Hurricane Due to Strike Today at Long Island

New England in Path of Storm; Big Liners, Planes Delayed

NEW YORK (AP)—The season's third hurricane, weakened from a long sweep up the Atlantic Coast but still packing a pretty fair wallop thrust today toward heavily populated Long Island and New England.

Eastern Long Island expected the full force of the blow around noon and some South Shore areas were being evacuated. Storm warnings were sounded in New England.

Power lines already were down in many Long Island communities as advance winds of 40 to 60 miles an hour swept the finger of land pointing 12 miles into the Atlantic.

In New York City some transportation was unharmed and small boats cast adrift. Airplane arrivals and departures at the major airports were delayed, or shifted to other cities. More than an inch of rain had fallen in 12 hours.

At 9 a.m. EDT the Weather Bureau said the hurricane, named "Carol," appeared to be just east of New York moving rapidly north-northeastward.

The Bureau said that "what remains of the hurricane" likely would cross Long Island by noon and then smash into the New England coast. Clearing weather was expected to follow in its wake.

The Navy, carefully following the storm's progress, ordered numerous planes evacuated from the Quonset Point, R. I., Air Station. Submarine operations were canceled at the base at New London, Conn.

The hurricane began with winds ranging up to 150 miles an hour but it lost force last night as it surged up the Atlantic Coast, battering coastal areas and driving vacationists inland. No deaths or serious injuries were reported.

Its punch was expected to be around 50 to 60 miles an hour as it crossed Long Island and plowed into New England. The worst danger appeared to be from high tides.

The metropolitan area was lashed by the hurricane's fringe, which apparently extended 150 to 200 miles on each side of the center.

High seas and downed power lines were reported along the New Jersey coast but no particular damage was recorded.

In New York, the Italian liner Cristoforo Colombo was unable to take aboard customs men, immigration officers and public health officials as it reached port.

The authorities were aboard a small cutter. The winds and high seas slammed the cutter against the side of the liner with such

Second Day of Shooting Under Way in NSSA Test

By H. GUY MOATS

Second day of national sub-caliber shotgun competition is under way at the National Skeet Shooting Association championship site at the Oakland County Sportsmen's club in Waterford.

This event is the next-to-last of the preliminary features leading up to the high over-all championship, for which most of the top skeet gunners of the country are shooting.

Much of the spectator interest today was centered on the first appearance of the San Juan, Puerto Rico, police team of six shotguns. They began their round of the skeet fields shortly after 10 a. m. They each shoot 100 shots.

Members of that team are Col. Salvatore T. Roig, Jaime Loyola, Capt. Rosario Loyola Sr., Angel Gonzales, Capt. Alberto Guerrero and William Fernandez.

National sub-junior and women's junior championships were also under way today. First shooting of the day occurred in the national sub-small gauge competition, which included women's, senior, sub-senior, junior, industry and 2-man

McCarthy Casts Doubts on Aims of His Accusers

Claims Foes Motivated 'by Ulterior, Political Considerations'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy charged today that senators seeking to censure him are "affected by ulterior, political considerations."

McCarthy made this contention in a statement prepared for the start of a court-like inquiry into his official conduct before a group of fellow senators.

Releasing the statement to reporters, he said he would ask permission to read it in the public hearing.

"I would be untruthful," the statement said, "if I agreed that my accusers were not affected by ulterior, political considerations."

"I believe that my accusers either entertain such motives themselves, or are unwitting victims of powerful pressure groups in the country who are best characterized as opponents of a vigorous fight against communism."

As this Senate committee began its inquiry, another prepared to make public tomorrow its findings on McCarthy's row with Army officials — subject of 36 days of hearings earlier this year.

The new investigation was ordered by the Senate to look into 46 specific charges aimed at McCarthy by three other senators and to explore a censure resolution offered by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.).

A committee of four Republicans and three Democrats, headed by Sen. Watkins (R-Ill.) will conduct the probe. Afterward, Senate leaders are expected to call that body into special session to act on the committee's report.

