Representing Michigan

MOBILE-BOUND—Big Chief Pontiac would surely be proud of this lovely Miss, who will represent his village on the banks of the Clinton at the National Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala. the first week of March. Posing with her Indian finery in a sleek new Pontiac convertible is Shirley Hutchinson, 17, of Bloomfield Township, named Michigan Junior Miss here last month. Shirley's bid for the national crown is sponsored by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce and during the contest she'll ride in the convertible.

Teamster Beck Is Convicted of Tax Cheating

Millionaire Labor Chief Shaken Up When Put in Jail 1st Time in Life

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Convicted of cheating on his income tax, millionaire labor leader Dave Beck Sr., 64, spent time behind bars for the first time in his life Thursday night.

The former president of the huge Teamsters Union was found guilty on all four counts of income tax evasion—covering $240,067 for the years 1950-53—and two counts of filing false returns.

He could receive up to a five-year sentence and a $10,000 fine on each count.

U. S. Dist. Judge George Boldt, who set sentencing for Feb. 27, was to hold an appeal bond hearing in Seattle today.

Beck's lawyers said the verdict would be appealed "all the way." The one-time laundry truck driver, who prided himself on not smoking or drinking, appeared more shaken at having to spend the night in jail than by the verdict.

The portly Beck, nattily clad in a blue suit and polka-dot tie, gripped the edge of a table but showed little emotion as the clerk drew "guilty" six times Thursday afternoon. Later he was heard to remark to a friend he just couldn't understand why he had to remain in jail.

When found guilty, his $25,000 bail was revoked.

His quarters in the federal section of the city jail were a world apart from his lavish home in the so-called "Beck Compound" on the shores of Lake Washington in Seattle.

Just three years ago he was a respected millionaire businessman, international president of the Teamsters Union—considered the largest in the country—and a vice president of the AFL-CIO. The self-made man who had left high school before graduation had even served as president of the University of Washington Board of Regents.

Today he is under the shadow of two convictions. Beck was sentenced to not more than 15 years in prison after a 1957 conviction for grand larceny in the embezzlement of $1,900 from the sale of a union-owned Cadillac. The State (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Deer Really Hungry

EAST LANSING (UPI)—About a dozen deer, apparently unable to find food in the ice-crusted fields and woods, wandered into East Lansing last night. Some sniffed around residential garbage cans. Others looked for a handout on the Michigan State University campus.

Don't let the sunshine fool you. It's cold and it's going to remain that way.

Plunging to a low of 2 below zero at 6 a.m. today in the city, the mercury didn't begin to climb appreciably until 10 a.m. By 1 p.m. it was 15 above.

Today, tonight and tomorrow will be continued cold with mostly fair skies. The predicted high today is 16, with a low of about 5 tonight. Tomorrow's high may reach 20.

Winds will be westerly at 10-15 m.p.h. The cold snap will continue with little change in temperature through Sunday. Slight moderation is the outlook for Monday through Wednesday.

The U. S. Weather Bureau 5-day outlook calls for precipitation through Wednesday totaling less than one-tenth of an inch, but temperatures averaging eight degrees below the normal high of 35 and low of 20.

Author of Report Ready to Testify

Chapman of PAS Firm Will Appear at Hearing on Straley Ouster

The author of a report containing blistering criticism of the Pontiac Police Dept. is in town, ready to take the stand when the Civil Service Commission resumes its hearing tonight into ouster charges against suspended Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

Samuel Chapman of the Public Administration Service of Chicago prepared the PAS report after a four-month study of the city's police force. His report found the department riddled with inefficiency, low in morale and public prestige.

The report, although not mentioning Straley by name, was critical of his seven-year reign as chief.

Straley has attacked the PAS report as unfair and referred to Chapman as "a 28-year-old man with four years experience out West as a patrolman."

Before Chapman can testify, however, the Civil Service Commission must rule on a motion by Straley's attorney, Clarence L. Smith, to dismiss charges on the grounds that Eastman, who brought them against the chief, was never legally public safety director.

Smith has also objected to the Commission that Walter K. Willman's order suspending Straley on Feb. 9 was not proper. Only the Commission can suspend Straley, he asserts.

The hearing will resume at 7:30 p.m. in the City Commission chambers.

PRESIDENTS LEAVE FOR CONFAB—President Eisenhower waves to the dockside crowd as he and Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos

Mexico Fetes U.S. President in Grand Style

Eisenhower Ends 2-Day Good Will Visit Tonight; Pledges Friendship

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP)—President Eisenhower, feted lavishly and pleased by a warm reception, turns to a final round of talks today with Mexico's President Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Eisenhower's two-day good will visit to this tropical resort on the Pacific Coast ends tonight.

He planned to fly overnight to Augusta, Ga., for a weekend of golf, or direct to Washington if the Augusta weather is bad.

Eisenhower and Lopez Mateos exchanged pledges of international friendship when the U.S. President arrived Thursday. Then they talked informally aboard the Mexican chief executive's yacht, the Soltavento, during a four-hour cruise.

When they came ashore late in the day, spokesmen announced they had discussed the proposed Diablo Dam, a 100-million-dollar structure which would be built and financed by the two governments on the Rio Grande border about 12 miles from Del Rio, Tex.; Mexico's coffee industry, its production of lead and zinc and Mexican concern about competition between its cotton crop and that of the United States.

Neither White House press secretary James C. Hagerty nor the Mexican spokesman would provide any detail on the discussions.

They indicated there might be a formal statement after further talks at Eisenhower's hotel late today.

As for the Diablo Dam, Eisenhower is understood to have told Lopez Mateos that his administration—after years of considering whether to go ahead—now has decided to ask Congress for the funds needed to join Mexico in the project.

Eisenhower got a rousing welcome on his arrival at Acapulco and another enthusiastic reception when he motored through the heart of the city to board the yacht. He drew more cheers when he was the dinner guest of the Mexican president at the Mirador Hotel.

Among the guests at the presidential table was former British Prime Minister Anthony Eden, who retired in January 1957 because of ill health. It was his first public appearance since coming to Acapulco last Dec. 17 to convalesce and work on his memoirs. He and Eisenhower have been friends since World War II days. Eisenhower was to be host today to Lopez Mateos at both lunch and dinner. The evening affair will be at another of Acapulco's fashionable night spots, the Sid Club.

Gen. Marshall Better in Today's Report

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (AP)—Gen. George C. Marshall was reported "slightly improved" this morning. The retired soldier-statesman is suffering from a stroke complicated by mild pneumonia.

Womack General Hospital here issued only the brief report on Marshall.

The last full report, late Thursday contained a faint note of optimism—but only a note. Col. George B. Powell, the general's physician, cautioned that Marshall's "condition still is considered serious and the prognosis still is guarded."

In reply to a question, Col. Powell said he had told Mrs. Marshall that the general "appeared to be a little better, but I cautioned her against over-optimism."

Marshall, 78, entered the Army hospital here after his first stroke Jan. 15. The second stroke came Tuesday night along with the pneumonia.

County Plans Quick Action on Building Courthouse

After more than two years of having their plans for a modern courthouse held up by court action, Oakland County officials today planned to take immediate action to construct the new building.

The track was cleared of legal barriers yesterday when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled the county had lawfully accumulated and now could use nontax miscellaneous funds to finance the proposed $4,500,000 building on Telegraph road.

Further court action to block its construction today appeared remote.

"I would be hesitant to advise any further legal action," said Glenn C. Gillespie, attorney for the apparently defunct Oakland County Taxpayers' League.

It was the League which back in November of 1956 tossed up the first roadblock to the building when it filed suit here claiming the county Board of Supervisors had padded annual budgets and transferred surpluses from them to accrue the building fund.

This was all in violation of a state law which limits counties from assessing in any one year, for the purchase of land or the construction of public buildings, more than one-tenth of one mill, the League contended.

"There's no constitutional inhibition preventing the Legislature from allowing the Board of Supervisors to use surpluses accumulated on Page 2, Col. 6)

The government had tried once before to take away his citizenship. The case was thrown out by a federal court in 1956 on the ground that the government evidence was "permeated with the fruit of illegal wiretaps."

The government then set out again to achieve its goal employing evidence it said was not obtained by wiretaps.

Costello long has been regarded as one of the topmost men in the underworld, and at one time was tabbed its "prime minister."

His croaky voice—but not his face—became familiar to many millions of Americans a few years ago during the nationally televised New York hearings on crime conducted by the U.S. Senate Committee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.).

Only Costello's voice was heard during his witness chair appearances because of his demand that his face not be shown. Viewers now and then caught a glimpse of his hands as he duelled verbally with the metallic-voiced Rudolph Halley, chief counsel of the committee.

