Post Offices Close, Halt Delivery

Normal Service to Resume Soon if Funds OK'd

Cutbacks to Continue Till Congress Approves Restoring Cash

WASHINGTON (AP)—There were no regular mail deliveries today and most post offices were closed for the weekend. But it looked as though service would be returned to normal soon.

Postmaster General Summerfield said late yesterday he has "no choice" but to go ahead with service cutbacks even though the House Appropriations Committee has recommended an extra 41 million dollars to maintain normal postal operations through June.

He said the reductions "must go into effect as scheduled so that the department legally operates within the funds actually appropriated."

Under the first stage of Summerfield's order, Saturday mail delivery has been halted throughout the country. The only items being delivered are those bearing special delivery stamps.

Also, service windows in most of the nation's 38,000 post offices remained closed. The only ones open were rural area fourth class post offices, staffed generally by storekeepers. Newspapers are included in the ban on mail delivery.

APPLY LATER

Other service curtailments are scheduled to take effect later.

After the committee acted yesterday, despite the grumbling of some of its members, Summerfield restated his position that mail service reductions can be canceled only when enough additional money "actually becomes available" — that is, after the bill has cleared Congress and has been signed by President Eisenhower.

The House is scheduled to consider the committee's recommendation Monday and the Senate is expected to act soon afterward. Thus it appeared likely Summerfield might get his money by the end of next week.

Summerfield had asked for 47 million dollars beyond the two billion-plus Congress voted last year to run his department during this fiscal year.

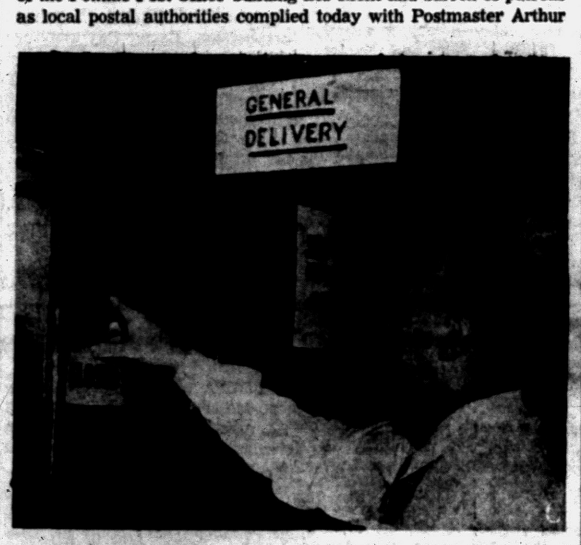

He said his request for supplemental funds for the next 2½ months grew out of unexpectedly large mail volume, the need to serve spreading residential areas and a postal pay increase.

Mailmen Take a Holiday as Office Closes

'NOT A CREATURE WAS STIRRING' — The main corridor of the Pontiac Post Office building lies silent and barren of patrons as local postal authorities complied today with Postmaster Arthur Summerfield's order to curb Saturday operations. Congress' decision to appropriate $41 million in deficit funds came too late for the Post Office Dept. to halt a closing order issued last week.

MAKING IT OFFICIAL — C. A. Ebby, Pontiac superintendent of mails, places a "Closed" sign on one of the local Post Office windows today after deliveries and other business ceased in postal stations across the country. Only special delivery mail will be unaffected by the halt.

Storms Lash Crops, Jam Lake Superior

CHICAGO (INS)—A crop-damaging spring storm today moved into the Gulf and Eastern Seaboard states after lashing Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri and Southern Illinois with snow, sleet and freezing rains.

Pear, peach, plum, apricot and strawberry crops were severely hit yesterday in Oklahoma where the entire state reported a damaging mixture of snow, sleet, hail and freezing rain.

Shortly before midnight last night, the mercury at Oklahoma City plunged to 24 degrees, an all-time low for the date.

Southern Illinois, fighting week-long floods, had 28 degree readings and some snow, which was especially damaging to the peach crop.

The heaviest snowfall from the storm occurred at Miami, in Northeast Oklahoma, and Coffeyville, Kan., with both receiving 6 inches.

Early today, a narrow band of freezing precipitation fell from New England to the southern plains.

Elsewhere in the east, precipitation was confined to snow flurries along the southern and eastern slopes of the Great Lakes.

Shipping in Lake Superior remained closed by a large ice field just west of Sault St. Marie, Mich. Called the worst ice condition on the lake in 48 years, the jam was blamed on continuing northwest winds and low temperatures.

Seven ships are trapped by the ice jam, described as 45 miles long.

Early today, Grand Rapids, Mich., reported a chilly 16 degrees, two below the previous record of 18 set for the day in 1950.

As the cold air pushed southeastward toward the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, nighttime temperatures from the Great Lakes westward to the central Rockies recovered from their downward plunge of the previous night. Readings of 20s and low 30s prevailed.

Sunny Skies Ahead

Perhaps knowing that a sunny and warmer Sunday is in the offing will help Pontiac residents to smile through tonight's partly cloudy and continued cold weather.

The weather man reports that the mercury will dip to a low of 22 to 28 degrees tonight and reach a high of 43 to 50 tomorrow.

West to northwest winds at 12 to 18 miles per hour today are expected to diminish tonight.

Downtown Pontiac's lowest temperature preceding 8 a.m. was 26. The mercury read 36 at 2 p.m.

Denies Padding to Raise Cash for Courthouse

Lawyer Files Answer to Suit Blocking Way of New Building

Charges of budget padding and illegal financial operations were denied yesterday in an answer filed by Corporation Counsel Harry J. Merritt to a suit blocking construction of the proposed new county courthouse.

The way was believed paved for an early Circuit Court hearing of the dispute that has tied up roughly $2 million earmarked for a new building.

Flatly denying the funds were accumulated illegally, Merritt maintained the county's financial record "is clean" and represents "good business techniques of which the Board of Supervisors can be proud."

Suit was brought last Nov. 20 by the Oakland County Taxpayers' League, a group formed expressly to contest the board's building plans.

The league, represented by Pontiac attorneys Glenn C. Gilespie and William H. Wilmot, made four specific complaints:

NO LEGAL RIGHT

1. The board has no legal right to change the present site of the courthouse.

2. The proposed site, in the Telegraph road service center, was illegally annexed to Pontiac and hence is outside of the county seat.

3. The board exceeded a constitutional limitation to be taxed or borrowed for construction of .1 mill to be taxed or borrowed for construction unless approved by voters.

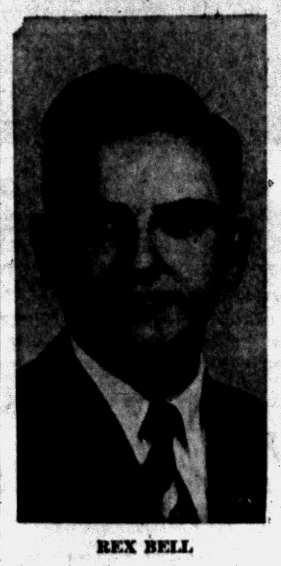

4. The board illegally transferred deliberate budgetary surpluses to the building fund.

To examine the last two charges, Merritt said, auditors for both sides of the case worked more than a month exploring the county's financial operations for the past decade.

In answering the .1 mill limitation charge, Merritt said this

This dispatch came as Israeli Foreign Minister Golda Meir was saying in Tel Aviv that Israel would "view with concern" any foreign interference in Jordan. She gave no indication what Israel might do if the Arab states try to carve up Jordan among themselves while Amman was in the throes of a political crisis.

Several hundred persons earlier had demonstrated in the streets of Amman in support of the fallen government of Premier Suleiman Nabulsi and against the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine.

College Student, Passenger Die in Road Tragedy

Car Collides Head-on With Haulaway North of Pontiac

A Pontiac man and a woman passenger from Waterford Township died early today from injuries received in a head-on collision with a truck on U.S.-10, one and a half miles north of M-15.

Dead are Rex Lynn Bell, 21, a Wayne University medical student, and Mrs. Thelma A. McPeek, 20, an operator for the Michigan Bell Telephone Co.

★ ★ ★

They were trapped for more than a half hour in the wreckage of Bell's car and were dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

The driver of the truck, an auto haulaway, was treated at Pontiac General for injuries of the forehead and back. He is Bert A. Carpenter, 45, of Flint.

Bell was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alford J. Bell, of 22 Garner Ave., and Mrs. McPeek the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Parker, 5569 Savoy Dr., Waterford Township.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. McPeek, a 1956 graduate of Waterford Township High School, would have celebrated her first wedding anniversary April 21.

Her husband, Airman Second Class Orville Duane McPeek, 22, is stationed in Tokyo, Japan. The son of Orville E. McPeek, of 2155 Willhite, Pontiac, he left for overseas duty two days after his marriage.

Bell, a Pontiac High School graduate, was formerly employed by The Pontiac Press. He was a carrier boy while in school and later worked in the mailing room before enrolling at Wayne.

'Generals Broke No Game Law'

Alaska Wildlife Official Denies Charges Against Air Force Officers

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP) — Air Force generals violated no game laws in Alaska last year when they went on a hunting trip which has been called to congressional attention, a game administrator said last night.

★ ★ ★

The defense came from Clarence Rhode, Wildlife administrator of the Fish and Wildlife Service, who said he visited the Brooks Mountain hunting camp at which "about a dozen" military officers were staying.

Rhode's remarks followed disclosure that Keith Hart, a former civilian employe of the Air Force Arctic Aeromedical Laboratory at Ladd Air Force Base, Fairbanks, Alaska, had written congressmen about the hunting trip last summer.

Hart said he had resigned his laboratory job "in protest against the flagrant disregard for Alaska's resources by certain high ranking Air Force officers."

★ ★ ★

He named Gen. Nathan Twining, Air Force chief of staff, Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Gen. James Doolittle and "others whose identities are unknown to me."

★ ★ ★

Instead of using airbases in Alaska, Hart said in a letter which went to Chairman Engle (D-Calif) of the House Interior Committee, the party met at Agak Lake in the Brooks range 275 miles north of Fairbanks. He said he heard officers "tell of Gen. Twining killing two sheep; the legal limit is one."

★ ★ ★

In Washington, Twining issued a categorical denial that "he violated any laws pertaining to the use of government equipment or any game laws of the territory of Alaska."

Sweat Over Income Tax Forms

'Procrastinators' Struggle to Meet Monday Deadline

Thousands of last-minute taxpayers are burning the midnight oil this weekend in efforts to beat the Monday midnight deadline for filing 1956 individual income tax returns.

All returns must be postmarked before midnight April 15. They should be mailed to the Director of Internal Revenue, Federal Building, Detroit 31.

The Pontiac office of the Internal Revenue Service remained open today until 2 p.m. to assist late filers. It will be open Monday from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Telephone service is available by calling FEderal 2-0208.

The office is located at 53½ W. Huron St.

Charles E. Coddington, supervisor of the Pontiac office, said taxpayers will be assisted in preparation of returns, but not in the filling out of forms.

He issued warnings to couples filing joint returns not to forget to have both names at the top of the form, and also not to forget to sign at the bottom.

"Another common mistake is that many forget to enclose W-2 forms with the returns," he said. These are the forms provided by employers showing earnings and withholding taxes of the taxpayers.

Drug May Help Treat Diabetes Without Injection

BOSTON (AP) — A new drug that has "tremendous potential" for the oral treatment of diabetes — if its safety can definitely be proved — is under test at the New England Deaconess Hospital.

Researchers, who have tested it on only 50 patients so far, told a reporter today that it has shown tentative promise of being ultimately useful as a means of reducing and in some cases perhaps even eliminating the use of injectable insulin in almost all types of diabetes, including juvenile.

He said the new, still-experimental drug had been tested in patients of various age groups and varying degrees of disease severity and had produced some benefit in most cases — by lowering blood sugar levels, the principal effect required in treating diabetes.

Tokyo Traffic Toll High

TOKYO (AP) — Police reported today that eight persons were killed and 71 injured yesterday in 114 traffic accidents in Tokyo. The accident total was a new one-day high for the year in Tokyo.

Holy Week Series Portrays:

Famous Sites of the Holy Land

HEROD'S TEMPLE in Jerusalem — where the Child Jesus astonished learned doctors with His wisdom — was destroyed nearly 2,000 years ago.

But a magnificent structure stands on the very spot today. It is the "Dome of the Rock," third holiest place in Islam and erected by Moslems over the very stone upon which Jewish priests offered sacrifices to Jehovah at the time of Christ.

You can visit this historic location and others which played important parts in the life of Christ by following "He Was Here," a Holy Week journey to five famous Biblical scenes.

The first story, a sensitive study of the modern appearance of the Temple site Christ visited as a boy of 12, will appear in The Pontiac Press Monday.

Other articles will describe the modern setting of the spot on the bank of the Jordan River where John baptized Christ; the imposing and desolate mountain near Jericho where Christ fasted for 40 days and triumphantly resisted Satan's temptations; the dusty village of Bethany where Christ raised Lazarus from the dead and later prepared for His Palm Sunday entrance into Jerusalem.

The last article is a study of the holy city of Jerusalem, tracing Christ's route in the days immediately preceding His crucifixion over the barbed wire and bitterness dividing the ancient city today.

The reports were written by Associated Press Foreign Correspondent Wilton Wynn, whose normal base is in Cairo.

"I've Just Been Scalped" Moans Woman

She Encloses Lock of Hair With Her Income Tax

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — You think you have income tax troubles?

A would-be taxpayer walked into a federal building, got off the elevator at the wrong floor, saw a lot of men filling out forms, was handed some himself, filled them out and turned them in.

"I still don't see what this has to do with filling out my tax return," he said. It didn't. He had just taken, and passed, an examination for building guard.

That comes from the Internal Revenue Service here. Every year about this time — income tax deadline is April 15 — it receives from its collectors around the country stories of the problems they — and the taxpayers — have.

SEND OLD SHIRTS

This is the time when people, along with their returns, send in old shirts and pants, saying: "you've taken everything else, you may as well have this too."

★ ★ ★

The revenue service reports these events too:

One woman pulled a switch on the shirts-and-pants gifts. She sent in a lock of her hair with a brief note: "I've just been scalped."

One old lady paid her tax and waited. The cashier said: "That's all." She said: "Where are my green stamps." He was too stunned to answer. But she said: "Everyone gives green stamps nowadays. It's about time you people woke up."

Another woman tried to deduct as a medical expense the price she paid for a Chihuahua puppy. A neighbor had told her having such a dog around might cure her asthma. And, after the dog arrived, her asthma improved.

DENTAL EXPENSE

One man, asked by the revenue service to verify a big dental expense, sent back his false teeth with a note:

"After buying these plates I gained so much weight the doctor told me to go on a diet. By sending them to you as proof of my claim, I hope to solve two problems at the same time."

The revenue service also reports there have been cases where people tried to cash their W-2 withholding receipt, or visited the collectors' offices to borrow money, cash checks, or get help making out their wills.

One taxpayer, receiving a bill for additional tax, wrote back: "I got married today—leaving for honeymoon—gone one week —hope you can wait—I can't."

"I'm sorry I can't give you my address. I'm living in a box car. And they move the damned thing every morning."

★ ★ ★

P.S. He didn't know it, since he couldn't be reached, but he had overpaid his tax and was due a refund.

City to Change Bus Schedules

Saturday Runs to Begin on Perry Park Route for Trial Period

Two major bus route changes in the city effective April 21 have been announced by E. W. Dreasher, transportation superintendent for Pontiac City Lines, Inc.

For a 30-day trial period, Saturday runs will be restored to the Perry Park route at 60 minute intervals from 7:45 a.m. until 6:20 p.m.

"Daily passenger checks will be compiled," Dreasher said. "If at the end of a 30-day trial period it proves non-productive, this service will be discontinued on Saturdays."

Another change will involve the discontinuation of midday and night Mt. Clemens street runs. These will continue, however, at 30 minute intervals from 6 a.m. until 8:55 a.m. and from 3 to 5:55 p.m.

HOURLY INTERVALS

On Saturdays this route will run from 7:45 a.m. until 6:20 p.m. at 60 minute intervals. On Sunday and holidays the run will be discontinued entirely, Dreasher reported.

He further stated that if a 30-day test proves the run non-profitable, it will be removed completely.

A third change will be a 35-minute interval in the Oakland-James K boulevard route instead of the present 30 minutes lapse.

The official cited lack of patronage and increased operating costs as reasons for the major changes.

Daniels Reveals How FDR Photos Were Screened

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP) — A wartime aide to President Roosevelt said today he censored pictures taken at the Yalta conference because Roosevelt looked so haggard and weary.

Jonathan Daniels, editor of the Raleigh, N.C., News and Observer and former executive assistant to Roosevelt, said it was his job to screen the pictures and that he held back the "most shocking" photographs.

Daniels made the disclosure in a speech on the 12th anniversary of Roosevelt's death at his Little White House in Warm Springs.

"In retrospect," he added, "Now I can count his dying clearly, not from April 12, 1945, but from a time weeks before when the Army Signal Corps flew back photographs it had taken of him at Yalta.

"The Yalta pictures look as tragic in terms of the man as the disintegration of the victory which his enemies have since charged that he let take place there.

"It was my job to screen those pictures," he said. "I held back the most shocking pictures. And I should have been warned by them. I was not."

The Roosevelt New Deal has drawn the scorn of many in government power today, Daniels said, "but it has certainly not been abandoned by a successor in the White House." He noted that the time elapsed since Roosevelt's death "equals the 12 years in which he embodied the leadership which transformed America."

MEMO TO CAESAR

The Sanhedrin Hears a Case

(Another in a Lenten Series)

The officer Caiaphas was of very high rank in the hierarchy of the temple of these people (Junius' notes continued) and it was he who questioned the Nazarene.

He asked him about his followers and his doctrine.

Jesus replied that he had always preached openly and had been heard by many in the temple. He averred that he had said nothing in secret.

"Ask them which heard me, what I have said unto them. They know what I have said."

This angered one of the guards so that he struck the Nazarene, ordering him to speak civilly to the officer.

