Book Patient for Investigation of Doctor's Death

A patient of Dr. W. Carleton Warrick, who told police he found the dying physician staggering about his downtown office Friday night, has been booked for investigation of murder.

Lloyd Tunnell, 53, was re-arrested at the Public Safety Building last night for questioning in the shooting of the 71-year-old physician. Dr. Warrick died of gunshot wounds Saturday night in Pontiac General Hospital.

LLOYD TUNNELL

Tunnell has been in custody since late Monday night when he was arrested by Redford State Police narcotics squad officers for investigation of violating state narcotics laws.

His arrest in the murder of Dr. Warrick was at 9 p.m., after he was questioned all day by Pontiac detectives and had taken a lie detector test at the Redford State Police Post.

"Tunnell has admitted he lied to us," said Lt. William Nesbitt, commander of the Pontiac Police Detective Bureau.

"He is certainly an important suspect in the case," Nesbitt said.

Tunnell broke down and admitted to police that he left the physician's office at 24½ E. Huron St. after he called police. He said he returned to the physician's second-story office before police arrived.

Tunnell's admission came, Nesbitt said, after officers told him a "very prominent Pontiac citizen" informed them that he'd seen Tunnell leaving the building after the time the patient said he called police.

Tunnell told police he had discovered Dr. Warrick a few moments after the doctor had been shot by a gunman police believed to be a bandit.

He said earlier that he helped the doctor to a couch and stayed with him until police arrived.

Detective Karl Lutz of the Redford State Police Post said that Tunnell "vehemently denied" leaving Dr. Warrick's office in a lie detector test yesterday.

Tunnell was to be given another

U.S. to Ignore Steel Profits

Ike Says They Have No Bearing on Government Action in Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said at his press conference this morning that the U. S. Steel company's profits, as reported last night, have no bearing on whether the government should intervene in behalf of a wage increase for the 500,000 striking steelworkers.

Eisenhower said the government cannot talk about steel wages or profits without appearing to favor one side or the other, and if it does it is in trouble.

Eisenhower repeated his demand for a settlement that will not create or incite inflation, and one achieved by free collective bargaining.

The Steelworkers Union has seized upon the report of record profits by U. S. Steel Corp., the nation's biggest steel producer, to charge that the figures make the industry's strike position "utterly ridiculous."

Meanwhile, a mediator reported after separate talks with both sides in the 15-day-old nationwide strike of a half million steelworkers that there was no change in the position of either side.

A strike threat affecting most of the aluminum industry scheduled for Friday midnight was postponed.

David J. McDonald United Steelworkers president, said the "astronomical profits being reported by steel firms" will convince the public that the steelworkers were forced to strike "by a cold-blooded plan of an industry that wanted and planned this shutdown for its own selfish reasons."

HOLD PRICE LINE

U.S. Steel's board chairman, Roger M. Blough, replied that U.S. Steel would hold the price line, unless the government forced a strike settlement which might change the picture.

He made it clear he expected the industry to follow suit. U.S. Steel produces 28 per cent of the nation's steel, and Blough said competition would keep other companies from raising prices.

Blough said the record profits reported Tuesday were partly the result of increased buying earlier in the year by steel users who expected a strike and wanted to have enough steel on hand.

UAW to Pull Rug From Under Kennedy

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — The powerful United Auto Workers union apparently is preparing to pull the rug out from under Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) in the April 5, 1960, Wisconsin presidential preference primary.

A source close to the UAW said the auto workers "probably" will support Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) in the expected primary test with Kennedy. The UAW plans to actively enter the political arena about the first of the year, according to one of its high ranking officials.

Wisconsin is but one of three primaries, along with Oregon and New Hampshire, where Kennedy and Humphrey are apt to collide. But since New Hampshire is in Kennedy's back yard, Humphrey plans to concentrate his campaigning on the northern states from Wisconsin westward.

Hecklers Pester Nixon but He's Not Too Upset

Thousands of Others Cheer and Nearly Mob Him in Factory Town

SVERDLOVSK, Soviet Union (AP) — Hecklers badgered Vice President Richard M. Nixon on his Soviet Union tour today.

In one free-swinging exchange he asked why Soviet troops are in Poland, Hungary, and East Germany.

The Vice President suggested questioners get their government to stop jamming Voice of America broadcasts so they would learn the truth.

The heckling began at Novosibirsk and appeared again after he had flown to this Ural Mountains city.

Nixon's press spokesman, Herbert Klein, stopped just short of accusing Soviet authorities of priming trusted Communists with unfriendly questions and planting them in the vice president's path.

Nixon did not appear to be unduly upset, but his patience wore thin.

★ ★ ★

Three other hecklers taunted the visitor in Novosibirsk, marring an otherwise friendly welcome in that big western Siberian city 900 miles east of here.

THOUSANDS CHEER

Thousands of persons had greeted him there with cheers and all but mobbed him. Several thousand silently waiting Russians greeted him when he arrived in this industrial center 850 miles east of Moscow.

Eisenhower said today the reception given Nixon in Russia is clear evidence of a friendly feeling by the Russian people for Americans.

Eisenhower also told a news conference that Nixon has every right to discuss with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev a possible visit by the Premier to this country, but has no authority to offer an outright invitation.

THEY'RE IN DEEP — Unfortunately for these Pontiac Press employes, their cars don't float. And no one in this picture is going anywhere for a while. Their cars were half under water in a parking lot by the Pontiac Creek this morning as the creek overflowed, following the heavy rainstorm.

Drain Tops Pop, Homes Flooded, Cars Swamped

Downpour in One Hour Causes Huge Damage; Called Worst in Years

Widespread flooding in the wake of a torrential rain this morning caused production to halt at Pontiac Motor and Fisher Body division.

About 3,000 day-shift workers were sent home when over-loaded storm sewers backed up in both plants.

Hundreds of Pontiac basements were reported flooded and numerous streets temporarily blocked as several inches of rain was dumped on Pontiac within an hour.

The rampaging Pontiac Creek rose over its banks, flooding several homes and businesses and swamping about 25 cars in The Pontiac Press parking lot.

Water 12 to 18 inches deep swirled across N. Saginaw street, washing directly through the front doors of several stores.

The Pontiac General Hospital power house was threatened by 18 inches of water in its basement. The surging Clinton River sent six inches of water flooding over the city's Sewage Treatment Plant.

Mounting pressure within storm drains caused manhole covers to pop "all over the city," police said.

The Department of Public Works said basement flooding was widespread. The DPW was caught short of pumps to rid flooded basements of water.

The Pontiac Motor Division ceased assembly line production at 9:30 a.m. and about 2,000 workers were sent home.

Water shooting up through drains covered most of the main floor, several feet deep in places.

Fisher Body, served by the same storm drain, shut down at 9:45 a.m. About 1,000 assembly workers went home, but some minor activities, such as tool and die, remained in operation.

At 10 a.m., spokesmen at both plants said it was hoped that normal production could be resumed at 4 p.m. today, when the afternoon shifts are scheduled to report for work.

Both plants were expected to announce later today when production would resume.

Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager, said that the Department of Public Works and the Citizens Complaint Bureau had received about 250 trouble calls by 10 a.m., an hour after the heaviest rain had fallen.

Don't Put Raincoats Away, There's More

Well drenched Pontiac residents are faced with more scattered showers or thundershowers tonight through tomorrow, the weatherman says. Low tonight will be a moist 74 degrees.

This morning's rain dropped temperatures of 77 at 8:30 to 69 at 9:45 a.m.

Thursday's high is expected to reach a sizzling 90. Temperatures for the next five days will average near the normal high of 83 and normal low of 63 with tomorrow a little warmer. Friday will be somewhat cooler with a warming trend again Sunday or Monday.

Precipitation will total one-half to one inch in scattered showers tonight, tomorrow and again around Monday.

Today's southerly winds at 8-15 miles and hour will increase to 10-20 miles tonight and tomorrow.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 73. The reading at 2 p.m. was 82.

2-Car Smashup Kills Girl, 9

Four Others Injured; Two Area Drivers to Be Questioned

Oakland County sheriff's deputies today planned to question two drivers involved in a smashup on M24 in Oxford Township which killed a girl and injured four other persons Tuesday night.

Dead is Patricia Jane Sabov, 9, of 895 Glaspie Rd., Oxford Township.

Her father, Kornel, 38, was one of the drivers. Driver of the other car was Donald D. LaPlante, 30, of 14 N. Broadway St., Lake Orion.

Both were treated for minor head and facial injuries at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and released.

Sabov's son, Mark, 5, and wife, Betty, 30, were admitted with head injuries. The boy is in satisfactory condition today and his mother was reported in fair condition by hospital officials.

The Sabov girl was dead on arrival at the hospital at 8:40 p. m.

She was pronounced dead by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. John Naz of Clarkston. Deputies said the girl suffered severe brain injuries.

Initial statements of the two drivers conflicted, deputies said. Sabov said he was stopped facing north on M24 at Drahner road, waiting for southbound traffic to clear so he could make a left turn.

Suddenly the LaPlante car "struck me from behind," deputies quoted Sabov as saying.

LaPlante said Sabov "made a turn from Drahner onto M24 in front of me. I couldn't avoid hitting him," he told deputies.

Damages in Thousands of Dollars

Pontiac Cleans Up After Flood

Pontiac cleaned up in the wake of this morning's flood and reports of heavy damage began mounting.

★ ★ ★

Commercial establishments on downtown Saginaw street were hard hit as well as several hundred homes throughout the city.

Flood waters from the swollen Pontiac Creek extended 100 feet on either bank just north of Huron street. At the peak of the flood, the waters were waist deep.

Basements of a half-dozen homes and several business establishments on N. Cass avenue west of the creek were filled with water.

Willard Henry, 20 N. Cass Ave., said flood waters "just slopped right through" his basement windows, filling the basement to the brim.

About 25 cars in The Pontiac Press parking lot east of the creek were surrounded by window-high flood waters.

The flood had mostly receded by noon, 2½ hours after the heaviest rains were over.

A power failure darkened the Sears Roebuck & Co. store at 9:39 a.m. Transformer chambers below the surface of the alley behind the store had been flooded by 15 feet of water.

★ ★ ★

The auto accessories department behind the main store was flooded by two inches of water while the sub-basement utility room below the main store had water 1½ feet deep.

Gerald O. Jones, Sears sales manager, said he feared that the electric furnace motors were damaged.

Two feet of water flooded through a window into the basement of Wiggs Colony Shop, 24 W. Huron St. George Richman, the owner, said there was several thousand dollars damage to furniture on display in the basement.

N. Saginaw street was under 12 to 18 inches of water at the high point of the flood. Passing cars washed waves directly through the front doors of several stores.

There were three inches of water inside the front door of Western Auto Store, 16 N. Saginaw, and another three in the basement.

Employes of one store dyked the flooding waters with a wall of rags.

There were eight inches of water in the basement of Peggy's Women's Apparel, 16 N. Saginaw St. "It was the worst flood in our history," said co-owner Marvin Barnett.

Barnett said there was "considerable" damage to stock.

Perry street in front of the Roosevelt Hotel was covered by several feet of water at one time and after the storm children went wading there.

Dems Elect 2 Congressmen

3 Hawaiian Posts to GOP

Republican William F. Quinn won a spectacularly close contest for the 50th state's governorship, and his running mate easily won the lieutenant governorship.

Two of Hawaii's three-member congressional delegation are of Asian ancestry—one a Democrat of Japanese descent and the other a Republican of Chinese parentage.

Unofficial but virtually complete returns from Hawaii's 240 precincts gave Quinn 82,514 to 80,083 for Democrat John A. Burns.

VICTORIOUS FOR SENATE

Democrat Daniel K. Inouye swamped Republican Charles K. Silva 108,343 to 49,304 in the race for the lone House seat.

The present House lineup is 282 Democrats, 153 Republicans and one vacancy. The Senate has 64 Democrats and 34 Republicans.

Quinn's GOP running mate, Hawaii-born James K. Kealoha, easily defeated Japanese - American Mitsuyuki Kido 85,593 to 73,755 for the lieutenant governorship.

After Burns had conceded, Quinn said: "I think the State of Hawaii will have to make quick use of the outstanding services of Jack Burns."

Fong, son of a poor Chinese farmer, and Inouye, Japanese-American World War II hero, will be the first legislators of Chinese and Japanese ancestry to serve in Congress.

Fong was the only Republican supported by Harry Bridges' International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union. The rest of the union's endorsement went to Democrats. The union claims 24,000 sugar, pineapple and dock workers in Hawaii.

SURPRISE SHOWING

By winning three of the five top offices in the 50th state's first election Tuesday, Republicans made a surprise showing.

Democrats had been favored on the strength of a strong primary election showing a month ago and their successive victories in every Hawaii territorial election since 1954.

Inouye, much decorated war veteran who lost his right arm in combat, had the easiest contest. His opponent, Silva, is a dentist currently serving as Hawaii's director of public institutions.

In defeating Tsukiyama, 62, Long beat the elder statesman of the islands' politicians of Japanese ancestry. Fasi, 38, beaten by Fong, settled in the islands after World War II and was a senator in the last territorial Legislature as was Inouye.

Quinn, 40, last appointed governor and first elected one, won in a contest that saw the lead change four times.

The election brought out a record vote estimated at 170,000 or 93 per cent of the 183,000 registered voters.

Say American Teeners Lead Soft School Lives

And high schools are so sugar coated with extracurricular activities and social events that they seem more like child's play than a serious occupation for intelligent young people.

That's the consensus among a cross-section of 1,170 teenagers from 35 countries who have just completed their senior year as exchange students in high schools in every part of the United States. They're now taking a month-long nationwide bus tour before returning to their own countries in August.

Used to staggering schedules with a dozen or more major subjects and required to put in more time on homework than American teens give to dating, spinning records, and watching TV, the foreign young people found our high schools a breeze. Even those who spoke only elementary English when they reached the United States last August had no trouble sailing through their senior year here.

Henry's Charge of Bias Denied

City Personnel Office Says All Applicants Are Treated Fairly

The Pontiac city Personnel Office deals "fairly and impartially" with applicants for the police department, it was declared today.

The office is "definitely not" prejudiced against applicants because of race, creed or color, said Harold E. Marshall, personnel director.

Marshall made the statement in answer to assertions hurled by City Commissioner Milton R. Henry at last night's commission meeting.

Henry said he was angered over the case of Herman M. Walton, 44-year-old former Pontiac patrolman who Monday asked Marshall for reinstatement on the police force.

Marshall told Walton that he would not automatically be reinstated but must apply for the job under the same conditions as any other applicant. He added that Walton's over age and present residence would be considered against him.

Walton, 16 years over the age limit, now lives in Chicago, Ill., where he is a weighmaster for the city.

At present, Marshall said, it is the city's policy to consider applicants between 21 and 28 who live within Oakland County.

Saying that "something is wrong in Mr. Marshall's office," Henry last night challenged the personnel director "to give me one good reason why Walton wasn't reinstated."

Walton served as a patrolman 1943-1952, winning two citations for meritorious service. He was a city constable 1952-1954.

Eastern Half of Country Hot, Humid

By The Associated Press

The nation's weather showed only minor changes today as a flow of warm moist air maintained the warm and humid pattern over most of eastern half of the country.

Showers broke out in widely scattered sections in the tropical air belt Tuesday and during the night. More showers were in prospect in many areas.

Fair weather was the rule from the Pacific Coast across the plateau region into the northern Rockies and much of the northern half of the plains as well as much of New England and the middle Atlantic Coast.

Tuesday's shower activity covered areas from the southern half of the plains into the middle and south Atlantic states and the Great Lakes region. Gusty winds were reported in Alabama, with Birmingham reporting gusts up to 50 m.p.h. Heavy rain fell in North Carolina, with Wilmington doused with nearly two inches in a six-hour period. Showers also sprinkled the southern half of the Rocky Mountain states.

The late July cool weather from the Pacific Northwest into the northern Rockies kept temperatures in the 60s and 70s Tuesday. But they soared far past 100 degrees again in the Southwest desert region, with a high of 114 at Needles, Calif. Readings above 100 degrees also were reported in the northern plains, with Bismarck, N.D., reporting 105.

Hoffa Charges Kennedy Politics in Rackets Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Teamster boss James R. Hoffa charged today that Robert F. Kennedy, chief counsel of the Senate Rackets Committee, has "deliberately distorted the truth . . . in a mad desire to advertise his brother's candidacy for president."

The chief counsel's brother, Sen. John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts, is among the front-runners for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

Hoffa apeared on NBC-TV's "Today" program to answer charges by counsel Kennedy that the teamster union is run by "racketeers and gangsters who have misused their position for personal gain."

"Mr. Kennedy is very careless with the truth," Hoffa said in reply. ". . . in a mad desire to advertise his brother's candidacy, (he) has deliberately distorted the truth."

Of yesterday's test, Lutz said: "There is something wrong with his story. I am deeply concerned with the results."

The officer refused to elaborate until after questioning Tunnell again this afternoon.

"I wanted to see for myself if they were coming," he said. He walked to the corner of Huron and Perry streets, then returned to Dr. Warrick's office, he said.

Tunnell was in the doctor's office when police arrived.

The doctor was shot twice, in the hand and abdomen.

Investigators from the State Police Crime Lab, Sgt. Wallace Van Stratt and Det. Charles Meyers, combed Dr. Warrick's office for clues yesterday afternoon.

They took three bullets and four shells found earlier in the office, together with the murdered man's clothing, back to East Lansing for analysis.

Tunnell told Assistant Oakland County Prosecutor Jerome K. Barry that he had received prescriptions for a synthetic narcotic known as demerol from Dr. Warrick.

Dr. Warrick was one of several area physicians writing prescriptions for demerol for use by Tunnell's patients, said Lt. Raymond E. Meggitt, head of the Pontiac Police Special Investigations Unit.

Detectives said Tunnell admitted taking the drug himself.

Several doctors had refused to issue prescriptions to Tunnell, officers said, because they felt the drug was not being used properly.

Tunnell and his wife own the rest home at which they live. They also operate the Sunsetview Rest Home, 17 S. Williams Lake Rd., White Lake Township.

Police questioned Tunnell's wife last night. She admitted that several perscriptions for demerol had been made out in her name but said she did not use the drug.

She was not held.

Tunnell told police he went to Dr. Warrick's office Friday evening upon returning from a vacation in Springfield, Mo.

Tunnell told police he lied about leaving the doctor's office because "I felt you might think I was trying to run away."

ATTACK AND COUNTERATTACK — United Steelworkers president, David J. McDonald, points to a U. S. Steel Corp. income report and charges the industry inflation issue is phony. Meanwhile, U. S. Steel chairman, Roger Blough, demands a voluntary strike settlement in return for a pledge not to raise the price of steel. The announcements followed release of figures showing that the nation's biggest steelmaker piled up a record half year of profits.

This amounted to a return of 10 cents on every dollar of sales, and equaled $4.50 a share. It compared with a previous record of $231,421,308, or $4.07 a share, in the first half of 1957.

★ ★ ★

The steel industry has refused to grant union demands for a wage increase, claiming that any increase in labor cost would force a price increase and contribute to inflation.

★ ★ ★

The union claims the companies can afford a wage increase without raising prices, and points to steel profits in an attempt to prove it.

★ ★ ★

The industry has offered to consider a modest increase if the union would allow it to cut labor costs by changing some plant work rules it considers wasteful. But the union has refused, saying that to do so would be to give up past gains.

★ ★ ★

There the matter has stayed, resulting in the shutdown of 90 per cent of the nation's steel production.

The union seeks a 15-cent hourly annual increase. At the time of the strike steelworkers averaged $3.10 an hour.

The Steelworkers Union and other unions made similar demands in the aluminum industry, and they were turned down. Aluminum wages range between $2.76 and $2.91 an hour.

★ ★ ★

The Steelworkers Union and the Big Three companies involved — The Aluminum Co. of America, the Reynolds Metals Co., and the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp.—agreed Tuesday to extend current contacts 30 days beyond the steel settlement date, or until next Nov. 1, whichever is earlier. The agreement would be retroactive to Aug. 1. It covers about 30,000 of the Big Three's 58,000 production workers.

Thanks to Power Shovel Operator

Four Children Are Safe

Four children were saved by a fast-thinking power shovel operator from being crushed to death in Royal Oak yesterday. The youngsters ran off too frightened to say thank you.

Leonard Hicks, 33, of Livonia, has operated the huge shovels since he was 15. He was pulling a 1,000 gallon gasoline tank out of the ground at a filling station yesterday to make room for a new tank.

As the old tank tore loose it loosened the foundation of a 20-foot steel sign. The sign began to topple.

Hicks saw the children playing underneath the sign. He swung the big shovel over, hitting the falling sign and deflecting it from the children.

Atlas Thunders 5,000 Miles

Today's ICBM Success Punctuates Denial We Are Losing Race

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — A revamped Atlas intereontinental ballistic missile thundered 5,000 miles last night to punctuate congressional queries into whether we are losing the missile race with Russia.

It was the second straight Atlas success after five consecutive failures. However, a minimum of two additional test flights probably will be necessary before the huge war rocket reaches operational readiness.

About 1½ hours after launching, the Air Force announced the shoot apparently was a complete success.

The Air Force today abandoned the search for a data capsule that rode 5,500 miles in the nose cone of the Atlas.

Recovery of the capsule would have been a bonus. The main objective of the test was to fly the Atlas its full range. The successful flight last night boosted U.S. hopes for an operational ocean-spanning war rocket.

Recovery ships and planes hunted several hours for the capsule, which apparently sank in the ocean near Ascension Island.

Last night's launching gave a dramatic punch to earlier statements by a top Air Force officer in Washington that there was "no cause for alarm" over the string of misfirings, ranging from Feb. 20 to June 6. The last successful shoot was July 21.

Lt. Gen. Bernard A. Schriever, Air Force research chief, told a House committee yesterday he was confident the Air Force would succeed in eliminating the troubles.

Heat, Shadflies Plague Queen in Canada

FREDERICTON, New Brunswick (UPI) — A heat wave took the starch out of Canada's royal tour today and appeared likely to keep it informal until Queen Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, fly home from Halifax Saturday.

First signs that the 15-mile royal journey was losing some of the stiffness for which some Canadians have criticized it came yesterday when the Queen went hatless in Fredericton. Others cropped up during the day as the temperature soared to 98 degrees and the humidity became almost unbearable.

The last straw came last night, when the Queen spent nearly as much time swatting shadflies from her face and neck with a race card as she did studying the form charts in the three sulky races she sat through with a crowd of 4,000.

2,000 Businesses Do Promotion With Pens

CHICAGO (UPI)—About 2,000 different types of business firms in the U.S. promote their services or products by distributing ball point pens with messages imprinted on them.

These companies range from funeral homes to dental laboratories, according to one manufacturer of the pens (Paper Mate), who also reported printing a message in Arabic for a Saudi Arabian customer. What the message said, the manufacturer doesn't know.

Pleads Claustrophobia in Prison Term Appeal

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A St. Louis car dealer under a four-year prison sentence for income tax evasion asked U.S. Dist. Court Tuesday to reduce or suspend his sentence or place him on probation.

The petition filed by Adolph C. Burger said—among other things —that he suffers from claustrophobia—fear of narrow spaces.

Senate Nearing Use Tax Accord

From Our News Wires

LANSING — The Senate Tax Committee neared agreement today on a package designed to yield 118 million dollars, primarily through a penny hike in the use (sales) tax.

Work in committee was interrupted at 12:15 p.m. for lunch.

The committee will set the stage for Senate passage later in the day and a possible Senate-House bargaining session tomorrow.

The committee was expected to follow a GOP caucus instruction to lop off the corporation profits tax off a House-approved package built around the use tax increase.

Senate Republicans indicated they were willing to compromise with taxes on beer and business activities if the House insisted on more revenue.

The Senate GOP counter-proposal to a "compromise" plan approved by the House last Friday got caucus blessing yesterday. Rep. Joseph J. Kowalski of Detroit, Democratic House leader, promptly labeled it "unrealistic."

"I hope we will have bipartisan House rejection," he said.

FOUR SPECIAL POINTS

1. Flat rejection of the House stand for a two per cent tax on corporation profits, the lone concession to Democrats in last week's "compromise."

2. A four per cent tax on telephone bills, estimated to yield $8,300,000 in 1959-60 and 10 million dollars in a full fiscal year.

3. A jump from the present 1½ to four per cent in the sales tax on drug prescriptions. Value: about $500,000 a year.

The Day in Birmingham

Kitchen Fire Damages Home, Awning Burns

BIRMINGHAM — Firemen answered two minor calls in the city yesterday.

A kitchen fire at the home of Robert E. Clark 1275 Golfview Dr., did an estimated $75 to $100 damage, according to Chief Park Smith of the Birmingham Fire Department.

The fire which occurred at 7:28 p.m. resulted when heating grease on the stove ignited and spread to the cupboards above.

At 9:33 p.m. firemen were called to the F. J. Mulholland Co. store, 233 N. Woodward Ave., to put out a fire which had set the store awning ablaze. Damage was limited to the awning, and Chief Smith made no estimate of the loss.

