Rains Drench County

Weather Cockeyed; Forecasts Entering Same Classification

A suspicion which is fast becoming a conviction in this area pronounces the weather completely cockeyed.

And judging from phone calls, personal kidding and sharp complaints, the forecasts of the United States Weather Bureau are slowly classifying in the same category.

The Press has been joshed for some time about "our weather forecasts." In self defense we finally started labeling the report "The U. S. Weather Bureau Forecast" so everyone could understand that all those bad guesses weren't our own.

★ ★ ★

This past weekend was climactic.

Both the weather and the bureau went into a spin and neither one ever came out.

On Friday the Federal forecasters in Detroit said:

Well, you know what happened.

A light drizzle, a medium rain and a steady downpour began long before dawn Saturday morning and lasted for hours and hours and hours.

Some of the forecasters must have ventured outdoors during that "partly cloudy" period for on Saturday they fed us this one:

"Rain ending this morning becoming partly cloudy and warmer today through tomorrow with chance of scattered showers or thunder storms late this afternoon or evening. High tomorrow 84 to 88."

Again, you know what happened.

The area caught one of the most soaking, continuous and devastating rains of a rainy summer. In fact, during the weekend approximately four inches of water cascaded upon the Detroit area. We got 2.25 of an inch here at the airport and we only average to get 2.50 inches in the entire month of August.

A two day storm that almost doubles a normal thirty day supply of rain was wholly unannounced, unexpected and apparently a "big surprise" to The U. S. Weather Bureau.

We are also intrigued by the temperature forecast. On Saturday these demons of cloud and sun predicted that the weekend mercury would climb to 88. In Sunday morning's newspapers, they raised this to "92 to 96."

Well, boys and girls, our faithful temperature machine which records the mercury reading for every minute of the 24 hours, sets down 74 as the highest of the period.

This is only a miss of some 20 degrees and honestly, our late lamented and revered Aunt Emma could guess within ten.

On Saturday, this newspaper sought to discuss the matter with the Detroit Weather Bureau. We dialed them 17 times in a 90 minute period during the middle of the morning and got a busy signal 17 times.

Suspecting their telephone line might be out of order because of the downpours, we had the telephone company check to see whether the lines were actually busy.

Central reported they were.

We don't know what all this busy buzz-buzzing was about, but it's a cinch they weren't finding out anything helpful or accurate about the weather.

Southern Areas Suffer Floods, Power Failure

Mansion at Northville Razed; Storms Causing Rivers to Overflow

Northern Oakland County escaped the brunt of weekend storms as four inches of rain drenched the Detroit area.

The southern part of the county was hard hit. Basements were flooded Saturday in Birmingham, Royal Oak, Hazel Park, Oak Park, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods and Berkley. Trees fell in Birmingham.

High winds snapped power lines and uprooted trees in Detroit and Wayne County. Power failures darkened sections of Grosse Pointe last night.

A $50,000 fire, touched off by lightning, destroyed a mansion home near Northville Saturday night.

The Ohio River valley was struck by waters flooding from West Virginia and Southwestern Pennsylvania.

There was the danger that the Monongahela River would flood its banks. The river was expected to swell to a foot above critical level by tonight.

A quarter-inch of rain which fell from noon Sunday until late last night brought the weekend total here to two and a quarter inches.

Rain kept Oakland traffic light over the weekend, the sheriff's department said. There were no traffic deaths or drownings in the county yesterday.

Several streets in Pontiac flooded Saturday were open today. Power companies reported no failures.

McKeon Still Harboring Hope

Review by Navy Chief May Lighten Sentence; Appeal Possible Later

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — S. Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon today pinned his hopes on Navy Secy. Charles Thomas to remove his bad conduct discharge for leading a Marine death march, and restore him to the corps.

* * *

If not reduced by the secretary, an appeal is still possible of his sentence of nine months at hard labor, reduction to private, a fine of $30 a month during imprisonment and then a bad conduct discharge.

The 31-year-old career Marine from Worcester, Mass., whose wife is expecting their third child momentarily, was jolted and tear-stricken when a courtmartial board of six Marine officers and a Navy doctor decided on his sentence Saturday, a day after it had found him guilty of drinking on duty and negligent homicide.

Negligent homicide was defined by the court as "absence of due care by one responsible for the safety of others."

McKeon ordered and led a night march April 8 into marshlands at the Parris Island Marine Training Depot. Six drowned in Ribbon Creek.

CLEARED SOMEWHAT

The court-martial board cleared him of charges of manslaughter, oppression of recruits, and drinking in the presence of a recruit. These charges could have sent him to prison for six years—double the maximum he faced after the verdict.

The automatic review by the Navy secretary, and the appeal, if any, may take months.

Farouk Poised to Enter Fracas and 'Save' Egypt

ANZIO, Italy (INS) — Former King Farouk of Egypt set up "emergency headquarters" Sunday in a plush hotel in Anzio to follow political developments in the Suez Canal crisis.

The paunchy ex-monarch, who was deposed by the present regime in Cairo, took over almost an entire wing of the Corsair Hotel overlooking the site of the Allied World War II landing.

Farouk, who last week offered to settle the dispute, was closeted in his suite with political aides and kept in hourly telephone contact with Rome, London and presumably Cairo.

A truckload of Italian police was summoned at Farouk's request to reinforce his personal guard. Barbed wire was strung about the beach where he takes his daily sun bath with an unidentified brunette.

The Italian Government, which granted him political asylum, pledged Farouk to refrain from making political statements.

Farouk says he is afraid Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser "might be led impetuously into a dangerous situation wherein he will find the whole Western world lined up against Egypt."

His majesty feels that Egypt today needs friends and allies, not enemies. Peace, not war," Farouk was reported saying.

Farouk reportedly has been considering going to London, or any other place where the International Conference on the Suez may be held, as a "private observer."

Plane Crash Kills Birmingham Man

Optical Magnate Given 2-4 Year Prison Term

MASON (AP)—Benjamin D. Ritholz, wealthy head of a Chicago optical firm, was sentenced today to two to four years in prison for bribing three members of the State Optometry Board.

Judge Philip A. Hadsell, sitting in Ingham County Circuit Court, passed sentence just two days short of a year after Ritholz was arrested in Lansing.

Apathy Causes Concern During Primary Drive

Electors Go to Polls Tuesday to Select Party Nominees

Candidates for nomination to state, congressional and county offices were putting final touches on their campaigns today, in an effort to overcome apathy that has marked voters' reaction to their pleas during the past weeks.

Election workers and candidates alike fear a light vote in tomorrow's primary election. The unusually early date for the "fall" primary, plus a lack of spirited statewide contests except in the gubernatorial race, is given as cause for the apathy.

In Oakland County, Clerk Lynn D. Allen said today a 20 per cent turnout would be "very good." Increased population of the county, estimated near 165,000 since 1952, has raised total registration figures only about two per cent, Allen said.

This apparently dashes Democratic hopes that the predominantly Democratic county newcomers from Detroit may prove a decisive factor in upsetting the traditional Republican domination of county politics.

Local voters will express preference for candidates for U. S. Congress, State Senator, all county offices, and State Representative. They will be faced by only one contest on the statewide level—the race between Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo and former Detroit and State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard.

Leonard, Republican nominee for Governor in 1954, lost to Gov. G. Mennen Williams by 250,000 votes. Cobo has been backed by party leaders throughout the state.

Williams faces no opposition for nomination in an unprecedented try for a fifth term as Governor of Michigan.

For lieutenant governor, both Republican Clarence A. Reid and Democratic incumbent Philip A. Hart are unopposed.

Pontiac voters will be asked to rule on a charter amendment linking the city's employe retirement system with Social Security.

City employes favored the move by a 64 per cent margin on Feb. 23. Some 60 other Michigan communities have adopted similar combinations.

BRITISH ARMED MIGHT—The British aircraft carrier Theseus sailed from Portsmouth, England Sunday loaded with the "Red Devils" parachute brigade with full battle equipment, prepared for any eventuality arising from Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Ike, Dulles Talk as Suez Crisis Becomes Tense

British Troops En Route to Canal Area; Russia Backs Up Nasser Move

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower today scheduled an afternoon conference with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, presumably to discuss the Suez Canal crisis.

The meeting will be held at 2 p.m. Pontiac time. The White House said Eisenhower has been keeping in constant touch with the State Department on developments in the Middle East situation.

"The Sixth Fleet is at present engaged in fleet exercises in the Central Mediterranean. These routine exercises are being conducted in accordance with plans formulated several months ago. They are a part of continuing training to insure maximum readiness and alertness in the fleet."

In Cairo, President Gamal Abdel Nasser's own newspaper strongly suggested today the Soviet Union may come rushing to Egypt's aid in the event of an armed conflict over the Suez Canal.

Some 1,200 British paartroopers carrying full battle equipment sailed toward the Mediterranean today as more of Egypt's Arab neighbors lined up behind President Gamal Abdel Nasser's seizure of the Suez Canal.

Families and sweethearts waved and shouted farewells as the 29-million dollar carrier Theseus completed only two years ago, left the giant Portsmouth naval base.

The 22,000-ton aircraft carrier Bulwark also sailed for the Mediterranean today.

Even as the British reinforcements set sail, Nasser's government announced it was putting a "limited number" of Egyptian reservists back in uniform.

The latest round in the Suez battle of nerves came as Britain waited for Nasser to answer her invitation to a 24-nation conference here Aug. 16 to discuss placing the great waterway under international control.

Six nations reportedly have accepted Britain's invitation — Australia, Portugal, Iakistan, Ceylon, Italy and Turkey.

Nasser was understood to be having second thoughts about his reported initial intention to reject the invitation outright. He con-

100 to Make Trip

Tracks to East Beckon as Theater Train Fills Up

Emitting an exultant toot, the Pontiac Press Theater Special flexed its couplings this week and gathered up steam for its Sept. 10 trip to New York City.

There was good reason for glee in the Theater Special station—the passenger list this week was covered with 100 names, 40 more than the station master had expected.

Unforeseen response to the Press' invitation to board the special for five days of Broadway shows and sightseeing trips finds string of cars loaded to the luggage racks.

That's cause for jubilation because it increases the prospects of having fun by just about 40.

Several new surprises have been added since the Press last described the excitement-packed itinerary. Most of them will be offered during the hours of free time which have been allowed for in the schedule.

Tickets to five of the season's most outstanding plays have already been reserved for the 100 who have booked passage. They include:

"The Most Happy Fella," "No Time for Sergeants," "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?," "Damn Yankees," and "New Faces of 1956."

Our agents in the East tell us, too, that arrangements are currently being completed for an arrival party in Greenwich Village, a tour and luncheon at the United Nations Building, an after-theater party where several of Broadway's top stars will be guests and a boat tour of Manhattan Island.

And they're already expecting us at the plush Paramount Hotel, "base of operations" for the excursion into the heart of the hemisphere's biggest city.

Free time (and plenty has been planned) will include various tours of New York's top attractions.

Raincoats Dried? Keep Them Handy

Cooler weather is the forecast for the Pontiac area tonight with a low of 60 to 64 degrees.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 64 degrees. At 2 p.m. the thermometer registered 71 degrees.

Oakland Fair Opens Tomorrow

By JANICE HAYHOW

Grounds are in order, exhibits completed, last minute jobs finished for the 20th annual 4-H fair which opens at 5 p.m. tomorrow at the 4-H fairgrounds, Perry street at Walton boulevard.

Over 2,000 Oakland County boys and girls have entered exhibits in the five day fair which closes Saturday. A variety of farm equipment and produce will be on display.

John Trocke, fair manager, says indications point to the "biggest and best fair yet." Some 100,000 visitors are expected to pour through the gates, Trocke said.

4-H members will start hauling their livestock and displays to the fairgrounds tomorrow morning.

A fair queen will be chosen tomorrow night. Donna Frisbie, last year's queen, will be on hand to crown the new winner. Contestants must be between the ages of 15 and 21, be active in 4-H work, wear a cotton dress and have one summer project. Local judges will make the selection.

Home economics, dairy and general exhibits will be judged Wednesday with hogs, sheep and beef on Thursday's program. Horses will be judged in a special Saturday event.

In addition to participation of more than 2,000 county youth, some 175 leaders in the county will participate. Approximately 30 local merchants will have booths on display during the five days and a carnival will run continuously.

WORK BEFORE PLAY — There's lots to be done to put the finishing touches on the fairgrounds before the 4-H fair begins at 5 p. m. tomorrow. 4-H representatives from all over the county help clean the fairgrounds for the expected 100,000 visitors. Shining up the windows here are Ralph Hoxie, 5650 Willow Valley, Birmingham, and Sue Sturgis, a county 4-H agent.

Suez News Forces Stock Market Drop

NEW YORK (INS)—Losses of two to seven points were widespread on the stock market today.

One Week of Grace

That's how much the Press added to its Pot-O-Gold this morning as it scheduled Puzzle No. 10 for another week's run. At the same time, the prize was jumped to $400—payable next week to whoever comes up with a winning solution.

The culprit (or hero) with a mailing error which caused this week's puzzle to be run last week. Subsequent pleading with the powers who know the answers failed to persuade them to reveal the closely-guarded solution a week early.

So . . . it's one more week and an Aug. 14 deadline for Puzzle No. 10. Good luck with it; the correct solution will appear next week. (Sorry, only one Puzzle No. 10 per reader.)

Block A-Plant at Monroe, Critics Beg Ike, Williams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Critics of the proposed private atomic plant near Monroe have asked President Eisenhower and Gov. G. Mennen Williams to help block construction.

Messages of protest were sent to the two chief executives Saturday after the Atomic Energy Commission authorized construction of the nuclear plant.

Two members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, Sen. Anderson (D-NM) and Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), have questioned the safety of the proposed 40½ million dollar plant.

Meanwhile, the Detroit Edison Co., one of 26 firms undertaking the atomic power venture, went ahead today with plans for ground breaking ceremonies scheduled for Wednesday.

Rep. Holifield said he has wired President Eisenhower asking him to rescind the AEC's construction permit until assurances are given that the plant can be operated without public hazard.

The AEC gave the go-ahead for construction of the plant but withheld a license to operate it until it is "thoroughly satisfied" the reactor can be run safely.

In addition to the protest with the President, Holifield wired Gov. Williams asking the governor to take legal steps to block any reactor "which has not been declared free of hazard."

The AEC, in granting the construction permit, attached a list of safety conditions and ordered the sponsoring group to prove "adequate financial resources."

Still Seek Clues to Widow Killer

Oakland County detectives returned to the Rattalee Lake road farm of Mrs. Florence Norton today seeking clues to her murder. The 72-year-old widow was found slain in a shed Wednesday at her Springfield Township farm.

* * *

Investigators are planning another thorough search of the house, land and buildings on the 120-acre farm. Still missing are her black billfold and a double-bitted ax. Questioning of neighbors will continue.

Reports from Lansing are not complete on blood samples taken at the farm. But detectives revealed today human blood was found in two places at the farm.

"There definitely was human blood found on the ax handle near the blade and on some rags that were in Mrs. Norton's bedroom," Charles Leaf, of the State Police, said. The ax he mentioned was one found in the shed with the body.

* * *

An autopsy at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital disclosed Mrs. Norton was killed by an ax-type instrument. Leaf reported no blood was discovered on a tarpaulin and washtub inside the farmhouse. Grey hair found in different places was not human, according to detectives.

Sheriff Detective Leo Hazen told the Pontiac Press three more persons were given lie detector tests Saturday at the Redford State Police Post. He said more will be given soon.

All suspects tested appear to have no connection with the crime but none are "eliminated" yet, he said.

ferred for an hour yesterday with Soviet Ambassador E. D. Kisselev, whose government also has been invited.

It was their third meeting since Britain issued the invitations last week after the conference of British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau and U.S. Secretary of State Dulles.

Russia's attitude toward the conference was expected to have a strong bearing on Egypt's decision.

The Soviets have upheld Egypt's right to nationalize the Suez company, but they have voiced hope for a negotiated settlement of a dispute.

The British paratroop brigade was in high spirits as it boarded the aircraft carrier Theseus last night. Hastily scrawled signs on their vehicles read "Look Out Nasser, here We Come."

Men of an armored artillery unit who also went on the carrier shouted, "Where's Nasser?"

Egypt's announcement of a reserve callup was the first reply in kind to Britain's threats to use military force. However, an army spokesman in Cairo flatly denied that Egypt had begun general mobilization.

Lebanon's President Camille Chamoun warned the West in a speech that any antagonistic move toward Egypt might lead to "the West losing forever the confidence and cooperation of Mideast peoples."

Ex-Policeman, Trilck to Testify on Ecorse

ECORSE (INS)—A former Ecorse police chief and a downriver gambler were to testify today before a one-man grand jury investigating graft in the suburban Detroit community.

Scheduled to appear before Circuit Judge Theodore R. Bohn, the one-man juror, were former Police Chief Alvin G. Gilman and gambler Russel Trilck, named as payoff man in the graft.

Trilck will be making a reappearance. He was questioned earlier.

The corruption bomb exploded last week when former Ecorse Police Commissioner William H. Montry confessed he had been getting "hush" money from gamblers and that payoffs were also made to Voisine and other city officials.

Voisine has denied the allegations, saying he welcomes the probe.

Plant in Utica to Be Leased

$35 Million Financing to Assure More Work in Detroit Area

DETROIT (AP) — The lease or direct purchase of three Studebaker - Packard plants by Curtiss-Wright Corp. is expected to be made official this week.

A spokesman said the move would assure increased employment in Detroit and South Bend, Ind.

Roy T. Hurley, chairman and president of the aviation firm, announced the program Saturday. He emphasized that Studebaker-Packard would continue as an "important participant" in the auto industry.

He said oral agreements between Curtiss - Wright and Studebaker-Packard would be formalized "within the next few days."

TO BE SUBSIDIARIES

As outlined by Hurley, Curtiss-Wright will take over the S - P reins, paying 35 million dollars for long-term leases of S-P's Utica plant near Detroit and the Chippewa plant near South Bend.

S-P's Aerophysics Development Corp. of Santa Barbara, Calif., would be purchased outright along with certain defense assets. The three plants will be operated as wholly-owned subsidiaries of C-W.

Hurley said Curtiss - Wright would be able to place approximately 100 million dollars of defense orders annually in the leased plants, "assuring increased employment in the Detroit and South Bend areas."

"In the future," Hurley continued, "Studebaker-Packard will operate in selected, diversified areas of the automotive field instead of competing on a broad front."

FOREIGN DESIGNING

A program was also announced simultaneously by Curtiss-Wright, Studebaker-Packard and Daimler-Benz, A. G. of West Germany for the design, development, testing and production of diesel and gasoline engines and components for the aviation, automotive, industrial and marine fields.

Curtiss-Wright will use the new leased facilities to manufacture engine components, spare parts and diesel engines. Hurley said eventually the plants will turn out aircraft turbine engines and missiles.

He said Studebaker-Packard will continue "to operate as a separate entity under its own board of directors and officers, but with Curtiss-Wright guidance in accordance with a three-year advisory management contract."

Harold E. Churchill, vice president in charge of Studebaker operations, was elected to succeed James J. Nance as S-P president. Nance resigned but will remain with S-P in an advisory capacity.

Paul G. Hoffman resigned as S-P chairman and director. Churchill and Armando J. Porta, financial vice president and comptroller, were named to the S-P board of directors succeeding Nance and Hoffman.

Step Up Search for Jack Handle

Police Accelerate Hunt for Tool Moore Claims He Used on 3-Year-Old

Search was intensified today for the missing jack handle Howard W. Moore once confessed he used to bludgeon three-year-old Martha Little to death in a lonely Independence Township field.

Moore said Saturday he will plead innocent.

Moore has said all along, "It must be out there somewhere because that's where I threw it." But the weapon has never been found despite use of an army mine detector.

A broken bottle was found next to the child's body. Bits of glass were embedded in her skull. But Moore has constantly denied any knowledge of the bottle.

COMB AREA AGAIN

Sheriff Frank Irons said today he will have detectives comb the area off Maybee road again but remarked: "I looked all over out there Saturday and couldn't find anything."

The 23 - year - old Moore said Saturday he was confused when he confessed to the slaying. Now he doesn't think he is capable of such an act.

But Fred Ziem, prosecutor, said this morning: "We think we have enough evidence to convict him of the murder."

Ziem admitted the jack handle would be valuable evidence against the furnace repairman but said he feels crtain it won't be needed.

"I'm not surprised he has changed his mind. Very few plead guilty to first degree murder," the prosecutor commented.

Hart Finally Signs for Current Season

DETROIT (AP) — End Leon Hart, one of the Detroit Lions best gate attractions, signed a one-year contract today after a six-day holdout period in which he said he considered retiring from professional football.

Hart, a 6-foot-5, 250-pounder from Notre Dame, said he originally asked for a three-year contract at an increase over last year's salary.

BIRMINGHAM — Dozens of reports to city officials and police of noise from Berry Door Co. threaten to stop the rezoning and sale of land adjoining that company for another industry.

A rezoning hearing on industrial rezoning is set for tonight's commission meeting, and the proposed sale of the land, at Lincoln and Commerce, is to be taken from the table.

A report on negotiations of the chief of police with Berry officials is to be given, this weekend two complaints of noise were received by police.

Dozens of residents are represented in letters to the city included in tonight's agenda. They term noise as a detriment to land values and use of Eton Park, and another industry as a potential traffic increase cause.

On the other hand, purchase funds and future taxes would be profits for the city, according to a report to the city of Herbert Herzberg, city planner.

"The resulting financial gain would tend to lower residential taxes for both city and school," he writes.

* * *

Among items on tonight's agenda are appointment of a representative to take D. C. Egbert's place on the Rubbish and Garbage Authority, the recreation department's proposed budget for the coming year, and report on sale of the $305,000 automobile parking system revenue bonds to the First of Michigan Corporation.

The locomotive proposed to be placed in Eton Park as a gift from a railroad firm comes up as a discussion subject again tonight.

A letter from Colt Allee objects to it as a publicity attraction and "a utilitarian product that will not tend to beautify the surroundings."

* * *

Calls received from supposed imposters saying they were actual police officials of Birmingham brought a rash of complaints from residents Saturday evening.

Four women, including a minister's wife, were among those called.

Three cars stolen in Birmingham were recovered in Royal Oak this weekend. Police suspect the same individual of the thefts.

Crew Missing Crash Rescuer

NEW YORK (AP)—A seaman who rescued a teenage girl in the Stockholm - Andrea Doria collision vanished yesterday just before he was to board a plane for Sweden.

When Bernabe Polanco Garcia, 36-year-old Spanish crewman on the Stockholm, arrived at Idlewild Airport with other members of the Swedish liner's crew he failed to check in for the flight, however, and the plane took off without him.

Polanco found Linda Morgan, 14, trapped in the crumpled bow of the Stockholm after the collision with the Doria off Nantucket Island, Mass., July 25. The Stockholm's prow apparently had plucked her from her berth on the Doria.

* * *

At a meeting of the Stockholm crew last Monday, Capt. Gunnar Nordenson, the liner's skipper, was reported to have made some sharp references to "foreigners" in the crew who had discussed the collision for publication. Nordenson mentioned Polanco, a cleaning man on the ship, by name.

* * *

Polanco reportedly felt hurt and was said to have told friends he was thinking of quitting the ship.

Ike Still Might Quit, Butler Says in Chicago

By BOB CONSIDINE

CHICAGO (INS) — Democratic National Committee Chairman Paul Butler entered Chicago last night via a rose-colored rug which reached out from his chartered plane and, adjusting eyeglasses of the same hue, predicted President Eisenhower might not run again even if nominated.

"Do you mean you think he might die?" a reported asked Butler, the man who will direct the meeting of the Democratic clan over the next two weeks.

"Not at all . . . Not at all," Butler said. "I wouldn't suggest anything like that. I'm thinking only of his health and what must be his natural disinclination to put himself on the block for the people who are forcing him into this race."

