Three Deaths Probed at Pontiac Osteopathic

Police Charge Teen With Kidnaping Girl

BASTROP, La. (AP) — Dist. Atty. Albin Lassiter said today Douglas Charles Emerich, 18, has been booked for kidnaping in the abduction Sunday of 8-year-old Nancy Keller.

Emerich, a high school dropout, was arrested at his grandmother's home near here late yesterday just minutes after Nancy escaped from a vacant house and phoned her father.

Lassiter said Emerich, who is being held in a jail at Monroe, "has given us a full statement on the entire affair." The district attorney said the grand jury will be called into special session to consider the case.

The district attorney did not disclose the motive for the kidnaping. There was no ransom demand; the child was not molested.

Nancy was taken from the yard outside her home late Sunday by a man in a car. A playmate witnessed the abduction and gave officers a description of the man and his "dirty old grey car."

★ ★ ★

Lassiter said he has no plans to put Emerich in a police lineup for Nancy to identify.

THROUGH ENOUGH

"That one little girl has been through enough as it is," the district attorney said. "She's a remarkable little girl. I just can't say enough about her.

"How many little 8-year-old girls would have remained as steady as she did? She's really remarkable."

Lassiter said the grand jury, when it meets, can either free Emerich or indict him for aggravated kidnap, which carries a maximum penalty of death, or simple kidnap, which has a maximum five year sentence.

★ ★ ★

No date was set for the grand jury meeting.

U. S. Gives OK to Arms Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The United States today agreed to enter into exploratory talks with key powers, including Red China, on plans for a world disarmament conference.

★ ★ ★

The U.S. position was disclosed just before the U.N. Main Political Committee overwhelmingly approved plans for calling such a conference by 1967.

This would be the first time the United States and the Peking government took part in arms talks — if the Chinese Communists agreed to participate. Their position still was not certain.

The United States voted for the proposal and agreed to take part in the consultations, but Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg reserved decision as to whether the United States would attend the world conference itself.

★ ★ ★

The vote on the Asian-African resolution was 91-0 with France abstaining and Nationalist China not taking part.

Cigarette Tax Hike Sought to Aid Veterans

GOP State Senate Leader Tells Proposal Following Caucus

LANSING (AP)—Republican Senate leader Emil Lockwood said yesterday he will ask for a raise in the cigarette tax to pay for a Viet Nam veterans' bonus and expand veterans' property tax exemptions.

He made the proposal following a House-Senate GOP caucus at which no final action was taken on whether to uphold gubernatorial vetoes of three money bills.

Republican Gov. George Romney talked to the 33 legislators for 70 minutes and said he had "a good feeling" the vetoes would be sustained.

The legislature returns Dec. 9 for an attempt by majority Democrats to override the turndowns of $1.2 million fund for unexpected college enrollments, a $4 million change in vets' property tax exemptions and a $4.5 million or higher rent reimbursement plan for senior citizen renters.

★ ★ ★

Democrats, if their ranks are solid, still would need one House vote and three Senate votes from Republicans to override the vetoes.

FAVOR OVERRIDING

Lockwood said he would favor overriding the veto of the veterans bill if the legislature would immediately raise the cigarette tax.

He said he still is collecting figures, so could give no specific proposal for how many pennies the tax on a pack of cigarettes should increase.

The present state tax is seven cents. Each additional penny is estimated to be worth $11 million a year.

★ ★ ★

Lockwood said he had talked to Sen. S. Don Potter, R-Lansing, the other Republican besides Lockwood on the Senate Taxation Committee, and that "he is in accord." Lockwood said no Republican had indicated opposition.

No caucus position could be taken, however, because only 7 of 15 senators were present.

★ ★ ★

Lockwood said Illinois had approved a Viet Nam veterans bonus of $100 per man, with $1,000 for widows of men killed in action.

He said "I think we should do something here," but mentioned that factors such as longevity of service might also be considered in computing a bonus.

He said bonuses paid after World War II had been financed through cigarette tax, thus "there is a precedent for paying for veterans benefits that way.

He said he had not discussed the plan with Romney.

Anesthetic Use May Be Cause

Preliminary investigation into the mystery deaths of three patients at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital revealed today no impurities in a drug supposedly injected into the patients, raising suspicions that a solution of ether was used accidentally.

The probe concerns the deaths of Kimberly Ann Bruneel, 8, William M. Ketchum, 12, and Mrs. Gerald Covington, 24, of 436 Roland.

Kimberly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bruneel, of 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ketchum, of 250 W. Webster, Ferndale.

According to Pontiac Police detectives who entered the case yesterday, two other patients received medication from the same container.

One suffered no ill effects. The other is in serious condition. Both were not identified by police or hospital authorities.

The hospital refused to release the names of doctors involved in the operations under investigation.

Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, promised a "complete investigation" into the circumstances surrounding the administrating of the drug.

★ ★ ★

Hospital officials, local law enforcement agencies and federal Food and Drug Administration authorities involved in the probe were joined today by two state agencies.

STATE INVESTIGATION

Acting Gov. William Milliken directed the State Department of Public Health and the State Pharmacy Board to immediately investigate the deaths.

Milliken directed the state agenices to conduct their investigations in cooperation with federal drug authorities and to report what necessary action—administrative or legislative—is necessary "to prevent this tragedy from recurring."

"Complete your investigation with dispatch," Milliken told Dr. Albert Heustis, director of public health, and Allan Weatherwax, executive secretary of the Pharmacy Board.

★ ★ ★

The lieutenant governor acted for Gov. George Romney while Romney was fulfilling a speaking engagement in California.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said that a preliminary analysis of the drug indicates that there is nothing impure about it.

He said he learned this from FDA officials.

"It will not surprise us if we discover that the fault lies in the mixing or the administering of the drug," Bronson said.

MEETING TODAY

Walter Schmier, assistant prosecutor, was to meet today with FDA officials in Detroit.

"It appears that negligence is involved, but we are still not ruling out the possibility of maliciousness or intentional motives," Schmier added.

"Statements will be taken from doctors, nurses, anesthetist

Youngster Talks of Sister: 'She's an Angel in Heaven'

By JOE MULLEN

Kimberly Ann "has gone to heaven and is an angel" is the way her 5-year-old brother, Kevin Bruneel, explains the death of his sister.

★ ★ ★

Kimberly Ann, 8, who died last Thursday after a routine appendectomy operation at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, was more than just a big sister to Kevin.

"We transferred her from Our Lady of Refuge School a month ago so she could accompany Kevin to Whitfield School," Mrs. Oscar Bruneel said.

"Kevin, who started kindergarten this fall, regarded his sister as somewhat of a guardian," she added.

★ ★ ★

The death of Kimberly Ann struck an equally severe blow to all members of the family of six remaining children.

A JOVIAL CHILD

Ranging in age from five to 26, all the Bruneel children remember their sister as a jovial child, full of vitality and having many interests and friends.

Kimberly Ann, who made her first Communion last May 8 at Our Lady of Refuge, was a Brownie, looking to the years ahead when she would be a Girl Scout.

"She took tap dancing lessons and spent every warm summer day in the family's backyard swimming pool surrounded by friends," her mother said.

★ ★ ★

Her brother John, 23, a Navy man in Pensacola, Fla., hurried home at the news of the tragedy to join the family.

EASED THE SHOCK

Roy, 26, the oldest of the Bruneel children, and Mrs. Diann Tomkovich, 24, the next oldest, helped cushion the shock for the younger children still at home.

They are, besides Kevin, Raymond, 13; and Sandra, 19.

Kimberly Ann's father still is puzzled by the brief cause of death listed by the hospital — cardiac arrest.

★ ★ ★

He is awaiting word from investigating agencies which seek to determine exactly what caused the death of Kimberly Ann and two other persons at the hospital who underwent routine-type operations.

In Waterford

Schell Named Treasurer

James F. Schell, a 39-year-old insurance agent, was appointed Waterford Township's new treasurer last night by unanimous approval of the township board.

Schell, a Democrat, was named to the $8,000-a-year post following a recommendation in his behalf by Supervisor Dorothy Olson.

The appointment filled a vacancy created Nov. 5 when Mrs. Olson resigned as treasurer to become supervisor and restored the Democrats' 5-2 advantage on the seven-member board.

Earlier this month when twice-elected supervisor James E. Seeterlin resigned for the Oakland County treasurer's job, the Democrats' margin was cut to 4-2 which it remained until last night.

★ ★ ★

Although Schell is relatively new in politics, he received a taste of public life last year when he served as campaign manager for victorious State Rep. Frank Crowley, also a Democrat.

INSURANCE MAN

Schell of 2866 Beacham, Waterford Township, has been a representative of the State Farm Insurance Co. for 12½ years, operating an office at 473 Elizabeth Lake.

★ ★ ★

A township resident the past 13½ years, he also has been employed seven years at GMC Truck and Coach Division in the parts pricing department.

Married and the father of five children, Schell is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and attended Walsh Institute of Accounting in Detroit.

Anticipation: Precipitation

The U.S. Weather Bureau predicts some light showers and possibly snow flurries late today with slowly falling temperatures. Partly cloudy is tomorrow's forecast.

Lows will dip to 22 to 26 tonight. The mercury is expected to climb to 37 to 44 tomorrow.

The bureau said rain would end Thursday and temperatures would turn somewhat colder.

This morning's northwesterly winds at 15 miles per hour will diminish tonight and become southeast at 10 to 18 miles tomorrow afternoon.

A low of 38 was the recording at 7 a.m. today. The thermometer reading at 2 p.m. was 39.

Area Churches Will Offer Thanks

By MARY ANGLEMIER
Church Editor,
The Pontiac Press

Thousands of men, women and children will offer thanks to God in prayer and the singing of hymns at Thanksgiving services tomorrow night and on Thanksgiving Day.

The Pontiac Area Council of Churches will sponsor the traditional Union Thanksgiving service in Baldwin Avenue Evangelical United Brethren Church, 212 Baldwin at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow with Rev. Dwight Reibling, host pastor.

Ministers of the area will participate with Dr. Emil Konts, pastor of Bethany Baptist Church and president of the Council, conducting the service.

Rev. Clyde Smith, minister at First Methodist Church, will bring the Thanksgiving message.

Music will be provided by the Baldwin Avenue UEB Church.

CHRIST LUTHERAN

The annual Thanksgiving service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in Christ Lutheran Church, Waterford Township.

Anthems will be presented by the Senior and Chapel Bell choirs under the direction of Mrs. John Wiley. Pastor Wayne E. Peterson will preach.

Clothing for the Thanksgiving Clothing Appeal may be brought to the church through Monday.

ORCHARD LAKE

The traditional Thanksgiving service of worship will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday at the Orchard Lake Community Church, Presbyterian. Pastor Edward D. Auchard will preach on "The Land the Lord Gave."

Gem Thefts Alarm Nations

LONDON (UPI) — A $1.4-million jewel theft — the largest ever in Britain—may have been engineered by a daring international ring of gem thieves, it was reported today.

★ ★ ★

The thieves cut the warning system linking Scotland Yard with Carrington's, the queen's jewelers, during the weekend and then drilled through two armor-plated doors to clean out nearly every gem on display in the plush Regent Street shop.

Informed sources said some of the queen's jewels, which may have been at Carrington's for cleaning or repair, could have been among the stolen valuables.

Experts were still estimating the loss, which may have been in excess of the $1.4-million estimate.

A spokesman for Carrington's said jewelers all over the world have been discussing plans for organizing special security squads to protect their jewels.

FIRMS 'CLEANED'

"Brilliantly organized raids have cleaned out all the big gem firms in Paris, Rome, New York and other capitals," the spokesman said.

The bold theft sparked speculation that an international gang may be hopping all over the world from city to city, grabbing millions of dollars worth of jewels.

Assessors working to determine the exact amount of Carrington's loss, said it would be several days before their work is finished.

5 Posts Feared Taken by Reds

Relief Troops Pushed Back in Hard Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A district town on the central coast of South Viet Nam held out today against a force of about 2,000 Viet Cong attacking it for the second day. Five other government posts in the area were feared overrun by the Communists.

A government relief force was driven back and had to withdraw after hard fighting, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

★ ★ ★

Reports tonight said the district town of Tuy An was quiet once more. During the day the Communists reportedly had it cut off from the land side. U.S. Navy ships off the coast were reported trying to drive them off with artillery barrages, and U.S. planes also pounded the attackers.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force jets braved heavy antiaircraft fire to destroy one Soviet-supplied missile site 34 miles northwest of Hanoi Monday and to smash the vital radar equipment at another surface-to-air missile installation 41 miles northwest of the Vietnamese capital, a U.S. spokesman reported.

SITES ATTACKED

They were the 16th and 17th missile sites attacked by U.S. planes since July. The spokesman said a missile was hit on its launching pad at the site 34 miles northwest of Hanoi and a sheet of fire flashed across the site. All the attacking planes returned safely, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong struck early Monday against Tuy An, two outposts and three militia positions. Communications were lost with all the posts except Tuy An, which is 15 miles north of Tuy Hoa, the capital of Phu Yen Province, and 250 miles north of Saigon.

Birmingham Area News

Helicopter to Join War on Dutch Elm Disease

BIRMINGHAM — The city's war on Dutch Elm disease will take on a combat atmosphere early next year when a helicopter is used to spray trees.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission last night unanimously approved the aerial application of chemicals and directed the administration to enter into a contract for the service with Omniflight Helicopters, Inc., Janesville, Wis.

Darrel C. Middlewood, superintendent of the Forestry and Parks Department, recommended the method as a result of a demonstration he and Dr. Walter Nickell of Cranbrook Institute of Science attended in Janesville recently.

Initially, the method will be used only on the 15,000 Elm trees on city streets and parks, according to Middlewood.

★ ★ ★

"If it proves as effective and economical as we anticipate, and the necessary public acceptance is obtained, further considerations could then be given to a citywide program," he said.

FIRST IN STATE

Birmingham will be the first community in the state to use the helicopter for spraying purposes, according to Middlewood.

The chemical methoxychlor will be used rather than DDT since it is less dangerous to birds.

Middlewood explained that the helicopter is equipped with a 30-foot spray boom mounted on the front and in full view of the pilot.

★ ★ ★

By flying at an elevation of about 10 to 15 feet above the trees, the boom provides coverage of approximately 50 square feet, he said.

PROGRAM COST

He said the cost of the program would be considerably less than that of the present program, noting that the aerial method can be completed in about a week compared to the month-and-a-half taken now.

The program, he said, should get underway in early February.

Dr. Nickell said the aerial application is "the best thing I've seen. I believe that it will be effective in killing the beetles."

★ ★ ★

In another action, the commission adopted a new procedure for police in enforcing laws against obscenity and pornography.

BOOK CONTROVERSY

The policy was established after a controversy erupted over the circumstances under which Police Chief Ralph Moxley borrowed two books from a store for an investigation of a citizen's complaint about objectionable material.

★ ★ ★

Under the new policy, the book being investigated will be purchased by the police department.

LBJ, Wilson Will Confer Dec. 17 on World Issues

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and British Prime Minister Harold Wilson will meet Dec. 17 for a discussion of world issues, the White House said today.

Press secretary Bill D. Moyers told a news conference that the meeting will be either in Washington or at the LBJ Ranch. He said no decision on the place had been made.

★ ★ ★

Topics to be discussed are expected to include British North Atlantic policy, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, Rhodesia, Viet Nam, U.S.-British-Soviet relations and the proposed nonproliferation nuclear treaty.

It will be the first such meeting between the two leaders since Dec. 7-9, 1964.

WILSON MEETING

The announcement of the meeting with Wilson came as Johnson prepared for broad-scale talks with West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in which the two might be opened for added West German nuclear responsibilities.

Johnson, alternating work and relaxation at the LBJ Ranch, is keeping in telephone communication with presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, directing a White House team preparing for the Erhard meeting Dec. 2-3.

Bundy has been consulting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk — and with his assistants in the secretary's absence at the Rio conference — on matters to be discussed by the President and the chancellor.

These were said authoritatively to include not only the question of nuclear force participation and Bonn's future role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but German relations with France, the Berlin situation and a proposed expansion of German aid to developing countries.

NO FINAL DECISION

There was insistence in White House circles, however, that no final decision has been reached on the American position toward Erhard's obvious desire for a greater West German share in nuclear responsibility and management.

There was no immediate White House reaction to reported British proposals for greater consultation on and coordination of nuclear policies in Europe, including the deployment of weapons and ultimate sharing of the actual handling by allies.

London informants said Britain's approach does not rule out ultimate pooling of the North Atlantic alliance's nuclear resources in Europe. In fact, they said, it provides for a firm promise to the Bonn government that Germans will share in nuclear responsibility and management as new weapons systems develop.

and anyone who may have been associated with the cases or who may have had access to the room where the drug was kept."

★ ★ ★

He said that no decision has been made by his office to disinter the bodies of the Bruneel child or Mrs. Covington for the purpose of another autopsy.

BURIAL DELAYED

Burial of the Ketchum boy has been delayed pending the decision, according to Schmier. The funeral was scheduled for today.

The unexpected deaths occurred Thursday and Friday.

"Since all three had received medication which appeared to be at fault, the hospital immediately called the FDA who have investigated the matter and are still investigating," Whitlow explained yesterday afternoon.

The hospital administrator said that an anesthetic material appeared to be involved. He indicated he did not know by whom or how it was administered.

Preliminary indications are that ether was administered with a sedative — surital, an induction agent used prior to anesthetic according to a hospital spokesman.

★ ★ ★

The pale yellow powder was supposedly mixed with sterile distilled water.

REACTION NOTED

The patients' reaction was first noticed in the recovery room after surgery, said Whitlow, when the patients "did lapse into an illness."

Whitlow said autopsies were performed on the two children by the hospital's pathologist Dr. Joseph Maxwell. The results are not yet ready for release, Whitlow said.

Whitlow stopped all surgery yesterday at the hospital, pending the results of the probe by the FDA.

The first victim of the suspected faulty medication was Kimberly Bruneel, a pupil at Whitfield School. She died Thursday following an appendectomy.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Covington, mother of two children and a former Community National Bank employe died Friday. She also had an appendectomy. The Ferndale youth died the same day, after a hernia operation.

Death certificates issued for the victims listed the common cause of death as pulmonary edema—a swelling in the lungs which halts breathing.

This was attributed to a "therapeutic misadventure," according to a hospital spokesman.

Eisenhower 'Feeling Fine' in Washington Hospital

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was moved into Walter Reed Army Hospital today to complete recovery from his heart attack and was reported "feeling fine and in good spirits."

That description of the 75-year-old five-star general was given some two and a half hours after Eisenhower, brought by train to Alexandria, Va., and flown by helicopter to the hospital, had been put to bed there.

★ ★ ★

Earlier reports from aboard the special train were that everything had gone smoothly on the overnight run from Ft. Gordon, Ga., where Eisenhower had been a patient for more than two weeks.

The summation of Eisenhower's condition was given to a reporter just before Lt. Col. Edward J. Costello, information chief at the hospital, read to newsmen a more formal bulletin which said Eisenhower's doctors "report that he had no ill effects from the train and helicopter trip from Ft. Gordon, Ga."

READ BULLETIN

"Physical examination after his admission to (Walter Reed) reveals blood pressure, pulse and respiration to be within normal limits," the bulletin said.

The medical bulletin also reported:

"He (Eisenhower) enjoyed a good breakfast on the train and on arrival at Walter Reed General Hospital he was smiling and in good spirits.

★ ★ ★

"He was accompanied on the helicopter by Col. Loren Parmley (chief of medicine at Walter Reed), Dr. Thomas W. Mattingly (Eisenhower's chief doctor during his stay at Ft. Gordon), Maj. Andre J. Ognibene and Maj. Velma Barkley, all of whom had been in attendance with him at Ft. Gordon."

The statement also said Mrs. Eisenhower "will be with her husband in the suite today, but will stay overnight in a nearby hotel."

The special train pulled in at nearby Alexandria, Va., shortly after 7 a.m., but there was a halt of more than an hour while final preparations were made aboard. Word from the train was that everything on the train had gone smoothly.

★ ★ ★

The touchdown on the hospital ground was at 8:41 a.m.

Aides immediately started moving the 75-year-old five-star general on a litter to a waiting ambulance.

Police Thwart Plot to Hurl Acid at Bobby

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian police say they have foiled a plot to throw acid in Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's face.

Police arrested three students last night and sought two others.

Officials said the attack was planned for noon today during a visit by the New York Democrat to the federal University of Pernambuco here.

The acid-throwing was to be a signal for anti-U.S. demonstrations throughout Latin America, police said.

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, are on a South American tour. They arrived in this Brazilian port last night but rested after a heavy schedule and were not available for comment.

EGGS THROWN

Kennedy brushed off Sunday an incident last week in Concepcion, Chile, where Communist students shouted him down; hurled eggs and spat on him.

Snowstorms Lash Europe; Bringing Hazards, Wolves

LONDON (AP) — Snowstorms raged across Europe last night and early today, bringing the hazards of icy roads, blizzards —and hungry wolves.

★ ★ ★

The wolves appeared near Teramo, Italy, driven from the mountains by the first heavy snows of the year. One pack killed a mule while nearby a farmer blasted with a rifle to drive off another pack attacking his cattle.

★ ★ ★

A wave of cold air sweeping from the Balkans brought the snow to North Italy, and collided with a front of warmer air around the Italian Riviera, causing thunderstorms. Gusts of wind reaching 60 miles an hour lashed Genoa and Viareggion, forcing ships to seek shelter.

★ ★ ★

The storms put an end to seaside frolicking. Up to yesterday bathers had been sunning themselves on the beaches of Sicily.

Area Woman Is Shot by Son

Victim Satisfactory at Pontiac General

A 43-year-old Walled Lake mother was shot in the face last night by a 15-year-old son who said he didn't know his father's 22-caliber rifle was loaded.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Walter Lorion of 1016 Pontiac Trail is under intensive care but in satisfactory condition, according to a spokesman at Pontiac General Hospital.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Robert Lorion was released by detectives to the custody of Oakland County juvenile authorities. A hearing was scheduled for this afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Robert told them he "foolingly aimed" the gun at his mother after she told him he "couldn't go out."

★ ★ ★

The rifle discharged, striking the woman in the mouth. Deputies said doctors indicated the bullet then slanted downward and lodged near the back of Mrs. Lorion's neck.

GIVES FIRST AID

Walter Lorion, the boy's father! told deputies he had kept the rifle — unloaded — by the family's front door since reports of a 'slasher' assailant in Nankin Township of Wayne County.

Lorion said he loaded the weapon Sunday after more reports of attacks in the Nankin area. He said his son was not present when he inserted the cartridges in the gun.

Seeks Support for Embargo

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today Britain will impose an oil and general trade embargo on Rhodesia only if other countries join in to make it effective.

★ ★ ★

In a statement to the House of Commons on the resolution of the U.N. Security Council last Saturday, Wilson said his government does not regard its terms to be mandatory.

★ ★ ★

The British delegate on the Security Council had voted for a general trade embargo, including oil, with a reservation and because the resolution represented a compromise, he said.

★ ★ ★

Then Wilson added the British government must insist whatever embargo is applied must be effective.

★ ★ ★

The U.N. resolution called on all nations "to do their utmost in order to break all economic relations with Southern Rhodesia, including an embargo on oil and petroleum products."

SANCTIONS OPPOSED

Wilson was being peppered with questions by opposition Conservatives who, in the main, oppose oil and other stiff sanctions against Prime Minister Ian Smith's breakaway white Rhodesian regime.

Town Makes Ice Water

STERLINE, Kan. (AP) — The Sterline city government ordered a hundred pounds of dry ice and two gallons of alcohol and deliberately froze some of the city water lines. The reason? They did not want water to run out while the fire hydrants were being repaired.

Thieves Read Sign

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Thieves who stole more than $2,000 in merchandise from a shop here apparently took the name of the store literally. The establishment is called the "Lots-for-Little Store."

Bandit Threatens Station Owner, Then Robs Him

A shotgun-wielding bandit wearing a blue ski mask last night robbed a service station owner of $100.60 after first threatening to kill him, according to Pontiac police.

Ewing Lecornu, 62, of 1466 Rosedale, Sylvan Lake, said a masked man came into his station at 411 W. Huron about 7:30 p.m., pointed a 16-gauge sawed-off shotgun at him and said, "All right, don't move or I'll kill you."

Lecornu said the bandit then took $35 from his wallet, $50 from the back of the station and a coin changer containing $15.60.

National Stockpiles Serve to Balance the Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The government has now altered the role of the $8.1-billion national stockpile of key commodities so that it will serve as an economic balance wheel as well as a military weapon.

That balancing use was not foreseen in the various laws that began accumulation of supplies of 77 strategic commodities in 1939. The stated purpose of the stockpiles was to guarantee strategic materials for national defense needs.

* * *

President Johnson's administration has put the full weight of the stockpiles behind the administration's economic guideposts for the booming peacetime economy.

