Cressy Larson—A Boy's Friend

Pontiac Youth Worker Lived a Chicago 'West Side Story'

By MAX E. SIMON

You're what the public calls a "youth worker," and you stare across the basement at the sullen, dangerous hoodlums from the street corners and gang hideouts of a Chicago "jungle."

The books tell you to convert juvenile delinquents into good citizens by finding out their interests, participating in their activities, and "channeling" them into "worthwhile" activities.

You ask the gun-carrying toughs what they want to do.

"To fight," is the reply.

That brings sneers and derisive laughs.

The book hasn't been written which covers that situation, as Cressy B. Larson, director of the Pontiac Boys Club, well knows.

CREDITED FOR $875,000 GRANT

For only four years ago, he was face-to-face with the problem in Chicago's worst slum section — a jungle containing the dregs of humanity, a jungle in which the young inevitably graduated into the class of full-fledged criminals.

What Larson did so impressed the Ford Foundation that it has granted the Boys Clubs of America $875,000 to establish delinquency-prevention programs in three areas of the city and keep them going for six years.

One who shuns the spotlight of publicity, the Pontiac Boys Club leader is extremely reluctant to tell of the important role he played in Chicago's version of "West Side Story."

"NOT A TOUGH GUY"

"I'm not a tough guy — I'm a youth worker," Larson said. "That happened in Chicago — this is Pontiac."

At national conventions, Larson had for years heard the prevailing notion that nothing could be done for the boys in the depressed, slum areas of America's giant cities.

"They were considered doomed, engulfed by their miserable surroundings," Larson said.

He disagreed with the experts. Long a "trouble-shooter," his new assignment gave him a chance to test his ideas.

The need for his services was great — the neighborhood was one in which police themselves preferred not to stop.

And the job was a personal and professional challenge.

If he could succeed, he reasoned, would not his methods work in other cities — New York, Los Angeles?

He started out with nothing but the title of "executive director" of a non-existent club.

Into the poolrooms, gang headquarters, bars, he went in search of boys.

"I had to reach them on their level," he explained.

Courtesy Ride Plea Rejected

Mayor's Group Turns Down 5 Businessmen's Bid for Resumption

The mayor's 14-member transportation committee has turned down a plea to help the "courtesy ride" service operate again.

City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, committee chairman, said the request came yesterday from five downtown businessmen, who argued that lack of public transportation in Pontiac is hurting their businesses.

"For the public safety and protection of the city," Miles said, "we feel it is not right to allow courtesy cars to operate without sufficient insurance."

He explained that without insurance, courtesy ride passengers would be without protection in case of accidents and the City Commission might be open to a damage suit for failure to perform its duty.

CALLED TOO STRICT

Striking bus drivers quit their courtesy ride service late Tuesday, saying that the insurance requirements were too high in the emergency jitney law adopted March 15 by the Commission on recommendation by the committee.

A representative of Haskins & Sells reported yesterday on the Detroit auditing firm's examination of Pontiac City Lines' books.

According to Miles, the report backed up the bus company's contention that it made "next to no profit last year" and can't afford wage increases under its present operating setup.

The representative reported that the company made $1,600 profit in 1959, Miles said. The company already had stated publicly that it made only $500 during the first 11 months of 1959.

★ ★ ★

Miles said that the committee, equipped with this financial information, would ask top officials of National City Lines, Inc., to discuss their plans for future operations in Pontiac, if the bus strike is settled.

The bus strike, which started Dec. 5, still is deadlocked over pay increases, according to the latest report of state labor mediators.

Run for the Hills! There's an A-Sub Out in the River

"Was there really a sub in the river? Where is it now? Has it left yet?" These were some of the questions phoned in by many of the Gazette readers.

The readers made one mistake. They failed to turn the paper upside down and read the last line of the picture's cutline, warning:

"It's April Fools' Day. Better watch out."

Evacuate 350 From Homes

Floods Menace Kent County

LEAVE KENT COUNTY HOME — Mrs. Catherine Rounds in the front of the boat, her daughter Mrs. Patricia Wright and Mrs. Wright's three children are a few of the 350 persons evacuated from the lowlands north of Grand Rapids where flooding is reported at its worst in 12 years. Sheriff's deputies Dale Benjamin, at the bow and Harry Vis in the stern guide the boat through what once was a street.

Weather-Sick Midwest Socked by Snow, Rain

Swollen State Rivers Seem to Be Easing Off Widespread Threat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rising flood waters menaced the North Park and Comstock Park area around Grand Rapids today, with more than 350 persons already evacuated from their homes.

Police and civilian defense workers stood by, ready to evacuate additional persons by boat if necessary.

The rescue workers manned a small fleet of rowboats and motorboats along the Grand River and also had two amphibious vehicles ready for emergency relief work.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said about 50 homes had been isolated by the rising river waters. Crews of electrical workers made their way into the area by boats and cut off power in the various homes to prevent possible short circuiting and fire.

Most of the lowlands in the Grand River valley from Ionia west to Lowell were under water.

At Grand Rapids, the river was at 15.3 feet Friday night, already over the 15-foot flood stage. It was expected to crest at 16 feet Sunday, unless new rains welled the river even more.

At Lowell, where the river flood stage also is 15 feet, the reading was 17.2 feet early today with an 18 foot reading due by noon.

The Grand River situation was described as the most serious of several flood areas in the state.

Others include Saginaw, Flint, Midland and Lansing where widely scattered flooding was reported. There was no mass evacuation reported, however, as was the case in the Grand Rapids area.

However, at noon today Michigan's flood threat seemed to be easing in a number of areas.

Both the swollen Red Cedar and Tittabawassee Rivers were falling and the U.S. Weather Bureau predicted only light showers for the troubled vicinities.

MIDWEST HIT AGAIN

A mammoth spring storm raged across the heart of the nation today hurling snow and freezing rain on portions of the flood-besieged Midwest and torrential rains as far south as western Florida.

Tiros I Feeding Back Pictures of Cloud Cover in 100-Minute Trip

They delighted the scientists who had fired Tiros I into its round-the-world 100-minute orbit.

Taken 450 miles up, the first photographs were remarkably clear for such an experimental forerunner of what may be a network of weather watchers that could forecast big storms all over the world.

They took in an enormous quadrant of the earth, centered on the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Fleecy clouds spread over much of the U.S.-Canadian area.

Everything about the Thor-Able launching rocket and the 270-pound satellite worked in fine style after they rose on a thunderous tail of orange flame from Cape Canaveral, Fla. All three stages fired with split-second precision.

Tiros was supposed to go into a circular orbit 450 miles out. When the checking was finished, scientists found it varied from this ideal by less than 20 miles at its high and low point.

The angle of inclination from the equator was off less than three one-thousandths of a degree.

IKE PLEASED

"I think it's a marvelous development," said President Eisenhower when the first pictures were shown to him at the White House by T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Another achievement Friday evening also buoyed the spirits of U.S. space scientists.

"This has been a very successful day," exulted Dr. Hugh Dryden, NASA deputy administrator. The balloon is a forerunner of a space age communications network.

Tiros sounds like something out of Greek mythology, but it isn't. The name stands for television and infra-red observation satellite.

But the two television cameras were both ready and working. They can snap up to 32 pictures on command, a few seconds apart. These can be relayed instantly to earth stations, or stored on magnetic tape to be sent back on command. When the tapes are full, they can be erased clean to start all over again.

Kennedy, Humphrey Plug Away

Battle Down to the Wire

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The significant Wisconsin presidential primary — the first contested election this year — drew closer today with two Democratic hopefuls continuing their torrid campaign pace.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota returned to Wisconsin's thawing farmlands. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts met working men and their wives in Milwaukee.

Both seemed intent on rolling up big margins in areas where they are strong for next Tuesday's election which will name Wisconsin's delegates to the National Democratic Convention pledged to either Humphrey or Kennedy.

Humphrey's campaign tour today called for him to make speeches and meet farmers in the western part of the state which abuts his home territory. Kennedy's closing program, today and Monday, called for a concentration of effort in industrial Milwaukee.

The intensive campaigns of both Democratic hopefuls have aroused considerable interest among Wisconsin voters who usually take it in stride—and stay away from the polls.

A record turnout of more than one million of the state's 2,200,000 eligible voters is expected.

Both Humphrey and Kennedy repeated safe old issues in their campaign talks Friday. Both buried the issue of Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion, instead discussed such topics as farm price support and medical insurance.

★ ★ ★

The religious issue was hauled into the open Thursday by Charles Greene, a former state Democratic chairman who placed ads in weekly newspapers calling for protestants to turn to Humphrey.

Dig Up That Garden Plot —but Keep Raincoat Handy

It'll be a good weekend for that first swing at spring gardening, the weatherman says.

So get out the rake and spade, but be prepared for possible showers.

This afternoon was expected to continue mostly cloudy and warmer in the Pontiac area today, with a chance of a few showers.

Tomorrow will be a little cooler with a high of 50, but skies will be only partly cloudy.

Southeasterly winds at 15-20 miles will shift to southwesterly this afternoon and westerly Sunday.

The five-day outlook is for temperatures averaging about four degrees above the normal high of 51 and low of 33, with a warming trend begining Monday or Tuesday accompanied by possible showers.

The lowest temperature in Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 34 at 1 a.m. The temperature at 8 was 40 and had risen to 52 at 2 p.m.

France, Russia Unite on A-Use

Treaty Includes Other Science Cooperation, Too; K Tours Versailles

PARIS (AP) — France and the Soviet Union agreed today to cooperate in the field of science and the peaceful applications of atomic energy. These arrangements have been under consideration during Premier Nikita Khrushchev's presummit visit.

The scientific agreement was signed by Roger Seudoux, director general of cultural affairs in the French Foreign Ministry, and Yuri Zhukov, his Soviet counterpart.

The atomic energy agreement was signed by Pierre Couture, French government delegate to the Atomic Energy Commission, and Vassili Emelianov, delegate of the Soviet Council of Ministers for the utilization of atomic energy.

Both formalize exchanges of information and documents in the scientific and atomic fields.

He motored to the ancient palace from Rambouillet, President Charles de Gaulle's summer home 30 miles southwest of Paris, where they have held private negotiations.

Khrushchev had poor luck in the way of weather on his arrival in Versailles. A heavy fog that had settled over the city early in the day was still evident when Khrushchev's motorcade arrived.

Khrushchev's final talks with De Gaulle, though held in an atmosphere of greater understanding between the two leaders, offered little prospect of producing any firm political agreements.

Closer Controls Due for State Colleges

LANSING (AP) — A public quarrel between two big universities is stirring new moves for closer legislative control over spending by the state's higher education institutions.

Many lawmakers want to know where every dollar goes, including a breakdown on how much is spent for student instruction and how much for research and other activities.

Without specific information, they say, there's no way of knowing whether the nine state-run schools are getting more or less than their rightful share of higher education budgets.

Acting on a recommendation by Dr. Clarence B. Hillberry, president of Wayne State University, the House Ways and Means Committee this week set the stage for a legislative fight on college spending.

The committee tacked an amendment to the higher education bill —now pegged at a record 109 million dollars—requiring all colleges and universities to give detailed accounts of the costs of educating students when they submit their budget requests to the Legislature.

Hilberry said his school supplied the figures this year and others should do the same.

The amendment was prompted by a wrangle between Wayne and the University of Michigan over the level of state support.

Floods Slowing Census Taking

Data Will Be Delayed in Some Areas; Iowa, Nebraska Hard Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Floods and missing questionnaires posed special problems today for the 170,000 Americans who are taking the 1960 census.

Saturday was a working day for the census takers. However, in flooded sections they were forced to postpone their house-to-house canvass.

The Census Bureau said the complications were not serious, but will result in some delay in the publication of preliminary population figures for the affected communities.

These statistics will be announced locally as soon as they are compiled. In most areas the census will be wrapped up in about two weeks. The plan is to begin issuing the preliminary figures by the end of the month.

Final population totals and detailed data about housing conditions, jobs and the general standard of living will be published starting next fall.

Officials reported that floods were having the greatest effect on the census in parts of Iowa and Nebraska. They said that in some places there the census takers hadn't even been able to get together yet for training classes. The door-to-door canvas in the areas involved thus will be delayed at least a full week.

Another problem, though much less serious, stemmed from last week's distribution of advance questionnaires through the 35,000 post offices.

The Census Bureau has received scattered reports of people who did not receive a questionnaire. The advance form is supposed to be filled out before the census taker arrives so he doesn't have to conduct an interview.

When a household can't present a completed questionnaire, the problem is solved by having the census taker ask the questions and write down the answers. However, this delays the count somewhat.

A bureau spokesman said some post offices ran short of these advance forms, while others were shipped too many. He said steps were being taken to fill all shortages reported.

The agency also suspects quite a few householders threw out the questionnaires, thinking they were advertisements.

Raise Funds to Send Family to Rome

Dance to Honor Hayes Jones

A Pontiac group will sponsor a dance honoring Olympic hopeful Hayes Jones of Pontiac in an effort to swell the "Jones Family to Rome Fund."

The dance will be held May 7 at the Pontiac Boys Club, 530 E. Pike St.

All proceeds will go toward the citywide campaign initiated by the City Commission last summer to send Jones' family to Rome if he earns a spot on the U.S. Olympic Track team.

Hayes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones, of 50 Deland Ct., and former Pontiac Central track star.

The dance is being planned by a committee of local high school and college students, all friends of Jones.

Hayes and his parents will be honor guests at the dance and the ace Eastern Michigan University athlete will be presented with a plaque.

Regarded as the United States' new hurdles king, Hayes still holds high school records in the broad jump and 120-high hurdles and nine individual records at Eastern.

Jones has just finished a winter of triumphs at indoor meets in which he has twice tied the world's record in the 60-yard high hurdles, set a world record of 5.9 seconds in the 50-yard high hurdles, and became the first man in track history ever to win a hurdles and dash event back-to-back in a major indoor meet.

The fund was started when it was noted that the 21-year-old track star was at his best when his parents were watching him.

Tickets for the event may be purchased at Osmun's Men's Wear. Other merchants selling tickets will be announced at a later date.

leaders. (A "council" is gang slang for a meeting of leaders. It usually is held before a "rumble", a gang war.)

This "council" was different. It was held to bring leaders of the gangs together, to try and end some of the terrorism which was ripping apart the community.

He carried on his work, in store rooms and basements, in open fields, on the streets.

He organized a drill team called the "honor guards" to compete with the gangs, soon had 500 boys in the group.

In time, a drum and bugle corps was added to the "guards."

And the group began to acquire a citywide reputation, marching in all the major parades.

"Boys who had to belong to a gang—and you had to belong—now had a choice," Larson said. "Some belonged to the 'guards' and some to the gangs."

And the parents — proud of their uniformed children — began to take an increasing interest in Larson's work.

With the help of one or two other on-the-street workers, Larson organized the "guards" into service clubs, interested them singly or by groups in such activities as shop, crafts, sports, and dramatics, helped them find jobs and adjust to school.

Meanwhile, Larson kept close working relationships with the schools, churches and police.

The Henry Horner Boys Club was built around Larson's street-corner activities three years ago. Today it has some 2,000 members.

And the boys who once terrorized the area are now helping to keep it clean. Some of the older ones are youth workers themselves.

Many of the gang leaders have gone to college — with scholarships.

He left Chicago in the fall of 1958 for Pontiac.

The Ford Foundation has promised a companion grant of $350,000 to the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research to evaluate the effectiveness of the Chicago program and decide how well it would work elsewhere.

The Foundation's grant to the Boys Club will be spent to hire on-the-street workers. Their assignment:

Seek out the "hard-to-reach" youth on street corners and in gang hideouts, and work with the kids that somewhere in life did not have the human affection that every kid needs.

In doing so, they will be carrying on the work of the city's Cressy B. Larson — director, Pontiac Boys Club.

NEW HOFFA MONITOR — Terence McShane, 32-year-old New York City ex-FBI agent, Friday became a court monitor over James Hoffa's Teamsters Union. He is one of three charged with supervising a corruption cleanup. He had previously participated in a wiretap investigation involving Hoffa.

Ever Have One of Those Days? . . . Kennedy Did

BELOIT, Wis. (UPI)—April Fool's Day was a bad one all around for hard-campaigning Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass).

Kennedy raced into this southern Wisconsin town last night with just enough time to shower and change clothes before appearing at a reception at the YWCA.

But after he threw his dirty clothes aside, Kennedy learned his clean ones were locked in the trunk of a car. And no one knew where the key was.

Staff members searched for the car driver and the New Englander holed up in his hotel room while his audience of 3,000 waited and wondered.

A thoughtful nearby restaurant sent Kennedy a fine dinner to eat, but the Senator had to send it back. The dinner was a big juicy steak which Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, was forbidden to eat on Friday.

★ ★ ★

Trujillo Gives Up Party Leadership

The Dominican strong man quit both his post as "supreme chief" of the party and his party membership. He has used the party to rule the country for more than 30 years, in and out of the presidential office.

"No one wants to form new parties while I remain in the Dominican Party," Trujillo said. "They should represent an equalizing force capable of dealing efficiently with the ideas and destiny of the great Dominican masses."

Says Cuba Inks New Sugar Pact With Russians

HAVANA (AP) — Commerce Minister Raul Cedero Bonilla has reported signing a contract with the Soviet government rounding out the Soviet agreement to buy a million tons of Cuban sugar this year, Revolucion said today.

★ ★ ★

The semiofficial newspaper said the new contract covers 425,000 tons at 3.6 cents a pound. It said the minister had signed the contract in London, where he attended a meeting of the International Sugar Board.

★ ★ ★

Bonilla's message was reported to emphasize a Soviet promise to use all the sugar within the Soviet Union and not to offer it for resale in world markets.

Two Get Jail Terms; Gypped Area Firm

Two Chicago gypsters began serving jail sentences today for conning a Ferndale company out of $34,000 by posing as Army officers.

The Reichold Chemicals Co., 601 Woodward Heights, thought it was selling polyester resin to Army procurement officers when it released a $34,000 order to John Eleveld, 45, and Charles Leggett, 36.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard yesterday sentenced Eleveld to one year and Leggett to 18 months.

Lion's Not So Busy

NEW YORK (UPI)—Only about half as many calls were made yesterday to the Bronx Zoo for Mr. Lion, Mr. Fox, Mr. Wolf and Mr. Beaver as were made on April Fool's Day, 1959. The New York Telephone Co. said there were 2,561 such calls this year.

MRS. MARY A. ISHAM

Dies in Oxford at 100 Years

Metamora Woman Had Centennial Birthday Last Nov. 17

Mrs. Mary A. Isham of Metamora, who attributed her long life to "hard work," died early this morning in her 101st year at Stephens' Convalescent Home in Oxford.

"I didn't get stale," she once said. "I used to do everything a man could do on a farm except plow. I drove the binder, cut the weeds, cut the grain and even loaded the hay in the barn."

Mrs. Isham, born in Attica Township in 1859, had numerous visitors on the occasion of her centennial birthday on Nov. 17 last year. Her bedside table was filled to overflowing with gifts.

Service will be held for Mrs. Isham at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Muir Brothers Funeral Home in Lapeer. Burial will be in Metamora Cemetery.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Anna Kelley of Pontiac, Mrs. Gladys Hallenback of Metamora; five grandchildren, 11 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grand children.

Mighty Want Ad Has Its Day of Glory

EAST LANSING (UPI) — "The most dynamic selling media existing today . . . a deeply human cross-section of American life. . . ," a city's information booth . . . "

These were some of the descriptions of classified advertising given at a conference of Michigan newspaper classified advertising managers continuing today at Michigan State University.

"Classified ads tell you who is moving out of town, trading a car, lost his dog or is cutting off his wife's spending," said Dale Bouck of the Midland Daily News.

Classified ads, he said, represent one of the most valuable services performed by a newspaper in a community.

LE CLEDE, Ill. (UPI)—Mrs. Mattie Reynolds' stack of old Christmas cards yielded an 8-year-old windfall yesterday. Mrs. Reynolds was taking a sentimental look through the yellowing cards when she found a small sealed envelope. Inside was a $5 Christmas bonus sent by an employer in 1952.

African Negroes March on City

Turned Back by Police in Cape Town; Nation Alerts Armed Forces

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Several thousand Negroes demonstrating against South Africa's white supremacy laws massed outside Cape Town today and marched on the city.

The armed forces then tightened cordons around the Nyanga and Langa Negro settlements outside Cape Town, South Africa's legislative capital and second largest city. The marchers came from Nyanga.

It was reported the marchers had slipped out of the guarded settlement on the pretext of returning to work.

CAPETOWN CRIPPLED

The Negroes have virtually paralyzed Cape Town with a stay-home work stoppage in support of their campaign against the passes all nonwhites are required to carry.

Police were intent on heading off another march into Cape Town like that by 30,000 Negroes Wednesday. A similar march on Durban Friday resulted in a clash with police. Four Negroes were killed and 18 wounded.

The South African Press Assn., reported arsonists early today burned down a primary school for whites near Cape Town.

Trouble was reported elsewhere in South Africa. Bands of masked Negroes roamed through Negro settlements near Port Elizabeth during the night calling on residents to destroy their pass books.

It was the first report of masks worn by militant Negro agitators. White police have been trying to round up the ringleaders in the move to keep African masses away from work, especially in the Cape peninsula where commerce and industry remain crippled after two weeks of strife.

The South African army last night alerted 26 regiments, 13 auxiliary units, and an air squadron to "preserve life, health, and property" in the face of renewed racial violence.

Gen. H Mellville said the units were mobilized from South Africa's equivalent of the U.S. National Guard. He warned that more mobilization is possible if the tension between Negro and white South Africans continues.

At the United Nations in New York Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold prepared today to tackle the South African racial question under the terms of the Security Council's latest "leave-it-to-Dag" resolution.

The council, by a 9-0 vote with Britain and France abstaining, called on South Africa late yesterday to abandon its policy of racial discrimination and asked Hammarskjold to consult with the South African government on arrangements for it to do so.

Cooperation between the South African government and the United Nations was not regarded as likely.

Michigan Firms Pledge Payroll Savings Push

Top executives of scores of major business and industrial firms throughout Michigan have pledged themselves to provide enthusiastic personal leadership to promotion of the payroll savings plan among their own employes this spring.

Inspiration for this widespread support was supplied at a meeting in Detroit. Chairman is John J. Cronin, manufacturing vice president, General Motors Corp.

Not only are employes who save better employes, but large-scale purchases of savings bonds create a reservoir of purchasing power in the community and nation which help curb inflation and assist in leveling out economic peaks and valleys.

Among major firms in which full-scale person-to-person payroll savings plan promotions are under way or scheduled are General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., Great Lakes Steel Corp., Utica Bend Corp., and King Seeley Corp.

To help assure achievement of Michigan's 1960 savings bonds sales goal, automobile company officials have arranged to have all local units conduct their drives early in the year.

George Green Resigning Zoning Appeals Board Post

BIRMINGHAM — George F. Green, longtime veteran of public service, has announced his resignation from the Board of Zoning Appeals, it was disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

Green, 458 Warren St., has served on various boards for the past 10 years.

He was named to the Board of Zoning Appeals in 1949, the Building Code Committee in 1949, the Building Code Board of Appeals in 1951, the City Planning Board in 1951 and the Board of Zoning Appeals again that same year.

His present three-year term expires on Oct. 10.

"George Green is typical of the excellent caliber of the people who make up our various boards and commissions," said Gare. "He has given of his time and effort in a job that is many times thankless and difficult."

Green has asked the City Commission to take immediate action on his resignation and to make it effective immediately.

Said Green: "I should now like to terminate my City Hall career. Having served a term on the planning board, briefly on the Building Code Appeals Board and 17 months drawing up a new building code, I think I have done my share.

"I have enjoyed all of it, have learned a lot, and think that some other citizen might like to do likewise."

The Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will sponsor a sacred and secular music concert April 20 by the Pilgrim Fellowship Choir of the Congregational Church of Manhasset, N.Y.

The concert will be held at 8 p.m. at the Community House auditorium.

Organized in 1952 with eight young people, the choir has grown under the leadership of its director, Robley Lawson, to over one hundred voices.

The group has toured the eastern half of the United States, and has done nationwide television shows and made a European tour in the summer of 1958.

This summer the choir will make a return trip to Europe.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

The Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, 32460 Pierce St., will hold its annual spring rummage sale Friday beginning at 9 a.m. in the social hall.

A spring concert will be presented Friday at 8:30 p.m. by the Bloomfield Hills High School choir and band in the school auditorium.

Religious, Hawaiian and band music will be featured. Alumnae will be asked to "sing along" in several of the numbers.

Edward D. Meacham

Service will be held Monday at the Campfield-Hickman Funeral Home in Barberton, Ohio, for Edward D. Meacham, 40, of 1212 Lakeside Dr., who died yesterday at William Beaumont Hospital.

Burial will be in Barberton. The body will be at the Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co.

Branch manager for Superior Rand Co. in Detroit, Mr. Meacham is survived by his wife, Jean H.; two daughters, Dianne and Cheryl at home; a son, Dare D. at home; his mother, Mrs. C. H. Meacham of Akron, Ohio; one sister, Mrs. Charles Bedingfield of Newark, Del.; and one brother, J. C. Meacham of Tyler, Tex.

Kent County Socked by Flooding Rivers

tion augured more misery for flood weary areas. Already 15,000 persons were homeless from the sudden spring thaw topped by fresh rains.

The storm dropped snows up to a foot deep in areas of South Dakota and 10 inches in Nebraska Friday and pushed into the Mississippi Valley early today.

Snows whipped by winds up to 50 m.p.h. fell in eastern Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota, snapping power lines and disrupting traffic.

Swollen rivers spilled over banks, breeched levees, flooded farmlands and ate away at major highways and railroad tracks.

The number of homeless doubled Friday. The Red Cross estimated that 14,000 were homeless in eight states — South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Thunderstorms and heavy rains struck the Gulf states. In a six-hour period, Pensacola, Fla., reported 2.3 inches of rain, Mobile, Ala., 1.47 inches and Dothan, Ala., 1.45 inches.

★ ★ ★

Rain also peppered the eastern Ohio Valley and Tennessee as well as portions of new England. Hail fell in Illinois and New Orleans.

Iowa was besieged by floods from all sides.

April 11 Deadline on Registration for Millage Vote

April 11 is the last day school district residents can register to vote on the Board of Education's increased millage proposal.

The May 9 ballot will call for an addition of 2.8 voted mills to the existing 8.75 voted levy of six years ago.

Registration can be made with the clerk at City Hall from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on April 11.

Name Engineer Aide for Highway District

LANSING (UPI)—The Highway Department said today Alexander S. Urbaniak, 37, has been named assistant road engineer for the Saginaw district.

Urbaniak, a native of Pinconning, has been stationed with the Highway Department offices at Lansing Vassar, Port Huron, Imlay City, Yale and Midland.

1,000 Corvair Workers Idled at Willow Run

DETROIT (UPI)—Chevrolet has closed its Corvair plant at suburban Willow Run, olaming a parts factory strike in Tonawanda, N.Y.

The General Motors division halted the Corvair operation last night. About 1,000 employes were idled. Another 2,200 Fisher Body workers also will be idled.

S. Africa Lives in Shadow of Tragedy

This Strife Was Expected

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Most Afrikanders have looked to the future with foreboding for years.

The overwhelming numerical superiority of the Africans, now 10 million to 3 million, has given them a presentiment that at some date a great tragedy would befall the nation.

But it was always something in the future—"like space travel," one Afrikander said today.

Some with wealth arranged affairs so their children could find a future abroad. But the great mass have no home other than South Africa and no money to prepare refuge abroad.

These have adopted the attitude that trouble is probably coming, but whatever it is they won't hand the country over to the Africans without a fight.

Tragically bound up with this fatalistic attitude of the Afrikanders is the extreme nationalism which has grown up since the Boer War at the beginning of the century.

It has resulted in an almost pathological feeling of distrust between the Afrikanders and English-speaking sections of the white population.

Afrikanders—descendants of the Dutch voortrekkers —or pioneers—now make up about 60 per cent of the white population, and English and other European races the remainder.

The Road to Faith . . . by Will Oursler

Has Science Found All the Answers?

By WILL OURSLER
Chapter 25

Sacrifice in modern religious faith is the outward sign of our inward caring.

Sacrifice is a symbol of acceptance of love of the Father and our brotherhood with all mankind — the coin in a beggar's cup, a moment of time for a caller in need, a letter to a friend or stranger, a word of kindliness to someone who does not matter to us.

We have scrambled and fought our way along the road to faith, up precipes to the plateau above them. We light our fire and rest, staring up at celestial infinity, unable to comprehend its depth and vastness.

Questions crowd in upon us. Astronomers have a hundred phrases to describe the universe that imply intimate knowledge of it: mass and gravitation and perimeters of the orbits, rotation velocities and density distributions are only a few.

Yet the most powerful telescope penetrates in only small measures into the limitless fastnesses of the heavens. What lies beyond is speculative.

OUR UNIVERSE ? ?

