MASSIVE RETALIATION — Slingshots grew larger with each battle between rival groups of juveniles in one neighborhood in Corpus Christi, Tex., until this secret weapon appeared. Then the losers in the slingshot race called the police. Policeman Paul Kinsley shows the slingshot the boys called "the giant killer." It took three 12-year-olds to shoot the weapon which was confiscated.

NEW YORK (AP) — Marilyn Monroe's will, filed for probate today, left an estate estimated in excess of half a million dollars.

The blonde screen star died Aug. 4 of an overdose of sleeping pills. The will, executed here on Jan. 14, 1961, was filed in New York County Surrogate's Court.

Two Argue Over Slash in Welfare

The chairman of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors' ways and means committee, David Levinson, became embroiled with the County Board of Auditors today over the auditors' recommended $15.4-million county budget for next year.

An argument between Levinson and Robert E. Lilly, secretary of the board of auditors, was sparked by John A. MacDonald, chairman of the Social Welfare Department, when he questioned the action of the board of auditors in paring the budget recommendation.

The auditors have recommended cutting $359,535 from the $4,110,200 requested by the welfare department for operation next year.

"We have prepared an honest (departmental) budget," claimed MacDonald, "where as you (the board of auditors) have told us to expect a 14 per cent cut. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Senate Stockpile Probe Explodes

Rewards Were Big Help Says Police Chief Koren

Rewards offered by the City and The Pontiac Press aided police in the quick apprehension of the men charged with the Efthimis Vasilou murder, Police Chief Joseph Koren said today.

The city and this newspaper each offered $1,000 rewards last week for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers.

Police officers were excluded from receiving the city's reward. However, The Press said it would double its award to $2,000 if the person supplying vital information was a policeman.

On Monday, six persons were rounded up by police as suspects in the case only two weeks after Vasilou was found shot to death in his store, The Boulevard Market, 309 Orchard Lake Ave.

Two of the men signed confessions in the killing and three are now charged with first-degree murder.

"Undoubtedly, the rewards helped the police department in this case," said Koren. "In many of these cases, people have no incentive to turn over information which could help in the solution of a crime."

"Normally, all they can expect to receive is retaliation from a criminal's family and friends."

"After the rewards were posted last week, tips began to flow into the police department. Some were of little value, but others helped greatly."

"I would like to thank The Pontiac Press for offering its reward," said Koren. "It was a public-spirited contribution which, I am sure, was appreciated by all our citizens who respect the law."

The rewards will be presented after the Vasilou killers are convicted. Koren said it will then be determined who is eligible for the city reward.

Weekend Ideal: Not Too Hot, Not Too Cool

A pleasant weekend with the high temperatures in the mid-70s is the forecast for Pontiac area residents. Forecasts will continue cool, the low dropping to the upper 50s.

Morning northerly winds at 8 to 10 miles per hour will become light variable winds tonight and Saturday.

The weatherman said no rain is in sight until Monday when less than 2 of an inch may be expected. Rainfall frequency measured .25 inches in the downtown area.

Fifty-four was the lowest temperature reading in downtown Pontiac before 8 a.m. The mercury had climbed to 71 at 2 p.m.

Test Links Gun With Murder

State Ballistics Report Says Bullets Alike in 22-Caliber Check

A comparison of bullets today linked a gun found in the accused slayer's apartment building to the murder of Pontiac merchant Efthimis Vasilou, Pontiac Police reported.

"So far as we know now, this is the weapon used in the murder of Vasilou," said Capt. Donnie Ashley.

He added that further ballistic checks are being made.

The gun was found in a building at 249 Orchard Lake Ave., where Joseph Page, 26, rented an apartment, police said. Page made a statement Monday to Asst. Oakland County Prosecutor Robert Tempin that he shot the grocer in the July 30 holdup.

Ashley today was commenting on a ballistics report issued by the Michigan State Police crime laboratory in East Lansing.

The crime lab yesterday completed initial test firings of the 22-caliber nine-shot revolver found in the building.

Vasilou was shot three times with a 22-caliber weapon.

Ashley said State Police reported:

"The evidence bullets and test bullets fired from the submitted gun exhibit both gross and individual similarities and characteristics."

Ashley interpreted this to mean that "the gun we found appears to be the weapon which killed Vasilou."

Two of the men — Benny L. Spills, 23, of 225 S. Anderson St., and R. G. Strom, 29, of the same address, have been charged (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

IRS Chief Tells Why City Lost

Local Officials Led to Believe Detroit Will Get Data Processor

In answer to a "last ditch stand" by Pontiac officials yesterday, Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Director Mortimer Caplin issued a statement explaining in detail why Pontiac was dropped as a site for a proposed IRS data processing center.

Local officials feel the statement indicates the $2-million center will be built in Detroit.

Caplin said the IRS is not interested in the Detroit site. He said the IRS is not interested in the Detroit site. He said the IRS is not interested in the Detroit site.

Although Caplin wouldn't commit himself on their appeal for "a final survey of Pontiac sites by Washington officials," his statement "cleared the air about the recent decision to drop Pontiac."

Caplin said the two most important factors in site choice are the "opportunity for transfer of displaced personnel and the fact that we want to locate on urban renewal land in an effort to help redevelopment in central cities."

He pointed out that transferring personnel from the district office in Detroit to Pontiac "might create some undue hardships in relocating and housing."

"If the center were located closer to Detroit, we wouldn't be responsible for housing, just for transferring personnel from one building to another," Caplin explained.

Law and Adams noted that Pontiac cannot offer a single parcel of urban renewal land large enough for the center, but such land is available in Detroit.

Smoke Signals Rising From Chief Pontiac

Ole Chief Pontiac himself bobbed into The Press today with an announcement of tribal importance. On Tuesday, September 11th, a reception will be held at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club in honor of Chancellor D. B. Varner of Michigan's Indian Princess for 1962 (Rosemary Rader) is also expected to attend.

Stu Symington and Humphrey Trade Shouts

Chairman Says Former Treasury Secretary Insulted Committee

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate investigation of stockpile nickel deals with companies of former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey blew up today in an angry shouting exchange between Humphrey and subcommittee Chairman Stuart Symington, D-Mo.

Symington finally adjourned the session after accusing Humphrey of insulting the Senate, and grudgingly allowing the Cleveland, Ohio, industrialist to reply briefly that Symington's own statement was ample proof of press statements that had aroused the senator's ire.

The gist of the Humphrey comments was that the inquiry is politically motivated.

The hearing was called off subject to the call of the chair, Symington said, while further investigation is carried out on the handling of the multimillion-dollar mining and smelting contract.

Symington opened the second day of Humphrey's testimony by objecting to comments the former top Eisenhower administration official had made to the press.

He said the Humphrey statement Thursday was an insult to the Senate in that it charged the stockpile investigation was politically motivated.

Brushing aside demands by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., for a vote, Symington said he planned to adjourn the hearings for further investigations.

Humphrey started to make a statement, demanding to be heard. "You wouldn't dare," Humphrey said, and Symington's gavel banged down.

HE DARED — "This hearing is adjourned," snapped Symington. "Don't ever try to tell a United States senator what he would dare or wouldn't dare."

Symington took one mighty adjournment saving with his gavel before Humphrey got in any reply, but other members blocked the abrupt ending of the proceedings and the chairman finally reluctantly recognized "Senator Humphrey."

The witness said he had made the statements attributed to him and told Symington: "That statement you just made is ample proof of the intentions of this committee."

Then after a shouting exchange in which the two men's voices became indistinguishable, Symington (Continued on Page 2, Col. 6)

'New Bomb Could Be Developed'

Reasons Told for N-Ban Demands

GENEVA (UPI) — The United States wanted today the development of a new type of nuclear weapon, one that would be "basically new weapons" by the Western industrialized nations, to check other than by on-site inspection.

"Truly significant developments can and have been achieved in such tests," he told the 17-nation disarmament conference.

Dean did not give any details of American research into the development of fusion bombs or other new types of nuclear weapon.

U.S. Recognizes Regime in Peru

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States announced recognition of the new regime in Peru today but will continue to withhold U.S. military aid.

Authorities said that some $81 million worth of economic assistance, suspended when the military junta seized power in Lima, will now go forward and approximately 60 Peace Corps workers will go ahead with plans to work in Peru.

However, approximately $22 million in arms assistance that had been earmarked for Peru will continue to be held up, officials said.

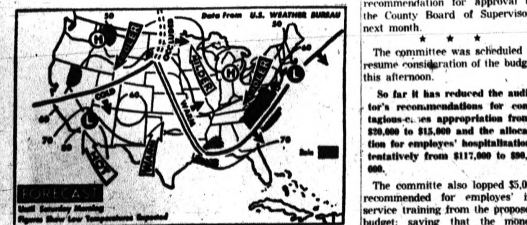

In addition, James Loebe, the U.S. ambassador to Peru who was recalled to Washington after the July 18 coup, is to remain in Washington for an indefinite period.

Senators Kill 5 Amendments

Action Raises Hopes for Early Windup in Battle on JFK Pet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate picked up speed today as it killed amendments to the administration's communications satellite bill, buoying hopes of leaders for an early windup of the long and bitter fight.

Right off the bat, three amendments were tabled by voice vote without a word of debate. Then two more went down to defeat by one-sided roll call votes.

Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., calling up the amendments for the bill's foes, had each one read by a Senate clerk immediately. Sen. John G. Pastore, D-R.I., floor manager of the bill, moved to table and thus kill them.

The debate time of opponents was virtually exhausted under the one-hour limitation that went into effect Tuesday when the Senate, for the first time in 35 years, voted to invoke its filibuster rule.

The first roll call produced a 64-35 vote, tabling an amendment to provide $3,565,000 for a sweeping investigation by the Federal Communications Commission of the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. — its rates, capital structure and operation.

Opponents contend that AT&T would dominate the private government-regulated corporation. The bill would be created by the bill to own and operate the U.S. portion of a global space communications system.

The amendment also would have reserved to Congress the right to direct the FCC to order the AT&T or any other communications company to divest itself in whole or in part of its voting stock in the proposed satellite corporation.

Cuban Coach Defects, Hopes to Get to U.S.

KINGSTON, Jamaica (AP) — Friends of Jose Narasa, coach of the Cuban basketball team in the Central American Caribbean games, reported today he had defected and hoped to find political asylum in the United States.

The friends said he went into hiding last night after his team lost to Mexico. They added he hoped to leave for Miami late today.

Previously five members of the Cuban weightlifting team and their coach defected. They asked asylum in Jamaica but it was not immediately granted.

Name Lomerson for Road Post

Sol D. Lomerson, a member of the Oakland County Road Commission since 1944, has been appointed to succeed the late Hiram M. Thatcher as chairman of the commission, it was announced today.

Lomerson, 58, previously served four years as chairman and under the commission's traditional rotation policy was expected to begin another two-year term in January.

His interim appointment will last until January when the Commission is expected to re-elect him to the post.

Elections are held each year and Commission chairmen customarily are voted in for two consecutive terms before stepping down in favor of the vice chairmen.

Road commissioners are selected by the Board of Supervisors to serve six-year terms. Lomerson's present term expires Dec. 31, 1964.

Lomerson said his new appointment as chairman is somewhat "embarrassing" because he had to vote for himself in order to get the job.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION — Today Benjamin Brockway is not only celebrating his 51st birthday, but he and his wife Inez have been married for 71 years. Both are former teachers and he was superintendent of Hillsdale County schools for 16 years. A double party celebration will get under way at 8 p.m. tonight at the Orchard Lake Restaurant home at 4630 Forbush Ave., Orchard Lake where the couple reside.

JFK Hits 'Debate'; Cites Crisis Ahead

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — President Kennedy declared today the nation is entering a decade of crisis and "we cannot afford inefficiency and waste. We cannot afford endless debate and delay."

Standing beside South Dakota's vast Oahe Dam—the first step in a weekend swing through the West—Kennedy pictured the country as in a race with a challenge.

And he urged in his prepared address that all parts of the economy pull together or else "the American people will be the losers."

Said Kennedy: "If the railroads prevent coal slurry pipelines from conveying the resources of our mines—if the mining interests prevent the use of nuclear energy for public and private transmission—if public and private power interests veto each other's progress, or if one region refuses to permit another to share in its abundance—then we shall be entering a decade of challenge and crisis with an inexcusable, vulnerable attitude of waste."

Kennedy noted that the Oahe Dam was the fifth of six great dams to control the mainstream of the Missouri River and to generate electrical power to nine states.

And he said, "The key to this century is power—power on the farm as well as the factory—power in the country as well as the city."

From here Kennedy flies further west, to Pueblo, Colo., and Merced, Calif., to look at most water projects and at least take a peek at the political picture.

The White House calls Kennedy's trip non-political and the government is thus picking up the flag after being held on charges of armed robbery based on holdups other than Vasilios'.

They are Rufus W. Alexander, 28, of Maple St.; W. C. Anderson, 41, of 261 Harrison St., and George Page Jr., 30, brother of Joseph Page and also a resident of 248 Orchard Lake Ave.

All six are charged with taking part in holdups in which bandits wore stocking-mask disguises.

Symington Explodes in Stockpile Probe

After that Humphrey renewed and added to his comments in an exchange with senators.

Flushed with anger, Humphrey said he does not regret anything he has said.

"This statement today has provided ample proof of the motivation of this committee," he said. "This is self-evidence of the prejudice with which the whole hearing has been held."

"I did not attack the U. S. Senate. I attacked the bitterness and prejudice in which these hearings have been held."

Southeast Association Plans Meeting at Park

The Day in Birmingham

Proclamations Set Up Toys for Tots Drive

BIRMINGHAM — Sept. 8 will be Toys for Tots Jambooree Day in Birmingham and Bloomfield Hills, according to proclamations issued by Florence H. Willett and John S. Bugas, respective mayors of the cities.

The U.S. Marine Corps Reserve will kick off its annual campaign on behalf of needy children at Edgewater Park in Detroit on that day.

Admission to the park will be gained by presenting a new toy at the gate. All children will be free for the day, which also will feature shows by television, radio and recording personalities.

Toys collected will be distributed to needy children at Christmas by Marines through city and county welfare agencies and the Goodwillows.

Road repairs in five Bloomfield Township subdivisions at a cost of $4,500 have been approved by the township board.

The work will be financed by $1,300 from the township's road fund and $3,200 in special assessments.

Affected are the Bloomfield Village and Bloomfield Heights subdivisions and Long Lake Shore Drive, Hammond Lake Road and Forest Hills Drive.

The board also awarded a $17,835 contract for extension of a sanitary sewer at Woodward Ave. and Square Lake Road to George A. Odien, Inc.

The annual steak dinner held by Birmingham Rotarians is planned for 6 p.m. Monday at the home of Glen Waggoner, 1300 Oxford St.

Some 70 Rotarians and guests are expected to be on hand for steaks "cooked to order," according to food chairman J. Clarence Kraft, 544 Oakland St.

"It's the only airline we've got," Adams said.

Pontiac has applied to the CAB for service to Cleveland and Chicago. NCA has applied to drop Pontiac from its schedule.

"We now have NCA service to Detroit and Sault Ste. Marie and that does us no good at all," Adams noted.

Something for Everybody

Writer Digs in Pork Barrel

BY DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Frankly, I can't find much to be excited about in this year's public works bill until it comes up for passage in the House of Representatives late yesterday.

What finally aroused my interest was a statement by Chairman Clarence Cannon on the House Appropriations Committee that "there is something here for everybody."

Upon hearing that, I naturally acquired a copy of the bill to see if I could find what was in it for me.

Public works (pronounced "pork barrel") is normally interpreted to mean navigation, flood control, irrigation and power projects.

Rebel Military Heads Halt Tries to Control Army, Cabinet Unifies

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Argentina's persistent crisis eased today as President Jose Maria Guido's cabinet rallied behind Economic Minister Alvaro Alsogaray and rebel army leaders proclaimed a 72-hour cooling-off period in their maneuvers to gain control of the military.

In an attempt to stop the army power struggle that has threatened to topple his government, Guido in a communique called on all factions to "put away passions and begin again constructive work."

The embattled cabinet, convened at Alsogaray's demand, endorsed his program for restoring Argentina's shattered economy by developing the country "under a free enterprise system."

The sweeping program includes planning for monetary stability, negotiations for foreign aid, control of wages and credits to combat inflation, increased exports and agricultural production, and elimination of waste and excessive spending in the government.

TO OPEN NEXT

Alsogaray also obtained cabinet approval for a statement citing the urgent need for a return to order and reason.

The power-seeking military leaders agreed to call a three-day truce after Alsogaray warned that their feud was scaring off foreign aid and leading the nation to ruin.

Officials said the bill would permit the new secretary, Gen. Jose Cornejo Saravia, to complete his appointments among the army's top echelons without interference. It was anybody's guess what would happen after the 72-hour period.

To Lead Negro MD Unit

er projects. Off hand, there wouldn't seem to be much there of direct benefit to a suburbanite like myself.

EXPLAINED IT

For instance, couldn't understand at first how I could stand to gain from a $1.5-million appropriation for harbor work in Flushing Bay, N.Y. Then Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, cleared that up for me.

In trying to persuade the House to eliminate the project, Gross alleged that its purpose was to make the harbor better "not to accommodate yachts that dock there for the 1964 World's Fair."

Well, I might very well visit the fair and I certainly hope that by that time I am able to afford a yacht. So Cannon was right. There is something in the bill for me.

Rep. Ben F. Jensen of Iowa, ranking Republican on the appropriations committee, was even more expansive than Cannon, a Missouri Democrat, in extolling the committee's handiwork.

"Heaven is perfect, but God purposely made the earth imperfect," Jensen explained. "We would have become a nation of dragons if the world were perfect. It is our duty, and the duty of every American, to assist in making this earth a little more perfect."

Under the terms of the bill, we will be making our part of the earth $4.6 billion more perfect. Not having any inside information, I will have to accept Jensen's word that this puts us on solid theological ground.

RICH MAN

Somehow, the public works discussion reminded me of an incident related by Moss Hart, the playwright, in his book "Act One."

Hart had been spending vast sums of money to landscape his country home, even to the extent of moving giant trees from one part of the grounds to another.

When the project was completed, he invited a friend to see what miracles had been wrought. The friend was duly impressed.

"It's beautiful, Moss," he exclaimed. "It's just like God would have done it if he had been rich."

To Seek Insurance for Air Passengers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The administration announced yesterday it will ask Congress to require U. S. airlines to provide accident insurance for all passengers on international routes.

This was one of several recommendations made by a group of government agencies studying ways to increase the amount of money passengers on overseas flights or their families can collect as damages for accidents.

Two Michigan Senators Vote With Minority

The move killed the amendment.

SEC Warns 'Boiler Room' Stock Brokers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Securities and Exchange Commission served notice on high pressure salesmen of unknown, low-priced stocks that it means to run them out of business.

Sales methods of these "boiler room operators," especially long-distance telephone calls to strangers, are "commonly accompanied by fraud," the SEC said, and should "be outlawed" for "the protection of the investing public."

In its most sweeping move in the Purple Heart.

General Wins Tee-Day

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—Teamed with Freeman Gosden—Amos off the old radio team of Amos and Andy—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower began his Scottish golfing vacation with a victory today.

He and Gosden beat Brig. Sir James Gault and James Gray two up over 18 holes of the Turnberry Links, where America's Walker Cup team will play the British next year. Ike shot a 94. Par is 73.

"He shot well," said Gosden, "but I'll get a lot better. He had a 77 just before leaving the States."

On his very first drive today, Ike belted the ball 200 yards. He reacted with a broad grin.

Two Killed in Fall on Construction Job

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Two workmen were killed Thursday as they fell 100 feet with a section of new concrete roof on an Indiana State College building being erected here.

Stanley Lewis, 39, a West Terre Haute laborer, was dead on arrival at a hospital. He suffered a broken neck.

Roy Miller, 51, Spencer, Ind., died three hours later from head, chest and back injuries.

William McCarty, construction company foreman, said two steel beam supports snapped off, plunging the workers and a 33-foot section of the roof overhanging to the ground.

