

N. Y. Dealer Jumps the Gun

He's Driving '61 Dodge a Bit Early

An Army sergeant drove into the Pontiac area yesterday in a brand new, peachy-white Dodge car and got Chrysler Corp. officials "fixing their tongues over the breakdown in their advance buildup to unveil 1961 models.

Waterford Township neighbors gazed curiously today at the new model Dart which Sgt. I.C. Marvin Helgemo was displaying proudly in the driveway at the home of his mother, Mrs. Harvey N. Helgemo, 147 Josephine St.

He thought he had a right to be proud: He had bought a new car a month before it was supposed to be offered to the public.

Helgemo returned to the United States Sept. 1 with his wife and two children after serving three years—with the Army in Nuremberg, Germany.

He said he had ordered the car last May from a big agency in Brooklyn, N.Y.—the Goldring Motors Co.

Although Chrysler Corp. had set Sept. 29 as the first day dealers are to begin selling Dodges, Helgemo said he had "no trouble" picking up the car from Goldring a few hours after arriving in this country.

"They had new Dodges out in the lot where everyone could see them," said Helgemo. "The cars weren't hooded or covered up in any way."

"I had called the dealer up and asked if I could pick up my car. They said 'come on over,' so I did and in about two hours I drove my car away."

"They said it was only the second one they had sold. They had sold a station wagon the day before."

Helgemo said Goldring Motors has a reputation for selling cars to GIs returning from overseas.

Chrysler officials were not immediately available for comment. But a spokesman said that new Dodges already had been delivered to many dealers in advance of the Sept. 29 sale date. The Dodges are to be unveiled to the public Sept. 20.

As all auto companies like to do, Chrysler is in the midst of a promotional campaign for the new models. They are being (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

U.S. Athletes Outshine Prediction of Publisher

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

ROME—We put those three American flags up again Wednesday. Al Ceter, Olympic champ in 1956, Rink Babka and Richard Cochran gave us a clean sweep in the discus and smashed records in the process. Those big boys looked wonderful on that victory program.

And so, still another time, the Stars and Stripes floated from all three positions.

This U.S. team has made an awful monkey of my prediction that rarely would this happen again and I'm happy to report how mistakes I was. How wrong can you get in forecasts? Ask me.

Our experts are quietly congratulating themselves on capturing the decathlon. A determined, grim-faced contestant from China grabbed a hold of big, lovable Rafer Johnson's track pants in the first event and never let go. Nationalist China's C. K. Yang emerged from the Oriental shadows without warning or fanfare and gave Johnson the battle of his life.

Johnson won one event outright. Yang won four and tied for another.

Alcatraz Inmates Eat Cheese, Tuna

255 Convicts Continue Work Strike; Most Fear Threats of Reprisal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Striking Alcatraz convicts stood firm today in demanding more privileges, but Warden Paul Madigan refused to waver.

After all, how long can a man stand bologna and cheese sandwiches?

SANDWICH DIET
Their diet consists of a choice of bologna, cheese or tuna sandwiches prepared by guards. The convict-staffed kitchen is closed.

"They'd like to have as many privileges as in other institutions, rights, and so on," Madigan said, "but Alcatraz never has been and never will be a country club."

The warden said about two-thirds of the inmates would like to return to work, but were frightened by threats of reprisal by some 24 leaders.

The highest temperature of the year so far hit the Pontiac area Wednesday afternoon when the mercury climbed to 94 degrees. But it was worse today, at 95.

There will be a low of 68 tonight but Friday will be cooler, the high reaching near 83 degrees.

Showers and thunderstorms are predicted for tomorrow. Morning southwesterly winds at 10 miles per hour will continue from the southwest at 8 to 14 miles.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 69. The reading at 2 p.m. was 95.

Truck-Coach to Get New Detroit Unit

Construction of a new GMC Truck and Coach Division factory branch in the Detroit area began today, it was announced by Calvin J. Warner, vice president of General Motors Corp. and divisional manager.

The steel and masonry building, on a 4½-acre site at Wyoming and Ford roads in Dearborn, will cover 32,000 square feet and bring several phases of the division under one roof.

Sales, service and parts operations will be moved to the new building from their present location at 3825 Vermont St., Detroit, and the Detroit new wholesale operation will be shifted to there as well, said Warner.

Facilities will include a service area with 10 drive-in stalls plus an 11,000-square-foot parts storage and retail department.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States says it has no present intention of sending troops to the riot-ridden Congo as part of a new United Nations effort to restore order.

ROME (UPI)—Pandemonium broke loose in the Olympic track and field stadium tonight when the winning U.S. 400-meter relay team was disqualified and placed last in a decision which wrecked a three-race sweep by the United States.

That Day Has Arrived

Summer Vacations End

Today is the day that was bound to come for most of some 20,000 pupils in the Pontiac School District.

Tomorrow will signal the return of high school students in Pontiac and Monday is the first day for beginners.

Yesterday was the first full day for Waterford Township junior and senior high school students and tomorrow will see all elementary grades in full swing.

Parochial schools in Pontiac began classes this morning.

The schedule for students in Pontiac public schools is as follows:

Today at 9 a.m., the first full day of classes began for all elementary school pupils, 7th grade and 10th grade students. There were orientation programs for students entering the 10th grade at 9 a.m. and one for college preparatory seniors at 1 p.m. at Pontiac Northern High School.

All students in other classes who are new to the Pontiac School District were to report to their schools this morning for orientation and scheduling.

Tomorrow, all students in grades 8, 9, 11 and 12 are to report to their homeroom teachers at 8:30 a.m. for their first full day of classes.

Parents are enrolling children entering kindergarten today and tomorrow. Kindergarten classes will begin meeting Monday at all schools.

INCREASE OF 400
"Most of them will be in by tomorrow, but we always have a handful of late registrants," said Dr. Philip Proud, assistant superintendent.

This is an increase of about 600 from the total enrollment of 19,734 in September 1959.

This year's estimates call for 12,358 students from kindergarten through the 6th grade; 4,622 in grades 7-9; 2,932 in grades 10-12; and about 215 in other classifications such as special education classes.

This adds up to an increase over last year in elementary grades and junior high, but a drop in high school enrollment.

The schedule in Waterford Township schools began yesterday but really got into full swing tomorrow.

Registration for elementary school pupils began yesterday and continues today.

Those with a last name beginning with the letters A through K registered Wednesday. The L through Z pupils are registering today.

Tomorrow from 9 a.m. through 3:15 p.m. all elementary school (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

Gets Lop-Sided Confidence Vote From His Senate

Congo Chief's Demand for Quick Departure Is Reaction to Dag

From Our News Wire
LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo—Premier Patrice Lumumba won a lop-sided vote of confidence in the Congolese Senate today for his policies.

He promptly demanded "the immediate withdrawal of United Nations troops from our country."

Lumumba and his followers are miffed by the U.N. neutrality policy, newly illustrated by Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld's call in New York for Security Council action to halt the flow of outside aid to the warring factions.

Hammarskjöld's call presumably was directed against the weapons, transports and technical aids flowing from the Soviet bloc to the Congolese army, which he wants disarmed, though it might also apply to Belgian backing for rebel Katanga Province.

Lumumba's press office charged the United Nations with interfering in the Congo's political conflict—highlighted by the feud between the premier and President Joseph Kasavubu—and said important divisions concerned the U.N. will be taken shortly.

The announcement was issued in the wake of the National Assembly's action Wednesday voting attempts by the conservative president and the left-leaning premier to fire each other from their jobs.

The press office communique described the Assembly's action as an annulment of Kasavubu's earlier order.

It also indicated that the premier intends to pursue his policies despite mounting indignation. (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Build Pontiacs Despite Strike

1961 Model Run Begins Amid Jobless Fears Over Rail Walkout

Pontiac Motor Division began production on 1961 models today in the face of predictions that 10,000 jobs will be unemployed in the Detroit area if the Grand Trunk Railroad strike lasts another 10 days.

The division began what a spokesman described as normal two-shift operations in all plants. The callback began with the first shift today.

Division leaders continued to refrain from comment on any effect the eight-day strike might have on operations.

It is estimated that 13,600 already are laid off in Michigan as a result of the strike over working conditions by 1,000 workers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen.

Mayor Louis C. Mirani of Detroit told the mayors of 14 Michigan cities yesterday that even more than 100,000 workers would be affected if the strike lasted more than 14 days.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston was one of those present when the mayors met with company and Union representatives to urge a quick settlement of the dispute.

Prompted by the mayors, negotiators continued talks last night but a 90-minute session failed to produce any results.

The mayors recommended that arbitrators be called in if direct negotiating produces no settlement.

ALL REPORT LOSSES
All the mayors whose cities are served by the railroad reported business losses already have been incurred and would continue to mount until the work lines dispute is over.

Thomas Kay, Flint deputy city manager, said the strike already has affected 1,200 Chevrolet workers there and could affect another 12,000 if it continues.

DRIVER BEWARE—With some 50,000 youngsters starting to school this week in the Pontiac area, city police, sheriff's deputies and state police are warning drivers to be extra cautious. Here Pontiac Patrolman Raymond Solowid gives assistance to children near Mark Twain Elementary School. The youngsters are Kathleen Prior, Marty Green, Jerry Mahrie, Terry Fraga, Jenny Green, Patrick DeWys and Gary DeWys. Parents are urged to remind their children that policemen, crossing guards and safety patrol boys are on duty to help them.

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Miller, D.V.M.

Q. Can a four-year-old dog transfer its attachment and affection to a new owner? Mrs. Margo Miller of Westbury.

A. The rest of your letter reveals the concern you're feeling over your new found friend. You say he seems to be "ping" at times, but many dogs have a perpetually woeful look that belies their happy natures.

I believe in the legendary faithfulness of this animal; but the lost or abandoned dog will quickly transfer his affection to a kind, new master.

Unless your dog accidentally sees his previous owner, it's usually a case of "out of sight, out of mind." There might be a short adjustment period if the dog has been used to the companionship of children (or vice versa), or if his schedule and diet are radically changed.

I'm always touched by the gratitude most stray or lost dogs seem to show for their new homes and owners. I think you're unnecessarily concerned. After reading your letter, I'd say he's a pretty lucky dog to have found you, and is probably by now showing his thanks in many ways.

Pontiac City Affairs

Police Reserve to Be Restored

An administrative order to get the police reserve program going again has been welcomed by City Commissioner Winford E. Bottom, a former president of the Pontiac Police Reserve Assn.

Rebuffed in an initial proposal two weeks ago to put the reserve under an ordinance, Bottom last week won commission support at an informal meeting to get reorganization started, anyway.

A written report from City Manager Walter R. Williams this week said that Joseph Koren, acting police chief, had been ordered to start reorganization.

Koren is to submit a set of regulations and estimated expenses to Williams for approval.

The commission has yet to decide finally whether the reserve, which ceased active duty 18 months ago in a quarrel with George D. Eastman, former public safety director, should be recognized by more than the formal resolution passed a year ago to encourage its reorganization.

CONTENDS FAILURE. Bottom contends that the resolution failed and that an ordinance should be passed that would make it mandatory for the administration to form a reserve.

Five hearings have been scheduled by the Commission for Sept. 13. These involve plans for sidewalks on the north side of Kennett Road at Alcott School and on both sides of Astor Street, north on assessment rolls for walks on the west side of Vernon Drive and both sides of Scottwood Avenue, Perry to Manhattan.

Hearings on assessment rolls are scheduled Sept. 13 for walks planned on both sides of Seward Street, Osmon to Murphy Park; east side of East Boulevard, Mt. Clemens to Granada; the north side of Featherstone Road, Kenilworth to the Bellline Railroad; and on Fuller Street, Madison to First.

DECLARE NECESSITY

Opening of Howard McNeill Street, Gillespie to Warner, with initial grading and graveling this year was declared a public necessity.

In the same district, Commissioner Milton R. Henry asked for the extension of Branch Street through to Wessen Street to improve traffic circulation.

Referred to the planning commission were petitions calling for rezoning from residential to commercial of the lot at the northeast corner of Palmer Street and Orchard Lake Avenue and of six lots on the south side of Ashburn Avenue between Russell and Clifford Streets.

Referred to the administration for study was a request from St. Joseph Mercy Hospital to shift its rear gate slightly at Dellwood Avenue.

At the suggestion of Commissioner John A. Dugan, a petition protesting proposed grading and graveling of Fuller Street, Madison to Beverly, was shelved until a hearing on the project. The petition was signed by 42 per cent of the affected property owners.

The only Civil War battle fought in Arizona took place in 1862 at Pichacho Pass, southeast of Phoenix.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING

The Pontiac City Commission has scheduled public hearing for Tuesday, September 13, 1960 at 8 p. m. EST, in the Commission Chamber, City Hall on intention to Construct the following public improvements:

SIDEWALK—Shirley Street from Lois Street to Fiddis Avenue

East side Astor Street from Michigan Avenue to South line lot 55 and from North line lot 58 to the South line lot 63 Clinton Heights Subdivision.

CURB, GUTTER, GRADE, GRAVEL AND RELATED WORK

Dresden Avenue from Woodland Avenue to Hollywood Avenue

2" BITUMINOUS CONCRETE PAVEMENT AND RELATED WORK

Arlene Avenue from Second Avenue to Columbia Avenue

For further information see legal notices. Interested property owners are urged to appear.

Marks His Last Visit as Governor; Crowns Beauty Queen

GUILDFORD, England (AP)—J. Paul Getty, reputed to be the richest man in the world, threw open his stately English home to the rubber-necking public Wednesday.

Nearly 800 people each paid performed his last official act at half a crown—25 cents—for the privilege of strolling around the spacious grounds and lofty rooms of Sutton Place, then mansion of the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland.

The billionaire Texas oil man is said to have paid $2.80 million for the house.

The 12-year-old Miss Lindke, a brown-haired beauty from (Pomona), was selected from a field of 18 finalists. The finalists had been picked from an original field of 41.

Miss Lindke, a sophomore at Michigan State University, is 5 feet 6½, weighs 118 pounds and measures 35-24-35.

Earlier, Williams spent the day touring the fairgrounds and participating as auctioneer at the sale of the grand champion steer of the fair for a record $425 a pound.

A total price of $5,000 was paid for the 460-pound champion, Mr. Mahogany, by Ed Netherland, a buyer for a chain of supermarkets. The steer came from Mahogany Farms of Williams, Ind., owned by William Brittain, an Ann Arbor industrialist.

The fair's previous record price of $2.50 a pound was set two years ago.

Today was "Oldtimers day" at the fair and contests for Michigan's senior citizens included old-time man and woman, bearded head, prettiest hat, longest mustache and couple married the longest.

Dance Classes Goes It Alone

Waterford Courses to Be Run Independently Rather Than by Board

After nine years of operating as part of the Waterford Township Recreation Department, the ballet, dance and other instruction classes, tabbed for further cuts. The town will be run independently of the department by Mrs. Carol Wolfe.

The decision was made at Tuesday night's recreation board meeting when Mrs. Wolfe requested the change.

The 1960-61 recreation budget of $30,000, which has been discussed by the board since early last spring, again was tabled for further cuts. The town will be run independently of the department by Mrs. Carol Wolfe.

The decision was made at Tuesday night's recreation board meeting when Mrs. Wolfe requested the change.

The 100 persons in the program will be on the same schedule as the past at the Community Center. Mrs. Wolfe will pay rent for the building. The project will be on an individual profit basis.

"This is a good thing," said Chairman of the Board, Ed Wolfe, "because the recreation board's primary function is to get programs started, then let them run independently."

City Man Satisfactory Following Stab in Back

A Pontiac man is reported in Pontiac General Hospital with knife wounds he allegedly received yesterday afternoon at Bagley and Western Streets.

The victim, Vance Sholtis, 30, of 400 Dittmar Ave., was stabbed twice in the back, spine and side.

Questioned at the hospital yesterday, Sholtis was unable to tell police why he had been attacked.

Judge Issues Real Estate Injunction

Blocks State's Antibias Rule

LANSING (U)—Ingham County Circuit Judge Sam Hughes issued a temporary injunction against the state's antibias rule.

The rule, drafted by Lawrence Gubow, state corporation and securities commissioner, makes it illegal for any state-licensed real estate broker or salesman to make race, creed, color or national origin a term of contract.

It is the outgrowth of state investigations of alleged discrimination in real estate dealings in Grosse Pointe.

NOT DECISION

The injunction sought by three Lansing realtors, was "in no way a decision on the rule," Hughes said.

It was intended to maintain the status quo, and save the State Corporation and Securities Commission the "superhuman task of hearing all the complaints from every angle" that could come up before the court decides on the legality of the rule, he said.

The decision on the exclusively Welsh community was given by Leon S. Cohan, assistant attorney general. Cohan and Solicitor General Samuel J. Torina are defending the rule.

It was to take effect Aug. 14, but was held up by a temporary restraining order sought by the realtors.

The rule "irreparably damages his clients," Everett R. Trebilcock, attorney for the Lansing realtors, said, by leaving them only two choices:

1. To forego doing business with people who wish to discriminate; or
2. To do business with them and run the risk of losing their licenses.

Damage done to those discriminated against was far greater than any financial loss, Cohan said.

WILL SET COURT DATE

Attorneys for both sides are planning to meet prior to a conference with Hughes, the judge said, at which time a court date will be set. The attorneys are aiming at a Monday meeting with the judge, Cohan said.

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP)—Newcastle in northeastern Wyoming received its first rain in 2½ months Wednesday night.

Monroe Man's Body Found in Car Flames

MONROE (U)—The body of a man was found in his flaming parked car today.

Police tentatively identified the man as James Ditty, 37, construction worker who came to Michigan with his family of 10 about two months ago from California.

The car was parked in front of the Ditty home on the outskirts of the city.

A neighbor, Mrs. Mary Corl, saw the car on fire about 4:30 a.m. and called authorities. Volunteer firemen of Monroe Township put out the blaze.

The body was in the rear of the car. The "five" apparently started in the area of the front seat, firemen said.

Kennedy Stumps Over California

BY JACK BELL

WITH KENNEDY IN CALIFORNIA—Sen. John F. Kennedy will stop his way across critical California today, calling for action to avoid a "second-rate America."

In this water-conscious state Kennedy promised if he is elected president he will launch a crash program of research to convert salt water into fresh.

On another issue prime for Californians, the Democratic nominee fired off a telegram to a meeting of his farm supporters in Indianapolis, Ind.

It is he said, "I regard the agricultural problem as the No. 1 domestic issue facing the nation today and I intend to attack it on a national basis."

Kennedy told Claude Wickard, former secretary of agriculture, who presided over a Farmers for Kennedy-Johnson session that "American agriculture's economic condition today is desperate."

NOT SPECIFIC

As in the past, Kennedy did not spell out specifically the remedies he plans to offer.

Bidding for the 32 electoral votes of the home state of his GOP rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy bore down critically on what he called the Republican administration's "short sighted" policies of permitting new starts in hydroelectric power and other projects.

"Today, in a close-knit tumultuous world, the development of our natural resources is not only vital to the survival of our western states and the survival of our nation, it is vital to the survival of the entire free world," he said in a speech prepared for a stop in Redding.

Criticizing the administration's "partnership" power policies, Kennedy said, "We must appoint a Federal Power Commission that will uphold the public interest and not serve private interests alone."

He said if he is elected president he will bring into the White House a council of resource and conservation advisers.

Kennedy's foray into California was billed as two-day affair, mostly by old fashioned campaign train.

Campaigning in Oregon Wednesday, Kennedy drew attentive but not excited crowds. He avoided Eugene, Ore., the first potential stop.

Can Keep This Man Down, but Never Really Out

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—John DeJacocele celebrated his 54th birthday today, feeling fine after 11 major operations and 12 bouts with pneumonia.

Because of an automobile accident that paralyzed him in 1936, he's still in a hospital bed.

"The doctor says 'Johnny, fight,'" explains DeJacocele with a confident grin. "And I say 'okay' and come back every time."

The air mile distance from one end of the Burma road to the other end is 300 miles. On the ground, it is 700 miles.

No Cat but Tin Roof Hot

CRICKHOWELL, Wales (AP)—A tin-roofed movie theater caught fire at the local army camp Wednesday night soon after a showing of the movie "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof." The stage was badly damaged and the building's tin roof glowed red hot.

Protestants See Catholic Policy

Dr. Peale, 150 Others, Claim Head of Church Influence on President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Protestant group says any Roman Catholic, as president of the United States, would be under pressure from the hierarchy of his church and might not be able to withstand it entirely.

The statement came Wednesday from a group of 150 ministers and laymen claiming membership from 37 denominations. They met as individuals making up the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York minister and writer who presided at the meeting, said there was only incidental mention of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee who is a Roman Catholic.

"We're just raising the question as to how free he could be," Dr. Peale said after describing Kennedy as a loyal son of the church.

Kennedy has repeatedly said that as president he would not be influenced by church officials in matters of government policy.

The Protestant statement contended, however, that a president would be under pressure not only in matters of foreign relations but also in church efforts to gain further funds and favors for its schools and institutions, and otherwise breach the wall of separation of church and state.

Kennedy's foray into California was billed as two-day affair, mostly by old fashioned campaign train.

Campaigning in Oregon Wednesday, Kennedy drew attentive but not excited crowds. He avoided Eugene, Ore., the first potential stop.

Last spring restaurateur Dick Bernstein and the Junior Chamber of Commerce airlifted a battalion of California crabs to Baltimore, seeking to establish a beachhead. But Baltimore folks seemed to like their better.

Mayor George Christopher sat down to the Chesapeake Bay variety Wednesday. There was an air of suspense. Would he favor the Baltimore invader? He hampered at the hard shell and said finally: "Very tasty, yes, but how do you get inside the crab?"

3 Lawyers in 1 Family Practices in Lansing

LANSING UP — Father, mother and son all practice law together in the Thrum family of Lansing, believed to be a unique combination in Michigan.

F. M. Thrum, the father, is a member of the law firm of Miller, Canfield, Paddock and Stone. He was admitted to the bar in 1920.

Mrs. Caroline Thrum, admitted to the bar in 1955, was with the attorney general's office until 1956, when she left state service to join her husband's firm.

"I did actually tried to discourage me from becoming a lawyer," the son said. "He preferred I become an engineer."

The son will take over their practice for his parents when they leave on a seven-week vacation in Europe later this month.

The son, Robert, graduated from the Wayne State University School of Law in 1959 and entered active practice with his parents this year after passing his bar examination.

Rep. Sam Rayburn D-Tex. has been speaker of the U. S. House of Representatives for 16 of the last 20 years.

Urge Approval of GM Offer to Buy Plant

DETROIT UP — Three top Michigan Democrats have urged the Department of Justice to approve an offer by General Motors Corp. to buy the former Warren Naval Ordnance Plant.

In a telegram to U. S. Attorney General William P. Rogers, Senators Pat McNamara and Philip Hart, and Rep. James G. O'Hara, called for prompt action to get the unused facility back into production.

"There is no information available to us which would indicate that acquisition of the property by General Motors would be giving that corporation unfair advantage," the telegram said.

The Department of Justice is currently investigating an offer by GM to buy the surplus facility on the grounds the transaction may lessen competition.

Soviet Law Banishes Idlers to Village Work

MOSCOW (UPI) — An "anti-parasite" campaign was in full swing in Russia today, aimed at the "slackers, loafers and drones" who refuse to work.

George became the latest of the Soviet republics to pass "anti-parasite" laws, providing punishment or "village terms" for idle-bodied persons who cannot claim an honest living.

The laws are aimed at idle sons and daughters of the rich, as well as the "dolgobuzi" — "spivs" and "foddy-buys" — who spend their time loafing on street corners.

Under terms of the Republic of Georgia law, municipalities, acting on complaints from trade unions and other public organizations, can banish idlers to small villages for terms of from six months to two years.

If during that period, the offenders still refuse to do "socially useful labor," they face imprisonment for the same period.

Leningrad, Lithuania and Estonia have passed similar laws. So far, the Russian Republic, of which Moscow is the capital, has not adopted any anti-idleness measures, but the Moscow press is filled daily with articles and editorials expounding work-shy youths and loafers.

The complaints were echoed by newspapers and radio on a nationwide basis.

One of the main points for attack on these m-a-d-o-wells is that they allegedly are prime targets for American spies.

GOP Leaders to Meet in Upper Peninsula

MARQUETTE (UPI) — Republican leaders from throughout the Upper Peninsula will meet Saturday at the Nordland Hotel here for a six-hour school in election campaign tactics.

Lawrence Lindner, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, will conduct the meeting and serve as moderator of an afternoon panel discussion on campaign plans.

State GOP leaders consider the Upper Peninsula as their best target area to regain control of the State House of Representatives.

BLIND TEACHER — Barbara Winters, 23, began her teaching career Wednesday in Palatine, Ill., asking the class to cooperate with her. This is not an unusual request from a teacher, but this time there is an added reason — the teacher has been blind since birth. Here she calls on the help of one of her pupils, Brad Olsen, to write the next day's assignment on the blackboard.

