Tshombe Back Under Scrutiny in His Palace

Katanga Chief Returns From Peace Pilgrimage to Disorganized Troops

From Our News Wires
ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was back under surveillance in his palace today after making a peace tour to the Rhodesian border and calling on his disorganized troops not to resist U. N. forces.

U. N. officials said Tshombe no longer was under house arrest because he showed willingness to cooperate with the United Nations. But they said he will have to observe the nightly curfew imposed on Elisabethville on Dec. 30 after U. N. forces seized control of the provincial capital.

A U. N. spokesman in New York said Tshombe will not be restrained otherwise unless he tries to incite Katangans against the United Nations or renews his call for a scorched-earth policy.

The South African Press Association reports that Tshombe is believed to have asked his government ministers to suspend all scorched-earth plans and meet him in Elisabethville for peace talks with the United Nations.

The news agency reported from Elisabethville that Tshombe "spoke from Elisabethville this morning to his ministers in Kolwezi over the Union Miniere du Haut Katanga radio network."

"It is believed Tshombe asked his ministers to come to Elisabethville and suspend all plans for blowing up the Kolwezi mining installations," the report said.

BUNCHE SUMMONED

Meanwhile at United Nations headquarters in New York Secretary General Thant summoned Undersecretary Ralph J. Bunche for further consultations today on the Congo situation and the next step to end Katanga's secession.

Bunche, one of Thant's chief trouble shooters, returned from the Congo late yesterday. He said he had no doubts that Katanga would be reintegrated into the Congo despite the opposition of Provincial President Moise Tshombe.

Thant also was consulting with Western ambassadors who were concerned over the order of the central Congolese government at Leopoldville expelling the British and Belgian consuls from Elisabethville.

Britons Quote JFK

News Snafu Riles Press

(Editor's Note — President Kennedy invited a group of reporters to a year-end chat Dec. 31. Under Kennedy's rules, news accounts of the conversation could be reported but without quoting him directly. This dispatch tells what happened when British reporters operated under different rules.)

By MERRIMAN SMITH
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON — Since President Kennedy won the 1960 election, there has been a theory in certain schools of opposition political thought that some reporters assigned to the White House are admirers of the administration.

Holders of this theory would have been rudely jolted yesterday to have heard snatches of conversation in the office of press secretary Pierre Salinger. His problem was this:

British newspapers, apparently with encouragement if not permission from a policy-level official within the White House, had printed verbatim quotations from President Kennedy's theoretically non-quotable, nonattributable Dec. 31 "background" conference in Palm Beach, Fla.

There were 35 reporters at the Palm Beach meeting, including representatives of two British newspapers who got in by virtue of their American citizenship.

The Daily Times of London and the Sunday Times, two different British publications of immense prestige in the United Kingdom, were not represented in Palm Beach.

Their Washington men, however, along with an undetermined number of other foreign reporters, were shown transcripts of Kennedy's Palm Beach remarks at the State Department.

The State Department was moved to widen the scope of Kennedy's semiprivate remarks because of undesirable European reaction to certain dispatches from Florida.

SECOND-HAND KNOWLEDGE

These European versions resulted from second-hand knowledge of what had been said at Palm Beach, and apparently overly free interpretation of original accounts in American newspapers.

Democrats Say State of State 'Too General'

Governor Disagrees, Backs Approach to Tax Reform

BY JIM DYGERT

LANSING—Gov. George Romney yesterday shrugged off Democratic objections of "too general" as "very light criticism" at a press conference following his State of the State Message to the legislature.

Stating, "I thought I was relatively specific," Romney said he will be sending further messages to the legislature spelling out his recommendations in detail.

He also replied to other criticism from Democrats of "too slow" and "postponing action" by insisting the best approach to tax reform was an orderly one with a complete study of government spending necessary first.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski and some key Democratic legislators had called the governor's address to a joint session of the House and Senate a "guideline for postponement of action."

They also objected to Romney's recommendation that tax reform be dealt with in a special fall session instead of immediately.

Romney stressed economy and efficiency in government as the first step toward solution of the state's problems in his 53-minute message.

Reaction from legislators indicated that, while most of Romney's program appeared headed for success, parts of it may run afoul of Republican as well as Democratic snags.

'TOO FAST'

Some House Republicans indicated they thought the first Republican governor of Michigan in 14 years was going "too fast."

Oakland County's legislative contingent expressed general approval, but both Republicans and Democrats indicated some reservations.

They predicted, however, that the majority of the governor's program would be enacted.

Romney's recommendations "contained the best of both party programs," commented Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Township.

But Hogan indicated some aspects of Romney's programs need more study, particularly the governor's urging for legislation enabling the state to join the federal government's program for aid to children of the unemployed.

Four Key Committee Jobs Go to County's Sen. Roberts

LANSING — Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, yesterday was named chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee and vice chairman of three other key Senate committees.

Roberts and other "moderates" who wrested control of the Senate's Republican majority from "old guard" GOP senators Dec. 27 placed their choices in all-important committee chairmanships.

Committee appointments became official late yesterday afternoon when the Senate accepted the report of the committee on committees after a two-day hassle by the committee's Democrats.

Roberts and three other "moderates," including Republican caucus leader Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor, held four of the six Republican seats on the committee.

Some 20 to 25 per cent of all bills are handled by the judiciary committee, including reapportionment legislation.

Sen. Frank Beadle, R-St. Clair, was named chairman of the powerful appropriations committee. Beadle joined the "moderates" in last year's efforts to pass a state income tax.

Roberts was named vice chairman of the taxation, labor and elections committees.

The three other Republican members of the labor committee, including Chairman Rep.

Robert Vanderlaan of Grand Rapids, are freshman legislators.

Chairman of the taxation committee is Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland.

For a while, senators thought they would have to convene again today as the Democratic members of the committee of committees, Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski, and the new Senate minority leader, Sen. Charles Blondy of Detroit, were divided over appointment of a Democratic member to the appropriations committee.

Republicans on the committee resolved the controversy by picking Blondy's choice, Sen. Philip Rahoi of Iron Mountain.

Area Dems Map Tactics to Get Funds; Await Hart

More votes than money, and not enough of either. That's the frustrating plight Oakland County Democrats are pondering today as they prepare to make an onslaught on the more discouraging of the two problems—money.

Flying in from Washington today to emphasize the importance of the effort, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., will give a pep talk to some 35 Democratic membership committee members at their 8 p.m. kickoff meeting today.

The meeting will start a three-month drive to reach a goal of 2,000 members paying dues of $2.50 each.

Democratic candidates received more than 100,000 votes each while losing countywide elections Nov. 6, but had only 613 dues-paying members during 1962.

"If we could get more of those who vote Democratic to give financial support to the party, we'd be in much better shape," says James M. McNeeley, executive assistant to Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

And there's plenty of room for improvement in the financial situation of the Democratic county organization, he said, improvement needed to make closer races in future elections.

A total of some $25,000 went into Democratic coffers in the county last year, while Republicans collected a total of $126,405 for the fall campaign alone, according to their campaign expense vouchers filed with the county clerk.

Although a good portion of the Republican money went into state party funds, the Democrats' $25,000 went for operating expenses during the year, as well as for the campaign.

NLMB, Miss McKellin taught home economics at Peotone (Ill.) High School and tested new equipment for the Sunbeam Corp.

Miss Meyer, who is responsible for the mechanics of the daily food presentations, graduated from Ohio University with a degree in home economics. She is a native of Elmhurst, Ill.

Cooking school sessions start at 2 p.m. each day. The east doors of the high school will be open at 1 p.m.

Two tickets per person for each performance are now available at the Press.

Cardinal Aided Ransom Effort

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has disclosed that he raised $1 million to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners.

In a statement appearing today in the archdiocesan weekly newspaper, The Pilot, he said he was disclosing his part in raising the ransom money because of "rumors crediting the gift as coming from sources with which I have no identification."

"It is appropriate and fitting for a Catholic prelate of the United States to have a part in the liberation of the Cuban fighters who love their country and the faith of their fathers," he said.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro made a last-minute demand for $2.9 million in cash before he would release 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners. He claimed the money was owed him for the release last April of 60 other prisoners, sick and wounded.

The money was in addition to the $53 million worth of food and drugs used to ransom the 1,113 prisoners. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of a committee which advised and assisted families of the prisoners, obtained a $1.9 million loan on his own signature. Then he sent telegrams to industry leaders seeking contributions toward the loan.

It was announced at the time that the other $1 million was contributed, at the request of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, by an anonymous donor.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said the cardinal pledged the money as the direct result of a telephone call from Kennedy asking for help. "There was no figure mentioned in the phone call," the spokesman said. "The attorney general just asked the cardinal what he could do to help."

Cardinal Cushing, he added, asked Kennedy to keep the $1 million donation anonymous. Kennedy did so.

Seek to Link Break-In and $75,000 Fire

Pontiac police entered the investigation of a $75,000 fire this morning at Catsman's Pontiac, Inc., when fire department investigators determined that the ready mix firm's gutted office building had been forcibly entered.

The fire was reported at 6 a.m. and controlled within 45 minutes. Damage to the building at 339 S. Paddock St. was set at $20,000 with $10,000 to contents.

In addition, damage of approximately $45,000 was placed on equipment adjacent to the building. A large batch mixer, an elevator used to carry materials to mixing towers and a tower were damaged.

One of the towers toppled over, damaging the roof of a nearby garage building.

DOOR FORCED OPEN
Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz and his investigating team linked the cause of the fire with a break-in when they discovered the rear door of the concrete block building had been forced open.

Further probing revealed that a money box had been opened and emptied of its contents and files had been disturbed.

Stanley W. Kurzman, who purchased the business from the Catsman firm in January 1961, said $245 in cash was in the box as well as some checks.

Metz said the fire started in a waste basket near the rear of the building where the money was kept. Metz added that the blaze may have started accidentally or it may have been deliberate.

Three Pontiac fire stations responded to the alarm.

stories which made Kennedy seem determined to boss the western alliance that the State Department, with White House assent, decided to call in selected foreign reporters. The Palm Beach admonition applied — no direct quotation, no direct attribution.

One of the men, representing the Daily Times of London, used two paragraphs of actual Kennedy quotes.

Henry Brandon of the Sunday Times, so other British reporters say rang up his friend, McGeorge Bundy, at the White House. Bundy is special assistant to the President for national security matters.

Brandon, in addition to being a clever writer and an energetic journalist, has better-than-usual contacts at the White House for a foreign reporter. He has seen the President several times privately and been a guest on the White House yacht, the Honey Fitz, at Newport, R.I.

What Brandon wanted was permission to quote directly from sections of the President's remarks having to do with Kennedy's views of U.S. leadership in the western alliance and the President's determination to forge ahead with the realization that U.S. policies might not always be popular with old friends overseas.

Brandon heard no objections from his White House contact, but was asked to check back with the State Department. In any case, when the Daily Times, without permission, quoted the President directly on Jan. 5, Brandon said "I then queried and got the okay" to proceed on his own.

REPORTERS ANGERED

When copies of the Jan. 5 story and Brandon's Jan. 6 column arrived here yesterday, they angered regular White House reporters who were at Palm Beach and who had obeyed Salinger's request that the President's remarks be attributed without quotation to "friends and associates."

There was one rather long and sometimes acrid session in Salinger's office yesterday. He was without publishable reaction to this simple inquiry: Why have we learn from British newspapers what the President said to American reporters?

There was no immediate answer from Salinger, but he bustled. Then, in the early afternoon he released a section of the Dec. 31 transcript which had been covered in the Brandon column.

The upshot of an interesting but sometimes tense day in the west wing of the White House was that the Palm Beach sessions at the end of each year probably will be altered extensively in their composition and rules, or abandoned altogether.

Freak Tornado Strikes Town in Tennessee

SPRING HILL, Tenn. (AP)—A freakish winter tornado hit this Middle Tennessee town early today, wrecked much of the business district, dozens of homes and destroyed two Negro churches.

The twister skipped over an orphanage where 180 children slept. No serious injuries were reported.

At least eight commercial buildings, including a bank, were smashed and half the Spring Hill High School was demolished.

A unit of the Tennessee National Guard was called out to help law enforcement officers search for the injured; clear debris and guard against looting.

Rushed to this town of 650 were units of the Tennessee Highway Patrol, civil defense, the State Highway Department and linemen from telephone and power companies.

The only damage reported at the Tennessee Orphanage Home, a Church of Christ institution, was a tin roof blown from a barn, and uprooted trees. The orphanage is only 2,000 yards from the smashed business district.

Mayor R. B. Toone said he understood all the orphans slept through the violent storm.

U.S. 31, running through the center of town, was closed to traffic for several hours after the twister hit. It was later reopened.

President's Opinion:

Polaris Longer Lasting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy believes one reason Britain accepted the Polaris missile is because it "offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period" than the abandoned Skybolt.

The President's views on the Skybolt controversy and the Anglo-American Nassau agreement are set forth in the partial transcript of remarks made by him on Dec. 31 at Palm Beach.

Reporters present at the interview were forbidden to quote what he said or disclose that he was the source. They were permitted only to attribute the President's remarks to the highest authority, unimpeachable sources, or Kennedy friends. The White House issued the partial transcript Thursday because of a dispute over what the President had actually said about Skybolt.

Kennedy was asked about the agreement made with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Nassau. Macmillan agreed to drop Britain's plan to use the bomber-launched Skybolt ballistic missile and to accept U.S. cooperation in building submarines for firing the Polaris missile, but with Britain providing her own nuclear warheads.

OUTLINES ALTERNATES

Kennedy outlined in the interview the alternate proposals offered Macmillan, then said this: "I think the British selected the Polaris option first because of the technical problems connected with Skybolt and, secondly, because Polaris offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period than Skybolt."

Here Kennedy appeared to be saying that the U.S. Navy's Polaris submarine-missile system will continue to be useful in posing a retaliatory threat for Russia for another 17 years.

Among other things, this could suggest a belief that Russia won't solve completely the art of anti-submarine warfare through the 1970s.

Kennedy also said he found peculiar the statements of "these people who say we are trying to phase out the manned bombers and have an over-reliance on missiles."

To read that point of view, Kennedy said, one would think the Skybolt was a gravity bomb instead of actually being a missile intended for launching from a movable base (a plane) and traveling to a range of 1,000 miles.

"You are, almost going around a full circle to use Skybolt," the President said of this argument. "What you are joining together is a weapon which time is dealing some blows to, which is the bomber, and you are joining the most sophisticated missile and putting them together."

Link House Fire to Cut Gas Line

Bloomfield Hills Home Hit by $200,000 Blaze

A broken gas line was the cause of a fire yesterday that swept through the Bloomfield Hills home of the Dr. Ralph Margulis family at 150 Martell Drive, according to Robert Stadler, director of public safety.

Dr. Margulis estimated damage to the tri-level home and contents at well over $200,000.

A construction worker, Clarence Cook of 26790 Alger St., Madison Heights, told firemen he was working with two other men moving an underground water tank from one spot to another.

His shovel, he said, accidentally broke through a gas line sending a spark to the furnace inside the lower level, causing a small explosion.

Within minutes the entire level was in flames.

Mrs. Margulis was away at the time, and her disabled mother, Mrs. Anga Ciccarelli, was alone with the maid. Cook rushed inside and carried the woman out saying, "This whole place might blow up any minute."

The maid, Alma Leil, followed. Cook then notified the Bloomfield Hills Fire Department, which in turn, called the Bloomfield Township, Troy and Cranbrook Foundation fire departments.

Tanker trucks immediately took positions at various swimming pools in the neighborhood and pumped water to the burning building.

Romney Backs Bid to Lure Conventions

DETROIT (AP) — Gov. George Romney said today he would give his full support to a campaign to attract either the Democratic or Republican national conventions—or both of them—to Detroit in 1964.

Romney promised to do everything he could, especially, to bring the Republican convention to Detroit.

"I might quickly add," Romney said, "that there is no connection between this desire and my personal political plans in 1964."

Study 'Hills' Property in Land Reassessment

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A reassessment study of all property in Bloomfield Hills, the first since 1955, is under way here, City Assessor Elmer Kephart said today.

Kephart said field workers from the Ann Arbor branch of Associated Surveys, Inc., yesterday started visiting homes and business places in the city.

They will be conducting the door-to-door studies for assessment purposes throughout the balance of January.

Kephart said the firm is expected to complete its study, including all paper work, by March 1 so property owners can learn their new assessments in time for the first board of review meeting March 9.

Each piece of property in the city will be studied, explained Kephart. He said it will be necessary for assessors to enter all homes and business places.

Each field worker will carry identification cards and property descriptions, he noted.

Total assessed valuation of Bloomfield Hills in 1962 was $12,042,300, according to the city assessor.

It is customary for municipalities to have reassessment studies at five-year intervals, Kephart said.

The Ruth Shain class in international affairs resumes Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Birmingham Community House.

Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis, past president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women and former Birmingham representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, will review "Age of Overkill," a book by Max Lerner.

A dessert card party will be held 8 p.m. Jan. 18 at Marian High School, 7225 Lahser Road, Bloomfield Township, under the sponsorship of the school's Mothers Club. Proceeds will be used for the school library.

Presidents Often Lose News Cloaks

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — Birdie told me. Increasingly over the years many stories have sounded as if a birdie told reporters what President Kennedy or Eisenhower or some official had on his mind.

These stories come out of so-called background conferences, with a president or official, where the rule is laid down beforehand that MARLOW the one doing the talking must not be identified by direct quotes.

So the stories use the transparent device of saying the information came from various sources described as "high" or "reliable" or "authoritative."

The least an unsuspecting reader can conclude, from two columns on a personally conducted tour of the presidential mind, is that the President must have some awfully gabby friends.

The trouble with them is that the birdie sometimes lays an egg; someone not present at the conference and therefore not bound by the rules finds out for a fact the President did the talking and says so in print.

Thus all the time and care that went into arranging the background and concealing the presidential identity goes out the window. It happened to Eisenhower. Now it has happened to Kennedy.

In 1959 Eisenhower had a series of White House background dinners for a select group of newsmen who went out and wrote what he said he thought without saying he said it.

Then at a public news conference one reporter, not at the dinners, asked Eisenhower bluntly if he wasn't the one who had done the talking. He admitted he was.

And he said he wasn't sure these background dinners were a good practice. But he continued them.

Twice in a row—at the end of 1961 and the end of 1962—Kennedy held similar background dinners at Palm Beach. And both times the reporters present wrote stories on what he thought without saying he told them.

Both times other newsmen, not in on the backgrounders, followed up by saying Kennedy was the "high authority" and the "informed source" who had talked to reporters.

JFK RILED NOW
Kennedy seems burned up this time at the disclosure. On Thursday his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, said Kennedy may cut out these New Year's sessions with the press.

The background, with a president or anyone else, has never been a happy arrangement because, basically, there is concealment from the public in the very process of trying to inform the public.

Nevertheless, reporters take part in them, if this is the only way to get information, because it's their job to get news. The theory here seems to be that some information is better than none.

But it's a system which feeds on itself. There are more and more background conferences, not only with Kennedy but with various officials below the White House level.

For example: Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He has held only 17 news conferences in two years. The last was Dec. 10. The one before was last July 12.

Yet, in those two years he has held many background conferences, here and abroad, with newsmen, particularly the kind that goes the background on the ground.

Reporters attending this kind of stories became omniscient and claim to know what "Washington is thinking."

A real danger in a background is that a member of the administration, any administration, can try to influence public opinion without taking public responsibility for what he says.

Convict Hoods in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Two members of a gang that invaded the homes of well-to-do Chicago and suburban families, robbing and allegedly torturing their victims, have been convicted of robbery.

Frank Yonder, 23, a former Chicago beautician, and Nicholas Guido, 41, of Joliet, reportedly the gang leader, were convicted by a criminal court jury that deliberated 2 hours, 40 minutes.

The two were charged with the May 28, 1962, robbery of the C. Laury Bothof home near the exclusive north suburb of Winnetka.

Post trial motions are to be heard Jan. 16.

The state case pivoted on testimony by Guido's wife Patricia and Duane Pinkowski, an admitted member of the gang.

Guido and Yonder were arrested in Michigan—initially because they were driving in the wrong lane of divided highway M17 near Ypsilanti.

When police approached the halted car, the two men fled on foot into a nearby field. Guido was recaptured immediately. Yonder was flushed out later.

Southern Solon Readies Filibuster Fight

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP) — Southern Republicans, more than tripling their congressional vote over the last nonpresidential election, have made significant inroads into Democratic strength in metropolitan areas, an Associated Press survey of the 1962 election showed today.

While Democrats maintained their traditional hold in Southern rural areas, the GOP continued to chip away in the cities, a process started in the two presidential races of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Like the North, the South seems

BACKGROUND OF THE NEWS

on its way to a situation where rural districts are largely one-party, while Democrats and Republicans wage fierce battles for urban and suburban congressional seats.

Republicans added four House seats to the seven they held in the 11 states of the Confederacy. GOP gains were marginal in seven other of the 106 Southern districts, where Democrats won by less than 10,000 votes.

Republican gains came in districts that included Chattanooga, Tenn.; El Paso, Tex.; and the Orlando-Cape Canaveral area of Florida's East Coast.

OTHER STRENGTHS

Republicans also ran unusually strongly in districts that included Miami, Fla.; Houston, Tex.; Memphis, Tenn.; Atlanta, Ga.; and Richmond, Va.

They held districts that include Dallas, Tex.; Charlotte, N.C.; Roanoke and Arlington, Va. and St. Petersburg, Fla.

The total Republican congressional vote in the 11-state region rose from 599,601 in 1958 and 1,745,937 in 1960, to 1,901,856, or 31.1 per cent of the two-party total, a sharp rise from 21.8 per cent two years ago. The Democrats lost more than 2,000,000 votes from their 1960 total, dropping from 6,272,620 to 4,219,888.

Although the GOP congressional percentage still stood far below the party's percentage in the last presidential election — 47.7 — in many districts, it began to approach the presidential figure.

The disparity for the South as a whole was caused by the fact that 49 Democrats were elected without Republican opposition. However, this is the smallest number in this century and a far cry from the 82 elected unopposed four years ago.

For the first time, Republican gains indicated significant party switches on levels below the presidential. Earlier Republican congressional successes had come largely in areas of traditional Republican strength—such as mountainous eastern Tennessee—or in places where the party had unusually attractive candidates.

SOCIAL SUCCESSES

This change is demonstrated by a series of completely unexpected Republican successes in local contests in the South, including a sweep of all positions in three North Carolina counties and election of four Georgia legislators, a net gain of two. In Alabama and South Carolina, Republican senatorial candidates James Martin and W. D. Workman Jr. ran remarkable statewide races before succumbing to Sens. Lister Hill and Olin D. Johnston, respectively.

Some races were affected by local issues. It is unlikely, for example, that Republican Ed Foreman would have had such an easy time ousting Rep. J. T. Rutherford in Texas' 16th District, if Rutherford hadn't acknowledged accepting favors from bankrupt promoter Billie Sol Estes.

But in every major Southern city except New Orleans, Little Rock, Nashville and Jackson, Miss., the Republicans put on a banner showing.

A similar survey after the 1960 presidential election indicated that Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the Republican standard-bearer, had failed to run as strongly as Eisenhower in the South.

But Nixon did very well in the metropolitan areas, further strengthening their role as a possible nucleus for increased GOP gains in future elections.

Republican gains this year also went beyond the cities and their suburbs. Nine of the 11 states gave the GOP a greater percentage over 1960. The exceptions were Mississippi, where no Republicans ran, and Louisiana, Louisiana has its increasingly South.

Republican areas, too. The 4th congressional district, centered around Shreveport in the northwestern part of the state, gave a majority to Republican senatorial candidate Taylor W. O'Hearn and last year nearly elected a Republican congressman, although Rep. Joe Waggonner Jr. ran unopposed this time.

The most spectacular GOP upsurge was in Texas, where the party's congressional percentage jumped from 15 to 33 in two years. Alabama, Florida and Virginia also showed large Republican gains in an election that might be regarded in the future as the genesis of the two-party South.

