

UF Counseling on Labor $$

Pontiac today looked to labor to help put the United Fund drive over the top.

More than 30,000 industrial workers are being asked for pledges to keep 54 UF-supported agencies running at full-peak next year.

UF leaders stressed that full participation in the drive is as important as the amount each person gives.

"If the goal of $612,202 is to be reached by Nov. 16, it is equally important," Campaign Chairman K. Willman said, "that everyone give something to the drive."

45 PER CENT
Willman said yesterday that the report of a luncheon, where pledges were reached, was $274,178, or 45 per cent of the goal.

About 100 per cent of the drive is expected by the Industrial Division.

A big part of the drive yesterday was the $115,000 gift from General Motors Corp. This sum includes gifts from the Pontiac Division, GMC Truck & Coach Division and the Body Division.

To meet the goal, the UF must turn to smaller companies and to the individual workers. Labor leaders are making the plea for 100 per cent work on the drive.

Reports of pledges collected from the Industrial Division chairman.

He expects further reports tomorrow and next.

ASK FOR LOT
The local labor force, he said, is asked to pledge $281,681 of his division's goal.

Salaries and hourly employees alike are being asked this year to give a minimum of $10.42 apiece. The figure, UF officials said, is comparable to pledges asked in UF drives across the country.

A little arithmetic shows, however, that 90 per cent participation or more is needed if workers are to meet the division's quota.

Praise yesterday went to two plants where workers went over quotas. Maxwell reported employees at American Forging and Socket Co. pledged $1,892 with a goal of $1,886.

At Universal Oil-Seal Co., where soliciting is 89 per cent complete, employees have topped their $958 goal with pledges totaling $1,221. Maxwell announced.

The luncheon yesterday also heard Special Gifts Chairman H. Wayne Gabert announce his torchlighters have gone over the top. With a quota of $68,483 sought from the community's big givers, solicitors have collected $68,820, he said.

NEARING HALF-WAY—A pretty miss knows that the Pontiac Area United Fund now stands at 45 per cent of its $612,202 goal. She is Hilda Schrubba, UF volunteer from Pontiac, who is filling in the three-week campaign thermometer in front of the county courthouse. UF leaders hope the thermometer will register over 100 per cent by Nov. 16, when the campaign is to end.

Call U. N. Emergency Session

Meeting Today to Decide Action in Mideast War

Ike, Top Aides Confer
on Way to End Fighting,
Keep U.S. Clear

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The U. N. General Assembly was called into emergency session for 5 p. m. today to decide what to do about military attacks by Britain, France and Israel on Egypt.

President Eisenhower met with his top strategy advisers today in a search for a way to end the fighting in the Middle East without involving U. S. forces.

The Chief Executive presided at an expanded meeting of the National Security Council. The Joint Chiefs of Staff and the civilian secretaries of the Armed Services were present at the White House session this forenoon.

The U. N. Security Council voted 7-2 last night to summon the Assembly after Britain and France launched air and naval operations against Egypt with the announced aim of occupying the Suez Canal zone and halting the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

Less than 24 hours earlier Britain and France had vetoed U. S. and Soviet resolutions in the council for a cease-fire in Egypt and withdrawal of Israeli troops.

Under the resolution introduced by Yugoslavia, the special session of the 76-nation Assembly will consider recommendations to U. N. members for collective measures, including "the use of armed force when necessary."

Says Cobo Lies or Is Ignorant

Williams Sails Into Foe
Over Who Helped Bring
Gas to Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
On the Michigan scene, Gov. Williams, running for his fifth term on the Democratic ticket, said yesterday his Republican opponent, Detroit Mayor Cobo is either "ignorant or guilty of deliberate misrepresentation" in saying the governor failed to help bring natural gas to Michigan.

"I testified before the Federal Power Commission in an attempt to get more gas and so did Cobo," Williams said. "I fail to see how he could accuse me of failing to help."

Cobo who introduced Vice President Nixon to a Detroit rally did not make a major address. But Republican John B. Martin Jr., running for secretary of state, hit out at Williams on the educational front.

Martin disputed that the governor's recommendations are responsible for increased salaries for faculty members at Michigan State University. He said the recommendations came from John Hannah, university president, and this recommendation, he said, was made directly to the Legislature.

Martin, speaking to Michigan State's Men's Club, said some 67 million dollars appropriated in the past seven years for capital improvements at Michigan's higher educational institutions also came from recommendations of educators to the Legislature.

U.S. Naval Units Set to Evacuate Our Nationals

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Navy has announced that two groups of vessels from the U.S. Sixth Fleet are standing off Alexandria, Egypt, and Haifa, Israel, ready to evacuate U.S. nationals.

The Navy said the vessels at Alexandria include the personnel transport Chilton, the cargo vessel Thuban, and the landing ship Fl. Snelling plus two unidentified destroyers.

The vessels at Haifa are the heavy cruiser Macon, the small transport Burdo, and several destroyers.

The Navy stressed that both ship concentrations are for the purpose of "evacuating United States nationals" should such assistance become necessary.

One boy was readmitted after a visit to the barber shop yesterday, and the other two were back in classes this morning, with haircuts.

Politics Turn to Mideast

Adlai Raps 'Brink of War,' Ike Vows to Keep Out of It

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, reportedly planning new jobs at Adlai E. Stevenson, returns to the campaign platform tonight in Philadelphia for further discussion of the Middle East crisis.

In a television-radio address to be carried coast to coast by NBC the President may have something to say about a contention by Stevenson, his Democratic opponent, that "the world is on the brink of war again" because, Stevenson said, Eisenhower's "foreign policies in the Middle East have been disastrous."

Time of the address is 9:30 p.m., Pontiac time.

Stevenson made his statement in a campaign speech in Pittsburgh last night, and contended again, as he had earlier in New York, that the Eisenhower administration "bears heavy responsibility" for the situation.

U. S. TO DUCK

In a nationwide TV-radio address from Washington last night, a talk the White House termed "nonpolitical," Eisenhower said the United States will avoid "involvement" in the present Middle East fighting.

Eisenhower's Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said that at the time Eisenhower went on the air he had not seen a telegram from Stevenson expressing hope "that you will not commit us to any precipitate military action."

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson canceled three upstate New York political talks today. He prepared to fly to New York City and seek free radio and television time to further his contention that Eisenhower administration policies have "brought the whole world" to the brink of war.

The hostilities in Egypt virtually crowded out all other issues in the Democratic candidate's strategy as he entered the final stage of a campaign in which he is seeking to take the initiative on the "peace issue."

His campaign staff announced the cancellation of political talks in Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo.

Stevenson has asked "equal time" to reply to President Eisenhower's 15-minute talk last night over major TV and radio networks concerning the Middle East crisis.

GEARED TO TV

Cancellation of the upstate New York talks apparently was dictated by the availability in New York City of nationwide TV and radio network facilities.

Stevenson seemed confident the time he sought would be granted under federal communications regulations requiring equal time for candidates between conventions and elections.

Last night he asked a tumultuous audience in Pittsburgh's Hunt Armory to support "efforts to end the war between Egypt and Israel" but said "I cannot promise to support or respect a foreign policy that has bluffed and blundered."

Aircraft Action Blocks Passage Through Canal

Cairo Reports Raids
on Airfields and Claims
6 Planes Downed

CAIRO (AP)—British and French aircraft sank an Egyptian warship in the Suez Canal today, blocking passage through the canal, an official Egyptian announcement said.

The statement also said: "British and French aircraft raided our land forces while they were crossing the Suez Canal at different points and especially near El Ferdan (Firdan) and bombarded the Egyptian warship Akka while passing through the Suez Canal near Timsah Lake."

"The ship was sunk in the canal and as a result navigation was stopped in the waterway."

El Ferdan is 10 miles north of Ismailia, midway point of the Suez Canal. Ismailia was one of the targets of British-French bombardment last night. Lake Timsah lies just below Ismailia.

