'64 Set Traffic Records: 47,800 Dead, $8.2 Billion Lost

CHICAGO (AP) — A record traffic accident toll of 47,800 lives and $8.2 billion in economic losses last year was reported by the National Safety Council today.

The council contended in its report that prevention techniques are being applied "in a half-hearted, haphazard manner" in too many areas.

The 1964 death total showed an increase of 10 per cent over the previous high of 43,564 recorded in 1963.

An estimated 1.7 million Americans suffered injuries that disabled them beyond the day of the accident.

"The tragic record for 1964 is a clear indication that we have failed to keep pace with the vast growth of our automobile population," Howard Pyle, council president, said in a statement.

"Fundamental prevention techniques are widely known, but in too many areas they are carried out in a half-hearted, haphazard manner.

"From 1954 to 1961 a limited application of these techniques contributed to a reduction of traffic fatalities from 9.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles to 5.2, a reduction of 47 per cent."

The council estimated that motor vehicle travel in 1964 totaled about 840 billion miles, a gain of 5 per cent from the previous year. The 1964 mileage death rate rose to 5.7 deaths for every 100 million miles of driving. The rate was 5.4 in 1963 and hit an all-time low of 5.2 in 1961.

The death toll for December was 4,940. It was the worst December on record. It marked the finish of a year when new monthly records were set every month.

Ferndale Father Held

Charge Murder in Area Fire

A Ferndale man was charged today with first degree murder in the deaths of his wife and six children who perished in a fire in their home on Jan. 25.

The accused, Harry M. Belcher, 32, was taken into custody shortly before noon and then arraigned on the charge in Ferndale Municipal Court.

The Ferndale Police Department requested the murder warrant and it was ordered today by Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson.

Belcher's wife, Catherine, 35, and their six children, all under 10 years of age, died as they huddled together in a second floor bedroom after flames on a stairway cut off their means of escape.

Belcher was hospitalized for the treatment of burns and cuts after the blaze.

During the fire, he was reported to have attempted to reenter the burning house to save his family.

The fire broke out at the home, located at 446 N. Hazelhurst, early in the morning and was first believed to have been caused by an overheated water heater flue.

★ ★ ★

Bronson said that all the evidence accumulated to date revealed that the fire was deliberately set and that a highly volatile liquid combustible material was used.

MATERIAL IN HOUSE

He said that, according to an arson report, there was a "carload" of this material present in the house.

"This terrible tragedy stunned the community and shocked the entire state. The evidence presented in this case cannot be dismissed," he said.

The prosecutor would not reveal any information on the evidence. "We cannot go into the facts at this time, but we do have the evidence," he said.

★ ★ ★

Bronson said that, after the fire, the Ferndale police began a routine investigation of the fire. Other agencies joined in the inquiry.

'NOT SATISFIED'

He said that Belcher had been questioned by police several times and that they "have not been satisfied with his answers."

Belcher was employed as manager of the pattern supply division of a Ferndale machinery and supply company.

Upon Belcher's request, the bodies of his wife, and six children, Dawn 9, Melody 8, Matthew 6, Timothy 5, Jeffrey 3, and Daniel 2, were cremated two days after the fire. No autopsies were performed, Bronson said.

Belcher was expected to be arraigned this afternoon in Ferndale Municipal Court.

TOWARD UNDERSTANDING — In observance of National Brotherhood Week (Feb. 7-13), a group of Catholic men from Knights of Columbus, Council No. 5436, Waterford Township, were given a display and explanation of venerable objects of worship in the philosophy of Judaism by Rabbi Israel Goodman at Temple B'nai Israel, last night. The visit was inspired by the new document on ecumenism recently proclaimed by the Vatican Council. Looking at a Holy Scroll, containing the five books of Moses, are (from left) Floyd Zielinski, Rev. LBJ Talks on Farms, Votes, Visits, Viets

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, with direct allusion to Negro efforts to register in Alabama, urged all Americans today to join with him in expressing concern over the loss of any citizen's right to vote.

In a hurriedly announced news conference, the President said it is essential to the freedom of the nation that voting rights are secured for all citizens.

"I intend to see that right is secured," he said.

Johnson's session with reporters was conducted before live radio and television at the White House. It was his first such preannounced news session since last July 24.

At the outset, Johnson read a statement on the farm message he sent to Congress today. He said it made clear the farmer and the agricultural community are still most important in the nation's life.

★ ★ ★

He emphasized, too, that the health of the farm segment of the national economy is important to all Americans.

FARM ORIGIN

"Depressions and recessions are usually farm-led and farm-fed," he said.

And, at another point, the President asserted that food today is our best bargain.

Continuing his volunteered remarks, the President urged that Congress leave him freedom to deal with the question of sales of surplus farm commodities to the United Arab Republic. The House voted a ban on such sales but the Senate yesterday passed a milder version.

★ ★ ★

"I judge it of the highest importance that the flexibility provided the President by the Senate version" will be accepted by the House, he said.

VITAL INTERESTS

"If we are to protect our vital interests in this part of the world then the President must have freedom of action to act in the best interests of all the people in this land."

On possible exchange of visits with Soviet leaders, Johnson said he had no additional information to offer other than what he said last night.—that he is very hopeful of visiting the Soviet Union this year.

He said discussions had taken place between Russians and Americans, but that no details will be made public until something more tangible is established.

Need Continuation of Price Supports—LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson called today for creation of a blue-ribbon commission to help put the nation's farm programs in tune with "the needs of tomorrow . . ."

Outlining at a news conference the agricultural message he is sending Congress today, the President also urged continuation of farm price and income support programs.

He said they are "necessary to prevent a catastrophic decline in our farm income."

Johnson said his message recognizes the great importance of the agricultural economy to that of the nation as a whole.

Despite this morning's low mercury reading of 1 below zero, there's a "heat wave" on its way to the Pontiac area!

A high of 18 to 25 is expected tomorrow with continued warmer weather predicted for Saturday.

But don't take off that extra sweater yet. Tonight still will be cold with a low of 2 to 9 above forecast.

Skies will be mostly fair tonight and tomorrow and partly cloudy Saturday.

As for the winds, they are westerly to southwesterly today at 10 to 20 miles an hour. They will become southwesterly at 8 to 15 miles tonight and tomorrow.

January Sales at GMTC Are Best Since '51

General Motors Truck and Coach Division today reported domestic retail deliveries of trucks and buses reached 9,271 units last month.

★ ★ ★

The total was highest for any January since 1951, said Calvin J. Werner, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division.

★ ★ ★

Last month's deliveries topped those of January 1964 by nearly 7 per cent, according to Werner.

De Gaulle Urges 5-Power U.N. Summit

PARIS (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle, indirectly striking out at U.S. efforts on several fronts, today urged revision of the U. N. Charter by a five-power conference, including Red China, to "save the peace of the world."

★ ★ ★

He tartly told the United States and Britain that German reunification "is a European affair." And he said there should be a new monetary system for world trade founded on something more than the dollar and pound sterling.

De Gaulle, speaking to a tightly packed semiannual news conference, said the five big powers with title to permanent seats in the U. N. Security Council should meet in Geneva to reexamine the U. N. Charter.

Washington officials threw cold water on the proposal while de Gaulle's conference was still going on.

★ ★ ★

After it had ended, President Johnson told a news conference in Washington the troubles afflicting the United Nations stemmed from the nations which have violated the charter, not from the charter itself.

AFTER STUDY

He said he would be glad to consider de Gaulle's proposal, but only after it had been studied.

De Gaulle's list of the five big powers included Red China — a view which clashes sharply with that of Washington where President Chiang Kai-shek's regime is considered the legal government of China and thus one of the five permanent members of the council.

De Gaulle said that the question of Germany, including that country's eventual reunification, is a European problem which can only be settled by Europeans.

★ ★ ★

In this context he again raised the ideal of a European settlement "from the Atlantic to the Urals" — a formula which excludes the United States and Britain but which includes the Soviet Union.

CONCERNS NEIGHBORS

Speaking of German reunification, de Gaulle said this is something which chiefly concerns Germany's neighbors.

"One will not solve this problem by a direct confrontation of ideologies but only by an understanding among the peoples who remain principally interested — that is, by the European peoples," he said.

"It is through Europeans that a solution can be found to a question which will always remain a European one."

Jenkins Not at Baker Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Jenkins, former top aide to President Johnson, failed to appear before the Senate Rules Committee today in response to a subpoena for questioning in its Bobby Baker probe.

Instead Jenkins' lawyer, Peyton Ford, and a psychiatrist who has been treating him, Dr. Leon Yochelson, went before a closed session of the committee and asked that the former White House aide be excused from testifying.

This information was relayed to newsmen by Sen. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa., who left the committee meeting while it was still going on.

Jenkins has been under medical and psychiatric care since he resigned his White House post at Johnson's request last October after disclosure he twice had been arrested on morals charges.

The committee has subpoenaed Jenkins for questioning about testimony that he pressured a local insurance agent, Don B. Reynolds, into buying $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin television station controlled by Johnson's family.

Reynolds told the committee he had no use for the television time, but bought it at Jenkins' request in 1957 after selling Johnson, then the Senate Democratic leader, the first of two $100,000 life insurance policies.

No Casualties as Aleutians Hit by Quake

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—An earthquake, almost as powerful as a deathly one here last March 27, shook and rattled Alaska's Aleutian Island chain last night and touched off fears of great tidal waves all around the Pacific.

But the powerful jolt at 12:06 a.m. (EST) was centered in an unpopulated area. No casualties were reported. There were no reports of major damage.

And expected damaging tidal waves, which sent thousands fleeing from coastal areas down the coast to California, in Hawaii and in Japan didn't materialize.

All alerts were called off by 7 a.m. (EST), after a series of swells fanned out around the ocean, and people returned to PUPILS ARRESTED — Negro pupils and civil rights workers march from the Dallas County Courthouse (building with clock) after their arrest yesterday in Selma, Ala. More than 300 persons were taken into custody and marched to an old armory. They were demonstrating as part of a mass voter registration drive. (See story, Page A-2).

200 More Negroes Jailed in Alabama Voter Drive

SELMA, Ala., (UPI) — Police jailed 200 additional Negroes in nearby Marion today when they refused to leave the sidewalks in front of the Perry County Courthouse.

The arrests brought to about 900 the total number taken into custody in Marion in two days. Nearly 2,800 persons have been arrested since integration leader Dr. Martin Luther King launched a Negro voter registration campaign two weeks ago.

Today's arrests came shortly after President Johnson said in Washington he would use court action and other tools of the 1964 Civil Rights Act to guarantee Negroes the right to vote.

The President made the comment when questioned about Selma's racial difficulties.

★ ★ ★

Selma was the first target in King's integration drive. The campaign spread to Marion yesterday.

MOST SEGREGATED

King said he selected this west Alabama area for his campaign because it is one of the most segregated regions in the nation.

The arrests started when Negroes began flocking to the Dallas County Courthouse in Selma in large numbers. Through the days, the number of arrests have grown in proportion to the size of the demonstrations.

President Johnson said he intends to see that "the right to vote is secured for all our citizens."

The Marion arrests followed a 90-minute mass meeting at the Zion Methodist Church across the street behind the courthouse.

Nearly 800 demonstrators were jailed Wednesday in Selma and Marion. The swelling numbers forced authorities to house prisoners at a state prison camp near here and a jail in Thomaston, Ala.

Negro students released from custody said Wednesday night they were kept in unheated and unlighted cells. Police denied this.

Farm Program Study Sought

would undertake a "fundamental examination" of U.S. agricultural policy.

The President said he also is recommending this action in the agricultural field:

- "I am taking steps to assure that benefits of federal programs are distributed fairly between the urban and rural areas."
- He is proposing new loans to aid in rural area housing development.
- He wants a land-use program to provide the best usage of the nation's farmlands at the lowest possible cost.
- The administration is seeking new markets abroad for agricultural products.

"Agriculture is one of our best dollar producers in the foreign market," he said.

Johnson said his message is for rural America—and also for all citizens, for they "benefit from our unparalleled harvest of plenty."

In urging continuation of price and income supports, Johnson said the programs, initiated 30 years ago in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, have helped create a commercially successful agriculture.

To Select Junior Miss

Pick Judges for Contest

Six judges have been named for the Michigan Junior Miss Contest which opens here today.

Selected to pick winners in the annual pageant were: Marion Goodale, headmistress of Kingswood School; William Merrill, dramatics director of Detroit's Masonic Temple and Elizabeth Eyres, director of admissions at Mercy College.

Also named were Richard St. John, Michigan Jaycee president; Mary Ellen Wilson, the 1962 Junior Miss; and Howard Heldenbrand, Pontiac Press feature writer.

A winner and two runners-up will be selected Saturday night to climax the three-day pageant.

★ ★ ★

The winner will represent the state at the America Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala., on March 19.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

The Saturday night phase of the pageant, which includes talent and evening gown judging, is open to the public.

Tickets will be available at the door at $1.50 each.

LBJ Talks to Newsmen

said he'd only seen a very brief press report on the conference.

AWAITS REPORT

"I would much prefer to await a full report on the exact statement before getting into a detailed discussion regarding the general's observations," he said.

"We believe that the problems of the U.N. are traceable not to the U.N. Charter but to those countries which have violated either the spirit or the letter of the charter." He added that he would be glad to consider de Gaulle's observation later.

Responding to a question, Johnson said that in the light of newspaper interest "I might have made a mistake" in not sending Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to represent the United States at the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

★ ★ ★

He said he had hoped to go himself if his physical condition permitted.

MADE CONTACTS

He said he had his staff contact former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower in hopes they could accompany him. Truman was unable to go. Eisenhower accepted the invitation.

He said he had personally called Chief Justice Earl Warren and asked if he would go with him.

"I felt that with the former president, the chief justice, the distinguished ambassador of this country, that we had a good delegation and a high ranking delegation," Johnson went on. "I had no particular reason for not asking the vice president to go, although the vice president was addressing the delegates of 50 states on his new responsibilities in the field of civil rights."

★ ★ ★

Johnson said he had served as vice president for three years and it had never occurred to him that it was the duty and the function of the vice president to be present at all official funerals. He said during those three years he had attended one or two official funerals.

OTHER DELEGATIONS

He said other nations had not sent delegates of higher standing than this country's.

Johnson was asked about the current Viet Nam situation. He said this country's position has not changed in its desire to help the Southeast Asia country.

"We have difficulties from day to day and sometimes they increase by the hours," he said.

Referring to McGeorge Bundy's present mission to South Viet Nam, Johnson said he was looking forward to a full exchange of views on the Viet Nam problem.

SERIOUS SITUATION

He said he recommended that Bundy go to Viet Nam rather than Ambassador Maxwell D. Taylor coming to the United States because of the seriousness of the present situation.

Bundy, he said, "no doubt will bring with him all the information that is available to our people," he said, promising to make publicly available as much as is in the national interest.

Johnson declined to speculate on the purposes of a Soviet delegation's visit to Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam. He said this country would have to await developments.

★ ★ ★

Asked about a possible conference between South and North Vietnamese, and what would happen if the United States were asked to leave, Johnson said he would not want to speculate on what happens in this situation or that situation.

VIET SETTLEMENT

He was asked if he was opposed to senatorial suggestions of a negotiated settlement in Viet Nam.

"My position is abundantly clear," Johnson said. "You will find from time to time that senators have differing viewpoints from time to time. And they will express them as I express mine."

On the question of closing 11 veterans hospitals and several soldiers' homes, Johnson said the closings had been recommended by the past and present veterans administrators and that he had given a good deal of consideration to the action.

Johnson said he had heard from the representatives of the hospitals involved. He said he recognized the economic hardships involved.

FIRST MISTAKE

Some of these hospitals, he said, should never have been set up in the first place because they could not attract the type of personnel needed to run them.

The veterans, he said, could get better, cheaper service in other hospitals.

He noted, though, that Congress may not agree with the decision to close the hospitals.

Asked about doctors' reports on his health, he said his blood pressure and throat are checked "practically every morning."

DOING WELL

"They think I'm doing very well."

But he said he doesn't feel as bouncy as he did before his recent illness.

On the Bobby Baker case: He said he would not care to make comments about a matter under investigation by a Senate committee and local grand juries.

"I have stated that I think this is the matter for the Senate to study, and, if any violation, for the committee, the grand juries and the Department of Justice to take appropriate action."

Blaze Strikes Empty Building

Pontiac firemen battled icy winds and near-zero temperatures this afternoon as they attempted to put out a blaze in the second story of a condemned building at East Wide Track and Judson.

The vacant building, which was used as a body repair shop until four months ago, is owned by Cy Owens of Waterford Township.

Owens said the building was not insured.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Marion said firemen were unable to determine at this time how the fire, which was contained in the second floor and roof portions of the building, broke out.

★ ★ ★

However, Owens reported to police this past weekend that he had noticed the remains of what appeared to be a small bonfire in the second story of the building.

Owens said he paid $65,000 for the building in 1954.

Circuit Judge Will Answer to High Court

Circuit Judge James S. Thorburn was to have appeared today before the Michigan State Supreme Court to answer charges brought against him by a Detroit attorney.

The attorney, Robert E. Sullivan, is seeking to have the high court nullify an $800 assessment brought against him by Thorburn.

Thorburn ordered the assessment when Sullivan did not appear in court to represent a client on Tuesday.

Sullivan in his complaint to the Supreme Court says that he was unable to be present in Oakland County since he had another case, involving a number of out-of-town witnesses, before the Wayne County Circuit Court the same day.

Sullivan said he informed Thorburn's office of the conflict and was told, "It's assigned —someone better be here."

ORDERED PAYMENT

Thorburn ordered that the $300 be paid to Sullivan's client and the other party in the case, and $200 be paid to the Oakland County Circuit Court.

The State Supreme Court gave Thorburn 24 hours to answer the charges after Sullivan filed his complaint yesterday.

their homes and coastal maritime activities were resumed.

★ ★ ★

The quake and tidal waves last March killed more than 100 persons in Alaska and spread devastation around the state. Many other Pacific shore areas were hard hit.

SMALL ISLAND

The Alaska Defense Command here reported last night's temblor was centered in the Amchitka area, a small island community out near the end of the Aleutian chain.

A command spokesman said airplane taxiways and masonry buildings at Shemya Island air station, about 100 miles west of Amchitka, were cracked.

Extent of damages at Shemya and Amchitka were not available, a military spokesman said. Other military installations in the Aleutians escaped damage, he reported.

★ ★ ★

United States and Japanese seismograph stations measured the quake at between 7.5 and eight on the Richter scale. The disastrous south central Alaska earthquake March 27 measured 8.4.

Northern Japan apparently got the brunt of today's tidal waves, but no damage was reported. Ferry service between Hokkaido and northern Honshu was halted and trains were stopped along the northeast coast of Honshu.

About 25,000 fled from shore areas when civil defense officials sounded the alert in Hawaii, where the warnings are taken seriously since 67 islanders were killed by a massive wave at Hilo Harbor five years ago.

Waikiki bars and nightclubs were closed and tourists were sent to higher floors in hotels. Others moved back from shore to high ground, some waiting in their automobiles.

★ ★ ★

But only a few gentle swells washed gently on island beaches and the alert was called off about three hours after it began.

In Crescent City, Calif., hard hit by the tidal wave spawned by the tidal wave quake last March evacuation of low lying areas was ordered.

★ ★ ★

In San Francisco, police cleared the beaches but there was no general evacuation.

Residents Vote Monday on Teachers' Pay Hike

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — An improved teachers' salary schedule — including general raises and a merit pay plan — will be offered to Bloomfield Hills School District voters Monday.

The schedule is incorporated in a request for a 3.3-mill tax hike which the board of education wants to levy for 15 years.

Monday's special election was set after the board had received the results of a five-month study by a committee composed of district residents, teachers, board members and administrators.

The Teachers' Salary Study Committee warned that the school system was risking the loss of some of its best teachers to other districts.

★ ★ ★

The recommended salary schedule is aimed at attracting career teachers and providing incentive pay for those who do superior work.

PAY PROPOSALS

Teachers could qualify for merit pay after three years in the system. If approved, they would receive an additional five per cent of their base pay for each step.

Although the proposed schedule would be put into effect during the next school year, the incentive provisions would be held until 1966-67 to allow time for a system of evaluation to be developed.

Administrators have estimated that 85 per cent of the district's teachers would qualify for merit pay.

The millage increase would be added to the current 18.83-mill levy for operations, part of a total levy of 24.51 mills.

"We feel this is fair because it only allows us to compete with some of the schools with which we're supposed to be competing — some of the better schools," Supt. Eugene Johnson said.

"Even with this increase, we'll have a lower millage rate than several districts in Oakland County," he said, listing Avondale, Berkley, Birmingham, Clarenceville, Farmington, Lamphere, Madison, Oak Park, Rochester and Waterford as having higher rates.

Yank Student Freed From Soviet Prison

MOSCOW (AP) — Peter Landermann, an American student jailed for the death of a Soviet in an auto accident, was released today after serving 16 months of a 3-year sentence, an American Embassy spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the presidium of the Supreme Soviet reviewed Landermann's case and decided to release him "on humanitarian grounds."

Test Mother as Kidney Donor

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — A Nigerian mother who traveled 7,000 miles to give her son one of her kidneys to save his life, underwent her first tests at University Hospital yesterday.

Mrs. Asabi Adedire was placed in a hospital room adjoining that of her son, Abraham, 26, whose own kidneys have been progressively failing since 1959.

He has been a patient at University Hospital since Nov. 17 and doctors said a kidney transplant from his mother is his only hope for life.

Following further tests, doctors will determine whether Mrs. Adedire is an acceptable donor. If she is, her son will begin chemical treatments to adjust his body chemistry to receive and accept the transplanted kidney.

State Treasury Report

LANSING (AP)—State treasury income during January was $164.2 million and outgo was $148.7 million. The treasury balance at the end of the month was $220.7 million.

Catgut is a cord made from the intestines of sheep and horses but not cats. After treatment, it becomes strong and is used for string musical instruments.

Aids in Jungle Combat

Army Lab Tries to Solve Little Viet Problems

(EDITOR'S NOTE — It's over 9,000 miles from Viet Nam's jungles to a red-brick building at Aberdeen, Md., proving ground, but the occupants of both are on the same team. In the building — the Army's Limited Warfare Laboratory — groups of men are trying to solve some of the problems encountered in the war against the Viet Cong.)

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — While politicians in nearby Washington ponder the big problem of Viet Nam, a band of soldiers and scientists here are tackling some of the little problems in that trouble spot.

For example: A U.S. helicopter skitters along the treetops, its fragile arms flailing the muggy air, its engine roar alerting rebels for miles around. As the chopper nears a clearing to land Vietnamese government troops, a Communist sniper perched in a tree along the line of flight opens fire. A shot strikes a vital engine part and the aircraft drops like a wounded bird.

Another helicopter makes it to the clearing. Seconds after the last government soldier hops out, he and his comrades, framed in the gunsights of waiting guerrillas from the moment of their descent, are killed or wounded.

Trying to solve problems such as those is the job of the Army's Limited Warfare Laboratory, a special unit set up at the Aberdeen proving ground in 1962.

DOZEN ITEMS

It has turned out more than a dozen items designed to give fighting men in Viet Nam and their American partners a longer lease on life.

Products run a wide range — a leech repellant, an eight-pound radio capable of transmitting a whisper 200 miles, a gadget that tells a helicopter pilot he is being shot at — and from where, a device to enable one aircraft to fire 288 smoke grenades in seconds and there raise a screen to conceal the descent of troops in other ships.

Among the seven soldiers and 89 civilians manning the laboratory are jungle combat veterans, electronics engineers, machinists, biologists.

One of the soldiers is Maj. David Hayes, a long-legged Kentuckian. Two helicopters were shot out from under him in Viet Nam.

'DON'T KNOW'

When you ask Hayes how many missions he flew during his tour of little more than a year in Viet Nam, he switches his steady blue eyes to the ceiling and looks perplexed.

"I honestly don't know, sir," he apologizes. "I only know it was over a thousand."

But his memory is sharp and his gaze is direct as he describes what it's like to help fight a war in a country like Viet Nam.

In trying to deal with guerrillas precisely trained in ambush and hit-and-run tactics, the jungle canopy becomes a special problem. At ground level in the jungle there is a 10- to 12-foot high mass of vines, bushes and tree trunks. Above that, rising 100 to 150 feet, are the tree trunks themselves. Then comes the canopy — a fantastic jumble of tree limbs and vines forand in many places leaving the jungle below in darkness at midday.

MERE WISPS

Smoke grenades dropped in such an area to mark the nesting place of a guerrilla band often are swallowed by the canopy, their smoke diffused into mere wisps and of no use as guides to assault aircraft. The Aberdeen response: a parachute attached to the grenade, enabling it to settle gently atop the canopy instead of plunging uselessly through it.

Some reports from the front told of trouble with grenades failing to operate after landing in water. The lab solution: waterwings, an inflatable plastic collar attached to the grenade. It makes the weapon look like a toy and, in fact, is made to Army specifications by a toy manufacturer.

Among items being developed or just completed to help cope with the ambush problem are a special siding material for trucks in guerrilla infested areas and an ambush detector.

Made of a type of wood and tile both common in Viet Nam, the siding is about four inches thick and in tests has stopped a 30-caliber bullet.

ESPECIALLY HOPEFUL

Col. Starling C. Holmes, commanding officer of the laboratory, is especially hopeful about the ambush detector, but refuses to discuss it in detail. He acknowleges only that it involved the immediate detection of a concealed human being.

Also under development at the laboratory and scheduled for jungle testing soon is a platform of metal-frame and mesh which could be dropped on the jungle canopy as a portable heliport.

This would enable helicopters to land in dense jungle instead of looking for a clearing in which to discharge troops.

Conceived primarily as a result of Viet Nam, the laboratory deals with problems fighting men might encounter from desert to frozen wastes. One project, for instance, is the development of a kit to trap water for desert fighters by collecting condensed vapor at night.

★ ★ ★

Holmes, 48, a native of Buskirk, N.Y., admits, however, the little problems of Viet Nam occupy the laboratory more than those from any other spot.

"That's where the immediate fighting is," he says, "so they're our biggest customer."

Labor Shortage Said Reason Millions of Dollars Worth of Florida Crops Are Rotting

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Millions of dollars worth of citrus, vegetables and sugar cane are turning to garbage under the Florida sun, and farm leaders say the cause is a labor shortage created by the federal government.

For 20 years, Florida's crops were harvested largely by labor imported from the British West Indies and the Bahamas. But this source was cut off last year when Congress refused to extend the act governing use of migrant farm workers from abroad.

The supply of Mexican laborers to California, where they long had been used to harvest fruit and vegetable crops, also was cut off. The California Department of Labor has launched a crash program to recruit domestic workers, but a department official said Wednesday "we're not getting them fast enough." Lemon and date growers say they stand to lose millions of dollars because of the labor shortage.

WAGE MINIMUMS

In an attempt to attract American farm workers, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz set minimum wage scales ranging from $1.15 to $1.40 an hour.

The $1.15 minimum set for Florida was 20 cents higher than the scale paid to foreign workers, but agricultural spokesmen says the plan isn't working because:

1. Industrious workers can earn more than $1.15 an hour under a long-standing piece rate system.

2. Domestic workers prefer less menial jobs and can get them for the same pay.

★ ★ ★

Florida's commissioner of agriculture, Doyle Conner, said Labor Department officials have not acquainted themselves with Florida's problem.

★ ★ ★

He said domestic workers offered free transportation to Florida by the government "get off the bus, look at the grove and head for Miami."

Herman F. Steele, assistant general manager of Florida Citrus Mutual, a grower organization, says "the inability of citrus growers to move fruit from their groves while in marketable condition is causing a loss estimated at $4 to $6 million based on on-tree values."

Proposed State Budget Shows Fiscal Integrity

In proposing a record $788.5-million state budget for the 1966 fiscal year, Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY cautioned against dissipating a predicted 1965 $104.8 million surplus in additional expenditures or unplanned, piecemeal tax reductions.

Although ROMNEY's budget calls for no new taxes, the treasury will be drawing on the envisioned surplus for $32.4 million to balance it, with the remaining $72.4 million called no more than enough to see the State through another year on its present tax program.

ROMNEY

Spending recommendations running $94.2 million higher than this year's $694.3 million total reflected recommendations for increased spending in the areas of education, mental health, conservation-recreation, public health, traffic safety and the state building program.

In setting anticipated revenues at $727.5 million, up $63.6 million over this year's budget, commendable conservatism was shown. The governor explained it was predicated on economists' prediction of a 4 to 4½ per cent gain in the economy for calendar 1965—strong, but below the current 8.8 per cent growth rate.

ROMNEY said his budget "attempts to reduce long-time deficiencies in meeting our responsibilities and is something more than a hold-the-line budget, one simply meeting our built-in expenditures." Despite the broadened concepts, it was still $180 million under requests submitted by state agencies.

★ ★ ★

He reiterated his advocacy of a $200,000 appropriation to implement a commission survey on Michigan's continuing financial requirements and policy, again emphasizing that it would be more than "just another tax study."

The budget reflects a high degree of objectivity and fiscal realism, and we commend Gov. ROMNEY and his staff on the result of their labors.

U. S. Retirement Plan Is 'Sound as a Dollar'

Periodically, the question is publicly raised as to just how strong is the country's Social Security system. Those already drawing benefits have felt apprehension that they might cease, and those now contributing against the time of retirement have wondered whether the financial security they are anticipating will indeed become reality.

All such doubts can be definitely and finally dismissed. Despite an occasional jab at the Social Security structure, usually politically motivated, it rests on a most solid fiscal base.

★ ★ ★

This month, S. S. rolls will top 20 million, with $1.4 billion flowing out to beneficiaries. Currently, Social Security is about on a pay-as-you-go basis, since monthly income approximately equals outgo.

But what would happen if an economic downturn pushed countless new retirees onto the system and slashed contributions?

There still would be no cause for concern.

Social Security is backed by two major funds — the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust Fund and the Disability Insurance Trust Fund. These funds now hold an enormous $22 billion in accumulated reserves and clearly warrant description as the "largest financial trusteeship in history."

★ ★ ★

Social Security trust money is invested in U. S. government securities paying interest of from 2½ to 4⅝ per cent. Although the interest earned — $600 million last year — constitutes but a fraction of Social Security's income, it more than covers the system's entire administration costs.

It has been charged that by investing Social Security funds in U.S. securities, the Treasury is simply issuing IOUs to itself and increasing the national debt.

Again, the critics rate an "E" for Error. The Social Security system is financially independent and self-supporting; benefits are paid not by the U.S. government but out of the contributions made by employers and employes.

★ ★ ★

Moreover, the fact that Social Security buys Treasury securities doesn't increase the national debt. If Social Security didn't buy them, other sources would. What increases the national debt is government spending in excess of income, resulting in borrowing by the Treasury.

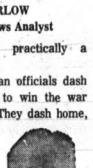
If you really want to worry about something, worry about that. Better yet, as a taxpayer and voter, DO something about it.

U.S. Aides Don't Halt Viet Chaos

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — It's practically a shuttle-service.

Year after year American officials dash to Viet Nam to see how to win the war against the Communists. They dash home, dash back. The war keeps falling apart.



MARLOW

Now President Johnson has sent another, this time his top White House adviser on foreign policy, McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean and adviser to President John F. Kennedy whose luck with Viet Nam was no better than Johnson's.

For years the United States has pumped aid into South Viet Nam —in the billions of dollars — for the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas directed by Communist North Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The United States has 23,000 military "advisers" in Viet Nam although it's hard to think of them as mere advisers when more than 360 of them have lost their lives and more than 1,550 have been wounded.

NO TRAINING IN DEMOCRACY

Although the Vietnamese have no training in democracy, the United States has insisted that a civilian government must run the country. But Vietnamese generals, acting more like warlords than generals, move in and take over.

Meanwhile, the guerrillas have taken over 60 per cent of South Viet Nam although most of the population is not in that 60 per cent area.

White House aides said Bundy is going to consult with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon, because the President didn't want to bring Taylor home at a time as slippery as this in Viet Nam.

★ ★ ★

The reason for the Bundy trip was what happened last Wednesday. The military threw out the civilian government.

MAN IN REVOLVING DOOR

This put Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh back in power. He had been in and out of power like a man in a revolving door since November 1963, when President Ngo Dinh Diem was ousted and assassinated.

Khanh didn't take over right away. But he soon did. Then he was thrown out last August after Buddhist agitation. A civilian government was installed.

Last December the military, supported by Khanh, bounced that government.

★ ★ ★

The United States protested. It wanted the military to fight the war, stay out of government. Ill will developed between Khanh and Taylor. Some semblance of civilian government was restored. Last Wednesday Khanh threw it out.

——And New Champion!

David Lawrence Says:

GOP Failing in Opposition Role

WASHINGTON — What's become of the "loyal opposition" in Congress to the party in power?

In Britain, the party out of power keeps up a constant barrage of analyses and criticisms so that the people can get both sides on current issues.

LAWRENCE

But since the election last November, the Republican party in Congress has been strangely silent or inarticulate.

There was, of course, little chance in the months of November and December for Republican members of Congress to get into the limelight, since Congress wasn't in session. But now that the members have had the privilege of speaking out at the new session which began nearly a month ago, it is surprising that so little has been said to enlighten the country on all phases of public questions.

Perhaps the biggest opportunity missed was in connection with the federal budget.

President Johnson was able to get away with the idea that by a mighty effort he had held the budget to less than $100 billion.

FRUGAL IMAGE

Throughout the country the impression has been conveyed that the administration is characterized by frugality. The real facts about the budget have not been widely publicized.

Republicans in Congress have wrestled with the problem of how a "loyal opposition" should be conducted, but they have come up with no solution.

The truth is the members themselves, as well as the leaders, are so involved with detailed work that, except in occasional conferences, there isn't time to deal with over-all policies and party strategy.

Suggestions have been made again and again that the opposition party should maintain a regular staff of specialists to study the various issues of public policy and to come up with thorough analyses and criticisms that can be presented day by day to the people.

Probably the only way to support such a project is to form a citizens' organization, which would be an adjunct of the Republican policy committees in Congress.

For it takes a lot of money to organize an opposition which can compete with the hundreds of specialists and staff workers who are paid out of taxpayers' funds in the U.S. Treasury but work for the party in power.

Perhaps the most pointed criticism on a major issue has come from a Democrat — Sen. Frank Lausche of Ohio. He is one of those conscientious members of Congress who says what he thinks irrespective of what its effect may be on his own party.

He declared in a speech about the Appalachia relief bill that very soon practically every part of the country will be petitioning for the same type of government subsidy. He said:

★

"The prospects are that there will be six new areas of the country which will come under the proposed program. I visualize that within two years there will be 'Appalachias' in every part of the country."

The issue is not new — it's the same old "pork barrel" problem which has been plaguing the U.S. Treasury for many decades.

But the Republican party has available a major issue on this point, and sooner or later will have to educate the average citizen on how the continuous deficits and excessive spending can weaken the purchasing power of the dollar.

Maybe the Republican party will eventually become a "loyal opposition," but there are little signs of it as yet.

The genius of our aeronautical engineers has borne such bountiful fruit that today's traveler can relax in easy chair comfort, dining on rare grub and grog, while hurtling through airless reaches seven miles above the earth at close to the speed of sound.

The temperature on the other side of his window may be 70 degrees below zero, but inside, inches away from those conditions, a man sits in cozy splendor and seldom deigns to look out and behold views which not even eagles could command.

The engines in a modern jetliner generate hundreds of times as much power as the most powerful locomotive ever built.

Despite outside temperature, the air inside the plane must be refrigerated down to a comfortable 70 or 75 degrees, for it comes off the plane's skin and engines at ten times that heat.

I've heard people complain about how the steak was done, or how the wine was chilled, while flying over American plains which had to be broken yard by yard and surmounted by forebears called upon to exert torrents of strength and fortitude.

I've heard others grumbling about this or that while being transported with angelic smoothness over angry oceans that claimed adventurers for centuries untold.

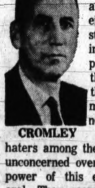
Until something better comes along, they'll just have to muddle through with 600-mile-an-hour speeds, movies, TV, symphonic music, freeloading, 35,000 feet instead of 70,000, and crews which can gently lift 150 or 200 tons of nuts and bolts and wires and fuel off the ground in one country and bring it down like a feather in another land.

In Washington:

Vietnamese Unmoved by Politics

By RAY CROMLEY

WASHINGTON (NEA) — The latest coup of Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh will disturb Americans a lot more than it does the Vietnamese.



CROMLEY

Word from Vietnamese friends in Saigon is that they aren't bothered either by the string of coups in the recent past or the thought that there may be more in the next two years.

Even Khanh-haters among them seem to be unconcerned over the return to power of this emotional general. They seem to think the coups may eventually lead to better government and that Khanh is a short-time problem, now that Americans are becoming disenchanted with him.

Ambassador Maxwell Taylor and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara's top advisers are convinced there must be a stable civilian national government in Saigon before the war can be won. They assert that every time there's a coup the resulting confusion sets back the war for months.

★ ★ ★

But a relatively high U.S. official, who has spent the last several years in the provinces, has sent me word that the past several coups "didn't cause us to lose a beat in the fighting." This man is in an area where the war has been heavy.

His words echo the comments of two Vietnamese cabinet officers interviewed in Saigon a few months back.

Both asked me in obvious puzzlement why Americans worry so much about the "stability" of the South Viet Nam government.

Said one: "We must keep trying one setup after another until we find the right one. This may take a long time."

The Taylor-McNamara-Rusk theory also holds a civilian government is essential now—in the middle of the war.

★ ★ ★

This theory stumps my Vietnamese friends, many of whom are willing to give their lives for the eventual creation of a civilian government.

One of these, a civilian who had been high in a civilian government until a military coup overthrew the administration he served, says privately:

"We might as well face the fact that whatever government we get for now—and I'd like it to be operated by civilians—the final veto power must be in the hands of a military group, or military strongman. Otherwise, the government can't last or have any power while it does live."

He and other Vietnamese explain that no group except the army has real power. A pure civilian government would have roots neither in the cities nor countryside. It would be at the mercy of parading demonstrators.

In a well-established democracy, the military will back civilian government against rioters and demonstrators, but this assumes a democratically indoctrinated military, a popularly elected government and a base of general support.