Lenten Guideposts Overcomes Big Handicap to Bring Faith to Blind

By FRIEDA M. TARDY
Boulder, Colorado

I first met Rebecca Gooding when she came to my door on a gray day, the last day of the old year—a year that had not been kind, holding more of bitter than sweet.

FRIEDA

like to come to her house for my Braille lesson? Braille—the hated word!

While I was still battling with myself, Rebecca rose quickly and was gone. Only then did I remember that she had asked me nothing about myself, and had given me no opportunity for feeling sorry for myself.

Since the doctors had told me that I would be blind within a year's time, self-pity stood always on the threshold—blotting out the inner vision of faith.

Rebecca returned the next week, and I went with her for my first lesson. As time went by, my slow fingers began to pick out the tiny embossed dots of the Braille alphabet. Quite often, rebellious tears would rush into my eyes; but I began to love those afternoons when I went to Rebecca's little white frame house.

In May, I could feel the lessening of rebellion. One day Rebecca took my arm and led me through the back door to a rambling barn.

There, in the storehouse, stood an array of looms. She handed me a basket filled with skeins of soft wool and spread before me a soft haze of creamy warp threads. I touched them lightly. I felt the vibration of music in my fingers as truly as if I had put them on the keys of a piano.

RELAXING RHYTHM
"Now let's try it," she coaxed. Gently, she guided me until my first, slow uneven beat built up into a rhythm of beam and pedal, right hand, right foot, boom. Left hand, left foot, boom. As the rhythm became more even, it brought relaxation to my entire body. As I swayed forward and backward, I forgot myself.

I wove steadily for hours. When my folks came for me that evening, I had a 30-inch rug. But it was more than a rug. It was a symbol of answered prayer, for on that day, faith again began to live inside me.

Consider New Lighting for City

Fluorescent Lamps for Saginaw, Huron Get Favorable Reception

A move to "brighten up downtown" with new, modern street-lighting was in the works today. An offer by Consumers Power Co. to install brighter fluorescent lights on downtown Saginaw and Huron streets was favorably received by city commissioners at an informal meeting last night.

The lights under consideration are the same as those installed several months ago for testing purposes at the corner of Saginaw and Oakland avenue, said Edward Karkau, Consumers manager.

They're almost twice as bright as similar ones situated along widened Perry street and at City Hall. "It is our feeling that the light will be welcomed by the downtown merchants and improve the appearance of the downtown area," Karkau said.

City Manager Walter K. Willman was authorized to work on plans with the power company.

Commissioners decided the lights should line Saginaw from Lafayette street to Auburn avenue and Huron from Cass avenue to Mill street.

It was estimated this will mean about 65 new lights, costing the city about $5,000 more a year in its light bill.

Karkau said Consumers could install the lighting on its existing poles. The fluorescent lights are installed by means of extension arm that places them higher and more directly above the street than the present, standard lights, he said.

Consumers has in mind installing lights that measure 35,000 lumens in brightness, Karkau said. By contrast, the Perry street lights measure 20,000 lumens in brightness.

Trombly Pleads to High Court

Macomb Judge Asks State Tribunal Probe of Public 'Disgrace'

LANSING (UPI)—Macomb Probate Judge Joseph V. Trombly wants the State Supreme Court to start an immediate investigation of the "disgrace" brought on his court by public criticism.

Trombly, in a petition filed before the court yesterday, said an investigation "under the guise" of the Macomb County Board of Supervisors has brought "disgrace" upon the courts, upon my wife and children and myself and has almost destroyed my health.

"I have not the authority to correct, and eliminate the abuse and interference without the help of the Supreme Court," Trombly said.

Trombly, who has been on the Macomb bench since Jan. 1, 1941, recently submitted and then withdrew a petition for retirement before the State Judges Retirement Board.

The high court has jurisdiction over all lower courts but court officers said the request for an investigation was considered "unusual."

Convict Dave Beck of Cheating on Taxes

Supreme Court is scheduled to hear his appeal next March.

Beck's big trouble began when he appeared before the Senate Labor-Management Committee in 1937 and invoked the Fifth Amendment more than 150 times. He said then he could not remember everything with a few minutes in the court of law.

But the balding Beck didn't take the stand here. After the long government case in the three-month trial, the defense rested after calling only one witness—an accountant. His lawyers said Beck wanted to take the stand but was advised against it by his counsel who didn't think the government had a case.

The jury of eight men and four women returned their verdict a day after receiving the case.

Foreman Warren Hale said only 10 ballots were taken. The first vote came out eight for conviction, three for acquittal and one blank.

Beck, who finished a sandwich at his hotel before returning to court to hear the verdict, said en route, "I feel good." He said he was worried, though, about the illness of Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

Denied access to Beck's documents, the government worked from bank records, hotel ledgers, account books and a dozen other sources. It based its case on Beck's alleged pocketing of expense money and misuse of union funds. It presented 115 witnesses.

The defense held that any money Beck received from the union was in the form of loans and, therefore, not taxable.

Beck had consolation of a sort. The Teamsters Union said his $30,000 a year pension was from a trust fund, unaffected by any court decision.

Oppose Hospital Use for Mental Patients

Use of the former Oakland County Contagious Hospital entirely for the mentally ill will be advised against, despite 23 resolutions urging it.

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors next Tuesday will hear a resolution from a special committee of five supervisors assigned the task of finding the most beneficial and economic use of the vacant facility.

It will oppose the exclusive use of the 50-bed hospital on Telegraph road as a psychiatric short-term, diagnostic hospital and clinic for the mentally ill.

The county has received letters from 28 civic organizations and municipalities urging that the hospital be used for this purpose. Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore has also been a leader in this move.

TO GIVE REASONS
The special committee, headed by Royal Oak Supervisor Fred W. Smith, is expected to point out three reasons for opposing this suggestion. They are:

1. The state has the responsibility under its Mental Health Commission to provide diagnostic services and treatment for the mentally ill.

2. The county has been advised by a state official—"closely connected and well versed in mental health problems"—that such a facility for the mentally ill should be operated in connection with a general hospital and not as a separate unit.

3. It would cost the county an estimated $438,000 annually to operate the hospital exclusively for the mentally ill.

FAVOR POLIO CENTER
Smith's committee still favors a proposal put forth by the Elizabeth Kenny Foundation for using the hospital as a rehabilitation and treatment center for polio and other allied diseases.

"It is the considered opinion of your committee that such an arrangement might provide the best use of this facility," supervisors have been told in an advance letter to their Tuesday meeting.

Representatives of the foundation have indicated to the committee that it might be possible to incorporate a portion of the hospital for the treatment of a limited number of mentally ill emergency-care patients.

However, officials of that group are still seeking ways to finance its suggested center.

As yet, the Kenny Foundation has not been given a definite go-ahead by the county.

The committee earlier had given a firm "no" to Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, which wanted to lease the vacant building for 10 years.

The two-story edifice, located at 1075 N. Telegraph rd., has been empty since Pontiac General Hospital turned it back to the county in August after using it as an annex.

Carros will continue as personnel director, said Euler, a post he has held since coming to the hospital in May, 1937.

With his new job, Carros' salary will be boosted from $7,500 to $8,000 a year.

Under the promotion, Carros will relinquish his secondary duties as public relations director, Euler said. These duties will be taken up by Fay Stewart, former administrative assistant in charge of operations at the hospital's annex.

Miss Stewart's new salary was set at $6,500 a year. She has been a hospital employee ten years.

One by one, they walked the path to the barn—hesitant, dreading, mistrustful. One by one, they sat at the looms—sometimes silent and always unwilling. But each one was caught up in the wonder of the rhythm as I had been.

As they relaxed, they became interested, and as their interest increased, they were filled with hope. They learned to talk with one another and, when laughter rang in the old barn, I knew the battle had been won.

Several years after my first lesson, Rebecca became seriously ill. There was little hope for her recovery. They came, her blind, to her door. Some were led. Some came tapping white canes lightly as they walked to the vine-covered porch.

All day, every day, and at all hours of the evening they came. Some brought flowers or small gifts of food. Others brought gifts of costliness and beauty as they attempted to express their love and admiration.

Right up to the time of her death, Rebecca was still striving to give to her blind that spark which burned within herself. We, who have been led through the valley of night, can never forget her supreme and patient effort.

You see, Rebecca had traveled the lonely road, too. The music of the looms, the laughter which rang out when tensions had been eased, these she never knew, although she could read the words that came from our lips. Few of us ever knew it, but—Rebecca was totally deaf.

Leaves for Spain Soon Debbie Busy at Work Following Her Divorce

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Debbie Reynolds, 26, the film colony's latest divorcee, was swept up in the activities of a busy career today.