During the past two weeks a government announcement that it would release 200,000 tons each of aluminum and copper from the stockpiles served to force major producers of both metals to rescind price increases.

OTHER SALES

With much less fanfare, the government has been selling tin, lead and zinc this year. The sales have served to keep prices of those metals, which are in tight supply internationally, from soaring.

Repeatedly, the government has contended that certain price rises lead to inflation. It has established guideposts defining any price or wage increase in excess of 3.2 per cent as inflationary.

* * *

The aluminum boost was less than 3.2 per cent; the copper increase was more.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said last week the government "will blow the whistle impartially" on economic changes exceeding the limits.

The national stockpile represents a formidable whistle.

MARKET VALUE

As of June 30, 1965, the Office of Emergency Planning figured the stockpile's market value at $8,151,847,100. Of that total, about $4.4 billion is classified as in excess of defense and space needs.

How can the release of stockpiled material hold down prices?

Price structures usually reflect the interworking of supply and demand. As demand advances close to or past available supply, prices go up. If an excess supply develops, prices go down.

The government went into stockpiling on the eve of World War II when Congress appropriated $70 million to purchase tin, rubber, quartz, crystal and chromite.

1946 LAW

A 1946 law created the national stockpile, biggest of the three that now exist. It has nearly $6 billion worth of materials stored in warehouses, General Services Administration depots and the like.

The Defense Production Act of 1950 sought to encourage new mining and manufacturing facilities to meet Korean war needs. The government agreed to buy excess production.

* * *

The last of the excess production contracts expired two years ago, but the stockpile still holds some $900 million worth of materiel.

The so-called supplemental stockpile consists of $1.3 billion worth of minerals and metals obtained in foreign barter for agricultural surpluses. An offshoot of that is the small Commodity Credit Corp. stockpile.

STOCKPILE CONTROL

All of the stockpiles are under the supervision of the Office of Emergency Planning. Quotas for each material now are based on projected U.S. needs for a three-year war.

Much of the present surplus was accumulated prior to 1958 when projected needs were based on a five-year war.

Stockpiled items range from feathers to industrial diamonds. However, 13 items account for three-fourths of the inventory. Jewel bearings now are the only item being added to the stockpile.

Without fanfare, some $1.2 billion in surplus stockpile materiel has been sold in the past three years.

RULES VARY

Disposal rules vary. Legislation now before Congress would codify various laws affecting the stockpile and allow for 60-day disposal unless either house of Congress opposed the move.

Under present law, the government generally must get congressional approval to dispose of surplus, then wait six months.

* * *

However, in the case of aluminum, some 500,000 tons are free of the congressional approval requirement. In the case of copper, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach issued a special ruling that the release had been taken "as required for purposes of common defense," ac allowed by the law.

Still a third method of disposal would be for the Office of Emergency Planning to declare a stockpiled material obsolescent for defense purposes.

The stockpiles long have been a source of political controversy. Their emergence as an economic balance wheel would indicate still more.

Charge Religion Class in Utica Violates Laws

By JANICE KLOUSER

UTICA — The legality of religious instruction in a public school building while regular classes are in session was challenged at a Utica Board of Education meeting last night.

James Husk, chairman of the week-old Congress for Public Schools, charged the board with violating a Supreme Court decision and Michigan Ruling 4405 regarding the teaching of religious exercises during school hours.

Allowing Catholic catechism classes to be held in Utica schools while first-graders are still in class in another part of the building is illegal, Husk charged.

He said his group, in conjunction with several others including the American Civil Liberties Union, will go to court if the board, after getting an attorney general's opinion, maintains its present position.

★ ★ ★

The catechism classes are held at 3:40 p.m. at Switzer, Ewell, Disco, Harvey and Sterling elementary schools. The normal school closing hour is 3:30.

LATE CLASSES

First-graders, however, are on half-day sessions and are in class until 4:30 p.m.

Schools Supt. Phillip E. Runkel claims that school is officially over at 3:30. He says the children are all dismissed at this time and that those taking religious instruction then return to their catechism classes.

He also pointed out that the situation with the first-graders is temporary. It will change, he said, when new school buildings are completed, probably by next September.

★ ★ ★

Runkel said he did not permit the classes in the schools until he had obtained an opinion from the school attorney and the State Department of Public Instruction.

BUILDING USE

"The board and the administration believe in separation of church and state," he said, "but we also believe in making full use of the buildings. These are public buildings for public use."

In 1962, Attorney General Paul L. Adams ruled that "the board of education of a school district is authorized . . . by Section 530 of the School Code of 1955 to make public school buildings available during off-school hours for holding religion instruction classes, as long as the authority of the school is not utilized to secure attendance of pupils to such classes, and the use is simply a use of the school building."

Based on this ruling, George F. Roberts, attorney for the board of education, and Paul DeRose, school finance consultant of the State Department of Public Instruction, ruled that it is permissible for students to be engaged in religious instruction after the regular school day, even though another group of students is still engaged in their regular school day in another part of the building.

★ ★ ★

Runkel said Eugene Krasicky, assistant to the attorney general, told him by telephone that both of these opinions are "exactly correct."

OTHER VIEW

Board member J. Richard Lee, however, obtained an opinion from attorney Leo Kistner of Howard, Kistner and Dranchak, of Detroit, who holds the opposite view.

He said that in his opinion use of the school for religious instruction at this time is contrary to the attorney general's opinion in that it is not after school hours.

This is the view held by Husk and his 50-member group, which he said represents many churches.

Husk, who lives at 3925 Sandy Creek, said the attorney general's opinion states that the students cannot conduct religious exercises on school property during regular school hours. He maintained that the board of education "should live up to its responsibility and take steps to end any such program."

CHILDREN INVITED

He said he has been informed by some mothers that their children have been invited to attend the catechism classes, not knowing what they were all about.

Another resident said his daughter told him that pupils were being excused from her class to attend catechism.

Runkel said he has heard of no such cases, but if he finds out it is true, it will be corrected.

Husk said his group will wait until the board gets a ruling from the attorney general.

"If they maintain that they are within their rights," he said, "we'll take it to court."

He declined to say what groups, besides the American Civil Liberties Union, are involved.

The board has sent the opposing opinions to Attorney General Frank J. Kelley for an official ruling. Until that time, it will "stand pat," acording to William Roberts, board president.

Runkel said this is a difficult problem which will exist until the new buildings are completed and first-graders end their half-day sessions.

★ ★ ★

"We'll have to learn to work together," he said.

"If the attorney general's opinion holds that we are wrong, I will have to call these people and tell them they can't use the buildings."

The meeting was prompted by the recent death of a boy who was struck by a car while crossing Auburn.

The meeting was one of several which are planned.

Twenty-One Contestants Enter Clarkston Junior Miss Contest

CLARKSTON — Twenty-one girls will vie for the title of 1966 Clarkston Junior Miss in the fourth annual Jaycee Junior Miss Pageant at 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Clarkston High School.

The winner will be crowned by this year's Junior Miss, Sandra Smalley of 5247 Sashabaw, Independence Township.

Judging the competition will be Julie O'Brien, a secretary at Pontiac Motor Division; W. Cadman Prout, Oakland County Friend of the Court; and Daniel Murphy, chairman of the Oakland County Board of Auditors.

The girls will be judged on scholastic achievement, mental alertness, creative and performing arts and youth fitness. They will have personal interviews with the judges during the day.

The evening portion of the program will consist of talent and evening gown competition.

★ ★ ★

The winner of the pageant will go on to compete in the Michigan Junior Miss Pageant Jan. 29 and 30 at Pontiac Northern High School.

TO MAKE AWARDS

Chevrolet Motor Division will make awards totaling $3,000 to the top five contestants in the state competition.

Chairmen of the local pageant are Robert Jones, 6683 Wealthy and Don Crabill, 6253 Cramlane, both of Independence Township.

Tickets may be purchased at the door.

Hope to Alter Charter Rule

Assessment Proposal May Be Put on Ballot

MILFORD — A proposal to strike from the village charter the controversial special assessment election provision was officially brought before the Village Council last night.

As provided in the charter, the proposal was tabled for 30 days.

Councilmen next month will vote on whether the proposal will be placed on the March 14 ballot to be considered by the village's electorate.

Motion to take the question to village voters was made by Councilman Ralph Wiese and supported by Councilman Merlin Feigley.

★ ★ ★

Voters last March turned down a council-offered proposal to rescind the provision, which calls for special assessment districts to be established only after approved by the electorate.

VOTE TALLY

The vote on the question was 443-339.

A year earlier, they had adopted the amendment incorporating the controversial provision into the charter.

That proposal passed 494-367.

It changed village policy to provide that "no special assessment shall be made unless approved by a majority of the qualified electors of the special assessment district who shall vote thereon."

★ ★ ★

However, it did not set up the machinery for determining majority opinion or the qualifications of voters.

ACTION STALLED

Advised by their bonding attorneys that the amendment is "ambiguous and unworkable," councilmen have taken no action on any public works program.

But they still are interested in repairing village streets.

It was a proposed $213,000 street improvement program that resulted in adoption of the amendment in the first place.

★ ★ ★

Objecting to the proposed method of financing the program, Paul A. Plotzer initiated the petition to have the amendment placed on the ballot.

STREET WORK

The council recently has discussed improvements for South Main, Union, Hickory and a portion of Summit streets.

"But we can't do anything," Village Clerk Mrs. Margaret Knight said. "We don't have enough money to do them from the general fund. They would have to be done by special assessment."

In other action last night, the council received a report from Village Manager J. Stuart Brophy on a meeting with Detroit Water System representatives last week.

★ ★ ★

They told him that Detroit water could be made available to the village within five years, he said, depending on the demand.

Much of that demand would hinge on whether the Ford Motor Co. wants Detroit water for its Wixom plant, and officials there have indicated they're not interested, Brophy reported.

They'll Survive Thanksgiving—But Christmas Is Coming

Silence Next Week

Huge Turkey Farm Markets 20,000 Birds

By BILL EASTHAM
Asst. City Editor—Suburban

ADDISON TOWNSHIP — An eerie silence will descend on Travis Farms next week.

For the past six months the rolling 850 acres a mile east of Lakeville have reverberated with the cacophony that could only be made by 20,000 turkeys.

The farm at 1400 Mack is still pretty noisy with some 4,000 Christmas dinners waiting for the executioner.

But 16,000 of the ungainly gobblers have been silenced since the first of October in preparation for Thursday's annual Big Dinner.

★ ★ ★

Processing turkeys on such a large scale requires assembly line methods, for which Travis Farms is well equipped.

SEALED IN PLASTIC

Only a few minutes are required to transform a turkey from live to oven-ready. The birds are tightly sealed in a plastic bag, boxed and frozen for shipping.

Most of this year's crop will go to midwest manufacturers for distribution to their employes and customers, according to Robert Smith, who has been manager of Travis Farms for 25 years.

A few are sold live and retail trade at the farm office has been brisk this week.

The birds get their start at Travis Farms as day-old poults. During their 24-week life span they are fed a bountiful diet of corn and protein supplement. Variety is provided by the grass they pick while they're on "pasture."

★ ★ ★

They are guaranteed to be plump and tender when they reach the Thanksgiving table.

Turkeys, however, are not the only "crop" at Travis Farms, owned by Paul H. Travis of 1601 Yule.

HORSES AND SHEEP, TOO

A herd of 450 sheep are presently grazing on Travis land, along with about 25 head of registered quarter horses and Appaloosas.

Turkey feed was provided by 200 acres of corn this year and another 60 acres was devoted to wheat, Smith said.

The farm has been operating with a skeleton crew this week, as most of the Thanksgiving rush is over.

The pace will pick up again Monday, however, when processing of Christmas turkeys begins.

The bulk of the farm's Christmas business is also provided by generous employers, who dole out "Tender Travis Turkeys — Raised the Modern Way" to their employes.

Square Dancing Due

TROY — A square dance will be held at the First Methodist Church from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m. Saturday.

Dan Campbell of Troy will be the caller with instructions for beginners.

What's Four Roses doing with a Fifth?

Plenty.

First we took our fifth size bottle and redesigned it. (All other sizes, too.) Gave it a clean, elegant, handsome look, right?

But most important is what we're doing inside the fifth. We've added a Fifth Rose—the great new taste in Four Roses. The honestly good taste of Four Roses. The kind of whiskey taste you don't just say you like, but you really do like.

(A bonus note: see how surprisingly reasonable a good-tasting whiskey can be. The fact is, Four Roses doesn't cost any more any more.)

So now there's no reason in the world why you shouldn't buy Four Roses.

Agreed?

Record-Breaking Rains Swamp South California; More of Same Forecast

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Record-breaking rains swamped southern California today in a sea of mudslides and flooded streets, isolated the desert resort of Palm Springs, knocked out power, closed schools and caused evacuation of scores of families.

More than three inches of rain have fallen since Sunday in the second storm in a week. The Weather Bureau forecast at least four more inches by Wednesday and another storm loomed for Thursday.

* * *

All roads to Palm Springs were closed Monday night when flash floods roared down from the San Jacinto Mountains and flooded highways. Helicopters picked up stranded motorists. Power was out in the area for 45 minutes.

Fight fans heading for the Cassius Clay-Floyd Patterson match in Las Vegas — some with $100 tickets — were stranded in Los Angeles when airlines canceled late afternoon flights. Planes coming in from other points also bypassed Los Vegas because of bad weather.

RAINS CONTINUE

Continual rains delayed removal of tons of muck and rock which sheared off from Pacific Palisades Monday, blocking a 200-yard stretch of Pacific Coast highway. A beach refreshment stand was flattened.

Five hundred children were evacuated from an elementary school in the Ventura County community of Thousand Oaks, northwest of Los Angeles, when officials feared a mudslide might block the only access road.

* * *

In the nearby Simi Valley, where 200 homes were damaged when a flood control channel collapsed in last week's storms, emergency crews bulldozed the debris-filled channel.

More than 100 families were evacuated during the night from canyon homes rimming Los Angeles after mud slides threatened.

RESORT ISOLATED

The San Bernardino Mountain resort of Big Bear was virtually isolated when all but one back road were closed by slides.

Up to 16 inches of rain has been reported in some mountain areas.

* * *

The Army Corps of Engineers maintained a 24-hour operation in the Emergency Flood Control Center in Los Angeles. Officials feared flooding in areas where the ground was already saturated.

A radio station in Corona, south of Los Angeles, was knocked off the air Monday night when a pond overflowed, shorting the antenna. Johnny Jay, engineer-announcer who was alone in the studio, had to call sheriff's deputies to get him out of the flood-surrounded station.

WETTEST MONTH

Added to last week's 5.25-inch rainfall, the November total in Los Angeles of more than eight inches made the month the wettest in Weather Bureau records. The highest prior November was in 1900, when 6.53 inches fell.

Rain this month has already totaled more than half the annual average rainfall of 14.68 for Los Angeles.

* * *

The torrential rains have been caused by a large low pressure area hovering over California and the Northwest.

The weather system was expected to bring very heavy snowfall to mountain areas in northern and central California.

LANDSIDE CLOSES HIGHWAY — A roadside cafe on the Pacific Coast Highway in West Los Angeles was crushed by a landslide yesterday and the road closed. The slide was caused by heavy rains that have saturated the area.

Freshman Senators—7

Tydings Voices Views Like Veteran

(EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the seventh in a 10-part series on freshmen senators. This dispatch deals with Sen. Joseph D. Tydings of Maryland.)

By MARGARENT A. KILGORE
United Press International

WASHINGTON — Democratic Sen. Joseph D. Tydings has violated, with gleeful and frequent abandon, the ancient Senate tradition that new members should be seen but never heard.

Nor has Tydings any apology to those among his elders who might have been annoyed at listening to the rookie from Maryland on many subjects, often at considerable length.

"On the contrary, I was encouraged to speak out," Tydings said in an interview. "Not only did Mike Mansfield tell the freshmen to speak out if they felt strongly about an issue, but so did the committee chairmen."

The freshman senator is a member of the important judiciary, space and District of Columbia committees.

* * *

Of his efforts to block the durable Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., on the issue of legislative reapportionment, Tydings says only: "That was lots of fun."

POLL TAX PROVISION

Also fun, in his view, were the efforts of the "young Turks" led by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., to obtain a provision in the civil rights bill to ban the poll tax.

The tall, blond 37-year-old senator, who doubles as a gentleman farmer, has led the parade of first-term senators in speaking out on issues, considered highly unusual in a body where tradition rules.

Summing up his first year, Tydings says the Senate "is everything I thought it would be and more."

* * *

The senator is a close friend of Sen. Edward M. (Ted) Kennedy, D-Mass., and his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., another freshman.

NATIONAL SCENE

In fact, it was the late President John F. Kennedy who launched Tydings into the national political scene by naming him U.S. district attorney in 1960.

Tydings and Robert Kennedy sit in the back row of desks on the Senate floor with Sen. Donald S. Russell, D-S.C., and Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

"We're a pretty opinionated back row," Tydings said with a grin

However, it bothers him to be considered "one of the young liberals" or "in the mold of the New Frontier," as he has been characterized.

* * *

"I vote my conscience and I vote for what I think is best for the people of Maryland," said Tydings, foster son of the late Sen. Millard Tydings of Maryland. He uses a desk that belonged to his father.

CONSCIOUS EFFORT

Tydings lives with his wife, Virginia, and three children on a farm estate at Havre de Grace in northern Maryland.

The senator said he and his wife have made "a conscious effort" to stay off Washington's always busy social circuit.

"If you decide to party in this town, it's a constant thing," he observed. "I just don't feel I can spare the time."

(Tomorrow: Sen. Donald S. Russel of South Carolina.)

Port Huron Man Arrested in Kidnaping

SANDUSKY (AP) — Sheriff's men Monday arrested a Port Huron man on charges of kidnaping a 13-year-old girl "newsboy." The unharmed girl managed to escape from her abductor's car, police said.

* * *

Robert Willmarth, 48, stood mute during arraignment. He demanded examination which was set for Nov. 29. Willmarth was held in lieu of $5,000 bond.

Sanilac County Sheriff Ross Dundas said the girl, Linda Williams of Croswell, told officers she was picked up by the man while delivering newspapers near Applegate.

OFFERED RIDE

Linda said the man pretended to be a friend of her father and offered her a ride home. She said he drove past her home and she leaped from the car at an intersection two miles south of Croswell.

A woman motorist picked up Linda and took her home.

State Police arrested Willmarth a short time later.

Coercion of Industry White House Black Eye

As government influence grows in the social areas of the Nation, it has increasingly come to exert an unhealthy leverage in our traditionally free economy.

Three examples of Big Government moving into the business community with the big stick was JOHN F. KENNEDY'S coercion of the steel industry three years ago and the recent oral arm-twisting applied by President JOHNSON to the aluminum and copper industries.

★ ★ ★

In each case, well-justified, moderate price increases resulted in White House "persuasion" that induced the industries to cancel them.

In getting his way with steel, KENNEDY had no more than Administration pressure as ammunition. But because of the huge stockpiles of aluminum and copper maintained by the government, JOHNSON was able to apply the threat of dumping huge quantities of the products on the commercial market.

Obviously, such action would depress the market for both metals, to the disadvantage of the companies involved.

★ ★ ★

At stake is the independence of American business. There is scarcely an industrial segment of our economy today that in one way or another is not vulnerable to pressure from Washington.

To subject business to the political caprice or expedience of a national administration is not only a breach of economic security and harmful to America's concept of free enterprise — it is both dishonorable and vicious.

There should be a quick end to it.

Indonesia Beckoning U.S. Demonstrators

From a position of heirs apparent to President-for-life SUKARNO, the once powerful Indonesian Communists have fallen on evil days.

Dispatches from Java report that continuing army pressure has forced them to break up into roving bands of hit-and-run terrorists. In guerrilla warfare, not unlike that in South Viet Nam, they slip in and out of the jungles to attack and burn villages, kidnap and murder non-Communist leaders.

★ ★ ★

Surely the time is due for a few demonstrators in this country to protest what's going on over there.

Using the same reasoning that some have used regarding Viet Nam, all this suffering and bloodshed could be avoided if the army would stop hounding the Communists.

All they wanted to do was take over the government!

Sees Dim Light Shed by Tests for Aptitude

Here's an encouraging word for parents who may have gone into shock when Junior emerged from his psychological aptitude tests branded with having more talent for digging a ditch than running a bank.

A Duke University expert in such matters says that such tests often aren't worth a whoop and may, in fact, do as much harm as good.

★ ★ ★

Noting that our current society seems to have a "kind of addiction" to psychological testing, the authority lists several reasons for what he calls "psychometric malpractice":

● Many of the tests themselves have little scientific merit.

● They are often misused by the people who give and interpret them.

● They are misunderstood by the general public. After all, it was explained, such tests are only one factor to be considered in determining a person's capabilities.

Professional support is thus publicly given to what some laymen have felt — that the Country and the world may have become a little test-happy in recent years.

★ ★ ★

It has been said, indeed, that even such men as ABRAHAM LINCOLN and THOMAS EDISON might have been stumped by the tests now being given applicants for staff jobs in some companies.

All of which should be comforting to those who may not have acquitted themselves too brilliantly in aptitude tests—and to their families.

Image of JFK Transcends Fact

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — In two years President John F. Kennedy has become a legend, if not a myth.

MARLOW

Day by day hundreds of people, sometimes thousands, make a pilgrimage to the Arlington Cemetery grave of this witty, graceful, articulate, almost boyish president who was assassinated at 46 Nov. 22, 1963.

To millions here and abroad he has become a shining figure, perhaps because of his unspoiled enthusiasm a symbol of what they hope for in the future, either for themselves or mankind.

He meant different things to different people and thus in different ways was the image of what they would like to be: intelligent, rich, successful, good-looking, or concerned about people.

But now, after two years, it might be asked as it is bound to be asked in the years ahead:

★ ★ ★

Of all those who revere his memory, how many can say that they have any real recollection of what he did as president to earn this devotion? Perhaps not many, for their emotions are mixed up with memory.

REMEMBERED EPISODES

A few episodes of his presidency are easily remembered.

The first was a disaster, which he honestly acknowledged, when he let Cuban exiles invade their homeland only to perish on the beaches at the Bay of Pigs because the American forces did not back them up.

There was his great triumph when he faced down Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in the Cuban missile crisis.

★ ★ ★

In between were all the other days of his presidency. All of them had life and spirit but his accomplishments were hardly distinguished enough to rate him among the great presidents or even the near great.

WAS NO MATCH

He was no match for President Johnson, for instance, in getting Congress to do his will, although in fairness it must be remembered Johnson has had a far greater percentage of his own Democrats there to work with.

President Abraham Lincoln was the more tragic, harassed and complicated figure, a president whose problems were beyond anything Kennedy ever encountered.

For this reason over the years it is unlikely there will ever be for Kennedy the same vast literature and continuing interest as there has been for Lincoln.

★ ★ ★

Nevertheless, the reverence for Kennedy should last a long time. A good young man brutally killed in his golden time is an old and respected story that has captured the minds and hearts of people through the centuries.

David Lawrence Says:

Race Emphasis Brings Rancor

WASHINGTON — The stimulation of racial consciousness is becoming perhaps the biggest single barrier in America today to the attainment of either the spirit or the letter of racial equality. The process of reason as the best means for reconciliation of differences is being given less emphasis.

LAWRENCE

The main dependence is being placed instead on the coercive powers of the law. This, in turn, increases bitter feelings on both sides.

The recent proposal of President Johnson, whereby federal laws would undertake to determine how juries shall be chosen, is likely to have an unintended result. It may make it possible for criminals to escape punishment, as "hung" juries —disagreeing on the verdict— become more and more frequent.

Former State Senator Alva Brumfield of Louisiana, a trustee of the Louisiana Bar Association and a trustee of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers, who considers himself a liberal and has both white and Negro clients, deplores anti-Negro sentiment.

He points out, however, the difficulties in trying to deal with racial differences in selecting juries. He says:

"It is part of a lawyer's job to utilize the prejudices of the community.

★ ★ ★

"Theoretically, jurors are supposed to be completely impartial. But practically speaking, every man has likes and dislikes. The law didn't create anti-Negro sentiment, for example, and the defense lawyer can't ignore it."

CREATE AN ISSUE

The very existence of a law spelling out or even vaguely referring to racial discrimination in the selection or jurors will give lawyers an opportunity to make an issue of it in almost every case.

The problem would be further complicated if the law refers also to religious discrimination, because defense attorneys then could insist upon all-Catholic or all-Protestant or all-Jewish panels.

One difficulty has already arisen through the lowering of voting standards.

★ ★ ★

Now that the civil rights law says that in certain areas it isn't necessary to be able to read or write in order to vote, the lists of voters from which jury panels are chosen are being expanded so that almost anyone becomes qualified for jury service.

