philadelphia to New York.

The Shalom turned back for New York, but her damage and the fog were expected to add more than an hour to the return trip.

Shortly after 5 a.m., the Coast Guard reported both sections of the tanker still afloat but said the stern was almost submerged. This report did not include the fate of the 33 seamen in the water.

8 Persons Die in Dixie Crash

OLANTA, S. C. (UPI) — Eight persons, including a family of six from Long Island, N.Y., were killed early today in a two-car collision on U.S. 301.

★ ★ ★

Only one of the victims was identified immediately. He was Demetrio Julio Cruz, 20, of Orlando, Fla., driving alone in one of the vehicles.

★ ★ ★

Kelton Floyd, of Floyd's Funeral Home here, said the other victims were three adults and four children, all riding in a station wagon.

Nation Gives Thanks

By the Associated Press

A nation grateful for the blessings of peace and prosperity celebrated Thanksgiving Day today with prayers, parades, family reunions and turkey dinners.

★ ★ ★

It was a nation that could hardly forget the somber mood of last Thanksgiving, which came within a week of the assassination of President John F. Kennedy.

President Johnson said in a message to the armed forces, issued in Johnson City, Tex.:

"Today all Americans thank the blessings of the Lord for the bounty of their land. In homes at peace, in houses of worship that are untouched by rancor or anger, families are gathered in gratitude for all that God has given them and for the blessings that He has rained upon our nation."

★ ★ ★

He noted that many servicemen would not be with their families. "But all of us here at home remember you with gratitude," he said.

KENNEDY FAMILY

Mrs. John F. Kennedy and her children, Caroline, who will be 7 Friday, and John, who was 4 yesterday, spent the day with her brother-in-law, Sen.-elect Robert F. Kennedy in Glen Cove, N.Y.

Across the nation families gathered for the holiday. Heavy rain in the East and blowing snow in the Midwest disrupted transportation on the holiday eve.

Many flights to John F. Kennedy Airport were diverted to other cities Wednesday night. The rains slowed bus and automobile traffic in the New York metropolitan area.

★ ★ ★

Churches held special services and in some communities Protestants and Catholics joined in a common observance of Thanksgiving, a practice begun last year in the new spirit of church unity.

CELEBRATIONS

The day was celebrated in Plymouth, Mass., which most Americans think of as the site of the first Thanksgiving, and in Virginia, which claims that Berkeley Hundred, near Jamestown, Va., held the original Thanksgiving.

The Virginians say the Thanksgiving celebration there in 1619 was the first, has been held annually and was religious in nature, in contrast to what they call the revelry that the Pilgrims indulged in two years later at Plymouth.

In his proclamation earlier this month, President Johnson paid tribute to both, as did President Kennedy in his last proclamation.

★ ★ ★

Parades signaled today the approach of the next big holiday, Christmas. They were being held in New York City, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Albuquerque, N.M.; Charlotte, N.C., and Detroit, among other cities.

TURKEY DINNERS

Cities, churches, charity groups and individuals provided turkey dinners for the poor and homeless in many areas.

Saigon Fears More Rioting

Viet Council Meets After Youth Is Killed

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The National Security Council met in emergency session today to consider measures against fresh waves of anti-government rioting that resulted in Saigon being placed under martial law.

★ ★ ★

It was the first meeting of the council since street demonstrations began Sunday, threatening to topple the fledgling civilian government.

Authorities feared the killing of a 15-year-old boy, first known victim of the rioting, would touch off new and wider demonstrations. More than 100 have been injured.

As the youth's body was put on display in Buddhist headquarters, a Western observer commented, "They have their martyr; now all hell could break loose."

★ ★ ★

Buddhist leaders met at the national pagoda and a spokesman said a demonstration probably would be staged Monday.

BROAD POWERS

Under the nation's provisional constitution the council has broad powers, including authority to replace Premier Tran Van Hong. It is headed by the chief of state, Phan Khoa Suu, and includes Huong as well as former Premier Nguyen Khanh who is now military commander.

★ ★ ★

Premier Huong imposed martial law Wednesday night after rioting described as possibly the year's worst. Even after the law went into effect a crowd of youths clashed with police and a grenade blast injured seven policemen.

Snow Flurries and Cold Winds Head for Pontiac

Turkeys may be happier on the table than outside today with high winds, cold temperatures, and snow flurries forecast. The high expected is 38 to 46.

Tonight will be partly cloudy with a low of 12 to 20 predicted.

Tomorrow also will be partly cloudy and cold. A high of 22 to 30 is expected.

Saturday's outlook is cloudy with light snow.

Winds this morning were southwesterly at five to 15 miles an hour. They were to shift to the northwest at 15 to 25 miles an hour this afternoon.

The thermometer recorded a low of 37 before 7 a.m. today. At 10 a.m. the mercury stood at 38 in downtown Pontiac.

2 P. M. Tomorrow

To Dedicate Wide Track

Dedication ceremonies for Pontiac's loop road — Wide Track Drive — are scheduled for 2 p.m. tomorrow.

State and city officials will gather on the south corner of Wide Track and West Huron for the formal ceremonies.

A 1965 Pontiac will be driven through a ribbon stretched across the multilane road in a change from the traditional "ribbon cutting."

Speakers for the program will be Howard Hill, managing director of the State Highway Department, Mayor William H. Taylor Jr., former Mayor Philip E. Rowston, Willis Brewer, of the Pontiac office of the Secretary of State, and Max Adams, manager of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce, master of ceremonies.

★ ★ ★

Some 30 city and state officials, along with business and civic leaders, are slated to attend the dedication.

The Pontiac Northern High School band will provide music for the ceremony, beginning at 1 p.m.

West Huron will be closed at Williams about 1 p.m. to clear traffic for the dedication.

2 Teens Feared Drowned as Raft Rams Into Bridge

NATCHITOCHES, La. (AP) — Search units combed the Red River today for two teen-aged boys, missing after the homemade raft on which they and nine others were on smashed into a bridge piling and capsized.

"We heard one of them cry out," said Randy Ulmer, one of the survivors. "He said, 'I'm hurting.' We couldn't find him."

Missing and presumed drowned in the swirling Red River were Danny Tedford, 15, and Joe Warren, 13, both of Dallas, Tex.

Tedford and Warren were in a group of nine boys from a camp for underprivileged youths sponsored by the Dallas Salesmanship Club at Hawkins, a Dallas suburb.

★ ★ ★

Two counselors, Gerald Bible of Cisco, Tex., and Ken Edgar of Tyler, Tex., were with the boys, who planned to float down the Red River to its conjunction with the Mississippi and on to New Orleans.

NO GAS

Edgar said the outboard motor on the 35-foot raft—planks lashed to empty oil drums — ran out of gas as they were trying to beach the craft for the night.

"We were trying to get across the river to make camp for the night and I thought we had it made. All of a sudden we were coming up to a logjam piled up at the piling.

"I told everybody, "Hang on, we're going to hit,' " Edgar continued.

"In a split second we turned over. Several boys were pinned under the raft."

WARM UP

As the survivors warmed up, Randy Ulmer pointed to Danny Luton and said: "That boy right there saved three lives. He pulled a plank up that one of the counselors (Bible) was caught under.

"Another one of the boys was hanging on and Danny pulled him out. I was hanging on to a leg and he helped me."

LONDON (AP) — Five members of a family burned to death early today when trapped by flames in their apartment above a blazing laundromat. They were David Steller, a builder; his wife, Joan; and their three young sons, Mark, Paul and Lee.

Santa Due in the Area Tomorrow

If you've just had Thanksgiving Dinner, this may not come as too much of a shock.

It's Christmas time again!!

Santa Claus is coming to the area and to the shopping center malls, and he's coming tomorrow.

About 10:30 a.m. tomorrow, Santa will come to the Bloomfield Miracle Mile Shopping Center by helicopter, landing at the south end of the parking lot. He'll proceed to his igloo in the arcade. There will be gifts for the children.

★ ★ ★

He comes to the Pontiac Mall Shopping Center, at noon tomorrow. This time he goes back to his famous sleigh to reach his shiny igloo where he will greet the children and listen to their requests.

BOTH PLACES

He'll be in both places during the season with time out for lunches and snacks.

Santa's arrival and hours for the Tel-Huron and downtown stores have not yet been revealed.

BABY (APE) SITTER—Baby orangutans, each 2 months old yesterday, peek over the shoulders of Mrs. Marvin Voorhees, who is caring for them in Fountain, Colo. Mrs. Voorhees' husband is supervisor of the ape house at Cheyenne Mountain Zoo near Colorado Springs. The babies' mothers lost interest in them. They wear diapers, suck their thumbs and take baby food from a bottle.

Three Bandits Rob Cleaners

Three masked bandits, one of them armed with a pistol, robbed Flash Cleaners, 339 W. Huron, last night, escaping with about $225.

The trio entered the firm just before 8 p.m. and ordered the three employes to go to the rear of the building and lie down on the bathroom floor.

★ ★ ★

The holdup victims told Pontiac police that two of the robbers wore nylon stockings over their heads. The third had his face covered with a jacket hood.

Troops in Panama Halt Demonstration

PANAMA (AP) — National guardsmen used tear gas and rifle shots yesterday to break up another antigovernment demonstration by rock-throwing students. No injuries were reported, however.

The demonstration followed a meeting of the left-wing Panama Students Federation, which has accused President Marco A. Robles of going soft in negotiations over the Panama Canal. Thirteen persons were injured in a similar demonstration last Monday.

★ ★ ★

The demonstrations were in defiance of a government ban.

Report Reserves to Be Abolished

Defense Cuts Stir Storm in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration appears to be heading into a storm in Congress over the course Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara is taking to cut defense spending.

Even the mere report that McNamara is considering abolishing the reserve components of the Army and Air Force provoked quick reaction on Capitol Hill.

Reserve Rear Adm. Edgar H. Reeder, head of the Reserve Officers Association, charged in a statement Wednesday that the Pentagon is secretly working on a plan "leading to the destruction of the Reserve elements of the Army and the Air Force." He attributed this information to "apparently well-based" reports.

This seemed to stem in part from secret testimony by McNamara earlier in the year that he could "save a lot of money" by reducing the National Guard and telescoping the Reserves but that political considerations entered into the matter.

PROTESTS READY

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said that if any attempt is made to cut down the guard and abolish the Reserves it will be greeted in Congress with "vigorous protests."

★ ★ ★

"It would be unthinkable to abolish the Reserves," Thurmond said. "It would be a devastating blow to the security of our country. In the last war citizen soldiers made up the overwhelming majority of our fighting forces."

★ ★ ★

A member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Thurmond is an army reserve major general.

Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told a news conference Wednesday that McNamara is going to be questioned about his course in ordering the closing of 95 military installations when he appears before the committee early next year.

NO HEADWAY

Russell said he had told McNamara he opposes the scheduled phasing out of Hunter Air Force Base at Savannah, Ga. He said he hadn't made much headway with his complaint.

Russell, a recent guest at President Johnson's Texas ranch, said that while he did not campaign actively for the President "I'm going to support him on as many of his proposals as I can."

★ ★ ★

Russell said he thinks Johnson "has got the votes to put through Congress pretty much what he wants to." But he did not speculate on the difficulties the administration may encounter in getting approval of a pared-down defense budget.

Taylor Flies to U.S. to View Viet Tactics

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON — Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor returns today to Washington for strategy talks on the war in South Viet Nam. From them may come decisions by President Johnson on expanding the war.

Taylor, a former Army chief of staff, is expected to recommend that the President consider the military advantages that might stem from ordering air strikes to halt the flow of supplies to the Viet Cong guerrillas.

He has spoken recently about the possibility of bombing supply routes from Communist North Viet Nam, which run through areas of neighboring Laos that are under Communist control. He has spoken also of possible action against selected areas in North Viet Nam itself.

Taylor, ambassador to Saigon since July, will be in Washington five or six days, officials said, and plans to spend today, Thanksgiving, with his family. His conferences will begin Friday with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other high officials. The time and place of a meeting with the President have not been announced.

NO DRASTIC ACTION

In connection with Taylor's return, officials ruled out any drastic action by the United States. They said that on the one hand negotiation with the Communists for a settlement of the war was out of the question. On the other, they saw no possibility of committing American ground forces to the fight or of massive attacks by sea and air on North Viet Nam.

If any new measures are adopted — and the general expectation among informed officials is that some steps will be taken — they will likely be designed to limit or cut off the infiltration of supplies to the Viet Cong from North Viet Nam, and make the war more expensive for the Communist side so that eventually the Red leaders may be persuaded to negotiate a settlement acceptable to South Viet Nam and the United States.

Taylor said in a Life magazine interview released last weekend that strikes against the infiltration lines and the training areas in the north would remind North Viet Nam "that it cannot get off unscathed, that indeed they stand to lose far more than they have any likelihood of winning."

There have been unconfirmed reports that Taylor felt so strongly about the need for broader action beyond the boundaries of South Viet Nam that he was prepared to resign if President Johnson did not approve his recommendation.

Stopping at Honolulu on his way home, Taylor was asked about reports that he might resign his post.

RUMORS DENIED

"Absolutely nothing to it," he said. "I cannot imagine where the rumor ever came from."

Second Drop Saves Whites

excursions through the surrounding countryside, then were pulled back to the Stanleyville airport.

Mop-up operations were being conducted in the Stanleyville area by 650 Katanga gendarmes and 210 white mercenaries who spearheaded the ground drive against Christophe Gbenye's Communist-supported rebels.

Faced with mounting charges by Communist nations of armed intervention, the United States and Belgium wanted to make it clear the paratroopers had been used only to save the lives of the hostages.

In Washington, the U.S. State Department said that the Paulis move, like that at Stanleyville, was deemed necessary strictly for humanitarian reasons.

"The rescue mission within Stanleyville has now been completed and the paratroop force withdrawn to the Stanleyville airport area," the announcement said. "Only limited search activity continues in outlying areas around Stanleyville for the few remaining possible evacuees.

Birmingham Area News

Seek Delay on Request for Recreational Millage

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—The Bloomfield Hills Board of Education is going to be asked by the Township Board to hold off on a proposed recreational millage request.

Township trustees will urge the school board to postpone seeking a one-third-mill operating levy for recreation until after a joint study of existing facilities is completed.

The Bloomfield Hills Recreation Commission, which operates under the jurisdiction of the school board, has asked that the millage request be placed on the next district ballot.

The board of education now is preparing a millage proposition for teachers' salary increases expected to be taken to the polls in February.

★ ★ ★

Board members have indicated they have some reservations about putting both propositions on the same ballot. They also have questioned the advisability of asking for more recreational funds before a survey is made.

SPECIAL MEETING

The matter is to receive further consideration at a special school board meeting Dec. 3.

The township board has established a recreation committee of its own to investigate township-wide needs.

Members of both recreation groups have decided a joint study should be undertaken to determine both existing and needed facilities.

★ ★ ★

But the Bloomfield Hills Recreation Commission in the meantime wants additional funds for "long-term planning."

SEEK PROPOSITION

Chairman Merrill O. Bates, in seeking the proposition, said he saw no need to wait until the survey is finished. He expressed the opinion that the present program can justify itself.

The township board disagrees.

Its resolution requests that the district delay putting the issue on the ballot "until such time as a definitive study may be made of the recreational needs of the area."

PROBLEMS

It was noted there are jurisdictional problems among others to be iron out.

While most of the school district lies within the township, it also covers most of the city of Bloomfield Hills and areas in Troy and West Bloomfield Township.

Pontiac, Birmingham and Avondale school districts also extend into the township.

The Bloomfield Township Board has made another in its series of requests aimed at improving the high-accident West Maple-Telegraph intersection.

★ ★ ★

Trustees have asked the Oakland County Road Commission to widen Maple on either side of Telegraph to permit the addition of left-turn lanes for east and westbound traffic.

WIDER STREET

They want Maple widened from Gilbert Lake Road to Inkster Road.

Following appeals from the township board, the State Highway Department recently announced plans to improve Telegraph, its portion of the intersection, next spring.

The $17,500 state project calls for the widening of northbound lanes and the elimination of left-turn crossovers north of the corner.

Prisoners Will Have Thanksgiving Dinner

The prisoners at the Oakland County Jail will have their own Thanksgiving dinner today direct from the county jail kitchens.

Zany Gifts Add Joy to Celebration

Gag gifts, good for family laughter, have their place under the Christmas tree just as much as luxury items.

Teen daughter never gets around to hanging up her clothes? Give her a set of plastic hangers, with an appropiate verse attached.

Father complains he can't remember names? Give him a paperback on 20 ways to a better memory.

Young daughter still bites her nails? There's a nasty-tasting nail polisher that will curb her appetite.

There's no end to the fun type of present that can be unearthed by rummaging around ten-cent stores, second-hand shops, even junk yards. And it all adds to the merriment.

FEW IDEAS

Here are a few ideas:

For the student who struggles with math, an engineer's slide rule.

For the accident-prone car driver, a piece of damaged chromium.

For the corporation executive a tall silk hat, second-hand.

For the jewelry-conscious miss, a collection of enormous cheap rings with glass settings.

For the serious artist, a child's coloring books and crayons.

For the mighty hunter, a beer can launcher, so he can target shoot at will.

For the adolescent film fan, a collection of photographs from the 10-cent store, framed or otherwise.

For the tired businessman, a single vitamin resting in a cotton-lined box.

You know best the eccentricities of your own family. Turn them into laughter with a zany present.

RED DOG IS 'LINEBACKER' — A police dog patrols along a line of barbed wire and fence, a portion of the Berlin Wall next to an East Berlin cemetery. The East German police use the dogs to frighten off would-be refugees. The cemetery will be visited by many Germans on Sunday, a traditional day of mourning.

Literally Gets Carried Away

GRAHAM, N.C. (AP) — Prosecuting witness Robert Harvey, testifying in a larceny case, was carried away with later proceedings, then was carried away himself.

Harvey heartily approved testimony of another witness. He applauded.

Superior Court Judge James L. Latham of Burlington turned to the bailiff, Deputy Sheriff Lonnie Craven, with two directives.

"Sheriff, bring that man up here. Sheriff, put that man in jail." The citation; contempt of court.

Harven completed one of the shorter jail terms on record — one hour.

A major crime is committed every 15 seconds in the U. S.

Cost $1 Million for Year

Raps Expense of AF Resort in Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government spent more than $1 million in one year to operate a mountain recreation retreat for military personnel and their dependents stationed in Hawaii.

Transportation was provided by plane or converted Navy landing ship from the Honolulu area to Hilo.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, in a report to Congress yesterday criticizing the cost, said this included more than $850,000 above receipts of $250,000 from daily fees charged guests and from revenue-producing activities in the 1963 fiscal year.

He suggested that the Defense Department take steps to place the recreation center on a completely self-supporting financial basis or else shut it down.

The object of the investigation was the Kilauea Military Camp, located on the slopes of the Mauna Loa volcano within boundaries of the national park on the island of Hawaii. It was established in 1960.

NEED QUESTIONED

"A need for such a costly recreation facility in Hawaii is questionable in view of the numerous other recreational facilities that are available," Campbell's report said.

He said that during the year at issue, only about 8 per cent of the 120,000 military personnel and dependents in Hawaii visited the camp.

The fees charged military personnel were $2.25 to $4 a day. But Campbell said the cost to the government was about $27 a day.

For the fee, military personnel were entitled to lodging, three meals a day, scheduled tours of the island and use of most of the recreation facilities at the camp.

REGULAR TRIPS

The report said that the USS Stark County, the converted Navy landing ship, made 36 regularly scheduled trips to Hilo free flights from Honolulu to from Pearl Harbor with 2,225 passengers and about 770 privately owned cars during that year.

No transportation fee was charged. There was a minimum of $2.65 for meals and 50 cents for laundry service on the round trip plus $5 for handling cars.

The Navy ship had been modified to include bunks with pullman type curtains for women, a small powder room, refrigerator and cribs for infants.

★ ★ ★

Some guns and a crane were removed from the ship. Campbell's report said that to load and unload cars at Hilo a privately owned crane crew was hired.

FREE FLIGHTS

During the year, the report said, the Air Force provided Hilo generally three times a week.

Campbell said the Defense Department contended that closing the center would have an undesirable effect on morale of troops stationed in the Hawaii area.

Disagreeing, he said there was low usage, and that the occupancy rate averaged less than 40 per cent of capacity.

To 'Drive' Off Golf Chiselers

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— City Parks Supt. Frederick C. See has been granted $1,100 to buy a golf cart he had used all summer.

★ ★ ★

See told the city commission's finance committee he needed the money for a three-wheel cart to patrol Municipal Indian Trails course against "poachers."

★ ★ ★

Paying customers had complained, said See, that players were sneaking onto the course at unguarded points. He said the poachers constituted not only a nuisance to legitimate players but represented a revenue loss to the course.

Official of KC Star to Resign Position

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Roy A. Roberts, who rose from carrier boy to chairman of the board of the Kansas City Star, announced on his 77th birthday yesterday he will withdraw completely from the newspaper's management and direction on Jan. 1.

Roberts, a native of Muscotah, Kan., delivered the star to subscribers in Lawrence, Kan., while a boy and joined its staff in 1908 after his graduation from the University of Kansas and a period of reporting for the Lawrence Journal-World.

Long Way From Florida

Flamingo on the Hudson?

COXSACKIE, N.Y. (AP) — A pink flamingo in the icy Hudson River?

Residents along a five-mile stretch of the river have spotted the long-legged, bright-colored bird for the past 10 days as it wades in shallow water.

★ ★ ★

A spokesman for the State Conservation Department in Albany said Monday night its experts never had heard of a flamingo on its own in this part of the country.

The department planned to send a waterfowl expert to the area in an effort to positively identify the bird and study the possibility of trapping it.

★ ★ ★

The big bird with a swan-like neck flees whenever anyone approaches, people along the river report.

Crickets chew and damage soiled clothing and other fabrics.

Let's 'Keep' Thanksgiving

(EDITOR'S NOTE — In keeping with our policy of running guest editorials from time to time, our Thanksgiving Day message has been written by Rev. Harold W. Gieseke, Pastor, Bloomfield Hills Baptist Church.)

Holidays are like money. They are easy to spend and hard to keep. Most of us are "spending" this day eating turkey with our family and friends. We are in the best tradition for the first Thanksgiving on our shores was a day of joyous feasting. But every thoughtful American knows that Thanksgiving is more than good food and family fun.

REV. GIESEKE

To truly "keep" this day we must lift our hearts in praise to God, the Giver of every good and perfect gift. Like our Pilgrim Fathers 343 years ago, we must add to our festivity a humble prayer of thanks.

★ ★ ★

Gratitude, we soon discover, is not an easy art. Counting our blessings takes time and effort. It makes us think. Here is one good reason for this annual November holiday. But how can we "keep" this uniquely American day of thanks?

We can remember our heritage. Our nation was founded by hardy men of faith. Consider these Pilgrims. After sixty-three days aboard the Mayflower they reached the "stern and rock-bound coast" to face a terrible winter. The story is that they were reduced to mere grains of corn for rations and that once only seven well colonists remained to nurse the sick. More than half their number slept in the snow-covered graveyard.

★ ★ ★

But the new year brought a harvest, the Indians were friendly, and a day of thanksgiving was called. They were free men in a free land. God was for them. Who could be against them? America, this is "the rock whence ye are hewn." Never forget it!

★ ★ ★

We can acknowledge the goodness and power of God. In spite of near disaster, the Pilgrims did. Can we do less with our land so prosperous and at peace? With King DAVID we must say to God "All this abundance that we have provided comes from Thy hand and is all Thy own" (I Chronicles 29:16). Added to our national blessings is the security of a personal faith.

★ ★ ★

For a Christian this means the joy of sins forgiven by the costly sacrifice of Jesus Christ on the cross — the abundant life now and forever — hope in a cause that will ultimately triumph. For we believe our Lord is the coming King. "He must reign until He hath put all enemies under His feet" (I Corinthians 15:25). This is the religious faith that founded and preserved our Nation. If we lose it we are doomed to the fate of Nineveh and Tyre.

★ ★ ★

We can appreciate our friends. How seldom we thank those who mean the most to us. This would be a good day to begin. Dr. WILLIAM L. STIDGER, professor and poet at Boston University, says that one day he remembered the elementary school teacher who had first planted in his heart a love for verse. He wrote her a simple note of thanks. The reply he had was a classic.

★ ★ ★

My dear Willie:

I cannot tell you how much your note meant to me. I am in my eighties, living alone in a small room, cooking my own meals, lonely, and like the last leaf of autumn, lingering behind.

You will be interested to know that I taught school for fifty years and yours is the first note of appreciation I ever received. It came on a blue-cold morning and it cheered me as nothing has in many years.

So let us "keep" Thanksgiving. Grateful for our heritage, thankful to God, kind to those who help us, and always breathing GEORGE HERBERT's prayer:

"Thou that hast given so much to me,
Give one thing more—a grateful heart."

MONEY still talks, but in these days of inflation it takes a sizeable wad of it to say something important.

To size up a man fairly well, add his mother's appraisal of him to that of his mother-in-law, and divide by two.

Obscurity Due for Humphrey?

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — One of the capital's favorite guessing games is whether Hubert H. Humphrey's incandescent spirit will be obscured by Lyndon B. Johnson's long shadow.

Johnson himself knows the hazards. Like Humphrey, he was one of the most celebrated personages on Capitol Hill, yet all but vanished as John F. Kennedy's vice president. "Whatever happened to Lyndon Johnson?" was the joke going the rounds then.

From the beginning, vice presidents had a lost feeling. The first, John Adams, felt he held "the most insignificant office that ever the invention of man contrived or his imagination conceived."

John Nance Garner, summing up his job in 1934, likened the vice presidency to a spare tire: as long as everything rolls smoothly, little attention is paid to it.

★ ★ ★

But even then a trend had begun to give the vice president more responsibilities and duties.

ENLARGE THE FIELD

Herbert Hoover once said he was the first chief executive to enlarge the field of the vice president by having Charles Curtis attend Cabinet sessions "so he would know what was going on in the executive arm of the government, and would be better prepared to take over the presidency if needed."

Franklin D. Roosevelt delegated important administrative duties to Henry Wallace in World War II. Harry S. Truman made Alben W. Barkley a member of the National Security Council, where he participated in policy making.

Dwight D. Eisenhower had Richard M. Nixon represent him on various public occasions both at home and abroad, as well as having him join discussions of the Cabinet and National Security Council.

Kennedy enlarged the job a bit more, assigning Johnson to the chairmanship of the National Aeronautics and Space Council.

NOW IT'S HUMPHREY'S TURN

Now it is Hubert Horatio Humphrey's turn, and Johnson apparently has no intention of shunting him off into a corner. He has already proposed that the government establish an official residence for the vice president.

But from present indications and reports, the President has enough work lined up for Humphrey that he will have little leisure time at home.

In addition to the other vice presidential assignments, Johnson is said to want Humphrey to keep an eye on such departments as labor, agriculture and health, education and welfare, and to act as a lightning rod for ideas in government. He may also make use of the Minnesotan's bright image abroad by giving him overseas missions.

★ ★ ★

If all this holds true, it doesn't seem likely anyone will be asking, "whatever happened to Humphrey."

David Lawrence Says:

Hoover Talk on FBI Significant

WASHINGTON — An award has just been given in Chicago by Loyola University's School of Medicine to J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of investigation. It is known as the "Sword of Loyola" and is being given now for the first time.

LAWRENCE

It is named for St. Ignatius Loyola, who, as Hoover phrased it, "turned aside from narrow self-interest to dedicate his life and his sword to God."

Hoover's address in accepting the award is significant because he declared, in effect, that the FBI must not be misused or its power abused for political or other selfish purposes. He said:

"We must never forget that government cannot favor one group or one special interest over its duty to protect the rights of all citizens.

★ ★ ★

"We must constantly guard government against the pressure groups which would crush the rights of others under heel in order to achieve their own ends.

GREAT MISFORTUNE

"It is a great misfortune that the zealots or pressure groups always think with their emotions, seldom with reason.

"They have no compunction in carping, lying and exaggerating with the fiercest passion. They cry liberty when they really mean license!

Various Negro organizations have demanded that the FBI make more arrests in civil rights cases because, they claim, local police may not make them.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and one of the ablest of the Negro leaders, said last Sunday that, while he does not call for the resignation of Hoover, as some of the Negro leaders have done, he does disagree with the contention of the FBI director that the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. had not stuck to the truth in his charges against the FBI. Wilkins added:

"The truth of the matter is that 99 per cent of the Negro citizens of this country believe that the attention they received from the FBI in the Southern struggle has been, say, less than satisfactory. They agree with Dr. King . . .

CAN'T PRODUCE

"They feel, of course, that the FBI's traditional method of operation, that is, cooperation with local police agencies, cannot produce results in the South, and that unless the FBI departs from this formula, they will be working in cooperation, that is, the FBI, working in cooperation with some of the very forces that have oppressed Negroes.

"They don't believe in their local police force, by and large, and therefore unless the FBI discards this formula and acts a little independently to protect the rights which the citizens believe should be protected under the Constitution, irrespective of the local police forces, then they won't get any satisfaction."

The controversy over enforcement of the civil rights act is in its infancy.

★ ★ ★

But already there are signs that the enforcement problem is becoming a real issue, and that the partisans of the civil rights law are not going to be satisfied with a reliance on state or city police but are going to insist that the federal government increase police measures in this field.

Capital Letter:

LBJ Works With Cabinet as if It Were Own Team

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — As President Johnson launches the second year of his presidency this week, one of his more remarkable attributes becomes increasingly apparent.

★ ★ ★

Unique among our chief executives, he has completed an entire year in office without having appointed a single Cabinet officer of his own choosing.

RUTH MONTGOMERY

The Cabinet is a peculiarly personalized body, serving at the pleasure of the president to advise him on the highest affairs of state.

Because it owes its first loyalty to him, rather than to the voters or Congress, its members are ordinarily selected for personal simpatico as well as ability.

★ ★ ★

Only one member — Commerce Secretary Luther H. Hodges — was a "Johnson man" before the nominating convention of 1960; yet LBJ has worked with them as smoothly as if each was his own first choice for the task assigned.

PROMOTED DEPUTY

The only vacancy which has occurred in the Kennedy Cabinet since Mr. Johnson took office is that of attorney general, and the President has yet to fill it.

Instead, he merely promoted to acting attorney general the former deputy, Nicholas Deb. Katzenbach, when the late president's brother, Robert F. Kennedy, resigned to run for senator from New York.

The first purely Johnson appointment to the Cabinet will therefore have to be made shortly. A few other vacancies will probably occur early in the new year, as men who have neglected their private businesses for four years seek to return to them.

★ ★ ★

The President has nonetheless invited them all to remain — an action that is virtually without precedent in our republic.

Modern Literature Is Not Only Source of Obscenity

There is more smut, obscenity, lust, etc. in the Holy Bible, Book of Leviticus, chapters 18-21, than in any modern books today. I'll venture to say there is not a boy or girl from five years to 18 years that doesn't know about the birds and the bees. Let's stop picking on the publishers, book stores, drugstores and magazine stands. Let people read their own choice and we all can enjoy a social blessedness and a future happiness. 'Americans Let Others Think for Them'

Goldwater is a conservative in every sense of the word. He is also an honest politician.

★ ★ ★

We have allowed the Federal government to do our thinking for us for so long that when the challenge to improve our government came, we were unable to meet it. We were uninformed. People went to the polls confused because much of the press had released only what it wanted them to believe.

★ ★ ★

The key to keeping our country a democracy is education and information. The conservatives realized this and worked to remedy this lack of facts which was too big a task with the liberal papers, commentators, and TV stations against them.

★ ★ ★

How is it that this controlling of public opinion can occur? This is a good point to mull over.

GALE SEEDORFF
UNION LAKE

Fellow TV watchers: We have shown our desire to remain secure rather than free.

★ ★ ★

Liberals have chosen both presidential candidates since Roosevelt. They polished off Goldwater and never raised a sweat. Even though they are disarming our national defenses, refuse to defend our sacred honor, bankrupt our country, and tax us dry, we still vote for them.

★ ★ ★

We let news reporters dominate our thinking, teachers brainwash our children, and sell our vote for a handout. America will fall like an overripe fruit.

Our flag is very important. It means that we have life, liberty and peace in mind. Without our flag we have no joy in life, no freedom because of war, and no freedom of speech.

'Area Should Settle Water Line Problem'

I live in a section of Pontiac Township which has a private water system over 20 years old and with a very small main line. This system could last for some time or go bad tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

People using this water line should either accept the Detroit water or have the owner completely revamp the present system with larger main lines, or some form of guarantee of water.

This is a problem which should be settled before the next township meeting on the water line.

Yule Red, Green Historical Symbols

Today, red and green are traditionally associated with Christmas. But throughout history they have symbolized many other things.

From ancient times, men have used colors as symbols of abstract ideas.

Red, for instance, meant fire to the ancient Greeks while green depicted the earth.

In the Bible's 23rd Psalm, green is used to suggest hope or good fortune, as in the "green pastures" passage.

* * *

Colors played an important role in medieval magic and superstition.

CURATIVE POWERS

In this tradition red was a symbol of curative powers.

Even today, Indonesians say that a piece of bright red coral will keep its owner's teeth in good order, and there are people everywhere who are sure that a person owning a ruby will live to a ripe old age.

In keeping with Christmas, red is accepted, in its good sense, as a symbol of the creative power of the Holy Spirit.

In its bad sense, red is considered a sign of hate, and of energy gone wrong.

SATANIC EMBLEM

In this latter meaning, it becomes an emblem of Satan.

Red, in its good sense, sometimes appears in pictures of St. Cecilia, as part of a garland of red and white roses.

Here, the red in the roses signifies the higher spiritual love expressed in classical music.

* * *

Emerald green is often the symbol of hope and growth, and this is the meaning generally attributed to it in many Christmas paintings.

TO MUSLIMS

Green also has a religious meaning to Muslims, who believe it signifies immortality.

* * *

The Buddha is often painted against a green background to denote the permanent life behind appearances.

* *

Green also was a sacred color among the ancient and medieval Egyptians, who wore it as a symbol of hope and the joy of spring.

2 Planes, 4 Airmen Missing in Thailand

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Two T28 planes and four U.S. airmen have been missing for six days on a ferry flight from Northeast Thailand to South Viet Nam, American military sources said today.

The sources said the two planes, each carrying two pilots, were on a flight from Udorn, a Thai-Laotian border town, to Danang, in South Viet Nam. Their normal route would have crossed the Laotian panhandle for about 120 miles.

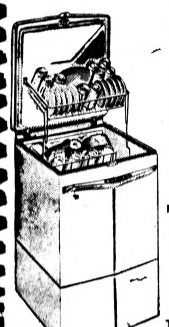

Some 3,000 private policemen have been hired for duty at the New York World's Fair.

Oswald's Mother Rambled in Testimony

WASHINGTON (AP) — On the first of her three days of testimony to the Warren Commission, Marguerite Oswald proclaimed: "I am liable to name some very important people."

She never did, as she defended her son, Lee Harvey Oswald. She rambled on in long, unbroken passages.

★ ★ ★

Over and over she would say: "I have many stories, gentlemen, I am sure you do not have" or "I am the only one who has this information" or "I have offered over and over to give any information I have."

But, when pressed for facts by chief counsel J. Lee Rankin, she could only say: "if I knew who shot President Kennedy, I would be only too happy to tell you." The papers she said would exonerate her son were old family pictures, letters from Oswald and school records.

RAMBLING TESTIMONY

Through her rambling testimony glint the fragments of a mother who felt abandoned, a woman cast in the shadows of the glare of great tragedy, a woman who did not share in the sympathetic generosity of the thousands who sent money to the bereaved.

At the time of the assassination, Mrs. Oswald had been estranged from Oswald and his wife, Marina, for a year, didn't even know they had had a second child. But she dropped everything to rush to her daughter-in-law's side after Oswald was arrested. When Marina found a photograph of Oswald holding a rifle and burned it, his mother flushed the remains down a toilet.

★ ★ ★

Two days later, the day of Oswald's funeral, they fought. Marina was trying to choose between two dresses for the funeral and became annoyed at June, her 2-year-old daughter, finally striking her on the head with a comb.

"Marina, don't do that," said Mrs. Oswald. A Secret Service agent assigned to the family told Mrs. Oswald: "You let her alone."

DON'T TELL ME

"I said 'Don't tell me what to say to my daughter-in-law when she was hitting my grandbaby on the head with a comb.'" Then they left for the graveyard.

Shortly after this, the rupture was complete — as it remains. Mrs. Oswald told the commission she then began to suspect Marina was involved in a conspiracy with two of the Secret Service agents and "another high official" in the assassination. Rankin pressed for details.

★ ★ ★

"I have no proof because naturally if I did, I don't think we would be here," Mrs. Oswald said. "But I feel there is a lot of speculation about everything."

As she was leaving the hospital emergency room after viewing her son's body, Mrs. Oswald said she told policemen: "I think some day you will hang your heads in shame. I happen to know, and know some facts, that maybe this is the unsung hero of this episode. And I, as his mother, intend to provide this if I can."

The Warren Commission was her chance.

The nearest approach to conceding Oswald's part in the assassination was that he was an agent of the U.S. government. Rankin again asked for proof.

Because, said Mrs. Oswald, he began reading Communist literature right after he had talked with a recruiting officer about joining the Marines. This showed the government had bigger things in mind for him.

Because he was allowed to leave the Soviet Union with his wife so easily. Because when he got to Fort Worth on his return he walked in front of Marina — to protect her.

★ ★ ★

Because after he returned from the Marines he told her to turn off what three years before had been his favorite television show, "I Led Three Lives for the FBI," because he said it was just propaganda.

McNamara Getting Both Praise, Scorn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara "the bravest man in America" or is he "cruel and heartless?"

You can take your pick of opinions from telegrams he has received since announcing plans to close 95 military bases last week.

★ ★ ★

The telegrams were from businessmen, labor leaders, politicians, clergymen and others.