The British earlier requested their shipowners to mark time pending outcome of the Suez action. Some ships in the Suez area had been ordered to take the longer route around the Cape of Good Hope.

The Egyptian statement added: "British and France stopped navigation in the canal by their action at a time when they shook the world claiming they were protecting navigation in the canal."

"Air raids continued throughout the day on our air fields at Alexandria, Cairo and in the Suez Canal zone."

Air raid sirens whined five times in Cairo up to early afternoon today.

Final Babsonpoll Says U.S. Still Likes Ike

The final tabulation of the nationwide Babsonpoll indicates President Eisenhower will be re-elected Nov. 6.

The Babsonpoll originated in 1952 and was extremely accurate that year and in 1954.

Assuming the relatively small undecided vote will divide equally, Babsonpoll analysts say Ike will get about 53 per cent of the vote cast for the two major candidates.

This would give the President a plurality of about 2.3 million, substantially less than the 6½ million he was given in 1952.

SWING TO ADLAI

Statistics show 22 per cent of those who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 intend to support Stevenson, while 7½ per cent of 1952 Stevenson voters have switched to Eisenhower.

Late tabulations indicate a growing interest in the independent candidacy of T. Coleman Andrews, whose name appears on the ballot in 14 states and who may be supported by write-in votes in a number of other states.

While Babsonpoll findings show no more than a token Andrews vote in any of these areas, his candidacy could be a factor in determining the winner in some states, Andrews appears to be drawing his support principally from former Eisenhower voters—in some cases by a ratio of 6 to 1.

In the Babsonpoll a state is listed "safe" if the leading candidate is likely to receive 52 per cent or more of the combined vote of the two major candidates.

A "leaning" state is one in which one candidate appears to be leading with 51 per cent to 52 per cent of the combined vote. States in the 49-per cent to 51 per cent classification are listed as "tossup."

On that basis, here is the way the race looks:

Safe for Eisenhower—Calif., Colo., Conn., Idaho, Ind., Kan., Maine, Mich., Mont., Neb., N. H., N. J., N. Y., N. D., Ohio, Ore., S. D., Wt., Wis. and Wyo. (228 electoral votes).

Leaning to Eisenhower—Ariz., Ill., Iowa, Md., Minn., Nev. and Pa. (96 electoral votes).

Safe for Stevenson—Ala., Ark., Ga., La., Miss., Mo., N. C., R. I., S. C., Tex., Tex. and W. Va. (131 electoral votes).

Leaning to Stevenson—Del. and Ky. (13 electoral votes).

Tossup states—Fla., Mass., N. M., Okla., Utah, Va. and Wash. (63 electoral votes).

If Eisenhower should take his safe and leaning states, he would have an electoral-vote count of 324. Stevenson's safe and leaning states have 144 electoral votes.

Assuming Ike will get an even break in the tossup states, his final electoral-vote would be about 356 — to 173 for Stevenson.

To reach an electoral-vote majority of 268, Stevenson would have to win all of his safe and leaning states, all of the tossup states, and 59 additional electoral votes in the Eisenhower-leaning column. In the latter group, Illinois and (Continued on Page 28, Col. 1)

Oakland Dems Set Last Rallies

Winding Up Campaign With Four Meetings and Torchlight Parade

Oakland County Democrats this week are winding up their campaign for the home stretch.

With the general election only five days off, candidates and workers have scheduled three candidates' rallies, organized attendance at an Adlai Stevenson rally in Detroit, and a torchlight parade on election eve.

Rallies tonight will be held in Royal Oak Women's Club and in Bushman Hall in Lake Orion. Another will be held tomorrow night in the Waterford Township C.I. Building.

Missing no bets, a State Central Committee instructor will conduct a class for ballot challengers tonight at 8 p.m. in Democratic headquarters in Pontiac's Roosevelt Hotel. All Democratic election workers have been urged to attend.

According to the State Central Committee, county Democrats are organizing a caravan of cars and chartered buses to parade to the Stevenson rally tomorrow night in the Fox Theater, Detroit.

The presidential candidate's speech, preceded by a special variety show, will be piped to standees outside the theater over loudspeakers.

Democrats have been told to "bring your own flashlight" to the election eve torchlight parade in South Oakland County.

To be led by Gov. G. Mennen Williams, the parade will start on Woodward Avenue at Greenleaf Street and head north on Woodward to 12 Mile Road, turning west to the Carpenter's Hall in Berkley.

Ike Rules Out U. S. Forces for Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, having ruled out use of U. S. armed forces in the present Middle East fighting, looked to the United Nations today to find a way of solving "this tormenting problem."

"In the past," the President said in a radio-TV broadcast to the nation last night, "the United Nations has proved able to find a way to end bloodshed. We believe it can and will do so again."

He said the United States would "do all in its power to localize the fighting and to end the conflict."

He said the U. N. General Assembly should be able to bring "the opinion of the world" to bear on the situation created by Israel's attack on Egypt and British-French intervention.

CHIDES ALLIES, ISRAEL

He chided Britain, France and Israel but added that all had been provoked by Egyptian actions.

He said he has no plan to call a special session of Congress. But he promised to maintain close contact with congressional leaders.

A few hours before Eisenhower spoke, the State Department banned travel by U. S. citizens into Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria except where a trip is determined to be in this country's "best interests."

The department announced also that 1,888 Americans had been evacuated from the same four countries by late yesterday afternoon, and that by its count 4,878 Americans remained. It said the Air Force and units of the 6th Fleet are aiding in the evacuation.

WARN SHIPS

The Maritime Administration, meanwhile, advised all U. S. merchant ships to avoid the Suez Canal area until the Middle East situation is clarified.

Eisenhower described the tangled situation in his speech, and then said: "In the circumstances I have described, there will be no United States involvement in these present hostilities."

Eisenhower declared that the Israeli, British and French decisions to attack Egypt were decisions "taken in error."

Yet to say that the U. S. government considers the British, and Israeli actions wrong, Eisenhower declared, "is in no way to minimize our friendship with these nations — nor our determination to maintain those friendships."

"For we are fully aware of the grave anxieties of Israel, of Britain and of France," he went on. "We know that they have been subjected to grave and repeated provocations."

He said the Middle East situation is not one "that calls for extravagant fear or hysteria."

After saying that Egypt had provided "repeated provocations" to Israel, Britain and France, he continued:

AGAINST U. N.

"The present fact, nonetheless, seems clear: the actions taken can scarcely be reconciled with the principles and purposes of the United Nations to which we have all subscribed. And, beyond this, we are forced to doubt that resort to war will for long serve the permanent interests of the attacking nations."

"In all the recent troubles in the Middle East," he said, "there have indeed been injustices suffered by all nations involved. But I do not believe that another instrument of injustice — war — is the remedy for these wrongs."

"There can be no peace — without law. And there can be no law — if we were to invoke one code of international conduct for those who oppose us — and another for our friends."

Earlier in his speech, Eisenhower said that "in Eastern Europe there is the dawning of a new day."

"If the Soviet Union faithfully acts upon its announced intention," he said, "the world will witness the greatest forward stride toward justice, trust and understanding among nations in our generation."

He reaffirmed U. S. readiness to assist the new governments of Hungary and Poland with economic help.

Gasoline Price Drops One Cent

Local Filling Stations Pass On Wholesale Cut to Consumers

Consumer gasoline prices have been cut one cent per gallon at the majority of filling stations in the Pontiac area, John W. Nerlinger Jr., executive secretary of the Retail Gasoline Dealers Assn. of Michigan, said today.

Retail prices dropped to 32.2 cents for regular and 35.2 for premium.

The decrease is part of a one-cent drop passed from wholesale to retailers.

Standard Oil Co. started the price cuts Monday and, was followed by the Shell Oil Co. and Pure Oil Co.

Latest to cut prices were Economy Oil Co., Sun Oil Co., Speedway Petroleum Corp., Gulf Oil Co., the Texas Co., Sinclair Refining Co. and the Socony Mobil Oil Co.