SAMPLE DISPATCH

Here's a sample of what is happening as related in a dispatch from East Naples, Fla., published in the Miami Herald of Nov. 14:

"A by-product of the federal civil rights program has tied a knot in the Collier County judicial process. As a result, a Miami man faces retrial after an all-Negro jury found him both guilty and innocent of interfering with telephone service, a felony.

"The heart of the confused case is a confused jury, some of whose members, including the foreman, later admitted they were illiterate . . . .

★ ★ ★

"Jury panels come from the voter lists, and the literacy requirement was not an issue before, because illiterates could not vote . . . .

"The jury deliberated for an hour and 45 minutes and returned a verdict. Foreman Melt Williams pronounced D'Andrea guilty, but the written verdict he signed declared the man innocent . . . .

"Williams said he couldn't read and write and the others told him to make the decision. When he said 'guilty,' the others gave him a verdict to sign and he believed he 'was tricked' into signing the wrong paper.

"Judge Smith recalled the jury and questioned the members. Two of the six men said they believed D'Andrea was guilty, two thought he was innocent, and two thought him innocent but that the jury as a whole found him guilty."

The Constitution sets forth specifically that an accused person must be tried in the state or district in which the offense occurs.

★ ★ ★

But if the federal government now steps in and makes it possible for cases to be transferred to other states, and if racial consciousness is introduced as a factor in the selection of jurors, the very prejudices which the civil rights crusade was designed to overcome may be stimulated and the attainment of impartial juries may not be realized.

Bob Considine Says:

Magazines' Computers Have Got My Number

NEW YORK — The machines are after me again.

CONSIDINE

I can't break Newsweek of its habit of sending me two copies every week, whether there's any news or not. Watch it there, you crazy Univac or unicorn. Lay off that repeat on 3208-CNS-2000 CHT - IR 11660 M. That's me. I buy only one subscription.

Have the same problem with Reader's Digest, whose address cograph hieroglyphic hiccups, when it gets to my name, and sends me two. America, the Jesuit magazine who knows me best as AXL0474-3312CCOM-J000, as close friends always call me, also sends me a dogmatic double-header.

There's a machine somewhere in the Internal Revenue Service that registers "TILT" every time my card is fed to it, which is apparently quite often.

★ ★ ★

I'm in the machine's dog house department because somebody who punched my card punched 578-08-9129 for my Social Security number. Any fool would know it is 578-09-9129. There's been talk about it for years.

BELLS RING

But not among the machines. Every time my card goes through, bells ring. There's a flag on the play. Then I get a letter, also written by a machine and signed by a large tin robot, which warns sternly that my salary is about to be garnisheed.

Photostats of canceled checks covering all taxes are rushed to the machine. It eats them, burps and then sends another dire warning.

That scoundrel 578-08-9129 apparently blew to Brasilia in 1937, the lucky bum.

Alan King, the most trenchant observer of Jet Age Man's multiple frailties, easily tops a piece I did the other day on the difficulty of wringing the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth out of the dear airline girls who handle inquiries about the state of the flying weather.

"I rushed to Kennedy Airport recently in terrible weather because the girl had told me my plane would depart 'on schedule'," Alan told a delighted Ramsbees luncheon at the Waldorf.

"Three hours later I was still sitting in the waiting room. A superintendent in a blue blazer and merit badge came over to me and asked, 'Anything we can do for you?' I said, 'Yeah, follow me.'

★ ★ ★

"I went to a pay phone, dialed the airline's number, and asked about weather conditions. The same girl said the same thing: My flight — already three hours late — would depart 'on schedule.'

"I asked her to repeat it for the superintendent, and darned if she didn't."

Voice of the People:

Supreme Court Ruling Discussed by Readers

Is this America where prayers in school are unconstitutional and Communists aren't? Can we really be sending our young men to Viet Nam to die fighting the Communists while our own Supreme Court gives legal recognition to the Reds?

★ ★ ★

Many of us go along with The Press editorial suggestion that perhaps the Court should itself be the object of an investigation. Consider that these Supreme Court justices are in reality rewriting the law of the land by their personal interpretation of the Constitution.

★ ★ ★

Supreme Court decisions are changing the makeup of many state legislatures, outlawing school prayers and religious observances, failing to define lewd books as obscene, and now saying registration of Communists is unconstitutional. Do you want this to continue? Also, consider that Supreme Court justices hold their offices for life unless impeached.

AROUSED CITIZEN

If the Voice of the People had a "Cheers and Jeers" department, we would have to agree that the "cheers" go to the editorial on the Supreme Court and what it is doing to our country. The "jeers" should go to the Supreme Court for their decision which states that the Communist Party no longer has to register in the United States.

★ ★ ★

It's about time some of our citizens voiced their opinions and let our senators, congressmen, etc., know that we are not going to sit idly by and let our country be washed down the road to communism.

DISGUSTED

We could do without the purposed teaching of the American Communist Party on nationwide television and radio.

★ ★ ★

I can understand why the American Communist Party won its recent case before the United States Supreme Court. Our Constitution explains that.

★ ★ ★

But what is this free country of ours coming to if Americans allow communism to come into our homes via television and radio to influence our younger generation? If communism is allowed to come into my home via television or radio, I will turn my television and radio off forever.

ALLEN SPARKS
AMERICAN CITIZEN AND PROUD OF IT!

Your excellent editorial on the Supreme Court giving recognition to the Communist Party echoes my feelings. This latest Supreme Court hyprocrisy in effect kills the 1950 Subversive Activities Control Act which has not convicted a single Communist, thanks to Supreme Court's hampering decisions. In parallel, the Court might rule that it is unconstitutional to keep police records on murderers, rapists and robbers at large for that also might "tend to incriminate them on the basis of their affiliations."

★ ★ ★

Impeachment is the only way to remove these men constitutionally for they have this job for life. How long will citizens sit by and let the wrong men destroy their freedom and their country? They could read Senator Eastland's (whom you quoted in the editorial) feelings on the Supreme Court's pro-communist attitude in May 2, 1962 Congressional Record.

LET'S KEEP AMERICA FREE

Now that the Supreme Court has let the Communists out from under here at home, and with tyranny just 90 miles from our shores, why not bring all Vietnamese who want to live under freedom to the U.S.? Our boys could then return home and stop the spread of tyranny in this hemisphere. Why take a stand in Asia and not in the Americas?

Avondale School Board Wants Harmony

The people of the Avondale school district feel sorry for Mr. "Shaken Again." He should realize by now the board has been more than fair and gave the superintendent time to look for a position some time ago. The new board is determined to bring harmony and success to a school which has already had more than its share of bad publicity.

Children of Amish Win Battle

HAZELTON, Iowa (UPI) — Little Amish children, succeeding where their parents failed, turned back the power of the state with a hymn and remained free today to attend their simple, rustic country schools.

County school officials consented to a temporary moratorium on their efforts to force the children into public schools their families consider to be "too worldly."

After a schoolhouse showdown here in which the singing children thwarted county authorities, Gov. Harold E. Hughes stepped into the three-year controversy yesterday and announced the truce.

It was the children themselves who made the day.

★ ★ ★

County school officials, bolstered by a truancy officer and sheriff's deputies, pushed their way into a one-room Amish schoolhouse yesterday in an attempt to haul the children off to public school.

BARRIER BROKE

A barrier of bearded, stern-faced Amish men broke in the path of the county authorities. Then, as the parents stood by sobbing, the authorities advanced on the children.

The children screamed and started to chant the Sunday school hymn "Jesus Loves Me."

The authorities retreated.

★ ★ ★

Buchanan County School Supt. Art Sensor, County Atty. Harlan Lemon and Sheriff Fred Beier flew immediately to the state capital, where they were rebuked by State Atty. Gen. Lawrence Scalise for "making a very serious mistake" in trying to force the children from their own schools.

TOO WORLDLY

The Amish, a sect of Anabaptist lineage who travel by horse-drawn carriages, consider public schools "too worldly" for their simple way of life.

They contend their children get all the schooling they need in the Amish schools staffed by Amish teachers with eighth grade educations.

The county contends the Amish must either hire accredited teachers with college training or send their children to public schools.

High Court to Spell Out Lawyer's Role

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court has agreed to spell out its 1964 ruling that a suspect's right to a lawyer's advice applies in a police station as well as in a courtroom.

That landmark decision, issued in the case of Danny Escobedo, left some confusion in its wake. Escobedo had asked to see his lawyer before confessing to murdering his brother-in-law; his lawyer was in the police station trying to see him.

★ ★ ★

Because police kept the two apart, the Supreme Court threw out the Illinois conviction.

Left unanswered by the court's 1964 ruling were several questions, among them: Does the right to counsel apply even if the suspect does not ask to see a lawyer? Are the police required to advise a suspect of this right? What if he can't afford a lawyer?

TO HEAR 4 CASES

Late Monday, after an afternoon conference, the justices agreed to hear four cases that raised these and other questions.

One of the cases gives the court the opportunity to say if the Escobedo ruling is retroactive. If it is, scores of confessions obtained when the suspects were without counsel could be voided and convictions based on them thrown out.

As matters stand now, the two largest states, New York and California, are in direct conflict.

The New York Court of Appeals has ruled that police do not have to advise a suspect of his right to remain silent and of his right to have a lawyer before taking his confession.

REVERSE RULING

The California Supreme Court has reversed a conviction because the defendant had not been told of these rights. The Sixth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution says "in all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right. . . .to have the assistance of counsel for his defense."

This right was slow in seeping down to the state level.

★ ★ ★

In 1963, in its historic Gideon ruling, the Supreme Court ordered that defendants on trial in state courts for serious crimes must be provided with a lawyer.

Abe Fortas, now a Supreme Court justice, argued this case before the court. He now will help determine how far into the police station this right extends.

AT WHAT POINT?

At what point in a police investigation does the right to counsel take hold?

Said the attorney in one of the four cases now granted review:

"The accusatory period is often the most crucial point of the entire criminal proceeding. To deny counsel at this stage is to deny it at the only stage where legal aid and advice would help the accused."

★ ★ ★

In a reply filed before he retired as U.S. solicitor general, Archibald Cox said of the attorney's argument:

"In short, he asks this court to hold that a person arrested cannot waive his right to counsel and that no interrogation by police without counsel can validly be conducted."

Now the Supreme Court will have to decide.

Shorthand Reporters Fading in Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is fighting a losing battle in its attempt to cling to an old tradition — the use of shorthand reporters to record debate in the House and the Senate.

"We're a dying breed," says Albert Schneider of the men whose flying pens long have turned the mighty flow of congressional oratory into the hooks and squiggles of shorthand. "In another 10 years, there won't be enough of us to do the job."

Schneider is retiring this year after 42 years as an official House reporter. His departure, along with another member of the seven-man House team, has brought into sharp focus the swiftly approaching extinction of the species.

Like many another job, shorthand reporting is being taken over by a machine — in this case a compact, easy to operate, 21-key device that types words and full phrases phoenetically.

EASY TO OPERATE

It still takes someone to work the machine, and it can't go any faster than a good shorthand reporter, but it is vastly easier to learn how to operate it than to master shorthand, which accounts mainly for its growing use.

It also has the advantage of freeing the reporter's eyes so he can look around and see who is talking, whereas the shorthand reporter has to keep his eyes glued to his notebook.

And since the machine prints regular, uniform characters, anyone trained in it can transcribe the reporter's notes. Shorthand reporters, who develop distinctly individual styles, must stop and either dictate or type their own notes.

These advantages have led to a virtual take-over by the machines in the last 20 years.

LAST BASTION

Old timers with their pens and notebooks are still scattered throughout the courts and legislatures, but Congress remains their last, though crumbling, bastion.

Acutely conscious of its role in history, Congress has tried to preserve as much of its past as it can. Snuffboxes and cuspidors are still found in the Senate and Thomas Jefferson's rules of procedure still are followed.

★ ★ ★

There has been a particular abhorrence of mechanical contrivances. There are no microphones in the Senate, although the larger House of Representatives has had to resort to them. No radio or television equipment is permitted in either chamber during regular sessions. No mechanical voting methods are desired — and no mechanical reporting devices.

The House operates with seven shorthand reporters, the Senate, eight. In the House, each man takes five minutes of debate every 30 minutes. In the Senate, it is 10 minutes every hour. In between time, the men dictate their notes and have them typed.

DIFFICULT CHORE

One of the House reporters calls it "the most difficult reporting job in the country," and there is much support for the view.

"The greatest difficulty is comprehension," said Schneider the other day. "Some members engaging in a colloquy don't understand themselves what they are talking about. But you've got to have them make sense."

Schneider, who in 1921 won the National Association of Reporters annual speed championship, said intense concentration and good hearing are the chief requirements for a debate reporter.

He also has to be a grammarian. Surprisingly few members are really good speakers and, as a result, there are many long, disconnected utterances in which sentence form and content are hopelessly lost. But the members all expect to see their remarks appear in fully rounded sentences in the next day's Congressional Record.

If it is a hard job, it is also a well-paid one. The reporters have shared in the steady succession of federal pay increases and now make nearly $22,000 a year.

200 Strikers Return at Cape

Machinists, McDonnell Seek Full Settlement

WASHINGTON (AP) — Striking machinists and the McDonnell Aircraft Corp. try again today for a new contract after eliminating a possible strike-caused delay in the Gemini 7 space shot.

The AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists agreed Monday to let some 200 members return to work at Cape Kennedy where they are preparing for the Dec. 4 launch.

★ ★ ★

But 17,000 union members remained off the job in St. Louis where McDonnell is prime contractor for Gemini space vehicles 8 through 12 and producer of the Phantom jet fighter planes used in Viet Nam.

The strike was called Thursday, and McDonnell supervisors hurried to Cape Kennedy where they managed to maintain the prelaunch schedule.

ASKED TO RETURN

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration had been skeptical about how long the skeleton crew could keep up with the work, and Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz and Chief Federal Mediator William E. Simkin asked Monday that the 200 return to work.

Machinists' Vice President Eugene Glover was asked to reply within two hours, but agreement was forthcoming within minutes.

★ ★ ★

Some of the Cape Kennedy machinists were back on the job Monday afternoon. The full crew was expected today after an evening meeting at which the decision was explained.

Some members had expressed concern over what effect the agreement might have on the union's bargaining position, what would happen if the Gemini launch were postponed for other causes, and what would happen after the launch.

Ford Says LBJ Should Tell Full Viet Story

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — "The President has a responsibility to inform the American people on full details" of the war in Viet Nam, Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., said Monday.

The House minority leader said he was surprised to learn the United States rejected an offer by UN Secretary General U Thant in August 1964 to enter into peace talks with the North Vietnamese.

* * *

Ford said it was regrettable President Johnson did not disclose details of the offer at the time. He said it puts the United States in a bad light in view of later offers of "unconditional" peace talks by the administration.

Ford made his remarks at a news conference. He is part of a four-man task force touring the country to build up funds and support for the Republican Party.

* * *

"We need to make substantial gains in the House and Senate in next year's elections," Ford said. "Unless we make these gains, I seriously doubt we will be able to find a candidate in 1968."

What Is a High School Equivalency Certificate?

It is now possible for men and women who never finished High School to earn a special High School Certificate. This diploma is called the High School Equivalency Certificate, and, receives general acceptance in business and Civil Service as the equivalent of a regular 4 year High School Diploma.

More than 63,000,000 adults are presently without High School Diplomas. These people have been held back from better pay because they have never completed High School.

State Education Departments were deeply concerned with this "DROP-OUT" problem. Exams were set up to qualify these adults for a Special High School Equivalency Certificate.

The National School of Home Study, chartered by the Board of Regents of the State of New Your, offers a short course that helps prepare "DROP-OUTS" for the Equivalency Certificate Exams.

Recent government reports show that a person who has a High School Diploma earns $120,000 more during his lifetime than a non-graduate. This means that a High School Diploma could be worth $25 to $50 more a week. So why be held back from better pay. For a free Home Study High School Book, write to National School of Home Study, Dept. PP, 27753 Mound Rd., Warren, Michigan.

Battle of Statements

Red Trial of Yank in 2nd Day

MURMANSK, U. S. S. R. (UPI) — A U.S. Embassy statement that Newcomb Mott was not the only person to enter the Soviet Union illegally was introduced at the young American's trial here today.

But the prosecution countered with a Norwegian border commission letter that Mott, 27, of Sheffield, Mass., had been specifically warned against crossing the Norwegian-Soviet border without a visa.

The second day of the Mott trial in this Arctic city on border violation charges turned into a battle of statements and documents. They included:

• A telegram from the American charge d'affaires in Moscow, John Guthrie, saying there was a list proving that "during the last few years, there have been other cases of illegal crossing of the frontier." The statement was admitted as evidence but the list of names was excluded on the grounds of irrelevancy.

• Another defense exhibit, a newspaper article quoting the police chief of Kirkenes, Norway, as saying that during Mott's stay there, "He did not express more interest in the Soviet-Norwegian frontier than ordinarily expressed by foreign tourists."

• The Norwegian Border Commission letter — a keynote of the prosecution's case — sent to Soviet border officials on Sept. 7, before Mott's arrest by the Soviets Sept. 4 had been announced.

The letter asked for information on Mott, said his "attention was drawn to the fact" he could not cross the frontier without permission and wondered if he had "tried to cross illegally."

The judge asked Mott if he had been warned by officials or the clerk at Kirkenes Tourist Hotel, where he was staying.

"I made no inquiries of Norwegian officials," the smiling Massachusetts textbook salesman said. "The hotel clerk probably noticed my disappearance . . . and on Sept. 3 the clerk told me Boris Gleb (a Soviet border town) was just for Scandinavians."

BORDER CLOSED

The border running between Kirkenes and Boris Gleb may be crossed by Scandinavians without visas, but is closed to other foreigners.

* * *

Mott said he received conflicting information on this and went to the border "to find out for myself."

He has admitted illegally crossing the border, but has said, "I had no illegal intentions."

Stall Attempt to Launch TV Moon Camera

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Technical problems have caused another postponement in the U.S. Surveyor project, an attempt to softland a television camera on the moon.

The launching, orginally set for 1963, has been delayed several times by difficulties which have resulted in congressional investigations.

* * *

A spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena said Monday the launch couldn't take place until at least May 1966. It had been scheduled for February.

The 2,300-pound Surveyors are designed to televise close-up pictures after they land on the lunar surface.

At least three Soviet attempts to land instruments on the moon have failed.

GRAHAM

Evangelist Billy Graham, says immorality in increasing in college campuses and the new campus code may be tomorrow's national standard of morality.

Speaking before a crowd of almost 40,000 in the domed stadium at Houston, Tex., last night, he said: "A growing number of college students do not consider premarital sexual relations immoral. On the contrary, they view it, not only as a natural expression of affection, but as a valuable experience in personal growth."

Ben-Gurion Ends Boycott of Parliament

Former Premier David Ben-Gurion, 79, has ended his two-year boycott of Israel's parliament.

He presided yesterday at the inaugural session of the newly elected Knesset in Jerusalem.

Ben-Gurion had stayed away in protest of political measures taken by Prime Minister Levi Eshkol.

Say De Gaulle Too Confident of Reelection

PARIS (UPI) — President Charles de Gaulle's close aides were reported cautioning him today against over-confidence in the Dec. 5 French national election.

* * *

De Gaulle, 75, has decided not to campaign against five opposition candidates and will make only an election eve television speech in his own behalf.

Informed sources said the general's aides feel that his five- to eight-minute "campaign" would give an unnecessary chance to his foes.

By shrouding himself in august silence, they believe de Gaulle will expose himself to charges of attaching little importance to the nation's public opinion.

Current Books

JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY . . . AS WE REMEMBER HIM. Produced Under the Direction of Goddard Lieberson. Distributed by Atheneum. $17.50.

A FAMILY ALBUM. By Rebekah Baines Johnson. McGraw-Hill. $4.95.

There is one respect in which these books are similar. Each devotes a good bit of attention to the sort of snapshot, scrapbook atmosphere one finds in a family album.

The one about President Johnson is by a single author, the subject's mother, and was not intended originally for publication; it was Mrs. Johnson's present to her son at Christmas, 1954.

In deep contrast, the one about President Kennedy is the professional product of an editorial staff, which had at its command all the resources of modern publishing for the creation of a huge, color-illustrated volume, incorporating the contributions of scores of relatives, writers and personalities associated with the President.

* * *

Mrs. Johnson's album, so personal and unpretentious, unconsciously impresses the reader with the quiet pride of a mother, highly valuing the sturdy virtues of the pioneers, who is anxious to transmit these values and goals to a son who already had accomplished much.

MANY BOOKS

There have been, and will be, many books about President Kennedy. The present one is an intimate album whose chief theme is the personal development of the boy and the man.

In format, it consists of a magnificent collection of photographs, accompanied by a series of cogent quotations.

Some of the words are Kennedy's own — from boyish letters to state addresses. Some carry the observations of the Kennedy family, governmental associates and the writers who saw him closely. Miles A. Smith.

MOUNTAIN MAN By Vardis Fisher. Morrow. $5.95.

There was a remarkable era in American history, before the Civil War, which encompassed the prodigious feats of the Mountain Men.

They were gutsy males. They were individualists, eccentrics, fur-trapping Indian-fighters who hated the encroachment of the covered wagons as much as they despised the sadistic red men.

His hero is Sam Minard, once of New York state, a tall adventurer who really falls in love with his young Indian bride, whom he gives the name of Lotus.

When a band of Crow Indians kills her, he declares a private war against the whole Crow nation. Then he has to fight all the Blackfeet, who capture him for sale to the Crows.

AT PLAY IN THE FIELDS OF THE LORD. By Peter Matthiessen. Random. $5.95.

There is a struggle of heroic proportions in this novel involving men, nature and religion in the midst of the tropical horrors of a South American jungle.

The jungle itself is at the heart of the narrative. The author has made the terrifying environment a place where wild adventures take place.

Here in the ominous rain forest there is a primitive bow-and-arrow tribe called the Niaruna, who have become the hapless targets of four American Protestant missionaries, dedicated to stealing a crumb of prestige from a worldly Spanish Catholic priest who knows it is impossible to reach the Niaruna.

It is a memorable novel, wonderfully bitter and gripping, remarkable for its graphic contrasts.

Why Engineers, Architects, and Builders now use HOT WATER HEAT WITHOUT PLUMBING in their Homes

For years experts have admitted that every known method of home heating either wastes about half its heat, costs too much to install or is actually hazardous to property. Now an amazing new development makes ideal heating available for single rooms or entire houses.

BUILDERS WILL TELL YOU that with flame type heating systems, up to 40% of the heat is lost in furnace areas, up the chimney, or on overheated ceilings or cold floors.

ARCHITECTS WILL TELL YOU that these systems can increase the cost of a house substantially because each requires either expensive plumbing systems, chimneys, separate furnace rooms or separate storage areas for dangerous fuels.

For years, safety engineers and heating researchers have been seeking a method of home heating that is both same and economical. One that would provide steady, even warmth where it is needed, without wasting up to 40% of its heat on ceilings, and cold floors. This kind of heating has finally been perfected!

WHAT SIDNEY HEIMAN FOUND IN SEATTLE

A number of years ago, Sidney Heiman, President of the International Oil Burner Company, a major manufacturer of heating and cooling equipment, received a letter from a Seattle electrician who claimed to have patented the perfect heating system. He called it "Hot Water Heat Without Plumbing." The electrician and his collaborator, a plumbing contractor needed added financing, research and manufacturing facilities.

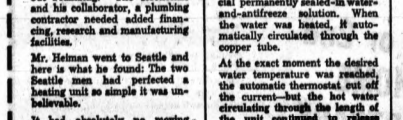
Mr. Heiman went to Seattle and here is what he found: The two Seattle men had perfected a heating unit so simple it was unbelievable.

It had absolutely no moving parts. (Moving parts mean repairs!) Mr. Heiman saw a slender casing without pipe connections! Just a simple electrical connection, a thermostat—and hot water heat!

Permanently Sealed-In Hot Water Without Plumbing

The unit itself consisted of a copper tube in which an electrical heating element warmed a special permanently sealed-in water-and-antifreeze solution. When the water was heated, it automatically circulated through the copper tube.

At the exact moment the desired water temperature was reached, the automatic thermostat cut off the current—but the hot water circulating through the length of the unit continued to release heat as needed to maintain precisely the comfortable warmth required.



10 year guarantee but built to last a lifetime

HERE'S WHY FLAMELESS HOT WATER HEAT IS PERFECT HEAT

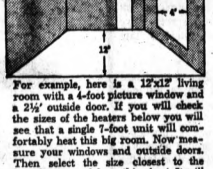
There is a softness about the heat that hot water gives. It has a luxurious natural feel which you sense immediately upon entering a room.

It can't use up oxygen nor remove natural moisture from the room. Flameless International Hot Water Heat is as safe and clean as an electric light bulb.

It's the perfect way to heat your home. And remember, this is premium wet electric heat.

