Mangled Liner Makes It to New York Berth

Action on Survey of City Hospital Gets Under Way

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Harmony replaced hassle as the Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees met last night in a special session to take action on a recently completed management study of the city hospital.

Last Thursday night, dissention among trustees sent one member out of the 3½-hour meeting and brought a demand of action from Mrs. B. B. Roush as hassle after hassle prompted adjournment.

The first recommendation which the board will suggest to the City Commission involves "strengthening it (the board) by the addition of persons with large scale legal, business, industrial and financial experience." This was recommended by the consultants who conducted the $5,707 survey.

The hiring of an assistant director, as suggested by the analysis, was given top priority by the trustees. Miss Lauretta Paul, director, said she had received from 25 to 30 applications for this position.

She was instructed to submit her recommendations from the applications in two weeks.

TO EVALUATE PROGRESS

The trustees decided to evaluate the progress made in the James A. Hamilton report with reference to Miss Paul "one year from the date the assistant director begins work."

The report suggested "the director be allowed a reasonable period of time in which to strengthen the executive management and improve the internal operations of the hospital."

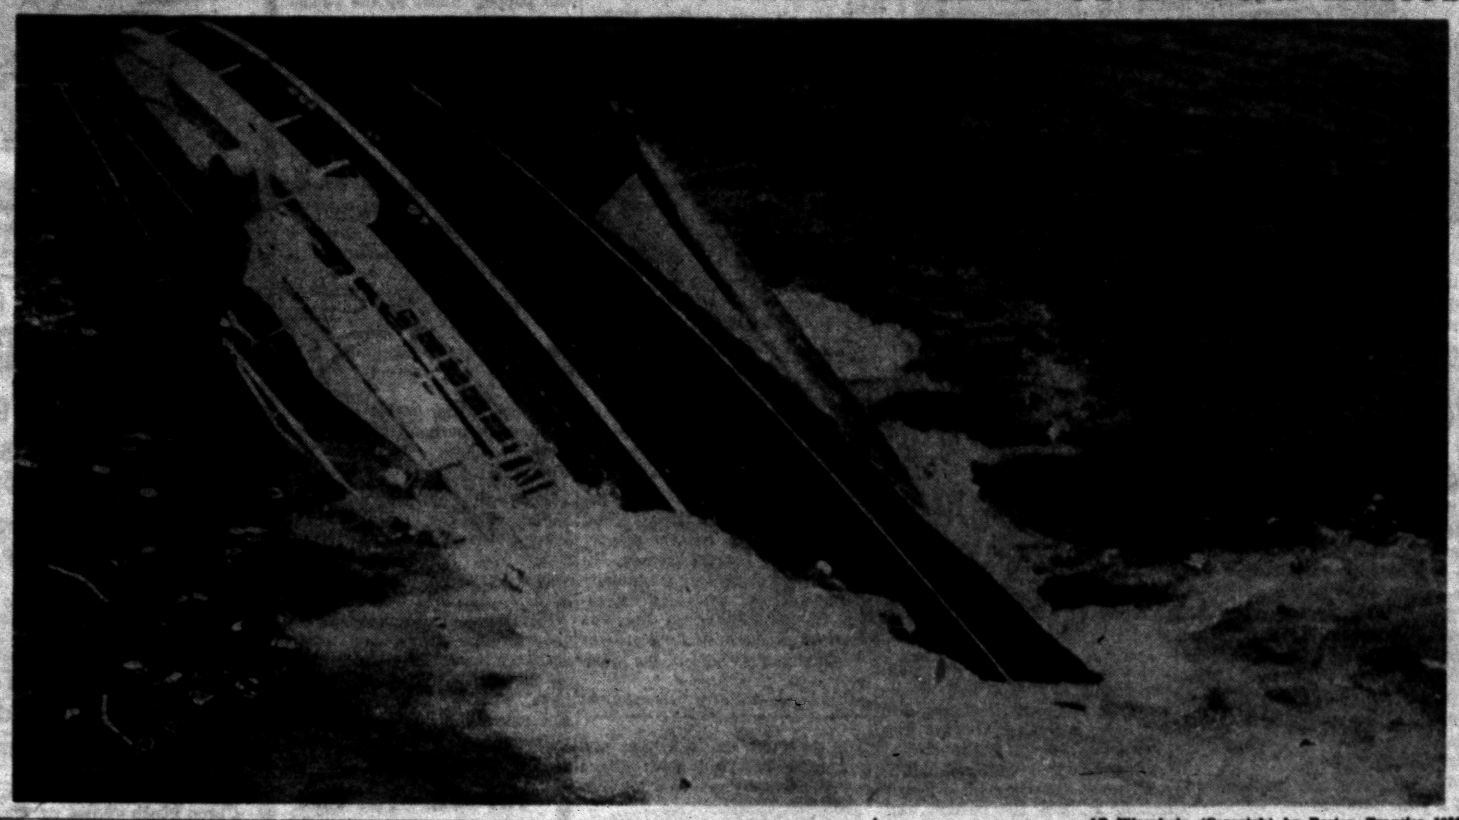

Harold B. Euler argued against setting any time limit on which to appraise the work of the director.

Members agreed to the survey recommendation that officers on the board be limited to serve not more than three years "within any one office."

A new executive committee, composed of the four officers, a nominating committee, and public relations committee will be established. They will be added to the list of the finance, building, per-

Other Nations Tense

Egypt Grabs Suez Canal

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt has served notice she is taking over full control of the Suez Canal and will use the revenue for the vital waterway to finance her billion-dollar Aswan dam project.

The United States and Britain last week withdrew offers to help build the giant dam.

"We don't have to seek American and British aid for building our dam," President Gamal Abdel Nasser declared last night in a speech in Alexandria's Liberal Square.

Minutes after Nasser announced nationalization of the internationally controlled canal, officials seized offices of the Suez Canal Co. in Cairo, Ismailia, Port Said and Suez.

Nasser accused the United States and Britain of trying to use the Aswan project as a lever to gain domination over Egypt.

He predicted that by taking over the great Suez waterway linking the Mediterranean to the Red Sea, Egypt could derive 100 million dollars in annual revenue.

"This money is ours," he declared. "The Suez Canal belongs to us. The Suez Canal was built by Egyptians and 120,000 Egyptians died building it. Thus we shall build the high dam our own way. We shall rely on our own strength, our own muscle, our own funds."

It has been estimated that the dam would cost $1,130,000,000.

British Prime Minister Eden was tense but remained silent on suggestions from some members of Parliament that Britian might have to use force against Egypt. But he said his government was considering stopping shipment of all British arms to Egypt.

The British aircraft carrier Eagle, major unit of the British navy closest to Egypt remained at Naples, Italy.

Eden said his government was consulting with other interested governments, including the United States and France.

The 101-mile waterway is operated by the Suez Canal Co. under a concession due to expire in 1968. After that the Egyptian government was to take over. The company is an Egyptian joint-stock firm. The British government holds about 350,000 of its 800,000 shares. Half its board of directors is French. Also on the board are representatives of Britian, Egypt, Holland and the United States.

British armed forces who occupied the canal for 74 years have gradually withdrawn over the last few years.

It is difficult to estimate the value of the canal. The British holdings are valued at 27 million pounds. This would place the total nominal value of the canal company at about 173 million dollars.

In recent years the company has allotted much of its earnings for improvement of the waterway. But last June it announced dividends of 28½ million dollars out of 1955 earnings.

Ike, Hoover, Dulles Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower discussed Egypt's seizure of the Suez Canal today, first with Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. and then with the Cabinet.

Eisenhower met for half an hour with Hoover in a suddenly scheduled conference, Presidential press secretary James C. Hagerty said Hoover had been in touch with Secretary of State Dulles in Lima, Peru, by telephone.

Hagerty said he thought the State Department would have some sort of statement on the U. S. position.

WASHINGTON (INS) — Chief Justice Earl Warren will make a good-will tour of India next month.

Muskegon Heights Men Uncover for Summer

SHORTS AND SPORT SHIRTS—Muskegon Heights has leaped far ahead of Pontiac in the current move towards masculine comfort on the ninety-plus days in the summer.

The men are moving into Bermuda shorts, headed by the Mayor.

"The Pontiac step is right as a starter," said an unofficial spokesman. "We compliment our brother from southeastern Michigan in making the first move to combat the heat by casting aside the constricting tie and the choking collar. We extend the bare arm and hand of fellowship.

"But, Muskegon Heights is moving onward and upward. Even though Pontiac trails conservatively behind in 1956, we'd like to think the progressive element there will step along further in 1957. Bermuda shorts are the coming thing.

NEW YORK—The crippled liner Stockholm, her decks crowded with survivors of the fateful collision at sea with the Andrea Doria, docked today at her Hudson River pier shortly after noon.

The twisted, ugly wreckage of her bow bore mute testimony to the violence of the crash late Wednesday night in heavy fog off Nantucket.

The sixth—and last—of the rescue ships to reach port, the Stockholm carried 530 passengers and crewmen of the sunken Italian liner, plus her own 535 passengers and crew of 215.

At least six persons now are reported dead.

Ambulances stood by to speed the injured to hospitals. All other Andrea Doria survivors were to be taken to the Italian line's own pier, half a mile away, for processing.

Throngs of anxious spectators were sent to the latter point, there to seek their missing. Among those waiting were Andrea Doria survivors who came in on other rescue vessels and were seeking loved ones from whom they became separated at sea.

The mangled Swedish-American liner was escorted up the harbor to her midtown pier by three police helicopters and a seaplane circling overhead, a Coast Guard cutter and three tugs.

As she nosed alongside, the crowd ashore got a full view of the bow, which looked as if a giant had crushed it with a mighty hammer.

All but the final few letters of the name "Stockholm" were obliterated in the twisted wreckage.

Between 30 and 50 feet of the forward area was punched in, the greater distance on the port side.

A long strip of the superstructure dangled to the waterline and——silent reminder of the rescues at sea—a rope ladder still trailed from the forward area.

(See stories page 9)

By midnight 1,116 men, women and children had been put ashore at New York by four mercy vessels.

While some of the battered and weary survivors charged bitterly they were abandoned by crew members who left them to their own fate, others lauded the crew for trying to calm panicky passengers.

In various stages of dress and undress and with heads bandaged, the survivors dramatically told of terrified men and women and of song-singing to help keep up courage as the ship rapidly tilted toward its destruction.

The greatest number of survivors — 753 — was brought to safety by the huge French liner Ile de France yesterday evening. The French ship, which performed gloriously in the rescue operations, sailed for Europe again less than four hours after completing her heroic mission.

The People vs. 16 Words

An elusive assortment of 16 words dodged through 7,225 Press readers again last week and, despite a severe mauling, climbed safely back into its secret niche. Oh miserable week! — there was nobody to stop its headlong flight to the jar in which Pot-O-Gold keeps its prize money.

But, if it's any consolation, the bruised and battered contestants who fell in its wake will have a better reason for wanting to snare this week's words, for the prize jumped today to $200 — plus the $25 bonus to subscribers.

The eight who missed by one word — and the some 7,200 who were further away — can find out what happened by turning to Page 12 for the answers.

Another 110 won't be able to take much more than an academic interest, however — they either missed the deadline, or sent their entries to us in envelopes.

Rising Temperature, Showers Predicted

8 a. m.	73	12 noon	88
9 a. m.	79	1 p. m.	92
10 a. m.	85	2 p. m.	95

Cold-blooded Pontiac residents are saying . . . at long last. Predicted high temperature for today is from 86 to 92 degrees.

This breaks a chilly spell that has cooled Pontiac since July 1. The temperature reached 92 degrees on that day and has ranged in the 60's and low 70's ever since.

One year ago today during the over 90 degree weather that plagued the country, the temperature was a sizzling 99 degrees.

The weatherman forecasts partly cloudy weather with scattered thundershowers today. He predicts partly cloudy and cooler weather tonight and Saturday.

Winds will be light southerly all day becoming northerly tonight.

The lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 70 degrees. The mercury rose to 95 degrees at 2 p.m.

Sally Sharp Moves Into State Finals

Sally Sharp, 19-year-old MSU sophomore from Birmingham, gained the finals with a 4 and 3 victory over Mrs. E. O. Reynolds of Lansing in a morning duel.

Miss shary was runnerup in the Mrs. Jack Scripsema, moved to the finals with a comeback 1 up victory on the 18th green over Mrs. Keith Leclair of Ypsilanti.

Order Fluoride Study

PORT HURON (AP) — The city commission has directed City Manager Jay F. Gibbs to obtain information on adding fluorides to drinking water. Commissioner J. Kenneth Ramsey proposed the study after citing reports of a 10-year fluoridation program in Grand Rapids which sharply cut incidence of tooth decay.

Steel Settlement Expected Soon

Union Boss Predicting New Pact by Weekend; 50-Cent Hike Hinted

NEW YORK (AP)—A settlement of the 27-day nationwide steel strike was announced today but a formal end to the strike will not come until sometime early next week.

By The Associated Press

Optimism prevails that a new contract will be worked out soon.

The sub-committee continued to work last night, apparently ironing out last minute details of the contract which has to be entirely re-written as the old contract expired completely July 1.

'All the City Weeps' in Home Port of Liner

GENOA, Italy (AP)—"When a ship like this sinks, all the city weeps." Those words from a gray-bearded sea veteran today expressed the feeling of this port city at the loss of the Italian luxury liner Andrea Doria off Nantucket. The Andrea Doria was built in Genoa and this was her home port.

NEW YORK (INS)—The Ile de France is steaming toward France today, 36 hours behind schedule. The ship sailed at 8:20 last night. French line officials are hopeful that the lost time will be made up on the liner's return trip to New York.

NEW YORK (INS)—The Italian Lines, which owned the ill-fated luxury liner Andrea Doria, will pay all extra expenses for the passengers and crewmen rescued from the sunken ship. The Red Cross, Travelers Aid and Italian welfare agencies are assisting the Italian Lines in welfare work for passengers who lost everything when they abandoned the Doria.

DETROIT (AP)—The Norseman, a revolutionary new Chrysler Corp. "idea" car, was lost in the sinking of the Italian liner Andrea Doria yesterday. The experimental car was built for Chrysler in Turin, Italy, and was being shipped to the United States for its first public debut. The Norseman cost about $150,000, including a year's engineering work. It was insured.

NEW YORK (INS) — Tourists who had planned to sail to the Mediterranean Saturday morning on the Italian liner Andrea Doria can make the trip on a Greek ship instead. The Greek line announced that by arrangement with Italian Lines, the Greek flagship Olympia will accommodate Andrea Doria passengers.

NEW YORK (INS)—Upwards of $60,000,000 went down to the bottom of the Atlantic when the Italian Lines Andrea Doria sank. The $60,000,000 covers direct insurance losses involving the Andrea Doria and its furnishings and decorations but does not include cargo and the personal losses of the luxury liner's passengers and crew. Compensation for deaths and injuries suffered in the collision also must await the fixing of responsibility for the crash.

NEW YORK (INS)—An association of steamship lines operating on crowded North Atlantic sea lanes reported today their liners have carried more than 26 million peacetime passengers since 1919 without a single fatality. The ships carried a total of 26,073,748 passengers in both directions from 1919 through 1939 and 1947 through 1955.

ARE YOU THERE, MR. FISH? — Dawson Mill Pond in Beaudette Park was the setting of the 1956 edition of the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. "Fishing Rodeo" held yesterday afternoon. Some 450 kids turned out with poles, bobs, and cans full of worms to try for 100 prizes offered by the city department. There were other activities for the non-fishing children. And as it turned out, these kids had most of the fun for Mr. Fish just wasn't there, as compared to previous "rodeos."

Fishing Rodeo Has Big Turnout

There were plenty of children but not many fish yesterday at the 1956 "Fishing Rodeo" sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept.

Leonard T. Buzz, recreational supervisor of the department, estimated from 400 to 500 kids turned out at Dawson Mill Pond to try their luck for 100 prizes.

Carol Bialik, 12, of 64 S. Anderson St. captured top honors for the girls when she hauled in a five-inch blue gill. Ronnie Slaght, 13, of 55 Edison St. took top prize for the boys with a 6½-inch blue gill. Both winners received complete fishing kits donated by the Better Fishing, Inc. of Chicago.

LESS CAUGHT

Buzz declared that "last year the kids averaged 10 to 15 fish each while this year only one fisherman managed to land five." Donald Gracey, 8, of 421 Howard McNeil St. won the "most fish prize" with five.

Other winners in the tournament were:

Leroy Campbell, 13, of 328 Branch St. and Thomas Baker, 9, of 14 Edison St., placed second and third respectively in the largest fish caught by boys with 6 inch and 6⅛ inch blue gills.

In the largest fish caught by girls, Karen Stratton, 11, of 31 Hillside Dr. and Mary Edwards, 11, 189 Wolfe St. pulled in four and two-inch blue gills for second and third prizes.

Allen Lawrence, 12, of 574 LeBaron Ave. and Charles Humphrey, 12, of 670 Bloomfield Ave. took prizes for the most fish caught with four and three respectively.

* * *

Christine Bass, 9, of 545 Alton Ave. and Eugenia Goff, 11, of 29 Hillside Dr. proved tops in the girls division for most fish caught with four and two.

3 Arrested in Attempt to Steal Car Batteries

RT. REV. MSGR. E. J. SZUMAL

Seminary Head Dies at Age 54

Msgr. Edward Szumal of SS Cyril & Methodius Suffers Heart Attack

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward J. Szumal, rector of SS Cyril and Methodius Seminary at Orchard Lake, died this morning in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital. He had been ill about four weeks and had been in the hospital after suffering a heart attack Friday. He was 54 years of age.

Msgr. Szumal attended Holy Family School in Ashland, Wis., and St. John Kanty in Erie, Pa. He came as a student at the Orchard Lake Seminary in 1920.

After completing his philosophy course, Msgr. Szumal was sent by the bishop to the University of Innsbruck in Austria. He was ordained there July 26, 1926.

Before his appointment as rector at Orchard Lake, he was an assistant pastor of Our Lady Queen of Apostles Church at Hamtramck, remaining there 12 years.

SERVED IN DETROIT

Later, he served as an assistant pastor of St. Hyacinth's Parish of Detroit. In 1941, he was appointed pastor of St. Barbara's Parish, Dearborn.

In October of 1943, he became rector of the Orchard Lake Seminary and was elevated to the rank of domestic prelate by Pope Pius XII. The new rank carried the title of Right Reverend Monsignor.

Monsignor Szumal was born Sept. 12, 1902 in Ashland, the son of Matthew and Mary Kowalczyk Szumal.

He leaves two sisters, Victoria Szumal of Detroit and Mrs. Helen Sunday of East Detroit; three brothers, Barney of Mt. Clemens, Boleslaus of Detroit and Walter Szumal who is on a government mission in Europe.

Solemn High Mass will be sung at 10:30 Tuesday morning at SS. Cyril and Methodius Seminary. Burial will follow at the Holy Sepulcher cemetery.

General Hospital Addition Likely to Get U.S. Aid

Chances of securing federal aid in the construction of the new addition at Pontiac General Hospital were declared good last night by Willis M. Brewer, chairman of the property committee of the Board of Trustees.

"I am quite well satisfied we will get our money," Brewer said. He had conferred with officials of the State Hospital Survey and Construction office in Lansing.

* * *

He added that the board must submit a statement indicating the city could match the estimated $75,000 in federal aid.

The Immigration and Naturalization Service reports that 1,635,702 aliens were admitted to the United States during 1955 compared with 1,279,879 in 1954.

Service will be at 2 p.m. Monday from the Sparks-Griffin Chapel. The Rev. Malcolm K. Burton, her pastor, will officiate with burial in Ottawa Park Cemetery.

Battered Stockholm Reaches New York

by helicopter and flown to Nantucket. One died later in a Boston hospital.

Two of the known dead were seamen on the Stockholm. The others were passengers on the Italian flagship.

The bodies of three of them — New York Times Madrid Correspondent Camille M. Cianfarra and his two daughters — still were aboard the Andrea Doria when it plunged to the bottom.

Waiting with anxious relatives and friends for the Stockholm to arrive were marine authorities who hoped Capt. Gunnar Nordenson could shed some light on the puzzling collision.

The key question in this modern sea mystery was how the collision could have occurred — even in a dense fog — in this day of advanced radar, sonar and other new aides to ocean-going travel.

Marine authorities talked uncertainly of "radar blindness." Others guessed human failure had been involved.

He refused to answer questions concerning the collision until he had talked to officials of the Italian Lines who already have blamed the Stockholm for the tragedy.

They pointed out that the Swedish ship did the ramming and was some 20 miles north of the course normally traveled by Europe-bound vessels.

Capt. Calamai warmly pressed "the full brilliance of the American Navy, Army and Merchant Marine" in the fantastically successful rescue maneuver that began almost immediately after his beloved ship flashed an SOS at 11:22 p.m. Wednesday, two minutes after the collision.

Four bits of good fortune kept the death and injury toll so amazingly low.

1. The sea was calm.
2. The fog began to lift almost as soon as the first rescue ships arrived.
3. Lights aboard the Andrea Doria remained lit despite the tons of water rushing into her crushed body. Darkness, almost surely, would have resulted in widespread panic.
4. But most "miraculous," in the opinion of veteran seamen, was the fact that the Andrea Doria after listing to 45 degrees held that perilous position until the rescue was completed.

The Day in Birmingham

Plans for Over 250 Set for 'Don's Day' Sunday

BIRMINGHAM — Many more than the 250 who have made reservations are expected at two events Sunday honoring Don C. Egbert, who concludes his service as city manager on Tuesday.

Egbert is leaving the city to become secretary-manager of two authorities in Oakland County. His post is to be filled by Harold Schone, who is leaving his Oak Park city managership on August 15.

From all over southern Michigan, friends of Don Egbert will be coming to pay him honor as he concludes over 25 years of service in Birmingham. He has been manager for nine years.

Toastmaster for the supper program Sunday night at Devon Gables will be Dana Whitman, assistant city manager. Already 148 reservations have been tallied, and more are expected. City employes and former workers on the city staff are to attend.

An open house at the Community House Sunday from 4 to 6 p.m. is open for all of Egbert's friends, with the host group being the city commissioners.

Acceptances to invitations already tally about 120, the committee members reveal, but anyone is welcome to attend.

Among those expected are the city's first mayor, Harry Allen, whose son is the present mayor; local school board officials; library board members; Community House trustees; a sizable delegation from Rotary Anns (he was one-time president of Rotary here) and local supervisors of the county.

From out-of-town, acceptances have come from Louis E. Ayres of an Ann Arbor engineering firm, W. F. Shepherd of the Michigan Department of Health, and city managers, mayors and council members from other cities.

Final day of the recreation department's summer playground program is today, with parents attending programs at all fields.

Playground programs this morning included a bubble-gum blowing contest at Torry, a puppet show, with puppets made by the youngsters, at Pembroke, and potato sack and other races at Adams.

A scavenger hunt was held at Quarton, a hat show at Pierce, and a scavenger and treasure hunt at Day Camp.

Continuing for two more weeks are the Eton Park play schedules, the music classes and the swimming program.

Swimming for youngsters is from 12:45 to 5:15 p.m. On Wednesday nights, families may swim together from 7 to 9 p.m. On Thursday nights at the same hours, adults may swim. Swimming is in Barnum School pool.

The other youth program at the library, Tuesday, this week will feature "The Fisherman and His Wife," and "Doctor Know-It-All," read at 2:30 p.m. on the library lawn.

Exchange club members will have a stag picnic and sports derby at the Carleton Scott home on Lane Lake road in Gilbert Lake. Fishing, swimming and a performance by a jazz band formed by members are planned.

Bob Considine Says:

Tragedy Multiplies Down Galveston Way

GALVESTON, Tex. (INS) — "I met Big George in an odd way," Dr. John Otto said, looking thoughtfully across a medicated room in John Sealy Hospital. There was warmth and quiet sympathy in his eyes as he regarded the 315-pound mountain whose name is George Zaharias. Zaharias, a former wrestler, has lived in the hospital halls for a long time. His wife, Babe Didrikson, is engaged in a silent life-and-death struggle with cancer in a room on the fifth floor.

* * *

"Big Gorge used to hold my hand," Otto went on, and a bystander sensed the deep bond between the men. "And I held his. My wife was in the room next to Babe's. She had cancer, too. We walked a lot of miles in those halls, Big George and I. Right?"

Big George nodded into his chins. "You can say that again," he rumbled.

The doctor sensed that the bystander hesitated to ask him to finish the story. He smiled now—an attractive, tanned, bespectacled, decent little man—and continued, "My wife's coming along wonderfully. They gave her a whole new stomach. She's up and about, working around the house, swimming . . . " He caught himself before he sounded too happy in front of the great brooding man who half-filled the room.

Big George spoke. "I'm going back to Babe's room," he said. "Will you show him around?" Otto said "Surely" and took off with his charge.

It was the $5 tour, plus. Besides showing us the hospital from top to bottom, the associate professor of neurology and psychiatry—who is in charge of Mrs. Zaharias' medication pattern—spoke also of the psychological approaches to disease.

The doctor of a cancer victim should tell the patient the truth if he feels the patient can accept it spiritually and physically, he discoursed earnestly. If the patient cannot take the truth, then some responsible member of the family must be told, he continued. "All sorts of complications come out of shielding the nature and scope of disease," he said. "My father was not told he was dying of cancer, and nobody else in the family was," he recalled quietly. "His estate shrank 50 per cent because he died before he or anybody else could get it in order."

* * *

He thought of his wife again. "I had to tell her the truth. It tested my conviction to the limit. She's a trained nurse and a darned good one. Worked three days and nights, running, when Texas City blew up. But, you know, she wouldn't believe me. I had to show her the X-rays and the charts to convince her."

After lunch at Jack Tar's place on the beach, Otto looked in on the pool area where children splashed in the sun. "Our little girl Leslie—she's eight—usually swims here. But I guess she's swimming someplace else today. I wanted you to meet her. She's our one and only."

Leslie's picture was on the doctor's desk, back at his office. A sweet, sparkling blonde. He could arrange for a sitter when he and Mrs. Otto dropped by the Seahorse at seven, with Big George, for a drink.

Big George showed up on the dot of seven. He lumbered toward the man who was waiting for him and said, slowly, "Dr. Otto and his wife won't be here. Their little girl drowned."

He didn't know how. Just that the stunned doctor had called and told him. Big George had another "Why?" to keep him awake at night. The two men leaned against a stucco wall in numb silence.

The Galveston Daily News had the story on the front page the next morning under a one-column head. The mother was standing in shallow water with Leslie at a section of the long Galveston beach that is not guarded. A wave struck the pair and knocked Leslie underwater. A treacherous undertow kept her there while the mother alternated dives with screams for help. It was over in a minute or two.

* * *

May Build Soo Bridge

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP) — A traffic survey is under way to determine feasibility of replacing ferry service with a bridge across the St. Marys River between the American and Canadian cities of Sault Ste. Marie. The International Bridge Authority will turn over survey results to financing houses interested in a possible bond issue.

County Flies Polio Equipment to Needy Chicago

The Oakland County chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis air expressed 2,500 syringes and 7,000 needles to the Chicago chapter Thursday.

* * *

The equipment was requested by the Chicago Health Department for administering Salk vaccine in an effort to halt the polio epidemic there.

* * *

The badly needed supplies were made available by the Oakland County Health Department who had received them from the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis for the 1954 polio vaccine trial.

14 Republicans Seek Six Nominations

This is the fourth of eight articles on Oakland County candidates for local, state and national offices. The three previous installments have discussed Republican and Democratic candidates for county offices, and Democratic candidates for State Representative posts.

Fourteen candidates for Republican nominations to Oakland County's six State Representative posts will be on the August 7 primary election ballot.

Contests have developed in five of the six county legislative districts. Only one Republican candidate is unopposed.

District 1 includes all of Holly, Groveland, Brandon, Oxford, Addison, Rose, Springfield, Independence, Orion, Oakland, Highland, White Lake, Waterford and Pontiac townships and the village of Sylvan Lake.

District 2 includes the city of Pontiac. District 3 comprises Milford, Commerce, West Bloomfield, Avon and Troy Townships and the city of Troy.

District 4 includes Lyon, Novi, Farmington, and Southfield townships, with the cities of Berkley and Oak Park and part of Royal Oak Township.

District 5 includes the cities of Royal Oak, Clawson, Huntington Woods and Pleasant Ridge.

District 1

LLOYD L. ANDERSON

Now supervisor of Waterford Township, Lloyd L. Anderson, 49, is one of two Republicans seeking nomination as state representative from District 1.

Anderson has been Waterford Township supervisor for five years, and has served on the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, its Road Committee, the Welfare Coordinating and Planning Committee, and the Michigan Association of Supervisors.

Educated in Lapeer city schools, Anderson is a Mason and a member of the Pontiac High Twelve Club.

Married, he has three children.

ROBERT V. PARENTI

Attorney Robert V. Parenti, 31, of Oxford, also seeks the GOP nomination as State Representative from District 1.

With offices in Pontiac, Parenti graduated from the University of Detroit and Detroit College of Law. He was formerly court clerk for Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore.