COST TO DEALERS

The new prices to the dealers for regular gasoline will be 16.3 cents per gallon, and 18.8 for premium.

James C. Clarke, president of the Clarke Oil Co., distributor for 30 Marathon stations in the county, said, although the retail prices are controlled by the dealers, he expected all would "go along with the price cut to the motorist."

Nerlinger said the decrease was based on Standard's explanation that it was a readjustment of the wholesale cost in keeping with economic conditions.

Cranbrook Show of Theater Prints to Open Saturday

Is Board Justified in Courthouse Planning?

The Press last week published a series of articles describing how the Oakland County Board of Supervisors has gone about its plans to build a new courthouse. These articles brought out considerable information previously unknown to most county residents.

The county reports that it will have sufficient money to pay for the first unit by the time work is completed. There are some who question this. These critics maintain that, since the supervisors have already spent the one-tenth of a mill levied in the past few years on other buildings, they cannot now say they will be spending it for the new courthouse.

The supervisors say the money has been replaced by surpluses from other funds. Admittedly there is room for difference of opinion here, but since this switching of funds has been regular procedure over a considerable period of years, The Press is inclined to go along with the supervisors' viewpoint, but more about this fund switching later.

The Press believes that the county supervisors have done well generally in the way they have set about building a new courthouse. It believes their statement that the county's financial operations have been conducted honestly.

The Press regrets, however, that the supervisors have felt it necessary to violate the law in some past years by spending more than a tenth of a mill on capital improvements. We believe that, at the very least they should have gone to the legislature first in an effort to have this limitation changed. And there is room for argument whether some of the new buildings were so badly needed, as the supervisors contend, that they could not take time to go to the public for authorization. Certainly elected public officials should always set an example of observance of the law.

The Press agrees that this limitation was unreasonably low for a county the size of Oakland which was facing unusually rapid growth. When the county did go to Lansing this year, the Legislature changed the law, so that hereafter any budget surpluses may legally be placed in the building fund. Thus this question presumably will not arise again.

There has been criticism of the way money has been switched from one fund to another. The supervisors defend this action on the grounds that by so doing they have saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars in interest by avoiding outside borrowing. In effect the county has borrowed from itself.

So long as this switching of funds is done to save money and never is done for any other purpose, The Press believes the procedure may be justified, if it is legal. However, the practice easily could be carried to excess.

Honest public officials should always bear in mind that there might some day be less honest men in office and precaution should be taken to see that practices are not inaugurated which would make it easy to hide dishonesty.

We have two suggestions regarding the county's financial operations which we believe might help to protect the county from future criticism. One is a simplification in its accounting procedure. The second is more open conduct of the county government, with a complete realization on the part of every official that the public is entitled to full knowledge of what is going on at all times.

The county budget at present is set up in such a way that there is a departmental budget and a non-departmental budget. In addition there are other county operations that never appear in the budget, revolving funds that the public, and apparently even some supervisors, hardly know exist.

Meetings of the Board of Supervisors always have been open to press and public. But some meetings of the Ways and Means Committee of the board, for example, have been closed.

This does not promote a feeling of confidence in the mind of the public.

Surely, if the county's business is being conducted honestly, and The Press believes it is, then there should be no objection to conducting all of it openly.

However, in fairness to the supervisors it must be remembered that Oakland County is a big, heavily populated area, facing metropolitan problems with a governmental and financial setup designed to serve counties of a few thousand population. Considering this handicap, the county officials have done a remarkable job and are entitled to much more praise than censure.

The Man About Town They're Fed Up Have Had Enough Politics to Last Another 4 Years

Democracy: Where a person too lazy to vote has the right to be about the officials elected.

In perambulating around the Pontiac area, which is the principal occupation of MAT, he finds that our people are sick and tired of politics. They've been harangued, cajoled, jolted, wisecracked, coaxed, bluffed, flattered, orated, begged, wheedled, ranted, bantered, bogged, duped, anaesthetized, beguiled, praised, condemned, censored, lectured, warned, wind-jammed and lied to until they wonder how the greatest nation on earth ever got that way.

Thanks to their good sense, none of them are frightened. They're so disgusted that some of the recent political meetings had a bigger attendance of office seekers than of spectators. They've had enough—and then some. They've made up their minds. All they want is to be let alone. Any boiling over of political fantasy between now and Tuesday will be a boomerang on the politician that perpetrates it.

Pontiac Kiwanians are staging a rummage sale, and Jack Nigeman, club president, made an appeal Tuesday for more clothing to sell. He waxed so eloquent that one member tore off his tie and contributed it. Then another took off his belt. Another doffed his coat, and the next tossed both coat and shirt on the growing pile. Finally the one and only Bob Oliver really went all out. When he'd finished he looked almost like Lady Godiva.

After being given an inside peek on the plans for that "Pontiac Salutes Industry" celebration on Nov. 10, I'll tell the world that it had better come to our city that day. Watch for the details. 'Twill be an important part of the panacea to bring about our recovery from the fracas of Nov. 6.

He did such a good job of transformation work on a magazine cover picture of him that

Herb Justman of 174 South Edith St., has received a personal letter from President Dwight D. Eisenhower. It says: "Thank you so much for sending me the magazine cover, bearing my picture that you have changed in such an interesting way. I am sure that yours must be a hobby that requires a great deal of skill. With my warm appreciation and best wishes."

That Stuff's Dangerous Too, Boys!

U. S. Stuck in Mideast Squeeze

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower's attempt to balance the Middle East picture — by criticizing the British, the French, the Israelis and the Egyptians — put a spotlight on this country's critical dilemma.

But it is only part of the problem unleashed by the British-French attack on Egypt.

Top government officials are privately very angry at the British and French. But the United States needs its two allies, as they need the United States, for defense against Russia.

In his speech to the nation last night Eisenhower tried to keep the way smooth for retaining the alliance. He chided the British and French for what they did. But he did not speak harshly of them.

And, while criticizing this country's friends, he also blamed Egyptian President Nasser for aggravating them.

But the Arabs have ears too. No Arab can ever be expected to forget the attack on Egypt this week by the French and British, who acted like the colonial powers which they were and are.

Already the Russians are accusing the United States of being in cahoots with the British, French and Israelis in the attack on Egypt.

Unless they can be convinced the United States does not condone the attack, the people of the Middle East will have no reason ever to trust a Western power again.

The people of Africa and Asia, newly freed from colonialism, will be watching the United States also. This country attempted in the U.N. Security Council to block the French-British attack this week. The French and British blocked the United States with a veto. Now the case goes to the U.N. General Assembly.

What the United States does there to get U.N. action of some kind against the British and French will be under scrutiny everywhere. Yet, if the United States acts too strongly, it may wreck its alliance with Britain and France.

The people of Asia and Africa have reason to distrust the British and French from now on. It's not difficult for them to see themselves someday in the present position of Egypt.

ANY QUESTION ANSWERED 1c

It's enough ignorant people come along I can make a fortune!

But if they lose faith in the United States, they will have no powerful ally to turn to except Russia. The Arabs may well turn to Russia now no matter what the United States does.

Russian penetration and domination of the Middle East wouldn't have to happen overnight. The Russians have time.

This is all based on the assumption that Russia will not get actively into the conflict now. If that happened, there'd be a world war. But more than all that is involved:

Dr. William Brady Says:

Switching to New Climate No Cure for 'Rheumatiz'

Let's drop our dispute about the nature, cause, and prevention of chronic joint disability for today and talk about the weather—the climate, and the season, the wind, the rain, the sunning, the altitude, the latitude, the humidity, and the mean temperature as factors of comfort or discomfort for persons with chronic joint disability.

For instance I like comfort, but not the sort, if it is comfort, that one tries to get sleeping under an electric blanket. A sufferer with rheumatiz, however, gets a lot of comfort sleeping under an electric blanket.

One with chronic joint disability, be it rheumatiz (insidious physical degeneration of joint tissues), actual arthritis (inflammation of joint, due to infection), or trauma (effects of strain or injury), is generally more sensitive to changes of weather than a healthy person is.

