Susan was taken by her father, Richard, 23, when the couple separated in Salt Lake City Sept. 22. Mrs. Riggle enlisted police officials and newspapers before finding her daughter with a young couple at Marble Canyon in remote northeastern Arizona.

Pontiac and surrounding area was turned into a virtual ice box this morning as the temperature dipped to a winter's low of six below in the city while neighboring communities reported even colder readings.

The bone-chilling cold snap which started Saturday night dropped the mercury to its lowest point at 6 a.m. in the city. As the sun came out, the temperature began to edge slightly upwards.

Throughout the night thermometers registered sub-zero temperatures.

Tonight and tomorrow the weather will be slightly warmer.

Rochester	—12
Lake Orion	—27
Milford	—16
Waterford	—17
Flint	—22
Oxford	—10
Romeo	—10

Today's high will be between 15-20, but tonight the mercury will hover between 5 and 10.

Tuesday's high is predicted between 20-24.

Winds are southwesterly at 8-15 m.p.h. today, and will increase to 15-22 m.p.h. tonight.

The weatherman says cold temperatures with readings 3-6 degrees below normal will prevail in the state for the next five days.

If it's any consolation, the latest five-day forecast said little if any snow is expected in Michigan this week. Only occasional snow flurries are forecast between now and Friday.

Mrs. Lawrence DeRycke of 27 N. Baldwin Rd. (Lake Orion) and Mrs. John Yasaitis, 100 N. Baldwin Rd. (Clarkston), who live only six houses apart, each reported readings of 26 below at 6:30 this morning.

Admit Negroes Without Fuss

Virginia Schools Quiet

RICHMOND, Va. (AP)—Virginia calmly thrust aside the color barrier today and for the first time in her history put Negro and white pupils together in public schools.

Grudgingly, but peacefully at the outset, the Old Dominion made the transition from segregation to integration in a fraction of her public schools, in Arlington County and the city of Norfolk.

No violence, no rowdy incidents occurred as four Negro pupils filed quietly into Stratford Junior High School in Arlington, across the Potomac from Washington.

Two hundred miles down the state in Norfolk, Negro children began showing up to enroll for the first time in six junior and senior high schools. Again, there were no disorders.

Police with riot gear stood by at Arlington just in case. None was in sight at Norfolk as the early birds began turning out to register.

The quartet of Negro children at Arlington—three boys and a girl, marched onto the school grounds from a seldom used roadway and through the doors shortly before 9 a.m. They were alone. They didn't look alarmed or worried.

Nobody tried to stop them; there was an absence of picketing and demonstrations.

Something like 100 police, equipped with white helmets, portable loud speakers and radios, canteens, and the customary night sticks and guns, had begun converging on Stratford long before the school opening hour.

They saw to it that only pupils and school employes entered the grounds. Even parents are kept out.

★ ★ ★

Down in Norfolk, a Negro, Lewis Cousins, and his mother calmly paraded past a cluster of white children on the steps of Maury High School to become the first of his race to shatter the color line in the city.

There was the usual chatter of school kids, but no trouble of any kind.

Again there was no disturbance. Betty Jean Read, another of 17 Negroes assigned to previously all white schools, turned up unescorted at Granby High.

The opening time was 9 a.m. in Norfolk—15 minutes later than at Arlington.

The six Norfolk schools, closed since September under Virginia's now dead massive resistance program, were holding no classes today—only enrolling pupils and assigning them to classes.

At Northview High School, two pairs of Negro girls turned up just before 9. White students watched curiously and quietly. By that time, police were on hand and cleared a path for the Negroes.

One white girl was heard to say: "Here they are . . . I hope they're satisfied."

Others said they were glad to get back to school.

The historic cracking of the color barrier in Norfolk and Arlington, small as the crack may be at the outset, came about through the force of federal court decisions and what Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr. has called "the hammer of federal intervention."

But under desperation measures jammed through a special session of the state Legislature Saturday, no Virginia child can be forced to attend an integrated school if his parents disapprove.

Home-Delivered Milk Price Drops 1 Cent Per Quart

The price of home-delivered milk in the Pontiac area dropped a cent a quart today as a result of a cut in the price paid Detroit area farmers for their milk.

Major dairies and independent creameries took part in the price reduction, which occurred throughout the metropolitan area.

Frostbite Victim Said Critical

Traverse City Woman Lies in Snow 8 Hours Before Rescue

TRAVERSE CITY (UPI) — A 50-year-old Traverse City grandmother remained in critical condition in Munson Hospital today suffering from frostbite she received as she lay in a snowbank for more than eight hours.

Doctors said Mrs. Mildred Phillips faces possible amputation of parts of one or more of her extremities but that it will be several days before surgery is performed.

Mrs. Phillips was found unconscious Saturday morning by two passers-by in the front of her daughter's home.

Police said she apparently fell, striking her head on a stone fence, and was knocked unconscious as she approached the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Holland "to check on their six children" after her husband had dropped her off near the house.

Woodrow said Mrs. Phillips' daughter and son-in-law didn't return home until after two men had discovered Mrs. Phillips lying in front of the house about 8:15 a.m. Saturday.

The six Holland children in the house did not know their grandmother was coming to see them and did not see her lying in front of the house about 25 feet from the front door of their house, he said.

12½ Million Persons Get Fatter Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today starts mailing out fatter social security checks to more than 12½ million persons.

The checks reflect the 7 per cent average increase voted by Congress last year.

Social Security Commissioner William L. Mitchell said the new monthly total of insurance benefits will be about 740 million dollars, an increase of 50 million dollars.

Nixon to Follow Eisenhower Line in '60 Campaign

Report Vice President Will Push Economy as Major Issue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears to have linked his chances for the 1960 Republican presidential nomination to the Eisenhower administration's record.

There had been speculation that Nixon might strike out on his own to establish a position independent of the White House.

But word passed to associates indicates he is giving his full support to Eisenhower's effort to hold down spending. He reportedly considers this a major campaign factor for 1960.

Eisenhower named the vice president last week as head of a Cabinet committee to combat inflation.

Eisenhower has emphasized he regards a balanced budget as essential to ward off inflation, a view to which Nixon obviously subscribes.

★ ★ ★

Beyond that Nixon has made it clear he supports the Lincoln concept that Eisenhower frequently mentions — that the government should do for the people only what they can't do for themselves or can't do as well.

All of this seems likely to put Nixon in a somewhat opposite position from his greatest potential rival for the nomination, Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York.

Before Rockefeller became governor, the Rockefeller brothers fund which he helps to support issued a report that recommended, among other things, a higher level of defense spending than the $40,900,000,000 Eisenhower has outlined in his balanced 77-billion-dollar budget. Nixon stands firmly behind this defense total.

Rockefeller also is represented as favoring greater spending for natural resource, housing, health, education and welfare projects than Eisenhower has been willing to undertake under the Lincoln concept.

After only a month as governor, Rockefeller already is under Democratic attack in his home state on the economy issue.

