GUNACA IN PONTIAC — John M. Wisconsin Sends Escort to Take Gunaca Back

By GEORGE T. TRUMBULL JR.

Wisconsin police officers were headed for Detroit today to return John M. Gunaca, central figure in a legal and political battle which strained relations between Michigan and Wisconsin for four years.

After being arrested by two Michigan State Police detectives at his Detroit home yesterday morning, Gunaca, 35, appeared before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty to waive a right of a habeas corpus hearing.

Gunaca's attorney, D. Charles Marston, told Judge Doty his client was "willing and able and would like to surrender himself to the proper authorities in Wisconsin immediately."

While Gunaca, a Detroit bartender, was held in a Detroit jail overnight, Chief of Police Henry Billman, of Sheboygan Falls, Wis., and the sheriff of Sheboygan County were en route to Detroit by car this morning to take Gunaca back.

Gunaca is charged with being one of three UAW organizers who beat William Bersch Sr., and his son, William Jr., at a gas station in Sheboygan Falls, July 4, 1954.

Gov. Williams yesterday ended four years of strained relations between the two states when he signed an extradition warrant sending Gunaca back to Wisconsin to stand trial.

For four years the governor had refused to extradite Gunaca, claiming he would not get a fair trial because of the tension growing out of the Kohler Co. strike.

Williams said he had changed his mind now, convinced tensions in Sheboygan were "as calm as they are likely to be in the foreseeable future."

One of the first things Martson said he would do upon his arrival in Sheboygan would be to petition for a change of venue, which, if approved, would permit Gunaca to be tried out of strife-torn Sheboygan County.

Gunaca told reporters Wednesday that he realized he would go back eventually. "There was

Army Gets Set for First Firing of Space Probe

Busy Cape Canaveral Indicates Try Possible This Weekend

From Our News Wires

There were growing indications today that both U.S. and Russian space teams may shoot for the moon very soon.

At Cape Canaveral visibly increased activity in the launching area of a modified Jupiter rocket indicated that the Army was preparing to fire its first space probe shortly, possibly this weekend.

And from Huntsville, Ala. comes a report that the Soviet Union is very close to shooting for the moon, according to a scientist writing in the magazine Space Journal.

Cape Canaveral workmen could be observed moving about the launching area, upon which attention has centered since Tuesday when the Jupiter was allowed to stand free of its service tower for some time.

The rollback of the tower was one indication that prelaunch checks of the missile were under way.

Scientists and technicians from the Army agencies and contracting firms involved in space projects have been checking in at motels of the area, and are much in evidence around the small beach towns.

Official sources here were silent as to launch plans.

In Washington 10 days ago, however, The Associated Press reported that the Army planned to try a Juno II space launch—a Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missile topped by 15 smaller rockets clustered in three stages—during a week's period starting Dec. 6 (Saturday).

Scientists at Britain's big radio telescope at Jodrell Bank, Eng., today installed new receiving equipment to help them track the U.S. Army moon probe expected this weekend. The equipment just arrived from the United States.

The Soviet attempt could be a fancy one—to put a 110-to-220-pound probe into orbit around the moon, taking movies and TV pictures.

OUTLINED IN 1957

A Soviet scientist way back in February 1957 outlined just such a plan, calling it "cosmic boomerang," says Ronald C. Wakeford, director of research of the National Research and Development Corp., Atlanta, Ga.

"It is believed that this project has been actively pursued since its inception and that it is currently approaching the hardware stage," Wakeford says. Space Journal is the magazine of the Rocket City Astronomical

State Tax Plan Must Be 'Sold'

Legislator Says Next Step in Program Should Be Educating Public

LANSING (AP) — Now that the Conlin Advisory Committee plan for overhauling the state's tax system is afloat, what next?

"There has to be a period of public education, an increase in public understanding before much else can be done," said Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), the program's godfather.

But technical work to prepare the tax package for legislative consideration early next year will go forward without pause, he said.

Conlin, greatly fatigued, was a little hazy about what would be done to educate and inform the public.

Frank Seidman of Grand Rapids, chairman of the Citizens Advisory Group which formulated and approved the recommendations, told newsmen he had given no thought to mustering broad scale support for legislative adoption.

However, he said the group would continue to function and had no intention to disband.

Conlin said his legislative group, which sat in on advisory committee discussions but took no part, will meet in a week or two to decide whether to give the package its unqualified endorsement.

Meantime, plans will go ahead for preparation of the final advisory committee report which, besides containing the substance of the recommendations, also will include a "rationale" for the program—a carefully stated argument in support of it.

Despite the recommendation for a state income tax and other far-reaching top to bottom changes in the state tax structure, Conlin said no angry protests were communicated to him yesterday.

And no warm commendations.

29 Homes in Ashes, 18,000 Acres Black

From Our Wire Services

MALIBU BEACH, Calif.—The three-day-old fire monster writhed on today, most of its crackling fury spent, leaving:

About 18,000 mountain and seaside acres near this movie colony charred.

An estimated 29 homes in ashes.

Some 2,000 smoke-grimed fire fighters in control of 55 per cent of the fire's 37-mile perimeter.

The disastrous conflagration at one time forced several thousand residents including a number of movie and television personalities to flee their homes in the Santa Monica mountains.

The 2,000 men on the firelines concentrated mainly on hot licks of flame which endangered a populated section near Webster School and two other hot spots along a five-mile perimeter on the east and west lines.

"All men and equipment are being held. No one has been released except the injured," the fire department announced.

More than 1,000 servicemen from nearby Navy, Army and Marine camps were assisting in the firefighting.

Lew Ayres' $50,000 home was among those destroyed. Others luckier were actor Glenn Ford, Bob Hope and Ronald Reagan whose properties were seared but who managed to save their homes.

And scenes like:

Chains of children's swings dangling above blackened ground, the wooden seats gone in flames along with the house beyond.

A housewife crying in a little cement-block laundry house next to a chimney and rubble that once was a refrigerator, a stove and bedsprings — all that's left of her home.

Silence, like that of deserted battlegrounds. Chimneys standing like tombstones, marking where big homes once stood. Children's toys, flame-twisted their paint blistered.

Drizzle Will Turn to Snow Flurries

Windy, cloudy and colder with snow flurries is tonight's U.S. Weather Bureau forecast. The expected low is 25 degrees.

Friday will be partly cloudy and cold with the high around 28. Today's northwesterly winds will diminish slowly tomorrow. Partly cloudy and cold with snow flurries is the outlook for Saturday.

The State Highway Department reported a light to heavy snowfall in the entire Upper Peninsula resulted in generally slippery conditions and drifting in the Houghton area.

A light rain with mist and fog and a wet snow in the Kalkaska area reduced visibility and made roads slippery in spots in the northern half of Lower Peninsula.

No abnormal driving conditions have been reported in the southern half of the Lower Peninsula.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. was 33 degrees. The reading at 2 p.m. was 38.

New Exchange in Phone Book

Add ULysses Numbers to Designate Homes East of Pontiac

"ULysses" is being introduced in the new Michigan Bell Telephone Co. directory distributed in the Pontiac area today.

The name of the Greek mythological hero will be the new exchange for telephones in homes east of Pontiac, Raymond H. Storm, Michigan Bell district manager, announced.

About 4,000 telephone users in the Auburn Heights area will begin using the new ULysses exchange at 2:01 a.m. Sunday, Storm said.

The change affects portions of both Pontiac and Avon townships between Pontiac, Rochester and Troy. Telephone users there have had FEderal and OLive exchanges.

The new ULysses numbers in Auburn Heights are listed in a separate alphabetical section in the new telephone directory.

Storm noted another change in the new directory. The yellow classified pages are bound separately.

"Each book can be used independently of the other and in the future each book can be issued at the time that best serves our customers," said Storm.

Note to Los Angeles: Fog Blankets Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) — Fog, smog? Los Angeles? Nonsense. Detroit!

A light breeze zipped through the Motor City last night, and moments later a thick fog settled over the tall buildings and the smaller ones, the wharves along the Detroit River and the automobile factories of the nation's fifth larges' city.

But no one seemed to know exactly how thick the fog was.

Reports from cities throughout the Lower Peninsula indicated the fog spread over much of Michigan, and longtime Detroit residents said it was one of the thickest fogs they had ever seen.

Moore's Committee Makes Headway

Governor Acts to Provide Beds

Gov. Williams agreed to get "action in a hurry" to help ease the state's critical mental health situation, following a meeting with a committee of probate judges yesterday in Lansing.

The committee, headed by Oakland County Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, is seeking hospital beds for some 1,500 persons waiting admission to state mental health institutions.

The Governor said he will appoint a citizens advisory committee to study the possibility of converting the tuberculosis sanatorium at Gaylord into a hospital for 260 mentally ill.

Although the Governor's action received favorable comment from some of the probate judges, Judge Moore said he was still in favor of the Governor calling a special session of the Legislature to deal with the mental health problem.

But Williams gave no indication he would take such action.

Williams said the advisory committee will contain several disinterested persons, plus representatives of the Mental Health and Tuberculosis Sanatorium Commissions and Moore's committee.

The new committee will weigh the legal aspects of a transfer of responsibility for the Gaylord institution from the Tuberculosis Sanatorium Commission to the Mental Health Commission.

If legal roadblocks can't be overcome, the Governor said he would back an alternate plan to send 100 persons, whose ailments are both tubercular and mental, to the Gaylord sanatorium. The institution now houses some 60 tubercular cases, but has a capacity of 176 patients.

★ ★ ★

Judge Moore, who said he was "very much disturbed by the lack of facilities for mentally retarded children," admitted there was no simple solution to the problem.

★ ★ ★

He pointed out that the estimated cost of new hospital construction and equipment was $7,500 per

Press Snooper Digs Up Unusual Yule Gift Items

By JANET ODELL

It's always the unusual gift the Shopping Snooper looks for, with an occasional accent on the practical and obvious. Today we have a potpourri of suggestions.

Magnets for youngsters made a big hit last year. We saw them last week, three round ones on a card. They're good for many hours of fun.

Another toy that offers a maximum of use is a junior drafting set. It's complete, even to a T-square.

Tumblers in two sizes and with flecks of sparkle fused into the color will make someone's table gay for many months. The tumblers are plastics.

Speaking of tumblers reminds us of the small apothecary jar set we saw for the man who presides at his home bar. The three were labeled "Onions," "Olives" and "Cherries." They were fitted into a brass carrying tray.

Unusual Venetian glass figures and vases are being shown at one store. Our eye was caught especially by a crystal and green rooster. A gaily dressed clown bottle is amusing; he comes from a different shop.

Dusting can be really interesting if you have one of the new lambswool dusters, imported from England. They come in a rainbow of pastel colors. Some even have extension handles.

Model kits are stacked ceiling high in a number of stores. Among the newest items in this line are dinosaurs and human skeletons.

Delightful little animals to be assembled also come in kit form.

Pick up a snowstorm paper weight for a stocking stuffer. Give the man in your life stretch socks with his initial on them.

For that favorite lady there's an oriental jewel chest elaborately decorated with brass and ivory. Try to find the secret drawer.

Ike Settles Space Feud

Army Releases Jet Lab Control

Keeps Missile Agency, Scientists; NASA Gets Pasadena Facility

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has given up control of its principal space research laboratory in a sharing of facilities with the new civilian space agency.

★ ★ ★

A compromise plan ordered into effect by President Eisenhower Wednesday gives the Army continuing control of the Ballistic Missile Agency at Huntsville, Ala., where a team of space age scientists led by Wernher von Braun developed the Redstone, Jupiter and other Army missiles.

LOSES JET LAB

The Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., operated for the Army by California Institute of Technology, was put under control of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

★ ★ ★

Each will continue to use the other's facilities at least for a time, but the orders indicated that NASA will make increasing use of the Huntsville facilities on what Eisenhower called "a fully cooperative basis."

★ ★ ★

The Army, on the other hand, was authorized to continue certain specific military projects under way at the laboratory through 1959, with arrangements after that time to be made by mutual agreement.

★ ★ ★

The space administration had sought to take over major functions at both facilities. Army space officials objected strenuously, especially to the possible loss of its Huntsville facilities and the team of scientists there. A compromise resulted in the presidential order.

TO CUT DUPLICATION

In announcing it, Eisenhower said the agreement "prevents unnecessary duplication and effects economies in space research and development.

"This development will enhance close cooperation between the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Department of Defense to the end that the peaceful use of space will rebound to the benefit of all mankind."

★ ★ ★

The agreement was explained to newsmen by Deputy Secretary of Defense Donald A. Quarles and Space Administrator T. Keith Glennan.

'Draft Romney' Plan a Surprise

Auto Executive Says He Doesn't Know Man Who Started Campaign

George Romney, American Motors Corp., president from Bloomfield Hills, said he didn't even know the gentleman who is sparking a draft-Romney-for-governor movement.

Reached at his new Hills home at 1830 E. Valley Rd. this morning, Romney declined to comment on whether he favored having his name tossed into the political grab-bag.

Neither would Romney say whether he would accept the 1960 Republican gubernatorial candidacy if it were offered him.

Romney's name suddenly became a topic of political talk when Allen B. Clink, a Detroit insurance agent, filed papers with the Wayne County Clerk yesterday indicating formation of a "Citizens Committee to Draft George Romney for Governor."

Clink is a former Young Republican National Committeeman for Michigan.

Expect U.S., Russia Moon Shots Soon

Assn., organized by scientists at Redstone Arsenal with Dr. Wernher von Braun as one of the leaders.

Reports suggest the Soviet moon probe will be radio-tele-directed from earth, relaying moon pictures back, Wakeford says.

In Washington, the government yesterday announced a far-reaching satellite launching program that may include a five-ton artificial moon—far bigger than any shot off by Russia so far.

The ambitious undertaking, dubbed "Project Discoverer," also calls for the launching of satellites carrying monkeys and mice as a giant step toward eventually shooting a man into orbit and returning him to earth.

The program was announced by Roy W. Johnson, director of the Defense Department's space agency. It will get under way at Vandenberg Air Force Base near Lampoc, Calif., in about 30 days.

Further launchings will follow throughout the coming year at the rate of about one a month.

The Day in Birmingham

Local Residents Will Hear Air Raid Sirens Sunday

BIRMINGHAM — Civil defense director Robert Kenning said today that Birmingham will take part in the siren test to be conducted in the metropolitan Detroit area Sunday.

Sirens will sound a steady two minute blast at 2 p.m. to represent the alert in an actual attack. The wavering signal which will follow will be the "take cover" warning.

The usual Saturday noon tests will be omitted this month. The Sunday test, Kenning said, will be siren warnings only and Birmingham will not have simulated emergencies.

About 35 area adults attended the meeting last night on the formation of a snow ski club here. It was outlined what the club would do such as planning family trips as well as those for individuals.

At next Wednesday's meeting at the Community House, the bylaws and constitution will be presented for approval.

Instructional classes are being planned, probably to be held after the holidays.

An art exhibit will be held at the City and Country School, Bloomfield Hills, Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m. to help raise funds for educational projects for the school's gifted children.

The exhibit, presented by the Park Gallery, will feature paintings, jewelry, ceramics, etchings, woodcuts and prints, all which will be for sale. The public is invited to attend the event, free of charge.

A special scholarship fund, established by the school, will assist parents who need financial aid to send their talented children to the school, one of two in the United States which is organized for the development and education of the gifted child.

The annual school of instruction was held at a special meeting of Birmingham Chapter 221 OES in the Masonic Temple yesterday.

Russell C. Monroe, worthy grand patron of the Grand Chapter of Michigan, instructed new officers in the ritualistic work.

Robert Thom, noted Birmingham artist, will speak at the Senior Men's Club meeting at the Community House tomorrow.

The discussion group will have as their subject the criticism which has been aimed recently at the state and national courts.

bed. Thus, the Legislature would have to provide $11,250,000 if new facilities were built just to take care of the 1,500 persons now on the waiting list.

He and Williams agreed that every effort should be made to utilize every available hospital bed now empty.

Moore quoted State Health Commissioner Dr. Albert E. Heustis as reporting 967 vacant beds in 20 state, county, municipal and private sanatoria.

The judges' committee also called for legislative action on a program which would:

1. Place all state medical, hospital and sanatorium facilities under one head—a doctor-administrator to be known as the state health and hospital commissioner. He would be empowered to use these facilities for any public health need.

2. Prohibit the admission to mental hospitals of persons more than 60 years of age whose chief need is custodial—rather than psychiatric—care.

3. Return to county care all presently committed persons whose chief need is custodial—rather than psychiatric—care.

4. Require payment from counties failing to take back such patients. Payment would be equal to the ordinary cost of care of similar patients in general county institutions in the state.

5. Set up an expanded program of mental facilities for children including diagnostic centers and guidance clinics.

Wisconsin Sending Escort for Gunaca

no argument there," he said. "It was just a question of getting a fair trial."

It was back in September of 1954 when Gunaca was arraigned before Judge Doty on a fugitive warrant from Wisconsin. Gunaca was freed on a $1,500 bond set by the judge while he awaited an extradition hearing before Gov. Williams.

The Governor continually refused to extradite Gunaca. He remained free on the bond until yesterday.

This refusal thus became a bone of contention for Republicans in both states" who claimed the Governor was sheltering the fugitive to assure himself of continued political support from the UAW.

While he awaited transportation to Detroit yesterday, Gunaca was quick to come to the defense of the Governor when a reporter asked whether Williams hadn't held up his extradition "because of union pressure."

"That remark doesn't hold a bit of water," Gunaca snapped.

The dapper Gunaca denied he was ever in a union scuffle, but said he had participated in several picket lines.

He displayed a continued lapse of memory when questioned by reporters where he was at the time of the beating of Bersch and his son. "I could have been in or out of town, I don't remember," he said.

The elder Bersch died 15½ months after he was beaten. The death certificate listed a chronic heart ailment as the cause of death, but Bersch's son told the Senate Labor Rackets Committee last spring he believed the beating caused the death.

Gunaca, a member of Detroit UAW Local 212 and Bartenders Union Local 562, said he was representing Local 212 at the time of the strike violence.

Admitting that his status as a fugitive had "made a nervous wreck of myself," he expressed doubt whether he still could get a fair trial.

He said he felt that the prosecutor of Sheboygan County "has it in for me."

The strapping six-footer, 200-pounder asked:

"How would you like going back where people are calling you a killer, murderer. When everybody gets so worked up, how can I be assured of a fair trial."

Rainfall Shields Threat of Cold Air From Canada

By The Associated Press

Widespread, but light rainfall partly shielded an onrushing thrust of cool Canadian air today that sped rapidly through the northern Plains, tumbling temperatures.

★ ★ ★

During the early morning, the cold blast had edged into the upper Mississippi Valley.

Gusty northwesterly winds, measured at 30 to 40 miles an hour, buffeted the Dakotas and Minnesota. In the Dakotas, 20-degree readings were reported still plummeting in the path of the cold flow.

★ ★ ★

By late today, the new cold shot was expected to reach most of the Great Lakes region, the Ohio Valley, northern sectors of California, Nevada and Utah, and even northern portions of Texas.

★ ★ ★

To the east, lower-than-normal morning temperatures in the 20s were recorded over the Appalachians and northern New England.

White House Rumors: Ike May Go to Geneva

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

Administration insiders admit they're only guessing, but they think it would be "logical" to expect a summit meeting involving the presence of President Eisenhower late next spring.

★ ★ ★

Where? No better bet just now than Geneva. The Russians would prefer the Swiss city to Paris. As for Nikita Khrushchev being willing to come to the United Nations in New York, nyet.

Mr. K. did a lot of talking about his willingness to go to New York last summer, but this government never took it too seriously.

Down in Augusta, Ga., where the President recently spent 13 days polishing up his golf game, some of the players less talented than Eisenhower have been talking about banding together in "golf anonymous."

The purpose behind their joint effort would be to help men who can't break 100 after 10 years of trying. The idea is to get the members off the stuff or teach them to live happily as duffers.

At the start of his 13-day stay in Augusta, the President's golf was something less than tournament quality, even though he had been playing two and three times a week in Washington at Burning Tree.

He still was carrying some fatigue from the election campaign, but as he played daily in Georgia, his game sharpened to the point that the members were envying some of his rounds in the low 80s. Tee shots of between 220 and 240 yards were not uncommon.

★ ★ ★

Hit tune of the season for the White House travel crew: "I'll Be Home for Christmas—But Whose Home?"

★ ★ ★

Actually, Gettysburg now looks like a better bet for a presidential Yuletide holiday trip than Augusta. Last year, the President went to his farm shortly after Christmas in the White House with his family and the four grandchildren. He remained in Gettysburg over New Year's.

Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower is the personification of a doting grandmother and she'd have a hollow holiday, away from the children. There is reason to believe, too, that the children's mother, Mrs. John S. Eisenhower, does not want the kids to spend most of their major holidays in the country club surroundings of Augusta.

Greek Sailors Rescued

DOVER, England (UPI)—An international fleet of tugs and ships today completed the rescue of the crews of two Greek freighters. The 11,156-ton freighter King Minos had knifed through the 7,194-ton grain ship Prodromos in the foggy English Channel Wednesday.

Red Parliament Date Set

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Supreme Soviet (parliament) of the Russian Republic will convene here Dec. 26, the Soviet news agency Tass said.

Research Cutting Size of Electronic Circuits

NEW YORK — Research work on a new class of ultraminiature integrated electronic devices indicate the development of still smaller, simpler electronic circuits in the near future.

One unit now being developed by a New York firm, a shift-register transistor, is half an inch long and 4/1000th of an inch thick. When work on it is complete, it is expected to perform the functions of 20 transistors, 40 resistors, or 20 capacitors.

Burlap Bags Use Jute With Linseed Straw

VIENNA — "Linen" burlap bags can be made from a new type of material consisting of the usual jute plus fibers made from linseed straw, according to the Viennese developers of the process.

They say a good combination contains 27½ per cent of new fiber and that the linseed straw, formerly burned as a waste product, might also be used in making other fabrics. Its use would free the West from total dependence on Asiatic jute.

Electric Paint Brush

NEW YORK — One of the new inventions exhibited at the recent Gadget Show here was an electric paint brush that has its own paint reservoir. The user just guides the brush by the handle and the brush moves back and forth by itself.

Waterworks in the U.S. employ about 100,000 persons.

October Traffic Toll Higher Than in 1957

CHICAGO (AP) — The National Safety Council reported today traffic deaths in October were four per cent higher than in October a year ago — 3,590 against 3,450.

October brought an end to 13 months of uninterrupted traffic improvement. It was the second month of the last 23 to record an increase in highway fatalities over the corresponding month of the preceding year.

Council officials were unable to account for the increase.

Despite the October jump, traffic deaths throughout the nation dropped five per cent in the first 10 months of the year—29,770 in 1958 compared to 31,220 for the same period in 1957.

At the end of the first seven months, the latest period for which detailed figures were available, vehicular travel was up two per cent and deaths were down seven per cent, the council reported.

That produced a mileage death rate—the number of traffic fatalities for 100 million miles of travel—of 5.1, the lowest on record for a comparable period.

Pedestrians Drink, Too

COLUMBIA, S. C. (UPI) — The South Carolina highway department reports that 4,986 persons during the past 12 months were accused of being intoxicated pedestrians.

Baboon Climbs Church Steeple to Avoid Needle

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP)—A runaway baboon who doesn't like injections squatted atop a slender church steeple yesterday.

Neither subfreezing temperatures nor the pleading of her keeper would tempt the 2½-year-old baboon to leave her lofty seat.

The animal broke away from the Frankfurt Zoo Tuesday night when her keeper tried to give her an antituberculosis injection.

Via treetops, telephone wires and lightning rods she made her way to the top of the old Roman Catholic church of St. Nicholas.

Several hundred onlookers gathered, giving advice to the keeper and urging the animal's rescue.

A native of the Ethiopian highlands, the baboon is accustomed to great cold and the present subfreezing temperatures won't harm her. She can go without food for days. The zoo administration decided it wasn't necessary to call for the fire brigade and their long ladders.

"She'll come down," muttered the patient keeper. "And if she thinks she's getting away with it, she's wrong. She'll get the needle."

Jim Keeley, of Alberta, Canada, has built four boats in his cellar. Each time he got more enthusiastic and enlarged the size of the boats. He had to knock out a concrete wall of the cellar to get his fourth boat out.

Starfish's Stomach Goes Out to Dinner

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — Prof. John M. Anderson, a Cornell University zoologist, is using a $12,800 National Science Foundation grant to find out more about the stamach of a starfish.

He is studying in detail the starfish method of sliding its stomach out of its mouth and surrounding food with a baglike structure which is then retracted.

Anderson describes the starfish as an "animal which sends its stomach out for dinner."

France Imports Ores

MARSEILLE — France's leading imports from foreign countries are ores and metallurgical products, which make up about 20 per cent of total imports. Ranking next at 16 per cent each are petroleum and raw materials for textiles. Coal imports amount to about 8 per cent and foodstuffs about 16 per cent — mostly fats, oils, coffee, tea, and fruit.

What Role Will Dewey Play in New York?

The name THOMAS E. DEWEY poses a big question mark in New York State. The speculation centers around whether the return to power of the Republican party will also mean a return to personal power for the three term governor and twice defeated Presidential candidate.

First indication of any revival of Dewey Republicanism is the recent appointment of Dr. T. Norman Hurd, as budget director by Governor-elect Nelson A. Rockefeller.

Dr. HURD is not new to New York politics since he occupied the same important post during the last four years of the DEWEY administration. To date he is the first "DEWEY man" among ROCKEFELLER'S appointees.

It is entirely possible that other appointments may come from DEWEY'S 12 years of experience in running the state. ROCKEFELLER has already indicated that he will consult Mr. DEWEY about appointees for certain areas.

However, this does not mean that Dewey will be the man behind the scenes pulling the strings. Insiders are quite certain that Dewey is not destined to play a major role in the Rockefeller administration and is not expecting or seeking one.

The two men are friends and the chances are their relationship will remain cordial. They have conferred in the past, and during the recent election, and it is reasonable to believe that they will in the future.

Already Mr. ROCKEFELLER has demonstrated a strong sense of independence. He campaigned alone and will not now share the power and prestige he won at considerable effort.

★ ★ ★

ROCKEFELLER is not responsible to anyone for his election victory. By some he is called stubborn, which makes it all the more unlikely for him to share any role with former Republican Governor DEWEY.

Russia's Trade Growth Challenges Free World

A major topic of the National Free Trade Convention meeting in New York is the Soviet economic challenge to the free world.

JOHN J. MCCLOY, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, warned of the tremendous strides Russia has made in industrial development. Deputy Undersecretary of State ROBERT MURPHY focused attention on a basic question—the future of underdeveloped countries where Russian propaganda is trying to convince the people that Communism will cure all their misery and poverty.

The Soviet bloc's trade with the free world increased by 77 per cent between 1952 and 1956. In the past four years they have extended nearly $2 billion in military and economic aid to 14 countries while their own trade with such countries increased 70 per cent. Most of this aid has been given by Russia, but the satellites and Red China also have contributed.

In every Communist country trade is a state monopoly. Trade and aid are co-ordinated and used as a political weapon. There is no such co-ordination in the free world whose members compete among themselves for markets. Each large country has its own program of economic and technical aid.

The ROCKEFELLER report proposed a Western Hemispheric economic union to work with Europe's Common Market and British leaders insist that joint economic strategy is essential if we are to lead underdeveloped areas to stability and freedom.

To meet the challenge Mr. MCCLOY warned that we will have to make better products and we will have to work longer and harder to make them. A "war without shots" is as dangerous for the free world as a shooting one.

IT'S a wonder some uncouth Republican newspaper didn't headline election news, "Democrats Win by Mudslide."

IT MAY be better to wear out than to rust out, but rusting out is far more restful.

The Man About Town

Holly vs. Fenton

Neither Is on the Rocks; but They Gambol Over One

Good old days: When it cost more to drive a car than to park it.

What threatened to disrupt relations between two of our suburbs now seems to have cemented the good will between them.

In front of Fenton high school is a rock that weighs over a ton. On it for many years have been engraved the dates of graduating classes. It is a community landmark.

The rock recently disappeared from its very secure foundation. In the wee small hours of a morning a derrick with big lifting equipment carried it away. Consternation ran rife in Fenton. It was like the disappearance of the Blarney or Stone of Schone.

The big relic of the glacial age was finally located on a back lot in Holly. A nearby derrick looked guilty—so did some Holly students, who finally 'fessed.

They asserted that Fenton has claimed for years that the rock could not be moved, that it was a Gibraltar. More recently that claim has been supplemented with, "Especially by any Holly guys."

That pebble now is back on its old setting, and Fenton gets its breath and talks about something else. Happiness reigns supreme. Each school wants to honor the other. A joint party is in prospect.

It may result in their getting into the same athletic leagues, which some unexplainable reason has kept them apart, although their village limits are less than 2½ miles apart as the crow flies and as goes the sound of moving rocks.

The recent death of the great GMC scientist,

Charles F. Kettering, should make Pontiac people feel proud that we have an avenue named in his honor.

That big storm Saturday in the Buffalo area found

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rayner

of 2757 Zelma Drive stalled for five hours on the New York-Chicago expressway.

The first appearance of our new comic strip,

"Jeremy Christmas,"

so greatly aroused the curiosity of the children of

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Holster

of Drayton Plains that they called up to ask what was going to happen on the second day.

Having had some experience in the matter, of Commerce, points out that 600 Christmas trees can be grown on an acre of ground that is too rough for any other crop. After 10 or 12 years, and with practically no care, at present prices, this would bring around $1,500. But, Mr. Foisley, the writer once lost 3,000 such trees, each four years old through fire, for which they are an easy mark.

Blanchard Foisley

"I read a story about blue jays and chipmunks eating together," writes of Walled Lake, who asserts that the jays have driven all the munks out of her neighborhood.

Mrs. Ambrose Folsom

David Lawrence Says:

Political Aid Law Often Violated

WASHINGTON — The biggest scandal in Washington never emerges above the surface to make the headlines. The federal laws forbidding labor unions and corporations from making political campaign contributions are being constantly violated.

LAWRENCE

Although the present law has been on the statute books for 11 years, there have been only four prosecutions by the Department of Justice. Due to technicalities, it has failed to get any convictions.

The New York Herald Tribune on Wednesday of this week published a brief dispatch from Washington which said:

"The Senate Rackets Committee is having some second thoughts about a projected investigation of union political contributions. Such a probe, it is felt, might well disclose that a good many senators from both parties—including even some committee members—were recipients of campaign gifts obtained from union dues in violation of the Taft-Hartley Act."

★ ★ ★

It has been conceded that in the recent congressional election 172 of the winning candidates for the House of Representatives got labor union support of a financial nature. Many millions of dollars collected from union members were spent.

Will people begin to think that there is something questionable about the congressional setup? One would suppose that the members of Congress themselves would wish to have their names cleared of any scandal.

Many of them doubtless would argue conscientiously that they believe the law is unconstitutional. If it is unconstitutional, then they should be advocating its repeal so that corporations as well as labor unions would have the opportunity to spend their money freely in political campaigns.

When the four cases involving prosecutions for violation of the federal law were tried, the Supreme Court of the United States did not clarify the constitutional issues but turned the cases back to the lower courts on technical grounds.

In a pamphlet analyzing the status of the present law and court decisions, a prominent law firm here, Gall, Lane & Howe, states the following conclusions:

"The statute has been so rewritten by the Supreme Court—primarily out of constitutional considerations — that it is now difficult to identify the former statute with the present law.

"As to particular union political activities and the expenditures therefore, the law now appears to be:

"(A) Union 'contributions' of general union funds directly to candidates for federal office or their political committees are forbidden.

"(B) Regular union periodicals or newspapers financed from union funds may contain political material and be distributed to those accustomed to receiving copies. This is not a violation of Section 313.

"(C) Nor—at least in the second circuit—is it a violation for a union without a regular periodical to buy newspaper advertising or radio time to endorse congressional candidates, but

"(D) It is a violation of Section 313 for a union to 'expend' union funds for commercial television broadcasts on other political activities with the intent to influence the general electorate in federal elections, and

"(E) The primary distinction between (B) and (D) is that (B) involved a 'house organ' not directed to the public at large whereas (D) involves (as the Supreme Court said) 'the evil at which Congress has struck in Section 313,' namely 'the use of corporate or union dues to influence the public at large to vote for a particular candidate or a particular party,' but nevertheless

"(F) General union funds made available to union political action committees may be illegally 'expended' or 'contributed' if the funds have been involuntarily exacted from union members."

Section 313 of the Federal Corrupt Practices Act unequivocally makes it a federal crime for any labor organization or corporation "to make a contribution or expenditure in connection with any (federal) election."

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal.—I Cor. 12:7.

★ ★ ★

A religion without the Holy Ghost, though it had all the ordinances and all the doctrines of the New Testament, would certainly not be Christianity.—William Arthur.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Let's Debunk the Gadgets Used to Impress Patients

I sincerely believe that much of the gadgetry and hokum in the practice of the merchants of medicine is used because it impresses the customers and not because it is an aid to diagnosis or treatment.

DR. BRADY

For instance, aside from a few figures indicating plus or minus metabolism — figures that are notoriously inaccurate — the costly basal metabolism "test" with the Rube Goldberg contraption gives no information that a good doctor can't get from ordinary physical examination and study of the patient.

Another gadget which I believe does a great deal of harm and rarely if ever any good, is the sphygmomanometer. Use of this instrument to measure blood pressure in man or animal is OK in the physiology laboratory where precise records are necessary.

In the doctor's office or at the patient's bedside the sphygmomanometer is not worth the time it takes to apply and inflate the cuff, except as a bit of business to make the dumb customer think the doctor is up-to-date giving customers the advantages of the latest scientific discoveries.

In everyday practice, a doctor who knows his business, that is, one who has had good training, is well read and has had a sufficient amount of experience, can determine by ordinary physical examination whether a patient's blood pressure is high, low or normal, at least as well as with the sphygmomanometer.

Furthermore, I'm confident—say cocksure if you like—that no one can show the use of the sphygmomanometer brings any material advantage to the patient that otherwise would not be available. The wielder of the Rube Goldberg gadget can prescribe only such medicines, diets or physical or psychotherapy for high blood pressure or hypertension as any doctor might prescribe in the circumstances.

I do not mean to imply that a good doctor prescribes medicine, died or other remedial or palliative for high blood pressure. Only the merchants of medicine do so.

An honest doctor treats the disease or functional derangement or emotional disturbance responsible for the high blood pressure; for he or she knows the futility, the harm, even the danger of reducing blood pressure without regard for what ails the patient.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Mother Suggests Having Rope Ladders in Classes

It seems to me that schools should equip each room on second floors or above with a rope ladder of some sort to use in case of fire when stairways and other exits are cut off by flames and smoke. Had there been something of this sort, perhaps many of the little children who lost their lives in the Chicago fire could have been saved. So it costs a few dollars to do this. What is a few dollars compared to human lives?

Mother of Two

More Express Anger at Strike

My indignation regarding the milk strike must have been widely shared. This effort at monopoly is only one more example of the modern trend in our "dog-eat-dog" attitude toward our fellow men. It's against all Christian teaching to make the problems of living more difficult for the lower income group by inflating prices just so some milk dealers and drivers can make more money by forcing all people to buy from a delivery truck.

★ ★ ★

A Press letter said delivered price is 24½ cents a quart. My dealer has charged me 29 cents for many months. How come? People who put themselves out to drive and pick up their own milk ought to reap some benefit. They wouldn't inconvenience themselves unless there's a real need to save.

★ ★ ★

My milk man didn't deliver on Saturday, Sunday or Monday. My Friday milk had to last until Tuesday. For families using four quarts a day, the storage problem is prohibitive. When intelligent American men use the strike method to rob American children of their chief and often only food, the privilege of striking should be restrained by government order. Resentment fostered by this strike will remain in our hearts and react to their detriment in the future.

Thinking American

What do these dairy drivers want now—blood? If they had been laid off or on welfare and were trying to get on their feet, I could understand, but I had a dairy owner tell me that he didn't have a driver that made less than $8,000 a year.

★ ★ ★

I noticed, too, that when strawberries were 10 cents and bread was two for 29 cents, they didn't see anything wrong with that and took advantage of it. Yet they think it's wrong for me to buy milk at 39 cents a half gallon. If these drivers are allowed to control the price, why isn't that a monopoly?

It's time housewives stopped all home deliveries and bought milk through stores. If we could do away with these "union" drivers, we would have a chance to keep the price down.

'Reds Have Nothing to Lose by a War'

Along with others, I think Russia would be happy to have a war with the United States, as they have nothing to lose. If they conquer us, they'll practically own the earth, and if we beat them, the Republican administration will immediately start to support them in a style better than they are accustomed. They win both ways and what's keeping them from firing the first bloody shot?

'GOP Vote Counts More Than Dem's'

The Michigan Legislature for 1959 is divided evenly with 55 Democrats and 55 Republicans in the lower house. But the 55 Democrats polled some 500,000 more votes than the 55 Republicans. How come?

★ ★ ★

Did the Republican Legislature plan it this way. If a vote is a vote and each citizen is entitled to one, how is it that a Republican vote in Michigan is worth so much more than a Democratic vote?

★ ★ ★

Something is very fishy here. Should free Americans take some flagrant partiality without a mighty protest to the guilty parties?

Feels We Hear Only the Talkers

I've been following with great interest and concern the troubled Pontiac Police Department, and I've recently read comments by policemen most of whom I've never heard of before, degrading their own department and city.

In the past months I've read a lot about two brothers who seem to be doing a fine job cleaning up our city and their own department as well. What do they think about our city. Is it as bad as it has been painted in recent newspaper articles?

Let's hear from the workers for a change and ignore the talkers.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Would Discourage 'Going Steady'

Notice Dale's reaction to the new plan of limiting men to only three dances with the same girl at a party. Then study the rest of this case record, for it will show you how to make sure your infatuation is the real McCoy vs. just a temporary stage of emotional intoxication. Send for the tests below, for they help shatter bad infatuations.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-394: Dale L., aged 17, recently attended a school dance.

"Mother, it was really 'fun,'" he said the next morning at breakfast.

DR. CRANE

"For the Dean of the school had insisted that nobody could dance more than three dances with the same girl.

"So that gave us a chance to dance with a lot others and thus got us acquainted.

"I like this method far better than to stick with the same girl through the entire evening."

KIDS, GET HEP

One of the purposes of a dance is to let teenagers meet several desirable members of the opposite sex.

★ ★ ★

The policy this past decade of dancing exclusively with the same girl you took to the party, is unwise.

It was developed, apperently, to encourage the bad habit of "going steady."

As such, it enabled a girl to hang on to her escort. Rivals didn't have even two minutes with him alone.

Yet the purpose of social gatherings is to promote greater social poise and widen your perspective about human personality.

You can't attain that goal if you are stuck with the same person all evening.

Even if you are very fond of your companion, it is not wise to deprive yourself of the educational value of meeting different people.

You will polish up your conversational skill far better by dancing with 5 or 10 girls instead of just one.

And you will be able to shatter any unwise infatuation by this comparing your regular date with the other girls whom you meet. They will offer a social "yardstick" for measuring charm, conversational skill, dancing ability, tact and "oomph."

MODERN LOVE PROBLEMS

A lot of modern young fellows have wanted to shatter the bad custom of having to dance steadily with the same girl they take to the party.

★ ★ ★

For they may often wish to meet somebody else. And a dance is supposed to permit this.

So kill off this outmoded social custom of trying to limit all the dances to the same girl.

Use your "horse sense" and restore dancing to its proper function of letting young people get acquainted with a wide range of attractive personalities.

When you marry, you should be trebly SURE you have the right one. But you can't be certain if you go steady and never play the field.

Even if you fall in love young, as I did when I fell madly in love with my future wife, it is smart to play the field and thus develop a yardstick for measuring durable charms in the opposite sex.

I fell in love at first sight and at the age of 16, but I didn't marry that girl till I was 27, so I had plenty of time to make sure my original infatuation wasn't unwise.

That is the policy you teenagers should adopt. Even if you think you are permanently in love (and maybe you are), you can't be sure until you play the field and let some years intervene.

So send for my "Tests for Sweethearts," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents (non-profit). Rate each other thereon.

Then let your friends rate both of you, too, just to make sure you aren't so biased that you can't evaluate your sweetheart objectively.

These tests have helped break up thousands of unwise infatuations, so use them to safeguard your future happiness.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Salesman Gets Gas Tax Refund

Claims 17 Millions Due Owners of Motorboats From States, Nation

CHICAGO (UPI) — A salesman who got fed up with paying highway motor fuel taxes on gasoline he used for a sea-going outboard motor says he's hit a potential $17,000,000-a-year jackpot for the nation's boat owners.

★ ★ ★

Dick Burmeister, a resident of suburban Northbrook, Ill., was brooding one day about the huge gas bills run up by his nautical-minded youngsters at their lake resort summer home in Wisconsin.

He did a little research and discovered that boat owners spent $85,000,000 a year on gasoline.

Some more research determined that $17,000,000 of that amount represented levies collected by the federal and state governments on gasoline that was legally tax free.

"I found that most states and the Federal government paid refunds on the tax," Burmeister said. "This amounts to as much as eight cents a gallon in some states."

★ ★ ★

But few boat owners applied for the refunds, he said, because they didn't know they were entitled to them or because the procedure was too complicated.