The crowd seemed to think this was very funny. They moved closer to the prisoner and one of the men slipped a blindfold on him. While the guard stood by, several of the spectators took turns slapping Jesus and saying mockingly: "Now prophesy. Who smote thee?"

After several minutes of this cruel sport, the officers ordered them all to stop.

"Look," he said, "daylight has come. Call together the members of the council and we will try this man in the council chamber."

Now mumbling, now laughing, now yelling, the rabble followed Jesus and the guard to the outer court of the temple where the council, known as the Sanhedrin, quickly assembled.

★ ★ ★

Tension gripped everyone and the crowd kept muttering all during the questioning. At each reply Jesus made, the spectators would nod, or laugh, or hiss. The questioning went like this, as closely as I can recall it:

Q. Art thou the messiah?
A. If I tell you, ye will not believe.
Q. Art thou the Son of God?
A. Ye say that I am.

With this, the members of the council put their heads together and presently announced that no further witnesess would be called.

They said they had heard enough to convict the man and would take the case to Pilate.

Grady Lee Miller, 33, of 10237 Alton Ct., Ferndale, stood mute yesterday and demanded examination when he was arraigned, charged with shooting a Pontiac State Hospital attendant Thursday on the hospital grounds.

Municipal Judge Maurice E. Finnegan entered an innocent plea for Miller and trial was set for May 1. The accused was returned to the Oakland County Jail after he failed to furnish a $300 bond.

His victim, Preston Bell, 25, of 15460 Winder St., Detroit, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Pontiac General Hospital today.

The doctors said it was not necessary to insert a new tube and that there was no inflammation of the colon.

City Woman May Be Freed

Police Lack Evidence; Shooting Regarded as Self-Defense

Unless Pontiac Police furnish sufficient evidence by Sunday night against Mrs. Mary Willie Burton, held for investigation in the fatal Thursday shooting of her alleged ex-boy friend, the woman will be released from custody Monday, George F. Taylor, chief assistant prosecutor said today.

Taylor said police are checking "rumors" although he felt that all of the "testimony heard showed the shooting was in self-defense."

The victim, who died in Pontiac General Hospital Thursday of chest and abdominal wounds, five hours after the shooting, was Dave Bowman, 34, of 40 Bagley St.

ANN ARBOR (AP) — City bus service, missing a week in this university city of 48,251, is scheduled to be resumed Monday.

Ann Arbor Transit, Inc., said it had acquired 12 buses from Detroit's Department of Street Railways and would start service Monday, after non-passenger trial runs for timing and scheduling today and tomorrow.

The firm said first service would be "limited," but did not go into detail.

Greyhound withdrew its Ann Abor city bus service last week, saying it had been losing money in the operation.

Ann Arbor Transit, Inc., organized since, worked out a scheme with city council, whereby the the company will buy buses, lease them to the city and in turn be hired by the city to operate them.

Specialized in Holdups

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The town of New Scotland is looking for someone to replace James W. Dunn on its planning commission. Dunn was arrested in Washington D.C., where police said, his plans included the holdup of three taxicab drivers. He had succeeded in robbing two.

Hungary Invites Dag to Budapest

But Secretary General Probably Won't Accept Belated Offer

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Communist Hungary finally has given Dag Hammarskjold a clear-cut invitation to visit Budapest, but the U.N. secretary general is not expected to accept.

Hammarskjold made strong gestures for such an invitation last November after Soviet tanks smashed Hungary's anti-Communist rebellion. He was repeatedly put off by Hungary's Red authorities.

Observers said at this late date, the invitation would do little to achieve Hammarskjold's original purpose—determine just what role Soviet arms played in putting down the revolt.

★ ★ ★

Hungarian delegate Peter Mod visited Hammarskjold here yesterday and made the offer.

Asked whether Hammarskjold planned to visit Budapest, a U.N. spokesman replied only, "his plans have been fixed for some time."

Last Nov. 4, while Soviet forces were putting down the rebellion Hungary refused to let any observers in. On Nov. 21, Hammarskjold offered to go to Budapest himself. Two weeks later, Foreign Minister Imre Horvath told the Assembly he was ready to discuss a date and arrangements for such a visit. But when Hammarskjold said he could get to Budapest Dec. 16, Budapest Radio declared this date would not be convenient for Hungary.

Hammarskjold then said that if his visit could not take place then, "It may be questioned whether it would be to the purpose."

Scouts Pitch In to Help Clean Up Parks in City

Early today it was a question for 175 Boy, Sea, and Explorer Scouts whether to take shovels or rakes for their annual cleanup of city parks.

Regardless of the weather, the scouts pitched in and cleaned up debris collected during the winter at Beaudette, Oakland, Murphy, Jaycee, and Hawthorne Parks.

Their work today from 9 a.m. until noon brought praise from William Aho, parks supervisor for the Parks and Recreation Dept. "These kids all did a marvelous job. Remember they volunteered their Saturday to do the work," he said.

All the scouts were members of Pontiac District Clinton Valley Council No. 276. Boy Scout Troops participating in the cleanup were 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 15, 17, 20, 26, 27, 28, 29, 51, 53, 56, 64, 66, 67, 150, and 244. Sea Scout Ship 5 and Explorer Posts 56, 64, and 66 were represented also.

Trial of Prosecutor Nears Conclusion

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The trial of embattled Portland Dist. Atty. William Langley, accused of deliberate failure to prosecute gamblers, draws toward its conclusion today.

If convicted of the misdemeanor by the State Circuit Court Jury, the slim 41-year-old chief legal officer of Multnomah County would be removed from office and could be fined.

A verdict of innocent would be only the first step in Lngley's battle to clear his name. He also is under indictment on six other charges including the felonies of prejury and conspiring to take a bribe and to obstruct justice.

The Langley case is the first to come to trial in the year-long investigation of vice and charges of corruption in Portland. Some 30 others are under indictment on some 50 charges.

The Day in Birmingham

Million Dollar Investment Would Serve Third of Area

BIRMINGHAM — In his report this week on the 12 Town Drain, L. R. Gare, department of public works supervisor, told Birmingham officials that the million-plus investment the city will have in the drain will serve about one third of the total incorporated area.

When questioned on the possibility of building the city's own independent system, Gare said there would be little advantage. While the actual construction costs might be seen in a favorable light, Gare explained that "hidden" costs would come up to discredit the idea.

He cited the lines which would be needed to carry the flow to disposal . bound pipes, the possibility of the need to enlarge plants and other factors.

In the meantime, he pointed out, certain areas of the city suffer flood conditions because the sewers already in are not free to be used at full capacity.

This is particularly true of the southeastern section of the city, where catch basins are regulated to hold back surface drainage, resulting in flooded basements.

The situation comes from a state health department ruling limiting the use of combined sanitation and drainage sewers which now flow into the Royal Oak and Campbell drain district.

The 12 Town seems to be the only answer to the problem, Gare summarized, adding that the longer it is delayed, the higher the costs may rise as materials and labor become more expensive.

★ ★ ★

Throughout the city, Birmingham churches of all faiths are making special plans for the observance of Palm Sunday. As is customary, on this last Sunday of the Lenten season, choirs will play a prominent part in the services, along with the sacrament of communion, special classes of new members joining the churches and other traditional worship features.

In the First Baptist Church of Birmingham, Easter Day activities will begin at 7 a.m. when the young people of the church gather for their annual Sunrise service and breakfast. Service will be held at the Quarton Lake waterfalls, just off West Maple road.

Speaker will be Richard E. Konts, president of the Baptist Student Movement in Michigan. He is a ministerial sophomore at Kalamazoo College. Other young people of the group will read Scripture and offer prayer. Following the service the young people will have breakfast at the church.

For the first time in its history, the church will have two morning worship services on Easter Sunday. The first will be held at 9:30 a.m. and the other at 11 a.m. Dr. Emil Kontz, pastor, and Dr. Robert A. Macoskey, assistant pastor, will share in the conduct of these services.

Theme at the earlier service will be "Come and See!" and at the later one it will be "Dawn of a New Day." The sanctuary choir of the church will render "Christ Our Passover" by MacFarlane, under direction of Charles L. Holtz and with Mrs. Walter E. Turner at the organ.

The Easter evening service will be held at 7 and will include the administration of the ordinance of Biblical Baptism.

A public hearing on paving an alley from Hunter boulevard to Worth street has been set aside until April 22 at the request of two property owners. The Campbell Co. and the Greenfield-Mills Restaurant Co. told commissioners they would like to have time to formulate plans which may make the paving unnecessary.

A practice session is scheduled for 8 p.m. Tuesday when members of Pythian Sisters Temple 94 meet at the Community House. The group will attend the district convention in Pontiac the following day where they will present the Memorial Service.

Canadian Election Called for June 10

OTTAWA (AP) — Gov. Gen. Vincent Massey dissolved Parliament last night and called for election of a new House of Commons June 10.

The outcome will determine whether the Liberal party headed by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent will continue to govern Canada or will be replaced by the main opposition party, the Progressive Conservatives, headed by John Diefenbaker, will take over.

The Governor General signed three proclamations prepared by the Prime Minister and his cabinet. One dissolved Parliament, the second fixed the election date, and the third called for the new Parliament to meet Aug. 15.

At stake are the 265 seats in the House of Commons. The present house includes 168 Liberals and 50 Progressive Conservatives.

The last election was Aug. 10, 1953.

Ferndale Man Elected by Medical Association

Dr. Charles Burgess, of Ferndale, was elected secretary of the Northern Tri-State Medical Assn. at its 84th annual convention in Toledo.

Dr. R. A. Fargher, of LaPorte, Ind., was elected president; Dr. James E. Bailey, of Coldwater, first vice-president; and Dr. Donald Mason, of Angola, Ind., second vice-president.

Denies Raising Cash by Padding Budget

amount has never been exceeded and therefore the argument is unfounded.

The law, he continued, leaves what to do with surpluses up to the county and hence transferrals have not been illegal. Surpluses resulting through the years, he maintained, were the result of "prudent budgeting" and not a deliberate attempt to increase the building fund.

The league, however, contends these surpluses represent tax money which increased the annual amount put into the building fund over the .1 mill regularly assessed for construction purposes.

It is seeking a permanent injunction preventing supervisors from spending contested sums on a new building and forcing return of the money to taxpayers in the form of lower taxes.

Merritt called the first charge "very weak," pointing out the board is authorized by law to make such a site change within the county seat.

SECOND CHARGE

The second charge, he said, is based on the contention county employes living at their service center jobs were actually residents of the area and should have voted when the territory was annexed.

The disputed section lies between West boulevard and Telegraph road. It was annexed in 1954 through resolutions by Pontiac and Waterford Township.

By law, the courthouse, presently located at Huron and Saginaw streets, must be within the limits of the county seat.

★ ★ ★

Hearing of the case may be within two weeks, barring filing of further litigation by either side, Merritt said.

It is expected that an outside judge will be asked to hear the case, since the outcome directly affects the county's four circuit judges.

Man Against the Weather

New Weapons to Fight Hurricanes

(The Weather Bureau has developed many new devices which it hopes will make hurricane forecasting more accurate. These techniques are described in this last of a series on man's battle against the weather.)

BY FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Weather Bureau already is lining up new weapons for the autumn hurricane wars — and oiling up some others which were not completely tested in last year's comparatively mild season for the killer storms.

Bureau scientists say they expect to issue more specific advisories than in previous years, including the last big hurricane year of 1955. That year more than a billion dollars in damage and 1,500 deaths including 218 in the continental United States, were caused by a near-record 10 howlers from out of the tropical doldrums.

Bureau men are expecting to narrow down their warning to an average of 300 miles of coastal length, compared with about 500 average two years ago.

MONTH IN ADVANCE

Bureau scientists are even exploring the possibility of issuing a statement as much as a month in advance of the "general probability" of hurricanes affecting a particular coastal area.

Current research is based on promising experience during the last few years with 30-day outlooks for weather conditions in general. Up to now, these outlooks have not attempted to forecast hurricane possibilities.

The new weapons that definitely will be available this year might seem like puny armament against these huge revolving storms that pack winds up to 150 miles an hour and more, brew rainfalls up to 20 inches in 24 hours, and send destructive tides surging over coastal areas. But weather bureau men say they could help save lives.

MEASURE SPEED

The new gear consists of:

(1) Instruments for measuring wind speed and direction right at the water's edge — as distinguished from gadgets which record these items at stations located farther inland.

It has been found that a distance of 10 miles from the coast can make a difference of 30 miles an hour less in recorded wind speed, but that is only an apparent drop as respects the overall fury of the storm and therefore gives a false idea. Topography of the land accounts in part for such differences in readings.

The same is true of wind-direction recordings, with inland recordings sometimes giving a false idea of where the storm is going.

So a line of 90 new water-edge recorders will be installed this spring and summer all the way from Brownsville, Texas, to Portland, Me.

(2) A new system of remote-control tidal gauges will be installed at various points along the gulf and Atlantic coasts. They will provide a continuous record of water-level heights to weather forecasters at stations located some distance from the ocean's edge.

★ ★ ★

Betsy made a feint at the continental United States — serious enough to cause the issuance of a warning — but then veered away. The big radar at Nantucket — outpost for increasingly hurricane conscious New England — will be on the watch for the likes of her this year.

One Big Blaze of Color

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Colorful was the way firemen described a $40,000 fire at the Glidden Co. paint center. Some of the fire fighters came away from the blaze yesterday with blue faces, shocking-pink boots and coats of many colors, after paint cans exploded.

TROPHIES TO WIN

Boys, and girls, are driving obstacle courses to win a trophy in the annual Teen-Age Rod-e-o contest.

Every day of our lives we drive an obstacle course — cup of kindness, handshake of goodfellowship, smile of neighborliness, cheery word, helping hand, honesty with ourselves and those around us. We miss by a wide margin the markers of lying, cheating, brutality, and such obvious things. The little markers, mighty important are labeled, "Promising a child one thing and forgetting it. Saying one thing and doing something else, and selfish disregard of the rights of others."

Tomorrow morning set up the obstacles to be avoided that day. Add one, or two, the next day until you master the course. The Trophy is spiritual peace.

Government Asks Delay on Water Diversion Bill

The State Department finally has gotten around to asking that action on the Lake Michigan diversion bill be held up until completion of talks between the U. S. and Canada.

Army engineers say that withdrawal of another 1,000 cubic feet per second for Chicago ultimately would lower levels of Lakes Michigan and Huron by one inch. This would be added to the steady decline in lake levels which has totaled three feet since 1952.

A one inch drop, says Senator Potter of Michigan, an opponent of the bill, calls for lighter bulk carrier loads and a loss of 300,000 tons in shipping capacity worth $240,000 annually.

★ ★ ★

Army engineers claim that diversion would mean a loss to this country's existing and proposed power plants of 148 million kilowatt hours in a three year period. The loss to Canada would be twice as much. Although the U. S. loss would be only one per cent of the total power, if the Chicago diversion becomes permanent it would amount to $708,000 annually.

★ ★ ★

The St. Lawrence seaway with its power dams is a mutual project of the U. S. and Canada. Certainly joint discussions should be held concerning Chicago's long fight for more lake water.

United Nations Agency Stamps Out Epidemics

A special issue of the Chronicle of the World Health Organization (WHO) tells the story of disease control during the past few years.

In 1903 the first international co-operation to deal with epidemics was established. But it was not until 1951 after WHO was charged with the job, that effective co-operation became a reality.

This organization keeps a sharp lookout for epidemics and acts immediately to reduce their spread without unnecessarily restricting commerce and travel. About 7,000 health reports from 170 countries reach WHO each year. Information is broadcast daily in English and French from radio stations in Geneva, Washington, Singapore and Alexandria.

Individual countries enforce their own quarantine laws, which must conform to the international sanitary code. Since its adoption in 1952 there have been no pestilential epidemics caused by international travel.

★ ★ ★

Cholera has disappeared outside of India and Pakistan and there since 1950 the deaths caused by this plague have been reduced by 85 per cent. Yellow fever is being controlled over large areas due to mosquito eradication and vaccination. Typhus, relapsing fever and smallpox are on the way out everywhere and no longer dangerous from the point of view of international travel.

★ ★ ★

"As countries improve their sanitary conditions and succeed in combatting communicable diseases, quarantine lessens in importance," says the WHO report.

This is a most encouraging result of international co-operation and the educational message carried by the health organization of the United Nations.

India's Communist State

As the result of a hairline majority in the recent election to the state legislature of Kerala, India, a Communist administration is scheduled to take over in mid-April.

In the other 13 Indian states which elected legislatures, the Reds got less than one-fifth of the number of seats in each state won by the Congress Party of Prime Minister Nehru. The Communists have less than 10 per cent in the national parliament compared with 75 per cent for the Congress Party.

Lying along the southwest coast, Kerala is the smallest of the Indian states, has the highest literacy rate and the worst economic conditions. The vote there may be a protest against the recent reorganization of the state's boundaries on a language basis. Part of the former State of Travancore-Cochin, now Kerala, was ceded to Madras.

The constitution of India reserves to the central government all powers not expressly vested in the states. The Nehru government, therefore, has the power to restrain the new Kerala regime if it acts in a manner not to the best interests of India.

Prime Minister Nehru in the past has dealt harshly with India's own Communists while talking softly to Moscow and Peiping. It remains to be seen if Kerala's state legislature will cooperate with the central government or seek to embarrass Mr. Nehru.

The People's Business:

Top Republican

Sensitive Job Occupied by Speaker Van Peursem

By ROGER LANE

LANSING—As was somewhat belatedly pointed out this week, the spotlight in Republican affairs inevitably is going to play increasingly on House Speaker George M. Van Peursem, regardless of who likes it and who does not.

★ ★ ★

This was assured by the spring election sweep of Democrats that captured for them the state's top road-building and school supervision offices, and recognized by Freshman Republican legislators who called for a reappraisal of their party.

Whatever their colleagues thought of other things said by the 16 GOP first-termers in the House. There was no disputing the observation that Speaker Van Peursem "is now the highest elective Republican office holder in the State."