There were 60 of them — surprisingly few considering the furor raised when McNamara's decision was made known. Of these, 35 were favorable and 25 critical. Some of the critical telegrams asked postponement reconsideration.

NOT AVAILABLE

McNamara received letters too, but a count and breakdown of these were not available at the Pentagon.

A San Francisco woman addressed her wire to "Mac the Knife" and told the secretary: "Thank God you didn't cut down Hunter's Point Shipyard entirely. We love you in San Francisco —."

STICK TO IT

A Dartmouth College professor advised McNamara that both New Hampshire senators would protest the closing of the Portsmouth Naval shipyard.

"Let them protest," advised the professor. "Stand by your guns."

★ ★ ★

McNamara got similar advice and support from a man in China Lake, Calif., who told him to "ignore political objections. Stand pat."

Other samples:

"Hooray for savings. Down with wasteful duplications. Down with the Brooklyn Navy Yard." — an Albany, N.Y., man.

★ ★ ★

"I go with you. Get the deadwood off our backs," — a Bishop, Calif., man.

"Hooray for this. Now let's have a similar cut in federal employes for additional saving of some $10 million a year." — an Ashland, Ky., man.

OPPOSITE SIDE

On the opposite side were these telegrams:

By stripping our country's defenses at home and abroad you are inviting Communist attack in selling out the American people." — a Muskegon, Mich., woman.

★ ★ ★

"That this should be done by an administration committed to bringing about an end to poverty is incredible." — a New York labor official.

"Members of this parish protest the closing of military installations. Save money by stopping giveaway programs overseas. We want to remain free and strong." — a Port Jervis, N.Y., pastor.

Two Samoan Teachers Missing on Canoe Trip

PAGO PAGO, Samoa (AP) — An Arizona man and wife who teach school in Samoa were missing today on a 10-mile ocean trip from NUA to Pago Pago in an outrigger canoe.

Dennis L. Hoff, 28, and his 22-year-old wife, Patricia, took advantage of a school holiday to make the trip from their village residence in Nua. A new airport terminal and an educational television center were being dedicated.

The first successful oil well in the United States was drilled by Colonel Drake in 1859.

Now Teen Aids Handicapped

Door Slammed on Deafness

LANSING (AP) — Rubyanne Doll couldn't even hear a telephone ring, but one day a car door slammed — and suddenly she was hearing the conversation of two youngsters with her.

Now the perky, blonde 19-year-old high school senior finds her new hearing powers a large help in her frequent work of caring for children, especially handicapped youngsters.

"I can hear the kids cry when they're in another room," she said.

The slamming car door opened up a new world of sound to Rubyanne which was "a lot different that I thought it would be."

AFTER MUMPS

"I never thought it was that clear," she said.

Rubyanne all but lost her hearing completely after the mumps and a series of ear infections when she was about 5 years old.

After an ear operation at age 6, doctors held out no hope for her recovery.

But two weeks ago, Rubyanne climbed in to the car of neighbor James S. Heiden, waiting to go to a Veterans Day parade.

BETTER AND BETTER

"I remember telling Jim that each time he shut the car door I could hear better," she said. "I could also hear Bobby and Janie (Heiden's children) talking. It seemed good to hear them for their voices were much clearer than when I used to wear a hearing aid."

Since then, she said, her hearing seems to have improved more. She talks excitedly about it.

* * *

"I can enjoy my stereo now," said Rubyanne, who enjoys both popular and classical records, especially if they have singing parts.

"With my hearing aid before, I couldn't understand the words very clearly. I thought they were saying one thing, and really they were saying something else," she said.

LIP READER

Rubyanne is rated an excellent lip reader, and in class she had no trouble understanding her teachers.

"But when students talked with the teacher, I couldn't keep up with the moves back and forth," she said.

A new experience for her now is being able to hear the youngsters she works with.

Rubyanne has been active as a volunteer worker with Ingham County chapter of the Muscular Dystrophy Association, and plans to enter nurses training next fall.

OPENS DOORS

The attractive teen - ager was on her way to ride on the Muscular Dystrophy float in the Veterans Day parade when the slamming door opened the door on her hearing.

Doctors first diagnosed Rubyanne's hearing loss as "nerve deafness," but now believe it was caused by scar tissues from her childhood infections keeping her eardrum from moving properly.

They believe the car door slamming created pressures that dislodged the scar tissues.

And, they say, if she should have more hearing problems, the new diagnosis indicates methods for correcting it surgically.

Gordon Thomas, audiologist at Everett High School, says Rubyanne has improved from a "severe loss" to a "mild loss" —which means she has a slight difficulty hearing. Doctors say, though, that her hearing is "adequate."

* * *

Said one: "It was quite a dramatic thing to see a girl who was raised as deaf come in and be able to hear."

LIONIZED — TV's Linus the Lionhearted, in a 55-foot tall balloon version, is the star of the annual Macy Thanksgiving Day parade in New York today.

Quiz to Cover Renewal Area

Residents of Pontiac's urban renewal area will participate in a "neighborhood interest" survey Saturday.

* * *

The survey, conducted by Michigan State University, is part of a study program to determine what persons living in a renewal area are most concerned with.

Residents will be asked questions about their neighborhood and its future development.

Ten workers will survey an estimated 400-500 families in an area bounded by Auburn, Osmun, Paddock and Wide Track.

* * *

An office will be set up in one of the new homes constructed by Dubbs Construction Co., in the area of O'Riley Court.

CALL AT OFFICE

If residents know they will not be at home when the interviewer is slated to call, they are urged to go to the office at Perkins and Willard between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Grand Haven Adviser

GRAND HAVEN (AP)— City Council has approved hiring Muskegon consultant William Krause to work with a committee in developing a year-around recreation area centering on Grand Haven's Snow Bowl. The area also includes a site for a future armory.

Rare Blood Volunteered

MUSKEGON (UPI) — Eighteen donors have volunteered rare B-negative type blood for 6-year-old Kristy Fowler who will undergo heart surgery Tuesday at Blodgett Memorial Hospital in Grand Rapids.

* * *

The child is the daughter of Harold Fowler, business agent for the Machinist's Union at Brunswick Corp. here and Mrs. Fowler.

The Red Cross had issued a plea for 14 pints of the B-negative type blood.

Glass capsuels are being used to drill oil wells. Between 20 and 40 pear-shaped capsules can be lowered 20,000 feet down into an oil well shaft and exploded.

Sentence Escapee for Morals Offense

FLINT (AP) — Leo B. Cole, 24, one of five prisoners who escaped from the Genesee County Jail last Wednesday, was sentenced in Genesee County Circuit Court today to 10-15 years in prison for a morals offense.

Cole, convicted earlier by a jury, was awaiting sentencing when the escape occurred. All five men since have been recaptured. Cole was arrested by Mount Morris police.

* * *

He was the second of the five to receive a long prison sentence since being re-captured. Arthur L. Nation, 28, was sentenced to 20 to 30 years Friday for his part in a Flint area hold-up last winter.

Ask Kelley to Rule on Studded Tires

LANSING (AP)—Secretary of State James Hare has asked Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to rule on the legality of a new studding device to increase tire traction in winter driving.

Hare said, however, he thinks such tires are illegal in Michigan.

* * *

"We have had reports that many tire dealers in Michigan are selling studded tires," Hare said. "But Michigan law appears quite specific in the matter, and on the basis of their chewing up our roads, they may have to be outlawed."

ARE CONTACT LENSES REALLY SAFE?

Three years of diligent research have produced a new antiseptic contact lens which has tested out to be chemically safe, according to Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

The safety features of the new lens have been confirmed by a leading midwestern medical school and a nationally recognized research laboratory. Tests prove that the new lens arrests the growth of germs, thereby preventing or retarding possible infections caused by carelessness of the wearer or by dust particles.

Although all contact lenses are considered safe with proper fitting and proper wearing habits, Kindy presents the additional safety margin of the new lens.

Complete information and literature may be obtained without obligation at Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

2 French Cave Explorers to Try Living Underground

NICE, France (AP) — Two French cave explorers — a blonde, dark-eyed girl of 26 and a 35-year-old furniture manufacturer — have announced plans for separate, record-breaking attempts to live underground. They hope they can supply information helpful to future U.S. space experiments.

★ ★ ★

Josiane Laures told a news conference she will go underground Saturday for a three-month stay in a cave 330 feet below the earth's surface.

Antoine Senni said he will begin an underground endurance-survival test the same day, but in another cave. He said he will try to stay down four months.

YARDS APART

The caves are a few hundred yards from each other near Grasse, behind the Riviera.

A control point will be established on the surface between the two underground chambers and Miss Laures and Senni will maintain contact with it throughout the experiment.

Michel Siffre, a cave-exploring friend of the two, will be in charge of the surface control area.

Explaining the experiment, Siffre said: "One of the chief aims of this double experiment will be to see how the human organism and psyche stand up to prolonged, isolated periods spent underground. This will include studies to see how Miss Laures and Senni go about measuring time as the days go by and how they perform certain tasks. We hope the results of the experiments will be valuable to future space research by the Americans."

KNITTING, READING

Miss Laures plans to do a lot of knitting and reading during her three months underground.

"I adore knitting," she said. "I want to knit some sweaters for my father and make a layette for friends of mine back home who are expecting a baby soon. I'll also take along a lot of classical books to read because my literary culture needs to be polished up."

★ ★ ★

Senni said he plans to listen to music during his endurance ordeal.

"I'm taking a tape recorder on which I can hear recordings of classical music — especially Mozart. I also hope to catch up on my wood carving."

★ ★ ★

Both caves will be fitted with heaters and electric power.

The 10.3 billion square feet of softwood plywood produced in 1963 was an all-time high and continued the trend which began in 1948.

Always Few Killjoys on Every Holiday

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — There are always a few killjoys around on every holiday.

They can't stand the thought of mankind having an occasional day off from usual worries.

BOYLE

As Thanksgiving approaches, the cynics murmur. "The world's in a mess. What have I got to give thanks about? What has anybody?"

If you are one of these gloom spreaders, take heed. There's always something in life to be grateful for. Right now.

FOR EXAMPLE:

In a free country such as this, you have just as much right to feel glum as the other fellow does to feel happy. Nobody will arrest you for wearing a sour face.

Turkeys are not as large as ostriches. If they were, the problem of what to do with Thanksgiving dinner leftovers would be insuperable.

★ ★ ★

You don't have to face up to Santa Claus for another month, and you don't have to pay your Christmas bill until the first of the year.

The national elections are over, and you don't have to listen to political candidates point with pride and view with alarm.

GETTING QUIETER

The world is getting quieter. The Beatles appeared on two recent television network programs; both times they won less than top ratings.

★ ★ ★

If you take the family to church on Thanksgiving morning, you probably will have less trouble finding a parking place than the Pilgrims did in fending off Indians.

The season for fighting crabgrass is past. So is the hay fever season.

If you haven't been scalled in by now to explain your most recent income tax returns, the odds are that you won't be — at least before January.

NORTH HEMISPHERE

In the Northern Hemisphere you are fairly safe for several months from snake bite, attacks by maddened sharks, and ambushes by preying octopuses.

You are also reasonably secure from the perils of sunstroke, also, from smoke poisoning caused by inhaling the fumes from backyard barbecue pits.

It is easier to shave in the mornings, as — according to many barbers — your beard doesn't grow as fast now as it does in summer.

You don't have to fret so much about being caught in a riot. Most people don't enjoy rioting when the temperature drops below freezing.

BUY SHOVEL

If you were thoughtful enough to buy your wife a new snow shovel for her birthday, she'll proudly get rid of the drifts in the driveway herself — so all the neighbor wives will be sure to see your fine gift and envy her.

About now the children start giving less trouble, figuring virtue will get its reward on Dec. 25.

You don't have to listen to the golfing nuts brag about their scores, as they have put away their clubs for the duration.

It is safe to pick up the morning newspaper without wondering if you'll have to read about some ambitious housewife's plans for swimming the English Channel both ways while knitting a sweater.

NO BOMB DROPPED

No one has dropped a hydrogen bomb in anger or by error. Gen. Charles de Gaulle hasn't kicked up a diplomatic ruckus in days.

Nothing to be grateful for this Thanksgiving?

Why, man, think it over. When you get right down to it, you're riddled with blessings.

AP Photofax

COMING APART—The world, in form of a gigantic globe at the State Department in Washington, D. C., is coming apart at the seams. Shelia Jones, 11, and her 8-year-old sister Patricia, both of Falls Church, Va., view the crack.

Beirut's Mice 'Hard' to Kill

BEIRUT (AP)—Killing a rat in Beirut is easily arranged but a mouse is another matter.

If you are plagued by rats, you submit a written request to the Beirut Municipality offices and in due course a rat extermination squad will come around to handle the case.

But a mouse — and a cockroach — requires the personal authority of the director general of the Ministry of Health.

Only he can issue the fatal order, since regulations say he must keep the mouse-killing powder under his personal control at all times.

The rat squad, which uses a different powder, has its own supply.

If a mouse is killed accidentally along with the rats, the incident is labelled "a fortuitous accident" on the official records.

Roller Record for Single Day

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — "I never had a day like this one," Lawrence Jackson told his boss after returning to the city garage.

★ ★ ★

Jackson was driving an asphalt roller down a steep hill and tried to shift into a lower gear. Nothing happened.

The roller picked up speed, split a fire plug—spouting a 20-foot gusher — and sheered off a utility pole.

Later, a city truck was towing the eight-ton roller back up the hill, with Jackson again in the driver's seat.

The cable snapped and the roller began moving again. Jackson finally stopped the vehicle by guiding it into a tree.

Would You Want to Be a Teacher?

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) —In a list of rules posted by a New York City principal in 1872 and unearthed by a doctoral candidate at Pennsylvania State University, teachers were required to:

★ ★ ★

"Fill lamps, clean chimneys, and trim wicks; bring one bucket of water and one scuttle of coal to each day's session; spend time after school reading the Bible or other good books; lay aside a goodly sum from each pay for use during declining years, so as not to become a burden on society."

Men teachers were allowed one evening each week "for courting purposes," or two evenings a week if they went to church regularly. Women teachers who married or engaged in "unseemly conduct" were to be dismissed.

Also, the list stated: "Any teacher who smokes, uses liquor in any form, frequents pool or public halls, or gets shaved in barber shops, will give good reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty."

★ ★ ★

However, it added: "The teacher who performs his labors faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of 25 cents per week in his pay providing the board of education approves."

Robin Hoods Get Acreage

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP)—Robin Hood would feel right at home in one little part of the lush Cumberland National Forest. So would Miles Standish.

★ ★ ★

It's because Robin's longbow and the blunderbuss of the Pilgrims are among the weapons perscribed for hunters' use in the area.

The state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources and the U.S. Forest Service set aside an 8,000-acre tract in the forest as a primitive weapons area.

The weapons are defined as longbows, crossbows, muzzle-loading rifles anad muzzle-loading shotguns.

★ ★ ★

Among the animals hunted on the heavily timbered hill are squirrel, doves, rabbits, quail deer.

Papal Visit Stirs India Protests

BOMBAY, India (UPI) — The impending visit of Pope Paul VI to the 38th international Eucharistic Congress has sparked protests by militant Hindu organizations and stirred bitter memories of the Portuguese rule over Goa.

* * *

In the longest journey ever undertaken by a reigning pope, and the first into Asia, the pontiff will travel to Bombay to attend the congress between Dec. 2-5. The congress opens Saturday and ends the day after the Pope's departure.

Government officials, expressing regret at protests by some religious organizations, have noted that holding the congress in India was endorsed by the late Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru.

It will be the first time the congress has been held in a predominantly non - Christian nation.

This country of 465 million persons has about 8 million Christians, 365 million Hindus, 45 million Moslems, and more than 7 million Sikhs.

SOUTH INDIA

Most of the Christians live in south India, where the apostle St. Thomas is said to have established christianity shortly after the crucifixion of Christ.

The historic visit of the Pope will symbolize the new interest of the Roman Catholic Church in Asia.

The pontiff's description of himself as a "missionary pope" has been noted critically by Hindu and Moslem organizations here.

* * *

In a recent edition, a Delhi weekly "Organizer" headline read, "Eucharistic Congress Will Be Smugglers' Paradise," and signs in New Delhi streets have praised Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri for not attending the congress.

Shastri had promised previousy to attend a meeting of the ruling Congress party in Calcutta which will take place at the same time as the Eucharistic Congress.

* * *

The pontiff is not expected to visit Goa, but his presence has recalled 450 years of overlordship over that small enclave in India by the Roman Catholic nation of Portugal.

USW Leaders to Map Talks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Leaders of the United Steelworkers will meet in Pittsburgh next Wednesday and Thursday to lay the groundwork for the opening of formal contract negotiations with the basic steel industry.

David J. McDonald, steelworkers president, called yesterday a meeting of the 33-member executive board on Wednesday to be followed by a session of the 170-man wage policy committee.

The wage policy committee meeting will continue Dec. 3.

The wage policy committee has the final say on union contract matters, and is expected to set a date for the start of national negotiations. This can be anytime after Jan. 1.

German Is Arrested With U. S. Currency

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—Detectives have arrested a German who stole $250,000 in worn-out U.S. currency being returned to the United States for destruction, police said.

Police reported they took an airlines employe into custody Tuesday after he made off with a sack containing the money from a shipment of several million dollars in old bills being returned to the United States. They declined to name the arrested man.

Whole World Is a Toyland for Globe-Trotting Buyer Specialist

Ernest Theuer is a man with a single-minded purpose. As soon as the Christmas holidays are over, he'll once again start roaming the world in search of toys whimsical, ingenious, and extraordinary.

Some he'll find high up in a Swiss mountain hamlet, reached by a long train ride and then a car ride through the mountains.

In St. Croix the working members of a 15,000 population produce music boxes, cameras and phonographs in a fine, modern factory.

In upper Bavaria where toy making is still a home industry, he'll see women with huge baskets of Christmas tree ornaments on a rack around their backs, walking to town to deliver their work to export collection centers.

* * *

In Nagoya, Japan, where Japanese families paint miniature tea sets in their homes for the world market. Theuer will sit with them around their charcoal stove and suggest new designs for Christmas 1965.

WORLD IS TOYLAND

The whole world is toyland for the F.A.O. Schwartz buyer, who unearths the ultimate in craftsmanship.

In England, he discovered the widow of a colonel in the Indian army, who had designed a bear dressed as a peddler, carrying in his basket tiny bracelets, sewing kits, buttons and ribbons, all of which were carefully wired to the basket.

First she makes the bear of plush, outfits him with a leather cape and rubber boats, and then proceeds with the painstaking task of filling his basket.

* * *

The same toy maker also specializes in familiar situations such as a general store, but peopled by bears or mice as storekeepers.

Another English toymaker uses felt ducks for her parade of whimsical characters. There are brides and grooms, skaters, and street singers.

In his 2- to 4-month forays around the world, Theuer has a global view of toy possibilities. India, he says, contributes very little, except for chess sets and a Bombay collection of horns.

Italy specializes in dolls, particularly those with interchangeable heads. Sweden excels in wooden toys, as does Holland, and fur teddy bears.

* * *

Trolls, which used to be made in Denmark, have pulled a puckish gesture, and are now made in Florida.

SPANISH MAKERS

In Spain, the toy industry, he says, has only lately come to life, since the Spanish appear to be not as capable craftsmen. But one contribution is an interesting castle courtyard mounted on a wooden board.

The Japanese, who take the toy business very seriously, excel in mechanical toys, and their future toymakers study the craft in special schools.

5 Clean-Cut Beatniks Placed on Probation

WEYMOUTH, England, (UPI) —Five beatniks were placed on probation here after showing up in court—clean-shaven and with haircuts.

The five, who had been charged with loitering, were described by the woman judge as "decent and employable."

TIMELY OCCUPATION — Charles Magee looks after 85 old-fashioned windup clocks for the Pennsylvania Railroad in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. The clocks are the master time-setters for the railroad. Train crews, passengers and traffic controllers count on them.

His Clock-Watching Makes Boss Happy

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles Magee is a clock-watcher and his boss knows it—and pays him to do it.

Magee looks after 85 old-fashioned windup clocks for the Pennsylvania Railroad — and they'd better be right.

The clocks are the master time-setters for the railroad in the Philadelphia metropolitan area. Train crews, passengers and traffic controllers count on them.

It's up to Magee to wind them, with a few quick turns of a hand crank and, if necessary, fix them.

One clock in the 30th Street Station, Philadelphia's main PRR station, controls 32 other clocks — the ones on public view — throughout the station. A similar system at the smaller North Philadelphia Station gave Magee, 35, the only real trouble of his four years as clock watcher. It had a four-hour self - winding mechanism that broke down.

"I hand - wound it and went to New York for parts," Magee relates. "I hoped I could get back before it ran down, but I didn't make it. All of those clocks stopped without notice for more than an hour. It caused some inconvenience."

Magee and his wife, Catherine, are residents of suburban Glenolden, and the parents of two daughters and three sons, from 1 to 8 years old.

Magee leaves his clock-watching habits at work.

"I don't take my work home with me," he said.

"But don't talk to my wife today," he added, "our alarm clock is broken."

DOWNTOWN AND DRAYTON PLAINS

EARLY BIRD . . . — The search for props is made by department store's window display director, who plans his store window theme six months before Christmas.

Stores Begin Early on Yule Preparations

While New York shoppers take a look at bathing suits in an air-conditioned store, or select straw bags to take away on a summer holiday, the store's personnel is making plans for the Christmas rush.

★ ★ ★

They KNOW how many shopping days are left.

An inexorable and highly detailed schedule is circulated telling the staff to do what looks like the undoable: move booths, add counters, and bring in Christmas merchandise without a ripple passing through the current selling stream.

The directive says things like this: "Remove CAMPUS WAY merchandise and prepare area for APRONS."

★ ★ ★

"Vacate present INFANTS TOY area and prepare for GRANDMOTHER BOUTIQUE."

WRAP DESK

"Set up RED ROSE WRAP DESK in 3rd floor transfer room. Same as last year."

"Install two bed-jacket cases in corridor for NEGLIGEES DEPT."

As early as June, the display department will have decided what kinds of decorations to hang inside the store, buyers will be looking ahead to the July fashion shows to learn trends for holiday stocking up, and artists will be reviewing merchandise with the buyers as the Christmas catalogue starts its long route from store to customer.

★ ★ ★

By September special Christmas card booths will be activated primarily because shoppers who wish cards with imprinted names must make a decision early.

EARLY FALL

The mass movements within the store, planned to focus attention on Christmas merchandise, and downbeat slow sellers at holiday time, starts up in the early fall.

Maintenance men as well as buyers are continually busy too making safety checks on the functioning of package conveyors, elevators, doors, lights, and dumbwaiters.

In late October extra personnel is interviewed and hired for the Christmas rush, and usually given a brief training period for efficient performance.

★ ★ ★

Santa moves in shortly after Thanksgiving to take up his familiar post, which means Christmas is practically around the corner.

Notre Dame Counting on 4 Hearsemen

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—If the University of Notre Dame football team still had its famed "Four Horseman" backfield, it could count on the avid support of the "Four Hearseman."

★ ★ ★

Four students have chipped in $25 each and bought a used vehicle to transport themselves and fellow students (at so much per head, of course) to out-of-town football games and other events.

The vehicle is a 1949 Cadillac hearse, complete with purple felt lining and purple curtains on the windows.

The boys have added such touchess as a big "Fighting Irish" across the back, golden shamrocks on the sides, and a coat of arms for the "Four Phantoms" on the front doors.

★ ★ ★

"My mother was a little leary, because I guess she's superstitious," one boy admitted.

REAL BARGAIN

"But where else could you get a car for $100 that only has 14,000 miles on it and carries eight passengers in the back. Besides, it still has the original felt!"

★ ★ ★

As for any possible psychological scars the constant presence of a hearse might give the football players, the boys poohpoohed:

"We never thought of it. So they probably won't either."

Small Nations Cry 'Imperialism'

U.S. Rapped on U.N. Payments Stand

UNITED NATIONS, New York —The African diplomat was indignant. "President Johnson is as much a colonialist as Sen. Goldwater," he exclaimed.

The little slender man in tight pants and short jacket with padded shoulders was commenting on the United States decision to suspend financial contributions to the United Nations until the Russians paid their debt of some $53 million.

"The Americans behave like peevish children," the diplomat said. "They are undermining the United Nations because they cannot have things their way."

The diplomat's harsh remarks were, of course, anything but diplomatic. Yet they expressed the view of so-called neutral and "unaligned" nations on the latest American-Russian dispute.

* * *

They seldom blame Moscow for failing to pay United Nations peace-making assessments. This despite the ruling of an international court that Russia must pay her debt or lose her vote in the General Assembly under article 19 of U.N. Charter.

'IMPERIALIST'

But they see an "imperialist conspiracy" in President Johnson's decision to bring the issue to a head and save the United Nations from bankruptcy.

No doubt that by suspending contributions the United States is also hitting at the pocketbooks of the "unaligned" countries of Africa and Asia who benefit most from U.N. technical and other aid programs.

But it has been this bloc of nations that has consistently thwarted American efforts to pressure the defaulting Russians to meet their obligations.

* * *

Until now the small nations took lightly American threats to withhold financial support from the United Nations.

A typical example was the conference of the U.N. Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) that was held recently in Paris.

DEFEATED

The United States delegates were unceremoniously defeated in their attempt to take away voting rights from member-nations which failed to pay their dues to UNESCO.

Then, ironically enough, an alliance of Reds and African-Asian neutralists passed a record UNESCO budget of $49 million.

They took this action—against the objection of American and Western delegates—obviously in the belief that the United States will foot the bill anyway. Where else could they possibly hope to get the money?

However, this time the unaligned nations seem to have counted without the paymaster.

President Johnson is understood to have anticipated the avalanche of criticism. He is determined to see it through anyway.

RUSK WARNING

Last January, Secretary of State Rusk warned that the United States will not tolerate much longer a situation whereby a "two-thirds majority of the General Assembly" consists of nations who contribute only 5 per cent of the United Nations' assessed budget.

The neutralists and Reds discounted Rusk's threat as usual campaign oratory during presidential elections. Now they are indignant because President Johnson means to bring the issue to a vote in the General Assembly.

The reason behind the President's decision is the growing belief of American experts on communism that the Russians now need the United Nations as an instrument in their conflict with their Red Chinese adversaries.

* * *

That is why Moscow is currently appealing to the United nations far an agreement to ban the use of military force in settling territorial quarrels.

The State Department no longer believes Russia's threat to quit the United Nations if the General Assembly's vote goes against them.

BEHIND SCENES

United States delegate Adlai Stevenson continues to work behind the scenes for a compromise that would permit Russia to pay her debt without loss of face. But Soviet diplomats are pressuring the undeveloped countries to back Moscow against Washington.

Thus, for the first time the small nations will be given an opportunity to prove whether they are really neutral or merely unaligned on the side of the Communists.

Saigon Riots Are Blended With Laughter, Tragedy

SAIGON, Viet Nam, (UPI)—A Saigon riot is a bloody bandage, a police car being smashed by tiny fists, rocks arching through the hot noonday air and the noise of laughing, jeering youngsters.

It's a Mardi Gras of violence perfumed with the stench of tear gas, a fun affair where people get hurt — sometimes killed — and governments crumble.

It's a scenario so incredulous Hollywood would never dare produce it. Death and violence one moment, laughter and happiness the next. It's a Chinese shopkeeper cautiously selling ice drinks through his grated doors to both police and rioters from his no-mans-land spot.

It's the neutral spectators lining the rooftops pointing and gesturing as the battle moves back and forth in the street below.

* * *

It's the hysterical shouts of a police sergeant on a bull horn, the lofted tear gas bomb that lands at the feet of a white pajamaed schoolgirl and the stampeding of hundreds of teenagers shoving, pushing and scrambling to escape the biting fumes.

It's a barrage of bricks and rocks that come sailing out of a narrow alley at bewildered green uniformed police.

It's the immaculately attired mandarin walking serenely through the mob, his erect posture protected by a black umbrella.

It's the Jeep ambulances in their broken field running to pick up the injured and the long lines of troops resting on helmets and chatting with youngsters who later pummel them with rocks.

STANDS ASIDE

It's a shaven monk standing quietly aside, his head moving from side to side like a tennis fan following the street fighting that flows back and forth along the street in front of his pagoda.

It's an invitation from German-born Karl Ross to come inside his house and sip a cold beer while the fighting rages outside and the sputtering tear gas bomb fumigates the house mixing tears with beer.

It's the blue-scarfed paratroopers fresh from fighting the Viet Cong now brandishing bayonetted rifles at the mobs of naked-legged and jeering rock-throwers.

* * *

It's children of primary grades being led in clenched fist cheering by a swarthy adult far too old to be classed a student, and it's the police standing five feet away who absorb his insults but make no move to arrest him.

CHARRED TANK

It's a charred tank, a car with a smashed windshield bearing the clasped handshake seal of friendship from America and the rock-filled deserted streets left behind as the battle moves on.

It's the gay laughter of a score of 12-year-olds who sortie out of an alley, rain rocks and bricks on a squad of soldiers and then retreat pell-mell into the labyrinth of twisting lanes ahead of the charging soldiers and their tear gas. It's a cops and robbers game, but played with real cops.

* * *

Above all, it's the horrible power of mob violence, of the quick change from laughter to anger, of lethargy to bitter hatred and the quick-second change of a quiet group of human beings into a maniacal blood-seeking mob intent only to kick, to hit or to maim and kill other human beings.

It's blood, it's sweat, and it's tears, all on a hot afternoon in Saigon.

Driver Failed to Hear Siren for Good Reason

KANSAS CITY, Mo., (UPI) — Patrolman Carl Buck used his siren to try to halt 81-year-old Eugene H. Emmert after the latter ran a red light. It didn't work.

Buck pulled his patrol car in front of the truck and asked for an explanation. Emmert said: "You'll have to speak louder, son, the battery on my hearing aid went out a few miles back."

Detroit Man, Woman Found Dead in Car

DETROIT (AP)—A man and woman were found dead early today in a car parked on Detroit's near west side. Police said Mrs. Doris Dyer, 24, and a man identified through papers as Frank Bates, 21, of Ecorse, were apparent victims of carbon monoxide poisoning. The car was parked beside Mrs. Dyer's residence, police said.

Christmas Displays Indicate Long Preparation

When New York's Fifth Avenue department stores unveil their bedecked windows this Christmas — be they exotic, sophisticated, or nostaligic —the displays will be the results of months of advance preparation in design, research, construction — and often innovation.

What is being set up behind the drawn curtains in store windows is also top secret until the December Day the glory is revealed, for each store jealously guards its Christmas plans.

A floor below the sidewalk where Christmas shoppers will later swarm is the domain of Paul Vogler, window display director of Lord and Taylor's.

Here he and his staff of 14 have been hard at work on Christmas windows since spring.

"Sometimes I have an idea for the next Christmas just when we're finishing this Christmas' windows.

"It's hard to tell where ideas come from. You can get them just walking down the street, or anywhere."

After sketches have been made, specific orders go to the specialized manufacturers who design complex mechanical displays.

When they are completed, the staff goes to work on painstaking detail such as stapling soutache braid on pieces of cardboard, sculpturing mannequins, figuring out ways to give the illusion of thin rays of light (gold elastic cord).

Vogler, who thoroughly dislikes last-minute complications, and finds there are few, recalls two embarrassing technical duds.

"One year we had the Sleeping Beauty and the Prince scene," he recalls. The Prince was supposed to bend down and kiss Sleeping Beauty.

"But something went wrong, and his head landed smack in her stomach. It took 17 hidden motors for just that one piece of action, and something had slipped.

"Usually, by working all night before the window's opening, we're ready and going smoothly.

* * *

"But an hour before curtain time one Christmas, I was in the window under a mountain still making mechanical flowers bloom in the snow."

Painstaking efforts are taken by Vogler and his staff to track down just the material they need.

"One year," says Vogler, "I was looking for wood that would be ideal for our candy windows, a gothic steeple kind of thing.

I found just what I wanted, some horrible golden oak in a wrecking yard in Yonkers, N.Y., and we painted it pink and white."

The candy was hard to come by, too. "I wanted those old-fashioned lollypops with flowers in the center, and finally found them in a shop in New Jersey, in all sizes."

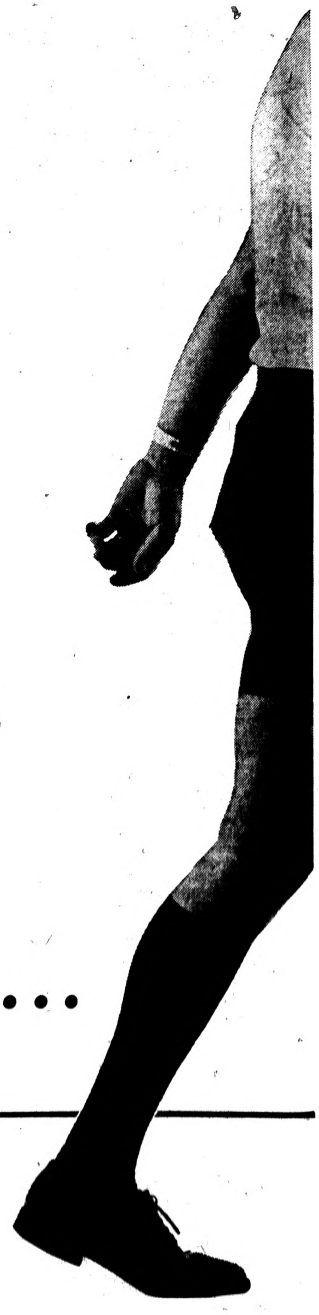

Backgrounds are prepared two weeks before they're to go in the windows, the staff working on an elevator - type window setting under the street while the current window is in place at street level.

Whatever the theme, Vogler feels it must be something to which passersby will relate, something they know and love.

Lab Work Real Cool

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — one of the "coolest" jobs on the campus is that of Leslie F. Shultz.

He supervises the mechanical operations of the Low Temperature Laboratory's "cold plant" where liquid hydrogen, helium, and nitrogen are produced. The Laboratory produced about 31,000 to 33,000 liters of liquid nitrogen per week, plus about 500 liters of helium and 1,800 liters of hydrogen per month.

Christmas Season Is a Hectic Time for a Small-Town Minister and His Family

Christmas is a hectic season in anyone's book, but for the wife of a small-town minister, it reaches staggering proportions. With Mrs. Carl Fearing Schultz of Cape Cod, Mass., the holiday begins with the Thanksgiving left-overs, and ends with the church's New Year's Eve candlelight service.

Right after Thanksgiving, the choir, in which Mrs. Schultz sings soprano, begins rehearsing Christmas music at weekly sessions.

During the first week in December the annual two - day holiday bazaar is held, and Mrs. Schultz, as president of the "afternoon" ladies organization, will be very much involved.

There'll be booths to decorate and stock, and Mrs. Schultz will donate aprons, sweaters, and knickknacks she has made herself for the booths. There'll be a luncheon and buffet supper to supervise.

President of the "evening" ladies organization is Mrs. Schultz' daughter, Mrs. Robert Thomas, who will no doubt seek her mother's advice — as everyone does — on quantities of food to order and kinds of decorations to have for the group's festive functions.

At Christmas, Mrs. Thomas' three lively children will traditionally be given at least one sweater and a pair of mittens knit by their grandmother.

Over the 35 years that Dr. and Mrs. Schultz have been at the Federated Church, it has become customary for Mrs. Schultz to create remembrances for the elderly and lonely in the parish, and this year is no exception.

She is already wondering if Mrs. Smith would like some jellies.

The White Gift service on family night is held the second Sunday before Christmas. Children bring toys or clothes wrapped in white paper, and marked according to sex and age; the parents bring box suppers.

When the guests have departed after supper and a Christmas movie, the Schultzes package the gifts and send them to a city mission in Boston.

The following Sunday, the young people of the Pilgrim Fellowship go caroling through the neighborhood, and stop in at the parish house where Mrs. Schultz has hot chocolate and cookies awaiting them.

By this time the more than 4,000 Christmas cards which the minister and his wife design are in the mail.

It remains to sort all the cards coming in to be sure no one has been left out. The card, a long verse written by the minister and edited by his wife, tells of the year's activities of the church and the doings of the family.

Sometimes it is illustrated with a photograph of the life-sized nativity scene in front of the church.

How does all this activity in the church affect the family's Christmas? Mrs. Schultz remembers when this season meant having to hire more baby-sitters than usual, but, she says, "We took the children to many of the church functions, so I was kept busy supervising functions and two lively youngsters."

When the children were small, "I tried to have as normal a Christmas for them as possible," she recalls.

"We had our stockings in the morning, but I can't remember that our Christmas dinner was any more elaborate than a big Sunday dinner for the four of us. We had no time for family reunions."

So Christmas for the Schultzes is finally calm. In the morning they visit with the Thomases a their three grandchildren, then return home for a relaxing and leisurely meal.

Peking Builds Up Militia to Oppose 'U.S. Threat'

By JOHN CANTUELL

HONG KONG — (AP) — Peking appears to fear the United States in supporting the anti-guerrilla war in South Viet Nam will attack Communist North Viet Nam and fighting will spread to Red China.

And so Peking is using the possible U.S. threat to build up its home-front militia forces.

Peking reintroduced a drive to build up its militia several weeks ago. The drive had been introduced twice before when Communist China feared attack from Formosa.

Peking originally claimed a target of 200 million men and women for its mass militia forces. This claim, originally made in 1958, has been sharply reduced since and there is no present estimate of Peking's militia strength.

★ ★ ★

The latest buildup was announced at a meeting in Peking last week. Party leader Mao Tze-tung, President Liu Shao-chi, Premier Chou En-lai and other top Chinese communist officials attended the meeting.

PUSHING AROUND

Mao told the meeting that the United States and other "imperialists" were pushing Communist China around.