Novi X-Way Is Scene of Roundup

Involved were about 25 troopers from the Redford State Police Post and 10 steers turned loose when a cattle truck overturned after being struck by a car.

Three persons were injured, but none seriously, according to police.

It took a two-hour chase by the troopers and volunteer firemen to corral the animals.

After the excited steers poured out of the truck and began scattering in all directions, traffic on the eastbound expressway was blocked for more than an hour as the inexperienced cowhands whooped and hollered over a three-mile area while rounding up the steers.

"They told us all of them were steers! One was all bull," a trooper said this morning. "We had quite a time with him. He wasn't very friendly."

Injured were Eino Johnson, 56, of Detroit, and his wife Lorraine, 53, who were occupants of the car, and Verna E. Thurston, 24, of St. Johns, whose husband, Milan, 24, was driving the truck.

The Johnsons were treated for minor injuries at Redford Medical Center and released. Mrs. Thurston was admitted to Mt. Carmel Mercy Hospital in Detroit with head injuries described as "not serious."

One steer was killed in the mishap.

Slick Roads Close Many Schools

14 Die in Icy Southwest

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Ice and snow glazed vast areas of the Southwest today, bringing death to at least 14 persons in weather-caused accidents. Many schools closed because slick roads made bus travel hazardous.

Heaviest snow occurred at Gage, Okla., near the Texas line, where eight inches fell. Follett, in the Texas Panhandle reported six inches.

Freezing rain drew blame for the crash of a DC3 airliner carrying 25 Idaho National Guardsmen and three civilian crew members near Kerrville, in West Texas. Two crewmen and a guardsman died, but 25 other persons scrambled to safety.

The belt of freezing precipitation reached as far south as Del Rio on the Rio Grande and as far east as the Dallas-Fort Worth area in north-central Texas.

The snow and ice areas stretched from the eastern slopes of the Rockies and eastern Wyoming through New Mexico and parts of Texas, and over most of Oklahoma, the Weather Bureau reported.

Along the Texas coast, rain — heaviest in nearly two years at Houston — forced a number of residents from lowland homes. The Houston area measured four to five inches of rain during the weekend.

★ ★ ★

New Mexico highways remained open but were hazardous in the eastern part of the state. Schools in rural Chaves County around Roswell closed because of a quarter of an inch of ice on highway. Tucumcari received two inches of snow for the largest New Mexico fall. Alamosa, Colo., across the state line from New Mexico, reported five inches.

The glaze spread southwest in New Mexico.

Most of Oklahoma reported light snow, with some sleet in the southern section. Roads in the south and central sections remained hazardous.

At least 25 schools closed in West Texas, including the Big Spring, Odessa, Midland, Seagraves, Levelland, Snyder and Lamesa areas. At Lubbock, where up to two inches of dry, powdery snow piled up, school buses did not travel.

Wichita Falls reported two inches of snow and Dalhart and Amarillo one inch. Ice an inch thick coated streets at Odessa, the Weather Bureau said.

All Texas roads were open, but some were hazardous.

Faint Hope Stirs in Iceberg Crash

Weak Radio Signals Heard but No Survivors Found in Search

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—Weak radio signals stirred faint hope today that some of the 95 persons aboard the missing Danish ship Hans Hedtoft might yet be found amid the iceberg-dotted seas off Greenland.

Hans G. Christensen, director of Denmark's Greenland department, said in Copenhagen there was little doubt the signals, picked up by a rescue ship and two Greenland shore stations, came from a survivor of the Hans Hedtoft which collided with an iceberg last Friday.

But Royal Canadian Air Force search and rescue headquarters here said the irregular dot-dash messages were on a frequency normally used by aircraft sending "homing" signals. Headquarters said it was convinced the signals did not come from a lifeboat of the Hans Hedtoft.

U.S. Coast Guard headquarters in New York also said its cutter Campbell, which has been engaged in a fruitless search for survivors since Saturday, had not heard any signals on the frequencies normally used by lifeboats.

The Campbell was en route to where something — perhaps an overturned lifeboat—was sighted yesterday. The spot is about 100 miles southwest of Cape Farewell, the southeast tip of Greenland. Danish officials in Copenhagen said this was almost the exact spot where they calculated a lifeboat would have drifted.

"These signals," said director Christiansen, "have lighted a hope in a dark and serious hour."

U.S. Defense 'Prepared'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense McElroy said today the defenses of the United States are "prepared to meet the threat it faces today." McElroy sought to reassure congressmen who have been openly suspicious President Eisenhower's administration is dangerously cutting armed forces strength in the name of economy.

News Flashes

Collections last month on December business fattened state coffers by $31,763,186, compared with $30, 987,306 in January 1958.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Dr. T. Keith Glennan, director of the National Space Administration, warned today that Americans must "roll up our sleeves . . . for years to come" if they hope to catch up with Russia in the race for space.

He told the House Space Committee that time, money and effort must be poured into a sustained U.S. program if this country is to overcome Russia's lead in powerful rocket boosters.

GENEVA (AP)—The Soviet Union today demanded a veto over all operations of the inspection and control machinery designed to police any ban on nuclear weapons tests.

Can't Pass Driver's Test

LONDON (UPI)—Derek Brown claimed in the Sunday pictorial that he has driven 100,000 miles in the past 22 years but still can't pass Britain's driving test. He's taken it 12 times and failed every time. "It has become a fetish with me," he said. "I'm determined to pass, however long it takes."

Far Whiter Than Last Year's, Too

Surprise! This Winter IS Colder

Not only has this winter been a lot colder, but we've had nearly four times as much snow.

And the worst may not be over. Data compiled by the U.S. Weather Bureau in Detroit shows that we are currently smack in the middle of the traditional winter "ice box" period. A step outdoors will attest to this.

Midwinter officially was Jan. 22. That doesn't mean that Jan. 22 is traditionally the coldest day of the year, but it does mean that generally the 10 days to two weeks preceding and following that date may be expected to serve up the year's coldest day.

COLDEST IN FEBRUARY

Last year, as in many years, the coldest day came in February. This was Feb. 17 when the mercury dipped to 9 below zero, the coldest temperature recorded in Pontiac in 18 years.

January last year had a normal average of 26.6, while last month's temperatures averaged at least 8 degrees below normal.

Snowfall offers a stark contrast. Up to the end of January last winter there had been eight inches of snow. This year the total is 27 inches.

JANUARY? WOW!

December, 1957, saw about 5.1 inches of snow fall on the Pontiac area. In December this winter 6.4 inches were recorded.

But January last year contributed only 3.4 inches, while about 20 inches have accumulated in the past month.

So button up your overcoat. Before long it will be April and then you can complain about all the rain washing away your grass seed.

Jail Mother of 7 in Indianapolis

Must Serve Alternately With Spouse for Laxity in Son's Support

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — A mother of seven children was in the Marion County Jail today, beginning her part of a court sentence imposed because she and her husband failed to make welfare payments.