Owner to Close Nursing Home — Hates Red Tape

RENSSELAER, N.Y. (AP)—The patients wept, but Mrs. Earl Gundrum said she was too fed up with red tape to change her decision to close the nursing home that had won state praise.

She might turn the attractive home in nearby Deerparkville into an apartment house, she told reporters yesterday and explained:

"There were 18 state and federal agencies constantly flooding me with forms, questions and statistical requests, medical reports, census figures, Social Security, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, withholding taxes — all too much to handle."

She said the paperwork frequently kept her at her desk for periods of more than 18 hours.

The State Social Welfare Department, which has jurisdiction over nursing homes, praised Mrs. Gundrum's operation in 1958 and 1961.

McNamara Wants No Changes in U.S. Space Plans

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara sees no reason why the United States should alter its carefully charted space plans because of the Soviet Union's spectacular double orbit.

It can be said authoritatively that McNamara does not feel there is reason to be concerned about the military implications of this latest Soviet experiment.

NO CHARGES

He does not believe that changes should be considered in either the U.S. military or space programs as a result of the double orbit feat.

Like McNamara, U.S. civilian space officials say they see no need to change their space program. James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration told a Wednesday news conference that the current program is fast paced.

Webb said the United States could gain time in the race to the moon if it shifted to a crash effort like the one that produced the first atomic bomb. But he said it would cost more money and "undoubtedly cut into the military program."

Associates said McNamara

wasn't surprised at the latest Soviet space feat. The Soviets didn't do anything that he hadn't anticipated.

McNamara's view that no changes are needed will come as a disappointment to certain Air Force officers who advocated a bigger and broader American space effort in the military field.

This segment of Air Force opinion disagrees with McNamara on the military significance of the record orbital flights by two Soviet cosmonauts.

These officers see the Soviet experiments as aimed at developing military spaceships which might be armed with nuclear weapons.

possibly superbombs of the type the Soviets have tested. They want the United States whose space program now is largely oriented to peaceful purposes—to get going with work on vehicles that could attack hostile satellites and possibly on offensive space weapons, too.

McNamara takes the position that the military requirements in level, McNamara's people are thinking in the same terms.

But for the present, he believes a priority objective should be the development of a greater rocket capability so the United States could boost much bigger craft into space.

With such rocket power, McNamara feels, the United States would be in position to seize the military space initiative, if this became necessary.

In this connection, the Air Force is working on a Titan III rocket which its designers expect would generate enough power to send aloft space payloads heavier than space. At the Defense Department CS booster now under development is designed to produce 7.5-million-pounds of thrust.

The Defense Department already supports a considerable space program, all but a small part of it run by the Air Force.

This program includes work on satellites to detect enemy missiles as soon as they leave their pads, to take pictures of military bases and terrain in potentially enemy country, and to provide instantaneous worldwide communications for the services.

The Navy is in the space business, too, with its transit navigation satellite system expected to be in business this year.

Reshuffle Case Called a Payoff

Bentley Claims Dems on State Court Were Repaying Gus Scholle

By United Press International
Republican Alvin M. Bentley theorized last night that the four Democrats on the State Supreme Court who voted to overturn the present apportionment of the Michigan Senate were simply repaying political debts to August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president.

The four members of the court owed their position to the plaintiff (August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president) in the case, and they acted unbecomingly in issuing a mandate that threw the state into a turmoil," Bentley said.

The Owosso industrialist, the GOP nominee for Michigan's at-large seat in Congress, said the court's decision "was political, not legal."

He claimed the "real issue was not reapportionment, but an attempt to provide the means for control of the State Legislature by a selfish interest group."

Bentley made his remarks at Ionia before embarking on a six-day tour of the Upper Peninsula.

35-Hour Week No Help, Say Manufacturers

NEW YORK (UPI)—A 35-hour work week would put millions of workers out of jobs, the executive vice president of the National Association of Manufacturers said yesterday.

The NAM official, Charles R. Sligh Jr., said the shorter work week proposed by AFL-CIO leaders would fail to reduce unemployment as intended by the unions.

"Few businesses in America could afford such an increase in labor costs without raising prices, and markets generally simply will not permit price increases at this time," Sligh said.

His statement was made in a letter to George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Reservists at Selfridge to Train in Labrador

MOUNT CLEMENS (U)—The 111 members of the Air Force Reserve 30th Air Rescue Squadron of Selfridge Air Force Base leave Saturday for two weeks of active duty training at Goose Bay, Labrador.

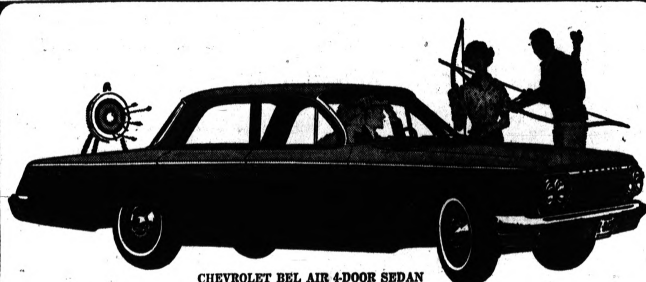

Base officials said it would be the first time a full Reserve unit has gone to foreign soil for its two weeks active duty. Some members of the squadron served at the Canadian base last year during the Berlin crisis.

Telstar Should Be Privately Owned

The luster has been stripped from our second Telstar, scheduled for launch, but it focuses attention more sharply on the ring of satellites that could establish steady interchanges between nations.

And so a battle rages.

Shall this be a function of the Government or a private corporation? President Kennedy has properly aligned himself with the latter group. This nation has no desire to find the Federal Government competing with the private enterprises which have been the foundation of our success and which have built us into the most prosperous country of all time.

The first costly Telstar was built by A.T.&T. and placed in orbit by the Government. It has been proposed that the communication businesses buy half the stock in the new venture and the balance be sold to the public. Hence, any losses would accrue to private investors and any profits would be theirs and they would pay taxes accordingly. It would, of course, be subject to regulation by the Federal Communications Commission.

But the socialist-democrat element wants it "government-owned" and government-controlled. This group is headed by turncoat Morse and the unchallenged champion of whittling and the era of the coonskin cap, Estes Kefauver. These characters want another TVA in outer space. They want the Government to compete against private enterprise, thus exposing the path to full-fledged socialism.

When the Government launches itself in business, extravagance and mismanagement always follow. They're practically guaranteed. Either the cost is greater to the buying public, or the browbeaten taxpayers have to pay the continuing deficit.

Backed by President Kennedy, the House passed the bill establishing private ownership. The vote was 354 to 9, which is pretty significant in itself, and now the Senate filibuster is busted. These things would really register with anyone but Senator Morse.

Be Wary of 'Specialists' Claiming Cure for Elms

There is hardly a field where the confidence men don't operate. Authorities have issued a warning that "specialists" claiming a cure for Dutch elm disease are becoming active again.

Despite hard work by scientists and plant pathologists, no cure for this devastating disease has yet been discovered. The best that can be done is to try and control the bark beetles which spread it—a job that requires community-wide cooperation.

Authorities say that actually the only true and sure method to control the pest insects is to eliminate the trees affected. In other words, cut them down before the disease spreads.

But as with human illnesses, ignorance and wishful thinking on the part of individuals continue to provide a profitable market for the gyp artists.

Strike at Missile Site a Blow to Democracy

There can be nothing else but countrywide alarm over the precipitate action of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in calling a strike at the U.S. Space and Development Center at Huntsville, Ala., and the strongest condemnation of the union officials responsible for it.

Not only does the walkout violate the labor-management no-strike policy at the Nation's space and missile bases, but it comes at a time when citizens of the United States are seriously concerned over the latest evidence that our country is running well behind its Soviet rival in the race for the conquest of space.

It might be a good idea for those now retarding our vital defense and space progress to ponder how long action such as theirs would be tolerated in Russia, whose leaders sneer at our American way of life and call it decrepit. There, firing squads could well be the instrument of settlement in an issue so essential to national security and well-being.

We hope that a belated sense of duty and patriotism will speedily return the disloyal workers to their jobs with the sober realization that the abuse of democratic freedom and disregard of its obligations can in time lead to the loss of it.

The Man About Town

He Looked Good

MAT's Eyes Opened as Peach Queen Judge

By HOWARD V. HELDENBRAND

A baseball immortal of bygone years was Tim Hurst, the umpire. Aside from counties on the diamond, his sports-world fame rests on two cogent observations.

"The first was his rejoinder to some comment about the woes and headaches of umpiring. 'That may all be,' said Timothy, 'but you can't beat the hours.'"

"The second, more to our point, was his solemn and scornful denial of 'close decisions.' 'They're either out—or they're safe,' quoth he.

The MAT would have given plenty to have the redoubtable man by his side as he sat as a judge in the 30th annual Romeo Peach Queen contest last Tuesday.

There were eight "peaches" contesting for the honor of representing the state's peach industry and, incidentally, journeying to Washington to deliver a basket to the White House.

Well, had Tim been there, he'd not only donned his bifocals, an act which would once have automatically led to his being unmasked and banned from further employment in his calling; but would have, I'm sure, after long and judicial scrutiny amended his inflexible dictum re close decisions with equal firmness declared that it would take a mighty close decision to pick the Queen winner. In fact, it is not beyond the realm of possibility that he would have agreed with the MAT that instead of a close-decision winner there were eight ties!

Enough rambling. From eight lovely young ladies, the following were chosen respectively Queen and First and Second Maids of honor:

Wallyne Rager
20-year-old Miss Flame of Roseville
Beverly Brown
18-year-old Miss Metropolitan Beach
Irene Heydens
17-year-old Miss Ulca.

The MAT's congratulations go to these winners and with it a note of consolation to those who didn't quite make it. The vote spread for all contestants was very narrow.

The column welcomes for the Verbal Orchids section the names, dates and addresses of those senior citizens who are 80 or over, and couples who have observed golden or more wedding anniversaries. Often these folks won't communicate of their own volition, and it falls on others to do it for them. Comments the MAT hears indicate that these fine people gain real happiness from the recognition given them.

REDSTONE ARSENAL PICKETS—Members of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers picket near the entrance to Redstone Arsenal in protest of the use of non-union labor on a project for the Marshall Space Flight Center. Other building tradesmen honored the picket causing stoppage on more than 40 building projects of the Army and the space center which are valued at $22 million.

David Lawrence Says:

Innuendo About Humphrey Unjust

DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — It's just too bad that George Humphrey, former secretary of the Treasury, isn't or hasn't been a Communist sympathizer.

It is he, the so-called "liberals" would be crying out that publicly through the devices of innuendo and "guilt by association" was being employed by a congressional committee to defame the personal integrity and public record of a witness.

There probably would even be demands that the investigating committee be "abolished."

But Mr. Humphrey, who is not a "Fifth Amendment taker," has just appeared before a Senate investigating committee at his own request and has given a comprehensive data about the M. A. Hanna Co., which he headed before he entered the Eisenhower cabinet and with which the United States Government, during the Truman Administration, negotiated a contract.

He declared that the Government benefited and today stands to make money out of the whole transaction.

The current congressional inquiry on stockpiling of strategic materials was undertaken with the public encouragement of the President.

Perhaps it was an effort to overcome the unfavorable publicity arising in connection with the question of confirming him as secretary of the Treasury, that he had been connected with the M. A. Hanna Co. of Cleveland which had made a contract with the Government.

He was not asked by a single member of the committee to list his holdings, for there would be no way he could dispose of his assets and still be completely disinterested from possible government action.

WOULD DRAW INTEREST — As he pointed out, at the 1953 hearing, even the cash that he might derive from the sale of his stock in the nickel company would have had to be deposited in the banks and would draw interest, and it could theoretically be argued that the Treasury Department has much to do with the fixing of interest rates.

So Mr. Humphrey instructed his associates and his subordinates in the Treasury never to take up with him any matter that related to the Hanna Co.'s contract with the Government to make nickel for airplanes and for other national defense purposes.

The Government needed the nickel and the Hanna Co. had the facilities to make it — otherwise, it would have had to be obtained in Cuba or Canada.

Mr. Humphrey declares that he was himself very much opposed to the company taking on the contract because of the risks involved, and said so at the time.

Mr. Humphrey, in his statement to the committee, said that the Hanna company had realized a net profit of $7.5 million over the seven-year period involved and that the Government not only will have acquired its Hanna-produced nickel at a price below the market price today, but it also has received from the same operation income taxes of $3.8 million, withholding taxes of $2 million from the employees of the nickel company and approximately $7 million for power from the Bonneville Dam.

On transactions totaling $22.8 million as of April 1, 1961, Mr. Humphrey testified under oath that Hanna's profit of $7.5 million amounts to less than 8 per cent over the entire seven-year period.

'Is Gas Station Attendant Eligible for Reward?'

Nothing is said about the fact that the gas station attendant who was robbed by the "stocking" bandits was able to give a clear description of the freed face bandit and did at the time describe the bandits. Could he be due the reward?

He jeopardized his own life. I think this should be given some attention.

'Everyone Is Born With Imperfections'

A letter says an immortal soul and being are created at conception. Accordingly the lawyer concludes that any abortion prior to birth is just plain murder. Of course, after birth, so-called "deformity" justifies killing or murder.

Even if we generously construe killing as mercy rather than murder, the proposed law has weird implications. No person is ever perfect, therefore, all of us are born to a degree "deformed." The new moral law would have the net effect of liquidating all us imperfect fools.

'Proposal Rejections Confuses Officials'

Results of the vote in Shelby and Sterling Townships, rejecting the Charter Township Proposals, probably have at least some of the township officials scratching their heads.

May we suggest that they have received a mandate from the electorate which insists on a study of the issues, a better evaluation of current events and trends, and a little less haste without sufficient impersonal research to ascertain what is best for the community?

Lazy Americans Are Throwing Away Their Heritage

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON—Is it really so surprising that Russia far exceeds us in the space race? Do we honestly wonder that we may be losing the battle for men's minds? In this late summer of 1962, the fact that America is presenting to the world is something less than pretty.

While the Soviets have been electrifying all mankind with their marvelous new space triumph, Americans were wallowing in an orgy of mindless sensationalism about the suicide of a mixed-up, three divorced blonde named Marilyn Monroe. At the same time that Russians were making television history by actually watching their two brave cosmonauts orbiting a hundred miles above the earth, American teletypeviewers were being treated to tasteless film clips of the MGM re-run of blood-and-thunder westerns, or pictures of their vacuuming First Lady in a wet bathing suit.

The single-minded devotion of the Russian people to national goals can be a lesson to all of us. Certainly we scorn some of their methods, but what is so admirable about some of ours?

For instance: Every Russian citizen including young mothers is out driven to cut the American work week from 40 to 35 hours.

And surpass? American technology. Coincidentally, the AFL-CIO Union which dominates the U.S. labor field has launched an all-out drive to cut the American work week from 40 to 35 hours.

So eager are the Russians to forge ahead that labor is in desperately short supply. By contrast, our own economy is so sluggish that more than four million are unemployed, and unions force outrageous featherbedding practices on a spineless people.

A federal court order requested by five brotherhoods prevents the nation's railroads from inaugurating an efficiency drive that would gradually eliminate 65,000 jobs no longer needed because of technological advances.

An important segment of the airline industry has been on strike because modern jet planes obviate the necessity for so many flight engineers.

Ghost orchestras are forced on the entertainment field, and bogus types on the printing trade. Similar examples of wasteful and expensive featherbedding are almost limitless.

What has happened to America? Are we determined to demonstrate that free men cannot wisely meet the challenge of the atomic age? Must we deliberately fall behind, because we are so saturated with our over-abundance?

Why don't we get to work? Why should unions demand increased wages in this time of national peril, unless productivity is increased accordingly?

Why do they stage prolonged strikes against newspapers and airlines, which in the current profit squeeze inevitably result in mergers or bankruptcy, and inevitable job loss?

Is there any reason why industries, instead of merging with each other, do not merge their mutual interests with unions instead?

The world does not "owe" America its glorious place in the sun. We have to work to keep it, just as our forefathers worked to earn it for us. What a pity it we throw it all away!

Term Romney Bid to Aged a 'Mockery'

LANSING (AP)—Two Senate Democratic leaders yesterday branded George Romney's proposal for a homestead tax exemption for over-65 citizens "a hollow mockery."

Republican legislators have killed every attempt to pass such legislation, said Sen. Raymond D. Dezelic, D-Detroit, Democratic floor leader, and Philip Sabol, D-Iron Mountain, his predecessor, in a joint statement.

Assuming that Romney, the GOP candidate for governor, knows his party's legislative record, "this suggestion becomes a hollow mockery and a callous bid for votes of those who have refused such help by the Republicans."

Romney outlined a seven-point program to help out Michigan's older citizens Wednesday.

Cyprus Almost Ignores Its Independence Day

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Cyprus observed the second anniversary of its independence yesterday with complete lack of either official or public enthusiasm.

The flag of the Cyprus republic—a golden map of Cyprus on a white background—fluttered only from government buildings.

TWA's Happy With Results of Inflight Movies on Jets

WASHINGTON—One year ago, a flight engineer on a trans Atlantic jet flicked a switch, and about 20 passengers in the first class cabin settled back to watch a first-run, full-length motion picture.

Trans World Airlines is celebrating the first anniversary of its "movies-at-10-miles-a-minute" inaugurated on a New York-Paris flight Aug. 16, 1961.

Since that date, nearly 100,000 TWA passengers have viewed 22 major Hollywood productions while sitting comfortably in jets cruising around 35,000 feet at 600 miles an hour.

TWA has 12 Boeing 707's equipped with the special lightweight, fully-automatic projectors plus screens that drop down from the ceiling at the front of the first class compartment.

230 DAYS OF FILM
TWA said it has recorded 3,346 film showings in the first 12 months—adding up to 6,971 hours or 230 days of continuous movies.

It cost the airline about $200,000 to present the gimmick but a TWA spokesman said officials are happy with the results.

"There isn't much doubt the movies have been a stimulant to first class traffic, along with improvements in food and beverage service," he said. "And passenger reaction has been more than favorable."

TWA admits it was concerned at first that its "captive audience" might object to movies as an invasion of privacy—particularly those who didn't want to watch.

But it is impossible to hear an inflight motion picture without individual earphones, and passengers who want to read, sleep or talk can do so.

Pilots report a side benefit, too. There is less moving around during a showing and this means less of flight deck crews take little interest in the movies, occasionally a curious pilot will ask "what's showing?"

"Elvis Presley" one was told recently. The captain signed, "Lindberg didn't have it that rough," he commented.

As any familyman can tell you, there are two ways to travel in first class, or with children... If you build a better mousetrap the world will beat a path to your door. You can get the same result by not paying your bills...

Dems Blast Romney for 'Compromise With Birchers'

By The Associated Press
Three Democratic party leaders blasted the state Republican party and George Romney yesterday for what one of them called Romney's "compromise with the Birchers" in approving the election of a candidate supported by Richard Durant in the state's 14th Congressional District.

The Democrats state chairman Joe Collins, Lieutenant Governor T. John Lesinski, and Neil Stuebner, candidate for congressman-at-large, took the 14th District results to be a victory for the ultra-conservative element of the GOP.

ROMNEY APPROVES
Earlier this month, Romney had asked Richard Durant to step down from his party post. But Durant said Wednesday he had resigned from the Birch Society, and Romney approved the results of the election while making an assumption:

"Assuming this is a complete severance from Birchism," Romney said, "it eliminates, in Durant's case, conflict between the Republican party and that organization."

Collins expressed disbelief at Durant's resignation, saying "we are not misled — and I trust the GOP leadership is not duped — into thinking that Durant's decision to throw away his John Birch card in any way means that he has renounced John Birch philosophies."

Collins, recalling published John Birch Society statements, said "Durant's retention of power will undoubtedly be a great source of satisfaction to those other Michigan Republicans who have called General Eisenhower a tool of the Communists and have urged the impeachment of Supreme Court Chief Justice Warren."