Our universe is a vast amalgam of molecules, particles and masses of energy in a closed arena, something like the inside of a great cosmic globe. What material binds this sphere? Of what is it composed?

What of other universes beyond? Scientists have postulated that there is nothing beyond and therefore, they answer paradoxically, the question is impossible and cannot be asked. But we have asked it.

Such penetrating questions have been asked for thousands of years. Periodically, temple priests have given one reply and the priests of science another.

Plato, in ancient Greece, speaks with the vast authority of the philosopher who knows all things:

"Time, then, and the heaven came into being at the same instant in order that, having been created together, if ever there was the mind and thought of they might be dissolved together. It was framed after the pattern of the eternal nature . . . for the pattern exists from-eternity, and the created heaven has been, and is, and will be, in all time. Such was the mind and throught of God in the creation of time . . ."

Plato briefly sketched how God created the planets and stars near-est the earth and assigned their proper orbits to earth. "To enumerate the places which he assigned to the other stars, and to give all the reasons why he assigned them, although a secondary matter, would give more trouble than the primary. These things at some future time, when we are at leisure, may have the consideration which they deserve, but not at present . . . ."

"God lighted a fire, which we call the sun, in the second from the earth of these orbits, that it might give light to the whole of heaven. . . ."

Plato's thinking was advanced in scientific terms for his era. Yet it is extraordinary that he was so sure of his answers. From where did he derive this indisputable information?

There is a tragic factor in the realization that Plato, who gave the world so much thought, was also mistaken in so much of what he presented as indisputable fact, particularly in regard to the creation of the earth and the stars and human beings.

If this tremendous mind could not perceive the possibility of error in his findings, what of our modern scientists and thinkers, our physicists and chemists and astronomers and nuclear scientists?

Is it not possible that they, too, along with vast discoveries that are entirely correct and workable, also have put forth theories which will be found as profoundly incorrect, from a factual point of view, as those of Plato?

Science and materialism in general have indeed reached their own plateau, a platform in space itself, and our question comes: Have they found all answers — or any — this way? Will we be led ultimately to discard the spiritual universe when we discover that we are living in a vast goldfish bowl beyond which lies a perfected nothingness of which we cannot even conceive at present?

Is this to be the final achievement of man — the cosmic discovery of his own lack of purpose?

Or is there the possibility of other meanings and other interpretations about which, in many cases, some of our newer scientists appear almost totally unconcerned?

Plead With Negro Students Not to Walk Out en Masse

By The Associated Press

Student leaders at a Louisiana Negro college have pleaded with the 4,000 students there not to carry out a threatened mass walkout today in support of demands for freedom to demonstrate for equal rights.

The walkout threat was made in protest to the expulsion or suspension of 18 of their fellow students earlier in the week from Southern University at Baton Rouge after a wave of student sitdowns at white lunch counters.

Marvin E. Robinson, 25, of Gary, Ind., ousted student body president, led eight student leaders Friday night in the plea for abandonment of the walkout. The eight have decided to leave the university, but all said the sacrifice was too great to ask all other students to cut off their education.

Earlier Friday Robinson had predicted the campus "will be a graveyard . . . if we get no satisfaction."

Other racial developments:

1. Police at Charleston, S.C., arrested 24 Negro teen-agers after they sat at a downtown lunch counter and refused to leave. While they sat police received an anonymous tip that a bomb was set to go off in the store. The building was searched but no bomb was found.

2. Ten sit-downers jailed at Birmingham, Ala., Thursday posted $300 bonds for trial Monday on trespassing charges.

3. A vice president of a Memphis Negro bank filed suit in federal court to desegregate the city airport restaurant, charging he was denied service because of his race.

★ ★ ★

4. The Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, president of the National Council of Churches, said at New York that the sit-down protests are an expression of just and righteous indignation.

Testing Cancer Cure Was Hard

At First It Worked on Mice, but Not on Man — Then Came Success

NEW YORK (AP) — One Jun-day in 1954, Prof. Selman Waksman, famed antibiotic researcher from Rutgers University, handed a small vial of a new drug to cancer researcher Dr. Sidney Farber.

In the vial were 300 milligrams —10,000 human doses—of a powerful but poisonous antibiotic called actinomycin D.

Friday Dr. Farber told of the hopes and disapointments in testing the drug which now helps defeat some cancers among the young and desperate patients at his Children's Hospital medical center, Boston.

★ ★ ★

Because the action of the drug was unknown, Dr. Farber turned the small vial over to his researchers. In less than three weeks the hospital staff buzzed with excitement. The drug had defeated breast cancer and leukemia in mice.

But excitement gave way to disappointment when the results could not be duplicated in the stricken children.

9-YEAR-OLD DIED

One of the cases given the drug was a nine-year-old girl, stricken by a kidney tumor that had spread through her body. She died seven days after treatment, but an examination of the cancer showed that the drug had begun to act on the spreading cancer seeds.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Farber decided to try it on other children suffering from the same kind of cancer, Wilms tumor. There was some success, but the drug was highly toxic and had to be used in small amounts.

Former State Official, Newsman Dies of Cancer

DETROIT (AP) — Byron (Pete) Geller, a former manufacturer's agent, state assistant attorney general and newspaperman, died yesterday. He was 56.

★ ★ ★

Geller was an assistant Michigan attorney general from 1933 to 1938. He was a reporter from the Detroit Times, the Windsor (Ont.) Star and for Cincinnati and Toledo, Ohio, papers.

★ ★ ★

He passed his bar examination in 1932 and quit newspapering for the law, then dropped law for a career as a manufacturer's agent.

Geller had been ill with cancer for several months.

Charged With Negligent Homicide in Hit, Run

John Bedson Sr., 67, of 23395 Springbrook St., Farmington Township, has been charged with negligent homicide in the hit-and-run killing of William LaForge, 67, of 21055 Inkster on March 17.

★ ★ ★

Police said Bedson turned himself in five days after the pedestrian was run down. Arraignment on the charge was scheduled for today.

Consumers, Union Said Nearing Pact

JACKSON (AP) — The Consumers Power Co. and the striking Utility Workers Union are "pretty close together on all points," one of the mediators said today.

★ ★ ★

Negotiations in the walkout of 5,100 employes are in recess for the weekend. They probably will resume Tuesday.

The mediator who made the optimistic comment declined to permit use of his name.

Major issues in the dispute includes wages and what the union calls job security of workers.

"QUESTIONS ON HEALINGS ANSWERED"
For some few weeks I have written articles opposing the idea, that men and women today are duplicating the miracles and healing performed by Jesus and his apostles in the 1st century. During the course of these articles several questions have come to me, some by letter, some by phone, and a few in conversation with those who have objected to these plain Bible truths. In this article I shall endeavor to answer some of the objections raised.
CHRIST THE SAME TODAY, YESTERDAY AND FOREVER.
In the book of Hebrews, chapter 13: verse 8, we read, "Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and today, and forever." In this passage many falsely assume that a continuation of miracles and healings such as those done by the Christ and his apostles is suggested but such is not even intimated. For healings are not even mentioned nor are miracles even mentioned. NOTICE it is not said that HEALINGS ARE THE SAME YESTERDAY, TODAY, AND FOREVER, BUT JESUS CHRIST. Some have suggested that Christ has the power to do today what he did yesterday, THIS I DO NOT DENY, HOWEVER THE QUESTION IS NOT HAS HE THE POWER TO DO WHAT HE HAS DONE BUT IS HE DOING TODAY WHAT HE DID YESTERDAY? No, no, he is not.
1. Yesterday he RAISED THE FOUR DAY DEAD, IS HE DOING SO TODAY?
2. YESTERDAY HE FED FIVE THOUSAND WITH A FEW FISH AND A FEW LOAVES, IS HE DOING SO TODAY?
3. Yesterday he literally anointed the eyes of the blind, is HE DOING SO TODAY?
Friends, Christ is the SAME BUT HE IS NOT DOING THE SAME THINGS, IN THE SAME WAYS, TO THE SAME PEOPLE, FOR THE SAME PURPOSES TODAY THAT HE DID YESTERDAY, nor has he given today the same power today that he gave certain men yesterday.
THE HOLY SPIRIT TO THEM THAT ASK
In Luke 11:13 we read, "——how much more shall your heavenly Father give the Holy Spirit to them that ask him?". Unfortunately too many people have assumed that the passage teaches that the only requirement for the reception of the Holy Spirit is to ask, but such is not the case. Some have asked and have not received, but says one he did not ask in faith and honesty, and in sincerity but if this is the case then it is admitted that the passage is restricted and such would be to admit the truth. Also it should be borne in mind that the passage says nothing about the Baptism of the Holy Spirit, which those who generally claim to heal and work miracles profess to possess. Friends, Luke 11:13 does not promise the baptismal measure of the Holy Spirit to all who live in this generation.
Men who are honestly seeking to please the Great God of Heaven and Earth will constantly study to handle the word of truth aright, that they may learn and do the "WILL OF THE FATHER IN HEAVEN," and will refrain from WRESTING THE SCRIPTURES TO THEIR OWN DESTRUCTION. Will you not turn away from the teachings of men to the commandments of Christ as we found in the Bible, the Bible says "TOUCH NOT, TASTE NOT, HANDLE NOT, WHICH ALL ARE TO PERISH AFTER THE DOCTRINES AND COMMANDMENTS OF MEN. Col. 2:21, 22.
Believeth Thou This?

Participating will be (from left) Larry Rogers of 216 Fernberry St., Clark Lefurgy of 2750 Colrain Dr. and Bruce Rogers of 235 Linden Rd. The service is scheduled for 3:30 p.m.

5 Boy Scouts to Receive God and Country Award

The Rev. Davis K. Mills, curate at All Saints Episcopal Church, will present the God and Country award to John Isgrigg, Mike Jenkins, Jeff Jerome, Tom McGrath and Bruse Rogers at the 3:30 program Sunday afternoon in Stevens Hall.

The Rev. Donald E. Bodley, assistant director of the Department of Christian Education for the Diocese, will speak on the importance of the awards.

Following the program a play entitled "A Prophet to the Nation," written especially for young people, will be presented in the church.

Mrs. Charles Scribner is directing the play and Gerald Guinan is in charge of lighting. Assisting are Barbara Shadley and Wendy Tomlinson.

The Tau Alpha youth group and parish committee consisting of Mrs. Frank Coad, Mrs. Edmund Rogers, Theodore Savigny and Arnold Thingstad will begin charge of the reception which follows.

Pastor to Welcome 38 New Members

Thirty-eight new members will be welcomed into the Orchard Lake Community Church (Presbyterian) Sunday morning.

Senior high youth will attend the rally of Presbyterian young people at the First Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p.m. Sunday. Jo Ann Welch will be installed as citizenship chairman for the youth of Detroit Presbytery.

The film, "Crucifixion and Resurrection," will be shown at 8 p.m. This concludes the "Life of Christ" series of pictures.

450 Witnesses Attending Three Day Assembly

Jehovah's Witnesses are holding a three-day circuit assembly this weekend in Oak Park with meetings held in the Senior High School.

With the convention theme, "Seek Peace and Pursue It," sessions concern how Christians should conduct Bible studies.

Peter D'Mura from the Witnesses headquarters in Brooklyn, N.Y. will deliver the principal address on "Finding Peace in a Troubled World" Sunday.

Austin J. Kizer of the local East Congregation is featured on the program today. Yesterday Neal Hamilton of the Drayton Plains Congregation was a speaker.

8 Candidates to Be Baptized

Life of Christ Series of Pictures to End Sunday at Bethany Church

Eight candidates for baptism will be immersed at the 8 p.m. worship service Sunday in Bethany Baptist Church. The Rev. Robert L. Adams of Crescent Hills Baptist Church will be in charge of the service.

★ ★ ★

★ ★ ★

Outstanding sequences include Judas throwing the purse of silver coins at the feet of Caiaphas; the sealing of the tomb; the empty tomb; the upper room and the convincing of Thomas.

According to Dr. Joseph I. Chapman, pastor, the series has been one of the most inspirational and helpful series of services in the life of Bethany. Plans are under way to present a series of 12 pictures on the Life of St. Paul.

Richard Crawford and Andrea Allen will assist at the evening service and Patty Dovre and Lewis Sidwell will be youth assistants at the morning worship hours.

During the past three years membership at Bethany has increased 20 per cent and the budget increased 23 per cent.

Presbyterian Young People Attending Rally

High school young people of First Presbyterian Church will hear the Rev. Robert Kaiser of Utica when they attend the spring rally at First Presbyterian Church in Detroit Sunday. The newly elected officers will be installed.

Junior high youth will see the film of The Life of Christ series entitled "Conflict" at 5:30 p.m. tomorrow.

Dr. William H. Marbach will preach on "We Did It" at the 9:30 morning worship Sunday. Royce Everett will sing "God My Father, O Why Hast Thou Forsaken Me?"

The Rev. Galen E. Hershey will speak on "Walk in the Light" at the 11 a.m. service. "Out of the Depths I Cry to Thee" will be the choir anthem.

★ ★ ★

Presbyterian women will be hosts to several hundred women of Detroit Area Presbyterian Churches Wednesday. Dr. Vernon Smith of Philadelphia will address the group.

Spiritual Mission Slated at St. Andrew Episcopal

REV. BERTRAM T. WHITE

A spiritual mission on the theme, "God's Basic Spiritual Law for Life Abundant," will begin at 7:30 p.m. Sunday and continue through Thursday at St. Andrew Episcopal Church, Drayton Plains.

The Rev. Bertram T. White of the Diocesan Department of Stewardship will be the missioner.

Following graduation from Alma College, the Rev. Mr. White taught school for two years. During that time he served as lay reader in charge of St. John Mission in Dryden.

A graduate of Virginia Theological Seminary, he served St. Paul Mission on Harsen's Island and All Saints in New Haven. Prior to his present appointment in October 1959, he served as vicar at St. George Mission, Milford.

Meetings will consist of evening prayer, litany and a special meditation. Organizations and individuals are asked by the Rector, the Rev. Waldo R. Hunt, to be present at least one meeting.

Baptists to Hear Prisoner of War

Northwestern College Concert Choir and Band to Present Program

John Noble of Detroit, held a prisoner of war by the Russians during World War II, will speak Sunday at First Baptist Church.

The Northwestern College Concert Choir and Concert Band Ensemble will present a musical program at 7 p.m.

The choir of 60 voices has frequently appeared on the Dr. Billy Graham Choir on "The Hour of Decision" program. Its daily work is in connection with the chapel hour of the school and three radio stations.

The choir has just recently made recordings which have been released under two titles, "Beneath This Cross" and "Jesu, Priceless Treasure."

The band ensemble of 35 instrumentalists appears regularly in special concerts and regular school and radio presentations.

William B. Berntsen, choral director, is chairman of Northwestern's Conservatory of Music. Don Bisdorf, band director, is a professor of music education.

Dr. J. Edwin Hartill, professor of Bible, will accompany the groups to present the school's ministry and needs.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Pontiac's Downtown Perimeter Road Is Definitely Scheduled

Earlier in the week, City Manager W. K. WILLMAN, Mayor PHILIP E. ROWSTON, A. C. GIRARD and I went to Lansing to discuss Pontiac's downtown perimeter road and connecting highways.

★ ★ ★

City Manager Willman was anxious to have some form of commitment from Highway Commissioner John C. Mackie as to his intentions. "This would allow the City to take a few steps in advance," said Willman, "and it would benefit the taxpayers. Without assurance from this top State official, we mark time."

★ ★ ★

Secondly, the local men were anxious to have an approximate date set so they could advise the Pontiac group when work might start.

★ ★ ★

Commissioner Mackie told us that the perimeter road here is definitely on his agenda, but that no one could absolutely guarantee an exact date that far in the future. He said that the timetable seemed to indicate 1963. This would place us right at the fore of the second "five year plan." Times and allotments for the first five years have long since been definitely assigned, as he explained here sometime back.

★ ★ ★

JOHN MACKIE is keenly aware of the local problem and understands that downtown merchants and citizens in general are looking forward to this tremendous improvement in handling traffic in the center of the city along with the rehabilitation program.

MACKIE

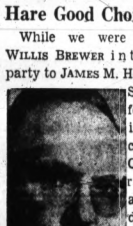
WILLIS M. BREWER joined the group in Lansing and was present during the interview. The Commissioner declared that in the summer he hoped to have an even more definite statement as to the time.

Hare Good Choice . . . .

While we were in Lansing, WILLIS BREWER introduced our party to JAMES M. HARE, Secretary of State, who stands forth as the leading Democratic contender for the Gubernatorial nomination, and we visited during lunch.



HARE

We were favorably impressed. He seems sincere and genuine.

★ ★ ★

Hare asserts that he has been mightily encouraged since he declared himself a candidate for the post G. Mennen Williams is vacating. "The volume of mail reaching my desk continues to come like an unexpected flood," says he. "But it's very welcome as practically all of it's favorable. And the big bulk is from people I don't know personally."

★ ★ ★

The trail to the Democratic nomination is still a long and tortuous one, but JIM HARE is "in there running"—and right now he's certainly out in front on his ticket.

★ ★ ★

He told us state suppliers stand fourth in line today at the Michigan cashier's window. Welfare comes first, bond holders second, payrolls third and then the general suppliers.

★ ★ ★

Some people may squawk at the relatively lofty position of the bond holders. But through Michigan's monumental economic mess, her credit has remained good — in fact, excellent. We've met our credit obligations promptly. When bank credit leaves, catastrophe strikes. The taxpayers pay—and pay—through interest rates that leap upward and stay there.

The State has done well in steering a sound financial course through the shoals, reefs and breakers that have beset our path.

★ ★ ★

To recapitulate on JIM HARE, he's a reassuring individual to meet.

U. S. Stays Clear . . . .

While I was in the Caribbean, CASTRO was the subject of considerable comment and discussion. Some of those Latin American newspaper publishers are closer to the situation than we are.

★ ★ ★

Basically, the United States is trying to avoid any semblance of a "showdown" with the blatant, loud-mouthed Cuban fanatic.

Russia would love that.

The sight of the great, big powerful United States really telling off Cuba would be dynamite when the Russians finished advising the whole globe how we took advantage of this poor, helpless Cuban patriot.

★ ★ ★

Cuban newspapers now scream about "American loan sharks" and how "the U.S. exploits Cuba." This is a CASTRO command, and under this pretext, FIDEL is slowly stealing everything he can. What can he lose? His dynasty is a trembling, tottering house of cards. He issues warnings steadily to "watch out for the Yankee invasion." It's pure propaganda and the Communists urge him on.

★ ★ ★

Castro's orations are becoming more frequent and they still adhere to the three and four hour pattern.

In the meantime, your Uncle Sam exercises great patience and great forbearance.

What else is there to do?

And in Conclusion . . . .

Italy is spending $40 million on the Olympic Games and it all comes from a national lottery . . . . . The flying saucer craze breaks out anew. Some watchers in New York have binoculars in their offices . . . . . In the next issue, Fortune Magazine will have an article on alcoholism among executives . . . . . BEN ANIBAL sends me a long editorial from The Fort Lauderdale News that really lays G. MENNEN WILLIAMS away in the sweet peas . . . . . As a quick guess, I'd say Miami's airport terminal building is as long as our airport's runway. ED FLINT drove me from the Delta counter to Pan Am in his automobile outside. Pontiac can't afford to lag too far behind.

Government forecasts say our weather will have normal temperature the next two weeks with less than average rain . . . . . Oscar Robinson won the college basketball award, but my money rides on Ohio's Lucas, an "A" student on an academic instead of an athletic scholarship. He's the most from every angle . . . . . Sign in a Brooklyn candy store: "Teen Age Spoken Here." . . . . . Purely personal nomination for an especially high class, honorable and loyal citizen: Dr. Lucius A. Farnham . . . . . Estimates figure horse racing will pay New York State $60 million in taxes in 1960 . . . . . I hear the compact Pontiacs will be called "The Tempest." The same rumor says the little Olds will be "The Rocket," the tiniest Ford "The Hummingbird," the Buick "The Invader" and the newest Dodge "The Warrior." All of this is unverified, but from "sources I believe to be reliable," to fall back on an ancient dictum.

Coronet says a Californian was showing a Texas man through those enormous and towering redwoods (some standing higher than the Riker Building). "What do you think of our state?" the Cal. man asked with pride. "O.K.," said the Texan, but when do we get out of this infernal underbrush?" . . . . . The latest Nielsen ratings show the top ten TV shows in this order: Gunsmoke, Wagon Train, Have Gun — Will Travel, DANNY THOMAS, RED SKELTON, Father Knows Best, Wanted — Dead or Alive, Price Is Right, Real McCoys and 77 Sunset Strip . . . . . The most interesting panel or comic in America today is Major Hoople . . . . . Rumor says a syndicate headed by JOHN KENNEDY's dad and PHIL WRIGLEY offered $10 million for the Desilu Corporation . . . . . Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—ELLA FITZGERALD's beautiful singing on TV; the J's—ELLA FITZGERALD's frightful physique.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

IN THE STEPS OF CHRIST

A sense of awe stole over me when I stood in the ruins of what was once the Praetorium of Pontius Pilate in Jerusalem. The circular diagram of a game once played by Roman soldiers with condemned prisoners still is traceable on the pavement. Nearby I was shown the spot where, it is said, Jesus stood before Pilate while the mob across the pavement screamed: "Crucify him!" It was from the spot that Jesus, bearing his cross, went forth to Calvary where, mocked and nailed to the cross, He pleaded through his anguish: "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do." (Luke 23:34.)

Dr. William Brady's Mailbag:

Do You Have Tobacco? If So, I Have a Match

"I started taking honey, a teaspoonful every other day, but did not include the vinegar, as I have always used plenty on my food. After taking the honey for a few weeks I found that I was no longer suffering with . . . (K.R.A.)"

DR. BRADY

Not that it matters, so far as I know, but your statement reminds me of Paddy O'Toole, a great smoker but a stingy one. He would inquire: "Have ye e'er a pipe and some tobacco about?—O'I have a match."

Eating or drinking honey is harmless enough if you like honey, but consumption of vinegar, except as an occasional condiment, is not advisable, in my opinion.

"Of course, living in the country as I do, one cannot get much exercise walking, there being no sidewalks . . . (R.M.C.)"

They don't roll up the roadways, do they? Or perhaps your trouble is the same as mine—I like to walk to and from the bowling green, but every block along the way a kind-hearted bowler pulls over to the curb and asks me to get in and ride the rest of the way. I get pretty tired of explaining that I appreciate the thoughtfulness of the offer, but that I really need the walk and so . . . I'm afraid some of the chaps think I'm minus a few marbles.

"I say most great artists of this generation use dope. Is this true? . . . (J.F.)"

Most morons would like to think so.

"What is the trouble with a man who has blood shot eyes after two or three bottles of beer . . . (B.J.A.)"

Obviously intoxicated, but it is difficult to tell because the poor sap is apparently defective to begin with.

"Why not write a nice, scholarly column on the reason why you believe childbirth at home is better than in a hospital? (H.D.)"

Do you mean to imply that the dozens of pieces I have written about it are not quite nice or scholarly?

"I learned more about indigestion from your booklet in a week than I ever knew in 50 years . . . (Mrs. M.W.A.)"

Yahbut, did you learn what indigestion is? If you did, please let me in on it. Seriously it can do no harm for anyone who thinks he has indigestion to study the booklet. Send me 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope for the booklet So You Have Indigestion?

★ ★ ★

"I like mint tea, drink two cups a week, but have been told it will dry up the blood, so I quit . . . (Mrs. S.A.)"

It is harmless.

Signed letters not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Tax Tips

INTERNAL REVENUE SAYS:

If you sell your residence at a gain, you might have to pay tax on this gain. If, however, you spend the entire proceeds on the purchase of another residence within one year, before or after the sale, then there is no gain recognized.

A person is happier when he makes the best of not only what he has, but what he doesn't have.

Voice of the People

'Present Bus Situation Will Damage City's Reputation'

It is just too bad Pontiac can't have bus service. The City shouldn't be without it. Many older people have no transportation and aren't able to walk. I know the public hasn't been fair with bus courtesy cars, but Pontiac's reputation will not be improved with things as they are. It isn't possible for our older people to get anywhere because they can't afford to own cars and many are too old to drive and don't have money for taxi fare.

It's time voters knew this about employes taking petitions around. It is neither fiction nor is this another county. It should deserve some thought before we go to vote in the next election. This procedure is especially rough for people working in the County Treasurer's Office.

One Who Knows

'This Achievement Is Bad Reflection'

It's a bad reflection on mankind to think the atom bomb was thought up and perfected to kill people instead of for industrial use and betterment of mankind. We outdid ourselves for murder instead of life saving and health building activities.

Observer

Defends Dr. Mead as Worthy Student

Dr. Mead was married in 1936 and has at least one child. She's been an anthropologist over 30 years, and has spent at least five years studying, living with and speaking the language of New Guinea tribes. A life's work can't be dismissed as if she were island hopping on a three-week vacation.

As a student of human society and of adolescence in particular, Dr. Mead used her information to understand all types of society, including ours. If this led her to conclusions about American life, she deserves to be at least listened to thoughtfully.

'Must Be Careful of Credit Buying'

Installment buying must be watched with care in this country. We have had so many optimistic predictions about how wonderful 1960 may be, people have contracted to purchase things beyond their comfortable power to repay. All buyers should search their own purses carefully.

'Taxpayers' Party Is Only Answer'

Republicans have had the presidency seven years and what have they done to reduce the national debt? Just nothing, that's what.

★ ★ ★

Eisenhower ran on a platform to save the taxpayers' money after the wild spending Democrats gave us the greatest debt in world history. What did he save? I ask you, what did he save?

★ ★ ★

We need a new party that represents the people and not the politicians and I don't mean the crackpot Socialist Party, but I mean a party of taxpayers.

Going, Going, Gone

'Nixon Is Good; Meyner's Better'

I see occasional references to Robert Meyner as a possible Democratic candidate for President. I'll vote for Nixon against that list of mine run pansies the Dems are arguing about now, but if the governor of New Jersey is nominated, I'd practically campaign for him. He is the kind of American we need desperately in the White House.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Most People Ignorant in Business

Hiram's views are shared by thousands of clergymen, school teachers and other educated leaders, so it is high time we eliminated this needless cause for class distinctions in America. For a clergyman with a $6,000 salary gets approximately the same income as a doctor or private business man with $16,000. For proof, read below and scrapbook this vital case.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE E-424: Hiram J., aged 36, is a successful clergyman with a salary of $6,000 per year.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane," he said, I feel that clergymen are not paid adequately in contrast to other professional men.

"For example, I have several dentists and physicians in my parish who get $15,000 or more per year. Does that seem fair to you?"

"NET" VS. "GROSS"

What the usual salaried worker fails to realize is that his own $6,000 is "net," whereas the $15,000 income of a mortician or doctor or garage man or other private business operator is "gross."

If a clergyman is thus getting $6,000 in "net" income, he usually receives the following free items:

Free parsonage	$ 900
Free office space	900
Free assistant	3,600
Free secretary	2,400
Free telephone and utilities	180
Free office supplies	180
Free car allowance	500
Avoids depreciation	1,000
Avoids bad debts of	250
Total	9,910
Salary	6,000
	$15,910

Although I am partial to church workers, I must warn them not to fall heir to the usual business ignorance that typifies our average American.

Even the clergyman's desks and chairs and typewriters and office rugs, etc., are free, while other business and professional men must pay for every such item out of their gross income.

So will you intelligent readers please set your teen-age youngsters wise to the vast difference between the $6,000 salary a school principal or clergyman or other executive draws, vs. the supposedly magnificent $15,000 or even $30,000 that a farmer or doctor or mortician or other private business man takes in?

Will you men who belong to the various service clubs, such as Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Exchange, Optimists, Civitan and Toastmaster's, likewise offer a few cash prizes for the high school student essays or speech contests?

Assign simple themes that will explain the vital difference between "net" vs. "gross."

Also, let them distinguish between our Republic vs. a Democracy.

And urge them to point out that a corporation's $100,000,000 profits may not amount to a 5 per cent dividend for the stockholders.

Americans usually jump to dangerous and often hostile opinions of the earnings of other folks, feeling they themselves are being gypped while others get all the breaks.

To help in setting people straight about our "free enterprise" system and our Republic, send for my booklet "Americans Must Never Shut Up," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Circulate it among school pupils of reading age.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dr. Altland Appointed Head of New Division

LANSING (AP)—Dr. J. K. Altland has been named acting director of the new division of hospital and medical facilities in the State Health Department.

His appointment was announced by Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis who also named Joseph R. Hommings as chief of the hospital survey and construction section of the division.

The new division will take over the work of the former state office of hospital survey and construction. This agency was merged with the health department under a state government reorganization law which went into effect two weeks ago.

Ex-FBI Agent Named Monitor

McShane Had Headed Wiretap Probe Which Involved Hoffa

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former FBI agent has been named to the strife-torn board of monitors that is supposed to clean up corruption in the Teamsters Union.