But such sensitivity is common in many other conditions besides joint disability. A great many persons with chronic bronchitis (winter cough), chronic sinusitis, nephritis (Bright's disease) or perhaps some vague neurosis are just as sensitive to change of weather.

WEATHER PSYCHOLOGY

When the barometer is falling, advises Clarence A. Mills, M.D., in his interesting book "Climate Makes the Man," avoid your most difficult customer. His instinctive reaction is most likely to be curt and unfavorable; he will look upon you with a suspicious eye. . . . Attack your problems on the mornings of rising-pressure days. . . .

However, I'm afraid few experienced physicians agree with some of the suggestions Dr. Mills makes, for instance:

"Removal to the Southwest is most imperative for people attacked by acute rheumatic infections of the joints or heart valves. . . . Transfer to the non-stormy Southwest usually prevents new attacks and allows gradual repair of the heart damage."

Some statistics do seem to indicate that streptococcus infection (the cause of rheumatic fever) is less prevalent in the Southwest than in other parts of the country. But who can tell whether weather, climate, amount of sunshine, relative humidity, temperature variations, etc., account for this more than raininess does?—that is, less crowding affords less opportunity for the spread of infection.

FUN BUT COSTLY

For people who can afford to go traipsing off to a better climate far from home for a month or a season or an indefinite time, such travel or removal is fun and sometimes proves beneficial.

By their determination to go ahead with their attack on Egypt, no matter what the U.N. thought, the French and British have dealt that organization a blow from which it may not recover.

Further, it is possible vengeful Arabs will cut the Middle East oil lines, shutting off Europe's supply and forcing it to turn to the United States for help. That might mean rationing here.

One thing is certain: the French and British have done terrible damage to the efforts of the West to woo the Asians and Africans and make Russia look like the only big power to be feared.

Voice of the People Discuss Health, Politics in Letters From Readers

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

After reading recent articles about TB patients who leave sanatoriums against medical advice, we got our dander up. We are taking it upon ourselves to write you as to how we and several other patients here in Gaylord sanatorium feel,

We came in here willing to be cured, knowing it would be at least a year's stay. "Health" (publication of Michigan Tuberculosis Association) states that one of the main reasons patients sign out is that they are not able to adjust themselves to the long stay. Nevertheless, it is no excuse to leave and endanger their families and other innocent people they come in contact with. Why, out of self-pity, are they that "couldn't take it" allowed to endanger our loved ones?

Is their self-pity more important than other people's health? Just think, more than 1200 left the san last year against medical advice. If ever there comes a time we can vote for compulsory confinement, we'll be the first to vote.

If people have to be so ignorant as to endanger others, then I think there should be a law against them walking the streets. Maybe we're harsh or prejudiced, but when it comes down to our children, we feel we have a right to be. After all, we want them protected, and we think every other parent should think hard on this. Something should be done.

Mrs. E. Buchanan
Mrs. Louis Olson

Both the Democrats and Republicans claim they have the formula for peace. But facts don't support their claims. The fact is that the world is perilously close to war. The further fact is that the struggle for world domination between Western capitalism, headed by the U. S., and Russian State despotism is creating many points of tension. At the moment, the Suez Canal crisis is outstanding.

I want peace. I believe the vast majority of the people of the world want peace. But there will be no lasting peace until the cause of war is removed.

The cause of war in the modern world is industrial and commercial rivalry. Even some capitalist spokesmen admit this fact. But neither Stevenson nor Eisenhower propose to do anything to remove the capitalist cause of war. Their talk of peace, therefore, is so much campaign rivalry.

I am going to write in my vote for Eric Hass and Georgia Cozzini, candidates of the Socialist Labor Party for President and Vice President, because their platform aims at the very cause of war—at the capitalist exploitation of labor which compels capitalist nations (as well as despotic Russia) to fight for world markets.

Theos A. Grove

(Editor's note: Write-in votes for presidential and vice presidential candidates not on the ballot will not be counted, according to a recent Michigan court ruling.)

So Soapy is not worrying about the Teamsters' vote for Cobo. He says he will get 95 per cent of their votes anyway. I doubt that a little, and also have considerable doubt of his getting that percentage in his own Democrat ADA, PAC, and CIO.

Time was when I used to respect the Democratic Party, for instance Thomas L. Patterson, Judge of Probate when I was a young chap, Alfred gale, Jimmy Lanch, et al; times: and the party have changed.

James W. Clapp

When our dear friend Adlai can't even keep his own family intact, how in God's name can we ever expect him to run this wonderful country of ours as it should be run?

He frankly is one of the most inadequate, antique persons I have ever seen!

I believe that our beloved Ike is far more capable of running a country than Stevenson ever thought of being. He knows how to handle the foreign "bosses" and has been in close contact with the majority of them during his hitch over in the European theater of operations.

I hope and I pray that Ike will get in again so that he can keep the old Ship of State on an even keel.

Female World War II Vet

Well, I say Adlai is very much agitated because the Eisenhower administration has been so immune from criticism. Well, maybe they, the people, surmised the Little Three could do enough of that in their campaign, little Adlai, little Estes, and last, but not least, little Harry-give-em-hell.

Now the Little Three have tried everything else they could think of and did not seem to be doing so well. Now they stooped clear over and are trying to scare the people with the terrible after-effects of the H-bombs. Our own H-bombs.

Well, I will take the chances of our own rather than the Russians' bombs. Whether the Democratic party is a war party or just happened to inherit the wars, why not keep the party in that seems so fortunate to miss them. Why bet on a losing horse? I admire a winner.

This shall they have for their pride, because they have reproached and magnified themselves against the people of the Lord of hosts.—Zephaniah 2:10.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Crane Explains Biblical Example

Rev. Silas opposes church suppers because he says Jesus drove the money changers out of the Hebrew Temple. This act, Rev. Silas argues, proves that Christ would not patronize a pay supper in a church nowadays. Read my answer and discuss it next Sunday in your Bible classes.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case T-310: Rev. Silas J., aged 28, is a young clergyman who disapproves of having pay suppers in the church.

"Dr. Crane, I disagree very much with your belief that Jesus would attend such suppers in the church basement," he began.

"Don't you remember how he reproved those who bought and sold in the Temple?"

"Well, when people buy their suppers in a church building, isn't that commercializing the church?"

TEMPLE THIEVES

When Jesus upset the tables of the moneychangers in the Temple and drove them out of that church building, remember what he said?

"... ye have made it a den of thieves."

Well, church suppers are definitely not in the same category as that famous example, for the modern church folks are unselfish in their efforts to pay off a mortgage or build new classrooms for Sunday school.

Let's take a closer look at Christ's cleansing of the Temple. In those days, religion had degenerated largely into a "gum shoe" or detective affair.

The priests went around trying to catch you in error so they could levy a fine against you.

For a petty offense, you had to sacrifice a pair of doves. For a medium sized sin, you offered a lamb.

And for a man-sized offense, you were fined the cost of a bullock. Indeed, if you didn't sin enough to fill the coffers of that "den of thieves," then the priests made new rules so you would commit more religious offenses.

For the church made money by increasing the number of your sins, which is always a bad system in any religion. Jesus was a positive clergyman who never trafficked in "sin" money.

TEMPLE RACKETEERS
But in those days a racket was being carried on in the Temple. The accepted money of the market place was Roman currency.

So the priests in the Temple said you couldn't buy their sacrificial birds or animals with Roman money. No, you had to exchange the Roman currency and get Temple money.

And in this method they gyped people. If you turned in a $1 bill, you got maybe 75 cents back, so the priests profited from this exchange.

Then they made you buy purified doves or lambs and steers. And they took another rake-off on that deal. For a lamb that would cost $15 in the open market, was now priced in the Temple at maybe $20 or higher.

And you had no choice. You had to pay through the nose to remain a sinner. So the priests' cheated you twice—once when they exchanged your Roman money and, again, when they overcharged you for sacrificial animals.