Van Peursem shares some of the assets and handicaps of his better-known opposite number in the other legislative branch, Lt. Gov. Philip A. Hart, presiding officer in the Senate—although, of course, Hart is a Democrat.

Both are young—politically speaking—ambitious men with attractive personalities. They are attorneys and they are articulate. Hart, at 45, is just eight days Van Peursem's senior. Both appear to have inviting political futures.

LIMITED FACILITIES

And both are handicapped in the strictly limited facilities placed at their disposal by the government to discharge their functions as they see them.

★ ★ ★

Because of the accident of wealth, Hart is in a better position to overcome his disadvantage.

The demands on Van Peursem because of the position he occupies in his party already are rather heavy, and certain to increase, particularly in the preaching of the Republican gospel.

Some of his colleagues want him, when the Legislature adjourns, to spend a good deal of time touring the state to spread the Republican doctrine and help arouse party enthusiasm in local groups.

But he has a living to earn and this won't be easy. Van Peursem's salary as a legislator, including expense money, is only $5,000 a year, like Hart's. However, Hart gets an additional $3,500 for serving on the State Administrative Board

ONE SECRETARY.

Both presidng officers are limited to a single secretarial employe at state expense. Hart's staff has been supplemented recently by an administrative assistant hired out of his own pocket, plus some part-time volunteer help.

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

This week, Holy Week, spells out in detail the Passion of Jesus and the event immediately preceding it. Each day has its own special place in the sequence.

Sunday, called Palm Sunday, is the day on which the Lord arrived in Jerusalem to face what He knew was to be the inevitable outcome. A large crowd greeted Him as He entered the city, and spread palm branches in the street for Him to ride over. Hence the name Palm Sunday.

* * *

Monday — Today He cleansed the Temple, driving out the money-changers and "those that bought and sold therein." On this day, too, He pronounced His withering judgment on a barren fig tree, comparing it by implication to the sterile Jewish church (St. Matthew, chapter 21, verse 19). The chief priests and scribes gathered to discuss how they might kill this troublemaker.

Tuesday — This was the last day of His public ministry. He taught for a while in the Temple, and then stood with His disciples on the Mount of Olives, overlooking Jerusalem and predicting (St. Matthew, chapter 24, verse 2) the complete destruction of that holy city. (It was razed to the ground some 40 years later.)

* * *

Wednesday, sometimes called Spy Wednesday. It was on this day Judas made his deal with the ecclesiastical authorities. For 30 pieces of silver (probably about $15) he agreed to lead them to a place where Jesus could be arrested in privacy, without danger of partisan interference.

Thursday, known as Maundy Thursday, from the Latin "mandati," meaning "commandment." On the evening of this day Jesus ate the Passover meal with His disciples and by His own new interpretations turned it into the Christian sacrament of Holy Communion. It was at this time He said, "This is my commandment, that ye love one another as I have loved you" (St. John, chapter 15, verse 12.)

* * *

Friday, called Good Friday (probably originally God's) Friday. This is the dreadful day of the Crucifixion, the Friday which has surrounded all Fridays ever since with superstitions, taboos and fears, and made Friday the unlucky day of the week.

* * *

Saturday, also called Holy Saturday or Easter Even. This is the quiet day after the heart-breaking tragedy. The Lord's body lies in the Tomb, where it had been hurriedly placed on Friday afternoon just before the beginning of the Sabbath at sundown. Christian doctrine states (see Apostles Creed) that during this interim He descended into Hell, literally Hades — the place of departed spirits.

Lent ends at noon today.

OLDEST JEWISH FESTIVAL

The Jewish Passover, oldest of Jewish festivals, begins Tuesday, on the 14th of Nisan. In Palestine and among Reformed Jews it is a seven-day observance; for all others it lasts eight days.

This ancient festival now commemorates the deliverance of the Israelites from slavery in Egypt, but it is much older than the event it now celebrates.

In fact, the Jews in Egypt were keeping the spring feast of Pesach at the very time when the angel of death slew the first-born in every Egyptian home but "passed over" the Jewish homes because their doors were marked with the blood of the lamb the family had killed for the already traditional ceremonial meal. (Read Exodus, chapter 12.)

Whatever changes there have been in the 3,000-year history of this festival, one quality has remained to this day: It began as a family observance, and that is what it is now.

Tonight in Jewish homes throughout the world families will gather for the ritual meal, presided over by the father, with special prayers and songs, and foods related for centuries to this greatest and oldest of Jewish holidays.

"Is that a beanstalk?"

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

'Anna-wrecks-ya' a Real Puzzler

Answer — Probably anorexia—lack of appetite.

"My nails are so dry and brittle they break and split . . . (Mrs. B. W.)

Answer — Dieting? Don't. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks. And please remember the remedies suggested therein are not medicine. They are just the essentials of good nutrition. Use 'em the year around, as you do, say, meat and potato.

DR. BRADY

"Kindly send to the writer information as per yesterday's paper . . .(E. S.)"

Answer — What writer and when was yesterday?

"We sent for your pamphlet Calcium and Rheumatiz. In the eight weeks my husband has been supplementing his diet with calcium and D has improved steadily . . . (Mrs. M.P.L.)"

* * *

Answer — Thank you for not correcting my spelling. Your husband may get more helpful advice from the booklet Chronic Joint Disability for which send 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"We formerly lived in Elmira and our doctor there, ——, held you in high esteem. (R. C. H., South Carolina)"

Answer — Hush, Honey, you will ruin his reputation.

"Good luck with your golf. My husband loved to play golf but he never seems to have time for it or money . . . (Mrs. W. L.)"

* * *

Answer — I haven't either. But if ever I haven't time for bowling on the green — as inexpensive a game as man or woman can play — I'll quit this job. In fact I would have quit years ago but for the grand game of bowls. The game keeps me from taking my job or myself too seriously.

"I am as happy as my 16-year-old daughter is over the wonderful results from using the remedies suggested in your pamphlet for blackheads and pimples . . . (Mrs. S. W. R.)"

Answer — That makes it unanimous. On written request accompanied with stamped, self-addressed envelope I am happy to send the pamphlet on Acne — Blackheads and Pimples.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Discusses Clergymen's Influence

Dr. H. is what I call the "St. Paul of St. Petersburg," as millions of you readers can attest, for he has spoken to vast audiences for 25 years. Modern clergymen often have far greater influence than the prophets of old. And religious music now unites men of different races, so it is the ally of great moral leaders.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-354: Dr. H., aged 50, is a dynamo of moral fervor who has occupied a pulpit in St. Petersburg, Fla., the past 25 years.

CRANE

Recently his big parish decided to surprise him with a silver anniversary jubilee. And I was asked to fill the pulpit on Sunday morning in a new sanctuary seating 1,800 people.

It was beautifully decorated and had plush theater seats instead of the conventional pews.

And I pointed out the fact that modern priests, rabbis and clergymen are simply prophets such as Elijah and Jeremiah or Isaiah of old.

* * *

A man like Dr. H., who has three morning services all throughout the winter season, thus has spoken in 25 years to more people than inhabited all of Palestine at the time of Christ.

Indeed, the average clergymen in America probably speaks to far more people during his lifetime, than did Elijah or Samuel or any other prophet of ancient Israel.

And the radio or TV pastors, such as Bishop Sheen, Dr. Bonnell, Dr. Cavert, Dr. Preston Bradley, Dr. Sneed, Dr. John W. Holland, and similar religious titans of the other waves have congregations that reach the millions.

One of the wonders of the modern age is the fact that we can touch so many lives so quickly.

* * *

But that is a two-edged sword. For the forces of evil can purvey subversive merchandise which degrades mankind, and thus advertise wrong things before millions of boys and girls.

SCHOOL CHAPEL SPEECHES

On lecture tours I have always volunteered my services as a chapel speaker at the local high school or college, even though my main address is generally in the evening.

And since the jet plane crash last July that took the life of my oldest boy, I deliver such talks to teen-agers as psychological memorials to his memory.

Thus, Dr. H. took me over to speak to the 1,200 high school students.

I gave them my usual address entitled "Be a Good Ape," in which I urged them to imitate only the good traits of their heroes and heroines and not run amok regarding bad habits such as smoking and drinking.

* * *

Just because an occasional successful athlete or doctor or editor or business man is addicted to such nuisance habits, teenagers should not ape those same bad traits.

Before leaving the high school, Dr. H. urged me to visit the music room where Christine Baker was drilling a chorus of 80 voices.

They sang a couple of numbers superbly. Miss Baker is a live-wire, sparkling with energy and efficient leadership. She had perfect rapport.

The 80 voices followed her with the synchronization and harmony of a double play combination in baseball or a perfect Notre Dame football end run.

* * *

As a psychologist, I relish this interplay of personalities between a vivacious leader and a dynamic responding team, as much as the sheer harmony of the music itself.

And I reminded the chorus that they would probably draw richer dividends throughout later life on their music, than on math or geography or history.

"Music," said John Erskine, "is the only language in which you cannot say a mean or sarcastic thing."

That is very true. And music is the international language which, via church hymns, can bind Russians and Americans, Chinese and Hottentots together faster than any other medium.

* * *

If more people would vent their emotions via song or instrumental music, we'd have fewer peptic ulcers and spastic colons:

For music permits us to experience an emotional catharsis and thus reduce inner physiological tensions.

Music teachers deserve far more credit than they have thus far received!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

18-Year-Old Asks Reason Voting Privilege Is Denied

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Why, if we can get married, raise a family, own a home that we pay taxes on, serve in the Armed Forces, can't we vote?

I graduate from high school with a B plus average. I try my best to be a good citizen, but because I'm only 18 I can't vote. Those who sit home election days and then complain of the way the government is run should hang their heads in shame. They had their chance. That's more than we have. One of the reasons the Revolutionary War was fought was to expel taxation without representation.

Georgia has shown that young people are qualified to vote. Why doesn't Michigan follow the lead and lower voting age to 18?

'Anthropologist Misses Fact'

I read that Margaret Mead thinks that American men are becoming too family conscious for their own good. Anthropologist though she is, she seems to have overlooked something. I don't believe in turning husbands into milksops, but it's a fact that when a father takes as much interest in his children as a mother does, the young-uns have twice as good a chance of turning out right.

'North Is Great; South Fine, Too'

About "Hillbilly" going back to wonderful south, but I still feel Northerners have no right to act as if they are better than a Southerner. This is America and it is supposed to be free with equal rights to live where we please.

Post Office Men Deserve Day Off

People are complaining about the mail closing down on Saturday. Don't post office men have a right to Saturday off? They don't get paid for it anyway.

I and a lot of others wish there were a way to get rid of this junk mail. That's where the post office is losing money. I think this whole business is leading up to a raise for postmen. They should be entitled to it. Can't we help them get the raise? They need it.

'Ex-GI Pensions Should Be Kept'

I just read a letter by "Upper Bracket Taxpayer," and it made me mad to think he would want the pension of ex-GI's cut. If he could see how they have to suffer with their wounds, he wouldn't think of cutting them out. I know, because I'm the wife of a wounded ex-GI.

Resident Wants Stop Signs Again

I've lived on a corner with yield signs and there have been three bad accidents there, no telling how many more to come. A lot of people pay no attention to yield signs. I cringe every time I see a car sail across the intersection without even slowing down. With a school so close, it seems we could have the stop signs put back. Why not take a second longer to come to a complete stop and save lives?

Pleased to See Ike Cut Speed

The curent President has been speeding. Practically all the rest did, too. Remember they're driven by "official" protectors. I see Eisenhower says he "won't do it any more." Good. Even President U. S. Grant scared his followers by speeding madly down Pennsylvania avenue many, many times. (He drove a very fast horse and he drove it very fast.)

Confident Living

Schweitzer, Laubach Give Challenge to 'Follow Me'

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

A few years ago, the young heir to a large part of the Mellon millions left the fashionable suburbs of Pittsburgh to enter medical school. Today this young doctor and his wife are in the hot and dusty interior of Haiti, working among the sick natives in a hospital which their money has built. They have named this hospital after the man who inspired them, Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

DR. PEALE

One of the most popular speakers on American lecture platforms this season is a charming woman who once was a famous Hollywood hostess and somehow found her way to an African jungle settlement where she works half the year as an assistant to the medical missionary at his hospital there. She spends the other half of her year lecturing, and the money she is paid goes to support that hospital. She, too, has been inspired by Dr. Schweitzer, and it is his own hospital for which she works.

A famous American economist and business forecaster was inspired to make a bust of Dr. Schweitzer. Although he is only an amateur sculptor, his bust is good enough to have found a place in the Smithsonian Institute, and reproductions of it have been sold by the thousands to raise funds for Dr. Schweitzer's work.

★ ★ ★

Who is this amazing man who has inspired people to this extent? What has he done? What does he have?

3 CAREERS

Albert Schweitzer is a man who has followed three careers — religious scholar, musician and medical missionary. In each of these he has achieved world fame — as a student of the life of Jesus, as an organist-interpreter of the music of Bach, and as the founder of the hospital at Lambarene in Africa.

★ ★ ★

A recent book by Dr. Marcus Bach of the University of Iowa entitled, "The Circle of Faith," attempts to explain Dr. Schweitzer's secret and that of the other great religious leaders of all faiths in our time. And this is how he does it: "I once asked a priest," Dr. Bach writes, "to tell me the secret of the strength of Fulton Sheen. 'That's easy,' he replied. 'It is all a matter of the disposition he has made of Jesus'."

Then Dr. Bach goes on to apply this secret to the lives of not only Dr. Schweitzer, but also Pope Pius XII, the late Peter Marshall, Frank Laubach and many others.

'FOLLOW ME'

To the question of what motivates great spiritual leaders, it seems best stated in the simple words of Jesus, "follow me." For two thousand years some very wonderful men and women have heard these words in their hearts and have indeed followed Him.

The paths by which they followed may have been different, but their objectives have been the same — to glorify God and to work His will in the world by helping and serving people.

This next week, known as Holy Week throughout the world, commemorates the last days in the earthly life of Jesus and millions will meditate upon His sacrifice. It is heartening to know that there are increasing numbers of men and women who follow in His steps, the steps of love for their fellow men, willingness to sacrifice themselves for the world's redemption, and faith in the goodness of the one God we all worship.

Scale-Model Ships to Sail James River

NORFOLK, Va. — Full-scale reproductions of the three little vessels which brought America's founding fathers to Jamestown have been christened here, in ceremonies full of Seventeenth Century pageantry.

Product of many years of research, the ships were constructed with the materials and methods of Elizabethan shipbuilding. Instead of nails or screws, the vessels are fastened together with wooden trunnels ("tree-nails").

They will be manned by Norfolk area yachtsmen dressed as Seventeenth Century seadogs. The ships will be sailed from Jamestown on short cruises and will be moored in the James River, to form a permanent part of the Jamestown Restoration.

By a vote of 280 to 270, the French Assembly is putting on its agenda a proposal to end state aid to church schools. Five previous unsuccessful efforts have been made to have the proposal debated in Parliament.

Church Faces Great Challenge

Must Give Opportunity to Older Citizens for Pleasure, Service

EAST LANSING—Churches face a great opportunity and challenge to develop programs for the older members.

That observation was voiced by Carl Hanson, of Muskegon, after presiding at a Michigan State University workshop on "Undiscovered Resources of Retirement."

The workshop was part of the annual Methodist Men's Conference, which drew more than 900 men.

The retired men and women in the community must find opportunities in the church to belong and contribute their abilities, Mr. Hanson contended.

There must be opportunities for dramatic groups, toy-repair projects, quilting bees, leadership-training activities, hobby clubs, etc.

★ ★ ★

In addition to the church assuming its own responsibility, Mr. Hanson challenged the churches to take the leadership in the new community efforts to serve the retired residents.

Church should make available its staff, facilities and programs to help make the later years rich and full, he said.

Examples of such activities were cited at the conference, and the various church officials predicted that efforts and activities in this field would increase greatly in the coming years.

Church Seminar Gives Challenge

Ministers, Lay Leaders Urged to Active Work in Cause of Peace

EAST LANSING — Two-hundred-and-fifty Michigan ministers and church lay leaders have returned to their home communities, challenged to work more energetically for world peace.

"Churches must develop and conduct programs aimed at world peace," declared Rev. Harold A. Bosley, Evanston, Ill., in his address to the "Michigan Churchmen's Seminar on World and State Affairs," at Michigan State University.

"World affairs must be the concern of the Christian church today—we cannot seek peace any longer by leaning on the broken stick of war," he said.

Rev. Bosley urged the ministers and church leaders to be informed on world affairs and to work proudly in positive programs for peace.

He reported that a recent survey showed that most churches have no committee work or activities in this field.

The event was sponsored at Kellogg Center by the Lansing and Michigan Councils of Churches and the MSU Committee on Church-Related Programs.

British Heritage Will Be Theme at Jamestown

LONDON — A joint Anglo-American exhibition, "The British Heritage," is being produced in England by the British Government, for display at the 1957 James-town Festival.

Britain's display, to be in three sections, will deal with the background of American colonization, the influence of the British legacy on the American way of life, and an exposition of British policy, demonstrating the development of the Commonwealth to the present day.

Culminating feature of the exhibition is a display symbolizing the milestones in the history of freedom on both sides of the Atlantic.

It will include the Magna Carta, as well as the town crier's bell presented to Sir Winston Churchill in December, 1955, by the trustees of Colonial Williamsburg Inc.

Methodists Dedicate Algiers Girls' Hostel

ALGIERS — In the midst of the political and social turmoil in French North Africa, the Woman's Division of Christian Service of the Methodist Board of Missions has dedicated a new girls' hostel — "in the calm assurance that North Africa needs Christ more than ever, and more than anything else."

Bishop Ferdinand Sigg, of Switzerland, visited the property in 1955. The work there had been closed for lack of missionaries, and every effort was being made to sell the property.

When Bishop Sigg saw the plaque on the gate, he said. "But you can't sell this! It has been dedicated to the glory of God!"