The new hearings, Watkins announced late yesterday after three hours of closed conferences, will start by taking up the first of five categories of charges the group has singled out from among the 46 for initial study.

This is an accusation, in which Senators Flanders, Fulbright (D-Ark) and Morse (R-Ore) all have joined, alleging that McCarthy displayed "contempt of the Senate," or of its Senate Privileges and Elections subcommittee or of both, by not answering in a 1952 investigation the subcommittee's questions about the propriety of some of his financial dealings. He has been re-elected since that stormy inquiry.

Watkins said the subcommittee would develop all of the evidence possible about the "contempt" charge and four other categories embracing 10 other related or partly overlapping accusations before McCarthy is called to testify.

These categories, in the order in which they will be taken up, allege that McCarthy encouraged public servants to violate the law and their superiors' orders by giving him secret information; that he received and used some secret FBI information dealing with national security; that he has been abusive and slurring toward some fellow senators; and that he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker when Zwicker was a witness before the subcommittee.

McKeighan's attorneys, James E. Haggerty of Detroit, and James C. Daner of Mount Clemens, posted the new bond.

A three-count indictment returned Sept. 7, 1946 stems from an investigation by Circuit Judge Herman Dehnke's Macomb County grand jury.

McKeighan returned to Michigan from his residence in Miami Beach, Fla. He said he had not returned previously because of a heart ailment which he said doctors told him would be fatal if he traveled.

Only one witness against McKeighan still is alive. He is Arthur Sauve, who officials say is living in Florida. His appearance in court against McKeighan would have to be voluntary.

Room and Board Fines Slated for Young Drinkers

A compulsory sentence of four days in the Oakland County Jail carried with it a $25 fine "to pay for room and board" Monday when Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum sentenced Claude Rogers, 29, of 238 Elm St.

Rogers, arrested by Pontiac Police vice squad members Friday night, pleaded guilty to furnishing beer to a minor.

Said McCallum: "If we must throw violators in jail as a result of our 'get tough' policy, then they can pay for their food and lodging. They have enough money to buy beer for kids; why should the city support them?"

McCallum said he will make the "room and board" fine a part of the get tough policy on youthful drinkers and others furnishing beer to minors.

Arrest Peddler for Second Time

Salesman Awaits Trial Wednesday, Now Faces Repeat Charge

Marvin R. Rubinstein, 18-year-old seminar student and part-time ice cream salesman, was arrested for the second time Monday afternoon for ignoring an ordinance banning ice cream sales on Pontiac streets.

Police said they arrested Rubinstein, who is scheduled for trial on the same charge Wednesday, after he reportedly ran over a child's foot with his truck. The child, Tawny Loper, 5, of 313 Seward St., was treated at Pontiac General Hospital. She was one of several children gathered around the truck, at Seward and Osburn Streets, police said.

Rubinstein, studying to become a rabbi, was arrested Thursday for violating the law amended last week by city commissioners. He stated that he has been selling the ice cream to help pay education expenses.

Released on $40 bond, Rubinstein is scheduled to be arraigned in Municipal Court today on the second charge.

Commissioners said the ordinance was strengthened to prevent possible traffic accidents and to foster public health by preventing city streets from being littered with wrappers, cones and confection sticks.

Paul W. Harty, Detroit attorney for Rubinstein and another defendant Sol Greenwald, 35, of Detroit, said he would take the case to circuit court or higher if either man is convicted.

He said an identical case in River Rouge was thrown out of court after a Wayne County circuit judge ruled the ordinance unconstitutional on grounds that no city or township can take away a man's right to make a legitimate living.

Greenwald is scheduled to appear for trial with Rubinstein.

Police said the injured child's parents withheld charges after Rubinstein paid hospital expenses for treatment of the girl's bruised right toe.