★ ★ ★

Burmeister did file for his refund. Uncle Sam gave him no trouble and he received a one-cent return for every gallon of gasoline his outboard motor ate up.

However, the state of Wisconsin was a bit reluctant about coming up with the $25 Burmeister said he deserved.

The state contended that he did not have all the receipts, that he filled out the form incorrectly and had not followed proper procedures. But the full-time salesman and part-time tax refund-seeker persevered and managed to get $13 from the Wisconsin treasury.

★ ★ ★

Since he had so much trouble getting his refund, Burmeister figured that many other boaters were too. So last winter he decided to go into business and provide prepared pads of receipts that would conform with federal and state regulations.

If You Use Imagination

Gift-Wrapping Can Be Fun

If you are planning to surprise someone with a pogo stick, golf clubs or a tall umbrella, put it under Santa's hat.

There is an easy-to-make Santa which serves as a perfect slim gift wrapper. All you need are some pieces of corrugated paper on a base, some bright red Christmas paper, cotton swabs for a beard, some bits of paper for the eyes and nose, a length of cotton for the belt and cellophane tape.

Santa is made in two sections joined at the center, then covered with a cotton belt.

Roll a piece of corrugated paper in a circle wide enough to enclose a gift, then fasten in place with cellophane tape. Cover the corrugated paper with bright red paper and fasten it with tape. This is the base. Each piece should be about 2 feet high.

★ ★ ★

To make the upper half, repeat this but make it narrower so it will fit inside the lower half.

Use Christmas tape to rim the hat. Then make a cone of red paper and pop it on top with a Christmas ball.

Unless they are quiz show winners, few youngsters have enough allowance money to buy elaborate gift wrappings in addition to Christmas presents. Yet they like to put an individual stamp on each present.

★ ★ ★

This they can do by wrapping their gifts in plain white paper, then planning unusual holiday motifs to decorate them.

All it takes is imagination, some cotton swabs as paint brushes, colored ink or water colors.

To make a reindeer, for example, first draw a deer, then dip a swab in black ink and trace the drawing with a broad stroke.

Green ink dotted on the paper around the deer makes a lively polka dot pattern that will draw attention to the package when it is under a tree.

Swabs are suggested for this project because they are easy for children.

WHOOOOPS! — This housewife is dressed for a fall, one that will have youngsters running to see if Santa plopped into the fireplace. High heels may flatter the legs but flat shoes give safer support. And a steady ladder makes a better height reacher than a stool. Also, trim trees with fireproofed ornaments and tinsel for home safety.

Keep Christmas Accident-Free

December Is 'Danger Month'

Many persons look upon Christmas as something other than a festive, fun-filled occasion. It has a different meaning to the thousands of persons injured in the home each year during the holiday.

December, according to the National Safety Council, has more accidental deaths than any other month. It tops all others in accidental deaths from motor vehicles, falls, fire burns, railroads and poison gases.

Much of the December danger in the home results from the hustle-bustle, the conviviality that goes with the occasion, and the very things that are supposed to make Christmas a special time: trimmings and trees.

★ ★ ★

"Though harmless in themselves, trimmings and trees, if used improperly or without caution, can turn the holiday into a time of tragedy," the Council says.

Trimmings and trees contribute to the main causes of home accidents at Christmas. These are falls and fires.

★ ★ ★

Falls take the lives of about 2,000 persons each December.

The main causes of home falls at Christmas time are:

★ ★ ★

(1) Leaving toys and boxes around for someone to trip over.

(2) Climbing too high to hang decorations.

(3) Using chairs or other objects as stepladders.

(4) Slipping on icy walks and steps.

★ ★ ★

Safety men say to throw out boxes and wrappings just as soon as possible, leave the climbing to the young and agile, and use a stepladder — one that's in good condition — when climbing.

★ ★ ★

Fires, the other major causes of home accidents at Christmas, kill more than 1,000 persons each December.

The danger of fire can be reduced if the decorations that brighten homes are fireproof or fire-resistant and caution is taken with the dry trees.

Your Favorite Man May Go for Shoes

Put Christmas at his feet this year and give your favorite man handsomely styled shoes in the elegant new lightweight leathers. Such a gift is bound to be a sure hit because eight out of ten men are short on shoes.

★ ★ ★

Heading shoe news is the shoe with the new slimly tapered and squared-off toe. Seen most often in leathers with a fine grain, it comes in many variations of the slip-on style or in two or three eyelet ties for both street and casual wear.

★ ★ ★

Any man would welcome a three-eyelet blucher in a highly polished smooth leather, detailed with the new inverted moc seams. This lighter-look seaming will be featured in a great many shoe styles.

For his casual attire, he'll be easy to please with hand-sewn moccasins or the popular ankle-high chukka boot in soft brushed leathers with flexible leather soles.

Chief Catches Juvenile

BETHEL, Conn. (UPI) — Police Chief Louis Jackman stopped in at St. Mary's Church on his birthday to say some prayers. As he was leaving he picked up a juvenile trying to rob the poor box.

OLD FRIENDS — When Jerry Burd, of Cleburne, Tex., was just a toddler, a friend gave her a bantam hen. When Miss Burd celebrated her 20th birthday recently, the other bird was still around, dressed in its best feathers. The hen even lays an egg occasionally, which must be another record of some kind.

Child Population Rises but Orphans Decrease

NEW YORK —The number of orphans in the United States dropped from 6,400,000 in 1920 to 2,700,000 at the start of 1958, even though the child population climbed from 39,000,000 to 60,00, during that time.

Also noted during the period was a 93 per cent decline in the number of children with both parents dead. Less than one out of every 1,00 American children today is a full orphan—that is, one with both parents dead.

Greeting Card Display Made in Tree Shape

A tree-shaped display for greeting cards makes an attractive home ornament during the holiday season.

The main trunk is made of a piece of 1x12-inch lumber 49½ inches long, with a series of steps or shelves 6 inches high and 1½ inches deep. The base is also cut from 1x12-inch lumber, 9 inches long. A 4½-inch slot in the trunk and in the base are cut to the thickness of the lumber. When fitted together the trunk and the base form a solid rest for the tree.

Make branches of 1x2-inch lumber. The top branch is 6 inches long, and each succeeding lower branch is 5 inches longer than the one above it. Miter the ends of each branch 45 degrees.

Attach the branches to the trunk using two No. 8, flathead woodscrews 1½ inches long, countersunk. At the end of the holiday season the screws may be removed and the base disassembled for flat storage. Sand the unit smooth and round all sharp edges.

★ ★ ★

Attach greeting cards to the branches with thumb tacks on the inner leaf of the card so they may be examined without removing them from the tree.

Tailless Cats Scarce

DOUGLAS, Isle of Man — Most people associate the mountainous Isle of Man, situated in the middle of the Irish Sea, with its special breed of cats, the tailless Manx. But most cats on the island today have tails. Motorcycle fans know the isle for its 37-mile race course, reputedly the toughest test in the world, with every type of corner and grade.

A farmer explained why he raises hogs, although there's more money in cotton: "Well, for one thing, hogs don't need hoeing"

. . . It may take a wife hours to decide what she'll buy — but only a few seconds to decide who'll pay for it. —Earl Wilson.

DITCH DELIGHT — With an oil derrick taking the place of the traditional windmill, youngsters at The Hague, Holland skate across a frozen ditch in a scene reminiscent of "Hans Brinker." The oil derrick is one of an increasing number in the area. Holland's oil industry is booming and derricks are now almost as familiar a sight as the dikes.

Moscow Exhibit Planned by U.S.

$3,298,000 Earmarked for American Show Should It Mature

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has earmarked $3,298,000 for a six-week national exhibition in Moscow, tentatively scheduled to start the fourth of July.

The exhibit will be the first major one ever held in Russia under U.S. government auspices.

It will be staged at Sokolniki Park, a popular recreation spot about 15 minutes by bus and subway from the center of Moscow.

Officials disclosed today that the $3,298,000 will come from President Eisenhower's contingency fund. This money is provided under the Foreign Aid program to take care of special programs which the President considers in the national interest.

This was a switch in signals. Originally it was expected that the exhibit would be financed by a special appropriation from Congress early next year. But the administration decided there was not enough time for that.

Russia will send an exhibit to the United States in early summer also. It will be set up in New York City's Coliseum.

The exchange of exhibits was arranged under the U.S.-Soviet Exchange Agreement of Jan. 27.

The U.S. show will be a combination of government and private industry exhibits.

The building will be of American design. It is estimated to cost three-quarters of a million dollars, but Russia has agreed to buy it after the exhibit for about half this cost.

2 Scientists Say Red Competition Good for U.S.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Don't fret if the Russians mark up scientific breakthroughs before the United States. Uncle Sam won't be far behind — and he'll be ahead at times.

That's the word from two Nobel Prize-winning scientists who think Mr. and Mrs. America get their dander up a shade too high with every trumpeting of Soviet accomplishments.

Competition's good for the scientific game, they say. Stirs 'em all up.

"We should not look on this as a football game," Dr. Felix Bloch, physics professor at Stanford University, said.

"This is a cooperative thing. If the Russians make an advance, we will be able to find it too."

Dr. P. J. DeBye, Cornell University physicist, nodded in agreement.

"It does us good. It shakes up people," Dr. DeBye said. He won his Nobel Prize in 1936 and Dr. Bloch in 1952.

If a scientist in one nation advances to a new achievement, he said, there are others working in the same field who are soon to follow.

The scientists were interviewed by newsmen at the Robert A. Welch Foundation's second annual Conference on Chemical Research.

Luxury Train at Sea

Colombian Emeralds Vary Greatly in Price

BOGOTA, Columbia — Most of Colombia's emeralds today come from the government-owned Muzo mine on the Curare River or the Chivor mine in the Andes 100 miles from Bogota.

The latter mine is owned by United States interests. One Chivor emerald is known to have sold for $130,000. At the other extreme, Colombia's poorest stones have gone for 50 cents a carat.

Pilot Avoids Cold Feet

FARMINGDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Pilots of the F-105 supersonic Air Force fighter-bomber will never get cold feet in battle. Republic Aviation Corp. includes in the plane's 65,000 different parts a simple device that blows hot air on the rudder pedals to heat the pilot's feet. Otherwise they would get cold, at altitudes of 50,000 feet or higher, despite cockpit heaters.

The Cape Hatteras lighthouse is 193 feet high.

MP's Often Buffaloed

FORT GREELY, Alaska — Military police at this northern Army post perform the usual M. P. duties, but once in a while they're simply buffaloed. Sometimes, when a plane is due on the airfield, they are called out to clear the runways. Not of snow — that's the engineer's job — but of buffaloes. It's a chase, not a shoot. The buffalo herd in the area is a protected one.

RICHMAN Bros. Clothes
MIRACLE MILE

HOLIDAY hostess keeps first aid kit with special solutions handy to wipe away spots and possible stains.

Smart Hostess Uses Foresight

Here Are Way to Cut After-the-Party Chores to a Minimum

Having a party is always fun. But think how much more fun it would be if you could leave with the last guest and didn't have to worry about cleaning up.

Housewives who consider preventive cleanup measures before the big event can be guests at their own affairs, more or less. Servicemaster, a national home care organization, tells how this is done.

First have a spotting kit handy so if food gets spilled on a chair or upholstered couch you can quickly remove the stain before it has a chance to set.

A compact, handy kit contains different kinds of cleaning solutions that will remove more than 50 different types of spots from any type fiber. It also has a dial-a-spot wheel to tell the right treatment for a stain.

Keep ash trays emptied and glasses rinsed as you go along, advises Servicemaster. Also have a supply of paper towels available. Then if a drink is spilled or rain, snow or mud tracked in from outside, there is something to blot it up right away.

★ ★ ★

Another precautionary measure is to have a good carpet cleaning brush and solution in the cleaning closet. Then after the party give the carpet an overall freshening up.

Using a serving cart or large tray makes after-party cleaning easier, too.

Lingerie Can Be Put in Washer

Lovely lingerie will be given more lavishly than ever this Christmas. And a girl needn't worry about their care as much as before.

Thanks to modern home laundry appliances, these fragile and costly garments — primarily of nylon and dacron — now stay lovelier longer, with a minimum of care and fussing.

Tests show an automatic washer setting for cold water and reduced agitation will pamper the filmiest gift nightie or slip.

Even lacy foundations and "contour" bras, purchased to complement holiday fashions, cling to their elasticity and snowy whiteness through cold water care.

This method launders dainty garments more efficiently than the customary hand-washing method it was found. And, automatic rinsing removes loosened soil and detergent more thoroughly.

The tests proved that hot water is the outstanding enemy of heat-sensitive synthetic fibers and elastics. Keep this in mind when hand-laundering, too.

Hot dryer settings also weaken and discolor elastics, which should be dryer-dried only if a no-heat air-fluff cycle is provided. Use a wash 'n wear dryer cycle for lingerie that does not contain elastic threads.

Another important factor to remember is the dye-scavenging habits of white nylons. These always should be laundered by themselves because they will pick up minute particles of color even from white cottons previously washed with colorfast colored articles.

Engineering Study of New Models Shows:

Lower, Wider Cars Major Change

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Several auto makers have reduced horsepower ratings in 1959 model cars; practically all the new models are lower; a few are longer and several are wider than last year's models.

These are highlights of an exhaustive report on 1959 car engineering developments in the December issue of the Society of Automotive Engineers Journal.

The report says the trend toward wider cars already has led to significant changes in suspensions and brakes. It may also go a long way toward a solution to the problem of improved underhood ventilation and engine accessibility, the study says.

Other findings include: More than a dozen of today's accessories are pushbutton actuated; four out of five new cars have automatic transmissions; more than 40 per cent have power steering; about one-third have power brakes; a large percentage have dual exhausts and air conditioning is climbing rapidly as an accessory.

The report says changes in frame construction had to be made to accommodate today's lower cars. It details engineering changes in virtually every American-made automobile.

Of Pontiac's five inch increase in wheel tread, it says improved stability, additional riding comfort and better cornering are claimed for the new design.

There has been some criticism from service station owners and automatic car washing establishments that some of the redesigned 1959 cars present new servicing problems—specifically that they do not safely fit into existing servicing equipment.

Of car engines the study says many power plants have been tailored to bring peak performance within the normal driving range. It adds:

"Reduced compression ratios permit the use of lower priced, standard fuels. Refinements for 1959 include improved carburetion, reduced noise level, weight reduction and greater economy."

Concerning exhaust systems, the report says: "Corrosion has become a serious problem. Today's engines require bigger and better exhaust systems — and they're getting them.

"Increasing popularity of twin exhaust systems, the use of larger pipes and mufflers to reduce back pressure and the presence of certain additives in today's fuels and lubricants are all contributing to the growing exhaust corrosion problem."

Steps to improve exhaust systems include use of heavier metal in mufflers, of aluminized and zinc-coated steel and of asbestos wrapping between the inner and outer casings to minimize condensation.

"Overall height of American passenger cars has been reduced with every model change since World War II," the study says. "This trend is continuing. Several things are being done to solve the problems introduced by the lower silhouette. Most cars already feature a step-down floor.

This year Chrysler has introduced a stepped-roof design to gain more headroom and legroom. Propeller shafts have had to be changed to keep down tunnel height and gain room under the rear seat.

"However, the most significant body engineering change in '59 is (1) extending the hood to nearly the middle of the front fenders, (2) increasing body width as much as 3.3 inches. These changes are featured in 1959 General Motors cars."

John Brown Gets Eulogy in London

LONDON (AP)—"John Brown's body lies a-mouldering in the brave—

"But his soul goes marching on."

The memory of the violent abolitionist marched onto the pages of the London Times today, 99th anniversary of his hanging.

A mysterious organization in Pulborough, Sussex, calling itself the Company of Memories, noted the anniversary with reverence in the Times "In Memoriam" column.

★ ★ ★

"BROWN" it was headed in bold letters. Then followed:

"Stranger, Pause. Martyrs are often reformers born before their time. Such a one was, perhaps, John Brown of Harper's Ferry.

"His soul, you may recall, traditionally marches on—living in the lilt of that famous song, whose haunting martial melody still echoes down the years and across the world: And to whose compelling rhythm soldiers, in their tens of thousands, have marched to their last battle — in war after war.

★ ★ ★

"It is his one, his only, and his lasting memorial. Cold, fanatical, ferocious, this strange man and his strange cause perished alike on the gallows, Dec. 2, 1859. Not without honor. He died, as a martyr—with contempt, and a corrosive contempt for his executioners.

"Thus: He now belongs to the ages.

"Trumpeter. Sound.

"It matters not how strait the gate.

"How charged with punishment the scroll.

"I am the master of my fate.

"I am the captain of my soul."

★ ★ ★

The Times, sticking to its policy on classified advertisements, refused to give any information about the Company of Memories. There was no official record of it in either London or Pulborough.

Fire Officials Meet in Pontiac

Hold Emergency Talks With School Heads, May Safety Plans

Shocked by the disastrous parochial school fire in Chicago, fire department officials and school administrators from the Pontiac area met in emergency session yesterday.

Also on hand to consider the adequacy of local school buildings and fire safety programs were representatives of the Fire Prevention Committee of the Pontiac Area Chamber of Commerce's Traffic and Safety Council.

The physical school plants, in general, were reported to be well-protected from fire hazards. It was pointed out that many schools have outstanding programs in the field of fire safety education, including well-organized, periodic fire drills.

★ ★ ★

Those who attended the meeting strongly urged that citizens become acquainted with conditions in their local schools and, where any deficiencies exist, support necessary measures to correct those conditions.

Over a period of years, it was reported, local school districts have incorporated into their buildings as many safeguards as available funds permit.

The group recommended that the public be encouraged to exhibit a continuing interest in school fire safety and not limit their concern to times of crisis as presented by the Chicago school fire.

Public attention was proposed in four areas of school fire safety—(1) fire safety in the physical plant; (2) preparedness programs by each school staff, including administrators, teachers and maintenance personnel; (3) close cooperation by Parent-Teacher Associations; and (4) continuing present fire safety programs, including fire drills among students.

Sherwin M. Birnkrant, chairman of the Fire Prevention Committee, said the group would offer its services as consultants on fire safety to all school districts in the Pontiac area.

The meeting was held in the Waldron Hotel.

Bridge Contestant, 61, Suffers Stroke at Meet

DETROIT (UPI) — Malcolm Lightman, 52, a Memphis, Tenn., businessman, today became the second player to die while attending the annual fall national tournament of the American contract bridge league.

Lightman died early today at his room in a downtown hotel. Dr. D. J. Murphy, hotel physician, said death apparently was caused by a heart attack.

Charles A. Hall, 61, Cincinnati, Ohio, collapsed and died Sunday evening while preparing to enter a game.

Oakland Judges Submit Petitions

Holland, Adams, Beer Are First Incumbents to File for Re-Election

Three Oakland County Circuit Court judges became the first incumbent judges in the state to file nominating petitions for re-election when they traveled to Lansing yesterday to submit theirs.

Filing together were Judges H. Russel Holland, Clark J. Adams, and William J. Beer.

The three filed their many petitions with the elections division of the Secretary of State's office. Deadline for filing for the spring judicial balloting is Dec. 29 at 4 p.m.

The other Oakland incumbent, Judge Frank L. Doty, cannot seek re-election because state law prohibits judges 70 years or older from returning to the bench.

Judge Holland, with Judge Doty stepping down at the termination of his current term a year from now, will become the ranking senior Oakland County jurist. He first donned his robes in 1936.

Judge Adams ascended the bench in 1956 after being appointed by the governor as the first fourth circuit judge. Judge Beer was also appointed by Gov. Williams in August of this year to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge George B. Hartrick.

Trucker Knew When to Leg It —but Pronto!

James A. Lowry knew he was in the wrong place at the wrong time, so he jumped out of his truck, which was stalled on railroad tracks, just before a train came through.

Lowry, 32, of 166 Wall St., was driving east on S. Boulevard. He stopped on the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks to turn left on Sanford street, because another vehicle approached from the opposite direction.

His driveaway truck, saddled to another, stalled.

As he tried to start again, the warning bells sounded and blinkers flashed.

★ ★ ★

Lowry legged it away from the scene. The six-car train rammed the stalled vehicles, causing considerable damage to one.

No one was injured.

Farrell Will Take New Appointment

LANSING (AP)—The ranks of Gov. Williams' original staff dwindled to one man today with the resignation of his executive secretary and onetime boss, Lawrence L. Farrell.

★ ★ ★

Farrell announced yesterday he was quitting to become executive secretary of the State Employes' Retirement system, a job that pays $1,500 more than his current $12,000 salary.

★ ★ ★

Farrell will replace Frank Blackford who resigned the day before to become State Insurance Commissioner, an appointment that carries a $2,000 pay cut.

★ ★ ★

With Farrell's resignation, only Paul W. Weber, the Governor's press secretary, remains from the staff that moved into the executive office with Williams following his election in 1948.

Urges 'Poison' Label After Drink Kills Man

LANSING (UPI) — The death of a Grand Rapids man after he drank what he thought was a soft drink, has caused the Health Department to urge that all containers with poison in them be well labeled.

★ ★ ★

The worker, Lloyd T. Nanna, 54, died Oct. 20, the day after he drank from a soft drink bottle containing ethylene dichlorid. Nanna said he thought it was a carbonated beverage which someone had not finished drinking.

★ ★ ★

The chemical, colorless and similar to chloroform, was used in the plant as a solvent and adhesive for plastics.

★ ★ ★

John C. Soet, occupational health director for the Health Department, said this type of accident occurs too frequently, but would be prevented if containers with poisonous materials were clearly marked.

TORONTO — The output rate of Soviet loggers is about half that of their North American counterparts, but Russia is spending more than three billion dollars a year to develop her logging industry, including extensive mechanization. SAGE to Protect Lake Superior Zone

DULUTH, Minn. (AP) — The Air Force has unveiled a 30-million-dollar warning system center to protect one-half of Minnesota, a third of Wisconsin and most installations in the Lake Superior area.

Housed in a four-story building, the Semiautomatic Ground Control Equipment (SAGE) is made up of a number of computers which receive, correlate and pass on information from radar units, ground observers and other direction centers.

An Air Force spokesman said the system is geared to foil an enemy air attack within split seconds. Answers from the information fed into the computers appear on television-like screens.

The system is expected to be in full service within the next few months.

The system makes it possible for the Air Force to detect and identify hostile aircraft, plot their courses and direct interceptor planes or missiles to their paths.

Pentagon May Terminate One or Both

Ruling on Thor, Jupiter Production Looms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A decision on whether production of the Thor and Jupiter intermediate range ballistic missiles (IRBM) will be curtailed or terminated when present contracts are fulfilled is imminent, military sources say.

Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy has said a decision would be made before the end of this year on the Thor-Jupiter missile system.

But he did not make clear whether this would involve halting production of one of the IRBMs in favor of the other, or scheduling a halt in production of both in favor of longer-range intercontinental missiles.

However, sources indicated production of both missiles may be halted when present contracts are fulfilled.

McElroy told his Nov. 13 news conference that the Pentagon may drastically curtail its plans for sending IRBMs abroad in favor of stepping up development of Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles (ICBMs) based in the United States.

He said the nearer the long-range ICBMs get to operational readiness "the less interesting it is to deploy IRBMs."

FIRED 6,325 MILES

The nation's Atlas ICBM was fired over its full 6,325-mile range last week. Defense authorities said this meant the United States is fast perfecting a missile powerful enough to hit overseas targets from bases in this country.

The Atlas firing led some Pentagon officials to believe the missile now can become a part of the nation's inventory of useable weapons by mid-1959—about six months ahead of previous plans.

Defense sources said that production of the IRBMs has to stop somewhere, especially when enough weapons are produced to meet the needs.

In addition to sending the IRBMs abroad, they also are used in this country as boosters and parts of other satellite rockets. No IRBM bases are planned in the United States, however, because their range is not long enough to hit overseas targets.

Before it was indicated that production of both the Jupiter and Thor may be stopped, it was believed that production of the Jupiter would be halted and the Thor continued.

The Air Force has been given operational responsibility over both weapons. It developed the Thor and the Army developed the Jupiter in a bitter interservice rivalry.

★ ★ ★

McElroy ordered both weapons in production last winter as a precaution after the launching of the Soviet satellites.

SHARING A CARRIAGE — Little Beth Rowland of Worthington, Ohio, places an 1848 Dresden china doll in an 1880 wicker baby carriage with "Amy," a doll owned by her grandmother. The dolls are part of an antique toy display collected by Worthington's historical society.

Toys Simple in Yesteryear

Didn't Require Degree in Engineering to Repair Playthings in 1880

WORTHINGTON, Ohio (AP) — You say you need an engineering degree these days to repair your youngsters' broken toys?

Maybe. But they've assembled proof here that playthings weren't always that complex.

It's the annual antique toy display of the Worthington Historical Society. Members scour the attics of this central Ohio community for toys that grand- (and great-grand-) parents played with.

There's nothing to compete with 1958-style toy satellite launchers and dolls that talk, walk and wet.

Besides being unpowered, unresponsive and uncomplicated, toys of yesteryear seem less violent. The only item in the display even mildly warlike is a set of blocks (1880) that can be used to build, among other "edifices," a fortress. And, oh yes, there's a cannon — but very small bore, vintage 1880.

★ ★ ★

Dolls of the last century seem less like live babies and more like stately young women. There is one of pink Dresden china, named for an aristocratic young lady of 1848 Cape Cod, who herself embroidered the collar of the doll's dress.

To interest boys, there are heavy iron trains dating back to 1890 and 1900, blocks, puzzles and a wagon made entirely of wood, including wheels.

'Child' Who Earns $10,000 Yearly Puzzles Pollsters

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—Pollsters making a survey in Jefferson County were surprised to turn up a child who earned more than $10,000 a year.

A recheck produced the facts: The "child" is a 43-year-old bachelor who works as a federal government engineer and lives with his parents, both in their 70s.

The father had filled in the questionnaire. He listed his son under the "children" heading and mentioned his income, but not his age. The names were not disclosed.

Temple Blast Case May Be Ended Today

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Prosecutors expected to complete their case today against a thin, balding architect charged with bombing the Jewish temple here.

George Allen Bright, 33, is the first of five men slated to be tried. Others charged are Wallace H. Allen, Robert Bolling, Richard Bolling and Kenneth Chester Griffin.

★ ★ ★

The state sought Wednesday to connect Bright with a chain of events it claims led to the bombing Oct. 12. The blast tore gaping holes in the structure on fashionable Peachtree Road and caused an estimated $96,000 damage.

★ ★ ★

Defense lawyers objected repeatedly to testimony by an Atlanta detective captain, two FBI agents and a parade of witnesses who are members of the First Baptist Church here. Fulton Superior Court Judge Durwood T. Pye repeatedly overruled them.

Capt. R. E. Little identified a note which he said Bright admitted writing. The note, addressed to Rabbi Jacob Rothschild, contained the phrase, "You are going to experience the most terrifying thing in your life."

Safe Way to Tote Cash

PATCHOGUE, N.Y. (UPI) — Although it was unlocked and contained only $35, burglars walked off with an 800-pound safe from the office of an electrical contractor.

There's a Way to Drink Around Clock in Britain

LONDON (AP) — It long has been a complaint of the American tourist that British drinking laws cramp his style. Nonsense. If you are so minded, you can drink in this town around the clock.

A demonstration of this has been given to a so-minded American visitor.

The visitor and his American-born host, who is domiciled in London and knows the ropes, started the drinking day at the host's local, or neighborhood pub. They were nicely mellowed when it came up 3 p.m. and the barman shrieked "Time, gentlemen, please!"

This means he can't serve any more of the stuff until evening, when he is open from 5:30 to 11 p.m.

"See what I mean?" said the visitor. "Just when you're going good in this country they force you to take a breather."

★ ★ ★

"Not at all," said his host. "We will now proceed two blocks in a northerly direction to a club I belong to. I will sign you on as my guest and we will go right on doing what comes naturally."

The two Americans stayed at the club 2½ hours, legally drinking and, the while, making friends and influencing people. They then repaired back to the pub, where they did more of the same for 5½ hours.

Inevitably, of course, the barman rang the bell and shouted "Time, gentlemen, please!"

★ ★ ★

"If it was like this in Paris who'd go there?" asked the visitor.

"All is well," said his host. "At this point the pubs legally open in Covent Garden, the all-night vegetable market, and at Smithfield, the big wholesale meat center. They will remain open until 9 a.m. tomorrow. Which would you prefer to visit?"

"Frankly, I don't think I could stand the sight of blood just now," said the visitor.

★ ★ ★

"Then on to Covent Garden," said the host.

The host and his visitor arrived back at the host's home at 9:30 a.m. the next day.

"Well," said the host's wife, "aren't you going to finish the job? You've got two hours to go to make it drinking clear around the clock."

★ ★ ★

"Listen, baby," the American host said with great dignity. "A guy that can't lay off the sauce for a couple of hours a day isn't just a tourist. He's a bloody alcoholic."

No Longer 'Comrade'

BILOXI, Miss. (UP) — Mississippi American Legion members used to address each other as "Comrade" but by recently passed resolution they now are supposed to use "Legionnaire" as the salutation.

FTC to Have Pros Screen Commercials

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Federal Trade Commission (FTC) announced it will use its 350-member professional staff to monitor questionable radio and TV commercials.

FTC Chairman John W. Gwynne said the staffers would be given legal information sheets on which to report examples of alleged misrepresentations in advertising.

He said the purpose of the drive was to detect new violations and to check on how advertisers were complying with FTC rules and advertising guides.

Device on Fire Escape Makes Use of Balloon

DETROIT — A Detroit inventor has developed a fire escape device that will enable people trapped on the top floors of a burning building to get down to earth safely.

The user flips a switch and a 19-foot balloon is inflated with helium, enabling him to float gently to the ground. The chutelike device can go up as well as down, the inventor says, and it's also recommended for use by steeplejacks and window washers.

Was He Stung or Not?

MARION, Ill. (UP) — McKinley McCuan paid more attention to swatting a wasp than driving his car and was fined by Justice of the Peace Elmer Farmer when he ran his car into another car.

He wasn't stung. Or was he?

Motoring Mail Carrier

OSTRANDER, Ohio (UP) — In the best tradition of postmen's holidays, rural mail driver Frank R. Coe takes long motoring trips during his vacations. So far, he's been to every state, most of Canada and some of Mexico.

Court Rules Out Union Pay Plan

Declares SUB Funds, Jobless Benefits Can't Exist Together

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court has ruled against simultaneous payment of Supplemental Unemployment Benefits and jobless compensation.

The 5-2 decision reversed Mahoning County Youngstown courts, which held in two test cases that Ohio law permits payment of SUB and state benefits at the same time.

★ ★ ★

The lower courts had upset state administration rulings that SUB payments are remuneration under Ohio law and must be deducted from state jobless benefits.

The United Steelworkers Union challenged the rulings in a suit against four steel firms and James R. Tichenor, head of the State Bureau of Unemployment Compensation. Joseph Posey, Youngstown steelworker, sued Tichenor in a second test case.

★ ★ ★

Unionists indicated that the fight will be taken up next in the Ohio Legislature, rather than the U. S. Supreme Court.

An AFL-CIO Council statement said: "We are hopeful that the upcoming session of the Legislature will take whatever steps are necesary to make the payment possible."

Unionists estimated that the decision prevented distribution of about 25 million dollars in SUB payments.

Union-negotiated SUB contracts with private employers are designed to augment state benefits so that jobless workers could receive about two-thirds of their normal take-home pay.

Maximum state benefits are $39 a week for 39 weeks. A special session of the Legislature had added 13 weeks to the regular 26-week period to help jobless workers hit by the recession until next April.

Attorneys told the Ohio Supreme Court that SUB contracts cover about 270,000 of the 2,572,000 Ohio workers eligible for state benefits.

SUB contracts apply mainly in the steel, rubber, glass, automotive and electrical industries. SUB payments under various programs come from trust funds built up through deductions from employe earnings.

Expert Offers Tips on Winter Care of Plants

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — A University of Minnesota horticulturist has some tips for bringing your flowers and lawn through the winter in fine shape.

C. G. Hard said that if grass is left to grow too long it will encourage snow mold in the spring. Therefore, he said, cut it until it stops growing.

As for flowers, Hard said to bring in your geraniums, chrysanthemums and begonias before the first freeze. He suggested replanting the geraniums indoors and storing other flower bulbs in a cool dry place.

Your roses still come through better if you mound them up with dirt to about a foot around the crown of the plant. Hard recommended spraying them with a fungicide but not to water them.

Tips on Preventing Fires in Chimney

ITHACA, N.Y. (UPI) — L. W. Knapp of the College of Agriculture at Cornell University offers these hints for preventing chimney fires this winter.

★ ★ ★

—Rattle a light chain at the end of a rope inside the chimney to remove the soot and creosote from last year's fires. Using a mirror at the base of the chimney, make sure the job is complete.

★ ★ ★

—If there is a fire, call the fire department and then dump baking soda or salt on it. Do not use water. It can break the chimney and set the whole house on fire.

—Keep a screen at the top of the chimney to prevent dry leaves from dropping on embers.

Hobby Horses Victim of Era

They're Still Here but You'll Hardly Be Able to Recognize Them

Toys designed to stimulate creative and imaginative play will have a prominent place under 1958 Yule trees.

A new version of the classic stick horse is keyed to imaginative play. Instead of the horse's head, there is a steering wheel and instrument board with working gear shift and a horn that beeps.

Back wheels click as the Pla-Stik goes into jet-propelled action indoors or out as children imagine they are rocketeers, firemen or bus drivers.

Junior artists, meanwhile, will find practical new aids. A "first" paint set provides large multi-colored plastic mixing cups as a base for artistic endeavor.

Watercolor disks are dropped into cups which match. The junior artist wets his brush in clear water and rubs it over a paint disk, thus avoiding mess.

Reusable plastic paper gives a fresh start after a wipe with a damp cloth. New idea in coloring materials is a roll-on kit with stencils.

Groom New Legislators for Tough Time Ahead

LANSING — A dozen new lawmakers are being schooled for the tasks they face in the coming session of the State Legislature—one predicted by many to be the heaviest in many years.

One of the legislators, Sen. John W. Fitzgerald (R-Grand Ledge), said some people had humorously offered their condolences on his election instead of congratulations.

"We all went into the election with our eyes open," he said, "and though it's certain to be a busy session, none of us can complain."

The new senators and representatives were guided by House Clerk Norman Philleo, Senate Secretary Fred I. Chase and U. S. Senator-elect Philip A. Hart.

Hart, who will soon be leaving his chair as presiding officer of the Senate, said he felt no "twinges" at heading for Washington and missing the busy session, but would be keeping a close watch on the state's activities when the session began Jan. 14.

The freshman lawmakers spent all day Tuesday going over legislative procedures and wound up their program yesterday.

Sen. Raymond D. Dzenzel (D-Detroit) said his experience as a state representative would probably help him in the upper chamber and that the "job is here and I'm ready."

He predicted the session would last "six or seven months," compared to the usual five or six months.

The other senators in training were Harry Litowich (R-Benton Harbor) and John H. Stahlin (R-Belding).

* * *

The representatives were Raymond J. Apley Jr. (D-Mount Clemens), James Clarkson (D-Detroit), William Hayward (R-Royal Oak), John C. Hitchcock (D-Hazel Park), Jay M. Terbush Jr. (R-Owosso), Floyd E. Wagner (R-Cassopolis), Harry J. Beadle (D-Detroit) and Hugh Smale (D-Detroit).

One-half the infants born in the U.S. in 1950 had fathers in their 20s.

SCANDINAVIAN TREAT — Abelkage or Danish apple cake, is unusual gift idea. Bake and serve as a gift surprise in enameled cast iron Danish cookware.

Danish Apple Cake Adds Final Touch

Try a simple cake called "Abelkage," a rich and festive creation served in Danish homes as the finishing touch to Christmas dinner.

To prepare abelkage or Danish apple cake simmer in a sauce pan two pounds of cored, peeled and sliced apples with one teaspoon vanilla extract and two cups sugar. Cook until tender. Then brown two cups butter, three cups bread crumbs, ½ teaspoon ground cinnamon and one cup sugar.

* * *

Line baking dish with melted butter and a layer of bread crumbs, then a layer of cooked apples, then spread on a layer of cold currant jelly. Continue this process with a layer of apples and a last layer of bread crumbs. Dot with butter and bake in the oven until golden brown. Cool and serve with whipped cream.

Fewer Shots Being Given to GIs Today

WASHINGTON — The Army GI is getting a little less "needling," thanks to an order from the surgeon general's office. Recent regulations on booster-type inoculations call for:

Cutting down typhoid-paratyphoid booster shots from every three years to every four years.

Administering cholera and typhus vaccines only to soldiers traveling to certain areas of the world.

Giving cholera-typhus booster shots in disease-designated areas only when there is actual risk of infection.

Tree Is Owner of Its Land Home by 'Inheritance'

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — A tree that inherited the land it stands on from its father, who was deeded the property by a University of Georgia professor, is now a sturdy white oak 30 feet tall.

* * *

The original "tree that owned itself" lived to the age of 150. During its lifetime, it dropped an acorn that grew up to become the present occupant of the plot on Finley St. in downtown Athens.

The property was signed over to the tree by Prof. William H. Jackson in the 1820's. The deed conveyed "to sais white oak tree entire possession of itself and of the land within eight feet of it on all sides."

* * *

It is said to have been the only tree ever to receive such an honor.

Girl Profits on Dime

CLAYTON, N. Y. (UPI) — Selma Calhoun, 16, is $736 richer because of a dime she received in change at a local store. The dime turned out to be minted in 1754 by the Canadian Province of Quebec, and a collector grabbed it.

MSU Vice President Discusses Attitude

'We Mean Business' on MSUO, Area Industry, Residents Are Told

By LEE WINBORN
Press Staff Writer

"We mean business," Durward B. Varner, vice president of Michigan State University, told representatives of industry and area residents in his speech last night at Rochester High School.

Varner was speaking of Michigan State University Oakland's attitude toward meeting the challenge it faces to make "a tremendous contribution in the field of education."

The occasion was the second annual MSUO dinner sponsored by the Rochester Area Chamber of Commerce and Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Some 100 persons were present to hear a progress report and future plans of the "sister" school of the East Lansing university.

In line with MSUO's aim to become a "first class institution," Varner announced that five of the "ablest persons in America" have been invited to Meadow Brook Hall for a seminar Dec. 13.

They will be asked, "How would you propose to develop a program that will turn out a liberally educated citizen?"

'EXCITING OPPORTUNITY'

Answers will be given by Dr. Milton Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University; Henry Luce, president of Life and Time magazines; Dr. Sarah Blanding, Vassar College president; Dr. Ralph Tyler, director of the Institute for Advanced Study in Behavioral Sciences, Stanford University, and Dr. Henry Steele Commager, formerly of Columbia University, now at Amherst College.

"We have an exciting educational opportunity here. We have the resources available and the need is evident," Varner said. "By calling on these recognized authorities to help, we will meet the challenge," he added.

This will be the fifth seminar to be held at MSUO designed to provide the best curricula possible from the moment the doors of the school open in the fall of 1959.

The university vice president announced MSUO's governing board will accept bids Dec. 18 on a half-million-dollar student center. The main building, now under construction, should be completed by July 15, according to Varner.

The board has authorized three architectural firms to draft plans for future MSUO buildings. Swanson Associates, Bloomfield Hills, is working on a 1½-million-dollar library which will be the architectural and intellectual focus of the campus.

O'Dell, Hewlett and Luckenbach, Birmingham, is designing a 1½-million-dollar intramural building and Giffels and Rossetti, Detroit, a two-million-dollar science and engineering building.

BUILT ON FAITH

"We have no money to build any of these buildings. The architects took them on faith," Varner explained.

From a description of the proposed physical plant, the university administrator elaborated on the anticipated enrollment and staff.

He said 600 freshmen are expected to be enrolled next fall with 30 full-time instructors to be on the faculty. This should mean 50 families in the college community including the administrative staff, instructors and others connected with the university's operation.

In an attempt to clarify a previous statement that MSUO might not open next fall because of lack of funds, Varner explained that this institution's problem is no different than that of any other school that depends on the State Legislature for financial support.

"It's reasonable to assume that the money will be forthcoming, and we're going ahead with plans to open on schedule," Varner concluded.

Michigan Team Leads in Bridge

Car Salesman, Woman Move Up Two Places in National Contest

DETROIT (UPI) — A Michigan automobile salesman and a Bay City housewife moved from third to first place last night in tense competition with 128 couples to take the National Mixed Pairs Title of the American Contract Bridge League.

Edward J. Smith Jr., Grosse Pointe, and Mrs. Carol Ross pulled steadily away from their closest contenders to total 509 points, 48½ ahead of the second place winners —Mrs. Harry Stein and Louis J. Cohen, both of Detroit, who wound up the concluding round of the four-session match with 460½.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Stein, who earlier startled the experts by increasing her lead in Life Master competition, also ranked first heading into today's finals of the 112-entry Life Master field. She moved 16 points ahead of second-placer William Rosen, Chicago, who had 547. Mrs. Stein totaled 563 in Life Master play.

Third place winners in the mixed pairs event, one of the top annual national competitions of the ACBL, were two New Yorkers, Jay Machutan and Mrs. Ambrose Casner, who polled 443½ points.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit woman took the lead heading into today's final of Senior Master play. Mrs. Lyda Goggins, with 559, held a 7½ point lead over Clifford Weil, another Detroiter, who had 551½.