Oxford village attorney, he is also school board vice president and a member of Rotary and Elks. Former chairman of the Oxford Republican Committee, he is a director of the Oakland Town and Country YMCA and Oxford Community Chest.

A World War II veteran, he is married and the father of three children.

District 2

ROBERT C. MILLER

Unopposed for the Republican nomination as State Representative from Pontiac, Robert C. Miller, 28, of 963 Berwick Blvd., was chief investigator for Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem for five years. He resigned in April.

A graduate of Pontiac High School, Miller was former chairman of the Oakland County Concealed Weapons Licensing Board and was an associate judge in the county's "court of no record."

He is now serving his second term as president of the city's Lincoln Republican Club, and is precinct delegate from the fourth precinct.

A county resident for 27 years, Miller is married and has three children. He served in Naval aviation for three years, and now is a member of West Pontiac Kiwanis Club and a steward in Central Methodist Church.

District 3

HARVEY V. BEGGS

One of three Republican candidates for nomination as State Representative from District 3, Harvey V. Beggs, 63, of Bloomfield Township, is a retired industrialist.

Former owner of Hazel Park Metal Finishing Corporation, Beggs is married and the father of two children.

He was a political candidate and held appointive positions in Wisconsin, where he was born, and placed 16th in a field of 140 as a preferred candidate for the Detroit Common Council in 1946.

* * *

JAMES C. FOSTER JR.

Also seeking the GOP nomination from District 3, James C. Foster Jr. of Birmingham is a junior in Wayne University Law School and a graduate of the University of Michigan.

Foster, 27, is a charter member of the Young Republican Club of Oakland County and is active in the Wayne County GOP Club.

* * *

FARRELL E. ROBERTS

A former Oakland County assistant prosecutor, Farrell E. Roberts, 34, of West Bloomfield Township, also seeks the District 3 GOP nomination.

Roberts, a graduate of the U.S. Naval Academy at Annapolis and the University of Michigan Law School, is a World War II and Korean veteran. He was formerly an Industrial Mobilization Planner for the U.S. government.

Married with one son, Roberts is a member of Kiwanis and the Chamber of Commerce and the county, state and national bar associations.

District 4

SCOTT W. COLE

A University of Michigan research professor and former Hillsdale College professor, Scott W. Cole, 35, of Novi, also seeks the Republican nomination as State Representative from District 4.

A native of Michigan, Cole is a graduate of Hillsdale College, Michigan State Normal College and the University of Michigan. He served in the army in World War II and the Korean conflict, and was Intelligence Officer of the Military District of Michigan.

Unmarried, Cole is a member of the Michigan Academy of Science, Arts and Letters, the Novi Board of Commerce, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Veterans and the Northville Young Republican Club.

* * *

THEODORE F. HUGHES

Incumbent Theodore F. Hughes, 47, of Berkley, faces opposition from one other candidate in his bid for renomination as the Republican candidate for State Representative from District 4.

Formerly city attorney in Berkley, he has lived there since 1921. He is a graduate of Highland Park Junior College and Detroit College of Law.

A former Navy lieutenant, he is a member of Veterans of Foreign Wars, Masons, Oddfellows and the Berkley Exchange Club.

DONALD A. BROWN

A former Oakland County Assistant Prosecutor and World War II veteran, Donald A. Brown, 32, of Royal Oak, seeks the Republican nomination as State Representative from District 5.

* * *

Brown attended Michigan State University and is a graduate of Detroit College of Law.

Married, he was a candidate for the post in 1952.

VERNALD E. HORN

Now seeking his second term as State Representative from District 5, Vernald E. Horn, 55, of Royal Oak, faces opposition from one candidate.

* * *

Horn, who served as mayor of Royal Oak from 1950 to 1953, received his education in Royal Oak public schools. He was Royal Oak city commissioner in 1941-42 and in 1945-49, and was formerly director of civil defense there.

Married, Horn is a World War II veteran.

JOHN D. CANTRALL

John D. Cantrall of Madison Heights has not furnished biographical information to The Pontiac Press.

* * *

GORDON D. HAUPT

* * *

Educated in Pennsylvania, Haupt has lived in Ferndale since 1942. Formerly president of the Lincoln Civic Association of Ferndale and president of the Ferndale Republican Club, Haupt has been delegate to the Ferndale Board of Education from the city's Civic Committee; he is on the board of the First Baptist Church and has been a member of the American Federation of Labor since 1919.

* * *

WILLIAM R. ROTSTED

William R. Rotsted of Ferndale has not furnished biographical information to The Pontiac Press.

* * *

BRUCE P. WHEELER

Formerly owner of a Ferndale furniture store for 20 years, Wheeler has lived there for 27 years and was educated in Ferndale public schools.

A member of Elks, Eagles, and the Lincoln Improvement Association, he is married and has two children.

New Swedish Way to Get Slim

REDUCE WITHOUT BEING HUNGRY!

LARSON'S SWEDISH MILK DIET 3.00

WHAT IT IS:
Larson's S.M.D. is a special diet which was invented in Sweden, the country with the healthy way of living. If you are overweight because you eat too much and if you want to reduce easy, quick and safe, without being hungry, then you should get a package and see for yourself that you don't have to be so fat.

HEALTHY—NOT DANGEROUS:
Larson's Swedish Milk Diet takes off the excess fat in a natural way without using drugs, slimming ingredients or exercising. Invented in Sweden, Larson's S.M.D. is now being introduced here in America. Because it is so limited in supply it sells out fast so you should ask for it today.

IMPROVE YOUR HEALTH:
Larson's S.M.D., a granular preparation, combines with milk to form bulk to help keep your intestinal tract regular. Larson's S.M.D. supplies healthy bulk and encourages normal habit time. You will feel more fit in body and clearer of mind. And you also should be more energetic.

HOW TO USE:
Just a teaspoonful of S.M.D. granules with a glass of milk four times a day, only 3 days a week! Monday, Wednesday, Friday you diet the Swedish Milk Diet Way. Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday you eat your normal meals!

NO UNDERFEEDING:
The Larson's S.M.D. Swedish Milk Diet contains full daily requirements of minerals, necessary vitamins, calcium, protein, carbohydrates, iron, phosphorus, energy elements. And the Swedish Milk Diet gives you the necessary variation between diet days and days with normal meals when you eat like you do now. You only use Larson's S.M.D. 3 days a week: The other 4 days of the week, Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday and on Saturday you don't diet at all but eat just like you do now!

RESULTS ARE GUARANTEED:
If you follow the diet faithfully you should lose pounds and inches the first week, or you return the package and get a refund.

Both Political Parties Offer Fine Senators

When State Senator William S. Broomfield shifted his candidacy to the House of Representatiyes in Washington, it left his place in Lansing wide open.

Currently, the outstanding Democratic entrant is City Commissioner Philip E. Rowston who faces two men from the Southern part of the county. L. Harvey Lodge appears to be the quick choice on the Republican ticket and if these two men oppose each other in the Fall, the electorate can be assured of fine representation. Both are able and well qualified. They possess the experience, the integrity and the understanding to do an exceptionally creditable job.

Oakland County has been fortunate in its Senatorial representation in Lansing. George Higgins served several years with an excellent record of achievement and accomplishment and then Senator Broomfield carried on in the same fine tradition.

Oakland County Senators have been men of top standing and great influence in Michigan's legislative halls. If Messers Lodge and Rowston oppose each other in the fall election, the county can rest assured that the same type of public service will continue.

The State's business is becoming increasingly important. Michigan has been growing steadily over an extended period of years and apparently is destined to continue at approximately the same rate in the foreseeable future. This means the problems in Lansing are growing in number and complexity. It is highly important to send competent men of fine character to handle these assignments.

LODGE

Both the Republican and Democratic tickets in Oakland County are offering the voters men of the type the Commonwealth needs.

U.S. Interest in Suez

Recent events in Egypt undoubtedly have served to focus U.S. attention more sharply on the future of the Suez Canal.

One of these happenings was the departure of the last British troops from the canal zone, leaving the area wholly controlled by Egypt. Another was the unopposed election of Gamal Abdel Nasser to the presidency of that country.

Though this 104 mile waterway is thousands of miles from our shores, our interest in it is certain to increase because of our stepped up imports of Middle East oil. Time was when American ships made little use of the canal. Today, however, U.S. traffic is heading toward 20 per cent of the total annual volume of 100,000,000 tons.

★ ★ ★

At present oil shipments of all nations through Suez account for 67,000,000 tons, or over two-thirds of the total annual traffic. American firms estimate, however, that those shipments will soar to great new heights ranging from 150,000,000 to 200,000,000 tons in the next 10 or 12 years.

★ ★ ★

Naturally, the prospect is that American shipments will account for a large part of this increase. It also is a virtual certainty that our friends in Western Europe will become increasingly dependent on Middle East oil.

Our interest in the canal is heightened by the fact that in 1968 its management will pass from the Suez Canal Co. to Egypt. Successful in operating the waterway since 1856, the company now is planning to deepen it and make more of it two way.

No one, of course, knows what either the international situation or Egypt's attitude toward the canal will be by 1968. But it's a safe guess that long before then our own Government and our Allies will be making every effort to reach satisfactory arrangements with Egypt.

In Great Bend, Kansas, motorists who ignored "No Parking" signs in front of a church refrained from parking there when signs were changed to read, "Thou Shalt Not Park." They probably thought a new Commandment had been added to the original Ten.

The person who will risk his life to try to save a minute, is the possessor of a head, but little sense is in it.

The Man About Town

Save Scenic Spot

Plan to Preserve Hill; Provides Wonderful View

Dollar: What once bought three times as much—if you had it.

Surely worth preserving is a scenic spot now threatened by the march of progress. It is the high hill at the corner of Bald Mountain and Dutton Roads, about four miles northeast of Pontiac. If you are not aware of its importance, take a drive out there. Go out Perry Street and turn right into Bald Mountain Road just beyond the city limits, and follow that road just over a mile to the top of the hill.

Without leaving your car, from this vantage point at an elevation of over 1,100 feet above sea level you look down into Pontiac. Before you spreads out in all directions a vista covering over 300 square miles, mostly in our own county. However, on clear days you can pick out Detroit's tallest buildings, the Ambassador bridge and shipping on Lake St. Clair. Dozens of Oakland County lakes come into view. At night the spectacle of the illumination in the cities is wonderful.

Several local people, including
have urged this column to start a movement to save this spot for the future. We can say that today that movement gets under way. We may need your help. Watch this column for developments.

When on a tour of Europe last year,
Mr. and Mrs. Earl Maiden
of 1138 Premont St., bought three grandfather clocks in England, dating back to the seventeenth century. They were shipped to them, the last one arriving this week. They are up to seven feet tall, with chimes and all of the accessories of their period.

From headquarters at Lansing comes a report that one
Zachary Veldhuis,
aged 86, of Hamilton, is the oldest man to take out a fishing license in Michigan this year. We don't believe he's entitled to that distinction. Nominations are in order for any reader of this column who can beat him.

At Least He's Never Crossed The Street

David Lawrence Says:

State Socialism Splits Congress

WASHINGTON—This is not a "do nothing" Congress. Nor was it a Congress that did a little about everything.

The real story centers on the four-way split in the political parties of today. It reflects a big tug-of-war between state socialism and the private-enterprise system.

The pressure in the present Congress toward government ownership, government control, government subsidy and big-government domination of everything has been revealed as unremitting. Congress will be in adjournment only about five months, and the warfare will then be resumed.

Meanwhile, all the defeats and all the victories are temporary. The advocates of public power who really want to wipe out private utilities in America by extending the TVA scheme to other regions of the country were halted but not beaten. They were balked in their effort to see atomic power for plant use put completely into government hands. They lost out on a public-power project known as Hell's Canyon on the Snake River in Idaho, but they found administration support for construction of public dams on the upper Colorado River.

SOCIALISTIC TREND

The administration's position is that government should do what private capital cannot and will not undertake. A Republican bloc considers this an opening wedge for socialism. Another bloc—mostly Democrats—is anxious to push government ownership on every side. They will not be happy till all food stores, all department stores, all retail stores, all steel plants, all factories are owned by the government. A minority bloc of Democrats is opposed.

There are other major issues, of course, on which the division in the parties in Congress is not just between non-radical and radical but, for example, between those who differed on foreign aid. In the vote on the $4,100,000,000 appropriation bill in the Senate this week, 30 Democrats voted for it and 15 against it, while 30 Republicans voted for it and 15 against it. If it hadn't been for President Eisenhower's pressure on the Republicans who held the line for him, the measure would surely have been cut further. This was an acid test.

So it isn't accurate to blame these divisions on an alleged lack of "leadership" by the President. These are the familiar criticisms leveled at him in the propaganda of the Democratic national committee and its allies. The truth is a bloc in the Democratic party has held the balance of power on many measures. Likewise, a bloc in the Democratic party has kept up a drumfire of criticism at Sec. Dulles as well as at the President. This partisan sabotage has been unduly publicized abroad and has encouraged there a defiance of some of the American government's policies.

DEMS BREAK PLEDGE

A careful examination of the steady stream of speeches shows that the Democrats as a party have not made good on their pledge to the people to cooperate with the President on foreign policy, though a few like Sen. George, chairman of the foreign relations committee, did go along with the executive. In the House Appropriations Committee, the Democrats recently lined up solidly against acceptance of the Eisenhower administration's foreign aid proposals. The Republicans in the committee stood solidly by the President. Yet, in the months to come, much will be heard on the stump to the effect that a Democratic Congress has cooperated with the executive on foreign policy and that the Republicans have not.

So, looking back on the record of the Congress, the only satisfaction that can be derived is that it wasn't worse and that the non-radical forces did hold the radicals at bay on some important measures. The school construction bill failure has to be charged to the radical bloc of the Democratic Party and the Southern bloc who didn't want federal control of education. The agricultural program was adopted because the "soil bank" idea of the administration—a socialistic experiment—was too "popular" to be blocked by the Democrats. The Democrats succeeded, however, in pushing through the unsound expansion of the Social Security system over the protest of the administration. The "socialistic" features of the Public Housing Bill were successfully fought by a bloc of Democrats allied with a bloc of Republicans.

There can be no dispute about the remarkable type of leadership in Congress today—Speaker Sam Rayburn and Rep. Joe Martin in the House, and William Knowland and Lyndon Johnson in the Senate. Sen. Knowland, the Republican leader, is one of the outstanding personalities of this era in public life. He handled with finesse and good judgment the many complicated tasks entrusted to him by the White House. Sen. Johnson was masterful in handling his side.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Physician in Disagreement on Tonsillectomy Surgery

An eastern doctor writes:
Dear Dr. Brady:

My wife is one of your most avid readers, and "Dr. Brady says" is common in our household conversation.

However, your views and mine in regard to the crime of tonsillectomy are divergent. My wife's sister had recurrent attacks of tonsillitis in '38, '40, '42, and finally in '46. Then came the swollen knee joint. The . . . Ave superman diagnosed the case as strained internal ligament of the knee joint, but when all the major and some of the minor joints swelled up, my diagnosis was acute rheumatic fever.

Penicillin took care of the tonsillitis and heavy dosage of salicylates relieved the joint pains, but, as I feared, she had heart damage.

Three months in bed, and she has had paroxysmal tachycardia (spells of extremely rapid heart action) since.

I have seen similar cases in practice, and I feel that you are wrong in tabbing all tonsillectomies as atrocities.

Wtih kind regards, I am
— —, M. D.

First, I thank you for your courtesy, Doctor. It is a feature not always found in letters physicians write to or about me.

I take it you mean to say a patient recovers from tonsillitis quickly or more rapidly if given penicillin than without it—it takes a week, more or less, to get over tonsillitis without penicillin.

Except possibly in a rare case of malignancy, tuberculosis, actinomycosis, or lues with the lesion as yet apparently limited to the tonsil, the total clean tonsillectomy you describe would be atrocious, in my opinion. Why such radical surgery, Doctor? Is tonsil tissue in any way harmful?

Instantaneous removal of the obstructing portion of enlarged tonsils (with the snicker-snee tonsillotome) — an operation as quick, as safe and as painful as extraction of a tooth—is desirable if the youngster's breathing is obviously obstructed, his hearing impaired, his voice thick and muffled, or his swallowing difficult. But before this is done, the child should get a break—a summer in the open. Often this summer vacation alone will bring about shrinkage of the enlarged tonsils and correction of the troubles mentioned.

The ideal treatment for an adult with such a history as your wife's sister had, Doctor, I sincerely believe, would be electrocoagulation of the tonsils, with a view to disinfecting, sterlizing, pasteruizing, or draining the septic focus in the tonsil. This would be the method of choice, in my judgment, regardless of the condition of the heart or particularly if the heart condition made the patient a bad risk for a major operation.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

LeRoy Dean Stresses Primary's Importance

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Primary elections should be designated as voter's "King" day, for it is the voter who decides who shall and who shall not run for office. Important as it is, it is usually poorly attended.

Highland Township can take advantage of Primary Election Day to vote on "a zoning ordinance or clause" for Highland. It is to be hoped that all the 1,759 voters in the township will find it convenient to go to the polls and register a 100 per cent vote.

If we vote this zoning ordinance in, we at the same time, vote our free enterprise system out.

'Resident' Poses Hospital Queries

I've been reading the articles in the Press regarding General Hospital, and there are a few questions I want to ask. Why does General charge ten dollars a day more per patient than does St. Joseph or any other city run hospital?

Also, why did they just talk to hospital heads and not to all personnel? I wonder how much this investigation cost to find out nothing? Will Miss Paul carry out the investigators' suggestions in a year's time?

I wonder.

Tales of Allied Troop Cuts in Europe Worry Adenauer

By JOHN H. MARTIN

British Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden's speech on the recession of global war danger may be accurate but is unlikely to reassure West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

★ ★ ★

The elderly Adenauer is very worried at the possibility that both Britain and the United States may reduce their armies stationed in Europe.

He said last week that a cut in the number of conventional forces is bound to place a growing emphasis on atomic weapons and bring even nearer the frightful specter of an atomic war.

Eden, in his foreign affairs speech to the House of Commons, said the danger of a world conflict has receded because both Soviet and Western leaders realize the enormous destructive power of the hydrogen bomb.

RETHINKING NEEDED

This realization, he said, calls for some military rethinking on both sides of the Iron Curtain.

He did not say Britain will keep its present level of armed forces in Germany. He merely said there will be no reduction without consultation with British allies, including Germany.

In putting the stress on possible peace in the immediate years ahead, Eden feeds further antimilitary sentiment among Adenauer's domestic foes, the Social Democrats. They don't see the value of building a Germany Army.

Adenauer, after years of painful effort, has obtained final parliamentary approval of a conscription bill.

The chancellor believes that more is implied by recruiting 12 divisions than the mere fact that the federal republic will have an army of 500,000 men. He sees it symbolically as the German contribution to the Western alliance and the stiffening of his own diplomatic hand in pressing the Soviets out of their refusal to consider German reunification on any but their own terms.

The promise of a West German Army was the price of West German sovereignty and of alliance.

FEELS THREAT

Now he feels threatened in merely doggedly pursuing the commitments he made to the Western allies. He sees the threat of his NATO allies wavering when it comes to making NATO a strong military deterrent to any Soviet aggression.

Eden and other Western leaders can talk of "keeping our guard up" in assessing Soviet policy. But in Adenauer's opnion this does not mean much if Western forces are reduced in the cockpit of Europe, which is Germany.

Adenauer bluntly has said Russian aims remain exactly the same as in Stalin's time despite the Moscow policy of debunking Stalin and talking of "peaceful coexistence."

★ ★ ★

Soviet Communist Party Newspaper Pravda indirectly agrees with Adenauer in saying that "peaceful coexistence" moves are so forceful that NATO eventually will disintegrate and be dissolved by the West.

Portraits

By JAMES J. METCALFE

There are a thousand reasons why . . . I truly love you, dear . . . But most important is the fact . . . That you are so sincere . . . In every word and sentence that . . . Your loving lips impart . . . I seem to feel your pulse, and hear . . . The beating of your heart . . . Each time I have the happiness . . . To gaze into your eyes . . . I sense how well you understand . . . And really sympathize . . . And when I hold you in my arms . . . And kiss your lips so sweet . . . My knowledge of your honesty . . . Is perfect and complete . . . All other reasons for my love . . . Are justified and clear . . . As it is always obvious . . . That you are so sincere.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Housewives Are Best Educators

Susan is typical of the best educators in our land, namely, housewives. They tutor children 15 hours daily, and stimulate their husbands. They are the backbone of church organizations and the Red Cross. They are the chief custodians of music and morality. We ought to institute a "Good Wife's Day" as a parallel to Mother's Day.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case S-323: Susan E. Wertman follows this column at Long Beach, California.

"Dr. Crane, I had always thought I was very liberal with compliments," she began, "until I enrolled in your Compliment Club experiment.

"Then I realized it was more difficult than I had imagined to pay three compliments per day for 30 consecutive days.

"In fact, I had to make three tries before I finally succeeded. Once I had gone for 27 days, but then I missed a day and had to start all over again.

"And I also enjoy the League of the Golden Pen wherein we are to write a note each week to cheer up somebody else.

"After a sick spell last year, I decided to send cards to other folks who were ill. It soon became my hobby.

"As assistant superintendent of our Sunday school it is now my official job to do the same for absent members.

"This morning I also put two of your booklets in my husband's lunch pail. And I sent my pastor one of your clippings, though he tells me he reads them regularly and likes them.

"As a homemaker I try to do my bit in spreading helping psychological advice. It has become a very fascinating hobby."

LAYMEN AS EDUCATORS

Even our overcrowded public schools are now trying the new plan of letting mothers volunteer to help in the classroom.

And laymen do most of the teaching, anyway, of the next generation, for you mothers and fathers are in the closest contact with youngsters for at least their first 18 years of life.

You see them informally, and at all hours, in sickness as well as health.

"Will the class please come to order!" may state the official school marm, but you parents are teaching your children day and night without such formalized ritual.

Please recall, too, that Jesus was a layman who worked as a carpenter.

St. Paul also worked steadily all day long as a tentmaker and then preached as a hobby at night and on week-ends.

Futrhermore, all 12 Apostles were laymen, yet their efforts have changed the world. They have indirectly produced most of our colleges and hospitals, YMCA, CYO, Red Cross, Salvatioin Army and other moral agencies.

HOME PSYCHOLOGISTS

When I shifted from the faculty of Northwestern University to join the "faculty" of the daily newspapers, it was largely because I wanted to deal with alert laymen like Susan Wertman.

For I realized that only a small percentage of people ever attend the university. But we all come up via homes, good or bad.

And the American newspaper is the family textbook for the average home. So if I could teach practical psychology via the newspaper, I decided I'd be rendering a much greater educational service in America.

Into this clinical column I thus pour specific and practical advice on sex education of children, marriage problems, child rearing, personality development and even methods for perking up church attendance.

If you wives wish to multiply your helpfulness to your fellow Americans, imitate Susan Wertman.

She is a stimulating personality who typifies an ideal type of wife. We need a "Good Wife's Day" in our calendar to honor such noble women.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

New York City Is a Lonely Place at Night

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — In New York City, perhaps more than in any other realm including the vast, sad prairee, there is loneliness in the night.

It is a chronic disease of thousands who find that the noise of the day makes the silence of the night unbearably loud.

The privacy New Yorkers sought when they came here from their childhood homes steals up to slap them in the face at sundown. The very physical nearness of eight million neighbors makes their spiritual remoteness more sharp.

"And they don't know what they want or what they need, most of them, beyond a friendly voice to fill up the silence."

Of the many "friendly" voices the local radio stations provide on all-night shows to keep the lonely ones from living in a vacuum, Jerry Warren is probably the most understanding. He is a young man who works in a small office—"with four walls and a perforated tin can they call a microphone"—between the hours of 11 p.m. and 6 a.m., the longest one-man stint on radio these nights.

"I'm a bachelor," he says, "and the only person I see on the job is an engineer. My hobby is writing, and that's even more solitary than my job. No engineer.

"Yeah, loneliness I can understand."

So for 49 hours each week Jerry plays music and talks "about nothing in particular" and takes phone calls from listeners and analyzes what kind of people suffer from insomnia and despair.

MOTHS IN THE MINK

"Most of the ones who call me are women. That figures. Women have to talk—and I don't mean that in any sarcastic way. Women were just born to tell everything that happens to them, whether it's to a friend or a stranger.

"They call up and tell me first that they're grateful because somebody is talking to them, and then they say what's happened to them. They tell how they found moths in ther fur stole, or the plot of what they've been reading.

"Then they apologize for taking up my time, and say something like 'but you are the only one I can talk to at this hour'."

EAT LICORICE

Warren almost always hears his women's stories through because he's got a vision about lonely women . . .

"I have a theory that most of them sit and read the early editions of the morning papers and eat licorice, because it takes them back to their childhood."

Approximately 1,000 calls come through each night—most of them in the pre-dawn hours, when sleep-fighting minds have reached the peak need for companionship. From the gist of them, Jerry Warren analyzies why New York is the loneliest city on earth.

* * *

"This is the place to live if you have something to accomplish, a name to make, a drive to direct. It is no place for the aimless. They will find that the rest of their world is too busy to talk to them."

Refusal to Salute to Bring Discharge

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP)—Immediate dismissal from the Air Force is on tap for two young WAF's who stopped saluting after picking up a new religion.

The Air Force ordered administrative discharges for A.2.C Nora P. Clark, 21, Lemoore, Calif., and A.3.C. Mary L. Perez, 23, of Loreauville, La.

The women have been confined to quarters since Monday when they announced they would no longer salute the American flag or officers because of religious beliefs.

Miss Perez said both were baptized a week ago as Jehovah's Witnesses — a sect that disapproves of saluting.

Both said they were Baptists then they enlisted—Miss Clark 21 months ago and Miss Perez nine months ago.

Army Winning Fight Against Rowdy GIs

STUTTGART, Germany (AP)—Officials say U.S.-German efforts to reduce friction between American servicemen and German citizens apparently are making headway.

A series of assaults, robberies and other incidents of violence blamed on U.S. troops brought sharp criticism in the German press and complaints from German government officials in recent weeks. U.S. military authorities took stern measures to curb GI misbehavior.

U.S. Army headquarters in Heidelberg reported that yesterday marked the first time in nine week that no queries about incidents had been lodged by Germans or American newspapers.

6 Acres Razed in State

LANSING (AP)—The Conservation Department said two fires burned six acres of forests and grass lands during the past week, bringing the state's toll for the year to 2,259 acres burned over in 410 fires.

Troops Need New Arms, Korean Truce Bars Them

SEOUL (AP)—President Syngman Rhee says U.N. troops in Korea need new and modern weapons.

* * *

Such weapons are banned to both sides by terms of the three-year-old Korean armistice, but the U.N. Command has accused the Communists of bringing hundreds of jet warplanes and other new weapons into North Korea.

"I might say that the Republic of Korea is not the only country concerned with favors correcting the imbalance resulting from violations of the armistice," Rhee said during an hour-long visit at his hilltop mansion, which is still draped with camouflage nets put up in the war.

He did not indicate whether he feels U.N. troops should have atomic weapons. South Korean military spokesmen have charged that the Red armies have atomic cannon and possibly other nuclear weapons.

* * *

Rhee apparently referred to modern tanks and other ground weapons plus aircraft far more deadly than those in service here. Many weapons used by the U.N. forces here are so obsolete American troop replacements must be retrained with equipment no longer available in the United States.

There has been speculation that the U.N. Command would demand revision of the armistice to permit modernization of U.N. Command firepower.

"It is true that friendly countries which have modern weapons are discussing reducing their armed forces," Rhee said, "but some of them are also discussing admitting Red China, an aggressor, into the United Nations. And peaceful coexistence is submission.

* * *

"We must be sure no realignment of military strength is interpreted as a belief the danger to the free world has lessened."

Rescue Story: From Luxury to Chilly Sea

NEW YORK (AP)—There were 760 of them. Most were half clad. Some were still dazed and many were numb.

* * *

Passport requirements were waived for their arrival and public health inspection was suspended. There was no need for customs; they had no baggage.

Throngs cheered or wept as they arrived last night aboard the French liner Ile de France. They had left Europe amidst comfort and splendor of the luxury liner Andrea Doria. They arrived haggard and worn out, survivors of the collision that sent the Andrea Doria to the bottom of the Atlantic and damaged the Swedish ship Stockholm.

Their stories were different. Some told of nerves of steel, of heroism, of sacrifice. Others recalled screams and chaos.

There were stories of death too.

Dr. T. S. Peterson of Upper Montclair, N.J., told how his wife was crushed to death in the collision and he was unable to free her.

In the next cabin, he said, he discovered the bodies of Camille M. Cianfarra, Madrid correspondent of the New York Times, and his daughter and stepdaughter.

As for Peterson's wife — "She went down with the ship," Peterson said.

* * *

There were also stories of mothers and their children in the face of disaster.

"I was sure that I was going to die, that everything was all over," recalled Mrs. Rose Adragna of Pittsburgh, Pa.

"I rushed five decks below to grab my daughter (Olivia, 2) from her bed, and then it took me a quarter of an hour to get to the main deck because of the list.

"I kept thinking of my husband and my boy at home. The baby kept crying for her milk bottle that I had left behind. I remember thinking that I couldn't possibly go back for the bottle."