Dulles Departs for Manila to Discuss Asian Alliance

WASHINGTON (INS)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles leaves today on a flight to Manila for what may be a make-or-break conference on present U. S. foreign policy.

Dulles, as head of a top-flight delegation of foreign policy specialists, hoped to achieve a Southeast Asia Treaty Organization binding the free nations of the area together without specific military commitments.

He consulted with President Eisenhower at the White House yesterday.

Behind him, the secretary left the wreckage of the European Defense Community—scuttled yesterday by the French National Assembly. Failure of EDC, although forecast for some time, was a serious blow to U. S. leadership in the free world.

Dulles hoped to regain prestige for America at Manila where Britain, France, Australia, New Zealand, Pakistan, the Philippines and Thailand will also participate in talks on defense against any future Communist aggression in that area.

The Philippine government, however, was prepared to demand a much stronger pact than the U. S. is proposing, and Thailand and Pakistan were certain to call for a military alliance.

Meanwhile, the Manila Bulletin published what it claimed was the full text of the U. S. draft for the Southeast Asia alliance, or SEATO. The American-owned newspaper said the draft follows the lines of the ANZUS defense treaty between the U. S., Australia and New Zealand.

State Department spokesman Henry Snyder said that basic work on the Southeast Asia treaty has been completed in a voluminous exchange of notes among the eight powers concerned.

Last week, the Philippines handed a draft treaty to the State Department which immediately classified the document.

The island republic advocated inclusion of the principle that an

Ike Pays to Make Iowa Fair Speech

DES MOINES (INS)—President Eisenhower paid his way into the Iowa State Fair at Des Moines where he delivered a short address last night.

And he laughingly noted that it was the first time he had "ever paid for the privilege of making a speech."

Before Eisenhower began his address, he said he had seen "some anxiety if not irritation" in the press about whether he would have to pay 50 cents to get through the gates.

The President, stating that he wanted to end that "anxiety," handed Gov. William S. Beardsley a $1 bill, admission charge for himself and former President Herbert Hoover, his guest.

Fire at Lapeer Hits Lumberyard

Damage Is Estimated at $25,000 to $50,000; Office, Paint Saved

The M. and R. Lumber Co. lumberyard in Lapeer was destroyed by fire last night, with damage estimated at between $25,000 and $50,000.

A passing truck driver turned in the alarm at 11:10 p. m.

Firemen had the blaze under control at 12:15 a. m. No one was injured.

Although the entire lumber supply was destroyed, the company's office, containing paint, was undamaged.

Co-owner Bernard G. Rasch, who estimated the damage, said he had no idea how the fire started. His car and a delivery truck were consumed by the flames.

Rainfall on Light Side

August Enjoyable Month, Temperature Near Normal

August weather left little to be desired for comfort, with temperature averaging close to normal for the month in this area. Predictions for more than usual rainfall failed to materialize.

Temperatures averaged 70.58 degrees as compared to the normal of 71.3. Only 12 days went over the 80-degree mark. Last year during August 22 days hit 80 or more.

With 10 expected days of 90 degrees or over, last month brought only two such scorers to the Pontiac area.

July had seven, three above the average for that month. Seven such days were recorded for August of last year.

The highest temperature during the month was 95 and the mercury twice dropped to a low of 59.

Rainfall failed to reach the normal of 2.62 inches predicted for August, totaling only 1.33 inches, slightly less than the 1.54 inches recorded for the same period last year.

Cool weather coupled with partly cloudy skies is predicted for Wednesday. Temperatures are expected to drop to a 46-52 low tonight with a high tomorrow of between 72 and 78 degrees, United States Weather Bureau forecasters said.

Monday the mercury rose to a 68-degree high after a dip to 59 during the night. In downtown Pontiac today the temperature reading was 56 at 8 p. m. By 1 p. m. the mercury had climbed to 71 degrees.

City and Schools Welcome New Teachers Here Friday

Friday will be New Teachers' Day in Pontiac public schools.

