Top Egyptians Confer in Move to Regain Gaza

Nasser-Named Leader Believed Mapping Plan to Seize Strip

CAIRO (INS)—The new Egyptian governor of the Gaza Strip conferred with Egypt's military commander today in what was regarded as the forerunner of a new Egyptian move to regain control of the disputed territory.

The Governor, Maj. Gen. Hassan Abdel Latif, met for two hours with Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer, Egypt's war minister and commander-in-chief.

They reportedly mapped details of Egypt's planned takeover of the United Nations-occupied strip.

Informed Egyptians predicted that President Gamal Abdel Nasser would make his next move toward regaining Gaza very soon, probably before the day ended.

What that next move would be was a closely guarded secret. But it could hardly come as a greater shock than yesterday's sudden announcement by Nasser that Gaza would return to Egyptian control "immediately."

Nasser evidently meant business. The government today issued its first administrative orders for the strip, the supply ministery ordering that Gaza's entire fresh fruit crop, the strip's major product, be imported into Egypt.

BACK PAY FOR OFFICIALS

At the same time, Amer's office instructed that all former Egyptian administrators in Gaza should receive back pay for the four-month period in which Israel controlled the strip.

Western diplomatic sources still were seeking to assess the impact of Nasser's latest surprise package. According to their figuring, the delicate balance between a hot war and an uneasy peace now depends upon what Israel does.

(Israeli government sources viewed the Egyptian announcement with "grave concern." Shortly before Nasser's appointment of a Governor for Gaza, the Israeli Foreign Ministry announced it was holding the U. N. responsible for preventing the Egyptians from returning to the Gaza Strip.

(At U. N. Headquarters in New York, Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold awaited "clarification" of yesterday's Egyptian demands.

Many U. N. officials looked upon Nasser's announcement as a maneuver designed to relieve domestic political pressure on him and not as a step toward taking over full control of the area from the United National Emergency Force.

(American diplomats in Cairo, London, Paris and at the U. N. worked to avert another Middle East blowup but made no commitments which would obstruct Hammarskjold's peace efforts.)

MEMO TO CAESAR

A Miracle in Capernaum

(Sixth in a Lenten Series)

My mother, Livia, feels that Jesus must be a man of exceptional qualities—the emperor Tiberius wrote in reply to Pilate when he was advised of the recent events in Nazareth. . . .

Aelius, my adviser, naturally takes a different tack. He is sure the man is dangerous and a threat to the empire.

To me, from what you have written, it appears that he is a threat only to hypocrites, and though that may seem dangerous to them, I cannot deem it evil in any way.

Do tell me more about the man when you have your next report from Junius.

Oh yes, my mother, whose tutor in her youth was a Greek slave, is so fascinated by this man of Nazareth that she is inclined to recall how, in Athenian mythology, the Gods came down from Olympus to walk and live among men.

Almost by the next galley, Tiberius received this word from Pilate:

The man is no myth, I can assure you. He is not in any way to be compared with the primitive Eros or Jupiter who came upon earth, in the old stories, mostly for very earthly reasons.

This Jesus is a man. We know his parents and his background.

There is, of course, nothing in this background to explain his strange power over other men.

For instance, I wrote you last that he had gone to Capernaum after the disturbance at Nazareth. Well, Junius followed him there and listened to him often, teaching on the Sabbath day.

On one occasion a demented fellow stood up in the crowd and shouted: "Let us alone. I know who thou art. Thou art the Holy one of God."

Junius interpreted this to mean that the demented man was calling Jesus the Messiah. But Jesus told the man to be quiet. And then a curious thing happened. The man not only grew silent but he ceased the twitching and slobbering with which he had been afflicted.

"It was a completely amazing transformation," Junius wrote me. "I could not have believed it if I had not seen it. Clearly, in his own way, this Jesus is a miraculous physician. I am at loss to understand his power."

With this, Pilate turned to other matters of general concern to the province to conclude his letter.

Now, of course, he had stirred the interest of the Roman Livia more than ever. . . . .

Mayor Schrunk Backs Out

Balks at Lie Test Queries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mayor Terry D. Schrunk of Portland, Ore., said he called off a lie detector test on his denial of accepting a bribe because he felt the Secret Service had "a fishing expedition lined up" in administering the test.

Schrunk was called back before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee following his refusal to complete the lie detector test yesterday.

Schrunk claimed today questions proposed to be asked him were "loaded" and concerned matters which he had not been asked in his earlier testimony last week at the Senate hearings.

Before Schrunk returned to the witness chair, Clyde C. Crosby, Oregon boss of the Teamsters Union, told the senators he had what he called new and "very important evidence" bearing on their inquiry into allegations that he and some other union officials "muscled in" on Portland rackets.

"It is documented, it is sworn to," Crosby said, and asked permission to read it.

But Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) told him the committee would have to look it over privately and decide whether it should be admitted. Crosby gave no clue as to its nature.

Crosby gave the committee nine recordings which had been subpoenaed from him.

Spectators jammed the big Senate caucus room. All standing room was taken. Outside, there was a line half a block long waiting to get in.

In Seattle, President Dave Beck of the Teamsters Union says he has notified Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) that he will appear before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee "on a date mutually satisfactory."

Legal Action Stalled on Jury Commission

Legal action to force the question of a jury commission to a public vote appeared stalled yesterday.

Public attorney Mitchell L. Bacow said he failed to muster support behind a suit proposed against the Oakland County Board of Supervisors, which Friday took a jury commission proposal of the April 1 ballot.

Bacow, as chairman of an Oakland County Bar Association committee for the commission, yesterday threatened court action forcing supervisors to replace the proposal.

Supervisors had placed the question of a three-man, nonpartisan commission on the ballot last month at Bacow's recommendation and the bar association's endorsement.

Bacow said today that legal technicalities and a hands-off policy were holding up the suit.

He failed yesterday to obtain a meeting of the association's board of governors to consider strategy, Bacow said. Hoped for support from the association president, Verne C. Hampton, also did not materialize.

HAMPTON STAYS OUT

Hampton announced his intention to steer clear of the controversy because of his public office as a circuit court commissioner.

Franklin Police Red in Face— Thief Takes Car

For the first time in his life, Franklin Village Police Chief Jack Roberts left his car unlocked last night. Thieves promptly picked his car to "pick up."

The bold bandits took the new 1957 blue and white Buick, sporting flasher and two-way police radio from in front of the Franklin Police department.

They left, in its place a 1949 four-door Ford sedan which had been stolen earlier from the residence of A. A. Whittle of Redford Township.

Light showers are likely again today, with springlike temperatures expected to linger for the next few days, predicts the weather man.

Reuther Hits Court Decision on Telecasts

Ruling Involves Right to Free Expression, Says Union Official

WASHINGTON (AP) — A United Automobile Workers (UAW) official says the question of free speech is involved in the Supreme Court's reinstatement of an indictment charging the union with illegally paying for political broadcasts.

The High Court ordered the reinstatement yesterday. By a 6-3 majority, the court held U. S. District Judge Frank A. Picard erroneously interpreted the corrupt practices act and stopped the prosecution "prematurely."

The court sent the case back to the Michigan court for trial.

Commenting on the action, UAW President Walter Reuther said:

"We intend to make every legal effort to defend our constitutional rights to free expression."

Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz) said he hoped the case would be tried quickly "so the approximately 40 per cent of the union men who are Republicans can look forward to the day their dues money won't be used to support people in the opposite party . . ."

The majority decision avoided all constitutional issues raised by counsel for the auto workers. The majority included justices Frankfurter, Burton, Clark, Harlan, Brennan and Reed, who heard the case before his recent retirement.

ABOLISHES RIGHTS

Speaking for the three dissenting judges, Justice Douglas said the majority opinion "abolishes first amendment rights on a wholesale basis." Chief Justice Warren and Justice Black joined with Douglas in arguing the Detroit court should be upheld.

The indictment charged the union used money from its general fund to pay for political broadcasts over station WJBK-TV in Detroit in 1954. The corrupt practices act prohibits corporations and labor organizations from making "a contribution or expenditure" in connection with any federal election.

The Justice Department, in appealing the Detroit court dismissal, contended the broadcasts were in support of particular candidates for Congress.

IMPORTANT CASE

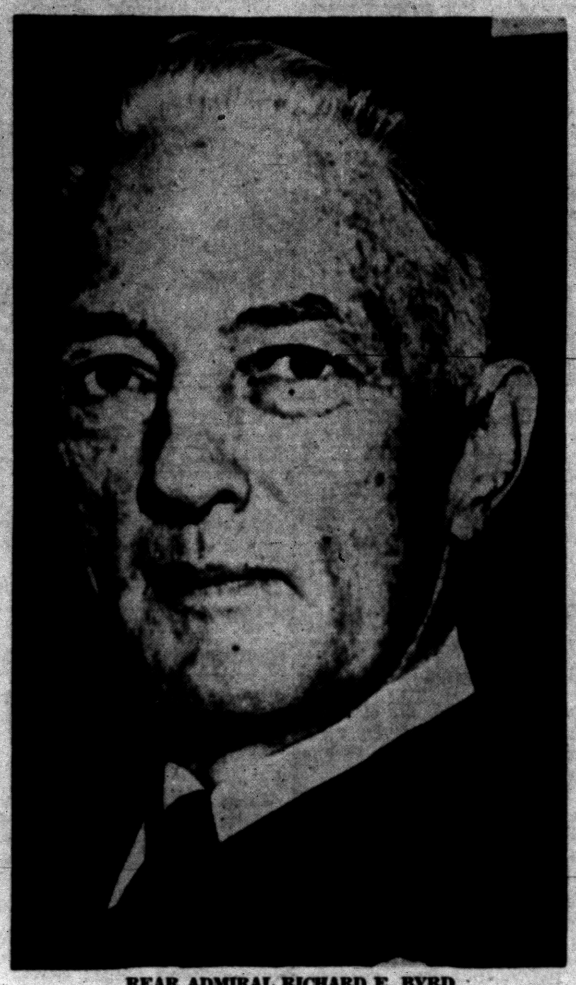

Reuther said the union "considers this case to be of importance far and beyond the rights of organized labor as a group in our free society.

"We believe that freedom of speech like other basic rights is an indivisible value and that the rights of one group cannot be infringed without putting into jeopardy the freedom of speech of all groups and all people."

Goldwater expressed disappointment that the court did not rule on the constitutional question "because it means a further delay in an approach by Congress towards a solution of the problems of unions spending compulsory dues money in national and local elections."

Famous Adventurer Dies

REAR ADMIRAL RICHARD E. BYRD

Explorer Noted for Polar Trips and Discoveries

Naval Adventurer, 68, Succumbs in His Sleep at Boston Home

BOSTON (AP)—Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, 68, noted explorer who headed two Arctic and five Antarctic expeditions, died in his sleep at his home last night.

His doctors said he died of a heart ailment brought on by overwork.

The admiral's last resting place will be in Arlington National Cemetery. Among the honorary pallbearers will be Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Byrd was the over-all head of Navy's huge Operation Deep Freeze in Antarctica in this International Geophysical Year, but his failing heart kept him from assuming on-the-spot supervision.

His wife and four children were at his bedside when he passed away at 6:20 p.m. at his home at the foot of Beacon Hill.

Byrd was the first man to fly over both the North and South Poles and held numerous decorations, including the Medal of Honor, for his explorations.

He is credited with charting some two million square miles of the earth's surface previously unseen by man. No one has ever equaled that feat. He laid the basis for possible American claims to a third of Antarctica.

Once Byrd estimated his nose had been nipped by frost some 200 times. His face bore many tiny freezing marks.

EARLY RETIREMENT

After his graduation from the Naval Academy in 1912, a leg injury forced him into early retirement, but he came back to serve in World Wars I and II, pioneer in naval aviation and command the first multi-engine plane to fly the Atlantic continent to continent nonstop.

He was commissioned a rear admiral at the age of 41, youngest of that rank at the time.

His last trip to the South Pole was in late 1955 and early 1956.

On a 1947 expedition to Antarctica, Byrd found that food left 10 years earlier in his Little America camp was perfectly preserved.

This led him to suggest that the Antarctic could serve as a vast natural refrigerator to store crops in bumper years.

"The world would never have another famine," he said at the time. "Surplus food could be stored away in the polar ice as insurance against lean production years."

ISOLATED IN HUT

During his 1934-35 antarctic expedition, he isolated himself for about six months in a tiny hut 82 miles from the base of operations

Wolfson Denies He'll Ask American Motors Shakeup

NEW YORK (AP)—Financier Louis E. Wolfson says he has "no thought of a proxy fight" for control of American Motors Corp., but that he has "certain suggestions" concerning operations.

The 45-year-old one-time Florida junk dealer said his suggestions would be for improvement of the company's earnings and they "might call for trimming, paring and pruning of certain unprofitable operations and possibly the expansion of others."

Wolfson did not elaborate as to what operations might be pruned or expanded.

Wolfson, who now controls an industrial empire valued at more than 225 million dollars, also disclosed in a statement through his New York office that he has acquired 350,000 shares of American Motors' 5,670,430 outstanding.

He said he had no way of knowing how many shares his friends and associates hold.

George Romney, chairman and president of American Motors, said in Detroit he and Wolfson had met and plan future meetings, but that thus far Wolfson "did not submit any program" for the auto-maker in their previous meetings."

Apparently in answer to reports that he would recommend an overall shakeup and the discontinuance of the firm's automotive (Nash-Hudson-Rambler-Metropolitan) division, Wolfson said American Motors has a "unique position in the automobile market" and is the one U.S. company that has recognized a need for small, compact cars.

Romney said, "I would be opposed to discontinuance of our automobile activities."

Stockholders of American Motors voted down a proposal Feb. 6 that it discontinue its Metropolitan, Nash and Hudson cars and consolidate production of Ramblers at Kenosha, Wis.

Romney reported at that meeting a $2,994,613 loss for the October-December quarter of 1956, on top of a $19,700,000 loss for the year ended last Sept. 30. He said, however, the (Kelvinator) appliance division had its "most profitable year since 1950."

Detroit Girl Flew as Stewardess on Record Flight

BALTIMORE (AP) — A Detroit girl was one of 52 persons aboard the Boeing 707 jet that flew across the United States yesterday in 3 hours and 48 minutes.

Jo Ann Reeber of Detroit acted as one of three stewardesses aboard the record making flight. She is a stewardess for Trans World Airlines based in Los Angeles.

Three airlines, TWA, American and Braniff, which have ordered the new jet, provided the stewardesses.

Quiz King Dethroned on Royal Question

Blonde Beats Van Doren

NEW YORK (AP)—An attractive woman lawyer with a knowledge of kings last night dethroned Charles Van Doren from his 14-week reign as ruler of the Twenty-One television quiz program.

By bumping Van Doren off the show, Mrs. Vivienne Nearing, a 30-year-old blonde, picked up $14,000 and replaced the Columbia University instructor as star of the show.

It dropped Van Doren's overall winnings to $129,000, but still left him television's top winner on any single quiz show.

Mrs. Nearing, whose lawyer husband Victor was one of Van Doren's previous victims, took advantage of a rules option to halt the game when she was ahead 17-10.

Van Doren had missed the first question and didn't get the 10 points he was trying for because of his inability to name Baudouin as the king of Belgium. It was one part of a six-part question dealing with the names of the kings of Denmark, Norway, Sweden, Belgium, Jordan and Iraq.

CORRECT ANSWERS

Mrs. Nearing, who had first shot at it, correctly named the kings in order as Frederick, Haakon, Gustavus, Baudouin, Hussein and Faisal.

Van Doren answered five correctly but stumbled over Baudouin. He mopped his brow and muttered, "The son of Leopold, the son of Leopold . . . I know that name." He couldn't come up with it but finally made a guess, admitting that it was probably wrong. He named the present king as Leopold, who actually is the father of Baudouin.

It left Mrs. Nearing ahead 10-0. Playing it cautiously, the woman challenger selected a question that rated only at seven points in difficulty. She named Angora as the specific type of goat that yields mohair.

Van Doren, shooting the works, tried and made a 10-point question by naming the poodle, bulldog, Dalmatian, chow and Boston

Continue 'Tough Policy' on Dixie

Waterford Head Upholds Police

3 Flint Men Threaten Signs to Warn Drivers of 'Speed Trap'

Acting Waterford Township Supervisor Louis H. Barry last night upheld the "get tough" policy toward Dixie Highway traffic violators.

He backed up Police Chief Frank Van Atta in the face of criticism by three disgruntled Flint drivers, who alleged police use "speed trap" tactics.

Jack S. Masin, a department store manager who is dissatisfied with a recent investigation by Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, threatened to raise billboards along the road warning motorists.

Barry and Van Atta welcomed the suggestion. "That's swell," Van Atta said. "Maybe it would help slow down speeders."

Along with Masin were Thaddeus Watters, a real estate agent, and John P. Heiss, a consulting engineer.

Masin claimed he was twice ticketed unfairly for speeding. Watters said he was misticketed once and Heiss twice.

Barry defended the use of unmarked cars to catch speeders. He said strict enforcement had reduced the traffic toll.

"That stretch of highway once was called 'the seven miles of death.' I'm glad to say that term has been dropped in the last two years since Van Atta took over," Barry said.

Van Atta said he will continue to crack down on speeders despite objections. Several township residents spoke for stricter enforcement.

Masin had presented to Ziem the names of 64 drivers who complained of being ticketed unfairly. After investigation, Ziem announced there was no evidence of police irregularities.

Plan to Expand Phone Network

$125,000 City Project Will Increase Service to Federal Exchange

Work will begin soon on a $125,000 project to expand the network of telephone lines served by the FEderal telephone exchange, Michigan Bell District Manager Ray H. Storm announced today.

The project will provide the south section of the exchange with additional telephone facilities to meet anticipated demands for new service, and a higher class of service for present customers who desire it.

The project will place cable in underground conduit "tunnels" in South Saginaw street, Woodward avenue, South boulevard, and Franklin road.

In addition, cable will be placed on poles on Motor street to the Miracle Mile Shopping development on Telegraph road.

Excavations for the project, including a trench along South Boulevard from General Motors Truck and Coach Plant to Opdyke road at the proposed Ottawa Village will be required. Conduit "tunnels" will be placed in these trenches, and telephone cable inserted through these tubes.

The Pontiac construction is part of the company's 1957 record construction budget of more than $100 million.

The entire job is to be completed in July as part of Michigan Bell's program of more than $4 million in new construction planned for the Pontiac area this year.

Canadian Dollar Goes Highest in 24 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—The Canadian dollar today was at its highest level in 24 years.

It was quoted at the close of trading yesterday at $1.04 21-32 in terms of the U.S. dollar. The new high came following a steady ascent since January and compared with the 1933 high of $1.05⅝.

The strength of Canada's dollar has been attributed to the flood of U. S. money going into Canada for investment. Also Canadian business has been actively raising funds in the U.S. capital market because of lower interest rates prevailing south of the border.

Yesterday the Bank of Canada reported that the flow of foreign capital into the Dominion set a record at $1,398,000,000 in 1956, or more than twice the 1955 total.

Foreign investment experts noted that many American firms have been reinvesting earnings of their Canadian subsidiaries in their Dominion operations, rather than paying them out as dividends. Thus there is a smaller demand for U.S. dollars.

Residents Charge Defective Installation

Waterford to Add Heating Law

Waterford Township Board members decided at last night's board meeting to add an ordinance concerning heating installations in new homes.

This action is the result of many complaints from township residents regarding alleged defective heating installations by local builders. The board has been unable to do anything about the complaints.

A license to install heating equipment will be required of new builders and a heating inspector will be added to the Building and Electrical Department to check on the installations after the ordinance is approved.

In other business, the board voted to revise specifications for a future water system, and also approved the revised sanitary sewer specifications recommended by Johnson and Anderson, Engineers.

SEWER DRAINAGE

The Waterford Township School Board was granted permission by the board to use storm sewer drainage into a low area of township-owned property for the new John D. Pierce School to be located on Hatchery road near Crescent Lake road.