It's So Simple to Determine The Size Heater Every Room, or Your Entire Home, Really Needs

All you need is a tape measure or a yardstick to discover how much heater length you need. Statistics show that you should put in enough heater length to equal the width of all the windows and doors in the outside wall of any room, plus a little more to cover unusual circumstances.



For example, here is a 12'x12' living room with a 4-foot picture window and a 2½' outside door. If you will check the sizes of the heaters below you will see that a single 7-foot unit will comfortably heat this big room. Now measure your windows and outside doors. Then select the size closest to the length you need from this chart. It will give you a pretty good idea of about how much your units will cost.

HERE ARE THE SIZES AND MANUFACTURER'S PRICES

Length	Model & Watts	Portable Models	Permanently Installed Models
4'	750	$84.95	$49.80
5'	1000	$87.95	$65.40
6'	1250	$89.95	$72.40
7'	1500	$94.95	$76.25
9'	2000		$84.65
Thermostat		Built-In	$ 8.00
Volts		120	240

Height of all units 8¼" x 3¼" deep

Now, for your home, apartment or, in fact, any heating problem whatsoever, call your plumbing, heating contractor to get a bid on the wiring necessary (you'll be pleasantly surprised at the low cost). Show him this ad. Ask him to re-check your figures.

—S. S. Ansak, Ansak Builders 655 W. Harding Rd., Lombard, Ill.

"In laying out our heating I have found International Baseboard heat my answer, because there is no piping necessary and we can still provide even temperatures of hot water heat."
—Newell E. Boon, Heating Engineer

Tell your plumbing, heating contractor he can buy these revolutionary heating units at his distributor's salesroom shown below. Remember, you need no plumbing, no ducts, no chimneys with new flameless International Hot-Water Heat. You gain an extra room in your house, if you are building, because you need no furnace room or storage tank.

'Frisk' Proposal Backed by 5 Detroit Councilmen

DETROIT (AP) — A majority of Detroit's Common Council members said Monday they would back Mayor Jerome Cavanagh's proposed "stop and frisk" law.

Five councilmen said they generally favor such a law. It would allow police officers to stop and search citizens without a warrant if the officer suspects a felony may have been — or is about to be — committed.

Civil rights groups generally oppose such a law.

Councilman-elect Nicholas Hood, an opponent, said "the mayor is not going to get support in the civil rights and human relations communities on this. And you can be assured of a big fight in the legislature.

TO SEEK LAW

Cavanagh announced last Thursday he would seek such a law in the legislature. His request does not require council approval, but Cavanagh has asked for council endorsement in the past before sending bills to the legislature.

In related developments, councilmen Thomas L. Poindexter and Anthony J. Wierzbicki Monday voted in favor of a plan to put an additional 500 policemen on city streets to combat crime during the Christmas holidays.

The two earlier opposed the $100,00 measure. Mary V. Beck was left as the only council member opposing the proposal.

The council was expected to vote formally on the measure today.

ADDED MANPOWER

Police Commissioner Ray Girardin had asked for the added manpower last week after four rapes occured in one neighborhood within 24 hours.

Girardin also said Monday he would reactivate a little-used state statute which says a person convicted of four felonies can be tried as a flardened criminal. Such conviction then can bring a life sentence.

Helps Mail and Female

Top Postman Plays Cupid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien is not one to stand—or to let the U.S. mail stand—between a young man and his true love.

And if Bonnie Bishop says "Yes" Christmas Day when M. Delane Roberts pops the question, it'll be with a slight assist from O'Brien.

* * *

Roberts is a student at the University of California, Miss Bishop at Brigham Young University in Utah. And it's on those 750 miles between Berkeley and Provo that this sentimental tale hangs.

Because he sees his girl only once during the nine-month school years. Robert wrote O'Brien, extra-special importance attaches to his remembering her birthday.

MAILED PRESENT

Bonnie Bishop turned 21 Nov. 7. Roberts dutifully bought, wrapped and mailed a present, assured by the Berkeley postal clerk it would arrive in Provo on time. The young man was stunned, therefore, when on telephoning her on her birthday he detected disappointment in her voice.

"I could tell from the tone of her voice that she was disappointed — something she would never admit — so now I feel like a dog in the doghouse," he wrote the postmaster general.

* * *

"Here is where you can help," he went on. "Would you mind writing a personal note of apology to her about the package not arriving on time for her birthday.

"This would make her feel better... would also make Bonnie and I feel better on our second big day — Christmas — when I intend to ask her hand in marriage."

HEART TOUCHED

O'Brien, his Irish heart touched, came through with a "Dear Miss Bishop" letter.

He said: "I want to apologize for this and to assure you that it was not the fault of Mr. Roberts... While I would not want to offer this as an excuse, I hope you will understand that the Post Office Department is handling more than 62 billion pieces of mail this year, and there are isolated instances when a letter or package goes astray...

"I am bringing this matter to the attention of our Bureau of Operations with the hope that there will be no similar recurrences of delay in mail sent to you by Mr. Roberts.

* * *

"Please forgive us."

* * *

Reached Monday night by telephone at Brigham Young University, Miss Bishop said the package from Roberts and the letter from O'Brien had arrived Monday.

The belated parcel contained candy, a pair of bedroom slippers and a record entitled "Come Share My Life."

FUTURE PLANS

Asked what plans she and Roberts — both of whom are from Concord, Calif.—have for Christmas, she said only "I guess we'll go out a lot."

* * *

She acknowledged that she was "a little disappointed" when her birthday passed without any remembrance from her boyfriend.

"But everything's all right now," she said.

'Nervous Man' Shot Priest

Bandits Took $4,000 From Detroit Church

DETROIT (AP) — A Roman Catholic priest, shot in a holdup by a man he described as "awfully nervous" was recovering today in a hospital.

* * *

The Rev. Dominic Manzo, 49, was shot in his right arm Monday by one of two gunmen who got away with $4,000 from St. John Berchman's church on Detroit's east side.

* * *

After the man fired, Father Manzo picked up a chair in the dining room of his rectory and hurled it at the bandit.

Just before the shooting, the two had imprisoned the Revs. John M. Wheeler, 59, and Patrick Murphy, 29, in a basement vault, tying them up with some draperies.

BELIEVED PRANK

Taking to reporters just before surgery a St. John Hospital, Father Manzo said he thought at first the bandit was a prankster.

"This fellow was awfully nervous," the priest said. "It was as if he had never had a gun in his hand before. I didn't take it seriously until after he fired the shot.

* * *

"I just picked up the chair and flung it at him. I just wanted to get him away from me. I thought he was going to shoot again."

The men had gained access to the rectory by pretending they wanted to arrange for a funeral, police said.

* * *

The two priests were released from the vault by a fourth priest, the Rev. Matthew Shekleton, 49, before police arrived.

Police Hunt Clues to Bombers of Dixie Homes; Funds Started

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — White and Negro residents joined in "Operation Rebuilding" today while police filtered meager evidence in the bombings of four civil rights leaders' homes.

Two funds have been established — one to pay for damage caused by the bombings, the other as a reward to aid in the capture of the terrorists.

* * *

The blasts occurred simultaneously early Monday, damaging the four homes but injuring no one.

The Charlotte News, an afternoon paper, began collecting money for repairs. Mayor Stan R. Brookshire said $200 was donated Monday afternoon.

MANY WILLING

"I think a lot of people want to give," the mayor said.

The morning Charlotte Observer started an "antiterrorism fund" to collect reward money. The Observer started contributions with $500. An anonymous Charlotte industrialist added $1,000.

* * *

Several building contractors offered to have workmen today at two of the homes which were the most severely damaged.

The blasts occurred at the homes of Kelly and Fred Alexander, lawyer Julius L. Chambers and Dr. Reginald A. Hawkins, a dentist.

ARMY EXPERTS

Army demolition experts from Ft. Bragg, said apparently four or five sticks of dynamite were detonated at each home.

Twenty-eight city detectives, the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Bureau of Investigation and the state highway patrol were working on the case. Two suspects were questioned and released late Monday.

* * *

Police Chief John S. Hord said it was believed four or five men took part in the bombings, using two or three automobiles.

Kelly Alexander is president of the North Carolina branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. His brother Fred is the city's first Negro councilman in modern times. Chambers represents the NAACP in several civil rights law suits. Dr. Hawkins is a long-time militant civil rights leader.

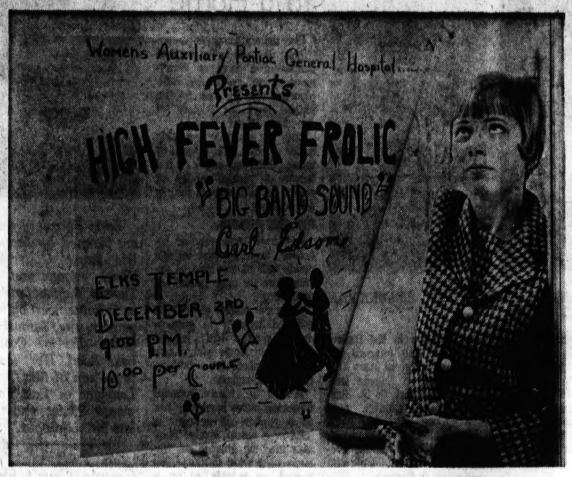
Hospital Auxiliary Works on Annual Frolic



Pontiac Press Photos

Mrs. Aaron Wright, Shoreview Drive, puts up a poster advertising the second High Fever Frolic of the Women's Auxiliary to Pontiac General Hospital. Her job is seeing that posters are made and distributed throughout the area. The dance on Dec. 3 which is open to the public will help to buy more lifesaving equipment for the hospital.

Mrs. Donald Wilson, Sylvan Lake, chairman of the finance committee for the auxiliary's annual event, is happy to sell tickets to one and all. Mrs. Wilson's job re... ires her to work closely with all committee heads.

The William J. Deans of Watkins Lake are at the Elks Temple making plans for the Frolic reception which starts at 9 p.m. Mrs. Dean is a past president of the auxiliary.

Warren Newton, St. Jude Drive, is chairman of the host committee for this year's High Fever Frolic at the Elks Temple. With him is Mrs. John Benson, of Berkshire Road, cochairman with her husband of the advertising in the program book.

Gift Should Be a Luxury, Never Everyday Necessity

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have been going steady with a wonderful girl for over a year. We hope to be married when we are both out of school.

ABBY

I am a freshman in college and she is a senior in high school. Her 18th birthday is coming up soon and she has expressed a desire to have a coat.

I want to buy it for her but a problem has arisen. She told her folks and they don't like the idea. They say it doesn't look right for a young man to give a girl wearing apparel.

Last year she gave me a very nice cashmere sweater, and nothing was said.

What's the difference between her giving me a sweater, which is wearing apparel, and my giving her a coat?

YALE '68

DEAR YALE: There IS a difference. Although a sweater and a coat are both wearing apparel, a coat is a necessity and a "very nice cashmere sweater" is a luxury.

Unless officially engaged, young people should restrict their gifts to one another to less expensive frivolities. Leave the costlier necessities until later.

I promise you there will be a large variety from which to choose.

★ ★ ★

DEAR ABBY: Why didn't you tell "MODEST," the girl in the sorority house whose problem was fraternity boys looking into her bedroom window with binoculars to get some of that "window shade" paper I've seen in the stores?

It's plain white paper, gummed on the back, and when it's pasted on the window pane the light can penetrate, but no one can see in.

HELPFUL IN N. H.

DEAR HELPFUL: Thank you for your suggestion. I didn't suggest it because I wasn't aware that there was such a thing. I never cease to be amazed by the number of things I DON'T know.

DEAR ABBY: We have been blessed with several wonderful adopted children, but they are not our problem.

Some of our nosey friends are. Maybe if you published this it would help other adoptive parents who are badgered with questions they don't know quite how to answer.

To the inevitable question, "Where did you get him?" I reply, "Through an authorized adoption agency." (This is true, but some people want to know if the baby is "local" or not, which is nobody's business.)

For those who ask, "Do you know anything about his background?" we tell them we know everything we need to know about his intelligence, talents, physical traits, etc., for two generations, which is also true.

Many will ask, "Do the baby's parents know where he is?" To this an emphatic NO is sufficient.

And, Abby, you'll love my husband's answer to the few stupid oafs who inquire, "Is the baby illegitimate?" "Illegitimate?" he would reply. "Oh, no, we've been married for years!"

Happily,
ADOPTIVE PARENTS

DEAR ABBY: This is for some of the girls who may not be in trouble but are heading in that direction:

I was a girl who was in trouble with a capital "T." Someone gave me your book, DEAR TEENAGER. I was four months pregnant at the time and scared to death. I read what you said on page 75 about girls in trouble.

I read it over so many times I memorized it. Then I did what you said. I told my mother because you said, "No matter what your parents have said to you in the past, in time of real trouble, they are your best friends.

"Go to them. They will help you."

All I can say, Abby, is you were right.

NOT ENOUGH THANKS.
(BOULDER, COLORADO)

Not Proper to Attend Reception

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My husband's sister, aged 25, passed away very suddenly last week. Before her death we were invited to attend the wedding and reception of a friend.

The wedding is to take place in ten days. I would like to know if it would be proper for us to go to this wedding.

I think not, but I have been told that I am old-fashioned and that it is perfectly proper in this present day to go to a wedding as soon as two weeks after a death.

May I please have your opinion on this?

★ ★ ★

A: You may quite properly attend the church ceremony, but it really would not be right for you and your husband to go to the reception so soon after his sister's death.

ANNOUNCING BIRTH

Q: We are expecting our first child in two weeks. I would like to know if it would be proper and in good taste to send a notice to the newspaper announcing the event.

If so, will you please tell me how it should be worded?

★ ★ ★

A: It will be entirely proper to send a notice to the newspaper, reading, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe of 20 Park Avenue, New York City, announce the birth of a son, John, Jr. on Oct. 12, 1965 at Doctor's Hospital.

Mrs. Doe is the former Miss Mary Phelps." Or, "A daughter, Mary Jane, was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Doe of 20 Park Avenue, New York City on Oct. 12 at Doctor's Hospital. Mrs. Doe, etc. . . . ."

Ceremonies Unite Four Couples

MRS. F. N. MORGAN

A recent candlelight ceremony in the First Social Brethren Church marked the vows of Pamela Charmane Hilton and Frederick N. Morgan.

Their parents are the junior Wayne B. Hiltons of Woodland Drive, Highland Township, and the Fred N. Morgans of Lake Orion.

PEARL TIARA

The bride chose a chapel-length gown of white silk satin with lace bodice. Her bouffant illusion veil was fitted to a pearl tiara. White orchids and Stephanotis covered her white prayer book.

Laura Butske was maid of honor at the double-ring rite performed by Rev. Loy L. Barger. Mary Ann Courtney of Milan and Suzanne Congdon of Monroe attended their cousin as bridesmaids.

Linda Morgan was flower girl and Tony Pinner carried the rings.

The bride's brother, Wayne B. Hilton III, served as best man with Jeff Faller and Lee Kesselring as ushers.

* * *

After the reception in the Fisher Local Union Hall, the couple left for a honeymoon in Gatlinburg, Tenn.

MRS. R. C. KIRKS

The newlywed Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clyde Kirks (LoAnn D. Sausser) left for a brief honeymoon after their vows and reception, Saturday, in the Allen Park Church of Christ.

Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roe V. Sausser of North Lapeer Road, Oxford Township, and Mr. and Mrs. Noble R. Kirks of Dearborn.

The bride's gown of white brocaded satin was styled with bell skirt and scalloped front hemline. A petal headpiece secured her bouffant illusion veil.

HEIRLOOM NECKLACE

She wore an heirloom necklace belonging to her late paternal grandmother and carried white rosebuds and carnations for the rite performed by Billie Burgess, minister.

Peggy Ann Sites of Livermore, Calif. was maid of honor along with Constance Willett and Sharron Thomson, bridesmaids.

Jerry Kirks was his brother's best man. Seating the guests were James Casey, Thomas Geloneck, Thomas Kirkland and Roger Phelps.

* * *

The couple will live in Lincoln Park.

MRS. K. R. JOHNSON

The First Baptist Church of Pontiac was the setting for the recent marriage of Carol Lee Parner to Kit Robert Johnson of Pingree Avenue.

White silk organza over satin fashioned a gown with full chapel train for the daughter of the Troy Farners of LeGrande Avenue.

* * *

With Mrs. Arnold Wickman, her sister's honor matron, were bridesmaids Carol Dudley, Sharon Bell, Janice Farner, and Linda Bolin of Boston, Mass.

The bridegroom, grandson of Mrs. Alfred R. Johnson of Lewis Street and the late Mr. Johnson, had Douglas Vernier for best man.

TWIN BROTHER

A twin brother, Kenneth Johnson, ushered with Richard Shafer, Tom Rotundo, George Miller, Timothy Schroeder and Claude Slaught.

Reception in the church parlors followed the evening rite performed by Rev. Robert Shelton. The couple will honeymoon in Wisconsin.

MRS. E. R. ZIMMERMAN

A reception in the Italian-American Club followed the recent marriage of Mary Leslie Sommer to Eugene Robert Zimmerman, in St. Benedict's Catholic Church.

* * *

Rev. Robert J. Kilcoyne offered the high nuptial evening Mass for the pouple who will reside in Pontiac.

* * *

Their parents are the Wilbur P. Sommers of Old Orchard Drive and the Robert Zimmermans of North Johnson Avenue.

SILK BROCADE

With her street-length sheath of white silk brocade, the bride wore a matching wedding coat and organza pillbox with butterfly veil of illusion.

She carried cascading white roses and Stephanotis.

* * *

Louise Offer was maid of honor and Barbara Jo Brannack, bridesmaid.

Jerry Zimmerman assisted his brother as best man. Dave Zimmerman, with the bride's brother Edward, seated the guests.

* * *

The bride attended the University of Detroit.

Marble Top Care

DEAR GIRLS — Many of you have written to ask how to care for marble-topped tables so I am passing on some suggestions that were sent to me from a leading manufacturer of such tables.

"The general care of marble consists of wiping occasionally with a cloth dipped in lukewarm water and, twice a year, a thorough cleaning with a mild detergent to prevent dulling.

"If by accident the table was scratched lightly, sand the tabletop and polish by hand, using putty powder on a damp cloth. However, a warning is given against waxing white marble as it will turn yellow. A colorless light paste wax is ideal for darker shades of marble.

* * *

"To remove organic stains made by coffee, tea and soft drinks which have citric acid or discoloration marks caused by flowers, paper or textiles, it is best to use a poultice.

* * *

"It can be made at home from white paper napkins. For organic stains, soak the poultice in a solution of hydrogen peroxide about hair-bleaching strength and a FEW DROPS of ammonia. Apply it to the stain and allow to set until the discoloration is drawn out. Cover poultice with glass. Polish as before."

DEAR POLLY — My brothers and I are watching our savings grow in our own bank accounts in the "bank" our father operates at home. In a small notebook (each child could have his own little book), he keeps a record of our deposits, withdrawals and interest.

This prevents loss of money, teaches us how interest is computed and we are encouraged to save our money. If I win a Polly Dollar it will go into my savings account.
—KAREN

* * *

DEAR POLLY — For pin curl glamour take one yard of nylon net and cut in half through the length. This one yard will make two turbans. Take one end of a length of the net, gather and sew to a one-inch wide plastic ring.

Wrap around pin curls, turban fashion, and pull the other end through the plastic circle and then tuck in for a very glamorous result. These are sure-fire sellers at church bazaars. —MRS. P. D.

Plants Give Real Charm to a Home

Few decorative accents contribute so much to the natural charm of a home or apartment as well-grown and well-placed flowering and foliage plants, says the Society of American Florists.

Both are available in a wide range of sizes, with blooms of many different colors and leaves of various shades of green, and of numerous shapes and textures.

FIT ANY PERIOD

Displayed separately or together, flowering and foliage plants will fit any type of architecture or any period of furnishings.

House plants should be grouped together to gain a dramatic effect that is impossible when single plants are scattered about helter-skelter, the Society explains.

A row of these colorful flowering plants lined together on a window sill or near a window is always lovely. They also may be grouped on the steps of a wide staircase, on a cart, on a table, or on a plant holder.

You can easily and quickly dramatize a picture window or decorate an awkward corner with big, handsome, and long-lasting foliage plants, such as philodendron pertusum, Rex begonia, dieffenbachia Roehrsi, or schefflera, says the Society.

Select foliage plants in proper scale to the room and to the location in the room where they are to be displayed.

Small foliage and flowering plants look best on small tables or in small areas. Large ones are more appropriate in more spacious areas. As a rule, it's best to concentrate house plants, either small or large, in one area to achieve a coordinated decorative scheme.

Daughter Is Retarded Child Problem

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

DEAR MRS. LAWRENCE: A neurologist has told me that our 3-year-old girl is so severely retarded that she is uneducatable and will be dependent on me for the rest of her life.

I have suspected something as she has poor muscle tone, babbles and crawls instead of talking and walking. But she is beautiful and has none of the facial features of a severely retarded child. Shouldn't we get another diagnosis before accepting this brutal one?

ANSWER: Maybe it's not brutal. Maybe it is protective of you. Certainly, if other diagnoses confirm it, you will have to credit this doctor with kindness to you.

Parents, given the truth about a retarded child sometimes refuse to accept it. Unable to ever come to any decision on what to do about it, they spend their lives in crushed, unsupported attendance on the child.

However, it's my view that no single medical person, however well qualified, is entitled to define the future of a retarded child. There are so many kinds of retardation that neurologists require the skills of many other specialists to determine the degree of the child's limitations.

Until this determination is made, we can't know if he is educatable within these limitations or how "dependent" he is going to be.

* * *

So, though you owe gratitude to your neurologist for his effort to protect you against false hopes, you still have the right to seek another diagnosis. You should also seek the freshest information available from the National Association for Retarded Children, 420 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. False hope is bad, but this does not mean you are consigned to hopelessness, either.

Now I want to say something to you that is better than sympathy.

Please be prepared for resentment at this burden.

* * *

The baby is going to be a burden no matter how our new skills can ease it. Because her growth will be limited, your natural development as a parent will be restricted, too. It is the anquish of the parent of the retarded child to be denied his own natural parental evolution as the child fails to move through normal childhood, adolescence to adulthood.

* * *

So his growth has to be different as the child is different. It requires a special honesty with himself, a special love for himself, a special and tender understanding of himself and of those most human feelings toward his situation which must inevitably include resentment.

Trees Take Trimming in Holiday Party Idea

A tree-trimming party with a new twist — making the trimmings — can earn you the title of favorite Christmas hostess.

It will be one of the easiest parties you've ever given, one you're sure to enjoy as much as your guests.

START EARLY

Send or phone invitations and plan refreshments early, so you can start the intriguing work of collecting the necessary props to make your party a success.

You'll want paste and glue, of course, along with construction paper, cardboard, scraps of felt, sequins, old buttons, and perhaps a few jars of glitter.

* * *

Search your sewing basket for left-over rickrack, ribbon and bright pieces of cloth. Add to your growing box of ingredients any pretty Christmas cord or scraps of yarn.

Include the covers of Christmas magazines, old Christmas cards, and bits of holiday wrapping paper.

Save the center cores from rolls of bathroom tissue and be sure your cupboard includes double layer paper towels in white, pink, yellow and aqua.

THINGS TO BUY

Things you'll probably need to buy are pipe cleaners, styrofoam balls about one-inch in diameter, straight pins, poster paint and brushes. At the last minute, get popcorn, string and cranberries to add contrast and color, if you like.

About all that's left to your preparations now is to borrow several pairs of scissors and to find aprons for each of your guests.

* * *

The ingredient they bring to the party is their creative talent for devising decorative tree ornaments from the materials you've collected. From a tissue core can emerge a toy soldier, an angel, a candle or a cannon, with the aid of paint, construction paper and glitter.

Or the core can be cut along the spiral lines and pulled out to become a modern, swinging ornament.

Or cover the cores with material and trimmings for a cylindrical ornament. Just punch holes in the sides of the tubes and insert cord or yarn for hanging.

Double layer paper towels become angels, dolls, snowmen or good luck trolls with the help of styrofoam balls and any of the other trimmings.

Fold towels to make skirt or trousers shapes, trim with pinking scissors and attach to styrofoam ball heads with straight pins.

* * *

Afraid you couldn't have a couples' party with tree trimmings? Just try it!

Even if the men seem shy at first, the creative challenge will be too much and they'll join the tree-trimmers soon.

But don't count on using your guests' ornaments to trim your tree — they'll want to take them home!

Cook Shares Recipes for Two Sweets

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Food Editor

Not long ago we talked to members of the Fashionette Club. As usual with groups like this, we asked them for their favorite recipes.

Mrs. Oscar Fetter gave us two — one a diet recipe, the other far from it. You take your choice.

The first is for a low calorie pumpkin custard.