A special know-your-community program, the first of a three-day pre-opening school conference, will present the City of Pontiac, its schools, officials, churches, business and civic leaders to the 80 new teachers who will instruct in the local schools for the first time this year.

Assistant Superintendent J. Cecil Cox said today that there will be 40 more teachers on the Pontiac school staff this year than last and due to the extension of vocal music to all elementary schools this year, there are 57 replacements.

"With schools completely staffed," said Cox, "this year's beginning should be a good one."

Joint meetings with old and new personnel will be held on Sept. 7 and 8 with secondary and elementary schools opening their classrooms on Sept. 9. Kindergarten begins Sept. 13.

Cox will preside at Friday's session. Extending greetings to the new teachers will be: Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, named this summer

STOP & READ City OKs Assessment Plan to Resurface Five Streets

From Our Birmingham Bureau
BIRMINGHAM — After more than two hours of heated discussion with Quanton Lake Estates area residents who jammed the city commission room last night, commissioners approved creation of a special assessment district to finance the pavement resurfacing of five streets in the subdivision.

Commissioners gave no commitment on what eventual plans call for, but instructed city engineer L. R. Gare to proceed with engineering studies for the Pine street sewer, and north-south lateral sewers.

Besides the Quanton Lake Estate subdivision, the Pine street sewer would serve the area west of Chesterfield.

A group of residents, with Mrs. G. Howard Willett Jr. as spokesman, had petitioned some time ago for street improvements, but the lawmakers opposed any such plan until proper drainage facilities could be provided.

The resurfacing that was approved last night for Fairfax, Sulfield, Pilgrim, Puritan and Lake Park, is a base coat, to which the final surface can be applied later, after the sewer problem is solved.

Several residents present last night opposed any resurfacing, saying it would encourage speeding; but at a final straw vote most of them were in accord.

The ever-present sewage problem continued to highlight the meeting, as commissioners approved Birmingham's share of the allocation of capital costs for the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen interceptor sewer.

Meanwhile, a written agreement whereby Birmingham would treat Bloomfield Township sewage until January, 1956, when the proposed sewer would be completed, was discussed.

City Manager Donald C. Egbert was instructed to continue negotiations with the township, to lessen Birmingham's share in initial improvement costs and to compensate the city for treating township sewage since last year, at no charge.

One of Birmingham's major headaches, the parking problem, will be somewhat alleviated after tomorrow when the Wakebe-Jacobson Corp. opens its new off-street parking facilities.

Harold B. Kuder, secretary of the Wakebe Corp., said National Garages will operate the lots behind the Wakebe Building and Jacobson's on W. Maple, in addition to the new lot between Bates street and Woodward, north of Willis.

All told, the lots will accommodate close to 500 cars, Kuder said. An attendant will be at each one from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., daily. A 15-cent charge will be made for the first hour, and 10 cents for each additional hour.

All-day parking provisions have been made for tenants and employees, Kuder said, and a portion of the large lot will eventually be used for that purpose.

"We feel we have ample space for present requirements," said Kuder. "Eventually, if there is a

Representing the local unit will be Everett Spurlock, executive secretary; Samuel Logan, community relations secretary, and attorney Leon H. Hubbard, former president of the board of directors of the Pontiac affiliate.

The five-day session, which gets under way at the Fort Pitt Hotel Monday, will continue through Sept. 10. Its theme will be "Building for Tomorrow's Better Living."

Furious Gunfight Awakens Town

One Hurt Near Boston Minutes After Brink's Suspect Shows Up

BOSTON (INS) — One man was reported wounded today in a furious gunfight in Roxbury, five minutes after a long-time suspect in the Brink's robbery surrendered for questioning in the escape of Elmer "Trigger" Burke at Charles St. Jail on Saturday.

The exchange of gunfire aroused the neighborhood, only a few blocks from the Dudley Street Police Station, but cruisers scoured the area for half an hour without finding any of the participants.

