BIOLOGY WINS LION'S SHARE OF $329,896 IN GRANTS

Eight major grants totaling $329,896 were accepted in behalf of Oakland University last week by the MSU Board of Trustees. Five of the grants support research in the field of biological science, as follows: two grants totaling $84,347 from the National Institutes of Health to support research on intraocular fluid dynamics, under the direction of V. Everett Kinsey; $61,731 from NIH to seek new knowledge on the mechanism of transport of various substances across intraocular barriers, under the direction of D. V. Reddy; $31,000 from the Atomic Energy Commission in support of research on cellular proliferation and regeneration following tissue damage, under the direction of C. V. Harding; and $35,000 from National Science Foundation for a study on hormonal and genetic control of the development of larval tissue of fruit flies, under the direction of F. M. Butterworth.

The other three grants included $80,418 from the Office of Economic Opportunity for the fourth year of the University's Upward Bound program, under the direction of Manuel Pierson; $29,250 from the U. S. Office of Education for continued development of the Far Eastern language and area studies program, under the direction of S. Bernard Thomas; and $8,150 from the Music Education Fund of Chicago to cover salaries of professional performers during the Meadow Brook Summer School of Music, directed by Wilbur W. Kent, Jr.

SCHOLAR SHOP EXPANDS ITS 'ADVENTURES IN ART' LUNCHEONS

The Scholar Shop will present its second annual series of Adventures in Art luncheons at Trumbull Terrace this summer, coupled with a new program of luncheons highlighted by open rehearsals of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra. Buffet luncheons will be served at the Terrace each Tuesday and Wednesday, from July 8 through August 27. Meals will cost $2, open rehearsal tickets $1, and all other events 50 cents. Proceeds will go into the coffers of the Scholar Shop, profits of which are used exclusively for University scholarship funds.

A panel of artists from southeastern Michigan will give lecture-demonstrations on a variety of art mediums. The schedule of speakers is as follows: July 8--Ray Fleming, abstract painting; July 15--Betty Conn, jewelry; July 22--Mary Fink, fused glass; July 29--Jan Jackson, weaving; August 5--Marie Tappert, art for young people; August 12--Sue Bolt, ceramics; August 19--Vincent Pernicano, leaded glass; and August 26--rain date. In the Wednesday series the July 23 luncheon will feature a floral arrangement demonstration by Masako Kondo; fashion shows will be presented on August 6 and August 13, by Alvin's of Pontiac and Village Store of Birmingham; and the Scholar Shop will hold a summer sale on August 27. The other Wednesday dates coincide with open rehearsals of the Detroit Symphony.

OAKLAND CENTER CONSTRUCTION ALTERS FOOD SERVICE HOURS AND MENUS

With the start of the Summer School session this week, several changes will be in effect in campus food service plans and schedules. The construction in the Oakland Center will cause a complete shutdown of the kitchens until September. This closing results in substantially reduced services. However, the new improved facilities that will become available when construction is completed should make this period of spartan services worth enduring.

The Sunset Cafeteria will be open from 7:30 a.m. to 9:45 p.m. Monday through Friday throughout the summer session. The menu will be limited to cold sandwiches, rolls, donuts, snacks, ice cream novelties, packaged dessert items, and beverages including coffee. The Oakland Room will be closed throughout the summer session.

The Vandenberg dining room will be open for all resident students throughout the summer session. Nonresidents and staff are welcome to take meals in Vandenberg. Guest meal tickets may be purchased for individual meals at the Vandenberg desk. Charges for the meals are breakfast $1, lunch $1.50, and dinner $2. Meal hours Monday through Friday are breakfast 7-8 a.m., lunch noon-1 p.m., and dinner 5-6 p.m.

If a commuter student or staff member desires to have a lunch-only contract weekdays (Monday through Friday) for the eight-week summer session, this may be arranged by contacting the Vandenberg Food Service office. Cost of the contract will be $40. Call ext. 2595 for further information.