Mrs. Catherine Robbins, 35, tearfully fell into the arms of a matron yesterday when she was brought to jail in compliance with an order issued by Juvenile Judge Harold N. Fields. The judge ordered Mrs. Robbins and her husband, Perry, 36, be jailed alternate weeks until they pay $21 a week or prove they are unable to make the payments.

The money, plus $1,200 in back payments, is tuition for their son, James, 12, who was committed by the court to White's Institute, a private correctional institution.

Both say they are out of work now.

Robbins, who served the first week's sentence, said he told the judge they could not afford to make the payments and asked that the boy be sent to a state school instead, but the judge refused.

"We haven't done anything," Mrs. Robbins said, "but we have to go to jail anyway."

The couple denied Judge Fields' estimate that their income averaged more than $600 a month. They showed income tax withholding statements and paycheck stubs showing their combined income during 1958 was $5,263.01.

They explained they had to pay medical bills, meet household expenses, clothe and feed eight persons and make a $75 monthly house payment.

Radio-TV Musicians Get 5-Year Contract

NEW YORK (AP)—Members of the American Federation of Musicians went to work today at three major networks with a new five-year contract.

The union and the networks agreed on the terms of the pact Sunday.

★ ★ ★

The settlement ended a strike by the musicians, who were ordered to stop work at midnight Saturday when the old contract expired. No programs were affected.

★ ★ ★

The new contract gives staff musicians a later wage increase and a pension plan, plus payment for shows that are rerun. The networks may reduce their staffs in some cities under the terms.

The networks involved are the American Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System, and National Broadcasting Co.

History Could Repeat as Young Makes Plea

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Stephen Young (D-Ohio) recently made his maiden speech in the Senate. His plea: Repeal the 10 per cent tax on telephone users. In these days of more boosts than cuts in taxes, most observers think he has a losing cause.

But history may be on his side. On March 14, 1933, Young made his maiden speech in the House of Representatives. His plea: Repeal the prohibition amendment and Volstead Act. Both have been.

Legislators Return Tonight

Lewis Much Better, Says His Doctor

The 78-year-old president of the United Mine Workers Union entered Georgetown University Hospital Friday and suffered an attack Sunday morning.

Dr. John B. Minor called the illness serious Sunday night. Today he said, "Mr. Lewis is much improved and seems to have responded to treatment—we believe it is not an embolism but pneumonia."

Dr. Minor said Lewis' temperature has dropped considerably.

Audrey Hepburn Will Be Flown to Hollywood

The doctors said the actress, who suffered a broken vertebrae when thrown from a horse last week, had a bad day Sunday and could not rest, sleep or eat.

One doctor thought she might have suffered other injuries not yet diagnosed. Another said she might just be having a delayed shock reaction.

Ike Gives Space Report

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower told Congress in his first annual space report today that the goal of this nation is peaceful interplanetary flight. Prepared to Act in Cash Crisis

Williams Tax Proposals Due for Close Scrutiny as Time Runs Out

By ROGER LANE

LANSING (AP)—Now that all Gov. Williams' cards are on the table, this may be the week Michigan legislators take their first close look at the state's cash emergency.

Time for action if the state is to avert payless paydays will be getting short when lawmakers return at 8 p.m. tonight from a weekend at home after watching Williams unveil his 140-million-dollar new tax program on television.

Still waiting for their decision were four bills to carry out Williams' plan for mortgaging the 50-million-dollar Veterans Trust Fund to keep the wolf from barging in the state treasury door this month or next.

Few Republicans have shown any more liking for the governor's solution to the emergency problem directly at hand than they did for his long-run revenue prescription Friday night.

But however distasteful, the cash situation demanded a remedy now —or within weeks—while the answer on new taxes is at least a few months off.

No alternative to the Williams mortgage proposal has yet been formally presented, although there has been vague talk about utilizing the trust fund in some more palatable way.

ACTION PROMISED

Rep. Rollo G. Conlin (R-Tipton), whose taxation committee controls the governor's bills, has promised to give them speedy attention and an early decision one way or the other.

If the bills are reported favorably, perhaps after revision, a quick vote by the House appears likely. No one has advocated boarding up the University of Michigan or Michigan State University, both now approacing desperate straits.

The two universities would be the main immediate beneficiaries if the Legislature goes along with the Williams mortgage plan—or if it decides to liquidate fund securities outright.

From initial Republican response to the governor's tax program, it would seem the final solution of the new revenue problem has yet to put in an appearance.

And this tends to put the GOP majority on the spot, since few lawmakers have argued seriously against need for more revenues while criticizing the Williams prescription for raising them.

Whatever the answer, it appeared more certain than ever that it will bear a Republican label—possibly a program keyed to a flat rate income tax touching from the top to near the bottom of the economic scale.

Williams' graduated tax suggestions would exempt about two-thirds of potential taxpayers, those grouped toward the bottom of the income spectrum.

Another aspect of the governor's program — which drew fire from the Republicans is its adding of tax burdens for business rather than the granting of tax exemptions or concessions.

The governor's plan will be submitted to legislators in detailed form Tuesday or Wednesday.

pulsory school attendance law and offered tuition grants of up to $250 a year for attendance at segregated private schools.

In his battle to prevent any amount of integration in any Virginia schools, Almond had been compelled to hoist the white flag. But he still is planning to call together a special commission of legislators to work out some new method of combatting integration.

Segregationists in the Legislature were unhappy with the package of bills put through Saturday. They talked of making a last stand for tougher laws at the opening of the General Assembly at noon today.

But there was nothing they could do to head off the advent of small portions of integration today—four years, eight and a half months after the U. S. Supreme Court decreed segregated public schools to be unconstitutional.

MAN-MADE GLACIER — This tower of ice in front of the Villa Inn on M24, south of Lake Orion, is more than 30 feet high and is just one of three on the Inn property which draws scores of camera enthusiasts every weekend. The "tower" was created by Chef Julius of the Inn, who has been making these unique ice forms for the past seven years. An old dead tree with broken branches piled around it forms the base for the frozen structure. A fine spray of water is played on the formation constantly during below-freezing weather. The hose is moved to create different shapes.

Weekend Fires Claim 4; 3 Others Killed in Traffic

By The Associated Press

A wave of fires claimed four lives in Michigan Sunday, injured two firemen and drove 50 persons into bitter cold weather.

Colleen Paffpaff, 4, of Charlevoix, was fatally burned when her night clothes were enveloped in flames. Police said she apparently was playing with matches while her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Paffpaff were asleep.

Six-month-old Michael Moore suffered fatal burns when a fire roared through a two-family home on Detroit's East Side. Firemen helped 10 other occupants, seven of them children, to escape.

Frank Williams, 43, died when he was trapped in his blazing farm shack near St. Joseph in Berrien County.

Occupants of four apartments escaped into 10-below zero weather at Ionia Sunday. Fireman Ray Barber of Ionia suffered smoke inhalation in the fire which caused damage estimated at $50,000.