Birmingham's Senior Men's Club will hear a talk at its 10:30 a.m. meeting Friday by Dr. Walter Grimala, a professor at Wayne State University.

Dr. Grimala will speak on the topic, "The American Creed."

The meeting is scheduled for the Birmingham Community House.

Arrangements to buy furniture for the new Groves Junior-Senior High School at 13-Mile and Evergreen roads, Beverly Hills, were made recently by the Birmingham Board of Education.

Approved were the $6,775.80 bid of the Brunswick Co. for business education furniture and its $9,815.40 bid for cafeteria tables and chairs.

In other board of education business, a slight increase in student accident insurance was approved. The new cost will be $2 per year, a 60-cent increase. The insurance covers students enroute to and attending school functions.

James C. Sutherland

Service for James C. Sutherland, 88, of 2146 Brook St., Keego Harbor, a former Bloomfield Highlands resident, will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home, Birmingham. Burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery, Troy.

Mr. Sutherland died yesterday at a Pontiac hospital after a long illness.

He was a landscape gardener in the Bloomfield area and Boer War veteran of the Canadian Army.

Move to Hobble Road Building

Committee of House Refuses Ike's Plan to Hike Gasoline Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee voted today for a slowdown on construction of the interstate highway system. This would mean sharply reduced annual allocations of federal funds to the states.

★ ★ ★

Rejecting administration demands for an increase in the federal gasoline tax, the committee proposed that a current financial emergency be met in this fashion:

1. Issue up to a billion dollars of highway revenue bonds.

2. Extend the program four years beyond the present 1972 termination date.

This plan, if approved by Congress, would slash scheduled highway building allocations to the states from 2½ billion dollars to 600 million in the 1961 fiscal year starting next July 1. Allocations for ensuing years would be cut sharply below the present schedule.

The federal government supplies 90 per cent of funds for construction of the interstate system.

The committee vote was 15-10.

The Eisenhower administration has opposed issuance of special highway bonds, contending this would create inflationary pressures and interfere with sales of other government securities.

President Eisenhower proposed that difficulties in financing the present program be met by raising the federal gasoline tax from the present 3 cents a gallon to 4½ cents.

Pontiac Reels Under Damaging Rains

"the worst in years." The amount of water dropped on Pontiac resembled what drain officials describe as "a 10-year rain." That is, a rain that is so heavy and sudden in volume that it presents a drain problem that occurs only once in about every 10 years.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac's storm drains are not built to handle a ten-year rain adequately, nor are the drains in most cities.

The sewage treatment plant, where the Clinton River delivered the accumulated storm waters, was a "shambles" this morning, said John Hennessey, plant superintendent.

The flooded Clinton overflowed through the spillway, sending six inches of water swirling around the plant office.

Harold B. Euler, Pontiac General administrator, said the powerhouse came "dangerously near" to being knocked out by the flood.

The hospital has auxiliary power in case of damage to the power house.

"But it developed that we didn't have enough pumps to pump out the power house basement ourselves," Euler said.

Working ankle-deep in water, pressmen were able to save virtually all of about 75 tons of newsprint stored in the basement. Only about 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of paper was destroyed.

Police reported only one power line was down in Pontiac, on Porter street.

The intersection of Joslyn avenue and Montcalm street was temporarily under water and impassable, they said. Other severe flooding occurred on Rockwell street and Walnut street, according to initial reports.

One parking lot was so flooded that water "was up to the doors" of the cars parked there, according to an Oakland County sheriff's deputy. This was behind the WKC store on N. Saginaw street.

Areas surrounding Pontiac reported steady rain this morning, but little or no flooding.

In Rochester, lightning struck the fire department's siren on top of a downtown retail store, putting it out of order temporarily.

In Troy, utility wires were downed earlier today by an electrical storm that struck about 5:30 a.m.

Little Rock Segregationist Blasts Voters

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Angered by his crushing defeat in a primary election for traffic judge here, an ousted member of the Little Rock School Board last night blasted segregationists, failure to support him.

Robert W. Laster, traffic judge since 1957, ran third in a three-way contest for the Democratic nomination yesterday.

Of segregationists Laster said: "They can go to blazes. They wanted a standard bearer to lead them and then they let him down."

Laster — who once said he intended to be governor of Arkansas someday — was elected to the school board last Dec. 6 on a strong segregationist platform. The voters recalled him and two other board members May 25 after the trio had voted to fire 44 teachers for what they called integrationist sympathies.

To Compensate Dockmen

Get Automation Benefits

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Probably the first major labor contract to share the benefits of automation with workers has been agreed upon by leaders of 17,000 West Coast longshoremen and waterfront employers.

★ ★ ★

The agreement was reached late Tuesday by negotiators for Harry Bridges' independent International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union (ILWU) and the Pacific Maritime Assn.

The old contract expired June 15. The new one, subject to ratification by both sides, would run three years. Work continued under contract extension during negotiations.

In return for the union's promise to furnish competent personnel to man labor-saving devices, the employers agree to contribute a 1½-million-dollar fund during the first year of the pact as payment for the men's share of increased productivity.

Other gains reported include:

Wage raises of 11 cents an hour for longshoremen and 12½ cents for clerks, bringing the latter up to longshore parity within three years.

Improved vacation clauses, making jury duty count toward qualifying time and providing an extra week for 25-year men under certain conditions.

★ ★ ★

An added one-cent per hour employer contribution to the welfare fund if its balance drops below $100,000.

Coffee breaks.

The wage payments are retroactive to June 15.

Polaris Chief on the Carpet

Adm. Raborn Called In to Explain Test Failures for Sub Rocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rear Adm. William F. Raborn, chief of the Navy's Polaris missile program, was called by the House Space Committee today to explain recent test failures in the rocket.

"We know the Polaris still is in the embryonic state," Chairman Overton Brooks (D- La) told a reporter, "but there appear to have been some delays and we would like to learn why."

Raborn is director of the Navy's Special Projects Office which oversees developments of the fleet ballistic missiles weapons system.

★ ★ ★

Navy officials deny suggestions that there has been any delay in development of the Polaris, a solid - fueled missile designed for launching from submarines whether surfaced or submerged.

★ ★ ★

Original plans, they say, called for having the Polaris ready for combat fleet duty by 1965. But, they add, at the request of the Defense Department that target date has been cut to late 1960 by sacrificing some of the missile's range.

"That target date of late 1960 still stands," a Navy spokesman said, "but we've had to cut the range from 1,500 miles to 1,200."

To date, there have been 33 firings of Polaris test rockets. Of these, the spokesman described 24 as "accomplishing all test objectives and seven as achieving the objectives only partially."

Two other missels exploded on launching.

One Houseful of 150 Cats Gets Neighbors' Goats

GLENDALE, Calif. (UPI)—Two women who face trial on charges of keeping 147 more cats than the legal limit of three pleaded today for "sympathetic understanding" from their annoyed neighbors.

"What will happen to our family," asked Aura Hardison. "We do not breed our cats, but merely provide a home for the homeless."

But in court yesterday when the women were arraigned, Richard L. Vernon, who lives two houses away said:

"I know this is America and the women have certain liberties, but this has gone beyond reason. Everyone has a right to a hobby but this defies convention."

And Bob Meyer, another neighbor, said he attends Glendale College and finds studying hard going.

1 of 8 Americans Will Be Hospitalized in Next 12 Months

What Do You Know About Hospitals?

(Editor's Note: The chances are that you or some member of your family will occupy a hospital bed at some time in the coming year. How much do you know about hospitals — the various types, the charges they make and why, what sort of care the different hospitals offer? This is the first of two dispatches on the American hospital system.)

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — About 20,000,000 Americans, or nearly one of every eight persons in the country, will enter a hospital in the coming 12 months.

In each case, questions will be asked: What sort of hospital shall I go to? What kind of care will I get? Will I be able to afford it? Do all hospitals charge the same?

The answers, of course, depend on the type of ailment, the neighborhood in which you live, your doctor and — to some extent — your financial situation.

But there are certain generalities that can be helpful to anyone faced with the prospect of entering a hospital.

First, the bed you occupy in all likelihood will be one of 709,446 in the nation's network of 5,546 general hospitals. Of all hospital admissions in the past year, 95.4 per cent were to such institutions. The rest were new admissions to mental hospitals, TB sanitoria, and other special hospitals.

From a management and financial standpoint, your hospital will be one of four types: the voluntary, non-profit hospital; the proprietary, profit-making hospital; the federal hospital; or a city, county or state operated hospital.

Almost two-thirds of all patients enter the voluntary, non-profit hospitals. Voluntary means that the hospital, historically, was set up voluntarily to fill an unmet community need. Non-profit means it is not in business to make money. If such a hospital shows a profit, the money is poured back into the hospital to improve it.

Such a hospital is tax-exempt. This privilege, to some extent, is earned by a promise to keep its doors open to all—those who can't pay as well as to those who can. As a result, such hospitals get many charity patients. In many localities, city, county or state funds reimburse these hospitals for a share of the charity care.

Money to run the voluntary, non-profit hospital comes from paying patients, either directly when a patient digs into his pocket and turns over cash, or through hospital insurance, such as Blue Cross. Through charity care reimbursement from public money or gifts from charitable organizations and persons, or both, the hospitals endeavor to break even.

Many voluntary, non-profit hospitals shoulder certain educational functions — such as the training of nurses, interns (student doctors) and other medical personnel.

The voluntary, non-profit hospital must be non-sectarian, even if it is nominally run by a religious group. Its destiny is normally in the hands of a board of community leaders who serve without pay.

By contrast, the proprietary, profit making hospitals usually are set up as corporate structures to make a profit. Six and a-half per cent of all admissions last year were to such hospitals.

These hospitals pay taxes. They admit only paying patients. Only in emergencies do such hospitals administer to the needs of those who cannot pay.

The proprietary hospital, in effect, slices that part of the hospital service pie that it knows can be served up with a profit. Except for swank gold coast rooms, the proprietary hospital rooms, private and semi-private, cost about the same as similar rooms in voluntary, non-profit hospitals.

But the proprietary, profit-making hospitals, as a group, in addition to not handling charity patients do not maintain as many seldom-used facilities as do the voluntary hospitals. Thus their operating costs, or "overhead," are smaller.

The proprietary hospitals provide services that can be offered at a profit. The voluntary, non-profit hospitals endeavor to offer comprehensive services to both paying and non-paying (charity) patients, in addition to absorbing nurse-training and other medical instruction costs.

Federal hospitals are different again. Their money comes from Uncle Sam. Their patients, as a rule, do not pay. They are primarily veterans with or without service-connected disabilities, and servicemen, plus their dependents.

Veteran's Administration hospitals are an example. Public Health Service Hospitals are another. Walter Reed Hospital in Washington is, perhaps, the best known of the federal hospitals.

The federal hospitals carry a part of the educational function, especially in the training of young doctors who want to qualify for specialties. If they have money problems, expenses exceeding budget, they battle them out with the Budget Bureau.

Last year, 5.9 per cent of hospital admissions were to federal hospitals. Most of the doctors in such hospitals are salaried. In the voluntary, non-profit hospitals the salaried staff doctor is the exception. In the profit-making hospitals, the doctors who own the hospitals may split the profits.

Salaried, too, are the doctors in hospitals operated by city, county or state governments. Such hospitals are tax-supported and are operated principally for the benefit of charity patients. Some of these hospitals also bear part of the educational burden, helping, as do the federal hospitals to train young doctors.

The over-flow from the city, state or county hospitals goes to the voluntary, non-profit hospitals in most localities. That is because the city, county and state fathers find it more economical, and in some cases better for the patients, to send them to the voluntary hospitals. Funds are allocated to pay the voluntary hospitals for the patients they get this way.

Last year, 18 per cent of admissions were to the tax-supported local hospitals, placing them, from a patient-load standpoint, right behind the voluntary, non-profit hospitals. The profit-making hospitals, in terms of patients cared for, stand third and the federal hospitals, fourth.

Which type of hospital is best? None is fly-by-night. Each must meet certain standards to belong to the American Hospital Association. In addition, in many places, there are local and state licensing requirements to meet.

But, as in the automotive business there is a difference between a six-cylinder car and a twelve-cylinder one, there are differences concerning the level of quality of hospital care.

In the hospital business, the equivalent of 12-cylinders is something called "Accreditation by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals."

The commission, with headquarters in Chicago, is composed of representatives from the American Medical Association, the American College of Physicians and the American Hospital Association.

When a hospital seeks accreditation, the commission sends factfinders to inspect the hospital and evaluate the quality of patient care. Physical plant, governing body, medical staff, nursing service, administration and the medical department are given a thorough going-over. One qualification for accreditation is that the hospital offers services "of a quality more intense than minimum."

Accreditation has come to be a symbol of patient safety. In recent years, there has been increasing public pressure on hospitals to become accredited. Of 368 federal medical and surgical hospital, 256 are accredited; 2,039 of the 3,060 voluntary ones are; 131 of the estimated 900 proprietary ones are; and 445 of 1,147 city, county and state ones bear the accreditation stamp.

The accreditation certificate usually may be found, framed, in the main lobby of a hospital or near the bank of elevators on the first floor. Or you can ask to see it, or check with your doctor.

FRIEBURG, Germany (UPI) — Doctors yesterday reported that a thorough medical examination had shown King Ibn Saud of Saudi Arabia to be in "good health," although he "suffers from some blood pressure" trouble.

Fight Promoter to Go in Hiding

Jackie Leonard Claims Underworld Has Price on His Head

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Boxing promoter Jackie Leonard said today the underworld has a "price on my head" and that he will go into hiding.

Leonard said he would put his home in suburban Northridge up for sale today. A mysterious fire caused $1,000 damage to a bedroom of the home Sunday night.

"I will tell no one where I locate," he said. "Perhaps my family will have a little peace."

Leonard said the blaze was preceded by a number of telephone threats. He said the threats resulted from his testimony on hoodlum influences in boxing.

Police have been guarding him since his appearance before a grand jury probe. But yesterday Police Chief William H. Parker charged that Leonard hasn't been cooperating.

Parker issued a formal statement calling Leonard "very difficult to work with." He said Leonard has refused to cooperate with officers assigned to protect him, has revealed that recording devices were installed at the home and has failed to carry out police instructions.

Last June 3 Leonard was found unconscious in his garage. He said two men attacked him. Police said they believed he had injured himself in a fall after blacking out.

Abraham Lincoln was both an officer and enlisted man in the Blackhawk Indian war in 1832. He was first a captain volunteer, and got his discharge at the end of a month. He reenlisted immediately as a private.

Blue Water Bridge to Cut Vehicle Fares

PORT HURON (AP) — Car and truck fares on the Blue Water Bridge connecting Port Huron and Sarnia, Ont., are going to be cut.

The Michigan State Bridge Commission said Tuesday passenger car fares will be reduced from 50 cents to 25 cents and truck fares reduced 20 per cent effective Aug. 1.

The commission said the cuts were part of its long range drive to make the bridge completely toll free.

Recent nutrition research studies reveal that millions of Americans, regardless of income, are getting less than the minimum daily amount of calcium recommended by the National Research Council.

How calcium starvation affects you.

Lack of calcium in the diet has a slow degenerating affect which may remain hidden for years. It can result in: Premature wrinkles and "leathery" skin that add years to your appearance. Excessive irritability, tense frayed nerves. Shorter "prime of life" that reduces your span of active, vigorous years. Lack of calcium can also cause improper functioning of heart muscles. And when your diet does not supply sufficient calcium for daily needs, the body withdraws calcium from the bones for use in the blood and soft tissues. This causes bones to become brittle—easily broken—especially among older people.

How much calcium do you need?

National Research Council recommends 800 milligrams of calcium daily for adults, 1000 to 1400 milligrams of calcium daily for children, depending upon their age. This is the amount of calcium supplied by three to five glasses of milk.

Most foods supply only slight amounts of calcium.

In order to get the calcium provided by 1 quart of milk you would have to eat: 7½ lbs. of carrots, 39 eggs, 27 lbs. of potatoes, 28 oranges or 6¾ lbs. of cabbage. Milk is the only practical source of calcium.

Children (up to age 12) . . . 3 glasses daily
Teen-agers (age 13 to 19) . . . 4 glasses daily
Adults (age 20 and over) . . . 3 glasses daily
Expectant mothers . . . 4 glasses daily
Nursing mothers . . . 6 glasses daily

Why milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

In addition to calcium, milk contains more of the essential nutrients—including proteins, vitamins and minerals—than any other food. Far from being fattening, milk is recommended for reducing diets because it supplies more nourishment per calorie than other foods. Whole, fresh milk also supplies more nourishment per dollar than other foods. From the standpoint of nutritional value, nutritional balance and simple economy, milk is nature's most nearly perfect food.

Canal Bottles Navy; Midshipmen Fly

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP)—The Welland Canal's current ship jam forced the Navy into the air today to return 500 Naval Academy midshipmen to Annapolis on schedule.

The midshipmen were brought over the International Border to Niagara Falls Air Force Base by bus. Then they boarded fifteen C47 and three C54 transport planes.

The midshipmen had been taking their summer cruise aboard ships of the Navy's "Operation Inland Sea," celebrating opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway by visiting Great Lakes ports.

As many as 10 Navy ships have been held up during the past few days by the shipping jam at the upper end of the Welland, a 27-mile waterway connecting Lakes Erie and Ontario. Biggest contingent of midshipmen was aboard the cruiser USS Macon, which began its Welland passage today after a two-day wait in line.

No New Life at Geneva

Herter and Gromyko to Meet for Lunch but Hope Is Dim

GENEVA (UPI) — An exchange of written proposals for a Berlin settlement failed to inject any new life into the Geneva Conference today and even served to harden the eight and one-half-week old deadlock between East and West.

The U.S., British, French and West German foreign ministers were meeting this morning to see if they could find any hope of compromise in the rival plans, submitted yesterday. But indications were the conference again was nearing the breakup stage.

Later, U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko planned to discuss the conflicting proposals at lunch in Herter's villa.

By mutual agreement, the Soviet and Western documents were to be kept secret until tomorrow, but reliable reports described them mostly as written reaffirmations of the opposing viewpoints outlined verbally by Russia and the West during the course of the conference.

Observers believed that both Russia and the West already were resigned to a "disengagement" from the foreign ministers meeting. The next question confronting the Western powers was whether they should attempt to pick up the stalemated negotiations at the summit level.

Eight Mile Drain Bond Issue Still Being Discussed

The municipal Finance Commission took no action yesterday on a proposed $4,400,000 bond issue for construction of the Eight Mile Drain.

Claude Stevens, attorney for the Oakland County Drain Commission, still is studying an attorney general's memo advising the Finance Commission that the bond issue is illegal in its present form.

Attorney General Paul Adams declined to comment on what grounds of illegality his advisement was based.

Stevens said he also "would not care to make a statement" until he has the opportunity to talk to Adams to discuss the interpretation of the bond issue.

Stevens said he would make the trip to Lansing next week.

Rights Bill Loses Hiring Bias Teeth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee struck from a pending civil rights bill today President Eisenhower's proposal for a commission to enforce nondiscrimination in employment on government contracts.

The vote, taken behind closed doors, was reported to have been 16-12, not divided along party lines.

Committee sources, asking not to be quoted by name, said that not only Southern opposition, but fears that the provision might bring on conflicts with labor unions, figured in the discussions.

Vernor Appeal Thrown Out

Judge Rules Widow Is Not Legal Beverage Firm Heir

The motion to dismiss the appeal of Mrs. Shirley C. Vernor, Bloomfield Township widow of James Vernor III, this morning was granted.

Circuit Court Judge H. Russel Holland ruled to dismiss the appeal on the grounds that she is not a legal heir to her deceased husband's estate.

Mrs. Vernor had appealed a Probate Court order that a majority of common stock in the Detroit beverage firm be sold to outside investment firms for $2,350,000.

If realized, the sale would mark the first time that controlling interest would be held by other than members of the Vernor family.

A hearing on the appeal was never held.

Blocking it was a motion to dismiss the appeal filed by the executor of the estate and relatives by marriage to Mrs. Vernor, who also are stockholders in the company.

Mrs. Vernor received the decision calmly.

"It is what we expected," she said. "We will take it to the supreme court and fight it."

By law, she has 20 days in which to do just that.

Judge Holland's opinion stated: "By reason of her husband's transfer during his lifetime of all his interests in his father's estate to an irrevocable trust, Shirley C. Vernor has no interest in the estate of James Vernor Sr., as an heir of her husband James Vernor Jr.

★ ★ ★

"This is the very essence of this entire matter and is the point upon which this case turns."

George W. Cherry, attorney for the widow, said:

"We don't agree with him (Holland) on this point. I don't think that fact makes any difference. The fact is that Mrs. Vernor is an aggrieved party and has a pecuniary (money) interest."

Holland told Mrs. Vernor, "I am satisfied I have reached the proper conclusion."

Charge Hoffa Pal With Taking Bribes

Provenzano, also president of Hoboken Teamsters Local 560, is accused of receiving $1,500 from Walter A. Dorn, president of the Dorn Transportation Co. of Secaucus, N. J., and Rensselaer, N. Y.; and $2,500 from Arthur Pitman, president of J. Pitman & Co. of Hoboken.

The indictment, handed up to Hudson County Judge Furman W. Reeves, said Provenzano accepted the money "with the intent of being influenced with respect to his acts, decisions and other duties as representative of that union."

Prisoner Uses His Belt, Hangs Self at Jackson

JACKSON (AP) — Herman Taylor, 36, of Detroit, hung himself in his cell at Southern Michigan Prison last night, prison officials said.

Taylor was returned to the prison to finish serving a six-month to 15-year sentence for breaking and entering at Grand Rapids for parole violation.

Labor, Industry Report Little Lobbying Success

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Management and labor both described their lobbying records Tuesday as unspectacular.

Tom Downs, field representative for the Michigan AFL-CIO council, told the University of Michigan Institute in Practical Politics his group "enjoyed a unique distinction — none of the bills it sponsored passed the Legisature."

Downs added, however, that "working with other groups we have been successful in stopping certain bills — especially right-to-work laws."

John L. Denman, Ford Motor Co. legislative representative, said his organization had "as unspectacular a legislative record as that of labor."

Both Downs and Denman said most lobbying is defensive.

Nixon Doing Admirable Job on Russian Tour

If nothing more than a strategic public relations move is the outcome to Vice President RICHARD M. NIXON'S travels around Russia, the United States will gain prestige.

★ ★ ★

Dick and Pat Nixon have conducted themselves admirably. The Nixon seem to thrive on adversities encountered on global goodwill missions. This was first exemplified on their tour of Latin American countries.

★ ★ ★

This is no easy task and many of our would-be world diplomats fail measurably. The situation with the Russians has been ticklish and one that required the right answer at the right time.

At the offset, in the toe-to-toe hassle with Premier Khrushchev, Nixon did not give an inch. It is heartening to see an American stand his ground and perhaps even gain a slight edge.

★ ★ ★

When the Russians were about to muzzle Admiral HYMAN RICKOVER and give him the run-around, it was NIXON who got his dander up and interceded. NIXON demanded, and rightly so, that our Admiral be shown as much as Deputy Premier KOZLOV had been shown on his recent tour to America.

★ ★ ★

This type of action on the part of the Vice President is commendable and demonstrates that he can stand up to the Commies and demand a fair shake. On the other hand, the NIXONS have established to the thousands of Russians that they are most gracious guests and are enjoying their Soviet tour.

City Prepares Now for Tornado Season

Tornadoes haven't left their deadly mark on Michigan yet this year, but the Pontiac City Commission has closed the barn door before any thoroughbreds turn up on the missing list.

★ ★ ★

Adopted is a plan outlining what is to be done after a tornado hits the city.

★ ★ ★

According to City Manager W. K. Willman, the plan fills a gap in the City's disaster planning, and is in addition to the civil defense disaster control plan already in effect in the city.

★ ★ ★

Foremost in the plan is the use of City Personnel and equipment to mop up and restore order.

Since Michigan has been getting a few of the devilish twisters in the last few years, and our neighbor to the north, Flint, has been hit twice, such preparedness is a good idea.

U.S. Taxpayers Bled for Useless Hospital

More military waste comes to light in the building of a "high priority" 300 bed hospital near Evreux, France.

★ ★ ★

Finished and fully equipped last year at a cost of over $5.7 million, this Air Force hospital is not occupied, not needed and there are no plans for its use.

★ ★ ★

American taxpayers might never have known of it if Rep. LAIRD, Wisconsin Republican, a member of the House Appropriations Committee had not gone on an inspection tour. Other members have exposed waste and overspending on the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

★ ★ ★

The question naturally arises why wasn't construction stopped when it was realized that the hospital wasn't needed? Why didn't the Air Force planners and budget makers acknowledge their mistakes and try to salvage some of the money put into the building?

Once a military project gets Congressional approval and an appropriation there doesn't seem to be any way of reversing the action no matter how unnecessary the project has become in the meantime.

It is imperative that we keep our country strong militarily but it is equally important that the nation be kept strong economically in the cold war. The Pentagon seems indifferent to the dangers of waste and extravagance and Government secrecy many times prevents exposure.