* * *

Actress Ruth Roman met newsmen aboard the French liner clad in an improvised costume of a white polo shirt and men's trousers—gifts of Ile de France passengers.

"It was just like an explosion," she said. "Nobody fell but it sounded like a very big firecracker.

"I threw off my shoes because of the high heels and ran two decks below to the cabin to my son Dickie, who is only 3½. He and his nurse were barely awake.

"I pulled out three life preservers and dragged both of them to the upper deck and told them to stay near the grand staircase.

"Dickie was not crying. He thought it was terribly exciting. I kept telling him it was a picnic. I found a balloon and a rug and told him to blow it up."

"Dickie was on my lap and I handed him to a sailor who strapped him to himself. They got into the boat, but it left before I could get aboard." She and her son were later reunited.

Two-year-old Maria Dooner survived the crash because her mother is a good swimmer. Mrs. George Dooner, 24, of Arlington, N.J., plunged into the water after the child fell overboard. For a few minutes they were alone in the sea. Then a lifeboat pulled alongside and took them aboard.

Many parents and children were separated in the mad scramble for lifeboats.

* * *

Tulio de Sandro tossed his 4-year-old daughter into the arms of a stranger in a lifeboat. He and his wife later were picked up by another boat and brought into New York by the Ile de France. The girl was located later at a Boston hospital.

Mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and his wife were among the survivors aboard the Ile de France.

Dilworth spoke calmly of the crash:

"We turned in about 10 o'clock. We were suddenly wakened and knocked to our feet. Anne (his wife) said, 'We must have hit an iceberg — it's like the Titanic story.' There was an immediate bad list and when I opened the door to the hall, there was heavy smoke.

"We put on our lifejackets, crawled to the boat deck. There, six boats were being lowered. They couldn't get any more into the water. We went down a rope ladder as near as we could to the boats and hung on until the women and children were taken off the ship.

* * *

"About 4 a.m., we got into one of the last boats and at 5:30 we were aboard the Ile de France.

"There was no panic and very little screaming."

But passengers from lower decks recalled screaming, fight and terror as the big ship started to go down.

Mother Drops at Bedside of Lost Girl From Liner

BOSTON (AP) — A dazed Italian mother who was rescued from the liner Andrea Doria identified a seriously injured victim of the marine tragedy as her 4-year-old daughter today—and then collapsed.

* * *

Mrs. Filomena di Sandro, 29, mumbled in her native tongue what sounded like "That's my baby" and then fainted in the arms of her husband Tullio, 35, after he restrained her from taking the child in her arms.

The little girl, Norma, had lain unidentified since she was taken by helicopter from the scene of the disaster.

She did not see her parents on their arrival after a fast automobile trip from New York. The child has been unconscious since she suffered a fractured skull during her rescue after the Andrea Doria collided with the Swedish vessel Stockholm Wednesday night.

* * *

"The child was asleep and my wife and I were about to retire for the night when the crash happened," the father said.

"We heard the cry to abandon ship while the three of us were rushing to the deck.

"Quickly I looked over the rail and saw a lifeboat in the water 15 feet below. I shouted to one of the men and threw Norma into the boat. I saw her land inside."

* * *

Di Sando continued: "Then I helped my wife jump into the water and followed her myself. It was not until I was picked up and taken aboard the Ile de France that I saw my wife again. We searched everywhere for the child, but could not find her."

Meanwhile, the child had been taken aboard the Stockholm, transferred by helicopter to Nantucket and then to the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in Boston.

She was unconscious and could not be identified. A doctor aboard the Stockholm had pinned a note on the child's night clothing that she was an Italian child and was to be treated for a head injury.

* * *

On the child's wrist was a bracelet with a ram's horn charm.

It was that bracelet that led the Di Sandros to their child.

A remark by a woman on a New York dock that "There's a 4-year-old girl in the hospital in Boston gave them their first clue their child was still alive.

The identification was just about complete when they learned the child was wearing the distinctive bracelet.

The child's condition is listed by the hospital as serious. Doctors have operated on her head to relieve the pressure caused by the fracture.

Throughout last night and into the early morning the hospital switchboard was jammed with calls from persons offering their blood if it could save the baby's life.

Others offered their homes and loving care if the parents were not to be found.

"Everything humanly possible will be done to save her life," a hospital employe said.

Travel Tax Lifted

DTROIT (AP) — Michigan travelers will save about a million dollars a year in travel costs under a new law halting the 10 per cent federal tax on trips to the Caribbean, Central America, Alaska, Hawaii, and parts of Mexico and Canada, the Automobile Club of Michigan said Thursday.

Angry Survivors Say Italian Crew Deserted Them

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of survivors of the Andrea Doria have accused the ship's personnel of "complete negligence" at the time the Italian liner collided with the Swedish motorship Stockholm.

Many other passengers had different versions and words of praise for the crew.

* * *

The accusation was made in a typewritten statement last night addressed to news media. It was signed by 90 persons brought here aboard the freighter Cape Ann, and was given to a newsman by Arthur Fisher of New York City, who is in the textile business.

* * *

The statement said, "There existed a state of complete negligence on the part of the crew and officers toward its obligations and responsibilities to the safety of the passengers of the ship."

Still Fighting Over Civil War

Ring Made of Shin Bone Has State Officials Kicking

LANSING (AP)—A man's ring fashioned from the shin bone of a Confederate soldier was on view in the basement of the state Capitol yesterday while officials and legislators blamed each other for the display.

* * *

The shin bone is part of a collection of Civil War relics viewed by thousands of school children and other visitors every year.

Dr. Lewis Beeson, executive secretary of State Historical Commission, said he is aware of the shin bone but that he can't do anything about it.

"In fact, I close my eyes every time I walk through there. I can't stand to look at the stuff," Beeson said.

FROM OLD COLLECTION

Beeson offered this explanation: The shin bone is part of a collection of relics contained in the state's old war museum, set up shortly after the Civil War when feelings were running high and cruesome objects of war were commonplace in museums.

The historical commission inherited the collection and intended to weed it out.

In 1952, the state comptroller ordered the whole collection replaced with a graphic display of state government organization.

* * *

The commission removed the display. Veterans organizations squawked. Fred M. Alger, Republican candidate for governor, accused Gov. Williams of having no interest in the state's rich historical heritage. The Legislature passed a resolution requesting the State Administrative Board to return the exhibit.

The resolution said in part:

"The historical memorials and mementoes which formerly graced the rotunda of the state Capitol should be replaced in order that present and future generations may have the opportunity of reflecting on the beauties and the significance of the historical background of the state of Michigan."

"Our hands are tied by the resolution. We can't do anything," Beeson said. "We are perfectly aware that some of the material is not suitable."

DENIES RESTRICTIONS

Sen. Harry F. Hittle (R-Lansing), who sponsored the resolution, said he was not aware of the shinbone, but that it obviously has "no historical significance."

"We didn't say the commission couldn't make substitutions," he said. "I have no objection to removing the object."

Beeson said the commission will ask for a $1,000 appropriation to buy display cases with locks.

* * *

"Then we could put in some relics of value," he said.

"We would like to have a display including relics from the wars in which all Michigan men and women fought."

Beeson said the Commission has received many complaints about the display. Many of the objects in the exhibit are mislabeled, he said.

The shin bone rests beside a neatly labeled card which says:

Rider Dies of Injuries

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Kent County's traffic fatalities rose to 49 Wednesday with the death of George H. Harden at St. Mary's Hospital. Harden, 72, a passenger with motorist Jack Hoogerhyde, 62, was injured Tuesday in a collision with an auto driven by Robert Jecmen, 25. Hoogerhyde and Jecmen suffered only minor injuries.

Siamese Twins Home to Lead Separate Lives

SAN DIEGO (AP) — San Diego's former Siamese twins are back home after surgery that separated them.

Doctors say if no complications develop within two weeks, little Gary and Lary Hutchens will grow up as normal boys.

Announce Fund Goal

LANSING (AP)—Directors of the Lansing and Ingham County United Community Chest have announced a goal of $991,160 for their campaign this fall. The goal is slightly more than four per cent above the $495,187 raised in the area last year.

Democrats Will Change Convention Method of Picking Vice President

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON (INS)—Top Democratic strategists have decided to dramatize the issue of the President's health by revolutionizing their own national convention procedure this year.

* * *

The precedent - shattering maneuver is designed to emphasize the importance of the vice presidential choice and contrast sharply with the so-called "cut - and-dried" choice of vice president Richard M. Nixon on the Republican ballot.

Heretofore, at both party's conventions the presidential nominee has made his acceptance speech almost immediately after the final balloting for the No. 1 spot.

* * *

Delegates then began streaming out of town, and the selection of the vice presidential nominee the following day was invariably an anti-climax.

CHANGE IN METHOD

The new Democratic plan conceived by National Chairman Paul Butler will radically alter this time-honored procedure. At this year's convention opening Aug. 13 in Chicago, the presidential choice will withhold his acceptance speech until after the vice president has been selected and has delivered his own acceptance.

* * *

The highlight of the Democratic oratory—a full-fledged speech by former President Harry S. Truman—will be sandwiched between the selection of the presidential nominee and the balloting for the No. 2 candidate.

This also will tend to highlight the importance of the vice presidential spot, inasmuch as Truman succeeded to the presidency on the death of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

* * *

If all goes as planned, the opening day of the Democratic convention will feature addresses by the temporary chairman and the keynoter, Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee.

* * *

The permanent chairman and other prominent Democrats will monopolize the second day, with nominations and balloting for the No. 1 spot beginning Wednesday.

HARRY TO TELL 'EM

Democrats hope to settle on their presidential nominee no later than Thursday noon. If so, the convention will adjourn until Thursday evening, when Truman will deliver a Give-'Em-Hell speech on the importance of selecting an able vice president capable of carrying on the presidential duties.

* * *

Immediately afterwards, delegates will begin nominating and balloting for the vice president. This, despite stage-props to the contrary, is expected to be as "cut-and-dried" as in former years, since the party standard-bearer invariably designates his own running mate.

* * *

Democrats plan, as soon as the running mate is elected, to recess again until Friday night, when they can capitalize on the best air time to broadcast the acceptance speeches of the vice presidential and presidential nominees.

A PARTY CONTRAST

Behind the well-plotted strategy is the old axiom that a vice president seldom adds strength to a ticket, but can detract from it.

* * *

A top Democratic policy maker told this correspondent that the Butler plan will "seem to indicate to the television and radio audiences that we are giving much more thoughtful deliberation to our selection of a vice president than the Republicans will be doing the following week in San Francisco."

Pointing out that four years ago, Adlai Stevenson delivered his acceptance speech at 2 a.m. to a very limited television audience, he added:

"Air time is simply too valuable to waste in that manner. The following day, the selection of a vice president was so anti-climactic that the halls were half empty when Sen. John Sparkman of Alabama made his acceptance."

He said the Democrats this year will close their convention on the top climax of the week—the acceptance speech by the No. 1 standard bearer of the party.

16 Words — From 'Road' to 'Escort'

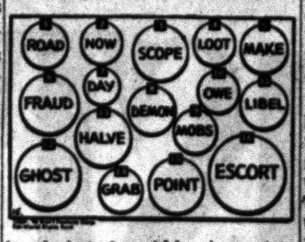

Press Unlocks Solution to Gold Puzzle No. 8

1. ROAD is correct; a border road between two adjacent hostile countries calls for the services of armed militia. Militia are citizen soldiers recruited for emergency use. In this instance, they might well be used for guard duty, to send the alarm should they detect signs of approaching hostilities from their war-like neighbor. Fully trained soldiers, rather than militia, would be dispatched, if possible, to deal with a border raid.

2. NOW is suggested by the clue "a man of modest means." After gambling in the Casino, he would count his money to see how much he had won or lost.

3. More SCOPE for his work is usually the dream of a research scientist, who is a dedicated man constantly hoping to expand his field of knowledge, for which additional money is needed. He does not always feel the need for additional space, or room, in which to work.

4. A burglar's LOOT on a suspect's person would go far toward convicting him of a robbery. A burglar's tool would be circumstantial evidence only; it would be necessary also to prove that he had used it in a specific case.

5. MAKE is a common commercial term for brand, and manufacturers go to great lengths to establish the brands in the public mind. The name of the product may be a general one—a tire, for instance. The producers hope the public will ask for their make of tire. Fame is less specific in this connection than make.

6. A FRAUD—pretender or deceiver — often is accepted as a genuine freak in a circus sideshow. By some clever artifice, he or she manages to distort his limbs or what-not and fool the public. A dwarf if not so unusual that people would pay money to see him.

7. A bright DAY shows up all an older woman's age-lines, just as anything is more highly visible in a bright light. A bright dye might or might not happen to be becoming to the woman's skin.

8. DEMON is better; a child who is regarded as a demon in his behavior would be vicious and cruel, making other children fear him, while a model of behavior might sometimes cause resentment in his playmates, it could be equally possible that a sweet and winning manner accompanied his model behavior.

9. MOBS may make it impossible for a deposed dictator to find safety. In the situation given, angry mobs would surround his palace or hide-out and seize him if he attempted to pass. Mobs are more universally part of a revolution than a bomb.

10. OWE is better than own, in the sense of being really carefree. Ownership may entail many duties and harassments, but owning nothing would not ensure a carefree existence. Those who owe nothing, are free from debt, can obviously be called "really carefree."

11. To LIBEL a man's good faith, or intentions, would certainly be unkind. Libel holds a man up to contempt, and is a malicious action. To belie is to contradict, or show to be false. To belie a man's good faith might be done in the interests of truth, with no malice involved.

12. GHOST is indicated by the clue, "historic old English castle," many of which have ghosts which the English take quite seriously. To an American, this seems fantastic, and he would certainly be fascinated by stories of the castle's ghost. In an historic castle, there would have been many hosts, or their stories would be less mysterious and thrilling.

13. Two robbers' attempt to HALVE the proceeds is the more obvious reason for their quarrel, each one feeling he was not getting an equal share. An attempt to value the loot would be incidental to their splitting it.

14. A tendency to GRAB should be discouraged in a child, because this is the beginning of a selfish, grasping attitude, which is a very unlovable trait in adults. A child's tendency to brag shows that he is unsure of himself and is starved for a little praise. An understanding parent can divert this tendency to a controlled pride of achievement.

15. The POINT of a speech should always be kept in mind, in political campaigning. It is not enough to discourse on a topic — owners, including famous ones, but talk about something specific. A good speech needs focus; it needs to build up to a climax, to make a point.

16. A fashionable ESCORT would be a fine first step for a young beauty who hoped to become a glamour-girl. Being seen with him in fashionable places would attract the attention she would want. At a fashionable resort, it is not always easy for a stranger to meet people.

New Orleans Trade Mart to Embark on Another Massive Expansion Program

NEW ORLEANS (INS) — The pioneering New Orleans International Trade Mart is about to embark on a huge expansion program, proving the success of a bargaining counter stocked with everything from harpoons to corn maize cookies.

The mart had its start in 1943 when a small group of New Orleans businessmen began preparing for the day when worldwide war production would be converted to highly competitive peacetime industry.

Today, the seeds sown by these men has reaped a bountiful harvest of international good-will and contributed to the economic well-being of both this and many foreign lands.

The venture, the first of its kind ever undertaken anywhere in the world, has proved to be a success despite the difficulty in getting it started. This is attested by the announced expansion program.

PAVES THE WAY

The present facilities, a modern concrete and glass five-story building in the heart of downtown New Orleans, has outgrown its usefulness as a "pilot plant" and negotiations are underway for a new site to house an even larger mart.

Also, the mart's success has paved the way for the establishment of a similar center in San Francisco, which was recently completed. Mobile, Miami and several other port cities are considering setting up similar foreign trade centers.

Clay Shaw, the mart's managing director since it opened in 1948, says the facility is directly responsible for lifting the port of New Orleans from sixth place to second in the nation in the dollar volume of foreign trade. Only New York ranks ahead of the Louisiana city in the export-import business.

The mart got its start when 40 businessmen, headed by Rudolph Hecht, Theodore Brent and William Zetzmann, got together to find a way to prevent the city from falling into a post-war slump.

They hoped to keep the port prosperous by opening up the great foreign trade potential of the Mississipi valley with the goods flowing through New Orleans.

The best way to do this, they felt, was to set up a center where American importers and foreign exporters could meet and conduct their business speedily and efficiently. The center would also provide space for exporters to display their wares for the buyers' consideration.

So the group bought an old, dilapidated warehouse, and with $1,500,000 raised entirely by private subscription, converted it into a sparkling modern market place.

"We ran into a great deal of opposition from both foreign and domestic businessmen," Shaw recalled. "They considered New York as the only port of entry for goods coming from Europe and Latin America."

PARIS (AP)—Premier Guy Mollet asked the National Assembly today for a vote of confidence on a plan to help pay for France's campaign against rebels in Algeria by floating a loan and boosting taxes.

* * *

The vote is slated to come tomorrow. If Mollet wins, as expected, it will be his 24th vote of confidence during his six-month stay in office.

Mollet's appeal came in the early morning hours after a long night of political haggling and compromise.

What the government is trying to do is collect 150 billion francs (about 429 million dollars).

If it can raise it by the loan, new taxes will not be necessary. It is believed, however, response to the loan will not be great enough.

* * *

Early in the session, Finance Minister Paul Ramadier told the Assembly he would need an extra 300 billion francs (about 857 million dollars) this year to keep the fighting going in Algeria.

Where's Body of Eva Peron?

Four Years After Death Remains Have Been Taken to Unknown Place

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) — Eva Peron, whose oratory helped entrench her husband as Argentine dictator, died just four years ago. The whereabouts of her body has become this nation's No. one mystery.

When the idol of the "shirtless ones" — workers — died of cancer July 26, 1952, her remains, preserved by a $100,000 embalming process, were placed in the building of the General Confederation of Labor (CGT).

But after Peron was overthrown last September, the groundwork for the monument was destroyed and Eva's body was taken secretly from the CGT building.

Today only a few persons in the government that replaced Peron when he was overthrown, know where the body is. They refuse to disclose the spot.

Peron followers have accused the revolutionary government of cremating the body and hurling the ashes into the muddy Rio de la Plate off Buenos Aires.

A government source says she has received a "Christian burial" but refuses to say where, fearing that Peron supporters might pay homage to the grave.

Yesterday was the first July 26 since Eva's death that has not been proclaimed a national day of mourning in Argentina.

In Panama, where Peron took refuge after his ouster, the newspapers printed notices of a mass for Eva. Peron, who went to Nicaragua when the Pan American presidents' meeting was held in Panama last week, has not returned yet to his exile home.

Jehovah's Witnesses Open Lansing Meeting

LANSING (AP) — More than 5,000 Jehovah's Witnesses from 21 states opened a four-day district assembly meeting Thursday afternoon at Lansing's civic center.

Convention managers said attendance is expected to hit a peak of 10,000 before the closing day of the assembly on Sunday.

Walter Wissman, of St. Louis, Mo., gave the keynote speech of the opening session. His topic was "Be Filled With Accurate Knowledge."

The Thursday evening session featured a model ministry school, such as is conducted weekly in all congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses.

U.S. Ups Sugar Quotas to Block Price Spiral

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department yesterday increased sugar marketing and import quotas by 50,000 tons in a move designed to halt rising prices.

The increase put the total 1956 sugar quotas at 8,625,000 tons.

The increase was divided as follows among supplying areas:

The domestic beet sugar area 14,163 tons, the mainland cane sugar area 13,337 tons, Cuba 21,600 tons and other "full-duty" countries 900 tons

Summer School Closing May Ruin Strawberry Crop

* * *

These are the schools where children do farm work in the peak winter months and go to school in the summer.

Hillsborough County school board members voted last night to discontinue the schools. The cost of operation was too great, they said.

Spokesmen for parents said that making the children go to school at regular terms will wreck the economy of eastern Hillsborough County which brags it is the largest winter strawberry producing area in the world.

Truckers' Plan Halted by Judge

Union Prevented From Charging Set Rates in Leasing of Equipment

KRAON, Ohio (AP)—The teamsters union was permanently enjoined today from forcing an Akron trucker to charge a set rate in leasing his equipment to trucking companies.

Judge Stephen C. Colopy of common pleas court said the teamsters union violated state anticonspiracy and antitrust laws in fixing the fees for owner-operators of truck equipment.

The union contended it needed to set such rates to assure the owner-operators—union members—of fair rentals.

But Copoly said that if the union had such a right, other unions would have a right to fix the selling price of a manufacturer's products on the grounds it wanted to assure the employer a fair profit.

The decision could have far-reaching percussions. About 500 carriers and 6,000 employes, with 5 to 10 per cent being owner-operators like Oliver, do business in Ohio.

In the 12-state area covered by the Teamsters' central state agreements, under which the fees were fixed, there are 3,500 carriers and 50,000 employes.

The states involved are Ohio, Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, Missouri, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas. The city of Louisville, ky., is also covered.

Wayne Political Scientist to Teach Management

DETROIT (AP)—Dr. Robert F. Steadmen, former state controller, announces he is resigning as chairman of the Wayne State University political science department to become director of administration for the American Management Institute in New York.

Steadman, 52, joined the Wayne faculty in 1947. He was appointed state controller by Gov. Williams in 1949 and served until 1953 when he returned to the Wayne staff.

His resignation is effective Aug. 17. The American Management Institute offers courses to business executives in finance, marketing and other management studies.

Blackie Banished— Must Quit Cussing

DETROIT (AP)—Blackie, the talking Mynah bird at the Detroit Children's Zoo, has been banished to a back room at the bird house. And he's probably condemning the move in highly colorful language.

* * *

Blackie had picked up a strong vocabulary, including a string of cuss words. "Dirty so and so" was one of the mildest of his new-found expressions.

Now keepers who first taught Blackie to talk four years ago are tutoring him again. They hope he'll return to his regular vocabulary of "Hi, pal," "pretty boy," "goodbye now" and other expressions fit for the tender ears of children.

* * *

Jack Benny Prowler Gets Cooler, No Richer

Police said the intruder took a dip in the pool, turned on the air-conditioning system and made himself at home for several hours after jimmying a bedroom window yesterday. Nothing of value appeared to have been taken. The comedian's house has been closed since the winter season nded at this dsert resort.

FUN ON THE FARM — 5

Danger From the Skies

Nearly all farms keep chickens, and last year there were over 447 million birds on farms in America.

A mother chicken dreads the hawks. When she sees a hawk approaching, even one that will do her no harm, she ruffles her feathers, and clucks to her brood to hide beneath her uplifted wings.

Join the smaller part of the pivot to the larger part, as indicated. Fasten it to the hen house by a brass fastener or bent pin through the holes shown. Then the hawk can swing across the sky.

Cut slits along the dotted lines on the hen and pull the little strips of chicken in under their mother's wing.

Assignment: McKeon Case

Rookie Lawyer Vs. Pro

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—You are a rookie in the legal profession, and you haven't been in a courtroom in two years. How does it feel to have the prosecution of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon dumped in your lap?

For Maj. Charles B. Sevier, a jovial, crew-cut, 35-year-old officer, the assignment was both a surprise and a challenger.

Maj. Sevier, who describes himself as a "rulebook" barrister, was serving as executive officer of a tank battalion of Marines at Camp Lejeune, N.C., until two months ago. Then he was handed the assignment as the government's prosecutor in the court-martial of McKeon, charged with involuntary manslaughter in the drowning of six Marine recruits last April 8 in Ribbon Creek.

The assignment sent him scurrying to review his manual for only two years of civil practice and about three years in military law. Active duty had taken him away from the law in the last two years.

Defense counsel Emile Zola Berman of New York City has the background of more than 30 years' experience and is one of the nation's top lawyers. Berman has five assistants, Maj. Sevier has two.

How does it feel to be up against such competition?

"I'm picking up a lot of pointers as I go along," says Sevier. "It would be fun if the matter wasn't so important."

In contrast to Berman, a clever lawyer who questions everything including the premise of military law itself, Sevier sticks to the straight and narrow, dislikes the no man's land of theoretical argument.

Members of Fairway Golf Club held their annual picnic Thursday at the home of Mrs. Earl Stevenson on Motorway drive, following a morning of golf at Pontiac Country Club. Puffed Silhouette, Longer Hem in Magnet Fashions

Dior Line May Be 'Trial Balloon'

PARIS (INS) — Christian Dior, the French fashion dictator who eight years ago brought about the "new look" with the long skirt may be doing it all over again.

Dior's collection opened the summer Paris fashion showings and his line featured two new highlights — the lengthened hem and the "magnet line."

* * *

Many fashion experts think the long look is a trial balloon and predict that future styles will all be long.

A group of eight outfits in the collection had skirt hems seven to eight inches off the floor in styles reminiscent of 1912 fashions.

HEAD TO TOE

* * *

The suits and dresses measure a more usual 16 inches off the ground. Suit jackets are shorter than they have been for the last few years, and Dior favors heavy but soft wools.

The "magnet" shape is brought out in the new long outfits as well as in conventional length clothes.

One black suit that combines both looks features a waist-length, loosely fitted jacket, kimono sleeves and shoulder seams dropped to the middle of the upper arm. It is worn with a sleeveless chin-high top and skirt with hip tuck for a gathered, rounded look.

SKIRTS PEGGED

The rounded look of the "magnet line" includes busts as well as hats and hips and shoulders. Skirts are pegged so that they are narrower at the hem than at the hips.

* * *

Some of the "magnet" suits are worn with suede blouses. Many have matching coats or capes and many of the coats also have adopted a "Sherlock Holmes" style.

For evening wear, Dior wants women to look very feminine — something he accomplishes very simply by exposing a good deal of bosom with an 18th century type decollete draping over full skirts. He also reintroduced the bust-shaping strapless top.

Hats are often fabric-matched to the ensemble they are to be worn with. Daytime headgear comes in Dutch boy or mixing-bowl shapes, with many of them pulled down to the eyebrows.

For evening wear hats come in wide coolie and lampshade shapes, often given that added touch of glamor with glittering spangles on the underside of the brim.

At a tense moment the photographer caught Mrs. Delbert Hammett of Going street (left) and Mrs. Sydney Baer of Pine Bluff drive. They were competing with other members of Fairway Club for low putts at the club's annual guest day event held Thursday at Pontiac Country Club. Mrs. Baer was a guest for the day.

Fun Prevails at Fairway Club Picnic

Annual Event Held at Earl Stevenson Residence

Following the regular weekly round of golf at Pontiac Country Club Thursday, members and guests of Fairway Club traveled to the home of Mrs. Earl Stevenson on Motorway drive for their annual cooperative picnic luncheon.

Golf prizes were presented members and guests for low net score, low gross and low putts, by Mrs. Lee Lysinger and Mrs. Philip Sauer.

Stunts and games, including a cleverly devised "Golf Bingo" were part of the afternoon fun. A "before" and "after" luncheon contest for waistline measurements was another of the unique afternoon activities.

Serving on the party committee were Mrs. Lysinger, Mrs. Sauer, Mrs. John Wilson, Mrs. Robert Bradley, Mrs. John Heitsch and Mrs. Stevenson.

Guests included Mrs. Charles A. Weedon, Mrs. Wilfred Thompson, Mrs. Virginia Lake, Mrs. Clifford Maison, Mrs. Frank Totte, Mrs. Gerald Blaylock, Mrs. Sydney Baer, Mrs. Jack Greathouse, Mrs. Leslie A. Hutchinson, Mrs. Lloyd Wallace.

Dorothy Knight, Mrs. Jack Reese, Mrs. Edward Pritchard, Mrs. William Bull and Mrs. Jack Bender were also guests.

Another highlight of the league's summer schedule will be the annual husbands' party to be held August 19.

It was a close score and Mrs. Clarence Lawson of Elizabeth Lake road (left) and Mrs. Glen Hickson of Preston avenue wondered if theirs would take the prize for the low net score at the Fairway Club's annual guest day event, held Thursday at Pontiac Country Club.

Ingrid's Daughter Gets School Fund

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Actress Ingrid Bergman's 17-year-old daughter was given judicial permission today to take money from her personal estate for a college education and a car.

Superior Judge Walter H. Odemar approved a petition filed on behalf of the girl, Pia Lindstrom, by her father, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, former husband of Miss Bergman.

The judge allowed Pia to take $2,500 a year from her $20,000 estate for an education at Stanford University, plus $1,000 for a car.

Judge Odemar limited his approval to only one year, however, and said he would like to review the expenditures from Pia's estate after that time before continuing the program.

Fresh New Styles Appear in Leather

The fresh new styles in which leather will appear were revealed at the annual fall fashion preview held recently in the New York headquarters of Leather Industries of America.

* * *

Costumes ranged from middies and tapered pants for lounging to long elegant formal coats for evening wear. In between these two extremes were a host of suits and coats for casual every-day wear. Most were all-leather, but others featured combinations of leather with knits, worsteds, silk paisleys and — for cold weather — wool shearling and even furs. Fur was also used as trim on many of the more formal coats and suits.

Leather jackets were shown in Norfolk, boxy, mandarin, cocoon and Eisenhower styles, many of them with zip-out interchangeable linings, one of fur and another of plaid or striped jersey or alpaca. Car coats reached to the waist or hips or appeared in traditional three-quarter or seven-eights lengths. In the shorter versions, the boy coat seems most popular—it's double-breasted with self buttons, patch pockets and a turned-back cuff, real or simulated by stitching.