* * *

He's Terence F. McShane, 32, who directed a FBI wiretapping probe involving Teamsters President James R. Hoffa. McShane resigned from the FBI this week to take the monitor post.

"I don't think it takes too much imagination to see what this is all about," said Hoffa, "but we'll judge his activities as he goes along."

HOFFA SMELLS PLOT

Hoffa, who has battled the monitors' cleanup efforts all along, added it was obvious to him that a career FBI man wouldn't throw up his job "without consultation with somebody that he was going to be named and accepted as a monitor."

* * *

The three-man board of monitors was named by 84-year-old federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts to supervise the big union's activities. Its creation was a compromise of a suit brought by 13 rebellious rank-and-file union members who didn't like the way Hoffa ran the union and tried to prevent his becoming president.

* * *

The Teamsters can designate one member of the board. Thus the union appointee can be outvoted consistently by the other two.

Asks Reconsideration

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Mrs. Connie Nicholas yesterday asked the Indiana Supreme Court to reconsider its rejection of the appeal of her two-to-21-year manslaughter sentence for the 1958 killing of her married lover, drug firm executive Forrest Teel.

The Vatican Palace has been the residence of the Popes since 1377.

Cuban Fire Nears Batista's Ex-Home

HAVANA (UPI) — Fire on a sugar cane plantation last night threatened the former country home of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista on the outskirts of Havana.

* * *

The fire was one of two on plantations near the city. One of the plantations, the Kuquine, is across the central highway from Batista's luxury residence, which now is owned by the ministry for the recovery of stolen property. The other fire raced through the El Morado plantation in another section.

There was no immediate information on the cause of the fires.

Auto Insurance Plan to Cover Risk Drivers

LANSING (AP) — Michigan motorists ineligible for ordinary casualty coverage today came under a new automobile assigned risk plan linking 227 insurance companies. About 32,000 drivers are affected.

Under the new rating plan, a uniform premium will be charged for any particular coverage. The insurance companies obtained approval of it, contending it would wipe out inequities.

Volunteers Are True Brethren

They Help to Mold Youth

By MARY ANGLEMIER

Do church people care? Will members volunteer time for youth programs?

The Rev. Tommy Guest, pastor of the First Social Brethren Church, says yes, and reports:

"About four months ago Olen Banks, a member of my congregation, suggested we start a weekly service for young people that would be constructive and recreational as well as spiritual."

After several planning sessions, the program was organized and set for every Tuesday evening at 7:30 with Cecil Rose, Mr. Banks and the Rev. and Mrs. Guest as counselors.

The evening opens with singing and a brief message by the pastor. Currently, a film on the "Last Week of Christ on Earth" is shown.

Classes are arranged for all young people. Teachers of the flower-making class are Mrs. Olen Banks and Mrs. Shirley Frantz. Instruction includes making buds, leaves and flowers for bouquets and corsages.

Mrs. Wayne Hilton assists with the sewing class, and Mrs. Arthur Sellers and Mrs. Guest are in charge of the junior art department working with crayon, charcoal and water colors.

Cecil Rose, Alfred Tison and Nanette Mason help the boys make leather belts, comb-holders, change purses, wallets and key-ring holders in the leathercraft class.

The older boys and girls are taught senior art by Calvin Duncan, who with his son Darrell, made a large 18½ by 6 foot mural for Christmas. They now are working on a mural that depicts the Easter story.

Young people in all courses participate in the archery class taught by Wendell Banks.

The Rev. Mr. Guest teaches a Bible class and Raymond Hull is in charge of extra activities for teen-agers.

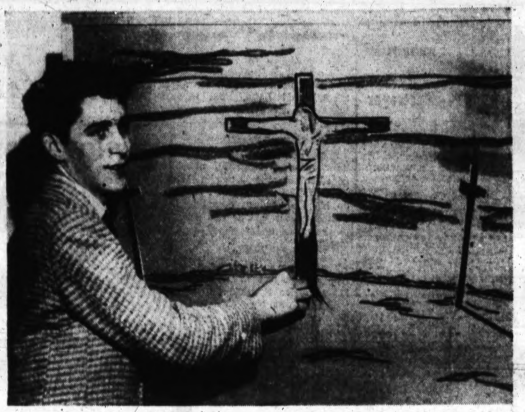
The group has a missionary to whom it writes and sends 10 per cent of its offerings each month. He is the Rev. Albert Ludwig of Jacmel, Haiti.

Plans are being made for softball, archery and fishing trips.

Other adults helping with the youth program include Gene Wright, Chalmer Gidcumb and Bill McKinney. Wendell Banks is president of the group and Carolyn Gidcumb, secretary treasurer.

The pastor said all young people are welcome at the classes.

"Everyone seems so enthusiastic," said Mrs. Guest. "When I paid the paper boy the other day he called out, "See you Tuesday night."



Darrell Duncan is completing a chalk drawing of the Crucifixion at the Tuesday evening church youth program. His father, Calvin Duncan, teaches senior art to the older boys and girls. Darrell and his father are working on a mural portraying the Easter story.

Concluding the list are Roger W. Howell, University of Michigan school of public health: and Harold E. Wooden, research consultant, U.S. Public Health Service.

Lunch OK Following Funeral

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I would very much like to know if you consider it in good taste to give a buffet lunch immediately following the funeral for relatives and members of the immediate family.

A neighbor of mine lost her husband recently and after the funeral quite a few people returned to the house where a buffet lunch was served. This seemed very much out of order to me.

Answer: It is not unusual, nor improper, for an intimate friend of the family, or a close neighbor, to see that there will be something warm and nourishing to greet the family when they return from the funeral.

In fact, it would be very thoughtless if some intimate friend did not see that this was done. Only very closest relatives — and especially those who have come from a distance — should return to the house and this gathering should, not of course in any way take on the aspect of a party.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to send flowers to a young man who is making his debut soon as a pianist at a concert, or is this too feminine? My husband thinks that flowers are properly sent only to women performers. Will you please tell me if he is right about this, and if so, what can we do instead.

Answer: It would be unusual, but not improper, to send flowers to this young pianist, but in my opinion it would be better to send a telegram wishing him success.

Fifteen-year-old Wendell Banks of Michigan avenue is instructor of the archery class at the First Social Brethren Church. Winner of several trophies from the Woodmen of the World and Pontiac Archers, he has taken two first place trophies in competition against the Ypsilanti Sportsmen's Club.

Pair Will Honeymoon in Southland and East

Mrs. John Derrick Camp

Daughter of the James C. Woodbecks of Flint, the bride appeared in embroidered white net lace over silk taffeta. The bouffant skirt edged with a pleated net ruffle swept into a chapel train. Iridescent sequins outlined the scalloped neckline.

The Juliet cap which secured the fingertip bridal veil of silk illusion was embroidered with seed pearls. A white orchid centered the cascade of white roses.

Crescents of pink roses and carnations complemented gowns of pink crystalette for Mrs. Charles Coon of Durand, her sister's matron of honor, and Mrs. Richard Woodbeck of Mount Morris, bridesmaid. Kathy Coon was her aunt's junior attendant and Sally Jo Woodbeck carried a basket of flower petals.

The bridegroom, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Galbraith Camp of Tarentum, Pa., asked Leighten Smith of Pontiac to stand as best man. Seating more than 200 guests were Lowell Schneider of Rochester and Roland Anderson of Pontiac.

After a church reception, the newlyweds left for New Orleans and the East Coast. Pale pink accessories complemented the beige dress and lavender coat worn by the new Mrs. Camp to begin the honeymoon.

The bride is a member of Zeta Alpha chapter of Alpha Iota international honorary business sorority. Her husband attended the University of Pittsburgh and holds an engineering degree from the General Motors Institute. They will live in Pontiac.

Bride-to-Be Honored at Knights

Bride-elect Barbara Jean Fair, daughter of the James Hardy Fairs of Mark avenue, was honored at a shower Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Ivan T. Knight of Mark avenue.

Mrs. Fair presided at the refreshment table, with the assistance of Mrs. James E. Souden of Robinwood, mother of the bridegroom-elect.

Mrs. Steven Field came from Birmingham and guests from Livonia were Mrs. Jerry Thorsted and Mrs. Gerald Simpson.

Today's Care Pays Off Tomorrow

Some Words for Teens

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I haven't pointed a word or two toward teen-agers for a while now, so here goes!

★ ★ ★

I receive letters from a great many of you because so many of the subjects I write about interest you as well as older folks.

Thousands of you send me questions for the question box column. I want you to know that if your question is not answered it is because I simply do not have space to answer all of them.

I thought it would be fun today to make out a short questionnaire with which you can check yourself.

MORE THAN ONCE

1. Do you wash your face several times a day? If you are threatened with blackheads, four times is not too many. The small oil glands in the skin are especially active during teen-age years and most of you should wash your face two or three times daily, two at the least.

★ ★ ★

2. Do you eat three well-balanced meals a day? Remember — this is just as much a beauty routine as it is a health routine. The food you eat affects your skin and hair and even your pep and personality.

★ ★ ★

3. Young folks need lots of exercise. Are you interested and active in at least one sport? If not become so. Otherwise you never will know what you are missing in fun and health. These build stamina for the future and skill in several also will add to your popularity.

★ ★ ★

4. The way you hold yourself today will make a huge difference a few years from now in the way you look. Slumping and poor posture today will lead to round shoulders, a double chin, a larger waistline and a hump on the back of the neck, later on, just when you want to be your loveliest.

★ ★ ★

I think if all young women your age would realize that advice such as this is not dull but is exciting, since it actually works in making you the most attractive women you possibly can be.

★ ★ ★

If you would like to have my leaflet "Popularity" which was written especially for you, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Sunday Organ Program Varied

Steinhaus to Play at Kirk

Phillip Steinhaus will give his first Kirk in the Hills organ recital Sunday at 4 p.m. Formerly organist at All Saints Episcopal Church, he has been at the Bloomfield Hills church as organist and choirmaster since the first of the year.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Steinhaus, who performed last month as guest organist at the famous Old North Church in Boston, selected a varied program of the great organ works for his premiere recital at the Kirk.

CHORALE A HIGHLIGHT

Bach's "Chorale Preludes" and "Fantasie and Fugue in G Minor" will highlight the program which will include the "Rhythmic Trumpet" by American composer Seth Bingham. Also included in the recital will be "Suite Breve" by Langlais and Vierne's "Carillon de Westminster."

★ ★ ★

The great organ of the Kirk, designed as a distinctive service and recital instrument, includes 4647 pipes in its nine divisions. This permits the playing of music of any school —classic, romantic or modern, with requisite tonal balance and authority.

Elect Officers for All Saints Nursery School

Officers have been elected for All Saints Nursery School of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Mrs. Lowell Stuckman will be chairman; Mrs. James Wilkinson, first vice chairman; Mrs. Jack Kirksey, second vice chairman; Mrs. Alfred Hansen, treasurer, and Mrs. John Murray, secretary.

Committees appointed were Mrs. Joseph Fox, health and enrollment; Mrs. Karl Bradley, newsletter, and Mrs. William Armstrong, mothers' helper.

Mrs. Kenneth Senior was made regular teacher and Mrs. Ben Sweeney Jr. will be assistant teacher for the remainder of the year.

A kindergarten teacher will speak this month, giving instruction and advice on preparing children for school.

'Daughters' Plan to Meet Thursday

Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War, Michigan Department, will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday, at Union Hall off West Pike street.

President Mrs. John D. Harrington of Joslyn avenue will hear reports from the membership committee.

Eligibility of women whose father, grandfather or great-grandfather was a soldier, a sailor or Marine in the Civil War is being checked.

Delegates will be appointed to the annual Centennial Convention at the Hotel Pantlind, Grand Rapids, June 15-16. The national meet will be in Miami, Fla., Aug. 16-17.

Fox Fur Next

(UPI) — Fur designer Jacques Kaplan predicts that fox is the next fur slated for a comeback. He envisions sumptuous horizontally-worked wrap coats, boas of seven feet and more in length, capelets and jackets.

SHARON LEE SMITH

The engagement of Sharon Lee Smith to Robert George Ferguson is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Layton Walter Smith of Bielby street, Waterford Township. Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Ferguson of Dover road.

Friendship Night Attracts Two Hundred

Two hundred members and guests attended Friendship Night for Bethel 40, International Order of Job's Daughters, this week in Roosevelt Masonic Temple.

★ ★ ★

Initiated into the order were Kathleen Graham, Judy Eastman, Frederica Eastman, Bonnie Brash, Jacqueline Horton and Caroline Woodside. Honored Queen Judith Oles, appointed Sheryl Reynolds, Patricia Busch, Rita Lister, Darlene Croy, Margaret Coppersmith and Susan Hales as Big Sisters to the new members.

★ ★ ★

Among guests from Milford, Milan, Flint, Detroit, Rochester, Farmington, Commerce and Pontiac Bethel 5 were Mrs. Harry Vernon, Mrs. Lenore Kingery and Elmer Bath from Grand Council, Marilyn Vernon and Judith Anderson from Grand Bethel of Michigan.

Past Honored Queens, Mrs. Frances Thompson, Mrs. Charles Bradshaw and Patricia Eaton, were introduced.

Mrs. Loring Downs and Mrs. William Cox served refreshments.

Trailers Hold Dance

Mr. and Mrs. James Barwick were in charge of refreshments.

Guests at the party were Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Dewey, the James McCollums, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Livingston, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Smith, the Donald Allens, the Edward Bakers, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Gooch, Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Doer, the William Russells, the Ralph Sheltons, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Smith, and the David Lamsons, Emma Bentley and Fred Suppus.

The next dance will be April 22 at the Willis School.

Reveal Traub Winners at Bloomfield Hills

The Robert C. J. Traub Memorial Scholarship Travel Fund winners named recently at Bloomfield Hills High School were Deanna Laughlin, music, and Sue Sass, art.

Deanna, daughter of the William Laughline of Club drive, Bloomfield Hills, is active in vocal music, summer choral clinics, and studies both piano and voice. She has been singing with the high school choir for four years, and received first division ratings in the State Solo Festivals. On June 22, she will leave with her mother for summer travel in Europe.

Sue Sass has won six awards in the Scholastic Art Awards Exhibit. She designs and paints stage decorations and is a proficient sculptress. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Sass of Kirkway drive, Bloomfield Hills.

Each year, two Bloomfield Hills High School students who win the Traub scholarship will be able to travel in Europe the summer following graduation. The award, unique in high schools, was established by Mrs. Robert C. J. Traub, long time resident of the Bloomfield area, in memory of her husband.

Can't Buy Good Hubby on Pay-as-You-Go Plan

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 20 and have done modeling and been in show business, so you know I am no witch. An executive where I am presently employed wants to marry me. He is in his late forties and is getting a divorce. Every one thinks I am the cause of it, but his marriage was on the rocks when I met him.

ABBY

He asked me to sign papers stating that I am not entitled to any money if he should die, or if our marriage breaks up. This came as a shock to me because when I asked him if his first wife signed such papers he said no, I am beginning to wonder if I love him enough to marry him under these conditions. What do you suggest?

PRETTYPUSS

DEAR PRETTYPUSS: I am glad you are wondering if you love him enough to marry him under these conditions, because it is apparent that he is wondering, too. A husband who really loves his wife wants to provide her with a secure future in the event of his death. Your friend is looking for a pay as you go proposition. I doubt if there is enough mutual trust between you to make a decent marriage.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: I am a girl 12 years old and my problem is my mother. She can't stand to see me have any peace. If I am listening to the record player, or talking on the telephone or just doing nothing. She says to me, "Linda, don't you have any homework?" If I don't have any, or have it all done she will say, "Then go clean your room."

I will admit that I don't keep up my room very well, but my brother keeps his room in the same condition, if not worse, and she never yells at him. Please tell me what I can do.

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: Go clean your room.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend named Sophie who is sweet, kind and pure. She doesn't have an evil thought in her head and that's where the problem comes in. Her husband is tall, dark, handsome and human. He's 43 and she's 41. When he asks her to go to a movie or a drive with him, I've heard her say, "I'm tired, Honey — why don't you take Agnes? (Agnes is her younger sister. She is cute, vivacious and divorced and I wouldn't trust Agnes as far as I could throw her).

There's been a little talk around town about Agnes and I'm pretty sure she'd take her sister's husband if she could get him.

I've hinted to Sophie but she doesn't seem to be getting the message. Would you come right out and tell your best friend that she is being a fool?

BEST FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Without naming names tell Sophie that a wife who is too tired to accompany her husband anywhere — and suggests a substitute — could find herself permanently replaced.

★ ★ ★

CONFIDENTIAL TO G.I. IN ALASKA: Yes, that's MY picture. Thanks for the compliment, but you're about 21 years too late. (That's how long I've been married.)

To Address Auxiliary

Robert J. Janes, executive director of Family Service of Oakland County, will speak when the Women's Auxiliary to the Oakland County Medical Society meets at Greenfield's Restaurant Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

"How Does Family Service Serve the Community" will be Mr. Janes' subject for the 6:30 p.m. gathering. The film "A Family Affair" will be shown.

Have You Tried This?

Meat, Vegetable Stew Topped With Biscuits

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

One year, on Mothers Day, the youngest son of Mrs. Willard Taylor presented her with a cookbook he had put together in school. In it she found a recipe for Hunter's Pie that is now a family favorite.

★ ★ ★

The Taylors live in Clarkston. Mrs. Taylor participates in PTA work. Her hobby is painting and—of all things—mathematics. She's taking a course in the latter field.

HUNTER'S PIE
By Mrs. Willard Taylor

1½ pounds beef or other stewing meat (can use venison)
1 medium onion
1 cup cubed carrots
1 cup cut celery
1 sm-ll cup peas
1 potato per person, cubed
baking powder biscuits

Brown meat in a little fat. Add onion. Add a small amount of liquid to the pan, cover and let simmer over low heat until meat is tender. Add celery and carrots and continue cooking until they are tender.

Niece of Glenn Miller Makes It on Her Own

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Glenn Miller's niece—blonde, beautiful, leggy, cheesecakey, pinuppy Wynne Miller— knows who's going to be the next Broadway star. She is.

WILSON

Wynne, who portrays a crazy blonde type in 'A Thurber Carnival," which made her the season's No. 1 darling, is swingin' through that show with monumental confidence because she's already been signed to play the lead in George Abbott's next musical, "Tenderloin," due next fall.

For Wynne—real name Velma Lou—from Greeley, Colo.—a rocket from the Rockies—scarcely knew her celebrated kinsman who mysteriously disappeared over the English Channel in a plane 'way back in '44.

WYNNE

"I was only eight when he was lost," Wynne told me a few nights ago in Jilly's saloon over a glass of milk.

"I just remember him as any little kid remembers an uncle." Wynne put her white-gloved fist up to her chin. Beside her lay a prim red purse. Talking to her above the piano concert being played there at a piano bar, I decided that this was another dumb blonde who was about dumb enough to wind up a millionaire.

So when she arrived in N.Y. about seven years ago as unknown as Brand X, she nevertheless had good notices from singing concerts with the San Francisco Symphony—and she corralled a good manager in the person of Johnny O'Connor who has only been around since Al Jolson was a kiddie star.

It was slow—studies with drama coach Betty Cashman . . . a couple of guest spots with Fred Waring's TV specs . . . vocals on Perry Como's old 15-minute bit . . . Dave Garroway's Girl of the Week . . . then an electrifying opportunity to sub for Edie Adams who was departing from "Li'l Abner" for greener swimming pools in Hollywood.

There's been about 100 requests for cheesecake shots and a Life picture or two meanwhile. The cheesecake shots were imediately supplied — Wynne knows that her mother, an organist at the Methodist Church back in Greeley, will understand that "That's show biz."

Wynne, 5-4, and 112, only asks one thing of you. Pronounce it "Win"—not "Winnie"—understand?

THE WEEKEND WINDUP . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: The average husband is a guy who used to think he could afford to get married.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A local parent figures his kids have grown up; "My daughter's started putting lipstick on, and my son's started wiping it off." . . . That's earl, brother.

Knight Almost Shot by Guard

HOWELL (UPI) — Alvin W. Knight almost got shot yesterday during his trial for the fatal shooting of State Trooper Albert W. Souden.

During the trial a paper fell from the defense table to the floor. Knight left his chair suddenly to grab the paper. Undersheriff Donald Davis, assigned to prevent Knight's escape, reached for his gun, and Knight returned to his seat.

"I would have stopped him for sure if he'd started toward the door," Davis said.

The prosecution contends Knight, 48, shot and killed Souden last September when the trooper headed for his home in Argentine to question him about a robbery.

The prosecution directed most of its effort toward trying to establish that Knight and Souden were together the day Souden was murdered. State witnesses gave conflicting testimony, however, and the prosecution was unable to clearly make its point.

★ ★ ★

One witness said a state police car seen in Knight's drive was of the type driven by Souden, but another testified the cruiser he saw in the drive was not the type driven by Souden.

The trial resumes Tuesday.

City Coin Club to Hold Contest, Exhibit Sunday

American and foreign coins — from Lincoln pennies to English halfpennies—will be on display tomorrow in Pontiac at a Public exhibit and contest.

The Pontiac Coin Club, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks & Recreation Dept., will hold its first show of the year from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building, 761 W. Huron St.

According to Clarence Cue, club secretary, admission is free.

Exhibitors will be competing for 25 ribbons for the best collection, including a grand prize.

U. S., Tito to Join in Nuclear Research

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States agreed Friday to cooperate with Yugoslavia on peaceful uses of atomic energy. It was the first such U. S. agreement ever made with a communist country.

The agreement could lead to this country sending an atomic research reactor to Yugoslavia.

It was announced by the State Department as a delegation from the Yugoslav Federal Commission for Nuclear Energy wound up a month's tour of this country. During this four they visited Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) installations concerned with peaceful application of nuclear energy.

The first state capital of Missouri was St. Charles. Selection of Jefferson City as the capital was decided upon in 1826.

About ½ of all U. S. factory workers process or fabricate materials which are used on the farms.

Reflections

THE GOOD OLD DAYS

For me, I like today, eg., In the year 1860 23 days were required for a letter to go from St. Louis to San Francisco, via Overland Stage; the Pony Express shortened this to 10½ days, with a charge of $5.00 for a ½ ounce letter. That's yesterday; today we mail a letter in New York, it is delivered in Los Angeles within 5 hours, at a cost of 7c.

Here are some facts that will make you gasp! 550,000 people are working to get your mail to you ON TIME. 32,000 rural carriers deliver more than 1½ million pieces of mail each day, using 85,000 vehicles which travel a distance equal to three round trips to the moon every working day.

J. L. VOORHEES

M. E. SIPLE

From manually handled mail in Ben Franklin's time up until a short time ago there has been little or no change in handling mail. Now! We have two laboratory plants, one in Detroit and one in Providence, R.I., where machines are installed that promise to sort 36,000 letters an hour, electronic machines that will read typed addresses with 75% accuracy, percel post machines that will weigh parcels, apply the correct postage and make correct change—these are just three machines which will speed our mail quickly and accurately to its destination.

Our local Postmaster will happily accept your commendation. Your carrier is proud of his Department; tell him you are too.

Porter Warns State of Deficit

Cut Spending or Face a Serious Imbalance, He Tells Colleagues

LANSING (AP)—A storm signal on 1960-61 spending flew today over the Legislature, faced with a 418 million dollar budget but not enough money to pay the shot.

It was hoisted by Sen. Elmer R. Porter, Blissfield Republican and 72-year-old state treasury watchdog of 24 years.

Porter sternly counseled colleagues that they're on the point of spending possibly 10 million dollars more than they've got—not to mention a deficit estifated at 72 million as of June 30.

As the Legislature broke up for a long weekend, Porter said:

"Between now and Monday night, you had better begin to think of revenues—or what you want to cut out—or you'll be in trouble and a lot of it. I'm worried."

Appropriation bills comprising the new budget, now being readied for decisive votes, call for about 23 million dollars beyond 1959-60 expenditures and nine millions above Gov. Williams recommendations.

Porter said the House had gone on a "rampage," adding six million dollars to Senate bills, and indicated he favored belt-tightening in the higher education and new building sectors.

The white-haired appropriations chief said he was willing to accept the governor's general fund income estimate of 409 millions, and those who weren't had better speak up soon.

Crime Committee Dead—Has Hopes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rackets Committee is dead today at the age of three. But some senators, notably its chairman, John L. McClellan (D-Ark), have hope of reviving it.

★ ★ ★

In a final report to the Senate yesterday, the committee said its mission had been fulfilled with the passage of the labor-management anticorruption bill last fall. The committee went out of existence at midnight.

★ ★ ★

McClellan had asked that it be kept alive for another 10 months, or that its duties and records be transferred to another committee he heads. That and other moves to keep it going are still hanging fire.

Pontiac Actor Set for Opening

Donald Bumgardner Has Supporting Role at New Playhouse

A Pontiac actor will be in the cast when the curtain rises next Wednesday at the grand opening of a new legitimate theater in Detroit.

Donald Bumgardner, 22, of 590 E. Beverly Ave. has a supporting role in the first production of the Vanguard Playhouse, 58 E. Columbia Ave.

The play is Henrik Ibsen's comedy "Peer Gynt," scheduled to run to the end of the month.

Bumgardner has performed with the student theater at Michigan State University, from which he was graduated with a degree in speech and drama two years ago.

Mayor Louis C. Miriani today gave the new repertoire group a helping hand. He welcomed the theater's cultural contribution and proclaimed next week "Vanguard Playhouse Week" in Detroit.

Mohawk Stewardesses Settle; Flights to Start

UTICA, N.Y. (AP)—Stewardesses have signed an agreement with Mohawk Airlines, calling for the same wage scales now in effect, and the airline will resume flights Sunday.

The mediators said stewardesses agreed to the same wage proposal put in effect by Mohawk March 3 and were granted certain changes in rules and working conditions sought.

Emaciated Teen of Buchenwald Now Star Seller

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Dutch-born Eddy Wynschenk was 17 years old and had been starved down to 60 pounds when the Americans freed him in 1945 from Buchenwald concentration camp in Germany.

His family had been killed. His toes had been chopped off.

He came to America in 1956 with $40 in his pocket. After 13 months in Philadelphia he came to San Francisco.

Now 32, Wynschenk is an award-winning salesman for a large American insurance company and sold $700,000 worth last year. He is married and has a five-month old son. He expects to earn up into the five-figure bracket in 1960.

"It couldn't have happened any place else in the world," he says.

Warns Citizens About Census

Director Says Look for Proper Credentials and Weed Out Phonies

DETROIT (UPI) — Police and census officials today urged citizens to protect themselves against "phonies" during the next few weeks by demanding that census enumerators present their credentials.

"If the public insists on seeing the census takers' credentials, there should be no problem," said Detroit Police Supt. Louis J. Berg.

John E. Tharaldson, regional director of the Census Bureau, said: "If everyone demands identification we will make it too tough for the phonies to continue. If we can weed out the phonies, the public is not as apt to be suspicious of legitimate enumerators."

Tharaldson said it would be easy to identify the legitimate enumerator.

"He will be wearing a red, white and blue badge on his lapel and carrying a large brown portfolio with green lettering on it," he said.

"The portfolio will bear the words '1960 Census of the United States' in green letters about an inch high.

"The blue strip of the badge, on top, carries the words 'U. S. Department of Commerce' with the words 'Bureau of Census underneath but still on the blue strip," he said.

"The middle white strip will bear the official seal of the Bureau of Census and the words 'Census Enumerator.' The bottom red strip will carry the words 'Official Credentials Expires "_____" and the date of expiration will be filled in.

"On the back will be the official statement of certification signed by Robert W. Burgess, director of the Bureau of Census."

But Tharaldson said the questions asked by the enumerators will be as much of an identifying mark as their credentials.

Cuban People Unhappy Over Castro's Policies

NEW YORK (AP) — The people of Santiago de Cuba, cradle of Fidel Castro's revolution, are now looking at Castro with critical eyes.

New York Times correspondent R. Hart Phillips, in a dispatch from Cuba's second largest city, reported that the residents there —once Castro's most enthusiastic supporters—are beginning to have doubts and disillusionment over the revolutionary government's policies.

The raging controversy within the revolutionary ranks over Communist influence in the government.

Another factor, said Phillips, is the reaction against Castro by the property-owning middle class, many of whose members backed the rebel leader in his fight against dictator Fulgencio Batista. Now they are being stripped of their possessions and feel "cheated" by the revolution, the dispatch said.

She Wasn't Foolin'

DETROIT (AP)—Domonic Raona, 29, thought the nurse was having a little April Fool joke yesterday when she gave him the news. But she wasn't. His wife really had presented him with a second set of twins within 11 months, two girls. The first two were a girl and a boy.

Mother, Son, 4, Die in Home Fire

★ ★ ★

They were dead on arrival at a local hospital a short time after firemen found them on the kitchen floor of the blazing home.

★ ★ ★

Officials said the fire started in a bedroom and the victims apparently were overcome by smoke as they tried to reach a back door. The home was destroyed.