Stuebner called the 14th District situation "another example of how Romney can compromise with the Birchers — just as he compromised with the Old Guard in the constitutional convention."

Leginski, charging that Romney "is powerless to lead the Republican party," said Romney's conditional approval of the results of the 14th District election showed a willingness on Romney's part to compromise with principle to get elected.

"It is a sure indication," the lieutenant governor said, "that Romney is no more a leader of silk-stocking members of his own party in the 14th now than he was in the behind the scenes caucus room where he sold out to the Republican 'court house gang' last spring."

HOLDS FOW-WOW
Romney hustled around Sault Ste. Marie Thursday in a 2½-hour handshaking, speech-making visit and had a "pow-wow" with a 78-year-old Chippewa Indian chief. Arriving from Detroit by plane, Romney began greeting passersby on the streets and bobbing into stores for a brief "hello."

The Republican gubernatorial candidate met the Indian chief in one of them — a souvenir shop — and shook his hand.

In a speech at a coffee hour sponsored by the Chippewa County Republican committee, Romney told a small gathering that he appreciates the difficult problems of the Upper Peninsula and is concerned with those problems as much as with those of the rest of the state.

Romney said he would concentrate his efforts on promoting the pulpwood, mining and tourist industries — which he described as the UP's main industries.

Great Lakes Birds Like Ship's Forest

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — You won't find "Perkins National Forest" on any map, but the birds like it.

That's what good-natured hecklers called it when second mate J. P. Perkins began to further his bird-watching career by keeping some potted trees on the deck of the iron ore carrier Sewell Avery.

TEMPORARY HAVEN
Birds flying across the vast water spaces of the Great Lakes have long used ships as temporary havens.

Perkins, of Conneaut, Ohio, discovered their affinity for a bit of greenery some years ago when he was taking a few potted evergreens back to his home.

His "forest" now consists of two willow trees in buckets during the summer months and a variety of evergreens in spring and fall. He had to listen to a good deal of heckling when he started the project.

"But it was all in fun. You would be surprised at the number of sailors that became nearly as interested in birds as I am," Perkins furthers his hobby with photography, using a movie camera mounted on a gunstock to take pictures of dozens of varieties. He has identified 204 species during the past five years of water-borne bird watching.

The Avery, owned by the Pittsburgh Steamship Division of the U.S. Steel Corp., piles the Great Lakes with cargoes of iron ore. Perkins' reputation as an ornithologist has grown. He has identified 18 separate flyways on the Great Lakes and recently was asked to write an article for the National Audubon Magazine.

Crews drilling for oil were the first to discover sulphur deposits along the Gulf coast in about 1900.

DEATH IN TWO PARTS — A young girl was killed and three others injured when this car folded itself around a steel post near Johannesburg, South Africa, after skidding out of control. The impact almost cut the automobile in two. Ironically, sign on the post indicates parking is forbidden.

Traffic Sentences
Go Unconventional

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—male speeders don jail uniforms and go forth to sweep streets of traffic accident debris. Shown last October, it didn't take him long to become concerned about rising traffic violations.

So, he sentenced a young woman speeder to four hours of watching wreck victims brought into a receiving hospital emergency ward. Made several young

During the show two women had to be treated for nausea and shock. "I want to reduce accidents, which have killed more Americans than wars, not to mention the pain, suffering and economic loss they bring," the judge said.

Judge Gibbons, 61, is a veteran of 35 years of legal practice. He gives violators a choice of a conventional sentence or a short odd one—like five days in jail or one day of sweeping. He cut $5 off the fines of those who viewed the traffic film.

"I wanted to try a different type of sentence than the old fines or jail. And I'm going to keep it up until it's proved a failure—or a success."

Is it working?
"Traffic citations have dropped 20 per cent. Accidents appear to be down as much as 10 per cent," said the judge.

Albany Negroes
Planning Seige

Pilgrimage and List of Targets Delay
Civic Leaders

ALBANY, Ga. (AP)—Militant integration forces laid the groundwork today for a broad, long-range seige on segregation to the deepening dismay of several civic and business leaders.

"We are settling down for the long haul," said Dr. W. G. Anderson, head of the local integration drive. "We don't expect to achieve everything all at once."

Mass protests might be resumed, he indicated, as two northern clergymen announced plans for a pilgrimage next Thursday of ministers from other states.

A number of businessmen and civic leaders who declined to be quoted by name, have expressed concern that racial troubles will hurt Albany's economic growth. Anderson said immediate plans were to attempt "conciliation" with white merchants and religious leaders.

LIST TARGETS
Long-range plans embrace the entire field of integration and civil rights, including increased voting strength, legal efforts, economic improvement and continued protest activity, probably on a small scale.

Targets are public recreation facilities, schools, employment, lunch counters, travel facilities, political positions and churches. At a news conference yesterday, Rabbi Israel S. Dresner of Springfield, N.J., said he and a companion would spend the next several days enlisting New York area clergymen for a prayer pilgrimage to Albany.

"Bus loads and plane loads of ministers will be coming into Albany next Thursday," said Dresner. He serves Temple Shalom at Springfield.

He said the pilgrimage had been requested by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who called for clergymen throughout the nation to join in the move.

Six Cuban POWs
Being Treated at Detroit Hospital

DETROIT (AP)—Six Cubans wounded in last week's Cuban invasion attempt—still technically Cuban prisoners of war—are in Detroit to undergo surgery at Grace Hospital.

They are among 60 seriously ill and wounded prisoners released to receive medical treatment in the United States.

All had been sentenced by Cuban military tribunals to 30 years' hard labor or fines ranging from $25,000 to $500,000 a man.

The 60 have vowed to return to Cuba if efforts fail to raise $3 million to meet their total ransom charges.

Dr. Luis Iglesias, once a noted surgeon in Cuba and now in exile, operated on two of the men Wednesday night.

Pirate Killed in Fight
With British Officers

SINGAPORE (AP)—A pirate was killed in a gun fight with police on Bangai Island and 12 others were seized in a small boat cruising off North Borneo, the British navy reported yesterday.

The British recently strengthened patrols around the island with warships and aircraft as a result of increased pirate attacks on villages of the largely unprotected coastline.

The pirates reportedly are Filipinos from the Sulu Islands.

Only Disabled Involved in House-OK'd Move; Also Korean War GIs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has rushed through a bill to reopen the G.I. insurance program to disabled veterans of World War II and the Korean War—but not to able-bodied ones. The bill now goes to the Senate, where sentiment is strong for letting all 16 million veterans of the two wars apply for the government insurance, as the House bill originally provided.

Acting with a swiftness that caught most members unawares, the leadership called up the bill late Thursday, stripped it down to cover only 1.8-million veterans injured in military service, then recessed the House for 10 days.

The bill originally had been scheduled for action next week. It was hastily moved forward when a light legislative load presented a chance for a late-summer vacation.

LED FIGHT

Reps. Olin E. Teague, D-Tex., chairman of the House Veterans Committee, and William H. Ayres, R-Ohio, ranking committee Republican, led the fight to limit the bill to disabled veterans. Ayres offered a substitute containing the provision and Teague urged its acceptance.

The Veterans Administration has predicted only about 100,000 of the 1.8 million disabled veterans would apply for the insurance. They would get it at the rates that applied when the program was terminated Dec. 31, 1956, with $10,000 the maximum amount that could be purchased. The program would be reopened for one year, beginning one year after enactment of the law.

Coleus Bright in Shade

Coleus with its brightly colored foliage would be most effective in partly shaded places in your garden. It may be grown in pots if you want mobile color, or planted in groups or in solid beds.

Some See Softer Berlin Stand

Experts Split on Soviet Actions

By K. C. THALES

LONDON (UPI) — The latest space feat of the Russian cosmonauts has enhanced Soviet prestige at home, in the Red bloc and internationally.

How will this success affect the Kremlin's attitude, in the forthcoming crucial phase of diplomatic moves on Berlin, nuclear test ban and disarmament negotiations? Soviet affairs experts are divided in their assessment.

Some believe the prestige gain might "soften" Premier Nikita Khrushchev's stand in the cold war negotiations and enable him to go easy on Berlin.

Others fear the Soviet leader may push a new diplomatic offensive and revive pressure on the West.

PLAGUED BY PROBLEMS

Khrushchev has been plagued by a variety of problems in past months which are believed to have been responsible for Moscow's more cautious approach in the international field, including the troublesome question of Berlin.

At home he has faced a severe agricultural crisis which has not been overcome so far despite drastic counter measures.

In the satellites, food shortages have caused serious problems as well, with Russia unable to come to their aid.

Differences with Red China have been shelved but not resolved. There are indications that the ideological differences are in fact stronger than ever, but Peiping, in the throes of a severe economic crisis, has chosen to put off the day of reckoning.

Finally, the United States de-escalation has forced the Soviet leader to take note of the Allied resolve to stay in Berlin.

The Kremlin, and Khrushchev in particular, have shown themselves very conscious of prestige considerations in the past.

INFERIORITY COMPLEX

Soviet affairs students have frequently seen an inferiority complex behind the Kremlin's boasts of superiority. They see the proof above all in Khrushchev's openly conceded ambition to overtake the United States economically.

In the light of these considerations and latest space successes, some experts believe Khrushchev may now be able to "relax" for a while and forget about Berlin. There have been signs lately that Moscow is thinking of a new diplomatic move on the divided city and that Khrushchev may personally go to the United Nations assembly in New York next month in hopes of a meeting with President Kennedy.

This could provide the opportunity for a softer Russian approach, if the optimists among the Soviet analysts are right.

The next few weeks will show more clearly which way the Kremlin intends to go—whether it wants to ease the cold war or to try and proceed from a "position of strength."

Telstar Appeal to Reds Urges Swap of Ideas

NEW YORK (AP)—Radio Liberty broadcast in seven Soviet languages via Telstar Wednesday to appeal to the Russians for "a free exchange of information and ideas."

It said Telstar "symbolizes the increasing opportunities" for such exchanges.

The broadcast from New York was relayed by the communications satellite to a receiving station in France for broadcast from Radio Liberty's transmitting stations on the European continent.

The message was beamed into the Soviet Union in these languages: Russian, Ukrainian, Byelorussian, Armenian, Georgian, Tatar and Uzbek.

Tax dollars work extra hard in OAKLAND COUNTY!

OAKLAND COUNTY ROAD COMMISSION is responsible for the maintenance and new construction of the greatest number of miles of any county in the state—2313.52 miles. In addition, they are located in a highly industrialized area where population growth is tremendous and new residential plots are constantly calling for new improved highways. This commission, like others, is constantly faced with needs that far exceed income and must carefully choose materials that return the most for the money.

For example, the above photo shows a section of Maybee Road in Independence Township between Pontiac and Clarkston. This road is built of economical asphalt and handles about 1,500 vehicles daily. It was constructed by Ann Arbor Construction Company, Ann Arbor, Michigan.

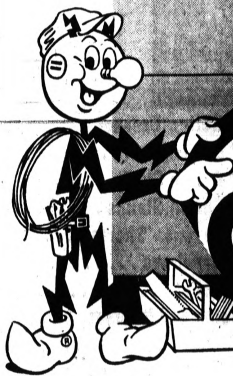

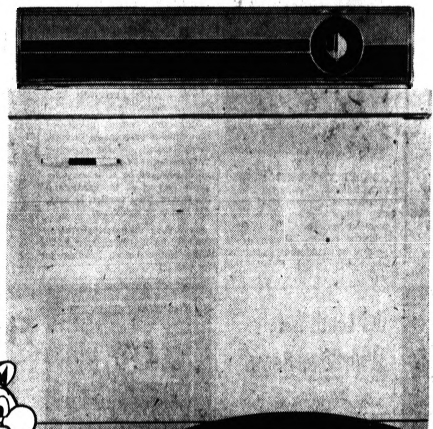

The Commission consists of: Vice Chairman, Sol D. Lomerson; Member, Robert O. Felt; Chief Engineer, James Baynes; Engineer, Paul Van Roekel; Superintendent, Oscar D. Loomis; and Secretary-Clerk, Irwin P. Nichols.

Slate Hearing in 'Dare' Death

Youths to Appear in Juvenile Court as Accident Aftermath

Two 16-year-old drivers involved in the death of another youth playing "chicken" Wednesday night will face a juvenile court hearing.

Assistant Prosecutor J. Robert Sterling said today.

He said the prosecutor's office decided not to seek waivers which would have released Michael L. Ogles, 111½ S. Saginaw St., and Glen D. Ashley, 103 S. Saginaw St., both of Holly, for possible trial as adults in Circuit Court.

Ogles was driving a car with the victim, John E. Skeels, 20, of 808 Oakland Ave., Holly, as a passenger when the older boy was on a dare attempted to jump onto a pickup truck being driven ahead of the car by Ashley.

Skeels missed.

He was pronounced dead on arrival at Pontiac General Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said the dare involved accepting the dare or being labeled "chicken" by other youths.

Rehabilitation Center Eyed

The Pontiac General Hospital Board of Trustees has voted to appoint a committee to study the possibility of building a rehabilitation center in connection with the hospital.

The move came at last night's August board meeting after Dr. Ethel T. Calhoun, medical director for the Sister Kenny Foundation's Detroit Area Chapter, told trustees there was need for such a facility.

Dr. Calhoun said there was a sharp increase in activity in the hospital's present Sister Kenny physical therapy department. It now serves an average of about 50 patients a day.

"We cannot give the long-term treatment needed by some patients, but such a rehabilitation center could," she said.

Elderly patients, especially those recovering from broken bones, need more time to rehabilitate than the present unit can give them.

She estimated such a center should be a two-story, 75-bed unit with beds on the second floor and a "work area" on the main floor.

The present unit, established in November 1950, has no beds, draws from patients in the hospital.

Hospital Administrator Harold B. Euler said he thought such a unit could be financed through the foundation and federal funds "if the city could furnish the land."

The committee will be made up of trustees and medical staff members. The proposed center would be adjacent to the hospital or connected by a tunnel.

U.S. Astronaut Is Limited to 6 Orbits

BLACKSBURG, Va. (AP) — A top American space official says astronaut Walter M. Schirra Jr. will be limited to six orbits of the earth, no matter how well his Project Mercury flight goes.

"The mission is scheduled for recovery near Midway Island after six orbits, and that is the way it will be flown," D. Brainerd Holmes, director of manned space flight programs for the United States, said Thursday.

Thus, the fact that two Soviet cosmonauts zipped around the earth for three and four days will have no immediate effect on the U.S. program.

16 ORBITS SET
Holmes said Schirra, a Navy commander, will be launched on his space venture in the middle of the end of September. His will be the only six-orbit mission, the space chief said. The next Mercury flight will be for 18 orbits and take a full day.

"I will commit to you that this nation will be second to none in the conquest of space," Holmes said.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration official told this audience at Virginia Polytechnic Institute he was somewhat surprised at the reaction of many qualified people to the Soviet achievement.

SHOULD HAVE KNOWN

"If we felt that this was surprising, then we were selling the Russians short," he said. "What they have done can be traced in every aspect to a large payload of considerable capacity and reliability, fired over and over again. They did it—something we could not do. Far from belittling the Russians, one should have expected it."

Holmes defended Mercury astronauts John H. Glenn Jr. and Malcolm Scott Carpenter against complaints voiced at the conference here that, as military test pilots primarily, their scientific findings had been disappointing.

The complaints were coupled with a suggestion that NASA train scientists as future astronauts.

DIDN'T JUST SIT

"Glenn and Carpenter didn't just sit there and stew about whether their retro-rockets would get them back to earth," Holmes said. "They went about their missions with keen interest, and made good observations."

Holmes said it would be impossible to include scientists among the first Apollo crews unless they were qualified to act as pilots. In great detail, he outlined the steps by which three U.S. astronauts are to be launched — by an advanced Saturn C5 rocket—some time before the end of this decade in an Apollo spacecraft, into orbit around the moon.

Two of the spacemen will leave the Apollo craft in a small capsule, or "bug," to land on the moon.

ONLY ONE PAD

Holmes said this country would be unable to launch two astronauts into simultaneous orbit because NASA has only one Mercury-Atlas launching pad. But, he added, NASA probably would not choose to do it with an Atlas booster even if it could. The Mercury spacecraft, he said, is considerably smaller than the Soviet Vostok spacecraft and would not be able to support life as long as the Soviet craft.

Holmes said that Apollo spacemen who approach the moon in the "bug" will be able to change their minds about landing at the last moment should conditions on the moon appear to be too dangerous.

COULD TURN BACK

Should the "bug" lose its propellant power, he said, the two men would be able to escape from the capsule and grab lifelines to transfer back to the mother craft, which will be capable of going after them if they are in trouble.

Holmes said the "bug" would detach from the Apollo craft at an appropriate time when it is in orbit 100 miles above the earth. The two men would fly close to the lunar surface, hover a minute, and, if they wished, still could get back to the mother ship before it was out of sight.

The first Apollo mission will spend only one day on the moon. Holmes said some consideration is being given to landing on the moon during the "earth-slow" — that is, at night, to avoid the problem of intense heat.

Iraq Tells Turkey 'Sorry' for Raids

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Iraq has apologized for two raids by Iraqi planes on Turkish territory this week, the foreign ministry announced last night. It said Iraq promised to punish those responsible and to pay damages.

A government announcement said Turkish jets fired on an attacking Iraqi plane yesterday near Bismkan, about 25 miles inside Turkish territory. No casualties were reported. Conflicting earlier accounts said the Iraqi plane, a Russian-built MIG, had either crash-landed or gotten away after the clash.

Fred V. Haggard, 1962 Pontiac Area United Fund Campaign Chairman, was guest speaker during the Women's Division orientation luncheon for Pontiac district chairmen Wednesday and Thursday at Ted's Restaurant, Bloomfield Hills. Also present were Mrs. Frank E. Gates of North Astor Street, district 32 chairman (left); Mrs. Robert Morse of Kendry Street, area three chairman; and Mrs. Joseph Fox, PAUF Women's Division Campaign Committee chairman.

UF Women Hear About Agencies

Orientation luncheons this week introduced Pontiac Area United Fund district chairmen to campaign leaders and 1962's campaign procedures.

Meeting Wednesday and Thursday at Ted's Restaurant in Bloomfield Hills, 44 newly-appointed chairmen heard speaker Fred V. Haggard, president of the AFL-CIO, Oakland County Council and PAUF campaign chairman, explain the budget needs of the 54 agencies affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund.

Mr. Haggard told the group that "the 1962 goal of $706,125 is needed to maintain agency services during the coming year. These necessary and worthwhile services that benefit all of us are dependent on the volunteer efforts and the generosity of members of the community."

Heading up the Pontiac women volunteers is Mrs. Earl White, Pontiac cochairman. Under her direction they hope to raise $13,848.98 of the 1962 goal of $28,213.89 during their 10-day drive, Oct. 16-26.

Area chairmen assisting Mrs. White are Mrs. Arthur Asplund, area one; Mrs. Gordon Frain, area two; Mrs. Robert Morse, area three; and Mrs. James Miska, area four.

TO RECRUIT WORKERS
During the weeks ahead, district chairmen will be responsible for recruiting some 600 workers to cover the Pontiac residential solicitation.

Mrs. Joseph Fox, 1962 women's division campaign committee chairman, presided at the luncheon sessions sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company and Pontiac State Bank.

Mrs. Walter Noffsinger, women's division chairman; Karl Bradley, PAUF executive director, and Virginia Loveland, women's division secretary, were also present.

Pontiac cochairman Mrs. Earl White of South Telegraph Road (left) explains some of the Pontiac Area United Fund 1962 campaign procedures and schedules to newly appointed district chairmen Mrs. Wilbur Hinsperger of Putnam Street, district seven, and Mrs. Laurence Saxton of West Ann Arbor Street, district two.

Two in Youth Chorale Are Home in City After Summer in Europe

Pontiac students, Gary Alan of North Telegraph Road and Helen Thams of West Iroquois Road, returned home Thursday from a summer of touring Ireland, England, Holland and Germany with the Michigan Youth Chorale.