Third in Senior Master competition was R. Norman Miller, Austin, Minn., totaling 554.

Two Michigan men — Hermann Tenn, Detroit, and Robert Fargo, Dearborn — were tied for fourth with 536.

Tournament players are awarded Master points following national competition. When applied on a continuing basis, 50 points constitutes a National Master, 100 points a Senior Master and 300 a Life Master.

Experience has shown it normally takes about 10 years of top flight tourney play to become a Life Master.

Soviets Send Arms

Red Military Technicians to Train Army in Iraq

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet military technicians are expected to arrive soon in Iraq as a follow-up to Soviet arms shipments to Premier Abdel Kerim Kassem's government.

★ ★ ★

Diplomatic officials who reported this today said Kassem has agreed to accept an undetermined number of Red experts to train the Iraqi armed forces in using Soviet tanks, jet planes, artillery and motorized equipment.

★ ★ ★

A Soviet ship is reported to have unloaded sizable quantities of such Soviet weapons within the past few weeks in a move edging Iraq closer to the Soviet bloc.

This Iraq-Soviet deal came in the wake of Iraq's moves to restrict Western diplomatic contacts in the troubled, oil-rich Middle East nation.

The revolutionary regime has closed down the United States consulate in Kirkuk, the northern Iraqi city which is the center of Kurdish activity and also of the nation's oil-producing territory. The Kurds are non-Arab mountain people who make up a sixth of Iraq's population.

Also closed were the Kirkuk consulates of Britain, Turkey and Iran. The Soviets have no diplomatic outpost in this area but Sheik Mustafa Barzani, a Soviet-trained Kurdish chieftain, returned to Iraq about two months ago with government permission. He had lived in the Soviet Union since he led an abortive revolt in 1946.

These moves have been accompanied by what Western diplomats regard as increased Communist penetration of Kassem's regime. Most diplomats believe, however, that the Iraq strong man has no intention of becoming a pro-Moscow stooge.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, the uncertain Iraq outlook has caused the State Department to nominate one of its top Middle East specialists, career diplomat John D. Jernegan, to be new United States ambassador.

Jernegan, now serving as embassy minister in Rome, would replace Waldemar J. Gallman, who has been reassigned to the State Department after a four-year tour in Baghdad.

Kassem has eased up surveillance and harassing tactics against American diplomats in Baghdad as a result of a State Department protest last month.

Dedication Set in Area Sunday

Farmington Township Mission Church Meets at Eagle School

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Dedication of a new Presbyterian congregation will be held at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Eagle Elementary School, 29410 14 Mile Rd.

The mission, sponsored by the Presbytery of Detroit and the First Presbyterian Church of Birmingham, was organized more than a year ago, and services have been held in the school.

The church, to be erected on Middlebelt road south of West Maple road, will be named the Church of The Savior.

The Rev. Edward D. Auchard, pastor of the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian, is chairman of the committee of the Detroit Presbytery which is organizing the new church.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Ralph C. Stribe Jr. of Franklin will be the pastor. The Rev. Mr. Stribe, who is married, is Detroit born, a graduate of the University of Michigan and the Princeton Theological Seminary.

★ ★ ★

He attended one year at the University of Edinborough in Scotland and is the past director of Camp Sarah Grindley in Unadilla, a camp for elementary school children.

Work to Insure Merry Christmas

10 Communities' Groups Seek to Raise Funds for the Less Fortunate

Men with a heart and willing to help the less fortunate, will again show their true holiday spirit this weekend when they stand on corners to ask your help.

The Goodfellows in 10 Pontiac area communities will sell newspapers, including more than 12,500 special edition copies of The Pontiac Press, in an effort to raise funds for needy families in their area and help to make Christmas a happier day.

Four of the groups, The Avondale Metropolitan Club and the Addison Township Fire Department members will be selling the papers Friday and Saturday.

In Addison Township where only Pontiac Press' papers will be sold, firemen will circulate at the main corners of Leonard, Lakeville and Campbell's Corners, according to Davey Ferguson, chairman.

Proceeds will be used to stage the township's annual Christmas party for underprivileged children Dec. 20. Some of the money will also be used to prepare baskets of food for families in the area.

Gary Sutherby is in charge of the baskets and Edward Porter, assistant fire chief, is arranging the party.

The Avondale Metropolitan Club, Spirit 83, headed by Erwin Sheldon as chairman of this project, will hold a party for the area's underprivileged children Dec. 20 at 2 p.m. in the Community Building money they raise.

Sales will begin at 3 p.m. Friday until dark and from "daylight to dark" Saturday, Sheldon reports. Twenty five men will be stationed at the corners of Auburn and Adams, Auburn and Crooks, Auburn and Rochester and South Boulevard and Adams roads.

Newspapers will be sold in Troy tomorrow by the Troy Goodfellows composed of the police and volunteer fire departments under the chairmanship of William Renshaw.

Sales will be held Saturday in Waterford Township, Oxford, West Bloomfield, White Lake and Pontiac Township.

Capt. Clayton Soncrainte of the Waterford fire department, is chairman of the Waterford Township Goodfellows 1958 campaign.

Members of the fire department, Lions Club, Rotary Club, Eagles and police department and the township's businessmen's association will all sell papers.

The Oxford Lions Club headed by Don Orry are conducting the sales in their community Saturday and Ben Mosher is heading the sale in Keego Harbor and the West Bloomfield Township area.

Andrew Plano, chairman of Goodfellow sales of the White Lake Township Metropolitan Club, reports Union Lake Village and the main corners on Williams Lake road and M59 will be covered by his 15 newsboys Saturday.

Thirty members of the Pontiac Township Metropolitan Club, Spirit 60, will work on all main corners in their township. This year's goal is $1,000, according to Carl Schingeck, chairman and township fire chief.

The Pontiac Press will also be the only paper sold in Gingellville Friday and Saturday. Robert Williams is chairman of this community's sale.

Romeo Rotary Club assisted by Lions club members, local and State Police and Romeo Fire Department will conduct the annual Goodfellow paper sale Friday and Saturday, chairman Oliver Gould announced today.

Newsboys will sell papers in the business district from 6 a.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, Gould said.

In other business, the council this week decided to contact the Federal Housing and Home Financing Agency for information about the possibility of obtaining an advanced planning grant for the city's central water system.

The following fees have been set by the council for electrical contractors, following recommendations by the area reciprocal electrical council to boost the fees.

The present license fee of $25 for contractors will be retained but registration fees will be raised from $1 to $5 for contractors and from 50 cents to $1 for journeymen.

★ ★ ★

A questionnaire from the regional planning commission, regarding an economical and financial study to be made of the area by Michigan State University, was referred to the City Planning Commission by the council.

★ ★ ★

AMA Considers Insurance Plan for Older People

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — The House of Delegates, policy-making body of the American Medical Assn., today was considering a plan for a voluntary, low-cost health insurance program for the low-income elderly with modest resources.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was drawn up by the AMA Council on Medical Service and carries the blessing of the board of trustees.

★ ★ ★

Under it, physicians would agree to accept lower fees from persons over 65 in low income levels, thus affording them a reduction in health insurance premiums.

Dr. Robert L. Novy, Detroit, council member, said the plan contemplates a scale of graduated fees, dropping at some predetermined income point. The resolution does not fix such a cutoff.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Novy said some Blue Shield plans now offer such policies at local levels but that council members felt they should be adopted nationally. He called the resolution a recognition by physicians that the problem is their responsibility and that they are willing to do something about it.

★ ★ ★

"We believe this is a field where the government will act if the doctors don't," Dr. Novy said.

Railroad to Pay for Demolishing His Stalled Auto

LANSING (AP) — Dan Stoyanovich's new car stalled one morning on a railroad crossing in Monroe.

★ ★ ★

A Detroit & Toledo Shoreline train came along. Stoyanovich, a Monroe man, ran for his life. The train hit the car and demolished it.

★ ★ ★

That was on Oct. 4, 1955. Ever since, the Aetna Insurance Co., which insured the car, has been trying to collect $2,500 damages in a court battle that went all the way to the State Supreme Court.

★ ★ ★

Yesterday, the high court ordered the railroad to make payment, upsetting a decision by Wayne County Circuit Judge Lila M. Neuenfelt who, in turn, had reversed a decision by Detroit Common Pleas Court.

★ ★ ★

In a unanimous decision, the Supreme Court held the railroad negligent, noting the engineer had spotted the stalled car 1,400 feet before the impact, but didn't apply the brakes until Stoyanovich leaped from the car when the train was about 730 feet away.

Man Killed by Car as He Awaits Aid

SHELBY TOWNSHIP — A Mount Clemens man who had called Romeo State Police and was waiting for them to help him get his car out of a ditch was killed by a passing motorist at 1 a.m. today on Van Dyke south of 22 Mile road in Shelby Township.

The victim was Alexander Olek, 66, of 14425 Hall Rd. He suffered from shock, internal injuries and multiple fractures and was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital, Mount Clemens.

Olek was struck by a car driven by Mrs. Betty Fink, 34, of 58024 Van Dyke, Washington. She told troopers she could not see Olek because of mist, rain and the glare of oncoming headlights and when she did, it was too late to avoid hitting him.

Mrs. Fink was to make a statement today at the Macomb County Prosecutor's office.

Olek's body was taken to the Milliken Funeral Home, Utica.

2 Romeo Youths Injured in Crash in Front of School

ROMEO — Two Romeo High School students were slightly injured yesterday afternoon when their car hit a teacher's auto in front of the school, west of the Romeo village limits.

★ ★ ★

The driver, Floyd Otis Shotwell, 16, of 53087 Sophia St., Utica, suffered a bump on his head. His passenger, Ishmael Jacob Jr., 17, of 1385 Predmore Rd., Lake Orion, had a lacerated forehead, chipped tooth and cut lip. He was treated and released by a local physician.

The teacher who was driving the car which was hit from behind, was Joseph P. Sullivan, 1904 Lakeland St., Pontiac. He was uninjured.

★ ★ ★

Shotwell told Romeo State Police he glanced at the school then looked ahead and saw Sullivan's car too late to avoid a collision. Shotwell was ticketed for speeding.

Infant Boy Drowns

ESCANABA (AP) — Richard Lavigne Jr., 19 months, drowned yesterday when he fell into a pool at his home near Rapid River, 15 miles northeast of here.

State police said the boy's mother, Mrs. Richard Lavigne, found the boy floating in a brick enclosure intended for a fish pond. The pond was filled with water from and overflowing ditch.

Mother Never Even Mentioned Days Like This!

NILES, Mich (AP) — It was a trying week for 5-year-old George Runnels and his mother.

★ ★ ★

George fell from a tree and broke an arm. Then he fell out of bed and cut his head. A fall down a flight of stairs resulted in a lost tooth and when George dropped a knife, he cut a toe.

★ ★ ★

His mother bought him a new hat to cheer him. George wore it to kindergarten—and the hat disappeared.

★ ★ ★

A coffee hour, sponsored by the Middle Lake Road Neighborhood group, will follow the morning service. Mr. and Mrs. Keith Leak and Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston are co-chairmen.

Avon Tax Deadline Not to Be Extended

AVON TOWNSHIP—Helen Allen, township treasurer, reported today that this year, the township board will not extend payment date of taxes beyond January 19 without penalty.

★ ★ ★

Tax statements will be mailed to Avon Township property owners Wednesday. Taxes may be paid up to and including Jan. 19 without penalty.

★ ★ ★

The treasurer said previously, payment dates had been extended to February but, in accordance with an opinion of the attorney general's office, four per cent will be added to taxes which are paid after Jan. 20.

Carries Acid for Emphasis

Little Old Lady Robs Bank

NEW YORK (AP)—The FBI has a printed note, and a slight, gray-haired little woman has about $3,000 in bills belonging to a branch of the First National City Bank.

The bank is at 34th street and 7th avenue, across the street from Macy's department store.

The woman, about 5 feet 2, entered the crowded bank Wednesday and patiently stood in line at a teller's cage. When it came her turn she silently handed Louis Basile, 25, a paper bag and a printed note.

The note read: "I have acid in a glass and if you don't give me what I want I'll splash it on you. Put all your 5s, 10s and 20s in the bag. There are two men guarding me with guns. Somebody will get shot. Hurry!"

Basile blinked. In a thin, unwavering hand the woman held a six-ounce glass containing colorless liquid.

The teller stuffed the bag with bills. The woman accepted the bag and walked slowly to the exit on 7th avenue. She still carried the glass of liquid.

★ ★ ★

Basile stepped on the alarm, and three guards drew guns as bedlam broke out.

Basile could only point to the door. The guards rushed outside but the small figure was lost in the hurrying crowd of Christmas shoppers.

Police discounted the reference in the note to two men. They believe the woman, about 60, entered and left alone.

The only clue was the note, which the FBI took for scientific analysis.

Car Wash Firm Moving

DETROIT (AP) — Sherman Car Wash Equipment Co. has announced it will move its plant and offices to Palmyra, N. J., to be nearer other holdings of F. William Thacher Jr., president and general manager. Some of Sherman's 50 employes will move with the plant.

West Berlin Urged to Vote Communist

BERLIN (AP) — Communist East Germany today urged West Berliners to vote the Communist ticket in next Sunday's city election as a way of approving the Soviet proposal to make Berlin a demilitarized free city.

★ ★ ★

The West Berlin government already has said the voting for a new West Berlin Parliament would be a plebiscite on Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's proposal — and that it would be resoundingly rejected. The Communists have not won a single seat in the West Berlin Parliament since the city was split in 1949.

★ ★ ★

The plea to vote the Communist ticket was made by the East German party's organ Neues Deutschland, which said: "He who votes soberly and factually will agree to the suggestions made in the Soviet note (by Khrushchev) and demonstrate this on Dec. 7 by rejecting West Berlin's occupation parties. Vote for the candidates of SED (the Communist party)."

Humphrey Appears on TV in Moscow

'Sick of War,' Senator Tells Russians

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) told the Moscow television audience Wednesday night that the American people and their government are sick of war.

He urged the Soviet and American nations to join in seeking a just and lasting peace.

★ ★ ★

The 15-minute speech, which was translated into Russian on the broadcast over the Moscow station, was the first appearance of an American official on Soviet television since U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson spoke last July 3. Thompson on that unprecedented occasion called for abolition of censorship.

"The people of the world are tired of thinking of war, tired of misery," Humphrey told the viewers.

"Our people and our government too are tired of war. I know our President Eisenhower, who fought with your people in the last war, is anxious to cooperate with you in the only war we want—war against disease, poverty, ignorance, misery and fear."

Humphrey said there is "no question in this world which cannot be solved in peace."

★ ★ ★

He appealed for the Soviet Union and the United States to cooperate to "give meaning and dignity to life by assuring spiritual and physical well-being of people everywhere.

"We want to know you and we want you to know us and visit us. We must learn to live together," he said.

Humphrey concludes a week's visit in the Soviet Union today and was to fly to Copenhagen. He came to seek Soviet cooperation in an international medical research program and had an eight-hour talk with Soviet Premier Khrushchev Tuesday.

Many Cheer Slower Pace of Recovery Taken by Business World

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—The slower pace of recovery from the business recession worries some folk today — notably some stock traders.

But there's a large rooting section for long-term business prosperity that believes the current slower pace is all to the good. These more cautious souls believe the best motto now should be: Easy does it.

And they were more pleased than dismayed when a sharp break in stock prices sounded a warning in Wall Street.

Taking into account the increase in prices over the last 15 months, the economy has come back about a third of the way from the recession dip that carried it to a low last April. Most of the rebound was in the summer months.

October showed only a slight gain over September and the climb in November wasn't much more than that.

But the big fear in the first months of unexpectedly rapid recovery was that speculation fever might take hold and head toward fast inflation—that is, the further decline in the purchasing power of your dollar.

The slower and steadier pace of the autumn has allayed much of this fear, despite the still disquieting effects of a federal deficit and rising wages.

Another healthy note sounded today is that the return of confidence seems at least to have halted the more than a year of rapidly falling inventories. This drop and the decline in business spending for new plants and equipment are given most of the blame for the rapid descent of industrial activity well under way just a year ago.

The Office of Business Economics in the Commerce Department figures that inventories of manufacturers at the end of October were 49¼ billion dollars, practically unchanged during the month, and five billion under a year ago.

The same leveling off seems to have continued during November. Some think it will be the first of the year before they start to climb again. In the meantime, with inventories for many companies cut back to where they want them, they are expected to start ordering materials now to keep production in line with current sales and new orders.

★ ★ ★

Both of these have been rising moderately. Manufacturers sales in October rose a modest 2 per cent over September and were only 2 per cent below those of a year ago.

New orders gained by 3 per cent in October, with durable goods makers doing better than that.

Manufacturers' unfilled orders at 46 billion dollars compare with 53 billion dollars in the like period of 1957.

All of this, while not as sensational a rise as some hoped for if last summer's steel climb had continued, does place industry in a good position for continuing gains.

There are other good signs. Auto production in November was about double that of October, thanks to the end of strikes, and dealers are now getting cars—and report they are selling them. Steel output, which had fallen below 50 per cent of capacity, is now back to 75 per cent.

It's no boom but it's a healthy recovery.

Head of Canadian Seaway Poor Sailor, Good Manager

MONTREAL (AP) — A Newfoundlander who admits he's a poor sailor turned—almost in midsteam—from administering Canada's largest ports to running Canada's biggest canal system.

After a lifetime career in the public service, when most men are thinking of retiring, Bennett John Roberts, 66, took on the job of managing Canada's $340,000,000 interest in the St. Lawrence Seaway.

As president of the St. Lawrence Seaway Authority, third man to hold the post in four years, Roberts will play a key role in next year's opening ceremonies — the April opening of navigation and the mid-June formal dedication by the Queen.

A husky, heavy-set man with a rugged countenance, he belies his appearance with a soft voice and a slow, friendly smile. He's more at home behind a desk, but after 20 years with the National Harbors Board, a federal agency that administers eight Canadian ports including Montreal, Vancouver and Halifax, he knows a boat from a ship.

Born at Twillingate in 1892 within sight and smell of salt water off Newfoundland's northeast coast, he went west to eastern Canada when he was 14. His parents had died and he moved to relatives in Toronto.

Out of high school, he went to work for a wholesale grocer, then worked in a factory office of a piano maker and took a business course on the side. But that wasn't enough, so he enrolled in the University of Toronto and wrote business news on the side for the Financial Post.

"That was valuable experience," he says of the years of financial reporting. "Reporters develop a wide general knowledge and they learn to write concisely, an asset whatever they do."

Turned down for medical reasons at the outbreak of the first world war, Robert swung to patriotic work on the home front, and that led him in 1917 into government service. He became—at 25—private secretary to the then minister of finance, Sir Thomas White.

A capable minister, he became secretary of the finance department in 1922, comptroller in 1929, and assistant deputy minister in 1935. The following year he was appointed a member of the newly formed National Harbors Board, a field in which he remained until his appointment this year to the seaway job.

Two sons were killed in the second world war while he served on the home front, selling victory bonds in the Civil Service, getting harbors ready for war demands.

Now he has the $25,000-a-year job of finishing the seaway on time and then operating it. He directs about 800 employes, works from two offices, one in Ottawa, the other here, travels constantly between Ottawa, Montreal, Cornwall, where the seaway headquarters will be, and Massena, N.Y., head office of the United States agency, the St. Lawrence Seaway Development Corporation.

He recalls that in 1919 he took several hundred American congressmen, state governors and senators on a trip through Lake Ontario and down the St. Lawrence to show them what a deep-draught seaway could mean.

Holiday Tension Needs Relaxing

When Nerves Tighten Ease Up Danger Spots With Light Exercises

The holiday flurry of shopping, going to parties and staying up late addressing cards and wrapping presents can wind nerves up tight.

To help swing through this festive season with ease and graciousness learn to relax.

You must be able to recognize signs of tensions before you can do anything about them. Clues may be foot-tapping, leg-swinging and other quick jerky movements, gritting your teeth or holding things in an iron grip.

Your head, hands, arms, abdomen, shoulders and legs have muscle groups that are high-tension spots. Tighten, then relax each muscle group in turn to find out if you're tense.

Simple relaxation measures can help you untie knotted nerves. Going limp, like a ragdoll, is perhaps the easiest way to lessen strain.

Try flopping your hands at the wrist, a trick used by many pianists to relax before playing. Stretching hard, yawning wide and waggling your jaw, and alternating your walking pace between fast and slow help relax tensions. Relax consciously and you'll continue to do so without thinking about it.

★ ★ ★

Even the way you breathe can be a tip-off about how tense you are. Many unrelaxed people have rapid, shallow breathing—they actually breathe too much.

At holiday time, traffic jams and long lines in crowded stores may make you cross and tense, even though you can't do anything about them. If you find yourself in this kind of situation, the best thing to do is relax and stretch.

★ ★ ★

Of course, some signs of tension may be symptoms of physical illness. Have your family doctor give you a check-up. Meanwhile, learn to relax by developing and practicing less tense living habits.

Honesty Pays—$5 Bill

PONCA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Ten-year-old Martha Harpster found that honesty pays — one-third in this instance. She found three $5 bills and turned them in to the police. The loser, Mrs. George Kreger, read about the incident in the Ponca City News and claimed the money. She gave Martha one of the fives as a reward.

In the three centuries from 1650 to 1950 the total population of the world has more than quadrupled.

Freezing Food Will Save Last-Minute Rush

Cook Now for Gala Christmas Buffet Party

The Christmas party hostess can wear holly in her hair and a calm, unruffled expression if she home freezes the food in advance. With a little foresight and planning, the entire buffet menu can be prepared ahead and deposited in the freezer.

To take the fuss and feathers out of feeding the guests, sit down with pencil and pad around three weeks before the party and plan the menu.

Then, prepare the various foods, package them in square, waxed-board home freezing containers and place in the freezer for the big evening.

One hearty hot dish goes a long way at a party and hits the spot on a cold December night. Practically all the stews and casseroles in a recipe file will freeze well. The exceptions are those that call for cooked egg whites and crisp salad greens.

A frozen salad mold, hot rolls, fruit punch and cookies are suggestions to round out the buffet fare.

HERE ARE RULES:

The results of home freezing are thoroughly satisfying to the palate when a few simple rules are followed.

If a casserole is the star of the meal, prepare it as you would for immediate eating but, go a little light on the seasoning. Freezing has a tendency to intensify spices and condiments.

Also, omit potatoes from the recipe since they usually become mushy and grainy in the freezer. Add them later when reheating the casserole. Before placing in home freezing containers, quick-cool all cooked foods to put an immediate halt to the cooking process.

All the party baking can be done in advance, too. Rolls, cookies, cakes and pies can be baked, cooled and packaged in approved home freezing materials to ensure protection of flavor in zero temperatures.

Separate layers of rolls and cookies with sheets of waxed or foil paper to prevent sticking together. All baked good should be cooled, too, before packaging for the freezer.

If you have not already lined up the menu for the big Christmas party, here is one to consider — holiday beef casserole, cranberry-nut salad, fruit punch, rolls and Christmas cookies.

BEEF CASSEROLE
Yield — 2 Quarts and 1 Pint
(around 8 servings)

- 2 pounds beef, cubed
- ½ cup flour
- 2 teaspoons salt
- ½ teaspoon pepper
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 3 tablespoons fat
- 8 cups tomato juice
- 1 bay leaf
- 4 cups sliced carrots
- 2 teaspoons onion powder
- 2 teaspoons celery seed
- 4 cups of peas

Roll beef cubes in mixture of flour, salt, pepper and paprika. Brown meat in deep skillet in which fat has melted. Pour in just enough tomato juice to cover meat and add bay leaf. Cover skillet and simmer for 2¼ hours.

Remove bag leaf. Add carrots, remaining tomato juice, onion powder and celery seed. Blend. Cover and simmer for 10 minutes. Add peas, cover and simmer five more minutes or until vegetables are tender.

To put immediate halt to the cooking, lower skillet into bowl of ice cubes. When food is sufficiently cooled, down to around 90 degrees, spoon the food into two quart and one pint-sized containers. Place in freezer immediately.

EASY DOES IT — Holiday buffet is a lark for hostess with foresight. This one merely took fruit punch, rolls, frozen salad mold and a casserole dish from her freezer. To quick-cool cooked foods place skillet in bowl of ice cubes and let stand a few minutes. Spoon into home freezer containers, seal and freeze until party-time.

Maternity Section Pink

HOLYOKE, Mass. (UPI) — The new six-million-dollar maternity hospital here is painted pink throughout the maternity section. Even the doctors wear pink shirts, pink trousers, pink gowns and pink hats.

Tax Rule May Solve Cities' Parking Woes

CHICAGO — The American Municipal Association predicts that more downtown parking may result from a recent ruling by the Internal Revenue Service in Washington.

Under the ruling, merchants contributing to the cost of off-street parking through special assessment by the City may deduct the cost from their income taxes if it can be shown to be a reasonable business investment.

★ ★ ★

No special assessment was tax-deductible until this ruling was made, the association says, adding that the use of special assessments on nearby buildings to finance parking lots was increasing even before the I.R.S. ruling.

Teacher Pay Boosts Proposed in Detroit

DETROIT (UP) — Teacher pay boosts totaling more than $4,500,000 a year were proposed yesterday by the Detroit Education Assn., a teacher organization.

Increase demands range from $500 a year for beginners to $2,900 a year for veterans with Doctor of Philosophy (Ph. D) degrees.

Detroit teachers with bachelor degrees now start at $4,500 a year and receive yearly increases of $300 until they reach $7,200 over a 10-year period. Starting pay for those with a Master's Degree is $4,800 annually with a 10-year maximum of $7,500. Those with a Ph. D get $8,100 to start.

Under the association's plan beginners would get $5,000 a year and $500 a year up to $9,500. Those with a Master's Degree would start at $5,500.

The Detroit Federation of Teachers, another union, recently demanded as "an immediate goal" that Detroit outbid suburban communities in pay offers. It has a goal of a $6,000 yearly minimum and $12,000 maximum.

A new 25-man life raft is now available for planes on overseas flights. They can be inflated in nine seconds.

Launches Safety Campaign for Christmas

Michigan Strives to Dry Up Drivers, Save Lives

LANSING (UP) — The State Safety Commission has started a drive to dry up drinking drivers and save lives over the Christmas holidays.

The campaign was given impetus by a report from Joseph A. Childs, state police commissioner, that 149 persons died in highway accidents in Michigan in November.

★ ★ ★

This was 15 more than in the same month a year ago. The only other month this year that showed an increase was September, with eight more accidents than the previous year.

"If we have a bad December on top of the November report, we could miss our goal of cutting the 1,380 fatal accidents last year by 10 per cent," Childs said.

Childs said an analysis of the November fatalities showed a significant increase in fatal accidents on weekends, in rural areas and in run-off-the-road type of accidents.

Drinking often is a factor in this latter type of accident, Childs said.

"I'm convinced we're looking at a drinking-driver problem," said Secretary of State James M. Hare. "We have to accept the realities of life. We have a lot of good, two-fisted drinkers in this state."

Hare produced a report which he said showed Michigan residents drink 20 gallons of beer per capita annually. This probably figures out to 50 to 75 gallons for the average male adult, he estimated.

A report from Grand Rapids, he said, showed that 60 per cent of the traffic fatalities there involved drinking drivers or pedestrians.

Nassau County, New York; Delaware State Police and the Montana Highway Patrol all reported that drinking is a factor in more than 50 per cent of the fatal accidents, he said.

"This doesn't need a study, it needs action," said Gov. Williams. "We better put our foot down. Otherwise our trend of reductions in highway fatalities will go the other way."

★ ★ ★

"The hazard is not the drunk driver," said Childs. "It's the drinking driver. The fellow who has been to a cocktail party or an office party, has had a few and thinks he can still drive although his judgment is impaired."

"I know of one local businessman who told me he has to go to 27 cocktail parties between now and Christmas," interjected Harold Lillie, director of the Greater Lansing Safety Council.

The commission agreed on a three-pronged attack on drinking drivers during the month of December. It will:

1. Advise judges of their power to withhold the license of a drinking driver involved in an accident as a part of probation.
2. Ask State Police, sheriffs and chiefs of police to push a vigorous program of enforcement against drinking drivers.
3. Seek newspaper, radio and television cooperation in an educational program stressing the dangers of drinking and driving.

Hilton's Berlin Hotel Rouses Fury of Reds

BERLIN (UPI) — Conrad Hilton and his new West Berlin hotel were practically at war today with the East German Communists.

Communist propagandists, obviously stung by the boost the opening of the big hotel has given West Berliners, angrily spoke of "this hotel jobbery which throws a glaring light on the depedency of West Berlin on the U.S."

West Berliners were far more pleased. They took the hotel as proof the United States was in West Berlin to stay and thousands of them braved the cold wind to walk to Budapest street and admire the black-and-white checkered structure.

East Berlin Communist newspapers icily ignored the hotel but the East German ADN news service carried an angry story which indicated the Communists felt the political implications of the hotel opening.

"I only build hotels where there is a future for them," Hilton said this weekend at the opening ceremony. "Here there is such a future."

The ADN story said the West Berlin city administration "gave away the huge hotel which has been financed by West Berlin taxpayers." It said the hotel was proof of the "increasing control of West Berlin by foreign capitalists."

"The contract made for the construction of a Hilton hotel in Puerto Rico, an American semi-colony, was the model for the agreement between Hilton and the West Berlin city government," ADN said.

One reason the Communist propagandists were attacking the new Berlin Hilton is that it makes East Berlin hotels appear even shabbier than before.

U.S. Groups Contribute $15 Million in Goods

TAIPEI, Formoso (UPI) — U.S. civic organizations have contributed 15 million dollars in relief goods to Formosa during the past two years, the Chinese Council for U.S. Aid reports.

It said the goods included flour, powdered milk, cheese, beans and cotton.

Ice Threatening to Trap 38 Ships

Vessels Caught Between Montreal, Great Lakes, May Be In for Winter

MONTREAL (AP)—About 38 ships are in danger of being frozen in for the winter between Montreal and the Great Lakes, a spokesman for the Federal Transport Department's signal service said.

Ice in the locks of the LaChine Canal, which knifes through Montreal Island, has trapped 18 eastbound vessels in nearby Lake St. Louis, he said.

Another eight eastbound ships are tied up at Cascades Point at the eastern entrance of the Soulanges Canal, 40 miles west of Montreal, because of frozen locks in the Soulanges.

Ice began forming over the weekend and is getting thicker, the spokesman said. Twelve of the trapped ships are ocean-going.

Eastbound ships got through the LaChine Canal yesterday but one had to break ice with her anchor to do it.

Twelve westbound ships are caught in Montreal Harbor, unable to get through the canal back to the Lakes, the signal service spokesman said. He added that the only thing that could get traffic moving again would be a warm spell.

Voice Opinions on Michigan's Proposed Tax Revsion

LANSING (UPI)—Release of a proposed revision of Michigan's tax structure put the spotlight on the tax opinions held by leaders in government, business and labor.

Here are some of those opinions including excerpts from the first reactions to the proposed revision:

Dr. Harvey E. Brazer, University of Michigan tax expert who was paid $100 a day to assist in preparation of the proposed revision—"If this package proposal becomes law, Michigan will have a tax structure second to none in the country."

Gov. G. Mennen Williams—"Obviously, there must be some new taxes or the state will not be able to maintain such things as our colleges and universities, the mental hospital system, the State Police and state aid to local schools."

★ ★ ★

Supreme Court Justice Leland W. Carr—"It is questionable if any tax law could be devised that would result in absolute equity under all circumstances."

UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock (a member of the Citizens' Tax Committee)—The proposed revision "is not a soak-the-rich program."

C. G. Bunting, an executive of the Fenestra Corp., Detroit, and also a member of the Citizens' Tax Committee—The proposed revision is "like a salad. Some people may not like the carrots in it."

Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), an influential leader in the State Senate—"I think the Governor should propose whatever tax program there is and be responsible for it. Unless he is in favor of more taxes, none ought to be enacted."

Lansing State Journal—"The Welfare of Michigan taxpayers would have fared much better if a citizens' study commission had been appointed to survey ways and means of economizing in state and local governments, rather than merely to search for new schemes for more taxes."

Robert S. Ford, University of Michigan professor of economics—"(The present structure) is like an old family home . . . to which additions have been made from time to time to take care of the children of successive generations, and it serves none of them too well."

Two members of the committee—E. C. Hayhow, Hillsdale publisher and Tyrone Gillespie, assistant to the president of Dow Chemical Co., Midland—issued minority report which termed the graduated income tax "sufficiently vicious to discourage middle income.

The minority group said the income tax would place the heaviest impact on families with incomes between $5,000 and $25,000 and was of doubtful constitutionality.

The other member reported to have voted against the majority proposal—John H. Carton, Battle Creek insurance executive, did not sign the minority report.

'Magnetic Mice' Less Vulnerable Against Radiation

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. — Researchers at the University of Illinois have found that mice kept in a strong magnetic field for two weeks before irradiation can withstand significantly larger doses of radiation than comparable animals not kept in a magnetic field.

Blood counts showed that the white cells of magnetic-field animals dropped only to 3 per cent of normal after irradiation compared with 2 per cent of normal for control animals.

A possible explanation, the researchers say, may lie in the recent surprising discovery that mice exposed to a magnetic field have higher than normal whitecell counts.

New Air-Drop for Fuel

NEW YORK — "Saucers" made of rubber have been developed to drop fuel, water, and other liquids to stranded troops, explorers, and hunters. The saucer-like containers, 30 inches in diameter, hold 5 gallons of liquid. They have oil-resistant liners for petroleum and rubber liners for water. Test drops from altitudes of up to 2,000 feet have not burst them.

Out they Go.

Many Schools Unsafe, NEA Head Warns

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. William Carr Jr., executive secretary of the National Education Association, said there are "a large number of unsafe schools in the nation."

Carr, whose organization has led a fight for more adequate schools and federal aid for school construction, learned of the Chicago school tragedy from United Press International in Salt Lake City, Utah.

Carr did not elaborate on other unsafe schools or give any figures.

He voiced "profound sympathy" for the parents, students and teachers caught in the Chicago disisater and paid tribute to the "gallant conduct" of the teachers at the school.

He said the Superintendent of Catholic School in Chicago, Monsignor McManus, was a longtime personal friend and added:

"I hope he feels that his many friends in American schools are extending their moral support to him in this trying hour."

U.S. Education Commissioner Lawrence G. Derthick said his agency was ready to help in any way possible to avert similar future tragedies.

WASHINGTON STAGGERED

Official Washington, accustomed to worrying about international crises and political battles, was staggered by news of the parochial school conflagration and its heavy toll in children's lives.

Even normally undemonstrative FBI officials, disclosing they had offered their full facilities to help local authorities uncover the cause of the fire, blurted out "horrible" and "awful" in talking to a reporter.

Derthick, who first learned of the extent of the tragedy from United Press International, said:

"It's horrible beyond words to imagine. This will shock the whole country."

Also apparent in official quarters was a sense of helplessness—a questioning of "What can we do about it?" What could we have done that we didn't do?"

Derthick and officials of his agency said the federal government has no supervision over school safety standards, although the U.S. Office of Education has participated in conferences which recommended standards to local authorities. The agency itself has published two pamphlets on "School Fire Safety" and "School Fire Exit Drills."

★ ★ ★

Asked if the Office of Education might take further steps in the wake of the Chicago tragedy, Derthick replied, "We are ready to help out in any way we can. If called upon to make a study with promise of good results, we would undertake it."

Officials of the Office of Education specializing in problems of school safety were questioned about the fact that the burned school had only one fire escape.

One official said there was a general feeling fire escapes were valuable but widespread belief that the best system was one of enclosed stairwells opening directly to the outside by way of wired glass doors which would not become red hot.

Derthick said there has been a "tremendous effort" through the country to build safe schools, and noted the Chicago tragedy was the first of such magnitude in some time.

"Let's hope we never have another like it," he said fervently.

Vitamins Found Aid to Mental Vitality

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI) — Vitamins help a youngster mentally as well as physically, a Stanford University research team reported after a four-year study of some 2,000 school children in Merced and Santa Cruz counties in central California.

Aout half the participants received regular doses containing most of the known vitamins and minerals needed for good health. The other half received dummy pills which looked real but contained neutral substances.

Investigation showed that the vitamin-fortified youngsters outgrew the others slightly in learning ability; had an "edge" in physical fitness; showed greater endurance; were slightly superior in growth rate; appeared likely to have less tooth decay, and had a better attendance record.

California's C. of C. Hears Dulles Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was expected to outline Western policy in the Berlin crisis in a speech before the California Chamber of Commerce today.

The secretary, after flying in from Palm Springs earlier, also was expected to touch on other current hotspots in the East-West cold war.

Dulles flew to the West Coast from Mexico City, where he attended the inauguration of Mexico's new President, Adolfo Lopez Mateos.

Research With Insects Aids Longevity Study

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) —Research with insects may help in the study of longevity.

Dr. Carroll M. Williams of Harvard says a substance called juvenile hormone has been used to keep insects from developing normally and may be useful in studying the aging process.

"The day is not too far distant when we will be able to treat (the process of growing old) as we now . . .treat acute pneumonia," he told the Entomological Society of America.

Returns 'Borrowed' Car He Thought Was His

PITTSBURG, Kan. (AP)—Doyle L. Evans drove to Pittsburg Tuesday in a rented car.

When he left the Pittsburg VFW Club Tuesday night to return to Wichita, he got into a car of the same make and model as his personal car. The key was in the ignition and off he went.

Wednesday, he remembered he didn't drive his personal car to Pittsburg. He took the "borrowed" car back.

German Thrift Rises

BONN — West German households were thriftier in 1957, saving 8.2 per cent of their income compared with 5.8 per cent in 1956, according to a report by the Federal Republic's central bank.

South America Really Lies East of United States

WASHINGTON (UPI) — South America is not — as many people believe — directly south of the United States.

Except for its western bulge and its southernmost tip, all of the continent of South America lies to the east of the Atlantic coast boundary of the U.S.

Quito, Ecuador, the westernmost capital in South America, lies on the same degree of longitude as Miami, Fla.

Two pubs (saloons) in Convent Garden, London, are permitted by a special act of Parliament to open at 5 a.m. This is for night workers and farmers in the nearby public market place.

Bob Considine Says:

Missionary Top Expert on Latin America

MEXICO CITY — One of the great authorities of our time on Latin America is a Maryknoll missionary, named Considine, of all things. John J. Considine, that is.

It is unfair to constrict the author of "Africa—World Of New Men" and "Across The World" to knowledge only of Latin America.

But the man has traveled through more of this land and spoken to more of its people than any reporter or state department officer. His interests are chiefly religious and so are his colossal concerns.

But his observations have meaning beyond the religious in his new book "New Horizons In Latin America," published by Dodd Mead and Company.

The realistic priest explains why Vice-President Nixon was egged in Latin America:

"Let us start with what one might call the busybody Uncle Sam factor, that accumulation of mild irritants that have entered on the scene as the unfortunate backwash from our very commendable desire to lend a helping hand to less affluent nations.

"We have no desire to be busybodies. But can we discover the secret for avoiding the charge?"

The priest adds "The hostility against the United States in several Latin American countries but particularly in Venezuela stems from the charge that we have coddled the dictators. While the rebellion was forming against President Perez Jimenez in Venezuela, Washington went out of its way to decorate Perez with the United States Legion of Merit and to show him other favors.

Then there is the matter of the prices we pay for goods we buy from this part of the world. The missionary says it this way in his intelligent book (out of which he personally won't make a quarter):

★ ★ ★

"Another factor creating hostility to the United States is born of the strange turn of events in Latin America that gives our land the label of 'Uncle Sam the wealth destroyer.'

Astounding as it may seem our country is currently regarded not as the great benefactor to Latin American production enterprises but as the major source of economic harm.

"As in Asia and Africa, Latin American mines and plantations may turn in a splendid operational job only to have their year's output made worthless by a chill breeze in the world market that destroys the crop or metal prices. Uncle Sam to many a Latin American is mister world market.

"It is Uncle Sam therefore who lately has visited so much misery on Latin America's owners and workers by the slump in the commodity market which results in two things—first we buy less, secondly we pay a lower price for what we buy."

Cliff Dwelling Study Set for Mesa Verde

WASHINGTON — The National Geographic Society and the Interior Department's National Park Service are joining forces in a major new archeological project to explore cliff dwellings in Mesa Verde National Park, Colorado.

The research project is a step toward expanding the park's attractions, as well as a scientific effort to solve mysteries of the Indians who built hundreds of pueblos on mesa tops and in caves of canyons.

The Indians reached a high state of culture before abandoning their cities, for unknown reasons, two centuries before Columbus discovered America. Only Cliff Palace and a few other important sites have been stabilized and are now open to visitors.

Wood cut in summer deteriorates faster than wood cut in cold weather.

Scientists Plan Study of Races in Nile Valley

CAIRO — A group of United Arab Republic scientists, assisted by two professors from Poland, will soon start a study of races in Africa.

Particular attention will be given to the characteristics and physical differences between the inhabitants of various towns and villages of the Nile Valley. The study may help determine the origin of the Egyptian people.

India Adopting Metric System Devised in 1791

WASHINGTON—In adopting the metric way, India has joined most of the world in a system that developed in France during the Revolution, says the National Geographic Society.