The board also agreed that any future dump site in the township will be bulldozed and covered with six inches of sand, periodically. A performance bond will be required guaranteeing satisfactory work before a contract is awarded.

The Lotus Lake Subdivision No. 1 water system was approved by board members.

Edward Smith, fire chief, requested 25 folding chairs for each of the three fire stations in the township. The board approved buying 100 chairs after an estimate has been submitted.

Fumes made him desperately ill, but he refrained from summoning help lest the life of someone else be endangered in a rescue attempt.

Byrd narrowly escaped death on another, now forgotten occasion. It was in 1921 in England, where he had gone to assist in navigating to the United States the dirigible ZR-2, just purchased from the British government.

He missed a train and arrived too late for the test flight. The dirigible exploded over the Humber River, killing 42 of its 46 occupants.

Byrd first flew to the North Pole in 1926 and to the South Pole in 1929.

His second flight to the South Pole was in 1947. After his fourth flight to the antarctic, he reported:

"There's an awful lot of coal down there and no one knows what other resources may lie hidden under the ice."

AIRSTRIP SITES

During World War II, Byrd explored the Southeast Pacific for possible sites for airstrips.

The crowning point of his career came when President Eisenhower named him "officer in over-all charge of the United States' permanent unit for antarctic activity."

Byrd, a native of Winchester, Va., married his childhood sweetheart, Marie D. Ames in 1915.

In addition to his widow, he leaves four children, Richard Jr., Boston; Mrs. William A. Clarke Jr., Swarthmore, Pa.; Mrs. Robert G. Breyer, Los Angeles; and Mrs. Lawrence J. Stabler Jr. Philadelphia.

He was the brother of Sen. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia.

Jury Commission Legal Action Stalled

said, because of the nature of the suit. It may be necessary to ask the prosecutor to enter the case, he explained.

Apparently the correct legal procedure would be to ask the prosecutor to file for a writ of mandamus based upon violation by the supervisors of their own bylaws, Bacow said.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the Board of Supervisors, today expressed his belief that supervisors had acted Friday to correct a "hasty" action last month.

"I think the board is certainly interested in a jury commission," he said, "but my feeling is they decided they were unsure whether the proposed commission is the best type for the county."

Hamlin said a group of board members had approached him a week before Friday's meeting with the query whether it was possible legally to reconsider the January action.

"Our corporation counsel satisfied me that it was legal, so I told them to go ahead and bring the matter up," Hamlin said.

One of Bacow's criticisms was the move was a surprise without the association being notified in advance.

The proposed jury commission would replace the present system of juror selection by supervisors from each community.

Members of the Bar Association had criticized the present system, charging that some persons serve as jurors on more than one occasion.

Study to Launch Rebuilding in City

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

A survey of the quality of housing in Pontiac will be the initial step taken by the city's newly-hired planning consultant as he launches into what promises to be the biggest rebuilding project in Pontiac's history.

David S. Geer, head of the Birmingham firm of Geer Associates told a group of city planning commissioners last night that the first of a two-fold program to be undertaken would be urban renewal.

The planning and City Commissioners agreed to engage Geer to review the city's 9-year-old master plan and to launch an urban renewal project.

"We will make a citywide check by auto of the homes in Pontiac," Geer said, "and then by districts show what percentage of the areas are judged blighted."

"I think the people of Pontiac will be quite surprised to learn how many homes in their neighborhoods are without running water," the planning specialist said.

He emphasized that the entire planning program, worked in cooperation with the planning commission and city officials, will take years. "It probably will be a good three years before youll see anything concrete on the ground," Geer stated.

The city can look forward to federal financial assistance in its urban renewal program, he said. "We, along with city officials, make a survey of the city's problems," the consultant explained. "Then we reduce this down to a priority basis."

FILE APPLICATION

Based on this, Geer said, an application is filed for federal aid for this preliminary urban renewal planning.

Urban renewal is the modern term for slum clearance, a term most modern planning consultants, like Geer, shy away from. "We try to avoid using the word slum clearance," he said, "because it usually refers to inhabitants instead of the buildings in the area."

Outlining his preliminary plan of attack, Geer stressed that the city's urban renewal project would not be restricted to better known "distressed areas" in Pontiac. "This will be a citywide job," he added.

He said a 1950 census of Pontiac and new building permits would be studied during the housing survey.

Geer told the planning commissioners that the review of Pontiac's master plan, adopted April 21, 1948, would be undertaken concurrently with urban renewal.

He said two answers would be sought in the planning renewal job. "First we find out where the worst blighted areas are, and then see what long-term uses we can make out of the property after it is cleared."

"In order to convince Uncle Sam, we have to get a picture of the degree of blight of the whole city," he said.

Reviewing census figures of Pontiac, Geer said: "It doesn't look to me as if Pontiac has a declining business district." He stressed that this was based on a look at the city's overall picture.

A third objective of the Birmingham firm will probably be a revision of the city's zoning ordinance.

Van Doren Loses to Woman Lawyer

terrier as five breeds of non-sporting dogs.

At this juncture, Mrs. Nearing, in a booth sealed off from Van Doren, exercised a program option and stopped the game while she was ahead 17-10. It was a sheer guess on her part, for she had no knowledge of what questions Van Doren was asked or answered. She said she just operated on a hunch, a right one as it turned out.

TO BE LISTENED

"All hail to the new champion," Van Doren said with a smile as he extended congratulations.

"I'm sure gonna have a wonderful time listening to this show next week," he said, referring to the strain he had undergone in past weeks on the program.

Van Doren entered the night's competition with earnings of $143,000. It was chopped down $14,000, on the basis of $2,000 for every winning point amassed by a winner. In Mrs. Nearing's case, it amounted to seven points.

After the show Van Doren said, "I've got a date with the tax man." He figures he'll be left with about $30,000 after taxes. He said he hopes to put the money aside in investments, drawing on it "to do the things I really want to do."

These, he indicated, would include the purchase of a car, possibly a foreign make, plus a week's trip someplace when he gets a short vacation from teaching at Easter.

Marriage is out of the question at the present time, he said.

Charges Illegal Use of Southfield Funds

A Southfield Township justice of the peace today charged $46,000 in township funds have been illegally appropriated over the past two years.

Edward A. Elsarelli, justice since 1955, charged the money has gone for salaries and auto expenses. Elsarelli was defeated for renomination in last month's primary election.

He charged the township is employing three assistant appraisers in positions unauthorized by law. He further claimed that fixed car allowances for the supervisor, township clerk and township treasurer are illegal.

These charges, Elsarelli said in a letter to the clerk Friday, are based on attorney general's opinions made two years ago.

A third charge is that the supervisor, clerk and treasurer were given improper raises in April, 1955. They were unconstitutional, Elsarelli stated, because officers already had started a new term.

THIRD CHARGE

Elsarelli tied this third charge to the fact that raises are being considered for the three officers this year.

Supervisor Eugene Swem, who took office in May, 1955 and is not included in the third charge, today said the appropriations were valid.

"The attorney general's opinion came after the board's action," he said. "It is, after all, only an opinion and nobody has ever raised any objection on the basis of it."

Taking the charges one by one, Swem said the extra appraisers were needed in a township as large as Southfield, which has two regular appraisers.

CAR EXPENSES

Under the fixed car expenses voted by the board, Swem said, he gets $1,000 a year. Mrs. Fannie Adams, Clerk; Mrs. Clara Lane, Treasurer, and the five appraisers each get $500.

Swem maintained routine delays in passing the 1955 salary raises did not make the action illegal. Supervisor's pay went from $7,150 a year to $9,000. The clerk's and treasurer's pay both went from $4,950 to $6,500.

Increases of $1,000 a year for all three are included in the budget scheduled for approval at the annual meeting March 31. These raises were inserted, Swem said, only in case the fixed car expenses are not re-approved.

He said no action was contemplated in answer to Elsarelli's charges. The justice had demanded he be advised what steps the township is taking "to stop illegal expenditures" and recover those already made.

Kennan Reviews Russian Tragedy

NEW YORK (INS) — This is the second portion of a two-part visit with George F. Kennan, former U.S. ambassador to Moscow, now leading the cloistered life at Princeton's Advanced School of Studies.

Kennan, author of the "Containment" policy in respect to the Soviet Union, is midway through writing a trilogy exhaustively tracing Russian history during the short but historically important period when communism conquered the land.

The first volume "Russia Leaves the War" (Princeton University Press) is 500 pages of historical scholarship which, notwithstanding, reads like a great and tragic novel.

Kennan, on U.S. relations with Russia immediately after that revolution-torn country deposed the czar and pulled out of World War I — "it is one of the greater tragedies of history that the United States entered World War I within a few short weeks after the February (1917) revolution, which brought Alexander Kerensky into power.

"Once in the war, we were dominated by a war psychology. Nothing else was important. Everybody else should be in, we felt. The hysteria here and in the West in general was disgraceful. The worst kind of demagoguery was loose.

SYMPATHY SHOWN

"Dachshunds were kicked to death on the streets, for example. Prominent churchmen denied that Christian doctrine applied to Germany.

"We sent the elder statesman Elihu Root to Petrograd to manifest America's sympathy for the 'adherence of Russia to the principle of democracy' and to confer with the Russian government about 'the best ways and means to bring about effective cooperation between the two governments in the prosecution of the war.'

"We based our offer of aid to Kerensky on Russia continuing in the war. No war, no loan, Root said. Kerensky did what he could. But it was a suicidal thing to ask.

"The Bolsheviks had the popular position. They preached 'Let the imperialists fight each other to the death — we've suffered enough.' The people eagerly agreed — and Kerensky was out and the Reds were in by November of the same 1917.

"Who knows, really? If we had let Russia do what it wished to do — leave the war — and still aided Kerensky, and if we had not been immersed in our own hysteria, I feel that moderate, constitutional government would have taken root in Russia. But when we pressed Kerensky, and he tried, even his generals turned against him.

WESTERN DISUNITY

Kennen on communism's survival — "Soviet communism is a function of Western disunity. The French, British and eventually the Americans fought Germany, another Western power, in World War I, and Russia went Communistic as a direct result.

"Hitler started the second great fratricidal strife within the West — and communism moved in and took half of Europe. Then it took China when once again there was disunity in the West. I say that if there had been no world wars communism would not exist today."

Kennan on U.S. Ambassador David R. Francis, one of the futile figures of that era in diplomacy "The ambassador was was a very prototype of the bourgeoisie. Come revlution or counter-revolution, nothing interfered with his grand walks through Petrograd.

"The embassy staff naturally was concerned about him but dared not approach him with suggestions. Finally, his butler, Philip Jordan, said to him, 'Boss, you've got to stop struttin' around in that fur hat, that fur collar on your coat, and those spats and cane. If you don't one of these fine days those tough Bolshies will say, Boy, look what the good Lord done sent us!' "

Home Demonstration Club to Be Organized

Mrs. Mary Hixon, county home demonstration agent, will attend the organizational meeting. The new club will be the 107th in the county, Mrs. Hixon said.

How come the new Ford rides so smooth and solid?

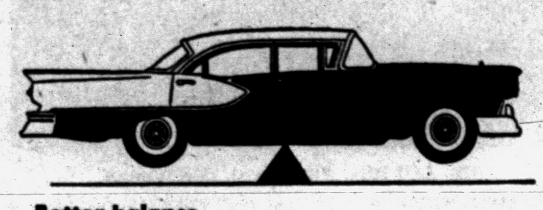

It's the new inner Ford that gives you a big-car ride at low Ford prices

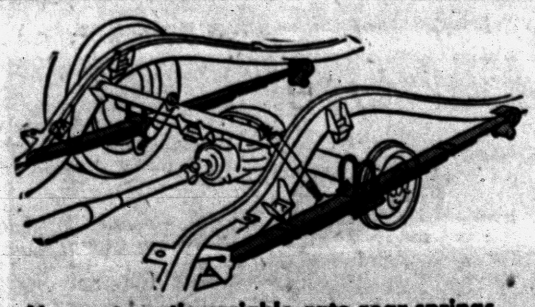

• Folks just naturally love a Ford's longer, lower, sleeker silhouette. And they love Ford's new, more powerful Thunderbird V-8's and Mileage Maker Six. But the thing that's really got 'em buzzing is Ford's new kind of ride. The way a car rides depends on many engineering features all working together. In the new kind of Ford these vital riding features team up to give you the smoothest going in the whole ride world. They're demonstrated below.

More weight and length
Head for the roughest road in the new kind of Ford. Notice how the biggest bumps lose their "thump"! One reason is that this biggest, longest, heaviest Ford has the extra "beef" to give a smooth, road-hugging ride.

Better balance
One of Ford's nicest back-road habits is to make believe the rough spots aren't there. Proper weight distribution and precise balancing let Ford iron out bumps far better than many of the higher-priced cars.

New automatic variable-rate rear springs
Going from a highway to a byway in a Ford, is like going from satin to silk. New design allows Ford's rear springs to "soften" or "stiffen" depending on road conditions. You get a smooth ride all the way!

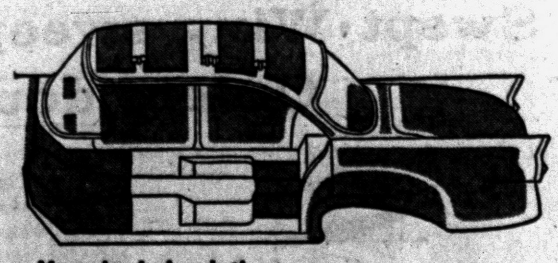

New swept-back Ball-Joint front suspension
Ford's new, stronger front suspension is designed to soak up the shock of rough roads. The new swept-back design lets wheels "roll" with the bump and absorb it going away . . . for far smoother, steadier sailing.

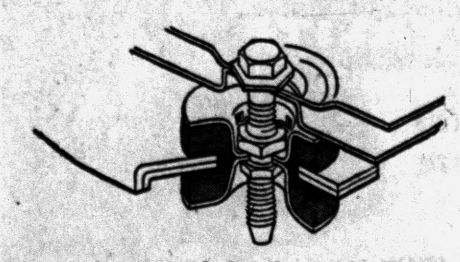

New lower-pressure tires
Even Ford's tires are new for a better ride! Although they require less air pressure, they hold about 17% more air for cushioning the car. This means a softer ride—without sacrifice of Ford's good handling characteristics.

More comfortable seating
There's no sag when you sit in a Ford . . . even on long trips. Comfort-contoured seats, rigidly anchored, have advanced springing for greater comfort and longer life.

More body insulation
Ford has more body insulation—protection against weather, dust, and noise—than any car in the low-price field. You ride through noisiest traffic in library-like quiet.

No metal-to-metal chassis and body contact
Only Ford in its field uses 20 Cushion Quiet rubber body mounts . . . more than any other low-priced car. It all adds up to a smoother, quieter riding car.

Try the new kind of ride in the new kind of FORD

977 Citizens Turn Down Reclassification Issue for Schools

Royal Oak Man Held on Manslaughter Charge

BAD AXE (AP) — James MacDougall, 23, of Royal Oak, was held in Huron County jail today, pending examination next month on a manslaughter charge stemming from an auto accident last Thursday.

McDougall stood mute and demanded examination yesterday at arraignment before Bad Axe Justice Gordon Walker. He was sent back to jail under $1,000 bond and examination set for April 6.

Sheriff Merrett McBride said MacDougall was driving a car which struck a utility pole in Pigeon Thursday night. A passenger, James A. Wier, 23, also of Royal Oak, died of injuries Saturday.

Oldsters Ask Advice on How to Retire

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The Bell Telephone Co. of Pennsylvania (BTP) wanted to lay a smooth road to retirement for its workers.

So, about a year ago, it asked some 2,000 of its people who were nearing retirement if it could help them make plans. It asked 460 of it retired people how they were finding their retirement.

Well over half of the people on the verge of retirement told the company they'd welcome its help.

They listed their problems in this order: How to get along on less money; what to do with leisure time; where to live; personal health and living arrangements.

The chief way to help, they said, would be to give them some written information on how to meet these problems. Many thought individual and group discussions would help. Some suggested talks by retirement specialists.

From its people who'd retired, the BTP got some backing for its effort to help workers plan their retirement. It found those who'd made definite retirement plans were finding life more pleasant than those who'd done little or no planning.

And, it found some answers to the problems raised by the workers who were about to retire. Here are some of the answers offered by those already retired.

On finances, make some of the adjustments to less income before retiring. For example: Practice living on less before you retire and free yourself of debts.

On leisure time, take part in civic, church and welfare work; keep up friendships and make new friends; look for new interests along with taking up hobbies.

LIVE NEAR FRIENDS

On where to live, live near your friends and relatives or in a resort area where living is cheaper.

On living arrangements, own your own home, buying it as early as possible with an eye to adding to your income by renting part of it; live with people of similar means and interests.

On personal health, keep physically active and develop sound health and eating habits.

With the information the BTP had from its employes and former employes, it started acting. First came an employes' Retirement Information Service. It's already prepared and handed out two booklets:

—"What Will You Do When You Retire?" which emphasizes advance planning for retirement and uses 10 case histories as examples.

—"What Kind of a Body Will I Take Into Retirement?" which tells of the illnesses of older people and suggests ways of dealing with or avoiding them. Others are being written on financial planning, activities during retirement and how to choose a place to live.

Through its company magazine, the BTP is reporting on interviews with its retired men and women. Many of the interviews' offer advice on what to expect in retirement and how to meet some of its problems.

Recently the company held its first group discussion in Pittsburgh. It featured discussions of various retirement subjects, a talk by the company's medical director and reviews of personal case histories.

Personal interviews will probably be the next step for employes who want them.

(Questions on Social Security problems may be addressed to "Social Security," in care of The Pontiac Press. Questions will be answered by mail from the Pontiac office of the Social Security Administration. There is no charge for this service.)

PARKING ON PREMISES

Four important things that affect the price you pay for gasoline in Michigan

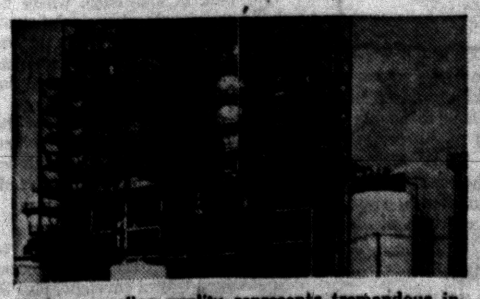

TAXES—You might be surprised what a big chunk of your gasoline dollar goes for direct taxes placed on gasoline by federal and state governments. These taxes are largely used to build and maintain our expanding highway system and are collected from you at the gasoline pump. In Michigan the direct taxes on regular grade STANDARD RED CROWN Gasoline total 9 8/10 cents per gallon—equal to 42 percent of the price of the gasoline alone in mid-Michigan areas.

PRODUCT IMPROVEMENT—Today's gasoline looks and smells about the same as gasoline has for years but your car can tell the difference. The STANDARD RED CROWN you use today is higher quality, higher octane than our Premium Gasoline was only 4 years ago. Such dramatic product improvements are costly. During the past two years octane increases alone added about 25 million dollars per year to our continuing operating costs.

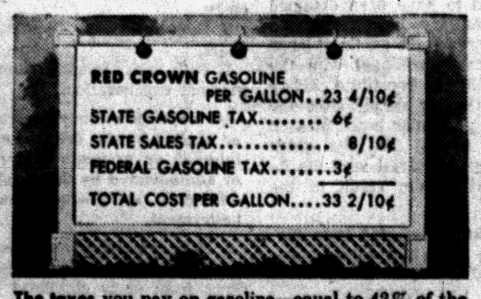

WAGES—The money you pay for RED CROWN helps, too, to pay the wages and salaries of the 52,000 men and women in our immediate "family". They are people like yourself who have had to meet rising living costs. General wage increases of slightly over 4 percent and 6 percent in 1955 and 1956 increased our costs about 28 million dollars annually.