EVEN if we had gills, we wouldn't wrestle alligators for a living.

The Man About Town

Living Off Garden

Small Plot of Ground Is Ample to Produce Results

Sound argument: One that can be spoiled with too much sound.

Raymond Turner

of 1144 Cloverlawn St., in spite of the drought and with limited irrigation, this year is raising enough in a 30x50 foot garden (less than one 25th of an acre) to take care of three-quarters of his family food budget during the growing period, and one-quarter of it the year round.

Spending two hours per day in the work, he raises most every known vegetable. He has but little trouble with weeds because he did not allow them to go to seed last year.

His soil is a dark sandy loam, and he sparingly uses commercial fertilizer. Starting with radishes and lettuce in the spring, and ending with cabbage in the late fall, his flow of a super healthful diet runs from garden to table from frost to frost, and later—some the year round.

Mr. Turner asserts that practically every household has room for some garden, and says the only reason there are not more gardens is that many are reluctant to try it, and partake in its fascination, besides profiting financially and in many other ways. Any kind of soil will give good results with proper care and the right fertilization.

The graciousness of

is even captivating hard boiled Russia. This does not surprise me, as I spent a delightful half hour with her in their private car, between Imlay City and Pontiac, when Dick was whistle stopping in the last campaign.

Mrs. Norman Wagnall

sends word that a pair are frequently heard answering each other, with the cry of "whip-poor-will" in the night near her home at Pontiac Lake.

The same experience is reported by

who lives near the shore of Loon Lake, near Drayton Plains.

All men in this area who were in the 83rd (Thunderbolt) Division in World War II are urged to write

New Branch Office?

David Lawrence Says:

Nikita Wants Only His Own Way

WASHINGTON — Many people who watched the boorish, arrogant Khrushchev on television a few nights ago wondered why such a dictator and bully should be humored so much by the American government.

LAWRENCE

In view of the deliberate distortions of the Nixon - Khrushchev repartee in the officially controlled press and radio of the Soviet Union, the question that naturally arises now is what possible good could come from a "summit" meeting with such an irresponsible mind.

There is nothing really new being uncovered nowadays about the Khrushchev personality. He has talked for hours with various American officials and other prominent men from Western countries.

He is shrewd and skillful in debate. He is used to having his own way and can't understand why the United States doesn't knuckle under at his command.

His point of view hasn't changed a bit since he first grabbed power in the Kremlin. He insists that the way to ease tensions and prevent crises in the world is for the United States to do what he says. There is no middle ground, as he sees it, between "capitalism" and what he inaccurately calls "socialism." In the end he is sure one will triumph, and he is confident it will be Communist imperialism rather than the system under which America and the West have thrived.

Most of Khrushchev's visitors, including perhaps Vice President Nixon, come away with the idea that maybe it would be a good thing to "educate" the Soviet premier by arranging for him to come to the United States for a visit.

NIKITA CAN'T LEARN

But this is a fallacy. Khrushchev can no more be "educated" than Hitler could have been. The two men are very much alike. There is one little difference — Khrushchev secretly orders his murders and tortures of dissenters, while the Nazi dictator did it openly and boasted about it.

Khrushchev is responsible for the execution or exile of thousands of Hungarians. The present Hungarian government is his slave and captive, as also are the other neighboring countries in Eastern Europe. But Khrushchev resents any mention of "captive nations."

What Khrushchev lacks is a sense of decency and dignity and an appreciation of the other fellow's viewpoint. He is as absolute as a czar. The impression has been widely spread that he has an inferiority complex and wants to be invited to stay at the White House so as to show off to his people that he is accepted as a world leader.

But even after he did this, he probably would argue just as vehemently that what America and Europe need is communism. He has an obsession on the subject of world conquest.

WOULD BELITTLE U. S.

To accord Khrushchev the kind of invitation he wants is to give him a chance to make propaganda and belittle the very country that would be treating him as its guest.

He would distort the purpose entirely on his return home and boast to his people that even America recognizes his prowess in a position of leadership in the world.

In the Soviet Union Khrushchev isn't popular with the people outside the ruling Communist group who are familiar with his personality. He needs prestige at home. One way to get it, he thinks, is to be accorded attention by the heads of other governments. He enjoys being sought after. He nevertheless plays constantly at the game of trying to divide the Western Allies by appealing to their materialistic interest in trade relationships.

What should the West do about such a dictator? Domestic politics in Britain and a tendency on the part of some British Labor Party people to seek a close working arrangement with the Kremlin complicate the problem for the West.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Elastic Bandage Can Heal Many Varicose Ulcers

More than half of all varicose ulcers (Open sores on the leg of one with varicose veins) are the result of clotting (thrombosis) or blood in the deep veins, and all such ulcers can be healed by compression with an elastic bandage, which makes the edema (swelling of the leg) disappear.

BRADY

Furthermore, it is possible to cure all varicosities in the legs by injection treatment and compression bandaging. The bandaging alone is the most important prophylactic and corrective treatment for varicose veins. It is indispensable for the success of injection treatment.

Varicose veins should not be injected while the patient is standing. The patient should be horizontal for the injections—usually several injections, maybe in both legs, are given in one session. After the injections the elastic or compression bandage should be applied before the patient resumes his or her ordinary activities.

Lest some quondam colleague dismiss these statements as just Brady's pipe dreams perhaps I should mention here that I am merely quoting the report that Dr. K. Sigg made to the Society of Physicians in Vienna last February.

Dr. Sigg repeatedly emphasized that the patient should be kept ambulant and not confined to bed.

In my free pamphlet on VARICOSE VEINS AND VARICOSE ULCER, available on request if you provide a stamped, self-addresed envelope, I discuss this.

MANY TESTIMONIALS

Through the years I have received numerous testimonials of the efficacy of two methods of treatment described in detail in the pamphlet—the sponge rubber compression bandage and Unna's boot.

Ambulation, that is, walking about, is an important part of both of these methods.

For that matter, a brisk walk of a mile or two, twice a day, is probably the best prophylactic (preventive) and corrective remedy against varicose veins and/or varicose ulcer.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

—The Stomach in Court—

A magazine story tells of the arrest of some gypsies charged with doing a risque dance, to wit, "a lewd and lascivious contortion of the stomach." They were cleared when their attorney reminded the court that the stomach is an internal organ whose contortions are not visible externally. (E. McD.)

'Here's the Reason Tigers Won't Make Championship'

After seeing the Yankees and Tigers in action, I believe I know what's wrong with the Yanks. Don't tell Casey, but I think he's actually managing for the opposing ball clubs this year.

★ ★ ★

And the reason our Tigers will never win another championship as long as the Yankees are around is that management plus fans seem content as long as they beat the Yankees. From the announcer, you'd think we were in the World Series with the Yankees.

★ ★ ★

Why don't sports writers quit babying Kaline and admit Kuenn is just an ordinary ball player who hits singles but can't bat in runs? And if you took Frank Lary's record against the Yankees away from him, he'd probably be pitching for some team in Possumtrot, Alabama. Let's forget the Yankees and play ball with the rest of the league.

I Feel Better Now

Red Cauldron Bubbling Around Nixon's Tour

By J. M. ROBERTS
Associated Press News Analyst

Something has happened between the minimum protocol welcome accorded Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Moscow and the warmth which surrounded him in traditionally frigid Siberia.

Somehow or other, one is inclined to connect the applauding crowd which greeted him at Novosibirsk with revived discussion in the American party of the possibility of a summit conference.

Crowds which applaud foreigners don't just happen in the Soviet Union, any more than the anti-Western demonstrations in Moscow last year.

Things began warming up for Nixon after his last and presumably nonshouting conference with Khrushchev. Nixon said neither side changed any of the other's convictions.

But First Deputy Premier Frol Kozlov, who recently visited the United States, suddenly made the gesture of accompanying Nixon to Leningrad, Kozlov's home territory. There was no overwhelming public demonstration on arrival, but far more than occurred in Moscow.

Then, at Novosibirsk, some 20,000 persons turned out and applauded.

In the meantime, the possibility that Nixon would join New York's former Gov. Averell Harriman in recommending a summit meeting and a trip to the United States for Soviet Premier Khrushchev was under discussion in the vice president's entourage.

One suggestion was for a conference in Quebec after which the Soviet Premier could make something less than a full state visit to the United States. This recalled that Winston Churchill and Franklin D. Roosevelt had given Quebec some standing as an international meeting-place during the war.

The White House did not throw down the Quebec suggestion, merely making no comment except that the foreign ministers at Geneva are empowered to set a time and place for a summit conference if they could reach certain minimum areas of agreement.

President Eisenhower has expressed doubt whether Khrushchev is still really interested in a summit conference. The premier seemed to be downgrading the chances when, during his recent visit to Poland, he repeated threats against West Berlin after Eisenhower had reiterated that he would not confer under threat.

But Nixon has been sending his observations about Soviet attitudes to Secretary of State Christian A. Herter at Geneva and to Washington. What Nixon has heard may prove of no more value than what Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain heard giving him some limited hopes about negotiations which, insofar as Geneva is concerned, have proved futile.

Nevertheless, the temperature around Nixon has gone up, giving rise to speculation whether something is cooking.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

So as to live for the rest of the time in the flesh no longer by human passions but by the will of God.—I Peter 4:2.

★ ★ ★

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Discusses Faux Pas of Waitress

Ethel really got a "panning" from this expert in Public Health methods, so scrapbook this case. Or pass it along to your favorite restaurant owner, for being an excellent waitress is a complex job and usually requires some expert training. A lot of dumb clucks think they can be good waiter or waitress yet they may make all the errors shown by Ethel.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

★ ★ ★

My friend had studied Public Health and other courses at the University of Michigan in preparation for becoming a City Manager.

DR. CRANE

So his critical appraisal of this young waitress carries official weight. Now notice his specific criticisms below. "Why do you say she is a rank novice?" I inquired, to draw him out.

"Well, did you see how she handled our silverware?" he went on. "She seized the spoon by the bowl end and left her thumb print thereon.

"She did the same for the forks, holding them by the prongs which we put in our mouths.

"Yet she had just picked up some greasy coins at the next table which the customers over there had left her for a tip.

"There were probably millions of germs on those coins. She simply stuck a million or so on our spoons and forks so we could get contaminated by our first bite.

"And that isn't all. Watch her pick up the empty drinking glasses from the rack when she prepares to carry water to new customers.

"She sticks her thumb or fingers down INSIDE the glass! That is rank heresy for any well trained waitress.

"Furthermore, she picks up the pats of butter with her fingers instead of using the fork to place them on our butter dishes.

"I also saw her reach inside the glass cupboard for some doughnuts, and she seized them in her fingers, too, instead of using a fork or a waxed paper to prevent her fingertips from contaminating them.

AMATEUR WAITERS

"And look at my coffee cup. It has a crack which must have been present for weeks.

"If a waitress violates so many simple rules of hygiene right in front of our eyes, what do you suppose she does behind our backs?

"So it is obvious she has never had even the simplest type of training. The better restaurants will not permit a waiter or waitress to pick up spoons by the bowl end, or handle pats of butter in their fingers or otherwise violate the basic rules of modern hygiene.

"But this girl also violates dozens of other psychological rules, for she doesn't greet new patrons with a smile.

"And she is slow, partly because she wears high heels, but also because she fails to plan her work.

"For example, she makes trips to a table with only one or two items in her hands when she should be carrying double that amount.

"She will bring coffee and forget the cream, so she must walk back to the coffee counter to pick up the cream, thus doubling her trips.

★ ★ ★

"Being a good waiter or waitress is not a task for any dumb cluck who applies for work.

"A smart waitress can keep a restaurant out of bankruptcy but a stupid one can offset a lot of costly advertising used to attract new customers.

"So why don't you warn the eating public to be on guard against lazy and amateurish waitresses?"

He'll Do 'Beloved Infidel'

Films Need Introspection Gregory Peck Believes

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are movie audiences getting fed up with bigness on the theater screens? Gregory Peck thinks so.

THOMAS

Bigness came in with a bang when the movies suffered the competition of the small home screen. Hollywood thought it had to give the people larger scope. That thinking brought Cinerama, Vistavision, Todd-AO and the type of films that could fill such immense screens.

★ ★ ★

But too often the characters got smaller as the scope grew bigger. The time has come to reverse the trend, says Peck.

"I'm fed up with crowd scenes and spectacles," he remarked.

"I believe the time has come to find out what goes on inside of people, not on the outside. The province of pictures today should be develop real people, put them in interesting situations and see what happens to them."

For just such reasons, he is now portraying F. Scott Fitzgerald in "Beloved Infidel." This is the story of the jazz age author's romance with columnist Sheilah Graham during his Hollywood decline.

"It's a story of a man who is trying to recapture his talent and a rather silly girl who happened to meet and fall in love," he explained. "Somehow, they manage to bring out the best in each other."

The actor admitted that the script didn't please him at first "Because I couldn't see what charm she could have found in such a character." Peck sat down to work with producer Jerry Wald, director Henry King and the writers to instill some rewarding qualities in Fitzgerald.

Peck never met Fitzgerald. He arrived here as an actor two years after the novelist's death in 1940.

"You hear it both ways," he said. "Some say that Scott created terribly embarrassing scenes at parties. Other say that he was quiet and always sat in a corner.

"Some say that he wrote brilliantly. But David Selznick told me he was incapable of writing a dramatic scene that had a beginning and ending and developed into something.

★ ★ ★

"At any rate, I am not attempting an imitation. I don't look like Scott and I am not a night club imitator. I can only do what I can to capture the essence of the man and hope that his friends will feel that I haven't done him violence."

Stays Away From Vote; Elected to Legion Post

HONOLULU (AP) — A woman who served as an Army nurse in World War II and now is the mother of five children, has been elected commander of an American Legion post in Honolulu.

Mrs. Jack Evans, only woman member of the Legion in Hawaii, said: "I was nominated twice—last year and the year before, but I turned it down each time."

She said she didn't feel she could take over the post's leadership and hold her job—plus being mother and housewife.

Says Cuba Knows About 'Invasion'

HAVANA (UPI)—Cuban foreign minister Raul Roa says the Dominican Republic has mustered an expeditionary force of 20,000 men "including foreigners" which might invade Cuba at any moment.

Roa told newsmen yesterday that Premier Fidel Castro's government "knows all about" the alleged expeditionary force and could defeat it with ease.

The foreign minister said also that Cuba may boycott next month's Santiago conference of western-hemisphere foreign ministers unless it agrees to discuss economic as well as political problems.

The conference was called by the organization of American states primarily for the purpose of discussing the crisis created by recent Cuban-based invasions of countries in the Caribbean and Central America.

Thought It Was Candy—Now She's in Hospital

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Anna Jean Jacobs, 14, found some firecracker balls left over from the July Fourth holiday. She placed them in a bowl on the dining room table.

From her room at General Rose Hospital Minnie Jacobs — Anna Jean's mother — said Tuesday: "They looked so tempting."

Mrs. Jacobs mistook the colored balls for candy. The ball exploded as she bit down. She was treated for a cut mouth.

Proposes to Double State Tax on Beer

LANSING (AP)—A proposal to double the tax on beer bobbed up in the legislature Tuesday as a possible piece in a jigsaw tax settlement.

A bill to push the levy on a 31 gallon barrel of beer from $1.25 to $2.50 was submitted by Sen. Carlton H. Morris (R-Kalamazoo), a taxation committee member.

Morris said the bill was his own idea and lacked specific committee endorsement. He said the present tax figured out at about four tenths of a cent per 12 ounce bottle of beer.

"It has been unchanged since the time beer sold for two bottles for a quarter," he said. "This should have been done many years ago to provide some equity in taxation between liquor and beer."

Morris said the bill would produce about seven million dollars in additional revenue annually. A similar proposal was fought fiercely by Democrats in 1957 and failed to pass.

Keep Shoes Off Mirror

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—You can get a traffic ticket in Pennsylvania for baby shoes—if they're hanging from the rear view mirror of your car.

Gov. David L. Lawrence signed into law Tuesday a bill which prohibits placing or hanging any object in such a way that it obstructs a driver's vision.

Don't Know Name, Where Can He Be?

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Grover Workman of Williamson, W. Va., got to thinking about an old Army buddy and telephoned the Phoenix Gazette for help.

"He's supposed to be somewhere in Arizona and I'd sure like to find him," Workman said. "We were together in Germany during World War ——."

"What's your buddy's name?" a reporter asked.

Moskvich to Compete in Small Car Field

Soviets Eye Auto Sales

By PRESTON GROVER

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union is going to compete with the many other non-American countries in the scramble for foreign sales of small cars.

To illustrate Soviet intentions in this field, foreign correspondents were taken to the plant on the outskirts of Moscow where the little Moskvich is made.

Plant Manager Viktor Nikolaievich Polyakov said it was a very sturdy car. Most of the correspondents, who had been driven around Moscow in it as passengers in taxis, would bar that out.

It stands up to somewhat inept driving, a lot of bumps, and is a good in traffic. It is small. It is fairly nervy.

But for Russians it is an expensive car, costing 25,000 rubles. Whatever rate of exchange you use, that's a lot for a small car. Four rubles equal a dollar officially.

It has less grace of line than the French car but perhaps more than the Volkswagen, with which it is directly competitive.

This plant is not modern. Polyakov agrees to that. But in the race for the world market, it will modernize. It is scheduled to produce 100,000 small cars a year, but this is only on paper at present.

Even at the price of 25,000 rubles, the Moskvich does not begin to supply the demand for cars in the Soviet Union. There are long waiting lists. Getting a better place on the waiting list is one of the sources of a certain amount of gentle racketeering here.

Wants Mitchell to Disclose Steel Facts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo) called on Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell Tuesday to make public, reports he has given President Eisenhower on the steel strike.

Symington told the Senate that the public should know what Mitchell has found out in his role as a one-man fact finder.

"These facts are not classified," Symington said. "There is no matter of national security involved.

Harry Gross May Face Murder Charge

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An assault charge may be changed to one of murder as the result of the death Tuesday of Harry Black, 81.

Harry Gross, 44, once an important figure in New York bookmaking circles, has been in county jail since June 27 when Black was beaten and shot in the neck. Gross is the husband of Black's granddaughter.

Police said the elderly man was assaulted after he and Gross argued about $2,000 Gross owed Black.

Gross was booked on suspicion of assault with intent to murder. Officers said that if an autopsy shows Black died of his injuries they may change the booking to suspicion of murder.

Calls Exhibit a 'Disneyland'

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet press Tuesday panned the American Exhibition here as too much like Disneyland and one publication called it a "new propaganda weapon in the cold war."

The Literary Gazette said, "the sensation one often gets while viewing the exhibition is that of being in Disneyland." It said failure to reflect the realities of life in the United States lay with its sponsors who used it only as a propaganda weapon.

Moskovskaya Pravda compared the exhibition with a "big shop which is busy advertising its goods but the range of which is clearly limited." It complained that the exhibition laid too much emphasis on kitchens, gardens and leisure hours.

Williams Will Try His Strength

The occasion, in sunny Puerto Rico, will pit the liberal wares of a one-time "boy governor" turned elder counselor at 48 against the magic family name and personal sparkle of a 51-year-old political upstart.

Among other things, it will enable Williams on his 11th powwow of governors to measure how much luster has been rubbed off his creaking White House buggy by Michigan's financial jam.

He might be able to restore some of the sheen of his presidential drive in shop talk with other Democratic chief executives, all his juniors in high office. They, in turn, might cut an important figure at the party's national convention next year.

The Michigan Democrat departs Friday night by air. In his entourage will be his family, his press secretary Paul W. Beber, executive secretary Sidney H. Woolner, and John Murray, his national politics adviser.

TO VISIT TORONTO

The governor's schedule also calls for a visit to the Virgin Islands Aug. 6 and a flight Aug. 7 to Toronto, where he will address the international convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles Aug. 8. Williams said he will return to Michigan and his Mackinac Island summer home Aug. 10.

When he steps on the island of Puerto Rico, Williams will entertain no illusion that he is the primary magnet of attention.

The television cameras at the outset locally can turn only on Rockefeller, the hottest new presidential p.ospect since Dwight D. Eisenhower turned up in Republican ranks in 1952.

But the conference lasts through Wednesday and Williams has a major role cut out for himself. He will chair a 13-member panel of governors on "state tax and revenue problems."

★ ★ ★

In an ironic twist, the session well could adopt the format of a brag contest over raising state taxes. As it develops, failure—such as Williams has known in a hostile Legislature, might be viewed as a badge of distinction.

More than some of his colleagues, the governor has laid a foundation for the conference agenda, much of it hammered out at late-at-night sessions with his staff.

PARLEY WILL HELP

By the conference he set up with seven high-ranking economists at Mackinac Island this month, he has set himself up as knowledgeable on national economics, one of the top issues of the day.

But by no means will it erase memory of Michigan's temporarily-skipped May 7 payroll, fractured credit, soaring debt and regiments of unpaid creditors.

But it might help shift the conversation to national issues like the GOP administration's handling of the current steel strike, and the rate of expansion of the national economy.

It will show they differ from Michigan's mostly in a matter of degree.

It will reveal that governors of one big state after another pushed for bigger tax burdens proportionately beyond anything Michigan is likely to end up with when the 1959 Legislature finally adjourns.

And it will recall that the New York Legislature granted Rockefeller 325 millions on new state taxes, Michale V. DiSalle 317 millions over the next two years. California and Pennsylvania, among others, are in similar predicaments.

Williams will hope for confirmation, perhaps from these chief executives, that their mutual problems stemmed from factors state and national beyond their immediate control.

Among these would be what Williams often calls the Eisenhower recession of last year, a rural-dominated Legislature, skyrocketing population and an economy too dependent on the ups and downs of the automotive industry.

If talk turns to methods of dealing with Russian dignitaries, Williams will come armed with a raft of press clippings describing the rough reception Frol R. Kozlov, Soviet first deputy premier, got from the governor on a recent Detroit visit.

READY FOR GOVERNOR'S PARLEY — Michigan's governor, with the inevitable green polka-dot bow tie, will leave the state Friday for the annual governor's conference, to be held in Puerto Rico this year. During the meeting he expects to have an opportunity to test his national mettle in competition with such glittering political figures as New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller. His position as chairman of 13-member panel on state tax problems may provide him with one of the opportunities he is looking for. In the above photo he sports the Princetonian haircut that recently made the news. He says it keeps him cool in Lansing's hot summer weather.

Polio Epidemic Past Peak in Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI)—Health officials said Tuesday the polio epidemic in the Des Moines area is past its peak.

Dr. James F. Speers, Des Moines-Polk County health director who described the epidemic as the nation's worst three weeks ago, said it is now going down hill.

The total number of cases in the county has risen to an even 100, with 85 of them in Des Moines.

Says Russia Will Send Rockets to Planets Soon

LONDON (UPI) — Russia will send unmanned rockets to other planets of the solar system "soon," a Soviet scientist said Tuesday.

Academy of Sciences memoer Anatoly Blagonravov, in a statement broadcast by Moscow radio and monitored here, said sending rockets "equipped with research apparatus" to other planets "is now quite feasible."

"We shall soon witness such flights," he said.

Evidence of the "complete feasibility" of such flights was "the precision with which the Soviet cosmic rocket, which passed near the moon, was brought onto the desired trajectory," he said.

Bay City Citizens Start Push on River Work

BAY CITY (UPI) — A special citizens' committee will launch a move to break a stalemate delaying the Saginaw River channel improvement project.

Committee members were named by Bay City Mayor James Tanner. The appointments were spurred by a statement last week from Keith Wilson, director of the State Waterways Commission, that the project is "almost certainly dead for another year."

Tanner said the committee will study the possible use of an insured risk plan to furnish the federal government with assurances against damage to two railroad bridges over the river.

Second Telescope to Go Into Space

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States will send a second telescope into the stratosphere by balloon early next month to glean new information about the fantastic energy released by the sun.

The 12-inch telescope, aimed and focused from the ground with the aid of television, will be sent aloft from Lake Elmo, Minn., Aug. 5 or later, depending on the weather. One or two additional launchings will be made later in the summer.

Astronomers hope next month's project, known as Stratoscope I, will provide them with new information about how energy boils to the surface from the sun's interior and the role played by sun spots and their magnetic surroundings on energy emissions.

Modern Babel Does Not Need Interpreter

BAD GODESBERG, Germany (UPI) — The babble of dozens of tongues from 40 countries sounded today through this small German town and none of the 700 persons present had trouble understanding the proceedings.

All were interpreters, attending the third annual congress of the International Interpreters Federation. Among them they speak almost every known tongue in the world.

Officials of the federation quickly solved the problem of speeches. They made French, German and English as the three official languages of the Congress and since all 700 understood those languages no interpreters were necessary.

The theme of the Congress is the development of interpreting techniques in the modern world, particularly the difficulty of translation at international scieitific conferences.

Egyptians Ask Gals to Turn In Gold Jewelry

CAIRO (UP)—The Ministry of Industry estimates Egyptian women are keeping over 150 million dollars worth of gold in mattresses or under the bedroom tiles—two favorite hiding places. It is trying to get the gold turned in for government bonds.

The ministry needs the frozen gold assets to finance an ambitious five-year industrial plan to build 200 factories and increase national income.