Alley Requests Due for Commission Rule

Recommendations concerning city vacation of three alleys will be placed before the City Commission for action Tuesday night.

The three recommendations were made by the Pontiac Planning Commission at its January meeting Wednesday night.

Planning commissioners rejected all or part of each request to vacate.

One recommends that the City Commission deny a request to vacate an alley between Lounsbury and Montcalm, running from Blaine to Stanley.

Property owners in the area made the request on grounds that the alley hasn't been used in recent years.

Strong objections were voiced by public utility companies and owners of commercial establishments on Montcalm who said they needed the alley right-of-way.

A request to vacate all of an alley running west from University, between Walton Boulevard and Lehigh Street, was denied. Planners, instead, recommended vacating only a 100-foot portion of the alley.

Commissioners voted 7-1 to recommend reducing right-of-way from 20 to 15 feet on an alley at the northwest corner of Oakland Avenue and Wisner Street.

Commissioner Loy L. Ledford cast the lone negative vote. The original request had been to vacate the whole alley.

Wife Takes 'Gee Whiz' Test

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — According to an old definition, news is something that causes your wife to say "Gee Whiz" when she hears it.

During the opening rites of Congress this week, I picked up several items that I wasn't certain were news. So I took them home to check my wife's reaction.

First I showed her a press release put out by the office of Rep. Edward J. Patten, D-N.J. It said:

"Congressman Edward J. Patten, D-N.J., joined President and Mrs. Kennedy, members of Congress, Supreme Court, diplomatic corps and the arts, and other VIPs, Tuesday night, at a special showing of the Mona Lisa in the capital."

"Patten and Mrs. Patten were invited to the viewing of the famous Leonardo da Vinci painting by the National Gal-

Sen. George David Aiken, R-Vt., for the position of Senate president pro tempore. Dirksen said:

"I am confident that he (Aiken) will reach into the brook of Elah, and there found smooth stones for his slingshot with which to humble Goliath."

"Andre Malraux, French minister of culture, who arranged for the Mona Lisa display and its first transatlantic trip; President and Mrs. Kennedy; French Ambassador and Mrs. Herv Alphonse; Chief Justice Earl Warren, who served as master of ceremonies at the affair; Patten; and other luminaries, passed under the special canopy . . ."

My wife said "Holy smokes!"

LIKE DAVID OF OLD

Then I read excerpts from a speech by Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., in nominating en) will be like his namesake, David of old, who reached into the brook of Elah, and there found smooth stones for his slingshot with which to humble Goliath.

"In the same spirit, George Aiken will reach into the brook of Elah, wherever it may be in Vermont, and with smooth stones vanquish all the Philistine forces of evil which either threaten or jeopardize this republic."

My wife said "Golly Moses!"

Then I read a press release from the office of Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., which said that Dingell had "once again demonstrated his overriding concern for human rights." My wife said "Land o' Goshen!"

Next I read a statement from the office of Rep. John S. Monagan, D-Conn., which said that Monagan had "reached a peak of popularity in the 1962 election campaign." My wife said "Good grief!"

Since none of these items seemed to pass the test for news, I told my wife I would write a column praising members of Congress for their modesty.

My wife said "Gee whiz!"

New Unit Formed by Catholic Bishops

DETROIT (AP) — Roman Catholic bishops of Michigan yesterday formed a new agency in the first all-out attempt to organize Catholic opinion in Michigan on issues other than those in the field of charity.

Formation of the Michigan Catholic conference, called a counterpart of the Michigan (Protestant) Council of Churches, was announced by the most Rev. John F. Dearden, archbishop of Detroit.

The agency's main offices will be in Lansing.

Other founding bishops of the organization are the Most Rev. Joseph H. Albers of Lansing, the Most Rev. Thomas L. Noa of Marquette, the Most Rev. Stephen Woznicki of Saginaw and the Most Rev. Allen J. Babcock of Grand Rapids.

Francis J. Coomes of East Lansing, executive director of the conference, said the agency will differ from those in three other states (Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania) in that "it will involve laymen more directly."

MOORE DIRECT LINK

Said Archbishop Dearden: "Our principal purpose in establishing the agency is to provide a vehicle which will allow lay leaders to work more directly with the bishops in areas in which the church has a vital interest."

"There are significant changes taking place in our society and the bishops feel that the services of laymen in a voluntary capacity can be invaluable in keeping abreast of these changes."

The agency's formation comes within a month of the close of the first session of the second Vatican Ecumenical Council in Rome.

The council's concessions on the liturgy, namely permitting bishops to make some language changes at their discretion, paves the way for similar action on other issues, Archbishop Dearden said.

The new organization is expected to push more church cooperation in the state on moral issues that concern most of the various religious leaders.

The Ecumenical Council gave its support to this approach by admitting non-Catholic observers to the council.

Formation of the agency was described as "seemingly to be a very wise one" by the Rev. Dr. G. Merrill Lenox, executive director of the Detroit and Michigan Council of Churches.

"It is a good thing for any religious group to have an instrument through which it can speak unitedly," he said.

Lay and clergy volunteers will comprise the staff of the Michigan Catholic Conference and will work on research programs and recommend policy in each of the departments.

Youth Bill Is No. 1 in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—A youth employment bill has been given the inside track in the 88th Congress and its backers hope to see it passed before Easter.

The bill, which would establish a conservation corps for youths 16 to 21, was given the coveted No. 1 designation in both the House and Senate.

As the Senate's first bill, it will be introduced by Sen. Hubert H. when the Senate starts business, and as the first in the House it opening session by Rep. John Blatnik, D-Minn.

The designation of the youth employment bill for the lead spot in both the House and Senate indicates the high priority enjoyed by the measure, which died last year in the House Rules Committee.

The strategy this year apparently is to have it one of the first to reach the rules committee so Chairman Howard W. Smith, D-Va., who opposes it, won't be able to plead the press of other measures in passing it over.

President Kennedy is expected to give the bill a push in his message to Congress. He stressed the need for it several times last year as a means of getting youths who drop out of school off the streets and the unemployment rolls. In addition to a conservation corps the bill would provide for a program of local public service work projects for both young men and women.

Adams Descendant Succumbs to Illness

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — John Henry Adams, 62, a direct descendant of Presidents John Adams and John Quincy Adams, died in San Francisco Wednesday after a long illness.

He was the great-great-great grandson of the second president and the great-great-great grandson of John Quincy Adams, the sixth president.

John Henry Adams wore the Adams family gold seal ring brought originally from England. He was supervisor of pipefitters at the Navy's San Francisco shipyard for 16 years until an accident five years ago.

Pope John Happy With Council

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — Pope John XXIII said yesterday that "all the hopes conceived for the Ecumenical Council have been in fact greatly exceeded."

The Pope, speaking at a traditional new year audience for the Roman nobility, said that "a fullness and a spontaneity, a cordiality and an exceptional impetus" had been established in Sept. 8, the first session of the council, which ended Dec. 8.

"These impressions are confirmed by the echoes that are found in publications or in conversations with wise and authoritative persons and that increase the gladness and the sweetness in our hearts," he added.

Pope John said this result from the first session of the council raises hopes that in the future the council may be able to exceed "even the best expectations."

The council, aimed at bringing the Catholic Church up to date and promoting the long-range goal of Christian unity, will reconvene in St. Peter's Basilica Goldwater Wants 'Time to Decide'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., says he has asked friends who want to push him into the 1964 presidential picture to give him a year to make up his mind.

Goldwater told a reporter Thursday, "I'd rather stay in a fluid position and see how the situation looks."

He repeated previous assertions that his present intention is to seek re-election to the Senate.

About 90 per cent of the world's population uses the metric system of weights and measures.

Romney Off to Excellent Start

Michigan taxpayers, along with a joint session of the House and Senate, had the opportunity yesterday to listen to Gov. GEORGE ROMNEY deliver his first State of the State message.

His 8,000-word speech followed the same orderly, analytical approach that is fast becoming his trademark. The speech was not a glowing bit of oratory merely filled with promises.

Instead, the Governor discussed our problems and outlined categorically the methods he felt, after careful analysis, would best serve the State.

In facing up to our many problems, he stressed the fact that economy and efficiency must work together. The general theme of the talk seemed to indicate that Gov. Romney is not rushing forward with all types of new and revolutionary legislation.

During the course of the address, he pointed out that he will present a balanced budget and that certain other legislative matters will receive attention in the order which he has designated.

This is sound reasoning backed up by the fact that tax reform is one of our most pressing problems and should be handled separately. By not pushing ahead with everything all at once, Gov. Romney will give some of his special committees, such as the CPA's, time to study and make recommendations.

Further, the new constitution will be voted on in April, which will have a bearing on upcoming legislation. Consequently, his suggestion for a short session now and another early in the fall seems like a fine business-like approach.

The details on specific points have been carried elsewhere in this newspaper. We are merely commenting on what we feel appears to be a workable team effort to establish a program which can be jointly worked out to restore confidence and set our state in go-ahead position.

We feel that Gov. ROMNEY's keen organizational legislative program is a giant step in the right direction to bring Michigan back to the over-all eminence it once enjoyed.

Skip Houseboat, Pass Up Bargain

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK—So we built this house on the seashore at the cost of our life savings.

Had to hire a man to live there year 'round to keep its land scaped, and its brass doorknobs from corroding. Paid $900 annual insurance against hurricanes and tidal waves.

And now they tell us. Now they tell us we could have built a similar sized houseboat at far less cost. With no real estate taxes. Much lower hurricane insurance. No land-scaping necessary.

And far less upkeep from dampness, mildew and sea spray corrosion than a shore house.

"The houseboat," wrote a gentleman named David X. Manners, "has all the merits of a waterfront home, but with no grounds to maintain and no real estate tax to pay. It answers the needs of wanderlust, for it can be towed to new water when you tire of the old."

"Is it any wonder houseboats are enjoying a boom?"

No, it isn't. The only wonder is that people like us never even considered the possibility.

Our recollections of houseboats went back to the days of extreme youth when this kind of living was about as luxurious as big family residence aboard a junk in Hong Kong Harbor.

We hadn't seen the new "floating house," as it's chically known today, equipped with everything from wall-to-wall carpeting, all-glass parlors leading onto mammoth patios, central heating and air-conditioning, to circular staircases, woodburning fireplaces and large, pontoon-floated swimming pools sunk in the decks.

TOPS FOR RETIREES

And all for less initial money (a good hull is cheaper than a good plot of ground), not to mention upkeep, than a land-locked manse.

Manners made a complete survey of the luxury floating house picture and reports that, particularly for retired people, the houseboat is "gracious living, with added interest, zest and dimension."

Of course, the houseboat is one of the oldest forms of architecture, all over the world. It has always been a most economical way of life, which is why in past centuries only the poor people lived on it.

But now it has become "quality" living for shrewd people who are tired of moving lawns and raking leaves.

It is built much the same way as any other kind of "good house," except that its foundation is a good hull that can be anchored where the view is magnificent and the fishin' is easy.

The new hulls are usually made of fiberglass, which is not subject to marine attack and never needs repainting.

Any accumulation of barnacles or moss on its bottom only gives it more stability in the water. It is virtually unsinkable.

HURRICANE DAMAGE LOW

This latter point is proven by the insurance rates.

Even hurricane coverage is much lower on a floating house than on a house firmly rooted on land near-the water.

Reason: Most hurricane damage is from rising tides. A houseboat just grabs the tide and rides with it—and the new anchors used on houseboats are wonderful: The harder the pull, the deeper they dig in.

So you may be seasick in a hurricane, if you choose to stay home and watch the wonder of it, but insurance companies are betting you won't be sunk.

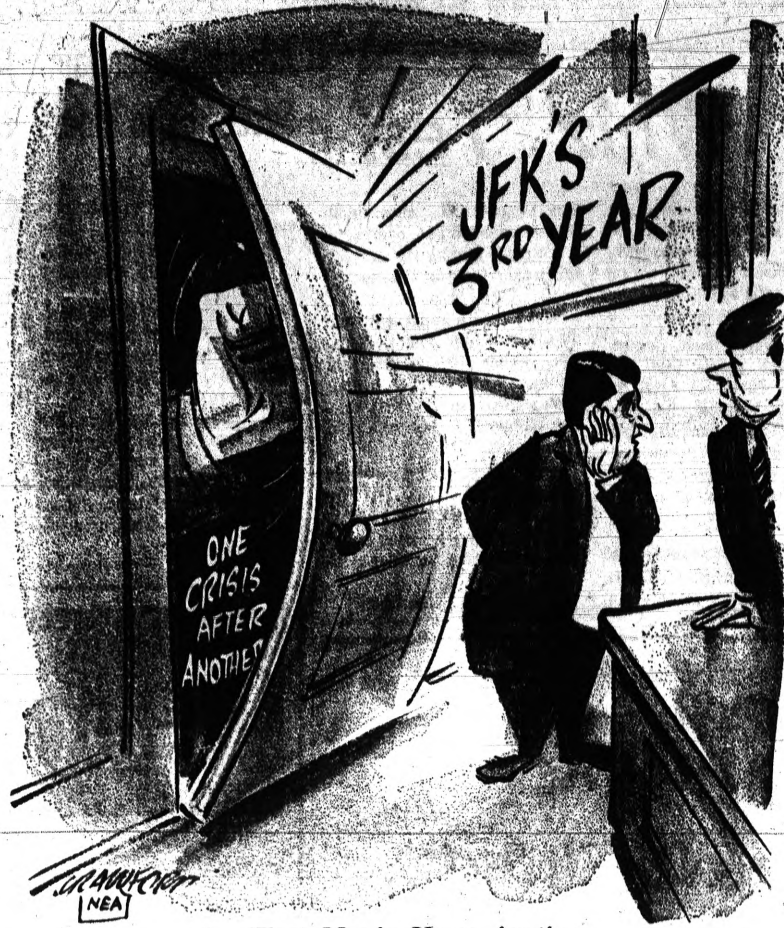

Whenever I think of it, I am absolutely green, and not with queasiness. With envy.

That Man's Here Again

Need Preparation for Integration

WASHINGTON—A ray of light has come at last into the controversy over "integration" in the public schools. It came as a result of the Thanksgiving Day race riot here when the football teams from two high schools—one almost entirely white and the other predominantly colored—met in an all-city championship game.

In keeping with the sincere efforts of many people to find some human solution of the friction over school integration, the local superintendent of schools, Carl F. Hansen, appointed a special commission of prominent men and women, Negro and white, to investigate what happened and to make recommendations.

The report is a lengthy one and deserves national attention. It should be widely publicized, at least among educators who are grappling with the problem of enforced integration in the public schools.

Dr. Shane MacCarthy, who was a prime mover in the national program for youth fitness under President Eisenhower, headed the commission. In his letter submitting the report, he says in part:

"Integration is a most complicated undertaking. It is not accomplished simply by opening class room doors. It is not brought about by a paper decision to recognize the rights of fellow citizens. It is not achieved by an emotional urge that follows the prodding of the heart rather than the leadership of the head.

We do a grave disservice to boys and girls of both races when we direct them to integrate and thrust them into indiscriminate mingling without the thorough preparation which is a mandate for success in any undertaking."

WON'T TESTIFY

Some of the teachers in the city's schools declined to testify at the commission's hearings. Some did so privately. Dr. MacCarthy adds:

"Not a single teacher to whom I have spoken in the past few weeks was surprised that the outbreak (on Thanksgiving Day) took place. Uniformly came the response, 'Why should we be? We live with this brand of conduct every day in the schools.'"

The statement by Dr. MacCarthy also declares that teachers are reluctant to report to the police misconduct in everyday life at the schools, and that crime goes unpunished.

The fact stands out that conditions in the schools produced the tragic episode, almost unparalleled in the history of the country, as mob violence erupted during and after a game between teams from an almost all-white Catholic high school and an almost all-Negro public high school. There were 50,000 people in the stands.

Officially listed at the time as injured and requiring medical treatment were 35 white persons and seven Negroes. The new report confirms that several hundred other individuals were attacked and sustained injuries of one kind or another.

NOT THE ANSWER

The lesson which all this teaching, of course, is that federal troops occupying the campus of the University of Mississippi do not furnish the answer to the integration problem. Nor do the constant stories in the press about students' jeering of James Meredith touch any more than the superficial aspects of the controversy. The crusade for votes by the politicians who wish to capitalize on "integration" has ignored the fundamental human aspects.

The problems of human relationship will certainly never be solved by bayonets or by sit-in demonstrations or "free dom rides" or other agitation of that kind. Conformity by coercion will never succeed. An adjustment of race relations will come only when both sides determine what is the practicable and human thing to do, irrespective of the legal phraseology of federal court orders.

Hal Boyle Recalls:

Soldier's Paralyzed Arm Felt Guilty About Deed

NEW YORK (AP)—One of the frustrations of war reporting is that often you never learn the end of a story—how things finally come out for individuals you meet.

An incident I have in mind is the strange case of a soldier whose arm felt guilty.

One morning I went to an American field hospital in the town. The sky was bright, the day was clear, and the war seemed far away. It did, that is, until I entered the hospital and saw the souvenirs war always leaves—men wearing white bandages stained red.

A bed held a thin, young, dark-eyed Jewish private. He had a sensitive face, and looked more like a student violinist than a soldier. He wore no bandage that I could see, but there was an air of immeasurable listlessness about him.

After a short chat, he began to tell me his story. As I recall it now, he had been on a patrol, and the patrol was surprised by Nazi troops.

The other members of the American patrol scattered or were killed in hand to hand combat.

BAYONET FIGHT

Suddenly the young Jewish soldier found himself alone facing two of the enemy closing in on him fast.

This young soldier, who had never met an enemy before, had no time to aim and fire.

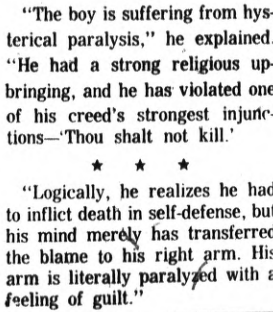

Instinctively, he lunged forward with his bayonet and killed one of the Nazis instantly.

He whirled. The second Nazi was about to fire. The young soldier thrust the bayonet forward again with all his might. He felt it go to the hilt through soft flesh.

"I'll never forget his face," said the young American. "His gun dropped from his hand, and he looked surprised, as if he couldn't believe this had happened to him. When I pulled out the bayonet, he fell to the ground. And he lay there in the mud, crying in German for his mother, until he died."

"Were you wounded?" I asked. "No, I'm all right," he replied listlessly. "It's just my arm. My right arm. It won't work."

Puzzled, I went back to the doctor.

I'm sure thousands of people feel we should have a suitable mansion for our governor. Let's take the lead in Oakland County. It's long overdue.

The citizens could put in their dimes and dollars and build it by popular subscription, if the legislature won't act. The monies could be held in a trust fund.

Further Comment on United Nations

It may be that the United Nations is not responsible for the conduct of the badly disciplined African soldiers who have disgraced the organization's name in Africa, but the United Nations must bear the same responsibility, as would any government waging war at a distance by means of soldiers exceeding or defying a directive.

Luntly Fiddsome

Britain is right to express her dissent from the clumsy attempts of the United Nations to make an African constitution with a mailed fist. The United Nations action has complicated rather than simplified the problem.

End of the Line

Chicago's American

In this land of free enterprise if a man wants to start a business he may—and if he wants to stop a business because he is losing money—he can.

For more than four years the Chicago North Shore and Milwaukee Railway has been trying to go out of business because it is losing too much money to stay in business. In November of this year the line lost, after depreciation, $77,332.19. For the first 11 months of 1962 the loss after depreciation was $510,705.54.

Passenger traffic on the line has suffered a 25 per cent decline since 1959, and the decline has been marked every month since June of 1960. Currently the line is carrying 4.2 million passengers annually. Harold Mason, president of the line, says: "We couldn't break even if we had a million more passengers a year."

The loudest cries of anguish over the possible shutting down have come from suburbanites. But the suburbs have not done one thing to ease the financial burdens. Some local communities still tax the line with special assessments. On Jan. 21 the North Shore Line is to be shut down—provided no restraining order is issued by the courts. In the interest of a declining passenger load, heavy losses—and free enterprise—we say, let the railroad stop running.

FORD

Legislator From State Playing Important Role

Michigan is climbing in Washington.

GERALD R. FORD, legislator from Grand Rapids, steps into the chairmanship of the House Republican caucus after a spirited contest with veteran HOEVEN of Iowa.

Sections of the GOP decided that youth must play a bigger part in its advance plans and deliberations. Michigan's "Jerry" Ford has become well established in the House as one of the exceptionally capable and progressive younger men, and those favoring the switch picked him as their spearhead.

It was a battle and the vote was 88 to 78. Apparently the outcome was accepted philosophically by the losers, which show the GOP will continue with the same general cohesion it has enjoyed in the past.

Youth Worker Dies of Gang War Injuries

NEW YORK (AP)—A youth worker died this week of injuries suffered when he tried to prevent a clash between two rival Harlem street gangs, the "Playboys" and the "Untouchables."

The victim was Louis C. Marsh, 29-year-old Negro employee of the City Youth Board, who came here from Philadelphia last May.

He had attended Temple University and Yale Divinity School.

Police said Marsh was knocked unconscious Monday night after a dozen or more youths closed in on him as he sought to keep the gangs from tangling.

He was found on the pavement by a passerby and taken to Metropolitan Hospital.

Four youths have been rounded up and charged with felonious assault in connection with the case.

Police said no racial issue was involved in the incident. Each gang has both Negro and white members.

Congress Action Slips Backstage

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Action in the new 88th Congress moved backstage today with House Democrats and Republicans feuding separately over key committee and leadership posts.

Outcome of their intramural squabbles could bear heavily on the fate of some of President Kennedy's legislative proposals including his controversial plan for hospital care for the aged.

After a fast, furious take-off Wednesday, followed by routine talkfests and no action yesterday, the new Congress was in recess until Monday when Kennedy will deliver his State of the Union Message to a joint House-Senate session at 12:30 p.m. EST.

At private huddles all over the newly refurbished Capitol and its associated array of office buildings, speculation centered on who will fill two Democratic vacancies on the House Ways & Means Committee, which will handle not only the Medicare plan but the President's plea for a tax cut.

DIXIE FAVORED

Rep. Phil Landrum, D-Ga., appeared to be a favorite for one of the two posts, with the other to go to either Rep. Ross Bass, D-Tenn., or Rep. Pat Jennings, D-Va.

Landrum has made no public commitment on Medicare. Bass and Jennings are reported ready to support the President's plan. The committee is so closely divided a difference of one or two votes could be crucial.

Meantime, Young Turk Republicans, who Tuesday ousted their old guard caucus chairman and installed a younger man of their own, kept a watchful eye on pending GOP committee assignments.

Some of the younger Republican members were said to entertain hopes of upsetting one key leadership choice made yesterday by a GOP committee on committees — reassignment of Rep. Leslie C. Arends, Ill., as party whip.

Actually, such an upset seemed unlikely, though one of the young Turk spokesmen said both Arends and GOP Leader

Charles A. Halleck, Ind., now were on notice that the youngsters wanted a more effective voice in Republican affairs in the House.

In the Senate the only activity scheduled today was a briefing on the world situation for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Secretary of State Dean Rusk and two other committee hearings.

FIREWORKS MONDAY

The first Senate fireworks will come late Monday or Tuesday after Kennedy's address when the senators plunge into the first round of the battle over changing antififtbuster rules.

The struggle over tightening curbs on debate could last for two weeks or even longer.

No Senate legislation will be passed until the issue is cleared up and there probably will be no major committee action, either.

In addition to his State of the Union Message Monday, Kennedy will submit his new federal budget to Congress Thursday and send his annual economic report to the legislators a week from Monday.

These messages will outline the pattern of the President's program for the coming year. Still gram for the coming year. Still later this month, the White House said, Kennedy is expected to send Congress a special message on taxes.

In his nationally televised appearance Monday, the President will set forth the legislative program he hopes Congress will give him.