A neighbor reported to police he spotted two men running through his backyard and heard one moaning, "my arm, my arm, don't grab my arm, I've been shot."

Police immediately speculated that Burke or some of his mob had invaded the area where Joseph "Specs" O'Keefe and his missing pal, John H. Carlson, once used as their stamping ground in their bookie days.

First word of the shooting was flashed to police as Capt. Patrick O'Reilly was talking to Anthony J. "Tony" Pipo, long-time suspect in the unsolved $1,250,000 Brink's robbery. Pipo walked in with the comment "I hear you're looking for me."

He was booked on a charge of "suspicion of aiding an escape." Pipo is awaiting deportation to his native Italy and his appeal is before the courts.

Meanwhile police continued their hunt for Burke, the notorious New York machine gun artist who came to Boston in an attempt to rub out O'Keefe. Hunted with Burke were the three armed and masked pals who delivered him from the jail in mid-afternoon Saturday.

Two Men Accused of 21 Burglaries

Warrants were issued this morning against two local men accused of breaking into at least 21 homes and business places in three counties during the past month.

Richard Lance, 20, of 121 N. Lafayette, and Theodore L. Scafe, 19, of 3414 Meinrad Dr., Drayton Plains, will appear in justice court for arraignment later today.

Scafe was arrested by Waterford Township Patrolmen William Stokes and Merrill Finkle when he stopped early Saturday in front of a closed gas station on W. Huron street. Police, checking Scafe's car, found rocks piled on the front seat.

Police said the youth broke down under questioning and admitted breaking in Macomb, Oakland, and Lapeer Counties and implicated Lance who was arrested at his home later Saturday.

In all of the break-ins, a rock was thrown through a door or window to gain entry, police said.

French Rejection of EDC Stuns West to now has been dependent on creation of the European army. In French Premier Pierre Mendès-France already has said he would go along with the speedy restoration of sovereignty to West Germany, but he has emphasized that this endorsement does not include rearmament.

Any British-American effort to bypass the French on this likely would precipitate a crisis in the North Atlantic Alliance. The British-American plans for restoring German sovereignty so far have specified that rearmament must wait. Canadian officials in Ottawa said the only logical answer to the Western dilemma was to bring West Germany into NATO.

Top officials in Washington were bitterly disappointed at the French vote but made no public comment initially. Eisenhower, however, in a speech in Des Moines, Iowa, said, "We must not be discouraged. We need not despair."

BB Gun Vandals Smash Truck Windshields

Windshields on 10 trucks parked in the L. H. Cole Oil Co. lot at 322 S. Sanford were reported smashed by BB gun fire over the weekend.

Final Approval Expected on Hospital Building Vote

Final approval is expected tonight by Pontiac City Commission of a citywide vote Nov. 2 on issuance of $3,000,000 in bonds to expand Pontiac General Hospital.

Approval was held up last week because of a legal involvement requiring slight changes in wording of the necessary ordinances.

A 60 per cent "yes" vote by property owners is required to authorize a city general obligation bond issue.

Other scheduled action includes discussion of an order to show cause and a bill of complaint filed against the city in Oakland County Circuit Court by Everett E. Phelps, owner of a fruit stand at 1500 N. Perry St.

Phelps has been ordered to stop selling until he obtains a license to operate from the city. He claims $1,500 in produce will spoil if he is forced to close until a license can be secured.

Communist-U.N. Body Exchange Includes 193 GIs

SEOUL (U-P)—Bodies of 193 Americans killed in the Korean War will be returned to Communist North Korea tomorrow morning for final burial on U. S. soil, the Communists said today.

The Reds also advised the U.N. Command they will return seven Allied bodies of unknown nationality during the first daily exchange of bodies. The transfer is expected to run more than a month.

The Allies will give the Reds 300 Korean bodies and 100 Chinese bodies tomorrow.