See Youth Talks as Beneficial

Ike-Called Conference Expected to Show Its Results Slowly

WASHINGTON (AP)—It started with a speech, it ended with a speech, and there were hundreds of speeches in between.

For six days the 7,500 resolutions.

That, in part, was the 1960 White House Conference on Children and Youth, which wound up here Friday. Did it really accomplish anything?

There is no doubt in the minds of virtually all the delegates that the answer is an emphatic "yes." But action may not be visible for months or years.

"President Eisenhower called this conference," said one delegate, "and the conference in turn called on him to throw the full weight of his high office into the battle for integrated public schools. If he responds, and we fully expect him to, the conference may have paid for itself right there."

In their week-long deliberations, the delegates laid heavy stress on human rights — particularly the problems of racial discrimination. They endorsed the sit-ins of Southern Negroes; they urged nationwide observance of the Supreme Court's order to desegregate the public schools, and they asked employers and labor unions to end all discrimination against the Negro.

Yanks Handed 14th Setback

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees, with a feverish spring record of 6-14, need something, but a psychologist isn't the answer.

Jim Brosnan, witty writer, professional pitcher and amateur psychologist, proved that Friday. The Cincinnati Reds' right-hander pitched the front seven innings of a 3-0 victory over the Yanks and allowed only four hits.

Brosnan, a five-year major league veteran, has always been a good seven-inning pitcher. But against the Yanks he could have easily worked nine, if Manager Fred Hutchinson hadn't wanted to take another look at Bill Henry and Raul Sanchez. They completed the shutout, the Yanks' sixth loss in their last seven exhibitions.

Brosnan, who has written humorous magazine pieces, is readying a book to be called "The Long Season." He's also apparently readying his arm for the long game.

He went the route last Sunday in a six-hit, 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. But with the St. Louis Cardinals and Reds last year he started 10 times and finished only once. His won-lost record was 9-6 and his ERA 3.80 in 116 innings.

The Yanks' Casey Stengel must have been envious of the Reds' pitching. His left-handed ace, Whitey Ford, gave up one run in three innings, then had to retire because of a head cold.

In other Florida day games, the Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 10-5 and the Kansas City A's stopped Pittsburgh 4-3.

In night games, Baltimore defeated Washington 3-2 and the Philadelphia Phillies outslugged the Chicago White Sox 12-11 in the opener of their Puerto Rican series.

The Milwaukee Braves were idle and Los Angeles was rained out of a game with the Dodger All-Stars at Vero Beach.

The hits continued to fly in Arizona where the Boston Red Sox beat the San Francisco Giants 8-6 in 10 innings and the Chicago Cubs outdid the Cleveland Indians 13-12.

Bob Cerv, the A's power man, hit a ninth inning, tie-breaking homer to hand the Pirates their fourth straight loss. Cerv also batted in the tying run in the sixth, and Bob Skinner drove across two for the Pirates.

Al Pilarcik paced the Orioles 10-hit attack with three doubles and drove in two runs, including the decisive tally in the fourth inning off Tex Clevenger.

Al Smith hit three homers and drove in six runs but a late rally by the White Sox fell short. Dick Brown also homered for the Sox and Joe Koppe, B.G. Smith and Jim Coker came through with circuit drives for the Phils.

The Giants hit four homers, including two by Willie Kirkland, but they weren't enough to beat the Red Sox or Allan Worthington, their ex-teammate, who pitched scoreless ball in the ninth and 10th. Haywood Sullivan's two-un double won it for the Red Sox. Kirkland's homers were his seventh and eighth. Giants' Jim Davenport and Orlando Cepeda also homered.

Nineteen of the 25 runs in the Cubs-Indians game were scored on homers, Tony Taylor won it for the Cubs with a three-run shot after two were out in the ninth. Teammates Frank Thomas and Dick Gernert also hit grand slam jobs. For the Indians, rookie Mike De La Hoz homered twice with the bases empty and Tito Francona, John Romano and Bob Hale hit two-run homers.

Toronto Goalie Has Stopped 155 Shots in Series

Detroit Skaters at Full Strength for 5th Game of Semifinals

TORONTO (AP)—Of Johnny Bower it has been said: "He has the ability, the temperament and the guts."

No one is more aware of this than the Detroit Red Wings, who regard the 36-year-old goaltender as the big hurdle in their bid to beat the Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final series here tonight.

At a mellowed age when most players should be drawing pension benefits, Bower has been magnificent, producing the finest hockey of a professional career that goes back 15 years.

The best-of-seven series is tied at 2-2 and Johnny has been great in both victory and defeat. Tonight's engagement is a big one for both teams; victory means an enviable lead with two games to play.

The man who pinned the "guts" label on Bower is Jim Hendy, general manager of the American League Cleveland Barons. Bower toiled for the Barons for eight years before crashing the National League with the New York Rangers in 1953.

Since then he has been knocked from pillar to post, somewhat of an orphan who ended up with the Leafs in 1958 when they were in desperate need of a netminder.

"I don't know why he didn't make it sooner," Hendy once said.

"Our big problem all season has been the tough luck we've had around the net. Take this series. We've had 165 shots on Bower and scored only 10 goals. Bower is good, I'll grant you, but not that good.

Leaf coach Punch Imlach fully realizes Bower's value, especially in this series. He has been unstinting in praise for the five-foot-nine native of Prince Albert, Sask.

Abel figures the Wings can snatch a win tonight and head into tomorrow's sixth game at Detroit with a commanding lead. If needed, a seventh meeting is scheduled for Toronto Wednesday. The series winner goes against the Montreal Canadiens, who beat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 in their best-of-seven semi-final.

"I have plenty of confidence that we can take a game from the Leafs on their own ice and, of course, win the big one at (Detroit) Olympia," Abel said.

The Wings won the first game of the series on Toronto ice. They dropped the next two, at Toronto and Detroit, and deadlocked things at the Olympia last Tuesday.

Both clubs will be at full strength. The Wings have rightwinger John McKenzie and defenseman Marc Reaume ready for action. McKenzie, out five weeks with an injured knee, will split Wing duties with Len Lunde, his playoff replacement, on a line with Norm Ullman and Gary Aldcorn.

One Big Inning Enough for Tigers

Slam Cardinals 10-5 as Wise Leads Offense

Lary's Slump Snapped in 8th Team Victory; Play Braves Today

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers hoped their sudden streak of luck would return today as they faced the Milwaukee Braves.

The Tigers sent 15 batters to the plate at Lakeland yesterday and scored 10 runs against Larry Jackson in the third inning for an easy 10-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The spurt of tallies came on seven hits, three walks and an error. Casey Wise connected for two singles and three others got on base twice during the inning—the Tigers' biggest in the spring campaign.

The setback was the first for Jackson in the exhibition season. He gave up 12 safeties before Lindy McDaniel took over in the seventh to yield one more Tiger hit.

★ ★ ★

Frank Lary got his first exhibition victory, after three defeats, giving up six hits in six innings.

Cardinal rookie Wally Shannon drilled a two-run homer off Lary in the third and St. Louis got another run in the sixth on a walk, fielder's choice and a single by Curt Flood.

Don Mossi was tapped for two more runs in the ninth on a pinch single by Chris Annizzare and a sacrifice fly by Ellis Burton.

The win gave Detroit an 8-9 record in the Grapefruit League and knocked the Cards, with a 13-9 mark, out of the top spot in the standings.

Line score:

NO. 3,000 FOR JACOBS — Trainer Hirsch Jacobs leads Blue Waters, his 3,000th winner, from New York's Aqueduct track Friday after jockey Willie Shoemaker rode the 3-year-old filly to victory in the 2nd race. No trainer is close to Jacobs' record, which started in 1926.

Forty Racers in Grand Prix

200-Mile International in California Sunday Has Top Drivers

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — It will be world champion Jack Brabham of Australia against a powerful array of American drivers in the 200-mile International Grand Prix for sports cars at Riverside Raceway Sunday.

Forty racers are slated to blast away for the $20,000-added purse money.

Also on deck are Ken Miles, 1959 winner of the race, and Richie Ginther, Bill Krause, Chuck Stevenson and A. J. Foyt.

U. S. champion Pabst and Reventlow will pilot Scarabs; Shelby, Loyal Katskee and Bob Drake will drive the much talked about "birdcage" Maserati, while the Ferrari contingent includes Ginther, Dick Morgensen and Jack Nethercutt.

"Special" cars will be handled by Ward, Max Balchowsky, Foyt and Stevenson, while Miles has a Porsche Spyder.

Injury Puts Warfare Out of Derby

By The Associated Press

The Kentucky Derby shaped up as a two-horse race today following the sudden withdrawal of Warfare, 1959 two-year-old champion and one of the three top choices for the May 7 running of the $125,000 added turf classic.

It is still five weeks before the 3-year-olds start the 1¼-mile run at Churchill Downs for fame and gold. But the winter and early spring stakes have failed so far to turn up a serious threat to C. V. Whitney's Tompion and Leonard Fruchtman's Bally Ache.

Tompion, current winter book favorite for the Derby, and Bally Ache, now the second choice, have not been invincible. But they have come up with the big race in the major stakes. Tompion's major triumph was in the Santa Anita Derby. Bally Ache won the Flamingo at Hialeah Park.

The situation could be changed after today's running of the $100,000-added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park. Bally Ache is in the race along with Eagle Admiral, Victoria Park and Venetian Way. Eagle Admiral and Victoria Park beat Bally Ache this year in tune-up races, Venetian Way did it in the Washington Park Futurity last year.

Warfare was declared out of the Kentucky Derby and the two other races of the triple crown series, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, when X-rays disclosed a bone chip in his left hind ankle.

The California speedster was scheduled to make his second Eastern start of the year in today's $25,000-added Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct. Withdrawal of the son of Determine left George D. Widener's Yorktown and the Merrick Stable's John Williams as the favorites for the mile test. Yorktown, second in the Louisiana Derby after finishing first in five straight races, won impressively in his recent Aqueduct debut. John William ran second to Tompion in the Santa Anita Derby.

Tiger Sales Start Monday

DETROIT — The Detroit Tigers will open their advance sale box office at Michigan and Trumbull Monday, April 4, William O. Dewitt, club president, announced today.

The advance ticket booth will be operated daily thereafter from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. until the close of the American League season.

Tickets for any game during the season may be purchased in any quantity at the advance box office.

Meanwhile, the Tigers' ticket department will continue to accept mail orders for any of the 1960 games with assurance of 24-hour service in filling them.

William E. (Billy) Loll, director of ticket sales, today reported a brisk advance mail order business but said there are thousands of seats in favorable locations available for purchase for the opening game of the season with the Chicago White Sox, Friday, April 22, and for all ensuing events.

Ticket prices for Tiger games remain unchanged. Box seats are priced at $3, reserved seats $2. General admission sells for $1.25 and bleachers for 75 cents. Only boxes and reserves are sold in advance.

Fraser and Emerson Net Finalists Today

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Australian Davis Cuppers Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson won semifinal matches in the St. Andrew International Tennis Tournament Friday and will meet Saturday for the title.

Fraser, the U.S. champion, downed Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, while Emerson turned back Luis Ayala of Chile, 6-1, 8-6.

★ ★ ★

Ann Haydon of Britain gained the final of the women's division when she whipped Gwen Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-2, 6-2. She will meet Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., who gained the final Thursday.

Sets World Record

The 18-year-old high school student was clocked in 2 minutes, 34.8 seconds, bettering the world mark of 2:37.1 she set last July 12.

Sugar Ray Fights Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who says "a birth certificate has never proved anything," matches his aging but lithe body against young and rugged Tony Baldoni tonight in a 10-rounder at the Coliseum.

Robinson, who will be 39 on May 3, has visions of retiring as king of the middleweights — where he has reigned as world titleholder five times in the past.

"I'd love to quit with honors if I could—with the title," Robinson said.

The Baldoni scrap is supposed to be a tuneup for Sugar Ray's return bout with Paul Pender in Boston April 29. Pender won a split decision from Robinson last Jan. 22 to win the New York-Massachusetts version of the middleweight championship.

Ohio Kegler Rolls 720

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The standings in nearly all divisions of the 57th American Bowling Congress Tournament were overhauled Friday, but there was only one serious challenge to an established leader.

The most effective barrage of the day was the 236, 226, 258—720 series which earned Dominic Bertolini of Youngstown, Ohio second place in singles. He fell just six pins short of overtaking Cleveland's Paul Kulbaga, who shot 726 on March 24. Bertolini also tied for ninth place in all-events with 1916.

Earl Johnson of the second-place Chicago Hamms, and Richard Skufca of Cleveland each rolled 693 series to tie for fourth place in singles with Vernon Plichta of Muskegon, Mich., who posted 693 a week ago.

Tom Dern of Columbus tied for eighth place in the singles with 685. Dern, 23, has been bowling for only four years. He opened his string with 289—the best game in singles thus far—and added 205 and 191.

Boss Bosco of Akron, who shot 290 in the team event last Wednesday, still holds the high game of the tournament.

The one change in the top 10 doubles standings was accomplished by George Wong and Thomas Fukuda of Detroit whose 1,279 gave them a tie for eighth.

The Plains Electric team of Plains, Pa. rolled 3,006 to take seventh in the open team division. Their games were 968, 995, 1043, and Walt Krywicki set the pace with 647.

A.&A. Asphalt, Birmingham Mich.	3050
Hamm's Beer, Chicago, Ill.	3049
Buddy Simon Signs Co., Cleveland,	3045
Munsean and Hedman, St. Paul, Minn.	3039
Maywood Medical Center, Cleveland	3036
Miller Refrigeration, St. Louis	3030
Plains, Pa. Electric	3006
Central Welding, Lansing, Mich.	2995
Coca Cola, Detroit	2988
Fairlanes Bowling, Fairless Hills, Pa.	2897

Wayne Fencers in Third Place at NCAA Meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — New York University and Navy will battle for points today to determine the NCAA Fencing Championship being defended by the Midshipmen.

Favored NYU piled up 35 points to take the lead Friday but Navy remained in contention with 33.

Wayne State was third with 26 while Notre Dame and Princeton were tied with 25 followed by Illinois and Yale with 24, CCNY 22 and Iowa 21.

Abbey Silverstone of Illinois and Raoul Sudre of Cornell were tied in foil competition with 12-1 records. Navy's Bill Lewis was 12-2 as was Gene Glaeer of NYU.

Jim Powell of Yale took the epee lead with 11-0. Bernie Cauley of Navy and Art Dowd, Michigan State, were tied with 10-2.

Mike Defaro of NYU scored 14 victories without defeat in the saber. Navy's Al Morales was 11-3. John Miller of Wayne State was 10-2.

Hartack Adds 3 Wins

MIAMI (AP) — Jockey Willie Hartack, who rode four winners Wednesday and three on Thursday, came through with another triple at Gulfstream Friday.

Olympic Pair Win at Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Olympians Eddie Southern and Bobby Morrow, trying to regain top form, indicated they were on the way back to the big show in the first day of the Texas Relays.

Southern, the former Texas star who was second in the 400-meter hurdles in the 1956 Olympic Games, had strength and stamina as he sped to a 51.0 clocking in his specialty Friday.

Morrow wasn't as impressive. The Olympic sprint champion was straining badly. But he won the 100 meters in 10.6, running into a 3-miles-an-hour wind, and he beat the fellow who had licked him two times in a row—Jimmy Weaver.

Weaver mildly disputed it, thinking he had won, but Morrow was given the decision by an eyelash as he lunged into the tape to topple the former North Texas State quarter-miler.

HE'S GOT IT — Big Bob Boozer of the Peoria Cats comes down with a rebound as Cleveland Buckner (15) of the NAIA All-Stars watches over his shoulder in Friday night's Olympic basketball trials at Denver, Colo. Peoria won, 89-68, and meets the NCAA collegiate stars tonight for the tournament title.

Peoria and NCAA Stars Gain Olympic Hoop Final

DENVER (AP)—Peoria's tournament-wise AAU champions and the NCAA University All-Stars, bristling with Oscar Robertson and three other All-Americas, battle tonight for the championship of the U. S. Olympic basketball trials.

To the winner will go at least five places, and possibly seven, on the 12-member team that will wear the Stars and Stripes in Rome this summer.

* * *

Robertson and All-America Jerry West poured in 51 points between them to bury Akron's AAU Wingfoots 103-88 in Friday night's second round before 8,500 at the Denver Coliseum.

Peoria, winner of the 1952 Olympic trials, broke out of a 9-9 tie on the shooting of 6-6 Tom Meschery of St. Mary's, Calif. and never trailed the rest of the way in beating the NAIA Small College Stars 89-68.

Ohio State's NCAA champions, spilled by the NAIA club 76-69 in the first round, bounced back with an 89-79 consolation victory over the NCAA College All-Stars coached by Arad McCutchan.

* * *

Bartlesville, Okla., champion of the AAU's National Industrial League, conquered the Armed Forces Stars 88-74 and will play Ohio State in a consolation match this afternoon. The other afternoon contest sends the Armed Forces against McCutchan's NCAA crew.

* * *

The championship game sends Peoria's closely-knit Cats against one of the greatest collections ever of college stars. Besides Robertson, who hit 29 points against Akron, and West, who bagged 22, the NCAA University unit includes two other AP All-Americas, 6-10 Darrall Imhoff of California and Tony Jackson of St. Johns, N.Y.

* * *

Against that array of talent, Peoria sends 6-8 Bob Boozer, 6-9 Don Plunkett and 6-9 John Prudhoe as well as fine outside shooters in Don Ohl, Al Kelley and Howie Crittenden.

Palmer Favored in Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, hailed as the "new Hogan" by some of golf's circuit riders, is the solid title favorite in the 24th Masters Tournament, opening Thursday.

With 1959 champion Art Wall Jr. sidelined by a kidney ailment, most of the sentiment has swung to the thick-necked young professional from Ligonier, Pa., who is leading the current tour both in money winnings and tournament victories.

Rated back of Palmer is the formidable quartet of Dr. Cary Middlecoff, two-time U.S. Open winner who apparently has licked a mid-winter slump; Sam Snead, who captured his 104th tournament victory a week ago at DeSoto Lakes, Fla.; the hot-putting National Open champion Bill Casper Jr., and the dieting ex-footballer, Mike Souchak.

In 11 tournaments so far this year, Palmer, husky son of a professional, has won four tournaments—three of them in a row—and compiled $25,675 in winnings, more than double that of his closest challenger.

* * *

He won this tournament in 1958 and finished third last year when Wall staged a blazing finish to pluck out a triumph with five birdies on the last six holes. A bulldog competitor with hands like hams and wrists like wagon tongues, Palmer is the nearest thing to a dominant figure in golf since Ben Hogan's putting touch starting failing him in 1953.

Hogan, now 47 and burdened with business duties, is in the field again, seeking his third Masters championship, but even the most romantic of observers concedes him little chance.

As usual, the great and near-great of the game—an array of champions from eight nations have gathered for the four-day, 72-hole assault on the Augusta National Course conceived by the immortal Bob Jones and made more famous by the slices of President Eisenhower.

* * *

The ageless Snead is shooting for a record fourth championship as is the 49-year-old Jimmy Demaret, who like Hogan has been dulled by inactivity. Middlecoff, a bust in the Canada Cup matches in Australia last November, has shown a sharp return to form in a rich, nationally televised series.

The Masters will be televised by CBS on the final two days after the field has been cut to the low 40 players and ties. On Saturday, play will be televised between 5 an 6 p.m. EST. On the final day, Sunday, it will go on home screens for an hour and a half, starting at 4 p.m.

* * *

The Masters has three principal patterns built up over the years:

1. No champion ever repeats.
2. No foreigner wins it.
3. No amateur wins it.

With Wall not defending, the first of these traditions is perfectly safe. The same can't be said of the other two.

Withdrawal of Peter Thomson, four-time British Open champion from Australia, reduced the outside threat considerably but the foreign menace remains strong.

The invading list is headed by Gary Player of South Africa, holder of the British Open crown and regarded as one of the world's premier professionals. Also included in the group are Stan Leonard of Canada, 1959 individual champion in the Canada Cup matches; Kel Nagle of Australia, co-winner with Thomson of the Canada Cup team trophy; British Ryder Cuppers Eric Brown of Scotland and Harry Weetman of England; and Mario Gonzales, seven times Brazilian Open champion.

* * *

Eighteen holes will be played daily over the beautiful 6,980-yard, par 72 course.

AAU Swimmers Set Five Records

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — America's top Olympic prospects are killing the experts with joy the way they're murdering records in the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming Championships.

Seven races have been held the past two days, and the records have been walloped in every one of them. Seven races are left today, and anything can happen.

* * *

The assault on the national standards was made by Lt. Jeff Farrell, New Haven S.C., 220-yard freestyle, who lowered the mark to 2:00.2 from 2:01.5; Bill Mulliken, Miami, Ohio, 220-yard breaststroke, 2:34.8 from 2:36.1; Charley Bittick, Southern California, 220-yard backstroke, 2:13.1 from 2:16.1; Mike Troy, Indiana, 220-yard butterfly, 2:12.4 from 2:17.1, and Southern Cal's 400-yard free-style relay team, 3:16 from 3:16.1.

* * *

Farrell, Mulliken and Bittick, who the experts say are almost sure to go to the Rome Olympics, won gold medals in this meet for the first time. Troy, Southern Cal's relay quartet and Sam Hall of Ohio State, the 1-meter diving champ, retained their crowns.

SPLASHY BUTTERFLY — Mike Troy, Bloomington, Indiana, sophomore, breaks through the water at the Yale University pool to win the 220-yard butterfly event in the record time of 2:12.4 to retain his crown. Troy set a new American record and also a National AAU mark in the AAU swimming championships at New Haven, Conn.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Summaries of Friday night's finals in the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships:

220-yard freestyle—1. Lt. Jeff Farrell, New Haven Swim Club, 2:00.2 (American record; old record 2:01.5 by Richard Hanley, Michigan, 1957; Farrell swam 2:01 in trials). 2. Celtics and Hawks Clash Today in Third Playoff

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks are first to admit their chances of dethroning Boston in pro basketball's world series will hinge on their attempt to slow the Celtics' lightning fast break triggered by Bob Cousy.

The two bitter rivals go for the tie-breaker today in their best-of-7 series after a split of two games in Boston. The game will be nationally televised by NBC at 2 p.m., EST.

* * *

Clyde Lovellette, a 6-9 veteran, and Si Green, cat-like backliner who was on the trading block only a month ago, could be the key players in the Hawks' attempt to slow the free-wheeling Celtics.

* * *

If the Celtics great rebounder and shot-blocker, 6-10 Bill Russell, continues to guard Lovellette, the Hawks may keep Clyde outside in an attempt to keep Russell away from the basket. Clyde is a deadly shooter from long range.

* * *

Celtics' Coach Red Auerbach has accused Clyde of holding and grabbing Russell — and getting away with it. Hawks' Coach Easy Ed Macauley scoffed at this, pointing out Russell got 40 rebounds, an NBA playoff record, and 21 points, in the Hawks' 113-103 victory Tuesday.

Green hounded Cousy and the slippery Celtic playmaker had a cold shooting night in Boston's loss.

"The biggest job is to stop him from getting that fast break going," Si said. "I know how great he is because I've been dropping back to guard against him. Outside of that I think I'm faster and can keep up with him."

* * *

Past records prove the Hawks can win if they force the Celtics to play a more deliberate game.

This is the third St. Louis-Boston title playoff in four seasons and the Hawks have won eight, the Celtics seven over that span, including the first two games of this series.

Press Seeks Schedules

Several high school spring sports schedules still have not been sent in to The Press. Including among the missing are Northern, St. Michael, St. Fred of Pontiac, Seaholm and Groves of Birmingham, Waterford, Walled Lake, Farmington, Clarkston, Romeo, Oxford, Ortonville, Troy, Milford, Holly, Cranbrook, Orchard Lake St. Mary and Berkley. There are many others. All schools are urged to send in these schedules immediately.

Rosenmayr Top Performer

AAU Mat Titles Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Rosenmayr of the San Francisco Olympic Club, the AAU's national 191-pound wrestling champion, was voted the outstanding performer in the 1960 national free-style tournament here Friday night.

* * *

Almost 200 wrestlers, from all over the world, participated in the championship tournament. Many will be competing again today in the first round of the Greco-Roman championships.

The New York Athletic Club, with three individual champions, took team honors, followed by the San Francisco Olympic Club and Oregon State College.

* * *

* * *

In addition to Rosenmayr, the outstanding grappler, the 191 pound class also provided the sharpest unknown of the tournament—Dan Brand of Omaha, Neb.

Brand defeated Jim Mills of the Los Angeles YMCA, the third-place 191-pounder, Friday night and, on his way to the finals, pinned Shunichi Kawano, the 191-pound champion of Japan.

* * *

Doug Blubaugh of the NYAC was awarded the 160-pound championship on the basis of a half-pound, He and Fritz Fivian of Oregon State drew in the title match. Under AAU rules, the championship goes to the lighter wrestler. Eight ounces meant the crown for Blubaugh and second place for Fivian.

11th Frame

By CHUCK ABAIR

One of the most familiar names in the American Bowling Congress keg ranks over the past several years happens to be one of Pontiac's best known alley performers.

He is Mitchell A. Calbi, who owns and operates the Calbi Music Store and has sponsored teams by the same name for 12 seasons.

Calbi was recently presented a 27-year plaque at the annual tourney in Toledo and now has his eye set on a big wall award which is given for participants in 30 events. He also holds a lifetime free pass.

It all started in 1930 when "Mitch" took part at Cleveland. His only miss was in '33 when he moved from Detroit to Pontiac and did not get a chance to enter. He has competed throughout the country from New York to Seattle by planning his vacations to go with the tournament.

Not only is the longevity part an ABC highlight, but there is also his bowling record. Calbi has never been a big standout in the classic but has always "been in the money." His highest finish was 17th in doubles one year in St. Paul when he teamed with Richard Dildene for 1266.

Although he calls music his business and bowling only a hobby, the popular native of Yonkers, N. Y. has also done well financially in the big Peterson Classic in Chicago by bringing home cash six of 10 tries. Figures he might as well make his hobby pay off.

CALBI

Calbi is a bowling veteran of 48 years but is still going well. He carries a 189 average in the West Side Classic and a 184 mark in the Huron Classic. His average for one 20-year stretch was 193.

* * *

A 737 among several big series and seven 300 games, all non-sanctioned, are among the thrills "Mitch" will always cherish. His many close friends in the game include Andy Varipapa and Steve Nagy. He has rolled in exhibitions against both pro stars.

The sport has improved tremendously since I started out as a pinboy," says Calbi looking back on the days when alleys were looked down on like beatnik joints are now.

The local 700 chapter and 300 club member is understandably well thought of in ABC circles.

PIN NOTES

There seems to be no end to the new bowling houses being planned for this sector. An establishment will be constructed on Tienken Road west of Rochester Road in Avon Township. Tentative arrangements call for the installing of 24 alleys but the total may go as high as 32.

Lakeland Ladies came up with some good scores at Sylvan Lanes. C. Victor hit 224-559, B. Wallace 204-592, M. Greig 203-567, A. Murphy 535 and J. Meilema 500 on the same night. Harbor Bar leads Sylvan by 2½ points . . . Dale Dillon went from 98 to 222 at Lapeer.

Bill Lees of Morton Grove, Illinois rolled two 156 triplicates within two months . . . A 2618 by Violets is tops for season in Dixie Housewives League . . . Best average in Ladies Huron House belongs to R. Belanger at 159 . . . High school bowling league in 29th year at Rochester, N.Y.

Nieporte Leads by Five Strokes

Finsterwald Would Need Sizzling Finish to Win Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Tom Nieporte was in a new and pleasing position going into today's third round of the $15,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

* * *

The Bronxville, N.C., professional, had a five-stroke lead after 36 holes on a 64-68—132 performance through the first two days.

His edge over runner-up Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., was the biggest halfway lead of the year on the PGA circuit, now 13 tournaments old.

Finsterwald's 66 was the best of the second round in which 25 men bettered par and 12 matched it.

The leaders:
Tom Nieporte	64-68—132
Dow Finsterwald	71-66—137
Gay Brewer Jr.	67-71—138
Dave Ragan	67-73—139
Ed Oliver	69-70—139
Jerry Barber	66-73—139
Jerry Pittman	68-70-141
Don Whitt	72-67—139
Bob Brue	71-68—140
Al Atkins	72-69—141

Flatter Will Appeal Conviction of Murder

DETROIT (UP) — George Flatter, 20, convicted of murdering a housewife, says he will appeal.

A recorder's court jury convicted the youth of first degree murder in the Jan. 22 strangulation of Mrs. Elizabeth Moughler, 46. She was slain as she walked home from an evening at a movie.

Flatter, who faces a mandatory life sentence, said he was "shocked and surprised" at the verdict returned Thursday.

"They just believed the lies the police told them," he said.

* * *

Flatter first admitted killing the woman, then denied it and said police forced the confession from him.

Formal sentencing is scheduled May 5.