The Paris Academy of Sciences was delegated to bring order to the chaos of international weights and measures. In 1791, it proposed the meter, gram, and liter as basic standards of length, weight, and volume. Each standard was given a specific value and place in a decimal system. The progressively larger units left of the decimal point were designated by Greek prefixes, the smaller ones by Latin prefixes.

The meter was set in accord with what was then believed to be 1-10,000,000 the distance from Equator to Pole. In United States terms, this has since been defined as equivalent to 39.37 inches.

Fat Flabby Children Pose Health Problem

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The chubby, half-starved glutton has become one of the nation's major health problems.

An Indiana pediatrician today put millions of American children in that class. And he put major blame on their parents.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Harold D. Lynch of Evansville said these children are growing fat and flabby on foods they don't need while starving their bodies of the protein-rich foods they need for health and proper growth.

★ ★ ★

Speaking at the annual clinical conference of the Americen Medical Assn., he said a low protein diet in young children can cause extreme susceptibility to infection, moderate degrees of anemia, irritability, constipation, flabby muscles, lethargy and tooth decay.

RELATIVE? — French actress Sylvia Lopez' coat looks like it might have come from a relative of the three tiger cubs she holds at a zoo in Rome, Italy. Truth to tell, it's a leopard-skin coat.

'Young' Senator Alaska's First

Gruening at 71 Finds Campaign Stimulating; Was Governor 13 Years

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—A vigorous election campaign that would have done credit to a robust youngster won a U.S. Senate seat for 71-year-old Ernest Gruening of Alaska.

For more than four months the veteran Democrat criss-crossed the rugged 586,000 square miles of the nation's 49th state.

The campaign that ended last week in Alaska's first state election exhausted other candidates.

But for Gruening: "Tired? I should say not. I found it extremely stimulating."

★ ★ ★

He admits, however, "I occasionally lost a little sleep."

Gruening attributes the loss of sleep to his extensive campaigning—and not to any worry that he would lose to 39-year-old Republican Mike Stepovich, last territorial governor.

Gruening, a New Yorker by birth who calls Juneau home, also is a former territorial governor of Alaska.

In a primary election last August, Stepovich ran 5,700 votes ahead of Gruening. On the basis of returns still coming in from last week's general election, Gruening was an upset winner over Stepovich by more than 2,500 votes.

★ ★ ★

Gruening, a short man with a bouncy step and a ready handshake, conducted a tireless campaign. His personal appearances were marked by soft-spoken, smiling talks that contrasted with the intense drive that carried him to victory.

How does Gruening plan to work for Alaska in the Senate?

"I think, frankly, for a freshman senator not yet seated the less I say the better. I intend to do a lot of listening and naturally will work for certain things I think due Alaska that we have been deprived of under territorial status."

★ ★ ★

Gruening avoids a label as either a liberal or a conservative.

"I think those terms need definition. There's no doubt that on some issues I would take what presumably would be liberal positions, and on others I would not."

Gruening was born in New York City on Feb. 6, 1887, and attended Hotchkiss School and Harvard University. He obtained a medical degree at Harvard in 1912, but never practiced medicine.

He founded the Portland (Maine) Evening News and served as editor of the New York Post briefly, was editor of The Nation, and was publicity director for the La-Follette Progressive presidential campaign in 1924.

★ ★ ★

He entered government service as director of territories for the Department of Interior in 1934, and served as governor of Alaska for more than 13 years.

His term as governor ended in 1953 when the Eisenhower administration came into office.

Lion Slows Up Meter Reading in Utah Cellar

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—The meter reader started down the basement stairs but quickly reversed himself.

"There's a lion down there," he grumbled, and called police.

Police found a lion, too — 6-months-old Susie, a kittenish 80 pounds. They conferred, at a safe distance. City law doesn't permit people to keep lions in their basements.

★ ★ ★

So they called the Animal Rescue League, which sent Don Cooper. He played with Susie a bit then took her away, saying he hoped some zoo would like to have her.

★ ★ ★

Robert Minnick, whose basement it was, explained a man brought Susie to him when she was 12 weeks old. The man said she came straight from Africa and kept healthy on five rabbits a day. He left Susie, borrowed a gun and departed, ostensibly to hunt rabbits. That was the last seen of man and rifle.

★ ★ ★

Minnick kept Susie chained in the basement, and the docile beast never gave him any trouble. But she kept on eating rabbits, he said, and he's been trying to find a more suitable home for her.

The city's Hogle Zoo has all the lions it wants. But curator Jerry Debary said he would try to board Susie temporarily.

Minnick's surprised neighbors said they weren't aware he had a lion in his basement.

Dog Trees Huge Cat

SOCORRO, N.M. (UP) — Life on the streets of this southern New Mexico town of 5,000 can grow precarious. Officers, drawn by a barking dog, killed a treed cat — a 6½ foot female mountain lion.

Get Signed Confession

WEST SUFFIELD, Conn. (UPI) — Police said they had little trouble arresting a youth who tried to obtain $8,000 by extortion. They said the extortion note contained his name and address.

12-Year Water Plan Undertaken by Chile

SANTIAGO, Chile — The Chilean Government has agreed to launch a 12-year water-improvement program to benefit the cities of Santiago and Concepcion. Both will suffer serious water shortages by the summer of 1962 if large-scale works are not undertaken at once, according to the Ministry of Public Works.

★ ★ ★

In the first phase of the program, which calls for construction of a filtration plant, about $3,600,000 will be invested in developing a water supply and more than $4,300,000 for water distribution. The second phase, costing about $3,000,000, includes impounding the waters of the Olivares River.

Cereal Crop Diseases Diagnosed From Air

WASHINGTON — A method of diagnosing certain cereal crop diseases from aerial photos has been developed by the National Research Council, which calls the technique a major advance in controlling this serious problem in world food supply.

The developers say that aerial photos made from 10,000 feet can detect infected areas that are missed by observers on the ground only 10 feet away. Infrared, color, and panchromatic films are used.

★ ★ ★

The same methods could be used from planes to distinguish soil and mineral types, plant species, water depths, and to detect timber stands vulnerable to epidemic-size disease or insect attacks.

Jersey Architect Digs Up Uranium, Shark's Tooth

WARETOWN, N. J. (UPI) — An architect digging a foundation for a new home here found a shark's tooth about 100 to 150 million years old — and uranium.

When Russel J. Horner, 47-year-old architect and construction engineer of Liberty Harbor, found the fossilized tooth, along with clam and oyster shells, also fossilized, he sent them to the archeology department at Rutgers University.

He also sent along a specimen of rock to the American Smelting and Refining Co. at Perth Amboy for analysis.

It turned out to be uranium and the assay report indicated a rich deposit — the location of which Horner is now keeping secret.

In 1947, Capt. Charles E. "Chuck" Yaeger of West Virginia, broke the sonic barrier at a speed of 671 miles per hour to succeed in the first faster-than-sound flight.

London Has World's Richest Square Mile

LONDON — When Londoners talk of "the City" they are referring not to the whole of London but to that historic square mile which represents the extent of the capital in medieval times. The original City still retains its individuality, with its own corporation headed by the Lord Mayor of London.

When Tacitus, the earliest of foreign correspondents in Britain, visited walled London in 63 A. D. he described it as "celebrated for the gathering of dealers and commodities."

Though the stout walls that circled the City in Roman times have long been reduced to their foundations, the City remains a law unto itself and proud of it. It is regarded as the wealthiest square mile in the world.

Crop Insurance Plan Might Avert Feuds

CAIRO — Egypt's Ministry of Social Welfare is studying a plan for insuring farmers' crops, before and after harvest, against theft, damage, and fire. Under the plan, a farmer would receive compensation the day after a loss took place.

One of the advantages of this plan, the ministry feels, is that it would stop feuding farmers from damaging each other's crops out of revenge if they knew the loss would be immediately compensated. The plan would require each farmer to pay a small annual premium for each acre.

The largest ship ever built on the Great Lakes was recently launched at River Rouge, Mich. She is the 729-foot Edmund Fitzgerald.

Ceramic Clubs Latest Addition to Golf Game

CHICAGO (UPI) — Flame ceramics, a process used to protect metals in jet and docket engines, is being diverted to the fairways to give a lift to the nation's golfers.

The first set of flame ceramic golf irons marketed by MacGregor was introduced to the golfing world this month.

The manufacturer said tests have shown that ceramic coated irons have exceptional wearability and a solid "feel" that helps to improve control. The irons are black-faced and banded by chrome, which the maker said makes it easier for the golfer to to frame a ball and line up shots.

He Lacks 3 Stars . . . or 4

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — An unusual flag waves proudly in the breeze at John Loechle's house. It has 46 stars.

Loechle says the flag was made shortly after Oklahoma became the 46th state in 1907.

It requires a temperature of more than 4,400 degrees Fahrenheit to melt the precious metal ruthenium, an element of the light platinum group.

Easy Does It for Holidays

Steady Hand, Strong Heart Best Prevents Overeating, Drinking

Too much of a good thing, food or drink, can easily dampen the high spirits of the holiday season. A steady hand and strong heart to push away that "one for the road" and that second helping are the best defenses against hangover, hiccups and upset stomach.

Physicians explain that a drink may aid relaxation and release of tension. Many drinks, however, will blur good feelings—for alcohol is a depressant on the nervous system.

The body is able to dispose of one ounce of whisky per hour. After three ounces in an hour, inhibitions are weakened and judgment blunted, depending on individual reactions. After six hookers the alcohol in the bloodstream staggers motion and slurs speech.

The process is slowed when there is food in the stomach; accelerated, it is said, when the drink is carbonated, like champagne.

Too much food, though hard to avoid at Christmas dinner, can bring on that heavy, uncomfortable feeling commonly recognized as dyspepsia.

To calm the digestive upset, the first step is to get rid of excess acid. There is a new antacid for relief from heart-burn and it need not be chewed, thereby eliminating the chalky taste. A carbonated soft drink also will ease that heavy stomach feeling.

★ ★ ★

Hiccups? Two physicians of Boston's Lahey Clinic report that most old wives' remedies for curing simple hiccups are effective. Blowing into a paper bag, being frightened or pressing on the eyeballs set up counter irritations and really work.

Belts Make Good Christmas Gifts

Belts are still on the go and the gal who follows fashion will be wearing them low at the hipline, high up in Empire style and occasionally 'round the waist where they used to go all the time.

This wandering waistline means, of course, that new belt fashions are in order, a gift idea to note for Christmas shopping.

★ ★ ★

Since softness of silhouette is desired, the chemise and Empire belts are most effective in the new soft and supple leathers. For instance, there are shoestring belts in ultrasoft leather. These can be combined and tied loosely around the top of the hiplines. Or there are sash belts in silky soft suede with fringed ends that are loosely looped at the hipline or tied more tightly at the normal waistline. These come in the new leather colors that range from the hot hues to burnished tones and dark colors.

In many instances, leather is combined with metal in golden or silver color in the form of links, medallions and so forth.

Empire belts that are worn high above the waistline are featured in the butter-soft leathers that lend themselves to crushing and draping. They are often detailed with cutouts, soft bows, leather-covered buckles and buttons. Soft leather cummerbunds and sashes also are used in Empire fashion in a wide array of colors.

Tourists Set Record

OTTAWA — Visitors traveling in Canada spent $362,000,000 in the commonwealth during 1957, a gain of $25,000,000 over 1956 and a new record. Travelers from the United States alone spent $328,000,000, a gain of $19,000,000.

Old Glory Comes Out on top

Flag Flying in States Stirs Up Fuss

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Old Glory comes out on top — literally speaking — when it comes to displaying the federal and state flags from the domes of state capitol buildings across the nation.

Flag-flying policies here stirred up a genuine fuss recently when Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. announced Virginia's blue standard would replace the U.S. banner on the capitol's lone center stanchion.

Almond readily explained he wasn't hauling down the Stars and Stripes for keeps but that until a second pole of equal height could be erected the state banner would wave alone.

★ ★ ★

Last week Almond altered his stand somewhat. The high stanchion on the center roof was bare. Both state and federal flags were displayed at opposite ends of the capitol until the flagpole work is completed on the main roof.

★ ★ ★

The state-by-state flag count showed that the red, white and blue flutters atop all but one stanchion on the capitols. Maryland hoists only the state flag. The U.S. flag goes up on national holidays side by side with the state banner.

Twenty-six states display the federal banner higher than their state flags. Fifteen give equal height.

★ ★ ★

Kansas and Colorado fly only the U.S. flag, with the state banner displayed either on the interior or on the outside grounds.

Dixie states, where the federal versus state power fight is centered, report a preference for the American flag over their state banners.

Mississippi displays both flags from separate poles of equal height but puts the U.S. banner on the right.

Louisiana displays the national flag alone from the outside of the building and gives the state flag a subordinate position at the capitol's entrance hall.

★ ★ ★

South Carolina flies the U.S. flag above the state banner from the same pole, Texas on separate stanchions but the U.S. flag slightly higher. Florida displays the national banner over its dome with the state flag having a less prominent place over one wing. Georgia gives preference to the national flag in its display.

★ ★ ★

Arkansas displays its two flags from opposite sides of the capitol.

Alabama has a dual flag policy, flying the state flag when its Legislature convenes and the U.S. flag from a pole on the lawn. At other times the flags have a reverse position.

★ ★ ★

Oregon law does not prescribe billing for the state flag. But when both fly from the same stanchion the American flag is always on top.

New York gives equal billing whenever both are flown. The U.S. flag flies daily and the state flag during legislative sessions.

In West Virginia, the American flag is always at a slightly higher elevation.

Arming Germans Out, Says Soviet

Stress Plan Would Have Bad Effect on Geneva Control Talks

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet bloc delegates said that any nuclear armament of West Germany would have an adverse effect on the arms control negotiations in Geneva.

The Soviet deputy foreign minister, Vassili Kuznetsov, and the Polish deputy foreign minister, Marjan Naskowski, stressed this view at the 10-nation talks on surprise attack problems.

A decision on nuclear weapons for West Germany is expected to be made at the meeting in Paris later this month of the North Atlantic powers.

Soviet bloc delegates have brought in a list of proposals for setting up wide neutral, atomic-free areas in central Europe and the Middle East. They call for ground and aerial inspection but are so vague as to be almost meaningless, according to Western sources.

★ ★ ★

The Western powers regard this list as largely political in character and outside the scope of the technical talks.

The United States, France, Britain, Italy and Canada came to the conference prepared to discuss only technical ways of lessening the danger of surprise attack.

OK Tax Extension

DETROIT (AP) — Grosse Pointe voters have approved overwhelmingly a five-year extension of a 9-mill tax for school operation. The tax amounts to $9 for each $1,000 of assessed valuation and produces almost two million dollars a year. The vote for continuance was 3,545 to 714. The tax would have expired next June.

Insects are said to destroy more trees in the U.S. than forest fires.

Sea-Dwellers Move In

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police were not too surprised when they found an eight-foot porpoise hanging from a lamppost on a Bronx corner one night. Earlier in the day, they had come across a nine-foot shark with its teeth removed on a nearby corner.

CHRISTMAS — Stories about traditions, children and animals make good bedtime reading. Here Mother reads book telling a story of the Christ Child to help youngsters understand how Christmas came to be.

Juvenile Books Key to Exciting World

Books unfold an exciting world for children and fit under the Christmas tree for all ages. Remember, most children's books are not dated and a book is always new to a child who has never read it.

A new book for the season is Mary Alice Jones' "Tell Me About Christmas" for children 4 to 9. Another worthwhile book for older children is "One God—the Ways We Worship Him" by Florence Fitch.

Science and space is unfolded in "Book of Science for Boys and Girls" by Earl Schenck Miers for 8 to 12 ages. Those 10 years and older will like "Strange Plants and Their Ways" and "Insects—Hunters and Trappers," both by Ross E. Hutchins, or "Neighbors in Space," about the solar system, and "The Complete Book of Space Travel" for teenagers by Alfred Gaul.

And don't forget storybooks, especially those horse stories. Marguerite Henry has a new one out called "Black Gold."

Collections include "Read Me More Stories," "More Read to Yourself Stories" and "Aesop for Children." Older boys and girls will like "Favorite Poems Old and New."

Exact Measurements Vital in Atom Age

WASHINGTON — Minute differences of no consequence in everyday life take on surprising significance as scientists reach into the universe and probe the atom nucleus. Before long it is expected the international meter will have almost infinitesimal divisions in terms of wave lengths of light.

The National Bureau of Standards has perfected a light beam technique so sensitive it can compare lengths to the nearest 1-10,000,000 inch. An exhibit of the Atomic Energy Commission once demonstrated that its physicists could measure uranium in amounts 1,000 times lighter than a typewritten dot. The dot itself was reported 1 microgram — 1-1,000,000 gram.

Social Security Plan Helps

...If You Lose Your Job!

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

Where would you get money to live on if you were to lose your job?

The odds are good that you could collect weekly unemployment pay for a limited time while you're out of work under the federal-state system of unemployment insurance.

More than 42 million employers are covered by the system. And, during the first nine months of 1958, more than nine million collected payments totaling about 3¼ billion dollars.

★ ★ ★

The system is a part of the federal government's overall Social Security program, just as Old Age and Survivors Insurance is a part of it.

The system is run jointly by the federal and state governments.

The federal government sets down the broad operating rules and handles the money taken in. The states pay out the money and set the rules as to how unemployed workers may qualify for payments, how much they may collect each week and how many weeks they may receive payments.

Because the state requirements to draw payments vary widely, it's impossible to be specific here about eligibility in individual states.

But, in general, these are requirements you must meet to get unemployment pay:

1. You must make a claim for the pay at a state employment office and register for work.
2. Your previous job must have been covered by a state employment pay program.
3. You must have had a certain amount of pay for work in a covered job in a specified period during the year or two before you lost your job.

You must be ready and willing to take a suitable job if one is offered.

How much you'll get if you meet requirements will depend on your state's program. Usually, it's less than half of what you were earning for a full-time week on your previous job. The maximum ranges from $25 to $60 a week.

★ ★ ★

The length of time you'll be able to draw the pay will also vary depending on your state's unemployment system. It can be as little as four weeks and as much as 30 weeks.

The money to pay the benefits under the system comes from a tax on the payrolls of all employers who have at least four workers during 20 or more weeks of the year.

The amount of tax paid varies from state-to-state and from employer-to-employer, generally depending on how much unemployment an employer has in his business.

The average tax paid is about 2 per cent of an employer's payroll. Except in two states—Alabama and New Jersey—the entire tax is paid by the employer and none is collected from employes.

Congressman Wants Ruling on Car Fumes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Rep. Gordon McDonough (R-Calif) says he will introduce legislation at the next session of Congress to require auto exhaust controls on new automobiles.

He said he has drawn the bill, which makes it a federal offense to ship a new motor vehicle across a state border unless it is equipped with an exhaust control. It would apply to 1960 cars.

"It has been firmly proven that the exhaust from motor cars is the prime cause of smog," he said.

McDonough criticized the automobile industry for not coming up with an exhaust control, which he described as "a comparatively minor engineering problem."

"Instead of devoting efforts to the basic internal problems, the industry has emphasized loading our cars with costly and unnecessary chrome and other decorations which have steadily driven the prices of autos upward," he said.

GIFT FOR POOCH — Round of gift-giving doesn't stop with people. Families with pets will appreciate gifts for their favorite animal. Santa's helpers say this dog is getting an aerosol can of easy groom cleaner.

How About Flea Soap?

Don't Forget Dog!

"Love me, love my dog" is a particularly good thought for Christmas.

For making a bigger hit than ever with families on a Christmas list who have dogs, include a gift for each dog.

Richard H. Mayer, education director of Sergeant's Dog Care Center of Richmond, Va., says, "The dog may not understand the significance of the act, but it may enjoy the fun and laughter over the unwrapping of the present. Certainly the family will appreciate the thought."

In addition, the present for the dog can be something which its owner would find useful. Mr. Moyer says a suitable gift might include a cake of flea soap or an instant foam lather in an aersol can for easy grooming and cleaning without water.

Other practical gift suggestions are food or water dishes—possibly decorated with the name of the dog—and collars and leads in colors that either match or contrast with the dog's coat. More expensive items would include a raincoat, blanket, sweater, dog carrier, bed and mattress.

Sports Licenses Costly

WASHINGTON — America's hunters and fisherman spent a record $90,617,039 in 1957 for all licenses, permits, tags, and stamps needed to follow their outdoor sports. The figure, which doesn't include sales of the federal duck stamp, is $829,145 higher than the previous year.

Says Automation to Be Common in Daily Life

NEW YORK (UPI)—Automation equipment will become so standardized in the next 10 years that it will be as much a part of daily life as the typewriter, the cash register and the telephone are today, industrialist Harvey S. Firestone Jr. predicted recently.

★ ★ ★

Firestone, president of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Co., said in a speech at the Thomas Alva Edison Foundation's fourth annual awards dinner that industry has only scratched the surface in applying automation, nucleonics and electronics to manufacturing techniques and business functions.

"In less than a decade," he said, "they will become as much standard equipment in commerce and industry as the typewriter, the cash register and the telephone are today, bringing with them the priceless benefits of lower production and distribution costs, greater manufacturing accuracy, more leisure time for workers and a higher standard of living than we now enjoy."

Walker L. Cisler, president of the Detroit Edison Co., presided at the dinner, at which the 1958 Edison awards were given.

★ ★ ★

Television awards went to three Columbia Broadcasting System programs, "The 20th Century," "Conquest" and the New York Philharmonic young people's concerts, with Leonard Bernstein conducting.

Film awards went to two Walt Disney movies, "Old Yeller" and "White Wilderness," and to Warner Brothers for "The Old Man and the Sea."

Special Edison foundation citations for public service in the interests of education were awarded to: The National Broadcasting Co.'s television physics course, "Continental Classroom"; the Washington County, Md., closed circuit TV project; "The World of the Mind" radio programs on the humanities and science prepared by Broadcast Music, Inc.; and stations WQED-TV, Pittsburgh, and WFMT, Chicago, as the television and radio stations, respectively, that best served youth in 1958.

Says Teenagers Live in Their Own World

CANTON, Ill. (UPI) — Prof. Ralph England, a University of Illinois sociologist, believes teenagers live in a world of their own with a culture distinctly different from any other known to man.

★ ★ ★

This adolescent culture, he said, consists of slang, fads, some type of jazz music and hero-worship.

"Probably 90 per cent of the kids in our country share in this adolescent world," said England, "and only a small proportion of them get into trouble."

Ships Printing Devices

BERLIN — Seventy per cent of the printing machinery West Germany produced last year was exported — $80,000,000 worth. The United States and Great Britain were the main customers.

3 Generations Later, Foes Are Friends

HAMBURG, Germany — Members of a Danish and a German family which for three generations have fought each other in four wars, met on a friendly footing in Hamburg recently.

★ ★ ★

Taking part were, on the Danish side, Baroness Karen Blixen and her brother, Thomas Dinesen, and, on the German, 88-year-old General Paul von Lettow Vorbeck, commander of the German forces in East Africa in World War I. In that war Dinesen fought as a Canadian soldier in France.

★ ★ ★

Their parents fought against each other in the Schleswig-Holstein War of 1864 and in the Franco-German War of 1870-71. Their grandfathers took part in the Schleswig-Holstein hostilities of 1848.

'Rockets Away' Promises to Be Popular Holiday Cry

UNCLE SAM'S missiles land under the Christmas tree in the form of scale model kits. This is a Nike-Hercules.

TRAIN keeps satellite in orbit as it whizzes around O-gauge track. This Kusan-Auburn set also has radar car.

Youngsters who don't blast off and orbit around the Christmas tree this year are probably counting down for their playmates.

Outer space has whirled into their world of fantasy and parents can expect an onslaught of satellite jargon at the breakfast table after Santa comes.

★ ★ ★

Christmas boxes will yield such things as a satellite train with a styrofoam satellite that floats in the air; an Alpha 1 ballistic missile that travels 150 to 200 feet when launched with bottled water and bicarb, and a satellite launcher that fires two flying saucers, and also has a rocket gun to shoot them down.

But that is only the beginning. There is a variety of toys to make home base as complete as Cape Canaveral.

Included are space helmets with antenna and a cosmic ray protector shield. Spacewomen will have a complete space cadet costume while boys generally must settle with a helmet.

However, there is a cardboard robot outfit for the boys with plastic claws for handling "hot" metals while in an atom lab.

Hobbyists will have a field day with model kits of atomic cannon, launching platforms and missiles. Kusan-Auburn, for example, has kits for the Honest John Talos, Corporal, Nike and on down the giant missile line.

When youngsters aren't launching rockets, they may be bouncing about on rocket shoes. Or more sedate earth creatures can get in the satellite spirit with a flying saucer game. Dad might like this one—it is a space-age version of pitching horseshoes.

Quemoy Quiet Again

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Communist batteries across from the off-shore islands fell silent again today, an even-numbered day.

The Nationalist Defense Ministry said the Communists fired 515 shells at the Quemoys Wednesday.

Rolling Arsenal Gun Salesman Avoids Cameras

RAVENNA, Ohio (UPI) — Traveling salesman James N. Zeh is one of the most popular callers at police stations in Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York. He's also the most camera shy.

Zeh sells pistols, riot guns, tear gas, leg irons, blackjacks, handcuffs and similar hardware to policemen in the three-state area. When he hits the road in his station wagon he's a rolling arsenal.

"I've got about 30 revolvers in my car," Zeh said. "All I need is to have some thug see my photograph so he could hijack me. He'd have the arsenal, complete with bullets."

Picker Mishaps Costly

CHICAGO — The average medical and hospital expense involved as a result of corn-picker accidents in $820, according to a survey by the National Safety Council. Three out of four corn-picker accidents result in permanent disability and 3 per cent are fatal.

Navy Training Plane Crashes in Potomac

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Navy training plane crashed into the Potomac River shortly after take-off from the Anacostia Naval Air Station here today. One man was reported found dead.

The plane itself sank and was not located immediately, but one body was found nearby. Two men were reported aboard.

The scene was off the Hains Point recreation area and about 1,000 feet south of the twin-span 14th St. Bridge, main traffic artery between Washington and the Virginia suburbs.

The spot is about four miles upstream from the point where a Navy helicopter crashed Wednesday night, killing one of the 10 aboard.

Tranquilize Animals

KANSAS CITY — Drug-firm executives say that tranquilizers for animals are being sold at the rate of $1,000,000 a year. Total sales of $10,000,000 a year are predicted within two or three years, so fast is the market growing.

Easy Cooking Gives Some Women Ulcers

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

Some women are developing ulcers for an odd reason: Packaged "mixes" and pre-cooked foods have given them creeping guilt complexes that are apt to lead to stomach ailments.

Motivational research shows that women secretly have felt they are shirking their duties as wives and mothers when they prepare food this quick and easy way.

When this sensitivity began to permeate, and puncture, the sales picture, manufacturers began to play up the need for skill and homemaking ability in frosting the cake or seasoning the frozen casserole.

Now everything is looking up for the prepared food business.

Women gradually are downing their guilt upsurgings. Or at least taking them with a grain of salt (self-applied, just before serving).

"Movie stars," said Ed Michelson, "are probably the least temperamental people I know—at least in the stomach.

"They have strong likes and dislikes concerning food in their normal lives, but when they're in the middle of a movie they forget everything.

"Except ulcers. Nobody forgets ulcers."

Michelson is Hollywood's biggest "on-location caterer." He'll go anywhere, from Beverly Hills to the Belgian Congo, with portable kitchens and imported chefs, to feed the famous.

"I guess by now I know all their little idiosyncrasies.

"Tony Curtis likes salads and sandwiches.

"Marilyn Monroe likes practically nothing. Richard Boone wants to cook an occasional meal himself. His specialty is beef a la Deutsch—beef strips sauteed with peppers and mushrooms.

"John Wayne will eat anything, but in quantity," Michelson said.

They have ulcers, in about the same ratio as TV stars.

"It's sometimes a touchy business before a production starts rolling—because when stars still are in Hollywood, they have very decided likes and dislikes. And you think boy, if we don't turn out Cherries Jubilee every day we'll be in trouble.

"But once they get to the location, they forget food in their work. They appreciate a good meal, as a method of keeping their strength up, but they scarcely notice what they're eating.

"I guess you'd say that makes movie stars true artists."

Actually, the air of "good sportsmanship" on a movie set in a remote location is much more pointed than it is when a film is being shot in California or New York.

We've observed it often. The more difficult the living and working conditions, the more cooperative the actors. There is a decided "let's cling together throughout this messy affair" feeling.

Except in rare exceptions, who shall remain nameless if not fameless, film stars insist on eating exactly the same food that the extras and technicians eat.

No food, Michelson says, is fried. The movie set is afraid of heart, hips and indigestion.

Everyone wants sweet desserts. Because they are not drinking alcoholic beverages in great quantities while working.

And cottage cheese is a "must" on every set, Michelson says . . . "for the people who have ulcers, and the people who expect to contract them tomorrow."

Florida Citrus Shipping Taking Week's Holiday

LAKELAND, Fla. (UPI) — No citrus fruit will be shipped out of Florida from Dec. 23 through Dec. 30 under a shipping embargo ordered by the Federal Marketing Agreement Committee.

The committee voted to order the shipping holiday to keep the market from being overburdened in the post-Christmas period, when demand for citrus is slight.

Texas Top on Sesame

DALLAS — Texas raises 90 per cent of the nation's sesame seed, which is used as a bakery garnish and a cooking oil. Only 1,000 acres of Texas land were planted to the crop in 1953, but this year farmers are growing it on 25,000 acres, an increase of 50 per cent over 1957 acreage.

Bob Considine Says:

Text of President's Speech? Not in Mexico

MEXICO CITY—We dropped by the press department the government set up in connection with the inauguration of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos, just after the ceremony, and asked for an English text of his nearly hour-long inaugural address.

★ ★ ★

The pretty Mexican girl in charge said, "We don't even have the Spanish text."

"How would you suggest that I get an English text?" I asked.

"Pick it up tomorrow in the newspapers," a greenhorn assistant said.

"But I have to write something about it this minute."

He shrugged and said, "Don't worry, it will be in tomorrow's newspapers."

Father John Considine, the Maryknoll missionary and author, brings up a seldom discussed fact in his remarkably perceptive book, "New Horizons in Latin America," published by Dodd, Mead.

★ ★ ★

He calls this particular point "The United States Catholic indifference factor." As a United States Catholic I was impressed as I read:

"An Argentinian Passionist remarked to me, 'At times in United States rectories I found myself in a fury at the bleakly ignorant statements leveled at me regarding my homeland and the church in Argentina and regarding life in other parts of Latin America.'

"A Colombian Jesuit friend who had studied in a United States college said to me one day in Bogota, 'What is there in the United States Catholic that makes him, despite his lamentable ignorance of South American ways and religious traditions, assume the role of the Eternal Father himself in tending us unsolicited advice as to what we must do to lift ourselves out of our shame?

★ ★ ★

" 'Heaven knows we need help, but why not offer it to us not as masters, but as our brothers?' "

There was a touching moment in the inauguration of Adolfo Lopez Mateos as the 57th constitutional president of the Mexican United States.

★ ★ ★

Former President Ruiz Cortines took the brightly colored red, white and green sash from his spotlessly white shirted chest and attempted to put it on Lopez Mateos. It turned out to be a difficult job.

The retiring president — who was given a much warmer reception than we give our own ex-presidents—made a series of stabs at putting the symbol of office on his successor and failed utterly.

Finally the handsome young and new president took the vestment and put it on himself, reminding Eric Severeid and a few other historically-minded souls of Napoleon seizing his crown from the prelate and coronating himself.

★ ★ ★

The important thing was that once the sash had been adjusted by Lopez Mateos he and his predecessor embraced each other and pounded each other's backs in a manner which we in the States seldom do. It is a wonderful practice, really. We should practice it.

Bill O'Dwyer, one of the most brilliant men I ever met, is doing well in Mexico City as an attorney.

He will never return permanently to New York, where he once tended bar, pounded a beat as a cop, was a judge, smashed Murder Incorporated as Brooklyn district attorney, and was mayor.

He is the most beloved North American in Mexico.

★ ★ ★

O'Dwyer is in the throes of writing a book. I wish I were a publisher.

Roads Commissioner Reports:

'U. S. Motorists Shackled by Inadequate Highways'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Motoring America is shackled by an inadequate highway system, the U. S. Commissioner of public roads told the nation's highway builders.

"We have built history's greatest highway system but it is not enough," Ellis L. Armstrong, commissioner of the Bureau of Public Roads said in an address prepared for one of the 14 committees of the 44th annual meeting of the American Assn. of State Highway Officials.

"We have enough automobiles on our roads to put every person in America in the front seat and still have room for the comfortable seating of 50 million additional people.

"So we're bulging at the seams and straining to free ourselves from the shackles of an inadequate highway system," Armstrong said.

Federal financing of the 41,000-mile interstate highway system was the major concern of speakers. Suggestions to meet an impending 13 Billion dollar deficit ranged from $5 windshield tax stickers to taking the money out of general federal funds.

The interstate system, started 2½ years ago to meet traffic needs of 1975, is 90 per cent financed by the federal government and 10 per cent by the states.

Another panel session was told that surveys show that by-passed communities, often alarmed by the prospects of projected freeways, tend to benefit financially from the new highways.

Turbine Cars in '65, Says Prof

200 Horsepower Motor Same Size as '59 Auto; Won't Need Antifreeze

NEW YORK (AP) — The gas turbine car is just around the corner, a University of Michigan engineer claims.

Prof. Frank L. Schwartz said automobile manufacturers will be able to produce gas-turbine powered vehicles on a mass basis by 1965 if they want.

Schwartz told a convention of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers yesterday such a car would have a 200 horsepower engine no bigger than ones in 1959 models.

He said its fuel consumption would be as good or better, it would need less lubricating oil and would run on either kerosene or fuel oil.

Anti-freeze no longer would be a necessity, Schwartz said, because gas turbines do not have liquid cooling systems.

"With each model of a reciprocating engine which has an increased horsepower, a design requiring higher octane fuels, a fuel injection system which is more costly, the ability of the comparatively simple gas turbine to compete economically with the reciprocating engine becomes more evident," said Schwartz.

"However, if gas turbines are to be competitive with reciprocating engines, they not only must have equal or better performance. They must also be made at as low a cost or lower than that of reciprocating engines.

"Therefore, it is very likely the first production models will be in the low priced, high production automobile.

LANSING (UPI) — State Revenue agents were free today to collect sales tax on cars sold for lease in other states.

★ ★ ★

A ruling that Michigan's sales tax does not discriminate against interstate commerce was handed down by the State Supreme Court yesterday, the same day a proposed revision of Michigan's tax structure was anounced by a citizens' advisory group.

★ ★ ★

The court ruled specifically that a Detroit auto dealer, Don McCullough, had to give the state $7,694 in sales tax money for 154 cars sold to General Car Leasing Inc., for use in Florida.

Solicitor General Samuel J. Torina said the decision, which reversed a Wayne Circuit Court ruling, was "a very important one" for the state.

Hal Boyle Says:

Bootleg Christmas Parties Destined to Rise

NEW YORK (AP)—Throw away that mistletoe. Tear down the tinsel. Forget the holly. Never mind that roundelay.

We're not having an office Christmas party this year. How about your firm?

It appears that the custom of having office Christmas parties is going the way of Mah Jongg and high-button shoes.

★ ★ ★

This will delight any number of overly possessive wives and professional killjoys who for years have denounced the office Christmas party as a threat to the security of the family and the safety of the Republic.

But you will forgive us if we shed a sentimental tear at the passing of a fine old institution which, by and large, we feel has been more helpful than harmful to the business world.

Not that we intend to quit going to office Christmas parties ourselves. We always attend half a dozen or so each year, and we feel fairly sure we will find one or two to go to this holiday season, although to get in we may have to knock on the door and whisper, "Joe sent me."

For the gradual repeal of the official office Christmas party is sure to have one result: The gradual rise of the unofficial or bootleg Christmas party.

Frankly, we started going to office Christmas parties when we first came to the big city two decades ago because we had heard they were Bacchanalian orgies at which bookkeepers made music by beating wine bottles together while stenographers danced around the water cooler with vine leaves in their hair.

This all sounded pretty attractive to us. And, even at our advanced age, it still does. But we have yet to see a Christmas party like that, although we haven't altogether given up hope.

★ ★ ★

The office Chrismas parties we have gone to—maybe we're just unlucky—have all been more innocent than evil. They have hardly been the type that Nero would bring a fiddle to.

It is true that at some parties we have seen a sedate, middle-aged swivel chair jockey, swept by the lurid passion of an unbridled hour, get a little lipstick on his cheekbone. We have now and again seen a fellow earn, and get, a black eye.

But most Christmas parties I have attended have been only slightly wilder than the average big wedding celebration or old-fashioned wake. Some have been milder than wakes.

These office parties have one good advantage. They give people once a year at least a chance to associate as free and equal human beings, not merely as assigned cogs in an ordered business machine.

What if now and then an office boy—or an executive—makes a bit of a fool of himself? A little foolishness has always been held to be good for mankind.

★ ★ ★

What if some of the hired hands now and then take this occasion to needle the boss? After all, he has 364 days on which to returnmake for a better world or help the thrusts. Actually, however, office employes being what they are, they usually wind up patting the boss on his back and telling him what a great guy he is—the greatest.

And when it's all over, most everybody feels a little closer for having broken the routine of office life together.

★ ★ ★

Yes, for all the occasional excesses, we hate to see the custom of the office Christmas party die out. If its passing would really save the whooping crane, we'd be all for it.

But we've felt all along the average office Christmas party, like King Lear, was "more sinned against than sinning."

BETTER EATING BIGGER SAVINGS

Amount of Liquid Less With Honey

Here's a tip about honey which is worth remembering. When you use ALL honey in the place of sugar in a recipe, you'll get better results if you reduce by one-half the amount of liquid the recipe calls for. Just remember that a cupful of honey contains one-fourth cupful of water.

Then, when you put the cookies or cake in the oven, keep a close watch on the temperature, because the honey may cause them to brown earlier than you expect.

A bonus advantage honey gives you in baked products is the effect honey has in keeping cookies and cakes moist and fresh-tasting. The more honey, the longer the cookies will keep—up to a certain point, of course.

Keep Holiday Desserts Light and Pretty

For a delicious low-calorie fruit dessert during the holiday season, combine 2 cups finely shredded raw apples, ¼ cup fresh lemon juice, ⅛ teaspoon each ground nutmeg and salt. Chill.

Beat 2 egg whites until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually beat ¼ cup sugar into the egg whites. Continue beating until stiff. Fold in apple mixture. Serve in sherbet glasses. Garnish with grated unsweetened chocolate if desired. Serves 6.

Milk Poached Fish Good for Small Fry

To give variety to babies' diets and to provide plenty of easily digested protein, minerals and vitamins so necessary to the health of growing children, many pediatricians advise serving fish once or twice a week. These doctors believe that adding new foods to a baby's diet before he is a year old, before he becomes too opinionated, makes a happier baby.

Dr. Benjamin Spock says that by 10 or 12 months a baby may be served a non-oily fish, such as flounder, haddock and halibut. He suggests substituting fish for meat at lunchtime.

If the mother is serving the same boiled, baked or broiled fish the family is eating, Dr. Spock says, she should crumble the fish in her fingers to be sure there are no bones.

The National Fisheries Institute suggests flaking the fish and adding it to potato or rice, or poaching fish fillets in milk like this:

Fish Fillets Poached in Milk

Pour a small amount of milk in a frying pan. Bring to boil. Turn heat down. Add boneless fish fillets. Cover pan and let cook over very low heat, about 5 minutes, or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Serve with butter and a little salt.

It's not necessary to preheat the oven when you are putting a roast into it.

This Frosting Will Go Through Mail

At Christmas time you will have many uses for a frosting that does not soak into cookies or cake and that will keep. If you are sending cookies through the mail, use this frosting.

Special Cookie Frosting

Beat 1 cup very cold butter with electric beater till consistency of whipped cream. Then add slowly the following:

Beat ⅓ cup egg whites (room temperature) for ½ hour. Add slowly 1 pound confectioner's sugar at high speed, taking about 10 minutes. Add ¼ teaspoon cream of tartar and beat about one minute longer. Keep covered with damp cloth until ready to use.

Separate portions may be tinted. Icing can be kept for several days in cool place (not refrigerator) when covered with damp cloth.

Saucy Top Apples

For a quick and elegant dessert; combine cooked, spiced apple crescents with a sauce made of ½ cup currant jelly, ¼ cup orange juice, grated rind of half an orange, ¼ cup shredded coconut. Put apple crescents in your prettiest sherbet glasses, pour heated sauce over them, garnish with a sprig of mint for a delectable dessert.

Cooking terms: Ever see the lower-case initials "f. g." in a recipe? They stand for "a few grains."

Be Ever Wary of Dressings Like These

Watch out for that fine roast turkey or chicken, particularly if your favorite stuffing includes giblets, oysters, cornbread, broth or eggs. The way you treat it — before and after roasting — may mean the difference between a happy memory of a good meal and an outbreak of food poisoning.

Scientists at Cornell University, experimenting with 117 variations of poultry dressings, found that the ones containing one of those five ingredients invited the fastest growth of food-poisoning staphylococci bacteria.

Home economists for years have been leary of poultry dressings — particularly those cooked inside of large turkeys.

There is always a danger of food poisoning when, as in the case of large birds, it is almost impossible to get the inside hot enough to kill food poisoning organisms.