The gold is mostly in the form of bracelets, anklets and necklaces. Among the Egyptian poor, women often wear their husband's life savings.

Cairo jewelers say the gold buying fever reaches its peak during early summer when the peasants sell their cotton. Year after year Egyptian farmers freeze their earnings by converting them into gold. They are suspicious of any form of investments.

The United States ranks 15th among nations in per capita consumption of milk.

No Resignations Now in Sight

Police and Reserves Patch Up Troubles

The Pontiac Police Reserves and the regular police, headed by Public Safety Director George D. Eastman, have patched up their "major" differences, City Manager Walter K. Willman reported to the City Commission last night.

Negotiators have reached agreement on "practically all major differences," he said.

It is expected that the 70-member volunteer force will drop plans to resign and be back to work in a few weeks, Eastman said.

Unhappy with their lot under Eastman, the Reserves threatened to quit early this year unless restored to the role they played under former Police Chief Herbert W. Straley.

The mass resignation was held off while Willman, Eastman and Mayor Philip E. Rowston held a series of negotiation meetings with Reserve officers to revamp the Reserve program.

TO GET OFFICE STATUS

Commissioners decided during an informal session last night that they would pass a resolution next week giving the Reserve official status in Pontiac for the first time.

Some of the major issues decided, according to Eastman:

1. Reservists will carry service pistols "when the duty requires it."

2. The Police Department will furnish Reservists with training programs "as complete as possible," considering the part-time nature of their activities.

3. Reservists will submit to a "simple, routine" screening with their ranks. "This is to reassure us as to the high qualifications of all the men," said Eastman.

4. Reservists main duties will be to help during special events in the city, such as athletic games and parades, but will be assigned to some field work under the supervision of higher ranking regular police officers.

This latter decision wil be subject to review after Reservists have completed training programs, said Eastman.

Still unsettled is the matter of uniforms, Willman said. Reservists are to continue wearing their special uniform with light jackets and gray shirts while a joint committee works to decide on a permanent uniform for next year, said Eastman.

Sgt. Lawrence LaBair has been appointed coordinator of the Reserve program, said Willman. One of LeBair's first duties will be to compile rules and regulations for the Reserve. with the aid of a subcommittee of Reservists, Willman said.

City Man Quickly Apprehended

He Goes Back to Prison

A Pontiac man on parole from Jackson Prison apparently is on his way back to confinement after briefly turning the tables on a Sanilac County sheriff's deputy Sunday.

Paul M. McDonald, 33, of 51 Hillside St., was stopped by Deputy Hugh Connelly Sunday for reckless driving. Unknown to the deputy, McDonald was driving a stolen car.

The deputy gave chase in a borrowed car.

He was released last February after being sentenced to 2½ to 5 years for a Pontiac break-in in April 1957.

Citizens to Help on Curriculum for School Study

LANSING (UPI) — Michigan parents again this year will get a chance to help determine what will be taught to their children in the public schools, Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett said today.

"It is apparent that there is great popular interest in curriculum issues," Bartlett said.

He said committees including some 600 citizens and educators will study various aspects of what is taught in the schools with the view of improving and broadening the instruction.

★ ★ ★

Kresge Earnings Jump

DETROIT (AP)—S.S. Kresge Co. reports its earnings the first six months this year were $4,180,464 or 76 cents a share. The firm said the earnings were an increase of $800,728 or 15 cents a share over those for the same 1958 period.

Economic Squeeze Now Pinches Steelworkers

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The economic squeeze is turning into a pinch for striking steelworkers.

Most of the half million strikers have drawn their last full pay checks and now can look forward to little or no income until their nationwide labor dispute with the steel companies is settled.

The strike began July 15 but most of the workers had two weeks plus a few days of pay coming when they put down their tools. Practically all of that backlog pay has been passed out in the past few days.

From here on most of the idle workers will be at the mercy of their savings accounts. So will be many of the 78,000 workers already furloughed in industries allied to basic steel.

When savings accounts are gone and hardship cases develop, committees within local unions will step in and quietly arrange credit with shops, banks, landlords and other creditors.

"The United Steelworkers Union has no strike pay as such," a union spokesman said today. "But locals of the union have thoroughly trained committees of 8 to 15 members who work in secret trying to help or relieve emergencies.

"Some of the locals have funds of their own which are available in hardship cases.

Food vouchers worth $27.50 each were ready for distribution by some locals today. Members applying for the assistance will be screened this week by the committees.

An official of a USW local at a Pittsburgh plant of U.S. Steel Corp. estimated that the economic pinch is closing so rapidly that in another week one half of his local's 4,500 members would apply for assistance.

The committees within locals also are trying to arrange for medical help or nursing aid.

They occasionally ask for help from community wide united funds.

Generally speaking there are no state or federal funds for strikers but arrangements vary from state to state. In some there is money available for destitute cases.

For weeks before the strike began stores and shops in many states advertised widely, "Get the goods now, don't worry about the money, pay when the strike is finished."

Moratoriums were voluntarily declared for the duration of the strike on other lines of credit. Automobile salesmen told steel workers to resume payments two weeks after the strike ended.

The economic pinch is expected to become a bear hug for many workers in from two to four weeks.

Murrow Will Probably Get Navy Commission

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Radio-TV commentator Edward R. Murrow probably will get the naval reserve commission he seeks if he can pass a physical examination, the Navy says.

Murrow, who is 50, probably would be commissioned as a commander.

The broadcaster, who covered the battle of Britain during World War II, said he applied for the commission because he "thought it was a good idea to learn something about the Navy."

Murrow submitted his application last week after beginning a year's leave of absence from the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Halleck Predicts New Labor Bill

GOP Man Says House Will Overhaul Measure, Reform to Suit Ike

WASHINGTON (UPI) — House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind) predicted Tuesday that the House would drastically overhaul its labor committee's Union Reform Bill, making it acceptable to President Eisenhower.

He issued the forecast after discussing the issue with Eisenhower at the President's weekly White House conference with GOP congressional leaders. Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell also took part in the talk.

Halleck described the watered-down labor committee bill as "woefully inadequate, sadly deficient." He voiced confidence the House would accept a stronger substitute proposed by Reps. Phil M. Landrum (D-Ga) and Robert P. Griffin (R-Mich).

"I predict at this time that we will have the votes to do it," Halleck said. He described the substitute as a "fair and moderate" measure that would punish no one for legitimate labor activity.

He said neither the President nor Mitchell has had time to study the substitute. But he expressed the belief that both would be "pretty well satisfied" with it. Eisenhower, has placed effective labor reform legislation high on his list of "must" bills.

The Senate already has passed a somewhat stronger bill with the same aim of eliminating racketeering and enforcing democratic procedures in unions.

The AFL-CIO opposes both the House and Senate measures. But it has centered its chief fire on the Senate version because of its "bill of rights" provision for rank-and-file union members.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark) of the Senate Rackets Committee assailed AFL-CIO President George Meany and Teamster Chief James R. Hoffa for pinning an "anti-union" label on the proposed legislation.

He told a National Press Club lunch Tuesday both the House and Senate versions were designed to protect rather than punish union members while making "hard the way for crooks and traitors who seek to use union office for their own enrichment."

Neuberger Wants Adlai for '60 Race

Neuberger announced his choice in a brief Senate floor speech. At the same time he urged that the names of all but genuine candidates be kept off the ballot of the Oregon Democratic Primary, which takes place May 20, 1960.

Neuberger described Stevenson, the twice-defeated Democratic aspirant, as "the epitome of the intellectual statesmanship of Jefferson, Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt."

Studebaker-Packard Plans Short Closing

HAMILTON (AP) — Studebaker Packard of Canada Limited this year plans one of the shortest model - changeover shutdowns in several years.

The last of the 1959 models will come off the production line Aug. 6 when about 400 hourly-rated employes will be laid off.

Production of the 1960 models will be started early in September. Recall notices will go out progressively as production is accelerated.

As the annual vacation period is Aug. 17-31, the pay loss due to the changeover will be less than two weeks in most cases.

Production figures released by the Canadian automobile chamber of commerce today revealed that Studebaker-Packard has produced 5,212 cars this year up to July 18, compared with 2,422 for the same 1958 period. This is a gain of about 115 per cent.

Current sales figures were not available today but a Studebaker-Packard spokesman said production has not caught up with sales and that the changeover shutdown would see a clean-up of stocks of the 1959 models.

Mother Resentenced to Electric Chair

MACON, Ga. (AP)—Anjette Donovan Lyles Tuesday was resentenced to die in the electric chair Aug. 17 for the arsenic poisoning death of her 9-year-old daughter, Marcia.

Superior Court Judge O. L. Long set the new death date following rejection by the Georgia Supreme Court of a motion for a rehearing of its earlier denial of an appeal for a new trial.

Mrs. Lyles also was charged with the poison deaths of two husbands and the mother of one of them for insurance and other monetary benefits. She was tried last October only for her child's death.

18 Syrian Reds Pull Out of Communist Party

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP)—Eighteen well-known Communists announced Tuesday they have withdrawn from the Communist Party because it "betrayed Arab national aspirations."

President Nasser of the United Arab Republic of Egypt and Syria early this year denounced Arab Communists as "enemies of Arab unity."

Make and Keep Mix for Muffins Handy

In this day of quick-thaw and quick-mix cookery, many homemakers still enjoy making a meal the "hard" way. But many others can't afford the extra time involved. However, here is a recipe of the convenience type that will satisfy the culinary creativeness of one and all, and still save time.

★ ★ ★

It's a do-it-yourself quick MIX for All-Bran Muffins — a "package" mix you can make yourself and store until needed.

BASIC MIX

4 cups sifted flour
2½ tablespoons baking powder

The basic recipe makes enough for three dozen delicious home-made muffins, and when ready to use, you simply add milk and egg according to the number of muffins you wish to bake — not only saving time but avoiding waste. Also, you can try several different variations, such as fruit, jam or nut muffins, without changing the basic MIX recipe.

2 teaspoons salt
1 cup sugar
1 cup hydrogenated vegetable shortening
4 cups (whole bran cereal)

Measure sifted flour, baking powder, salt and sugar. Sift together into large mixing bowl. Add measured room-temperature shortening. Mix with pastry blender, fork, or at low-speed on electric mixer until well-blended. Stir in bran.

Store MIX in tightly covered jar until ready to use. Enough MIX for 3 dozen hot Best Bran Muffins.

The handy part about this MIX is the fact that you can make as few as four muffins, or as many as a dozen, according to the following directions:

Best Bran Muffins

	4-5 Med. Muffins	8-9 Med. Muffins	10-12 Med. Muffins
All-Bran Quick Mix	1 cup	2 cups	3 cups
Milk	⅓ cup	⅔ cup	1 cup
Egg	1 small	1	1 large or 2 small

Measure MIX lightly into mixing bowl. Measure milk, add egg and beat well. Add to MIX stirring only until combined. Fill well-greased muffin pans about two-thirds full.

Variations of Mix:

NUT-BRAN: For each cup of MIX used, add about ¼ cup chopped nutmeats.

DATE, FIG OR RAISIN: For each cup of MIX used, add about ¼ cup cut dates, figs or raisins.

BEST ALL-BRAN PAN BREAD: Spread batter made for 8-9 medium muffins in greased 8x8-inch pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (400 degrees) about 30 minutes. Cut in squares and serve hot.

Eat Your Potato Chips in Form of Macaroons

NEW YORK (UPI) — Wind up a meal with potato chips made into macaroons. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff. Add 1 cup granulated sugar gradually, while continuing to beat the egg whites.

Fold in ½ teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup shredded coconut, 2 cups crushed potato chips and ½ cup chopped walnuts. Drop by teaspoonful onto greased cookie sheets and bake in moderately hot (400-degree) oven until delicately browned. Makes about 36 cookies.

Brazil Shares Its Ice Cream

Brazilians are famous for coffee, Brazil nuts and their undying love of sweets. So it's only natural that they should have combined these native foods and created a luscious mocha ice cream, Gelado al Moca e Castanha de Para. Naturally, the ice cream calls for hot coffee . . . Brazilians would serve it strong and black in tiny cups. Then they would say enthusiastically, Otimo!

Mocha Brazil Nut Ice Cream

1 envelope unflavored gelatine
¼ cup cold water
1 cup strong hot coffee
1 square unsweetened chocolate, melted
¾ cup light brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 tall can evaporated milk
1½ cups heavy cream
¾ cup chopped roasted Brazil nuts

Soften gelatine in cold water; dissolve in hot coffee; add slowly to melted chocolate, blending well. Add brown sugar and salt; stir until sugar dissolves. Cool. Add vanilla, evaporated milk and cream (not whipped). Pour into refrigerator freezing trays.

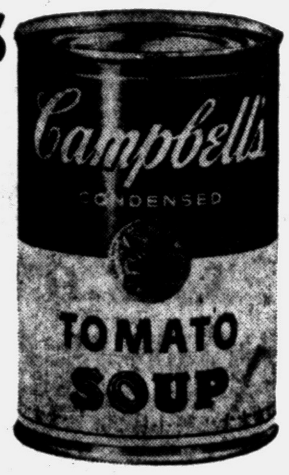

Freeze to a stiff mush. Stir in Brazil nuts. Freeze firm. Garnish with unsalted Brazil nut chips if desired. Makes 8 servings.

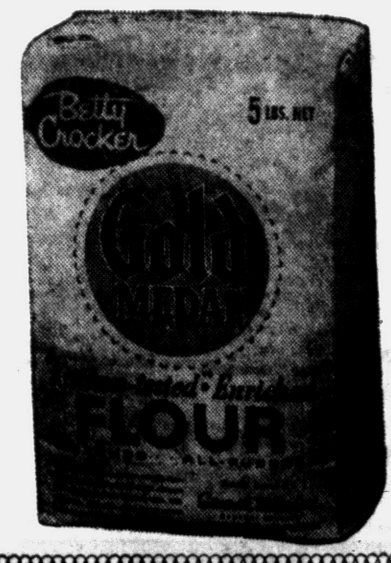

When you are refurbishing your table service, acquire enough small salt and pepper shakers so that there's a set for every two diners.

Faubus Says Integrate Just 2 Out of 4 Schools

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus called upon the school board to retain some segregation in Little Rock's four public high schools which it has pledged to reopen this fall.

Faubus proposed integration for two of the schools — including a previously all-white one in a silk stocking district — and segregation for the other two.

His proposal, in a letter to school board members, called for segregation at Central High School. Integration of nine Negroes was enforced there in the 1957-58 term by federal troops, called out to put down mob violence.

Faubus closed the schools last year to stop integration but the law he used recently was declared unconstitutional by a federal court. A new school board moved immediately to reopen the schools under a pupil placement law.

Registration last week brought 55 Negroes to Central High School, five to Hall and one to Tech High School for enrollment. The other high school, Horace Mann, always has been Negro.

Faubus suggested the school board find out how many parents had no objections to their children attending integrated schools. Then he suggested the assignment of half of the white students available for voluntary integration to Horace Mann and the other half to Hall High School in fashionable Pulaski Heights. He proposed Negro students be divided equally between those schools.

That, he said, would leave Central and Tech free for the whites. He said at a news conference it was clear the majority of white parents want no integration. He cited as proof a 1958 referendum in which Little Rock voted 3 to 1 for segregated schools.

Faubus also suggested segregation of the school by sex to "forestall the inevitable increase of moral problems which have always come to integrated schools." He recommended that if not enough white parents volunteered for the plan that the few white volunteers be assigned to Horace Mann with Negro students.

A perfect hand of bridge may occur once in every 158 million deals.

Say American Berlin Traitor

Reported Under Arrest for Working With Red Agents in Germany

BERLIN (AP)-A 36-year-old American was reported under arrest today on charges of working for Communist East Germany's secret service.

The U. S. mission said West Berlin police list the man's name as James M. Boland of San Diego, Calif.

A spokesman for the West Berlin prosecutor said the case had been turned over to the West German prosecutor's office in Karlsruhe. Police have charged Boland had been operating in Berlin for about two years. They said he had got hold of information about U.S. activities in West Berlin and given it to the Communists.

★ ★ ★

He was arrested 10 days ago by U. S. authorities after returning from a rendezvous with Communist agents in East Berlin and was turned over to German authorities, police said.

A U. S. spokesman declined to confirm or deny any details. He said Boland had registered at the U. S. Consulate here in April as a tourist and listed his occupation as a night club operator.

Herter Presents Gift

GENEVA (UPI). — British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, who celebrates his 55th birthday Tuesday, got what some observers thought was a highly significant present from U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter. Herter presented Lloyd with a carving of a shaggy St. Bernard dog carrying a life-saving flask of brandy beneath his chin.

Abilene to Welcome Ike Home

ABILENE, Kan. (NEA) —This mid-Kansas city has been used to big doings and excitement ever since the Chisholm Trail cattle days when it was tamed by a handsome two-gun marshal named Wild Bill Hickok.

Then along came another home town hero named Dwight D. Eisenhower. Things haven't been quite the same around here since.

Shaping up now are plans for his Oct. 13 homecoming to break ground for construction of the giant Eisenhower Presidential Library building which will become an important research center. It will be broader in scope than either the Roosevelt or Truman libraries.

The library will complete the "Eisenhower Center" here, which includes the President's boyhood home in its original state and the Eisenhower Museum.

The latter contains a $2,000,000 collection of items given by the President and is visited by thousands of persons annually. Part of the ground on which the museum stands once was a potato patch tended by Ike and his brothers.

The library building will be constructed across the street from the museum. Plans call for the present street to be closed and turned into a landscaped plaza with colored fountains.

The library will be similar to the museum in appearance but about four times its size. It will have approximately 54,000 square feet of floor space.

Funds for both the museum and library were raised by voluntary contributions. Most of the $200,000 for the museum came from Kansas residents.

The library campaign was conducted on a nationwide basis, with an organization of key personalities in each state and an over-all quota of $3,000,000. The amount turned in so far has not been disclosed, but officials say there is enough to start construction. It is expected to have the campaign completed by the time Ike comes here to turn the first spade of dirt on Oct. 13, the day before his 69th birthday.

It is planned to have the building completed and partially in use by the time he moves from the White House in January 1961.

Like other presidential libraries whose creation and maintenance are provided under federal status, this one will be turned over to the U.S. government when completed. It will be staffed and operated by the Archives Department which has charge of all government papers and historic documents.

The head of this division is Dr. Wayne C. Grover, who says the Eisenhower Library "will be a real dynamic institution which should soon develop into a major international educational and research center."

With only 150 miles of superhighway separating the Eisenhower Library in Abilene and the Truman Library in Independence, Mo., this section of the Midwest will soon be the home of the most authentic source material on 16 of the most critical years of American history. The papers of these two presidents will be providing material for historians, researchers, educators and writers for years to come.

The Eisenhower Library will contain not only Ike's presidential papers, but also a great volume of military records and documents covering his World War II years. It will also house scores of volumes and diaries of many of his military and political associates, including cabinet members.

It was announced recently that the personal papers of John Foster Dulles will be given to the library. These are documents pertaining to the personal association of the late secretary of state with the President.

Dulles' public papers are going to a library set up in his name at Princeton University, his alma mater.

The law provides that presidential libraries are to be built in places designated by the president (usually home towns), with local or voluntary funds, and then given over to the federal government.

In the case of the Eisenhower Library the fund-raising campaign has been uniquely nonpartisan in that it was headed by two rabid Kansas political foes working in close harmony as cochairmen. They are Gov. George Docking, a Democrat, and Harry Darby, Republican national committeman for Kansas. Benjamin J. Fairless, former head of U.S. Steel, is chairman of the executive committee.

"This project rises far above partisan politics," says Gov. Docking.

EISENHOWER CENTER will look this way when completed. It will include (1) the President's boyhood home, (2) the Eisenhower Museum and (3) the Eisenhower Library. The home and museum already are open to the public. Construction of the library will begin this fall.

Connecticut Backs Kennedy for '60

GUILFORD, Conn. (AP)—Gov. Abraham Ribicoff and the state's Democratic Central Committee have formally backed Massachusetts Sen. John Kennedy for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Ribicoff, in a talk with the 68 committeemen present, said "I have committed myself to Kennedy, and I am working in his behalf." He then asked the committee for its support.

The committeemen unanimously approved a resolution backing Kennedy for the 1960 nomination and supporting the state Democratic leadership in working for the nomination.

Kennedy has not yet announced his intentions, but he is widely regarded as a candidate.

Still Given Prison Term

BRADENTON, Fla. (AP) — A 31-year-old man who feared a jail sentence more than the loss of his left eye has received a prison term.

Gene Van Etten offered to give his left eye to a blind person or eye bank in exchange for freedom in a burglary case. He was convicted several months ago for stealing several cartons of cigarettes.

He told the court Tuesday he was the sole support of his wife and children.

Judge Robert E. Hensley sentenced him to prison for six months to 15 years.

She 'Talks' to 'Em for Psychoanalysts

Dog's Life No Mystery to Her

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

If Fido bites the mailman, it's probably because somebody stole his favorite bone when he was a puppy.

If he chews the furniture, he's expressing a frustration complex, and hunger for affection.

If he spots the rug, it's because he feels insecure.

All this can be corrected by scientific psychological treatment, says Yvonne Henderson, of London, a dog psychiatrist.

Mrs. Henderson is in New York to explore the possibilities of establishing an office here.

"I am appalled at the lack of understanding of dog emotions here," says she. "New York dogs lead a dog's life, shut up in apartments all day long, left alone, with no companionship, no freedom, no love. It's no wonder they develop traumas and bite people.

EVERYBODY OWNS ONE

"In England everybody owns a dog — they're as numerous as cars in America. And public rules and customs are geared for consideration of the dog population.

"You can take a dog anywhere in England—bars, restaurants, hotels, trains and buses. There we understand that a dog must have freedom and company if he is to be happy."

Mrs. Henderson has spent most of her life understanding dogs, as an international breeder, exhibitor and judge, a writer for dog magazines, canine correspondent for the London Times and friend of all dogdom.

How does she psychoanalyze a dog?

"Well, I don't usually use a couch," says Mrs. Henderson, "but if the dog likes to lie down, he may. I just talk to the dogs and find out what's worrying them, you know.

"WE UNDERSTAND"

"How's that? Why,c ertainly I can understand what a dog is saying, and dogs always understand me.

"If a dog has a high I.Q., it's simple to work with him and iron out all his troubles. With a stupid dog it takes longer.

Desses Sprays Salon With Perfume

By PAT HERMAN

PARIS (UPI)—Greek-born Jean Desses, who has dressed such customers as Greek Orthodox nuns and Mrs. Aristotle Onassis, presented a fall collection today that would please them both.

He also lengthened the torso and widened the shoulders in line with what his colleagues have done so far in the new season.

But it was an exciting enough collection to have made even the international set happy.

SKIRT LONGER

There was lots of interest in the skirt — the longest that season.

A loose lilac silk coat was tied there in a bow over a skirt that was gathered at the same strategic level.

Another focal point for Desses was the shoulders. Wide-open, V-shaped collars in long-haired furs dramatically outlined the 1959 fall silhouette.

Suits had long hip-length jackets and were worn with jersey or chiffon blouses under big fur toques.

TUNICS PROMINENT

The tunic effect — sometimes belted, sometimes slightly flared — was carried throughout the collection.

Coats, worn with hats that had a forward tilt, appeared in a variety of nubby wools.

The tunic effect reappeared again and again with Desses' skirts. A black cocktail dress had an over-skirt and tiered underskirt.

NOT MUCH BLACK

There was a notable absence of black in the daytime collection. It appeared for evening.

The evening array was dazzling. There were short-skirted print gowns worn under mink coats lined in the same print as the gowns, brocaded cocktail suits and the magnificently-draped floor-length chiffon gowns for which Desses is known.

Everybody has been doing the broad-shouldered, long-stemmed silhouette this year and it appeared Nina Ricci's designer Jules Francois Crahay had done it better than anyone else.

Fashion writers get a chance to see for themselves today when four more fashion houses show their styles for this fall — Jean Desses, Jackques Heim Madeleine de Rauche and Coco Chanel.

Already fashion writers were talking about Crahay as the chief challenger to the House of Dior which has dominated the Paris fashion picture since 1947 when the "new look" came in.

What Crahay did yesterday on the third day of the showings was less sensational but very effective.

Yellowstone Honeymoon Follows Pontiac Rites

A gown of embroidered English organdy was chosen by Marilyn Margaret Main for her marriage Saturday to Laurence S. Robertson. Some 200 guests were present for the ceremony performed by the Rev. William H. Marbach of the Presbyterian Church here.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Main of South Pemberton, Bloomfield Hills. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Hattie Gibson of Pontiac and the late William Robertson.

Scalloped edging accented the high square neckline and the short sleeves. The floor length tiered skirt of embroidered organdy ruffles fell from a bodice featuring a columar waist. Marilyn wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Mrs. John R. Main of Indianapolis, Ind., attended her sister-in-law as matron of honor and Mrs. Joseph Strzelecki of Pontiac served as bridesmaid. Both attendants were gowned alike in nylon sheer dresses with modified sabrina necklines accenting a french tucked bodice. Their bouffant ballerina length skirts featured high cummerbunds and bustle back streamers of aqua taffeta. Both carried fan arrangements of pink carnations.