Butler and 50 others arrived from Washington aboard a chartered American Airlines plane which carried several tons of materiel peculiar to political conventions, chiefly mimeograph machines. Party workers, mostly women, carried banners reading "Happy Days Are Here Again," and "The Party For You —Not Just a Few." Col. Jack Arvey, who proposed Eisenhower for Democratic choice in 1948, was on hand to welcome the first out-of-office Democratic group to come to a convention since 1932.

Butler, after calling Chicago "the greatest convention city in the United States," settled back in his chair before a dead mike in the office of an American Airlines hangar and exuded more confidence than the air conditioner could muster cool air. There won't be any trouble about the civil rights plank; probably no minority report, Butler said. Frank Sinatra will sing not long after Cardinal Stritch invokes divine guidance. Then Frankie will sing some more. His eminence is on only once.

Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt will speak one night, as will former President Harry S. Truman. "The Yellow Rose of Texas" has undergone certain grafting, fit to confound Burroughs and Berlin, and has emerged as "The Democratic March." Sen Jack Kennedy, of Massachusetts, will narrate a filmed documentary.

Butler said he hopes to get nomination speeches and demonstrations out of the way Thursday morning and afternoon and begin balloting Thursday evening.

"I don't think as much time will be needed for balloting as would have been needed three months ago," he said. He would not be led into saying Sen. Estes Kefauver's withdrawal had anything to do with that estimate.

"With three strong candidates in the field," he went on, "there could have been, let me see, what do you call it?"

"Yes. That's it. A deadlock! You people have been at more conventions than I have."

Peiping Relaxes Ban on U.S. Newsmen

HONG KONG (AP) — Communist China today ended a seven - year ban on American newsmen visiting the Chinese mainland.

* * *

The Peiping correspondent of the French news agency AFP reported to his Hong Kong office that visas had been authorized for 15 correspondents of American news agencies, newspapers, radio and television companies.

Peiping cabled five Americans in Hong Kong they could pick up visas good for one month at the Red China Embassy in Moscow or at Sumchon, across the border from Hong Kong.

Those notified in Hong Kong were John Roderick of The Associated Press, Gordon Walker of the Christian Science Monitor, Robert Martin of U.S. News and World Report, James Robinson of the National Broadcasting Co. and Dan Kurzman of McGraw-Hill Publishing Co.

No American correspondents have been permitted in China since the 1949 conquest by the Communists. The Red regime has permitted extensive visits by correspondents from most other countries.

Correspondents here believed the relaxing of Peiping's ban was connected with the meeting in Peiping Sept. 15 of the eighth Congress of the Chinese Communist party. The Communists say the Congress will be an important meeting.

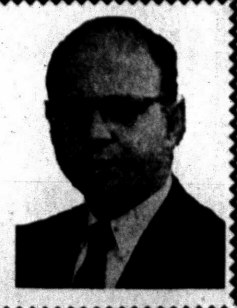

Australia's milk production reached an all-time high of 13.6 billion pounds for the year ended last June 30, an increase of 10 per cent over the year before.

Stassen Plugs Campaign for Herter as Republicans Pledge Nixon Support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harold E. Stassen kept plugging his campaign for an Eisenhower-Herter ticket despite new pledges of support over the weekend for Vice President Nixon, whom Stassen wants to ditch.

Stassen named half a dozen Republicans who he said agree with him that the Republican National Convention should nominate Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts as President Eisenhower's running mate.

Stassen maintains this move enhances the popularity of the Gop ticket, but Rep. Judd (R-Minn) declared that Eisenhower's "chances are being damaged not by Nixon but by Stassen."

* * *

Sen. Martin, chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation to the GOP convention opening in San Francisco Aug. 20, said a recheck has turned up "no wavering in the delegation's support for an Eisenhower-Nixon ticket again.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) said when questioned on a filmed TV interview on his feelings about Nixon that "Dick has been a good vice president. In fact, I think he has an extremely good record. I can see no reason for dumping him at all."

Herter, who has agreed to put Nixon's name in nomination, said he will not consent to having his own name put up but cannot stop any delegate from doing so.

* * *

The most prominent name on the list of backers which Stassen made public yesterday was that of a former governor of Massachusetts, Robert Bradford. Stassen quoted Bradford as saying he would "help in any way I can" to promote Herter for the No. 2 spot on the GOP ticket.

National Leaders Honor GAR Vet at Last Rites

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — Government officials joined military leaders today in final tribute to Albert Woolson, the Civil War drummer boy who lived to be the last survivor of the Union Army.

* * *

The old veteran died in a coma last Thursday after being hospitalized for nie weeks with lung congestion. He was 109.

Heads of patriotic organizations, civic officials and neighbors were charted in the long funeral procession behind Woolson's family, Secy. of the Army Wilbur Brucker, Sens. Thye (R - Minn) and Humphrey (D-Minn), Rep. Blatnik (D-Minn) and Minnesota Gov. Orville Freeman.

Woolson's body lay in state yesterday at a funeral home here, with hundreds calling to pay their respects before today's three-hour services. He wore his uniform of the Grand Army of the Republic, with his blue GAR cap resting on his clasped hands.

* * *

At the end of a four-mile funeral route was the neatly - trimmed family cemetery plot, final resting place of the old soldier who wept one day three years ago when his last comrade in arms died and he was left as the last of about 2,650,000 men of the Union Army.

Germans Plan Hotel in Lieu of Joe Statue

LEIPZIG, East Germany (AP)— The government of this Communist East German city has quietly removed the city's only statue of Joseph Stalin.

A Western newsman, visiting Leipzig, noted that the statue has been crowded out by reconstruction of the war-ruined opera house.

When he asked what happened to statue, he got nothing but knowing grins in reply.

Furnaces Roar at Steel Mills

Full Production Under Way With Work Force Picking Up During Week

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The basic steel industry, backbone of America's industrial might, roared back toward full production today under an unprecedented three-year, no-strike contract.

* * *

The five-week walkout of 650,000 members of the United Steelworkers was declared officially ended last night when the last major company, Armco Steel Corp., signed a contract.

Three other big firms signed earlier yesterday. They were Allegheny-Ludlum Steel Corp., Inland Steel and Youngstown Sheet & Tube Co.

* * *

An estimated 25 per cent of the 650,000 strikers were back on the job today. By the end of the week all are expected to be working for the first time since July 1.

But it will be 10 days to three weeks—depending on the companies—until full production is achieved.

The major steel companies are expected to announce price boosts soon. They're estimated to range from $8 to $12 a ton. Steel sold at about $130 per ton before the walkout.

Manufacturers of everything from hairpins to autos are expected to pass along at least part of the price hike to consumers.

More Dials Outstate

DETROIT (AP)— Michigan Bell Telephone Co. exchanges at Niles and Buchanan were converted yesterday to dial service. The new systems make it possible for wome 11,000 customers in the two communities to dial local and many long distance calls directly for the first time.

Don't Forget to Vote in Tuesday's Primary

Tomorrow all qualified electors of Pontiac, Oakland County and Michigan face an important obligation—that of voting in the State's primary election.

Besides choosing nominees for congressional legislative state and county posts to compete in the November election, Pontiac voters will have to express their opinions on one special issue. That is whether to supplement the City employe's pension plan with social security.

As in the case with every primary and every special or general election, it is important that all decisions be made by a majority of the registered voters. Too often, especially in primaries, we get only minority decisions because too many citizens think their votes don't count.

The truth is just the opposite. Every vote is important. Through the years our political history is replete with instances in which individual contests have been decided by a single vote. Obviously, the larger the turnout at the polls, the stronger our democracy will be.

This year there is no excuse for those who dodge this duty of citizenship. In this primary Pontiac is joining almost all the rest of Oakland County and more than half of Michigan in the use of voting machines. Thus this task will take less time and effort here than ever before.

Don't shirk this obligation!

Take time to vote tomorrow!

Convicts Maim Selves Protesting Prison Work

It is a relief to learn that Georgia's legislative prison committees are investigating a shocking case of self maiming by 41 convicts.

The inquiry was asked by State Director of Corrections Jack Forrester after the inmates had broken their legs with sledge hammers in protest against conditions at Georgia's "little Alcatraz."

One can only speculate on conditions which drove the convicts to such desperate measures. Some of those hospitalized charged that they were overworked, beaten and otherwise mistreated at Rock Quarry, a prison for incorrigibles 40 miles northeast of Atlanta. According to Director Forrester, however, the men's aim was to bring about abandonment of that prison.

★ ★ ★

In view of the fact that the investigation already is under way, the public would do well to withhold judgment until all the evidence is in. Certainly the State of Georgia should be expected to eliminate any serious evils the inquiry might reveal as promptly as the rebellious convicts' punishment was announced.

Federal Payroll Down

During his 1952 campaign for election, President Eisenhower promised the people an economical administration and elimination of waste.

Monthly figures reported by Senator Byrd's Congressional committee on non-essential expenditures show the Administration has made good on that promise. The latest figures available are those for last May. These show a reduction of seven per cent over the last three and a quarter years.

During February 1953, the first full month of the Eisenhower Administration, there were 2,547,000 civilian employes on the Government's payroll. By May of this year the number had been reduced to 2,367,000.

The full measure of this achievement can be appreciated only if it is remembered that since February, 1953, our population has increased by 10,000,000, or more than six per cent. On a per capita basis the reduction in Federal employes since then was over 10 per cent.

Because Government pay has been raised, however, there has not been a corresponding reduction in salaries. As a result, the April 1956 total was $847,000,000 compared to the February 1953 total of $837,000,000, an increase of $10,000,000 or slightly more than one per cent.

Nonetheless, during the coming campaign GOP candidates will be wholly justified in reminding voters that the President has made good on his 1952 promises.

There's something to make a lot of native Americans blush away back behind their ears in a letter with a Pontiac postmark, received by MAT, with the signature, who says: "I was born behind what we now call the iron curtain. Came here 20 years ago and was naturalized as quickly as possible, and never have missed one of the greatest privileges ever bestowed upon a man, that of casting my vote. It simply is beyond my understanding why the percentage of naturalized citizens who vote far exceeds those who evidently do not appreciate their heritage. David Lawrence Says:

"One Aware of His Freedom,"

Can World Opinion Move Nasser?

WASHINGTON—Sometimes in a busy world of news a great speech and a move of far-reaching significance in the prevention of bloodshed between nations is treated as just a routine piece of diplomacy or as something too far away from the average American's immediate interest to be of much concern.

But the address by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles delivered in the presence of and with the full approval of President Eisenhower deserves more than passing attention. For it is a conspicuous example of the way moral force can be used and must be used in the modern world if large scale or small scale wars are to be averted.

Dulles had gone to London last week to confer with the prime minister of Great Britain and the premier of France about the crisis over Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal. His address, delivered before a nationwide television audience, was an expression of the high purposes of all three nations.

SKILLFUL SPEECH

It was a skillfully prepared speech, carefully calculated to keep Europe from edging over to the "brink of war."

Great Britain and France have moved in the direction of forcible action to resist the seizure, and the proposals advanced by the United States are indeed welcomed by the British and French governments themselves as a means of advising Nasser that but for the mediating influence of America he would be facing military pressure.

"I believe," said Dulles, "that, by the conference method, we shall invoke moral forces which are bound to prevail. . . .

"It is one thing to defy one or two nations. It is another thing to defy the considered and sober judgment of many nations which have treaty rights in the canal and which, in large part, depend for their economic livelihood upon the operation of the canal in accordance with the 1888 treaty. . . .

"I believe that most people have a decent respect for the opinions of mankind and that, out of the conference which has been called, will come a judgment of such moral force that we can be confident that the Suez Canal will continue to serve the interests of all mankind."

This is certainly an exposition of the finest statesmanship, and while cynics may despair of its effectiveness, the address nevertheless is a first step that must be taken. Dulles has since been criticized in some quarters abroad for saying that America has "given no commitments of any kind" as to what the United States will do in the unhappy contingency that the conference may fail. But it was wiser that he say exactly what he did. For in declaring that there are no commitments, he in effect tells Nasser that there is no military pressure being exerted upon him now to come to the conference, that no threats are being made and that moral force is really the only instrument upon which reliance is being placed.

Dulles debated the issue fairly in his great speech and challenged Nasser earnestly to answer in the court of world opinion. Maybe the Egyptian leader will decide not to attend the big conference, preferring to wait till it has presented to him a concrete formula. That is his privilege. But at least the matter will then be in process of negotiation for several weeks during which the opportunities for calmer counsel and self-restraint can increase.

Meanwhile the threat of confiscation of the canal property and what it means to Britain was dramatically outlined the other day in a London Times editorial which said:

"Interference with her (Britain's) free use of the Suez Canal would cut at the roots of both her domestic economy and of her survival as a great power. It would mean the severance of her strategic sea links with Asia, the Far East and Australia."

Can world opinion influence a nationalistic dictator? If the 24 nations called together in conference can find a way to use moral force as a substitute for military force it will fulfill the long cherished hope of mankind that an age of reason can really be achieved.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Treating Ingrown Nails? —Then Avoid All Pressure

Every doctor, orthopedic surgeon, podiatrist or chiropodist seems to have his or her own idea about the cause of ingrown toenail and the proper way to prevent and treat it.

All agree that for prevention or treatment of ingrown nail pressure must be avoided, pressure from shoes that are too short, too narrow across the front of the foot or too tight for comfort.

Some experts insist the nail doesn't "grow in," but the flesh grows up over the edge of the nail. I won't say you can search me, because if you did, you might find that my nail grows into the flesh. Even if I'm wrong in my view of it, I find that these two methods of treatment keep the toe comfortable—until I hurt it again carelessly kicking a bowl back to the firing line instead of pushing it back with the side of my foot:

1. Keep the skin or flesh drawn away from the inside edge of the nail, by applying to the alcohol or gasoline cleaned skin a half-inch wide strip of adhesive plaster about 2½ inches long, which goes under the toe, then up to end on the skin just behind the nail. Keep the groove between edge of nail and skin or flesh dusted with powdered alum.

2. If the nail is evidently thickened or excessively curved (convex) from side to side keep the top filed, rasped or thinned down, easiest by use of a kind of pumice called "lavastone." This favors flattening of the nail and less curling down as it grows.

Wearing shoes which make any pressure on the toes, even for an hour or two a day, will defeat all efforts at conservative treatment of ingrowing nail. If you must put shoes on, cut out the upper around the affected toe, or wear only sandals that give the toes room, or go barefoot.

The radical treatment of ingrown nail consists of injecting a local anesthetic as far back as the base of the toe and removing a wedge of tissue, including the entire edge of the nail and the flesh bordering it. The wound is held together without stitches by a suitable wet dressing, and complete healing takes about ten days.

In my opinion it is a mistake to try to insert cotton or anything else between the edge of the nail and the very tender raw flesh. As for applying a metal hook under the edge of the nail to keep it from irritating the flesh, no, thank you, not for me.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Readers Ask for Severe Sex Slaying Punishment

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Recently, because of vicious crime acts, the Press has stressed the need of the death penalty for convicted sex slayers. Sacrificing lives for recreation is unbearable.

Is it necessary for each Michigan family to be deteriorated by such disaster before decent teamwork can be salvaged?

How can we sit back, frown, and click our tongues on such matters without each family joining to become a team and letting our officials of Michigan know how we feel. How severe does something have to be before we clamp down?

To the Press readers I plead action. To you I say, I, too, believe in the death penalty for convicted sex slayers. A successful team can't keep high scores when all the players aren't interested enough to participate. Let's back the Press.

Miss Citizen.

I am a mother of three small children and I think they should execute sex slayers.

I have a three-year-old girl and we wouldn't know what to do if anything happened to her.

It is a shame that sex slayers don't get the punishment they deserve. Wake up, people of Michigan and let's have a safer place for our families to live in. Weed out our state once and for all.

Why feed and clothe these murderers for a few years and then let them free to do it again.

Mother of Three

I am a mother of one youngster, and at the rate of sex deviates we have, I am wondering what kind of world we are bringing our children up in.

More and more of this is happening in Michigan, and why shouldn't it? They are put in jail and given three meals a day and cigarettes, without worries and debts. It seems that they can get out anywhere from seven to fifteen years and can start all over again.

I would appreciate some information on what we citizens could do to help bring the death penalty to Michigan.

Nasser's Prestige Rises With Anti-West Attacks

By JOHN H. MARTIN

The Egyptian who is twisting the British Lion's tail on a worldwide stage today was an obscure figure even in his own country only four years ago.

The man who is now called by some the "Hitler of the Nile" arose from the oblivion of the young officers' ranks four years ago through leadership of the highly successful revolt that tossed out fat King Farouk.

The front man then was the older Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib. He since has been deposed, accused of plotting against Nasser's life.

Naturally, Nasser has acquired a big share of fierce enemies at home as well as those he has tackled in Britain, France, the United States and elsewhere.

NOW TOP DOG

He has dissolved all the once powerful political parties and organizations in Egypt and many of their leaders are languishing in prison. Others have been stripped of their rights to freedom of movement.

Nasser now is the top dog. There was no other candidate when he was recently elected president. His "liberation rally" is the only party currently in existence.

He has surrounded himself with a group of army and professional men of unquestioning loyalty and says he occasionally gets six hours sleep a night but usually works 20 hours a day.

When Nasser grabbed power, some Western officials thought the young officer was a definite improvement over the corruption-ridden administration he deposed.

Nasser talked much then, and still does today, about improving the lot of the Egyptians who have suffered eons of tyranny and poverty.

But Nasser's main strides have been in the foreign policy field.

The "strong man" has basked in the shouts of the Cairo crowds each time he jabbed Britain, France or the United States. His vitriolic speech denouncing the United States and the other Western allies last week when he nationalized the Suez Canal Company was his most dramatic. It also was the most dangerous action of his career.

Nasser of course is supported by Russia in his battles with the West. And it is the very "cold war" from which he says he is trying to remain aloof that has thrust the colonel into such a dominant Middle Eastern role.

★ ★ ★

He enjoys prestige in the Arab world, except in Iraq, the center of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact and his rival for Arab leadership. His people do not seem to mind Soviet footholds in the Middle East opened by Nasser. Instead they roar with approval each time the Western nations are "kicked in the teeth" by Nasser.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Young Girls: This Is for All of You!

Rev. Jerome is typical of modern clergymen, for they are out on the actual firing line of life. They want practical psychology. Over 1,500 clergymen write me every year about counseling problems and such dilemmas as those faced by the three foolish girls mentioned below. You must be smart to win happiness in life, and that means not just a high I.Q. but a lot of "horse sense."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-331: Rev. Jerome G., aged 34, is an able clergyman in Kansas.

"Dr. Crane, our city is probably above the average level of literacy and morality," he began, "yet we find numerous girls from good church homes that are indulging in illicit sexual affairs.

"Last semester, for instance, three girls who were members of our Young People's Society had to drop out of high school because of pregnancy.

"They had insisted on going steady, although their parents opposed it. Now one of the girls has been shipped to Oklahoma to bear her baby there and let it be adopted.

"Another family is trying to compel the boy to undergo a shotgun wedding though he has ducked out and enlisted in the armed services.

★ ★ ★

"In the third case, the family is moving from our city because of their humiliation. So would you please emphasize this problem in your column?"

CLERGYMEN ARE UMPIRES

Every week your clergymen stand up in front of you and explain the proper rules for the game of life. They are your psychological "umpires."

Remember, life has just as logical and fixed rules as does baseball or football.

Oh, you'll find some kids even in high school who are still juvenile. They "grandstand" and will not cooperate in team play on the baseball diamond.

And so it is in social life. The rules of society prescribe that young people shall not indulge in sexual relations prior to the wedding ceremony.

This law, like the regulations in the baseball rule book, has been developed because it has proved most helpful to the game, as well as to the players.

Young folks, you serve as the middle link in a three-link chain, comprising your parents, yourself and your children yet unborn.

Your parents have sacrificed and actually spent over $10,000 in cash just to rear you to the senior year of high school. So you should not break their hearts by stupid behavior on a date.

And it would be grossly unfair to your unborn children to bear them out of wedlock. That launches a child with one strike against it.

Besides, you high schoolers have a life expectancy of 72 years, so why rush things? Even if you don't marry till 22 (the approved age nowadays in cities), you should still have 50 years of wedded life ahead of you.

So shop around. Don't go steady in high school, for that cheats you of a chance to get a broad education in practical psychology. For you should date at least 10 members of the opposite sex in order to learn the psychology of the opposite sex.

APPROVED GOLD DIGGERS

We psychologists urge you to employ some sensible "gold digger" wisdom and thus realize that each year of college will bring you an average of $25,000 more in earnings throughout the rest of your lifetime.

That means you get an extra $500 per year for life for each year of college! So now is the time to feather your nest and put the proper foundation under your future home, with enough income to enjoy the cultural things and give your children a better break.

Instead, be a moral adult and show your maturity by waiting till you are at least 21 to marry.

Be sure to get a high school diploma. Then take at least a year of Business College or on the Liberal Arts Campus. And work for a year before you marry.

Meanwhile, shop around; date widely; and play the game of love per the rule book.

To understand more fully those rules, send for my booklet "Sex Problems of Young People," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Employ it for discussion in your high school hygiene classes or at the church Young People's Societies, for God expects us to be smart and learn the rules of living so we can avoid misery, broken hearts and stupidity.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Sunday churchgoers filled a parking lot with their cars and latecomers parked in the middle, over "No Parking" signs painted on the driveways.

Police soon were tagging the wrongly parked cars.

But as Sgt. T. E. Strickland opened a car door to leave a tag he saw someone had left something there before him.

On the car seat was a note reading: "You went to church, but I couldn't — because you had me blocked in."

California GOP Leader Dies a Pneumonia Victim

A Republican from Pasadena, the House since 1939, having been elected to nine consecutive terms.

Bob Considine Says:

5,784 Still Collecting Civil War Pensions

WASHINGTON (INS) — The death of Albert Woolson, last of the Union troops in the Civil War, does not close the pension ledgers of that war which ended 91 years ago, a man at the Veterans Bureau said today. He seemed pretty resigned about the whole thing.

There are still 4,754 widows of Civil War veterans on pension rolls as well as 1,030 children (well, not quite) born of civil warriors during the war.

We're still paying for the war we had with Mexico in 1845. Not much, but the file hasn't been marked closed. Incredibly, there are still eight widows left from that war of 111 years ago, and one child of a veteran of that war. The old boys, long since gone, seem to have married young 'uns late in life.

The books on the War of 1812 were not closed until 1946 when the last pensioner, daughter of a veteran of that vague draw (or was it?) with the British, died as a very old woman.

The Indian Wars spread from the 1840's almost to the turn of the century. The Veterans Bureau lists 156 veterans of those bloody engagements, 1,184 widows, 21 children.

The Spanish-American War is still active around the Veterans Bureau. It carries and largely supports 57,207 veterans of that one, plus 83,898 widows and 3,056 children. Again, the boys married consistently and late.

There was awe in the man's voice at the V. A. as he added, "I think you should know, too, that we have on our pension lists 13 parents of Spanish-American War veterans and 11 of that 13 receive what we call 'service connected' payments — meaning that their sons died during that war, 58 years ago, or as a direct result of wounds or illnesses received in the war." He cleared his voice.

"They must be mighty old folks," he added, the exclusive understatement of 1956.

P. S. — There are 753,469 on the lists from World War I.

It all adds up to a pension payoff of $2,800,000,000 a year.

Airplane builders have always come up with nifty names for their craft, names that compare in wonderment with the names the British give their battlecruisers, carriers and other ships.

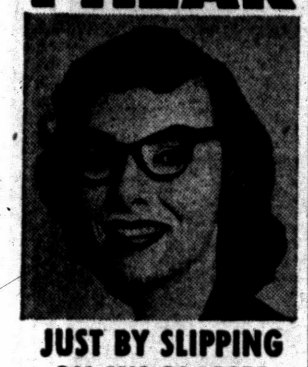

Spitfire was a wonderful name. So were Hurricane, Thunderbolt, Mustang, Lightning, Shooting Star and all the new ones: Fury, Havoc, Sabrejet, Cutlass, Shooting Star, Banshee, Star Fire, Flying Fortress, Liberator, Superfort, Stratojet, etc., etc., etc.