Eye Step-Up in Oil Drilling Near Albion

ALBION (UPI) — Oil drilling operations in the Albion area are expected to increase during the summer months because of a strong drill test on a wildcat well northwest of the previous tip of the Albion Township field.

The test was on a well on the Elmer Winter farm, about three and one-half miles northwest of the previous tip of the township oil field.

The well, drilled to 4,236 feet by McClure Oil Co. and Perry Fulk, had gas to the surface in four minutes and oil in 14 minutes.

If the well proves to be a producer, it would be the first brought in in Sheridan Township. The township extends from Albion six miles north.

Considerable drilling would result on three farms and extensive Starr Commonwealth for Boys holdings near the present U.S. 12 if the Winter farm well is finished off as a producer.

The Winter farm is located just north of the Detroit-to-Chicago expressway along a stretch not yet opened to traffic.

The Grizzly Giant, a tree in Yosemite National Park, is 27.6 feet in diameter and is 209 feet tall. It is believed more than 3,000 years old.

Navy Likes Polaris; Wants More Cash

WASHINGTON (UP) — The range of the Polaris missile could be doubled by 1964 if the Navy had a free hand and enough money, the Navy's top admiral says.

* * *

Adm. Arleigh A. Burke, chief of naval operations, said yesterday the submarine-borne Polaris is now calculated to have a 1,200-mile range. This could be boosted to 1,500 within two years and to between 2,000 to 2,500 miles later, he said.

* * *

Burke's estimate was relayed to newsmen by Rear Adm. William F. Raeborn after they testified before a House subcommittee on civil defense. The Polaris, Burke said, offers "the most nearly invulnerable of all nuclear delivery systems."

Casals Comes to U. S.

SAN JUAN, P.R. (UPI) — World-famed cellist Pablo Casals and his wife left here yesterday to keep a four-week engagement to lecture at the University of California at Berkeley, but said he still had not given up plans to visit Fidel Castro's Cuba.

India has the fourth largest rail system in the world with 34,119 route miles in general operation.

Your Neighbor's House

Parade of Model Homes Offered to Local Buyers

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Boom! It's already happening —that housing boom of the Sixties that has been predicted.

In the Pontiac area alone there are between two and three dozen model homes open for inspection. We thought that with spring upon us, you might like to see some of the models pictured. We hadn't counted on muddy roads making access a little difficult in some places. However, many of the models are on paved roads and streets.

You may take our word for it that choosing the pictures to use on this page was not an easy task. We have just scratched the surface. We tried to show homes of all prices; they range from under $10,000 to almost $60,000. We wanted to show a variety of locations. Several are right in or close to Pontiac. Others are in the suburban areas.

There are ranch homes and bi-levels. Interestingly enough, there is only one two-story house in the group. Some experts predict a return to this type of architecture because of expected land shortages.

The trend is toward the larger home. None of the models pictured has less than three bedrooms. Some have as many as five. More than one bath is common.

BASEMENTS ARE BACK

Brick and siding of one kind or another are the choice for exterior construction. More and more homes have basements. The latest Housing Congress showed that women, at any rate, are tired of homes without basements. Builders are listening.

Built-in kitchen appliances are so ordinary now that they excite little comment. However, color is the big talking point here. Gone is the sterile, hospital look of the white kitchen. Now you key your appliance colors to the decorating scheme of the room—when you build.

We have not yet reached the stage of being able to turn the hose on the house for interior cleaning. But every year more labor-saving materials are used. There's ceramic tile in the bathrooms and sometimes in the kitchen. Walls are paneled or often papered in washable paper. Window sills are marble. Areas that get lots of traffic have slate or vinyl tile floors.

Equipment for heating the house and taking care of water needs gets smaller and smaller. It bares no relation whatever to the spider web of pipes that once filled the old basement. In fact, electric heating needs no basement or utility room equipment at all; and this is being used in more and more homes.

Baseboard units are almost universally used. Only a homemaker who has had to keep radiators clean will fully appreciate this blessing.

The picture window has become smaller or has disappeared entirely from homes where there is no view to "picture." But the sliding glass door and the window wall hold their own for rooms

It's Big and Beautiful, Just Right for Living

By DAVID L. BOWEN

From the footbridge over the garden pool to the front-to-rear flagstoned foyer gallery, this plan has the enviable combination of beauty and space that is the ideal setting for graceful living.

The habitable area is 2,392 square feet, large by almost any standard. But if you can stretch the budget—or think someday you will be in a position to build the house you REALLY want — you'll need the Study Plan for B-5 in the House of the Week Series.

Is was designed by Architect Herman H. York, who decided to include in this plan not barely adequate but fully satisfactory space for a modern large family.

To insure an end to circulation problems, he started off with two foyers—one in the front and another at the rear, the latter sunken two steps for glamorous appeal. Four bedrooms are in the wing to the left of these connecting foyers.

L-shaped living and dining room open to the right of the front foyer and a huge 13 by 17-foot kitchen with balconied dinette and U-shaped work counters overlooks the rear foyer. The family room is one step down on the far side of the dining room, connected by sliding glass doors to the great luxurious rear terrace.

The home has 2½ baths on the first floor and provision for a third full bath on the basement level in conjunction with a possible maid's room and recreation room.

Exterior has been given a Colonial air, with 12 and 16-light windows, crossbuck main entrance doors and "gingerbread" treatment at garage windows. Wood shingles, stone veneer and vertical boards and battens under the front gable add to the atmosphere.

The over-all width of the house is 81 feet. Depth is 45'2".

ADDITIONAL DETAILS

One of the many areas of opulence is the master bedroom, a 14 by 17-foot room with full private bath and two walk-in closets. It also has sliding glass doors which lead to a bedroom balcony a few steps up from the garden terrace.

The other three bedrooms are all good-sized and one of these has a walk-in closet. The main bath is handy to all three and has a pair of vanitories separated by a sliding door.

Wrought iron railings accent the glamor of the kitchen dinette and rear foyer area. The bow window insures full visibility over the terrace and a corner is set aside in the kitchen for a planning desk.

Only a difference in level and a railing separate the dining and family rooms, so these two have a visual length of 34 feet.

The two-car garage is extra large to make room for a work bench and storage of garden tools.

The nail-holding power of lumber is greatly increased by proper seasoning, the Southern Pine Association says.

B-5 Statistics

With eight rooms on the first floor, this ranch home offers 2,392 square feet of livable space on the main level. Recreation room and maid's room can be developed in the basement.

There are 2½ baths on the ground floor and provision for another full bath in the basement. Two-car garage is attached.

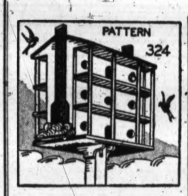
Don't Tear Down Walls, Just Make a Door

Plywood has become the most popular type of material used by home workshop hobbyists, reports the Institute of Home Designers.

Unfortunately, not all workshop enthusiasts are able to use this material because they can't get the big pieces into their workshop. If you have an outside entrance to your basement, however, you will have no difficulty bringing in pieces as large as 4' wide and 12' long.



A COLONIAL MANSION, complete with 28-inch chimneys, verandas and simulated shrubs, has 18 rooms for swallows or martins. Front sections are easy to remove for yearly cleaning. Pattern 324, which gives illustrated step-by-step directions is 35c. This Pattern also is included in the Bird House and feeder Packet 31 containing four popular patterns all for $1.

Good Planning Pays in Locating Baths

The location of the bathroom with reference to the maximum traffic should be given careful consideration in planning a new house. Bad planning may have the result that one bathroom gets 90 per cent of the traffic whereas the other bathroom gets very little use.

As a general rule it is advisable to have all bathrooms accessible from a hall instead of haveing the bathrooms accessible only from one or two bedrooms.

The object in bathroom planning should be to equalize the use of the two or more bathrooms as much as possible, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau advises.

In offering suggestions on bathroom planning, plumbing contractors will usually advise backing up two bathrooms, is possible. This arrangement offers certain economics in piping. It is substantially cheaper than to have two bathrooms located at opposite ends of a hall.

Make It an Asset

Spring Brings Delights but Also Tornadoes

With one of the worst winters on record coming to a close, it may seem downright inconsiderate to regard the advent of spring with anything but enthusiasm.

Like roses, however, the most attractive season of the year has its "thorns" which should not be ignored. In many areas of the nation, tornadoes as well as flowers blossom in the spring. The following admonitions on these dark destroyers are intended not only for those who intend to build this spring, but also for the occupants of existing homes:

Winds at the centers of tornadoes acquire velocities of several hundred miles per hour. Only a hydrogen bomb shelter could survive such a blast. Therefore, you should heed the weather bureau's advice during the tornado season. While twisters erupt swiftly and without warning, modern weather experts use radar and other means to detect dangerous atmospheric symptoms conducive to their development.

Evacuation of "suspicious" areas may not always be practical. But at least, people can heed the broadcast warnings and stay close to "cyclone cellars" or other safe shelter and away from exposed areas.

An ironic fact about tornadoes is that their comparatively weaker peripheral winds often do more damage than the severe gales of the center. While the peripheral winds are 100 to 125 miles per hour in contrast to the 600 to 700 mile-per-hour winds of the center, they cover a much larger area, and their velocity is sufficient to destroy poorly constructed homes.

For maximum protection against peripheral winds, the Southern Pine Assoc. offers these suggestions to the builders and owners of homes to go up this spring:

1. Place a masonry foundation of sufficient depth and be double-sure that the wood structure is firmly anchored to it. Long, iron bolts are effective instruments. If structure and foundation are not firmly joined, the dwelling is susceptible to overturning effects of high winds.

2. Insist on a well-built structural framework, built of good quality, well-seasoned wood. The high natural strength of lumber is a major reason for its almost universal use for residential framing. However, for safety's sake, you should insist on the stronger structural species.

The strength factor will be permanent if you also demand lumber that is pre-shrunk by proper seasoning. This process nearly doubles the natural strength of wood and is your best assurance against shrinkage that might greatly reduce its nail-holding power.

3. Be sure that the floor, wall and roof structures are all closely integrated. An effective medium is a layer of boards, called sheathing, which covers the vertical wall supports and overlaps the top of the floor structure and the base of the roof structure, thus tying together all three. For best results, sheathing should be applied diagonally.

Call for Service After Check-Up

A modern oil burner, properly installed and checked at least once a year, will provide trouble-free operation, automatically, day after day, and year after year. Yet there may be times when the services of an expert maintenance man are needed.

Before calling for service, however, it is advisable for the owner to check certain things to be sure that service is really needed.

The first thing to do is to see if the thermostat is set above room temperature. Naturally the oil burner will not go on if the thermostat is not calling for heat.

Then check all the fuses.

The next place to check is the recycling button on the burner control box. It is usually located on the chimney stack but it may be on the burner itself.

Is the boiler water level O.K.? If the boiler has a low water cut-off, be sure that the water in the boiler guage glass is at the water line.

Is there oil in the tank? Is the oil valve open?

If you cannot start the oil burner after checking all these points, then call an experienced oil burner serviceman.

Loans Available to Fix Kitchens

Investment in kitchen remodeling is not only profitable from a resale standpoint—it also makes for a more efficient, more attractive and convenient house. And as a morale builder for the housewife it's unequaled.

Kitchen remodeling qualifies for an FHA Title I home-improvement loan. You can borrow up to $3,500 with five years to pay. Banks, credit unions and remodeling firms are other sources for obtaining a loan. Better check the interest rates and installment plans carefully, though, before you sign a contract.

A typical kitchen remodeling job consists of trading old appliances for new (some building material as well as appliance dealers are taking trade-ins on new equipment). Installation of a new sink, cabinets, built-in range and oven, dishwasher, disposer, ventilating fan, lighting equipment and ceramic-tiled floor, countertop or backsplashes are among the items that can be included in the $3,500 total.

As a general rule, if you limit your appliance outlay to one-third of your total, you will have enough money to go around for quality cabinets and quality materials. Another major factor is the adequacy of your wiring. If you already have 220-volt wiring in your house you won't have to spend money to bring it in from the street.

Shades of Our Ancestors

NEW YORK (UPI)—Look whats back in home furnishings — the wardrobe cabinet.

Popular sizes are slim and more than six feet tall. They have adjustable shelves in the upper sections, and drawers below.

JUST FOR FUN —, Fitted out with an old wood stove and home-made barrel chairs, this basement recreation room is the reincarnation of an early Pennsylvania Dutch room. An oval fibre rug spread over its vinyl-asbestos tile floor, provides a charming decorative touch at low cost. Taking care of a fibre rug is easy; vacuuming and an occasional shampooing keep it looking like new.

MOVABLE STAND — Here is a movable television stand. On top it has a place for your television set and below a shelf for television programs and magazines. You merely trace the full size pattern on wood, saw out the parts and put them together. To obtain the full size pattern, No. 219, send 75 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press Pattern Dept., Van Nuys, California.

But No August Moon!

NEW YORK (UPI)—Now you can buy a prefabricated Japanese teahouse — furnished! Sizes start at 10 by 10 feet. Prices start at $2,250 (Miya Company, Inc., New York 16).

Aerosol Paint's Easy to Apply

It's hard to beat the new, inexpensive aerosol paint sprayers in cans. They're quick and easy to use for any small job where brush painting is too troublesome. Here are some tips for painting like an expert.

Shake the container first. This builds up the pressure within. If it's a can of colored paint, it probably will have a steel ball inside. Shake it with a twirling motion until the ball rolls freely. This stirs up the pigment.

Use these containers as you would a regular spray gun. First, move your arm parallel to the work, pivoting your wrist to keep the can at a 90-degree angle. Swinging your arm at the elbow produces thick and thin paint spots.

Lap each stroke about one-third over the last. As a rule, you should start at the top of a large object and work from side to side.

Perforated fiberboard tiles can create an attractive ceiling that absorbs 45 to 50 per cent of the noise that strikes it, say building materials specialists.

Strength and Economy

Where a combination of strength and low cost is dictated, Utility grade West Coast lumber is recommended and widely used throughout the nation for boards, studs and framing in home construction.

Common Sense a Guide to Hanging Pictures

What's so difficult about hanging pictures? Nothing really, if you just remember the two important guides of good taste and balance.

There's nothing mysterious about good taste, for most of us possess it. But when it comes to hanging framed pictures on our walls, we are inclined not to trust our "taste."

According to the Picture and Frame Institute's decorating experts, good taste in picture hanging is found in that happy medium that lies between the two extremes of "overhung" and "underhung."

"Overhung" is a common fault in these days of mass picture groupings. When everything but the kitchen sink is thrown into a wall grouping, the end result is likely to be a cluttered, ill-defined grouping that overpowers everything else in the room, including the furniture.

When in doubt, says the Institute, leave it out. A little breathing space between pictures (best obtained by eliminating Aunt Minnie's gift entirely) is calculated to bring about a more pleasing, tasteful setting.

The other taste fault of "underhung" needs less definition, for we've all seen an itsy-bitsy picture hung on a great big wall. Here, the rule is to fit the picture to the wall space—a small picture for a small wall, or a grouping of several small pictures for a larger wall. "Underhung" is easier to correct than "overhung."

Balance, the second guide to picture hanging, means most importantly, balance of design and balance of coordinated color. Design balance can be found by following the "rule of the eye."

If, after standing back and carefully examining the picture setting in relation to the rest of the room, it looks harmonious, it probably is. But if the eye is continually drawn to one part of the grouping only, or to the furniture beneath it, then a little readjustment is needed to balance the grouping.

Coordinated color balance is usually obtained by having framed pictures pick up a color from some other object in the room. This can be a pillow, or a color in your draperies or rug, or a chair covering.

PHONE SHELF — The pattern for this phone shelf shows how to make the bottom compartment any size to fit any one or any number of directories. When you have it all finished and on the wall, with a small planter on top, you'll find it to be not only convenient, but also very good looking. The one pictured was made from birch plywood, however, you may use any material that you prefer. It may be finished to harmonize with your other furnishings. The pattern lists the required materials along with easy to read directions and lots of illustrations to help you. To obtain the full size telephone shelf pattern, No. 215 send 75 cents in coins to Steve Ellingson, Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Fireproof Roof Shingles

A new fireproof asphalt shingle composed of four layers of weatherproof materials is now available to homeowners. Fire prevention experts of Allied Chemical's Barrett Division say "Bar-Fire" shingles, originally designed for the buildings and churches, are now being used in the construction of custom homes.

Expert Hangs Table From the Ceiling

A working model of Walter R. Bush's guitar-shaped table was displayed at a recent food symposium here before going on a national tour of museums and department stores. The table, with a melamine top in a wood-grain finish, hangs from the ceiling on a series of slender rods placed so they don't interfere with across-the-table visibility.

Bush said he chose the guitar shape to seat two to eight diners "in sociable proximity."

Other innovations included a self-contained ceiling and table-edge lighting system, a center well with a fountain for flower arrangements, a built-in telephone connection, twin electric warmers, and a pop-up television set. Switches for all these were concealed beneath the table.

Build Custom Bookcase Around Upright Piano

Custom-built bookcases around the piano provide a neat and interesting solution to a living or recreation room storage problem. For a handsome appearance, cover the bookcases with hardboard paneling in a distinctive woodgrain. The bookcases can be built to fit the available space from stock lumber or plywood, and faced with a sheet of the plastic-surfaced hardboard. Each shelf should be topped with this material for good looks and easy cleaning.

The family room is here to stay. That's our own personal opinion. But it seems we have reverted to a former era when Grandma had a parlor she kept nice for company. In homes with family rooms the living room can be kept in better condition since the family spends most of its time in the former rooms. Togetherness has both advantages and disadvantages. Having two rooms for entertaining is such a help.

We can think of no period in recent years when buyers have had the choice of so many new homes. We're a nation of movers. We need more space; the breadwinner's job shifts to a new location; we need less space as the children grow up and leave home; we just want a new house. Whatever our reason for moving, we have a large choice of new houses.

What will satisfy one family is wrong for another. But quality always speaks for itself. And one of the best ways to discover a quality home is to inspect a good many of those offered. Builders are anxious to sell, but buyers will do well to be reluctant to buy until they are sure they have the best house for their money.

In the coming weeks we shall endeavor to show as many of the new homes offered for sale in the Pontiac area as we can. Go model visiting. Then you'll get the home you want at the price you want to pay. We wish you all happy house hunting.

New Synthetic Is Rugged, Practical

Tents, tarpauling and sleeping bags, wading pools, boat covers, awnings, patio canopies and cabanas are among the many leisure products being manufactured from a new synthetic called Weblon — new accessories to the outdoor life Americans love.

The new product, manufactured from B. F. Goodrich Koroseal vinyl reinforced with either dacron, nylon or fiberglas, depending on the product involved, proved rugged and practical under exhaustive actual use tests, its makers said.

Weblon is claimed to be lightweight, waterproof, dirt-resistant and impervious to stains. Since "built-in" pigment, rather than dye, is a feature of Koroseal vinyl, Weblon's wide range of gay colors will not fade when exposed to sunlight, the announcement said, adding that it is "ideal for upholstery on garden furniture."

Colorful Weblon awnings, opaque or translucent to let light in while shielding interiors from glare, remain flexible even when exposed to extreme temperatures for lengthy periods. And any Weblon product may be stored wet or dry without fear of rot or mildew, said its manufacturer, Weblon, Inc., 11 West 42nd St., New York 36, N. Y.

Plumbing Booklet

The basis of all plumbing is piping. It is important that all piping be adequate in diameter, durable, leakproof, that all joints be tight, and that the piping be pitched or slanted so that it can be drained. These are a few of the suggestions offered in a booklet "What You Should Know About Plumbing" published by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. Price of the booklet is 10 cents.

The Golden Gate Bridge here was opened for use in 1937. It has a channel span of about 4,200 fet.

Homes Demand Paint Planning

Conceding that it is part and parcel of the house package, the sensible thing is to plan painting just as carefully as any other major phase of the overall construction job. Only in that way can you realize the full aesthetic value while minimizing the frequency of future repaint jobs.

While most popularly associated with wood, paint is often applied to metal, masonry, plaster and the like. How well it performs depends as much on the way the house is built, as on the quality of the paint and the paint job.

Paint is allergic to moisture; the first prerequisite of a long-lasting paint job is a moisture free background. This emphasizes the need for a tight, well-constructed dwelling.

Regardless of the nature of the painted surface materials, the subsurface structure is of lumber. If the latter is pre-shrunk by proper seasoning, the structure is tight and stable, while its members are virtually free of moisture. Such sound basic conditions are essential to paint durability.

The same criteria apply to the materials to be painted. If it's wood siding, the lumber should be well seasoned. If it's cement or plaster, the surface should also be thoroughly dry.

Sun and rain are the principal enemies of paint on the exterior walls and windows. Protection from both is provided by surrounding the house on all sides with a big roof overhang, which is also an attractive architectural device.

The paint industry has developed many new formulae which provide infinite color variety and long-lasting qualities. While not as durable as paint, natural finishes for wood show excellent service records, particularly on the home interior.

Applied to "dry" Southern Pine paneling, a good natural finish will last two decades or more before a refinishing job is required.

Tile Installation Easier With New Methods

Until recently installing ceramic tile included a preliminary soaking of the tile in a tub of water. Now this step is unnecessary if the contractor uses a new dry-set mortar developed by the domestic tile industry. The new mortar holds in moisture and eliminates the need for pre-soaking the tiles.

Another installation advantage developed by the industry is the use of paper backing for the small mosaic tiles. The backing allows the contractor to lay whole sheets of tile at once.

White Will Wash

Don't be timid! If you like the distinction and beauty epitomized by the elegant "white look" currently sweeping the home decorating field, by all means have it. In this era of easy washability, your white furnishings can always look immaculate.

Times Have Changed

In the sixteenth century, the English Guild of Painters had a charter which forbade anyone who did not have seven years apprenticeship from doing any painting —except for amusement. What a difference in the twentieth century U.S., where a very large portion of interior and exterior painting is done by "do-it-yourselfers" who find that today's quality paints make it easy for them to achieve professional-looking results.

BUILT IN 1949 — The Fredrick Garneaus built this cement block and brick four-room house as a summer home in 1949. They had bought the land as newlyweds. Booklet Spells Out Jobs of Brokers, Counselors

A broker's main job is to help you sell or buy a house. A counselor advises how a property can be used most wisely or profitably.

Brokers and counselors are but two kinds of realtors, according to The National Association of Real Estate Boards. It described their work and the jobs of other realtors in a booklet called "The Challenge of Real Estate."

Sometimes one person qualifies as both a broker and appraiser, or broker and property manager. This is especially true among realtors who handle residential properties.

When it comes to big, high-priced commercial and industrial properties, specializations become more refined. In fact, the booklet separates brokers into three kinds — real estate, farm and industrial.

A real estate broker matches up buyers and sellers. To do this well he must know the local properties for sale and the buyers' needs and ability to pay. A good broker "develops a keen knowledge of the neighborhoods he serves — current sale prices of various types of property, architectural styles, construction methods, the comparative advantages of different locations within the neighborhood. He learns tax and utility rates, building and zoning restrictions, and street and highway plans."

Brokers' commissions vary but average 5 per cent of the sale price, according to the association. It says that for a young man entering the real estate business "the sky's the limit . . . five figure incomes are common."

Farm brokers must know such things as soils, planting seasons, water supply, drainage, erosion and other things influencing a farm's potential productivity.

★ ★ ★

An industrial broker needs to be versed in such things as local labor supply, electric power, water supply, local taxes, zoning rules and transportation facilities.

★ ★ ★

Real estate counselors study the best possible use for a property. They usually are retained as consultants, often by banks or other trustees of inherited property. Counseling is the newest fulltime specialization in real estate, according to the National Association.

Wall to Wall Carpeting Can Be Cleaned at Home

But it's safer to dry-clean than to shampoo tacked-down carpeting, a professional carpet cleaning company says. The dry-cleaning is done by sprinkling a specially-developed compound on the carpet, a small area at a time.

Actually, the compound is a combination dry and wet cleaner. Wet-cleaning agents, which make it slightly damp, attack water-soluble stains such as food, and dry-cleaning agents dissolve grease stains.

The compound is brushed into the carpet with an electric brush, which can be rented at small cost from a professional rug cleaner. A final vacuuming removes both the compound and dirt from the carpet.

The dry-cleaning method was developed because it doesn't require rinsing, as shampooing does. Evidence of how important it is to rinse shampoode rugs — professional cleaners use 200 gallons of rinse water on each 9 x 12 foot rug they shampoo.

Yet, trying to rinse a wall-to-wall carpet on the floor can ruin it. Water that soaks through the rug backing may dissolve a brown stain, allowing it to permeate the rug's surface. Professional carpet cleaners avoid this by suspending wet rugs in a drying room surrounded by a continuous stream of warm air which simultaneously dries the backing and nap.

To convince dubious homemakers that dry-cleaning works, the manufacturer of one compound used it to clean a rug walked on by 1.5 million persons in New York's Pennsylvania station. The soil removed was supposedly equivalent to what an average family could leave on a rug in 18 years.

Both rugs were nylon, but the dry-cleaning compound used is recommended for all carpet fibers. It also can be used in any quantity and as frequently as necessary, which is important for today's many light-colored carpets.

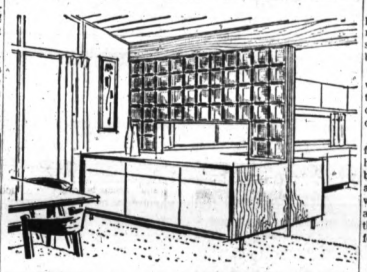
Better Floors Sought by Research Group

Lumber manufacturers are taking an historic step in a search for new methods of construction of wood flooring systems at reduced costs.

Carpenters build joist floor systems today the same as they did a century ago. So far, builders have never been able to improve on the old tried and true method for building wood floors.

What the Timber Engineering Company of Washington, D. C., will try to discover in this research into new engineering is a system of building wood floors at lower cost, yet floors which retain all the advantages of wood.

Wood floors have warmth, resiliency which makes them easy on the feet of the housewife who is walking and standing all day. The new floor system must keep these two main advantages which wood enjoys over masonry or other hard walking floor systems.



FUNCTIONAL BEAUTY — Practicality and beauty are the keynotes to this handsome kitchen-dining area divider. The sliding door cabinets provide plenty of much-sought storage space and double as a serving counter between the kitchen and the dining area. For maximum light and minimum maintenance, translucent glass block are used to complete this functional divider. Using glass block allows the size of the "pass through" opening to be adjusted to the family needs. Steel plate installed above opening provides support for glass block above it. Quarter-round moulding is used to finish-off panel perimeter and can be painted in any color or stained to match the cabinets.

One Wall Can Be Focal Point

If your living room lacks a fireplace, picture window or other main point of interest, don't despair — there's hope for even a blank wall!

A blank wall, in fact, is just what you need to create an attention-getting display of your decorating skill that will be the talk of your neighborhood.

First, select a wall area about four feet wide and floor-to-ceiling height. Remove a section of the baseboard and chalk out a small area on the floor as wide as your wall section. This will give you areas of thirty-two square feet for the wall and eight to ten square feet for the floor.

Attach a standard sheet of plywood to the wall area with molly screws or toggle bolts, and over this cement small units of a decorative material like ceramic tile. Use an organic type adhesive obtainable from your tile contractor.

The range of colors and designs available in decorative ceramic tile is practically unlimited. It includes everything from traditional to modern, glazed or unglazed, plain or three-dimensional surfaces. You can use an all-over pattern of one basic tile design, or mix your tiles in a regular or random fashion.

Carry your tile-panel design on to the floor area again using the organic type adhesive. This will give you a waterproof area for potted plants.

Precut Stone

Modern methods of precutting natural stone in lightweight, easy-to-handle pieces have made a wide variety of decorative types practical for home use. The color range is wide and beautiful for either fireplaces or room dividers.

Roller Painting

When painting with a roller, pour a small amount of paint into the deep end of the tray. Work the roller into the paint until there is even distribution. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the wall. Apply the paint in slow, smooth strokes, first rolling up, then rolling down. Always work from a dry area into a wet one. Avoid quick, heavy uneven strokes which will cause spatters or bubbles.

Budget Plan Helps With Oil

Fuel oil dealers have originated a budget plan which makes payments for heating oil easier by leveling them out. The advantage of this plan is that the owner will avoid getting big peak season bills.

* * *

December, January, and February are usually the coldest months — the time when everybody uses the greatest amount of heating fuel. Ordinarily this means that the largest heating bills come just at the time when they are least welcome, that is, right after heavy Christmas expenses.

To avoid this difficulty, fuel oil dealers have worked out a simple, monthly payment system which enables the householder to equalize his heating costs over several months.

Under this plan the dealer estimates the owner's total heating bill for the year on the basis of past experience, the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau explains.

This total amount is then divided into a series of equal monthly payments. At the end of the season, if the weather changes the estimate of total consumption, the difference (probably very slight) is adjusted.

* * *

Thus the owner is never faced with a big fuel bill. The plan does not involve interest or carrying charges.