Accidents in Michigan on the Rise

LANSING (UPI) — Traffic accidents in Michigan continue to rise over the previous year, state safety officials said Tuesday.

The officials stated September was one of the worst months for traffic fatalities last year and the state already has 66 more deaths than at the same time in 1959.

State Police Commissioner Joseph Calkins told the State Safety Commission that persons died in traffic accidents in Michigan through Monday as compared with 668 for the comparable period of 1959.

The state police report showed January's traffic fatality toll was 81 above the January 1959 total: "We still haven't recovered from that bad month," Calkins said. The current increase over last year was just two above the single month hike in January.

Develops Unique Teaching Desk

ELECTRONIC STUDENT DESK — A new teaching device developed by the Williams Research Corp. of Walled Lake may someday help solve the teacher shortage. Expert instructors, on sound motion picture screen, lecture and quiz individual students who must respond quickly by pushing answer buttons. The student is then automatically graded on a punched tape fed out of the machine.

County's Williams Corp. to Show Robot in Mexico

By JIM LONG

WALLED LAKE — A unique teaching desk, developed by the Williams Research Corp. here, will be publicly demonstrated for the first time this week in Mexico City.

Some 400 university presidents, rectors and vice-chancellors from 70 countries gathering in that city for a conference of the International Association of Universities will take part in the demonstration.

The conference delegates will sit at the "Science Desk" and receive sound motion picture sample lessons in history, chemistry and French.

The lessons will be presented to them on a small screen right into the individual student desk.

The educators will have to be alert since the motion picture lecturer will ask numerous questions requiring immediate responses.

Each delegate will be automatically graded on his response by a punched tape feeding out of the machine.

"The basic objective of the teaching desk is to imitate, as closely as possible, the functions of a live teacher," explained Hans Williams, corporation president.

To imitate a live teacher, he said, the individual student desk incorporates a sound motion picture machine and electronic devices enabling and requiring each student to recite (through punch button responses), and to take formal tests when called upon by the motion picture instructor.

CAPABILITIES FIX SPEED — A student may progress through his subjects at the maximum rate his own capabilities permit, with disregard for the progress of his classmates.

When a group of lessons is completed, the student extracts a film reel from the projector and exchanges it for a new lesson.

Slow students, instead of falling behind, can keep repeating brief sections of the lesson by pressing a reverse button.

A simple chest-proof testing procedure checks and records the student's retention at the end of each lesson.

When the film arrives at a written test question the machine automatically stops. The question may be of the true or false type or of the selective type with four possible answers.

The student then makes his answer by pressing one of four corresponding buttons on the control panel or the true or false button.

AUTOMATICALLY MARKED — The paper tape is automatically marked, giving a permanent record of the student's grade, and a flashing light adjacent to the proper button advises him of the correct answer.

When the student releases his selected answer button, the film advances to the next question or conclusion, including:

Williams said he has found that teachers do not view the desk as a competitor, but welcome its assistance in serving the swelling student population.

Film copies for the desk, he said, can be prepared in large quantities by conventional, low-cost film printing methods.

Area Towns to Meet on Proposed 3-County Authority Plan

SOUTH LYON — Representatives from a dozen Southwest Oakland County communities met here today to discuss the creation of a hospital authority for the area.

The meeting is the third in a series designed to promote interest in a plan that would eventually see the construction of a 125-bed hospital to serve a three-county area — Oakland, Macomb and Washtenaw.

The public has been invited to the 2 p.m. meeting in the South Lyon Elementary School.

So far South Lyon is the only community in the proposed area that has made plans to place the issue before voters in the November election.

However, with little interest expressed by other communities, the South Lyon Mayor Ross Sinclair has stated there is a good possibility that the city may remove the question from the ballot.

Most communities, he said, feel that more information is needed before seeking voter approval. They may wait until the spring election before requesting a decision from their electorates.

The vote is necessary since the basic proposition would authorize the hospital authority to levy a 40-cent tax on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The communities included in the proposed area are Northville, Wixom, Novi, Farmington, Milford and South Lyon and the townships of Northville, Farmington, Lyon, Salem, Novi and Milford.

Tentative reports show that some 150,000 persons in a 320-square mile area would be served by the proposed hospital.

The wedding took place Friday in the Memorial Presbyterian Church, Midland.

Attending the couple were Nancy Butson, sister of the bride, and David McCallum, brother of the groom.

The newlyweds will make their home in Mount Pleasant where both are students at Central Michigan University.

ROCHESTER — Honeymooning in Drayton Plains, Virgil Smith of Garden City, James Howard of Royal Oak, and the bride's cousin, James and Ronald Hann of Rochester.

Flower girl Penny Reinko and ringbearer Roger Reinko are the bridegroom's niece and nephew.

A reception was held in the church hall following the ceremony. The newlyweds will reside at 222 Washington St., Royal Oak.

For her wedding the bride chose a gown of silk organza with a lace bodice, wrist-length sleeves and a scalloped neckline with sequins and pearls.

A single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, complemented her pearl-studded crown which held in place a veil of French illusion.

She carried a bouquet of stephanotis centered with a white orchid on a white ribbon.

Carolyn Ennis was maid of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Juanita Bord of Pontiac, Gerda Treglow of Detroit and the bride's cousin, Linda Ennis of Rochester.

Paul Irvine of Birmingham was best man.

Ushers were Robert Reinko of Mrs. Lloyd H. Dempsey.

Great Scientific Drive Is Advocated by Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon says a major new program for basic research, calling the United States must provide for federal matching funds for the facilities, the opportunity and university operation of cooperation for exploration by live programs across the country. "the scientist with the vaulting imagination."

Nixon discussed "the scientific imagination" in the second of a science, he proposes government series of papers, released Wednesday.

day night, aimed at giving his views in depth on various subjects. The first, dealing with communism, was issued Aug. 30. Nixon said the next Congress should authorize the National Science Foundation to take the leadership in sponsoring the vast new program for basic research.

OUTLINES PLAN

"By sponsor, I do not mean control, finance and operate," the vice president stressed. "The program should be conducted through a number of basic research institutes located in the principal geographical areas of the country."

"Financial support of these institutions should be as much as possible a joint public and private enterprise with both federal and state governments participating on one hand and universities, private industry, and foundations on the other. The federal funds should be made available on a matching basis with state and private contributions."

Nixon said that the Soviets lead today in the development of high-thrust rockets, but that "overall in the field of science, we are well ahead of the Soviet Union." Nixon cautioned against complacency, however, saying that to stay ahead, the United States must move ahead by giving creative men and women freedom to explore and encouraging and backing them.

A little boy, asked what he wanted for his birthday, answered: "I want my bike fixed and my violin busted." . . . You know times are good when people who used to go barefoot are starting to complain about the prices of shoes. Earl Wilson.

Mexico City, Cuba Harbor Spies on Way to Moscow

NEW YORK. (UPI)—South of the border is the spy route to Moscow. Twelve trawlers are known to have landed both before and after the summer after their disappearance from the job at the top secret national security agency in Washington.

Bernon Mitchell, 31, and William H. Martin, 29, refused to say where they had been since they left Washington together, ostensibly on vacation, more than 10 weeks ago.

But their known presence in both of this nation's nearest Latin American neighbors points up the suspected shift in Russian underground operations.

Ten years ago when atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg were arrested in New York, they were said to have had their bags packed for a quick trip to Moscow a Mexico City Embassy.

NOW IN ALCAZAR

Their under-spy, Morton Sobel, had already made it to the border. Sobel was a rare instance of retrieving for U.S. authorities, however. He is now in Alcatraz.

Three years ago, when counter-spy Boris Morris named former New York stockbroker Alfred R. Stern and his wife, the former Martha Dodd, daughter of a one-time U.S. ambassador, as members of a Soviet spy ring, they were located living in a seconded luxury, in Mexico. Indicted here as spies, they fled to Czechoslovakia on Paraguayan passports.

But Moscow's Mexican headquarters for American spying may be moving to Havana with Fidel Castro's new Communist alliance, of July 1 and include 10 other and the arrival of the Soviet's new dates set aside for New Year's observances in Cuba.

Small Pillows Aid Asthma Sufferers

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI)—Small pillows, shaped like a bean bag and about the size of a deck of cards, may be the answer to the problems of asthma patients, says Dr. L. E. Pickett of the Mayo Clinic staff.

He has operated for years as a hemispheric spy headquarters, with an assist when needed from the nearby Cuban embassy and diplomatic missions of other Iron Curtain countries.

The cloak and dagger Russians have been undisturbed by our friendly neighbor as long as their espionage has remained an ex-posed business.

The Mexican government got its dander up in 1956, and demanded the recall of two attaches it charged had been mixed up in a Mexican railroad strike.

Mexico is studiously neutral in the world power struggle, but it numbers among its citizens both communist sympathizers and non-communists who just plain dislike the United States and all its works.

Chums Play Together, Have Same Bad Luck

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Jimmy Hanson, 11, and Marty Dunn, 12, and classmates are close chums who often do things together.

Recently, they had the same bad luck on the same day. Jimmy broke his right arm when he fell off a swing at school. Marty broke his right arm in the same spot while playing basketball in the school gymnasium.

Sherlock Holmes Jailed

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—Sherlock Holmes, 19, pleaded guilty in Dallas County Criminal Court to carrying a switchblade knife. Judge Robert Cox sentenced him to 30 days in jail.

Food Time for Baby Excusable

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a six-month-old baby. Last Sunday I had guests in for the afternoon. My baby's feeding time is five o'clock so when it got to be that time I excused myself and went out into the kitchen to feed him. I was gone about twenty minutes. When the guests left, my mother-in-law who was also present, berated me for having left my guests alone and thinks that I should have waited until they left to feed him. I think the feeding of my baby was much more important than leaving my guests alone for a short time and that I committed no rudeness.

Answer: Having explained to your guests that you had to feed your baby and asked them to please excuse you for a short while, you were certainly not rude, especially as your mother-in-law was there to keep them company.

Dear Mrs. Post: I am expecting a baby shortly and if it is a girl would like to name her for my mother-in-law who has an unusually pretty name. Is it necessary to add any suffix to her name in the way that if it is added when a boy is named for his grandfather?

Answer: The correct feminine suffix is Yr. (Younger). However, until she is grown, I don't think there will be any confusion between the two, and even then there is apt to be very little since your mother-in-law is Mrs. John Jones and your daughter Miss Mary Jones.

Priebes Go on Northern Honeymoon

St. Michael Church Is Scene of Wedding for Patricia Backes

After Saturday morning nuptials in St. Michael Church, Duane O. Priebes and his bride, the former Patricia Ann Backes, departed on a Northern Michigan honeymoon.

The Rev. Richard Lauring of Our Lady of Sorrows Church, Farmington performed the ceremony at an altar banked with white gladioli.

A drop eart necklace and cascade of white gladioli sprayed with aqua aquas complemented the bride's gown of white embroidered nylon organza over tulle. The wedding hostess was designed with a sabrine necklace and the bouquet skirt swept into a chapel train.

Elbow-length silk illusion veiling was secured by a pearl crown.

Ballerina-length white nylon organza over tulle, lightly touched with aqua, for the attendants, was even with deep pearl necklaces, gift-of-the-bride. Three floral-cadence were aqua-tipped white gladioli.

Mary A. Backes was her sister's honor maid, with Sharon Baugherly and Kathi Marks, bridesmaids.

Blaine Priebes stood as his brother's best man. They are the sons of Mrs. Clare Wright of Hopkins Street and Otto Priebes of Silver Street, Pontiac Township. James K. Lauring and Daniel Stark were

Some Folks Remain Tied to Apron Strings

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Marie Law, who is on vacation, is the first woman to appear during Dr. Rollo May's "Man's Search for Himself" series. Dr. May's book, published by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., is a landmark in the field of psychology.

By DR. ROLLO MAY

The baby becomes a physical individual when the umbilical cord is severed at his birth. But unless the psychological umbilical cord is also cut in due time, he remains like a toddler tied to a stake in his parents' front yard.

He can go no farther than the length of his rope. His development is blocked and the surrendered freedom for growth turns inward and festers in resentment and anger.

These are the people who, though they seem to get along tolerably well within the range of the toddler's rope; are greatly upset when they confront marriage or go off to work or eventually face death. In every crisis they tend to "go back to mother."

As one young husband put it: "I cannot love my wife enough because I love my mother too much."

His error was in using the word "love" for his relation to his mother. Real love is expansive and never excludes loving others: it is only being tied to the mother which excludes loving one's wife.

What has to be broken is the infantile ties of dependency which bind the person to the parents and thereby keep him from loving outwardly and creating independently. This is a matter of long, uphill growth to new levels of integration—growth meaning not automatic process but re-creating, finding new insights, making self-conscious decisions and throughout being willing to face occasional or frequent bitter struggles.

The struggle to become a person takes place within the person himself. None of us can avoid taking a stand against exploitative persons or external forces in the environment; but the crucial psychological battle we must wage is that against our own dependent needs, against the anxiety and guilt which will arise as we move toward freedom.

The basic conflict then is between that part of the person which seeks growth, expansion and health against the part which longs to remain immature tied still to the psychological umbilical cord and

WCTU Hears Sen. Lodge Talk on Election

Election of officers and a talk by Sen. L. Harvey Lodge highlighted the Pontiac Women's Christian Temperance Union Federation luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Green on Pontiac Lake.

President Mrs. Nellie Monroe will serve with Mary Carla, vice president; Mrs. Alma Fremed, second vice president; Mrs. Phoebe Davis, recording secretary; Mrs. Delbert Martin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Edna McCormick, treasurer. Mrs. Hazel Green conducted the election. Mrs. Ruth Mason installed the officers.

Speaking on the November election, Sen. Lodge urged that citizens study the issues and know the men on the ballot and their platforms.

After announcing the next federation meeting Jan. 3, Mrs. Monroe introduced Judy Coleman who played two accordion selections.

Jerry Kelly from the Royal Oak Saddle Patten Youth Temperance Council reported on the Youth Teen Club's recent state convention at Wilderness Park near Mackinaw City. The convention's program theme was in keeping with the club slogan "A Good Time with a Purpose." Prize winners for the club's activities and special studies on the book "A Study on Alcohol's Dangers to Youth" were announced.

Mrs. Monroe was named delegate to the WCTU state convention Oct. 26-28. Devotions were read by Mrs. Ira Davis.

Representatives from nine unions and six union presidents attended the affair.

Approve in Principle, Poll Finds

Teeners' Say Unions Are Badly Managed

BY EUGENE GILBERT
 PRESIDENT OF THE GILBERT YOUTH RESEARCH CO.

Are labor unions necessary? Yes, says a sampling of American high school students, the work force of tomorrow. But the majority doesn't think unions are being well run. And only one per cent feels they should have more power.

Our poll of 563 teeners indicates 88 per cent think unions are managed either indifferently "badly or corruptly. Thirty-four per cent of those polled believe unions are honest.

"Many are honestly managed," says Bill Guard, 17, of Clark Summit, Pa. "However it's always those few states that ruin the tabcloth."

For better or worse, however, 68 per cent of the youngsters said they would join a union. Nine were 18 per cent while 10 per cent said they would sign up "only if necessary."

The poll shows unions have lost some attraction to the young set. Our latest sampling shows 87 per cent thought unions were necessary. Three years ago 93 per cent of boys and 92 per cent of girls agreed unions were needed.

The same percentage of boys and girls—83 per cent—said they would cross a picket line. But Victor Wong, 17, of San Francisco, echoed fears of a minority saying he would hesitate "because taking another's bread away from him can cause violence."

BOYS VS. GIRLS
 Only 29 per cent of the boys believed an employee should be required to join a union compared to 42 per cent of the girls questioned.

Judy Tischler, 16, of Chicago, favored mandatory membership because "the nonmember gets the same benefits as the union members. He should have the same obligations."

But whether they join or not, a fat majority felt that unions serve a legitimate need.

"They are necessary to give workers a chance to gain rights, good working conditions and fair wages," said Ron Medon, 17, of South Bend, Ind.

"You need a mediator between employer and employee," agreed Danna Ortega, 17, of Pocatello, Idaho.

Without union, business could do anything to the worker," said Terry Hartig, 17, of Flushing, N. Y.

Some disagree. Orr, Tom Hopkins, 16, of Waverly, Pa., says "I believe management will give its workers a fair deal."

"It's nothing but a big racket that's getting worse and worse all the time," replied Jana L. Moore, 17, of St. Louis.

PRO AND CON
 Those saying they would join unions said they would do so to protect themselves against lay-offs, to get more fair treatment from management and to work in harmony with fellow employees who are union members.

able influence through government control "so that they have to fight twice as hard to make any gains at all."

FEAR OF CROSSING
 A number of teen-agers said a fear of bodily harm would keep them from crossing a picket line. "Some men would stop at nothing to keep you outside a plant," said Joseph Hanne, 16, of Youngstown, Pa.

But Becky Schulz, 17, of San Francisco, said she would cross regardless. "I have my rights as a citizen to try my opinion."

Evelyn Germain, 17, of San Francisco, was critical of workers who refuse to join unions. "A person who doesn't join is just letting all the others become unionists brought good pay and better working conditions."

Others felt a closed shop violated a worker's rights to make up his own mind. "Every worker should have certain freedom," said Doris Houchell, 17, of Batavia, Ohio.

Ann Arbor Is Scene of Wedding

Ethel Huntwork and William C. Addison on Honeymoon

Dr. Henry Kuzenga officiated at the marriage of Ethel Thersa Huntwork and William C. Addison Saturday evening in the First Presbyterian Church, Ann Arbor.

Receiving with the bride's parents Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Huntwork, at a family reception in their Ann Arbor home, were the bride's father, Mr. C. R. Huntwork, C. A. Addison of East Pointe Lake, Bloomfield Hills, parents of the bridegroom.

Medallions of Alonson lace, re-embroidered with sequins, enhanced the bride's gown of white tulle which swirled into a chapel train. She wore fingertip veiling of silk tulle and held white roses and carnations.

Mrs. Daniel D. Robbins and Margery Huntwork attended their sister as bridesmaids. Marilyn Bell was honor maid and Gayle Robbins, flower girl. All are of Ann Arbor.

On the couple's side were Donald Anderson of Ypsilanti, best man, with Daniel Robbins, Gerald Gibson of Plymouth and Rodrick Boucher of Birmingham, ushering.

After visiting Niagara Falls and Mackinac Island, the newlyweds will be at home in Ann Arbor.

The bride is a junior at the University of Michigan where her husband is attending pre-dental school. His fraternity is Psi Omega.

Art Center Classes Will Be Started

The Junior League of the Birmingham Young People's Art Center will begin classes Saturday. The fall schedule is as follows: Saturday, 9:30 a.m. to 12:15 p.m. for 10 to 12-year-olds; 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. for 13 to 15-year-olds; and 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. for 16 to 18-year-olds.

At 4 p.m. Tuesday will be another class for 8 to 9-year-olds, and at 4 Wednesday, a second class for 10 to 12-year-olds. By popular demand, a class for 14 to 17-year-olds has been added this year. Students will meet Thursdays at 4 p.m.

The supervisor of the classes, Glen Michaels, spent the summer in Japan, living part of the time in a Zen Buddhist temple.

Junior Grows Too Fast

Keeping Him 'Fit' Not Easy

The wonderful wash and wear garments which most of today's youth wear save time and money.

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN
For many parents D Day comes in September. D stands for discrepancy — the discrepancy between the size junior in this year and the clothes he wore to school last year!

Whether he grew two inches or four, the sight of him trying to get into his leftover garments is enough to make you develop brown lines.

All mothers go through this experience a few times. They wonder where the money is coming from to buy the necessary new outfit, and how to buy most wisely, so that there will be a minimum of purchase and a maximum of work and upkeep on his wardrobe.

The American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear answered a few questions for me. In the first place it is encouraging to know that the cost of boy's clothing has gone up only 9.5 per cent in price to you the buyers since 1947. In the same time housing shot up 36.3 per cent, health care 55 per cent and the over-all cost of living 26.2 per cent.

Then, of course, there are the wonderful wash and wear garments which most of today's youth wear. This clothing goes right into the washer and out again to hang dry and shape itself. Heavier clothing such as sports jackets and trousers, suits and even rainwear, can be cleaned in this easy way. This goes for shirts, too. Thus, thanks to science, your dry-cleaning bills are cut.

Therefore, do not be dismayed if your daughter cannot wear any of her last year's dresses, blouses, skirts, coats, and neckties are the only items or undergarments, and your of apparel that fit.

Take heart also that young people are dressing better and are more careful about good grooming than ever before. I have been most interested in the effort to promote this in schools because I believe firmly that we react to the way we look and that sloppy dressing promotes sloppy manners. We just have more self-interest in the way we look.

It is a fact that the results have been wonderful. We hear much less today about "hood" and other tough-looking tags than we did a few years ago. The trend toward better dress does not mean expensive clothing is in vogue, but neat, appropriate dress.

Vacationing at Home Is Fine—for Husband

By RUTH MILLETT

A husband's vacation at home can be a wonderful thing — if his wife survives it.

Just judging from the letters I get from wives just after their husbands have vacationed at home, the wives work harder during those weeks than at any time of the year.

Here's a typical one:

"My husband's vacation has just ended. This year he decided to spend it at home, 'just loafing around.'"

"He had a fine time. Why not? I spent the two weeks making him the guest of the house, and now I need a vacation which, of course, I won't get."

"To give you a rough idea of how a husband's vacation at home affects the wife, our first went like this:

"I got up at the regular hour in order to cook breakfast for the children. Papa slept until 11 and woke up ready for a big breakfast."

"By then the man of the house decided we ought to have a neighborhood cook-out in our back yard and the kids joined in to second the motion."

"It won't be any trouble," the party planner assured me. He personally would go to the market and pick out the meat to barbecue and he would cook it."

"Needless to say, I spent the afternoon preparing the rest of the meal, getting the equipment together, telephoning the neighbors to invite them, and so on. It was a happy evening."

"But by night I was hunched and my husband said: 'This is the life. I can sleep as late as I want to in the morning. Just keep the kids quiet, will you?'"

"That's how it went for two weeks with my having to sandwich in such routine jobs as washing and ironing."

"I'm not complaining because my husband DID have a nice vacation and he deserved it."

"But whenever I hear a husband say: 'We took our vacation at home this year,' I am going to have to bite my tongue to keep from saying, 'You mean YOU took YOUR vacation at home.'"

"Running a summer hotel for a vacationing husband is anything but a vacation for his wife."

Drug Cost Shield Asked by Army

Purchasing Chief Tells Probers He's Referred Cases to Justice Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief buyer of medicines for the armed forces asked Congress today for more authority to protect the government against overcharges by drug manufacturers.

Rear Adm. William L. Knickerbocker testified he has had some "pretty frustrating" experiences with identical bids from rival manufacturers for contracts all of which he deemed too high. He said he has referred some of these instances to the Justice Department for investigation. His prepared testimony did not name any firms involved.

Knickerbocker is executive director of the Military Medical Supply Agency in Brooklyn, N.Y., which spent $66.4 million last year to buy medical supplies for the armed forces.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee planned to hear more testimony from Dr. W. G. Malouin, president of the American Cyanamid Co. of New York City, before calling Knickerbocker to the witness stand.

EXPLORES ALLEGATIONS
The subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., is exploring allegations of monopolistic practice and profiteering in the drug industry.

Malouin Wednesday vigorously defended his company's record, including the 17.7 per cent profit earned by its medicines-producing Lederle Laboratories division last year were "fair and reasonable."

Midwest's Broiling Heat to End

By The Associated Press
A week-long heat wave in the Midwest showed signs of a break today, after another day of blistering temperatures in most areas.

But there appeared no immediate relief on the way for the sun-baked areas in the South. Cool air from Canada and clearing skies dropped temperatures to freezing in Montana, including a low of 27 at Drummond. But readings were in the 70-80 degree range in the central and southern parts of the country after Wednesday's 90-plus marks.

The mercury shot up to 100 degrees in Chicago Wednesday, the hottest day since July 1, 1956 a record high for the date.

In the Northeast, out of the hot weather belt, readings were mostly in the 60s. In the West, temperatures ranged from the 50s near the Canadian border to the 90s in the desert region. The 90s were the rule along the West Coast.

NANCY'S A WINNER — All agree at the right is Nancy Anne Fleming, Miss Michigan, who tied for top honors in the preliminary talent contest of the Miss America Pageant in Atlantic City, N. J. Her "strip-tease in reverse" modeling act, as she has dubbed it, impressed the judges.

They named Nancy and Teresa Rinaldi (left), Miss Alabama, co-winners. Teresa sang "Ado' from 'La Boheme.'" Miss South Carolina, Edith Sandra Browning (center), was chosen the prettiest miss in a seven-run.

Car Sales Up 3.5 Per Cent

But Comparison to Last Year's August Shows 5.3 Fall

DETROIT (UPI) — A spurt of month-end buying boosted new car sales 3.5 per cent in August over July sales, Ward's Automotive Reports said today.