Long coats were straight-fronted with fullness falling from the shoulders.

Suits combined leather with tweed, cashmere or knit. They were in all colors from pastel to vivid hues with the fabric-trimmed and lined leather jacket matching or contrasting with the leather-trimmed fabric skirt.

* * *

"Cowgirl" outfits that would hardly be at home on the plains, included jeweled leather shirts and frontier pants of glimmering gold and silver kidskin.

Deborah Circle Meets for Picnic

Fifteen members and guests of the Deborah Circle of the WSCS of Oakland Park Methodist Church gathered for a picnic luncheon and meeting Wednesday at Oakland Park.

Mrs. Emerson Brown conducted the meeting when fall projects and programs were discussed. The circle members will call on shutins during the month of August.

Mrs. Basil Meidlein of Lowell street will be hostess for the September meeting.

Style Notes for Men

For the college youth who intends to be the big man on the campus next fall, a wardrobe will include shirts of authentic miniature tartans, whipcord slacks trimmed with leather and V-neck sweaters with reefer necks that give the effect of a muffler.

Aidful Hints to Preserve Wool Fibres

Let Woolens "Rest" Between Wearings to Keep Shape

Wool has a tendency to return to its original form after it has been creased, if it is allowed enough time to do so. That's why the British allow woolen garments to "rest" between wearings.

If wool fibre is subjected to steam it becomes pliable and can be molded or shaped. A more or less permanent set can be obtained by applying pressure when the fibre is in a plastic state.

But here's a warning; if heat is applied after the moisture is gone the fibres become harsh and brittle and the garment won't give good wear. So pressing should always be finished while the fabric is still steaming.

Washable woolens will launder well if a few simple rules are followed:

1. Start by removing all serious stains and mending any rip or tears.

2. Use lukewarm water (it should feel almost cool to the hand) and soak the garment just long enough for the fabric to absorb all the suds. Too much soaking weakens the fabric.

3. Use plenty of neutral soap, not strong or caustic soap which will harden the fibre.

4. Work under water; the weight of the water may distort the shape of the garment if you lift it out frequently. Squeeze the suds gently through the garment; don't pound or rub, since this makes the fibres cling together and become "matted.

5. Rinse thoroughly to remove all soap, squeezing the water out gently by hand since a wringer can also cause matting. Never hang woolen garments to dry near a radiator or in the sun; the heat will cause the fibres to become brittle and break.

HEAVY NAP BEST

When the time comes to press the garment, you should have a smooth board with padding that is firm and not too soft.

A heavy nap woolen pressing cloth is best, since the use of wool against wool will help to prevent "shine" in the garment. Cheesecloth or thin wrapping paper over this will prevent the iron from sticking.

Do your pressing with a light touch, and avoid holding the iron in any one place too long, since overheating not only hardens the fabric, but is one of the causes of "shine."

* * *

When you get to the hems, place a piece of garment material at the top to equalize the thickness; this will prevent edge marks from showing.

Press lightly at first until steam has formed, then use a little more pressure. Bagginess at the knees of trousers, and shininess can be corrected while pressing to a certain extent by light pressure or steaming through a moist cloth.

New Citizens Feted at Party

Members of Janice Antona's Citizenship Class who were naturalized Tuesday were honored at a party and program at Pontiac High School Wednesday evening. Class members still attending citizenship classes were hosts at the party.

Mrs. William Todd, Americanism chairman of the General Richardson Chapter, DAR, and Mrs. Joseph Phillips, Americanism chairman of the American Legion Auxiliary, Chief Pontiac Post, attended. They spoke briefly and presented the graduates with American Flags and Flag codes.

Those honored at the affair were Cynthia Sherfield, Kate Mathews, Ilene Chambers, Kay Halloway, Joan Deacon, Gerhardt Bruhl, Hector Chambers and Sam Calabrese.

Two Women Solve One Problem

By ANNE HEYWOOD

There are more ways than one to skin a cat, as the saying goes, and there are more ways than one to solve a job problem.

* * *

But too often our minds get in a rut. We lack the imagination to see any way but one.

For example, Ruth is a young woman with two school-age children. She had a part-time job, in a small office, which she just loved. She worked from 1 to 5.

It had taken a long time to find this perfect spot and so, when the boss said he would have to replace her with a full-time worker, Ruth was desolate.

* * *

"He was right," she admitted. "His busines had grown and he really did need somebody from 9 until 5. But I'm sick about it, because I can't work full-time and I'm afraid I'll never find a spot as good."

Most people would have left it at that—but Ruth began to think about it and at least to entertain the idea that there might possibly be some alternative, some other way out.

* * *

"It looked hopeless at first," she admitted, "but then I thought of a plan.

"My friend, Anna, wanted a part-time job, too. She could work in the mornings from 9 until 1 and then I would take over.

"Anna was delighted with the idea, but I knew it might be hard to convince my boss.

* * *

"I mentioned it to him—the possibility of Anna taking over mornings and me afternoons.

SEE COMPLICATIONS

"At first he said no, because it would complicate the payroll and bookkeeping and taxes and things. But he does like me, his customers are at ease with me and it might take a long time for a new woman to catch on to things, and so forth.

* * *

"I told him I would teach Anna as we went along, so he'd have less of a training problem. Also, I pointed out that if either one of us got sick or the kids got chickenpox or anything, the other could, in such an emergency, cover the whole day.

"He thought it over and weighed the advantages against the payroll mess and he decided to do it! And now both Anna and I are having the time of our lives!"

Next time a problem faces you, don't admit to just one possible path to take.

Kiss Curl 'New' Again

LONDON (INS) — The kiss-curl of the 1920's is back in hairdos this season.

The curl is like the one worn years ago by Clara Bow and the Boop-Boop-a-Doop girl.

Paris Jewelry—Bizarre 'Eyes' Bring a Stare

PARIS (INS) — Paris costume jewelry this year has some rather odd motifs—eyes, dice, butterflies and pillows.

Genevieve Fath shows a necklace made of beads, sized, shaped and painted to look like glass eyes. This bizarre neck ornament has about 50 glass eyes, which stare at you in eerie fashion from the wearer's neck.

Another Paris summer necklace is made of real white dice with black spots. They are strung to a beach necklace and guaranteed to attract the attention of "the mob."

A romantic fashion idea for summer is a pair of sunglasses shaped like huge butterflies complete with body. The gold framed wings are filled with mirror glass and the insect's gold body covers the nose as sunburn protection.

Leather manufacturers in Paris are coming up with fluorescent summer accessories. Belts, in the wide modish shapes, are made of pastel colored leather with a coating that shimmers in the dark.

Hair Slips Up, Out, Over the Ear in Alluring Fashion

Hear! Hear! You will cover your ear this fall and winter with the compellingly feminine new "Bouffantasie" hair fashions, created by the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Assn.

Your ear may peek a little, but it can't be too indiscreet for, say the hair fashion authorities meeting this week at their 36th Annual Convention in Dallas, Tex., the new coiffures guarantee that you will hear everything, including every whistle!

The hair styling compliments the fashion revival from the days when grandmother was a girl, the nostalgic eras of the Gibson Girl, the empire silhouette, and pre-World War I enchantment.

Up is the direction of the hair on top of the head. Out and wide will be the flair at the side, waved into a soft over-all effect of full blown and cloud-like coiffures.

CROWN NEW 'LINE'

These will crown the exaggerated "high tide" lines in clothing fashions, the high waists, the molded midriffs, the high bands, belts and other details which define your full silhouette and focus attention to your head.

The essence of flawless taste will be close coordination between your clothing fashions, millinery, and coiffure.

* * *

When grandmother was a girl this effect was produced by teasing, padding, and hair puffs. Now the result is gained with infinitely more comfort and practicality with a foundation or "inside" permanent wave which gives the hair the necessary body and allows maintenance of the coiffure line and shape.

The specified hair length will range from 1 to 3 inches at the nape; crown areas, from 4 to 5½ inches; and the top and sides, 2½ the nape is still recommended for the matron with a short and full neck. In all cases, careful shaping and blending of the hair is to 5 inches, depending upon individual requirements.

* * *

For example, a zero neck line and a softer wave pattern above required to manipulate locks into an adaptable length, short or semi-short, according to your contour and physical structure.

MANY VARIATIONS

For you, the "Bouffantasie" variation most becoming may be the one that floats forward in a face-framing aureole or butterfly-bow effect. With a soft, side interest of waves it becomes the perfect foil for the hattier hats of the season.

Wide coifs are designed for wide hats and the deep crowned fez. The toque and smaller hats will capture attention if worn with the delicate back-flowing lines of the "Empire."

For those whose flair will fantail toward the back in an empire reflection, there will be short adaptations artistically detailed to effect a psyche-knot or empire silhouette. These designs will be arranged with hair from 3 to 5 inches.

Hair ornaments will return to the fashion picture and will be enjoyed at their best for the first time in a decade.

Combs, jewels, feathers, and veils will be appropriate accessories for after dark moments of glamour, another romantic note known to grandmother.

There must also be color in your hair for the romanticism of the season, and to impart that ethereal glow required of the "Bouffantasie" trend. Your hair color should be selected, and the term "selected" is appropriately used, to complement the colors of your skin, eyes, age and personality.

This will require consultation with your cosmetologist who will also advise the right treatments to bring out the luster so important to the new coiffures. For your coiffure this fall must have the magic of compelling femininity.

Winged symmetry casts a magic spell of compelling beauty in this cloud-like coiffure. "Pomped" in the new fashion, the top detail ends in a wistful repose at the right side of the forehead, while floating waves flair up and outward at the sides. Its back has a curved, bloused wave which curves upward and forward with locks that tip up.

Stately, regal, resplendently feminine grace is achieved in this "Bouffantasie Empress" coiffure created by the Official Hair Fashion Committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. It emphasizes the full-blown, cloud-like effect of the new trend. Sides flair up and out with an imperial swing of line.

Looks Discourage Future Actress

BY JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
(The Friday Question Box)

Q. "I am a girl of 14, longing for a career in motion pictures. My problem is my looks. This is not my opinion alone. Many times others make remarks to me about them.

Sometimes I wish I hadn't been born.

"Lack of attractiveness has caused me to get an inferiority complex. I am considering giving up my membership in the dramatics club.

"At present I am considering plastic surgery. Please give me some information about it.

"Sometimes I even think I will give up the idea of becoming an actress but every time I see a movie or TV show I get the 'bug' again. Please help me."

A. First, it is perfectly natural for a girl of your age to dream, at times, of becoming an actress. All girls do at one time or another. It may be that you have great talent but the chances are that you are not yet old enough to know for sure what you want to do in life.

Therefore, do not spoil these years which should be gay and carefree by unattainable dreams (at least at the present time.)

The best training you could possibly give yourself now for an acting career later on would be to remain in your dramatic group and be active in it. Mix with others. Learn to know and like people. Develop poise. You could not possibly be an actress without it.

So far as the remarks of a few catty girls are concerned, pay no attention!

You do not say why you need a plastic surgeon. If you have a real deformity I will be glad to give you the name of a qualified surgeon in your part of the country if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it.

* * *

Q. "My waist has gotten quite thick. I am very little overweight, my hips are slim and my legs nice. Please give me an exercise for slimming the waist."

A. Stand tall with your feet comfortably separated. Raise your arms overhead and clasp your hands together, elbows straight. Push toward the ceiling with your hands. Keep reaching up with the arms as you bend your trunk to the left. Raise trunk and then bend to the right.

Q. "My brows are too thin to arch and yet they need it. They are straight across. What can I do?"

A. Arch the brows a LITTLE from underneath. Make up for this loss in width by using an eyebrow pencil on the upper edge of the brows.

* * *

If you would like to have my leaflet, "Popularity," which contains teenage beauty and diet hints, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Tomorrow: "Take a Deep Breath! Exercises Will Help."

When arching the brows, make up for the loss in width by using an eyebrow pencil on the upper edge of the brows.

Bridal Shower Held for Beverly Munro

Beverly, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Munro of North Mill street, is the bride-elect of David Zittle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Zittel of Navajo road.

Among the 12 guests attending were Mrs. Munro, Mrs. Grace Munro, Mrs. Zittel and Mrs. Elmer M. Klemm from Pontiac.

November Group Fetes Mrs. Schram

Mrs. Erwin Schram was the honoree at a tea Thursday afternoon given by Mrs. Raymond Eick of Bloomfield terrace.

Members of the November group of First Presbyterian Church attended and presented Mrs. Schram with a farewell gift. Mr. and Mrs. Schram and daughter, Susie, will leave Saturday to make their home in Philadelphia.

Mrs. William Morrell of South Roselawn drive is a patient at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Spices Add Distinction to Beans

Mrs. Knox Puts Slices of Ham in Michigan Navies

Good homemade baked beans are a wonderful choice of food to take on a picnic, a fishing trip and later in the year, a hunting trip. When Robert Knox of Rochester goes hunting, he takes along some of his wife's good baked beans.

The Knox family is new in this area and hasn't gotten into many community activities, as yet. This fall Mrs. Knox hopes to do some church work. She loves to sew and makes clothes for herself and her teenage daughter.

BAKED BEANS
By Mrs. Robert Knox

2 pounds Michigan navy beans
½ teaspoon soda
1 tablespoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon dry mustard
¼ cup molasses
4 tablespoons brown sugar
4 tablespoons granulated sugar
1 small onion
Ham slices, if desired

Put beans into a crock or bean pot and add rest of ingredients. Bury the onion. Just cover with water. Bake 6 hours at 350 degrees, adding ham slices after 3 hours. Serves 10-12.

Mrs. Francis Lohff Entertains Club

Mrs. Francis Lohff of Summit street opened her home to 12 members of the Westside Extension Club Wednesday. Mrs. Don Melbourn conducted the meeting.

Mrs. Melbourn, Mrs. Lohff, Mrs. David Duevoll, Mrs. Orlando Fink, Mrs. John Ostrander and Mrs. Guy Hackett are planning to attend the Meat Barbecue School at the 4-H Fair July 31.

Mrs. Fink, Mrs. Lohff and Mrs. Newman prepared the Wednesday luncheon, and Mrs. Leon Grogg was chairman of the social afternoon.

Plans Told for Wedding

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Parent of Baldwin avenue, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Keller of Waterford. The ceremony will be solemnized Aug. 25 at St. Michael Church.

Beverly Keller, sister of the bridegroom, will be maid of honor. Other attendants will be Shirley Parent, sister of the bride, Lois Timney and Mrs. Frank Glowzinski Jr. Carolyn Parent will serve as her sister's flower girl.

Kenneth Schmidt of Wisconsin will be best man and Arnold Wester and Fred Miller of Wisconsin, Frank Glowzinski Jr., Robert Keller and Michael Parent will serve as ushers. Jack Maloney will serve as ring bearer.

Hubby Isn't Self-Sacrificing Angel

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

As an impressionable child learning what was what, Mrs. J. grew up with parents who could assert no self-interested demands.

* * *

If her mother bought a new dress, it was never because she wanted one but because some old one was "falling apart."

If her father went off on a fishing trip, it could never be for fun but for therapeutic "change." If they had roast beef for Sunday dinner, it was not because they enjoyed it but because it had been a sale special.

For reasons embedded in their own training, these poor people simply could not ask anything for themselves without first trying to make the demand appear morally impressive and self-sacrificing.

Recently, Mrs. J.'s baby caught a cold. For several days he sniffled and bubbled protest against its discomfort. One morning toward dawn, it awoke him—and he began to cry.

Through veils of sleep and resistance, his mother awoke too; and reaching for her robe, groped her way down the hall to his room.

DAD COMPLAINS

On her return, Mr. J., who had a tough day ahead of him, aroused long enough to mutter, "Can't a guy ever get a decent sleep in this house any more?"

* * *

Mrs. J.'s heart froze into cold distaste for her husband. Unaccustomed as she is to any self-interested assertion, she was shocked by his claim to a sleepfulness denied to her.

Because at 4 a.m. he spoke out of instinct instead of altruistic devotion to her comfort, he seemed a monster of callousness to her. She thought, "Never, never, will I feel the same toward George again."

One wonders how long Mrs. J.'s marriage can survive this kind of assault by overly romantic expectations.

PARENTAL LOVE

But a child's expectation is always rooted in his experience of romantic parental love. The teenage girl who's content to moon over a handsome unattainable movie star is a child of people who've accustomed her to unsatisfying, unattainable goals.

The young husband who recoils from diapers in his apartment bathroom is a youth whose Mom has been shielding him from consequences all his life.

The young wife who shudders at her human mate's demand for a good night's sleep is a person who expects to live with self-sacrificing angels.

If we Americans are ever going to rid ourselves of this pernicious cult of unreal romantic love, parents are going to have to begin to assert their self-interests more honestly.

Do Parents Go Along on Party?

By EMILY POST

A mother tells me: "My daughter will soon celebrate her 16th birthday and she would like to give a party. We live in a small apartment and it would be impossible for us to accommodate the number of boys and girls she would like to invite.

"We agreed to let her have it in one of the restaurants here in town. I would like to know if it will be necessary for my husband and I to be present to chaperon the group. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: If it's a restaurant where they're well known I see nothing improper in their going unchaperoned. Otherwise you should go.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Whose name is said first in this introduction—'John, this is my Aunt Mary' or 'Aunt Mary, this is John'? John is my finace and he and my aunt have not met each other. When the phrase 'this is' is used, should the woman's name be said first anyway?"

Answer: Although "Aunt Mary, this is John" would be more correct, the phrase "John, this is Aunt Mary" connotes so much more affection for Aunt Mary as to make it natural and therefore not improper.

"Dear Mrs. Post: I am a single girl 23 years of age and share an apartment with another girl.

"Would there be any harm or possibility of gossip if I invited a young man to my apartment for dinner about 6 in the evening and he remained until 10 or 10:30, when the girl with whom I share the apartment is out for the evening? I would greatly appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: It depends entirely upon the reputation you have. If you are well-behaved in every way, no one would criticize you, but if you tend to be careless, it might be questionable. If you are really afraid to be criticized, it would probably be best to abstain.

PHYLLIS M. DUKE

At a dinner party for the immediate families Thursday evening at Devon Gables Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Duke of Glenwood avenue announced the engagement of their daughter, Phyllis Mary, to Albert S. Wright, the son of Mrs. Sophia Wright of Detroit.

Mr. and Mrs. James B. Leahy have taken a house at Madison, Conn. for several weeks.

Mrs. Leahy's mother Mrs. George A. Bee arrived home Tuesday from a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Vehmeyer at their summer home in Wequetonsing.

Fath Uses Capes, Drapes to Accent Feminine Curves

Molded Sheaths Have Siren Touches of Puffs, Cascades; Capelets Aplenty

PARIS (AP) — Capes and drapes filled the Fath collection, opening the second day of the new Paris fashion season this morning. Wide skirts dropped two to three inches.

* * *

Russian Cossack caps in fur, and onion dome headgear in shiny feathers struck a diplomatic political note—or perhaps only echoed the popularity of the Moscow circus and Russian ballet on their recent Paris visits.

* * *

The longer, midcalf skirts in the Fath show did not cause the sensation that Dior's nearly ankle-length tweedy day dresses stirred up yesterday. The Fath version is inconspicuous because it is restricted to dressy afternoon, cocktail and evening skirts, where it is not much of an innovation.

The Fath skirts are about 16½ inches from the floor in slim skirts and 14 inches in full ones.

* * *

While Dior says "Down with sheaths," Genevieve Fath is still turning them out like mad. Great puffs of drapery bows, loops and cascades perch here and there, but especially on the hip, for a sexy silhouette.

Fath uses all the variations on capes, and adds a few of her own invention. There are shoulder capes, waist-length capes, hip-length capes, tunic-length capes, full-length capes, half capes, full capes, envelope capes, and even one version called a "jump-in-the-boat cape," to translate literally from the French.

* * *

While suits are rather plain and classic, dresses are almost fussily furbished with drapes, bows, loops, flounces and so on.

Big scotch plaid is used for great coats and capes, and velvet and chiffon are favorites for cocktail and evening creations. Fur trimmings are plentiful.

Some Paris newspapers today called Dior's long day skirts a "knock-over sensation," and said they recalled the mode of 1912.

Another French fashion editor, denying a revolution, described the Dior dresses as "just a little firecracker to give us the impression of big fashion news."

Most American and English fashion editors saw the ankle-grazing skirts as a test to be filed for future reference.

Nylon Hose Dyed to Match Costume

Today's dyed-to-match nylons are, of course, a far cry from the old-fashioned stockings. Fabulously sheer, this fall's nylons are the ultimate in exquisite and glamorous leg flattery.

They are dyed in crystal-clear costume colors and are designed in styles to enhance the legs and add the look of smart perfection with every outfit around-the-clock.

Entertains Sorority

Patricia Tatham of Lawson drive was hostess to members of Beta Mu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority Wednesday evening. Elaine Pardee, Mary K. Nelson, Sandra Brown and Diane Crigler attended as prospective members of the chapter. Plans were made for a social meeting in August and refreshments were served.

Drain your garden hose thoroughly and roll it into large, loose coils after each use and it will last longer.

Think of Needs

Away from home, on a vacation trip, you are often tempted to buy wearing apparel. Before you do, ask yourself: Could I buy this at home? Do I need it now, or will it just add to my luggage?

The Blonde Cried MURDER

By Brett Halliday

XXV

11:30 P.M.

Lucy Hamilton put the telephone down in her apartment. She sat silently for a long moment, feeling the impact of her employer's anger and sensing his frustrated disappointment in her.

* * *

Lucy fought to remain calm, forcing herself to turn and ask listlessly, "Is that what you wanted me to do?"

"You were just fine that time. If he calls back again, or anyone else, tell them not to come here tonight. That you're in bed or sick of something—or else you get this fast."

Lucy shuddered and closed her eyes as the ugly, short-bladed knife made a sickening arc close to her throat. There was already blood on the blade of that knife.

* * *

The fierce glitter in her eyes as she crisply told Lucy what to say over the phone had been proof enough that she wouldn't hesitate to use the knife again if she were thwarted in any way.

YOU WON'T GET HURT

It was all so utterly incomprehensible. They had been sitting on the sofa calmly chatting away when the phone rang and Lucy had involuntarily exclaimed, "That'll be Michael now." The other girl had been telling her an involved story about being in Shayne's apartment when some man had come looking for her and how she'd escaped down the fire-escape.

Then the wild gleam in the girl's eyes and the blood-stained knife that came leaping out of the suede bag!

Now the girl backed away from her and said calmly, "Get up and move away from the telephone. You won't get hurt if you do exactly as I say. Then we'll see. Sit in that chair across the room and don't move out of it while I use the phone."

Lucy stood up slowly, averting her gaze from the knife. She crossed to the indicated chair and sat down. She heard the girl dialing, and tried to concentrate on the clicking of the dial to try and get the number—although Shayne had often laughed at fictional detectives who were supposed to be able to accomplish that trick.

She heard the girl ask, "Is Mr. Bert Paulson there?" and say after a moment, "If he does come in soon, please give him this message. He's to call his sister at this number." And she read Lucy's number from the telephone.

SIT DOWN HERE!

Then she hung up and sat quietly for a moment, biting her under-lip broodingly and frowning across the room with eyes that seemed not quite to focus.

She nodded her blonde head slowly after thinking for a moment, dialed another number and repeated exactly the same instructions she had given on the first call.

After hanging up the second time, she got up from the chair and moved back a few feet, gesturing to Lucy with her knife, "Sit down here by the phone and do exactly as I tell you if you ever want to see your precious Michael Shayne again. Wait a minute though," she said rapidly as Lucy dragged herself up. "Go into the bedroom first and get a sheet and bring it out. I'll be right behind you all the time."

Lucy got a sheet from her linen closet. Her mind was working desperately to think of some ruse to escape or overcome her visitor, but even years of close association with Michael Shayne had not fitted her to cope with exactly this situation. She was bitterly certain he could think of all sorts of clever things to do under the same circumstances.

YOU'RE INSURANCE

"Drop the sheet on the floor," she was directed, "and then sit in that chair beside the telephone. If any calls come, you'll have to answer them. And everything will be a lot easier if I just tie you up so you won't get any funny ideas. Don't think I care whether you keep on living or not," the voice went on coldly as the girl picked up the sheet and slit strips in it which she ripped all the way across.

"You're my insurance, see? I've got to get that call from Lanny, and I figure this is just about the safest place to stay until it comes.". She giggled happily again as she came up behind Lucy with three long strips of sheeting trailing behind her.

"Who'd think of looking for me holed up cozily with the great detective's girl-friend? Put your feet back solid against the legs of the chair. And lay your right forearm on the arm of it. I'll leave your left hand free to manage the phone."

Lucy sat tense and strained in the chair, biting her under-lip hard as the other knelt beside her and started winding a strip of cloth around each ankle and the chair legs.

* * *

Something would have to happen. Michael would certainly come. He had sounded so outraged and angry when she told him the girl had already left. Certainly he would be arriving in a few minutes to question her more closely.

She'd had no chance to adjust her thoughts and think of something to say over the telephone that would indicate to him that she was talking under duress. But she had tried desperately to be flip about it and not apologize for letting the girl go. That should be a clue he would understand.

Woman Named Acting City Manager, Clerk at Keego

Township Post Held 10 Years

Eileen Van Horn Was Treasurer for West Bloomfield

KEEGO HARBOR—Eileen Van Horn has been unanimously named the new Keego Harbor city clerk and acting city manager, with all powers as outlined in the city charter, at a special meeting of the Keego City Council.

The appointment, to become effective Aug. 1, still must undergo the formality of adoption by resolution of the council, however, Mayor Jack Loveland said today.

Mrs. Van Horn has been the West Bloomfield Township treasurer for the past 10 years and was the first woman ever to sit on the township board.

With her experience in this capacity and having been a resident of Keego Harbor for the past 20 years, she has a very descriptive knowledge of the tax properties of the city, Loveland said.

Mrs. Van Horn is a past president of the Keego Harbor Business and Professional Women's Club and was recently named "Woman of the Week," in the area.

Keego Harbor, still in the process of organization after being chartered over a year ago, has had no previous city manager. Former city clerk, Edward Hermoyian, resigned at the council meeting last night.

Mayor Loveland said today that "all city department heads are very happy over Mrs. Van Horn's appointment."

The new official with her husband, Homer, and their two sons, Robert (now married) and Edward, purchased their home at 2415 Hester Ct. 18 years ago.

Mrs. Van Horn told The Press today "I have enjoyed working for the people of West Bloomfield as well as the personnel. They have been ideal."

Trustees of Hospital Begin Survey Work

sonnel and joint conference committees.

In addition to the assistant director, a personnel-public relations director and controller will be hired as recommended.

The analysis of the medical staff will be studied by the joint conference committee composed of three members of the board and Chief of Staff Dr. Harold Furlong, the past chief of staff and chief of staff-elect. Their findings were instructed returned to the Board of Trustees.

The executive committee and Miss Paul are to meet to decide what should be contained in monthly reports to trustees.

"I assume we are going to watch carefully the progress of these recommendations," Trustee Harold S. Goldberg questioned. He was assured by Babcock they would be.

The director was instructed to prepare a record of duties of the administrative assistant and report to the personnel committee. The survey suggested this position be eliminated.

The board accepted the suggested chart of re-organization at the hospital with the major change being the additions of the new positions and committees.

A recommendation that the president of the hospital's woman auxiliary be added to the Board of Trustees will be made to the City Commission. The commission appoints members for four year terms.

The survey chapter on fiscal management was referred to the finance committee for study. Another meeting will be held Aug. 6 to study the last chapter of the report on departmental operations.

The change from last week's stormy session was evident when Goldberg exclaimed at the end of last night's session: "I think the progress on what we did tonight was fabulous."

A repeat performance of last week's uproar seemed to be ensuing when Chairman of the Board William P. Babcock declared at the start of last night's session: "A number of things have happened since the last meeting and I want some explanation before I continue as chairman."

Babcock was referring to a statement made by Mrs. Roush last Friday claiming no election of board officers was held according to parliamentary procedure.

Mrs. Roush continued her plea for a voice or ballot vote. "You can't elect without naming officers," the Pontiac school teacher said. "There should be a voice vote taken on each member."

Board members, excepting Charles E. Yaeger, who was absent from the meeting, agreed to take a ballot vote at their Aug. 16 meeting.

Clothing Articles Stolen From Parked Vehicle

Pontiac police today were investigating a report that various articles of clothing valued at $165 were stolen from a parked car here Thursday afternoon.

Robet H. Bourbonnais, of Milford, told police he left his car in the Municipal Parking Lot for 45 minutes yesterday and on his return found it had been broken into and looted of three men's suits, three women's suits and four dresses.

Pontiac Man Injured in Two-Car Smashup

A Pontiac man suffered only minor cuts of the left leg when the car in which he was a passenger in was struck by another vehicle at Whittemore and Marshall Sts. yesterday afternoon.

George Kayga Sr., 55, of 335 Judson was treated and released by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital following the accident. He was riding in a car driven by Lewis L. Lafayette, 47, of 17 Clairmont St.