GARNEAUS' HOUSE TODAY — The Garneaus are now retired and have come to Oakland county to live. Their six children don't recognize the family place anymore. Federal Modernization put mural stone and vertical aluminum siding on the exterior. Inside, they remodeled the fireplace with the same mural stone. Aluminum awnings and a new combination storm and screen door, as well as a new garage, were finishing touches. Note the family initial too.

Portable Jig Saw New, Versatile

A versatile new portable electric jig saw which features the power to cut 6-inch lumber as easily as it handles precision scroll work in thin materials is the newest home, farm, and shop tool on the market.

* * *

The new Speedsaw, Thor Model 444, has been introduced by the Speedway Division of Thor Power Tool Co., LaGrange Park, Ill., Vice President J. B. Dempsey announced. The powerful 4.5-amp jig saw is supplied with six blades — four for wood-cutting and two for metal work, a rip guide with circle-cutting provision, and a protractor which permits angle cuts to 45 degrees.

Heavy-duty sawing is accomplished by a 7½-inch blade with three teeth to the inch which will cut a 6x6 at 90 degrees or a 4x4 at 45 degrees. A 2¾-inch scroll-type wood blade which has 10 teeth to the inch handles the precision cut-outs. Blades also are supplied for other types of wood-cutting and for a variety of metal cutting.

The new jig saw weighs 7½ pounds, is 8 inches long, 6¾ inches high, and produces 2,400 strokes per minute, requiring 115-volts on either AC or DC current.

* * *

Construction features also include an oversize safety switch, all ball- and needle-bearing construction, universal series-wound motor, 10-foot 3-conductor lead cord, side knob handle, and polished diecast aluminum housing.

In addition to its circular and jig-sawing capabilities, the Thor 444 also can be used as keyhole, hack and coping saws.

To move a newly dug shrub without disturbing roots excessively, load the shrub on a scoop or snow shovel and drag it to the new spot.

Hot Water Heating Is Safe, Durable

One of the important advantages of a hydronic or hot water heating system is its durability. Because a hot water boiler is backed by water, it cannot burn out. In this respect it is like a teakettle.

Thus a boiler, because it contains water, will normally last the life of a house. The pipe that carries water in a hot water heating system is copper or galvanized steel, both of which have a long life. Similarly the heat distributors are made of enduring metal.

The long life of a hot water heating system is recognized by the FPHA, the FHA, the VA, and by loan companies and banks, says the Plumbing-Heating-Cooling Information Bureau.

Thus, when considered in terms of its long life, a hydronic or hot water heating system actually costs less to own than some other systems which must be replaced periodically, the Bureau points out.

In addition to its durability, a hot water heating system has other advantages. It is clean, quiet, safe compact, easily controlled, and it provides comfort without drafts or any other awareness of heat or air movement.

Try Hair Bleach to Clean Grout Lines of Tile

Ordinary hair bleach can be used to clean the grout lines of ceramic tile. Grout is the fine white cement used to fill tile joints. If left untended for some time, grout lines may develop stubborn stains, but they can be removed with a toothbrush and bleach.

However, don't get over-ambitious. All cement naturally turns a little gray with age. In reality, this mellowing of the grout lines' shade—say, from bright white to oyster white—contributes to the final attractiveness of the installation.

If you have a concrete floor in your basement, place a rubber mat in front of the fuse box to prevent shocks when replacing a burned-out fuse.

Build In With Paint

If you like the effect of built-in bookshelves, but are not a hammer and nail fan, visit the unfinished furniture departments. There are various styles and sizes of bookshelves available which can be stacked on top of each other and grouped along the wall. Paint the shelves the same color as the wall to achieve the "built-in" look.

Here's The Answer

QUESTION: I have several projects on tap for the spring and summer and plan to use plywood. I have never used it before and would appreciate if you could answer a few questions for me. (1) Which face should be up when sawing plywood? (2) What size nails should be used for plywood joints? (3) What do the letters (A-D, B-B, etc.) stamped on plywood panels mean? (4) Will exposed plywood come apart where the panels are glued together?

ANSWER: (1) For handsawing, turn the good side up and use a sharp saw with 10 to 15 points to the inch. Support the panel firmly. With a table saw, keep the good side up and use a sharp combination blade or a fine-tooth one without too much set.

Let the blade protrude above the plywood just the height of the teeth. Keep the good side down when using a portable circular saw and be sure the saw blade is sharp.

(2) Nail size is determined primarily by the thickness of the plywood you are using. In combination with glue, use these sizes for best results: for ¾-inch plywood, 6 penny nails; for ⅝, 6 penny or 8 penny; for ½, 4 penny; or 6 penny; for ⅜, 3 or 4 penny; for ¼, use ¾-inch nails or one-inch brads. And remember that plywood does not hold nails or other fastenings well when driven into the end grain.

(3) The letters describe the appearance grade of the veneer used for the face plys. A-D means the panel has one face of the highest appearance, grade A, and one of the lowest, grade D. This panel would be used where only the A face would show. A and B faces are more expensive. C and D faces are used where they will be covered with another material; for instance, as underlayment for a floor or as roof sheathing.

(4) Exterior type plywood, for outside use, is made with waterproof glue. The wood veneers, however, are like all wood and can be injured by moisture. This moisture can be kept out with paint.

QUESTION: Is it possible to put a frosting on ordinary glass?

ANSWER: Yes, almost all hardware, paint and lumber dealers sell a special paint to frost ordinary glass. Before applying, be sure all dirt has been removed and all paint spots scraped from the glass.

QUESTION: I want to make a cabinet with sliding doors, but I have a limited amount of tools and none to make grooves. I know I can handle the cabinet but have my doubts about the sliding doors.

ANSWER: To make sliding doors operate properly without cutting grooves, merely make grooves on the surface of the wood. Do this by nailing and gluing strips of molding inside the cabinet where the doors are to slide.

Attach the molding strips parallel to each other, but separated enough so that the door edges fit between them. In other words, you build the grooves rather than cut them.

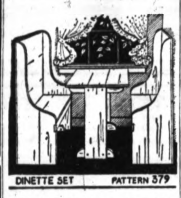
QUESTION: We have an old fiber rug that is still in good condition but has faded considerably. I have been told that it can be painted. What kind of paint should be used?

ANSWER: Use a canvas or awning paint. If this is a full room-size rug, you have quite a job on your hands for two reasons. One is that the paint must be spread carefully so that it gets inside the weave openings. The other is that some of the paint may go right through the rug, so papers must be spread underneath it during the painting, which is quite an undertaking with a large rug.

Still another drawback to painting a room-size rug is that it can't be walked on for at least a day and preferably two. As long as you understand what you're up against and are willing to undertake the task, you should get good results.



DINETTE SET PATTERN 379

OLD-FASHIONED SETTLES with high backs make ideal room dividers to set off a cozy nook for informal meals, work or games. Pattern 379, which gives actual-size cutting guides and directions for the settles and matching table shown here, is 35 cents. This pattern also is in the Kitchen Remodeling Packet No. 17 which is full of ideas with complete directions for $1.

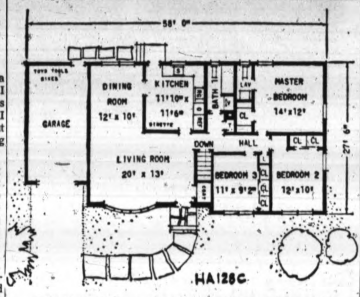
Change Bathroom Color With New Resin Finish

Through a new process, bathroom porcelain and tile can be resurfaced in new colors for about $150. The process involves the use of a resin which has the durability and appearance of porcelain. It is as permanent as the original porcelain and also is skid resistant. The material also fills nicks and chips on porcelain surfaces.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS



SMART RANCH — This three bedroom ranch combines a practical layout and attractive exterior of stone and shingles. The attached garage off the living and dining rooms adds to the long, trim appearance. The plan, HA128C, is by Architect Lester Cohen, Room 75, 117 W. 48th St., New York 36, N. Y., and has 1,230 square feet of floor space.

Home Buyers Should Get Good Specific Contracts

An article by Walter Stern says "next to your marriage license, the contract with your builder is probably the most important document you'll ever sign."

Stern continues: "The more specific your contract, the less area for misunderstanding or disagreement there will be. To obtain a good contract, have your lawyer with you when it is drawn up and signed."

The author points out that in buying a development house, the purchaser is making a two-fold contract, one phase covering house construction, the other the purchase of a piece of land — "a consideration you should not take lightly."

Stern adds: "This means that you should have your lawyer check into such questions as zoning, restrictive covenants, easements and possible assessments for local improvement. Since the streets are not usually paved when you first visit the model house, and utilities, such as sewers, electrical lines, and water supply, have not been installed you must be absolutely certain that the builder assumes full responsibility for completing these land improvements."

The article also points out that "at the time you sign your contract, you are usually required to make a cash deposit toward your down payment, possibly 10 per cent of the purchase price. In most cases the builder will absorb this money into his working capital, an arrangement that is so prevalent in most areas that you have to accept it."

Stern says the procedure is different when building a custom house. He advises that selection of an architect and a contractor is the first important step and "a good, tight contract is the second." One of the safeguards he urges is a completion bond.

"Be generous and tell the builder that you will pay for the bond yourself; the cost is not high; all you want him to do is post it," the author writes.

New Plug-In Heat Compact and Silent

A new line of baseboard electric heating being introduced this year by the Westinghouse Electric Corporation will feature "plug-in" sections designed to reduce the time necessary for installation.

Adaptable to both new and existing homes, the units are available in two-toned charcoal and beige colors. They can be painted to match room decor where desired. A control section approximately nine inches long, has a built-in thermostat adjustable from 50 to 90 degrees which regulates the heating sections, maintaining the room temperature within a range of two degrees Fahrenhit.

Compact and silent in operation, the Westinghouse units may be used as the sole heating source in a house or as a supplementary source in the case of an addition or an enclosed porch, for example.

The units have a heat output of 250 watts per foot of length while the surface remains comfortable to the touch. Six and one half inches high and two and one quarter inches deep, the baseboard sections are easily mounted on any wall surface.

As of March 1, a total of 34,002,953 acres were registered as Tree Farms in the Southern Pine producing states. This was 66 per cent of the nation's total.

Keep Ceilings Light, Simple

Ladies, don't look down on your ceilings — they can be decorative and exciting!

If you don't believe it, think of the inspired church ceilings you've seen. Their vaults and upward sweeps set the whole mood and atmosphere of worship, and help to make the altar the focal point of the entire interior.

Now, even if you're not blessed with a "cathedral" type ceiling so often found in the modern split-level, you still can put your ceiling to work for you.

In general, ceilings should be light in color in order to give maximum reflection of light. This rule is especially important in a north-facing room. They should also be as flat as possible. Old ceilings with unnecessary moldings, ornamentation and recesses may interfere with lighting. Added to this is the difficulty of cleaning and redecorating them.

For a ceiling that requires practically no maintenance and lends itself to any number of design ideas, try a surfacing-material like ceramic tile. Real tile, either in the form of small mosaics or other sizes, can be applied over old plaster or wallboard. Even a beamed ceiling can use tile — preferably in lighter shades.

To Renew Leather

Leather upholstery will look like new if, after wiping with a damp cloth, you rub the leather with a cloth that has been dipped into the beaten white of an egg. When dry, rub the leather with clean cloths.

Romney Assails State's Parties

Claims Citizen Apathy Has Led Us to Verge of Political Bankruptcy

LANSING (AP)—Michigan is "on the verge of political bankruptcy," American Motors President George Romney said last night.

"Minority pressure groups have moved in and dominated both political parties," he told the annual meeting of the Michigan Education Assn.

Romney said the state's troubles "grew out of excessive partisanship and the neglect of political affairs by citizens."

He added that the founders of the "Citizens for Michigan" committee which he heads envisioned creating an influence in the state greater than any minority influence.

"That is what the two political parties are currently," Romney said. "They are minority influences because of citizen political apathy."

The Citizens Committee, he continued, gives the people a chance to determine the state's needs "on the basis of their citizenship responsibility rather than on the basis of which economic group they belong to."

The auto maker told his teacher audience their profession "is superior to any in importance, with the exception of the clergy."

Mother, Neighbor Save 3 Tots in Fire

SAGINAW (AP)—A mother and a neighbor teamed to rescue three of the woman's children, trapped in a blazing second-story bedroom.

She rushed up the stairs to be met by smoke and flames.

Mrs. Parham took Jessie Mae, 6; John, 5, and Brian, six weeks, to the home of a neighbor. Then she and the neighbor, Henry Hervey, ran back to the Parham home.

Hervey climbed to the roof of a shed, smashed the bedroom window and climbed in through the smoke and flames. He found the children unconscious on the floor. One by one he carried them to the window and dropped them to the mother on the ground.

Firemen arrived in time to give the children oxygen and they were treated and released at a local hospital.

Grandparents Tiff Over Custody

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Paternal and maternal grandparents of the four children orphaned by the sudden deaths of singer Mario Lanza and his widow are locked in a courtroom battle for custody of the youngsters.

★ ★ ★

Lana's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Cocozza, won complete and exclusive guardianship of the children in Superior Court last March 14. But friday May Hicks, mother of the singer's wife, filed a motion to share custody. At stake also is guardianship of the children's estate. Whoever controls it will have a say in handling the singer's multimillion dollar estate.

★ ★ ★

Lanza, 38, died of a heart attack in Rome last Oct. 7. His widow, Betty, 37, died March 11 at her Beverly Hills home of natural causes. Surviving are Colleen, 10; Elisa, 8; Damon, 6, and Mark, 4.

Cheer Beverly Aadland in Her Singing Debut

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Beverly Aadland, teen-age playmate of the late Errol Flynn, made her night-club singing debut last night before a packed house at the Sundown Club.

The 17-year-old blonde, whose opening show was canceled Wednesday because she lacked a work permit, appeared on the stage for one hour dressed in a high-necked black gown and singing old standards. She sang six encores and took 15 bows.

In a 20-minute solo performance, she sang "The Lady Is a Tramp," "That Old Black Magic," "It's the Wrong Time" and "You're All Right With Me" among other songs.

New Designation for Auburn Heights

Will Be Branch of Pontiac PO

The Auburn Heights Post Office will become a classified branch of the Pontiac Post Office on April 30, it was announced today.

Mail delivery service will be extended to some 700 homes in a 20-block area in Auburn Heights that did not have delivery before.

Auburn Heights residents will be able to maintain their Auburn Heights address or use the Pontiac mailing address, as they wish.

It is expected that Mrs. Marian G. Decker, Auburn Heights postmaster, will become superintendent of the branch.

Mrs. Decker, a postal employe for 42 years, became acting postmaster of Auburn Heights in 1955 and received Senate confirmation in September 1957.

There may not be enough difference in the pay of a postmaster of a second class post office and that of a superintendent of a first class post office branch to effect Mrs. Decker's salary appreciably.

She said she did not know yet what it would be.

"Patrons may retain their Auburn Heights identity for mailing purposes," said William Donaldson, Pontiac's newly appointed acting postmaster.

"Those that want delivery service on their streets will be required to erect rural type boxes at the edge of the road in front of their homes.

Patrons who want to give up their post office boxes for delivery service will be required to file a change of address card from the present box number to their street and number.

"Mail canceled at the branch office will still show an Auburn Heights postmark and window hours will remain the same."

Donaldson said mail will be delivered to the Auburn Heights street address whether it be addressed to Auburn Heights or Pontiac.

"Notified" articles may be received at the Auburn Heights branch, rather than at the Pontiac Main Post Office as has been the case.

Box rents will be changed to conform with the rate schedules set up for the Pontiac Post Office, Donaldson said.

Elect CMU Registrar to Be Head of MEA

LANSING (AP)—George N. Lauer, registrar of Central Michigan University, Mt. Pleasant, Friday was elected president of the Michigan Education Assn. (MEA).

He will take office July 1, 1961, succeeding Fred Vescoloni, an assistant professor of education at Michigan State University.

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear dad, Walter P. Gay who passed away 5 years ago April 2

Please God, dry our tears.
Our secret wish that dad was here.
Our memories are treasures.
That no one can steal.
But death is a heartache
That no one can heal.
Time's are other deaths.
Yes, we know
But he was our dad,
And we loved him so.
Sadly missed by son Douglas and daughter Christine Hall.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear father, Charlie Pillin, who passed away, April 1, 1959.

Sweet memories will linger forever;
The sunset and the dawn is true;
Years that may come cannot sever,
My loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by George and Mary Bowdish.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ALFRED D. Britton, who passed away 1 year ago, April 2, 1959.

The pearly gates were opened,
A gentle voice said, "Come."
And with farewells unspoken,
He passed into eternal home.
Sadly missed by wife, Hazel.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF NEWTON Burch, who passed away 1 year ago April 1, 1959.

His cheerful way and pleasant face,
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kind word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we'll clasp his hand in the better land.
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by wife, Henritta Horrall.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CARL Dipson who passed away 1 year ago April 1, 1959.

The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never will the one I love,
From my heart stray.
Sadly missed by wife, Lucille.

Jet Service to Moscow Inaugurated by British

MOSCOW (AP)—A British European Airways Comet jet roared into Vnukovo Airport today to inaugurate its London-Moscow jet service.

Aboard the plane, the first regularly timetabled foreign jet to land in Moscow, was British Ambassador Sir Patrick Riley.

AT WELLAND CANAL—The 5,000-ton lake freighter Burlington slips into Lock 1 of the Welland Canal at Port Weller, Ont., Friday. It was the first ship in 1960 to begin passage through the waterway connecting Lake Ontario and Lake Erie. Bound from Toronto to Ashtabula, Ohio, to load coal, the Burlington entered the canal about a half-hour after navigation started at 8 a.m.

California Delegation Qualifies for Nixon

Some 10,555 valid signatures are needed to qualify the delegation. Nixon backers said 29,085 names were filed with voting registrars in Los Angeles and in 11 other counties throughout the state.

Danes-Manned Nike Unit Ready for NATO Use

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — A Danish-manned Nike air defense unit became operational here Friday. Maj. Gen. Valdemar Jacobsen, chief of the Army staff, said it is the first non-American Nike unit to be ready for duty in any NATO nation.

The unit consists of four batteries placed in a circle around Copenhagen. It is part of the air defense of the Danish capital and most of Zealand, Denmark's second largest island.

Tasmania in the South Pacific was named for Abel Janszoon Tasman, a Dutch navigator. He also discovered New Zealand and the Fiji Islands.

Hams Offer Radio Course

The Cocoa Club, a civilian group of amateur radio operators in Oakland County, will conduct a radio theory study course for persons interested in ham radio, it was announced today.

The club had its own beginnings two years ago at the Pontiac Naval Reserve Training Center, 469 S. East Blvd., where it still meets every Monday evening.

Persons interested in the radio course may attend the club's meeting at 7:30 p.m. this Monday or the following Monday.

The course officially will start Monday, April 18, with classes being held each Monday at the center from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

The aims of club members is to enlarge the population of qualified ham radio operators in the county by passing their own training and knowledge on to others.

STUDY HELPED TEACHERS

The local reserve unit gave birth to the club two years ago when it offered its radio transmitting and receiving equipment for use during instruction classes at the center.

"It is a well established fact that ham operators would play a vital role in the event of any disaster, natural or manmade," said Lt. Cmdr. William C. Remick, commander of the center.

Civil Defense officials also emphasize the important role that ham operators could play in warning of a disaster and helping to channel emergency aid to disaster areas.

'FUN WORTH EFFORT'

"Just the fun and enjoyment derived from hours as a ham are worth the effort," says Loren Bush, a club official.

There are only two requirements for enrollment in the course.

First, a sincere interest in radio with hopes of obtaining a novice, technician or general class license.

Plenty of Jobs, Claims MSU

Average Starting Pay 3 to 5 Per Cent Higher Than in 1959

EAST LANSING (AP)—Job prospects for Michigan State University students are the finest since 1957, the school's placement bureau said Friday.

Jack Kinney, placement director, said the some 1,000 employing organizations which plan to visit MSU this year have indicated they want to hire up to 20 per cent more graduates than in 1959.

He added that average starting salaries are 3 to 5 per cent higher than last year.

Sharp increases were reported in the demands for graduates skilled in physics, chemistry, mathematics, engineering, accounting and education.

Kinney listed as typical starting salaries $500 to $550 a month for engineers, $450 to $500 a month for accountants and $4,000 to $5,000 a year for teachers.

He said jobs are going begging for lack of candidates in the journalism field where starting salaries average $400 a month in advertising and $380 for news-editorial positions.

Michigan Legion Units Gather for Conference

BAY CITY (UPI) — Nearly two thousand members of American Legion, legion auxiliary and Forty & Eight units throughout the state were on hand today for the opening of the groups' annual spring joint conference.

Three major resolutions were to be introduced for discussion at the weekend meeting.

One called for retention of the loyalty oath as a qualifying factor for applicants in the student loan program of the National Defense Education Act. Sponsors of the resolution hoped it would be approved and passed along to all Michigan congressmen.

Another resolution urged the legion to petition Congress "To provide ways and means whereby GI prisoners in Chinese Communist and North Korean prisons can be released and their families aided in their rights as American citizens.

Seek Coors Link

DENVER (UPI)—Efforts were being made today to trace a former Denver waitress who may have known fugitive murderer Joseph Corbett Jr., major suspect in the disappearance of millionaire Adolph Coors III.

Berkley Ex-Manager to Direct 'Citizens'

Oakes was appointed by George Romney, president of American Motors Corp., who is chairman of Citizens for Michigan, a statewide organization which says it is working for better government at grass roots level and on a nonpartisan basis.

Oakes said he will continue to reside in Grand Rapids and keep up his public management consultant business.

★ ★ ★

Oakes was fired as Grand Rapids city manager last May after holding the job for four years. Prior to that he had been a city manager at Berkley and at Alpena.

Harry J. Kelley Quits American Seating Post

Kelley, 68, joined the firm in 1911. He served from 1919 until a year ago as industrial relations manager and over the past year has been industrial relations consultant.

★ ★ ★

He was a member of the committee responsible for establishment of the civil service program in state employment; since 1954 has been a member of the governor's workmen's compensation study commission; is an original member of the Michigan Fair Employment Practices Commission and has been its chairman since 1958.

By MAX E. SIMON

You're what the public calls a "youth worker," and you stare across the basement at the sullen, dangerous hoodlums from the street corners and gang hideouts of a Chicago "jungle."

The books tell you to convert juvenile delinquents into good citizens by finding out their interests, participating in their activities, and "channeling" them into "worthwhile" activities.

You ask the gun-carrying toughs what they want to do.

"To fight," is the reply.

That brings sneers and derisive laughs.

The book hasn't been written which covers that situation, as Cressy B. Larson, director of the Pontiac Boys Club, well knows.

CREDITED FOR $875,000 GRANT

For only four years ago, he was face-to-face with the problem in Chicago's worst slum section — a jungle containing the dregs of humanity, a jungle in which the young inevitably graduated into the class of full-fledged criminals.

What Larson did so impressed the Ford Foundation that it has granted the Boys' Clubs of America $875,000 to establish delinquency-prevention programs in three areas of the city and keep them going for six years.

One who shuns the spotlight of publicity, the Pontiac Boys Club leader is extremely reluctant to tell of the important role he played in Chicago's version of "West Side Story."

"NOT A TOUGH GUY"

"I'm not a tough guy — I'm a youth worker," Larson said. "That happened in Chicago — this is Pontiac."

At national conventions, Larson had for years heard the prevailing notion that nothing could be done for the boys in the depressed, slum areas of America's giant cities.

"They were considered doomed, engulfed by their miserable surroundings," Larson said.

He disagreed with the experts. Long a "trouble-shooter," his new assignment gave him a chance to test his ideas.

The need for his services was great — the neighborhood was one in which police themselves preferred not to stop.

And the job was a personal and professional challenge.

If he could succeed, he reasoned, would not his methods work in other cities — New York, Los Angeles?

He started out with nothing but the title of "executive director" of a non-existent club.

Into the poolrooms, gang headquarters, bars, he went in search of boys.

"I had to reach them on their level," he explained.

Courtesy Ride Plea Rejected

Mayor's Group Turns Down 5 Businessmen's Bid for Resumption

The mayor's 14-member transportation committee has turned down a plea to help the "courtesy ride" service operate again.

City Commissioner Floyd P. Miles, committee chairman, said the request came yesterday from five downtown businessmen, who argued that lack of public transportation in Pontiac is hurting their businesses.

"For the public safety and protection of the city," Miles said, "we feel it is not right to allow courtesy cars to operate without sufficient insurance."

He explained that without insurance, courtesy ride passengers would be without protection in case of accidents and the City Commission might be open to a damage suit for failure to perform its duty.

CALLED TOO STRICT

Striking bus drivers quit their courtesy ride service late Tuesday, saying that the insurance requirements were too high in the emergency jitney law adopted March 15 by the Commission, on recommendation by the committee.

According to Miles, the report backed up the bus company's contention that it made "next to no profit last year" and can't afford wage increases under its present operating setup.

The representative reported that the company made $1,600 profit in 1959, Miles said. The company already had stated publicly that it made only $500 during the first 11 months of 1959.

Miles said that the committee, equipped with this financial information, would ask top officials of National City Lines, Inc., to discuss their plans for future operations in Pontiac, if the bus strike is settled.

The bus strike, which started Dec. 5, still is deadlocked over pay increases, according to the latest report of state labor mediators.

"Was there really a sub in the river Where is it now? Has it left yet?" These were some of the questions phoned in by many of the Gazette readers.

The readers made one mistake. They failed to turn the paper upside down and read the last line of the picture's cutline, warning:

"It's April Fools' Day. Better watch out."

Tiros I Feeding Back Pictures of Cloud Cover in 100-Minute Trip

They delighted the scientists who had fired Tiros I into its round-the-world 100-minute orbit.

Taken 450 miles up, the first photographs were remarkably clear for such an experimental forerunner of what may be a network of weather watchers that could forecast big storms all over the world.

They took in an enormous quadrant of the earth, centered on the Gulf of St. Lawrence. Fleecy clouds spread over much of the U.S.-Canadian area.

Everything about the Thor-Able launching rocket and the 270-pound satellite worked in fine style after they rose on a thunderous tail of orange flame from Cape Canaveral, Fla. All three stages fired with split-second precision.

Tiros was supposed to go into a circular orbit 450 miles out. When the checking was finished, scientists found it varied from this ideal by less than 20 miles at its high and low point.

The angle of inclination from the equator was off less than three one-thousandths of a degree.

IKE PLEASED

"I think it's a marvelous development," said President Eisenhower when the first pictures were shown to him at the White House by T. Keith Glennan, head of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Another achievement Friday evening also buoyed the spirits of U.S. space scientists.

For the fourth time, NASA scientists at Wallops Island, Va., rocketed a 100-foot balloon up several hundred miles, where it caught the rays of the sun and was visible over most of the Eastern seaboard.

"This has been a very successful day," exulted Dr. Hugh Dryden, NASA deputy administrator. The balloon is a forerunner of a space age communications network.

Tiros sounds like something out of Greek mythology, but it isn't. The name stands for television and infra-red observation satellite.

But the two television cameras were both ready and working. They can snap up to 32 pictures on command, a few seconds apart. These can be relayed instantly to earth stations, or stored on magnetic tape to be sent back on command. When the tapes are full, they can be erased clean to start all over again.

LEAVE KENT COUNTY HOME — Mrs. Catherine Rounds in the front of the boat, her daughter Mrs. Patricia Wright and Mrs. Wright's three children are a few of the 350 persons evacuated from the lowlands north of Grand Rapids where flooding is reported at its worst in 12 years. Sheriff's deputies Dale Benjamin, at the bow and Harry Vis in the stern guide the boat through what once was a street.

Weather-Sick Midwest Socked by Snow, Rain

Swollen State Rivers Seem to Be Easing Off Widespread Threat

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rising flood waters menaced the North Park and Comstock Park area around Grand Rapids today, with more than 350 persons already evacuated from their homes.

Police and civilian defense workers stood by, ready to evacuate additional persons by boat if necessary.

The rescue workers manned a small fleet of rowboats and motorboats along the Grand River and also had two amphibious vehicles ready for emergency relief work.

Kent County sheriff's deputies said about 50 homes had been isolated by the rising river waters. Crews of electrical workers made their way into the area by boats and cut off power in the various homes to prevent possible short circuiting and fire.

Most of the lowlands in the Grand River valley from Ionia west to Lowell were under water.

At Grand Rapids, the river was at 13.3 feet Friday night, already over the 13-foot flood stage. It was expected to crest at 16 feet Sunday, unless new rains welled the river even more.

At Lowell, where the river flood stage also is 15 feet, the reading was 17.2 feet early today with an 18 foot reading due by noon.

The Grand River situation was described as the most serious of several flood areas in the state.

Others include Saginaw, Flint, Midland and Lansing where widely scattered flooding was reported. There was no mass evacuation reported, however, as was the case in the Grand Rapids area.

However, at noon today Michigan's flood threat seemed to be easing in a number of areas.