DIET PUMPKIN CUSTARD
By Mrs. Oscar Fetter

1½ cups pumpkin
1½ cups milk
2 eggs
2 teaspoons sucaryl solution
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon allspice
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt

Beat eggs slightly and mix with other ingredients, stirring well. Pour into greased casserole or six greased custard cups.

Place in pan of hot water and bake at 350 degrees, 30 to 35 minutes for small cups; 45 to 50 minutes for casserole.

It's peanut butter flavored fudge for her second recipe.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

2 cups granulated sugar
1 tablespoon cocoa
3 tablespoons white corn syrup
3 tablespoons peanut butter
1¼ teaspoons butter
⅔ cup milk

Mix sugar and cocoa; add syrup and milk. Boil until mixture forms soft ball in cold water. Remove from heat and let cool for about three minutes.

Add butter and peanut butter and beat until thick. Pour into greased pan. Cool and cut in squares.

Death Strikes a Heavy Blow

MOTT, N.D. (UPI) — The 15 children of James and Ione Kerzman today mourned their parents' deaths and expressed determination to remain together.

But faced with the rigors of running a sprawling Dakota prairie farm and the needs of the younger children — eight of them 10 or under, there was uncertainty as well as sadness among the orphaned family.

Tomorrow, the children will leave the family's modest frame home to attend the funeral of their mother and father at St. Placidus Catholic Church. Then they will be alone.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerzman died Saturday in a traffic accident only a few hours after the birth of their 15th child. The driver of an ambulance taking Mrs. Kerzman to a Bismarck hospital, himself the father of seven, also was killed.

"We all want to stay together," said 17-year-old Gerry, second eldest of the children. "I think our parents would have wanted us to."

Shortly after 1 a.m. Saturday, Mrs. Kerzman, 43, gave birth to her last child — a girl she named Mayruth.

Seven hours later, doctors decided to transfer her 90 miles away to the state capital of Bismarck for special treatment to stop hemorrhaging.

When Ione Kerzman was carried into the ambulance, she turned to a nurse's aide and said: "If I don't come back, take good care of my baby and have it baptized right away.

The 44-year-old husband went with her. The ambulance was driven by Julius W. Bartels, 44.

On the top of a hill, the ambulance smashed into a farm truck driven by a 15-year-old youth.

Mayruth was an orphan before she was a day old.

So were her brothers and sisters, James Jr., 18; Gerry, Mary Joe, 16; Margaret, 14; Tom, 13; Theresa, 12; Ann, 11; Anita, 10; Merella, 9; Peter, 7; Madonna, 6; Paula, 5; Billy, 3; and Mary Beth, 1.

AT HEARING—Congressman Edward A. Garmatz (center), D-Md., acting chairman of the House Merchant Marine Committee, talks with Congressmen Dante Fascell (left), D-Fla., and Claude Pepper, D-Fla. The three attended the opening of the inquiry into the sinking of the Yarmouth Castle at Miami, Fla., yesterday.

Inquiry Continues in Tragedy

'Cruise Ship 1 Lifeboat Short'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A Coast Guard officer testified that the cruise ship Yarmouth Castle was one lifeboat short of her normal 14 when she sank after a sweeping blaze in the Atlantic.

Capt. V. G. Niebergall, chief of the Coast Guard's merchant marine division, told a board of inquiry Monday that the lifeboat near the bow of the ship's port side was missing.

★ ★ ★

The 38-year-old white-hulled cruiser sank Nov. 13 while en route to Nassau, Bahamas, claiming 89 lives. An inquiry into the tragedy, launched Monday, is expected to continue at least three weeks.

★ ★ ★

Niebergall said one of the motor lifeboats did not carry an engine. He gave no reason for the missing part, nor was he questioned by the board.

IN GOOD ORDER

The port engineer for Yarmouth Cruise Lines testified that the safety equipment was in good order when the ship sailed Nov. 12. Steve Arampatzis told the board that he would not have allowed the Yarmouth Castle to go on her Miami-Nassau run if he had not been satisfied with the ship's ability to cope with fire.

★ ★ ★

Some survivors have claimed that there was no general alarm, that the ship's fire sprinkler system failed to work, that fire hoses lay unused on the deck and that only 4 of 14 lifeboats were lowered.

Arampatzis said the ship had a complete overhaul in dry-dock in Tampa a month before the sailing and was found in compliance with international safety regulations.

The sinking has led to demands for tougher safety regulations for foreign flag vessels operating from American ports. The Yarmouth Castle sailed under the Panamanian flag.

Seattle Bans Dancers With Topless Costumes

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — The Seattle City Council voted Monday to prohibit dancers or waitresses in cabarets from appearing in costumes without tops, effective in 30 days.

Congo dancers have been appearing in some Seattle night spots in topless costumes.

By Waterford Board

Apartment Rezoning OK'd

The Waterford Township Board last night approved a rezoning request that previously had been recommended for denial by the township planning commission and Oakland County Coordinating Zoning Committee.

A 12-acre parcel of land on Dixie Highway, near Telegraph, was rezoned from manufacturing-2 to residential-2 to build a large apartment complex.

The proposed $2.5-million project won by a 4-2 margin, Supervisor Dorothy Olson and Trustee William Dean casting the dissenting votes.

The planning commission and coordinating zoning committee were against the measure because of spot zoning.

★ ★ ★

The proposal was tabled last week as board members wanted to study an agreement between the developer and Pontiac for a hookup with the city's sewage system.

APPROVAL DENIED

Developer Donald White's bid to gain final plat approval for Maceday Woods No. 2 Subdivision was turned aside by the board.

Board members ruled denial of the request unless specifications of the Oakland County Road Commission, Michigan Plat Act 19A (proper drainage) and township ordinance 48 are met.

White had agreed to build sidewalks in the development, but had planned to substitute open ditch construction for curbs and gutters for drainage purposes.

★ ★ ★

However, present standards apparently call for construction of curbs and gutters in newly-developed subdivisions.

ARRANGING MEETING

In other business, Mrs. Olson announced she is attempting to arrange a public meeting with engineering, financial, township and county officials on the township's proposed $22.9-million sanitary sewer system.

Charles Futrell of 3850 Old Orchard, Waterford Township, submitted the top bid of $1,551 for lot 767 of Elizabeth Lake Estates No. 3 Subdivision, which once housed a water tower.

Four bids were submitted, the lowest $600.

Also last night, the board approved a request of Fire Chief Lewis Goff for a supplement appropriation of $700 to make roof repairs at station 2 at Walton and Meinrad.

★ ★ ★

The board also gave Goff the go-ahead for $2,000 in repairs to a fire truck. The funds will be allocated from next year's budget.

It was announced that bids will be opened Dec. 20 for gasoline to supply the township's vehicle fleet in 1966-67.

Quiz Heist Suspect in Slaying of Wife

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — A young husband, sought in a hamburger stand holdup, surrendered to police Monday and was held for questioning in the death of his wife.

Police Capt. Eugene Smith reported that 25-year-old Randolph Kelly Lane said in a statement he beat and strangled his wife Dianne, 19, in their hotel room here because she threatened to leave him. Mrs. Lane's body was found in the room.

Smith said a murder warrant would be sought against Lane. Lane had been charged with robbery in the hamburger stand holdup Sunday.

30 Apply for Soo Job

SAULT STE. MARIE (AP)— City Council has received 30 applications for the job of city manager. The post was vacated recently with the resignation of Wilbur Cotton, 73. The council is scheduled to meet next Monday to make a decision, a spokesman said.

Commission Eyes Group Appointee

Appointment of a member of the Public Housing Commission tops the items slated for City Commission consideration tonight.

Commissioners are also expected to approve formal agreements for the city's R44 urban renewal project.

Appointment of a housing commissioner will be to fill the term of Theodore E. Wiersema, whose term expired in June.

Patterson 12th Round TKO Victim

Clay Wants Next Opponent After 'Skinning Rabbit'

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, having made good on his boast to skin "The Rabbit" — Floyd Patterson — said today he would be willing to take on Ernie Terrell within three months "if he's the best man and the public wants it."

★ ★ ★

"Whoever is the best man — that's for me," shouted the triumphant Clay, or Muhammad Ali, following his one-sided, knockout over the game, back-injured Patterson in 2:18 of the 12th round at Convention Center Monday night.

Referee Harry Krause stopped the slaughter with the 30-year-old, former two-time champion still on his feet although his face was battered and swollen and his legs seemed ready to go under him at any second. But he had been down only from a knockdown in the sixth round.

"I wanted to stop it a round earlier — it was hurting me to watch," said the referee, who called in Dr. Donald Romeo after the 11th round. "I said to Floyd 'between you and me, and man to man, would you like to continue?' He said he wanted to continue."

MUSCLE SPASMS

Patterson, in obvious pain despite having been given two spinal injections after the fight, said he developed muscle spasms in his back in the third round. He apologized to the American public for not having put up a better fight against the all-conquering Clay.

"I am very sorry about what happened tonight," he said. "I had hoped to give Americans a better fight. Unfortunately I was not able to do so.

★ ★ ★

"I am not going to use my back as an excuse," he said. Then, with a wry grin, he added: "I am not going to use my beard and moustache."

★ ★ ★

That was a reference to his flight from Chicago, wearing a fake beard and moustache, the night he was knocked out in the first round of his first fight with Sonny Liston in 1962.

★ ★ ★

He had only praise for the victor.

LIKES TERRELL

"Mr. Clay can become a great fighter," he said. "He needs more experience. I don't think he benefitted much from tonight except perhaps in confidence.

"I think Ernie Terrell will give him a better fight. He has a great jab and could give Clay a lot of trouble."

"Everyone says Terrell is the best," said Clay. "If he's the best, then I want him."

If he fights Terrell—and Madison Square Garden's Harry Markson said he'd like to put it on in New York — it would help clear up the heavyweight muddle although the 23-year-old Louisville Lip generally is regarded as the king of them all.

★ ★ ★

Clay and Patterson both posted $50,000 bond agreements that the winner would defend the title against the 6-foot-6 Chicagoan within six months. The World Boxing Association stripped Clay of title recognition for signing a forbidden return bout with Liston.

★ ★ ★

Terrell then gained WBA recognition as champion when he outpointed Eddie Machen at Chicago in an elimination bout. Patterson refused to fight him. Floyd preferred to meet Clay first.

Although Patterson said he was not quitting yet, this may have been his swan song. He is the only fighter ever to win the heavyweight crown twice. He has fought 12 title fights, winning eight by knockouts and losing four the same way, and has grossed more than $7.5 millions.

BOXING LESSONS

Clay, taller, faster and stronger, handed Patterson a fearful beating and a boxing lesson. Apparently he held to one of his pre-fight statements that he planned to punish "The Rabbit."

The 23-year-old, 6-foot-3 speedster, did nothing but dance and taunt Floyd in the first round. But from the second round on it was pop, pop, pop, with stinging left jabs right smack on target, followed by sharp left-right combinations to the head. He rarely went to the body.

★ ★ ★

Clay denied that he had carried Patterson. He showed his bare fists. The knuckles on both hands were swollen.

"I didn't carry him," declared Clay. "He took my best punches. He didn't fall. He was determined. He's a good fighter. You gotta give him credit."

"I thought he had Patterson four or five times but let up on the pressure," said retired heavyweight king Rocky Marciano. He did not elaborate.

The knockdown in the sixth round came after Patterson had absorbed a barrage in a corner. His right glove touched the canvas and he was down momentarily.

DELAYED COUNT

As the referee was tolling the mandatory eight-count, he stopped at five and ordered Clay to go to a neutral corner. He waited four more seconds for Clay to get in the corner and resumed counting. This time the count went to nine.

Patterson never landed a jarring blow in the entire fight. He several times attempted his famed leaping left hook that had knocked out Archie Moore and Ingemar Johansson, but mostly it was blocked or a way off target. Many of the swings were feeble.

PUNISHMENT — Heavyweight challenger Floyd Patterson takes a smash to the midsection from Cassius Clay in the 10th round of their title fight in Las Vegas last night. Patterson took a severe beating and lost on a 12th round technical knockout.

No. 1 Spartans Tighten Grip

Poll Position to Stay Until Bowl Voting

Arkansas Rated 2nd With Nebraska Third in AP Selections

By The Associated Press

Michigan State's powerful Spartans tightened their grip on the No. 1 position in The Associate Press poll today and moved closer to the national college football championship.

They were so impressive in beating Notre Dame last Saturday 12-3 in the Game of the Year that they were named top team on 34 of the 43 ballots of a special panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

★ ★ ★

It was the most impressive showing of the year.

Undefeated Arkansas got the remaining nine nominations and held second place, with Nebraska, also unbeaten and untied, continuing as the third member of the year's Big Three.

Another poll will be staged after this week's few remaining games and the final balloting, determining the national championship, will be held after the bowl games on New Year's Day.

FINAL POLL

The decision to delay the final poll until after the New Year was made because of the broad growth of the post-season attractions and the involvement of most of the teams in the Top Ten.

Actually, eight of the Top Ten will be in action after the regular season.

★ ★ ★

Michigan State, No. 1, plays UCLA, No. 4 in the Rose Bowl. Arkansas, No. 2, opposes Louisiana State, a non-ranker, in the Cotton Bowl at Dallas. Nebraska, No. 3, and Alabama, No. 5, tie up in the Orange Bowl at Miami. The seventh-ranked team, Missouri, is in the Sugar Bowl with Florida. Tennessee, No. 9, plays in the Bluebonnet Bowl and Texas Tech, No. 10, is in the Gator Bowl against Georgia Tech.

That leaves only Notre Dame, No. 6, and Southern California, No. 8, among the top-ranking teams which will not be seen in post-season play.

The Top Ten with first place votes in parentheses, season records and total points on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis:

1. Michigan State (34)	10-0	429
2. Arkansas (9)	10-0	391
3. Nebraska	9-0	335
4. UCLA	7-1-1	264
5. Alabama	7-1-1	262
6. Notre Dame	7-2	202
7. Missouri	7-3-1	157
8. Southern California	6-3-1	91
9. Tennessee	5-1-2	51
10. Texas Tech	6-2	31

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The St. Louis Cardinals have rehired coaches Joe Schultz, Joe Becker and Bob Milliken for the 1966 season, it was announced Monday.

Juday Chosen Most Valuable

AP Photofax

TICKET BOSS — Mrs. Charlene Barnett displays a handful of tickets for the 1966 Rose Bowl game in Pasadena between Michigan State and UCLA New Year's Day. The tickets to the public go on sale next Monday on a first come, first served basis. She is in charge of sales at MSU.

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Senior quarterback and co-captain Steve Juday has been named Most Valuable Player on the tops-of-them-all Michigan State football team.

It was a vote by letter-winners in the proud football family that now is No. 1 in the nation, undefeated, untied and seeking further football glory in the Rose Bowl.

★ ★ ★

Gov. George Romney made the award to Juday, a gold watch.

"Your great leadership, your calm under fire and the fact that you led your team from behind six times prove you deserve this award," said Romney.

Juday, a senior from Northville, has broken 10 MSU records — eight for his passing ability and two for rushing.

SEVEN BOMBS

Juday hit 89 of 168 pass attempts for seven touchdowns, enough to keep the opposition honest and stop concentrating on the ground game.

★ ★ ★

"He's my nominee for player of the year," said Coach Duffy Daugherty.

Romney, who left early to fly to Pasadena for a breakfast meeting of the combined service clubs of West Coast cities, promised a scouting report.

★ ★ ★

The governor said he would be at the Rose Bowl. He told the team about the bet he has with the governor of California, of the guarantee of shipping enough products for 50 dinners for a victory meal for the winners on the Coast.

"But I don't think I'll lose," Romney said.

★ ★ ★

Romney was taken by surprise when presented with one award.

FROM BEHIND

Defensive co-captain Don Japinga gave him an autographed football and explained it was for also coming from behind against odds.

"A lot of people thought we'd never make it, or you would never do it," explained Japinga.

★ ★ ★

"We won and you won in Michigan despite Lyndon Johnson and Barry Goldwater," Romney, a Republican, won re-election last year although Johnson carried the state 2-1.

Uclans Rally for Gridders

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Jubilation runs through rainy Westwood today: UCLA is Rose Bowl bound.

Eight Pacific Athletic Conference members met Monday in San Francisco and voted the Bruins to represent the West Coast against Michigan State in the Jan. 1 classic.

★ ★ ★

In Los Angeles, at Wilshire and Westwood Boulevards, the celebration was already in full swing.

An estimated 5,000 students assembled to honor the conference champions at a campus rally. Tommy Prothro—who last year coached Oregon State to the bowl and then resigned to direct the Bruins—told the indoor rally:

★ ★ ★

"The whole season has been a great one. These are good football players. They are great —with poise and character."

Some 3,000 of his listeners then donned raincoats and umbrellas to walk, chanting, a mile to the busy intersection.

★ ★ ★

Jets Anger Lions' Rookie

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Detroit Lions' rookie fullback Tom Nowatzke today charged Sonny Werblin, president of the New York Jets of the American Football League with "deliberate misstatements" and "false information" concerning his being drafted by the Lions and the Jets.

The former Indiana star, who was the No. 1 choice of both pro teams in the rival leagues, demanded Werblin retract statements the Jets' president made in various publications — including True magazine and two New York newspapers concerning his signing with the Lions and the conditions of the contract offered him by the AFL team.

"I have been greatly disturbed by your deliberate misstatements as they have appeared in True magazine, September 1965 issue and in the New York Post and Herald Tribune articles of —Nov. 18, 1965," Nowatzke told Werblin.

The Jets claimed that the Lions signed him to a pre-mature contract before the draft, and Werblin's story noted that the AFL team offered him bonuses ranging between $25,000 and $50,0000.

"You and George Sauer (Jets personnel man) know that you are the first people with whom I spoke concerning a professional contract. You also know that I did not sign a contract with the Lions until after I was drafted by them on November 28, 1965.

"Your statements that I had signed with the Lions before I was drafted are absolutely false, and you also know that you never did offer me the bonuses as you said."

PRE-MATURE ATTEMPT

Nowatzke noted Sauer's attempt to sign him before his collegiate career was completed.

"You are well aware of Mr. Sauer pursuing me at Bloomington before the Purdue game, offering me an automobile and encouraging me to negotiate a contract which I refused to do.

"Coach Dickens (then Indiana coach) was very upset because of Mr. Sauer's conduct," said Nowatzke.

"I met Werblin, coach Eubank and Sauer at Shea Stadium, Nov. 27, 1964," said Nowatzke, "and I had not negotiated with the Lions or any other football team at that time."

The AFL recently was charged by college officials and the NFL of conducting secret draft meetings of players.

Drafting of players by the AFL was scheduled for last Saturday Nov. 20th but after pressure from colleges, the league decided to hold off its draft to coincide with the NFL draft taking place this Saturday.

★ ★ ★

Nowatzke, in making his demand to the Jets' president wrote him saying," I chose last year to let pass the false statements by you concerning our meeting, however because of your renewal of these misstatements . . . I am specifically now demanding that the quotations attributed to you be retracted in a published letter from you."

★ ★ ★

Nowatzke did not say whether he was contemplating legal action against the Jets president.

Rangers' GM Is Blamed for Fracas

MONTREAL (AP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Monday night that Emile Francis, general manager of the New York Rangers, triggered the fracas at Madison Square Garden Sunday night.

"There is no question about it," Campbell said.

"Had he not gone over to protest with the minor official, there would have been no occasion for anybody to get involved," Campbell said.

"He has no business interfering with any league official."

The fracas erupted in the final period of the Detroit Red Wings-New York Rangers game played at the Garden Sunday.

* * *

JOINED DEBATE

Fans in the area where Francis and Reichert were arguing, suddenly decided to join in and surrounded the pair. Several New York players then scaled the 10-foot barrier which separates the goal judge from the playing surface and came to assist their boss.

In the scuffling, Francis suffered a cut under the left eye.

* * *

Reichert has been a goal judge in New York for 30 years.

Ranger President William Jennings said he would bar Reichert from the Garden.

"He'll never get into this building again—even if the league appointed him," Jennings said. "It's our building."

Goal judges are appointed by the NHL from lists submitted by the six clubs.

* * *

Campbell said the goal judge cannot be barred from the stadium.

The NHL president added that fines will be assessed those players involved in the melee and that he had given no thoughts to suspensions as a form of punishment.

CARDED — The special holiday wrestling program at the Pontiac Armory Wednesday night will feature woman wrestler, Sweet Georgia Brown. Georgia will face Mary Maule. The men's feature will have The Student going against Tiny Tim Hampton.

Vandy Favored in Southeast

(Second of four-part series on college basketball prospects.)

NEW YORK (AP) — Vanderbilt to repeat as champion in the Southeastern Conference, Duke to win the Atlantic Coast Conference and West Virginia to take the Southern Conference.

That is the pre-season forecast in the South and Southeast for the college basketball season opening next week.

* * *

The return of six veterans, including 6-10 Clyde Lee, is the reason the Commodores are favored again to beat out Tennessee, Kentucky and Florida in the SEC.

Vanderbilt had a 24-4 record last season, 15-1 in the league, and lost by only two points to Michigan in the NCAA playoffs.

Duke has four stars back in Steve Vacendak, Bob Verga, Jack Marin and Bob Riedy along with highly-touted sophomore 6-9 Mike Lewis and the Blue Devils aim to win the conference championship playoffs and qualify for the NCAA eliminations.

North Carolina State upset the Blue Devils in the conference playoffs last year and again may give them fits.

Star Larry Lakins is gone, however, and his loss may hurt the Wolfpack. Duke also must look out for Maryland, which has all its starters returning.

NEW COACH

West Virginia, which won the Southern Conference championship tourney last year despite a 14-15 record, has a new coach in Bucky Waters and several good sophs to go with six lettermen.

Ron Williams is heralded as the best of the newcomers.

Davidson, 24-2, but upset in the Southern championship tourney, has lost four of its starters including All-America Fred Hetzel and isn't expected to do too much.

William and Mary, surprise runner-up in the championship tourney, is considered the chief contender to West Virginia.

Western Kentucky is favored to beat out Tennessee Tech in the Ohio Valley Conference.

Virginia Tech, Miami of Florida, New Orleans Loyola and Georgia Tech loom the best of the major independents.

Pistons Pick Clinic Hosts

DETROIT (UPI)—The Detroit Pistons have announced an "All-Star" faculty for their annual schoolboy basketball clinic planned for Saturday, Dec. 4.

Representatives from professional, college and high school ranks will appear on the 90-minute program beginning about 4 p.m.

Three of the area's leading prep coaches—Lofton Greene of River Rouge, Elton Rouse of Highland Park and Will Robinson of Pershing—have accepted invitations to take part along with Piston coach Dave Debusschere and Baltimore Bullets coach Paul Seymour.

The clinic is open to all high school and junior high teams in Michigan, Ohio and Ontario.

NHL Scoring Lead Changes

Montreal's Rousseau in Top Spot

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Rousseau, the scrappy Montreal right winger who managed only 12 goals and 47 points all last year, is making amends in the early stages of the current National Hockey League season.

* * *

Rousseau, who exploded for three goals and two assists against the New York Rangers last Saturday, shot into the NHL scoring lead this week according to figures released today by the NHL.

He has 10 goals and 13 assists in just 14 games and his 23 points are two better than Chicago's Bobby Hull, whose 15 goals lead the league.

* * *

Stan Mikita, who has won the scoring title in each of the past two seasons, is fourth with 17 points, two better than New York's Bob Nevin.

Veteran goaltenders Gump Worsley and Charlie Hodge, who share Montreal's netminding job, lead the NHL's goalies. Worsley has a 2.65 goals against average for 8½ games. Hodge's 2.63 for 5½ games gives the Canadiens an over-all 2.64 goals against figure.

Detroit Bowler Holds Lead in PBA Event

DETROIT (AP) — Dave Soutar, who would look more at home on a basketball court than on the pro bowling circuit, led the 192-man field today in the $65,000 annual PBA National Tournament.

The 25-year-old, 6-foot-3 Soutar, a Detroiter, went into the second day of qualifying with a 1408 series in the morning and a 1281 series at night for a leading total of 2689 in 12 games.

Runner-up was Tommy Tuttle of Rural Hall, N.C., with 2587. Jim Godman, Hayward, Calif., was third with 2580.

TOP 96

The high 96 will bowl 12 games Wednesday. The 24 highest after that round will start round robin match game play Thursday.

The two survivors will clash Saturday in the title contest to be televised by NBC.

Small Player Giant Scorer

Guy Rodgers Hits 39 in NBA Tilt

By The Associated Press

Guy Rodgers, who used to do most of the feeding when Wilt Chamberlain was stuffing the baskets for San Francisco, has turned into a scorer now that Wilt has moved on to Philadelphia.

* * *

The 6-foot Rodgers, a midget among the giants of the National Basketball Association, poured in 39 points and added 10 assists leading the Warriors to a 112-108 victory over the St. Louis Hawks at Memphis, Tenn. Monday night.