Another Sunday fire occurred at a potato warehouse at Stanton in Montcalm County and prematurely baked about 8,000 potatoes.

A quick-thinking Detroit policeman, William Smith, 29, tore flaming pajamas off his son, William Jr., 6, when they caught fire while the child was playing with a cigarette lighter. The boy was taken to a hospital where his condition was reported as good.

Six-year-old James Bess of Battle Creek died Sunday of burns suffered in a fire at his home Friday night. The child was burned over 90 per cent of his body in a blaze believed to have been touched off by defective wiring.

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents claimed three lives in Michigan over a cold, icy weekend which kept highway traffic to a minimum in many outstate areas.

Two of the traffic fatalities were recorded Sunday in contrast to Michigan's record of three "deathless Sundays" on highways this year.

Mickey Cohen Bumped Off—Chair, That Is

The dapper ex-gambler was struck by a neighbor's car that lost its brakes and careened into the driveway of Cohen's home. Cohen was sitting in a wicker chair in the driveway with his back to the street.

"You never know when fate is going to come around after you," said Cohen, shaken but unhurt.

Helicopter Fans Frozen Swans to Freedom

The Coast Guard was called to the rescue when Humane Society officials noticed some of the swans were trapped.

A Coast Guard helicopter circled low. The powerful gusts from its whirling rotor blasted the frozen swans loose and sent the entire flock scurrying for open water.

Bonn Asks 4-Power Talks on Germany

BONN, Germany (AP)—The Adenauer government called today for a four-power foreign ministers conference to discuss the German problem in the second half of May.

A government spokesman told a news conference that Bonn proposes the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and West Germany hold a special conference of their own during the 10th anniversary meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Washington April 2-4.

Pontiac Osteopathic Hospital has been approved for resident training by the American Osteopathic Assn. announced Harry H. Whitlow, hospital director.

The Day in Birmingham

Lincoln Avenue Widening to Be Considered Again

BIRMINGHAM — Back after an absence of six years, the widening of Lincoln avenue, between Pierce street and Southfield avenue is again before the city commission.

In his report, City Manager L. R. Gare points out that many sections of the existing pavement are in very poor shape and resurfacing is a must. He says it is advisable to do the whole job at once rather than resurface the Warren area and then do the widening.

A traffic count last fall showed that 626 vehicles traveled through at the peak hour. This is 156 more cars than the Automotive Safety Council considers practical.

Residents have in the past protested the widening on the grounds that Lincoln avenue is a residential and not a through street.

Public hearings are scheduled for the special assessment role for the Maple-Bates alley and the closing of an 18-foot alley between Ravine and Park streets.

A Pontiac man, Donald R. Baldwin, 50, of 3715 Lincolnshire Rd. was taken to William Beaumont Hospital in Royal Oak this morning after his car crashed into the rear of a truckload of steel.

Hospital authorities said Baldwin suffered multiple lacerations of the face and right leg, and confusions of the chest. His condition was reported to be "fairly good" today.

Bloomfield Township police said the driver of the truck, Lewis Frederick, 30, of Detroit was uninjured and was not being held. No tickets were issued.

The Women's Fellowship of the Congregational Church of Birmingham will have a 12:30 p.m. luncheon meeting at the church tomorrow.

Mrs. Robert Eddy will report on the Arab Mohammedan World when the Ruth Shain International Relations Class meets at the Community House at 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The Wednesday meeting of the Village Woman's Club will be held at the Oakland Hills Country Club tomorrow afternoon.

The body will be sent to S. H. Hines Funeral Home in Washington D. C. this afternoon by the Manley Bailey Funeral Home here.

Service will be held Wednesday afternoon with burial in Fort Lincoln Cemetery, Washington, D. C.

A former resident of the capital, Mrs. Talburtt was with the U.S. Treasury Department for 20 years.

Alyea Jury Out for Fourth Day

11 Deliberate Fate of Gardener Accused in Nursery Slaying

Seven women and four men went into their fourth day of deliberation this morning in hopes of reaching a verdict in the first-degree murder trial of Detroit gardener Raymond L. Alyea.

★ ★ ★

Oakland County Circuit Judge William J. Beer dismissed the jury —one short of the customary 12 due to the illness of a woman juror—late Friday after it still had been unable to reach a unanimous verdict.

★ ★ ★

Judge Beer ordered the jury to continue deliberations Friday after it had announced it could not agree. Deliberations then began at the Waldron Hotel. Today, however, jurors were back behind closed doors on the second floor of the courthouse.

Swiss Women Lose

BERN, Switzerland (UPI)—The men of Switzerland decided yesterday, 654,924 to 323,306, that woman's place is in the home — not in the voting booth. By that vote, the men who are Switzerland's only legal voters turned down a government proposal which would have given women the vote in federal elections. Similar local propositions have been rejected repeatedly.

Won't Need Cues Any Longer

Willie Hoppe, Mr. Billiards, Dies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Willie Hoppe—"Mr. Billiards" for a half-century of near-flawless play—died Sunday at 71.

"I don't think I'm going to need my cues any longer," the balkline and three-cushion master told hospital visitors just before his death.

His brother, Albert, said Hoppe asked that his leather-cased cues be given to a longtime chum, Sid Mayer of Skokie, Ill., one of his last callers.

Hoppe was hospitalized four months under treatment for cancer, his brother said. The onetime boy wizard of billiards had suffered illnesses before and bounced back to win titles.

His last, and 51st, was the three-cushion crown he won in 1952 at the age of 65. He retired that year as the last of great champions of the "golden twenties."

William Frederick Hoppe was in knee-pants when he made his first shots on a table he had to stand on a box to reach.

He started at age 7 to play exhibitions with his later brother, Frank Jr., then 9, after teaching by their father who kept a hotel, barber shop and poolroom at Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y.

Willie developed in smoky poolhalls the calm, deliberate style of play that carried him to world titles. In 1911 he won the distinction of being the only known player to give a White House exhibition.

Hoppe trained for matches as if for a prize fight. He did roadwork, watched his diet and got plenty of sleep.

He began defeating the stars of billiards at age 12, and at 14 bested Maurice Vigneaux of France in an 18.1 match that drew worldwide attention.

Beauticians Give 200 Permanents Free in Dallas

DALLAS, Tex., (AP) — Beauticians worked overtime at five Dallas beauty parlors Sunday, giving free permanents to nearly 200 elderly women and orphan girls.

The treatments were given by members of the Texas Assn. of Accredited Beauty Culturists to residents of charitable institutions.

The observance was started about 10 years ago by a retired Dallas beautician, Miss Mae Whitley, who was then president of the National Assn. of Accredited Beauty Culturists. The free hair waves were in observance of National Beauty Salon Week.

In 1851, New Hampshire became the first state to set up an agency to supervise the insurance business.