The longer a bird is held before or after cooking, the greater the danger of food-poisoning, say the experts. A less happy climate for bacteria increase is one of high acidity. The experts say stuffing can be made less alkaline — and therefore safer — by adding such food as orange juice, raisins, dried chopped apricots, or raw chopped cranberries.

Cook the bird well, and keep it constantly under refrigeration, advise the experts.

Put These in Your Cookie Jar

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Goody! Goody! It's Christmas cookie time again. We get as much fun out of it every year as a small child does with a lollipop. Invariably, we sample so many cookies that a diet is in order after the holidays. But it always seems worth it.

* * *

Read through a book of Christmas cookie recipes and the very names make your mouth water. Lebkuchen, Springerle, Pfeffernesse, Nurnberger; they all have their place on your cookie tray. But today we're discussing American Christmas cookie recipes.

Our cook in the picture loves to fuss with fancy cookies and has plenty of patience to make intricate goodies. Mrs. Jimmie Taylor is often called on to provide cookies for the Urban League Guild teas. She does church work and is president of her garden club.

These drop cookies, decorated with candied fruit or nuts are crisp when they come from the oven. They will keep well in a tightly closed tin. They are delicious.

CHRISTMAS DROP COOKIES

By Mrs. Jimmie Taylor

1 cup butter or margarine
1½ cups brown sugar
2 eggs
½ cup coconut
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup raw oatmeal
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
1 pound dates, cut in pieces

Use ½ cup of the flour to flour the dates. Mix all ingredients together. Drop by teaspoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Decorate with a piece of candied fruit or a nut half. Bake 12 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 3-4 dozen cookies.

* * *

Small meringues or kisses are always nice to put on a plate of cookies. These are chocolate flavored.

Semi-Sweet Kisses

1 package (6 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate bits
3 egg whites
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup sugar
½ cup crumbled salted crackers or finely chopped blanched almonds

Melt chocolate over hot (not boiling) water. Cool for five minutes. Combine and beat stiff, but not dry, the egg whites and vanilla. Gradually beat in the sugar and continue beating until mixture is very stiff. Fold in crumbled crackers or almonds and cooled chocolate.

Drop by teaspoonfuls on greased cookie sheet. Bake 10-12 minutes at 350 degrees. Makes 4 dozen cookies.

This last cookie recipe has toasted sesame seeds right in the dough. They are rolled cookies, the kind you can use for fancy Christmas shapes. The sesame seeds give the cookies a wonderful flavor that is different from anything else you have ever tasted.

Sesame Marvels

2½ cups sifted enriched flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¾ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups confectioners' sugar
2 eggs, beaten
¼ cup milk
2 teaspoons vanilla extract
¼ cup toasted sesame seeds

Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Cream butter or margerine and sugar until light and fluffy. Blend in eggs. Combine milk and vanilla extract. Add flour mixture to creamed mixture alternately with milk. Mix well. Stir in sesame seeds.

Chill dough in refrigerator for several hours or overnight. Turn about 1/3 of dough out on floured board or pastry cloth. Roll out about ⅛ inch thick. Cut with floured 2-inch cookie cutter.

Bake on ungreased baking sheets in moderate oven (350 degrees) 12 to 15 minutes. Makes about 7 dozen 2-inch cookies.

To toast, spread sesame seeds in shallow pan and heat in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until lightly browned (about 15 minutes).

* * *

If you want any special cookie recipes, do call us at any time during the coming weeks. We'll do our best to help you out. As we write these lines our first batch of Springerle is baking and the appetizing flavor of anise is filling th air. Happy baking to you.

AN EARLY START — Mrs. Jimmie Taylor of South Johnson street gets an early start on Christmas baking. With her fruit cakes all done, she can concentrate on such things as Christmas Drop Cookies. These are yummy with nuts, coconut and oatmeal. Candied fruit and nuts decorate the tops. Mrs. Taylor says they keep very well.

Sauce Can Make or Break a Pudding

In these days of streamlined menus, how many families still have pudding as their dessert on Christmas Day?

* * *

As a child we were always disappointed when we ate plum pudding. We could never find the plums! But we loved the sweet sauce that went over the pudding. It was a thin sauce, much like this one, we suppose.

Creamy Sauce

1 egg
½ cup melted butter or margarine
1½ cups sifted confectioners sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup heavy cream

Beat egg until foamy; stir in butter, sugar and vanilla. Beat cream and fold in. Serve at once. Makes 3 cups.

If you like regular hard sauce, serve it with a flourish by cutting it into fancy shapes with holiday cookie cutters. This recipe has just a hint of molasses in it.

* * *

Holiday Hard Sauce

½ cup butter or margarine
1¼ cups confectioners sugar
1 tablespoon light molasses
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat butter and sugar until fluffy. Beat in molasses and vanilla. Spread evenly in shallow pan and chill until firm. Use holiday cookie cutters to cut shapes.

* * *

This version of hard sauce has coconut in it. Be sure to chill it well before serving.

Coconut Hard Sauce Balls

½ cup butter
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 teaspoons brandy OR ½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup shredded coconut, cut

Cream butter, add sugar gradually and continue creaming until light and fluffy. Add brandy or vanilla and beat well. Drop by teaspoon into coconut and roll into ¾-inch balls. Chill before serving.

* * *

A short-cut recipe for a delicious pudding sauce makes use of commercially prepared eggnog.

Eggnog Sauce Supreme

2 cups commercially prepared eggnog
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon vanilla or rum or brandy extract

Slowly stir eggnog into cornstarch; blend well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens and boils 1 minute; stir in flavoring. Serve spooned over hot steamed pudding, or chill well and serve as a sauce for fruits or cake squares. Makes 2 cups sauce.

Toast Them First

If macaroons are too soft to crush (when you want to crumble them to use in such a dessert as Biscuit Tortoni), toast them in a hot oven, then cool, and you'll be able to crumb them.

Grate Cheese, Mix Into Meat Balls

Nice change after the leftover holiday turkey is gone!

Special Meat Balls

2 eggs
¾ pound ground lean beef
¼ pound ground lean pork
1 cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ cup grated sharp Romano cheese
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
¼ cup olive or peanut oil

In a medium-sized mixing bowl, beat eggs enough to combine yolks and whites. Add beef, pork, bread crumbs, cheese, milk and salt; mix well. Shape into small balls — about 1½ inches in diameter.

Heat oil in heavy 10-inch skillet; add meat balls and brown rapidly. Add to the tomato sauce that is to be served with the spaghetti and simmer meat balls in it for 15 minutes.

Pumpkin Bread What Next?

Here's a quick bread to add lots of appeal to luncheon and dinner menus. Spicy Pumpkin-Nut Bread tastes likes its name. Cinnamon, cloves and mace accent the tempting pumpkin-nut flavor.

Spicy Pumpkin-Nut Bread

2½ cups sifted enriched flour
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
½ teaspoon mace
½ teaspoon soda
1 cup chopped pecans
½ cup shortening
1 cup brown sugar
2 eggs
1 cup buttermilk or sour milk
¾ cup mashed cooked pumpkin

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt, spices and soda. Mix in pecans. Cream together shortening and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs and beat well. Combine buttermilk or sour milk and pumpkin. Add to creamed mixture alternately with flour mixture.

Turn batter into well greased 5½x9½-inch loaf pan. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes.

Makes 1 loaf.

Apple Cider Glazes Frozen Chicken Parts

While cider is still in season, enjoy its clear apple flavor in this good recipe for spicy glazed chicken:

Thaw 2 packages (1-pound size) frozen chicken breasts, thighs or drumsticks as directed on package. Brown chicken in 2 tablespoons butter or margarine. Add 1 cup apple cider, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, dash black pepper, and 2 whole cloves. Cover and cook over low heat about 45 minutes, or until tender. Turn chicken and baste with sauce often. Remove cloves before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Peaches and Sherbet Share Same Spices

Spiced peaches with spicy sherbet makes a wonderful accompaniment for almost any holiday meat course. It is especially good with roast chicken or turkey, or roast pork or lamb.

* * *

This treat is easy to make. A can of cling peach halves, some whole spices and a little vinegar become delicious spiced peaches in only 10 minutes. The spicy sherbet is easy too.

Spiced Peaches with Spicy Sherbet

1 No. 2½ can cling peach halves
1 teaspoon whole cloves
1 (3-inch) stick cinnamon
2 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Drain syrup from peaches into sauce pan. Add cloves, cinnamon and vinegar, and boil slowly 5 minutes. Add peaches and cook gently 5 minutes longer.

* * *

Allow to stand several hours or overnight. Then, strain off syrup, add lemon juice and pour into freezing tray. Place in freezing compartment with control set at lowest temperature. Freeze until barely firm.

Turn out into chilled bowl and beat until smooth and fluffy. Return to freezing compartment and freeze to desired consistency. Reset temperature control to normal.

* * *

Serve chilled peach halves heaped with spicy sherbet, as meat accompaniment. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Breakfast Protein Food

Here's an idea for breakfast in a hurry . . . Gouda toast. Toast white or whole wheat bread on one side, in the broiler. Turn when golden and brush with butter and top with generous wedges of high protein calorie-controlled Gouda cheese. Broil just until cheese softens. Serve piping hot with chilled fruit juice and steaming hot coffee or tea.

New Sausage Meal Time Aid

Greet your family at suppertime with a platter of Barbecued Sausage on Rice. Meaty brown 'n serve sausage nestled on a bed of fluffy white rice and topped with a peppy sauce is an easy yet satisfying meal to prepare after a busy day of Christmas shopping. Broccoli from the freezer and a simple tossed salad complete the menu. You may want to add a few Christmas cookies for dessert.

The brown 'n serve sausages are precooked and ready for the table with but a few minutes' heating. They are tender, juicy sausages which are made from carefully selected cuts of meat and tastily seasoned.

A hit for breakfast with eggs or hot cakes, brown 'n serve sausages are also welcome as hot appetizer tidbits or the main dish of a meal.

Barbecued Sausage

8 ounce package brown 'n serve sausage links
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup catsup
¼ cup water
2 to 3 tablespoons vinegar
1 teaspoon worcestershire sauce
½ teaspoon salt

Pan-fry sausage and onion in a heavy skillet. Add remaining ingredients. Cover. Simmer over low heat about 15 minutes. Serve on hot fluffy rice.

Here's Hearty Eating for Sunday Night

You'll never call slices of cooked beef, veal, pork or lamb just "those leftovers" again . . . especially not after you've seen what an unusual role they play in this recipe called Sunday Supper Sandwich.

It would be difficult to find a more appropriate name for this combination since Sunday evening presents the homemaker with many opportunities to experiment.

From the two-fisted man in your household to the hungry teenagers, this Sunday Supper Sandwich simply can't help be awarded their hearty approval.

Sunday Supper Sandwich

4 slices cooked beef, veal, pork or lamb
4 slices bread
Butter or margarine
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
1 tablespoon Roquefort or blue cheese, crumbled
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
1 teaspoon chopped parsley

Toast bread on one side. Butter untoasted side. Place meat on buttered side of bread slices. Cream together cheeses, mustard and onion. Place 2 tablespoons mixture on each sandwich and spread to within ½ inch from the edge of the meat. Sprinkle parisey on top. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees) for 8 to 10 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Surprise in Bun Is Sardines

This is an all-new member of the family — a sardine burger. Made of refrigerated biscuits (the kind that come in a can) with a flavorful sardine mixture baked in the middle, they actually bear very little resemblance to the more traditional burger, the meat patty on a bun. But — Oh they are good! and very versatile, too!

They might be served as the main course at a light supper or lunch. The sardine surprise burgers could be quickly prepared as a snack for hungry youngsters returning home from school, or for the teen-age member of the family when he or she bursts into the house with a group of "simply ravenous" friends.

They take their place handsomely, too, on the platter of hot hors d'oeuvres at a party, or as your new piece de resistance at a club or committee meeting. And the sardine burgers travel well, to a church supper or in a picnic basket.

Sardine Burgers

1 4oz. can Maine sardines, mashed
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1 teaspoon prepared mustard
1 teaspoon grated onion
¼ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup cocktail sauce
2 cans refrigerated prepared biscuits

Preheat oven to 450 degrees or hot. Combine sardines, eggs, mustard, onion, mayonnaise and cocktail sauce. Open cans of biscuits and pat each biscuit into a paper-thin round about 3¾" across; place 10 on ungreased baking sheet.

Spoon sardine mixture into the center of each, moisten the edges and cover with another flattened biscuit round. Pinch edges of each biscuit "sandwich" together, cut a small slot in the top, and brush with melted butter. Bake 10 to 12 minutes or until nicely browned. Makes 10 burgers.

Pineapple Sweetens Pork Sausage Patties

Gather ye 'round and try these delicious Sausage Cornettes. To prepare, simply combine 1½ pounds bulk pork sausage with a 14-ounce can of crushed pineapple. Be sure the pineaple is drained.

Shape this mixture into 8 patties, about ½ inch thick. Dip patties into beaten egg, then roll in crushed corn flakes. Brown patties in melted lard, turning occasionally until done, about 45 minutes.

Try sprinkling hot cereal with nutmeg sugar. Blend ¼ teaspoon ground nutmeg with each ½ cup sugar.

SHERBET IN ORANGE CUPS — This smooth tasting frozen dessert is delightful at any time, but will taste especially good during the holiday season. It is a good way to end a hearty meal. Best of all, the smallest members of the family can enjoy it too. Save your orange halves from breakfast and "carve" them into pretty servers.

Notched Orange Shells Hold Cool Fruit Ice

Excitement is in the air. You can feel it. You can almost touch it. Stars seem to shine more brightly—and the brightest stars of all are in the eyes of little children.

Small wonder little folks are on tiptoe with excitement when confusion swirls around them. They tag along, eager to be part of the fun, the mystery, the festive meals and first thing you know, are overtired, over-fed. Even sturdy grown-ups have been known to wilt during the holidays.

Naturally holidays are family days, so when the high chair is drawn within the family circle, the toddler likes to get a few tastes of those tempting "same as you" goodies. Try to plan some dishes that may be safely shared by young and old at holiday time.

Serve a deliciously simple sherbet such as this Fruit Sherbet in Orange Cups.

Fruit Sherbet in Orange Cups

1 container (about 1 cup) Junior Fruit Dessert
1 can (about ½ cup) Orange Juice OR Orange Pineapple
¼ cup very fine granulated sugar
1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted
Few grains salt
2 large oranges

Combine fruit dessert, orange juice and sugar. Stir until sugar dissolve. Freeze in tray in freezer compartment of refrigerator, with cold control at coldest setting. Stir once after ½ hour. Freeze until firm. Serve in scooped-out orange shells. Makes 4 servings.

Holiday Special: Spoon out portion of this fruity sherbet early for the toddler to avoid chill.

Rarebit Is Different Served on Sardines

Add extra protein, flavor and heartiness to a cheese rarebit with meaty Maine sardines. Melt 2 tablespoons butter; blend in 2 tablespoons flour, ½ teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Slowly stir in 1 cup milk and cook, stirring, till smooth and thick. Add 1 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese and ½ teaspoon Worcestershire; stir until cheese is melted.

Meanwhile heat sardines in skillet and arrange on toast. Cover with cheese sauce and serve to 4.

Sherry Basted Shrimp Served With Rice

Shell 1 pound shrimps, leaving tail on. Heat ¼ cup peanut oil in pan, add 2 chopped scallions, 1 crushed garlic clove, ½ green pepper diced fine, and ¼ teaspoon powdered ginger. Cook until onion is tender, then add shrimp, cook 2 or 3 minutes longer. Add 2 tablespoons very dry Spanish sherry, cook 1 minute longer. Remove shrimp.

Blend 3 tablespoons soy sauce, 2 teaspoons cornstarch and ½ teaspoon sugar into a paste with ¼ cup water. Add to pan, cook until sauce is thickened and smooth. Return shrimp to pan, cook 30 seconds longer. Makes 4 servings. Serve with rice.

Cakes made with honey and baking powder do not usually rise as high as cakes made with sugar and baking powder. Acids in the honey and baking powder account for this.

Spread a slice of bread (after cutting off the crust) with cream-style cottage cheese; cut in two triangles and sandwich together. Spread outside of sandwich with soft butter or margarine and toast in a hot oven for about five minutes. Serve with strawberry jam and tea.

2 tablespoons heavy cream
1 can (6½ ounces) king crabmeat (drained and cartilage removed and flaked)

Melt butter in 1-quart saucepan over low heat; stir in flour. Add milk and broth; cook and whisk constantly until boiling and thickened; cook a few minutes longer. Stir in onion, dissolved turmeric and cream; fold in crabmeat. Reheat gently. Makes 4 small servings. Salt may need to be added, depending on the seasoning in the chicken broth.

Cook Them in Stock

Brussels sprouts cooked in turkey or chicken stock take on a new flavor. Cook 1 quart basket fresh Brussels sprouts in 1 inch stock and 1 teaspoon salt for 15 minutes or until tender. Drain if necessary. Toss lightly with 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and ground black pepper to taste. Serves 5-6.

Add Flavor to Spuds While Heating Sticks

An easy way to give an interesting home touch to a ready-prepared food.

Savory Brown Potato Sticks

1 can (4 ounces) shoestring-style potato sticks
½ teaspoon paprika
½ teaspoon onion powder
½ cup grated Romano cheese

Empty potato sticks into a baking dish — a heat resistant glass one about 8 inches square is fine. Sprinkle with onion powder, paprika and half the cheese; mix. Sprinkle remaining cheese over top of sticks.

Bake in moderate (375 degrees) oven until hot and well browned, stirring once — about 10 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Pie With Cheese

Want something especially good to serve with those little frozen apple or cherry pies when baked? Here's a trick! Bake the frozen pie as directed on the package label, top with wedges of mild nut-like flavored Gouda cheese and return to oven for a minute or two . . . just long enough to soften the cheese.

Vegetables and Sherry Dress Chicken Breasts

Cut meat of 1 whole chicken breast into ½-inch pieces with sharp knife. Heat 2 tablespoons peanut oil in pan, add ¼ cup blanched almonds, saute until lightly browned; remove and drain on absorbent paper. Cut 1 green pepper into small dice. Thinly slice 1 onion. Peel and dice 1 white turnip. Saute onion in the oil, add the chicken, saute until edges begin to brown. Add green pepper and turnip, cook 5 or 6 minutes.

Blend together ½ cup chicken stock or clear soup, 1 tablespoon soy sauce, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, ½ teaspoon sugar and 1 tablespoon very dry Spanish sherry. Add to pan with the drained almonds. Simmer until sauce thickens. Makes 4 to 6 servings. Serve with rice.

Banana Nut Ice Cream

It's almost unbelievable that such a good dessert could be so easy to make. Whip a cup of cream and sweeten with a fourth cup of confectioners sugar. Fold in two 5-oz. jars of strained bananas and ¼ cup chopped nuts. Put in the refrigerator tray, freeze, and that's it.

Wants to War on Cruel Parents

Orthopedist Says Help of Doctors Is Needed to Save Children

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An orthopedist today called for open warfare on parents who maul their children and duck responsibility by blaming the fractures on accidents.

Dr. Donald S. Miller of Chicago said the help of the nation's family doctors is needed "if the child is to be saved and society is to be spared."

★ ★ ★

He cited growing opinion in psychiatry that unloved and mistreated children are most likely to develop into adult criminals.

Dr. Miller told general practitioners attending the annual clinical conference of the American Medical Assn. to be on the lookout for child injuries inconsistent with conditions found in truly accidental fractures.

He said such injuries have been inflicted by parents, baby sitters, brothers and sisters of the victim or even by "the lovers of irresponsible guardians when children discover clandestine meetings."

★ ★ ★

Such injuries are most often found, he went on, in an environment in which at least one adult is psychotic or neurotic and the household unstable.

The irresponsible parents who get caught killing or crippling their children make the headlines, he said, "but what about the chronic cases that go undetected?"

He said fractures of clinically uncertain origin often have been presumed to be the result of scurvy, rickets, syphilis, bone fragility or some obscure underlying disease.

★ ★ ★

But once in the hospital, he said, these maltreated children eat ravenously and gain weight rapidly, presenting evidence of previous neglect. And X-ray examination often shows healed earlier fractures, he said.

He added that fractures from assaults always are associated with other multiple injuries of the soft tissues, sometimes over many areas of the body.

Waterford Group to Stage 2 Plays on Dec. 19 and 20

Our Lady's Players, a newly-formed theatrical group in Waterford Township, is rehearsing for its first stage production.

The group, under the direction of Richard Urban, will present two one-act plays at 8:15 p. m. Dec. 19 and 20 in the hall of Our Lady of the Lakes Church, Dixie highway in Waterford.

Paul McCoy's "Cicero the Great," a comedy in which a wily housewife tries to outwit salesmen with her invisible dog, only to get snarled up in her own joke — promises chuckles for young and old alike. The other play, "The Gift of Tenyin" by John Tumpayne, keeps to the mood of the season with its poetic Christmas story in a unique Japanese setting.

Mrs. Robert Chapin, Leo Pastagna and Richard Urban are cast in the Cicero play. "The Gift of Tenyin" will include in its cast Richard Miller, Mrs. Patricia Urban, Lesley Langs, Maureen O'Mara, Jeanne Licatovich, Judy Ellibee, Patricia Anthony and Kerry Payne.

Director Urban, a Waterford Township resident, is an instructor in English and dramatics at Clarkston High School.

Jumping to Conclusions

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Detective Albert Dodd investigated a complaint that some small boys were smoking long brown objects, possibly marijuana, a caller said. He located the area where the boys were sighted and found a large grape vine with many of its dead branches broken off.

MSU's Hannah Says:

New Source of Income Needed by State Colleges

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Michigan's colleges and universities desperately need a new course of income, John A. Hannah, Michigan State University president, told a luncheon group here yesterday.

Hannah listed two vital needs as:

1—"An assured income for our colleges and universities, far more productive and stable than any we have in sight, if we are to plan intelligently and adequately to meet the demands of the years immediately ahead."

2—"A Long range, well-financed program of capital construction to meet the determined needs of our public colleges and to carry it through to completion."

Large scholarships and boosting student charges are not the answer, Hannah said.

"The fatal flaw in the scholarship scheme is that it offers no solution to the problems of the institutions themselves," he said.

Any proposal that a student be required to pay a greater part or all of the cost of his higher education "is heresy," he said.

"If carried to its logical conclusion," Hannah said, "it really advocates that the state should pay nothing for the support of education at any level."

"It may surprise you to know," he added, "that the statute books of Michigan still carry a law forbidding the charging of tuition at the University of Michigan and Michigan State University."

Colleges and universities need support and understanding, Hannah said.

"They are ready to do their part, but they cannot do the job alone."

Weed Loss 5 Billion

OMAHA — Weeds cause an estimated United States farm loss of about five billion dollars a year—many times the loss from all animal diseases and more than that from destruction caused by insects and plant diseases.

There are currently more than 4,000 persons in the United States who are 100 or more years old.

Boys Enjoy Cool Time in 'Hot' Ice Cream Cart

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Police say two 17-year-old boys here spent a cool afternoon with a hot ice cream wagon. The wagon was reported stolen by one of the boys who was operating it.

It was found abandoned and the boys admitted eating a lot of the ice cream themselves and spending the money collected for the rest, detectives said.

Sydney and Melbourne are the only two cities in Australia with populations of more than one million.

Board Members Eye Girls Ranch Progress

Pontiac Press Photos

Three board members awaiting the completion of Girls Ranch of Camp Oakland, Inc., are, left to right, Carl Barton, Judge Arthur E. Moore, vice president, and Walter Gehrke, president. In the background is the nearly completed building which will house 16 dependent girls. The project, which will be completed in the spring was made possible by service clubs in Oakland County, through foundations and by private citizens.

Larry Bailey of Camp Oakland points with pride to pictures showing the progress of Camp Oakland and photos of its residents and benefactors to Mrs. Arthur E. Moore (center) and Mrs. Walter Gehrke. A similar project for girls to be completed in the spring, will provide a home atmosphere for girls under the supervision of the Oakland County Juvenile Court.

Religious Issue Important—Abby

'Casual Dates' Can Be Deceiving

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: The first time I ever disagreed with one of your answers was when you told that girl not to date boys out of her religion. Just because a girl goes out with a boy once or twice doesn't mean she is going to marry him. I think it is perfectly okay to date out of your own religion as long as you don't get serious." MARY JO

"DEAR ABBY: I would like to say a few words to the 16-year-old girl whose father wouldn't allow her to date boys other than those of her own religion: Please listen to him. He is trying to save you lots of heartbreak. I dated a boy out of my religion.

"It all started with just a casual date. I enjoyed his company and we dated again and again. Before we realized it we fell in love. We were both strong in our own religions so there was no way out. We broke up. Although I'll never forget him, I know it is best. Please listen to your father. He is a wise man."

VERY SORRY

"DEAR ABBY: My mother-in-law has been coming to visit us every year around Christmas for the past three years, ever since she lost her husband. Last year I don't remember when I have put in three more miserable days in my life. She gets "hot flashes" and would take off her blouse or dress wherever she happened to be.

"I have a 10-year-old son and I didn't want her undressing in front of him so I had to watch her like a hawk and when she looked like she was going to start undressing I would get my boy out fast. Furthermore, she'd mention 50 times a day how much my son looked like HER deceased husband, which he does not. He is the image of MY father. Christmas is coming. Should I invite her back?"

BURNED UP DAUGHTER-IN-LAW

DEAR BURNED: I have a "flash" for you. Your home is also her son's home and you should make her feel welcome. Three days a year is not much of a sacrifice.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband has a best friend who talks big but acts small. I recently had a baby and this best friend and his wife sent me the cheapest gift I ever saw. I am ashamed to show it to anybody. The wife of this best friend is going to have a baby in March. Should I wrap up this cheap gift and send it back to them just to show them how cheap they are?" ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: Forget that little scheme: It would only show them how cheap YOU are.

CONFIDENTIAL TO UNCLE MAX: It's not so important to add YEARS TO OUR LIFE as it is to add LIFE to your YEARS

The fat in cake batter has a tenderizing effect. For the quickmix method, hydrogenated shortening will give best results.

A Bit Too Quaint for Today!

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I work in a fairly large office. There are quite a few young women in my department employed as typists, secretaries, etc. It sounds very stiff and formal to call them Miss and their family name.

"Would it be proper to call them Miss Mary, Miss Helen, etc., instead? In my opinion it is much more friendly and still dignified. What is your opinion?"

Answer: Personally I like Miss Mary but I am afraid it is a little too quaint and old-fashioned for a modern office.

"Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to include the names of our children on Christmas cards sent to my husband's business associates? In most cases these business acquaintances have never seen our children and therefore I do not think their names should be included. We always include their names on cards sent to relatives and personal friends but somehow it does not seem suitable to include them on cards sent to business people. What is your opinion?"

Answer: I agree with you that your children's names should not appear on cards sent to people who do not know them.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My employer sends out a great many Christmas cards every year to business firms. He has asked me to write you to find out whether or not it would be proper to address these cards on the typewriter, or must they be addressed by hand?"

Answer: Christmas cards to business firms may be addressed on the typewriter.

"Dear Mrs. Post: At a cocktail party I went to the other day, the waiter came around with a tray of hors d'oeuvres. I took two from the tray but I noticed that everyone else took only one. I felt rather embarrassed and have been wondering whether I did the wrong thing. Will you please advise me?"

Answer: At cocktail parties the hors d'oeuvres are passed around again and again so that it is quite unnecessary to take two at a time, but there is nothing wrong in doing so.

Diet for Teenagers

Know the Power of Food—and Use It!

By RUTH WEST

Vitamins and minerals are tiresome-sounding things. But once you dig a little into the spectacular new findings about nutrition, you find dynamite! No field of knowledge is growing and changing more or faster, or promises more for the human race.

It's a fact: what you eat can make profound improvements in the glossiness of your hair, the brightness of your eyes, the freshness of your skin-tone. Also in your school marks, your IQ, your SA and your chances for making JV.

FEELING LOW?

Did you know, for instance, that depression can be caused by a lack of niacin? The first symptoms are feelings of apprehension, suspicion, instability, forgetfulness. Its effect on the personality is so marked that niacin is called "the morale vitamin."

You can make sure you're getting your share of niacin by having fish often; also liver. Also by sprinkling some wheat germ on desserts, meat, fish, vegetable, salad. Wheat germ is loaded with niacin, also with thiamine — another important B vitamin.

★ ★ ★

The parts of the complex B vitamins need each other just as the parts of an engine do. Heavy stoking up on one part (or several) without the others is thought by many authorities to be not only useless but perhaps even harmful.

Nevertheless, a serious lack of thiamine or vitamin B1, for example, retards growth and causes (in animals, at least) all kinds of mental and emotional upsets. A lack of riboflavin (vitamin B2) shows itself in assorted eye troubles, an oily, scaly skin, a stoppage of growth.

GIRLS LACK IRON

Iron is by far the most common deficiency among teenage girls. Brittle fingernails, weakness, feeling tired, dizziness, and shortness of breath, are among typical symptoms.

★ ★ ★

You won't need iron pills if you eat lots of liver. If you don't, you may want to take iron pills as a kind of anti-anemia insurance—and to give your skin a healthy, attractive glow. Also to help give you the boundless vitality that makes everything easier—from studying to making friends.

★ ★ ★

Did you know that vitamin E's other name is the "anti-sterility" vitamin? Studies at Columbia University showed that added amounts given to animals had a striking effect in prolonging youth, even the life span. Extra large amounts may be needed by the body during adolescence, pregnancy, and menopause.

Richest sources: wheat germ, unrefined vegetable oils, whole grain breads.

Did you know that vitamin A in the body is destroyed without this vitamin E? Symptoms of vitamin A deficiency: dry skin, whiteheads and blackheads, dry hair, eye infections.

Where vitamin A is found: carrots, apricots, yellow squash; all the vividly yellow vegetables. Also the green ones —the darker the green, the more vitamin A.

FOR SKIN BEAUTY

Did you know that vitamin C and vitamin A are called "the skin-beauty vitamins?" Getting plenty of them can make a seeable improvement in the clearness of boys' skins as well as girls'. Especially if you haven't been eating your salads and vegetables.

Vitamin C is essential to prevent bowed legs, spongy gums, poor teeth, and actually helps in the healing of wounds.

To get the good out of your vitamin C you need to lay in a regular supply of calcium.

Watch out for lack of vitamin C and high-quality protein. A study of the diet of 2,550 youngsters showed 63 per cent had less than half their needs.

Have you read that an undersupply of calcium may be what's behind an inability to relax? Some nutritionists believe that tension is often a sign of calcium deficiency. And that, like vitamin E, calcium is related to your sex hormone production: may sometimes be what's behind menstrual cramps.

DIG THAT CALCIUM

Do you have any use for strong, white teeth—to make your smile flashingly attractive? Or for strong, straight bones?

Calcium is the mineral that builds these, too — and there's no substitute for it.

If you're a girl between 16 20, what your body needs is one gram of calcium every day—or 1000 mgs. (milligrams). If you're younger, or if you're a boy, you need more.

Day in and day out, milk and milk foods are your mainstay. With supplements such as eggs, and cheese.

However, if you just gulp down four cups of whole milk to get that calcium, you will not lose weight. True, that quart of milk contains 1152 mgs. of calcium (your one gram, and more). But it also contains 664 calories. Because half the calories in whole milk are but fat—butter fat.

Skim milk cuts those calories in half: 1,212 mgs. of calcium in a quart of skim milk—and only 324 calories! Also, you've taken in 34.4 grams of protein. And you get the same good deal if you drink buttermilk instead of whole milk.

Dye Tablecloth Red or Green for Christmas

If you want a colorful and Christmassy tablecloth, dye an old white one green or red, or the dominant color of your china. If the cloth is one of the old-fashioned large ones, why not cut it down and use part of it for napkins, or dye enough of it a different color for place mats?

They can be hand-hemmed or silver or gilt ribbon can be run along the edge to make the table more festive.

One ingenious homemaker dyed a small luncheon cloth a brilliant green then edged it with three-inch silver ribbon, used it on a table for refreshments when entertaining holiday callers.

Replace Makeup Often, Teenager

Too much, too seldom. The sad but true story of the teenager's approach to cosmetics seems to be "too much makeup at a time, too seldom replaced." Cosmetologists and beauticians agree. Youngsters should use makeup sparingly, never "laid on with a trowel."

And instead of adding on more layers during the day, the old makeup should be removed and new applied. Remove caked and discolored makeup with cotton squares soaked in good quality witch hazel. Carry a small bottle of witch hazel in your purse.

What Young People Think

Clothes, Cash Top Teens List for Christmas

By EUGENE GILBERT
Gilbert Youth Research Co.

What do young people really want for Christmas?

"A new boy friend," replied one girl in a survey we have just completed. "A 1959 Cadillac," was the modest request from one of the lads.

But the biggest group of teenagers in the cross-the-country poll requested clothes or just plain money. Thirty-five per cent suggested clothes and 20 per cent voted for cash.

Only 10 per cent said they like "just-for-fun" presents — more than 76 per cent preferred gifts that are useful.

"If people are going to spend money on me, they might as well buy something useful," said practical Robin Brown, a 13-year-old from Long Island.

But most teeners are not particularly mercenary. Less than one-third said they tried to figure out how much their presents had cost the giver.

CLOTHES, IFF . . .

And regardless of personal preferences, 84 per cent agreed that clothes are the most useful presents — with a big if . . . if they are attractive.

The biggest single complaint about gifts was on clothes — loud shirts, bilious ties, ugly sweaters and zany pajamas and scarfs won a 72 per cent vote on the "Wish I'd never gotten it" list.

Girls muttered about the floods of perfume and costume jewelry that appear under the Christmas tree and boys fumed about cuff links — they'd rather pick their own.

After clothes and money on the most-useful list were books, jewelry, school equipment, cosmetics and stationery.

On the personal preference list, after clothes and cash, came tape recorders, typewriters, luggage an full tuition scholarships to college — each got about seven per cent of the vote.

Several girls requested engagement rings — presumably with a marriageable man attached.

50-40 ON CASH

More than half said they preferred money to buy their own gifts, but a big minority — 40 per cent — said they'd rather have a present for its sentimental value even if it wasn't exactly what they wanted.

The teeners did say that most relatives pick gifts suitable for their ages.

* * *

Oddly enough — in view of their definite ideas on gifts and their preference for cold cash — most of the teeners complained that Christmas is too commercial.

Two-thirds said that Christmas has become a game of trying to keep up with the Joneses' expensive gifts.

Two-thirds of the teeners said they used to believe in Santa Claus, but only half are definitely determined to tell their own children about the jolly fat elf. Almost 37 per cent said they will not pass on the Santa Claus legend and 13 per cent haven't decided.

But only 7 per cent feel their belief in Santa had any ill effects — mostly disappointment when they discovered there was no such person. Most of the group — 71 per cent — agreed with 17-year-old Carole Weber from Los Angeles:

"Santa Claus is a delightful fantasy meant for the young."

Most of them learned there was no Santa Claus from other youngsters or just figured it out for themselves.

Remove Make-Up

The chin and creases of the nostrils can make a pretty face look grubby. This occurs when pores in these areas become clogged with make-up and daily grime.

It is important to pay special attention to these areas when removing make-up.

Sorority Has Party

May Save Marriage

Go to Any Length to Keep Quiet!

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

There is an anecdote from the old Greeks about a husband and wife who could not get along together. Turmoil had been going on through years of marriage. Finally the husband could stand it no longer. He sought out someone to help him. I do not know just who this was but he was no doubt some sage of the time and a forerunner of our modern psychiatrist.

The husband said to the wise one, "My wife nags me constantly; she goes into tempers at the slightest provocation; she is unappreciative. I could stand all of this if she did not talk and talk and talk when she is upset."

The wise one answered, "My dear, unhappy man, the solution is simple. Whenever your wife starts on one of her tirades, just fill your mouth with water and keep the water in your mouth until she stops talking."

The knowledge that no retort would be forthcoming must have been frustrating to the woman who was "running off at the mouth." How many problems in marriage this would solve! Answers and recriminations only add fuel to the fire.

In times of emotional stress we all say things we really do not mean but which may still leave a scar on marital bliss. Misunderstandings and misinterpretations take their toll. What we mean to say can turn into something entirely different when interpreted with sensitiveness or fatigue.

"TALK IT OUT"

Many a marriage would be saved by the habit of holding water in the mouth through tense or emotional times. I have told you about the woman who decided that whenever she and her husband had any sort of an argument or misunderstanding she would not insist on "talking it out" at the time.

* * *

If, after 24 hours, she still felt that it was important enough she would write him a letter which he had promised to answer. Usually after 24 hours it didn't seem important enough, or she didn't care enough or it was just too much trouble.

This is somewhat the same idea as counting to 10 before you speak when you are angry. However, it is much more difficult to get rid of the water in your mouth than to stop counting. Friendships and marriages have been ruined by popping off when the individual is upset.

* * *

Tomorrow: "Thighs Look Bowlegged—A Gain of Weight Will Help."

Ah, ah . . . think before you speak. In times of emotional stress we all say things we really do not mean but which may still leave a scar on marital bliss.

It's Time to Start Checking

The time to check your wardrobe for the holidays is right now. If there are dresses to be shortened, mended or pressed, you've time to do it now without getting rushed.

If accessories need to be replaced, you can shop for a new cocktail bag or a pair of satin slippers without having to take the first thing you see because you're pressed for time.

If you're thinking of a new dress or two, buy them now. Take time for proper fittings and the needed alterations. Check up on your supply of white kid gloves, both short and long. Perhaps some need cleaning in order to look fresh while others should be replaced by new ones.

This is also the time to check on your supply of perfume and cologne. If it's low, replace your favorites. You're probably expecting at least one bottle for Christmas but, meanwhile, you've the holiday whirl ahead. Make sure that the scents on your dressing table are cued to your pretty holiday clothes.

HELEN GOVENIS

And Elegant
Furniture Lines Subtle

There's a heart-warming new grace and beauty in today's furniture. The uncompromisingly rigid square look has melted into a symphony of soft curves and subtle colors.

WOOD INTEREST

There's new interest in exposed wood parts in sofa and chair frames. Walnut and fruitwood lead the field but new lavish finishes of antiqued wood, gold and silver leaf are indicative of the new trend toward opulence.

Cane is another material widely used. It lends itself admirably to trim, tailored designs as well as the more ornate pieces.

RICH FABRICS

The fabric covers are richer, lusher; with deep diamond tuftings, multi-welt treatments and dressmaker details.

This new elegance has not ignored functionalism. Whatever the styling, this new concept is so flexible that it takes care of all seating and room needs.

Age of Wife Isn't Only Telling Factor

By RUTH MILLETT

"Why don't you advise the menfolks against marrying girls their own age?" asks a male reader who claims he has never found that kind of advice in this column.

Then he explains: "My wife and I are the same age. But after 15 years of marriage we are no longer congenial. She is staid and settled, while I am still interested in getting out and having a good time.

"I don't blame her for not liking the things I like. I just think a wife at least ten years younger than I would be more companionable. But a man finds that out too late.

"So why not tell the younger men the truth? Remind them that women age a lot faster than men, and that to be companionable through life a husband ought to have a wife who is at least ten years younger than he is."

That advice might work all right for the men—up to a point. But what about the women?

They are already outliving men and so facing probable years of widowhood even when they marry a man their own age. Think how long they might be widowed if they married a man ten years their senior.

But even from a man's point of view marrying a younger woman isn't all good. Look around you, and for every woman you see who has aged faster than her husband you'll probably see five who are having a hard time dragging their tired, stay-at-home husbands out of their easy chairs.

But even when a woman slows down a little sooner than her husband, time evens the score and the husband's period of feeling younger than his wife is soon over, and they're both willing to slow down.

So don't worry about not having a younger wife. In a few years you'll be glad you haven't got a young wife making you step to her time.

* * *

When you are ready to slow down it will be comforting, to have a wife who is glad to sit beside you in an easy chair.

Dust, Wash Your Plants Regularly

House plants need to be clean to thrive. And dust that settles on them in a normal home is unhealthy for them, therefore, remember to gently dust plant leaves and once a week wash the leaves with soapy water. This also helps control insects.

You can use corn muffin mix with which to make dumplings for chicken stew or fricassee.

State Aeronautics Head Sees New Problems Ahead

Commercial Jetliners Spur Need for Air Control

LANSING (UPI) — The coming of the jet airliner and increasing numbers of small planes in the United States will necessitate more control of the air, the director of the State Aeronautics Department said today.

The air chief, James D. Ramsey, said all aircraft will have to be given proper consideration in establishment of such controls, and controls will not necessarily be restrictive but perhaps on the traffic-light order.

"At one end of the size-speed scale you have the increase in small, light planes and at the other end there are the jet airliners with extremely high speeds. It all adds up to problems of amazing complexity, but don't get the idea they haven't been studied for a long time because they have. It's just that they will have to be solved before long."

There are now federal airways of control in operation, Ramsey said, keeping westerly headed planes at certain levels and easterly headed planes at alternate levels. This type control relies somewhat on the "see and be seen" factor for safety, he said, but with the high speed jets it's sometimes impossible to avoid crashes after two planes are within sight of each other because they go so fast.

★ ★ ★

"Ultimately there must be control at higher altitudes," he said.

There is now control for the high speed craft above 24,000 feet, but this control doesn't affect the smaller ships.

JETS A PROBLEM

One of the biggest concerns is the inability of the large jets to "hold" over airports. Motor-driven planes can circle over airports for some time if they aren't permitted to land on schedule. But the rapid fuel consumption of the jet airliners means a half hour in the air over an airport is sometimes impossible.