The Allies have disinterred more than 14,000 Communist war dead from battlefield cemeteries in South Korea to exchange for 4,011 Allied bodies the Reds have promised to deliver.

Maj. Gen. E. J. McGaw, commander of the Korean Communications Zone, said the Army has decided to relax its ban on photographing the bodies and to "share the responsibility" with the press for the impact of the exchange on families of soldiers missing in Korea.

The Reds are expected to turn over rosters identifying the bodies they return, but U. S. officials said the names of Americans will be announced in Washington, and only after positive identification is established—a process which takes months.

Police said Boughner's car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed, when it crashed into a slow moving truck driven by Joseph F. Kuss, 49, of Fraser.

New Mexico City Ends Segregation in Schools Peacefully

HOBBS, N.M. (U-P) — With the possible exception of the kids — who regret the end of vacation — everybody breathed easier today as studies began in earnest in Hobbs' desegregated schools.

About 8,000 children, 400 of them Negroes and the rest white, trooped back to class without incident yesterday, easing the fears of adults that violence might come with the end of segregated schools. "I thought the people would abide by the law," said the Rev. William Carter, Baptist minister who led the anti-segregation fight.

"There was no trouble whatsoever," said Charles L. Mills, superintendent of the seven-school system.

Carter had predicted last week that this southeastern New Mexico oil community of about 15,000 population would "explode into violence" if the desegregation plan was put into effect.

Even after Friday's registration passed quietly, Carter predicted, "There is definitely going to be trouble."

The furor at Hobbs was in sharp contrast to the end of segregation in other New Mexico schools at Artesia, Clovis, Las Cruces and Carlsbad. School boards in those communities, like the one at Hobbs, had decided to end segregation on the basis of the Supreme Court's recent ruling outlawing the practice.

Only one school system still has segregation, the Roswell system, which has desegregated higher grades and is expected to follow suit in the lower grades.

College Receives $1 Million From Wallace Estate

KALAMAZOO (INS)—Kalamazoo College today announced receipt of a $1 million endowment, the school's largest, from the estate of the late Winifred D. Wallace, who died last Jan. 1.

Mrs. Wallace, daughter of the founder of the Kalamazoo Stove Co., also gave legacies for a public library and to the Kalamazoo Children's Home, Lake Farm Boys' Home, Smith College and the Kalamazoo Symphony Orchestra.

The will was probated yesterday in Kalamazoo County Circuit Court.

The bequest had been held up by Mrs. Wallace's estranged husband, William K. Wallace, who had asked that the will be probated in New York where he would be entitled to half of the $1,800,000. The college, a Baptist liberal arts institution, made an out-court settlement with Wallace for $250,000.

For Wednesday, the opening competition will be the national small-gauge championships which also include the women, senior, sub-senior, industry and 2-man team events to be shot concurrently.

Probably the most interesting of Wednesday's shooting will be the national "Champion of Champions" event. Competitors in this feature are current state and territorial champions in sub-small, small, 20-gauge and all-gauge and—in the high over-all competition.

Defending champion will be Alex H. Kerr of Beverly Hills, Calif.

One of the interesting personalities at the national here is Fred King, 70-year-old shooter from Wichita Falls, Tex. Oil-Man King starting shooting in 1906 and has visited the Grand American at Vandallia, O., and the national skeet shoot each year.

In 1947, King broke a world's record at the Grand American, when he smashed 99x100 (24 yards) in the GA Handicap.

He also won the GA high over-all the same year with a total of 881x900. He is here with his son, Rufus, who also is prominent in both skeet and at the traps. When Rufus was 14, in 1931, he outshot the best in the country to win the Grand American title.

The Kings are shooting in a number of events.

Pontiac Water Output Hiked

Two New Wells to Up Daily Pumpage Here by 5,000,000 Gallons

Well construction this summer will have increased Pontiac's daily maximum water pumpage by about 5,000,000 gallons when two new wells begin pumping soon, City Manager Walter K. Willman said today.