And so more than ayear later the old house, remodeled but still filled with memories and echoes of 40 years of service, was consecrated as a Christian hostel for young Arab and Kabyle girls working or studying in Algiers.

Christian Leader Wins High Post in Japanese Diet

A long-time Japanese Christian leader and legislator, who is a graduate of an American Methodist University, has been appointed chairman of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the Upper House of the Japanese Diet.

Juzo Sasamori was named to the key legislative post by the president of the Upper House. A Liberal Democrat, he was for a year (1946-47) state minister without portfolio in the cabinet of former Premier Tetsu Katayama.

Baptied a Christian while attending a mission school, Mr. Sasamori attended Waseda University and did graduate work at the University of Denver. He entered the field of Christian higher education and for a time was president of Aoyama Gakuin, Methodist Christian college of 9,500 students in Tokyo.

Since becoming a legislator, Mr. Sasamori has served as honorary president of To-o Gijuki, a Christian high school in Hirosaki, and as a director of the Japan International Christian University in Tokyo.

Near East Will Hear Protestant Programs

NEW YORK — Plans for construction in the Near East of a mighty 100,000 - watt radio transmitter, as powerful as any in the area, were anounced today by the National Council of Churches.

The new short-wave giant will be built at a cost of $250,000 and to be supported by cooperating Protestant foreign missions boards. It will beam programs in to virtually the whole Arabic-speaking world, said Dr. W. Burton Martin, executive head of RAVEMCCO, broadcasting unit of the National Council's Division of Foreign Missions.

Its voice will be heard in far-away Indonesia and South Africa, as well as in the Near and Middle East, he declared. Its programs will be educational and cultural as well as religious.

About 2,000 Methodists across the United States will study the home and overseas missions program of their own and other Protestant denominations in nine missionary conferences this summer.

Sunday Closing Urged on Stores

Mount Clemens Council of Churches Leads Off; Catholics Also Protest

MOUNT CLEMENS (UP) — The Mount Clemens Council of Churches expressed "deep concern" today at the increasing number of stores open for business on Sunday.

It appealed to those merchants to "reconsider their decision" in the best interest of the community.

Seven clergymen signed the council statement, representing the First Methodist, First Presbyterian, Grace Episcopal, Gilbert Memorial Baptist, Zion Evangelical and Reformed and American Lutheran Churches and the Salvation Army Citadel.

At the same time the Michigan Catholic, official publication of the Detroit Archdiocese, commented editorially that the drive "to stop all unnecessary buying and selling on Sunday" has gained momentum.

It referred to a letter from Edward Cardinal Mooney, read in all Catholic pulpits two weeks ago, instructing church members not to patronize stores which open on Sunday.

The newspaper urged a campaign to stay away from all such stores, saying: "to stop Sunday shopping, stop shopping."

Pastor to Confirm 24 Children Sunday

Mrs. James Forman will direct the Children's Choir in "Loud Hosanna."

Wallace Turner will assist the pastor at the altar at the 9 a.m. service. He is the first young man from Grace Lutheran to study for the ministry. Currently there are eight students from the church in Lutheran Theological schools.

Church Worker Attacks Nation's Rural Slums

The "shame of rural shanty towns," where migrant workers live in shacks made of boards and flattened oil cans, with no water, gas, electricity or garbage disposal facilities was described at a meeting last week of church leaders.

Speaking before a group of state, regional and area directors of the year - round program of the churches' ministry to migrants, Miss Edith E. Lowry warned that such settlements are creating "rural slums." Miss Lowry is national director of the migrant ministry conducted by many communions in partnership with the Division of Home Missions of the National Council of Churches.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures; he leadeth me beside the still waters.

Marimont Baptists to Dedicate New Addition Sunday

Dr. H. H. Savage of the First Baptist Church will speak at 3 p.m. Sunday at the service of dedication for the new addition to Marimont Baptist Church.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Tom Malone of Emmanuel Baptist Church and a former pastor, will give the Scripture reading and the Rev. Ralph Montague will offer the invocation.

Built of brick, the addition houses the main auditorium, the choir loft and two overflow rooms with a total seating capacity of 600.

The walls are a rose beige with mauve draperies at the windows and a beige tile floor covering. The pews of oak are finished in wheat with coral plastic seats.

The nursery is done in pastels. A registered nurse is with the children during church services. All of the windows are faintly tinged with pink. The vestibule double doors are aluminum.

The basement auditorium has a banquet seating of 225 persons. More than 5,000 feet of wire were used in the building and 1200 feet of conduit pipe.

The church is heated with an oil fire hot water furnace.

Besides the banquet room used also as an assembly room, there is a youth room, kitchen, two glass rooms, rest rooms and several class rooms.

The pastor's study, nursery, conference room and church office is on the first floor with the sanctuary.

Marimont Baptist has a membership of 250 and a Sunday School attendance of nearly 375 with Robert Gavette, superintendent.

The missionary budget of $9,500 supports several missionaries and partially takes care of others.

A week of dedicatory services will begin Monday when Sunday School Open House will be held for friends and parents from 7 to 9 p.m.

From Tuesday night continuing through Easter, the Rev. and Mrs. Lester C. Place, evangelists from Spring City, Pa., will conduct a series of meetings at 7:30 each evening.

They not only preach but play the piano, saxaphone, marimba and musical bells which will be heard at the programs.

At 3 o'clock Easter Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Place will present a sacred concert.

Institute to Offer Pastors Training for Parish Duties

An interdenominational Institute for Advanced Pastoral Studies, designed to fill the post-ordination training needs of the clergy, has been established at Bloomfield Hills, under the auspices of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Reuel L. Howe, S. T. D professor of pastoral theology at the Protestant Episcopal Seminary in Virginia for the past thirteen years, has accepted appointment as director of the newly-founded Institute.

Conceived and planned jointly by members of the clergy and the laity, the Institute will be operated as an experimental pilot project.

Its services will be offered to ministers of all denominations who have been ordained for five years or more.

★ ★ ★

Its curriculum will be centered on the study of pastoral theology, with special emphasis in the various aspects of pastoral care, parish administration, adult education and community relations.

SHARE KNOWLEDGE

The Institute's program of "learning-through-sharing" will be based on the actual experiences of the clergy.

Through the case study system and similar methods, students will be afforded an opportunity to share the knowledge acquired by themselves and their colleagues in the practice of their profession.

The Institute will operate at Bloomfield Hills in collaboration with Christ Church Cranbrook.

REV. R. L. HOWE S. T. D.

★ ★ ★

Children's Choir to Sing Sunday at St. Luke's

The Chancel Choir, composed of children, will sing Sunday at the 8:45 morning service in St. Luke's Methodist Church. At 11:15 a.m. children and infants will be baptized and music will be furnished by the Sanctuary Choir.

The pastor, the Rev. Kenneth Stephens, will preach on "Life and Death" at both services.

On Maundy Thursday, a Candlelight Service of Holy Communion will be observed at 7:30 p.m., preceded by a fellowship dinner at 6:30.

The Sanctuary Choir will provide the music for this traditional service.

Included in the selections will be the German chorale, "O Sacred Head, Now Wounded," an arrangement of two 16th Century hymn tunes taken from Est's Psalter, and the familiar "Tis Midnight."

Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.

Singers Warmly Received

Spirituals Get Big Hand at Waterford

Vocal Music Concert by Continental-Aires Last in Series

By MARY LOUISE LINDQUIST

An enthusiastic audience received the Continental-Aires, a seasoned and highly trained male vocal quartet, at the final concert of the season of the Waterford Township Civic Music series last night in Isaac Crary Junior High School auditorium.

The varied program provided the listeners with unforgetable renditions of the unusual arrangements of art songs, Negro spirituals and work songs.

The opening number was a most appropriate choral salutation entitled, "Brothers, Sing On!" written by Edward Grieg. This was followed by an arrangement by Deems Taylor of "May Day Carol," which showed the lyrical and melodious qualities of the voices.

Spontaneous applause followed the singing of the traditional Negro spirituals, "Deep River" and "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot," which were sung with deep feeling and conviction.

BLEND IN HARMONY

The singing of the chorale-styled prayer, "Spirit of the Living God," especially demanded blend of voices and a common feeling for the text.

Seventeenth and eighteenth century classics were represented by a song in Italian, French and German.

PHS Teacher to Direct State Chorus

An announcement has been made from the University of Michigan School of Music that George H. Putnam will conduct the 22nd All-State Chorus at the National Music Camp, Interlochen, Aug. 5 through 18.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Putnam is director of vocal music at Pontiac High School.

Each summer for the past 21 years the university has provided an opportunity for talented school musicians to study for two weeks at the National Music Camp at Interlochen.

This year this service has been broadened to include an Intermediate Orchestra, and will for the second time provide a program for students whose major interest is in drama and speech, as well as music.

The purpose of the all-state program is (a) to provide a laboratory for representative students from all schools in the state to pursue an intensive course of study, in which individual and group instruction and organization are emphasized; (b) to achieve maximum development and unrestricted advancement on the part of the individual, so that he may be able to transmit his gainful experiences to others when he returns to his local school.

Last year about 70 per cent of the students who attended were sent on scholarships supplied by local schools or clubs. This practice is growing, and it is doing much to raise the standards of music throughout the state.

The All-State Chorus will present two concerts—Aug. 11 and Aug. 18.

She Finds Career in Wastebasket

By ANNE HEYWOOD

If Martha J. didn't have a sister who was an unsuccessful writer, she probably wouldn't have a successful home business today.

At any rate, she wouldn't have the business she has—although a woman as self-reliant as Martha, and with as much imagination, would no doubt wind up doing something spectacular anyway.

"I think it really began when I visited my sister two years ago," Martha told me. "She's a little older than I and her two children are already married.

"From the time she was in high school, she has wanted to be a writer. She tried, off and on through the years, but there were always so many other things to do—the housework and caring for the children—to take up her time.

"But Sis insisted that when the children were grown, she would seriously get down to writing.

"I guess it often happens that way,' Martha continued. "Sis just plugged away at it, year after year, for almost four years, and nothing happened. Nothing, that is, but stacks of rejection slips.

"I was really worried about her, but you know how it is with would-be writers—they're so determined!

"While I was visiting her, a whole batch of manuscripts came back. Sis quietly ripped up the rejection slips and stuck them in the wastebasket.

" 'Someday,' she said, 'I'm going to cover a wastebasket with them and varnish it.'

"I looked at her wastebasket. It was a standard type of painted tin and, I thought, quite ugly. Then I began to think how ugly most wastebaskets are.

"Either they are made of expensive leather, quite dull and conservative, or they are plain painted ones with no personality. Why couldn't wastebaskets be attractive and really personalized, too?

"I don't mean covered with rejection slips—that's silly. But why couldn't the decoration on them have some meaning?

"That was the beginning," Martha concludes. "I began working with the paints and stencils and came up with some awfully good ideas. Now I have a real workshop and sell my wastebaskets through several stores.

"I tried to get Sis to join me. I said she could write the ads for our local paper, and the price lists, and help with the office and sales work. But not Sis! She still insists that if she keeps at it, she'll sell a story yet!"

If you'd like to market a home product, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope, care of The Pontiac Press, and I'll send you my pamphlet on the subject.

Party Planned for Expectant Mother Who's in Hawaii

By EMILY POST

A reader writes as follows: "A friend of mine is expecting a baby this summer. Her husband is in the service and stationed in Hawaii, and she is there with him.

"I would like to give a stork shower for her as all her friends are here. What I would like to know is, should I, the hostess, open the gifts and show them to the guests, or should I send them to her unopened?"

Answer: You should open all the gifts so that her friends may see them. I think in this case it would be a good idea to ask the guests not to wrap their presents but to bring the wrapping with them and after everyone has seen the presents, each one could then wrap her own package and attach a card with her name on it. Then all the presents could be put in one large box and sent to the mother-to-be.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter's fiance is to be best man at his brother's wedding. There will be a breakfast immediately following for just the family and a large general reception later.

"My daughter has not been invited to the breakfast. She has, of course, been invited to the reception. We both feel that she should be considered one of the family and that she should have been invited to the breakfast too. Are we right about this?"

Answer: If the engagement has been announced, you are definitely right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I read in a magazine not long ago that when a boy and girl go to the movies together and the only available seats are in the middle of the row, it is proper for the boy to lead the way to the seats. Will you please tell me if this advice is correct?"

Answer: Whether their seats are on the aisle or in the middle of the row, she goes first and he then sits beside her.

Improve Posture, Use Massage to Remove Them

Stretch Your Neck to Avoid Lines

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

★ ★ ★

In the first place the way you hold your head has a terrific effect on the smoothness or lining of your neck. If you allow your neck to curve in at the back this will create lines at the back of your neck. If you habitually duck your chin in you will encourage lines in front of the neck.

Add to that sleeping on large pillows, and reading in bed with pillows under your head, looking down when you walk, allowing yourself to collapse at the neck when you sit, or slumping in a car when you drive — all of these will write their record on your poor neck.

So, posture is one of the first things to watch. Stretch your neck! Sometimes deep lines on the neck come from poor posture when one was a child or quite young.

Then, too, as a woman grows older the fatty deposits between the skin and muscles decrease and this may cause some sag and lessen firmness. If a woman is very much overweight she will have creases on her neck just as a fat baby does. Even after she loses her extra pounds the lines may remain.

Now — what can we do once we have these lines! First correct posture so that they will not continue to deepen. Use a backrest when you read in bed. That is better for your eyes, too. If you must sleep on a pillow use a small, compact one.

You can "iron out" these lines to some extent. In fact you can make great improvement. After cleansing the neck, massage an oily cream into it. Do this only ALONG the lines, using a rotary motion with your finger.

If you prefer an oil, heat it to a pleasant warmth before you massage it along the lines. You might leave one of these oils on all night. The oil works for you while you sleep and some almost completely disappear into the skin, leaving little if any grease.

If you would like to have my leaflet "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 10 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

The way you hold your head has a terrific effect on the smoothness or lining of your neck.

Malkim PTA Fetes Dads, Emerson Plans Banquet

"What America Means to Me" was the subject discussed by the speaker, who was born in Wales, and came to the United States 26 years ago.

Serving on the social committee were Mrs. Joseph Walters, Mrs. Ray Hartung, Mrs. Anthony Stadler, Mrs. Daniel Pintamo, Mrs. George Crisman, Mrs. Margaret Brown, Mrs. Virginia Maovens, Mrs. Hurles Pace, Mrs. Arthur Allen and Mrs. Ron Bailey. They were assisted by members of the school's Girl Scout troop.

EMERSON PTA

Joseph Zabelski, safety director for the American Automobile Association spoke at the recent evening meeting of Emerson School PTA. He told of the annual trip to Washington, D.C., to be made by the Safety Patrol boys and members of the Girls' Safety Squad.

Mr. Zabeleski introduced Elizabeth Barton, captain of the Girls Service Squad; Laurel McCurdy, lieutenant; David Bihl, captain of the Safety Patrol and Kenneth Henry, lieutenant of the patrol, who will make the trip.

Serving as cochairmen of the Mother and Daughter Banquet being held May 23 are Mrs. Warren Waldbillig and Mrs. Lloyd Clancy.

Following the business meeting members and guests viewed the science exhibit prepared by the students and teachers of the school.

The tiered silhouette divides the figure in half with fingertip tunic the line of demarcation. The pleated skirt gives a taller look.

The petite figure can wear the tiered silhouette but the pleated dress will elongate and make her seem slimmer. Tiered fullness is definitely not for overweight or for the tall, full figure. Both will find straight pleats becoming.

Hal March Answers Questions This Time

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"Hal, how much farther can the quiz shows go with prizes?"

HAL (with an amused smile as he sits at a back table): "The next step is to give away two human beings and start your own race."

"Do you think 'The $64,000 Question' can go on very long?"

HAL: "Certainly! It's a standard now and will go on as long as there are quiz shows. We dropped out of the first 10 for a while — but came back into the top three. You know these shows are done very reasonably."

"Reasonably? Those big cash prizes?"

HAL: "They cost spit. Anybody who wins $64,000 has been on several weeks and that averages very little."

HAL

★ ★ ★

"Hal, I'm supposed to ask you some $64,000 questions. You were once a fighter, weren't you?"

HAL (fingering his tieless collar on his sport shirt): "Yes. I had 25 fights as a kid and won 24. I quit when one guy beat me."

"Are you religious?"

★ ★ ★

HAL: "I was born Harold Mendelson in the Jewish faith, but I don't think you have to go to an edifice to worship. I'm not a joiner of any kind."

"Are you nervous on the program?"

"Do you think your own performance has much to do with the ratings?"

HAL (registering surprise): "Oh, no, it depends on the contestants. They have to have a pleasing personality. This 10-year-old kid, Robert Strom, is fantastic. Just listen to these offers he's had: A scholarship to M.I.T.—a publishing company wants to bring out a book entitled 'Robert Strom's First Experiments'—and a producer at MGM making a science fiction picture wants this kid to be his technical adviser!"

Billy Eckstine's miffed at Harry Belafonte; claims Harry never showed for an appointment . . . Victor Borge's one-man show is billed in London as "with the original Broadway cast" . . . Liz Taylor's Beverly Hills home went for a reported $150,000 . . . Lana Turner rented out her H'wood home; she'll make her next two films in Europe.

Navy to Launch New Atomic Sub

Announcement Follows by One Day Sailing of Nautilus for Trials

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy's third atomic-powered submarine, Skate, will be launched May 16 at Groton, Conn.

Mrs. Lewis L. Strauss, wife of the chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, will sponsor the ship.

The announcement followed by one day the sailing of the first atomic submarine Nautilus for sea trials on her second nuclear fueling. Nautilus cruised more than 60,000 miles, more than half of that distance submerged, on her initial charge.

The Nautilus returned to Groton in early March to have the first nuclear core in its atomic furnace removed and a refill inserted.