These ships will have to be routed so there is a minimum of delay, he said.

"Up to now the jets have been nearly all military and landing at military bases. But now they will be intermingling with other commercial aircraft and, because of this holding problem, it will be hard to fit them into conventional patterns on a large scale."

Ramsey said one way of handling the problem of getting the huge jets up and down through slower-moving air traffic, would be controlled "corridors" in a step-like system from airports to the higher altitudes used by this type of plane.

Similar step-like control areas to the higher altitudes were being set up for Kinross Air Base, and a system was in effect at Sawyer Air Base but later removed.

Jets are coming into vogue in smaller craft also, he said. There is a four-place twin jet now available, and the increase of this kind of ship would add the high-speed factor to smaller craft too.

Consideration is being given present airways structures for full time control, he said. One proposal would place controls on aircraft above 3,000 feet, an increase from the present 700-foot no-control level.

Although the problem of increased air traffic is worldwide, Ramsey said, the problem is greatest in the United States because of more planes here.

Mercy Is International

CANBERRA, Australia — When workers at the town of Cabramurra, high in the Australian Alps near the Snowy Mountains hydro-electric project, recently took a collection to aid the local children's muscular-distrophy center, bank tellers had to take special courses in foreign currency. Donations included bank notes from Sweden, Mexico, Egypt, Viet Nam, Togoland, Greece, the United States, Malaya, Canada, Parkistan, and, of course, Australia.

Both Candidates Win but Get Wrong Job

NEWTON, Kan. (AP) — Albert Nattier sought re-election as township treasurer in November. He was elected clerk.

Jerald Muerer, the clerk, sought re-election—and was elected treasurer.

The mistake — in printing ballots—will be rectified. Next month the two will take the offices to which they were elected. Then they'll resign and the County Commission will appoint them to the offices they actually sought.

Peaches' Gems 'Given Away' for $50,000

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The jewels and baubles of Peaches Browning, a nostalgic name from the Roraring 20s, were auctioned off Wednesday for an estimated $50,000.

Advance appraisals on the trinkets Peaches had collected in a front-paged career of four marriages had ranged up to $250,000.

Gem dealers did most of the bidding and buying. The salesroom was well filled with women contemporaries of the late Peaches.

The auction was a proceeding in settling the estate of Mrs. Frances (Peaches) Heenan Browning Hynes Civelli Willson. She died two years ago, at 46, in her New York apartment after a fall in her bathroom.

She had rocketed to her Page 1 place in jazz age history 30 years earlier with the first of her marriages. She was 15 when she and Edward (Daddy) Browning, a free-spending and eccentric New York real estate millionaire, were wedded. Browning was 51 then.

★ ★ ★

Peaches, whose first name was Frances Heenan, was the daughter of a Columbus, Ohio, nurse. After her 1926 wedding in New York to Daddy Browning ended, she appeared for a time in vaudeville.

Her other husbands were Bernard J. Hynes, a Denver theater man she married in 1934 in New York; Joseph Civelli, a San Francisco department store executive she married in 1941 at Minden, Nev.; and Ralph N. Willson, the scion of a Columbus, Ohio, meat packing family whom she married in 1946. Her last marriage ended in divorce in 1949.

★ ★ ★

Peaches willed her estate to her mother Mrs. Carolyn Heenan, who made her home in San Carlos, a peninsula suburb of San Francisco.

The jewel collection filled three glasses in china cases. Most of the 105 pieces were rings, including one eight-carat diamond and another of six carats. There also were bracelets, necklaces, watches, brooches, pendants and earrings.

Gus Farber, owner of the Diamond Syndicate of California, bought the eight-carat diamond ring at $9,500, highest single bid of the sale. Farber was the major buyer throughout.

★ ★ ★

When a 25-carat sapphire, valued at $4,000, brought only $750, W. M. Spellins, the auctioneer, moaned, "You'd think I was selling costume jewelry."

A diamond bracelet, appraised at $21,000, was sold for a top bid of $7,500.

"Always remember," Spellins scolded his sale audience, "the jewels we gave away here."

Ike Will Meet GOP Leaders

Calls Congress Heads in Try for Party Unity on Legislative Program

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower is arranging a mid-December meeting with Republican Congressional leaders in an attempt to cement party unity behind his legislative program.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon and the GOP managers of both houses are expected to get an opportunity at this session to make any suggestions they may have for program changes before Eisenhower wraps up his State of the Union, budget and economic messages in final form.

Their conference will differ in this respect from a scheduled Jan. 5 meeting at which Eisenhower will brief leaders of both parties on the final decisions made on the defense and foreign aid programs.

With the Republican representation in the Senate and House sharply reduced by widespread election defeats, Eisenhower obviously hopes for more solid GOP backing for his proposals than he has had at time in past Congresses.

The White House conference apparently will give Nixon an opportunity to voice any ideas he may have about the program. His expected bid for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination will be affected significantly by the administration's record during the next two years.

Eisenhower and Nixon apparently are agreed on what they regard as the necessity for holding down over-all federal spending to combat inflation. At the same time both want to keep foreign aid assistance at a high level.

French Weekly Seized by Police

Paper Agrees to Remove Attack on Record of Soustelle in Algeria

PARIS (AP)—The free-swinging weekly newspaper L'Express was seized by police and failed to appear on newsstands today because of an attack on the Algerian record of Information Minister Jacques Soustelle.

The Defense Ministry rescinded its seizure order when the paper agreed to publish Friday with an offending paragraph removed.

* * *

The paper is one of the few anti-Communist journals in open opposition to many of the policies of Premier Charles de Gaulle. It is a firm supporter of former Premier Pierre Mendes-France, who lost his seat in the National Assembly in the recent elections after opposing De Gaulle's new constitution.

L'Express has often been seized in the past for similar attacks on government ministers and on actions of the French army in Algeria. But this was the first seizure of an independent newspaper in metropolitan France since De Gaulle came to power last May.

Perhaps significantly, De Gaulle is out of Paris on a five-day trip through Algeria.

The offending paragraph in L'Express said that during and just after Soustelle's tenure as governor general of Algeria some 22,000 Moslems had been arrested and 3,000 of these "became cadavers."

Reliable sources said Soustelle himself was angered by the Defense Ministry order to seize the paper.

Delivery Truck Sliced in Half to Free Boy

LANSING (AP) — A small boy, trapped by a delivery truck, was screaming. So the truck was cut in half to free him.

The victim was 10-year-old Richard Massuch. The truck was one of those ten cent toy jobs you find in any department store.

Richard, downtown with his mother on a Christmas shopping expedition, found a hole in the truck that exactly fitted his small finger.

Then the finger wouldn't come out. A clerk tried greasing the finger but it swelled up and stuck faster.

Firemen gave it a try but Richard screamed louder. Richard and the truck were taken to the St. Lawrence Hospital emergency room.

Surgery on the truck with tin snips solved the problem. But Richard won't get any trucks with finger-size holes for Christmas.

Admission of Children Under 5 Up to School

LANSING (AP)—The attorney general's office has issued an opinion holding that the admission of children under five years of age to school in a primary district is within the discretion of the local school board.

The opinion was requested by Rep. Ben E. Lohman (R-Hamilton).

The local board has inherent authority to admit qualified persons under the age of five under its constitutional mandate to encourage the means of education, the opinion said.

Nuclear Plane Accident Could Start War—Reds

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union claimed today that an accident to a nuclear-weaponed U.S. plane — such as took place last week at Lake Charles, La.—could one day accidentally touch off World War III.

An Air Force B47 medium jet bomber caught fire on the flight line at Chennault Air Force Base Nov. 26 while carrying a nuclear weapon. The fire did not reach the weapon. The U.S. government has said repeatedly there is no possibility of an atomic or hydrogen bomb being exploded accidentally.

"Accidents of this kind have become routine events in the U.S. Air Force," said Pravda, the Soviet Communist party newspaper, in a comment quoted by Moscow radio.

The Soviet government, Pravda said, "repeatedly has warned of the terrible danger of regular flights of American planes carrying nuclear loads over the territories of a number of states."

Divorced for 9 Days, She's Still With Him

LONDON (AP)—For six years Mrs. Margaret Lingham-French took husband John his morning cup of tea in bed. She was still doing it this morning though they were divorced nine days ago.

"It's hard to break the habits of six years of marriage," explained Mrs. Lingham-French, dark-haired and 36. "Even though we are divorced, I still cook his meals and do the washing up. And when I've done the washing up, I'll be darning his socks."

Mrs. Lingham-French won her divorce on the ground of cruelty and moved into another bedroom. But she can't move out of the house because she hasn't yet found an apartment she can afford on the 5 pounds ($14) a week he agreed to give her for herself and their three children, Margaret 5, Hillary 4, and Katrina 2.

Wednesday she went back to the divorce court and got an order forbidding John from molesting her while they are under the same roof.

"I'm still very fond of him," she confessed. "When he's being pleasant, he can be very good company."

Hope of Special Session of Legislature Fades

LANSING (AP) — Chances dimmed today for a special session of the Legislature later this month on increasing lawmakers' salaries, now $5,000 a year counting a flat $1,000 for expenses.

Rep. James Goulette, Republican lame duck from Iron Mountain and chief promoter of the idea, said procedural questions had arisen that cast some doubt on whether he could muster the necessary support. In addition, the passing of time—with the new Legislature due in Jan. 14—worked against the plan.

Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Every year the All-America teams selected bring about many interesting observations.

Very seldom we can find a candidate who is a unanimous choice. Checking eight different All-America teams this year we found only one player who made a clean sweep.

Much to our surprise, Pete Dawkins was not a unanimous choice of the eight publications and wire services, despite his choice for the two top honors in the country — the Heisman and Maxwell awards.

Going over the All-America teams of AP, UPI, NEA, Look, Time, Football Writers, Sports Illustrated and Gridiron Record, it was Billy Cannon of LSU who was chosen on every team.

★ ★ ★

Time Magazine, which claims its team is picked by the pros, lists Joe Kapp of California at quarterback, Dick Bass of College of Pacific and Cannon at halfbacks and Bob White of Ohio State at fullback.

The publication goes on to say that Lou Grosscup of Utah is preferred over Randy Duncan of Iowa at quarterback by the pros. Time's team was the only one which did not have Dawkins on the first unit.

Best choice at end was Buddy Dial of Rice, who also made seven of the eight different All-America teams. Sam Williams of MSU got the nod on four of the teams, while Jim Houston of OSU was recognized on three and Al Goldstein of North Carolina on one team.

There was a variance of tackles on the teams. Oregon State's Ted Bates made four of the teams for the best choice. The two wire services supported Bates and Iron Mountain's Buck Strom who played for the Air Force. Time magazine's "pro-rated" team gave the nod to Bill Leeka of UCLA and Jim Marshall of OSU.

Look magazine, on the other hand, recognized Andy Cvercko of Northwestern and Don Floyd of TCU as the top choices, followed by Vel Heckman of Florida and Gene Selawski of Purdue.

The guard positions didn't have as many candidates as tackle, but not a single guard got the attention of all eight teams. Pitt's John Guzik was picked by everyone to the first team except AP, which called Zeke Smith of Auburn and George Deiderich of Vanderbilt as the first two guards.

★ ★ ★

Time magazine says Smith is considered by pro scouts as the best lineman in the country but UPI adds Notre Dame's Al Ecuyer to team with Guzik at guard.

Duncan got the biggest nod at quarterback. Strangely, the NEA team, which last year picked Grosscup on the first unit, listed the Utah QB as honorable mention this year behind Duncan, Kapp and Greene of Holy Cross.

The big Buckeye fullback, White, only a junior, failed to get the first team vote of the AP and FWAA (Football Writers Association of America). Detroit Lions' draft choice Nick Pietrosante made the first team in one instance only.

Looking at the first choices of the recent pro drafts, Baltimore took Burkett, the center, Cleveland took Illinois end Kreitling, New York—Grosscup, Rams—Bass, Bears—Clark of OSU, Lions—Pietrosante, 49ers—Baker, Oklahoma back, Eagles—J. D. Smith, Rice tackle, Cards—Bill Stacy, Mississippi State back and Green Bay—Duncan.

Cannon, the unanimous All-America, is a junior. Watch the scramble for him next year.

Dawkins of Royal Oak, Strom of Iron Mountain on Squad

AP Presents '58 All-America Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Randy Duncan of Iowa, the 1958 No. 1 draft choice of professional football, heads the backfield of The Associated Press All-America team announced today.

Teamed with him are Pete Dawkins of Army's undefeated team; Billy Cannon of Louisiana State, the national champions, and Bill Austin of Rutgers, who lifted into prominence once again the historic school where football was born.

First team ends are James Houston of Ohio State and Buddy Dial of Rice. At tackle are Brock Strom, of Iron Mountain, Mich., the key man of the surprising Air Force Academy, and Ted Bates of Oregon State. Zeke Smith of Auburn and George Deiderich of Vanderbilt are the guards and Bob Harrison of Oklahoma is at center.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account the full season's play through games of Nov. 29.

★ ★ ★

The second team is composed of Carroll Dale of Virginia Tech and Monte Stickles of Notre Dame at end; Ron Luciano of Syracuse and Don Floyd of Texas Christian at tackle; Jerry Stalcup of Wisconsin and John Guzik of Pitt at guard; Jackie Burkett of Auburn at center; and Don Meredith of Southern Methodist, Dick Bass of the College of the Pacific, Bob Anderson of Army, and Bob White of Ohio State in the backfield.

The strength of the Southeastern Conference is reflected in three first team selections. The East, Midwest, and Southwest each have two, the Rocky Mountain region one and the Far West one.

The backfield is versatile. Duncan, who led the Big Ten in passing with 66 completions in 111 tries for 898 yards and a .595 percentage, is called by his coach, Forrest Evashevski, "by far the best passer I have ever coached."

★ ★ ★

His season's highlight was against Ohio State when he completed 22 of 33 passes for 249 yards, ran for one touchdown, and passed for another. He was drafted by the Green Bay Packers.

Dawkins, who could not win a letter at Army in his sophomore year, developed into the leader of a great team. He is the first captain of cadets, president of his class, and ranks seventh in his class in scholarship. Stricken by polio in the seventh grade, he built himself into an athlete by using weights. During the past season he carried the ball 78 times for 428 yards and a 5.5 yard average, scoring 12 touchdowns and one conversion.

Austin, an English major at Rutgers, made 747 yards on 145 carries, completed 22 of 44 passes for eight touchdowns and 284 yards, passed for five conversions in six tries, punted 14 times for an average of 35 yards, and scored 106 points on 16 touchdowns and five conversions. Coach John Stiegman says: "Some backs have power. Some are shifty, and some are fast. Billy is all three."

★ ★ ★

Cannon, a junior, was the constant threat of LSU's powerful offense. Despite his 200 pounds he has run the 100 in :09.5, and scored 11 touchdowns and eight conversions for a total of 74 points. He made 686 yards rushing in 115 attempts for a 6-yard average. Coach Paul Dietzel said "It is a fitting tribute for the greatest player I've ever coached."

Houston, another junior on a team that has eight seniors, is called the greatest end in Ohio State history. Captain elect for 1959, he led his team in playing time with 500.5 minutes out of a possible 540 and caught four passes for 127 yards.

Dial, always an excellent receiver, became a standout defensive player at Rice. Over his entire college career he caught 68 passes for 1,205 yards and scored 13 touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

Strom at tackle is the bulwark of a team that almost literally came from outer space to go through the season undefeated and land in the Cotton Bowl. Captain of the Air Force Academy team, Strom is one of a handful of cadets working towards a major in missile technology.

It's Lou's Day on Sunday

Lions to Honor Creekmur

DETROIT (AP)—It will be "Lou Creekmur Day" at Briggs Stadium Sunday afternoon when the Detroit Lions meet the New York Giants.

President-general manager Edwin J. Anderson of the Lions said the Board of Directors will present a gift to Creekmur, who has not missed a single game since he joined the Lions in 1950. His consecutive game streak will go to 168 if he can play the last two games against the Giants and the Chicago Bears.

Creekmur has announced he will retire after the season. The 6-foot-4, 250-pound tackle from William and Mary will accept a position as sales manager of a transfer company in Saginaw, Mich.

Creekmur goes down as one of the greatest offensive linemen in the history of the National Football League. He has made the All-Pro game eight times, and has been selected to the All-League team in six of his eight seasons.

POSSIBLE SUCCESSOR — Will Harridge, who resigned as president of the American League, talks to Joe Cronin (right) who is considered the strongest choice to be his successor. Harridge, 72, has been league president for 28 years.

Hall of Famer Leads List of Several Names

Screening Committee Looks for Successor to Will Harridge

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joe Cronin, 52-year-old general manager of the Boston Red Sox and a member of baseball's hall of fame, is the leading candidate to become the new president of the American League.

Will Harridge, president for 28 years and a league employe for 47 years, resigned yesterday with eight years to go on a contract calling for a $50,000 annual salary.

The 72-year-old executive is stepping down, as he put it, "to give the league the benefit of new thinking by a younger man to handle the many problems facing baseball." Harridge will continue to serve until a successor is named.

Attention immediately focused on Cronin who acknowledged interest in the job.

★ ★ ★

In fact, there were strong rumors that Cronin had the job and Bucky Harris would take over as Red Sox general manager.

However, the league named a six-man screening committee to consider candidates and indicated the decision possibly would be a matter of several weeks' work.

Cronin wasn't the only candidate. Among those mentioned prominently were Bill DeWitt, administrator of the majors' $500,000 Minor League fund; George Weiss, New York Yankee general manager; Frank Lane, Cleveland general manager, and Earl Hilligan, public relations man for the league and Harridge's longtime assistant.

★ ★ ★

Heading the screening committee is Tom Yawkey, owner of the Red Sox and Cronin's boss.

The screening group also includes Harvey Hansen, Detroit president, and John Fetzer, chairman of the board at Detroit.

U. of D. Places Two on Catholic All-America 11

DETROIT (UPI) — The University of Detroit has placed two men on the Catholic All-America team.

Tackle John Dingins of Lackawana, N.Y., and halfback Bruce Maher of Detroit, both juniors, were named to the team by the Brooklyn (N.Y.) Tablet.

Dingins has been a regular for two years while Maher led the team in rushing and scoring last season when Detroit finished with a 4-4-1 record.

Pontiac Golden Gloves Entry Blanks Available

Entries are being accepted to the 1959 Golden Gloves fights to be held in Pontiac over a three-week period including the last two Saturdays in January and the first Saturday in February.

All Oakland and Macomb County boys can obtain entry blanks by writing to the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce.

All boys 16 years of age and over are invited to participate. Training center for Pontiac area boys has been set up and the facilities are available under the direction of Gene Linscott, former National AAU welterweight champion.

★ ★ ★

Al Olsen and Linscott are co-chairmen for the Golden Gloves. "Boys should begin training now to be ready for the first bouts, January 24th," said Linscott.

Winners of the area fights will be sent to Grand Rapids in February to take part in the state finals, from which the victors proceed on to the nationals in Chicago.

The fights will be held locally at Pontiac Central High School, with the regional finals set for February 7th at PCH.

Pro Gridders to Play Rugby

VANCOUVER, B.C. (AP)—The Sun says it has learned that Los Angeles professional football promotors have formed an international rugby league which will open in January and use pro football players.

Vancouver was being considered as a possible entry, the paper said.

★ ★ ★

"Teams from England, Australia, New Zealand and France are to visit the Pacific Coast each year and play four games," the newspaper said.

★ ★ ★

"Clubs expected to comprise the American Rugby League are the Los Angeles Rams and San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League, and Anaheim, Eagle Rock and Venice, all members of a California semi-pro league.

Hope 94-73 Winner

HOLLAND (AP) — Hope, defending league champions, defeated Alma 94-73 in an MIAA basketball game here last night.

Hope's Paul Benes and Alma's Ron Northrop matched scoring production with 26 points each.

Major League Baseball Calls Herrnstein

ANN ARBOR (AP) — John Herrnstein, injury plagued as a Michigan football player, is going to try his luck in major league baseball.

The Wolverine fullback, who never fulfilled his gridiron promises, has signed a bonus contract with the Philadelphia Phillies. Herrnstein, a pitcher-outfielder, gave up his final season of college baseball to sign with Philadelphia of the National League.

"It was a nice contract," he said last night while recuperating from his latest football injury. "It was a little too nice to turn down. I don't want to say how much I got, but it was under $50,000."

It was estimated the lefthander received about $35,000 for turning professional.

The Phillies outbid several clubs to secure Herrnstein. The Detroit Tigers and Chicago Cubs were among those interested in the long-ball hitter.

Herrnstein said he would go to spring training with the Phillies' Buffalo farm team in the International League.

"I'll leave school at the end of the semester in January and plan to return in September to finish up," said the 20-year-old athlete.

A cast was removed Tuesday from the injured knee that kept Herrnstein from playing in Michigan's last six football games this season.

★ ★ ★

He said doctors told him the injury would have no effect on his baseball future.

Herrnstein, a third-generation Michigan athlete, starred as a sophomore fullback in 1956. But one injury after another harrassed him the next two football seasons.

He has been troubled on the diamond by weak hitting. In two big ten seasons, Herrnstein batted only .204 and .250.

But his recently retired coach, Ray Fisher, called Herrnstein the best baseball prospect at Michigan since Dick Wakefield. Wakefield left Michigan in 1941 to sign with the Tigers for $52,000.

"I think Herrnstein has improved wonderfully," Fisher said. "He has everything to do well with. He has great possibilities. But I think he should start lower than Buffalo."

Herrnstein seemed to find the batting range last summer. He hit .367 for a team in a South Dakota semi-pro summer league.

★ ★ ★

The lanky athlete has a fluid swing, but has had difficulty hitting curve balls. When he connected, he belted some of the longest drives in Fisher's memory.

Herrnstein plans to concentrate on outfielding. Pitching never really interested him although he pitched a no-hit game last spring.

Giants Get Jack Sanford

WASHINGTON (AP) — The San Francisco Giants, realizing they must strengthen their pitching staff to become a National League pennant factor in 1959, have taken their first step in that direction.

★ ★ ★

Inactive in the first two days of the major-minor league convention, the Giants jumped into the trade mart with both feet yesterday.

They teamed with Philadelphia to complete a three-player deal involving a pair of pitchers.

The Giants acquired big Jack Sanford, hard-ball throwing right-hander, in exchange for Ruben Gomez, another right-hander, and Vamy Thomas, a catcher.

This was the second player transaction of the day but the only one of importance.

★ ★ ★

In a deal of much lesser degree, the Phillies sent outfielder Chuck Essegian, former Stanford football star, to the St. Louis Cardinals for shortstop Ruben Amaro.

★ ★ ★

"Sanford is just the pitcher we wanted," Giants Manager Bill Rigney said.

State's Top Scorer

Coleman Gets MVP Honor

KALAMAZOO (UPI) — Lovell Coleman, Western Michigan University's star back from Hamtramck, was honored last night at the Broncos' football bust.

★ ★ ★

Coleman, the state's leading scorer and ground gainer with 1,068 yards, was selected by his teammates as the squad's Most Valuable player.

Theodore Nixon, a Chelsea tackle, was given an award as the most improved player of the year.

In an unscheduled award, the football coaching staff commended halfback Bill Taft of Battle Creek for his sacrifice, his spirit and his sportsmanship.

★ ★ ★

The oldest man on the squad at 29, Taft is married, has two children, carries a full college load and works a night shift at a Battle Creek food factory. He drives back and forth 25 miles a day between Kalamazoo and Battle Creek.

The featured speaker at the banquet which also honored the cross country team, was Edward (Moose) Krause, Notre Dame athletic director.

Webb Receives Boxing Honors

NEW YORK (AP) — Spider Webb's knockout victory over Joey Giardello today earned the Chicago middleweight contender "fighter of the month" honors in Ring Magazine's latest monthly ratings.

★ ★ ★

In addition, the slick boxer-puncher was boosted from fifth to third in the rankings of the 160-pound division. Webb stopped Giardello in the seventh round at San Francisco, Nov. 19. Giardello, of Philadelphia, was dropped from third to fifth.

There were no changes during the month in the heavyweight and light heavyweight rankings.

Cuba's Isaac Logart went from fourth to third in a swap of welterweight positions with Mexico's Gaspar Ortega.

Michigan Tech Falls

BEMIDJI, Minn. (AP) — Bemidji State wiped out a 10-point deficit and overtook Michigan Tech in the late minutes for an 81-78 victory last night in a Northern States Conference basketball opener.

Wings at Home Tonight

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Red Wings will try to dump the Boston Bruins from second place tonight when the two teams meet at Olympia Stadium.

The Wings, apparently recovered from their weekend 6-2 and 7-0 defeats by Montreal, could switch places with Boston in the National Hockey League standings through a victory tonight. The Bruins now hold second by one point.

Detroit defeated the Michigan State Spartans Tuesday night, 11-3, in an exhibition game at East Lansing.

Bathgate Aids New York Win

By The Associated Press

Even when Andy Bathgate does not score he plays an important part in New York Ranger victories.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate, the National Hockey League's leading goal-scorer, assisted on two of New York's tallies last night as the Rangers defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 4-2 in the only game on the night's schedule.

★ ★ ★

Bathgate helped Larry Popein and Jimmy Bartlett find the nets in the second period when New York took a 3-0 lead. The Hawks battled back in the third period to make it 3-2 on markers by Ed Litzenberger and Earl Balfour. But Red Sullivan broke away to ice the contest for Phil Watson's men with two minutes to go.

The triumph enabled the Rangers to tie Detroit for third place.

BACK OF WEEK — Bobby Franklin, Mississippi quarterback, was named Back-of-the-Week by the AP for his offensive play against arch-foe Mississippi State last week. Franklin led Ole Miss to a 21-0 victory.

LeBaron May Play One More Season

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eddie LeBaron, the Washington Redskins' mite of a quarterback, is giving serious thought to quitting pro football after another season. But, say his boss and coach, don't bet on it.

★ ★ ★

LeBaron, smallest competitor in the National Football League at 5-7 and 161 pounds, has said right along he probably will retire for a law career in 1960.

★ ★ ★

George Preston Marshall, Redskin president and a LeBaron admirer, said Wednesday he knew no more than that the little fellow planned to play next year. Coach Joe Kuharich, just as hopefully, observed that many a pro talks of quitting after one more year and then shows up at training camp the following summer.

Lions Will Make Money, but Not Quite as Much

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Football Co. will make money again this season, but not as much as last year.

"We haven't figured out exactly where we stand now," said president-general manager Edwin J. Anderson, "but we know we won't make as much. After all, we're not going to be in playoff and championship games this year."

Anderson and other members of the Lions' Board of Directors met yesterday to approve a new one-year contract for head coach George Wilson.

The president indicated that ticket prices, for the most part, probably will remain the same for the 1959 season.

WEDNESDAY'S FIGHTS

CHICAGO—Harold Johnson, 180, Philadelphia, outpointed Howard King, 193, Reno, Nev., 10.

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M.—Armando Muniz, 158, Mexico City, outpointed Jimmy Martinez, 155, Glendale, Ariz., 10.

Wilson Gets Chance to Rebuild

Lions' Football Coach Is Given 1959 Contract

All Assistants May Not Return for Next Season

DETROIT (AP) — George Wilson, who runs a football team with the same daring and aggressiveness that he showed during his playing days, will get a chance to rebuild the Detroit Lions' football fortunes.

★ ★ ★

The ex-Chicago Bear great, whose rookie empire of 1957 crumbled in the early weeks of the current campaign, signed another one-year contract yesterday.

It is believed the board of directors of the Detroit Football Co. gave the 44-year-old coach a pay raise, despite his club's mediocre showing.

President-general manager Edwin J. Anderson said that at no time did the directors think of doing anything other than renewing Wilson's pact.

★ ★ ★

"While we operate on a year to year basis," said Anderson, "we believe every man should have a chance to prove himself. While this has not been a successful season, we all feel George proved himself last year."

It is an old story now, how Wilson took the job that Buddy Parker quit just a day or two before the Lions' first pre-season game in the summer of 1957; how Parker had described the team as "the worst I ever saw" and how Buddy resigned dramatically at a 'Meet-the-Lions' banquet; how Wilson pulled the team together for the division and world championships.

This year, with two games remaining, the Lions have a 4-5-1 record. They must play the New York Giants in Detroit on Sunday, then take on the Bears in Chicago in the Dec. 14 finale.

★ ★ ★

Whether all of Wilson's assistants will be back next season has not been established. There is a chance that one, and possible two, will not.

"Coach Wilson has the complete responsibility for assembling his assistants and he is privileged to do anything he wants," said Anderson.

Wilson said he had not taken time to give the matter any real thought. It will be resolved shortly after the current campaign is over, however.

★ ★ ★

The assistant coaches are: Bust Ramsey, defense; Aldo Forte, line; Red Cochran, backfield; Bob Dove, end, and Bob Nussbaumer, player-talent.

Cooper Takes Spotlight in Pro-Am Tournament

DORADO, Puerto Rico (AP)—Pete Cooper of Lakeland, Fla., will be out to continue his good fortune as the $30,000 72-hole Puerto Rico Open golf tournament gets underway at the Dorado Club today.

Cooper tied the course record of the year-old club yesterday with a 67 in winning $500 as the lower player in a pro-amateur tournament.

BEST IN STATE — This is the 1958 Michigan small college football team which was honored this week in Marshall by writers of the AP. Front row left to right are tackle Carl Elliott, Eastern Michigan; guard Don Pearlberg of Hope; center Ed Tallman of Hillsdale; guard Lanny Leak of Albion; tackle Larry TerMolen of Hope and end Jim Reynolds of Hillsdale. Back Row — end Tom Taylor of Albion; fullback Ron Bekius of Hope; halfback Don VanGilder of Albion and back Walt Beach of Central Michigan. Missing was quarterback Tom Schwalbach of Northern Michigan. Leak is from Clarkston, Beach from Pontiac.

STILL CARRYING — The uniform is different, but the stance is the same for Marion Motley. The one-time great fullback of the professional Browns now is employed by the Post Office Department in Cleveland, but fans remember the way he carried the mail in football.

Bowling Meet Begins Today

CHICAGO (AP) — A four-player team, captained by Glenn Allison of Chicago, last night totaled 1,699 pins for two games to top 31 other men quartets in the "Parade of Champions," a preliminary to today's opening of the World's Invitational Bowling Match Game meet.

The Allison team, working on the second 16-team men's squad, won $200. Pacing the scoring was Chuck Wagner, Chicago, with 247-265 — 512, also high.

Sylvia Wene, Philadelphia, captained the team which finished first with 1,656 pins in the womens' section. The victory was worth $200. Miss Wene led the scoring, with 205-228-433, tops for the evening. Other members were Judy Sakta, Los Angeles, 378; Charlotte Kardas, Grand Rapids, Mich., 378; and Beverly Bowman, Chicago, 376.

Marion Ladewig, Grand Rapids' bowling grandmother, opens defense of her women's division title tonight.

Spartans Open Season

MSU Meets Titan Quint

EAST LANSING (UPI) — Michigan State University will open its basketball season in Jenison Fieldhouse here Saturday against the University of Detroit, with two first-string holdovers in the starting lineup.

Co-captains Bob Anderegg, forward, and John Green, center, are the starting squad members returning from the 1957-58 club which won 16, lost six and finished in a tie for second in the Big Ten.

Lance Olson and Tom Rand, letter winners last year, will be at guard and Horace Walker, ineligible as a sophomore last year, will hold down the other forward.

★ ★ ★

Green is the big man for the Spartans, although at 6 ft. 5 in. he's only average for college centers. But Green during two previous seasons has shown he can rebound with the biggest of opponents.

Detroit's center will be among the biggest, either 7 ft. Pete Corbett or 6 ft. 8 in. Dick Dylus. But both are sophomores and lack experience.

Detroit won 13, lost 12 last year. The Titans beat Assumption Monday.

E. J. "Cap" Holiday, who has been Mr. Bowling around the Pontiac Elks Club for over two decades, was the guest of honor at a bowling party for oldtimers held at Lodge 810 last week.

Some 35 veteran keglers ranging in age from 60 to 75 attended the gala celebration which was held to honor Holliday as well as the others active or inactive whose birthdays were in November.

Holliday, who received several gifts, was celebrating his 75th milestone on the same day. He was given a surprise party later in the week by members of his Donelson Johns team.

"Cap," who has a hand in just about everything at the Elks, works there part time helping operate the bowling alleys. His newest interest is a keg program for youths conducted weekly at the club. Over 120 children of members are enrolled.

★ ★ ★

Some of the other Elks' vets who attended the party were Harry J. Davis, Albert Johnson, Ray Gorsline and Charles "Duke" Farrell.

Gorsline is a past exalted ruler and now a trustee. He was one of the original bowlers when the Elks started league play over 25 years ago. "Cap" and Johnson have been competing 22 seasons and Davis 20.

Final figures in show Huron Bowl wound up 46th in a field of 48 in that big Bowling Proprietors' Association tourney at Southfield. The locals hope to make up for that sub-par performance in Chicago. Next month they go against many of the same big name teams and individual stars taking part in three tournaments in two days.

SKIPPING AROUND

East Highland Recreation had a new women's record set in its Friday Mixed League when Elizabeth Verefh of Highland fired a 601 series featuring a 220 game. She was establishing an average to enter a league at the time. Well, no one can claim any sandbagging there . . . Edwin Hooks, who averages 158, rolled a 177 triplicate in the Northside Community League at Montcalm . . . J. Roll hit 256 and 619 in Sacred Heart loop at Auburn Lanes.

★ ★ ★

Thumb trouble is hindering city star Les Rothbarth but he has a 214 average in the Huron Classic. John Nickell leads with 219 . . . World Invitational starts tonight at Chicago. The final hour of the tourney will be televised nationally over NBC Friday at 10 p.m. EST . . . Eleanor Hocevar tallied 234 and 528 totals at Dixie.

Griff's team rolled 2676 and Huron Bowl 2617 in Imperial Girls' League. Top individual was J. Golh with 236 and 596 . . . Melody Lanes with 48 alleys now open at 10 Mile at Southfield . . . Eleanor Baxter leads Ladies All Star averages with 175. She recently had a 597 series and averaged 188 for three weeks.

R. Lanham 235 and L. Bradbury 647 (men), D. Adkins 239 and G. Greig 591 (women), top scores in Tuesday Night Comics loop at Auburn . . . Cheorge Chicovsky started with 10 strikes in recent 288 game at Huron . . . Jean Round at Omaha, Neb., had an unusual experience when she picked off the 7 pin with her first ball only to have it kick back and knock down No. 10. The other eight pins were not disturbed.

Easy Ring Triumph for Harold Johnson

CHICAGO (AP) — Harold Johnson still is looking for fights. He wasn't in much of one last night.

"I want to fight as much as I can, but I have a hard time getting them," said the No. 2 light heavyweight contender.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, with only six days of preparation, took a lopsided unanimous decision over gangling Howard King of Reno in an unimpressive 10 rounder. It was the Philadelphian's eighth bout — and his eight straight victory—in three years.

THE PLOTTER — Having given the assignment considerable thought, Ingemar Johansson, seated under a painting of Floyd Patterson, says he he will knock out the champ.

Earl Blaik Denies He's Leaving Army

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Earl Blaik, football coach at the U.S. Military Academy for 18 years, says a report he may resign to become a business executive is without basis.

The New York Journal-American said Wednesday a "reported inharmonious situation which has developed at West Point" might lead to Blaik's resignation.

"The same story comes out every year," Blaik said.

He is here for a vacation.

Not Interested, Coach Declares

MEMPHIS (AP) — Vanderbilt's head football coach, Art Guepe, Wednesday night denied he was interested in the head coaching vacancy at Marquette.

"I like it in Nashville. It's cold up there (Milwaukee), and there's nothing to it."

NEW YORK (AP) — Since the other service academies have established a precedent by accepting invitations to play in football bowl games, Army may be next — when the time is ripe.

★ ★ ★

The Associated Press has learned from an informed source that influential elements in the Army would like to see the Military Academy reverse its stand against post-season games. This is due partly to the "apparent precedent being set by the other services."

★ ★ ★

Army, sought by bowl committees on various occasions, has discouraged such advances in the past. And before the Cadets completed their unbeaten 1958 season West Point officials made it clear they would not accept an invitation this year.

Navy and the Air Force "apparently feel it is good for their institutions to participate occasionally in bowls in terms of recruiting all candidates for admission."

★ ★ ★

Navy played bowl games after its 1954 and 1957 seasons. The Air Force Academy, tied but undefeated this year, accepted an invitation to play Texas Christian in the Cotton Bowl.

Unitas Is After Aerial Mark for Scoring Passes

BALTIMORE (AP)—Cecil Isbell hopes that quarterback John Unitas of the Baltimore Colts doesn't break one of his two passing records in the National Football League.

★ ★ ★

Isbell said Wednesday he's rooting for Unitas to throw a touchdown pass Saturday at Los Angeles and beat his record of most consecutive games for scoring heaves.

★ ★ ★

But he'd like to keep the other one. That's the shortest touchdown pass on record—four inches.

National League Talks of Expansion

Draft Plan Is Turned Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Major Leagues take up many problems today running all the way from the unrestricted draft and huge bonus payments to expansion.

The minors go through the motions of formally closing their convention, but they actually completed their heavy work yesterday.

Their most important action was passage of a watered down verson of the unrestricted draft, a compromise proposal by the Los Angeles Dodgers' farm at St. Paul of the American Assn.

Soundly beaten 10-14 was a New York Yankee-sponsored plan to reinstate the bonus rule that would radically restrict movement of players who get $5,000 or more for signing.

★ ★ ★

A free wheeling unrestricted draft plan also was turned down. The vote was 13-11 in favor of the plan, but 18 votes (three-fourths of the 24 leagues) were needed.

The Dodger-backed plan was adopted by a 20-4 vote, two more than needed.

Now the Majors must decide whether they want to go along. The National is reportedly in favor and the American split. If it comes to a tie, commissioner Ford Frick would vote in favor.

★ ★ ★

Under the St. Paul plan, any minor leaguer can be drafted at the end of his first year. However, if he is left in the minors and escapes the draft, he will not be eligible again until he has completed his normal draft period. This period varies from two to four years, depending on the classification of the league in which he plays.

As things stand now, a minor leaguer must have four years experience before he can be drafted from a triple-A or double-A roster.

The new rule will not become effective unless the Majors also approve it.

The Milwaukee Braves are red hot for a 10-team National League. Warren Giles is luke-warm and most other officials want some more cold facts before they say yes or no.

Joe Cairnes, president of the Braves, made it plain today Milwaukee is "100 per cent in favor" of any plan to expand the National League as was indicated with the approval of a resolution by league officials.

The National League announced yesterday it will hire an independent research organization to explore the possibility of expansion among other things.

★ ★ ★

"We're very definitely for expansion," Cairnes said. "We're for it whether it means a 10-club league, a 12-club league or even a third major league. Why stand in the way of progress?"

Giles, re-elected president of the league for a five-year term yesterday, took something of an opposite stand.

"Right now I'm opposed to a 10-team league," he said. "I won't be for it until someone can show me that two new teams will get enough players of Major League ability to present a good attraction.

"I don't want the clubs we have now to be diluted simply for the sake of expansion."

Detroit, Tokyo Seek '64 Games

No Olympics in Russia

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Tokyo and Detroit are expected to fight it out for the right to stage the 1964 summer Olympics now that the Russians have withdrawn their bid.

Russian officials, who had indicated earlier they were willing to stage the 1964 games in Moscow, did not file a bid before yesterday's deadline.

Brussels and Vienna, in addition to Detroit and Tokyo, entered bids for the 1964 summer games while bids for the winter games were received from Innsbruck, Austria; Lahti, Finland; and Calgary, Alta.

The International Olympic Committee will pick the host cities for the 1964 games during a meeting at Munich, Germany, next spring.

★ ★ ★

Russia's failure to bid for the games came as a great surprise. There had been persistent reports that the Reds were planning the construction of new stadiums, including the world's largest indoor arena, in Moscow for the 1964 Olympics.

Some Olympic officials believe the Russians changed their plans because of a disappointing showing in international events this year and a series of scandals involving some of Russia's top athletes.

The Russians lost almost half of their European track and field titles this year, they were humbled by Brazil in the world soccer cup tournament and they lost several world skiing titles to the Finns.

★ ★ ★

Eduard Streltsov, Russia's top soccer star and most popular athlete, was handed a 12-year prison sentence recently for rape and hooliganism while Nina Ponomareva, the Olympic discus thrower, drew an indefinite suspension as scandals rocked the state-subsidized sports setup.

Webb Is Named Boxer-of-Month

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The National Boxing Assn. today gave its boxer-of-the-month award to Chicago's Spider Webb, winner of the only major bout staged in November.

★ ★ ★

Fred J. Saddy, chairman of the NBA's rating committee, said Webb's selection was automatic because "top flight boxing competition was so scarce."

★ ★ ★

Webb stopped Joey Giardello of Philadelphia in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-rounder at San Francisco's Cow Palace Nov. 20. Giardello looked as though he had been put through a meat chopper.

The victory enabled Webb to vault from seventh to third place in the middleweight ratings. Giardello dropped from third to fourth.