Drayton Group Slates Variety Games Night

DRAYTON PLAINS—A summer variety games night has been planned by the Women's Auxiliary of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church.

The event will be held at 8 p.m., Aug. 2, in the church. Donations will be a dollar per person. Table prizes and refreshments will be included in the order of the evening.

Proceeds will go toward the church building fund.

Southfield Group Adopts New Charter

SOUTHFIELD—A second charter for this proposed city has been adopted by charter commission members and a rough draft will be printed and put in the hands of citizens by Sept. 1, Charter Commissioner Russell H. Cullen said this morning.

The charter commission met last night to finally vote on the document. Its completion was due at last night's deadline. Official deadline was Monday but the commission finished wording of the charter's provisions last night.

In about three or four weeks, there will be a public hearing in order to get a consensus of public opinion, Cullen said today.

Voters will cast their ballots Oct. 22 to accept or reject the new charter. The first was turned down last September.

Birmingham Man Injured in Car Crash

A Birmingham man and his wife were injured early last night when their car was sideswiped by another vehicle on Rochester road, near Troy.

* * *

His wife, Bernice, 40, was treated and released by the hospital for a bruised left shoulder.

Baker was the driver of the struck car. The other vehicle was operated by Freanico Hurtado, 28, a sailor stationed in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Hurtado was ticketed and later paid a fine for reckless driving.

Investigating Troy police reported the accident occurred when Hurtado lost control of his car as he attempted to cut in behind a truck and sideswiped the oncoming Baker vehicle.

Auburn Heights Woman Injured in Car Crash

Mrs. Jessie Carpenter, 38, of 3097 Avalon, Auburn Heights, is in "good" condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today with several fractured ribs suffered last night in a two-car accident in W. Bloomfield Township.

* * *

She was a passenger in a car driven by George Martinak, 34, of 114 E. Howard St. The other vehicle was operated by Dennis Byers, 16, of Franklin.

Martinak told Township police he was struck by the Byers' car as he proceeded through an intersection at Orchard Lake and 15 Mile roads.

He said the other car had gone through a red light. Byers told officers he became confused at a green arrow light.

Teenagers Riot at Fire Station

Six Members of Gang Questioned by Police as 3 Firemen Hurt

Six Pontiac teenagers are being questioned by Pontiac police today as possible members of a gang of about 15 youths who started a fight at a city fire station last night in which three firemen suffered minor bruises.

The youths were arrested shortly after the melee which started at 11 p.m. Police were unable to aprehended the other members of the group but have obtained the names of the majority of them from their companions. The station is located at Glenwood St. and Montcalm Ave.

Assistant Fire Chief Max Wells, who was on duty at the station with six firemen, said the incident lasted about 10 minutes and finally broke up when the teenagers left.

Wells explained that the brawl started shortly after an unidentified man ran into the station to use the phone to call police saying he had been run off the road by a car. The youths arrived later looking for the man and refused to move their car from in front of the station door when told the man was gone.

"One of the firemen went out to get their license number to call the police but as he did one of the boys threw a rag over it. When he tried to uncover it, he was struck by a boy and the fight was on," he said.

Luther League Sets Swim, Drive, Social

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—Three midsummer events have been scheduled for next week for members of the Luther League, the young people's organization of Christ Lutheran Church.

The first, a swimming party, will be held Sunday at 6:30 p.m. at the home of Judy Jacobson, 8685 Williams Lake road; a door-to-door paper drive is planned for Aug. 4; and an ice cream social on the grounds of the church is planned for Aug. 5.

Proceeds from the latter events will be used to send delegates to the national Augustana Luther League Convention in 1957.

2 City Homes Looted by Thieves Using Key

Two city homes were looted of over $13 by thieves who gained entry by using some type of key within the last three days, Pontiac police said today.

A total of $12 in cash and a driving license was missing at a home at 470 Branch street following the theft of a wallet from Eugene Pryor.

The other missing wallet was owned by Jessie R. Austin, of 39 Clovese St. He said it contained a silver dollar and some pennies.

Boy Spots Rattler in Dark, Saves Folks

The alertness and quick thinking of 13-year-old Dallas Durfee of Orion Township, was credited today with saving his family from possible rattlesnake bites last night.

Dallas — with his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Dewitt Durfee of 1450 Baldwin Rd. — was returning home about 9 p.m. when he heard "what sounded like a box of matches shaking" as he got out of the car.

On his way to the porch, Dallas saw the snake lying on the walk, only inches away from the house. Snatching a stick, Durfee broke the back of the two-foot long Massassauga rattler.

School of Barbecue

A Barbecue school will be held Tuesday afternoon at 1 p.m. at the 4-H Fair Grounds on N. Perry. Lyle Abel, Oakland county Agricultural agent, and Bob Deans from Michigan State University will demonstrate various foods suitable for barbecuing and methods of cooking. The public is invited.

Detroit Investor Shoots His Wife

Wealthy Real Estate Broker Takes Own Life After Wounding Mate

DETROIT (AP)—Police said a wealthy Detroit real estate investor shot his wife then killed himself today in the library of their home in exclusive Palmer Woods.

* * *

Max Reitman, 72, died in the operating room of Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital as doctors tried to remove a pistol bullet from his head.

His wife, Betty, 48, was in critical condition with bullet wounds in the back, neck, chest and arm.

Police said the shooting climaxed an accumulation of marital discord.

A daughter of Mrs. Reitman, Carol Meltzer, 14, was in the home but did not witness the shooting.

Carol said she was in her bedroom when she heard "four or five shots" followed shortly by another.

"I ran to the head of the stairs and heard mother cry out," Carol told police. "I called down and she told me to stay where I was."

Police said that although critically wounded, Mrs. Reitman picked up the telephone, asked the operator to call police and then hung up.

The operator called back and Carol answered on an upstairs telephone.

She told the operator there had been a shooting.

* * *

Fire Ruins Rubber Manufacturing Firm

ARMADA — A $25,000 blaze destroyed the building and contents of Armada Rubber Mfg. Co. at 24586 Armada Ridge Rd. last night.

Four fire departments, from Armada, Memphis, Romeo and Richmond, were summoned to fight the blaze which lasted several hours, according to Romeo State Police.

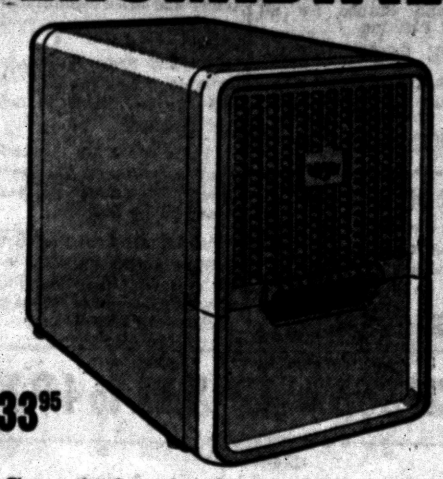

Vice president and general manager Laurence Weymouth of 3140 31-Mile Rd., reported the fire started in a storage shed where waste rubber and paper cartons are stored.

No definite cause of the fire has been determined, police said.

Clip fading flower heads of phlox to prevent self seeding. And weed out the plants with magenta colored heads if they volunteer among specimen plantings.

Giant Hybrid Petunias Line Walled Lake Garden

By REBA HEINTZELMAN
Milford Correspondent

Every summer Ernie and Sally Campanaro of Walled Lake, specialize in one particular kind of flower—to out-do all others. This year they chose giant hybrid petunias.

From two hundred small plants, the Campanaros now have thoustands of pink and white beauties adorning their lawn and garden.

People stop and ask Sally what her secret is to raising plants of such magnitude and she explains that it is "good ground, Vigoro, plenty of water and hard work."

"Actually, the real trick for big vibrant plants," Sally added, "is to pinch off the flowers immediately after they have bloomed. This makes the plant bunch out more."

* * *

The Campanaros selected the petunia as their favorite this year because it blooms early and even a slight frost in the late fall cannot wilt the sturdy plant.

The blossoms are colorful and fragrant even when they are used as cut flowers in the house.

* * *

The foliage grew more than eight feet high and many of the brilliant red blossoms measured more than fourteen inches in diameter.

The Campanaros have giant zinnias, salvia and marigolds that reach waist-high. This year, however, the lowly petunia is the feature attraction of the entire flower garden.

Vines Can Add Much to Home

Besides Beauty, They Shade Walls, Lower Temperatures

Anne Hathaway's vine covered cottage long has been a symbol of domestic felicity and peace.

By today's standards, most people would think this cottage was overplanted, but a few vines around a property do add touches of beauty and peacefulness that cannot quite be reached in any other way.

Take the purple, white or pink clematis with its large velvety flowers. Or the everblooming climbing roses, full of hundreds of colorful blooms most popular with nearly everybody.

There's the cool, green ivy which shades many walls of homes and other buildings from the hot summer sun, lowering the temperatures of the walls making house more comfortable indoors in hot weather.

* * *

Vines serve many purposes. If your garage is not particularly attractive, try two climbing roses, one at each side of the door, at the corners of the building.

If your porch faces either the morning or afternoon sun; a vine can shut out the glare, keeps it cooler and more comfortable in hot weather.

* * *

Climbing roses on fences that separate properties give privacy and are inoffensive to neighbors who also injoy them.

A few vines are especially effective insulation for the house where the summer sun heats up walls facing the west.

For milady in the kitchen what is more entrancing than a climbing rose planted so that its lovely flowers peek around the edges of a kitchen window pane or two?

Try 2 Compost Piles

If there is space, try to have at least two compost piles in the works. Keep adding light garden debris to the new one, and be sure to turn the finished pile, which now is working into humus, at least once during the summer. Keep them moist to encourage bacteria.

From the Garden Editor

Word comes this week from Lewis P. Gaspie, 23 W. Burdick, Oxford, that he had new potatoes and green corn out of his garden for Sunday dinner.

Mrs. Jessie Monti, 662 Westbrooke, called us to say that her hen and chicken had blooms on it. They have berry-like blossoms, Mrs. Monti reports.

Another call came this week from Mrs. Glenn Miles, 46 W. Strathmore, reporting that her potted amaryllis was in bloom.

The blooms are pure white and very fragrant, Mrs. Miles said. She's had the plant for quite a few years and it blooms once a year.

* * *

It's time now to start thinking about any necessary shrub and tree planting come fall. Pick out and order your material early for the good reason that selections are widest.

Don't fertilize your roses again until cooler weather sets in. This will give them a rest period for their second bloom.

Trees Operate Now on Stored Rations

Some trees now are operating on "emergency" rations. This is the food woody plants have stored away to draw on when needed.

Because of the replacement greenery, home owners may be unaware their trees can use a helping of extra vitamins to ease the drain on food reserves. O. L. Follin, field representative of the Davey Tree Expert Co., advises the best way to reestablish growing vigor is to see that trees get adequate helpings of food high in nitrogen content.

Feeding trees showing their second foliage garb is doubly important since they are open to attack by leaf-eating insects. Loss of this second leaf crop could seriously weaken tree friends.

Leaves are the trees' food manufacturing factories and tree men recommend feeding as the only proved method for countering folioage loss, whether from frost, insect attack or disease.

No More Grass to Cut!

Try Checkerboard Patio

SAN FRANCISCO (INS) — There never was a man who hasn't, at one time or another as he pushed a lawnmower, said: "This grass has got to go."

But what keeps the grass — and the dandelions and chick weed—flourishing in most yards is the barren look of a completely tiled or concreted yard.

A San Francisco landscape architect, Douglas Baylis, has come up with an ideal compromise — a garden which combines squares of brick with squares of planting of trees, shrubs and flowers.

You have the benefits of a large patio, but the feeling of a small friendly one; a minimum of maintenance, yet one with the full complement of a garden, various types of growing plants.

* * *

The brick terrace is 12 by 28 feet and is laid out in six by six foot rectangles with 12 square openings left for planting. Plants vary from low ground covers such as sweet alyssum to tall pine trees.

Walks in a checkerboard pattern extend on either side of the yard to the back of the lot.

To make the checkerboards, the walkways are sectioned off in squares by the use of redwood dividers. This gives more pattern and color and prevents a too solid area of brick.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—What is the proper time to move Japanese irises?

A—Mid-September to late October. They should have time to become established before soil freezes.

* * *

Q—Can you give me some information on foxgloves? The foxgloves which were placed in the perennial border last fall have bloomed beautifully this season.

Is it wise to dig out these healthy-looking plants after they have finished blooming, or will they bloom again next year?

A—The common foxgloves (digitalis purpurea varieties) are biennial; that is, they live for two years, blooming the second, and generally die or become straggly the third year.

* * *

While some of the old plants might bloom the third year, the flowers are likely to be inferior. Therefore, I would suggest you rip them out — unless they happen to be a perennial kind, such as the digitalis ambigua.

* * *

Q—Should a delphinium be fed while in bloom, and if so, with what? After the flower spike withers, should it be cut from the plant?

A—It is unnecessary to feed a delphinium plant while it is in bloom, but it is a good idea to work superphosphate into the soil around each plant early in the spring.

Plants can be fed with a liquid fertilizer after the bud shoots have formed.

After the delphinium flower spike has faded, it should be cut off, but remove only the flower spike, leaving the foliage on the lower part of the spike to feed the plant. The entire spike can be cut off after the leaves have browned and new growth from the crown is well along.

* * *

Q—What shall I do for aphids on nasturtium?

A—It helps to cut off the older leaves which are most infested. But the only sure cure is spraying with malathion or lindane.

Control Crabgrass by Killing Seed Head

Continuous Rain Leaches Fertilizer

Any spell of continuous rain will leach from the soil most of the fertilizer that was applied in the early spring. In that case, you will need to replenish with new fertilizer after a washout.

* * *

Soluble fertilizers are most effective and easily applied as evidenced by the increasing use of this method by greenskeepers and landscape contractors. Frankly, it is economical to employ one of the many concerns offering a fertilization service.

Such concerns likewise provide a weed eradication service, particularly important in the case of crabgrass, the worst of all lawn pests. However, with the many available crabgrass killers the home gardener should get control with one or two applications.

The time to control crabgrass is before the seed heads develop. Bear in mind that it is the seed, not the plant, that survives the winter to plague you next year.

* * *

Asparagus will feed gardeners next year if they feed it and let it rest this autumn. Home gardeners are advised not to harvest asparagus after July comes in or if spears become thin. The crop is a perennial and needs time to store food in its roots for next year.

It will need fertilizer, especially if it did not get heavy applications in the spring. Broadcasting or sidedressing with three pounds of complete fertilizer per 100 square feet will satisfy the need. Cultivating will work fertilizer into the soil and help control weeds.

* * *

So much is written and said about insects being destructive to plants that it is no wonder most homeowners regard "bugs" found in flowers, shrubs or trees as villains.

Actually, many insects are extremely beneficial to plants. Some aid in the pollination of blossoms, thus helping in the production of seeds and fruit; many destroy other species of insects that feed on plants.

Among the latter, the lady beetles rank high in importance. Lady beetles, often called lady bugs, ladybirds and ladybird beetles, have a ravenuos appetite and, with the exception of one genus containing the Mexican bean beetle and the squash beetle, their food consists of other insects — aphids or plant lice, scale insects and similar small, soft-bodied plant pests and their eggs. It is said that a single adult lady beetle devours 50 or more injurious insects each day.

Your Vegetable Garden Needs Regular Cultivation

By regular and frequent shallow cultivation, weeds are destroyed before they make much growth. Deep cultivation, especially near the plants when they are small, should be avoided.

The garden should be cultivated thoroughly after each rain as soon as the soil has dried off sufficiently, and as often in addition as is necessary to control weeds.

Cultivation should begin as soon as the plants are up, provided the soil is not too wet.

Uusually more seed is planted than is required for a stand, and thinning is necessary. As soon as the plants are well started and show signs of being crowded, the weakest plants should be pulled out.

Root crops should be given ample room to develop properly. Beets carrots, turnips and parsnips need from three to five inches between plants. Radishes require two inches.

Head lettuce, spinach, Swiss chard, endive and other leafy crops should be thinnned so that the plants stand eight to 12 inches apart. The thinnings may be used for food or transplanted.

Bean plants should stand four inches apart; onions three or four inches; corn 10 to 12 inches between stalks or two or three plants in hills 24 inches apart; tomatoes three to four feet apart; peppers, eggplants, and cabbage 20 to 24 inches apart, and cucumbers three plants each in hills four feet apart, or 12 inches between plants in the row.

As a means of conserving soil moisture and keeping down weeds, mulches of strawy manure, leaves, lawn trimmings, and similar materials are sometimes effective.

A mulch of strawy manure is beneficial, especially for crops which require a continuous supply of moisture and very liberal fertilization.

Make the most of the garden by planting late crops after the early vegetables have matured.

Spring spinach, onions, kohlrabi, lettuce, and radishes are among the first crops to mature. Peas come second, with beets, carrots, and early cabbage maturing later in July.

Late beets, carrots and rutabagas sown after the first of July will be crisp and tender for storing through the winter. Celery and endive may be planted by the middle of July.

Leaf lettuce will mature, if sown up to the first of August. At this time, also may be sown late spinach and turnips.

Set Mower Blades at Height of 2 Inches

Make certain the mower blades are set high—at least two inches during hot periods of the year so that longer blades of grass may provide some shade for the root system of the lawn.

If rain fails to provide necessary moisture, give the lawn a thorough drenching, deep enough to do some good and to last several days.

$100--It's Yours for the Solution to Puzzle No. 9

Another week — another $100: that's what the Press will pay to the reader who comes up with the correct solution to Pot-O-Gold Puzzle No. 9, the newest challenge in our fascinating summer word game. Other than the clues below, the best advice we can give is to read the rules carefully before sending in your entry. Have fun, and good luck!

The puzzle consists of (1) a number of circles which contain a few scrambled letters, and (2) a corresponding list of clues to these words printed below. The object is to arrange each group of circled letters into a word that best fits its clue. The word which you select for Circle No. 1, then would be the one which you would print in the space to the right of (1) below.

You'll notice that some circles contain $ signs in pots of gold. You may use such a symbol as any letter you wish. However, it and all letters in that circle must be used. The $ sign, of course, can represent ANY letter in the word.

Do the same in all the other circles. Study the clues carefully and arrange all the letters into words that you believe best conforms to these clues. Use your $ signs to help you spell out the right words.

OFFICIAL CONTEST RULES

1. Anyone is eligible to enter the POT-O-GOLD contest with the exception of Pontiac Press employes or their immediate families.

2. A contestant may submit as many entries as he or she wishes but they must be on official entry blanks printed in this newspaper.

3. To submit an entry the contestant must print his answer words in the proper spaces, cut out the area enclosed by dotted lines and attach it securely to a 2-cent postcard. No entries will be accepted if they are in envelopes. Entries for Puzzle No. 9 must bear a Tuesday, July 31, postmark (or before). No entries received after that time, whether mailed or delivered by hand, will be declared eligible. The Press is not responsible for entries lost or delayed in the mail.

4. Sorry, telephone calls or mail concerning details of the contest cannot be answered or acknowledged.

5. The Pontiac Press will award a cash prize of $100 a week to the winner of each weekly POT-O-GOLD contest. If more than one winning answer is received the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If any week or weeks should pass without any winners, the prize will be added weekly until a winning solution is submitted.

6. Winners will be awarded an extra cash bonus of $25 each if they are Pontiac Press subscribers of record on the day winners are announced. Only one such bonus can be awarded to each prize-winner, no matter how many weekly prizes may accumulate.

7. Each week's puzzle will be published Monday, Wednesday and Friday until the contest's end, Labor Day. Either or all will be considered as official entry blanks.

8. Winners and correct solutions will be announced each Friday of the week following individual contests. Official keeper of answers will be Frederick C. Ziem, prosecutor for Oakland County. Only the General Features Corp., originators of the puzzles, will know the solutions until after each contest is over. Answers will be delivered to the Press judges by Mr. Ziem after the final deadline.

9. There is only one correct solution to the POT-O-GOLD puzzle, and only that correct answer can win. The decision of the judges is final and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. All entries become the property of The Pontiac Press and none can be returned.

10. Completed puzzles must be addressed to POT-O-GOLD, POST OFFICE BOX 58, Pontiac, Michigan. Winners will be notified either by telephone or in the mails.

Quiet Dining, Dancing vs. Stars

Las Vegas Showman Finally in Chips

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (INS) — The Las Vegas showman-gambler who brought the first $30,000-a-week stars of Broadway and Hollywood to the casino restaurants claimed today he may have broken the back of high entertainment costs with a new policy of quiet dining and dancing.

Bill Miller, who launched his new policy at the $5,500,000 Dunes Hotel this summer, says he's making money at last.

"I'm not working for the stars now," said the one-time operator of the Sahara Hotel who introduced to Las Vegas such stars as Marlene Dietrich, Helen Traubel, Donald O'Connor, Red Skelton, Mae West, Dennis Day and Ann Blyth.

High entertainment costs, Miller claimed, were partly responsible for the closing of three new resorts last year. Two of the three, including the Dunes, have now reopened.

Miller still believes that gambling is the No. 1 attraction along the neon-lighted strip, but he thinks the big-salaried entertainers have siphoned all the gamble out of the business.

His dining and dancing theory — devoid of big name single acts — works on the theory that you can keep people happy by keeping the husbands and wives together.

Miller explained that under the big-name, one-hour show policies established in other Las Vegas bistros, couples are thrown out into the casinos after the show with little else awaiting them except a crap table for the guy and a slot machine for the gal.

"Instead of big names, I'm using big name bands . . . dinner and dancing continuously from 7:30 p.m. to 4 a.m. nightly. That way mama and papa get a chance to dance and romance," Miller said.

He admitted that the new entertainment policy has proven to be a big hit.

There's only one hitch, Miller said mournfully. Fifteen years ago there were 200 big name bands in the country, now there are only 20.

Candy's Not So Dandy, Dogs Bicker Quicker

DETROIT (AP) — In June, Detroit's postmen were given candy to pass out to dogs along their routes. It seemed a sure way to win canine friends and reduce torn pants and nipped shins.

But there'll be no more free candy for Fido.

Hal Boyle Says:

Phone Call to Mom Helps Newlywed Brides

NEW YORK (AP)—What do brides complain about most on a honeymoon?

"Surprisingly, the problem girls mention most often is that they miss their mothers — they feel homesick," said psychologist Harold Greenwald. "But usually a phone call home makes them happy again.

"I've never met a bridegroom who admitted he felt lonesome for his father. Women are more willing to tell their honeymoon troubles than men. Most men feel they have to keep a stiff upper lip—like Gary Cooper."

Dr. Greenwald, a midtown psychoanalyst, is something of a specialist in the woes of honeymooners. As staff consultant for the Hotel Concord, a Catskill Mountain resort at Kiamesha Lake, he has acted as adviser to hundreds of newlywed couples.

* * *

"After homesickness," he remarked, "the most common problem brides mention is their husband's lack of orderliness. They are completely dismayed by the way he throws his clothes around. Brides have a neater nesting instinct. They can't understand how a man can be so untidy, and maybe they worry a bit that they'll have to spend the rest of their lives picking up after him."

"My husband isn't attentive enough. I thought he would have eyes only for me on my honeymoon. But he wants to golf, swim and play cards. I don't understand him. How can he really love me if he is so interested in all those other things?

"Why do I always have to tell my husband the things I want to do? If he were absolutely in love with me, would I have to put everything in words?"

Dr. Greenwald, admitting that this feminine trait often was found in wives married 30 years, said it was undeniably difficult for any man to learn to read a woman's mind or anticipate her whims, but added:

"It does show the desperate importance of communication between newly married people—the need to find a language of their own."

* * *

Some men make the same complaint about their brides — that they don't instinctively understand them, he said.

'Horror House' Gives Up Victim

Baby, Missing 5 Days, Found Alive in Former Lair of Killers

LONDON (INS)—London's grim "Horror House" of Notting Hill, scene of at least eight murders, has given back a victim—alive.

Ten-week-old Edith Taylor, missing since Sunday, was found unharmed by police in the house where multipue sex slayer John Christie and murderer Timothy Evans once lived.

The baby vanished along with 19-year- old Theresa Harlow, who lived in the same rooming house.

A policeman recognized the Harlow girl on the street today. She took officers to the home—dubbed "Horror House" by Londoners—where tenants were caring for the baby.

HELD FOR KIDNAPING

taking a child away from its parents.

Finding the child alive and unharmed in the "Horror House" most savage cases of passion and murder in the city's history.

The house at 10 Ruston Pl., in the shabby Nothing Hill Gate District of London, three years ago disgorged the bodies of six victims of the executed Christie.

Christie was convicted in 1953, of strangling his wife with a stocking. He claimed he did it to put her out of her agony during a convulsion and then hid her body under the parlor floor because he couldn't stand to be separated from her.

Christie, following his arrest after one of Britain's largest postwar manhunts, confessed the "kiss and kill" slaying of at least six other women.

Police uncovered, in addition to the body of Christie's wife, two skeletons in the garden and three more women's corpses walled up in a cubby hole.

Motorcyclist Killed

MONROE (AP) — Jack Raymond Tomkinson, 29, of Erie Shore, was killed yesterday when his motorcycle collided with an automobile while he was returning home from work at the Consumers Power Co. The accident occurred on U.S. 25 seven miles south of Monroe.

Cancer 'Patient' in Movie Faces Real Life Role

* * *

In that film produced by the American Cancer Society, Sandra played the role of a cured cancer patient. The object was to show that early examination and detection of cancer could cut down on deaths from cancer.

Sandra, 14, had been cured of cancer before that movie role. Then she contracted it again after five years. A second operation and she appeared to be the winner again.

* * *

Now for the third time she's undergoing treatment. She's being treated at the Oak Ridge (Tenn). Institute of Nuclear Studies.

This is Sandra's biggest role.

Cross Burners Visit Rayburns

Police Tracing Leads on Nighttime Prowlers at Congressman's House

BONHAM, Tex. (AP) — A flaming cross was found burning last night on the front lawn of the home of House Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex), who was in Washington at the time.

* * *

Rayburn's sister Mrs. Edward Bartley, the congressman's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rayburn, and Mrs. Oscar Scott of Cooper, Tex. were at the country home two miles west of here. A neighbor called Mrs. Bartley to tell her the cross was burning on the law.

* * *

"I can't imagine why anybody would want to do a thing like that," Mrs. Bartley said. There had been no threats nor any incident like it, she said.

Police said no arrests had been made but they were working on several leads.

Patrolman Thurman Renfro said the neighbor who called the Rayburn home, Lloyd Green, told him he saw a pickup truck drive up between 8:45 and 9 p.m. Green said the truck stopped in front of the Rayburn home and a man and a woman got out.

* * *

Green said he thought the truck had a flat tire. A few minutes later he saw the couple get back into the truck and as it was being driven away he saw the burning cross.

Chief Issues Invitation to Fire Control Talks

LANSING (AP) — All citizens interested in the problem have been invited to attend the governor's Fire Prevention Conference Monday at Grand Rapids.

"In 1955," McAllister said, "we had 61,600 fires as compared with 54,700 the year before. These fires cost more than 34 million dollars as compared with 32 million dollars in 1954 and killed 196 persons as compared with a death toll of 169 the previous year.

Garage Sold in Cadillac

CADILLAC (AP) — A city garage has been sold to I. T. Wedin & Co., manufacturer of precision gauges. The company said it would open a factory in the building to employ 100 persons. The city said the building, containing 13,000 square feet of floor space, was sold for "over $42,000."

Hollywood Headlines

Mark Tony Perkins Well — He's on His Way Up

By DOROTHY MANNERS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Henry Fonda returns to Hollywood by Oct. 1 to start "The Tin Star," a glorified western, for William Perlberg and George Seaton at Paramount. And the boy who is coming up the fastest of any young actor in Hollywood, Tony Perkins, also is in this picture.

Mark this Tony Perkins well. Not that I want to be clobbered by the loyal fans of James Dean, but not since Jimmy has there been a young actor with the talent and appeal of this boy.

By the time he starts the Perlberg-Seaton picture he should be established as a full fledged star. He has a backlog of big pictures, "Friendly Persuasion," (with Gary Cooper), "The Lonely Man," (Jack Palance), "The Actress," with Jean Simmons and "The Jim Piersall Story" to put him over.

Ava Gardner's new heartbeat, good-looking Italian Walter Chiari, gets the comedy role in "The Little Hut," and if she didn't like him she wouldn't have him around that close, you can bet on that.

Chiari plays the chef, shipwrecked at the same time with Ava, Stweart Granger and David Niven, who pretend he's a native and demands Ava as his own, saying it's an old tribal custom.

Heavenly Day! First a minister's daughter, Carol Morris, wins the "Miss Universe" contest and gets a U-I contract, and now a minister's wife, Marie Cheseboro, wife of the Rev. Alan Cheseboro, pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Sherman Oaks, is being tested by Hal Wallis.

Mrs. Cheseboro, who is blonde and very pretty, is a summer vacation neighbor, along with her husband, of the Wendell Coreys at Malibu. When Wendell, who is in "The Rainmaker" for Wallis, found out she has acting ambitions he told Hal about her.