★ ★ ★

General elections are an impossibility with so much of South Viet Nam under Viet Cong control. The last few governments, civilian and military, were hand picked by one group or another. It is futile to expect them to have the loyal backing of all parts of the military.

The Vietnamese who seem to make the most sense are those who advise the United States to play things by ear, realize the Saigon government must go through a long series of convulsions and put more of our emphasis directly into the rural provinces.

Ideas for Upgrading Teaching Profession

If present educational attitudes prevail, the number of good teachers will decline rapidly. Public schools offer little to top college graduates. Many more would be attracted if they could support themselves without a second job, or a working wife; and even if salaries were higher, what about advancement? Today, advancement is often on seniority and not proficiency. In a few years or maybe months, a teacher's most valuable asset may be his union card. This is indeed a degrading path for a skilled person.

★ ★ ★

School boards could push for higher base salaries and promote merit panels. These would determine the salary and advancement with adjustments for hours of training beyond the bachelor's degree. The Michigan Education Association could upgrade the profession by pushing for bar examinations prior to permanent certification. Teaching is one of the few professions where there is no certifying examination. Tenure and absolute job security do little to enhance teaching quality.

★ ★ ★

More effort should be made to attract greater numbers of scholarly people. The merit panel, higher base salaries, and bar examinations would be a start.

Comment on Qualifications of Osteopaths

Mr. Connelly of Oxford asked for the qualifications of an osteopath. They have men in every specialized field, as well as general men, and they spend many years and much money in these fields. Their knowledge of the human body and how to keep it operative is overwhelming.

In our particular case, we have two children that were not expected to live at birth, but are now healthy and normal, ready for kindergarten in the fall. One of these was ill for the first three years of life but an osteopath specializing in Pediatrics discovered the cause and corrected it, which they tried but failed to do at one of the leading medical centers in this country.

★ ★ ★

If Mr. Connelly would visit any osteopathic office he could certainly find all of the legal qualifications he needs, but to me their qualifications speak for themselves.

State Senate Rules OK'd After Hour-Long Debate

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved its operating rules Wednesday after beating back a series of Republican-backed amendments during debate of more than one hour.

One new rule, which Republicans tried to have stricken, bans any camera, television or recording equipment from the Senate floor or gallery during any Senate session and for 30 minutes before or after the session.

★ ★ ★

The majority leader, majority floor leader or Senate Rules Committee chairman can grant exceptions to the ban.

Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, the minority floor leader, hoped to pick up bipartisan support on his amendment to limit power of the appropriations committee to alter bills already approved by other Senate committees.

BATTLE AT LENGTH

Senate Democrats had battled at length over the proposal, first brought up by rules committee chairman John Bowman, D-Roseville.

But Bowman said he had decided the mostly new appropriations committee should be given a chance to prove itself before being saddled with restrictions. Some Republicans joined Bowman, and Brown's amendment drew only nine votes.

★ ★ ★

The rules mostly paralleled those used last year except that the lieutenant governor can cast a tie-breaking vote on final passage of a bill.

In the House, freshmen representatives—the largest single block in the chamber—flexed their muscles for the first time.

DEBATED BILL

They debated a bill by freshmen Rep. H. James Starr, D-Lansing, to require that when a husband and wife die simultaneously, the wife's funeral expenses come out of her estate.

Debate lasted some 40 minutes until the measure was moved into position for a final vote today.

★ ★ ★

The 54 first-termers cheered a suggestion by one of the old-timers that "the freshmen (should) pass this bill." They are only two votes shy of the needed majority for passage of any bill.

Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, warned them against "going around with stars in your eyes" if they won the show of strength.

Lawmakers Ask State Recognition for Work of King

LANSING (AP)—Lawmakers today asked official state recognition for the work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Southern integration leader.

A resolution, sponsored by Rep. The resolution was referred to the House Policy Committee.

Falls Short on Schools ---Bartlett

LANSING (AP)—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn Bartlett found something wrong with virtually every education proposal in Gov. George Romney's 1965-66 budget Wednesday.

"It would appear," Bartlett said, "that the governor's program will do little to relieve local property tax of the growing burden it must carry in school support.

* * *

"In fact," he added, "because of increased costs of operation that have been estimated to be rising at the rate of 6 to 8 per cent per year, many local districts just to maintain the status quo will find it necessary to increase local support this coming year."

* * *

Preliminary figures, he said, showed that Romney proposed a $31.5 million increase for public elementary and higher education. Romney's budget claimed the increase to be $37 million, plus a $38.3 million hike in general fund grants to the school aid fund.

$91 MILLION

Bartlett pointed out that he had recommended an over-all increase of $91 million, describing it as necessary to maintain a minimal program.

This would be needed, he said, to "reverse the trend of more and more school support coming from local districts and less and less from the state level."

* * *

The $91 million also is required, he added, "to provide aid to hard-pressed school districts in their attempts to equalize educational opportunities."

Proposed State Budget Gets 1st Official Airing

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney's proposed record $788.5 million budget got its first official airing in the Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday, where the spotlight was on revenue estimates.

Budget Director Paul Wileden sat in for State Controller Glenn Allen in explaining the budget to the nine-member committee headed by Sen. Garland Lane, D-Flint.

* * *

The committee seemed most anxious to learn how conservative the administration had been in pegging 1965-66 revenues at $756.1 million.

* * *

The budget calls for using $32.4 million of the state surplus, estimated to be $104.8 million by June 30, to make up the difference between revenue and expenditures.

Lane asked if the revenue estimated reflected "the caution the governor has shown the last two years or is it a new change?"

* * *

Wileden said estimating methods were the same. By Romney's original revenue estimates for the current year, the surplus was supposed to drop. Instead, Romney said Tuesday, it apparently will gain by $47.7 million.

* * *

Wileden said the administration estimates a growth rate of 4 per cent for the coming five months of the current fiscal year the rate has been 8.8 per cent.

"We'll have a progressive upswing," he said, "but to a plateau...we have to recognize this is the longest economic upswing in the nation's history. Each day it becomes a more critical question as to how long it will last."

Lane asked if the state could be assured of receiving at least the $756.1 million in revenue.

Wileden first said "Yes." Then he explained, "We try to work with a central tendency figure. We're not at the top of the range of possibilities or the bottom. It could go 5 per cent either way."

Some Democrats have said Romney's revenue estimates for the remainder of the current fiscal year are low and the surplus should be closer to $110 million.

The committee is expected to begin item-by-item deliberations next week. Identicial appropriation bills were introduced Tuesday in the House and Senate shortly after Romney sent the legislature his budget message.

Could Touch Off Campus Storm

Ask College Projects Shelved

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney is asking three state universities to shelve three long-planned major projects for at least another year.

Tucked away in his detailed 1965-66 budget proposal are three mildly worded sentences that could touch off delayed-reaction explosions at the University of Michigan, Michigan State University and Michigan Technological University — and possibly others.

The virtually unprecedented recommendations involve MSU plans for a school of human medicine, U. of M. plans for expanding its junior and senior year program at Flint to a four-year school, and plans of Michigan Tech for four-year degree programs at its Sault Ste. Marie branch.

The recommendations are sure to be among the topics discussed at a meeting Friday between Romney and the Michigan Board of State College Presidents, "and where the shoe pinches, there will be complaints," an education official said.

The budget says:

—"No increased funds are specifically included for the proposed curriculum in human medicine (at MSU)."

"The recommendation does not contemplate enrollment of a freshman class at the Flint center (of the U. of M.), pending an over-all public policy review of institutional roles."

—"The recommendation does not contemplate the initial step toward the establishment of four-year programs at the Sault Ste. Marie branch (of Michigan Tech.)."

* * *

The three projects have been under consideration by all three schools. The MSU medical facility was scheduled to get under way last fall, but was delayed for one year.

A report by a committee of nationally recognized education experts last fall recommended against university branches until a coordinated program could be worked out.

SISTER ORGANIZATION

The committee was formed by the Michigan Coordinating Council for Public Higher Education—a sister organization to the council of presidents.

The restrictive language, which does not appear in House and Senate education appropriations bills, has no legal effect on the schools, "but, it probably will bring some sort of 'political' pressure on them," said a highly placed educational representative, who asked not to be identified.

* * *

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley struck down legislative language which would have required the universities to receive capital outlay funds through the State Controller's Office.

The legislature, which often has fought the constitutional autonomy of the state's large schools, "can express its views on the matter — and these schools must keep in mind the fact that they have to come back to the legislature in future years for their money," he said. All 10 tax-supported schools now enjoy constitutional autonomy.

Hawaii Senator Presents Bill on Fixed Calendar

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Hiram Fong, R-Hawaii, has introduced legislation calling for the adoption of a "perpetual calendar" for the United States in which days of the year would always come on the same day of the week.

"Regularity and fixity are demanded in all other international standards," said Fong. "Why not fixity and regularity in the calendar?"

* * *

The calendar would include two days not assigned to any week or month. New Year's Day would fall between Dec. 31 and Jan. 1. Leap year day would come every four years between June 31 and July 1. Fong said the calendar would also do away with Friday the 13ths.

Ophthalmologist Killed

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Dr. Luther Clifton Brawner, 49, of Richmond, Va., ophthalmologist who was a pioneer in corneal transplants, was killed Wednesday when his single-engine plane crashed.

Number of Farmers Dwindles, but Work of U.S. Agriculture Department Increases

WASHINGTON (NEA) — "If farmers were buffalos or whooping cranes, conservationists would no doubt be screaming that they were in danger of becoming extinct."

That only slightly facetious comment by an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture points up a statistical projection that is used by critics of big government as a stick with which to beat the department. The argument goes this way:

In 1940 there was one USDA employe for every 142 farmers. Today the ratio has dropped to one for every 70 farmers. At this rate, there will be one bureaucrat for every farmer by 1990.

There are two reasons for the decreasing ratio. First is the decline in the number of farms and farmers.

Second is the steady increase until 1964 of USDA employes to handle new programs legislated by Congress.

EMPLOYMENT DOWN

Last year department employment was down to 93,000 from 95,700 in 1963.

In 1940, 11 million farmers worked 6.5 million farms. Today, some 6.3 million farmers work only 3.5 million spreads.

A technological revolution — sophisticated fertilizers, large machines and new transportation innovations — has made it almost impossible for the marginal producer to compete successfully with established operations.

* * *

An agricultural economist puts it bluntly:

"If you're a kid in Brooklyn who wants to grow up to be a farmer, you'd better have an uncle named Rockefeller."

CHANGED ORIENTATION

As the number of farmers has ebbed, USDA has gradually changed its orientation.

In 1964, only one dollar out of every three spent by the department went into programs where farmers were the primary beneficiaries.

The other two dollars were spent to aid the general public and business.

* * *

Much of this money went for programs which even the most farsighted soothsayer of 1940 could not have predicted. Some of them:

FOOD STAMPS

• Food Stamp Program. Beginning with a pilot project in May 1961, this program swung into high gear following enactment of the Food Stamp Act in August 1964. It works this way:

Needy people, judged eligible by local authorities, pay cash for food stamps equivalent to their normal food budget, then get bonus stamps to increase their buying power.

A Pennsylvania miner trying to support a family of 11 on $68 a week now buys $87 worth of stamps every two weeks and gets a bonus of $28 worth.

* * *

His family now eats three pounds of meat a week instead of one pound.

EXTRA MEAL TICKET

By next June, a million Americans will be receiving this extra meal ticket in 41 states and the District of Columbia.

• School Lunch Program. During the current year, the Agriculture Department will donate $193 million in cash, plus additional millions of dollars' worth of surplus food, to the nation's schools.

One of every three school children will participate in this program. USDA gives the cash and food to states, which in turn donate them to schools. USDA also works out menus.

* * *

• Senior Citizens' Housing. In 1962, Congress authorized USDA's Farmers Home Administration (FHA) to make loans to rural people over 62 for the purpose of buying or building a home.

LOANS FOR HOMES

Since then, FHA has loaned or insured $493 million to 76,000 families, not all of them farmers. Many could not have gotten credit from regular sources.

• Rural Pure Water. Some 37 families living near Somerville, Tex., faced the familiar rural problem of dry wells. In the summer women had to ration water for baths and washing clothes.

They applied for an FHA loan. When it was granted, they could afford a pipeline from a distant lake. Today they have all the water they need.

* * *

Last year, $35 million was loaned by FHA to 320 rural drydocked districts, helping over 200,000 people.

CONSUMER RESEARCH

• Consumer-oriented research. USDA conducts extensive regulatory, research and information programs for consumer protection — ranging from regulation of pesticides by food growers to research aimed at removing radioactive strontium and iodine from milk.

But most research is to find new and better uses for agricultural commodities. USDA releases its findings under public patent, available to industry at no expense.

New developments include: fire-retardent paint that develops a thick, nonflammable insulating barrier when exposed to flame, shrink-proof sweaters, stretch cotton, a risk-free specific test to determine human allergies and new methods to preserve frozen foods between processing plant and the kitchen table.

LWV Feeds Legislators

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan League of Women Voters invited state legislators to lunch Wednesday and asked them to pass tax reform and county home rule legislation.

"We'll be watching you from the balcony," the league president, Mrs. Thomas Snelham of 759 Lake Park, Birmingham, told the legislators.

The league claims some 4,000 members throughout the state. About 250 of them were at the luncheon, along with some 100 legislators.

Mrs. Snelham said the league has agreed that any tax reform should include a state income tax. The league has worked since 1940, she said for tax reform "based on the ability to pay."

ALL COUNTIES

The league contends any county home rule law should apply to all counties, not only those with large populations.

Sukarno Wouldn't Easily Take Over Malaysian Borneo

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS — AP SPECIAL REPORT

LABUANN, Malaysian Borneo (AP) — Borneo is a huge cup of an island, bigger than Texas.

Indonesia occupies the main part, the center and south. Atop this, like a broad layer of whipped cream floating on chocolate, lies part of Malaysia, the federation which Indonesia's President Sukarno has vowed to crush.

But Malaysian Borneo promises to be no pile of whipped cream if Sukarno tries to move in.

Thousands of British, Gurkha and Malaysian soldiers, sailors and airmen are guarding the frontier that splits Borneo.

PATROL JUNGLE

Soldiers patrolling the jungle always have a finger on the trigger, always ready for an Indonesian infiltrator. British commandos who patrol the maze of creeks and rivers in the east cover every mangrove root with a machine gun as they pass in assault boats.

The Malaysians in the thriving towns of eastern Malaysia appear to think the danger of war is remote. Life is normal, except for the presence of troops. A 13-story office block is going up in one place, an 11-story hotel in another, and new apartment blocks.

* * *

Boreon of 1965 is not a land of wild men, head hunters, barebosomed women.

The towns are small, 10,000 to 20,000, but even so there are parking problems. Markets are packed with food, and buyers.

WESTERN CLOTHES

The women wear Western clothes with high-heel shoes, or long skirts and blouses, or slacks, or the pajama-type outfit common in the East. The men usually wear long trousers and open shirts.

Out in the jungle villages, the favorite dress material is a discarded parachute from a supply drop. Children are nearly always dressed in uniform as they go to school. Mostly they speak two words of English — "Hello" and "Goodby."

An English soldier griped:

"Why should I be shot at when everything is just normal for the Malaysians?"

But their feeling does not appear general among the 10,000-plus soldiers who are here.

Troops in the field are confident they can handle any Indonesians who cross the border but they know some of the "confronting" Indonesians are crack units with American-trained, and a few British-trained, officers.

If Indonesia does step up incursions by small groups, or makes a major attack, it most likely will be at the eastern or western ends of the frontier, or both. At extremities of the 970-mile border, Kuching in the west and Tawau in the east, there are good airstrips, military establishments, and potential friends for Sukarno's men.

* * *

There is awareness here of the internal danger from:

—The Clandestine Communist Organization, now outlawed. Its members or former members around in several areas, especially near Kuching, and south of Brunei in the center of the coast.

19,500 INDONESIANS

—The 19,500 Indonesian men, women and children in the Tawau area in the east. They went there five years and more ago as immigrant workers. On the face of it they don't want to revolt, but what if Indonesian soldiers threatened the defenses?

* * *

—The rebels who revolted against British control of Brunei in 1963. About 1,500 were arrested at the time, have since been released, and they are still around.

* * *

Maj. Gen. Walter C. Walker, 52, British jungle soldier, is director of Borneo Operations, with control of land, sea and air forces.

"An Idonesian group would only have to move 15 miles from the western border toward Kuching and they would be right among the Communist organization," Walker says.

SHELTERED

"They would be sheltered, hidden and fed.

* * *

"Every Chinese house in these areas of Communist strength seems to have its loft stacked with a year's supply of rice. You ask why they have so much, and they say they remember the 1963 flood."

* * *

The government has called in firearms owned by nonnatives, a move aimed primarily at Chinese who could be members of the Communist organization.

The internal danger is lessened while the security forces are able to keep infiltrating Indonesian groups from meeting up with their potential friends on this side of the border. This underlines the importance of the constant jungle patrols in the border area.

FULL-SCALE WAR

Walker seems convinced that Sukarno doesn't want a full-scale war, but he says:

"I have sufficient men to deal with the immediate threat. If these were to prove insufficient, there are additional reinforcements in the Far East that could come here at the drop of a hat."

Britain, which used to run northern Borneo, is backing Malaysian defenses.

TROUBLE SPOT — Map locates Indonesia, Malaysia and an area of potential serious trouble between the two countries, northern Borneo (lined area), a part of Malaysia. British and native troops now guard the border of Malaysian Borneo from Indonesian infiltrators.

Carefully Picked Pupils Aid Spokane's Antismoking Campaign

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—The public school system of Spokane, a leader in an antismoking campaign among students, has brought into the battle a powerful new weapon — the pupils themselves.

The "Don't Smoke" theme is not new here. A strong antismoking program began four years ago, before the U.S. surgeon general reported cigarette smoking is a health hazard and contributes to lung cancer and other diseases. The tobacco industry contends no conclusive evidence has been presented to show a relation between smoking and cancer.

★ ★ ★

Until recently, teachers and school officials bore nearly all responsibility for warning pupils against smoking.

Surmising that pupils are more persuasive than teachers when dealing with other pupils, school officials enlisted the aid of some of the city's outstanding high school and junior high school pupils.

PLAN DISCUSSIONS

After citywide planning meetings, these youths will return to their schools and present skits, panel discussions and assembly programs, attempting to convince fellow pupils that smoking endangers their health.

The posters and pamphlets provided these missionary pupils are potent weapons, but the most persuasive weapon they have is the example they themselves set.

★ ★ ★

For that reason, they were chosen carefully. The list is made up of high school seniors and ninth-graders.

Dale Robertson, the Shadle Park High School pupil who recently won a mile race in San Francisco against some of the nation's best high school middle distance runners, is one of the leaders.

TOP STUDENTS

Another youth won outstanding recognition for a science exhibit he built. Another, Mark Pearson, was chosen to a national publication's all-star prep football team. One girl is one of Washington State's best prep gymnasts.

Several rank as scholastic leaders at their schools.

★ ★ ★

Dr. George I. Werner, chairman of smoking health instruction in the school district, said there are strong indications the program is accomplishing its principal job.

Approximately 20,000 pupils will be exposed to the program in Spokane, with the presentations extending back even into the upper elementary grades, Werner said.

TEACHING AID

Teaching aids, including closed-circuit television, will be employed. Most of the programs will be kept, as much as possible, in a light vein.

A pamphlet for parents is being prepared. It summarizes the government report on smoking, points out that a good example is the best weapon, and that parents should be honest with their children on the subject. It cautions that the child must be allowed to make his own decision, or rebellion is almost certain.

★ ★ ★

Perhaps the most convincing, if a little gruesome, teaching aid is a display of two specimens of human lung tissue — one healthy, the other the cancerous lung.

Werner toured Europe during the summer gathering information for his crusade. He returned to report the same school problems exist abroad.

FIRM CONCLUSION

He also brought back the firm conclusion that the Spokane program is the outstanding such effort either in the United States or abroad.

Shipping Talks Move Slowly

East and Gulf Coast Strike in 25th Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiations moved slowly in the costly and crippling East and Gulf Coast longshoremen's strike, which entered its 25th day today.

Holding up settlement of the strike are unsolved agreements between dockers and shipping officials in Philadelphia, Galveston, Tex., Miami, Fla., and Hampton Roads, Va.

★ ★ ★

The International Longshoremen's Association has refused to send any of its men back to work, even where new contracts have been settled, until total agreement is reached.

President Johnson had asked ILA officials in New York City, where an agreement was reached, to reopen that port, but the union has not done so.

A DEFERMENT

George E. Reedy, White House press secretary, said the President felt the union's reply was a deferment rather than a rejection of his request.

A federal mediator in Philadelphia, where James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, is attending the talks, said that a settlement in this Delaware River port city had no connection with any of the other negotiations.

★ ★ ★

Federal Mediator John R. Murray said "all are going on separately and many have different problems. All are keys to eventual total settlement. Every agreement helps the next one."

Murray and Reynolds announced a recess in talks between ILA Local 1292 and the Philadelphia Marine Trade Association last midnight and plans to resume discussions today.

MAJOR OBSTACLE

The major obstacle to agreement in Philadelphia, according to ILA Vice President James T. Moock, is the union's demand for a 1,600-hour annual work guarantee. Ship owners reportedly want to guarantee only 1,300 hours.

The U.S. Maritime Administration reports the strike, which has idled 60,000 longshoremen, has set the national economy back well over a billion dollars.

★ ★ ★

In New Orleans, officials of the City Dock Board and Board of Trade called for compulsory arbitration and asked Sen. Russell Long and Rep. Hale Boggs, Democratic whips in the Senate and House, to introduce "urgent and immediate measures" to end the strike.

A Junior Editors Quiz About FIGURE HEADS

QUESTION: Why did the old sailing ships carry figureheads?

ANSWER: To the old time sailing men, their ships were so important that they seemed almost alive. The beginning of ship decorating and figureheads seems to have been in Egypt or India.

At first an eye was painted on the bow, the simple seafarers of that day feeling the ship would be better able to spy out a safe course.

The Greeks and Romans also followed this custom (1) and elaborated on it by placing statues in parts of the ship.

It is thought that the habit of displaying a female figure may have come from the Greek Athenians, using a statue of the goddess Athena on the bows of their ships.

The famous "Winged Victory" set up on land to celebrate a naval victory (2) shows how a figure can symbolize the forward movement of the ship.

In Renaissance days, ships were covered with carving to bear witness to the wealth and power of the nations to which they belonged. A beautiful figure was thought to bring good luck to the ship, and so individual ship owners came to include a figure or bust, even if they couldn't afford other carvings.

To many old time seamen, to ship on a vessel without a figure head would have been unthinkable.

FOR YOU TO DO: To bring out the beauty of the large figurehead in the picture, color the sea blue and the clouds behind orange, with the bowsprit and metal work brown. Leave the figurehead itself pure white, which will give an almost supernatural effect.

Pressure Building to Oust Aging AFL-CIO Officials

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pressure is building up in high AFL-CIO circles to remove five aging members of the policy-making executive council and replace them with younger men.

If carried out, this would be the most sweeping change in the 29-man ruling body of the big labor federation since its foundation in 1957.

But maneuvering for the seats on the prestigious executive council may cause President George Meany to delay action to avoid a disruptive fight.

"George Meany is inclined not to do what the newspapers predict," said an AFL-CIO spokesman.

Indications are the matter will come to a head at the executive council meeting in Miami Beach beginning Feb. 22.

Four of the council members reported under pressure to resign are retired presidents of their unions. The fifth will step down in March.

* * *

Since there is no assurance they would be replaced on the council by the new presidents of their unions, they may be reluctant to step down and give other unions their voice on the council.

* * *

Meany, 70, is reported reluctant to force resignations of his long-time associates.

FIVE MEMBERS

The five council members involved are:

Harry C. Bates, 82, president emeritus of the Bricklayers, Masons and Plasterers' International Union.

William C. Birthright, 77, president emeritus of the Journeymen Barbers, Hairdressers, Cosmetologists and Proprietors' International Union.

William L. McFetridge, 71, president emeritus of the Building Service Employes' International Union.

Emil Rieve, 72, president emeritus of the Textile Workers Union of America.

Lawrence M. Raftery, who retires in March as president of the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paperhangers of America. He will be 70 during the Miami Beach council meeting.

DECISION COMING

While the AFL-CIO spokesman said there is no indication of a mass resignation by the five, a spokesman for the Bricklayers' union said: "It will all be decided this month in Miami."

A three-man committee of the council would recommend to Meany replacements of retired members.

* * *

The only ground rules for choosing new members are that they be presidents of their unions and that replacements of former AFL or CIO officials be chosen from the same bodies. There are now 19 members from AFL unions and 10 from CIO unions.

The last vacancy was in 1963 and it set off a quarrel between Meany and President Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers Union.

MEANY PREVAILED

Meany prevailed when the council voted unanimously, with five abstentions, to seat his choice, John J. Grogan, president of the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers.

Reuther had wanted Ralph Helstein, president of the United Packinghouse Workers.

'64 Donations by Ford

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. donated more than $1 million worth of automotive equipment to educational institutions in 1964 to assist in technical training courses, according to Allen W. Merrill, Ford vice president for civic and government affairs.

Plans Sunday Liquor Sale Fight

DETROIT (AP)—"Any army of Christians and right-thinking citizens" will march on Lansing to oppose Sunday liquor sales in Detroit, organizers of the project promised today.

The Rev. Ray Shoulders, a Baptist minister, said 1,627 pledges of manpower and financial support have already been received. The goal, he said, is an automobile caravan carrying 10,000 persons.

* * *

Officials have predicted some form of a law permitting Sunday drinking in Detroit will be passed by the legislature this year.

"I think it's time we should take our position as citizens and not let the politicians make all the laws," the Rev. Mr. Shoulders said. "This is the opening wedge, Sunday liquor. Next will be proposed legalizing prostitution."

8 Killed in Korea Crash

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — Eight persons were killed and 23 injured today when a bus plunged into a reservoir near Susan, 50 miles southwest of here, national police reported. The accident was blamed on brake failure.

Driver Injured in Collision

An early morning accident today at Telegraph and 13 Mile Road in Southfield Township sent a Birmingham man to the hospital.

John F. Clemons, 45, of 948 Chapin, was reported to be under observation in the emergency section of William Beaumont Hospital.

Clemons was the driver of a car which collided with a semi-truck being driven by Robert Morgan of Youngstown, Ohio.

The truck driver was not injured.

11 Die, 29 Are Injured in Thailand Accident

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—Eleven people died in a truck accident Tuesday while on their way to celebrate Chinese New Year in Pichit Province north of Bangkok, reports here said today.

Twenty-nine other passengers in the truck were seriously injured when the vehicle collided with another truck and smashed into a tree. The reports said 10 of the dead were run over by the second truck.

Air Force Probe Over—'Cancer of Cheaters Is Eliminated'

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Air Force Academy officials say they have ended the two-week investigation of classroom cheating which resulted in the resignations of 105 cadets for violating the academy honor code.

The officials, in statements Wednesday, defended the honor system and praised the more than 2,400 cadets cleared of any complicity in the theft or use of stolen examination questions.

Maj. Gen. Robert S. Warren, academy superintendent, blamed the scandal, largest in the history of U.S. service schools, on a "cancer of 105 cadets who chose to live outside the honor system." Credit should be given to cadets who "had the guts to stand up and support their honor system," he said.

Among the cadets who resigned were 40 athletes, including 29 football players. Warren said 20 would have been candidates for this year's varsity. It normally numbers 45 to 50.

Ninety cadets resigned in a 1951 investigation of honor code violations at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, including 43 football players.

Questions of whether academic and extracurricular demands on cadets are excessive, and whether the code is too rigid, remain to be answered by a special committee headed by Gen. Thomas D. White, former Air Force chief of staff.

Parents of some of the cadets who resigned have questioned the code.

Warren said only cadets involved in the theft, sale or illegal use of examination questions were asked to resign. He said "other than honorable" discharges would be recommended for those who stole or sold examination papers, and honorable discharges for those who only used the material. The academy has refused to identify any of the cadets.

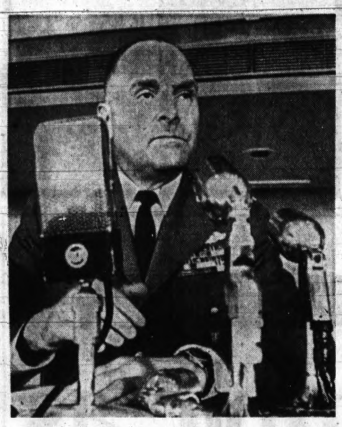
Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert of the Air Force will personally review each case before final disposition.

Warren said the scandal wasn't related to the athletic program. He said entrance requirements for athletes are the same as for others.

The superintendent said he believes the honor code should be retained.

CODE SPECIFIC

The code specifies that "we will not lie, cheat or steal or tolerate among us those who do."



AP Photofax

SAYS PROBLEM OVER—The superintendent of the U.S. Air Force Academy, Maj. Gen. Robert H. Warren, told a press conference yesterday that the panel investigating the scandal of stolen examination papers has completed its work. He said 105 cadets, "only those involved in the theft, sale or use" of the papers were asked to resign.

THIS FEBRUARY EVENT BEGAN LAST NOVEMBER

But you're just in time... It's just that we started planning and working last November, December and January to bring you the many special purchases you will find during the month of February at Highland... It's a fact... our buyers traveled the nation, they searched, found and bought... not just ordinary buys at ordinary dealer prices — but very special purchases, manufacturer's clearances, distributor's close-outs, factory surpluses, we bought by the carload, by the truckload — we bought at great savings to be sold at even greater savings. We specified delivery in February to give our stores a chance to clear their decks... everything is ready — our stores are stocked, you will find many new items — everything is top-brand, top-quality. And all these special purchases are tagged at even less than Highland's traditionally low prices. Come in today — you'll be just in time for the event that started three months ago!

June in February for Planners

Mrs. R. Jamison Williams, Bloomfield Village (left) and Mrs. William T. Gossett, Bloomfield Hills, admire the clever centerpiece at the luncheon of the Meadow Brook Ball committee Wednesday. Little pipe cleaner figures represented Oakland University graduates that proceeds from the dance have helped with scholarships.

The weather on Wednesday was not conducive to dancing in a rose garden.

But the members of the annual Meadow Brook Ball committee held their first of two meetings to plan this June's benefit dance. They met for luncheon at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club.

Mrs. William T. Gossett and Mrs. R. Jamison Williams are cochairmen of the ball which raises money for scholarships at Oakland University.

LARGE AMOUNT

Last year, over $30,000 was given to needy students.

This year, Mrs. Jamison announced, the dance on June 12 will be in a new section of Meadow Brook Hall gardens that has not previously been open to the public.

* * *

In case of bad weather, there is room inside Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson's mansion for the 1,500 invited guests.

New members of this year's committee include Mrs. Harold W. E. Burrows, Mrs. William Chapman II, Mrs. Edward N. Cole, Mrs. Richard D. Darragh, Mrs. Harold G. Warner, Mrs. Wesslau G. Wright and Mrs. Henry C. Johnson.

Area Women Attended 'Capitol Day'

Mrs. Robert Ankeny, Mrs. Robert Matheson and Mrs. C. George Widdifield of the Pontiac branch of the League of Women Voters attended the annual "Capitol Day" sponsored by the Michigan League of Women Voters, Wednesday in Lansing.

* * *

James Brooks, United Press International; Robert Popa, Detroit News; Thomas Shawver, Detroit Free Press; and William Kellsea, Booth Newspapers, Inc., discussed the perspective of the 1965 Michigan Legislature at the morning session.

Lawmakers whose district is represented by the league members, were guests at the noon luncheon.

* * *

A visit to the House of Representatives and Senate followed.

* * *

State president, Mrs. Thomas Snelham of Birmingham, interpreted the league's program at the local, state and national level for members of the legislature.

Mrs. Jones Is Chairman

Area Will Have Opera Lectures

MRS. ERNEST A. JONES

Mrs. Ernest A. Jones is chairman of the Birmingham-Bloomfield committee of the Detroit Grand Opera Association.

She and her committees are busy planning the appearances of Overture to Opera IV and the adult courses that precede the Metropolitan's productions in May.

On Feb. 24 all committees will meet at Mrs. Jones' home for luncheon.

Cochairmen with Mrs. Jones are Mrs. Robert C. Fisher and Mrs. Harry O. Hoyt Jr.

ADULT LECTURES

Mrs. Charles Himelhoch heads committees on the adult education series at Cranbrook and the "Opera in the Country" party at Bloomfield Open Hunt Club.

Others working with planning groups are Mrs. Benjamin Brewster, Mrs. Ralph M. Fox, Mrs. Kenneth C. Cunningham Jr. and Mrs. LeRoy Dahlberg.

Registrations for the opera courses at Cranbrook which begin March 3 may be made with Mrs. Brewster. This is a series of eight evenings.

Money 'Thing' Upsets Wife but Husband Is Just Prudent

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a "thing" about money. He's not stingy or anything like that. In fact, he is very generous, but this is what I mean.

ABBY

He likes to play gin rummy, but if he doesn't keep the score he goes over the figures to make sure there are no mistakes. When we dine out, he never pays the check without going over it very carefully. He always counts his change no matter how long the line is.

Abby, he is not a poor man. In fact, he owns his own business. He's a self-made man who started with nothing and has worked hard for what he has, and he's done very well.

But it is embarrassing to have a husband who gives the impression that everyone is out to cheat him.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I admire your husband. No honest person resents having his figures checked. He welcomes it. And anyone who pays a bill without going over it, is foolish.

"Change-counters" are appreciated in every reliable place of business. (The cashier doesn't enjoy staying late to figure out why she's 30 cents short.) Don't be embarrassed.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a newcomer in town. I recently met a rather attractive, middle-aged single woman briefly at a party.

We exchanged a few words and I got the feeling that she liked me. (A man can usually tell those things.)

Yesterday she telephoned me at my office and invited me to what I am sure will be a very elegant party, and I accepted with pleasure.

After I hung up I realized that she made no mention of my wife. I'm not sure she knows I am married.

Would it be improper of me simply to bring my wife? Or should I call her and ask if my wife is welcome? What if she thought I was unmarried and expected me to be her escort?

She is one of the leading socialites in town and I wouldn't want to do the wrong thing.

IN A QUANDARY

* * *

DEAR IN: Call the woman and ask if the invitation includes your wife, suggesting that perhaps she did not know you were married.

If she is a lady, she'll include your Mrs. — but don't count on it.

I have a hunch she knew you were married when she invited you — alone.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: It so happens that I dislike mashed potatoes so, when I am served mashed potatoes, I always mix them with something else so I can get them down.

Is this considered bad manners?

A very educated lady who thinks she is better than anyone else recently said to me, when she saw me mixing my mashed potatoes with stewed tomatoes and peas (which I also mashed), "Will you kindly refrain from mixing up your food that way — it is positively nauseating!"

I am awaiting your opinion of (a) my table manners . . . (b) her rudeness. Sincerely,

BURNING IN SALT LAKE CITY

DEAR BURNING: If you'll just skip the mashed potatoes, you won't invite rudeness (or nausea) in others.

* *

DEAR ABBY: I recently read in your column a letter from a woman blaming the shoe industry for making shoes that are ruining the women's feet.

If women don't know enough to buy shoes that fit, it isn't the shoe manufacturers' fault.

They make shoes in every size and style.

As for the pointed - toed shoes of today, if women would buy the right size, they wouldn't have any trouble.

NANCY LUE MACDUFF

June vows are planned by Nancy Lue Macduff, daughter of the H. G. Macduffs of Orchard Lake, and Floyd Walter Bunt Jr., son of the F. W. Bunts, Cranbrook School, Bloomfield Hills. She is an alumna of Eastern Michigan University where her fiance is a junior.

Candy Dish Is Subject Discussed

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Several of my friends always keep a dish filled with candy on their coffee tables.

The question has arisen as to whether or not it is proper for a visitor to help herself to a piece or must she wait until she is asked to do so by the hostess.

Would it make a difference if the candy dish had a cover on it?

A: If the dish has a cover on it, a visitor should not remove it and help herself to a piece of candy unless asked to do so by the hostess.

If the dish has no cover, she may help herself to a piece of candy but even then she should, as she reaches for it, look toward the hostess and ask, "May I?"

THE ENVELOPE

Q: When sending a card of sympathy to a friend who has lost her mother, should it be addressed to her alone or to Mr. and Mrs.?

A: A letter or card of sympathy is sent to the one most closely bereaved.

However, if you know them both equally well, you may address it to Mr. and Mrs.

* *

Details concerning the announcement of an engagement are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Announcing the Engagement."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care of The Pontiac Press.

Advice Given to Study Club by Speakers

Members of the Parliamentary Study Club gathered in the Masonic Temple, Lawrence Street, Wednesday, to hear Mrs. William Dorris, leader, explain "Don'ts for Officers."

Also included in her speech were "Don'ts for Members" and "Voting on Amendments and By-Laws to Constitutions."

Mrs. Irvin Weiss spoke to the group on "How not to be Popular at Meetings."

* * *

Mrs. Forbes Hascall is February sponsor, and her demonstration officers include: Mrs. A. C. Constans, Mrs. Weiss, Mrs. J. Louis Barribeau, Mrs. John Gemmell, and Mrs. William Gilbert.

* * *

Mrs. Garvin named Mrs. Ervin Christie, Mrs. Clifford Mossey, and Mrs. R. E. Springer to the arrangement committee for the annual spring luncheon to be held at Pine Knob on March 17.

Zeta Unit Heard Two Speakers

The Zeta Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met in the Motorway home of Mrs. Dennis Lowes on Tuesday. Mrs. W. J. Yates was cohostess.

Mrs. Jack Barker presented a program on art, and Mrs. John Ward talked on "self estimate."

A new member added in January was Mrs. Ted Cawdrey.

Plans were made for the chapter's "Night Out at the Theater," in March.

Also on the agenda was the card party to be held March 24 at the CAI Building. Tickets will be available from sorority members.

Plan Founders Day

Favors for the spring Founders Day banquet were completed at a meeting of Xi Gamma Alpha chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority, Wednesday.

Mrs. Richard Paschke opened her home on Union Lake Road for the workshop.