Northern Goes to Rochester for 2nd Game

Chiefs in Home Opener Friday Against Detroit Catholic Central

By BILL CORNWELL

It's the friendly home floor for Pontiac Central and another dose of enemy hardwood for Pontiac Northern on Friday evening.

Central tips off its 1958-59 home basketball schedule tomorrow night against an old and respected rival, Detroit Catholic Central, in the PCH gymnasium at 8 o'clock.

The Northern cagers, without a home gym until January, continue their traveling habits on the same evening by going to Rochester to play the Falcons of Gene Konley.

Northern's new court will be initiated Jan. 9 when the Huskies meet Detroit Thurston. Until then, coach Dick Hall's charges will have to do their playing elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

Coach Art Van Ryzin's Chiefs, expected to be worthy contenders for the Saginaw Valley Conference title this season, engage their last non-loop foe tomorrow night before starting a diet of eight straight league games.

The Chiefs begin their Saginaw Valley campaign on Friday, Dec. 12, with Arthur Hill at Saginaw.

For the moment, however, the Valley race will have to wait. The important item of business now at hand is Catholic Central, which always gives PCH a busy time.

★ ★ ★

The Shamrocks, coached by Bill Foley, appear to be more inexperienced at this stage than normal, but in view of past results between these two schools, the appearance may be misleading.

This will be the season opener for Catholic Central and that will be to the Chiefs' advantage. PCH, after a slow start, handed Edsel Ford a 69-60 thumping in convincing and fairly impressive fashion last Tuesday at Dearborn in the season curtain-raiser.

Whereas Central will be favored to take the measure of the Shamrocks, PNH falls into an underdog role again in the outing at Rochester.

★ ★ ★

The Huskies bowed to Lake Orion on Tuesday in their lid-lifter at Orion and Rochester bids to be an even stronger opponent. The Falcons, pre-season Tri-County League title favorites, walloped Milford in their inaugural contest.

New Three-I Member

DES MOINES (AP) — Des Moines voted Wednesday night in favor of joining the Three-I Baseball League along with Sioux City, Lincoln and Topeka, all members of the now defunct Western League.

The decision to give Class B ball a try was made at a meeting of Baseball, Inc. which operates the Des Moines club.

Pontiac Press Photo

PCH GUARDS — There's a starting guard position still available on the Pontiac Central basketball team and Henry Robertson (left) and Phil Rabaja are currently the top contenders for the job. Both saw heavy action Tuesday night at Dearborn when the Chiefs opened their season with a 69-60 victory over Edsel Ford and they'll be ready to go against Detroit Catholic Central here Friday evening in the PCH home opener.

Lead Pistons by 4 Games

Hawks Start Pulling Away

By The Associated Press

The St. Louis Hawks are starting to pull away from the pack in the Western Division race of the National Basketball Assn. on the other hand, the Eastern section has turned into a tight first-place duel between the New York Knicks and Boston Celtics.

The Hawks topped the Celtics 119-110 and the lowly Cincinnati Royals jarred the Knicks 110-108 in last night's games.

★ ★ ★

Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit provided most of the scoring impetus as St. Louis widened its first place lead over idle Detroit to four games. The defending champion Hawks extended their winning streak to five as they snapped Boston's victory skein at six.

St. Louis defeated the Celts in a best-of-seven series in winning the championship last season. This year the Hawks have won their only two games with Boston.

★ ★ ★

Hagan clicked for 39 points and Pettit contributed 34 as the Hawks came from behind with a torrid fourth quarter drive in which they outscored the Celts 41-27. Boston trailed 58-51 at halftime, but rallied in the third period and held an 83-78 lead at the end of the stanza.

★ ★ ★

Bill Sharman was high for the Celts with 28 points. Rookie Bennie Swain added 22.

A pair of field goals in the last 58 seconds by rookie Vern Hatton gave Cincinnati its fourth victory of the season — two over the Knicks — as the Royals broke a five game losing streak. A turnout of only 756 saw the game in Cincinnati's 15,000-seat garden.

★ ★ ★

Arlen Bockhorn, who ignited the Royals with a 15-point opening period, gained team scoring honors with 23. Kenny Sears finished with the same total for New York.

Prep Wrestling Begins Tonight

Pontiac Northern Hosts Walled Lake Team in New Gym

Three area schools open their wrestling seasons tonight and two others follow Friday as the sport heads into its 3rd big year around Oakland County.

★ ★ ★

Topping the opening action will be the initial appearance of a Pontiac Northern team in the mat game. The Huskies will host Walled Lake in the 1st sports event to be held in the new PNH gym.

Jerry Fields, 145, is the only Northern grappler who wrestled at Central. Others who have looked good in drills are George Graves, 165; heavyweight Bill Green and Ralph Clausen, a 127-pounder. The opener will start at 7 p.m. Walled Lake is starting its 2nd season.

Southfield will also swing into action tonight at home against Detroit Thurston.

An interesting Friday match will have Cranbrook invading annual power Hazel Park. The others follow next week.

Farmington started its season successfully last night by easily drubbing Edsel Ford 32-13 after romping to a 22-0 lead. Dennis Staley and Dan Ressler scored pins while Greg Christopher, Don Hendry, Tom Peckham, Les Rackov and Frank DePodesta all won decisions for Farmington.

Colt Ray Krouse Awaits 3rd Title Tilt in 3 Years

BALTIMORE (AP) — Good things come in threes? Tackle Ray Krouse of the Baltimore Colts hopes they do—and so do his teammates.

★ ★ ★

When the Colts take the field Dec. 28 for the National Football League title game, Krouse will be making his third consecutive appearance in the year-end classic —all with different teams.

★ ★ ★

The former University of Maryland lineman was with the New York Giants when they won the world title in 1956. He was traded to Detroit in 1957 and the Lions took all the marbles.

Now, or so the Colts figure, it's time for No. 3.

Black Mountain Host to Regional Ski Meet

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (UPI) — The Central U.S. Ski Association regional meet will be held at Black Mountain Ski Area Feb. 7-8.

The sponsoring Bi-County Winter Sports Association said competition will be held in four classes. The 10 skiers in each class making the best scores will qualify for the Central U.S. Ski Association championships. The regional is expected to attract some 150 skiers.

Black Mountain is located in Cheboygan County midway between Cheboygan, Onaway and Rogers City.

Burton Wildcats' MVP

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—Junior halfback Don Burton of Springfield, Ohio, last night was named Northwestern's most valuable football player for the 1958 season by his teammates.

Hennon of Pitt, Wolfpack's Pucillo Pace Important Victories

Little Men Have Big Night on Hardwoods

By The Associated Press

It doesn't happen often, but sometimes the little men come up with the big night in college basketball.

It was that way last night when All-America Don Hennon of Pittsburgh and Lou Pucillo of North Carolina State paced their teams to important victories.

* * *

Hennon, the 5-8½ sharpshooter, scored 41 points as the Panthers defeated Ohio State 73-70. Pucillo, 5-9, popped in a one-hand jump shot with two seconds remaining to give the Wolfpack a 55-53 victory over Maryland in an Atlantic Coast Conference tilt.

In other games on the third night of the young campaign, North Carolina, tabbed as ACC favorites along with NC State and Maryland, whipped Clemson 83-67. Texas Tech, a Southwest Conference power, beat Oklahoma 73-64. Georgia edged Florida 66-63 in the Southeastern Conference and Notre Dame opened its season by walloping Bellarmine of Louisville, Ky. 87-55.

* * *

It was also a big night for the Ivy League as six of its teams won handily. The scores: Princeton 68, Hofstra 58; Yale 69, Springfield, Mass. 54; Cornell 62, Buffalo 52; Dartmouth 82, Vermont 64; Penn 63, Rutgers 55 and Columbia 64, CCNY 56.

Hennon poured in 16 field goals and nine free throws for his second highest one-game scoring performance of his career. He had 45 points against Duke last year. Don had six straight points after Ohio State had pulled into a 53-52 lead.

Pucillo's dramatic basket was his sixth in a second half rally that brought North Carolina State its second victory of the season. Maryland tied the score at 53—all with 21 seconds left until Pucillo let go with his shot from the side. Maryland was ranked sixth nationally last season.

* * *

Tom Hawkins scored 39 points to break the Notre Dame career record. Starting his third varsity season, Hawkins pushed his total to 1,345. The old mark was 1,314 set by Jack Stephens over four seasons, 1951-55. The Irish had it easy, scoring seven straight points after Bellarmine pulled into a 5-5 deadlock early in the game.

In an overtime game, Missouri nipped Arkansas 74-71. Sophomore Charles Hanke scored six points in the extra period. Hanke finished with 18 points and was the game's top rebounder with 20.

In one of the night's most surprising developments, Temple lost its first of 25 regular season games, 70-66 to Lehigh. The Owls tied the score 66-66 with 57 seconds left. But Norm Zelenko and Terry Eckert followed with two free throws each for Lehigh.

Elsewhere, Dayton had a tough time, but managed to beat Central State 54-50; Bradley ran over New Mexico A&M 86-54; St. Joseph's, Pa. trimmed West Chester, Pa. 78-64; St. Louis, paced by Bob Ferry's 33 points, whipped South Dakota State; South Carolina defeated Wofford 71-54 and California, the defending Pacific Coast Conference champion, defeated San Jose State 60-39.

AAU Delegates Convene

CHICAGO (AP) — While an Olympic development committee worked on means to improve athletic talent, delegates assembled Wednesday for the 71st National AAU Convention.

Concurrent with the AAU meeting which extends through Sunday, Olympic committees for 15 events will discuss plans for both the 1959 Pan-American Games in Chicago and the 1960 Olympics in Rome.

* * *

The development committee, headed by Tom Hamilton, University of Pittsburgh athletic director worked through the day on proposals to field stronger and more representative Olympic teams.

Recommended at that time were establishment of clinics for athletes, coaches and even youngsters, 10 to 14, and financing of methods to bolster training of U.S. qualifiers just prior to each Olympics.

Whatever action Hamilton's group recommends to the U.S. Olympic leaders probably will be tested in connection with the Pan-American Games.

Meanwhile, selection of various coaches, managers, tryout dates and sites is expected at the different Olympic committee meetings.

Layne Now 2nd in NFL Passing

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Bobby Layne's jump into second place among the passers and the slowdown of Jimmy Brown of Cleveland among the rushers marked the weekly statistics of the National Football League today.

Layne, who now has piloted the Pittsburgh Steelers to five straight victories, was eighth among the passers two weeks ago. But the former Texas ace who came to the Steelers from the Detroit Lions now has bolstered his record to 8.41 yards for every pass thrown, and is close behind league leader Eddie LeBaron. LeBaron of the Washington Redskins has averaged a gain of 9.23 yards per pass.

Brown, held to 12 yards in 11 carries by the Redskins last Sunday, still in the No. 1 rusher with 1,241 yards, a margin of 356 yards over second place Alan Ameche of the Baltimore Colts. Brown is almost 100 yards ahead of Steve Van Buern's former record for ground gained in a single season.

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Missouri Valley, one of the nation's 15 unbeaten and untied football teams, was named Tuesday night to play in the Tangerine Bowl game here Dec. 27 against East Texas State.

Cigar Box Bomb Is Found Under Grid Platform

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A homemade time bomb was found Wednesday under the cheerleader's platform on the 50 yard line at Memorial Coliseum.

Detectives said the cigar box device was professionally made. It was filled with high explosive of an undetermined type.

The bomb didn't go off because of a malfunction in the triggering device, police said.

The clock was set at 2 p.m. The box could have been placed under the platform any time since the stand was erected Nov. 15.

Police said the bomb could have killed anyone within 50 feet.

Interesting Prep Schedule on Tap Friday

Big Hoop Slate Will Feature Local Battles

Waterford to Open at Wayne, Ortonville Invades Clarkston

By CHUCK ABAIR

Several interesting games, between old rivals and play in two leagues combine to highlight tomorrow night's first big basketball slate of the 1958-59 season.

In the majority of cases, cage fans will be getting the first look at their favorites in action.

Such duels as Waterford at Wayne, Royal Oak Dondero vs city rival Kimball, Clarkston at home against Ortonville, Southfield at Ferndale, Farmington at Livonia Bentley, Milford at Walled Lake, Holly at Fenton, Utica at Romeo and Lake Orion at Oxford are certain to draw large crowds.

Others will have Bloomfield Hills at Madison Lamphere, South Lyon meeting Brighton, Oak Park at Clawson, Cranbrook on the road again at Hazel Park, Port Huron host to Flint Northern and Northville at Willow Run.

★ ★ ★

The Suburban Catholic and Southern Thumb will be the first area leagues to get into important loop games.

Orchard Lake St. Mary is at home against Royal Oak St. Mary, St. James of Ferndale visits St. Rita and defending champion St. Benedict is guest of St. Clement in a Friday trio. St. Frederick and St. Michael tangle here at Pontiac Central Saturday rounding out the SCL lid-lifters.

Almont starts another Thumb title campaign at Armada, Dryden goes to Memphis, Capac is at Brown City and new member Anchor Bay takes on New Haven at home in others.

Despite heavy graduation losses, Waterford coach Jerry Wallace has been pleased with the work of his Skippers in practice sessions. Friday's game will be the only warm-up before the rugged Inter-Lakes wars begin.

Dom Mauti at Clarkston will not have a senior in the lineup as he starts a rebuilding project. Ortonville should be tough with scoring star Earl Richardson back.

Southfield is rated strong in the Inter-Lakes with Ferndale always a team to cope with for Eastern Michigan honors so that one will bear watching. Farmington will be getting a big early test.

Orion is fresh from that victory over Pontiac Northern and looking for more. Oxford is lacking in experience.

The game at Orchard Lake may be the best of the Catholic contests. Both schools were impressive in openers Tuesday although Royal Oak was beaten.

The Almont-Armada battle could determine early how the Thumb loop is going to go since Armada is figured the best team to dump the perennial champions from the top slot.

Rounding out Friday's area schedule will be games matching St. Patrick and Royal Oak Shrine, Millington and Maple Grove, Our Lady of Sorrow, Farmington, and St. Francis Xavier and Van Dyke and Lutheran East.

RANGY WOLVES — Bill Powell, left, and Larry Landon, a pair of 6-3 Jayvee graduates, are expected to be in the starting lineup for Clarkston tomorrow night when the Wolves open at home against Ortonville.

New Threat Hits Great Lakes Herring Fishing

LANSING (UPI) — Commercial fishermen on the Great Lakes are facing invasion of a fish, which although not a parasite like the sea lamprey, threatens to drive lake herring from the waters as the lamprey cut into the trout supply.

★ ★ ★

The fish causing all the trouble is the alewife, a lean, sharp-finned pest which has almost no market value but is taking over space and food belonging to the lake herring.

The alewife came into the lakes from the Atlantic and into Lake Erie first by way of the Welland ship canal which empties into Lake Erie and is an important part of the St. Lawrence Seaway. The canal bypasses Niagara Falls.

This was the same route taken by the sea lamprey which took such a toll of trout, virtually driving them from Lake Michigan.

★ ★ ★

A. B. Cook, assistant chief of the conservation department's fish division, said some day nature might shake down this inequality in the "biological scheme of things," but now the trout were heavy victims of this parasite. There is no immediate remedy for the alewife situation.

★ ★ ★

While the alewife is not a parasite, the effects of the "biological explosion" on herring has about the same end result as that of a parasite because it is crowding out the herring.

Cook said once the alewife population was founded in the lakes, it mushroomed greatly, probably because there were no natural enemies to keep the population on a par with other fish.

3 Spartans, Ptacek Named to East Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Three Michigan State players, Michigan quarterback Bob Ptacek and Detroit Lion draft choice Nick Pietrosante will head up the 23-man East team in the annual East-West Shrine football game at San Francisco, Dec. 27.

★ ★ ★

All-America end Sammy Williams leads the Spartan contingent of tackle Fran O'Brien and guard Ellison Kelly.

★ ★ ★

The Irish also placed three men on the squad, Pietrosante, All-America guard Alan Ecuyer and tackle Bronco Nagurski Jr. Pittsburgh was the only other school with three representatives — All-America guard John Gŭzik, end Art Gob and halfback Dick Haley. The Big Ten dominates the team with 12 players.

Strikes and Spares

By JOE WILMAN

Do you have a major flaw in your bowling form? Perhaps you use only two steps in your approach. Or maybe your backswing is as high as the one you see in today's sketch.

First thing you should do is try to eliminate the flaw. You'll certainly do better without it in your game.

If you've tried to work it out, however, and have failed, there is still hope for you. Many top bowlers today have some obvious error in their bowling styles, and they are still top-notchers.

Lou Campi, for instance, is a right-handed bowler who finishes on his right foot. Catherine Fellmeth, a former women's champion, had a backswing as high as that shown in the drawing. Patty Streibeck has one just as high. Don Carter has practically no backswing.

All of these stars became great bowlers despite their flaw rather than because of it. They found they could not eliminate it from their game without hurting overall effectiveness.

So, if a qualified instructor has worked with you to get rid of some incorrect habit, and he is convinced it can't be done, work on your game as it is. Be a good bowler in spite of it, by being as consistent as possible with the flaw in your delivery. In other words, make it an asset instead of a liability.

Engineer's Idea of First Trip to Moon

Lunar Pilot Will Lie on Cushion of Water

(Two engineers, Dandridge M. Cole and Donald F. Muir of the Martin Co. in Denver, recently told the American Astronautical Society in a formal paper that if the U.S. wanted to spend the money, it could send a man to the moon and back within five years. United Press International asked Cole to explain in layman's language what such a trip would be like, on the basis of facts now known. This is how he thinks it would be).

By DANDRIDGE M. COLE
(Written for United Press International)

The pilot for the first American Moon Ship lies in his space suit in his water-filled acceleration couch as the mighty four-stage rocket rises slowly from its launch pad.

His back presses lightly against the bottom of the couch, his slight positive weight controlled by his weighted suit and the buoyant force of water.

* * *

As propellant is burned and the weight of the rocket decreases, acceleration climbs to almost 10 times that of a freely falling body, and without the supporting water the pilot would be crushed helpless and perhaps unconscious against his couch.

* * *

But the pilot is an important part of the control system and it was well worth the extra trouble of the designers to keep him mobile and in full control of his facilities.

Suddenly the rocket pitches violently.

The pilot watching his instruments responds instantly and overrides the auto-pilot with manual control. A short circuit in the control system has caused the rocket to swing hard to one side.

The resultant pitching of the rocket could send it crashing back to earth, but one of the most reliable parts of the control system, the pilot himself, corrects the thrust alignment and slowly brings the rocket back on course.

10 Gs TO ZERO

The fourth stage rocket burns the last of its propellant and the acceleration drops from a high point of 10 gravities to almost zero. While the engines supply a small thrust to permit the guidance system to control the cut-off velocity accurately, the water is pumped from the pilot's acceleration couch to storage tanks.

When the engines shut off, the ship has reached a velocity of 25,000 miles per hour. The powered phase of the moon flight has taken less than 10 minutes.

Now the ship will "fall" toward the moon for one and a half days while the pilot and all the contents of his small cabin remain in a weightless state.

The 36-hour coasting flight to the moon passes quickly for the pilot. He has more than enough to keep him busy in making the necessary navigation calculations and scientific observations.

The United States has paid a high fare to transport the pilot's brain, sensory organs and nervous system around the moon and he must earn his way by performing tasks better than an equal weight of instruments.

* * *

A computer and automatic guidance system of somewhat greater weight than the pilot and his supplies could solve the required navigation problems in a few minutes.

But the pilot has lots of time and he can make allowances for unforseen factors which might upset the results of the automatic system.

The pilot has been carefully selected for his high intelligence, courage, resourcefulness, and mental and physical health as well as for his scientific education and flight training.

A most important phase of his training was that of orbital flights. His two orbital flights, one for six hours and one for two days, have trained him to meet almost any situation he might encounter on his lunar flight.

* * *

He has learned to enjoy the freedom of weightlessness and experiences little difficulty except for occasional "falling nightmares" during periods of sleep.

Some normal functions such as eating and elimination of body wastes are more difficult in a "free fall" and he chooses to minimize this inconvenience by spinning his ship for short periods.

* * *

The spinning motion of such a small vehicle could produce dizziness and nausea if used at too high a rate for too long a time. However the pilot has found that one-tenth of normal gravity was quite comfortable for short periods required for eating, etc.

NEAR THE MOON

As the ship aproaches the moon, the pilot takes some careful sightings and makes a small correction in his course.

He wants to bring his ship down as low as possible over the surface of the moon to permit more detailed observation than has been possible with the instrumented lunar probes.

He is not too surprised to find that the far side of the moon looks much like the side toward the earth since the lunar probes have obtained some excellent pictures.

However, he watches carefully for anything of unusual interest, and directs his cameras toward possible landing areas.

As he sets his course toward home, the pilot wonders what later exploring parties will find.

Researchers Discover How Parathion Kills

ITHACA, N. Y. — The killing method of parathion insecticide has been discovered by researchers at the Cornell University. Seeking to learn why spraying trees with parathion several weeks before insect eggs were laid could prevent hatching, the researchers found: poison vapor seeps into the eggs, then either kills at once or is delayed until the embryo stage, when it disturbs enzyme action, and the accumulating poisons in the embryo cause its death.

Log Cabin Models Sold as Playhouses

HOLDENVILLE, Okla. — (UPI) —L. O. Moore is turning a hobby into a profitable enterprise by making miniature log cabins, which he sells as playhouses for children. The houses are four-by-five feet and 52 inches high.

Moore uses rough pine lumber, the kind sawmills toss away in order to get to the better wood beneath. He makes an average of three of the cabins each week in a small workshop behind his house.

The amateur carpenter turned to the hobby after undergoing an operation a year and a half ago. His occupation is oil field driller.

The American Foundation for the Blind estimates that there are between 11,000 and 14,000 blind children in the nation's schools.

Historic Island of Mackinac Spurns Planes

LANSING (UPI)—The Mackinac Island Park Commission, which vows it will never let cars on its 2,400-acre fortress of 17th Century living, came within one vote Monday of allowing an airplane to touch its soil.

Commission Chairman Stuart S. Woodfill read and said he favored a proposal to allow one plane to make shuttle trips from Pellston to the island during the summer. Planes are allowed in the winter.

Alfred H. Whittaker, Grosse Pointe, said it was about time planes were allowed to land because "sooner or later someone's life will be saved by being able to get off the island in a hurry."

But Mrs. Mariana B. Rudolph, a resident commissioner and owner of a ferry service that now links the island with the mainland, objected.

★ ★ ★

"It opens the whole island to more modernization," she said.

Henry E. Naegley Jr., Saginaw, said he wanted the motion tabled and the commission agreed.

The commission's effort to gear the island to the period of about 1812 appeared to be paying off. It reported that 118,000 persons paid to see the restored Fort Mackinac last summer, compared with only about 10,000 in previous years when there was no charge to see the fort.

The commission already has spent about $50,000 in bond money to restore the fort. Another $75,000 will be spent before the 1959 season opens.

Legal Group Warned of Drop in Students

DETROIT (AP) — The president of the American Bar Association says the legal profession is losing the battle for the "intellectual ability of this and succeeding generations."

Ross L. Malone told the annual dinner of the junior bar section of the Detroit Bar Association last night the nation's law schools face a threat of a reduction in the number of outstanding students applying for admission.

He said the tremendous effort now being made to attract young people into the fields of science and engineering will reduce the number applying for admission to law schools.

Malone said a 1956 survey of high school students in the top five per cent of their classes showed 27 per cent intended to follow careers in science or engineering while only 2.2 per cent indicated they intended to practice law.

He suggested the legal profession must do some recruiting, increase the number of law scholarships and law student loan funds.

Church Next to Charred School

3 Nuns Who Perished in Fire Buried Today

CHICAGO (AP)—Funeral rites for the first of 90 victims claimed by the roaring fire which swept through a parochial grade school begin today in the church a few steps away from the seared hulk of the school building.

Archbishop Albert Gregory Meyer prepared to sing a Requiem High Mass for three black-robed nuns who perished trying to save their young pupils in Our Lady of the Angels School.

Burial will be in Mount Calvary Cemetery.

★ ★ ★

A mass funeral for some 28 of the 87 child victims will be held Friday in an armory in the Northwest Side neighborhood still stunned by the tragedy.

Archbishop Meyer again will sing the Mass. Francis Cardinal Spellman has wired from New York that he will attend.

Other bereaved parents will bury their dead in simple, separate rites, many in the church for which the school was named.

Seventy-two other persons remain in hospitals with injuries. Fourteen were critical.

★ ★ ★

Even as the Mass was to be sung, investigators continued their probe into the cause of the fire.

A top fire expert, Sgt. Drew Brown, head of the police arson squad, issued a report concluding the fire sprang from a smoldering rubbish pile in a northeast stairwell and then raced up the wooden staircase.

But he could not say what started the fire.

★ ★ ★

"We have not ruled out arson," said Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn. He said he also believes the source of the flames was a rubbish pile. "But there is a possibility that a discarded cigarette or a match was a cause. It is something we may never know."

★ ★ ★

Mayor Richard J. Daley said as fire inspectors from Chicago and other cities toured the ruins of the school: "We will make sure it will never happen again.

"When the investigations of the fire are ended, all necessary steps will be taken to protect our children. All the facilities of the city will be thrown into this."

In his report, Brown said he made an inch-by-inch study of the source of the flames in the U-shaped building.

★ ★ ★

Brown gave this account:

A smoldering pile of rubbish at the foot of a wooden stairwell generated heat which accumulated until it broke a basement window four feet above the rubbish pile. The smoldering trash was fanned into flames which quickly shot up the unenclosed stairwell to the second (top) floor. Most of the fatalities occurred there.

Investigators said old examinations, books and newspapers had been stacked at the foot of the staircase.

★ ★ ★

A schoolboy sneaking a smoke and then tossing away the cigarette was one popular theory.

Coroner Walter McCarron announced plans to summon city, county, and state officials, safety engineers, architects and construction experts for an inquest next Wednesday before a blue-ribbon jury.

Forest Fires Decline

WASHINGTON — Forest fires throughout the United States hit a record low of 83,400 in 1957, dropping below the 100,000 mark for the first time. There were 143,000 forest fires in 1956 and 200,800 in 1947. The area burned in 1957 was almost halved, dropping from 6,605,900 acres in 1956 to 3,409,000. Ten years ago fires burned 23,225,932 acres.

Iron Ore Shipping Less Than Year Ago

CLEVELAND (AP) — Iron ore shipped on the Great Lakes this year was almost 32 million gross tons less than that shipped a year ago, the American Iron Ore Assn. reports.

★ ★ ★

Despite a slight pick up near the end of the season, total iron ore loaded at United States and Canadian docks during 1958 was 52,792,715 gross tons. In 1957 the total was 84,596,373 gross tons.

However, as the steel industry started a fall recovery from the recession, shipping on the Great Lakes improved over 1957.

★ ★ ★

American ports loaded 50,601,774 gross tons during 1958.

During the same period Canadian ports handled 2,190,941 gross tons.

Of the 10 major ore ports covered in the survey only Michipicoten, Ont., operated at about the same level this year as in 1957.

But he could not say what started the fire.

★ ★ ★

"We have not ruled out arson," said Fire Commissioner Robert J. Quinn. He said he also believes the source of the flames was a rubbish pile. "But there is a possibility that a discarded cigarette or a match was a cause. It is something we may never know."

★ ★ ★

Mayor Richard J. Daley said as fire inspectors from Chicago and other cities toured the ruins of the school: "We will make sure it will never happen again.

"When the investigations of the fire are ended, all necessary steps will be taken to protect our children. All the facilities of the city will be thrown into this."

In his report, Brown said he made an inch-by-inch study of the source of the flames in the U-shaped building.

★ ★ ★

Brown gave this account:

A smoldering pile of rubbish at the foot of a wooden stairwell generated heat which accumulated until it broke a basement window four feet above the rubbish pile. The smoldering trash was fanned into flames which quickly shot up the unenclosed stairwell to the second (top) floor. Most of the fatalities occurred there.

Investigators said old examinations, books and newspapers had been stacked at the foot of the staircase.

★ ★ ★

A schoolboy sneaking a smoke and then tossing away the cigarette was one popular theory.

Coroner Walter McCarron announced plans to summon city, county, and state officials, safety engineers, architects and construction experts for an inquest next Wednesday before a blue-ribbon jury.

Forest Fires Decline

WASHINGTON — Forest fires throughout the United States hit a record low of 83,400 in 1957, dropping below the 100,000 mark for the first time. There were 143,000 forest fires in 1956 and 200,800 in 1947. The area burned in 1957 was almost halved, dropping from 6,605,900 acres in 1956 to 3,409,000. Ten years ago fires burned 23,225,932 acres.

Iron Ore Shipping Less Than Year Ago

CLEVELAND (AP) — Iron ore shipped on the Great Lakes this year was almost 32 million gross tons less than that shipped a year ago, the American Iron Ore Assn. reports.

★ ★ ★

Despite a slight pick up near the end of the season, total iron ore loaded at United States and Canadian docks during 1958 was 52,792,715 gross tons. In 1957 the total was 84,596,373 gross tons.

However, as the steel industry started a fall recovery from the recession, shipping on the Great Lakes improved over 1957.

★ ★ ★

American ports loaded 50,601,774 gross tons during 1958.

During the same period Canadian ports handled 2,190,941 gross tons.

Of the 10 major ore ports covered in the survey only Michipicoten, Ont., operated at about the same level this year as in 1957.

JPs' Meeting Fails to Uncover Any Complaints

A public gripe session, called by the Oakland County Judicial Assn. to hear citizens' complaints against justices of the peace, attracted only a handful of persons last night.

★ ★ ★

None had complaints. Two of the persons learned that their criticisms were directed toward the wrong courts, as they came to protest against circuit court decisions.

The meeting was held in the Oakland County Board of Supervisors room. James L. Renfrew, Huntington Woods justice and president of the group, attributed the sparse turnout to inclement weather.

A similar meeting will be held in May, he said.

About 500,000 Americans are employed in banking jobs.

NOTICE OF SALE
$2,000,000
School District of the City of Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan.
SCHOOL DISTRICT BONDS

Sealed bids for the purchase of School District Bonds to be issued by the School District of the City of Pontiac, Oakland County, Michigan, of the par value of $2,000,000 will be received by the undersigned, at the Board of Education offices, No. 40 Patterson St., in the City of Pontiac, Michigan, until 8:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Monday, the 15th day of December, 1958, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated November 1, 1958, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $1,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 upwards, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 5% per annum, payable on July 1, 1959 and thereafter semi-annually on January 1 and July 1. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted expressed in multiples of ¼ of 1%. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially on the first day of January in each year as follows: $5,000 on January 1 in the year 1961, $50,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1962 thru 1965, $110,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1966 thru 1968, $115,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1969 thru 1971, and $80,000 on January 1 in each of the years 1972 thru 1985. Bonds maturing in the years 1979 thru 1985 are subject to redemption by the school district prior to maturity, in inverse numerical order, on any one or more interest payment dates on and after January 1, 1971, at par and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule:

$30 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1971 but prior to January 1, 1972.
$25 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1972 but prior to January 1, 1973.
$20 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1973 but prior to January 1, 1974.
$15 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1974 but prior to January 1, 1975.
$10 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1975 but prior to January 1, 1976.
$5 if called to be redeemed on or after January 1, 1976.

Notice of redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in a newspaper or publication circulated in the City of Detroit, Michigan, which carries as a part of its regular service, notices of the sale of municipal bonds. The remaining bonds will not be subject to redemption prior to maturity. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

The bonds are to be issued for the purpose of defraying the cost of erecting and equipping new school buildings and additions to existing school buildings in said school district, and will be the general obligations of the school district which is authorized and required by law to levy upon all the taxable property therein such ad valorem taxes as may be necessary to pay said bonds and the interest thereon, without limitation as to rate or amount as provided in Section 27 of Article X of the Michigan Constitution.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from January 1, 1959 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the school district. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $40,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Treasurer of the school district must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of Dickinson, Wright, Davis, McKean & Cudlip (Claude H. Stevens of Counsel), attorneys, Detroit, Michigan, approving the legality of the bonds. The cost of said legal opinion and of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the school district. Bonds will be delivered at Detroit, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Gambler, Wife Killed in Home

Police Check Past of Millionaire Greenbaum for Clue on Slayings

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Millionaire gambler Gus Greenbaum and his wife Bess were found dead in their Phoenix home Wednesday. Both had been killed with a nine-inch butcher knife.

Today, police scrutinized the past of Greenbaum for a clue. They have not established a motive, but officers said there was nothing to indicate the deaths were underworld assassinations.

★ ★ ★

Greenbaum, who had been ill recently, was 65. His wife was 64. He was president and part owner of the Riviera Hotel, the El Cortez Hotel and the Las Vegas Club in Las Vegas, Nev.

Although a three-carat diamond ring worn by Greenbaum was missing, Detective Capt. Orme Moorehead said other valuables were untouched. There was no sign of forcible entry to the house.

He said the couple apparently were slain Tuesday evening. Their maid discovered the bodies Wednesday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

Police reconstructed the crime this way:

Greenbaum was watching television in his bedroom. His wife had left to drive the maid home. The killer or killers entered, and killed Greenbaum with the knife, taken from the kitchen. When his wife returned, they slugged, bound and killed her. Her body was found face down on a couch about 50 feet away from her husband's bedroom. Her hands were tied behind her back with one of her husband's neckties.

★ ★ ★

Greenbaum, a native of Chicago, came to Phoenix 25 years ago with two brothers and founded a bookmaking dynasty that crumbled in a 1948 police crackdown. He then acquired interests in several Las Vegas establishments, including the Flamingo Hotel, built by mobster Bugsy Siegel. Siegel was slain by underworld bullets in 1947. Greenbaum sold his interest in the Flamingo in 1954 for a reported nine million dollars.

The Greenbaums had one child, Mrs. Harold Tenenbom, wife of a Phoenix insurance executive.

Service Building Dedication Set Here Sunday

Ceremonies dedicating the Community Services Building on Franklin boulevard have been scheduled for 1:45 p.m. Sunday.

An open house and tour of the building will follow the brief ceremony, in which representatives from the community, the United Fund agencies and various religious faiths will take part.

The new building, housing offices of the Pontiac Area United Fund and nine of its locally supported agencies, will be dedicated "to the residents and workers of the area who derive service and benefit from the 55 community service agencies included in the Pontiac Area United Fund." The Rev. Dr. William H. Marbach, pastor of First Presbyterian Church will conduct the dedication.

The open house will last until 5 p.m., and all of the agencies located in the building will be open for public inspection, according to Glenn H. Griffin, president of the Community Chest.

The agencies housed in the building are Boy Scouts, Clinton Valley Council; Big Brothers of Oakland County; Camp Fire Girls; Central Volunteer Bureau; Family Service of Oakland County; Girl Scouts, Michigan Children's Aid Society; Urban League of Pontiac; Visiting Nurse Association, and the offices of the Community Chest and the United Fund.

Construction Shows Unexpected Strength

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Construction activity showed unexpected strength in November, the government reported today.

Outlays for new construction totaled $4,416,000,000, a drop of 7 per cent from October but 6 per cent higher than in November 1957. A joint report by the Commerce and Labor departments said the 7 per cent dip was less than seasonal. Construction activity normally falls off in November as the weather turns colder.

Navy Helicopter Plunges in River

Civilian Killed, 9 Saved After Crash Into Fog Covered Potomac

WASHINGTON (AP) — A big Navy helicopter crashed into the fog-covered waters of the Potomac River Wednesday night, killing one man.

Nine others aboard were rescued from the icy water about four hours later. All nine were injured but non apparently seriously.

The body of the 10th man was found near the wreckage early today, some four hours after the others were rescued.

★ ★ ★

He was identified as Marvin A. Thralls, a representative of Fairchild Camera Co. of Long Island, N.Y. He was one of four civilians aboard the troop-carrying HR2S, one of the largest helicopters used by the Navy and Marine Corps. The others aboard were Navy and Marine personnel.

Jaycee Contest on Decorating Opens Friday

Entries for the 1958 Christmas Lighting and Decorating Contest sponsored annually by the Pontiac Area Junior Chamber of Commerce will be accepted beginning tomorrow.

Tom Forgette, contest chairman, announced today that all entries may be sent to him at 436 Orchard Lake Ave., and must be postmarked no later than Dec. 18.

Entries should list the contestant's name, address, and a brief description of the display. Both an east and west side winner will be chosen and plans are being made to award additional prizes.

The home owner who is judged to have decorated his home most attractively will be entered in General Electric's $5,000 nationwide contest.

"I wish to encourage every family in Pontiac to enter," said Forgette. "Our city will receive many benefits from an allout effort to decorate our homes."

Last year's grand prize winner was Arthur Goyette, 202 W. Rundell St. The west side winner was Erwin W. Newgnan, 28 Oriole St., and the east side winner was Arthur Oxley, 81 N. Ardmore St.

Lodge Says Group Sets Thrifty Example

Sen. L. Harvey Lodge (R-Oakland County), chairman of a Senate committee investigating waste in state government, today said state departments might take a lesson from his own group.

★ ★ ★

Lodge, of Drayton Plains, said the committee had spent only $1,000 of the $5,000 appropriated to it by the Legislature when it was set up during the 1958 session.

Continuing his probe, Sen. Lodge said he had requested an accounting of costs and pamphlets which are distributed through the office of the governor, state treasurer, attorney general, secretary of state and superintendent of public instruction.

★ ★ ★

The pamphlets have pictures of the officeholders, which Lodge indicated was wrong use of taxpayers' money.

Democrats to Pick 2-Year Policy Aims

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Democratic Advisory Council will meet here next Sunday to draw up a policy statement on "the Democratic task in the next two years."

The 24-member group includes former President Harry S. Truman and Adlai Stevenson.

★ ★ ★

The council was formed after the 1956 election to develop and push party programs between national conventions. It has met from time to time since then.

Its meeting next Sunday will come just a month before the 86t Congress convenes with greatly increased Democratic control of both House and Senate.

★ ★ ★

When the council was organized, top Democratic leaders in Congress declined invitations to join.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas said then that as a member of Congress he did not deem it proper to join any outside party group of this kind. But Rayburn said he would be glad to confer with council members and receive their advice.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas took a similar position.

U.S. Has $1.4 Billion in Unused Plants

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Armed Forces told a house subcommittee that the government owns nearly one and a half billion dollars worth of industrial plants that are producing nothing.

Reports submitted to a House Armed Services subcommittee by the Army, Navy and Air Force showed that the unused plants originally cost the government $1,409,391,221 but would cost much more than that to replace now.

The reports said the government is spending about 31 billion dollars a year to maintain the plants.

Families Paint Homes

Hollywood Headlines

'Young' Tim McCoy at 67 Still Hard-Riding Cowboy

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — "I know I could do pictures again, but I also know I could never convince the producers of that. So I've found another field for myself — the circus."

This was the realistic view of Tim McCoy, Hollywood's only authentic Western star. He's a colonel, but not the Kentucky kind. Before coming to Hollywood in 1922, he actually served with the Army among the Indians in western America.

★ ★ ★

McCoy is 67, looks 40, and could outdraw and outride most of the younger cowpokes on the TV range.

Tim was one of MGM's brightest stars (one of his leading ladies was Joan Crawford), later made Western series for Columbia and Monogram.

"I walked out of Monogram to go into the Army during the war," he said. "When I came back, everyone had forgotten me. I decided I wasn't going to fight them. So I got a place in Bucks County, Pa., and decided I would retire."

★ ★ ★

It turned out otherwise. He met and married Inga Arvad, then a magazine beauty editor and once a Hollywood correspondent. When they had the first of their two sons, Tim decided to come back to Hollywood and brave the new adventure of television.

He made a rousing success of a local show in which he demonstrated his vast knowledge of Western lore. He even won an Emmy from the Television Academy.

"That was the kiss of death," he sighed. "Three months later, I was without a sponsor."

★ ★ ★

Films beckoned him but only briefly. He did a cameo appearance in "Around the World in 80 Days" and a one-day vignette in an RKO Western — "The director was working with the cavalry and Indians, but it never occurred to him to ask me if he was doing it right."

★ ★ ★

Then came an offer to go with the Carson-Barnes Circus. Tim had toured three years with Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey, but didn't think he wanted to go back under the big top. His wife persuaded him to give it a try.

"And I've had the time of my life," he admitted.

Tim makes a grand entrance on a white palomino, dismounts to crack a 12-foot whip, shoot balls out of the air with a shotgun, lasso racing horses and perform other crowd pleasers. During the summer months, Inga and the two boys join him.

He'd like to spend his winters making TV Westerns, "but it's hard to convince producers that Tim McCoy isn't 96 years old."

Israeli, Syrian Guns Rumble

Nations Swap Charges on Reason for Hourlong Artillery Duel

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel and Syria swapped charges today over an hourlong artillery duel during which six or more Israeli villages came under heavy fire.

★ ★ ★

Neither side acknowledged any casualties in the shelling Wednesday of villages in the central Jordan Valley, although Israeli residents were terrorized and some property damaged. Both sides agreed that an Israli shepherd was killed in an incident which preceded the duel, but disagreed whether the shepherd was on his side of the border.

★ ★ ★

The gunfire ended at nightfall, 15 minutes after the U.N. truce supervision organization called for a cease-fire. A U.N. report was being prepared.

A spokesman for the United Arab Republic's 1st Army in Damascus, capital of the Syrian Province, said armed Israelis with a herd of cows penetrated almost half a mile into Syria. When Syrians in the village of Raiyah tried to drive out the cows, the Israelis opened fire and withdrew, leaving one dead man in Syria.