★ ★ ★

Attending the bridegroom were John R. Main of Indianapolis, Ind., brother of the bride, as best man and Arthur, Alan, and Gary Robertson, nephews of the bridegroom of Lake Orion, and Joe Strzelecki of Pontiac, as ushers.

MRS. LAURENCE ROBERTSON

A dinner was held at the Rotunda Inn following the ceremony, for which the bride's mother chose a Dior blue silk suit with white feather hat, and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue print silk dress with white hat and matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of pink rosebuds.

Dear Abby Says: No! No!

He's Crazy About Her . . . but Why?

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: All my friends think I am nuts but, Abby, I can't live without this woman. We were married and divorced twice. We are apart now and I can't stand it. I support her and her son by a former marriage. I give her more than the court ordered, but that doesn't matter. She can have everything I own.

ABBY

She says she doesn't want to live with me because she feels no love for me. But I don't care. I would live like a brother to her just to be near her. Am I crazy for wanting to marry her again on her terms, which are separate bedrooms with a lock on her door?

CRAZY FOR HER

DEAR CRAZY: I would never advise marriage under the circumstances. To go through the sacrament of a marriage ceremony and live as sister and brother (with a lock on her door, yet) is to make a mockery of marriage. Why not rent her a room in your home and pay all her bills?

DEAR ABBY: I telephoned a friend of mine and made arrangements to visit her one afternoon at her home. I never stay more than an hour because while my time is my own, many of my friends have busy lives.

Not five minutes after I arrived, her telephone rang. It was her sister. My hostess stayed on the telephone talking sheer nonsense for thirty-five minutes by the clock. I sat there like a wooden Indian all the while. She made no apologies. Now, what would you have done in a case like that?

PUT OUT

DEAR PUT: I would have concluded that my "hostess" cared very little for my company. And in the future I would offer it sparingly — if at all.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: When I was born I weighed 13 pounds. I gave my mother a terrible time. She lived, but my father died. I am the youngest of 9 children and have a chance to get a job. But I hate to leave my mother alone. I quit school last year (I am 17) to stay home and care for her as she takes dizzy spells.

My brothers and sisters say I have to stay home and take care of Mamma forever because I am the one who made her so sick in the first place. I think I am entitled to a life of my own but don't know how I will ever have one. Please help me. I pray every night but God doesn't hear me.

WANTING TO LIVE

DEAR WANTING: Your brothers and sisters have as much responsibility toward your mother as you have. Since you are the youngest in your family, you are probably too timid to stand up for your rights, so ask your clergyman to help you speak your piece. Arrangements can (and should) be made for you to have a life of your own.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: We have a lady in our crowd who is very nice. But when it comes to the subject of smoking, she's impossible.

She has a large car and is generous about picking us all up. But no one cares to ride with her because she makes such a fuss if anyone wants to smoke.

When we go to a restaurant, if someone lights a cigaret, she takes her food and moves to another table and sits alone. She claims smoke gives her bladder" attacks is not nearly possible or is she making a big thing out of it? What should we do?

HER FRIENDS

DEAR FRIENDS: Whether smoke gives your friend "gall bladder' attacks is not nearly so important as the obvious fact that it is a great source of annoyance to her. Good friends would respect her wishes.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Not one week after the death of my beloved mother I received the notice of her obituary (just as it was printed in our home-town newspaper) encased in plastic. On the other side was the Lord's Prayer. There was a request to either return it or send a dollar. I think commercializing on the death of a loved one is disgraceful. One hesitates to throw away anything as sacred as the Lord's Prayer, so I sent the money, but put the thing in a drawer. How would have handled this? DISGUSTED

DEAR DISGUSTED: You are under no obligation to acknowledge, return or pay for anything you did not order. The only effective way to discourage this type of exploitation is to ignore it.

Doctors Seeking Clues to Accident Prone Tots

MONTREAL (AP) — Doctors someday may be able to spot youngsters who are prone to accidents—the greatest killer of children.

Personality may give one clue.

This possibility is being raised at the ninth International Congress of Pediatrics today by speakers who say that records show the most susceptible to accidents are the "inexperienced creeper" among the very young and the "daredevil types" of older children.

Childhood accidents do not occur by chance, said Dr. George M. Wheatley, a vice president of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., in a speech prepared for delivery to the 1,600 delegates from 63 nations.

"One study of nursery school children found certain personality characteristics associated with a tendency toward accidental injury," he said.

Wheatley said impulsive, emotional children were hurt or killed more often than youngsters who were passive, cooperative, eager to please and not inclined to engage in group play.

But the new trend of research, he said, is to go deeper into the family life of accident victims to determine whether their mishaps fit into certain patterns.

For example, he said, the studies seek to determine whether factors are "certain forms of discipline, the rate and manner in which parents foster independence in their children, the sex roles which parents prescribe for their children."

Dr. Harold Jacobziner, an assistant New York health commissioner, said that nearly 7 of every 10 accidental injuries to children under 5 years of age occur in the home.

"The inexperienced creeper or toddler is the most susceptible," he said.

Forget the Starch

When you put away your summer cottons, don't put them away starched. But do put them away washed and ironed. If they're left wadded up and wrinkled all winter, the wrinkles tend to set and they're much harder to iron when you want them again.

Airing and cleaning a rug is only part of the overall job. Don't forget to wash the floor before putting down the cleaned rug.

Check on Voice

Actors and actresses know the value of a well-trained and well-modulated voice. Although the average housewife can't take hours to train her voice, she can check occasionally to see if her speech is pleasant and without monotony.

Hose Yourself

Tested Tips to Stay Cool

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I suffer from hot weather in such an extreme way that I have been accused of having a busted thermostat. Very high temperatures make me feel like an invalid compared to my usual pep.

Having been married to a geologist for many years I have experienced every kind of torrid clime. I have lived where the hot air was so loaded with moisture that every breath and every movement were an effort.

I also have lived where the air was so hot and dry that we could not use fans because it was like blowing furnace air down our throats. Those were the days when we gals took our dresses off and played bridge in our slips in the basement because that was the coolest place in the house.

As you already have guessed this was before people had air-conditioning. When we finally put it in one large glassed in porch I always could find the whole family there, along with friends I had not seen for some time and a few people I had never met before!

★ ★ ★

With this little personal sketch you can believe that I know a lot of tricks about keeping cool. In the first place, even when there is a breeze, it is often a mistake to open the windows in the middle of the day. Open them at night and close them early in the morning. Draw the shades.

USE THE HOSE

Also, do not forget your garden hose. Don't use all of the water on the flowers. Blossom out yourself! After being sprayed, off and on, for a half hour or so, you will feel cooler for hours. This prescription can be repeated every day as often as necessary, right in your own yard.

Do any errands you must do early in the morning before the heat rises. Definitely take a noontime siesta. Eat lean meat and seafood and vegetables and fruits and drink fruit juice. Forget the rich, calorie-packed, heating items. Drink more liquids than usual and season your foods well with salt unless there is some reason for not doing so.

Child Can Discover How to Deal With Fear

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

On the way home from the store Emmy kept falling behind Mommy and the shopping cart. This was because she was wearing hew new red sneakers. Not only did they match the cherries in her sunsuit but made her feet look so exotic that she had to walk slowly to savor her pride in them.

She had just given a little skip of delight when a huge dog bounded around the corner, barking furiously, and pelted straight at her. She screamed. She ran—and oh, relief! Mommy whirled, grabbed her up and set her safely down on two bunches of carrots in the shopping cart.

Then, while she was still screaming, Mommy turned, seized the dog and said to him, "My what a noisy puppy you are! No, keep away from the shopping cart. Emmy's so afraid of you that she doesn't want to have anything to do with you. But I'm not. I think you're a good boy. . ."

Soon Emmy stopped screaming. Next to Mommy, the dog didn't seem as big as she'd thought he was. Instead of rushing at Mommy, he just danced around her.

Suddenly conscious that sitting on the carrots was uncomfortable, Emmy wanted to test this new unthreatening impression of the dog.

So she asked Mommy to take her out of the cart and ended by patting the dog herself with such a glow of achievement that her joy in the red sneakers couldn't compare with it.

If Mommy had said, "Don't be afraid" and insisted on Emmy patting the dog while she still felt fear, the idea of doing something about the fear herself wouldn't have occurred to Emmy.

Just as we have no right to forbid children their anger, jealousy and other emotions that we find distheir fears or requiring them to them the sensation of their fears. When we do, either by jeering at thir fears or requiring them to act on them before they are ready to, they may not discover their-own capacity to do something about them.

It's not always fear that makes us tremble and sweat but our resistance to feeling them. In war, soldiers who allow themselves to feel their fears develop great skill in using their entrenching tools. But soldiers whose notions of courage require them to deny their fear develop psychoneurotic disorders.

So do we. We develop ulcers, hand tremors and all other kinds of poor solutions to fears that our notions of virtue forbid us to feel. So we have to be careful about forbidding them to children.

Manicure's Easy After Your Bath

One of the best times for your weekly manicure is right after your bath — or after washing the dishes. It's much easier to push back cuticles and wash away imbedded soil after your hands have been soaking in suds.

And just remember that whether you wear nail polish or not, you still need that weekly manicure to keep your hands soft, well groomed, and young looking.

Biggest Mink to Star on Broadway

★ ★ ★

Manufactured by Coopchik-Forrest, New York, to explicit instructions by Mr. Williams and Elia Kazan, director, this fabulous garment contains forty mink skins, in contrast to the 10 or 12 skins used in a normal-sized stole.

Valued at $10,000, it measures 13½ feet in length and is 5 feet wide.

Normally, a stole is one quarter to one half this size, but for the play, in which Miss Page plays the role of a declining movie star who insists on one-of-a-kind in everything, the producers wanted to create an exaggerated Hollywood version of the mink stole.

Originally, according to Michael Forrest, executive vice president of the manufacturing firms, the request was to create a mammoth stole of dyed blue skins.

"We were willing, but it could not be readied for the pre-Broadway opening," he said. Instead, the rare and natural Blue Iris skins were used.

★ ★ ★

"This is a one-of-a-kind fur piece, to be sure," comments Mr. Forrest. Prior to this, he said, the largest mink stole his firm had ever created was made of twenty skins.

Don't Discourage Junior's 'Artwork'

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Junior's strokes across the wallpaper are the strokes of creative talent. So encourage the child's creativity—don't "cripple" it—even as you mop up signs of small artist at work.

"The best art materials are the messiest," said Dr. Howard Conant, re-affirming what every mother knows.

Conant, a native of Wisconsin and graduate of the University of Wisconsin, is an abstractionist who works in oils, has two children following in father's artistic footsteps, is chairman of art education at New York University, and director of the newly-organized Children's Creative Art Foundation.

Lest he be misunderstood, Conant does not advocate the use of walls as easels. Rather, he believes the walls and floors will escape if a child is given a place of his own for painting, with the materials always at hand—in his room, the den, the basement playroom. Even turn him loose in a warmed bathtub.

"The bathtub is practical," said Conant, "because you can wash the child and the spilled colors at the same time.

"But we've never had any trouble with our children and walls, because they have a place of their own to paint. They work right alongside me in the basement studio."

Because he believes that expression of childish imagination should not be "crippled," he opposed parents purchasing "stereotyped"; art materials—these, he said, include those painting-by-number sets, the coloring books, the drawing books which encourage a child to trace the work of others.

Conant argues that these leave no room for a child's own ability—"Children possess art ability as a birthright, and with the proper guidance it can be developed," he said.

He believes parents should encourage creativity as soon as a child can and wants to hold a brush or squeeze modeling clay—nine months to a year. And even tots can be trusted with paints—"if mother will be patient enough to clean up later."

Conant advises children be given tempera or poster paints, a brush, and large, (12 by 18 or 18 by 24-inch) inexpensive sheets of manila paper as a starter. The parents might include moist modeling clay and crayon, although he said crayons call for more muscular coordination than most tots have.

"Everything in life tends to shape us to confirmity. I shape us to conformity. I would rather my children developed into individuals with problems than into well-adjusted little robots.

Conant says that the child whose "birthright" is not encouraged just "gives up" by the time he is eight, nine or 10. But often, the creative urge is revived in later life—that is why, he said "the museums are crowded . . . why adult education courses in art are full; an estimated 10 million are enrolled in art study.

"That is why also we have the painting hobbyists—President Eisenhower, Winston Churchill and Grandma Moses . . . she's a well-adjusted amateur.

"Man must have some creative outlet," said Conant, "without it, the soul withers."

Aussie Women to Wear Thin Drip-Dry Woolens

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Australian women soon will be wearing thin drip-dry woolen frocks and blouses.

Drip-dry woolen sports shirts resembling seersucker cottons will be available for men.

The drip-dry woolens are the latest development in an intense research campaign aimed at making woolen graments as readily washable as any garment made from synthetic fibers. Wool is Australia's leading export. How much it is used determines to a great extent the nation's prosperity.

After years of research, two Melbourne firms and a government research organization have evolved processes giving wool the drip-dry qualities of nylon, dacron and other synthetics.

The firm of F. R. and C. H. Fogarty says its fabric has a ripple effect resembling that of seersucker cottons.

The drip-dry attribute is woven into the material.

The classic weaving mills is selling processed fabric to manufacturers for Australian spring fashions.

"Already we have had inquiries from a leading and most exclusive fashion house in the United States," it said.

Married Saturday at First Methodist Church were Ruth Roche and Gordon Parkinson. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Parkinson.

MRS. GORDON PARKINSON

Ruth Roche and Gordon Parkinson were married Saturday at First Methodist Church.

Parents of the couple are former Pontiac residents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Craig of Royal Oak and Mr. and Mrs. Merle Parkinson of Owosso.

Mrs. Barbara Terry was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Jan Farrell of Clarkston, Elaine Shepard of Owosso with Diane Dillingham of Owosso as junior bridesmaid and Nancy Jo Schmidt of Fowlerville as flower girl.

Clifford Doane Jr. of Bay City was best man. Ushers were Jack Wolf of Detroit, Floyd Olmstead of Owosso, David Dillingham of Mason, David Shepard and Robert Collier, both of Owosso and Norman Tery of Port Austin. Danny Dillingham of Owosso was ring bearer.

A reception was held in the church parlors. Before leaving for a honeymoon to the Upper Peninsula, the bride changed to a black sheath dress with white accessories. They will live in Alma.

The bride is a graduate of Central Michigan University where she was a member of Zeta Chi Zeta sorority. The bridegroom attended General Motors Institute.

Mrs. Craig wore a pink and white embroidered nylon sheath with white accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Parkinson was dressed in a powder blue silk taffeta sheath with matching accessories.

Leftover Menu

A good way to use up leftovers is to plan for them when you make out menus for the week. Don't let leftovers get spoiled before you get around to using them. You know your family's eating habits and can plan accordingly.

Bottled cranberry juice makes a good summer cooler; both orange juice and ginger ale are fine to add.

Chitchat

Nothing takes the place of glass for tall frosty drinks that look as cool as they taste. New in the glassware line is the "Chip 'n' Dip" dish. It has a special section just for the dip. The larger space takes care of the dippers.

We didn't go to the summer furniture shows, but we've had lots of publicity about the new products. One that intrigues us is a cocktail table. It has a lower shelf with space for magazines on one side and three removable plastic-topped trays stacked on the other. Each tray opens into a snack table. Kroehler makes the article.

Have you seen the interesting new closure that is taking the place of zippers in some clothing? It's called "touch closing" nylon tape and has infinite possibilities, especially on slipcovers. You can miter the corners of it and sew it around curves much more easily than you can a zipper. Look for it in notion departments, either in a package or by the inch.

Some publicity came in this week about a new inexpensive carpeting called Candycote. A combination carpeting and padding, it has a cotton fabric top bonded to a foam base. Use it as a rug in specified sizes or as wall-to-wall carpeting.

Isn't it annoying to have a stain on a dress? If it is washable, you hate to go to the expense of dry cleaning. Try liquid detergent first.

We had good luck with it on spots on a wash-and-wear suit. You rub the detergent lightly into the dampened spot (cold water, please). Then wash as usual. If the stain is deeply imbedded, work the detergent thoroughly into the fabric. You'll be pleasantly surprised how many greasy and non-greasy stains this removes.

Quilting Tip

When quilting never lay scissors on the quilt to use in thread cutting. These may sometimes make the quilt sag. Instead of scissors use a razor blade for thread cutting.

No Pastels in Fall

Pastels are pretty in spring and summer but nothing looks worse in early fall. Put yours away and replace them with fall cottons in deep, glowing colors.

Keep Rag Dolls Well Groomed

When making a rag doll, be sure that it will be washable—both the stuffing and outside fabric. Then dolly will be prepared to become a little girl's 24-hour companion.

It will be kissed and hugged, dragged across the floor, and taken lovingly to bed. But a regular "bath" in soap or detergent suds will keep dolly as well-groomed as her young mother — and, even more important, a safer plaything from a hygienic point of view.

Guest Can Join You to Eat Out

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: What can one do when one's husband unexpectedly brings a business friend home to dinner and there isn't a thing in the house to eat. She had planned on their going out to a restaurant to dine that evening."

Answer: Under the circumstances, there is hardly anything she can do but be frank about the situation and invite him to dine out with them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We are in doubt as to how to arrive at a fair division of the wedding invitations. My family feel that they can afford, at a limit, only one hundred and twenty-five guests at the reception. So how do we divide the invitations between the two families. Does each family get the privilege of having half the invitations, or may we be allowed a greater number as it is my family who are paying for the reception?"

Answer: Each family should have half the invitations, but if the groom comes from a distant city, his family will probably want only a few and your family can have the rest. And even if both families live in the same city, many of the same names will be on both lists which will mean that your family and his will be able to invite more of their friends than at first seems possible.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a wedding which will take place in two weeks. I have a very pretty white dress which I had planned to wear but a friend of mine tells me that it is improper for a guest to wear white at a wedding because it detracts from the bride. I have never heard of this and would like to know if what she says is true."

Answer: You certainly should not wear all white, but if you add color to your dress, such as colored flowers or a colored sash, or by wearing colored accessories, it would be quite all right.

"Dear Mrs. Post: How does one include several young children in the family on the same invitation sent to their parents? Should the phrase 'And Family' be used?"

Answer: Correctly, their names are written under that of their parents on the inside envelope, according to their ages:

John, Mary and Arthur

Summer and Skin

Outdoor summertime living is such fun, but do take time out to beautify your skin. Always take a soapy shower or bath after swimming or sunning. And use a well-lathered backbrush to smooth your back and to wash away sand, salt, and perspiration.

POSTURE

Don't make a fetish out of good posture. It's really rather easy and you'll be much less tired at the end of the day if you sit, stand and walk properly.

Don't complicate it all by standing stiff with knees locked and holding your breath. Be as loose jointed as you please but balance each part of your body on top of the other. Pull your head in and upward. Draw an imaginary line from your ear lobe to your shoulder bone, shoulder bone to hip bone and hip bone to ankle bone. Distribute your weight on both feet. It's as simple as that and you will find that your chest is lifted out of your rib cage and your stomach muscles are contracted.
Relax . . . don't sag.

Keego Voters to Decide Urban Renewal Issue

Heated Session Spurs Council

Crowd Jams City Hall to Give Pros and Cons at Special Meeting

KEEGO HARBOR — Whether Keego Harbor will apply to the federal government for urban renewal will be decided by property owners in the city at a special election.

The decision to put the controversial issue to a referendum vote of the people climaxed a special city council meeting last night.

A tinderbox crowd jammed the small city hall here and sweltered through 100 degree heat for one and a half hours. Tempers, shortened by the intense heat, flared up several times.

The special meeting had been requested by the Keego Harbor Businessmens Assn., mainstay of the urban renewal proposal. The group presented petitions in favor of urban renewal signed by 372 persons. Opponents to the plan also presented petitions. They had 225 signatures.

A motion by Councilman Samuel Whitmore that the council proceed at once to contract with planning consultants for an urban renewal master plan lacked a sufficient majority of council members approval when put to a vote.

Whitmore then moved that the council place the issue before voters in a special election. The resolution was seconded and approved by the council, with the date to be decided later.

General opinion expressed last night by those opposed to the plans was that urban renewal would force low-income families out of their homes either through condemnation proceedings or by higher taxes later.

Proponents of the plan explained that according to federal government regulations, those living in substandard houses would be given the opportunity and funds to relocate in the community with better living conditions.

Those in favor of urban renewal are of the general feeling that urban renewal will enable them to upgrade the community, making their expenditures on home improvements worthwhile and possible at lower finance rates.

The Businessmens Assn. is anxious to put urban renewal through now so that the $500,000 the city will spend on a central sewer system can be utilized as the community's share of the costs.

According to law, if the federal government approves Keego Harbor's urban renewal plan, it will put up $2 for every $1 spent by the city.

Legally the $500,000 for sewers can be used as the city's share if urban renewal and the sewer projects can be dovetailed timewise.

The council did not know what Oakland County's deadline on the sewers would be, although the earliest it could start presumably would be sometime in September.

LEG WORK — Visitors to the Immanuel Congregational Church's "Futurama Fair" in Oxford this weekend will have a chance to toss rings over a shapely leg sticking through this life-size mural of a woman. The large painting was designed and executed by Mrs. John E. Regan, of 1760 Lakeview Dr., Oxford Township, shown putting on the final touches. The fair will be held at the Oxford Junior High School on Friday and Saturday and will feature a parade through town at 7 p.m. Friday.

Head-On Crash Hospitalizes 2

Rochester Man Suffers Multiple Chest Injuries Listed as 'Critical'

MADISON HEIGHTS — A head-on auto collision here at 5:28 a.m. today sent two area men to William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Emil C. Siegler, 62, of 813 First St., Rochester, is listed in critical condition with multiple fractures of the chest, fracture of both knees and left wrist.

Madison Heights police said a witness, whose name they are withholding, stated that Nichols was heading north "quite fast" and drove his car directly into the path of Siegler's southbound car.

Police said they believed Nichols had been drinking. Neither men have been able to make a statement yet.

Both cars were a total loss.

Area Truckers to Compete for Road-E-O Prizes

SOUTHFIELD — The 18th annual Truck Road-E-O will be held Saturday and Sunday in a parking lot at Greenfield and Northwestern highway.

The Road-E-O is sponsored by the Michigan Trucking Assn. Fifty drivers who had competed in company runoffs will participate. First, second and third-place winners trophies and $150 to pay expenses in the National Truck Road-E-O to be held in Louisville, Ky., Sept 24-26, will be awarded.

The Road-E-O will begin locally at 7 a.m. Saturday and at 8:15 a.m. Sunday.

Dave Carlson, safety director for the association, said that road-e-os are being conducted in 27 states and winners of each will compete in the national meet.

95th Session at Simpson Park

Slate Camp Meeting Near Romeo

ROMEO — The 95th session of the Simpson Park Camp Meeting, oldest interdenominational religious gathering of its kind in the State of Michigan, will get under way here tomorrow and continue through Aug. 9.

The camp is located on Camp Ground road, one mile west and a half-mile north of town. The camp site covers 19 acres and has facilities to house about 2,800 visitors.

There are about 40 cabins and boys' and girls' dormitories. The large open-air tabernacle was filled to capacity with over 3,500 in attendance at special sessions last year.

The daily camp program will include preaching services at 10:30 a.m. and at 2:30 and 7:30 p.m. One of the visiting ministers will be Dr. J. C. McPheeters, president of the Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky., and founder and president of a camp meeting in California.

★ ★ ★

Others will include Dr. C. I. Armstrong, missionary evangelist who has recently returned from the Middle East and Africa, and Dr. William Arnett, professor of doctrine at Asbury Theological Seminary.

TO FEATURE SONGS

Specialists in missionary-song evangelism, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheppard, "The Singing Sheppards," also will take part in the 11-day conference. They are world travelers who have done evangelistic work in Africa, the Middle East and Europe.

Miss Faith Francis, a missionary on the Mexican border, will be the pianist. Miss Gertrude Cooper will return again this year to take charge of the children's work.

The program for young people between 12 and 23 years of age is one of the most important phases of camp activity, the Rev. Ted Hastings of Flint, youth program dean said. Over 200 were enrolled last year, he reported.

One of the high points of the camp meeting is Missionary Day on Aug. 4. Three interdenominational missionary societies will be represented.

They include The Oriental Missionary Society at the 10 a.m. service, the Kentucky Mountain Holiness Assn. at 2:30 p.m. and the World Gospel Mission at 7:30 p.m.

'Futurama Fair' Slated

★ ★ ★

Among them will be a gala parade which will form at Immanuel Congregational Church at 7 p.m. Friday and end at the school, according to Mrs. Jack Valentine and James Teays, general cochairmen of the two-day event.

Brace Beemer, the original Lone Ranger, will make one of his rare public appearances as a participant in the parade.

The fair, sponsored by the Congregational Church, will officially open at 10:30 a.m. Friday. It will feature such traditional events as pony rides, games and a cake walk.