Commercial airlines are not far behind. The word Clipper conjures wonderful thoughts, as does Constellation, Flagship and all the others. The Douglas company's third version of the DC-7, the long-range DC-7C, becomes the Seven Seas. Now Lockheed's big new one, with a new long wing that adds a couple thousand miles to the range, has been christened. It's to be called the Super Star.

War and the major leagues of military strategy bypassed Hawaii after World War II. I had a talk with an admiral out that way a couple of years back and he spent most of the time apologizing for the sheer quietness of his onetime thunderous post. But that's to be changed. The U. S. Far East Air Forces will be pulled back from Japan to Hawaii July 1. There's still a lot of kick in the old girl yet.

Deputies Investigating Destruction in Home

Oakland County deputies tdoay are investigating a malicious destruction complaint at a vacant Pontiac Township house which was found flooded with water Sunday afternoon.

Owner James Wright, of Pontiac, told investigators the destruction apparently took place between July 31 and Sunday. He said someone broke the water pump in his basement, plugged the drains, and turned on the water. The house is located at 2401 Dexter Rd.

Annual value of a single blacksnake is approximately $3.85 in rodent control.

Data From U.S. WEATHER BUREAU Dept. of Commerce

WEATHER BUREAU FORECAST — Showers and thunderstorms are expected tonight on the coast from southern New Jersey and southeastern Pennsylvania south into Virginia, in the lower Ohio Valley and from Wisconsin westward to the Dakotas. Temperatures will remain about the same.

Construction Worker Injured in Fall

A construction worker was slightly injured when he fell seven feet from a scaffold this morning.

Richard Lawson, 29, of Waterford Township suffered bruises to his left leg when he landed in the midst of cement building blocks, authorities at Pontiac General Hospital said.

Lawson was laying brick for an addition to Seamon Manufacturing Company at 29 Rundell St.

Flint Girl Injured as Her Car Flips

A Flint girl was treated at a Flint hospital Sunday afternoon after she was involved in an accident in Groveland Township.

Helen Griffin, 16, suffered slight injuries of the right shoulder when her car overturned and went off Holdridge road. She told Oakland County Sheriff's deputies she lost control of the vehicle when she struck some loose gravel.

Madison Heights Man Injured in Car Crash

The crash occurred on Orion Road in Oakland Township. Kremhelmer told deputies of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department he lost control.

Distraught Dad Sorry, Searches for Daughter

NEW YORK (INS)—A distraught Milwaukee, Wis. father today continued to check the rgistries of New York hotels in a search for his attractive, 16-year old daughter who left home Friday, taking $380.

"I'm confused and disillusioned," said Ralph M. Krawczyk, 42, who traced his daughter Sandra Lee to New York.

"I know if I could speak to Sandy and tell her that all is forgiven, she'd come home," he said.

Krawczyk said the girl flew to New York under an assumed name, Judy Jackson, following a family argument.

"I felt the girl had to be disciplined," he said, "but I guess I went too far when I told her if she didn't behave, she couldn't return to Pius X High School in the fall. I didn't mean that."

In her note to the family the girl said she wouldn't go to any other school and added, "I will return the money as soon as I get work."

"My wife is so upset that she's remained home under a doctor's care," said Krawczyk.

Three Purses Stolen From Home in City

Three purses were reported stolen Saturday night from a home at 58 E. Iroquois Rd., Pontiac police said.

The owner, Mrs. Rose Kampner, said the purses were empty. She believed the burglar entered through the front door, which was unlocked, police added.

Boy Buys Ice Cream, Runs in Front of Car

A six-year-old boy was struck by a car Saturday afternoon when he ran from an ice cream wagon in front of his home.

Billy D. Duby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Duby, of 74 Wall St., was released after treatment for face cuts, authorities at Pontiac General Hospital said.

The driver, Jack C. Swartzbaugh, 22, of Clarkston, told Pontiac Police the boy ran into the street after Swartzbaugh had slowed because of yellow blinker lights on the wagon.

The boy had just bought ice cream, police said, and dashed out between parked cars.

Thieves Siphon Gas, Get Scared, Leave It

Gasoline theft from a truck was foiled when thieves apparently were scared away Saturday night, the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said today.

A can full of gas was found abandoned across the road from a truck from which it had been taken. The truck had been parked next to a building at 1051 Round Lake Rd., White Lake Township. Windows were broken in the building but nothing was known to be missing, investigators reported.

COMMON SENSE and POLITICS

COMMON SENSE, which we all have when we bother to use it, tells us we need the best men we can get to run for public office. The management of government, which is only another phrase for politics, needs common sense.

COMMON SENSE tells us that men of good character who have had training and experience are men likely to apply good judgment and "Common Sense" to the management of government.

COMMON SENSE and American history teach us that there is no elected official whose conduct in office touches the day-to-day life of the people of Oakland County more than their Congressman.

COMMON SENSE tells us we should have lower taxes. Common sense tells us we should have a tax exemption of at least $1,000 for each child in our family. Common sense will help find the way to do it.

COMMON SENSE, and only a little of that, tells us how foolish it is for Oakland County people to pay Kansas farmers for not raising crops, or pay them for raising too much.

COMMON SENSE should warn us that billions spent overseas without coming close to our goal of a peaceful world just doesn't make any sense.

COMMON SENSE, which we all have when we bother to use it, urges us to send to Congress a man who has had broad business experience, a man who is a distinguished lawyer and who has lived among us in Oakland County all his life. You will be proud to have Gilbert H. Davis represent you in Washington.

Patriotic Americans always vote. Use your common sense and vote this Tuesday, August 7, 1956, for:

Democrats Have a Wide Field From Which to Pick a Vice Presidential Choice

WASHINGTON (INS) — Eight men are standouts today in the wide-open race for the Democratic vice presidential nomination, with most political experts assuming that Adlai E. Stevenson will again head the ticket.

All of the eight are believed to be "acceptable" to Stevenson, who has told intimates that he will not make a flat declaration of preference until he has won the presidential nomination.

Sens. Estes Kefauver, Tenn.; Albert Gore, Tenn.; Hubert Humphrey, Minn.; John F. Kennedy, Mass.; Govs. Frank Clement of Tennessee, Robert Meyner of New Jersey and George Leader of Pennsylvania, and Mayor Robert Wagner of New York City.

Most observers rule out Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as a running-mate for Stevenson. The concensus is that Harriman wants the No. 1 spot or nothing, and that Stevenson, angered by Harriman's battle to wrest the nomination from him, wouldn't accept the governor anyway.

DARK HORSE STUART

Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri is regarded as a dark-horse possibility but is believed to lack the enthusiastic support which can be claimed, in varying degrees, by each of the "big eight."

Here are the vital statistics on the men whose names dominate vice presidential speculation eight days before the opening of the party's 1956 convention at Chicago:

Estes Kefauver, 53. His dramatic withdrawal from the presidential nomination race this week in Stevenson's favor resulted in immediate pressure for a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket. His widespread primary battles in 1952 and again this year and his "grass roots" campaign techniques have made him a familiar and popular figure to millions of Americans. Some powerful Southerners oppose him but he is highly regarded in most other areas.

* * *

Albert Gore, 48. Not as well known nationally as his Tennessee colleague in the Senate, Gore is held in high esteem in the inner circles of the Democratic party. He is "non-controversial," has made no enemies among fellow senators and demonstrated his ability as a campaigner when he unseated the strongly-entrenched Sen. Kenneth McKellar in a hard-fought contest four years ago.

* * *

Hubert Humphrey, 45. His adherents hail him as "Northern Liberal" who, running with Stevenson, would erase Harriman's argument that Stevenson is too moderate and too soft on such issues as civil rights to defeat President Eisenhower. Despite his ardent advocacy of civil rights, Humphrey has many staunch Southern friends, including the respected Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

* * *

John F. Kennedy, 39. He is a World War II naval hero, a moderate, and a Catholic. Many Democrats believe that if Stevenson is to win, he should have a Catholic as his running-mate. Others argue that the religious prejudice which was one of the reasons for the overwhelming defeat of Alfred E. Smith in 1928 still exists in some areas. Kennedy, immensely popular in New England, would be geographically "right" on a slate headed by Stevenson of Illinois.

* * *

Robert F. Wagner, 44. Like Kennedy, Wagner is a Catholic. Though pledged to Harriman on the first ballot, he is a Stevenson man. His adherents say he would bring labor support to the ticket, for his father, the late Sen. Robert F. Wagner, Sr., had a lifelong record as a friend of union men and sponsored the Wagner Act. As vice presidential candidate, he might assure a Democratic victory in vital New York State.

* * *

Frank Clement, 36. The "boy governor" of Tennessee will be the convention keynoter and his exciting ability as a spellbinder, could, his friends believe, "set the delegates on fire" and emblazon for him an open road to the vice presidential nomination. Clement frequently has been singled out for praise by Stevenson. He is a skilled proach as Vice President Richard M. Nixon is on the Republican side.

* * *

Robert B. Meyner, 48. He is a man to be reckoned with—one reason being that he slowed Kefauver down in New Jersey when the tall Tennesseean was really rolling in his drive to take the top spot away from Stevenson. Meyner wrested control of his state from a strong Republican machine. His residence in the industrial East is an asset. His approach to national and international issues is similar to Stevenson's in many respects.

George M. Leader, 38. An unknown—nationally speaking—until last year, Leader has not been in big league politics long enough to have made many foes, and should developments dictate a compromise choice for the vice presidential nomination, there probably would be few objections raised against his selection.

U.S. Reaffirms Red China Stand

State Department Aide Says We Still Will Bar U.N. Membership

DETROIT (AP)—A State Department spokesman declared today that the U. S. government is firmly united in opposition to Red Chinese membership in the United Nations.

* * *

Rumors abroad that the U. S. position is shifting were discounted by Asst. Secretary of State Robert C. Hill in a talk prepared for the Detroit Board of Commerce.

Hill said Congress, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles "have expressed themselves so clearly on this point that I find it difficult to understand that the U. S. position could be misjudged by anyone."

* * *

Hill cited a long record of congressional resolutions opposing a U. N. seat for the Chinese Reds. He also cited a record of aggressive Red Chinese activities, listing Korea, the Formosa area, Southeast Asia and in the treatment of Americans held in China as being among the major reasons for the U. S. attitude.

Hill said he was devoting his Detroit speech to a discussion of the subject because of concern in the State Department "over rumors that the U. S. government might be weakening in its opposition to the recognition of Communist China by the United Nations."

* * *

"These rumors, unfounded as they are, have gained some credence abroad," he said.

Revolutionary Chief President of Bolivia

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP)—Hernan Siles Zuazo, leader of the 1952 revolution which toppled a military junta and installed Victor Paz Estenssoro, takes over today as Bolivia's new president.

Siles pledged his utmost to end the inflation crippling Bolivia's economy.

The 42-year-old lawyer fought and was wounded in the Gran Chaco War with Paraguay in 1934. In 1952 he led the civilian forces of his National Revolutionary Movement which defeated the regular army in a three-day mountain battle. Paz Estenssoro, whose 1951 election had been nullified by Brig. Gen. Hugo Ballivian's coup, was recalled from exile and Siles became his vice president. He was elected to the top job by a 4-1 lead.

Labor Secretary Sees Harmony for Rest of '56

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell says administration policy and a "growing maturity" of unions and management have created "the greatest era of industrial peace, outside of war, that we have ever had in this country."

Speaking on a filmed television interview, Mitchell gave major weight to "the government policy of resting on the ability of management and labor to settle their own differences."

He said he foresees no industrial unrest of the type which shut down the steel industry last month, adding: "I think for the rest of the year we will have a period of industrial peace."

Hungary's Ex-Boss Taking Rest Cure

BUDAPEST, Hungary (AP) — A high official source has confirmed that Hungary's former Communist party chief Matyas Rakosi is taking the cure in the Soviet Crimea for high blood pressure and other ills.

The informant said the 64-year-old former Red boss, who resigned July 18 with a published confession that he had been dictatorial, "just cracked up" during his last months in power.

One source, claiming to have been present at Rakosi's downfall, said the ailing leader tried to stage a Stalin-type purge to stay in power. He reportedly drew up a list of several hundred persons to be arrested as "enemies of the party," including Imre Nagy, deposed former premier.

Registrar Fooled Again, He Was There in 1838

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—Registrars at the permanent registration office were certain they had caught an error. The birth date of William Edward Davis was listed as Dec. 25, 1838.

A form letter, asking the voter to "straighten out the error," brought a personal appearance by Davis himself, a former slave who submitted affidavits to prove he really is 117 years old. Davis said he remembers being sold in slavery at the age of 12 in Winston-Salem, N. C., where he was born.

Firebug Touches Off 7 Blazes in Churches

NEW YORK (AP) — Small blazes were set in seven of Manhattan's biggest churches over the weekend.

The fires were touched off in famed St. Patrick's Cathedral and three other Roman Catholic churches. Also hit were three Episcopal churches. All are in the midtown area.

The fires broke out when few worshipers were in the churches. They were quickly stamped out and damage was minor.

* * *

Police are questioning a 66-year-old jobless laborer. They said he had matches and a bottle of lighter fluid in his pockets.

The man, Salvatore Sorrentino, 66, was held on a misdemeanor charge. He denied setting any fires.

* * *

THE PONY RIDE

At many parks, there are ponies for children to ride.

Susan climbs on to Frisky's back by stepping on the box at his side. Then she rides him round and round, and the ride always seems too short.

Cut along the black line between Susan's arms and legs and set her astride the pony. Put her right arm behind Frisky's neck and her left one in front.

Cut the slits in the stirrup and slip her left toe in place. That will help to hold her firmly on the pony. Fold back the end panels on the dotted lines and Frisky will stand up.

Special Issues Join Primary in Balloting

South Oakland Eyes Proposals

Recreation Mill Vote, Memorial Park Sale Are on Ballot

Primary votes tomorrow will decide who faces voters in November, but also on ballots in county towns will be such decisions as voting millage for recreation sites in Southfield Township and selling a memorial park in Royal Oak.

New precincts have been set up in many towns, in line with this year's state regulations that have forced cities and other communities to split their voting areas.

Avon township, including Rochester, Waterford and Troy townships, Troy City, Keego Harbor, and West Bloomfield Townships are among those which have no special issues on tomorrow's ballots.

* * *

Southfield

Residents here will be asked at tomorrow's election to approve two mills in special taxes for recreation sites and a civic center.

A proposal to grant a franchise to a private corporation to build the proposed $1,112,000 "little" Evergreen interceptor will be voted on as scheduled.

A suit and injunction to block the election brought by a Southfield real estate dealer was dismissed Friday in Oakland County Circuit Court.

* * *

Royal Oak

Two proposals will appear on the ballot at tomorrow's election. Voters will decide whether to sell an 18 acre memorial park.

The land has been appraised for $108,000 and cannot be sold without a referendum. If it carries, it cannot be sold for less than the appraised figure.

The second proposal asks for increasing the jurisdiction of the city's municipal court from $500 to a $1,000 in civil cases.

Oak Park

Two charter amendments and a proposal to build an outdoor swimming pool are on the ballot here.

One charter amendment asks compulsory retirement for all public safety officers at the age of 60. The other provides social security coverage of employes except police and fire.

Madison Heights

Orion Township

Residents of Orion Township will be voting at four precints instead of three at the election Tuesday from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Princinct 1, which includes the Village of Lake Orion will vote at the Village Hall, 37 E. Flint St. Precincts 2 and 4 will vote at the Township Hall, 571 S. Broadway.

Boundaries of these precincts are:

Precinct 2, north of Clarkston road, and west of the Village and M24; precinct 4, east of M24, outside the village limits, also west of M24 south of Clarkston road and east of Joslyn and Giddings roads; Precinct 3, area south of Clarkston road and west of Joslyn and Giddings road will vote at the Gingellville Fire Hall, 3358 Gregory Rd.

Lapeer Expects 5,000 to Vote

Area Has No Special Issues; Office Races Interesting

LAPEER—County Clerk John T. Conley, has estimated that there will be close to 5,000 votes cast here in Tuesday's Primary election. Two years ago a total of 4,384 votes were cast, but with a hot sheriff race and several other interesting contests, he figures that figure might be increased.

There are no local issues at stake and there is but the one ballot with the Republican ticket on one side and the Democrat party on the other.

While there is a contest for the office of Probate Judge, no nonpartisan ballots were printed as there are but two contestants, John G. Libbers, incumbent and Carl Williams, opposing him.

With the retirement of Sheriff Clark Gregory, the field is wide open for that office. On the Republican ticket are five aspirants for the office as follows: Robert H. Albrecht, 49, Columbiaville, factory worker and farmer, former deputy in Macomb county. Clare Barrett, 43, Arcadia Township farmer and supervisor of that township. Ralph Hayden, 50, Elba Township supervisor, farmer, under-sheriff and deputy under former Sheriff Leslie Mathews. Dayton Hinds, 41, Lapeer. Owner of Welding Supply Co. William J. Porter, 38, Lapeer, who served under Sheriff Clark Gregory.

On the Democratic ticket, only local contest is for sheriff: Ralph J. Knack, North Branch, has been deputy and marshal at North Branch and William D. Breckenridge, Lapeer, Detroit Edison employe.

For County Clerk, the incumbent, John T. Conley, 51, is opposed by Lyle F. Stewart, 53, bookkeeper of Watkins Motor Co. Both live in Lapeer.

For prosecuting attorney George D. Lutz, incumbent, is opposed by Michael C. Dionise, 26. Lutz has held office for past four years and Dionise graduated in law from the University of Notre Dame last year.

For coroner, three are running for the two nominations. The incumbents, Dr. Dorothy Leith, Imlay City and Dr. William C. Heitsch, 30, Lapeer, seek renomination with a new entrant in the race in the person of Dr. Lyle Riddell, 40, Lapeer.

There are 26 precincts in Lapeer County and five in Lapeer City, the eighteen townships having one each, with three townships having two precincts each, namely Elba, Marathon and Imlay Townships.

Pumps 12 Bullets in Pair Waiting at Traffic Light; Dragnet Out

HAVERHILL, Mass. (AP)—Charles W. Testa, 39, died early today of bullet wounds in the chest some five hours after his girl friend was killed outright by pistol fire as they sat in their car halted by a red traffic light.

Mrs. Janet Koehler, 25, died on the spot with seven bullet wounds in her chest.

Shortly after the shooting at the busy junction of Lawrence Street and Kenoza Avenue, police issued a "wanted for murder" bulletin for Arthur Koehler, 31, divorced husband of Mrs. Koehler.

Police Lt. Timothy D. Donovan said Testa told him before dying that Koehler "fired the shots."

Donovan quoted Testa as saying that Koehler got out of his own car, approached him and Mrs. Koehler at the stoplight, emptied his gun at them, returned to his car and sped off.

The dead woman's mother Mrs. Gertrude Los, who had been caring for Mrs. Koehler's two children, said her daughter and Koehler were divorced last April.

She said also the Koehlers lived separately for a year before the divorce "because of Testa," a Methuen contractor.

Eden Predicts Best World Government Will Be Patterned on 'Commonwealth'

By J. M. ROBERTS
AP News Analyst

Prime Minister Eden of Great Britain predicted the other day that, if there is ever a world government such as the idealists are seeking, it will take the form pioneered by the commonwealth of nations.

* * *

Britain is taking the lead now in discouraging use of the word British in describing the commonwealth. In a free association of nations for mutual consideration of mutual problems, she remains the leader only because of her position of relative power devoted to defense of the other members, through economics, and through the wispy tradition of allegiance to the crown. And indeed, even the latter is no longer required.

Eden claims, and can produce an imposing record to prove it, that imperialism has been wiped out of British policy, and that the commonwealth, instead of being a possessive instrument, plays a leading role in helping to bring into being young and independent nations.

From this topic Eden moved without spoken implications directly into a discussion of relations between Britain and the United States.

He made no attempt to relate the United States to the commonwealth, referring to Anglo-American relations as a fellowship which "continues to live and to grow because we have methods of government, an approach to life, with a common origin now centuries old."

BRIEF SPEECH

Referring to the recent observance of the Fourth of July, Eden "ventured" to tell America that the British also deeply cherish independence.

It was a brief speech to the English-Speaking Union in London, and there was no amplification of the commonwealth as the forerunner of a world government.

There was no bridge between that thought and the references to America.

But one could not help but wonder whether there was more to the speech than a mere putting in of appearance at an Anglo-American meeting.

* * *

Certainly there was no suggestion of an invitation for the United States to join the commonwealth. That could only mean the decline of Britain, whose independence indeed is cherished, as its leader.

It seems reasonable, however, to draw the inference that there is an invitation to the United States to work more closely with Britain in promoting the program of the commonwealth.

* * *

Eden never becomes far-fetched. He has not gone rushing off toward world government. But as he sees it, if it should happen, it would be through closer connection of the Anglo-American fellowship with the free association of the commonwealth.

for CONGRESS

18th Congressional District (Oakland County)

Vote Tuesday, Aug. 7th PRIMARY ELECTION

Higgins' Fight for Govt. Economy Drew Wide Support

President Eisenhower receives Michigan Senate Resolution from George N. Higgins and fellow Senators.

As a State Senator, Higgins fought the opposition to a standstill in resisting "new taxes." A Pontiac Press editorial declared "In matters of state economy, Senator Higgins is the taxpayers' first line of defense." Of the over 100 laws authored by Higgins were bills which created a community hospital authority for Oakland County; increased the state's share of race track betting by two million annually to help schools and local government; plugged loopholes in the sales tax law to get tax dodgers; provided a homestead tax exemption for disabled veterans; and other benefits for deserving veterans.

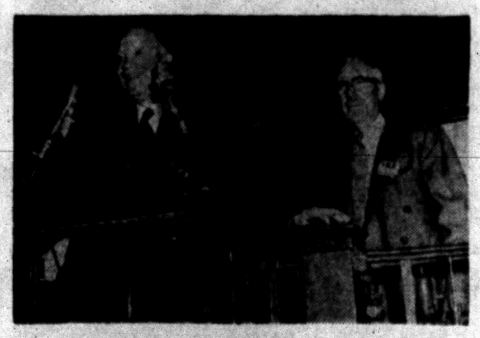

Higgins Has an Outstanding Legislative Record

George N. Higgins, 56, has a record of accomplishment during his three terms as a State Representative and four terms as a State Senator unsurpassed, not only in Oakland County but in Michigan. He is one of the few men in State Legislative history to be the author of over 100 Bills which actually became law. It was Higgins' bill which gave Oakland County its own Congressional District and thus provided Oakland residents with a larger voice in Congress. After becoming known as a powerful force in the Legislature, Higgins voluntarily retired two years ago to await Congressman George Dondero's retirement.

Higgins Is a Tireless Republican Worker

George N. Higgins has often been called Oakland County's "Mr. Republican." For over 20 years he has worked on every organizational task from the precinct level on up. He was president of the Oakland County Lincoln Republican Club and was County Chairman of the Republican Party. He has been a delegate to county, state, and national GOP conventions. He managed the first successful U. S. Senate campaign of Homer P. Ferguson.

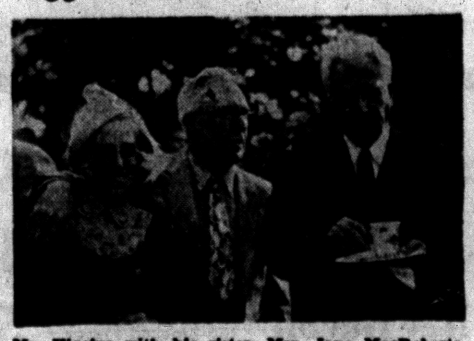

Higgins Helps Deserving Youngsters Through College

George N. Higgins never went to college. There were long, hard years as a farm boy in Pickford, Michigan, as a hired hand, drugstore clerk, Detroit auto production line worker, car salesman, and eventually he became owner of his own successful automobile agency in Ferndale. Although the demands of life deprived Mr. Higgins of the college education he had hoped for, he has been determined to do as much as he can for others who need help. To date, Mr. Higgins has helped finance over 100 youngsters through college, and the program grows every year. Twenty-nine are in schools of their choice, receiving help from the Higgins Foundation, this year.