The Seawolf, which has a different type of heat transfer system from the Nautilus, recently joined the fleet. The Seawolf will be operated at somewhat less than full power while the Navy continues its studies of the liquid sodium heat transfer mechanisms to see whether difficulties can be overcome.

★ ★ ★

The keel of the Skate was laid July 21, 1955. Her atomic reactor is being built by the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

The Skate, like the Nautilus and Seawolf, is a product of the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp. at Groton.

The Navy said the Skate is a little smaller than the Nautilus and Seawolf because of improvements in nuclear power plants since the first two atomic submarines were designed. Both the Nautilus and Seawolf have two emergency diesel power plants whereas the Skate has only one.

Some 32,000 Britons made "no-passport" trips from English south coast resort to Boulogne, France, last summer, when the new trips were offered.

Solons Propose Election Change

Governor Would Select Supreme Court Justices From Nominees

LANSING (AP)—A new method of choosing state supreme court justices has been proposed in the Legislature.

From a panel of three names submitted by the commission, the governor would fill a court vacancy by appointment.

Once on the bench, a justice would be obliged to run against his record—that is, would go before voters on a proposition that either they should retain him in office, or retire him.

The first voter review would come at the first biennial spring election after he had completed 12 months' service. Subsequent appearances on the ballot would come at eight year intervals.

★ ★ ★

The seven member special nominating commission would consist of three lay members designated by the governor, three chosen by the state bar and one sitting supreme court justice.

★ ★ ★

Justices would be prohibited from taking part in politics, including contributing to a political party, or participating in any campaign —except for his own reelection.

Under the Nichols-Francis resolution, which if approved by a two thirds majority of each legislative branch would then go to a statewide referendum in November, 1958, incumbent justices would continue to serve, finally being obliged to run against themselves.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

BIRTHSTONES
6. Topaz and Turquoise

The topaz, the birthstone for November, is a gem of many colors. It ranges from water-clear crystals through the yellows to brown. The most valuable topazes are the deep rich sherry yellows.

This stone is believed to assure a long life and to bring the wearer beauty and intelligence. If it is worn on the left hand, it is supposed to banish sadness.

If rubbed briskly or slightly warmed, the topaz will generate enough electricity to pick up bits of paper.

For the November page of your birthstone book we are giving you a picture of a Scottish lassie wearing the cairngorm, the national gem of Scotland. She has two of these yellow brown gems, one on her bonnet, the other on her shoulder.

December's birthstone is the turquoise. Many of these light blue and green jewels were found in Turkey in ancient times and they derived their name from that country. The finest turquoise today is found in Persia. Some are found in New Mexico, where Indians make a business of making fine ornaments out of them.

Hollywood Headlines

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, (AP)—Tony Randall is the latest example of television's facility of developing stars for the movies.

Like Grace Kelly, Charlton Heston, Paul Newman and many others, Tony got his start on the stage and his seasoning in TV. Home viewers will remember him as Wally Cox's pal on the Mister Peepers show. And what a wonderful character he was—the gusty, hail-fellow type.

★ ★ ★

"No doubt about it, Peepers put me on the map as an actor," Randall admitted.

He's been covering the map very well ever since. He has bounced back and forth between the two coasts—performing in TV and on the stage in New York and in movies here.

Right now his movie career is getting into high gear. He's starring opposite Jayne Mansfield in "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?"

Of the Peepers show, he says: "I loved that show. I thought it had some great fun in it. Maybe it sagged a little in the last year, but the ratings killed us. We were on only three times a month, with a spectacular taking the fourth week. Opposite us was Jack Benny every other week, and it was tough to match him."

Tony went on to appear in the H. L. Mencken role in the Broadway run of "Inherit the Wind." It's a showy part and he drew good notices and attention from the studios. Nunnally Johnson later cast him in "Oh Men, Oh Women."

Mayflower Leaves for Plymouth Rock

BRIXHAM, England (AP) — The Mayflower II is expected to sail from this southern port Monday on its voyage to the United States.

★ ★ ★

Twenty-five tons of cast iron, the last of the square-rigged bark's ballast, was taken aboard yesterday. The ballast still must be braced to prevent shifting and then covered with an already fabricated floor, but veteran sailing men said the ship probably could be ready to leave Monday.

★ ★ ★

The 180-ton wooden vessel will retrace the Pilgrims' historic voyage. Skipper Alan Villiers has said he hopes to make Plymouth, Mass., by May 25.

Japan Air Lines is preparing to start weekly service, Tokyo to Rio de Janeiro, Brazil.

Norman Death Brings Debate

State Department Says No Clearance Given to Report on Official

WASHINGTON (AP)—Robert Morris, counsel of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee, said today the State Department has not asked for an opportunity to check any future testimony about foreign officials before publication.

The State Department, meantime, challenged earlier reports that it had cleared for publication the transcript of a hearing involving Canadian diplomat E. H. Norman.

The subcommittee's release of closed-door testimony linking Norman to communism, after he already had been cleared by his own government, aroused angry protests in Canada.

Norman, who was the Canadian ambassador to Egypt, committed suicide in Cairo after publication of the subcommittee transcript.

The Canadian government protested what it called the "irresponsible allegations" against Norman, and advised the State Department two days ago it reserved the right to halt further exchanges of security information with this government unless assured it would be withheld from congressional committees.

It said it was willing for such information to be passed on to committees of Congress only when it specifically agreed — a condition that U.S. officials said would be difficult to meet.

★ ★ ★

Morris, in answer to questions by newsmen, said that the subcommittee has received "no request from the State Department asking us to clear anything as a result of this."

He was asked if the subcommittee might seek clearance from the department in any future case regardless of whether it was requested to do so.

"There is no change in committee policy or procedure," he replied.

Popular Vote to Elect MSU Student President

EAST LANSING (AP) — The president of the student government at Michigan State University henceforth will be elected by popular vote of the student body.

Students voted 1,822 to 813 favoring an amendment which takes the election of the president out of the hands of the student congress.

The student congress had opposed the change and voted down a proposal to put the matter to a referendum vote. The referendum was attained by student petition.

Major Leagues Primed for Openers Next Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Major League baseball — threatened by possible congressional restraint and probable continued domination by the New York Yankees, but anticipating another attendance-boosting scrap for the National League pennant — opens the 1957 season Monday.

Actually, Monday's opener is just the customary sneak preview put on by the American League each year at Washington. Things don't get going on a full scale until Tuesday, when eight games are scheduled — one a (Brooklyn at Philadelphia) night game.

A crowd of about 28,000 is expected in Griffith Stadium Monday to see President Eisenhower throw out the first baseball as the Senators and Baltimore Orioles get the jump in the battle for position in the American League's second division.

Except for the color and tradition involved, about all that can be said for the early opener in the nation's capital is that it gives an opportunity for a first-hand look at the "sport" by those members of congress who feel baseball is a business identical to the supreme court's ruling on pro football and should be regulated accordingly.

It also gives Washington or Baltimore a chance to lead the AL Monday, probably for the only time this season. And it may be the only day of 1957 that the world champion Yankees do not hold at least a share of first place.

★ ★ ★

This is the season Casey Stengel shoots for his eighth pennant — and seventh world championship — as manager of the Yankees. And even Casey admits he has the flag in the bag, although maybe not as easily as the experts think, what with another powerhouse topped by Mickey Mantle, the kid with the golden bat, and Whitey Ford, the stubby, southpaw ace of his pitching staff.

The National League, still talking of last season's first three-team, season-long battle for the flag since 1908, figures to have more of the same. The same trio is involved, the Milwaukee Braves, Cincinnati Redlegs and Brooklyn Dodgers, who won the pennant on the last day of the 1956 season.

If the triple threat comes off, the NL can count on another banner year attendance-wise. Last year's total — 8,649,567 — was almost a million over 1955 and the top "normal" (non-post war) year ever.

★ ★ ★

The Redlegs, who topped a million for the first time with their third place finish last season, are counting on an overflow crowd at Crosley Field for Tuesday's opener with the St. Louis Cardinals. And the Pittsburgh Pirates, whose still maturing youngsters spun the turnstiles by holding first place for six days in early June, having come up with the most optimistic attendance estimate in either league, expecting from 35,000 to 37,000 at Forbes Field Tuesday when they open against the New York Giants.

★ ★ ★

The American League presents the debut of the other managers involved in winter shifts. Al Lopez, who never has finished lower than second and led Cleveland to the 1954 pennant, now is boss of the Chicago White Sox, replacing Marty Marion. Kerby Farrell replaces Lopez with the Indians, and Jack Tighe succeeds Buck Harris as Detroit Tiger head man.

Lopez has picked southpaw Jack Harshman (15-11) to face the Indians at Cleveland. Farrell has tabbed Bob Lemon (20-14), the veteran righthander.

★ ★ ★

Tighe opens in Kansas City, choosing righthander Frank Lary (21-13), the winningest pitcher in the league last season, for his Tigers, who are given a chance to give the Yankees a battle for the pennant. The Athletics haven't decided between lefthander Alex Kellner (7-4), who beat Lary and Detroit 2-1 last April in the opener, the righthander Tom Morgan (6-7), the ex-Yankee reliefer who went to Kansas City in a 13-player February trade — largest of the winter.

Canadiens Eye Cup 'Sweep'

BOSTON (AP) — Rocket Richard, Jean Beliveau, Bernie Geoffrion—Montreal needs the help of just one more "take charge" scorer to complete a four-game sweep of Boston in the Stanley Cup hockey finals tomorrow night.

★ ★ ★

The pattern of Montreal's headlong dash to a 3-0 lead in the best-of-seven series brings to mind the question of who will do the heavy duty stick work for Canadiens in contest No. 4.

In the opener, Richard scored four times in the 5-1 triumph to raise his playoff goal-getting record to 70.

Geoffrion tallied twice in the three-goal first period Thursday as Les Canadiens pushed the Bruins to the wall, 4-2.

★ ★ ★

The versatility and scoring potential of the Montreal squad dovetails with Plante's goaltending and a dogged defense to make Canadiens virtually unbeatable in the playoff series.

Will another Montreal player step forward to polish off the Bruins tomorrow night?

"Maybe (Claude) Provost," laughed trainer Hector Debois.

Plante, a rough customer from his opening playoff appearance, is getting tougher to beat all the time.

In 42 playoff games, he has a 2.02 average. So far this season he has a 1.88 mark for 15 outings. Against Boston in these three games, Plante has yielded only one per contest.

"Boston still has a good hockey club," said Toe Blake, Montreal coach. "It's tough to beat them four straight. I'm not predicting we'll do it. But if we don't it won't be because we won't be trying to."

"Can we come back?" asks Boston's Milt Schmidt. "It's possible if there is a little fire left. It's been done before but it's a tough road. You can be sure we won't roll over and play dead."

Only the Toronto Maple Leafs of 1942 were able to survive three opening losses and then rally for the championship.

Henri (Pocket Rocket) Richard, the Rocket's younger brother, is expected to miss the game because of an injury to his left knee. Rookie Connie Broden probably will take his center spot between the Rocket and Dickie Moore.

READY FOR BUSINESS — This will be the scene quite often when the Major Leagues officially open the 1957 season next week. In this case, Detroit Tiger catcher Frank House and umpire Frank Tabachi bumped masks over a call in an exhibition game. The Tigers open at Kansas City next Tuesday, even though one game is scheduled for Monday.

Qualifying Ends Today in Press Bowlerama

The 3rd and final qualifying day in the big Pontiac Press Bowlerama got underway at noon today and will continue through the evening before the contestants for next week's championship round are determined.

A total of 125 men and 108 women will be in action before the busy day of bowling comes to a close at the three participating alleys.

The top 11 scores posted by women will make those keglers eligible for the finals at Huron Bowl April 20. The outstanding scores in the men's division today will be matched with those posted last weekend in order to choose the 39 or more men finalists.

Approximately 13 men from each qualifying alley will advance into the championship session based on a plan calling for the top 10 per cent at each location to be in the finals.

It gives today's competitors a lot to shoot at. The men have some impressive opening round scores to overcome to gain a place in the select group. The women's race is wide open since all are bowling for the 1st time.

All qualifiers are certain of finishing in the money with the opportunity of going for the big prizes of $400 and $200, respectively, plus handsome desk calendar sets. There will be many other awards.

The expected qualifying list of 50 could be increased in the event of ties for the final places among the qualifiers at any of the alleys. All persons tied for last place among the top scorers will be included in the finals.

The Press will award trophies for the leading qualifier at each location. This will necessitate the breaking of any deadlocks in either division. In such cases, the winner will be determined by the bowler with the highest actual pinfall total.

If there is a tie for the championship in either division, the Bowlerama and Oakland County champion will be decided in a one-game rolloff between those involved.

Qualifying began today at 12 noon at Auburn Lanes and Land-O-Lakes with additional afternoon shifts planned. Dixie Recreation will be host to shifts at 3:30 and 8 p.m.

Detroiters Fire 3,015 ABC Total

Big Count 24th Over 3,000 Mark; Kentuckian Sets All-Event High

The 24th score over 3,000 was posted last night and the all-events record was smashed earlier. The previous record for 3,060 games in one tournament was 17.

The Coca Colas of Detroit turned the trick last night with a 3015. The same team took 16th place in last year's tournament with 2921.

Jim Spalding of Louisville, Ky., cracked the all-time ABC all-events record with a sparkling nine-game total of 2,088. The old mark of 2,070 was set by Max Stein of Belleville, Ill., in 1937.

LL Favors New Million Dollar Operating Fund

CHICAGO (AP)—A master plan calling for a million dollars in working capital for Little League baseball was approved unanimously yesterday at the second annual congress of the organization. The plan, approved by 161 voting delegates, is aimed at meeting an approximate annual deficit of $50,000 in national operational costs for some 700,000 youngsters between the ages of 8 and 12.

★ ★ ★

The fund will be raised through contributions by interested parties and will remain untouched. However, its interest and investment accruals would be diverted to little league deficits and long range improvements.

Practice Sunday

Members of the Local 594 Class A City League baseball club, and candidates for jobs with the 1957 squad will meet for their first try out session Sunday. Practice will be at the South diamond, at the Columbia-Joslyn field, starting at 2 p.m.

Birmingham Track Team Romps, 70-39

A sweep of three events and 1st places in five others gave Birmingham an easy 70-39 track victory over Thurston at wind-swept Pierce Field in Birmingham yesterday.

Record performances by Bob Stephenson in the high jump and pole vaulter Bill McFarlen sparked the Maple cause. Stephenson leaped five feet, 11⅜ inches to beat the old mark by ¼ of an inch, while McFarlen vaulted 12 feet, 3¼ inches breaking the former field record of 12 feet.

McFarlen added runnerup finishes in the shotput and 120-yard high hurdles to pace the victors in scoring with 11 points. Thurston's Bill Lumsden tallied 17.

Other Maple winners were Chuck Gibson in the shotput, Rich Riley in the mile, Steve Hunter in the 440 and Dick Boyd in the 880. The home team won both relay races.

ACE CARD — When the St. Louis Cardinals traded Red Schoendienst to the New York Giants, they said Don Blasingame was their second baseman. Here he is pivoting on a double play.

Trotters Wallop Collegians Again at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Harlem Globetrotters frollicked their way to an easy 70-54 victory over the College All Stars — their 11th win against two losses in the cross country series.

The tall Trotter combination of Andy Johnson and Willie Gardner was too much for the Collegians, who trailed all the way. Johnson scored 18 points, Gardner 20.

A crowd of 5,244 fans got its biggest laugh when Meadowlark Lemon narrowly missed a spectacular bounce shot from about 20 feet out. He slammed the ball to the floor and it bounced straight to the basket but flipped off after rolling twice around the rim.

Gonzales Trounces Segura in Finals

CLEVELAND (AP)—For the fifth time in as many years, Dick Gonzales of Los Angeles demonstrated to Cleveland fans that he is king of the tennis professionals. He overwhelmed Francisco Segura before 3,400 at the Arena last night 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 6-1 in the finals of a three-day tournament.

Segura said he "played as good as I can—better than last night—but Gonzales is just too tough." It was the third straight year he has lost here in the finals to Gonzales.

The doubles championship went to Gonzales and Ken Rosewall of Australia, who defeated Segura and Dinny Pails of Australia 6-1, 6-4.

Area Man Net Winner

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Top seeded men and women players in the 27th annual U. S. Table Tennis tournament sat back and rested today after surviving Friday opening play.

Erwin Klein of Los Angeles, who is defending the junior as well as the men's crown, and second-ranked Bernard Bukiet of Cleveland both swept through opening competition as the men's field was pared to 16 players.

Zoltan Nagy, a handless Hungarian refugee now living in Bethlehem, Pa., lost his opening match to Doug Andre of Royal Oak, Mich., 22-20, 16-21, 21-19.

Carol Liechty of South Bend, sixth ranked in the women's division, was one of the few opening day upset victims. She bowed to Mrs. Carol Jaeger of Milwaukee, 18-21, 16-21, 21-13, 22-20, 21-19.

Game Slated Today

NBA Finals in Boston

BOSTON (AP)—The favored Boston Celtics, still blasting officials, and the Cinderella St. Louis Hawks today squared off to settle the playoff championship of the National Basketball Assn.

★ ★ ★

The clubs stood 3-3 in the best-of-seven series at the 2:30 p.m., EST starting time of the payoff clash at Boston Garden.

★ ★ ★

Boston players and Coach Red Auerbach who complained about the officiating after two home victories, still were grumbling over the calls in Thursday's 96-94 loss in St. Louis when the Hawks rallied from the brink of elimination to tie the competition.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Celts pointed out that St. Louis averaged six more free throw tries than Boston in the first six meetings.

★ ★ ★

Auerbach, already fined $300 for punching St. Louis owner Ben Kerner earlier in the series, almost came to blows with Referee Jimmy Duffy yesterday at the St. Louis airport.

★ ★ ★

Tempestuous Red said there still were three seconds remaining after Cliff Hagan scored the winning basket for the Hawks Thursday. Duffy who ran the clock said time had run out.

★ ★ ★

After they were separated, Auerbach moved in on NBA President Maurice Podoloff to ask:

"Who will be the referee in Boston?"