He is expected to renew requests for key New Frontier proposals that were rejected during his first two years in office — medical care for the aged, aid to education and creation of a department of urban affairs.

Kennedy's budget message will raise the issue of federal spending. He is expected to ask for a $99-billion spending program — a record peacetime high.

The previous peacetime record was the $92.5 billion he asked last year, and this already has been exceeded by expenditures.

The President's economic message probably will lay the groundwork for his tax-cut proposals.

Kennedy and his top advisers are convinced that the national economy is overly sluggish and tax reduction and reform are needed as a stimulant.

Cancels Conference Because of Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has canceled the news conference he had scheduled for 4 p.m. Wednesday.

In making the announcement Thursday, press secretary Pierre Salinger said the conference was called off because of the President's schedule of messages to Congress, beginning with his personal appearance before a joint session Monday.

New Deal Senator Back as Rep. Frosh

WASHINGTON (AP)—The gray-haired, red-faced man leaned back and let the voice roll on with a river of words.

It was the same voice that used to fill the Senate chamber time and again in days gone by, a voice clearly understood yet curiously muffled, as though the speaker had a mouthful of hot cornpone.

It was the voice of Claude Pepper, onetime boyish senator from Florida and ardent New Dealer.

Now Pepper is 62 and has returned as the newly elected freshman congressman from Dade County (Miami) Florida, after 12 years in private life. And the New Deal has been replaced by the new frontier.

PROUD OF REPUTATION

"I'm 62 years young," he said in his new House office this week. "I would rather be sitting here in Congress than have any other job in the country."

He's still proud of his reputation as an orator. That reputation was built up during 14 years in the Senate, to which Pepper was elected in 1936 at the age of 36.

All through those years Pepper was a tireless champion of Franklin D. Roosevelt's liberal measures. Now he says he feels a similar kinship with the New Frontier program of President Kennedy.

"These things are not new to me, they're old," Pepper said. "I was sponsoring housing and health and research legislation before President Kennedy was even elected to Congress."

Pepper was born in Dudleyville, Ala., put himself through the University of Alabama and Harvard Law School. During his 12 years out of Congress, he practiced law in Washington and Florida and kept in close touch with the Florida political scene.

OUSTED IN 1950

He was ousted from the Senate in the 1950 Democratic primary by the present Sen. George A. Smathers. Pepper lost in a comeback attempt in 1958 to Florida's other Democratic senator, Spessard L. Holland.

"Florida is a conservative state," he said, "and I'm about the only liberal who lasted any length of time. They finally got me, but now I'm back. I had one of the most liberal voting records in the Senate and I'm not going to be any different in the House."

To Be Last in Old Auditorium?

Supervisors Set Light Session

The Oakland County Board of Supervisors will face a light agenda at Tuesday's meeting. It might prove to be the last held in the county office building auditorium at 1 Lafayette St.

Members will consider a proposal to hold future meetings in the community room of the First Federal Savings & Loan Association of Oakland, 761 W. Huron St., until construction of the new supervisors' auditorium is completed at the County Service Center.

"We expect to have the auditorium ready by April," Robert Lilly, secretary of the board of auditors, said.

The auditors have been directed by the supervisors' buildings and grounds committee to put the downtown office building up for sale at public auction as soon as possible.

Over Half of City Employees Live Inside Pontiac Limits

An administrative report handed to the City Commission this week shows that 63.5 per cent of the city's 757 employees live in Pontiac.

The report was requested several weeks ago by Commissioner Milton R. Henry in connection with a study of the city's personnel hiring procedures.

Commissioners had voiced opinions that personnel procedures were inadequate, and Commissioner Winford E. Bottom suggested that city employees be required to live within the city.

The residency report for current employees shows 480 living in Pontiac and 277 outside.

Another survey shows 53.5 per cent of employees at Pontiac General Hospital live within Pontiac. There are 950 employees at the hospital. Of them, 510 live in Pontiac and 440 outside the city, according to Donald H. Carros, assistant administrator.

HENRY 'DISTURBED'

At this week's commission meeting, Henry said he was "disturbed" by the number of city supervisory personnel living outside Pontiac.

The city report shows 52 supervisory employees living outside and 79 inside.

While the trend is still toward city residency, Henry indicated he felt more supervisory people should live in the city for which they work.

"Evidently, there are quite a few people who think the wages are good enough to work here, but don't think Pontiac's good enough to live here," Henry observed.

The report, submitted by City Manager Robert A. Stier, also shows that 17 department heads live in Pontiac and eight live outside.

Employees not holding administrative or supervisory posts number 384 living in and 217 outside the city.

City departments where the balance of employees aren't Pontiac residents are youth assistance, traffic engineering, purchasing, planning and urban renewal, health, electrical, engineering, assessor's office and the airport.

Two departments — the city clerk's office and finance department — have perfect residency records; all employees living in Pontiac.

The city engineering department has the biggest trend in the opposite direction, with 25 employees living outside the city and only seven inside.

SUBURBAN TREND

Of the two reports, the largest "suburban" trend for one category is shown in registered nurses at the hospital.

Some 115 nurses live outside of Pontiac while 50 are city residents. Administrative personnel at Pontiac General Hospital shows a similar trend, with 24 living outside and 13 in the city.

The split among all other hospital employees is 447 in and 301 out.

The reports are slated for informal study in the next few weeks.

City Attorney William A. Ewart has told commissioners he doesn't believe the city can legally impose a residency restriction by ordinance—it would have to be an amendment to the city charter approved by a vote of the public.

Although several commissioners have voiced informal opinions that city employees should be local taxpayers, they've indicated that such action wouldn't cover present employees.

The system now entails choosing prospective jurors from the tax rolls and thus excludes non-property owners.

A segment of the board, mostly rural supervisors, have contended that a trial period show a jury commission system isn't an improvement.

Such a system has been in effect in more populous Wayne County for several years under a different act.

The new act applies to less populous counties.

Rep. Hogan's Committee to Probe Dem's 'Fitness'

LANSING — Rep. Henry M. Hogan Jr., R-Bloomfield Township, yesterday said his committee will begin Tuesday to investigate the "fitness" of a Democratic trove involved in an election fraud controversy.

Hogan was named yesterday by the House to head the committee of three Republicans and two Democrats.

Hogan said hearings will begin 1:30 p.m. Tuesday at the City-County Building in Detroit.

Under investigation is Leonard S. Walton, who faces trial in Detroit next month on charges of having violated election laws by permitting distribution of campaign literature urging voters to "re-elect" him.

Walton was not an incumbent.

The House, voting 57-51 along strict party lines, with Republicans in the majority, refused to seat Walton when it convened Wednesday.

Hogan's committee is expected to recommend whether Walton is fit to take office by Jan. 24.

Hogan was handed the job after his defeat Wednesday in a bid for election as speaker pro tem of the House.

Rep. Wilfred G. Bassett, R-Jackson, was re-elected to the post.

Rep. Robert E. Waldron, R-Grosse Pointe, defeated Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Dalton, for floor leader.

A committee was named to recount ballots in a disputed House race in an Upper Peninsula district where a Republican unseated the Democratic incumbent by 95 votes.

The House adjourned until 8 p.m., Jan. 21.

Southern GOP Makes Headway in Dem Strongholds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard Brevard Russell, D-Ga., rounds out 30 years of Senate service Saturday, primed to meet what he calls a new assault on that body's constitutional traditions.

Russell, 65, seasoned in a dozen previous filibuster battles, captains Southern opponents of civil rights measures ready to talk to death a proposed rules change.

Bipartisan liberals bent on giving a majority the right to shut off debate are seeking to change the rule which requires that two-thirds of those voting approve such action. Russell sees this as a threat to the Senate's claim to being the last bastion of free expression on earth.

"In my 30 years service I think I have made some contributions toward maintaining the Senate as the greatest stabilizing force in our government in preserving our Constitution," he said. "I hope to continue doing so."

To the public generally, Russell appears to be more of a champion of a sectional view than of the Constitution. But the Russell who operates behind the scenes is completely a "Senate man" who moves in a broad spectrum of national affairs.

ENEMIES ADMIRE HIM

Those who disagree with Russell's views—particularly his espousal of segregationist policies—admire him as a gentleman and respect him as a tactician.

Russell is chairman of the Armed Services Committee and is a power on two of the Senate's other most important committees—Appropriations and Space. He is a member of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee.

From this vantage point he has a finger on almost every government decision, including foreign policy matters which involve the Pentagon, as most of them do these days. He is of the select few in Congress briefed on Central Intelligence Agency activities.

Administration leaders from President Kennedy down have learned that Russell is a quick man with a "no" if he doesn't like what is going on.

When Kennedy briefed congressional leaders at the White House before he announced his quarantine action against Cuba, Russell spoke up for a more drastic course.

"I think we should go in there and clean them out," he told Kennedy.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk protested that the President could not order a sneak attack such as the Japanese made on Pearl Harbor.

Russell replied heatedly that Kennedy had put Fidel Castro on notice in two speeches that the United States would act to prevent any aggressive buildup. He pointed to a resolution Kennedy had signed which gave the President Congress' backing for any action he felt must be undertaken.

Chairman J. William Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee supported Russell's stand for an invasion. The President told the group that he was going on television in 45 minutes and already had sent a copy of his speech to British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

"Well," Russell exploded, "if you had told us that before I wouldn't have wasted my time raising the issue."

Because of his demonstrated independence and his long experience, Russell exerts wide influence on the course of legislation. He is a key member of the Democratic Policy Committee which passes on all bills before they reach the Senate floor.

As he has grown older, the man who supported Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal with votes for Social Security, the National Recovery Act, and the Tennessee Valley Authority, has become more conservative.

In earlier days Russell wrote the first version of farm parity payments, supported federal aid to education and fought for universal military training. One of the accomplishments of which he is most proud is the origination of the school-lunch program.

Because he had become the outstanding spokesman for the South, Russell—who wasn't even there—got 263 votes in the 1948 Democratic convention for the presidential nomination that went to Harry S. Truman. Russell declined to join party bolters and stayed regular.

In 1952 Russell went after the presidential nomination full tilt.

His 292 convention votes out of about 1,200 merely served to point out that he was regarded as too sectional to be the nominee.

Except when civil rights is the issue, this feeling doesn't exist about Russell's legislative work. Russell, a bachelor, lives quietly in a Washington apartment when he is not at home talking with the folks at Winder, Ga.

Meeting Set by State GOP

LANSING (AP) — The Republican State Central Committee opens a two-day meeting in Lansing tonight at which the GOP leaders are expected to pass a resolution endorsing the proposed new constitution.

A Republican spokesman said that other resolutions expected to be presented to the general membership call for legislation to stimulate economic growth and hail Gov. George Romney's financial task force as a means to improving the efficiency in state government agencies.

Speakers at the meeting will include Romney and Mrs. Frank Williams, assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee and director of women's activities for the GOP.

A preview of significant legislation expected during the 72nd Legislature will be presented by Sen. Stanley Thayer, R-Ann Arbor, majority caucus chairman, and Rep. Allison Green, R-Kingston, speaker of the House.

Skybolt Highly Destructive... to Relations

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—What ever else may come from the Skybolt project, the missile stands out as one of the most destructive that never carried a warhead.

It damaged relations between the United States and Great Britain.

It caused great controversy within the U.S. government.

It brought highly conflicting—at least on the surface—statements from Air Force officials, on the one hand, and Defense Department officials about a test shot.

The fog continues, for no one in the Air Force or Defense Department will talk for attribution at this stage.

Congress may dispel some of it. Sen. Richard Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, has announced that his group will look into the disputed program and why the administration shot it down.

5 STRAIGHT FLOPS

There were six announced Skybolt tests in which five successive failures occurred. Following the sixth trial, an official Air Force announcement issued at Cape Canaveral, Fla., said the test was successful, that the missile flew more than 800 miles and "impacted in the target area hundreds of miles down range."

A week later, Defense Department sources took issue with this. Their account ran like this: The Skybolt didn't "impact" in the target area because the missile consisted only of the booster and second stage and there was no nose cone to impact.

What happened, these sources said, was that the first stage separated at the proper point and the second stage continued on into its high trajectory, then re-entered the atmosphere. There the second stage began disintegrating from heat produced by air friction, dropping debris along its path as it burned.

But, with sketches of trajectory pattern and the predicted point at which a nose cone would have landed—if one had been used—the

News Analysis

Defense Department sources claimed that the impact point would have been 87 nautical miles about 100 statute miles beyond the predicted spot in the ocean.

STANDS BY PHRASING

The Air Force stands by the general phrasing of its original announcement. A spokesman says the sixth test "was successful and attained all its objectives."

When missiles test rockets without re-entry cones or war heads, the purpose usually is to test the propulsion system and, to some degree, the guidance system.

By custom, the target area in such tests can mean a rectangle of scores or even hundreds of square miles. Using a nose cone, the target area narrows down to a comparatively few miles.

However, the controversy over the Skybolt test has injected two questions: whether use of a predicted point of impact was applicable and whether some of the debris from the disintegrating second stage might not, as a matter of fact, dropped close to the predicted point as the burning wreckage curved down along the terminal arc of its trajectory.

The controversy, like many debates in Washington, has expanded from a discussion of purely technical detail to one over policy.

One question raised has been: Why was the test conducted on Dec. 22, a day after President Kennedy had informed British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the Skybolt program was being dropped by the United States?

Air Force sources have said that the office of Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had been told that the test, postponed twice, would be conducted and that no order to stop it was received.

SUBSTANTIATED

This seems to be substantiated in an official Defense Department chronology of events which says that on Dec. 21 the Air Force's undersecretary, Dr. Joseph V. Charyk, discussed the test plan with acting Secretary of Defense Roswell L. Gilpatric "who decided not to instruct the Air Force to cancel or postpone" the test on Dec. 22.

A few hours after the test, Gilpatric issued a statement which said the test first had been scheduled prior to the Kennedy-Macmillan meeting.

He also said this: "Today's single test did not conclusively demonstrate the capacity of the missile to achieve the target accuracy for which the Skybolt system was designed. It is always expected that some tests of this sort should succeed and that others will fail. Doubts as to the prospect of success of the Skybolt system in its entirety and its reliability when operational were among the factors responsible for the recommendation of the secretary of defense against further funding the program. The results of today's test have not caused any change in that position."

One unusual aspect of the Skybolt controversy: it doesn't appear to involve disagreement among the three armed forces.

The report is that this time, the staff chiefs of the Army and Navy backed up Air Force Gen. Curtis E. LeMay on the need for Skybolt, but that Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supported McNamara against continuation of the program. The Joint Chiefs of Staff merely give advice to an administration. They recommend but don't order.

Job Situation Stays Same

December Totals Take Only Seasonal Decline

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reported yesterday the nation's job situation remained virtually unchanged in December. Employment declined seasonally by 420,000 and unemployment increased by 16,000.

The usual cold-weather effect on employment brought the total number of workers holding jobs to 67,561,000 compared with 67,981,000 in November.

Unemployment rose to 3,817,000 compared with the 3,801,000 in November. The December idle increase was considerably less than the 100,000 normally expected in December.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment to the work force was 5.6 per cent in December, compared with 5.8 per cent in November and 5.5 per cent in October. The jobless rate has been in this range through most of 1962.

Harold Goldstein, assistant labor statistics commissioner, said the December figures reflected no basic change in the job situation. He said it has remained much the same since early 1962.

Non farm employment rose seasonally in December to 63.5 million or about 1.5 million above a year earlier.

Farm employment dropped more than seasonally between November and December to 4.1 million. This was believed due to extremely cold weather. Farm employment, however, is on a continuing decline.

Goldstein said the indicated growth of the labor force in 1962 was about 600,000 to 700,000, "considerably less than the growth anticipated on the basis of population figures."

Schools Chief Hits Part of Romney Talk

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett yesterday criticized part of Gov. George Romney's message to the legislature.

Speaking to the convention of the Michigan Association of School Administrators, Bartlett criticized Romney's suggestion for a slowdown in state spending on schools until a new fiscal tax reform is hammered out by a citizens committee.

"The needs of education are so great that we cannot wait while a study is being made," Bartlett said.

Bartlett insisted education be excluded from Romney's suggested austerity program. He said he did agree with the governor on the economic belt tightening.

"The state can't afford to short-change education," Bartlett said. "What we do for our boys and girls is most important."

Meanwhile, convention delegates voted, 127 to 116, to take a neutral stand on the proposed Michigan constitution.

Jurists Report Today on NY Strike

NEW YORK (AP)—A fact-finding board of three jurists reports today on its inquiry into a printers' strike that has resulted in a blackout of New York's nine major newspapers for 35 days.

The fact-finding panel was set up last Sunday by federal, state and local officials.

Publishers are cooperating with the survey panel. But it has been boycotted by Bertram A. Powers, head of Local 6, International Typographical Union, AFL-CIO, pending a membership meeting, Sunday. However, the board has been getting the union's side despite the absence of Powers.

The report will not be binding on either side, but the board hopes to crystallize the issues in order to encourage a settlement.

7TH WEEK IN CLEVELAND

In Cleveland, strikes by Local 473 of the Independent Teamsters Union and the Cleveland Newspaper Guild, AFL-CIO, against the city's two newspapers went into its seventh week today.

Representatives of the Plain Dealer and the Press & News, down, met Thursday night with the Teamsters at City Hall along with Mayor Ralph S. Locher and federal mediator Gilbert J. Seldin.

Bargaining teams for the two Cleveland newspapers—and the Guild resume sessions Saturday. Wages, working conditions and union security are in dispute in the Cleveland strike.

The executive committee of the Inner Circle, an organization of past and present New York City political writers and reporters, has approved a resolution criticizing the refusal of Powers to meet with the fact-finding board.

Many members of the Inner Circle are members of the New York Newspaper Guild and are affected by the strike.

Powers attended Thursday night the monthly meeting of Local 3 of the AFL-CIO Electrical Workers, which pledged $10,000 each to support strikes by the ITU and the International Longshoremen's Association. The ILA strike, shutting down ports from Maine to Texas, is in its 20th day.

TOP LEVEL PRESSURE

Powers told the meeting that pressure for a settlement in the printers' strike had been put on his union "by the President on down," and he added: "They want to take away our right to strike by claiming it's against the 'public interest.'"

The strike by 3,000 printers started Dec. 8, and has cost an estimated $40 million in lost wages, advertising and circulation revenues.

A group of union pressmen idled by the walkout won Thursday a federal court review of the publishers' role in the strike. The publishers of the nine dailies were ordered to show cause next Tuesday why they should not resume publication. Thirteen pressmen, in behalf of 1,800 fellow workers, filed the suit, asking $6,675,000 in claimed antitrust damages.

The printers struck the Times

Journal-American, Daily News, and World-Telegram & The Sun. The other five papers—the Post, Herald Tribune, Mirror, Long Island Star-Journal and Long Island Press—shut down voluntarily. The Press continues to publish editions distributed in suburban Long Island.

The printers have been demanding an $18.45 weekly wage increase plus fringe benefits in a two-year contract. Pre strike weekly wages were $141 on the day shift.

The publishers have offered a $9.20 weekly package in a two-year contract. The printers' demands, the publishers say, would amount to $38 per man per week.

Groups to Take Part in Local Blood Bank

Some 35 groups will participate in the Oakland County Red Cross Blood Bank at the Pontiac Elks Temple, 114 Orchard Lake Ave., Monday.

Solicitation is under way among organizations, clubs, industrial companies and other groups whose individual blood banks have too few donors to justify setting up a mobile blood unit at their own facility.

Others who wish to participate may visit the Blood Bank 2-5 p.m. and 6-8 p.m. Monday.

Junior Editors Quiz on FISH

QUESTION: Is it true that male sea horses bear the young ones?

ANSWER: This is true in one way, but not in another. It's true that father sea horse carries the tiny sea horse eggs for ten days or so inside of a pouch and then ejects them, after which they are on their own, never returning to the pouch again.

But father sea horse does not lay the eggs in the beginning. As with other forms of life, this is the job of the mother. So the answer to the question is "yes—and again, no." Sea horses are remarkable in other ways beside breeding habits. Their appearance is so odd that it stirred the imagination of our artist, who insisted on drawing an imaginary King Neptune in a sea shell chariot, driving a team of sea horses over foaming waves.

Sea horses are a kind of fish. What look like ears are actually delicate fins which vibrate rapidly when swimming. Sea horses swim upright and like to coil their flexible tails around sea weeds. In B, we contrast a sea horse with a real one.

Little Hippocampus (the Latin name) is found throughout the warmer seas, many being caught off the Florida coast. They are mostly brown or grey, but may be orange, yellow, green or bright scarlet.

FOR YOU TO DO: You can color this picture, making one sea horse orange and the other brilliant red. The sky behind can be turquoise blue with touches of green in the turning-over part of water. Neptune can be green and the shell pink. Leave the foam white.

Public Hearing Held

Await Troy Zoning Action

By ROGER SRIGLEY

TROY — Although minor revisions may be made Monday night on new proposals to reduce minimum lot sizes in Troy, the City Commission is expected to take action soon on the zoning regulations.

The new proposals were presented to some 100 residents at a public hearing last night called by city officials and the planning commission.

The city had requested the State Supreme Court to set a minimum lot size after the court ruled in September that a half-acre minimum lot size was "unreasonable" and therefore illegal.

However, the high court refused, ruling that the City Commission should rezone and then the court would consider the legality of the new lot size minimums.

At the public hearing, the commission presented a plan that would generally reduce lot sizes in about half of the unplatted single-family residential properties in the city.

George Vilcan Jr., representing city planning consultants Vilcan-Leman & Associates of Southfield, presented the general picture to the audience.

POPULATION INCREASE

"If the proposed rezoning is accepted," he said, "a possible population of 178,000 can be expected and an increase in the number of schools to about 35 or 40."

Presently, the city has a population of about 135,000 and 29 schools.

Vilcan said that the planners had kept in mind the necessity of a residential-industrial balance. "Residential land is deficit land," he said.

The proposed zoning changes are concerned mainly with one-family residential lots.

In general, the section plan of the city will remain the same, retaining the larger R-1A sections in the Northwest corner of Troy, decreasing to the R-1E sections across the southern border.

Under the proposed new zoning, lots with public sewage in R-1A sections would have a minimum of 21,780 square feet and a 120-foot width.

Those with individual sewage facilities would have a minimum of 30,000 square feet and have a minimum width of 150 feet.

The R-1E sections, containing the smallest minimum lot size, would require 7,500-square-foot lots and 60-foot width with city sewage facilities, and a 21,780 square-foot minimum and 110-foot-width minimum on lots with private sewage facilities.

OBJECTIONS AIRED

Most of the people who spoke at the meeting aired objections to the proposed zoning, the majority asking for smaller minimum lot sizes.

Protests ranged from a brief statement of disapproval to a 15-minute presentation based on why the proposed zoning should not be accepted.

Robert H. Carey, president of a Detroit land development firm, urged the Planning Commission to "study new modern planning concepts."

Mayor Robert J. Huber summed up the type of arguments offered on the zoning changes, after saying that the Planning and City Commissions had come up with a plan with the consideration of the entire city in mind.

"If you're a land developer," he said, "you are interested in smaller lots." He said this was true because realtors claim the smaller lots sell better.

He added that homeowners are more interested in larger minimum lot sizes and those planning on selling their land are concerned with smaller lot-size requirements.

Arraignment Set in Slaying

Dearborn Twp. Youth Accused of Killing Girl

NOVI — The Dearborn Township youth accused of the Dec. 19 hammer slaying of an 11-year-old Novi girl is scheduled to be arraigned Monday in Circuit Court for first-degree murder.

James G. Gostlin, 20, was bound over to the higher court yesterday afternoon following examination before Novi Township Justice of the Peace Robert K. Anderson.

Gostlin told state police he bludgeoned to death Shirley Husted during a nightmarish rampage in her home at 2299 Austin Drive.

He also admitted attacking the girl's parents, Wesley Husted, 40, and Rita, 33, with the same claw hammer he used to strike Shirley.