The ex-Mrs. Eddie Fisher surprised friends on the 20th Century-Fox lot by showing up immediately after the divorce was granted Thursday although she'd been given the day off.

Debbie explained she's anxious to finish the picture, "Say One For Me," as soon as possible. Plans call for her to leave next week for Spain on location for another movie.

Critics have predicted that 1936 will be the biggest year of her career for the petite actress.

Fisher, meantime, has been busy denying reports that he intends to marry Elizabeth Taylor very shortly in Mexico, presumably after the singer obtained a quickie Mexican divorce.

Fisher and Miss Taylor, admittedly very much in love with each other, both branded the reports "ridiculous."

Miss Taylor added: "It should be obvious to all that Eddie and I are in love with each other, but we have no immediate plans. After all, he was just divorced yesterday."

Fisher said: "The reports are absolutely untrue. I have no plans to be married in Mexico now or later."

Under California law, the decree entered in Los Angeles will not be final for a year. Should Fisher wed again before that time, the marriage would not be recognized in this state.

Miss Reynolds wore a black silk suit with a velvet collar and black high-heeled shoes for her brief court appearance. At her throat was a heart-shaped diamond and on her finger she wore an emerald ring where a wedding band might have been.

"Are any of these pieces from Eddie?" she was asked as she left the courtroom.

"I would rather not say," she replied.

She said she knew nothing about Fisher's plans and when asked if she knew his whereabouts, she answered: "I would rather not talk about him."

Miss Taylor was not mentioned by name in the five-minute hearing, although Debbie testified in support of her cruelty charge: "My husband became interested in another woman."

Fisher, 30, was not present for the proceedings that will cost him a million dollars in 10 years. Other sources figured it at $750,000.

City commissioners have been asked to back mandatory retirement of city employees at age 66.

The support is sought by the Pension Board, which has decided to crack down on repeated extensions of retirement dates, said Charles Harmon, Board chairman.

Commissioners last night informally decided to favor a Pension Board plan whereby employees will be granted only two six-month extensions after the usual deadline at age 66.

"The repeated granting of extensions at present seems to be defeating the purpose of the pension system," Harmon informed commissioners.

The Pension Board can act without City Commission approval, but prefers to have it, said City Manager Walter K. Willman.

If the plan is put into effect, employees who have already had two or more extensions face mandatory retirement at the end of the year, or the age of 70, whichever date comes sooner.

It also said the county could select a new site for the new building—to be on a 357-acre County Service Center property—and could dispose of the old downtown building and property.

HITS LAND ANNEXATION
In the only adverse ruling against Oakland County, the high court said annexation of a parcel of land from Waterford Township, to attach as part of the Service Center, was done unlawfully.

However, county officials see little chance that this ruling would slow their building plans.

Charles A. Davis, assistant corporation counsel, said the property, although shown on county maps as belonging to Pontiac, could legally become a section of the city by joint affirmative action of the Township Board and the City Commission.

First, Davis said, the county would ask residents of the questionable land to sign petitions agreeing to become part of Pontiac. Most of these residents, Davis said, are county employees working in county buildings already in the Service Center.

Meanwhile, David Levinson, chairman of the Supervisors' Special Courthouse Committee, said he hoped his group would be given the go-ahead when supervisors assemble Tuesday for their meeting.

If they do, he said his committee probably will meet Wednesday to sit down with architects who have already started pulling the new courthouse plans out of mothballs.

Levinson said he was hopeful that no appreciable increase—the price may even be lower—would result from the two-year lapse when the original estimate was given more than two years ago.

Theodore V. Bacon, architect with the designing firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach Associates of Birmingham, said he did not anticipate any jump in costs before May when construction costs normally increase.

Letting of contracts possibly could come in early April, Levinson said, barring any unforeseen interferences.

Only a slight alteration of original plans will be made. This is necessary as the offices of the county clerk and register have been merged since plans were drawn up.

Monies now in the building fund for the courthouse total $1,666,407.18, according to Charles A. Sparks, county treasurer. This has grown from the $1,392,427 when the suit was filed.

Levinson said the needed money to finance the six-story courthouse would come from the allotted one-tenth of one mill accrued each year, sale of the old courthouse and land and sale of surplus county properties.

The Birmingham supervisor said these added monies should be sufficient so as to construct the long-awaited building without any tax burden to county residents.

"We have from the start planned it on a pay-as-you-go basis and still do," he said.

One county official said he had heard several years ago of a bid of $900,000 for the courthouse property stretching from Saginaw to Wayne street, and bounded on the north by West Huron street.

The current building fund can be expected to grow by some $225,000 a year, Sparks said.

Helping to swell the fund is the investment of revenues from it in four local banks paying yearly interest, Sparks said.

Although county officials have had to borrow from other funds to meet a mammoth welfare relief burden the past year, Sparks said the courthouse building fund "has been untouched."

The League's lawsuit was up before the Supreme Court because visiting Circuit Judge Herman C. Delahue, of Harrisville, said following a four-day trial in the summer of 1937 that the supervisors had built up their fund illegally in violation of the millage limitation.

Yesterday's opinion reversed Judge Delahue on this major question.

Writing the 18-page majority opinion was Justice Harry J. Kelly. Joining him were Justices John Dethmers, Leland Carr and George Edwards.

The minority opinion was written by Justice Eugene F. Black. With him were Justices John D. Voelker and Talbot Smith.

Justice Thomas M. Kavanagh, Michigan attorney general when the League's suit was filed, did not participate in the opinion.

Name City Postmaster to Association Post

Robert C. Miller, Pontiac's acting postmaster, has been appointed to the legislative committee of the Michigan Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters.

H. Wayne Parker, Grand Rapids postmaster and president of the chapter, announced the appointment today. Roland Reese, Birmingham postmaster, is chairman of the committee.

The Day in Birmingham Chamber of Commerce to Run Halloween Party

BIRMINGHAM—The Chamber of Commerce has taken over the Community Halloween parties of the future. Paul Kurth, president, announced today.

Begun more than 20 years ago, the party originated with a group of businessmen who sought to curb malicious mischiefness here. Of late, the party has been guided by representatives of the City Recreation Board, school district and civic clubs.

The entire group resigned several weeks ago, saying they felt that persons more closely connected with the businessmen who finance the party should take charge.

Postmaster Roland Reese who has been chairman of the party for many years will work with the chamber as advisor.

The event will closely follow the established pattern of a parade, refreshments and entertainment.

Charles Mortensen, C. of C. secretary, said this morning that while some schools may continue to hold their own parties because they are in the outer areas of the Birmingham school district every effort will be made to keep the main event centralized.

An old-fashioned square dance is being held at the Baldwin School at 8 tonight for PTA members and friends. Music will be furnished by Merritt Olsen with Mark Smith calling.

Tickets for the concert to be presented Feb. 26 by the State Singers of Michigan State University are obtainable at Grinnell's music store or from members of the sponsoring Birmingham Musicals.

The program will be held at 8:30 p. m. in the Derby Junior High School auditorium.

The Altrusa Club of Greater Birmingham will meet Monday at 7

Set Later Hours for Last-Minute Sale of Plates

With only a week to go until deadline, the Pontiac branch of the Secretary of State's office will be open later tonight and tomorrow to speed the sale of 1936 license plates.

The Pontiac office at 96 E. Huron St. will remain open until 7 p. m. tonight, said Willis Brewer, branch manager.

Both the Pontiac office and the temporary sales office in the Waterford Township Hall will be open for business tomorrow from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., he said.

"I urge drivers to purchase their new plates as soon as possible to avoid the last minute rushes next week," said Brewer, reminding drivers to have their certificates of title with them when they buy plates.

Deadline for driving with 1935 plates is midnight Feb. 28.

Best-Dressed Men? Business Executives

NEW YORK (AP)—America's best-dressed men today aren't its movie stars or television idols—but its business executives.

The tired businessman got this surprise pat on his well-tailored back from Pat Caruso, a tailor.

"The business executive today is highly style-aware," said Caruso. "Years ago he would wear anything. Now he knows exactly what he wants. Some even draw sketches of the styles they prefer."

Professional athletes also, are more clothes-conscious, and the best-dressed among them are the jockeys, who also rate as the wealthiest of athletes. The reason: Most jockeys have to wear custom garments or buy children's wear.

"But very few people in public life dress well," said Caruso. He added: "What can you do with a politician?"

"However, President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon are exceptions."

Ex-Convict Indicted in Birdland Murder

NEW YORK (AP)—A Manhattan grand jury has indicted ex-convict Lee Schlesinger on second-degree murder charges in the slaying of the assistant manager of Birdland, a Broadway Jazz center.