They are doing this in such a way that we must deal with them seriously," Mao said. "We require in addition to mighty regular armed forces, a tremendous number of militia divisions.

"Then, when the imperialists invade China, they will find difficulty in moving a single step."

★ ★ ★

Western observers here believe Mao's reference to "imperialists" invading Communist China indicates Peking's concern that an attack on North Viet Nam could spread to Red China.

★ ★ ★

REDS CONVINCED

They believe Peking is convinced that the United States will carry the war from South Viet Nam into the north.

This uneasiness was apparent even before the U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, Maxwell D. Taylor said Sunday that U.S. air raids on Communist bases and supply lines in North Viet Nam and Laos could contribute to victory over the Red guerrillas in South Viet Nam.

Peking has said that the United States is scheming to carry the war to the north "so it can get itself out of its impasse in the 'special war' in the south."

★ ★ ★

It has claimed that the carrying of the war to the north "would add to the tension in Indochina and Southeast Asia, and threatens peace and security in this part of the world."

Observers here point out that one of the main resolutions taken at the militia meeting in Peking was to strengthen and build up militia forces in coastal and border areas.

The areas mentioned in particular were the border with North Viet Nam and the coastal area facing Formosa.

The meeting also recommended that regular armed forces in these areas be strengthened.

Professor Will Head Civil Liberties Group

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Donald Hall, professor of physics at Grand Valley State College, has been named temporary chairman of an interim committee to organize a west Michigan chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union.

He heads a 16-member body which meets Sunday to nominate officers for the chapter.

Jobless Rate in U.P. Drops Below 5 Pct.

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Employment Security Commission reports Upper Peninsula unemployment dipped below the 5 per cent level in October for the first time since 1956.

The MESC said "a seasonal contraction of the labor force" cut unemployment to 4,400, (4.9 per cent) in October. This was down 900 from September and 1,200 from October 1963.

"Heavy labor force withdrawals of students returning to school and other temporary workers leaving the market accounted for most of the downward trend in unemployment and offset the impact of employment reductions," the MESC said.

★ ★ ★

The report noted a simultaneous drop in wage and salaried employment from 70,200 to 68,500 during October was largely because of a strike involving 1,400 workers at White Pine Mining Co.

OFFSET LOSSES

"Offsetting most of the job losses resulting from seasonal reductions, were increases of 1,200 in state and local government payrolls," the agency said. "Auxiliary positions required by the reopening of schools boosted total government employment to 16,400."

Biochemistry Grant Is Given to WMU

KALAMAZOO (AP) — A three-year, $64,885 grant for research in biochemistry from the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has been awarded to the Western Michigan University Chemistry Department, the school announced Tuesday. At the same time, a $3,000 gift—second in a series of three — was presented by the Jewel Tea Foundation to the WMU Department of Distributive Education for new food distribution curriculum quarters.

Sales Picture Good Despite Strikes

Thanksgiving Bright for Auto Dealers

By CHARLES C. CAIN
AP Business News Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Auto sales reports from all sections of the country gave the nation's auto dealers good reason to celebrate Thanksgiving Day.

★ ★ ★

The dealers, plagued since mid-September by a series of strikes and parts shortages in the auto industry, were cheered by the fact that labor peace has been attained in Detroit's auto factories and that full production soon will be reached.

★ ★ ★

Ward's Automotive Reports said strong mid-November sales have put the auto industry in good position to hit the 600,000 sales mark for the month, third highest of any November, despite effects of the recent General Motors and Ford strikes.

★ ★ ★

A. E. Tracy, automotive sales manager of American Motors, said Wednesday of the auto strikes and their possible effects on sales:

★ ★ ★

"As you know, automotive production has stuttered a bit in recent weeks as a result of strikes and work stoppages. However, this is a temporary situation and we can expect production to regain a normal pace in the near future.

NOT LOST FOREVER

"This in no way affects our industry's opportunity to mark up a record sales year. I don't subscribe to the theory that a sale lost because of shortages is a sale lost forever. The prospect is still there. You may have to work a little harder to sell him, but if he was ready to buy in September, he is still a live prospect for November and December.

"The predictions of an eight-million - car - sales year in the U.S. —including imports— the first in the history of the U.S. auto industry are entirely realistic. If anything, the economic influences that produced the phenomenal sales momentum of the past two years are stronger and more pronounced."

MARKET PROJECTION

Ward's said in its market projection that the eight million sales milestone could be reached, but that the margin would be very close. It pointed out that January - October car sales, plus projections of November and December sales, total 7.55 million U.S. made cars.

★ ★ ★

It added that if import sales for the calendar year hit 475,000 —as seems likely — the total sales volume for the year would be 8,025,000.

★ ★ ★

The present calendar year mark of 7,408,000 total sales was set in 1955, but that record seems doomed.

General Motors production lines and its flow of cars to dealers reportedly are pretty much back to normal following the month - long GM national strike and a series of local GM plant strikes.

BACK TO NORMAL

Settlement of Ford local strikes came more recently, but that firm reported too that it is getting back to normal.

"Despite strikes and parts shortages, we have managed to provide our dealers with ample supplies of most vehicle lines and as a result have broken a car sales record that has stood since 1924," said Lee A. Iacocca, Ford vice president and Ford division general manager.

★ ★ ★

Iacocca reported Ford Division set its sixth straight 10-day sales record in mid - November and said its year to date sales are running ahead of the pre-war high established in the heyday of the Model T 40 years ago.

Other car makers were equally enthusiastic in their sales reports.

P. N. Buckminster, general manager of the Chrysler - Plymouth division, said its Nov. 11-20 sales ran 37 per cent ahead of the same period last year.

Frank V. Bridge, general sales manager of Pontiac division of General Motors, said "Although there still is a shortage of Pontiacs and Tempests in many sections of the country, our sales pace is picking up right where it left off after our record - breaking new model announcement. Our mid-November sales were the second best in Pontiac history and when our dealers are well stocked again, Pontiac will resume its record pace."

Pontiac Youth Faces Negligent Homicide Charge

An 18-year-old Pontiac youth is free on $200 bond facing arraignment in Circuit Court November 30 at 1:30 p.m. on a charge of negligent homicide.

Norman G. Henry, 555 Arthur, was bound over to Circuit Court yesterday following examination in Municipal Court.

★ ★ ★

The negligent homicide charge stems from an auto accident Nov. 13 in which Judith Rollins, 21, of 380 Central was killed.

Police say the Henry vehicle failed to yield the right-of-way at the corner or Sanford and Prospect and collided with the car in which Miss Rollins was riding.

U.S. Building Set for Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A new $6.2 million federal courthouse and office building of 146,000 square feet has been approved for construction in the downtown urban renewal area here.

★ ★ ★

Word came Tuesday from the office of Sen. Patrick V. McNamara, D-Mich.

★ ★ ★

The new structure, according to announcement last April, will house 10 federal agencies in addition to providing 40,100 square feet of courtroom space and 5,000 square feet for the offices of the district attorney and federal marshal.

Litter Bags Are Too 'Fine'

BURLINGTON, Iowa (AP)—Litter bags are literally for litter, Burlington Police have announced to motorists.

They are not, the police department explained, the place to deposit parking fines.

Litter Bags, decorated in holiday colors, have been placed on the parking meters as part of the city's Christmas decorations.

Police said some motorists have been putting fine money in ticket envelopes, then depositing the fines in the litter bags, instead of taking them to one of the courtesy boxes provided for them.

★ ★ ★

Treat your fines as litter, the police department said, and you may wind up paying later.

To Meet on Future of the Grand River

LANSING (AP)—Officials of cities, villages and counties through which the Grand River flows were invited today to a Dec. 3 meeting to decide the future of the river.

★ ★ ★

The meeting was called by Lansing Mayor Willard Bowerman, who said:

"I hope that this meeting might be the first step to setting up a council or organization of governmental units to coordinate action to make the Grand River a scenic and recreational asset to the people of Michigan."

Wassail Bowl Still Is Used

A Favorite Among Christmas Traditions

In Merrie Old England, the Wassail Bowl with its mixture of spiced ale, was an indispensable part of the Christmas feast.

The one used at court was a masterpiece of silver-gilt, while the bowl in the cottage was only made of wood. But the drinking pledge was the same. "Wassail," the Anglo - Saxon equivalent of "Your Health," was given — with reverence — to the Babe of Bethlehem, as well as to the King, to neighbors and to the season.

Then benedictions were called down upon the fruit trees, the flock and next year's crop. And always the occasion was observed with song and merriment.

Old customs change; old ways are replaced by the new. Still the Wassail Bowl remains among the cherished Christmas traditions.

There's something warm and inviting about the look of a fragrant holiday bowl, nestling among green boughs and holly. It should rest on its own special table, which has been covered with a floor-length cloth. The only other appointments are the squat little mugs which will draw on its goodness, the ladle for filling them and lots of pretty napkins to go around.

The table itself should occupy a prominent spot and be a welcoming sight for the arriving guests.

The drink may be anything to please a holiday palate: Hot mulled wine, spicy eggnog, a traditional punch or a favorite cocktail mix.

Anyone of these can be made easily and quickly if the mixing is done with an electric blender.

Salvation Army Spreads Yule Happiness

For several hundred Salvation Army officers across the country, Christmas is a day not for personal celebrations but for giving cheer to the inhabitants of Skid Row, to drug addicts and drifters, and to the homeless and the lonely.

The staggering prospect of serving dinner to hundreds of thousands of these people is taken in its stride by organization members.

In some small towns, the army officer and his wife may invite transients to share a meal in their own home.

In other cases, the organization supplies meal tickets to local restaurants to those who have no place to go, and no money with which to pay for a holiday dinner.

In large cities like San Francisco, Philadephia and Detroit, thousands of men sit down at social centers to a full-course meal. Sometimes a local hotel chef prepares the food, or other food operators contribute turkey and fixings.

CAPTIVE GIRL — A Salvation Army officer brings a Christmas doll to a child in an iron lung.

GIRL'S DELIGHT—Dolls by the dozen thrill a little girl who is to choose from all this splendor provided by the Salvation Army.

BIG OPERATION

The extent of Operation Christmas Dinner is enormous. Dinners are served on the spot in transient lodges for men and women, in children's homes and homes for the aged, in homes and hospitals for unwed mothers.

In some cities such as Hartford, Conn., hot dinners are delivered to shut-ins who either are unable to go out to dinner or have no one to prepare for them.

Funds for these massive servings of turkey across the nation come from many sources.

The army's traditional kettle appeal helps "keep the pot boiling." But individuals also send checks to army headquarters, asking that the money be used for Christmas dinners.

Herbert Hoover's father died when the former president was six years old and his mother died two years later. He was sent from Iowa to Oregon to live with an uncle.

Pans Pep Pills as Study Aid

AUBURN, Ala. (AP) — A prominent Auburn University psychologist warns college students against taking pep pills to help them master their studies.

"Fooling around with pep pills is foolish and foolhardy," says Dr. Harold Moon, assistant professor of psychology.

"Taking pep pills in order to take final exams casts some doubt on the stability of the individual — and sets him up for additional problems later. All of us need support at times, but not by medication."

HOME FOR LIFE — Joe Doll, 74, wept when told a judge had ruled he could stay in his Indianapolis home for the rest of his life. Public health authorities had declared Doll's home for 71 years unfit for habitation. Doll had pleaded, "I want to stay here — I won't live long anyway." He's shown holding one of his cats he says keeps rats away.

Colored Fish Nets Less Conspicuous

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The use of colored rather than white nets may increase a fisherman's catch, believes Clarence Smith, net-maker.

Smith says that it occurred to him one day that white nets might be too conspicuous.

He presented his son, Clarence Jr., a commercial fisherman, with one of his first colored nets — maroon-colored.

The son reported a 20 per cent increase in his net catches with the colored net.

★ ★ ★

Now Smith is making nets in three colors — maroon, chartreuse and blue.

He says that the maroon net can not be seen as it spreads out over the water, the chateuse cannot be seen in the water and the blue is more or less a combination of the two.

Choice 'Ham' Tidbits for a Lame Duck

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Speaking of rotten luck, the American Radio Relay League is celebrating its 50th anniversary next month.

I don't mean a 50th anniversary is unlucky. This one just happens to be rather poorly timed.

If it had been last month, the league, which is the nation's largest amateur radio organization, would have had a presidential candidate to help it celebrate.

And if the election results had been different, it is likely that a president-elect would have joined the party.

But as things worked out, the golden anniversary will fall at a time when the most prominent personage in the ranks of ham operators is only a lame duck senator.

★ ★ ★

Consequently, the way it looks now, the league's birthday will attract little notice outside the ham fraternity. I wouldn't have mentioned it myself except for the fact that I happen to be in something of the same fix.

RAFT OF COLUMNS

During the recent campaign, I collected a lot of information about amateur radio operations, figuring I would have material for a raft of columns if Sen. Barry M. Goldwater won.

I knew, of course, that he was behind in the polls, but I believe in playing long shots.

I was prepared to relate how radio hobbyists such as Goldwater got their nickname "hams." It is a shortened form, of the cockney pronounciation of "amateur," namely "hamateur."

★ ★ ★

I was prepared to relate what happened to a Merchant Marine officer who fell in love with a young lady ham whom he met on the air. He proposed by Morse code and they now have "his" and "hers" telegraph keys.

I was prepared to relate the unusual experience of a man in Idaho. He picked up ham radio signals on his electric organ.

TIE IN WITH LBJ

Being reluctant to waste such scintillating material, I have been searching since Nov. 3 for some way to tie it in with President Johnson.

But despite his predilection for initials, he apparently never had much truck with short wave.

Even so, all is not lost. In the course of my research regarding ham radio, I ran across some rather interesting data regarding hamburgers. I should be able to work that into a column the next time the President has a barbecue.

Snare Flamingo With Lasso

COXSACKLE, N.Y. (UPI)—A flamingo searching for food in the chill waters of the Hudson River has been captured by two boys wielding a fishline lariat.

Paul and Mike Moore, 13 and 9, said they lassoed the bird and took it home because "older boys were throwing rocks at him and we thought he'd get hurt."

"He was strong but a little clamsy," Paul said.

When they arrived home with the long-legged bird, their mother's first words were, "put that thing in the bathtub."

District ranger Victor Schrader of the State Conservation Department took the bird to a game farm at Delmar.

Flamingos are rarely seen out of captivity in northern areas but this one had been spotted by area residents over the past 10 days.

REFLECTIONS ON CAPITAL LIFE — This photographic effect was produced on a rainy day in Washington, D.C. Puddles, dimpled by raindrops, reflect an umbrella-carrying pedestrian strolling by the Capitol. The shot was made by Washington Evening Star photographer Francis Routt.

Work Has Started on 1965 Yule

For several hundred highly specialized job-holders Christmas 1964 is already over.

They're wrestling now with the production problems of Christmas 1965.

These are the manufacturers of greeting cards, Christmas tree ornaments, tinsel, artificial snow, and Christmas wrappings, who are one up on the rest of us.

At the factory of Max Eckert and Sons, colored balls in new styles for 1965 are being lacquered, bells and spinning tops are being created out of glass, and the 400 ornament workers there are in the swing of another season.

The greeting card workers and designers, accustomed to taking a crystal ball view of Santa's 1965 capers, are daily polishing off new sentiments.

VERSATILE GROUP

In the Norcross studios, the 325 members of the staff are a highly versatile group. They can identify with forest animals, angels, families in folk costume, carol singers, church bells and mighty huntsmen.

They are, quite frankly, sentimental, since sentiment is their business.

Usually the art for the Christmas card is completed first, before the message writer frames his lines. But sometimes the reverse is true. Message writers have to be able to turn their hands to humor, tenderness, spoofing and sincerity without missing a beat.

Creators of Christmas wrappings, also working for the 1965 season, bend to their drawing boards to design a variety of papers with wide customer appeal: some sophisticated, some quaint, some delicate, but all sparkling for the Christmas yet to come.

News of Area Service Personnel

The Armed Forces Expeditionary Medal was recently awarded to Glenn H. Hurley Jr., fireman, USN, for his participation with the Seventh Fleet units during the August Viet Nam crisis involving the Gulf of Tonkin incidents.

The cadet, a graduate of Rochester High School and a former student at Wilmington (Ohio) College, is a member of the academy class of 1965.

Cadet Benham will receive a B.S. degree and a commission as an Air Force second lieutenant upon graduation from the academy.

Cadet Richard A. Szymborski has been accepted in the advanced corps of the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps (AFROTC) program at the University of Detroit.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Syzmborski of 32283 Lee, Farmington, he was also promoted to the cadet rank of second lieutenant.

Bride Prices Far Too High

ENUGU, Nigeria (AP) — Nigerian women should protest high bride prices "in the interest of our girls" says the wife of Eastern Nigerian Premier Michael Okpara.

High prices for brides in Nigeria often scare off prospective bridegooms, she said. Their alternative is to marry girls from places where little or nothing is paid, Mrs. Adanma Okpara told a meeting of the Nigerian Women's Society.

Considerate Burglars Take 'Giveaway Items'

WICHITA, Kan. (AP)—Police investigating an office burglary found that the only items missing were trinkets taken from a cabinet labeled "giveaway items."

President Gives Thanks to God in Thanksgiving Proclamation

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — Here is the text of President Johnson's Thanksgiving Day Proclamation:

As the harvest season draws to a close and our storehouses bulge with the bounty of the land, it is our desire to observe, in the custom and tradition of our forebears, a special day dedicated to giving thanks to God — a day on which to lay aside our daily tasks and cares and pay joyous homage to Him.

* * *

We are impelled to raise our voices in His praise and to proclaim our heartfelt gratitude for another year in which we have been blessed with a bountiful harvest, with intellectual, humanitarian, economic, scientific achievements, and with other gains too numerous to mention.

Although we have been blessed with unsurpassed prosperity, we recognize that poverty and want exist throughout the world — even among us — and we pledge ourselves to the eradication of these evils.

* * *

We know, too, that the foundation for a peaceful world is still to be built and that even now armed strife exists in parts of the world. We are saddened that gallant men of our armed services have fallen in the eternal quest for peace with freedom, dignity, and justice for all.

* * *

We share with their bereaved families and friends a sense of tragic loss. In the words of Abraham Lincoln, we resolve "that these honored dead shall not have died in vain," and vow that their loss will spur us ever onward until man's great dream of universal peace is realized.

GIVE THANKS

Yet we are filled with an instinctive impulse to give thanks for

- Our free society of free men, free institutions, and free elections;
- Our freedom of speech, our freedom of the press, and our freedom to worship;
- Our emphasis upon the dignity, equality, and worth of man;
- Our humanitarian instincts;
- Our unalienable right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness;

* * *

- Our confidence in our ability to meet the challenges of today and of the future.

For these are the things that set us apart as a nation — that made our nation great — that will keep our nation great.

So as our forefathers in Virginia, in New England, and throughout this land have done for more than three and one half centuries, let us appoint a special day on which all of us, in keeping with the dictates of our own conscience, will give thanks to the Lord for His manifold blessings.

* * *

And on that day, let us rededicate ourselves to meeting the challenges of the present with the fortitude and faith with which our forefathers met the challenges of the past.

* * *

Now, therefore, I, Lyndon B. Johnson, President of the United States of America, in consonance with the joint resolution of the Congress approved December 26, 1941, 55 Stat. 862 (5 U.S.C. 87B), designating the fourth Thursday of November in each year as Thanksgiving Day, do hereby proclaim Thursday, Nov. 26, 1964, as a day of national thanksgiving.

LET US GATHER

On that day, let us gather in our homes and in our places of worship and in other suitable places to give thanks to God for His graciousness and His generosity to us — to pledge to Him our everlasting devotion — to beseech His divine guidance and the wisdom and strength to recognize and follow that guidance — and to pray to Him that the forces of evil, violence, indifference, intolerance, and inhumanity may soon vanish from the face of the earth and that peace, reason, understanding, and goodwill may reign supreme throughout the world.

* * *

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States of America to be affixed. . .

(Signed) Lyndon B. Johnson.

TOOTHLESS SMILE — Camera-shy Kathy Collins, 8, of Williamstown, Mass., couldn't quite manage to laugh with her mouth closed at a party. Without too much persuasion, she agreed to the picture on right.

Odd Questions for Auto Club

NEW YORK (AP) —The great bulk of inquiries handled by the American Automobile Association each year are about obtaining routings, maps, hotel and motel reservations.

* * *

But among unusual questions asked recently were:

"What movie is playing this week on the jet planes to San Francisco?"

"Where are all the 'Santa Clauses' stationed during the summer?"

* * *

"Is there a rhinoceros in the Philadelphia Zoo?"

FOR GIRAFFE

"If I want to take a 17-foot-tall giraffe from here to Florida is there a route I can drive?"

AAA counselors have a list of places Santa Clauses spend summers and have available titles of movies being shown on transcontinental jet flights.

The answers to the last two questions are "yes."

Packaged as Gifts

Bank Sells Holiday Cash

HAGERSTOWN (AP)—The Hagerstown Trust Company is selling what bank officials consider the perfect gift — money

The bank sells money birds, money corsages, money by the inch, money by the pound, money in chests, money in buckets, bowties of money, money trees and other money-inspired items.

They sold 7,000 parcels of it last year; this year they hope to sell even more, although they claim to make little profit on it.

William E. King Jr., bank vice president, said charges added to the face value of the money sold barely cover the cost of handling and packaging.

* * *

Among the items are instant money — packaged in a can and guaranteed non-caloric. The can warns that continued use of the contents may be habit-forming.

COLD CASH

Cold cash — mounted in an ice cube which is sealed in a plastic box.

Bit-O-Money — cash packaged as a candy bar.

And a Money Magic Magician's Kit with directions for performing six magic tricks with money.

* * *

Packaging is done by bank employes, King said. The bank starts stockpiling new coins and bills in mid-summer, when the wrapping begins.

FOR OTHER DAYS

The bank also stocks money gifts for graduations, anniversaries, birthdays, Mother's Day and Father's Day, although the Christmas season is the only time it advertises money.

King said he is working on about 30 new ideas for selling money — including $1 million money bags, to be set aside until the buyer makes his first million.

Boy Wears Right Ear on Left Arm

SAGINAW (AP) — Twelve-year-old Lloyd Hoeppner is wearing his right ear on his left arm until such time as it can be put back in place on his head.

Riding a tractor behind his father, Emil, at their home in nearby Merrill last Friday, young Hoeppner some way got a sleeve caught in the tractor's power takeoff shaft.

* * *

The revolving shaft jerked the boy off. It skinned part of his arm and severed his right ear.

Deciding the ear could not be grafted back immediately into its original position, surgeons at Saginaw's St. Luke Hospital grafted the ear to his arm, to sustain it until such time it can be removed and returned to his head.

NOT UNCOMMON

Except to confirm the graft and to say such indirect ones are not common, the hospital declined information, even to identifying the surgeon. Newsmen also were unable to learn immediately why prompt regrafting to the head was impossible.

MONEY GIFTS — A Hagerstown, Md., bank officer, William King Jr., pins a money corsage on bank clerk Diane Bartles. The corsages, made up of money in any denomination, are among dozens of gimmicks used by King to popularize money novelties as Christmas gifts.

Advice to Contractor

Hush-Hush NASA Parley on Yule Gifts

By ALVIN W. WEBB JR.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — The business of being "as pure as Caesar's wife" is the newest top-secret program the U.S. Space agency is running as a sideline while reaching for the moon.

★ ★ ★

It is known unofficially as "Project C. of I."

The idea, presumably, was born 1,900 years ago when Plutarch quoted Julius Caesar as saying, when asked why he parted with his wife: "I wished my wife to be not so much as suspected."

It was reborn last month when U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara noted, with some literary license, that "we must be as pure as Caesar's wife" in dealings in the multimillion-dollar defense industry.

★ ★ ★

Not to be outdone, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's (NASA) Manned Spacecraft Center near Houston decided to let industry know that it, too, believed in ethics. It called the first known conference of Project C. of I."

IN AND OUT

This explained the presence of some 140 government and industry representatives, slipping in and out of closed doors in painfully obvious secrecy, in the whitish, elephantine buildings of the Manned Spacecraft Center last Thursday between 1:30 p.m. and 2:10 p.m.

The meeting was so secret that even its title was secret. Delegates, for the most part, were relieved of the usual name tags and, in the best "hush-hush" tradition, wore garish blue-and-orange labels bearing the code phrase "C. of I." and the words "expires Nov. 19, 1964."

Space center chiefs refused comment and referred newsmen to the public affairs office, which refused comment and referred them to no one.

★ ★ ★

One reporter did lay hands on one of the curious "C. of I." labels when a helpful guard passed him without question at the main gate.

STOPPED SHORT

He was, however, stopped short of the promised land behind closed doors by horrified attendants.

Finally, after numerous guesses that included "concealment of information," it was learned — from the usual "informed sources" that prevail at the center in lieu of any consistently believable information office — that "C. of I." stood for "conflict of interest."

Caesar's wife, if still pure, was at least bared.

★ ★ ★

"Conflict of interest," if you are a government employe, will have an important bearing on your forthcoming holiday season.

LAID DOWN RULES

"Project C. of I.," it seems, laid down the rules that determine whether the gifts you receive at Chrsitmas are gifts or bribes.

The space agency has very definite thoughts on the subject. They were expressed in "Part 1, Management Manual, General Management Instructions, Chapter 3, Number 3-7-3, Subject: Gifts and Gratuities," dated Jan. 21, 1963:

"This instruction establishes NASA policy regarding the acceptance of gifts in the course of official employment, and provides guidance for the handling of certain objectionable types of gifts."

★ ★ ★

The directive says that space agency employes cannot accept gifts "which might reasonable be interpreted by others as being of such a nature that it could affect his impartiality. . ."

WHO PAID BILL

Since the directive has been in effect for nearly two years, it was unclear why the space agency chose to call last week's "Project C. of I." session — nor, for that matter, who paid the freight for the delegates.

No one in the space agency would say whether the conference was financially supported by the better than $5 billion that NASA is getting each year from taxpayers, or by industry representatives who would deduct the cost as "business expenses" on next year's income tax returns.

A congressional representative, contact in Washington about the lack of information, contacted space agency officials and reported that "they goofed. The contractors were brought down (to Houston) to talk about policies on gratuities.

"They (NASA officials in Houston) will tell you that, and that they goofed," the Washington man said.

Not a bit of it. Two hours later, a space agency official called newsmen to report that the meeting, held 28 hours earlier, "was held to discuss contractor relationships with the Manned Spacecraft Center."

And no one could, or would, say whether NASA was for or against the purity of Caesar's wife.

Millions Spent on Hunt for Oil

Worldwide Spending for Exploration Grows

By JESSE BOUGE
UPI Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — For the past few years, news reports from all over the world have shown an intensification in the search for oil, to the point where the layman may wonder whether it is all really necessary.

* * *

Oil companies in the non-Communist world are estimated to spend a billion dollars a year in oil exploration ventures; what is spent behind the Iron Curtain is difficult to estimate, although the Soviet action in extending huge oil pipelines toward the rich Western European energy market indicates eastern producers aren't missing any bets.

For some companies, the search is an immediate and pressing necessity if they wish to stay alive and competitive and attract investor money.

Business Week magazine in its current issue notes that more and more money is going overseas for exploration and development; it has pinched the land-locked domestic companies which have low supplies of crude oil in proportion to their refining and marketing needs.

* * *

This, in turn, has reflected itself in stock prices. While the internationally-represented companies have done well in the market this year on the whole, those with no overseas enterprises have sagged or stood still.

RELENTLESS HUNT

But these are immediate causes for the relentless hunt for oil and gas. M. J. Rathbone, writing in a forthcoming issue of "The Lamp," company magazine, examines the longer range needs.

The oil industry has proved reserves about equal to anticipate oil and gas consumption in the free world for the next 20 years, he noted, and huge known deposits for tar sands and oil shales which will produce.

* * *

World energy demand is growing, he continued. The industry has 5 million barrels a day of spare producing capacity, about equal to the growth in oil demand expected in three or four years; and in 20 years the demand will double.

Barber Clips 4 Generations

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Barber Millard C. Hamby, 58, has cut hair for four generations of the Gresham family. The newest member is 3 - year - old David Wayne Gresham, who accompanies his father, Ollie Gresham a Tulsa attorney, to the barber shop.

* * *

Hamby also cuts the hair of David Wayne's grandfather, Ollie M. Greshmam Sr., and was the barber for his great-grandfather, the late William W Gresham.

* * *

Hamby says that he also has a number of three - generation families who come to his shop, but this is the only four-generation family. He has been a barber since he was 17 years old.

Yule Is Thrilling —Even in Slum

Quaker Project Chief Makes Life Merry

Their living quarters are crowded and they have few of this world's goods, but children in the vicinity of the East Harlem Projects house find Christmas a thrilling time.

Any ordinary day may suddenly turn into a party day, and the children never know when Roy and Jean Hanson, the director of the Quaker project and his wife, may knock on their door and invite them to a party.

During the year, when college students volunteer to work in the area for a weekend, a warm relationship develops between the children of Little Puerto Rico and the students.

Then in the fall, letters come from the college campuses asking the Hansons if the students may entertain at the projects house.

★ ★ ★

Usually the hosts request a specific age group, and the Hansons decide on the guest list.

TO ENTERTAIN

Perhaps it's a college friend wanting to entertain 20 in the six- to eight-year-old bracket.

The word is given, and on the appointed afternoon, the children troop in, to find on hand materials for making Christmas tree decorations.

Sometimes there's a story or music, and always a generous supply of party food, and perhaps a favor to take home.

★ ★ ★

Sometimes a group of college students will bring stockings stuffed with little toys to the party.

TEEN-AGERS

And the neighborhood teenagers, not to be outdone, have their own holiday celebration one evening before Christmas. Great pains are taken in decorating the room.

Balloons hang from the ceiling, with little notes tucked inside.

At the appointed signal, the balloons are burst, and the guest must obey the direction given on the note, no matter how silly he may feel.

★ ★ ★

And as if all this activity were not enough for the Hansons, Christmas Day finds them hosting a neighborhood Christmas dinner for 15 or 20 guests.

COOPERATIVE AFFAIR

It's a cooperative affair, with staff members and the guests each contributing one item to the feast.

The guests are young people of the area who have no family ties, and who otherwise might feel friendless at Christmas.

Teacher Is in Chorus Line Nightly

NEW YORK (AP) — Dede Thomas doesn't see what's so unusual about being a schoolteacher by day and a Broadway chorus girl by night.

The red-haired Dayton, Ohio lass, 26, who appears in "What Makes Sammy Run?" spends two or three days a week doing substitute teaching at Manhattan's Junior High School 79.

★ ★ ★

"I don't think this is really extraordinary if you look at the number of hours in the day," she says.

"I'm at the theater only three and a half hours in the evening and I get home about 11:45. It's not as if I worked in a cocktail lounge until four in the morning I usually get up at 6:45 a.m. and that leaves a full day ahead."

UNENTHUSIASTIC

She says that her husband, Jimmy Campbell, wasn't very enthusiastic about the idea. "But," she explains, "I said to him, 'Jim, I have all this time — what am I going to do with it?' and he agreed."

Their schedules almost coincide. He plays in the orchestra of the Broadway hit, "Hello, Dolly," in the evening and attends rehearsals and acting classes during the day.

Approximately 100 research projects in this country and abroad are supported by funds of the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, which has 380 chapters throughout the U.S.

Former Secretary of Army Leaves Texas Hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Gordon Gray, secretary of the Army under President Harry Truman, was released from a hospital after a month's treatment for a heart seizure disclosed only yesterday.

Gray, 55, now a member of President Lyndon Johnson Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board was admitted to Santa Rosa Medical Center Oct. 29 after becoming ill en route to a meeting here.

He left the hospital and was expected to return to Washington this afternoon.

Gray, former president of the University of North Carolina, was special assistant under Truman and in 1955 served in several capacities under Dwight D. Eisenhower, including special assistant for National Security Affairs.

Cuba to Be 'Libra' With Holiday Booze

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Havana radio reports that pre-Christmas production of wine and liquor will amount to 12.2 million bottles. There are about seven million Cubans.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said 9.2 million bottles of Cuban wine and liquor will be available for the holidays and this will be augmented with 3 million bottles of Algerian and Albanian wine.

Blind Engineer Keen on Computer

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a small office in the Bureau of Public Roads a big German shepherd watches curiously while its blind master clicks away on a typewriter.

Nearby are a mechanical Braille writer, a tape recorder and a Braille slide-rule.

★ ★ ★

There are other aids immediately available for the blind man, James W. Jennings, but perhaps the most valuable tool is one he seldom touches—a bank of electronic computers on another floor in the building.

The computers may become as indispensable to his career as his guide dog, Tara, is to his personal life.

BIG BOOST

They may provide a big boost for Jennings in his efforts to become a practicing civil engineer. He obtained the academic credentials years ago—he was graduated with honors from Michigan State University—but he has run into considerable difficulty in finding a practical outlet in this field for his trained mind.

Jennings has been working in the bureau's research and development division only a few weeks but he seems sure that he can win a permanent position there. His job consists of preparing what he calls "relatively complicated equations" from raw data gathered in the field so they can be fed into the computers.

ELIMINATE WORK

The speedy machines are important because they eliminate a great deal of the arithmetical handwork which is time-consuming for any engineer. The detailed calculations constitute a tremendous burden for a blind man.

"I could work out these equations on a Braille slide-rule," he said, "but it would mean hours and hours of drudgery. One problem might require a stack of paper two or three inches high."

The research deals with finding the best materials and methods to use in building bridges and highways.

Jennings, 34, a robust six-footer, moves and speaks with an air of confidence.

DIFFICULT PART

"I'm about halfway between an engineer and a computer programmer. The most difficult part so far has been learning the computer language. I've studied digital computer analysis but I have no practical experience."

Like other engineer-programmers, Jennings doesn't push any buttons on the machines—this is handled by computer technicians.

Judging from past experience, he should be able to solve the computer language problem. Despite his handicap, he was an honor student in public school in his native Norwalk, Conn.

He is a victim of glaucoma, and it rendered him totally blind at 15. He began studying Braille at 11, and even before that, he said, his sight was severely restricted "for as long as I can remember."

TAUGHT LANGUAGE

He has mastered Russian and German and for a time taught English to foreigners at the Institute of Modern Languages in Washington, and he participated in a project in translating and abstracting Russian documents. His Braille library includes 60 volumes in German, equal to about 16 conventional books.

Jennings is an accomplished saxophonist. He has played professionally but he said it was "too much of a grind" to pursue as a means of livelihood.

★ ★ ★

Although the computers can relieve a lot of the drudgery, the basic brainwork is still a full-time job. A "reader" comes in for a few hours each week and Jennings frequently carries home a briefcase full of work.

Zooming Rockets Tracked by 'Mistram' System

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — SPECIAL REPORT

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — An Air Force C131 aircraft — code name "Glowworm 794" — glided northward 6,000 feet above Merrit Island where a sprawling spaceport is being built for launching astronauts to the moon. To the right, Cape Kennedy jutted into the Atlantic like a giant arrowhead, its surface spotted with electronic marvels.

Near the tip of the arrowhead yawned a dark circular hole—the top of a 90-foot-deep silo which housed a Minuteman 2 intercontinental range missile.

A countdown drowned, then quickened, over the aircraft's radio system.

The circular hole erupted, belching smoke and flame. A mammoth smoke ring rose. Suddenly, the Minuteman 2, its skin blackened, darted through the smoke, pitched swiftly only a southeast heading and sped into the clouds.

Thirty miles to the south, in a building called Mistram Central near the town of Valkaria, continuous wave radio signals were beamed to a transponder in the fast-flying missile.

The Minuteman's speed and position in space are determined by counting the number of wave lengths traveled as the signals race up to the transponder and then are transmitted back to Mistram Central and two other mistram stations — located approximately two and 20 miles west of the central site.

Mistram stands for Missile Trajectory Measurement. It's called a radio interferometer tracking system and its job is to provide instant, accurate information on a rocket during its few minutes of powered flight.

Mistram is a good system, but it does not always produce the accuracy desired. This is because its radio signals sometimes are cluttered with "noise" as they are bent or slowed slightly as they penetrate the atmosphere.

"The missile may be flying perfectly, but the Mistram data might show that it's accelerating irregularly because of the distortion of the radio rays in the atmosphere," commented James Meyer, Cape Kennedy project manager for Electromagnetic Research Corp., College Park, Md.

The Mistram errors never are severe enough to cause the range safety officer to mistakenly blow up a missile. But they are irritating when it comes to determining precise rocket performance.

★ ★ ★

Meyer, Francis Klugman and James Sutton were aboard Glowworm 794 as it flew the day of the recent Minuteman 2 launching.

A contract with the Air Force Cambridge Research Laboratory, the Maryland firm operates and maintains airborne electronic equipment designed to chart the atmosphere in the Mistram operating area. At least two flights are made each week.

REFRACTIVE INDEX

Through the studies, called refractive index measurements, the Cambridge Laboratory hopes to eliminate tracking noises by perhaps redesigning Mistram to compensate for them.

For nearly three hours before the Minuteman 2 launching, the plane, operated by the 6550th Operations Group at Patrick Air Force Base, flew patterns over the Mistram area while special equipment sampled the air.

★ ★ ★

Glowworm 794 initially flew to a spot over the Atlantic 15 miles east of Mistram Central—an area through which the missile was to pass. As the plane circle, a duct on its side drew in air and channeled it into a black box.

The box broke the air samples down to humidity, temperature, water vapor and atmospheric pressure and fed the information to a console manned by Klugma nand Sutton.

The data was recorded on timed oscillographs, along with information about air speed, compass heading and gravity.

SPIRAL FLIGHT

The spiral flight pattern was repeated over Mistram Central and then the tracking site 20 miles to the west. The plane then flew level runs across the Mistram complex out to the Atlantic check zone — a distance of about 35 miles.

When the Minuteman 2 countdown reached 10 minutes, Glowworm 794 left the Mistram area so it would not interfere with the tracking mission.