Higgins Has Achieved Personal and Business Success

Mr. Higgins with his sister, Mrs. Jane MacRoberts of Royal Oak, and former U. S. Senator Homer Ferguson.

From his boyhood days on an Upper Peninsula farm through years of hard work, George Higgins' native ability and ingenuity have established a record of success. He is an outstanding GM dealer whose labor policies and programs have attracted nationwide attention. He married Eva Isabelle Quayle of Ishpeming in 1920 and resides on a farm near Clarkston. The Higgins' have four children and 12 grandchildren. His family is well known in the county. Among many honors Mr. Higgins has received the Oakland County Medical Society Award for outstanding service and the Book of Golden Deeds Award of the Ferndale Exchange Club.

Higgins Has Fought for Better Roads

In 1955 Governor Williams surprised many political leaders by appointing Higgins to the Michigan Turnpike Authority, despite the fact that the two had bitter fights when Senator Higgins, as a legislator, opposed some of Williams' programs. Higgins was immediately elected Chairman of the Authority. He launched a vigorous program to negotiate route problems to make way for the Turnpike and the traffic relief it would provide on Telegraph Road, U. S. 10, and other parallel routes. Working long hours at this unpaid public job, Mr. Higgins has settled many problems trying to provide better, safer highways. Pontiac City approved the turnpike location and the Oakland Road Commission endorsed the project as badly needed.

Swedish Sex Bomb Tells Off Americans

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—Anita Ekberg is a young matron who could not be more awesome, architecturally, if put together by Frank Lloyd Wright.

Yet when she moved in on a table of large-eyed students of structural design (they do newspaper writing on the side), Miss Ekberg out-and-out lied.

"Oh," she said, "I just look a mess. Please forgive me."

When everyone had, and a few flashbulbs had popped, the most publicized Swede since Garbo sat down and ordered orange juice and started to talk about her phenomenal career in the movie business.

She conceded, straight from her broad, white shoulder, that her less earthy talents—like acting—are yet to be exposed. And that she's a "little hurt" about it. She has mostly "just been taken pictures of," although late this summer three films in which she is featured will be released throughout the land, and then the truth will be known.

Can she act? "I think everybody has a sense of wanting to be better," she said.

Miss Ekberg, born in Malmo, Sweden, but photographed in the U.S. since 1952, loves America. "I thought I lived a wonderful life in Sweden, but when you go back home, you are brought to earth again. Here, if I'm very low I can go out to a store and find something to pick me up. If I want to rent a Cadillac car with driver, I can."

"You crazy?" she cried. "I think it's an awful rude question to ask of a lady, and I don't see any importance in the measurements — either privately or professionally!"

This led to a candid discussion of sex appeal, a topic on which the lady tends to become explosive.

"You Americans have a darn complex about sex," she said, taking a lusty swig of juice. "You cover up women so they look like men. When they take pictures of me, they keep adding more lace, more lace. You can't prove you're a woman that way.

"Poor Gina Lollobrigida—some pictures of her, they put her in such clothes she looks as straight as Gary Cooper. Well, a slightly bent Gary Cooper."

At this juncture, a reporter commented that to Europeans, Americans must look like Puritans.

"Puritans, my foot!" she snapped. Then she grinned. "You get shocked because they don't teach you enough in school."

"Hold my hand, darling," she said, and Anthony amiably obliged.

Miss Ekberg revealed she loves having a husband, doesn't mind household duties and eventually would like to have a family.

Why

BILL BROOMFIELD

should be your next congressman . . . .

"I pledge my future to the people of Oakland County." Bill Broomfield says it and he means it. Broomfield will take to Washington an unchallenged record of providing real benefits for Michigan families. As your next Congressman, all his energies will be concentrated on giving the families of Oakland County the best representation they've ever had!

A record of eight years of progressive leadership in State Legislature qualifies him for this important job.

First of all let's meet State Senator William S. Broomfield. He's a good man, and you should know it.

Bill was born in Royal Oak in 1922, was graduated from Royal Oak High School and has been a resident of Oakland County all his life. He attended Michigan State University, served in the Army during World War II, is married and the father of two children. He divides his time between his insurance business in Berkley and the Michigan Senate at Lansing.

Why do we say that Bill Broomfield should be your next Congressman? Because Bill Broomfield has spent the last eight years of his life in the Michigan State Legislature doing everything in his power to improve the facilities and services that benefit families in Michigan!

Take a look at the highlights of Bill Broomfield's career. Notice the preponderance of family benefits in the bills he has sponsored. Every one of them has been passed. It's action like this, action that he will continue to get in behalf of the families of Oakland County, that makes Bill Broomfield the outstanding choice as the next United States Congressman from the 18th District.

- $100,000,000 bill for distressed school districts.
- Special Education Act ($1,400,000 for handicapped children).
- Workmen's Compensation Act. (Result: Michigan enjoys highest benefits in U.S.)
- Homestead Exemption for blind persons or widows of blind persons.
- A bill to expand a State Water Resources Commission.
- $217,000,000 School Aid Bill.
- A bill to increase salaries for school teachers and all school personnel.
- A bill for bonus for Korean veterans.
- A bill to increase Old Age Benefits.
- A bill to advance Junior Colleges ($750,000).
- A bill to remove the locking devices from abandoned refrigerators.
- A bill to increase benefits under the Employment Security Act.
- A bill for special parking privileges for disabled veterans.
- A bill to establish a Veteran's Homestead Exemption Act.
- A bill to reinstate veterans in their jobs after return from service.

'Venetian' Regatta Staged

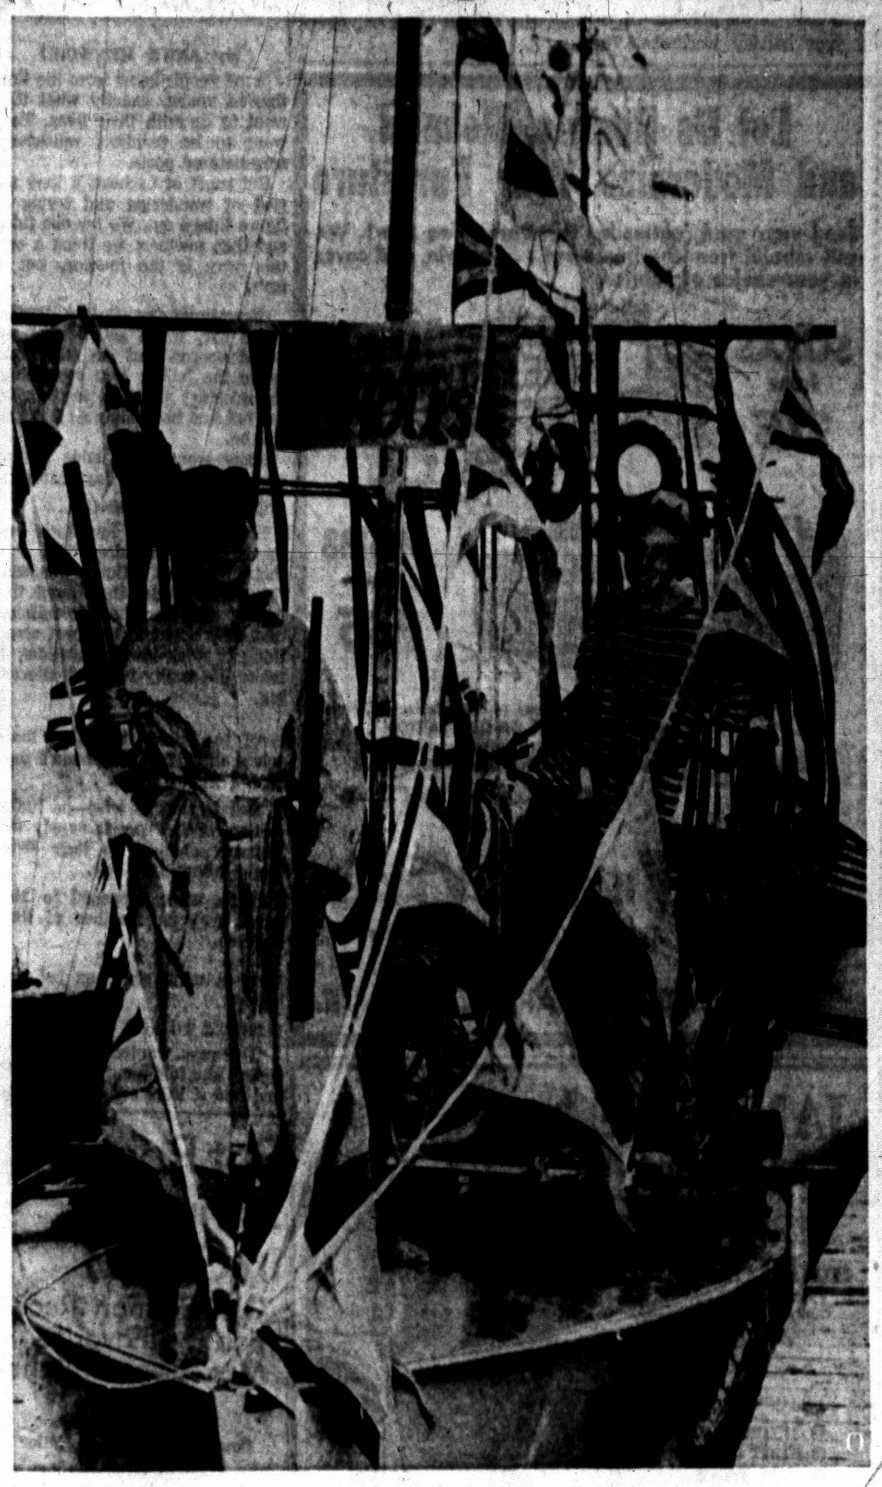

Watkins Lake residents hold a Venetian Night celebration annually, with a regatta and prizes awarded for originality and workmanship. This year's regatta, held Saturday at the lake, featured a dozen boats of lake residents. A wiener roast and dance was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brown Williams on Eason avenue following the regatta.

"Jailor" Sharon Noble stands guard over Sandra Smith on the Jail House boat owned by John Noble of Forest drive. The girls are appropriately attired for their roles in the sailboat regatta, held at Watkins Lake Saturday. The annual event precedes the Venetian Night celebration by lake residents.

Long Skirts May Be Style in '57

PARIS (INS) — Christian Dior has issued one of his dictums from Paris, and obedient women soon may be covering their legs almost down to the ankles.

Skirts down to nine inches off the floor exploded a "bomb-shell" in the midsummer heat of the Paris fashion world. Fashion experts and socialites fell for the new "long look" with its lady-like femininity, graceful swing or tightly fitted vampiness.

* * *

Dior, who in previous seasons has done cruel things to the feminine body, displayed mellow softness this time by designing clothes that allow ample room for bosom and hips.

And as far as the new future skirt length is concerned, it also gives a break to fat-legged girls by discreetly covering up everything but the ankles.

Apart from full length ball gowns, Dior's new collection has some 150 "short" autumn and winter outfits and a group of only six models in the new "semi-long" line. Dior meant only to issue a "warning."

* * *

It is not expected that the Paris fashion picture in the streets will change from "short" to "long" this autumn. A few fashion-pioneers will turn up at swanky lunch places and fashionable cocktail parties showing only nine inches of leg-plus-foot.

But 1957 may well become a "new look" year just as 1947 did a decade ago.

Sweep Diagonally

When you use a carpet sweeper or vacuum cleaner on small rugs, run the cleaner diagonally across the rug instead of lengthwise. The rug is less apt to wrinkle and get caught in the cleaner.

Bread may be stored in the refrigerator to retard mold growth, especially during hot weather, but the longer the refrigeration period, the firmer the bread becomes. Remember that refrigeration temperatures step up staling.

Party Fetes Nancy Gray, Dick Euler

A cocktail and supper party feting Nancy Gray and Dick Euler was held Saturday evening at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Verne Hampton on Motorway drive. The Hamptons' son, Verne, also was a host.

For the affair Mrs. Hampton carried out the candlelight theme in white and silver. Lawn lanterns were scattered about and cut grden flowers were placed at various points.

Attending were Mr. and Mrs. Euler, Mrs. Gray, David Gray, Dr. and Mrs. Arthur R. Young, Mrs. Frank Sloan, Harold Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Heitsch and Diane Euler.

New 'Frame' for Windows

NEW YORK (INS) — Windows should be pretty to look at on the inside as well as providing a view of the outside.

* * *

Instead of drapes, she bordered her window with a pair of three panel screen frames edged in bamboo. Each of the end panels was decorated with lemon yellow and orange yarn loosely woven back and forth over tacks hammered to the frame.

* * *

The two center panels of the screen each contained a brass pole with three adjustable brass cone-shaped lamps. This way the lamps can be turned to light up both the window area and the actual dining table of the room at the same time.

* * *

Bamboo-edged screens were used in another dining room to frame a window, but this time the screens were covered in a saffron fortisan print, oriental in its mist blue, white, beige and gray fruit-and-flower pattern. All color accents in the room derived from the screen.

Mrs. Paul Mandel Honored at Shower

Mrs. Paul Mandel was honored at a pink and blue shower recently at the home of Mrs. Harry Killian on Lincoln avenue. Hostesses were Mrs. Sally Puertas and Pat Killian.

Attending were Mrs. Sam Benson, Mrs. Richard Hoover, Mrs. Robert Lemaux, Mrs. Fred Millis, Mrs. Ralph Grubb, Mrs. Ralph Humphries and Mrs. George Arnold.

Others were Mrs. Bradley Scott, Mrs. Stanley Smith, Mrs. Catherine Sener, Mrs. Fred Saner, Mrs. David Green, Mrs. John Gibson, Mrs. Gene Whitfield and Mrs. Joe Anderson.

Coming Events

Take Scent on Trip

Mom Finds Do-It-at-Home Career

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some people know from the time they're young, exactly what they want to do with their lives. They want to be painters, musicians, scientists or poets.

But most of us have a long period of wondering and trying to figure things out. We try one thing and then another; we think a certain way is the answer, but it isn't.

Sometimes we find a pretty good life, which satisfies us on most scores. But we still may have the feeling that something is missing; that life isn't quite as full and interesting as it ought to be.

Many women, to judge by my mail, fall into this last category.

SOMETHING MISSING

They marry and love their husbands; have children and love their children. But, wonderful though it all is, they have that feeling that something is missing, that they ought to be doing something of their own, something to make life really full and interesting.

* * *

All too often they find themselves thinking, "If I hadn't married, I might be a . . . "

But if they're wise—or lucky—they find a way to supply the missing element in their lives right where they are.

* * *

WANTED TO ACT

"I always wanted to be an actress," she told me, "I had studied and had a little experience before I married. I was never in the big time, but I did summer stock and a few bit parts.

* * *

"When I married, I was sure I was ready to give up acting, but then sometimes I would begin to wonder.

Last year I was working myself up into a state. The housework would pile up and I would think, 'If only I hadn't married, I might be a famous actress.'

"One day," she continued, "I was pretty blue and was weeping all by myself.

* * *

"Unexpectedly, my daughter, aged five, came in from playing and caught me. She asked what was the matter and I sort of blurted out, "Mommy wants to do some acting'.

HUGGED HER MOTHER

"Well, you know how children are. She hugged me and looked up at me with those big eyes and said, 'We could have shows right here. You could teach me how to act.'

"I began thinking it over," Margaret concluded, "and decided to do just that—to start a children's acting class right in my own house.

"It's been more fun—I just love it and so do all the children. We did a performance in the school auditorium last Spring and now it looks as though I'll get a budget from the city fathers for a children's theatre!"

Here's an attractive but inexpensive set to make for that little girl. You'll enjoy crocheting it as much as she'll love wearing it. Velvet ribbon and pretty flowers add a demure touch.

Send 25c in coins, your name, address and the pattern number to Anne Cabot, Pontiac Press, 372 W. Quincy St., Chicago 6, Ill.

Now available—the colorful 1956 Needlework Album containing dozens of lovely designs from which to choose more patterns in crochet, embroidery and knit — plus three gift patterns, directions printed in book. Only 25c a copy!

Take Makeup Along

A swim is a most refreshing thing, but when a girl comes "ashore" it's a good idea to have the following items handy: a comb, for a quick fluffing of the hair . . . lipstick, to restore color that the water often washes away . . . and a bottle of cologne, to provide that lovely aura of feminity.

Howard Boldrey Takes Rose Bronson as Bride

A ballerina-length gown of imported Swiss organdy was worn by Willo Rose Bronson Saturdday evening when she became the bride of Howard Blair Boldrey.

The bodice of the gown was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with Schiffli embroidery. A tiara of seed pearls and iridescent sequins secured her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a Colonial bouquet of roses and carnations.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Archie Webb of Gage street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boldrey of St. Clair street.

The Rev. Marvin W. Hastings of Keego Harbor Church of Christ performed the 6 o'clock ceremony before 150 guests. The altar of the church was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and candelabra.

TWO ATTENDANTS

Joann Murray served as the bride's maid of honor and Sandra Newell of Grayling was her other attendant. They wore identical gowns of nylon in pink and blue respectively, with matching colored headpieces securing their nose veils. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses.

Jimmy Lee Baldrey served his nephew as best man. Seating the guests were Donald Starr and Robert Hulett, also uncles of the bridegroom.

* * *

For traveling the bride changed to a blue linen suit with white accessories and a white rose corsage. Following a honeymoon trip in northern Michigan the couple will reside on School street.

MRS. HOWARD BOLDREY

Whew! That's Money

In 1956, women will spend more money than ever before on cosmetic products. On shampoo preparations alone, they will spend $125,000,000. Another $65,000,000 will go for lipstick preparations.

Hair Rinse Needed

Longer hair is making a spectacular comeback—it's now between five and eight inches. The look is bouffant, soft and polished. And very necessary to keep these hair styles manageable and shining are frequent post-shampoo creme rinses.

Pot Roast Simmers in Cream

Old German Recipe Family Favorite of Mrs. Gene Mitchell

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Mrs. Gene Mitchell's mother was a marvelous German cook. Her daughter remembers some of the dishes with great pleasure and tries her hand at them occasionally.

This recipe for German-Style Pot Roast is unusual in that it calls for sour cream. We're sure you'll like trying it.

Mrs. Mitchell is a resident of Green Lake. She is an outdoors person who does such strenuous things as painting the house. All her friends envy her beautiful tan.

GERMAN-STYLE POT ROAST
By Mrs. Gene Mitchell

5 to 6 pound pot roast
Shortening
1 cup thick sour cream
2 teaspoons salt
Dash pepper
2 tablespoons flour
4 cups water
2 bay leaves
2 small onions, diced
Garlic
Small tomato, quartered
Few slices green pepper

Rub meat with garlic, salt and pepper, and dredge with flour. Brown in small amount of fat. Add cream, turn the meat until cream is thoroughly browned. Then add bay leaves, diced onions, tomato, green pepper and water.

Cook in covered roaster in moderate (350-degree) oven for 3 hours.

'I've Got to Lose Weight'

A mature woman can get herself thinner if it matters to her. She can do it with the help of her doctor, will power and some imaginative meal-planning.

But whether she has weight-losing intentions or not, she certainly ought to pay attention to whether her abdomen sticks out or not.

Even the best clothes hang queerly and hike up at the hem when worn by a woman whose posture is sway - backed. Some slender, beautifully dressed mature women wreck their appearances by standing as though they were just coming up from a day at the washboard.

* * *

A protruding abdomen isn't so much a problem of weight as it is of muscles — those things you haven't thought about since field hockey days. There are various exercises to develope these muscles, but few things help like holding in the abdomen, consciously, for long periods at a time.

Sitting posture is vital in the battle as standing posture. If one slumps in the chair, legs askew, the ribs crunch down into the middle and the middle folds over the abdomen.

Pulling up and in, holding one's chest and head up gives one an opportunity to give a pull on the abdominal muscles. It's a long battle to get them to stay in unconsciously, but it's worth it.

If Mate Asks for Divorce, It's Time to Think Selfishly

Spurned Wife Must Draw on Courage, Tackle Problems With Head, Not Heart

By RUTH MILLETT

They have had a good marriage, reared three children who are grown and on their own, struggled together for the success which the husband has now achieved.

Their life should be easy sailing.

But the husband has informed his wife that he is in love with a girl in his office who is little more than half his age. He has asked his wife for a divorce so he can marry the girl he thinks he can't live without.

Because she loves her husband and, through the years, has put his welfare and happiness ahead of her own she feels there is nothing to do but to get a divorce and clear out of her husband's life.

* * *

Now is the time for this good wife to start thinking a bit more selfishly.

Since her husband, obviously, is not concerned with what is to become of her if she gives him the divorce he thinks he wants, she had better start thinking about her own future.

Where will she live if she divorces her husband?

It isn't likely that she will relish living in the same town with her former husband and his new wife. Is what her husband thinks he wants important enough to force her into becoming another displaced person?

Even though they are grown, how will the children feel about having their parents divorced?

* * *

Even grown children have a right to expect their parents to look after each other as long as they both live.

WHAT ABOUT FUTURE?

Does she have what it takes to make a new life alone and on her own or is there danger that she will crack up emotionally when the divorce is final?

It is only healthy self-interest for a woman to examine that possibility carefully.

Can she find the courage to look her husband in the eye and say "no" to his demand for a divorce? Courage is often a greater virtue than meekness.

* * *

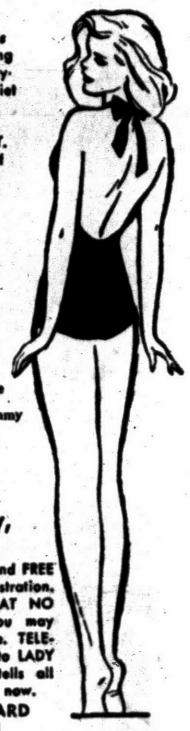

Any woman who obligingly turns her husband over to another woman should at least do a little "selfish" thinking first. After all, the husband and the other woman aren't setting any records for unselfish behavior.

Altering Moral Stand Can Ruin Child

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Writes Mrs. J.: "My 16-year-old boy recently damaged his father's car. To avoid trouble, I paid to get it fixed without my husband's knowledge. Last Sunday as he was washing the car, he became suspicious. The boy lied to him and I backed him up.

"Now I'm wondering if I did the wrong thing. Would you advise my encouraging the boy to tell the truth?"

Have you always told him to trust telling it?

If so, you have made telling it safety to him. Now that he needs safety to meet your husband's anger, it's pretty confusing to suggest that telling the truth is danger.

Let me quote some impressive dialog from a movie every parent in this country would do well to see. Titled "Rebel Without a Cause," it's the story of a son whose moralizing parent reverses himself on truth-telling at the moment of the boy's moral crisis — and suggests deceit instead:

Boy: You've always told me to tell the truth. You think you can just turn that off?

Parent: You can't be an idealist all your life! Nobody thanks you for sticking your neck out. You know you did wrong. That's the main thing, isn't it?

Boy: You better give me something. You better give me something fast! Aren't you going to stand up for me?

* * *

The late James Dean was a gifted young actor. He seems to be speaking for your child and mine when he singles out the two words "stand up!" from that last sentence—and cries out their need for our steadfast strength when theirs grows weak and wavering.

TWICE LOST

If, in such crises, we also waver, denying the moral value we have preached, we orphan the child twice over. First, he loses us as the reliable guide he's always trusted to know the wise path. Second, he loses his belief in the wisdom of his own path.

Our betrayal snatches from him not only trust in us personally—but in everything we have said was true. In chaos and disillusion, our child may rush out into far worse "trouble" than the one we have tried to avoid.

So, in Mrs. J.'s position, I should have to encourage my child to tell the truth.

* * *

I'd say something like this: "Son, I went off my track when I helped you deceive Dad. For a moment, I lost my bearings—and decided a lie was good.

"I don't really believe this. So I am practicing what I advise you to do. I am confessing the truth of my mistake to you as I hope you'll confess the truth of yours to your father."

Gift Suggestion

Visiting family or friends this year? An acceptable hostess gift would be a set of perfumed bath accessories, including soap, bath softener, (oil, bubbles or crystals) cologne or toilet water, dusting powder or talc, all in a matching scent of course.