Husted, a bus driver for the Novi Community Schools, was still reported in critical condition today at St. Mary's Hospital, Livonia.

Although hospital authorities noted a slight improvement in Husted's condition, they said he still is paralyzed on one side from the blows on the head.

Gostlin's justice court examination here had been delayed while Mrs. Husted recuperated from her injuries. She testified at the examination yesterday.

Gostlin, who is being held without bond in the County Jail, is being represented by a court-appointed attorney, John O'Brien, a former assistant prosecutor.

NEWS OF THE AREA

Mother of Two Held in Stabbing of Mate

MILFORD — A 25-year-old mother of two, accused of stabbing her husband with a butcher knife early this morning, was being held today for investigation of felonious assault.

Niles E. Shelton, 34, of 814 Birdsong St. was reported in fair condition today following surgery at Pontiac General Hospital.

His wife, Bonnie, was to make a statement today at the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

Police Chief Joseph Brophy said the incident occurred shortly after 3 a.m. at the Shelton's home in a new subdivision in the northwest corner of Milford.

Brophy said Shelton, who has been recuperating from a broken leg, set in a cast, was stabbed once in the chest and twice in the abdomen.

Mrs. Shelton told police her husband had been drinking. She said he struck her with his crutch during the argument.

The victim's mother, Mrs. Gertrude Shelton, who has been staying with the family, told police she was awakened by the commotion and came downstairs to see her daughter-in-law stab Shelton "two or three times."

Shelton, in shock when police arrived, was unable to make a statement, according to Brophy.

Shelton called the Milford Police Station at 3:18 a.m., said he had just been stabbed and asked for police assistance and an ambulance.

The couple's children, aged 2 and 5, apparently were in bed when the argument broke out between their parents.

BATTLE BLAZE — Firemen from three area departments were at the Mt. Christie Ski Area, northwest of Oxford, last night fighting a blaze which caused an estimated $25,000 in damage before being brought under control. The Oxford, Metamora and Lake Orion fire departments combined efforts to confine the fire to a 50- by 75-foot building housing snow-making facilities.

$25,000 Fire Strikes Mt. Christie Ski Area

METAMORA TOWNSHIP — Flames caused an estimated $25,000 damage at the Mt. Christie Ski Area last night when a flash fire destroyed most of the snow-making machinery.

The fire departments of Metamora, Lake Orion and Oxford battled the blaze which started shortly before midnight from faulty electrical apparatus, according to Oxford Fire Chief Ellsworth Sage.

Sage said that when Oxford firemen arrived the 50-by 75-foot building housing the machinery was beyond saving.

Before the flames could be controlled, the building and three compressors it housed were destroyed.

Ski facilities will remain in operation, Sage said. An auxiliary snow-making machine near the building was saved from the flames.

Stan Koska, director of the ski school, first noticed the fire when he saw smoke coming out of the building.

The compressors were in use at the time, making snow because temperatures had dropped.

Sage said the building was completed within the last two years.

Firemen brought the fire under control after battling flames for more than an hour.

The ski area is on Davison Lake Road, northwest of Oxford.

Seek Support for Directory

ROCHESTER — Local merchants are being asked to resubscribe to the Rochester Kiwanis directory used in welcoming newcomers to the area.

Some 360 newcomers are called upon each year under the program here, according to Arthur Kollin, Kiwanis club president.

Since the project was started eight years ago, 2,800 families have been introduced to shopping and other facilities offered in the Rochester area, Kollin said.

Mrs. Walter V. Sawyer will again be the village's official welcome hostess. She calls on 30 newcomers every month.

Any merchant who has not been contacted can receive more information about the progress by contacting Mrs. Sawyer, 1855 Washington Road, Avon Township.

Teen-Age Club Will Sponsor Three Dances

PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — This area's teen-age dance club will sponsor three dances soon at the Pontiac Township Hall, 2060 Opdyke Road, all of which will feature dance contests.

Beginning at 7:30 p.m., tomorrow's affair will last until midnight. A dance is also scheduled for Jan. 26.

The contest winners will be picked at the finals, to be in conjunction with a dance Feb. 9.

Chaperones are Mr. and Mrs. James Bockman, of 2732 James Road.

Deny Appeal of Wed Teens

BAY CITY (UPI) — Attorneys for a high school couple barred from extracurricular activities said yesterday an appeal of an adverse Circuit Court ruling to the Michigan Supreme Court had been dismissed.

The couple in question was Sherwin Schnell, 17, and his wife, Kay, 18.

The Schnells were barred from sports, band and other activities at Central High School here in September 1960.

PTA Questions, Answers to Flow at County Session

Raising questions about PTA and then answering them will be the aim of the program for Oakland County Council of Parent-Teacher Association's regular meeting Tuesday at Leggett School in Waterford Township.

A mock executive committee composed of council members will hold a make-believe board meeting to stimulate questions about how PTAs should operate.

Questions about the skit will be answered by Mrs. William Wright of Pontiac, PTA vice president of Region D.

Registration will start at 7:30 p. m. and the business meeting at 8. Adjournment is scheduled for 9:30 p. m., followed by refreshments.

NOTE FOUNDERS' DAY Because many PTAs hold founders' day meetings next month, founders' day ideas will be incorporated in the council meeting.

Copies of the recently revised suggested bylaws form for local PTA units will also be distributed during registration.

During the business meeting the nominating committee will present nominations for council officers for the coming year.

Mrs. Iva O'Dell of Donelson School, Waterford Township, is nominating committee chairman.

Members include Chester Murphy, Scotch School, Bloomfield Township; Mrs. Nelson Urlick, Pine Knob School, Clarkston; Mrs. A. R. Dahl, Stringham School, Waterford Township; and James Bradford, Brandon Schools, Ortonville.

All PTA members in the council may attend council meetings. Officers and committee chairmen should find this meeting particularly helpful, a PTA spokesman said.

Hosting the meeting will be members of the Leggett School PTA under the direction of their president, Mrs. John B. Wilson.

Proper PTA Planning Open House Monday

ORION TOWNSHIP — An open house will be featured at Monday's January meeting of the Proper School PTA.

Beginning at 7 p.m., parents can visit their children's rooms and view their work. At 8:30 p.m., they will meet for a brief business meeting.

Two Schools of Thought

Tips on Wall-to-Wall, Area Floor Covering

Even though you may not recognize a tuft from a twist, a few simple definitions of carpet terms will help you hold your own with the carpet salesman.

Carpeting, available in various widths and purchased by the yard, is mostly used to cover wall-to-wall areas.

Rugs, available in full range of sizes, are designed to cover a specific area in a room.

Proponents of wall-to-wall carpeting on one side, and area rug boosters on the other—supported by opinions of the most prominent interior designers—will stage one of the most important home fashion controversies for 1963 according to the Wool Carpets of America organization.

Defending wall-to-wall installation in certain decorating situations, many major manufacturers stress no up-keep on floors, plus the luxurious, posh impression achieved. Better insulation for cold winter months, too, they say.

Edward Fields, internationally known custom carpet designer and manufacturer, says "The wool area rug has already made a deep impression in the carpet field and certainly will be the new trend for 1963.

"Area rugs are not to be confused with accent rugs. I have a 10-by-15-foot area rug in my 15-by-24-foot living room."

The important room area rug, not accent rugs, has become the new status symbol in the home. Why hide the beauty of parquet floors which act as the frame for a work of art?

4,000 YEARS OLD

Although the first wool carpet cannot be dated, it is claimed that the most beautiful carpets in the world were being woven by the Babylonians about 4000 B. C.

Ancient clay tablets record the exchange of wool and wool products and mention sheep raising as a major industry in 2500 B.C.

Sheep were introduced to the Americans in 1540 by the Spanish explorer Coronado.

Today, the wool carpet industry consumes about 150,000,000 pounds of wool annually.

The term "natural fiber" means fiber that is sheared from a specially bred living sheep—or grown by nature in a fibrous form.

Synthetic fibers, man-made from coal tar, natural gas and other nonfibrous substances, are designed to simulate some of the properties of natural fibers.

Pile is composed of yarns that stand erect from the carpet base and form its surface. Pile edges can be cut or looped.

Most important factors are height and density of pile. Weight, type and grade of fiber as well as rug construction all affect wear and appearance.

Weaving methods determine texture, and "ply" is the term for the number of single yarns spun together to form one tuft. The higher the ply number, the stronger the tuft.

The backing or foundation to which pile is secured usually is made of cotton, jute or tough yarn made from wood pulp.

Woven carpets or rugs are secured to the foundation fiber simultaneously with the weaving process.

NEW CARPET LINES

At the International Home Furnishings Market, which closes Saturday in Chicago, a new discipline of design and a new combination of deep, rich jewel-like tones is evident throughout the new carpet lines.

A resurgence of the traditional in home fashions is translated in popular cloud effect patterns, once sprawling, but now more precise, controlled and smaller.

What to do?

First, clearly define your practical floor-covering needs and the limit you can spend. Decide what you really like, then go out and search for the carpet or rug that comes the closest to the most points, be it wall-to-wall or area.

What you will enjoy most and feel most comfortable with is the best fashion for you.

Campus News

Again paced by the Smith brothers, Perry and Dave of Clarkston, the Albion College debate team emerged with a fourth place finish last weekend in the 35-school Illinois State Normal University Debate Tournament at Bloomington, Ill.

Perry, a senior, and Dave, a freshman, won six of six matches. They won certificates of excellence for their individual speaking performances.

In total 1962-63 competition, the Smiths have posted 10 wins against one defeat.

Overstitched stripes divide this all-cotton "Greenwood" area rug by Cabin Crafts into a series of squares, each centered with a floral design in a style resembling old-fashioned crewel work.

Even this traditional look, however, can lend itself to contemporary furnishings. Seven colors are available in sizes from 6 by 6 feet to 9 by 12 feet.

Not Wrong to Protect Mail Privacy

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: This morning I approached the desk of a co-worker to ask her a question. She was writing a letter, and immediately placed her hand over it so I couldn't see it.

I hadn't tried to look at the letter and wasn't the least bit interested in what she was writing.

I was insulted at her implication that I would "snoop" at her mail. Wasn't this very bad manners on her part, or am I just being oversensitive?

A: It was not very tactful of her to cover her letter so obviously.

But there are people whose curiosity is such that they are not above sneaking a look at what someone else is writing and she may have been overanxious to protect a very personal letter.

Q: I am going to be married in a church in the city but the reception will take place at a country club in the suburbs (about 30 miles away).

Will it be necessary for my parents to provide transportation for those guests who have no cars, or is it up to them to make their own arrangements for getting to the reception?

A: Ordinarily it is not the bride's family's obligation to provide transportation for the wedding guests.

However, since the reception is taking place at such a distance, they really should provide a means for their getting from the church to the reception.

Q: At the opening of a football game or other sports events when the Star Spangled Banner is played or sung, should women place their right hands over their hearts or do only men do this?

A: Usually women merely stand at attention, but it is entirely correct for them to place their right hands over their hearts.

The Emily Post Institute cannot answer personal mail, but all questions of general interest are answered in this column.

Looking Into Future

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: If I buy one of those Senior Citizens Homes for retired old folks and the woman who has been my darling wife for 44 years drops dead on the golf course because she's not used to all that exercise, and then I marry a cute young chick and we have two or three kiddies, what should I do?

They don't allow children at the Senior Citizens Homes for retired folks.

DEAR LOOKING: Don't count your chickens before they're hatched. I'll help you solve that problem when the time comes.

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my problem has to do with my mother. I have an older sister and a younger brother. My mother favors my sister because she's the oldest, and she favors my brother because he is the youngest.

That leaves me in the middle. I have really tried hard to be nice to my mother but it never turns out right. We just don't seem to get along. What can I do?

MIDDLE CHILD

DEAR MIDDLE CHILD: No matter what position you play in the family game, you see only the drawbacks. The oldest complains that when a fight occurs, it's her fault because she should have known better.

The youngest complains because he has to go to bed earlier and can't do what the older kids can do. Frankly, I think you've got the best spot. Just try harder.

DEAR ABBY: My husband flipped his lid because I was up ironing at two o'clock in the morning. I like to do my work at night when the children are not under foot, and as long as it gets done I don't see why he should care when I do it.

He said if I didn't watch TV all day I'd get my work done in the daytime. So now he takes a tube out of the set before he goes to work.

Abby, I have eight children under 12 and no help, and watching TV during the day (and I don't watch "all day") is my only relaxation. Do you think he's being fair?

PUNISHED

DEAR PUNISHED: Your husband is behaving like a tyrant. With eight children under 12 and no help, any relaxation you can grab during the day is well earned. Tell him to take care of HIS job and you'll take care of yours.

Use Tact to Take Over Handling of Money

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley:

Probably this will sound incredible, but my husband and I are hardly making ends meet even though his income is $18,000 a year. I'm sure the trouble is he feels he should manage the money.

But he works from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m., and has no time to worry with finances. His artistic temperament, so necessary in his work, also lets him blow $100 on a single evening and think nothing of it.

But we have three children—ages 7, 5, and 3! I know I could handle our money more sensibly, but how to persuade him? Do you think I'm right to insist on taking over?

Mrs. Lillian M., Albany, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. M.:

It's wrong to insist, but right to take over. See if you can't make the switch without bruising that artistic temperament. Many men feel they must handle the money in order to be head of the house. In such cases it's only by tact that a wife can make the transition gracefully.

I agree that blowing $100 in an evening isn't going to put the children through college. So pick a good moment—not during a lavish evening—and explain you have so much more time than he has to bother with expenses and bills, that worry will interfere with his work, and what's a little old thing like money in comparison.

Then jot these figures down where he'll never find them, and see how close you can come to living with them on a monthly basis:

Housing, $200; food, $100; household operating costs, $70; clothing (including upkeep), $110; savings (including college plans), $150; insurance (life and health), $85; medical (including drugs), $80; entertainment, $85; vacation, $40; gifts, church, etc., $40; books, magazines, educational material, $25; flexible expenditures, including personal allowances for all hands, $150; car, $55. This adds up to $1,250 a month, which is allowing for deductions.

Merry Mixers Club Views Investing

Merry Mixers Extension Club met Thursday at the home of Mrs. James Powers on Lanette Drive.

L. W. Kraud spoke on stock investments. Mrs. Selma Seney was a guest. The next meeting will be at the Bow Lane home of Mrs. Nick Palmer.

On big expenditures, let your husband make the decision. If it's a new car, let him say what kind and color. If it's a TV, let him pick it. Ask him where he wants to go on vacation, after you've saved up the money.

As long as he feels he's not being led around on a leash, he'll probably like the idea of your being banker. The small economies you'll be able to make all along the line will doubtless go unnoticed. But they can give you both a comfortable cushion to relax on.

Go at it gradually, and work up to a sound spending plan. Try to allow for a whopper of an evening at rare—repeat, rare—intervals, even if it means you'll have to wear the same old dress.

After all, you want him to enjoy the release from money worries, so don't throw him in over his head till you teach him to swim.

Dear Miss Feeley:

What do you think is a fair weekly allowance for a girl of 10? Recently I stopped my daughter's allowance simply because I found I was always providing extras after her own money was spent. She says 50 cents a week isn't enough, or as much as her friends get. What do you suggest?

Mrs. Jack N., Jersey City, N.J.

Dear Mrs. N.:

I suggest you put the young lady to work and let her earn a living wage. After all, the high cost of ice cream sodas hits a 10-year-old where it hurts the most. There's a lot a girl can do around the house.

How about polishing silver? Sorting the laundry and loading the washer? Scrubbing the front stoop? Minding the baby? Making the beds?

Decide first what her jobs are to be, how much you'll pay per job, and above all decide what her weekly earnings are expected to cover. If she works up to 75 cents a week, then she should save 10 to 15 cents each week.

One of the most important reasons for an allowance in the first place is to help teach a child to save as well as to spend wisely. Be realistic about the expenses she will be expected to meet—perhaps Sunday School dues, scout dues, movies, sodas, transportation.

Once you have both agreed on the items, stick to it. When she runs short, she's just out of luck. Help her learn to think ahead—at least a few weeks—and plan for some major expenditure. Otherwise, give her a chance to make her own mistakes. It's privilege as well as a valuable experience.

(You may write Mary Feeley in care of The Pontiac Press).

New Laws Adopted by Unit

Devotions and prayers were offered by Mrs. William Parks. Mrs. Eugene Danielson, soloist, was accompanied by Mrs. Ray Lewis.

INSTALL PRESIDENT

Mrs. Cunov installed Mrs. Adolph Hornblad as president; Mrs. Charles Colberg, vice president; Mrs. Russell Hester, secretary and Mrs. Donald Forslund, treasurer.

Crisis Nearly Spoiled Dreams

Her hopes and dreams of five years flew out the window last October thanks to Messrs. Castro and Khrushchev.

But Freida Williams isn't a young woman to give up easily.

Consequently, she donned a black cap and gown over her Air Force blue uniform and was graduated from Wayne State University with a B.A. degree in sociology Jan. 3.

A member of the Air Force Reserves at Selfridge Air Force Base, Freida envisioned her five years of study at WSU ending just two months before graduation when the 403rd Troop Carrier Wing was activated Oct. 28.

7 WAFS INVOLVED

The 403rd was one of eight reserve wings called to active duty during last fall's Cuban crisis.

Freida was one of seven WAF reservists involved.

A college degree meant a great deal to the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Greenberry G. Williams of Seneca Street.

During those five years, she had first worked and attended evening classes. She held several part-time jobs to pay the way for day classes.

Then some sympathetic superiors arranged her work schedule to nights and weekends so Freida could get time off for classes during the day.

This was so successful that she volunteered for a full year of active duty when the 403rd was released from its call-up after 30 days.

SUPPLY SPECIALIST

A staff sergeant and supply specialist in the Air Force, Freida hopes to teach school when the year is up.

This week she will be transferred from the 403rd to the 1st Fighter Wing at Selfridge to complete her active duty. Freida leaves a relative behind in the reserve unit.

Her brother, Donald Williams, is an air police supervisor in the 403rd Troop Carrier Wing. His sister recruited him into the wing after his tour of duty with the Air Force.

Freida spent over two years in Germany as a member of the Women's Army Corps before joining the Air Force.

At WSU she was a member of the marching band and the German Club and is a student member of the American Sociological Association.

Mother Needs Appreciation

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence: A woman we know who reads your column might listen to what you say about the danger of belittling her 11-year-old boy the way she does. She will drag out all his faults before company actually smiling at the terrified look on his face. If you could open her eyes to how this disparagement can destroy her boy's life . . .

Answer: And her own, her own, her own.

What do you think this woman's up to by draining this child of self-respect? She's giving her own dying self-respect a transfusion.

When she humiliates him before others, she is screaming to the unhearing, unresponsive world, "See how lazy Johnny is about doing what he is told? But I am good, accommodating and always do what I am told. Admire me, admire me . . ."

I don't know why she is in such despair. Living with a husband or other relative who treats us with contempt can begin to make us feel contemptible.

But it is always our childhoods that prepare us to attach ourselves to contemptuous people. Somehow mother may have made us so ashamed of disappointing her that pleasing everyone becomes our means of avoiding any re-experience of the old dread of disappointing.

But we can't please everyone and as the number of displeased people in our lives accumulates, horror of our displeasing self will overwhelm us.

We will try to make it bearable by parading the faults of a child to anyone who'll listen. Our effort to show him up as displeasing, too, is only the faintest reflection of the active self-hate inside.

UNDERSTAND MOTHER

If you want to help this boy, you'd better find some way to release his mother's hunger for understanding.

You may be able to do it by giving her some appreciation. Any hint that you find her something other than cruel and contemptible may release the flood of her hunger for more appreciation.

It is at this point you can suggest she seek the better understanding of a professional psychiatrist.

People sunk in misery don't always know they need professional help until they receive some nonprofessional understanding.

They can no more imagine receiving the kind of deep appreciation a good psychiatrist delivers than an arctic Eskimo can imagine the taste of a mango.

Hold Lecture for Episcopal Church Unit

The Episcopal Churchwomen of Christ Church Cranbrook will hear a lecture, illustrated with slides, by the Rt. Rev. Seering John Matthews, Bishop of Carpentaria, Australia, at a luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Bishop Matthews, of the Anglican Church, has Australia's largest diocese, which ranges over 620,000 square miles. His diocese encompasses three distinct races of people — Australian aborigines, numbering about 80,000, Europeans and Torres Strait Islanders.

The islanders of the Torres Strait were converted to Christianity from savage head hunters in 1871.

The diocese of Carpentaria is responsible for mission stations, hostels, schools, a college, and hospitals as well as for the spiritual development of the people.

Mayflower Unit Picks Officers at Prexy's Home

Mayflower Group of First Congregational Church elected officers Wednesday in the home of incoming president Mrs. Herbert Hotchkiss on Chandler Avenue.

Mrs. Earl Oltesvig is vice president; Mrs. Arno Hulet, recording secretary; Mrs. David Edwards, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Philip Hubbard, treasurer.

Chairmen include Mrs. Oltesvig, Mrs. Dexter Craig, Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Thomas Sherwood.

In Christ Lutheran Church

Miss Flener Marries

Betty Louise Flener exchanged nuptial vows with Richard Lee McIntosh before Rev. Wayne Peterson Saturday afternoon in the Christ Lutheran Church.

Parents of the bride couple are the Bluit Fleners of Clayburn Street and Mr. and Mrs. Basil McIntosh of Rochester.

For the small family ceremony, the bride chose street-length white Chantilly lace over taffeta and a short veil attached to a jeweled tiara. She carried white carnations.

Wanda Flener attended her sister as maid of honor, and Edward McIntosh of Lansing stood as best man for his brother.

The couple will live in Drayton Plains.

Different Lemon Pie Has Baked-in Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

During the holidays you probably had lots of pumpkin and mince pie. Now it's time for another kind. How about a tart Lemon Sponge Pie? The flavor of lemon is so refreshing that it is a fine way to climax a meal. This lemon pie has a baked filling.

Betty Williams is our cook of the day. A faithful attendant at the Press Cooking schools, she collects casserole recipes.

LEMON SPONGE PIE

By Betty Williams

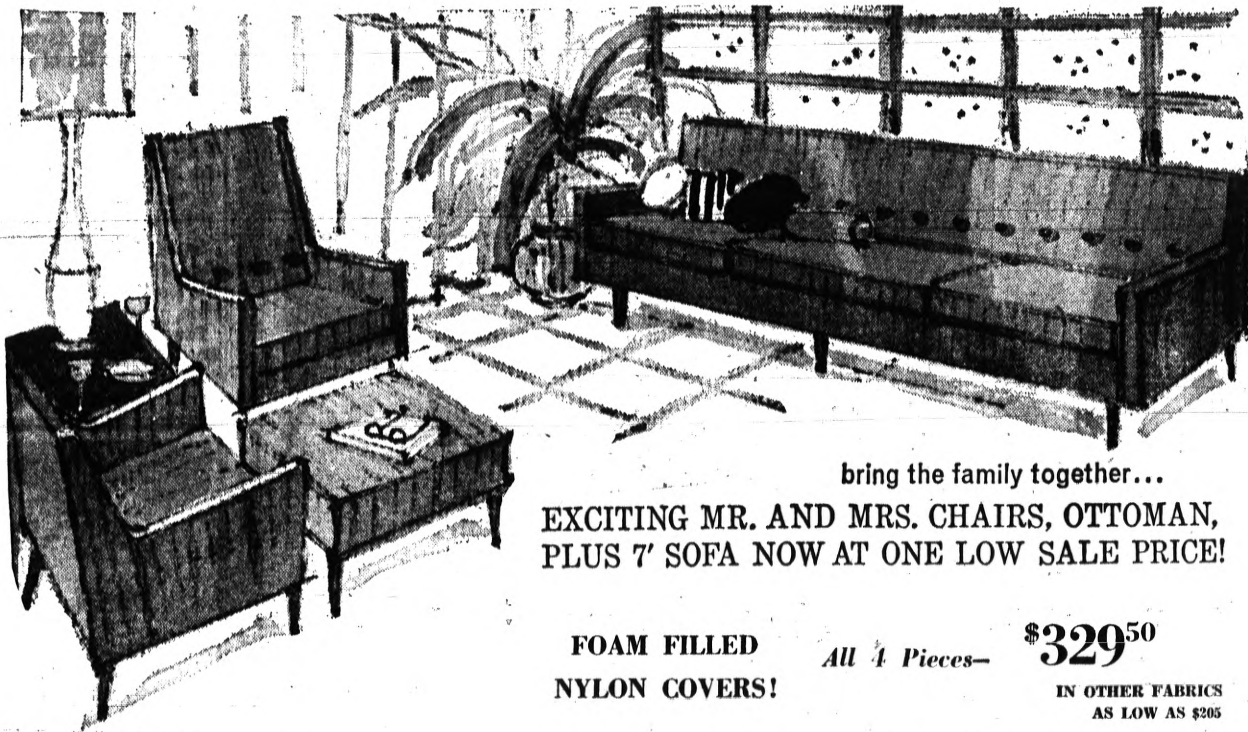

2 egg yolks, beaten
3 tablespoons margarine
1 cup sugar
1/4 cup lemon juice

3 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
2 egg whites, beaten stiff
1 unbaked 8-9 inch pie shell

Cream margarine with sugar. Add egg yolks and lemon juice. Add flour, salt and milk. Beat well. Fold in beaten egg whites. Pour into unbaked pie shell.