The report indicated, however, that the sales level for the month was 5.3 per cent under August 1959 with only Chrysler Corp. surpassing its 1959 record.

Ward's noted that General Motors recorded a 49.3 per cent market penetration for the final 15 days of August, the highest such-GM has achieved since March for a like period.

Average daily sales were 18,924 units during the final 10 days of August and 17,737 for the month as compared with 20,813 and 18,718 in 1959.

Of the 478,900 domestic cars sold during the month, GM accounted for 41.1 per cent; Ford 29.2 per cent; Chrysler 14.7 per cent; American Motors 7.3 per cent; and Studebaker-Packard 1.7 per cent.

There are about 3,000 kinds of cars on the market today.

Con-Con Urgers Step Up Efforts

Petitions Have Ample Valid Names Required for Statewide Vote

LANSING (AP) — With statewide referendum urging a "yes" vote on the proposal already have been distributed, said Donald M. Oakes, executive secretary of Citizens for Michigan.

More stickers and other advertising materials will be handed out as funds become available, he said.

Citizens for Michigan, together with the Michigan League of Women Voters and the State Junior of Commerce, led the drive to put the proposal before the voters. All had representatives present yesterday when the board of state canvassers formally ordered the proposal on the ballot.

The three members present agreed that petitions circulated by supporting organizations contained ample valid signatures to meet requirements for a statewide vote.

Bernard J. Apol, deputy state elections director, said a spot check showed "at least 250,000 valid signatures," nearly 19,000 over the minimum required.

Best Start for Day Is Breakfast

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Home Editor

No one will deny that athletes need a good breakfast if they are to practice football all day, run in a track race or play basketball. But they don't need breakfast any more than YOU do if you're going to be at your best.

Once again we dust off the old refrain and sing our little tune about how important breakfast is. We don't feel guilty in the least about it. Nutritionists agree with us and urge us to carry on our work of educating our readers.

Athletes like Pontiac Central's Dick McCauley need far more calories for breakfast and for other meals than you and I do. But all of us need some food to get us going in the morning. It does make sense, doesn't it?

Researchers have found that breakfast is the meal in which the greatest number of foods are apt to appear. Evidently this idea is catching on. For years, we have been urging you to serve yourself for breakfast that your family will eat. Be daring!

How about Eggs in Hot Dog Cups? They're different.

Eggs in Hot Dog Cups

1/4 cup melted butter or margarine
Salt and pepper to taste

Combine frankfurters, 1 1/2 cups of the soft bread crumbs, milk and 1/4 cup milk of the melted butter. Place 1/2 of mixture in each of 6 custard cups. Pack firmly. Form a slight hollow in center of each cup.

Break 1 egg into each hollow. Sprinkle egg with salt and pepper, remaining butter and bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until eggs are as firm as desired, 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

We might remind you that the basic breakfast pattern is fruit, cereal, milk, bread and butter. Many people prefer to substitute some form of protein for one of the cereal choices. But the basic pattern is adequate. Within that framework you could plan breakfasts for a whole year and never repeat the exact combination.

French Toast is not unusual, but this way of preparing it is. You may freeze the puddings and then, unwrapped, in a 400-degree oven for seven minutes. Turn over and heat another seven minutes.

French Toast Puffs
Shortening or oil for deep fat frying
1 cup sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon sugar

3 eggs, separated
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup sifted flour

Start heating shortening. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Beat egg whites until foamy. Add sugar. Beat until stiff but not dry. Beat yolks and milk. Add flour mixture. Fold in whites.

Dip bread first in butter, then cereal crumbs. Fry in deep hot (350 degrees) fat 1/2 minute on each side, or until brown. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve with preserves or syrup. Yield: 4 servings.

Many individuals who are reducing are drinking special liquids, mothers, and your youngsters off in place of meals. The cereal is to school with a meal in their attitude suggests a cereal mix; it is a blender for anyone in a hurry. This one has just about everything called for in a basic breakfast. We make no guarantee about the palatability. You're on your own.

Orange Cereal Nug
1 cup cooked, rolled oats
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup sifted flour

Measure all ingredients into blender container. Blend about 3 seconds. If no blender is available, beat until thoroughly mixed with hand or electric mixer. Chill if desired. Yield: 3 cups.

But, please, please, don't skip that important first meal of the day. Eat something other than orange juice and black coffee. And, if you're a parent, make sure your youngsters get a good breakfast.

Prune Pinwheels
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped dried prunes
1/2 cup sifted flour

Spicy Prunes Fill Pinwheels

Most of the delicious fruited baked foods we enjoy today had their origin in European countries: Kuchen, galette, strudel, kolachky, Danish pastry and many others. The fruit was often prunes or a prune mixture.

Home baking has increased in popularity as modern methods, equipment and mixers have facilitated time consuming steps. Whether or not the modern home baker considers herself an expert when she crowns coffee cake with prunes, uses a prune mixture in muffins, or decorates pies or cookies with dark velvety prunes, they will have the delicious fruit flavor achieved by famous bakers the world over.

Prune Pinwheels
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup chopped dried prunes
1/2 cup sifted flour

Green Macaroni Good With Cheese

Combine prunes, 1/4 cup sugar, pecans, salt, cinnamon, all-spice, orange rind, and juice. Mix well.

Spinach Macaroni
1 package (10 oz.) spinach
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
Cook spinach macaroni with boiling water and salt according to package directions. Drain. At once turn back into dry hot lettuce the one in which the macaroni was boiled; add butter and cheese. Mix well. Serve at once—passing extra Parmesan if desired. Makes 4 servings.

Cream Cheese Balls
Delicious accompaniment for a summer fruit salad; shape cream cheese into small balls, then roll in a mixture of finely chopped nuts (pecans or walnuts) and green olives.

Brained Peaches
Full peach halves with chili sauce. Split Vienna-style sausage links in half and place two halves on top of each peach half. Broil.

STOKING UP—Pontiac Central athlete, Dick McCauley of Exchange street, knows that he has to eat right in order to participate in sports. Now that he's practicing football most of the day, he's sure to have an adequate breakfast, one that includes cereal, milk, toast and usually more substantial foods. Small fry athletes, take note of this.

Barbecued Corn Beef Goes Well on Patio Party Menu

When a group of hearty eaters storms in for a patio party, here's the kind of dinner that will keep them quiet and happy. The meat could be given a final heating in the tomato sauce over an outdoor grill, electric grill or electric skillet. And the vegetables in the broth could be served up directly from a large kettle over a charcoal fire or electric grill even though they have been cooked indoors.

Barbecued Corned Beef Dinner
Four to six persons could eat 1 cup celery tops

Red Chinese Expected to Campaign for a Foothold Among Mexicans Next

TOKYO (UPI) — U.S. Communist and democratic revolutionaries expect a stepped-up campaign by Communist China to extend its influence in Latin America now that the Peking regime has its first major military victory.

The Red Chinese have worked hard and long to get the foothold that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro gave them by overthrowing the U.S.-backed Batista regime.

China's normal diplomatic relations with Peking.

... Communist and democratic revolutionary movement of the Latin American people," the paper said.

It termed charges that Moscow and Peking were to break continental unity and so danger pose to Latin America as "false communication added to the efforts that people of the Soviet Union, China and other socialist (Communist) countries . . . are profreely engaging with and firmly support the struggle of the Latin American people to strive for, and preserve their national independence."

But what is wrong with this? the paper asked. "This arrogant attitude of U.S. imperialism only shows that it regards itself as an overlord in Latin America and

It represents a major victory for the Red Chinese, right on America's doorstep and the Reds can be expected to press it for all it's worth.

There is basis for speculation that the next spot the Peiping regime will concentrate upon in Latin America will be Mexico.

There has been a noticeable increase in Red China's interest in America's south of the border neighbor, and some quarters feel the Chinese might try to take advantage of the demonstrations that have been held there in support of Castro. This is a favorite tactic of the Communists.

The Chinese have been giving unusually cordial treatment to an aged Mexican general and a magazine editor from Mexico City who are now on a tour of Even chairman Mao Tze-tung came out of his diplomatic semi-seclusion to receive 84-year-old Gen. Heriberto Jara, chairman of the Mexican National Peace Council, and Jose N. Rosales, editor of the Mexican magazine, Seimpre. The two have been wined and dined extensively during their stay in China.

As part of its campaign to win friends and influence in Latin America, Communist China has kept a constant flow of delegations going and coming from Peking during the past several months. There is every indication that this pace will be kept up or increased in coming months.

These Chinese have sent youth delegations with not a member below 30 or 35, and few that young. They've sent acrobatic troupes, musical groups and cultural delegations of all kinds to practically every Latin American country.

Peiping Radio has stepped up its broadcasting to Latin America and can be expected to beam even more propaganda programs in that direction in the future.

RED CHINA UNMOVED

When the Organization of American States adopted a resolution condemning Communist intervention in Latin America, the official Peiping People's Daily made it clear that Communist China did not expect to be hampered by the resolution.

"Obviously, what exasperates U.S. imperialism, like a bone in its throat, is the Soviet, Chinese and other peoples' support of the national and democratic revolutionary movement of the Latin American people," the paper said.

It turned charges that Moscow and Peking were out to break continental unity and endanger peace in Latin America as "sheer nonsense."

The official publication added:

"It is true that the people of the Soviet Union, China and other so-

Harry Taylor Was Overflowing With Torrents of Talent

BY BOB CONSIDINE

ROME—Five or six years ago I served as a judge in a reporting and writing contest involving Cincinnati newsmen. Clippings of their news and feature stories were sent me by tyline removed, usual procedure in such matters as a guard against any partisanship.

Two pieces struck me as outstanding and I voted them best in their divisions and forgot the entire incident.

Weeks later my friend Henry J. Taylor, distinguished commentator and correspondent who is now U.S. ambassador to Switzerland, said, "Say, thanks very much for what you did for Harry. Winning that contest was a real break for him. Scripps-Howard is making him his roving correspondent."

"Harry?"

"My kid, Harry," Taylor said, somewhat surprised. "You voted for him in that Cincinnati writing contest."

I didn't know the boy was even in our business. But along with millions of others I learned soon enough that Henry N. Taylor, which was the tyline young Harry used, was in this business like everybody's business.

No reported of my time ever noted the whole world to his best as quickly and surely as this fine, tireless cheerful young man with torrents of talent.

Harry could do so many things so well. Over and above his trade he was astonishingly well read in fields strangely remote from everyday journalism.

At the University of Virginia he was a good enough baseball player to attract big league scouts. I played golf with him a lot and he hit the ball as far as almost any professional. In tennis he could serve with any of them.

HAD THAT GIFT
Like some reincarnation of Floyd Gibbons, Richard Harding Davis, Red Knechtbocker and Ernie Pyle, Harry had an intuitive scent for news—the unsearchable gift of being where the big story was about to happen.

On President Eisenhower's South American trip last February Harry decided at the last minute not to leave his wife with the rest of the reporters accompanying him to Rio de Janeiro.

That same climatic fog-bound afternoon, the U.S. Navy band's plane collided in midair with a Brazilian airliner and both plunged into Rio harbor. Harry saw the fiery debris fall out of the overcast, raced to his hotel, picked up the skin diving fins he usually carried with him on trips, and helped navy divers bring up bodies. He wrote a stunning eyewitness story of that harrowing experience.

Taylor passed up the early hand-shaking portions of Eisenhower's Far Eastern trip and went straight to Tokyo, scheduled climax point.

Thus he was there in the crowd of crazy Zoukenians which battered Jim Hagerty's car at Tokyo airport when the White House press secretary went into case the temper of the place. Harry got himself knocked down in the melee. He got himself the best story of the day, too.

CENTER OF ATTENTION
One night last summer at our place on the Jersey shore Bob Ruark and I sat at the bar braving another martini and watching young Harry charm the room.

Our kids are sports car buffs and sat at Harry's feet listening to his stories about his fast buggy which was parked outside. "Go ahead and try it," he said to our boy Harry—biggest thing that happened to the kid all summer.

A bit later Harry was regaling another group in the room with a clean hilarious story and soon after was singing in a rich and really golden baritone that caused girls to stop listening to their dates and turn their pretty heads that way.

Ruark, who loved this Taylor, said to me, "How would you like to be as good as that and have as much ahead of you as he has, and still have your baby fat?"

I saw Harry at the Powers trial in Moscow. He wasn't sure whether he would go from there to the trouble in Laos or to the Congo. It was the presence of the Olympic Games that made up his mind. He could take in a few days of the games en route to the Congo.

A few nights ago at dinner in Rome he said something odd. Harry said, "I don't know how smart this is." Looking back on it now I remember that Jack Singer of International News Service said something like that before he went to his death on the carrier Wasp and Pyle seemed sure he was through the day he went to Ie Shima.

The first burst from the machine gun, somewhere along the road to a damned place named love him.

West Shore Symphony Will Shift to Muskegon

GRAND HAVEN (AP) — Directors of the West Shore Symphony, founded 22 years ago in Grand Haven, today announced it is discontinuing Grand Haven concerts in favor of a site at Muskegon. Julian Hutton, vice president of the symphony board, cited lack of financial support from the cities area of Grand Haven, Spring Lake and Perryburg as grounds for the move.

Ballot by Mail in ASC Election

Monday Is Deadline for Turning in Selections on Committee Posts

The election of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committees is being conducted by mail ballot this year, according to Robert H. Long, Oakland County ASC chairman.

Monday is the final day for mailing and returning the ballots to the County ASC office, Long stated.

All farm owners, tenants and operators in the county have been mailed ballots listing the candidates for community committees in their townships.

The newly elected chairman and vice chairman of each community automatically will become delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention Sept. 30.

The county committee will be named at the convention, which will be held in the Oakland County ASC office in the Hubbard Building at 18 S. Perry, Pontiac.

Any farmer who believes he is eligible to vote but who did not receive a ballot is urged to visit the ASC office before Monday, Long said.

Federal government projects administered by the county and community ASC committees are the agricultural conservation program, the conservation reserve (soil bank) program, the farm storage facility and mobile dryer program, price support for commodity grains and incentive payment for wool production.

U. of M. Experts Pick Up Signals From Saturn

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy today reported receiving "the first conclusive signals" from the planet Saturn and from a nebula that is 3,000 light years distant from the earth.

The signals were picked up by an 85-foot radio telescope by scientists at the University of Michigan under contract to the Office of Naval Research.

The Navy said that this research may make possible a study of the temperature and density of the rings of Saturn and of the dense inner nebula.

Says Air Radar Station in Lexington to Get Ax

LEXINGTON, Ky. — An Army Air Defense radar station deactivated within the next few months, according to information received by Chamber of Commerce Manager E. H. Casper.

He says the move is one in a series designed to streamline the temperature and density of the rings of Saturn and of the dense inner nebula.

BRUCE J. ANNETT

Honored as Top Pontiac Realtor

Bruce J. Annett Cited at State Convention in Detroit; Leads a Panel

Bruce J. Annett, 2799 Sylvan Street Drive, was honored at the Michigan Real Estate Association convention in Detroit last night as Pontiac's Realtor of the Year.

Annett, 1955 president of the association, was presented a certificate by C. Arnel Nutter of Camden, N. J., president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.

The Pontiac Board of Realtors had chosen Annett for the honor.

Cited were Annett's contributions to the local board, the community and the state and national associations.

Realtors chosen by 41 other local real estate boards in Michigan were similarly honored with certificates by Nutter.

The presentations were at the annual dinner meeting of the state board of directors at the Statler-Hilton Hotel.

Annett was to lead one of the convention's panel discussions today.

The three-day convention will end Friday. Emanuel Falk of Newport News, Va., president of the Institute of Real Estate Management, will be the main speaker at the annual banquet tonight. He will speak on prospects in the 1960s.

MacKay, Holmberg Lead Singles Into 4th Round

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP)—when Crawford broke service in the second game. But he appeared to be pacifying himself. The fourth set was the thriller. Crawford broke in the fifth and ninth games. Seixas broke in the sixth and eighth.

In the 10th game, Seixas gained match point, but let Crawford get away. Eight times more in the 14th, 16th, 18th and 20th games, Seixas got to match point, but every time his quarry slipped away. Finally Crawford broke Seixas in the 27th game and held his own in the 30th for the set.

Both were strictly routine affairs. Neither MacKay nor Holmberg gave his opponent a chance to get an offensive under way. They are after singles spots on the U.S. Davis Cup team.

The crowd of 5,000 in the West Side Tennis Club stadium saved most of its oohs and aahs for the 31-year-old Seixas, who downed 21-year-old Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif. in a 2-hour, 45-minute struggle, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6, 13-15, 6-2.

Seixas, a Philadelphia player, played tournament tennis before Crawford was born, was the complete master in the first two sets. He kept Crawford dashing from side to side and on numerous occasions caught him floundering with crafty drop shots.

Seixas dropped the third set.

Despite Losing Top Backs This Summer

Illinois Big Ten Favorite

(This is another in a series on 1960 football prospects by Charles Chambliss, AP Midwest assistant sports editor, on a rising tour of Big Ten and Notre Dame camps.)

CHAMPAIGN, Ill.—Illinois generally is accepted as the No. 1 football championship choice in the Big Ten this season and also is ranked high nationally.

This has been done although the Illini's two fastest halfbacks, Johnny Counts and Gary Kolb, were summer losses. Counts fumbled out and Kolb signed a professional baseball contract. Also missing is All-America linebacker Bill Burrell, who was graduated.

"I think we fell into the top spot by accident," says Pete Elliott, molding his first Illini team from 24 returning letter-men, 22 holdover squad members and 30 sophomores.

"Some of those rankings were made before anyone was sure Counts would not be back," he adds. "Without him we do not have an exceptional breakaway back and it changes our dimensions. The conference will have fewer problems setting a defense against us because Counts had been a major factor in how they were going to try to do it."

However, the 33-year-old Elliott, who came to Illinois from the head job at California and is the youngest coach in the Big Ten, probably has fewer problems than his other colleagues.

Illinois' brightest spots are at fullback, quarterback and tackle.

Elliott may have the best pair of fullbacks in the country—brothers Bill and Jim Brown.

Bill, 22-year-old captain, is a 211 pounder who led the team last year in rushing (5.7 average). Rushing yardage (504), points scored (36) and punting average (39.3).

He keyed Illinois' wind-up victories over Wisconsin and North- western by smashing a combined total of 280 yards. It gave the Illini a third-place tie with a 4-2-2 record.

Jim, a 208 pounder who now is handicapped by a broken left hand, averaged 4.2 yards per crack as an alternate for his brother.

At tackle are Joe Ruigens, a 245-pound senior and an outstanding All-America candidate, and another senior, 236-pound Cliff Roberts. Roberts so far has gained practice with a placed shoulder serve, and Darrel de Decker, 222-pound senior, has taken his place. Both are 25-year-old former Marine sergeants.

The top two signal callers are back-rough 5-foot-8, 135-pound John Easterbrook and Mel Meyers. Both are exceptional runners as quarterbacks and competent passers.

Holding down the starting end positions are Ed Osbradovich, 6-3, 222 pounds, and Ernie McMillan, 6-4, 238 pounds. The two juniors probably are the biggest pair of ends around. They are fine blockers and are improving as receivers.

The only sophomore who may make the starting grade is end Thurman Walker who can catch passes and has the speed to go all the way. He stands 6-3, weighs 206 and is from Eldorado, Ark.

Wing Gord Strate Has Broken Jaw

DETROIT (UPI)—Defenceman Gordon Strate has become the first major casualty of the Detroit Red Wings pre-season training camp.

The 25-year-old back-checker, who is under contract to Detroit's farm club at Edmonton, Alta., was injured Tuesday and x-rays yesterday showed he suffered a broken jaw.

Strate, who has played a total of 81 National Hockey League games in three separate stints with the Red Wings, will be sidelined for two weeks.

Club officials said he is returning to Edmonton and will rejoin the Red Wings when they make their exhibition swing through the Western Canadian provinces later this month.

Boston, Denver Kick Off Regular AFL Slate Friday

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Patriots kick off the regular American Football League season against Denver Friday night amid high hopes and anxieties.

Opening full-scale combat with the established National League for customer dollars, the AFL has reached the "moment of truth."

The story of the Patriots in many respects is that of the league. The club is battling against the history of two previous failures of pro football in Boston. The old Redskins moved to Washington early in the 1930s and the Yanks evacuated 12 years ago.

Television money and the tremendous growth of interest in the pro game are factors which make the Patriots' backers feel the third time will spell success here. Boston had a 4-1 record in exhibition games and is rated no worse than an even choice for the Eastern Division title.

That's Situation of Groat-Less Bucs After 2-1 Loss

Ahead by 6 With 20 to Go

By The Associated Press
There's still the question: Can the Pirates do it without Dick Groat?

Playing their first game without the sparkling shortstop, sidelined with a broken wrist, the Pirates lost a 2-1 decision to the second place St. Louis Cardinals Wednesday night.

That left the Bucs with a still healthy six-game bulge and 20 games to play in a bid for their first National League pennant in 33 years. The Cards wound up their season series against the Pirates with an 11-1 split by beating 19-game winner Vern Law, the big right-hander who had whipped them five times this year, and 11 times in a row since June, 1959.

While the Cards were dropping the Pirates, third place Milwaukee moved within 1 1/2 games of the top with a 6-3, 11-inning victory over San Francisco Cincinnati edged Los Angeles 4-3 in 13 innings, and Philadelphia defeated Chicago's Cubs 2-0.

Right-hander Ernie Broglio, who singled home the Cards' first run in the second inning, needed help from Andy Muskatel but put away a 4-0 record over the Pirates with his 15th victory against seven defeats.

The Braves beat the Giants and reliever Stu Miller (5-6) on Billy Brant's one-out triple and a single by Del Crandall. Carl Willey (6-7) was the winner.

A pinch double by Eddie Kasko gave the Reds a 3-3 tie in the ninth, and they then won the NL's longest game of the year when winning reliever Marshall Bridges (5-2) singled and scored on Frank Robinson's one-out single. Danny McDevitt (0-4) lost it in relief.

Gene Conley, after losing six in a row, beat the Cubs with a four-hitter, striking out eight for his eighth victory. Don Cardwell (7-13), the ex-Phillie, was the loser.

The also ran tie is ready to be pinned on Milwaukee, but the hard Braves refuse to be counted out in the fast-closing National League pennant race.

"This has been a freak year, and anything still can happen,"

Madgoff Charlie Dressen said it is a freak year. Anything can happen.

"When I look back on the season, I shudder," Dressen said.

"Who would have guessed that winning streak? Then we meet the champions (Los Angeles) and then in six more games. It won't be the Giants would be so far down? He may, but we're not quitting. Who would have believed the Pirates would do so well? Or think General Manager John McLaughlin (St. Louis) Cardinals would be who sat through the 3 hours, 40 up so high? I'm not the only one in a struggle. Also had his who guessed wrong about some hopes boosted by the victory.

"Too many pennants have been

"We're going to battle all the decided in the late stages," he way," Dressen promised. "We're said. We're not giving up now. Not going to wave any white flag. If we get hot, who knows? There's no surrender until we're definite. Always the possibility, the Pirates is eliminated. And, as I say, this could go into a tailspin."

FAST LANSING (AP)—James Hoffa Jr., son of the teamsters union president, has decided to give up football in favor of studies. Hoffa, once regarded as a promising guard candidate, told Michigan State football coach Duffy Daugherty he was quitting yesterday. Hoffa, a sophomore now in basic college, said he wanted to devote more time to his studies.

Pro-Am Event Starts Utah Open Tourney

SALT LAKE CITY (UPI)—The $22,000 Utah Open, biggest and richest golfing event in the state's history, got under way today with a field which included several of the 10 top 1960 money winners. The opening day event at the 8,000-acre 394 Salt Lake Country Club course was a 35,000 gross-making event. Play in the 72-hole open begins Friday.

Dow Finsterwald, who won the last PGA tournament in Utah in 1954, is one of the pre-empt favorites. He won that event with a 276. Predictions are that it will take a 298 to 300 to win this year. Bob Rosburg, who won the event last year with a 275, is back to defend his crown.

Free Course in Boat Piloting Offered This Fall

Classes to Be Held at Three Different Sites

Registrations Planned at Southfield High Next Week

A free course in piloting for boats will be held this fall under the sponsorship of the Detroit Water Squadron.

The classes will be held at Southfield High School, Highland Park High School and Eastland Center.

Registrations will be held next week on Monday at Eastland on Tuesday at Southfield High and on Wednesday at Highland Park, at 7:30 p.m. at each location.

Classes will start one week later at the same sites and will run for ten weeks. The course will cover such things as rules of the road, boat handling, equipment needed on boat chart reading, course plotting, navigation aids and use of compass and other objects.

On completion of the course and passing of a final examination a certificate is awarded by the Power Squadron. In addition, the Michigan Waterways Commission will issue a second certificate to those successfully completing the course.

Many states have instituted or are considering licensing pleasure boat operators similar to that of auto operators. Should Michigan join the list of states requiring licenses for boat operators, the Michigan Waterways Commission anticipates that holders of the certificates granted as result of these courses will not be required to take a test or training course.