The indictment was handed up Thursday to General Sessions Judge Mitchell D. Schweitzer.

The victim, Zachariah (Irving) Levy, 36, was stabbed to death Jan. 26 while a 15-piece band was playing. The slayer fled the club with a woman.

Schlesinger, 43, and his wife Betty, 34, were arrested four days later. Mrs. Schlesinger has been held in $50,000 bail as a material witness.

Juniors Go to Town

MONTREAL (AP)—The Canadian Junior Red Cross reports its 1,270,000 members across Canada raised $269,326 in 1957 for the Handicapped and Crippled Children's Fund and the International Fund for Help and Understanding.

There are about 850,000 hard-of-hearing children in the United States under 5 years of age.

"What about Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller?"

A look of sorrow crossed Caruso's face but he maintained a discreet silence. It is an open secret among custom tailors that New York's multimillionaire chief executive patronizes a store featuring ready-made clothing.

The custom industry now suffers more from a shortage of fine tailors than customers, Caruso says.

"It takes 10 to 15 years to become a good tailor," said Caruso.

"I first picked up the needle at the age of 9 in my father's shop in Italy. In this country nobody wants to work that young. You can't go to college and then start to be a tailor."

"We have to import our tailors."

When Caruso first came to the United States in the 1920s, gangsters, gamblers and bootleggers were big mainstays of the custom tailoring industry. Not any more, he says.

While the hoods used to buy a lot of clothes, they also had a habit of running up big charge accounts. And when all you carry is a needle it is hard to make a man who packs a gun pay his bill.

Here are a few other observations he made:

"In Europe they laugh at the Ivy League look. They say it looks like it was sprayed on."

"A man can be well-dressed with a wardrobe of a dozen suits. But he has to buy three or four a year to keep it up."

"The things a man needs most to look well in clothes are a good tailor and a flat belly."

"The British used to be the world's best-dressed men. But most Englishmen today aren't well-dressed. They have fine fabrics but not enough good tailors."

"The best-dressed men in the world now are probably wealthy South Americans. They are the male peacocks today."

"Most doctors don't dress well. Their cars look better than their clothes."

One of Those Things

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (AP)—Roy Clemis and Lethbridge Post Office officials had a puzzle when Mr. Clemis received a letter recently from Macleod, 30 miles west of

New Zealand is about 1,000 miles long and is divided into North Island, South Island and Stewart Island.

BARGAIN buys from the SALVATION ARMY?

In many cases, the answer is yes. There are 300 such stores throughout the country, offering a variety of used articles at remarkably low prices. These stores aid in rehabilitating down-and-out and handicapped men, the regular sales staff.

What's for sale in a particular store varies with the area, since all items are donated by the community. In a big-city store, you can usually find men's suits, women's and children's clothing, furniture of all types, pots and pans, dishes, linens, books, records, jewelry, tools and many other items. In a small town, the range may be more limited.

Prices, too, vary regionally and with the quality and condition of the goods offered. In most cases, they are lower than those in commercial secondhand stores. Example: men's suits, $3 to $10; women's dresses, $1 to $3 (occasionally an exceptionally good dress may be priced at $5 to $10); television sets, $5 to $100. (The cheaper TV sets are old models with 10- or 12-inch screens and have not been serviced prior to sale.) Other prices: 9-by-12-foot rug, $5 (very worn but still usable) to $150 (for a Persian in good condition), baby's cradle, $7.50 to $15; toys, 5 to 50 cents; books, 5 cents to $5; bicycles, $3 to $5; pots and pans, 15 to 25 cents; dishwashers, $10 to $15.

Stores are alerted to watch for antiques that may have unusual value. In some cases, these are set aside and offered in an antique corner, at prices approximately those a dealer might pay for them. Very occasionally, the store may have a valuable piece. One couple recognized the elaborate lace of the Victorian period they took it to a dressmaker for reworking, he offered them $300 for it. The sort of thing doesn't happen often, but it does add to the store's reputation.

You will find these stores listed in your phone book under the "Salvation Army" heading. (If there isn't a store in your community, try the nearest big city.) They are usually open all day during the week and half a day on Saturday. A good time to visit them is shortly after a Salvation Army collection in your community, when the stock is usually at its height where you can inspect them, and you are free to buy them or not, as you choose.

Former South African Official Leaves Estate

CAPETOWN, South Africa (AP)—Former Prime Minister Daniel F. Malan left an estate of $4,512 pounds—$142,633.

The inventory was made public Thursday. Among bequests were 3,500 pounds—$7,000—each to his National party organization in Cape Province and to Stellenbosch University.

Dr. Malan was the father of the South African Nationalists' stern racial policy and was prime minister from 1948 until he retired in 1954. He died Feb. 7 at 84 after a stroke.

Fur Also Valuable for Felt

McConnell Brothers Find Gold Mine in Rabbit Meat

LARAMIE, Wyo. (AP)—The lowly rabbit is the foundation of a business that is grossing $125,000 a year for onetime All-America end Dewey McConnell and his brothers.

McConnell, one of the University of Wyoming's all-time football greats, was the defensive end on The Associated Press All-America team of 1951. His professional career as a football player was short and he returned to his native Laramie to go into business with his brothers, Albert Jr. and Harry.

They operate McConnell Brothers Diversified Interests, a business founded by their father 30 years ago.

Principal products of the enterprise are processing rabbit meat for mink farms throughout the country and rabbit fur used by felt manufacturers. Some of the meat is fed to the 500 mink the McConnells own.

The plant processes 250,000 of the animals between November and March when the fur quality is the best. When running at full capacity the plant employs up to 50 men. The annual payroll is $40,000.

Rabbits come from an 11-state area, stretching from Oregon to South Dakota and from Texas, through Kansas to Montana.

The McConnells pay from 15 to 40 cents per rabbit. Most of the raw material, Dewey says, comes from hunters of all ages. "They probably would hunt the rabbits if there wasn't any payment," he added.

COME BY TRUCK

When the rabbit season opens, the McConnells send their purchasing agents with seven trucks into areas where the rabbit population is heavy.

Farmers and ranchers cooperate because a band of hungry jack rabbits has been known to do as much as $10,000 in damages to a single farm.

McConnell said farmers and ranchers told him that three to 10 rabbits will eat as much as one cow. One farmer told the one-time football player that he got only one, instead of the customary two, cutting of alfalfa. Rabbits got the rest, then turned to stacks of cured alfalfa hay.

McConnell said 55,000 to 60,000 rabbits were taken in the Gillette area of northeastern Wyoming in the 1955-56 season. He said other purchasers have bought as many as 100,000 rabbits in one Kansas town.

Sometimes, when the hunting is particularly good, the McConnell brothers have to charter additional trucks to haul their raw material.

Rabbit population appears to run in cycles. An area where hundreds graze one season may not have a single one the next year.

The brothers refuse to worry about a source of supply.

They've expanded their Laramie plant and are planning new operations.

They are looking enviously on the market for dog and cat food.

South of Border Influence High

Latin Americans Bring Business to U.S., Plus Cha-Cha-Cha

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Latin American influence permeates the United States from our channels of commerce right down to the cha-cha-cha.

Whether it is in diplomacy, journalism, commerce, finance, show business, the inter-American activities of the United Nations, or the Organization of American States, the impact from South of the Border is on the increase.

Yet, persons from the Latin American republics represent less than 3,000,000 of the total U. S. population of 175,000,000.

Unlike the European elements in the population of the U. S., there are no identifiable, large "blobs" of former Latin Americans in this country, with the possible exception of Mexican-Americans and Cuban-Americans.

The total Latin American population in the U. S. is largely concentrated in New York City and in such states as Texas, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Florida and Colorado.

Their residential preferences conform, except in the case of New York, with a pattern established when the Spanish Colonial domain encroached on what is now the borders of the U. S., or in regions lost by Mexico during the United States-Mexican War.

The Bureau of the Census estimated in 1950 that 2,381,710 persons with Spanish surnames lived in the Southwest. About half were of native parentage.

The migrants from Latin America are attracted by the high U. S. standard of living, the opportunities for employment in service occupations, agriculture or mining. Gradually, they move into commercial, industrial and professional vocations.

Legislator Van Peursem Quits Politics

Rising GOP Star Goes Out in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Little more than a year ago, former House Speaker George M. Van Peursem was a rising star on the Republican political horizon. Admirers thought he was destined for the governor's chair.

Today, at 46, the handsome, vigorous Zeelander—by his own choice—was a private citizen, his hands apparently washed of politics for good.

Van Peursem, elected to a fifth two-year term last November, yesterday resigned his House seat to give full time to a promising new business career as general counsel for Holland Furnace Co.

"I feel like a great weight has been lifted from my shoulders," he said in an interview.