★ ★ ★

Ten minutes after launching, the plane repeated the level runs at the five altitudes to gather information on any meteorological changes.

Throughout the flights, a 16mm camera which pointed out the pilot's cabin snapped a picture every three seconds of clouds and other atmospheric properties. Every hour during the air sampling flight, a weather balloon was released from Mistram Central. The camera and balloon data was compared later with that obtained by the refractive index measurements.

FED INTO COMPUTERS

The data later was fed into computers. From the results, atmospheric physics experts are able to draw a map of clouds and other conditions. This helps in determining what conditions produce certain noise characteristics in the Mistram readings and enables specialists to refine the accuracy of the particular missile checked.

Christmas Brings Jobs to Thousands

The Christmas season is one of parties, gift - giving and church-going.

★ ★ ★

It's also the time for a tremendous influx of part-time workers who join the labor force temporarily over the holiday.

Most jobs are in stores which open new departments, stay open late and add special merchandise to their stocks.

It's estimated that more than 10,000 persons are employed as clerks, sales people, wrappers and demonstrators in New York City alone during the holiday season.

★ ★ ★

Housewives, college students and unemployed persons fill many of the jobs.

ADDED WORK

Other people who are normally employed during the day take on additional work at night or over the weekend.

Mrs. Janet Wolfe of the New York State Employment Agency says women in general and housewives in particular are most in demand.

She notes that most of the items sold — such as wearing apparel, household items and toys — are more suitably merchandised by women.

Mrs. Wolfe reports there are also many jobs available as demonstrators of such items as electric trains, hair dryers, appliances and electric shavers.

COME TO AGENCY

Manufacturers themselves come to the employment agency for people to fill these positions. Some are willing to train the employes; others prefer someone with experience.

The demonstrators frequently are unemployed actors who welcome the chance to get in front of the public.

Some work all year round at trade shows.

Some of the part-time workers are so successful they stay on the job permanently.

SANTA CLAUSES

A small, but colorful part of the agency's job is recruiting Santa Clauses.

Many stores have their own santas who return each year, but there also are positions to be filled through the agency.

The major requirement for being a Santa Claus is a good personality — jolly, attractive to children and with plenty of stamina.

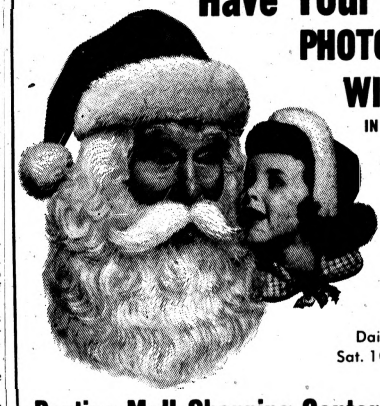

Mrs. Wolfe says some stores want a Santa of a particular size who'll fit the costume they already have.

Other places want someone with his own beard.

The applicants for these jobs often are unemployed actors or senior citizens — who may be used to grandchildren of their own.

Buried City Is Revealed by Drought

PRESCOTT, Mass. (AP) — The town of Prescott has not existed for a quarter of a century.

But Prescott and three other Massachusetts communities which were terminated by billions of gallons of water in 1939 are beginning to reappear like the lost island of Atlantis.

★ ★ ★

Prescott — named for Revolutionary War hero William Prescott, who commanded the colonial militia at Bunker Hill — and the towns of Dana, Enfield and Greenwich lie beneath the waters of a huge, man-made reservoir created 25 years ago. But not very far below — due to one of the worst droughts ever to hit New England.

The prolonged drought has caused the water level in Quabbin Reservoir to fall more than 14 feet. Aerial photographs taken of the reservoir disclose shapes and patterns of what was the once-thriving farm towns.

Dark crisscross patterns in one section of a photograph apparently are old house lots. The rectangular outline of a foundation appears just above the darker patterns.

The reservoir, which supplies Greater Boston with water, covers what once were the four towns in central Massachusetts' Spring Valley. Many of the town residents were descended from settlers who were given the land for helping put down an Indian uprising.

"Princess" Pat of the Metropolitan Opera is a star. Her every move is watched by millions. Her every action must be the epitome of grace and style. Is it any wonder, then, we're so proud to announce Miss Munsel's unqualified praise for a new Triumph — the first perfected casual-type luggage. Triumph is a new concept in luggage. Its rich, deeply quilted floral brocade interiors belie its carefree flair. And Triumph has all of American Tourister's patented exclusives . . . stainless steel closures, foam-rubber-padded handles to pamper the palm and swing-action locks that open and close at a touch, but never ever by accident. See Triumph in five smart colors and eight sizes for men and women.

Cranberry Dishes Star in Brunch Menu

"Up and at 'em" will be the word for the day, when you spread the news that you're serving an extra special brunch. And what makes it so special? Dishes featuring those little ole bouncy red cranberries . . . that's what!

For these favorite berries, long a popular part of the turkey feast, have graduated into a whole new role of their own. Now you'll find them, in one gulse or another, served at your table the year 'round.

* * *

Brunch? Piping hot pancakes with tart-sweet cranberry syrup . . . a light, fluffy omelet with a ruby-red cranberry nut filling . . . cranberry pumpkin muffins . . . or, just a simple luscious cranberry bread with sweet butter. The cranberries' tangy flavor and cheery color will make your brunch indeed . . . "a special."

So, while fresh cranberries are in season, through the rest of the year '64, use them as an ingredient in your pet recipes. Freeze them for future use, or preserve them in jams, jellies and relishes for next year's brunches.

Did you ever mix cranberry juice with a citrus juice for a breakfast starter? Or soak prunes overnight in cranberry juice. Get "up and at 'em" yourself M'am, you don't know what you're missing!

Cranberry Omelet

2 cups fresh cranberries
1 cup sugar
¼ cup water
½ cup slivered blanched almonds
1 apple, peeled, cored and chopped
6 eggs, separated
½ cup light cream
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine

Combine cranberries, sugar and water in saucepan. Bring to a boil and cook until cranberries begin to pop. Remove from heat and stir in almonds and apples.

Preheat oven to 325 degrees. Beat egg yolks, cream, salt, and pepper together. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry. Fold in egg yolks lightly but thoroughly. Heat butter in a 10-inch skillet until it begins to stop bubbling. Add egg mixture and cook over medium heat until underside is lightly browned, (about 5 minutes).

Place in slow oven (325 degrees) and bake 12 to 15 minutes, or until surface feels dry. Makes 4-6 servings.

Serve omelet in skillet topped with Cranberry Relish, or serve omelet cut into wedges and pass the Cranberry Relish.

Cranberry Date Bread

1 egg, beaten
⅔ cup orange juice
1 package (14 ounces) date muffin mix
1½ cups fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped
½ cup coarsely chopped nuts
1 teaspoon grated orange rind

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Add egg and orange juice to date muffin mix; beat until well blended. Fold in cranberries, nuts and orange rind. Pour mixture into greased and floured 8x4x3-inch loaf pan. Bake for about 50 minutes, or until top springs back when touched lightly. Remove from oven and cool for 10 minutes. Remove from pan and cool thoroughly on a rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Cranberry Pumpkin Muffins

2¼ cups sifted all-purpose flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
¾ cup sugar
½ teaspoon allspice
½ cup oil
2 eggs
¾ cup canned pumpkin
1½ cups fresh cranberries, coarsely chopped

Preheat oven to 400 degrees. Sift flour, baking powder, salt, sugar, and allspice together. Beat oil, eggs, and pumpkin together until blended. Add all at once to the sifted ingredients; stir until mixture is just blended. Fold in cranberries.

Spoon mixture into greased muffin pans. Bake in a hot oven for 20 to 25 minutes, or until muffins are lightly browned. Let stand for 5 minutes. Remove from pan and serve warm or cool. Makes 12 muffins.

CRANBERRIES FOR BRUNCH — Believe me, try one of these fresh cranberry brunch ideas next time you're looking for a new breakfast dish. Can't beat them.

Sausage Laws Need Overhaul

EAST LANSING — Michigan people eat more sausage, ground beef and other comminuted, or ground, meat products per capita than the people of any other state.

And this may well be due to the fact that Michigan has the strictest comminuted meat law in the nation, J. L. Littlefield, chief of the foods and standards division of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, told a conference of meat processors at Michigan State University recently.

But this does not mean that the law does not need amendment. In fact, he said, it needs a major overhaul.

The law should be revised to allow processors to utilize the latest research and technology; to require product identity — informative listing of ingredients on the package, and to limit the use of tinted packaging designed to create a false impression of quality, he indicated.

Up-to-date laws, a larger state inspection force, more in-plant inspection, and better cooperation of the courts are needed, he said, to assure continued success of the comminuted meat business in the state.

Today's consumer, Littlefield contends, is not basing her meat choice on price, alone, but rather is "searching for high quality, reasonable priced to fit her budget, attractively packaged, and labeled so as to be informative."

Lunch Salad a Bit Sweet

For those who like sweet salads, try shrimp-banana ring for a main course lunch salad.

Dissolve 1 (6 ounce) package of lemon flavored gelatin in 1¼ cups of mayonnaise. Chill until syrupy.

Fold in ½ cup of chopped celery, 2 (4½ ounce) cans of jumbo shrimp, drained, and 3 all-yellow bananas, sliced. Pour into a 6-cup ring mold. Chill until firm.

Makes 6 servings.

If Idea Is New Try It Once

Many good cooks still like to use this old-time method.

Boiled Chicken

1 roasting chicken (about 4 pounds ready-to-cook weight)
1 quart water
1 rib celery and 1 pared carrot
1 small onion
½ teaspoon salt

Bring the washed chicken and the remaining ingredients to a boil; boil gently until tender — about 45 minutes. Remove chicken, crave and serve hot or cool. (Strain broth; refrigerate; remove fat from top and use broth as desired.)

Shrimp in Pie a Bit Unusual

Shrimp Pie is just what its name implies. It is a pie and it is filled with shrimp in a delicately lemon-flavored sauce. Coupled with celery and onions, it has a delightfully crunchy texture that makes it perfect for main dish serving at luncheons, dinners, or late evening suppers.

Plan to serve it with a tossed green salad and hot muffins, and your menu's all set.

Shrimp Pie

¾ cup diced celery
2 medium onions, diced
2 tablespoons butter
1 lb. cooked and cleaned shrimp (fresh or frozen-if canned is used, 3-5 oz. cans)
¾ cup cooked rice
2 eggs
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
1 tablespoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Unbaked 9" pie shell
1 green pepper, sliced

Saute celery and onions in butter until soft and lightly browned. Lightly toss with shrimp. In separate bowl, beat two eggs with bottled lemon juice. Add cornstarch and stir until smooth. Add salt and pepper.

Spoon shrimp mixture into pie shell, spreading evenly. Pour egg mixture over shrimp. Garnish with thin slices of green pepper.

Bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes or until mixture is set. 5-6 servings.

Figs Unusual in a Salad

A "quickie" that could be used as a luncheon salad as well as part of a buffet supper.

Stuffed Pears

½ cup chopped dried figs
¼ cup chopped nuts
1 cup cottage cheese
10 canned pear halves
Lettuce
Mayonnaise

Combine figs and nuts with cottage cheese. Put canned pears together in pairs with cheese-fig mixture. Serve each stuffed pear on bed of lettuce with a dab of mayonnaise. Makes 5 servings.

Mashed Potatoes Frost Turkey Loaf

A young member of the family, when a favorite way with the leftovers appeared on the table, once said, "Even when the turkey is gone, it's good."

And here's one of the best ways of all, as far as young people are concerned. First, of course, the turkey loaf looks exciting. Almost as good as dessert. Then there's something especially interesting, for some reason, about getting the meat and potatoes served together in a slice.

Finally, the flavor is adventuresome but not too much so. Just enough to make the dish outstanding and a lesson in better taste.

Reason for that is the addition of the remarkable blend of herbs and spices that is Angostura aromatic bitters. It has many different spices in one bottle, all and each of which contribute rare flavor quality to the finished dish.

Frosted Turkey Loaf

4 cups stale soft bread crumbs
6 tablespoons melted butter or margarine
2½ cups milk or chicken broth
1½ tablespoons Angostura aromatic bitters
3 tablespoons minced onion
1 teaspoon poultry seasoning
½ cup minced celery
½ cup chopped pimiento
4 eggs, slightly beaten
3 cups minced cooked turkey
1 teaspoon salt
4 cups seasoned mashed potatoes

Mix all ingredients well except mashed potatoes. Pour mixture into a well greased 9x5x3-inch loaf pan. Set pan into a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) about 45 minutes or until firm. Let loaf cool in pan 10 minutes.

Unmold loaf on a serving platter. With a spatula gently frost the entire loaf with hot seasoned mashed potatoes. (Frost sides of loaf first, then the top.) Cut into slices and serve hot with a tossed salad. Yield: 6 servings.

Let Almonds Add Touch

Almonds glamorize everyday foods.

Stir roasted diced almonds and chopped parsley into ground beef; season with onion salt, pepper and basil or oregano. Shape into patties and boil or pan-fry.

Sprinkle toasted slivered almonds over hot cooked peas and carrots or Brussels sprouts. Toss lightly with lemon juice and butter.

Oven-roasted whole blanched almonds make delicious party snacks. For each cup almonds, use 1 teaspoon butter or salad oil. Roast in shallow pan in 300-degree oven 20 to 25 minutes, stirring frequently. Remove and toss with garlic salt and a little cayenne.

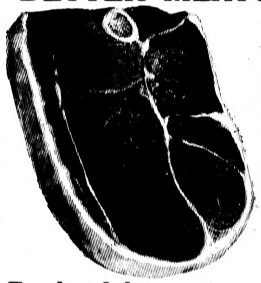

FROSTED TURKEY LOAF — The frosting on the turkey loaf is mashed potatoes; the delightful flavor inside is from aromatic bitters.

Cookies Full of Crunchy Goodies

Cookies are so welcome in lunch boxes, after school, for evening snacks and desserts. They are nourishing and welcome at all times. Lunches that go off to school and work are better with a few flavorful, satisfying cookies to sweeten the day. And they are even better with a few extra cookies included to share with a friend.

Peanut Brittle Chocolate Chip Cookies are delightfully crisp, so they really "go with milk." Their old-fashioned butterscotch flavor combines with sweet miniature marshmallows, crunchy salted peanuts and semisweet chocolate chips to make a whole new taste treat.

These tempting cookies are made with a mix — chocolate chip butterscotch brownie mix. All you add are the mix. All you add are the marshmallows and nuts.

Please the lunchbox carriers in your family some day soon with Peanut Brittle Chocolate Chip Cookies. Here is the recipe.

Chip Cookies
Peanut Brittle Chocolate

Heat oven to 375 degrees. Prepare Chocolate Chip Butterscotch Mix as directed on package except — omit water and add ½ cup miniature marshmallows and ½ cup salted peanuts to mixture. Blend well.

Shape into balls, 1¼"; roll in confectioners' sugar. Place 2" apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake 10 to 12 minutes. Remove immediately from pan. Makes 2½ to 3 doz. cookies.

Turn Leftover Spuds Into Dumplings

When you are cooking potatoes, make some extra to use in this old-fashioned dish.

Potato Dumplings

1 cup cold mashed potatoes
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon baking powder
3 slices bread, cubed
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Mix together the potatoes, eggs and salt. Sift together the flour and baking powder and add; beat well. In a heavy skillet, toast the bread slowly in the hot butter until brown and crisp; stir into mixture.

Drop mixture, in 8 portions, into 6 cups boiling water mixed with 1 teaspoon salt. Cover. Boil over moderate heat for 15 minutes without lifting cover; drain. Cool; refrigerate.

At serving time, slice and brown in hot butter.

Sandwich Tips Given in Film for Club Units

The announcemenet by Pepperidge Farm of a recently completed movie on sandwich making will be welcomed by the many women's clubs who are alert for new and interesting meeting material.

"New Ideas in Sandwich Making" presents a variety of unique and unusual tips on the art of the sandwich — and the results may astonish many who believe they have "seen everything there is" on sandwich preparation.

Shot in color on 16mm film, the movie runs for 36 minutes. A soundtrack explains the demonstrations of Chef Aldo Graziotin, of the Culinary Institute of America.

Filming was done on the premises of Pepperidge Farm, the well known bakery started in 1937 by Margaret Rudkin in the kitchen of her Fairfield, Connecticut, home.

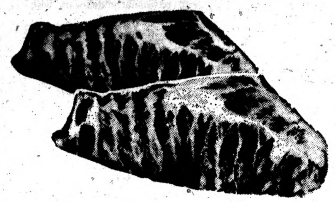

Prints of the film are available free of charge from Pepperidge Farm. The company requests that a letter on club stationery be written to: General Promotion Department, Pepperidge Farm, Norwalk, Conn. Included in the letter should be alternate dates when the film is desired and the number of members in the club.

Cream of Bean Soup

Heat canned green beans with canned condensed cream of potato soup. Use bean liquid and water to dilute the soup. Serve piping hot with a big spoonful of dairy sour cream or salted whipped cream and a sprinkling of chopped chives or green onion tops.

Pleasure Repeated

Turkey Plays Return Engagement

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

What's sadder looking than a turkey after Thanksgiving dinner? Nevertheless, there's plenty of good eating left in the carcass.

★ ★ ★

Of course you removed all the stuffing from the bird and refrigerated it immediately. Of course you put the turkey in the refrigerator too. This is a MUST.

If you plan to use whatever meat is left on the bird within a day or two, refrigerator storage is fine.

If you want to spread its use out over a longer period of time, freeze it. Packs of white and-or dark meat can be handy to have. Use the bones for soup.

We're going to have turkey sandwiches at our house for a couple of days now. But that's such an obvious solution to leftovers.

★ ★ ★

After the extensive preparations you've made for your holiday dinner, you're probably in no mood to spend a lot of time in the kitchen the rest of this weekend.

Turkey Rice Pie is just the recipe you need. It makes use of convenience foods and results in a tasty main dish in a jiffy.

Turkey Rice Pie

1⅓ cups water
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
2 teaspoons chicken flavor stock base
1½ cups packaged precooked rice
3 eggs
4 slices (4 oz.) packaged American process cheese
1 cup diced cooked turkey
1 envelope mushroom sauce mix
¾ cup milk
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
½ teaspoon salt
Black pepper to taste
1 tomato, sliced, for garnish, optional

Combine water, butter, chicken stock base in a saucepan; bring to a boil. Add rice; cover and let stand 5 minutes. Beat one of the eggs slightly; blend into rice.

Turn all into a 9-inch pie pan. Press into a firm layer on bottom and sides to form a rice crust. Dice the sliced cheese; sprinkle half in bottom of crust. Add half the turkey. Repeat layers.

Empty contents of mushroom sauce mix into a small saucepan. Add the milk and nutmeg. Bring to a boil. Beat remaining 2 eggs. Add the hot sauce to eggs, gradually. Add salt and black pepper to taste. Pour over turkey and cheese.

★ ★ ★

Bake in a 400-degree oven 25 minutes or until the filling is set. Garnish with tomato slices. 5 to 6 servings.

Tiny turkey turnovers will be welcome as the main course or as a hot appetizer. This recipe calls for ripe olives which are in such large supply right now.

Tiny Turkey Turnovers

1 cup turkey, cooked and finely chopped
¼ cup ripe olives, chopped
1 3-ounce package cream cheese, softened
Salt to taste
Pepper to taste
1 recipe pastry, using 2 cups flour, or 2 pastry sticks

Roll pie dough to ⅛th inch thickness and cut into 2 inch circles. Combine turkey, cream cheese and ripe olives. Season turkey mixture with salt and pepper, if necessary.

Place ½ teaspoon turkey mixture in center of each pastry circle. Fold dough over filling and crimp pastry edges to form a seal. Place turnovers on baking sheets, and refrigerate immediately.

At serving time, preheat oven to 475 degrees and bake turnovers 10 to 15 minutes, or until well browned and thoroughly heated. Serve piping hot!

★ ★ ★

How about turkey chowder for lunch on Saturday? This is a recipe you might keep for a future time when the turkey you froze is just about gone. You need only half a cup.

Turkey Chowder

3 cups turkey stock
1 cup diced raw potato
2 teaspoons minced onion
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed cream of celery soup, undiluted
¼ cup crumbled cooked bacon
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
½ cup diced cooked turkey

In a 3½-quart saucepan, combine turkey stock with potato, onion, salt and pepper; bring to boiling. Reduce heat; simmer, covered, about 20 minutes or until potatoes are tender. Remove from heat. Add cream of celery soup, stirring until well combined. Add remaining ingredients; reheat gently. Makes 1 quart.

TURKEY RICE PIE

Relish Absorbs Brandy While Ripening

Dried prunes and apricots — always sweeter and more intensely flavored than the fresh fruit — make a relish that's a cousin to a brandy potpourri, and particularly delicious with goose and duck.

Compote Relish

2 cups dried prunes, pitted
1 cup dried apricots
1 4-inch piece stik cinnamon boiling water
2 lemonslices
6 cloves
blackberry brandy

Put dried fruit in glass jar; add cinnamon stick and boiling water to cover. Pierce lemon slices with cloves and add. Add ¼ cup brandy. Let the fruit stand overnight to plump.

Add more brandy to cover, replenishing liquid which has been absorbed, let stand overnight again. Repeat procedure for third time.

The relish is ready to serve on the third day. Discard lemon slices, cloves, and cinnamon stick, chill and serve in relish dishes. Or pour into sterilized jelly glasses and cover with a layer of paraffin for longer storage.

Cheese and Tuna Blend Smoothly

Cheese and tuna are a natural combination, frequently used in casseroles. This Roquefort tuna dip is just right for crackers and vegetable dippers.

Roquefort Tuna Dip

1 (6½ to 7-ounce) can tuna, drained and finely flaked (about 1 cup cooked tuna)
½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup dairy sour cream
3 tablespoons crumbled Roquefort cheese
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Dash salt

Combine all ingredients. Chill. Makes 1½ cups.

To Unmold Gelatin

To unmold a gelatin preparation, just dip the bottom of the mold into hot water, invert and turn out. If this doesn't do the trick, loosen the top edge of the gelatin mixture with a small knife or spatula and then try again.

For an interesting flavor change, use bulk pork sausage as the basis for spaghetti sauce.

Meat Ads Must Tell Truth

Have you ever asked, "What is the purpose of meat ads? What do they tell me? How can I protect myself from being mislead by an advertisement?"

★ ★ ★

The purpose of all advertising is to increase sales, advises the District Extension Agent, Mrs. Josephine Lawyer. A "special" or "feature" is an advertising tool — food sold at or near cost in hope that other food will be purchased. Usually it is the same quality sold at higher prices by competing stores.

★ ★ ★

Meat "specials" or "features" are purchased by the retailer at low cost due to heavy seasonal supply, or heavy accumulated wholesale stocks. He is passing his savings on to the customer.

Meat specials may be selected as "promotional" items during a special week to bring large volume sales to the store. Coupons, stamps, and cents-off promotions may be included in this group.

What's in a meat ad? If all stores are advertising one kind of meat, supplies of that meat are large and prices down. Meat ads help the shopper with menu suggestions and buying decisions before going to the store.

The best meat ads tell the exact name of the cut, the grade or quality, and price per pound. Michigan law requires that meat advertised as Prime, Choice, Good, or Standard must either have been graded by the U.S. Department of Agriculture or be of equal quality to the federal grade designated.

It is illegal to advertise:

- Anything that is untrue.
- Any pork shoulder as ham.
- Any cut of beef as baby beef.
- Any ham portion by the term of one half or half ham if it has had a center slice removed.
- A quality of meat without having that quality for sale.
- Any cut as lamb, if the animal is over one year old.

Special Cheese Topping

Blend equal parts of mayonnaise and sour cream and add crumbled blue cheese; serve with wedges of iceberg lettuce for a salad men usually like. Add strips of pimiento or pimiento-stuffed green olives for color, or just a sprinkle of paprika.

Roasting Half Turkey

Tie tail and leg of half bird together by stitching clean wrapping cord through skin at end of leg and then through meat of tail. (Upholsterer's needle is good for stitching.)

Place bird cut side up. Sew loose skin at neck so it forms pocket. Salt pocket, and fill loosely with stuffing. Salt body cavity and stuff.

Place heavy paper over stuffing. Lace across, catching skin on each side. Or mound stuffing on heavy paper on rack and place bird over stuffing. Rub skin with fat.

Roast at 325 degrees stuffing side down on rack in shallow open pan — no water. Cook 1½ hours, then baste with drippings and baste every 45 minutes until done. Half turkey 7 to 9 pounds takes 3¾ to 4½ hours, a larger half bird longer.

Spiced Pears Foil for Beef

Be colorfully creative! Serve tangy hot Spiced Pears with savory corned beef. Garnish with crisp green parsley and you've created a real eye opener!

* * *

With their versatile flavor, Spiced Bartlett Pears may be used to accompany other meats and poultry equally as well. A can of Bartlett pears on the shelf means you not only have the makings for this tempting meat accompaniment, but for any number of delicious salads, refreshing desserts and quick-energy snacks.

* * *

This week plan to serve Spiced Pears with corned beef. And if you've prepared enough for a second meal, try corned beef salad served in the centers of the Spiced Pear halves.

SPICED PEARS — Canned Bartlett pear halves are the basis for this unusual meat accompaniment. Simply marinate them overnight or several hours in their own syrup with the addition of sugar, vinegar and whole spices. While the pears are picking up a subtle spicy flavor, the corned beef can be simmering to tender goodness. Just before serving, heat the Spiced Pears with the corned beef, basting both with spicy pear syrup.

Hot Spiced Pears With Corned Beef

1 can (1 lb.) Bartlett pear halves
¾ cup sugar
½ cup white wine vinegar
1 teaspoon whole cloves
½ teaspoon whole allspice
2 sticks cinnamon
3 to 4 lbs. corned beef
1 bay leaf
1 small onion, sliced

Drain pear halves. Combine pear syrup with sugar, vinegar, cloves, allspice and cinnamon. Bring to boil and simmer 10 minutes. Pour over pear halves. Chill several hours or overnight.

In the meantime, place corned beef in kettle and cover with water. Add bay leaf and onion. Cover and simmer 3 to 3½ hours or until fork tender. One half hours before serving, remove corned beef to baking dish. Arrange drained pear halves in baking dish with corned beef.

Pour ½ cup spiced pear syrup over corned beef and pear halves. Heat 30 minutes at 350 degrees, basting occasionally with additional spiced pear syrup. Serve hot pear halves with sliced corned beef, garnishing with parsley.

Lettuce Fruit Slaw

Cut western iceberg lettuce crosswise into 1-inch slices, then into chunks. Place in large bowl with orange sections, banana slices and halved and seeded red grapes. Toss lightly with bottled cole slaw dressing and a little celery seed.

From Wine Firm

Book on Game Is Free

An attractive 20-page booklet titled "Success with Game in Camp or Kitchen" is the newest in the series of booklets on cooking and entertaining with wine to be offered by The Taylor Wine Company, Hammondsport, N.Y.

The famous Finger Lakes Region of New York State — great hunting and fishing country as well as one of the major wine-producing areas in the country — provides the inspiration for this informative collection of recipes advice on the dressing, transporting and storing of game, and tips on safe hunting.

Recipes were tested and the text prepared by Lucille Shearwood, well known editor and food consultant, and the text has been charmingly illustrated by Clara McCanna.

The following is typical of the booklet's recipes, designed to allay the bewilderment of the cook who is proudly presented with a gift of venison steaks and doesn't know what to do with them.

Broiled Venison With Port Wine Sauce

Cut vension steaks about ½ inch thick. Dip in shallow dish of olive oil; season well with salt and coarsely ground black pepper. Broil 2 to 3 minutes on each side over the hottest possible fire. Meat should be rare. Serve at once on large, heated platter. (Meat will toughen if held in warming oven.)

Port Wine Sauce

1 tablespoon butter or margarine
¼ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons Port wine
1 tablespoon currant jelly

Combine all ingredients in saucepan; stir well until jelly is melted and ingredients are well blended. Pour hot over venison. Makes sauce for two.

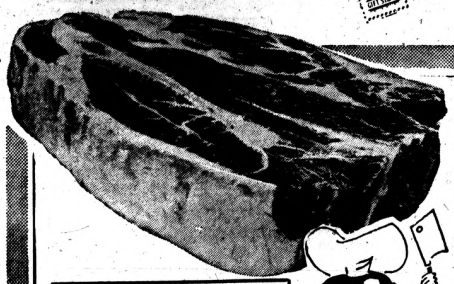

Copies of "Success with Game or Kitchen" are available free of charge from Dept. SG, the Taylor Wine Company, Hammondsport, New York.

Streaks Almondine

Coarsely chop blanched whole almonds. Saute in butter until light golden brown. Remove from heat; stir in bottled steak sauce and a little dry red wine or lemon juice. Spoon over broiled steaks or chops.

Christmas Seal Credited to 3

The familiar Christmas Seal that appears on letters and packages during the holiday season can be credited jointly to three different people: an American doctor, a Danish postal worker and an American Red Cross worker.

The first person, the American doctor, was Edward Livingston Trudeau.

Dr. Trudeau contracted tuberculosis shortly after graduating from medical school.

Both his brother and his daughter also had TB, so Dr. Trudeau decided to conduct research on the disease.

This led to his establishment of a tuberculosis hospital at Saranac Lake, N.Y.

And subsequently, when the National Tuberculosis Association was founded in 1904, Dr. Trudeau was the first president.

In the same year, Encyclopedia International reports, a Danish postal worker, Einar Holboell, came up with the thought that Christmas was a time when people should be reminded of their duty to help the sick and needy children who were suffering from TB.

He proposed to the King of Denmark that penny seals be sold, for affixing to Christmas packages and letters.

The king agreed to the idea, and this led to the world's first Christmas Seal in 1904.

Also at about the same time, a small TB hospital which had been built in Delaware by a group of doctors, was in trouble for lack of funds.

A cousin of one of the hospital's doctors, Red Cross worker Miss Emily Bissell, came up with a solution.

She had read a magazine article which described the development of the Christmas Seal in Denmark. And she decided a similar seal should be adopted in the United States.

Miss Bissell, designed the seal and by 1907, the first American Christmas Seal went on sale in Wilmington, Delaware.

Christmas Verses Have Long History

"A Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year to You" — the almost universal greeting of the season — dates back at least a century and appeared in print in 1843 on the very first Christmas card.

★ ★ ★

The famous missive, known to antiquarians as the Cole-Horsley — and a number of other memorabilia of the spirit of Christmases past, repose in the Hallmark Historical Collection in Kansas City, Mo., largest private collection of its kind in the world.

The Cole-Horsley is named for Sir Henry Cole and John Calcott Horsley.

Sir Henry, director of the Victoria and Albert Museum, commissioned Horsley, a noted London artist, to design what was to be later recognized as the first Christmas card.

★ ★ ★

The card is divided into a trio of colored panels. The center larger than the other two, portrays a family at Christmas dinner. The side panels illustrate the Christian virtues of feeding the hungry and clothing the needy.

Much of our knowledge of the early days of greeting cards is derived from the efforts of an eccentric 19th century Englishman who devoted 60 years of his life to amassing in his London home more than a half million Christmas cards, Valentines, and other greetings.

It was Prince Albert, Victoria's consort, who introduced the Christmas tree to England from his native Germany in the same era in which the Christmas greeting card custom developed.

The Christmas greetings of the Victorian Era rival in beauty and elegance the best cards of our own age of advanced technical skill.

★ ★ ★

Many of the most famous artists on both sides of the Atlantic were employed to design them — and the symbols of Christmas, many still popular to the present day — the robin, holly, mistletoe, Santa, and carolers, first became popular on cards that appeared toward the close of the century.

FIRST CARDS

The first American Christmas cards were published in Boston by a man named Louis Prang. They cost a penny and were modest in size and design by modern standards.

Prang, who would later be known as "the father of the American Christmas card," was a German refugee who had established a successful business in Boston selling visiting cards, business advertisements and announcements both here and in England.

In England, the name of Kate Greenaway, whose paintings of children became world-famed, was closely associated with Christmas cards, as were those of Walter Crane and Robert Dudley, both well-known artists of the era.

★ ★ ★

In America, Prang commissioned work from such artists as Elihu Vedder, Douglas Volk and J. Alden Weir, all-long forgotten but first-rate artists.

★ ★ ★

The Currier and Ives illustrations, so popular today on Christmas cards, were not reproduced on cards until the 20th century, however.

★ ★ ★

American-designed Christmas cards slipped from favor for a decade at the turn of the century.

YULE SYMBOLS — Upper left is a late 19th century American Christmas card, portraying Santa Claus as "St. Christmasse." Upper right, this card departs completely from the Christmas theme to imprint two of Longfellow's most popular poems. Lower left, Santa Claus is surrounded by various symbols of the Yule season in this early American card. Lower right, two semihumorous cards printed in America in the 19th century.

Mistletoe Symbolism

The festive symbolism of mistletoe goes back to ancient cults common to the Celts, according to Encyclopedia Americana. Mistletoe once was associated universally with fertility, and is still associated with kissing and courting at winter festivals.

Rationing General Since 1962

Food Shortage Is Number One Problem in Cuba

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth article in a five-part series written by a United Press International correspondent after an assignment in Cuba.)

By JOHN VIRTUE

HAVANA (UPI) — A shortage of food is the number one problem facing the average Cuban today.

Food rationing has been general since 1962. About the only staple food which can be bought without a ration book is bread. Even sugar is rationed.

The amount and variety of food available has been diminishing. New items have been put on the ration list and the allotted amounts of others have been reduced.

The ingredients for such typical Cuban dishes as Arroz Con Pollo (chicken and rice) and Lechon Asado (roast pig) are rationed. The average Cuban is getting enough to eat, but his diet is monotonous, unbalanced and too dependent on starches.

* * *

Following are some typical allotments per person:

Meat — 12 ounces per week.

Rice — six pounds per month (the per capita consumption used to be 110 pounds per year compared to six pounds in the United States).

Lard — one-half pound per month.

Eggs—Four per person (when there are any).

Butter — four ounces per month when there is any.

Coffee — 1½ ounces per week.

Milk—for those up to 7 years of age and over 65.

LINEUPS COMMON

Lineups in front of food stores are common because the food that is rationed is not necessarily available. When scarce items such as eggs are put on the counter they are quickly snapped up.

While the food situation in the home has been gradually worsening, it has been improving in the restaurants. The government has made more food available to the restaurants, most of which are state - run, because the Cuban with a few extra pesos will periodically eat there to supplement his diet. But the price is high.

Even in an average restaurant, a shrimp cocktail will cost $2, a steak $5 and boiled eggs $1.20. Bread and butter are extra. A meal for two in a top-flight restaurant can cost $30.

Cubans will also supplement what can be bought with a ration book by dealing in the black market, especially if they have growing children. Meat has been selling illegally for $5-7 a pound and chicken for $3.50 a pound.

Cubans love beer, but it too is in short supply, the reason variously being a shortage of caps, bottles or malt. It is usually available with meals, but bars can only serve it for several hours in the early evening, if they have any. Because of faulty refrigeration due to a lack of U.S. spare parts, it is not uncommon to drink a warm beer poured over ice.

There are only two types of soft drinks available, but they are usually not sold in the same area. One is a pleasant lemon-lime drink and the other is orangeade sold in Coca Cola bottles.

An incongruous sound in the plush residential areas of Havana is the crackling of a chicken. Thousands of Cubans keep chickens, turkeys, rabbits and even pigs in their front yards in order to help alleviate the food shortage.

The shortage of food is a bit bewildering for Cubans because their soil is rich and the growing season is year-long. But there are a variety of reasons for it.

First of all, some foodstuffs are shipped abroad for foreign credit. Sugar has been rationed since Hurricane Flora severely damaged the crops last year and raised the possibility that Cuba would have difficulty meeting its foreign commitments. Cuban fruits which are now rarely seen in the stores are said to be canned and exported.

Secondly, many skilled agricultural workers have fled into exile, leaving a manpower shortage. Students and "volunteer" groups help with the harvest, but they do not always have the proper skills for maximum results.

Thirdly, passive resistance and occasional acts of sabotage on the part of some workers cut the yield.

Fourthly, the small famer — farms under 170 acres are still privately owned — does not like selling his produce to the state marketing body at a fixed price. Some of his produce is sold illegally to private citizens.

Fifthly, there is a lack of fertilizer.

Finally — and most importantly — have been the failures of the government's agricultural policy. Attempts to diversify the crops have not been successful, especially in the case of sugar.

The government decided early in the revolution to lessen its dependence on sugar, but found it had to go back heavily into growing the crop because it was one of the few products on which it could depend for foreign currency.

Detroit May Stage '72 World's Fair

DETROIT (AP) — A special committee appointed by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh has given cautious endorsement to a plan to hold a World's Fair in the Motor City in 1972.

* * *

The committee, in a 362-page report, said, "Given the proper public and private support, it would be feasible to hold a world's fair in the city..."

It added such a fair would be desirable only if permanent improvements to the city would result from the large amount of money both the city and state would have to put into the project.

Maintains Cemetery, but Not for Workers

WATERFORD, N.Y. (AP) — The Gentral Electric Co. maintains a cemetery on its plant site in this village near Troy.

* * *

The plot is not for GE workers, however. It was there when the company acquired the site, and most of the dead lived in the Revolutionary War period. There are about 40 stone markers.

Story of Little Black Lamb in Christ Child's Manger

The night was still.

All the sheep were lying on the hillside, occasionally looking to the sky where the twinkling stars could be seen clearly. All that is, except one young lamb.

His name was Dodo. And he was a black lamb.

The shepherds considered Dodo was their most troublesome charge.

★ ★ ★

Several times a day, one of them had to hook his staff around Dodo's neck and yank him back with the herd.

DIDN'T MEAN IT

Dodo didn't mean to be difficult. It was just that he always wanted to see what was over the next hill, and he'd forget lambs weren't supposed to stray.