Here and There: Houseguesting with Diana Dors and her husband Dennis Hamilton in their new Beverly Hills home is Raymond, famed hair stylist and TV coiffeurist from London. He's brought with him the sketch for a new hair arrangement for Diana called—what else—"The Diana Dors Do." It's for blondes only . . .

Valerie French has decided that movie making at Columbia in Hollywood and marriage to British scrip writer Michael Pertwee, in London, won't work out. They've made the separation legal . . .

Batomie Schneider, head of talent at Columbia, has set up a Bob Francis scholarship as a perpetual memorial to Francis, who was killed in a plane crash. It's for actors between the ages of 19 and 25 for one year . . .

If your feet hurt you'll appreciate these lines of dialogue from "The Burning Hills." Natalie Wood says to Tab Hunter, "What do you want out of life?" says Tab, "I just want to get to the place where I can take my boots off."

Rhonda Fleming spends her birthday Aug. 8 on the road beating the tom-toms for "Queen of Babylon," the movie she made in Italy a year and a half ago.

Edward G. Robinson checked into the Beverly Hills Hotel. His friends will be glad to know that Luis B. Mayer is much improved recuperating at home.

* * *

Army Aide Speaks

GRAND HAVEN (AP)—Assistant Secretary of the Army George H. Roderick was a surprise guest Wednesday at Spring Lake Country Club where more than 575 businessmen attended the annual Salute to West Michigan, sponsored by the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce. Roderick is a former chamber president.

Find Rifle in Lake, See Link to Gorham Slaying

MUSKEGON (AP)—Sheriff's men are trying to determine if a .22 caliber rifle found in Lake Michigan off Muskegon State Park holds clues to the unsolved slaying of Boy Scout Peter Gorham.

The 12-year-old Evanston, Ill., lad was fatally shot after he vanished from a nearby camp last July.

His body was found Aug. 14. Police said he was the victim of a light-caliber gun, but neither bullet nor weapon was found.

The rifle under inspection was found Wednesday by Dawn Johnson, 13, and Karen Meinke, 14, while wading about 50 to 75 feet offshore. The spot is about four miles from where Peter's body was discovered.

Back to Civilization in Beautiful Prague

By EARL WILSON

PRAGUE—The Wilsons are nearing Civilization again!

Poor us. For a month we haven't heard anybody mention Elvis Presley.

We heard "O Mein Papa" booming across a Moscow park. But it wasn't so good without Eddie Fisher.

A story about potential rioting—as in Poland—can't be Czeched or double-Czeched. But if they did riot, Khrushchev would certainly call them "bum Czechs." (Yeah I've been away too long.)

PRAGUE TODAY

After flying from Moscow—about 1,000 miles—we were dazzled by this satellite city . . . so well-fed, so well-dressed by comparison.

The girls here . . . gee, they look like girls.

At home I seldom look at a candy store window. But here I gawked at one. We hadn't seen a nice candy store for so long.

She wasn't "our Dagmar"—but at least she was a girl.

How nice to sit again in a cocktail lounge (at the Hotel Alcron). To read English-language newspapers. To learn in the Times of London that I Love Lucy is 2d and Roy Rogers 5th on British TV.

Walking the streets, I spied the word "Automat." It was merely a stand-up restaurant but seeing the word gave me a little tingle.

And hot dogs which the Czechs call "parkies"—two long franks, a hard roll which you eat separately, with a big gob of mustard. Wonderful!

People told me here that Budapest, home of the Gabors, no longer has pretty girls.

Hungarians in private make a sign. They cross their wrists—meaning "We are in chains."

On a train here a man asked me in broken English to do him a favor. Would I write to his sister in a western state?

"I've been unable to get a letter through to her in 6 months. Tell her I'm very unhappy. Things are not good with me here. I wish I could be with her."

The man got off our train and boarded one taking him toward another part of Czechoslovakia. Longingly and enviously he looked at us . . . rolling OUT of the land of Communism, which he can never do.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y. . . .

Some insiders predict that Martin & Lewis will reunite in a few months. Hope so! . . . Olsen & Johnson, Marty May, Johnny Puleo, and Betty George give the Latin Quarter one of its best & funniest shows. At the opening: Glenn McCarthy, also Ray Ryan, off for South America on a big oil deal.

A Big Name's worrying about whether he should wear a toupee on TV . . . Bill Holden, unable to get a visa to Russia, went to Honolulu . . . Julia and Nicky Darvas go to Australia to star in a stage show during the Olympics.

Al Steele's bon voyage gift to Joan Crawford was a $200,000 diamond-and-emerald necklace (designed by Andre Fleuridas) . . . Chicago censors OK'd the play, "The Bad Seed," but gave the film an "adult only" tag . . . Dean Martin's agents wouldn't let him do the Steve Allen—or any other—TV'er . . . Shirley Jones, who's already a movie star, is taking dramatic lessons.

Diana Barrymore's biographer, Gerold Frank, says the job took ten years off my life" . . . Judy Holliday's a ptomaine victim . . . Larry Puck is packaging a T&V Happy Fella" get back Marion Marlowe . . . Backers of "Most Happy Fella" get back half their dough Saturday, after 100 performances . . . Sylvia Syms, who has one of the big hit records from "My Fair Lady," can't get tickets to the show.

Joe DiMaggio's frequent date at Atlantic City was ex-Miss America, Lee Ann Meriweather . . . The Edith Piaf-Jacques Pils divorce is set for Dec. 9 . . . Sammy Davis Jr. bought the TV story, "Magic Horn," and will star in the film . . . Tina Louise joined the "Li'l Abner" cast.

EARL'S PEARLS . . .

Nowadays people feel like pioneers if they have to spend a rainy Sunday with a television set.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: "Today's housewife has only to push a button to get her dishes done. Her mother had to push a husband."—D. O. Flynn.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: "Geiger counters can make you a fortune," says Hal Jackson, "—if you're selling them."

Operation Alert Has Problems

CD Chief Says Results Show Exercise Proved to Be 'Productive'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Officials who supervised "Operation Alert" say it was "productive," but that much still remains to be done in preparing to cope with problems stemming from a possible nuclear attack on the United States.

"We are beginning right now to work out a better performance next year," Civil Defense chief Val Peterson and defense mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming said yesterday in a statement assessing the results of the six-day drill.

During the test, which ended Wednesday, some 10,000 federal officials and key employes left Washington for prepared relocation sites. There they went through the motions of running the government in the wake of mock hydrogen and atomic assault on 75 population and industrial centers in the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii. Canada co-operated in the exercise.

President Eisenhower, who took only a limited part in this year's operation, proposed yesterday that some 42 relocation sites maintained by federal agencies be staffed on a skeleton basis the year around so they can be put into full use more swiftly.

In general, Peterson said no nation every will be entirely ready to meet "the crushing impact and the savage consequences of a nuclear attack."

At about the time Peterson was saying this, a House Government Operations subcommittee was rapping him for placing major emphasis on evacuation as a Civil Defense measure. The subcommittee called this concept "dangerously shortsighted," saying that all indications are that in any future war there will not be enough warning to evacuate masses of people in time.

Canadian Radar Alarm to Be in Use by Jan. 1

OTTAWA (AP)—Canada's minister of defense production says the 170-million-dollar mid-Canada radar warning system is expected to be put in service on its Jan. 1 target date.

The statement by C. D. Howe to the House of Commons indicated that the North American radar warning system will go into full operation next New Year's Day.

Officials have said previously it is intended to bring the distant early warning (DEW) line in the Canadian artic into operation at the same time mid-Canada line is put in service.

The government of Colombia has launched a settlement and development program to utilize a 240,000 square mile area which is virtually uninhabited.

Probe Lauds Loyalty of Americans Abroad

ROME (AP)—A U. S. loyalty board has ended hearings here involving Americans working for international organizations with praise for the "fine caliber" of civil servants employed abroad.

* * *

Henry S. Waldman of the loyalty board said four Americans appeared before the panel in Rome during its four-day hearings here. This cleaned up the investigation which involved about 5,500 cases, he said. He did not identify the four.

The International Civil Service Loyalty Board was set up three years ago as an advisory body concerned with the loyalty of citizens employed by or considered for employment by international organizations.

Personnel work in American industry has increased to the point where now there is nearly one personnel expert for every 100 employes.

Lions Lose Court Fight for Dublinski

In a ruling yesterday Chief Justice J. C. McRuer of the Supreme Court of Ontario dismissed an application by Detroit Lions to have their former second-string quarterback prevented from playing with the big four club.

He threw the Detroit suit for $10,000 against the former National Football Leaguer out of court and ordered the Lions to pay court costs.

In dismissing the case, Chief Justice McRuer denied the legal validity of the option clause in American football contracts, since it was under this clause that the Lions were suing Dublinski for breach of contract.

The Lions said at a four-day hearing last March that Dublinski signed a two-year Argo contract for $17,500 a season last year while still under option until May 1, 1956. The club testified he was paid $7,750 for the 1954 season and turned down an offer for $14,000 for 1955.

* * *

An option, he said, did not give the Lions a right to Dublinski's services for another year, but only gave the club a right to renew a contract with him. He said that right could only be exercised if the Lions stated what salary the quarterback was entitled to receive under the renewed agreement.

* * *

A clause forbidding Dublinski to play with any other club without the club's and the league's permission, Chief Justice McRuer described as a "negative covenant."

He said that after a contract has been terminated an employe can do no harm to his former employer by failure to perform a negative covenant.

* * *

At the Lions' training ground in Ypsilanti, Mich., Detroit general manager Nick Kerbawy said there has been no decision on whether to appeal the ruling.

* * *

He said the ruling may "upset the contracts of Canadian football teams" since many of them have option clauses. He said the Lions now may get halfback Tom Tracy's services, since he, though drafted by Detroit, is being held by the Big Four Ottawa Rough-riders under an option clause ruled valid by NFL commissioner Bert Bell.

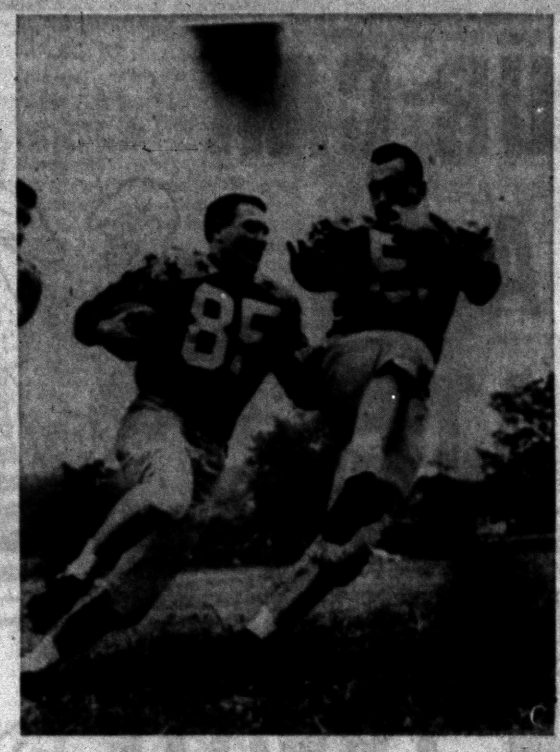

* * *

Dublinski, 25, was with the Lions for three years and was considered a logical successor to Bobby Layne, the Lions' regular field general.

* * *

In his first season in the Big Four last year, Dublinski was the leading passer, completing 225 of 388 tosses for an average gain of 9.1 yards.

The 1960 summer Olympics will be held in Rome.

HOPALONG YOU ALL-STARS — Halfbacks Howard "Hopalong" Cassady (left) Detroit Lion draft choice from Ohio State and Jack Losch of Miami University do some fast stepping at the College All-Star training camp in Evanston, Ill. The stars are drilling for the August 10th game against the pro-champion Cleveland Browns in Chicago.

While most colleges will be getting ready to play their first football games about September 10th, Wayne University will just be getting football practice underway. The rule of the President's Conference forbids starting practice before registrations for classes.

THE POWERHOUSE

By JIMMY POWERS

A good many of his admirers believe the young infielder should hang up his spikes for good. They fear serious injury may befall the hard luck kid of the Dodgers.

INJURIES?—HAS HAD PLENTY OF 'EM

I got to thinking of Don's two fractures and how different the situation is in football, where multiple fractures, including those of the verterbrae, usually find the recovered victim eventually back in harness, sometimes still wearing a brace.

In boxing, multiple fractures of the nose and knuckles are regarded as mere occupational hazards. Ditto hockey.

BELONGS IN CLUBHOUSE

There is no question here that some member or members of the Dodgers leaked the story of Walt Alston's pep talk to the press.

A give-'em-hell talk during a slump or a slackening in play is customary. In fact, the day the story of Alston's "chicken fricassee" broke, another popped out of Cleveland.

The Brooklyn manager had the decency to confine his rebuke to the closed clubhouse. I'm sure Alston didn't leak the story. It must have been a Dodger. So who is humiliating whom?

What happens in the clubhouse on occasions like this should stay in the clubhouse. If Alston took a punch at several of his rabbit-eared hired hands, that's different.

That's a story. That's unusual. Punch back and make way for the newspaper photographers and the newsreelers! That's news. But a routine, "c'mon-you-gutless-bums-let's-start-hustling," doesn't send me at all.

Keego Boys 9 Stays in Race

The Keego Harbor Boys Club stayed right on the heels of the league-leading Pontiac Police in Class D and a pair of sparkling mound performances were recorded in the Knothole loop to spotlight Thursday's Junior baseball action.

* * *

John Lucadam and Armstrong both clouted home runs to pace a nine-hit attack as the runner-up Keego squad trimmed Waterford, 10-4. LaPratt hurled for the winners and scattered eight safeties. It was the 4th straight setback for Waterford.

* * *

Sherman of the Auburn Heights Boys Club pitched a one-hit shutout as his team drubbed the Senators, 19-0, and Ron Burnstrum turned in a two - hitter while the Indians were shellacking Earl's Market, 21-1, in Knothole League games. In another Midget tilt yesterday, Joslyn Market trounced Mahan Realty, 14-6.

Arnold Drugs walloped GMC, 13-7, and Boys Club No. 3 forfeited to Osmun's in Class F activity.

Tigers Whipped, 11-6

Hoeft's 20-Game Bid Dims

The 24 - year - old southpaw dropped his 9th decision yesterday to the Baltimore Orioles, 11-6 with 11 triumphs, and just 52 games remaining on the schedule, the burrhead doesn't figure to get many more than a dozen starts before the 1956 campaign winds up.

Not since Prince Hal Newhouser won 26 games in 1946 have the Bengals produced a 20-game winner.

Hoeft lasted just three and one-third innings yesterday. The Orioles slammed him for seven runs, three of them on George Kell's 6th home run into the lower deck in left field.

After Hoeft came Ned Garver and young Bob Miller and both pitched effectively. Garver stayed around for just two outs, and Miller's only trouble was an unearned run in four innings. Steve Gromek, who pitched the 9th, was blasted for a two-run homer by Gus Triandos and a solo clout by Tito Francona.

The Tigers threatened to overcome a 3-run deficit in the eighth but the ninth inning home runs —the 16th and 17th off Gromek who leads the pitchers in that department—put the contest out of reach.

Hoeft set the Orioles down in order in the 1st, but ran into trouble with wildness and errors after that. He walked two batters in the second. Coupled with Harvey Kuenn's error and base hits by Triandos and Billy Gardner the Birds brought in two scores.

Four straight safeties—singles by Ray Boone, Bob Kennedy and Frank Bolling and a pop fly double by Red Wilson—put the Tigers into a short-lived 3-2 lead in the bottom of the second. Kennedy and Bolling worked a double steal in the middle of the rally.

But Hoeft was no more effective in the 3rd than in the second. He walked Kell and gave up a double to Bob Nieman. Then he walked Francona, and a bad 4th ball that skipped past the catcher and another base hit by Gardner sent the Orioles back into the lead, 4-3.

The Washington Senators come in tonight for a 3-game weekend set. Pedro Ramos, fast-balling young righthander, will be manager Chuck Dressen's choice to oppose the Tigers' Frank Lary, who has eight wins and 11 defeats.

Big Net Weekend

O. L. Invitational, Tri-Club Meet Set

By H. GUY MOATS

Country club tennis enthusiasts are in for a big weekend, with one of the major doubles invitationals of the state and the annual Tri-Club junior boys and girls tourneys, starting today.

Top interest is focused upon the third annual doubles invitational at Orchard Lake Country Club beginning at 9 a.m. Sunday, with finals set for 4 p.m.

Annual Tri-Club tourney, a split-division affair, with the girls playing on the Orchard Lake courts and the boys at Oakland Hills had its usual large entry. Clubs involved are Pine Lake CC, Oakland Hills and Orchard Lake. Many promising young players are involved in the singles and doubles for players under 13, those under 15 and the top group, under 18 years of age.

* * *

Some of the Midwest's top talent will be seen in the Invitational at Orchard Lake. The tourney is limited to 20 pairs and 18 teams are now on the lists, director Jean Hoxie said today.

Seeded No. 1 for foreign entries are Loren Main and Jim Bentley of Toronto, Canadian Davis Cuppers. From Sarnia will come Dr. Lukk and Jim Desmond, strong campaigners. Other team entries include two from Bay City, two from Cass City, two from Lansing, a team from Cleveland and the balance from the Detroit metropolitan area.

Fred Otto who won last year's title with Don McKay, will be back, but has not indicated his partner. He is a former Big 10 player. Dick Potter (1957 U. of M. Captain) and MSU's Tom Belton are paired in one of the top teams. Andy Payton has not named his partner.

Among strong contenders in the junior Tri-Club event are; from Orchard Lake, Kathy Kyes (15) Sadie Tuttle (15) and club women's and girls' champion Mary Slater (under 18), Dave Bird (18), Bruce McCaull (15) and the tourney's youngest player Ricky Berndt, 9 year old and Art Treganza (13).

At Oakland Hills — Anne Rakas (18), Linda Rakas (15), Barbara Koblock (18), Jeff Crawford (15), Kent Rakas (13), Don Marshall (18). Last year Oakland Hills took 10 of the tourney's 12 trophies, Will Horton, veteran coach said yesterday.

Pine Lake's top entries are Carl Gierok (13) Steve Smith and Bob Raush (15).

General Motors experienced a close shave, but still managed to win its 19th consecutive Class A City Baseball League decision Thursday night at Wisner Field.

The Anderson Jets battled "tooth and nail" with the league leaders before bowing, 1-0, in an overtime contest. GMC scored the winning run in the bottom half of the 8th inning after two men were retired.

Terry Thomas doubled and Judge Booker, whose bat has been steaming all season, rifled a single to register Thomas and end proceedings in the 1st extra stanza.

Herman Bishop, veteran GMC hurler, went the route and silenced the Jet bats with only two singles in the 1st and 5th innings by Hurston Avery and Monroe Moore. Jim Williams pitched for the Jets and gave up seven safeties in his ill-fated efforts.

Entries Lag for Women's Golf Tournament Saturday

Entries are lagging for the annual Women's Medal Play Golf Tournament, scheduled to get under way at 12 noon Saturday at Pontiac Municipal Golf Course.

* * *

Only six feminine shotmakers were entered in the 18-hole tourney late Thursday afternoon, according to Cres Barner, proprietor of the Municipal links. "If we don't receive enough additional entries, the tournament may be cancelled," Barner said.

Defending champion Mrs. Edith Wright is not registered as yet. Mrs. Wright downed Mrs. Zadah DeBolt in a "sudden death" playoff to win the title last summer. Only nine golfers took part in the 1955 event.

Heading the list of six now entered is Mrs. DeBolt, who paired with her husband Ross to capture the Mixed Two-Ball Foursome tourney at Municipal July 14. The WMGA star looms as a strong threat for the crown.

Another strong golfer is Betty Sue Syron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Syron of Pontiac Country Club. Completing the present player roster is Lucy Everett, Pat Wilson, Dorothy Selle and Jerry Featherstone.

Olympic Champ Heads Ice Show at Michigan State

EAST LANSING —Carol Heiss, Olympic figure skating champion, will star in a summer ice show, "Stars On Ice," Aug. 16-18 at Michigan State University.

Carol, from New York City, will skate the solo number that won her the Olympic championship. She also will perform in numbers with her sister, Nancy, 1955 national junior ladies champion, and a brother, Bruce, the 1956 eastern junior men's champ.

Cast of the show will be recruited from skaters from 16 states, Canada and France who are using the MSU ice arena to polish their performances.

State Golfer Tied for 9th at Baltimore

BLATIMORE (AP)—Kirk Smith of Tecumseh, Mich., is one of 11 golfers tied for 9th place going into the 2nd round of the Eastern Open Golf tournament today.

Smith and 10 others fired 70's yesterday in the opening round of the 72-hole battle. Smith turned in 36 and played the back nine in 34.

Pairings Made for Net Meet

The Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department has announced pairings for the annual City Open Tennis Tournament, scheduled Saturday at Oakland Park. Play begins at 9 o'clock.

Competition will be restricted to a single division, men's singles, due to an insufficient number of entries in the other classes. A field of eight netters will bid for the city championship tomorrow.

Ralph Alee will battle Dennis McCartney on court No. 1 and Dale Bunce will meet Ralph Florio on the 2nd court. Gary Wright faces Ronald Bounke Jr. on the 3rd court and Leon Hibbs tackles Jason Goode on court No. 4. All 1st round matches start at 9 a.m.

Semifinals get under way at 10:30 with the title match slated at 1 p.m. A trophy will be awarded to the tourney winner.

Detroiter Shares Title

DEAUVILLE, France (AP) — William Guse of Detroit, Mich., teamed with Dr. C. A. Rudisill of Tampa, Fla., to win the four-ball handicap match in the International Seniors' individual golf championship here.

Drayton Drug rallied in the 7th inning to nose out Emmanuel Baptist, 3-2, and Lakeland Pharmacy routed Thrifty Drug, 17-2, in Waterford League softball games Thursday night at Drayton Plains.

The Drayton team maintained its half-game edge over runner-up Lakeland in the hotly contested title chase with a two-run uprising in the final inning. Pitcher Bill Goulet walked and Cecil Hanes singled. Both runners advanced when hurler Bill Pittman uncorked a wild pitch, then tallied the tying and winning runs as Marshall Rose delivered a single.

Emmanuel took a 2-1 lead with a single run in the 6th and the margin looked good until Drayton's closing surge. Hanes and Rose accounted for all of the winners' safeties with two apiece. Baptist made five hits off Goulet.

The 15-run rule was invoked in the nightcap when Lakeland scored its 17th tally in the 7th inning. The winners scored at least once in every stanza and collected 14 hits, including a two-run homer by Jim Long.

Pontiac Oldtimers Meet Toledo Outfit

Pontiac's International Oldtimers League baseball club travels to Toledo on Saturday to meet the Ohio city's league representative. The team members are requested to convene at Veterans of Foreign Wars hall, South Saginaw street, before 10 a.m. The trip will be made by automobile. Game time is 2 p.m.

Manager Bud Leslie said he would start lefthander Lou Wolf, with Lynn Wood back of the plate.

Victory for Mexico

PORT DALHOUSIE, Ont. (AP) — Roberto Retolaza of Mexico City defeated Art McKinley of the Detroit boat Club yesterday in the single sculls finals of the Royal Canadian Henley Regatta.

Cornelius Takes Lead in Women's Open Meet

DULUTH, Minn. (AP)—Mrs. Kathy Cornelius, a 23-year-old mother with sparkling eyes and a putter to blend, carried a narrow lead against a swarm of established money winners today in the second round of the Women's National Open Golf Tournament.

With a glossy three-under-par 33 on the back nine, the brown-haired Lake Worth, Fla., pro matched par 73 at tough Northland Country Club in the opening round yesterday to slip in front of a corps of more renowned contenders.

One stroke back were Mrs. Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C., and Beverly Hanson of Apple Valley, Calif. Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga. and amateur Barbara McIntyre of Toledo, Ohio were two strokes away at 75.

While most of the circuit relables were in good challenging position, defending champion Fay Crocker of Uruguay, was practically out of it with a whopping 82.

* * *

Save for Mrs. Cornelius' par-equaling effort, forged by a warm putter that produced three birdies on the last five holes, Northland's sharp-pitched hills gave the field an exhausting battle.

* * *

Winner of the St. Petersburg, Fla. Open earlier this year, Mrs. Cornelius went relatively ignored in pre-tournament speculating.

The prospect of defending her lead under pressure did not seem to disturb her. "I'm not thinking about the pressure," she smiled. "First place is the only place to be in the tournament."

Coast Boys Collide in Net Semifinals

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—An Australian, an Easterner and two players from Los Angeles were to battle it out today in the semifinals of the junior singles of the Western Junor and Boys tennis championships.

Top-seeded Norm Perry of Los Angeles faced fellow townsman Bob Degaldo. Rod Laver of Melbourne, Australia, was pitted against Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., in the other semifinal singles match.

Perry had it easy yesterday, beating Ed Neeley of Atlanta, 6-4, 6-2. Degaldo beat Rudy Hernando, Detroit, 1-6, 6-3, 8-6. Laver had a tough match under the hot sun before beating Roger Werksman, Los Angeles, seeded No. 3, rallying after a 6-4 loss to win the next two sets, 6-3, 6-4. Dell trimmed Earl Buchholz, St. Louis, 6-4, 5-7, 6-3.

Three Shutouts in City Softball Loop

Shutouts returned to the topsy-turvy City Softball League scene Thursday night when three sizzling masterpieces were tossed in the four-game card at Beaudette and North Side parks. A lopsided girls' league slugfest was thrown in to relieve the monotony.

Shaw's Jewelers tightened their grip on 1st place in the American League with a 1-0 victory over Royal Bar at North Side. Elks No. 810 nipped Stadium Inn by the same count, 1-0, and Bicmar Inn upset GMC, 7-0, in American division games at Beaudette. The Pulver Tire girls thrashed Gingellville, 24-2, on the North Side diamond.

Shaw's Perce McConner continued his brilliant pitching by besting Roger Reynolds of Royal Bar in an airtight duel. McConner limited the Royal club to a pair of safeties while Reynolds was touched for three. The Jewelers scored the winning run in the 4th when Edgar Mullins doubled, stole 3rd and scampered home on Louis Seay's single.

Ed Miller of the Elks spun a magnificent one-hitter to gain a hard-earned triumph over Stadium's Ed McManus in another mound battle. A single by Bill Almas, a walk to Dick Allen and Don Lunsford's double tallied the Elks' run in the 2nd inning, a single by Don Wilson was the lone hit off Miller while McManus yielded three.

John Helisik scattered six safeties to whitewash GMC as Bicmar jumped on starter Doug Hall for five runs in the 2nd stanza. The Bicmar squad added two more runs in the 5th in its surprise upending of the Coachers.

Pulver lashed out with a 17-hit attack during its romp over Gingellville. Beverly Jackson cracked a three-run homer in the 3rd inning and Verlyn Dawson hurled a four-hitter.

These Are Young Ideas

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Colored baseball bats?

Yes. But the idea goes all the way back to Michael Angelo.

Michael is the 9-year-old bat boy for the St. Anthony's midget-midgets team. He doesn't guarantee the results of his innovation, but he does say:

OK Saxton, Basilio Battle

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York State Boxing Commission has given world welterweight champion Johnny Saxton the go-ahead and so he'll give Carmen Basilio a chance to reclaim the crown in Syracuse Sept. 12 or 19.

* * *

Saxton, who lifted the title from Carmen in Chicago by decision last March 14, previously had been banned in New York State since the commission, headed by Julius Helfand, had refused to license his manager, Frank (Blinky) Palermo. The ban was lifted when Helfand decided it was preventing Basilio from trying to re-win the title.

Saxton, 26, was allowed to set up the fight by himself, although Helfand in the past has cricitized such arrangements.

Wins Semifinal Spot

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—Ray Senkowski of Hamtramck, Mich., breezed into the semifinals of the 15-and-under division of the Western Junior and Boys Tennis Tournament yesterday.

Second seeded, Senkowski eliminated unseeded Don Canton of Pensacola, Fla., 6-3, 6-0, in the boys' division.

About 65 per cent of the current crop of major leaguers bat right-handed.

DRESS REHEARSAL — Frank D'Agostino of Auburn helps West Virginia's Sam Huff into his jersey as the tackles get ready to work with the College All-Stars at Northwestern University. The big boys will be in the thick of things against the champion Cleveland Browns in the All-Star Game.

Sally Sharp Enters Semifinals

MUSKEGON (AP)—Medalist Sally Sharp, looking for her 1st major victory, meets former champion Mrs. E. O. Reynolds today in the semifinals of the Michigan women's amateur golf tournament. Mrs. Jack Scripsema, Grand Rapids city champion, plays Mrs. Keith LeClair in the other match.

Overtime matches that ended at the 144-yard 2nd hole decided three of yesterday's four quarter-finals duels at the Muskegon Country Club.

Miss Sharp, 19-year-old Michigan State University co-ed, squeezed out Mrs. Donald Weiss of Flint with a par 3 on the hole. Her tee shot reached the green and she was down in two putts. Mrs. Weiss' drive fell short and she had to chip on before taking two putts for a four.

* * *

Mrs. Weiss, four-time state women's amateur champion, forced the match into overtime by rallying to cut Miss Sharp's 2 up lead after the 16th hole.