Dating a Part of Widow's Future

(Third of Four Articles.)

By MRS. DONN SUTTON
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

For the mature woman there is a certain etiquette in dating.

When a gentleman takes a lady out frequently it is only fitting and gracious that she entertain him in her home in return, or invite him to accompany her to the home of friends whom he may enjoy.

Many widowed women had led very full, active social lives with their husbands. It is important that these contacts continue.

It is going to take quite a bit of tact and skill to handle this part of your life gracefully.

PLAN SETTING

What is your setting? Is your house or apartment orderly, fresh, and sparkling; comfortable, softly lighted, furnished tastefully with pleasing colors?

Is it a sanctuary for you and a place where you wish to entertain your men and women friends?

It is important that your home complement you and is a gracious spot to bring friends. This does not mean that it need be lavish or expensive.

But please, no chairs in need of recovering or a sofa with sagging springs, or poorly hanging draperies.

Mary had lived in the suburb of a large city ever since her marriage. She and her husband enjoyed their red brick colonial house and big lawn.

Over the years they picked up some fine antique furniture and beautiful oriental rugs.

They enjoyed entertaining their friends and their children's friends in this gracious house, which they had furnished with such pleasure during his lifetime.

Now that he was gone, Mary realized that she would have to change her way of living drastically.

Luckily the two boys were out of college and working.

She, too, had to find a position. She had always had a flair for dressmaking and liked fine fabrics and design.

USED TALENT

Wishing to make the most of this talent, she went into the city to interview the owner of a ladies' specialty shop.

Here her enthusiasm and zeal were so infectious that she was engaged as a saleswoman in the gown salon.

Wishing to be near her work and not being able to maintain her house, she sold it and moved into an apartment.

It was located on an elm-shaded street that had once had fine old mansions, many of which had been converted into apartments.

Her two-room, ground floor apartment had high ceilings, fireplaces, a small but adequate kitchen. French doors off the living room led to a terrace where she had flower boxes spilling over with petunias.

This was a perfect setting for her antiques, her lovely old rugs, her fine china and silver—and for Mary, too.

She had a housewarming as soon as she was settled and invited her friends from the suburbs and the few she knew, if only ever so slightly, from the city.

This party launched her on an active social life.

MANY DATES

Because of her friendliness and charm she has many men friends who take her out.

She has found to her astonishment that a variety of men are attractive to her for a variety of reasons.

One man may be a divine dancer, another a delightful and interesting conversationalist who entertains at small dinner parties in his home where the food is superb, conversation sparkling, guests interesting.

She is home at 11 o'clock after a stimulating evening. She has to have adequate rest to be fresh at her work.

When she entertains at home she plans small dinner parties that can be prepared ahead of time so that she does not need to be in the kitchen for long intervals.

She puts the cocktail ingredients out so that her guests can serve themselves after being given the first cocktail.

ATMOSPHERE

She always has candlelight and wine, which adds an aura to her simple, well - cooked dinners.

Mary always has her wardrobe in order and ready to go, for she never knows when an occasion may come up and she wishes to be ready.

Her life is not as predictable as it was when she was married.

She believes that she should not miss any opportunity to go out with friends for an enjoyable time.

She is determined not to feel sorry for herself, and she feels that she owes it to her friends to enjoy their company.

Consequently her enthusiasm, gayety and friendliness make these occasions memorable to the persons with whom she spends them.

* * *

Mary has always placed great value on friendship. Now that she is alone, each and every one of her friends is even more precious.

Because she is attractive and a widow, she receives many admiring glances and much attention from men, especially the married men who give her more of a rush than the elusive bachelors and widowers.

SHUNS HUSBANDS

The quickest way to lose her women friends, she knows, would be flirt or pay attention to their husbands.

She sweetly but firmly declines any invitations from them, preferring to be with unattached men. A lone woman is so very vulnerable.

NEXT: Does Travel Help?

Opti-Mrs. Met Tuesday

A valentine motif greeted members of the Opti-Mrs. club Tuesday evening at a meeting in the home of Mrs. Robert Bradley of Sylvan Lake.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. Faustin Dobski and Mrs. Leroy Hartman.

George Caronis of the Youth Assistance Bureau talked on "Youth In A Troubled World."

Guests included Mrs. Herbert Cooley, Mrs. Hartman, and Mrs. John Hirlinger.

St. Dunstan's Rehearses

"Big Fish, Little Fish," a lively comedy by Hugh Wheeler which tells of a melancholy copyreader in a publishing house who is hog-tied by his devotion to his seedy and demanding friends will be St. Dunstan's next show.

The dates for the show are Feb. 12, 13, 18, 19 and 20. Curtain time is 9 p.m.

The Feb. 18 show is a benefit performance sponsored by Kappa Alpha Theta alumnae with proceeds going to the Girl's Ranch — Camp Oakland.

Leads in the production will be played by Weston Meyer, Mrs. Earl Weston, and Fran Loud.

Other St. Dunstan players in the cast include Richard Guilford, Margaret Guilford, Edgar Guest III, and Frank Winders.

Jason Robards Jr., Hume Cronyn and Elizabeth Wilson starred in the leads when the show opened on Broadway in 1961.

* * *

"Big Fish, Little Fish" will be directed by John Coppin, assisted by Muriel Loving.

Co-producers are Mrs. Don Witmeyer and Mrs. Mogens Klopp.

Opening night, Friday, Feb. 12 will be St. Dunstan's traditional red carpet-blacktie opening since "Big Fish, Little Fish" is the first show in the recently renovated and redecorated playhouse.

The theater was damaged in an early morning fire last fall.

John Coppin, Bloomfield Hills (right) is directing the play, "Big Fish, Little Fish" for St. Dunstan's Guild. Weston Meyer, Birmingham, and Mrs. Earl Weston, Forman Drive, play lead parts. Opening night is Feb. 12.

No human life, however seemingly full, is ever complete in this world. But there is a vast difference between a life which is unfinished because it has not reached its end, and a life which is unfinished because it is left at loose ends.—Ralph W. Sockman.

Why Grow Old?

by Josephine Lowman

Skin care is always important, but it is even more so for the woman who is losing weight. As those pounds drop off from the face and the hips and abdomen, the skin has to shrink to meet its new proportions. Give it some help with extra lubrication.

It is extremely important to use a body lotion daily and to treat your face and neck to a good lubricating cream at least once a day and give it time to soak in.

* * *

Pat an eye cream about your eyes before going to sleep. Cream your face and leave the cream on while you do your housework.

This is the beginning of the fourth week for those of you who began the Beauty Improvement Plan when it first started.

* * *

Most of you wish to lose weight and streamline your figure, but you should also think of this as a general improvement program. During this eight-week period give your skin and hair special attention.

* * *

The loss of extra pounds, the well-balanced diet and the exercise will improve your complexion and your hair; but be more faithful about skin cleansing and lubrication and about scalp massage than ever before.

CLEANSING CREAM

If you have dry skin I recommend that you use a cleansing cream rather than soap, at least for this period of weight reduction. If your complexion is very oily, wash your face and neck with soap and water several times daily.

* * *

Use an astringent if your skin is oily, but not if it is dry.

Massage your scalp in the following manner. Spread the fingers on the scalp. Keep the fingers in place as you rotate the hands. Keep changing the position of the hands until the entire scalp has been covered.

Do this once each day for the rest of the eight weeks.

Continue counting calories and doing the exercises for the waistline, the abdomen and the hips which I have given you. You should be doing each at least 20 times if you have been using BIP for two or three weeks.

If your upper arms are flabby, do the exercise I have already given you for that. If your bust is the right size or on the small side, it is a fine idea to take exercises to increase the bust measurement while you lose weight. Do this one:

* * *

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from the shoulders, palms toward the ceiling. Take a weight in each hand (books will do).

Raise the arms upward with stiff elbows until the hands come close together. Slowly lower arms to the floor. Continue.

* * *

It is even better if you can lie on a bench and let your arms hang down toward the floor and then raise and lower them.

If any of you missed my Eight-Week Beauty Improvement Plan and would like to join, send 25 cents, plus 15 cents for postage and handling and your printed name and address for my BIP kit.

* * *

It gives you all the necessary information, has a calorie chart, illustrated exercises and a unique weight chart on which you can see your beauty line rise as your weight line drops. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Steam Does "Ring" Job

A little steam from boiling water in a kettle will remove a "ring" on fabric after a spot has been treated with a cleaning fluid. If a sweater begins to look "tired" after consistent wear, make it a point to shake it well after taking it off — then park it flat on an open shelf, rather than stuffing it in a drawer.

There isn't a suit or jacket that wouldn't look better, and keep looking better longer, if men would only learn not to stuff their hands into the pockets!

LINDA JEAN MORRIS

May vows are planned by Linda Jean Morris, daughter of the Walter H. Morrises of Rochester, and David Milton Scruggs, son of Mrs. William R. Scruggs of Ann Arbor and the late Mr. Scruggs. She holds a B.S. degree in nursing from University of Michigan.

Clothes Care Is Essential

Clothes do not muss as much from wear as from humidity, regardless of the season. Give your suit a good shake, to readjust the fibers and shed wrinkles, when you take it off . . . Liquor stains on washable apparel should be soaked in cold water; then washed in hot soapy water.

Soup stains on shirts — that seem to be the most prevalent of mealtime spots — will come out if first rubbed with a dry cake of soap, then washed thoroughly.

Art Foam on Hanger

For a pretty clothes closet in your guest room, cover wire hangers with different colors of art foam to match the decor of the room.

In fact, you may want to cover them in every closet in the house.

It prevents garments from sliding off hangers and also prevents clothing from being damaged from rust that might occur on the wire hanger.

The largest source of income for the federal government is the individual income tax. Corporate taxes rank second as a revenue source.

Straws Go Soft

The pale straws move ahead in the millinery world.

For spring, watch for smooth, sheer straws done in apricot, coral and salmon tones, pale to medium yellows, touches of turquoise, and an abundance of neutrals in beige and taupe.

Cheeks are fashion money in the bank this spring. So Miss Aris takes a miniature houndstooth imprinted in sharp black and white on nylon and translates it into a fashion short glove. Destined to make the hands that wear them a definite asset to chic, these are gloves to add up to a total look of smartness. Wear them with a suit or coat now and for plus fashion value, let them go onward into warm weather with many a summer outfit.

The craze for reptile continues into spring. So in a genuine cobra pattern imprinted on nylon are these snappy shorties. In a true "skin shading" of black and white, these are gloves to add a dashing note of pattern to the flat surfaced fabrics of the new suits and coats. An elastic closing at the palm hugs them close to the wrist.

Texture tells the story of spring in smart gloving. Shown are handsome nylon shorties, their textured mien an unusual slub reminiscent of raw silk. A crisp white accent note to the season's costumes, these "Sil-Straw" beauties are charming also in a bevy of such fresh garden colors as ice blue, pink ice, and yellow lily as well as a whole family of pale beiges. Elasticized at the inner wrist, they snug the hand neatly.

Florida Is Home for Ruddens

At home in Hialeah, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Rudden Jr. (Patricia A. Mottor) who were wed recently in the Crossroads Presbyterian Church, Walled Lake.

A church reception followed the double - ring candlelight ceremony performed by Rev. J. Albert McCrory.

White peau de soie with Chantilly lace skirt and jacket fashioned a chapel-length gown for the daughter of the Clyde A. Morrows of Walled Lake. She carried white roses.

Mrs. John Liefbroer of Kalamazoo was her sister's matron of honor.

Susan Mottor and Jeffery Callahan were flower girl and ring bearer.

The bridegroom, son of Mrs. Anna Jones of Hialeah and the late Joseph T. Rudden had the bride's brother Clyde for best man. Seating the guests were John Liefbroer with Ronald Hovey of Walled Lake.

Prospective Nurses Can Get Information

Up-to-date information describing opportunities and education in the field of nursing is the subject of two recently published brochures.

"Guide for Counselors — Nursing as a Career" and a directory of state approved schools of nursing in Michigan have been distributed to high schools and placed in public libraries.

Increasing numbers of young people are seeking admission to schools that prepare the registered nurse, yet many find they lack the required high school prerequisites, according to the League's President, Gertrude Nathe, Director of the Mercy Central School of Nursing in Grand Rapids.

In announcing the new publications and information services of the League, Miss Nathe explained, "We feel that nursing may be losing many fine candidates. Some of these young people might have qualified, had they taken the proper courses in high school and demonstrated ability to master higher education courses, particularly in the sciences and communications skills.

"Some might have qualified for a different type of nursing education program, had they been counseled in that direction.

HAS FOUR PARTS

"Nursing education is not just one program, it's four, in different educational settings and requiring different degrees of academic ability, depending on responsibilities for which each prepares its graduates.

"We want to clarify this for counselors so they can guide nursing candidates in selection of high school courses and a school or college of nursing best suited to their career goals and qualifications."

Content of the Counselors Guide follows suggestions from counselors who are members of the League.

Facts about nursing needs, employment opportunities, working conditions and salaries are indexed for quick reference, as are sections on high school courses that nursing candidates should take and distinctions between nursing education in universities or senior colleges, hospital schools, junior colleges and practical nursing programs.

COSTS

Other sections cover costs and sources of scholarships and loans for nursing education.

The Directory gives specific information about each of Michigan's sixty schools of nursing.

Students and parents may have single copies on request to the Michigan League for Nursing, Room 216, 51 West Warren Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48201.

Mrs. Fred Mueller, project chairman, reported that two rocking chairs have been presented to the Pontiac State Hospital.

Mrs. Edgar Plympton, Mrs. Joseph Orosey, Mrs. Jere Donaldson and Mrs. Mueller have been doing volunteer work at the Pontiac State Hospital every Tuesday afternoon.

They cut, style and set women patients' hair and also give permanent waves.

Baby Softness Can Be Mama's

NEW YORK (UPI) — If you want to keep your skin soft and smooth as a baby's, try baby cream as an overnight cream, beauty experts suggest.

It rubs in so that it is not visible and it will not stain linen.

It's also an excellent hand cream that does not come off the minute water touches it.

Another beauty tip from the nursery: baby oil is perfect for makeup removal.

Century Mark Is Honored

BANNING, Calif. (UPI)—Great-grandchildren, grandchildren and children — nearly 50 in all — were present at a family dinner honoring Mrs. Anna Mack on her 100th birthday.

Born in Iowa, Mrs. Mack traveled to Kansas in a covered wagon at the age of 15.

A former schoolteacher, she and her husband, who died in 1925, moved to California at the turn of the century.

Smithsons Are Home From Honeymoon

At home in Birmingham after a Miami honeymoon are the Joseph Robert Smithsons (Sue Ann Mudge) who were wed recently in the First Methodist Church of Troy.

* * *

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mudge Jr. of Birmingham and Mrs. Ruth Smithson of Royal Oak.

Mrs. Roger Penna of Birmingham attended her sister as honor matron.

Robert Southard was best man. Ushers were William Walls and Charles Ash, both of Troy.

The wedding reception was in the Kingsley Inn.

Here is a colorful tie array, designed and textured for even the most hard-to-buy-for man of your heart.

Tie Him to You on Feb. 14

Valentine's Day should be a mutual admiration event expressed in the form of love tokens given not only by a man to a woman but likewise bestowed by a Miss or a Mrs. on her favorite "Mister."

Aside from the traditional big red heart of candy, which could be embarrassing for a woman to gift a man, the present that's always sure to please is an attractive new necktie. And besides, this calorie-free gift will be far more flattering to his shape!

A man never has enough ties and this February the range of patterns and colors seems endless. There is one to please every beau.

It seems that the entire neckwear industry anticipates a woman's plight in selecting an appropriate gift for a man for this special occasion and has designed a distinctive group of Valentine ties which can be easily found in any haberdashery or men's department.

VALEN-TIES

Tie manufacturers have appropriately named them Valen-Ties.

Stripes continue to be the most popular design. This February they are in bright, tastefully balanced colors, many with gold or buff accent shades. Others show new diagonal pin stripes.

Under-the-knot treatments are also fashionable. This is a type of design where the pattern is shown only under the knot rather than all over the fabric.

The pattern might be two or three stripes contrasting or harmonizing with the basic color of the tie, an interesting woven motif, or even a change in the weave and color of the fabric.

For example, a beefy silk tie may have the look and touch of a fine hopsack in the knot section, but in the balance of the tie changes into a coarse homespun weave in a different color.

BUY BY RULE

Here is a general rule about pattern and physique that may be helpful.

The shape of a man's face many times determines his design preference.

Diagonal or vertical stripes serve to lengthen the round face, while more complex patterns such as large paisleys look best on thin faces.

Gals Learn Art of Talking in Unusual Class

NEW YORK (UPI)— Though some husbands would deny that women need any practice in talking, members of the Clubs, Inc. held workshops on "Speech and Preparation" at a meeting here.

Purpose of the Toastmistress Clubs, founded by Mrs. Ernestine White in California in 1938, is to improve members' ability to speak in public and to participate in community activities through instruction and training in speech preparation, vocabulary development, proper speech and fundamentals of parliamentary procedure.

The ITC comprises about a thousand clubs, 50 of which are in foreign countries including Hawaii, Japan, Korea, Canada, Scotland, Germany and islands of the South Pacific.

Michigan Youth Chorale Prepares Tour

Seventy high school students from 36 southeastern Michigan schools are preparing themselves for the European tour of the 1965 Michigan Youth Chorale.

Members of the Chorale from three Oakland County high schools are: Pontiac Central High School, Evelyn Alderson; Bloomfield Hills High School, James Anderson, Joan Aitken, Constance Booth, Ralph Bozell III, Patricia Bramman, Charles Garabrant and M. Louise Williamson.

From Walled Lake High School are Carmen Cavallaro, and Arthur Walker, both of Wixom; Carl Grapentine, Nancy Shull, Dianne Smith, also Susan Sinclair attends Lake Orion Community High School.

DIRECTOR

The group practices weekly under director, Robert Pratt, who is chairman of the vocal music department in Ann Arbor High School. Pratt toured South America as conductor of the 1964 Michigan Youth Chorale.

Assistant conductor will be Leonard Raccinto, director of choral music at St. Clair Shores High School. Don Williams of Ann Arbor will be the accompanist.

★ ★ ★

Now in Europe working out the group's itinerary is Mrs. Rachel Andresen, director of the Youth for Understanding Teen-Age Exchange Program, with headquarters in Ann Arbor.

TRAVEL

The group expects to sing in Ireland, England, Germany Scandinavia and Holland and will live in the homes of these communities.

Included in their repertoire are Negro spirituals, classical numbers, contemporary choral works, American folk songs and "pop tunes" from musical comedies.

Concerts will be given in concert halls, city parks, churches, schools, factories, also in radio and TV stations.

BEST IN YOUTH

The 1965 group which expects to leave the last of June and return in August is the eighth to interpret the best in the youth of this country. Three summers they have toured South America and this will be their fifth year in Europe.

Campus Chapel Is Scene of Vows

The Jeffrey Karl Bergemanns (Joyce Elaine McKenna) left for a honeymoon at Fort Lauderdale after recent vows in the University of Michigan campus chapel.

A reception and dinner at the Inn America, Ann Arbor, followed the ceremony performed by Rev. Dorr W. Fockler.

VELVET BROCADE

The daughter of the John McKennas of Cooley Lake Road, West Bloomfield Township, chose street-length white velvet brocade with long overblouse. She carried white orchids, carnations and Stephanotis.

Attending their sister were Sharon Gail McKenna, honor maid, Jeanne Carol McKenna, flower-girl, and Jeffrey McKenna, ring-bearer.

Ralph Bergemann assisted his brother as best man. They are the sons of the Ralph Bergemanns of Ann Arbor. David Becker of Kalamazoo and Roger Ferguson ushered.

Planning fall nuptial vows are Lisbeth Irene Henry, daughter of the Thomas F. Henrys of East Boulevard South and Seaman 2.C. David Lee Ellsworth, son of the Raymond Ellsworths of Perry Street. Her fiance is stationed at Washington, D.C.

Reno Has Its Marriages, Too

RENO, Nev. (UPI)—June may be the bride's biggest month in most places, but not in Reno.

August was the big month in 1964, a check of the records shows. A total of 2,525 wedding permits were issued in the eighth month, more than any other month.

August also was the high month for divorce, with 571 of them awarded out of a total of 4,741 for the year.

Men and Clothes

Pisces men are distinguished for their good taste, with a studied carelessness. Their suits, ties, handkerchiefs are all neat and well-selected, but without even a touch of flashiness.

The Leo native, on the other hand, is a dramatic dresser — and sometimes overdresses.

How Very British

A chain of English tailors will soon offer suits that smell (in three scents — leather, heather and pine) at about $41 each.

The aroma will be processed into the fabric of the suits.

'In' Crowd May Soon Chew

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Chewing a toothbrush could someday be the "in" way to clean your teeth.

The idea already has been tested successfully. The experiment involved a new type of toothbrush, an H-shaped silicone rubber sponge that fits over a portion of a person's teeth.

A group of bedridden adults and children took part in the test.

The sponge toothbrush was covered with toothpaste and given to the patients, who were told to munch on the rubber from 10 to 50 times on each side of the mouth.

"The improvement in oral hygiene was good," Dr. Myron F. Levenson of Western Reserve University told the American Dental Association convention.

"All of the patients enjoyed using the device, with the exception of one aged, bedridden woman. The children thought of it as a game," he said.

The U.S. Patent Office awards more than 50,000 patents annually.

Underwear News Is Skimpy

What goes under the new, soft-looking ready-to-wear clothes for spring is the minimum in weight.

As Mrs. Beatrice Coleman, vice-president in charge of design for Maidenform, puts it, "Brief, bare and beautiful is the way we describe our spring collection of bras and girdles.

"They have been pared down to a minimum to show a natural, round figure . . ."

Tells How Passports Were Turned Over to Man Accused of Selling Them to Soviets

CHICAGO (AP) — One of the victims of an alleged scheme through which Soviet agents acquired 15 U.S. passports says "the whole thing seemed perfectly legitimate."

Roger R. Booth, 52, of Willmington, Ill., said in an interview Wednesday night he turned over a passport about Nov. 13, 1962, to Paul Carl Meyer, 25.

Meyer, a former Army private, pleaded guilty Wednesday to violating the passport law in delivering 15 U.S. passports to Soviet agents in East Berlin.

Meyer was released on $2,500 bond. U.S. District Judge Julius J. Hoffman set Feb. 26 for a hearing on a defense motion for a presentence investigation.

ANSWERED AD

Booth said he met Meyer after answering an advertisement in a Joliet, Ill., newspaper for men to do construction work in Bogota, Colombia.

Meyer told Booth and about 20 other men at a meeting in a hotel lunchroom to get passports and then collected $5 from each of them for visas, Booth said.

"He said he was going to Washington to get the visas," said Booth. "We were to meet in two days, then fly to South America."

Meyer was never seen again, Booth said.

GOT SUSPICIOUS

"I wasn't suspicious for about a week," said Booth. "I just figured something had held him up on the trip."

Later, Booth said, another member of the group told him he had reported the matter to federal authorities. "So I reported it, too," he said.

Meyer's attorney, Raymond Suekoff, told Judge Hoffman that Meyer "voluntarily went to the CIA and FBI and disclosed all information" on the matter in June 1963.

He was seized by federal marshals Monday in a Northwest Side apartment which he and his wife, Yolanda, had just rented. Between his report to federal authorities and his arrest, Meyer served a year in the U.S. Army at Fort Knox, Ky.

Meyer declined to answer reporters' questions as to whom he delivered the passports, what he received for them or where he got the idea.

Edward V. Hanrahan, U.S. attorney, also declined to say what happened to the passports.

Meyer's father, Edward, a maintenance man, told reporters, "He has always been an adventurer. He was a Boy Scout, too, and a good one."

Violent Shadow Lurks in Latin America

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In Venezuela, terrorists blow up an oil pipeline.

In Argentina, bandits stage the third successful bank robbery in 10 days.

NEWSOM

In Colombia, Castro-type guerrillas seize a village, kill three policemen and neatly ambush an army patrol.

These are all recent events and in, at least, the cases of Venezuela and Colombia clearly were politically inspired.

The Argentine bank robberies may or may not have had political connections but were of a pattern used successfully by Venezuela's National Liberation group (FALN) to finance its activities.

In any event, they were reminders that despite gains under the Alliance for Progress, violence continues to lurk just below the surface in many a Latin American nation.

* * *

Some, although not all, is Castro-inspired.

Two of the leaders of the Colombian band which early in January seized the village in the north central province of Santander and made off with money and drugs were known to have spent time in Cuba.

CASTRO TARGETS

In New York to attend the opening of the United Nations General Assembly not long ago, Ernesto (Che) Guevara, one of Castro's top aides, identified both Colombia and Venezuela as continuing Castro targets. He also mentioned Guatemala.

"The road to the liberation of peoples which will be the road of socialism, will go through bullets in almost all countries," promised the bearded Guevara. He added:

". . . We have helped some of our Latin American companions to acquire some military knowledge . . . it would not be moral for us not to assist them."

Guevara's handbook of guerrilla warfare is one of the most valued texts of Latin American terrorists.

HOPEFUL SIGN

One of the more hopeful signs that Latin America may yet emerge in the image set for it under the Alliance for Progress is a growing awareness among Latin American governments of their own responsibilities.

Aided by funds granted the alliance by the United States, most Latin American nations showed an encouraging economic growth in the last year.

In efforts to achieve economic and social stabilitiy, Brazil proved a special and unexpected bright light.

* * *

But in their December meeting in Lima, Peru, Latin American leaders themselves recognized that over-all results had been poor in such key areas as agrarian reform, education, public health, inflation control and investment for growth.

Colombia is an example of a nation in which runaway inflation has hurt the national development program, and provided the Castroites with new ammunition for unrest.

There are other difficulties. Argentina was said recently to have uncovered a band of Nazi terrorists who were plotting against Argentine Jews.

High Chilean officials have declared themselves fearful of attempted military coups in both Argentina and Peru.

They believe enthusiastic support for Brazil's military regime may inspire other officers to political ambitions elsewhere.

* * *

But the hopeful thing is the new conviction among Latin Americans that if they are to be helped, first they must help themselves.

Swainson Foe to Fight Ruling

Will Go to Court to Get Name on Ballot

LANSING (AP) — Seymour Markowitz, ruled off the Detroit April 5 ballot, is going to court in his attempt to win a judgeship also sought by former Gov. John Swainson.

Markowitz was ruled off the ballot by the State Board of Canvassers because of an insufficient number of signatures on his nominating petitions.

* * *

He has asked the new State Court of Appeals to compel Secretary of State James Hare, the state's chief elections officer, to place his name back on the special election ballot.

Markowitz complained that the board of state canvassers did did not follow state law in certifying the candidates at least five weeks before the Feb. 15 primary.

He also said in his appeal that he was not notified promptly of his disqualification.

His key argument, said State Elections Director Robert Montgomery, was that he was required to indicate in what cities and townships his petitions were circulated—in violation of the State Constitution.

The certification was delayed, Montgomery said, because of the necessity of checking complaints that Markowitz' petitions were out of order; "We mailed him a letter the morning after the afternoon in which he was removed from the ballot, and his constitutional argument is based on the 1908 Michigan Constitution."

Piles of Snow Bring Little Woe; U.P. Keeps on the Go

CALUMET (AP) — When it snows in Michigan's rugged Keweenaw Peninsula it pours.

Up to 200 inches of snow have fallen in parts of the area thus far this winter, and a good bit of that total still is on the ground.

But Keweenaw residents take it in stride. They're used to it.

"It's just as nice here as it is in the summer," says Keweenaw County Sheriff Ted E. Rogers, "except it's colder."

WILD REGION

Rogers and his men police a wild, sparsely populated region that is the northernmost point in Michigan. The Keweenaw Peninsula is a large finger of land balanced atop Michigan's Upper Peninsula and juts proudly into chilly Lake Superior.

Rogers estimates that between 175 and 180 inches of snow have fallen thus far in the Calumet area.

* * *

"But it's really no trouble," he said. "As soon as it falls the city sends out machines we call 'snow-gos'. They suck up the snow and blow it into trucks. The trucks haul it out of town and dump it in a pile in an unused area and that's it. We don't have any trouble getting around. Everybody drives all winter without difficulty. Once in a while, when it's real cold, our cars won't start. But that doesn't happen often.".

Calumet has a population of 1,139, and its neighbor, Laurium 3,058.

Rogers said, "It was six above when I left for work this morning. My car started right up. And it didn't feel bad. We don't get that damp cold up here like you do in Detroit that makes it seem so cold."

* * *

The sheriff said that county roads also were kept clear by snowplows.

"The roads are just as clear as they are in the summer," he said, "except that you've got snowbanks 8 to 10 feet high on each side of the road. That's from the plows throwing it up there. Sometimes you feel like you're driving through a tunnel but that's about the only difference from the summer. The county takes good care of those roads."

County Road Commission crews measured the snow at Delaware, an abandoned community a few miles north of Calumet, Monday. It came to 200 inches.

79 INCHES

They said this was 79 inches more than the snow depth at this time last winter, but 82.2 inches short of the record 282.2 inches set in 1949-50.

But they expect to break the record.

John Jackson, county highway engineer, said he anticipated a fall of 300 inches before May 3.

Plant Needs More Room

JUNCTION CITY, Kan. (AP) — Richard Waters, local attorney, is about to run out of ceiling room for his fast-growing 10-year-old cactus plant.

During the summers he keeps it in his garden and it has spent winters in a greenhouse here, but at 13 feet it has finally outgrown that winter home.

So this year he has put it in storage at the Geary county courthouse, the only place in town with a ceiling high enough for the plant which is covered with one-inch thorns.

Pontiac Central, Northern Prepare for Key League Assignments

Saginaw Plays Host to Chiefs in SVC Scrap

Victory Would Boost PCH Into First Place in Valley Race

Pontiac Central Friday has its biggest basketball game since last March when the Chiefs tangled with Benton Harbor in the state Class A semifinals at East Lansing.

* * *

The improving PCH quintet will take its quest for a Saginaw Valley Conference hoop crown to Saginaw for a vital clash with the Trojans, the only real threat to Central's hopes.

There is no danger of overconfidence. PCH lost its only game of the campaign to Saginaw two weeks ago tomorrow on the Chiefs' home court in their worst showing of the season.

PCH has been held under 64 points only twice while winning 10 of 11 starts. The first time was by Saginaw. The Trojans' defense "stopped" Pontiac with 46 points.

Their best weapon was the Chiefs' inability to hit the basket, particularly with layups. The shock carried over, apparently, into the following game when PCH hit 59 while topping Flint Southwestern.

BIG BOOST

The win here was a big boost for Saginaw. It was the start of a four-game win string that has carried the Trojans into a tie for the SVC lead with an 8-1 mark.

Big 6-7 Roy Hinton handled the offensive duties in the 53-46 verdict at PCH. His excellent jump shooting carried him to a 32-point effort, his best of the season.

A string of five straight games with 19 points or better also has put him atop the Valley marksmen. This means Friday's game will be a repeat of the previous encounter.

When Saginaw came to Pontiac, the Chiefs' Carl Arnold was pacing the league's shooters.

Coach Fred Zittel of PCH, obviously, must find a way to nullify Hinton's effectiveness. He has no one of comparable height to defense the pivotman one-on-one.

* * *

Sophomore Clifford Benson made a remarkable debut Tuesday night, but the 6-4½ center is not ready defensively to combat a scorer such as Hinton. Thus a double-teaming, sagging operation appears more in the offing.

Central currently is rated the fourth best Class A quintet in the state. Saginaw, despite a win over PCH, is No. 12.

Central is bidding for its first SVC cage crown since the 1959-60 team was 9-1 and made it all the way to the state "A" finals.

Other circuit clashes tomorrow will find Flint Central at Flint Northern, Flint Southwestern at Bay City Handy and Bay City Central at Midland.

Indians Have Rocky in Fold

Colavito Signs Pact With Increase

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that the Cleveland Indians have Rocky Colavito under contract for an estimated $50,000 to $55,000, Manager Birdie Tebbetts can concentrate on the problem of where to play the popular slugger.

To Colavito, declaring himself "happy to be back" after a five-year absence from the lakefront stadium, it makes no difference where he plays.

Rocky is an outfielder by trade, although he had a brief fling at pitching when he was last in a Cleveland uniform, but he says he'll be happy to play first base if that's where Tebbetts wants him.

"If I'm going to play first base," he told newsmen after signing his contract Wednesday, "I would like to have the whole spring to get ready for that position."

Winter dealing by Tribe President Gabe Paul also brought outfielder Chuck Hinton to the Indians, and Tebbetts will be doing some juggling before he gets his line-up set.

TRADED AWAY

Colavito was traded away in 1960 by the then general manager, Frank Lane. That year Rocky signed for $35,000 after a heated battle over terms. He didn't sign until after the March 1 holdout date, and he left Cleveland before the season started.

Planning March Teeoff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U.S. Open golf champion Ken Venturi, recovering from surgery to correct faulty blood circulation in his hands, said Wednesday he hopes to be physically fit to compete in the $35,000 Pensacola Open in Florida on March 3-7.

2 Late Goals Ruin Cranes

Lakeview overcame a three-goal Cranbrook lead for a 5-4 International High School Hockey League victory yesterday at Gordie Howe Hockey Land.

Graham (Butch) McDonald tallied twice for the Cranes in the opening period and Dick Moon once for a 3-0 lead. Hal Weckler added a second period tally assisted by McDonald for a 4-3 lead.

Then Lakeview scored two goals in quick succession late in the final period to pull out the decision. Cranbrook is 1-8-2, and Lakeview 4-6-2. The Cranes will visit St. Ladislaus Saturday at Hamtramck.

Hoop Crown Latest Target

Successful Year Looms for Eaglets

The Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary enjoyed a successful harvest of league titles last year, and this year's will be even better.

In the 1963-64 season the team wound up with the track and baseball championships in the Northwest Catholic League.

This season the Eaglets have already reaped the cross-country title grabbed a share of the football crown and they are assured of at least a piece of the basketball title.

OLSM moves into Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows tomorrow night in the finale of the regular season schedule.

Both teams, regardless of the outcome tomorrow, will advance to the Catholic League playoffs Sunday in Detroit.

OLSM owns a 10-1 league record and is 11-1 over-all. FOLS has compiled a 9-2 loop mark and needs a victory over OLSM to gain a piece of the title.

OTHER GAMES

Other games tomorrow have St. Michael visiting Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, Detroit St. Agatha visiting Royal Oak St. Mary and St. Frederick moving into Emmanuel Christian for a nonconference tilt.

* * *

For the past 10 seasons, the Eaglets have been guided by Rev. John Rakoczy, who starred for the team on the basketball court before moving to the sidelines.

Father Rakoczy was a member of the Eaglet quintet in 1943-44, and his 54-point performance against Detroit St. Francis de Sales that season is still in the OLSM record book.

Father Rakoczy was graduated from OLSM in 1944 and received his college degree from St. Mary in 1947. He was ordained in 1951.

He joined the staff at OLSM in 1954, and in 10 seasons as basketball coach, the team compiled a won-lost record of 87-27, a winning percentage of .805.

FINISH HIGH

Under Father Rakoczy, the Eaglets have won one cage title, shared another and never finished lower than second in the standings.

The game with FOLS is rated a tossup. In the first meeting this season, OLSM came out on top, 63-61.

OLSM has a potent scoring attack built around 6-6 John Stolnicki (20.2), John Stepien (17.2) and Donald Dzagulones (10.3).

If OLSM downs FOLS tomorrow, it will meet St. Gabriel at 8:15 p. m. Sunday in the first round of the Catholic League playoffs at University of Detroit Memorial Building.

* * *

If FOLS wins by more than three points, OLSM's first playoff opponent would be St. Phillip at 6:30 Sunday evening. FOLS would then play St. Gabriel at 8:15.

SEEK THIRD

St. Michael has posted a 7-4 league mark and a victory over WOLL (3-8) would assure the Mikemen of a share of third place.

Royal Oak St. Mary (7-4) also needs a win over St. Agatha (1-10) to keep a piece of third place.

St. Frederick completed its league schedule with a 2-10 record. The Rams are 4-10 over-all and will be looking for their second victory in a row in the tilt at Emmanuel.

The Rams have been an improved ball club since the return of center Mike Dean, who sat out the first eight games because of a leg injury suffered in football.

St. Michael could have problems with WOLL. The Lakers started slow, losing five of their first six games, but in their last six tilts they have broken even.

The regulars (from left) are Ralph Kibiloski, John Stolnicki, Conrad Krogulecki, Fr. Rakoczy, John Stepien and Don Dzagulones. The team has a 10-1 record in the Northwest Catholic League and will close the loop campaign tomorrow night at Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows.

Skippers Play Underdog Rule Against PNH

Huskies Could End League Race With Nod Over Waterford

A look at the comparative statistics on offense over the last eight games for each team indicates that Waterford is only a basket and free throw behind Pontiac Northern.

But there are two sides to every set of statistics and the one remaining is a major reason why the Skippers will be the underdogs when they invade the PNH gym tomorrow night.

* * *

Although they have compiled a 5-3 record in those eight contests, the Skippers have yielded an average of 71.2 per foe.

Northern's defensive mark over the same number of games is 65.5.

And the Huskies have two additional things going for them. They can take outright possession of the Inter-Lakes championship and they have the momentum of a three-game winning streak.

The only drawback will be a possible letdown.

PNH won a hard fought 73-71 decision from Detroit Catholic Central Tuesday and face Pontiac Central next week. The Huskies also whipped the Skippers, 80-62, in an earlier meeting at Waterford.

* * *

Waterford's major problem has been a lack of height. Against the good rebounding teams like PCH, East Detroit and Northern they have been defeated with ease although piling up a good scoring mark.

LOOKING UP

Northern's lineup hasn't changed since the last meeting. This means that the Skippers, who haven't a starter over 6-1, will have to contend with PNH's Roger Hayward, Larry Frye and Dave Sudbury who average 6-4.

Hayward's 23.6 average is another major hurdle for Waterford to overcome. Against Northern the first time, the Skippers managed only one shot each time down the floor.

This will have to be improved if Waterford is to keep its second place standing. A setback would drop the Skippers into a tie with the winner of the Walled Lake at Farmington game.

Walled Lake downed the Falcons in the first meeting, 54-44.