It was this racketeering which Christ indicted so hotly. That was why he said they had made the church a "den of thieves," which was true.

But the modern church supper has no resemblance at all to such thievery. Devoted housewives usually donate the food and then offer their services to prepare a delicious church supper.

Their men folks then contribute their money for the completed meals. Meanwhile, all sit down in a spirit of good fellowship and brotherly love.

There is no compulsion. Nobody is forcing you to buy. And you aren't being gyped, as were the poor patrons of the Temple.

The whole affair is purely a voluntary offering for an immediate moral project such as more Sunday school rooms, or a church furnace or an organ, etc.

As for me, I like church suppers, not alone because of the good food but for the cheery atmosphere of brotherhood.

In fact, I think in some churches you absorb more of Christ's atmosphere at these suppers than in the dry, pedantic sermonizing in the sanctuary.

But take your choice. This is a free country!

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 25c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Britain-France-Israel Team Pulls Sneak Play on U. S.

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (U-P)—The missing link in the fighting in Egypt is this: Did the British, French and Israelis plan it together? It looks that way. All three stood to gain by what they did.

What the Israelis wanted was to help wreck Egyptian President Nasser, whom all three hated. He was the rallying point for Arabs against Israel. What the British and French wanted was to wreck
Nasser and get back the Suez Canal.

But the effects of what the British and French did went far beyond their move to seize the canal. They ignored the United Nations, although pledged to work with and uphold the world organization.

They made American leadership of the free world look as sick as a straw hat in the rain by telling Secretary of State Dulles nothing of their plans to go into the Suez area and then ignoring President Eisenhower's personal plea not to.

They made their move at a time when the West might have profited by the Russian killing of Hungarians in Budapest. Now world attention has been diverted.

The French and British had been angered and frustrated by Dulles ever since Nasser seized the canal last July. They wanted to take military action against Nasser to take back the canal.
Dulles proposed a couple of plans for negotiating peacefully with Nasser—which didn't work out but managed to forestall military action until now.

The British and French apparently made up their minds he wouldn't block them again. They shut him off from information for 10 days. American ambassadors for that time were not able to see the heads of the French and British governments.

On Monday — when the Israelis marched into Egypt — the British and French ambassadors were absent from Washington. But on that day the British Minister

J. E. Coulson, told Dulles
the American-British-French agreement of 1950 — to stop any aggression in the Middle East — was dead. Nevertheless, the White House said Monday night this country would honor that agreement.

Too much emphasis should not be placed on the idea the Western alliance is wrecked. This country needs the British and French against Russia, just as they need the United States when this blows over.

Unless there is a world war or an unexpected development, they will almost certainly be in harness, again, although probably from now on with a distrust of each other that didn't exist before.

From the moment the Israeli government announced its troops had gone into Egypt, it was clear they were headed in the direction of the Suez Canal. This gave the British and French an excuse to move in. They gave this explanation: they had to do it to protect the canal.
Yesterday the United States

asked the U. N. Security Council to approve a resolution demanding a cease-fire in Egypt and calling upon all U.N. members—including the British and French—not to use force in the Israeli-Egyptian fighting.

The French and British, announcing they intend to move into the canal area, vetoed the U.S. proposal.

TODAY'S ASSIGNMENT FOR:

JUNIOR EDITORS

PETER THE PIEMAN

Halloween is over, but big pumpkins are still in the markets. This is the season of pumpkin pies.

In the next three days we are going to bring you pictures to illustrate the old nursery rhyme about pumpkins.

"Peter, Peter, Pumpkin Eater
Had a wife and couldn't keep her,
Put her in a pumpkin shell,
And there he kept her very well."

Here is Mr. Peter Pumpkin Eater, who makes pumpkin pies. He has a little bakery, and every day he sets out in his white apron and big cook's hat to sell his fresh pies.

Color this picture with your crayons and make the sky a bright blue and the hollyhocks gay pinks and reds. Fold the left end panel back on the dotted line and fold the right end panel forward. Tomorrow we will show you another scene which can be pasted to this one, so keep this picture safely.

(First to contribute this idea was Paula Lyons, Richland, Wash. Junior Editors awards $10 for a usable idea, so send in your suggestions care of this newspaper. Violet Moore Higgins; AP News-features.)

Farmers Get $1,240,881 by State Soil Bank Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan farmers have received $1,240,881 in the new soil bank program, the Agriculture Department reports. The department announced yesterday that $139,653,543 had been paid nationally through Oct. 26. The payments were made for land taken out of production for such surplus crops as corn, wheat, rice, peanuts and tobacco.

Final Babsonpoll Still Likes Ike

Pennsylvania have a total of exactly 59.

DEMS RULE HOUSE

The poll still indicates Democrats will control the new lower house by substantially the same margin they now enjoy.

In House races, 183 Democrats appear to be safely re-elected, 35 others are narrowly ahead, and 4 Democratic candidates are likely to upset GOP incumbents. Total: 219 Democratic seats.

Republicans seem destined to hold 126 seats, are leading in races for 54 others and probably will unseat Democrats in 5 more for a total of 185.

In 31 contests, the result is rated as tossup. These seats are now held by 19 Republicans and 12 Democrats.

With an even split in the toss-up contests, the composition of the new House would be 234 Democrats and 201 Republicans.

The number of Senate races which have fallen into the Babson tossup classification is unusually large.

19 ARE VITAL

Good fortune in these nine contests for either party could mean control of the upper house by a substantial margin.

Again assuming an even break between the two parties in the neck-and-neck contest, however, the Democrats would wind up with a margin of one to three seats in the new Senate.

The tossup seats are now held by six Republicans and three Democrats. Democrats hold a fragmentary lead in five of the races; Republicans in four.

Because of the number of close senatorial contests, Babsonpoll officials predict control of the Senate may not be finally determined until many hours after the presidential result is known.

dered the United States into a shattering diplomatic disaster."

"It has brought the whole world to the brink of another war that Mr. Dulles (secretary of state) may not have planned but which he did a lot to cause," he said.

An audience which fire department officials estimated at 12,500 gave him a roaring reception. He hammered away at Republican foreign policy in rallies in New York City during a day in which a steady downpour of rain cut down his street crowds and forced him to do his speaking indoors in halls of limited capacity.

At Pittsburgh, he said Eisenhower-Dulles policies have not only alienated Great Britain and France, and lost the confidence of Israel, but left this country on the side of the Soviet Union and Egyptian Dictator Gamal Abdel Nasser in the flaming Mideast crisis.

Stevenson arrived here too late to speak over a statewide television network purchased for his address. That was because he had lingered at New York's LaGuardia Airport to draft a telegram to Eisenhower that was made public minutes after the President went on a nationwide hook up and pledged "no United States involvement" in the Middle East fighting.

Stevenson's telegram referred to an earlier White House statement saying this country still stands by the 1950 United States-British-French pledge to aid the victim of any aggression in the Middle East.

Stevenson said the United States "must stand by its commitments, but I hope the statement does not mean that you (Eisenhower) are going to commit the United States to the hasty use of armed forces, especially in view of the confused history of this area, where both parties have engaged in shooting at one time or another."

At the Hunt Armory, Stevenson spoke without benefit of TV coverage. He told the party rally he was glad Eisenhower "assured us that he has no present intention of calling Congress into special session or involving the U.S. in these hostilities."

"All good Americans share his concern for peace and efforts to check the spread of war," he said. "As leader of the Democratic party, I ask support for efforts to end the war between Egypt and Israel. But I cannot promise to support or respect a foreign policy that has bluffed and blundered the United States into a shattering diplomatic disaster. And what's more, it has brought the whole world to the brink of another war which Mr. Dulles may not have planned but which he did a lot to cause."

U.N. Meeting Today on War Emergency

a condemnation of Britain, France and Israel, a cease-fire call, or a request that U. N. members punish the three with diplomatic and economic measures.