Human Icicle II Recovering Fast After Ordeal

SAULT STE. MARIE, Ont. (AP)—Hospital authorities said today that Paul Sawyer, 30, found severely frozen in a snowdrift Friday, is making an "amazing recovery" and is apparently out of danger.

He and Frank Alstrom, 54, who died apparently from over-exposure, were discovered in the snow on a bush trail in nearby Korah Township. Results of an autopsy on Alstrom's body are expected tomorrow.

The hospital said it is too early to tell whether frostbite will cause permanent injury to Sawyer's hands or legs. He was unable to move and talked incoherently when found after being in the snow for several hours.

He was admitted in critical condition suffering from severe exposure, frozen feet, knees and right hand. Three bottles of wine and some equipment were found beside the two men, employed by a logger.

Sawyer was the second human icicle found in the Soo area in the last two weeks.

William Korpi was found in a snow bank on Drummond Island Jan. 16. He was released from a hospital Friday. Doctors said Korpi suffered only a slight discoloration of the hands.

Bob Considine Says:

Fire Cuts U.N. Off From World

NEW YORK — An unnerving thing happened at the United Nations the other day. A smoldering fire in a main gizmoo of U.N.'s telephone system burned out, or perhaps committed electronic harikiri. U.N., in effect, was abruptly cut off from the world, whose peace it holds in escrow.

Nothing happened. That's what's disturbing. Khrushchev didn't push the button. North Koreans didn't spill down over the 38th parallel. China didn't fire on Formosa. If the Russians made a speech in Committee No. 2, nobody will ever know.

Abba Eban, the learned young ambassador from Israel, attempted to summon a meeting of the security council that day to consider a reported border incident. Couldn't raise anybody. Nothing further happened along the border.

Pretty soon proper repairs were made, and the 80 odd nations could converse again in what had been a silenced tower, a mute Babel.

The world soon knew again just haw bad things are, after a period of imagination which may have led some of the dreamer nations, in whose ranks we proudly march, to consider the possibility that civilization may somehow muddle through.

Reminds me of a recurring dream: The flooring breaks at Fort Knox and all the gold we have hoarded there falls through, breaks a hole in the earth's crust, and is consumed in the furnaces of our core.

But nobody hears about it. People still hit their chests after a medical exam and boast, "sound as a dollar." Some of our Latin enemies still speak darkly of Dollar Diplomacy. And you know what Khrushchev always says about capitalistic imperialism.

The Republicans say unkind things about the Truman Dollar. A kid's eyes still grow wide and wonderful if you give him an expected dollar. A waiter still bows from the waist for a $5 tip. A cab driver says "Thanks, Mac," for even less. The whole blinking world goes on, never knowing that we've blown our wad.

That's the stuff that dreams are made of—dill pickle and vanilla ice cream dreams, that is. But there is a real counterpart of sorts. When Fidel Castro rolled into Havana he ordered the entire police department pinched.

Came to about 5,000 men. He did not replace them, man for man, with his own bearded ones. You can walk for blocks in Havana today and not see a cop. But the crime rate has fallen off. Drivers stop for the red lights, and drive slower. Things there are more lawful without The Law.

Sen. Fulbright, the Arkansas Democrat, takes over as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and suggests we reassure the world on our policies regarding Berlin, Korea and Formosa.

How about reassuring it on Little Rock, Senator?

Get New Ideas, Dulles Is Told

Dem Senator Mansfield States Terms of Party's Support for Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, heading for talks with European allies this week, has been told he'd better come up with some fresh ideas if he wants support from Senate Democrats.

The call for a new approach in dealing with the Soviet Union came from Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont), assistant Democratic Senate leader and a member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee.

Mansfield said today the forthcoming elevation of Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) to the foreign relations chairmanship serves notice on State Department officials "they had better get on their toes."

Dulles has scheduled a meeting with Fulbright before he leaves for Europe. Fulbright has been a sharp critic of Eisenhower administration foreign policies.

Dulles is tentatively slated to fly to London late Tuesday, with his first round of talks there Wednesday. He will talk with French leaders in Paris and West German leaders in Bonn before returning here about Feb. 11.

Dulles said his European mission will deal with: (1) the problem of Berlin and the Western reaction to possible Soviet moves; (2) the possibility of having talks about Germany with the Soviet representatives.

He indicated he will talk with Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, President Charles de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany to try to get allied agreement on these points:

1. What the allies can offer Russia, and world public opinion, in the way of new ideas for reuniting Germany and thereby resolving the problem of divided Berlin.

★ ★ ★

2. What line the Western powers should take in making specific proposals to Moscow for East-West talks on Germany and possibly some other issues.

3. What measures the Western powers should take if a new Berlin blockade is set up. The Soviet Union has announced plans to turn over its Berlin occupation powers to the East German Reds in May.

Ionia Girl Is Honey Queen

Immigration Policies Should Be Modified

The new Congress will be asked to revise the controversial McCarran-Walter Immigration Act on a sound basis.

Main target is the national origins quota system which limits immigration to one-sixth of one per cent of the 1920 population of 95 million. Quotas are divided among foreign countries in proportion to their nationality in that census. By far the largest quota goes to Great Britain which uses only part of it. South and east European countries have much smaller quotas and Asia even fewer.

In the past President EISENHOWER has proposed that unused visa allotments be shifted from areas where they were not needed to areas where they could be used. In fiscal 1956, for example, only 89,310 quota immigrants were admitted. Of the 65,547 quota numbers not used, 56,446 belonged to the British and Irish quotas.

The President also suggested that the U.S. 1950 census of 135 million be taken as a guide so as to admit 220,000 qualified immigrants. This would more nearly represent the present proportions of national origin. The present law limits the number to 155,000.

★ ★ ★

Many more changes should be made. Various bills have been presented over the past seven years. So far, Rep. WALTER, (D-Pa) as chairman of the House Immigration Committee, has been able to block any change in the present restrictive law which he co-authored. Liberals of both parties want an entirely new committee to give some hope for modification of the discrimination immigration act.

Crop Surplus Problem Awaits New Congress

The Department of Agriculture reports a 20 per cent increase in farm income for the past year. Net income totaled $13 billion, the highest since 1953.

However, an analysis of the sources brings to light the fact that for every dollar of net income to the farmer in 1958, the Government will spend 54 cents on agricultural programs for the current fiscal year. Department spending is expected to reach $7 billion, compared to less than $3 billion five years ago.

More than $4 billion will be paid for price support programs and much of the other $3 billion will help farmers increase their incomes, and add to the surpluses, by such programs as tiling, liming, soil conservation, crop research and credit plans. At the present time only one in eight Americans lives on farms compared with one in six in 1950.

Farm production is out of line with requirements largely because of technological improvements. Surpluses are piling up faster than Government programs have been able to cut back production.

Secretary BENSON is planning to present a new wheat program to Congress. But the four major organizations—the Grange, Farm Bureau, Farmers Union and the National Council of Farmer Co-ops—can't agree on a farm program.