There are 70,000 boats registered in the four country areas including Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair among the 600,000 registered in the state of Michigan.

The Detroit Power Squadron with over 1,000 members is one of 22 squadrons in the U.S. Last year nearly 500 people registered for the courses.

New boat owners and prospective boat owners along with old hands are invited to attend the classes. There are no restrictions as to registrants and no entrance requirements.

Tawas Races Start Today

TAWAS CITY (UPI) — Seventy-two boats yesterday competed in final qualifying races for entry in the International Lightning Sailing Championship Regatta. Championship races begin today, with two boats tomorrow and Friday and a final heat on Saturday. Host to the regatta is Tawas Bay Yacht club, smallest club ever to host the championship races.

SMALL STUFF — On Lake Gloria in the Pennsylvania hills, small sister acts as dockmaster. Only a mile long and 300 yards wide, the lake is active with all kinds of water sports.

Pleasure Boating Fun on Small Waters

LATROBE, Pa. (NEA) — How much water is needed for pleasure boating? The question is being answered throughout the country on waterways that would have been too small in the past.

Hard by Latrobe, in Pennsylvania's rolling hills, for example, small lakes will have launching ramps, parking areas for cars and trailers and speedy water skiers circling one section. Fishermen use another area. A beach for swimmers may edge the far side.

Craft now come trailing in from communities and farms that had never seen a runabout until a few years ago.

Small craft roll in over the hills by car-top, produce trailer and sometimes several at once in the back of a farm pickup truck. Some are sailboats as well, with masts removed for the trip.

Boating has to be more organized with only limited amounts of water. It apparently can be safer as well. The visiting boatman is instructed where he can go fast. Waters he must avoid completely to stay away from swimmers are pointed out.

A line of direction is set up.

usually counter-clockwise, for water skis and tow boats so that all travel in the same direction.

The safety rule that calls for three to water skis is enforced. The boat driver watches the water ahead and often has a wide-angle rear view mirror. An observer beside him faces aft and keeps constant check on the skier.

Once a skier falls, he immediately tips up one ski to indicate he is all right and to mark his position. The observer in the tow craft holds up one arm as well to show the boat is circling back for a pick-up.

Only a limited number of boats and skiers are allowed in action at one time, but the supervised skiing looked safer than some other large waterway activities we have seen where boat movements often shore resembled a waterborne traffic jam.

More fun per mile of water surface is not limited to any one section of the country. Artificial lakes are being built in the prairie and desert states.

California has water straight-aways to test speeds of specially developed racing craft. Ovals for up racing and water skiing are planned.

The boatman of mountain and plain has water sports.

Eddie Arcaro has won the Belmont Stakes six times. He first won it in 1919 with Whirlaway.

GARY CROSBY — The eldest son of singer Bing Crosby made it unanimous Tuesday and married a showgirl, Barbara Stuart, 27, in a civil ceremony at the Flamingo Hotel in Las Vegas. Town's Postmaster Has No Pay, Office

NESHAMINY, Pa. (AP)—This Bucks County village outside Philadelphia (pop. about 1,000) has a full-fledged post-office.

To John A. Schultz, the postmaster, it's funny—but no laughing matter.

Schultz, 30, now an employed sheetmetal worker, was appointed acting postmaster in 1958 at an annual salary of $4,500.

Last April the Post Office Department combined Neshaminy with Warrington Township — and abolished Schultz's job. At least it thought it did. Last Thursday the U.S. Senate confirmed Schultz as postmaster.

Messages of congratulations came from Pennsylvania's two senators, Democrat Joseph Clark and Republican Hugh Scott; also from the National League of Postmasters and the National Association of Postmasters.

But Schultz, with a wife and two young daughters to support, wasn't jumping with joy—not without a post office: "We have been living on peanuts since April and I'm up to my neck in debt," he said.

So why doesn't Schultz take another post office job, like a clerk or mail carrier?

He can't. Three times he's flunked the clerk-carrier test, but passed the postmaster exam. He is qualified only to be a postmaster.

PROGRESS REPORT ON THE GTW STRIKE

...YOU BE THE JUDGE

In our negotiations with the striking Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, we have offered to settle 21 of the 28 issues if the union would withdraw the remaining 7, which are these:

1. The union demands that, when a regularly assigned yard crew is used to perform certain types of work, such as assisting in rearing cars, moving wrecking equipment, spreading ballast, etc., the crew be paid extra. As an example, a yard crew is used to move cars, spreading ballast for four hours during its regular eight-hour assignment. The union demands that the crew receive 12 hours' pay for eight hours of work. If the crew should be used four hours and one minute, the union demands that it receive 16 hours' pay for eight hours of work. This would amount to paying double time to yardmen for performing their own type of work. In addition, the company would also have to pay the first three men on the extra board a full day's pay, although they perform no work at all.
 2. Pay to switchtenders would be increased on certain assignments without a change in duties. This would increase their wages from $20.17 per day to $22.06.
 3. Pay to yard foremen would be increased on certain assignments without change in duties. This would increase their wages from $23.36 per day to $25.31 per day.
 4. At intermediate points where switch engines are used, any switching necessary to marshal a train must be performed by switch engines and not by road engines. This would necessitate the employment of additional yard crews at points where they are not needed.
 5. The union demands that freight train crews not be required to hold onto any cars in making pick-ups at intermediate points where yard engines are employed. The results would be the same as in point 4.
 6. The union demands that if a freight train crew is held over one hour waiting for cars at any point during its run, they will receive extra pay for all time so held. For example, a crew normally uses five hours to run from Chicago to Battle Creek, a distance of 169 miles, for which they receive the equivalent of 13 hours and 30 minutes' pay. If required to wait one hour and 30 minutes at an intermediate point, they would be paid for 15 hours, even though they actually worked only six hours and 30 minutes.
 7. The union demands that the railroad be required to operate certain scheduled freight trains or, alternatively, pay the crews for not working, even though there is no traffic to handle.

The railroad was willing to submit the 28 issues to arbitration or to a one-man fact finding panel, as suggested by the National Mediation Board, but the union refused.

We believe you will agree that these seven include "feather-bedding" work rules, the cost of which would eventually be passed on to you, the consumer.

We regret that the action of the striking union has thrown thousands of people out of work in our own company and the industries we serve and has forced the interruption of our service to the shipping and traveling public.

Vice President & General Manager

But Romney Says They'll Be Supreme

GM Slow on Compact Predictions

BY BEN PELEGAR
DETROIT. — General Motors apparently still is not ready to support George Romney's theory on the eventual supremacy of the compact car.

Romney, who has rambled to success as president of American Motors, maintains smaller cars could account for 30 per cent of all new automobiles sold in this country next year.

But at GM, where four times as many smaller cars will be built in 1961, at least the divisional general managers disagree with Romney.

Ed Cole, who sold about 250,000 of his 1960 model Corvairs, says 50 per cent is far too high. He's betting it will be closer to 35 per cent.

Jack Wolfman of Oldsmobile, who showed off his F85 last week, refuses to pick a figure, either for the industry or his own small entry.

However, both Cole and Wolfman emphasize they are looking only for "plus" business with their small cars. "Anytime you start hitting 20 per cent of total sales with small cars you are limiting the sales chances of your bigger cars," Cole says.

The Corvair ran about 13 per cent of Chevrolet sales the past year.

Wolfman says he doesn't want to tip his hand yet on how the F85 will be promoted in relation to the standard size Olds. "That's something I think our competitors would like to know," he declared last week.

But the musical spectacular which olds is spending around the country to fire up dealer enthusiasm puts strong emphasis on the regular line with the F85 as a "runner up" for the role of a "running mate."

TO BE RIVALS

The additional GM small cars, including the Pontiac Tempest and Buick Special, are bound to create additional rivalries between the General Motors divisions.

In the past few years Chevrolet has been in direct competition with the lowest priced Pontiacs and hasn't been far off the Buick and Oldsmobile.

The BOP smaller cars will be priced smack in the middle of the Chevy line.

While Chevrolet and Olds are concentrating on "plus" business, with the implication that the smaller cars might be sold down if they start pushing too hard against standard size sales, other companies continue to put more emphasis on their compacts.

Ford's Falcon and Comet sold like wildfire this year, with every indication of higher sales goals next year. Valiant saved the day for the Plymouth Division at Chrysler. Dodge dealers, who sold the standard size Dart with spectacular success this year, have added the Lancer in the compact field.

With a completely restyled Rambler-American and a larger Lark in the field, the compact race could prove more intense than any other.

Brightness Hidden Under Baskets of Publicity

Brains Are Stars' Secret Qualities

By VERN SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "You bright are movie stars?"

Glamor folk have never won Oscars on an IQ basis and few hold college degrees.

But almost all of them are smart enough to have an education, and many have highly stimulating minds.

Among those who prove the intellectual forests are such old hands (and in some cases improbably stars as Marlon Brando, Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas, Jerry Lewis and Charlton Heston).

Most stars, talking for publicity, shy away from discussing anything but their personal lives. Many have nothing else to talk about in the first place.

But take Heston, for example. Despite excellent progress in film, he frequently is called upon to speak on religion, and his remarks are taken from well-marked research books on the subject.

Jerry Allen pokes buttons, flicks switches and broadcasts directly from his home to an FM station he owns in the San Fernando Valley.

Both men are well informed on everything from politics to classical music and literature, though they seldom discuss their erudite outside their circle of close friends.

They are just a sampling of performers who can hold their own in mental gymnastics. Jack Lemmon (a Harvard graduate) is a highly intelligent actor, as are Glenn Ford, Robert Ryan, Debbie Reynolds, Loretta Young, William Holden and Yul Brynner.

Sales Push Rough on Men

Wife Nags Husband for Bonus

BY PHYLIS BATTLE
NEW YORK Thousands of American husbands are being prodded into doing more and more work—by a friendly, clever form of big business bribery.

Luxurious, costly prizes are being offered for the most prodigious effort.

But do the men who make these prodigious efforts get the costly prizes? Not so much. That would be too logical. Their wives get the booty, of course.

The scheme (which might be called "the incentive incentive plan") works like this. Wives of thousands of men employed by certain large corporations receive catalogs full of bonus gift ideas which the corporations are eager to handle upon little women who care them.

Mrs. U.S. Suburban sees pictures of such housewifely conveniences and luxuries as silver tea services, clock radios, mink coats, and other things.

Each lovely enticement she reads exactly how successful her husband must be in order that SHE may win each prize.

The corporation, thus, is openly appealing to the greed presumed to exist in the acquisitive soul of every woman. It is saying, with little subtlety,

"Now, if you'll just push your husband a bit more, if you'll nag a bit offener, he will make his quota and you'll have a nice prize to show for your thoughtfulness. If he doesn't—tough."

In other words, a man's energies are being harnessed. Like trading stamps.

I am told this practice is not new, but I have just caught up with it and find the idea outrageous. It serves the purpose of promoting the already overemphasized desire for material wealth and status in families; it pits wife against husband in a subconscious, the concubine, drive for phony values; it assumes—and this is truly revolting—that a woman could and should dictate the work load of her breadwinning man.

It has been the "respected practice" for years of some corporations to interview wives of potential key executives and salesmen before hiring the men.

It always assumed this was merely a company precaution—to make certain Mrs. Executive was not dim-witted, alcoholic or neurotic enough to unsettle her husband and mar his efficiency.

(A Monaca Chemical Co. vice president has been quoted on this subject as saying, "The hand that rocks the cradle can also rock the boat.")

But now, it would appear that companies are looking for more (or less) than plainly recent, nice wives.

They appear, judging by their catalogue technique, to want their employees' wives aggressive, ambitious and capable of putting up a strong nag—for the wage.

do. They would rather throw out the catalogues than push their husbands, for their own personal gains.

At last we know of one such woman—a dinner guest who informed us of her experience.

"I never received the 'bribe book,'" she said, "because (her husband) is not in sales, and they go mostly to wives of executive in sales. But last week had to go out of town for a long business session. Wives weren't permitted. This happens frequently, and naturally it doesn't make one ecstatic."

So the day before he came home, a little package arrived addressed to me. It was a bottle of French perfume, with a note thanking me for understanding. Understanding, my foot. Why didn't they send me a good book instead, and thank me for tolerance.

We agreed that wives who receive corporation catalogues should close their eyes to the lures therein—and urge their husbands to exert themselves to have their names canceled from the mailing list of the good-for-prizes plan.

General Funds OK for Sewers

Can Also Be Used to Extend Water Lines, Adams Rules

LANSING, (UPI) — Townships in Michigan may allocate unpledged revenues in general or "contingent" funds to improvement funds and spend the moneys for extensions of sewer and water lines, the Attorney General said Wednesday.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams issued the ruling on the use of township moneys in response to a request from Prosecuting Attorney Edward A. Quinnell, Marquette.

Quinnell asked whether a township may finance the construction of extensions to sewer and water lines in the township from general funds.

Adams said the township may do so as long as the extensions are not earmarked or pledged for some other purpose.

Quinnell also asked if a township may levy and collect ad valorem taxes to pay for extensions to its sewer and water lines. The attorney general ruled the limitation and expanded ad valorem tax moneys for such purposes.

Colorado License Papers to Have Colored Photos

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A touch of color is going to be added to the drivers' licenses issued in Colorado.

Color photographs will adorn the licenses, just as soon as equipment can be installed, says William Cassell, chief of the State Motor Vehicle Division.

The colored pictures cost a penny more per license, he explained, but will be used because they can't be forged like black and white pictures can.

Copters Fight Fire in Yosemite Corner

Yosemite National Park, Calif. — Huge, banana-shaped helicopters from the Army went into action today transporting 100 fire fighters to a stubborn 800-acre blaze in the rugged northwest corner of this tourist mecca.

"But it's a tough job," emphasized ranger John Straten who Wednesday flew over the fire, three miles northeast of San Francisco's Hetch Hetchy Reservoir near Mount Gibson. "All up and down," he said.

He said it presented no danger to the reservoir or to any settled area and expressed cautious optimism that if the weather holds the 500 fire fighters will have it contained shortly.

Bar Proposes New Courts

Would Handle State's Tax Matters, Take Up
Criminal Appeals

LANSING (U)—Creation of state courts to deal with tax matters and criminal appeals will be recommended for endorsement by the state bar of Michigan at its annual convention.

The new courts were proposed by study committees of attorneys which will lay their recommendations before the full bar when it assembles Sept. 28-30 in Grand Rapids.

The criminal court would handle appeals from circuit court decisions, reducing the burden on the State Supreme Court.

The committee on criminal jurisprudence, which made the recommendation, called for provision for at least seven judges, allowing for adequate hearings on both life imprisonment and other appeals. It would be empowered to reduce minimum sentences.

ASKS A PSYCHIATRIST

The committee also called for legislation to require three psychiatrists to examine a person charged with murder who pleads insanity as a defense.

The prosecuting attorney would notify the State Mental Health Commission of the plea and the commission would appoint the psychiatrist.

Another proposed law would allow the judge in whose court the murder trial took place to require a hearing before the defendant is sent to a mental institution to determine whether he may safely be returned to society.

The taxation committee urged formation of a tax court "at the earliest practicable date and not to await a general overhaul of the Michigan tax structure."

It would hear appeals on all tax decisions in lower courts.

The legislature previously has rejected bills to create both types of courts.

OTHER PROPOSALS

Other bar study committees proposed:

1. A law to require that all probate judges be attorneys.
2. Better coordination of courts in Wayne County, including appointment of a court administrator to supervise and help enforce rules of conduct.
3. Appointment of more personnel for probation and parole activities in the State Corrections Department.
4. Closer supervision of inferior courts by circuit courts.

Michigan Travel Winners to Visit Pontiac Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel will visit Pontiac Tuesday as part of a 10-day tour sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan. The couple, Glen and Beverly Wilm of Detroit, will make the 23-city tour as the result of winning an Auto Club letter-writing contest.

During their visit, the couple will be inviting all residents to the National Automobile Show to be held in Detroit Oct. 15-23. The show, which will open Detroit's new $4-million Cobo Hall to the public, is expected to be Michigan's top tourist attraction of the year.

Mr. Michigan Travel is a native of London, England, who has adopted Michigan as his home. A commercial photographer-art, he wrote the winning letter.

Mrs. Michigan Travel is a fashion stylist for a firm that owes much of its livelihood to the auto industry. She and her husband won the contest in competition with more than 1,000 couples from all over the state.

It's Farewell to Rome—With Many Memories

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

ROME — And so the track and field version of Rome's Olympic Games closed with two amazing relay victories, one of which we lost by disqualification.

With the lower lights dispelling the shadows of a Roman night, our girls' relay team whipped the world with Wilma (Skeeter) Rudolph flashing past the stands with another burst of power and flash-less form to win another gold medal.

Earlier, our great quarter miler had broken all existing records and we were finishing in a burst of glory.

But Norton failed to exchange the baton properly and we were disqualified in the closing event.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

"And in conclusion" here are some things I'll always remember.

I'll always remember that Wilma Rudolph has been the people's choice in the track and field Olympics.

This long, slim-legged Negro girl is the greatest feminine sprinter of all time and the crowd went for her spontaneously.

A consensus of track men indicates her 11-second 100 meters was the standout feat of the games.

Then I'll always remember Hoff Gutcher, Swiss citizen who drove for me. He spoke Swiss, French, Italian and English and was a very skillful man at the wheel and a delightful companion.

I'll always remember that lovely little 14-year-old Caroline Wood crying as though her young heart would break, utterly inconceivable when a back slap went down the wrong way and forced her out when she was a bold and challenging second in the breast stroke.

I'll always remember second guessing every coach with Frank and Ryan, Yale track coach who sat next to me.

SHOULD'VE LISTENED

If all the athletes had listened to us, the United States would never have finished worse than first, second and third.

Vaguely, I'll remember Grace Kelly in those big, floppy hats about 75 feet away.

And Elizabeth Taylor was high in the stands behind us, and Big Crosby was in our general section.

Ingrid Bergman and Kelly stayed at my hotel but I never saw them there.

And I'll always remember how that Russian track coach said they expected to beat Thomas in the high jump and that he had five men who could jump seven feet.

"When Thomas said my two men were the only ones he was turned on the heel," he said.

Rowston Backs Appeal to Ike for Rail Strike Intervention

Mayor Philip E. Rowston today had sent telegrams last night to E. C. Thompson, executive secretary of the board, asking for "assistance" in the negotiations.

Neither side asked for arbitration, however.

Union and company officials disagreed somewhat on the status of the 21 issues they said were the source of the dispute.

A company spokesman said there was agreement on 21 points.

The talks had broken off last night after the company refused to accept a proposal from the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen to submit some of the disputed issues to arbitration.

Mayor Louis C. Miriani of Detroit, speaking in behalf of Rowston, yesterday sent a telegram to the President, asking him to move under the Railroad Labor Act.

Rowston backed the appeal, saying he favored "any measure that will expedite settlement for the sake of Pontiac and other communities that face economic hardships in the face of the prolonged strike."

Miriani asked Eisenhower to intervene "to effect immediate resumption of railroad service."

He called for assignment of federal representatives "to use their authority, experience and know-how to end this strike."

The dispute, Miriani said, "Not only threatens but has already substantially interrupted commerce to a degree such as to deprive Michigan of essential transportation service."

Rowston called for arbitration as "the only means" to settle the complex dispute.

"Both sides should take all steps leading to arbitration," he recommended.

Leverett Edwards, a member of the National Mediation Board, arrived in Detroit shortly before the 10 a.m. negotiating session was to get under way, said Thomas W. Fletcher, general chairman of the Union.

Miami Under Donna's Guns

Florida Coast Keeps Weather Eye on Storm

Warnings Extended to Fort Lauderdale and Southern Gulf Tip

MARATHON, Fla. (UPI) — Hurricane Donna and its 150-mile-an-hour winds shifted slightly northward today bringing the whole southern tip of Florida, including the populous Miami area, in range of its deadly winds and high tides.

In an emergency warning late this morning, the Miami Weather Bureau extended its hurricane warnings north of the Florida keys to Fort Lauderdale on the Atlantic Coast and Punta Gorda on the Gulf.

Gale warnings were extended on the Gulf Coast northward from Punta Gorda at St. Marks, including Lake Okechobee in the interior. They already flew over the East Coast northward to the Vero Beach.

The Florida Keys had been expected to get the brunt of the big storm with only gale winds of 50-60 m.p.h. for Miami.

Northern Cuba felt the fury of the vicious storm today as it swirled through into the Florida straits and bore down on the Keys. Residents of the island chain worked throughout the night boarding up homes, stores, fishing camps and tourist facilities.

The sudden shift in direction apparently caught weather forecasters by surprise and an emergency warning was issued.

STRONG LANGUAGE

In the strongest language it warned: "A dangerous hurricane now threatens the west coast of Florida."

One-Day State Swing Set Sept. 24

Rocky Will Visit Pontiac

Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York will visit Pontiac on Saturday, Sept. 24, as part of a one-day swing through Michigan, it was learned today.

Details of the Rockefeller visit were not immediately available.

The county GOP organization learned this morning that Rockefeller would be available to them.

Rockefeller is expected to come to Oakland County after an appearance in Lansing.

GOP County Chairman Arthur G. Elliott Jr. said the 52-year-old governor would tour the county via motorcade and possibly make an address in Pontiac.

Rockefeller is expected to be in the county for some three hours.

Following his visit here, Rockefeller will put in an appearance at the dedication of a new civic center in Lansing.

Later he will make a major speech at an open rally in Detroit's Cobo Hall, it was learned.

His visit to Michigan will follow closely on the heels of the man whom he almost defeated for the GOP presidential nomination—Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Nixon will spend Tuesday, Sept. 20 campaigning in Michigan, but will not come to Pontiac. The GOP campaign headquarters are in Mount Clemens, Flint and Bay City.

Elliott said he was hopeful that Nixon would carry his campaign into Oakland County during a later stage of the race.

The New York governor who agitated many GOP politicians with his off-again, on-again, off-again bid for the presidency, has become one of the big guns among the GOP campaign forces for the Lodge-Nixon ticket.

Over the Labor Day weekend, he said at the side of vice presidential candidate Henry Cabot Lodge as he carried the GOP gospel through New York State.

Although he's been in public service most of his life, serving under both parties, Rockefeller did not hit the public's eye until 1959 when he was elected governor—his first bid for elective office.

He won handsomely over another multi-millionaire, the incumbent W. Averell Harriman, largely on the basis of personal popularity in the state.

State Leaders to Huddle Over Special Session

Final Draft of Medical Care for Aged Bill Due This Weekend

LANSING (AP)—Legislative leaders of both parties will sit down with Gov. Williams Tuesday to talk over details of a special session to bring Michigan under the new federal program for medical care for the aged.

Final draft of a bill to put the plan into effect in Michigan will be completed this weekend, the governor said. Last week, he assigned State Welfare Director W. J. Maxey and Prof. Wilbur J. Cohan of the University of Michigan to reduce the complex subject matter to legislative language.

No date has been set for the special session, but it will be convened at least a week before Oct. 1, effective date of the medical care bill, the governor said.

The first phase of the bill would increase medical coverage for those among $1,000 a year pension recipients who incur hospital, nursing home, doctor or pharmacy bills payable by a government agency.

The program also would reach up to 60,000 of Michigan's "medically needy" of the estimated 540,000 men and women over 65 who do not receive old age assistance.

Cost for the last nine months of fiscal 1960-61 would be about $7,300,000 in state funds and $9,750,000 in federal matching money.

Legislators invited to Tuesday's meeting are House Speaker Don R. Pearls, R-Buchanan, and Reps. Alvin Green, R-Kington, Arnell Engstrom, R-Traverse City, Albert R. Horrigan, D-Flint, J. John Lesko, D-Detroit, and Joseph O'Connor, D-Detroit, and Sens. Frank Beidle, R-St. Clair, Elmer Porter, R-Blairstown, Harold Ryan, D-Detroit, and Garland Wane, D-Flint.

DONNA'S COMIN' — Miami residents, veterans of other hurricanes, cleared out stores in a rush to stock up for Donna. Others have bought emergency supplies of kerosene, whisky and can-openers. Warnings have been posted all along the Florida coast as the storm nears. It whirled past Cuba earlier, just brushing the coast line.

Reds Off to Mexico, but Without Nikita

LONDON (AP)—Moscow reported the departure of a Soviet government delegation for Mexico to attend the 15th anniversary celebration of Mexican independence Sept. 16.

Premier Nikita Khrushchev, who had been rumored planning to attend the celebration despite Mexican warnings he would not be welcome, was not listed in the Soviet delegation.

Declares Dividend

DETROIT (AP)—Borman Food Stores, Inc., has declared a quarterly dividend of 15 cents a share, payable Oct. 10 to stockholders of record Sept. 18. The firm operates 56 supermarkets in Southeastern Michigan.

Invite Voters to Meet Candidates

The Bloomfield Republican Club will hold a "meet-your-candidate" meeting at 8 p.m. next Thursday at the Bloomfield Hills Junior High School.