* * *

Rodgers is eighth in the NBA list of scorers and turned in a career high of 47 against Los Angeles last Friday. He leads the league in assists with 199.

The veteran guard scored 16 points in the second period as the Warriors jumped into a 57-49 halftime lead.

COACH STARS

St. Louis Player-Coach Richie Guerin and center Zelmo Beaty paced the Hawks with 29 points apiece. It was the Hawks' home game and their first away from St. Louis since 1957.

Tonight's NBA action is concentrated in New York where Cincinnati plays Detroit and New York meets San Francisco.

NCAA Title Is Retained by WMU

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Western Michigan University successfully defended its team title Monday in the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA cross country championships.

John Lawson of Kansas won the individual crown.

★ ★ ★

Lawson took the lead at the five-mile mark on the hilly six-mile course and finished in a time of 29 minutes 24.0 seconds, 18 seconds ahead of Georgetown's Eamon O'Reilley.

Doug Brown of Montana, the leader during the early stages of the race, faltered at the five-mile mark and failed to finish.

Western Michigan, which won the title last year on a four-mile course at East Lansing, scored 81 points to win comfortably.

Northwestern had 116 points for second place and Tennessee was third at 139.

PLACED THIRD

Christian Westman of Washington State placed third individually with a 29:58.0 clocking, followed by Robert Redington of Tennessee, 30:02.0 and Raymond McCubbins of Oklahoma State, 30:07.0.

Western Michigan's Stephen Smith was sixth at 30:08.0 and defending champion Elmore Banton of Ohio University lagged in seventh place at 30:09.0.

Western Michigan's winning team was made up of Smith, Wolfgang Lugauer, Theodore Nelson, Gary Myers, Roger Plont, Michael Gallagher and Keith Brown.

None except Smith finished among the top 16 individuals but their combined efforts were enough to give the defending champs a wider margin of victory than they had last year by five points.

AL ROOKIE—Curt Blefary, the Baltimore Orioles' slugging outfielder has been named the American League rookie of the year for 1965. He is a student at Wagner College in New York.

Oriole Rookie Is Voted Honor

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) — Baltimore's Curt Blefary, the American League's Rookie of the Year, who was cut two years ago by the New York Yankees, credits two ex-Yankees with his success.

Blefary, who edged California Angel pitcher Marcelino Lopez for the rookie honor in voting by a 20-man committee of Baseball Writers of America, credited Oriole Coach Gene Woodling and Manager Hank Bauer for his fine freshman year.

★ ★ ★

"Gene gave me a lot of help, not only in batting but in attitude, hustle and everything else," said Blefary, who lives here with his parents. "Hank gave me the opportunity to play and my teammates helped me correct my mechanical deficiencies and made me feel I belonged."

Blefary walloped 22 home runs, four triples and 23 doubles and drove in 70 runs while batting .260. He polled 12 votes to eight for Lopez, the left-hander who won 14 games and lost 13 for the Angels.

FOOTBALL STAR

The young outfielder, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., was a football and baseball star in high school at Mahwah and signed with New York for a $27,000 bonus and a college education for which the Yankees are still paying. Blefary has two years to go at Wagner College in Staten Island, N.Y., where he is specializing in education for retarded children.

Blefary admitted that he was keyed up playing in Yankee Stadium against the Yankees.

★ ★ ★

"I was very nervous playing there," he said. He explained that his parents and many friends were regulars at Oriole games in the Stadium.

New York signed Blefary in 1962 and the powerful left-handed batter hit 13 homers in 66 games with Greensboro in the Carolina League. He returned to Greensboro in 1963 as the Yankees' protected player.

★ ★ ★

When the Yankees picked up Harry Bright from Cincinnati early in that season, they left Blefary unprotected and Baltimore claimed him for $8,000.

"I can't really have any hard feelings against the Yankees for that," the outfielder said. "That's baseball. They made the move to help them win a pennant."

'C' Team Is Selected

By The Associated Press

Saginaw St. Andrew's brilliant passing combination of quarterback Mark Bordeaux and end Alan Bellile tops the 1965 Michigan Class C high school All State football team announced today by The Associated Press.

Rob White of Class C-D champion Middleville, a second team choice a year ago, Vince Cesarz of Wayne St. Mary and Moe Jacobs of Clinton Boysville round out the backfield.

Ric Pniewski of Manchester, a repeater, is the other end. Bob Dirkse of Galesburg-Augusta and Rick Cole of Byron are the tackles; Dan Miller of Ubly and Dan Daugherty of Constantine are the guards and Mark Marcet of Frankenmuth the center on the dream team.

The team was selected after extensive screening by coaches and sports writers throughout the state.

Named to the second team backfield were Barry Pierson of St. Ignace at quarterback and Larry Walker of Flint Holy Redeemer, Tom Nauta of Grand Rapids Lee and Ralph Skinner of Battle Creek St. Philip.

Linemen named were Bruce Lake of St. Charles and Paul Schoder of Battle Creek St. Philip at the ends, Keith Volk of Bay City Visitation and Hollis Jefferies of Onsted at tackles, Dick Obrig of Hart and Jamie Rohrbacher of Middleville at guards and R. J. Jones of Elsie at center.

All of those named are seniors.

QB RECORD

Bordeaux completed 124 passes in 210 tries for 1,700 yards, and 18 touchdowns and played halfback on defense.

Bellile, who also played defensive end, caught 68 passes for 996 yards and nine touchdowns.

White, who missed one game in Middleville's second straight unbeaten season, netted 1,301 yards in 149 carries and caught 19 passes for an additional 368 yards. He scored 20 touchdowns and added 20 extra points in addition to passing for four touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

Jacobs carried 114 times for 862 yards and led Boysville in punt and kickoff returns. He also caught seven passes for 81 yards and threw one touchdown pass while scoring 86 points himself on 14 touchdowns and two extra points.

Sesarz scored 11 touchdowns in seven games and carried 114 times for 776 yards. He also added 15 extra points and played safety and linebacker on defense.

Marcet spearheaded a Frankenmuth defensive unit which gave up but two touchdowns in eight games. He converted 28 of 34 extra point attempts and kicked a 27-yard field goal on his only attempt.

★ ★ ★

Marcet's performance earned him the dream team center spot over Jones who was a first team selection a year ago.

The Class C All State line averages 198 pounds with Dirkse, at 220, Daugherty, at 215 and Marcet, at 210 presenting the nucleus of a team any coach would enjoy directing.

The backfield is somewhat lighter with Jacobs the heaviest at 190 pounds.

MSU Halfback Point Champ

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Clinton Jones of Michigan State won the all-games Big Ten scoring championship this year with a total of 74 points.

★ ★ ★

Jones scored 12 touchdowns and added two extra points to his total to finish well ahead of Bob Griese of Purdue, who had 6.2. Griese prevented the Spartans from making a clean sweep of the top three spots.

★ ★ ★

Bob Apisa of the champion Spartans was third with 56, Dick Kenney, also of MSU, was fourth with 53.

By JACOBY AND SON

Kay, Silodor and Karpin, authors of the Complete Book of Duplicate Bridge, point out carefully that when you are in an unusual contract the correct play in match-point duplicate is to use rubber bridge tactics and play as safe as you can.

JACOBY

Here is an unusual hand from a New York tournament that produced even more unusual results.

One pair and one pair only found their way to six no-trump.

West opened the jack of clubs. South won the trick and noted that he could insure success by leading a diamond at trick two and playing the six-spot from dummy if West played small. This play would cost him a trick in the event of a reasonable diamond break but would guard against all four diamonds in the West hand.

South also noted that he was in an unusually fine contract and decided to make the safety play. He led a low diamond and played dummy's six-spot. Then he spread his hand and claimed the slam.

What was so unusual about the results on this hand?

It turned out that six no-trump bid and made was the only North-South plus.

About half the field reached six diamonds and all six-diamond declarers decided against the safety play and went down one trick. The rest of the field stopped at three no-trump and in all instances a club was opened. Every three no-trump declarer refused the safety play also and wound up going down one trick. Since all suits failed to break and the club had been opened, declarer could make his four aces and four kings and no more.

CARD Sense

Q—The bidding has been:

West	North	East	South
	3 ♣	Pass	?

You are vulnerable and hold: ♠Q 2 ♥A 8 5 4 ♦A 8 5 4 ♣A 10 8 2

What do you do?

A—Bid four spades. Your partner should have seven tricks for his vulnerable three-spade bid and you have three tricks for him. Do not consider three no-trump.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Again your partner opens a nonvulnerable three spade bid. This time you hold: ♠K 3 2 ♥A Q 7 ♦K 6 5 4 ♣K 10 2

What do you do?

14 Children Safe as Bus Overturns

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Fourteen children and the driver escaped serious injury Monday when a school bus overturned north of Waco.

L. Richard Rushing, 59, driver of the McClennan County bus, said he had pulled to the shoulder of a farm road two miles north of Waco when the slow-moving vehicle hit loose gravel and rolled over.

Nine youngsters were hospitalized, but all were released later.

Builds Own Organ at 16

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — For the past year, Durward Center, 16, has spent much of his time assembling wires, magnets, pieces of wood and silvery metal pipes in a garagelike building behind his home.

The high school junior now can sit down at his 337-pipe homemade organ and breeze through a ragtime tune, play a Bach fugue or produce a Christmas carol.

Center says he still has to build a wood enclosure and tune and voice the instrument.

Royal Couple Is Near End of Visit to U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Princess Margaret splashed through rain and cold Monday plugging British trade, then, her royal duties done, she donned black lace and satin shoes for a whirlwind of private parties and midnight pancakes.

Thirty-five bluebloods of the theatrical world, including Ethel Merman, Jerome Robbins, Tony Perkins, Barbra Streisand and Sybil Burton Christopher, came to the pancake party given by Broadway producer Harold Prince and his wife, Judy, in their six-story townhouse.

Highlighting the party, the princess saw a performance of the score for Prince's new musical "Cabaret," soon to open on Broadway.

Prince and his wife joined the princess and her husband, the Earl of Snowdon, and actor Perkins for an intimate champagne dinner beforehand at the apartment of Sharman Douglas, daughter of a former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain.

SIP COCKTAILS

Earlier, the royal couple sipped cocktails with 300 guests at a reception in the private colony club. Winthrop Aldrich, former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain was the host.

Climbing into her gray-green Rolls-Royce at 1 a.m., the princess snuggled under a heavy lap blanket, waved to onlookers and, when asked if she had a good time, smiled and nodded a happy "yes."

* * *

The princess remained seated at the reception, and during most of the evening. Although she was radiant and smiling, her heavy schedule was taking its toll.

Monday's itinerary included a dozen business stops and several miles of walking. Later in the afternoon the princess changed to low-heeled shoes. Guests said she left the party for home because she was tired.

WHITNEY IS HOST

She and Lord Snowdon stayed overnight and planned to spend today, their last full day here, on the rolling 500-acre estate of her host, John Hay Whitney, former U.S. ambassador to Great Britain and publisher of the New York Herald Tribune.

Called Greentree, the estate is nestled behind a white picket fence outside Manhassett, Long Island, 25 miles from New York City, in scenic woodlands.

RETURN FROM 'SPACE'—Three Philadelphia Northeast High School boys beam and give out with A-OK gestures yesterday as they emerge from a space simulator. Appearing a bit tired after three days in 'space' were (from left) Michael Dolchin, 16; Donald Nibouar, 16; and Warren Kurnick, 15. The test was another in a series of such experiments conducted by the school, with virtually every condition similar to that staged by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Michigan Briefs

Esther Van Wagoner Tufty

WASHINGTON — A whimsical columnist in the Washington Post upset many a Michigan-in-Washington person living in nearby Virginia by writing: "Virginia is a pretty elongated commonwealth . . . her western tip is farther west than Detroit." This was a shock, but it's true . . . the map confirms.

* * *

Then he went on to say this about Detroit: "Detroit is a city with its own peculiarity. North is where east ought to be. That's because Canada somehow got misplaced.

"Arriving there recently, I assumed that Windsor, Ont., was on the east bank of the Detroit River, which would logically place Detroit on the west bank. But the sun insisted on rising in the north, a dreadful phenomenon to encounter after a too-social evening.

"Finally the local guidebook explained why. The Detroit River flows east-west through the metropolitan area and Windsor, the book noted, is the only Canadian city that is south of an American city."

Thank you, Jack Eisen.

Just in one day's mail, these federal funds are reportedly going to Michigan:

• $10,207,952 for grants and and loans to 11 college libraries and for five new library buildings from U.S. Office of Education.

• $750,000 public facilities loan for new 90-bed hospital in Albion.

Add to that a news release from U.S. Office of Education stating that state directors of vocational education and other interested officials have been notified of a two-year nursing education program to be financed with federal vocational education assistance funds.

Making Contemporary Film

Julie Andrews Is Up-to-Date

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD — At last Julie Andrews has made it to a contemporary film.

The Academy Award winner, who is the most modern of fair ladies, has spent her film career thus far in period pieces: "Mary Poppins" (1910), "The Americanization of Emily" (1944) and "The Sound of Music" (1938).

THOMAS

Recently she finished a grueling location for "Hawaii," in which she played a missionary wife of the 1830s. She enacted her death scene on Oahu on a Tuesday. The next day she was in Universal City posing in Edith Head's modern designs for "Torn Curtain."

"Oh, it's delicious to be playing an up-to-date girl in smashingly smart clothes," she enthused.

SILVER LINING

But then, Julie is inclined to be enthusiastic about most everything. Even the long, troubled location in Hawaii had its silver lining for her.

"I must say it got terribly depressing for a while there," she admitted. "All those long waits for the weather to clear up, and the sand, and the scorpions — it got to you after a while.

* * *

"But I think it will all be worth the trouble. The script problems we had were resolved in a way that tightened up the story. George Roy Hill (the director) has done a simply marvelous job. I would certainly like to work for him again."

Compared to "Hawaii" and her other films, "Torn Curtain" is a breeze for Julie. She is allowed to look her own lovely, up-to-date self, with a frosted-blonde bouffant hairdo substituted for the boyish cut.

NOT AS RIGOROUS

The role is not as rigorous as the others, although she and Paul Newman are chased by enemy agents hither and yon. Julie certainly escapes from typing as a nanny in this one. The production notes report in the opening scene "she is seen sharing a ship bunk with Newman while they discuss marriage plans."

* * *

Julie continues her workaday life, far removed from husband Tony Walton, who is in Madrid designing "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum." Their daughter, Emma Kate, is currently visiting him.

* * *

"After Christmas, I hope things will become a bit more normal," said Julie. She has no immediate film plans. Among the future projects: "The Public Eye," to be directed by Mike Nichols; the Gertrude Lawrence biography for Robert Wise; Irving Berlin's "Say It With Music."

Young Heiress Said Missing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A 17-year-old girl, once the center of a sensational international custody battle, has been reported missing only weeks before becoming legally eligible to claim a $10-million inheritance.

Mrs. Anna Spring-Hitz said last night that she had not heard from her daughter, Anna Maria Hitz, for the past three weeks. The girl was last reported in Stateline, Calif., with her boyfriend, a 25-year-old student identified as Verich Bierschenk.

Mrs. Spring - Hitz said District of Columbia police told her it was just "a case of two young people being in love." But she told United Press International she feared her daughter had been taken out of the country against her will.

"I know my daughter," Mrs. Spring - Hitz said. "She would write and tell me that she was in love and what her plans were. But I haven't heard anything in three weeks."

* * *

Anna Maria, a student at a fashionable private school here and part-time model, will be 18 Dec. 20. She will be eligible then to assert her rights as sole beneficiary to her father's estate, estimated at $10 million. She will not be able to get the money until she is 21, however.

Mrs. Spring - Hitz and her daughter made headlines in 1961 in a continuing battle over the estate of Othmar John Hitz, a Swiss businessman who made a fortune in Latin-American coffee.

Trading Mixed, Moderately Active

Stocks Stay in Narrow Range

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock prices hovered in a narrow range in mixed trading today. Turnover was moderately active.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up .1 at 351.6 with industrials up .4, rails up .2 and utilities off .3.

* * *

Prices of copper issues continued to erode in the wake of the rollback of price boosts.

Electronics shares showed advances, along with fractional gains by steels, motors, drugs, tobaccos and airlines. Selected aircraft issues were up strongly.

INDECISIVE

Price movements were indecisive throughout early trading.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up .83 at 947.21.

General Motors, Chrysler and Studebaker were up fractions. In the steels U.S. Steel, Republic and Jones & Laughlin were up ¼.

* * *

American Telephone continued to lose ground, off ½. Other utilities off fractions included Consolidated Edison, Commonwealth Edison and Consolidated Natural Gas.

Prices were mixed in active trading on the American Stock Exchange. Up more than a point were Bowman Industries, National Video and Pall Corp. "A".

Fractional gains were scored by APL, Chromalloy, Fotochrome and Great American Industries. Down by fractions were AKU, Data Control and Consolidated Oil & Gas.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were mostly unchanged in light trading.

Foresees Latin Common Mart

Ex-Puerto Rico Chief Talks to Detroit Club

DETROIT (AP)—Puerto Rico with its unique commonwealth status could provide the blueprint for a possible Pan-American Common Market, former Governor Luis Munoz Marin said Monday.

He also told the Economic Club of Detroit he believed the Carribean island should retain its present status rather than become a full-fledged U.S. state or become independent.

★ ★ ★

Munoz Marin, who last year refused to run for a fifth term as governor, said either course would be a catastrophe for Puerto Rico.

"The rest of the world to the contrary, we regard political status not as end itself but as a means to developing that economy which will lead to prosperity," Munoz Marin said.

KEEPS DOOR OPEN

This commonwealth relationship with the United States also "keeps open the door to all future adaptations of this permanent relationship to a changing hemisphere in a changing world," he declared.

He said he foresees a possible common market in the Carribean area which could expand to encompass Central and South America and later the entire hemisphere.

The opening of a new canal between the Atlantic and Pacific across Central America could "be heightened into a symbol of a new policy," he said.

288th Suicide Jumps off Golden Gate Span

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A Merchant Marine officer plunged to his death Monday from the Golden Gate Bridge—the 288th known victim to go off that span.

The California Highway Patrol identified him as Perry Charlton, 39, of Oakland, Calif.

STATE OF MICHIGAN—In the Probate Court for the County of Oakland. Juvenile Division.

In the matter of the petition concerning Ronald, Tammy, Linda and Mitchel Childs aka Baxter, minors. Cause No. 21764.

To Ronald Childs, father of said minor children.

Petition having been filed in this Court alleging that said children come within the provisions of Chapter 712A of the Compiled Laws of 1948 as amended, in that the present whereabouts of the father of said minor children is unknown and said children are dependent upon the public for support and that said children should be placed under the jurisdiction of this Court.

In the name of the people of the State of Michigan, you are hereby notified that the hearing on said petition will be held at the Court House, Oakland County Service Center, in the City of Pontiac in said County, on the 2nd day of December A.D. 1965, at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, and you are hereby commanded to appear personally at said hearing, at which time temporary or permanent severance of all parental rights will be considered.

If being impractical to make personal service hereof, this summons and notice shall be served by publication of a copy one week previous to said hearing in The Pontiac Press, a newspaper printed and circulated in said County.

Witness, the Honorable Norman R. Barnard, Judge of said Court, in the City of Pontiac in said County, this 19th day of November A.D. 1965.

Helena Rubenstein Estate Is $47,516

LONDON (AP) — Beauty expert Helena Rubenstein left an estate in England valued at 16,970 pounds ($47,516), it was announced today. Inheritance taxes on it came to 1,714 pounds ($4,799).

Miss Rubenstein's holdings in Britain were a very small part of her wealth. Half of her property in Britain was divided among her British employes, business associates and a sister here. The other half went to a foundation she had set up.

Miss Rubenstein, whose official residence was in New York, died on April 1. She was over 90.

Lombardo on Mend After Operation

HOUSTON (UPI) — Guy Lombardo, whose music has set couples dancing for decades, was reported doing well today recovering from removal of a kidney stone.

Band leader Lombardo, 63, had surgery in St. Luke's Episcopal hospital Saturday. He came out of the operation smoothly and was recovering normally, a hospital spokesman said.

He and his "Royal Canadians" played an engagement in Houston recently.

Aid to Elderly Session Topic

Birmingham Is Site for Second Meeting

The second of three meetings designed to inform senior citizens of federal and local assistance available to them will be held tomorrow at the Birmingham Community House.

Gilbert Galavan, assistant district manager of the Social Security Administration, will be the featured speaker at the 8 p.m. meeting.

The meetings were arranged by Birmingham residents Russell Denison, 931 Ruffner, and attorney David Breck.

The first meeting was devoted to Medicare and emphasized the need to register before March 31 in order to receive medical insurance provided under the program.

The last meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Dec. 1 at the Community House and will concern local programs for the elderly.

Birmingham Mayor Robert Page and State Rep. William Hampton, R-Birmingham, will lead a panel discussion.

The meetings are being sponsored by the Birmingham Council of Churchs, Senior Womens' Club and the Birmingham Residential Association Council.

Both Birmingham cab companies have offered free rides to and from the meetings.

Probers Go to Governors on Pollution

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A congressional subcommittee is asking state governors what they think of a proposal to impose extra taxes on firms polluting the nation's waterways.

It is also inviting comments from the chief executives on an opposite proposal—tax relief for those companies that take steps to combat pollution.

Rep. Robert E. Jones, D-Ala., announced yesterday his government operations subcommittee has written to the governor of each state and territory about a proposed "stick-type" approach under which firms would pay "effluent charges" based on the amount of untreated waste they dump into a river, stream or lake.

The complementary "carrot-type" approach would mean tax relief for pollutors who install facilities to control polluting discharges.

The subcommittee asked the governors whether either of the devices is now being employed on state levels.

It is also asking for opinions on whether either program should be established by the federal government in addition to or instead of state programs.

Votes Locked Up

GLOBE, Ariz. (AP) — Returns were a bit late in being reported in one precinct in a special election here. Election workers inadvertently locked the key to the ballot box inside the box. It required nearly two hours to saw the lock off before the ballots could be reached.

Says U.S. Troop Exit Must Precede Talks

TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam's President Ho Chi Minh has blasted speculation that the Communists might be willing to go to the negotiation table without a prior withdrawal of U.S. troops from Viet Nam.

The Communist leader in a letter to Dr. Linus Pauling Nov. 17, laid at rest the idea that this condition had been quietly dropped.

Though Ho did not in so many words say that U.S. withdrawal was a prior condition for talks, he said that the March 22 declaration of the Viet Cong's political agency, The National Front for Liberation, and North Viet Nam's own support for it were "the most correct way to a peaceful settlement of the Viet Nam problem . . ."

Both these statements insisted the Americans must pull out before it would be possible to consider an international Geneva-style conference.

★ ★ ★

The New China News Agency gave a full account in a Hanoi dispatch today of Ho's letter to Pauling, a Pasadena, Calif., chemist who has won Nobel prizes for chemistry and peace.

WON'T BOW DOWN

"The South Vietnamese people will not bow down to the invaders," Ho said. "They have been fighting heroically against the U.S. aggressors and their henchmen and are scoring ever greater victories."

Saying the U.S. government had been "clamoring that it does not intend to expand the war and is ready to negotiate," Ho observed:

"The people of the world, including the American people, have come to realize more and more clearly that this is but deceitful talk on the part of the U.S. rulers, whose policy is to negotiate from a position of strength, to perpetrate ever more horrible massacres and cause ever greater devastation, in order to compel the Vietnamese people to lay down their arms and give up their legitimate aspirations."

★ ★ ★

Some western observers have recently portrayed Ho as more moderate than the Chinese faction in North Viet Nam, occupying a position about midway between the Peking and Moscow-oriented group. In some of his past statements he did not spell out the North Vietnamees conditions in detail.

Shastri, Khan Agree to Meet

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Indian Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri told the upper house of parliament today he has agreed to meet Pakistan President Ayub Khan at Tashkent in the Soviet Union to discuss Kashmir.

The Soviet Union suggested that the Indian and Pakistan leaders get together in the wake of the cease-fire in the Kashmir war.

Shastri said he conveyed his willingness for the meeting to Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin "a coupel of days ago."

The Indian premier said he had received a "fresh message" ago renewing his earlier invitation from Kosygin three or four days ago to meet with Ayub in Tashkent in Soviet Uzbekistan.

Shastri said he told Kosygin "I will always be prepared to discuss general relations between India and Pakistan with President Ayub Khan."

Thief With Sweet Tooth Sought by Local Police

Pontiac police are looking for a thief with a criminally "sweet tooth."

Eight cases of candy valued at $200 were reported taken last night from a truck owned by the L. C. Smith Express Co. of 267 S. Blvd. E.

No Rail in the Road

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — A Santa Fe switch engine was derailed and rolled down a street here when a city street crew inadvertently covered a stretch of the railroad tracks with tar. The train had to be pulled back on the tracks. No one was injured.