This practically rules out chances of late-season sprinkling restrictions, Willman stated.

The last of three new wells built at Silver Lake will probably begin pumping in two weeks, said Willman, at 600 gallons per minute.

Another well under construction in Beaudette Park has been pump tested and will produce up to 1,400 gallons per minute, the city manager explained.

Willman feels, however, that well building can only be a temporary measure and the city will eventually have to tap some outside source, possibly Lake Huron.

Dulles Journeying to Asia Conference

attack on one treaty power is an attack on all. This is the North Atlantic Treaty Organization plan which the U. S. hopes to avoid in the Pacific.

The Manila government has also advocated a standing army of 100,000 men to be on guard in areas that border Communist China. The U. S. also opposes this.

The U. S. has argued that it does not want flat military commitments which would allow the Communists to decide when and where American and allied troops would fight.

However, the Far Eastern nations who are attending the conference want specific security guarantees and this issue may prolong the Manila meeting.

Dulles hopes to be able to wind up essential details in a week, then attend a conference on implementation of the U. S.-Philippine defense treaty.

There's No Age Limit on Allure Dache Analyzes Glamor

Lilly Dache, a woman who knows whereof she speaks in terms of feminine allure, has some provocative and challenging things to say about glamor after 40. Here are some of her pointers:

"Glamor has no nationality—and no age limit. Glamor is mental as well as physical—in fact you cannot have truly a glamorous body without a glamorous mind.

"What is a glamorous mind? It is a mind that is awake, alert, eager to learn new things. A glamorous face is alive; the eyes sparkle. A dull, disinterested look doesn't even suggest glamor.

"The time to start worrying about glamor is at 16, not 40. My pet beauty rule is 'Preserve, not erase.'

"Every young girl should develop a daily beauty routine and stick to it as faithfully as she brushes her teeth. Beauty is a matter of discipline, and neglect is its greatest enemy.

"Many women get frugal just at the age when they need to take special care of themselves.

"The housewife who prefers to buy a new knock-knack for a crowded shelf and go without face creams is making a big mistake. Her husband wants her to look prettier, not the shelf.

"Don't let yourself get too thin if you're middle-aged. There's a tense, nervous air that goes with being skinny."

Hazel Park Probe Finds Child Was Beyond Help When Doctors Called

HAZEL PARK—A four-year-old child was beyond medical help when her parents called two doctors, an investigation of the girl's death concluded yesterday.

An autopsy showed that Armenta Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes, of 23092 Pilgrim, died Aug. 19 of pneumonia.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams ordered the investigation at the request of Mayor Zigmund Niparko, of Hazel Park.

Dr. J. Earl McIntyre, secretary of the State Board of Registration in Medicine, said, "As nearly as can be determined, it appears that the child's death could not have been averted if medical attention had been given at the time the parents made the calls to the respective doctors."

Earlier charges were made that the doctors failed to help the sick child. One doctor said he was not advised of the seriousness of the illness, and the other said he recommended two hospitals where the parents could have the child admitted immediately.

Farmington Gets Some Relief in Water Crises

FARMINGTON—Cooler weather and the delayed washday of many housewives yesterday allowed a supply of water to be built up in the city reservoir, as work continued to extend well pipes down to a lower water level in the city's three wells.

GRAINS SHOWING SOME PRESSURE

CHICAGO — Grains tilted a little lower in an uneventful trade on the board of trade today. Losses were limited to fractions in most cases.

There wasn't any real selling pressure. However, several brokerage houses were recommending that customers accept profits accruing from the recent price advance. Meanwhile, export business and commercial support for the market remained disappointingly light.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 cent lower, September $2.14 1/2, corn 1/4 cent lower, September $1.66 1/2, oats 1/4 cent lower, September $1.31 1/2, soybeans 1/4 cent lower, September $1.32 1/2, and hard 12 to 47 cents a hundred pounds lower, September $16.40.