GOP candidates scheduled to appear are U. S. Rep. William S. Brownfield, R-Oakland, who is seeking re-election; Fawcett E. Roberts, candidate for state senate; Henry M. Hagan Jr., running for state representative from the 2nd district; and all candidates for county offices.

"This is the first in a series of programs to give voters in the area an opportunity to better understand issues in the November election, and to let people meet candidates in person," said flower Case, president of the club.

Gordon T. Getzinger, Bloomfield Township trustee and a member of the board of directors of the Republican State Central Committee, will be master of ceremonies.

Animal Slaughtering Low for State in July

LANSING (AP)—Meat packing plants in Michigan slaughtered fewer animals in July than in June or in the same period last year, the State Cooperative Crop Reporting Service said today.

Decreases in all species ranged from 3 to 13 per cent. There were slight increases in the number of cattle, hogs, sheep and lambs for the first seven months of this year, and slight decrease in calves.

Warning of diabetic symptoms when it found during pregnancy.

Nextek Replaced at Avondale

Former Band Director Takes Job in Canton, Ohio

By DAN FERMOYLE

An end has come to the controversy over the resignation of John Nextek as band director of the Avondale School System.

Nextek, who claimed that his resignation was forced upon him by the Avondale Board of Education, has entered private business in Canton, Ohio.

When schools opened this week, William J. Campbell, a graduate of Baldwin Wallace College, was the new band director at Avondale High School.

Nextek told the Pontiac Press July 15 that his decision to quit was "directed by the Board." He later said he was considering legal action in order to get his job back.

Nextek tendered his resignation last March, but later asked permission to withdraw it. The Board unanimously accepted his resignation and refused to withdraw it.

On June 30, more than 250 citizens in the school district signed a petition, requesting the Board to remove the former band director's contract.

School Supt. LeRoy R. Watt and Board President R. Grant Graham both said later that Nextek's resignation would not be withdrawn because he hadn't attended three private executive meetings held for his benefit.

Nextek attended a fourth executive session.

He said most of the discussion at the meeting centered around a traffic accident in which he was involved. He charged that the Board "had no factual reasons to fire me."

However, Watt denied that Nextek was forced to sign the resignation.

Campbell has been hired as senior high school music instructor. He was high school orchestra leader in Niles, a band director in a Chicago high school and a former member of the U.S. Military Academy Band at West Point.

U.S. 10 Work Under Contract

$444,969 Project on South-Oakland Part of Highway Set

A $444,969 contract for surface and traffic betterment work on U.S. 10 in Oakland County has been awarded by the State Highway Department.

The Cooke Contracting Co. of Detroit will surface 3.4 miles on U.S. 10 in the southern part of the county.

It also will start traffic betterment projects at 11 locations on the highway in Birmingham, Royal Oak, Pleasant Ridge, Huntington Woods and Berkley.

The Kutchins Co. of Lansing will surface eight-tenths of a mile on M58 south of M50 at the western edge of Pontiac.

This project, which will be finished June 30 at a cost of $53,132, also includes a betterment job at intersection of 10th and Telegraph Road (M24).

The Kutchins Co. also has been awarded a $218,874 contract for roadway improvements on U.S. 24 at Nine Mile Road in Macomb County and on U.S. 10 and Square Lake Road and on M 94, he ordered, both in Oakland County.

A $248,184 contract for 3.7 miles of surfacing on Telegraph Road in Southfield and Bingham Farms at 12-Mile, 13-Mile and West Long Lake Roads was awarded to Wm. R. Frisinger of Ann Arbor.

The work will be completed July 1.

BOYS' DORMITORY — The opening of North Central Christian College in Avon Township has been postponed one week to allow for completion of the boys' dormitory. The one-week delay will give workmen time to finish the building, so it will be ready for occupancy by 32 boarding boys on Sept. 15. The $30,000 structure at the east end of the campus has 16 bedroom units, lounge, two baths and a utility room. The building contractor, who began work on the project late in July, is Don E. McDonald of Waterford.

Former Joan Whitstock Married in Lake Orion

OXFORD — The rectory of St. Joseph Catholic Church, Lake Orion, was the setting for the recent wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald S. Rossman who are now honeymooning in Northern Michigan.

Officiating at the Sunday afternoon ceremony was the Rev. R. Vincent Myrick.

The bride, the former Joan Whitstock, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Whitstock of 18 Hudson Ave. A reception was held at the Whitstock residence following the ceremony.

For her wedding the bride chose a ballerina-length gown of white silk organza over tulle with a shimmering scoop neckline. A train of satin ribbon bows and seed pearls trimmed the short sleeves and bouffant skirt.

The shoulder-length veil of silk illusion edged with lace was held in place by a small cap of silk organza. The bride's colonial bouquet was made up of baby chrysanthemums and white roses.

Jane Rossman, the bridegroom's sister, was maid of honor. Geraldine Whitstock served her sister as bridesmaid.

Among the bridegroom were of meetings at the home of Mrs. Nelson McRoberts, 326 Huntley, Clawson, according to Mrs. Verne Davidson of 726 Robinson St.

350 Dems at Rally for Swainson Pull Cracks at Bentley Spending

By The Associated Press

LA. Gov. John B. Swainson made his official debut Thursday night as the Democratic gubernatorial candidate. It was a punch and pep talk session at his home town of Plymouth.

About 350 attended. Swainson shared the political limelight with Gov. Williams, Sen. Philip A. Hart and Neil Staebler, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Williams arrived more than two hours late but didn't take long to warm up. He spoke longer than any of the others.

He said Swainson's program goes beyond any state has had in the past and predicted that the candidate would do an outstanding job as governor.

Williams also warned that the Republicans are pretty hungry to capture the state of Michigan and said the GOP would pour a lot of money into the campaign.

Swainson also was late. He and John Lesinski, the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, were delayed taping a TV show to be shown throughout the state to day.

The show, telecast on an eight-station TV hookup, features Williams, Swainson, Lesinski and the incumbent state administrative board members.

Swainson will discuss issues in the Nov. 8 general election.

Williams' TV appearance tonight will touch off a heavy weekend of campaigning in New York and New Jersey for Presidential Nominee John F. Kennedy and other Democrats.

The governor's Lansing office said Williams also planned to make appearances at several picnics, conferences with national groups, dinners, party meetings and rallies.

Staebler, Michigan's Democratic Party leader, will also hit the campaign trail. He is scheduled to speak at a Democratic Midwest conference at Oklahoma City Sept. 16.

Representatives of 14 states, including Lyndon B. Johnson, the Democratic vice presidential nominee from Texas, will attend the three-day conference on issues and instructions in campaign techniques.

SLAPS AT BENTLEY

Staebler criticized what he called the lavish spending in the primary campaign of Rep. Alvin M. Bentley, Owosso Republican, for the U.S. Senate.

Bentley, a multi-millionaire, reported he used $100,000 of his own money in his successful race against Donald S. Leonard, a former state police commissioner.

Another $35,184 was spent by the Bentley-for-Senate committee headed by Norman Des Jardins, Owosso attorney.

Policeman Sees Nary an Obstacle —He's So Wrong

NEW YORK (AP) — A traffic cop looking for a telephone to report a potential accident hazard, walked through a ceiling-to-floor plate glass panel Thursday in a midtown office building.

Sgt. John McCabe, 57, suffered lacerations about the body and head and was hospitalized.

The 10-by-5-foot glass partition was in the lobby of the International Business Machine Building. McCabe said he saw two men working at a computer and went toward them to ask about a phone.

Another officer reported to headquarters on a street excavation about which McCabe was concerned.

A drug made of citric acid and calcium carbimide has been used effectively in the treatment of chronic alcoholism.

Staebler called Bentley's expenditures outrageous and said that the congressman was "dipping into his huge personal fortune in an attempt to buy" a Senate seat.

Bentley said his aides had handled his expenses and that he had not kept close track. He said, however, he had been assured they were legal.

Flings in Detroit disclosed spending by Democrats James M. Hare and Swainson, winner over Hare and Detroit Councilman Ed Connor in a three-way contest for the governor nomination.

Hare listed expenses at $86,862 and Swainson at $78,636. Connor has not filed his statement. Hare and Swainson said the bulk of their funds were donated.

Why Not Let Farmers Display Their Harvest?

For the past two years, farmers from the area have displayed and sold their produce in the downtown area during a special day in the fall harvest season.

The program was designed to acquaint the city residents with the strong agricultural nature of much of Oakland County, and it does. Many city residents enjoyed seeing the produce downtown, and it made the harvest season much more realistic.

This year it was decided to combine the farm produce displays with a fall sales campaign by downtown merchants, primarily because previous farm days had been held too late in the fall, after much of the harvest was over.

After two years of these colorful displays and sales, a protest has been raised by the Oakland County Retail Food Dealers Association. They raise the point that city ordinances call for securing of foodstuffs, and the sellers of such produce must be licensed by the city.

With pardons for the pun, we think this is "sour grapes." The downtown stalls of the farmers, of course, cut into sales of vegetables and fruit in local stores during that period. But in the long run, such displays should lead to larger and more frequent purchases by city residents, in the city stores.

You can be sure the farmers are not going to let anyone of their number operate with unsanitary conditions. The downtown produce will be sold the same way that similar products are sold at the Oakland County Farmers' Market on Pontiac Lake Road in Waterford Township, and there haven't been any howls about that one.

Mayor Philip E. Rowston favored bending the regulations to permit this event to continue, and we agree.

Young Men Overlook Need for Polio Shots

The polio count for Oakland County so far this year is three, well below the figure of 18 for the same time last year. But those three cases point up a problem.

All three are young men, with ages ranging from 24 to 29. And all three had not received any polio shots.

Parents have long known the value of the shots for their children, and expectant mothers. Doctors have urged that entire families get the protection that these shots avail, and the incidence figures show that the disease has been almost wiped out.

But for young men, often single and without the guidance of parents, spouses, or regular family doctors, polio shots are often overlooked, with tragic results.

Yorkshire Paper Asks for Action on Congo

Feelings in England run close to our already stated position on the Congo.

The Yorkshire Post, a conservative paper, speaks of the Congo situation as becoming more confused and explosive every day. But, says the paper, one thing is certain already: Events in the Congo during the past few days have amply justified President Kasavubu's call for United Nations control of the country.

There can be no doubt either that this step would have the support of the independent African states who are sharply alive to the danger that the Congo could become a second Korea.

The paper declares: "It is noteworthy that the recent strength they can to Mr. Tolomeo of Kintanga and to Mr. Kalonji who is striving to win independence for the mining state in Kasai Province."

"Today the challenge is insistent for the United Nations to take full charge and complete the work if this begins, for events seem to be shaping toward a full-scale civil war with the Communist power supporting Mr. Lumumba and the Belgians lending what strength they can to Mr. Tolomeo of Kintanga and to Mr. Kalonji who is striving to win independence for the mining state in Kasai Province."

"Either the United Nations must take charge of the situation, restore order, and promote an atmosphere in which the future of its own country can be peacefully discussed, or the position of its own forces will become untenable and the Congo will slide rapidly to disaster."

The Man About Town

Football Contest Annual Event Now Under Way With $300 as Prize

Football: A disease that becomes epidemic at this season.

The Man About Town football contest for 1960 is announced today. The prize of $300 in U.S. savings bonds goes to the person who comes the nearest to predicting the winners in the 14 games listed below.

There is no entry charge, and every member of your family is eligible to compete, but each entry must be on a separate piece of paper, but all can be sent in one envelope.

Only one entry is allowed for each person, and employees of The Pontiac Press and members of their immediate families are not eligible. Here is a list of the games:

- Sept. 24—Ansburn vs. Tennessee.
- Oct. 1—Michigan State vs. Michigan.
- Oct. 8—Stanford vs. Washington.
- Oct. 14—Pontiac Northern vs. Waterford.
- Oct. 15—Texas A & M vs. Texas Christian.
- Oct. 22—Colorado vs. Nebraska.
- Oct. 29—LSU vs. Mississippi.
- Oct. 30—St. Michael vs. St. Frederick.
- Nov. 6—Lions vs. San Francisco.
- Nov. 12—Iowa vs. Ohio State.
- Nov. 18—Pontiac Central vs. Pontiac Northern.
- Nov. 19—Harvard vs. Yale.
- Nov. 26—Army vs. Navy.
- Dec. 4—Chicago Bears vs. Green Bay Packers.

You can clip out the above list, and check the team which you think will win. If you forecast a tie, do not check either team. Write your name and address plainly on the margin.

You can write out the list for other members of your family. Be sure a name and address is attached to each entry.

All entries must be received in The Pontiac Press office by Friday noon, Sept. 23.

This is an elimination contest. You are in the running only as long as you predict correctly. Better check over the list at once, and make your entry before you forget it.

Past contests have proved that the so-called "experts" are wrong as often as they are right. So your chance to win the prize is as good as that of anybody else.

In a large majority of the years the prize has gone to somebody who made no claims at being an expert.

Anyway, you cannot imagine an easier way to put yourself in line to secure $300 in the best investment in the whole wide world.

David Lawrence Says:

U.S. Lacks Good Security Checks

WASHINGTON—Congressional investigating committees may be slow to uncover in detail the security checks in the government.

The government's security check system, but it is already clear what the real trouble is. The traitorous behavior of Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, Mitchell and Martin, employees of the National Security Agency who defected to the Soviet Union, might have been discovered in advance if there had been a system of responsibility for detecting security aberrations after an employee is hired.

The general public, for instance, thinks that the Federal Bureau of Investigation is the agency which has responsibility to do with national security. The truth is the FBI a few years ago found the burden was too great, and said it would prefer that the executive departments do their own checking of applicants in the first instance, so as to enable the FBI to concentrate on actual violations of internal security.

So today the Civil Service Commission does most of the checking of applicants for all departments except the Defense Department and the Central Intelligence Agency. With the many thousands of applicants to be investigated every year, the task of checking is stupendous. The real difficulty is that, once the employees are hired, there is no comprehensive system of surveillance.

It costs too much in time and money to do such a job with all government employees. So the only logical thing now is to arrange for some machinery to carry on a checking operation in particular cases after employees in certain sensitive agencies are hired.

Thus, for instance, one of the top defectors in the National Security Agency had had a record of at least three court-martials in the U.S. Navy. There was a report in the files on it by the Office of Naval Intelligence.

Why wasn't this a signal for a more intensive investigation later on by the security office of the national security agency?

DANGER SIGNAL

There was a record, too, of a statement by a psychiatrist who told National Security Agency investigators that one of the young men had "deep-seated homosexual tendencies." The information came after he had been hired.

This should have been a danger signal, since it is known that Soviet agents mingle frequently with all homosexual groups that gather in particular restaurants and night clubs in this country.

The purpose is to find out just where any of them are employed, in the hope of developing contacts valuable for espionage purposes. This is an old technique and well known all over the world in intelligence circles.

I may have been, of course, that whoever had the responsibility for hiring the two former sailors was so impressed by their mathematical abilities that all derogatory reports were regarded as of secondary importance.

But now some valuable code-breaking devices of the American government have been handed over to the Soviets by Messrs. Mitchell and Martin.

This should teach a lesson for the future, and it is a sad fact that what the congressional committees uncover in their closed-door sessions with the representatives of some of the important agencies of the government will be very useful breather in preventing similar episodes.

It is important, too, that various laws dealing with the problems of internal security and passports be strengthened.

Senator William F. Knowland, the so-called "liberals" already to begin warning that there must not be "any revival of McCarthyism," is more important that those who have been using the "McCarthyism" smokescreen to block needed legislation on security matters give way and let the necessary laws be passed.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Learns to Alleviate Pain From Turned-In Eyelash

A Florida reader says her lower lid eyelashes are turned in, causing much pain, irritation of the eye, congestion, photophobia (sensitivity to bright light), and lacrimation (excessive flow of tears).

She consulted an oculist and had her check covered with allusive plaster or scotch tape for weeks, but the lid down and kept the lashes from touching the eyeball. This didn't work very well.

Then the doctor said she must have an operation on the lid, to evert the lashes. This was done most efficiently, but with much pain and expense. It cured the trouble for nearly two years.

About a year ago the lashes began to turn in again, and she had another operation. The doctor wanted to operate a third time, but she had lost faith and decided to try her own cure.

She fills an eye-cup with as much borax and as much dissolve in water, dips a styptic applicator (absorbent cotton wrapped around the tip of a toothpick) in the solution and strikes and coaxes the eyelashes into their proper position.

At first she did this several times daily, but now just night and morning. It has been successful, although she expects she'll have to continue doing it the rest of her life. But it takes only a few seconds and is better than going through another operation which might not prove satisfactory.

Her oculist is delighted and she believes he will recommend it to future patients who have such trouble.

Inversion of a few eyelashes is called trichiasis. Rolling in of the eyelid so that all the lashes rub against the cornea (white of eye) is called entropion.

We'd like to hear from other readers who have had one or another type of operation for trichiasis or entropion.

"She keeps a scrapbook of all your articles and uses many of your bulletins in her PTA work. Dr. Crane is president of it."

"But she doesn't apply good psychology on me at all. Early in our marriage, we lived almost literally from hand to mouth. And both of us were reared on farms where we were quite poor."

'Kennedy, Reuther Criticize Better Than Khrushchev'

After listening to and reading Senator Kennedy's and Walter Reuther's Labor Day speeches, I can arrive at only one conclusion. They both did a better job of criticizing our government and our officials from the President on down, than Nikita Khrushchev could.

At the same time they put Mr. K on a throne and crowned him with praise as to the wonderful job he is doing running the Russian government.

I would say there is not much doubt but that Sen. Kennedy, if he had been in the place at the summit meeting, would have gotten down on his knees and apologized to Mr. K. After all their criticism only one thing seems clear. They would go on a spending spree spending more than they would take in, going deeper and deeper in debt instead of paying some on the national debt. Anyone can criticize and make debts for someone else to pay.

One of the Payers

Mr., Mrs. U.S. Taxpayer: Have You Eyed Platforms?

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U.S. taxpayer is fumbling a good chance to ask a good question in this presidential campaign. Two good questions:

The questions are these: How much would it cost to make good on the new spending proposals in the Republican platform? In the Democratic platform?

These questions would lead directly to another: Would the spending proposals in either platform require increased taxes?

Out of that question would come still another in which the answer already is well known: Would the tax payers be asked to pay more to be increased, who would be stuck with the added burden?

Who would be stuck? The title-jugglers of course. Stashed away for a better word than stuck is the Republican word and taxes.

The U.S. little fellow or Common Man is the party because there are so many of him.

TO GARNER $41 MILLION

The U.S. Treasury expects to collect about $41 billion in individual income taxes in the current fiscal year.

Most of this huge sum will be plucked from the numerous Common Man. The little fellow has a taxable income up to, say, $14,000 a year.

About a year ago, the Tax Foundation calculated the total U.S. taxable income at $153 billion. The amount of income subject to the first bracket is about $108 billion.

The first bracket rate is 20 per cent. That is the rate which catches the little fellow.

Tax Foundation calculated that this bracket produces about 61 per cent of the tax yield.

For the U.S. taxpayer merely to inquire what the proposed platforms might mean in the way of spending and taxation would not necessarily mean that he was against what the platforms promised.

The taxpayer might not be against greater spending with or without higher taxes.

well as lipstick. She is 23 and as charming girl.

"My wife is 40 and also charming. By my point, Dr. Crane, is to make this quick contrast every morning between her and my secretary."

"I have suggested that she wear some colorful washable frocks in the morning, for they look pretty and cost much less."

"But she feels it is wasteful to do so just for the home folks. Besides, she says she would get them soiled as she must do the morning work. So she wants to wait till afternoon to dress up."

WHO'S WHO IN YOUR HEART

"If she had a dental appointment in the morning or were going to a meeting of her PTA committee, she'd doll up in a charming manner."

"But she forgets that I am the most important man in her life. If only for her financial support."

"Apparently, she thinks that my affection and high regard for her can never change because I promised to love her 20 years ago."

"But I am fully aware of these monogamous changes in men which you have written so frankly at times."

"I am needing a little more seductive appeal at home to give me the old romantic urge. That was necessary 10 years ago, but things have changed with the passage of time."

"I love my wife and admire her immensely. She is a wonderful mother of our two high school children. She is popular and can be as charming as any secretary who is not only alpha-like and perhaps had a little more attractive frugality and with neatly combed hair."

"She is beautifully groomed and artistically made up with rouge as Merely to inquire, however, would be no more than simple prudence. Like reading the fine print before signing a contract with a fast talking hunter.

BUT BE DOUBTING

The fact is that the taxpayer does not inquire, which suggests that this mainstay and flower of American civilization may be more far-headed than prudent, a depressing thought.

Belief in something-for-nothing dies hard, like belief that it is against the law to hit a person wearing glasses.

Each night the token of your love I shall beside me keep. And never once forget to dream. Upon it in my sleep. But do not let me stay too long. For pockets, dear, can fray. And even hearts that drop from them — do not stay too long.

"Our own troubles are worth enduring if they show us how to have sympathy for others."

"I haven't succumbed as yet! But I am making no promises as to what will happen within the next few months."

"I've tried to give her a chance and have tactfully attempted to

"Could you reproduce my case in your column? Maybe she'd take the hint. She believes anything you say, so maybe you can solve my problem."

Suspect Nikita to Set Off New Berlin Crisis at U.N.

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German diplomats, already apprehensive about East German Communist moves to harass access to Berlin, have relayed their suspicions to the State Department.

Khrushchev's main motive, despite his widely advertised intention of talking about disarmament, may be to impose a new deadline for allied evacuation of the divided city, they have reported.

Administration officials are weighing this potential Khrushchev aim against a wide range of other possibilities, such as Khrushchev moves to woo new African countries, boast of Soviet scientific might and denounce alleged American spying.

FEARS RECENTLY RENEWED
Several recent moves have renewed fears of a possible Berlin crisis.

Communist East Germany Thursday ordered a new restriction on travel within the divided city, requiring special permits for West German citizens wanting to visit East Berlin.

For five days last week it blocked travel from West Germany into Berlin for many would-be visitors not residents of Berlin. Barge traffic into the city also was held up for a time.

Some diplomatic officials believe Khrushchev's current tough talk may be a smokescreen. The Soviet leader may wind up talking softly and reasonably, upsetting all predictions, and thereby gain additional impact for his words, they believe.

Most authorities, however, think that Khrushchev's approach will be to mix tough talk with sweet words while professing the Soviet Union's enduring love for international peace—Soviet style.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter made it clear Thursday he is among those who believes Khrushchev intends to stage an irresponsible propaganda offensive when he shows up in 10 days.

The two parties have headquarters in adjoining offices. One meter, located on the Republican side, records the electricity used by both parties. The lease requires the Republicans to pay the utilities bills.

Charged With Smuggling 400 Watches in 1 Girdle

LLONDON (AP) — A 33-year-old housewife was arrested at West London Air Terminal Thursday and charged with smuggling 400 watches into the country inside her girdle.

Mrs. Marie Louise Clark, who arrived by plane from Austria, was ordered by a magistrate to be held in custody for a later court hearing. The prosecution said the watches were contained in a special kind of girdle.

"I didn't know what was in the thing," Mrs. Clark retorted.

But Jack Hides Signs of It

Dem Campaign Well-Heeled

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—If you look only at the surface of it, you might think Sen. John F. Kennedy's campaign for the presidency is a poor man's operation. Wherever you go with the Democratic nominee on his current western tour, the trappings of a well-heeled campaign are subdued or conspicuously absent.

When Kennedy talks to crowds gathered in the court house square or at the rear of his campaign train, the signs that show up in the throng are almost always home-made. The sentiments they express usually are honey.

At Eugene, Oregon, a small youngster carried one which read: "Even bean pickers like Jack." It was framed with green beans, stapled around the sides of the placard.

At Chico, Calif., a pretty young girl hoisted aloft one which said: "Jills for Jack."

This sort of thing is in sharp contrast with the advance preparation usually made for a visit by Kennedy's presidential rival, vice-president Richard M. Nixon. When Nixon arrived in Atlanta, Ga., last month, the crowd that met him displayed a forest of printed signs, obviously manufactured in advance and distributed widely to the party faithful.

This sort of thing costs money and the Kennedy camp is touchy on that subject because of the immense wealth of the candidate's father, Joseph P. Kennedy. The nominee himself was the beneficiary of a million dollar trust fund established for him when he was nine years old by his father.

It no longer may be a political drawback to be a rich man, but Nixon's associates let few opportunities escape them to note that their candidate is a man of limited financial means.

But Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, the Democratic national chairman, insisted there is no conscious effort to cast Kennedy as a not-so-rich candidate.

Jackson said the national campaign organization has had to pass along to local groups the cost of having signs made, arranging automobile caravans, hiring halls and paying for regional television and radio time.

In spite of this shuffling of the costs, Jackson predicted the national organization backing Kennedy will spend about six million dollars in the campaign ending two months from now.

To Try Closing City Hall on Holland on Saturdays

HOLLAND (UPI) — Starting Oct. 1, the Holland city hall will close on Saturdays for a 90-day trial period.