SERVICE—Your Standard Dealer is an independent business man in a keenly competitive business. A few cents per gallon mark-up is all that competition allows him if he is to attract and hold your business. This modest mark-up enables him to offer and maintain essential services for car owners. At the same time, it must help cover his many costs and earn him a fair profit.

 WHAT MAKES A COMPANY A GOOD CITIZEN?
Because gasoline is widely used and needed, its price is a matter of interest to a great many people. The communities in which we live and serve are entitled to information this company can give them on factors affecting gasoline prices.

Modern gasoline quality represents tremendous investments in better facilities and processes, and in research. Yet in America today an hour's pay buys more than half again as much gasoline, excluding direct taxes, as it would fifteen years ago.

In the last 15 years Standard Oil salaries, wages and benefits on the average have increased about 170%. This is important to each Standard Oiler and important to the welfare of the communities where our "family" members live and work.

The taxes you pay on gasoline—equal to 42% of the price of the gasoline itself in mid-Michigan—help to build and maintain Michigan's expanding highway system. You pay these direct taxes whenever you buy gasoline.

Federal Aid to Schools No Benefit for Michigan

In Washington, Louis Schimmel testified that Michigan didn't want Federal aid for schools. "We'll handle our own problems and pay our own bills," said he.

"Others should do likewise."

Michigan is one of the states that would help pay the expenses of the balance of the Union on this Federal aid program. We would receive twelve million dollars from the Federal Government and for this great "privilege" Michigan would dig up nearly seventeen million dollars.

The difference between what we get back from the District of Columbia and the money we sent down there would go to other states in the Union.

In addition to this, many people are fearful that if the Federal Government gets a finger in this big pie, it will start dictating. Michigan is capable of making her own decisions. We don't need any bureaucratic thinking that originated in some vast central control set up for that purpose.

Mr. Schimmel favors the simple, direct way.

We pay less.

We get more for our money.

These two factors are lost in too many man-made clouds of dust and smoke.

Warning Is Sounded About School Lobby

There are two sides to nearly every question and the Sarasota News sounds a stern word of warning on the current school lobby, pointing out dangers which it believes are inherent in the current systems.

The News says in part:

"President Eisenhower has made it clear that he wants federal aid for school construction put on a strictly temporary, emergency basis. After four years, he hopes to see the Federal Government get out.

"But if anybody thinks that this is what the 'education lobby' wants, he had better go back to school. In fact, he had better tune in on the annual convention of the American Association of School Administrators in Atlantic City recently.

"The so-called 'temporary shortage' is the merest entering wedge, so far as the Federal-aid lobby is concerned. What is really needed, they all agreed, is a Federal-aid program that starts with a few hundred millions a year, and rapidly works its way up to anywhere between $3,500,000,000 and $6,000,000,000 annually.

"Professor Harris of Harvard declared Uncle Sam must provide support of $600,000,000 a year now and $6,000,000,000 by 1965 to permit the schools to step up their spending from about $9,000,000,000 a year to $22,000,000,000.

"Lester V. Chandler simply stated that financing education should henceforth be primarily a Federal responsibility rather than local or state.

"The real goal of the Federal-aid drive, as the professional education journals have been declaring more and more bluntly, is to fasten the public schools permanently onto the Federal income tax as a major source of their support. Only thus, it is reasoned, will the schools be assured of painless access to a flow of revenue adequate to their desires and needs without all the yearly struggles with local taxpayers and tight-fisted state legislatures that they now have to put up with.

"The school lobby is asking for "temporary" aid, knowing that the only thing 'temporary' it has in mind is that it will have to settle temporarily for a few hundred million a year instead of the billions it will demand a few years hence.

"It might be argued, of course, that the panelists at the Atlantic City meeting were only speaking to the school administrators, not necessarily for them.

"But it is the first long step in a deliberately-planned campaign to shift a major share of the financial responsibility for public education from the states and localities permanently to the Federal Government. Many an educator will defend this, some of them eloquently, but no honest educator that we know will seriously try to deny it."

You are not a frequent moviegoer if you haven't heard the following line at least two dozen times: "I don't want to have to kill you."

The Man About Town

Talks About Taxes

Some Plain Figures on Who Pays Them and How

Old age: Often merely a simple matter of what you desire to make it.

Here in Pontiac where so many of them are made, we're particularly interested in a report recently issued by vice-president of the Michigan Auto Dealers Assn. It shows that during the last fiscal year the automotive industry was responsible for the carrying of over 37 per cent of our state's sales tax load.

The exact figures in the entire state show a total collection of $755,388,990, of which $283,272,191 came directly from the makers, sellers and users of cars, trucks and trailers on account of the making and operation of same. In the Pontiac area the proportion undoubtedly was much higher than on the state level.

Mr. Haley points out that a motor vehicle is continually taxed from the day it is made to the day it is junked. Yet he says, this tax is the most uncomplainingly paid of all taxes. He avers that it follows the old theory to pluck the goose that squawks the least.

Eastern super markets now are selling double yolk eggs in separate containers from the ordinary kind — and at an increased price, of course.

There's a magazine devoted to the trucking industry, called which predicts our nation's biggest construction boom during the next few years, also the worst traffic snarl in its history, both of which already have the makings in the Pontiac area.

Probably the only Oakland County man to own two centennial farms is of 501 Baldwin Road. He lives on one of them and the other is on Sashabaw Road, both taken up from the government by his ancestors over 100 years ago.

Loneliness is the lot of the man advanced to a $100,000 executive position, according to a survey made by the magazine that digs up such facts. It finds that he can no longer be "one of the boys" in his organization or otherwise. But most of us would be willing to give it a try.

"Chemical Engineering"

Still in effect in Pontiac is an old ordinance that prohibits anybody from allowing their cow to run at large in the downtown section.

After trapping along the Clinton River for a half century or more, of Waterford tells me the architecture of the muskrat houses is no reliable indication of what kind of a winter we're to get.

Mike Ladson

Unenviable Position

David Lawrence Says:

Will Firms Give Cash in Elections?

WASHINGTON — Is the way being opened for corporations as well as labor unions to contribute funds to political campaigns in which congressional and presidential candidates seek election?

The Supreme Court of the United States has ruled 5-to-3 that the case against the United Auto Workers union, which was dismissed last year by the district judge without trial, should be tried now and all the facts brought out and the issues defined. But Justice Frankfurter, who wrote the majority opinion, and Justice Douglas, who spoke for the minority, both seem to have indicated an area of political activity in which corporations as well as labor unions may put money during political campaigns.

LAWRENCE

For, under the existing law, corporations and labor unions stand on the same footing. Justice Douglas, speaking for the minority, claims that what the union was indicted for doing "is a broadside assault on the freedom of political expression guaranteed by the First Amendment." But if he is correct about that, then corporations now can plead the same rights under the constitution.

It so happens that in 1907, when the first law on the subject of so-called "corrupt practices" was passed, only corporations came under the ban. They have not been allowed to contribute, directly or indirectly, to Federal campaigns since that time, and there have been no tests of the Constitutional issues.

CHALLENGE STATUTES

But when the laws were extended in recent years to apply to labor unions, a challenge against such statutes appeared. Labor unions have claimed they have a right to campaign at least in their own newspapers.

Yet at no time have employers been conceded the same right to campaign in their own "house" publications directed to their own stockholders or to their own employes.

Justice Frankfurter asked some significant questions in the majority opinion just issued by the court. He did not pass on the merits but it was easy to infer that not all political help or financial aid that corporations or labor unions may give in political campaigns is really taboo. Some of it is obviously protected under the Bill of Rights. Justice Frankfurter asked:

GENERAL DUES

"Was the broadcast paid for out of the general dues of the union membership or may the funds be fairly said to have been obtained on a voluntary basis? Did the broadcast reach the public at large or only those affiliated with the union? Did it constitute active electioneering or simply state the record of particular candidates on economic issues? Did the union sponsor the broadcast with the intent to affect the result of the election?"

It might be inferred from the foregoing that, if a union made a broadcast to its own members or if a corporation addressed its own employes and its own stockholders, it would be an exercise of the right of free speech under the Constitution but that, if they spent money for broadcasts which reached the general public, this might be construed to be a campaign contribution for election purposes.

It is difficult to see how the question of "intent" can ever be resolved. If a speech is broadcast on the radio, or an advertisement is inserted in the newspapers, whoever pays for it—either the corporation or the labor union—would certainly know that it would reach far beyond any chosen audience directly connected with the sponsoring union or corporation.

The Department of Justice has been troubled by that decision of the Detroit judge, because no trial was held and no opportunity was afforded to meet the specific issues in court. The Supreme Court now has opened up the case. But the raising of the right of free speech by the union opens up also the whole Constitutional issue.

It would appear that Congress will have a hard time writing any law that's Constitutional which could limit the size of campaign contributions made by corporations or unions even where the avowed object is to assist a group of candidates or a particular political party.

LI'L ONES

"Hey, Pop, did you hear I got a new dog?"

Dr. William Brady Says:

Mineral-Vitamin Booster Advised in Riggs Disease

"Mother has been under dentists' and doctors' care for nearly a year. As we understand it, she has Riggs' disease in her jaw bone. She has had all her teeth extracted, but still has severe pain in her jaw.

"The doctor who is now taking care of her—she has had three given her penicillin shots twice a week since December. They have had no apparent effect.

BRADY

"Now he wants to inject alcohol directly into the nerve to the jaw. This, he says, would make that side of her face numb for perhaps eight months. Mother is waiting for your decision before making up her mind." (C. T. H.)

All I can say is that injection of 10 to 20 drops of pure alcohol into the root of the affected brand of the trifacial nerve gives relief for several months in cases of facial neuralgia.

My province is to teach people how to keep well, how to prevent illness. I am not competent to make a long distance diagnosis or give absent treatment.

But I cannot dismiss this poor woman's plight without saying that in my opinion it is rarely if ever necessary to extract all of the teeth.

POINTS IN COMMON

In some respects Riggs' disease (otherwise called pyorrhea alveolaris) and chronic joint disability (otherwise called rheumatism or "arthritis" if you prefer to be snobbish) are similar:

1. Both condition develop insidiously.

2. Both are chronic—continue for years.

3. Both are manifestations of physical degeneration.

4. No local remedy prescribed or applied by the dentist and no internal or systemic prescribed or administered by the physician will cure or produce positive betterment.

5. Both complaints are caused by nutritional deficiency through the years from early childhood up to the present time.

6. Both may be prevented or, if not too far advanced, benefited by adopting and following from now on an adequate diet and/or supplementing the diet with an adequate daily ration of the essential minerals and vitamins which our refined modern diet lacks.

If you are a regular reader, you know by now that I know of no specific remedy or treatment for pyorrhea. But I can say honestly that, whether you are developing it or not, it can do no harm to study Volumettes 1 and 16 of the Pocket Cyclopedia of Health, titled respectively Save Your Teeth and the 7 Keys to Vite. For either send 35c and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Resident Expresses Backing of Planning Commission

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

The unfavorable comment on the proposed City freeway is fine, as this is a healthy atmosphere and necessary to our democratic way of life. But let's not lose sight of reality. In the next 10 to 20 years, with the help of the St. Lawrence Seaway, this area will grow by leaps and bounds. If we are to draw our share of business, we must plan adequately for this increase in population and industry.

Our City Planning Commission is doing a good job. I understand they are using a master plan for municipal development. The job is enormous, and they deserve our full cooperation and support.

The Pontiac Press is doing an excellent job with editorials, and I think the majority of the public, and especially local businessmen, are 100 per cent behind the progressive attitude of our local planning commission and city government. I wish to add another small voice to their support.

Advice on Divorce Offered by Mother

People talk of King Saud and his many wives, but we have a bigger problem right here. Think of the many people who have been divorced two or three times, leaving several children to shift almost for themselves, or being taken care of by some other man or woman.

Often the step-children must go without things they had with their own parents, and if the father has to pay a few dollars to feed the poor, innocent children, he cries and sobs because this has taken a few beers and wild evenings away. I think a lack of religion in childhood causes this, and those high-powered lawyers don't help the situation. In a few months you can be free of your mate, and then the children suffer most.

We all have problems in the home but keep the family together and everyone is happier. Grass may look greener on the other side, but when you get across you usually find just a few more thistles. If you need outside help, go to your religious leader or doctor. They are for keeping the home together.

'Postman's Wife Rings Twice'

I did not mean to insinuate that shop workers are living the life of Rockefeller. They just make a lot more than postal workers. Postal workers cannot negotiate with their leaders and then strike if they don't get what they ask. All they can do is ask and sacrifice until the Government decides to do something. I know you can't get rich either place, but my husband likes his job and just wants enough to live on without having to kill himself. We all have to settle somewhere, sometime, so to each his own.

'Write to Express Idea on Budget'

Taxpayers are simply doomed and they're absolutely stuck with this 72 billion dollar budget unless they write to Congress and protest. Congress will never fly in the face of an avalance of votes. If you're unhappy with this gigantic bite into your personal income, write and say so. That counts more than anything else.

'Waterford Needs Driver Education'

Did you know the driver of a school bus or any motor vehicle is totally to blame in case of an accident because of defective stop lights, brakes, etc.? The school board doesn't drive the bus. Are you drivers too chicken to refuse to drive an unsafe bus?

Since a driver must keep his load of children under control, I refuse to transport children unless they are. It's for everyone's safety. There's no need to permit a condition that could cause wholesale slaughter.

Waterford should get better driver education quickly. Contact Mr. Homer Earl at Western Michigan College, Kalamazoo. He will come to your district and give a school bus drivers' training course free of charge.

'Phony TV Fem' Provokes Reader

The other night one of those phony TV fems said she "never intended to be a housewife." Good. There's a great break for some guy. I'd like to tell her that I have a "housewife" at home that is better looking at a cook stove than she was under a potted palm in a flimsy dress. And furthermore, my gal has twice the sex appeal.

If some of these daughters of tinsel and papier mache knew how they really look to the average man, they'd hide in amazement and mortification. True beauty is never phony.

'Eat a Good Meal of Wheat Yourself'

I would like to suggest that "Cruel Man" who wanted to mix poison wheat for the pigeons eat a good meal of it for himself, and I would like to watch him wriggle. Better start on man to clean up Pontiac, such as cigarette butts, and spitting on the sidewalk.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

You Can Help Slow Learning Child

Marvin's case should be a revelation to many parents. For good teachers nip criminal behavior in the bud by removing some of the educational inferiority complexes that goad children into being naughty. Judges and Family Counsellors have long urged that the way to forestall juvenile delinquency is by methods like those used on Marvin.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case U-326: Marvin L., aged 10, is a problem child in school and rapidly heading for delinquency.

"Dr. Crane, he failed last year because he couldn't read or spell normally or perform his arithmetic problems," his new teacher told me.

"But I feel very sorry for Marvin. He cried when we had a private talk last night and said the other kids call him 'dummy.'

"So he gets angry and engages in naughtiness to win their admiration and help erase this idea that he is a 'dummy.'

"The school psychologist this morning told me that Marvin has an average I.Q., so I'd like to try to salvage this boy.

"He reminds me of my little brother who died when we were in grammar school together, so I just can't let him fail again and become a juvenile criminal."

SALUTE TO TEACHERS

Marvin's teacher represents the true-blood brand of educators. They go into teaching not primarily for the pay checks they receive but because they hope to mold children's character for the better.

And they stand before youngsters more hours per day in a directive capacity, than do the real mothers of those same children, at least during the school week.

School teachers are often able to take youngsters from the other side of the tracks and become wonderful foster parents to these kids.

Let's use Marvin's case to show you what I mean. Marvin's father was a drunken ne'er-do-well.

His mother was an ignorant though well meaning woman, but she had 9 children and no time or knowledge of how to handle Marvin's problem.

So his teacher told Marvin she would help him if he'd stay after school just 15 minutes per day for a few weeks.

SELF-HELP BEST

Then she purchased several large sheets of white cardboard and let Marvin cut them into narrow strips about 2x12 inches.

Meanwhile, she bought a home printing outfit at the department store. Then she asked Marvin to go through his school reading book and pick out all the words he didn't know.

He then printed each one of these on a separate strip of the white cardboard. We call such strips the "flash card" materials.

His teacher then picked up two cards and explained the two words to Marvin. Then she shuffled them and held them up, one at a time, to see if he could identify them. He did, eagerly.

So she added a third and then a fourth and finally had 25 new words which he could rattle off as fast as she held up the cards.

Next afternoon, they reviewed these 25, then added a 26th, a 27th, etc. Within the first week, Marvin knew 100 words perfectly and could pronounce them.

Soon he was familiar with almost all the words in his reading book, so during class he would now volunteer and surprise those kids who had previously called him a dummy.

Indeed, he began to excell in the very field of knowledge where he had previously been deficient. This is a wonderful tonic to the morale of every youngster who has suffered from an educational inferiority complex.

And even the children from the very best homes often fall behind in some subject, such as arithmetic or history, geography or reading.

So send for my booklet, "How to Tutor a Child at Home," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit).

Use it to change your child's whole outlook on school. Marvin is now a well-adjusted youngster, doing well in classwork and no longer naughty or heading for a possible criminal career.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Shrunken Heads Are Getting Scarce

PANAMA CITY (INS) — In the zesty old days of the 1940s when head-hunting was a sport that knew no season around the neighboring jungles, Panama City shops sold almost as many shrunken heads as they did paperweights marked "Souvenir de la Panama Canal."

Now, apparently due to an effort by the Ecuardorian and Peruvian governments to discourage promiscuous head-lopping, they are a blackmarket item. None of the local merchants likes to admit he carries shrunken heads, at least not till he sees the green of your 100-dollar bills.

"I'll tell you frankly," mourned Bruce Motta, keeper of the swankiest duty-free casa in town, "I haven't had a real, real head in two years. They're hard to get, no? The vendors, they're scarded to get caught, no? But I'll see what we carry, and maybe it will do . . ."

Mr. Motta walked around a counter of Limoge demitasse cups and reached down and hauled up a cardboard box. He opened it to disclose four dainty, black, long-haired gargoyles the size of navel oranges.

"Monkey heads," he said, "very well shrunk, only $30 and no tax.

"If I didn't tell you, you would be sure they were the real human thing, no?"

SHORT OF MATERIALS

Mr. Motta went on to explain that due to one thing and another — like a shortage of humans willing to venture into the jungles these days — the head-hunting tribes have run short of materials for their centuries-old art.

To add to that complication, there is a new problem in merchandising, since several years ago the governments of Ecuador and Peru — where the head-shrinkers practice — clamped down on the export of such goods.

"It was, I think three years ago that a doctor got hold of a beautifully executed head and showed it off back in the States," recalled Motta, "and when people saw that it had red hair, there was a lot of nasty talk on a high level.

"Shrunken heads are nice, as curios, but when one of them turns out to be that of an old friend and countryman, that is too bad, no?

"So Ecuador was getting a bad name, and they had to do something. They passed a law saying it's illegal to sell heads."

Wistfully remembering the old days when vendors would come to town bearing a bounty of human heads along with the makings of Panama hats, Motta said that the usual price for a "good head" was $150 to $200.

That was a 100 per cent markup for the store and most lucrative.

"In our business, it was mostly doctors who bought them, although occasionally society women and businessmen would buy one to show off to their friends."

It's harder to sell the monkeys, even though they're "just as beautifully made." Motta held one up to the light, and explained:

"You can't tell it from human, except the monkeys skin is softer than a man's. Monkeys also have flatter ears and noses, but these head-shrinkers are artists; see how the pust out the nose and ears with hot sand to make it look human?"

Motta sighed. "A great art," he said, "but passing."

Well, that life. These days everybody's finding it tough to get a-head.

Thoughtful Gas Thief Did Everything but Pay

STUART, Okla. (AP) — A local service station operator is looking for a thoughtful man who put everything back in its place.