The Chorale is a mixed ensemble of juniors and seniors from high schools in southern Michigan. Members were chosen through audition, on the basis of vocal talent, scholarship and leadership ability. Each singer had been recommended by the music department of his own school.

These tours were designed to develop understanding and friendship between countries, interpreting America through its music.

While in each town or city, the Chorale members lived in private homes with "host" families. They have acquired many new "fathers" and "mothers."

The Michigan Youth Chorale is sponsored by the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program of the Michigan Council of Churches and the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches.

Other area participants are Lynne Fyall, Robert Leininger and Diane Stewart, all of Rochester; Kenneth Colton and Donald Lacey Jr., both of Union Lake; Jack Boyle, Pat Lysinger; and Kathy McBroom all of Walled Lake; John Vernier of Lakeville; and Richard Morphey of Milford.

The last concert of the 1962 Chorale season will be given at 3 p.m. Sept. 9 in Hill Auditorium on the campus of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. The concert is open to the public.

Chapter Meets in Lake Orion

The August meeting of the Blue Star Mothers Chapter Four was held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Delbert Chase of Lake Orion. She was assisted by Mrs. Edward Schram, also of Lake Orion. Luncheon was served to eighteen members with Mrs. Jack Schaffer of Lake Orion as guest.

Judith Ann Frazier

To Honor Bride-Elect

Bride-elect Judith Ann Frazier of West New York Avenue will be honored at a shower this evening at the home of Mrs. James Chandler in Roseville. Mrs. Virgil Frazier will attend her daughter's party with Mrs. Keith Pawley, mother of the future bridegroom, Dennis Pawley, and his grandmother, Mrs. Myrtle Pawley.

The guest list also includes Sharon Fidler who will be maid of honor at the Sept. 8 wedding in St. Michael's Church; and Judith Lemke, Mrs. James Talley and Marie Pawley, bridesmaids.

Others invited are Mrs. Joseph Mooney, Susan Pawley, Mrs. Peter Mooney, Mrs. Martin Chamberlain, Mrs. Harley Smith, Mrs. Gene Rogers, Mrs. Anthony Zographos, Mrs. Elva Lyons and daughter Levin. Mrs. Thomas Chandler and daughter Dona of Warren will be present, also Mrs. Harvey Claussen, Troy, and Mrs. L. I. Holmes, Drayton Plains.

Miss Lemke and Mrs. Talley were cohostesses at a recent evening shower for 24 in the Lemke home on Stanley Avenue.

The Gerald Pawleys of Lakeside Drive entertained for Miss Frazier and her fiancé at a recent couple's party.

Unit Meets for Picnic

Thirty members of the Better Home and Garden Club gathered for picnic luncheon Thursday at the home of Mrs. Alfred Rothweiler on North Genesee Street.

The history of the gladioli exhibit-of-the-month was given by Mrs. James George and Mrs. Amelia Bull gave a reading entitled "The New Organ."

Margaret Seyferth, teacher at the Louisa M. Alcott School, who represented the club at the annual Michigan State Conservation School at Higgins Lake, spoke on various phases of conservation.

Club members plan to attend a flower show at Miracle Mile Shopping Center and also an exhibit in Farmington Sept. 15. Mrs. Walter Speck, Mrs. Jo Crocker, Mrs. John Armstrong and Mrs. Joe D. Duffield comprised the committee for the day.

Abby Tells Second Wife:

It's YOUR House Now

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Am I foolish for being "jealous" of my husband's first wife? She is no longer living and I never knew her, but, Abby, it's not easy to live in HER house, cook on HER stove and sleep in HER bed. I haven't said anything to my husband about how I feel because I know he can't afford to replace everything all at once, but it's getting me down. Any advice to boost my spirits?

WIFE NUMBER TWO
DEAR WIFE: A little patience will go a long way. And your point of view needs changing. It's YOUR house now—and YOUR stove, YOUR bed, and more important, YOUR man. So if you love him, don't give him a problem he can't solve right now.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He says he isn't an alcoholic because he drinks only beer, but I have seen him drink 20 bottles at one sitting. He stays at a tavern on his way home from work every night and he comes in 4 to 5 hours late and loaded. Then he picks a fight with me because I refuse to heat up his dinner. I keep his dinner hot for an hour or so, but I don't think he deserves a hot meal when he comes home 4 or 5 hours late and drunk. Can a man become an alcoholic on beer alone? Your answer is important!

HEARTSICK READER
On Friday the 13th. You couldn't pay her to sit 13 at a table. How can I convince her that superstitions are a lot of baloney? Or am I the nutty one?

Knocking on wood

DEAR KNOCKING: Superstition arises from ignorance. Habit it over to the library and get a book on the origin of superstitions. (But don't step on a crack or you'll break your mother's back.)

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes, a man can be a beer alcoholic. Yours qualifies for A.A., but if he isn't ready to admit it and seek their help, you should investigate membership in AA-AKON.

It's a nonprofit (free) organization whose function is to teach nonalcoholics how to live with alcoholics. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is so superstitious it is getting my goat. If a black cat crosses the road in front of us, she makes me turn the car around and go the other way.

She won't leave the house

Some Unhappiness in Every Marriage

By RUTH MILLETT

A marriage counselor claims that the reason why so many American marriages end in divorce is because so many couples believe that anytime they aren't happy together, their marriage isn't worth preserving.

He's right, of course. An awful lot of young couples do marry with the idea that marriage will bring them everlasting happiness.

That's a foolish attitude, even in the very young. For how can a marriage always be happy when the happiness of a marriage means the happiness of two persons?

No human being is happy all the time. And no marriage is always happy, either.

Marriages have their ups and downs, just as individuals do. There are good days and bad days, good years and disappointing years.

So long as a marriage does bring happiness to the marriage partners some of the time, it is worth preserving.

And if the couple will only remember that and is willing to take the bad with the good, the disappointments with the enrichment, the responsibilities with rewards, the marriage will be preserved.

Some marriages, of course, are mistakes from the start and never bring anything but misery to a pair completely wrong for each other.

But most marriages begin happily and shouldn't end in divorce simply because they have less-than-happy periods. Together or apart or with new partners, no two persons are going to be happy all the time.

Find the key to contentment in Ruth Millett's booklet, "Happier Wives (Hints for husbands)." Just send 25 cents to Ruth Millett Reader Service, care of The Pontiac Press, P. O. Box 489, Dept. A, Radio City Station, New York 19, N. Y.

MRS. MARTIN E. ASHLEY

Judith Ann Kuhn of Aurora, Colo., daughter of the Casey Kuhns of Laramie, Wyo. and Airman 2/C Martin E. Ashley, of Denver, Colo., son of the Waldo Ashleys of Dover Road, were married Saturday in the First Christian Church, Laramie, Wyo.

Returns to Area

Wed in Wyoming

The Waldo Ashleys of Dover Road will hold open house this evening honoring their son Airman 2/C Martin E. Ashley of Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo. and his bride, the former Judith Ann Kuhn of Aurora, Colo.

The couple exchanged wedding vows before Rev. Ralph Weatherall, Saturday evening in the First Christian Church, Laramie, Wyo., in the presence of some 100 guests. Parents of the new Mrs. Ashley are the Casey Kuhns of Laramie.

For the candlelight ceremony, the bride wore traditional white satin, styled with hoop skirt and chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion fell from a jeweled tiara. She wore the bridegroom's gold gift cross and carried white Fuji chrysanthemums and Stephanotis.

Mrs. Harold Wood of Laramie, her sister's matron of honor, appeared in blue organza over taffeta.

Best man was Airman 2/C Jon Higashuchi of Mountain View, Calif. James Notlage and the bride's cousin Kent Lambert were candle-lighters.

The bride attended the Creighton's St. Joseph School of Nursing and her husband was enrolled at Eastern Michigan University.

Mrs. Kuhn chose Madonna blue Chantilly lace over taffeta for the wedding. The mother of the bridegroom wore a beige linen sheath dress. Their corsages were pink rosebuds.

The couple will make their home in Aurora.

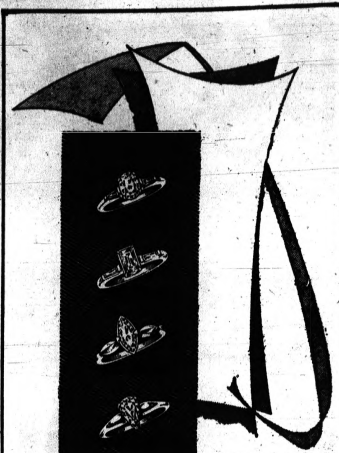

The Chic Shift

Best travel friend a woman can have is a silk knit shift in black; one that folds and packs like a handkerchief. Can go anywhere in any climate and emerge looking chic.

Travelers Attract

Travelers seem to attract dust like a magnet attracts iron filings. To keep clean and to protect your complexion from drying travel soot, take advantage of every opportunity to wash your face and neck.

Personality Diamonds

to suit her personality - to become her particular type. For the sophisticated, an emerald cut diamond is tailored and impressive. For the utterly feminine, an oval or a marquise is graceful and glittering. For the distinctive, a pear-shaped diamond is just that.

POOR BOY SANDWICH

The Fair Way

Bring the Best Tools to Play Good Game

By SANDRA HAYNE
Written for NEA

I don't recommend buying a set of clubs before you know what kind you need to suit your natural style, but once you have settled into your groove you should have the best tools.

I recommend a matched set. At the outset, you don't have to carry the 14 clubs allowed by the rules. Four woods, the driver, brassie, spoon and the number four iron could be all you'll ever need. You can get by with eight irons, numbers two through nine.

If you are using the full set of 14 and wish to add a special club, such as a sand or pitching wedge or a chipping iron, you will have to drop one of your regular clubs. I usually drop the nine iron from my set of Spalding Top-Flite Model 13s with leather grips.

If the course is well trapped and I suspect I'm going to be in bunkers a lot, I carry a sand club with a 58-degree loft for controlled escape shots. If the course is long and I feel I might be just short a lot, I substitute a pitching wedge with a 53-degree loft for the nine.

Carry sunburn lotion, adhesive tape and extra socks. A sudden shower or a shot into a water hazard can give you wet feet that will ruin your game, and maybe give you a runny nose.

Wait Turn in Line at the Market

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: Will you be good enough to answer the following question for me? When standing in line at a supermarket and the person ahead of me has a large basket of groceries and I have only one or two items, would it be proper to ask her if I may go ahead of her?

A: Unless the person ahead of you notices that you have only one or two items and asks you to go ahead of her, or if you have a good reason for asking this favor of her, such as your baby is outside crying, you must wait your turn.

Q: I am to be married shortly and a problem has arisen as to the number of invitations. The bridegroom's family is entitled to the wedding. I feel that his family is entitled to approximately half the invitations, but my mother disagrees and says that as the bride's family is paying for the wedding it is entitled to invite a larger number of guests. This does not seem fair to me. May I please have your opinion?

A: You are right, the bridegroom's family is entitled to half the invitations unless they live in a distinct city and only a few of their friends and relatives will make the trip to the wedding.

Q: Is it considered in good taste to send a gift to someone on the occasion of some special event (wedding, anniversary, ordination, etc.) without receiving an invitation or an announcement?

A: Present giving is entirely a matter of personal feeling and there is certainly no reason why one may not send a present to a friend celebrating a special occasion if one though not special an invitation.

Resented in Professions

Women Fighting Uphill

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE M-85; Helen G., aged 27, is a woman physician.

"Dr. Crane," she began moodily, "I made a grade in medical school."

"And I served an excellent internship. Yet men who barely got through school with a C grade are given more successful than I am."

"Dull grades mean anything?"

Earlier this week I told you that men don't like girls who imitate men as regards rough talk, smoking, use of whisky, etc.

Well, they also resent having women enter what they consider definitely masculine professions, such as dentistry, medicine, law, engineering and even the pulpit.

Now this is no discredit to brilliant women like Helen, and I have often tried to help such girls get started into private practice.

But they have the odds against them from the outset. And doubly so! For not only do men resent women in what they egotistically consider to be their own fields. But even the average woman likewise does not have adequate respect for a woman dentist or woman medic, etc.

NEED LARGE CITY
It usually takes a large city to be able to furnish enough patients to keep a woman doctor out of bankruptcy.

Check with your co-workers and you will find that most women feel a male doctor is "more knowing" so they will not patronize their own female medic or dentist.

In fact most women resent a woman in the pulpit except as a guest missionary speaker! Why?

Because women prefer male experts. For they credit us males with more authority and greater assurance or positiveness.

Even in the field of women's medicine such as obstetrics and gynecology women themselves prefer a male doctor!

The same thing is equally true in journalism for if a newspaper wishes to gain the most women readers with a food column or recipe feature would it be better to have a man write it or a woman?

Most newspapers have erred from the beginning by thinking women will be most interested in a woman's ideas on food or even on sewing and interior decoration.

That's not true! Take any male chef and let him write the food or recipe and he will have more women readers.

Or take this field of newspaper "advice" column. Do you think women columnists beat this "Worry Clinic" in readership among housewives?

POLL RESULTS

On polls conducted by newspapers where this column has run side by side in contrast to women advice authors, this column has always rated first.

Even when Dorothy Dix herself was still alive (and I consider her to have contributed the greatest innovation in 20th Century Journalism) she also rated below this column.

So if you girls want to pick a career where the going is not too difficult, be cautious about entering the professions that are regarded as chiefly male specialties.

As a rule women don't even like women radio announcers but prefer a man's voice.

Group Talks of Reunion

Zeta Phi Zeta Sorority held its regular meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. James Arnold of Wilson Street, Drayton Plains.

The group discussed final plans for the class reunion dance, to be held at the Waterford Community Center Saturday evening.

General Chairman Mrs. Robert Joss stated that reservations were coming in well, after which refreshments were served.

South Lyon to Vote Again on Levy

Board Orders Election Monday After Getting 400-Name Petition

SOUTH LYON — After saying "no" three times within three months to special operating tax renewals, voters of the Lyon Township School District will have another chance to change their minds Monday.

They will vote on a five-mill tax for a one-year period to replace an expiring special levy for operating revenue.

If voters turn thumbs down a fourth time, the school board plans another special election the following week to ask approval of transferring some $165,000 from the building and site fund to the operating account.

If approved Monday, the five-mill tax would bring the school district about the same amount.

School board members called Monday's special election after receiving a petition signed by more than 400 residents at their July 30 meeting. The petitions requested the millage vote.

AWAITED PETITION

They had previously stated they would take no action to place an other millage proposal before voters unless they received such a petition.

Voters turned down a 6.5 mill renewal request in May and again in June. On July 16, two proposals, one for five mills and one for four, were both defeated.

Faced with a $116,000 loss in revenue because of the defeats, the board voted to close the district's newest school — the Sayre School — and eliminate the school athletic program.

These steps were to trim some $75,000 from the 1962-63 budget. School board members will wrestle with the problem of cutting another $55,000 from the budget if the millage proposal loses again and the transfer request also fails.

In such a circumstance, the school district would be forced to operate on only the millage allotted by the county, 8.27 mills. No tax increase would result from passage of the tax. In fact, a decrease in residents' tax bills even if the tax proposal succeeds has been predicted.

Firefighters to Meet for Play-Off Battle

The Pontiac Township volunteer fire department will meet the White Lake Township firefighters in a playoff water battle Sunday at 3 p.m. in Avon Township Park, Rochester.

This event will be a forerunner to the championship tilt which will be a feature of the county-wide Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce fire safety committee's field day Oct. 6.

The public is invited to both the Sunday "battle" and the field day to be held at Northside Park in Pontiac.

Lila McLeod Weds

ROMEO — Residing on North Main Street following their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smiles, who exchanged their nuptial vows at the First Methodist Church here, Rev. Joseph D. Bily officiated.

The bride is the former Lila Lee McLeod, daughter of David E. McLeod, 11284 Wadsworth Lane. She wore a floor-length gown of Rochelle lace featuring a modified Sabrina neckline, puffed sleeves, and a tiered skirt ended in a chapel sweep.

A crystal crown held her bouffant veil of silk illusion, and she carried two orchids entwined with ivy atop a white Bible.

Gloria McLeod attended her sister as maid of honor.

Another sister, Mrs. Robert Beahm, and Karen Siglow were bridesmaids.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smiles, 7780 Van Dyke was assisted by Ismael Jacobs Jr. as best man. Seating the guests were William and Gerald McLeod, brothers of the bride, and Roy and

Eastern Michigan Fair to Open September 2

IMLAY CITY — Some 30,000 are expected to take part in the gala week of contests, exhibits and a host of other attractions at the 64th annual Eastern Michigan Fair that will open here Sept. 2.

McKinley's rodeo, one of the nation's largest, will start things off with two performances, the first at 2 p.m. and an evening show at 8.

The rodeo also will give two performances at the same times on Labor Day, Sept. 3, the day festivities will get into full swing with the opening of exhibits and the Hayland Carnival, followed by an evening concert by the Marlette High School band.

Judging of the 4-H and Future Farmers of America department also is scheduled for Labor Day.

Activities of Sept. 4 will include the first night of harness racing, a "This Is Your Life" presentation featuring a Lapeer County resident, a performance by the Almont Rube Band and a concert by the Capac High School Band.

Also that day will be judging of Floral Hall departments and a tractor hauling contest.

The fair's Children's Day, slated for Sept. 5, will offer B'wana Don and the Bongo Bally Show and reduced prices for the Carnival.

The Hurricane Hell Drivers thrill show will give 2 and 8 p.m. performances Sept. 5, and there will be a concert by the Dryden High School band in the evening.

Horse judging is set for the morning. Livestock will be judged Sept. 6, which also will feature a light weight horse pulling contest and another night of harness racing. The evening will offer a band concert by Imlay City High School and a stage show featuring Johnny Tilton.

The schedule for Friday, Sept. 7, includes a heavyweight horse pulling contest, a Lapeer High School band concert, harness racing and Tilton's stage show.

Professional wrestling is set for the afternoon of Sept. 8, with the evening to include a band concert by North Branch High School, harness racing and a Grand Old Opry stage show.

A free cooking school will be held afternoon and evenings Sept. 4, 5, 6 and 7.

The expected turnout is about 30 per cent more than last year's. The fair is scheduled this year between the dates for the Saginaw Fair and the Michigan State Fair. In the past, the fair was held at the same time as the Saginaw Fair.

Clarkston Schools Tell Sept. Opening Schedule

CLARKSTON — The school opening schedule for the 1962-63 year has been announced by the Clarkston Community Schools.

School will open Sept. 5 for all but kindergarten students. Half-day sessions will be held Sept. 5 and 6, with full-day schedules for grades one through 12 slated to start Sept. 7.

Students at the Sashabaw, Pine Knob, Clarkston and Andersonville elementary schools will report at 9:15 a. m. Sept. 5. High school students will report at 8:10 a. m. and junior high students at 8:15 a. m.

Sixth graders in the Andersonville area will attend the Andersonville School, while sixth grade students in all other areas will attend the Clarkston Junior High School.

First day for kindergarten children will be Sept. 10. Kindergarten students not already registered may do so at any time after Aug. 28 at their respective schools.

Parents enrolling their children in kindergarten will be required to bring records of birth and immunization for their children and a physician's health statement.

If these requirements conflict with religious convictions, a statement of objection may be filed.

Seymour Lake Folks Will Gather Saturday

SEYMOUR LAKE — The annual homecoming will be held tomorrow at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church with dinner to be served at noon.

Rev. W. O. Moulton of Flint, former pastor of the local church, is expected to be the afternoon speaker.

Farmers Urged to Vote in Wheat Referendum

In an appeal to Michigan farmers to be sure to vote in the wheat referendum Aug. 30, Walter Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said today, "Congress deserves to know what farmers want in a wheat program."

Senate Sets Move Today on Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate planned to call up its farm bill today after disposing of the space communications bill.

Senate farm leaders were reported to have agreed last night to forego a fight to restore compulsory feed grain acreage controls to the bill. Republicans have promised to talk at length in an effort to block such a move.

The bill carries provision for this one-year extension on the voluntary feed grain program, and for the administration's "two price" program for wheat.