If the Vikings manage to repeat tomorrow, they will be in a position to finish league play in second place with a home court win over Waterford next week.

Waterford's attack is built around forward Rick Ziem and guard Bill Lemaux. Ziem uses a tricky move from the corner to drive under the basket while Lemaux likes to drive the middle where he picks up plenty of foul shots.

* * *

Northern has shifted Hayward to guard on offense because of his ability to score from long range and set up plays. Frye, hampered with a leg injury, is about ready to get back into full swing.

White Pigeon Fans Happy

Long-Time Losers Smile Again

WHITE PIGEON (AP) — Basketball fans in this little community, just a few dribbles from the Indiana border, are learning to smile again for the first time in years.

White Pigeon High School, tired of its reputation as the sitting duck of the eight-team St. Joseph Valley League, has ridden a winning streak of three straight grudge matches out of the cellar and into fifth place.

* * *

Ordinarily, three straight victories wouldn't attract very much attention—even if they were the first of the season, which they were.

But White Pigeon's back-to-back triumphs starting with Marcellus, shattered a losing streak of 61 games. That's what's tickling the fans.

Youthful John Frye, who took over as White Pigeon's basketball coach this year after amassing a 38-6 record in three years at Marcellus, isn't sure what made the difference.

EASY WINS

"It seemed like after we won the first one, the other two came prettye asy," recalled the 25-year-old Frye.

He began the season, he said, by dropping all the seniors from the squad and putting together a varsity team of eight sophomores and three juniors.

"As long as you're losing anyway, you might as well be trying something," Frye explained.

* * *

White Pigeon still lost its first nine games, but some of them, Frye noted, were pretty close. Attendance picked up too, hitting about 900 for the return match with Marcellus, he said.

"Basketball has been pretty low here for the past several years for a number of reasons," Frye explained. "I didn't expect a whole lot after talking to the people when I first came here.

LOCAL SUPPORT

"I guess when the people can see you're trying to do something they'll stand behind you, even though you're losing," he mused.

Will White Pigeon extend its victory string to four in a row? Probably not, Frye admits. Friday's opponent is league-leading Constantine, a relative powerhouse with a 10-2 record.

"Actually, we shouldn't even be in the same league with them," said Frye, whose squad lost to Constantine 88-56 earlier this season.

"I wouldn't want to say we were favored," Frye noted, "but I think we've improved enough to give them a real good game."

2 Pontiac Keglers Meet Pros on TV

Two more Pontiac bowlers, Don Likens and Lucille Myers will make their television debut in the Sunday night "Beat the Champ" series.

Likens and Miss Myers were the top qualifiers for the month of January at 300 Bowl, and they along with the leading qualifiers from two other establishments, Cloverlanes in Lovonia and Ark Lanes in Hazel Park, will be the challengers against top pro names.

Likens, a 22-year-old machinist, rolled a 711 total at 300 Bowl, while Miss Myers led the league qualifiers with a 661 actual plus 84 pins for a 745 total.

Last month, Bob Ferdon of Pontiac, who led the 300 Bowl qualifying in December, appeared on TV and defeated pro Ray Bluth, winning a color TV set and making him eligible for the finals to be held the first Sunday in April.

* * *

Winner of the final match will receive a 1965 automobile.

Ferdon's 695 on TV will stand until another challenger beats that mark.

PRO BOWLERS

The pro bowlers, whom the local challengers will meet include Don Carter, LaVerne Carter and Marion Ladewig. The matches will originate from Ark Lanes.

Next month the matches will originate from 300 Bowl to be filmed from the Pontiac establishment, March 4-5. The finals will also be held here.

* * *

Qualifying takes place at 300 Bowl each Saturday and Sunday with squads running from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Total fee is $2.50 which includes bowling.

MEETS CHAMPS — Don Likens, 22-year-old Pontiac bowler, will be in fast company when he goes against such pros as Don and LaVerne Carter in Sunday night's TV bowling series, "Beat the Champ." He qualified for the spot at 300 Bowl.

Golf Aces Scored in Unusual Ways

NEW YORK (AP) — There were 11,774 holes-in-one recorded officially last year but the most unusual was that made by a 56-year-old New England business man.

Harry F. Poli of Salem, Mass., was playing the Salem Municipal Course with only a putter last June 12 when he came to the 150-yard eighth hole. He gave the ball a hefty whack.

It caromed off the side of a bunker, bounced onto the green, hit the flag stick and dropped into the cup.

* * *

Patricia Shouldrice, a 16-year-old school girl of Ironwood, Mich., had an equally exciting experience. Playing the third round of golf of her life, she topped her tee shot on a 119-yard, par 3 hole and the ball dribbled down the fairway, across a sand trap and into the hole.

These were just a pair of the odd-ball experiences made public today by Golf Digest Magazine, which has become the national clearing house for holes-in-one and the sponsor of a national sweepstakes.

The magazine, which has made a business as well as a hobby of keeping tab of such things, reports that the odds against holing out a tee shot are 6,000 to 1—but a lot of people are doing it.

Norman Manley, a four-handicap golfer of Inglewood, Calif., scored three holes-in-one during the year, two of them on the same hole—the 330-yard, par 4 seventh at Del Valle Country Club, Saugus, Calif.—and two of them back-to-back.

* * *

The year's longest hole-in-one was a 400-yarder by Thomas D. Chetwood, a left-handed Oklahoma City school teacher, on the sixth hole at the Lake Hefner Golf Club. The longest by a woman was the 221-yard shot by Mrs. Audra McDermott of Karachi, Pakistan, on the second hole at the Karachi Country Club.

This is a feat not restricted to the great and near great or to any particular age.

* * *

Fred Leidig, 84, knocked in a 110-yard ace at Carmel, Calif., and Mike Richardson, 9, holed out a 157-yard tee shot at Wendell, N. C. Julie Wetch, 10, of Billings, Mont., became the youngest girl ever to score a hole-in-one when she holed out a 130-yard shot on the seventh hole at the Lake Hills Country Club.

The longest hole-in-one on record is a 427-yard shot by Lou Kretlow of Oklahoma City. He did it on the 16th hole at Lake Hefner Golf Club March 26, 1961.

Title Bout Proposed

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (AP) — The World Boxing Association has proposed that Floyd Patterson meet the winner of the upcoming Ernie Terrell-Eddie Machen bout for its version of the heavyweight championship.

Hawks Get Henry in Deal With N.Y.

NEW YORK (AP) — High-scoring left wing Camille Henry was traded by the New York Rangers to the Chicago Black Hawks in a seven-player National Hockey League transaction Thursday.

Accompanying the 32-year-old veteran to Chicago were Ranger farmhands Don Johns, a defenseman, and Billy Taylor, a center, plus a player to be named later.

The fifth-place Rangers, all but mathematically eliminated from Stanley Cup playoff contention, obtained left wings Doug Robinson and John Brenneman and defenseman Wayne Hillman from the Hawks.

Henry was the most productive New York scorer this season with 21 goals.

Golf Tourney Continues

Beard Leads Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A small army of golfers fanned in four directions today with Frank Beard of Kentucky leading the procession into the second round of the 90-hole, $100,000 Bob Hope Classic.

The 25-year-old Louisville professional — you may recall his remarkable recovery from a sleeping sickness ailment that threatened his career in March last year — had a first round 66.

★ ★ ★

That was six strokes under par for the Bermuda Dunes Country Club, and Beard held a one-stroke lead starting out today.

The 128 pros, each with a three-man amateur team, switched partners and courses today with most of the big names — as well as Beard — playing at the La Quinta Country Club.

SAME PAR

The other courses in play are the Eldorado and Indian Wells. All four tests are par 36-36—72.

Jerry Steelsmith and Stan Thirsk were tied at 67, and the 68 group included Bob Rosburg, Don January, Kermit Zarley, Chuck Courtney and Rod Funseth.

The ever-threatening figures of Arnold Palmer, in the 70 listing, Jack Nicklaus, 71, and Tony Lema, 72, were not far behind.

★ ★ ★

Also in the 70 bracket were the defending Classic champion, Tommy Jacobs, and Bill Casper Jr. Casper has been the most consistent pro of them all, yet still not a winner, in the 1965 winter circuit.

Titans' Cagers Dump Broncos

Lou Hyatt Tallies 28; Fight Delays Action

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Lou Hyatt scored 28 points, spearheading Detroit to a 96-87 basketball victory over Western Michigan Wednesday night.

The game, almost a runaway for the Titans, was stopped for 10 minutes in the final period when Detroit forward Jim Boyce fought with Western Michigan's Bob Blohm. Boyce was ejected from the contest for slugging Blohm.

The Broncos pulled to within four points of the Titans, 89-85, but Western's defense allowed Hyatt to get two gift baskets while standing alone.

Detroit won the game at the foul line. Both teams hit on 35 floor shots. The Titans made 26 of 36 free throws to 17 of 23 for the Broncos.

Dave Anderson led Western with 23 points. Dorrie Murrey added 25 for Detroit, including 11 straight free throws.

The victory was Detroit's 12th in 16 games. WMU has won six and lost 11.

Pistons Fourth Straight Best in Three Seasons

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Pistons outscored the San Francisco Warriors 20-6 early in the third period and went on to win their fourth straight National Basketball Association game 111-106 Wednesday night.

It marked the first time since Feb. 1962, that the Pistons had put together a four-game streak.

For the Warriors, meantime, the setback was their fourth in succession and 21st in their last 22 games.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Cincinnati Royals routed the Los Angeles Lakers 130-99, the Baltimore Bullets upset the Boston Celtics 122-114, and the Philadelphia 76ers beat the New York Knicks 116-95.

After the first period had ended in a 51-51 tie, the Pistons broke loose on two baskets and a free throw by Eddie Miles. Joe Caldwell chipped in with three goals and Terry Dischinger two more to give Detroit a 15-point bulge.

BREIF RALLY

The Warriors, who have won only 12 games all season, rallied to within 83-73 of the Pistons at the three-quarter mark. They closed within six points of Detroit early in the fourth period.

Then Rod Thorn and Dischinger cut loose to put Detroit safely in front.

Dischinger paced six Pistons who scored in double figures with 26 points. Miles was next with 20. Nate Thurmond and Guy Rodgers had 23 and 20, respectively for San Francisco.

Chin vs. Elbow Puts Ref 'Out'

DETROIT (UPI) — When one man's chin meets another man's elbow, that man's pretty tail. He was.

★ ★ ★

Seven-foot Reggie Harding, center of the Detroit Piston basketball team collided elbow-to-chin with referee Norman Drucker, of New York, on the opening tip-off of Wednesday night's game against the San Francisco Warriors.

Drucker went down . . . cold. He was out for about four minutes. He also suffered a broken false tooth.

★ ★ ★

After being revived, Drucker was taken off the court, but he returned in less than five minutes and officiated during the rest of the game.

HALL OF FAME BOWLING TIPS

By JOE NORRIS
Written for NEA

Big Steve Nagy was elected to the Hall of Fame in 1963 and after 30 years of big league competition, he is still a top tournament performer.

STEVE NAGY

One big reason—Steve's practiced ability to "read the lanes."

Just as every golf green presents a distinctive putting challenge, there are subtle variations in surface conditions of bowling lanes.

Humidity and the condition of lane dressing are factors which determine how the ball holds to its line of delivery.

Steve is a master at adjusting his game to match lane conditions. A minor change in stance or ball release generally is all that's required to meet the challenge of any lane.

He tells his students to use practice time in developing a power of lane observation and a repertoire of adjustments necessary to compensate for lane differences.

Kettering in League 'Must' Game

Imlay Battling for Loop Lead

Spartan Five Visits Harbor Beach

Imlay City's basketball squad will have a couple of objectives in mind when it visits Harbor Beach tomorrow night for a South Central League contest.

★ ★ ★

First of all, the Spartans, ranked 15th in the state Class C prep poll, could move into the driver's seat in the league race with a victory.

Secondly, the team will be trying to avenge an earlier loss to Harbor Beach. The defeat, by a 54-52 count, is the only one on the Spartans record (11-1).

Imlay is 3-1 in the league, a half game behind Harbor Beach (4-1).

Another game on the SCL slate finds Millington at Deckerville. In a non-conference contest, North Branch visits Romeo.

★ ★ ★

Over in the Southern Thumb League, defending champion New Haven (8-1) plays host to Memphis (0-9), Almont (7-2) entertains Brown City (3-6), Capac (5-4) travels to Anchor Bay (4-5) and Armada (3-6) journeys to Dryden (6-3).

Adrian Falls, 96-88

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP)—Windsor outdistanced Adrian College of Michigan 96-88 in an across the border basketball game Wednesday night.

Bernie Friesmith's 22 points paced the victors, now 9-6 for the season. Adrian, now 6-6, got 23 points from Mark Garret.

Fight Contract for Flyweights Still Unsigned

BANGKOK (AP) — The manager of Thai world flyweight champion Pone Kingpetch said Thursday he still has not received a signed contract from Italian promoter Rino Tommasi, who agreed last month to arrange a title fight against Italy's Salvatore Burruni.

Nor, said manager Hiran Sidokbuab, has he received a promised $10,000 in advance of the $50,000 purse and three tourist class tickets for Rome.

The fight is tentatively scheduled for March 5 in the Italian capital.

★ ★ ★

Hiran said he told Tommasi last month that the signed contract should be in Bangkok by Feb. 2 along with the money and the tickets. But he said despite reports from Rome that Tommasi agreed to the terms for the fight, no formal answer has been received here.

Hiran said under the circumstances he is extending his deadline until Feb. 10.

Sports Banquet Listed on Brother Rice Slate

The Dads Club of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church of Birmingham will present its Fourth Annual Sports Night Monday at 7:30 at Brother Rice High School.

Among sports personalities slated to attend are former Detroit Lion star Dutch Clark; Gail Cogdill, Pat Studstill and Milt Plum, members of the Lions' team; and Bill Freehan and George Thomas of the Detroit Tigers.

Birmingham Ice Loop Led by Green Hornets

The Green Hornets and Tigers have dominated play in Birmingham's youth ice hockey plan by the simple practice of not losing any games.

The former has dumped seven straight midget league foes while the Tigers have only been tied once in seven juvenile league starts.

Captains Host Lapeer Quint

Oxford Faces L'Anse in Road Game

Waterford Kettering, struggling to gain momentum for a stretch run, will enter Friday's "must" game with Lapeer aware that another defeat will end all Tri-County League title hopes.

★ ★ ★

Lapeer appears the main threat to Kettering's repeating atop the loop, although Romeo also has high hopes and the record to encourage them.

The Panthers will visit Kettering with a 5-0 league mark. They need a win Friday to eliminate the Captains and two more victories would assure Lapeer of a title share.

Kettering has won its last two starts in a 5-4 season over-all and has a 2-2 Tri-County mark. Earlier it dropped a 71-67 contest on the Panthers' court.

★ ★ ★

Romeo, the runner-up squad at 4-1, will be entertaining North Branch in a non-league encounter this weekend. Oxford ended its six-game losing string Tuesday and will travel to winless Mount Clemens L'Anse Creuse.

CHANGES

Since the first meeting with Lapeer, Kettering has made line-up changes and could prove a considerable challenge for the Panthers.

★ ★ ★

Bob VonBargen has picked up the offense since his insertion as a regular. Tim McGraff's point production also has picked up to complement the work of Jim Nyberg, Dale Manning and Andy Miceli.

The chief problem for the Captains most likely will be Bob McLenna, a sharp-shooting guard who hit 34 in the two teams' initial encounter.

Larry McInally also gives the Panthers an offensive threat inside. Lapeer is on a four-game winning streak after losing two non-conference starts.

★ ★ ★

Oxford's record was 3-0 at the start of the campaign, then slumped to 3-6 before the Wildcats righted themselves Tuesday at Ortonville.

L'Anse Creuse was their third victim in December and Oxford will be favored to build a new string tomorrow. The Wildcats showed a well-balanced attack in this week's win.

Romeo will be more concerned with what's happening at Kettering than what is transpiring in its own game. The Bulldogs will play L'Anse next week before closing with Kettering and Lapeer.

BEAR BRUNT OF BATTLE—National Hockey League linesmen Neil Armstrong (left) and Matt Pavelich appear to receive worst of scrap last night between Chicago's Bobby Hull (9) and New York's Bob Plager (2). Linesmen did succeed in stopping battle and Chicago went on to win, 4-2. Black Hawk at right is Matt Ravlich.

Rookie Fights Star; Hawks Top NY

NEW YORK (AP) — Chicago's Golden Jet, Bobby Hull, fired a couple of after-burners at the New York Rangers, and today the Black Hawks' bomber is the center of the National Hockey League's latest feud.

Hull, who admitted after Chicago's 4-1 victory over the Rangers, that his six-game scoring slump is getting on his nerves, helped precipitate quite a fracas when he tangled with rookie defenseman Bob Plager in the third period Wednesday night.

The Hawks were sitting on a 3-1 lead — one of the goals coming just as Plager completed a two-minute penalty for elbowing Hull — when the sparks began to fly.

Chicago's Stan Mikita, who had engaged in earlier jostles with New York's Rod Seiling and Lou Angotti, dug into a corner after a loose puck with the Rangers' Arnie Brown. The two came together and their sticks went up. When Hull skated toward them, Plager grabbed Bobby from behind in a bear hug.

"I wanted to let Brownie and Mikita go at it," Plager said later. "I wasn't going to let Hull get into it."

NEEDLED BY FANS

Hull, needled by the fans all night, became infuriated and dropped his gloves after finally breaking free from Plager. It was an unusual pose for the All-Star left wing, who led the voting for the player who best combined gentlemanly and effective play for the first half of the season.

When things calmed down, both players skated off, Hull for high-sticking and Plager for holding. Just as the game was about to resume, Plager began flailing away at a fan behind the penalty box who, he said, had first heckled and then spat at the Ranger rookie.

"They can yell all they want," the youngster said, "but when they start shoving and spitting, that's something else."

★ ★ ★

Hull sat stock still while special police and Ranger players dragged Plager off the fan, who was identified as George Johnson from New York City. Johnson, who suffered a bloody nose, was ejected from the arena.

"If I had gotten into it, I probably would have been on the fan's side," said Hull, who has run afoul of Plager several times since the youngster was called up in December. "I guess Plager wants to stay in the league and he figures he can do it by going after me."

Plager agreed. "People notice when you hit a Hull," he said.

The extra-curricular activity overshadowed Chicago's victory which moved the Hawks into a first-place tie with idle Montreal. The Canadiens, however, hold three games in hand.

Majors to Support College Baseball

NEW YORK (UPI)—The major leagues will provide $75,000 to help support a summer program for college baseball players, according to the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Summer Baseball Committee.

Committee Chairman George L. Shiebler, who made the announcement, also said Wednesday the program would be expanded this year to allow more players to take part. Last year 32 teams in five leagues and 21 certified independent teams participated.

The money provided by the professional leagues will be used to buy uniforms and equipment and to pay expenses. Major league scouts will recommend college prospects to the program.

Ex-MSU Ace Better After Eye Surgery

KANSAS CITY (AP) — "The eye has responded much better than the doctors ever thought it would," said Fred Arbanas of the Kansas City Chiefs, an All-Star choice at tight end in the American Football League the last two seasons.

★ ★ ★

"A month ago, they thought they might have to take it out."

Arbanas, former Michigan State star, underwent surgery on his left eye Dec. 13 after he was injured in a scuffle with two unidentified men who accosted him and a teammate, Al Reynolds, as they walked along Troost Avenue in Kansas City.

"About two weeks ago I started to be able to tell daylight and dark out of the left eye," Arbanas said in an interview with Charlie Smith of the Topeka Capital.

★ ★ ★

"Then I could see the light from the television. Monday I read for the first time. I could read. It was type about an inch high but I could see it. Now I can see the letters even more clearly."

HART SCHAFFNER & MARX-manship

He shows his style in HS&M's Bombay...the Desert Classic Blazer

Hart Schaffner & Marx-manship comes easy to Sam Snead. Because it's the art of looking great at important moments. Like the "pro" he is, Sam was quick to spot this new idea in sport coats—HS&M's Bombay, the Desert Classic Blazer.
The fabric is a relaxing hopsack weave that sits lightly on the shoulders. A Dacron*-and-wool blend that gives and springs back with every move.
HS&M tailors are "pros," too. They make clothes that go the distance. The look you buy is the look you keep $59.95

BLIND SKIERS — Instructor Gunther Starker of Spring Mount, Pa., ski area adjusts straps of a 20-year-old blind skier Nichole Spiegel with two sightless students of Overbrook School for the Blind in the background. The blind youngsters called it a new and "wonderful experience."

Slope Safety Is Stressed

Safety on the slopes — always a prime concern of skiers and proprietors alike — has been under new emphasis this season at Mt. Holly Ski resort.

Veteran instructor Gerry Monod is overseeing the safety program which concentrates on the junior and senior high ski clubs that use the resort's facilities almost daily.

This year it amounts to approximately 50 such groups. A crew of about 15 instructors works with the youngsters at no cost each weekday and Saturday mornings.

Beginning skiers are given green ribbons. This limits their area of activity until they have earned white ones. The ribbons also enable the slope captains and instructors to pick out those needing additional instruction or attention.

The National Ski Patrol unit at Mt. Holly is quite active in the program which is coordinated with each school's ski club supervisor even before the group makes its first appearance at the resort.

The safety campaign was initiated by Mt. Holly both to develop better, more confident young skiers and to insure safe skiing for the other users of the slopes.

Surprises Mark City Rec Cage Action

The surprises continue in the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department's Adult Class A basketball program.

Roy White's Unbeatables were beaten for the first time Monday by Lloyd Motors. They bounced back, 87-83, last night at the expense of defending city champion West Bloomfield Heating.

Lloyd's, meanwhile, fell, before strong but slow starting K. D. Television, 79-72.

In junior action, New Hope Baptist continued to win with a 72-51 decision against K-Town Five as Bill Smith and Al McClellen each scored 18.

The Auburn Heights Boys Club's entries squared off and the Buzzards' balance attack was too much for the Hawks one-man punch, 71-64. Red McAleer's 26 topped all scorers; while Jim Ross (17), Dick Reddaway (15), Dick Williams (14) and Phil Chamberlain (13) rotated the winners' scoring.

* * *

Four men—Vern Ellis, Larry Peet, Dave Simmons and Harrison Munson—shared in the Unbeatables scoring. They accounted for all 31 third-quarter points when the game was decided and ranged from 23 to 16 in total points. John Keller led all with 25 for the losers.

Bob Finley's 26 for Lloyd Motors took the night's high point honors but K. D. Television's strong finish won the game. Fred Davis (18) and Ed Williams (21) paced the winners.

TOWNSHIP PLAY

Form held in Waterford Township's Adult Leagues. The American League leaders, Lakeland Pharmacy, remained unbeaten with a 72-45 verdict over Six R's Construction.

Al Barkeley's 20 points topped the winners.

Gancia-Cote and Ryeson's Market continued winning in National League encounters. Gancia dropped winless Dunstan's Floral, 55-20; and Ryeson's made Howe's Lanes, also winless, its third straight victim, 62-43.

Gancia-Cote climbed within one game of first place led by Bob Smith's 15 points. It led 21-8 at halftime. Gus Pantel had 18 for Ryeson's but Howe's Jim Devine took the night's high scoring honors with 21 points.

TWO NEW GIANTS—Frank "Pop" Ivy (left) and Emlen Tunnell were signed as defensive coaches yesterday by the New York Giants of the National Football League. Tunnell is the first Negro coach in the NFL. Tunnell played with the Giants from 1948 through 1958 and with the Green Bay Packers from 1959 through 1961.

Albion 5 Wins; Best Campaign in Eight Years

ALBION (AP) — Albion clinched its first winning basketball season in eight years with a lopsided 100-72 victory over Lawrence Tech Wednesday night.

The MIAA league-leading Britons held a 39-22 halftime lead and raced away in the second half in bringing their record to 11-3.

Tom Jerow scored 19 points and Dave Anspaugh 18 in Albion's well-balanced scoring attack.

Larry Patrick topped all scorers with 21 points for LIT, now 4-14.

Cager Hits 49 Points as Ferris Quintet Rolls

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Berni Kilpatrick scored 49 points that led Ferris State to a 93-84 victory over Aquinas in college basketball Wednesday night.

High scorer for Aquinas was Garry Fewless with 28.

Ferris has an 11-3 record and Aquinas is 7-10.

'Were Beaten' —CORE Pair

Just Their Imagination, Says Louisiana Mayor

BOGALUSA, La. (UPI)—Two civil rights workers left this race-torn town last night, claiming they were attacked with fists and bullets. The town's mayor said the pair was "drawing heavily on their imagination."

William Yates, 36, of Boston said several white men beat and kicked him and shot at both him and his companion, Steve Miller, 19, of San Francisco.

They were reported to have left for Baton Rouge, the state capital, after telling their story to an FBI agent.

Yates, a former Cornell English professor, and Miller, a college student, spent several hours in a Negro bar last night until the FBI agent arrived. They were both members of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE).

They were not hit by any shots but Yates said his hand and head were hurt when he was beaten on a sidewalk outside a cafeteria.

'NO TROUBLE'

Mayor Jesse Custer denied any shots were fired and said police found no trouble when they were called to investigate a disturbance. "They seem to be drawing heavily on their imagination," he said.

The alleged beating and shooting was the third report of racial trouble here within a month. State troopers were called into the Mississippi border city Tuesday as a precautionary step by the mayor.

Last month a scheduled talk by former Arkansas Congressman Brooks Hayes was canceled after sponsors of the speech reported they were threatened by Ku Klux Klan members.

★ ★ ★

Hayes is a consultant to the Community Relations Service, a federal unit set up to aid cities undergoing desegregation.

NO INCIDENTS

Last week Yates and Miller participated in the desegregation of about a dozen white establishments. No incidents were reported. But Monday night the pair said they were told that white mobs were after them. The mayor said there were no mobs in the city.

Andrew Moses, a Bogalusa Negro leader, said last night his integration organization had asked the white CORE members to leave the city Monday. He said the Bogalusa integration movement could be handled best without outsiders.

"They are not here on our account," Moses said.

A city police report last night quoted a Negro witness as saying he saw a group of white men chasing another white man and the pursued man slipped and fell. The Negro witness was quoted by police as saying he helped the white man to get to a car.

Malcolm X Predicts '65 'Bloody Year'

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (UPI) — The "black revolution" this year will be long, hot and bloody, says Malcolm X — the militant Black Nationalist leader.

In a speech before 3,000 cheering students at Tuskegee Institute last night, the former Black Muslim official said 1963 and 1964 were years of promise "but they were bloody years."

But 1965 "will no doubt be the longest, hottest, and the bloodiest of the black revolution," he said.

Malcolm X was the first of a series of lecturers invited to the institute. A school official said the institute did not endorse any of the speakers' views.

★ ★ ★

Guest lecturers may include former Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett and Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

MUSLIM BELIEF

"A faction of former Black Muslims believes in meeting force with force . . . an organization determined to fight racism and when I say fight, I mean fight," Malcolm X told the students.

Russian Premier Leaves for N. Vietnamese Capital; Plans Peking Stops

MOSCOW (UPI)—Premier Alexei Kosygin flew toward Hanoi today where he is expected to discuss Soviet military aid to Communist North Viet Nam, which nourishes the Viet Cong in the fight against the Saigon government in the south.

He planned to stop in Peking on his way to the North Vietnamese capital and again on his trip back to Moscow. It will be the first visit to Red China by a Soviet premier since Nikita S. Khrushchev stopped there in 1959 on his way back from talks with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the United States.

The Chinese Embassy in Moscow boycotted Kosygin's airport departure. Under normal diplomatic protocol, the Chinese envoys would be expected to see him off. His trip to North Viet Nam has strong overtones of a challenge to Peking's influence in Hanoi.

Kosygin's departure came shortly after President Johnson disclosed in Washington that the new Soviet leaders would welcome his visit to the Soviet Union and are likely to visit the United States themselves.

★ ★ ★

Leonid I. Brezhnev, first secretary of the Soviet Communist party saw Kosygin off at the airport, indicating the importance of the mission. Others in the farewell party included Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko and Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky.

Implications of the Peking stopover were not clear. Observers here suggested that Kosygin's mission to China probably included an exchange of messages rather than negotiations.

★ ★ ★

On the plane with Kosygin were experts on military aid and on foreign contacts. They included Yuri Andropov, a secretary of the Communist party who handles some aspects of relations with foreign parties, and Col. Gen. Evgeni F. Loginov, minister of Civil Aviation and chief of the Soviet Airline Aeroflot.

North Viet Nam has been supporting China in the Soviet-Chinese dispute. The Soviet Union has promised North Viet Nam "the necessary assistance" in case of an American attack.

Diplomatic observers here regard possible Soviet military assistance for North Viet Nam as more of an effort to buy moderating influence in Hanoi rather than irritate the situation there.

Soviet officials said Kosygin's group will spend tomorrow night in Peking, arrive in Hanoi Saturday for a four-day visit.

It was not clear where the group will spend tonight. One possibility was Irkutsk, just north of Mongolia.

Deputy Premier Alexander N. Shelepin has been in Mongolia for the past week sizing up the difficulties there created by the Soviet-Chinese dispute.

No date for the end of the visit was announced but some observers suggested Kosygin could meet Shelepin in Irkutsk.

Cuban Exiles Shell Oil Depot

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Anti-Castro commandoes shelled an important Cuba oil depot Tuesday and claim to have caused heavy damage.

The Cuban government said damage was minor.

★ ★ ★

A gunboat bombarded the installation at Casilda, near Trinidad, with 57mm cannon and machine gun fire, according to a Cuban armed forces communique broadcast by Havana Radio.

Militia repelled the boat and the only damage was to homes hit by shells, the Cuban government said.

Raps Australia Decision to Send Troops to Borneo

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) —Indonesian Ambassador Maj. Gen. Kosasih said today the dispatch of Australian combat soldiers to Malaysian Borneo would anger the Indonesian people.

"Because of her special connection with Malaysia she has every right to do so," Kosasih told a newsman. "However it has to be decided whether war or peace is wanted. We do not want war. We want to live in peace with our neighbors."

★ ★ ★

In Sydney, the Morning Herald said the decision to send Australian troops to the Borneo front line opened up the possibility of American intervention.

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet publication today urged Communist parties in Europe to join Socialists and take advantage of what it called a leftist trend.

★ ★ ★

Pravda, the organ of the Soviet Communist party, said that Socialists had made gains in recent elections in France, Italy, Britain, Sweden, Denmark, Luxembourg and Belgium.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish defense staff said today that Greek Cypriots fired at a Swedish U.N. patrol in northeastern Cyprus but there were no injuries.

★ ★ ★

The Swedish sources said the Cypriots claimed they fired at the patrol Wednesday by mistake.

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — Gen. Huang Chieh, governor of Formosa, urged farmers today to work toward a stockpile of food that could be used in the event of a Chinese Nationalist attack on Communist China.

★ ★ ★

Speaking to a farmer's day rally, Huang called for an increase in agricultural production with improved irrigation methods and underground water resources.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Prime Minister Terence O'Neill told Parliament there is no hope for political unification with the Irish Republic.

Reporting Wednesday on his secret meeting last month with the republic's Prime Minister Sean Lemass, O'Neill said they had discussed closer cultural and commercial relations.

★ ★ ★

"I hope that, if relationships can be conducted on a sane and reasonable level, policies of hatred and violence will have less and less appeal," O'Neill said.

ALBION (AP)—Albion College announced Wednesday that 1,400 students have enrolled for the second semester—the highest mid-year enrollment in the school's history.

Suit Claims Negligence in Wallenda Act

DETROIT (AP) — An insurance company has sued to recover $40,000 paid in benefits after seven members of the Great Wallenda troupe plunged from a high wire during a Shrine circus performance in 1962.

★ ★ ★

The Reliance Insurance Co. is suing Dobritch International Circus Co., Al Dobritch and Karl Wallenda, the leader of the trapeze group.

★ ★ ★

The members of the troupe plunged to the circus floor Jan. 30, 1962 in Detroit. Karl Wallenda's stepson, Mario, was paralyzed below the waist. Mario's brother-in-law, Richard Faughnan, and another member, Dieter Schepp, died.

The money was paid last May to Mario and to Faughnan's widow, Jenny.

★ ★ ★

The suit alleges Dobritch and his firm acted negligently in permitting an inexperienced member to perform in the dangerous act. The suit also charges Karl Wallenda failed to exercise his supervisory duties.

The suit is pending before Circuit Judge Horace W. Gilmore.

Father, 4 Children Die in Home Blaze

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)— A father and four children died early today in a fire which swept through their rural home 15 miles north of here.

★ ★ ★

The husband pushed his wife out a window and she raced a quarter-mile in near zero cold to a relative's home seeking help. The relative said he heard an explosion and saw the walls crumble as he approached the blazing frame structure.

★ ★ ★

State Police identified the victims as:

William Gilbert Slater, 34, his three children by a previous marriage; William Jr., 7; Debora Victoria, 6, and Patricia Ann, 5, and Mrs. Slater's son by a former marriage, Robert Andrew Laney, 5.

If you're going to enter something like the Pure Oil Performance Trials, you might as well do it to win.

So we did. Class IV—won by Buick Special.

Down at Daytona Beach, we gave everyone another look at Buick's "Win Policy". A V-8 Buick Special won over stiff competition (sorry, boys!) in Class IV—in the 1965 Pure Oil Performance Trials. The winning Special was equipped with our 300 cubic inch Wildcat 310 V-8 and Super Turbine Transmission.

Remember that the drivers in the Performance Trials are skilled professionals, and the cars finely tuned standard production models. (If it can be said that the Special is "Standard" anything.) Also remember that the trials are an exhausting, carefully graded test of a car's all-around ability. In economy, acceleration and braking. Small wonder the Special came out on top. Handsomely.

(The specific detail? Our hero averaged 20.689 mpg in economy, to score second among 10 cars. It accomplished the acceleration test—from 25 to 70 mph—in 9.315 seconds, for a fifth. And took another second in braking: from 65 to 0 mph in 172.0 feet. The cumulative result: we won all the marbles in Class IV.)

Now then. If you're going to enter something—like a car—you might as well do it to win, too. Your Buick dealer can introduce you to the driver's seat of a Buick Special.

Paris Flea Market May Get Brush-Off

PARIS (NEA) — This city's picturesque, chaotic Flea Market, the Paradise Lost of bargain hunters, is under threat of eviction. It may be forced to give way to a new urban housing development.

Paris is bursting at the seams with people. The 125 acres of intricate alleyways and pavement displays of the world's largest accumulation of bric-a-brac have long been considered an ideal location for housing.

City planners foresee a group of modern, sanitary apartment buildings as well as a vast playground for children.

Dealers and vendors have fought the project hard. They realize that a move to new quarters, even in a near suburb, would eventually mean a loss of business.

★ ★ ★

Gross annual turnover of the Flea Market is somewhere between $7 to 8 million a year.

UNIQUE ATMOSPHERE

The atmosphere of this sprawling "Second-hand City" is unique. The crooked lanes, the thousands of booths and stands bulging with broken furniture, old iron, old clothes, and the most incredible oddities tumbled together in colorful disarray have been portrayed by artists and the movies.

The actual Paris market originated with King Louis-Philippe around 1830. Tramps and hobos began camping on the present site, setting up house in tottering shacks alive with colonies of fleas and vermin.

Hence its name — Marche aux Puces, or Flea Market.

★ ★ ★

In medieval days it was here that students came to the annual book-and-parchment fair to buy their scholastic supplies.

SMART CUSTOMERS

Today it is a common sight to see luxurious limousines with diplomatic or foreign license plates parked on the outskirts of the market, with smartly dressed tourists and antique buyers strolling up and down the alleyways.

There was a time when the Flea Market offered even more of a show than it does today. Then it was surrounded by itinerant circuses, open-air orchestras, card game operators and gypsies.

The tumbledown shacks which served rough red wine and hot chip potatoes along with garlic sausages or horsemeat steaks now have made way for neon-lighted restaurants.

★ ★ ★

The poverty-stricken appearance of many vendors is apt, too, to be deceptive.

HIGH RENTERS

The majority make a comfortable income from their traffic. Rent of a "concrete" stall runs close to $1,000 a year.

The Flea Market is open every Saturday, Sunday and Monday throughout the year. Best time to go is early Saturday morning or Monday afternoon.

These are the times when the merchants first display their offerings or when, rather than pack them up until the next weekend, they are apt to lower their prices.

Every tourist antique collector dreams of the one great "find" — such as unearthing an authentic El Greco or a piece of 18th century porcelain for a couple of dollars.

DAYS ARE GONE

But the days when merchants were sublimely unconscious of the value of a given object have disappeared.

The market is, on the other hand, chock-full of tourist traps such as ordinary French regional crockery represented as genuine 17th century ware.

There also are mass-produced wooden statuettes painted in gaudy colors which have been buried for a certain time and then dug up to be passed off as 15th century carvings.

Boyle Remembers Lifetime Hero, AP's Kent Cooper

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Everybody needs a personal hero, someone to lift him above the limits of the ordinary and to demonstrate that higher human goals can be won.

Lucky is the man who can find a hero in youth and still admire him as he ages.

BOYLE

Such a hero to me was one who died this week at 84 and was known universally in the news world as "KC."

They are the initials of Kent Cooper, who for a quarter of a century was the boss man of the Associated Press, the world's largest press association.

LANDMARK FIGURE

Less well known to the general public than writers such as Ernie Pyle or Richard Harding Davis, Cooper already is a landmark figure in the history of modern journalism.

He was a tradition smasher, and an applecart-upsetter. He swept through the stodgy newspaper atmosphere of his day like a polar wind. He was a pioneer in the speedier transmission of news, the humanization of news, and a champion in the fight for worldwide freedom of the press — or, in his own apt phrase, the people's "right to know."

★ ★ ★

That's the way he'll go down in the textbooks. But it is as a man — not a symbol — that I like to remember KC, for whom I worked as a copyboy, a cub reporter, a city editor and a war correspondent.

By the time I first met him in New York in 1937 he already was a controversial legend. Like Gen. George S. Patton, whom he resembled in many ways, he was either extravagantly admired or extravagantly disliked.

DREAM BIG

He was a man who liked to dream big, and do old things better in new ways. To do them he had to step on many toes.