Dodo had problems too.

Getting along with the other sheep was very trying at times.

★ ★ ★

Because he was black and his curiosity got him into so much trouble, the others tended to look down their noses at him. And if one started, they all followed.

DREW AWAY

When this happened, Dodo would sigh and draw away.

Sometimes he'd decide to go exploring.

And that's how it came to be that Dodo went wandering on this peaceful night.

First, he gamboled to the top of the hill, being careful not to rouse the sheperds.

When he reached it and looked out across the land, he was surprised at how sharply he could see everything.

There was a brilliant star shining — the brightest Dodo had ever seen. And it lit up the whole area below, almost as if it were daytime.

Then Dodo headed down the hill into the brightly lit area.

He saw a little village, crowded with people, and wondered why they were there.

UNDERNEATH STAR

He came to a place which seemed to be right underneath the bright star.

And when he looked around he saw a stable.

There were two people, and several animals — a cow, a donkey and others.

They were all looking down at something lying in a manger. Dodo couldn't see what it was, but he moved closer to find out.

Suddenly he saw—they were all gazing down at a little baby. And Dodo looked too.

He felt so happy. He wanted to dance and run and play.

Maybe, he thought, I should run back and tell the other sheep about this so they can come and be happy too.

But then, Dodo decided not to. They probably wouldn't believe him.

MORE POWERFUL

It would take something more powerful to convince them, thought Dodo. Maybe they'd all come—later.

★ ★ ★

And so Dodo quietly moved as close to the manger as he in his life lay down and just could get and, for the first time watched.

Feminine Touch in the Post Office

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (AP) — Kit Murray had no intention of knocking down precedents when she applied for a job sorting mail during the Christmas rush.

She was merely interested in a vacation job with pay.

But she found she was the first college girl ever to be hired by the local post office, and one of few in the whole postal service at holiday time.

"Was she good!" enthuses Postmaster Robert Tracy. "The postal inspector came by and watched her throwing mail faster than you could imagine. When he complimented her, she said, 'I'd do better if I had my glasses on.' "

Inventor Has Wheelchair Able to Climb Up Stairs

(EDITOR'S NOTE — The newspaper story said that out of space age research—some day might come a marvelous mobile chair to give persons unable to walk a hope of independence from family and friend. A fascinated reader was Rod Zamotin, a man with a wheelchair that actually climbs the stairs.)

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I've got a newspaper clipping here," a telephone caller told the Associated Press. "It says the space scientists hope to develop a wheelchair that climbs stairs.

"I thought you might be interested in knowing that I've already built one and my son-in-law rode it up the steps of the courthouse the other day."

★ ★ ★

The caller was Rod Zamotin, 45, an employe of the jet engine division of Eastern Air Lines, part-time inventor and architect.

Working at home, in two years of spare time effort, the "hobby" inventor has produced a wheelchair that does climb stairs, and could open a whole new world to the handicapped.

CLIMBED STAIRS

With Donald Whitney, Zamotin's son-in-law, riding the chair, it easily mounted the concrete steps of the courthouse.

Zamotin, soft-spoken, New York-born son of a Russian portrait artist, has invented only little things in the past — such as a salt shaker which keeps the salt dry.

★ ★ ★

Two years ago, he read an appeal to inventors from the Department of Commerce to work on a wheelchair that would climb stairs. He went to work on it.

With his model completed, he applied for a patent. He said he has been advised that it will be granted "because of the novelty of my invention."

NOT MARKETED

Beyond that Zamotin, no marketing expert, didn't know how to go about getting his brainchild to those who needed it. He wrote to a manufacturer of hospital supplies "and they said it was a wonderful thing, but it would involve a lot of tooling up to produce it and they wanted to know how big a market there was for it."

Zamotin has now been put in touch with experts in the handicapped field and has set up a series of demonstrations to prove the need.

"My chair," he said, "can mean tha ta paraplegic, now a burden to his family and friends, can enjoy independence.

"The two or three steps down from his front porch — or even a curb — offered an insurmountable barrier to him. He couldn't really go anywhere without help.

GET AROUND

"With my chair, he can go down the porch steps, cross the street, go to the shopping center, up the steps of the library, or just down to the beach to watch the tide come in.

"He can sleep upstairs in his home if he wants to, without someone to carry him up. Or he could work on the upper floors of a building, something no paraplegic can do now, without someone to carry him up."

★ ★ ★

Zamotin's wheelchair looks much the same as a standard kind, with two big wheels up front and a small one behind. On the flat, the driver operates it like any other, by turning the big wheels.

At the foot of a flight of stairs, the driver turns a small device which retracts the rear wheel and lowers a frame with a non-skid belt made of a special rubber composition developed by Zamotin and built by the U.S. Rubber Co.

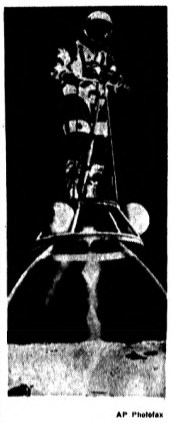

GOES BACKWARD

The belt, molding itself to the stair edges, takes the driver upstairs backward as he turns the two large wheels by hand, just as in traveling on the flat. Zamotin says it can't slip or skid on the stairs.

While the model is hand-operated, Zamotin says it could easily be electrified.

The model is much heavier than production chairs would be, but a 72-year-old man testing it out ran it upstairs handily.

The so-called tin cans for packing contain 98 per cent steel.

LUNAR POGO STICK — This is an artist's concept of the rocket-powered lunar transportation device that would give an astronaut a range of 12 miles on the moon. The device was designed by North America's Space Division at Downey, Calif., and is nicknamed "pogo stick" because it moves over terrain in relatively short hops.

Decorations Reflect Cheer

Tips for Ingenious Effects in Outdoors

Christmas is a season of sharing. It's a time to share with family, friends, strangers.

Why not let the warm indoor cheer of your Christmas reflect in your outdoor decorations? Wish all who pass your home a gay "Season's Greetings."

Here are some tips for creating ingenious and joyful effects:

- Begin with a plan.
- Keep the plan simple, accenting and decorating a single feature—a tree, chimney, or door.

★ ★ ★

- If you want to be more elaborate, combine several of these features into an eye-appealing over-all scheme.
- Use your imagination to camouflage floodlights. Pine boughs, tiny figures, or snow banked behind the lights hide them well.

★ ★ ★

- Snow banked in front of floodlights adds a special sparkle.
- Don't overdecorate with lights strung hapazardly from tree to tree, or gate to tree.

★ ★ ★

- For lop-sided trees, run the lights from the top, to pegs in the ground, teepee-fashion, for a more symmetrical effect.

With ingenuity and a little work your home can be a gay Christmas card proclaiming a message of cheer.

Eleven women were elected to Israel's first parliament in 1949.

Guide for Buying Yule Tree

What would Christmas be like without a tree?

★ ★ ★

And, almost as bad, what would Christmas be like with the wrong tree?

To make sure your tree adds as much as possible to the holiday spirit, here are a few guidelines.

Measure the size of the space you'll put the tree in. The American Christmas Tree Council suggests knowing exactly how high and how wide the area is.

Don't use guesswork. It's hard to judge size when faced with hundreds of trees.

WHAT TYPE?

Decide what type of tree you want. Douglas fir is often preferred as a good, all-around purchase.

Red cedar and Virginia pine trees are less expensive, and if you want to splurge, try blue spruce, white spruce or Scotch pine.

Study the tree itself. Look for fir that tapers nicely from a single tip. Check the color of the needles. Brown, dried up patches indicate needles have dropped off.

Check to see if the tree is fresh by rubbing your finger across the bottom of the stump to test for sappy moisture.

ERECT TREE

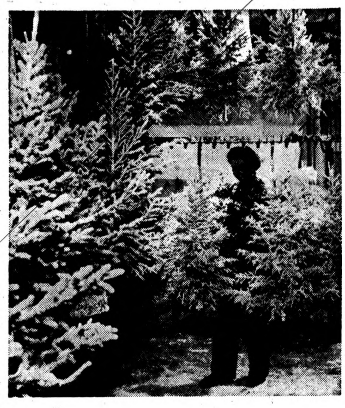

Erect your tree properly. Place it in a pail of cold water, sweetened with a cup of syrup, sugar or molasses. You can also place the tree in a box of wet sand to prevent it from drying out.

According to U. S. standard grades, there are four categories for marking trees.

1. U. S. Premium: Fully branched trees, dense and symmetrical.
2. U. S. No. 1 (Select): Fairly dense branching, symmetrical with three complete faces.
3. U. S. No. 2 (Standard): Sparsely branched, with long clear stem area between whorls of branches, buy symmetrical.

★ ★ ★

4. Culls: Trees with major defects.

ARTIFICIAL TREES — Some shoppers prefer an artificially colored tree. These table-size trees are placed in a drying room and are then fitted with special stands containing a synthetic sap which keeps them fresh for the holidays.

Original St. Nick Lived in Asia Minor

The original St. Nicholas lived in Asia Minor during the 4th century, and was the patron saint of maidens, children, merchants and sailors, according to Encyclopedia Americana.

Our present-day Santa Claus comes by way of Holland, where he was known as Sant Nikolaas, traveled on a gray horse, and left presents in children's shoes on Christmas eve.

Brunch Is Fun to Serve

ENTERTAIN AT BRUNCH—Brunch or breakfast, it's the best meal of the day. Crisp bacon slices, juicy smoke pork sausage links, mildly spiced sausage, served with curried eggs, make a fine family meal or party breakfast.

A late and leisurely brunch is a wonderful way to entertain friends. Brunch combines all of the best features of both breakfast and lunch. Choose a weekend or holiday morning when nobody is in a rush.

Invite your friends and select easy-to-fix foods. You can serve brunch with a flair and have fun with your guests, too.

Breakfast is the first meal of the day and should provide ¼ to ⅓ of the day's nutritional needs. When it's brunch, make the portions extra hearty for it will probably be a 2-meal day.

Serve juice or fruit in some form, and if no dessert is planned, make the fruit an extra fancy one — perhaps chilled fresh fruit compote topped with sherbet or drizzled with cream de menthe and garnished with a mint sprig just before serving.

The main course should include hearty protein-rich foods. For instance, a good assortment of favorite breakfast meats would be crisp bacon and smoked and fresh pork sausage links.

For a crowd, bake the meats in the oven — it takes less last-minute attention. Serve curried eggs on buttered toast points, toasted English muffins or baking powder biscuits as time allows.

A glamorous dessert is often the conversation piece of a smart brunch. If dessert is served, make it a dramatic one—perhaps flaming, brandied peach halves or cherries jubilee on pound cake.

Do the flaming of the fruit in a chafing dish in the living area, and don't forget an endless supply of good hot coffee.

Baked Bacon

Separate bacon slices; arrange slices on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) without turning until slices are well browned, about 10 minutes.

Baked Pork Sausage Links

Separate sausage links; arrange on rack in shallow baking pan. Bake in hot oven until done and browned, 20 to 30 minutes. Turn links after 15 minutes baking.

Curried Creamed Eggs

⅛ cup butter or margarine
½ cup chopped celery
¼ cup chopped green pepper
⅓ cup flour
1½ teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon curry powder
3 cups milk
6 hard cooked eggs, sliced
2 tablespoons chopped pimento

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan. Add celery and green pepper, and cook slowly until tender. Blend in flour, salt and curry powder. Add milk and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Add sliced eggs and pimento; heat.

* * *

Serve on hot buttered toast points, toasted English muffin halves or baking powder biscuits, as desired. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Fluffy Frosting Is Lemon Flavored

Make your own frosting for a cake from a mix.

Lemon Marshmallow Frosting

2 large egg whites
1½ cups sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
¼ cup cold water
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 cup small marshmallows
1½ teaspoons vanilla

In the top of a double boiler mix together well the egg whites, sugar, salt, water and lemon juice. Cook over hot water beating with an electric beater until frosting thickens and stands in peaks — about 7 minutes.

Remove from heat; add marshmallows and vanilla. Continue beating until frosting stands in very stiff peaks. (A few drops of red food coloring may be added.)

Use for filling and frosting for two 9-inch square layer cakes.

New Products

Down Goes the Fat Content

EAST LANSING — New low-fat cheeses for weight watchers will be on the market in the near future, according to a Minnesota dairy professor.

Not only will these new cheeses be low in fat content, but will have different flavors, textures and consistencies than any on the grocery shelves today, said Dr. S. T. Coulter, head of the Department of Dairy Industries, University of Minnesota.

"The growing demand for low-fat cheeses in this country is due partly to the need for this kind of product by the diet-conscious, and also to the increase in the popularity and sales of cheese over the past two decades," he said.

He noted that Europeans have had a wide variety of cheeses, including low-fat products, for some time. They are sold, he indicated, with designated fat contents, and have had generally good acceptance.

"There is no reason why our industry cannot come up with similar products — possibly in the very near future," he declared.

Dr. Coulter said the recent introduction of automation to the cheese industry will result not only in new processes in the manufacture of present cheeses, but in new cheeses, possibly with a variety of fat contents which will appeal to all appetites.

SPACE AGE MODEL—This is a model of the nation's first space age post office, a $35-million building consisting of a postal plant capped by a business skyscraper, that is to be constructed in the heart of Manhattan in New York City. The new structure is to be known as the Franklin D. Roosevelt station.

The tuatara has the longest history of any reptile of today. It has been on the earth almost unchanged for more than 200 million years. It is found on islands near New Zealand. It grows to be about two feet long.

Attractive Gifts Popular

Gift Wrapping---a $180-Million Business

NEW YORK (NEA) — A 10-cent package of plain tissue paper, a ball of red string, a few stickers: These were the humble requirements for wrapping gifts in the days of Christmas past—and the not so distant past either.

* * *

As for Christmas present Americans will spend some $180 million this year on an increasing variety of quality papers, ribbons and bows to dress up the 1 billion or more gifts they'll exchange on Dec. 25 amid cries of, "Oh, it's so pretty I hate to open it!"

According to the gift wrapping industry, the average family will spend nearly $200 on presents this Christmas and from $5 to $10 to wrap them and tie them up, using enough ribbon to circle the earth 100 times.

Understandably, Christmas is the season for wrapping manufacturers to be jolly.

* * *

The total wrapping sales figure of $220 million last year was four times higher than 15 years previously, and Christmas accounted for more than 80 per cent of it.

OLDEST SENTIMENT

There is really nothing new about the desire to make the outside of the gift as attractive as what's inside. It is one of mankind's oldest sentiments.

In ancient China, it is recorded that tokens were carried in paper slings.

Throughout most of human history, however, fancy wrappings have been a prerogative of the rich. In 17th-century France, gifts were offered in enameled porcelain "friendship" boxes, which are now collectors' items.

* * *

The English wrapped their presents in fine silks and woolens. In Europe in the 18th and 19th centuries, famed craftsmen devoted their skills to making jewel-encrusted gift boxes.

TECHNOLOGY

Today's modern technology and mass production—and not least of all, marketing techniques — have revolutionized the wrapping industry and brought elegance within the reach of everyone.

Expensive-looking, multi-color papers; exotic embossed foils; fancy silk and rayon ribbons; ready-made, self-sticking bows and thousands of embellishments are available everywhere — including drug stores, supermarkets and even gasoline stations.

One of those who helped engineer this revolution is Joseph Katz, president of the largest of a half dozen major manufacturers of gift wrap materials.

* * *

At the end of World War II, just discharged from the service, Katz put together $10,000 and two printing presses to turn out his first order of Christmas paper for the 1946 season.

FIRST ORDER

That first order was for $75. Last year, his company earned $15 million.

Today, America leads the world in the manufacture of package wrappings.

Partly it's the availability of wood plup, ink dyes, machinery and skilled labor. But Katz advances another very important reason:

* * *

"Only in America can millions of dollars be poured into a product that will go up in smoke that day after Christmas."

MORE CONSCIOUS

Americans are becoming more and more conscious of how packages are wrapped, both those they give and those they receive. Some findings of an industry survey:

* * *

- Ninety-nine per cent of all gift wrap materials are purchased by women (though half of all men wrap some of the gifts some of the time.)

* * *

- Most people prefer to wrap their own gifts (only one in every 14 Christmas shoppers pays for gift wrapping in a store).

* * *

- Women prefer red, green and gold, in that order. Men are partial to foil papers, favoring metallic gold and silver.

Congressional Christmases Spread Across the Nation

CAPITAL DELIGHT—One of the highlights of Washington's Christmas decorations is the national Christmas tree which is lighted by the President in an official ceremony each year. In the background (left) is the Washington Monument.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Christmas is very definitely a movable feast for many congressional families, some of whom may travel hundreds of miles to be back home for the holidays, may spend it in a city where the majority of their children can converge, or may go off to a resort so they can concentrate exclusively on a family Christmas.

★ ★ ★

"It's a half and half Christmas with us," says Mrs. Frank E. Moss, whose husband is a Democratic senator from Utah.

"Last year we went home, and had Christmas in our apartment there, since two of our children and our son-in-law are all students at the University of Utah, and it was more convenient for them if we went west.

"We hung a wreath on the door of our Washington home to show we weren't completely ignoring Christmas here, and then started out."

★ ★ ★

The Moss family — Marilyn, a junior, Edward, a freshman at the university, and son Brian, a student in high school in the Washington area—still hangs up Christmas stockings.

CRAZY GIFTS

"We put the craziest gifts in them," explains Mrs. Moss. "Things like good luck trolls, household items for the men that were really designed for women, and all kinds of jokes."

The Mosses, with scads of relatives on tap in Utah, have two family dinners, one Christmas Eve, and one Christmas Day at which at least 50 people sit down to turkey.

Then, says Mrs. Moss, "since we're a singing family, we gather round the piano for carols."

★ ★ ★

New York City is likely to be the gathering place for the Eugene M. Zuckert family.

NY CHRISTMAS

Zuckert, who is secretary of the Air Force, has a married son attending law school and a daughter who is working in the city, as well as his father and mother, so it's natural for the family to celebrate the holidays there. The city is also his former home.

But one Christmas the Zuckerts took off for Hot Springs, Va., and spent the holidays peacefully at their own cottage at the mountain resort.

"It seemed quite homey," says Mrs. Zuckert. "We decorated our own tree late in the afternoon the day before Christmas, brought all our presents down, and had a delightful time."

Two Washington families stay in the capitol for good reasons.

ALWAYS HOME

Congressman Joel T. Broyhill, who lives in Arlington, Va., represents that district, so he's always home for the holidays.

A Wisconsin congressman, Vernon Thomson, doesn't take his family home to Richland Center because his house there is rented. So they have what Mrs. Thomson calls "Christmas as we please" in their Washington house.

"Even if our home were vacant, it would be difficult to move everyone back to Wisconsin for such a short time. And we have two dogs to complicate things," says the congressman's wife.

★ ★ ★

The family, which includes two daughters who graduated from the University of Wisconsin and a high school son, spend a quiet holiday at their home in McLean, Va., across the river from the capitol.

"We got to the Christmas Eve service at the Presbyterian Church, and sleep as late as we like Christmas morning. Our turkey dinner is always served at noon."

Though the Broyhills don't face traveling problems at Christmas time, there are a few complications in their busy lives. Jane Anne, who'll enter De Pauw University in the fall, will have her coming out party at the Holly Ball during the Christmas holidays and all manner of parties preceding it.

But Mrs. Broyhill is experienced in handling such a crowded social calendar. Her older daughter Nancy, a senior at George Washington, was presented to society at the same function.

★ ★ ★

"Fortunately, our daughters never have been early risers on Christmas Day, even Jeanne Marie, who is 13. So we have a late breakfast, and a family dinner whenever it's ready."

Totes Ladder for 105 Blocks

WEST ALLIS, Wis. (AP) — When he couldn't get his extension ladder home any other way, 19 - year - old John Westphal picked up the two 15-foot sections and carried them 105 blocks to his home.

★ ★ ★

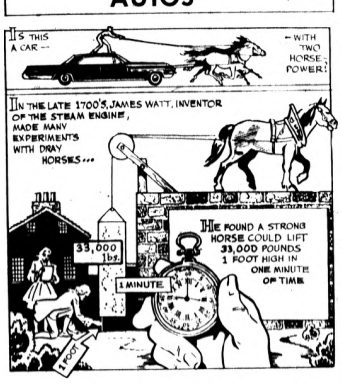

His 80 - pound load got pretty heavy, but he didn't mind being questioned by the police nearly as much as he did the ribbing from those who wanted to know if he was eloping.

Retiree Constructs His Own Railroad

COEUR D'ALENE, Idaho (AP)—Al Chapman, 70-year-old retired machinist, owns his own railroad—the Idaho Short Line, a 500-foot railroad which runs out of the living room window

It took Chapman over 10 years of working part time and $2,500 to build the seven scale model cars that make up the train powered by miniature steam locomotives. The trains, down to the last nut and bolt, are replicas of their 180-ton counterparts, scaled three-fourths of an inch to the foot.

Junior Editors Quiz on AUTOS

QUESTION: How do cars have horsepower with no horses to pull them?

ANSWER: Don't take the upper drawing seriously — our artist was just using his imagination. The main picture shows how it came about that a car is said to have a certain "horsepower."

The word is used to tell how much power an engine has. One way to measure this was worked out in the late 1700's by James Watt.

Watt wanted some way of measuring how much work an animal or engine might do.

He experimented with strong horses to see how much weight they could lift in a certain time.

Watt called one pound raised one foot a foot-pound, and he found a horse could raise 33,000 foot-pounds in one minute. He called the force exerted to do this one horsepower.

A more powerful force, such as an engine, may have two or five or many more units of horsepower.

In modern cars, pressure on the piston is multiplied by the piston's area, by the length of the piston's stroke and the number of strokes a minute—this giving foot-pounds a minute.

Divide this by 33,000 foot-pounds and you have the indicated horsepower. The "SEA Rating" and "brake horsepower" measurement methods are also used, giving different results.

FOR YOU TO DO: Find out how much horsepower your family car has.

College President Marks Christmas With a Trio of Celebrations

SOUTH HADLEY, Mass. (AP)—While most families find one Christmas a year the most they can manage, President and Mrs. Richard Glenn Gettell of Mount Holyoke College join in no fewer than three holiday celebrations and love every minute of all of them.

First comes the Mount Holyoke campus Christmas, which begins a week or so before the college's winter recess.

At the head of their "family" of 1600 girls, President and Mrs. Gettell preside over a flurry of traditional Mount Holyoke observances.

There are choir concerts, parties for underprivileges youngsters from neighboring communities and dormitory parties complete with a faculty-member Santa Claus.

★ ★ ★

"The high point for us is the student carolers' serenade at the president's house," Gettell observes. "It's one of the best times of the year, and of course we're always a little sorry to see it end."

HOLIDAY QUIET

But when holiday quiet descends on the South Hadley, Mass. campus, the next phase of the Gettells' Christmas is soon under way, and nostalgia quickly vanishes in the sportsman's zeal . . . the president is off to Key West Florida, on his annual deep sea fishing trip.

"It's the only real holiday I take all year," Gettell explains. "And it's absolutely sacred," he adds, smiling.

At Key West, Gettell makes straight for the boat of Captain Lefty Reagan, one of the best known skippers in the Florida game fishing fleet.

Captain Reagan has been Gettell's guide on many fishing expeditions and holds a standing reservation for him this week

CAST OFF

With little or no time wasted, Mount Holyoke's president, Capt. Reagan and crew cast off for seven days of "nothing but fishing."

This particular week turns out to hold more than relaxation, though, since it happens to coincide with the opening of the Miami Herald's annual Metropolitan Miami fishing tournament.

And one glimpse of Gettell's trophy-lined study back in South Hadley indicates that the coincidence has been a happy one.

★ ★ ★

At Christmas of 1961, Mount Holyoke's president brought home the Bimini Big Game Fishing Club trophy for a 77-pound Wahoo.

WON BOTH

He won both the barracuda and snapper classifications of the tournament in 1962, and last year he came back with a citation for spin casting in the mackerel classification.

"The tournament adds excitement, of course," Gettell says, "but I would enjoy the fishing with or without the competition."

Gettell became interested in deep sea fishing when he was chief staff economist for Fortune magazine.

★ ★ ★

"We used to have sales promotion meetings every year in Florida. When the working sessions were over, everyone would go off on some kind of sporting expedition. I wasn't a golfer, so I went along with the game fishermen and became devoted to the sport immediately."

INVIOLABLE CUSTOM

The Christmas fishing holidays have been an inviolable Gettell custom ever since.

Mrs. Gettell, an accomplished swimmer who confesses to being more at home in the water than on it, accompanies her husband to Key West but leaves the fishing to the gentlemen.

She has recently become interested in scuba diving and looks forward to the opportunity to get in some practice diving from the reef off Key West.

As much as they enjoy their annual Key West interlude, the Gettells do not spend Christmas itself in the tropical latitudes. "We are of the candles-in-the-window, gifts-on-Christmas-Eve tradition," Gettell explains, "so we always fly back to South Hadley for that."

IDEAL SETTING

At Mount Holyoke, the gracious president's house makes an ideal setting for an old-fashioned family Christmas, which is exactly what the Gettells prefer for their third and final holiday observance.

Mrs. Gettell's mother usually joins them in South Hadley, where the tree, gifts and all the traditional trimmings are assembled for the Christmas Eve festivities.

"Our family celebration is very quiet," Gettell says. "Like most families we follow the same pattern every year, catching up with Christmas cards that have come while were in Key West, then the gifts and our holiday dinner."

★ ★ ★

All in all, the Gettells find their triple Christmas both refreshing and inspiring, and they wouldn't consider changing it even slightly.

In fact, the only possible variation in the scene at the Mount Holyoke president's house on Christmas Eve 1964 would be a new addition to Gettell's trophy collection. And on the basis of past performance, that's a very strong possibility.

SETTING the stage for a Christmas photographic card of a three-year-old is no problem if simple props are used for a holiday effect.

Use Natural Props

Yule Photo Card Ideas

Preparing a Christmas photographic card before the festivities begin is not as complicated a problem as it sounds.

You don't need live snow or lighted Christmas trees as background effect for the family picture. Simple props that can be kept from year to year will do as well.

Candles artificial wreaths stockings, a book of Christmas carols, gaily-wrapped boxes (empty), last year's greeting cards, and a small Merry Christmas rug are some possibilities.

If you're photographing all the children, choose a natural focal point, such as the piano, fireplace, doorway or staircase.

Have the grouping be relaxed and informal. And if you want to incorporate your greeting right in the picture, there are many easy methods.

The front doorway is an ideal setting. All you need do is tape a ready-made string of Merry Christmas letters across the door, with or without a wreath. Or just use a hand-lettered sign.

Give the family an assortment of gaily wrapped packages to carry. Show one member ringing the bell, and you're ready to click.

A baby and a set of alphabet blocks, seat the baby behind Spell out your greeting with the blocks. seat the baby behind them, and snap your picture.

Sometimes, a picture can be made to express Christmas without the aid of a single special prop.

Children saying their prayers is a most appealing subject, requiring nothing but the youngsters in their nighties and a portion of a bed.

Just group the children as close together as you can.

Another situation involving the youngsters calls for a colorful, artificial wreath decorated with ribbon or some of last year's ornaments.

Bring out the youngsters, and the wool caps from the moth balls (if you haven't already), and have two of the children put their heads through the wreath and smile for a close-up.

Firm Makes Thousands of Santa Suits

If you've ever wondered what the well-dressed Santa Claus will wear, just ask Santa Claus Outfitters of Newark, N.J.

They've been making Santa Claus suits for more than 30 years and they sell thousands of costumes to Santas from all over.

The company begins making the suits in July each year. Most of the buying is done in November and December, but some enterprising Santas buy their suits in January — just to be ready for the next year in plenty of time.

The cheapest Santa suit costs $14 and is made of white cotton twill or gabardine with red trimming.

At the other extreme is a velvet suit which sells for $150. In between, are costumes of plush, velours and pile.

Each suit comes equipped with its own beard and wig, and a company spokesman said the recent fashion boom for wigs should boost his sales. Seems even Santas are more wig-conscious these days.

The company says it sells to all kinds of Santas — from department stores, church and civic organizations and families who've drafted Dad for the job.

There's a new type of Santa around, however, the suburban Santa. Many of the large housing developments in the suburbs select one resident to play the part of St. Nicholas and go around to every house.

You Can Have Mexican Pinata Party Even if You Don't Live South of the Border

TRADITIONAL — Mexican pinata party crosses the border to make a fiesta out of Christmas for these celebrating teen-agers.

Even if you've never been south of the border, you can entertain your crowd at a Mexican Pinata party this Christmas.

If you want to be truly authentic, you'll have it on December 16, when the traditional Posada celebrations begin, but the Pinata theme can be adapted for any holiday party.

The gift-filled Pinata in Mexico is a fragile earthenwar jar, but you can use a shopping bag as easily.

Build a wire frame for it, and cover with bright paper. Dangle it from an overhead light fixture.

At party time, each guest is blindfolded in turn, given a small stick, and then takes a turn trying to break open the Pinata.

The bag can hold paper-wrapped candies, or a grab-bag assortment of gifts.

After the gifts come showering down, it's time for a Mexican-style party.

Chili, made from the canned variety and topped before baking with cheese triangles and sliced olives, is a popular mainstay.

Chip and cheese dip may accompany this. Punch, combining pineapple, orange and lemon juice, and chocolate cake, decorated with red and green candied cherries, round out the celebration.

For residents of Mexico — and Mexicans in the United States who continue their homeland customs — Christmas will begin Dec. 16.

The traditional "posada" nine-day celebration is held in commemoration of Joseph and Mary's difficult journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem.

The Posadas (The word means lodging in Spanish) are now religious-social celebrations which generally include a pageant representing the journey.

Their origin dates back to the day when Saint Ignatius Loyola conceived the idea of a "novena" ". . . as a reminiscence of Joseph and Mary's journey to Bethlehem during the last month of Mary's pregnancy."

The first actual representation of the journey took place in Spain as a part of the religious function which Saint John of the Cross prepared for Christmas 1580.

It was not introduced in Mexico until seven years later.

Since then, the Posadas have become a traditional and purely Mexican celebration.

The Posada is organized in the following manner:

AFTER DARK

A procession is formed after dark. First come the children, two of whom carry a litter, decorated with pine boughs in which appear clay figures of Mary, riding a donkey, followed by Joseph and the angels.

The children are followed by boys and girls.

Then come the adults and finally, the servants of the household and the musicians, who play the music which accompanies the litany sung during the procession.

★ ★ ★

Every member of the procession, carrying a thin lighted candle, sings the litany and at the end of it the group is divided, one to represent the Holy Pilgrims and the other the innkeeper.

COLD AND DARK

The former sings asking for lodging, while the latter behind closed doors, tells them to continue on their way.

Joseph and Mary then speak of how cold and dark the night is, and how strongly the wind blows.

But the voice of the irate "innkeeper" is heard, threatening them with a beating if they persist on awakening the household.

Finally, through the efforts of the first, the second group is convinced that Mary is the Queen of Heaven and that she is to be the Mother of the Savior.

AT THIS POINT

At this point the door is opened wide inviting them to enter in the midst of great rejoicing and joyful singing.

The Posadas are hardly ever a one family affair.

Friends and relatives cooperate and they are held in different houses.

★ ★ ★

In order to celebrate the complete novena, one family gives the first Posada and someone among the guests volunteers to give the next and so one.

LEAST PRETENTIOUS

The initial one is, as a rule, the least pretentious and the rest grow more elaborate as the days pass, for everyone tries to outdo the preceding one.

★ ★ ★

The last Posada, on the 24th, is usually given by a group of families who, pooling their resources, make it the biggest and best.

Embassy Row Is Ready for Christmas

WASHINGTON (AP)—A pleasent blend of the traditional American Christmas mingled with long-standing customs of their homelands lies in store for members of the diplomatic community here.

Up and down Embassy Row, the world's ambassadors to the nation's capitol will officiate at parties for their staffs, help decorate Christmas trees, and take part in combined carol and folk singing.

Official duties—and official entertaining — will be laid aside in favor of family gatherings.

At the imposing British embassy, Lord and Lady Harlech prepare to welcome home their four children who will come back from England for the holidays. A fifth child lives permanently in Washington.

Turkey and plum pudding will be featured at the mid afternoon Christmas Day dinner, and there'll be a party later on over the holiday weekend for members of the embassy staff who have no family ties in Washington.

Christmas Eve is time for exchanging presents in the home of Iceland's ambassador, Thor Thors, and for serving the holiday dinner, featuring duck and rice pudding.

Not all diplomatic families stay in Washington for the holidays. Frances ambassador, M. Herve Alphand, is able to arrange a Parisian celebration for his family.

Creates Gifts for Children

Artistic Woman Has Flair for the Unusual

WOODCLIFF, N.J. (AP) — An artistic woman with a flair for whimsy and an instinct for knowing what children inevitably will like is hard at work dreaming up new ideas for Christmas pleasures.

She is Gloria Deppert, who a few years ago built a tree house for her own little girl, peopled with tiny animals, and made from a hollow log.

The forest tree house caught on with customers at F.A.O. Schwartz, where Gloria showed her design, and Gloria followed by designing mouse houses — one for the city mouse, one for the country mouse.

Both houses contain appropriate furnishings that fit into a plywood case that can be carried by a child when the mouse goes traveling.

★ ★ ★

Then Gloria turned to game-making, came up with "Margie Whoopie Game," and is now working on a board game for little children.

TRY OUT IDEAS

Her own children, particularly her eight-year-old Dahna, and children of the neighborhood, are part and parcel of the toy-making business.

"I don't close the studio door when they come in from school," says Mrs. Deppert. "The children like to be on it. And in this way, I can try out my ideas on them, and see which appeal.

"Also, they're helpful because they are so candid."

Mrs. Deppert confesses she has "many irons in the fire.

SOME PAINTING

"I do some painting, which can be described as contemporary impressionism, some sewing, and then these various toy ideas."

Dont Allow Santa to Be a Litterbug

Santa, that happy, rotund fellow who's the big star of the Christmas season now has been cast in a new —and unpleasant — role.

He's turned into a litterbug.

It's not really his fault, but what with 20 percent of the packages he brings going under the tree, there's bound to be potential litter with all those wrappings, ribbons, and other decoration.

The Keep America Beautiful people are disturbed by Santa's unsightly image. "He's likely to get a bad name if he doesn't get some help with the litter problem," says Allen H. Seed, Jr., KAB's executive vice-president.

★ ★ ★

"It's not just that Christmas litter makes an unsightly mess. Dwelling fires, of which litter is a major cause, during the three of four days spanning Christmas some years have killed 100 or more people.

Fire damage tends to be extra heavy in the holiday season."

RULES FOR HELPER

The rules for becoming a Santa's helper in the matter of litter are easy to follow, according to Seed:

1. Pack all reusable gift wrappings and store them in a safe out-of-the-way place.

2. Dispose of all other Christmas wrappings, cartons, ribbons and the like in the trash container for safe disposal.

★ ★ ★

3. Take down the Christmas tree when the needles start to drop and dispose of it where it won't become litter or a fire hazard.

At NY International Center

Happy Holiday for Foreigners

For 1,500 young foreign visitors to New York City, a small, brown, wreath - hung doorway nestled between two large barren windows means it will be a Merry Christmas.

This is the headquarters of the Midtown International Center, which at holiday time steps up its program of fun and fellowship. Starting December 20, there'll be daily open houses, instead of the usual three a week.

There'll be twice - daily tours to the city's most compelling sightseeing spots, instead of the once-weekly schedule the rest of the year.

★ ★ ★

Sunday evening before Christmas, there will be a gala tree-trimming party, with the foreign visitors supplying many of the decorations.

CAROL SING

A carol sing will be held, in a room decorated with greetings from as many as 105 different countries.

Through the Center, many of the students will spend Christmas Day in an American home. Others, who wish to stay in the city, will be helped to find inexpensive lodging, and theater tickets at reduced rates.

Because the Center's recreation room can accommodate only 85 at a time, many inevitably will be disappointed because their space doesn't permit them to join the holiday celebrants.

★ ★ ★

Because of this, an unplanned party was quickly put together last year on Chistmas Eve at the Park-Sheraton Hotel, and there's likely to be a repeat performance.

MUSICAL HOUR

The group of 250 foreigners and volunteers made up a band, and an amateur musical hour was held. And once again, the participants joined in carol singing.

During the holiday season, the staff of five is aided by 300 American volunteers, many of them college students.

When the holidays are over, the Center will continue its year-round program of activities for the 9,000 young people in New York who are students, nurses, interns, business trainees or members of the diplomatic corps.

★ ★ ★

At the West 56th Street meeting place, they'll have a chance to take part in group discussions, study English, visit an American family for a weekend, or make up a theater group.

TREE-TRIMMING PARTY — The young people at the Midtown International Center in New York City will join in a tree-trimming party just before Christmas. The foreigners will supply many of the decorations.

They Team Up to Save Lives

MENOMINEE (AP)—Approximately 40 men in the twin cities of Menominee, Mich., and Marinette, Wis., are devoting much of their spare time to a non-paying, but appreciated project.

It is the Emergency Rescue Squad, Inc.

The Menominee Herald-Leader said recently in a page one article regarding the squad:

"Thousands of lives, perhaps, have been saved due to the efforts of these unsung heroes, whose only reward is satisfaction."

★ ★ ★

The squad answers approximately 300 calls a year. Members spend two hours a week in training and 24 hours on duty every nine days. All hold advanced first aid certificates from the Red Cross.

SUPPORT FOR SQUAD

Activities are supported by the City of Menominee, which appropriated $2,000 a year, City of Marinette, $3,000; Menominee County, $1,000, and nearby Peshtigo, Wis., $500. The remainder of an $8,500 budget comes from grateful industries and individuals.

The funds keep the squad equipped with the latest rescue equipment, such as a resuscitator, and a truck and station wagon with what's needed for any type first aid.