"My mind has been heavy with this problem since the first of the year.

"How could I do justice to the people of Ottawa County who elected me and the Republican Party on the one hand and my business career and my family on the other?"

As speaker in 1957 and 1958, Van Peursem's time was increasingly taken up with legislative and party work. His law business was neglected, cutting into his income.

Two years ago, friends in the Legislature raised a kitty of more than $10,000 to put him on the road between sessions as a spokesman for the Republican cause. Some saw him as the likely 1958 GOP candidate for governor.

"But I continued to go into debt. I have a wife and three children to think about and I thought 'I'm not getting any younger,'" he recalled.

A throat ailment, aggravated by the heavy speaking schedule, sent him to the hospital in December, 1957 for the first of two operations. Hospital and doctor bills piled up more debt.

Van Peursem said he would have quit in early January but for the history-making 55-55 division in the House and the prospect that his resignation would have tipped the balance of power to Democrats.

"That was unthinkable after what my Republican friends have done for me here. I couldn't have done a thing like that in 100 years," he said.

The Republicans organized the House, aided by the illness of a Democratic lawmaker. Another Democratic house member died.

Then, Van Peursem saw a way out, provided Democratic Gov. Williams would order a special election to fill the vacant Republican seat his resignation would leave.

Williams promised to call the special election April 6—to coincide with on to fill the vacant Democratic seat in Detroit.

And so, George Van Peursem turned in his political uniform.

Tasty Trapping Set Up for Elk in Yellowstone

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Mont. (AP)—Hay used to trap elk in Yellowstone National Park is being flavored with molasses, licorice and spices.

Supt. Lemuel A. Garrison said today that not one elk was lured into traps last winter with plain hay. So far this year 175 elk have succumbed to the sweetened hay.

The traps are used to keep the Yellowstone elk herd at about 5,000, all the winter range will support.

Prehistoric Bone of Elephant Fresh

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fragment of glacier-preserved bone from a giant prehistoric elephant has been found to be in remarkably fresh condition at least 3,000 years after the mammoth died.

This was reported to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science today by two physiologists of the University of California, Berkeley.

They are researchers H. C. Ezra and S. F. Cook. They said they studied the specimen as part of a comparison of fresh and fossilized bones. Their report was published in the technical journal "Science."

New York's American Museum of Natural History provided the preserved specimen, a chunk of leg bone from a skeleton of a mammoth discovered in 1907 at Elephant Point in Eschscholtz Bay, Alaska.

The skeleton had been unearthed from frozen silt, distributed between ice-layers in the ice cliffs of that area.

Piggy Bank Robbers Strike for 3rd Time

CHESHIRE, Conn. (AP)—Police are looking for the culprits in three bank robberies in two weeks.

They admit they are short on clues. The latest of the robberies in this small town took place in a piggy bank, same as the others. Eight dollars were reported missing from the home of Peter Zaworskas.

Is This a Bargain?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—If the operators of an Indianapolis restaurant wonder why business is slack, they might check their outdoor sign—the one that reads "Fried Chicken $150, All You Can Eat."

A Printer Gives His Client Extra (Illegal) Lines

ENID, Okla., (AP)—Warren Garner hasn't sold any liquor in constitutionally dry Oklahoma but he's been advertising it just the same.

His package store for the sale of 3.2 beer and soft drinks is listed in the city directory as "Warren's Package Store, liquor and wines, retail."

The directory was printed in Dallas in 1957 and the only explanation is that the printer figured that anyone with a package store was in the liquor business and added the extra lines. Texas is a wet state.

Oklahoma may legalize liquor at a special election April 7 and should Garner decide to turn his beverage store into a package liquor store he possibly still would be violating a law.

Legislator Van Peursem Quits Politics

Rising GOP Star Goes Out in Lansing

LANSING (AP)—Little more than a year ago, former House Speaker George M. Van Peursem was a rising star on the Republican political horizon. Admirers thought he was destined for the governor's chair.

Today, at 46, the handsome, vigorous Zeelander—by his own choice—was a private citizen, his hands apparently washed of politics for good.

Van Peursem, elected to a fifth two-year term last November, yesterday resigned his House seat to give full time to a promising new business career as general counsel for Holland Furnace Co.

"I feel like a great weight has been lifted from my shoulders," he said in an interview.

"My mind has been heavy with this problem since the first of the year."

"How could I do justice to the people of Ottawa County who elected me and the Republican Party on the one hand and my business career and my family on the other?"

As speaker in 1967 and 1968, Van Peursem's time was increasingly taken up with legislative and party work. His law business was neglected, cutting into his income.

Two years ago, friends in the Legislature raised a kitty of more than $10,000 to put him on the road between sessions as a spokesman for the Republican cause. Some saw him as the likely 1968 GOP candidate for governor.

"But I continued to go into debt. I have a wife and three children to think about and I thought 'I'm not getting any younger,'" he recalled.

A throat ailment, aggravated

by the heavy speaking schedule, sent him to the hospital in December, 1967 for the first of two operations. Hospital and doctor bills piled up more debt.

Van Peursem said he would have quit in early January but for the history-making 55-55 division in the House and the prospect that his resignation would have tipped the balance of power to Democrats.

"That was unthinkable after what my Republican friends have done for me here. I couldn't have done a thing like that in 100 years," he said.

The Republicans organized the House, added by the illness of a Democratic lawmaker. Another Democratic house member died.

Then, Van Peursem saw a way out, provided Democratic Gov. Williams would order a special election to fill the vacant Republican seat his resignation would have.

Williams promised to call the special election April 6—to coincide with on to fill the vacant Democratic seat in Detroit.

And so, George Van Peursem turned in his political uniform.

Tasty Trapping Set Up for Elk in Yellowstone

YELLOWSTONE PARK, Mont. (AP)—Hay used to trap elk in Yellowstone National Park is being flavored with molasses, licorice and spices.

Supt. Lemuel A. Garrison said today that not one elk was lured into traps last winter with plain hay. So far this year 175 elk have succumbed to the sweetened hay.

The traps are used to keep the Yellowstone elk herd at about 5,000, all the winter range will support.

Prehistoric Bone of Elephant Fresh

WASHINGTON (AP)—A fragment of glacier-preserved bone from a giant prehistoric elephant has been found to be in remarkably fresh condition at least 3,000 years after the mammoth died.

This was reported to the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science today by two physiologists of the University of California, Berkeley.

They are researchers H. C. Ezra and S. F. Cook. They said they studied the specimen as part of a comparison of fresh and fossilized bones. Their report was published in the technical journal "Science."

Men Enjoy It

Perfume Not Magic--but It Helps

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "Will you settle an awful argument between two women? Is it true that there is a perfume which draws men to women? If so, what is the name of it? I have a friend whose husband is just crazy about her and she uses a certain perfume and says that is the reason. I bought a small bottle and my husband kissed me goodnight for the first time in weeks. Can you give me the name of the best kind?"

A. So far as I know there is no one magic perfume which will guarantee undying love. However

I think most men do enjoy having their women use perfume. You seem to be doing just fine with the one you are using. Don't change brands!

Q. "Ever since taking some pills which my doctor gave me for reducing, my hair has been falling out. Could this be the cause? I am only 26 and getting bald."

A. I do not imagine that anything your doctor gave you would have this effect. I suggest that you ask him about it. If this trouble continues and he cannot help you, see a skin specialist.

Q. "If a person goes to bed and gets eight hours sleep and then feels as tired when she awakens as if she had no sleep, is this emotional fatigue? Should one be rested from physical work after a good night's sleep? Please explain this because I am so tired in the morning."

A. A person should feel rested after a good night's sleep. If you awaken every morning feeling tired, there is something wrong and you should have a physical check-up. Your fatigue could come from such an emotional state as boredom. Perhaps, unconsciously, you do not want to get up and face the day.

Q. "Which do men prefer--fat knees or very skinny knees?"

A. Well, I do not know, but if the fat knees have dimples, perhaps they prefer those.

Q. "Not long ago you had some exercises for the face in the paper and you said always to apply cold cream before taking them. Why? I like to do them during spare moments, hardly ever have time at night, and can't use cream in the daytime."

A. I ask you to apply cream before taking the exercises because this lubricates the skin so that it does not chafe or line permanently because of facial gymnastics. Try to find time to do it this way.

Asia—Free World's Stake in the Future

Red China Casts Its Shadow on Southeast

Dr. Lin Yutang presents here the last of his reports on free China, based on a tour of our side of Red China's Bamboo Curtain. A summary and conclusions which challenge America to greater "Asia-mindedness" will appear tomorrow.