In person KC was stocky, of medium height, and had dark and magnetic eyes. Those eyes seemed to have fingers in them that reached out and grabbed your mind as he talked.

He could in one instant be as boyish as Tom Sawyer and the next instant as imperious as a Turkish sultan. He could be sentimental, and he could be tougher than the foreman of a railroad gang. He was lavish in his reward for good work, equally swift in punishing ineptitude. He couldn't stand people who were mentally flat-footed.

When an underling was summoned to his presence after botching up a job, the office wiseacres advised him:

"Don't bother to go in with your head in your hands. KC will cut it off for you."

But as an inspirer of loyalty, Cooper was in a class by himself. When he finished the pep talk he gave me before I went overseas, I felt that "The Associated Press" was branded on my forehead in neon lights — and I was ready to fight Adolf Hitler and his Nazi legions single-handed with a fountain pen.

★ ★ ★

Quixotic in temperament, sometimes capricious in judgmen, KC had a mind like a spark plug. Sometimes the sparks came to nothing. But at other times they lit bonfires that still burn.

The other day I spent an hour alone with him, the last hero of my lifetime. The restless face in the coffin was set in final peace, but I still felt the awe of him that I had felt since I went to work for him at 17.

OLD-TIMER COMES IN

An old-timer who had worked closely with him for many years came into the room.

"I can't think of him as being old," he said. "You know, he never really was at ease except with young people — because they are the only ones who aren't really afraid of new ideas."

I think KC would have enjoyed that as his epitaph.

To Address Careers Clinic in Journalism

Norman C. Miller, Detroit bureau chief of the Wall Street Journal and a 1964 Pulitzer Prize winner for general reporting, will be among a group of speakers at the Sigma Delta Chi "Careers in Journalism" clinic to be held at the University of Detroit Union starting at 9 a. m. Feb. 13.

★ ★ ★

The clinic, open to high school journalists throughout southeastern Michigan, is sponsored by the Detroit chapter of Sigma Delta Chi, national professional journalism society.

★ ★ ★

It is held in connection with the "Midwinter Trainshop," sponsored by the Detroit Student Press Association at the U. of D.

Miller will talk about the need for journalists and an expose that won for him a Pulitzer Prize for general reporting in 1964.

1,500 Japan Leftists Protest Over N-Sub

SASEBO, Japan (UPI)—About 1,500 left-wing labor unionists clashed with police today during a demonstration against the U.S. nuclear-powered submarine Seadragon. Two men were arrested, and one demonstrator was reported to have been injured.

The Seadragon arrived here earlier this week for its second visit to this port city in three months. It is scheduled to leave tomorrow.

Farm Prices Debated at Conference

EAST LANSING (AP)— Amid shouts of "pour it on," farmers at a panel discussion on bargaining Wednesday applauded a National Farmers Organization official and aimed a barrage of questions at other speakers.

Many in the audience of more than 600, which overflowed an auditorium in a Michigan State University building, wore NFO insignias.

Heavy applause arose when Erhard Pfingsten, an NFO vice president, said farmers, like other businessmen, should tell their customers:

"Pay the price or you don't get the product."

The two-hour panel discussion, part of Farmers' Week at MSU, ended with members of the audience shouting, "What are your salaries?" to Robert Braden of the Michigan Farm Bureau and Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers Association.

PANEL AGREES

All three panelists agreed that farmers need active interest and strong organization to bolster their bargaining power.

Lake and Braden emphasized that unit price was just one factor in farm income.

Braden said if farm prices aren't right, "It is our challenge to develop better demand." He called for stronger market research and development programs.

* * *

At the panel, he represented the Michigan Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Association.

Lake said the term "milk strike" is repugnant to most dairy farmers. He called such a strike dangerous and unsound because the "ill will created divides and weakens farmers' total position.

QUESTION IDEA

He questioned the philosophy that "if it works for labor, it will accomplish the same thing for farmers."

"Farmers have an investment in land, livestock, equipment and buildings," Lake said.

* * *

"High fixed costs remain whether he is selling his product or not. With labor, they do not."

'FIE, I'M NO SPY' — Richard F. Stolz, former first secretary of the U.S. Embassy in Moscow, relaxes in an Alps resort near Munich, Germany, after being ordered out of Russia. The Soviets accused him of being a spy, a charge he labels "ridiculous."

Senators to Review Red Trade Policy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The slow-moving Washington review of trade policies toward the Communists takes another step this month with three days of public hearings by the Senate Forein Relations Committee.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., announced that leading businessmen, international bankers and academic experts would testify Feb. 24-26.

* * *

The Senate hearings, which began a year ago, and other studies are part of a lengthy sounding of whether the public and Congress are ready to favor freer commerce with the Reds.

If he finds the climate sufficiently receptive, President Jhonson may ask for removal of some of the current legislative barriers against trading with the Communists — including power to give favored-nation tariff treatment to Communist countries.

SLOW BRIDGES

But even if he gets an easing of East-West trade barriers, Johnson's program of "building new bridges to Eastern Europe" appears likely to be a long, slow process.

The idea of using trade and other contacts to wean satellites away from the Kremlin goes back to the earliest days of U.S. export controls after World War II. In 1948, Washington used trade and aid to encourage Yugoslavia's break with Moscow. It has done the same with regard to Poland since 1956, and, recently, with Romania.

* * *

A Romanian trade mission visited the United States last year. Talks are now under way for a consular convention between the two countries.

Talks on general outstanding problems also have been under way with the Hungarians and with the Czechs. These could lead sooner or later to settlement of outstanding U.S. claims and to increased contact and trade.

TRADE RESTRICTED

As matters now stand, a number of U.S. laws restrict trade with the Reds. The main barrier, in the opinion of administration experts, is Congress' prohibition of favored-nation tariff treatment.

Without favored-nation treatment, a country trading with the United States must pay the old, high duties of the 1930 Smoot-Hawley U.S. tariff.

* * *

Those rates are virtually prohibitive on many items.

If the U.S. legal restrictions were removed, the economic effect as far as the United States is concerned still likely would be small, in the opinion of U.S. officials. Total U.S. foreign trade in 1963 exceeded $40 billion. U.S. exports to the Sino-Soviet bloc amounted to only $167 million while imports came to $85 million.

DIFFICULTIES PRESENT

U.S. officials say the Communist areas do not have a great deal that the United States wants to buy, and trading with their state systems poses difficulties.

* * *

Administration officials say they do not intend to revamp the control system aimed at keeping militarily important items from going to the Reds.

* * *

In the field of credit, Washington still opposes more than five-year loans to the Communists. Most of the Allies allow longer term credits.

Pennsylvania Dispute

'No Money for Drapes'

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania auditor general's office is standing firm in its refusal to pay for new draperies in the governor's reception room despite strong urging from the state's first lady.

"This is an absolutely illegal purchase and I will not authorize payment," said Auditor General Thomas Z. Minehart, who happens to be a Democrat.

Mrs. William W. Scranton, wife of the Republican governor, had called on Minehart to reconsider his decision to return the $1,555 bill to the department of property and supplies unpaid.

"As a housewife, a bargain is a bargain, and politics is politics," Mrs. Scranton had asserted.

The flowery draperies — six sets in all — were hung last fall in the reception room that adjoins the governor's office in the state capitol.

NO COMPETITIVE BIDS

A property and supplies spokesman said there was no competitive bidding on the purchase because the drapes were needed for a reception for the Distinguished Daughters of Pennsylvania.

The fact that no competitive bids were taken was the reason given by Minehart for balking at payment of the bill.

Mrs. Scranton, who said she has spent some of her own money redecorating her husband's office, insisted that the drapes were a bargain.

Clarkston School Officials Confident

$3-Million Bond Vote Is Monday

CLARKSTON — Based on past experience, school officials are reasonably confident that the $3-million bond issue to finance construction of school facilities will be approved in Monday's special election.

Passage of the issue will not affect the present tax rate.

"The history of the school system shows a good spirit of cooperation when either debt or operating funds are needed," Supt. of Schools Dr. L. F. Greene said.

"I feel confident that the people will support the school board and administration in the attempt to provide adequate educational facilities."

★ ★ ★

The election was authorized by the school board last Dec. 14 following a study of projected enrollment growth by 1970.

EXPECTED GROWTH

Enrollment increased from 4,536 in 1963-64 to 5,029 in the current school year. The figure is expected to swell to nearly 7,000 by 1970.

School officials estimate that 55 new elementary classrooms and 16 secondary-level-rooms will be needed to meet minimum requirements for anticipated growth.

AREA NEWS

Presently, six of the school system's seven buildings have enrollments beyond designed capacity.

★ ★ ★

The lone exception is Sashabaw Elementary School with an enrollment of 381 and a 390-student capacity.

OVERCROWDED

Designed for 1,000 students, the senior high school has 1,145. The junior high school, which was planned to accommodate 800 students, has 821.

Present enrollments and designed capacities of the other schools are:

Andersonville, 583-470; Bailey Lake, 588-510; Clarkston, 737-690; and Pine Knob, 764-750.

★ ★ ★

"If the bond issue is successful," Dr. Greene said, "the immediate project would be to add 15 rooms to the high school and provide elementary space equivalent to one and one half to two elementary schools."

FIRST PHASE

This first phase of the building program would require about half the bond issue, or $1.5 million, according to Dr. Greene.

School district spokesmen in recent appearances before PTA groups and other organizations have emphasized that passage of the bond issue will not change the present school tax rate.

Increased valuation of the school district produces approximately $120,000 a year more now for retiring bonded indebtedness than in 1956.

★ ★ ★

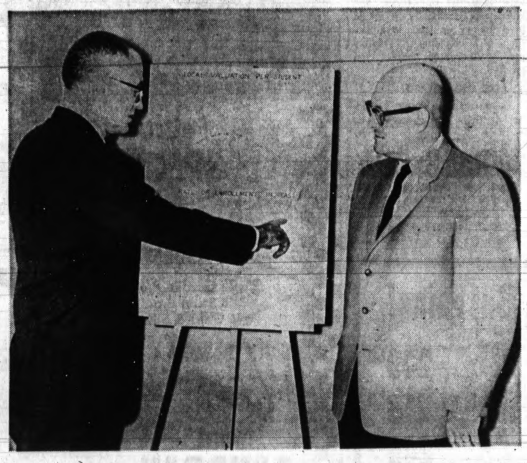
"Equalized valuation has increased from $17 million in 1956 to $31 million now," Dr. Greene said.

2ND FACTOR

A second factor allowing additional borrowing without increasing the tax rate is the extension of time over which the bonds can be redeemed by the number of years that have elapsed since passage of the last bond issue in 1958. This was for $2.5 million.

★ ★ ★

School officials are hopeful that at least 20 per cent of the registered voters will go to the polls to provide an adequate test for the proposal.



Pontiac Press Photo

SOARING ENROLLMENT — Floyd Vincent (left), administrative assistant for Clarkston Community Schools, and Schools Supt. Dr. L. F. Greene cite the school system's steady enrollment increase since 1951 and continued growth prospects. They are giving a final boost to the campaign for passage of a $3-million bond issue Monday for future school construction.

JUSTIN D. McCARTHY TOM HUPP

2 Take Boys' Club Training

AUBURN HEIGHTS — Tom Hupp and Justin D. McCarthy, two 18-year-old seniors at Avondale Senior High School, are presently undergoing apprentice training as program assistants at the Boys' Club of Auburn Heights.

The two learn the methods and philosophies of Boys' Club operation while working as program leaders, officiating games and contests, coaching teams and supervising recreation.

Training courses are conducted regularly by club director Sam R. Sheehy, with curriculum materials provided by the Boys' Clubs of America Field Training Service, New York.

In the fall, both boys plan to continue working at the club while continuing their education at nearby colleges.

★ ★ ★

Hupp is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Erben A. Hupp of 3016 Lincolnview, Auburn Heights, while McCarthy is the son of Mrs. Nelson McCarthy of 2127 Hempstead, Pontiac Township.

State Okays Bond Issue

To Finance Walled Lake School Program

WALLED LAKE — A $1.5-million bond issue for Walled Lake School District's building program has been approved by the State Municipal Finance Commission.

★ ★ ★

District property owners accepted the debt Dec. 14 when they also approved a 1-mill tax increase to provide operating funds for the new facilities.

Featured in the building program is a 20-room elementary school to be constructed on a yet-undetermined site. Estimated cost of the school, to be completed by the fall of 1966, is $600,000.

Taking an estimated $140,000 chunk from the bond issue will be a seven-room addition to Keith Elementary School.

★ ★ ★

Cited as the most immediate need, the addition is to be completed by this fall, along with libraries at Commerce, Walled Lake and Decker elementary schools.

UNFINISHED PROJECTS

The libraries and other projects not finished under the last building program are expected to cost $180,000.

Some $370,000 will be allocated for the purchase of three or four elementary school sites and property for a secondary school.

The balance, about $130,000, will be used for legal fees, architect's fees and capitalized interest.

★ ★ ★

The bond issue increased the district's levy for bonded indebtedness to nine mills. Total levy is $29.23 per $1,000 of assessed property valuation as equalized.

Honor Area Church for Its History

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — Donald Sinclair, pastor of Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church, said today that the 109-year-old church has been designated a historical site by the Michigan Historical Commission.

Located at 5331 Maybee, the church which features New England-type architecture was built by members of the congregation in 1856.

A roadside marker which will proclaim the building as a historical site is expected to be installed later this month, the Rev. Mr. Sinclair said.

The church has acquired 10 acres across from the present building as a site for a new church.

★ ★ ★

When the new church is built within the next two years, the existing building will be retained and used as a chapel and youth center, according to the Rev. Mr. Sinclair.

The old building was recently painted on the inside and outside and a new ceiling and roof will be installed this spring.

GOP Women Elect Officers

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Mrs. John Schrenk has been elected president of the West Bloomfield Republican Women's Club.

Other new officers are Mrs. Dwan Ziegler, vice president; Mrs. H. Howard Herbst, secretary; and Mrs. Edward Glatfelter, treasurer.

★ ★ ★

Dr. John Clark of the University of Michigan will speak on "Conservatism Versus Liberalism" at the group's next meeting, scheduled for 12:30 p.m. March 15 at the Farmington Savings and Loan Association in the Farmington Plaza.

Faculty size of the 30 school districts in Oakland County ranged last year from 1 in North Oxford to 985 teachers and administrators in Pontiac.

'Summit' Called on Sewer Crisis

LAKE ORION — International summit conferences have a success record that is less than impressive, but opponents of a planned $1.36-million sewer system here hope that the odds are better on a local level.

Representatives of key organizations and agencies involved in the sewer issue, which is presently highlighted by two lawsuits, will meet Monday to talk over the possibility of a cheaper alternative to the sewer plan.

Any alternative has to meet at least one basic need — the elimination of pollution in Paint Creek that is allegedly caused by the discharge of untreated sewage into the creek through seven storm sewer outlets.

One proposal, made by village contractor Bud Schaar, involves combining sanitary and storm sewer facilities on a small scale.

An interceptor sewer would be laid along Paint Creek to collect the discharge from the seven storm sewer outlets and carry it to a settlement field for treatment.

WORTH A TRY

While the idea of continuing to use the storm sewers to carry the untreated sewage to the proposed interceptor is given little chance for state approval by experts, its proponents feel it's worth a try.

So Village President William V. Shoup arranged with the Michigan Water Resources Commission to have an opportunity to discuss the Schaar proposal or any other that might meet the state's requirements and the village's pocketbook.

The result is a "summit conference" called for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the offices of village engineers Hubbell, Roth & Clark of Birmingham.

★ ★ ★

Representatives of the Water Resources Commission, the Michigan Department of Health, Oakland County Department of Health and Oakland County Department of Public Works (DPW) will meet with the village council.

HOME OWNERS

Also expected to be present are representatives of the Lake Orion Homeowners Association, which, as initiator of one of the lawsuits against the village, is directly opposed to the $1.36-million sewer plan.

The other lawsuit, also against the village and being considered together with the home owner's suit, was filed last August by the state after Lake Orion failed to meet two planning deadlines for the sewer system.

The deadlines were set by the Water Resources Commission, which initiated the whole train of events by ordering the village to eliminate Paint Creek pollution.

To Restore Building Damaged by Blaze

LAKE ORION — The future of the Masonic Temple building, half-destroyed by flames in Lake Orion's worst fire in 30 years on Oct. 25, has been decided.

The Masonic Temple Association has decided to rebuild the gutted second story with some modifications, and renovate the partially damaged ground-floor level.

Association head Charles Benton said that the second-story work would involve tearing down the old brickwork to a safe level and rebuilding back up again.

Belton said the lodge room, to have a 12-foot ceiling, will be relocated in the rebuilt second story.

The temple entrance, presently on Flint Street, will be moved to Broadway.

WILL MOVE BACK

A check with the owners of two commercial enterprises located on the first floor of the building when the $100,000 fire took place indicates that they will move back in "as soon as possible," according to Belton.

They are Gaylord's insurance and real estate and gift shop operation and Burde's Variety Store.

Lawrence W. Gaylord is presently operating out of temporary quarters at the old Shafer Motor Sales showroom at 135 S. Broadway, while W. E. Burde is temporarily located at 103 N. Broadway.

Orion Chapter No. 340, Order of the Eastern Star, and Orion Masonic Lodge No. 46, which lost their headquarters to the flames, have been using temporary meeting places.

NEXT STEP

Belton said the next step toward rebuilding would be to engage a firm to prepare architectural drawings, so that two contractors being considered for the job can make more accurate bids on the cost.

While this is being done, a contractor is being sought to handle the demolition work on the second-story brickwork.

Belton estimated this project would start within a week.

Magic Show, Film on Supper Menu

UNION LAKE — Entertainment will be dished up along with pancakes at Union Lake Elementary School Monday night.

★ ★ ★

On the menu with pancakes for the 5-7 p.m. PTA supper are sausage, ham, milk and coffee.

A magic show by Magical Mei and a film of the 1964 Indianapolis 500 race will be presented after the meal. The school is located at 8289 Commerce.

It's almost impossible to eat enough milk-rich foods to supply your daily calcium needs without drinking milk, too.

Designer Will Address Lions

WIXOM — Otis E. Bower, machine designer at the American Paper Bottle Co. in Walled Lake, will speak at tonight's meeting of the Wixom - Walled Lake Lions Club.

★ ★ ★

The dinner meeting is scheduled for 7 p.m. at Aunt Jemima's Pancake House.

★ ★ ★

Bower, who has studied petrology for the past three years, will speak on "A Study in Jade."

Fund Creates Scholarships to Kingsbury

ADDISON TOWNSHIP—Scholarships to Kingsbury School will be offered for the first time through the newly founded Mary Coulter Scholarship Fund.

The fund will provide tuition aid for qualified students to attend the independent grade school at Hosner and Oakwood roads.

Scholarships will be awarded on the basis of scholastic ability, financial need and character.

Applications may be made to the school director, Bruce N. Coulter, 2990 Hosner, Oxford.

★ ★ ★

The fund has been set up by the board of trustees and the parents' organization of Kingsbury School in memory of the director's late wife.

The small private school provides classes from kindergarten through the eighth grade.

School Bus Is Hit

ARMADA TOWNSHIP—A few feet separated a number of schoolchildren from disaster yesterday when an Armada School District bus collided with a tractor-trailer.

★ ★ ★

Romeo State Police said the bus, driven by Marie Reding, 41, of 67295 Omo, Armada, pulled out in front of the truck at the intersection of True and Armada Center roads.

The driver, who was southbound on True, told police she looked both ways before pulling out, but did not see the truck coming.

Traveling eastbound on Armada Center at about 40 miles per hour, the truck hit the bus on the right front fender, completely smashing the front end.

★ ★ ★

About 50 schoolchildren of varying ages were aboard the bus, which was taking them home from school at about 3:15 p.m.

SLIGHT INJURIES

The names of all the children are not known as yet, but none are thought to have suffered more than slight injuries in the collision.

★ ★ ★

The bus driver and a passenger in the truck, Ronald Ross, 28, of 206 N. Main, Almont, sustained minor injuries that did not require treatment. The truck driver, Terry Toler, 21, of Marine City, was not injured.

State police ticketed the school bus driver for failure to yield the right of way, and said that serious injury or death would doubtless have resulted if the truck had hit the bus a few feet farther back.

Horse Club to View Plans on Saturday

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP—Plans for the coming year will be outlined at Saturday's meeting of the Ranahan 4-H Horse Club at the Herbert Kilner residence, 68195 Dequindre.

SURPRISE WINNER — Sen. Joseph Zaretzki (left), D-Manhattan, and Sen. Simon J. Liebowitz, D-Kings, head for a Democratic caucus after Zaretzki was elected as temporary president of the New York Senate.

Zaretzki was elected to the post with votes of the entire Republican minority plus a few Democratic votes. The GOP move ended a stalemate with the Democratic majority unable to decide on a choice.

Dem Wins GOP Votes

Dark Horse Gets Top N.Y. Senate Post

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A dark-horse Democratic candidate held the Senate's most powerful post today with the votes of Republicans angered by a month of enforced idleness in the 1965 session of the New York State Legislature.

The GOP minority moved suddenly and dramatically Wednesday, dictating the election of Sen. Joseph Zaretzki of Manhattan as temporary president.

★ ★ ★

The development was the first break in a deadlock that has existed between two Democratic factions since the Legislature convened, Jan. 6.

Because of the impasse, the legislature has been paralyzed, unable to organize and get down to business.

BOTH STYMIED

The factions that had been locked in a struggle over the election of a Senate leader were stunned by the GOP move. Zaretzki had been unacceptable to either.

When he suddenly was assured of 25 Republican votes, he rallied four others, in addition to his own, to guarantee his election. Several other senators then fell in line behind him.

In the Assembly, pressures grew for Republican intervention along the lines of the Senate developments, which probably would mean the election of Anthony J. Travia of Brooklyn as speaker.

Zaretzki's election was a victory for Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City and a setback for forces aligned with Sen. Robert F. Kennedy. Zaretzki won, 40-18, over Jack E. Bronston of Queens. Thomas J. Mackell, also of Queens, withdrew.

ROUND IN FIGHT

Many observers have seen the legislative battle as a round in a continuing fight between Wagner and Kennedy for control of state party affairs.

This was the background:

Democrats won control in last November's elections, 33-25 in the Senate and 88-62 in the Assembly.

★ ★ ★

Wagner held that the long-time minority leaders, Zaretzki and Travia, should be promoted to majority leaders.

Democratic State Chairman William H. McKeon broke with Wagner, aligned himself with a group of big-county leaders loyal to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, and advanced his own candidates.

GOP CANDIDATE

Minority Republicans had their own candidates on each of the many roll calls.

Some GOP senators looked with favor on Zaretzki, who had been minority leader for eight years and had a wide range of personal friends among the GOP ranks.

★ ★ ★

Republicans nominated Zaretzki Wednesday and he immediately rallied several other Democratic votes.

The two offices in question — Assembly speaker and temporary president of the Senate — are established in state law and there is no provision that they be filled only by the majority members.

Republicans stressed in debate in the Senate Wednesday that they were acting only because Democrats had been unable to reach agreement.

Ask Mental Health Unit Be Major Department

LANSING (AP) — The board of directors of the Michigan Division of the American Association of University Women has recommended that the Department of Mental Health be designated as one of the 20 principal state government departments in the reorganization required by the Constitution.

Actor Victor Jory, 63, is expected to be released from a hospital in Hemet, Calif., in two weeks. He was hospitalized Saturday, suffering from chest pains and exhaustion.

He will be permitted to resume his duties as director of the annual Ramona Pageant.

Ex-Wife Says Olivier 'Greatest'

Vivien Leigh, First Lady of the British stage, still thinks her ex-husband, Sir Laurence Olivier, is the world's finest actor.

The question was put to her last night at a London party, celebrating her return to the West End Theater after a six-year absence.

"My favorite actor? Sir Laurence is the greatest I have ever seen," was her reply.

Miss Leigh, 51, has not acted with Sir Laurence since their divorce in 1960.

Actress Abby Dalton Has Baby Girl

Actress Abby Dalton, who plays comedian Joey Bishop's wife on his television series, gave birth yesterday to a daughter in a Hollywood hospital.

The child, her second, will be named Kathleen Kinmount Smith. Miss Dalton is married to Jack D. Smith, a wholesale electrical supplier.

Jack Jones to Be Divorced

A spokesman for Jack Jones said yesterday the singer has separated from his wife of four years and they plan to divorce because of incompatibility.

The former Lee Laurenee of San Francisco will file soon for divorce, the spokesman said. The couple has a daughter, Crystal, 3.

Jones, 26, is the son of a former film actor and singer, Allan Jones.

What Did 1964 Mean to You?

A FASCINATING NEW KIND OF NEWS ANNUAL AVAILABLE — EXCLUSIVELY — THROUGH The Pontiac Press . . . NOW!!

CAN YOU STILL REMEMBER how it was? Now think ahead: how much of it will you recall 10 or 20 years from now? And will your children possibly be able to visualize it? They will . . . if you have on your bookshelf THE WORLD IN 1964.

THIS OUT-SIZE VOLUME lends unsuspected excitement to the twelve months just past. It helps you re-live, today and tomorrow, the events that meant the most to you personally . . . events that made history . . . events that everyone once talked about and that already seem dim.

IT WAS A GREAT NEWS YEAR, a great news photo year, and the articles in this handsome 300-page volume do it full justice. There are dramatic, in depth accounts—some the most complete yet written—of what went on in America and in the world, month by month. There are hundreds of the year's outstanding news pictures in black and white and in color.

ALL THIS PLUS REFERENCE material that helps make this volume a must for every student, every school, every library and home. Only The Associated Press, world's foremost news gathering agency, of which this newspaper is a member, could have put together such a book.

De Gaulle Aids Gold Issues

Mart Higher in Record Ground

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market made further progress into record high ground early this afternoon in active trading.

Gold mining issues rallied on French President Charles de Gaulle's proposal for a new world money plan linked to gold and independent of the dollar and the British pound.

★ ★ ★

Wall Street's background was brightened by President Johnson's disclosure that the new employment figures will show the jobless rate at a seven-year low.

A generally higher trend prevailed among chemicals, airlines, office equipments, nonferrous metals, rails, utilities, electrical equipments and mail order-retails.

GENERALLY EASY

Steels, oils and motors were generally easy. Farm implements and drugs were irregular.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .5 at 337.8 with industrials, rails and utilities all up .4.

★ ★ ★

Among silver producers, Sunshine Mining lost a fraction and Hecla Mining gained a fraction.

GM FIRM

General Motors was firm, other leading auto stocks unchanged to lower.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Carnation gained more than 2. Up about a point were Intex Oil, Giant Yellowknife, Needham Packing and Duval Corp.

Corporate bonds declined in light trading. U.S. Government bonds sagged in reaction to the de Gaulle proposals.

AMC Sales, Earnings Dip

Report Covers Fiscal Year's First Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. Wednesday reported declines in net sales and net earnings for the first quarter of its current fiscal year.

Net sales for the three months ended Dec. 31 totaled $307,452,806, and net earnings were $9,523,605 after deductions for income taxes totaling $8,175,000, the company said.

These figures compared with net sales of $319,429,991 and net earnings of $10,974,916 for the same period in the previous fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

Earnings per share were 50 cents in the current quarter, down from 58 cents in the 1963 period, AMC said.

RETAIL SALES

But while earnings declined, U.S. retail sales of Ramblers and Kelvinator products went up during December, 1964, AMC President Roy Abernethy told the board of directors.

Rambler sales were listed at 35,006 units, representing the second-best December in company history and up from the total of 34,930 for the month in 1963.

"Rambler wholesale sales of 142,055 cars worldwide, although below the record 147,625 for the comparable 1964 quarter, were third-highest in history for any quarter," the company said.

Retail U.S. sales were listed as 102,888 cars, compared with 113,827 in the year-ago quarter —"a decline of 9.6 per cent against a total U.S. industry domestic sales decline of 9.7 per cent for the same three months," AMC said.

★ ★ ★

Abernethy said sales were impeded during the quarter because of delays in launching new 1965 models, "primarily as a result of strikes and supplier shortages."

Blame Gold Crisis on Payments Deficit

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—All of the debating in Congress and out on whether gold backing for U.S. currency and bank deposits should be cut can't hide the underlying problem:

DAWSON

U.S. gold reserves would not have been drained since 1958 nor threatened now if the United States hadn't been running a continuous deficit in its international financial payments.

★ ★ ★

What to do about this monetary deficit, and who or what is to blame for it will be increasingly debated as Congress acts on gold reserve revisions.

The gap between the outflow of dollars and the return flow widened in the final quarter of 1964 after showing some improvement early in the year. And the drain of gold increased this January after dropping to a trickle last year.

DE GAULLE BLAMED

President de Gaulle of France is blamed for the most recent loss because he wants his central bank to hold fewer dollars and more gold. But he couldn't have got the U.S. gold if this country hadn't been running a balance of payments deficit.

That let the supply of surplus dollars pile up in other nations. And their central banks can and occasionally do turn in some of this surplus for the gold the U.S. Treasury keeps at Ft. Knox and in its vaults in lower Manhattan.

Last year the United States sent $2.6 billion more dollars, for private and government spending, abroad than it got back, adding by that much to the foreign-held surplus building up over the years.

Trade cannot be blamed. U.S. commercial exports topped imports by $3.6 billion. And to this can be added $4 billion of net income on foreign investments. The loss was from other financial dealings.

INVESTMENTS

Private American investments abroad came to $2.1 billion, and foreign investments in the United States to $100 million. U.S. banks lent $1.2 billion to foreigners. And Americans added $200 million of long-term foreign securities to their portfolios. Short-term financial dealings show U.S. private investment going to $2.1 billion, offset only in part by $1.2 billion of foreign investment in U.S. short-term securities.

This works out to a net loss of private capital of $4.3 billion.

Government overseas spending for defense came to $2.8 billion, and grants and loans to other nations drained $3.8 billion more.

All of these loss sources, private and government, are likely to come under fire, both in Congress and out, as the debate on what to do about gold and about the payments deficit gains in fervor.

TRADE GAP

And the drive to increase the U.S. trade gap — the surplus of exports over imports — will be pushed even harder now that the payments deficit has increased again after the encouraging drop of a year ago.

★ ★ ★

The investment community battles the charge that it is U.S. bank loans, the purchase of foreign securities, or the use of American dollars to build plants abroad that should be blamed — and curbed. Financial and corporate spokesmen insist that in the long run the yields on such outgoing dollars will increase the return flow to the better health of the U.S. economy.

★ ★ ★

But for the short haul, the search for measures that will plug the drain — and thus make the debate over the gold cover academic — is likely to grow more intense.

Successful Investing

By ROGER E. SPEAR

(Q) "Our two daughters have money in the bank, which pays an interest rate of 4 per cent. One daughter is six and the other five, and I was wondering if I could increase their capital by the time they reach their maturity by investing the money in stocks. I was considering Corn Products, Standard Oil of California, New England Telephone and Consolidated Edison. What is your advice?" J. R.

(A) Money in the bank is fixed as to principal and can only grow by the addition of compound interest.

If you are prepared to weather some market fluctuations over the next 12 to 13 years, I believe your daughters' money should be invested in strong stocks that can enhance their capital over a period of time. I like Corn Products, though its earnings last year were probably off a little for the first time in a decade, due to expansion costs.

Standard of California is also satisfactory, but New England Tel. and Cons. Edison are rather slow as to growth. For your objective I would substitute Merck & Co., and Winn-Dixie Stores.

(Q) "I am a high school student hoping to go to college in a few years. I have $500 in the bank and $100 E Bonds. Can you suggest a stock in which I could invest? I was thinking of Emerson Radio." R. S.

(A) I would hold your E bond, since this is as good as cash in an emergency. As your initial stock purchase, I would not advise Emerson which has had a somewhat erratic price and earnings pattern in recent years.

I think you should buy fewer shares of a much stronger stock with better growth prospects. I suggest General Telephone.

Area Ad Firm Forms New Subsidiary

Ernest A. Jones, president of MacManus, John & Adams, Inc., today announced formation of Public Relations Programs, Inc., as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Bloomfield Hills advertising agency.

The new public relations company, of which Jones also is president, will have its headquarters in New York under the direction of Tom Maloney, also an officer of MacManus, John & Adams.

Virgil LaMarre, 237 Tilbury, Birmingham, is vice president in charge of Midwestern operations in Detroit.

Frank Skinner, 120 Interlaken, Orchard Lake, vice president in charge of corporate relations for the parent company, has been named a director of the new firm.

★ ★ ★

Public Relations Programs, Inc. also will maintain offices in Toronto to serve Canadian clients.

4 Lapeer Men Form Company

A new organization, C.G.L. Manufacturing Co., has been formed by four Lapeer men who plan to introduce a line of camping trailers with the trade name Crusader.

The company expects to employ 75 persons at full production in the first quarter of 1965.

Principals are Robert Gertiser, president; Robert Cronin, Ben Graham and Marvin Le Duc, vice presidents.

Cronin and Graham were formerly with Vesely Manufacturing Co., also of Lapeer, manufacturers of Apache camping trailers.

First model to come off the production lines is the Crusader Knight, which, according to the manufacturers, has twice the usable floor space of any other camping trailer.

Soybean Futures Hit High Ground

CHICAGO (AP)—Soybean futures prices pushed into high ground for the season today on strong commission house buying of the product and soybean oil.

★ ★ ★

Near the end of the first hour soybeans were ⅞ to 2½ cents a bushel higher, March $3.12⅛; wheat was ⅜ to ⅝ higher, March $1.51 ¼; Corn ½ lower to ½ higher, March $1.28¾; oats ⅛ to ⅜ higher, March 71½-⅜ cents, and rye ⅜ to 1⅝ higher, March $1.22⅞.

Longest Dry Spell

A little California desert town named Bagdad (appropriately) probably holds the record for the longest dry spell in the United States. This aridity lasted from October of 1912 to November of 1914, a total of 767 days.

MICHAEL R. BECKER

Credit Union Elects Chief

Michael R. Becker, 1844 Lakeland, Sylvan Lake, was elected president of the GMTC Employes Federal Credit Union at its 29th annual meeting held recently.

★ ★ ★

Becker has been a member of the board of directors since the credit union was organized and served as the first full term president in 1937.

Other officers elected were Rudolph Hartman, vice president; H. W. Reeve, secretary; and Harry J. Woodman, treasurer.

GMTC Credit Union directors declared a dividend of four per cent on shares for the 17th consecutive year and a 15 per cent interest refund, making a total of $608,845 returned to the members for 1964.

Assets at the end of 1964 were listed as $11,353,512.

Ideological Debate Will Go On--Chou

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai was quoted today as saying that the ideological debates between Peking and Moscow will continue.

Chou was quoted by the official news agency Antara as making the statement to a group of Indonesian newsmen who visited Peking recently.

Chou stressed that the "debates between Marxism-Leninism on one side and revisionism on the other will not halt but will be continued," Antara reported.

U. N. Project in Jeopardy

Thant Seeks Cash for Cyprus Operation

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary General U Thant has appealed for cash from countries which pledged to finance the 11-month-old U.N. peace force on Cyprus. The project is endangered by lack of funds.

The Security Council last December extended the force until March 27 but it can't continue unless more money is obtained. Thirty-three countries pledged funds.

★ ★ ★

The United States, which promised $6.6 million for the first nine months, has not made any additional commitments. But U.S. sources said a contribution will be made.

The United Nations already faces bankruptcy over failure of the Soviet Union, France and 11 other nations to pay back assessments for the Congo and Middle East peace-keeping forces.

LAST MARCH

The Security Council launched the Cyprus operation last March to stem the Mediterranean island's civil war.

The Soviet Union and France insisted that the operation be financed by donations. Neither country has paid anything toward the Cyprus force.

★ ★ ★

The United States customarily has made a contribution matching the other pledges at the start of each three-month extension. No reason was given for failing to do so now. Delegates speculated that Washington wanted to impress upon members what could happen if the United States refused to pay for such operations.

★ ★ ★

Pledges and contributions for the current three-month period total only $1,330,000 against anticipated expenses of $7 million. Britain has pledged a million of this, its regular pledge since the outset.

Name Roadside Park

LANSING (AP) — The State Highway Department has named a roadside park on M25 eight miles southwest of Port Austin in Huron County in honor of Leon Luke, department director of maintenance, who retires Friday after 24 years of service.

None Injured as Bullet Hits U. S. Club in Viet

SAIGON (UPI) — A spent bullet crashed through a window of the U.S. Army Officers Club here last night. It landed behind the bar and no one was hurt.

★ ★ ★

About six officers were in the club when the incident happened. The club is located on the top floor of the Brink Hotel, a five-story building used to billet American personnel.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Here is another hand from the world championship team trials that favored light opening bids.

JACOBY

At two tables South opened the bidding with one club.

From then on the bidding proceeded as in the box and landed at three no-trump.

If West in either case had been inspired he could have beaten that contract two tricks. All he had to do would be to lead the ace and jack of spades and shift to a heart but each West opened his five of hearts. At both tables East took his ace.

One East returned the suit whereupon South ran off 12 tricks. At the other table East shifted to a spade and West cashed the ace and jack of spades to hold South to four odd.

The lucky no-trump bidders gained 10 International Match Points apiece while their opponents lost the same amount.

At all other tables North and South played a conservative club or diamond part score and wound up making three or four odd.

Of course, the unfortunate players who had game made against them were most unlucky but in my opinion their bad luck lay in the fact that seven pairs stayed out of game. True, there is no way to make three no-trump against perfect defense but there is also no reason to assume that defense will always be perfect. Remember that the man on opening lead only sees 13 cards.

♥♣CARD Sense♠♦

The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Dble.	?

You, South, hold: ♠2 ♥KJ765 ♦32 ♣AQ943

What do you do?

A—Bid one heart. You are strong enough to redouble, but you may be crowded in the bidding if you redouble and your opponents make a strong move in spades.

TODAY'S QUESTION

You bid one heart. West bids one spade. Your partner passes and East bids three spades. What do you do now?

Celebrate the Year of the Serpent

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

If you're looking for a good theme for a party this week, you can celebrate the Chinese New Year.

Although the second day of the second month is the official holiday, you can celebrate anytime in February. Most Chinese New Year's festivals last 15 days.