A pair of fours on the 17th and 18th by Mrs. Weiss squared the match, played in a muggy, dead calm. Each took a five on the 19th.

Mrs. Reynolds was forced into extra holes for her victory when caught at the 18th by rMs. John Laboskey of Port Huron. Mrs. LeClair also lost a lead on the back nine and was sent into the sudden-death extra-hole routine that ended on the same green. She defeated 17-year-old Phyllis Preuss of Chelsea.

The only match that ended in regulation play was the one that saw Mrs. Scripsema defeat Mrs. V. E. Ryden of Flint, 4 and 3.

Mrs. Reynolds, smooth-swinging lefthander from Lansing, won the 1954 crown.

Both Mrs. LeClair of Ypsilanti and Mrs. Scripsema are making their best showing in this event. Mrs. LeClair's previous peak was winning the Detroit Women's District medal-play title the last two years.

2nd Ace at Pine Lake

A five-iron shot that flew straight to the pin on Pine Lake's No. 2 green accounted for the club's 2nd ace of the season Thursday. Pete Booth hit the tee shot on the 165-yard hole for his 1st hole-in-one. His round card was 90.

THURSDAY'S FIGHTS

LOS ANGELES—Gil Velarde, 131, Los Angeles, outpointed Jimmy Moser, 126½, Niagara Falls, N.Y., 10.

Thomson Takes Pace-Setting Job for Braves

NEW YORK (AP)—Last week Joe Adcock was spraying home runs, this week Bobby Thomson is swinging the heavy bat as the Milwaukee Braves roll on adding to their first-place hold in the National League.

* * *

Thomson's latest contribution to the Milwaukee drive was his 16th homer of the year yesterday that gave the Braves their final run as they mauled the last-place New York Giants, 11-0.

* * *

It was Milwaukee's fifth straight victory and 14th in 16 starts since the All-Star game. While the Braves were winning Cincinnati's Redlegs lost their third straight to Brooklyn, 5-3, and Milwaukee stretched out to a 5½ game lead over the Redlegs and six over the third-place Dodgers.

THURSDAY'S HOME RUNS

Settle AAU Titles

3 on Line in Ohio Meet

CUYAHOGA FALLS, Ohio (AP)—Three of the National aau swimming championships will be settled tonight in the 100-meter Waterworks Pool of this Akron suburb. Nine other titles are at stake over the weekend.

* * *

The 3-meter diving, in which 44 are entered, the 400-meter individual medley and the 1,500-meter freestyle are tonight's events. Preliminaries in the medley and the diving will be run off late today.

A field of 284 is entered in the entire meet, which will serve as a warmup for the Olympic trials to be held Aug. 7-10 in Detroit.

Some of the hottest competition will come in the 1,500-freestyle, in which the AAU defending champion is George Oneaka Jr. of the Hawaiian Swim Club.

* * *

Spotted as the chief contender in this event is young George Breen of the Buffalo Athletic Club, formerly of Cortland State College, who holds the best time of 18 minutes 5.9 seconds compared with Oneaka's 18:49.7 and the AAU outdoor record of 18:19 set in 1949 by H. Furuhashi.

George Harrison of the Berkeley (Calif.) Swim Club will be defending his title in the medley in a field of 33 entries.

12 Nominated at Arlington

Track Closes Saturday With Fisherman Listed as Top Choice

CHICAGO (AP) — Twelve of the turf's fastest horses have been nominated for tomorrow's $154,850 Arlington Park Handicap which will close the track's meeting.

C. V. Whitney's Fisherman did a fast workout yesterday for the 1 3-16-mile race which will be run on the turf course. Fisherman did 6 furlongs handily in 1:11.

* * *

Porterhouse, the only horse who has beaten the great Swaps this year, and Mister Gus arrived by plane from California yesterday. Impasse, a longshot, also arrived by plane yesterday from New Jersey.

* * *

* * *

Mrs. H. L. Nathenson's Blue Choir appears the probable favorite and is to be ridden by jockey Willie Hartack.

Swaps, who has broken four world's records in the last five months, is due to arrive from California tomorrow for the Washington Park meeting which will open Monday.

British Jaguars Have Best Times

LEMANS, France (AP)—Powerful British D-type Jaguars, which swept top spots in the Rheims 12-hour race, made a repeat performance last night in making the best trials times for Saturday's 24 hour Grand Prix of endurance.

Mike Hawthorn established an unofficial track record of 188.632 kilometers (117 miles) per hour over the course which has been modified since last year and now is 13.461 kilometers (8.36 miles) around.

The course has been slightly shortened and many safety factors added since last year's disaster which took 90 lives in the worst crash in auto racing history.

Western Final Pits Ohioans in Title Test

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio lasses will battle it out for the Western Girls tennis championship. They are top-seeded Carolyn Wikoff of Middletown and unranked Gwyneth Thomas of Shaker Heights.

* * *

Miss Wikoff, runner-up in last year's tourney, dropped her first set in the 18-and-under semifinals yesterday, but rallied to defeat Jean Sorum, Madison, Wis., 2-6, 6-2, 7-5.

* * *

Lynn Lawson of Middletown and Nancy O'Connell of Chicago meet a Hamtramck, Mich., pair — Virginia Hesse and Phyllis Saganski —for the doubles crown.

Chinese Girl Enters 'Miss Tennis' Contest

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Northern California's entrant in the "Miss Tennis, 1957" contest at Forest Hills, N.Y., next month is Chinatown's shapely and pretty Lillian Jung.

Lillian is 24 years old, 5-foot-5, 115 pounds and 35-25-35.

She even plays tennis. She is ranked No. 3 nationally among Chinese women players and shares the national Chinese mixed doubles crown.

MORE PLYMOUTH OWNERS USE STANDARD GASOLINES THAN ANY OTHER BRAND

. . . Chryslers and Imperials, too!

CAN MOTOR OIL SAVE GAS?

Your car can give you more gas mileage than you're getting . . . if you use Super PERMALUBE! See your Standard Dealer . . . he will tell you how and why.

We believe that leadership in sales is a reflection of the quality of products and services offered by Standard. STANDARD Gasolines, for example—both WHITE CROWN Premium and RED CROWN—have been raised in octane levels again and again. Now, they have just been given another octane boost. There is a STANDARD Gasoline that's right for your car . . . to fulfill the exacting anti-knock requirements of high compression 1956 cars . . . and older cars as well. STANDARD Gasolines are seasonally balanced, too, with controlled volatility to prevent vapor lock in hot summer weather. These fine, clean-burning gasolines are designed for all 'round smooth, efficient, economical performance.

That's why more Plymouth, Chrysler and Imperial owners, and for that matter, more owners of all these cars—Dodge, DeSoto, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile, Buick, Cadillac, Ford, Mercury, Lincoln, Nash, Hudson, Studebaker and Packard —use STANDARD Gasolines than any other brand.

Lion Coaches Expect Help From Army Vets

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit Lions coaches hope the return of three members of the 1953 world championship team from two-year army hitches will enhance the squad's National Football League title chances this year.

Lary, former Texas A& M star, served as defensive safetyman and punter on the 1952 and 1953 Lion squads. He played pro baseball in the Minor Leagues after his discharge and reported to summer camp only two pounds under his playing weight.

Defensive coach "Buster" Ramsey said Lary "seems to be just as quick as when he left us. He's been knocking down everything thrown in his direction in drills."

Gedman, who played college ball at the University of Indiana, declared he was "ready to go" when he showed up at camp.

Lion aide George Wilson said Gedman still has the "take-off" speed and good power he displayed as a freshman pro back in '53 and should give the Lions plenty of help.

Two seaons play at Sheppard Field in Texas have kept Spencer, onetime Kansas standout, in shape for the NFL grind. Line coach Aldo Forte said Spencer "will make a big difference in '46."

Blind Golfers Team With Pros in Tournament

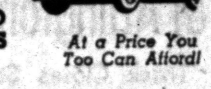

CHICAGO (AP)—Sixteen blind golfers from throughout the nation teamed up with 16 Chicago professionals today in an 18-hole prelude to the annual 36-hole National Blind Golfers Tournament which will be held Saturday and Sunday.

Charley Boswell of Birmingham, Ala., is on hand to defend his title which he has won seven times. The former halfback for the University of Alabama lost his sight in the battle of the Bulge in Europe. Boswell won last year on rounds of 100-103—203.

Play is at the Navajo Hills Country Club.

Braves Add Game to Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Milwaukee Braves never had it so good. Since shifting their franchise from Boston in 1953, they've never enjoyed as much as a 5½-game lead in the National League. But that's what the Braves have today, joining the Brooklyn Dodgers in a pair of five-game winning streaks that have reduced the pennant race to a two-team scrap.

There may be some dissenters among Cincinnati fans, but the Redlegs looked anything but healthy after losing three straight to the Dodgers. Brooklyn completed the sweep 5-3 yesterday, crumbling Cincinnati's hold on second place to a scant 4 percentage points and a half game.

* * *

That gives the Braves, who again laid the wood to the last-place New York Giants 11-0, a six-game edge over Brooklyn — with a four-game series ahead in Ebbets Field beginning Monday. In the meantime, Milwaukee goes to Philadelphia and the Dodgers are at home to the Chicago Cubs for weekend series.

The sixth place Phillies were thumped 14-9 by St. Louis last night. The seventh-place Cubs lost to Pittsburgh 4-0.

In the American League, the New York Yankees must surely have convinced the Chicago White Sox this was another Bomber year defeating the Pale Hose 8-5 with 11 singles. In fact, about the only non-believer in the AL is Hank ("I expect-the-1956- World-Series-to -be -played-in-Cleveland") Greenberg, whose second-place Indians made it six straight with a 1-0 victory over Washington but still trail by 8½ games.

Rain halted the Cleveland game, scheduled as the opener in a doubleheader, in the seventh inning.

A 10th-inning home run by Ted Williams gave Boston a 5-3 decision over Kansas City. Baltimore grabbed back a full share of fifth place from Detroit, beating the Tigers 11-6.

The Yankees bunched five singles and a walk for five runs and 5-3 lead in the fifth against Chicago's Jack Harshman. Mickey Mantle had three of the Yank hits, Don Larsen won in relief as New York made it 11 out of 17 against the Chisox.

Gene Woodling's two-out home run in the sixth beat Chuck Stobbs and gave Bob Lemon his 13th victory. The Indians had only two hits until the sixth.

"What's Wrong With Me?" — Roberts

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"You tell me what's wrong with me; I don't know," says Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies.

* * *

Roberts, the brilliant righthander who has won 20 or more games in each of the past six years, is experiencing the roughest season since his rookie year in 1948, when he won seven and lost nine, the only time he wound up under .500 in the won and lost column.

* * *

The highest paid pitcher in baseball— he receives an estimated $50,000 a year —Roberts has won 10 and lost 11 so far in 1956. His earned run average is 4.34. When you note that his highest previous major league ERA is 3.69 in 1950, and that he hasn't been above 3.28 in the past six seasons, it gives you some idea of what a miserable time Robbie is having.

* * *

It's not the number of defeats that catches your eye in the Roberts case, but rather the way he loses. He's been knocked out of the box seven times this year, twice by St. Louis, once each by Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, and Brooklyn, and twice by Milwaukee. He's really been hit hard. Take last night for example. The Cardinals kayoed him with seven runs on nine hits, including two doubles, two triples and a home run.

* * *

It begins to look increasingly doubtful that the 29-year-old Springfield, Ill., native will reach the charmed 20-game circle this year. Time and his shabby performance appear against him. It used to be when Roberts lost, it was a close, well-pitched game in which his mates just didn't give him enough support. True, he has lost three or four such games this year, but of late, Roberts has been given plenty of runs. He's giving the opposition more.

Ref Beats Timer

Fans Protest KO for Texan

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A part of the 1,276 fans who turned out still don't think so but Donnie Fleeman of Midlothian holds a knockout over Ted Poole of Wichita, Kan.

Fleeman got the decision last night as he floored Poole in the eighth round with a right to the jaw. Referee Homer Hendrix counted him out at the same time that the knockdown timer was tolling off the count on the public address system — and the two weren't together. The timer was 1 count behind Hendrix.

It caused a portion of the fans to threaten a riot. One of them took a punch at Hendrix from outside the ring but landed only on the referee's legs. Police stepped in and broke up the budding riot.

It undoubtedly caused Poole to think he was "snake-bit" as to his bouts with Fleeman. He lost to the Midlothian light-heavyweight June 21 on a split decision that a flock of fans didn't like. He was leading Fleeman on points last night when the Midlothian walloper got across the punch that gave him his seventh knockout in nine fights. Fleeman hasn't yet lost a fight. Poole has had only two and lost them both—to Fleeman.

CC Beats 5 Points to Tie for Second

When Central Christian edged Five Points Community Club 3-2 in a Church softball League game last night, the victory threw the loop's runnerup spot in a three-way knot.

Game was a mound battle between Five Points' Koerink and Kerr of CC. Each allowed four hits.

Fink's 2-hit pitching gave Memorial Baptists a 11-4 win over Columbia Baptists. Two errors spoiled a shutout for Fink. Jawokski for winners had 3 for 4 trips, including a homer.

Other games included a 8-7 win for Liberty Baptist over Oakland U. P. A 13-10 victory for Galloway Lake over Marimont Baptists and a 7-3 win for Silvercrest Baptists over First Baptists in an exhibition. Glen (Wimpy) Johnson gave up seven hits.

Diaper Champs Named to Start U.S. Skate Meet

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Skaters got down to business today in the week - long American amateur roller skating championships after opening last night festivities in which two champions were crowned.

Reed Adamson, 6, Greeley, Colo., won the diaper division speed championship last night, while Darlene Edwards, Erie, Pa., won the diaper division singles title.

Audrey Payton of Glasgow, Del., was named American roller skating queen. She was Eastern Regional queen.

Fred W. Martin, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., first secretary-treasurer of the sponsoring Roller Skating Rink Operators Assn., was named to the roller skating Hall of Fame at Detroit, Mich.

Skaters yesterday set three speed records in preliminary heats before the seven-day classic officially opened. A total of 1,024 skaters from across the land are competing for 85 American championships.

U.S. Rider Winner of Coveted Award

LONDON (INS)—Bill Steinkraus of Westport, Conn., captain of the U. S. Olympic equestrian team, yesterday won the King George V Gold Cup, the most coveted individual riding trophy in the world.

The Gold Cup is the top award of the International Horse Show being held at London's White City Stadium.

It was the 1st time since 1951 that there had been no jumpoff final for the trophy, which was presented to Steinkraus by Queen Elizabeth II.

Top O'Michigan Sunday, Aug. 5

Record Number of 280 Entries Expected for Outboard Marathon

TOPINABEE, Mich. (AP) — The 87-mile Top O'Michigan Outboard Marathon scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 5, had drawn more than 200 entries. Before the field is completed, a record number of 280 boats is expected.

More than 50,000 spectators are expected to view the racers as they speed away from Topinabee for Cheboygan and back. They will return through Mullett Lake into Indian River and Burt Lake, through Crooked River and Crooked Lake to Conway, and then to Topinabee.

Doctoring Your Golf Game

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Shut club face

DIAGNOSIS: Reverse wrist action

TREATMENT: I need hardly mention that golf is a game of a thousand theories. That's because everyone is searching for the "secret" of hitting the ball longer and straighter. It can be very confusing.

One theory, for example, is that of swinging counter-clockwise. In this the back of the left hand is turned under immediately in the backswing. The result? A shut club face at the top of the swing. The further result? A hook, or even a pulled shot. And often a smothered shot.

Don't go for this reversed wrist action. It's strictly a corrective measure to overcome slicing. The simpler, sounder, more natural way to a straight ball with consistency is, as the sketch shows, the proper first movement in the backswing—the one-piece start in which a straight line is maintained from clubhead to left shoulder as the club is swung straight back straight from the ball in a low sweep.

Then, as you see in the sketch, the wrists do not begin to break until the arms have been extended to a point slightly beyond the right hip. Keeping the head still, this is where the hips begin to rotate into a natural body turn, the weight shifts to the right leg as the left side follows around freely. As I explained earlier, there is pronation, but the wrist roll, ever so small, comes of itself. You don't think of wrist movement.

Albert Begins Coaching Post

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Frankie Albert starts the actual moulding of the 1956 San Francisco 49er team tomorrow and the former star quarterback faces the toughest job of his football career.

* * *

Last season the local pros sagged and Coach Red Strader was fired at the end of the year. Then Albert, an all-America at Stanford in 1940 and 1941 and a star 49er after that, took over.

* * *

Tomorrow 36 rookies, plus several veterans, report to the 49er training camp at St. Mary's College. The squadron from that season come en masse on Aug. 4. The first pre-season game is against the champion Cleveland Browns at Kezar Stadium on Aug. 19.

Several key positions must be filled and a lot depends on the success of a foot operation on star halfback Hugh McElhenny. Hugh says he's ready.

Sluggers' Victory Keeps Club in Race

Sluggers were forced to come from behind yesterday at GMC field to edge Crusaders 8-7, to keep alive their chances in the Free Methodist Church Softball League title race. Rod Andrews and Larry Drake turned in some fine fielding jobs for the winners.

Crusaders held a brief lead in the 6th on pitcher Ron Helsel's two-run homer, but lost it when Sluggers finished with a 4-run final frame rally. LeRoy Brooks tallied the winning run, and was also top hitter for the game.

Detroit Stable Brings $74,850 at Track Auction

Leach said he is retiring from racing because of ill health.

Comes in Five-Odor Set

Each Fish to Get Its Own Scented-Baited Lure

LANSING (AP)—A man who has spent much of is adult life studying fish says it will take a lot more study before the effect of scent-baited lures is known.

Anglers have been tampering with scents for years. Now a manufacturer is marketing a five-odor set designed to attract trout, catfish, bass and panfish, carp and salt water fish.

"I'm open minded about these new developments, but I'm skeptical about this one," says Dr. Justin W. Leonard, chief of research for the state conservation department.

"Certainly a fish has a sense of smell, but whether a scent which could attract him has been developed is another question," Leonard says.

* * *

This scientist, Leonard says, concluded that the uncanny sense by which the salmon return to their "home" rivers to spawn is actually a sense of smell, the ability to detect different smells in different waters.

What about the ability of a fish to see differences among lures?

"Quite a lot of work on that subject was done by the University of Illinois," Dr. Leonard says. "Scientists sought to determine the reaction of fish to lures of three or four different colors. They established that fish knew the difference between the colors, but there was no proof that they favored any one of them."

Dr. Leonard could not say whether any attempts have been made to lure fish by the use of sound.

Assemblymen Clash With Korean Police

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Sixty opposition assemblymen clashed with club-swinging national police today in a 50-minute demonstration that ended in a sitdown in front of the U.S. Embassy.

The Assembly members gathered to protest what they called police interference in their efforts to register for approaching local elections. They paraded about 200 yards toward the Seoul City Hall when police moved in and a pushing and shoving match began.

Mounted officers finally encircled the demonstrators on a street in front of the American Embassy. There the assemblymen sat down in solid ranks. Tension lessened gradually and the demonstrators dispersed.

There were no reports of serious injuries.

Producer-Adventurer John Mears Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death has ended the career of John Henry Mears, a theatrical producer who twice set records for circling the globe.

* * *

He managed the John Drew Theatrical Company for eight years and was in stage ventures with Florenz Ziegfeld and Morris Gest. He was a lyricist for such composers as George Gershwin and Harry Tierney.

* * *

Mears circled the globe in 35 days in 1913, traveling 21,066 miles. This time was beaten later, but Mears recaptured the record in 1928, when he flew with Capt. Charles B. D. Collyer over the same route in 23 days. This mark stood for five years, until Wiley Post beat it in 1933.

Pheasants Blamed for Driver's Mishap

* * *

Hall told investigating police his car hit a shoulder and went off the highway when he took his eye off the road for a moment to watch the pheasants. The crash occurred on Pontiac Lake Rd., near M59.

Detroit Electrical Firm Plans Kentucky Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Construction of a 3 million dollar electrical equipment plant in Lexington, Ky., has been announced by Square D Co., manufacturer of electrical distribution and control devices.

Plans call for a plant to provide 150,000 square feet of floor space. It will be built on a 29-acre site. Work is scheduled to begin within 60 days with completion due in one year.

Steel Settlement Steadies Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Announcement of a steel labor settlement brought a slight steadying influence to the declining stock market today.

Bethlehem Steel recovered about a point of its earlier 3-point loss. Gulf Oil, which had sunk as much as 9⅛ points on anxiety over Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal, recouped about three points of the loss.

* * *

Within minutes of the steel announcement there was visible improvement but the market was still down and the steel shares fluctuated narrowly after their initial recovery.

Gulf Oil was a sufferer because of its heavy oil reserves in the Persian Gulf. Royal Dutch lost about five points, then shaved a fraction of this. Texas Co. was down around three and shell about a point.

The steels slipped today after recent gains as the word was awaited on the conclusion of the steel negotiations. U. S. Steel was off about a point as was Youngstown Sheet & Tube while Republic dropped a fraction.

Today's stock market reversal came after six straight daily advances. Because of this, the market was in a sensitive technical position, brokers said, and all that was needed was a decided piece of news to touch off either a rise to challenge record highs or a retreat.

'Friendly' Elk Shoves Fishing Woman in River

Mr. and Mrs. Swan of Lewistown stopped to fish southwest of Malta. Mrs. Swan, who is secretary of the Landless Indians of Montana, said she was sitting on a camp stool, awaiting a bite on her fish hook, when an elk slipped up behind her and nudged her into the water.

* * *

Mrs. Swan said she does not know whether the elk was being playful or was displaying more than ordinary curiosity.

Lack of Foresight Cause of Detroit Airport Rhubarb

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Government Operations subcommittee today described the Detroit airport dispute as "an excellent example" of a lack of foresight in developing metropolitan airports.

It put primary blame on federal agencies but added that "Detroit area officials have confusion."

A federal airport use panel recommended Nov. 4, 1955, that commercial airlines shift their operations from Willow Run Airport, 32 miles west of Detroit, to Detroit-Wayne Major Airport, 24 miles west of the city.

* * *

However, most of the airlines have balked at making the move. They have pointed to millions of dollars they have spent on terminal facilities at Willow Run.

The subcommittee headed by Rep. Mollohan (D-WVa), which has been studying the government's role in civil aviation, spent almost a week on hearings into the Detroit situation.

The group today released a report that said:

"The record is clear that over the years there has been a lack of foresight and intelligent evaluation of the facts in the expenditure of public funds in developing an airport plan for the Detroit metropolitan area."

* * *

It said the cost of preparing Wayne Major to accomodate the airlines "was given inadequate consideration" by the government panel.

The group also criticized a muddled situation regarding Detroit's proposed northeast airport. The subcommittee said it was not until after Detroit began condemnation proceedings for the land that the CAA decided the proposed location was too close to Selfridge Air Force Base.

Stassen Irks Ike, Confidants Say

Arms Aide to Hold Job Until Election to Duck 'Martyr' Label

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by several congressional Republicans today as irritated by Harold E. Stassen's continuing efforts to dump Vice President Nixon.

* * *

However, GOP lawmakers who professed to know something about the President's attitude toward his disarmament aide's anti-Nixon campaign said they do not expect Stassen to be fired.

One senator said the President was determined not to make a political "martyr" out of Stassen by dismissing him. This legislator said he expects Stassen to retain his White House job until after the election but not much longer.

* * *

A second GOP senator said he understands the President has said he did not sanction in advance Stassen's proposal that Nixon be supplanted by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Two other Republicans said they do not think Eisenhower will speak out on the matter until an expected White House news conference next week.

* * *

If Eisenhower follows his usual course then, they said they expect him to reaffirm his confidence in Nixon with little more than an implied rebuke to Stassen.

Car Dealers Discuss Advertising Plans

President Louis Sokoloff of Detroit reported that the officials were "optimistic" over sales prospects for the rest of the year, mainly because of a reported 32 per cent increase in zone sales for the first half of 1956.

Trustees who helped plan the coming campaign were R. W. Campbell of Flint; Michael Husak, Detroit; George Fisher of La Grange, Ind.; and William Smith of Port Clinton, O.

Detroit Parents Still Awaiting News of Son, 10

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the families of other Michigan survivors rejoiced, the Detroit parents of a 10-year-old boy waited prayerfully today for more news of those saved from the ill-fated Andrea Doria.

* * *

Pietro was coming home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tomaso Vermiglio, after a three-year stay in Sicily.

He was being returned in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Agrusa of Waukesha, Wis. The couple wept openly when they arrived at New York aboard a rescue ship without Pietro.

'WE LOST HIM'

"During the evacuation, when they called for women and children first, we lost Pietro," said Agrusa. "We don't know where he is. We can't do anything until we find him."

For most Michigan families with loved ones aboard the Andrea Dora or the Stockholm, yesterday was a long torment of grief and anxiety that ended in relief and rejoicing.

After hours of frantic telephone calls, welcome messages from New York began arriving—telling of a night of horror at sea but bringing an end to fearful wondering.

Ike 'Amazes' Doctors by Strength on Trip

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has been suffering some discomfort from backache and muscle soreness since his strenuous trip to Panama, but will probably not require another check-up at Walter Reed Army Hospital before the convention.

This was revealed today by a highly placed source, who said Ike "amazed" his doctors by the fortitude with which he withstood the long hours of standing and the tiresome sitting in uncomfortable chairs at the Panama Chiefs-of-State Conference

Court Tells Panhandle It Can't Cut Gas in State

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. has been denied permission by the Third U.S. Circuit Court to reduce its natural gas service to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which serves metropolitan Detroit and other Michigan areas.

Panhandle said it needs the gas going to Michigan Consolidated to serve other customers.

The decision upheld a Federal Power Commission order. The decision noted that Panhandle may re-apply for permission to cut service when a pipeline being constructed from Louisiana to Detroit starts providing a new source of natural gas to Michigan.

Hodge Pleads Not Guilty to 4 Charges in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (INS) — Former Illinois Auditor Orville E. Hodge pleaded not guilty yesterday to fraud, forgery and confidence game and was freed on $100,000 bond as a 30-day delay was granted.

The once flamboyant Hodge looked tired and tense as he stood before Circuit Judge DeWitt Crow in the Sangamon County Court House.

Papers Report Record High in First 6 Months of '56 in Linage

NEW YORK (AP)—National advertising carried in the nation's newspapers scored a record high in the first six months this year, it was reported by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and by Media Records Inc.

The June total for national linage—off 6.7 per cent from June last year—reflected a shary dip in automotive advertising, the ANPA bureau said. Automotive linage for the month was down 20.8 per cent from a year ago. The bureau attributed the drop to cut-backs in automobile production.

For the entire six months, however, automotive linage showed a gain of 1 per cent over the first half of 1955 to set a new high.

The record volume of all national advertising in U. S. newspapers in the first six months this year was 7.4 per cent higher than in the like year-ago period, the bureau reported.

* * *

General advertising, including local and national, remained at record levels both for June—up 1.4 per cent—and for the first six months—up 10.5 per cent.

First half record were set by retail advertising, up 2.4 per cent; total display, up 4 per cent, and classified, up 8.3 per cent. In the retail category, department store advertising was down 0.5 per cent from the first six months last year. Total retail linage from June was 1.9 per cent below last year's volume.

The bureau noted that financial advertising, up a hefty 13.7 per cent for June and 12.3 per cent higher for the first six months, still trails 1929 figures.

Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Air Reduction Co. Inc., reports sales of $43,043,813 and net income of $4,062,840 for the second quarter of 1956, setting new quarterly records. The sales and earnings figures compared with $37,393,239 and $3,697,188, respectively, for the same period in 1955. Earnings per share this year were $1.12, compared with 82 cents in the same quarter of 1955.

The Dixie Cup Co. earned $2,388,479, or $2.68 a share for the six months ended June 30, directors reported yesterday. Net income for the same period of 1955 was $1,972,711, or $2.38 a share.

Combustion Engineering, Inc., reports earnings of $2,630,282, or $1.14 a share, for the six months ended June 30. Earnings during the like period of 1955 totaled $2,937,321, or 92 cents a share. Sales for the first half of 1956 were $74,112,720 compared with $67,136,536 in 1955.

LANSING (AP) — Motor Wheel Corp. said net earnings for the first six months of 1956 totaled $1,058,835, equal to $1.32 a share, compared to $1,580,610 and $3.20 a share for the corresponding period last year.

The company attributed the decrease to lower production and competitive conditions in the automotive, agricultural implement and appliance industries.

The usual second quarter dividend was reduced from 50 cents to 40 cents. Sales during the first half of this year amounted to $38,717,182 compared to $43,808,336 in the 1955 period.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS) — Southern Natural Gas Co. net income increased 46 per cent for the 12 months ended June 30 on a gain of 24 per cent in revenues. Net income totaled $10,291,388, or $2.75 a share, compared with $6,953,-901, or $1.96 a share, the previous year. Revenue climbed $15 million to $71,-111,932.

A year ago the earnings amounted to $344 million, or $1.75 a share, for the half year. Income for the first half of 1956, from sales and investments, amounted to $3,494,000,000, an increase of $423 million over the previous year.

General Dynamics OKs Split of Common Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — General Dynamics Corp. directors voted today to split the common stock 3 for 2 and also declared a higher dividend.