They also provide telephones, insurance, two-way radios, gasoline and oil and recruit training.

Each man spends an estimated 1,000 hours a year working for the squad and giving demonstrations in first aid to civic clubs and school groups.

'Wrong Facts on Sex Crimes'

Sociologist Claims Public Misinformed

NEW YORK (UPI) — From the viewpoint of the science of sociology many Americans are misinformed and needlessly alarmed about "the sex offender."

If they believe "there are tens of thousands of homicidal sex fiends roaming through the country," they're wrong. They're also wrong if they think sex offenders usually repeat their offenses or that minor offenders go on to more serious offenses.

And they're very wrong when they believe "the law gets at the brutal and vicious sex criminal, and the sex crime problem can be solved by passing more laws."

This sociological view was prepared for circulation by the National Association for Mental Health by Gerhard J. Falk who is a professor of that discipline at the State University College, Buffalo, N. Y.

★ ★ ★

He went back over the crime statistics of many years. Only murders have a smaller crime-repeating rate than sex offenders and "those who do repeat their offense usually are convicted for minor deviations such as exhibitionism and peeping," he said.

'Gift-Giving Best Part of Yule'

No matter how strenuous her Broadway acting duties may be, Tammy Grimes resolutely and enthusiastically begins her Christmas shopping in August.

The husky-voiced star of "The Unsinkable Molly Brown" and "High Spirits" confesses "I'm afraid I go overboard at Christmas.

"I go way out of line. I love to buy everything, clothes, gifts, decorations for the tree.

"The most fun is finding the special gift for someone who is a collector.

★ ★ ★

"Sybil Burton loves daisies, and I found her porcelain china with a daisy pattern."

RECEIVING END

On the receiving end of Christmas, Tammy finds she's embarrassed to be given presents. "It puts me off a bit," she says "I'd rather give."

The young actress, who manages to mix a chuckle, a bit of Cockney and a broad "a" all at once in her speech, is ambivalent about the location of her holiday activities.

"One year is different from another," she explains.

"If I'm free, I take my little girl Mandy to New Hampshire for an old farmhouse Christmas with my parents. There's usually a great snow. We watch the deer and listen to the owls."

If she and Mandy, who is seven, are to stay in their New York home, it simply must snow, announces Tammy. "Snow and nighttime make New York so beautiful."

Tammy's New York Christmas is a showy affair, she says.

"There's much festooning in the house. I like the tree beautiful, but not too sparkly. Just so it smells good."

Gingerbread cookies are likely to hang from the tree.

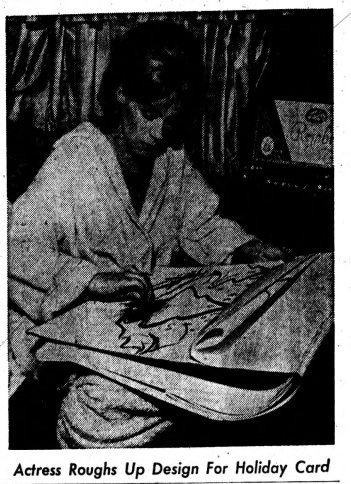

Before Christmas, she says, she and Mandy read "lots and lots of stories, and always Dickens.

"We hang up our stockings Christmas Eve, and Mandy is up at 6 always on Christmas Day.

"We open a special present first, and somehow have breakfast in between."

★ ★ ★

The actress particularly enjoys receiving stuffed animals, which she collects along with pears.

In Next Session of Congress

Signs Favor Passage of Medicare Bill

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Following is the fifth in a series of dispatches on the outlook for President Johnson's legislative proposals in the new 89th Congress by a veteran UPI reporter.)

By JOSEPH HUTNYAN

WASHINGTON (UPI)—There is mounting evidence today that supporters of health care legislation will end 15 years of frustration in the next Congress and see passage of a "medicare" bill for the aged.

The final plan probably will adhere to the liberal-backed concept of a Social Security insurance program providing hospital and nursing home care for persons 65 years of age and over.

President Johnson, like his late predecessor John F. Kennedy, recommended that such a program be incorporated into the Social Security system.

It would be financed by raising payroll taxes on workers and their employers.

★ ★ ★

Congress in the last session came closer than ever to passing it. The bill was approved in the Senate but failed to get through the House Ways and Means Committee.

OPTIMISM SURGE

There was a new surge of optimism from Medicare supporters after the Nov. 3 election which swept 64 new Democrats into the House, adding a net gain of 38 to the Democratic majority. The newcomers generally are expected to give Congress a more liberal tinge.

Health care supporters now claim that when the 89th Congress convenes in January, its membership will include about 40 more votes for their bill than the last session.

In citing 1965 as "their year," Medicare advocates also stress these other points:

● Voter response to the Social Security issue in the last election scared some congressional fence sitters into falling on the favorable side. Democrats had portrayed Sen. Barry M. Goldwater as an enemy of Social Security.

★ ★ ★

● The new liberal force in Congress may be used to break the life-and-death grip House committees now hold on legislation. The House Ways and Means Committee has been Medicare's biggest congressional obstacle.

★ ★ ★

● Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., powerful chairman of Ways and Means, has agreed to bring the bill up early next year if the President so desires. Mills is still opposed to the program, but health care advocates claimed he can read the election results as well as anyone."

● There is a growing weariness with the issue among congressmen who would like to see it resolved. Many say they are tired of being badgered by lobbyists and bombarded by mail from the old folks who are some of the constituency's most prolific letter writers.

★ ★ ★

Medicare-type legislation has been vigorously promoted since the late 1940s by the AFL-CIO, and political action groups formed by senior citizens.

They claim it is the only solution to the economic squeeze threatening the older person who finds his medical bills rising and his income shrinking.

The attack on Medicare has been led by the American Medical Association (AMA) and the United States Chamber of Commerce.

★ ★ ★

Opponents argue that adding health insurance to national welfare programs would result in inferior medicine and a bankrupt Social Security system.

STARTING POINT

The Medicare bill approved by the Senate in the last session probably will serve as the starting point for the next round of deliberations in 1965.

This plan provided 45 days of paid hospitalization a year or 90 days with a minimum $20 and a maximum $90 paid for by the patient.

It also included 60 days of paid nursing home care each year as well as outpatient diagnostic services.

★ ★ ★

The basic insurance program would not cover doctor's fees, drugs or other medical costs.

INCREASE TAX

The health insurance plan would be paid for by increasing the present 3% per cent tax on a worker's earnings to 5.2 per cent. This is the tax that goes to finance Social Security programs. The Worker's contribution is matched by the employer.

The administration estimated that such a Social Security-administered plan would cost about $1.2 billion a year after it begins full operation.

Technicians experimented with several alternatives last session in a move to broaden their base of support. One of these could be the final program approved next year.

★ ★ ★

One variation that had some support late in the last session proposed a health care plan for the aged financed by a separate payroll tax.

SPECIAL FUND

This revenue would go into a special fund rather than into the Social Security account.

It was designed to appease those who fear the cost of Medicare might wreck the Social Security system. This group of reluctants, includes chairman Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Another possibility is a plan offering each Social Security recipient the choice of an increase in cash benefits or a health insurance program.

★ ★ ★

However, this was introduced last session when Medicare supporters were fighting a losing battle, and thus were in a conciliatory mood. It's unlikely they would settle for this now.

MORE PRESSURE

The new Congress also is expected to see renewed pressure for increasing the benefits of Social Security pensioners who now get a maximum $127 a month.

A bill to raise this to $133.40 sailed through the House and Senate this year, but died in a congressional conference committee.

Cash benefits have not been raised since 1959 and since that time, the cost of living rose about 8 per cent.

★ ★ ★

Congress is likely to increase cash benefits this year, but not until the health care question is resolved.

Only then, will it know how much cash is available in the Social Security system for other purposes.

★ ★ ★

THE BIG PARADE

Partaking of the Thanksgiving feast of turkey, cranberries and pumpkin pie is by far the most popular of the family activities on this late fall holiday, but watching the annual Thanksgiving day parade is also becoming an American tradition.

The parade is a combination of Mardi Gras, homecoming and world premiere with marching bands, high-stepping dancing girls, gaily decorated floats and a sprinkling of motion picture and sports personalities. This annual spectacle attracts thousands to New York City to watch from behind police barricades and millions more across the country watch it on their television sets.

Highlight of this annual event is the appearance of the gigantic helium-filled cartoon character balloons bucking and straining against their tether handlers. The latest addition to this long list of giant balloons made by the Goodyear Rubber Co., is Linus the Lionhearted (left).

Each of these seven-story high giants represents more than 1,000 man hours of skilled labor from planning to inflation tests.

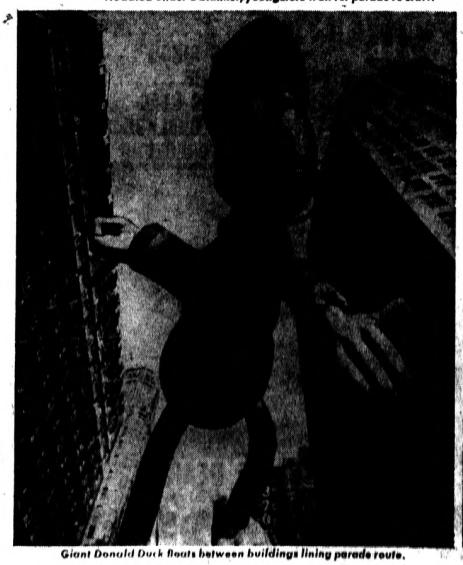

The parade was originated to usher in the holiday season, but its primary value is measured in the number of hours it keeps the youngsters out of the kitchen while mother puts the finishing touches on the Thanksgiving dinner.

Huddled under a blanket, youngsters wait for parade to start.

Pipe-smoking Popeye hovers over crowds.

Giant Donald Duck floats between buildings lining parade route.

Bullwinkle Moose holds rapt attention of young spectator at inflation tests.

Friendly Dino Dinosaur nuzzles workman at Akron, Ohio, plant.

Busy Day for Baker Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Don B. Reynolds visited the Senate Rules Committee's headquarters on Capitol Hill, accepted its subpoena to appear as a witness in a new round of Bobby Baker hearings and punched a news photographer for trying to take his picture.

And while doing all this yesterday Reynolds hotly denied that he had sought to avoid testifying in the investigation.

The husky insurance man said he was eager to get on the witness stand to tell his story of an alleged diversion to the 1960 Kennedy - Johnson campaign fund of $25,000 appropriated for construction of the Washington, D. C., stadium.

The hearings are scheduled to start Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

Hugh Alexander, committee counsel, told newsmen "Reynolds normally would be one of the first witnesses because he is the accuser."

IS PREPARED

Reynolds told reporters he is prepared to substantiate charges he has relayed to the Senate through Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

These charges link Baker, former secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, and Matthew McCloskey, long a party fund raiser, in the alleged payoff deal.

Williams told the Senate last summer he was informed that an extra $35,000 had been added to the more than $4 million cost of the stadium for which McCloskey, a Philadelphia contractor, held the construction contract.

Willisms said $25,000 of this money wound up in the Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

Later Reynolds punched C. Edward Alley, a United Press International cameraman, for trying to photograph him leaving Williams' office.

Alley told reporters Reynolds subsequently telephoned him and apologized.

11 Nations Advance $3 Billion

Expect Support to Hike Value of Pound

LONDON (UPI) — British financial circles today expressed confidence that the pound would quickly rise in value because of the $3 billion advanced by 11 nations yesterday to support it.

The unprecedented financial rescue operation included a $1-billion contribution from the United States. It was undertaken after the pound had dropped to close to its official floor, $2.78, and speculation that devaluation was planned circulated on world money markets.

The drop in value was caused by a lack of confidence in the economic policies of the new Labor government and the adverse balance of payments position left by the old Conservative government.

Chancellor of the Exchequer James Callaghan planned to make a statement in Parliament today on the crisis.

★ ★ ★

London newspapers today welcomed the cooperation of the central banks of United States, Austria, Belgium, Canada, France, West Germany, Italy, Japan, the Netherlands, Sweden and Switzerland in advancing the money.

PAPER WARNED

But the Financial Times warned: "The debt will have to be repaid."

The Times of London said the way to solve the financial crisis was for British industry to sell more abroad.

"Much of British management lacks initiative and much of enterprise has to be infused. The rewards must be shared, but first they must be earned."

Bankers said the size of the support — it was the largest rescue operation ever taken in defense of a single currency—was expected to daunt even the most powerful speculators.

TO HALT OUTFLOW

They expected the outflow of gold from Britain to be stopped quickly. The Bank of England had been paying out large amounts from its gold reserves to support the price of the pound.

Financial circles said the concerted action by the 11 central banks showed they recognized that devaluation of the pound would hurt other currencies and destroy the careful balance kept for two decades.

The new reserves will give Prime Minister Harold Wilson's labor government time to tackle the balance of payments deficit, which was brought about because Britain has been spending more than it earned abroad.

The last time the pound was devalued was in 1949, when it fell from $4.03 to its present $2.80.

Deaths in Pontiac Area

MRS. THOMAS BURKE

Requiem Mass for Mrs. Thomas (Fern E.) Burke, 72, of 1654 Giddings will be 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Benedict's Church. Burial will follow in Mount Hope Cemetery.

Mrs. Burke died Tuesday.

The Rosary will be recited at 8 tonight at Donelson-Johns Funeral Home.

MRS. DUANE C. BOYLE

Service for Mrs. Duane C. (Ruth M.) Boyle, 40, of 751 Melrose will be 1:30 p.m. Saturday at Voorhees-Siple Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Perry Mount Park Cemetery.

Mrs. Boyle died Tuesday after an illness of five weeks.

HERBERT J. EVERSON

Service for former Pontiac resident Herbert J. Everson, 60, of Cleveland, Ohio, will be 2 p.m. Saturday in the Arnold Funeral Home, Canton, Ohio, with burial there.

Mr. Everson, a superintendent for Murray Electric Co. in Cleveland, died Tuesday of a stroke. He was a member of the Masonic Lodge and attended the Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife, Earlene; a son, Robert J. of Grand Rapids; a daughter, Mrs. William Vanderzee of Pontiac; a granddaughter; and two sisters.

CHARLES R. PRICE

Service for Charles R. Price, 76, of 88 Washington will be 2 p.m. tomorrow at Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home. Burial will follow in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

An accountant, Mr. Price died yesterday after a short illness.

He was a member of First Congregational Church.

Surviving are his wife, Edythe; three daughters, Mrs. Lloyd Hampton of Pontiac, Mrs. Louis Ferris of Sylvania, Ohio, and Mrs. Wayne Thompson of Royal Oak; and four sons, Walter K. and Donald R., both of Lansing, Charles J. of St. Johns and Arthur B. of Fort Wayne.

Also surviving are a sister, Mrs. Linus Pace of Waterford; two brothers, Jasper of Pontiac and Edgar of Cincinnati, Ohio; and 30 grandchildren.

MABEL E. FRANCIS

OXFORD — Service for Miss Mabel E. Francis, 86, former Oxford resident, will be at 10:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Chelsea Methodist Home Chapel in Chelsea. Burial will be in Mt. Pleasant Cemetery, Oakwood.

Miss Francis died yesterday after a long illness. She was a member of the Oxford Methodist Church.

Surviving are three brothers, Porter of Pontiac, Webster of Orchard Lake and Donald of Oxford.

The Staffan Funeral Home in Chelsea is in charge of arrangements.

Use Corkscrew to Take Bullet Out of Lung

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Doctors used a corkscrew to remove a toy bullet from the lung of Bruce Gornto, 7, of Adel, Ga. They tried to reach the bullet with forceps, but the rounded end was pointed upward and the forceps wouldn't grip it.

★ ★ ★

A magnet? That wouldn't work, either. The bullet was made of plastic.

★ ★ ★

The corkscrew was attached to the end of a specially devised instrument. It bore into the bullet, which then was removed without difficulty.

Bruce swallowed the bullet while playing in a neighbor's yard.

'Bomb' Polished Off

LATHROP, Calif. (UPI) — A package started ticking in the Lathrop post office. Hastily-summoned deputy sheriffs and firemen gingerly opened it and found a battery-operated shoe shining machine.

UAW Is Opposed to Shift by Insurers

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union opposes the Michigan Blue Cross-Blue Shield proposed group-type experience rating system, declaring it a "retreat from social responsibilities."

The UAW denounced the proposal Wednesday in a statement saying it raises a "clear and present danger" of higher rates for persons least able to pay.

★ ★ ★

At the same time, the union joined with State Sen. Raymond Dzendzel, D-Detroit, in demanding that State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson give more than one day to a hearing on the proposal.

Mayerson has scheduled a hearing for Dec. 15 at Lansing.

SHIFT PROPOSED

Blue Cross, the prepaid hospital care plan, and Blue Shield, prepaid medical care, proposed to shift from "community rating" to "group experience rating" in determining rates for about 2½ million subscribers.

★ ★ ★

There are about 3½ million subscribers in the state. The proposed new rating would affect about 700 contracting groups.

The Blues say the experience rating system would increase their efficiency and place them in a better competitive position with private insurance companies which use such a system.

★ ★ ★

Rates would be based on the incidence of use of the plans by the individual groups. Under community rating, all subscribers pay alike.

Sen. Dzendzel, saying he would ask a legislative review of the laws governing the Blues, told Mayerson he was "astonished" over the one-day hearing plan in view of the Blues' wide coverage.

News in Brief

Six cartons of cigarettes and candy and two small vending machines were stolen in a break-in at Kuhn's Auto Wash, 149 W. Huron, the manager, Charles Tallant, 32, of Royal Oak, reported yesterday to Pontiac police.

An undetermined amount of change was stolen from a vending machine in a break-in at the C & C Gulf Service Station, 515 S. Saginaw, it was reported to Pontiac police yesterday. Entry was gained by smashing a window.

Reflections

THANKSGIVING

J. L. VOORHEES

The 26th is much more than a date on a calendar, turkey on a platter; it is a harvest festival of family love, cheerful voices of friends, self-evident faith in Him who made this festival possible. Bubbling fervor in our heart brings song to our lips, songs of a bounteous harvest of friendship, food and above all else the love of a happy family around us. This is the day when emotion is stronger than might, when spiritual strength swells muscles and heart strings to bring vibrating happiness.

M. E. SIPLE

This day began as a simple prayer of thanksgiving; it gave strength then and it will give strength now. Starvation faced our Pilgrims and God gave them a banquet; starvation of spiritual values spreads over vale and dale. Thanksgiving is a clarion call to a spiritual feast. You are invited.

Heirlooms Help to Foster Traditions

An heirloom silver tea service used in her family from 1850 to 1900 will grace Mrs. Robert Russell's first Thanksgiving Day table today in her new home on Tully Drive. Not shown are six individual cranberry sauce dishes, each on its own tiny service plate, used in Mr. Russell's family through three generations.

Pontiac Press Photos

Prim little Pilgrims shed their light over a Thanksgiving centerpiece of fruits and berries arranged by Mrs. Charles Mortensen of the Lake Angelus branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, at the recent "Golden Times" flower and exhibit in Oakland University.

Pattern for Holidays

By MADELEINE DOEREN

Traditions, like heirlooms, are dusted off along with the memories they bring for gala occasions like Thanksgiving Day and at Christmas time.

In the William Dunseith home out in Christian Hills, as an example, a special fruit salad from an old family recipe, is served traditionally on Thanksgiving Day.

The Wedgwood fruit bowl and matching platter, also individual octagonal serving dishes in 'Peony' pattern are over a hundred years old.

Traditional in the Bloomfield Hills home of Dr. and Mrs. R. Hamilton White on Thanksgiving morning is the family's singing of "We Gather Together."

★ ★ ★

Dr. White is accompanist for his wife, son Craig, and daughters Phoebe and Candace, on the concert grand which belonged to his father while concert pianist with the Philadelphia Symphony Orchestra.

Pictured on this page are a family heirlooms used by area hostesses for holiday entertaining.

Miss Iama C. Hook of Ogemaw Road admits that she loves heirlooms! Flanking a silver-and-glass caster set on her Thanksgiving table today will be heirloom candleholders and shades of Steuben glass. There'll be a handled silver cakedish and a covered silver butterdish with built-in ice cube holder.

Heirloom Limoges Haviland china in 'Ransom' pattern will grace a supper table today in the Sylvan Lake home of the Harry S. Pearces. A platter matching her mother's Staffordshire tureen in the background is in President James Madison's display in the Smithsonian Institute. Also heirlooms are the cut glass flower container, salt dips and small flower butterpats. Mrs. Pearce is holding a shell painted by her mother in 1871, used as a nut dish.

An ornate heirloom turkey platter will contrast with a Royal Worcester dinner service today in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Williams of Troy. Centering the two-pedestal English banquet table is a silver coffee urn brought from Scotland in 1910 by Mrs. Williams' grandmother. The flatware is Dirigold and the placemats with crochet detail were made in a Spanish convent. The Williams' are recently of Lake Forest, Ill.

Romney Home Is Scene of Family Gathering

By SIGNE KARLSTROM

For twenty years Mr. and Mrs. Karl M. Richards have had their families together for Thanksgiving dinner.

This year, with Governor and Mrs. Romney vacationing in California and all the Richards' young people in California, Mrs. Romney suggested that the Richards keep up the tradition and be host and hostess in the Romney home on Rathmor Road to all the young Romney families.

Dr. and Mrs. Bruce Robinson with their three children are coming from Ann Arbor. Scott Romney arrived from Lansing.

Mitt attends Cranbrook School so he is nearby, as well as Mr. and Mrs. Loren Keenan and their five children. Also around the dinner table were Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Davis.

★ ★ ★

In Merced, Calif. the eldest Richard daughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Erekson are having Mrs. Erekson's sister and brother-in-law, Dr. and Harold Styler and their two sons of Palo Alto and brothers Morgan and Bob who are attending Brigham University.

CHILDREN COME

At the Henry Whitings' Thanksgiving dinner table were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whiting Jr., with their three children: Mr. and Mrs. Macauley Whiting and their five children from Midland; and daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Aten with their four children. This is a tradition of many years.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Gossett had dinner at home with son Thom and his fiance, Mimi Coulter Crebs, and her father Bruce Coulter, Ann Coulter and Mrs. Howard Maloy who is visiting the Gossetts from Canada.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. William L. Kemp is in Atlanta, Ga., with her daughter and son-in-law, Colonel and Mrs. Stanley E. Reinhart Jr. She is enjoying her four grandchildren, especially the new granddaughter Cameron Kemp Reinhart.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Zimmermann are spending the holidays with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick P. Zimmermann in Greenwich, Conn.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wieting and their children, Gretchen and Cary, have joined Mrs. Wieting's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Cary, at their summer home at Higgins Lake where they are spending the holidays.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rogers of Miami Road are hosting a family dinner for the holiday. Gathered for this traditional meal will be the following families: Mr. and Mrs. Edmund S. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Rogers and Tom Rogers.

Out of town relatives who traveled to Miami Road for the affair are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Hoffman of Lansing and the Albert Benters of Southfield.

Closet Tips for Garments

Keep your togs whole. Fix a rip or hole as soon as it happens.

★ ★ ★

Otherwise, it will make like a leak in a dike, getting worse.

Also brush and fasten your clothes before hanging them. Allow space in the closet to keep garments from crushing.

Prevent Sticking

Place a piece of wax paper on clotheslines so heavily starched items will not stick.

Harken to the Problems of the Frustrated Cook

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International

Homefront, U.S.A. — Be grateful this Thanksgiving if everthing comes off in apple pie order in the kitchen.

★ ★ ★

It's been a year now since everthing went wrong in my kitchen. The thought of tackling another Thanksgiving meal makes me nervous as a driver who gets behind the wheel the first time after an accident.

The trouble started with the turkey and ended with the pumpkin pie. The pie came out a consistency more liquid than solid.

NEW STYLE

This bit of nifty cookery marked the first time pumpkin pie was served in soup bowls. No one got sick later or coughing spells then, so I was grateful. And luckily, I had straws in the house. Guests didn't have to use soup spoons.

★ ★ ★

The poor turkey started out as a young Tom. By the time the fowl thing emerged from the kitchen he had aged considerably.

★ ★ ★

If dressed turkeys could trot, this one would have leaped out of the pan halfway through the roasting and headed straight for the humane society to report me.

★ ★ ★

At one time during the afternoon's trial, in fact, my husband lamented that the bird couldn't trot. His exact words:

★ ★ ★

"It would help if this bird could run around the yard a while and work off a few pounds."

He muttered that when we discovered that the turkey, jammed into a roasting pan that was too small, started to drip all over the oven in a way guaranteed to start a grease fire.

We turned off the oven, then went to the attic to search for a larger pan. Fifteen minutes later, we returned with said pan. The dripping turkey, half-done, was lifted out of the smaller pan and placed in the larger pan.

We congratulated ourselves too soon on a transfer well done. After all, we did get the bird, slippery as it was, from one pan to another without dropping same on floor.

We started up the oven again. When it got to what we thought was the proper temperature for a half - done bird, we shoved the pan into place.

But the larger pan didn't fit into the apartment - size oven sufficiently well to close the door.

So back to the smaller pan went the turkey. This time we bundled him in aluminum foil to contain the grease drippings from the parts that extended beyond the pan. For safety's sake, we rigged up a Rube Goldberg kind of gadget to catch any extra fat.

By now, all sense of time was lost. We turned the oven up to high and then to low. About the time it seemed appropriate to test for doneness, I cleverly remembered one test of same is to move a drumstick back and forth.

It it moves freely, the bird's done.

OPPS, IT'S OFF

The drumstick moved so freely that it came away from the rest of the bird. I couldn't figure out how to get it back to its natural position, so I put it aside on a platter.

The dog stole it.

The turkey was presented on a carving platter and it looked pecuiar wth just one drumstick.

"Too bad it isn't a duck," a guest said. "You could call it a lame duck."

Pre-Pressed Patch

Press left-over pieces of fabrics neatly, and store them in a large scrap book, using cellophane tape to fasten them to the book.

When it's mending time, you will have a neat pressed patch all ready to use.

THE ROAD IS OPEN!

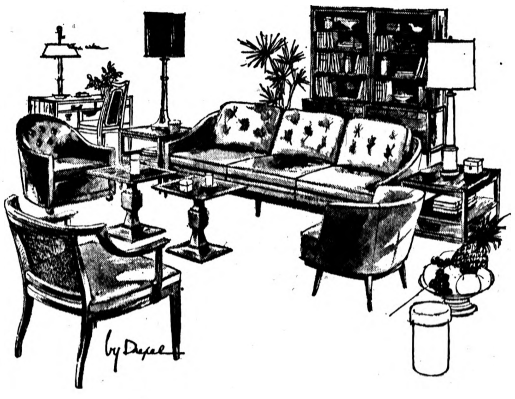

The Perimeter Road, we mean — now known as Wide Track — which will make it a little easier to get to our parking lot behind our store! However, due to the inaccessibility of recent months, we have accumulated many fine pieces of quality furniture that should now be sold! We do need room badly for incoming shipments. So, to clear our floors, to make room, we have reduced some of our finest pieces for all rooms — most drastically!

SAVINGS ARE AS MUCH AS 50%

These large reductions should clear our floors quickly of floor samples, pieces to be discontinued, all at worthwhile savings!

Teens See No Tie Between Grades, Car

Gilbert Youth Research, Inc. Teen-agers challenge the charge that students who own automobiles tend to get poor grades.

Of the 1240 boys and girls we questioned about the subject, 67 per cent thought the charge was not true.

What's more, the percentage rose to 80 per cent when we asked the 140 who own cars whether they themselves got poor grades as a result of having autos of their own.

Actually, about half of all the students queried had drivers' licenses, but most of them did their driving in family cars.

Jerry Anstaett, 17, of Lyndon, Kan., explained that "a teenager with good common sense can schedule things so the car does not interfere with studies."

OFFERS PROOF

A 17-year-old from Auburndale, Mass., Peter Woodland, offered proof of his contention.

Said he: "I own a car and if were not for a 'C' in English, I would have been on the honor roll."

Mary Schindler, 16, of Louisville, Ky., had her own idea about why some students who own cars tend to get poor grades — even though she thought this was not true of the majority of young car owners.

She said: "I think these are generally poor students anyway and would probably find some other diversion if they didn't own cars."

NEWNESS WEARS OFF

Another young woman, 18-year-old Donna Greene, also of Louisville, said that "after the newness of owning a car wears off, the student goes back to his normal self."

★ ★ ★

Among those who felt car ownership affected studies was Gale Wangerin, 16, of Everett, Wash., who declared: "If a person owns his own car, he tends to spend more time on it than if it were the family car."

A girl from Island Park, N.Y. —15-year-old Candy Cannizzaro —made a distinction between boy car owners and girl car owners.

★ ★ ★

She said that boy's school-work might be affected "because they seem to spend too much time on autos, while girls use them mainly for transportation."

INTERESTING STATISTICS

Some interesting statistics turned up on the matter of when driving licenses can be obtained according to states' laws—and when the teen-agers think licenses should be available.

While more than 78 per cent of those questioned can legally obtain licenses in their states at 16 or under, only 20 per cent agreed with those age regulations.

Seventy per cent felt that youngsters should not be able to get drivers' licenses until they are 17 and over.

★ ★ ★

Ten per cent expressed no opinion either way.

It's True Men Are Scarce, but Gentlemen Are Rarer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something in your column about the "extra man" who thinks that with so many widows and divorcees around, he does not need to thank a hostess for entertaining him.

ABBY

These extra men, who accept invitations left and right as though they were doing the hostess a favor, make me tired.

★ ★ ★

You never hear from them after they've accepted your hospitality, but they keep turning up at all the parties because, confound it, men are scarce!

KNOWS SEVERAL

★ ★ ★

DEAR KNOWS: If men are scarce, gentlemen are even scarcer.

The extra man has no immunity from the social graces just because he's in demand.

He should telephone his hostess the morning after to thank her for having entertained him. (If he's too busy or too tongue-tied to phone, flowers will say it for him.)

And single men who accept invitations should play host occasionally.

DEAR ABBY: I just received the following letter from my niece and would like your opinion of it:

"Dear Auntie,

I hate to complain, but the next time you send me a Christmas gift, please send it in the box from the store it came from.

Every time I try to take back one of your presents I am told it didn't come from there.

★ ★ ★

This is very embarrassing. I hope you won't mind my telling you this, but I would rather be frank than take a chance on getting embarrassed again this year.

Love to Uncle and the kids.

Sincerely yours,
Sandy"

Have you ever heard anything to equal this?

Sincerely yours,
"FLABBERGASTED"

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: Yes. This:

SEW SIMPLE

By Eunice Farmer

Dear Eunice Farmer: I have seen so many of the very round or dome-shaped buttons on expensive suits in magazines. Is it possible to make buttonholes large enough for these buttons?
Mrs. W. H.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. W. H.: You don't know how excited I get when you readers become aware of the little details in garments that are constantly changing. The dome-shaped buttons are very new, some of them almost round. When they are very large, they are usually sewed on the front of your garment without buttonholes.

This is also true of the larger braid and corded buttons. On the inside of facing, sew very large snaps as a means of closing the garment. Always cover the snaps with a matching crepe or silk for that "couture touch."

KNIT NOTES

Mrs. N. A. says: After completing a knitted garment, it is always wise to thread a yarn needle with the same yarn, run it up loosely and hidden in the seams of the side and sleeves on the reverse side. This way, you will always have the same yarn to use for mending and it will be the shade you need.

Dear Eunice: I am having trouble with my skirts poking out at the lowest point of the zipper. In fact, the whole seam where the zipper is placed seems to stand away from my body. This is rather unsightly and I don't know just what I am doing wrong.
Mrs. M. S.

★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. M. S.: I strongly suspect that you are not fitting the skirt as I have suggested. Do not baste the side seams first. Pin side seams WRONG SIDES TOGETHER, with the seams extending out. Pins should be placed vertically on the seam line. This is an easy way to fit the skirt yourself. After fitting, separate the seams and rub chalk on the pins. The marks will now appear on the inside of the skirt.

★ ★ ★

When stitching the side seams of a skirt, ALWAYS stitch from the hemline UP to the waist. Your skirt will hang much better because you are stitching with the grain.

AVOID BULK AT WAIST

When lining skirts of heavy fabric and double knits, make the darts in each separately. However, instead of pressing both sets of darts toward the center front and center back, press the darts on the skirt LINING toward the side seams. When you pin the two layers of skirt fabric together at the waistline, you will have lots less bulk at the waistline seam!

Mrs. Bob Christian, Fort Worth, Tex., wins this week's Tailor Trix pressing board for this fine suggestion.

Dear Eunice: The "fake furs" are so beautiful, but look like they would be so difficult to work with. Can you give us a few suggestions that might help?
Mrs. J. P.

Dear Mrs. J. P.:

Fake furs are very popular with the more "sportive look" of today. A hat, vest, jacket, or coat (or even a coat or jacket lining) is the most. Fake fur isn't too difficult to work with if you use a little caution and follow these directions.

Don't choose a pattern with much ease, gathers, or pleats because of the bulk. Sleeves should be cut with the body, in other words, raglan sleeves. Collars and cuffs and picket flaps should be lined in a firm, matching colored fabric.

Personals

After viewing the Thanksgiving Day Detroit Lion's football game, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Annett of Sylvan Shores Drive and their sons Roy and Bruce are hosts at a holiday dinner.

Mrs. Roy Annett and Mrs. Frank Bach are among the guests. Coming from Dearborn for the event are Mrs. Jean Hayes and her sons John, a student at the University of Michigan, and Frank.

★ ★ ★

Relatives from Canton, Ohio, have joined Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Davis of Birmingham at the holiday table. They are Mr. and Mrs. Henry Timken.

★ ★ ★

Ann and Nancy Fisher helped to welcome members of their family to the holiday table provided by their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fisher of Cherokee Road.

Coming from Midland were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Prosser and their children Steve and Jo Ann. Elmer Fisher of Grosse Pointe also attended.

Other guests were Mrs. W. P. Ricamore, Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Schram and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Farrell.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Fritzi Stoddard of Ottawa Drive is spending the day with her daughter and granddaughters in Birmingham. She is the guest of Mrs. Maxine Nichols. Carol and Ann Nichols are home from Michigan State University for the holiday to visit with their grandmother.

Un-Gum Garment

Apply an ice-cube to chewing gum stuck to a garment or upholstery for a few minutes.

The ice will make the gum become briftle so that it can be scraped off.

Steam Carpets to Raise Nap

Use a hot iron on a damp cloth or a steam iron to raise parts of carpet crushed down by furniture or walking.

★ ★ ★

But be careful not to press down on the iron, brush the spots gently after treating them.

Use the smallest size plastic bowl covers to cover the cut ends of bologna or sausage.

Papered-to-Match

When papering your children's room, make them a matching toy chest.

★ ★ ★

Cover a large, but sturdy cardboard box with leftover paper and top with a coat of clear shellac.

Area Prep Basketball Teams Get Ready for TIP OFF

Huskies Look for Big Year

Last November Pontiac Northern coach Dick Hall and Walled Lake mentor Bob Bolton each went out on the proverbial limb and forecast and Inter-Lakes League championship for their teams.

It did not surprise anyone that PNH went on to claim its almost annual basketball title. The fact that Walled Lake was only a game behind at the season's end may have raised a few eyebrows.

At any rate, the two coaches are right back where they started in that campaign and this time they each have company.

Bob Taylor of Waterford—perhaps remembering the night

Inter-Lakes

the Huskies scored 104 points against the township quintet—sides with Hall and even takes the Skippers over Walled Lake.

Farmington's Jack Quiggle, admittedly in a building year, agrees with Bolton that this might be the year of the upset. He, also, has Waterford finishing second. (Northern has won or shared the title in four of the five years of I-L competition.)

FINE YEAR

Hall has high hopes for a fine PNH season. The Huskies front line of Roger Hayward, Dave Sudbury and Larry Frye is the tallest in the school's history, each one reaching 6-4.

★ ★ ★

The problem could be at guard, though, since only John Bailey has extensive varsity experience. Larry Cushist and Bob Harris will have to provide help.

Hayward could key the Huskies to an outstanding season. A fine rebounder and excellent shooter, he needs only to refine his defensive abilities to rate with the best in the state.

Walled Lake finished with six victories in its last seven games in 1963-64, and Bolton expects the Vikings to pick up the momentum quickly.

He has Pat Godfrey and Rick Hughes returning at guards, Stan Grant and Matt Planck (both 6-3) back at forwards and football star Roger Ruminski (6-3, 260 pounds) at center.

★ ★ ★

There are six returning monogram bearers at Waterford, led by top scorer Rick Ziem, a junior guard. Dick Miller and Bill Lemaux have been regulars for two years. Transfers Bob Adsit (PNH) and Dave Kline (West Bloomfield) could prove very helpful.

Taylor enters his second year at the helm determined to erase the memory of last season's 4-13 record. A game with Pontiac Central tomorrow night will open the Skippers' campaign.

The Farmington team has John Olander and Roy Leach back from last year's starting array, but lacks any height. Coach Quiggle intends to have the Falcons run and play a lot of defense to offset the lack of rebounding.

The forecast:
1. Pontiac Northern
2. Waterford
3. Walled Lake
4. Farmington

Pontiac Press Photo

FINE TOUCH — Pontiac Northern's 6-4 frontliner is considered one of the finest shooters in the county.

Wide-Open Race Seen in Northwest

A wide-open race is being predicted in the Northwest Suburban basketball League.

North Farmington is given a slight edge, mainly because of the return of Ronald Watson (6-4) and John McDonald (6-3) Oak Park has five veterans returning, but the Redskins again are predicted to finish last.

Northwest

Grove, Thurston and Franklin are given a chance to win.

The forecast:
1. North Farmington
2. Detroit Thurston
3. Groves
4. Livonia Franklin
5. Oak Park

Emmanuel Has Offensive Void to Overcome

Offensively there is a big void at Emmanuel Christian School this basketball season.