This is the year 4663, the Year of the Serpent.

According to custom, all debts are to be paid before the old year ends (too late for that now), business is suspended and everyone is merry and devoted to gaiety.

Weeks of preparation go into the celebrations in Chinese homes. The house is scrubbed, new clothes are made and special foods are cooked.

The home is decorated with potted orange plants and narcissi. Orange blossoms signify abundance and fruitfulness and narcissi mean good luck.

One of our sources suggests using the vacuum cleaner hose swatched in paper or plaid to represent the serpent or snake. Keep your color scheme red and white.

You can find paper lanterns and incense in novelty stores.

Of course your food will be Chinese — at least what we in America consider Chinese.

Plan your meal around a soup, four main courses and tea. Add dessert if you wish. You can buy Chinese fortune cookies in some bakeries.

Here's a soup and a main dish for a starter.

Watercress Soup

2 cups watercress, tightly packed
½ pound lean beef
1 tablespoon soy sauce
1 teaspoon salt
1 package egg drop soup mix
4 cups cold water
¼ teaspoon sesame seed oil

Wash watercress thoroughly and discard hard stems. Dice lean beef fine and mix well in bowl with soy sauce, oil and salt. Allow to stand for 30 minutes. Add 1 packet soup mix to water, bring to boil and add watercress.

Stir well and when it comes to boil again, add drop of sesame seed oil and meat. Bring to boil again; stir thoroughly. Serve very hot.

Fried Rice with Beef and Peppers

1 package fried rice mix
4 cups water
1 pound filet steak
2 tablespoons oil
2 onions, sliced
1 green pepper, cut in strips

MARINADE — Mix together
1 tablespoon soy sauce
½ teaspoon sugar
2 teaspoons sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons cold water

Bring water to boil; add rice and simmer 15 minutes. Drain and rinse with cold water.

While rice is cooking, cut meat into small pieces. Place in marinating mixture and let stand for 10 minutes.

Heat a pan with 2 tablespoons oil and when it is very hot, add meat; saute for 2 minutes. Remove and set aside. Saute onions 'til they become brown, add green pepper and stir one minute or 'til it turns bright green. Remove vegetables and set aside.

In the same pan, add one tablespoon oil and cooked rice. Add seasoning (packet b). Blend in Brown Sauce (packet A) until rice is uniform color.

Add sauted onion, peppers, beef. Mix well, heating gently. Turn off heat, stir again and serve immediately in shallow bowl. Serves 4 - 6.

You may like the following recipe so well that you'll put it on your list of favorite hot appetizers.

Shrimp Flower Bacon Wrap

½ pound bacon
6 large shrimp or prawns
½ cup ground pork, ground beef or any kind of ground fish
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1 teaspoon egg white
¼ cup vegetable oil
Salt to taste

Cut bacon in half crosswise. Shell, de-vein, wash and chop shrimp and mix with the above ingredients.

Put 1 heaping teaspoon mixture into ½ slice of bacon. Wrap bacon around mixture twice.

Heat oil in skillet. Fry bacon wrap 3 to 4 minutes at medium heat.

These last two recipes add a few touches of the old Far East to modern foods of the young West. They are not Chinese recipes.

"Chow Mein Burger"

3 pounds ground beef
1 egg, beaten
½ cup soy sauce
½ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon salt
1½ cups chopped onion
1½ cups sliced mushrooms, cooked
1½ cups bean sprouts, drained
1½ cups chow mein noodles

Mix together meat, egg, soy sauce, salt, pepper and onion. Add all other ingredients and mix well. Form into patties and fry like hamburgers. Place on hamburger bun and serve with additional soy sauce. Makes 25.

Chinese Pizzas

1 2-lbs., 2 oz. can beef or chicken chop suey
2 dozen prepared biscuits
2 dozen thin strips of pimento
½ cup chopped mushrooms
1½ cups grated sharp cheese

Heat chop suey. Roll biscuits flat on floured board. Flute edges slightly and bake at 425 degrees for 5 minutes. Remove from oven and fill with heated chop suey.

Top with sliced mushrooms, pimento strips and sharp cheese. Broil until cheese melts. Makes 24.

CHINESE 'PIZZA, BURGERS' — Two teen favorites, pizza and hamburgers, become appropriate and tasty treats for fashionable Far East parties by the addition of popular Chinese foods. Bean sprouts add crispness to Chow Mein Burgers (upper right); chow mein biscuits and canned chicken or beef chow suey make up the Chinese pizzas (left).

FRIED RICE — The Chinese make a little meat go a long way. In this dish, beef pieces and green pepper strips with fried rice is interesting. Serve with cups of tea.

New Luxury Preserves Liqueur Flavored

New preserves in the luxury class are flavored with Grand Marnier, an orange-cognac liquer. The varieties are clear jelly, marmalade made from Seville oranges, and elberta peach preserves. The liqueur flavor predominates in all three.

The 6½-ounce glasses are available individually or in a gift pack containing one glass of each.

Deviled Potatoes

A main dish can be simply prepared with baked potatoes. While they're still hot, scoop out the pulp and mash with meaty deviled ham, milk and butter. Return to shells and broil until golden brown.

Sharp Sauce for Beans

With all the talk about a population explosion, we sometimes wonder whether there is such a thing as a small family. Well, there is, and here is a recipe for a family of three—that can be doubled for a family of six.

Green Bean Supper Platter

1 package (9 oz.) frozen French green beans with sauteed mushrooms

* * *

1 tablespoon butter
2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 cup milk
1 bouillon cube
½ teaspoon Worchestershire sauce
½ cup grated cheese

* * *

4 eggs
1 large tomato, cut in wedges
Parsley or watercress

Cook beans as directed on package. Drain, if necessary.

Meanwhile, melt butter in saucepan. Remove from heat. Blend in flour and mustard. Gradually stir in milk. Add bouillon cube. Cook and stir over medium heat until sauce is smooth and thickened.

Add Worcestershire sauce and cheese; stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat.

Scramble eggs. Spoon into center of warmed serving platter. Arrange beans around eggs. Pour on the cheese sauce.

Garnish with tomatoes and parsley. Makes 3 servings.

Goulash Reheats Well

Winter is the time for active outdoor sports whether it's skiing or skating in chilly snowy areas or water skiing or deep-sea fishing where it's sunny and warm.

Sports enthusiasts are bound to work up terrific appetites, and alpine goulash served atop noodles is just right to satisfy the pangs of hunger and restore lost energy.

Ever popular goulash and noodles is an "easy on the hostess" dish. The goulash may be prepared early in the day or a day ahead of time, and stored in the refrigerator until serving time, then heated while the noodles are cooking.

The recipe is simple and combines protein-rich cubes of inexpensive beef round with onions and tomato sauce. The dish is then seasoned to perfection with garlic, caraway and dill seed.

Long, slow, moist cooking turns the cubes of beef into tender, juicy morsels which makes every bite taste like more.

Onion rolls, an Old World favorite, may be purchased at the bakery or delicatessen, or made quickly, by filling indentations in the center tops of refrigerated biscuits with salted chopped onions sauted before baking.

Alpine Goulash

2½ pounds boneless round steak, cut into 1½ inch cubes
2 tablespoons beef drippings or shortening
3 cups coarsely chopped onion
1 clove garlic, minced
1 can (8 ounce) tomato sauce
2 tablespoons brown sugar
1 tablespoon paprika
1½ teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 teaspoon dill seed
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ pint (1 cup) sour cream, optional
Hot buttered and seasoned cooked noodles

Brown meat well on all sides in hot drippings or shortening. Turn beef cubes as needed to brown evenly. Add onion, garlic, tomato sauce and seasonings; mix carefully.

Cover and cook slowly until beef cubes are tender, about 2½ hours. If desired, stir sour cream into mixture just before serving.

Serve atop hot buttered and seasoned cooked noodles. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Candy Maker Puts Mark on Pieces

NEW YORK (UPI) — Ever wonder about the initials and symbols on chocolate candy? Margaret Sheehan, official candy taster for the Loft Candy Corp. reports that the universal symbols used by candy makers include the following.

A square piece with a "V" is vanilla caramel. The letter "O" stands for orange cream filling, "P" for pineapple, "R" for raspberry.

Dice Orange for Spread

If your children like sweet sandwiches, give them this kind.

California Sandwich Spread

1 orange, peeled, diced
1 tablespoon honey
1-3 cup peanut butter
1 tablespoon mayonnaise
Sprinkle salt

Drain orange pieces, combine with honey, peanut butter, mayonnaise and salt, blending well. Makes about ¾ cup. Use as spread for lunch box sandwiches.

Next time you serve liver paste as a spread for crackers, you might like to try adding pine nuts to it. Interesting flavor and texture change for company!

DARK CHERRY PIE-IN-THE-SKY — It's only a paper moon—but the heavenly pie is real! Two convenience foods, canned pitted dark sweet cherries and instant nonfat dry milk crystals, give this chiffon pie a lovely rose color, a high and light texture and a sumptuous flavor.

Pie Is Out of This World

"High as the sky and light as a cloud" describes perfectly the beautiful dark cherry chiffon pie shown here.

Canned pitted dark sweet cherries are pureed to impart a rosy glow to the luscious filling of whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals, gelatin and egg whites.

A few cherries are left whole, and their deep purple hue provides a dramatic garnish.

The rich sweet flavor of the sumptuous fruit is reason enough for its use. But because the tedious pitting has been done by the packers, these cherries are also convenient to use.

The instant crystals offer additional convenience, plus economy. Whipped, they give the fine texture so necessary in a high and light chiffon pie.

Their delicately rich flavor carries the nourishment — proteins, B-vitamins, phosphorous and calcium — of whole milk, but with far fewer calories.

Dark Cherry Pie-In-the-Sky

1½ cups graham cracker crumbs
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg
¼ cup butter, melted
1 can (1 pound) pitted dark sweet cherries
1 package (3 ounces) cherry-flavor gelatin
1 teaspoon grated lemon or orange peel
1½ cups whipped instant nonfat dry milk crystals*
2 egg whites, at room temperature

Mix together crumbs, sugar, nutmeg and butter. Press firmly against bottom and sides of 9-inch pie plate. Bake in 375 degree (moderate) oven 8 minutes; cool.

Drain cherries; bring syrup to boil. Stir in gelatin until dissolved. Reserving 12 cherries for garnish, puree remainder in electric blender or food mill; stir in gelatin mixture. Add lemon peel.

Chill until mixture mounds slightly when dropped from a spoon. Fold in instant crystals* and egg whites, beaten stiff but not dry.

★ ★ ★

Turn into prepared pie shell. Chill until firm. If desired, top with additional whipped instant crystals*.

Garnish with reserved cherries. Makes one pie.

To whip instant nonfat dry milk crystals: (Makes about 1½ cups).

1. Mix ½ cup instant nonfat dry milk crystals with ⅓ cup ice water in bowl.
2. Whip until soft peaks form (3 to 4 minutes). Add 1½ tablespoons lemon or orange juice.
3. Continue whipping until stiff peaks form (3 to 4 minutes longer).
4. Gradually add 3 tablespoons sugar.

Second Way With Meat Is Important

CHICAGO — You can tell a good cook by the way she handles leftovers. With care and ingenuity, a good cook can make yesterday's meat as attractive as it was the first time around. There's money to be saved, too, in using every tasty bit of meat to advantage.

Here are some general suggestions from the American Meat Institute on getting the most from leftovers.

First, take good care of the leftovers. Store them in the refrigerator, covered tightly to prevent drying. To save space, cut meat from bones.

The meat can be sliced and used for hot and cold sandwiches. Heat slices in gravy or barbecue sauce.

★ ★ ★

Cube the meat and use in casseroles with noodles, spaghetti, macaroni or mixed vegetables. Add to cream sauce with green pepper and pimiento and serve over toast.

MEAT PIE

Make a meat pie with a mashed potato topping. Diced ham is a tasty addition to omelettes and other egg dishes.

Brighten up a main-dish salad with slivers of cooked meat.

Grind the meat and mix with mayonnaise and relishes for sandwich fillings. Use ground leftovers in stuffed green peppers, stuffed tomatoes or cabbage rolls.

Use in meat croquettes, fritters, meat patties or spaghetti sauce. Spread meat on biscuit dough, roll up and bake.

Your food pages and recipe books brim with ideas. You, too, can make leftovers into family favorites.

Creamy Style

Some fine cooks like to add a little heavy cream to their homemade corned beef hash. This makes a perfect dish for a company brunch, especially when it is served with homemade chili sauce.

Fresh Flavor in Gelatine for Salad

Sunshine salad . . . a delectable shimmering gelatine salad is welcome any time of the year. Thanks to reliable unflavored gelatine, there's little cooking involved—only the few minutes required to dissolve the unflavored gelatine.

Make Sunshine Salad in a mold or loaf for the company buffet, or in a bowl for family service.

Sunshine Salad

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup cold water
1 can (9 ounces) crushed pineapple
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup shredded carrot

Put unflavored gelatine, sugar and salt into small saucepan; blend well. Stir in water. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatine is dissolved; remove from heat.

Drain syrup from pineapple into measuring cup; add enough water to make 1 cup. Add pineapple syrup with water and lemon juice to gelatine mixture in saucepan.

Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white, stirring occasionally. Mix in drained pineapple and grated carrot.

Turn into a 3-cup mold or 6½-cup molds. Chill until firm. Unmold; garnish with salad greens.

Ham and Yams Served in Shells

Any leftover ham may be used this way.

Stuffed Yams and Ham

4 medium yams
2 tablespoons dark brown sugar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
½ teaspoon each salt and allspice
⅛ teaspoon nutmeg
½ pound (1½ cups) diced cooked ham
1 can (11 ounces) mandarin oranges, drained.

Bake yams in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 1 hour or until tender; slit lengthwise; scoop out pulp leaving about ¼-inch of it in shells.

Mash yams with sugar, butter, salt, allspice and nutmeg; mix in ham and ½ cup of the orange segments. Mound in yam shells; top with remaining oranges.

Bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 20 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 8 servings.

Tangy Frozen Desserts Are Lemon Flavored

If you have ever been in the lemon groves of Southern California or Arizona, you know the wonder of their fragrance.

Fresh lemon juice and grated rind bring to recipes some of that same delightful tang. To prove it, enjoy these two California recipes.

Creamy Lemon Sherbet

2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
2 cups milk
1 cup sugar
2-3 cup fresh lemon juice
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
⅛ teaspoon salt
2 egg whites

★ ★ ★

Combine gelatin, milk and sugar in saucepan and stir over low heat until milk is scalded. Cool. Slowly stir in lemon juice, add grated peel and salt.

★ ★ ★

Pour into two 3½ cup freezing trays and freeze until mushy. Pour mixture into chilled bowl, beat vigorously for a few minutes until mixture is light and fluffy.

Return to trays and freeze until just firm. Makes 2 trays.

Lemon Apricot Velvet

1 1-pound can apricot halves
½ cup fresh lemon juice
1½ cups sugar
2 cups light whipping cream whipped (or 2 cups evaporated milk, chilled and whipped)
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel

★ ★ ★

Drain apricots and puree. Add lemon juice and sugar to apricot puree. Whip cream to consistency of thick custard; fold into apricot mixture. Blend in grated lemon peel; pour into refrigerator tray and freeze.

Freeze until just firm, stirring once. Makes 2 trays.

Poach Fish in Beer for New Taste

If you collect recipes (doesn't everybody?) here's a must to clip, try and treasure.

This fish dish will please a husband whether he's a fisherman and brings you the wherewithal, or the local market is your fish pond. Serve it to guests and they'll call you a gourmet cook.

★ ★ ★

It's fillets of flounder, perch, sole or other fish poached in golden beer, and it couldn't be simpler.

This is an all-year-round-dish, so file it where you'll find it often.

Everything is prepared in one skillet in approximately 20 minutes, so the time involved is negligible, making this recipe doubly valuable when you're entertaining and hate to spend too much time in the kitchen away from guests.

Poached Fillets of Fish

12 ounces (bottle or can) beer or ale
Juice of one lemon
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon whole black peppers
1 bay leaf
1 onion, sliced
Few sprigs parsley
1 small carrot, sliced
1½ pounds fillet of flounder, perch, sole or other fish

★ ★ ★

In large skillet, combine beer, lemon juice, salt, peppers, bay leaf, onion, parsley and carrot. Bring to a boil and simmer 10 minutes. Add fish fillets.

Cover and simmer 8 to 10 minutes or until fish is easily flaked with a fork. Yield: 4 servings.

Fix Bread Baskets From Long Buns

To make toasty baskets for breakfast eggs, first scoop out the centers of unsliced enriched hamburger buns.

★ ★ ★

Brush the insides of the "baskets" with butter or margarine seasoned with herbs, if you like, then toast under broiler or in a hot oven.

★ ★ ★

Fill toast baskets with creamy scrambled eggs. Save the scooped-out crumbs for breading meat or fish, or adding to meat loaves.

For Anadama Bread

Lazy Wife Deserves Thanks

Folklore has it that a fisherman developed and named "Anna, damn her" bread after his lazy wife who didn't like to cook.

Polite society has modified the name to Anadama Bread but the batter bread method remains a favorite throughout the country.

Ever say, "I just can't bake bread?" Then Anadama Batter Bread is made for you. It saves time and effort; besides, it's practically foolproof if you follow the simple directions.

Anadama Batter Bread is a hearty old-fashioned combination of cornmeal and molasses for good eating at breakfast, luncheon or dinner. The enriched cornmeal lends a delightful crunchiness and special flavor to the bread.

Like other batter breads, Anadama is best when served fresh from the oven — a feature that's certain to please the family!

Because a batter bread contains more liquid than a regular yeast bread, it's beaten by hand or with the electric mixer, thus eliminating kneading.

The baked bread has an open, lacy texture making the appearance similar to a quick bread.

Anadama Batter Bread

2 cakes compressed or 2 pkg. dry yeast
½ cup lukewarm water
1½ cups enriched cornmeal
¼ cup shortening
½ cup molasses
1 tablespoon salt
2 cups boiling water
4 cups sifted all-purpose flour

★ ★ ★

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. (Use warm water for dry yeast.) Combine cornmeal, shortening, molasses and salt in large bowl. Stir in boiling water; cool to lukewarm.

Beat in 1 cup of the flour. Stir in softened yeast. Add 2 cups of the flour, beating 2 minutes on medium speed of electric mixer or 300 vigorous strokes with a wooden spoon.

Beat in remaining 1 cup flour with spoon. (Batter will be sticky.)

Spoon into two greased 8½x4½x2½-inch loaf pans. Spread batter evenly with a buttered spatula or knife to smooth top.

Cover; let rise in warm place until nearly double in size, about 45 minutes.

Bake in preheated moderate oven (375 degrees) about 50 minutes. Remove from pans immediately. Brush lightly with melted butter. Cool. Makes 2 loaves.

ANADAMA BREAD — Anadama Batter Bread, developed by a fisherman whose wife wouldn't cook, according to folklore, is a wholesome combination of molasses and enriched corn meal.

Molded Salad Has a Carrier

CHICAGO — A combination jell'n carry mold and pastry keeper that eliminates the homemaker's old problem of gelatin molds that stick to the pan is now available from Ekco Housewares Company.

The set features a high dome plastic cover and an aluminum re-usable foilware base that has been permanently embossed in an attractive star pattern.

★ ★ ★

Instead of placing the plastic mold in hot water to loosen the gelatin, all the housewife does is flex the cover and the gelatin leaves the sides of the mold without sticking.

★ ★ ★

As a pastry keeper, the plastic dome fits snugly over the base to keep in freshness. Fluting on the dome sides provides greater crush resistance.

To enliven the color of mayonnaise made with a whole egg, add paprika.

Canned Fish Mixture Fills Little Pasta Tubes

Nearly every hostess' recipe repertoire includes several fascinating appetizers. A creative cook can really shine when she concocts these bite-size tid-bits for the enjoyment of her family and guests.

Have you ever prepared appetizers from macaroni? If not, you're in for a treat.

Make these Party-Time Rigatoni Appetizers to serve with other snacks such as crackers 'n' cheese and finger sandwiches. Your guests will be intrigued, then delighted, when they taste the delicious results of your efforts.

Rigatoni, incidentally, are short hollow tubes of macaroni and quite easy to fill with the tuna or salmon salad filling.

Party-Time Rigatoni Appetizers

8 ounces enriched rigatoni
2 cans (7 oz. each) tuna or salmon
⅔ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
½ cup chopped nuts
¼ cup chopped green onions
2 tablespoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ cup dried parsley flakes

★ ★ ★

In boiling, salted water cook macaroni until tender, yet firm, 10 to 12 minutes; drain. In medium-sized mixing bowl break tuna or salmon into small pieces.

Stir in mayonnaise or salad dressing, nuts, green onions, lemon juice and pepper, mixing thoroughly.

Fill each rigatoni with about 1½ teaspoonfuls tuna or salmon mixture. Dip ends in parsley. Refrigerate until serving time. Makes 20 servings.

To pep up oil and vinegar dressing for salad, add a generous pinch of cayenne pepper.

Apples Flame When Served on Toast Base

A new flaming version of an old recipe is still popular.

Flaming Baked Apples

6 medium baking apples
¼ cup boiling water
⅓ cup sugar
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¾ teaspoon grated lemon rind
6 teaspoons butter
6 rounds Cinnamon Toast
2 tablespoons dark rum, heated

Wash and core apples; do not peel. Place in a buttered round baking dish (8 by 2 inches); add water.

★ ★ ★

Mix sugar, cinnamon and lemon rind; spoon into apple cavities; add butter. Bake, covered, in a moderate (350 degrees) oven 10 minutes.

Uncover; baste with liquid around apples. Continue baking 20 to 25 minutes or until tender.

Place on Cinnamon Toast. Spoon 1 teaspoon heated rum over each apple and ignite; serve flaming.

Cinnamon Toast

Cut 6 bread slices into 3 to 4 inch rounds; toast lightly; spread with butter; sprinkle with 1½ tablespoons sugar mixed with ¼ teaspoon cinnamon; toast buttered sides lightly again under broiler.

Underbake Brownies

Don't over-bake those brownies if you want them to have a soft fudgelike quality! If a wire cake-tester inserted in the center comes out clean, the brownies may be over-baked! This standard test for cake doesn't always work with brownies.

Leftovers--- but Good

Herbed butter gives new zest to leftover cornbread.

Combine ⅓ cup of melted butter with ¼ teaspoon of oregano, ⅛ teaspoon of marjoram and a dash of garlic powder. Brush onto cornbread that has been cut into one by two-inch sticks.

Wrap cornbread sticks in aluminum foil and heat about 10 minutes, or until hot, in preheated 400-degree oven.

Skip Flour Sifting but Measure Well

Perhaps you prefer not to sift flour in order to save time in baking.

In the absence of other directions, spoon flour directly from container into a one-cup dry measure, level off, then remove two level tablespoonfuls. This is according to recommendations of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Tuna Dip Has Chutney in It

Here's a dip that's really different! You'll really keep them guessing with this one. Canned tuna, one of America's favorite foods, combines with cream cheese and chutney in the tastiest, dippiest blend yet.

Dip-wise, this is a thrifty as well as delectable snack for the holidays. Tuna's in good supply at good prices at your local store. Stock up so you're always prepared for unexpected guests.

Tuna-Chutney Dip is a snap to fix and it's all planned to make a lot for a big holiday party. All you have to do is blend the mild, delicate tuna chunks with the other ingredients in a simple one-bowl operation. Serve with crackers, pretzels, or chips.

Tuna-Chutney Dip

2 8-oz. packages cream cheese
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup prepared mustard
¼ teaspoon cayenne
4 cans (6½ or 7-ozs. each) tuna in vegetable oil
½ cup chopped chutney

Cream together cream cheese, mayonnaise and mustard; stir in cayenne. Add tuna and chutney; blend well. Serve with crisp crackers. Yield: Approximately 5 cups dip.

Even Squares

When you are preparing that great dish, homemade corned beef hash, be sure to cut the squares of boiled potatoes and cooked corned beef the same size.

Pears Can Be Baked Like Apples

For a warm and sunny atmosphere at your dessert table serve Pear Orange Bake. Fresh winter pears, topped with tangy orange segments, are coated generously with a rich buttery orange sauce.

Baked to perfection, the warm fruit may be served with a spoonful of whipped cream or prepared dessert topping sprinkled lightly with nutmeg.

★ ★ ★

Fresh fruit, used here, is a special treat this time of year. Western pears are at their prime right now and all three varieties are delectable whether baked and served warm or eaten out-of-hand, served in salads or munched as a lunch box snack.

The Comice pear, known as the gift box pear, is heart-shaped and often displays a blush on its yellow-green skin.

The Anjou pear is green in color even when fully ripe and has the longest season of the three.

The Bosc, a shapely pear with a long tapering neck, is cinnamon russet in color.

Ripe pears yield to gentle pressure regardless of color. You'll usually find fresh winter pears ripe and ready to eat at your favorite market.

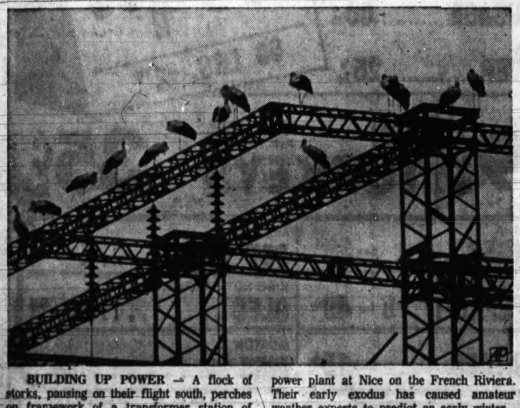
You can buy firm pears with confidence however. They will ripen in a few days at room temperature becoming sweet and juicy, the way you like them.

Pear Orange Bake

3 firm ripe winter pears
2 oranges, sectioned
½ cup sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
3 tablespoons orange juice
3 tablespoons soft butter

Cut pears in half and core. Arrange in baking dish. Top each pear half with orange sections. Combine remaining ingredients and spread over pears and oranges. Cover.

Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until pears are tender. Serve with sweetened whipped cream or prepared dessert topping lightly sprinkled with nutmeg. Makes 6 servings.



BUILDING UP POWER — A flock of storks, pausing on their flight south, perches on framework of a transformer station of power plant at Nice on the French Riviera. Their early exodus has caused amateur weather experts to predict an early winter.

CHEF'S SALAD — A Chef's Salad can be as varied as the dressing. Here strips of salami and Swiss cheese are arranged with tomato, onion and cucumber on a bed of western iceberg lettuce.

Venturesome Cook Has Fun With Salad

If you're the adventuresome type, then a Chef's Salad is your type of dish.

Basically, it is a green salad with the addition of Julienne strips of meat and cheese plus raw vegetables, fish and or shellfish, cooked egg or whatever your ingenuity or appetite dictates.

The fun of being your own chef in creating a Chef's Salad is that the sky is the limit.

Arrange all the extras —the cheese and meat and vegetables — in an attractive pattern on the bed of lettuce and then dress the salad and toss it at the table.

The lettuce for a Chef's Salad should be broken or cut into smaller pieces than you ordinarily would for the usual green salad.

For any salad, the lettuce should be cold and crisp. It will be crisp if you have stored it properly.

The Western Iceberg Lettuce growers suggest that you rinse the lettuce under running water; drain it well and store it in the refrigerator crisper, or wrap it in foil or plastic wrap and store it on the refrigerator shelf.

A basic recipe for Chef's Salad is given here along with a choice of three different and unusual dressings.

Don't forget to throw away the rules in preparing a Chef's Salad. The salami called for in the recipe might be ham, chicken, tongue, turkey or bologna.

The cheese doesn't have to be Swiss cheese and the vegetables might include cold beans or beets, small asparagus spears or artichoke hearts.

You may want to add chunks of tuna or a few shrimp, and slices of avocado.

Instead of French dressing, toss your Chef's Salad with one of these new dressing recipes.

Chef's Salad Bowl

1 quart bite size pieces western iceberg lettuce
1 tomato cut into eighths
1 cucumber, sliced
1 medium onion, sliced
½ cup hard salami strips
½ cup Swiss cheese strips
Sacramento Dressing

Put lettuce into salad bowl. Arrange vegetables, meat and cheese in an attractive manner on top of the lettuce. Toss salad with one of the dressings below.

Sacramento Dressing

½ cup real mayonnaise
2 tablespoons ketchup
1 tablespoon vinegar
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon curry powder
⅛ teaspoon pepper
¼ cup milk

Combine all ingredients. Chill. Makes about ¾ cup dressing. If desired, thin before serving with additional milk.

Cottage Cheese Dressing

½ cup bottled French dressing
½ cup real mayonnaise
¼ cup cottage cheese

Fold French dressing into real mayonnaise. Lightly fold in cottage cheese. Chill. Makes 1½ cups dressing. If desired, thin before serving with additional French dressing.

Hot and Spicy Dressing

½ cup chili sauce
1 teaspoon soy sauce
⅛ teaspoon grated onion
⅛ teaspoon tabasco sauce
1 cup real mayonnaise
½ cup milk

Fold chili sauce, soy sauce, onion, tabasco sauce and milk into mayonnaise. Chill. Makes about 1¾ cups dressing. If desired, thin before serving with additional milk.

Cheese Crown for Dish Full of Eggplant

This eggplant recipe makes a meatless dish that is robust enough for a main course.

Eggplant Plus

1 eggplant (1¼ pounds)
½ cup (about) salad oil
½ cup each finely diced onion and celery
1 cup fine corn flake crumbs
1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms
½ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper
Thinly sliced Cheddar cheese

Pare eggplant and cut into about 10 crosswise slices. Brown eggplant in about ⅓ cup of the oil (adding it as needed) in a skillet.

Place half the eggplant in a deep 9-inch glass pie plate. Add remaining oil to skillet and lightly cook onion and celery in it. Stir in corn flake crumbs, mushrooms (including liquid), salt and pepper.

Sprinkle over eggplant in pie plate; top with remaining eggplant. Place cheese over top.

Bake in a moderate (375 degrees) oven for about 30 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Salt and Spice Contribute to Good Food

What do you know about food additives? How often do you make use of them in your own kitchen: Day in and day out, that's how often. Some of them are such old friends they're not even thought of as being food additives.

★ ★ ★

One of your familiar friends, salt, is one of the oldest food additives known. Primitive man, wanting to make his food supply last for a long time, used salt to preserve his meat.

★ ★ ★

Spices, favorite additions to so many foods, have been used for thousands of years to preserve as well as to add flavor.

Some food additives are described chemically as antioxidants because they prevent darkening of food caused by the oxygen in the air. When you dip fresh apple slices in lemon juice to keep them white, you are using an antioxidant.

The ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) in the juice is an antioxidant that is often used commercially to prevent darkening of fruits during processing.

Glamourize Beans to Serve for Sunday Brunch Buffet

Many hostesses agree one of the nicest ways to entertain is at brunch. Not a breakfast, not a luncheon either, it's a happy combination of both and what you decide to serve can be a pleasant surprise.

★ ★ ★

Borrow a leaf from the Yankee cookbook for this midday Sunday occasion. Have a bubbling hotpot of baked beans to go with little pork sausages flanked by crisp bacon and chicken livers. This a menu men and women both like.

Garnish the meats with parsley. Appetizers can include celery, green onions and olives. Serve with plenty of hot rolls and a choice of coffee or chocolate.

★ ★ ★

Yours is sure to be a gala brunch party everyone will long remember!

Brunch Buffet Beans

3 one-pound cans beans with tomato sauce
2 unpeeled apples, cored and sliced ½" thick
2 medium onions sliced thin
Dash of pepper
Juice of 2 lemons
Walnut-size nugget of butter
2 tablespoons shredded coconut
1 teaspoon curry powder

In pot or casserole, alternate layers of beans, apples and onions with beans the top layer. Sprinkle pepper and lemon juice over all and dot with bits of butter. Cover and bake in 350 degree oven 30 minutes.

Mix curry powder with cocoanut and sprinkle over top to bake uncovered an additional 10 minutes. Serves 6 to 8.

Any leftovers? It isn't likely but if you find you have some extra beans use them for a delicious meal another time with a green tossed salad.

Tomorrow's Lunch

Heat baked beans and pour into individual fireproof serving dishes. Crack in an egg over each and top with grated cheese. Put under grill briefly till eggs are cooked.

Sharp Basting

Pennsylvania - Dutch style with ham loaf; baste the loaf with a dressing made of brown sugar, dry or prepared mustard, cider vinegar and water.

Tomatoes Top Chicken for Oven Baking

Chicken from the oven means no last-minute watching!

Savory Baked Chicken

6 large pieces of frying chicken
½ cup flour
1 teaspoon each paprika and garlic salt
2 tablespoons each oil and butter
6 medium-thick slices tomato
2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon lemon juice
½ cup each white wine and chicken broth
Avocado slices

Coat chicken with a mixture of the flour, paprika and garlic salt. Heat the oil and butter in a large skillet and brown the chicken slowly and well in it.

Arrange chicken pieces close together in a shallow baking pan; sprinkle with any flour mixture left from coating. Place tomato over chicken; sprinkle with onion and lemon juice; add the mixed wine and broth.

Cover and bake in a moderate (350 degrees) oven until tender — 30 to 40 minutes. Garnish with avocado. Makes 6 servings.

Laos Capital Quiet, Tense

Loyalists in Control; No New Skirmishes

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vientiane was reported quiet but tense today with loyalist forces of the deputy chief of staff, Gen. Koupresith Abhay, apparently in control of the Laotian capital after an abortive revolt in the army.

Reliable informants in Thailand reported no new fighting today in Vientiane.

★ ★ ★

Eight persons were known killed and 38 others wounded in bitter fighting Wednesday before Abhay's men put down the revolt of some 800 dissidents.

The U.S. and Thai embassy buildings in Vientiane sustained minor damage. A Thai Embassy official was among the dead. None of the 1,000 Americans in the capital was believed hurt.

STILL CLOSED

Vientiane airport was reported still closed to commercial traffic.

An unconfirmed report in Bangkok said foreign correspondents in Vientiane had been arrested.

★ ★ ★

Thai officials said nearly 10,000 persons fled Laos and sought refuge in the Nongkhai area of northern Thailand.

Among the refugees were dependents of Thai Embassy personnel in Vientiane, evacuated following the shelling of the embassy.

ON ALERT

Thailand army and air force units near the Laotian border remained on alert.

The rebel leader, Col. Bounlert Sycossie, headed an unsuccessful army uprising on Sunday night. A U.S. spokesman said that he switched to the loyalist side in Wednesday's fighting.

★ ★ ★

Deputy Premier Phoumi Nosavan, a rightist general who once headed the army, charged in an interview that Kouprasith was to blame for the hostilities. Earlier Phoumi had rejected the charge of Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma that Phoumi was behind the uprisings in an effort to regain power.

"We will counterattack," Phoumi was quoted as saying in an interview Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

An unconfirmed report in Bangkok today said the Phoumi had left Vientiane for the Mekong River town of Paksane, a right-wing garrison 75 miles northeast of Vientiane.

Texans Get 'Ammo'

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP)—Students at Michigan Tech are supplying ammunition for a snowball fight in Texas.

Tech campus leaders say 500 snowballs scheduled to be airlifted today to Southwest Texas State College will give students at the San Marcos, Tex., school a chance to experience "joys of a real snowball fight."

The snowball airlift is sponsored by Blue Key, a national honors fraternity, and is a part of Michigan Tech's annual winter carnival.

MAN IN THE STREET — Britain's Prime Minister Harold Wilson walks unnoticed in the street yesterday as guests arrive at 10 Downing Street for a tea party given by his wife. Wilson last night decided to postpone his trip to Washington in order to have more time to discuss nuclear strategy with the West Germans.

JA Fund Campaign Gets Under Way This Month

February is Junior Achievement fund campaign month in Pontiac, according to Robert K. Russell, 164 Glengarry, Bloomfield Township, general chairman of the 1965 drive.

The goal for this year is $10,417. Approximately 250 area firms will be solicited.

Members of the fund committee besides Russell, assistant director of purchasing at GMC Truck & Coach Division include:

George W. Olson of GMC Truck & Coach Division; Richard W. Fisher of Maple Leaf Dairy; Henry Gotham of Pontiac Retail Store; Ralph Norvell of Austin-Norvell Insurance Co.; Carroll Osmun of the Community National Bank of Pontiac; Donald R. Rhoads of Consumers Power Co.; John Riley of The Pontiac Press; Ted Pearson Jr. of Universal Oil Seal Co.; M. L. Prashaw and D.P. Duross of Pontiac Motor Division; plus 20 other local campaign workers.

★ ★ ★

For the past 14 years Junior Achievement has been teaching the principles of American business.

★ ★ ★

Students between the ages of 15 and 19 are organized into small companies which perform all of the functions and encounter many of the problems faced by established, larger corporations.

The JA program starts in October each year with assemblies in various schools.

Applicants are assigned to one of the JA companies and meet one evening each week at the Pontiac Junior Achievement Business Center.

Any student, regardless of race, color or creed is welcome to enroll.

James Middleton, a teacher at Waterford Haviland Elementary School, is coordinator for the Pontiac area.

Death Claims Area Architect

BIRMINGHAM — H. Augustus O'Dell, well-known architect and prominent area citizen, died Tuesday after a long illness. He was 89.

★ ★ ★

O'Dell, who lived at 1119 Pilgrim, was a senior member and former president of the firm of O'Dell, Hewlett & Luckenbach, architects of Ford Auditorium, Detroit.

A WWI veteran, he resigned as a colonel and took part in the first American Legion caucus at St. Louis in 1919. He was subsequently named first commander of the Frederick M. Alger American Legion Post, Birmingham.

O'Dell was responsible for the creation of the zoning board of Bloomfield Hills and served on it as secretary and appraiser for seven years.

★ ★ ★

He was also a Bloomfield Hills municipal judge for about seven years, and was cofounder of Camp Oakland near Oxford.

AWARD WINNER

As a fellow of the American Institute of Architects, he received that group's Gold Medal Honor Award in 1957, and was a president of the Michigan Society of Architects, for three terms.

Funeral service will be 1 p.m. tomorrow at Christ Church Cranbrook, Bloomfield Hills, followed by private burial.

His body will be at Vasu-Lynch Funeral Home, Royal Oak, until 11 a.m. tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

His wife Kathleen survives.