Aging Too Fast?–Use Quiz to Rate Yourself

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The following are a few of the remarks we often hear which reflect an attitude calculated to lead to early aging, physically and mentally.

It is wise to check ourselves with a list like this once in a while because we sometimes slip into such an outlook without meaning to. In fact we may not realize that we have done so unless it is called to our attention.

* * *

Have you ever caught yourself saying?

1. How can I take rest periods with all I have to do?

2. "I have worn my hair this way for 20 years, so there's no reason to change it now."

3. "I think it is neurotic to see a doctor when you feel well. The idea of an examination once or twice a year is something the doctors thought up to make money, I'll bet."

4. "Fat runs in my family so why should I struggle? I eat like a bird."

5. "I am too old to begin something new."

SILLY TO START?

6. "I used to love to dance but I just don't any more. I would feel silly to start it again now."

7. "It seems that life is over now that the children are grown."

8. "The modern generation is really a problem. Young people are not like they were in the good old days."

9. "I think there is too much talk about nutrition today. After all there were eight children in my family and four of us are still living. Then there is this vitamin racket. Huh!"

10. "I have to eat a lot of food to keep my strength up."

11. "I don't know what the world is coming to!"

12. "At HER age, you'd think - -"

ALL FOOLISHNESS?

13. "I cannot take time to grease myself up every day or night with some cream or oil. I think it's a lot of foolishness anyway."

14. "I certainly do not have time to take special exercises. Goodness knows I get enough doing my housework."

15. "There's no place for me in the world now that I am older. The world belongs to youth."

16. "My children don't appreciate me."

ROMANCE GONE?

17. "After all you cannot expect to have romance in your marriage after 20 years."

18. "I am not going to ask HER to my house again. I have asked her twice and she has asked me only once."

19. "At MY age - - "

20. "Swim? With my figure? Don't be ridiculous!"

* * *

If you would like to check yourself for mannerisms of age send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 67 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

TASTE IN FOOD INFLUENCED BY EXPERIENCES, HABIT

Eating habits are very personal. Psychologists will tell you that man's taste in food is greatly affected by his past emotional experiences as well as by habit.

The aroma and taste of a certain dish will bring back the past vividly, as does the fragrance of newly cut grass, or sudden rain on a hot dusty road, or a refrain from a remembered song.

This is no doubt one reason folks like food "like Mother cooked." Perhaps mother was a wonderful cook, but even if she made biscuits which would have given a lion indigestion, the remembrance of her cooking may be pleasant.

You first formed your liking for these foods when you were young and hungry, and even more important they are tied in with happiness and a feeling of security and love.

No wonder it is difficult to change our eating habits even though we are seriously interested in the latest discoveries concerning nutrition. There are so many factors which enter into the picture.

The locality in which you grew up and in which you live affects your choices in food. Some foods are easily obtainable in one part of the country and not in another.

Then, too, certain communities have dishes for which they are well known. For instance, the favorite dishes of the northern part of the United States are quite different from those of the south and west.

The family budget also has its influence in forming your eating habits. Some foods are practically prohibitive for some families. Because of this the diet may have been lacking in essential elements.

On the other hand, when money is plentiful there is a temptation to add many of the rich, tasteful but devitalized items and less of the simple, essential ones.

DEVELOPED AVERSION

You also may have developed early in life an aversion to certain foods because a loved member of your family disliked them. Also, our palates have become jaded with high seasoning, spices and sauces and condiments of all sorts.

* * *

When you consider these factors which have formed your habits in taste you readily will see that a change toward better nutrition will not be easy.

However, when you think of the great benefits of applying the latest information about nutrition to your daily menus, it surely is worth the effort.

Chronic fatigue, some skin and eye troubles, circulatory difficulties, and many of the chronic diseases of middle age have been correlated with food deficiencies or overindulgence in rich foods.

If you would like my leaflet "Vitamin Defense" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 37 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Do you let your housework interfere with special exercises? If you do, it's a sign of early aging and we sometimes slip into such an outlook without meaning to. Take time to check yourself for mannerisms of age. It is possible that you will not realize the fact without someone calling it to your attention.

What to Call Old Friend, Now Doctor?

Use of First Name Still Proper Except on Formal Occasion

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: A man whom I have known since childhood and who has now become a doctor has recently returned to this town. At a gathering the other evening, I called him by his first name when talking to him.

"A member of his family criticized me for this and said that I should call him Dr. Jones. Will you please give me your opinion?"

Answer: If he is one whom you have always called by his first name, you are not expected to change that name—except on a formal occasion when surrounded by strangers, when it would be best taste to call him Dr. Jones.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it good manners at a public gathering, such as a lecture where there are no reserved seats, for early arrivals to save seats for their friends who arrive later?

"I have seen this done on numerous occasions and do not think it is fair. I would very much like your opinion."

Answer: Saving a seat or two is entirely proper—but not a whole row!

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to take a friend with you to someone's house for a visit when this friend is a stranger to the person being invited? I would appreciate an answer to this question as there seems to be a difference of opinion about this among my friends."

Answer: It depends on what you mean by "visit." If you are merely going to stop for a few minutes at the house of a friend, it will be entirely proper to take your friend with you. But if you are going to a meal, taking an unvivited person with you would be unthinkable.

Ice Cream Puffs

Ice cream-filled cream puffs complete many a summer meal in fine style. Make tiny cream puffs and fill them with two or three kinds of ice cream. Use three or four for a serving and top with chocolate sauce and serve.

Take Match-Mates

The girl under 20 will go back to school with a pace-setting wardrobe of dyed-to-match and color-keyed separates, Ivy League outfits, caraco-jacketed date dresses, pleated suits and Tyrolean ensembles.

Never shake or snap small throw rugs. The snapping action may break yarns in the backing or loosen the bindings.

Pumps–Slim, Soft, Tapered Dominate Fall Shoe Picture

Definitely the pump's the thing this fall, according to an official of the National Shoe Fair, which opens in Chicago on Oct. 28.

True, we've always had pumps in the fall, but never like these . . . so slim, so soft, so elegant in design and material.

The needlepoint toe is still with us, combined with stilt heels as this as a match. This for the woman who always wants the ultra.

The woman who can't or won't go in for such extremes will find that this trend has influenced her own fall shoe fashions, and for the better. Her more conservative pumps will be slimmer, too, but not to the point of exaggeration.

The Italian influence is stronger than ever in pumps for both dress and street wear. Clean-cut graceful lines, soft supple leathers . . . the custom made air. Square throatlines in many shoes accentuate the long tapered last.

Textured leathers are the big news in street pumps, textures that range from the finest pin seal to alligator. With new tanning methods these reptiles and grained leathers are glove-soft, combine handsomely with suede, calf or patent. They have the luxurious air of the new autumn tweeds and woolens.

For evening, the sky's the limit in materials, colors, decoration. The shoe is the exclamation point of the costume.

Brilliant satins are back again . . . scarlet, emerald, sapphire, gold. A gem of a shoe is a pump of gold satin veiled with a gossamer web of black nylon mesh.

Brocades are lush and lavish, sometimes going to the extreme of covering the sole of the shoe as well as the body.

Jewels are handled in new ways. Understated, as it were, as when glittering brilliants are used to pave the arch of a shoe or the inside of the heel instead of as vamp treatments.

There's a distinct trend toward the court shoes of the days of Louis XV in some of the most lavish of the new evening slippers, which feature buckles that are jewelers' pieces, shimmering iridescent heels, sequins that sparkle like fireflies.

LINDA KAY WHITLOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd O. Whitlock of First street announce the engagement of their daughter, Linda Kay, to Thomas I. Misener, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan W. Misener of Fairfax street. An Oct. 6 wedding is planned.

Furs Take to Color on Fall Coats

ATLANTA, Ga. (INS)—Furs and fabrics, color-blended or dyed to match, are making fashion news for fall.

DYED BEAVER

The New York manufacturer, who is introducing his coats in Atlanta, says he uses beaver when he wishes the fur dyed to match in an unusual shade because this fur "dyes best."

Other skins popular in his fur-trim collection are mink and Somaliland leopard. Goldstein matches or blends his fabrics to compliment these rich furs.

No Greater Courage

Babe Zaharias---Champion at All Times

Babe Didrikson Zaharias, the greatest woman athlete the world has ever known, lies in a hospital room in Texas battling for life against cancer. Her courage has lifted her to the greatest heights of her career. This is the story of Babe Didrikson Zaharias, champion in health and champion in physical adversity.

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS)—In a cool, darkened room on the fifth floor of Galveston's John Sealey Hospital, the greatest girl athlete of all time, Babe Zaharias, has entered the finals of her sternest contest.

* * *

The courageous track and field wizard, golfer incomparable, Jane-of-all-trades athletic, a sportspage headliner for 24 of her 42 years, is engaged in a taut life-or-death struggle with cancer. Always a model of candor, Babe knows that this time—as in every sports finals she ever graced—it is a question of do or don't. There are no ties in this battle.

America's No. 1 cancer victim is setting an example that will encourage and inspire countless others. Mildred Ella Didrikson Zaharias warded off cancer once before.

In 1953, Dr. Robert M. Moore, University of Texas surgeon, performed a Colostomy on Babe. Three and a half months later, Babe stepped up and split the fairway with a 250 yard drive at Tam O'Shanter.

IT'S CANCER AGAIN

There have been two operations since. Babe tried to lift her car out of sand in April, 1955 and slipped a disc in her straight Norwegian back. She was operated on June 22, 1955. When the pain from the disc operation subsided it was replaced by much more ominous pain, mainly in her legs.

"What is it this time?" she asked Dr. Grace Jameson of the John Sealey staff, after all tests had been completed.

"Babe, the X-rays show that it's cancer again," the doctor told her. Dr. James explained that this time it was in the sacrum. Through the sacrum's openings nature threads the nerves that lead from the endless muscles of the legs to the brain. Cancer had formed in these vents, pinching the nerves and producing what Dr. Jameson said "must have been excruciating pain."

"What'll we do about it?" Babe quietly asked.

"X-ray therapy," Dr. Jameson answered.

Babe looked up and said, "let's get going."

The bone was bombarded for weeks by X-rays. When it became advisable to continue, and the pain persisted, Dr. Snodgrass performed (on Friday, July 13) the latest of Babe's awsome adventures in cancer surgery. It was a cordotomy, a nerve-severing operation designed to interrupt the processes and transmission of pain.

* * *

IT KILLED THE PAIN

"It was a long, tough one," Babe told me. "But thank the Good Lord, it killed the pain."

"All I feel now is something here in my chest, but they tell me that'll go away soon. My legs were killing me for weeks, but now I don't feel a thing down there. Funny thing, I don't even know how long they are, though the reflexes seem okay."

Those legs had leaped to new heights in the Los Angeles Olympics, had jumped about basketball courts from coast to coast, had run out infield hits, and had strode to victory in 56 major golf tournaments here and abroad.

LOST MANY POUNDS

"I can move them okay," Babe said sleepily. "See? My arms, too. But I just can't eat. I've got to get back on my feed and get me some strength. Remember when I was up around one-sixty and had all those muscles?" she flexed her arms briefly, looking at them with half a smile.

"I'm down to about one-eighteen now. But, shucks, you know soon as I start eating I'll be okay.

"You sure will, Honey," her husband warmly rumbled. George Zaharias has been married to Babe since December 23, 1938. He was known as the "Crying Greek from Cripple Creek" during his wrestling days.

"I don't know how to say things good," he told me movingly after one visit to Babe's bedside. "All I know is that when she hurts, I hurt." The big fellow's thoughts are only of his beloved.

"I can't tell you in words how much guts that girl has," he says. "Before every operation we've put the facts before her, and she's thought about them for a time and then has always said, 'Well, let's Go.'

* * *

"Some people get sick and they're alone, kind of, with no one to worry about except themselves," Big George said moodily. "Not Babe. The whole world's looking at her. She got a wire today from the Byrd Expedition, down there at the South Pole or wherever it is. Shes got to get well for everybody, she figures.

* * *

"Babe's a champ like I never saw before. She went into this last operation not to do or die, like they say, but to win. None of this 'I'll take a chance of dying.' What she was saying was, 'This is a chance to live.'"

THE BERRYS — By Carl Grubert

Defense Sounds Blast

Brink's Suspects on Trial

BOSTON (AP)—Eight men go on trial today for the record $1,218,211 Brink's robbery of Jan. 17, 1950.

It may be several days—or weeks—however, before a single word of testimony is uttered in the Suffolk Superior Court case.

Chief defense counsel Paul T. Smith said his first move in the trial will be to file motion for dismissal of 156 of 169 indictments outstanding against his clients. He said also he will take additional steps, as yet undisclosed, to halt the trial.

* * *

Fully 2,000 men and women have been called as prospective jurors. They have been ordered to report to the courtroom in groups of 100 a day until a panel of 14—a 12-member jury and two alternates—is selected.

On trial are: Anthony Pino, 49; Michael V. Geagan, 47; Vincent J. Costa, 42; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52; Adolph Maffie, 45; Henry Baker, 50; James I. Faherty, 45, and Thomas F. Richardson, 49.

Three others also were named in the robbery indictments, including Joseph F. (Specs) O'Keefe, who pleaded giulty after reportedly asserting the robbery gang cheated him out of his full share of the loot.

The other two are now dead—Stanley Gusciora, 36, and Joseph Banfield, 45.

All 11 were residents of Greater Boston.

Smith said the defendants cannot get a fair trial in Suffolk County because of a statement issued by FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover when six of the men were apprehended last January.

The statement distributed to news agencies under Hoover's nam said in part:

"The Department of Justice announced that an intensive investigation by the FBI for the past six years has resulted in the solution of the Million-dollar Brink's robbery in Boston, Mass., on Jan. 17, 1950. Of the 11 members of the gang responsible for the robbery, the FBI this morning arrested six."

Smith charged that mentioning the names of the men in the same "solution" presents an "insurmountable obstacle to a fair and impartial trial."

Farmers' Vote Will Fool GOP

Complacency to Show at Election Polls, Says Ex-Agriculture Chief

CHICAGO (AP)—Claude R. Wickard said today Republicans are being fooled by seeming "complacency" among Midwestern farmers.

* * *

Wickard, secretary of agriculture under President Franklin D. Roosevelt, came to town to help the Democratic National Convention write a farm plank during public hearings set to start today.

As Wickard sizes up the situation: "Farmers are really upset over low prices and incomes—but they are too busy with the crops to complain."

* * *

"Republicans are misinterpreting this lack of complaining as indicating that farmers are pretty well satisfied with conditions and will vote to keep their party in power," he said in an interview.

Wickard's claim that a "farm revolt" will manifest itself in the November election contrasts with recent statements from Republican leaders, including Secretary of Agriculture Benson. They have taken the position upturns in farm prices have done much to strengthen administration confidence in winning vital Midwestern farm states.

* * *

Wickard is chairman of the Democratic National Committee's Agricultural Advisory Committee. As such he was scheduled to lay before the Platform Committee recommendations of his group for a farm plank.

Prairie Dog Is Back

HOBBS, N.M. (AP)—The prairie dog is still around. An intensive eradication campaign over the years had caused most of the colonies of the rodents near here to disappear, but ranchers report signs of life again. County Agent W. G. Vinzant said that when a pair of prairie dogs return to an old colony, they can soon repopulate the town because there is no competition for available food.

Red-Backed Rebels, Laos Come to Terms

HONG KONG (AP)—Peiping radio said today the government of Laos and the Communist-backed Pathet Lao insurgents have agreed to quit fighting in Laos' northern provinces of Sam Neua and Phong Saly.

* * *

* * *

It said negotiators agreed:

1. Laos will not join any military alliances or permit foreign military bases on its territory.
2. Pathet Lao members can vote in future elections.
3. The royal government will take over administration of the two provinces and Pathet Lao fighting units will be incorporated in the government army.

Varied Times for City Tutors

By JANICE HAYHOW

From the time the last door slams shut on the last day of school in June until that opening bell peals out welcoming greetings in September—it's vacation time!

And not just for students alone!

The more than 700 teachers in the Pontiac School system who teach several thousand school children all year long heaved a sigh of fatigue and planned their summer's activities.

They went to work in ice cream stands, moving companies, being housewives, atetnding school, and into carpenter work. Many are traveling in Europe and in some cases—the proverbial busman's holiday—teaching.

Every summer many teachers go back to the same job, and every summer some teachers travel to a different part of the country or to a foreign country. And again some go back to school to learn new ways of teaching the three R's.

Pontiac teachers this summer are engaged in nearly every kind of occupation. Thirty-seven have been hard at work teaching summer school at Pontiac High where classes have convened daily in one of the city's junior high schools.

Traveling is a top summer activity for teachers and their families. Approximately 15 Pontiac teachers are taking summer jaunts to Europe where they are visiting France, Germany, England and other countries on the continent.

Several others are headed toward Hawaii. Many are traveling to high points of tourist interest in the United States, Canada, Mexico and Central America.

* * *

Others headed for conventions to learn just a little bit more about their business and particular interests.

College courses throughoutu the state are also being attnded by a large number of Pontiac teachers as they strive toward higher degrees in education and gain new ideas for classroom work.

Others are engaged in professions similar to teaching which involve working with youngsters. They supervise recreation programs throughout the city and act as beach directors, camp managers and softball supervisors.

Some of the more unusual jobs teachers have during the summer include working in an ice cream stand, writing education articles for professional journals, doing carpenter work, managing summer cabins and selling real estate.

Then there are teachers who are staying at home relaxing . . . just getting ready for another year of teaching.

But these relaxing jobs seem to be in the minority as Pontiac teachers dispel the old supposition that when the kids vacation, so do the teachers!

You can bet that each one of the Pontiac teachers will have something interesting to exchange with their students in September when it comes time for comparing summer vacations.

Continue to Urge Aid to Medicine

Folsom Says He'll Keep Pressing to Get Money for Medical Schools

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Welfare Folsom said today the administration will continue to press Congress for a federal aid program for construction of medical training facilities.

The administration this year proposed a 5-year, 250-million-dollar program to provide federal aid on a matching basis to construct medical research and training facilities.

Congress, however, approved only a 3-year, 90-million-dollar grant program confined to research facilities.

Folsom said approval of the proposal for training facilities would increase the supply of badly needed research scientists and physicians.

"We will continue to press for legislation to include teaching as well as research facilities in the law passed this year, increase the amount of the grants and lengthen the program," he said.

Folsom issued a statement saying the health legislation passed by Congress last session "gives promise of immediate and substantial progress on a wide front in the improvement of the nation's health."

He said research into the causes, prevention and cure of diseases will be greatly increased.

But he added:

"I am disappointed that no action was taken on several key recommendations, including grants for construction of medical pooling arrangements among small health insurance companies, and health reinsurance."

The 11, after stripping and applying soap, eased through an opening only 10 by 16 inches yesterday, officers reported.

Sheriff's Capt. C. L. Gathright said the men, prisoners on the ground floor, climbed to the roof of the 4-story building via the ventilaor shaft, then used a rope made from strips of mattress covers to descend to the ground.

They had taken bundles of clothing with them, Gathright said, which they put on before leaving the roof.

British Paper Praises Dulles on Suez Stand

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — The Liberal Manchester Guardian denounced British-French military moves today and praised U. S. Secretary of State Dulles for his call for caution in the Suez crisis.

"Britain and France . . . have shaken the faith of many people abroad in the last few days," it said.

"They ought not to have thought in terms of military retaliation, however inconvenient or painful Egypt's act of nationalization might be to them. Only if there was a direct threat which could be met in no other way — as there was in the invasion of South Korea—could military action be justified.

"Even then the machinery of the United Nations ought to be respected and employed. As it is we may be thankful for the calmer and saner counsel by Mr. ulles. If his words are heeded the West may yet restore its own good name."

Ike Has Two Good Reasons to Run

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower has made it clear — but only lately — that he has a double reason for seeking re-election: the good of the country and the good of the Republican party.

Otherwise, he has said very little specifically about why he's running again.

* * *

Search the records of his news conferences and public statements since his heart attack and you find he never has said — in one-two-three order — "here are my reasons for wanting a second term."

He has never denied saying it. Asked directly at his May 4 news conference if it was true, he said:

"I have heard so many stories about my candidacy I couldn't possibly remember whether I ever said any such thing. And if I did, I could have said it facetiously."

Not long afterward Robert J. Donovan's book — "Eisenhower: The Inside Story"—was published. For that book, men around Eisenhower gave Donovan, a Washington reporter, inside information never published before.

Donovan said these three "considerations" were in Eisenhower's mind before deciding on a second term: urgings by top Republicans that he alone in the party could win the election; his own desire for more time to rebuild the party; and the part he could play in preserving peace.

Donovan wrote there is "good authority" for saying the first two had little effect on him. But at his Aug. 1 news conference — when Eisenhower was told his Gettysburg neighbors hoped he wouldn't run because they feared he couldn't last another term — he said:

"I don't think it is too important to the individual how the end comes, and certainly he can't dictate the time.

"What we are talking about here is the importance to the country, and it happens that at this moment the Republican party thinks I am still important to them and the country.

* * *

"And since I believe so much in the Republican party, and I believe that it needed rebuilding badly, an effort which I have been making, as you well know, I said I would continue to try."

* * *

Any other explanation Eisenhower has given for wanting to stay in the White House is pretty generalized. For instance, this explanation in his Feb. 29 television broadcast to the nation announcing he'd run:

* * *

"I am dedicated to a program that rigidly respects the concepts of political and economic freedom on which this nation was founded, that holds there must be equal justice and equality of opportunity for individuals, that adapts governmental methods to changing industrial, economic and social conditions, and that has, as its never changing purpose, the welfare, prosperity and above all the security of 166 million Americans."

Khrushchev Gives Longest Interview Ever to Senator

MOSCO W (AP)—Sen. Ellender D-La) conferred with Nikita S. Khrushchev for 2 hours and 38 minutes in the Soviet Communist party boss' Kremlin office today. It was one of the longest interviews Khrushchev has ever granted a foreigner.

There was no immediate word of what was discussed, but it is known Ellender was prepared to ask Khrushchev for further elucidation of the Soviet position on the Suez crisis.

The senator was accompanied to Khrushchev's office by Heyward Isham, Russian-speaking aide at the U. S. Embassy.

This is Ellender's second visit to the Soviet Union. He came here briefly last summer on a world tour and met Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan, who invited him to return. He plans the most extensive tour of the heartland of world Communism ever undertaken by an American legislator.

* * *

He will investigate conditions, particularly agricultural affairs, in the Ukraine, Caucasus, the Siberian and Kazakh virgin lands and cotton farming around Tashkent. Horace Davis, the U. S. Embassy's agricultural expert, is to accompany him.

Later Ellender will fly over the Himalayas in a Soviet plane to Kabul, Afghanistan, and make a tour of Asia.

Push Kefauver for Second Spot

MINNEAPOLIS (UP) — Midwest backers of Sen. Estes Kefauver have formed a sturdy front in support of a move to get the vice presidential nomination for the Tennessee Democrat.

Kefauver supporters from six states, meeting yesterday, agreed unanimously that delegates to the Democratic National Convention in Chicago next week should offer Kefauver the No. 2 spot on the party ticket.

* * *

But they disagreed on who should get their backing for the presidential nomination, a race Kefauver abandoned last week with the request that his pledged delegates throw their support to Adlai Stevenson.

Present at the closed session were delegates and party officials from Minnesota, Illinois, South Dakota, Wisconsin, Nebraska and South Dakota.

Some, like Bradley Eben of Chicago, favored a Stevenson-Kefauver ticket, "the best one we could possibly get," in Eben's opinion. Speaking with Eben in favor of Stevenson were Frank Morrison of Lincoln, Neb., and D.D. Wozniak of St. Paul.

* * *

But John E. Flanagan of La Crosse, Wis., said he was convinced Stevenson "can never carry Wisconsin and I don't think he can carry Minnesota." Flanagan, along with Jake More of Harland, Iowa; Mrs. Edna Bowen of Lancaster, Wis.; Ward Clark of Canistota, S.D.; and Cecil Malone of Atlantic, Iowa, backed Gov. Averell Harriman of New York.