The outlook now is for legislation under which farmers would go ahead with a wheat referendum slated later this month based on planting 55 million acres of wheat.

WOULD BE CUT

Under the bill, wheat acreage allotments could be cut well below present levels in order to reduce the surplus.

Farmers would get a high price for "certificates" wheat sold to domestic and export markets, and a low price for wheat used for other purposes, mainly feed and seed.

The heart of the farm bill controversy has been the issue of mandatory versus voluntary acreage controls for feed grains.

The voluntary program cut feed surpluses substantially in 1961 and probably will again this year.

HASTINGS (UPI)—Three youths, and a father of one of them played hero late yesterday when they pulled a drowning 65-year-old Lansing woman out of the Thornapple River near here. Mrs. Ethel Horton was reported out of danger at Pennock Hospital in Hastings.

Barry County Sheriff's deputies credited the youths, John Taylor, 22, Lansing; David Lee, 16, and Earl Borgman, 18, and Battle Creek with saving the woman's life.

Deputies said Mrs. Horton was swimming in the river at Charlton Park with a companion, Iva Nicholson, also of Lansing.

The Nicholson woman noticed her friend was floating in about five feet of water and when she didn't move, became alarmed and shouted for help.

Taylor was swimming nearby and called the other youths to assist in pulling the unconscious woman ashore.

Farm and Garden News

FOR A PATIO — Foliage plants with dramatic leaf colors and forms are especially handsome in a concrete container. This one can be used to brighten up any corner of the garden.

NEW STYLE — Raised planter set in a saw-tooth pattern puts planting bed at a height that makes it easy to tend. Rustic faced concrete block merges quietly with the surroundings.

Outdoor Planter Boxes Can Vary in Design

The use of built-in outdoor planter boxes, raised planter beds and contained plantings is fast becoming an accepted way of landscaping in our present concept of outdoor living.

There are a lot of good reasons for the popularity of planters. High on the list, of course, is easier maintenance. Because most planters are raised to varying heights off the ground, the plants and shrubs they house are much more accessible. Backbending chores such as cultivating, weeding, fertilizing and watering become less of a strain.

Plant beds are protected from the damage of pets, children and others. Grass trimming around customary borders also is eliminated.

Form a design standpoint, planters give the homeowner an opportunity to go all out in creating artistic, practical and integrated features which add to the overall setting. Bear in mind, however, that the simpler the planter the less chance it has of competing with whatever it holds.

Consideration must be given the type of materials used in building a planter. The selection should always be in harmony with the architectural features of the house and garden. Concrete, masonry, sold in a multitude of shapes, sizes and textures makes it particularly adaptable to any need or site.

EASY TO PLAN

Concrete masonry planters can be laid up in all sorts of geometric arrangements. Units having patterned surfaces and integral colors are also available. The material's natural gray tone makes an appropriate stage for dramatizing common or showoff plants. And the result is a nice appearance even after the bloom is gone.

Resides being attractive, a raised concrete masonry planter area can help remedy a grade problem and double as extra seating space. If you also make a smaller house look larger.

Versatile concrete masonry requires hardly any maintenance, is durable, weather-resistant and fireproof. For more facts about planters and other outdoor living features, write to the Portland Cement Association, 33 West Grand Avenue, Chicago 10, Illinois.

Lady Botanist Thrives on Jungle Expedition

LOS ANGELES UP—Because of her interest in umbelliferae, she had the Mathiasella buleuroides named after her, but she also is an authority on menispermaceae. She is Dr. Mildred Mathias.

Umbelliferae and menispermaceae are each a family of plants.

For nine months a year the botanist labors at UCLA, classifying plants, raising plants, teaching about plants, learning about plants.

During her summer vacation she gathers plants, but not the common garden variety.

Dr. Mathias dons her pith helmet and blue jeans and heads for the Amazon. Her kids call her "Queen of the Jungle."

Serving as a plant identification consultant for the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture, the Customs Bureau and other government agencies is only one of her many pursuits. She has written scores of scientific publications on her findings, including several books.

She is vice chairman of the botanical department at UCLA. She serves on endless number of committees and clubs—all connected somehow with plants.

She is married to Gerald Hassler, a physicist working on seawater conversion; has raised four children, one married, two in college, one in high school, and has 76 different varieties of plants growing in the backyard of her Brentwood home.

But come summer, a time for rest and relaxation, and Dr. Mathias is poking around the closets looking for the mosquito netting.

TO PERU

Last summer she accompanied Dr. Dermot Taylor's expedition to the Amazon headwaters in Peru and Ecuador.

Dr. Taylor, UCLA Medical school pharmacologist, was looking for certain types of plants with which to experiment for curative properties. Dr. Mathias was doing the identifying.

Easy-going by nature, the 5-foot-8 botanist brushes away the discomforts of the jungle with the mosquitoes. She's up with the dawn, whips her graying hair into braids which she wraps around her head, dons her blue jeans, long shirt, helmet and tennis shoes—and she's ready for bigger and better plants.

Her favorite plants are in the umbelliferae family—which includes carrots, celery and parsnips.

"Well, I started on the umbelliferae which I was working on my bachelor's degree and stayed with them clear through my Ph.D.," she says.

"I'm more hooked on carrots than Bugs Bunny."

Water Grass Anytime but Soak It Well

You can get an argument by suggesting one time of day as best for watering your lawn. Morning? Evening?

It doesn't make much difference any more, considering the advances in sprinkling equipment. With adequate sprinklers, you may water at high noon on a hot day.

Generally, it is best to water when there is little wind. But some experts advise late-morning watering on a sunny or breezy day to protect bent grasses subject to fungus diseases. Rapid drying of the surface is a safeguard.

Water when the water pressure is best in your area. Water slow, especially on slopes where fast water will run off and do little good. The water must soak in to be of value. It must reach the roots. The roots shouldn't have to climb in search of moisture.

Put Wheels on Planters to Move Bloom Around

One way to give greater interest to outdoor living areas, according to the Summer issue of The American Home Magazine, is to use planter boxes. Mounted on casters, they can be moved to different locations with ease or even moved indoors during severe weather.

Put Your Garden Flowers in a Basket

The freshness and delicacy of summer flowers and the rustic quality of wicker baskets combine to bring summer indoors. A basket of almost any shape may easily be adapted to make an interesting flower container, points out the Society of American Florists.

Use Vermiculite in Transplanting

Those shrubs and evergreens you've just bought or are planning to buy will need all the assistance they can get to overcome the shock of transplanting.

A small quantity of the mineral vermiculite added to the hole where the shrub, evergreen or tree is to be planted will help take the hardness out of the soil and create an atmosphere the plant can thrive in by maintaining excellent moisture and air control.

Follow these four steps when transplanting:

1. Dig a hole larger than the root system of the shrub, evergreen, tree or other plant you are transplanting.
2. Place one to two inches of vermiculite in the bottom of the hole and set the plant in position.
3. Mix vermiculite with soil you have removed from the hole, one part vermiculite to two parts soil. Push the mixture into the hole.
4. Water liberally. Soil should settle around the plant. A small depression permits water to collect during springing or rain.

The vermiculite you've added to the soil is capable of holding water during heavy rains and springings, then releasing it during dry periods. Roots can develop freely because vermiculite, available at garden supply stores, keeps the soil loose.

Violet May Benefit by Leaf Removal

A veteran violet fancier from New Orleans, Mrs. Joseph Gerigity, after reading the pros and cons of plucking leaves from such plants, relates this experience:

"A few months ago I was grooming (brushing leaves) of a violet plant for a show (it measured over 16 inches across with 60 to 70 leaves forming an umbrella). In admiration over the many blooms, I guess I got carried away and over-groomed it."

"The next day about two dozen leaves were brush burned and limp. I had to remove them, thus making my plant unattractive for the show. In order to give the plant some balance, I removed some good leaves (sadly). But as the old saying goes, time heals all."

"To date, my African violet is healthier, larger and still blooming profusely. It suffered very little shock, if any. This may have been sheer luck but I doubt it, and from time to time I do remove several leaves (if necessary) to enhance a show plant."

Insulate Flower Pot to Keep It Moist

Your house plants will keep moist longer when you put them on the porch if you double-pot them. Slip the plant-bearing plant into a clay pot two sizes larger and fill the space between the two pots with moist sphagnum, peat moss or garden soil.

Each time you water the plants, soak the space between the two walls. This will serve as insulation against dry air.

Seal in Plastic

You can go away on vacation and leave your house plants right where they are if you put each one in a plastic bag — the same kind that vegetables come in — and seal them tightly. Don't wait to put the plants before you put them into bags or they will be too wet.

New Lawn Sprinklers Shut Themselves Off

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures
You don't need any more at the gas pump that permits you to put your roast beef in the oven, leave for an afternoon of bridge or movies, and return to find the roast burnt and the oven shut off automatically.

You can tend your lawn sprinkling in much the same fashion. There are lawn sprinklers on the market with spray controls that dial light to heavy watering at set distances, right or left-side coverage, and shut off at specific times. (One is called ROOF Water Timer, by Melcor).

While we were investigating hose innovation, we turned up a new Roll 'n' Reel sprinkler that travels in any direction over lawns (and hills), completely

Broadleaf and Coniferous Evergreens Combine Well

No home landscape is complete without a generous supply of both coniferous and broadleaf evergreens. They are the basis for all year green color, which prevents a drab look to the property in winter. The coniferous evergreens also provide plant character and very interesting foliage.

The broadleaf evergreens provide some of our loveliest flowers, including camellias, rhododendrons, laurels, azaleas and many others.

In the next day the yews, particularly taxus, are always in strong demand and hardly in most areas excepting the very cold parts of the country. Spreading junipers and arbutus virens, as well as hemlocks trimmed as shrubs are striking.

Outstanding broadleaf evergreen shrubs widely grown are, according to the American Association of Nurserymen:

Barberry — the flowers are small but the foliage is attractive. Deciduous in the northern tier of states.

Boxwood is one of the prized evergreens used in home landscaping because of its compact growth and beautiful evergreen leaves. It is not quite so hardy as taxus, but it is a favorite shrub for as north as Massachusetts.

Mountain laurel has lovely flowers, glossy green foliage and is hardy. With good snow cover it has been grown as far north as Minnesota.

Pieris has striking pendant clusters of bell-like white flowers and narrow evergreen leaves.

Pyraecanthus is one of our most striking plants, noted especially for its striking orange, red or yellow berries. It is hardy in most states and where protected sometimes can be grown even in the northern tier.

Rhododendrons — there are many varieties of this outstanding shrub, with its large clusters of white, pink or red flowers and glossy leaves.

Viburnum is evergreen in some climates, deciduous in colder areas.

This bagged fascinated us. You lay out the garden hose in almost any pattern. Water pressure powers the device back along this path without snarling.

There is the one-hand control, pistol-type hose nozzle designed especially for hedges that are not easily accessible, and insecticide spraying. A flick of the thumb varies the flow from mist to jet spray.

There is no need to throw away plastic hose that springs a leak. Non-corroding couplings that will fit and mend virtually any size plastic hose are available. All you have to do is cut the hose, insert a coupling and twist.

and shape, partially filled with water, in a foil-lined basket. Saturate in the water a foam flower holder, obtainable at florists and department stores. If necessary, cut the foam to smaller size, after its saturation, so it will be surrounded by water. Then insert flower stems into the foam holder at any desired angle. Add water daily to the container to keep foam saturated.

A rough-textured, wicker wine-holder can be the foundation for an arrangement with a deflated flow — almost like the wine itself. Place graceful delphiniums at either end of the basket and, in the center, casually group miniature carnations and complementary greens.

A tiered wicker letter holder is an interesting container. Arrange sweetheart roses and waxy, deep green leaves to look like a miniature terrace. This is a charming addition to the wall nearest a breakfast nook. A variation for a table, desk or any flat surface would be a Japanese garden of tiny fresh flowers and leaves — violets, lilies of the valley, cuts of larkspur, whatever is available at your local florist.

FOR TALL ONES
A tallish raffia basket makes a most appropriate container for the long rangy gladioli or snapdragons. Mixed with any shorter-stemmed flowers — fresh-cut poppies or zinnias, for instance — and some large, dark green leaves, this arrangement will be attractive in front of a fireplace off-duty for the summer. A low, low table is another ideal spot for a grouping of this type.

An old-fashioned straw mail-holder says a cheery hello to callers when filled with fresh flowers. Carnations, poppies, delphiniums, try—any combination of favorites may be collected in a simple basket such as this and will create an air of warm welcome when hung beside a front door.

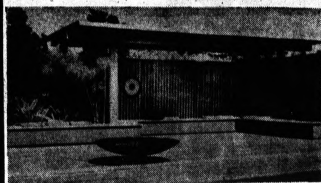

There are many baskets of unusual shape made especially for hanging on walls — the sprightly daisy is a perfect partner for all of them. Alone, mixed with ivy or field flowers, daisies can't help but paint a live portrait of summer. Try them in a dark hallway or corner and watch it come to life.

Natural Humidifiers

Indoor plants help to humidify and purify the air, the Society of American Florists says. Their leaves give off moisture, helping to keep the air moist. Plants help purify the air by absorbing carbon dioxide and emitting oxygen in its place, SAF adds.

Iran Minister Claims Budget Deficit Chopped

TEHRAN, Iran (AP)—Prime Minister Assadullah Alam said yesterday Iran's budget deficit has been reduced from $70 million to $25 million. The reduction was made by cutting unnecessary government expenditures and through increased tax collections, the premier told a news conference.

The budget deficit was responsible for the resignation of the former government headed by Ali Amin. More than half of all telephone calls are made on impulse, according to Alam.

Youth's Release Blamed on GOP

Swainson Hits State Legislature for Lack of Detention Facilities

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Gov. George W. Swainson yesterday blamed the State Legislature for Kent County's release to their homes of nine delinquent children under commitment orders to state institutions.

Five girls and four boys, ranging in age from 14 to 16 years, were released yesterday by Probate Judge Wallace Waalkes because of the county's inability to provide indefinitely for their shelter pending their acceptance by state units.

The judge last Friday informed the governor of his proposed action involving a total of 17 children.

"It is indeed unfortunate that my attempts this past year to obtain adequate appropriations to enlarge our state facilities to care for these people were rejected by a Republican majority in the legislature," Gov. Swainson wrote to Judge Waalkes today.

Judge Waalkes, dissatisfied with the state health and welfare department's administrative level, was discriminating against Kent County.

He agreed that state facilities are lacking and that the legislature is partly responsible. But, he said, the county was getting "short rations" in existing state institutions on a proportionate population basis.

Some counties with populations considerably below that of Kent have more residents in state institutions, said the judge. "It is this situation that we had hoped the governor would help us straighten out," he concluded.

Starlet Found in Coffee Shop

Can Lightning Strike Twice in Hollywood?

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — Can lightning strike twice in the same vicinity? A starlet with the improbable name of Mimsey Farmer has high hopes that it could happen.

The story is this: Mimsey is a Hollywood high school girl who was discovered while munching a snack in a coffee shop near the campus.

Now don't go away. I know you've heard this song before. It's from an old-fashioned farce. A starlet with the improbable name of Mimsey Farmer has high hopes that it could happen.

They say nothing changes in Hollywood, except the faces. So I went out to Warner Brothers to see if the ancient legend had truly been repeated.

Mimsey was on the set of "Spencer's Mountain," in which she appears with Henry Fonda, Maureen O'Hara, James MacArthur, Donald Crisp and Wally Cox. It was hard to tell whether she has the attributes of another Lana, since her hair was up in curlers. But the aspects visible checked out okay.

She is a petite blonde with green eyes and a pert mouth into which she sometimes puts a dainty foot. Such as when we were discussing with Maureen O'Hara the visit on the set of Gene Tierney.

"She's a real old-timer, huh?" said Mimsey, wide-eyed. O'Hara collapsed in laughter, admitting that she and Gene were contemporaries at 20th Century-Fox—and I'm not ashamed to say that I came to Hollywood 21 years ago.

That was four years before Mimsey was born. Mimsey made an abashed apology and retired to a dressing room where she talked about her career thus far. Was the studio's publicity story true? That she was discovered eating a hamburger?

"No," she replied. "I think I was having soup. But the rest of it is true. I had noticed this man looking at me in the eating place. When I went outside he came up and introduced himself as Byron Griffith and asked me if I'd like to get in the business."

"I said, 'what business?' and he said, 'the movie business.' I said yes, and he gave me his card and told me to have my parents call him if they were interested. They called him and I signed up with him as my agent. I went to his weekly dramatic classes for four months before he started showing me around at the studios."

A few television jobs gave her some seasoning. Producer-director Delmer Daves tested her for "Spencer's Mountain" and persuaded Warners to sign her. She's "Seventeenth Summer," and she has a 90-day option at present. But do opinion is that Mimsey is on Daves is talking about her for her way up.

Guards at Wall Wreck Tunnel to West Berlin

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist border guards blew up a refugee tunnel leading from the Soviet sector into West Berlin last night, West Berlin police reported today.

Four armoured cars guarded the Red troops who wrecked the tunnel, which linked a one-story house in Communist-held territory with a bombed-out area of West Berlin.

West Berlin police said the tunnel, dug about four weeks ago, was discovered by the Reds before any East Berliners were able to escape through it.

Communist police photographers made "before" and "after" flash pictures of the tunnel. A barrage of about 30 smoke bombs drove back Western photographers who tried to film the blasting.

Crash Victim's Kin Awarded $127,500

ELIZABETH N. J. (UPI) — American Airlines has been ordered to pay a $102,500 judgment plus $25,000 for legal fees to the widow and daughter of one of 56 persons killed in the March 1 jetliner crash in New York City.

The suit was filed by Mrs. Virginia Reid, 40, Summit, N. J.; and her daughter Susan, 19. The award was made yesterday by Union County Judge John E. Barger. Maurice Reid, manager of a nationwide chain of retail tire stores was one of the 55 persons killed when a Boeing 707 jetliner plunged into Jamaica Bay after takeoff from New York's International Airport on a flight to Los Angeles.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Teen-age juries are getting results in Jacksonville Municipal Court, says Judge John Santora. "The number of teen-age offenders appearing before me has been cut in half since the teen-age jury experiment went into operation last month," Santora said.

After hearing cases against teen-age defendants, the young jurors recommend what punishment the judge should give. He usually follows their recommendations.

Filipino President Ok's Corridor for Shrine

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — President Diosdado Macapagal has approved plans for development of Corregidor Island as a national shrine.

Macapagal authorized the release of 100,000 pesos ($28,000) as part of the project's financing.

40 Viet Cong Killed, 60 Seized in Fight

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP)—Government ground, air and sea forces have killed 40 Communist Viet Cong guerrillas and captured 60 more in a massive operation in massive swamps at the southern tip of Viet Nam, military sources reported today.

The operation began at dawn Wednesday in Ca Mau Province. It was reported still under way today.

Government casualties so far were not reported.

About 3,000 government troops were reported combing the mangrove swamps, supported by fighter planes and naval craft operating through the rivers and canals of the region near the coast.

Slate Meeting Today on Bridge Walkout

DETROIT (AP)—Slate and federal mediators called a meeting of striking toll collectors and Ambassador Bridge officials today in an attempt to iron out a contract dispute.

The bridge was almost deserted Thursday, the first full day of the toll collectors' strike, with the Detroit-Windsor tunnel handling twice its normal load.

Theatrical Press Agent Found Dead in Detroit

DETROIT (AP)—Joseph Heidt, theatrical press agent, died Thursday. He was 52. Heidt died in Receiving Hospital after being found unconscious in his apartment.

Doctors said a liver ailment caused death. A native of Liberty, N.Y., Heidt was chief press agent for the Theater Guild of New York before coming to Detroit in 1956. His widow Joan survives.

CAB Gives Okay to Continental Fare Experiment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB) yesterday gave Continental Airlines permission to set up two lower-priced services to determine whether reduced fares will increase business.

The CAB told Continental it could start its three classes of service over selected routes—a deluxe service at first class fares, a second class at rates 12 to 15 per cent below the first class, and an economy service at rates 20 per cent below present coach fares.