A Branch County, Michigan, farmer, Kirk Blaque, has expressed the opinion of most thinking people. Queried by Capper's Farmer as to what he would like his Congressman to work at hardest, he replied "I would like to have . . . entire Congress work towards the definite goal of freeing agriculture from subsidies and controls by 1962. Only through a free, prosperous and efficient agriculture can this nation remain a leader of free people."

Congress has another opportunity to work out a model plan geared to current needs.

INFLATION in 1958 reached new highs in various parts of the world. The price of a wife in the Kuku tribe of Africa, for example, rose from one to three cows.

OLDSTERS are thankful that modern music finally became so unmusical that the old songs have become popular again.

EVEN with all the know-how of this technical age, no one has yet been able to replace the ladder to success with an escalator.

End of the Line?

David Lawrence Says:

'Massive Conformity' Must Come

WASHINGTON — "Massive resistance"—designed to prevent by state laws any "integration" in the public schools—now has given way in Virginia. But when will "massive conformity"—the federal alternative—be accomplished?

LAWRENCE

Nowhere as yet in the United States has "massive conformity" really been adopted, though the Supreme Court of the United States, by its 1954 decision, has laid down as the assumed "law of the land" the doctrine that every Negro student, in order to get a good education, must get the benefit of admission to classes in which there are white pupils.

"Token integration" violates the edict of the Supreme Court of the United States because it takes care of only a few Negro pupils.

In North Carolina, for example—where 314,000 Negro children are enrolled in public schools—there are today fewer than 15 Negroes attending classes with white pupils. Yet North Carolina is frequently praised in the press as the state that has handled the "integration" question successfully.

It's only a matter of time, of course, before the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, which calls the turn in the courts, will logically insist that all states accept "massive conformity." All that's necessary is the filing of a few lawsuits, and the federal judges will promptly order compliance.

Even New York City is failing to obey the "law of the land." Judge Polier, in a city court proceeding the other day, held Negro parents blameless for disregarding the compulsory-education law by withdrawing their children from public schools, alleged to be inferior in quality of teaching, and keeping them at home.

Under "pupil assignment" laws, of course—such as Alabama has passed, and which the Supreme Court has held to be constitutional "on its face"—the local school boards can use a variety of criteria and exclude any applicant, provided it isn't openly on racial grounds.

It's only a question of time, however, before this, too, may be struck down by the federal courts as a subterfuge.

Perhaps the most enlightened as well as realistic view on the future of the "integration" question so far as public schools are concerned has been expressed by the assistant attorney general of Florida, Ralph E. Odum. He has been pointing out for some time now that the only legal alternative to "integrated" public schools is a private school system with tuition grants enabling the parent to turn away from public schools.

It seems a foregone conclusion that several states will soon find themselves with an inferior public school system due to transfer of teachers and the divided interest of communities with large numbers of children attending private schools.

Tuition grants are constitutional so long as the state doesn't choose the school for the parent. This principle was adopted by Congress in the GI Bill of Rights, under which the veteran could pick his own educational institution and get a direct grant from the federal government.

The continuing conflict of view among citizens on the "integration" question will not be confined to the South. As population grows and as more school facilities must be built everywhere, many residential areas which are today relatively free from friction over the "integration" problem will find the pressure for "massive conformity" a growing source of discontent.

THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.—II Cor. 7:1.

★ ★ ★

Purity lives and derives its life solely from the Spirit of God.—C. C. Colton.

Dr. William Brady Says:

Here Are Keys That Open 7 Doors to Vital Living

The seven keys to vite described in Volumette XVI of my Pocket Cyclopedia of Health are as follows:

DR. BRADY

1. Save your teeth
2. Temperance
3. Belly breathing
4. Nudity—air bathing, sun bathing
5. Iodin ration
6. Daily exercise
7. Rejuvenation diet and supplementing the ordinary diet with adequate daily rations of minerals and vitamins.

"Save Your Teeth" is the title of Volumette I of the Pocket Cyclopedia. Vite, I believe, is attainable only if you have not less than 28 teeth, your own or your dentist's, which are functionally efficient.

Also, you may learn something to your advantage from the Pocket Cyclopedia (23 volumettes, $7.50 delivered) or from volumette XVI (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) or from the pamphlets on Belly Breathing or on The Iodin Ration (either pamphlet free if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope; if you ask for both, enclose 25 cents in addition).

You won't find the word "vite" in the dictionary, except as a musical direction meaning quickly, lively. In the language of health, vite means:

Preservation of the characteristics of youth . . . extension of the prime of life . . . higher average level of positive health . . . greater pep . . . more vitality . . . the highest degree of natural immunity . . . reserve power to tide over emergencies and strains . . . resiliency of the untamed animal or the primitive savage.

Take belly breathing; few Americans know it is the natural, efficient way to breathe, the way animals or the primitive savage breathes, the way you must practice breathing in order to correct your bad habit of chest breathing.

Or take the average American's namby-pamby diet, for another instance. The poor soul gets most of the calories from "cheat" foods, foods deprived of their vitamins and minerals. He is not interested in natural foods, especially in childhood and early youth. Consequently malnutrition is more widespread in America today than in any other civilized country except possibly England.

In Volumette XVI, "The 7 Keys to Vite," I describe the basic health diet, which is also a reduction, rejuvenation, regeneration, corrective, protective diet. But it is designed particularly as a pattern on which you may build your own diet to meet your individual requirements.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

School Bus Driver Enters Cold Weather Discussion

It's disgusting the way some people think. It isn't the idea that it was too cold for the busdrivers and buses when they wouldn't allow them to go out a few mornings last week. It was for the children's own safety.

I'm a school bus driver in Lake Orion, drive over 130 miles a day and there have been times when I wished we lived close enough for my daughter to walk to school, rather than ride a bus. It would have been safer.

If some people think it's a joy ride driving the bus and worrying whether the children are going to get to school safely, I would welcome them to try it on a morning like last Wednesday.

Michigan is in a dangerous position and it is a good thing for all of us that we have a brave man for governor and one who can come up and face all the necessary facts and give a very sound answer. Williams will be the saver of our state.

'I'm Sick of Paying Farmers' Support'

I am a taxpayer and wish someone would tell me why I have to pay my share of more than six billion dollars a year to the farmers. What are the farmers paying me? As far as I can see, it's exactly nothing and so I am sick of digging down and helping support them. Defense doesn't get all the tax increase that Washington drags away from us and we should cut all the rest to the very bone.

'Pontiac Destroys Her Own Product'

The City of Pontiac, builders of fine cars, should be ashamed of the deal it's promoting to their destruction. I refer to the application of salt on our streets and highways.

★ ★ ★

It's a blessing that finances are getting to the point where we have to use it sparingly. A little sand and common sense will do a great deal to eliminate the use of the deteriorating elements and at the same time save the City and State much needed revenue.

★ ★ ★

It's been a pleasure the last few days not to have to walk through an ocean of salt downtown and drag it back home. Application is just a small part of the cost. Wait until we get our paving repair bill in the Spring.