* * *

Robert Short of Minneapolis, reporting results of the meeting, said the group urged Midwest state delegations to remain uncommitted until they have a chance to confer with Kefauver in Chicago.

'Certain Difficulties' Halt Integration by Catholics

NEW ORLEANS, La. (UP)—Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel cited "certain difficulties" as the cause of delaying integration in Roman Catholic schools in the New Orleans archdiocese, at least for another year.

* * *

The archbishop, who earlier this year condemned segregation as "morally wrong and sinful," said in a pastoral letter integregation would be postponed at least until September 1957.

The letter was read at all Masses in all churches in predominately Catholic southeast Louisiana.

* * *

The "certain difficulties" were not amplified as the letter said merely, "We are not now prepared to introduce integration generally."

* * *

The "generally" revealed for the first time publicly that some integration had been accomplished in elementary schools of the parochial system, which embraces some 60,000 white and 12,000 Negro students.

* * *

Criticism of the archbishop arose after his letter condemning segregation and members of a prosegregation Citizens Council rally in May stood up to boo at menion of his name.

Later that same night a cross was burned on the grounds of his home.

Texas Legion Gives Negroes Vote Rights

* * *

State voting previously gave the 750 white Legion posts two votes for the first 15 members and an additional vote for each additional 25 members or major fraction thereof.

But the 4,836 members in 125 Negro posts got only 25 votes—five for each of five Negro Legion subdistricts and a vote by the Negro Division VI commander.

"Now with equal voting privileges, our Negro members will have around 300 votes, instead of their customary 26," said the new state commander, Joe L. Matthews of Fort Worth.

* * *

A Legion spokesman said very little opposition was offered when the resolution came up near the end of the four-day meeting.

Empty Pop Bottles Used to Follow Sewage Tide

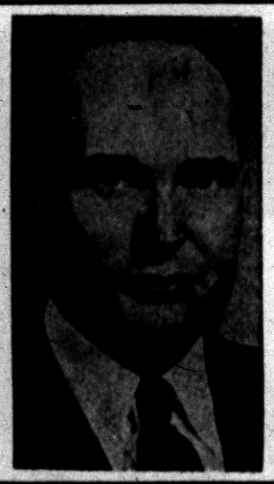

NEW YORK (UP)—The Health Department sets 100 flag-marked pop bottles adrift today in hope of finding out how tides and currents carry sewage to city beaches.

The department hopes swimmers, fishermen, yachtsmen and others will retrieve the sealed bottles. Each contains a stamped postcard addressed to the department. The finder is asked to jot down the date, time and place where he saw the bottle. The Coast Guard will drop the bottles in offshore areas.

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXXIII

11:47 P.M.

The Tropical Arms Hotel on North Miami Avenue was located between a liquor shop and a delicatessen. The liquor store was still open when Shayne pulled up in front of the hotel and leaped out.

* * *

The Tropical Arms was an old hotel, gone to seed. There was a big, empty lobby with shabby, rococo decorations, yawning chairs and wilted potted palms.

A drop-light over the desk was the only illumination, and there was no one behind the desk.

He hit the button sharply with his palm and a loud, metallic "ping" echoed through the emtpy lobby. Nothing happened, and he kept on pinging until a door opened in a side wall behind the desk and a fat man in his shirt-sleeves emerged. He had pouting lips and he smelled strongly of gin as he waddled up to the desk and grunted, "I heard you the first time, Mister. No need to wake up all the guests."

Shayne skipped the obvious retort. He demanded, "Do you have a Miss Paulson?"

"Miss Paulson?" The fat man belched as he shook his head. "No siree, we sure don't."

"Mr. Paulson? Bert?"

"Well, yes, now. Mr. Paulson is with us for a fact."

"Since when?"

* * *

WHAT NUMBER?

"Well, I'll tell you, Mister. You wanta talk to Mr. Paulson, I reckon—"

"What number?" Shayne's voice rasped like a file on tempered steel.

"Two-ten. But I'm trying to tell you—"

Shayne turned away fast and went past the closed door of an elevator to stairs on one side. He climbed two flights and found 210. He knocked loudly and tried the door. It was locked and his knocking brought no response.

He cursed at the delay, studied the lock as he got a ring of keys from his pocket. The lock yielded to the first key he chose. Shayne flung the door open on a lighted bedroom. He stood glaring at the huddled figure of a man on the floor beside the bed. An Army automatic lay on the floor beside him. But there was no smell of gun-powder in the tightly closed room.

WAKE UP!

Shayne pulled the door shut and walked over to look down at the man with the scarred face. His cheeks were very red and his mouth was open and he breathed stertorously. Just beyond his right hand lay a corked pint bottle of whisky about a quarter full.

Shayne leaned over and shook him roughly, calling, "Paulson! Wake up, Paulson," in his ear. He got no response.

He stepped back with narrowed eyes and kicked the drunken man hard. There was still no response.

Sighing, Shayne went into the bathroom and turned on the light. There was a rust-stained tub with a shower apparatus on the wall at the end.

He went back and got a grip under Paulson's armpits, dragged him into the bathroom and tumbled him inside the tub. He lay there, an inert mass, still breathing loudly and steadily.

Shayne drew the tattered shower curtain to protect himself from the spray, reached a long arm past it and turned on the cold water.

TURN IT OFF!

The spray hit full on Paulson's legs, and Shayne reached up to the adjustable head and moved it so it hit him in the face.

Paulson moaned and feebly lifted one arm to ward off the cold water. Shayne turned it on full force and moved the head slowly, sending the stinging spray up and down the length of Paulson's body.

He twitched and jerked and moaned, then sat up suddenly with his eyes wide, grunting, "I'm drowning. Turn it off, I tell you."

Shayne moved the head so the spray took Paulson squarely in the face. He blinked and shuddered and put his hands up, then squirmed to a kneeling position and turned his back on the tormenting water.

Shayne turned it off and reached in to gather up a handful of Paulson's water-soaked coat between the shoulder blades. He pulled the sodden man upright and slapped him viciously, first on one cheek and then the other.

Paulson cried out in surprise and hurt, then cursed thickly and twisted away.

Shayne let him go and stepped back grimly. Paulson slid to a crouching position, opening and shutting his mouth without utter a sound, his eyes gleaming madly.

Shayne leaned forward and slapped him again. He asked coldly, "Can you hear me, Paulson? Understand what I'm saying?"

* * *

"I'm c-cold. I'm f-freezing."

Shayne said. "Let's see if you can stand up." He got a grip on his arm and heaved. Paulson helped himself a little and made it to his feet. Shayne dragged him over the edge of the tub, gave him a hard shove through the doorway. He staggered and went flat on his face on the bedroom floor.

Shayne followed and rolled him over his back, jerked him up to a sitting posture. The madness was going out of Paulson's eyes, being replaced by fear.

1,900 M.P.H. Pilot Talks

NEW ORLEANS (INS) — Lt. Col. Pete Everest, who set a new world's airplane speed record of 1,900 miles an hour though the Pentagon won't admit it, said "You don't have a chance to look around much up there or think how it feels."

Up there means an altitude above 70,000 feet, where Everest had about two minutes' worth of fuel in the Bell X-2 research plane to carry him across the sky line like a meteor.

"You climb so fast, all your instruments lag and you have to kind of outguess 'em. Your altimeter sometimes lags as much as 5,000 feet."

IT REALLY TRAVELS

The twin-barreled Curtiss-Wright rocket engine in the X-2 rips him upward so fast when he cuts loose from his mother plane (a B-50 bomber) that he may be nearly a mile higher than his gauges show.

It burns "Lox," liquid oxygen and alcohol.

Pete won't have another chance. He's done with the X-2 which he flew to a new record July 25 over California and enters the Armed Forces Staff College, Norfolk, Va., Aug. 15.

At the windup banquet of the 1956 Air Force Association convention in New Orleans, Pete was honored for an achievement Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson hasn't officially recognized.

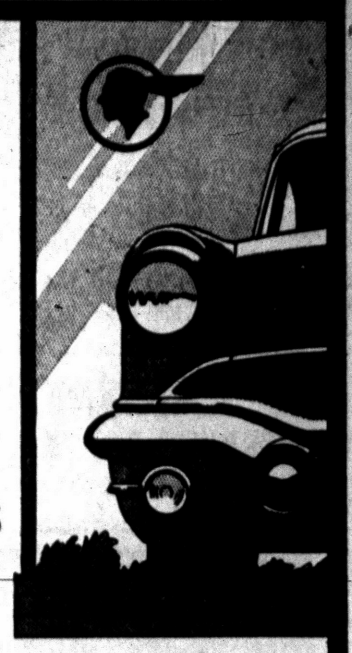

* * *

The flight award AFA is giving Everest pays him tribute because he "blazed the trail along the thermal barrier frontier with skill and courage, contributing significantly to the security of this nation."

Paul SUTTON Wants You To Vote!

We are the fastest growing Congressional District in the United States and because of this very rapid growth, the county is confronted with a great many serious problems which are of vital concern to everyone.

The problems of new and better schools, of housing, of proper water supply, of adequate drainage, of streets and highways—and of steady employment in our industries. These problems are all of a nature which demand the attention of the Congressman representing us in Washington and which require his help and cooperation with all of the village, township, and city Governments in the county. At no time has the election of the Congressman been more important to our people in Oakland County.

I believe that I have a firm grasp of these problems and can, and will work for their solution if I am elected and go to Washington.

I sincerely hope that you will go to the polls on Tuesday, August 7, and cast your ballot for Governor Williams, Lieutenant Governor Hart, Sutton for Congress, and others running in the Democratic primary. Egyptian Embassy Gives Views on Suez

FROM EGYPTIAN EMBASSY

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The furor raised over Egypt's nationalization of the Suez Canal seems to stem mainly from two misintepretations. It was represented as an arbitrary action and a serious threat to the freedom of navigation in the canal.

* * *

Actually these are two separate issues which have been linked together in a deliberate attempt to cloud and confuse the real issue—the legality of Egypt's action. From a strictly technical standpoint, this legality cannot be questioned, because the Suez Canal Co. is Egyptian, subject to Egyptian laws.

Egypt thus has as much right to take this decision as the British government had when it decided, in the interest of national economy to nationalize its railways, coal industry and the Cable and Wireless Company.

Besides, the Egyptian government instead of following the example of other nations by confiscating the property of the company, has offered to compensate the stockholders by paying them the full value of their shares according to the closing prices on the Paris Bourse for the date preceding that on which the law of nationalization came into force.

DO NOT OWN CANAL

This is undoubtedly a fair and equitable offer for there has been an international precedent upholding the right nationalizing any property on its territory.

This was the decision of the International Court of Justice upholding Premier Mossadegh's action in nationalizing the British-owned oil fields in Iran whereas the Suez Canal Co. does not own the canal, which is an Egyptian property, but only operates it.

Since the Suez Canal is also a waterway of great importance it was further contended that Egypt's move constituted a serious threat to the freedom of navigation. This is a strange contention since the freedom of navigation in the canal is guaranteed by the 1888 Constantinople Convention, and Egypt has never challenged the validity of this convention.

Moreover, President Nasser himself has left no doubt as to Egypt's intention of keeping the canal open to all nations. "We shall not interfere with navigation in the canal. On the contrary we will offer all facilities," he declared.

This assurance should go a long way in disposing of this contention. In fact it is not only baseless, but fantastically absurd, because, since the canal will provide Egypt with a new source of revenue, it would naturally be to her advantage to encourage rather than restrict its traffic.

NO TOLL HIKE

It was this last consideration which caused the Egyptian authorities to order all canal employes, of whom 85 per cent are Egyptians, to stay on the job.

For Egypt is determined to keep the administration of the Suez Canal at its maximum efficiency and to avoid any action that may impair this efficiency.

Recent reports that Egypt intended to raise the toll on shipping in the canal were strongly denounced by an Egyptian official spokesman who disavowed any such intention on the part of the government.

* * *

The Egyptian government also is anxious to improve the canal in order to cope with the ever-growing maritime traffic and increase its revenue. The company, on the other hand, realizing that its franchise would expire in 1968, had wilfully neglected to make such improvements.

* * *

"This," stated the Egyptian minister of commerce at a press conference recently in Cairo, "was one of the main reasons that prompted the government to nationalize the canal now, for fear its continued neglect by the company may reduce it to such a state, when its concession expires, as to make it exceedingly difficult for the government to operate it 'successfully.'"

Hollywood Headlines

Lewis and Presley Duo May Materialize on Film

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Hollywood's a sad place for Michael Wilding since his parting from Liz Taylor, so he may not mind at all staying on in Europe for "Lost Love" (what a title in view of the circumstances to be made in Vienna with Ann Sheridan.)

Ann's career is getitng very bright again even in darkest Africa where she's now shooting "The Lady and the Hunter." Robert Hakin, the producer of the African picture, is also the producer of "Lost Love."

Hakin says that Ann will sing a couple of numbers in the picture —although it isn't a musical. I had forgotten that she often warbled in her early Warner Bros. movies.

Whether Hal Wallis admits it or not, everyone's pretty sure he has it in the back of his mind to team Jerry Lewis and Elvis Presley in a comedy, and Hal has the jump on such a deal as he has both boys under contract.

The hitch will come when he tries to sell Jerry on the deal. Since his (now) friendly parting with former teammate Dean Martin, Jerry has steadfastly insisted that he'll star on his own and not team up with anyone else, even for one production.

Dean, of course, leaves the end of the month for Rome to star in "10,000 Bedrooms" for Joe Pasternak.

Beautiful blonde Sara Shane (in private life she's the Los Angeles socialite Mrs. Bill Hollingsworth) was in the midst of decorators, upholsterers and carpenters redecorating her new home when the phone rang. "Can you leave here Monday morning to fly to Cuba for the lead in 'The Fever Tree?'" her agent asked.

"What a time for me to be offered my first starring role" gasped Sara, "but all right, I'll make it." So, with samples of materials and blueprints flying right and left, the eye-filling Sara takes off this morning to join leading man Raymond Burr and the rest of the Dudley Pictures Co. in Havana.

The official announcement from Monaco that Princess Grace is expecting in February has killed any glimmering hope still smouldering at MGM that her serene highness might be back for picture-making. The studio is doling out all the big properties bought for her including Tennessee Williams' "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." This goes to Eva Marie Saint with a good chance that Leslie Nielsen will play the husband, the role Ben Gazzara played on Broadway.

* * *

Another story for Grace, "Designing Woman" is touted as being taken over by Lauren Bacall and Gregory Peck.

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS:

Gossip is that as soon as Ben Gazzara winds up "End as a Man" in Florida he's off to Mexico to end his marriage.

Tom Conway (brother of George Sanders) was rushed to Good Samaritan Hospital in the middle of the night suffering a lung congestion. But his friends will be glad to know he's no longer on the critical list.

Peggy King appears on Vic Damone's TV show in New York tonight and opens at the Sahara in Las Vegas tomorrow night.—How's that for a tight schedule?

Helen Deutsch returned yesterday after a meeting with Dino De Laurentiis on the French Riviera about an original story she'll do for him starring Gina Lollobrigida. But first she'll work on the producers showcase "Jack and the Beanstalk" TV show.

SYMBOL OF HATE — Standing in Warsaw's Dafiles Square, the Palace of Culture and Science is reportedly regarded by the Poles as a symbol of oppression. Built by the Soviets, it can be seen from any spot in the city. In Warsaw, they say that the best view in the city is from the palace itself—it's the only place from which the Communist structure cannot be seen.

Knowland OKs Nixon on Ticket

California Republicans Endorse Resolution to Retain '52 Slate

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — A new Nixon - Knowland alliance among California Republicans built up home state support today for Vice President Nixon's retention on the Eisenhower ticket.

Powered by Sen. William F. Knowland, a resolution enthusiastically endorsing President Eisenhower and Nixon was approved without opposition by 700 members of the party's official organization—its state central committee.

* * *

A representative poll confirmed that Nixon is well entrenched where it counts—in the 70-vote California delegation to the Aug. 20 national convention in San Francisco.

Two years ago Knowland sided with Gov. Goodwin Knight in a state party dispute involving friends of Nixon. While the Senate minority leader swung vigorously to Nixon over the weekend, Knight steadfastly refused to endorse the vice president.

* * *

Knowland, however, expressed hope "we'll have a united delegation" behind both Eisenhower, to whom it is pledged, and Nixon. His declaration for his fellow Californian seemingly assured Nixon of at least 47 of the 70 votes, second only among the states to New York's 98.

Boring Burglars Drill Away to Loot in Stores

They bored 38 holes in a wall of a grocery store, kicked in the section, knocked off the lock of a safe and took $300.

Lumber Output Record

WASHINGTON—A record-breaking 39,105,000,000 board feet of lumber was produced in the United States during 1955, an increase of 7 per cent over 1954 and more than in any of the 26 preceding years during which comparable records have been kept. Softwood production rose 8 per cent and hardwood production climbed one per cent.

YPSILANTI—Whether big Leon Hart plays pro football this year depends entirely upon one person—Leon Hart himself.

One thing almost certain is that the Detroit Lions aren't readily going to meet his demands.

This was made quite clear Saturday after contract talks failed. The Lion front office issued the ultimatum and the answer of yes or no in regard to the terms presented must come from Hart by tomorrow.

The Lions would like to have the ex-Notre Dame All-America back for the 1956 campaign but they don't aim to present him with any "name-it-yourself" contracts.

Hart started with the Detroit pro outfit in 1950 after a fabulous college career. For five seasons he was "Mr. End" of the team, but last year was moved to fullback in effort to utilize his 250 pounds of power.

LEON HART

Hart didn't exactly burn up the league as ball carrier and the fact that the Lions finished in the cellar doesn't leave the way clear for salary raises.

Knowing that Bill Bowman is on his way out of the service with strong indication that he will take over the fullback slot is another point in favor of the Lions.

It's not likely any team would be boosting a salary of a player whom they feel will be pushed into a second string role.

As for a return to the top end position, the possibility has diminished somewhat.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Parker refused to comment on Hart's holdout. "The salary and contract terms are the worries of the front office," he explained.

What Hart is reported to be asking he would find hard to get from even a championship team let alone a basement dweller.

The Lions can see that if they granted this to Hart then veterans like Lou Creekmur, Bobby Layne and Jug Girard would justifiably be entitled to the same terms should they request it in the near future.

So the decision is really up to Hart. The Lions figure they are not "over the barrel" as they say in non-Webster's expression.

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

During a session in passing drills here at Ypsilanti, Harry Gilmer went back to throw and found himself swarmed upon by a host of defensive linemen. Assistant coach Buster Ramsey seeing what was about to happen, yelled, "Goodbye Harry, Goodbye."

★ ★ ★

One question only Bert Bell, NFL Commissioner, may have the answer to is, "If J. C. Caroline was given approval to play for the Cardinals after a year in Canada, then why the different attitude as far as the Tom Tracy case goes?" The picture has similar lines.

Tigers Sweep Series Against Yanks, Win 8-5

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers are enjoying their best home stand of the season, all because they can beat the best in the American League.

* * *

A sweep of the three-game weekend series with the New York Yankees — capped by yesterday's 8-5 thriller—gives the Tigers a 9-6 record in their current Briggs Stadium stand.

Splits in four-game sets with Baltimore, Washington and Boston left the Tigers even until the Yankees arrived Friday night. The league leaders took three straight wallopings from the 5th-place Tigers by scores of 10-4, 5-4 and 8-5.

Slender Jim Bunning, recalled 10 days ago from the Tigers' Charleston Farm club in the American Association, supplied the difference yesterday. After unimpressive appearances, once as a starter and twice in relief, the 24-year-old Kentuckian put out a Yankee rally, drove home an important run then doubled and scored the winning run.

* * *

Three Detroit pitchers — starter Frank Lary who sought his 5th triumph over the Yanks, and reliefs Bunning and Al Aber—Gave up 15 safeties but left as many runners stranded.

The Cleveland Indians, who have six wins in 11 meetings with the Detroit club, arrive tonight for a two-game series. The Tigers will start Paul Foytack, who is 0-1 against the tribe and 8-8 on the season.

Bunning, winning his first game since being recalled, had to work his way out of several jams. Although he gave up four hits and four walks—including Mickey Mantle's 37th home run—in the four innings he worked, Bunning escaped with only one run scored against him.

* * *

He relieved Lary and struck out the last batter in the third after the Bronx Bombers scored four times to match an early Tiger lead.

Al Kaline, who raised his batting average to .307 with eight hits in 13 trips in the Yankee series, kept Bunning out of more difficulty with a pair of spectacular catches against the right field screen. He hauled down drives by Carey in the 6th and Siebern in the 7th, each time with runners in scoring position.

Kaline's weekend hits included three home runs and a pair of two-baggers. He had a three-run homer—his 21st—in the first inning Sunday. One of three New York errors and an infield out helped the Tigers to a healthy 4-0 lead after one inning.

Bunning came on and stayed until the 8th. Aber finished up.

The score was tied twice. After the 4-4 deadlock, Detroit scored a run in the 4th when Frank House walked, went to second on Bill Tuttle's single, to third on Frank Bolling's fly to right and home as Bunning bounced into a force play.

Mantle's home run that matched his entire 1955 output for the League lead knotted it again in the 6th.

* * *

Ray Boone crossed up the strategy by drilling a two-run single to left field.

* * *

The game was delayed twice by heavy rain. It was held up 40 minutes at the start and nearly an hour and a half in the ninth inning. The Yanks had a runner on second with two outs when play was suspended.

250 Swimmers Seeks Berths

DETROIT — Two hundred and fifty of America's most finely tuned athletes will vie for 46 available places on the United States men's and women's Olympic swimming teams in a four-day showdown opening here Tuesday.

When the curtain falls on the final session Friday night, honors will have been settled in 16 events—nine for men and seven for women.

Scene of the action will be the Brennan Pools in Rouge Park, located on Plymouth road. The facilities, actually featuring three separate outdoor pools, are recognized as the finest in the United States for a championship meet of this stature. Grandstands have been erected to provide a seating capacity for approximately 6,000 persons at each performance.

Every swimmer and diver of prominence in the United States, male and female alike, will join the competition. Included will be six men and five women who were members of America's 1952 Olympic squad which won seven individual first places at Helsinki.

* * *

The defending Olympic champions seeking to repeat in their specialities are Mrs. Pat Keller McCormick, women's springboard and platform diving titlist; Ford Konno, men's 1500-meter freestyle champion, and his fellow Hawaiian, Yoshi Oyakawa, wearer of the men's 100-meter backstroke crown.

Typical Olympic pageantry will surround all performances. Included will be three morning sessions, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday, as well as competition on all four afternoons and all four evenings.

Although all actual diving competition will be limited to the afternoon programs, each evening's show will include an exhibition by the foremost men and women divers from both the 3-meter springboard and the 10-meter tower.

Six of America's 46 aquatic Olympians for the 1956 games at Melbourne, Australia, will be determined on opening day when finals are held in the men's springboard diving Tuesday afternoon and the men's 100-meter freestyle Tuesday night.

Slow Progress Irks All-Star Squad Mentors

Defense Conditioning Poor; Morrall Does a Passing Job

CHICAGO (AP)—All is not well in the College All-Star football camp although the big game against the Cleveland Browns comes up Friday night at Soldier Field.

Coach Curly Lambeau and his assistants are not satisfied with the team's progress so far and are hoping the collegians will round into shape within the next four days.

* * *

The stars put on a full-dress scrimmage Saturday and scored four touchdowns but it was evident they needed a lot more work.

* * *

Big names came through in the scrimmage with All-America Earl Morrall of Michigan State throwing a touchdown pass to Hal Burnine, the speedy end from Missouri. Navy's George Welsh hit Penn State's Lenny Moore with a short pass and Moore scampered for a score on the 51-yard play.

The stars also scored on the ground with Auburn's Joe Childress smashing 4 yards for a touchdown and Don McIlhenny of Southern Methodist knifing 21 yards for another score.

Lack of condition on the part of some linemen and poor tackling by the team in general had the coaches worried.