American, Trans World, United and Braniff were included in the order because they applied for similar fares as a "defensive" move, while opposing the experiment.

Crushed by Milk Truck

BELLEVILLE (AP)—Michael J. Bevard, 3, of Belleville, was fatally crushed Thursday by a truck delivering milk to his home.

Wayne County sheriff's deputies said the youngster apparently tripped and fell under the truck's wheels in his driveway.

Dwight Pugh is a cool character.

Not because he is in the air conditioning business but mainly it's due to the cool and collected way Pugh handles himself when bowling with the great names in the sport.

After teaming with Dick Weber, the 1961 Bowler of the Year, in the pro-am event of the Pontiac Open going on at the 300 Bowl, Pugh calmly sat in the lounge enjoying a filet without giving his achievement, of a few minutes before, any second thought.

He not only outscored his pro partner 636 to 575 actual pins, but he did it in every game of the series.

While most bowlers would talk about the thrill of teaming with name pros and even boast if they were able to outscore someone like Weber, Pugh only had hoped Weber would have beaten him good.

His reasoning made sense. "I bowled pretty good and if Weber had bowled his normal good games, we would have won the pro-am," he said.

"I never really thought about beating Weber. I never bowled against my partner," he added, "I just wanted to do well bowling with him."

After going from bowling house to house, Pugh decided four years ago to try his hand at the game. After one season he carried a 178 average. He brought it up to 199 and last year after a back ailment, he went down to 180.

After recovering, he decided since last spring to take the "bugs" out of his game and on several occasions he has bowled 36 straight lines.

"Now I've got the ball that will score. I think I'm rid of the 'bugs' and will try my luck in more tournaments," he said after his fine series last night.

When he qualified for the pro-am part of the tournament, he wanted very much to be paired with one of three bowlers, Joe Joseph, Billy Welu and Weber. The luck of the draw was with him as he was matched with Weber.

The pro of 1961 didn't have his best games last night. He rolled 174-193-208 while Pugh shot 209-208 and 221.

When it was all over Weber said, "You have good style. All you needed tonight was a good partner." This was a modest tribute from a great pro to a local amateur.

"Shucks, I'd bowl with Weber anytime," Pugh said, "It really helps my game to bowl with someone like him."

Pugh managed to take the last spot worth $50 in the pro-am.

Bunning Lone Survivor of Tiger Mound Shuffle

DETROIT (AP) — Just six months ago manager Bob Scheffing's current rotation in Florida confounded the Tigers had the starting pitchers to challenge for the pennant.

Pitching — especially from the starters — was something Scheffing had to worry about when he discussed whether the Tigers could overcome the eight-game gap that separated them from the Yankees last year.

Frank Lary, Don Mossi and Jim Bunning would be the hard core of Scheffing's staff. They had combined for 55 victories in 1961. Scheffing believed they'd do 60 this year. And he felt certain he would find another one or two pitchers at Lakeland to round out the rotation.

But now in the remains of August, only Bunning remains a starter. Scheffing's current rotation is Bunning, Ronnie Kline, Howie Koppitz, Phil Regan and Hank Aguirre. They're the survivors of the 11 different starters from the Yankees last year.

Kline, a chronic liverer, and Aguirre were consigned to the bullpen before spring training ended. Regan, counted on as a fifth starter, was bombed in the season. He started early in the season, was banished to the bullpen and just last week rejoined the rotation.

Koppitz wasn't even at spring training. He was in the army. BACK TO BULLPEN

Paul Foytack also was hit hard down south. He finally won a regular starting job and just recently lost it after three good months of pitching.

Scheffing's pitching problems started mounting right after spring training began. Lary hurt his shoulder. He still hasn't recovered and is disabled list.

Scheffing got two victories from Lary in the 23 of a year ago. He got eight victories from Mossi instead of 15. Mossi, a winner in early part of the season, has been pounded in every start for five weeks and now has a sore arm.

Only Bunning, who'll open the four-game series tonight at Chicago, has come close to matching his 1961 gain. He has won 11 times and could equal his 1961 record of 17 victories.

Bunning's White Sox rival to night will be Ray Herbert.

Yugoslavia is playing in the American Zone for the first time, because it filed too late to get into the crowded European Zone where it belongs.

Lions-Cowboys Meet First in Cleveland DoubleheaderBy BRUNO L. KEARNS Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

The unique pro football doubleheader at Cleveland Saturday night has the resemblance of a round robin tournament.

Detroit and Dallas, losers in their opening exhibition exhibitioners last weekend, play the opener of the twofold in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium at 6:30 p.m., while the Browns and the Steelers, victors in the first game, clash at 9:00 p.m.

One of the largest crowds ever to see exhibition pro football is expected for the doubleheader. Advance ticket sales have reached nearly 40,000 and weekend permitting a crowd of 70,000 may see the four teams in action.

While the Lions were absorbing a 17-14 setback at the hands of the Browns in Tiger Stadium last Saturday night, the Dallas Cowboys were spanked by the victor champion Green Bay Packers 21-7 in the Dallas Cotton Bowl.

The Cowboys ran well, but could not find a scoring punch inside the 20 yard line. Coach Tom Landry is using a host of rookies in preseason games with rookies Amos Bullocks of Southern Illinois doing well in the backfield.

Guard Joe Bob Ibael of Houston, Lorenzo Stanford of North Carolina A&T and end Pettis Norm of Smith College are newcomers up front who have impressed the Dallas coach.

The Lions will again be without the services of defensive captain Joe Schmidt, whom coach Wilson is keeping out of action so as not to re-injure the shoulder which underwent surgery last March.

Rookie center Todd Grant will also be out after a leg injury in drills last Monday. End Jim Gibbons is still a doubtful reserve.

With Gibbons out, rookie Larry Vargo from the University of Detroit, who made a sparkling debut against Browns is again ready to fill the slot. Vargo caught four passes for 60 yards and a touchdown last week.

Earl Morrill will draw the starting assignment at quarterback with Milt Plum going in on alternate quarters.

The Steelers, victors over the Bears in their opening exhibition game, could present themselves as a strong contender in the Eastern Division with a win over the Browns, picked to win the Eastern title.

Coach Buddy Parker has indicated he will start former Ohio State All-American Bob Ferguson at fullback and use John Henry Johnson at halfback. Regular halfback Tom Tracy was hospitalized last Tuesday and it is doubtful that he will be ready to play.

At first his illness was believed to be an appendicitis attack, but doctors then reported that it may have been heat prostration or exhaustion.

City Golf Qualifying
Expects Largest Field

The largest field in history is expected to enter qualifying play Saturday at the Municipal course for the Pontiac City Medal Play golf championship.

Qualifying will take place between 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. over 18 holes. Any threesome or foursome can tee off between these given hours with a score to be assigned at the clubhouse.

Biggest previous entry list for the city medal event was in 1960 when 84 entered qualifying play. Last year 85 toured the course with Bob Galt taking qualifying honors.

Those exempt from qualifying are any of the past medal champions and the five low scores of 1961.

Among the past champions expected in the field for the 36-hole medal, Saturday and Sunday, August 25-26 are Mike Andonian, 5-time winner; Paul Bada, 2-time winner; Glenn Harding, 3-time winner; Kim Imman, Butler Cooper and Ed Wask.

Entry fee is $3.00. A trophy award goes to the top qualifier. Because of the field, the low 30 will go into the two-day finals the following weekend. Previously, the low 20 went into the finals.

Winner and runnerup will receive trophies with prizes for 3rd through 6th places.

Prep Pitching Star
Signed by White Sox

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox have signed a 19-year-old left-handed high school pitching ace under a bonus that provides, in part, a fully paid four-year course at the University of Oregon.

Don McVint, a 6-2, 170-pounder who compiled a sensational record at South Eugene High School, is the prize landed by the Sox.

Keag League to Meet

The Automotive Bowling League will hold a meeting tonight at 7:30 at West Side Recreation. Interested teams and individuals are invited to attend.

Tee Off in Michigan Open Golf Tourney Today

5 Champions in Field Led by '61 Champ

51-Year Old Veteran John Barnum Favored at Farmington CC

Five champions in a field of 152 teed off this morning in the 22nd annual Michigan Open Golf Tournament at Farmington Country Club, Haggerty and West 12th roads.

Big John Barnum, 51 year old professional who led the National PGA tournament in the opening round recently, is defending champion and pre-tourney favorite to repeat.

Others among returning champions in the field are Al Kocis and Horton Smith. Max Evans who lost to Barnum in three extra playoff holes last year in California and will not be entered.

Barnum is not new to the Farmington layout. In 1960 in the Michigan PGA he set a course record three extra playoff holes last year in California and will not be entered.

Among the entries in his first Michigan Open is Pete Brown, 1961 U. S. Negro champion from Detroit.

There are 75 amateurs in the field led by Pontiac's Mike Anderson, winner of the Michigan Amateur championship this year. Anderson was in the threesome with Barnum and Ben Kala teeing off at 8:30 this morning.

Lloyd Syron, 1957 state amateur champion, who is back on the tournament trail after four years of "retirement" is entered and he was scheduled to tee off with Tom Watrous and Bob Nodus at 1:48 p.m. today and at 8:32 a.m. Saturday.

After 18 holes today and 18 more on Saturday, the field will be cut to 60 for the final 36 holes on Sunday.

Yankees in Semifinals at Moscow Tourney

MOSCOW (U. S. — Frank Froehling of Miami plays Britain's Michael Ham and Donald Dell of Bethesda, Md., meets Australia's John Newcomb today in a bid to make the men's singles final in the Moscow International Tennis Tournament an all-American affair.

In the women's singles Jan Leane of Australia, put on Donna Floyd of Arlington, Va., the U.S. clay courts champion, 6-2, 6-3 in the quarter-final.

THE PALMER METHOD
by Arnold Palmer

KEEP WRISTS STRAIGHT

The only time the wrists should turn during the golf swing is at a point beyond the half-way-through-the-swing position. Wrists which turn in either direction are bound to change the clubface position. If, at impact, the right wrist turns in a clockwise manner, the clubface opens and a slice results. If the right wrist turns counter-clockwise, here comes a closed clubface and a hook (illustrated).

Keep the left hand grip steady and firm. A good idea is to concentrate on keeping the back of the left wrist facing the target for as long as possible after the impact.

This consistently aids in keeping the clubface always square to the target, in a good swing, the wrists would not cross until a position just past the illustrated point.

Sno-Bol Loses in 'AA' District

B & L, Shelby Win

Bob & Larry's Bar from the Waterford League and Rochester Shelby, winners of the Michigan Amateur championship this year, defeated the district C & D softball tournament at Beaudette Park last night.

The bar team rolled over Fennell Acme Manufacturing 7-3 and Shelby clipped Huron Bowl of Pontiac, 3-2.

Michigan Gets 25 Days

Strict Duck Laws Set

WASHINGTON (U. S. — Michigan duck hunters will have a season of only 25 days at most this year. The Interior Department announced yesterday that it imposed the most restrictive duck-hunting regulations in over a decade.

In addition, last year's nationwide closed season on canvasbacks and redhead ducks will be continued through the coming season.

Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall said the tighter regulations are necessary because over-all duck population has hit a record low, largely because of drought in the prairie pothole country of the northern United States and Canada — the continent's principal "duck factory."

Udall said there are signs that the drought cycle is ending and it is hoped that if this year's tight rules preserve the essential breeding stock the restrictions can be relaxed in the near future.

Shooting hours will be from sunrise to sunset. On the opening day shooting hours will be from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

MISSISSIPPI FLYWAY

Here are the detailed regulations for the Mississippi Flyway, which includes Michigan, Alabama, Arkansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee and Wisconsin:

The states may select concurrent open seasons on ducks and geese of 25 consecutive days with a daily bag limit of two and a possession limit of four ducks, and a daily bag and possession limit of six geese.

Last year these states had an average of 30 consecutive days with bag limit of two and possession limit of four and a 20-day season with bag of three and six in possession for ducks.

The daily bag limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) one mallard or one quail; (b) two wood ducks; (c) one hooded merganser. The possession limit may not include more of the following species than: (a) two mallard or black ducks; (b) two wood ducks; (c) one hooded merganser. This provides protection of mallard and black ducks, which previously were not singled out for bag limitation.

In addition to other bag and possession limits, two additional species are allowed in the daily bag limit and four additional species are allowed in the possession limit.

The daily bag and possession limits may not include, in the alternative, more than: (a) two Canada geese or subspecies; (b) two white-fronted geese; or (c) one Canada goose or subspecies and one white-fronted goose.

At Northside last night saw Berry Dore trounce Oakland Automotive 16-6 and Detroit two down Harry's Highway, 13-5.

District softball games at Drayton Plains and Farmington were rained out for the weekend.

Bob & Larry's scored nine runs in the last four innings to rip open the game with Fennell. Jim Fuller and Don Roehl got two hits each for the winners. One of Roehl's blows was a triple to lead off the four-run fourth inning. Bill Sparks scattered eight hits, four in the second when Berry scored all his runs, to gain the victory.

WINNING RUN

Dave Ferguson's triple and a single by Bob Sherman drove in the winning run for Shelby in the sixth inning. Ed Cook singled home a run in the first and Jim Bendig one in the second for Huron Bowl's two runs. A triple by Terry Fuller and Chet Bell's single cobbled Shelby to tie the count 2-2 in the third after the winners had scored an unearned run in the first.

Oakland scored four runs in the first inning. But, Berry's came back with a hit in the second and two in the third and that was the game. Chet Dore, Gene Byers and Ray Luna had two hits each for the winners.

John Fowler blasted three doubles and drove in five runs to lead Detroit. The game was called at the end of six innings because of the 10-run ahead rule.

In district play at Farmington, the game between 300 Bowl and Spencer Floors was called at the end of seven innings because of darkness with the score 2-2. The game will be completed tonight beginning at 6:30.

The winner will meet Grissom Chevy of Rochester for the "C" title tomorrow.

Pontiac Sno-Bol suffered a 7-3 defeat at Detroit last night in "A" district play at Dearborn. The same teams meet tonight at 7:30 and if Sno-Bol wins, the deciding contest will be at 8:00.

Jerry Jones got two hits for the losers last night. The winner at Dearborn advances to state play in Port Huron.

'62 Hunting Tags Sent to Dealers

Distribution of Michigan's 1962 hunting licenses and game law tags was started this week by the Conservation Department.

Supplements to the game law digest will be mailed to dealers later this month. Included in these single sheet inserts will be hunting regulations on deer and migratory game birds which have not yet been set.

All of Michigan's 4,600 dealers should have licenses, digests and supplements by mid-September. License fees remain the same as last year for the state's hunting seasons.

Yale football coach Jordan Olney played over instead of football when he was a high school athlete in New York City.

Stagg Attends 100th Birthday Party

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP) — Centenary-old Amos Alonzo Stagg's strength is fading. But he still has all his courage.

The man who for 70 years coached thousands of college boys how to play football cleanly and win proved that courage Thursday night. It was a dramatic moment in the nation's sports history.

By his own choice and sheer grit, he emerged from hospital confinement to appear at one of the 12 parties held across the nation by the famed and the humble in honor of his 100th birthday Thursday.

STAGG IN 1890

Stagg, who was born before football was played in the United States, started coaching it in 1890 and quit reluctantly at 88, two years ago. He is but a shadow of himself. Cataracts over both eyes have nearly blinded him. His once proudly erect body is stooped. His mind is alert; times, again it wanders.

But he knew, from the influx of old friends and former players, from the telegrams read to him by his 87-year-old wife — from President Kennedy, from Herbert Hoover, from Richard Nixon — that big things were stirring.

Nurses at his convalescent hospital, where he has been confined since February, feared even the short trip downtown to the Civic Auditorium by car might be too much for him. But Pat Page, who played for him at the University of Chicago near the turn of the century, had come down from Chicago for his party. Dr. St. Benson, once his team trainer, had flown all the way over from Sweden.

Shortly after 8 o'clock there was a rush, a gasp and then a bedlam of handclapping and cheers among the 370 birthday celebrants, including California's Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

Through a doorway Stagg came, between his beloved Stella, his wife for 68 years, and his son, Paul, athletic director at University of the Pacific. His step was slow. His frail body trembled. His face was drawn and solemn.

But he walked on his own. No help, until he reached the step to the speaker's platform.

'HAPPY BIRTHDAY'

Dazed but determined, Stagg sat down while the crowd broke into a happy birthday song and a three-foot high cake was wheeled in, 100 lighted candles glittering.

Back of the platform stood a full length picture of Stagg, taken only 10 years ago while he was striding across the University of Pacific stadium turf. The contrast was devastating. There at the speaker's table he sat, hollow in his cheeks, eyes half closed, expression solemn. In the flesh, taken at 90, there was a fresh vigorous bloom in his countenance and he was smiling.

Thursday night while praise was heaped upon him he sat as if scarcely aware of what was going on. There were anxious whispered conferences with his wife and son. They wanted him to go back to the hospital. Not yet; it would be impolite; Brig. Gen. Lawrence Whiting, another of his bygone Chicago Maroon gridiron greats was speaking.

Stagg insisted on waiting. But when Whiting sat down, Stagg's final public appearance here tonight, said sportscaster Tom Harmon, old 98 on one of the crowd watched in admiring the greatest football teams and a key speaker.

'GOLDEN MOMENT'

"It will be a golden moment" in my memory. What a sight! One hundred years old and he walks into this auditorium."

And from Gov. Brown: "He never coached a game he thought was more important than the boys who played it. He never won a victory he thought was more important than the ideal which inspired it."

Perhaps one of the greatest tributes paid him Thursday night in Stockton was a sign posted by the Stockton Lions' Club on the wall of the reception room outside the auditorium.

"Sorry, folks," it read. "No alcohol being sold here tonight. Let us remember that the man we are honoring this evening has refrained from the use of alcohol for 100 years."

Today, back in the hospital, Stella, his faithful twice-daily visitor, begins reading piecemeal to him the some 1,000 letters and telegrams sent him from all over the world. One from Gov. Richard Hughes of New Jersey lauded the native of West Orange, N.J., as "one of the most highly respected and dearly beloved figures of all times."

Over in one corner of Stagg's hospital room was a fresh reminder of Thursday's big birthday, the gift of a friend—100 dark red roses.

RECORD BREAKERS — Carolyn House of Los Angeles, who set a new world's record in the 1,500-meter freestyle at the women's AAU meet, and Murray Rose of Australia, who set a new American record for the 400 freestyle at the men's international meet, look over an application for Miss House's mark. Both meets are in Chicago.

Records Fall at AAU Swim Meet

CHICAGO (AP) — "I really didn't know I was going that fast, but I wanted to break the record," commented 16-year-old Carolyn House of Los Angeles, who set a new world's record in the 1,500-meter freestyle Thursday frosted a record-breaking opening day of the National AAU Women's Outdoor Swimming Championships.

Murray Rose, Australia's 1956 and 1960 Olympic champion, cracked the listed American 400-meter freestyle record and a U.S. 200-meter freestyle relay team bettered an American mark set in 1935 in the men's international invitational.

Today's schedule promises another day of record-smashing as Robyn Johnson, 16, Arlington, Va., goes after the 100-meter freestyle title she won last year.

WILL DEFEND

Jean Dellekamp of the Indianapolis Athletic Club returns to defend her 200-meter breaststroke title; Nina Harner of Philadelphia will defend her 200-meter backstroke crown and Barbara McAllister shoots for Joel Lemis' 300-meter diving crown.

In what may be the day's top race, Donna De Varona, the daughter of the 1960 Olympic team, defends her world record in the 400-meter medley.

Miss House, in successfully defending her 1,500-meter title, topped a world mark of 19:02.2 held by Sweden's Margareta Rylander, set in Uppsala, Sweden in 1961.

The blonde Los Angeles lass was pushed to her record peak by teammate Sharon Flanagan, 16, of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, who also bettered Miss House's listed American mark of 19:45.0.