Apparently low on gas the stranger tried to phone both of the town's gas station operators early in the morning. When neither answered, he drove to the nearest station, broke the glass door, unlocked the gas pump, filled his gas tank and then locked the pump and returned the key. But he failed to leave any money.

Look who upset the "Low-price" Applecart!

This one's had them rubbing their eyes ever since it landed smack in the middle of the "low-price" field! The handsome rebel you see right here is upsetting tradition right and left on what a modest budget should buy. It's pricing a big 122-inch wheelbase right down with cars from four to seven inches shorter! It's adding a big bonus of extra road-hugging heft—and powering it with an all-new 347 cu. in., 10 to 1 compression ratio Strato-Streak V-8 for highest horsepower per pound in the field! A lot of might and muscle for sure—but it's gentled like nothing else on the road by Pontiac's exclusive Level-Line Ride and Precision Touch Controls. And remember—the Chieftain's standards of luxury and quality were set by the same men who gave America the incomparable Custom Star Chief Catalinas. What we're leading up to is this: If smaller cars have gotten you down, you can actually buy a Chieftain Pontiac for less than 30 models of the "low-price three"! Why wait any longer to give your spirits and your budget the lift of a lifetime?

Ike Sends Aide to Middle East

Richards to Undertake Mission to Confer With Arab Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's special ambassador, James P. Richards, takes off for the Middle East today.

The stage was set for his departure with the publication yesterday of a note to Russia rejecting a Soviet proposal for a joint Big Four policy declaration on the Middle East.

The United States declared in the note that it "would not wish to be party to an attempt by the great powers, as suggested by the U.S.S.R., to arrogate to themselves decisions on matters of vital importance to the nations of the Middle East."

It also said that under the Eisenhower plan, approved by Congress and signed by the President last week, this country intends to undertake "genuine practical efforts" to secure peace in the region "in full cooperation with the Middle Eastern countries."

A possible hindrance to Richards' assignment is the fact that new troubles appear to be boiling up between Egypt and Israel over the U. N.-occupied Gaza Strip.

Richards and the State, Defense and foreign aid experts traveling with him will be able to promise U. S. assistance for specific projects requested by the governments they visit.

Sparta Closes 10 Years Without Traffic Death

SPARTA (AP) — Police Chief Eugene W. Heugel and Safety Committee Chairman C. Robert Lee report this North Kent County community has entered its 11th year without a traffic fatality.

The last traffic victim in this village of 3,000 residents was Roy D. Morris, 42, of Cedar Springs, killed Dec. 21, 1946, in a car-train collision.

Heugel and Lee said survey indicated nearly 4,000 cars are counted passing through the village's main intersection daily. The north-south route is M37, Sparta's main street.

Costello Freed Pending Appeal

Released on Bail While High Court Reviews Gambler's Sentence

NEW YORK (AP) — Gambler Frank Costello has been freed from jail here on $25,000 bail ordered by the U. S. Supreme Court pending decision on an appeal of his income tax evasion sentence.

The 65-year-old Costello appeared thin and his voice was husky and quavered as he stepped out of the Federal House of Detention last night.

He said he was "going right home" to his apartment on Central Park West and his wife Loretta.

Costello has sworn in various appeals courts that he is suffering from cancer, heart disease and ulcers. He told newsmen last night that he had lost 15 pounds and had had a cold for three months.

His counsel, Edward Bennett Williams, flew here from Washington with a copy of yesterday's Supreme Court release order.

Costello has served 10 months of a five-year prison term imposed for evading $26,532 in federal income taxes for 1948 and 1949. He also was fined $20,000.

Urge Return of Questionnaires

Seek Auditorium for All

With questionnaires still coming in from organizations, the Centennial Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce is still hoping for a 100 per cent return of all 119.

The questionnaires were sent out to the different 119 organizations seeking their expressions in what they desired to see in a proposed civic auditorium — the goal of the committee headed by Ralph T. Norvell.

Norvell reported that the Chamber has received approximately 75 questionnaires to date.

Norvell said his committee was to meet with representatives of Smith, Hinchman & Grylls, Inc. architectural firm today to discuss "basic decisions on room sizes."

He emphasized that the firm was moving ahead with preliminary plans which are expected, along with a scale model, to be released May 1.

The goal of the committee is to have a civic auditorium constructed in Pontiac by the city's 100th birthday in 1961.

Memorial Fund to Tennis Coach

Kalamazoo College Plans Honor to Leader in Chemistry, Sport

KALAMAZOO (INS)—The Allen B. Stowe Memorial Scholarship Fund has been established at Kalamazoo College in honor of Dr. Stowe, who was killed in an automobile accident.

A goal of $10,000 has been set by friends of the famous tennis coach and chemistry professor in a fund drive.

A scholarship will be granted annually to a student having comparable interests with Dr. Stowe — namely science and tennis.

Dr. Stowe was a graduate of Kalamazoo College and Clark University. He taught at Olivet College before returning to Kalamazoo College in 1928.

He was tennis coach at the college for 25 years, in addition to teaching chemistry. His varsity tennis teams have not been defeated in MIAA competition in nearly 22 years.

His classroom work was of such high caliber that a higher percentage of his chemistry majors have gone on to take doctorates than from any other chemistry department in the country.

Many famous tennis stars have been named to serve on the honorary fund committee, including Pancho Gonzales, Jack Kramer, Ted Schroeder, Billy Talbert, Mary Hardwicke and Tony Trabert.

Begin Salvage of Inn in Lake

Workers Remove Parts of Sunken Structure Near Traverse City

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Workmen have started dismantling the 90-year-old Eastport Inn, which sank in about six feet of water after breaking through the ice at Torch Lake in a relocation project.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Morse and their son, Gary, owners of the building, plan to reassemble the structure later.

The inn, a onetime stage coach stop at the north end of the lake, was scheduled to be moved on skids to a new location about three miles down the shore.

With its tow truck, it broke through the ice last Saturday at the start of the journey. No one was injured in the mishap.

3 DUNKING

Three employes of a Traverse City moving firm aboard the truck towing the building on its ice ride, suffered a chilly dunking, but escaped unharmed when the vehicle also broke through and sank in six feet of water.

V. M. Gallup, who operates the moving firm, said the owners had expected to save $3,000 by using the ice route to relocate the building. He said he hoped to retrieve his truck by using inclined planks to winch it up to the ice surface, or cut a channel in the ice and winch the vehicle to dry land.

Meanwhile, half of the building — which was separated for the moving project—still stands on its original footings at Eastport. The inn, recently vacant, was to become part of a resort on the southeast shore of Torch Lake.

Total Foreign Tonnage Record at Muskegon

MUSKEGON (AP) — Final tabulation of foreign tonnage statistics for 1956 at the port of Muskegon showed a total of 72,000 tons handled, nearly twice the initial estimate of an all-time record 37,770 tons.

Harbors Department officials said the discrepancy resulted from compilation of tentative reports at the close of the season which failed to record shipments of sand, gravel, crushed rock and oil to Canadian points.

2. Hats for a Boy

Many years ago, boys and men wore hats as elaborate as those of the women. Fine feathers from foreign lands were a regular decoration.

Hats were of all sizes and shapes, materials and colors. They were made of silk, wool and straw and trimmed with ribbons, feathers and jewels. In the Middle Ages, they were of amazing size and shape.

Modern hat making is a great industry even though many people now go bareheaded. Certain occasions call for hats and today these are made by machinery which prepares the material and then shapes it over steam blocks.

Here are two old time hats for a modern boy. The one at the left was draped with imitation plumes. This was the type of hat the Sheriff of Nottingham wore when he visited Robin Hood in Sherwood Forest.

The other hat was worn by a Spanish Grandee in the days when Spain's possessions spread over the world and her explorers sailed all the seas.

Paste this picture down on cardboard and color with crayons. Fold the end panels forward on either side of the boy. Cut along the lines in the hats and then you can put them on the boy of today. Fold back the tabs so the hats remain on his head.

U.S. Still Behind Salk Vaccine Goal

DETROIT (INS) — The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has revealed that despite a recent increase in use of the salk vaccine, only two-thirds of the population under 20 and expectant mothers of the nation had received any vaccine by March 1.

Based on new estimates of vaccine usage made in cooperation with the U. S. Public Health Service, the Foundation said that only 17 per cent of those from 20 through 39 had begun the series of three shots.

There are now 51 million persons under 40 years of age who have had one or more shots, leaving 58 million without Salk protection.

The goal of the spring vacine program on which the American Medical Association, the Public Health Service an the National Foundation are concentrating is to see that as many as posible of the 109 milion individuals under 40 in the nations receive at least two shots of vaccine by June 30.

Showings Prove That Dallas Rates High as Trend-Setting Center of U.S. Fashion

By JUDITH L. CLEMENCE

DALLAS — There's a long tall tale being told down here in Dallas, pride of the Lone Star State. They call the city of fabulous fashion tales, Big D—for here amid tales of east Texas pines and oil derricks, the tale of fashion growth holds its own.

A bit of fashion flirting is seen in this shirtwaist — combining the style's casual features with a Schiffli lace inlay on the bodice. The dress, with three-quarter-length sleeves, is available in black and white cotton. The Donovan design was shown Monday at the Dallas fashion showings.

Although apparel manufacturing in Dallas is less than a half-century old, it has made itself known as a major fashion center in all parts of the country.

Today's showings proved why Mrs. Clemence many women wear "made in Dallas" clothes, and it has proved one long tall tale to be true. It's the tale of the shirtwaist dress.

Dallas promised that the shirtwaist would become a fashion great. In revitalizing this great American basic, designers combed the continent for ideas which would help create a really beautiful dress.

This year they have chosen fabrics that have the luster and beauty of pure silk, weaving and blending fibers for an elegant but wearable dress. There are blends of dacron and cotton, silkened broadcloth and sheer voiles.

One dress in pink voile delighted all members of the visiting press gathering Monday in the French Room of the Adolphus for the showing.

Another white broadcloth shirtwaist with eyelet embroidery proved the new softening details are more appealing and still practical.

There is a chiffon shirtmaker for every pocketbook, whether the fabric is cotton, nylon or pure silk.

The changes from the original basic are felt in the collar treatment. You find convertible wing collars, chiffon scarves, fuller sleeves, bloused bodices, draped cummerbunds and velvet trim.

The Dutch boy skirt played an important role in today's showings, and polka dots will figure highly in the 1957 fashion picture. Hemlines were lowered in most instances from 1 to 1½ inches. Deeper hemlines also are a major contribution.

Dallas had another tale to prove to the visiting press . . . its claim of development from a sportwear manufacturing center into a regional fashion capital.

This was easily done in the Jean Thompson collection of original designs. Although not attainable for the average woman who wants moderate-priced dresses, it brings to Dallas some of the most exquisite blends of fabric and design seen in collections anywhere.

Showings today were by Nardis, Charles Dickey, Donovan, Kohen-Ligon-Folz, Justin McCarty, Lorch, Leighton, and Mary Carter.

Tomorrow's story will include town and travel wear.

The checked gingham suit was never so fashionable as in this three-piece traveler from Julie Clark. A red lining adds zest to the detachable shoulder cape, which is just brief enough to reveal the natural curve of the waist. Without the cape, the costume becomes a two-piece dress of classic simplicity, dressed up with a white collar and taffeta bow. As significant as the cape are the patent belt and the length of the jacket.

In fine shape for fashion this summer is this clock-wise dress of Lucina cotton, with its sailor bib striped with white plus black, turquoise, brown or red to match the dress. Pairs of pearl buttons accent the jaunty appearance of this sport dress shown at Dallas Monday.

Home Rite Solemnized for Couple

Barbara Frazier, Charles R. Peters Exchange Vows

In a service performed Saturday before the immediate families, Barbara Frazier became the bride of Charles R. Peters. The Rev. Duncan D. McColl of First Christian Church officiated.

Barbara is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald V. White of LaSalle avenue and Charles is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peters of Sheffield road.

For the wedding, held in her parents' home, Barbara wore a blue-gray suit with a mink stole collar. Her hat was of mink with a jeweled veil. She carried her sister's white Bible with an orchid corsage.

Mrs. Paul Colton, sister of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore a gray flannel suit with gold accessories.

Lloyd Peters, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Paul Colton and Donald White Jr. seated the guests.

A reception was held in the White home for the families immediately after the ceremony, and 200 guests attended the evening reception at Bemis-Olsen Amvets Hall on Oakland avenue.

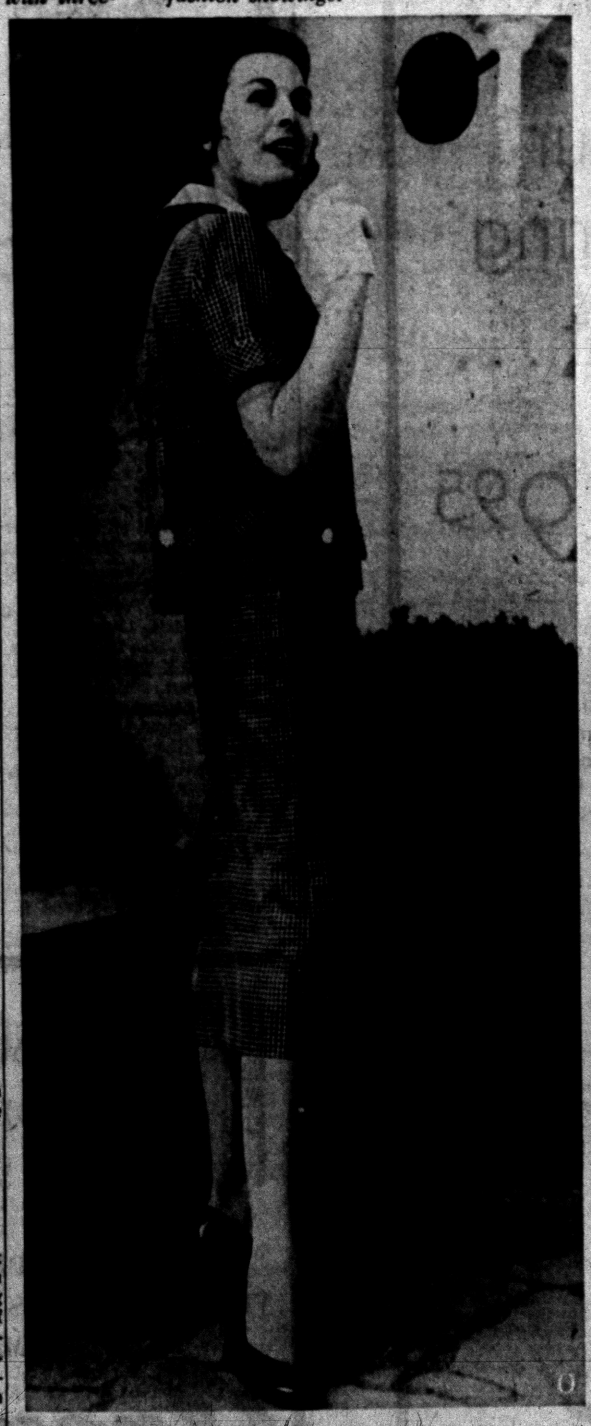

Following a honeymoon through the Eastern states, the couple will reside at Watkins Lake.

Berean Class Plans Dad, Son Banquet

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick opened their home on Clayburn street for the Saturday evening meeting of the Berean Class of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church. Plans were completed for the father and son banquet to be held in the church parlors Friday evening.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. Carl Comer were presented with a gift for their recently celebrated silver anniversary. William Cotting and Mrs. Stanton Levely were in charge of the social portion of the program.

A short-sleeved boxy jacket with back interest is a real fashion plus for this Kohen-Lignon-Folz sheath dress with a square neckline and white pique bow. The white collar on the jacket is detachable, and the lining contrasts smartly with the checks of the wrinkle-shed cotton used for the ensemble.

All-White Summer Seen by Dallas Style Experts

DALLAS (INS) — It's going to be an "all-white" summer in fashions this year, Texas designers predict.

Because Texas has been having winter temperatures of close to 80 degrees, Texas women have been rushing the season in warm weather wear. And they've been buying white at a pace unprecedented in the past 15 years.

The white shirtwaist, say experts at the Dallas fashion center, will be the mainstay of an "all-white" summer look for women. It will be worn with white hat, white shoes, white bag and gloves. If there is a color accessory, for instance a contrast belt, the contrast will probably be black patent.

The white look can be credited almost entirely to the new drip-dry, no-iron cottons, one expert believes. Dallas manufacturer Harry Akard points out that in years past a white dress either turned yellow in washing or scorched in ironing.

"Now white is making a comeback because it's really washable and drip-dry," Akard said.

NO. 1 COLOR

He noted that white is the No. 1 color on shirtwaist sales parade at his firm, Donovan of Dallas.

"It's white first, then blue, pink and yellow," Akard explained. "Last year pink was first and white was way down."

The "all-white" look, one of the prettiest a woman can wear, was an obvious fashion trend to editors attending the Dallas fashion center Press Week showings. Firm after firm displayed white shirtwaist dresses, almost all of them done with ruffles or embroidery across bosom and back.

Some untrimmed white dresses were of white-on-white cottons, which seemed to be thinner-weight versions of men shirting. Almost all of the white dresses had full skirts and loose, longish sleeves.

Janice Roberts Marries

Married Saturday at Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church were Janice Marlene Roberts and Virgle Howard Felty. The Rev. Theodore R. Allebach performed the 7 o'clock ceremony.

Janice is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Roberts of Miles avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Eli Felty of Paragould, Ark., are Virgle's parents.

For her wedding the bride wore a blue ballerina-length gown with a shoulder veil that was secured to a tiara of seed pearls. Her corsage was of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

Gloria Vanderkooy served as the bride's honor attendant. She wore a pink ballerina-length gown accented by a corsage of carnations.

Kenneth Ubank performed the duties of best man

Mrs. Roberts greeted her guests at the reception held in the church parlors wearing a light green gown with black accessories.

The newlyweds traveled to Paragould, Ark., for their honeymoon trip. On their return they will reside on Oakland avenue.

She sails into fun with the greatest of ease, in this three-piece ensemble from Higginbotham-Bailey. Shorts, blouse and button-front are done in a bold, multicolored plaid.

For extra-special hot chocolate, top each steaming cup with a marshmallow that has been rolled in cinnamon.

Anything Done Creatively Will Pay

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I think you're terribly materialistic," a reader writes. "You hardly ever mention the arts or hobbies of an artistic nature. All the people you write about are making money.

"Is there no interest in culture and creativeness for its own sake?"

In the first place, I think this reader makes a distinction which does not exist.

She seems to feel that, on the one hand, there are the creative ventures which are bound to be unprofitable; and, on the other hand, the crassly commercial ventures which make money but are distinctly not cultural. My experience is that no such split exists.

I know one woman, an artist in the true sense of the word, who does beautiful work in ceramics.

LOVE OF BEAUTY

She began making these pieces because of a real love of beauty and because she wanted an expressive hobby.

She never made any effort to market her products, but they were so lovely that everyone who saw them wanted to buy them.

Then one day, the owner of a gift shop saw one of her ashtrays at a friend's house and talked her into making them for the shop.

There is a truly creative venture, which happens to pay money, too.

On the other hand, I know women who "take up" oil painting, for example, because they think it is divinely cultural.

They aren't particularly interested in it, you understand, but it seems "creative." As a result, they get nothing out of it at all—no creative expression, nothing.

HER ONLY REASON

One woman I know decided to set up a children's party service because she knew somebody who had made a success of it. That was her only reason. She had no real love for the work, so, of course, her party service failed.

In short, anything that we love to do can be done creatively; anything which is done creatively can't help but pay off.

There are no fields that are automatically creative and no fields that are automatically lucrative. What you love to do will be creative and lucrative; what you hate to do will be neither!

If you're anxious to find something which will really add to your self-development and creativeness, send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope and I'll send you my pamphlet, Pointers Toward Your Basic Interest.

Saybrook Group Meets for Lunch

"The Christian Woman and Her Church" was the topic discussed by Mrs. Fred Conner at the Friday meeting of Saybrook Group of First Congregational Church.