Britain and France voted against the resolution to convene the Assembly, contending it was illegal. Australia and Belgium abstained.

The United States and the Soviet Union were among those casting favorable votes, further emphasizing the grave split in the Western alliance.

The emergency session is the first ever called under the Assembly's so-called "uniting for peace" resolution of Nov. 3, 1950. The United States got that resolution adopted in the Korean War days to enable the U. N. to act against aggression despite the Soviet veto in the Security Council.

GRAVE SITUATION

The council call for the session said "a grave situation has been created by action undertaken against Egypt" and the council had been unable to act because of the British and French vetoes.

The U. S. resolution which they vetoed now will become a proposal for action by the assembly.

It calls upon Israel and Egypt, 1 to cease fire at once; 2 upon Israel to withdraw its armed forces from Egypt; 3 upon all U. N. members to withhold military, economic and financial aid from Israel until she pulls back, and 4 on all U. N. members to refrain from the threat or use of force in the Middle East.

The later aimed squarely at Britain and France.

U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld told the council a secretary general could serve only on the assumption that all member nations would honor their pledge to observe the U. N. Charter, calling for peaceable behavior. The members generally, including Britain and France, then voiced confidence in him.

A U. N. spokesman denied any idea that Hammarskjöld had in mind to resign. He said he was merely leaving it up to U. N. members to agree with his interpretation of his role or to get rid of him.

Attackers Sink Ship to Block Suez Canal

claimed six British planes shot down over the Nile delta.

Another British plane was damaged, a communique said. Four of the British planes were said to have been shot down over Alexandria.

Cairo's alerts lasted from 20 minutes to more than an hour each, but no antiaircraft fire sounded.

Despite claims that Cairo had been bombed, eyewitnesses and rooftop watchers here said the air strikes appeared to be directed northeast of the city. The capital's big international airport and a military airfield are located there. A red glow could be seen in the area. Some residents in suburban Cairo were reported leaving their homes.

SCHOOLS CLOSED

All universities and primary and secondary schools were closed in Cairo, Alexandria and the Suez Canal Zone. Egyptians carried out general mobilization orders.

A communique charged French planes joined Israeli air force in strafing Egyptian military forces in the Sinai area. It claimed destruction of a fourth of the Israeli air force. The communique made no mention of the fighting with Israeli ground forces in Sinai.

Egypt formally broke off relations with Britain and France. British Ambassador Sir Humphrey Trevelyan and French Charge d'Affaires Guy Dorset received the notification at the Foreign Ministry.

Another Egyptian military communique issued earlier today said British and French jet bombers raided Cairo during the night and scored hits on the city's international airport, some military airfields and the military academy on the outskirts of the capital.

The announcement added that other airports were also bombed. Egyptians in Cairo appear to be taking the bombings with fatalistic calm.

Shops opened normally today. Work went ahead on construction sites and life moved along in the usual way, although the atmosphere seemed more subdued.

One raid on Cairo last night lasted 100 minutes. Fire engines raced toward the suburbs where the airports are located.

The impact of one bomb rattled windows in the Associated Press building in downtown Cairo. At Port Said agents for oil tanker owners Stavros Niarchos and Aristotle Onassis said they had received orders to divert their ships. They lifted anchor at Port Said and headed back into the Mediterranean.

AEC Out of Line, Says Harriman

No Explanation Given for Fallout-Check Halt, N.Y. Governor Charges

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Averell Harriman reported today that the New York State Health Department had detected "a remarkable high" level of radioactivity in the atmosphere over New York on Sept. 24.

The governor said in a statement that the Atomic Energy Commission two days later ordered the department, without explanation he said, to stop its radioactivity monitoring program.

He noted that the order came six days after Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, proposed the United States take the lead in seeking to end H-bomb tests.

The Democratic governor linked the high-level incident of Sept. 24 to a reported explosion of a Russian H-bomb on Aug. 30.

"The manner in which this program was ended," said Harriman, "is typical of the (Eisenhower) administration's custom of taking action without explanation."

In Washington last night four Senate Democrats asked President Eisenhower if it were not true that some of his advisers had recommended steps toward ending test explosions of "certain types and sizes of the super H-bomb."

Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico, chairman of the Senate Atomic Energy committee; Mike Monroney of Oklahoma; J. William Fulbright of Arkansas; and Mike Mansfield of Montana, said they also asked the President, in a telegram, if it were not true that he had agreed with the idea and had ordered studies to follow it up.

dent will discuss the Middle East situation further tonight, Hagerty underscored it will be a campaign address.

Asked whether Eisenhower's talk would be political in nature, Hagerty replied: "It's on a campaign platform — certainly."

The Middle East crisis caused Eisenhower to cancel a campaign trip he had scheduled for yesterday into Texas, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

And it was not until yesterday that he decided to go ahead with tonight's Philadelphia speech, which was arranged last week. Aides said the decision was based on the fact that the engagement will take the President out of Washington for only a few hours. Hagerty said Eisenhower has under consideration only one more campaign address — a trip to Boston for a speech Monday night, election eve.

Heavy Makeup Scares Off Teenage Boys

By EUGENE GILBERT
President of the Gilbert
Youth Research Co.

Teenage glamor girls, slathered with makeup, may inspire wolf whistles, but it's the lass with a natural look who gets the dates.

There's something about excess makeup and lowcut dresses that freezes a young man in his tracks.

"If there's anything I despise it's a girl with all that gook on her face," observes a high school football star. "And slinky dresses, ugh!"

A Providence, R. I., youth comments: "My steady used to try to dress sexy to make herself look older. But I told her it was the fancy-pancy duds or me, and she sure caught on in a hurry."

HOLLYWOOD JAZZ
And what do girls think about how men dress?
"None of this Marlon Brando jazz for me," says 16-year-old Lucy. "My date should at least wear a tie and sports jacket. He doesn't have to wear evening clothes. All I ask is neatness."

In one of our cross-country surveys, several girls registered complaints against the Presley influence. They admit they like it on Elvis, but...

growing sideburns," one sighed. "Next they'll have beards. It's just too much."

As for the teen girl, being a femme fatale won't keep the wolf (young and two-legged) away from her door, but it probably will the boy she'd really like to go out with.

ALL-AMERICAN GIRL
Almost unanimously, young men favor the All-American Girl look. They say heavy cake makeup, mascara and rouge are all right for movie stars, but not for the girls they want to be seen with.

A light touch of lipstick and perhaps a dab of powder are enough to set off a girl's natural beauty, they think. One Bronx, N. Y., high school boy remarks:

"There's a cute girl I've wanted to take out a couple of times, but I'm afraid to ask her. The last time I met her at a party she looked like her face was made up to haunt a house."

This young man may not know it, but girls today look better and dress more neatly than girls of a decade or two ago.

After correlating our most recent information on high school students of yesterday and today, we learned:

Our teenager dresses more neatly than even her older sister 10 years ago. She wears sweaters and skirts that show her figure and thus she has to watch her weight. Her boyish coiffure is growing to a flattering shoulder length and for school she has adopted a tidy ponytail.

She wears costume jewelry less obviously and shows a taste for simplicity.

In cosmetics, which become a part of her daily schedule at about 14, she prefers discreet makeup. Consequently, she looks more natural and a new maturity shines through.

This maturity reflects the changes in thought and belief which have come about in the last 15 years.

Today's young woman is increasingly aware of events around her because she emerged into an adult world tottering on the brink of war.

She dates two years younger than the girls of 10 or 20 years ago, and she will marry about two years younger.

Because security is important to her—and to the family she hopes to have—she wants to go to college. And career opportunities for women that would have been unthinkable 10 years ago are opening up for her.

Hand in hand with this growing consciousness of responsibility—and this applies equally to teenage men—is interest in health and diet.

This emphasis has developed mainly in the last decade. For example, 17.6 per cent of the teenagers we surveyed take vitamin capsules.

Why? "Don't be a goof, man," admonishes a Texas lad. "The healthier you are, the longer you live. And I want to be around for a long, long time."