★ ★ ★

Colorfully decorated booths will be set up at which aprons, pillow cases and other household articles will be sold.

Members of the Women's Fellowship will serve snacks, a chicken dinner Friday and a baked ham dinner Saturday noon.

The Friday night parade is open to all interested persons in the community, said parade cochairmen Louis Coryell and Donald G. Tripp. Included among the entries will be floats, decorated cars, a band, clowns, bicycle riders and children with dolls and pets.

Prizes will be awarded to children through 12 years of age wearing the most original costumes and having the most interesting pets. There will be a boy and a girl winner in both classes.

Two queens, selected from the Sunday School, will ride in the place of honor in the parade. They are senior queen Norma Giesler, 14, and junior queen Barbara Specht, 8.

A street dance, open to the public free of charge, will be held at 8 p.m. Saturday on the street south of the school.

It will feature square and modern dancing. Caller will be Sam Joan. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Reid have charge of the event.

Congregational Church Group Schedules Luau

ROCHESTER — The Congregators Club of the First Congregational Church here will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald J. Campbell, 2745 Tallahassee St., for a Hawaiian luau at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The purpose of the feast is to help new couples in the church get acquainted with their fellow members, according to the planning committee. In charge of arrangements are the Maynard Remers, the George Carsons and the Campbells.

Guests at the luau will sit down in typical Hawaiian style to eat barbecued chicken and other Polynesian delicacies and drink punch from a carved-out watermelon to the accompaniment of Hawaiian music.

After-dinner entertainment will feature the hula performed by Barbara and Marilyn Curtis. They are the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Curtis, of 7952 Elizabeth St.

Wife Does Better Job Than Mom

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Men, you're better off if you are not eating meals like mother used to make.

In fact, according to H. W. Schultz, head of the food technology research at Oregon State College, "Housewives today are feeding their families better, offering them more variety."

He told the American Public Health Association convention recently that today's dehydrated foods are better nutritionally. "They keep longer. Bacteria can't grow and chemical changes don't take place," he said.

Dr. Schultz even tossed a verbal bouquet to that answer to the lazy housewife's prayer, the TV dinner.

He pointed out that the TV dinner of today has replaced the quick snack of yesteryear. "Think how much better it is for a person than just eating a jelly sandwich," he said.

Shrimp Are Peculiar

The particular species of shrimp with which we are all familiar constitutes 95 per cent of this shellfish family. But the other five per cent includes deep sea shrimp that light up, others that climb trees, some that weigh as much as three pounds, and still others so tiny that they can pop up through cracks in the floor.

SPINACH, RICE SALAD — Against the white rice the tender green leaves of spinach and the sparkling red radish slices stand out. It's a hearty salad with a tart cooked dressing.

Hearty Salad Starts With Cold Cooked Rice

The dinner salad bowl has justly taken its place as a "must" on the American table. Depending upon the section of the country, it may be served before, with or after the entree. But whatever its position, homemakers have come to rely on the dinner salad to perk up the meal. With a little ingenuity and even less work, it adds interesting texture contrast, color, flavor and variety to the meal.

Fresh Spinach and Rice Bowl is a new colorful and flavorful version that combines happily with any meal. Bright green leaves of spinach, preferably young and tender ones, are tossed with thin onion rings, slices of hard-cooked eggs, crunchy celery, radish slices and white fluffy rice in a tangy lemon dressing.

Fresh Spinach & Rice Salad Bowl

¼ to ½ pound fresh spinach
1 small onion, thinly sliced
½ cup thinly sliced celery
¼ cup sliced radishes
3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1½ cups cold cooked rice
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 cup Lemon Dressing*

Wash spinach thoroughly. Break off stems and measure 1 quart. If leaves are large, tear into bite-sized pieces. Shake spinach in a towel to dry well. Arrange attractively with other vegetables, the eggs and rice in a salad bowl. Season with salt and pepper. Keep cold. When ready to serve, add Lemon Dressing and toss lightly. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

★ ★ ★

Lemon Dressing

1 tablespoon flour
⅓ cup salad oil
½ cup water
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dry mustard
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Blend flour and 1 tablespoon of the oil in a small saucepan. Stir in water. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Gradually stir hot mixture into egg yolk. Blend in salt, mustard, remaining oil and the lemon juice. Beat until smooth. Chill. Makes 1 cup.

Cheese Frosted Olives Sliced to Show Layers

NEW YORK (UPI)—Make these olive-cheese balls a day ahead for best results. Soften ½ pound of cream cheese at room temperature and add enough heavy cream to make a thick spreading consistency. Using a teaspoon, mold cheese around small pimiento-stuffed olives, roll in finely-ground walnuts and refrigerate uncovered for 3 hours or overnight.

Before serving, slice each cheese ball in half with a sharp knife. Wipe the knife blade clean frequently so that the four colors don't smear.

Trio of Ideas Planned for Cocktail Time

Pretzels, crisp and crunchy and good as they are, taste even better when served with tangy dips, hot or cold. A hot dip, such as this tangy, tantalizing American fondue made in the chafing dish, or the cream cheese-and-cucumber one served cold will serve as the centerpiece of your party or buffet spread. Serve pretzels for dipping, and for contrast use sweet potato sticks and raw mushrooms quartered, both well chilled.

American Cheese Fondue

½ lb. American cheese, shredded
1 10½ oz. can cream of mushroom soup
3 tablespoons water
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1 teaspoon Worcestershire
¼ teaspoon Tabasco

Combine cheese, soup, and other ingredients in chafing dish and heat till mixture bubbles. Continue cooking till mixture is smooth. Season lightly with salt and pepper if desired. Use as hot dip for pretzels and other cocktail snacks.

★ ★ ★

Breath of Spring Dip

In bowl, combine 2 3-oz. packages cream cheese with an unpeeled cucumber, grated, and a grated medium onion. Mix well and season with a dash of Tabasco and a little salt and pepper. Dip with pretzels.

Snappy Ham and Cheese Pinwheels

1 5-oz. plastic dish cream cheese
1 5-oz. jar Blue cheese spread
½ teaspoon onion juice
6 slices boiled ham (4¾"x6¾"x⅛")

Let cheeses soften at room temperature. Beat cream cheese until smooth and fluffy. Gradually beat in Blue cheese spread. Stir in onion juice. Spread on ham slices. Roll each tightly, jelly-roll fashion. Wrap in waxed paper or aluminum foil.

Chill in refrigerator about four to six hours or until firm enough to slice smoothly. Rolls may be prepared the night before and stored in the refrigerator until ready to use. Makes about 30. Just before serving, cut into ¾-inch slices.

Little Turkey Ideal for Outdoor Grill

Let's vote to eat outdoors and have turkey this time! Turkey is a newcomer to the outdoor grill, but it has made a hit with those who have used it, says the MSU Marketing Agent.

Choose a small turkey for the outdoor grill, a 4 to 10 pound one. Have the butcher cut the turkey into serving size pieces or do it at home after it has thawed.

Allow 1 to 2 hours to barbecue turkey pieces. And you'll want to use plenty of butter or sauce for basting so the meat will be juicy.

There are plenty of little turkeys in the market. For outdoor appetites, you'll want to allow ½ to ¾ of a pound per person.

Surprise the Kids

Children, dining at home or in a restaurant, will invariably ask for a sandwich for lunch. Here is a filling suitable for toast . . or for a surprise . . . spread it between crackers. You make it like this: Mix ½ medium apple, finely diced, with ¾ cup chopped celery, and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Add 1 can (5 ounces) boned chicken or turkey, and ¼ cup shredded sharp cheese. Chill. Makes 1 cup filling.

Make up small batch of frosting and divide in half; color each half differently and put in two wells of a muffin pan. Put peanuts, chocolate sprinkles, tiny marshmallows and gumdrops in the other wells.

Let your small fry have a party with some cupcakes and the frosting and decoration makings. Provide each youngster with a small spatula for spreading the icing.

SURPRISE TURKEY SALAD — With turkey now a feature of summer meals, you can make this cool salad with what you have left over from a company dinner. This molded turkey salad has such interesting foods as avocado, hard cooked eggs, watercress and almonds in it.

Surprise Ingredients Join Turkey in Salad

Whether featured in a buffet menu, or as a hearty luncheon salad, Surprise Turkey Salad might well be called a "taste-and-guess" treat-it's so temptingly full of flavorful ingredients that blend to enhance the rich turkey meat base! Some of Surprise Turkey Salad's flavor treats are: Avocado, hard-cooked eggs, slivered almonds, pimiento, watercress and grated horseradish.

Though calling for several additional ingredients, and preparation of a molded gelatin base, Surprise Turkey Salad is surprisingly easy to make and should turn out perfectly for the novice and the experienced alike.

Surprise Turkey Salad

¼ cup French dressing
3 envelopes (3 tablespoons) unflavored gelatine
1 cup cold water
3 cups hot turkey broth
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon grated onion
1 teaspoon bottled grated horseradish
Salt and pepper
2 tablespoons chopped pimiento
1 cup diced celery
½ cup toasted slivered almonds
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 medium avocado, peeled and sliced
Watercress
Mayonnaise or salad dressing
3 cups diced cooked turkey

Combine French dressing and turkey; refrigerate while preparing other ingredients. Soften gelatine in the cold water, then dissolve in the hot broth. Add lemon juice, onion and horseradish. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Chill until partially set; blend in the turkey mixture, pimiento, celery, almonds and eggs. Pour into 1½-quart mold. Chill several hours or overnight until firm. Unmold. Garnish with avocado slices and watercress. Serve with mayonnaise or salad dressing. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Quick Vegetable Dish to Serve With Meat

NEW YORK (UPI) — Canned asparagus can go right into the broiler with a meat course. Drain one (10½-ounce) can of asparagus spears, divide them into 2 bundles and place 2 green pepper rings around each bundle.

Brush asparagus with 2 tablespoons of melted butter, add salt and pepper to taste, and top each bundle with 1 slice process Swiss cheese. Broil 10 minutes 4 inches from the heat source.

Peanuts Flavor Wide Variety of Foods

Peanut-fed hogs produce wonderful hams. That idea, now prevalent, originated in Virginia, where they really know a good ham when they see one. And here's another ham idea from Virginia that your family will love.

Partially cooked ham or canned ham may be used. Bake according to directions on can or package; keep temperature moderate (not over 325 degrees).

One hour before the ham is done, take from oven, remove skin and score top of ham in 1½-inch squares. Insert whole cloves in each square. Mix ¼ cup orange marmalade with ½ cup peanut butter to cover a five pound ham. Spread topping over ham rubbing into scored fat. Return to oven and finish baking. (The peanut butter-orange marmalade topping makes a crust that seals in the sweet juice and adds flavor to the ham.)

Serve baked ham with candied sweet potatoes and buttered asparagus for a colorful main course for a spring dinner menu. Top the candied sweet potatoes with crushed peanut brittle. Add melted butter with lemon juice to the cooked and drained asparagus and garnish with strips of pimiento.

Peanut Biscuits

2 cups flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon shortening
½ cup ground peanuts
⅔ cup milk

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening and ground peanuts with pastry blender. Make a well in the mixture and add about 2-3 cup milk (enough to make a soft dough); add milk slowly and stir with fork until soft dough is formed. Toss dough onto lightly floured board; knead for 30 seconds; roll or pat into sheet ¼-inch thick. Cut into small rounds; brush the top with butter and bake in 425 degree oven about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Peanut Ham Salad Sandwiches

Just cut off the chunks of meat left and put them through a meat grinder with peanuts. Add chopped onion or chives, chopped celery, mustard and-or horseradish, chopped pickles, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Moisten with salad dressing or mayonnaise.

Now you have a delicious filling to spread between thin slices of bread for sandwiches or on crackers for canapes. The filling can be stored in the refrigerator for several days.

Peanut Ham Salad

Luncheon for the ladies can be a delightful affair when ham salad is served in tomato cups or on lettuce leaves garnished with apple wedges. Combine ham chunks; hard cooked eggs; chopped peanuts; chopped celery; pickles or olives, diced; seasoning salt and sweet marjoram or thyme. Moisten with sour cream dressing or tart mayonnaise.

★ ★ ★

Tomato Peanut Soup

Peanuts literally run the menu gamut from soup to nuts. One of the simplest to make soups and oh, so good, is tomato peanut soup. Heres the easy to do recipe—to one can of tomato soup add an equal amount of cold milk; heat. Do not boil. Mix a little of the hot soup with ½ cup peanut butter to make a smooth paste; add remaining soup and serve.

Jamaica Wants Manley Again

Vote Sweeps Premier Back Into Power for Another Five Years

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Premier Norman Manley swept back into power today with a big majority in Parliament to carry on Jamaica's socialistic government for another five years.

With only a few votes to be counted, unofficial returns indicated Manley's People's National party would have 28 of the 45 seats in the new House of Representatives.

★ ★ ★

The conservative Labor party led by his cousin, Sir Alexander Bustamante, appeared to have clinched 16 seats. One independent was elected.

★ ★ ★

Voting was brisk and comparatively orderly after sporadic campaign violence in which one man was killed.

Manley, 66, an Oxford-educated lawyer, led the People's National party to power in 1955 after 11 years of rule by the conservatives headed by his 75 - year - old cousin. Bustamante, a former soldier, policeman, journalist and trade union leader, was knighted by Queen Elizabeth II the year his party lost.

Tuesday's election was the first since Jamaica gained internal self - government two years ago from the British, who have ruled the island for 303 years and still retain control over foreign affairs.

Sam Morris came to me because he was fat and miserable. Fear of losing his wife and the knowledge that he was no longer attractive in her eyes made him a determined man.

His home and his future happiness were at stake.

"I've done everything I can to please my wife," said Sam.

"Except lose weight," I reminded him.

"Well, yes," he admitted. "But I wasn't exactly skinny when I started going with her."

I asked him to get on the scales, and he almost broke them.

"You," I told him, "are the result of a lifetime of overeating."

"I guess that's right," Sam agreed. "I was brought up on a dairy farm and we all loved to eat."

"I'm going to put you on a high-protein diet," I told Sam, "for several reasons: (1) Foods with a high protein content have proportionately the lowest calorie count of all foods. (2) A high-protein diet supplies you with the strength and energy you need. (3) Such a diet allows you to cut down on calories."

Protein furnishes specific dynamic action for your body, in addition to giving you all the necessary material for replacing your fat with muscle tissue.

Specific dynamic action gives you pep and endurance by forcing your body to use its energy materials. It takes a steak and not a cream puff to make a winning fighter.

The specific dynamic action of the proteins in the steak mobilizes the fighter's energy resources so that he can stay in there punching until the final round.

EATING FOR PLEASURE

By the time you reach the age of fifty you will have spent three of your years eating. To make your eating hours enjoyable—without denying yourself the pleasures of food—you need a new philosophy. Plenty and variety, the enjoyment of food, of taste, and of new, natural flavors, are the keys to this new philosphy.

Learn to appreciate in your vegetables the flavor that nature bestowed upon them. Once you discover the exquisiteness of natural tastes, real enjoyment of eating can be yours. The answer to your weight problem will be a new marriage between art and science.

The delectable natural taste of many foods will offer you a new kind of flavor—flavor that has been hidden from you under sauces or distorted by traditional combinations. Science shows you what food can do for you. How well you use the knowledge is up to you.

Choose pleasant surroundings, add good conversation, then eat slowly, and chew your food thoroughly. This allows time for blood-sugar changes, which appease your appetite before second helpings are offered.

Blunting the sharp edge of appetite by changes in eating times which serve to raise the blood-sugar level is known as meal timing. When you are on a reducing diet, if you can succeed in dulling the nagging pains of hunger, the battle is nearly won.

FLUIDS—A MUST!

"Sure," he said. "Always have. I drink at least three glasses a day. That's the right amount for an adult, isn't it?"

"It certainly isn't for you, Sam," I said. "One cupful of whole milk yields 9.5 grams of fat. That's why for any adult, I recommend skim milk—either fresh or reconstituted from the powdered variety available in all food markets."

★ ★ ★

"O.K.," said Sam. "Skim milk for me—even though it's what we used to feed the hogs back home. But come to think of it, those hogs did real well on it!"

"Another reason for a balanced reducing diet," I told Sam, "is to prevent constipation. With that in mind, be sure to drink at least six glasses of water each day."

Water is necessary for all the life processes within the living cells of the body. The glands use water to elaborate their various secretions. Water is also used for the absorption of digested foods: You need about two quarts of water every twenty-four hours for your body requirements.

Dr. Jean Mayer, of the Department of Nutrition, Harvard School of Public Health, says: "Combating overweight by diet alone is like fighting with one hand behind your back. Exercise is the other fist that enables us to deal the knockout blow."

EXERCISE HELPS

Moderate exercise promotes mental alertness, provides an outlet for the frustrations of competition and creates a feeling of well-being. When you feel like blowing up, exercise provides you with an outlet that reduces tension.

Were you a college football hero? Then you need more exercise to keep your body fit than the bookworm does. You have built up big muscles, and if you suddenly cut down on your exercise, fat will infiltrate all those masses of muscle.

One British physiologist tells us, "While it may be better to have loved and lost, it certainly isn't better to have exercised and stopped."

★ ★ ★

Back at the turn of the century, people walked or bicycled wherever they went, unless they could afford a carriage. Today almost everyone rides. Overweight has grown with our prosperity: The number of persons joining the ranks of the obese has increased at an alarming rate. So have the mortality rates increased for the diseases of the obese.

★ ★ ★

Fat is a killer. Remember to treat it as such!

Do you want to subtract 500 calories or more from your daily intake? For the high protein diet I gave Sam, combined with a special eating chart of high calorie and unnecessary foods that I told him he must eliminate, send a stamped self-addressed envelope for your free copy of my "Better-Eating Plan." Dodgers Reclaim 2nd in NL

Phillies Dump Giants Again

By The Associated Press

Philadelphia's failing Phillies suddenly are the flailing Phils, hip deep in the cellar but chilling the contenders in the National League pennant race.

They've won seven of their last eight games and 11 of their last 14, rolling up a 5-2 edge over San Francisco and Los Angeles in that two-week spurt.

Last night they trimmed the Giants' hold on first place to a half-game with a 3-2 victory at San Francisco on an eighth-inning home run by Gene Freese and the four-hit pitching of Jim Owens.

The Dodgers reclaimed second place, whipping Pittsburgh 9-4 while the Milwaukee Braves, who had won five straight, slipped to third with a 5-4 loss to the Chicago Cubs. The Braves trail by 1½.

St. Louis blew a 4-0 lead and lost 6-4 to Cincinnati in the other NL game.

Freese's 14th home run broke a 2-2 tie for the Phillies and beat reliever Stu Miller (4-6), who has lost three in a row while the Giants have dropped six of their last nine games. Sam Jones, the Giants' starter, gave up a run in the third on two walks and a two-out fly by Richie Ashburn that fell in front of a stumbling Willie Mays for an RBI double. Freese singled with two out and scored the second run in the fourth inning, forced home by three walks.

★ ★ ★

Wally Moon drove in four runs for the Dodgers, hammering his eighth homer and two-run double and breaking a 4-all tie with a sacrifice fly off losing reliever Ron Blackburn (1-1) in the fifth inning. Stan Williams (4-3) was the winner with six innings of four-hit, shut out relief. The Pirates, who have lost seven in a row, built a 4-1 lead in two frames against Larry Sherry, scoring two unearned runs in the first and two more on starter Bennie Daniels' first home run in the second.

★ ★ ★

Right-hander Glen Hobbie, 6-0 against Milwaukee in his two-year career, beat the Braves a third time this season with the one-hit relief help of Bill Henry after the Cubs had cracked a 3-3 tie in the sixth inning. Singles by Bobby Thomson and George Altman and Jim Marshall's double did it, the only hits allowed by loser Carl Willey (4-6) in his 3 2-3 innings of relief. Tony Taylor homered in a two-run first against Juan Pizarro for the Cubs, who have taken four straight from the Braves and eight of 13 for the season.

★ ★ ★

The Reds, shut out on four hits for six innings by Ernie Broglio, tied the Cards in a four-run seventh, then won it in the eighth on a single by Roy McMillan, who had been out six weeks with a broken hand. Marshall Bridges (4-2) was the loser with ex-Card Jim Brosnan (4-5) the winner in relief.

Rival Football League for NFL Planned in '60

Commissioner Bert Bell Speaks Before Senate Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Fans have been promised a new era in sports: More major leagues for both football and baseball, bringing the pros to almost every section of the country.

Football was added to the promise yesterday when Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League reported that a rival loop planned to start operations next year in six cities.

"The more teams and the more competition the better," Bell said. Just the day before, a group in New York had announced that a new major baseball league planned to be in business by 1961.

Bell gave out word about the new football league while testifying before the Senate Antimonopoly Subcommittee. He spoke in favor of legislation that would exempt some aspects of professional football, baseball, basketball and hockey from the antitrust laws.

The committee hears Ford Frick, commissioner of baseball, on the same matter today.

Only skimpy details about the new league were revealed by Bell, who said he planned to meet today with three financial backers. The meeting would be either in Philadelphia or Atlantic City, Bell said.

The commissioner, talking to newsmen after the hearings, said Houston, Denver and Minneapolis surely would have teams in the league. He added that Dallas, New York and Los Angeles were almost certain starters.

After the first season, Bell said, the league plans to expand to eight teams. Possible candidates for the added franchises would be Boston, Buffalo, Louisville, Miami, Seattle and San Francisco, he said.

Bell said he had contacted the owners of the 12 teams in the 40-year-old NFL, now the only pro football league, and had not received any objection.

★ ★ ★

The commissioner would not say who the backers of the proposed league are, but he described them as men with plenty of money. He did name Davey O'Brien of Fort Worth, former Texas Christian star, as the man who contacted him for the backers.

Pierce Takes 4-3 Verdict From Yankees

One Run Big for White Sox

By United Press International

The White Sox, the hitless wonders of long ago, still make one run go a long way.

They've scored fewer runs than any other American League team except Baltimore but they're back in first place by a half-game today because their pitching and defense win the close ones.

They're streaking now with six wins in their last seven games—and five of the victories were by one run. What's more they've compiled a 24-5 mark in one-run games and are only 14 shy of the A.L. record for one-run victories in a single season.

They came through with one of their most important decisions of the season Tuesday night when Billy Pierce's sturdy pitching and Al Smith's two-run eighth-inning homer produced a 4-3 win over floundering New York Yankees. A crowd of 43,829—largest of the season in Chicago's Comiskey Park—saw the White Sox dump the World Champions into fifth place.

The Cleveland Indians slipped back into second place when they lost, 8-4, after beating the Boston Red Sox, 5-2, the Kansas City A's stretched their winning streak to a Major League season high of nine by beating the Washington Senators, 6-1, and the Detroit Tigers defeated the Orioles, 8-3, in other A.L. games.

Smith's homer came in the eighth inning after Nelson Fox singled for his third hit and boosted the White Sox into a 4-1 lead. An error by shortstop Luis Aparicio helped the Yankees score two runs in the ninth but Pierce struck out Bobby Richardson to end the game and raise his record to 12-11.

The White Sox have beaten the Yankees in nine of 16 games this year.

Gary Bell pitched a six-hitter and Jim Baxes hit his 13th homer for the Indians in their opener but then homers by Frank Malzone and Pete Runnels led the Red Sox to their nightcap victory Bill Monouquette went eight innings for Boston in the second game to square his record at 3-3. Bell's win in the first game was his 10th against nine losses.

★ ★ ★

The Athletics went past the Yankees into fourth place only a half game behind the Orioles behind the five-hit pitching of Johnny Kucks. The red-hot Athletics virtually clinched the game in the first inning when Kent Hadley singled home two runs and Harry Chiti doubled home two more. Jim Lemon homered and had four of Washington's five hits.

Oriole Pitcher Can't Get Ball to Do Tricks

Chrisley Hits 4th Homer as Mossi Gains His 9th Win

DETROIT (UPI) — Hoyt Wilhelm's bubble has burst and Jimmie Dykes thinks he knows the reason why.

The Detroit Tigers rapped the veteran knuckle-baller for six hits and as many runs in the first three innings last night and coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

It was the seventh setback for the 36-year-old Wilhelm since June 15. Prior to that date, he had posted nine straight victories.

"I think the weather has a lot to do with Wilhelm's collapse—if that's what you would call it," Dykes said. "In the spring, there's always a pretty stiff breeze.

"Wilhelm's knuckle-ball was murder when he was pitching into that wind. You never knew what way the ball would break. But there hasn't been much wind in the past few weeks and Wilhelm's pitches haven't been doing tricks."

Detroit has inflicted three of Wilhelm's setbacks, including his first loss of the season on June 15.

But the Tigers quickly shattered Baltimore's hopes.

Wilhelm walked Eddie Yost in the bottom of the first and he scored ahead of Neil Chrisley when the substitute rightfielder lined his fourth homer of the season.

Chrisley was filling in for the injured Harvey Kuenn.

A single by Gail Harris, a double by Coot Veal and a base hit by Yost sent Detroit ahead, 3-2, in the second.

Wilhelm departed during a four-run rally in the third. He disposed of Chrisley on a sharp liner to first. But Al Kaline then walked and singles by Lou Berberet and Harris produced a run and sent Wilhelm to the showers.