Memorial contributions can be made to Camp Oakland, Oxford.

Icy Weather Grips Much of Nation

By The Associated Press

Zero temperatures maintained a tenacious grip today from the central and northern Plains to the Atlantic.

The mercury failed to climb above the zero mark Wednesday over much of the area from northern Wisconsin to northeastern Montana.

★ ★ ★

The temperature in International Falls, Minn., has risen above zero only once in the last week. Chicago went through its seventh consecutive day of subzero weather.

Snow fell from the northern Rockies to eastern Washington and south and east of the Great Lakes. Rain dampened southern Texas and western Washington.

HIGH WINDS

Western New York State was laced by high winds. Watertown which received seven inches of new snow, closed schools for the first time this year. More than 50 motorists were stranded in Adams, south of Watertown.

★ ★ ★

But the cold didn't stop about 2,000 Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., who started a month-long winter exercise at Camp Drum near Watertown.

Four deaths related to the weather were reported in Kentucky. Much of the state was still covered by snow, but all main roads were open. Schools in 20 or more counties were closed again today.

The lowest temperature recorded in Kentucky was 14 below in Somerset. Other readings were —9 in Whitesburg, —4 in Covington, —3 in Bowling Green and —1 in Corbin.

The cold siege took its seventh life in Tennessee Wednesday when a Nashville woman was found frozen to death in her yard.

Commission Next Hurdle

Planners Approve Townhouse Zoning

The first hurdle was jumped last night for a proposed townhouse development on the city's northeast side.

Roughly 110 acres on the north side of Walton between Giddings and Perry were recommended for rezoning by the City Planning Commission to commercial and residential-3 classifications.

The city planners agreed to recommend the requested rezoning to the City Commission, which makes the final determination.

Developers of the Walton parcel propose multiple housing, a small shopping center and single-family dwellings for the area.

The project's development hinges on sewer and water services being provided by the city.

In other business last night, city planners split 3-3 on a requested Manufacturing-3 rezoning for 701 Oakland.

The rezoning is sought by Ace Auto Parts so the firm can continue operations on the property.

Neighboring auto dealers protested the rezoning because it would allegedly hurt property values there.

★ ★ ★

The 3-3 standoff will be reported to the City Commission.

RECOMMEND DENIAL

Planners recommended that a rezoning for 424 Ferry for a truck repair business be denied.

Residents of the area objected to the proposed rezoning to manufacturing. Leonard Barker, owner of the property, sought the rezoning to overcome restrictions imposed by a nonconforming use on the property.

Also last night, city planners named a committee to come up with a suggested parking district for the city. This would set up "parking" zoning as a separate classification.

★ ★ ★

The three - man committee consists of Basil Brown, Wayne Weaver and Daniel Veasey. They will come with a final draft for recommendation to the City Planning Commission.

★ ★ ★

An ordinance amendment was ordered sent to the City Commission last night. The amendment would exclude residential uses in commercial and manufacturing districts.

'Rightists Aided by Election'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The John Birch Society and other right-wing groups have "scored new and ominous gains in the United States as a direct result of the 1964 election campaign," the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith said today.

A comprehensive report on the growth and activities of "radical right" organizations was made public at the league's annual meeting here.

It said that "despite the crushing defeat of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, to whose cause it gave formidable amounts of manpower and propaganda," the "radical right" emerged from the campaign stronger than ever.

"The refusal of the Republican convention and of Sen. Goldwater himself to repudiate radical rightist organizations . . . gave those organizations a degree of acceptance and 'respectability' from which they benefited," the Jewish service organization said.

★ ★ ★

"And the radical right used the campaign period for its own propaganda and recruitment activities."

LARGEST GAINS

The report said that the John Birch Society achieved the largest membership gains in its history last fall, and now is "well organized at the grass roots all across the country" with a total membership of 60,000 to 80,000.

It said the campaign atmosphere also provided a stimulus to the activities of Dr. Fred Schwartz, whose Christian anticommunism crusade had been having "rough sledding," and Billy James Hargis, whose Christian crusade "was forced to retrench" in 1962 and 1963.

It said that the chief accomplishment of rightist organizations in 1964 was "the exposure of millions of Americans" to their message.

★ ★ ★

It estimated that 30 million pieces of "printed propaganda" were distributed, including 10 million copies of a paperback book titled, "None Dare Call it Treason," which warned that America is "on the verge of total subjugation by communism because of pro-Communists deeply entrenched in the highest seats of government."

HEADS TOWARD ORBIT—A three-stage, 90-foot Delta rocket booms away from Cape Kennedy yesterday with a Sunshine satellite cradled in its nose. The satellite settled into orbit about 350 miles high, and its sensitive instruments began making comprehensive studies of the sun's effect on such things as moon ship paints.

Properly in Orbit

Sun Probe Working Well

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — OSO-2, a 545-pound sun-snooping satellite, whirled around earth today ready to begin a survey of the sun and its intense radiation.

★ ★ ★

The spacecraft, America's second orbiting solar observatory, was rocketed into an orbital path ranging from 443 to 493 miles above earth yesterday. It circles the globe once every 97 minutes.

Space agency spokesmen reported that OSO-2 was working well and that it has properly pointed its delicate eyes and sensors toward the sun.

Its first experiment, a device that tests the ability of 12 possible moon ship paints to withstand prolonged exposure to the sun, was turned on shortly after launch and was reported working as planned.

★ ★ ★

Scientists planned to wait until later today and as long as Monday before starting to turn on its more sensitive radiation measuring experiments.

The satellite is designed to give scientists a better understanding of the sun, its structure and behavior and how it influences earth.

Also of interest are its studies of X rays that are shot from the sun and pose threats to astronauts making long space voyages.

PNH Pupil's Lincoln Essay Wins Contest

A Pontiac Northern High School student has been selected the winner of a countywide essay contest sponsored by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club.

★ ★ ★

For his essay "Lincoln's Inspiration to Me," Douglas Weiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Weiler, 2084 Allerton, Pontiac Township, will receive a $100 savings bond and a trip to Lansing.

Former Rep. George Dondero will present the 10th grader with the savings bond at the annual Lincoln Day dinner to be held at the Elks Temple Feb. 10.

Second place and a $50 bond will be awarded to Katherine Ogilvie, of 485 Big Beaver, Troy, a student at Troy High School.

★ ★ ★

Gloria Ann Bridges of 5115 Clarkston, Independence Township, a senior at Clarkston High, and Paul F. Walter of 3642 Hi-Lure, Orion Township, will receive $25 savings bonds each for taking third and fourth place, respectively. Walter attends Lake Orion High School.

Sees Record for Attendance

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce members are predicting a record attendance for their annual North Oakland County Home and Sports Show March 19-21 at the Community Activities Inc. building.

Last year's show attracted over 10,000 persons.

Mike Patterson, booth sales chairman, said that well over half the available display space already has been sold to area businesses.

The growing interest in outdoor camping will be evidenced at the show by the extensive exhibits of camping trailers and equipment.

★ ★ ★

Patterson of 185 Elizabeth Lake said that the newly blacktopped area in front of the CAI building will be used for the outdoor camping display.

WIDE VARIETY

Besides a wide variety of exhibits, the 11th annual show will feature entertainment, games, a treasure chest and the awarding of prizes.

★ ★ ★

One of the highlights of the weekend program will be the selection of a pixie king and queen.

Greenfield Union to Continue Strike

A 30-day walkout at Greenfield's Birmingham Restaurant 725 Hunter, apparently will continue at least until restaurant owners offer a new proposal.

Striking members of Local 794 Hotel, Motel Restaurant Employers & Bartenders International Union have voted 47-4 to reject the latest management offer.

The restaurant offered a wage increase package of nine cents per hour over a three year period. Union officials said the offer was not realistic in view of recent settlements with Detroit locals.

Versatile Lena Horne Hunts New Fields for Her Talents

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Singing solo can be a lonely business, and so Lena Horne is looking for new fields for her talents.

THOMAS

Those talents show no sign of diminishing, either in artistry or draw. Last week she opened at the Valley Music Theater in nearby Woodland Hills and twice drew a standing ovation.

★ ★ ★

For Lena it was a happy return to the land where she spent a decade of her earlier career.

She went under contract to MGM in 1942 and sang in the studio's glamor-packed musicals — "Panama Hattie," "Broadway Rhythm," "Two Girls and a Sailor," "Ziegfeld Follies," "Words and Music," etc. But her appearances were always on a segregated basis. In the midst of a nightclub scene a voice would announce, "and here she is — the incomparable Lena Horne."

SONGS IN FILMS

She would perform a song or two in the films, but never took part in the plots.

"That was very conveniently arranged so the sequence could be snipped out for showing in certain states," she remarked.

★ ★ ★

Lena played roles in only two films: the all-Negro "Cabin in the Sky" and "Stormy Weather," the latter a loan-out to Fox. "Both of them made a load of money," she recalled, "but that didn't convince the studios to make more."

SELDOM IDLE

Although MGM made little use of her talents, she was seldom idle. The studio assigned her to play the theaters it owned before the government enforced separation of production and exhibition.

Eventually the studio control did begin to pale, especially when MGM turned down a request by Jerome Kern for Lena to play Julie in a Broadway revival of "Show Boat." And when the studio cast Ava Gardner as Julie in the film remake, her disappointment was crowned.

★ ★ ★

Lena left MGM to become one of the top attractions in nightclubs, a field which holds little charm for her. Of late she has limited her engagements to two or three a year and hasn't played Las Vegas for four years.

★ ★ ★

Lena enjoyed her Broadway show of a few seasons back, "Jamaica," since it allowed her to be part of a team effort. She has averaged a pair of television guest appearances yearly, but found it difficult to fulfill her hopes for starring specials. She recently made a television special in England and plans to return for another.

Asks Required Voting in State

Constitution Change Backed by Rep. Law

Failing to vote in a state or national election may become a crime if Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac has his way.

The Democratic legislator introduced a resolution for amending the State Constitution to that effect yesterday.

His proposed addition to the Constitution read:

"Any elector who fails to vote in any state or national election in which he is qualified to vote, unless ill or excused as provided by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by law."

★ ★ ★

Law, who does not know how much support the resolution will receive in the House and Senate, insists it is not far-fetched.

A DUTY

"Australia and several other countries now have such laws," he added.

"Voting in a free society is as much a duty as registering for the draft, vaccination of children for the protection of society or sending children to school."

Drama Aids Ohio Mental Health Cause

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — For 10 seasons now, the college theater has been helping state officials create an atmosphere of understanding in Ohio about mental health problems.

The collegiate actors and actresses present one-act plays, usually about a half-hour long, dramatically portraying emotional problems of the family or community. Discussions follow.

Audiences are Parent-Teacher Association members church organizations, service clubs, mental health associations, youth groups and even prison inmates.

The plays are professionally prepared under auspices of the American Theater Wing and Family Service Association of America.

★ ★ ★

Ohio is the first state to have such a program on a formal basis, mental hygiene department officials believe.

Occupation Documents Preserved in Florida

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Administrative documents of the second Spanish occupation of Florida 1783-1821 are being preserved on microfilm by the Nombre de Dios Library at St. Augustine.

★ ★ ★

The original 65,000 documents are housed in the Library of Congress at Washington. Through the microfilm project, they will be available in Florida for the first time in 95 years.

Lady Serves 36 Years; Opposed in One Race

ELKTON, Ky. (AP) — Miss Annie Nold Wells, who retired after 36 years as Circuit Court clerk in Todd County, found it fairly easy to hold public office.

She had opposition in only one of her six races.

To Help Cut Accidents

Colorful Highways Urged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A researcher in road development says paving the nation's highways with "dashing, vivid colors" can help reduce accidents.

"Colors alert drivers and an alert driver is a safe driver," John P. Walaschek told a National Bituminous Concrete Association meeting.

Walaschek, of the market development division of the Neville Chemical Co., Pittsburgh, said a $190,000 expressway ramp was declared a "death trap" after six fatal accidents in 1962.

The ramp was painted yellow, he said, and there has been no major accident on it since then.

★ ★ ★

He offered this tentative palette:

Orange — for deceleration roads and exits.

STOP APPROACHES

Red — for approaches to stops and dangerous intersections.

Green — for through lanes.

★ ★ ★

Yellow — for safety zones.

Blue — for school zones.

Find 'Loot' in the Meter's Flag Holder

ARTESIA, N.M. (AP)—An irate housewife marched into the police department, complaining that she had received notice of nonpayment of a parking ticket. She explained that she had received a parking ticket, but had promptly placed 50 cents in an envelope and deposited it in a downtown receptacle.

Investigating police discovered the envelope and the 50 cents at the very location described by the housewife.

Also recovered were: another overparking payment, one small rubber ball, a bent penny, cigar butts, paper match covers, gum wrapper and one marble.

All were recovered from tubes welded to parking meters by the Valley Lions Club to hold flag standards.

Veteran Photographer at University Retires

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — After serving as head of the Kansas State University's photographic service since 1929, Floyd Hanna of Manhattan is retiring.

He estimates he has taken some 120,000 photographs, not counting the 9,000 pictures he snapped of students at enrolling time each year. Hanna started back in the "flashlight power" era.

Lightning Strikes; Boy and Dog Die

ERMELO, South Africa (AP) — Anton Misela, a 13-year-old boy, died because he wanted to comfort his frightened dog.

He was on the way home with his dog when a storm broke. He ran to a nearby school for shelter, his dog trotting at his heels.

A teacher told him the dog must stay outside as it would distract the pupils' attention. He told the dog to wait outside. It began yelping with fear and he ran to its side — just as lightning struck. Anton and his dog died instantly.

Short Railroad Built in Decade by Ex-Machinist

COEUR D'ALENE, Ida. (AP) — One of the shortest railroad lines in the country was built over a 10-year period by Al Chapman, a 70-year-old retired machinist.

The seven cars, down to the smallest parts, are replicas of the 180-ton counterparts, sealed three fourths of an inch to a foot.

★ ★ ★

Total cost of making the miniature steam-powered model locomotive and cars was $2,500.

The "Idaho Short Line" runs 500 feet, out the living room window of his cabin and around his yard.

Either Speed Out-of-Line

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—James Monroe Page is convinced he can't win.

Recently he was brought into court on a speeding charge.

Two weeks later, he was back — charged with driving 5 miles an hour in Labor Day traffic.

Page said he thought his speed was about right; the arresting officer said he was driving so slowly that cars were passing on both sides.

Bull Is Full of Top Tricks

BUGTHORPE, Eng. (AP)—William, a 1,400-pound pedigreed Ayrshire bull, has been taught by his owner to bow, kneel, lie down, and, with his trainer in the saddle, to jump over low brick walls and through a blazing hoop.

★ ★ ★

Marston Moor Luxury, as William is listed in the herd book, was taught his tricks by Colin Newlove of Yorkshire, whose father farms Lord Halifax's Garrowby Estate here.

★ ★ ★

He now is a prime attraction at agricultural shows throughout the country and has appeared on television.

Snatches $2, Leaves Gun

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A bandit swapped his pistol for $2 Wednesday night.

Albert Stober, 36, told police he had stopped his car at a traffic light when the bandit opened the door on the passenger side. Stober said he pulled out the $2 in his pocket and when he handed it to the man, knocked the gun from his hand.

The bandit grabbed the money and fled.

The average car in the U.S. is six years old.

World War II Bomb Stops Tokyo Traffic

TOKYO (UPI) — An unexploded bomb, World War II vintage, was found in a construction site today.

Traffic in the area was stopped for an hour while a police bomb squad rendered the device harmless. Police said the bomb was a 500-pounder of the type dropped by the U. S. Air Force in 1945.

Rustling Wave Hits Kentucky Ranches

CADIZ, Ky. (AP) — A wave of cattle and hog rustling, marked by an exchange of shots between a cattleman and night-time intruders, has been reported in Trigg County, in southwest Kentucky.

Animals valued at $8,000 have been stolen in the last 12 months, the Trigg County Farm Bureau estimated Wednesday.

There are indications thieves have used tranquilizer guns on livestock to make loading easier and to reduce noise.

Earl Sees Shining Stars Enjoy 'Boom Over Miami'

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — The team-up of Frank Sinatra and Joe E. Lewis in an act here at "The Roc"—as the hipsters refer to the Eden Roc Hotel—has made Miami Beach the "action capital" of this hemisphere.

WILSON

With real diamonds, their own fast boats and $50 tips, they're all here in the biggest dress parade since the Inaugural. Names varying from Liz Whitney to Leo Durocher, and the N.Y. Yankees' Joe Pepitone to Harold Gibbons of the Teamsters Union and 79-year-old Swifty Morgan are adding excitement to a city already as filled up as Joe E. Lewis gets frequently.

Even Keefe Brasselle of CBS-TV was here boasting that his wife Arlene just had their second baby. Keefe, who expected a son, sent out telegrams: "We decided to name our son Melissa."

Jackie Gleason wired him: "That's a funny way to run an heirline."

The practically sold-old Sinatra-Lewis show plays to about 1,800 people a night, meaning that if Harry Mufson is paying Sinatara and Lewis a reported $115,000 for the two weeks, he's probably getting a bargain.

Sinatra refers humorously to the bitter rivalry between the Eden Roc and its neighbor, the Fontainebleau.

★ ★ ★

"I always work next door, but it's a big happy family," he says. "I saw Ben Novak and Harry Mufson walking down the street arm in arm—both arms were broken."

I say the showthree times, and it's constantly changing. In one show Joe E. shouted at Sinatra, "Pay attention to me, you bum!" Frank said Joe E. is Dean Martin's drinking coach.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Abbe Lane announces in her cafe act that she'll sing a couple of Latin-American tunes: "They were part of my divorce settlement" . . . NBC's "Hullabaloo" had ABC's Patty Duke all set for a guest stint—till ABC said no . . . Jill Haworth recovered from mononucleosis; she'll tour with "Harm's Way."

Duos at Danny's: Robert Preston with Ulla Sallert, Ethel Merman with Chip Schocket . . . There'll be a remake of the western classic, "Stagecoach," with Ann-Margret in the Claire Trevor role . . . Dick Gregory said at the Village Gate that '64 was a busy year for him: "I gave out more fingerprints than I did autographs."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: It's getting so that you'll find more cotton in the top of an aspirin bottle than in a girl's bathing suit. Pic Larmour.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Don't drive as if you own the road; drive as if you own the car."—Anon.

EARL'S PEARLS: There's a lot to be said for women drivers —and it's usually "LOOK OUT!"

Taffy Tuttle's date bragged that he owns a Monet, a Picasso and a Utrillo. "That's showing off," Taffy protested, "—why would anybody want three foreign cars?" . . . That's earl, brother.

Poverty Grant Irks Township

Ypsilanti Aides Say Report Is Inaccurate

YPSILANTI (AP) — Some Ypsilanti Township residents are up in arms over plans for a federal grant under President Johnson's War on Poverty program.

The Institute of Labor and Industrial Relations of the University of Michigan and Wayne State University and the Willow Run Association for Neighborhood Development got together and applied for a federal grant under the program.

★ ★ ★

Johnson asked for the money from Congress and repeated some of the material given by the two groups in applying for the aid.

A DISGRACE

Township officials and residents reacted immediately, saying the description of the area was unfair and inaccurate.

"It's a disgrace on our government to have them talk about us like this," said Township Supervisor Roy Smith.

The report had said the community had no filling stations, no laundromat and no grocery store. Residents said there is a filling station and laundromat and several nearby groceries.

Township Clerk T. R. Stumbo said "they got the grant by falsifying a document. I think it's out of proportion and the people aren't poverty-stricken."

Mrs. Orville De Planty said "It's a matter of pride. I don't feel I can any longer go about holding my head up. Everybody is saying now, 'you're poverty-stricken, ha, ha.'"

11 Paintings to Be Shown at Kettering

Eleven oil paintings, recapturing events in Michigan's storied past, will be displayed Monday through Friday at Waterford Kettering High School.

Created by artist Robert A. Thom of Birmingham, who was commissioned by Michigan Bell Telephone Co. to do a series on the history of Michigan, the paintings will be displayed during regular school hours and at the evening PTSA meeting Feb. 10.

The public is invited to view the canvases at these times.

Among the works to be displayed are life in a typical Indian village about the year 1500, the arrival of Madame Cadillac at Detroit in 1701 and the capture of the British fleet by Perry.

Prof. F. Clever Bald, director of Michigan Historical Collections at the University of Michigan, assisted Thom in research work prior to creation of the paintings.

Vehicle Tax Intake Up Nearly $7.5 Million

LANSING (AP) — Sales and use tax collections on vehicle transactions last year increased nearly $7.5 million over the previous year, reports the secretary of state's office. Sales tax collections rose from $73.2 million to $79.7 million and use tax revenue went from $8.7 million to $9.5 million. Transactions were up 80,000 to more than 1.5 million, the office said.

ARE CONTACT LENSES SAFE?

Three years of diligent research have produced a new antiseptic contact lens which has tested out to be chemically safe, according to Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

The safety features of the new lens have been confirmed by a leading Midwestern Medical School and a nationally recognized research laboratory. Tests prove that the new lens arrests the growth of germs, thereby preventing or retarding possible infections caused by carelessness of the wearer or by dust particles.

Although all contact lenses are considered safe with proper fitting and proper wearing habits, Kindy presents the additional safety margin of the new lens.

Complete information and literature may be obtained without obligation at Kindy Optical Company, 13 N. Saginaw St., Pontiac.

'64 Set Traffic Records: 47,800 Dead, $8.2 Billion Lost

CHICAGO (AP) — A record traffic accident toll of 47,800 lives and $8.2 billion in economic losses last year was reported by the National Safety Council today.

The council contended in its report that prevention techniques are being applied "in a half-hearted, haphazard manner" in too many areas.

The 1964 death total showed an increase of 10 per cent over the previous high of 43,564 recorded in 1963.

An estimated 1.7 million Americans suffered injuries that disabled them beyond the day of the accident.

* * *

"The tragic record for 1964 is a clear indication that we have failed to keep pace with the vast growth of our automobile population," Howard Pyle, council president, said in a statement.

* * *

"Fundamental prevention techniques are widely known, but in too many areas they are hearted, haphazard manner.

"From 1954 to 1961 a limited application of these techniques contributed to a reduction of tarffic fatalities from 9.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles to 5.2, a reduction of 47 per cent."

The council estimated that motor vehicle travel in 1964 totaled about 840 billion miles, a gain of 5 per cent from the previous year. The 1964 mileage death rate rose to 5.7 deaths for every 100 million miles of driving. The rate was 5.4 in 1963 and hit an all-time low of 5.2 in 1961.

The death toll for December was 4,540. It was the worst December on record. It marked the finish of a year when new monthly records were set every month.

Father to Be Charged in Fatal Ferndale Fire

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said this morning that he will seek a first degree murder warrant against Harry M. Belcher, 32, in connection with the Ferndale fire death of his wife and six children on Jan. 25.

The 38-year-old mother and her six children, all under 10 years old, perished as they huddled together in a second floor bedroom after flames on a stairway cut off their means of escape.

Belcher was hospitalized for the treatment of burns and cuts after the blaze.

During the fire, he was reported to have attempted to reenter the burning house to save his family.

The fire broke out at the home, located at 446 N. Hazelhurst, early in the morning and was believed to have been caused by an overheated water heater flue.

* * *

Bronson said that all the evidence accumulated to date revealed that the fire was deliberately set and that a highly volatile liquid combustible material was used.

MATERIAL IN HOUSE

He said that, according to an arson report, there was a carload of this material present in the house.

"This terrible tragedy stunned the community and shocked the entire state. The evidence presented in this case cannot be dismissed," he said.

The prosecutor would not reveal any information on the evidence. "We cannot go into the facts at this time, but we do have the evidence," he said.

* * *

Bronson said that, after the fire, the Ferndale police began a routine investigation of the fire. Other agencies joined in the inquiry.

'NOT SATISFIED'

He said that Belcher had been questioned by police several times and that they "have not been satisfied with his answers."

Belcher was employed as manager of the pattern supply division of a Ferndale machinery and supply company.

Upon Belcher's request, the bodies of his wife, Catherine,

LBJ Hints Trip Is in the Works

Bipartisan Support for Plans to Visit Russia

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, newly on record as very hopeful of visiting the Soviet Union this year, has initial backing from many senators — Democrats and Republicans.

* * *

Johnson pulled a surprise last night by hinting that such a journey already is tentatively in the works.

And he coupled this with an equally firm expression of hope that the new Soviet leaders will visit the United States in 1965.

Some senators said Johnson's proposed trip might further ease East-West tensions and deserved approval. Some others said it certainly would do no harm.

* * *

Johnson, addressing a black tie dinner of the Anti-Defamation League, an arm of the Jewish service organization, B'nai B'rith, was interrupted twice by applause as he voiced the key sentence in his speech.

WOULD WELCOME

"I have reason to believe that the Soviet leadership would welcome my visit to their country (applause) — as I would be very glad to do (applause)."

Johnson had begun by saying his Jan. 4 proposal that the Soviet chiefs visit the United States was receiving active, constructive and, he hoped, fruitful attention in Moscow.

"I am very hopeful," he said, "that before the year is out this exchange of visits between us may occur."

* * *

Again there was applause, echoed when he concluded: "I believe that such visits would reassure an anxious world that our two nations are each striving toward the goal of peace."

GMTC Reports January Sales Tops Since '51

General Motors Truck and Coach Division today reported domestic retail deliveries of trucks and buses reached 9,271 units last month.

* * *

The total was highest for any January since 1951, said Calvin J. Werner, a General Motors vice president and general manager of the division.

Last month's deliveries topped those of January 1964 by nearly 7 per cent, according to Werner.

De Gaulle Includes Peking

Summit Talks on U.N. Urged

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today proposed a five-power conference, including Communist China, to examine and perhaps revise the United Nations Charter.

* * *

The French president told his semiannual news conference France is making this proposal to bring the U.N. Charter up to date.

He said such a conference should be held in Geneva. He mentioned the Soviet Union, Britain, France, the United States and China as participants.

These—making allowances for the difference of policy regarding China—are the five nations which hold permanent seat on the U.N. Security Council.

They also were the five inviting powers to the conference on San Francisco 20 years ago which drafted and adopted the original charter.

De Gaulle's proposal thus raised the perennial question of China's representation in the world organization.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, in a hurriedly called press conference, said today the troubles besetting the United Nations do not stem from its charter, but from those nations which have violated the charter.

From the French viewpoint, the Chinese seat should be occupied by the Communist government of Peking, which has been recognized by France. Russia and Britain likewise recognize Red China.

But in the American view, the Chinese seat is legally held by the Chiang Kai-shek regime on Formosa. The United States recognizes Chiang's regime as the legal government of China.

Earlier in the news conference, de Gaulle called for a new

Feared Tidal Waves Fail to Materialize

Report No Casualties or Major Damage; All Alerts Are Called Off

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, (AP) — An earthquake, almost as powerful as a deathly one here last March 27, shook and rattled Alaska's Aleutian Island chain last night and touched off fears of great tidal waves all around the Pacific.

But the powerful jolt at 12:06 a.m. (EST) was centered in an unpopulated area. No casualties were reported. There were no reports of major damage.

And expected damaging tidal waves, which sent thousands fleeing from coastal areas down the coast to California, in Hawaii and in Japan didn't materialize.

All alerts were called off by 7 a.m. (EST), after a series of swells fanned out around the ocean, and people returned to their homes and coastal maritime activities were resumed.

* * *

The quake and tidal waves last March killed more than 100 persons in Alaska and spread devastation around the state. Many other Pacific shore areas were hard hit.

SMALL ISLAND

The Alaska Defense Command here reported last night's temblor was centered in the Amchitka area, a small island community out near the end of the Aleutian chain.

A command spokesman said airplane taxiways and masonry buildings at Shemya Island air station, about 100 miles west of Amchitka, were cracked.

Extent of damages at Shemya and Amchitka were not available, a military spokesman said. Other military installations in the Aleutians escaped damage, he reported.

LBJ Urges Continuation of Farm Support Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today that farm price support programs should be continued and improved. At the same time he called for attention to other measures aimed at parity of opportunity for rural Americans.

In a special message, Johnson said the price programs, initiated 30 years ago in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt, have helped create a commercially successful agriculture.

And over the past four years, he said, the price support programs have raised and sustained net farm income at an annual level of nearly $1 billion above 1960.

"Few activities so dramatically indicate the value to farmers of good programs well administered," Johnson wrote. "Yet the consumer is the major beneficiary of farm progress. While retail food prices have risen in recent years, the prices of what the farmer sells have actually declined 15 per cent since 1947-1949."

This, Johnson said, is what is needed to have parity of opportunity for rural Americans:

1. National economic prosperity to increase their employment opportunities.

* * *

2. Full access to education, training, and health services to expand their earning power.

3. Economic development of smaller and medium-size communities to insure a healthy economic base for rural America.

In recommending that present price support programs now in effect for major farm commodities be continued and improved, Johnson wrote:

"These programs can continue to serve our objectives of increased freedom of operation, a steady improvement of income, a greater reliance on market forces, and lower government costs."

Jenkins Due to Testify at Baker Quiz

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter Jenkins, President Johnson's former top assistant, is under subpoena to appear before the Senate Rules Committee today for secret questioning about the Bobby Baker case.

One committee source said flatly that Jenkins will not be there, but Chairman B. Everett Jordan, D-N.C., insisted that he expects him.

Jenkins has been under medical and psychiatric care since he resigned his White House post at Johnson's request last October after disclosure he twice had been arrested on morals charges.

The committee has subpoenaed Jenkins for questioning about testimony that he pressured a local insurance agent, Don B. Reynolds, into buying $1,208 worth of advertising time on the Austin television station controlled by Johnson's family.

Reynolds told the committee he had no use for the television time, but bought it at Jenkins' request in 1957 after selling Johnson, then the Senate Democratic leader, the first of two $100,000 life insurance policies.

Baker, who resigned under fire on Oct. 7, 1963, as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority, was associated with Reynolds' insurance agency.

Alabama Arrests Mount in Negro Voter Campaign

SELMA, Ala. (AP) —Arrests have mounted to more than 2,300 in an expanding Negro voter drive aimed at shattering the white political monopoly in rural Alabama.

★ ★ ★

Negroes planned more marches today in Selma, where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is in jail, and in Marion, a small town 30 miles to the west.

Nearly 800 demonstrators were jailed Wednesday in Selma and Marion. The swelling numbers forced authorities to house prisoners at a state prison camp near here and a jail in Thomaston, Ala.

Negro students released from custody said Wednesday night they were kept in unheated and unlighted cells. Police denied this.

CAMPAIGN TARGETS

Still other Alabama cities and towns are targets in the massive campaign which King started 17 days ago to dramatize the voter registration effort in counties where Negroes outnumber white residents but comprise only a fractional part of the voting strength.

U.S. District Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile turned down a request by King's forces to compel the Dallas County Board of Registrars to meet more often.

The board has scheduled sessions for two days this month. Thomas also Wednesday refused to prohibit city police from interfering with demonstrations under a parade ordinance.

King was arrested Monday for parading without a permit.

ORDER ISSUED

State Judge James A. Hare in Selma issued an order banning any assembly or demonstration on the courthouse grounds or in the immediate vicinity. Negro leaders said they would ignore the order.

"He thinks he can scare us with that contempt thing," said the Rev. James Bevel at a mass meeting of Negroes Wednesday night.

Bevel said there would be a big demonstration Friday when six Democratic congressmen arrive for an investigation of the racial situation. The group will be led by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York, a Negro.

More than 300 Negro students walked to the county courthouse at Selma and staged a singing demonstration before they were marched to temporary jail facilities at a building formerly used as an armory.

Approximately 400 Negro students went to jail in Marion for a similar demonstration.

The voter drive started Monday in Marion and about 300 Negroes sought to take voter tests; 199 did so.

Bundy in Viet Nam for Policy Appraisal

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — President Johnson's aides began a round of conferences today after pledging to the Vietnamese people that the United States remains committed to the war here against the Communists.

"I can tell you plainly that the United States remains determined to work in partnership with you for the defeat of these aggressors," said presidential aide McGeorge Bundy in a statement on his arrival.

Bundy, Johnson's foreign policy adviser, arrived today on a three-day fact-finding trip on Viet Nam's political strife and war against the Communist Viet Cong.

★ ★ ★

Even as he spoke, however, Buddhist and other pressure groups threatened new antigovernment demonstrations next week. The lunar New Year holiday had brought a lull in the guerrilla war and religious disorders.

MEET WITH KHANH

In addition to conferences with top U.S. officials in Saigon, Bundy also was expected to confer with strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and other Vietnamese officials. Other members of the president's mission included Leonard Unger, chief of the interagency task force on Viet Nam, and John McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense for security affairs.

Bundy said the visit was not related to Sovieit Premier Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's trip today to Communist North Viet Nam.

Reports spread in Saigon that the Buddhists might stage more street demonstrations in an effort to oust three officials in the Khanh regime who helped put down Buddhist demonstrations last week.

There were fears also that members of the Hoa Haos, a militant quasi-religious sect, were planning demonstrations with some extremist Roman Catholic elements against Khanh in support of deposed Premier Tran Van Huong.

'I Failed You,' Says Mother of Suspect

CHICAGO (AP) — "I beg you to forgive me for having failed you," the letter said. "I love you dearly and because of my love I failed you."

★ ★ ★

That was the beginning of a letter from Yvonne Del Vecchio to her son, George, in a juvenile home Wednesday. Del Vecchio, 16, Eugene Waswil, 17, and Joseph Varchetto, 16, are charged with murder and robbery.

Police say the three, all high school dropouts and from broken families, have admitted shooting and robbing Fred A. Christiansen, 66, while high on "goofballs" (pep pills) and liquor and needing money for more barbiturates. They took $11 from Christiansen who died a few minutes later in a hospital.

★ ★ ★

"We were laughing fit to die," police quoted Del Vecchio as saying. "We were hysterical. It was the (pep) pills that made us do it."

POLICE RECORDS

He and Varchetto were taken to a juvenile home because of their age. Waswil was lodged in jail. All three have police records.

Mrs. Del Vecchio's letter said: "Because I failed to do my duty toward you, you have killed a man. I hope that God can forgive both you and I for our mistakes. Make your peace with God, my son, and your burden shall be lightened.

"I will carry my failure to you as a cross."

Waswil's weeping mother, Frances, stood beside her son during a hearing in court Wednesday.

SAD MEETING

"I'm sorry, mother, that you have to meet your boy in court," said Judge Saul A. Epton. "It's a sad meeting, but it was a sad incident for the community."

Christiansen was shot numerous times with a 22-caliber rifle, beaten and kicked.

Christiansen, a biller at the Railway Express Co., had left his home Sunday evening to buy a package of cigarettes.

According to police, the youths were cruising Waveland Avenue on the Northwest Side in a stolen car when they saw Christiansen walking alone.

KEPT SCREAMING

Del Vecchio said he fired repeatedly at the man. The other two said they kicked Christiansen to stop his screams.

"He kept screaming and screaming," Del Vecchio said, "so I stepped back and put about eight more shots in him."

Christiansen gasped out portions of the story before he died.

Mrs. Del Vecchio, 32, said state psychiatrists had advised her three years ago to put George into an institution.

MIGHT KILL

"They read from a report which said that some time — even without his realizing it — George might kill somebody," police quoted her as saying.

But she said she had heard bad reports of boys (correctional) schools and didn't want her son sent to one.

Mrs. Del Vecchio put police onto the youths' trail. She reported Monday evening that George had been missing since Saturday night and that he had a gun. She showed officers a newspaper with an apartment advertisement circled. The youths were arrested at the apartment the next day.

Gets Senate Setbacks on 2 Domestic Issues

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted President Johnson the discretionary authority he asked to ship surplus foods to the United Arab Republic, but dealt him two setbacks on the domestic front.

★ ★ ★

It climaxed more than six hours of fiery debate last night by approving, 44 to 38, an administration-supported amendment modifying a House ban against shipments of surplus agricultural commodities to Cairo.

★ ★ ★

The administration lobbied to have the ban lifted on the grounds it would tie the President's hands in dealing with U.A.R President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

But minutes later, by a standing vote, the Senate attached to a $1.6 billion emergency agricultural appropriations an amendment to deny the Veterans Administration use of any funds heretofore voted to carry out its order closing 11 hospitals and four soldiers homes and relocating 16 regional offices.

MONEY BILL

After that vote, the Senate hastily passed the money bill providing funds to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corporation for losses incurred in farm price supports and related programs.

★ ★ ★

Earlier in the day, it adopted by voice vote another amendment to shut off any of the funds to carry out a Dec. 31 order by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman calling for the closing of 20 agricultural research stations and projects in 34 other stations until Congress investigates this spring.

★ ★ ★

The measure now goes to a Senate-House conference committee where the administration will continue its drive for acceptance of the Senate modification by House conferees.

Although only five other Republicans joined Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois in voting to uphold the President's hand in dealing with Nasser, his impassioned speech may have turned the tide in favor of the administration.

Residents Vote Monday on Teachers' Pay Hike

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — An improved teachers' salary schedule — including general raises and a merit pay plan — will be offered to Bloomfield Hills School District voters Monday.

The schedule is incorporated in a request for a 3.3-mill tax hike which the board of education wants to levy for 15 years.

Monday's special election was set after the board had received the results of a five-month study by a committee composed of district residents, teachers, board members and administrators.

The Teachers' Salary Study Committee warned that the school system was risking the loss of some of its best teachers to other districts.

★ ★ ★

The recommended salary schedule is aimed at attracting career teachers and providing incentive pay for those who do superior work.

PAY PROPOSALS

Teachers could qualify for merit pay after three years in the system. If approved, they would receive an additional five per cent of their base pay for each step.

Although the proposed schedule would be put into effect during the next school year, the incentive provisions would be held until 1966-67 to allow time for a system of evaluation to be developed.

Administrators have estimated that 85 per cent of the district's teachers would qualify for merit pay.

The millage increase would be added to the current 18.83-mill levy for operations, part of a total levy of 24.51 mills.

SEEKS TO COMPETE

"We feel this is fair because it only allows us to compete with some of the schools with which we're supposed to be competing — some of the better schools," Supt. Eugene Johnson said.