The luncheon meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Albert F. Games on Dover road. Mrs. Carl Weber, Mrs. William Coleman and Mrs. Wilbur Ott assisted the hostess.

Mrs. Howard McIntyre was appointed chairman of the April parish dinner to be served by the Saybrook Group. Mrs. H. W. Henley, Mrs. DeVere Games and Mrs. Glen Ellerthrope were guests at the meeting.

Silk Is in Spring Picture

NEW YORK (NEA)—The fabric of spring is undoubtedly silk—silk day dresses, silk suits, silk ensembles, silk for after five and for evening.

The reason for this is that silk is a fabric that lends itself to fluid lines and to softness. And this spring's fashions are both soft and elegant.

Silk chiffon, for one, is used for evening gowns in every fragile color and in black, too.

It is also cut into layered cardigans that are handled exactly as a cashmere cardigan would be These are paired with sheaths and the sheaths themselves often are silk.

White touches are all-important and they're used either in linen or organdy form on silk suits and dresses.

Sometimes the trim is severely tailored; sometimes it is frilly and feminine. But it's there to present a sharply pleasant accent to gray or navy or black-and-white.

Silk chiffon is another important material for trim, whether it's used in combination with plain silk or wool. It's cut into blouses and scarves.

Flowers, like life, are eternal.
Their beauty is everlasting and constantly renews itself.
For them, as for us, the end is actually the beginning.
Nothing you can say, do or write at time of bereavement so eloquently whispers Hope.

When you can't be there with those who grieve, Flowers-By-Wire carry your sympathy across the miles.

Rules Help Mother Live in Harmony With Children

She Lists Do's, Don'ts Before Moving Into Married Daughter's Home

By RUTH MILLETT

A woman who has lived for 10 years with her married daughter's family writes:

"I know that getting along with others is more than just following a set of rules, however good they may be. But before I went to live with my daughter and her family 10 years ago, I did make a set of rules for myself which I have tried to follow. They have eased the way for me and, I think, for those who have given me a home.

"Because they might help someone else, I am setting them down here.

"One. Always have the good manners of a guest, but don't expect to be treated like a guest.

"Two. Be helpful in ways, however small, that will benefit the family and lighten the load. Don't just look for the work you like to do or that which will pay off in attention and praise. Do what most needs to be done.

"Three. Take absolutely no part in arguments or heated discussions. If possible, get out of the way when an argument starts. Never side with wife or husband or with child against child. Maintain strict neutrality.

AVOID MARTYRDOM

"Four. Never wear a hurt look or adopt a 'Don't-bother-about-me' attitude. Nobody enjoys living with a martyr.

"Five. Learn to do things on your own. An older person's independence gives others more freedom.

"Six. Don't find fault with the younger generation. The older person who is constantly criticizing young people brings out the worst in them. Tolerance, approval, admiration and real liking bring out the best.

"Seven. Respect the privacy of every member of the family.

"Eight. Never give advice unless asked for it and then give it gently."

That's a good list of do's and don'ts for any parent who is moving in with a married son or daughter. They aren't the whole answer, but they are sure to help the person who has enough self-discipline to follow them.

Slim Silhouette, Floating Panels

Spring Suit Features Cape

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

From Paris, Rome, Florence, London and Dublin comes news of spring fashions, as American buyers follow the international style trail in search of new fripperies for customers back home.

The top sensation of the European openings is provided, as usual, by Parisian Christian Dior, celebrating the tenth anniversary of his 1947 "new look" with his controversial longer skirts, panels and "Liberty line" providing grist for headline writers.

Some American designers point out that this is standard performance for the astute Dior, who usually manages to toss a bombshell in the midst of the fashion business twice a year, later modifying it for actual sale.

The Italian openings, which precede Paris showings, feature new treatments of the high-waisted silhouette this season, accenting front fullness starting under the bustline, balloon skirts narrowed at the hemline, lots of capes in all lengths, much attention to sheer, floating fabrics such as chiffon, novelty hemlines and ingenious use of panels to provide movement for the slim silhouette.

Spring suits seen in all the European capitals featuure many cape backs. Capes, as a matter of fact, seem the predominant theme of both suits and coats, being shown attached or separate, from jacket to coat length.

Suits are slim in silhouette for the most part, although a few pleated skirts are seen. Jackets are hipbone length and semi-fitted, sometimes with a wide inset belt above the waistline.

London designers, as usual, show superb tailored clothes, a new note being ensembles with transparent white coats over dresses in high colors.

One highlight of the British openings is Norman Hartnell's "turncoat," a voluminous reversible coat with one side full enough to toss over the opposite shoulder.

Southern Chess Pie Is Famous

Rhea Jazoe Shares Hometown Recipe for Rich Dessert

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Chess Pie is famous in and around Nashville. It is a rich dessert, but a delicious one. You may serve it with or without meringue.

Rhea Jagoe, a native of Nashville, and a teacher in the Pontiac schools shares this southern recipe with us. She loves to cook and collects recipes.

Travel, needlework and reading are her hobbies. She is a YWCA member. This is Rhea's second year in Pontiac.

RICH CHESS PIE
By Rhea Jagoe

1½ cups sugar
1½ tablespoons flour
1 tablespoon cornmeal
3 eggs, separated
¾ cup milk
⅓ cup butter, melted
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 unbaked pie shell

Blend sugar, flour and cornmeal with slightly beaten egg yolks. Stir milk in slowly. Add butter and vanilla last. Pour into unbaked shell.

Place on low shelf in oven preheated to 450 degrees. Bake 5 minutes, then reduce heat to 350 degrees and bake 30 minutes more.

Beat egg whites with a pinch of salt and 2 tablespoons water until stiff, but not dry. Slowly add ½ cup sugar. Cover baked pie with meringue and brown in hot oven.

This Season Often Brings Discomfort

Spring Feet Go With Spring Fever

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

In the spring many women suffer from spring feet as well as from spring fever. This is not as pleasant as it sounds. The idea of spring feet may conjure up visions of running to meet life and romance; however, this is not what I am writing about today!

I want to call your attention to the fact that while flowers are bursting forth everywhere your poor feet may be trying to do the same. Many folks who do not have this trouble at any other time experience discomfort with their underpinnings in the spring.

There are two reasons for this. In the first place, it is true that the feet have a tendency to swell when the weather changes and the first warm days arrive. Many people require shoes a half size larger in the spring and summer than they do in the fall and winter.

That may be one explanation for the unhappy experience we all have at one time or another — that of buying shoes in our usual size only to find that they are uncomfortable after we have worn them for a while.

Also any corns or callouses you may have will give you more trouble as the swelling stretches the skin about them and causes more pressure on them. Of course the moisture from perspiration also is irritating.

Since warm weather increases any discomfort which corns or callouses give you, it is wise to have them removed by a chiropodist. Special attention in selecting your shoes and stockings and frequent baths and changes of hosiery will probably enable you to have springlike feet in a happy sense.

Feet have a tendency to swell when the weather changes and the first warm days arrive.

It is a fine idea to buy shoes for spring and summer in the late afternoon when you have been standing or walking more than usual. Investigate carefully the size-and-a-half-larger shoe to see if it is more comfortable. Remember that this also applies to your stockings.

It is a good idea to have some closed-toe shoes in your spring wardrobe because of the inevitable April showers. Most people find that a smaller size looks better in an open-toed shoe. The big toe fares well but the others may be crowded.

Some of the lightweight, all leather shoes are splendid for spring. These are resilient and allow moisture to evaporate. There are many beautiful ones in the closed-toe style for early spring.

NO OTHER "GRADE A" BLENDED WHISKEY IN MICHIGAN SELLS AT THIS LOW PRICE! $3.65 A FIFTH!

Do you know the A-B-C's of judging blended whiskey?

A means a "Grade A" blend... whiskies with the highest proportion of aged whiskies and less neutral grain spirits. Three Feathers is a "Grade A" blend, skillfully made with older and finer whiskies to give you a smoother, mellower drink.

B means a "Grade B" whiskey which contains a smaller amount of aged whiskies and more neutral spirits. Three Feathers is not a "B" blend.

C means cost. Three Feathers costs much less than all other "Grade A" blends, and most "Grade B" whiskies cost as much.

This is the evidence... you can check it yourself any time at your liquor store. Your verdict has to be: THREE FEATHERS IS AMERICA'S GREATEST BLENDED WHISKEY VALUE! Try a drink at your friendly tavern or buy a bottle today!

Kefauver Plans Collusion Probe in Price Fixing

WASHINGTON (INS) — Chairman Estes Kefauver of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee is quietly preparing to launch a sweeping investigation of alleged price fixing in such widely assorted fields as automobiles, farm machinery, roofing, meat and oil.

The Democratic vice presidential standard bearer stated that he fears the American free enterprise system will go the way of Germany under Hitler, and of Italy under Mussolini, unless the current trend toward big chain stores, absentee ownership, and "collusive" price increases is halted.

Kefauver has ordered his committee staff to begin work immediately to determine whether collusion is involved when one big company raises prices, and its "competitors" immediately follow suit.

Pointing out that these moves are constantly increasing the cost of living, he said the investigation may point to new legislation and possibly indictments under anti-trust laws.

"It is strangely suspicious," he explained, "that as soon as one oil firm, or automobile company raises prices, the other members of the big three, or big four, promptly up their prices, too."

Kefauver said that as soon as the staff compiles the necessary data, public hearings will get under way to determine to what extent the giants of industry are secretly agreeing on price fixing.

He said Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) will continue to conduct the oil investigation, which he started last year while Kefauver was campaigning.

He revealed that O'Mahoney will also take the lead in a searching new probe of the meat industry to determine whether an "unfair spread" exists between the price paid farmers for hogs and cattle and the amount packers charge consumers for pork and beef.

Kefauver will lead off with his own probe of possible collusion in the motor, steel, copper, farm machinery and roofing industries.

The Tennessean, who probably holds the world's record for handshaking along the main streets of our communities, said he became disturbed during the campaign to find fewer and fewer merchants who are still independent.

He predicted that the committee, as a result of the upcoming hearings, will probably introduce new legislation to prevent collusive, secret price fixing. He also indicated that some violations of anti-trust legislation will be referred to the Justice Department for possible prosecution.

Bodies Not Recovered in Acapulco Murder; Only Kidnap, Robbery

ACAPULCO (INS) — Two Mexican resort employes suspected of murdering a wealthy New York couple were to be charged today only with kidnaping and robbery because the bodies of their alleged victims have not been recovered.

Federal security police said, however, they had enough evidence against the suspects to bring murder charges later even if the search that is under way for the bodies was unsuccessful.

The charges were being brought against a Texas-born hotel travel agent, Luis Fenton Jr., who confessed that he and Daniel Rios, a hotel janitor, beat the Americans to death for their cash and jewelry on Feb. 20 and tossed the bodies into the sea off Acapulco.

The victims were Mrs. Edith Hallock, 43, a wealthy Brooklyn widow, and Joseph Michel, 62, a New York attorney.

The jewels were found buried in the sand on a beach.

Bad weather and poor visibility hampered the work of Mexican rescue teams and divers who have been searching the shore in the Acapulco area for a trace of the missing bodies.

BEDFORD, Pa. (AP)—State Police hope that Army Sgt. Clyde A. Geer, 36, of Miami, Fla., stays on the right side of the road. He had a headon auto wreck near here, and his car was on the left side of the road.

"Gad," he told investigating officers, "I thought the other guy was on my side of the road and then I suddenly remembered I was on the wrong side."

Here's How Our Lakes Look From 14,000 Feet in Air

VISIBILITY UNLIMITED — Snow on the ice that still covers lakes of this area makes the bodies of water stand out sharply from 14,000 feet in the air. The picture above was taken by Homer C. Tinney, Pontiac aerial photographer, last week when he went up to 16,000 feet for some aerial mapping.

The day was unusually clear and Tinney reports that from his lofty spot he could see clearly into Canada, see Lansing, and the entire outline of Saginaw Bay at the same time. "If we get days this clear 10 times in a year we are fortunate," he said.

After making his mapping shots, Tinney descended to 14,000 feet and snapped the above picture of the lakes area immediately to the west of Pontiac for The Press. The major lakes are identified on the picture. (Top of picture is to the south.)

But Missed Goal to Land at South Tip

Byrd Flew Far, Was First Over 2 Poles

By SAUL PETT

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the glory he had won at both ends of the earth, it is probable that Richard Evelyn Byrd died a disappointed man.

He was the first to fly over the North Pole and first over the South Pole. He had hoped to be the first man in history to land a plane at the South Pole on the forbidding, windswept plateau deep in the antarctic interior. He wasn't.

Illness prevented the gaunt admiral from making his sixth trip to the White Continent on the expedition recently concluded. It was during this expedition — the first major American expedition that he had missed — that a plane set its skis down for the first time on the geographic pole.

This writer came to know the veteran explorer intimately during the 1955-56 phase of Operation Deep Freeze. It is my impression that if he had had a choice, Byrd would have preferred to die in the antarctic, among the icy wastes he called his "second home," where he had opened up more unknown territory to exploration than any other single American.

Robert Falcon Scott, Byrd said many times, was his hero. Scott, the British explorer, died in the antarctic during a dramatic trek back from the pole in 1912.

In the tradition of great explorers, Byrd was an externally fearless and restless man. This abiding curiosity to peak behind the curtains of the unknown, this drive to be the first to walk or fly where no man had ever walked or flown before, gave him an amazing stamina.

Drivers Warned of Law Protecting Blind in Traffic

Sgt. Medford E. Pittman, Pontiac Police traffic accident investigator, warned motorists to be aware of the so-called ten-foot law which refers to blind pedestrians.

Pittman said he thought the law should be brought to the attention of Pontiac residents since quite a few blind students from the Leader Dogs for the Blind, Inc., Rochester, train their dogs here.

Vincent Syracuse, trainer at the Rochester school, told Pittman yesterday several of his blind students had almost been struck down by autos recently.

The law, from the Michigan Vehicle Code, states that any driver of a vehicle who approaches a person wholly or partially blind should stop immediately within 10 feet of the said person and take precautions before proceeding in order to avoid an accident or injury to the blind person.

HOW TO IDENTIFY

The blind person may be identified if he is carrying a cane or walkingstick which is white or white tipped with red, or being lead by a guide dog wearing a harness and walking on either side of or slightly in front of the blind person.

Violation of this law is a misdemeanor. Pittman said a penalty of 90 days in jail or a $100 fine or both may be given to violators of the law.

District Attorney Scans Testimony; 'Somebody Lied'

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The district attorney's office is making its own investigation to determine if Frank Sinatra or a private detective lied about the "wrong door" raid aimed at Marilyn Monroe's apartment.

"Somebody obviously is lying," Dist. Atty. William McKesson said yesterday after studying the 1,200-page transcript of a recent California Senate hearing into scandal magazines and private detectives.

The hearing did not produce enough testimony to support an indictment, he said.

"Either there must be the testimony of another witness supporting one of the stories, or at least some additional corroborating evidence of some sort, he said.

Sinatra told the senators he sat in his car during the raid. A private investigator, Philip Irwin, said the crooner joined Joe DiMaggio and other men in entering an apartment where they thought they would find DiMaggio's former wife, Miss Monroe.

Car Collision in City Injures Milford Man

A 68-year-old Milford man was injured late yesterday in a two-car collision on Orchard Lake road near Bagley street.

Valentine Lubitz, 3435 Benstein St., was taken to Pontiac Osteopatic Hospital with neck injuries. His condition is listed as satisfactory.

Both drivers, Floyd Lubitz, 28, of 1755 Harry St., Milford, and Robert Jones, 39, of 25 S. Eastway Dr., told police they could not stop in time to avoid the accident when another vehicle turned suddenly in front of them.

Expect House OK to Ask Ike's Advice

WASHINGTON — The House votes today on a plea to President Eisenhower for advice on where his $71,800,000,000 budget can be cut substantially.

The plea is embodied in a resolution approved yesterday by the Rules Committee and last Friday by the Appropriations Committee by partisan votes.

The House is expected to pass it over Republican opposition.

Republicans have assailed it as a "buck-passing" proposal to take Congress off the spot in a growing public demand for economy and tax reduction.

Democrats sponsored the resolution in what some conceded privately is a move to take the offensive in the economy drive. The House Republican Policy Committee and an independent group of 57 House Republicans previously had urged Congress to make substantial budget cuts.

Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the Appropriations Committee called the resolution "a very moderate, modest request."

He conceded the proposal was without precedent. But he said it also was without precedent for a president to send Congress a budget and then indicate that it could be cut.

Borneo Joins Growing Indonesia Rebellion

JAKARTA (AP) — Another major island of the Indonesian republic, Borneo, was reported in rebellion against the central government today. Rumors circulated that the revolt might even spread to Java, virtually all that the Jakarta regime still controls.

High government sources said yesterday Premier Ali Sastroamidjojo and his Cabinet would resign tomorrow. There was no indication, however, that this would check the other islands' move toward control of their own affairs.

Borneo's breakaway was reported by the correspondent there of Keng Po, Indonesia's largest newspaper. Sjarif Usman, Masjumi party member of Parliament, said he had received a cable from Borneo "confirming that rebellion has broken out."

Keng Po reported that the army commander on Borneo, the archipelago's largest island and home of the Dayak headquarters, had formed a revolutionary council which demanded immediate autonomy. The army leader, Lt. Col. Hasan Basri, 32, said the Jakarta-appointed governor, Sjakrkawi, had joined the revolt and with him would head the council.

Basri said he was sending a delegation to Jakarta to negotiate with the central regime.

Travelers from both east and west reported that rebellion sentiments were afoot in both sectors of the central government's last bailiwick. If the "home island" of the republic — where it was founded in 1945 — split, Indonesia would once more be the loose confederation of states which the Dutch left when they ended their rule in 1949.

The rebels demand only nominal control from the Javanese-dominated government in Jakarta, and particularly that the revenues from their islands' rubber, oil, tin, copra and other resources be used for development at home.

The rebel groups now are selling much of this production on their own, bypassing Jakarta. Because Java has most of Indonesia's population, and the other islands much of the export production, this has created a serious financial and foreign exchange crisis for the central government.

Refinery Has Problem

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis City Council is opposing drilling of a deep well for waste phenol by Leonard Refineries in nearby Alma. It claims the waste material could pass through abandoned test wells in the same formation, threatening to pollute the city's water supply. The refinery offered to drill the well to pump wastes which now drain into the Pine River.

But It's Legal Circus the Judge Is in

Picard Gets Wish to Walk Tightrope

DETROIT (AP) — When Federal Judge Frank A. Picard was a boy, he wanted to join his brothers in the Flying Picards high wire circus act.

Now, some five decades after he let his father talk him out of an acrobatic career, the 67-year-old jurist finds himself on a legal tightrope again.

The U.S. Supreme Court yesterday reversed his decision and ordered the giant United Auto Workers to stand trial on charges of unlawful political activity in connection with several 1954 television broadcasts.

Judge Picard had dismissed the charges, ruling that $5,985 spent by the union to promote candidates for Congress was not within the meaning of the word "expenditures" in the Federal Corrupt Practices Act.

The law prohibits labor organizations and corporations from making contributions in connection with federal elections.

In 1947 the bushy-browed Picard presided over a labor union suit that seemed routine enough — until it mushroomed into an avalanche of suits demanding a total of more than four billion dollars.

Employes of Mount Clemens (Mich.) Pottery Co. wanted to be paid for the time it took them to fasten on equipment before actually beginning to work.

Picard ruled that the workers were entitled to overtime portal-to-portal payment.

The Supreme Court upheld him. Then came the flood. Unions all over the country, in every line of work, filed suits for pay for time spent doing such things as walking to the work bench from the time clock, changing clothes and snapping switches.

A bill passed by Congress and signed by President Truman in May 1947 put a halter on the suits. The Supreme Court later upheld the constitutionality of the law.