Bake 10 minutes at 450 degrees. Reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake an additional 30-35 minutes.

Mrs. Williams says she freezes fresh lemon juice in ice cube trays, then stores them in the freezer. 1 1/2 cubes equal 1/4 cup juice.

Top Record Trend for '63

Teens Predict Calmer Music This Year

By GILBERT YOUTH SERVICE
Slower, more conservative music is seen by America's teenagers as the major record trend for 1963.

The prediction is made by 197 of the 1,259 young people questioned in our annual popular music poll. That's three times as many as foresee a faster beat and louder music, which rates second place.

Trends spotted by lesser groups of young people include more dance craze songs, more revivals of old hits, a continuing output of Rock 'n Roll recordings, and more ballads and folk songs.

The Cha-Cha-Cha has pretty much disappeared from the popular music scene and no revival is expected, apparently, for it is at the bottom of the long list of expected trends.

BRENDA'S QUEEN

Brenda Lee reigns once more as queen of the female singers, with 34 per cent of girls and 31 per cent of boys naming her as their favorite.

Connie Francis is the runner-up. This is the second consecutive year in which they have ranked that way; in 1960, the order was reversed. Third in the poll is Connie Stevens, followed by Linda Scott and Etta James.

Brenda's record of "All Alone Am I" was the top record of 1962, copying 82 per cent of the votes cast.

ELVIS COMES BACK

"Big Girls Don't Cry" by The Four Seasons, with 70 per cent of the votes, comes in second.

Next in popularity are "Sherry" again by The Four Seasons and "Stupidity" by the Van Dykes. Tied for fifth place are "Moon River" by Henry Mancini and Elvis Presley's "Return to Sender."

Elvis comes back to take the spotlight as favorite male vocalist this year, receiving 177 votes. Not far behind in second place is Johnny Mathis. Following in order are Dion, Rickey Nelson and Ray Charles.

Chubby Checker, who was far and away the leading male singer last year, has dropped to 12th place in the 1962 poll.

Two television personalities, Richard Chamberlain and Vince Edwards, better known as Dr. Kildare and Ben Casey, who made their debuts as vocalists, also appear in the poll findings.

Richard Chamberlain ranks eighth among the favorite male singers. Vince Edwards' recording of "Patches" is one of six tied for ninth place among the year's top records.

THEY'RE PROMISING

Gazing into their crystal balls, the youngsters select Brenda Lee and John Crawford as the most promising young singers.

Others whose stars are expected to rise further are Joanie Summers, Shelley Fabares, Dee Dee Sharp, and Richard Chamberlain, Paul Anka and Bobby Vinton.

Another television star turned singer, George Maharis, ties for fifth place among promising singers with Paul Peterson.

Lending credibility to such predictions is Linda Scott, last year's "most promising." This year she is in fourth place among favorite female singers.

MORE ALBUMS EXPECTED

Even so, fame is fleeting in the record business. The names of Gary U. S. Bonds and Del Shannon, who were picked as the most promising male singers a year ago, do not appear on either the list of this year's favorite male singers or the list of promising vocalists.

Place of honor as favorite vocal group of 1962 goes to the Four Seasons, newcomers to this list. Two of their records appear in the top five records of the year.

Second is the Kingston Trio, who captured the top spot in 1960 and last year dropped to third place.

Two other new groups to this list, the Lettermen, and Peter, Paul and Mary, rank third and fourth. Fifth place goes to the

Polly's Pointers

It's 'Comic Relief'

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — A good way to keep children quiet, particularly during convalescence, is to give them a piece of freezer wrapping paper and an old spoon.

They love to use this as a comic transfer paper by placing the glossy side of the paper against the funnies and rubbing the plain side with a spoon. H. R. O.

DEAR POLLY—Weary of calluses from pushing the iron? Try wearing a right-handed golf glove when ironing.

This leaves fingers free for handling the garments, yet protects the palm of the hand. The back is open for ventilation.

A small pad of cotton tucked inside the palm of the glove provides additional cushioning. L. F.

DEAR POLLY—When going on a first visit to the new baby in a house where there are one or two other toddlers, deduct 50 cents or a dollar from the cost of the wee one's gift and spend it on something to take the others.

This will delight them and help the mother deal with the problem of any resentment toward the new baby.

Can't you hear them say, "I have a new baby brother or sister and people bring me presents, too"? M. L.

DEAR POLLY—Would you please ask the readers for some help for me?

I recently purchased an antique painting on canvas that is rather dull in color.

I would like to know how to brighten the colors. Any help will be appreciated. MRS. J. E.

DEAR POLLY—Last week we "made" our little son a sand box from a big old tractor tire that we got for nothing. We laid it in the back yard and filled it with a dollar's worth of sand.

This kind of sand box has no rough or sharp corners or splinters.

It never needs paint though it can be painted if desired. There was no work except hauling it home and it will be easy to move when the time comes. Our 16-month-old loves it. JIM BAKER

Pontiac Students Busy With Drama, Testing

Central High Classes Take Varied Exams

Ballet Not All Glamour

Northern Players Cast 'The Crucible'

BY JANE BIGLER
Tests have played an important part in life at Pontiac Central High School this week.

Sophomores took the Differential Aptitude Test while juniors were given the Kruder Preference Test and the California Reading Test.

Seniors took the Iowa Test of Educational Development.

These tests were administered to the students on Wednesday and Thursday mornings by their homeroom teachers.

The board of education feels that these tests are very important to the student and results are kept in each student's school file.

Test results will be received by the school sometime in the spring.

SKI WEEKEND

Approximately 35 members of Central's ski club are spending this weekend at Caberfae, the largest ski resort in Michigan.

The group left at 4 this afternoon and will return to Pontiac Sunday night.

They will be accompanied by several Central teachers.

Ski club officers for the present year are Tom Short, president; Joe Patterson, vice president; Julie Bacon, secretary and Gretchen Gaensbauer, treasurer.

John Zimmerle, a business instructor, is their adviser.

LETTER SWEATERS

Something new for the Dolphins members is a letter sweater.

Girls on the synchronized swimming team will be the only ones at Pontiac Central to sport their own letter sweaters.

They are white cardigans and bear the emblem of an orange and black dolphin.

On the sleeves of the sweaters are an orange and black emblem denoting the year of the girls' graduation and orange and black stars showing the number of years the swimmer has been an active Dolphin member.

An Awards Tea was recently held to honor Central's library and audio-visual assistants.

Those receiving pins for three semesters of library assistance were Carolyn Gjelhaug, Carolyn Johnson, Gloria Spann and Julie Claus.

Others were Shirley Roberts, Lillie Stimage, James Haskins and Alice Armestead.

Pat Stephens received a gold pin for five semesters of service. These students work with librarians Doris Haynes and Ann Liggett.

Receiving pins for three semesters of audio-visual service were Jim Rea, Steve Bourgeois, Jens Kusk, Bruce Porriett, Pat Stevens and Leon Leduff.

Dick Johnson and Bob Farms received pins for serving four semesters.

Seniors at Pontiac Central are planning a boat trip to Niagara Falls during late May.

A minimum of 150 students is required for a boat reservation. The first payment is due in administrative assistant Donald McMillan's office by Feb. 15.

OXFORD

BY SHARON MANN

"Frosty Frolic" was the theme for the all-high dance presented last Friday evening by the sophomore class.

Dancing continued from 8:30 to 11:30 p. m. in the high school student center.

Graduation seemed even closer this week for the 88 members of the senior class, who measured for caps and gowns. They also picked out their invitations, class flower, color and motto.

Scheduling of pictures has been the main project of the yearbook staff this past week. Photos of the various clubs and classes will be taken during the next few weeks to meet the first deadline.

Coeditors of the yearbook are Gilbert Fujoka and William Pearson, both seniors.

GILBERT YOUTH RESEARCH

Red-haired Anastasia Stevens, only American dancer in the famed Bolshoi Ballet troupe, was in a dilemma.

In New York for the final performances of the Ballet's cross-country tour, she had turned Christmas shopper, and couldn't decide whether to buy a leather coat with fur lining or a regulation fur.

In those rare intervals when she wasn't rehearsing or performing, she went into every major department store on Fifth Avenue. "I guess New York has gone to my head."

Stacia at 20 has been on her toes since she first began studying ballet in 1949 in Rome.

When she was 14, her parents moved to Moscow, and the young dancer was accepted in the Bolshoi School, which gave a complete academic course as well as dancing.

When she graduated four years later with highest marks, she made dancing history by being accepted by the Ballet.

The daughter of a Pulitzer-Prize-winning correspondent, Edmund Stevens, now stationed in Moscow, and a Russian mother, who took her degree at Wellesley College in Massachusetts, Anastasia has spent most of her life in Europe. But nevertheless she dreams of becoming a ballerina with an American company.

Life behind stage isn't a bit glamorous, she notes. "The dressing rooms at the Metropolitan Opera are small and dirty," she says, "and at Madison Square Garden, I nearly fell off the stage."

But despite such inconveniences and the grueling schedule a ballet dancer must conform to, dancing is Anastasia's life.

BY SUSAN KILLEN

As its second production of the 1962-63 season, the Pontiac Northern Players have cast a four-act play, "The Crucible," by Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Arthur Miller.

The large cast, announced on Monday in order of appearance includes: Greg Silvas, Patricia Brown, Cecilia Pierce, Sherri Mason, Brenda Lewis, Jennifer Brooks, Devon Barefoot, Susan Scott, Patricia Waugh, and Andrew Kives.

Others are: Sharon Douglas, David Butler, Robert Dugan, Lynne Segula, Steven Daniels, Gary Eldridge, Nevaro Masters, Larry Howard, Garry Carpenter, Mary Jane Hoisington, and David Campbell.

James Stephens will act as stage manager, while Sidney Borders will be lighting technician. Properties will be under supervision of Barbara Johns and costumes will be under care of Linda Behnke.

Prompters will be Carol McDermid and the student director will be Scarlet Rutherford, who has directed the last two plays at PNH.

All of these students will be working under the leadership of Northern's drama coach, Anthony Chiarilli.

The play dealing with witch trials in Salem, Mass., during the 17th century, will be produced March 23 and 24. Sets will be impressionistic.

A contest will be held in the two drama classes for a set design, and the winner will receive $10.

The play will be staged in the Northern High School Auditorium. Tickets sales will be under direction of Dwight Coe.

Europe Visits Walled Lake

BY LANA Lu LEAR

This year, the school is hosting four outstanding exchange students through the Michigan Council of Churches' "Youth for Understanding Program."

Marjan Saenan, the only girl, hails from Valkenswaard, Holland.

She is residing with Mrs. Gertrude McEvoy and her daughter Elaine, who is also a senior at Walled Lake.

This 19-year-old miss, one of ten children, is very enthusiastic about life in her new home. She finds American boys and girls very friendly and quite stylish. Marjan enjoys the American schools and finds them comparatively easy after those back home.

Jurgen Harold, a 17-year-old lad from Oldenburg, Germany, is spending the year here with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Morphew and their two sons, Richard and Ross.

School activities here appeal to Jurgen, whose main interest is music. He is a member of the mixed chorus and of two church choirs. In Oldenburg, Jurgen also belonged to several choirs and played the accordion.

Veit Pagel, a German student from Hanover, is living here with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Steckling, their son John and daughter Barbara, who is presently attending Michigan State.

Fair-haired Veit, age 18, also marvels at the number of activities. He participates in debate and journalism groups as well as the Student Council.

ALSO FROM GERMANY

Erland Erdmann, 18, from Sella, Germany, is now residing with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Huber, sons Kenneth and Ronald, and daughter Diana.

He, too, enjoys school life and was particularly fascinated by football games. This German student likes American teens and he enjoys many activities with them.

Erland intends to finish his schooling here and in Germany and eventually to become a physician.

CLARKSTON

By JANET TISCH

The Girls' Athletic Association will host all Wayne-Oakland League schools for a basketball clinic Jan. 18. Beginning at 1:30 p. m. with an orientation by GAA president Barbara Armstrong, the clinic will offer a demonstration game using new basketball rules.

Following this, all schools will participate in tournament games using the new rules set forth by the National Association of Girls' Athletics.

The CHS administration and representatives from the student government and executive council met yesterday to discuss student-administration relations.

With a better understanding of the problems each faces, the group hopes to better coordinate activities between the administration and student body.

Representing the student body were James Chapman, Betty Cobb, Dan Craven, Marcie Fox, Sue Hampshire, Janet Tisch and George White.

Y-Teens held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday under the direction of president Blair Bullard. The mid-winter conference was discussed. Members offering to attend included Cookie Smith, Sandra Powell, Carol Kieft, and Beverly Galligan. As in past years, the conference is to be held at Clearwater Camp in Battle Creek.

Five Attend State Confab Held in Battle Creek

By LIZ VENIE

Battle Creek was the destination of five Waterford Township High School students who attended the Michigan Conference on Citizenship this week.

Accompanied by William Green, social studies instructor, were sophomores Pam Clark and Ralph Lane and freshmen Sharon Campbell, Lynn Gustafson and Nancy Hunt.

Pam and Ralph took part in the conference planning committee and participated in a panel discussion of the problems of citizenship in the home, school, community, nation and world.

Returning today, the delegates expressed hopes for a regional citizenship conference of this type to be held in Waterford Township in March.

ARTISTIC JOURNEY

Art II students traveled to Detroit this week to view the Vincent Van Gogh exhibit currently on display at the Detroit Institute of Art.

Also traveling, three senior American Government classes and one junior Unified Studies class journeyed to Lansing Thursday, accompanied by Charles Sayre and John Sommers, WTHS government instructors.

After touring the capitol building, the students met with Gov. George Romney and other state officials. In the afternoon, they sat in on a legislative session of the state senate.

Commencement exercises came one step closer for seniors who ordered their graduation announcements and name cards this week.

Seniors are also finishing plans for their class-sponsored dance, "Glittering Shadows."

Postponed by bad weather in December, the dance, which will feature WXYZ disc jockey Joel Sebastian, is rescheduled for Jan. 23 at 8 p. m. in the school gym.

Script writers and production crews are busy reading the annual "Showboat," a variety production presented by the junior class to raise money for senior activities.

SAILS FEB. 7, 9

On Feb. 7 and 9, "Showboat" sails "Down the Mississippi," guided in part by Lynn Filer, junior class vice president and production general chairman.

Having chosen the cover for the 1963 Waterlog, the yearbook staff is scurrying to meet the first of many deadlines as each section is completed under the supervision of Audrey Schultz, editor-in-chief.

This afternoon, students in the Modern American Authors and freshmen block classes sponsored the first pep assembly of the '63 basketball season.

Waterford's Skippers meet the Huskies of Pontiac Northern tonight at 8 on the home court.

Donkey Basketball at Kettering

By BARB SECAN

Spills and thrills will be abundant tomorrow night at Waterford

Kettering's annual donkey basketball game.

This event promises yearly to be fun for all who attend. It is merely a basketball game between the faculty members of WKHS and Pierce Junior High, but it has one stipulation.

Each basket that is scored, must be shot while the player is on a donkey.

Riotous entertainment stems from the conduct of the unpredictable mules and the inability of the men to move the stubborn creatures at the right moment.

HALFTIME SHOW

In the past, a halftime show, featuring the donkeys, has been provided by the farm which supplies them.

The Varisty Club, sponsored by James Larkin, has been preparing this activity.

Club officers are Jerry Ryan, president; Duane Galero, vice president; Douglas Stranahan, secretary; John Popovich, treasurer; and Dan Anthony, sergeant at arms. Profits will go toward a whirlpool bath.

Game time is 8 p. m. in the W-K gymnasium, with tickets available at the door. Prices are 50 cents for students and $1 for adults.

VIEW COLLECTION

Students of Mrs. Paul Petty's art classes and Glen Bevan's English classes journeyed to the Detroit Institute of Arts yesterday to see the Van Gogh collection.

The students left early in the day and caught their buses home at 2:30 p. m.

Kettering is hosting six student teachers from Michigan State University for a 10-week period. Although they are still college students, this gives them an insight to the teaching profession.

It is also an opportunity for them to gain classroom experience in the actual handling of student-teacher affairs. Each in his own specialized field, these people sit in and observe teaching procedures in various classes.

SUCCESSFUL PRODUCTION

Last year one of the most successful dramatic productions at W-K was the play of the "Imitation Gargoyles." This year the students who wrote the play have come up with something equally hilarious. "The Teen-Age Son of a Window Ledge Watching All the Girls Go by Strikes Back" is the name of this second hit.

Recently the leading roles were announced. They have been given to Roger Blain, Geff Blain, Debbie Peterson and James Cravell.

Poking fun at today's TV programs seems to be the jest of this satirical play. A production date has not as yet been set.

Immediately following the basketball game tonight there will be an after game dance in the gym. Everyone is welcome to this record hop sponsored by the student council. The guest policy will be in effect.

Need to Be Alone Now Recognized

"Untogetherness" is one of the major themes of the 1963 Decoration and Design Show. The all-purpose family room has been replaced by special interest rooms that provide a feeling of quiet relaxation—and what is more important—privacy.

Libraries, dens, studies, music rooms and private quarters for art collectors or sportsmen are prominently featured. There are offices-at-home and private nooks for hobbyists.

N-Facility to Take Over Backwoods Town

GAINESVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Life drifted on lazily in the sleepy backwoods community of Gainesville.

Deep in the piney forests of southern Mississippi, its 100

residents enjoyed a quiet existence on the banks of the Pearl River — a world apart from the breakneck pace of the big cities.

For relaxation, they fished for cattfish and white trout, hunted deer and wild ducks in nearby Honey Island Swamp, chatted over coffee in Louise Elizabeth Loveless' country store.

That placid life is gone. Gainesville died today. Its executioner was the space age.

The Mississippi test facility is acquiring 141,000 acres to test the world's biggest rocket engines that one day will send astronauts to the moon. The $500-million base is wiping Gainesville off the map.

"I remember the day I heard about it," Mrs. Loveless, 56, said. She is leaving her store and her 10-room home built 100 years ago.

"I couldn't believe it," she said. "It was a shock to everyone in Gainesville. Nobody did any housework that day."

Gainesville is so small and remote, many Mississippians never have heard of it.

Back in the early 1800s, it was a flourishing sawmill center, a bustling river town.

In its early days, Gainesville was a headquarters for pirates and freebooters. When Mississippi joined the Union in 1817, the government cleaned them out.

Gainesville's key river location soon made it prosper. Steamboats churned up to its shores. It became a county seat for a while. Its sawmill and turpentine stills hummed.

On paydays, Gainesville's men paddled out to the floating barrooms that anchored off the Louisiana bank — just across the Pearl River — to avoid Mississippi's dry laws.

Above all, it was a friendly town. E. J. Stockwell, 92, remembers a justice of the peace fining two brawling men $1 each for fighting in the street.

Onlookers chipped in nickels and dimes to pay the fine. And then the justice bought drinks for everyone.

"Yessir," Stockwell said, "that was Gainesville in the old days."

Gainesville's halcyon era ended in 1883. The railroad came through, but bypassed Gainesville. Shipping shifted to railroad towns, and Gainesville slowly declined. It never recovered.

In 1962, Gainesville had only some 35 families. It had a small unused school, one store, two Baptist churches.

But its people were firmly rooted. They loved its remoteness and closeness to untouched nature. Some lived in homes in which their families had stayed for generations.

"Wherever I go, I know there will be something lacking," Mrs. Loveless said.

Gainesville, Miss. passes out of existence to make way for a Saturn moon rocket test site.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Foolishness at Its Worst in Food Facts

It is doubtful that any class of fads has had more varieties and has been the cause of more foolishness than food fads.

It would sometimes seem that the more ridiculous the fad, the greater the enthusiasm of a small but noisy segment of the population.

These fads are frequently based on misapplication of highly technical scientific discoveries.

An example is BRANDSTADT the misuse of vitamins. Every specialist in the science of nutrition knows that the body requires only very minute quantities of each of the vitamins daily and that these are best supplied in the foods we eat.

Some persons who have a disease due to vitamin deficiency or who are on some sort of restrictive diet may need vitamin concentrates to supply the body's requirements.

These concentrates will, however, supply neither pep nor tissues, but they will bring the function of various body systems back to normal.

They can do nothing more than that and amounts taken in excess of the body's needs are not stored but are promptly eliminated.

The drinking of coffee and tea started over many years ago as fads but have now become firmly entrenched in our daily lives.

The disadvantages of these drinks, which in themselves have no nutritional value, is that they divert our appetites from beverages that have definite food value.

POPULAR FALLACY

Another popular fallacy is the belief that vegetables from an unknown source were most likely raised on soil that was poor in essential minerals and are therefore of inferior nutritional value.

Soil that is that poor would produce so small a crop that it could not be considered an important source of supply.

One unfortunate feature of many food fads is that they are uneconomical. Wheat germ, for example, has been hailed as a health-giving food.

There is no doubt that wheat germ is rich in certain essential nutrients but it is very expensive compared to other foods of equal value.

This type of fad is often put over with a big promotional fanfare and as a result the rich promoter gets richer and the poor consumer gets poorer.

One of the worst types of food fad is the branding of some natural food as poisonous or indigestible or as favoring cancer or an allergy.

As a result of such fads some people have avoided all meat or milk or eggs. Unless a definitely proved allergy is present, a person does himself an injustice by avoiding these natural foods.

False incrimination of certain combinations has also led many people to restrict their diets unnecessarily.

There is no known food, that cannot be eaten in the same meal with another food.

CURLING NORMAL

To say that pickles will make milk curdle in the stomach is to display a woeful ignorance because every child should know that milk curdles in the stomach as a necessary part of its normal digestion.

For most of us a balanced diet of readily available foods should be taken without fear or favor.

It should be eaten in pleasant surroundings and chewed thoroughly without undue haste. Let the faddists rant, but be sure you turn off your hearing aid while they are doing so.

Income Tax Primer (5):

What Business Expenses Are Deductible?

(Editor's Note — This is the fifth of eight articles in the Newspaper Enterprise Assn. Income Tax Primer, for readers who want more information than is supplied in the official instructions.)

By RICHARD A. MULLEN and
CHARLES W. SCHOENEMAN
Written for NEA

Tax law and the Internal Revenue Service recognize that the performance of services as an employee constitutes the carrying on of a trade or business.

Deductions for expenditures for travel, transportation, meals and lodging while away from home on business and for all reimbursed expenses are available without affecting your right to claim standard deduction.

Other business expenses (such as unreimbursed business entertainment) of employees (except certain "outside salesmen") are deductible, but only if the standard 10 per cent deduction is not claimed.