'Use Vets' Fund for Needy Vets'

I admit the Veterans' Trust Fund is awfully hard to get and someone should be able to use it, but it should be needy veterans, not politicians.

★ ★ ★

I've read stories about polls proving so few need it that it should be used elsewhere. Anyone can go down to the unemployment compensation office or the welfare office and see how many veterans could use it. Why can't they loan it to veterans at a reasonable amount of interest. It would pull a lot of people off unemployment and welfare and put more money into circulation.

★ ★ ★

In the event they make the grade and clean it out, remember there are enough vets in the State to upset the next election.

'Timers of Pontiac Rescue Reader'

This is in appreciation of a young man who assisted me. He was the bearer of a card which read "Timers of Pontiac, Dedicated to Safety." This member pulled me and another man (who got stuck trying to help) out of the ice and snow. He was very courteous and we were certainly grateful. You can't judge all young people by a few. May the membership grow.

Successful Athlete Offers Secret

Rev. Bob Richards offers a dandy secret to all of you potential athletes. And you wives should be grateful that your husbands are sports fans, for they get rid of surplus ire and energy "vicariously" in that manner, thus being more docile for you and the children. It's better to be a "sports widow" than a "tavern widow."

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE A-443: Rev. Bob Richards, famous pole vault star and Olympics champion, is a dynamic clergyman-at-large.

By that, I mean he addresses religious groups of various church denominations and is usually successful with young people.

DR. CRANE

One of the men at the party asked him:

"Rev. Richards, our son is a junior in high school and competes in track. He runs the half mile. Do you have any secrets that might help him become famous?"

Rev. Richards nodded his head in assent.

"Yes, I have one which will make almost every athlete a success," he began.

"I myself have spent over 10,000 hours practicing the pole vault.

"That's the big secret of success. Let any athlete spend 10,000 hours diligently running his event, or jumping or pole vaulting, and he will rate headlines."

One reason advanced for America's failure to rate highly in distance events, like the 2-mile run, is our unwillingness to put in the long, gruelling hours needed.

Certain European nations, such as Finland, are noted for producing such talented 2-mile runners, for their teenagers haven't succumbed to the Sirens of soda fountains and automobile travel, even for short distances to school.

Thomas Edison summed up this same idea when he stated that "Genius is 99 per cent perspiration."

★ ★ ★

America has a similar adage to the same effect that "Elbow grease is still the best lubricant for success."

The steady plugger, with tremendous perseverance, usually runs to his goal through thick and thin for many long years.

MEDICAL FACTS

So here are some medical facts to support Rev. Richards' advice. Regular exercise will enlarge your heart so it is stronger.

Thus, it beats more slowly. A 2-mile runner may have a normal pulse of only 64 to 66 beats per minute, whereas we consider 72 as the usual rate for average folks.

An athlete, too, tends to develop greater lung capacity, so he has double insurance against both pneumonia and coronary heart trouble.

For the larger heart develops bigger coronary arteries. Thus, a tiny floating blood clot is not as likely to plug such a coronary artery.

And the larger lung capacity gives the athlete a greater margin of safety when he needs oxygen, as during a heart attack or pneumonia.

Athletics usually teach team work and diligence in practice. Ths habit of faithful attendance at all drill periods, carries over into life and makes the athlete a more reliable person on the job.

Futhermore, our American system of professional sport helps buoy up the public moral by giving us something to which we can constantly look forward.

For basketball is soon followed by track and baseball, swimming and tennis. And football then comes in the fall.

Bowling and golf are now year-around sports. You wives should not grumble too much because your husband follows sports so diligently, for this keeps him from being frustrated and irritable.

It is a vicarious (substitute) outlet by which he vents his surplus energy and ire, thus leaving him more docile for you and the children.

Waterford Cuts Fire Damages

Township Department Has 61 More Calls, but Loss Total Drops in '58

The Waterford Township Fire Department answered 61 more calls last year than during the previous year but property damaged caused by fires was lower, according to the annual fire report submitted to the township Board.

Total fire loss in 1958 was $134,965, compared to the $236,908 in 1957. Estimated value of properties involved or exposed to fire damage was $2,874,485, the report stated.

No deaths were caused by fires in the township, however.

There were 164 house fires, which caused damages amounting to $85,360 to homes and their contents. Fire losses to buildings and other types of dwellings totaled $45,685.

Sixty-five alarms involved automobiles, boats and aircraft. Damages here totaled $3,920.

There were 251 grass fires last year and only three false alarms.

The department answered 89 rescue calls for such emergencies as heart attacks, convulsions, drownings and overdoses of medicine.

The department was called out 13 times to assist at fires in neighboring communities.

2 Senators to Debate Chicago Water Issue

CHICAGO (AP) — Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill) and Sen. William Proxmire (D-Wis) will debate the question of increased diversion of Lake Michigan waters in Chicago Feb. 18.

Douglas will support increased diversion and Proxmire will oppose it. The debate will be sponsored by the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry.

Legislation which would have authorized the City of Chicago to increase diversion, for sanitation and other purposes, has been killed three times. Present diversion is 1,500 cubic feet per second, plus water used for domestic purposes.

So Far, No Retaliation From Franco

Rightists, Leftists Form Spanish Party

MADRID (AP)—Prominent liberals and rightists have defied Generalissimo Franco's ban on opposition political movements and formed a new party.

So far there has been no retaliation from the government. Failure to take action would be interpreted as a sign of weakness. All political parties except the government Falange are banned in Spain.

Nearly 100 army officers, bankers, lawyers, university professors and others formed the new party, called Spanish Union—unio espanola—at a banquet Thursday in a Madrid hotel.

Speakers included Joaquin Satrustegui Fernandez, a liberal Monarchist and member of a wealthy family of Basque industrialists, and Enrique Tierno Galvan, professor of political law at Salamanca University and head of a group of liberal Republicans.

Satrustegui in a strong speech said Franco had seized power illegally and kept his regime in office by force. He criticized the government's economic policy, saying it was "without present or future."

"Spain has just awakened to her tremendous reality, and fiction begins to fall with all the weight of its coarse and grotesque framework. We believe that what has been said through Satrustegui is not an opinion but the full conscience of a nation clamoring painfully."

The Spanish Union includes elements opposed to the regime ranging from the extreme right to the left. But four non-Communist groups so far are not participating: the Socialists, Anarchists, leftwing Christian Democrats headed by Manuel Gimenez Fernandez, and Dionisio Ridruejo's Social Democrats.

Sources close to the new party said they believe a compromise doctrine will be worked out to permit enlistment of the Social and Christian Democrats and possibly the Anarchists. The Socialists' last party congress in August, dominated by exiled leaders of the Republican government Franco overthrew, ordered the faction's leaders in Spain not to enter any alliance with other political groups.

Hal Boyle Says:

Men Use $8 Million More to Please Noses

The American male is getting more fragrant every year. In 1957 he forked out 39 million dollars for after shave lotions, or about 8 million more than U.S. women spent on perfume.