By LIN YUTANG
Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK—The shadow of Red China lies heavily across Southeast Asia, a cluster of quaint and contradictory nations, some old, mostly new, but the battle of minds may still be won for freedom.

At the heart of this area lies Bangkok. This is the capital of ancient Thailand.

It is also and rightly the headquarters for SEATO, for the defense of Southeast Asia, and ECAFE, for economic assistance by the United Nations.

Here, in the city of the Buddhas, monks clad in bright orange robes walk placidly along the canal, alms bowl in hand, shaven heads bowed in thought.

Every Siamese man, even the King, assumes for a time the orange robe and lives in the temple.

This is the past, and the omnipresent orange catches the traveler's eyes as do the many antiquities and objects of art.

WHAT LIES BELOW?

But what lies below? Nationalism, totalitarianism, propaganda and infiltration.

In Thailand as in all of this area—Viet Nam, Cambodia, Burma, Ceylon, Malaya, Singapore and Indonesia—the desire to modernize struggles with the drag of tradition. Totalitarianism wars with democracy.

The tug of ideologies is real and immediate. Red China concentrates here its campaign of infiltration, striving to enlist as its agents the large resident population of "overseas Chinese," who are in most cases the merchants and bankers.

These are the countries of the so-called Colombo Plan, which aims at a slow, methodical raising of the standard of living.

Aside from this there is a curious lack of ideas on how to meet the challenge of Marxist ideas to the minds of young Asian radicals.

I was astonished during my tour of free Asia to witness a gigantic demonstration for "Free China" and against communism by the overseas Chinese of Thailand.

With an orchestra and 2,000 government guests, they overflowed the Central Park which is dominated by a statue of the fifth King of Siam.

Chinese friends told me this was the biggest Chinese nationalist celebration in 10 years. They admitted that a year before they would not have dared shout "Down with Communism," which I heard everywhere.

What had happened? I have talked with responsible Chinese and American officials and a few Thai ministers and ex-premiers and one royal prince.

The picture is complex. The Siamese are a lovely, childlike people and many leaders are modern-minded, but their struggle to be a democracy sharply reminds me of that in many Latin American republics.

FAMILIAR SITUATION

It is easily a situation which resolves itself into government by a military junta, which has happened in Thailand and which has been repeated in Iraq, Pakistan, Sudan and elsewhere in Asia.

This is, I am afraid, a constant factor, forgotten by those who think too lightly of founding a western-style democracy and it must be borne in mind in any consideration of Asiatic policy.

The one clear fact is that these leaders are first of all nationalists and patriots, with varying degrees of capacity and facades of democracy.

If we get one leader with a keen social consciousness like Ataturk of Turkey, we are lucky.

I also believe Communist China and Russia are more hated and distrusted by the national leaders of Asia than we allow them credit for.

Some of these, like Egypt's Nasser, are playing Russia for what they can get.

All propaganda to the contrary.

RED-STRIPED AWNING marks Communist bookshop in Hong Kong, where all stores are flooded with cut-rate Communist merchandise of all kinds.

essentially the naked territorial ambitions and expansion of spheres of interest of the Russian Empire are taken by sober men for what they are.

Everywhere it is the youth who are taken in. Anywhere you see abnormal activity of student organizations like harmonica clubs, glee clubs, theatrical clubs, you can be almost sure that foreign agents are active in school circles.

What seems to have turned the tide in most of the countries of Southeast Asia is the commercial dumping policy, conceived by Nikita Khrushchev and carried out by Russia and Red China.

Khrushchev has threatened a commercial war with the capitalist countries. The first few shots at least, have misfired.

COUNT ON UNREST

By dumping is meant selling of goods below the world market price and below cost. Probably Khrushchev and Mao Tse-tung had counted on the economic unrest created by such large-scale dumping.

Any state capitalist country, which is Russia and which is Red China, can afford to sell below cost for political purposes.

Consequently, Chinese rice was dumped at approximately one-third less than Siamese rice, the latter's principal export, and it hurt Siam.

Russian tin was dumped on the world markets and it hurt Malaya.

In consequence, both Malaya and Singapore forced the Bank of China, the principal infiltration center of Red China, to close down, besides banning Red Chinese publications, following Thailand's example.

In retaliation, Red China is causing a great slump in rubber in Singapore and Malaya by buying rubber only from Indonesia and Ceylon.

The Indonesian government of Sukarno has been obliging enough to compel the over one million overseas Chinese in its territory to "register" at the Communist Chinese embassy.

From any angle, from rampant corruption and inefficiency to collaboration with the Communists, Sukarno's government easily is the worst in Asia.

Hong Kong, the British Crown colony, is secure for a few years, at least. It has bought that security by becoming Red China's most important prop for her foreign exchange.

GOOD BUSINESS

Of course, it is good business for Great Britain, but even better business for Red China, for the Communist exports exceed their imports by four to one and not all their imports are from Great Britain, the firms acting as middlemen.

Communist Chinese exports via Hong Kong, according to Hong Kong Government Gazette of Sept. 13, 1958, totaled $31.45 million Hong Kong dollars for the first eight months of the year. This would amount to about 180 to 190 million U. S. dollars a year.

The extent and the nature of the Communist dumping at Hong Kong are staggering. Shantung peanuts, Tientsin prawns, Yang-cheng-hu crabs.

And most incredible of all, the famous melons of Hami, across the Gobi desert, which few people in China ever tasted, are now sold in the ordinary markets of Hong Kong.

Hong Kong department stores overflow with Communist books, cotton goods, thermos bottles, sheets, towels, porcelain, all sold at cut prices.

Sewing machines are sold at one-fifth less than the price of Japanese machines and two-fifths less than that of American.

This is the commercial competition that Khrushchev promises.

State capitalists, not having to pay for labor and with complete ownership of the produced goods, can do us much harm in this line.

A big Japanese textile firm was hurt to the tune of one million U. S. dollars last year. Eventually only the concerted action of governments can prevent this kind of dumping.

Unless the Communists realize in time that trade war is a two-edged sword and begin to feel the cutting edge against their own necks.

MSU Treasury Almost Empty

Can Just Meet Feb. 26 Payroll but Will Need More Funds Soon

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Michigan State University's governing body got a bleak report yesterday on the condition of the University's treasury.

Controller Philip May told the State Board of Agriculture the school will just barely be able to make its Feb. 27 payroll of just under two million dollars.

But he said MSU will need more than its normal $2,100,000 payment in March to keep in operation.

The state is three months behind in its appropriations to both MSU and the University of Michigan because of the state's cash crisis. The schools borrowed for a while from banks but banks cut off further credit last month.

"We've been looking this ghost in the face ever since November," said Assistant MSU Treasurer Merrill Pierson.

Student fees collected in January already have been spent.

Asia—Free World's Stake in the Future

Red China Casts Its Shadow on Southeast

Dr. Lin Yutang presents here the essence of his reports on free China, based on a tour of our side of Red China's Bamboo Curtain. A summary and conclusions which challenge America to greater "Asia-mindedness" will appear tomorrow.

By LIN YUTANG
Written for NEA Service

NEW YORK—The shadow of Red China lies heavily across Southeast Asia, a cluster of quaint and contradictory nations, some old, mostly new, but the battle of minds may still be won for freedom.

At the heart of this area lies Bangkok. This is the capital of ancient Thailand.

It is also and rightly the headquarters for SEATO, for the defense of Southeast Asia, and ECAFE, for economic assistance by the United Nations.

Here, in the city of the Buddhas, monks clad in bright orange robes walk placidly along the canal, alms bowl in hand, shaven heads bowed in thought.

Every Siamese man, even the King, assumes for a time the orange robe and lives in the temple.

This is the past, and the omnipresent orange catches the traveler's eyes as do the many antiquities and objects of art.

WHAT LIES BELOW?
But what lies below? Nationalism, totalitarianism, propaganda and infiltration.

In Thailand as in all of this area—Viet Nam, Cambodia, Burma, Ceylon, Malaya, Singapore and Indonesia—the desire to modernize struggles with the drag of tradition. Totalitarianism wars with democracy.

The tug of ideologies is real and immediate. Red China concentrates here its campaign of infiltration, striving to enlist as its agents the large resident population of "overseas Chinese," who are in most cases the merchants and bankers.

These are the countries of the so-called Colombo Plan, which aims at a slow, methodical raising of the standard of living.

Aside from this there is a curious lack of ideas on how to meet the challenge of Marxist ideas to the minds of young Asian radicals.

I was astonished during my tour of free Asia to witness a gigantic demonstration for "Free China" and against communism by the overseas Chinese of Thailand.