* * *

The All Stars will be gunning for their second straight triumph in the 23rd game of the classic. Last year the stars whipped the same Cleveland Browns, 30-27.

HIT BY FOUL—Jose Valdivielso, Washington shortstop, bends in pain after a foul tip off his bat struck him in the game at Kansas City yesterday. He took a third strike on the next pitch. Washington won, 10-4.

Pettiford Takes Honors in City Qualifying Play

With sharp-shooting Jim Pettiford showing the way, a total of 21 golfers earned the right to enter the City Medal Play Championship this weekend after Saturday's 18-hole qualifying rounds at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

Pettiford notched his 2nd major triumph of the summer tournament season by grabbing medalist honors over Municipal's rain-soaked layout. Pettiford fired a one-under-par 68 on rounds of 33-35.

Pettiford, who teamed with Bill Pembroke to win the city best-ball tourney on June 23, carded three birdies, two bogies and four pars going out for a one-under-par 33. He shot even par on the back nine, including four pars, three bogies, one birdie and an eagle three on the 461-yard 16th hole.

Charles Barker and Bob Gaines were tied for runner-up honors with cards of 71. Four strokes behind Pettiford in a five-way deadlock for 3rd place at 72 were Bob Martin, Joe Adamcyzk, Lloyd Syron, Bill Pembroke and C. Burton.

Butler Cooper and Glenn Valance shared 4th spot with 73 each. Six shotmakers were tied for 5th position on scorecards of 74 and four others knotted for 6th with 75s. Twenty-two additional hopefuls failed to qualify.

Pettiford, who received a trophy for his efforts, will be a man to reckon with in the 36-hole championship finals this Saturday and Sunday at the Municipal links. Bill Stolloff, last year's qualifying medalist, posted 74.

Four outstanding golfers, who were exempt from qualifying Saturday, toured the 18-hole course for practice. Mike Andonian, a three-time city champion, blazed around in 32-33—65. Joe Burgdorf shot 71, Stan Savage 74, and Jerry Lampson 78.

Saturday's scores:

New DDGA Champion

Draper Roars to Title

Big Tom crushed young Tommy Watrous of Oakland Hills, son of the Hills veteran professional Al Watrous, by a sensational 7-6 count. He also blasted the weather-toughened course for a brilliant 68 medal first round, set going by a terrific putting spree in the 36-hole final, when he had Tommy 9 down.

In the afternoon round Draper was six over par on the 12 holes, Watrous fought a dogged, uphill battle during that time, to cut Draper's edge to six holes at one time. Draper's morning round was 33-35—68 against par of 36-36—72. Watrous had 37-40—77.

Results of other flights:

SUNDAY'S HOME RUNS

Average Hits .307

Kaline's Bat Comes Alive

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline's bat has come alive just in time.

The youthful Detroit outfielder started a hitting splurge two weeks ago that has carried him over the .300 mark for the first time since opening day.

He will receive a silver bat prior to the game against Cleveland tonigh at Briggs Stadium in recognition of his 1955 major league batting championship. American League President Will Harridge will present the bat and a certificate to the 21-year-old former bonus player.

His recent show of batting muscle has made everyone forget the batting miseries that spread over more than half the season. For weeks, the kid who was the youngest player ever to win a batting title struggled to reach the .300 mark.

He staggered between .250 and .290 and finally on July 28 banged out four singles in five trips against Washington.

"I was swinging at everything trying to get hold of myself," said Kaline. "Some of the pitches I swung at were lousy. I guess I was pressing too much."

But 23 hits in his last 44 at-bats give Kaline a .307 batting average and he is swinging "at the pitches I want—not the ones the pitcher tries to get me to go after."

Kaline was the big batting noise over the weekend as the Tigers swept three straight from the New York Yankees. He had three singles and drove in three runs Friday night as the Tigers downed the league-leaders, 10-4.

"Probably no player ever was under more pressure than this boy," Manager Bucky Harris says of Kaline. "He hit .340 last year and had 27 home runs. People forget that he was just a 20-year-old kid, and they expect an awful lot of him. He was trying too hard to come through."

HIS BOOMING BAT — Al Kaline bones up his booming bat which has been on a batting rampage for the past two weeks. Kaline, who will receive a silver bat at tonight's game as the American League's 1955 batting champion, has raised his current average to .307 as a result of a profitable weekend against the New York Yankees. He had eight hits including three homers as the Tigers were winning

Win Two Ways

PMC Golfers Trip AC Team

The Pontiac plant crew of 30 shotmakers not only captured the team title with a 32-28 total for match play, but wound up with the four-ball, best ball event, and hung up a near course record with its medalist's card of 67.

AC won the event in 1955 with a six-point edge.

Ed Wasik was the medalist at the Davisburg course, with 36-31—67, one stroke off the course mark. Par is 72, and Wasik's total was five under regulation figures.

Wasik and Jim Hanes combined to win the best-ball test with 32-30—62. Hanes' eagle on the last hole, a three on a par fiver, was the clincher.

Top medal cards for the day included, besides Wasik's 67, three 71s by PMC's Hanes and Ermal Fender, AC's Benny Frechette and a 75 by George Decker of AC.

Parker Shuffles Players

Lions Await Report of Absentees

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

In an effort to fill the vacant and weak spots on the squad coach Buddy Parker has shuffled players around in countless numbers.

But despite the experiments, the big problem of finding an offensive combination, the lack of which was the team's downfall in 1955, could remain unanswered right up to the opening of the National Football League season September 30th.

Last season the three leading Lion runners had less yardage than the total chalked up by Alan Ameche, the league's leading ground gainer.

Ameche had a rushing total of 961 yards, compared to the sum of 909 for the top three Lion ball carriers, Lew Carpenter (543 yards) Dave Middleton (201) and Bill Stits (165).

Now Carpenter is in the service, Middleton, when he becomes available to the Lions in mid-September, is slated for the end position where he was shifted in the latter part of last season.

Doak Walker has retired to business in Dallas and Leon Hart has yet to make an appearance to the training camp.

* * *

This leaves Stits as the lone returnee, and he hasn't been the life of the running attack since his shift from defensive duties.

The potential will be there, but Parker's present task is to get it assembled.

* * *

Gene Gedman, who sparkled as a freshman on the 1953 title team, has returned from the service and is showing old form.

Bill Bowman, who made his NFL debut with the Lions in 1954 when he ran back a kickoff for a 100-yard touchdown, is expected to fill the fullback slot, but this won't be until his Army discharge early in October.

Jug Girard, whose primary post has been at end, will be called on for extra running duties.

* * *

* * *

Cassady and McIlhenny will be at Ypsi after Friday's All-Star game, and Tracy may have to return to Ottawa to play his football.

While he waits for the absentees to report, Parker has been using defensive stalwart Jack Christiansen in offensive drills, and with ex-GI Yale Lary back in the defensive backfield, back Lee Riley has been moved to end.

Seattle's Shanty Winner of Coast's Hydro Battle

SEATTLE (AP)—The Shanty I, a saucer-shaped, red, gold and white package of leaping power, has a new title today, "National Unlimited Hydroplane Champion."

* * *

The Shanty beat the best of the nation's howling hydros before a crowd of half a million people. Out of the field of 12 that started, only two still were alive and roaring defiance at the end of a long day of racing.

Four qualifying heats cut the field to six boats for the fifth and final 30-mile chase. One—Detroiter Joe Schoenith's Gale VI—had gear box trouble and couldn't answer the gun for the payoff scramble.

Another Detroiter, George Simon's Miss U.S. II, conked out at the start of the second lap, and an instant later Miss Wahoo, owned by Bill Boeing Jr., of Seattle, quit.

Shanty's first blazing lap at 116 m.p.h. in the final heat was a dozen miles per hour faster than Miss Seattle's standard of 104 set in 1954.

Clarkston Defeats Buick in Overtime

A single by Chuck Graves in the 10th inning handed Clarkston's baseball team a 5-4 victory over Flint Buick Local 599 yesterday in a Tri-County League game at Flint's Bassett Park.

Graves' safety drove in Orville Partlo with the winning run. Partlo had singled, taken 2nd on a passed ball and moved to 3rd during a sacrifice. Fred McAndrews, who relieved starting pitcher Jerry Kruskie in the 8th stanza, was credited with the win.

Clarkston tangles with league-leading Gaines in a Saturday doubleheader at Byron with the opener starting at 1 p.m. Mt. Rose invades Clarkston for a 2 o'clock game Sunday afternoon.

Two Rifle Events Taken by Gubbins

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Roberta Gubbins, a University of Michigan coed from Birmingham Mich., won two events at the Reginal Small Bore rifle tournament here yesterday.

She took the women's title, the collegiate championship and shared the two-man event with Dean De Lanater, a Miami University student from Parkersburg, W. Va.

Detroit Poloists Fall

CHICAGO (AP) — Cecil Smith scored six goals yesterday to lead the Oak Brook Polo Club of Hinsdale, Ill., to a 10-8 victory over Detroit.

The match was tied three times, but Oak Brook went ahead when Capt. Paul Butler goaled to snap an 8-8 tie in the las chukker.

Harrison Wins Tam's All-American

CHICAGO (AP) — E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who won his first pro tourney almost 20 years ago, today aimed at golf's richest plum with a rejuvenated putting game and the $3,420 All-American top swag stuffed in his pocket.

* * *

As the oldest champion ever to win Tam O'Shanter's All-American meet, a trick he turned yesterday with a 10-under-par total of 278, the 46-year-old Harrison may be geared to make a successful stab at the whopping $50,000 first money in Tam's "World" meeting starting Thursday.

Harrison, who began an illustrious play-for-pay career by winning the 1937 Arkansas Open, now leaves his teaching trade at the old Warson Country Club in St. Louis only for the big tourneys.

* * *

A most affable, if not too frequent prospector in golf's perennial gold rush, Harrison gave his younger rivals a lesson in the All-American after he had taken some on-the-scene putting lessons at the halfway mark.

* * *

"You're never too old to learn," said Dutch, whose opening initials "E.J." stand for Ernie J. "I knew my putting needed to be sharpened after a 72 and a 71. So George Lowe, an old pro from Sarasota spent two hours with me on the practice greens and gave me an aluminum mallet putter.

"I used that baby on the last two rounds and the results tell the story—a shot a 68 and a closing 67 and for the last 36 holes had 15 one-putt greens."

Second-place money of $2,360 went to Earl Stewart of Dallas, who was the 54-hole leader but just didn't shoot enough birdies in the final round and took a windup 71 for a 72-hole count of 280.

Third was lame-armed Ed Furgol, the 1954 U.S. Open champion, whose 281 won him $2,000. Jim Ferrier took fourth with 282, worth $1,700, while two strokes back, Jack Burke Jr., and Canadian Stan Leonard shared fifth with 284, collecting $1,375 each.

* * *

The 1956 U.S. Open champion Cary Middlecoff was bracketed with four others at 285, while last year's All-American champion, Doug Ford, was jammed with four others in a tie for 22nd at even par 288.

* * *

Approximately 100 pros, all of whom tested Tam in the All-American, will comprise the field for the rich "World" tourney which, besides the $50,000 top prize, has a $10,000 payoff for second place, $5,000 for third and pays as much as $1,000 for 15th place.

The "World" tourney, also a 72-hole medal play chase, will have virtually the same fields in women's pro and amateur, and men's amateur divisions which competed in the All-American.

* * *

Those All-American results were:

Women's pro — Won by Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., whose closing 73 for a 301 won the $1,000 top prize by two strokes over Joyce Ziske of Waterford, Wis.

Men's Amateur — Won by Jim Hiskey, Pocatello, Idaho, member of the University of Houston's 1956 NCAA championship golf team, whose 296 put him seven strokes ahead.

Women's Amateur — Won by Wanda Sanches, 26, a Baton Rouge, La., florist's assistant, whose 315 topped Ruth Jesse of Seattle by two strokes.

Two Michigan golfers, Mike Dietz and Walt Burkemo, had 72-hole totals of 286 in the All-American pro golf tournament at Tam O'Shanter. Each received $527 yesterday as his share of a seven-way tie for 12th place.

Big Ten Takes Step in Standardizing Aid

CHICAGO (AP)—The Big 10 Athletic Conference took a long step towards standardizing aid to athletes in the form of a proposal made by a special committee over the weekend.

* * *

The committee proposed that athletes "in need" be awarded aid in the form of room, board and books up to the amount of tuition and fees.

* * *

In addition to standardizing aid to athletes, the move was an effort to aid athletes who had earned scholarships through high school scholastic achievement.

The committee said the maximum amount of aid would be identical for any individual at any conference school. Aid would be given in the form of a grant-in-aid or employment. However, the committee said, there would not necessarily be any work requirement for the aid.

In the past, the Big 10 has given athletes assistance in the form of grants - in - aid through employment.

* * *

Conference Commissioner K. L. (Tug) Wilson described the committee report as a "critical self-appraisal" of athletic practices at conference schools.

The committee was named last December to make a study of current policies and practices in the conference.

The conference also studied the case of the University of Michigan which was publicized by Look Magazine as aid to athletes through a "loophole" in the Big 10 code.

* * *

Michigan admitted granting aid when such assistance was unrelated to athletic skill and that the awards had been made on a basis of need from regular student aid funds for that purpose.

'Cousins' Assist Mantle

BOSTON (AP)—Thanks to his Detroit "cousins," Mickey Mantle was 11 games in front of Babe Ruth's record home-run pace today as he and the New York Yankees prepared to open a series with the Red Sox at Fenway Park.

* * *

Mantle equalled his entire output of last season when he hit his 37th homer off righthander Jim Bunning at Detroit Sunday. It was Mantle's 10th four - base blow against Detroit pitching.

* * *

Fenway Park, where the Yanks' play tonight, offers one of two remaining challenges to the powerful young center fielder. He has failed to homer here as well as at Baltimore.

Hamtramck Boy National King

Senkowski Is 15-Under Champ; Aussie Lever Wins Junior Title

KALAMAZOO (AP) — Redhaired Rod Laver, 17, has added his name to the list of Australians who snatch major tennis crowns from American net stars.

* * *

The Brisbane southpaw won the junior singles championship in the National Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament here yesterday. He was the first Aussie to compete for the U.S. 18-and-under title.

* * *

Second-seeded Ray Senkowski of Hamtramck became the first Michigan player to win a national tennis championship. He outpointed fifth-ranked Charles McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., 7-5, 6-2, to win the boys 15-and-under crown.

* * *

McKinley and Marty Riessen, Hinsdale, Ill., the third-seeded team, won the boys doubles with a 6-1, 6-2, victory over fifth-ranked Mike Neely, Atlanta, Ga., and Don Caton, Pensacola, Fla.

All-Star Coach to Be Speaker at Lions' Fete

DETROIT (INS) — The Detroit Lions announced today that veteran football coach Curley Lambeau will be the featured speaker at the 7th annual "Meet the Lions" banquet Tuesday, Aug. 14th.

* * *

Lambeau, a veteran of more than 30 years in the National Football League, directed the College All-Stars last year to a 30-27 victory over the Cleveland Browns.

The entire Lion squad will attend the banquet, to be held at the Sheraton-Cadillac hotel in Detroit.

Younger Netters Fail to Win

VETERANS LEAD U.S.—3-42 & O

RYE, N.Y. (AP)—Uncle Sam is about ready to shelve his "youth movement" in tennis and turn over full Davis Cup chores to a pair of experienced hands, Vic Seixas and Ham Richardson.

Winner over Mexico 4-1 in the American Zone final, Captain Bill Talbert's cuppers now await the inter-zone test with Italy's European champions at Forest Hills, N.Y., Sept. 28-30.

* * *

"We'll pick our team on the basis of performances in the coming grass-court tournaments, Orange, Newport, Brookline and the Nationals," said Talbert. "But right now you have to say Seixas and Richardson have the upper hand."

* * *

The 32-year-old Seixas, making his sixth Davis Cup campaign, and the 22-year-old Richardson, in the midst of his fifth, turned in the singles victories which clinched the decision over Mexico at the Westchester Country Club over the weekend.

Richardson won two matches, as he did against Canada at Victoria, beating Mario Llamas, Mexico's No. 1 player, yesterday in the decisive match of the zone finals. The Rhodes scholar from Westfield, N.J., turned back Llamas with a near perfect exhibition, 6-3, 6-3, 6-1. Sam Giammalva of Houston won the fourth point beating Estaban Reyes, 19-year-old Mexican, in a match of reserves, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3.

* * *

Richardson bet Francisco Contreras in straight sets on Friday when Seixas also scored over Llamas to send the Yanks off to a 2-0 lead. American complacency was jarred Saturday when Llamas and Contreras teamed to win a five-set doubles marathon from the Yankee "kids," Sam Giammalva 22, and Barry MacKay, 20.

"I am not sorry we took this gamble," said Talbert. "We have to give these boys experience. The result merely emphasized for us that we must develop a new and more potent doubles team. These boys aren't ready."

* * *

PCC Convenes for '2nd Look'

Faculty Sports Body Meets for Review of Athletic Tumult

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Faculty athletc representatives of the nine Pacific Coast Conference schools met here today in the first of three sessions to review the West Coast athletic tumult.

* * *

These faculty advisors meet in closed sessions today and tomorrow to take a second look at heavy penalties meted previously against UCLA, Southern California, California and Washington.

* * *

They also will study reports and charges concerning the five non-penalized members — Stanford, Oregon, Oregon State, Washington State and Idaho.

* * *

Then, on Wednesday, the faculty men meet jointly with the influential PCC presidents' council. The current trouble grew out of dissatisfaction expressed by the presidents more than three years ago over subsidication of athletes. That was in June, 1953.

* * *

The presidents wrote to their athletic staffs, asking for strict compliance with the conference athletic code. Now, with violators of this code penalized, the code itself also is up for scrutiny.

Golf's Lefties Gathering for National Trials

One 18-hole medal play round will be held daily through Thursday over the 6,500-yard Catawba Country Club course, a par-72 layout.

Qualifying play today and tomorrow will determine the 32 players, and ties, if any, who will play the remaining 36 holes in the 72-hole championship bracket.

Brundage Promises Pledge Will Stick

CHICAGO (AP)—The president of the International Olympic Committee has warned that if the IOC's new anti - pro Olympic pledge is ineffective, sterner measures may follow.

* * *

IOC President Avery Brundage of Chicago, who issued a lengthy statement yesterday backing up the pledge, said sports which persist in serving as a springboard into professional ranks may be dropped from the Olympic schedule.

The pledge, which caught U.S. Olympic officials and athletes by surprise, requires each contestant to swear on his honor he will remain an amateur after the 1956 games at Australia.

Williams Hits Record Again

100-Meter World Mark in 10.1 Set by Army Private

BERLIN (AP)—The long-sought 10-second 100-meter dash still was just a dream today, but with speed demons like Willie Williams and Ira Murchinson after it, the feat could turn into reality before long.

* * *

For the second time in 72 hours yesterday, Williams ran the distance in 10.1 seconds, breaking the listed world record of 10.2 which has stood for 20 years.

* * *

Willie, an Army private who pulled up lame in the U.S. Olympic Trials, first turned the trick Friday in a heat. Then Saturday, it was Murchinson's turn. Before yesterday's race, the pair said they hoped they'd finish in a dead heat in 10 flat.

* * *

Pace Team Winner of Trap Tourney

With three members of the Bloomfield Hills Pace family making up the bulk of the team, a fine-man trap squad has emerged from the eight weeks long Williams Gunsight tourney at Davison, as top winners. The Pace team, with Ernie Meeker and Truman Bollen backing up Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pace and Ray Pace, shot a good 967x1000. They competed against 21 other squads, each person shooting 200 targets from the 16 yard line.

ANOTHER FOR DUKE — Brooklyn Dodger outfielder Duke Snider is greeted at home after adding his 29th homer of the season in the first game against St. Louis atEbbets Field yesterday. He hit his 28th earlied in the game which the Dodgers won, 7-0 and he leads the NL in homers.

Maglie's Happy

Duke Snider Hitting Again

A few years ago, such a revelation would have sent Maglie out of town on the first available rail. But now, no one minds, unless it's the opposing clubs that have been suffering through the combined damage inflicted by the two former antagonists of the bitter Brooklyn Dodger-New York Giant rivalry.

* * *

In his last 17 games, Snider has shaken his normally thunderous bat from its slumber with 10 home runs and 15 runs batted in. During the same period, the 39-year-old Maglie has made four starts, and won three of the four with complete games. In the only start in which he required relief, Sal did not permit an earned run but, because of an error, left with the score tied 1-1 in the seventh.

* * *

It may not be more than a coincidence that, of the 17 games, the Dodgers won 14 while losing only 3.

Drop 3 to Bosox

Tribe Fails to Gain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The New York Yankee nosedive has reached the stage where the Boston Red Sox can turn the American League "walkover" into a pennant race in a series opening Monday night at Fenway Park.

* * *

Despite six straight defeats in Cleveland and Detroit, the Yanks lead still measured seven games over Cleveland but Boston has closed ground with leaps and bounds over the weekend. Only 8½ behind the Yanks, the Red Sox are riding a five-game winning streak.

* * *

Cleveland "blew" its chance to tighten the race after taking three of four from New York. Three straight defeats by Boston cost the Tribe an opportunity to get the Yanks within striking distance.

* * *

The Milwaukee-Brooklyn struggle in the National continues with the Braves and the Dodgers each winning doubleheaders Sunday. The Braves still remain two games in front of the Brooks with each team gaining a game on Cincinnati, idled by rain at Philadelphia.

* * *

Despite Mickey Mantle's 37th home run, the Yanks bowed to Detroit 8-5 in a game that was delayed 87 minutes by rain with just one out to go in the ninth. Three pitches by Al Aber finally finished the mushy struggle.

* * *

Ted Williams' 12th homer coming off Bob Lemon gave Boston its 2-1 edge over Cleveland after Jackie Jensen's homer tied the score. The game was cut short by a torrential rain storm in the eighth that forced postponement of a second game.

* * *

Baltimore slugged Chicago twice, 5-4 in 10 innings on a neat relief job by Billy Loes and 7-2 behind Ray Moore on the strength of a five-run rally in the seventh. Roy Sievers, Clint Courtney and Pete Runnels did the heavy hitting in Washington's 10-4 romp over Kansas City for a series sweep.

* * *

Duke Snider slugged three homers for Brooklyn in the 7-0 and 5-3 decisions over St. Louis with veteran Sal Maglie pitching a four-hit shutout for his 100th major league victory. Stout relief work by Ed Roebuck saved the second after Snider's 30th homer with two on gave the Dodgers a solid lead. Snider hit two in the first game and Roy Campanella and Sandy Amoros one each.

The two collide in a television 10-rounder (DuMont TV, 9 p.m., EST,) at New York's St. Nicholas Arena.

Calhoun, 21, a destructive puncher, has won six fights this year and has a 22-0 record, including 12 knockouts. Son of an Atlanta preacher, Calhoun now fights out of White Plains, N.Y. He ranks as the No. 10 middleweight contender.

Weatherman Washes Out Sunday Sports Calendar

The weatherman saw fit to raise hob with Sunday sporting activities in Pontiac and did so by unleashing torrents of water on the city, thereby wiping out yesterday's scheduled calendar of events.

Three Class A City Baseball League games were washed out while the opening rounds of the city Softball League playoffs and the modified hardtop auto racing show at Pontiac Speedway met the same fate.

Fowler's Fine Foods and Griff's Grill of the Class A baseball circuit were the only scheduled participants to make any headway. The two squads were tied at 3-3 in the opener of a double bill at Wisner Field when the rains came and stopped action after four innings.

George Gary, Class A league director, announced this morning that Sunday's games would be cancelled. He also announced that a meeting of class A managers would be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the Parks and Recreation Department office at City Hall.

The softball playoffs will try to get under way again tonight at Beaudette and North Side Parks and the Waterford League starts its post - season tournament at Drayton. Play in the Junior League tourneys resumes today at various city diamonds.

Modified hardtops and old models will run at Pontiac M59 Speedway Wednesday night and the "powder puff" women drivers from Detroit will provide an added feature. Time trials begin at 7 o'clock,, with the 1st race slated at 8:30.