After graduating from high school, Picard worked for newspapers in Saginaw and was a managing editor at 18.

He worked himself through the University of Michigan and found time to quarterback Fielding Yost's Wolverine football teams in the 1910 and 1911 seasons, although he weighed only 145 pounds.

In private law practice, he fought hard for repeal of prohibition and in 1933 became chairman of the State Liquor Control Commission. Five years later he was named the first chairman of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Committee. He was appointed to the federal bench in 1939.

Kirk Doesn't Hide Desire to Win Academy Award

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Kirk Douglas stands his best chance to win an Oscar this year, but he won't be here to collect it.

He's leaving for Europe, where he'll film two movies for his own Brayna Productions. If his third try for an Academy Award is successful, his wife Anne will have to accept it at the March 27 blowout.

Douglas makes no bones about wanting to win.

"Sure, I want it," he admitted. "Any actor would. I've gotten all kinds of awards — the Mexican Oscar, the Japanese Oscar. Now I want the real Oscar."

What are his chances?

"How should I know? I only hear the good things from friends; naturally they're pulling for me. But that's no indication. They had me so convinced I was going to win the Oscar for 'Detective Story' that I was working on my acceptance speech. Then wasn't even nominated!"

Kirk has been nominated before —for "Champion" and "The Bad and the Beautiful." It weighs in his favor that he has been a bridesmaid but never . . . etc. Plus which his role as Van Gogh in "Lust for Life" has been honored by the New York and San Francisco critics, the Hollywood foreign press and various magazines.

"It was by far the most difficult role I've ever done," he said. "In 'Lust for Life,' I had to play so many variations of inner turmoil. Van Gogh was an extremely complex character."

Says General's Rug Cost $32 a Yard

WASHINGTON (INS) — Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio), says he has been told the Pentagon is redecorating the office of a "certain general" with $32-a-yard carpeting.

It's this sort of thing, said Brown, that is causing a grass-roots revolt against the size of the federal budget. He asked the House Appropriations Committee to find out if the redecorating report is true.

Brown's remarks came during a late-afternoon rules committee hearing monday that cleared a resolution for house consideration today asking President Eisenhower where "substantial" cuts can be made in his proposal to spend $71,807,000,000, a record peacetime high.

Brown and other Republicans said they are opposing the resolution because it attempts to avoid congressional responsibility for cutting the budget. He agreed, however, that the budget is "too big" and said Congress "should cut the living life out of it."

Boys Invade Pit of Poison Snakes in British Zoo

MANCHESTER, Eng. (INS) — Police told with awe today the story of two 13-year-old boys who invaded a killer bear's pit and the home of the Manchester Zoo's poisonous snakes and came away completely unabashed.

The boys escaped yesterday from the Manchester Reform School and went to the Zoo, where they watched strollers throwing pennies into a pit housing a giant Himalayan bear.

The boys hid until nightfall, then lowered themselves into the bear pit, where one collected the coins while the other kept the bear at bay by pelting him with stones.

After climbing out of the pit, they splashed across a stretch of water to an island where the Zoo keeps its snakes, including several venomous varieties.

They picked up two of the snakes, and when caught leaving the Zoo told police they had intended to sell them. Fortunately for the boys the snakes were harmless.

But the boys weren't. Both snakes were dead.

"They died after they bit me," said one of the boys.

LAKELAND—It was a short trip from Tigertown to Henley Field for ex-Birmingham High School pitcher Dick Sheldon.

Sheldon was one of eight rookie hurlers who felt the wrath of Tiger batters in an intra-squad game recently.

For one inning Sheldon forced three Tigers to pop up, and in his second frame on the hill he was nicked for three hits and two runs. One was a homer.

"I knew just when that pitch left my hand that if the batter decided it was the one to hit it would be gone," said Sheldon. Jack Dittmer liked it and sent it over the left field wall. "I sure grooved it," Sheldon said.

The former Maple ace, who led Birmingham to two straight Eastern Michigan League championships with an overall 17-4 record, played his first pro season at Palatka in the Florida League.

He finished with a 9-6 record and is now one of the 260 minor leaguers working out at Tigertown.

According to Ed Katalinas, Tiger scout, Detroit has quit its working agreement with Palatka which would mean dispersing rookies to other clubs.

"I hope they send me to Augusta," said Sheldon, "I'd like to pitch some Class A ball."

Getting the opportunity to pitch against the Big Leaguers is a thrill for most any rookie like Sheldon. This was especially made possible because of the fine Tigertown setup where all of the Detroit farmhands except those of Birmingham, the Tigers' new Class AA Southern Association farm, train together as a baseball community.

Each day a bus load of rookies is moved over to Henley Field to play a couple innings with the big boys.

The man who takes charge of the pitchers is Willis Hudlin, hardworking Tiger pitching coach who dons the catcher's mitt to coach every rookie pitcher who warms up to take the mound. When the young prospect is on the hill he watches every pitch thrown.

"He sure knows his stuff about pitching," said Sheldon. "He could tell me what I tried to do and what I didn't do on every pitch."

Sheldon was impressed with the Tigertown layout. "There's an instructor to teach us every angle of baseball out there," said the Western Michigan College student.

Sheldon had one encouragement in his two innings against the parent players. The frame in which he set down three straight Tigers was only one of four innings on either side which did not have some scoring in it.

At Birmingham High, Sheldon pitched under coach Lew Parry. "I don't know how far Dick will go in the Tiger system, but he's a smart pitcher and could do well in higher class baseball."

ROOKIE — Among the rookies at Tigertown (Fla.) training camp of the Detroit Tigers is a Birmingham boy. He's (above) Dick Sheldon who helped Maples to win two straight EML titles (17-4). Last season he was with Palatka of the Florida league (9-6). He pitched two innings against Tigers last week.

Braves Test Tiger 'A' Nine

By BRUNO KEARNS
Pontiac Press Sports Editor

The Tigers, with a 1-1 mark in Grapefruit play are at Bradenton to tangle with one of the National League's pennant pitched teams, the Milwaukee Braves.

LAKELAND, Fla. — Grapefruit League activity resumes for both the Tiger "A" and "B" squads today after a day of rest and golf yesterday when most of the players and coaches took part in their annual training camp tournament.

At Lakeland where the "B" squad tangles with Charleston, which is Detroit's largest farm team, many Tigers may find that if they can't beat them, they may have to join them.

Charleston is where many Tigers will find themselves when the regular season opens.

Tiger boss Jack Tighe figured today he'd use Jim Small in centerfield against the Braves. His decision was presumably based upon the disappointing showing last year's regular centerfielder, Bill Tuttle has made. Bill was hitless in four trips in the Sunday game with the A's.

Tighe said he'd "start the kid and see if he can show us something." The Tiger manager also announced yesterday that he planned to carry 10 pitchers this year. Rookie Don Lee probably will be one of them.

Mention of Tiger farm clubs points the finger at the Valdosta, Ga. club, regarded by the Tigers as the most important of three Class D clubs in the parent organization, it was the 2nd winningest team in organized ball a year ago.

The Valdosta players, rookies who will defend the Georgia-Florida title, will soon move into Tigertown here, but without a couple of boys who probably will move up to Augusta in Class A, or to Durham in Class B.

These include Jim Cross, rookie-of-the-year at Valdosta last season as a 3rd baseman. There's husky Jay Cook, slugging 1st baseman at Valdosta in 1956, who will probably wind up at Durham. Farm director Jim Campbell says two of Valdosta's best hurlers may move into faster company this season. They are Bill McNeil and Roger Sheppard.

Manager of the Valdosta club is Stan Wasiak, now in his 4th year with the Tiger organization: He returns to Valdosta after handling Idaho Falls and Hazelhurst, Ga. clubs in 1956. Tigers also have Class D farm clubs at Erie, Pa. and Montgomery, Ala.

Potent Scoring

New NHL Marks in Sight

MONTREAL (AP) — Detroit's potent scoring duo of Gordie Howe and Ted Lindsay along with Montreal defenseman Doug Harvey are heading for new National Hockey League individual records.

Howe, who leads the league in the scoring column with 82 points, needs nine goals to equal the mark of 50 goals in a 50-game schedule held by the Canadiens Maurice Richard. Howe has six games in which to break the standard. He is also within reach of his own record of 95 points scored in a single season, league statistics showed today.

Runner-up in the scoring race with 79 points, Lindsay, is nearer the record books. Lindsay is five assists shy of the all-time mark of 56 set by Montreal's Bert Olmstead last season and is within three points of equalling the long-standing record of 82 points for a left-winger. Herbie Cain established the mark 13 seasons ago.

Harvey can equal his own record for a defenseman if he picks up three assists.

Montreal's Jean Beliveau, who last season captured the scoring title, collected two goals and a pair of assists last week and is third in point-getting with 76. New York's Andy Bathgate, who compiled seven points, during the past week, is fourth with 70 points.

The tussle for goalie honors between the Red Wings' Glen Hall and Jacques Plante of Montreal remains close. Plante has allowed one more goal than the Detroit netminder.

BOWLED OVER—Ken Boyer, St. Louis Cards infielder, slides head-first into 2nd base as he doubled off the glove of Milwaukee's 3rd baseman in yesterday's exhibition game at St. Petersburg, Fla. Bob Malkmus, Braves 2nd baseman is knocked to the ground by Boyer as he attempts the putout.

Kentuckians Leading ABC

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Oertel's "92" of Louisville, Ky., was in first place today in the open team division of the American Bowling Congress tournament with a 3-game total of 2,873.

Oertel's last night ousted Metropolitan Clothes of Dayton, Ohio, which dropped into second place with 2,837. Metropolitan had taken the open division lead Sunday night.

Don Adams led Oertel's with a 588.

Gibby Jacobs and Eugene Chelf of Durant, Iowa, paired for a 1,221 score to take first place in the doubles standings. Jacobs' had a 3-game total of 606 and Chelf had 615.

Jacobs, 49, is sponsor of the Wilton Elevator Co. team, which bowled a 1,036, best single game of the tournament thus far.

Olympic Weight King Plans to Turn Pro

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Olympic weight lifting champion Paul Anderson plans to turn professional.

The 24-year-old Georgia giant, holder of almost all world heavyweight lifting records, said he will launch his professional career under the personal direction of former wrestler Howard Cantonwine.

Cantonwine said he will attempt to book the 330-pound Anderson into a Las Vegas hotel for a starter and will then have him perform at state and county fairs and sports shows.

Needles Runs Second in Florida Tryout

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — For a horse that didn't win, Florida-born Needles gave some solid encouragement to his handlers and backers yesterday at Gulfstream Park in his first race of 1957.

Like the Needles who won the 1956 Florida Derby, Kentucky Derby and Belmont, the D. & H. Stable's 4-year-old lagged out of the starting gate. As usual, he trailed the pack up the back stretch. Then still in character, he flashed forward from the half mile pole and all but overtook winning Admiral Vee at the wire.

BOSTON (AP) — — Defenseman Allan Stanley is lost to the Boston Bruins for the remainder of the National Hockey League season, the playoffs and perhaps for good.

Stanley's left leg will be in a cast for three to four weeks as the result of a check by Toronto's Gerry James Sunday night.

Three NIT Standouts

NEW YORK (AP)—St. John's University is the only school to have three basketball stars win the most valuable player prize in the Madison Square Garden National Invitational tournament. Bill Lloyd won the honor in 1939, followed by Harry Boykoff in 1943 and Bill Kotsores in 1944. This year's tourney is set for March 16 and includes five programs with the final scheduled for March 23.

Boston Club Would Welcome Red Sox 'Runs'

Score Only 2, Yet to Win; Big Hitters Still Absent

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beantown fans, don't be alarmed! True, the Boston Red Sox have yet to win a spring exhibition game, and they'll be battling the New York Yankees again today at St. Petersburg, Fla.

The Red Sox have scored only two runs since exhibitions began Saturday. The Detroit Tigers thumped them 10-1 Saturday, the Washington Senators downed them Sunday 4-1, while yesterday three Yankee right-handers combined to shut them out 2-0 on three hits.

However, a good part of the Boston batting punch is absent in the persons of Ted Williams and Jackie Jensen. Furthermore, these power boys probably won't get into the lineup until the Red Sox travel to the West Coast later this month. Jenson is working out in California.

Williams, sore and stiff, watched from the bench in civilian clothes as the veteran Tom Sturdivant and rookies Ralph Terry and Jack Urban blanked his mates.

Yogi Berra, American League Most Valuable Player in 1956, played his first game of the spring and drove in one New York run with a sacrifice fly and the other scored on an infield out.

Manager Mike Higgins says its up to Williams, and Williams alone when to decide he's ready to play.

Layne Signs Up for Two Years

Lion Quarterback and General Manager Meet in Dallas Confab

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Bobby Layne yesterday signed a contract to play two more years for the Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Neither Layne nor Lions's General Manager Nick Kerbawy would disclose the financial terms of the contract. It was believed to call for about $20,000 a year.

Layne said it "took us only about five minutes" to get together on the contract.

Layne came to Dallas from Lubbock, where he is in the oil business, to talk to Kerbawy. He said he was "100 per cent" physically effective and was only a few pounds over his playing weight of 204 pounds.

The veteran quarterback picked the Lions, who were nosed out by Chicago's Bears for the Western Division championship last year, to regain the top in 1957.

Kerbawy said he hoped to talk with Don McIlhenny, former Southern Methodist halfback, and guard Harley Sewall of Texas while in Dallas.

Royals Win 'A' Crown

How the mighty have fallen!

Shaw's Jewelers, perennial city Class A basketball champion, was dethroned last night at Pontiac High in the finals of the City League playoffs. Shaw's had completely dominated the regular season with a perfect 14-0 record.

The Lakeside Royals downed the Jewelers, 76-72, in an exciting overtime struggle to win the city's 1957 Class A diadem. The Royals will now enter the Michigan Recreation Association tournament.

Shaw's Dave Sebring bagged two foul shots with 1:45 remaining to tie the score, 70-70, and force the game into overtime. Levi Pilgrim fired two baskets and Buster Pembroke added another to doom the Jewelers in the extra session.

Pilgrim meshed 30 points to spark the Royals while Don Quayle collected 19 for the Jewelers.

Booth Homes annexed the city Class B title with a 53-51 victory over Boys Club, also at PHS. Hal Hetherly led Booth with 13 points while the loser's Bob Johnston made 16. Booth will enter the Inter-City Recreation tourney in Pontiac.

Griff's Grill advanced to the finals of the Class C playoffs with a 43-33 decision over the Calgon Kids and the Pontiac Merchants eliminated Bestway, 51-47, at Lincoln Junior High.

DiBiase Knocks Off Giovanelli

NEW YORK (AP) — Having knocked off Danny Giovanelli to increase his unbeaten streak to 19, Tony DiBiase began hitting the books today.

Di Biase, a geology student at NYU, was given a week's postponement of a couple of mid-term exams so he could concentrate on Giovanelli, an intra-city rival, in the 10-round television bout at St. Nicholas Arena last night.

He gave the taller and more experienced Giovanelli a neat shellacking in winning the unanimous decision.

In Flint 'A' Regional

Chiefs, Skippers Face Tough Foes

By H. GUY MOATS

Pontiac's Valley champion Chiefs and Waterford's Skippers meet difficult opposition in the Flint Class A regional tourney this week. Skippers feel contention 1st, tangling tonight at 8 o'clock with independent Owosso (7-8), on IMA's big court. Waterford has an 8-7 mark.

Art Van Ryzin's SVC kings oppose strong Lansing Sexton, on Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the 1st game of the lower bracket. Chiefs rate an edge on their 14-1 season. Sexton is 10-6.

In tonight's 2nd "A" contest Flint Central faces Port Huron, at 9:30 o'clock. Wednesday's late tilt pits Flint Northern and Lansing Eastern. Winners of the 1st two brackets meet in semifinals Friday with title game Saturday at 9:00 p.m.

Don Beedle's Skipper openers probably will be Ron Seets and John Herrington at forwards, Chuck Gillis at center, Jim Devine and Cecil Dumbrigue at guards.

Owosso's Al Boulee said today he would open with a tall outfit that shapes up as follows: center, Cliff Hanchett (6-3 senior); forwards, Walt Haskins (6-1 senior) and Jim Hasse (6-1 junior); guards, Dick Patterson (5-10 senior) and either soph Gordy Lowe or Jerome Hanley, with Gary Barrett a possibility.

Sexton has a very healthy respect for the Chiefs. Clayton Kowalk said today "any team coached by Art Van Ryzin is a good one. It can give anyone a lot of trouble."

The Lansing mentor would have liked it better to have met the Valley champions later in the tourney. However, Kowalk said "we're glad to play a fine club like Pontiac, anytime. We know it will be a close, and interesting contest."

Sexton had a 10-6 record, with two wins over a strong Ann Arbor five and a similar record against Battle Creek (barely edged the Creekites 59-58 last Friday night). Big Reds lost to Arthur Hill last Tuesday, 70-65, bowed twice to Kalamazoo (6-A champ) by close counts.

Reds' starters will be Denny Groat, 5-10 junior (168 points) and Ron Horiszny 5-11 junior who came in at midterm (good on the boards) at frontline posts; 6-6 John Rowan, senior center (217 points in 13 games) top scorer; senior Roy Ferguson and sophomore Gregg Eaton are the back-court men. Junior Tom Shipp, good floorman, will get in frequently.

Kitchen Hits 40 as Falcons Gain 'Y' Cage Crown

Earl Kitchen poured 40 points through the hoop and teammate Gordon Montross added 21 as the Falcons crushed the Gators, 84-29, last night at the YMCA gym to win the YMCA Intramural Basketball League tournament.

Kitchen's 40 points were tops in a single game for the season and led the Falcons to a perfect year. They had previously won the regular season league title. Bruce Ross tallied 14 points for the Gators, 12 at the free throw line.

The Falcons, along with other selected players, will represent the 'Y' in the state YMCA tournament in East Lansing, March 29-30.

Boast Best Record

Tar Heels' 27-0 Is Tops

NEW YORK (AP)—The University of North Carolina goes into the NCAA basketball tournament tonight with the best record in history—27-0.

In the past only two other schools have entered the tournament with unblemished records. They were San Francisco last year with 25-0 and Columbia in 1951 with 22-0. But Columbia was defeated in the first round.

The National Collegiate Athletic Bureau came up with some other interesting statistics:

North Carolina needs only two victories to tie the best all-winning season ever and three to beat it. That would be San Francisco's 29-0 mark last year.

No team ever has won the tournament after losing more than five games during the regular season.

Only one "Cinderella" team, Bradley in 1954, got as far as the final. That club had an unimpressive 15-12 record.

This makes the sixth straight year the defending champion has made the tourney.

Ferguson Selected MSU's Most Valuable

EAST LANSING (AP) — After the closest voting in the history of the award, team captain George Ferguson has been named "most valuable" player on the Michigan State basketball team.

Forward Larry Hedden, center John Green and guard Jack Quigle also polled high in the voting by newspaper and radio men regularly covering the Spartans.

Rumor Says Dodgers Would Build in LA

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The grapevine reports the Dodgers would build their own 65,000-seat stadium in Los Angeles if given a $1-a-year lease for 99 years on the real estate. . . Air traffic from Los Angeles to Vero Beach almost as heavy as the New York-Miami run. . . In a few years they say jets will span the nation in less than four hours, easing the baseball schedule problem. Tommy Byrne will still ride the train. . .

NC Leads in Final Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The North Carolina Tar Heels, who specialized all season in winning the close ones, have turned up a romping winner in the final Associated Press college basketball poll.

Unbeaten in 24 regular season games prior to a three-game sweep through the Atlantic Coast Conference championship tournament, the Tar Heels climaxed a two-month reign yesterday by drawing first-place votes from 55 of the 76 participating sports writers and sportscasters. Kansas, the runner-up after leading part of the season, drew nine.

Of their 27 consecutive victories, the Tar Heels — brought back to the national spotlight by Coach Frank McGuire — won seven by five points or less.