One of such deductions, IRS recently has said, is for a portion of the expenses of maintenance and depreciation of a residence used under specific circumstances in the employee's business.

First, it must be as a condition of employment that the employee is required to provide his own space and facilities for the performance of his duties.

Second, he must regularly use a portion of his residence for that purpose. It may be part-time use, but it must be regular.

NOT CONVENIENCE

If you could remain at your employer's office (or return to it) after hours, but for your own convenience take work home, you are not entitled to a deduction.

You must also have some mathematical justification for the amount deducted — based on space, amount of its business use and "expenses" such as rent, heat depreciation.

Interest on a mortgage and real estate taxes are deductible by all taxpayers — but only if the standard deduction is not used.

Unless an employee is an "outside salesman" he acquires no tax benefit from these two items if his home is partly used for his business.

Treasury ruling on this subject says that the employer must keep records to show amounts of the expenses on the residence which he attributes to business use.

A part of repair costs to outside of the house and cost of all repairs to the office (or workshop) space are deductible.

Car Production Set at 158,977

DETROIT (UPI) — American automakers are scheduled to build 158,977 new cars this week, it was reported yesterday.

The trade magazine Automotive Industries said this week's total is 40 per cent above the 114,090 cars produced last week when plants were closed for a time because of the holiday.

The total is an 11 per cent increase over the 143,143 cars turned out in the comparable week of 1962.

All assembly plants are working this week. General Motors, Ford, Chrysler and American Motors are keeping their overtime and multiple shift schedules in effect.

Studebaker, which was down last week except for Avanti production, is building its standard cars four days this week while the Avanti remains on a five-day schedule.

Chevrolet continues to lead all producers with 34,700 regular cars, 7,700 Chevy II's and 6,000 Corvairs for a total of 48,400 units.

Ford Division is in second place with 19,000 regular cars, 7,010 Falcons, 7,127 Fairlanes and 1,554 Thunderbirds for a total of 34,907 units.

British Politician Dead

LONDON (AP) — Sir Patrick Hannon, 88, formerly one of Parliament's most colorful personalities, died Thursday. The Irish-born Hannon, a conservative, served in the House of Commons more than 30 years.

The employer must be able to show amount of the home used for business in terms of space; use extent in terms of time.

DEPRECIATION

Tax depreciation of a part of your residence for its use in your business is complicated.

Take the cost (including major improvements you have made) or the fair market value of the residence (whichever is lower), then subtract the assumed sale price realizable when the residence no longer is used in your business.

Then take a fraction of that amount based on residence space used in the business and divide it by the number of years you estimate you'll be required to use the residence in trade or business.

Q — Are any expenses of looking for a job deductible?

A — Yes, if you itemize. Fees paid a job agency for procuring employment are deductible.

Q — Can you deduct any educational expenses to improve your skills as an employee?

A — Yes. Tuition, laboratory fees and certain travel, meals and lodging expenses to get this training are deductible. If you were maintaining or improving skills required in your (then) present employment or your employer (or the law governing your job) required the training to KEEP (but not to OBTAIN) your salary, job, or position.

Such education deductions are available as a rule only if you itemize your deductions — unless your employer reimburses you for expense.

Expenses to train for a new or better job are not deductible.

Certain other exemptions in connection with training may be allowable. Consult your IRS office.

Q — Are union dues deductible?

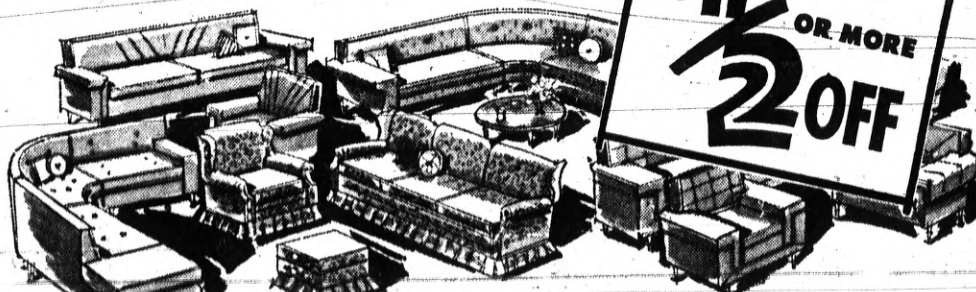

A — Yes, if you itemize deductions.

Next: Deductions.

Nun Admitted as Attorney

First Sister in State to Become Lawyer

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Bar Association said the first nun in Michigan history to become a lawyer was formally admitted to practice yesterday.

Sister Mary Leo Pavlowski, 31, supervisor of nurses at Mount Carmel Mercy Hospital, Detroit, and a member of the Sisters of Mercy, is among 71 new lawyers admitted to practice at ceremonies in the City-County Building.

She was graduated from the University of Detroit magna cum laude in 1957 and from the U. of D. Law School last June.

In charge of all accounting at the 567-bed hospital, Sister Mary Leo elected to study law to help her in the executive work.

The Detroit Bar Association emphasized that Sister Mary Leo is the first nun to become an attorney "after admittance to a religious order."

The bar association said it had learned a woman who was first an attorney became a nun and is now in an order running a Grand Rapids Catholic girls school.

Court Asked to Untangle Union Affairs

DETROIT (AP) — The International Sheet Metal Workers (AFL-CIO) asked Wayne County Circuit Court yesterday to straighten out the tangled affairs of Detroit Local 292.

The local has been the scene of a power struggle between Robert E. Barbour, its president, and Edwin Walters, a local business representative.

The international said it sent George Dowler from its Washington office Dec. 24 to take over control, but that he has been blocked in his efforts to get control of the local office, its books and records.

Dowler, an international representative of the union, said Barbour staged a "sitdown takeover" of the union offices.

He said that unless the situation is straightened out quickly, current labor contracts of the union which are near expiration will have to be extended without renegotiations and with no possible pay increases.

JFK to Talk With Fanfani

Italian Premier Plans Visit to Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The White House announced yesterday that President Kennedy will confer here Jan. 16-17 with Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani.

Confirmation of reports of the Italian leaders' visit came in a brief White House statement which said Kennedy invited Fanfani to Washington to discuss matters of mutual interest.

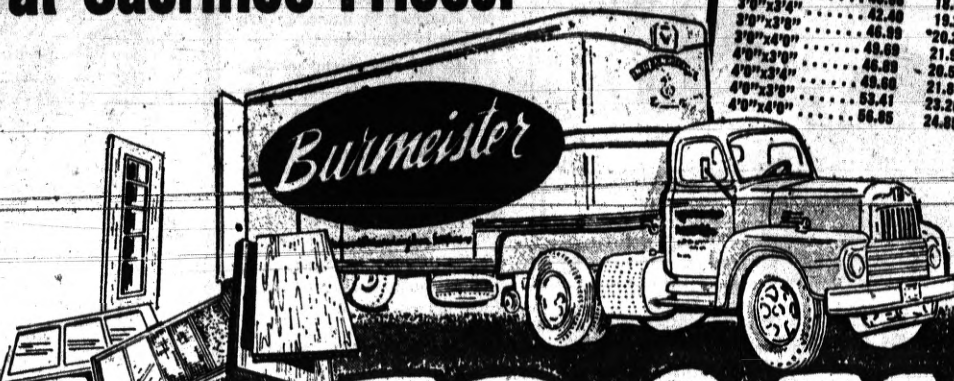

It was believed that Fanfani particularly wants to discuss with the President problems concerning the common market and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Premier was said to want to discuss the U.S. offer to supply Polaris missiles to a multilateral NATO nuclear force.

Italy is considered to be one of only about half a dozen NATO members with the financial ability to buy the missiles and thus take an active role in the force.

Authoritative sources said earlier this week that Fanfani planned to hold a series of discussions with a number of top-level U.S. officials besides Kennedy during next week's visit.

Red Wings' Howe Nearing Career Goals Mark

Detroit Wins as Vet Bags 2 at Montreal

Right Winger Only 25 Behind Richard; Black Hawks Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

They still refer to the retired Maurice Richard as the Babe Ruth of hockey because the Bambino hit the most career home runs, 714, and the Rocket scored the most goals, 544.

But it won't be too long before they pin the Ruth label on Gordie Howe, Detroit's veteran right winger.

Howe is fast closing in on Richard's National Hockey League record. Thursday night, he collected two goals as the Red Wings defeated Montreal, the team for which Richard starred, 3-2. The setback ended the Canadiens' 10-game unbeaten streak.

Charlie Burns' tally at 12:47 of the third period enabled the last-place Boston Bruins to whip the pace-setting Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 in the other game scheduled.

NEEDS 25 MORE

Howe's goals pushed his season's total to 17 and his career aggregate to 519. So he needs only 25 to tie Richard. Gordie's second goal in the seventh minute of the final period snapped a 2-2 tie and moved the Wings to within two points of the third-place Canadiens.

Billy McNeill scored the Wings' other goal while Gilles Tremblay and Bobby Rousseau registered for Montreal.

Rousseau's marker came only nine seconds after the opening face-off and fell one second short of the league record for fastest goal after start of a game. The mark was set by Ron Martin of the old New York Americans on Dec. 4, 1932 and equaled by Toronto's Ted Kennedy on Oct. 24, 1953.

SAWCHUK INJURED

Terry Sawchuk, the Detroit goalie, had to leave the game in the 16th minute of the second period after suffering an injury to his right ankle. Dennis Riggins replaced him and sparked with 11 saves.

Burns' game-winner came on a lunging 25-foot shot after taking a diagonal pass from defenseman Ed Westfall. Guy Gendron had Tommy Williams, a Duluth, Minn. native, and rookie Bob Leiter each had one. The Hawks' marksmen were Stan Mikita, Reg Fleming, Ron Murphy and Wayne Hillman.

According to Kinnison, "he was just hot."

The 50 point total shot Bitzer into the county individual cage scoring lead with a 108 point total, 21.3 average for five games.

Waterford's Bob Reader is a close second hitting at a 20.2 clip on a 102 total.

In three weeks of the cage listings there have been three different leaders, Bitzer is the fourth to take over after Craig Bell of Northville, last week's high man, fell to fifth at 19.2 right behind Gary Hayward of Pontiac Northern, the 2nd week's leader, with a 19.3 count per game.

Emmanuel Christian forward Ralph Wingate still maintains the highest total and has taken up the third spot with 19.4 on a 137 point total for seven games.

As the season progresses the averages are starting to climb. In this weeks top 21 the cut-off point is 10 points higher (14.1) than in any previous week.

AREA LEADER

Len DeGrow of North Branch has edged Chuck Ingram of Port Huron for the area lead with 24.1 count. Ingram, last weeks leader is second at 20.3.

Utica's Jim Moshenko is third accounting for a 19.1 mark.

Heavyweight Fight May Get to Court

NEW YORK — Unless this is all a lot of ballyhoo — and it might be — the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston rematch very well may be staged in a courtroom before it reaches a ring.

The latest series of events in the tangled process which may or may not be leading to a rematch between heavyweight champion Liston and ex-champ Patterson went like this:

Patterson, who has the contractual rights to name the date, site and promoter, announced Wednesday that the fight would be held in Miami Beach, April 4, under the promotion of Championship Sports, Inc.

Liston's first reaction was that he was less than completely enchanted about it all. Then Thursday he came out with a firm "no."

Which means, at the moment, the fight is off again. Or at least up in the air.

MOUHPICES

Actually, neither Patterson nor Liston are making their comments directly. They're coming through attorneys, advisors and such like, Patterson's attorney, KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ken Krueger, president of the Kansas City team in the defunct American Basketball League, says he has formally applied for admission to the National Basketball Association.

BRONCOS ROUTED

Loyola's national scoring leaders, sparked by Jerry Harkness' 26-point effort, pushed over the century mark for the eighth time, clobbering Western Michigan of the Mid-American Conference 107-69 for victory No. 15.

In two other Missouri Valley clashes, eighth-ranked Wichita used Dave Stallworth's 22 points and Ernie Moore's ball-hawking as the main weapons in a 71-65 triumph over St. Louis, and Tulsa defeated Drake 79-72 after a basket by sophomore Carlos Gripado broke it open.

William & Mary upended Virginia Tech 78-63 as Bob Harris scored 25 points and left West Virginia the only unbeaten team in the Southern Conference. In another league game, Furman hit six consecutive foul shots in the last 69 seconds to subdue Davidson 65-63.

Leading only 50-42 at the half, Loyola bolted away from Western Michigan in the final 20 minutes for an easy victory before an overflow crowd of 6,500 at Kalamazoo, Mich. Manny Newsome topped Western with 20.

Neither Cincinnati nor Loyola has seriously been pressed this season. The Bearcats have won by less than 10 points only once and the Ramblers have dropped under that margin only twice. Dayton accomplished the feat against both.

'M' Plays Key Game Against Buckeyes

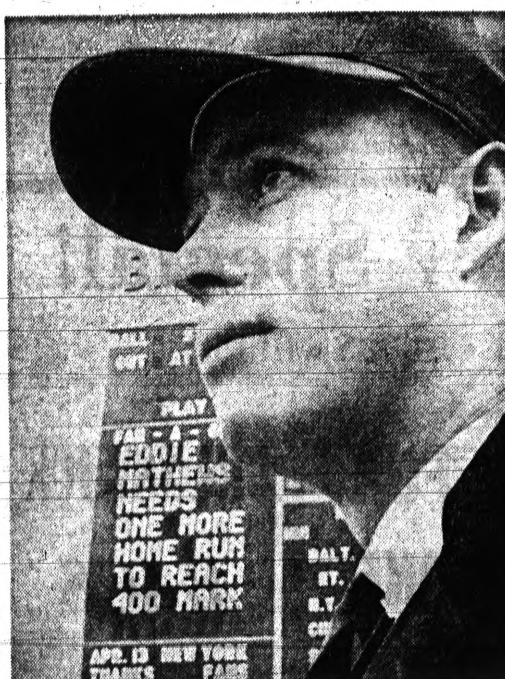

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Michigan, one of four unbeaten teams in Big Ten play, will try to derail Ohio State further from repeating as basketball champion Saturday night.

The Wolverines, who have knocked off Northwestern and Iowa in their two conference starts will invade Ohio State in the only night attraction of a four-game schedule.

In afternoon contests, Purdue (0-2) is at fifth ranked Illinois (2-0), Michigan State (0-1) at Wisconsin (1-0) and Iowa (0-2) at Minnesota (0-1) in a televised game. Indiana (2-0) and Northwestern (0-1) are idle.

The Buckeyes opened their bid for a fourth straight Big Ten crown by defeating Minnesota 78-76, but were trounced at Illinois Monday 90-78.

ONE SWING AWAY — Eddie Mathews, whose 399 home runs puts him in the No. 8 spot among the major leagues' all-time home run hitters, poses in front of the County Stadium scoreboard in Milwaukee where his big goal was spelled out. He signed a 1963 contract with the Braves yesterday.

AP Poll Names Australian as Top Female

Dawn Fraser Chosen; Wilma Rudolph 2nd; Marion Ladewig 3rd

NEW YORK (AP)—Australia's Dawn Fraser, the first woman to break the one minute barrier for the 100-meter swim, today was named Female Athlete of the Year for 1962 in the annual year-end poll of the Associated Press.

At the ripe old age of 25, when most women swimmers long have quit competition for week-end dips, the tall Melbourne blonde scored her breakthrough by churning 110 yards in 59.9 seconds in the Australian trials for the British Empire Games last October.

This broke her own world record of 60 seconds for the 110 yards and 100 meters (109 yards, 1 foot, 1 inch).

LOWERED MARK

Then in the race for the gold medal in the Empire Games at Perth, the strapping champion lowered her mark for 110 yards and 100 meters to 59.6 seconds.

The astonishing thing about her record breaking triumph and the capture of four gold medals in the Games, was that Dawn had just recovered from a siege of bronchitis. She is the first woman ever to win the Olympic 100-meter freestyle championship twice (1956, 1960) and she has designs on making it three straight at Tokyo in 1964.

Miss Fraser, a staff supervisor in the fashion department of a large retail store in Melbourne, succeeds the fabulous Wilma Rudolph, winner of the Athlete of the Year trophy in 1960 and 1961. Wondrous Wilma, still the world's fastest female sprinter, was a close second this time. Marion Ladewig, the attractive, 48-year-old bowling grandmother and champion from Grand Rapids, Mich., was third; Darlene Hard, top-ranking American women's tennis player was fourth, and Margaret Smith, Australia's outstanding tennis star, was fifth.

The voting, points on a 3-2-1 basis, first place votes in parentheses:

1. Dawn Fraser, swimming (78) 377
2. Wilma Rudolph, track (66) 333
3. Marion Ladewig, bowling (37) 175
4. Darlene Hard, tennis (20) 167
5. Margaret Smith, tennis (17) 119
6. Carolyn House, swimming (14) 110
7. Donna de Varona, swimming (9) 52
8. Robyn Johnson, swimming (9) 78
9. Joanne Gunderson, golf (5) 45

Kemp in Top Form for AFL Contest

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Quarterback Jack Kemp of the Buffalo Bills is reported in top passing form for the American Football League All-Star game here Sunday.

Kemp is expected to rotate at quarterback with George Blanda of Houston when their East squad takes on the West.

Kemp was sidelined part of the 1962 season with a fractured finger. East Coach Frank (Pop) Ivy of Houston chose Kemp to replace Vito (Babe) Parilli of Boston.

Parilli, elected to the squad by player balloting, was eliminated from the game by a late-season injury.

Meanwhile, West Coach Hank Stram of Dallas reports his team is operating smoothly. He expects strong showings from Len Dawson, quarterback of the champion Dallas Texans, and Gene Mingo, Denver Bronco end and kicking specialist.

Key Games for Huskies, PCH on Tap

St. Michael has more at stake than the city parochial basketball championship when the Shamrocks clash with St. Frederick's Rams tonight at Madison Junior High School.

A possible shot at the Northwest Catholic League championship will belong to the Mikemen if they win. Should St. Fred triumph, the Shamrocks will be forced to share the city crown and their league title hopes will have gone out the window.

Pontiac's two public high schools, Northern and Central, play key league games tonight.

Central will host Flint Northern needing a win to stay alive in the Saginaw Valley race. Waterford will be attempting to tie PNH for first place in the Inter-Lakes when the Skippers entertain the Huskies.

Holly and West Bloomfield clash in Keego Harbor with the winner taking sole possession of first place in the Wayne-Oakland Conference.

St. Mike jolted the Rams 39-38 in December.

WITHIN RANGE

Since then, the Shamrocks have managed to stay within striking range of league leading Royal Oak St. Mary. They have lost twice in league play.

St. Frederick suffered its third setback in NWCL play Tuesday and this all but eliminated the Rams from contention.

The Rams have been a mystery to other coaches in the league. They are puzzled by St. Fred's low scoring games, claiming the Rams have a good potential in the scoring department.

Towering Mike Pope has been improving with each game and is the offensive leader for the Mikemen.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

When Don Shula was born 33 years ago, a young man named Paul Brown was starting his coaching career at Severn Prep in Ohio.

This week, within 24 hours of each other, Shula at 33 became the youngest head coach in the NFL, while Brown was relieved of a coaching career which must be one of the most impressive in gridiron history.

For the Lions' former defensive backfield coach, who was often called "boy coach" in jest by friends and writers, it presents a great opportunity.

Shula, a former student of Brown, has a talented football mind and plenty of youthful drive. He'll need every bit of his drive in Baltimore, one of the hot beds of pro football where Shula himself once said, "The fans in Baltimore are the toughest."

Brown also leaves coaching in a wild football town where his biting sarcasm won him very few friends. No one could deny however that Brown ranks on top of coaching success. His record of 296 victories, 75 losses and 15 ties in high school, college, service ball and pro football speaks for itself.

POOR TRADER

There is no doubt that Brown knew football. However, there is question as to whether or not he really knew football talent. Over the past few years Brown has to be called one of the worst traders in the NFL, and one of the teams which took advantage of his poor trades was Detroit. The Green Bay Packers can also thank Brown for helping them to the title and the Giants should also have some gratitude.

These constitute the three best teams in the NFL thanks to some of Brown's castoffs.

Probably the best deal the Lions ever made was getting Jim Gibbons for a low draft choice. Gibbons became a star in his first year with Detroit, now holds the all time passing records and has had five outstanding pro years since.

The Lions then obtained Jim Ninowski for Bob Long who later faded, and Ninowski was then used to "steal" Milt Plum, Tommy Watkins and Dave Lloyd.

NOW ALL-PRO

The Packers have two all-pro choices Willie Davis and Henry Jordan when they received for draft choices. They also have Lew Carpenter and regular Bill Quinlan by just giving up a fading player, Bill Howton.

Another trade shocker which backfired was sending Bobby Mitchell to Washington for Ernie Davis, an untested rookie who will probably never play football because of leukemia after a heralded college career. Regardless of how great he was in college, the fact remained that Davis was still a rookie and Mitchell a tested veteran.

The Giants can thank Cleveland for Del Shofner, an all pro end; the LA Rams lured all pro center Art Hunter from Brown and the Colts have been more than happy that Brown took one look at Bill Pellington and let him go.

There are other clubs which owe Brown a card of thanks in his retirement for the traded "gifts."

In commenting about his new position as vice president, Brown asked, "Vice president of what?" President Art Modell certainly won't let it be vice president of trades.

Parker Inks Pact With Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Buddy Parker agreed to a new contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers Thursday and said he'll be shooting for a National Football League championship next season.

Parker, who at one time during 1962 hinted he wouldn't return in 1963, got a one year contract.

Parker had been on the final year of a five-year contract last season when he guided the Steelers into second place in the eastern conference with a 9-5 record, the best in the team's 29-year history.

Marzich hit six-game totals of 1395 and 1356 for a total of 2751 but the high series of 1429 was rolled by Roy Lown, El Paso, Tex. The high single game of 290 for the first 12 games was bowled by Jim St. John of Chicago.

Ed Lubanski of Detroit moved from sixth place at the end of six games to second place at the end of the first round Thursday night. His score was 1300-1324-2624.

Westside Tops 1st Half Race

The Pontiac Travelling Classic League ended its first half season with Westside Lanes assuming the top position last Sunday after 300 Bowl had held the premier rung from the first week of competition.

With 300 Bowl & Lounge having the bye, Westside subdued Wonderland Lanes, 14-2, and jumped a half game in front. The Westsiders still have a match to makeup with Howe's Lanes. Jerry Perna tallied five points in Sunday's victory.

Airway moved into a tie with 300 Bowl for the runnerup slot by pounding Howe's 15-6 behind the two-pronged offense of Pat Tinson (six points) and Ed Gibbs (five points).

In another lopsided contest, Huron Bowl defeated Cooley Lanes by a 14-4 count and retained its grip on second place.

BOWLING

Four points to the Four Points and the Bucks & Does League race at Lakewood Lanes is knotted very tightly.

Herb Zachring of the Four Points team set the pace as his team swept into a first place tie with The Fawns by bowling 222-603 last Monday. The Tinorns and The Antlers are close behind — a half point and a point respectively — just waiting for one of the two to slip up next week.

The last place team in the six-member circuit, The Spike-horns, trail the leaders by only six and a half points, and very few cellar dwelling teams can say the same.

The Spares picked up three points in the Airway Queens League Tuesday and now lead the loop by three points over the All Stars and Royalettes teams.

At Westside Lanes, the WKC team moved into a tie for second position by winning four

The 11th Frame

Almost any bowling team is proud when it has one of its members produce a 600 series. Such series are common in the Westside Classic and frequently one team will have two or three keggers hit 600 or better the same night.

But the first-place Dale Cook Construction team after Monday night's action could point especially with justifiable pride to feats of Jack Chambers, Stan Kurzman and Bob Richards.

The three had the top three series of the night's competition and, in addition set a new team high series mark at 3,156. Chambers bowled 226-233-232 — 691, Kurzman 215-238-222 — 675 and Richards 207-234-211 — 652.