Young moderns' diet-consciousness is especially apparent in girls 13-17. Thirty-six per cent of them say they watch what they eat. Weight-watching starts young, and 18 per cent of teenagers consider themselves too hefty to be hep. Only 5 per cent however follow a strict diet regime for losing weight.

Many teens, especially 13-17-year-old boys, want to gain some manly muscles.

And a New Jersey deb exclaims:

"Is there anything so ugly as the skin-and-bones type? I'd like to see it. I'm doing my best to fill out those curves. No one likes a skeleton."

Of course, dieting is done for other purposes than taking off weight. Eleven per cent of girls and 14 per cent of boys have what they call "serious complexion trouble."

But many more than that—nearly one-third in fact—worry about pimples.

Only 3 per cent are on complexion diets under doctors' directions, but many skin worriers are trying their skins.

Eating habits and thereby improve on their own book to control their skins.

Birth Notice Does Not Require Gift

Mom Should Send Announcements to Shower Guests

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: When a shower has been given for an expectant mother, is it proper etiquette for the mother to send those who attended the shower a birth announcement, and if so, should they be obliged to send another present?"

Answer: She should certainly send them birth announcements. These never imply an obligation to send a second present.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Will you please tell me if it is proper for a girl who is marrying a widower with a child to wear bridal clothes and have a large church wedding? The bride has never been married before. Please advise me as I won't want to do anything that would cause criticism."

Answer: The bride's clothes—and all of the details of the wedding—indicate her own status, not that of the bridegroom. In the situation you describe the bride may, of course, wear bridal clothes, have as many attendants as she chooses and every other detail that is pleasing to her.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My grandmother, who has been a widow for the past five years, is going to remarry in the near future. I would like to know what I should call her new husband? Do I call him Grandfather or Mr. Jones, or what?"

Answer: You ask your grandmother what he would like you to call him.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it ever permissible for a woman to refuse to dance with a man who is a terrible dancer, and if so, how can she do this without hurting his feelings?"

Answer: It is permissible only at the risk of losing his friendship.

Bicycling Isn't Reserved for Kids

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There are some sports you can take down the years with you.

For instance, swimming and golf age when employed with discretion can be indulged in safely at any time and if there are no special physical disabilities. Of course, the daily walk is another splendid exercise.

Bicycling is another of these. It combines many pleasant and beneficial factors. It is not too strenuous for the middle-aged and older person. It gets you outdoors and tones the muscles.

It also stimulates circulation and respiration. Any exercise taken in the fresh air is especially revitalizing. Then, too, when you bicycle you can ride through the lovely country or in parks. This gives you physical relaxation and a psychic boost.

In most European countries we see old men and women riding their bicycles. In some cities they need a traffic cop to direct these two-wheeled buggies. However, this side of the Atlantic the bicycle is thought of as an activity reserved for the young. Don't you believe it!

Depending on where you live, your son's or daughter's. This is a wonderful activity to look forward to next spring, too.

Why not rent a bicycle or ride

The daily walk is another splendid exercise.

Have Extra Hose

The mishap that befalls the working girl most often is the stocking with a run in it. A word of advice: An extra pair of stockings kept in a desk drawer will save embarrassment.

Change Hair Color

If you don't like the color of your hair, change it. This is a day in which no one is ashamed of tinted hair. Some girls switch colors each season. While this isn't necessary, they find it fun.

Army Losing Missile Men to High-Paid Civilian Jobs

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (INS) — While the nation's top defense planners in Washington debate the inter-service row over guided missiles, the Army is faced with a more immediate problem in its missile program.

It is simply: How to prevent industry from raiding the ranks of specialists needed to man the Nike antiaircraft missile installations.

The only source of the highly trained men who man the installations are a round key American cities is the 1st Guided Missile Brigade at Ft. Bliss, Tex.

Yet, advertisements in El Paso newspapers provide the men of the brigade with constant temptation to leave the Army for more lucrative jobs in industry.

HIGHLY TRAINED
The brigade is engaged in an extensive and expensive troop training program, requiring not only a knowledge of the common military subjects but also a highly technical knowledge of guided missile equipment and its difficult utilization.

Men of the brigade are sent out throughout the world to assume the difficult job of manning Nike and Corporal rocket defenses.

The Army has no trouble in securing personnel for services of various antiaircraft battalions. Cooks, bakers, clerks, drivers—all are easy to secure.

But the radar expert, the fire control man, the electronic expert—all have a job waiting for them with industry, if they want it. And it's a job industry can fill without a long, tedious and expensive training period.

Specialists sent to the guided missile brigade are literally the "cream" of the Army. They have completed eight weeks of basic training, another eight weeks of advanced training, and then an additional 16 weeks of battalion training.

In this time the men attend classes which compare with those given in the finest colleges of the nation.

MISSILES SINCE '54
An example of the type of battalions turned out is the 513th Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion of Seattle, Wash. This group, a former 80 mm battalion, has been working with Nike missiles since 1954. In its first annual service practice firing last October, the battalion scored 11 hits against 12 targets.

Last spring the battalion fired at White Sands proving ground's Red Canyon range, and when C. Company blasted a target from the air, the soldiers acted like a high school football team which has just scored a touchdown.

The motto of the 513th is "Maximum Sub Soles," which means, "Best Under the Sun." The troops believe it, too.

Soldiers of the Nike battalions are not aware of the dispute in Washington. In fact, they would love nothing better than a contest against Air Force units using the Talos, a Navy-developed missile.

But—as an officer put it—"let's not use this Nike, but the Nike B, which is vastly superior." The Nike B is still "under wraps" of security.

The pride of service does hold many of the officers at White Sands Proving Grounds. One colonel admitted frankly he could double his salary with industry, but he said he preferred to "do his job" despite the isolated, sunbitten, snake-eaten condition on the proving grounds.

UPROAR HELPS
Actually, the dispute in Washington has aided rather than hindered the all-important morale of the rocket specialists. They seem to their officers strive to strain the Nike's range to its limits. The soldiers have an intense pride in their companies and battalions, and even more, they have what amounts to a personal pride in the Nike, itself.

Two Win Top Prizes for Pumpkin Carving

Thomas Ellis, of 771 E. Mansfield St., and Jeanette Crocker, of 171 S. Shirley Ave., won the top prizes in a pumpkin carving contest sponsored by Oliver Motor Sales, Inc. 210 Orchard Lake Ave. Each was awarded a bicycle, as co-winners. Eight other prizes were awarded. Some 100 youngsters took part in the contest.

Authors of Dirty Books No Longer Cleaning Up

CINCINNATI (AP) — H. Joseph Houlihan of Lexington, Ky., president of the American Booksellers' Assn., says smut, obscenity and sex are not the easy road to fortune in fiction writing that they were for some years. Houlihan, speaking at a meeting of his association, said: "I think the demand for dirty literature is leveling off and, in fact, the public is showing some signs of revulsion against the stuff."

Soar Fete to Sore Feet

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Police said a 65-year-old woman jumped from her sixth floor hotel room, landed feet first on a garage roof three stories below and told officers: "My feet hurt." Mrs. Matt B. Walker was taken to Kaiser Foundation Hospital where her only apparent injuries were bruises on the soles of her feet.

Sue Ex-Congressman for Payroll Padding

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Former Rep. Ernest K. Bramblett (R-Calif.) was sued yesterday in U.S. court for $71,724 for padding his payrolls during his tenure in the House. Bramblett was convicted in 1955 of diverting public funds to his own use. He served in Congress from 1945 to 1953. U.S. Atty. Laughlin Waters said the amount diverted was $35,408. The remainder asked was for damages. Bramblett was accused specifically of setting up a dummy staff of four clerks and collecting money for their salaries. He was given a one-year suspended sentence and fined $5,000.

Britain's pre-war colonial possessions comprised a combined total of 12,230,457 square miles. Of this the Dominion of Canada accounted for about one-fourth of the whole amount.