"Yeah, you'll tell St. Louis but you won't tell us," Auerbach fired back.

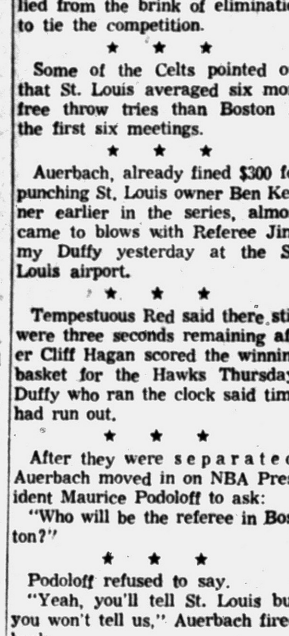

★ ★ ★

For the game itself, Boston had the problem of solving the great playoff play of Hagan who was traded by the Celtics for the rights to rookie Bill Russell.

Hagan connected on seven of 14 field goal tries and grabbed 20 rebounds—only three behind teammate Bob Pettit and Russell—in 31 minutes Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Skippers Score Well

Chief Thinclads Win 2nd Dual Test

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac's High School thinclads, working hard to get into the best possible condition for one of the season's biggest track and field events, next Saturday, yesterday whapped the Waterford High Skippers 75-34. The victory was the 2nd dual meet win from Dean Wilson's crew, but the suburban team was a real surprise in its fine showing.

Several outstanding efforts were turned in. Larry Beamer's 2:08 half mile was a nicely-run race, with Charley Barge a good 2nd. Beamer, a hard-working converted quarter-miler from the 1956 state and Valley championship squad, looks like a comer in his new event.

Archie Brooks turned a neat 54.6 seconds 440, with Andy Ramsey and Dick Hessel making it a sweep for the Chiefs. It was the best quarter-mile time of the season for the Chiefs. Pontiac also swept the century, with Joe Hill, D. Keller and Dave Payne in that order; had all three in the 220, with Hill, Tom Conley and Payne; took the high jump with Hud Ray, Fred Brooks and Alex Barge, and the 440.

Skippers surprised by shutting out Chiefs in the 180-low hurdles. Stan Jones, Bill Cole, Cecil Dumbrigue finished in that order.

Ray again was the only double winner, with a first place high jump tie with Brooks at 5-10, and a win in the broad jump at 20 feet one-half inch.

Two varsity meets face Chiefs next week. They entertain a strong Grosse Pointe team Tuesday at Wisner Field and on Friday go to Mansfield O. to defend their 1956 title. Wilson will name his squad after the Pointe meet. Milford's varsity will host the PHS Jayvees Tuesday afternoon.

Birmingham and Flint Northern will also have teams in the Mansfield nationally-rated event.

★ ★ ★

Jones Wins Split Verdict

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Ralph "Tiger" Jones, a tireless competitor from Yonkers, has joined the contingent of aspiring middleweight boxers who are awaiting the outcome of the May 1 meeting between challenger Sugar Ray Robinson and champion Gene Fullmer.

★ ★ ★

Jones' bid came on the tail of a split 10-round decision over Chico Vejar of Stamford, Conn., in their nationally televised match last night.

★ ★ ★

Jones was declared the winner over the infuriated Vejar on two judges' cards. Referee Ted Martin called the fight a draw after giving each fighter five rounds and a similar number of points.

Judge Harold Barnes gave Vejar four rounds and the rest to Jones. Jones was a 5-4-1 victor on Judge Richard Foy's ticket.

Jones said after the fight that he had loafed after stunning his opponent several times.

"That's a bad habit of mine," Jones said adding he hoped he would be considered for a match with the Fullmer-Robinson winner.

But in the event he is passed over, Jones said "I would like to fight (Carmen) Basilio for the right to meet the middleweight champion."

Foytack Has Best Day Against Pirates

Tigers Finally Beat Bucs, 9-2 on Trip North

Tighe Moves Bolling Into Leadoff Position for Opener

Foytack purged himself of the memory of six earlier spring appearances yesterday when he got suddenly stingy against the Pittsburgh Pirates, this spring's most successful team with a 19-9 record.

Foytack who pitched with a stomach upset last week and gave up nine hits in six innings, held the Pirates to two lean singles in five frames. The Tigers meanwhile jumped on the Foytack bandwagon and clubbed out 16 hits off four second rate Pirate hurlers for the 9-2 victory.

It was the first for the Tigers in the three games against the Pirates on the short trip toward opening day. The Tigers and Pirates who are traveling North together, play single games today and tomorrow at Charleston.

The Tigers then take Monday off to travel to Kansas City where they open the season against the Athletics Tuesday.

The major change is Bolling's capture of the leadoff position from Tuttle who hasn't been able to get started this spring.

Oddly enough, Foytack who had a 15-13 record last year didn't get credit for his five inning stint. Tiger starter Frank Lary who went only four frames, allowed five hits, and got the victory.

The only Pittsburgh hits off Foytack were back to back singles by Johnny Powers and Buddy Pritchard. The Tiger attack included shortstop Ron Samford's home run, a triple by Eddie Robinson and doubles by Kuenn and Kaline.

For the Tigers, it was the ninth springtime victory — most they've won in the South in three seasons. They've been beaten 17 times.

Yanks, Dodgers Meet Again

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Brooklyn Dodgers and the New York Yankees, no less, the same two teams that fought out the World Series the past two years, were back for their annual spring series.

Whether they'll return for another go-round in the fall remains a moot question. The consensus among the experts is the Yanks are as good as in the American League.

But they think the Brooks will blow the National League pennant this year, which, if true, means that the Flatbush Faithful won't see the Yanks again in 1957 unless they would care to journey to the Yankee Stadium to see the World Series in the fall.

The Yanks are presenting practically the same cast that licked the Brooks in the series last fall. The only newcomer is young Tony Kubek, who seems to have won the left field job, although he isn't on the Yanks roster yet.

In fact, possibly the most interesting aspect of this set will be the ups and-or downs of Kubek. A week ago, he was a full-fledged "phenom." However, he now has been "de-phenomed' in view of his 1 for 15 before being benched yesterday's 11-10 loss to Washington in the Capital.

Tommy Byrne was the loser, but the most disturbing part of the proceeding was the ineffectiveness of Don Perfect Game Larsen, who was the victim of a seven-run uprising in the fifth.

In four jobs, Larsen has been clipped for 28 hits and 15 runs in 22 innings. This isn't good. In fact, it's horrible.

Only four other games were played yesterday. The Detroit Tigers slugged the Pittsburgh Pirates, 9-2, at Charlotte, N.C.; the Boston Red Sox turned back the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-2, at Richmond; the New York Giants vanquished the Cleveland Indians, 8-1, at Jacksonville, Fla., and the Baltimore Orioles edged the Cincinnati Redlegs, 3-2, at Baltimore.

Granny Hamner, who is trying to make a comeback as a pitcher, was the victim of three of the five Red Sox' hits in his two-inning tenure. Robin Roberts, who went seven innings, held the Sox to two hits. In contrast, Frank Sullivan, who went the first seven innings for the Sox, was tapped for 10 hits.

BEST SHOWING — Tiger pitcher Paul Foytack, who was hit hard during the Grapefruit season, made his best showing of the spring against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday as the Tigers won, 9-2. Foytack allowed only two hits in five innings.

Pan-Am Funds Disallowed

CLEVELAND (AP)—This seventh biggest city of the nation has until May 1 to say formally what it has been aware of for more than a month — there will be no 1959 Pan American games here.

The clincher was provided yesterday when the House Appropriations Committee in Washington disallowed without comment a $4,900,000 State Department allocation for the games.

"If Congress doesn't want them, they shouldn't be held," was the comment of Curtis Lee Smith, who has headed local planning for the quadrennial games that were held in Mexico City in 1955 and inaugurated at Buenos Aires in 1951.

Without congressional money — or funds from another source — Cleveland can't build a track and field stadium, swimming pool, tennis courts and other facilities necessary for the games. And no one has suggested any other source for financing.

In Detroit Douglas F. Roby, chairman of the Pan American Games committee, called the House Appropriations Committee action a "serious blow to our Pan American relations."

Boros Leads Pack at Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C. (AP) — If Julius Boros doesn't get too far ahead of the field in today's third round of the $15,000 Greater Greensboro Open golf tournament, a rousing fourth round finish may be coming up tomorrow.

★ ★ ★

The Connecticut native who now plays out of Southern Pines, N.C., held a four-stroke lead over eight rivals as play began today.

Big Julius, 37, known to his fellow-pros as "The Moose" posted a five-under-par 65 in the second round of a 135 total to replace first day leader Doug Ford of Mahopac, N.Y.

But with second place an eight-way tie, the heat was on Boros to continue his sub par play — or else. And this tournament thrives on tight finishes. There have been three playoffs in the last four years.

That performance was good enough for him to replace newly-crowned Masters champion Ford who said he was tired and unhappy over his shabby chipping and putting, a strong part of his game in winning at Augusta last Sunday.

The 139 second-place tie included, in addition to Ford: Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill.; Jim Feree, Winston - Salem, N. C.; Gardner Dickinson Jr., Panama City Beach, Fla.; Howie Johnson, Houston; Al Besselink, Grossinger N.Y., and the youthful South African pros, Gary Player and Trevor Wilkes.

★ ★ ★

In contention at 140 were Sam Snead, Stan Leonard of Vancouver, British Columbia, and Mike Souchak, Grossinger. The rest were seven shots or more off the pace as the field was cut to 61 pros at 150 or under and 10 amateurs at 152 or under.

★ ★ ★

Nine-hole sensation was Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N.Y., pro who was out in 31, but finished even par with an incoming 39 as he bogied four of the next six after making the turn.

Track Is Ready for Inaugural

NORTHVILLE (INS) — John Carlo, general manager of Northville Downs, predicted today that the suburban half-mile race track will be in top condition for Thursday's inaugural program.

The earliest opening in Michigan history, it will be a double opener for the 'Downs this year since the first nine-race program will be held on Thursday, then operations will be halted on Good Friday with the second opening night set for Saturday.

Randolph, Jessen Lead Delayed Dallas Tourney

A new front-runner was indicated in the first nine holes of the second round yesterday when Marlene Bauer Hagge of Delray Beach, Fla., pushed out ahead. But all play was wiped out for the day when officials called a halt in the face of a howling 25-miles-per-hour wind, near-freezing temperatures and a cold drizzle of rain.

★ ★ ★

Some of the players ewre burned up about it—some thinking the round should never have been started and others that it should have been finished once it was started.

Michigan Nine 11-7 Victor Over Virginia

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va. (AP) — Michigan's baseball team counted Virginia 11-7 yesterday with a 12-hit attack that included two home runs. It was the third straight loss for the Cavaliers.

The Wolverines built up a 9-1 lead in the first seven innings and then staved off Virginia's late bid which included a four-run uprising in the last of the ninth.

Ratterman Quits Pro Grid Game

CLEVELAND (AP)—After 10 seasons in professional football, quarterback George Ratterman of the Cleveland Browns has retired.

He announced his decision last night a few hours after the Browns asked waivers on him and Coach Paul Brown had declared:

At Fort Thomas, Ky., where he lives with his wife and five children and is a partner in a consultant firm on employe benefits plans, Ratterman, 31, expressed surprise that the Browns hadn't given him advance notice of the release.

Stoush Stowed by Demons With Nulla Nullas

Digger Reports Visit to Rubbidy

By DENNIS N. HAWKER
Visiting Australian Journalist

Several sources have combined to color the Australian vernacular. Much of the slang has a rhyming quality which can be traced to London cockney. Other words have association with the aboriginal language, and more recently American terms have become well-known.

HAWKER

I say to the old girl (wife) after evening munger (dinner) that my oppo down at the sweatshop (friend at work) and I were going on the town (out for the evening). She said that was jake (all right) because she was having a hen's party (women's meeting). So after a dive into the tub (a bath) I stepped into a clean pair of strides (trousers) and headed for the two by four (door).

On the way down the frog and toad (road) I bumps into a wowser (met a prohibitionist) who hands me a spiel (lectures me) on the demon drink. I tells him that I am on my way to have a few bowls of slops (glasses of beer) and to pull his head in (keep quiet).

When I arrive at the johnny horner (corner) my mate (friend) hasn't showed up (arrived). After cooling my heals (waiting) for a quarter (15 minutes) I slips across to the rubbidy (went across to a bar). I have just got the suds (a beer) in my mitt (hand) when an old codger (old man) breezes up and starts to bash my lug (ear) about a no-good soap box spruiker (politician) he knows.

It seemed this spruiker piled his hay (made his money) running a swy school (an illegal Australian gambling game, played by tossing pennies) and then it was only a hop, skip, and jump (short step) into politics. This character said he had a brick (£10 note) to say that the spruiker was as crooked as a dog's hind leg and so low he could sit on a bus ticket and swing his legs (dishonest).

He said it was a fair cow (displeasing) the way this bloke (man) had put it over the voters. He'd been the dark horse of the field but by having two bob each way on every issue (had agreed with both sides by betting two shillings for win and place) had sucked in (misled) the electorate.

This old so-and so's (Australian slang has a number of unprintable adjectives) gabbing (talk) was starting to give me a pain in the Ned Kelly (stomach—Ned Kelly was Australia's counterpart of Jesse James) when in came a couple of my Digger (former war service) mates. I dips into my skyrocket (pocket) for a quid (£1 note) only to find I had left my cash (money) at home. So I bites my cobber for half a nicker (borrowed 10 shillings from my friend) to pay for the round (drinks).

It was a bonza bunch (a pleasant group) until a big rooster (man), as full as a boot (drunk) on plonk (wine), horns in and proceeds to push down our necks all he knows about the gee-gees (racing).

Stone the bleedin' crows (just an ejaculation) I was crooked on (annoyed with) that bushwhacker (man from the back woods). I told him if he didn't shut his trap (keep quiet) I would fill him in (punch him in the face).

It looked like a stoush (brawl) was on when in comes the demons (police) carrying nulla nullas (night sticks—from the aboriginal weapon). They laid it on the line that we would end up in the jug (jail unless we woke up to our silly selves.

We said we would stow it (break it up), so they scarpered (left In all my trouble and strife (life) I have never been nearer a blue (fight).

When I got home the cheese and kisses (missus) said she had heard on the blower (telephone) from her nipper (younger brother), who said he had a new sheila (girl friend), and she had arranged for us all to go next day for a dip in the briny (swim).

(Editor's Note—and we hope the vernacular is not.)

Four-Year-Old Kills Brother Accidentally

SANDWICH, Ill. (AP)—In a game of "stick 'em up" that suddenly became deadly serious, a 4-year-old boy shot and killed an older brother and seriously wounded his sister yesterday.

★ ★ ★

The three children were alone in the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack L. Jensen. Police said a baby sitter the Jensens had hired left the children about 10 minutes before the tragedy.

★ ★ ★

Coroner Paul VanNatta said the 4-year-old, Steve, found a .22-caliber rifle his father had placed behind a door and, playfully turning it on the two other children, jerked the trigger.

★ ★ ★

The one bullet in the weapon passed through the head of Jackie 6, and, still not spent, entered the back of their sister, Jody, 7.

Noted Carrier's Fate Still Undetermined

NEW YORK (AP) — The aircraft carrier Enterprise was towed into Brooklyn Navy Yard Thursday with its fate still uncertain.

★ ★ ★

The big carrier, which the Japanese claimed to have sunk six times during World War II, was ordered deactivated last fall and stripped down for scrap.

Built in 1936, the Enterprise officially was credited with shooting down 911 Japanese planes, sinking 71 ships and damagaig 192 others. It recently had been at the Bayonne, N. J., naval supply depot.

Your Neighbor's House

Ten Years Ago Log Cabin Was a Shell

background for LIVING

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

The day couldn't have been much worse. Not satisfied with predicting high winds, the weatherman had added, "snow, sleet and freezing rain!" What a day to drive almost to Davisburg for a house story.

The rain came in almost horizontal lines. The wind drove it right through the window casings of the house and made little puddles beneath the sills. The photographer wrapped his camera in a plastic bag to carry it a few feet from car to front door.

It was all two of us could do, to keep the door from slamming back against the house. It was impossible to get an exterior shot of the house.

But inside the W. S. Walls' home all was peaceful and quiet and charming. The exterior is log construction with red trim. The interior — larger than one would guess from the outside — is Early American. From the front porch, where red and green combine to make summer living more pleasurable, to the horseshoe over the back door, the house shows evidence of careful and thoughtful planning.

Ten years ago the Walls family moved from Detroit out to Oakland County, intending to stay six months. It was that difficult postwar period when rental units were unheard of. But living in a hotel with a child who had to start school was out of the question as a permanent solution to housing — even if said hotel was nearly on top of Mr. Walls' job.

The house they rented was a 22x24 shell. It overlooks Dixie Lake, a pretty body of water with several islands. There were no neighbors at all. Now a whole colony of homes has been built up around the Walls'. Bit by bit, they have acquired more land around their house until now they own eight acres and their view of the lake is secured.

Mrs. Walls decided what she wanted to do with the log cabin and put her ideas on paper. Clive Chamberlain of Davisburg did the building.

First they put on a 24x24 addition and made it into two bedrooms. The utility room they added on became part of the family-sized kitchen when a wall was knocked out. A year ago a full basement was put under the house, and utilities moved downstairs.

The front porch, usable only in warm weather, has striated plywood walls. The Habitant furniture has red and green coverings. Window shades are green.

In the living room the walls are knotty pine. All doors in the house are flush birch. Carpeting is beige, as are the floor length draperies. The latter have a gold thread in the material.

All lamps are brass. A number of planters and wall plates carry the brass theme still farther. Open shelves between the living room and kitchen house Mrs. Walls' collection of milk glass. A red hutch cabinet holds more of it.

At each end of the room there are mother-and-daughter chairs. Larger than ordinary arm chairs, these are upholstered in a fruit and flower print in reds and greens. Each chair has a black pillow in it. The only other chair in the room is a needlepoint one.