Kennedy, Humphrey Plug Away

Battle Down to the Wire

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The significant Wisconsin presidential primary — the first contested election this year — drew closer today with two Democratic hopefuls continuing their torrid campaign pace.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota returned to Wisconsin's thawing farmlands. Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts met working men and their wives in Milwaukee.

Both seemed intent on rolling up big margins in areas where they are strong for next Tuesday's election which will name Wisconsin's delegates to the National Democratic Convention pledged to either Humphrey or Kennedy.

Humphrey's campaign tour today called for him to make speeches and meet farmers in the western part of the state which abuts his home territory. Kennedy's closing program, today and Monday, called for a concentration of effort in industrial Milwaukee.

The intensive campaigns of both Democratic hopefuls have aroused considerable interest among Wisconsin voters who usually take it in stride—and stay away from the polls.

A record turnout of more than one million of the state's 2,200,000 eligible voters is expected.

Both Humphrey and Kennedy repeated safe old issues in their campaign talks Friday. Both buried the issue of Kennedy's Roman Catholic religion, instead discussed such topics as farm price support and medical insurance.

The religious issue was hauled into the open Thursday by Charles Greene, a former state Democratic chairman who placed ads in weekly newspapers calling for PROTESTANTS TO TURN TO HUMPHREY.

Dig Up That Garden Plot —but Keep Raincoat Handy

It'll be a good weekend for that first swing at spring gardening, the weatherman says.

So get out the rake and spade, but be prepared for possible showers.

This afternoon was expected to continue mostly cloudy and warmer in the Pontiac area today, with a chance of a few showers.

Tomorrow will be a little cooler with a high of 50, but skies will be only partly cloudy.

Southeasterly winds at 15-20 miles will shift to southwesterly this afternoon and westerly Sunday.

The five-day outlook is for temperatures averaging about four degrees above the normal high of 51 and low of 33, with a warming trend begining Monday or Tuesday accompanied by possible showers.

The lowest temperature in Pontiac before 8 a.m. was 34 at 1 a.m. The temperature at 8 was 40 and had risen to 51 at 1 p.m.

France, Russia Unite on A-Use

Treaty Includes Other Science Cooperation, Too; K Tours Versailles

PARIS (AP) — France and the Soviet Union agreed today to cooperate in the field of science and the peaceful applications of atomic energy. These arrangements have been under consideration during Premier Nikita Khrushchev's presummit visit.

The scientific agreement was signed by Roger Seudoux, director general of cultural affairs in the French Foreign Ministry, and Yuri Zhukov, his Soviet counterpart.

The atomic energy agreement was signed by Pierre Couture, French government delegate to the Atomic Energy Commission, and Vassili Emelianov, delegate of the Soviet Council of Ministers for the utilization of atomic energy.

Both formalize exchanges of information and documents in the scientific and atomic fields.

He motored to the ancient palace from Rambouillet, President Charles de Gaulle's summer home 30 miles southwest of Paris, where they have held private negotiations.

Khrushchev had poor luck in the way of weather on his arrival in Versailles. A heavy fog that had settled over the city early in the day was still evident when Khrushchev's motorcade arrived.

Khrushchev's final talks with De Gaulle, though held in an atmosphere of greater understanding between the two leaders, offered little prospect of producing any firm political agreements.

Closer Controls Due for State Colleges

LANSING (AP) — A public quarrel between two big universities is stirring new moves for closer legislative control over spending by the state's higher education institutions.

Many lawmakers want to know where every dollar goes, including a breakdown on how much is spent for student instruction and how much for research and other activities.

Without specific information, they say, there's no way of knowing whether the nine state-run schools are getting more or less than their rightful share of higher education budgets.

Acting on a recommendation by Dr. Clarence B. Hillberry, president of Wayne State University, the House Ways and Means Committee this week set the stage for a legislative fight on college spending.

The committee tacked an amendment to the higher education bill —now pegged at a record 109 million dollars—requiring all colleges and universities to give detailed accounts of the costs of educating students when they submit their budget requests to the Legislature.

Hillberry said his school supplied the figures this year and others should do the same.

The amendment was prompted by a wrangle between Wayne and the University of Michigan over the level of state support.

Floods Slowing Census Taking

Data Will Be Delayed in Some Areas; Iowa, Nebraska Hard Hit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Floods and missing questionnaires posed special problems today for the 170,000 Americans who are taking the 1960 census.

★ ★ ★

Saturday was a working day for the census takers. However, in flooded sections they were forced to postpone their house-to-house canvass.

The Census Bureau said the complications were not serious, but will result in some delay in the publication of preliminary population figures for the affected communities.

These statistics will be announced locally as soon as they are compiled. In most areas the census will be wrapped up in about two weeks. The plan is to begin issuing the preliminary figures by the end of the month.

Final population totals and detailed data about housing conditions, jobs and the general standard of living will be published starting next fall.

Officials reported that floods were having the greatest effect on the census in parts of Iowa and Nebraska. They said that in some places there the census takers hadn't even been able to get together yet for training classes. The door-to-door canvas in the areas involved thus will be delayed at least a full week.

Another problem, though much less serious, stemmed from last week's distribution of advance questionnaires through the 35,000 post offices.

The Census Bureau has received scattered reports of people who did not receive a questionnaire. The advance form is supposed to be filled out before the census taker arrives so he doesn't have to conduct an interview.

When a household can't present a completed questionnaire, the problem is solved by having the census taker ask the questions and write down the answers. However, this delays the count somewhat.

A bureau spokesman said some post offices ran short of these advance forms, while others were shipped too many. He said steps were being taken to fill all shortages reported.

The agency also suspects quite a few householders threw out the questionnaires, thinking they were advertisements.

Raise Funds to Send Family to Rome

Dance to Honor Hayes Jones

A Pontiac group will sponsor a dance honoring Olympic hopeful Hayes Jones of Pontiac in an effort to swell the "Jones Family to Rome Fund."

The dance will be held May 7 at the Pontiac Boys Club, 530 E. Pike St.

All proceeds will go toward the citywide campaign initiated by the City Commission last summer to send Jones' family to Rome if he earns a spot on the U.S. Olympic Track team.

Hayes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Jones, of 50 Deland Ct., and former Pontiac Central track star.

The dance is being planned by a committee of local high school and college students, all friends of Jones.

Hayes and his parents will be honor guests at the dance and the ace Eastern Michigan University athlete will be presented with a plaque.

Regarded as the United States' new hurdles king, Hayes still holds high school records in the broad jump and 120-high hurdles and nine individual records at Eastern.

Jones has just finished a winter triumphs at indoor meets in which he has twice tied the world's record in the 60-yard high hurdles, set a world record of 5.9 seconds in the 50-yard high hurdles, and became the first man in track history ever to win a hurdles and dash event back-to-back in a major indoor meet.

The fund was started when it was noted that the 21-year-old track star was at his best when his parents were watching him.

Tickets for the event may be purchased at Osmun's Men's Wear. Other merchants selling tickets will be announced at a later date.

leaders. (A "council" is gang slang for a meeting of leaders. It usually is held before a "rumble", a gang war.)

This "council" was different. It was held to bring leaders of the gangs together, to try and end some of the terrorism which was ripping apart the community.

He carried on his work in store rooms and basements, in open fields, on the streets.

He organized a drill team called the "honor guards" to compete with the gangs; soon had 500 boys in the group.

In time, a drum and bugle corps was added to the "guards."

And the group began to acquire a citywide reputation, marching in all the major parades.

★ ★ ★

"Boys who had to belong to a gang—and you had to belong—now had a choice," Larson said. "Some belonged to the 'guards' and some to the gangs."

And the parents — proud of their uniformed children — began to take an increasing interest in Larson's work.

With the help of one or two other on-the-street workers, Larson organized the "guards" into service clubs, interested them singly or by groups in such activities as shop, crafts, sports, and dramatics, helped them find jobs and adjust to school.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Larson kept close working relationships with the schools, churches and police.

The Henry Horner Boys Club was built around Larson's street-corner activities three years ago. Today it has some 2,000 members.

And the boys who once terrorized the area are now helping to keep it clean. Some of the older ones are youth workers themselves.

Many of the gang leaders have gone to college — with scholarships.

He left Chicago in the fall of 1958 for Pontiac.

The Ford Foundation has promised a compagion grant of $350,000 to the University of Michigan's Institute for Social Research to evaluate the effectiveness of the Chicago program and decide how well it would work elsewhere.

The Foundation's grant to the Boys Club will be spent to hire on-the-street workers. Their assignment:

Seek out the "hard-to-reach" youth on street corners and in gang hideouts, and work with the kids that somewhere in life did not have the human affection that every kid needs.

In doing so, they will be carrying on the work of the city's Cressy B. Larson — director, Pontiac Boys Club.

Trujillo Gives Up Party Leadership

The Dominican strong man quit both his post as "supreme chief" of the party and his party membership. He has used the party to rule the country for more than 30 years, in and out of the presidential office.

"No one wants to form new parties while I remain in the Dominican Party," Trujillo said. "They should represent an equalizing force capable of dealing efficiently with the ideas and destiny of the great Dominican masses."

The resignation must be ratified by the party membership.

Dies in Oxford at 100 Years

Metamora Woman Had Centennial Birthday Last Nov. 17

Mrs. Mary A. Isham of Metamora, who attributed her long life to "hard work," died early this morning in her 101st year at Stephens' Convalescent Home in Oxford.

"I didn't get stale," she once said. "I used to do everything a man could do on a farm except plow. I drove the binder, cut the weeds, cut the grain and even load ed the hay in the barn."

Mrs. Isham, born in Attica Township in 1859, had numerous visitors on the occasion of her centennial birthday on Nov. 17 last year. Her bedside table was filled to overflowing with gifts.

Service will be held for Mrs. Isham at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Muir Brothers Funeral Home in Lapeer. Burial will be in Metamora Cemetery.

African Negroes March on City

Turned Back by Police in Cape Town; Nation Alerts Armed Forces

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa demonstrating against South Africa's white supremacy laws massed outside Cape Town today and marched on the city.

The armed forces then tightened cordons around the Nyanga and Langa Negro settlements outside Cape Town, South Africa's legislative capital and second largest city. The marchers came from Nyanga.

It was reported the marchers had slipped out of the guarded settlement on the pretext of returning to work.

CAPETOWN CRIPPLED

The Negroes have, virtually p alyzed Cape Town with a stay-home work stoppage in support of their campaign against the passes all nonwhites are required to carry.

★ ★ ★

Police were intent on heading off another march into Cape Town like that by 30,000 Negroes Wednesday. A similar march on Durban Friday resulted in a clash with police. Four Negroes were killed and 18 wounded.

The South African Press Assn., reported arsonists early today burned down a primary school for whites near Cape Town.

Trouble was reported elsewhere in South Africa. Bands of masked Negroes roamed through Negro settlements near Port Elizabeth during the night calling on residents to destroy their pass books.

It was the first report of masks worn by militant Negro agitators. White police have been trying to round up the ringleaders in the move to keep African masses away from work, especially in the Cape peninsula where commerce and industry remain crippled after two weeks of strife.

The South African army last night alerted 26 regiments, 13 auxiliary units, and an air squadron to "preserve life, health, and property" in the face of renewed racial violence.

Gen. H Mellville said the units were mobilized from South Africa's equivalent of the U.S. National Guard. He warned that more mobilization is possible if the tension between Negro and white South Africans continues.

At the United Nations in New York Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold prepared today to tackle the South African racial question under the terms of the Security Council's latest "leave-it-to-Dag" resolution.

The council, by a 9-0 vote with Britain and France abstaining, called on South Africa late yesterday to abandon its policy of racial discrimination and asked Hammarskjold to consult with the South African government on arrangements for it to do so.

Cooperation between the South African government and the United Nations was not regarded as likely.

Michigan Firms Pledge Payroll Savings Push

Top executives of scores of major business and industrial firms throughout Michigan have pledged themselves to provide enthusiastic personal leadership to promotion of the payroll savings plan among their own employes this spring.

Inspiration for this widespread support was supplied at a meeting in Detroit. Chairman is John J. Cronin, manufacturing vice president, General Motors Corp.

Not only are employes who save better employes, but large-scale purchases of savings bonds create a reservoir of purchasing power in the community and nation which help curb inflation and assist in leveling out economic peaks and valleys.

Among major firms in which full-scale person-to-person payroll savings plan promotions are under way or scheduled are General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp., Great Lakes Steel Corp., Utica Bend Corp., and King Seeley Corp.

George Green Resigning Zoning Appeals Board Post

BIRMINGHAM — George F. Green, longtime veteran of public service, has announced his resignation from the Board of Zoning Appeals, it was disclosed today.

★ ★ ★

Green, 456 Warren St., has served on various boards for the past 10 years.

He was named to the Board of Zoning Appeals in 1949, the Building Code Committee in 1949, the Building Code Board of Appeals in 1951, the City Planning Board in 1951 and the Board of Zoning Appeals again that same year.

His present three-year term expires on Oct. 10.

"George Green is typical of the excellent caliber of the people who make up our various boards and commissions," said Gare. "He has given of his time and effort in a job that is many times thankless and difficult."

Green has asked the City Commission to take immediate action on his resignation and to make it effective immediately.

Said Green: "I should now like to terminate my City Hall career. Having served a term on the planning board, briefly on the Building Code Appeals Board and 17 months drawing up a new building code, I think I have done my share.

"I have enjoyed all of it, have learned a lot, and think that some other citizen might like to do likewise."

The Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will sponsor a sacred and secular music concert April 20 by the Pilgrim Fellowship Choir of the Congregational Church of Manhasset, N.Y.

The concert will be held at 8 p.m. at the Community House auditorium.

Organized in 1952 with eight young people, the choir has grown under the leadership of its director, Robley Lawson, to over one hundred voices.

The group has toured the eastern half of the United States, and has done nationwide television shows and made a European tour in the summer of 1958.

This summer the choir will make a return trip to Europe.

The public is invited to attend the concert.

The Altar Society of Our Lady Queen of Martyrs Church, 32460 Pierce St., will hold its annual spring rummage sale Friday beginning at 9 a.m. in the social hall.

A spring concert will be presented Friday at 8:30 p.m. by the Bloomfield Hills High School choir and band in the school auditorium.

Religious, Hawaiian and band music will be featured. Alumnae will be asked to "sing along" in several of the numbers.

tion augured more misery for flood weary areas. Already 15,000 persons were homeless from the sudden spring thaw topped by fresh rains.

The storm dropped snows up to a foot deep in areas of South Dakota and 10 inches in Nebraska Friday and pushed into the Mississippi Valley early today.

Snows whipped by winds up to 50 m.p.h. fell in eastern Nebraska, the Dakotas and Minnesota, snapping power lines and disrupting traffic.

Swollen rivers spilled over banks, breeched levees, flooded farmlands and ate away at major highways and railroad tracks.

The number of homeless doubled Friday. The Red Cross estimated that 14,000 were homeless in eight states — South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Thunderstorms and heavy rains struck the Gulf states. In a six-hour period, Pensacola, Fla., reported 2.3 inches of rain, Mobile, Ala., 1.47 inches and Dothan, Ala., 1.45 inches.

★ ★ ★

Rain also peppered the eastern Ohio Valley and Tennessee as well as portions of new Ehgland. Hail fell in Illinois and New Orleans.

April 11 Deadline on Registration for Millage Vote

April 11 is the last day school district residents can register to vote on the Board of Education's increased millage proposal.

The May 9 ballot will call for an addition of 2.8 voted mills to the existing 8.75 voted levy of six years ago.

Registration can be made with the clerk at City Hall from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Mondays through Fridays and 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. on April 11.

Those already registered on the books of the City Clerk need not reregister.

Most Afrikanders have looked to the future with foreboding for years.

The overwhelming numerical superiority of the Africans, now 10 million to 3 million, has given them a presentiment that at some date a great tragedy would befall the nation.

But it was always something in the future—"like space travel," one Afrikander said today.

Some with wealth arranged affairs so their children could find a future abroad. But the great mass have no home other than South Africa and no money to prepare refuge abroad.

★ ★ ★

These have adopted the attitude that trouble is probably coming, but whatever it is they won't hand the country over to the Africans without a fight.

Tragically bound up with this fatalistic attitude of the Afrikanders is the extreme nationalism which has grown up since the Boer War at the beginning of the century.

It has resulted in an almost pathological feeling of distrust between the Afrikanders and English-speaking sections of the white population.

Afrikanders—descendants of the Dutch voortrekkers—or pioneers—now make up about 60 per cent of the white population, and English and other European races the remainder.

The Road to Faith . . . by Will Oursler

Has Science Found All the Answers?

By WILL OURSLER
Chapter 28

Sacrifice in modern religious faith is the outward sign of our inward caring.

Sacrifice is a symbol of acceptance of love of the Father and our brotherhood with all mankind — the coin in a beggar's cup, a moment of time for a caller in need, a letter to a friend or stranger, a word of kindliness to someone who does not matter to us.

We have scrambled and fought our way along the road to faith, up precipes to the plateau above them. We light our fire and rest, staring up at celestial infinity, unable to comprehend its depth and vastness.

Questions crowd in upon us. Astronomers have a hundred phrases to describe the universe that imply intimate knowledge of it: mass and gravitation and perimeters of the orbits, rotation velocities and density distributions are only a few.

Our universe is a vast amalgam of molecules, particles and masses of energy in a closed arena, something like the inside of a great cosmic globe. What material binds this sphere? Of what is it composed?

What of other universes beyond? Scientists have postulated that there is nothing beyond and therefore, they answer paradoxically, the question is impossible and cannot be asked. But we have asked it.

Such penetrating questions have been asked for thousands of years. Periodically, temple priests have given one reply and the priests of science another.

"Time, then, and the heaven came into being at the same instant in order that, having been created together, if ever there was the mind and thought of they might be dissolved together. It was framed after the pattern of the eternal nature . . . for the pattern exists from eternity, and the created heaven has been, and is, and will be, in all time. Such was the mind and thought of God in the creation of time . . ."

Plato briefly sketched how God created the planets and stars nearest the earth and assigned their proper orbits to earth. "To enumerate the places which he assigned to the other stars, and to give all the reasons why he assigned them, although a secondary matter, would give more trouble than the primary. These things at some future time, when we are at leisure, may have the consideration which they deserve, but not at present . . .

"God lighted a fire, which we call the sun, in the second from the earth of these orbits, that it might give light to the whole of heaven. . . ."

Plato's thinking was advanced in scientific terms for his era. Yet it is extraordinary that he was so sure of his answers. From where did he derive this indisputable information?

There is a tragic factor in the realization that Plato, who gave the world so much thought, was also mistaken in so much of what he presented as indisputable fact, particularly in regard to the creation of the earth and the stars and human beings.

If this tremendous mind could not perceive the possibility of error in his findings, what of our modern scientists and thinkers, our physicists and chemists and astronomers and nuclear scientists?

Is it not possible that they, too, along with vast discoveries that are entirely correct and workable, also have put forth theories which will be found as profoundly incorrect, from a factual point of view, as those of Plato?

Science and materialism in general have indeed reached their own plateau, a platform in space itself, and our question comes: Have they found all answers — or any — this way? Will we be led ultimately to discard the spiritual universe when we discover that we are living in a vast goldfish bowl beyond which lies a perfected nothingness of which we cannot even conceive at present?

Is this to be the final achievement of man — the cosmic discovery of his own lack of purpose?

Needs Carefully Figured Out

Car Replacement Parts Made for Years Ahead

UPI Automotive Editor

DETROIT—Many of the parts the auto industry is making today for its 1960 model cars will not be used for as long as five to ten years.

About one out of every five parts manufactured by the auto companies is carefully packaged, labeled and sent to store rooms before it ever reaches the assembly lines.

Because the replacement parts the repairman takes off the shelves look so new, many motorists are under the impression that they came from the production lines only a few weeks ago. But this isn't so.

The manufacturers figure it is cheaper to make all the parts needed to service their cars in the future at the same time they are making the original parts. In this way, they don't have to change dies on their machines or even buy new dies later on.

EDSEL BUYERS ANXIOUS

Officials of Ford's Lincoln-Mercury Division (formerly the Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division) quickly came up with the answer.

"Parts for the Edsel will be available as long as there is a demand for them," a spokesman said. "We currently have supplies which should last up to 10 years in some cases and if there's still a demand for them after that, we'll make more."

The Ford spokesman said experts in the field can judge pretty closely from sales figures how many replacement parts will be needed for a given model car before it finally ends up in the junk heap.

The fact that parts of many cars are interchangeable helps them in their figuring because an error on one model car might be offset by another error in figuring the need for replacement parts on another model.

State Tax Take for February Rises

LANSING (AP) — State sales and use tax collections in March were $25,565,644, an 11 per cent increase over the same month last year.

The collections — on February business — topped February, 1959, by $2,689,000.

Much of the increase, however, came from new taxes on telephones, hotels and motels. The total was also boosted by the extra day of business on February 29.

Eliminating these factors, State Revenue Commissioner Clarence W. Lock estimated the increase would have been between four and five per cent.

Auto sales contributed $4,505,000 and were up about 10 per cent, he said.

Retail trade units in the United States have gained up to 50 per cent in numbers since the count taken in the early 1930's.

State Cherry Group Doubles Sales in '59

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—The Great Lakes Cherry Producers Marketing Cooperative learned Thursday that its sales to processors last year showed a gain of 118 per cent over 1958.

Manager B. I. Freeman also told more than 120 representatives of the five-state group that it made a gain of 66 2-3 per cent in capital reserves, reduced cost to members by 39 per cent and realized entry into new phases of marketing.

★ ★ ★

Nonnuclear Blasts to Launch '60 Tests

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — A series of non-nuclear explosions next month will launch the Atomic program at the vast atomic test site near here.

★ ★ ★

The tests will provide information for the Plowshare Program, a study of peaceful uses of nuclear explosives. They will last several months. The AEC said Thursday "The tests are expected to provide information on the effects of depth of burial, weight of charge and type of rock on crater size and shape."

Blanked by Reds; Indian Rookie Homers Twice

Yanks Handed 14th Setback

By The Associated Press

The New York Yankees, with a feverish spring record of 6-14, need something, but a psychologist isn't the answer.

Jim Brosnan, witty writer, professional pitcher and amateur psychologist, proved that Friday. The Cincinnati Reds' right-hander pitched the front seven innings of a 3-0 victory over the Yanks and allowed only four hits.

* * *

Brosnan, a five-year major league veteran, has always been a good seven-inning pitcher. But against the Yanks he could have easily worked nine, if Manager Fred Hutchinson hadn't wanted to take another look at Bill Henry and Raul Sanchez. They completed the shutout, the Yanks' sixth loss in their last seven exhibitions.

Brosnan, who has written humorous magazine pieces, is readying a book to be called "The Long Season." He's also apparently readying his arm for the long game.

He went the route last Sunday in a six-hit, 4-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. But with the St. Louis Cardinals and Reds last year he started 10 times and finished only once. His won-lost record was 9-6 and his ERA 3.80 in 116 innings.

* * *

The Yanks' Casey Stengel must have been envious of the Reds' pitching. His left-handed ace, Whitey Ford, gave up one run in three innings, then had to retire because of a head cold.

In other Florida day games, the Detroit Tigers defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 10-5 and the Kansas City A's stopped Pittsburgh 4-3.

In night games, Baltimore defeated Washington 3-2 and the Philadelphia Phillies outslugged the Chicago White Sox 12-11 in the opener of their Puerto Rican series.

* * *

The Milwaukee Braves were idle and Los Angeles was rained out of a game with the Dodger All-Stars at Vero Beach.

The hits continued to fly in Arizona where the Boston Red Sox beat the San Francisco Giants 8-6 in 10 innings and the Chicago Cubs outdid the Cleveland Indians 13-12.

Bob Cerv, the A's power man, hit a ninth inning, tie-breaking homer to hand the Pirates their fourth straight loss. Cerv also batted in the tying run in the sixth, and Bob Skinner drove across two for the Pirates.

Al Pilarcik paced the Orioles' 10-hit attack with three doubles and drove in two runs, including the decisive tally in the fourth inning off Tex Clevenger.

* * *

Al Smith hit three homers and drove in six runs but a late rally by the White Sox fell short. Dick Brown also homered for the Sox and Joe Koppe, B.G. Smith and Jim Coker came through with circuit drives for the Phils.

The Giants hit four homers, including two by Willie Kirkland, but they weren't enough to beat the Red Sox or Allan Worthington, their ex-teammate, who pitched scoreless ball in the ninth and 10th. Haywood Sullivan's two-un double won it for the Red Sox. Kirkland's homers were his seventh and eighth. Giants' Jim Davenport and Orlando Cepeda also homered.

Nineteen of the 25 runs in the Cubs-Indians game were scored on homers, Tony Taylor won it for the Cubs with a three-run shot after two were out in the ninth. Teammates Frank Thomas and Dick Gernert also hit grand slam jobs. For the Indians, rookie Mike De La Hoz homered twice with the bases empty and Tito Francona, John Romano and Bob Hale hit two-run homers.

One Big Inning Enough for Tigers

Slam Cardinals 10-5 as Wise Leads Offensive

Larry's Slump Snapped in 8th Team Victory; Play Braves Today

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—The Detroit Tigers hoped their sudden streak of luck would return today as they faced the Milwaukee Braves.

The Tigers sent 15 batters to the plate at Lakeland yesterday and scored 10 runs against Larry Jackson in the third inning for an easy 10-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The spurt of tallies came on seven hits, three walks and an error. Casey Wise connected for two singles and three others got on base twice during the inning—the Tigers' biggest in the spring campaign.

* * *

The setback was the first for Jackson in the exhibition season. He gave up 12 safeties before Lindy McDaniel took over in the seventh to yield one more Tiger hit.

* * *

Frank Lary got his first exhibition victory, after three defeats, giving up six hits in six innings.

Cardinal rookie Wally Shannon drilled a two-run homer off Lary in the third and St. Louis got another run in the sixth on a walk, fielder's choice and a single by Curt Flood.

Don Mossi was tapped for two more runs in the ninth on a pinch single by Chris Annizzare and a sacrifice fly by Ellis Burton.

* * *

The win gave Detroit an 8-9 record in the Grapefruit League and knocked the Cards, with a 13-9 mark, out of the top spot in the standings.

Injury Puts Warfare Out of Derby

By The Associated Press

The Kentucky Derby shaped up as a two-horse race today following the sudden withdrawal of Warfare, 1959 two-year-old champion and one of the three top choices for the May 7 running of the $125,000 added turf classic.

It is still five weeks before the 3-year-olds start the 1¼-mile run at Churchill Downs for fame and gold. But the winter and early spring stakes have failed so far to turn up a serious threat to C. V. Whitney's Tompion and Leonard Fruchtman's Bally Ache.

Tompion, current winter book favorite for the Derby, and Bally Ache, now the second choice, have not been invincible. But they have come up with the big race in the major stakes. Tompion's major triumph was in the Santa Anita Derby. Bally Ache won the Flamingo at Hialeah Park.

The situation could be changed after today's running of the $100,000-added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park. Bally Ache is in the race along with Eagle Admiral, Victoria Park and Venetian Way. Eagle Admiral and Victoria Park beat Bally Ache this year in tune-up races, Venetian Way did it in the Washington Park Futurity last year.

Warfare was declared out of the Kentucky Derby and the two other races of the triple crown series, Preakness and Belmont Stakes, when X-rays disclosed a bone chip in his left hind ankle.

The California speedster was scheduled to make his second Eastern start of the year in today's $25,000-added Gotham Stakes at Aqueduct. Withdrawal of the son of Determine left George D. Widener's Yorktown and the Merrick Stable's John Williams as the favorites for the mile test. Yorktown, second in the Louisiana Derby after finishing first in five straight races, won impressively in his recent Aqueduct debut. John William ran second to Tompion in the Santa Anita Derby.

Ohio Kegler Rolls 720

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The standings in nearly all divisions of the 57th American Bowling Congress Tournament were overhauled Friday, but there was only one serious challenge to an established leader.

The most effective barrage of the day was the 236, 226, 258—720 series which earned Dominic Bertolini of Youngstown, Ohio second place in singles. He fell just six pins short of overtaking Cleveland's Paul Kulbaga, who shot 726 on March 24. Bertolini also tied for ninth place in all-events with 1916.

* * *

Earl Johnson of the second-place Chicago Hamms, and Richard Skufca of Cleveland each rolled 693 series to tie for fourth place in singles with Vernon Plichta of Muskegon, Mich., who posted 693 a week ago.

Tom Dern of Columbus tied for eighth place in the singles with 685. Dern, 23, has been bowling for only four years. He opened his string with 289—the best game in singles thus far—and added 205 and 191.

Boss Bosco of Akron, who shot 290 in the team event last Wednesday, still holds the high game of the tournament.

The one change in the top 10 doubles standings was accomplished by George Wong and Thomas Fukuda of Detroit whose 1,279 gave them a tie for eighth.

The Plains Electric team of Plains, Pa. rolled 3,006 to take seventh in the open team division. Their games were 968, 995, 1043, and Walt Krywicki set the pace with 647.