Bill Sweeney produced one of the highest series of the year Friday in the Huron Bowl Classic with a 278-234-733 total. Sweeney's series overshadowed the accomplishment of Pontiac Window Cleaning which took first place Eamon Electric, 6-2, and climbed within one game of the league lead.

Pieffers, buried in the middle of the pack, had one of its biggest nights, with a 3,102 team series. Mike Samardzija, Jr. had another high series, a 680, with games of 268-240.

Also at Huron Bowl, Doris Baucard had a 222 in St. Benedict's Women's League this week.

Roy Hatcher doesn't carry a particularly high average (only in the 140's) in the Men's Senior House League on Tuesday at 300 Bowl but he won't forget for sometime his performance this week. Hatcher picked up the very difficult 4-6 split while bowling for Pat Lally's House of Color team.

There were 31 games of 200 or better rolled in the league and four 600 series. Joe Puertas led the bowlers with 223-225-634 while Bob Frick had 205-222-626.

The Ladies All Star loop at 300 Bowl reports a 201-204-600 last Friday for Eleanor Baxter and 217-581 for Rose Stratton. The season highs for both categories are 257 and 646, scored recently by Lucille Zorvan.

A 233 by John Dura and another by Nick Trevino led the activity in the Pontiac Motor Inter-office circuit Wednesday. Dura added a 212 while William Robbin had 219 and Clayton McIlhargie bowled a 215 game. A total of 17 games of 200 or better were recorded.

At Airway Lanes, the Grounded Crew team saw Shirley Grusnick soar high with a 232 actual score. The action occurred in the Airway Angels League where the three Crooks still retain a grasp

Home Town Tourney

Casper Takes Early Lead

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—Billy Casper Jr., the amiable round man of golf, has won many major tournaments.

But one that has escaped him is the $25,000 San Diego Open held in his home town.

The 1959 National Open champion made another move to correct this as he led the way into the second round of the event today.

ONE-STROKE EDGE

The 31-year-old pro, who plays out of Apple Valley, Calif., shot an initial 64, seven blows under par, for a one-stroke lead.

The weather remained unsettled after showers pelted the Stardust Country Club course Thursday. One stroke back of Casper were PGA Champion Gary Player of South Africa, Tony Lema of San Leandro, Calif., and Stan Leonard of Canada.

The 66 group consisted of Fred Hawkins, Julius Boros and Jackie Cupit, while six players were bracketed at 67. They were Lionel Hebert, Tommy Bolt, Phil Rodgers, Gardner Dickinson, Charles Sifford and Bud Holscher.

Tommy Jacobs, who won in a sudden death playoff with Johnny Pott last year here, had a 76 and an excuse. He misjudged the weather coming to the course, wore just a T-shirt instead of warmer upper garments and his putting touch figuratively was frozen.

Pott had a 73.

Important Oakland-A Game

Woes for Orion at Oak Park

It's a big night for Oak Park tonight.

If the invading Lake Orion quintet falls, the Redskins can move into a tie with Clawson for the lead in the Oakland A standings.

The Clawson cagers are rated third in the weekly AP prep class B cage poll and are first in the loop with a 4-1 mark.

Oak Park is the only team that has defeated the Trojans setting them back 66-59 with the one two punch of Dennis Pink and Ruby Allen collecting 52 points in the process.

Madison may prove to be a 'hitch' in the Oak Park plans but repeat victories over Fitzgerald, Avondale and Clawson would assure a top berth provided Troy loses the momentum of two consecutive circuit victories and fails in its role of spoiler.

The Troy Colts were pre-season favorites with Clawson for the league crown but a bad start slowed them and a full-fledged recovery is just getting under way.

So far the Colts have posted a win over Oak Park and have handed Avondale a 66-49 defeat.

One more loss for Troy and the Fiber Glass Rules Annual Boat Show

NEW YORK (AP) — The 53rd National Motor Boat show opens at the Coliseum Saturday with the accent on fiber glass.

Almost half of the 500 boats on view are of fiber glass construction with old line established builders of wooden hulls and those who heretofore have produced only fiber glass boats blending wood and plastic in construction.

Figures for the boat show disclose some 400 exhibitors offering about $2.5 million of merchandise. The fleet includes eight cruisers and auxiliaries over 40 feet in length with the queen a 45-foot-5 Philippine mahogany cruiser costing $61.70. The boats range in size down to a sailing pram that sells for $169.50.

The show ends Jan. 20.

Colts would be out of contention but tonight they have a chance to break a 2-2 deadlock with Madison in third place and move into position to challenge the leaders.

The tilt takes place on the Colts' hardwood where 6-foot-3 Roger Qualmann will face the three pronged offensive of Madison's Ron Morgan, John Chiarotti and Louie Knoche who have amassed a total 44.2 average in their last three outings.

Qualmann, high man with a 13.0 average in the same number of tries, is Troy's high man.

Other Oakland A action has Fitzgerald (2-3) hosting Avondale (1-3). Fitzgerald is winless in his last two starts while the Jackets haven't seen the win column in three outings.

Lynn Thorpe will spearhead the Avon attack with 21 and 24 point totals in his last two games.

Big O Making Royals Tough

Robertson Scores 41 as Boston Defeated

By The Associated Press

The Cincinnati Royals, heading for almost a certain playoff berth, are lodged comfortably in third place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association today. They're only a game and a half behind second-place Syracuse.

But where would they be without Oscar Robertson?

The Big O did it again Thursday night. He scored 41 points and snagged 17 rebounds as the Royals downed Boston, the Eastern Division leader, 130-121 in the only game scheduled.

FINAL QUARTER

Most of Robertson's heroics came in the final quarter. With Boston leading 100-98, he tied the game with a jump shot and quickly added eight straight points to put the Royals in front to stay.

Bill Russell, sidelined Wednesday with a sore back, returned to the line-up and led the Celtics with 31 points.

The Nationals and Celtics clash in one of three games on tonight's schedule.

Chicago meets Detroit and Los Angeles faces San Francisco in the others.

U. S., Nigeria Plan Space Experiment

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP)—Nigeria will cooperate with the United States in a year-long communications satellite experiment beginning this month, the Nigerian government announced today.

It said a U.S. satellite and communications ship in Lagos' harbor will be the only station outside the United States for an experimental project.

The U.S. experiment involves putting an active repeater satellite into orbit 22,300 miles above the equator. Lagos lies about 150 miles north of the equator.

Daughter's Schnoz Ain't Big Enough

Durante Loves His 'Dilemma'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD — "Looka dat nose! What a cockroach of a nose!"

This was proud papa James Durante reacting in mock complaint at the schnoz of his year-old daughter Cecilia.

"I tried everythin' wid dat nose," he explained. "I tried to get doctors to do somethin' about it. Nuttin' will work. I guess we're stuck wid dat little button nose."

Cecilia gave him a smile full of tiny teeth and Durante melted. FAMILIAR TUNE
"C'mon, let's play da pianer," he said. She followed him tottering to the piano in the living room of his hillside house. Jimmy pounded out one of his familiar thumping tunes with his right hand and Cecilia supplied the bass. Then she went chasing off after the white poodle.

"I tell ya, my life's changed."

said the comedian. "I used to be off on my business every mornin'; now I don't want to leave da house. An' I gotta get home by 6 o'clock so I can play wid Cecee before she goes to bed."

"I don't wanta leave home no more. I got two-three months of night club dates comin' up, den I'm gonna quit for the rest of da year."

ADOPTED IN JUNE

Fatherhood came late in life to Durante—he'll be 70 Feb. 10. He and his wife Margie adopted Cecilia Alicia last June.

Such is the influence of Cecilia in the Durante household that she might solve the "dilemma" of the two houses. Ever since they were married two years ago, Jimmy and Margie have owned two residences—hers on the hillside and his on the flat on Beverly Drive, each with swimming pool.

"It's the only t'ing we argue about," he once told me. "She don't wanna move outa her place. I can't move all my junk up dere."

So it was a standoff. But now neither place is big enough to house the enlarged family. So the hill house is up for sale, and they'll either build onto the Beverly Drive home or put up a new house on a pair of lots Jimmy has bought on a nearby hill.

State Drops 17,000 Workers

DETROIT (AP)—The number of 1,394,200-man labor force out of jobs in Michigan decreased by 17,000 during December, the employment security commission reports.

Some 158,000—5.4 per cent of the state's 2,899,600-man labor force—were out of work last month, the MESC said.

The number of jobs in Detroit decreased by 3,000 during the month with 5 per cent—70,000 persons—of the motor city's 1,394,200-man labor force out of work.

The December figures show a one per cent increase in the state unemployment rate in the last seven years.

Some 127,000 persons were out of work in October, representing 4.4 per cent of the labor force.

Statisticians estimate there is one mile of railroad for approximately every 4,500 people in the world.

Important to Student's Success

Goals Necessary Before Entering College

BY LESLIE J. NASON, ED. D.

Dear Dr. Nason: Our son, age 15, entered his senior year in high school this September. He made a B average in his work during his junior year. He has won letters in golf, baseball, and basketball.

But to date he has no inclination for any vocation. Would it be better for him to work during the year following high school, or to complete his freshman year in college first, and then take a year off?

G. V. C. Pacifica, Calif.

I recommend that your son take the year off for work following high school. Perhaps during that year he will acquire a vocational goal — it often happens. Success in college is usually associated with definite goals.

Dear Dr. Nason: My 13-year-old brother is a serious student but he lacks initiative and drive. I don't want him to be a pushy individual but I want him to stand up and speak for himself.

He is petrified to face his teacher if he has filled out a form incorrectly or has made some similar mistake.

What can we do to help him have more courage and pluck?

J. K., Yonkers, N. Y.

Help your brother picture himself as a worthwhile person who has the approval of those around him. He should come to understand that his teachers are anxious to help him and are not just waiting to criticize him for a mistake. Convince him that everyone makes mistakes.

Dear Dr. Nason: It seems to us that our fifth grade daughter cannot concentrate. She can read something over and over but does not absorb it.

She is a very good reader, but when she reads questions and problems in math, science, geography, etc., she hasn't the faintest idea what is being asked of her.

Is there some way to remedy this situation?

she automatically will concentrate on what she is reading. Immediately after reading, she should recite back to herself what has been said.

Dear Dr. Nason: Please advise us on the procedure for educating an unusually bright child. Our daughter has just had her fourth birthday and is begging to be taught to read.

She can identify certain words and numbers. She is in a group of 4-year-olds at a prekindergarten and is happy socially, but reports that it is not a "real" school.

Would you advise testing at this time? Would tutoring be a good idea if her reading readiness score is high?

B. F., Tulsa, Okla.

Let your daughter do the pushing. Get her appropriate books. Answer her questions about words, but I would not advise trying to push her ahead through the use of a tutor.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Bobby Jordan and Arthur Robinson of Philadelphia, who finished second in the Phoenix trials, have only been playing as partners for a few years. In fact, Arthur, who is just 26, hasn't been playing bridge very long, but he sure has started out fast.

Of course, he had good instruction at home, as both his parents are life masters.

Arthur likes to tell about his first duplicate with his mother. He had learned the point count and a little about Blackwood. His five heart bid showed his two aces; his six heart bid showed his two kings and his seven diamond bid was intended to show his one queen.

Mrs. Robinson did not know this new Blackwood variation and passed with the idea that Arthur had a long diamond suit.

Arthur might not have known much about bidding, but even as a beginner the play of the cards was easy for him. He decided that West's nine of hearts opening was a doubleton. In that case he could only count twelve tricks, but Arthur found his thirteenth by means of an unusual trump play.

He won the opening heart lead, cashed the king and ace of spades and ruffed a third spade high. He returned to his hand the king of clubs and ruffed his last spade with another high trump.

He then ran off three rounds of trumps, discarding dummy's fourth heart on his third trump. Since trumps broke three-three Arthur had his thirteenth trick and the first top score of what will undoubtedly be a long series of triumphs.

By SYDNEY OMARR

For Saturday

"The wise man controls his destiny. Astrology points the way."

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Today offers opportunity to achieve greater harmony, prestige, profit—key-to-turning apparent defeat into possible victory. Therefore, CONTINUE TO FIGHT—even if "race" appears over.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Greater pleasure derived from company of special person. Best to use day for relaxing from usual grind, routine. Try change of pace. Don't permit frayed nerves to cause quarrel.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Herculean effort may be required to convince others you are CAPABLE. But it's worth it! Talk, express yourself, display knowledge. You can sell almost anything. But first "sell" YOURSELF.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21): Be sure your budget is not stretched too far. Fine day for shopping, but with common sense as guiding light. Let MODERATION be key tonight in dining, partying. Build up vitality.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Take INITIATIVE today. Lead instead of being a "follower." Meet new people. Welcome new challenges. Strive for greater knowledge. Day when your original approach to civic activities.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): You will eventually have "your way" so act accordingly. Don't rush. Be considerate and understanding. Eccentric friend is only TEMPORARY.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Emphasis continues on friendships, wishes, aspirations today. Take time to perceive proper direction. Regain equilibrium. Don't scatter forces. Be specific. Look toward EXPANSION.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Fine day for getting details out of way. Tasks which previously seemed "impossible" now are easily finished. Tonight, express appreciation to harmonious individuals.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Permit sense of whimsy to fore. Accept rather than reject. Friendship prevails at all points of view. Then present opinion in calm, intelligent, restrained manner. You can gain respect today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 1 to Feb. 19): Check personal appearance. Shop for items which build morale. Strive for greater self-confidence. Relations with business associates command spotlight. Go over facts, figures.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Let discretion be greater part of valor today. Be amiable. Refuse to be concerned by the rhythm of activities surrounding you. Permit intellectual curiosity to rule.

IF SATURDAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY your sense of humor is tremendous asset. So is your sense of RESPONSIBILITY. You are promising change and travel.

Introduces Bills on Income Tax

Hayward Asks Curb on Levy by Cities

LANSING — Rep. William Hayward, R-Royal Oak, yesterday introduced two of four bills aimed at curbing city powers to levy an income tax.

Hayward is mayor of Royal Oak and has been active in the Michigan Tax Committee of Michigan, a suburban group seeking a state referendum to keep Detroit from taxing nonresidents.

Hayward's bills would require cities to get voter approval before levying an income tax and would prevent taxing of nonresidents by cities where they work.

He was joined with Oakland County's other Republican representatives — Lloyd L. Anderson of Waterford Township, Henry M. Hogan Jr. of Bloomfield Township and Raymond L. Baker of Berkeley — in sponsoring the bill.

Two other bills with similar provisions were introduced by Rep. William Romano, D-Warren.

Big Expose: Jean Simmons Has Young 'Boy Friend'

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I heard that beautiful Jean Simmons' husband, Richard Brooks, the Hollywood writer-director, was meeting her every afternoon when she finished shooting a film here—and behaving in a rather jealous manner—so I dropped in secretly to see if there was another man in her life.

There was: Seven-year-old Michael Kearney, of Verona, N.J., a second grader at Our Lady of the Lake School, who was playing her son in the movie, "All the Way Home," based on the Pulitzer Prize play.

They were doing Miss Simmons' last scene after four months of shooting here and in Knoxville, Tenn.—and it was rather tearful. For Jean and young Mike were in a series of embraces on camera... strictly mother-and-son stuff, though.

"Did you have any trouble shooting with young Mike?" I asked. "Yes," I was told. "He was sick."

"What did he suffer from?" I got my notebook out. "Tonsillitis—twice!"

Kim Novak's will-o-the-wisp movements around NY have baffled the publicity fraternity which thinks it should keep track of her. Seen briefly in a night club, spotted momentarily on 5th Ave., observed fleetingly in a limousine, Kim hasn't been traced to any of the major hotels—and it's assumed she has a hideaway which only her beau-of-the-moment knows about.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL

Danny Kaye's still resting from that appendectomy—but in April he'll follow Jack Benny into the Ziegfeld for Landlord-Producer Billy Rose. . . . Vaughn Meader suggested that Allan Sherman join him for a tour. Guess they could title it, "My Son, the President."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A woman went into a Dublin shoe store and asked for a comfortable shoe. The clerk said, "Sorry, madam; we don't keep that type. Ours is a high-class shop."

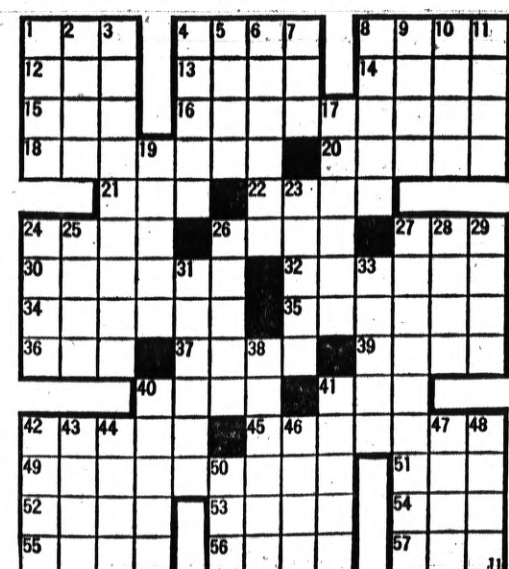

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "The world's meanest man: He was deaf and never told his barber."

EARL'S PEARLS: "Most men love blondes—no matter what color hair they have."

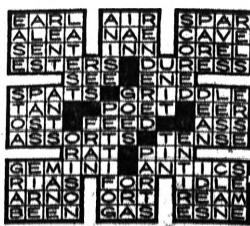

"It took a lot of will power," says Rip Taylor, the comedian, "but I have finally given up giving up smoking." . . . That's earl, brother.

Earth Slide Kills 4 Oregon Loggers

EUGENE, Ore. (AP)—An earth slide killed four loggers in the Cascade Mountains Thursday, but a fifth survived despite being buried 1½ hours.

Air trapped behind a stump saved the life of A. J. Irwin, 41, Springfield, Ore. Other loggers heard Irwin shouting, saw his feet stick out of the dirt and dug him free.

Irwin was hospitalized with a broken leg, bruises and a face cut. He is expected to recover.

The slide came in a canyon 50 miles southeast of Eugene. It carried the men more than 100 feet downhill. The four dead were buried in as much as 30 to 40 feet of dirt.

Howell Industries Buy Evans Bicycle Division

DETROIT (AP)—Howell Industries, Inc., stampings manufacturer, yesterday announced its purchase of the Bicycle and Wheel Goods Division of Evans Products Co. of suburban Plymouth.

Howell said it will transfer the production to the former Ironite plant in Mount Clemens. Howell has plants in Detroit, Lapeer and Marysville.

Heart Attack Kills Youth

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI)—Lee Allen Wollerman, 16, died yesterday shortly after he climbed a hanging rope in gym class at South Division High School. The medical examiner's office said death apparently was due to a heart attack.

GOP Riled by Dem Proposal

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — The backslapping and bearghugs with which returning congressmen greeted each other on opposite sides of the political aisle this week can be written off as window-dressing.

Senate Republicans already have smoke coming out of both ears since hearing of a Democratic proposal to revolutionize the sessions of the august upper chamber.

The tentative MONTGOMERY schedule has been laid before a closed-door caucus of GOP senators and will probably come up for a party vote on Monday.

As relayed by majority leader Mike Mansfield through minority leader Everett Dirksen, the plan calls for the Senate to meet only three days a week from Tuesday through Thursday, beginning at 9:30 a.m. instead of the traditional noon.

Mondays and Fridays would be reserved for committee sessions. The goal is a summer recess beginning in Aug. 1 to continue until September or November, depending on the crowded state of remaining business.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, undisputed leader of the GOP conservative wing, has privately informed Dirksen he wants no part of the deal. Having done some simple arithmetic Goldwater discovered that the Democratic program would provide approximately 90 holidays for senators between now and July.

PLENTY OF TIME OFF

This totalling includes the four non-session days each week, plus the traditional respite for speech-making forages in the grass roots.

Except for token two-minute sessions, with often only one legislator from each party present to meet constitutional requirements, Congress ordinarily recesses 12 days for Lincoln's Birthday festivities, four days for Washington's birthday, 10 days for Easter, a couple of weeks for Jefferson and Jackson Day orating, and another week or two each for Memorial Day and the Fourth of July.

Goldwater argues that the American people have a right to expect more work than that out of their elected lawmakers. Further, he adamantly opposed a lengthy summer and fall recess, on the grounds that the opposition party in control of the White House might "steal the horse while the barn door is unlocked."

"It is our duty as Republicans to keep the President from assuming any more legislative powers than he already has," Goldwater told this correspondent.

"If we agree to close shop for such a long period of time, we

JFK to Push Cabinet Job

Still Seeking Urban Affairs Department

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undiscouraged by the defeat of the plan last year, President Kennedy will ask the new Congress to create a Department of Urban Affairs with full cabinet status.

Officials who gave this word yesterday admitted that prospects for passage this year are dim, but said the administration hopes at least to get the legislative wheels oiled for a big push in 1964. The proposal ran into racial controversy a year ago.

Kennedy said then he intended to name Housing Administrator Robert C. Weaver to head the proposed 11th department, making Weaver the first Negro cabinet officer in history.

There has been no sign that Kennedy has changed his mind, although his choice of Weaver alienated Southerners.

Republicans generally fought the plan, on the announced grounds that it would needlessly enlarge the federal bureaucracy.

Last year's bill was killed in the House Rules Committee by the combined votes of Republicans and Southern Democrats, but Kennedy sent it back to Congress as a reorganization plan which would become law automatically unless either the Senate or House vetoed it. The House did the job, 264 to 150.

Kennedy also will try again, officials said, for a program of federal grants for mass transit systems around and between major cities. He also is expected to seek $1 million for special study of the congested areas from Boston to Washington.

Romney Defends Plans

Dem Criticism 'Light'

Tshombe Back Under Scrutiny in His Palace

From Our News Wires
ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo — President Moise Tshombe of Katanga was back under surveillance in his palace last night after making a peace tour to the Rhodesian border and calling on his disorganized troops not to resist U. N. forces.

U. N. officials said Tshombe no longer was under house arrest because he showed willingness to cooperate with the United Nations. But they said he will have to observe the nightly curfew imposed on Elisabethville on Dec. 30 after U.N. forces seized control of the provincial capital.

A U.N. spokesman in New York said Tshombe will not be restrained otherwise unless he tries to incite Katangans against the United Nations or renews his call for a scorched-earth policy.

The South African Press Association reports that Tshombe is believed to have asked his government ministers to suspend all scorched-earth plans and meet him in Elisabethville for peace talks with the United Nations.

The news agency reported from Elisabethville that Tshombe "spoke from Elisabethville this morning to his ministers in Kolwezi over the Union Miniere du Haut Katanga radio network."

"It is believed Tshombe asked his ministers to come to Elisabethville and suspend all plans for blowing up the Kolwezi mining installations," the report said.

Tshombe told newsmen in Mokambo, on the border of Northern Rhodesia, that he made his tour Thursday "to stop bloodshed and prove my good intentions."

But he insisted at a news conference that every movement by U.N. troops in a new direction in his province must be negotiated beforehand. The British consulate in Elisabethville said Tshombe had given a guarantee only for the movement of U.N. troops to Sakania, where the railroad crosses the Rhodesian border 200 miles southeast of Elisabethville.

The U.N. command still was apprehensive about the situation in Kolwezi, the major industrial center 150 miles northwest of Elisabethville.

Opponents Say State of State 'Too General'

Governor Disagrees, Plans More Messages to Legislature

BY JIM DYGERT

LANSING—Gov. George Romney yesterday shrugged off Democratic objections of "too general" as "very light criticism" at a press conference following his State of the State Message to the legislature.

Stating, "I thought I was relatively specific," Romney said he will be sending further messages to the legislature spelling out his recommendations in detail.

He also replied to other criticism from Democrats of "too slow" and "postponing action" by insisting the best approach to tax reform was an orderly one with a complete study of government spending necessary first.

Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski and some key Democratic legislators had called the governor's address to a joint session of the House and Senate a "guideline for postponement of action."

They also objected to Romney's recommendation that tax reform be dealt with in a special fall session instead of immediately.