Gone is Oakland County scoring leader Ralph Wingate who hit at a 24-point per game clip while the Lancers were winning but four of 15 tries.

Bill Yost has succeeded John Malone as coach of the Emmanuel quintet and he is searching for a rebounder or two who can get the ball back to playmakers Tim Mayer and Mike Hickmott.

Ron Dillingham, Aubrey Grogan and Darrell Hutto are in the battle for the forward berths; while John Allen gets first call at center.

Kettering Five Riddled; Romeo, L'Anse in Race

Coach Joe Duby sums up Kettering's chances in the Tri-County League basketball race with one word:

"Help."

The defending champion Captains were riddled by graudation. But the two returnees, Tim McGrath and Jim Nyberg, saw considerable action last season.

★ ★ ★

Romeo and L'Anse Creuse are poised to struggle over the crown should Kettering yield its hold. Oxford and Lapeer are rebuilding.

Nyberg began last season as a starter for the Captains but later became the No. 6 man in Duby control - ball style. He averaged seven points a game. McGrath worked his way into the lineup late in the season.

The 6 - 1 senior averaged only three points but his efforts under the backboards played an important part in the Captains finishing the regular season undefeated.

Nyberg, also a senior, is six-feet tall.

Mike Shipman, Dave Dodd and Dale Manning, all seniors, are bidding for starting berths with sophomores Ken McLean and Bob Van Bargan and juniors Joe Racynski and Jay Nash.

Romeo has four letterwinners who top the six-foot mark on hand to try and improve on last season's fourth place finish.

THIRD SEASON

Tim Quinn, the All-State football center, who led the Bulldogs in scoring during 1963-64 with 215 points, begins his third season as a regular. He's 6-2. So is junior Bob Rowley.

Both are 200-pounders who use their weight to good advantage while rebounding. John Chapman and Rod Rohloff, both seniors, are 6-1 and 6-0, respectively.

Oxford coach Lee Noftz is looking for the underclass members of the team "to supply the spark if we intend to do anything this year."

Roger Miller, who scored 105 points in six games last season as a freshman before breaking an elbow, returns. Senior Dave Houck, the other top scorer returning, is not expected to see action until after Christmas because of a football injury.

Rick Fox and Chuck Cullen are returning lettermen who figure in Noftz' plans. The coach is taking a close look at sophomore Rick Miholek and juniors Mike Darling and Mike Lantry.

Other hopefuls are Mickey Cummings and Ron Shamblin, both sophomores. Miller is the tallest at 6-2.

Tri-County

The forecast:
1. L'Anse Creuse
2. Romeo
3. Kettering
4. Oxford
5. Lapeer

Pontiac Press Photo

CHANGE TOGS — Walled Lake football reliables Pat Godfrey (22) and Terry Lehman (20) have put away their gridiron garb and have donned basketball shorts in an effort to win spots in the Vikings backcourt.

Central Five Counts on JV's to Fill Gaps

Arthur Hill, Saginaw Pre-Season Choices in SVC Cage Race

If all Saginaw Valley League schools each had only two letterwinners returning, who were reserves last season, Pontiac Central would probably be conceded the basketball championship.

But this isn't the situation.

The Chiefs lost their top eight players at graduation after finishing second to Flint Central and then reaching the semifinals of the state Class A tournament.

Flint Central lost a like number and then had its two returnees transferred to Flint Northern Western in the school district shuffle.

Arthur Hill, with six veterans on hand, is rated the preseason choice. Saginaw is being eyed as a challenger with Flint Central and PCH battling for third.

Midland, Bay City Central, Flint Northern and Flint Southwestern all return more lettermen than the 1-2 teams of a season ago.

Saginaw Valley

How, then, can PCH and Flint Central be regarded above all but the Saginaw schools?

LOST ONE

Pontiac Central's junior varsity lost only to Flint Central, by one point, last season. The junior Chiefs finished the campaign with 12 straight wins. Flint Central's JV's were just about as tough.

PCH coach Fred Zittel is counting on members of the junior varsity to supply this season's team. Only Carl Arnold and George Cole return as lettermen.

Arnold probably will start in the backcourt Friday when the Chiefs open their season at Waterford. Zittel will probably use as many players as possible.

Bob Wiggins or Jeff Lane probably will see considerable action at guard. John Hooper (6-3), Willie Adams (6-2) and Jessie Evans (6-2) are battling for the front line berths along with Cole (6-2) and Ross Ludwick (6-1).

★ ★ ★

"Because of a lack of varsity experience, we may get off to a slow start," said Zittel.

"We lack height and experience, but we hope to make up for it with quickness and desire."

The forecast:
1. Arthur Hill
2. Saginaw
3. Pontiac Central
4. Flint Central
5. Flint Northern
6. Bay City Central
7. Flint Southwestern
8. Midland
9. Bay City Handy

3 Contenders Seen in Wayne-Oakland

Although the coaches in the Wayne-Oakland League do not agree on who will be first at season's end, they are almost unanimous in naming the basketball title contenders.

★ ★ ★

There are three, and two of them were in a season-long fight for the football crown — Milford and Holly. Bloomfield Hills, defending cochampion, joins them in the pre-season cage prognosis.

Of course, the three coaches

Wayne-Oakland

of the expected contenders each pass the uncomfortable favorite's role to the other.

Hills has a slight edge in the first place votes based on its over-all height and corps of returning letter winners.

★ ★ ★

The Barons have shooting ace Greg (Andy) Anderson back as a 6-1 outside player, and 6-3 guard Joe Menger can also put the ball in the basket.

Dave Gottlieb (6-3), Mike Righter (6-3), and Jeff DeBandt (6-2) are rangy frontliners who will have to provide the rebounding for coach Hal Henderson.

Henderson predicts a Milford title. The Redskins have six players back from last year's 4-11 squad and have the height to equal any team in the circuit.

Coach Chuck Schroeder can call on 6-3, 230-pound John Griffin, 6-2 Mike Fremlin, 6-2 Don Hackbart, as experienced frontliners, plus promising newcomer Greg Soltysiak (6-2½).

In the backcourt are Gary Newcomb, Bart Montante and John Kaspar — the latter returning after a two-year layoff. Schroeder, though, likes Holly's chances.

Reserve coach Ben Sherman has taken over the Bronco varsity. He lacks the outstanding backboard protection but does have solidly built forwards who will command respect.

Tom Fagan and Mark Phalen will lead the Holly attack from the backcourt and could be two of the best in the league.

★ ★ ★

Defending cochampion Clarkston also has a new coach in Bud McGrath. Last year's fine 16-3 record was primarily a seniors' effort and he has a lot of work ahead of him.

Promising guard Dan Fife was a regular as a freshman last year. He returns with Ron Lippert, Gary Pearson and John Wilberg as letter winners who saw much action.

Northville, also, commands respect led by 6-2 center Jerry Imsland, 6-3 Rick Milne and several rangy jayvee graduates. The problem again may be in the backcourt which is what plagued coach Dave Longridge last campaign.

★ ★ ★

Standout Dan Greig is gone from West Bloomfield's lineup and coach Art Paddy has a rugged search to replace the guard. Rick Hacht, Jay Williams and Tim Moller return up front but no experienced performers are available in the back court.

New mentor Jim Korowin at Brighton has promising junior center Bruce Evenson to build with, and Mike Stellwagen, a 6-0 two-letter winner at forward. The coach promises an aggressive team bent on improving last year's 1-16 record.

Clarenceville went with young prospects last year but does not appear to have enough strength to be a contender this time.

The forecast:
1. Holly
2. Bloomfield Hills
3. Milford
4. Clarkston
5. Northville
6. West Bloomfield
7. Brighton
8. Clarenceville

RETRIEVE — The Barons of Bloomfield Hills are looking to 6-3 senior Mike Righter for help on the backboards as they bid for the Wayne-Oakland League crown.

Letter Winners Scarce at Utica's Practices

Only two returnees from a 4-11 team is not a bright hoop picture and this is what Utica Coach Carlo Muzi must face in his current practices.

★ ★ ★

One of the letter winners back is Dan Drca who averaged 11 points a game as a sophomore. A 6-2 forward, he should have some help up front from 6-1 Dave McIntosh, also a monogram wearer.

Muzi is working 6-4 Bub Hidur in the pivot and another junior at guard, Gary Rodeski. Ted Huerth is a senior bidding for a backcourt berth.

3 Rate High in O-A

A three-way battle for basketball honors is shaping up in the Oakland A League.

★ ★ ★

The three teams with hopes for a loop title are defending champion Troy, Lake Orion and Warren Cousino.

Avondale, Rochester and Fitzgerald could pull a few surprises, and with some help from the reserves, Clawson and Madison could provide a few headaches for the favorites.

Lake Orion coach George Elias concedes the loss of Jon Cucksay and Bruce Fritz through graduation will hurt the Dragons. "But we could serve as spoilers in the league if we can get some help from last years' junior varsity."

The Dragons will have high-scoring Dave Phillips (6-0) at guard, along with Jim Greenhill (6-1). Phillips tossed in 220 points last season.

OTHER VETERANS

Two other returnees with a lot of experience are center Dennis Brophy (6-4) and forward Bill Hamilton (6-2). Sophomore Roy Kibbe (6-1) could be some of the help Elias is looking for from the JV squad.

★ ★ ★

Avondale has a tall squad build around center Dan McCoskey (6-3). The other Yellow Jacket starters stand 6-0.

Seniors Lynn Thorpe and Roger Hill will team up at the forward posts, with Tom Reek and John Anderson handling the guard slots.

Thorpe dumped in 263 points for the Jackets last year, averaging 18.5 a game.

Rochester has hot - scoring guard Bruce McDonald on hand for another season. The 5-11 playmaker posted a scoring average of 21.7 last year to rank fourth in Oakland County.

FORWARDS

Two other veterans on the squad are forwards Bruce Campbell (6-0) and Bob Mills (6-1).

Troy has 6-4 center Chris Beacham returning to give the Colts some balance. Beacham scored 135 markers last year.

Teaming with Beacham will be Ken Holder (6-0) and Doug Schroeder (5-11) at forwards and Bud Hether (5-7) at guard.

Cousino, led by 6-7 Greg Fruehe, will floor the tallest unit in the loop. Jim Fitzmorrice (6-5) and Drew Pisha (6-0) will hold down the forward slots.

Pisha led the team in scoring last year with an average of 15 points a game.

★ ★ ★

Madison has four veterans returning led by forwards Jim Wilfong (6-2) and Gary Knoche (6-1).

Jeff Plopa (6-6) could keep Fitzgerald in the race with a big point production. The senior center tallied 140 points in 1963.

The forecast:
1. Warren Cousino
2. Troy
3. Rochester
4. Lake Orion
5. Fitzgerald
6. Avondale
7. Madison
8. Clawson

4 Returnees Help Cranes

Cranbrook ran up an impressive 13-3 basketball record last campaign and has four letter winners back to bolster this year's hopes.

★ ★ ★

Coach Hugh Davison is molding the Cranes around captain and center Jim Bailey, a 6-6 two-year veteran. Jon Pavloff at 6-4 is a sophomore who may prove very valuable.

Another veteran is 6-3, two-letter winner Tom Van Horn, a forward. Backcourt strength should come from Sid Barthwell and Buzz Mieras, both six-foot guards.

The Cranes are expected to stress defense, rebounding and running.

Swimming Strength at Seaholm, Kimball

If anyone wants a sneak preview of the 1965 Michigan High School swimming championships, the place to be will be the Royal Oak Relays at Kimball high school December 5th.

Birmingham Seaholm, state champion of the past two years, and Kimball, the closest contender are expected again to wage a close battle for Michigan honors this year.

Seaholm, with its great depth has lost some outstanding names through graduation such as Pete Adams, Tom Coupe, Ken Heft, Dave Zimmer among others but coach Corey Van Fleet has more lettermen returning than some schools have on their entire squads.

Kimball will be stronger despite the loss of Oakland County MVP Bill Watts, but state champion Doug Webster, a junior who must sit out one semester, Reed McCarthy, Mike Shoenhals, Adrian Van Oss and Larry Burgess give the Knights plenty of long distance strength.

Seaholm and Kimball should battle it out for honors in the new Southeast Michigan Conference.

Southfield moves from the North Suburban into the Southeastern League with six lettermen with Hazel Park and Ferndale as other contenders.

★ ★ ★

In the North Suburban League which has only Pontiac Northern, Fitzgerald and Madison Heights left, Fitzgerald should be the strongest.

Northern has 15 lettermen back led by the Johnson twins, Rick and Dick as captains, along with Gary Forrest. Coach Ed Dauw may not have as good times as last year but appears to have more depth.

Birmingham Groves, Thurston and Livonia Franklin are now members of the Northwest Suburban League.

SAGINAW VALLEY

Of course, Arthur Hill is again the favorite in the Saginaw Valley Conference with Midland and Flint Southwestern regarded as strong teams.

Midland has SVC diving champ Jack Duffy back plus good strength in the 400.

Pontiac Central lost Jim Howard swimmer and diver Dale Quinn from a 2-12 season last year, but the Chiefs could improve on their record with captain Ed Chase in the 50 freestyle, Don Miller in 200 free and Tom Howard in the backstroke.

Royal Oak Dondero has 15 lettermen as a nucleous under coach Pat Wallace and for the first time the Borders Cities League will have a league championship meet. Grosse Pointe will be favored.

Utica, former North Suburban member, is now competing in the Macomb League and the Chieftains have 11 lettermen freestyler Steve Kirksey.

Wolverine Swimmers at PNH Pool Monday

The University of Michigan swimming team will present their annual "Comedy and Swim Show" at Pontiac Northern's pool Monday evening, November 30th at 7:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

Olympic coach of 1964, Gus Stager of the Wolverines, has arranged the program which will include diving board comedy and exhibitions, discussions and demonstrations in the various swimming events and participation of swimmers in the audience.

There is a 75 cent admission fee.

State Champs Missing From PNH Mat Squad

Pontiac Northern will open the 1964-65 wrestling season minus a pair of state champions, but the Huskies have enough talent returning to keep the campaign respectable.

Missing from the Huskies' lineup are state champs Dave Beebe and Don Weyer.

Northern compiled a 11-2 record last year under coach Bill Willson which included an Inter-Lakes League championship.

Willson lost nine lettermen, and he is building this year's team around six veterans.

★ ★ ★

Returning to the wrestling battles are Sam Dura (95), Dave Oswalt (103), Pat McIlroy (127), Bruce Tippin (138) and Al Rayner (165).

START THURSDAY

The Huskies open the season next Thursday at Kettering.

Senior Don Gray, a 127-pounder, heads a list of five returning lettermen at Kettering.

Others back to form a nucleus of this year's squad are Don deBeauclair (120), John Salisbury (145), Bob McGregor (165) and Bill Guthrie (180).

Waterford's team will be built around Gerry Gebrowsky, a 180-pounder.

Pontiac Central has six veterans returning from a team that finished with a 6-5-1 record.

CHIEFS' TEAM

Wearing the Chiefs' colors will be Clarence Thompson (103), Charles Fowlkes (120), John Catox (138), Dan Rodriguez (145), Nathanial Carr (165) and Neale Peterson (heavyweight).

★ ★ ★

Berkley, Hazel Park and Royal Oak Kimball are expected to field strong teams in the Southeastern Michigan Association.

A newcomer to the wrestling clan in the SEMA is Birmingham Seaholm.

Among the non-conference teams, Cranbrook should come up with another strong squad. The Cranes compiled a 9-4-1 mark last year.

Heading the list of Crane returnees is Lance Leithauser, a 127-pounder.

Champ Keeps Bowling Lead

CHICAGO (AP) — Jim St. John, the 34-year-old defending champion from Santa Clara, Calif., held a commanding lead today in the eighth annual $52,000 World's Invitational Bowling Tournament.

The 16 men finalists have finished only three matches and 12 games of their scheduled 16 matches and 64 games that run through Sunday, and there wasn't a man in the field who wasn't about ready to concede the title to St. John.

In moving into first place Wednesday in the first day of match game competition, St. John rolled the 12th 300 game in the tournament history, shot the highest two four-game series in history—1,035 and 1,028 in successive outings—and compiled 21 strikes in a row, nine to end a 270 game and the 12 that made up the 300 game.

St. John's sensational firing left him far in front of the field with 71.15 Petersen points. Pete Tountas of Chicago is second with 62.44 and Tom Harnisch of Buffalo, N.Y., ranks third with 61.28.

Bobbie Shaler, a 36-year-old Chicago bowler, led the women with 56.41 points for 12 games and four matches of the scheduled 48 games and 16 matches. She is averaging more than 203, the only woman in the field over 200.

Middies Hoping to Extend Win Streak

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Navy winds up football practice for the Army game today with spirits soaring that the Middies can register an unprecedented sixth straight victory over the Cadets Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Coach Wayne Hardin said the team should be at its peak physically and mentally and hinted that he had another surprise gimmick in mind to boost player morale at game time.

The 4,000-man Brigade of Midshipmen prepared for a big pep rally tonight and a rousing send-off for the team Friday morning. Tecumseh Court in Bancroft Hall was draped with bedsheets exhorting the team to beat Army. The courtyard display included an Army tank being "attacked" by a Navy airplane with recorded sound effects to provide realism.

TIME FACTOR

Hardin, at a Wednesday press conference, said the Middies expect to meet a better Army team than the one which drove to the Navy two before the clock ran out on a possible Army victory last year.

"They're not quite as deep, but they're better," the Navy coach said. "Quarterback Rollie Stichweh is throwing and running and in end Sam Champi they have an excellent receiver, which they didn't have last year.

★ ★ ★

"Inside they're probably bigger than any team they've had, including the Blanchard-Davis days."

Hardin said despite the hard-hitting nature of the game, and the intense preparations involved, it is notably clean and a pleasure for a coach.

"It is probably the only game in the country that you could play without officials," he said. "You could leave players on their honor to call fouls on themselves. You don't have the problems in this game that you have in most games."

MORALE BOOSTERS

The Navy coach defended his use of special gimmicks for the game, saying they were intended as a morale booster with meaning only to the Navy players, not to the public or West Point.

"As long as it doesn't hurt anybody, we're going to continue to do it," he said.

Coach Paul Dietzel said earlier this week that he tried to get Hardin to agree to a moratorium on no gimmicks for the game on grounds it needs no sideshow or carnival trappings.

★ ★ ★

The Navy players appeared one year with Beat Army in big letters over their shoulder pads.

Winning Could Bring Problems for UCLA Unit

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Should Southern California's Trojans upset favored Notre Dame Saturday and win a Rose Bowl berth, they may find several of their star players are ineligible for the New Year's Day classic.

That was the report today by Los Angeles Times sports writer Charlie Park, who said at least four players might be affected by NCAA rules prohibiting certain junior college transfers from participating in NCAA-sanctioned events — such as the Rose Bowl — for one year.

★ ★ ★

The rule, which does not apply to regular season games, specifies that junior college transfers with fewer than 48 units of college credit are not eligible for NCAA events until one calendar year has elapsed from the date they entered the college they are playing for.

USC Athletic Director Jess Hill declined Wednesday to discuss the matter.

Tigers Release Two

DETROIT (AP) — Pitchers Larry Foster and Bob Dustal have been released outright by the Detroit Tigers to their Syracuse farm club of the International League, it was announced Wednesday.

The 44th annual IC4A indoor track championships will be held in New York's Madison Square Garden March 6, 1965.

EAST LANSING (AP)—Michigan State's hockey team has elected Doug Roberts, the team's leading scorer last year, as captain for the 1964-65 season. Roberts, a senior from Detroit, scored 21 goals and 14 assists last year as a wing. This year, he will play center.

N.Y. Dumps Leafs, 6-3

Rangers Set Fast Ice Pace

By The Associated Press

The New York Rangers, intent on making the National Hockey League playoffs, don't seem to care how they get there or who they step over in the process. And that includes the Toronto Maple Leafs, the defending Stanley Cup champions.

The Rangers ran their unbeaten string against Toronto to four games with a 6-3 victory over the Leafs Wednesday night. It was the first loss in nine games for goalie Terry Sawchuk and snapped a three-game Leaf winning string. The victory moved the Rangers into third place, and New York made it look easy.

The Rangers have won two and tied two against the Leafs. That's six points of a possible eight and that kind of pace would land them squarely in the playoffs.

TWO GOALS

Phil Goyette and Donnie Marshall scored two goals apiece for the Rangers but it was Bob Nevin's goal with 15 seconds left in the middle period that seemed to beat his ex-mates.

Nevin's score gave New York a two-goal bulge going into the final 20 minutes and then Marshall scored while killing a penalty and Goyette clicked for his second of the night early in the third period wrapping it up.

It was the second straight game in which the Rangers scored while short-handed and Sullivan considers that another good indication of the hustle his club is showing.

★ ★

Toronto's goals were scored by George Armstrong, Jim Pappin and Allan Stanley. Armstrong's tied the game early in the second period but then Marshall and Earl Ingarfield connected inside of 13 seconds to give the Rangers a lead they never surrendered.

Lakers Trio Helps Whip Piston Five

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Lakers' scoring triumirate of Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Rudy LaRusso combined for 90 points Wednesday night as Los Angels breezed to a 130-117 National Basketball Association victory over the Detroit Pistons.

West scored 35 — including 16 of 16 attempts from the free throw line — Baylor netted 31 and LaRusso 24 points.

The Lakers increased their Western Division lead over the idle St. Louis Hawks to two full games.

Ray Scott led the Pistons' scoring with 23 points, 16 coming in the first half. Rod Thorn followed with 19.

Shrine Five Could Shine

The Knights at Royal Oak Shrine may not be so long this basketball season.

Coach Marty Folty and the Shrine fans suffered through a 4-11 season last year but there are brighter rays of sunshine this time.

Foley has a 6-4 two-year veteran center in Rick Chudy whom the coach says could be outstanding. Another two - year performer is 5-11 forward Mick Wentworth.

Terry Flanagan and Mike Tamm are returning as the regular guards.

Dondero Seeks Aid From Big Forwards

Three 6-2 forwards may hold the key to Royal Oak Dondero's basketball fortunes this season.

Seniors Jeff Fischer and George Hewitt along with junior Bob Sherwin will have to provide some rebounding help for 6-3 letter winning center John Waters if the Oaks are to flourish in the tough Border Cities League.

Captain Doug Goulait, Rich Hirsch and Waters should prove capable scorers and could lead Dondero to an improvement of last year's 6-10 record. Rich Blake returns at guard.

Cofavorites Nominated in Mexican Open Golf

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Ken Venturi of San Francisco, the U.S. Open champion, and Al Balding, the defending champion from Toronto, are expected to be the main contenders in the $16,000 Mexican National Open Golf Championship starting today.

Tht four-day, 72-hole tournament will be held over the 7,216-yard, par-72 course at the Club de Golf Mexico. Balding set a record of 279 in winning last year.

Red Wings Play Canadien Squad in Annual Tilt

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings will open a three-game home stand tonight when they meet the Montreal Canadiens in what has become their annual Thanksgiving night clash.

★ ★ ★

The Wings are returning home after playing seven of their last eight games on the road. During that span they posted a 2-4-2 record, but still managed to hold onto first place in the National Hockey League.

Detroit and Montreal have met the last five Thanksgiving nights and both clubs have injury problems.

Montreal's Henri Richard and Jean Beliveau both are out with groin injuries and Detroit's Ron Murphy and Eddie Joyal are doubtful starters.

Jim Campbell Says Tigers Like Draft

DETROIT (UPI) — General manager Jim Campbell said today the Detroit Tigers favored the free agent draft that will be proposed during next week's major-minor league meetings in Houston.

"We like the idea because it will upgrade the caliber of major league baseball and bring the paying of bonuses into a reasonable area," he said. "It also would help cut a club's scouting staff."

The proposed rule would establish a player pool of high school, college and sandlot players which each team would draft from such as is used in pro football and basketball.

A team would have six months to sign the draftee, otherwise the youth would be placed in a special pool for another draft.

Past U-D High Grads of County to Gather

Members of the Oakland County U. of D. high school alumni club will attend the annual stag night banquet at the school Friday night, with Andy Farkas as master of ceremonies.

Farkes played football at U. of D. and with the Redskins in the NFL. Bruce Maher of the Lions will also attend the affair.

Arthritis Treatment Is Often Incorrect

By DR. WILLIAM BRADY

Doctor who diagnoses "chronic arthritis" and pretends to treat it as a specific disease for which there is a specific remedy or method of treatment is simply stringing the patient along.

"Chronic arthritis" is like the "common cold" in this respect. No doctor can give a definition of the entity that will enable another doctor to recognize a case — for the simple reason that there is no entity.

In a small minority of instances joint disability of more than a year's duration is inflammation of joint tissues, all right, due to one or another specific infection, such as tuberculosis, brucellosis, gonorrhea, syphilis from a septic focus.

These inflammations constitute genuine arthritis, but only an errant charlatan would treat them indiscriminately with a "wonder drug."

* * *

In the great majority of instances (95 per cent) chronic joint disability is just plain rheumatiz. The nature of the rheumatiz is, in two words, physical degeneration.

Physical degeneration is "a logical change in cells and tissues in consequence of which the functioning power is lost and the living substance becomes converted into an inert mass" —("Steadman's Medical Dictionary").

One of the consequences of degeneration — not a cause, as the "clinic" racketeers would have gullible customers believe — is the deposit of calcium, calcification, that is, in the tissues when generation, production or growth of new cells to take the place of cells which have worn out, degenerated, died, no longer occurs.

Calcification of body tissues is nature's way of patching things up when new cells and tissues are no longer available — sort of a plaster of paris patch job. Plaster of paris is calcium sulfate.

* * *

"The ordinary mixed diet of Americans and Europeans, at least among dwellers in cities and towns, is probably more often deficient in calcium than in any other chemical element." — (Sherman's "Chemistry of Food and Nutrition").

* * *

This is elementary nutrition, although the merchants of medicine generally ignore it as a radical notion not approved or accepted.

In Little Lesson No. 26, "The Calcium Shortage," for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope, I ascribe numerous everyday complaints to calcium deficiency — among them rheumatiz. But please remember I have no cure for rheumatiz.

* * *

If you have no childish illusions about this, it may be worthwhile to send a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet "CA & Rheumatiz," whether you inclose 35 cents for Little Lesson 26 or not.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Senator Is Pushing for Change in Congressional Procedures

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., has announced he will push for an overhaul and modernization of congressional procedures.

He told a news conference he would introduce a resolution proposing the study as soon as Congress convenes in January. He hopes to get the prestige designation of concurrent resolution No. 1 of the 89th Congress.

If Congress passes it, a 10-member special committee would be set up consisting of three Democrats and two Republicans each from the House and Senate, to take testimony and make recommendations for rules changes and other revisions in procedures.

The senator pointed out that the last such overhaul, the 1946 LaFollette-Monroney Act, took place 18 years ago.

★ ★ ★

This revision was called the most complete in history, Monroney said, but added that some of the 38 major reforms in that law did not work, and others simply were abandoned by Congress without a real trial.

WE'VE GROWN

Since 1946, he said, "Our population has grown from 140 million to nearly 190 million, our gross national product from $218 billion to $623 billion . . .

"Our machinery to carry the mammoth load of old and new items needs updating, overhauling, modernizing and revising."

Monroney said the federal government now is a $100-billion-a-year business and that he feels new congressional methods are particularly needed in dealing with the budget and appropriations bill.

★ ★ ★

"We who are the comptrollers of the world's biggest business are literally using a high, slant-top desk, an old fashioned revolving stool, a big thick ledger and a quill pen," he remarked.

BORROW COMPUTERS

The senator said House and Senate appropriations committees should be able to borrow computers from government agencies and use them to eliminate a lot of drudgery now involved in poring over the annual appropriations items.

He also proposed that certified public accountants be added to committee staffs to help make cost effectiveness studies.

★ ★ ★

Monroney said he decided to try to launch a new study of congressional procedures after watching efforts of other senators falter in the last few years.

Defense Department Announces Pay Hikes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department has announced wage increases averaging nine cents an hour or 3 per cent for approximately 11,000 Army, Navy and Air Force employes in industrial and maintenance jobs in the Washington area.

The wages are tied to the prevailing rates in private industry. Today's increase was the first since December 1963 for these employes.

By OSWALD JACOBY

The United States picked up 10 International Match Points against Israel when Arthur Robinson made four spades and Israeli South went down.

JACOBY

The bidding and opening lead were the same at both tables, but Arthur played a low spade from dummy while the other South called for the jack.

Arthur won the first trick with the ace of spades and led a low club to dummy's jack. East won with the queen and led back the nine. Arthur took his ace and ruffed his last club with the ten of hearts. He drew trumps with three leads, led the ten of diamonds and let it ride to East's jack.

At this point, East was down to spades and diamonds. He could not afford to lead a spade into dummy's king-jack, so he had to return a diamond. This set up dummy's king of diamonds for Arthur's tenth trick.

The play after trick one went the same way at the other table up to the point when East got the lead with the jack of diamonds. Now East was able to return the ten of spades to dummy's king. South returned to his hand by ruffing a spade and led the nine of diamonds.

West played low and now South had to make a decision. He decided to let the nine ride, whereupon, East made his queen of diamonds and West his ace.

South's diamond play was mathematically correct so he was unfortunate that the best percentage play lost, but if he had just saved dummy's jack of spades, he would never have been faced with the problem of the second diamond lead.

What do you do now?

A—Bid three diamonds. Your partner can still bid three no-trump, go on in diamonds, or pass if he has a real horror of a hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump, your partner has bid three diamonds over your two spades. What do you do now?

Open Bids for Dust and Ice Control

Several bids for ice and dust control products were opened yesterday by the Oakland County Road Commission.

Four bidders asked a price of $32.60 per ton for 30-ton bulk lots of flake calcium chloride, used for melting ice off roads.

Submitting the low bid were Dow Chemical, Wyandotte Chemical, Haviland Product Co. and Solbay Sales Division of Allied Chemical.

The same four companies offered 40-ton bag lots of calcium chloride at $38.60 per ton.

★ ★ ★

Dow Chemical offered liquid calcium chloride brine, used for dust control, at $44.11 per thousand gallons. The high bid was $54.

2 MILLION GALLONS

About two million gallons of brine and 404 tons of flake chloride were used in the county in the 1963-64 season, according to Audrey Ellixson, road commission purchasing agent.

The commission presently has some 150 tons of bulk chloride on hand, Ellixson said.

CAB Has Ruled for Consolidating Airport Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has rules that several Michigan and Wisconsin communities should be served by consolidated airports.

The CAB made these prinicpal rulings in its north central area airline service airport investigation, involving points served by North Central Airlines:

★ ★ ★

Ironwood, Mich., and Ashland, Wis., to be served by a single airport. Similarly, Green Bay to be linked with Clintonville, Wis., and Oshkosh to be paired with Appleton.

A new area airport at Mosfinee, Wis., to serve the central Wisconsin points of Wausau, Marshfield, Wisconsin Rapids and Stevens Point.

No change to be made in reference to Rhinelander, Land O'Lakes, La Crosse, Wis., and Winona, Minn., now served as separate intermediate points.

PIE-EYED WITH PUMPKIN — There's enough for everyone as children from St. Vincent's infant Hospital sample a huge pumpkin pie at the Sheraton-Chicago Hotel. The king-size pie was baked to call attention to "Pumpkin Pie Pickup Day" yesterday. Chicago policemen will pick up pies donated by the public for delivery to orphanages and other institutions to brighten their Thanksgiving Day.

State Department Orders 31 Area Drivers Off Road

Thirty-one area motorists recently had their drivers licenses either suspended or revoked by the Michigan Department of State.

Ordered to show proof of financial responsibility after convictions of drunken driving were:

★ ★ ★

Ordered off the road for violation of license restrictions was Robert L. Sommerfield, 140 Norton.

Ordered off the road for driving while driving with a revoked license was Hommer W. Axford Jr., 40 Blaine.

Push Search for Fugitives in Northwest

PAYETTE, Idaho (UPI) — Authorities pushed their search into the muddy farmlands of the Idaho-Oregon border country today for two of seven men who tunneled their way out of Washington State Prison Sunday.

They checked out scores of clues furnished by jittery residents of this rural border town, maintained roadblocks and searched barns, ditches and haystacks for some trace of the elusive fugitives.

The massive manhunt centered on Payette Tuesday night when officers captured without resistance two other men who escaped from the prison in a bold bid for freedom.

Harold Thomas, 38, a convicted murderer, and Richard E. Loux, 26, were recaptured after the stolen car in which they were riding was forced from the road by officers. They were taken before a U. S. commissioner at Caldwell yesterday on federal fugitive charges.

★ ★ ★

Two other men riding in the car got away. They were believed to be Donald Mesaros, a 24-year-old murderer, and Vertis James Barrett, a 35-year-old burglar.

BELIEVED IN AREA

Both were believed still in this area although a house-to-house search here yesterday failed to turn up a trace of them.

The other three escapees still were at large, too, and officers throughout the west were searching for them.

Dark Day for Justice

LONDON (UPI) — A power break at the court of criminal appeals here forced judges (magistrates) to continue sessions by candlelight and cigarette lighters.

He Finds That Night Life Still Goes On in Gotham

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Some sage said it long ago when to be funny you only had to misspell . . . "Things ain't what they used to be . . . They never wuz . . ."

WILSON

It's still true at this holiday time. It's popular now to deplore everything current, to say that the old days and old ways were better. There are scandals in the schools, for example, now, concerning young people falling in love. You would gather from reading some of the news stories that this is a brand new discovery that these young people have made.

I remember — when I was a teen-age reporter covering my high school for a small Ohio city daily- how a city editor who was paying me approximately $1.50 a week for my services summoned me to his desk and whispered to me certain scandalous rumors that he heard about our student body.

"How can you believe such stories?" I demanded. I was either a freshman or sophomore and not much escaped me . . . and I was a bit insulted at his aspersions.

★ ★ ★

Time tore on. I found that there wasn't much new. And to some, the old days were always superior.

There is great grief expressed repeatedly nowadays over the tragic curtain of darkness that has allegedly fallen over New York's famous night life.

One would think that 8 million souls stay glued to the telly here every night and never even go out for a bucket of beer.

UNTRUE, A- LIBEL, A SLANDER!

Night life now is gimmicked up so delightfully that it's a whole new experience.

★ ★ ★

Here's a restaurant which will wash nine pounds of your laundry for every three drinks you buy. Another restaurant serves you your drink and hors d'oeuvres on a chug-chugging model railroad train. You may ride to one restaurant in a London double-decker bus, and to another in a horse-drawn stagecoach . . . free.

In one dimly lit East Side spot, there are telephones on each table, and you can phone to another table and discuss companionship . . . an idea borrowed from Germany.

And business!

Robert Goulet lured more loot into the Plaza Room on a recent Saturday than had been rung up there in 28 years. That would have been 1936 when the star must have been . . . let's see, now . . . Buffalo Bill.

(Actually, Volez and Yolanda.)

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Looking at his wallet after the trip, the tourist said, 'Traveling is flattening'."—Joey Adams.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: The beardos around New York recall Fred Allen's description of his friend Monty Wooley: "He looks like he swallowed a St. Bernard and left the tail hanging out."

EARL'S PEARLS: "What would I do if I inherited $1,000,000? Nothing. Starting immediately!"

An expert is just a guy who can complicate the hell out of something simple . . . That's earl, brother.

Prisoners Free Hostages, Get Complaint Hearing

PETROS, Tenn. (AP) — Coal-mining prisoners who warned their hostages "there's nobody going out over that dynamite," ended a rebellion early today at Brushy Mountain State Prison.

Three mine foremen held captive underground for 18 hours by the 134 prisoners were released unharmed.

★ ★ ★

The convicts won a hearing on their complaints about mail service and other grievances, a disciplinary committee to investigate rules infractions and a promise of no punishment for their sitdown.

"I'm tremendously happy that we were able to end this in a comparatively short time and without injury or mistreatment to anyone," said Harry Avery, state corrections commissioner.

START HEARING

Avery said the grievance hearings would start today at the prison in the Cumberland Mountains of Tennessee.

The rebellion began soon after the prisoners rode the cable cars three-fourths of a mile up the mountain Wednesday and went another three-fourths of a mile into the pits. Prison officials learned of it six hours later, about noon, when no more coal came to the entrance of the shaft.

★ ★ ★

The convicts sent word over the mine telephone that they wanted to talk to Avery, a postal inspector, a newsman and a lawyer. By highway patrol car, Avery hurried here from Nashville, 180 miles away.

Inside the mine, the convicts told their hostages, "We won't harm a hair on your head," said one of the foremen, Thomas L. Harney, 56. Also held were Roy Thompson, 61, and William M. Edmonds, 58.

FORMER RIOT

Thompson had been in the same mine in July, 1959, and got out just before convicts rioted and set the shaft afire before hunger made them surrender after three days.

★ ★ ★

The three were held where three shafts join about three-fourths of a mile from the entrance.

★ ★ ★

"They had dynamite down below us," said Harney, "and one of them told us 'there's nobody going out over that dynamite.'"

As Avery and Warden John Winsett went to the floodlit mine entrance, about 170 prison guards stood by. Four of the convicts talked to the officials at the entrance and returned to their companions, who named four others to go to the prison for more talks.

NEWSMEN WATCH

As newsmen watched through a window, Avery and the four prisoners — Lloyd Ryland, James Goins, Jerry Atkins and Richard Tucker — signed an agreement.

Avery agreed that rules governing mail would not violate postal laws, and promised to discipline any prison employe who has violated prison regulations, and appoint a three-man disciplinary committee.

Thanksgiving at LBJ Ranch

Johnsons to Gather in Texas

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and his family will gather at dusk tonight to carve the traditional Thanksgiving turkey at their ranch home.

★ ★ ★

Daughters Lynda Bird, 20, and Luci Baines, 17, were flying in from Washington for the occasion. The girls hoped to get to an afternoon football game in Austin, 65 miles away, between Lynda's old school, the University of Texas, and Texas A&M.