★ ★ ★

About four hours later Israeli artillery opened up in a "feverish attempt . . . to cover their earlier unsuccessful aggression against Arab villages," the U.A.R. spokesman said.

Syrian gunners replied with "severe and merciless fire" on six Israeli villages, leaving "undetermined but heavy casualties" and flaming ruins, he added.

Scientists Assume Sputnik Rocket Gone

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—Scientists carefully assumed today that the Soviet rocket which launched Sputnik III into orbit last May 15 plunged to a fiery death Wednesday.

★ ★ ★

The Pullman-car-sized rocket weighing between two and five tons was last seen in orbit Wednesday morning. There have been no sightings of it since.

From Oslo came a report that some people claimed they saw the last ride of the Soviet carrier rocket moving in the direction of Sweden.

Reports from near the Swedish border said a burning rocket was seen in midafternoon.

★ ★ ★

Despite the size of the rocket, scientists said, very little, if any part of it at all, would remain intact as it reached the earth.

They explained that friction from the earth's dense atmosphere would cause the satellite to burn and disintegrate.

The plunge of the Sputnik III rocket leaves four man-made satellites still circing the globe — Sputnik III itself and three American satellites.

Man Forced to Share Pecans With Squirrel

HOUSTON, Tex. (UPI) — Sig Frucht, Houston produce executive, is ready to settle "on a 50-50 basis" with a big squirrel for the pecans on a tree in Frucht's yard.

Frucht said the squirrel had been eating his pecans for days when he caught him and took a swipe at him with a broom.

"Instead of running," Frucht said, "he bared his teeth and growled at me. I thought he was going to charge me. Now I'd be willing to settle on a 50-50 basis with him."

At a joint meeting this morning of the Oakland County Road Commission and Board of Supervisors' Roads and Bridges Committee, Robert O. Felt was elected the new chairman of the Road Commission for the year 1959.

Felt, who was named to the commission as a member in 1948 after 10½ years as West Bloomfield Township supervisor, succeeds Sol D. Lomerson as chairman of the three-man Commission.

Felt's election as chairman becomes effective Jan. 1.

Duane Hursfall, Independence Township supervisor, was named vice chairman of the Roads and Bridges Committee at today's meeting. Chairman is Don R. MacDonald, Sylvan Lake supervisor.

Felt, of 2363 Garland Ave., served as chairman of the Board of Supervisors for two years. The 66-year-old Felt served as chairman of the road commission in 1953.

Other defendants are Lealon S. Karnes, 64, of 822½ Baldwin Ave., and Charles B. Johnson, 57, of 26 W. Kennett Rd.

Examination will continue at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow.

Editors From 4 Sections Meet

'Prosperity Is Snowballing All Across United States'

There is no doubt about it:

Prosperity is back and it will keep rolling along, getting bigger and bigger like a snowball.

New cars are selling so fast in some areas that waiting lists have been set up.

A Democratic regime will mean more millions spent by state and local governments.

So said four newspaper publishers from four sections of the United States, who are meeting in Detroit with the Bureau of Advertising in the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel.

The four — W. T. Burgess of the LaCrosse (Wis.) Tribune; William O. Taylor of the Boston Globe; Amon Carter, Jr., of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, and Jacob D. Funk, of the Santa Monica (Calif.) Evening Outlook — keep a close watch on business conditions.

They also know a lot about Detroit, making frequent trips here.

All were quick to point out that the Motor City, because of its dependence on automobiles was the hardest hit of any city in the economic slump a year ago.

★ ★ ★

"But the most noticeable thing is intangible," Burgess said. "A big cause of the recession was psychological.

"People are more confident now. They are buying again. The new cars are selling well in our area — covering the northwestern corner of Wisconsin, parts of Iowa and Minnesota. It looks like a good year coming up."

★ ★ ★

He got support from Funk, whose paper circulates in Southern California.

"A year ago, people were scared," Funk said. "Now, they are confident. Goods are selling. Cars are selling — so well that a lot of dealers have waiting lists.

"I've been waiting five weeks for a new car myself."

★ ★ ★

Taylor, whose family has published the Globe in the Democratic stronghold of Boston for more than a century, agreed that spending is on the rise.

Taylor said Boston and the entire state are prospering as they have not done for many years.

"Things were grim 10 years ago," he said. "The textile mills were moving to the South and our industries were in bad shape.

"Now we have electronics plants ringing Boston and other new industries are mushrooming. Our economy is back on its feet."

★ ★ ★

The fourth publisher — Carter was optimistic as far as space and car sizes are concerned.

"There's plenty of room in Texas for big cars," he said. "I'm driving one back from Detroit myself."

The Star-Telegram circulates in a 600-mile area of Texas, edging into New Mexico.

"Ranchers have money again, and they're spending it. I don't know that there will be any sharp increase in government spending. We never have had a sales tax or state income tax."

Calls On Local Law to Stamp Out Bigotry

WASHINGTON (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said today hate bombings by what he called criminal bigots can be fought most effectively by local law officials.

★ ★ ★

Hoover thus underscored repeated statements by the Justice Department that no legal grounds existed for federal authorities to take over the primary job of hunting down and punishing those responsible for recent bombings of Jewish centers and racially integrated schools.

However, an editorial by Hoover in the current issue of the FBI Law Enforcement Bulletin also stressed that FBI facilities always are available to help local police in fighting crime.

★ ★ ★

"Just as experience proves that crime is a local problem," Hoover said, "so this present threat can be most effectively diagnosed and combated on the local level.

★ ★ ★

"Citizens in every city, county and state rightly look to their local law enforcement agency for protection against real or threatened violence. This is the primary duty of duly constituted local police authority—the first line of defense against criminal acts."

Cries 'Politics' in Gunaca Case

Van Peursem Assails Williams on Timing of Extradition Order

LANSING (UP) — A high-ranking Republican said today Gov. Williams' order to return John Gunaca to Wisconsin was politically motivated.

"The governor's action must be recognized as a post-election decision which takes the incoming governor of Wisconsin, a Democrat, off the hook," said House Speaker George M. Van Peursem of Zeeland.

Williams yesterday ordered Gunaca extradited to face assault charges stemming from violence in the 4½-year United Auto Workers Union strike against the Kohler Co., Sheboygan, Wis.

Said Van Peursem:

"Wisconsin's new Democratic governor now will not have to face the embarrassing possibility of asking for Gunaca's extradition."

Michigan Republicans have joined Wisconsin Republican governors in asking off and on for four years, and made general election campaign issues out of Williams' refusals.

Van Peursem noted Williams said "independent sources of information," which Williams declined to disclose, indicated Gunaca now had improved chances of a fair trial. He called this "disturbing."

He said reliance in such a case should be put on the word of duly elected public officials, and that he would not like to believe governmental decisions are dependent on secret information.

"Perhaps the next Legislature should investigate the possibility of passing a law requiring the governor to take public action on extradition matters within a certain period of time," Van Peursem said.

He Brags Once Too Often; Now Under Arrest

Miguel Atkins, a Kentucky man who has been staying in Pontiac the past couple months, probably won't trust strangers with secrets anymore.

Atkins, 27, was held by Detroit police today for investigation of the $900 armed robbery of Tom's Market, 888 Orchard Lake Ave.

He confessed being one of two masked men who took $900 from the store safe Sept. 19, after tieing up two employes and threatening them with a sawed-off shotgun.

Atkins wasn't planning to confess when he went to Detroit early yesterday. He had in his possession a knit cap with eyeholes cut in it and a pair of rubber gloves, police said.

Apparently Atkins was looking for a new partner in crime, police figure, since his old one had been jailed in Finley, Ohio, for carrying a concealed weapon.

Hitchhiking, Atkins got a ride from a man named J. D. Washington, told him how easy it was to stage a robbery and invited Washington to join up as a getaway driver.

Washington listened sympathetically, then drove a few blocks to the nearest precinct station escorted Atkins in and arrested him.

Making the arrest, Washington displayed a badge and identified himself as an off duty patrolman from another Detroit precinct.

Police said Atkins had a key to a bus station locker in which there was a .38 caliber revolver and a carton of shells. They planned to return Atkins to Pontiac tomorrow for prosecution.

Bloomfield Dem Club to Hold First Meeting

A discussion of the coming spring election in Bloomfield Township will be the subject of talk as a new Bloomfield Democratic Club holds its first meeting Friday, Dec. 12, at the home of Mrs. William A. Clemmons, 455 S. Williamsbury St.

Mrs. Clemmons, publicity chairman for the Oakland County Democratic Committee, said the roster of the new club now boasts around 200 members.

She said the club is already making plans to have Michigan Supreme Court Associate Justice John D. Voelker speak at its January meeting.

The Dec. 12 meeting will come to order at 8:30, Mrs. Clemmons announced.

Remark About Selling Stock Resents

SEC Chairman Accused of Injustice by Ford Co.

DETROIT (UP) — Defending its policies at the time of its historic first stock issue, the Ford Motor Co. has hurled a charge of "injustice" against the chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Ford yesterday accused Chairman Edward N. Gadsby of a "serious injustice" to itself and others for his remarks to an investment men's national convention.

★ ★ ★

Gadsby, addressing the Investment Bankers Assn. at Bal Harbour, Fla., mentioned Ford's 1956 stock issue as an example of what he called "gun jumping" on presale publicity.

He said the SEC, the government's watch dog against stock manipulation, is going to take steps against such practices.

Gadsby said advance publicity on the Ford stock issue stirred up public interest to the extent that the stock was "greatly oversold" before it actually was registered with SEC as required by law.

William T. Gossett, Ford vice president and general counsel, took sharp exception to Gadsby's criticism.

★ ★ ★

In a wire to the SEC chairman Gossett — who said he first tried to protest by telephone to Florida — declared as follows:

"If you are quoted correctly, you are doing a serious injustice to the Ford Motor Co. and others involved in the sale of Ford Motor Co. stock in 1956."

★ ★ ★

Gossett, defending Ford policy, went on to recite what he called events which preceded the start of public sale of the stock Jan. 18, 1956.

The company's chief counsel said the Ford company's only public statement in advance of the sale was an appeal by President Henry Ford II for care on the part of potential buyers.

He said Ford's statement had prior approval from the SEC and that Ford was complimented for it by an SEC staff representative.

Sale of the stock, Gossett said, was handled not by the company but by the Ford Foundation. He said the Foundation's only advance statements were two explanations of technical matters, also given prior SEC approval.

He said the publicity complained of was from sources, including financial writers, over whom Ford had no control.

Gadsby said in his speech that the Ford stock was put on sale "after a series of publicity releases which gave us (the SEC) very serious concern."

4 More Companies Raise Price of Gas

Four major gasoline distributors yesterday followed the lead of Sinclair Refining Co. in increasing wholesale prices 5.1 cents a gallon.

Joining in the price jump were Standard, Socony-Mobil, Speedway and Texaco. Other major companies were expected to follow suit.

The boost wiped out a three cent drop in prices which Sinclair prompted last week.

The retail price of gasoline now ranges from 29.3 to 30.3 cents a gallon for regular and around 33 cents for premium.

Standard noted the new prices are still three cents a gallon less than they were last Jan. 1.

Booth Strike Talks Will Resume Today

LANSING (AP)—Negotiations were resumed today in an attempt to end a strike that has stopped publication of daily newspapers in eight major Michigan cities, all members of Booth Newspapers, Inc.

Federal and state mediators, management representatives and delegates from the International Typographical Union met without agreement here last night.

Some 500 printers are striking to demand new contract concessions centering on pay increases.

Talks last night broke off at 10 p.m. Management and union representatives agreed however, to meet again today.

"We are no nearer an agreement than when we began," said Carl Linder, ITU spokesman. "For awhile there were some indications we could get together. But there are a lot of things still to be worked out."

Short Selling Slumps Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices declined all along the line in early grain futures dealings today.

★ ★ ★

Some of the setbacks ran to major fractions of a cent a bushel as offers to sell short increased in volume against a light scattered demand.

★ ★ ★

With country selling of wheat reported to be on the increase and more liberal corn selling expected after the first of the year, traders said there now seems to be little fear of any tightening in commercial stocks for the present.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, December $1.94¾; corn unchanged to ¾ lower, December old type contract $1.14½; oats ¼ to ⅝ lower, December 65½; rye ½ to ⅞ lower, December $1.31¾; and soybeans ½ to ⅞ lower, January $2.13⅞.

Machinists Vote on TWA Pact

3,700 at Kansas City Ballot Today on Ending 13-Day Strike

By The Associated Press

About 3,700 machinists vote today in Kansas City on a tentative agreement reached with Trans World Airlines to end a 13-day strike against TWA.

★ ★ ★

All 6,500 members of the International Assn. of Machinists employed by TWA must ratify the new contract. They vote in other places later. The proposed pact won the unanimous support of the union negotiating committee Wednesday. The walkout has idled 19,000 TWA employes.

★ ★ ★

Confident that settlement has been reached, TWA issued orders Wednesday night for a resumption of domestic and overseas flights early Monday.

Terms of the agreement were not made public. But Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, said the wage raises corresponded to agreements negotiated recently with other airlines. These called for pay boosts of about 30 cents an hour. Top scale under the old TWA contract is $2.61 an hour.

★ ★ ★

In Miami, where efforts are being made to resolve a 10-day strike against Eastern Air Lines, some progress in talks was reported between the airlines and 5,000 machinists.

But the flight engineers' dispute with EAL appeared stalemated.

In addition to wages, company insistence on jet pilot training for flight engineers is a major issue.

★ ★ ★

American Airlines, threatened by a strike of the Air Line Pilots Assn., continues to operate under a temporary injunction.

Talks continue between Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union.

Saginaw Man Dies in Indiana Collision

SCOTTSBURG, Ind. (AP) — James R. Abbey, 19, Saginaw, Mich., was killed yesterday in a two-car collision on Ind. 3, 10 miles south of Scottsburgh.

Abbey's wife Madalyn, 17, and Lawrence Kitterman, 61; New Albany, Ind., driver of the other auto, were injured. Mrs. Abbey's condition was reported as fair. Kitterman was listed as serious.

State Police said Abbey evidently attempted to pass another car and met Kitterman's oncoming auto in a heavy fog.

Troopers said the Abbeys carried identifications showing they might have lived at Bay City and Reese, Mich., as well as Saginaw. They added papers listed Abbey's mother as Mrs. Ruth Freeman but gave no address for her.

Market Prices Almost Same

NEW YORK (AP)— Price changes were relatively small in a mixed stock market early today.

The tape fell behind floor transactions for a brief period, but volume appeared to be lighter than at the same time yesterday.

A good part of the activity continued to be centered in a few favorite stocks. Grummann ran up nearly 1 point, helped by rumors it might get a big government order, while Olin Mathieson, U.S. Borax, Siegler and American Motors gained fractions to about 1 point.

Low-priced Graham Paige also continued very active, opening unchanged at 3 on a block of 15,000 shares. Newport news gained ¼ at the start on a big transfer of 12,300 shares.

★ ★ ★

Steels were mixed. U.S Steel opened ⅝ higher and then lost much of the gain. Major motors tilted lower. Metals also were mixed with Anaconda gaining a fraction and Kennecott losing.

Bargainers Working to End Dodge Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and United Auto Workers negotiators were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a strike that could halt all company production.

Negotiators were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a strike that could halt all company production.

Negotiators met for five hours yesterday before recessing the talks. No progress was reported by either side.

Some 7,000 members of UAW Local 3 at Chrysler's Dodge main plant are involved in the strike. Dodge main supplies parts for all Chrysler divisions.

Chrysler said the strike could halt all company production, idling 50,000 Detroit area workers, if it lasts a week. The walkout now is at the end of its second day.

UAW spokesmen say Chrysler is attempting to increase the work load at Dodge main. Chrysler has denied the charge.

Give Ford Divisions New Ad Agencies

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co.'s Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division has realigned the agencies handling its advertising accounts.

Mercury and Edsel advertising will be handled by Kenyon & Eckhardt of New York. The Lincoln and Continental account will be handled by Foote, Cone & Belding of Chicago.

Kenyon & Eckhardt formerly handled Mercury and Lincoln. Edsel was handled by Foote, Cone & Belding.

C. E. Bowie, M-E-L general sales manager, said the placing of Edsel in the lower price field of cars and the combining of Edsel and Mercury dealerships in many areas required a general integration of advertising and sales in those two lines.

DSR Plan Attacked

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County CIO Council and the United Auto Workers Union Wednesday attacked a proposal of William Gershenson, Detroit Street Railway Commissioner, to discontinue discount fares for retired Detroiters 65 years old or over. The two labor groups proposed the reduced fare plan for the aged be made permanent.

Detroit Loan Official Murdered in Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A 51-year-old credit union manager was pistol whipped and shot to death yesterday by a gunman he struggled with in an effort to prevent a robbery.

Claude A. Richards was slain as he fought off the bandit.

Richards was just about to hand some bills to a customer when an armed man entered the Plymouth Employes Federal Credit Union, jumped a counter and shouted: "I'll take that," making a grab for the money.

Richards, clutching the bills, jumped up and struggled with the bandit. His assistant beat him with a pistol and then fired three times at point blank range.

Police said the gunman grabbed the money, jumped back over the counter and fled through the front door.

Richards, a father of two, had been manager of the credit union since April.

Two other employes witnessed the shooting. Police said it was not determined immediately how much money was taken.

Booth Strike Talks Will Resume Today

LANSING (AP)—Negotiations were resumed today in an attempt to end a strike that has stopped publication of daily newspapers in eight major Michigan cities, all members of Booth Newspapers, Inc.

Federal and state mediators, management representatives and delegates from the International Typographical Union met without agreement here last night.

Some 500 printers are striking to demand new contract concessions centering on pay increases.

Talks last night broke off at 10 p.m. Management and union representatives agreed however, to meet again today.

"We are no nearer an agreement than when we began," said Carl Linder, ITU spokesman. "For awhile there were some indications we could get together. But there are a lot of things still to be worked out."

AN ORDINANCE GRANTING TO Consumers Power Company, its successors and assigns, the right, power and authority to lay, maintain and operate gas mains, pipes and services on, along, across and under the highways, streets, alleys, bridges, and other public places, and to do a local gas business in the Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, for a period of thirty years

Section 1. The Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, hereby grants to the Consumers Power Company, a corporation authorized to transact business in Michigan, its successors and assigns, hereinafter called the "Grantee," the right, power and authority to lay, maintain and operate gas mains, pipes and services on, along, across and under the highways, streets, alleys, bridges, and other public places, and to do a local gas business in the Township of Independence, Oakland County, Michigan, for a period of thirty years.

Section 2. In consideration of the rights, power and authority hereby granted, all of which shall vest in the Grantee for a period of thirty (30) years as aforesaid, said Grantee shall faithfully perform all things required by the terms hereof.

Section 3. No highway, street, alley, bridge or other public place used by said Grantee shall be obstructed longer than necessary during the work of construction or repair, and shall be restored to the same order and condition as when said work was commenced. All of Grantee's pipes and mains shall be so placed in the highways and other public places as not to unnecessarily interfere with the use thereof for highway purposes.

Section 4 Said Grantee shall at all times keep and save the Township fee and harmless from all loss, costs and expense to which it may be subject by reason of the negligent construction and maintenance of the structures and equipment hereby authorized. In case any action is commenced against the Township on account of the permission herein given, said Grantee shall, upon notice, defend the Township and save it free and harmless from all loss, cost and damage arising out of such negligent construction and maintenance.

Section 5. The rights, power and authority herein granted, are not exclusive. Either manufactured or natural gas may be furnished hereunder.

Section 6. Said Grantee shall from time to time extend its gas distribution system to and within said Township, and shall furnish gas to applicants residing therein whenever the amount of gas to be furnished thereby shall provide an adequate and reasonable return upon the cost of making such extensions and providing such service.

Section 7. Said Grantee shall be entitled to charge the inhabitants of said Township for gas furnished therein the rates, including minimum charges, as approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission, to which Commission or its successors authority and jurisdiction to fix and regulate gas rates and rules regulating such service in said Township, are hereby granted for the term of this franchise. Such rates and rules shall be subject to review and change at any time upon petition therefor being made by either said Township, acting by its Township Board, or by said Grantee.

Section 8. This ordinance shall cease and be of no effect after thirty days from its adoption, unless within said period the Grantee shall accept the same in writing filed with the Township Clerk, subject to confirmation of the grant hereof by at least a majority of the electors of said Township voting thereon at a regular or special township election to be held in the manner provided by law. Upon the acceptance and confirmation hereof, this ordinance shall constitute a contract between said Township and said Grantee for a period of thirty years from the date of such acceptance.

Short Selling Slumps Grains

CHICAGO (AP) — Prices declined all along the line in early grain futures dealings today.

★ ★ ★

Some of the setbacks ran to major fractions of a cent a bushel as offers to sell short increased in volume against a light scattered demand.

★ ★ ★

With country selling of wheat reported to be on the increase and more liberal corn selling expected after the first of the year, traders said there now seems to be little fear of any tightening in commercial stocks for the present.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, December $1.94⅜; corn unchanged to ⅜ lower, December old type contract $1.14½; oats ¼ to ⅝ lower, December 65½; rye ½ to ⅞ lower, December $1.31¾; and soybeans ½ to ⅞ lower, January $2.13⅞.

Machinists Vote on TWA Pact

3,700 at Kansas City Ballot Today on Ending 13-Day Strike

By The Associated Press

About 3,700 machinists vote today in Kansas City on a tentative agreement reached with Trans World Airlines to end a 13-day strike against TWA.

★ ★ ★

All 6,500 members of the International Assn. of Machinists employed by TWA must ratify the new contract. They vote in other places later. The proposed pact won the unanimous support of the union negotiating committee Wednesday. The walkout has idled 19,000 TWA employes.

★ ★ ★

Confident that settlement has been reached, TWA issued orders Wednesday night for a resumption of domestic and overseas flights early Monday.

Terms of the agreement were not made public. But Leverett Edwards, chairman of the National Mediation Board, said the wage raises corresponded to agreements negotiated recently with other airlines. These called for pay boosts of about 30 cents an hour. Top scale under the old TWA contract is $2.61 an hour.

★ ★ ★

In Miami, where efforts are being made to resolve a 10-day strike against Eastern Air Lines, some progress in talks was reported between the airlines and 5,000 machinists.

But the flight engineers' dispute with EAL appeared stalemated.

In addition to wages, company insistence on jet pilot training for flight engineers is a major issue.

★ ★ ★

American Airlines, threatened by a strike of the Air Line Pilots Assn., continues to operate under a temporary injunction.

Talks continue between Pan American World Airways and the Transport Workers Union.

Saginaw Man Dies in Indiana Collision

SCOTTSBURG, Ind. (AP) — James R. Abbey, 19, Saginaw, Mich., was killed yesterday in a two-car collision on Ind. 3, 10 miles south of Scottsburgh.

Abbey's wife Madalyn, 17, and Lawrence Kitterman, 61, New Albany, Ind., driver of the other auto, were injured. Mrs. Abbey's condition was reported as fair. Kitterman was listed as serious.

State Police said Abbey evidently attempted to pass another car and met Kitterman's oncoming auto in a heavy fog.

Troopers said the Abbeys carried identifications showing they might have lived at Bay City and Reese, Mich., as well as Saginaw. They added papers listed Abbey's mother as Mrs. Ruth Freeman but gave no address for her.

H. G. Salsinger Park?

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Department of Parks and Recreation has recommended naming of a 10-acre playground for H. G. Salsinger, retired sports editor of the Detroit News who died last week.

Market Prices Almost Same

NEW YORK (AP)— Price changes were relatively small in a mixed stock market early today.

The tape fell behind floor transactions for a brief period, but volume appeared to be lighter than at the same time yesterday.

A good part of the activity continued to be centered in a few favorite stocks. Grummann ran up nearly 1 point, helped by rumors it might get a big government order, while Olin Mathieson, U.S. Borax, Siegler and American Motors gained fractions to about 1 point.

Low-priced Graham Paige also continued very active, opening unchanged at 3 on a block of 15,000 shares. Newport news gained ¼ at the start on a big transfer of 12,300 shares.

★ ★ ★

Steels were mixed. U.S Steel opened ⅜ higher and then lost much of the gain. Major motors tilted lower. Metals also were mixed with Anaconda gaining a fraction and Kennecott losing.

Bargainers Working to End Dodge Strike

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. and United Auto Workers negotiators were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a strike that could halt all company production.

Negotiators were scheduled to meet again today in another effort to settle a strike that could halt all company production.

Negotiators met for five hours yesterday before recessing the talks. No progress was reported by either side.

Some 7,000 members of UAW Local 3 at Chrysler's Dodge main plant are involved in the strike. Dodge main supplies parts for all Chrysler divisions.

Chrysler said the strike could halt all company production, idling 50,000 Detroit area workers, if it lasts a week. The walkout now is at the end of its second day.

UAW spokesmen say Chrysler is attempting to increase the work load at Dodge main. Chrysler has denied the charge.

Give Ford Divisions New Ad Agencies

DETROIT (AP)—Ford Motor Co.'s Mercury-Edsel-Lincoln Division has realigned the agencies handling its advertising accounts.

Mercury and Edsel advertising will be handled by Kenyon & Eckhardt of New York. The Lincoln and Continental account will be handled by Foote, Cone & Belding of Chicago.

Kenyon & Eckhardt formerly handled Mercury and Lincoln. Edsel was handled by Foote, Cone & Belding.

C. E. Bowie, M-E-L general sales manager, said the placing of Edsel in the lower price field of cars and the combining of Edsel and Mercury dealerships in many areas required a general integration of advertising and sales in those two lines.

DSR Plan Attacked

DETROIT (AP) — The Wayne County CIO Council and the United Auto Workers Union Wednesday attacked a proposal of William Gershenson, Detroit Street Railway Commissioner, to discontinue discount fares for retired Detroiters 65 years old or over. The two labor groups proposed the reduced fare plan for the aged be made permanent.

Detroit Loan Official Murdered in Robbery

DETROIT (AP) — A 51-year-old credit union manager was pistol whipped and shot to death yesterday by a gunman he struggled with in an effort to prevent a robbery.

Claude A. Richards was slain as he fought off the bandit.

Richards was just about to hand some bills to a customer when an armed man entered the Plymouth Employes Federal Credit Union, jumped a counter and shouted: "I'll take that," making a grab for the money.

Richards, clutching the bills, jumped up and struggled with the bandit. His assistant beat him with a pistol and then fired three times at point blank range.

Police said the gunman grabbed the money, jumped back over the counter and fled through the front door.

Richards, a father of two, had been manager of the credit union since April.

Two other employes witnessed the shooting. Police said it was not determined immediately how much money was taken.

Stop-Look-Save!

Folks, it's just plain simple arithmetic. Over here in our lovely and friendly village of Rochester it's no secret that overhead is much less, which in turn means we can sell for less. So take advantage and pay us a visit and we will do our best to make you feel at home and give you a good deal for those hard-earned dollars. We can say with honesty that we take pride in our used cars. We will remain open as long as you are here.

Firms Page Clients Via Pocket Radios

CHICAGO — More than 100 firms that page their clients by broadcasting to pocket radios have sprung up throughout the United States recently.

A typical one passes along about 30,000 messages a month to 1,000 subscribers. The agency serves doctors, businessmen, and field-service people within a 40-mile radius. Each subscriber carries a 6-ounce pocket receiver.

Chases Dames in Action Series

Jock Mahoney Sees Role as That of Rebel, Reformer and Rascal

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — Jock Mahoney, known to the television audience as "Yancy Derringer," is the only hero of a TV action series who performs his own stunts. It's matter of integrity with Mahoney.

And Yancy Derringer is the only hero of a TV action series who boldly chases dames instead of letting the dames chase him. It's a matter of masculinity with Derringer.

★ ★ ★

Mahoney would like it understood that "Yancy Derringer" (CBS-TV, Thursday, 8:30 p.m.) is a "Southern" not a "Western." Both characterization and geography make it that way, he says.

Derringer, he maintains, is "a rebel, a reformer, a rascal. He's what every man would like to be if he could get away with it. He's a guy every woman would like to meet if she had the opportunity."

The history of Yancy Derringer, before he made his appearance on the home screen in the post-bellum period of the Lower Mississippi, is something Mahoney recounts with relish. It's a rather ribald story of rebellion:

Southern-born, Derringer was sent aboard at a tender age after a scrape involving a woman. At the Sorbonne and Heidelberg he continued to involve himself with dames and duels. In the Civil War he fought for the Confederacy as a cavalry captain and then went West for three years and made a fortune which he lost and recouped several times.

The current television season found him back home in his native Louisiana where he is involved each week in a series of dramatic situations.

Mahoney started as a stunt man after serving as a Marine Corps pilot in World War II and worked his way through heavy parts before his 6-foot-4, 200-pound frame assumed its star proportions.

★ ★ ★

Throughout his career Mahoney always has insisted on doing his own stunts — all sorts of derringdo, even including a 47-foot dive into a 6-foot tank of water. (He practiced for that one in his California backyard swimming pool).

"I've been blessed with a beautiful sense of coordination and rhythm," he says, "and I've kept myself in shape with sensible exercise—not the barbell, bulging muscle type that leaves you unable to scratch your back."

In Westerns he believes that a hero should know how to ride and shoot as thoroughly as he knows his lines.

"The action a man portrays on the screen is as important as his characterization. He should know his horse and his gun as thoroughly as he knows the character he's playing."

Mahoney can't understand why the women in Western have such dramatically frail roles. So, when he became Yancy Derringer and moved his dramatic locale South, he insisted that the women characactress be more substantial and credible.

"We wanted beautiful women for the show," he says, "and we wanted beautiful men — that's right, you heard me. We wanted to please the eye as much as possible, with characters, costumes and sets. It costs a lot of money, but it pays off with a lot of pleasure for the viewers at home."

'Grime, Crime, Slime' Deplored by Pastor

CHICAGO (UPI) — A minister says "grime, crime and slime" in television programs are contributing to juvenile delinquency.

The Rev. Allen R. Blegen, director of the Lutheran Broadcasting Association, told a Kiwanis Club meeting that "the minds of a good many TV producers are desperately sterile in thinking that nothing appeals to youth except sex and bloodshed."

It's time producers responsible for such programs "were let out to pasture," he said. "There is a crying need for new, creative thinking in television."

Plan Scientific Test of Ear Identification

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — A money grant from the United States Public Health Service has made possible a study by anthropologist Charles P. Warren of the University of Illinois, to determine if ears are as distinctive as fingerprints.

Warren plans to use a special camera to photograph the ears of infants to determine if the pictures will be useful years later for establishing identity. Warren believes the process could also eliminate baby mixups in hospitals.

LADY AND THE ROGUE — No cowboy would be caught dead in a pose like this, but then Jock Mahoney claims that his role in "Yancy Derringer," TV action series, is that of a dashing Southerner and not a bashful or soured Westerner. Getting a lift in life is Noreen Nash, above, who portrayed the "Belle From Boston" in a recent episode. Some viewers have gotten the impression that "Derringer" is actually panning the many Westerns seen on television this season. But no official comment is available.

Pat Suzuki Has Bing to Thank for Success

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Miss Pat Suzuki bowed to Broadway in "The Flower Drum Song" the other night—and I asked the pony-tailed, button-nosed Japanese doll whether it is true that Bing Crosby discovered her.

WILSON

"He brought in the bazam when it was needed," she said. "The bazam?" I said.

"It's a jazz term, like 'socko,' or 'belting,'" Pat replied patiently. "He happened to stroll into the club in Seattle with Phil Harris one night—and later we asked him (when I was bringing out an album) if we could use a quote of his from a San Francisco paper.

"He said, 'I'd love to write the liner notes for it.'"

His words helped make her a $100,000-a-year star (TV appearances: $5,000 each) but Pat says, "As an actress, I was horrible, oh horrible! They were all very careful not to overemphasize how bad I was and now maybe I'm better."

★ ★ ★

Her age? "I'm 24—I'm pretty old for an actress. No ingenue, I!"

Jackie Gleason's proud of this note from William Saroyan (who on his return from Russia looked at a kinescope of Jackie's serious acting effort): "Dear Jackie: I've just seen your Joe in 'The Time Of Your Life' and he is great. That means you were, but then everybody knows that, don't they? This is a little late but I was traveling."

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Linda Christian'll write a series about her marriage to Tyrone Power. (She'll donate the fee to the Motion Picture Relief Fund) . . . Customs inspectors examined Abbe Lane's luggage for two hours at the airport. (Xavier Cugat says, "Somebody always writes Abbe is smuggling sometheeng een. Sure—her Chihuahua!") . . . Kim Novak's apt.-hunting in N. Y. while making "Middle of the Night"; needs two-bedroom apartment facing the East River. Any offers?

Vic Damone and his manager had a noisy bustup . . . Eva Gabor's readying a cafe act.

Robert Preston sizzles every time he reads some Hollywood star plans to buy "Music Man" and make the movie. Preston wants that chore . . .

EARL'S PEARLS: Just a reminder: There are only a few more weeks left to pay the final installments on the Christmas gifts you bought last year.

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Tony Pettito says he's never begrudged his neighbors their expensive possessions. "The more they have, the more I can borrow."

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Comic Tom Poston met Laraine Day (Mrs. Leo Durocher) and told her, "I've always admired your husband—I think he was the Casey Stengel of his day." That's earl, brother.

Pork Still a Bargain; Produce Supply Good

Busy with Christmas cards and gifts? Then make food shopping easier and more economical by choosing foods that are currently in good supply suggests the Marketing Information Agent.

MEAT IN THE MARKET —Pork and poultry are meats in biggest supply.

Picnics and loins share the pork spotlight for the week but many other cuts deserve attention too.

Picnics are sold fresh or smoked. They look much like small hams but most shoppers know they come from the front leg while ham comes from the back leg of the animal. Picnics have a slightly coarser texture and serve two people from each pound. Some picnics may be skinless and defatted just as some hams are.

Pork loin roast may come from the front of the loin nearest the ribs. In this case, it is called a rib-end leg. The loin-end roast is usually ten cents more per pound than the rib-end for it has more of the lean tenderloin. Loin roasts serve about 2½ portions from each pound.

Boston butt, from the front shoulder is another pork cut rating attention. Since it will serve three from each pound, it is in the price range with picnics and loin roasts this week at twenty cents or less per serving.

December poultry prices are expected to be much as they were in November. Fryer numbers are 10 per cent larger than last year at this time, turkey is very plentiful, and there are good supplies of stewers.

Stewing hens are meaty dollar stretchers. You can find them for a little as 39 cents a pound. Again, that is 20 cents per serving.

Beef, veal and lamb prices continue about as they have been. Because a large percentage of the beef is U.S. Choice quality, the price difference between this and lower grade beef is smaller than usual at this time of year. Beef and lamb features may be good news for some families this week.

EGGS — Supplies of large size eggs are getting larger as young layers mature. Supplies of small sizes are getting smaller. Price differences between the two sizes are getting smaller also.

Large size eggs at 49 to 65 cents a dozen are 32½ to 43 cents per pound. Small eggs are 35 to 36 cents per pound this week.

PRODUCE — Although it's winter outside, produce counters look as bright as summer.

Head lettuce is in abundant supply. For variety, you might add a bit of romaine or Bibb lettuce with it.

Choose the size bag of potatoes you need — 10, 15, 25 or 50 pounds. Michigan potatoes are from one third to one half the price of others in the market. Long distance transportation costs are added to potatoes shipped from other states.

Supplies of citrus fruits are increasing. Number 80 grapefruit is about 9 cents a pound when sold in 8 pound units or about 10 cents each when sold in units of five grapefruit.

December brings juice oranges from Florida and navel eating oranges from California. Tangerines and tangeloes are also available.

NUTS — Nuts take a prominent place in most stores at this time of year. The English walnut crop is 28 per cent larger than a year ago, the pecan crop is 21 percent larger. Almond supplies are 47 per cent smaller than a year ago.

Mixed nuts generally average about 60 cents a pound. Walnuts, filberts and Brazil nuts are mostly 50 cents a pound; pecans are 59 to 69; almonds are 69 to 79.

It usually takes 2½ pounds of nuts in-the-shell to make a pound of shelled nuts. Buy 3½ pounds of almonds in-the-shell for a pound shelled.

CANNED AND FROZEN FOODS — If canned peas, corn, tomatoes, beans and applesauce are among your family favorites, they are featured at special prices this week.

Some frozen vegetables and fruit pies wear special prices also.

The National Wildlife Federation says the best method for determining the age of deer, elk and moose is to examine the animal's teeth rather than to count the number of antler points.

Reports Method to Ease Asthma

Allergist Tells of Cutting Acidity in Blood With Alkaline Injections

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — An allergist reported today that the simple procedure of reducing blood acidity with alkaline injections brought rapid and dramatic relief to asthmatic patients on the threshold of death.

Dr. J. S. Blumenthal of the University of Minnesota Medical School said the victims revived no longer responded to standard treatment with epinephrine (adrenalin) and were literally being asphyxiated.

★ ★ ★

Epinephrine is a synthetic form of Adrenin, a hormone produced in the adrenal glands.

In an asthma attack, the walls of the ducts leading to tiny air sacs in the lungs collapse. This prevents air from entering or leaving. The patient has difficulty breathing and if the condition continues a thick tenacious secretion develops in the lungs. This further complicates breathing.

Epinephrine stimulates muscle contraction, causing the duct walls to return to normal. But the hormone sometimes loses its effectiveness. The condition is known as epinephrine-fastness and its cause is not fully understood.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Blumenthal said in a report at the annual clinical conference of the American Medical Assn:

"There is nothing more disturbing than to find that adrenalin, the drug which is still by far the best in the treatment of acute allergic states, is losing its effectiveness."

He said a series of studies aimed at finding a solution to the problem showed that epinephrine works fast when the blood is more alkaline than acid.

★ ★ ★

Working on this line, Dr. Blumenthal and his associates injected a sodium lactate solution into the bloodstreams of 45 patients. No other medication was added. All quickly recovered from their attacks.

Dr. Blumenthal said the results apparently were due to the effectiveness of the patients' own adrenin.

Hungary Reports Sales of Used Cars Way Up

BUDAPEST (UPI) — Hungarian newspapers have reported a steady increase in used car sales here.

The state-owned "Autoker," only used car mart in town, has been selling 8 to 10 used cars daily at prices ranging from $700 to $2,400, it was reported.

Senator's Vote Total Certified in Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (UPI) — Harrison A. Williams Jr. won a seat in the U.S. Senate on an 84,545-vote plurality over Republican Robert W. Kean in the Nov. 4 election, according to the state board of canvassers.

Four state senators appointed by Gov. Robert B. Meyner officially certified Williams' total yesterday at 966,832 votes to Kean's 882,287.

Air Force Sergeant Gets Term Abroad for Theft

LONDON (UPI)—U.S. Air Force S/Sgt. Peter Paul Downie began a three-month jail term today for stealing a set of valuable turquoise carvings from an antique shop.

Downie, 33, of New London, Conn., mailed some of the pieces back after police began making inquiries, officials said. One piece was broken en route and Downie sold his car to pay the shop owner $322 for it. He was convicted in magistrate's court yesterday.

Smog Devices Ready in Year

Auto Pollution Reducers Said 90 Pct. Effective, Will Be Made Smaller

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Smog control devices for automobiles will be ready for production within about a year, S. Smith Griswold, head of the county air pollution control district, states.

Griswold, testifying before a subcommittee of the State Assembly Interim Committee on Transportation and Commerce, said four devices have shown promise in studies during the past six months.

He said the devices were between 90 and 95 per cent effective in reducing air pollutants which are spewed into the air by auto exhausts and constitute one of the major smog-causing elements in the basin area.

Three of the four devices use catalysts to filter out air pollutants from car exhaust and the fourth is an afterburner device.

Cost of the catalyst systems would run between $30 and $50, but they would have to be replaced every 20,000 miles, Griswold said. He did not mention how much the afterburner device would cost.

★ ★ ★

Griswold said all four devices at present were too large for car attachment or, as in the case of the afterburner, operated at too high a temperature.

Griswold said General Motors was one of the auto companies responsible for a catalyst-type device and that other companies such as Ford and Chrysler were working on other devices.

Kohler Head 'Man of Year'

His Firm Involved in 6-Year Strike; Picked at NAM Gathering

NEW YORK (AP)—The head of the Kohler Co., which has been involved in a six-year strike, was honored today as the "Man of the Year" at the annual convention of the National Assn. of Manufacturers.

Herbert V. Kohler, chairman and president of the Kohler Co., Kohler, Wis., plumbing concern, received the award of the Old Timers' Council, a group of industrialists made up largely of former NAM directors.

★ ★ ★

More than 2,000 businessmen were on hand for the opening of the NAM's Congress of American Industry, which continues through Friday.

The Kohler plant has been struck by the United Automobile Workers. The company has continued in production during the dispute.

★ ★ ★

In presenting the award, Cola G. Parker, head of the Old Timers' Council and former NAM president, said:

"Mr. Kohler has refused to sign away his employes' rights. Some six years ago he began fighting—and is still fighting—for the principles he believes in as a citizen and a responsible industrialist. That principle is freedom from coercion—freedom for his employes and freedom for the management of the company that bears his name."

★ ★ ★

Parker said Kohler has upheld the principle that a company has no more right to force an employe to join a union in order to get or hold a job than it has to prohibit an employe to join a union.