The open team standings:

Forty Racers in Grand Prix

200-Mile International in California Sunday Has Top Drivers

RIVERSIDE, Calif. (AP) — It will be world champion Jack Brabham of Australia against a powerful array of American drivers in the 200-mile International Grand Prix for sports cars at Riverside Raceway Sunday.

Forty racers are slated to blast away for the $20,000-added purse money.

Also on deck are Ken Miles, 1959 winner of the race, and Richie Ginther, Bill Krause, Chuck Stevenson and A. J. Foyt.

U. S. champion Pabst and Reventlow will pilot Scarabs; Shelby, Loyal Katskee and Bob Drake will drive the much talked about "birdcage" Maserati, while the Ferrari contingent includes Ginther, Dick Morgensen and Jack Nethercutt.

"Special" cars will be handled by Ward, Max Balchowsky, Foyt and Stevenson, while Miles has a Porsche Spyder.

Fraser and Emerson Net Finalists Today

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Australian Davis Cuppers Neale Fraser and Roy Emerson won semifinal matches in the St. Andrew International Tennis Tournament Friday and will meet Saturday for the title.

* * *

Fraser, the U.S. champion, downed Antonio Palafox of Mexico, 1-6, 7-5, 6-4, while Emerson turned back Luis Ayala of Chile, 6-1, 8-6.

* * *

Ann Haydon of Britain gained the final of the women's division when she whipped Gwen Thomas of Shaker Heights, Ohio, 6-2, 6-2. She will meet Darlene Hard of Montebello, Calif., who gained the final Thursday.

Sugar Ray Fights Tonight

BALTIMORE (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, who says "a birth certificate has never proved anything," matches his aging but lithe body against young and rugged Tony Baldoni tonight in a 10-rounder at the Coliseum.

Robinson, who will be 39 on May 3, has visions of retiring as king of the middleweights — where he has reigned as world titleholder five times in the past.

* * *

"I'd love to quit with honors if I could—with the title," Robinson said.

The Baldoni scrap is supposed to be a tuneup for Sugar Ray's return bout with Paul Pender in Boston April 23. Pender won a split decision from Robinson last Jan. 22 to win the New York-Massachusetts version of the middleweight championship.

Baldoni, a 28-year-old mauler, has a 22-8 record which includes 10 knockout victories.

NO. 3,000 FOR JACOBS — Trainer Hirsch Jacobs leads Blue Waters, his 3,000th winner, from New York's Aqueduct track Friday after jockey Willie Shoemaker rode the 3-year-old filly to victory in the 2nd race. No trainer is close to Jacobs' record, which started in 1926.

Tiger Sales Start Monday

DETROIT — The Detroit Tigers will open their advance sale box office at Michigan and Trumbull Monday, April 4, William O. DeWitt, club president, announced today.

The advance ticket booth will be operated daily thereafter from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. until the close of the American League season.

Tickets for any game during the season may be purchased in any quantity at the advance box office.

Meanwhile, the Tigers' ticket department will continue to accept mail orders for any of the 1960 games with assurance of 24-hour service in filling them.

William E. (Billy) Loll, director of ticket sales, today reported a brisk advance mail order business but said there are thousands of seats in favorable locations available for purchase for the opening game of the season with the Chicago White Sox, Friday, April 22, and for all ensuing events.

Ticket prices for Tiger games remain unchanged. Box seats are priced at $3, reserved seats $2. General admission sells for $1.25 and bleachers for 75 cents. Only boxes and reserves are sold in advance.

Olympic Pair Win at Texas Relays

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—Olympians Eddie Southern and Bobby Morrow, trying to regain top form, indicated they were on the way back to the big show in the first day of the Texas Relays.

Southern, the former Texas star who was second in the 400-meter hurdles in the 1956 Olympic Games, had strength and stamina as he sped to a 51.0 clocking in his specialty Friday.

Morrow wasn't as impressive. The Olympic sprint champion was straining badly. But he won the 100 meters in 10.6, running into a 3-miles-an-hour wind, and he beat the fellow who had licked him two times in a row—Jimmy Weaver.

Weaver mildly disputed it, thinking he had won, but Morrow was given the decision by an eyelash as he lunged into the tape to topple the former North Texas State quarter-miler.

Hartack Adds 3 Wins

MIAMI (AP) — Jockey Willie Hartack, who rode four winners Wednesday and three on Thursday, came through with another triple at Gulfstream Friday.

He was up on Necromancer ($3.50), Cheaten Bill ($10.40) and Vals Ace ($4.70).

Toronto Goalie Has Stopped 155 Shots in Series

Detroit Skaters at Full Strength for 5th Game of Semifinals

TORONTO (AP)—Of Johnny Bower it has been said: "He has the ability, the temperament and the guts."

No one is more aware of this than the Detroit Red Wings, who regard the 36-year-old goaltender as the big hurdle in their bid to beat the Toronto Maple Leafs in the fifth game of the Stanley Cup semi-final series here tonight.

* * *

At a mellowed age when most players should be drawing pension benefits, Bower has been magnificent, producing the finest hockey of a professional career that goes back 15 years.

* * *

The best-of-seven series is tied at 2-2 and Johnny has been great in both victory and defeat. Tonight's engagement is a big one for both teams; victory means an enviable lead with two games to play.

The man who pinned the "guts" label on Bower is Jim Hendy, general manager of the American League Cleveland Barons. Bower toiled for the Barons for eight years before crashing the National League with the New York Rangers in 1953.

Since then he has been knocked from pillar to post, somewhat of an orphan who ended up with the Leafs in 1958 when they were in desperate need of a netminder.

"I don't know why he didn't make it sooner," Hendy once said.

* * *

"Our big problem all season has been the tough luck we've had around the net. Take this series. We've had 165 shots on Bower and scored only 10 goals. Bower is good, I'll grant you, but not that good.

Leaf coach Punch Imlach fully realizes Bower's value, especially in this series. He has been unstinting in praise for the five-foot-nine native of Prince Albert, Sask.

* * *

Abel figures the Wings can snatch a win tonight and head into tomorrow's sixth game at Detroit with a commanding lead. If needed, a seventh meeting is scheduled for Toronto Wednesday. The series winner goes against the Montreal Canadiens, who beat the Chicago Black Hawks 4-0 in their best-of-seven semi-final.

"I have plenty of confidence that we can take a game from the Leafs on their own ice and, of course, win the big one at (Detroit) Olympia," Abel said.

The Wings won the first game of the series on Toronto ice. They dropped the next two, at Toronto and Detroit, and deadlocked things at the Olympia last Tuesday.

Both clubs will be at full strength. The Wings have rightwinger John McKenzie and defenseman Marc Reaume ready for action. McKenzie, out five weeks with an injured knee, will split Wing duties with Len Lunde, his playoff replacement, on a line with Norm Ullman and Gary Aldcorn.

Wayne Fencers in Third Place at NCAA Meet

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — New York University and Navy will battle for points today to determine the NCAA Fencing Championship being defended by the Midshipmen.

* * *

Favored NYU piled up 35 points to take the lead Friday but Navy remained in contention with 33. Wayne State was third with 26 while Notre Dame and Princeton were tied with 25 followed by Illinois and Yale with 24, CCNY 22 and Iowa 21.

Abbey Silverstone of Illinois and Raoul Sudre of Cornell were tied in foil competition with 12-1 records. Navy's Bill Lewis was 12-2 as was Gene Glacer of NYU.

* * *

Jim Powell of Yale took the epee lead with 11-0. Bernie Cauley of Navy and Art Dowd, Michigan State, were tied with 10-2.

Mike Defaro of NYU scored 14 victories without defeat in the sabre. Navy's Al Morales was 11-3, John Miller of Wayne State was 10-2.

Palmer Favored in Masters Tourney

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Arnold Palmer, hailed as the "new Hogan" by some of golf's circuit riders, is the solid title favorite in the 24th Masters Tournament, opening Thursday.

With 1959 champion Art Wall Jr. sidelined by a kidney ailment, most of the sentiment has swung to the thick-necked young professional from Ligonier, Pa., who is leading the current tour both in money winnings and tournament victories.

Rated back of Palmer is the formidable quartet of Dr. Cary Middlecoff, two-time U.S. Open winner who apparently has licked a mid-winter slump; Sam Snead, who captured his 104th tournament victory a week ago at DeSoto Lakes, Fla.; the hot-putting National Open champion Bill Casper Jr., and the dieting ex-footballer, Mike Souchak.

In 11 tournaments so far this year, Palmer, husky son of a professional, has won four tournaments—three of them in a row—and compiled $25,675 in winnings, more than double that of his closest challenger.

He won this tournament in 1958 and finished third last year when Wall staged a blazing finish to pluck out a triumph with five birdies on the last six holes. A bulldog competitor with hands like hams and wrists like wagon tongues, Palmer is the nearest thing to a dominant figure in golf since Ben Hogan's putting touch starting failing him in 1953.

Hogan, now 47 and burdened with business duties, is in the field again, seeking his third Masters championship, but even the most romantic of observers concedes him little chance.

As usual, the great and near-great of the game—an array of champions from eight nations have gathered for the four-day, 72-hole assault on the Augusta National Course conceived by the immortal Bob Jones and made more famous by the slices of President Eisenhower.

The ageless Snead is shooting for a record fourth championship as is the 49-year-old Jimmy Demaret, who like Hogan has been dulled by inactivity. Middlecoff, a bust in the Canada Cup matches in Australia last November, has shown a sharp return to form in a rich, nationally televised series.

The Masters will be televised by CBS on the final two days after the field has been cut to the low 40 players and ties. On Saturday, play will be televised between 5 an 6 p.m. EST. On the final day, Sunday, it will go on home screens for an hour and a half, starting at 4 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The Masters has three principal patterns built up over the years:

1. No champion ever repeats.
2. No foreigner wins it.
3. No amateur wins it.

With Wall not defending, the first of these traditions is perfectly safe. The same can't be said of the other two.

Withdrawal of Peter Thomson, four-time British Open champion from Australia, reduced the outside threat considerably but the foreign menace remains strong.

The invading list is headed by Gary Player of South Africa, holder of the British Open crown and regarded as one of the world's premier professionals. Also included in the group are Stan Leonard of Canada, 1959 individual champion in the Canada Cup matches; Kel Nagle of Australia, co-winner with Thomson of the Canada Cup team trophy; British Ryder Cuppers Eric Brown of Scotland and Harry Weetman of England, and Mario Gonzales, seven times Brazilian Open champion.

Eighteen holes will be played daily over the beautiful 6,980-yard, par 72 course.

HE'S GOT IT — Big Bob Boozer of the Peoria Cats comes down with a rebound as Cleveland Buckner (15) of the NAIA All-Stars watches over his shoulder in Friday night's Olympic basketball trials at Denver, Colo. Peoria won, 89-68, and meets the NCAA collegiate stars tonight for the tournament title.

Peoria and NCAA Stars Gain Olympic Hoop Final

DENVER (AP)—Peoria's tournament-wise AAU champions and the NCAA University All-Stars, bristling with Oscar Robertson and three other All-Americas, battle tonight for the championship of the U. S. Olympic basketball trials.

To the winner will go at least five places, and possibly seven, on the 12-member team that will wear the Stars and Stripes in Rome this summer.

Robertson and All-America Jerry West poured in 51 points between them to bury Akron's AAU Wingfoots 103-88 in Friday night's second round before 8,500 at the Denver Coliseum.

Peoria, winner of the 1952 Olympic trials, broke out of a 9-9 tie on the shooting of 6-6 Tom Meschery of St. Mary's, Calif. and never trailed the rest of the way in beating the NAIA Small College Stars 89-68.

Ohio State's NCAA champions, spilled by the NAIA club 76-69 in the first round, bounced back with an 89-79 consolation victory over the NCAA College All-Stars coached by Arad McCutchan.

Bartlesville, Okla., champion of the AAU's National Industrial League, conquered the Armed Forces Stars 88-74 and will play Ohio State in a consolation match this afternoon. The other afternoon contest sends the Armed Forces against McCutchan's NCAA crew.

The championship game sends Peoria's closely-knit Cats against one of the greatest collections ever of college stars. Besides Robertson, who hit 29 points against Akron, and West, who bagged 22, the NCAA University unit includes two other AP All-Americas, 6-11 Darrall Imhoff of California and Tony Jackson of St. Johns, N.Y.

★ ★ ★

Against that array of talent, Peoria sends 6-8 Bob Boozer, 6-5 Don Plunkett and 6-9 John Prudhoe as well as fine outside shooters in Don Ohl, Al Kelley and Howie Crittenden.

Rosenmayr Top Performer

AAU Mat Titles Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Frank Rosenmayr of the San Francisco Olympic Club, the AAU's national 191-pound wrestling champion, was voted the outstanding performer in the 1960 national free-style tournament here Friday night.

Almost 200 wrestlers, from all over the world, participated in the championship tournament. Many will be competing again today in the first round of the Greco-Roman championships.

The New York Athletic Club, with three individual champions, took team honors, followed by the San Francisco Olympic Club and Oregon State College.

The Air Force, which took fifth place in the team standings, was the outstanding service squad.

In addition to Rosenmayr, the outstanding grappler, the 191 pound class also provided the sharpest unknown of the tournament—Dan Brand of Omaha, Neb.

Brand defeated Jim Mills of the Los Angeles YMCA, the third-place 191-pounder, Friday night and, on his way to the finals, pinned Shunichi Kawano, the 191-pound champion of Japan.

Doug Blubaugh of the NYAC was awarded the 160-pound championship on the basis of a half-pound. He and Fritz Fivian of Oregon State drew in the title match. Under AAU rules, the championship goes to the lighter wrestler. Eight ounces meant the crown for Blubaugh and second place for Fivian.

AAU Swimmers Set Five Records

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — America's top Olympic prospects are killing the experts with joy the way they're murdering records in the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming Championships.

Seven races have been held the past two days, and the records have been walloped in every one of them. Seven races are left today, and anything can happen.

The assault on the national standards was made by Lt. Jeff Farrell, New Haven S.C., 220-yard freestyle, who lowered the mark to 2:00.2 from 2:01.5; Bill Mulliken, Miami, Ohio, 220-yard breaststroke, 2:34.8 from 2:36.1; Charley Bittick, Southern California, 220-yard backstroke, 2:13.1 from 2:16.1; Mike Troy, Indiana, 220-yard butterfly, 2:12.4 from 2:17.1, and Southern Cal's 400-yard free-style relay team, 3:16 from 3:16.1.

★ ★ ★

Farrell, Mulliken and Bittick, who the experts say are almost sure to go to the Rome Olympics, won gold medals in this meet for the first time. Troy, Southern Cal's relay quartet and Sam Hall of Ohio State, the 1-meter diving champ, retained their crowns.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Summaries of Friday night's finals in the National AAU Men's Indoor Swimming and Diving Championships:

Celtics and Hawks Clash Today in Third Playoff

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Hawks are first to admit their chances of dethroning Boston in pro basketball's world series will hinge on their attempt to slow the Celtics' lightning fast break triggered by Bob Cousy.

The two bitter rivals go for the tie-breaker today in their best-of-7 series after a split of two games in Boston. The game will be nationally televised by NBC at 2 p.m., EST.

★ ★ ★

Clyde Lovellette, a 6-9 veteran, and Si Green, cat-like backliner who was on the trading block only a month ago, could be the key players in the Hawks' attempt to slow the free-wheeling Celtics.

★ ★ ★

If the Celtics great rebounder and shot-blocker, 6-10 Bill Russell, continues to guard Lovellette, the Hawks may keep Clyde outside in an attempt to keep Russell away from the basket. Clyde is a deadly shooter from long range.

★ ★ ★

Celtics' Coach Red Auerbach has accused Clyde of holding and grabbing Russell — and getting away with it. Hawks' Coach Easy Ed Macauley scoffed at this, pointing out Russell got 40 rebounds, an NBA playoff record, and 21 points, in the Hawks' 113-103 victory Tuesday.

Green hounded Cousy and the slippery Celtic playmaker had a cold shooting night in Boston's loss.

"The biggest job is to stop him from getting that fast break going," Si said. "I know how great he is because I've been dropping back to guard against him. Outside of that I think I'm faster and can keep up with him."

Past records prove the Hawks can win if they force the Celtics to play a more deliberate game.

This is the third St. Louis-Boston title playoff in four seasons and the Hawks have won eight, the Celtics seven over that span, including the first two games of this series.

Press Seeks Schedules

Several high school spring sports schedules still have not been sent in to The Press. Including among the missing are Northern, St. Michael, St. Fred of Pontiac, Seaholm and Groves of Birmingham, Waterford, Walled Lake, Farmington, Clarkston, Romeo, Oxford, Ortonville, Troy, Milford, Holly, Cranbrook, Orchard Lake St. Mary and Berkley. There are many others. All schools are urged to send in these schedules immediately.

By CHUCK ABAIR

One of the most familiar names in the American Bowling Congress keg ranks over the past several years happens to be one of Pontiac's best known alley performers.

He is Mitchell A. Calbi, who owns and operates the Calbi Music Store and has sponsored teams by the same name for 12 seasons.

Calbi was recently presented a 27-year plaque at the annual tourney in Toledo and now has his eye set on a big wall award which is given for participants in 30 events. He also holds a lifetime free pass.

It all started in 1930 when "Mitch" took part at Cleveland. His only miss was in '33 when he moved from Detroit to Pontiac and did not get a chance to enter. He has competed throughout the country from New York to Seattle by planning his vacations to go with the tournament.

Not only is the longevity part an ABC highlight, but there is also his bowling record. Calbi has never been a big standout in the classic but has always "been in the money." His highest finish was 17th in doubles one year in St. Paul when he teamed with Richard Dildene for 1266.

Although he calls music his business and bowling only a hobby, the popular native of Yonkers, N. Y. has also done well financially in the big Peterson Classic in Chicago by bringing home cash six of 10 tries, Figures he might as well make his hobby pay off.

CALBI

Calbi is a bowling veteran of 48 years but is still going well. He carries a 189 average in the West Side Classic and a 184 mark in the Huron Classic. His average for one 20-year stretch was 193.

★ ★ ★

A 737 among several big series and seven 300 games, all non-sanctioned, are among the thrills "Mitch" will always cherish. His many close friends in the game include Andy Varipapa and Steve Nagy. He has rolled in exhibitions against both pro stars.

The sport has improved tremendously since I started out as a pinboy," says Calbi looking back on the days when alleys were looked down on like beatnik joints are now.

The local 700 chapter and 300 club member is understandably well thought of in ABC circles.

PIN NOTES

There seems to be no end to the new bowling houses being planned for this sector. An establishment will be constructed on Tienken Road west of Rochester Road in Avon Township. Tentative arrangements call for the installing of 24 alleys but the total may go as high as 32.

Lakeland Ladies came up with some good scores at Sylvan Lanes. C. Victor hit 224-559, B. Wallace 204-592, M. Greig 205-502, A. Murphy 535 and J. Mellema 500 on the same night. Harbor Bar leads Sylvan by 2½ points . . . Dale Dillon went from 98 to 222 at Lapeer.

Bill Lees of Morton Grove, Illinois rolled two 156 triplicates within two months . . . A 2618 by Violets is tops for season in Dixie Housewives League . . . Best average in Ladies Huron House belongs to R. Belanger at 159 . . . High school bowling league in 29th year at Rochester, N.Y.

Nieporte Leads by Five Strokes

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—Tom Nieporte was in a new and pleasing position going into today's third round of the $15,000 Azalea Open Golf Tournament.

The Bronxville, N.C., professional, had a five-stroke lead after 36 holes on a 64-68—132 performance through the first two days.

His edge over runner-up Dow Finsterwald of Tequesta, Fla., was the biggest halfway lead of the year on the PGA circuit, now 13 tournaments old.

Finsterwald's 66 was the best of the second round in which 25 men bettered par and 12 matched it.

The leaders:

Tom Nieporte	64-68—132
Dow Finsterwald	71-66—137

The family room is here to stay. That's our own personal opinion. But it seems we have reverted to a former era when Grandma had a parlor she kept nice for company. In homes with family rooms the living room can be kept in better condition since the family spends most of its time in the former rooms. Togetherness has both advantages and disadvantages. Having two rooms for entertaining is such a help.

We can think of no period in recent years when buyers have had the choice of so many new homes. We're a nation of movers. We need more space; the breadwinner's job shifts to a new location; we need less space as the children grow up and leave home; we just want a new house. Whatever our reason for moving, we have a large choice of new houses.

What will satisfy one family is wrong for another. But quality always speaks for itself. And one of the best ways to discover a quality home is to inspect a good many of those offered. Builders are anxious to sell, but buyers will do well to be reluctant to buy until they are sure they have the best house for their money.

In the coming weeks we shall endeavor to show as many of the new homes offered for sale in the Pontiac area as we can. Go model visiting. Then you'll get the home you want at the price you want to pay. We wish you all happy house hunting.

New Synthetic Is Rugged, Practical

Tents, tarpaulins and sleeping bags, wading pools, boat covers, awnings, patio canopies and cabanas are among the many leisure products being manufactured from a new synthetic called Weblon — new accessories to the outdoor life Americans love.

The new product, manufactured from B. F. Goodrich Koroseal vinyl reinforced with either dacron, nylon or fiberglas, depending on the product involved, proved rugged and practical under exhaustive actual use tests, its makers said.

Weblon is claimed to be lightweight, waterproof, dirt-resistant and impervious to stains. Since "built-in" pigment, rather than dye, is a feature of Koroseal vinyl, Weblon's wide range of gay colors will not fade when exposed to sunlight, the announcement said, adding that it is "ideal for upholstery on garden furniture."

Colorful Weblon awnings, opaque or translucent to let light in while shielding interiors from glare, remain flexible even when exposed to extreme temperatures for lengthy periods. And any Weblon product may be stored wet or dry without fear of rot or mildew, said its manufacturer, Weblon, Inc., 11 West 42nd St., New York 36, N. Y.

Plumbing Booklet

The basis of all plumbing is piping. It is important that all piping be adequate in diameter, durable, leakproof, that all joints be tight, and that the piping be pitched or slanted so that it can be drained. These are a few of the suggestions offered in a booklet "What You Should Know About Plumbing" published by the Plumbing - Heating - Cooling Information Bureau, 35 East Wacker Drive, Chicago 1, Ill. Price of the booklet is 10 cents.

The Golden Gate Bridge here was opened for use in 1937. It has a channel span of about 4,200 fet.

Homes Demand Paint Planning

Conceding that it is part and parcel of the house package, the sensible thing is to plan painting just as carefully as any other major phase of the overall construction job. Only in that way can you realize the full aesthetic value while minimizing the frequency of future repaint jobs.

* * *

While most popularly associated with wood, paint is often applied to metal, masonry, plaster and the like. How well it performs depends as much on the way the house is built, as on the quality of the paint and the paint job.

Paint is allergic to moisture; the first prerequisite of a long-lasting paint job is a moisture free background. This emphasizes the need for a tight, well-constructed dwelling.

Regardless of the nature of the painted surface materials, the subsurface structure is of lumber. If the latter is pre-shrunk by proper seasoning, the structure is tight and stable, while its members are virtually free of moisture. Such sound basic conditions are essential to paint durability.

* * *

The same criteria apply to the materials to be painted. If it's wood siding, the lumber should be well seasoned. If it's cement or plaster, the surface should also be thoroughly dry.

Sun and rain are the principal enemies of paint on the exterior walls and windows. Protection from both is provided by surrounding the house on all sides with a big roof overhang, which is also an attractive architectural device.

The paint industry has developed many new formulae which provide infinite color variety and long-lasting qualities. While not as durable as paint, natural finishes for wood show excellent service records, particularly on the home interior.

Applied to "dry" Southern Pine paneling, a good natural finish will last two decades or more before a refinishing job is required.

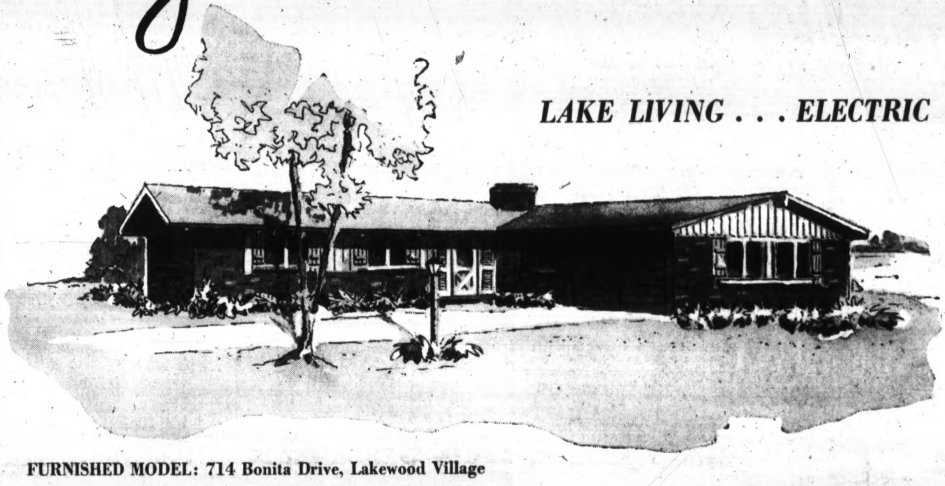
Gold Medallion Home
LAKE LIVING . . . ELECTRIC HEAT!


GOLD MEDALLION HOME — LIVE BETTER ELECTRICALLY

FURNISHED MODEL: 714 Bonita Drive, Lakewood Village

Only at Lakewood Village will you find this thrilling combination of leisurely lake living and a home as modern as tomorrow — surroundings that make every day, winter and summer, a vacation — a home that blends the beauty of contemporary design and decor with the right-for-the-future convenience and comfort of all-electric facilities.

BUILT-IN ELECTRIC APPLIANCES

Gone are the days of routine housework. Built-in General Electric appliances leave you plenty of time to enjoy yourself in the beautiful outdoors of Lakewood Village. There's an electric counter-top range with vent fan and hood — an automatic oven with rotisserie — built-in dishwasher and disposal. And in the utility room, already installed, are automatic washer, electric clothes dryer, and an 80 gallon electric water heater. Always plenty of hot water for all your needs in this modern home!

LIGHT FOR LIVING

Most unusual is the combination effect of studio ceilings and concealed lighting in coves above the kitchen, family and living rooms. Recommended by Detroit Edison's Home Service Division, the dream lighting sets off furnishings and decor in their most handsome appearance, yet provides plenty of illumination for seeing ease in kitchen, laundry and bath. In the bath, too, is a strikingly modern luminous ceiling.

ELECTRIC HEAT

The gentle heat of General Electric baseboard gives a cozy comfort that snuggles you in even, draftless warmth. Individual thermostats mean you can have a different temperature in every room. This wonderful heat is a clean as electric light and just as quiet. You'll never know the joy of true winter comfort until you experience electric heat! The extra insulation means a cooler house in summer, too.

CERTIFIED WIRING

Your guarantee that wiring layout is of the most modern design! The Electrical Association of Detroit certifies that this wiring is right for today's needs and ready for tomorrow's!

LAKE LIVING AT ITS FINEST

Everything you've ever wanted — gorgeous, peaceful views from the picture windows of living room and family room! Here's where you can let yourself go and really enjoy life — year 'round fishing, boating, swimming, water skiing, picnicking — all of it just 20 feet from your back door! and hardly more than a #2 iron shot away, public and private golf courses.

- High, wooded, lakefront lots
- School buses
- Less than an hour to downtown Detroit
- Police and Fire protection
- 400 permanent, ½ acre home sites

Strike May Cast Shade Over Academy Awards

No new talks in the Screen Actors Guild walkout were expected before Tuesday because of the award presentations. Bargaining sessions between the guild and Assn. of Motion Picture Producers were canceled Wednesday and Thursday just when a settlement appeared imminent.

In Memoriam

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear dad, Walter P. Gay who passed away 5 years ago April 2. Please remember in your silent prayers.

Our memories are treasures,
That no one can steal.
Dad took a place in our hearts
That no one can heal.
There are no farewells for dad,
Yes, we know;
We love our dad,
And we loved him so.
Sadly missed by son Douglas and daughter Christine Blower.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF OUR dear husband, Walter Fuller who passed away, April 1, 1959.
Sweet memories will linger forever;
Time cannot change them, it's true,
Years that may come cannot sever,
My loving remembrance of you.
Sadly missed by George and Mary Bowdish.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF ALFRED D. Britton, who passed away 1 year ago, April 2, 1959.
The pearly gates were opened,
And with farewells unspoken,
God took you home.
Sadly missed by wife, Hazel.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF Lewton Horrall, who passed away 1 year ago April 1, 1959.
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kind word for each,
And died beloved by all.
Some day we'll meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp hands in the better land.
Never to part again.
Sadly missed by wife, Henritta Horrall.

IN LOVING MEMORY OF CARL Dipinski who passed away 1 year ago April 2, 1959.
The world may change from year to year,
And friends from day to day;
But never a day goes by I love,
Sadly missed by wife, Lucille.