A scalloped board covers the top of the open doorway from living room to kitchen. The wall behind the stove is knotty pine. All the other walls are dark green. The floor has red rubber tile on it.

THE LONG VIEW — From the living room one can see through two doorways in the background and catch a glimpse of the fireplace in the bedroom. The walls of the living room are pine paneled, squares of white acoustical board cover the ceiling. Carpeting, sofa and draperies are all beige. Beside the louvered door there is a handsome needlepoint chair with a mahogany frame. In the opposite corner is one of a pair of mother-and-daughter chairs. The door at the right opens onto the front porch.

LADY OF THE HOUSE — Seated at a handsome maple desk in the "telephone booth," Mrs. Willard Walls appears most relaxed. This small den is pine paneled, has book shelves built on two walls. The floor has red plaid linoleum on it. At one time this minute room was a bedroom.

Pontiac Press Photos by Tom Gerls

AHH . . . THAT TUNE! — Sixteen year old Sandra is a junior at Clarkston High School. The first thing she does when she enters the house after school is to take off her shoes. Then she makes a bee line for this pretty bedroom and her record collection. Stuffed toys and animals contrast in an amusing manner with the more formal milk glass accessories. Her furniture is pine. White bedspread, throw rug and curtains make this a room that is light and airy in feeling.

FAMILY ROOM — Once this room was the utility room, completely separated from the kitchen. Now it is a charming part of the room. The floor is red rubber tile. Around the circular table there are Hitchcock chairs with rush seats. Milk glass is used on the table. Wooden shutters decorate the windows with coach lamps on either side. Walls in this area are dark green. Curtains are clear yellow.

Lava Used to Insulate

The insulation of concrete block buildings and foundations has been made easier with the use of perlite, an extremely light material made of volcanic lava substance that has been crushed and then "popped" under heat like popcorn. It weights less than one-tenth as much as sand, is pure white and is poured directly from bags into the cores of the concrete blocks.

Perlite is stocked by building supply dealers under various brand names. It is said to be rotproof, resistant to settling and not structurally affected by water.

A new kind of blanket is made of paper, bound in sateen.

Lower Income Families Slighted by Home Builder

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Fortune magazine in its current issue, out tomorrow, reports that in each year since 1950 the home building industry has been steadily producing more units for upper income groups and fewer units for lower income groups.

There is a lot of unpleasant truth, say the editors, in the charge that home building — which buttressed U.S. prosperity for a decade after World War II—has not conducted itself like a growth industry. "It has produced—in striking contrast to the automotive industry—exactly one major new idea in a generation (the split-level)."

Over the last two years, while gross national product has been rising more than nine per cent, home building starts have fallen 25 per cent. Meanwhile the median price of a house has climbed relentlessly from $12,300 in 1954 to $13,700 in 1955, to a probable $15,500 in 1957.

Virtually the whole cut-back in housing has come from the middle-to-low income section of the market, largely supplied by the big builder, and dependent upon FHA and VA financing.

By contrast, the market for conventionally financed houses has held steady, and the proportion of housing starts offered at more than $15,000 has climbed from 27 per cent in 1954 to almost 60 per cent in 1957.

WHY BUILDERS SLIGHT LOW-INCOME BUYERS

Tight money, declares Fortune, is by no means the biggest of the home-building industry's problems. The fact is that as early as five years ago—well before the shortage of mortgage money—the building industry began abandoning the low-income market.

The reason, says Fortune, is rising costs, which the small builders who comprise the great majority of the industry could not or would not control. Instead the industry's solution was to add more value per unit, thus attracting a wider market in the upper-income bracket. More-house-for-more-money has become the ruling practice of the industry.

While easier credit is the industry's most immediate need, its chief benefit will be to give the builder a better chance to solve his basic problems. "If he exploits easier credit as one more lucky chance to avoid a direct fight against his own rising costs, he will cheat the market, the public, and ultimately himself. If he is responsible, the builder will see that easier credit helps produce houses at prices that can be paid in the low-income bracket market sector."

Although home building promises to be a political battlefield for the next decade, an "appalling poverty of statistics clouds almost all discussions of the industry's problems." What is needed, says Fortune, is a national study of the industry's basic facts and figures. No other industry touches so many people, or is so dependent on action at all levels of government.

Remember House Paint Only Thin Film of Beauty

A coat of paint on a house is only 1-200 of an ich thick. Yet it gives beauty and protection. Why not touch your house with this magic — especially if yours is in the "older house' category? Indoor and outdoor painting will give your house added attractiveness and livability. To make such improvements, see your paint dealer about attractive terms. Or, if you prefer, FHA Title I property improvement loans are available from qualified lending institutions.

Don't Neglect Rug Pads

Rug pads or cushions need a thorough going over with the vacuum cleaner several times a year. The frequency depends on how much the rooms are used and how carefully the homemaker vacuum cleans her carpets.

What if He's Color Blind?

BALTIMORE, Md.—One of Baltimore's large shopping centers has hit on a good idea to help shoppers remember where they parked their cars. The huge parking area has been painted off in different colored blocks — red, green, blue, etc.—so that the customer, after a prolonged shopping spree, simply remembers his color and walks directly to his car.

Shutters frame the windows. On either side of the back windows there are coach lamps mounted on the wall. Sunny yellow cafe curtains cover the lower part of the window sash. These are hung on brass rods. A huge plant that just "grows and grows" holds a place of honor in front of this rear window.

What was once a too-small bedroom in the original house is now called "the telephone booth." It is a miniature den, complete with desk, bookshelves, radio (two of them, one housed in an old-fashioned telephone) and of course, a telephone.

A scalloped shelf tops the minute window which has only a Venetian blind over it. Incidentally, all the blinds have red tape on them, adding a cheerful note.

The walls here are paneled in pine. The floor is covered with linoleum in a gigantic red plaid. There is a second Hitchcock deacon's bench and a beautiful maple desk. The bathroom opens off this room.

The two bedrooms are the same size, 12x24. In Sandra's room the end walls are pine paneled, the side walls papered in blue. Very full, very sheer white curtains are criss-crossed at the windows. Wardrobe closets are built in.

Sandy's furniture is Drexel pine. Her bed has a bookcase headboard. As in the living room, milk glass is used for accessories. It repeats the white of her bedspread and the large shag rug. There is a pink and white striped slipper chair and a high backed Boston rocker.

There is no danger that Sandy will ever be without music. She has a television set, a portable radio, a clock radio and a record player in her room. Like most teenagers, she is crazy about music and put a new record on the hi-fi set in her parents' bedroom almost as soon as she entered the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Walls know the luxury of a fireplace in their bedroom. Faced with red brick, it has a high hearth so that the fire is visible from the living room, despite the high bed in front of it. A small Shaw sofa is placed at right angles to the fireplace, opposite the hi-fi set.

Now that their house is complete, Mrs. Walls doesn't see how they ever stood living in it during construction periods. It was like camping out, with no experience to guide them. They've had so much of that experience now that they are tempted to build a house from scratch. Sandy goes away to college in a year and they have ideas about a house for just the two of them.

Enough concrete block was produced in 1956 to build homes for the entire population of Detroit, Cleveland, Philadelphia, and St. Louis.

If You Follow Rules Paint Job Will Be Better

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The biggest single transformation you can make in your home is in changing a room's background color, not necessarily replacing present furniture, rugs and draperies. You can do this yourself—easily, quickly and thriftily, choosing your color from the countless delightful hues of paint now in the paint shops.

Ceiling, walls and woodwork of an average sized room can be repainted in a matter of hours for as little as ten dollars. You won't believe how fast the color goes on with brush, roller or spray.

Starting with the ceiling—or any other surface, for that matter—make sure that all small cracks are filled with spackling material. It sets rapidly, so smooth the surface before the filling material is quite dry. This lessens the amount of sanding needed later. A putty knife or an old table knife will do to apply the filler.

If your ceilings are low enough, you might look into the possibility of using a roller on an extension handle. To reach higher ceilings, use two sturdy ladders and a wide plank as a platform. Always place the plank so it extends at least a foot beyond the step of the ladder on which it rests. Always make sure, too, that the side spreaders of both ladders are completely open and locked in position.

Before you begin to paint, remove hardware from doors and windows and loosen the lighting fixtures. This will make the painting go faster and will give you the chance to do a thorough polishing job on the metal before putting it back in place.

Another step in preparation for painting is to dust the walls well with a dry mop. Walls seldom need washing with cleansers before being repainted, except in the kitchen where they are likely to collect a little grease.

Read the directions on the paint can label before you even remove the lid. The paint manufacturer knows his product, and the suggestions on the label are there to help you. Follow them carefully.

Most household paints are easily removed from the hands by plain soap and water or a little turpentine. As an extra precaution, however, you might want to rub some protective cream onto your hands and arms before you start. Then when you've finished, the cream wipes off easily — and the paint with it. Ask the dealer about the cream when you buy the paint.

Cover the floor, the furniture — and your head — before you begin. No matter how careful you are, there are bound to be a few spatters. It's wise to clean them up as you go along because paint is easier to remove when it's still wet.

Paints Teach Geography

Paints originally were no more than natural deposits of colored earth mixed with a liquid. Some of the colored earths got their names from the parts of the world in which they were found. Sienna (warm brown), for example, is named after a geographical section of Italy. Turkey umber (brown) came from Turkey. Berlin blue, Prussian blue, Naples yellow, Italian pink, Persian red—all these color names reveal their own individual origin.

Ways to Insure Supply of Water

What steps should you follow to get a dependable, adequate and pure well water supply for a home beyond the water mains?

The National Water Well Association suggests the following six-point guide as a help to homeowners planning to install their own water systems:

1. Add up the total amount of water needed daily for all uses, both inside and outside the home. This is important for correct pump sizing.

2. Get as much information as possible about the underground water table in the area where you plan to buy or build.

3. Choose a well-drilling contractor with a reputation for bringing in wells that give long years of trouble-free service.

4. Find out what regulations apply locally on such related matters as proper well construction, location, and pump housing.

5. Ask the contractor who drills your well to give you an accurate log of the boring at the time the well is completed. The log should cover depth and thickness of the various layers of drift, rock, shale, and the like encountered during drilling; results of pumping tests; size of well casing and screen; and indicated water yield per hour. You'll need to know the latter, of course, before you select your pump.

6. Have the well chlorinated before use, and always after repairs have been made. Check bacterial content at frequent intervals, to make certain that the well remains safe.

The National Water Well Association reminds homeowners that drilled wells are the safest, because they tap the deepest water sources, where contamination from surface seepage is the least likely to have occurred.

GOOD TRAFFIC PATTERN—The living area provides a minimum of hall space, a maximum of excellent traffic circulation. The main bathroom is accessible from two bedrooms and from the living area of the house. The other lavatory adjoins one bedroom and the kitchen. This can be used by the children while at play outside.

CITY_____ STATE_____

Plan and Quality of House Guarantee Good Resale

Resale value.

Even if your new home seems a dream to you, it may be a financial liability instead of an asset if it lacks features that will make it sell easily, should you ever want to put it on the market.

Here is a dream of a house that should have high resale value, because it has the qualities and conveniences that surveys have shown are most desired by prospective home buyers. Included are:

Three bedrooms, more than one bathroom, a U-shaped kitchen with plenty of putaway space, large closets, light airy rooms, a fireplace, a separate dining room and privacy planning.

Because design HW-46 in The House of the Week Series does have these desired assets, it fits into the maximum mortgage class and so would cost less in terms of "cash down."

With economy in mind, architect Lester Cohen has come up with a clever arrangement that gives all the advantages of a two and a-half bathroom house with the money-saving installation of one bathroom and a lavatory.

The spacious main bathroom can be entered from the hall or from a separate entrance in the master bedroom. Since it is readily accessible from the living room—and has a modern vanitory counter—it can be used as a guest powder room.

The lavatory off the kitchen can be reached easily from the garage and backyard. It has a door between it and one of the bedrooms and if a recreation room is finished in the basement, youngsters can use this lavatory without going into the living or bedroom areas of the house.

The living and bedroom sections are separated for privacy. The living room and dining room, with a linear traffic pattern, can be used together for large parties or family gatherings. A gracious furniture arrangement would be possible in the living room because of the unusually large amount of wall space.

If desired, the dining room could be used as a family room, with the alcove china closet converted to a built-in TV or Hi-Fi. The kitchen has a sizeable dinette nook, a wall oven and counter burners.

Design HW-46 has excellent traffic circulation with minimum hall space. Even the two-car garage has been designed with an eye on convenient passage. It has a rear entrance so that you don't have to go past the automobiles to get at the garden tools or to put away the children grow up, the porch could be easily finished as a den. Used either as a porch or a den, it forms a delightful addition to the already wide living room - dining room expanse.

One other point: three - bedroom, one-story houses with the kind of features incorporated into Design HW-46 usually require large plots. You don't have to be told that large plots in accessible locations are not always available these days . . . even for those who wish to spend the extra money.

This house, with all its living space, poses no land problem. Exclusive of the garage, its frontage is only 49 feet and 6 inches, its back-to-front dimensions only 28 feet, 4 inches for a total of 1416 square feet.

All this is encased in an attractive exterior with a stone front, an eye-catching window and a center entrance. It's ranch-house style with traditional elegance. But most of all, it's a house to live in.

Ask Man Who Knows

All the necessary amounts of required materials to build this house are included in the detailed Study Plans.

This enables you to take the plans to your contractor and obtain a cost estimate. If you decide on any alterations—such as a one-car instead of a two-car garage—he can tell you what the difference in cost will be.

Here's a cure for those nasty white rings taht appear when a careless guest puts a wet glass down on a tabletop. Dip a cloth in heavy soap suds and rub the ring until it disappears.

Don't Use Steel to Scour Your Stainless Ware

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer

The favorable nod we homemakers have given stainless steel products has not only boosted their production plans for 1957 but it has brought us to the attention of the industry's engineers. They want us to know how to get the best service from stainless steel, whether it's used in pots and pans, sink or stove tops, flatware or hollow ware.

It seems we often give it too much care! Methods that are proper for servicing other materials are not necessarily correct for this shining metal.

Our practice, for example, of automatically picking up a steel wool scouring pad every time we approach a dirty pan should be halted. A stainless steel utensil, engineers explain, won't rust in ordinary household use. But it can be scratched by steel wool. Furthermore, slivers of steel wool can become embedded in the surface and these will rust and discolor.

Recommended treatment for the greasy, scorched or stubbornly dirty pan is to soak in hot, soapy water and finish the cleaning with household abrasive cleanser. Or use scouring pads of stainless steel wool, which won't rust.

Sometimes I've let a stainless skillet get too hot and the metal discolors.. This "heat tint" doesn't harm the metal and it can be removed with a paste of abrasive cleanser and water. To scrub stainless steel, apply cleanser in the direction of the polish lines on the surface—"with the grain" of the metal—to prevent scratching and preserve the high surface fininsh.

The housewifely habit of waxing appliances and countertops is not advised for stainless steel trims or tops. A clean steel surface stays bright by itself; exposure to the air actually helps to keep it that way.

If you note spots or streaks on trimmings or taps, blame leftover soap or mineral deposits in the water. You can avoid them by wiping off the wet steel with a dry cloth which polishes as it dries.

Although a wooden chopping block is the proper place to slice bread and vegetables, some of us whack up vegetables on the drainboard by the sink. This practice will scar or scratch almost any material, including stainless steel.

Scratching won't hurt metal, but it does affect the appearance. Such scratches can be polished out with an abrasive cleanser applied with a rag and a strong right arm.

House Needs Spring Check

Spring is traditionally house cleaning time, but it also should be house inspection time. A house takes a lot of punishment from winter's blasts—punishment which can result in costly damage.

This is, especially true of the roof, which is a home's first line of defense against snow and ice. The weight and movement of snow and ice often can start serious trouble, expecially if the roof is an old one.

A good time to check the roof is in the spring after the first heavy rain. Look at the underside of the roof deck, check the rafters carefully, and look closely at areas around the chimney and soil stacks.

Any sings of dampness may mean the roof is leaking. It's wise then to call in a reputable roofing contractor for a professional inspection. Perhaps the dampness is caused by condensation and your attic simply needs more ventilation. But if the cause is a leaky roof, you may need a new one right away to prevent costly interior damage.

Don't be surprised if the roofing contractor doesn't offer to patch up the leaks. Reliable contractors know that patching an older roof is false economy, since a weathered roof generally has worn out uniformly. One leak means more will be coming.

In most cases, a roof of asphalt shingles can be applied directly over the old material, saving the expense and mess of removing the worn roofing. Home-owners who find they must re-roof also can spruce up the appearance of the house with one of the many colors available in asphalt shingles.

Many Uses for Vacuum

Are you up-to-date on the versatility of your household equipment? For example, do you think of your vacuum cleaner as just for carpets? Consult the instruction book you received when you purchased the appliance.

You will find that your "vac" also cleans hard-surface floors, "dusts" the walls, the furniture, venetian blinds, and whisks away the dust from all those little curleyques in elaborately carved pieces. And do you use it to defrost your refrigerator and freezer, dry your hair, blow up balloons for a party, spray-paint the porch furniture, and as an aid while refinishing furniture or floors? There are many extras for which your vacuum cleaner can be helpfully used, if you only will give it—and yourself—a chance.

If Mom's Plumber, Give Her a Tool Cache

In many homes, mother is more than a "kitchen mechanic"; she frequently makes simple plumbing repairs and often is mighty handy with a hammer, screw driver or pliers. Since it's a good plan to keep her tools where they are always available, a panel of Masonite "peg-board," properly situated where it is convenient, is an excellent device.

Board Foils Fallout

The U. S. Forest Products Laboratory has announced the development of a wood fiber board which filters out radioactive fallout, germ-covered particles, and poison gases.

tance. The less flexible varnishes, designed for use on floors and indoor furniture, contain less oil, dry faster and get harder, but have less resistance to weather.

No Second Best in Sewer Pipes!