Romney stressed economy and efficiency in government as the first step toward solution of the state's problems in his 53-minute message.

Reaction from legislators indicated that, while most of Romney's program appeared headed for success, parts of it may run afoul of Republican as well as Democratic snags.

'TOO FAST'

Some House Republicans indicated they thought the first Republican governor of Michigan in 14 years was going "too fast."

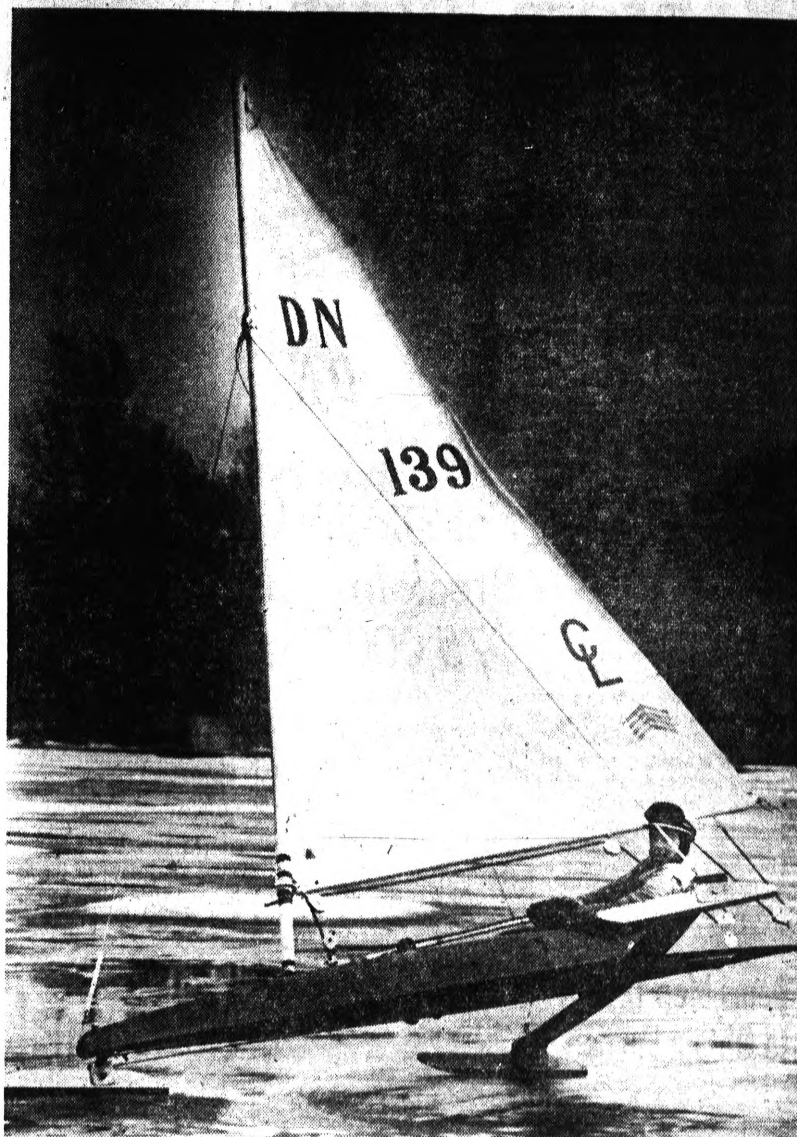

Oakland County's legislative contingent expressed general approval, but both Republicans and Democrats indicated some reservations.

They predicted, however, that the majority of the governor's program would be enacted.

Romney's recommendations "contained the best of both party programs," commented Rep. Henry M. Hogan, R-Bloomfield Township.

But Hogan indicated some aspects of Romney's programs need more study, particularly the governor's urging for legislation enabling the state to join the federal government's program for aid to children of the unemployed.

Britons Quote JFK

(Editor's Note — President Kennedy invited a group of reporters to a year-end chat Dec. 31. Under Kennedy's rules, news accounts of the conversation could be reported but without quoting him directly. This dispatch tells what happened when British reporters operated under different rules.)

WASHINGTON — Since President Kennedy won the 1960 election, there has been a theory in certain schools of opposition political thought that some report-representatives of two British newspapers who got in by virtue of their American citizenship. The Daily Times of London and the Sunday Times, two different British publications of immense prestige in the United Kingdom, were not represented in Palm Beach.

Their Washington men, however, along with an undetermined number of other foreign reporters, were shown transcripts of Kennedy's Palm Beach remarks at the State Department.

Four Key Committee Jobs Go to County's Sen. Roberts

LANSING—Sen. Farrell E. Roberts, R-Oakland County, yesterday was named chairman of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee and vice chairman of three other key Senate committees.

Roberts and other "moderates" who wrested control of the Senate's Republican majority from "old guard" GOP senators Dec. 27, placed their choices in four important committee chairmanships.

Committee appointments became official late yesterday afternoon when the Senate accepted the report of the committee on committees after a two-day hassle by the committee's Democrats.

Roberts and three other "moderates," including Republican caucus leader Stanley Thayer of Ann Arbor, held four of the six Republican seats on the committee.

committee, including reapportionment legislation.

Sen. Frank Beadle, R-St. Clair, was named chairman of the powerful appropriations committee. Beadle joined the "moderates" in last year's efforts to pass a state income tax.

Roberts was named vice chairman of the taxation, labor and elections committees.

The three other Republican members of the labor committee, including Chairman Rep. Robert Vanderlaan of Grand Rapids, are freshman legislators.

Chairman of the taxation committee is Sen. Clyde Geerlings of Holland.

For a while, senators thought they would have to convene again today as the Democratic members of the committee of committees, Lt. Gov. T. John Les-ski, and the new Senate minority leader, Sen. Charles Blondy of Detroit, were divided over appointment of a Democratic member to the appropriations committee.

Republicans on the committee resolved the controversy by picking Blondy's choice, Sen. Philip Rahoi of Iron Mountain.

ELIZABETH MCKELLIN

Two home economists from the National Livestock and Meat Board will conduct the Pontiac Press Cooking School, "Portraits in Food," Jan. 22-25 at Pontiac Central High School.

Elizabeth McKellin will be the lecturer, assisted by Mary Meyer.

Miss McKellin is a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., her home town. Her interest in foods is natural since her father is manager of the food service department at the college, and her mother operated a tea room for many years.

Before joining the staff of

NLMB, Miss McKellin taught home economics at Peotone (Ill.) High School and tested new equipment for the Sunbeam Corp.

Miss Meyer, who is responsible for the mechanics of the daily food presentations, graduated from Ohio University with a degree in home economics. She is a native of Elmhurst, Ill.

Cooking school sessions start at 2 p.m. each day. The east doors of the high school will be open at 1 p.m.

Holders of this theory would have been rudely jolted yesterday to have heard snatches of conversation in the office of press secretary Pierre Salinger. His problem was this:

British newspapers, apparently with encouragement if not permission from a policy-level official within the White House, had printed verbatim quotations from President Kennedy's theoretically non-quotable, nonattributable Dec. 31 "background" conference in Palm Beach, Fla.

There were 35 reporters at the Palm Beach meeting, including

More votes than money, and not enough of either.

That's the frustrating plight Oakland County Democrats are pondering today as they prepare to make an onslaught on the more discouraging of the two problems—money.

Flying in from Washington today to emphasize the importance of the effort, U.S. Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., will give a pep talk to some 35 Democratic membership committee members at their 8 p.m. kickoff meeting today.

The meeting will start a three-month drive to reach a goal of 2,000 members paying dues of $2.50 each.

Democratic candidates received more than 100,000 votes each while losing countywide elections Nov. 6, but had only 613 dues-paying members during 1962.

"If we could get more of those who vote Democratic to give financial support to the party, we'd be in much better shape," says James M. McNeely, executive assistant to Democratic County Chairman Sander M. Levin.

ROOM FOR IMPROVEMENT

And there's plenty of room for improvement in the financial situation of the Democratic county organization, he said, improvement needed to make closer races in future elections.

A total of some $25,000 went into Democratic coffers in the county last year, while Republicans collected a total of $126,405 for the fall campaign alone, according to their campaign expense vouchers filed with the county clerk.

Although a good portion of the Republican money went into state party funds, the Democrats' $25,000 went for operating expenses during the year, as well as for the campaign.

The county Democratic party spent only $16,800 in the fall campaign. It started out the year with about $7,600 and ended up with about $5,000, making a net loss of $2,600.

The $25,000 included $10,000 collected in a special drive to (Continued on Page 2, Col. 1)

Snow, Cold Dim Weather Horizon Here

Be extra careful driving today, says the Weather Bureau. Cloudy and colder along with some light snow is the forecast for tonight. A low of 18 is predicted.

Light snow and continued cold is tomorrow's weather picture. The expected high is 24.

Temperatures for the next five days will average from five to six degrees below the normal high of 33 and the normal low of 21. It'll be colder Sunday, moderating Monday and Tuesday, and colder again Wednesday.

Winds today are north to northeast at 15 to 25 miles per hour. The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 24. At 1 p.m. the thermometer read 29.

Cardinal Aided Ransom Effort

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has disclosed that he raised $1 million to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners.

In a statement appearing today in the archdiocesan weekly newspaper, The Pilot, he said he was disclosing his part in raising the ransom money because of "rumors crediting the gift as coming from sources with which I have no identification."

"It is appropriate and fitting for a Catholic prelate of the United States to have a part in the liberation of the Cuban fighters who love their country and the faith of their fathers," he said.

Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro made a last-minute demand for $2.9 million in cash before he would release 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners. He claimed the money was owed him for the release last April of 60 other prisoners, sick and wounded.

The money was in addition to the $53 million worth of food and drugs used to ransom the 1,113 prisoners. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of a committee which advised and assisted families of the prisoners, obtained a $1.9 million loan on his own signature. Then he sent telegrams to industry leaders seeking contributions toward the loan.

It was announced at the time that the other $1 million was contributed, at the request of Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy, by an anonymous donor.

In Washington, a Justice Department spokesman said the cardinal pledged the money as the direct result of a telephone call from Kennedy asking for help.

"There was no figure mentioned in the phone call," the spokesman said. "The attorney general just asked the cardinal what he could do to help."

Cardinal Cushing, he added, asked Kennedy to keep the $1 million donation anonymous. Kennedy did so.

Seek to Link Break-In and $75,000 Fire

Pontiac police entered the investigation of a $75,000 fire this morning at Catsman's Pontiac, Inc., when fire department investigators determined that the ready mix firm's gutted office building had been forcibly entered.

The fire was reported at 6 a.m. and controlled within 45 minutes. Damage to the building at 339 S. Paddock St. was set at $20,000 with $10,000 to contents.

In addition, damage of approximately $45,000 was placed on equipment adjacent to the building. A large batch mixer, an elevator used to carry materials to mixing towers and a tower were damaged.

One of the towers toppled over, damaging the roof of a nearby garage building.

DOOR FORCED OPEN

Pontiac Fire Marshal Charles E. Metz and his investigating team linked the cause of the fire with a break-in when they discovered the rear door of the concrete block building had been forced open.

Further probing revealed that a money box had been opened and emptied of its contents and files had been disturbed.

Stanley W. Kurzman, who purchased the business from the Catsman firm in January 1961, said $245 in cash was in the box as well as some checks.

Metz said the fire started in a waste basket near the rear of the building where the money was kept. Metz added that the blaze may have started accidentally or it may have been deliberate.

Three Pontiac fire stations responded to the alarm.

raise enough to employ McNeely full time.

The Democrats have only one other full time employee in their county organization.

They rely largely on a daily average of six volunteers.

In setting the goal at 2,000 for this year's membership drive, Democrats are encouraged by last year's more than doubling of the 1961 membership of only 253.

However, even 2,000 memberships, representing only 2 per cent of the Democratic vote, would give the county Democrats only $2,500, since half of each $2.50 membership fee goes to the state party organization.

Some thought is being given to $1 monthly dues in addition to the initial membership, McNeely said.

stories which made Kennedy seem determined to boss the western alliance that the State Department, with White House assent, decided to call in selected foreign reporters. The Palm Beach admonition applied — no direct quotation, no direct attribution.

One of the men, representing the Daily Times of London, used two paragraphs of actual Kennedy quotes.

Henry Brandon of the Sunday Times, so other British reporters say, rang up his friend, George Bundy, at the White House. Bundy is special assistant to the President for national security matters.

Brandon, in addition to being a clever writer and an energetic journalist, has better-than-usual contacts at the White House for a foreign reporter. He has seen the President several times privately and been a guest on the White House yacht, the Honey Fitz, at Newport, R.I.

What Brandon wanted was permission to quote directly from sections of the President's remarks having to do with Kennedy's views of U.S. leadership in the western alliance and the President's determination to forge ahead with the realization that U.S. policies might not always be popular with old friends overseas.

Brandon heard no objections from his White House contact, but was asked to check back with the State Department. In any case, when the Daily Times, without permission, quoted the President directly on Jan. 5, Brandon said "I then queried and got the okay" to proceed on his own.

REPORTERS ANGERED

When copies of the Jan. 5 story and Brandon's Jan. 6 column arrived here yesterday, they angered regular White House reporters who were at Palm Beach and who had obeyed Salinger's request that the President's remarks be attributed without quotation to "friends and associates."

There was one rather long and sometimes acrid session in Salinger's office yesterday. He was without publishable reaction to this simple inquiry: Why have to learn from British newspapers what the President said to American reporters?

Bucks Tax 20 Years; 'VA Cheated Brother'

CHICAGO (AP) — A stenographer says she hasn't paid her income taxes—an estimated $24,000—in 20 years because she believes the Veterans Administration has cheated her brother.

Miss Olga Hobeck, 57, yesterday disclosed in a letter to the Internal Revenue Service that she had evaded paying income taxes by claiming four dependents on her payroll deduction although she supports only herself and her brother.

Miss Hobeck, who said she never has filed a tax return, works for a Loop law firm for $90 a week. She said she doesn't have much money but she would be willing to pay her back taxes if her brother, Arthur, 50, could get compensation from the Veterans Administration.

"I haven't even got a thousand dollars," Miss Hobeck said. "But unless they (the VA) help my brother, I'd go to jail rather than pay. If only he had been given

Miss Hobeck said her brother suffered a nervous breakdown in the Army in 1941 and after five months' service was honorably discharged as a schizophrenic, or split personality. He has been unable to work since.

"My brother at least deserved financial assistance from the Veterans Administration," Miss Hobeck claimed, "so that he could have had medical care and a chance at rehabilitation. But he never got one cent."

The VA said Hobeck was discharged in August 1941, before the start of World War II, and therefore does not qualify for compensation.

President's Opinion:

Polaris Longer Lasting

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy believes one reason Britain accepted the Polaris missile is because it "offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period" than the abandoned Skybolt.

The President's views on the Skybolt controversy and the Anglo-American Nassau agreement are set forth in the partial transcript of remarks made by him on Dec. 31 at Palm Beach.

Reporters present at the interview were forbidden to quote what he said or disclose that he was the source. They were permitted only to attribute the President's remarks to the highest authority, unimpeachable sources, or Kennedy friends. The White House issued the partial transcript Thursday because of a dispute over what the President had actually said about Skybolt.

Kennedy was asked about the agreement made with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan at Nassau. Macmillan agreed to drop Britain's plan to use the bomber-launched Skybolt ballistic missile and to accept U.S. cooperation in building submarines for firing the Polaris missile, but with Britain providing her own nuclear warheads.

OUTLINES ALTERNATES Kennedy outlined in the interview the alternate proposals offered Macmillan, then said this: "I think the British selected the Polaris option first because of the technical problems connected with Skybolt and, secondly, because Polaris offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period than Skybolt."

Here Kennedy appeared to be saying that the U.S. Navy's Polaris submarine-missile system will continue to be useful in posing a retaliatory threat for Russia for another 17 years.

Among other things, this could suggest a belief that Russia won't solve completely the art of anti-submarine warfare through the 1970s.

Kennedy also said he found peculiar the statements of "these people who say we are trying to phase out the manned bombers and have an over-reliance on missiles."

To read that point of view, Kennedy said, one would think the Skybolt was a gravity bomb instead of actually being a missile intended for launching from a movable base (a plane) and traveling to a range of 1,000 miles.

Link House Fire to Cut Gas Line

Bloomfield Hills Home Hit by $200,000 Blaze

A broken gas line was the cause of a fire yesterday that swept through the Bloomfield Hills home of the Dr. Ralph Margulis family at 150 Martell Drive, according to Robert Stadler, director of public safety.

Dr. Margulis estimated damage to the tri-level home and contents at well over $200,000.

A construction worker, Clarence Cook of 26790 Alger St., Madison Heights, told firemen he was working with two other men moving an underground water tank from one spot to another.

His shovel, he said, accidentally broke through a gas line sending a spark to the furnace inside the lower level, causing a small explosion.

Within minutes the entire level was in flames.

Mrs. Margulis was away at the time, and her disabled mother, Mrs. Anga Cicarelli, was alone with the maid. Cook rushed inside and carried the woman out saying, "This whole place might blow up any minute."

The maid, Alma Leil, followed. Cook then notified the Bloomfield Hills Fire Department, which in turn, called the Bloomfield Township, Troy and Cranbrook Foundation fire departments.

Tanker trucks immediately took positions at various swimming pools in the neighborhood and pumped water to the burning building.

Study 'Hills' Property in Land Reassessment

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — A re-assessment study of all property in Bloomfield Hills, the first since 1955, is under way here.

City Assessor Elmer Kephart said today. Kephart said field workers from the Ann Arbor branch of Associated Surveys, Inc., yesterday started visiting homes and business places in the city.

They will be conducting the door-to-door studies for assessment purposes throughout the balance of January.

Kephart said the firm is expected to complete its study, including all paper work, by March 1 so property owners can learn their new assessments in time for the first board of review meeting March 9.

Each piece of property in the city will be studied, explained Kephart. He said it will be necessary for assessors to enter all homes and business places.

Each field worker will carry identification cards and property descriptions, he noted.

Total assessed valuation of Bloomfield Hills in 1962 was $12,042,300, according to the city assessor.

It is customary for municipalities to have reassessment studies at five-year intervals, Kephart said.

The Ruth Shain class in international affairs resumes Tuesday at 10 a.m. in the Birmingham Community House.

Mrs. Cyril B. Lewis, past president of the local branch of the American Association of University Women and former Birmingham representative on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, will review "Age of Overkill," a book by Max Lerner.

A dessert card party will be held 8 p.m. Jan. 18 at Marian High School, 7225 Lahser Road, Bloomfield Township, under the sponsorship of the school's Mothers Club. Proceeds will be used for the school library.

These areas included amendments to the Kerr-Mills program of health insurance for senior citizens.

"He's thinking of next year as well," Roberts said.

OPPOSE JOBLESS PLAN Democrats also indicated opposition to the governor's recommendations for legislation enabling workers idled by a strike in another plant to collect unemployment compensation only when they would not benefit by the strike's gains.

This was considered a compromise in the controversy over the Ford Canton court decision giving compensation to Michigan workers idled because an Ohio supplier plant was on strike.

N-Facility to Take Over Backwoods Town

GAINESVILLE, Miss. (AP)—Life drifted on lazily in the sleepy backwoods community of Gainesville.

Deep in the piney forests of southern Mississippi, its 100

residents enjoyed a quiet existence on the banks of the Pearl River — a world apart from the breakneck pace of the big cities.

For relaxation, they fished for cattfish and white trout, hunted deer and wild ducks in nearby Honey Island Swamp, chatted over coffee in Louise Elizabeth Loveless' country store.

That placid life is gone. Gainesville died today. Its executioner was the space age.

The Mississippi test facility is acquiring 141,000 acres to test the world's biggest rocket engines that one day will send astronauts to the moon. The $500-million base is wiping Gainesville off the map.

"I remember the day I heard about it," Mrs. Loveless, 56, said. She is leaving her store and her 10-room home built 100 years ago.

"I couldn't believe it," she said. "It was a shock to everyone in Gainesville. Nobody did any housework that day."

Gainesville is so small and remote, many Mississippians never have heard of it.

Back in the early 1800s, it was a flourishing sawmill center, a bustling river town.

IN EARLY DAYS

In its early days, Gainesville was a headquarters for pirates and freebooters. When Mississippi joined the Union in 1817, the government cleaned them out.

Gainesville's key river location soon made it prosper. Steamboats churned up to its shores. It became a county seat for a while. Its sawmill and turpentine stills hummed.

On paydays, Gainesville's men paddled out to the floating barrooms that anchored off the Louisiana bank — just across the Pearl River — to avoid Mississippi's dry laws.

Above all, it was a friendly town. E. J. Stockwell, 92, remembers a justice of the peace fining two brawling men $1 each for fighting in the street.

Onlookers chipped in nickels and dimes to pay the fine. And then the justice bought drinks for everyone.

"Yessir," Stockwell said, "that was Gainesville in the old days."

Gainesville's halcyon era ended in 1883. The railroad came through, but bypassed Gainesville. Shipping shifted to railroad towns, and Gainesville slowly declined. It never recovered.

In 1962, Gainesville had only some 35 families. It had a small unused school, one store, two Baptist churches.

But its people were firmly rooted. They loved its remoteness and closeness to untouched nature. Some lived in homes in which their families had stayed for generations.

"Wherever I go, I know there will be something lacking," Mrs. Loveless said.

SPACE AGE VICTIM — Mrs. Louise Elizabeth Loveless, 56, stands in front of her store and antebellum home which legally went over to government yesterday as the town of Gainesville, Miss. passes out of existence to make way for a Saturn moon rocket test site.

Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt Says:

Foolishness at Its Worst in Food Facts

It is doubtful that any class of fads has had more varieties and has been the cause of more foolishness than food fads.

It would sometimes seem that the more ridiculous the fad, the greater the enthusiasm of a small but noisy segment of the population.

These fads are frequently based on misapplication of highly technical scientific discoveries.

An example is BRANDSTADT the misuse of vitamins. Every specialist in the science of nutrition knows that the body requires only very minute quantities of each of the vitamins daily and that these are best supplied in the foods we eat.

Some persons who have a disease due to vitamin deficiency or who are on some sort of restrictive diet may need vitamin concentrates to supply the body's requirements.

These concentrates will, however, supply neither pep nor tissues, but they will bring the function of various body systems back to normal.

They can do nothing more than that and amounts taken in excess of the body's needs are not stored but are promptly eliminated.

The drinking of coffee and tea started out many years ago as fads but have now become firmly entrenched in our daily lives.

The disadvantages of these drinks, which in themselves have no nutritional value, is that they divert our appetites from beverages that have definite food value.

POPULAR FALLACY

Another popular fallacy is the belief that vegetables from an unknown source were most likely raised on soil that was poor in essential minerals and are therefore of inferior nutritional value.

Soil that is that poor would produce so small a crop that it could not be considered an important source of supply.

One unfortunate feature of many food fads is that they are uneconomical. Wheat germ, for example, has been hailed as a health-giving food.

There is no doubt that wheat germ is rich in certain essential nutrients but it is very expensive compared to other foods of equal value.

This type of fad is often put over with a big promotional fanfare and as a result the rich promoter gets richer and the poor consumer gets poorer.

One of the worst types of food fad is the branding of some natural food as poisonous or indigestible or as favoring cancer or an allergy.

As a result of such fads some people have avoided all meat or milk or eggs. Unless a definitely proved allergy is present, a person does himself an injustice by avoiding these natural foods.

False incrimination of certain combinations has also led many people to restrict their diets unnecessarily.

There is no known food that cannot be eaten in the same meal with another food.

CURDLING NORMAL

To say that pickles will make milk curdle in the stomach is to display a woeful ignorance because every child should know that milk curdles in the stomach as a necessary part of its normal digestion.

For most of us a balanced diet of readily available foods should be taken without fear or favor.

It should be eaten in pleasant surroundings and chewed thoroughly without undue haste. Let the faddists rant, but be sure you turn off your hearing aid while they are doing so.