Bob Considine Says:

Gastronomic Discrimination Is a Shame

NEW YORK—People... places... things... Anarchy has emerged from less-er indignities than one that has been heaped on my friend Benny Tosti. Don't know Benny Tosti, eh? Well, Benny's one of the pioneers who changed the East Forties of Manhattan into Steakville, U.S.A.

Benny's under orders to lay off the garlic in the salad. It says so in Benny's lease. It says, right there in black and white, that the neighbors object to the aroma of garlic and that if Benny gets gay with the heady stuff, out he goes like a burn.

Here's what happened to the 3,968 students locked out of Little Rock's four senior high schools by Gov. Faubus' decree: 2,873 transferred to other schools; 1,029 are attending the city's three largest private schools (all segregated); 405 are taking courses by mail; 1,100 enrolled in public schools in other parts of the state; 339 left the state; 825 are getting no formal education.

The campaign to make a fitting war memorial out of the sunken remains of the USS Arizona, resting on the mud of Pearl Harbor with hundreds of bodies entombed, is picking up momentum as a result of television shows featuring Jerry Lewis and Ralph Edwards. There is more than $200,000 now in hand.

It has come in fat checks from corporations and the tithing pennies from children's piggy banks. And from Jimmy Carden, an enlisted man first class, USN, who lives at Conlee Dam, Wash. Jimmy sent the money not to the commission in charge but to the old ship herself:

"I'm sending $1 to your memorial fund," Carden wrote as to an old friend. I was one of your crew—April 1917 to July 1920. Do you remember? Remember Brest, and President Wilson? England, and the fog and those kindly people? Smyrna, and the battle between the Turks and Greeks and those 300 women and children we took aboard, crying? "They will never understand the emotions of an old man, but I'll never forget you."

Capt. Eugene Guild, USA (ret.), head of Fighting Homeboys of Fighting Men, has written the remains of the USS Arizona, President as follows: "This is to confirm our telegrams to you dated Feb. 6 and 7 urging you to accept the Khruchev invitation and to go to the U.S.S.R. with the express purpose of visiting the places where the State Department reports some of our missing soldiers are being held.

More than 95 per cent of all the mail received by NBC in the wake of its month-long Image Russia radio series commended the network for its attempt to bring about a little clearer understanding of the Soviet Union.

The scripts of the show are being sought by several New York book publishers. There will be a long-playing album. Many universities, libraries, high schools and clubs have asked for the tapes.

Federal Agency Probes 3 Mid-Air Near Collisions

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency has launched an investigation into three near collisions between military and civilian craft this week.

Two of the incidents were reported Thursday. A total of 74 passengers were involved in all three.

Meanwhile, the Air Force called for "more reliable facilities" for all aircraft traffic control.

A Capital Airlines pilot reported Thursday his plane dived to avoid a B47 jet bomber 30 miles northeast of here.

On the same day an American Airlines plane reported narrowly missing a Navy trainer near Indianapolis.

Last Tuesday, Eastern Airlines reported one of its planes had to evade a B47 near Chattanooga, Tenn. Three of its 17 passengers were hospitalized.

Capital pilot Robert Spink said he was flying at 19,000 feet, under ground traffic guidance. The B47, commanded by Maj. George R. Erks, was on a training mission from Homestead Air Force Base, Fla.

The Air Force said the B47 was under visual flight rules and that civilian air controllers had been notified of the bombers in the Charlotte area.

Capital Airlines said its planes had been notified of the training maneuver.

Under air traffic regulations, planes flying under visual flight rule are responsible to be alert for planes under ground control.

Spink said some of the 34 passengers were shaken up when he plunged the airliner 600 feet to avoid the six-jet bomber.

Erks said his B47 was climbing as it passed within 300 feet of the airliner. Its communications were with a ground radar unit.

Twenty-three passengers were aboard the American Airlines plane, which executed a tight bank to avoid a Navy plane at 7,000 feet near Indianapolis, the airline pilot said.

In the Eastern airliner incident, the Miami-bound plane was

Orbit Schedule Computer Vital to Space Man

WASHINGTON (AP)—The future man in space may some day get an answer to the important question "Where am I?" from the computing system now cranking out orbit schedules for America's new weather satellite.

The answer will be vital. For a space voyager must know how high he is and how fast he is traveling in order to plan his return.

The prediction that the Vanguard computing center here will be able to provide the answer came today from Dr. Evelyn Boyd and Chester Raker, two of the mathematician programmers.

The new Vanguard continued to slice through space today, sending back weather information from its orbit.

Although the orbit of Vanguard II was not announced until a couple of hours after it was launched, Raker said today the center was sure of an orbit within 15 to 30 minutes after launching.

Immediately after the launching Tuesday at Cape Canaveral, Fla., a new computer at the launching site—fed by radar sightings—started pouring out predictions at the rate of 10 a second.

These forecast for Canaveral's range safety officer the place where the rocket would fall if its power failed.

Shirley MacLaine to Do 'Career' for Hal Wallis

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD—Out of the blue (after months and months of battlin') Hal Wallis gave Shirley MacLaine a whopping bonus check. This happy event did not take place until Shirley said she would co-star in "Career" with Dean Martin. But the redhead is so delighted that Hal can count on her to fulfill, without a grumble, the two remaining commitments she has with him.

Shirley looks like a new woman these days in her short (newly blonde) eggbeater haircut given her by stylist Nellis Anley for her role in the Wallis picture.

Here's something to look for—Edward G. Robinson Sr., and Eddie G. Robinson Jr., emote for the first time together on the Zane Grey Theater TV show, "Loyalty," beaming on April 2.

My advice... a relaxing night at the

It was Dick Powell's bright idea to unite the Sr. and Jr. Robinsons in one of his Zane Grey dramas. Can't remember when the cigar smoking Eddie Sr. has made a Western and he told me, "I can't either."

"Loyalty" is a good title for the joint appearance of the Robinsons. Eddie Sr. has been a most devoted father to young Ed.

You could say without a feeling of contradiction that Brigitte Bardot is going from one extreme to another, after all her semi-nude portrayals, she'll be seen as a French parachutist with the resistance movement in "Brigitte Goes to War," in full uniform throughout the picture, and is completely clothed.

Now her fans can make up their minds whether it's Brigitte's unorthodox costumes, or her tousled hair that they like about the little lady.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Flying in Saturday from Montreal is Steve Crane, who has been in Canada for months opening another Luau restaurant. He plans to marry Helen Redding Demaree very soon.

Good news. Audrey Hepburn walked into her dining room to have dinner with Mel Ferrer, and has been given permission by her doctor to fly back to Durango on the 28th, instead of a week later.

At the Villa Capri, Lindsay Crosby was with Molly Bee, one of the very nicest girls in this town. Same place, Gary Crosby was buying spaghetti for Rita Moreno. Anna Maria Alberghetti has received her engagement ring from Buddy Bregman, and she hasn't worn a glove since.

Wow! Ernie Borgnine looks like a juvenile! He came back from Australia 30 pounds lighter. Katy Jurado met him at the plane at 6:30 a.m., and he spent most of the day on the set of "One-Eyed Jacks" with her.

The singing McGuire sisters have something to sing about. They are in town filming commercials for a soft drink company, and for this they are being paid $250,000. They open at the Desert Inn in Las Vegas Feb. 24.

Jay Paley is better this morning than he has been in four years. Judy Garland did eight encores at the Fountainbleu in Miami. She sang "I Can't Give You Anything But Love" twice, and dedicated a song to Joe E. Lewis, who was planning in Miami and came to embrace our girl!

At Nelson Eddy's opening at the Coconut Grove Saturday night, RCA-Victor will present him with a gold record for "Indian Love Call."

West Now Uses Chinese Abacus

Hard Math Problems Figured Quickly Even by First Graders

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—A 20th Century version of the ancient Chinese abacus — perfected by a Milwaukee mathematics instructor — is the latest addition to teaching techniques in elementary arithmetic.

It may also go a long way toward proving that Rudyard Kipling was somewhere in left field when he predicted "East is East and West is West and never the twain shall meet."

With the device — known as the "Numeraid" — normally staggering problems don't even faze first-graders.

For instance, a nun at St. Sebastian's School in Ross Township, Pa., tells her first-grade wards:

"Children, multiply 1,547 by 2." In a matter of seconds, the answer choruses back from all corners of the classroom — "3,094."

"Just a routine problem," said Sister Judith.

The ancient computer is one of the first counting devices known to man. Its introduction into 15 classrooms here last September may take some of the grinding labor and headache out of "math."

The children enjoy it almost as much as the teachers. "Normally, first-graders learn to count and write up to 100 by the end of the first semester," Sister Judith points out.

Her present class already is working with figures in the thousands — with apparently little effort.

The 20th Century version of the abacus differs only slightly from its ancient predecessor. It is composed of five rows of differently colored discs, nine in a row.