* * *

The board announced that one new share of the stock will be distributed Nov. 10 for each two shares outstanding on Oct. 10.

At the same time, directors announced their intention to declare for payment on Nov. 10 a quarterly cash dividend at the rate of 75 cents per share on the presently outstanding shares.

Greyhound Plans New Terminals in 7 Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Greyhound Corp. plans to spend $11,267,000 for new bus terminals in seven cities to meet long-range growth requirements expected to stem from the recently-approved federal highway program, president Arthur S. Genet announced.

Two new terminals, in Philadelphia and Jacksonville, Fla., will be opened this fall, he said. Other depots are planned for Milwaukee, Richmond, Va., Pittsburgh, Detroit and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Assemblymen Clash With Korean Police

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—Sixty opposition assemblymen clashed with club-swinging national police today in a 50-minute demonstration that ended in a sitdown in front of the U.S. Embassy.

The Assembly members gathered to protest what they called police interference in their efforts to register for approaching local elections. They paraded about 200 yards toward the Seoul City Hall when police moved in and a pushing and shoving match began.

Mounted officers finally encircled the demonstrators on a street in front of the American Embassy. There the assemblymen sat down in solid ranks. Tension lessened gradually and the demonstrators dispersed.

There were no reports of serious injuries.

Corn, Soybeans Lead Grains Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Corn and soybeans led grains higher in fairly active dealings on the Board of Trade today.

* * *

Buying in corn sent that grain jumping around two cents at one time, the September delivery leading. Soybeans also were up a few cents. Wheat opened a little lower and then rallied in sympathy with other grains.

* * *

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ⅝ higher, September $2.15⅝; corn one to 1⅞ higher, September $1.48⅝; oats ⅛ to ¾ higher, September 73½; rye ⅝ to 1¼ higher, September $1.39½; soybeans 1¼ to 1¾ higher, September $2.45; lard unchanged to 12 cents a hundred pounds higher, September $11.40.

Producer-Adventurer John Mears Dies

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Death has ended the career of John Henry Mears, a theatrical producer who twice set records for circling the globe.

* * *

Mears, 78, died yesterday in a hospital.

He managed the John Drew Theatrical Company for eight years and was in stage ventures with Florenz Ziegfeld and Morris Gest. He was a lyricist for such composers as George Gershwin and Harry Tierney.

* * *

Mears circled the globe in 65 days in 1913, traveling 21,066 miles. This time was beaten later, but Mears recaptured the record in 1928, when he flew with Capt. Charles B. D. Collyer over the same route in 23 days. This mark stood for five years, until Wiley Post beat it in 1933.

Pheasants Blamed for Driver's Mishap

A brief glance at a pheasant and her chicks strolling alongside the road caused a Waterford Township man to lose control of his car and hit a tree early this morning, Waterford Township police reported today.

* * *

Hall told investigating police his car hit a shoulder and went off the highway when he took his eye off the road for a moment to watch the pheasants. The crash occurred on Pontiac Lake Rd., near M59.

Business Notes

DETROIT (AP) — Leroy B. Bornhauser, a native of Evansville, Ind. has been appointed general manager of the axle and transmission division of Chrysler Corp. In other staff appointments announced yesterday, Arnold W. Hartig, was named to the staff of R. S. Bright, Chrysler's group vice president of basic manufacturing. Arthur M. Swigert was appointed plant manager of the Detroit Universal Division.

Appointment of Trombley, Pisani & Trombley, of Birmingham, as industrial design consultants to the Admiral Corp. has been announced by J. R. Oberly, vice-president of the appliance division. The local firm will participate in the design of Admiral's appliance lines.

Robert E. Larsen, of 393 Eileen Dr., has been named to Mutual of New York's honorary Career Club by leading all of the insurance firm's first-year under-writers in production, officials announced today. The Pontiac field representative has been with the company since June of last year.

Addison Man Injured as Car Runs Into Tree

Richard Doyle, 22, of 2444 Devonshire, Addison Township, is in "fair" condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after being injured in an early morning accident on Johnson Street.

He reportedly suffered multiple face cuts and a fractured leg when his car went out of control and struck a tree.

Witnesses told police the Doyle car had driven through a gas station and struck a street sign before it went off the opposite side of the road and hit the tree.

Center Line Pair Held in Theft of 2 Outboards

Two Center Line men were arrested yesterday afternoon and lodged in the Oakland County Jail under investigation for grand larceny.

The pair are reported to be suspected of having taken two outboard motors from boats on White Lake in White Lake Township last Sunday morning. The total value of the motors is estimated at $600.

Detroit Electrical Firm Plans Kentucky Plant

DETROIT (AP) — Construction of a 3 million dollar electrical equipment plant in Lexington, Ky., has been announced by Square D Co., manufacturer of electrical distribution and control devices.

Plans call for a plant to provide 150,000 square feet of floor space. It will be built on a 29-acre site. Work is scheduled to begin within 60 days with completion due in one year.

Steel Settlement Steadies Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Announcement of a steel labor settlement brought a slight steadying influence to the declining stock market today.

Bethlehem Steel recovered about a point of its earlier 3-point loss. Gulf Oil, which had sunk as much as 9½ points on anxiety over Egyptian seizure of the Suez Canal, recouped about three points of the loss.

* * *

Within minutes of the steel announcement there was visible improvement but the market was still down and the steel shares fluctuated narrowly after their initial recovery.

Gulf Oil was a sufferer because of its heavy oil reserves in the Persian Gulf. Royal Dutch lost about five points, then shaved a fraction of this. Texas Co. was down around three and shell about a point.

The steels slipped today after recent gains as the word was awaited on the conclusion of the steel negotiations. U. S. Steel was off about a point as was Youngstown Sheet & Tube while Republic dropped a fraction.

Today's stock market reversal came after six straight daily advances. Because of this, the market was in a sensitive technical position, brokers said, and all that was needed was a decided piece of news to touch off either a rise to challenge record highs or a retreat.

'Friendly' Elk Shoves Fishing Woman in River

Mr. and Mrs. Swan of Lewistown stopped to fish southwest of Malta. Mrs. Swan, who is secretary of the Landless Indians of Montana, said she was sitting on a camp stool, awaiting a bite on her fish hook, when an elk slipped up behind her and nudged her into the water.

* * *

Mrs. Swan said she does not know whether the elk was being playful or was displaying more than ordinary curiosity.

Lack of Foresight Cause of Detroit Airport Rhubarb

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Government Operations subcommittee today described the Detroit airport dispute as "an excellent example" of a lack of foresight in developing metropolitan airports.

It put primary blame on federal agencies but added that "Detroit area officials have contributed confusion."

A federal airport use panel recommended Nov. 4, 1955, that commercial airlines shift their operations from Willow Run Airport, 32 miles west of Detroit, to Detroit-Wayne Major Airport, 24 miles west of the city.

* * *

However, most of the airlines have balked at making the move. They have pointed to millions of dollars they have spent on terminal facilities at Willow Run.

The subcommittee headed by Rep. Mollohan (D-WVa), which has been studying the government's role in civil aviation, spent almost a week on hearings into the Detroit situation.

The group today released a report that said:

* * *

"The record is clear that over the years there has been a lack of foresight and intelligent evaluation of the facts in the expenditure of public funds in developing an airport plan for the Detroit metropolitan area."

* * *

The subcommittee charged the CAA "never sought to find out" from the airlines whether they are willing to move from Willow Run.

It said the cost of preparing Wayne Major to accomodate the airlines "was given inadequate consideration" by the government panel.

The group also criticized a muddled situation regarding Detroit's proposed northeast airport. The subcommittee said it was not until after Detroit began condemnation proceedings for the land that the CAA decided the proposed location was too close to Selfridge Air Force Base.

Stassen Irks Ike, Confidants Say

Arms Aide to Hold Job Until Election to Duck 'Martyr' Label

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower was described by several congressional Republicans today as irritated by Harold E. Stassen's continuing efforts to dump Vice President Nixon.

* * *

However, GOP lawmakers who professed to know something about the President's attitude toward his disarmament aide's anti-Nixon campaign said they do not expect Stassen to be fired.

One senator said the President was determined not to make a political "martyr" out of Stassen by dismissing him. This legislator said he expects Stassen to retain his White House job until after the election but not much longer.

* * *

A second GOP senator said he understands the President has said he did not sanction in advance Stassen's proposal that Nixon be supplanted by Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts.

Two other Republicans said they do not think Eisenhower will speak out on the matter until an expected White House news conference next week.

* * *

If Eisenhower follows his usual course then, they said they expect him to reaffirm his confidence in Nixon with little more than an implied rebuke to Stassen.

Car Dealers Discuss Advertising Plans

Plans to launch a special Studebaker advertising campaign in regional newspapers during August were mapped at a recent meeting of Detroit Zone Studebaker Dealers Advertising Assn. trustees.

President Louis Sokoloff of Detroit reported that the officials were "optimistic" over sales prospects for the rest of the year, mainly because of a reported 32 per cent increase in zone sales for the first half of 1956.

County Deaths

Mrs. Carrie M. Hansard

HOLLY — Service for Mrs. Carrie Mildred Hansard, 93, who died this morning at the home of her son, Paul, at 4048 Grange Hall Road, will be at 2 p.m. Monday from the Dryer Funeral Home here. Burial will be in White Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Hansard, a lifelong resident of Oakland County, is survived by three sons, including Paul, Joseph of Holly and Roy of Davisburg; one daughter, Jennie Voorheis of Lansing; six grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Suzette M. Noble

OXFORD — Service for Mrs. Suzette Mary Noble of 39 Hovey St., here, will be at 1 p.m. Saturday, from the Flumerfelt Funeral Home, Oxford, with burial in Evergreen Cemetery, Detroit. Mrs. Noble died Thursday in St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Pontiac.

She is survived by two sons, William T. of Detroit and Robert Noble of Ortonville, and one sister, Florence L. Smith of Cass City.

Dudley C. Hay

ROMEO—Service for Dudley C. Hay, 66, of Hay-Cienda Farm north of here, will be held at 3:30 p.m. Saturday at Roth's Home for Funerals, with burial in Romeo Cemetery. Mr. Hay, retired real estate broker and gentleman farmer, was found shot to death Thursday in the front yard of his home. An autopsy showed he died of wounds from a 12 gauge double-barrel shotgun which were self-inflicted, Romeo State Police said.

Teeple Lake Women to Picnic at Camp

MILFORD — The Teeple Lake Extension Group will go by automobile to its annual picnic Aug. 2 at Camp Dearborn after gathering at Mrs. Frank Ruggle's home, 5561 Cooley Lake Rd. at 10 a. m. The meal will be a potluck lunch.

Detroit Parents Still Awaiting News of Son, 10

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While the families of other Michigan survivors rejoiced, the Detroit parents of a 10-year-old boy waited prayerfully today for more news of those saved from the ill-fated Andrea Doria.

* * *

Pietro was coming home to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tomaso Vermiglio, after a three-year stay in Sicily.

He was being returned in the care of Mr. and Mrs. Francesco Agrusa of Waukesha, Wis. The couple wept openly when they arrived at New York aboard a rescue ship without Pietro.

'WE LOST HIM'

"During the evacuation, when they called for women and children first, we lost Pietro," said Agrusa. "We don't know where he is. We can't do anything until we find him."

For most Michigan families with loved ones aboard the Andrea Dora or the Stockholm, yesterday was a long torment of grief and anxiety that ended in relief and rejoicing.

After hours of frantic telephone calls, welcome messages from New York began arriving—telling of a night of horror at sea but bringing an end to fearful wondering.

Ike 'Amazes' Doctors by Strength on Trip

WASHINGTON (INS) — President Eisenhower has been suffering some discomfort from backache and muscle soreness since his strenuous trip to Panama, but will probably not require another check-up at Walter Reed Army Hospital before the convention.

This was revealed today by a highly placed source, who said Ike "amazed" his doctors by the fortitude with which he withstood the long hours of standing and the tiresome sitting in uncomfortable chairs at the Panama Chiefs-of-State Conference

Court Tells Panhandle It Can't Cut Gas in State

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Co. has been denied permission by the Third U.S. Circuit Court to reduce its natural gas service to the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which serves metropolitan Detroit and other Michigan areas.

Panhandle said it needs the gas going to Michigan Consolidated to serve other customers.

The decision upheld a Federal Power Commission order. The decision noted that Panhandle may re-apply for permission to cut service when a pipeline being constructed from Louisiana to Detroit starts providing a new source of natural gas to Michigan.

Hodge Pleads Not Guilty to 4 Charges in Illinois

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (INS) — Former Illinois Auditor Orville E. Hodge pleaded not guilty yesterday to fraud, forgery and confidence game and was freed on $100,000 bond as a 30-day delay was granted.

The once flamboyant Hodge looked tired and tense as he stood before Circuit Judge DeWitt Crow in the Sangamon County Court House.

Gains Scored in Advertising

Papers Report Record High in First 6 Months of '56 in Linage

NEW YORK (AP)—National advertising carried in the nation's newspapers scored a record high in the first six months this year, it was reported by the bureau of advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. and by Media Records Inc.

There was a noticeable decline from a year ago, however, in volume of national advertising placed in June.

The June total for national linage—off 6.7 per cent from June last year—reflected a shary dip in automotive advertising, the ANPA bureau said. Automotive linage for the month was down 20.8 per cent from a year ago. The bureau attributed the drop to cut-backs in automobile production.

For the entire six months, however, automotive linage showed a gain of 1 per cent over the first half of 1955 to set a new high.

The record volume of all national advertising in U. S. newspapers in the first six months this year was 7.4 per cent higher than in the like year-ago period, the bureau reported.

* * *

General advertising, including local and national, remained at record levels both for June—up 1.4 per cent—and for the first six months—up 10.5 per cent.

First half record were set by retail advertising, up 2.4 per cent; total display, up 4 per cent, and classified, up 8.2 per cent. In the retail category, department store advertising was down 0.5 per cent from the first six months last year. Total retail linage from June was 1.9 per cent below last year's volume.

The bureau noted that financial advertising, up a hefty 13.7 per cent for June and 12.3 per cent higher for the first six months, still trails 1929 figures.

Earnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Air Reduction Co. Inc., reports sales of $43,042,833 and net income of $4,062,846 for the second quarter of 1956, setting new quarterly records. The sales and earnings figures compared with $37,202,239 and $3,937,125, respectively, for the same period in 1955. Earnings per share this year were $1.13, compared with 93 cents in the same quarter of 1955.

The Dixie Cup Co. earned $2,358,470, or $2.60 a share for the six months ended June 30, directors reported yesterday. Net income for the same period of 1955 was $1,972,711, or $2.36 a share.

Combustion Engineering, Inc., reports earnings of $3,630,482, or $1.14 a share, for the six months ended June 30. Earnings during the like period of 1955 totaled $2,937,321, or 92 cents a share. Sales for the first half of 1956 were $74,112,720 compared with $67,136,536 in 1955.

LANSING (AP) — Motor Wheel Corp. said net earnings for the first six months of 1956 totaled $1,036,655, equal to $1.32 a share, compared to $1,869,837 and $2.39 a share for the corresponding period last year.

The company attributed the decrease to lower production and competitive conditions in the automotive, agricultural implement and appliance industries.

The usual second quarter dividend was reduced from 50 cents to 40 cents. Sales during the first half of this year amounted to $35,717,182 compared to $43,809,336 in the 1955 period.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (INS) — Southern Natural Gas Co. net income increased 48 per cent for the 12 months ended June 30 on a gain of 24 per cent in revenue. Net income totaled $10,291,988, or $2.73 a share, compared with $6,952,901, or $1.99 a share, the previous year. Revenue climbed $15 million to $71,111,932.

NEW YORK (INS)—Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey reports its estimated consolidated earnings for the first six months at a record $392 million, or $2 a common share. A year ago the earnings amounted to $346 million, or $1.78 a share, for the half year. Income for the first half of 1956, from sales and investments, amounted to $3,494,000,000, an increase of $423 million over the previous year.

General Dynamics OKs Split of Common Stock

NEW YORK (AP) — General Dynamics Corp. directors voted today to split the common stock 3 for 2 and also declared a higher dividend.

* * *

The board announced that one new share of the stock will be distributed Nov. 10 for each two shares outstanding on Oct. 10.

At the same time, directors announced their intention to declare for payment on Nov. 10 a quarterly cash dividend at the rate of 75 cents per share on the presently outstanding shares.

Greyhound Plans New Terminals in 7 Cities

NEW YORK (AP) — Greyhound Corp. plans to spend $11,267,000 for new bus terminals in seven cities to meet long-range growth requirements expected to stem from the recently-approved federal highway program, president Arthur S. Genet announced.

Two new terminals, in Philadelphia and Jacksonville, Fla., will be opened this fall, he said. Other depots are planned for Milwaukee, Richmond, Va., Pittsburgh, Detroit and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Mighty Grizzly Bear Faces Possible Extinction in U. S.

WASHINGTON — Once the terror of both man and beast, the mighty grizzly bear today needs protection itself.

Scarcely heard of until 1807 when Lewis and Clark returned from their expedition to the Pacific, King Grizzly reigned throughout the West for many years. Indians, armed only with bows and arrows, rarely challenged his supremacy. Such was the Indians' awe of the beasts that any early frontiersman who felled a grizzly wore its claws around his neck as a badge of unexcelled courage.

As guns improved and as the price of pelts increased, however, killing bears became commonplace. Today, says the National Geographic Society, they are nearly extinct in this country.

Outside Alaska, the animal's last stronghold, only about 700 remain in the United States — mainly in Glacier and Yellowstone National Parks. But in Colorado, Idaho and Washington, the only other states reporting grizzlies, they are protected.

Though the big bears have maimed and killed people, authorities agree that their reputation for ferocity is unfair. Lewis and Clark slew many but never were attacked. More than one hunter, following the adage — "Leave him alone and he'll leave you alone" — has told of waking up to find a grizzly stepping gently over him. One woodsman tamed a grizzly so successfully that the two hunted, slept and ate together.

Seldom as large as imagined, the males of the species average about 500 pounds, the females, 400. The reported half-ton monsters, it has been said, "are not found inhabiting the same range of country as Fairbanks' scales."

Grizzlies nevertheless are considerably larger than the more common black bears that roam mainland parks and woods. A black bear begs handouts. It also climbs trees. The grizzly does neither. It is further recognizable by its grizzled, silver-tipped coat, by the maned hump on its back, its dished-in face, and long, almost straight pitchfork front claws.

A grizzly can outrun a man, and it takes a good horse to catch one. As strong as any animal, it has been known to drag a steer or buffalo a half mile or more. Theodore Roosevelt once saw a bear making off with a huge carcass. Somehow, the bear lost its grip and somersaulted over. It made him so angry, he hauled off and whacked the carcass.

* * *

Almost as demonstrative as apes, grizzlies howl and bawl when hurt. They will roar with rage, yet coast down snowbanks with innocent, childish glee. A mother's affection for her cubs is unbounded. She sits, like a human mother, and feeds her little one with her paws. In serving salmon, she reserves the choicest bits for junior.

* * *

Mother bruin, however, spanks freely. Any youngster that strays from the path gets a swift cuff — or worse, gets captured. One cub snared by hunters was carried off seven miles, inside a bag on horseback. At camp, he was placed inside a steel cage and chained. That very night his mother found him. She beat off a pack of dogs, tore through the cage, ripped the chain, and marched the young grizzly back home.

Fireman Right at Home

RAND, W. Va. (AP) — Volunteer fireman Charles Butler was right there when the alarm sounded. Good thing, too, for it was his house on fire. "Charlie was a little excited at first," Chief George Hunt said, "but he soon calmed down and took his post."

Comedian Sheds Extra Pounds

Thinness Doesn't Hurt Steady Demand for His Brand of Humor

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — "How will I recognize Jack Leonard?" asked a man waiting for the comedian in a restaurant. "He's lost so much weight I won't know him."

* * *

"It's easy," replied a wit, pointing to the revolving front door. "When a guy slides through that door without turning it, that will be Leonard."

Leonard came in a moment later—turning the door, it's true. But nevertheless a much thinner man, down 125 pounds to a mere 205 by his bathroom scale. A woman tourist who had blundered into the restaurant and was waiting for a table called excitedly, "Aren't you Jack Leonard?"

* * *

"I was," muttered Leonard and stalked to a table with the man who had been waiting for him. "Don't worry about eating a big lunch" said Leonard. "I hate the sight of food."

Overcoming his aversion to the stuff, he ordered a corned beef sandwich — no butter — on corn bread—crust trimmed, and a cup of black coffee. He admitted to eating a soft-boiled egg and slice of protein bread for breakfast. For dinner his wife Catherine, who weighs 116 and helped him loose that 125 pounds, would serve him lean roast beef and a plate of spinach.

* * *

"So you want to know my diet," said Leonard, who appears frequently on many TV programs and soon will launch his own regular situation comedy series. "Just say it's a few crumbs and one fig leaf scraped. Put it down that I'm now the world's tallest midget."

Actually Leonard, who never has drunk liquor but used to eat anything practically all day long, went on a 1,200 calorie daily diet. He did it the hard way, by making it 400 and 500 calories a day. A total of 22 doctors said he had to lose weight as a result of a leg injury. At first they said he'd die of overweight. He took them so seriously that they decided he was dying of starvation. Somebody made him eat a one-pound steak and he's been happy on his 1,200 calories a day ever since.

Formerly often billed as "Fat Jack Leonard," the comedian finds that thinness has not spoiled Jack Leonard. He's in constant TV demand and feels fine — terrific. "I merely do all my fat man jokes in the past tense."

"I'm telling you I really SHRANK. My waist went from 58 to 42, my collar from 22 to 17. I gave away 40 suits, some of them never worn, and 150 shirts —half of them to fat cab drivers. The other day I ran into Jackie Gleason and I asked him where he's living now, He said Mt. Kisco. I said he must have swallowed it and he ought to diet. He said he'd lost 28 pounds. I said it must all be in his hair-line.

"Go ahead and order a rich dessert if you want to. It won't bother me. I hate food."

Rochester's Son on Bail Again; Charges Pile Up

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (AP) — Comedian Eddie (Rochester) Anderson's son, Billy Anderson, is at liberty on $500 bail on a battery charge brought by a secretary, Mrs. Louise L. Lockwood, who said he attempted to harm her in her car.

Officers also charged Anderson, a garage attendant, with possessing bookmaking equipment. He was ordered to appear Aug. 20 for a hearing.

Anderson was convicted recently of possessing and selling marijuana and is at liberty on $5,000 bail in that case pending a probation-sentence hearing Aug. 6.

Says Senators Harm Michigan

Williams Claims Survey Gives State 'Black Eye All Over Country'

MACKINAC ISLAND (AP) — Gov. Williams says a group of Republican state senators is giving Michigan a "needless black eye all over the country."

The governor criticized hearings conducted Tuesday and Wednesday by a special Senate Interim committee to study the effect of the state's tax structure on employment.

Witnesses, led by a spokesman for the Michigan Manufacturers Assn., said state tax policies and an unfriendly climate for business shaped by the state administration was driving industry out of the state and discouraging outside business from coming in.

Williams said the hearings were "obviously political in motive," "irresponsible" and constituted "bad advertising for the state."

'IT'S NOT TRUE'

"The latest report from the Economic Development Commission shows that since January, 1954, movement of industry in and out of the state and expansion of industry now located here, has been responsible for a net gain of more than 97,000 jobs," he said.

The governor said the senators responsible for the "one-sided" hearings would have served Michigan better if they had brought this out.

Police Take Away Car —What's Left of It

MUSKEGON (AP) — Muskegon Deputy Thomas Miller cited these reasons for impounding a 1949 sedan driven by Donald Osredker, 21, of West Olive Township in Ottawa County:

No hood; no windshield; one headlight on bright and the other on dim; no tail light; defective muffler; doors held shut by ropes and carrying improper registration papers.

Busy Traffic Snarled by False Fire Alarm

Pontiac firemen were called out to a false alarm which only served to hold up traffic in the busy shopping area for about 10 minutes and drew a large crowd of onlookers.

Four pieces of equipment were rush to 80 N. Saginaw St., where the roof of the building in which the Tasty Bakery is located had reported caught fire. Nothing was found.

Chinese Fires Gun—Starts Hot Time in Mexico

MEXICALI, Mexico (AP) — There really was a hot time in this old town—all night—when a Chinese resident fired his gun. Here is what happened:

Two other Chinese were wounded, Sam Woo Mashoa in the head, Lucky Ky Yun in the shoulder and foot.

The resulting fire gutted a maze of 150 rooms in a Chinese residential section, in the ruins of which an unidentified body was found a few hours later yesterday.

Officers said the pistol shooter who started it all was Lou Son Lon. He got away.

Face Assault Charges

MIDLAND (AP)—Two men accused of trying to run down a state conservation officer with their car face trial for felonious assault. Officer Robert Bienz of Sanford, said Jack Starks, 23, of Midland, and George Rowe, 29, of Sanford, tossed a loaded gun out of their car, then tried to run him down. Bienz had stopped them for investigation of shining deer.

Korea: Buffer Zone Crackles With Tension

By JIM CARY

DEMILITARIZED ZONE, Korea (AP)—Across the fertile green waist of Korea a strange and deadly twilight zone of suspended war stretches from coast to coast.

* * *

Beneath its tangled stands of rice, growing wild on abandoned farms, the rusted debris of war lies scattered. The undergrowth hides jagged foundations of villages and a vicious maze of uncharted mine fields, booby traps and unexploded shells.

Three years ago today, this 2½-mile-wide demilitarized zone was created by the Korean armistice as a buffer against friction between Communist and United Nations armies.

* * *

Superficially it is a peaceful never-never land that crackles with undertones of tension. In theory, it belongs to no one, but in a sense it is the property of both the Communist and Western nations who fought in the Korean War because it is under their jurisdiction.

* * *

Troops of both sides still eye each other suspiciously across the buffer zone and move their patrols along its 200-mile length. And from its high points, every foot of ground is under continuous surveillance.

"It's always been a ticklish situation," admits Capt. Jack A. Youngblood of Unadilla, Ga., "but it is particularly so now that truce inspection teams have been pulled out of both the North and South."

The commander of the 24th Police Company says the Communists never miss a chance to remind his more than 100 volunteer troopers that they are near.

* * *

"This is North Korea calling," says a strange voice, breaking into the 24th's communications net. "We're going to play a record for you. It's called, 'GI, Why Don't You Go Home?' "

Or a note written in Oriental characters is found pinned to a bush. Translated it reads, "Go home, Yankee. You're the reason we're in Korea."

* * *

The Commies yell and try to attract attention if they are quite a distance away. If close, their usual line is, "Come on over to our side," or, "Let me see that map you have." Frequently they read a GI's name off his blouse nameplate and speak to him by name.

Last February fire broke out in the nearby Samichon River Valley. Winds of a rising blizzard whipped the flames into the demilitarized zone. Mines began to explode. The ground shook with repeated, thunderous explosions. Small arms ammunition scattered through the brush crackled like firecrackers. Tracer bullets arched across the sky in weird trails of fire. Old dud mortar shells erupted and the sharp crack of discarded hand grenades and booby traps added to the din.

Soon it sounded like a full-fledged battle was under way as geysers of flame spewed upward. Soldiers of both sides watched in amazement as the fire swept 10 miles up the neutral zone.

"It didn't look like we were ever going to get it stopped," Youngblood said. "But finally heavy snow began to fall and put it out."

More recently a strange nighttime mystery has arisen to occupy the soldiers' attention. A series of flashing lights have been seen on several occasions near the center demarcation line. When a patrol comes racing to the scene, they are always gone.

Are the Communists up to something? No one knows. The most acceptable theory is the lights are pure Communist harassment.

During the more uneventful periods you can follow a patrol leisurely up the slopes of Outpost Ohio and look across the broad flat valley to the towering wall of mountains where the Communists are watching from their intricate array of dug-in gun positions and observation points.

* * *

Almost all are lean, hard field soldiers who catch two four-hour patrols daily. It is a company truism that "only the mess sergeant is allowed to be overweight."

Federal Work Force Increasing Steadily

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government ended the 1956 fiscal year last month with fewer civilian employes than a year earlier. But the federal work force has been growing steadily for the past six months.

Sen. Byrd (D-Va) reported this today as chairman of the Senate-House Committee on Reduction of Nonessential Federal Expenditures.

Byrd said that at the end of fiscal 1956, on June 30, there were 2,382,276 civilians working for the government. This was 2,012 fewer than the previous year.

Brings Down the House at One-Man Auto Show

KALAMAZOO (AP)—Owen Muncy got so mad in a guarel with his wife Wednesday he tried to knock his house down.

Deputy Howard Kurtz said Muncy, a paperworker, jumped into his car and drove into a field near his five-room home.

Then he aimed the car at the house, and smashed into it at high speed. He did it twice more, knocking in the south and east walls and exposing the living room, kitchen and one bedroom.

Hay Diddle, Diddle! Cows Are in the Middle

HARRODSBURG, Ky. (AP) — It may not have been as difficult as finding a needle in a haystack but it took Owen Terhune too long to find his two cows in a straw stack.

Up to 1814, the name of the Australian continent was New Holland.