Area Driver Hurt in Crash

A 38-year-old White Lake Township man is listed in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital today after his car ran off Union Lake Road and hit a utility pole early this morning.

Rankin S. Henry of 1082 Maple Heights told Oakland County sheriff's deputies he fell asleep at the wheel shortly before the accident near the intersection of Meridian.

Henry suffered lacerations in the mishap.

Agriculture Branch Reshuffled in State

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney signed an executive order Monday creating the new department of agriculture — the 12th of 19 departments to be established under government reorganization.

The department is essentially the same structurally as the existing agency. It is headed by a commission.

★ ★ ★

Agencies incorporated in the department include weather service, Apple Commission, Cherry Commission, Potato Industry Council, racing commissioner, Soil Conservation Committee, State Fair Authority and board of managers of the Upper Peninsula State Fair.

Call Defense in Marine's Court-Martial

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — The defense presents its case today in the court-martial of Sgt. Donald A. Stewart, a Parris Island Marine drill instructor charged with punching and slapping recruits.

Stewart, 24, of Parkesburg, Pa., was charged along with two other drill instructors — his immediate superior, S. Sgt. Clyde E. Cornelison, 29, of Cocoa Beach, Fla., and Cpl. Jerry W. Nelson, 22, of Alma, Ky.

★ ★ ★

Cornelison was acquitted of similar charges last week. Nelson will be tried at the completion of Stewart's court-martial.

Eight trainees testified Monday that Stewart slapped them in the face or punched them in the stomach during the first weeks of their basic training cycle which began late in September.

Pvt. Richard Granger, of Great Falls, S.C., said Stewart hit him in the stomach twice and slapped him twice because he scratched a sand flea on his neck during an arms drill.

★ ★ ★

On another occasion, Granger said, the drill instructor made derogatory remarks about his girlfriend during a mail call.

"If he hadn't been my superior, I believe I'd have flew up at him," Granger told the military court. "I'd have hit him, sir."

Wage Raises Average 4 Pct.

Labor Dept. Reports on Bargaining Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Labor Department said today some 2.2 million workers under major collective bargaining agreements won wage increases averaging 4.2 per cent the first nine months of this year.

The average pay boost, amounting to 11 cents per hour, was higher than the comparable periods of 1963 and 1964, when wage gains were 3.1 per cent respectively.

Arthur M. Ross, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, said the 4.2 per cent increase cannot be directly compared with White noninflationary wage increases of 3.2 per cent a year.

Ross said this was because the nine-month figures showed only first year wage gains in the labor contracts, some of which extend over as much as five years.

* * *

Also, he said, the figures do not include the value of fringe benefits, which could make the over-all average higher or lower.

3.2 PER CENT INCREASE

Ross said a special study averaging wage increases out over the length of all contracts covering 10,000 workers or more shows a 3.3 per cent increase the first nine months of 1965.

He said this figure more accurately reflects wage increases in terms of the guidelines.

To illustrate his point, he said the first year wage gain in this year's steel settlement amounted to 4 per cent but will average only 2.1 per cent over the three-year life of the contract.

When fringe benefits are figured in, the over-all annual increase in the steel settlement is about 3.2 per cent, he siad.

The value of negotiated fringe benefits, which are included in the White House guidelines, are not available for most other contract settlements, Ross said.

*

He said the bureau's figures would be more significant in terms of the guidelines if fringe benefits could be figured in and that the bureau will ask congress for an increse in appropriations next year to do this.

Sells Horned Toads; Business Is Hopping

COLEMAN, Tex. (AP) — L. P. Tuttle buys and sells horned toads. He got into this unusual business because of his desire to help small boys during the summer.

He discovered that he could buy their toads and resell them to vegetable gardens and botanical gardens all over the United States. The toads are used to keep insects and ants under control.

OPPORTUNITY:

This is a career sales opportunity for an aggressive, ambitious man. Unusual growth potential to the right man. We back you up with QUALIFIED LEADS from Life, Look, Saturday Evening Post, Readers Digest, radio and television. THERE IS NO COLD CANVASSING.

HIGH INCOME:

Each sale of our internationally renowned course results in a high commission. In addition we have company paid insurance and major medical policies.

TRAINING:

We provide field and management training. Previous experience in direct sales desired but not essential.

ADVANCEMENT:

Advancement will be rapid and as far up the ladder as you make it. Management opportunities virtually unlimited in this progressive and vigorous company.

TO QUALIFY:

Ideally the man we are looking for is over 30 years old, married, college graduate, likes people and enjoys selling to people in their homes. He must know how to motivate people to self-improvement, have a late model car, and can do some traveling.

IF YOU QUALIFY:

We will arrange a personal interview. Arrange for details and telephone number to:

Our best buy in a better home. Silver Lake is a real community with ownership of this lovely 4-bedroom ranch brick on all one level and includes a beautiful family room and 2 full ceramic baths, each with tub-shower, panelled and tiled with a shuffleboard for the kiddies. Double garage. It's a deal, really at $22,950. About $2,300 down or We'll trade.

FOX BAY AREA
A very recent listing and we're so proud of it. Low and brick with 3 large bedrooms all on one floor. Exposed basement, finished into a recreation room. Compare with new houses you've seen; landscaping is done, the garage is built in but be sure to see this one. Waterford schools. Only $23,500 and as always, you can trade.

PLEASANT OLDER HOME
with one bedroom and bath down, 2 big bedrooms upstairs. Gas heat. Garage. Situated midway between downtown and the lakes. Only $16,250, easy terms, no down payment for eligible "Vets."

It's 7 Come 11 for Star Wayne

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Actor John Wayne, 58, has disclosed he expects to become a father for the seventh time and a grandfather for the 11th time in April.

The actor also said yesterday that his 12th grandchild is anticipated in July.

Wayne said his wife, Pilar, is expecting in April and his daughter, Toni, also is awaiting the birth of her child April 22, while another daughter, Melinda, expects a child in July.

Fully recovered from a cancer operation earlier this year, Wayne currently is starring in a new western, "Eldorado."

Educators Honor Dow

MIDLAND (AP) — The Midland Board of Education Monday night unanimously resolved to name the district's second, and yet-to-be-constructed high school, after the founder of Dow Chemicals Corp., Dr. Herbert Dow. Dr. Dow died in 1930.

President Gets Texas Turkey for Thanksgiving

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A live Texas turkey, weighing 40 pounds, arrived at the White House yesterday addressed to President Johnson.

The National Turkey Federation and the Poultry and Egg National Board, in a custom inaugurated 20 years ago, presented the big gobbler for the first family's Thanksgiving dinner.

W. Marvin Watson, a special assistant to the President, accepted the bird. To make sure Johnson would have a bite of their product, the growers also sent a fully dressed 20-pound turkey to his Texas ranch.

Program in Scouting

HIGGINS LAKE (AP) — The 11th annual University of Scouting will be held at the Higgins Lake conservation training school Dec. 3-4. The classes for volunteer leaders in the scouting program are sponsored by the Paul Bunyan Council of the Boy Scouts of America.

Infantry Unit Leaves Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The U. S. Army announced today that it is withdrawing the extra infantry battalion stationed in West Berlin since the Communists built the Berlin wall in 1961.

The extra unit has been rotated every three months with a battalion from West Germany. The Army said it will be withdrawn in January.

The Army statement emphasized "that the return of the extra battalion to its home unit in West Germany in no way alters the United States' long-standing commitment to Berlin."

The rotating unit totals about 700 men. Three other infantry battalions are regularly assigned to the Berlin brigade, which with such support troops as artillery and armor normally totals about 6,000 men.

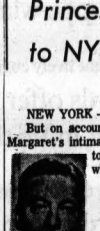
BERLIN TENSION

The increase of U. S. strength in Communist-surrounded West Berlin was ordered by President John F. Kennedy during the time of high East-West tension when the Communists started building the wall.

Princess to Give Flavor to NY's Kitchen Society

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — I never meant to be a Kitchen-Dropper . . . But on account of that exclusive party for 212 of Princess Margaret's intimates to be held at the Four Seasons restaurant tonight, I decided to give it a preview for you've who ain't invited, seeing as how I ain't either.



WILSON

The Princess and her very own Earl are to line up (I was about to say "belly up") to the stainless steel ranges carrying their own plates and picking out their own supper vitties. Her highness, it is practically certain, is going to tote her own plate to the kitchen, not detailing this chore to some lackey.

All has been excitement there.

"We're not having artichokes!" Stuart Levin, manager of the restaurant, was saying.

"Four times now they've served Her Highness artichokes. We're not going to duplicate anything anybody else gave her! At least I hope that's how Sharman Douglas will want it." Miss Douglas is the boss woman and hostess of this, the biggest event in Kitchen Society in all history.

"We have one of the few live trout tanks in America," Levin said. "The trout arrive regularly from Stroudsburg, Pa.

"If Her Highness chooses trutte bleu, we could serve it to her in 10 minutes. Although the Princess doesn't like champagne, we will of course serve Mumm's champagne. For Lord Snowdon, of course, scotch—with gingerale."

Mr. Levin indicated that he didn't know which Scotch.

I indicated, with gingerale, who would know the difference?

Of course, "scotch and ginger" may become a new "in" booze roo.

Workers OK Pact; Gibson Strike Ends

GREENVILLE (AP) — A three-week strike at Gibson Refrigerator Co. plants in Belding and Greenville ended Monday night when union workers ratified a new three-year contract 1003-311.

The workers, members of United Auto Workers Local 137, struck Nov. 3 when their old contract with the division of Hupp Corp. expired at midnight Nov. 2.

Manus Norton, the local's office manager, said the new pact called for a 12-cent-an-hour wage increase the first year, 8 cents the second year and 6 cents the third year. Norton said the average hourly wage under the old contract was $2.28.

He said the new pact also included "improved fringe benefits."

Detroiter Sentenced

TACOMA, Wash. (AP) — William L. Brewer, 20-year-old discharged soldier from Detroit, was sentenced Monday to a maximum of 20 years in prison.

Brewer was convicted last Tuesday of a manslaughter charge involving the shooting of Doyle Hawkins, 45, in a Tacoma tavern July 10.

There are approximately 800,000 words in the English language.

2 Michigan Soldiers Among 85 Viet Dead

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department Monday released the longest single casualty list of the Viet Nam fighting. A total of 85 soldiers, two of them from Michigan, were killed in action. The Michigan victims were Spec. 4 Garrett F. Lee, husband of Mrs. Janet D. Lee of Kingsford, and Pfc Robert Posius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Felix V. Posius of Detroit.

$1.1 Million Ready for Antipoverty Use

MOUNT PLEASANT (AP) — The president of the Northern Michigan Community Action Program (NORCAP) said Monday that $1.1 million was available to fight poverty in northern Lower Michigan.

The Rev. Carl Hathaway said the money was included in the fiscal 1965-66 budget of the Office Economic Opportunity and was available to Michigan under the federal anti-poverty.

★ ★ ★

He said that in order to qualify for the funds the individual counties in the area must submit their anti-poverty programs to NORCAP for approval.

$133,000 Spent for Cavanagh

DETROIT (AP) — Supporters of Mayor Jerome Cavanagh said they spent close to $133,000 in Cavanagh's successful bid for reelection.

★ ★ ★

Three Cavanagh campaign committees reported Monday they spent a total of 60,610 in the Nov. 2 election. Earlier, they spent $57,000 in the primary.

★ ★ ★

Campaign Manager Jack Casey said two groups are still to submit reports totaling another $15,000 in expenditures.

Monday was the deadline for filing expense reports with the Wayne County Clerk.

Walter C. Shamie, Cavanagh's opponent, spent close to $39,300 and got contributions of $31,896, Shamie's backers reported.

Hunter's Body Found

CURRAN (AP) — An autopsy was to be held today in an effort to determine the cause of death of Thomas Squires, 25, of Bronson. Squires, a deer hunter, last was seen alive Saturday. His body was found Monday in a wooded area near here.

Young GOP Warns of Birch Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — District of Columbia Young Republicans say the party should "be on guard against any efforts of the John Birch Society to gain control of the party machinery."

The statement was issued Monday night after a check on the society by a five-member Young GOP committee.

★ ★ ★

Chairman James L. Berger said the inquiry was triggered by society criticism from Republican congressional leaders earlier this year.

The investigation was begun in the form of public hearings, but after the first one this approach was dropped.

OUT OF PROPORTION

Said Berger: "It just got blown out of proportion."

The District Young Republicans had their own Birch controversy during the same period when George H. Miller Jr., a Birch member, was ousted as editor of the GOP organization's monthly newsletter.

★ ★ ★

Miller was the only witness at the first hearing.

Berger said his committee completed its probe by attending society meetings, studying the organization's publications and interviewing what it called "authoritative spokesmen."

SPECIAL STATEMENT

Reed A. Benson, Washington representative of the Birch Society, issued a special statement Monday night in which he said the society was happy the Young Republicans had attempted to make clear the Birch group is not a part of the Republican party.

Said Benson: "We have in our ranks Democrats, Republicans and independents. We are proud of the consistent accuracy of our founder, Mr. Robert Welch, in calling the shots about communism."

About 46 million tons of paper were consumed in this nation last year, an average of 478 pounds per person.

Junior Editors Quiz on BIRDS

QUESTION: Where do birds go at night?

ANSWER: The first thing you will notice about birds as you study them is how very active they are. The fast pace at which they live means that their bodies, especially their flight muscles, need plenty of rest at night.

Yet few of us see birds when they are asleep. There is a very good reason for this. Since most birds must watch out for enemies, it is dangerous for them to sleep unless they are well hidden.

Birds are expert at hiding, and that's why we don't see them at night. Many birds sleep standing on the twigs of tall trees, high up and concealed in the foliage.

They are very apt to tuck their bills into their wing feathers, and the feathers of their shoulders make soft pillows for their heads.

In the winter, birds look for holes in dead trees or burrow in leaves. Water birds often sleep floating on the water, as we show at lower right.

Here, they are safer than they would be if ashore. When a perching bird squats down on a twig, the bones of his feet lock together to keep him from falling off. He must stand up to release them.

★ ★ ★

FOR YOU TO DO: Our artist has put 29 birds into his picture, including those sleeping and those awake. See if you can find them all.

Say Mother Drowned 5 in Bathtub

HONOLULU (AP) — The wife of a U.S. Air Force captain who police say admitted drowning her five young children in a bathtub is in Honolulu City-County jail today, awaiting arraignment on a first-degree murder charge.

Maggie Young, 38, quoted by detective John Dickson as saying, "I killed my children," was charged with murdering her only son, James Frankie, 8, within four hours after police discovered the bodies of the five youngsters — James; Janice, 5; Judy, 3; Jeanette, 2, and Jessica, 11 months — in two beds in the Youngs' suburban Honolulu home Monday.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Young, wife of Capt. James Young, a native of San Antonio, Tex., will be arraigned on the murder charge in Circuit Court Wednesday.

The family had lived in Hawaii about a year. Mrs. Young, an ash blonde, spent from July to September in Tripler Army Hospital as a result of a nervous breakdown. She was still being treated as an outpatient, Air Force authorities said.

MURDER PENALTY

Elaine Marshall of Honolulu, a family friend, told police Mrs. Young telephoned her Monday morning asking about the penalty for murder in Hawaii.

Mrs. Marshall said she replied, "Oh, no, Maggie, what have you done?"

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Marshall quoted Mrs. Young as saying, "I killed them. I killed them all. They were crying. They were crying and I couldn't take care of them all. They were sick and they were crying."

BLENDED SCOTCH WHISKY. 80 PROOF. IMPORTED IN ORIGINAL CASKS BY McMASTER IMPORT CO., DETROIT, MICH.

A $7.00 Scotch for only $4.97?
What's the gimmick?

Here it is:

One fine day the McMaster's people discovered that, simply by importing their Scotch whisky in barrels instead of bottles, they paid a lower tax—and saved their customers money.

Big tax savings, that's the reason McMaster's comes to America only in barrels.

You'd expect to pay $7.00 for an imported Scotch with the flavor and mellowness of McMaster's. But we save on taxes and other costs—so you pay only $4.97 a fifth, only $2.50 a tenth (tax included).

Now available in a new ½-gallon size for just $12.95. Sorry, they won't let us sell it by the barrel.

A $6.50 Canadian for only $4.80?
Sure. McMaster's gives you the same big tax savings on its fine imported Canadian whisky, too. (Tax included.) Also available in ½ gallons at only $11.95.

For Viet Veterans' Bonus

May Up Cigarette Tax

LANSING (AP) — Republican Senate leader Emil Lockwood said yesterday he will ask for a raise in the cigarette tax to pay for a Viet Nam veterans' bonus and expanded veterans' property tax exemptions.

He made the proposal following a House-Senate GOP caucus at which no final action was taken on whether to uphold gubernatorial vetoes of three money bills.

Republican Gov. George Romney talked to the 33 legislators for 70 minutes and said he had "a good feeling" the vetoes would be sustained.

The legislature returns Dec. 9 for an attempt by majority Democrats to override the turndowns of $1.2 million fund for unexpected college enrollments, a $4 million change in vets' property tax exemptions and a $4.5 million or higher rent reimbursement plan for senior citizen renters.

★ ★ ★

Democrats, if their ranks are solid, still would need one House vote and three Senate votes from Republicans to override the vetoes.

FAVOR OVERRIDING

Lockwood said he would favor overriding the veto of the veterans bill if the Legislature would immediately raise the cigarette tax.

He said he still is collecting figures, so could give no specific proposal for how many pennies the tax on a pack of cigarettes should increase.

The present state tax is seven cents. Each additional penny is estimated to be worth $11 million a year.

★ ★ ★

Lockwood said he had talked to Sen. S. Don Potter, R-Lansing, the other Republican besides Lockwood on the Senate Taxation Committee, and that "he is in accord." Lockwood said no Republican had indicated opposition.

No caucus position could be taken, however, because only 7 of 15 senators were present.

★ ★ ★

Lockwood said Illinois had approved a Viet Nam veterans bonus of $100 per man, with $1,000 for widows of men killed in action.

SAFE AT HOME — Nancy Keller, 8, is reunited with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Keller, in their Bastrop, La., home last night as her brother, Douglas III, watches. The girl escaped yesterday from a vacant house where a kidnaper held her prisoner for 24 hours. An 18-year-old youth was arrested and held for questioning by police.

Abducted Girl Safe; Police Arrest Youth

BASTROP, La. (AP)—Nancy Keller spurned a juicy steak and took instead a peanut butter sandwich to celebrate her escape from a vacant house where a kidnaper held her prisoner for 24 hours.

"Daddy, I'm all right," the freckle-faced, 8-year-old girl told her father by telephone late yesterday. "Daddy, will you come get me?"

The father said he had received no ransom demand nor any communication about the child until her call.

Nancy was abducted Sunday while playing in front of her home. A playmate told authorities the kidnaper forced Nancy into and drove away rapidly in an old car as the girl screamed.

Within an hour after she escaped from the two-story house on the outskirts of this northeast Louisiana paper mill town of 15,000, FBI and local police had arrested a youth identified as Douglas Charles Emerich,18.

Authorities whisked him to a jail at Monroe, 22 miles away and said charges would be filed today.

"He was good to me," Nancy said as she munched on the peanut butter sandwich at her home, following a tearful reunion with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Douglas Keller.

The girl told her parents her abductor had put her in the attic with the order: "Stay there and I'll be back in about 45 minutes."

He didn't return, she said, and she slipped away to a nearby house and telephoned her frantic parents.

"I was scared," she admitted. She said she had had only three pieces of candy to eat.

"He made me lie down on the floorboard of the car and took me to his (sic) house," she said. She recounted that her abductor told her "to go to the other room and go to bed, get some sleep and I'll take you home in the morning."

Plot on Bobby Foiled in Brazil

Police Say Students Planned to Hurl Acid

RECIFE, Brazil (AP) — Brazilian police say they have foiled a plot to throw acid in Sen. Robert F. Kennedy's face.

Police arrested three students last night and sought two others.

Officials said the attack was planned for noon today during a visit by the New York Democrat to the federal University of Pernambuco here.

The acid-throwing was to be a signal for anti-U. S. demonstrations throughout Latin America, police said.

Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, are on a South American tour. They arrived in this Brazilian port last night but rested after a heavy schedule and were not available for comment.

EGGS THROWN

Kennedy brushed off Sunday an incident last week in Concepcion, Chile, where Communist students shouted him down; hurled eggs and spat on him.

INTERVIEWING FAMILY — Pontiac Press reporter Joe Mullen (left) discussed circumstances leading to the death of Kimberly Ann Bruneel with her father, Oscar, and brother, John. The 8-year-old child died last Thursday after doctors advised the family that a "problem" arose during an operation.

Youngster Talks of Sister: 'She's an Angel in Heaven'

By JOE MULLEN

Kimberly Ann "has gone to heaven and is an angel" is the way her 5-year-old brother, Kevin Bruneel, explains the death of his sister.

★ ★ ★

Kimberly Ann, 8, who died last Thursday after a routine appendectomy operation at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital, was more than just a big sister to Kevin.

"We transferred her from Our Lady of Refuge School a month ago so she could accompany Kevin to Whitfield School," Mrs. Oscar Bruneel said.

"Kevin, who started kindergarten this fall, regarded his sister as somewhat of a guardian," she added.

★ ★ ★

The death of Kimberly Ann struck an equally severe blow to all members of the family of six remaining children.

A JOVIAL CHILD

Ranging in age from five to 26, all the Bruneel children remember their sister as a jovial child, full of vitality and having many interests and friends.

Kimberly Ann, who made her first Communion last May 8 at Our Lady of Refuge, was a Brownie, looking to the years ahead when she would be a Girl Scout.

★

"She took tap dancing lessons and spent every warm summer day in the family's backyard swimming pool surrounded by friends," her mother said.

★

Her brother John, 23, a Navy man in Pensacola, Fla., hurried home at the news of the tragedy to join the family.

EASED THE SHOCK

Roy, 26, the oldest of the Bruneel children, and Mrs. Diann Tomkovich, 24, the next oldest, helped cushion the shock for the younger children still at home.

They are, besides Kevin, Raymond, 13; and Sandra, 19.

Kimberly Ann's father still is puzzled by the brief cause of death listed by the hospital — cardiac arrest.

★ ★ ★

He is awaiting word from investigating agencies which seek to determine exactly what caused the death of Kimberly Ann and two other persons at the hospital who underwent routine-type operations.

In Waterford

Schell Named Treasurer

James F. Schell, a 39-year-old insurance agent, was appointed Waterford Township's new treasurer last night by unanimous approval of the township board.

Schell, a Democrat, was named to the $8,000-a-year post following a recommendation in his behalf by Supervisor Dorothy Olson.

The appointment filled a vacancy created Nov. 5 when Mrs. Olson resigned as treasurer to become a supervisor and restored the Democrats' 5-2 advantage on the seven-member board.

Last month when twice-elected supervisor James E. Seeterlin resigned for the Oakland County treasuerr's job, the Democrats' margin was cut to 4-2 which it remained until last night.

★ ★ ★

Although Schell is relatively new in politics, he received a taste of public life last year when he served as campaign manager for victorious State Rep. Frank Crowley, also a Democrat.

INSURANCE MAN

Schell of 2866 Beacham, Waterford Township, has been a representative of the State Farm Insurance Co. for 12½ years, operating an office at 473 Elizabeth Lake.

JAMES F. SCHELL

A township resident the past 13½ years, he also has been employed seven years at GMC Truck and Coach Division in the parts pricing department.

Married and the father of five children, Schell is a graduate of Pontiac Central High School and attended Walsh Institute of Accounting in Detroit.

Anesthetic Use on 3 Checked

Preliminary investigation into the mystery deaths of three patients at Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital revealed today no impurities in one drug, raising suspicions that another anesthetic was used accidentally.

The probe concerns the deaths of Kimberly Ann Bruneel, 8, William M. Ketchum, 12, and Mrs. Gerald Covington, 24, of 436 Roland.

Kimberly is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bruneel, of 2599 Ivanhoe, West Bloomfield Township. William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Ketchum, of 250 W. Webster.

KIMBERLY A. BRUNEEL

According to Pontiac Police detectives who entered the case yesterday, two other patients received medication from the same container.

One suffered no ill effects. The other is in serious condition. Both were not identified by police or hospital authorities.

The hospital refused to release the names of doctors involved in the operations under investigation.

★ ★ ★

Hospital officials, local law enforcement agencies and federal Food and Drug Administration authorities are involved in the probe.

PROBE PROMISED

Promising a "complete investigation," Harry H. Whitlow, hospital administrator, said findings were expected late today.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome Bronson said that a preliminary analysis of the drug indicates that there is nothing impure about it.

He said he learned this from FDA officials.

★ ★ ★

"It will not surprise us if we discover that the fault lies in the mixing or the administering of the drug," Bronson said.