Have you finally gotten around to building that dream house only to find construction costs greater than you palmed? And are you now looking about for cost corners to cut?

You are not alone. Thousands of families are being faced with the same ploblem. If you are going to cut corners, do so in the wisest manner. Don't go to cheap substitutes, or cheaper methods. They cost you more in the long run.

For example, perhaps you might be tempted to use cheap substitute materials for your sanitary sewer piping. Don't do it, the Sanitary Engineering Committee warns.

This advice is backed up by a host of reasons—all of which make sense. First of all, the use of a substitute material will not save you the money you anticipate. The cost of the pipe is only about 1/6 of the cost of the entire installation. Only vitrified clay pipe is guaranteed unconditionally against rust, rot and disintegration.

How much money can you save, if the sewer pipe you put in now must be dug up, along with the front lawn, for untimely repairs a few years hence. Is it wise to attempt a saving of money at the expense of asking your family to take the inconvenience of backed-up sewerage and the risk of disease fettered by faulty sewage disposal?

Each day more than 200 gallons of sewage and dirty water are flushed down the drain in the average home. This sewage contains dangerous and deadly bacteria.

Even a temporary failure of the system could seriously disrupt a family's living routine and be a serious health and accident hazard. Your sanitary system is the unseen lifeline of your home. Be sure it is equipped with clay pipe.

Ask your plumber for his advice. He's the professional who knows the severe punishment a house sewer must take.

Stubborn Spots Need Special Care

Sports that don't respond to normal scrubbing are a familiar find in my household. Before waxing, scrub the stain or spot with a small amount of commercial floor cleaner diluted in water.

Deposits of food, gum, tar or the like should first be scraped with a dull knife to remove the excess, then treated with scouring powder, steel wool or dry cleaning fluid (depending on the stain and the type of flooring).

The experts advise not to use dry cleaning fluid on asphalt or rubber tile. Chlorine bleaches are not usually recommended for use on resilient flooring, especially older surfaces which may have become porous and could be affected by loss of color.

Security for You

Burial Expenses Depend on Payments

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Mrs. M. E. F. of Yucca Valley, Calif.: "When a woman is drawing Social Security from her husband's work record, will her survivors be entitled to a lump sum for burial expenses when she dies?"

Unless you've worked under Social Security long enough yourself for your survivors to be eligible for a lump sum payment, no such payment will be made.

From Mrs. H. D. T. of Cincinnati, Ohio: "My husband's first name is 'Hasel' and is so recorded on his birth record. For thirty years or more he's gone by the name of "Hal" and that's the name listed on his Social Security record. To have his name changed in court, it would cost $50 or more. Is this necessary to collect his Social Security payments?"

No. But, he could get a special form from the local Social Security office which will make it possible for him to list both names on his Social Security record. Then when he applies for payments there'll be no delay or misunderstanding.

From H. E. S. of Banning, Calif.: "I'm drawing $28 a month from the Veterans Administration due to a disability I received while serving with the Army in World War I. In two more years, I plan to retire and start drawing Social Security payments. Will my disability compensation interfere with my eligibility to Social Security?"

No.

From R. R. R. of Wells River, Vt.: "My father is over 80 and my mother is over 70. My father started paying on his Social Security on Jan. 1, 1956, and will be eligible for payments very soon. He's a farmer. My mother has never been covered by Social Security but, of course, will be eligible for payments as a wife. Does she need a Social Security number?"

No.

From an Illinois reader: "I'm nearly 63, but have never been covered by Social Security. My husband has been dead for many years and was never covered by Social Security. Am I now eligible for Old-Age Assistance under the Federal-State matching program? My children help me some, but they have their own families and can't do too much."

Old-Age Assistance payments may only be made to needy people who are 65 or over. But I suggest you get in touch with the nearest Illinois State welfare office to see if some financial help isn't possible.

From Mrs. B. F. H. of San Bernardino, Calif.: "I have been an employe of the federal government for 14 years and will be 65 this year. I plan to retire and draw a civil service annuity. My husband who died in 1950 worked under Social Security. I believe I'll be eligible for one-half of the Social Security payments he would have received if he had lived to reach retirement age. Is this correct?"

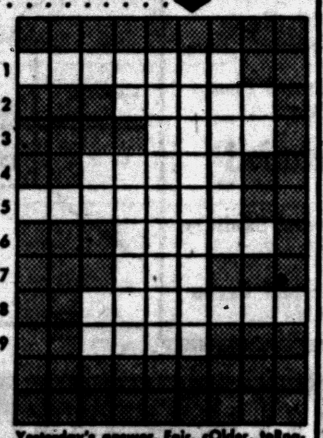

Yes. You'll be eligible to draw both civil service retirement payments and Social Security payments.

U. S., Britain Have Pearson on Tight Rope

Top Diplomat of Canada

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS

Lester B. Pearson loves baseball, has a lifetime pass to Brooklyn's Ebbets Field, is known to almost everyone as "Mike" and shuns the diplomat's uniform. But he is Canada's top diplomat.

And today he is involved in one of the most delicate international situations he has encountered during 29 years in his country's foreign service — "the Norman affair."

As secretary of state for external affairs, Pearson has strongly protested publication by a U. S. Senate subcommittee of Communist charges against E. H. Norman, Canadian diplomat who recently committed suicide in Cairo.

The situation is particularly delicate because of the tight rope Pearson has tried to walk between some U. S. complaints that he has been too pro-British, and some British charges that he is too pro-American. Pearson's answer is that he is completely pro-Canadian.

Nearing his 60th birthday, Pearson is a likable man and an unusual diplomat.

LIKES BOW TIE

He prefers a bow tie with either business suit or sports jacket and slacks to the traditional diplomatic striped pants. He doesn't like diplomatic lingo. He is an entertaining, witty and easy-going conversationalist.

Once when Canda had abstained from voting on a number of questions at the United Nations, he said that "pretty soon we'll be known as almost complete abstainers." When asked if he had in his travels picked up any ideas for strengthening the Western Alliance he replied that he had received "the same platitudes I've been using myself.'

Toronto-born, Pearson got his nickname of "Mike" during World War I when he served with an ambulance unit at Salonika. His later experience in the Royal Flying Corps was brief —he crashed after one hour and 40 minutes of instruction.

In his younger days, Pearson played hockey and professional baseball and coached football. He attended Oxford University in England and taught history in Toronto before entering the diplomatic service in 1928.

Search Called Off

CHEBOYGAN (INS)—The Coast Guard today called off a search for a Bois Blanc Island father of four children who disappeared last Saturday between Mackinac Island and his home. Harry Feeley failed to return from a 12-mile outboard motor boat trip from Mackinac.

Wed Same Day as Grace

Sadness Ends First Year of Peggy Kelly's Marriage

NEW YORK (AP) — Two Kelly girls were married last April 19. One became a princess, the other a Bronx housewife. Their lives were bound to be different, but both hoped for happiness.

Everyone knows Princess Grace of Monaco, the former movie star Grace Kelly of Philadelphia. She and Prince Rainier III were married at the tiny Mediterranean principality amid pomp and ceremony.

On the same date, Peggy Kelly was married to Irish-born John Dillon in a modest ceremony. They set up housekeeping in a small apartment in the Bronx.

★ ★ ★

Princess Grace had a daughter, Princess Caroline, three months ago. Peggy is expecting a child in June. She recently gave up her job to prepare for the event.

Yesterday in her palace at Monte Carlo, Princess Grace entertained a group of American correspondents at a cocktail party. She was charming and gay as she regaled her guests with tales of her new life and her child.

Yesterday the other Kelly girl could think of nothing but a funeral taking place in Kilmorna, County Kerry, Ireland. Her husband's 70-year-old mother lives there. The mother became gravely ill and John flew to County Kerry to be with her.

John was to be away for a month, so plans had been made for a transatlantic phone call on April 19 to share in words, at least, their first wedding anniversary.

★ ★ ★

Princess Grace and Prince Rainier will observe their first anniversary together. It will be a quiet day since the date falls on Good Friday.

★ ★ ★

John will never see Peggy again. He never even got to see his ailing mother. Last Wednesday he rented a car at Kilmorna to get to his mother's farm. At a railroad crossing in sight of the farm, a train struck the auto and killed him instantly.

Student Guilty in Fatal Blaze

Once Wrote Story for Newspaper About Fire That Killed Three

MOSCOW, Idaho (AP) — A former journalism student, who was once assigned to write a story on a dormitory fire in which three died, was convicted of second degree murder last night for setting the fatal blaze.

A District Court jury of nine men and three women recommended psychiatric treatment for Paul D. Matovich, 21. The Kellogg, Idaho, youth, who once ran for president of the freshman class at the University of Idaho, had been charged with first degree murder and arson in the deaths of his fellow students.

The state had asked the death penalty for Matovich, claiming he had knowingly and willingly set a fire at Gault Hall early on the morning of Oct. 19 after an evening of beer drinking and then had gone to his room in a nearby dormitory and watched the blaze.

A written statement, in which Matovich admitted setting the Gault Hall fire and earlier blazes on the campus, was admitted in evidence over defense objections that it had been obtained under "duress."

Matovich was once assigned by the university paper to write a "sidebar" type story on the reactions of the relatives and friends of the victims. The story did not play "too important" a part in Matovich's arrest, investigators said.

★ ★ ★

The trial lasted eight days. Jurors had deliberated two days.

Before the funeral, Crabbe, one-time swimming star, told an interviewer that his daughter's eating habits were "horribly distorted" and that she "was obsessed with the idea she was overweight."

The girl's physician said he had been treating her for an emotional disturbance characterized by an inability to eat. She died in her sleep Wednesday at the home of her grandparents.

Exact cause of death — tentatively listed as malnutrition — will not be known until final results of an autopsy.

Little Gregory Laur, 2, lost his life in a raging fire which destroyed the home of his parents at Lake Nepassing, three miles from Lapeer last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Barry Laur, managers of the Lapeer Country Club, were at the club about 10 p.m., when their other son, Stewart, 8, came over to tell them their home was on fire.

★ ★ ★

Fire departments from Lapeer and Elba responded to calls, but the Laurs and others were unable to save Gregory from the blazing log cabin.

Firemen, who kept the blaze from destroying nearby cottages, found Gregory's body in the basement of the home sometime after midnight.

21 Nations Join in Ceremonies

Pan - American Union Honors Its Founding in All Member Countries

WASHINGTON — On April 14, Pan American Day, 21 nations of the Western Hemisphere celebrate a union which was first planned by Simon Bolivar, the great liberator of South America, in 1826.

The first Inter-American Conference was held at Washington, D.C. in 1889-90. Attending were 18 of the now 21 participating nations that reach from Canada to the tip of South America. Only the Dominican Republic was unable to accept. Cuba and Panama were not yet independent.

It was the era of gaslight, flowing mustaches, and flowing oratory. But the delegates did more than talk. Almost immediately they were taken on an extensive train tour of the United States. Lavishly entertained from Boston and New York to Louisville and Sioux City, they were shown the vast farming areas and burgeoning industries of the host nation.

Back in Washington, one of the conference's practical accomplishments was a resolution forming the International Union of American Republics, with a central Commercial Bureau to gather and distribute trade information among member countries.

The resolution was adopted on April 14, the date later selected to mark an annual Pan American Day. The first such day was celebrated in the United States in 1931, following presidential proclamation.

Since then, many communities have expanded the observance to Pan American Week, preceding April 14, when schools, clubs, and civic organizations put on special programs of classroom study, parades, and speeches.

Meantime, in 1910, the International Union's Commercial Bureau was given its now familiar name, Pan American Union. A handsome marble headquarters, the "House of the Americas," was built in Washington. The organization's activities and influence began a continuous process of expansion.

Today, the association of nations is officially known as OAS (Organization of American States). With its new title, adopted in 1948, came a charter outlining broad scope and authority to fulfill mutual needs.

MANY FIELDS OF INTEREST

Specifically, the work is carried on through treaties, agreements, and agencies operating in a dozen field, and as security, health, agriculture, housing, education, art, travel, and trade.

Each of the 21 nations is represented on a permanent council, group whose members hold ambassadorial rank, at the Washington headquarters. Including the 1890 meeting, 10 Inter-American Conferences have been held in capitals of the different countries.

Salk Vaccine Brings 50 Pct. Drop in Polio

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salk polio vaccine played a definite part in a better than 50 per cent decrease in the incidence of polio in the past year, the Public Health Service says.

The service said yesterday the states reported 560 polio cases from Jan. 1 to April 6, compared with 1,134 cases up to April 7 last year.

In the 1956-57 "disease year" which ended March 30, the service said 14,861 cases were reported, compared with 29,274 for the 1955-56 disease year. This year's figure was the lowest in 10 years.

Withdraws Bids to 2 Negroes

Virginia Chamber Head 'Regrets' Asking Pair to Annual Dinner

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The president of the Virginia Chamber of Commerce says it is regrettable two Negroes got invitations — which are being withdrawn — to a chamber dinner here next month.

Frank A. Ernst, manager of a Hopewell chemical plant, said clerical errors resulted in the names being included on a list of some 600 invitations which went out over the names of Ernst and Gov. Thomas B. Stanley.

The invitations were sent to Dr. Cilan B. Powell, 62, physician and publisher of the Amsterdam News in Harlem in New York City, and Mrs. Ella Phillips Stewart of Toledo, Ohio, a registered pharmacist and a member of the League of Women Voters.

Their names were included in a list of "distinguished Virginians' invited to a May 17 dinner as part of the 350th anniversary of the first permanent English settlement in America at Jamestown.

Powell said he received a telegram Tuesday asking that the invitation be returned. He said, however, he planned to attend unless Gov. Stanley personally withdrew the invitation.

★ ★ ★

Ernst said he saw no good reason for discussing the invitations except to say they were being withdrawn.

★ ★ ★

"I sincerely regret any embarrassment or attendant inconvenience to Dr. Powell," Ernst said before discovering the second erroneous invitation. "He and others must remember that the concept for the dinner from the very first was that this occasion definitely was to be a social event. I am sure that he, as a Virginia-born Negro, can appreciate this distinction."

Godfrey to Give Up Wednesday Show

NEW YORK (AP) — Arthur Godfrey says he will drop his Wednesday night "Arthur Godfrey Show" on television after the June 26 program.

The other Godfrey shows — his morning radio program and his Monday night "Arthur Godfrey Talent Scouts" — will continue.

"It's just too much work," the red-haired broadcaster said yesterday. "I want to be able to live a halfway decent life, and I haven't been able to do so with that schedule of mine."

Fetting to Be Sentenced in Slaying of Singer

Fetting, of Lexington Heights, has been held in the St. Clair County Jail since he pleaded guilty to a charge of manslaughter in the slaying. Maximum penalty is 15 years in prison.

At his justice court examination Fetting said he shot Barron after the singer taunted him about having dates with Mrs. Fetting. The singer was slain at him home north of Richmond.

"AWAY SHE GOES!" — Singer Kate Smith, shown in an imitation of Jackie Gleason, will head up an all-star cast on "The Kate Smith Hour" April 28 over ABC-TV. Although she enjoys making occasional television appearances, Kate says she has no desire to return to the grind of putting on a regular show.

Kate Smith Won't Return to Regular TV Program

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP)—Although Kate Smith stopped appearing regularly on television almost three years ago, the public has not yet stopped writing her and asking her to come back.

★ ★ ★

Now she is going to come back—for a single live hour on ABC-TV April 28. Featured with her on "The Kate Smith Hour" will be Benny Goodman, Boris Karloff, Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy, Gertrude Berg, Ed Wynn and the Billie Williams Quartet.

Would she want to return to television on a permanent basis?

"Thank you, no," she said recently. "It was wonderful — and it became a grind. Four years of a daily television show was enough."

People often ask her how she spends her time since she has confined her professional activities to occasional appearances on TV.

"There just aren't enough hours in a day," she says. "I go shopping and go to shows and visit friends. Nearly every evening I watch television."

Her manager, Ted Collins, cites some impressive statistics about her career. Although she never took a singing lesson, she is estimated to have earned about 35 million dollars as a singer. She has made nearly 10,500 radio broadcasts and 1,050 television appearances and recorded more than 2,200 songs.

Canada Knew Norman's Past

Pearson Says Nation Had Confidence in Late Envoy to Egypt

KINGSTON, Ont. (AP) — Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson said last night he felt the late ambassador Herbert Norman was condemned because of mistakes made in his youth and declared the diplomat had never done anything to shake the confidence of the Canadian government in his loyalty.

"Are we to condemn a young Canadian all his life because of this?"

Pearson said Norman later "learned he had had mistaken beliefs and had been following a false ideology." He added that the Canadian government was aware of Norman's past but had no desire to spread it in the public press.

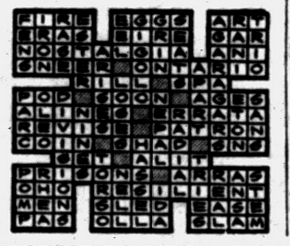

Canada has protested sharply to Washington against the U. S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee's action making public testimony linking Norman with communism. Norman killed himself April 4 in Cairo after the subcommittee report was made public. Pearson blamed his suicide on overwork and a "feeling of renewed persecution."

"It is intolerable," Pearson said, "when an agency of any government gets information of this type, especially of a high official, and does not send it to the government concerned for investigation."

He added that Canada is trying to prevent such occurrences in the future. He said it was the work of "two or three men and the U. S. government as a whole is just as indignant as we are." Pearson did not name the "two or three men" but he obviously referred to the Senate subcommittee.

New Citizen Joyful Over Traffic Ticket

TULSA (AP)—Joseph P. Hardt, a native German, received his first parking ticket five minutes after being naturalized as an American citizen.

He wrote to Mayor George E. Norvell, saying the ticket delighted him. He said he asked if he could be permitted to pay the fine but keep the red sticker as a reminder of what his citizenship means.

The mayor said that Hardt can keep the ticket and he will pay the $2 fine.

"We are happy to have you as an American citizen, Norvell wrote.