The device is divided into two sections. The upper portion contains corresponding rows but with only two discs per row. These discs represent five times the value of each one in the lower section. Msgr. John B. McDowell, superintendent of parochial schools in the Pittsburgh diocese, said "Numeraid" was brought in "strictly on an experimental basis."

3-Way Trade Interests Tigers

Cleveland May Join A's, Detroit in Talent Swap

Bengals Like Maris and Doby; Denny Kuenn Offered to KC

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers said today there is a possibility of a three-way player deal that would involve the Kansas City Athletics and the Cleveland Indians.

Acting Gen. Mgr. Rick Ferrell said in a telephone interview with the Associated Press from the Tiger training base in Lakeland, Fla., that "a three-way deal is one of the things that interests us."

However, Ferrell said there is no truth to a published report that the Detroit club has offered outfielder Harvey Kuenn, pitcher Bill Hoft and third baseman Eddie Yost to Kansas City for outfielder Roger Maris and infielder Hector Lopez.

"Someone is just pulling names out of the hat," said Ferrell.

But he readily stated that Maris, a young left-handed slugger, is the player the Tigers would like most to get. He also would like to land Larry Doby from Cleveland.

Ferrell said Frank Lane, general manager of the Indians, has expressed interest in Hoft, who has been one of the Detroit club's major disappointments over the past two years. Since the Indians have Minnie Minoso, Jim Fierall and Rocky Colavito in line for the three outfield positions, Ferrell believes the Cleveland club would be anxious to part with the veteran Doby.

Asked about a possible straight deal with Kansas City, Ferrell said:

"We are not anxious to trade Kuenn, and we're not especially interested in Lopez, after all, we think we have a pretty good third baseman in Yost. We would like to get some long-ball help and a reserve infielder."

Ferrell indicated the Tigers are prepared to offer outfielder Charlie Maxwell in most any transaction.

MSU Host to Purdue Saturday

State Can Clinch Tie

By The Associated Press
Michigan State's bid for its first undisputed Big Ten basketball crown will get a big lift Saturday if the Spartans defeat the Hot Purdue Bollermakers.

The game in East Lansing tops a full round of conference action. Purdue, winner of five of its last six starts after a miserable beginning in the Big Ten race, is one of three teams rating a chance to catch MSU.

The Spartans, beaten by Purdue 85-81 Feb. 7, are 8-2 in the standings and lead the chase by two games with four yet to play. Purdue and Indiana share second place with 6-4 records and Michigan is fourth with 5-4.

Indiana is at Illinois (5-5) for a

Saturday afternoon date and Minnesota (4-5) is at Wisconsin (1-8) the same time for a regionally televised game. Wisconsin's only victory was over Purdue.

In other night attractions, Michigan is at Northwestern (4-6) and Ohio State (4-5) at Iowa (5-5).

MSU could clinch at least a tie for the title if it defeats Purdue and if Illinois downs Indiana and Northwestern takes Michigan. Illinois upset Indiana earlier on the Hoosiers' floor 89-83 and Northwestern did the same to Michigan 83-78.

In Purdue's victory over MSU two weeks ago, the Spartans' John Green fouled out in the last 10 minutes after accumulating 25 points and 18 rebounds. Green currently is the Big Ten's 6th leading scorer with a 20.2 average while his teammate, Bob Anderegg, is 11th with 18.8.

State to Get Speed Control

School Zone Limit Sign Can Be Reduced When Necessary

LANSING (AP) — A new special school zone speed limit sign has been developed and received the blessing of State Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie.

The sign will enable school officials to control speeds near schools. The sign uses an internally illuminated speed legend and flashers and can be turned on and off when children go to or leave school.

Mackie said the department has the responsibility of allowing at safe speeds without posting unrealistic speed zones in the area. But he added the department is obligated to provide special controls during designated hours.

"This sign will enable us to accomplish this objective in a most efficient manner," said Mackie.

The sign under consideration contains a red internally lighted speed legend plus yellow flashers above and below the speed indicator. Speeds lower than that regularly posted can be set, but the speed legend and flashers function only when turned on by school officials.

It was designed for use in school areas especially on state trunkline highways where the ordinary speed is much higher.

Expect Space Breakthrough on West Coast

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The West Coast's new missile base, now preparing its first satellite shot, may be the spot from which man will break through into outer space.

This possibility was advanced by a space scientist searching for ways to reach nature's escape hatches in the deadly radiation bands that encircle the earth.

"The radiation apparently is less intense above the north and south poles," the scientist, Dr. Manfred Elmer of California Institute of Technology's jet propulsion laboratory, said in an interview.

"If this is true, all we need is a site from which to launch toward one of the poles, and we already have that at Vandenberg," he said.

Vandenberg Air Force Base, 170 miles to the north, was chosen as the site for several Project Discoverer launchings this year because it can hurl satellites southward into polar orbit. No other known missile base can do this without endangering populated areas. Only the Pacific lies between the base and the South Pole.

Dearborn Marine Released by Italians

GENOA (AP) — Italian authorities have released U.S. Marine Sgt. Arthur P. Durkie, 23, Dearborn, Mich., after he spent 55 days in jail.

Durkie, a member of the Marine detachment on the LST (Land Ship, Tanks) York County with the Sixth Fleet, was arrested Jan. 27, 1958 and charged with causing serious injury to an Italian woman.

Italian police said the woman was hospitalized suffering from shock, loss of several teeth, and a skull fracture following a beating by Durkie.

She has since recovered. Durkie was turned over to U.S. authorities pending a decision by the Italian Justice Ministry whether he will be tried by Italian courts or by an American court martial.

He will return to his ship in the meantime.

'Do Not Push Any Buttons; Just Salute'

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The big recording machine looms impressively in the dispatch room of the local safety building.

It is treated with the respect due an electronic brain, as witness this roughly-penned sign one police officer taped to the top:

"Do not turn off any switch.
Do not turn tape by hand.
Do not breathe on machine.
Salute as you pass by."

Havana Casinos Lively Last Night

HAVANA (AP) — The action was lively at eight Havana casinos which were allowed to reopen Thursday night.

The tables in six luxury hotels and two nightclubs were given 30-day permits by Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime. The rebels closed down all gambling when they took over.

Casinos which catered to small-change players are to remain closed. Authorities say they don't want poorer Cubans losing their money gambling.

A map showing the proposed changes in Senate Districts may be examined at the City Clerk's Office, 1000 Woodward Ave., Feb. 20, 21, 22, 1959.

Wed 75 Years and Yet to Have First Argument

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Crafton celebrated their 75th wedding anniversary Thursday and almost had their first argument.

Crafton, 93, is a retired railroad man. Mrs. Crafton is 89.

A reporter asked, "Have you ever had an argument?"

"Nope," he said.
"Not even a little one?"
"Nope."
"Who is boss in the family?" the reporter asked.

"He is," she said.
"She is," he said.
With an argument looking them in the face, Crafton quickly smoothed it over.

"We both are," he said.
Peace returned.

Predicts Rockets Large as Ships

Chrysler Official Tells Engineers of Concepts for Space Travel

DETROIT (AP) — The space rockets of the future are going to resemble flying office buildings or ocean liners, a Chrysler Corp. official predicts.

B. J. Meldrum, an official of Chrysler's Missile Division, told the Society of Body Engineers last night that "We will witness the construction of larger and larger chemically fueled engines carrying propellants at higher and higher altitudes."

The huge engines should be able to put huge payloads weighing tens of tons into orbit, he said.

"The vehicles transporting these payloads," Meldrum said, "will be awe-inspiring indeed, dwarfing our present concepts and resembling ocean liners or office buildings lifting vertically into the heavens."

Meldrum also predicted man will go into space and return successfully "within our lifetime or perhaps even within this decade."

Admits Murdering Hoodooing Aunt, 60

LAUREL, Miss. (AP) — "My stomach boiled all the time. There were lizards in my stomach. I decided to put a stop to it," Jack Sanders, 31, said after he shot his aunt to death.

Sanders, a Negro, said his aunt, Susan Arrington, 60, had caused all his trouble by hoodooing him. The woman's body, a pistol wound near her heart and flowers in her hands, was found in a country lane, 14 miles north of here in Jasper County.

Sanders walked into the jail here Wednesday and told officers, "I shot a woman."

Sheriff W. P. Tally, who came here for Sanders, quoted Sanders as saying much of the hoodoo pain has left him since the shooting.

Tally said Sanders also blamed his aunt for hoodooing his mother, Elzenna Sanders, 52, who died this month.

A drydock that can handle ships up to 11,000 tons is expected to be completed in Havana by January 1960. It will cost $30,000,000.