Structure

By MYRENE TAYLOR
Rochester Correspondent

ROCHESTER — Solemnly mingled with happiness for 600 High School students marked the opening of Rochester's Community High School at 8 Wednesday morning.

A mile of students, teachers and village officials paraded from the old high school building to the new $1,500,000 modern, open-court building.

Brief opening exercises were held around the flag pole with the Rev. J. Douglas Parker of St. Paul's Methodist Church giving the invocation. The presentation of the new American flag was made by the Women's Relief Corps, Mrs. Claude Cross and Mrs. Conrad Zollner making the presentation.

Monte Clute, vice president of student council accepted the flag. Lewis B. Arnett, president of the Board of Education gave a short address of welcome. Response by Fred Weaver, president of the student council.

The Rev. John Yuells of the First Congregational Church gave the benediction. Then the high school choir sang "Alma Mater" and a band selection closed the brief ceremony.

Students entered the new building for the first full day of classes since the school year began. Luncheon was served in the new combination cafeteria and lounge and regular classes were held throughout the 25 classrooms.

Only one-half hour period will be given for lunch each day and students will not be allowed to drive cars from the school during that period.

An open house is being planned for a future date.

Mrs. Leslie Parrish invites interested community members to join the group at this meeting.

The Fanny Crosby Circle has published a directory containing important church dates, circle meeting dates, group projects, and an alphabetical list of the Commerce WSCS members. Mrs. Don Steinbrecher and Mrs. Bob Reichardt headed the committee which produced the directory.

Kiwanians
Raise $1,050
on Flare Sale

ROCHESTER — Rochester's Halloween Flare Night, sponsored by The Kiwanis Club in cooperation with the Village of Rochester and Avon Township, has been called a "huge success."

All streets in the village were lighted with flares at 7 p.m., marking the opening of the children's parties in the High School Gym, and at Avon Pavilion.

Goblins, pirates, gypsies and clowns paraded with prizes won at the various costume parties. Children were given balloons, horns, cider and doughnuts and prizes for the best costumes.

Monday night Kiwanians sold flares, sales amounting to $1,050. Kiwanians had a three-fold idea in mind. "To advertise our community, to show our children that we are interested in giving them a safe and sane Halloween with fun for all, and to help underprivileged children's fund."

Citizens Ho-Hum
Amendment

Research Council Says
Change in Constitution
Doesn't Matter

LANSING — The Citizens Research Council has adopted a ho-hum attitude toward the constitutional amendment on the Nov. 6 ballot.

The proposed amendment would deny legislative office to persons convicted of subversion or a felony involving a breach of public trust.

Commenting on the proposition, the council pointed out the State Constitution already gives the legislature the right to judge members, and by two-thirds vote to expel unfit members.

What's more, the "public trust" concept is ambiguous, it said. "Can a mere candidate for an office (who is not at the time an elective or appointive officer) be said to 'breach the public trust,' no matter what felony he commits?" the council asked.

The council concluded the amendment will not do much good if adopted, nor will there be any great loss if it is not.

There are 252 women's clubs affiliated with the Federation in Michigan.

Grains Active, Selling Heavy

CHICAGO (AP)—In very active dealings grains gave up ground grudgingly on the Board of Trade today.

Selling entered the market after three days of advancing prices. It was based on the belief the fighting in the Middle East may be localized. But there was still plenty of demand for all cereals.

Prices receded most in soybeans, which ran up the most gains late in the previous session. Feed grains held up better than other cereals but eventually backed for small losses.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1/2 to 1 cent lower, December $2.36 1/2; corn unchanged to 1/2 lower, December $1.39 1/4; oats 1/4 to 3/4 lower, December $0.84; rye 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $1.59 1/2; soybeans 1/4 to 1/2 lower, November $2.48 1/2, and lard 10 cents lower to 7 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $11.60.

The Middle East upsurge again was the dominating influence in the market. Buying on this conflict continued, but there also was selling from those who did not see how the fighting would result in increased exports for American grains.

Some Register Disappointment

Criticize Mary Martin in Her TV Portrayal of Billie Dawn

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK — Eight people scarcely constitute a quorum for a public opinion poll. But here are the opinions of eight concerning "Born Yesterday" as presented on Hallmark Hall of Fame Sunday evening.

Two enjoyed it thoroughly. Six, including this viewer, suffered from varying degrees of disappointment with the Garson Kanin comedy.

NOT IN THE CARDS — Mary Martin's portrayal of Billie Dawn in the recent television version of "Born Yesterday" disappointed some of her fans. They thought Miss Martin was too ladylike in her characterization of the famous dumb blonde created by Judy Holliday on the stage and screen.

"The trouble with Mary Martin, and I really like her terrifically," said another woman, "is that she played the part with a Southern accent. Maybe it's just because we live in the New York area that I don't think a Southern accent is funny. I mean I think a Brooklyn accent, such as Judy Holliday had, is funny or something."

"You mean," a man said, "that a so-called Brooklyn accent conveys a toughness of spirit and a tenderness of the flesh that's exactly right for the role?"

The woman blinked. "Maybe that's what I meant," she said dubiously.

Only one of the eight tapped (as we say in the poll business) failed to praise Paul Douglas, who brought to television the role of the big junkman, Harry Brock, which he played on Broadway and in the movies.

Grandma 'Digs' River Life

By JERRY PETERS
Of The Saginaw News

SAGINAW — Don't call her a riverboat queen or try to be funny about Tugboat Annie. She's just a woman doing her job.

Of course that job is bossing a dredging company and Mrs. Glen H. Conrad of Saginaw says she realizes that's highly unusual work for a woman. But she's not concerned about whether she's unique.

A few weeks ago her company, Carland Dredging Co., Inc., was awarded a $250,000 contract to dredge a 65-mile inland scenic waterway at the top of the Lower Peninsula. The project is for the government. Mrs. Conrad's favorite customer.

Mrs. Conrad, who grew up in Toledo, never expected to end up as boss of a 13-man dredging crew. She taught ballroom and interpretive dancing there before her marriage to Howard C. Carland, son of a railroad contractor.

When they moved to Saginaw in 1934, Carland entered the dredging business. After his death in 1935, his widow continued a project he'd started, dredging the Saginaw River.

She says she had misgivings about taking over but finished the job within the contract time limit.

"I'd learned the business, of course, from being around my husband," she said. "The Army Engineers gave me advice and I followed it."

In 1939 she successfully bid a contract to dredge the Saginaw River turning basin which allows lake freighters to turn around for return trips downstream to Saginaw Bay.

Since then the company has been occupied with government and private dredging projects around the Saginaw Bay area.

Off the dredge Mrs. Conrad is strictly a homemaker. She loves to cook but hates to do dishes. She has a dishwasher in her house in Grosse Pointe, Saginaw's top residential area, and a cleaning woman and a yard man.

HUSBAND HELPS
Since her marriage two years ago to Conrad, retired head of Consumers Power Co. here, her business duties have eased up and her husband has taken over some of the company responsibilities.

But Mrs. Conrad has a book-keeper and auditor to keep records and she maintains an office on the dredge. She does all contract bidding herself.

Because of her marriage Mrs. Conrad has become a grandmother of four lively youngsters. But grandma has given strict orders that they're to keep off the dredge during working hours.

The firm bought another dredge, a smaller one, for the inland water route job. Besides snagging (clearing out debris) and dredging a five-foot channel, the job will include pile driving, driving steel sheeting for breakwaters and setting markers for boatmen.

The company has a year to complete the project. Most of that time Mr. and Mrs. Conrad will be on the site.

The boss, probably in knee boots, will oversee the work from the new dredge, the Mudhen, a name picked by previous owners.

Said Mrs. Conrad, "I'd probably have chosen a prettier name."

The U.S. leads in exports of food, cotton and tobacco.

Not Insurance Firms!

PARIS—Because of increased injury and damage payments to holders of policies covering motor-vehicle accidents, French insurance companies ran a deficit of 30 billion francs ($35,715,000) in the years 1950-54.