Jack Fisher came in and walked both Ted Lepcio and Veal to force in a run. He gave way to Billy Hoeft who saw Harris score on a passed ball and Lepcio cross the plate on a sacrifice fly by Yost.

Hoeft, who left the Tigers on May 2 — the same day Bill Norman was fired as manager — worked four and two-thirds innings and struck out seven former teammates.

He was charged with Detroit's final run in the seventh on Harris' fourth single of the game, a single by Lepcio and an infield out. It was Mossi's 9th win.

Gritty Gomes Fighter of July

NEW YORK (AP) — Harold Gomes of Providence, R.I., is July's "fighter of the month" in the Ring Magazine monthly ratings announced today.

Gomes came off the floor four times to win a decision over Paul Jorgensen of Port Arthur, Tex., in what was billed as a junior lightweight championship bout, and as a result was advanced from eighth to fourth in the featherweight rankings.

The heaveyweight division saw minor shakeups. Henry Cooper of England was dropped from third to fifth because of inactivity, and Sonny Liston of Philadelphia and Eddie Machen of Redding, Calif., each advanced a notch to third and fourth, respectively. Machen's kayo of Reuben Vargas brought about his new rating.

Pileup at Northville

DETROIT (AP) — A crowd of 3,693 saw a pileup that took four of seven horses out of the fourth race at the Northville Downs harness track last night. The drivers and horses escaped injury. The sulkies were wrecked.

Good Pitching in City Games

'F' Boy Fires No-Hitter in 1st Start; Kirken Hurls Class D Gem

Lytell-Colgrove and Pontiac Boys Club each had both in posting Class D wins Tuesday.

Chuck Kirken fired a no-hitter while his mates were making eight hits count for six runs in a 6-0 victory for Lytell. Norb Hoffman of PBC gave up three bingles in blanking West Bloomfield, 12-0.

Winner Bill Gaddes and Jim Terry hit home runs as Baldwin E.V.B. took a 16-10 Widget win over the Blue Racers. Ron Johnson socked one for the Fighting 69ers but they bowed to the Webmets, 6-4. Ricky Lyons of Ultra-Stone one-hit the Aces (Hall) 11-1 and East Side, featuring a grand slam by Bob Church, downed Atlas, 12-9 in a 26-hit contest.

In Class E, Tel-Huron broke a tie with three in the last three innings to down J&R Auto Stores, 7-4.

There were plenty of runs in three "F" tilts. The Falcons walloped Willis 22-5, Ron Lewis made his first start a no-hitter as B&B socked St. Mike 20-0 with 18 hits, two of them homers by Harry Lawrence and Wes Harden, and Auburn Heights Boys Club trounced PBC, 12-1. Dennis Acker had a homer and two singles for Auburn.

Voorheis Hurls 1-Hit Softball Triumph

A single in the 2nd inning spoiled a no-hitter for Roger Voorhies as he pitched Harrison's Grill to a 7-0 city softball victory over Wright's Upholstery last night.

★ ★ ★

The Moose nipped Butter Cup Drive In 3-2, Blue Star slammed Huron Bowl 11-3, and Arro Realty downed Autos of Europe 8-2 in a full slate of National League games.

★ ★ ★

A two-run homer in the 6th by Jack Avery clinched the Moose triumph. Blue Star broke a 2-2 tie with five in the second. Five players got two singles apiece in a 13-hit barrage.

Arro led all the way behind Art Weiss' three-hit hurling. He struck out 11.

Tick's Two-Hitter Wins Waterford Tilt

Norm Tick handcuffed the Wall's Service crew with a two-hitter to win last night's Waterford Softball league tilt, 5-2. Lotus Lakers won the other contest, 9-6, icing the victory with a 7-run total in the first three frames.

Tick got near-perfect support, but Barney Neeley, the loser was hurt by shoddy support, although he gave up only four blows. His mates made six errors. Arrows led all the way.

Don Vachon scored the Lakers' winning tally in the 3rd on a walk, a single, an error and then stole home. Winner Bob Almas (7 hits, 9 strikeouts), needed help from Stan Barker in the 7th. Loser was Frank Miceli whose wobbly control cost 10 walks, although he gave only six hits.

Study Grain in Putting

By DOW FINSTERWALD
PGA Champion

As Ben Hogan pointed out, reading the green is like understanding the fine type in a contract.

A golfer can lose strokes by not making a close study of the greens and that costs a professional money on the circuit.

If you see a "shine" between the ball and the cup you know the grain of the grass is with you and the putt will be faster.

When the green appears darker, you know the grain of the grass is against you and you must allow accordingly.

The best putting stroke is of little avail if you fail to reckon with the grain.

Leading performers in yesterday's play in the Silver Lake Golf Club's women's league was Mrs. Edward Dalton, with a low net of 31, and a share of the low putt mark.

Mrs. Loren Aris, Mrs. Max Richardson, and Mrs. Fred Harroun tied for 2nd low net at 37. A three-way tie also was set for the putts, with Mrs. Paul Castleberry and Mrs. Aubyn Coops sharing the 15 total. Mrs. Aris won the blind hole with a two on No. 8.

Ben Is Missing From PGA Field at Minneapolis

Officials Unhappy That Little Veteran Is Not in Pro's Tourney

They feel he should be playing in his own organization's tournament 41st annual P.G.A. championship starting here Thursday.

They argue, loudly, that he owes the P.G.A. a debt of gratitude for giving him the chance to become famous in golf.

And they are extremely bitter that he turned down a personal appeal to lend the magic of his name to help rebuild the prestige of a tournament which for several years has been hanging on the financial ropes.

"We asked him to play here as a matter of business," commented one P.G.A. official. "Sure, we need his name at the gate. But he told us he doesn't play from the U.S. Open until January and also that he was busy restyling his clubs.

"How busy can you be," he asked heatedly. "Too busy to pay off a debt of gratitude? Too busy, when you're in the business of selling clubs to golf pros only, to come here for the profession's own tournament?"

Hogan in 1948 scored a rare double accomplished only once before in history, by Gene Sarazen in 1922, when he won the U.S. Open and the P.G.A.

"I can understand him wanting and trying for a record fifth in the Open," say Wally Mund, former P.G.A. vice president. "But if he can play in the Masters and the Colonial, I can't understand why he passes up the P.G.A. We were hoping that he would come here. We need him."

★ ★ ★

The P.G.A. field is the largest in any major golf tournament. The first threesome will start at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow and the last isn't scheduled to leave the first tee until 2:51 p.m.

★ ★ ★

"Maybe we'll be lucky and get everybody through," said Cary Middlecoff, the two-time National Open champion whose name has become synonymous with slow play.

Five More Players in Red Wing Fold

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings have signed five more players to contracts for their 1959-60 National Hockey League season, it was announced today by general manager Jack Adams.

★ ★ ★

Signed were veteran Forbes Kennedy and rookies Gary Alcorn, John McKenzie, Lloyd Haddon and Murray Oliver. This brings the number of Red Wings signed for this season to 11.

Cawley Second in Two Events in Sweden Meet

From Our Wire Services

Farmington High School track sensation Warren Cawley finished 2nd in two events while competing with touring U.S. athletes at Stockholm, Sweden yesterday.

★ ★ ★

Running against Swedes and Italians, he was runnerup behind teammate Willie May of Indiana in the 110-meter hurdles and followed sprint star Ray Norton of San Jose State across the wire in the 200-meter dash.

May's time was 14.2 and Norton had 21.2.

Norton also won the 100-meter dash to pace the Yanks to eight firsts in 12 events before 7,500 in the 1912 Olympic Stadium.

Meeting at St. Mikes

An important meeting of the St. Michael High School Athletic Association will be held in the Parish Hall tonight at 8:00 p.m.

Birmingham Ruth Victor

Oakland County will be assured two berths in Saturday's Babe Ruth district semifinals at Birmingham.

The Birmingham Pioneer team gained one slot yesterday by coming from behind to down the Northwest Detroit Internationals 3-1 at Birmingham. Walled Lake and Southfield were eliminated in other games.

Milford and the Birmingham Satellites will clash for the other berth tomorrow at 5 p.m. at Birmingham.

Carl Kalocsay fired a two-hitter, fanned eight and slammed a two-run double in the Pioneer win. Birmingham got its runs in the 6th after trailing.

An outstanding pitching and batting performance by Walled Lake's Dennis Sikila went down the drain when the defending state champion Northwest Detroit Americans scored two in the 7th. He gave up six hits, struck out 10 and walked two while getting a single and double himself.

Southfield came from behind with four in the 7th to force the Northwest Nationals into overtime but then bowed 8-6 in nine. Barry Marion was the loser.

Big Innings Decided Baseball Victors

Trailing 5-0, Griff's Grill countered seven times in the 2nd and went on whip Talbott Lumber, 9-6.

Shotgun Title Test Aug. 8-9

Michigan's best all-round shotgun shooter will be decided Aug. 8 and 9, at Davison. The occasion is the fifth annual Michigan shotgun championship invitational tournament sponsored by the Williams Gun Sight Co.

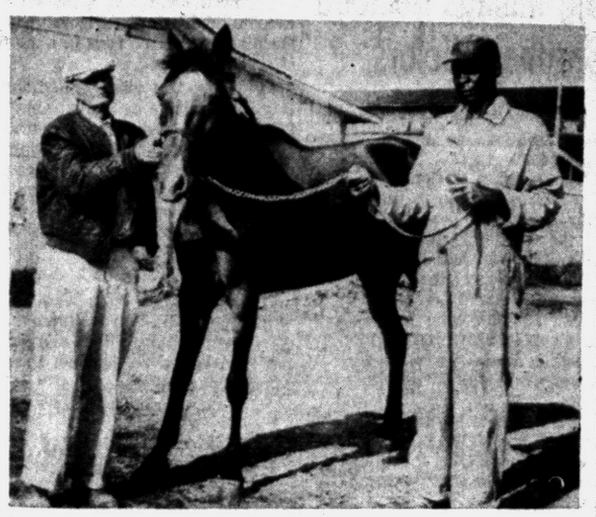

This is the most outstanding of the state shoots, attracting upland game hunters, skeet and trap shooters from all over the Midwest. To become Michigan's champion all-round shotgun shooter, it is necessary to be proficient at skeet, trap and the tricky bird field. A real shotgun champion, the Williams feel, should be able to hit any kind of a flying target as long as it is in reach of his shotgun.

Former ladies champions, Florence Schmidt, Muriel Pace and Mrs. Hazel Vandewater are also expected to be on hand, as well as a host of new lady shooters including the ladies state trap shooting champion, Reta Piccabotta of Flint. This division appears to be very close, with three "Top" newcomers challenging for the title. They are: Arlene Griffey of Grosse Pointe Farms, Virginia Oesch and Wilma Dell of Pontiac.

There will be chevrons and trophies for: 10 high resident shooters, 2 high non-residents, high professional, 2 high lady shooters, high junior (16 or younger) top two-man team.

The Williams fields are open for practice every Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Area Water Skiers in Midwest Regional

Both will take part in the Michigan Water Ski Championships at Ann Arbor, along with a number of area skiers including Alice Shotwell and her brother Jerry Brace. Jerry, seriously injured two years ago in a skiing accident, has recovered completely, and is in great form for the state event.

Dog Handling Clinic Is Set for Today

Any person interested in learning how to handle dogs in the show ring is invited to attend a "clinic" at Murphy Park, on East boulevard today starting at 5 o'clock.

Jim Bennett Wins McMahon Award

Junior Champ Honored

By The Press Outdoors Editor

Following his second consecutive state junior .30 caliber rifle championship during the recent matches held on the Grayling range of the Michigan National Guard, James (Jim) Bennett, 18, has been made first recipient of the handsome Harold D. McMahon trophy. Jim received the big trophy from McMahon himself, and will have possession for the ensuing year. hmba

McMAHON VETERAN NRA OFFICIAL

The presentation to Jim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bennett, took place at the gathering marking McMahon's retirement. McMahon had been active in National Rifle Assn. since 1913, and for 20 years was an instructor for juniors. Jim learned his rifle handling as a student of Mac, and became an apprentice instructor through his teaching. Mac's pupils provided the funds for purchase of the trophy.

BENNETT

New plastics and lightweight metals are being combined to provide much lighter weight, and stronger fishing tackle. The newest trend along these lines is apparent in the planned displays at the Associated Fishing Tackle Manufacturers trade show in Chicago, Aug. 2-7.

Some of the old standbys are still being used, but the majority of the articles are made of materials unheard of prior to World War II. They include soft plastic lures of life-like types, a tackle box that floats, a tiny, open-face spin reel, gadgets that free a snagged line, new lines, rods of plastic (400 models of rods will be shown).

CRANES ON WAY OUT IN SO. MICH.

One of Michigan's rather spectacular birds, the shy, beautifully plumaged Greater Sandhill Crane, appears to be going the way of the once-plentiful grayling, at least in the southern part of the state.

Many years ago the long-necked, long-legged wader (note picture) was found in abundance in southern Michigan particularly along the sandhills in the area around the confluence of the big St. Joseph river, and the meandering Paw Paw river. In other years this area, extending from the North Shore road that ran from Benton Harbor to the Lake Michigan shore, and clear down to the old North Pier at St. Joseph, held large colonies of the cranes.

They are now gone. Encroachment of real estate, and industrial expansions has all but wiped out those former extensive nesting areas.

Today, practically all the southern Michigan population of this bird is concentrated at sanctuaries and state-owned areas. There are only about 40-50 pairs left. About the only hope of keeping this interesting creature in southern Michigan, state conservation men point out, is to continue the acquisition, preservation and restoration of good nesting wetlands.

State's largest crane population (nesting) is found in remote areas of the eastern Upper Peninsula, where its probable ultimate refuge in Michigan is located.

You're the Skipper

By JOHN BOHANNAN
Syndicated Boating Writer

With so much emphasis on big outboard motors these days, we are apt to overlook the fine little jobs in the range up to three horsepower. These have been giving valiant service since the early days of outboarding.

The little fellows maintain the original concept of the detachable motor—portability. They can be carried easily by one person, stowed in a small space in the car trunk and be ready for use anywhere.

For example, you can carry a three horsepower motor on your vacation or on a weekend trip, using rental boats, or if you wish you can take along a light-weight car-top boat.

There are also folding rubber boats, and boats which come apart in the middle.

All of this adds up to a traveling salesman's dream. The man on the road can get in plenty of fishing and boating as he drives around the country.

By using a small motor on a transom bracket mounted on a centerboard sailboat, the skipper can always get back to the dock before that sundown calm, and the utility of his craft is enhanced with auxiliary power.

Still another important use for the pee-wee outboard is to serve as an auxiliary trolling engine for high-powered outboard cruisers and sea skiffs. With the midget motor mounted off center on the transom, you need never worry about failure of the big engine, since the little job will always bring you back to port.

And an excellent feature of the small outboard is that it is entirely self-contained, needs no extra batteries, tanks, cables or controls. It's compact and handy.

Michigan Party Off for Alaskan Fishing

Wildlife motion picture photographer Howard Shelley of Pontiac, accompanied by Mrs. Shelley, departed by plane last Friday, leading a party of 15 "Michigan Outdoors" fishermen into the famed Brooks River Country, 300 miles south-west of Anchorage, on the Alaskan Peninsula.

Nineteen hours after leaving Detroit Metropolitan Airport, the fishermen should be catching sockeye salmon, grayling, rainbow, Dolly Vardon, and Mackinaw trout from the Kulik and Brooks River fishing camps.

Following a week of the world's finest sport fishing, the party will return to Michigan, with the Shelleys remaining for an extended air-tour of the 49th state. Securing footage for a new lecture film, fishing villages along the west coast of Alaska, Dillingham, Bethal, and Platinum will be visited, as well as Nunivak Island where musk-oxen and raindeer herds are located.

A highlight will be a week spent with the Michigan pioneers, the '59ers, at their Susitna River Valley homestead headquarters near Talkeetna, 100 miles in the bush north of Anchorage.

Lions Cut Rookie From Royal Oak

Wilson held a stiff contact workout yesterday at the Cranbrook school camp, when it was over, six rookies were off the squad.

Three of those cut were Lions' draft choices who failed to make the grade. The others, including Frank Finney of Royal Oak who earned All-Eastern recognition at Brown University as a quarterback, were free agents.

"He couldn't make it with us," Wilson said, "It would be tough for anyone — we're pretty well stocked with defensive backs."

Others cut yesterday were halfback Ray Carter of Youngstown, Ohio, guard Doug Kramer of Dayton, and draft choices, back Bill Davis of Richmond, tackle Jim Linden of UCLA and defensive end Bill Curry of Western Kentucky.

Elimination of the rookies brought to 10 the number of tryouts who failed to earn a spot with the lions after six days of workouts.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES:

The standouts on the receiving end were veterans Billy Howton, acquired from Green Bay; Frank Clarke and rookie Gene Cook of Toledo University.

Mike McCormack, captain and offensive right tackle who suffered a knee injury in practice Monday, said the right knee did not swell and much of the pain has subsided. He expects to be back in action in about three weeks.

WINOOSKI PARK, Vt. — Don Sutherin, former Ohio State back, is making a strong bid to stick with the New York Giants in his second try.

The 205-pounder sparkled in the Giants' drill Tuesday, making several fine catches and doing an impressive job on defense. He played football in Canada last year after being dropped from the Giants' squad.

It's playoff time all around the Pontiac area and throughout the state for that matter in both baseball and softball.

The Michigan Junior Legion finals got under way today at Belle Isle with Southfield representing this area. That city has a Little League district meet currently going.

District Babe Ruth action began yesterday at Birmingham and Walled Lake and will continue through Sunday. The finals will be at Ypsilanti next week.

Pontiac's entry in the MSA Class AA softball tournament will be determined tomorrow night when Sno-Bol and Stadium Inn tangle to decide the American League championship. Both were 12-2 during the season. State play is set for Allen Park Aug. 27-29.

Meanwhile, the Parks and Recreation Department has set up its playoffs on the local level. These start Sunday and run through Aug. 5 in classes A and B for AL teams and classes C and D for the National loop.

Class A district and regional play will be held here later in August with the finals at St. Joseph. Class B will be at Southfield, Flint and Coldwater, "C" at Mt. Clemens, Pontiac and Cheboygan and Class D at Howell, Flint and St. Louis. The finals will be in early September.

Chuck Oertel has fallen way off at the plate again. Has averaged below .200 for the last three weeks but he still may land a berth on the loop All-Star team which will play Pittsburgh at Columbus in August.

250 Tennis Fans Attend Clinic at Pontiac Central

Mrs. Jean Hoxie was queen of the Pontiac Central tennis courts yesterday afternoon where nearly 250 people watched the demonstrations of her troupe of youthful netters.

Four of her top junior proteges engaged in a doubles match and Joyce Pniewski and George Korol defeated Phyllis Saganski and Jerry Dubie, 4-3 in an abbreviated mixed doubles match.

Afterward, nearly 125 local youngsters moved onto the courts with their racquets and engaged in stroking fundamentals as exhibited by Mrs. Hoxie and her netters.

Oh, Those Directions for Gadgets!

By PHYLLIS BATTELE

It is not a hobby. It is the curse of prosperity.

What we collect are wonderful, modern, ingenious inventions of mid-century Americanism. This is all to the good, as who would care to be caught flat-footed these days without the feet having been treated by a handy-dandy $39.95 electric home pedicure set?

But the curses of collecting wonderful, modern, ingenious inventions of mid-century Americanism are the papers that come with them. The guarantees. The directions on how to open. The instructions on how to operate. The reminders on how to care for. The tips on where to order parts and refills.

Our apartment is one sprawling filing cabinet of folders, tags, certificates and instruction sheets. We are afraid to throw them away, partly because we might forget how to change those grids on the waffle iron, or between cases of dyspepsia we might forget whether to take a teaspoon or a tablespoon, and was it before or after meals?

But mainly we hesitate to throw papers away because we didn't understand them in the first place—and someday we'll get around to muddling them through. Like the floor-polisher brochure that begins:

"Congratulations. Now that you are the proud possessor of a ——— polisher and scrubber, give it regular care. Every three months, remove the three screws marked 'A' on the underside of the base, then turn machine right side up and remove screw in center of handle swivel plate. Turn field lead to rear of handle swivel and. . ."

This is where our mind wandered. So we tucked the pamphlet in the dictionary, our favorite filing site for difficult memorabilia, and pushed a button and scrubbed. But it's been two years now since we've proudly possessed this gadget and someday that field lead will have to turn.

More understandable instructions (like "Hello there, my name is ———. I'm a pot cleaner. Soak me well and use") creat a problem, because they must be filed away. There are some pot cleaners, you know, which don't want to be soaked well and a housewife can't be expected to remember their idiocyncrasies.

One has to keep tags from clothes, of course, because some should be washed in hot water and some in cool, some ironed and some dripped, some bleachable and starchable and others not.

Our system is to mark these instruction tags with hints as to what they came with ("his blue shirt," "her plaid shorts") and toss them in a drawer with the drugs directionals.

In this latter line are included the tips on how to apply corn pads, before which meals to take what, after what meals to take which, how to open castor oil without spilling (turn cap gently, do not tip) and so on.

This particular drawer is so flooded with literature that if we were not careful we could bleed to death before laying hands on the "How to unwind bandage gauze" tip sheet.

Scattered even more haphazardly throughout the apartment, as we discovered in a recent annual search for the rules on how to oil the electric knife-sharpener, are more than a hundred other "how to" pamphlets collected through the months. One, located under a mysterious brochure on safety with a Marlin model 55-hunter shotgun (mysterious because we don't own a gun), was a booklet without a cover. Fascinating, too.

TURN BASE GROOVE

It read: "Carefully turn base groove (X) on end, affixing match thumb nuts (B and D) to bolts (CC). Now hook guy wires (RR) to . . ."

But our mind wandered again.

What it wandered to was our filing cabinet, where all these accoutrements of modern invention should neatly and accurately be stored away. Trouble is we've never been able to use the filing cabinet properly. We bought it second-hand, with no guarantee or instructions.

Daydreaming May Get OK, Says Speaker

NEW YORK (AP) — Perhaps, in some schoolroom of the future, students will be reprimanded for not daydreaming.

He was a speaker for the company's 10th annual industrial arts awards program Tuesday.

The winning entries, he said, show that high school students today have added a fourth "R" to the traditional three — resourcefulness.

They show, he said, "that the teaching of skills is not enough."

"Emphasis must be placed on creative thinking and problem-solving," he added, "for the future citizen needs to be educated to use his mind to think, to reason, to dream, to create."

Don Mix, now living in Bristol, Conn., made the first contact by radio from the Arctic to the United States when he was aboard the Arctic-exploring schooner "Bowdoin" in 1923-24.

Oils Lead Surge on Stock Mart

NEW YORK (AP) — Oil shares ran ahead sharply again today as the stock market edged higher in lively early trading.

Leading oils tacked fractions to around two points onto yesterday's brisk advances. Pivotal issues in other groups generally followed with smaller gains. Losers sprinkled the list.

Gerald H. Rideout Buick PR Director

FLINT — Gerald H. Rideout today was named director of public relations for Buick by Edward D. Rollert, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors.

★ ★ ★

Rideout succeeds Waldo E. McNaught, who has been made manager of divisional relations for the GM public relations staff at Detrot. Both appointments are effective Aug. 1.

Rideout, 45, has been assistant director of public relations for Buick since June 5, 1950. Prior to coming to Buick he had worked seven years for the United Press.

Rollert said Chris J. Edmonds, also an assistant director of public relations, would continue as Rideout's assistant.

Edmonds, 43, joined Buick three years ago after 15 years with the Associated Press in Milwaukee and San Francisco.

Says Counties Work Together

Top Area Supervisor Tells National Group of Progress Here

Trust and sincerity have replaced metropolitan rule over urban communities among nearby counties.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors cited this fact in a panel discussion before 2,000 delegates to the National Assn. of County Officials annual conclave in Detroit yesterday.

Said Hamlin, chairman of the Detroit Area Intercounty Committee:

"We have abandoned our feelings of mistrust and have developed a sincere feeling of cooperation between Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Monroe, Washtenaw and St. Clair counties.

Hamlin said his unique committee is solving urban problems without resorting to metropolitan government.

"This area of Michigan has been confronted with many problems," he said. "No one unit of government can solve them all.

"The role of county government is changing, and it must keep on changing to meet larger needs through cooperation between units of government."

The Oakland County supervisor told the delegates from counties all over the country that many services required are of a county cross jurisdictional lines nature. He mentioned, as an example, water and sewer requirements.

"Several years ago," said Hamlin, "we realized that area-wide cooperation was a necessity to get things done. This type of an organization may not be practical for everyone, but it does illustrate how cooperation can be accomplished."

Poison Pill Error Kills Infants in Texas Hospital

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)— Two infants are dead and four remained in critical condition today from poison sodium nitrite mistakenly put in the babies' formulas at the nursery of Robert B. Green Hospital.

Hospital Administrator William Foster blamed a shortage of professional workers for the tragic error, in which the poison tablets apparently were substituted for vitamin C tablets which they closely resemble.