SEEK APPROVAL

Carolyn apparently set an American record en route to her 1,500-meter triumph. She was clocked at 890 meters in 9:59.8. This time will be submitted for approval as the American record for that distance. Lorraine Crapp of Australia set the listed American mark of 10:24.3 in Honolulu in 1957. Sweden's Jane Cedarquist holds the world's record of 9:55.6.

Rose, the 23-year-old water marvel, splashed through the Portage Park pool in 4:16.1 erasing for the second time in a week the listed American mark of 4:17.5 by Japan's Tsuboyoshi Yumika. Rose was timed in 4:17.2 at last week's men's nationals. The world mark is 4:15.9 by Jon Konrads at Sydney, Australia in 1960.

ST. PAUL (AP) — The spotlight was on six golfers today as the $30,000 St. Paul Open Golf Tournament moved into the second round of 18 holes.

They are Joe Campbell, Pendleton, Ind.; Rex Baxter Jr., Amarillo, Tex.; Frank Wharton, Marquette, N.Y.; Dave Ragan, San City, Fla.; Doug Sanders, Ojai, Calif.; and Bob Shaw, Wiloughby, Ohio. All shot 6-under the par 72, 6,557-yard Keller course.

Closely bunched behind them were 53 other players who bettered par and nine others who matched regulation.

ONE BEHIND

Only one stroke back at 67 were Pete Cooper, West Palm Beach, Fla.; Johnny Pott, Gulf Hills, Miss.; Buster Cupit, Ft. Smith, Ark.; and Dave Hill, Denver.

PGA champion Gary Player soared to a bogey six on the 19th and finished with a 70, while defending St. Paul champ Don January had a 71.

ALL TICKETS SOLD

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Bill Boardley, Michigan State University athlete ticket manager, has announced that the Michigan-Michigan State football game is a sellout and has been for some time.

"All we can do with the checks and applications for tickets is send them back," he said today. "There just aren't any individual game tickets for the big one left."

AFL Draft Ends for Equalization Stars Denver

DALLAS (AP) — The equalization draft of the American Football League wound up Thursday with Denver coming off best—in fact, the Broncos appeared to have been the only club to profit materially.

The draft was designed primarily to help the lowest ranking clubs—Oakland and Denver. But Oakland took only two players while Denver grabbed off five.

The best takes for Denver were Richie Lucas, Buffalo quarterback who also plays defensive halfback, and John Denver, offensive guard from San Diego. Denver shelled out $3,000 for Denver but had to cough up only $1,000 for Lucas.

Motors Take Upside Edge

Market Shows Spotty Gains

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was mixed with more changes than early Friday afternoon. Volume was light.

Prices opened on an irregular note and held steady. At one time during the morning there was a flurry of activity in the aerospace issues, Thursday's market star. Some held small gains.

Martin-Marietta, the volume leader Thursday, was ahead about 1 1/2 points in early active dealings, however. The company is reported to be in line to be named prime contractor for the huge Titan II space booster program although nothing official has come from the defense department. Martin was the prime contractor on the Titan I and II.

Utilities edged to the upside as did chemicals and aircraft. Although most changes were fractional, some spotty improvement produced a few 1 and 2 point gains.

In mid morning the Commerce Department said July housing starts were practically unchanged from the revised June level.

Meanwhile, the market showed little apparent reaction to the statement by the Federal Reserve Board chairman that the July business improvement has carried over into this month.

The motors took an upside edge with GM, Chrysler, American and Ford ahead. Studebaker was unchanged.

Aides Withheld Estes Dealings

Sen. McClellan Says Freeman Assistants Didn't Tell Secretary

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., charged today that evidence which would have helped the Senate investigate the activities of John C. Baywell, Agriculture Department general counsel, for another day of quizzing by the Senate Investigations subcommittee.

McClellan's subcommittee seeks to learn whether politicians used influence to help Estes amass a fortune from federal farm aid deals, and to smart investigations of what Estes was doing.

Baywell testified Thursday that he did not until April 11 find Freeman receive his first real piece of what the Estes deal involved. He then took the secretary only about 60 hours to start a crackdown on the Peocos, Tex., promoter, Baywell said.

"NEVER GOT ANYWHERE"

In earlier hearings, witnesses said that investigation after investigation of Estes had been attempted prior to April but never seemed to get anywhere.

Baywell came under sharp critical questioning by McClellan and Sen. Kent Mundt, D-S.D., the subcommittee's senior GOP member.

They conducted a written memorandum Baywell said he had delivered personally to the secretary on April 11, outlining details of Estes' manipulations of profitable contracts, planning a crackdown on the Peocos, Tex., promoter, Baywell said.

McClellan and Mundt said the alternatives might have been to ask Baywell to resign or to force him to leave the department. Baywell denied this. He also denied that the memorandum itself withheld vital information from Freeman, as alleged by Mundt.

Baywell said he informed the secretary on April 11 that the details at a fact-finding hearing later in the day and that the crackdown on Estes resulted.

Estes is awaiting trial on federal and Texas fraud and theft charges.

Heavy Selling Puts Wheat Prices Down

CHICAGO (AP) — Selling pressure quickly knocked wheat futures down as much as a cent a bushel today in early dealings on the boards of trade with August soybeans moved up two cents. Brokers said the liquidation of wheat probably was caused by the fact that the two-year crop system in the program for next year. The market met a little support, however, on the decline.

Short covering was credited with the initial surge in August soybeans. It was understood to represent a fairly stable withdrawal by speculators from further trading in that contract.

Academics Are Popular With Adults at MSUO

By RALPH HUMMEL

the adult education menu, "academ-

popular brain food at Michigan

State University Oakland campus.

In MSUO's continuing education division, 40 out of every 100 students are taking liberal arts courses — many of which the popular mind has relegated to the unpleasant heights of ivory towers.

with the national average of 20

100 taking adult education courses, and the demand for understanding of subjects ranging from political

spreading outward from the university through community clubs.

"how-to-do-it" speakers. The new

life.

a real credit on the cultural standing of the community around

MSUO," says Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of the continuing education division.

"The national average in adult

20 out of 100 students in adult

Our 40 out of 100 is highly sig-

A total of 5,600 persons was

the year before.

Of last year's figure, 2,732 actually attended classes, with 3,600

the rest, 1,605 took part in one or more of 14 conferences, while the rest attended special community or club events.

Among those who took classes,

1,998 chose to take in the liberal arts. This includes philosophy, science, history, music and art appreciation, languages and the performing arts (music,

No Worms or Flies

UNCANNY CANINE FISHES—"Lassie," the fishing pooch, is a familiar sight in the Union Lake area. She "fishes" in Union or Cooley Lakes from morning until night, and comes up with a small sunfish often enough to keep her stomach full. The sunfish she carries to shore and devours.

Sweden Gives Approval

OK Finbine Abortion

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — Mrs. Sherri Finbine was admitted to the Caroline Hospital today with hours of winning permission for the legal abortion she was denied in the United States.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Sherri Finbine was told by Sweden's Medical Board today she can have an abortion here to end a pregnancy she fears will bring her a drug-deformed baby.

The 30-year-old Arizona housewife and television performer burst out crying when her teacher husband Robert brought her the news.

"It has been a great strain for her," Finbine said while he was trying to comfort his wife. "Now we just hope that the operation can take place as soon as possible and that this affair can be forgotten. We have no more wish than to start a normal life again when this is over."

Finbine also expressed thanks to the Swedish doctors and the Royal Medical Board for sympathetic appreciation of the case.

Rewards Were Big Help Says Police Chief Koren

Rewards offered by the City and The Pontiac Press aided police in the quick apprehension of the men charged with the Eftimias Vasiliou murder, Police Chief Joseph Koren said today.

The City and this newspaper each offered $1,000 rewards last week for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killers.

Police officers were excluded from receiving the city's reward. However, The Press said it would double its award to $2,000 if the person supplying vital information were a policeman.

On Monday, six persons were rounded up by police as suspects in the case only two weeks after Vasiliou was found shot to death in his store, The Boulevard Market, 309 Orchard Lake Ave.

Two of the men signed confessions in the killing and three are now charged with first degree murder.

"Undoubtedly, the rewards helped the police department in this case," said Koren. "In many of these cases, people have no incentive to turn over information which could help in the solution of a crime."

"Normally, all they can expect to receive is retaliation from a criminal's family and friends."

"After the rewards were posted last week, tips began to flow into the police department. Some were of little value, but others helped greatly."

"I would like to thank The Pontiac Press for offering its reward," said Koren. "It was a public-spirited contribution which, I am sure, was appreciated by all our citizens who respect the law."

The rewards will be presented after the Vasiliou killers are convicted. Koren said it will then be determined who is eligible for the city reward.

Geneva Accord Buys Release of Filipino, Too

Men Tell of Hardship Under Pro-Red Troops; Cheered in Vientiane

From Our News Wire
VIENTIANE, Laos—Five Americans and a Filipino held captive for more than a year by pro-Communist forces were released today. They were released under terms of the agreement ending the Laotian civil war that was signed in Geneva last July 21.

One of the men said he was kept in wooden stocks 14 hours daily during the first six months of captivity. Another said he underwent hours of intense interrogation, sometimes collapsing from sheer exhaustion.

The men, who had grown beards during their captivity, were cheered by a crowd of several hundred as they emerged from the twin-engine Soviet plane that brought them to Vientiane from Pathet Lao headquarters in the Plain des Jarres.

Those released were Maj. Lawrence Bailey, Laurel, Md., assistant military attaché at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane; John McMorris, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Edward R. Shores Jr., Galloway, Tenn.; Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio; NBC cameraman Grant Wolfkill of Shelton, Wash.; and Lorenzo Frigiliana of the Philippines.

All six appeared to have lost considerable weight. Bailey, who spent almost 17 months in the hands of the Pathet Lao, said his captors did not beat or torture him. But he said he was made to stand during hours of interrogation and sometimes fell to the floor from exhaustion.

'Giant Killer' Wins

Symington Blows Up, Chokes Off Humphrey

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., angrily accused former Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey of insulting the Senate today and refused to hear further testimony on nickel deals involving Humphrey's mining interests.

Symington opened the second day of Humphrey's testimony by objecting to comments the former top Eisenhower administration official had made to the press.

He said the Humphrey statement Thursday was an insult to the Senate in that it charged the stockpile investigation was politically motivated.

Brushing aside demands by Sen. Prescott Bush, R-Conn., for a vote, Symington said he planned to adjourn the hearings for further investigation.

Humphrey started to make a statement, demanding to be heard. "You wouldn't dare," Humphrey said, and Symington's gavel banged down.

HE DARED — "This hearing is adjourned," snapped Symington. "Don't even try to tell a United States senator he dared."

JFK Hits 'Debate'; Cites Crisis Ahead

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — President Kennedy declared today the nation is entering a decade of crisis and "we cannot afford inefficiency and waste. We cannot afford endless debate and delay."

Starting beside South Dakota's vast Oahe Dam—the first stop in a weekend swing through the West—Kennedy pictured the country as in a race with a challenge.

And he urged in his prepared address that all parts of the economy pull together or else "the American people will be the losers."

Said Kennedy: "If the railroads prevent coal slurry pipelines from conveying the resources of our mines—if the mining interests prevent the use of nuclear energy for public and private power—interests veto each other's progress, or if one region refuses to permit another to share in its abundance—then we shall be entering a decade of challenge and crisis with an inexcusable, vulnerable attitude of waste."

Kennedy noted that the Oahe Dam was the fifth of six great dams to control the mainstream of the Missouri River and to generate electrical power to nine states.

And he said, "The key to this century is power—power on the farm as well as the factory—power in the country as well as the city."

From here Kennedy flies further west to Pueblo, Colo., and across a half-century of water projects and at least a peek at the political future.

The White House calls Kennedy's trip nonpolitical, and the government is in this picking up the tab. But the President also has his eyes on the senatorial contests in South Dakota and Colorado and the race for governor between former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Edmund G. Brown.

FLOODS PAID — In his speech here today Kennedy dropped a plug for old friend George McGovern, former food for peace director, saying he had served ally in the job.

Democratic McGovern is facing Republican Sen. Joe Bottum in South Dakota's Senate race.

The formal objective of Kennedy's week-long journey back and forth across the continent was visits to the $345-million Oahe dam and power plant on the Missouri River just north of Pierre, the $170-million Arkansas-Tryingpan water project in Colorado, and a dynamite-powered ground breaking for the $511-million San Luis and canal system in California's San Joaquin Valley.

The President does his San Luis speaking and dynamic firing chores Saturday, at the dam site west of Los Banos.

He flies to Castle Air Force Base at Merced and calls afternoon whirls by helicopter to beautiful Yosemite Valley to spend the night, and takes the chopper again in the morning to Los Banos.

Red Capital Getting Out Red Carpet

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet capital denied carnival attire today for the arrival of the Soviet space twins, Maj. Andrian Nikolayev and Lt. Col. Pavel Popovich. Soviet officials announced that their big parade will come Saturday.

The astronauts' families have already been brought to Moscow for the festival.

The celebration got an added boost by the announcement that Air Force Day, previously scheduled for Sunday, will be moved forward to Saturday. Both astronauts are air force pilots.

The astronauts themselves have been flown from Karaganda, their landing area in Kazakhstan about 1,500 miles southeast of Moscow, to a nearer undesignated base. There they continued to rest and to undergo examinations of the effects of weightlessness during their record orbital flights that kept them in space four and three days.

FEELING FINE — Both were reported excellent and apparently sprucing up for the big reception. A brief shot on Moscow television showed Nikolayev lathered up, as a hairdresser stroked his hair. He was heard from four days in space.

The bright weather that prevailed in Moscow during most of the astronauts' flights gave way last night to rain, but preparations went ahead for their triumphant arrival.

Red Square was full of cranes and construction machinery as a host of workers threw up viewing stands and other trimmings that go with Moscow celebrations.

Test Links Gun With Murder

State Ballistics Report Says Bullets Alike in 22-Caliber Check

A comparison of bullets today linked a gun found in the accused slayer's apartment building to the murder of Pontiac merchant Eftimias Vasiliou, Pontiac Police reported.

"So far as we know now, this is the weapon used in the murder of Vasiliou," said Capt. Donnie Ashley.

He added that further ballistics checks are being made.

The gun was found in a building at 146 Orchard Lake Ave. where Joseph Page, 36, rented an apartment, police said. Page made a statement Monday to Asst. Oakland County Prosecutor Robert Tompkins that he shot the grocer in the July 30 holding.

Ashley today was commenting on a ballistics report issued by the Michigan State Police crime laboratory in East Lansing.

The crime lab yesterday completed initial test firings of the 22-caliber nine-shot revolver found in the building.

Smoke Signals Rising From Chief Pontiac

One Chief Pontiac himself bobbed into The Press today with an announcement of tribal importance. On Tuesday, September 11th, a reception will be held at the Bloomfield Hills Country Club in honor of Chancellor D. B. Varner of MSUO.

Michigan's Indian Princess for 1962 (Rosemary Gayler) is also expected to attend.

Reported Holding Man Who Knows Thieves

BOSTON (AP)—Rhode Island State Police today denied a report that they are questioning an ex-convict who claims to know the whereabouts of the robbers who scooped $1.5 million from a mail truck in Plymouth Tuesday night.

Lt. Peter O'Connell, chief of the detective division, said that three men were questioned about the holdup but department is not questioning anyone at present.

Providence, R.I., police said they questioned 12 men Thursday night that all have been released.

The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston gave an official figure of the cash haul—$1,553,277.

Boston police circulated throughout the country composite drawings of two of the white-gloved robbers. They bear a striking resemblance to the notorious Bobby

Deny Having Lead in Big Robbery

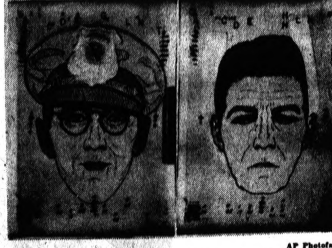

Wilkinson, 32, of Duke, Okla., and Albert Nussbaum, 27, who are wanted by the FBI for the murder of a Brooklyn, N.Y., bank guard.

RULE OUT FAIR — Investigators earlier had ruled out the pair as participants in the mail truck snatch. They feel that a local gang was responsible.

It was pointed out that the way the crime was committed, with 60 postal inspectors gathered on as far distant as Massachusetts.

Henry B. Montague, 50, the nation's chief postal inspector, said solving the crime will take time even with 60 postal inspectors gathered on as far distant as Massachusetts.

Enemy Scotched

General Wins Tee-Day

TURNBERRY, Scotland (AP)—Teamed with Freeman Gosden—Amos off the old radio team of Amos and Andy—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower began his Scottish golfing vacation with a victory today.

He and Gosden beat Brig. Sir James Gault and James Gray two up over 18 holes of the Turnberry Links, where America's Walker Cup team will play the British next year. Ike shot a 94. Par is 73.

"He shot well," said Gosden, "but he'll get a lot better. He had a 77 just before leaving the States." On his very first drive today, Ike belted the ball 200 yards. He reacted with a broad grin.

The former president arrived last night from London with his wife and two grandchildren to spend five days at his 10-room apartment in Culzean Castle. The apartment is a gift from the Scottish people in appreciation for his wartime leadership.

Two Killed in Fall on Construction Job

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—Two workmen were killed Thursday as they fell 100 feet with a section of new concrete roof on an Indiana State College building being erected here.

Stanley Lewis, 39, a West Terre Haute laborer, was dead on arrival at a hospital. He suffered a broken neck.

Roy Miller, 51, Spencer, Ind., died three hours later from head, chest and back injuries.

William McCarty, construction company foreman, said two steel beam supports snapped off, plunging the workers and a 33-foot section of the roof overhang to the ground.

Owner to Close Nursing Home—
Hates Red Tape

RENSELAER, N.Y. (AP)—The patients wept, but Mrs. Earl Gundersen said she was too fed up with red tape to change her decision to close the nursing home that had won state praise.

She might turn the attractive home in nearby Deerpark into an apartment house, she told reporters yesterday and explained:

"There were 13 state and federal agencies constantly flooding me with forms, questions and statistical requests, medical reports, census figures, Social Security, unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, withholding taxes—all too much to handle."

She said the paperwork frequently kept her at her desk for periods of more than 18 hours.

The State Social Welfare Department, which has jurisdiction over nursing homes, praised Mrs. Gundrum's operation in 1958 and 1961.

UF Women Hear About Agencies

Orientation luncheons this week introduced Pontiac Area United Fund district chairmen to campaign leaders and 1962's campaign procedures.

Meeting Wednesday and Thursday at Ted's Restaurant in Bloomfield Hills, 44 newly-appointed chairmen heard speaker Fred V. Haggard, president of the AFL-CIO, Oakland County Council and PAUF campaign chairman, explain the budget needs of the 54 agencies affiliated with the Pontiac Area United Fund.

* * *

Mr. Haggard told the group that "the 1962 goal of $706,125 is needed to maintain agency services during the coming year. These necessary and worthwhile services that benefit all of us are dependent on the volunteer efforts and the generosity of members of the community."

Heading up the Pontiac women's volunteers is Mrs. Earl White, Pontiac co-chairman. Under her direction they hope to raise $15,848.66 of the 1962 goal of $28,213.89 during their 10-day drive, Oct. 15-26.

* * *

TO RECRUIT WORKERS

During the weeks ahead, district chairmen will be responsible for recruiting some 600 workers to cover the Pontiac residential solicitation.

* * *

Mrs. Joseph Fox, 1962 women's division campaign committee chairman, presided at the luncheon sessions sponsored by Sears, Roebuck and Company and Pontiac State Bank.

* * *

Mrs. Walter Nottlinger, women's division chairman; Karl Bradley, PAUF executive director, and Virginia Loveland, women's division secretary, were also present.

Abby Tells Second Wife:

It's YOUR House Now

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
DEAR ABBY: Am I foolish for being "jealous" of my husband's first wife? She is no longer living and I never knew her, but, Abby, it's not easy to live in HER house, cook on HER stove, and sleep in HER bed.

I haven't said anything to my husband about how I feel because I know he can't afford to replace everything all at once, but it's getting me down. Any advice to boost my spirits?