The City Council approved the action after City Manager Herb Holt pointed out closing of city hall on Saturdays appears to be a nationwide trend.

One pair of mice will eat about four pounds of food in six months.

Wall Street May Have Been Too Pessimistic

Time for Mart to Pull Out of the Blues

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street could be overdoing its pessimism just as business overdid its optimism at the turn of the year. Industrial and financing statistics have been giving the stock market little to cheer about of late and stock prices have been bid down.

But those who are as cautious about pessimism as they are about optimism say it's much too soon to jump to conclusions and consider a recession a shogin. The stock market is often a sensitive reflector of business sentiment. But some think it's too sensitive. They feel it swings too easily to extremes.

And outside New York there's a strong tendency for businessmen to feel that the New York industrial and financial community as a whole is too volatile, too easily swayed by passing news items. The rest of the nation is slower to go overboard for either extreme pessimism or optimism.

The bearish-minded have had plenty of statistics to point to of late. It's their interpretation of them that's in question.

Consumer spending hasn't been increasing at its old pace. Industrial output hasn't recovered its high. Factory unemployment is still high. New orders for durable goods have been lagging. And in the nondurable sector orders have slowed down after a long period of strength. Industry has trimmed a bit its plans for spending on plant and equipment.

But the traditional summer lull could account for a lot of that. And a normal reaction from last winter's abnormal buildup after the steel strike could account for more.

Plus factors that many count upon to give the economy at least a mild boost soon include: Signs that in many industries stocks have been cut back to near bottom levels, meaning that new orders should soon be forthcoming; easier money should help—it's always a bit slow in catching on; housing observers think building may have seen the worst of the drop and be ready to recover, although probably not notably until next spring; the auto industry's troubles—high stocks of unsold 1960 cars and the seasonal model changeovers—may be ready for improvement before long.

And perhaps strongest plus factor of all is that—with the possible exception of the stock market—the change in public sentiment has been to caution rather than to loss of confidence. And caution makes a good foundation on which to build prosperity, as apart from boom.

Even the statistics haven't been really bad. The drop in business spending plans is slight. So is the dip in consumer spending plans, but offset by record-high employment in a growing labor force. Personal income totals have managed to inch higher. So have savings totals—showing that consumers have the means to spend when sufficiently tempted.

Economists like to describe the summer's results as edging sideways. Americans never like that. They want the economy to climb noticeably. When it doesn't many turn pessimistic.

But the middle-of-the-road observers stress that there is no reason yet to jump to conclusions. If they can't point to signs of a boom coming, neither will they concede that a recession is inevitable.

But Boyle Will Keep It

Columnning a Terrific Grind

By WAI BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Confession: I am a columnist. Seventeen years ago a strange thing happened to me. I became a daily newspaper columnist. For nearly a year before that I had been a simple handout man, reporting, covering the battles in North Africa and Sicily.

But just before we hit the shell warfare beaches, I realized that in Italy, I was ordered to start turning out a daily feature on the combat and the life of the GI and in effect the poor man's Ernie Pyle.

Looking back, I now across the years of semiprecious, I realize that I was for all its boredom, fear and danger of death, a reporter's dream assignment—for two reasons.

1. In the raw, bloody drama of the battlefield, men show themselves as they truly are, and you never run out of things really worth writing about.

2. You have a ready-made audience. The people back home are desperately eager for every scrap of information you can give them about their men in far-off actions.

Without going into detail the Soviet premier said in farewell to Toure: "We have reached agreement on many concrete points."

One of these was a long-term economic arrangement signed in the Kremlin just before Toure left for the airport to board a plane for Mongolia and Communist China.

Toure signed for Guinea, which gained independence from France two years ago, and Trade Minister Nikolai S. Patolichiev for the Soviet Union. No details were announced.

Diplomats considered Toure's visit and the economic agreement an important step in the Soviet campaign to penetrate Africa. Toure got the full red carpet treatment.

His poor African state was given Pridemovskaya Palace as an Embassy. Until now, this has been the official house for Soviet foreign ministry entertaining.

It was casually given to the Guineans when the ambassador, who had been staying there as a guest, said he would like to remain permanently.

"Please do," said Khrushchev, and that was that. It is a building much larger and more elaborate than the British or French embassies or the residence of the U.S. ambassador.

Abraham Lincoln's son, Robert, served as secretary of war in the cabinet of President James Garfield.

Guinea Talks Satisfy Mr. K

Reaches Long-Term Economic Plan With Premier Toure

MOSCOW (AP)—Nikita S. Khrushchev told Guinea Premier Sekou Toure Thursday he is deeply satisfied with talks held during the Moscow visit of the African leader.

Without going into detail the Soviet premier said in farewell to Toure: "We have reached agreement on many concrete points."

E. Reich President to Be Grotewohl?

BERLIN (UPI)—Premier Otto Grotewohl, 64, who delivered East Germany to the Communists in 1948, is expected to succeed Wilhelm Pieck as president.

Pieck, the founder of the German Communist party, died Wednesday at the age of 84. He had been little more than a figurehead since 1960 when the German Democratic Republic came into being.

Real power then and now lies in the hands of Communist Party Chairman Walter Ulbricht. Had Pieck been in good health, he might have contested with Ulbricht for party leadership, but in recent years he was bedridden.

There was speculation that Ulbricht might follow the precedent set by Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and continue the job.

Eighty per cent of the toothbrushes in U.S. homes are in unsatisfactory condition.

Weather Forecast Based on Space Findings Coming

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The first daily weather forecast and storm warning based on information from space are expected before the year is out.

Officials are making arrangements now to speed clip-out pictures from America's second weather satellite, Tiros II, to more than a score of U.S. weather stations a few hours after they are taken.

The pictures will be studied for information expected to be helpful in daily forecasts and the satellite signs of storms in the act of being born.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA) expects to launch Tiros II from Cape Canaveral, Fla., some time in the last three months of this year.

Find Ancient Mosque

KARACHI (UPI)—Archaeologists have unearthed what may be the first mosque built on the Indian sub-continent. Excavations at Bhambore, 40 miles east of here, have uncovered a mosque believed to date back 1,200 years to earliest Arab incursions in this area.

Midnight Oil Isn't for Her

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I both work. When I get home in the evening I have many things to do. Most of my friends are home during the day and their evenings are free.

Very often these friends will come to visit us in the evening. After they leave I am up half the night doing chores that I had planned to do earlier. It isn't that I don't enjoy seeing them but when time is limited these visits can be very disrupting. I have thought of not answering the doorbell, but my husband thinks this would be very rude as our light can be seen from the street and they know that someone is home. Is there anything I might do?

Answer: A suggestion is to explain your problem to these friends and tell them that you are going to arrange things so that you will have one evening a week, let us say Thursday, free of work in order to be able to see them.

They traveled with a group of area teachers. At the summer quarter commencement of Colorado State College at Greeley, the degree of master of arts in business education was conferred upon Jack L. Hruska, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. V. Hruska of North Cass Lake Road, Watford Township.

He received his bachelor of arts degree from Michigan State University in 1956.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lykins of Stratford Way, Highland Estates, were hosts at a family picnic Sunday. The affair honored Mrs. Lykins' sister Mrs. Hazel Edgar of Troy, who is leaving to reside in Idaho.

Guests were the Edward Pullers, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ella, Mrs. Irene Snyder and children Tom and Joy, Elizabeth Halpinny, and the Leo Halpinny with Michael, Patrick, Maureen and Kathleen. Joining the fun were the Lykins children, Patricia, David and Gregory.

Abby: Better Start Looking

If You Want Husband, Shop Now; Wait at Own Risk

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a widow who is having a difficult time deciding what to do. I am 47 (no children) and am very much in love with a widower who is 50. His wife passed away two years ago and his mother moved into his home to care for his 12-year-old son.

Abby, this man says he really loves me, but he doesn't want to get married until his son is on his own. This will mean waiting 8 or 9 years. I can't see this at all. Why should I just "go around" with him for 8 or 9 years? I tried to explain that his son needs a mother, but he says HIS mother fills that need. I can't sleep for thinking how wonderful life would be as his wife. Should I wait and hope he changes his mind? Or do you think he ever will?

"TO WAIT OR NOT?" DEAR "TO WAIT": If you want a husband, find yourself a man who wants a wife NOW. This man wants only a woman to "go around with". Wait at your own risk.

DEAR ABBY: When I read that letter from the wife who complained because her husband always "walked her on the outside" I was reminded of my own case which was exactly like hers. My husband used to do the same thing to me and I kept changing places with him and nagging him about it. He finally confessed (after we had been married three years) he was deaf in his right ear and he always wanted me on the side by his good ear.

UNDERSTANDING DEAR UNDERSTANDING: You are lucky. Some men put their wives on their deaf side.

Antique Fair Is Slated

For the eighth year antique lovers will have an opportunity to support the work of the Michigan Animal Rescue League when the group holds its antique fair at Cranbrook Auditorium.

Set to open Wednesday and continue through Friday, the fair will earmark its proceeds to the work and upkeep of the Pontiac animal shelter. From small beginnings in 1953, four women parlayed a dream and six dollars to the present buying. They have placed a thousand animals. Finding homes for strays and handling complaints is only one phase of the humanitarian work of the league.

Latest ambition is to raise funds for an isolation ward in which to keep sick and injured animals during recuperation. Since all animals are housed in separate cages and space is limited, it is a sad chore to have to turn away animals due to space limitations. New feature of this year's show is a booth displaying the work of art classes at MSUO. "Baked goods by Bowman," furniture, glassware, books and interesting curios will also be featured.

Stars of the show will be the homeless pups and kittens

You Can Alter, Improve Looks Almost at Once

(NEA) — By the time they reach their middle thirties, a good many women know themselves far too well. That is, they have become so accustomed to the way they look that they never really give it a thought. The face in the mirror is, after all, the same old face; what's new about it? And it never seems to occur to them that this sameness may not, to friends and family, be a sparkling thing. Right about here, it's time to examine your habits with regard to your appearance. Did you long ago form the habit of buying the same kind of shirtwaist dress year after year because it's comfortable? Or wearing blue because it used to be your favorite color? Or doing your hair the same way because it's easy enough though it's no longer very becoming? Are you satisfied with calling a dab of powder and a dash of lipstick "make-up?"

who will be present and available for adoption. Pontiac area patrons include Mrs. Carl O. Anderson, Mabel Craft, Mrs. Beecher-Connell, Mrs. Frances Covert, Mrs. Mabel Dillman, Mrs. Alex Duffield, Mrs. Dorothy Gould and Mrs. George Inniss.

Others are Mrs. Robert C. Laker, Mrs. Frank Lambert, Mrs. C. K. Patterson, Mrs. Gerstop Poole, Mrs. Ford Paddock, Mrs. Aaron Riker, Mrs. Frank Peeples, Mrs. Arthur Robertson, Mrs. Clara Scriven and Mrs. Arthur Schutt. Completing this group are Mrs. Cramer Smith, Mrs. Harlan Smith, Mrs. Newton Stillman Jr., Leah Thomas, Virginia Ward, Mrs. Arthur War-

Women's League Sets $810 Goal

A goal of $810 has been set by the League of Women Voters of Pontiac for the annual fund-raising campaign which began Thursday.

At a meeting Tuesday in the Cherokee Road home of Mrs. B. W. Habel plans for the drive were presented to the executive board by Mrs. Roy MacAfee, finance chairman. Doris Walker of Drayton Plains is finance coordinator.

Funds earned pay for printing and distribution of Voters Guides, sponsor candidates' rallies and distributing factual non-partisan information on governmental issues.

The drive which was launched on "League Day in Michigan" Thursday will run through Sept. 30. Gov. G. Mennen Williams' proclamation setting League Day date in Michigan was read to the board. It will be part of a display of voter information, posters on registration and "Get out the Vote" and other league publications which will be shown downtown on Sept. 28. The proclamation will be transferred to Pontiac Central High School.

After board members outlined the year's program, setting times and places for meetings, Laura Belz reported progress on the work of the committee arranging a bipartisan candidates' rally Sept. 28 at Pontiac Central High School. Birmingham, Rochester and West Bloomfield Township leagues are cooperating on this project.

Another feature of Voters' service discussed was the presentation of posters to area school superintendents. The league will request that the posters be placed in every school, particularly at Parent-Teacher Association meetings.

Announcement was made that league calendars are ready and may be obtained from Elizabeth Halsey. Calendar sales are another fund earning project of the league. Helen Wordein, co-con chairman, will have charge of the Oct. 26 membership meeting at Pontiac YWCA. The Oct. 4 board meeting will have Mrs. Claire J. Hinkley as hostess.

Books Club Starts Year Next Friday

Watford Township's Great Books Club will begin its 11th year when the group meets from 9 to 10 p.m. Sept. 16 in the library of the Community Center.

Director Kay Rector will present the first of a series of 16-book discussions. "Exodus and Deuteronomy," some of the others to be included in the 1960-61 season are "Plato's Republic," "Machiavelli's Discourses," "Balzac" and "Old Goriot."

Anyone interested in joining the Great Books Club may do so by attending the first meeting, or by calling Mr. Rector for further information.

Dry-Clean the Coat!

EAST LANSING — Sending a boy's or man's suburban coat to the dry cleaners may be less risky than washing it at home, even if the label says it's "washable," states Barbara Spilker, researcher in textiles at Michigan State University.

She recently tested a group of these suburban coats which were purchased in Lansing retail stores at prices from $20 to $40 each.

The outer fabrics of these coats included poplins and twills, woven of cotton and blends of cotton with rayon or cotton with dacron. There was one coat of merino cloth, another of napped woolen cloth and one of nylon taffeta.

Lining and interlinings included fleeces and fiber-filled hairs quilted to twill or taffeta linings. Polystyrene foam, a newer type interlining, was also included. This was quilted to a taffeta lining. Samples of all coats were dry-cleaned. In addition, those labeled "washable" were cleaned by home laundry methods. Miss Spilker found there was little or no change in appearance in any of the outer fabrics with either cleaning method. The "inside" story, however, was quite different.

One fiber-filled lining emerged from the laundry with a lumpy appearance caused by a shift in the batting. Another lining shrank 10 per cent in the first washing.

A nylon fleece lining showed progressive pilling, which is a twisting of fibers to form small balls on the fabric surface. Long pile fleeces of an ofon and arnel blend matted objectionably in the first laundry. All these lining changes were much less pronounced when the fabrics were dry-cleaned.

Miss Spilker noted that most fibers in the quilted linings were waste materials. Such damaged, broken fibers of assorted sizes are much less resilient than new fibers.

Even though coats were labeled as to fiber content, two were mislabeled, and several labels omitted some information.

From her testing, Miss Spilker suggests that consumers cannot always rely on the "washable" label on a lined coat. The coat may look better and wear better if it is dry-cleaned.

Put Knees Up, Stomach In

Do This to Trim Tummy

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Q. "What is the best exercise for a 33-year-old woman to take to reduce her abdomen?"

A. There are many good ones but if you have not been exercising you should begin with one of the easier ones. Do this: Lie on the floor on your back with your legs straight and your arms resting on the floor overhead.

Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands. Return arms and legs to starting position. Do this 10 times at first and gradually increase until you are doing the exercise about 35 times daily. Also remember to hold your tummy in when standing, sitting or walking.

Q. "I am 15 years old and have a weight problem. I am 5 feet and 1 inch tall and weigh 125 pounds. My measurements are bust 35 inches, waist 26 and hips 37. I know I am overweight—but do not know how much to lose."

A. You should weigh around 107 pounds if you have a medium frame.

Q. "I have become allergic to practically all cosmetics. What can I do? Every powder makes me break out in a rash."

A. Try one of the cosmetic lines especially planned for those who are allergic. There are several good ones. If you want their names, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for them to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. "My bust is getting very heavy. Should I see a doctor? It would be very embarrassing."

A. I do not know whether or not you have gained weight. If so, of course it would show in your bust. Neither do you tell me your age. Since you seem worried about the situation I judge that you refer to an unusual condition without any seeming reason for it. I suggest that you do see your physician. There is no reason to feel embarrassed about it.

Q. "Is there anything I can do to reduce a large stomach? My figure is all right across the bust and hips. From the back I look slim, but from the front and side I look like a pregnant woman. I am 14 years old. Can you help me?"

A. You should take abdominal slimming exercises. Also watch your posture and try to hold your tummy in, and tuck your hips under.

If you would like my tested abdominal reducing exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2 to Josephine Lowman in care of this paper.

This abdominal exercise is an easy one to start with: Bend both knees up close to the abdomen and clasp the knees with the hands. Return arms and legs to starting position. Do this 10 times at first and gradually increase to 35.

LILLIAN A. SAMARDZJA

Graduating Thursday from Charity Hospital of Louisiana School of Nursing at New Orleans was Lillian Ann Samardzja of Home Street. Fifty-seven candidates were awarded diplomas at the commencement exercises.

why there's no water heater like an

ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

INSTALL ONE WHERE YOU LIKE—EVEN IN AN AIR-TIGHT CLOSET. When it's an electric water heater, there's no flame, so no air is needed to support combustion. There are no fumes to be vented. An electric water heater is completely safe.

BUILT-IN QUALITY MAKES A BIG DIFFERENCE. Every electric water heater installed on Detroit Edison lines must meet Edison's exacting specifications. Result: long life, high performance for every water heater.

HAVE YOU SEEN THE TABLE TOP MODELS? They're compact, go beneath counters or alongside laundry equipment. Other possibilities—in the kitchen next to sink or dishwasher or in that hard-to-use corner. Upright or table top model, put an electric water heater where you want it.

HOTTER WATER—PLENTY OF IT! An electric water heater is capable of going on and on, delivering really hot water—180° hot—with-out burning out. And heavy insulation all around keeps the outside shell of the water heater cool to the touch from top to bottom. There's no hot metal anywhere.

8 OUT OF 10 FAMILIES USE THE 50-GALLON SIZE. For less than 1¢ a day (estimated operating cost for this size) you can have hot water for all the family's needs. There are also 80- and 110-gallon sizes for the few families who use more water and may require greater capacity.

Leavy-Dennen Rite Witnessed by 150 Guests

A ballroom length nylon crystal gown was chosen by JoAnn Dennen for her marriage to Donald D. Leavy Saturday morning at St. Benedict Catholic Church.

Some 150 guests witnessed the ceremony performed by the Rev. Robert Wyzanski before an altar flanked by white gladioli.

An unbroken My design extending from bodice to hemline enhanced the bride's gown, fashioned with a sweep neckline and short sleeves.

A pearl tiara was worn atop the bride's hair, and she held a cascade arrangement of white Rugs chrysanthemum centered with a corsage of red sweet heart roses and English ivy intertwined with streamers.

WEAR MIT GREEN
Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Dennen of Navajo Drive are the bride's parents.

The honor maid, Dolores Dennen, and bridesmaids Kathleen Dennen and Mrs. Robert Dennen, all sisters of the bride, wore green and white gowns with white flowers in hairline lengths.

Each carried a wicker basket of chrysanthemum in autumn hues. Cat tails were added to the honor maid's bouquet.

The bridegroom's brother Joseph was best man. They are the sons of Mrs. Joseph Leavy of Avondale Avenue. Robert Grady and Gene Crook seated guests.

Mrs. Dennen wore a sheath dress of beige lace over tulle taffeta with beige accessories and a purple orchid corsage for her daughter's wedding.

Mrs. Leavy chose a taffy colored silk crepe ensemble with matching jacket and accessories and wore a corsage of green cymbidium orchids.

Following a reception at the Knights of Columbus Hall, the new Mrs. Leavy donned a white sheath dress with a red and white cummerbund, matching coat and black accessories to begin a trip to Northern Michigan.

Candlelight Vows Said Monday

In St. Trinity Lutheran Church, Randallyn Carole Strickland pledged vows to Arthur L.C. Noel II. Union before the Rev. Ralph Klaus in candlelight rites Monday.

The church was decked with palms and baskets of white chrysanthemum.

The Randall N. Stricklands of LaSalle Avenue hosted the reception in P.O.E. Hall on Highland Road, following their daughter's wedding. The Herman C. Stricklands of Gordon Avenue, parents of the bridegroom, received with them.

Sequins and seed pearls accented the soft sweep neckline of the bride's gown of water-silk white Chantilly lace over silk taffeta and tulle. Fingertip veiling was secured by a Danish crown.

Mounted on the bride's pearl-covered Bible were white orchids, roses and gerberas.

Attendants in beige silk organza over taffeta wore sequined tulle headpieces and white gloves.

Honor maid, Sonia Westman, carried red and white carnations. Margaret Strickland and Mrs. Gary W. Strickland, sister and sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. Richard Kent, carried pink carnations.

James Webb was best man. Ushers were Dayton Strickland, the bride's brother, Kyle Roberts of Flint, Charles Butler and Arthur Schulte, cousins of the bridegroom.

After a Northern Michigan honeymoon, the couple will leave for Darmstadt, Germany where the bridegroom will be stationed for three years.

Beige accessories complemented the bride's dress of champagne lace over taffeta. Mother of the bridegroom chose a wine sheath dress with white accents. Both mothers wore pink roses.

Outfits Washable
Elegant new "women in white" uniforms which feature embroidered and cummerbunds, are as washable as ever.

Nancy Patton, George Jackson Wed in Home

Nancy Jean Patton became the bride of George W. Jackson of Uby Saturday afternoon in a ceremony at the Oak Lake home of Mr. and Mrs. John Proyer.

The Rev. W. C. Gable of St. Mark Lutheran Church officiated before some 100 guests. Arrangements of white gladioli graced the proper home for the nuptials.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patton of Bangor Street, Waterford Township, are the bride's parents. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jackson of Uby.

For her wedding Nancy chose a bouffant gown of nylon and lace in a ballroom length. She wore a shoulder length veil of silver tulle and held a colonial arrangement of white gladioli with a touch of pink.

APPEARS IN PINK
Carol Huff, maid of honor, appeared in a gown of pink tulle and lace, designed with a balloon skirt. Her pink veil was attached to a small cap, and she carried a corsage of pink gladioli tinged with white.

Donald Wright of Uby was best man.

A reception at the home of the Proyers, aunt and uncle of the bridegroom, followed.

Mrs. Patton greeted guests in a green nylon organza over tulle sheath dress with beige accessories and a corsage of white gladioli tipped in green.

A blue crepe sheath dress with blue accessories, and a white gladioli corsage were worn by Mrs. Jackson.

For traveling the bride changed to a black and white sheath dress with white accessories.

Full-Sized Cars to Top Compacts

Chrysler Engineer Says New Model Answer Is Newport

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — Chrysler engineer says he believes smaller and more economical full-sized cars will eventually gain in popularity over compact cars.

"We believe the new full-sized Newport model of the Chrysler is closer to the answer American motorists are looking for," said Robert Rodger, chief engineer for Chrysler's Chrysler and Imperial divisions.

"Once bigger cars with real value built into them start making real impression on the market, we believe the medium-priced compacts will fade."

Rodger said the full-sized models absorbed as low-priced models of their bigger brothers, although "the lower priced compacts will always be a surefire method of warding off the invasion of our market by foreign imports."

Within a very few years, Rodger said, the industry will once again be able to classify cars as low priced, medium priced or luxury cars.

The Chrysler and Imperial division chief engineer said the real challenge in the future of the auto industry was with the engineers.

"The engineers are going to have to figure out how to make cars less costly while maintaining quality," he said. "Cars of the future will be lighter without a loss of power, smaller on the outside but just as big or bigger on the inside and easier to buy without using cheaper materials."

Crowd Wants the Scalp of Parrot Plucker

NICE, France (UPI) — A crowd gathered in front of the store window shouting "Assassin!" Police were called.

There in the window were two parrots. One sported rich plumage like a peacock. The second stood unadorned by a single feather.

Beneath was a sign saying the two parrots demonstrated the before-and-after condition of ladies who shopped in the store.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals asked that the store be prosecuted for plucking the parrot. The store protested that the apparently plucked parrot was a genuine rare bird and was born that way. Never grew a feather in its life.

Nonetheless the store pulled in a feather in its life and is now looking for another way to pull in the customers.

LANSING (UPI) — The Michigan Institute of Local Government unanimously opposed the constitutional convention proposal on the Nov. 8 ballot. President D. Hale Brake said Thursday.

The vote was taken at a general session. The vote did not indicate opposition to a constitutional convention, but to the change of rules in the proposed constitutional amendment sponsored by the League of Women Voters, Brake said.

Cool-Air Wave Ends Hot Time in Ol' Midwest

By The Associated Press

Cool air spread across wide areas in the midcontinent today, marking the end of a prolonged heat wave in many sections.

Showers and thunderstorms broke out along the cold front from the Texas-Oklahoma Panhandle northeastward into the Upper Great Lakes region.

Threaten to Bomb Niece of Kemp

GARDEN CITY (UPI) — The niece of twice-bombed Detroit restaurateur Harry "Red" Kemp was threatened with a bombing.

Mrs. Shirley Jackson, 34, told Garden City police a barded man rang her doorbell late Wednesday night and told her:

"Shirley Jackson, your house is going to be bombed."