★ ★ ★

The President did not plan to attend the game. But he agreed to delay dinner so the girls could enjoy it.

Relatives and friends were invited to join the Johnsons for roast turkey with dressing and giblet gravy, sweet potatoes, green beans, asparagus, molded cranberry salad, ambrosia dessert and cake.

NO PLANS

The first family made no advance plans to attend religious services during the day.

In proclaiming the holiday earlier this month, Johnson urged Americans to gather in their homes and places of worship to pray for peace and freedom throughout the world.

★ ★ ★

Wednesday night, in a special message broadcast via the SYNCOM and Relay satellites to members of the armed forces, Johnson called on Americans to "thank the blessings of the Lord for the bounty of their land."

The President said "we are prosperous and mighty beyond the farthest imagining" of the Pilgrim fathers. And he said "for that we give thanks and pray that we may continue to deserve His blessings."

CONFERS WITH AIDES

Before clearing his desk for the holiday, Johnson conferred at the ranch Wednesday night with Budget Director Kermit Gordon and chairman John Macy of the Civil Service Commission. The topics, on which no final decisions were reached, were federal finances and personnel.

Earlier in the day, Johnson met with Postmaster General John Gronouski and urged studies of possible new increases in second and third class mail rates — on magazines, newspapers, catalogues and circulars. And he asked Gronouski to consider closing several hundred fourth class post offices — the smallest type — within the next few years.

★ ★ ★

Gronouski indicated Johnson tentatively favors both ideas, although he emphasized final decisions would await the outcome of formal studies.

Gronouski, asked about his future in the Cabinet, said he is having a whale of a time and enjoying his work. He said the duration of his Cabinet term will depend on Johnson.

POSTAL DEFICIT

Johnson emphasized to Gronouski that he wants next year's postal deficit to be smaller than the current level of $719 million a year. The Cabinet officer said he could give no assurances of that now.

The two men also agreed to make a study to determine whether to abandon the nine-year-old policy of leasing post offices from private builders.

★ ★ ★

Gronouski said he's sure the government could save money if it built and owned its own large, special purpose post offices.

The postal chief also reported he'll consider new regulations to require pre-sorting and ZIP-coding of third class mail.

And he said Johnson wants him to consider the wisdom of asking Congress to require the same of volume users of first class mail. This, he estimated, would save $40 million to $50 million a year.

Rhino Baby Is Lonely but Doing Fine

DETROIT (UPI) — Her mother in heaven, her father behind a wall and her brother in Oklahoma city is no way for a baby girl rhinoceros to start out in life — but Beulah is coming along fine.

★ ★ ★

She misses the affectionate nuzzlings she used to receive from her mother Manda who died at the tender age of nine. Manda had been ill since the birth of Beulah on Nov. 1 at the Detroit Zoo.

Manda and her mate, Colo, who presently resides behind a wall separating him from his newest offspring, got along famously.

Of the 24 rhinos born in captivity, two were theirs—Beulah and her 2-year-old brother Harvey who calls a zoo in Oklahoma City home.

★ ★ ★

The death of Manda, a handsome black rhino, cuts the number of rhino families in the United States down to two-at zoos in Cincinnati and Pittsburgh. These unions have produced one male rhino each.

Detroit Zoo Director Frank McInnes said he would like to mate Beulah, when she reaches the proper age, with one of the boys from Ohio or Pennsylvania.

Santa to Hitch Train Ride

LAKE CITY (UPI) — A train ride itself is a novelty for most youngsters today.

But a train ride with Santa Claus also as a passenger sounds like a double dose of excitement.

That's what's in store for Wexford County and Missaukee County children.

The Lake City-Cadillac Railroad, which started business this year with a 1919 steam engine and a few cars, is going to have a special run Dec. 19. The ride will be from Lake City to Falmouth and back.

★ ★ ★

Santa Claus will hitch his reindeer and sleigh on a side road and hitchhike a ride on the train to join the kids.

Killer Suspect Still at Large

One Man Held in Probe of Kidnaping

CHICAGO (AP) — Authorities held one man on a kidnaping charge and sought another today in connection with the slaying of an Indiana businessman whose body was found near Escanaba, Mich.

Philip A. Battaglia, 23, of Chicago was accused by the FBI of kidnaping William R. Loomis, 39-ytar-old businessman whose body was found by two deer hunters in the Upper Michigan area.

A hearing was continued to Friday on the kidnaping charge.

M. W. Johnson, head of the Chicago FBI office, said Battaglia named as an accomplice a Jerry Lee Rogers, 42, of Chicago. Rogers was charged with kidnaping and is being sought, the FBI said.

CHICAGO MEETING

Johnson said Battaglia told authorities he and Rogers met with Loomis Oct. 15 in Chicago, ostensibly to arrange a transaction on a foreign make car which Loomis advertised for sale.

Battaglia was quoted as saying Rogers drew a gun, tied up Loomis and put him in the trunk of the car. Loomis apparently was held captive overnight. The next day, Battaglia was quoted as saying, the pair drove with Loomis to northern Michigan where Rogers forced Loomis to walk from the vehicle at gunpoint and, shortly after, returned alone.

Loomis had been shot in the head.

Battaglia also was quoted by Johnson as saying Rogers took Loomis' wallet, checkbook and credit cards and that they spent the money, forged the victim's name on personal checks and used the credit cards in a trip to Memphis.

FBI agents found the car in Memphis Nov. 3.

Shooed Off the Street

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — All the women who shine shoes in Buenos Aires found themselves without a job yesterday. City officials decided shoe shining in the public streets was not fitting for the women, many of whom are elderly or crippled.

ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Because the American elementary school reaches the greatest number of our citizens for the longest time, it is responsible for laying the groundwork for healthy intellectual and personality growth.

Elementary school gives the child his first glimpse into the worlds of the social studies, art, science and literature — and it gives him an awareness of the vastness of information about these worlds. Here the child learns to read and use libraries. He learns to make judgments and identify fact and truth from fallacy and half-truth. He learns the power of his mind and becomes familiar with his talents and his shortcomings.

Elementary school helps the child develop his personality and teaches him to work and cooperate with others. It strives to give him independence and self-confidence.

The teacher is the child's idol during the elementary school years. Aware of this responsibility, the elementary school teacher works hard to set a good example for her students. She knows that everything she says and does makes a lasting imprint on the minds and memories of her pupils.

The young child is a delight. He is bold, and honest, and fun. The elementary school works to preserve these good qualities while it equips him with the tools for a satisfactory future life.

'Politics Policy Board's Rights'

State Education Chief Hands Down Ruling

The Troy Board of Education has the right to limit political activities, such as leaflet distribution, on school grounds, according to State Supt. of Public Instruction Alexander J. Kloster.

In a ruling handed down this week, Kloster told the board, "It is my opinion that the board has the right to establish whatever policies it deems necessary in regard to advertising of any nature on school grounds.

"The policy in existence in your school district does not appear to be in conflict with any state statute and is reasonable so long as it is uniformly and consistently enforced," Kloster said.

The board had asked for a ruling from the state after the Nov. 3 election.

★ ★ ★

At that time, a rule adopted by the board about two years ago was challenged by a political party worker who was ordered off school property.

PROTESTS RULE

He protested that the rule barring political advertising on school grounds forced him to conduct his activities several hundred yards from the doors of Baker Junior High School.

The school was one of six used as polling places for the Presidential election.

The rule was suspended upon the advice of the board's attorney and the state was asked to rule on the matter.

SKYLINE NECKLACE — Something definitely new has been added to the New York skyline in the form of the lights of the new Verrazano-Narrows Bridge (background), linking Brooklyn and Staten Island. Lights shine from the buildings of New York's financial district (right foreground). The lighted tower (right center) is the Con Edison Building on East 14th Street. The bridge was opened to traffic last Saturday.

Edison Official Due to Retire

Edward A. Dahlman, 148 Linwood, Rochester, manager of the Detroit Edison's Rochester office, is retiring December 1 after 40 years of company service.

DAHLMAN

Dahlman joined Detroit Edison in the early 1920s as a tree trimmer in the overhead lines department, and in 1925, transferred to the company's electrical construction department.

In this capacity he worked on the building of substations in Rochester, Romeo, Lake Orion and the Bloomfield station in Pontiac.

He was assigned to Edison's Rochester sales office in 1926 and became manager a year later.

Dahlman has been active in the Boy Scout movement, American Legion, World War I Veterans, the Chamber of Commerce and Kiwanis Club.

Crash Kills Woman

OVID (AP)—Majorie A. Bergey, 51, of Mount Pleasant was killed Wednesday when the car in which she was riding struck a bridge abutment on M21 near this Shiawasee County community. The car crashed authorities said, when it and another pulled out to pass a truck at the same time.

OU Loans Available in Emergency

Whether the check from Dad is late, or the monthly budget stretched out of shape, the college student has to meet his bills.

★ ★ ★

Unlike most of us, however, the student can't always find an associate able to advance "a couple of bucks."

What happens to avert disaster?

As at most colleges and universities, OU has emergency loan funds to fill the need. Assuming the money is for a reasonable purpose, students can work out short-term loans, at no interest or at very low interest.

★ ★ ★

And it is heavily used!

FOUR TIMES

Last year at OU, seven loan funds provided $7,745.50 in working principal. This amount was turned over four times with loans totaling $33,468.43 for the year.

There were 497 individual loans for an average of $67.

The seven loan funds come from the Pontiac Kiwanis Club, Joan Selby, H. H. Corson, Greater Pontiac Centennial Committee, La-Russ Club, Walter K. Willman and W. Everett Grinnell.

★ ★ ★

The short-term loan program represents a small part of the OU financial aid program, which also includes scholarships, federal government loans, part-time work and other grants.

★ ★ ★

The short-term loans, however, continue to meet a special student need, say OU officials.

Man in Ann Arbor Sent $5 to Ruby

WASHINGTON (AP)—An unidentified Ann Arbor, Mich., man sent $5 and a man in Detroit sent a telegram to Jack Ruby after he fatally shot Lee Harvey Oswald saying "I know you're wrong in what you did but pledge my support in any way I can." The money and wire was part of an exhibit in the Warren Commission report on the death of President Kennedy.

Salvation Army Appeal

It's Red Kettle Time

It's Red Kettle time in the Greater Pontiac Area.

★ ★ ★

The Salvation Army will open its annual Christmas Appeal tomorrow. Familiar blue uniformed musicians and carolers will add to the festive holiday spirit as they man the bright red Christmas kettles that bring joy to the needy.

Snow, sleet and freezing rain may come, but these staunch Salvationists will stay at their posts, beside the red kettle, until the last child, last homeless man or woman is assured some fun and gifts for Christmas.

Lt. Gary Crowell, command ing officer of the Pontiac Citadel Corps, said that of the service clubs and groups invited to assist in the Christmas program, the Pontiac Exchange Club, General Motors Girl's Club and the Evangelical Minister's Fellowship have already accepted.

This includes selling the War Cry magazine and assisting in the Kettle Appeal program.

ASSISTANTS

Mrs. Mae T. Whitfield, chairman of the Christmas Appeal committee, will be assisted by Newton S. Dempsey, Albany C. Kirby, Harry J. Reed, Elmer H. Reynolds and Elbert Wilmot.

★ ★ ★

According to Mrs. Whitfield, applications for Christmas assistance should be made in person at the clearing house office, 29 W. Lawrence. Hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday until Dec. 18.

Coins dropped in the Kettles, or checks mailed to headquarters, will help the Salvation Army give our neighbors a happy holiday, Mrs. Whitfield said.

By Troy Board School Bus Bid Denied

After lengthy consideration, the Troy School Board has denied the request of parents of pupils at Guardian Angels School for school bus transportation of 147 pupils to the district boundary.

★ ★ ★

The request came after the opening of the school year in the form of a surprise visit by a delegation of 75 parents to a board meeting.

The board voted 5-2 to deny the request after considering the various aspects of the issue, which were boiled down to a list of eight points favoring the request and an equal number in opposition.

Transportation of the students to the point on the district boundary nearest Guardian Angels School would have cost about $1,100, after $3,300 was deducted as the state's share of the total $4,400 expense.

Opponents of the request said that the $1,100 could be used elsewhere and that the precedent that would be set would result in higher costs later when more parochial students requested similar transportation.

BAD TIME

They said that this would be a bad time to start busing parochial students. More than 1,300 public school students have just begun walking to school for the first time.

This is a result of curtailment of bus transportation by the school board within the 1½-mile limit set by the state for reimbursement of part of the cost.

Prior to its decision on the Guardian Angels School proposal, the board received a similar request from parents of students at Our Shepherd Lutheran School in Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

The request was tabled for two weeks to allow gathering of more information, and will be considered separate from the Guardian Angels issue.

5 FAMILIES

Eleven children in five families are involved in the request from Our Shepherd School.

Schools to Air Future Budget

'65-66 Figures to Be Examined by Districts

Some 30 local school district designates will meet Tuesday to review the 1965-66 general education budget of Oakland Schools.

★ ★ ★

The designates, representatives of the county's local school boards, will pass on a tentative $397,109 budget.

According to county school officials, the projected budget contains only contracted salary increments.

No expansion of general education programs is contemplated in the budget, which is only hiked $9,782 over the current year.

★ ★ ★

However, the county school board will present some alternate figures on needs for the next school year.

TRAINEE PROGRAMS

One of the needs to be presented calls for a trainee program to develop curriculum consultants in local districts.

Trainees, probably teachers, would be instructed in curriculum development by Oakland Schools. These individuals could then serve as consultants in their own districts.

Total cost of such a program was not included in the county board's advance review of the 1965-66 budget, but each trainee would be paid about $1,250 per semester.

★ ★ ★

The tentative 1965-66 budget would require an allocated millage of about .12, an increase over the current allocation of .11.

Erosion by Winds Hurt State Farms

EAST LANSING (AP)—Winds whipped away tens of thousands of dollars in Michigan farm topsoil and farm crops this year, reports Russell G. Hill, a Michigan State University extension specialist.

★ ★ ★

Hill said wind erosion hit especially hard in eight thumb area counties with flat, lake bottom soils. Many drainage ditches were filled and miles of highways were drifted with windblown soil, he said.

Girl in Port Hope Killed in Car Crash

PORT HOPE (AP) — Rachel Leese, 16, of Port Hope was killed late Wednesday when her car, parked on Kinde Road near her home, was rammed by another car. The other driver, Merle Eggert, 34, of Port Hope said he saw no tail light on Miss Leese' car in the dusk, reported Huron County Sheriff Merritt R. McBride.

Southfield Youth Dies

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Anthony Rahaim, 18, of Southfield, Mich., was killed Wednesday in a two-car, head-on collision on Ohio 795 three miles east of Perrysburg. The crash injured four persons.

Cereal Tycoon Kin Contributed to Dems

BATTLE CREEK (UPI)—Mrs. Marjorie Post May of New York City, daughter of the late C. W. Post of Battle Creek, pioneer cereal manufacturer, made a $1,000 political contribution to the Calhoun County Democratic party, it has been revealed.

The contribution by the Post heiress was disclosed this week when the county Democratic committee filed expenses of $3,533.59.

Certify Cannon Nevada Victor

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., was certified yesterday as winner by 48 votes in the Nevada's Nov. 3 senatorial election, but the wheels are rolling already for a recount.

★ ★ ★

In official results canvassed by the Nevada Supreme Court, Cannon, 52, received 67,336 votes to 67,288 for Republican Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt, 42, of Carson City.

Laxalt already had requested a recount, which probably will be conducted Monday and Tuesday. Attorneys and other representatives of each candidate will watch as the vote is tallied anew in the state's 17 county seats.

The present Senate count is 66 Democrats and 34 Republicans. Cannon's victory gives the Democrats a 66-32 margin in the next Senate.

★ ★ ★

The canvass turned up no change from the results compiled by Secretary of State John Koontz last week. Cannon led by more than 6,000 votes at one time election night; lost the lead to Laxalt next morning, and got it back again.

Grand Rapids Lawyers Propose Court Merger

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Merger of the city's two municipal courts and two police courts into a single system has been proposed by a committee of the Grand Rapids Bar Association. The recommendation was taken under study by the city commission. Attorney William Wilson of Grandville, bar committee chairman, urged the move as a step toward "better economy."

Intercity regulated truckers had revenues of $8.8 billion last year, five per cent over the preceding year.

Heston Back in California for 11th Century 'War Lord'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Charlton Heston, who likes it here, is making his first all-California movie since "The Big Country" seven years ago.

He would like to spend more time in the land of his adoption, but he has this problem. Producers don't see him as a 20th century man.

★ ★ ★

"All the good modern parts go to Jack Lemmon and Cary Grant," he laments.

"That leaves Heston with pictures like "The Ten Commandments," "Ben-Hur," "El Cid" and "The Agony and the Ecstasy.'

Feel like shedding tears for poor Chuck Heston?

Me neither.

Heston admits he has a pretty good thing going for him. If this be type-casting, he's making the most of it.

★ ★ ★

Heston's consolation over Messrs. Lemmon and Grant: "I've got more centuries to choose from than they do."

11TH CENTURY

Right now he's back in the 11th century, the era of "El Cid." This time he's a bit north, playing a Norman warrior in "The War Lord."

The film has been shot on location near Marysville, Calif., and is now working at Universal City, where a feudal tower has been constructed inside a stage and on the back lot.

★ ★ ★

Cost of "The War Lord": $5 million. But Heston said it differs from other epics he has made.

"In every massive production there is some kind of climactic spectacle, whether it is a chariot race, an earthquake, a battle or a crucifixion," he observed. "'The War Lord' doesn't have that. There are no surging mobs; the producer, Walter Seltzer, has suggested we advertise that it has 'a cast of dozens.'

HUMAN RELATIONSHIP

"The main point of interest in this film is the human relationships. We are trying to show how people felt and acted in that time — not by today's standards, but by the point of reference they knew then.

"If you can accomplish that in a movie, then I think you have something that will stimulate audiences."

★ ★ ★

The 11th century is lucky for Heston. "El Cid" provided more income for him than any other film." "Ben-Hur" and "The Ten Commandments are two of the three all-time moneymakers, but not for him; he didnt share in the profits.

★ ★ ★

On the other side of the ledger is the unreleased "Major Dundee," for which he returned his $200,000 salary as justification for his arguments over the script. He has no regrets over his decision.

MEALS PAID

"I'm glad it was made on location in Mexico," he said. "At least I got my meals paid for."

NORMAN WARRIOR — Actor Charlton Heston, who has established a near-monopoly on costume epics, rides his charger into a conquered village in a scene from his latest movie, "The War Lord." In this one, Heston plays the role of Bith North, a Norman warrior, in the movie which tells the story of the 11th Century.

Jersey Districts Invalidated

Weighted Voting Not Covered in Decision

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court ruled yesterday the legislature violates the "one man, one vote" principle and must be reapportioned.

The court voted 7-0 to reverse a two-year-old ruling by a Superior Court judge, who held the New Jersey Legislature was properly apportioned. Since that lower court ruling, the U.S. Supreme Court has issued its "one man, one vote" decisions requiring both houses of state legislatures to be apportioned according to population.

★ ★ ★

At the time the court handed down its ruling, the state Senate was holding a meeting to appoint a new lawyer to handle its case. The former attorney stepped out of the case because he believed the Senate had adopted an unconstitutional procedure when it installed weighted voting Nov. 16.

The decision today did not deal with weighted voting, which the state Senate adopted as its answer to the U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

ARGUMENTS SET

The court scheduled arguments on weighted voting Dec.1.

The court ruled:

The legislature is apportioned unconstitutionally.

★ ★ ★

No further elections may be held under the present apportionment.

The legislative power may not be exercised after the second Tuesday in January 1966 except by legislatures elected no later than November 1965 under a proper apportionment.

INTERIM BASIS

The legislature may provide by law on an interim basis for election of the legislature in 1965 or earlier.

Revision of the state constitution may be submitted to the people by a constitutional convention called by the legislature. The convention must be apportioned according to population.

★ ★ ★

Legislators elected in November 1965 may hold office only until the second Tuesday in January 1968 if the legislature starts the constitutional convention process by next April 1.

If the legislature does not start the convention process by next April 1 the court will hear arguments on the question of whether amendments may be submitted to the people by some other process.

★ ★ ★

The court kept jurisdiction of the case to hear further arguments or decide questions which may come up later.

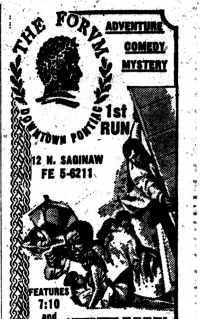

Arrest Chicago Man in Kidnaping Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI has arrested an unemployed Chicago man in connection with the kidnaping of an Indianapolis man later found shot to death in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

★ ★ ★

M. W. Johnson, head of the Chicago FBI office, said Philip A. Battaglia, 23, kidnaped William R. Loomis, 39, on Oct. 16. Loomis' decomposed body was found Saturday in Delta County, Mich. Johnson said he had been shot in the back of the head.

Laborites Seek Closer Ties in U.A.R. Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government yesterday invited the United Arab Republic to begin a new era of friendlier relations.

★ ★ ★

Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker met for an hour-long discussion with Ambassador Hafez Ismeal of the U.A.R.

"All problems of common interest between the two countries were discussed," a British Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen.

"The general objective was to promote an improved relationship between the two countries."

★ ★ ★

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government has made it a priority task of its foreign policy to seek closer ties with President Gamal Abdul Nasser's regime eight years after the Suez venture when British, French and Israel troops attacked Egyptian territory.

Alvin Is Frognaped by Some Big 'Croak'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steinhart aquarium officials reports what may be the first case of frognaping.

★ ★ ★

Alvin, one of only 24 recorded albino bullfrogs, disappeared from his private pool four days ago. He was described as 8 inches long, three-quarters of a pound, golden in color and penetrating pink eyes.

Seek to End Confusion on Litter, Letter Boxes

MORECAMBE, England (UPI) —The council here will discuss repainting litter boxes at this seaside resort.

The bright red boxes were confused with letter boxes along the five mile promenade here, and many "wish you were here" cards ended up in the rubbish.

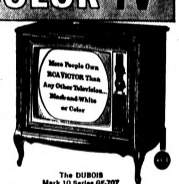

Woman, 87, Gives Up Her Driver's License

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI) — Mrs. Bertha Carlton, who is 87 years old, has given up her driver's license.

Mrs. Carlton wrote Police Supt. William A. Johnson that she sold her car and no longer had any use for the license.

Race Loss Was Biting

LONDON (UPI) — An advertisement in a British magazine called Sporting Life says:

"At the last Cheltenham (horse race) meeting, Mr. Michael Vance inadvertently put his front teeth in someone else's coat pocket before going out to ride.

"Would the finder kindly return them via (race track official) Robin Lord as their owner's tight-lipped smile is beginning to wear rather thin and his digestion is suffering."

'Vitamin D Perilous in Pregnancy'

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Johns Hopkins pediatrician said yesterday that a significant cause of mental retardation in infants is excessive intake of vitamin D by certain pregnant mothers.

Dr. Robert E. Cooke, pediatrician-in-chief and director of the department of pediatrics at Johns Hopkins, said there should be a review by pregnant women with their doctors of the amounts of vitamin D they consume.

He emphasized at a news conference that not all mothers are sensitive to vitamin D. But he said that excessive intake of it by those who are is "a significant cause of retardation of the more severe forms and certainly one of the most common preventible causes."

Vitamin D is found in homogenized milk, cereals, most breads, and margarine. Sunlight also is a source.

* * *

In addition to mental retardation, Dr. Cooke said, an excess of vitamin D apparently causes narrowings of major blood vessels of the body, kidney ailments, heart murmurs, and high blood pressure.

NOT CLEAR

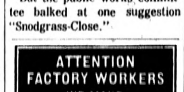

He said it is not yet clear how the vitamin D is passed from the mother to the child, nor has it been established what percentage of women are sensitive to it.

He said about 400 units of vitamin D daily sufficed for the average growing child, exclusive of sunlight.

Cost $1 Million for Year

Raps Expense of AF Resort in Hawaii

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government spent more than $1 million in one year to operate a mountain recreation retreat for military personnel and their dependents stationed in Hawaii.

* * *

Transportation was provided by plane or converted Navy landing ship from the Honolulu area to Hilo.

Comptroller General Joseph Campbell, in a report to Congress yesterday criticizing the cost, said this included more than $850,000 above receipts of $250,000 from daily fees charged guests and from revenue-producing activities in the 1963 fiscal year.

He suggested that the Defense Department take steps to place the recreation center on a completely self-supporting financial basis or else shut it down.

* * *

The object of the investigation was the Kilauea Military Camp, located on the slopes of the Mauna Loa volcano within boundaries of the national park on the island of Hawaii. It was established in 1960.

NEED QUESTIONED

"A need for such a costly recreation facility in Hawaii is questionable in view of the numerous other recreational facilities that are available," Campbell's report said.

He said that during the year at issue, only about 8 per cent of the 120,000 military personnel and dependents in Hawaii visited the camp.

The fees charged military personnel were $2.25 to $4 a day. But Campbell said the cost to the government was about $27 a day.

For the fee, military personnel were entitled to lodging, three meals a day, scheduled tours of the island and use of most of the recreation facilities at the camp.

REGULAR TRIPS

The report said that the USS Stark County, the converted Navy landing ship, made 36 regularly scheduled trips to Hilo free flights from Honolulu to from Pearl Harbor with 2,225 passengers and about 770 privately owned cars during that year.

No transportation fee was charged. There was a minimum of $2.65 for meals and 50 cents for laundry service on the round trip plus $5 for handling cars.

The Navy ship had been modified to include bunks with pullman type curtains for women, a small powder room, refrigerator and cribs for infants.

* * *

Some guns and a crane were removed from the ship. Campbell's report said that to load and unload cars at Hilo a privately owned crane crew was hired.

FREE FLIGHTS

During the year, the report said, the Air Force provided Hilo generally three times a week.

Campbell said the Defense Department contended that closing the center would have an undesirable effect on morale of troops stationed in the Hawaii area.

Disagreeing, he said there was low usage, and that the occupancy rate averaged less than 40 per cent of capacity.

To 'Drive' Off Golf Chiselers

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— City Parks Supt. Frederick C. See has been granted $1,100 to buy a golf cart he had used all summer.

* * *

See told the city commission's finance committee he needed the money for a three-wheel cart to patrol Municipal Indian Trails course against "poachers."

* * *

Paying customers had complained, said See, that players were sneaking onto the course at unguarded points. He said the poachers constituted not only a nuisance to legitimate players but represented a revenue loss to the course.

Official of KC Star to Resign Position

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Roy A. Roberts, who rose from carrier boy to chairman of the board of the Kansas City Star, announced on his 77th birthday yesterday he will withdraw completely from the newspaper's management and direction on Jan. 1.

Roberts, a native of Muscotah, Kan., delivered the star to subscribers in Lawrence, Kan., while a boy and joined its staff in 1908 after his graduation from the University of Kansas and a period of reporting for the Lawrence Journal-World.

Long Way From Florida

Flamingo on the Hudson?

COXSACKIE, N.Y. (AP) — A pink flamingo in the icy Hudson River?

Residents along a five-mile stretch of the river have spotted the long-legged, bright-colored bird for the past 10 days as it wades in shallow water.

* * *

A spokesman for the State Conservation Department in Albany said Monday night its experts never had heard of a flamingo on its own in this part of the country.

The department planned to send a waterfowl expert to the area in an effort to positively identify the bird and study the possibility of trapping it.

* * *

The big bird with a swan-like neck flees whenever anyone approaches, people along the river report.

Crickets chew and damage soiled clothing and other fabrics.

The Bloomfield Hills home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Glenn and children David, Richard, Barbara and Philip is hustling with the sounds of a family holiday.

From Arlington Heights, Ill. for the event are Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. Nelson and their children, Lynn and Susan. Their son James traveled from Albion college for the gathering.

Mrs. Howard D. Glenn, Mrs. Victor E. Nelson and Mrs. Hugh Grove and her sons, Hugh, a student at the University of Michigan, and Robert, are also there.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. G. J. Graham of Bloomfield Hills is hostess to her nephews and their families at a gathering in the Bloomfield Hills Hunt Club.

Joining her for the celebration are Mr. and Mrs. Mortimer Neff and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Neff Jr. and their families.

The engagement of Ruth Ellen Hinojosa to Domingo Gonzales is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinojosa of Raeburn Street. Her fiance's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Gillermo Gonzales of Weston, Ohio. A Jan. 30 wedding is planned.

Cover the food chopper with a clear plastic bag to keep it clean and ready for use.

Holiday Personals

One son is home, the other at school as Mr. and Mrs. William B. Bachman Jr. celebrate Thanksgiving today.

Tom is home from Culver Military Academy, Ind. where his is a junior. Bill is staying in Boulder, Colo. where he attends the University of Colorado.

Joining the family celebration are the senior Bachmans and Mrs. Bachman's aunt, Mrs. William Krueger of Detroit.

★ ★ ★

The Bloomfield Open Hunt Club is the setting for the holiday celebration of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Crissman of Applewood Lane.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wasserberger of Canterbury Drive are hosting Thanksgiving dinner party.

Among those gathering around the table are Pontiac residents Mr. and Mrs. George Wasserberger, Dr. Leo Wasserberger, and Mr. and Mrs. John Ostrander and children Janet, John and Jimmy.

Out of town guests include Dr. and Mrs. H. J. Wyngarden of East Lansing and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Vosburg, former Pontiac residents now living in Morgantown W. Va.

★ ★ ★

Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Wargelin of Voorheis Road are spending the holiday in Milwaukee, Wis. with his parents, the Soini Tormas. On their way to Milwaukee, the Wargelins stopped at the University of Michigan to pick up their daughter Carol who is in the school of music.

A Thanksgiving Without Food

New York (UPI) — Thanksgiving Day in Liberia falls on the first Thursday of November. Unlike the American Thanksgiving, it has no traditional foods.

It's True Men Are Scarce, but Gentlemen Are Rarer

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I wish you would say something in your column about the "extra man" who thinks that with so many widows and divorcees around, he does not need to thank a hostess for entertaining him.

ABBY

These extra men, who accept invitations left and right as though they were doing the hostess a favor, make me tired.

★ ★ ★

You never hear from them after they've accepted your hospitality, but they keep turning up at all the parties because, confound it, men are scarce!

KNOWS SEVERAL

★ ★ ★

DEAR KNOWS: If men are scarce, gentlemen are even scarcer.

The extra man has no immunity from the social graces just because he's in demand.

He should telephone his hostess the morning after to thank her for having entertained him. (If he's too busy or too tongue-tied to phone, flowers will say it for him.)

And single men who accept invitations should play host occasionally.

DEAR ABBY: I just received the following letter from my niece and would like your opinion of it:

"Dear Auntie,

I hate to complain, but the next time you send me a Christmas gift, please send it in the box from the store it came from.

Every time I try to take back one of your presents I am told it didn't come from there.

★ ★ ★

This is very embarrassing. I hope you won't mind my telling you this, but I would rather be frank than take a chance on getting embarrassed again this year.

Love to Uncle and the kids.

Sincerely yours,
Sandy"

Have you ever heard anything to equal this?

Sincerely yours,
"FLABBERGASTED"

DEAR FLABBERGASTED: Yes. This:

Certify Cannon Nevada Victor

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — Sen. Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., was certified yesterday as winner by 48 votes in the Nevada's Nov. 3 senatorial election, but the wheels are rolling already for a recount.

* * *

In official results canvassed by the Nevada Supreme Court, Cannon, 52, received 67,336 votes to 67,288 for Republican Lt. Gov. Paul Laxalt, 42, of Carson City.

Laxalt already had requested a recount, which probably will be conducted Monday and Tuesday. Attorneys and other representatives of each candidate will watch as the vote is tallied anew in the state's 17 county seats.

The present Senate count is 66 Democrats and 34 Republicans. Cannon's victory gives the Democrats a 68-32 margin in the next Senate.

* * *

The canvass turned up no change from the results compiled by Secretary of State John Koontz last week. Cannon led by more than 6,000 votes at one time election night; lost the lead to Laxalt next morning, and got it back again.

Grand Rapids Lawyers Propose Court Merger

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Merger of the city's two municipal courts and two police courts into a single system has been proposed by a committee of the Grand Rapids Bar Association. The recommendation was taken under study by the city commission. Attorney William Wilson of Grandville, bar committee chairman, urged the move as a step toward "better economy."

Intercity regulated truckers had revenues of $8.8 billion last year, five per cent over the preceding year.

Heston Back in California for 11th Century 'War Lord'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD—Charlton Heston, who likes it here, is making his first all-California movie since "The Big Country" seven years ago.

He would like to spend more time in the land of his adoption, but he has this problem. Producers don't see him as a 20th century man.

* * *

"All the good modern parts go to Jack Lemmon and Cary Grant," he laments.

"That leaves Heston with pictures like "The Ten Commandments," "Ben-Hur," "El Cid" and "The Agony and the Ecstasy.'

Feel like shedding tears for poor Chuck Heston?

Me neither.

Heston admits he has a pretty good thing going for him. If this be type-casting, he's making the most of it.

* * *

Heston's consolation over Messrs. Lemmon and Grant: "I've got more centuries to choose from than they do."

11TH CENTURY

Right now he's back in the 11th century, the era of "El Cid." This time he's a bit north, playing a Norman warrior in "The War Lord."

The film has been shot on location near Marysville, Calif., and is now working at Universal City, where a feudal tower has been constructed inside a stage and on the back lot.

* * *

Cost of "The War Lord": $5 million. But Heston said it differs from other epics he has made.

"In every massive production there is some kind of climactic spectacle, whether it is a chariot race, an earthquake, a battle or a crucifixion," he observed. "'The War Lord' doesn't have that. There are no surging mobs; the producer, Walter Seltzer, has suggested we advertise that it has 'a cast of dozens.'

HUMAN RELATIONSHIP

"The main point of interest in this film is the human relationships. We are trying to show how people felt, and acted in that time — not by today's standards, but by the point of reference they knew then.

"If you can accomplish that in a movie, then I think you have something that will stimulate audiences."

* * *

The 11th century is lucky for Heston. "El Cid" provided more income for him than any other film." "Ben-Hur" and "The Ten Commandments are two of the three all-time moneymakers, but not for him; he didnt share in the profits.

On the other side of the ledger is the unreleased "Major Dundee," for which he returned his $200,000 salary as justification for his arguments over the script. He has no regrets over his decision.

MEALS PAID

"I'm glad it was made on location in Mexico," he said. "At least I got my meals paid for."

End adv PMS Wed Nov.25

AP Photofax

NORMAN WARRIOR — Actor Charlton Heston, who has established a near-monopoly on costume epics, rides his charger into a conquered village in a scene from his latest movie, "The War Lord." In this one, Heston plays the role of Bith North, a Norman warrior, in the movie which tells the story of the 11th Century.

Jersey Districts Invalidated

Weighted Voting Not Covered in Decision

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Supreme Court ruled yesterday the legislature violates the "one man, one vote" principle and must be reapportioned.

The court voted 7-0 to reverse a two-year-old ruling by a Superior Court judge, who held the New Jersey Legislature was properly apportioned. Since that lower court ruling, the U.S. Supreme Court has issued its "one man, one vote" decisions requiring both houses of state legislatures to be apportioned according to population.

* * *

At the time the court handed down its ruling, the state Senate was holding a meeting to appoint a new lawyer to handle its case. The former attorney stepped out of the case because he believed the Senate had adopted an unconstitutional procedure when it installed weighted voting Nov. 16.

The decision today did not deal with weighted voting, which the state Senate adopted as its answer to the U.S. Supreme Court decisions.

ARGUMENTS SET

The court scheduled arguments on weighted voting Dec. 1.

The court ruled:

The legislature is apportioned unconstitutionally.

* * *

No further elections may be held under the present apportionment.

The legislative power may not be exercised after the second Tuesday in January 1966 except by legislatures elected no later than November 1965 under a proper apportionment.

INTERIM BASIS

The legislature may provide by law on an interim basis for election of the legislature in 1965 or earlier.

Revision of the state constitution may be submitted to the people by a constitutional convention called by the legislature. The convention must be apportioned according to population.

* * *

Legislators elected in November 1965 may hold office only until the second Tuesday in January 1968 if the legislature starts the constitutional convention process by next April 1.

If the legislature does not start the convention process by next April 1 the court will hear arguments on the question of whether amendments may be submitted to the people by some other process.

* *

The court kept jurisdiction of the case to hear further arguments or decide questions which may come up later.

Arrest Chicago Man in Kidnaping Case

CHICAGO (AP) — The FBI has arrested an unemployed Chicago man in connection with the kidnaping of an Indianapolis man later found shot to death in Michigan's Upper Peninsula.

* * *

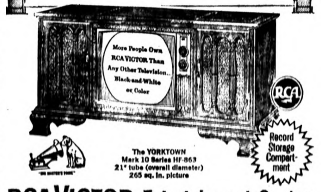

M. W. Johnson, head of the Chicago FBI office, said Philip A. Battaglia, 23, kidnaped William R. Loomis, 39, on Oct. 16. Loomis' decomposed body was found Saturday in Delta County, Mich. Johnson said he had been shot in the back of the head.

Laborites Seek Closer Ties in U.A.R. Talks

LONDON (AP) — Britain's Labor government yesterday invited the United Arab Republic to begin a new era of friendlier relations.

* * *

Foreign Secretary Patrick Gordon Walker met for an hour-long discussion with Ambassador Hafez Ismeal of the U.A.R.

"All problems of common interest between the two countries were discussed," a British Foreign Office spokesman told newsmen.

"The general objective was to promote an improved relationship between the two countries."

* * *

Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government has made it a priority task of its foreign policy to seek closer ties with President Gamal Abdul Nasser's regime eight years after the Suez venture when British, French and Israel troops attacked Egyptian territory.

Alvin Is Frognaped by Some Big 'Croak'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Steinhart aquarium officials reports what may be the first case of frognaping.