Baby Drowns in Bath

DETROIT (AP) — One-year-old Susan Williams drowned Tuesday night in the bathtub of her suburban Lincoln Park home. Police said the child's mother told them she left the child, sitting in seven inches of water, for a moment when another of her seven children began to cry.

Clarkston Man Gets New Post

Michigan Bell Moves F. L. Spooner to High Public Relations Job

Appointment of F. L. Spooner, former commercial superintendent of Michigan Bell Telephone Company's Pontiac district, to the post of public relations assistant vice president was announced today by W. C. Patterson, vice president-public relations.

Spooner, who has been assistant to vice president since 1958, began his career with Michigan Bell as a clerk in 1924 after attending Wayne State University. He left Michigan Bell to enter the sales field in 1932 and rejoined the company in 1937.

He was district commercial superintendent here from 1948 to 1950. He transferred to the Public Relations Department in 1951 as a public relations assistant, and became executive assistant in 1953.

Spooner, who lives in Clarkston, is past treasurer of the Oakland County YMCA, and a past member of the Oakland County Public Planning Commission and the Clarkston Board of Education.

Senators Cross Swords Over Invitation for Nikita

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was urged by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.), today to open the way for informal talks here with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev as a substitute for a summit meeting.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.Y.), said he would oppose any visit of Khrushchev to this country, even if Vice President Richard M. Nixon should recommend it. Nixon indicated after his talks with the Soviet premier in Moscow he was considering such a recommendation.

★ ★ ★

The two senators' conflicting viewpoints were given in separate interviews. Others also indicated a variety of opinions about the wisdom of extending an invitation for the Soviet head of state to come to this country.

Humphrey, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, talked eight hours with Khrushchev in Moscow last December. He said he believes more progress might be made toward stabilizing world peace in informal talks between Eisenhower and Khrushchev than would be gained in a summit conference.

"The danger of a summit conference with Khrushchev is that we might feel we had to produce something from it," Humphrey said. "Generally, where Khrushchev is concerned, if you produce something it means you have made some concession.

"I think President Eisenhower's greatest opportunity to contribute to world peace during the remainder of his term lies in his personal relations with and personal visits with other heads of government."

Festival Bans Negro Pictures

Americans at Vienna Youth Meeting Rebel at Red Demoination

VIENNA (UPI)—Americans attending the World Youth Festival complained today that its Communist organizers have refused to let them display pictures showing how Negroes live in the United States.

Dick Bell, spokesman for a group of New Orleanians who brought a collection of paintings and photographs with them, said the Reds would let them show only a few abstract paintings.

Bell said the other pictures, including numerous photographs of Negro life, were excluded on the plea of "lack of space."

He added, however, that the banned pictures will be displayed at an exposition hall in downtown Vienna, made available by young Austrian anti-Communists.

Western sources speculated today that this youth festival, the first ever held west of the Iron Curtain, also will be the last held outside Communist territory.

Western delegations have rebelled repeatedly against Communist domination, and even delegates from Iron Curtain countries have been slipping away when they can to shop for goods available here—especially low-priced books.

Austrian youth officials said the books most often requested by the Red truants are those of two men regarded as rebels against communism—Boris Pasternak's "Dr. Zhivago" and Milovan Djilas' "The New Class."

Individuality Gives U.S. Competition Advantage

America has an advantage in competition with Russia because our system has given the individual "far greater opportunity to express his individuality than ever before in history," President John F. Gordon of General Motors said Tuesday night.

"Contrary to what some people would have you believe, business firms have no desire to submerge the individual or force him to become what has been called 'the organization man'," Gordon said. "Business recognizes the importance of enabling employes to develop themselves."

In General Motors, he said, "we deal with our employes as individuals, we think of them as individuals, we are concerned with their dignity as individuals."

Gordon contrasted this approach with the Russian system, which he said "cannot consider a man as an individual."

"The very premises of communism require that individuality, in the sense of being free to develop as one wishes and express opinions as one wishes, be stifled," he said.

"This is our advantage. But we can retain it only so long as we ourselves are true to our faith and our ideals. We can retain it only so long as we remain firm in our belief in the transcendent importance of man as a unique individual. And only so long as we practice in fact what we preach in theory."

It is because General Motors is aware of the value of people as individuals that it recognizes the importance of education, Gordon said.

"Education, to the extent that it is doing its job properly, promotes individuality, not conformity," he said.

Gordon reviewed the various phases of GM's support of formalized education, including college scholarships awarded in the Craftsman's Guild and the Chevrolet Soap Box Derby; operation of General Motors Institute at Flint, grants to institutions of higher education; support of educator conferences; special fellowships and scholarships; and two plans under which more than 1,600 students will be attending colleges and universities with the aid of General Motors scholarships this fall.

GM employs some 23,000 college graduates, and encourages its employes to "become more valuable to us and to themselves" through a tuition refund plan under which General Motors repays tuition costs up to $250 a year for any employe who in his spare time takes college level courses related to his work, Mr. Gordon said.

He pointed out that the Craftsman's Guild competition itself demonstrates GM's recognition of the value of individuality. Rules of the competition, he noted, permit wide variations in design and were "expressly drawn to encourage individuality and put a premium on independent, original thinking."

GM Announces Staff Changes

Appointment of William E. Hamilton as staff co-ordinator of the General Motors public relations staff was announced today by Anthony G. De Lorenzo, vice president in charge of public relations.

He was formerly assistant director of plant city and field relations of the public relations staff.

HAMILTON

Hamilton, of Detroit, joined General Motors as a field representative for General Motors Acceptance Corporation in 1931.

He joined GM public relations as regional manager in New York City in November, 1943, and was placed in charge of field relations activities and special projects in Detroit in 1946. He became assistant director of the plant city and field relations section Feb. 1, 1958.

A native of Canton, Ohio, Hamilton was graduated from Boston University in 1930 with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

HAYES

Hayes joined GM as a lecturer with the GM Parade of Progress following his graduation from Wayne State University in 1939. After four years' service with the Navy, he was named unit manager with the GM Previews of Progress science show in December, 1945.

Two years later he was promoted to assistant regional public relations manager in the San Francisco office, and became manager of the GM public relations office in Los Angeles when it was opened in 1952.

Hart May Disqualify Self in Sports' Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) said Tuesday he may disqualify himself from voting on antitrust legislation relating to professional team sports because of present and past interests in the field.

Hart resigned from the board of directors of the Detroit Lions pro football club when he entered the Senate this year. He said he retains a small financial interest in the club.

The Senator's wife is a daughter of the late Walter O. Briggs, who was owner of the Detroit Tigers. Hart said his wife now holds no interest in the baseball club.

The Michigan Democrat said he was on the Lions board for 19 years and held the same position with the Tigers for five or six years.

Postpone Exam on Homicide Charge

OXFORD TOWNSHIP — The examination of Charles L. Lake, 30, of North Branch, on a charge of negligent homicide in the July 5 traffic death of Mrs. Roy R. Hendrix, 48, of Orion Township, has been postponed to Aug. 4.

The examination will be held before Oxford Township Justice Fred Stevens. Meanwhile he is out of jail on $1,000 bond.

Loan Firms Protest Interest Rate Hike

LANSING (AP) — A group of Michigan loan companies is protesting that a small loan bill passed by the Legislature last week is sponsored by big national firms who are trying to squeeze out the so-called independents.

Several of the independents have written Gov. Williams urging a veto of the measure which would double loan rates in the $300 to $500 bracket. Charges on borrowings under $50 would be reduced. The present loan ceiling of $500 would be raised to $1,500.

The independents contend they will not be able to compete with the large national companies under $1,500 loan ceiling.

Williams has promised to take "a long, hard look" at the bill when it reaches his desk next week.

Lay New Floors During Night

Dust Engulfs U.S. Exhibit in Moscow

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russian workers toiled through the night to cover up the American Exhibition's disintegrating concrete floor with a two-inch layer of asphalt and end the sea of dust that has engulfed the products on display.

DUST THICK

Dust from the Soviet-laid concrete flooring settled over all the exhibits, giving the show the appearance of a dusty attic, with some of the 50,000 daily visitors scrawling "U.S.S.R." with their fingers.

Howard Messmore, assistant exhibition director, asked that the asphalt flooring be started in the Golden Dome Center Building as rapidly as possible and then in the fan-shaped glass pavillion — 80,000 square feet at what he estimated was 27 cents per square foot.

The dust was so bad the International Business Machines, owners of the delicate Ramac machine in the dome building, were understood to be considering removing their popular "Ramac" electronic brain for fear it would receive permanent damage.

This is the machine that answers thousands of questions in Russian at the push of a button — and one which the Soviets said not only gave wrong figures on U.S. unemployment but made wisecracks about it. It was under dust covers yesterday.

The Soviet press has criticized most aspects of the exhibition as either misleading or a propaganda exaggeration. Today Moscow Radio reported that Russian television sets are as good as the American ones on exhibit and better looking.

"By its appearance our TV set appears to be better than the similar American sets," a commentator said. "We consider that TV sets have a good finish, for people buy sets for a long time for at least several years — and TV sets must not spoil the appearance of their room but should be an object of decoration.

"Therefore, the excessive economy used on the finish of American sets is not justifiable. The Rusian 'models' technical level is comparable to the best types of American sets."

The TV commentary also said Russian visitors complain that "one cannot find anything here except plenty of advertising of the American way of life." It quoted one Russian visitor as saying the standard of living section "can only arouse skepticism."

One of the most fascinating — and puzzling — parts of the show was an exhibition of abstract modern art. On one of the sculptures, unnamed, someone wrote — in dust — "If you can't think of a name for this, why not call it No. 17?"

Other difficulties were plaguing exhibitors. There have been lengthy waits for signs expylaining in Russian what their exhibits are all about. And the fashion show models' dressing room floor is so dusty the show clothes are getting soiled.

One difficulty was the great crowds that sometimes collect around an interesting exhibit. Guides have quit trying to explain a showing of abstract art for fear the crowds would crush the paintings. Similar crowds caused the American beautyparlor to stop giving treatments to Russian women.

But the general impression by exhibition workers was that the fair was successful despite its difficulties in getting started.

He's Still on Hunger Strike

In the Washtenaw County Jail, Hills expressed hope that "all turns out for the best." But he also said "I don't care" about the consequences of not eating.

Since last Friday, Hills has taken only an occasional glass of water. He is under a six-month contempt sentence for refusing to catch up on $1,007 in back support for his family.

Hills, slim and dark-haired, said he got his fasting idea from reading of Mahatma Gandhi. He denounced Michigan's divorce laws because he said they treat a man "as an economic machine without feelings and without use except to provide money."

Today Circuit Judge James R. Breakey Jr. was to decide in which institution Hills is to be incarcerated.

Yesterday Southern Michigan Prison, to which he was sentenced originally, refused to accept him. Prison officials said they do not accept men with sentences of less than a year.

Judge Breakey sentenced Hills when he refused to pay $500 of the back support and the remainder in installments.

Hills and Donna Jean broke up last year. They had been high school sweethearts in Wayne. At the time of the breakup he said he was being paid $75 a week as a milkman and Donna Jean was earning $50 weekly as a waitress. He said he objected to her working and they quarreled.

Misses Ship With Bottle

Christening of Second Missile Destroyer Done From Deck of Tug

BAY CITY (AP) — The nation's second Great Lakes launched guided missile destroyer, the USS Lynde McCormick, went down the ways at the Defoe Shipbuilding Co.'s Saginaw River slip yesterday.

A minor mishap marred the launching of the vessel. The sponsor, Mrs. Lillian McCormick of Washington, D. C., missed the ship's bow in her first try with the christening bottle. The sponsoring party had to board a tug and christen the destroyer from the deck of a work boat.

The McCormick, named for the late Navy admiral, is scheduled for completion in early 1961 and will be delivered through the St. Lawrence Seaway to the U.S. Navy Boston yard in the spring of 1961.

Highlight of the launching was the presentation of a life-sized oil painting of the late Harry J. Defoe from the company's employes to the shipbuilding firm now headed by Defoe's two sons, Thomas and William.

Fight Again Over Nags on Mackinac

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — A fight over Mackinac Island's control of its horse and buggy traffic is back in the courts.

This one, both sides say, may be carried to the State Supreme Court.

The right of licensing horse-drawn carriages is in dispute between the Mackinac Island Park Commission, which has authority over most of the island, and the city of Mackinac Island.

Bernard Gough and Chapman were arrested Monday night and freed under bond after a hearing at St. Ignace on the mainland. They allegedly drove an unlicensed carriage-for-hire on park grounds.

The extent of authority of the commission and the city appears to be the issue.

The famed, scenic straits of Mackinac Island, where cars are forbidden, has been having this fight for quite some time.

Sign One-Year Contracts for 3,000 Lakes Seamen

DETROIT (AP) — One-year contracts covering some 3,000 Great Lakes seamen have been signed by the National Maritime Union with eight lakes dry cargo and tanker companies.

Steve Federoff, national NMU secretary-treasurer, said yesterday the contracts provide fringe benefit gains and establish a lakes-wide seniority system.

Companies involved include Nicholson Transit Co., Ford Motor Co., Cleveland Tankers, Standard Oil of Indiana, National Maritime Service and the Great Lakes Divisions of Gulf Oil, Texaco and Sinclair Refining Co.

Game of Horseshoes Is Still Going Strong

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Are there any good horseshoe pitchers out there?

Just when I was wondering what has happened to the game of my youth, I discovered that the world-and-national tournament is being held at Murray, Utah, a suburb of Salt Lake City.

★ ★ ★

When I was a boy in Rockford, Ohio, we used to pitch horseshoes in the alley down by Grinny Tester's barber shop. We used horseshoes that had really been on horses and not these fancy store-bought kind that have never seen a blacksmith.

WILSON

Now I go to the Stage Barber Shop and there is plenty of talk about horses there, but nobody cares about their shoes. However, it is probably that the present world champ, Fernando Isias, a Mexican who owns a Los Angeles cafe, is a better horseshoe-pitcher than anybody who ever pitched down in our alley.

ALLEN

Why, the former seven-times champion, Ted Allen, a rancher from Boulder, Col., threw 72 consecutive ringers in a 1955 tournament —and in 1957, in a furious duel with Curtis Day of Frankfort, Ind., the midwest champ, they each threw 155 ringers in 174 pitches.

★ ★ ★

These two duelists, Allen and Day, seem to have ringer-itis.

Maybe you've heard the term "four deads." It means that each player has tossed two ringers in two throws, thus cancelling each other out for no score.

In their battle in 1957, in the greatest tournament game ever played, "four deads" were pitched 54 times before Allen finally won, 50 to 49. Their ringer percentage was .89.

I am told by Robert G. Pence, secretary-treasurer of the National Horseshoe Pitchers Ass'n of America, who lives in Gary, Ind., that today's tossers resent the appellation "Barnyard Gold."

"Today's game is played on courts with pitching pits filled with potters' clay worked up like putty, with concrete pitching platforms on each side of the pit, and floodlights for night pitching," he points out.

And in the big tournaments there are 18 courts with bleachers and individual score boards on each court so spectators can follow the battling. It seems to me that horseshoes are here to stay but they have put the game in the Cadillac class.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The trouble with golf, grumbles Tony Pettito, is that everybody else plays it so much better.

Herb Shriner tells of the fellow back home who drank to forget: "It was tough for him, too — he had a real good memory."... That's earl, brother.

Insurance Men Against Rebates

Study Plan to Return 20 Per Cent to Careful Car Drivers

LANSING (AP) — A proposal to give 20 per cent insurance rebates to careful drivers drew a mixed reaction here yesterday.

John J. Savage of the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters described a system used in California to about 60 insurance company representatives in the secretary of state's office.

Saving said some California insurance firms give a 20 per cent rebate to drivers with clean traffic records. The California Motor Vehicle Department cooperates by looking up the records of about 3,600,000 drivers annually.

Although a few of the insurance men were enthusiastic, more were leary of the plan. Careful drivers might benefit, they said, but rates could be forced up for drivers with violation records.

Secretary of State James M. Hare promised cooperation if any Michigan insurance firms adopt the plan. The companies would pay a fee for a check of the driver records to make the plan self-supporting.

Gets New Field Job

LANSING (AP) — M. J. DeBoer has been named to head a new field management section in the conservation department's fish division. DeBoer, a veteran of 40 years of fisheries work, has been supervisor of fisheries since 1946.

Senators Vote on Air Time Bill

Exempt Many News Shows From Law on Candidate Equality

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, brimming with potential candidates, has moved to erase a threatened radio and television news blackout of next year's presidential campaign.

By voice vote Tuesday, senators passed a bill that would exempt most news shows from the law's requirement that they make equal time available to all candidates for public office.

★ ★ ★

Until this year the requirement had been applied only to campaign advertising and political speeches, whether paid or free. A ruling by the Federal Communications Commission extended it to other types of programs, although not to mere mention of a candidate's name in a broadcast.

★ ★ ★

The measure now goes to the House, where another bill on equal time is awaiting clearance from the Rules Committee.

Bfore passing the bill, the Senate accepted an amendment that kept panel discussions, like NBC's "Meet the Press" and CBS' "Face the Nation," under the equal time requirement.

Exempted were all newscasts, news interviews, documentaries and spot news coverage. But the bill would require that despite the exemption, stations and networks must attempt to present all sides of political contests fairly.

Sen. Clair Engle (D-Calif), proposed the amendment that kept panel shows subject to the ruling.

He described the FCC ruling as stupid and silly, but he added that there would be too much opportunity for abuse if panel shows did not have to follow it.

U. of M. Survey About Politics Irritates Hart

WASHINGTON (AP)—It's a darn shame that most Detroit residents think politics is dirty or dishonest, Sen. Philip A. Hart (D-Mich) said Tuesday.

Such a finding by a University of Michigan survey, made public last week, is both discouraging and frustrating, Hart said at his weekly news conference.

"My own research," Hart said, "is that there is the same range of ability and integrity in politics as in the the law. It ranges from intolerably bad to extraordinarily good. That's true in both parties."

"I wouldn't care to identify the bad Democrats, but I'll be glad to identify the bad Republicans."

Hart said he wonders whether a voter who feels about politics as the survey indicated has "any feeling of responsibility about it."

Such a voter, he said, is really a "bad servant of free society" if he doesn't work to improve the situation.

Can He Inch His Way Into Police Force?

TOTOWA, N.J. (AP) — Will Mario Gaita be able to inch his way into the police force? The Borough Council doesn't know.

Some councilmen feel that Gaita doesn't measure up. He's 5-7 in his stocking feet and policemen here are supposed to be 5-8.

Others argue that the Borough ordinance doesn't make it clear whether police have to be 5-8 in their stocking feet or in their shoes. In his shoes, Gaita is 5-8.

After listening to this argument for a while Tuesday night, one resident snapped: "Who ever saw a cop walking around without his shoes?"

Japan to Host Macmillan

TOKYO (UPI)—Official sources said today that British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan has accepted an invitation from Prime Minister Nobusuke Kishi to visit Japan late this year or early next year.

TV News and Reviews

Andy Williams Stands Out Above Dull Summer Fare

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — In this, the long but not so hot summer of TV, the CBS-TV Andy Williams Show bulks as the class of the season.

It is a show fresh of aspect and buoyant of manner. It is packaged by craftsmen with a feeling for light and space and who obviously go to some pains to broom its parts clean.

EWALD

Last night's show, the fourth of the season, was not a terribly robust entry, but it did boast several engaging segments.

Williams, who looks a little like a hip owl, led the way, leveling in on such goodies as "I Get a Kick Out of You," "Making Whoopee" and "April in Paris" with elegant skill. You can't hardly get tunes like them anymore.

There were some less felicitous spots on the show — the grotesqueries of Cab Calloway and a lady pianist, Norma Douglas, mislabeled as a jazz artists — but I won't dwell on them.

What is important is the core of the show itself and it, very simply, is a beauty a credit to Williams and to Perry Lafferty and Norman Jewison, the men who put it together backstage.

SHORT SHOTS: Mrs. Pat McCarthy failed to show as a contestant on yesterday's NBC-TV Tic Tac dough because she was in a Philadelphia hospital awaiting the arrival of her second child . . . Edmund Hillary, the New Zealand beekeeper who scaled Mt. Everest in 1953, turned up as a contestant on CBS-TV's To Tell the Truth last night . . . Gov. Long Dashes Into Campaign

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana, a whirlwind 18-day vacation behind him, is ready to fling himself back into Bayou State politics.

Long planned to leave this resort city today for Monroe, La., where she will meet with Louisiana legislators to discuss a special session he has called for Aug. 10.

★ ★ ★

A second of these meetings is set for Thursday in Alexandria. Then the governor will take a day off before continuing his campaign for re-election with a swing through four cities Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Long has not been in Louisiana since July 11 when he departed on a tour of the West and Midwest where he engaged in arguments with law officers, newsmen and anyone else who got in his way.

Long is seeking a fourth term despite a constitutional restriction against a governor's succeeding himself. He plans to skirt this by resigning before the election.

Late Tuesday he led newsmen assigned to him on a shopping spree. He bought $80 worth of ham and bacon and passed out slabs of bacon to the newsmen.

Most of the newsmen have been with him since he obtained his release from a Louisiana state mental hospital where his wife had him committed.

Liquor Sales in Air Meets OK by Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Federal Aviation Agency warned Congress Tuesday that outlawing liquor sales aloft to meet complaints of "flying barrooms" might just aggravate the problem.

Deputy FAA Administrator James T. Pyle outlined the agency's stand in testimony before a House commerce subcommittee which is considering proposals to ban the sale of liquor on airliners flying domestic routes.

Rep. Gracie Pfost (D-Idaho) said she had heard "terrifying" stories about the behavior of drunken passengers.

Rep. Walter H. Judd (R-Minn) said he was on one flight where passengers almost had to knock out an obstreperous traveler. He said he also has heard "abusive language" aimed at stewardesses who refused to serve another drink.

But Pyle said that if the airlines were prohibited from serving alcoholic beverages, problem drinkers might be tempted to take an extra drink before boarding or to sneak drinks aloft from a flask.

Red-Backed Official Wins Top Sicily Post

The Christian Democrats, acting on orders from worried party leaders in Rome had formed an alliance with monarchists and fascists in a bid to keep Milazzo from retaining office. But the alliance caused bitter dissension within the party, and some Christian Democrats obviously broke ranks on the secret ballot and voted for Milazzo.

CBS Chief to Stress Quality, Not Quantity

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Louis G. Cowan, presiden of CBS—TV, says that he senses "a real ferment in network television programming."

Although he feels that it's only partially visible as yet, he believes there is a fresh enthusiasm and new fertility of ideas in the creative minds of the medium.

This year, he says, there is "greater emphasis on the writer as the keystone of creative programming. Our intensive drive for creativity at CBS is having a reaction elsewhere in the medium as well as here in our network."

This ferment is apparent, Cowan says, in special shows and news and factual programming which will be visible on CBS-TV in the coming season.

For example the network plans further editions of "Woman," the special hour afternoon program that examines vital, controversial subject—and breathes life into the generally monotonous routine of afternoon programming.

In disclosing that "Woman" will be at least partially sponsored in the coming season, Cowan also points out that such first-rate programs as "Conquest," "20th Century" and "Small World" will be sponsored next season. "Captain Kangaroo," the excellent morning children's program long carried by the network, has full sponsorship.

As other examples of creative innovations on CBS—TV in the coming season he points to "Twilight Zone," the new weekly series which makes its debut Oct. 2 and the series of special 60 and 90-minute programs which will be visible on a general biweekly basis.

★ ★ ★

"Twilight Zone" was created by Rod Serling and its stories deal with the area between fantasy and reality—with the real often seeming fantastic and the fantastic seeming quite real.

The Revlon series is being produced and written by Goodman Ace. Presumably they will include comedy, variety, drama and some conversation.

RKO Doesn't Think Diana Dors Is a Lady

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — RKO pictures yesterday defended its cancellation of British film actress Diana Dors' contract by charging she had acquired an international reputation for "insobriety, unchastity, intemperance, immodesty and exhibitionism."

The charge was leveled in response to Miss Dors' $1,275,000 defamation and breach of contract suit against RKO. The blonde actress accused the studio of breaking an agreement to finance three films to be produced by her company, Treasure Productions, and starring her.

Only one film was made, she said, when RKO cancelled the contract Dec. 24, 1958, on grounds she had become an "object of disgrace and ill will."

Miss Universe (Japanese) Talks Spanish

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) —The comely Japanese girl who won the title of Miss Universe last week in Long Beach has no English words to express her gratitude.

She was coached to express her "thank yous" in English but at a poolside news conference in Beverly Hills hotel Tuesday Akiko Kojima got her signals crossed. She kept smiling sweetly and saying: "gracias."

That's Spanish for thanks.

10-Year-Old Blows Up Balloon in High Court

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Film and television actor Kevin Corcoran nonchalantly blew up a balloon as he waited for his turn in Superior Court.

Judge John Gee Clark approved his latest option, under which Walt Disney Productions Inc. pays him $600 a week. He ordered him to save 25 per cent.