Then he turned and fled in his car.

Mrs. Jackson told police she had been getting anonymous phone calls recently telling her that friends or relatives had been killed or injured. All the information turned out to be false, she said.

Kemp's restaurant in Detroit was damaged in a bombing in July. Another bomb went off at his Grosse Pointe home last month, damaging the garage and a fence.

Mrs. Jackson's husband, Sidney, operates a gas station.

A total of 46,009 persons passed through the fairgrounds gates Thursday — Old Timers Day — to bring the seven-day attendance to 301,774. The seven-day total in the record year of 1956 was 387,247.

The cries of "Go-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o" and "Sooooo-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o" will echo across the fairgrounds this afternoon in the husband-and-hog colling contests.

Today's events will also feature the junior and senior sheep shearing contests, high school band concerts and an ice revue.

For the teen-agers the big event of the day will be the "Harvest of Stars" with Brian Hyland, Brenda Lee, the Brothers Four and other teen idols. The show will get under way at 8 p.m. in the coliseum.

Among winners in the horse performance competition Thursday were:

Appaloosa: grand champion male and female — Buster Lowther, South Lyon; reserve champion male and female — Lee Caron, Milford.

Morgan: grand champion male — Walter Carroll, Green Hill Farm, Farmington.

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — The and defectors to the Soviet Union, Martin and the Mitchell, re they only concern the resulting cablegrams thousands from their sons.

Mrs. John N. Martin of Ellensburg, Wash., merely released her message to reporters and said nothing.

"What can we say? What can we do?" asked Emery Mitchell, 65, a Eureka lawyer, after reading his telegram.

The sons, Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, and William Martin, 29, code clerk for the National Security Agency, defected to the Soviet Union. They held a Moscow news conference to announce it.

"Dear father: If I have any regrets in leaving the United States in mathematics.

Both cables ended the same way—with an invitation to the parents to visit their sons in the Soviet Union.

"I shall meet you half way in the cost of the trip. This can be arranged by writing me," Mitchell said.

"If you wish to visit me here any time in the future I will be glad to receive you," Martin said.

The Martins said they had no intention of going to the Soviet Union. The Mitchells had no comment.

Liberal Party Raps Dr. Peale

2 Other Protestants Hit 'Blind Prejudice' in His Kennedy Attitude

NEW YORK (AP) — A Liberal party statement authored by two prominent Protestant ministers accuses Dr. Norman Vincent Peale of "blind prejudice" in his attitude toward Sen. John F. Kennedy's Roman Catholic faith.

Dr. John C. Bennett, dean of Union Theological Seminary, and Dr. Reinhold Niebuhr, vice president emeritus of Union, both vice-chairmen of the Liberal party, prepared the party statement issued Thursday.

"We believe that Dr. Peale and his associates, though they renounce bigotry, show blind prejudice because they see the Roman Catholic Church at all points in terms of the worst elements in its life, and that they show no understanding of the developments within Roman Catholicism in many democratic countries which are favorable to religious liberty to all," it said.

EXTREME PRESSURE
The Liberal party statement referred to a meeting of 150 Protestants from 37 denominations presided over by Dr. Peale in Washington Wednesday. The group contended a Roman Catholic president would be "under extreme pressure by the hierarchy of his church."

Dr. Peale, a supporter of Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon, later issued a separate statement.

"After serious and may I say prayerful thought and with no reservation of my personal conviction I have come to the conclusion that the public agitation of religion as an issue can only be divisive and therefore in the long run harmful to our country," he said.

The Liberal party, which exists only in New York state, has endorsed Democratic presidential candidate Kennedy.

Others attending the wedding will be Sinatra's former wife, Nancy, who is the bride's mother; Sands' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Sands, and others.

Sands, currently serving a six-month hitch in the Air Force Reserve, said their honeymoon would be postponed until his release in November.

Pontiac Motor Plant Starting 1961 Output Despite Rail Strike

Pontiac Motor Division began production on 1961 models today in the face of predictions that 100,000 will be unemployed in the Detroit area if the Grand Trunk Railroad strike lasts another 10 days.

The division began what a spokesman described as normal, two-shift operations in all plants. The callback began with the first shift today.

Division leaders continued to refrain from comment on any effect the eight-day strike might have on operations.

Drug Cost Shield Asked by Army

Purchasing Chief Tells Probers He's Refused Cases to Help Dept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief buyer of medicines for the armed forces asked Congress today for more authority to protect the government against overcharges by drug manufacturers.

Rear Adm. William L. Knickerbocker testified he has had some "pretty frustrating" experiences with identical bids from rival manufacturers for contracts at prices he deemed too high. He said he has referred some of these instances to the Justice Department for investigation. His prepared testimony did not name any firms involved.

Knickerbocker is executive director of the Military Medical Supply Agency in Brooklyn, N.Y., which spent $66.4 million last year to buy medical supplies for the armed forces.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee planned to hear more testimony from Dr. W. G. Malcolm, president of the American Cynodont Co. of New York City, before calling Knickerbocker to the witness stand.

EXPLOSIVE ALLEGATIONS
The subcommittee headed by Sen. Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., is exploring allegations of monopolistic practice and profiteering by the drug industry.

Malcolm Wednesday vigorously defended his company's record, insisting the 11.7 per cent profit earned by its medicine-producing Lederle Laboratories division last year was "fair and reasonable."

The highest temperature of the year hit the Pontiac area Wednesday afternoon when the mercury climbed to 94 degrees. And there is more of the same today.

There will be a low of 68 tonight but Friday will be cooler, the high reaching near 83 degrees.

Showers and thundershowers are predicted for tomorrow. Morning southwesterly winds at 10 miles per hour will continue from the southwest at 8 to 14 miles.

The lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 69. The reading at 1 p.m. was 93.

Alcatraz Inmates Eat Cheese, Tuna

255 Convicts Continue Work Strike; Most Fear Threats of Reprisal

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Striking Alcatraz convicts stood firm today in demanding more privileges, but Warden Paul Magidin refused to worry.

After all, how long can a man stand bologna and cheese sandwiches?

SANDWICH DIET
Their diet consists of a choice of bologna, cheese or tuna sandwiches prepared by guards. The convict-staffed kitchen is closed.

"They'd like to have as many privileges as in other institutions, rights, and so on," Magidin said. "But Alcatraz never has been and never will be a country club."

The warden said about two-thirds of the inmates would like to return to work, but were frightened by threats of reprisal by some 24 leaders.

That Day Has Arrived

Summer Vacations End

Today is the day that was bound to come for most of some 20,000 pupils in the Pontiac School District.

Tomorrow will signal the return of high school students in Pontiac and Monday is the first day for beginners.

Yesterday was the first full day for Waterford Township Junior and senior high school students and tomorrow will see all elementary grades in full swing.

Parochial schools in Pontiac began classes this morning.

The schedule for students in Pontiac public schools is as follows:

Today at 9 a.m., the first full day of classes began for all elementary school pupils, 7th grade and 10th grade students. There were orientation programs for students entering the 10th grade at 9 a.m. and one for college preparatory seniors at 1 p.m. at Pontiac Northern High School.

School administrators have estimated that a total of 20,336 students will enroll in Pontiac Public schools this fall.

INCREASE OF 600
"Most of them will be in by tomorrow, but we always have a handful of late registrants," said Dr. Philip Proud, assistant superintendent.

This is an increase of about 600 from the total enrollment of 19,734 in September 1959.

This year's estimates call for 12,588 students from kindergarten through the 6th grade; 4,422 in grades 7, 8, 9, 10 and 11; and about 215 in other classifications such as special education classes.

This adds up to an increase over last year in elementary grades and junior high, but a drop in high school enrollment.

U.S. Athletes Outshine Prediction of Publisher

By HAROLD A. FITZGERALD
Publisher, The Pontiac Press

ROME—We put those three American flags up again Wednesday.

Al Certeo, Olympic champ in 1956, Rink Babka and Richard Cochran gave us a clean sweep in the discus and smashed records in the process. Those big boys looked wonderful on that victory program.

And so, still another time, the Stars and Stripes floated from all three positions.

This U. S. team has made an awful monkey of my prediction that rarely would this happen again and I'm happy to report how mistaken I was. How wrong can you get in forecasts? Ask me.

Our experts are quietly congratulating themselves on capturing the decathlon. A determined, grim-faced contestant from China grabbed a hold of big, lovable Rafer Johnson's track pants in the first event and never let go. Nationalist China's K. C. Yang emerged from the Oriental shadows without warning or fanfare and gave Johnson the battle of his life.

Johnson won one event outright. Yang won four and tied for another.

Donna Picks Cuba Target Over Florida

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Donna roared relentlessly westward today and it appeared that Cuba might be hit by the full force of the killer storm.

The danger to south Florida faded as Donna, with 115 dead in her violent wake, failed to swing into a more northerly path as hurricanes often do in approaching this area.

"It rarely happens but in this case it appears that the storm's center might hit the north coast of Cuba," chief storm forecaster Gordon Dunn reported.

"We expect a slight turn to the north but Donna could remain far enough south so that Miami will get off rather easy."

Dunn emphasized, however, that Dade and Broward counties on the lower Florida east coast should continue to keep in close touch with the hurricane advisories. There also remained a possibility that Key West will get a stiff blow, Dunn said.

The hurricane raged through the southeastern Bahamas Islands today on its way to the Florida Strait between Cuba and Key West. Some 300 miles southeast of Miami, the storm is moving at about 10 miles an hour.

Very high tides were forecast for the north coast of central Cuba.

Con-Con Urgers Step Up Efforts

Petitions Have Ample Valid Names Required for Statewide Vote

LANSING (AP)—With statewide referendum assured, supporters of a controversial constitutional convention proposal today stepped up efforts to win voter approval Nov. 8.

More than 25,000 car bumper stickers urging a "yes" vote on the proposal already have been distributed, said Donald M. Oakes, executive secretary of Citizens for Michigan.

More stickers and other advertising materials will be handed out as funds become available, he said.

Citizens for Michigan, together with the Michigan League of Women Voters and the State Union of Commerce, led the drive to put the proposal before the voters. All had representatives present yesterday when the board of state canvassers formally ordered the proposal on the ballot.

The three members present agreed that petitions circulated by supporting organizations contained ample valid signatures to meet requirements for a statewide vote.

Bernard J. Apel, deputy state elections director, said a spot check showed "at least 250,000 valid signatures," nearly 19,000 over the minimum required.

It also indicated that the premier intends to pursue his political desires, including a referendum on the U.N., which has been a hot issue in the troubled Congo.

"The government confirms that the army and the police have not obeyed the order of the chief of state to lay down their arms," said the communiqué. "On the contrary, the army and police remain loyal to the republic. The latter has the situation in hand."

SHUT RADIO, AIRFIELDS
The announcement indicated a showdown was at hand with the U. N., which has silenced the Leopoldville radio, and shut down traffic at airfields despite the premier's protests.

It appeared almost certain that Lumumba intended to demand that the U. N. pull its forces out of the Congo.

The U. N., acting under its Security Council mandate, has taken a stronger stand in the past few days to try to avert civil war in Kasai Province where Lumumba's soldiers have (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

PET DOCTOR

By A. W. Mosher, D.V.M.

Q. Can a four-year-old dog transfer its attachment and affection to a new owner? Mrs. Mary Hillman of Westbury, N.Y.

A. The rest of your letter reveals the concern you're feeling over your new found friend. You say he seems to be "pining" at times, but many dogs have a perpetually worried look that belies their happy natures.

I believe in the legendary faithfulness of this animal, but the lost or abandoned dog will quickly transfer his affection to a kind, new master.

Unless your dog accidentally sees his previous owner, it's usually a case of "out of sight, out of mind." There might be a short adjustment period if the dog has been used to the companionship of children (or vice versa), or if its schedule and diet are radically changed.

I'm always touched by the gratitude most stray or lost dogs seem to show for their new homes and owners. I think you're unnecessarily concerned. After reading your letter, I'd say he's a pretty lucky dog to have found you, and is probably by now showing his thanks in many ways.

Train for Campaign Plays No Favorites

NEW YORK (UPI)—A model train company is trying its product in the forthcoming presidential campaigning.

The company is issuing a model, whistle-stop campaign train consisting of three campaign cars, a candidate's car, press car and Secret Service car.

It also comes equipped with a whistle-stop audience. The company is playing no favorites. On one side, the cars are marked "Republican;" on the other, "Democratic." Just blast out the one you don't favor.

Coming to the U.N., White House

Mr. K, Akihito's Visits to Be Unhappy Reminder

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — The imminent arrival of two foreign dignitaries from opposite ends of the world will unhappily remind President Eisenhower of his two most embarrassing diplomatic dilemmas.

Both visitors represent nations which first extended invitations to like-and then withdrew them. There the parallel ends.

Nikita Khrushchev, maddened and surprised, demands on New York Sept. 10 to head the Soviet delegation to the United Nations.

If the fates are kind, he may not even have to shake hands with his former houseguest, although he will probably go to the U.N. to accept Nikita's expected lies.

The other visitor, Japanese Crown Prince Tsugu Nobuhisa Akihito, will be wined and dined at the White House, and will occupy the President's guest house during his three-day Washington visit beginning Sept. 27.

From here the Prince and Crown Princess Michiko, when he wooed and won on a tennis court, will proceed to New York, where they undoubtedly will see Khrushchev if the bumptious fellow remains that long in the United States.

NO SPECIAL PROBLEM
Security arrangements for Prince Akihito present no special problem, despite the fact that his government had to withdraw its invitation to President Eisenhower on similar grounds.

No one blames the impetuous, pre-warrior prince for the disgraced Tokyo riots that gravely threatened the safety of Presidential Press Secretary James C. Hagerty, and led to the cancellation of the state visit.

The riots were Communist inspired, and the man who could not even have shaken hands with his former houseguest, although he will probably go to the U.N. to accept Nikita's expected lies.

U.N. Operations in Congo to Cost $75 Million by '61

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. officials are estimating that the first three months of U.N. operations in the Congo will cost $40 million.

By the end of the year, an authoritative source said the total cost probably will amount to $75 million.

Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld is expected to place these estimates before the U.N. Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions and ask for approval.

The budget for the Congo undertaking will surpass by far anything the U.N. has ever done. The annual cost of normal U.N. operations is $60 million, with $20 million more for the U.N. emergency force in the Middle East.

Informed sources said Hammarskjöld will ask the General Assembly to finance the Congo operations by assessing all members according to the scale used to raise general U.N. funds.

Under this scale, the United States would pay 33.21 per cent of the cost at the upper extreme. The smallest countries would pay the minimum assessment of .04 per cent.

The Soviet Union's assessment would be 13.62 per cent.

The biggest part of the Congo cost is for the support of the U.N. military force, which is expected to reach a peak of 18,000 men shortly.

The countries contributing the troop contingents pay their salaries and a foreign service allowance.

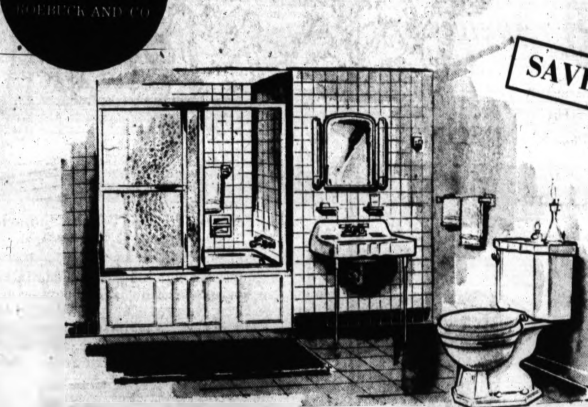

The U.N. pays for their maintenance and gives them a subsidy of about $1 a day.

The cost of the 300 or so technical experts that the U.N. has in the Congo is paid for mainly out of the budget of the technical assistance program or the U.N. specialized agencies, such as the World Health Organization.

Judge Issues Real Estate Injunction

Blocks State's Antibias Rule

LANSING, (U-P)—Ingham County Circuit Judge Sam Street Hughes wanted to set up a subdivision for Whiteside only "just because I'm a White man."

The question came up at a hearing in which Judge Hughes issued a temporary injunction against the state's antibias real estate rule.

The rule, drafted by Lawrence (Cohan), state corporation and securities commissioner, makes it illegal for any state licensed real estate broker or salesman to make race, creed, color or national origin a term of contract.

It is the outgrowth of state investigations of alleged discrimination in real estate dealings in Michigan only "just because I'm a White man."

NOT DECIDED
The injunction sought by three Lansing realtors was "in no way a decision on the rule," Hughes said.

It was intended to maintain the status quo, and save the state corporation and securities commissioner the "superhuman task of hearing all the complaints from every angle" that could come up before the court decision on the legality of the rule, he said.

The decision on the exclusively White community was given by Leath S. Cohan, assistant attorney general. Cohan and Solicitor General Samuel J. Tarnas are defending the rule.

It was to take effect Aug. 14, but was held up by a temporary restraining order sought by the realtors.

The rule "irreparably damages the clients," Everett R. Trebilcock, attorney for the Lansing realtors, said, by leaving them only two choices:

Monroe Man's Body Found in Car Flames

MUNROE, (U-P)—The body of a man was found in his flaming parked car today.

Police tentatively identified the man as James Ditty, 37, construction worker who came to Michigan with his family of 10 about two months ago from California.

The car was parked in front of the Ditty home on the outskirts of the city.

A neighbor, Mrs. Mary Cori, saw the car on fire about 4:30 a.m. and called authorities. Volunteer firemen of Monroe Township put out the blaze.

The body was in the rear of the car. The fire apparently started in the area of the front seat, firemen said.

It Rains, at Last—and as Saying Goes, It Pours

NEWCASTLE, Wyo. (AP)—Newcastle in northeastern Wyoming received its first rain in 2½ months Wednesday night.

The downpour, from 6:45 p.m. to 7:30 p.m., dropped 1.8 inches of moisture. That was the most for a single rain here since Sept. 24, 1959.

Power for about half of the town was knocked out for 35 minutes.

Kennedy Stumps Over California

By JACK BELL
WITH KENNEDY IN CALIFORNIA, Sen. John F. Kennedy whistled his way across critical California today, calling for action to avoid a "second-rate America."

In this water-conscious state Kennedy promised if he is elected president he will launch a crash program of research to convert salt water into fresh.

On another issue prime for Californians, the Democratic nominee fired off a telegram to a meeting of his farm supporters in Indianapolis, Ind.

In it he said, "I regard the agricultural problem as the No. 1 domestic issue facing the nation today and I intend to attack it on a national basis."

Kennedy told Claude Wickard, a former secretary of agriculture, who presided over a Farmers for Kennedy-Johnson session that "American agriculture's economic condition today is desperate."

NOT SPECIFIC
As in the past, Kennedy did not spell out specifically the remedies he plans to offer.

Bidding for the 32 electoral votes of the home state of his GOP rival, Vice President Richard M. Nixon, Kennedy bore down critically on what he called the Republican administration's "short-sighted" policies of permitting no new starts in hydroelectric power and other projects.

"Today, in a close-knit tumultuous world, the development of our natural resources is not only vital to the survival of our western states and the survival of our nation, it is vital to the survival of the entire free world," he said in a speech prepared for a stop in Redding.

Criticizing the administration's "partnership" power policies Kennedy said, "We must appoint a Federal Power Commission that will uphold the public interest and not serve private interests alone."

He said if he is elected president he will bring into the White House a council of resource and conservation advisers.

Kennedy's foray into California was billed as two-day affair, mostly by old fashioned campaign train.

Campaigning in Oregon Wednesday, Kennedy drew attentive but not excited crowds. He avoided at Eugene, Ore., the first potential

Protestants See Catholic Policy

Dr. Peale, 150 Others, Claim Head of Church Influence on President

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Protestant group says any Roman Catholic, as president of the United States, would be under pressure from the hierarchy of his church and might not be able to withstand it entirely.

The statement came Wednesday from a group of 150 ministers and laymen claiming membership from 37 denominations. They met as individuals making up the National Conference of Citizens for Religious Freedom.

Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, New York minister and writer who presided at the meeting, said there was only incidental mention of Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee who is a Roman Catholic.

"We're just raising the question as to how free he could be," Dr. Peale said after describing Kennedy as a loyal son of the church.

Kennedy has repeatedly said that as president he would not be influenced by church officials in matters of government policy. The Protestant statement contended, however, that a president would be under pressure not only in matters of foreign relations but also in church efforts "to gain further funds and favors for his schools and institutions, and otherwise breach the wall of separation of church and state."

East and West Crab Families Best Stay Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—San Francisco, famed for its seafood, is being invaded by Chesapeake Bay crabs. Not a warlike move; just sort of a crustacean tilt-for-tat.

Last spring restaurateur Dick Bernstein and the Junior Chamber of Commerce airlifted a battalion of California crabs to Baltimore, seeking to establish a beachhead. But Baltimore folks seemed to like theirs better.

Mayor George Christopher sat down to the Chesapeake Bay variety Wednesday. There was an air of suspense. Would he favor the Baltimore invader? He hampered at the hard shell and said finally: "Very tasty, yes, but how do you get inside the crab?"

Nixon May Aid in Arena Opener

Muskegon Sets Oct. 27
Talk at New $1,500,000
Walker Sports Arena

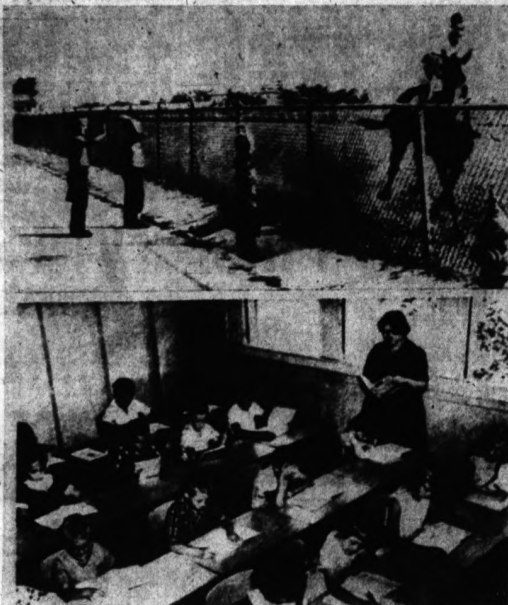

MUSKEGON (AP)—Dedication committee spokesmen say it's "fairly definite" that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will take part in formal opening of the $1,500,000 Walker Sports Arena.

Committee Chairman John C. Benuema has offered virtual assurance that the Vice President will appear Oct. 27. Program committee Chairman H. Winston Hathaway indicates the ceremonies focus on the Republican presidential nominee's attendance and delivery of a "non-political" address.

An invitation also is being extended to Gov. G. Mennen Williams as a dedication guest.

Meanwhile, industrialist Louis C. Walker who donated funds for the arena will be unable to attend — on advice of his physician — the ceremonies at which Muskegon takes over operation of the structure.

The arena is home grounds for Muskegon's International Hockey League entry. Officials are also considering an open house for public ice skating, one of the principal uses anticipated for the arena.

Mailmen Nix Glowing Cover

Magazine Too Piercing

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—It's not the magazine cover, not the contents, that made the post office complain about the magazine.

"Too bright," clerks said, and the Post Office Department backed them up by telling Little Rock chapter No. 123 of the American Society of Tool & Manufacturing Engineers it would have to use another cover on its magazine.

The cover is a brilliant, glowing-in-the-dark red, and a post office spokesman said addresses written on it are too hard to read. J. D. Bonnell, chapter chairman, said a "Little Rock firm supplied the covers with the promise they

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI)—The Chamber of Commerce has reported more than 19 tons of noxious weeds which plague hay fever sufferers was gathered and burned in the annual antiweevil campaign in Grand Traverse and Leelanau Counties. Husband Trips Over Own Solution

Is Married Life One Long Emergency?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—It was Saturday afternoon and Wilbur Peeble, America's most average man, wanted a can of beer.

But, as always seemed to happen, he couldn't find a can opener.

"Why don't you go to the store and get one?" suggested Trellis Mae, America's most typical wife.

"I'm tired of making unnecessary trips to the store," stormed Wilbur. "My married life has been one long emergency."

"You never keep enough of anything in this house. We're always running out of everything—just when we need it. Whatever I want no matter what it is, we're fresh out of," he complained.

"Well, I tell you, I'm sick and tired of living this way. What we need in this house is a little planning—then we won't have these shortages. I'm going to solve this problem once and for all!"

NOISY EXIT

Wilbur clapped on his hat and left. He banged the front door so loudly the startled cat leaped to the top of an armchair in nervous alarm. But Trellis Mae merely shrugged and went back to making the Afghan she had been working on intermittently since 1950. An hour after that the delivery boys began arriving, and they came in a steady stream for the next two hours.

They brought a case of soap and a case of detergents. They brought four dozen eggs and 56 electric light bulbs of assorted sizes.

They brought a case containing 1,000 rolls of toilet paper. They brought three boxes of nails, 144 pairs of shoelaces, 12 flashlights, five dozen candles, and six bottles each containing 1,000 aspirin tablets.