WILLIAM M. KETCHUM

MEETING TODAY

Walter Schmier, assistant prosecutor, was to meet today with FDA officials in Detroit.

"It appears that negligence is involved, but we are still not ruling out the possibility of maliciousness or intentional motives," Schmier added.

"Statements will be taken from doctors, nurses, anesthetist and anyone who may have been associated with the cases or who may have had access to the room where the drug was kept."

★ ★ ★

He said that no decision has been made by his office to disinter the bodies of the Bruneel child or Mrs. Covington for the purpose of another autopsy.

HARRY H. WHITLOW

BURIAL DELAYED

Burial of the Ketchum boy has been delayed pending the decision, according to Schmier. The funeral was scheduled for today.

The unexpected deaths occurred Thursday and Friday.

"Since all three had received medication which appeared to be at fault, the hospital immediately called the FDA who have investigated the matter and are still investigating," Whitlow explained yesterday afternoon.

★ ★ ★

The hospital administrator said that an anesthetic material appeared to be involved. He indicated he did not know by whom or how it was administered.

Preliminary indications are that ether was administered with a sedative — surital, an induction agent used prior to anesthetic according to a hospital spokesman.

★ ★ ★

The pale yellow powder was supposedly mixed with sterile distilled water.

REACTION NOTED

The patients' reaction was first noticed in the recovery room after surgery, said Whitlow, when the patients "did lapse into an illness."

Whitlow said autopsies were performed on the two children by the hospital's pathologist Dr. Joseph Maxwell.

Viet Coast Town Holds Out

May Be Daring Gang

Gem Thefts Alarm Nations

LONDON (UPI) — A $1.4-million jewel theft — the largest ever in Britain—may have been engineered by a daring international ring of gem thieves, it was reported today.

★ ★ ★

The thieves cut the warning system linking Scotland Yard with Carrington's, the queen's jewelers, during the weekend and then drilled through two armor-plated doors to clean out nearly every gem on display in the plush Regent Street shop.

Informed sources said some of the queen's jewels, which may have been at Carrington's for cleaning or repair, could have been among the stolen valuables.

Experts were still estimating the loss, which may have been in excess of the $1.4-million estimate.

A spokesman for Carrington's said jewelers all over the world have been discussing plans for organizing special security squads to protect their jewels.

FIRMS 'CLEANED'

"Brilliantly organized raids have cleaned out all the big gem firms in Paris, Rome, New York and other capitals," the spokesman said.

The bold theft sparked speculation that an international gang may be hopping all over the world from city to city, grabbing millions of dollars worth of jewels.

Assessors working to determine the exact amount of Carrington's loss, said it would be several days before their work is finished.

5 Posts Feared Taken by Reds

Relief Troops Pushed Back in Hard Battle

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A district town on the central coast of South Viet Nam held out today against a force of about 2,000 Viet Cong attacking it for the second day. Five other government posts in the area were feared overrun by the Communists.

A government relief force was driven back and had to withdraw after hard fighting, a U.S. military spokesman reported.

★ ★ ★

Reports tonight said the district town of Tuy An was quiet once more. During the day the Communists reportedly had it cut off from the land side. U.S. Navy ships off the coast were reported trying to drive them off with artillery barrages, and U.S. planes also pounded the attackers.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force jets braved heavy antiaircraft fire to destroy one Soviet-supplied missile site 34 miles northwest of Hanoi Monday and to smash the vital radar equipment at another surface-to-air missile installation 41 miles northwest of the Vietnamese capital, a U.S. spokesman reported.

SITES ATTACKED

They were the 16th and 17th missile sites attacked by U.S. planes since July. The spokesman said a missile was hit on its launching pad at the site 34 miles northwest of Hanoi and a sheet of fire flashed across the site. All the attacking planes returned safely, the spokesman said.

★ ★ ★

The Viet Cong struck early Monday against Tuy An, two outposts and three militia positions. Communications were lost with all the posts except Tuy An, which is 15 miles north of Tuy Hoa, the capital of Phu Yen Province, and 250 miles north of Saigon.

A spotter plane found at least one of the militia positions overrun and apparently in Viet Cong hands. It was believed the other outlying posts met the same fate.

HELP RUSHED

Several battalions of government troops with armor were rushed north from Tuy Hoa. About five miles from Tuy An it ran into a wall of Communist fire.

Despite air strikes and U.S. naval fire, the Viet Cong intensified their attack, and the relief force withdrew with light to moderate casualties, a spokesman said. There was no word on the fate of U.S. advisers with the force.

★ ★ ★

The relief force returned to Tuy Hoa about 1 a.m.

Communist losses were not known.

LBJ Prepares for Erhard; to Air Germany's N-Role

JOHNSON CITY, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson is preparing for broad scale discussions with Chancellor Ludwig Erhard in which the way might be opened for added West German nuclear responsibilities.

Johnson, alternating work and relaxation at the LBJ Ranch, is keeping in telephone communication with presidential assistant McGeorge Bundy, directing a White House team preparing for the Erhard meeting Dec. 2-3.

★ ★ ★

Bundy has been consulting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk — and with his assistants in the secretary's absence at the Rio conference — on matters to be discussed by the President and the chancellor.

These were said authoritatively to include not only the question of nuclear force participation and Bonn's future role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, but German relations with France, the Berlin situation and a proposed expansion of German aid to developing countries.

NO FINAL DECISION

There was insistence in White House circles, however, that no final decision has been reached on the American position toward Erhard's obvious desire for a greater West German share in nuclear responsibility and management.

There was no immediate White House reaction to reported British proposals for greater consultation on and coordination of nuclear policies in Europe, including the deployment of weapons and ultimate sharing of the actual handling by allies.

★ ★ ★

London informants said Britain's approach does not rule out ultimate pooling of the North Atlantic alliance's nuclear resources in Europe. In fact, they said, it provides for a firm promise to the Bonn government that Germans will share in nuclear responsibility and management as new weapons systems develop.

★ ★ ★

But there seemed to be little prospect of any immediate change in arrangements by which press secretary Bill D. Moyers said nuclear weapons made available to NATO countries, including Germany, remain under American control and cannot be used without specific authority from the President.

Japan and Iran Join Embargo

Will Stop Oil Flow to Rebel Rhodesia

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today Britain will impose an oil and general trade embargo on Rhodesia only if other countries join in to make it effective.

LONDON (AP) — Economic pressure on rebel Rhodesia tightened today as more countries heeded the U.N. call for an oil embargo against the breakaway British colony.

Among them were Iran, which provides the bulk of Rhodesia's oil supply, and Japan. But Prime Minister Harold Wilson and his Cabinet were understood to regard an oil ban as being far from a decisive weapon against the rebel government of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith.

★ ★ ★

Government sources said Rhodesia could obtain oil from South Africa or from Portugal. Both countries have declared themselves behind Smith's regime. Reports from South Africa said that Smith had arranged to buy oil from Portugal three months ago.

Oil industry sources in Rhodesia said the embargo would be difficult and costly to maintain.

700,000 TONS

Iran provides about 700,000 tons of crude oil a year to central African refineries which serve Rhodesia and neighboring Zambia. The oil is brought by tanker to Beira, in the Portuguese East African colony of Mozambique. From there, it is piped to Rhodesia and Zambia. Zambia takes about one-third of the supply.

Thus, any cutoff in Rhodesia's supply will also affect Zambia, and plans were being made in Tanzania for a vast oil airlift into that country. The planes will fly out copper from the landlocked nation which is dependent on Rhodesia's railways to move the bulk of its principal export.

Ike's Trip to Washington Proceeds Without a Hitch

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower was brought here by train from Ft. Gordon, Ga., overnight and transferred by helicopter to Walter Reed Army Hospital for further treatment of his damaged heart.

★ ★ ★

The special train pulled in at nearby Alexandria, Va., shortly after 7 a.m., but there was a halt of more than an hour while final preparations were made aboard. Word from the train was that everything on the train had gone smoothly.

★ ★ ★

The touchdown on the hospital ground was at 8:41 a.m.

Aides immediately started moving the 75-year-old five-star general on a litter to a waiting ambulance.

OFFICIALS PRESENT

The helicopter sat down in front of the atom bomb-proof building of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology where Eisenhower was met by top officials of the Walter Reed complex.

The ambulance set out immediately for the hospital in the same area but several blocks away.

Several score of doctors and hospital employes clad in white coats or laboratory gowns shivered in the chill but sunny morning as they watched.

The litter bearing the patient was removed from the aircraft so that his head was forward as he left the vehicle.

HOSPITAL HEAD

Among those on hand were Brig. Gen. Philip Mallory, commander of Walter Reed General Hospital; and Maj. Gen. Henry S. Murphy, commander of the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Eisenhower was shielded from close observation by bystanders.

Bandit Threatens Station Owner, Then Robs Him

A shotgun-wielding bandit wearing a blue ski mask last night robbed a service station owner of $100.60 after first threatening to kill him, according to Pontiac police.

★ ★ ★

Ewing Lecornu, 62, of 1466 Rosedale, Sylvan Lake, said a masked man came into his station at 411 W. Huron about 7:30 p.m., pointed a 16-gauge sawed-off shotgun at him and said, "All right, don't move or I'll kill you."

★ ★ ★

Lecornu said the bandit then took $35 from his wallet, $50 from the back of the station and a coin changer containing $15.60.

Soviets Launch 96th Cosmos

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union today announced the launching of another unmanned earth satellite in the Cosmos series.

★ ★ ★

The official Soviet news agency Tass said the Cosmos 96 was launched with scientific instruments aboard for continued space research.

★ ★ ★

Tass said that all systems on board the satellite were "functioning normally."

Cosmos 96 was put into an orbit with a maximum distance of 192 miles from the earth and a minimum distance of 140 miles with an inclination of 51 degrees, 54 minutes, Tass said.

Birmingham Area News

Helicopter to Join War on Dutch Elm Disease

BIRMINGHAM — The city's war on Dutch Elm disease will take on a combat atmosphere early next year when a helicopter is used to spray trees.

★ ★ ★

The City Commission last night unanimously approved the aerial application of chemicals and directed the administration to enter into a contract for the service with Omniflight Helicopters, Inc., Janesville, Wis.

Darrel C. Middlewood, superintendent of the Forestry and Parks Department, recomended the method as a result of a demonstration he and Dr. Walter Nickell of Cranbrook Institute of Science attended in Janesville recently.

Initially, the method will be used only on the 15,000 Elm trees on city streets and parks, according to Middlewood.

★ ★ ★

"If it proves as effective and economical as we anticipate, and the necessary public acceptance is obtained, further considerations could then be given to a citywide program," he said.

FIRST IN STATE

Birmingham will be the first community in the state to use the helicopter for spraying purposes, according to Middlewood.

The chemical methoxychlor will be used rather than DDT since it is less dangerous to birds.

Middlewood explained that the helicopter is equipped with a 30-foot spray boom mounted on the front and in full view of the pilot.

★ ★ ★

By flying at an elevation of about 10 to 15 feet above the trees, the boom provides coverage of approximately 50 square feet, he said.

PROGRAM COST

He said the cost of the program would be considerably less than that of the present program, noting that the aerial method can be completed in about a week compared to the month-and-a-half taken now.

The program, he said, should get underway in early February.

Dr. Nickell said the aerial application is "the best thing I've seen. I believe that it will be effective in killing the beetles."

★ ★ ★

In another action, the commission adopted a new procedure for police in enforcing laws against obscenity and pornography.

BOOK CONTROVERSY

The policy was established after a controversy erupted over the circumstances under which Police Chief Ralph Moxley borrowed two books from a store for an investigation of a citizen's complaint about objectionable material.

★ ★ ★

Under the new policy, the book being investigated will be purchased by the police department.

Area Woman Is Shot by Son

Victim Satisfactory at Pontiac General

A 43-year-old Walled Lake mother was shot in the face last night by a 15-year-old son who said he didn't know his father's 22-caliber rifle was loaded.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Walter Lorion of 1016 Pontiac Trail is under intensive care but in satisfactory condition, according to a spokesman at Pontiac General Hospital.

Capt. Leo Hazen of the Oakland County Sheriff's Department said Robert Lorion was released by detectives to the custody of Oakland County juvenile authorities. A hearing was scheduled for this afternoon.

Sheriff's deputies said Robert told them he "foolingly aimed" the gun at his mother after she told him he "couldn't go out."

★ ★ ★

The rifle discharged, striking the woman in the mouth. Deputies said doctors indicated the bullet then slanted downward and lodged near the back of Mrs. Lorion's neck.

GIVES FIRST AID

★ ★ ★

Walter Lorion, the boy's father) told deputies he had kept the rifle — unloaded — by the family's front door since reports of a 'slasher' assailant in Nankin Township of Wayne County.

Lorion said he loaded the weapon Sunday after more reports of attacks in the Nankin area. He said his son was not present when he inserted the cartridges in the gun.

Snowstorms Lash Europe; Bringing Hazards, Wolves

LONDON (AP) — Snowstorms raged across Europe last night and early today, bringing the hazards of icy roads, blizzards —and hungry wolves.

★ ★ ★

The wolves appeared near Teramo, Italy, driven from the mountains by the first heavy snows of the year. One pack killed a mule while nearby a farmer blasted with a rifle to drive off another pack attacking his cattle.

★ ★ ★

A wave of cold air sweeping from the Balkans brought the snow to North Italy, and collided with a front of warmer air around the Italian Riviera, causing thunderstorms. Gusts of wind reaching 60 miles an hour lashed Genoa and Viareggion, forcing ships to seek shelter.

★ ★ ★

The storms put an end to seaside frolicking. Up to yesterday bathers had been sunning themselves on the beaches of Sicily.

NATIONAL WEATHER — A broad band of precipitation, ranging from rain and showers to snow, will stretch across the northern half of the nation tonight. Colder weather will extend as far south as the Carolinas in the Atlantic states and it will be warmer in the southern Plains and the Mississippi Valley.

Ape's Skull Is Said to Be Oldest Known

By Science Service

HONG KONG — A fossil skull unearthed by Chinese scientists has been declared the most ancient human of the apeman type so far discovered in the world.

★ ★ ★

The well-preserved skull belonged to a female apeman about 30 years old who lived about 500,000 to 600,000 years ago, according to Chinese paleontologists Wu Ju-kang, Chou Ming-chou and Chia Lan-po.

The scientists pointed out striking differences of the skull from other apemen skulls at a scientific forum held in Peking under the auspices of the Department of Geology and Geography of the Chinese Academy of Sciences.

The ancient skull is broader than that of any other ape skull and has a frontal crest and an anterior nasal spnie. Themolar teeth are different and it has a much bigger cranial capacity.

Probe Deaths at Hospital

Mrs. Covington, mother of two children and a former Community National Bank employe died Friday. She also had an appendectomy. The Ferndale youth died the same day, after a hernia operation.

Town Makes Ice Water

STERLINE, Kan. (AP) — The Sterline city government ordered a hundred pounds of dry ice and two gallons of alcohol and deliberately froze some of the city water lines. The reason? They did not want water to run out while the fire hydrants were being repaired.

The cost of crime to American taxpayers was estimated at $27 billion by Rep. Edith Green of Oregon in a report in the Congress.

National Stockpiles Serve to Balance the Economy

NEW YORK (AP) — The government has now altered the role of the $8.1-billion national stockpile of key commodities so that it will serve as an economic balance wheel as well as a military weapon.

That balancing use was not foreseen in the various laws that began accumulation of supplies of 77 strategic commodities in 1939. The stated purpose of the stockpiles was to guarantee strategic materials for national defense needs.

★ ★ ★

President Johnson's administration has put the full weight of the stockpiles behind the administration's economic guideposts for the booming peacetime economy.

During the past two weeks a government announcement that it would release 200,000 tons each of aluminum and copper from the stockpiles served to force major producers of both metals to rescind price increases.

OTHER SALES

With much less fanfare, the government has been selling tin, lead and zinc this year. The sales have served to keep prices of those metals, which are in tight supply internationally, from soaring.

Repeatedly, the government has contended that certain price rises lead to inflation. It has established guideposts defining any price or wage increase in excess of 3.2 per cent as inflationary.

★ ★ ★

The aluminum boost was less than 3.2 per cent; the copper increase was more.

Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said last week the government "will blow the whistle impartially" on economic changes exceeding the limits.

The national stockpile represents a formidable whistle.

MARKET VALUE

As of June 30, 1965, the Office of Emergency Planning figured the stockpile's market value at $8,151,847,100. Of that total, about $4.4 billion is classified as in excess of defense and space needs.

How can the release of stockpiled material hold down prices?

Price structures usually reflect the interworking of supply and demand. As demand advances close to or past available supply, prices go up. If an excess supply develops, prices go down.

The government went into stockpiling on the eve of World War II when Congress appropriated $70 million to purchase tin, rubber, quartz, crystal and chromite.

1946 LAW

A 1946 law created the national stockpile, biggest of the three that now exist. It has nearly $6 billion worth of materials stored in warehouses, General Services Administration depots and the like.

The Defense Production Act of 1950 sought to encourage new mining and manufacturing facilities to meet Korean war needs. The government agreed to buy excess production.

★ ★ ★

The last of the excess production contracts expired two years ago, but the stockpile still holds some $800 million worth of materiel.

The so-called supplemental stockpile consists of $1.3 billion worth of minerals and metals obtained in foreign barter for agricultural surpluses. An offshoot of that is the small Commodity Credit Corp. stockpile.

STOCKPILE CONTROL

All of the stockpiles are under the supervision of the Office of Emergency Planning. Quotas for each material now are based on projected U.S. needs for a three-year war.

Much of the present surplus was accumulated prior to 1958 when projected needs were based on a five-year war.

Stockpiled items range from feathers to industrial diamonds. However, 13 items account for three-fourths of the inventory. Jewel bearings now are the only item being added to the stockpile.

Without fanfare, some $1.2 billion in surplus stockpile materiel has been sold in the past three years.

RULES VARY

Disposal rules vary. Legislation now before Congress would codify various laws affecting the stockpile and allow for 60-day disposal unless either house of Congress opposed the move.

Under present law, the government generally must get congressional approval to dispose of surplus, then wait six months.

★ ★ ★

However, in the case of aluminum, some 500,000 tons are free of the congressional approval requirement. In the case of copper, Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach issued a special ruling that the release had been taken "as required for purposes of common defense," as allowed by the law.

Still a third method of disposal would be for the Office of Emergency Planning to declare a stockpiled material obsolescent for defense purposes.

The stockpiles long have been a source of political controversy. Their emergence as an economic balance wheel would indicate still more.

NCAA Title Is Retained by WMU

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI) — Western Michigan University successfully defended its team title Monday in the National Collegiate Athletic Association NCAA cross country championships.

John Lawson of Kansas won the individual crown.

★ ★ ★

Lawson took the lead at the five-mile mark on the hilly six-mile course and finished in a time of 29 minutes 24.0 seconds, 18 seconds ahead of Georgetown's Eamon O'Reilley.

Doug Brown of Montana, the leader during the early stages of the race, faltered at the five-mile mark and failed to finish.

Western Michigan, which won the title last year on a four-mile course at East Lansing, scored 81 points to win comfortably.

Northwestern had 116 points for second place and Tennessee was third at 139.

PLACED THIRD

Christian Westman of Washington State placed third individually with a 29:58.0 clocking, followed by Robert Redington of Tennessee, 30:02.0 and Raymond McCubbins of Oklahoma State, 30:07.0.

Western Michigan's Stephen Smith was sixth at 30:08.0 and defending champion Elmore Banton of Ohio University lagged in seventh place at 30:09.0.

Western Michigan's winning team was made up of Smith, Wolfgang Lugauer, Theodore Neison, Gary Myers, Roger Plont, Michael Gallagher and Keith Brown.

None except Smith finished among the top 16 individuals but their combined efforts were enough to give the defending champs a wider margin of victory than they had last year by five points.

AL ROOKIE—Curt Blefary, the Baltimore Orioles' slugging outfielder has been named the American League rookie of the year for 1965. He is a student at Wagner College in New York.

Oriole Rookie Is Voted Honor

MAHWAH, N.J. (AP) — Baltimore's Curt Blefary, the American League's Rookie of the Year, who was cut two years ago by the New York Yankees, credits two ex-Yankees with his success.

Blefary, who edged California Angel pitcher Marcelino Lopez for the rookie honor in voting by a 20-man committee of Baseball Writers of America, credited Oriole Coach Gene Woodling and Manager Hank Bauer for his fine freshman year.

★ ★ ★

"Gene gave me a lot of help, not only in batting but in attitude, hustle and everything else," said Blefary, who lives here with his parents. "Hank gave me the opportunity to play and my teammates helped me correct my mechanical deficiencies and made me feel I belonged."

Blefary walloped 22 home runs, four triples and 23 doubles and drove in 70 runs while batting .260. He polled 12 votes to eight for Lopez, the left-hander who won 14 games and lost 13 for the Angels.

FOOTBALL STAR

The young outfielder, a native of Brooklyn, N.Y., was a football and baseball star in high school at Mahwah and signed with New York for a $27,000 bonus and a college education for which the Yankees are still paying. Blefary has two years to go at Wagner College in Staten Island, N.Y., where he is specializing in education for retarded children.

Blefary admitted that he was keyed up playing in Yankee Stadium against the Yankees.

★ ★ ★

"I was very nervous playing there," he said. He explained that his parents and many friends were regulars at Oriole games in the Stadium.

New York signed Blefary in 1962 and the powerful left-handed batter hit 13 homers in 66 games with Greensboro in the Carolina League. He returned to Greensboro in 1963 as the Yankees' protected player.

★ ★ ★

When the Yankees picked up Harry Bright from Cincinnati early in that season, they left Blefary unprotected and Baltimore claimed him for $8,000.

"I can't really have any hard feelings against the Yankees for that," the outfielder said. "That's baseball. They made the move to help them win a pennant."

MSU Halfback Point Champ

CHICAGO (AP) — Halfback Clinton Jones of Michigan State won the all-games Big Ten scoring championship this year with a total of 74 points.

★ ★ ★

Jones scored 12 touchdowns and added two extra points to his total to finish well ahead of Bob Griese of Purdue, who had 6.2. Griese prevented the Spartans from making a clean sweep of the top three spots.

★ ★ ★

Bob Apisa of the champion Spartans was third with 56, Dick Kenney, also of MSU, was fourth with 53.

'C' Team Is Selected

By The Associated Press

Saginaw St. Andrew's brilliant passing combination of quarterback Mark Bordeaux and end Alan Bellile tops the 1965 Michigan Class C high school All State football team announced today by The Associated Press.

Rob White of Class C-D champion Middleville, a second team choice a year ago, Vince Cesarz of Wayne St. Mary and Moe Jacobs of Clinton Boysville round out the backfield.

Ric Pniewski of Manchester, a repeater, is the other end. Bob Dirkse of Galesburg-Augusta and Rick Cole of Byron are the tackles, Dan Miller of Ubly and Dan Daugherty of Constantine are the guards and Mark Marcet of Frankenmuth the center on the dream team.

The team was selected after extensive screening by coaches and sports writers throughout the state.

Named to the second team backfield were Barry Pierson of St. Ignace at quarterback and Larry Walker of Flint Holy Redeemer, Tom Nauta of Grand Rapids Lee and Ralph Skinner of Battle Creek St. Philip.

Linemen named were Bruce Lake of St. Charles and Paul Schoder of Battle Creek St. Philip at the ends, Keith Volk of Bay City Visitation and Hollis Jefferies of Onsted at tackles, Dick Obrig of Hart and Jamie Rohrbacher of Middleville at guards and R. J. Jones of Elsie at center.

All of those named are seniors.

QB RECORD

Bordeaux completed 124 passes in 210 tries for 1,700 yards, and 18 touchdowns and played halfback on defense.

Bellile, who also played defensive end, caught 68 passes for 996 yards and nine touchdowns.

White, who missed one game in Middleville's second straight unbeaten season, netted 1,301 yards in 149 carries and caught 19 passes for an additional 368 yards. He scored 20 touchdowns and added 20 extra points in addition to passing for four touchdowns.

★ ★ ★

Jacobs carried 114 times for 962 yards and led Boysville in punt and kickoff returns. He also caught seven passes for 81 yards and threw one touchdown pass while scoring 86 points himself on 14 touchdowns and two extra points.

Sesarz scored 11 touchdowns in seven games and carried 114 times for 776 yards. He also added 15 extra points and played safety and linebacker on defense.

Marcet spearheaded a Frankenmuth defensive unit which gave up but two touchdowns in eight games. He converted 28 of 34 extra point attempts and kicked a 27-yard field goal on his only attempt.

★ ★ ★

Marcet's performance earned him the dream team center spot over Jones who was a first team selection a year ago.

The Class C All State line averages 198 pounds with Dirkse, at 220, Daugherty, at 215 and Marcet, at 210 presenting the nucleus of a team any coach would enjoy directing.

The backfield is somewhat lighter with Jacobs the heaviest at 190 pounds.