Ortonville Man Tops Winners in Horse Show

Gene Hales of Ortonville, riding his fine black and white western horse, rode off with the lion's share of top awards in the Lake Orion Saddle Club—Rotary Club horse show Sunday at Kelly Park on Square Lake road.

Hales' big victory was in the speed and action event for men, in which he beat out a field of 60 horses. He also won two others of the six events.

More than 1,000 tickets had been sold, and the show was carried on all day, from early morning to 8 p.m. despite the rain. There were 162 entries from a dozen area saddle clubs and from numrous individuals.

Play Game Tuesday

Rained out on Sunday, all district Junior American Legion League baseball games will be played off this week, with Rochester meeting Birmingham on the latter's field Tuesday at 5:30.

Other games postponed from Sunday included the Pontiac-Berkley tilt set for Pontiac. Pontiac is the current 2nd half leader, with five wins.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Pitch or run?

DIAGNOSIS: Play "safety" shot

TREATMENT: It doesn't take long on the tourney trail to learn that a stroke saved, no matter how or where, can be the difference between top honors and cash, and being an also-run.

I'm thinking specifically of a precarious pitch shot over a tree to a "tight" green with heaps of trouble beyond it, such as the sketch shows. It's quite easy to see that nothing short of a miracle shot could hit and hold the green. It would have to be sky high.

The shot to play, even from 100 or more yards out, is a run-up—under the tree and onto the green. It's the safety shot that is colorless compared with the reckless poke over the tree, but it is the more sensible one.

What club to use depends on how far you're from the green. The grade of loft reduces from possibly the No. 2 to the No. 5, whichever will provide the necessary distance and roll.

* * *

On this type of shot the ball is punched; and to do this, grip the club down the shaft somewhat—choke it. Hit down on the ball directly with a commanding left arm.

And don't let anyone tell you this is sissy golf. Any type of shot that saves a stroke, as I mentioned at the outset, is the one to play, even if it has to be done with a putter from far off the green.

Moscow Makes Serious Bid for Olympics

MOSCOW (AP) — Sportwise, the Iron Curtain is getting rusty and springing leaks. Just a few more holes and Moscow will be ready to stage the Olympic Games.

In two days, this hidebound capital of Communism has proved to be better equipped physically than any city in the world to sage the 1964 games.

* * *

The Soviets presently are conducting their unofficial Olympic tryouts, known as Spartakiad, involving 10,000 athletes. It's a fine show, but before the Russians are ready to bid seriously for the games, they must don some more loosening up.

* * *

They've got to liberalize their censorship and be willing to absorb ideas on high speed news production and transmission. For Spartakiad, they installed a telephone-telegraph center at the stadium, the rarest of rarities here.

They made a few slips yesterday one of which involved western newsmen. Some comrade nailed up the door on the press box, atop the 73-tier Lenin Stadium and the reporters had to break it down to get out.

They also played several records during the mass calisthenics which the Communists love dearly. Trouble was the records were taped from western programs and sounded horrible. They weren't even in keeping with the cadence of the calisthenics.

* * *

Still, these are all minor matters and can be taken care of by the proper attitude. The truth is that Moscow no longer is willing to wait for the 1968 games. The city wants them in 1964. The other cities of the world which are bidding for them, Detroit, Brussels, Philadelphia, Lausanne, Budapest and Los Angeles, will have to perk up.

Moscow is virtually ready for the games, and only one other city can make the same boast. That is Rome which will get the 1960 games, and thus is not trying for the '64 Olympiad.

No city in America has anything like Moscow's facilities. The main stadium is only a short bus ride from the center of town, the Kremlin, Red Square and the main hotels.

The main stadium seats 103,000. Right next door is one seating 15,000 for volley ball, basketball and tennis. Around the corner is a 10,000-seat swimming stadium. There also is a big indoor palace and the rowing events could be held on the Moscow River a couple of hundred feet down the line.

DDGA Juniors Play at Bloomfield Hills

Detroit District Golf Association's junior tournament was under way today over the lush fairways and greens of Bloomfield Hills C. C. A field of about 80 was expected with post entries being taken this morning. Event is medal play over an 18-hole route, for the 18 and under, and 9 holes for the 12 and under groups.

* * *

* * *

42-Night Stand Opens Tonight at Hazel Park

Hazel Park led in average handle among Detroit tracks in two of three previous seasons of operations, but in each case the track held opening dates instead of late dates, as this year.

More than 200 new horses from other tracks were shipped into Hazel Park this week-end for the meet.

Reds Ground Liner; U.S. Envoy Motors

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—American diplomat Christian M. Ravndal says, wryly, that the Hungarian Communists tried their best "to make a pleasant last impression on me."

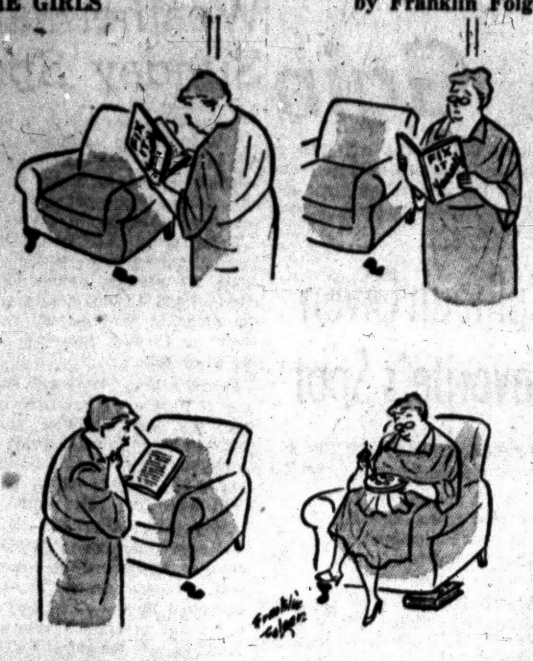

* * *

The Hungarians claimed the plane would be endangered by propaganda balloons floated across the Iron Curtain by the American - sponsored Radio free Europe organization.

Ravndal is en route to become ambassador to Ecquador. The Hungarians allowed the special plane to take off after his departure by car, and it picked him up in Vienna to fly him to the port of Bremen, Germany.

Challenge No. 10! Lucky 16 Words Can Snare $125

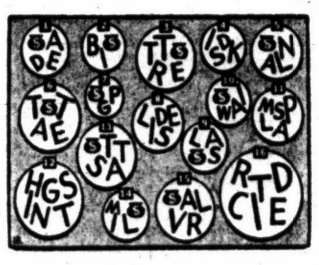

Another week — another $100; that's the least the Press will pay to the reader who comes up with the correct solution to Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 10, the newest challenge in our fascinating summer word game. Oother than the clues below, the best advice we can give is to read the rules carefully before sending in your entry. Have fun, and good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

2 Missing, 3 Critical in Chemical Blast

Two persons were reported unaccounted for in the blast. Three others were hospitalized, in critical condition.

It was not known immediately how many persons were in the plant, where police said classified operations for the government were in progress.

Reporters said they were not permitted to enter the property.

Suburbs Grow Out

WASHINGTON—The Census Bureau reports that suburban areas gained about 9,500,000 in population in the 1950-55 period to reach a total of more than 44,000,000 inhabitants. The suburbs now have 27 per cent of the total civilian population in the United States.

Alloy of Stainless Steel Used for Rocket Planes

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—A rocket plane of stainless steel flying through the heat barrier at a record 1,900 miles an hour lights up another field that the bright alloy hopes to mark off as its own.

* * *

Since it came out of the kitchen less than a generation back, stainless steel has gone into skyscrapers, railroad trains, automobiles, nuclear power plants and atomic submarines. And from the metal is made what probably is the world's most expensive garbage can — a nonconductive container for radioactive waste products.

Demand for stainless is now so sturdy, steelmen say, that only the tight supply of nickel—used as an alloy in many types of stainless—can put a brake on its future growth. But engineers in the Alloy Steel division of Republic Steel stress that for many uses of stainless other alloys can be used.

* * *

As steel workers prepare to start up the furnaces again after the strike, several steel companies are pushing construction of new stainless steel plants. Crucible Steel is adding 70 per cent to its stainless or titanium sheet and strip rolling capacity. Others have already expanded.

The reason that the plane that pierced the heat barrier is made of stainless instead of the usual aluminum is this: At speeds above 1,150 miles an hour aluminum alloys lose their strength in the terrific heat generated by air friction.

* * *

* * *

Trains of stainless steel are touted as rust and corrosion resistant as well as having strength-to-weight ratios economical for high speeds. And along with aluminum, stainless now competes with chrome plate in auto time.

Green Apples Shunned by U.S. Growers Appeal

SEBASTOPOL, Calif. — The U.S. Army has issued a new definition of an acceptable apple and as a result this apple-growing community views the immediate future with foreboding.

An apple, says a new Army regulation, must show red on 10 per cent of its surface.

Growers say the new regulation will make it impossible to sell apples this year to the Army. They also say the Army has refused to revise its color standard.

A woman's billfold and $20 was reported missing Saturday afternoon in the vicinity of S. Saginaw and Huron streets, Pontiac police said.

The drive shaft of a 1955 automobile was removed and stolen Friday night while the car was parked in the driveway of the owner, Leon Cretal, of 78 E. Beverly Ave., Pontiac police said.

Nettie C. Grandstaff, 42, of Orion, paid $40 court costs Saturday after pleading guilty to reckless driving. The arraignment was conducted by Troy Township Justice Charles Losey.

Holly Man Injured in Sunday Collision

Jay W. Duncan, 67, of Holly, suffered cuts about the face Sunday morning when the car in whcih he was a passenger collided with another vehicle on U.S. 10 in Springfield Township.

He was treated by a doctor following the accident. The cars were operated by William W. Duncan, 24, and Bernard P. Ewald, 27, both of Holly.

Ewald told Oakland County deputies he apparently fell asleep at the wheel just before crashing into the Duncan vehicle. Duncan said he was preparing to make a turn and could not get out of the way in time.

Business Notes

The elevation of Eugene K. Kelly to the post of works manager of the Detroit Diesel Engine Division has been announced by General Motors spokesmen.

Before going to Indianapolis, the new works manager was associated with the Pontiac Motor Division. He formerly had been a member of the corporation's central office manufacturing staff.

Melvin W. Alldredge, A&P Food Stores vice president, has been placed in charge of the grocery chain's Detroit Unit, according to Division President Frank H. Bucher.

Head of the Indianapolis Unit for the past four years, Alldredge succeeds Bucher who was recently named to fill the vacancy created by the retirement of John M. Toolin.

Alldredge began his career with A&P 29 years ago as a store clerk in Evansville, Ind.

Cadillac Buys Hudson Factory in Detroit

Cadillac General Manager Don E. Ahrens said the purchase includes property, buildings, roadways and parking lots, adding one million square feet of floor space to the division's facilities.

Sees 'Safe Car' Law Unless Builders Act

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal legislation to eliminate unsafe automobile construction, unless manufacturers take such action voluntarily, is forecast by Rep. Kenneth A. Roberts (D-Ala).

Roberts is chairman of a subcommittee authorized by the Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee of the House to study causes of highway accidents and deaths.

* * *

He said at a Cornell University conference on highway accidents protection of motorists is one of the main objectives of a House inquiry.

"Safety requirements come first and the car manufacturers should understand that," he said. "We would prefer them to take protective action voluntarily, rather than to have corrective federal legislation enacted."

Nebraska leads all other states in production of alfalfa meal, with more than one-fourth of the national output.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

A REBUTTAL

Since the Press didn't see fit to publish my open letter "To the Editor" —but prefered to partially misquote "extracts from part of contex" this is the only way possible for my story to reach the voting public.

The Editor
Pontiac Press
48 W. Huron Street
Pontiac, Michigan

July 30, 1956

Dear Sir:

I was more than disappointed and not a little hurt by your editorial which, in effect, endorsed both a democratic and republican candidate for the senatorial nomination from Oakland County.

While I recognize the right of a public press to comment on public issues, I believe you have done a great disservice to the other candidates in the race. I have met and have spoken to all of them; they are a fine group and qualified for the office they seek.

Why not in fairness let the electorate decide, on the basis of the record and by the manner in which issues are presented, who should represent the district.

Innuendoes of strength and an attempt to create a bandwagon stampede to one candidate smack of "Bossistic" tactics, which have no place in Michigan.

There are many people who disagree with your choice and are actively working for the other candidates. It's too bad that all of these people are Know Nothings, because of your superior and pontifical judgment.

The responsibility of an editor requires great sagacity, and I am sure the electors will show that a great lack of that quality was demonstrated in your editorial of July 27, 1956.

Fairness demands that you publish this letter immediately. To fail to do so would amount to the censorship of the worst sort.

Respectfully
Ed Morey,
Republican Candidate for the State Senate from Oakland County

Develop New Kidney Test

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Doctors at the University of California at Los Angeles have developed an atomic kidney function test which can be performed in a physician's office with complete safety and little or no discomfort to the patient.

* * *

A radioactive iodine material—Diodrast — and external scintillation counters and electronic equipment are used to make the test in only 15 minutes to a half hour.

The iodine substances is injected into a patient intravenously, and scintillation counters are then placed over the kidney areas to measure radioactivity and thus indicate the rates of uptake and excretion of the test material by the organs.

Electronically recorded data indicate each kidney's blood supply, function and the condition of the upper urinary passages, which may become obstructed by stones, tumors or infections.

* * *

At First Sight

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. Almer Davidson, 67-year-old bride, said it didn't take her long to decide to marry her husband, Orba Davidson, 70. "He just knocked on my door and I felt like God sent him," she explained.

Hal Boyle Says:

Working Girls Age 7 Years Since 1940

* * *

That in a contest to pick the nation's most heroic dog, seven dogs named Lassie were nominated—But not a single pooch named Fido, Rex, Rover or Buster.

That no wood, fully protected from fungus growth, will ever decay—and that a tree's resistance to disease, like that of a man's, is affected by heredity.

That many long-distance trucking firms now require their drivers to take a 10-minute road break every 100 miles or so—for safety's sake.

* * *

That the Chinese philosopher Shen-ming, who lived 27 centuries before Christ, said "Tea is better than wine, for it leadeth not to intoxication. It is better than water, for it does not carry disease."

That the Kiwanis Magazine warns "It is a mistake to think that if you lead a double life you'll get twice as much out of it."

That it costs 50 million dollars a year to pick up the trash dumped along major U. S. highways by litterbugs.

* * *

That the tombstone of a Turkish gentleman buried in Istanbul in the 13th Century reads: "He had a sad and sorry life, full of never-ending strife, because of the nagging of his wife."

That there are far more stars in the skies than there are people on earth. There are billions of stars in the Milky Way alone.

That the instalment plan, an American institution, has spread behind the Iron Curtain to Poland and Hungary. Unfortunately, a Hungarian making less than $200 a month has to put up $345 as down payment on a phonograph costing him $1,000.

* * *

That it was Maxie Rosenbloom who said, "Women will be as pleasing as liquor when they learn to improve with age."

Just Where She Left It

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Dayton police, unable to find a crumb of evidence in the case of the missing cookie jar containing $900, were about ready to give up when they got a call from the jar's owner. She sheepishly admitted getting out of bed one night to put the jar where no one could find it. No one did, until the woman cleaned behind a chair.

Portable TV?

SPRINGFIELD, Ky. —Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Grundy were just killing time until their favorite television program would be on. They took the kids out for a short drive. When they returned the hunt for the television set began. A thief walked off with the set during the family's drive.

Phrynosoma Cornuti: What Do They Eat?

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A 17-year-old boy scout counselor, who is playing nursemaid to some 80 phrynosoma cornuta, says his parents "are a little bit shocked, I think."

* * *

He got the grotesque creatures, he says, because "whenever a boy scout sees a horned toad his ears prick up."

* * *

Glenn and several of his buddies wrote the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce recently asking where they might locate a few horned toads. They had seen some at a Boy Scout jamboree.

Their request found its way into a San Antonio newspaper and the big hearted Texans came through.

Transport Big Factor in Cost of Aluminum

LOS ANGELES—The main costs of making a pound of aluminum are for 9 kilowatt hours of electricity and 1.9 pounds of alumina, which is extracted from two or three pounds of bauxite.

Transportation is also a major cost factor because the route from mine to market may cover 7,000 miles or more.

Al Hitchcock Zooms Past Ed Sullivan to No. 2 Spot

The casbah in Algiers, scene of many movies and romantic legends, is still a section of endless alleys and winding steps. It is so narrow that three men cannot pass abreast, but 50,000 Algerians live in its offshooting doorways.

Dean Martin Clears Up Rumor on His Drinking

By EARL WILSON

N.Y.C.—Dean Martin is getting smiles in Hollywood with a line he "held over" from his closing show with Jerry Lewis. "Did you know," he says, "I don't drink any more?" . . . "Really, Dean, that's wonderful!" somebody usually exclaims . . . "No," he says, "and I don't drink any less, either."

A magazine writer wished to interview George Jessel about how a mature man-of-the-world can carry a torch, as he is for Joan Tyler.

"First," said Georgie, "I suggest you get answers to that question from four other mature men-of-the-world: Marc Antony, Van Gogh, the Duke of Windsor and Darryl Zanuck."

JOAN T.

SLUGGER - TYPE STORY: Some prankster pals of Errol Flynn sent him a picture of a native African gal. They wrote on the back, "I am Carolyn the Cannibal Girl. I saw your photograph and I would love to eat you."

Martin Burden's son Larry, 8, is the soul of discretion. Recently an extremely plump man came to call and Martin told his son, "This man is quite fat but don't you dare mention it." When Larry met the man, he stared open-mouthed, and the man said, "I'm pretty fat, huh?" Larry replied, "Yes, very, but Daddy said I shouldn't mention it."

★ ★ ★

Taffy Tuttle refers to a couple of gal lushes as "sisters under the skinful". . . Down at the Washington Federal in Miami, Jack D. Gordon, the prez., coined a word to describe juggling of books: "Ledgerdemain" . . . From Art Morger, the Bard of Boston: "Romance makes a fellow spoon and marriage makes him fork it over."

★ ★ ★

Terry Moore—getting ready to do "Crime and Punishment" on CBS-TV—was asked about having a family, and said, "I don't want to have any children—they might grow up like Elvis Presley" . . . Tom Steinfeld (vice prez of "Playbill") lost his sister-in-law at "My Fair Lady." She's English and was fascinated with the British accents. "But when the show was over, what happened to you?" asked Steinfeld. "Oh," she said, "I sat there waiting for them to play 'God Save the Queen.'"

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Eddie Fisher's shifting his TV show to the West Coast next season; it'll visit N.Y. in December . . . Susan Strasberg was signed by RKO to co-star with Henry Fonda in "Stage Struck," to be shot here . . . United Artists is negotiating a huge deal for Republic Pictures' film backlog and studio space . . .

Jack Carter's chums say he should get more pay for his good job in "Mr. Wonderful" . . . French star Brigitte Bardot'll divorce director Roger Vadim . . . Is all happy with the Frank ("Most Happy Fella") Loessers? . . . Sports announcer Clem McCarthy collapsed and is in Roosevelt Hosp . . . Rocky Graziano finally got around to seeing his film bio, "Somebody Up There Likes Me." . . . Anita DeCastro, gal band leader at Kutsher's, bosses her husband—he's the drummer in the group.

Earl's Pearls . . . .

When you go to dinner you can always tell which salad is yours. If you start eating the one on the right, the left one is yours.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "It's not strange that there are so few female after-dinner speakers; most of 'em can't wait that long."—J. O. Jewett.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A retired New Yorker describes himself as being in the "honeydew age"—with plenty of time on his hands his wife keeps saying, "Honey, do this, honey, do that."

Allen Swift won't come right out and say his friend is a lush, but he is the only guy in the world who doesn't see anything unusual about the Tower of Pisa . . . That's earl, brother.

Honeymooners Miss Top Ten

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Bert Lahr may be lost to TV next season. He's set to star in a musical version of "Grand Hotel" on Bdwy. . . . We hope the tyke who digs Babe Ruth's record so extensively wins the whole $64,000 simply because she seems so cruelly nervous and deserves at least that large recompense for the kid-size shock she's plainly undergoing.

Alfred Hitchcock leaped clear past Ed Sullivan to 2nd in the N.Y. ARB survey, right between the $64,000 Q. (first) and Smiley (3rd) . . . The rest go: What's My Line, 4th, always a summer front-runner; The $64,000 Challenge, G.E. Theatre, The Medic, Phil Silvers, Climax and "I've Got a Secret." . . . no "Honeymooners"? We are indeed amazed!

The "Sindlinger Report" on what TV shows "People Are Talking About" again had Steve Allen leading its nationwide klatch, which must mean, considering Steve's 10.3 Trendex rating last Sun., folks were simply so busy talking about him they forgot to tune him in on TV. . . . Frankie Laine should wear his glasses all the time on his TV show rather than squint so unattractively (or is that Frankie's version of soulful) . . . For his summer series, Frankie took off ten pounds and put on a new wig. . . . Orson Welles, who used to direct actor Joseph Cotten in radio, stage and screen, will be the actor directed by Cotten in the "On Trial" TV series this fall.

Grace and Frank Albertson (Grace was seriously injured in a motor accident in which her father and 8-year-old daughter were killed) will do the Philco commercials (via ABC) at the Dem. & Repub. conventions. . . . They'll head a "Typical American Family," with actors (Ray Richards, 17, and Doris Van Treck, 15) playing their offspring . . . Bob & Ray have created a brace of new radio characters for the sound-only coverage. . . . The giant knickerbocker contest (Jacob Ruppert brewery) gave away a TV set as one of its top prizes. It was won by David Karp, one of the top-paid TV writers (just what he needed).

Billie Burke saw all that publicity about her 76th birthday being celebrated next Tues. on the Will Rogers Jr. "Good Morning" show and canceled her appearance (why Will! Billie's only 39!). . . . Paul Newman, best of the Brando brandmen, stars Aug. 29 in "Pepi" on the U.S. Steel Hour. . . . Please try to imagine whose glumly blowtop temperament would rocket skyhigh if Ingrid Bergman decides to make her TV debut on the Walter Winchell Variety!

Tire Is Developed With 'Built-In Spare'

AKRON—A new automobile tire with a "built-in-spare" has been developed by an Akron tire company, which says the dual-compartment tire will let the motorist drive safely at legal speeds for at least 100 miles or more after having been ripped open by a blowout.

The inner chamber of the "tire within a tire" has no air-passage connection with the outer chamber. In case of a blowout or puncture, only the air in the outer chamber escapes.

Heart Disease Remains Leading Cause of Death

NEW YORK—The Institute of Life Insurance reports that diseases of the heart and blood vessels remained the leading cause of death in 1955, accounting for 57 per cent of all deaths of holders of ordinary-life-insurance policies.

The death rate was 342.2 per 100,000, down about one per cent from the year before and 4 per cent below 1953, but well above the 320.2 rate of 1945.

Ed Sullivan Hurt in 2-Car Crash

Writer's Condition Fair With Bruises, Rib Injury; 3 Others Hospitalized

SEYMOUR, Conn. (AP)—Ed Sullivan, TV master of ceremonies and nationally syndicated newspaper columnist, suffered chest bruises and a possible rib fracture in a two-car smashup here today, police reported.

Three other men, including his son-in-law, were injured in the head-on collision. All were taken to Griffin Hospital in nearby Derby. Their conditions were described as fair.

Sullivan, 53, was driving to his home in Southbury. He had flown to Bridgeport from McGuire Air Force Base in New Jersey, where his weekly Sunday night television show was staged. He picked up the car at Bridgeport.

Riding with him were his son-in-law Robert H. Precht Jr., 26, of Scarsdale, N.Y., and Ralph Cacace, 34, of New Haven, Conn., a private detective employed by Sullivan.

Police said the collision in this Naugatuck Valley town at 1:25 a.m. occurred when a car driven by Joseph Palmucci, 22, of Ansonia, Conn., veered into the left-hand side of Route No. 8, a two-lane highway. Police said both cars were total wrecks.