The top 10, with first-place votes in parentheses:

North Carolina (55) 725, Kansas (9) 602, Kentucky (2) 479, Southern Methodist (1) 437, Seattle 302, Louisville (1) 236, West Virginia (1) 184, Vanderbilt 164, Oklahoma City (1) 126, St. Louis (1) 117.

Second 10: Michigan State 98, Memphis State 97, California 93, UCLA 85, Mississippi State 67, Idaho State 62, Notre Dame 45, Wake Forest 44, Bradley 35, Canisius 27 and Oklahoma A&M tie 27.

TEST YOUR BASEBALL KNOW-HOW...

YOU'RE THE MANAGER

By BEN OLAN

When Mayo Smith was named to manage the Philadelphia Phillies in Oct. 1954, many of the comments were "Who's he?"

In two seasons at the Phils' helm, however, Smith has proved himself an efficient pilot, earning the respect of his own and rival players.

Here's a chance to match managerial strategy with Smith. His decision pulled this game out of the fire. Would you have done the same thing?

TED KAZANSKI

(Key: (R) righthanded.

Turk Lown (R) is pitching for Chicago as the Cubs lead the Phillies 5-4 in the last of the 10th inning at Philadelphia. Marv Blaylock starts off with an infield single. Stan Lopata bunts and when first baseman Dee Fondy throws wild in an attempt to get Blaylock at second base, both runners are safe. Del Ennis sacrifices, putting runners on second and third with one out.

Willie Jones is intentionally walked, filling the bases. Jim Greengrass then receives another base on balls, forcing home Blaylock with the tying run. Ted Kazanski (R) is the next batter with Roy Smalley (R) on deck.

Would you:
a. Put in a lefthanded pinch-hitter for Kazanski?
b. Let Kazanski swing away?
c. Gamble on a steal of home?
d. Order Kazanski to try a squeeze bunt?

(June 15.)

Result: D — Kazanski successfully works the squeeze, pushing a bunt past the mound that scores Lopata. Phils win 6-5

Regionals Next for Preps

This is the week when they separate the men from the boys in the state high school basketball tournament.

District champions in classes B, C and D are joined by the big boys — Class A — for regional tourney competition. And there's nothing like the regionals to sort out the strong from the lesser lights.

Regionals are scheduled to begin tonight at 23 sites throughout Michigan. Oakland County will be host to four of them.

Pontiac, Birmingham, Ferndale and Southfield are regional centers in Oakland County. Birmingham and Ferndale offer Class A billings, Pontiac features a B-C tourney and Southfield has a 'B' program.

Pontiac and Waterford make their Class A debuts at the Flint IMA. Waterford tackles Owosso tonight while the Chiefs meet Lansing Sexton Wednesday. Royal Oak, Berkley and Birmingham are slated for action in the Maple gymnasium.

The Class C schools will get the ball rolling tonight at Pontiac High. Almont, Pontiac district winner, faces St. Cecilia at 7 o'clock and All Saints encounters St. Francis de Sales at 8:15.

All Saints, Detroit parochial champion, is the favorite here. Other 'C' entries are Grosse Pointe St. Paul, St. Charles and Armada, conqueror of Imlay City.

Walled Lake, picked to win the 'B' regional title, squares off with Utica Wednesday night at 8:15. St. Clair, last year's regional winner here, plays the Walled Lake — Utica survivor Friday night.

Clarkston, which annexed the Pontiac district, engages Orchard Lake St. Mary Thursday night at 8:15 in the other bracket. The winner of that game automatically reaches the Saturday finals.

Notre Dame of Harper Woods tangles with Mt. Clemens and East Detroit meets Detroit St. Joseph in tonight's opening Class A round at Birmingham. East Detroit is favored, with Detroit Catholic Central in the dark horse role.

Unanimous Choices

Ray, Diehm on All-Valley

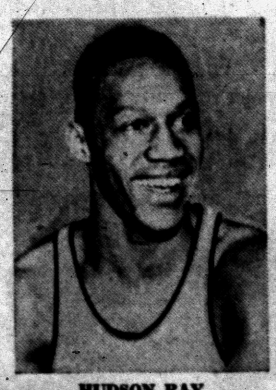

By H. GUY MOATS

Two top scorers for Pontiac High School's SVC champions made the grade in selection of the annual Valley All-Star five, this week. They are 6-5 Hudson (Goose) Ray, PHS center, and ace point-maker Dave Diehm.

Both were unanimous choices along with Saginaw's sharpshooter Deb Biondin. Each received 30 points from the sports writers participating in the selection. Saginaw was the SVC runnerup. Chiefs won the title without a loss, in their 14-1 season (10-0) in the Valley.

Crystal Falls, Class C champ, will meet Bessemer at Negaunee Friday and Chassel, defender in Class D, will take on Rudyard at Negaunee Thursday night.

Big Test for Keglers Is Press Bowlerama

By CHUCK ABAIR

Six outstanding games on four different alleys will be the likely requirements of the men and women bowlers who emerge as champions of the Pontiac Press Bowlerama slated for April 6-7-13.

The activity will include three qualifying games on the same alleys and final round consisting of 3 games across 6 alleys.

All scoring will be based on the 70 per cent handicap and 200 scratch basis for the singles tournament which is open to all residents of Oakland County who sanctioned with the ABC or WIBC.

It follows right on the heels of the annual Women's City event which should place the female keglers of the area in top form for the two-weekend grind.

The Bowlerama features separate divisions for men and women which will make it possible to have two 1957 champions.

Less than three weeks remain to get in your entries and tournament manager Les Rothbarth urges all interested keglers to send them in as soon as possible in order that plans can be started in motion for the sessions.

Deadline for entering is midnight on March 31 for both men and women. Entry may be made by clipping out the entry blank found elsewhere in today's sports section and sending it in along with the $4.50 fee to cover bowling, tournament expense and part of the prize fund.

Entry blanks will also be available at every bowling establishment in Oakland County starting tomorrow. Either type blank may be used. They should be mailed to Rothbarth in care of the Pontiac Press sports department.

Guaranteed prizes have been set for the 1st six places in each division with one of 10 entries certain to finish in the money. All qualifiers will gain awards.

Top prize for the men is $400 followed by cash awards of $200 and $100. The women's champion will be presented $200, the runner-up $100 and 3rd place will be good for $60. All the prize fund will be returned to the purse and donations from the Press and the Bowling Proprietors Association of Greater Pontiac will be included.

The Press will present trophies to the winners and high qualifiers at each of three qualifying alleys.

PURE-PREMIUM GASOLINE

24.3 miles per gal. at 30 m.p.h.
23.3 miles per gal. at 40 m.p.h.
20.9 miles per gal. at 60 m.p.h.

Three different 1957 models roll along at speeds from 25 to 60 m.p.h. to prove Pure-Premium's record economy.

Official NASCAR engineers conduct complete mechanical inspection of the three cars and certify that they're regular assembly-line models.

Official NASCAR judges supervise the accuracy of the fueling operation. For this assault of economy records, they use Pure-Premium gasoline.

Now Pure-Premium gasoline has been decisively proved for economy—just as it has been proved again and again for acceleration, endurance, power, and performance.

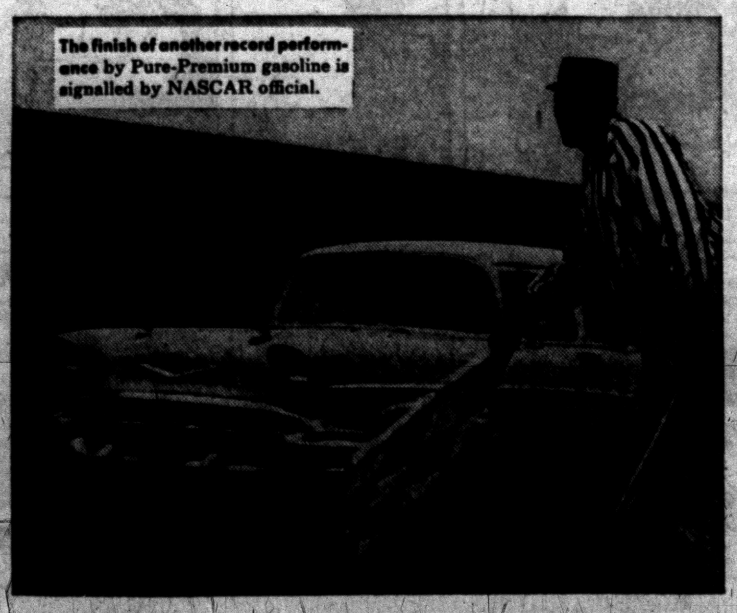

In a NASCAR-sponsored Mileage Marathon, three different models of 1957 V-8 cars were driven at the full range of speeds—one with conventional transmission, one with automatic transmission, one with fuel injection. This covered just about everything you might be driving, and every speed. Economy records were set in all 3 cars, and they did it with Pure-Premium gasoline!

Proves economy and safety go together!
Your Pure Oil dealer points out that you'll get your best mileage between 30 and 40 m.p.h. Also, it's safer when you drive at these speeds.

The fifth wheel is installed to insure the utmost accuracy in measuring mileage and economy. This too is NASCAR-checked.

On the starting line, the drivers get last-minute instructions from NASCAR officials, then take off on the Mileage Marathon.

The finish of another record performance by Pure-Premium gasoline is signalled by NASCAR official.

PURE-PREMIUM holds more NASCAR records for performance than any other gasoline

According to NASCAR (National Association for Stock Cars) Pure-Premium has set more records for performance than any other gasoline. In over 240 different events during the last five years . . . in 38 different makes and models of cars . . . in all kinds of weather . . . over all kinds of roads . . . with 123 different drivers, Pure-Premium has proved its record performance again and again and again. It's the same Pure-Premium you get at any Pure Oil station —right here in town. Try a tankful and discover for yourself what record performance—and economy—really mean!

Well Used to Occupying Hot Seat

'Boy Diplomat,' Governor, Solon — Herter's Training

By INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

There's a new man on the state department hot seat in Washington this week—but if experience proves anything he's well insulated against being burned.

He's Christian Archibald Herter, one itme Congressman, former Republican Governor of Massachusetts and unwilling darling of Harold Stassen, who tried, and failed, to woo him into seeking the 1956 GOP vice presidential nomination.

Herter, who fanned away the pre-convention heat without hurting anyone's feelings, even Stassen's, finds himself today with perhaps the toughest job in the country next to President Eisenhower's—as acting U. S. Secretary of State.

With Secretary of State Dulles off on the other side of the world attending the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization conference in Australia, the still rumbling Middle East problem is in Herter's lap.

But such challenges are old stuff to this Ivy Leaguer who was known, at age 21, as the "boy diplomat." At that tender age he was U. S. Acting Mininster to Belgium. Herter has, in, fact, devoted all of his 62 years to public service except those spent in the classroom and the nursery.

PROTEGE OF HOOVER

A towering man at six feet, six inches, Herter is a protege of Herbert Hoover, whose aide he was when the former President was Secretary of Commerce, and with whom he had worked on a number of the postwar problems of the First World War.

So forceful an impact has Herter made on his party that the question already has been raised—an answered, at least unofficially—as to his eligibility for the presidency. The question comes from his birth in Paris, but legal sources have said he qualifies as a natural born American by parentage.

Herter suffers on occasion from painful arthritic attacks, but friends say even these fail to slow him down. Further, he is well fortified by experience for the Washington scene, having served in the House of Representatives in four Congresses (79th through 82nd), and having held numerous important committee posts.

Most Grains Remain Firm

CHICAGO (AP)—Almost all grain and soybean futures showed a firm tone in early Board of Trade dealings today, with beans up around a cent a bushel at times.

Renewal of tension in the Middle East apparently caused some buying, traders said. Unfavorable weather in the Southwest helped the wheat market. Buying in soybeans reflected the strong soybean oil market.

Near the end of the first hour wheat was ⅛ to ½ higher, March $2.31⅞, corn ⅞ higher to ¼ lower, March $1.31⅛, oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, March 75½, rye unchanged to ½ higher, March $1.37, soybeans ½ to ⅞ higher, March $2.44½, and lard 5 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher, March $14.57.

Democrat Promises Highway to Bridge

CHEBOYGAN (AP) — Democrat John C. Mackie, candidate for state highway commissioner, said today that if elected "I will build a modern north-south highway to the Mackinac Bridge and Sault Ste. Marie."

Mackie's remarks were contained in a speech prepared for a luncheon here. He is en route to the Upper Peninsula on a campaign tour.

Mackie said that "the failure of the Republican - controlled highway department in 14 years to provide a modern road from the southern border of Michigan to the Straits of Mackinac has cost us millions of dollars in tourist trade.

"Now with the Mackinac Bridge opening next fall, we are going to be left without any adequate means of handling the traffic."

Approach roads to the new bridge have been a major point of contention between Gov. Williams and Charles Ziegler, the retiring highway commissioner.

Flat Rock Man Found Dead in RR Boxcar

GALLUP, N. M. (AP)—A coroner's jury was to meet today in an attempt to determine what caused the death of a Michigan man whose body was found in a Santa Fe Railway boxcar here Sunday night.

Police said papers found in a pair of overalls near the body carried identification papers of J. Vernon Pickens, 30, of Flat Rock, Mich.

Officers said the body bore bruises about the face, as from a beating. The body was discovered by a railroad employe. It was clad in blue jeans and a T-shirt.

Prices Change Only Slightly

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices were irregular in quiet trading today.

Fractional changes were the general rule among pivotal stocks. A number were unchanged.

A resumption of the cautious tone which has prevailed lately was seen by Wall Streeters. The new uncertainty in the Middle East, mixed reports from business and the drop in the steel operating rate to its low for the year were factors.

On the bullish side it was noted that interest rates are showing signs of leveling off.

Chrysler was in demand and about a point higher. American Motors picked up a fraction as interest continued in this stock following yesterday's news that financier Louis E. Wolfson has a large holding in the company's shares.

Ford, Goodrich, Phelps Dodge and Johns-Manville established small gains. But Eastman Kodak dropped more than a point on an opening trade, showing little activity thereafter.

Aleutian Volcano Threatens to Erupt

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP)—Walter Freeman, an airways station agent on Umnak, reported the outermost Aleutian Island is under a siege of volcano jitters.

Mt. Vsevidof, a volcano dormant for 200 years has been smoking since Saturday's big earthquake.

Freeman reported in a telephone message to Anchorage yesterday the natives on Umnak are terrified and the Navy and Coast Guard at Adak have been alerted for possible evacuation of the island.

NICE ON ICE — Bedded in ice, Eileen O'Brien gives a warm smile to customers in a Chicago department store. She spends each working day iced over like a fresh-caught fish to demonstrate a weather-resistant material made up into a snowsuit.

Monroe Reactor Quite Safe, Says Scientist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Hans A. Bethe of Cornell University, one of the top nuclear physicists in the nation, says the chances of a complete failure of all the safety devices to be built into the proposed Monroe, Mich., nuclear reactor would be nearly non-existent.

Even assuming that all did fail any resultant explosion would be far less than the explosion of 300 pounds of TNT, he insisted yesterday at an Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) hearing on the Monroe project.

Benjamin C. Sigal, attorney for AFL-CIO Auto, Electrical and Paper Workers unions, questioned Bethe throughout the day on testimony which the scientist submitted in document form at the start of the hearing Jan. 8.

Bethe said then that it would be impossible for the reactor to explode like an atomic bomb. If there were any hazard, he said, it would be the possibility that the radioactive fission products coming from the reactor might cause a radiation hazard. He said there was little chance of that.

Missouri to Regulate All Nursing Homes

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) — Missouri's Legislature completed action yesterday on a bill giving the State Division of Health greater powers to regulate nursing homes.

Just 23 days ago fire swept through the Katie Jane nursing home at Warrenton, Mo., and 72 of its 155 elderly residents perished. It was the worst nursing fire in the nation's history. Its cause still is not determined.

Gov. James T. Blair outlined plans for a new bureau in the Division of Health to administer and enforce nursing home regulations. He fired the health director soon after the fire for failure to take vigorous action.

Lloyd Named to Post on County Vets Group

C. Stait Lloyd, 583 South Jessie St., has been appointed Amvets representative on the Oakland County Veterans Trust Fund Committee for a three year term, it was announced today.

The appointment was made by the board of trustees of the Michigan Veterans Trust Fund. Lloyd succeeds Orrin P. Huntoon Jr.

Solons Critical of Jobless Bills

Proposals by Williams Receive Cool Reception From House GOP

LANSING (AP) — House Republicans, reacting to Gov. Williams proposals on unemployment compensation, indicated last night that they probably won't get very far.

Said Rep. Walter G. Nakkula (R-Gladwin), chairman of the labor committee which will receive the governor's bills when they are introduced:

"Any adoption of the governor's proposals would increase payroll contributions of all Michigan employers."

He said his interest was in easing, rather than increasing, the tax burden on small steady employers.

Speaker George M. Van Peursem of Zeeland, Nakkula's predecessor on the labor group, commented:

"It's very dangerous to consider extension of benefits at a time when the unemployment fund is far below actuarial soundness."

It was the first chance lawmakers had to give their considered views of the Williams program, submitted to the Legislature Friday as they were about to scatter for the weekend.

Williams, saying he was taking a leaf from the book of President Eisenhower and Labor Secretary Mitchell, called for substantially increased benefits.

He urged jobless paychecks of 50 per cent of the state's average weekly wage in covered employment, with an extra $5 for each dependent up to two thirds of the statewide average weekly wage.

Postpone Hearing on Railroad Gates

The public hearing in Lansing on a proposal to install gates at the S. Saginaw St. and Wilson Ave. railroad crossing has been postponed to March 28 instead of March 14.

Pontiac Traffic Engineer Theodore M. Vanderstempel said the change was necessitated by conflicting conferences for State Highway Dept. officials.

The purpose of the hearing, according to Vanderstempel, is to determine the necessity of installing the safety gates.

Dulles Repeats U. S. Stand Against Red China in U. N.

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles today said the United States "adheres steadfastly" to its recognition of Nationalist China and its opposition to giving China's seat in the United Nations to the Communist Peiping regime.

Dulles made the statement to the SEATO Council of Ministers, which continued closed-door sessions of its third annual conference.

The American secretary said he wanted to make the U.S. policy clear to America's allies in Southeast Asia, not to bring China policy before the SEATO Council for debate.

"Our policy," he said, "stems primarily from consideration to national interest and, we believe, international interest."

"United States diplomatic recognition of the Chinese Communist regime would serve no national purpose," he declared, "but would strengthen and encourage influence hostile to us and to our allies and further imperil lands whose independence is related to our own peace and security."

Dulles said the United States has reached a similar conclusion with regard to admission of Red China to the United Nations.

"The United Nations would not be strengthend if the Communists were there to represent China and we cannot see that they have any right to this role," he declared.

Pointing out that the U.N. Charter specified that membership should be composed only of peace-loving nations, Dulles said Red China could hardly qualify since she still stands condemned by the U.N. as an aggressor in Korea.

Pilot Tells of Record Flight

Jets Simpler to Handle

(A veteran test pilot, A. M. "Tex" Johnston, was at the controls Monday in the trail-blazing flight of a jet-engined Boeing 707 Stratoliner as it streaked from Seattle, Wash., to Baltimore, Md., in three hours and 48 minutes. In the following article, Johnston predicts present propeller-type planes will become as outmoded as steam engines and the advent of the jet commercial age can drastically alter the living habits of the American people.)

By A. M. "TEX" JOHNSTON
Chief of Flight Testing,
Boeing Airplane Co., Seattle, Wash.

WASHINGTON (INS) — The successful flight of the jet-engined Boeing 707 which I piloted across the U.S. in record time Monday convinces me, and others, that the propeller - type or "reciprocator" plane now used for commercial flights has been put in the class of a "steam engine."

There is just no comparison between the 707 and even the current deluxe reciprocator planes which have pressurized cabins and high altitude ability. The jet airliner in my opinion is simpler to handle, easier to ride and has new safety aspects from a pilot's standpoint.