"Even with this increase, we'll have a lower millage rate than several districts in Oakland County," he said, listing Avondale, Berkley, Birmingham, Clarenceville, Farmington, Lamphere, Madison, Oak Park, Rochester and Waterford as having higher rates.

To Select Junior Miss

Pick Judges for Contest

Six judges have been named for the Michigan Junior Miss Contest which opens here today.

Selected to pick winners in the annual pageant were: Marion Goodale, headmistress of Kingswood School; William Merrill, dramatics director of Detroit's Masonic Temple and Elizabeth Eyres, director of admissions at Mercy College.

Also named were Richard St. John, Michigan Jaycee president; Mary Ellen Wilson, the 1962 Junior Miss; and Howard Heldenbrand, Pontiac Press feature writer.

A winner and two runners-up will be selected Saturday night to climax the three-day pageant.

★ ★ ★

The winner will represent the state at the America Junior Miss Pageant in Mobile, Ala., on March 19.

OPEN TO PUBLIC

The Saturday night phase of the pageant, which includes talent and evening gown judging, is open to the public.

Tickets will be available at the door at $1.50 each.

Yank Student Freed From Soviet Prison

MOSCOW (AP) — Peter Landermann, an American student jailed for the death of a Soviet in an auto accident, was released today after serving 16 months of a 3-year sentence, an American Embassy spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the presidium of the Supreme Soviet reviewed Landermann's case and decided to release him "on humanitarian grounds."

★ ★ ★

Landermann, 24, of Riverside, Calif., was turned over to an official of the embassy's counsellor section at noon today. He will fly to New York Friday.

A former student at the University of California, Landermann was sentenced on Sept. 27, 1963, after a four-day trial.

HIT PEDESTRIAN

He was driving a car filled with American students when he hit a Soviet pedestrian near Minsk on Aug. 15, 1963.

★ ★ ★

Landermann told the court the man was pushing a motorcycle along the road and that there were no lights on the motorcycle. He said lights from oncoming traffic temporarily blinded him.

State Senate Rules OK'd After Hour-Long Debate

LANSING (AP)—The Senate approved its operating rules Wednesday after beating back a series of Republican-backed amendments during debate of more than one hour.

One new rule, which Republicans tried to have stricken, bans any camera, television or recording equipment from the Senate floor or gallery during any Senate session and for 30 minutes before or after the session.

★ ★ ★

The majority leader, majority floor leader or Senate Rules Committee chairman can grant exceptions to the ban.

Sen. Garry Brown, R-Schoolcraft, the minority floor leader, hoped to pick up bipartisan support on his amendment to limit power of the appropriations committee to alter bills already approved by other Senate committees.

BATTLE AT LENGTH

Senate Democrats had battled at length over the proposal, first brought up by rules committee chairman John Bowman, D-Roseville.

But Bowman said he had decided the mostly new appropriations committee should be given a chance to prove itself before being saddled with restrictions. Some Republicans joined Bowman, and Brown's amendment drew only nine votes.

★ ★ ★

The rules mostly paralleled those used last year except that the lieutenant governor can cast a tie-breaking vote on final passage of a bill.

In the House, freshmen representatives—the largest single block in the chamber—flexed their muscles for the first time.

DEBATED BILL

They debated a bill by freshmen Rep. H. James Starr, D-Lansing, to require that when a husband and wife die simultaneously, the wife's funeral expenses come out of her estate.

Debate lasted some 40 minutes until the measure was moved into position for a final vote today.

★ ★ ★

The 54 first-termers cheered a suggestion by one of the oldtimers that "the freshmen (should) pass this bill." They are only two votes shy of the needed majority for passage of any bill.

Rep. William Ryan, D-Detroit, warned them against "going around with stars in your eyes" if they won the show of strength.

Lawmakers Ask State Recognition for Work of King

LANSING (AP)—Lawmakers today asked official state recognition for the work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Southern integration leader.

A resolution, sponsored by Rep. Maxcine Young, D-Detroit and others, requests the House and Senate to express tribute to King "for his courage, integrity, and determined service to his race and to mankind at large, and (to) extend congratulations to him for being the recipient of the Nobel Peace Prize and to his dedication to the principles of brotherhood and humanity."

The resolution was referred to the House Policy Committee.

Ex-Newspaper Owner Succumbs in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Oscar E. Buder, 89, lawyer and former owner of two St. Louis newspapers, died of cancer Wednesday. Buder and members of his family owned the St. Louis Times which was sold in 1932 to the St. Louis Star, becoming the Star-Times. The newspaper went out of business in 1951. The Buder family also owned a substantial part of the German-language daily, the Westliche Post, before it went out of business in 1938.

Pontiac Central, Northern Prepare for Key League Assignments

Saginaw Plays Host to Chiefs in SVC Scrap

Victory Would Boost PCH Into First Place in Valley Race

Pontiac Central Friday has its biggest basketball game since last March when the Chiefs tangled with Benton Harbor in the state Class A semifinals at East Lansing.

★ ★ ★

The improving PCH quintet will take its quest for a Saginaw Valley Conference hoop crown to Saginaw for a vital clash with the Trojans, the only real threat to Central's hopes.

There is no danger of overconfidence. PCH lost its only game of the campaign to Saginaw two weeks ago tomorrow on the Chiefs' home court in their worst showing of the season.

PCH has been held under 64 points only twice while winning 10 of 11 starts. The first time was by Saginaw. The Trojans' defense "stopped" Pontiac with 46 points.

Their best weapon was the Chiefs' inability to hit the basket, particularly with layups. The shock carried over, apparently, into the following game when PCH hit 59 while topping Flint Southwestern.

BIG BOOST

The win here was a big boost for Saginaw. It was the start of a four-game win string that has carried the Trojans into a tie for the SVC lead with an 8-1 mark.

Big 6-7 Roy Hinton handled the offensive duties in the 53-46 verdict at PCH. His excellent jump shooting carried him to a 32-point effort, his best of the season.

A string of five straight games with 19 points or better also has put him atop the Valley marksmen. This means Friday's game will be a repeat of the previous encounter.

When Saginaw came to Pontiac, the Chiefs' Carl Arnold was pacing the league's shooters.

Coach Fred Zittel of PCH, obviously, must find a way to nullify Hinton's effectiveness. He has no one of comparable height to defense the pivotman one-on-one.

★ ★ ★

Sophomore Clifford Benson made a remarkable debut Tuesday night, but the 6-4½ center is not ready defensively to combat a scorer such as Hinton. Thus a double-teaming, sagging operation appears more in the offing.

Central currently is rated the fourth best Class A quintet in the state. Saginaw, despite a win over PCH, is No. 12.

Central is bidding for its first SVC cage crown since the 1959-60 team was 9-1 and made it all the way to the state "A" finals.

Other circuit clashes tomorrow will find Flint Central at Flint Northern, Flint Southwestern at Bay City Handy and Bay City Central at Midland.

★ ★ ★

Saginaw Arthur Hill, which had its title hopes jolted by BC Central Tuesday, plays crosstown rival MacArthur in a non-league tilt.

Indians Have Rocky in Fold

Colavito Signs Pact With Increase

CLEVELAND (AP) — Now that the Cleveland Indians have Rocky Colavito under contract for an estimated $50,000 to $55,000, Manager Birdie Tebbetts can concentrate on the problem of where to play the popular slugger.

To Colavito, declaring himself "happy to be back" after a five-year absence from the lakefront stadium, it makes no difference where he plays.

Rocky is an outfielder by trade, although he had a brief fling at pitching when he was last in a Cleveland uniform, but he says he'll be happy to play first base if that's where Tebbetts wants him.

"If I'm going to play first base," he told newsmen after signing his contract Wednesday, "I would like to have the whole spring to get ready for that position."

Winter dealing by Tribe President Gabe Paul also brought outfielder Chuck Hinton to the Indians, and Tebbetts will be doing some juggling before he gets his line-up set.

TRADED AWAY

Colavito was traded away in 1960 by the then general manager, Frank Lane. That year Rocky signed for $35,000 after a heated battle over terms. He didn't sign until after the March 1 holdout date, and he left Cleveland before the season started.

Planning March Teeoff

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — U.S. Open golf champion Ken Venturi, recovering from surgery to correct faulty blood circulation in his hands, said Wednesday he hopes to be physically fit to compete in the $35,000 Pensacola Open in Florida on March 3-7.

2 Late Goals Ruin Cranes

Lakeview overcame a three-goal Cranbrook lead for a 5-4 International High School Hockey League victory yesterday at Gordie Howe Hockey Land.

Graham (Butch) McDonald tallied twice for the Cranes in the opening period and Dick Moon once for a 3-0 lead. Hal Weckler added a second period tally assisted by McDonald for a 4-3 lead.

Then Lakeview scored two goals in quick succession late in the final period to pull out the decision. Cranbrook is 1-8-2, and Lakeview 4-6-2. The Cranes will visit St. Ladislaus Saturday at Hamtramck.

Hoop Crown Latest Target

Successful Year Looms for Eaglets

The Eaglets of Orchard Lake St. Mary enjoyed a successful harvest of league titles last year, and this year's will be even better.

In the 1963-64 season the team wound up with the track and baseball championships in the Northwest Catholic League.

This season the Eaglets have already reaped the cross-country title (1964-65), grabbed a share of the football crown and they are assured of at least a piece of the basketball title.

OLSM moves into Farmington Our Lady of Sorrows tomorrow night in the finale of the regular season schedule.

Both teams, regardless of the outcome tomorrow, will advance to the Catholic League playoffs Sunday in Detroit.

OLSM owns a 10-1 league record and is 11-1 over-all. FOLS has compiled a 9-2 loop mark and needs a victory over OLSM to gain a piece of the title.

OTHER GAMES

Other games tomorrow have St. Michael visiting Waterford Our Lady of the Lakes, Detroit St. Agatha visiting Royal Oak St. Mary and St. Frederick moving into Emmanuel Christian for a nonconference tilt.

★ ★ ★

For the past 10 seasons, the Eaglets have been guided by Rev. John Rakoczy, who starred for the team on the basketball court before moving to the sidelines.

Father Rakoczy was a member of the Eaglet quintet in 1943-44, and his 54-point performance against Detroit St. Francis de Sales that season is still in the OLSM record book.

Father Rakoczy was graduated from OLSM in 1944 and received his college degree from St. Mary in 1947. He was ordained in 1951.

He joined the staff at OLSM in 1954, and in 10 seasons as basketball coach, the team compiled a won-lost record of 87-27, a winning percentage of .805.

FINISH HIGH

Under Father Rakoczy, the Eaglets have won one cage title, shared another and never finished lower than second in the standings.

The game with FOLS is rated a tossup. In the first meeting this season, OLSM came out on top, 63-61.

OLSM has a potent scoring attack built around 6-6 John Stolnicki (20.2), John Stepien (17.2) and Donald Dzagulones (10.3).

If OLSM downs FOLS tomorrow, it will meet St. Gabriel at 8:15 p.m. Sunday in the first round of the Catholic League playoffs at University of Detroit Memorial Building.

★ ★ ★

If FOLS wins by more than three points, OLSM's first playoff opponent would be St. Phillip at 6:30 Sunday evening. FOLS would then play St. Gabriel at 8:15.

SEEK THIRD

St. Michael has posted a 7-4 league mark and a victory over WOLL (3-8) would assure the Mikemen of a share of third place.

Royal Oak St. Mary (7-4) also needs a win over St. Agatha (1-10) to keep a piece of third place.

St. Frederick completed its league schedule with a 2-10 record. The Rams are 4-10 over-all and will be looking for their second victory in a row in the tilt at Emmanuel.

The Rams have been an improved ball club since the return of center Mike Dean, who sat out the first eight games because of a leg injury suffered in football.

St. Michael could have problems with WOLL. The Lakers started slow, losing five of their first six games, but in their last six tilts they have broken even.

White Pigeon Fans Happy

Long-Time Losers Smile Again

WHITE PIGEON (AP) — Basketball fans in this little community, just a few dribbles from the Indiana border, are learning to smile again for the first time in years.

White Pigeon High School, tired of its reputation as the sitting duck of the eight-team St. Joseph Valley League, has ridden a winning streak of three straight grudge matches out of the cellar and into fifth place.

★ ★ ★

Ordinarily, three straight victories wouldn't attract very much attention—even if they were the first of the season, which they were.

But White Pigeon's back-to-back triumphs starting with Marcellus, shattered a losing streak of 61 games. That's what's tickling the fans.

Youthful John Frye, who took over as White Pigeon's basketball coach this year after amassing a 38-6 record in three years at Marcellus, isn't sure what made the difference.

EASY WINS

"It seemed like after we won the first one, the other two came prettye asy," recalled the 26-year-old Frye.

He began the season, he said, by dropping all the seniors from the squad and putting together a varsity team of eight sophomores and three juniors.

"As long as you're losing anyway, you might as well be trying something," Frye explained.

★ ★ ★

White Pigeon still lost its first nine games, but some of them, Frye noted, were pretty close. Attendance picked up too, hitting about 900 for the return match with Marcellus, he said.

"Basketball has been pretty low here for the past several years for a number of reasons," Frye explained. "I didn't expect a whole lot after talking to the people when I first came here.

LOCAL SUPPORT

"I guess when the people can see you're trying to do something they'll stand behind you, even though you're losing," he mused.

Will White Pigeon extend its victory string to four in a row? Probably not, Frye admits. Friday's opponent is league-leading Constantine, a relative powerhouse with a 10-2 record.

"Actually, we shouldn't even be in the same league with them," said Frye, whose squad lost to Constantine 88-56 earlier this season.

"I wouldn't want to say we were favored," Frye noted, "but I think we've improved enough to give them a real good game."

2 Pontiac Keglers Meet Pros on TV

Two more Pontiac bowlers, Don Likens and Lucille Myers will make their television debut in the Sunday night "Beat the Champ" series.

Likens and Miss Myers were the top qualifiers for the month of January at 300 Bowl, and they along with the leading qualifiers from two other establishments, Cloverlanes in Lovonia and Ark Lanes in Hazel Park, will be the challengers against top pro names.

Likens, a 22-year-old machinist, rolled a 711 total at 300 Bowl, while Miss Myers led the league qualifiers with a 661 actual plus 84 pins for a 745 total.

Last month, Bob Ferdon of Pontiac, who led the 300 Bowl qualifying in December, appeared on TV and defeated pro Ray Bluth, winning a color TV set and making him eligible for the finals to be held the first Sunday in April.

★ ★ ★

Winner of the final match will receive a 1965 automobile.

Ferdon's 695 on TV will stand until another challenger beats that mark.

PRO BOWLERS

The pro bowlers, whom the local challengers will meet include Don Carter, LaVerne Carter and Marion Ladewig. The matches will originate from Ark Lanes.

Next month the matches will originate from 300 Bowl to be filmed from the Pontiac establishment, March 4-5. The finals will also be held here.

★ ★ ★

Qualifying takes place at 300 Bowl each Saturday and Sunday with squads running from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. Total fee is $2.50 which includes bowling.

MEETS CHAMPS — Don Likens, 22-year-old Pontiac bowler, will be in fast company when he goes against such pros as Don and LaVerne Carter in Sunday night's TV bowling series, "Beat the Champ." He qualified for the spot at 300 Bowl.

Golf Aces Scored in Unusual Ways

NEW YORK (AP) — There were 11,774 holes-in-one recorded officially last year but the most unusual was that made by a 56-year-old New England business man.

Harry F. Poli of Salem, Mass., was playing the Salem Municipal Course with only a putter last June 12 when he came to the 150-yard eighth hole. He gave the ball a hefty whack.

It caromed off the side of a bunker, bounced onto the green, hit the flag stick and dropped into the cup.

★ ★ ★

Patricia Shouldrice, a 16-year-old school girl of Ironwood, Mich., had an equally exciting experience. Playing the third round of golf of her life, she topped her tee shot on a 119-yard, par 3 hole and the ball dribbled down the fairway, across a sand trap and into the hole.

These were just a pair of the odd-ball experiences made public today by Golf Digest Magazine, which has become the national clearing house for holes-in-one and the sponsor of a national sweepstakes.

The magazine, which has made a business as well as a hobby of keeping tab of such things, reports that the odds against holing out a tee shot are 6,000 to 1—but a lot of people are doing it.

Norman Manley, a four-handicap golfer of Inglewood, Calif., scored three holes-in-one during the year, two of them on the same hole—the 330-yard, par 4 seventh at Del Valle Country Club, Saugus, Calif.—and two of them back-to-back.

★ ★ ★

The year's longest hole-in-one was a 400-yarder by Thomas D. Chetwood, a left-handed Oklahoma City school teacher, on the sixth hole at the Lake Hefner Golf Club. The longest by a woman was the 221-yard shot by Mrs. Audra McDermott of Karachi, Pakistan, on the second hole at the Karachi Country Club.

This is a feat not restricted to the great and near great or to any particular age.

★ ★ ★

Fred Leidig, 84, knocked in a 110-yard ace at Carmel, Calif., and Mike Richardson, 9, holed out a 157-yard tee shot at Wendell, N. C. Julie Wetch, 10, of Billings, Mont., became the youngest girl ever to score a hole-in-one when she holed out a 130-yard shot on the seventh hole at the Lake Hills Country Club.

The longest hole-in-one on record is a 427-yard shot by Lou Kretlow of Oklahoma City. He did it on the 16th hole at Lake Hefner Golf Club March 26, 1961.

Skippers Play Underdog Rule Against PNH

Huskies Could End League Race With Nod Over Waterford

A look at the comparative statistics on offense over the last eight games for each team indicates that Waterford is only a basket and free throw behind Pontiac Northern.

But there are two sides to every set of statistics and the one remaining is a major reason why the Skippers will be the underdogs when they invade the PNH gym tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

Although they have compiled a 5-3 record in those eight contests, the Skippers have yielded an average of 71.2 per foe.

Northern's defensive mark over the same number of games is 65.5.

And the Huskies have two additional things going for them. They can take outright possession of the Inter-Lakes champion and they have the momentum of a three-game winning streak.

The only drawback will be a possible letdown.

PNH won a hard fought 73-71 decision from Detroit Catholic Central Tuesday and face Pontiac Central next week. The Huskies also whipped the Skippers, 80-62, in an earlier meeting at Waterford.

Waterford's major problem has been a lack of height. Against the good rebounding teams like PCH, East Detroit and Northern they have been defeated with ease although piling up a good scoring mark.

LOOKING UP

Northern's lineup hasn't changed since the last meeting. This means that the Skippers, who haven't a starter over 6-1, will have to contend with PNH's Roger Hayward, Larry Frye and Dave Sudbury who average 6-4.

Hayward's 23.6 average is another major hurdle for Waterford to overcome. Against Northern the first time, the Skippers managed only one shot each time down the floor.

This will have to be improved if Waterford is to keep its second place standing. A setback would drop the Skippers into a tie with the winner of the Walled Lake at Farmington game.

Walled Lake downed the Falcons in the first meeting, 54-44.

If the Vikings manage to repeat tomorrow, they will be in a position to finish league play in second place with a home court win over Waterford next week.

Waterford's attack is built around forward Rick Ziem and guard Bill Lemaux. Ziem uses a tricky move from the corner to drive under the basket while Lemaux likes to drive the middle where he picks up plenty of foul shots.

★ ★ ★

The senior guard also has a good outside push shot.

Northern has shifted Hayward to guard on offense because of his ability to score from long range set up plays. Frye, hampered with a leg injury, is about ready to get back into full swing.

Flint Senior Half of Top Golf Duo

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Eddy Kirk of Flint, Mich., and Larry Ziegler of Normandy, Mo., shot a 64 to lead the first round of the PGA senior-junior best-ball golf tournament Wednesday.

Kirk, a pro for 38 years, fired an individual 71 on the par 72 course, while the 25-year-old Ziegler carded a 68.

Jim Cassia of Mamopac, N.Y., took individual honors with a 66 and helped his team to second place with a 65. His partner is Herb Thienell of Lake Worth, Fla.

In third place at 66 were Sam Bernardi of Winnetka, Ill., and Charles Harter, Indianapolis.

Into Record High Ground

Stock Market Continues Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market pushed further into record high ground early today in active trading.

In further response to news of their planned merger, American Tobacco advanced 1 to 36½ on an opening block of 12,600 shares and Consolidated Foods added nearly a point to its rise of 1⅝ Wednesday.

American Tobacco preferred opened at 143, up 5¾.

Following news of record auto sales for the industry in January, General Motors rose ¼ to 101 on a block of 7,200 shares. Ford edged higher. Chrysler lost a fraction following its 1-point rise of the previous session.

EASED

American Motors and Studebaker eased.

The trend was higher among nonferrous metals, chemicals, electrical equipments, airlines, rails and aerospace issues.

IBM rose more than 3, U.S. smelting 2 and Xerox 1.

Gains exceeding a point were made by Eastman Kodak, Homestake and Allied Chemical (ex dividend).

Oils and drugs were a little lower.

Opening blocks included: American Telephone, up ⅛ at 67⅝ on 5,700 shares; Westinghouse Electric, up ¼ at 46½ on 4,500; and General Electric, up ⅛ at 99⅞ on 4,200.

Wednesday, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose .5 to 337.5, a new high.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange.

AMC Sales, Earnings Dip

Report Covers Fiscal Year's First Quarter

DETROIT (AP) — American Motors Corp. Wednesday reported declines in net sales and net earnings for the first quarter of its current fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

Net sales for the three months ended Dec. 31 totaled $307,452,806, and net earnings were $9,523,605 after deductions for income taxes totaling $8,175,000, the company said.

These figures compared with net sales of $319,429,991 and net earnings of $10,974,916 for the same period in the previous fiscal year.

★ ★ ★

Earnings per share were 50 cents in the current quarter, down from 58 cents in the 1963 period, AMC said.

RETAIL SALES

But while earnings declined, U.S. retail sales of Ramblers and Kelvinator products went up during December, 1964, AMC President Roy Abernethy told the board of directors.

Rambler sales were listed at 35,006 units, representing the second-best December in company history and up from the total of 34,930 for the month in 1963.

★ ★ ★

"Rambler wholesale sales of 142,055 cars worldwide, although below the record 147,625 for the comparable 1964 quarter, were third-highest in history for any quarter," the company said.

Retail U.S. sales were listed as 102,888 cars, compared with 113,827 in the year-ago quarter —"a decline of 9.6 per cent against a total U.S. industry domestic sales decline of 9.7 per cent for the same three months," AMC said.

★ ★ ★

Abernethy said sales were impeded during the quarter because of delays in launching new 1965 models, "primarily as a result of strikes and supplier shortages."

Asks State to Sell Area Hatchery

A plan to turn the Drayton Plains Fish Hatchery into a nature center gained support Tuesday when a bill authorizing a nonprofit organization to purchase the site was introduced in the Senate.

★ ★ ★

The bill, submitted by Sen. Carl D. O'Brien of Pontiac, recommends that the 82-acre, state-owned parcel in Waterford Township be sold to the Drayton Plains Nature Center, Inc., for $42,000.

O'Brien, who is chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, said he could foresee no opposition to the proposal.

According to Robert W. Schmuck, president of the organization, his group intends to use the property on Hatchery Road for a study center for school children.

★ ★ ★

"The center would be used to promote conservation education among youngsters," said Schmuck, an assistant principal of the Thorne School in Dearborn Township, who is also in charge of the school district's outdoor education program.

FUNDS SOUGHT

Funds to purchase the property are being raised from members, donations and grants, he noted.

The property has not been used for a hatchery for several years but is still being maintained by the state, said Schmuck.

Last year a similar proposal was prepared but it was introduced to late to be considered.

★ ★ ★

A state law requires that surplus state property be sold through auction but this regulation can be bypassed if the legislature approves the sale to a specific group.

Blame Gold Crisis on Payments Deficit

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK—All of the debating in Congress and out on whether gold backing for U.S. currency and bank deposits should be cut can't hide the underlying problem:

DAWSON

U.S. gold reserves would not have been drained since 1958 nor threatened now if the United States hadn't been running a continuous deficit in its international financial payments.

★ ★ ★

What to do about this monetary deficit, and who or what is to blame for it will be increasingly debated as Congress acts on gold reserve revisions.

The gap between the outflow of dollars and the return flow widened in the final quarter of 1964 after showing some improvement early in the year. And the drain of gold increased this January after dropping to a trickle last year.

DE GAULLE BLAMED

President de Gaulle of France is blamed for the most recent loss because he wants his central bank to hold fewer dollars and more gold. But he couldn't have got the U.S. gold if this country hadn't been running a balance of payments deficit.

That let the supply of surplus dollars pile up in other nations. And their central banks can and occasionally do turn in some of this surplus for the gold the U.S. Treasury keeps at Ft. Knox and in its vaults in lower Manhattan.

★ ★ ★

Last year the United States sent $2.6 billion more dollars, for private and government spending, abroad than it got back, adding by that much to the foreign-held surplus building up over the years.

Trade cannot be blamed. U.S. commercial exports topped imports by $3.6 billion. And to this can be added $4 billion of net income on foreign investments. The loss was from other financial dealings.

INVESTMENTS

Private American investments abroad came to $2.1 billion, and foreign investments in the United States to $100 million. U.S. banks lent $1.2 billion to foreigners. And Americans added $200 million of long-term foreign securities to their portfolios. Short-term financial dealings show U.S. private investment going to $2.1 billion, offset only in part by $1.2 billion of foreign investment in U.S. short-term securities.

This works out to a net loss of private capital of $4.3 billion.

Government overseas spending for defense came to $2.8 billion, and grants and loans to other nations drained $3.8 billion more.

All of these loss sources, private and government, are likely to come under fire, both in Congress and out, as the debate on what to do about gold and about the payments deficit gains in fervor.

TRADE GAP

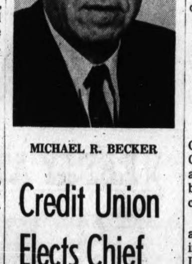
And the drive to increase the U.S. trade gap — the surplus of exports over imports — will be pushed even harder now that the payments deficit has increased again after the encouraging drop of a year ago.

★ ★ ★

The investment community battles the charge that it is U.S. bank loans, the purchase of foreign securities, or the use of American dollars to build plants abroad that should be blamed — and curbed. Financial and corporate spokesmen insist that in the long run the yields on such outgoing dollars will increase the return flow to the better health of the U.S. economy.

★ ★ ★

But for the short haul, the search for measures that will plug the drain — and thus make the debate over the gold cover academic — is likely to grow more intense.



MICHAEL R. BECKER

Credit Union Elects Chief

Michael R. Becker, 1844 Lakeland, Sylvan Lake, was elected president of the GMTC Employes Federal Credit Union at its 29th annual meeting held recently.

★ ★ ★

Becker has been a member of the board of directors since the credit union was organized and served as the first full term president in 1937.

Other officers elected were Rudolph Hartman, vice president; H. W. Reeve, secretary; and Harry J. Woodman, treasurer.

GMTC Credit Union directors declared a dividend of four per cent on shares for the 17th consecutive year and a 15 per cent interest refund, making a total of $608,845 returned to the members for 1964.

Assets at the end of 1964 were listed as $11,353,512.

Successful Investing

(Q) "Our two daughters have money in the bank, which pays an interest rate of 4 per cent. One daughter is six and the other five, and I was wondering if I could increase their capital by the time they reach their maturity by investing the money in stocks. I was considering Corn Products, Standard Oil of California, New England Telephone and Consolidated Edison. What is your advice?" J. R.

(A) Money in the bank is fixed as to principal and can only grow by the addition of compound interest.

If you are prepared to weather some market fluctuations over the next 12 to 13 years, I believe your daughters' money should be invested in strong stocks that can enhance their capital over a period of time. I like Corn Products, though its earnings last year were probably off a little for the first time in a decade, due to expansion costs.

Standard of California is also satisfactory, but New England Tel. and Cons. Edison are rather slow as to growth. For your objective I would substitute Merck & Co., and Winn-Dixie Stores.

(Q) "I am a high school student hoping to go to college in a few years. I have $500 in the bank and $100 E Bonds. Can you suggest a stock in which I could invest? I was thinking of Emerson Radio." R. S.

(A) I would hold your E bond, since this is as good as cash in an emergency. As your initial stock purchase, I would not advise Emerson which has had a somewhat erratic price and earnings pattern in recent years.

I think you should buy fewer shares of a much stronger stock with better growth prospects. I suggest General Telephone.

Public Relations Programs, Inc. also will maintain offices in Toronto to serve Canadian clients.

Ideological Debate Will Go On--Chou

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Communist China's Premier Chou En-lai was quoted today as saying that the ideological debates between Peking and Moscow will continue.

Chou was quoted by the official news agency Antara as making the statement to a group of Indonesian newsmen who visited Peking recently.

Chou stressed that the "debates between Marxism-Leninism on one side and revisionism on the other will not halt but will be continued," Antara reported.

UAW Official Honored at Retirement Dinner

UAW International Representative T. L. Harson of 978 Voorheis was honored recently by co-workers at a retirement dinner in his honor at the Park Shelton Hotel, Detroit.

Harsen, while working at Fisher Body in Pontiac in 1934 was one of the first organizers of the UAW, and during the past 21 years has been on the staff of the International Union, UAW, Solidarity House. For 11 years he was a member of the Pontiac Police Trial Board.

4 Lapeer Men Form Company

A new organization, C.G.L. Manufacturing Co., has been formed by four Lapeer men who plan to introduce a line of camping trailers with the trade name Crusader.

The company expects to employ 75 persons at full production in the first quarter of 1965.

Principals are Robert Gertiser, president; Robert Cronin, Ben Graham and Marvin Le Duc, vice presidents.

Cronin and Graham were formerly with Vesely Manufacturing Co., also of Lapeer, manufacturers of Apache camping trailers.

First model to come off the production lines is the Crusader Knight, which, according to the manufacturers, has twice the usable floor space of any other camping trailer.

'Rightists Aided by Election'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The John Birch Society and other right-wing groups have "scored new and ominous gains in the United States as a direct result of the 1964 election campaign," the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith said today.

A comprehensive report on the growth and activities of "radical right" organizations was made public at the league's annual meeting here.

It said that "despite the crushing defeat of Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, to whose cause it gave formidable amounts of manpower and propaganda," the "radical right" emerged from the campaign stronger than ever.

"The refusal of the Republican convention and of Sen. Goldwater himself to repudiate radical rightist organizations . . . gave those organizations a degree of acceptance and 'respectability' from which they benefited," the Jewish service organization said.

★ ★ ★

"And the radical right used the campaign period for its own propaganda and recruitment activities."

LARGEST GAINS

The report said that the John Birch Society achieved the largest membership gains in its history last fall, and now is "well organized at the grass roots all across the country" with a total membership of 60,000 to 80,000.

It said the campaign atmosphere also provided a stimulus to the activities of Dr. Fred Schwartz, whose Christian anticommunism crusade had been having "rough sledding," and Billy James Hargis, whose Christian crusade "was forced to retrench" in 1962 and 1963.

It said that the chief accomplishment of rightist organizations in 1964 was "the exposure of millions of Americans" to their message.

★ ★ ★

It estimated that 30 million pieces of "printed propaganda" were distributed, including 10 million copies of a paperback book titled, "None Dare Call it Treason," which warned that America is "on the verge of total subjugation by communism because of pro-Communists deeply entrenched in the highest seats of government."

Sees Record for Attendance

Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce members are predicting a record attendance for their annual North Oakland County Home and Sports Show March 19-21 at the Community Activities Inc. building.

Last year's show attracted over 10,000 persons.

Mike Patterson, booth sales chairman, said that well over half the available display space already has been sold to area businesses.

The growing interest in outdoor camping will be evidenced at the show by the extensive exhibits of camping trailers and equipment.

★ ★ ★

Patterson of 185 Elizabeth Lake said that the newly blacktopped area in front of the CAI building will be used for the outdoor camping display.

WIDE VARIETY

Besides a wide variety of exhibits, the 11th annual show will feature entertainment, games, a treasure chest and the awarding of prizes.

★ ★ ★

One of the highlights of the weekend program will be the selection of a pixie king and queen.

HEADS TOWARD ORBIT—A three-stage, 90-foot Delta rocket booms away from Cape Kennedy yesterday with a Sunshine satellite cradled in its nose. The satellite settled into orbit about 350 miles high, and its sensitive instruments began making comprehensive studies of the sun's effect on such things as moon ship paints.

Properly in Orbit

Sun Probe Working Well

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — OSO-2, a 545-pound sun-snooping satellite, whirled around earth today ready to begin a survey of the sun and its intense radiation.

★ ★ ★

The spacecraft, America's second orbiting solar observatory, was rocketed into an orbital path ranging from 443 to 493 miles above earth yesterday. It circles the globe once every 97 minutes.

Space agency spokesmen reported that OSO-2 was working well and that it has properly pointed its delicate eyes and sensors toward the sun.

Its first experiment, a device that tests the ability of 12 possible moon ship paints to withstand prolonged exposure to the sun, was turned on shortly after launch and was reported working as planned.

★ ★ ★

Scientists planned to wait until later today and as long as Monday before starting to turn on its more sensitive radiation measuring experiments.

The satellite is designed to give scientists a better understanding of the sun, its structure and behavior and how it influences earth.

Also of interest are its studies of X rays that are shot from the sun and pose threats to astronauts making long space voyages.

PNH Pupil's Lincoln Essay Wins Contest

A Pontiac Northern High School student has been selected the winner of a countywide essay contest sponsored by the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club.

★ ★ ★

For his essay "Lincoln's Inspiration to Me," Douglas Weiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn E. Weiler, 2084 Allerton, Pontiac Township, will receive a $100 savings bond and a trip to Lansing.

Former Rep. George Dondero will present the 10th grader with the savings bond at the annual Lincoln Day dinner to be held at the Elks Temple Feb. 10.

Second place and a $50 bond will be awarded to Katherine Ogilvie, of 485 Big Beaver, Troy, a student at Troy High School.

Gloria Ann Bridges of 5115 Clarkston, Independence Township, a senior at Clarkston High, and Paul F. Walter of 3642 Hi-Lure, Orion Township, will receive $25 savings bonds each for taking third and fourth place, respectively. Walter attends Lake Orion High School.

Greenfield Union to Continue Strike

A 30-day walkout at Greenfield's Birmingham Restaurant 725 Hunter, apparently will continue at least until restaurant owners offer a new proposal.

Striking members of Local 794 Hotel, Motel Restaurant Employers & Bartenders International Union have voted 47-4 to reject the latest management offer.

The restaurant offered a wage increase package of nine cents per hour over a three year period. Union officials said the offer was not realistic in view of recent settlements with Detroit locals.

Versatile Lena Horne Hunts New Fields for Her Talents

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — Singing solo can be a lonely business, and so Lena Horne is looking for new fields for her talents.

THOMAS

Those talents show no sign of diminishing, either in artistry or draw. Last week she opened at the Valley Music Theater in nearby Woodland Hills and twice drew a standing ovation.

★ ★ ★

For Lena it was a happy return to the land where she spent a decade of her earlier career.

She went under contract to MGM in 1942 and sang in the studio's glamor-packed musicals — "Panama Hattie," "Broadway Rhythm," "Two Girls and a Sailor," "Ziegfeld Follies," "Words and Music," etc. But her appearances were always on a segregated basis. In the midst of a nightclub scene a voice would announce, "and here she is — the incomparable Lena Horne."

SONGS IN FILMS

She would perform a song or two in the films, but never took part in the plots.

"That was very conveniently arranged so the sequence could be snipped out for showing in certain states," she remarked.

★ ★ ★

Lena played roles in only two films: the all-Negro "Cabin in the Sky" and "Stormy Weather," the latter a loan-out to Fox. "Both of them made a load of money," she recalled, "but that didn't convince the studios to make more."

SELDOM IDLE

Although MGM made little use of her talents, she was seldom idle. The studio assigned her to play the theaters it owned before the government enforced separation of production and exhibition.

Eventually the studio control did begin to pale, especially when MGM turned down a request by Jerome Kern for Lena to play Julie in a Broadway revival of "Show Boat." And when the studio cast Ava Gardner as Julie in the film remake, her disappointment was crowned.

★ ★ ★

Lena left MGM to become one of the top attractions in nightclubs, a field which holds little charm for her. Of late she has limited her engagements to two or three a year and hasn't played Las Vegas for four years.

★ ★ ★

Lena enjoyed her Broadway show of a few seasons back, "Jamaica," since it allowed her to be part of a team effort. She has averaged a pair of television guest appearances yearly, but found it difficult to fulfill her hopes for starring specials. She recently made a television special in England and plans to return for another.

Asks Required Voting in State

Constitution Change Backed by Rep. Law

Failing to vote in a state or national election may become a crime if Rep. Arthur J. Law of Pontiac has his way.

The Democratic legislator introduced a resolution for amending the State Constitution to that effect yesterday.

His proposed addition to the Constitution read:

"Any elector who fails to vote in any state or national election in which he is qualified to vote, unless ill or excused as provided by law, is guilty of a misdemeanor and punishable by law."

★ ★ ★

Law, who does not know how much support the resolution will receive in the House and Senate, insists it is not far-fetched.

A DUTY

"Australia and several other countries now have such laws," he added.

"Voting in a free society is as much a duty as registering for the draft, vaccination of children for the protection of society or sending children to school."

Occupation Documents Preserved in Florida

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Administrative documents of the second Spanish occupation of Florida 1783-1821 are being preserved on microfilm by the Nombre de Dios Library at St. Augustine.

★ ★ ★

The original 65,000 documents are housed in the Library of Congress at Washington. Through the microfilm project, they will be available in Florida for the first time in 95 years.

To Help Cut Accidents

Colorful Highways Urged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — A researcher in road development says paving the nation's highways with "dashing, vivid colors" can help reduce accidents.

"Colors alert drivers and an alert driver is a safe driver," John P. Walaschek told a National Bituminous Concrete Association meeting.

Walaschek, of the market development division of the Neville Chemical Co., Pittsburgh, said a $190,000 expressway ramp was declared a "death trap" after six fatal accidents in 1962.

The ramp was painted yellow, he said, and there has been no major accident on it since then.

★ ★ ★

He offered this tentative palette:

Orange — for deceleration roads and exits.

STOP APPROACHES

Red — for approaches to stops and dangerous intersections.

Green — for through lanes.

★ ★ ★

Yellow — for safety zones.

Blue — for school zones.