WIFE NUMBER TWO
DEAR WIFE: A little patience will go a long way. And your point of view needs changing. It's YOUR house now—and YOUR stove, YOUR bed, and more important, YOUR man. So if you love him, don't give him a problem he can't solve right now.

* * *
DEAR ABBY: My problem is my husband. He says he isn't an alcoholic because he drinks only beer, but I have seen him drink 20 bottles at one sitting.

He stops at a tavern on his way home from work every night and he comes in 4 to 5 hours late and loaded. Then he picks a fight with me because I refuse to heat up his dinner. I keep his dinner hot for an hour or so, but I don't think he deserves a hot meal when he comes home 4 or 5 hours late and drunk. Can a man become an alcoholic on beer alone? Your answer is important.

HEARTSICK READER

DEAR HEARTSICK: Yes, a man can be a beer alcoholic. Yours qualifies for A.A., but if he isn't ready to admit it and seek their help, you should investigate membership in A.A.

It's a nonprofit (free) organization whose function is to teach nonalcoholics how to live with alcoholics. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is so superstitious it is getting my goat. If a black cat crosses the road in front of us, she makes me turn the car around and go the other way.

She won't leave the house on Friday the 13th. You couldn't pay her to sit at a table. How can I convince her that superstitions are a lot of baloney? Or am I the nutty one?

KNOCKING ON WOOD
DEAR KNOCKING: Superstition arises from ignorance. Hottest it over to the library and get a book on the origin of superstitions. (But don't step on a crack or you'll break your mother's back.)

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of The Pontiac Press.

Two in Youth Chorale Are Home in City After Summer in Europe

Pontiac students, Gary Alan of North Telegraph Road and Helen Thams of West Iroquois Road, returning home Thursday from a summer of touring Ireland, England, Holland and Germany with the Michigan Youth Chorale.

The Chorale is a mixed ensemble of juniors and seniors from high schools in southern Michigan. Members were chosen through audition, on the basis of vocal talent, scholarship and leadership ability.

Each singer had been recommended by the music department of his own school.

These tours were designed to develop understanding and friendship between countries, interpreting America through its music.

While in each town or city, the Chorale members lived in private homes with "host" families. They have acquired many new "fathers" and "mothers."

The Michigan Youth Chorale is sponsored by the Youth for Understanding Teenage Exchange Program of the Michigan Council of Churches and the Ann Arbor-Washtenaw Council of Churches.

Other area participants are Lynne Frailing, Robert Leininger and Diane Stewart, all of Rochester; Kenneth Colton and Donald Lacey Jr., both of Union Lake; Jack Boyle, Pat Lysinger, and Kathy McBroom all of Walled Lake; John Verner of Lakeville; and Richard Morphet of Milford.

The last concert of the 1962 Chorale season will be given at 3 p.m. Sept. 9 in Hill Auditorium on the campus of the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor. The concert is open to the public.

South Lyon to Vote Again on Levy

Board Orders Election Monday After Getting 400-Name Petition

SOUTH LYON — After saying "no" three times within three months to special operating tax renewals, voters of the Lyon Township School District will have another chance to change their minds Monday.

They will vote on a five-mill tax for a one-year period to replace an expiring special levy for operating revenue.

If voters turn thumbs down a fourth time, the school board plans another special election the following week to ask approval of transferring some $105,000 from the building and site fund to the operating account.

If approved Monday, the five-mill tax would bring the school district about the same amount.

AWAITED PETITION

They had previously stated they would take no action to place another millage proposal before voters unless they received such a petition.

Voters turned down a 6.5 mill-renewal request in May and again in June. On July 16, two proposals, one for five mills and one for four, were both defeated.

Faced with a $110,000 loss in revenue because of the deficits, the board voted to close the district's newest school — the Sayre School — and eliminate the school athletic program.

These steps were to trim some $75,000 from the 1962-63 budget. School board members will wrestle with the problem of cutting another $35,000 from the budget if the millage proposal loses again and the transfer request also fails.

In such a circumstance, the school district would be forced to operate on only the millage allocated by the county, 8.37 mills. No tax increase would result from passage of the tax. In fact, a decrease in residents' tax bills even if the tax proposal succeeds has been predicted.

Firefighters to Meet for Play-Off Battle

The Pontiac Township volunteer fire department will meet the White Lake Township firefighters in a playoff water battle Sunday at 3 p.m. in Avon Township Park, Rochester.

This event will be a forerunner to the championship tilt which will be a feature of the county-wide Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce fire safety committee's field day Oct. 6.

The public is invited to the Sunday "battle" and the field day to be held at Northside Park in Pontiac.

Eastern Michigan Fair to Open September 2

IMLAY CITY — Some 30,000 are expected to take part in the long-gala week of contests, exhibits and a host of other attractions at the 64th annual Eastern Michigan Fair that will open here Sept. 2. The evening will offer a band concert by Imlay City High School and a stage show featuring Johnny Tillotson.

Horse judging is set for the morning. Livestock will be judged Sept. 6, which also will feature a light-weight horse pulling contest and another night of harness racing. The evening will offer a band concert by Imlay City High School and a stage show featuring Johnny Tillotson.

The schedule for Friday, Sept. 7, includes a heavyweight horse pulling contest, a Lapeer High School band concert, harness racing and Tillotson's stage show. Professional wrestling is set for the afternoon of Sept. 8, with the evening to include a band concert by North Branch High School, harness racing and a Grand Ol' Opry stage show.

A free cooking school will be held at the fair on Saturday and Sunday. The expected turnout is about 50 per cent more than last year's.

The fair is scheduled this year between the dates for the Saginaw Fair and the Michigan State Fair. In the past, the fair was held at the same time as the Saginaw Fair.

CLARKSTON — The school opening schedule for the 1962-63 year has been announced by the Clarkston Community Schools.

School will open Sept. 5 for all but kindergarten students. Half-day sessions will be held Sept. 5 and 6, with full-day sessions for grades one through 12 slated to start Sept. 7.

Students at the Sashabaw, Pine Knob, Clarkston and Andersonville elementary schools will report at 9:15 a. m. Sept. 5. High school students will report at 8:10 a. m. and junior high students at 8:15 a. m.

Sixth graders in the Andersonville area will attend the Andersonville School, while sixth grade students in all other areas will attend the Clarkston Junior High School.

First day for kindergarten children will be Sept. 10. Kindergarten students not already registered may do so at any time after Aug. 25 at their respective schools.

Parents enrolling their children in kindergarten will be required to bring records of birth and immunization for their children and a physician's health statement.

If these requirements conflict with religious convictions, a statement of objection may be filed.

SEYMOUR LAKE FOLKS — The annual homecoming will be held tomorrow at the Seymour Lake Methodist Church with dinner to be served at noon.

Rev. W. O. Moulton of Flint, former pastor of the local church, is expected to be the afternoon speaker.

Accompanying her to next week's meeting will be Mrs. Arthur Swartz, home economics instructor and FHA adviser at Avondale High School.

Farmers Urged to Vote in Wheat Referendum

In an appeal to Michigan farmers to be sure to vote in the wheat referendum Aug. 30, Walter Wightman, president of the Michigan Farm Bureau, said today, "Congress deserves to know what farmers want in a wheat program."

"United States representatives responded to farmer opinion recently when they defeated the strict controls program proposed for agriculture. We can expect them to develop a sound program for wheat if farmers let them know what they want," Wightman said.

Last year only 27 per cent of those eligible went to the polls. Wheat growers who produce in excess of 15 acres are eligible to vote. If husband and wife are joint owners of their farm, both are eligible.

If farmers reject quotas at this time it is assumed that Congress would be inclined to develop a more realistic wheat program, said the Farm Bureau president. This could mean fewer controls and somewhat lower supports.

If farmers vote approval in the referendum, the present program based on a 55 million-acre minimum, supports at 75 per cent of parity with tighter controls would probably result, according to Wightman.

He said he believes that a big vote will mean a "yes" vote, in view of farmers' recent rejection of marketing orders for turkeys. "When a program fails to work, farmers can be expected to indicate they believe it has served its time," he said.

The wheat program of quotas and allotments, in effect continuously since 1954, has not solved the problem of surplus wheat. Instead, we have moved from 1.78 billion bushels of wheat in 1953 to 2.4 billion bushels today. I believe the market is still a good sounding board for consumer demand," Wightman said.

WOULD BE CUT — Under the bill, wheat acreage allotments could be cut well below present levels in order to reduce the surplus.

Farmers would get a high price for "certificates" wheat sold to domestic and export markets, and a low price for wheat used for other purposes, mainly feed and seed.

The heart of the farm bill controversy has been the issue of mandatory versus voluntary acreage controls for feed grains.

The voluntary program cut feed surpluses substantially in 1961 and probably will again this year.

HASTINGS (UPI)—Three youths, and a father of one of them, played hero late yesterday when they pulled a drowning 65-year-old Lansing woman out of the Thornapple River near here.

Her classmates, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Wilton Andrews, respectively, also were in the glee club.

Barry County Sheriff's deputies credited the youths, John Taylor, 22, Lansing; David Lisa, 16, and Earl Bergman, 18, and Bergman's father Fred, all of Battle Creek with saving the woman's life.

Deputies said Mrs. Horton was swimming in the river at Charlton Park with a companion, Iva Nicholson, also of Lansing.

The Nicholson woman noticed her friend was floating in about five feet of water and when she didn't move, became alarmed and shouted for help.

Taylor was swimming nearby and called the other youths to assist in pulling the unconscious woman ashore.

Lady Botanist Thrives on Jungle Expedition

LOS ANGELES (U)—Because of her interest in umbelliferae, she had the Mathiasella bupleuroides named after her, but she also is an authority on menispermaceae. She is Dr. Mildred Mathias.

Umbelliferae and menispermaceae are each a family of plants.

For nine months a year the botanist labors at UCLA, classifying plants, raising plants, teaching about plants, learning about plants.

During her summer vacation—she gathers plants, but not the common garden variety. Dr. Mathias dons her pith helmet and blue jeans and heads for the Amazon. Her kids call her "Queen of the Jungle."

Serving as a plant identification consultant for the Federal and State Departments of Agriculture, the Customs Bureau and other government agencies is only one of her many pursuits.

She has written scores of scientific publications on her findings, including several books.

She is vice chairman of the botanical department at UCLA. She serves on endless number of committees and clubs—all connected somehow with plants.

She is married to Gerald Roeder, a physicist working on seawater conversion; has raised four children, one married, two in college, one in high school, and has 76 different varieties of plants growing in the backyard of her Brentwood home.

But come summer, a time for rest and relaxation, and Dr. Mathias is poking around the closets looking for the mosquito netting.

Last summer she accompanied Dr. Dermot Taylor's expedition to the Amazon headwaters in Peru and Ecuador.

Dr. Taylor, UCLA Medical school pharmacologist, was looking for certain types of plants with which to experiment for curative properties. Dr. Mathias was doing the identifying.

Easy-going by nature, the 5-foot-8 botanist brushes away the discomforts of the jungle with the mosquitoes. She's up with the dawn, whips her graying hair into braids which she wraps around her head, she wears blue jeans, long shirt, helmet and tennis shoes—and she's ready for bigger and better plants.

Her favorite plants are in the umbelliferae family—which includes carrots, celery and parsnips.

"Well, I started on the umbelliferae which I was working on my bachelor's degree and stayed with them clear through my Ph.D.," she says.

"I'm more hooked on carrots than Bugs Bunny."

Water Grass Anytime but Soak It Well

You can get an argument by suggesting one time of day as best for watering your lawn. Morning? Evening?

It doesn't make much difference any more, considering the advances in sprinkling equipment. With adequate sprinklers, you may water at high noon on a hot day.

Generally, it is best to water when there is little wind. But some experts advise late-morning watering on a sunny or breezy day to protect bent grasses subject to fungus diseases. Rapid drying of the surface is a safeguard.

Water when the water pressure is best in your area. Water slowly, especially on slopes where fast water will run off and do little good. The water must soak in to be of value. It must reach the roots. The roots shouldn't have to climb in search of moisture.

Put Wheels on Planters to Move Bloom Around

One way to give greater interest to outdoor living areas, according to the Summer Issue of The American Home Magazine, is to use planter boxes. Mounted on casters, they can be moved to different locations with ease or even moved indoors during severe weather.

FOR A PATIO — Foliage plants with dramatic leaf colors and forms are especially handsome in a concrete container. This one can be used to brighten up any corner of the garden.

NEW STYLE — Raised planter set in a saw-toothed pattern puts planting bed at a height that makes it easy to tend. Rustic faced concrete block merges quietly with the surroundings.

Outdoor Planter Boxes Can Vary in Design

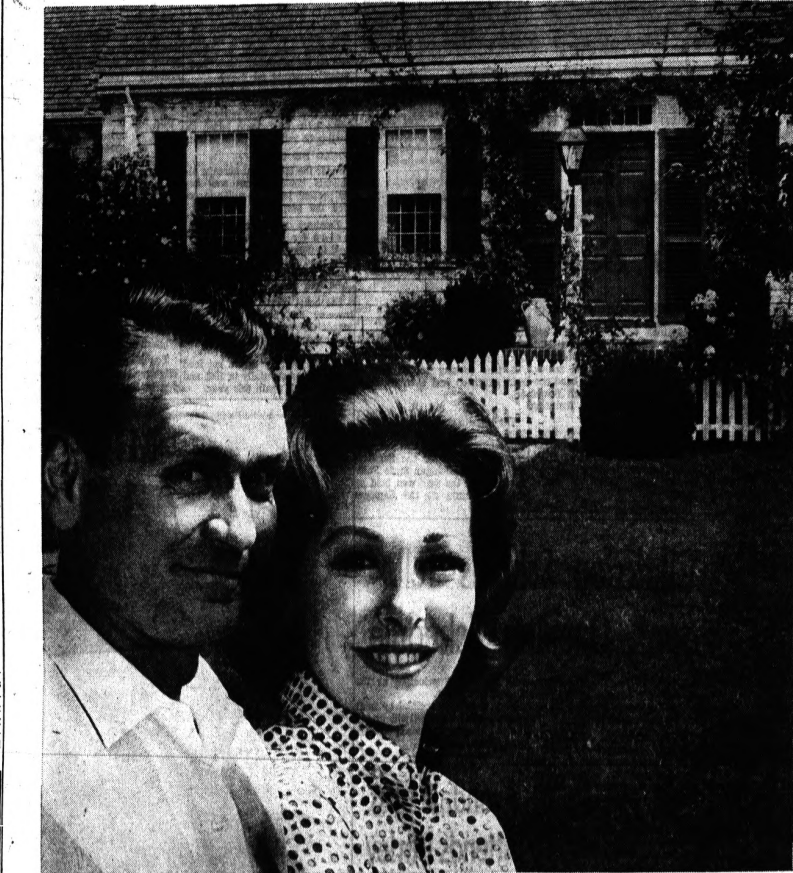

The use of built-in outdoor planters, raised planter beds and contained plantings is fast becoming an accepted way of landscaping in our present concept of outdoor living.

There are a lot of good reasons for the popularity of planters. High on the list, of course, is easier maintenance. Because most planters are raised to varying heights of the ground, the plants and shrubs they house are much more accessible. Backbending chores such as cultivating, weeding, fertilizing and watering become less of a strain.

Plant beds are protected from the damage of pets, children and others. Grass trimming around customary borders also is eliminated.

Form a design standpoint, planters give the homeowner an opportunity to go all out in creating artistic, practical and integrated features which add to the over-all setting. Bear in mind, however, that the simpler the planter the less chance it has of competing with whatever it holds.

Consideration must be given the type of materials used in building

get rid of it with ERASE.

—have a new lawn without digging up

If your whole lawn is riddled with weeds, including crabgrass, maybe the time has come for you to get a brand new start.

Scotts revolutionary new ERASE wipes out an old lawn—coarse bunched grass, weeds, crabgrass and all. Everything turns brown and dies in a few days. Soil is not affected. A week later you plant seed right on the dead stubble which makes a perfect seedbed. No digging up. No need to bring in topsoil.

The whole job—ERASE, Scotts Seed and Turf Builder—costs less than 1¢ per square foot.

Do it now and you'll be enjoying your new lawn this Fall. Scotts guarantees it!

CLOUT® does in minutes what hours of hard work never did

Digging out crabgrass by hand is back breaking. But even that isn't the worst of it. The sad truth is that it doesn't work.

Digging simply brings thousands of buried crabgrass seeds to the surface. You get six new plants for every one you pull up. Thus all the hard labor goes for nothing.

But research has found an easier way and an effective way of getting rid of summer crabgrass. It is an exclusive development of Scotts, the lawn people, and has been used by several million lawn owners. It is called CLOUT.

Using CLOUT is about as simple as anything can be. You simply pour a bag of it into a Scotts Spreader, set the dial—and go. Takes only a half hour for a 5,000 sq ft lawn. Costs less than 3¢ per sq ft.

At first the crabgrass begins to lose color, turn brown and shrivel. The second application, a week later, completes the job. Scotts guarantees it.

But don't delay. Don't give crabgrass the chance to spread and smother out good grass. Get rid of it with CLOUT right now.

There is a Scotts dealer near you. He can supply CLOUT and answer your lawn questions.

Saves you 45¢ when you buy ERASE or CLOUT and the Scotts Spreader together

Do Constructive Thinking

Planning Will Drive Away Study Worry

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON, Ed.D.

Professor of Education,
University of Southern California

Many attitudes are as important as physical health when it comes to school. Many students actually do poor work chiefly because they are worried about it. Recently, I received this letter:

Dear Dr. Nason:
If I return to college I will be a sophomore on probation. I failed to make a C average by three grade points. In each of the semesters of my freshman year. At though my teachers tell me I have the ability to succeed I am always tense about school. How can I enter school this fall with fewer tense feelings?

R. B. Fresno, Calif.

Fill your mind with as many constructive plans that there will be no room for worry. Plan each course. Study ahead. Plan your reviews. Plan your exams so that you know exactly how you are going to think out the answers to the questions.

All this planning will drive the worries and tensions into the background.

energy she expends in creating whatever is worrying her about school. The activities also may help her to be more successful at school tasks.

Dear Dr. Nason:
At the present time I am in the service and want to prepare myself for a job when I retire five years from now. I was graduated from high school and have always worked in the clerical field. How can I best prepare for a civilian job?

P. M. Arlington, Va.

Keep studying. Learn more about bookkeeping. Practice shorthand and typing to retain your proficiency in these skills. Study English to increase your vocabulary. This continued learning will not only help you adjust to a new job, it may even help you get one.

Don't worry. If the challenge proves successful your daughter will make new friends in the eighth grade.

I know of a similar situation in which a girl with a very high IQ skipped the seventh grade where she was doing poor work. In the eighth grade she made all A grades and became happy with school. It is worth a try!

(If you have a question for Dr. Nason, write him in care of The Pontiac Press. He will discuss in his column those of most general interest.)

The Americans did not hold their International championship lead long. On hand six the Italian North-South pair stopped at the comfortable four hearts and made it easily in spite of five outstanding trumps being in one hand.

At the other table the American South chose to open with a preemptive bid of four hearts. Some times these bids upset the opponents — this one exploded right in South's face.

North could have passed four hearts or he could have jumped right to six. Six hearts would not have been a good contract, but it would not have been the worst slam ever bid. He also could have raised to five hearts and suggested a slam, bid five clubs for what it might be worth, or make his actual bid of four no-trump.

When South responded to show no ace North signed off at five hearts and South was in that never-never land between game and slam.

The Italians arrived at that spot on hand two, but were lucky. The five contract made.

The Americans did not have this luck. South could have made the hand double dummy. He won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades and led the six of hearts.

East played low and if South had played his seven he would have been all right, but South played the ten. After that he had to lose three heart tricks.

North could have passed four hearts or he could have jumped right to six. Six hearts would not have been a good contract, but it would not have been the worst slam ever bid. He also could have raised to five hearts and suggested a slam, bid five clubs for what it might be worth, or make his actual bid of four no-trump.