We broke our own record today. I flew a prototype of the same 707 from Seattle to Andrews Air Base just outside Washington in November, 1955, in three hours and 58 minutes.

Today's time of three hours and 48 minutes, however, doesn't tell the whole story. In the 1955 flight, we timed it from station-to-station. This one was timed from when the wheels were up at Seattle until we were over Friendship Airport south of Baltimore. So our previous time was actually bettered by more than the indicated ten minutes.

The flight itself was uneventful. We picked up some good wind just out of Spokane and, with the help of the edge of a jet stream, hit 698 miles an hour for a while. Our average speed was 612 mph, cruising at 31,000 feet.

You really cruise in these planes. I am absolutely convinced that once these jets get into service, passengers will be more enthusiastic over them than anything they have ever ridden before.

From the pilot's standpoint, the plane has excellent handling. The controls are very light to handle. And, because of the jet engine's simplicity, the pilot has more time to fly.

For instance, he can take more time planning the flight and handling radio communications. This is a very important safety factor.

I asked the hostess on the Seattle-Baltimore flight, Miss Jackee Gibson, what she thought of it.

She said: "The outstanding thing is the lack of vibration. And the take-off and landing is so short, you're just up and off, and when it's time to land, you're down before you know it."

For the future, this plane can change the living habits of the people. A New York to Paris flight will take a little over seven hours. This means a New Yorker can weekend in the French capital and be back to work Monday morning. There will be regular commuters between Los Angeles and New York.

Important to passengers, too, is the fact that the plane flies above the weather. It cruises at from 30,000 to 40,000 feet. Today there were many rough spots across the country, but we didn't know it—except via radio.

Ask Payment in Full on State School Aid

LANSING (AP) — Minority Democrats last night asked the Legislature to promise local school districts it will provide funds to pay their 1956-57 claims for state aid in full.

The move came in the form of a resolution proposed by Sens. John B. Swainson of Detroit, minority leader, and Patrick J. Doyle (D-Dearborn).

It was referred to the Senate Business Committee after only Democrats supported Swainson's motion to suspend the rules and consider it immediately.

Asked about its chances in committee, Sen. Edward F. Hutchinson (R-Fennville), committee chairman, said that was a policy matter which would have to be decided by the majority leadership.

Many Republican senators have been cool toward the idea of dipping into the general fund to supply more money for schools.

UAW to View Job Protection

Plan Would Guarantee New Worker Benefits in Job Transfer

DETROIT (AP) — A proposal to protect workers when plants or jobs are shifted will be offered to the United Auto Workers Unions convention next month.

1. The right of a worker to transfer with full seniority when "technological changes or marketing factors" require a plant to shift location.

2. Automatic recognition of the union as bargaining agent in the new plant with a direct transfer of contract work standards and wages.

3. Payment by the company of full transfer costs for the worker and his family.

4. Severance pay for workers who decide not to transfer.

5. Area-wide seniority agreements for multiple plant corporations to aid workers transferring plants in the event of layoffs at one plant while jobs are opening at another plant in the same company.

International officers said the plan would cost the minimum provisions to be written into all future UAW contracts.

Needs Company in New Red Car

Young Rock 'n' Roller Has Been Too Busy to Find Romance

By CHARLES DENTON

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — Hitch up those bobby-sox and start dialing the Ameche, girls. Tommy Sands, the "Singin' Idol," is on the prowl for a girl friend.

What's more, if you're the type who collects green stamps, he has a brand new red convertible as an added inducement.

"It's the most beautiful thing I ever saw," the slim, dark 19-year-old rock 'n' roller said soulfully. "It's bright red, with twin spotlights up front and twin pipes in the back.

"So right now I'm really lookin' for a girl. I mean, what good's a red convertible if you haven't got a girl to ride around in it with you?"

The current—and doubtless short-lived—lack of female companionship in Tommy's life isn't the result of any lack of enterprise or male attractiveness on his part.

It's just that being one of the budding new crop of singers doesn't leave a guy much time for trying to corral a gal.

"I haven't had two minutes to myself since Kraft Theater's 'Singin' Idol' show," Tommy sighed. "But I'm happy. It's what I want to do."

And if Tommy's future measures up to his representatives' expectations, he'll be measuring his spare time in seconds from now on.

Twentieth Century-Fox is considering him for the star of a movie version of "Singin' Idol"; he's just cut another record to go with his "Teenage Crush"—which is nearing the million sales mark — and he shows up once a week on Tennessee Ernie Ford's show.

All because Col. Tom Parker, Elvis Presley's loquacious manager, nixed the "Singin' Idol" role for his boy and suggested Tommy for the part.

"I'll never be able to thank Mr. Parker enough," Tommy says earnestly. "I can never repay him. I guess I never really expected all this to happen to me. I dreamed of it, of course, but then doesn't everyone?"

Gird for Battle Over Offices in Courthouse

Dingy basement offices apparently look palatial to space-starved county officers.

That's the conclusion of County Auditor Robert Y. Moore, who has the delicate task ahead of re-assigning courthouse quarters being vacated soon by the prosecutor's office.

Delicate is the word, because competition for the space is terrific, Moore says.

"All the county departments are working in crowded—and in some cases temporary—quarters right now," Moore explained. "I think some of the department heads would try to kidnap the space that is opening up, if they could."

Moore will make up his mind after Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem and his staff move into new offices next door, in the former County Health Department, 15 W. Huron St.

"We've had requests for numerous offices," Moore said, "and will probably divide up the space among several departments."

Ziem expects to locate in the new building in about three weeks.

Classes start at 8 p.m. and registration is now open at the school.

Calls Kasper Race Agitator

Florida Legislator Says Segregationist Makes Living That Way

TALAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Segregationist John Kasper, called a "professional agitator" by a member of the Florida Legislative Investigating Committee, was scheduled to give further testimony to the group today.

The tall, 27-year-old executive secretary of the Seaboard White Citizens Council of Washington, D.C., told the Florida legislators yesterday that he once mingled with Negroes "socially and without distinction" and that he became a segregationist during a visit to Alabama in April 1956.

Sen. John Rawls, after listening to nearly four hours of Kasper's testimony, accused him of being a "professional agitator using this as a means of a livelihood."

Kasper, in Florida for a speaking tour, denied Rawls' accusation.

Kasper was a key figure in the race disturbances which followed integration of the schools in Clinton, Tenn.

Navy Life Theme of Traveling Unit

A traveling mobile unit exhibiting Navy equipment arrived in Pontiac yesterday and will remain through Sunday. "Walk through" tours will be conducted through the 70-foot unit located at 370 S. Saginaw St.

The exhibit is open to the public, free of charge, from 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays and Saturday, and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Housed in the two semi-tractor trailers are displays of Navy equipment, model ships, jet engines and other "features of Navy life."

Sponsored by the U. S. Rubber Co. in conjunction with the U. S. Navy, the unit will be manned by members of Pontiac Navy Recruiting Station and the Naval Reserve Training Center.

To Vie in April Election

MONTAGUE (AP) — Mayor Edward Scharmer Jr., in office for the past 10 years, will be opposed for re-election April 1 by Louis A. Knoth, salesman seeking public office for the first time. Frederick Gigax, incumbent justice of the peace, will be opposed by attorney Ralph Rose Jr.

Look Who's Throwing Lacy, Purple Garters

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I dashed around to the Ziegfeld Follies and —roue that I am—snatched one of the Follies Girl's garters.

It was Beatrice Lillie's garter, purple and lacy and beribboned. Bea rides a wooden moon around the theater, tossing garters, and when she flung one up at me in a box, I bowed and clapped the garter to my heart.

"You old ham!" she said, recognizing me.

There was big excitement backstage. Shapely singer Micki Marlo collapsed hysterically during the matinee from a bad throat and went off to a hospital for — of all things — a chest examination.

MIKI MARLO

A little chorus gal—Paula Wayne of Oklahoma — substituted for her in the show-stopping "Salesmanship" number—while her husband, Robert Myerson, CBS stage manager, and her mother-in-law, filled the place with applause. (She was excellent.)

Then I peeked in on the show girls of the Follies. They average one divorce each 37½ bust, 25 years in age, 5-feet-8 height and, ooh, they have mucho talent.

"But it's mostly in the bust," said one.

Red Cross to Check Disaster Food Plans

The Disaster mass feeding committee of the Pontiac Chapter, American Red Cross, will meet at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at the Chapter House to review plans.

In calling the meeting, Sidney Winstanley, chairman, noted that Michigan is now in the tornado season which lasts until Sept. 30.

The committee will go over its plans for mass feeding in case of disaster and will renew agreements with food dealers, industry and transportation for care of evacuees and disaster victims.

The group will discuss also the preparation of supply packages to be stored at strategic points around the county for emergency use.

Neighbors Find 3 Dead in California Home

MERCED, Calif. (AP) — "Cyanide gas in here, and we are too," read the note on the front door of three residents of Snelling, 14 miles north of here.

Neighbors went in anyway yesterday and found dead on the floor Emma and Gussie Steinway, 57 and 66, and their brother August, 64.

Coroner Kenneth Riggs said notes in the house spoke of "trying to end this awful misery of ours. Everything seems to go wrong. . . We can't stand this any more because we can't do anything and our lives are empty."

He said they apparently had been dead since Thursday.

Pius XII Celebrates 18th Year as Pope

VATICAN CITY (INS) — Pope Pius XII celebrated today the 18th anniversary of his coronation as supreme pontiff of the Roman Catholic Church.

Some 30,000 pilgrims from all over the world began streaming into St. Peter's Square and the basilica at dawn to pay tribute to the 81-year-old spiritual leader of 470,000,000 Catholics.

Spot for Van Doren

NEW YORK (INS) — Quizmaster Jack Barry said of his defeated "21" show contestant Charles Van Doren: "We . . . have a new panel show . . . on whose panel we sincerely trust Charles will sit . . . We don't . . . have a commitment (but) we are confident he will look favorably on our offer."

U.S. Reds Still Same, Says Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover today called American Communists' claimed break with Moscow "a fraud."

The prime objective of this Communist move, he told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in a letter, is to "thwart future prosecutions by the Justice Department."

He said the U.S. Reds, after their recent New York convention which claimed to have ousted Stalinist leaders and voted to break ties with the Kremlin, are not one bit different than before. He called them "still the masters of the Big Lie."

"Their double talk, duplicity and semantic gyrations make them the most dangerous and proficient masters of propaganda in the civilized world," he wrote.

"The Communist party before and after its 1957 convention is part and parcel of the worldwide Communist conspiracy. It is still responsive to the will of Moscow; it still works for the destruction of the American way of life; and it still is dedicated to the building of a Soviet United States patterned after the basic concepts of Marxism-Leninism."

Hoover said the Communist convention was a planned effort, dictated from Moscow, to hoodwink the people. "Should it succeed in further hoodwinking certain people," he said, "then it will emerge stronger than it ever was and more dangerous to the peace and security of the United States."

Hoover said the Reds never did declare "independence of the Soviet Union" in the convention nor disclaim "loyalty to the Soviet Union" and never supported U.S. foreign policy to the detriment of Soviet foreign policy.

"The strategy and tactics of the party's 1957 convention," he said, "were designed to accomplish the following objectives:

"1. Thwart government prosecution. . . . The party, through its alleged 'new look,' is hoping to convince the government, the courts and juries that it is not a danger."

"2. Lay a foundation for possible unity with other left-wing groups.

"3. Create a basis for establishing more Communist fronts.

"4. Create atmosphere for party membership recruiting.

"5. Meet growing rank and file unrest in the party.

"6. Win back support of financial 'angels.'"

Would Raise Tax Rate to $15.20

Commission to Complete Plans

Topping a lengthy City Commission agenda tonight are a pair of resolutions which will outline final financial details of the proposed May 20 millage and $4,350,000 general obligation bond vote.

Prepared by the city's bond attorney, Claude Stevens, one will call for a City Charter amendment permitting (if approved by voters) a one mill tax hike. The second will concern another amendment necessary for the issuance of the bonds.

The City Commission has authorized the vote to equip the Pontiac General Hospital wing and partially finance a new $3,109,000 sewage treatment plant.

"We are submitting the two amendments tonight to comply with the 60-day ruling necessary if the vote is to be held May 20," City Manager Walter K. Willman explained.

Willman said last week that the total package will shove the present city tax rate from $13.70 up a mill and a half to $15.20 a thousand of assessed valuation.

Following the bond vote action will be some 36 assorted items concerning the 1957 public improvement program.

The City Planning Commission has approved the rezoning to Commercial 1 of lots 159-163 in the Wilson Park Subdivision. A public hearing will be aired on the proposal, with adoption of an ordinance to follow.

The City Planning Commission has also recommended the rezoning to Commercial 1 of parts of three lots in the Merrimac Subdivision.

City Commissioners will listen to two requests for deleting partners on two separate beer, wine and liquor licenses in the city.

Public hearings will be held on the city's intention to construct sidewalks at the following locations:

North side of Chandler avenue from Sanford to Tasmania; Second avenue from Joslyn to Highwood; Monterey boulevard from the south line of lot 57 to the north line of lot 66, and from the south line of lot 67 to the north line of lot 81 of assessor's plat 145; Barkett street to fill gaps from Markle to First; Third avenue (south side) from Joslyn to the west line of lot 254 of Highwood Subdivision, and Third avenue (north side) from the east line of lot 211 to the west line of lot 248 of Highwood Subdivision; south side of Liberty street from Lincoln to the west line of lot 97 of Grandview Subdivision; Victory drive from Mt. Clemens to the south line of Pontiac Knolls Subdivision, and from East boulevard to the north line of the subdivision; north side of Mt. Clemens street from the west line of Lot 2 assessor's plat 165 to the east line of Lot 31 of the Linda Vista Subdivision; and on Fourth avenue from Joslyn to Highwood.

The public will have a chance to air any objections they might have on the special assessment rolls covering the following projects for 1957:

Sidewalks and related work on the south side of Mt. Clemens street from Featherstone to the east line of lot 13, assessor's plat 17; both sides of Joslyn road from Second to Third; north side of East Pike street from 80 feet east of East boulevard to the west line of lot 1, assessor's plat 158; north side of South boulevard from Drexel to Sanford; west side of Baldwin avenue from Montcalm to Merrimac; south side of Montcalm street from Corwin to Summit; east side of East boulevard from Pike to Auburn; west side of Joslyn avenue from Fourth to the north line of lot 107 of Highwood Subdivision; and on the north side of South boulevard from Going to East boulevard.

For two-inch asphaltic concrete recapping and curb repairs on North Johnson avenue from State to the Detroit, Grand Haven, & Milwaukee Railroad; on Elm street from Marshall to East boulevard.

For two-inch asphaltic concrete resurfacing and curb replacement on Washington street from Henderson to Johnson.

For sanitary sewers in Hulsment avenue from Earlmoor to Lot 213 Woodward Estates Subdivision, and on the southwest side of Oakland avenue from Ojista to Inglewood.

Fifth Avenue to Have Green Center Stripe

NEW YORK (INS) — Sure a little bit of green will fall from off New York City's paint brushes today down the middle of Fifth avenue in anticipation of Saturday's St. Patrick's Day parade.

The department of traffic will spend an extra $34.72 for special pigments to transform the center dividing line of the avenue (from 42nd street to 96th street) into a bright green for Saturday's marchers.

Since all of Fifth avenue is due for its quarterly traffic line renewal, the remainder outside the "line of march" will be painted white.

Set Dates for Bids

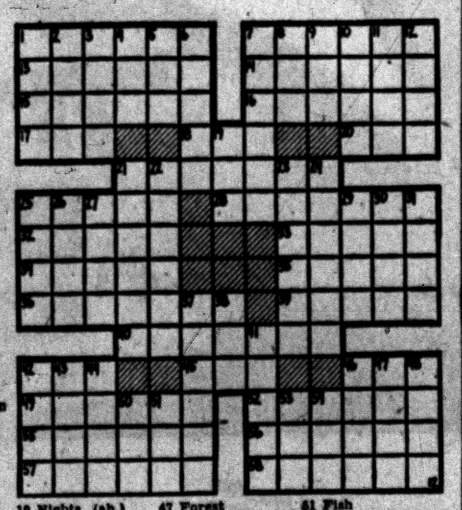

HART (AP) — Oceana County supervisors have set April 11 as tentative date for receiving bids on the county's proposed new $325,000 courthouse. Plans for the building were approved last Friday. It is scheduled for completion next year.

New York's Really Got It for St. Patrick's Day

NEW YORK (INS) — "We have the star attraction," chortled the city of New York today, "so come to our town for the St. Patrick's day weekend."

The city's convention and visitors bureau issued a special pamphlet listing parades, sports, music and various other weekend activities honoring the Irish. An accompanying brochure stressed that the city had collared the prize dignitary—Robert Briscoe, first Jewish lord mayor of Dublin, as "honor guest" for the big Fifth Avenue parade.

Poodle Brandy Gets for Mistress Lots of 'Candy'

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — A blue chip French poodle named Brandy who dabbles in the stock market has been made the pawn in a divorce case.

His mistress, Mrs. June Garrett Modglin, won his custody from N. Kent Modglin, Culver City, Calif., garbage disposal manufacturer.

The poodle with the boodle has an account in a Beverly Hills brokerage house, Mrs. Modglin told Superior Judge Edward R. Brand. She said Brandy receives cards from family friends on all holidays "and each one contains money." She said the dog had made $1,500 on recent investments.

She won custody of Brandy and also gets $4,500 cash under a property settlement.

Billboards No Bother to Blind Senator See

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — State Sen. Charles M. See was explaining his opposition to a legislative bill aimed at regulating construction of billboards along highways.

"As I ride over these highways," the Allegany County Democrat told the Senate, "the billboards don't disturb me one bit."

See is blind.

Human Worth Increases by 13 Cents in 2 Decades

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That you are worth more now than you were 20 years ago—the chemical elements in the human body would fetch slightly more than a dollar at present commercial prices, as compared with about 87 cents then.

That the reason "the little red schoolhouse" of yore was always painted red was—that color paint was the cheapest.

That Denise Lor, the TV singer, says she knows of a married wolf who won't wear a wedding ring for fear it would stop his circulation.

LOCKING TOE GRIP

That the reason sleeping birds don't fall off their tree perches is simple—nature endowed them with a toe grip that automatically locks around a twig.

That there are 500 or more different kinds of flying bats in the world.

That the most outrageous pun of the year is a sign in a subway station snack shop window: "What foods these morsels be."

That people who advise you, "Don't take any wooden nickels," probably don't realize a rare old wooden nickel today is worth more than a real metal one.

That Dixie singer Jane Pickens and her hubby, who have a yacht named "Cotton" that carries a lifeboat called "Cotton Boll," now are adding a glass-bottom boat to be known as "Boll Weevil."

That malaria, regarded by some scientists as the greatest single menace to mankind's health, causes an annual death toll of 2½ million among its 200 million victims throughout the world.

CLEO TOOK CARE

That Alexander the Great probably died not from drinking too much wine but from the bite of a malarial mosquito. And Cleopatra slept under a mosquito net to protect her beauty from insect stings.

That mules are immune to malaria, and in some countries are put out as live bait to draw the disease-carrying mosquitos.

That a statistician has figured the hot dogs eaten by the average American in a single year, if stood end to end, would make a column 21 feet 3 inches tall.

That khaki, first worn by U. S. soldiers in the Spanish-American War, comes from the Hindu word "khak" meaning "earth" or "dust." And every ex-infantryman will agree they picked the right word.

That if America's 100-billion-dollar annual tax bill were distributed equally among the nation's 170 million people, it wouldn't be enough for a baby to be born with a silver spoon in his mouth. He'd have to arrive with $600 between his gums—or start life owing money.

That it was Col. Adolphus Busch who best defined the hidden woes of wealth by observing, "You can only drink 30 or 40 glasses of beer a day, no matter how rich you are."