SCADS OF SUPPLIES

They brought a dozen cans of talcum powder, 15 packages of adhesive bandages, 50 packets of razor blades, 24 bottles of shaving lotion, 24 cans of push-button shaving cream, 18 tooth brushes and 48 tubes of tooth paste.

They brought 20 cartons of cigarettes, 200 packets of matches and six cases of beer.

They brought three cases of cat food, a case of canned chili, a case of assorted soups, two cases of peanut butter, a case of bottled olives, a case of mustard, five cases of catsup and three cases of sardines and anchovies.

They brought 20 pounds of cheese and 10 pounds of sliced ham.

"What are you folks expecting —an atom bomb attack?" asked a last deliver boy.

END OF SHOPPING?

Trellis Mae had had the boys stack all the purchases in a towering pile in the center of the living room. Soon after, Wilbur entered, looking somewhat wilted from his long shopping "expedition."

"Well, I guess it'll be a long time before we run out of anything again," he said, half-defensively.

"Did you remember to get the can opener?" asked Trellis Mae.

"I got a dozen," he replied. A moment later he said, "I'm hungry, honey. Can you rustle me up a ham and cheese sandwich?"

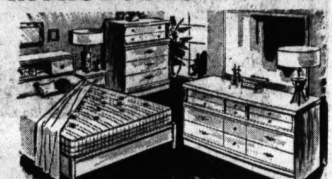

Trellis Mae went into the kitchen. There was a silence. Then she called:

"Wilbur, do you mind making just one more trip to the grocery store? You forgot the bread. There isn't a slice left in the house."

Wilbur stumbled tiredly over, sat down on the case of toilet paper and began to blubber.

"A husband never wins," he said, brokenly. "Not even once. Never, never, never."

Free Course in Boat Piloting Offered This Fall

Classes to Be Held at Three Different Sites

Registrations Planned at Southfield High Next Week

A free course in piloting for boat owners will be held this fall under the sponsorship of the Detroit Power Squadron.

The classes will be held at Southfield High School, Highland Park High School and Eastland Center.

Registrations will be held next week, on Monday at Eastland on Tuesday at Southfield High and on Wednesday at Highland Park, at 7:30 p.m. at each location.

Classes will start one week later at the same sites and will run for ten weeks. The course will cover such things as rules of the road, boat handling, equipment needed on boat chart reading, course piloting, navigation aids and use of compass and other objects.

On completion of the course and passing of a final examination a certificate is awarded by the Power Squadron. In addition, the Michigan Waterways Commission will issue a second certificate to those successfully completing the course.

Many states have instituted or are considering licensing pleasure boat operators similar to that of auto operators. Should Michigan join the list of states requiring licenses for boat operators, the Michigan Waterways Commission anticipates that holders of the certificates granted as result of these courses will not be required to take a test or training course.

There are 75,000 boats registered in the four county area including Wayne, Oakland, Macomb and St. Clair among the 600,000 registered in the state of Michigan.

The Detroit Power Squadron with over 1,000 members is one of 22 squadrons in the U.S. Last year nearly 500 people registered for the courses.

New boat owners and prospective boat owners along with old hands are invited to attend the classes. There are no restrictions as to registrants and no entrance requirements.

Tawas Races Start Today

TAWAS CITY (UPI) — Seventy-two boats yesterday competed in final qualifying races for entry in the international lightning Sailing Championship Regatta.

Championship races begin today, with two heats tomorrow and Friday and a final heat on Saturday.

Host to the regatta is Tawas Bay Yacht club, smallest club ever to host the championship races.

Pleasure Boating Fun on Small Waters

LATROBE, Pa. (NEA) — How much water is needed for pleasure boating? The question is being answered throughout the country on waterways that would have been too small in the past.

Hard by Latrobe, in Pennsylvania's rolling hills, for example, small lakes will have launching ramps, parking area for cars and trailers and speedy water skiers circling one section. Fishermen use another area. A beach for swimmers may edge the far side.

Craft now come trailing in from communities and farms that had never seen a runabout until a few years ago.

Small craft roll in over the hills by car-top, produce trailer and sometimes several at once in the back of a farm pickup truck. Some are sailboats as well, with masts removed for the trip.

Boating has to be more organized with only limited amounts of water. It apparently can be safer as well. The visiting boatman is instructed where he can go fast. Waters he must avoid completely to stay away from swimmers are pointed out.

A line of direction is set up.

usually counter-clockwise, for water skis tow boats so that all travel in the same direction.

The safety rule that calls for drive in water skis is enforced. The boat driver watches the water ahead and often has a wide-angle rear view mirror. An observer beside him faces aft and keeps constant check on the skier.

Once a skier falls, he immediately tips up one ski to indicate he is all right and to mark his position. The observer in the tow craft holds up one arm as well to show the boat is circling back for a pick-up.

Only a limited number of boats and skiers are allowed in action at one time, but the supervised skiering looked safer than some other large, waterway activities, where shore resembled a waterborne traffic jam.

More fun per mile of water surface is not limited to any one section of the country. Artificial lakes are being built in the prairie and desert states.

California has water straightaways to test speeds of specially-developed racing craft. Ovals for lap racing and water skiing are planned.

Pleasure Boat Owners Should Calculate Fuel

One of the common tasks of patrol boats is to keep patrol boats which have run out of fuel. The Mercury outboard people say that newcomers to boating are often so accustomed to finding gasoline stations everywhere along highways that they do not remember that such facilities are less plentiful on the waterways.

Develop the seasoned boatman's habit of being "crusing-annce-conscious" and save yourself the embarrassment of running out of fuel.

Many out-of-gas incidents involve boaters who have been using their craft on small lakes near home. The consequences of running out of fuel on such waters are so trivial that they have not bothered to learn how many miles a tank of gas will take them.

Then at vacation time, they travel to bigger waters and miscalculate their fuel needs for the longer runs they make.

Whether your trip is an afternoon jaunt or a week-long voyage, you'll want to follow some suggestions outboard people feel will increase your pleasure.

An old fort near a lake, or the site of a famous crossing or landing, could be a part of call. Following the "up or" downstream route of an explorer you read about in your history books would be another way to try something new with your outboard. There are many old canals and river channels which are no longer used commercially, but which offer the outboarder miles and miles of pleasant investigation.

The more you put in a boat, the deeper it sinks into the water. Too much in the boat makes it easy to swamp. Don't overload your boat. Pay attention to the load capacity limits the manufacturer has established.

Single copies of the publications can be obtained free of charge by writing OBC at 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

VICTOR'S DAY — A bolder on a string, one-year-old Alison Harvey, couldn't resist paying her respects to members of the Twickenham

Rowing Club crew dockside at Henley-on-Thames, England. The sweepstrokes competed in the Henley Royal Regatta.

Keep Hiking Speed of Pleasure Boats

Pleasure craft now travel at speeds few racing boats could top 10 years ago.

The family boat cruises farther and faster more safely than ever before, and the owner must handle it more carefully. It can run through heavier seas and pull more water skiers, but it cannot provide more skill and judgment for the driver.

He must start learning from racing drivers who know what effect wind and waves have on the control of their boats.

The racer slows down as the waves rise, turns into the wake of a passing boat to keep from taking it against his side.

He balances his boat carefully, before trying tight turns, and spends long hours in making sure before a race that all equipment is tightly stowed.

The Winegarden Marathon starts at Fond du Lac, Wis., runs 88 miles on lakes and rivers. Along most of the route the water is shallow and, as a result, a light breeze raises waves that are steep and close together.

Inland skippers are sometimes surprised to find that their local N. Y. 46 pleasure craft started test for boats running at full throttle, and small waves seem very hard when hit at 40 miles an hour.

No boats that failed to finish

Each craft carried a driver and passenger, and again showed less important to the family boat: its weight to balance the boat on man. Tackles and steering gear must be properly installed, equipment and passengers placed for proper balance, handles and grab rails so that the crew can hold on. No boats that failed to finish

Still, when the waves are too damaged.

Seek Adventure in New Areas With Outboard

If the spirit of adventure runs in your veins, your outboard can help you satisfy that longing for far-away places and untraveled areas. A river or lake in the next county can offer your own personal faraway place if you've never been on it, and any experienced boatman will tell you that the best memories come from those trips where you've navigated new waters.

Whether your trip is an afternoon jaunt or a week-long voyage, you'll want to follow some suggestions outboard people feel will increase your pleasure.

An old fort near a lake, or the site of a famous crossing or landing, could be a part of call. Following the "up or" downstream route of an explorer you read about in your history books would be another way to try something new with your outboard. There are many old canals and river channels which are no longer used commercially, but which offer the outboarder miles and miles of pleasant investigation.

The more you put in a boat, the deeper it sinks into the water. Too much in the boat makes it easy to swamp. Don't overload your boat. Pay attention to the load capacity limits the manufacturer has established.

These publications, some of which are semi-technical, are designed as good background material to assist editors and writers who cover the boating scene.

Single copies of the publications can be obtained free of charge by writing OBC at 307 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 1, Ill.

But Romney Says They'll Be Supreme

GM Slow on Compact Predictions

BY BEN FRIELIGAR
DETROIT. — General Motors apparently still is not ready to support George Romney's theory on the eventual supremacy of the compact car.

Romney, who has rambled success as president of American Motors, maintains smaller cars could account for 50 per cent of all new automobiles sold in this country next year.

But at GM, where four times

as smaller cars will be built in 1961, at least two divisional general managers disagree with Romney.

Ed Cole, who sold about 250,000 of his 1960-model Corvairs, says 50 per cent is far too high. He's betting it will be closer to 10 per cent.

Jack Wolfman of Oldsmobile, who showed off his F35 last week, claims to pick a figure, either for the industry or his own small entry.

However, both Cole and Wolfman emphasize they are looking only for "plus" business with their small cars. "Anytime you start hitting 20 per cent of your total sales with small cars you are limiting the sales chances of your bigger cars," Cole says.

The Corvair ran about 13 per cent of Chevrolet sales the past year.

Wolfman says he doesn't want to tip his hand yet on how the F35 will be promoted in relation to the standard size Olds. "That's something I think our competitors would like to know," he declared last week.

But the musical spectacular which Cole is upending around the country to fire up dealer enthusiasm puts strong emphasis on the regular line with the F35 saved for the role of a "running mate."

TO BE RIVAIA
The additional GM small cars, including the Pontiac Tempest and Buick Special, are being used to create additional rivalries between the General Motors divisions.

In the past few years Chevrolet has been in direct competition with the lowest priced Pontiac and hasn't been far off the Buick and Oldsmobile.

The BOP smaller cars will be priced smack in the middle of the Chevy line.

While Chevrolet and Olds are concentrating on "plus" business, with the implication that the smaller cars might be slowed down if they start pushing too hard against standard size sales, other companies continue to put more emphasis on their compacts.

Ford's Falcon and Comet add like wildfire this year with every indication of higher sales goals next year. Valiant saved the day for the Plymouth Division at Chrysler. Dodge dealers, who add the standard size Dart with spectacular success this year, have added the Lancer in the compact field.

With a completely restyled Rambler American and a larger Lark in the field, the compact race could prove more intense than the big car sweepstakes, even if small sales don't measure up to Romney's estimates.

Hope Frost Lags Till Corn Ripens

Much of State Crop Is a Week or Two Late; Rain Shocks Hurts

LANSING (U.P.)—Michigan farmers are hoping fall frosts will hold off long enough this year to allow corn to mature.

Only five to 10 per cent of the corn acreage had started to dent compared with 20 to 30 per cent at the same point in the season during recent years, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said.

Much of the corn acreage was a week or two late in development. Despite excellent progress in the last few weeks, it will be in some areas if the frost comes no earlier than average dates in most parts of the state.

A few reports were received from the Southwest of sales being lifted. A considerable acreage of Bay County corn was blown down by high winds Sept. 1.

Light rainfall during the past few weeks in Southern Lower Michigan caused a moisture shortage in a growing number of counties. This was not expected to hurt maturing row crops such as corn, beans and potatoes, but was resulting in short pastures and affecting yields of late hay cuttings.

Fall plowing was also being delayed in some areas where soils are too dry to work.

Potatoes were maturing satisfactorily although intensive spray programs are being carried out in a few areas to fight late blight. Digging has been under way in the Ingham-Mount Pleasant county area since mid August.

High winds the first of September also resulted in a light loss of tree fruit, but the important Southwest area was not hit. Grapes peaches in the area were ripening unevenly due to high temperatures and humidity. Many Elberta orchards were being up-picked to maintain high quality.

The heat and humidity also hurt tomatoes and muskmelons in the Southwest and some acreage was abandoned.

The picking of Macintosh apples was started although lack of cool nights kept them from putting on the desirable amount of color.

Brains Are Stars' Secret Qualities

By VERN SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "How bright are movie stars?"

Glamor boys have never won Oscars on an IQ basis, and few hold college degrees.

But almost all of them are smart enough to have amassed sizable fortunes. A number of performers have highly stimulating minds.

Among those who prove the intellectual forests are such diverse (and in some cases improbable) stars as Marlon Brando, Burt Lancaster, Tony Curtis, Kirk Douglas, Jerry Lewis and Charlton Heston.

Most stars, talking for publication, shy away from discussing anything but their personal lives. "Many have nothing else to talk about in the first place."

But take Heston, for example. Perhaps because of his record for playing Biblical characters, he has become an authority on religion. His library is filled with research books on the subject.

He frequently is called upon to speak on religion, and his texts are taken from well-worn, old.

home with electronic paraphernalia, including a recording studio and tape facilities.

Jerry often pushes buttons, flicks switches and broadcasts directly from his home to an FM station he owns in the San Fernando Valley.

It takes more than just a little gray matter to write, produce, direct and star in his own movies.

Douglas and Lancaster have the drive and intelligence that combine artistic ability with an uncanny business sense.

Both men are well informed on everything from politics to classical music and literature, though they seldom discuss their knowledge outside their circle of close friends.

They are just a sampling of performers who can hold their own in mental gymnastics. Jack Lemmon (a Harvard graduate) is a highly intelligent actor, as are Glenn Ford, Robert Ryan, Debbie Reynolds, Lauretta Young, William Holden and Yul Brynner.

Most of them got to the top with more than just an ability to look pretty and to memorize scripts.

Salvation Army Makes Plans 108 Days to Christmas!

There are only 108 days until Christmas, and already the Salvation Army in Pontiac is busy making plans.

And it's not too soon to make plans if you know some family that might need help in order to enjoy the festive season.

The Salvation Army is laying the groundwork now for a clearing house to assure that no families are misled and that there are no duplications in assistance at Christmas time.

This is accomplished each year by clearing all families, by phone, through the one central clearing house.

The Salvation Army is cooperating with civic and social groups and churches in the Pontiac area to insure proper coordination at this time.

The groups and churches are being asked to appoint a representative now to find out who needs assistance and to bring the necessary information to a meeting just before Christmas.

Expect Stock Price Stability

U. S. Economy Uncertain, Says Business Bulletin

NEW YORK, (UPI)—The condition of the U.S. economy is uncertain, according to the latest Business Conditions Bulletin of the American Hamilton Institute.

In spite of recent moves by the Federal Reserve to raise credit, it says, consumer demand is falling. Housing starts in the first seven months were 19 per cent below a year ago; and retail sales in July fell 3.8 per cent below last year and slightly below a month earlier.

Other indicators suggesting a gloomy picture, the Institute says, are the steel output rate and a big drop in machine tool orders.

Bache and Co. reports that the recent market action in Pan-American World Airways is confirming the strength of the base which the stock has established during the past several months. While further building may be necessary, Bache says, the issue appears to have embarked on a definite upward move.

While the post-Labor Day political and economic situation appears to be carefully re-appraised, it seems rather illogical to expect the main body of stock averages

2nd Hearing Set Into Defections

House Armed Services Group to Investigate Intelligence Recruiting

WASHINGTON (AP)—A second congressional committee is going to look into the defection of two U.S. code clerks.

A special three-man subcommittee of the House Armed Services Committee was formed Wednesday to check on how the Pentagon and Central Intelligence Agency screen, re-screen and clear their personnel.

The House Committee on Un-American Activities already has set a hearing for Sept. 16. The group wants to find out how the two turncoats, Bernard F. Mitchell and William H. Martin, got jobs in the first place with the super-secret National Security Agency. The two men charged Tuesday at a Moscow news conference that the United States was threatening world peace.

The Justice Department, in a formal statement late Wednesday, described as "grossly" reports that the FBI furnished unfavorable information on the pair to the Defense Department before the two were hired in 1957 by the NSA, a branch of the Pentagon.

Chairman Francis E. Walter, D-Pa., of the Un-American Activities group, said earlier he understood the FBI had informed the NSA before Mitchell and Martin were hired that one of them was a homosexual. He did not identify which of the two he meant.

A Defense Department spokesman said there is nothing in the personal record of either man indicating homosexuality.

Nothing Like 1952 Vote Bending

Minor Red Witch-Hunt Stirs the U.S.

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Shades but only minor shades of 1952. Just about this time eight years ago in the 1952 presidential campaign Republicans had but an iota of chance to get their votes and beat the Democrats. It was "Reds in government" under the Democratic administration.

Now under the Republican Eisenhower administration, two exponents of the highly secret National Security Agency—William H. Martin and Bernard F. Mitchell—have defected to Russia and babbled up in Moscow.

And in the midst of the 1960 presidential campaign the Democratic Un-American Activities Committee will begin this month an investigation to find out how the two men got into government under a Republican administration.

The whole pattern of rooting out subversives out of government has quieted down in recent years. And, just because it has this recent, shadowy Mitchell-Martin case is unlikely to be anything like the size of the issue of 1952.

For two years before the 1952 campaign Sen. Joseph McCarthy had troubled and aroused the nation with his one-man hunt for Communists in government and his icy insinuations against some of the most highly placed people.

For instance, his references to Secretary of State Dean Acheson as the "Red Don."

In addition to McCarthy's efforts, the nation had been shocked by the Hiss case, developed primarily by the work of Richard M. Nixon, then a California congressman on the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

She Defends Slot Machine for Children

FAIR LAWN, N. J. — Dorothy Norgard says she kept a slot machine in her living room to teach children the futility of gambling.

She was arrested Wednesday night and charged with violating the state's gaming laws. She said she had the slot machine in her living room for years and that it had sentimental value for her.

She said she placed it in her living room rather than her bedroom because her parents gave it to her. When she was a child she had used the slot machine as a bank, she said.

Mrs. Norgard admitted she gave neighborhood children coins to play the machine in "some hope that money goes quickly and is hard to win."

Appearing before Magistrate Arthur Mindlin, she pleaded innocent to the charge against her and denied she made a profit from the machine's operation. The machine contained a $7.50 jackpot when seized by police.

Hotel Men Optimistic

BURLINGTON, Vt. (UPI)—Robert T. Kilian Jr., director of promotion and publicity for the New England Hotel Association, said the northeast region will do $1.5 billion in recreation business this year.

Alger Hiss, once highly placed (and very uneasy and suspicious in the State Department and one about any widespread infiltration of those who accompanied P. Five years ago, Hiss had been linked with a Soviet spy ring and the foundations.

Even presidential candidate Dwight D. Eisenhower looked upon the "Reds in government" as a legitimate issue. Eisenhower administration, two exponents of the highly secret National Security Agency—William H. Martin and Bernard F. Mitchell—have defected to Russia and babbled up in Moscow.

There has been a difference in the way the country and small places at any time.

No STEADY BUILDUP There has been no steady buildup of vigilance in the large up that could make the country and small places at any time.

Frenchmen See End of Hand-Kissing Era

By EARL WILSON PARIS I hate to shatter the dreams of all my adorable lady readers but the famous hand-kissing gallantry of France has vanished. It has gone down the Seine.

The wife and I found while driving through France that a lot of Frenchmen are slugs. They're even slubier than we are. We saw women pinching him in the fields just like in Russia. In Calais, we saw a strong looking young man comfortably reading a paper in the lobby of his hotel while his wife lugged our bags up two flights of stairs down the bellboy bus.

I still wasn't able to believe that French chivalry was dead.

"After all, it's his wife—that's understandable," I said. We Renanized over to Reims where a brawny mademoiselle played the baggagette in our hotel there. This femme idemelle certainly did not look too charming as she seized up a big suitcase in each hand and dashed downstairs with it, past the male porter who was unconcernedly studying his manure.

"Permettez-moi!" I protested to the lady with a nice show of plain old Ohio-type politeness.

"Oh, No, monsieur—I'm used to it," she smiled, flexing her muscles.

I put the question straight to Charles Boyer on the set of "Fanny."

"I have never been a steady hand-kisser," he said, "and I forget till after I've shaken the lady's hand—then of course it's too late. It's a carry-over from certain high society people of the old days and it's disappearing."

"In France, it's mostly done by certain social snobs," he scoffed.

My wife was pretty disappointed to learn when she did get her hand kissed, it was recognition that she's an older doll—and married.

"Oh, oui, it would be very rude to kiss the hand of a young girl who's unmarried," Charles Boyer said.

"Well, what about Zsa Zsa Gabor's hand?" I asked. "She's unmarried."

"Oh, zat would be all right!" exclaimed Boyer. "After all, she's been married!"

Debate: Can Candidates Compete With Football?

By CYNTHIA LARBY AP TV Radio Writer If the entrance of American public doesn't get its full quota of "great debates" between the two presidential candidates, the reason may be a conflicting college football game.

Candidates Nixon and Kennedy are scheduled to make three joint broadcasting appearances—on Sept. 25, Oct. 13 and 21. But on Oct. 8, remains up in the air because ABC will be televising the Washington Stanford game from California. With time differences across the nation, the game may not be over by 7:30 p.m. Eastern Daylight Time when the nominees would be facing the cameras.

The hour-long program will be carried live by the four major television and radio networks and the problem was to find time convenient to the two campaigns, which would fit into the schedules of the networks. At preliminary meetings, ABC representatives said they would refuse to come into a program already in progress when their football game was ended.

"But we also told them that we would be perfectly willing, in knock off the football game when it was still going on," said Donald Cox, ABC news head. "If the candidates understand that we will be alternating a certain percentage of the audience more interested in knowing how the game came out than in watching a political debate."

Commuter Run Puts Chimes on Its Diesels

LONG BRANCH, N. J. (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad's commuter run has reached its adolescence. Its voice is changing. Harmonizing chime horns are replacing the old monotonous alarums on the diesel engines.

The switch has two objectives, a railroad spokesman says — to boost safety and to rattle nerve-wracked residents who claim the old horns sounded like the bellows of a wounded rhinoceros.

Bar Proposes New Courts

Would Handle State's Tax Matters, Take Up Criminal Appeals

LANSING (AP)—Creation of state courts to deal with tax matters and criminal appeals will be recommended for endorsement by the state bar of Michigan at its annual convention.

The new courts were proposed by study committees of attorneys which will lay their recommendations before the full bar when it assembles Sept. 28-30 in Grand Rapids.

The criminal court would handle appeals from circuit court decisions, reducing the burden on the State Supreme Court.

The committee on criminal jurisprudence, which made the recommendation, called for provision for at least seven judges, allowing for adequate hearings on both life imprisonment and other appeals. It would be empowered to reduce minimum sentences.

ASKS A PSYCHIATRIST
The committee also called for legislation to require three psychiatrists to examine a person charged with murder who pleads insanity as a defense.

The prosecuting attorney would notify the State Mental Health Commission of the plea and the commission would appoint the psychiatrist.

Another proposed law would allow the judge in whose court the murder trial took place to require a hearing before the defendant is sent to a mental institution to determine whether he may safely be returned to society.

The taxation committee urged formation of a tax court "at the earliest practicable date and not to await a general overhaul of the Michigan tax structure."

It would hear appeals on all tax decisions in lower courts.

The legislature previously has rejected bills to create both types of courts.

OTHER PROPOSALS
Other bar study committees proposed:

1. A law to require that all probable judges be attorneys.
2. Better coordination of courts in Wayne County, including appointment of a court administrator to supervise and help enforce rules of conduct.
3. Appointment of more personnel for probation and parole activities in the State Corrections Department.
4. Closer supervision of inferior courts by circuit courts.

Michigan Travel Winners to Visit Pontiac Tuesday

Mr. and Mrs. Michigan Travel will visit Pontiac Tuesday as part of a 10-day tour sponsored by Automobile Club of Michigan. The couple, Glen and Beverly Wynn of Detroit, will make the 25-city tour as the result of winning an Auto Club letter-writing contest.

During their visit, the couple will be inviting all residents to the National Automobile Show to be held in Detroit Oct. 15-22. The show, which will open Detroit's new $54-million Cobo Hall to the public, is expected to be Michigan's top tourist attraction of the year.

Mr. Michigan Travel is a native of London, England, who has adopted Michigan as his home. A commercial photographer-artist, he wrote the winning letter.

Mrs. Michigan Travel is a fashion stylist for a firm that owes much of its livelihood to the auto industry. She and her husband won the contest in competition with more than 1,000 couples from all over the state.