But he has plenty of historical precedent. Alexander the Great wore a perfumed battle tunic. Napoleon used up to 54 bottles of cologne a month (he must have nipped on the stuff). And Cardinal Richelieu anticipated the atomizer: He used a perfume bellows to scent his apartment.

U. S. trains are steadily whittling down their passenger service. But Japan is planning a 340 million dollar rail program featuring a "dream train" which will make the 450-mile run from Tokyo to Osaka at an average speed of 150 m.p.h.

Medical expenses have added to the high cost of living, but Americans still spend more for tobacco and alcoholic beverages than they do for all forms of medical care. They even pay more for chewing gum than they do for research into mental illness.

Vaudeville may be dead, but those who forecast the early demise of radio have been proved wrong. A survey by the Hotel Edison here showed as many guests still listen to radio as watch television.

New Yorkers must be the most time - conscious people in the world. They spend more than a million dollars a year dialing the telephone company to get the correct time.

Do you object to your wife working? On the Island of Aruba in the Caribbean a wife cannot take a job outside her home unless she first gets her husband's written permission.

Everyone knows that Alaska is the largest state, but do you know which is our largest city—in terms of area? It is Los Angeles, which sprawls over 454 square miles.

Culture note: The United States now has more than 400,000 bars. (And how many churches?)

Farmers now can produce four times as much corn for every hour of work as their grandfathers could 50 years ago. And so can todays' comedians.

Quotable notables: "The best way to destroy an enemy," says evangelist Oral Roberts, "is to make a friend of him."

Snow isn't always white. Red, golden, blue and green snow also has been recorded. The colors are caused variously by dust, minute organisms or pollen. Snowflakes sometimes get as large as saucers. A 10-inch snowfall has the moisture equivalent of an inch of rain.

Why would most teenagers prefer to live in South Carolina or Texas? Because one can get a driver's license in those states at 14. Incidentally, a one-eyed man can drive in any state—if his remaining orb has proper acuity.

Capsule comment: "Ignorance has something to be said for it," points out Bertha Shore. "It accounts for about nine tenths of the world's conversation."

How happy are we in prosperity? A psychiatrist recently estimated that every minute of the day someone in America tries to commit suicide. Fortunately, most of them don't try too hard.

Americans Bitter About 8 Days in Jail After Tijuana Gambling Raid

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—Twenty-one Americans crawled out of borrowed blankets today as the cold light of another dawn crept through their jail bars.

Two of them are women—Mrs. Rita Nathaniel and Miss Olivette Gosselin. Like the U.S. men jailed here, they are bitter over the eight days which have passed since they were arrested in a gambling raid.

"I'm no criminal," declared Mrs. Nathaniel, 35, a Santa Monica, Calif., divoreee. "I was just out for a little fun, and now I'm treated like an arch felon."

"I wasn't even watching the games," said Miss Gosselin, of Chula Vista, Calif. "I and two men friends had just had a drink at the bar when the officers entered with shotguns and machineguns. We thought it was a holdup."

★ ★ ★

The money and cars of the 42 Americans arrested were confiscated when Mexican federal police raided a gambling club at the suburban Rosarito Beach hotel.

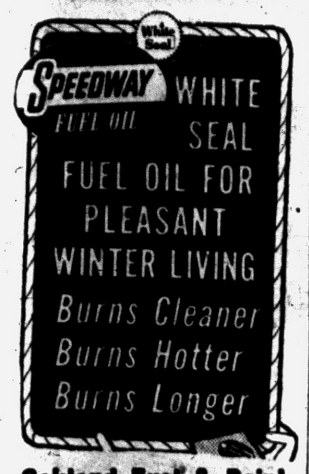

All 44, together with nine Mexicans, were formally charged by federal Judge Eduardo Langle Martinez Sunday with violating the laws of Mexico by gambling at cards or dice, or just by watching such gambling.

The judge may keep the cases of all under trial—there are no juries in Mexico—for up to one year.

'Sudden Death' With Him on Ground, in Air

Pilot of New Space Plane Drives Model A

By custom it belongs to this base's No. 1 test pilot and at his death or departure is passed on to his successor, for $100.

★ ★ ★

Now the old Lizzy, sarcastically tagged "Sudden Death," is the property of Capt. Bob White, who may be the first man in space.

White is Kincheloe's successor not only behind the wheel of the Model A, but also in the cockpit of the X15 rocket plane, which starts its flight tests here next week.

For the first four months, the X15 will be guided through its pre-space flights by Scott Crossfield, test pilot for North American Aviation, which built the research craft for the Air Force, the Navy and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Crossfield's job is to make certain the plane is ready to be turned over to these customers.

White asked for the job. But he didn't ask for the nickname that came along with it—"Danger Ranger."

Classically handsome, White was the natural choice when a television crew came on the base looking for subjects for a series called "Danger Is My Business." Under protest, White consented—and there have been times since when he regretted it.

This was only good-natured joshing. White gets along well with his fellow pilots. His best friend is Capt. Charles Bock, pilot of the eight-jet B52 bomber that will carry the X15 aloft under its right wing.

It's a tricky mission that White and Bock will share. A bad guess, a wrong decision by either could cost the lives of both.

The 50-foot-long needle-nosed X15 will be carried into the stratosphere locked to a pylon under the mother ship's wing. There it will be released to rocket 100 miles out into space before nosing over for the long glide back to earth.

"I don't know anyone I'd rather have out there under my wing than Bob White," says Bock.

White, 34, is extremely modest. But Bock will give you reasons for his confidence in his friend: 4,200 hours of flight time, including 52 combat missions.

White's tanned face and cropped brown hair give him a youthful look. But his blue eyes are old. They have seen things he did not want to see—such as the prison camps in Germany, where his P51 was shot down in World War II.

There's a patch on White's uniform which bears the Latin words: "Ad inexplorata"—toward the unknown.

Mother, Baby Killed as Car, Train Collide

ARLINGTON, Kan. (AP) — A Wichita woman and her baby girl were killed Sunday when their car and a passenger train collided.

It was the fourth accident for the Rock Island's train No. 40 in less than a month.

Killed were Mrs. Ruth Jordan, 24, and Karen, 8 months. Mrs. Jordan's husband, James 25, and their son, Mark, 3, and daughter, Kathy, 2, were injured.

Motorist Gets Feeling He's Being Followed

Then he got out and learned why. His car was towing the driverless truck. Patton said he apparently hooked bumpers with the truck in pulling away from a parking place.

Only about 20 of Bermuda's 300 islands are inhabited.

Midair Collision Kills 2 Small-Plane Pilots

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Two small planes locked in midair, exploded and plunged in flames Sunday into the backyard of a suburban home.

Busy Radioisotopes Plentiful

AEC Training Atoms to Run Factories

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Atomic Energy Commission is training exploding atoms to run automatic factories. . .

These exploding atoms, called radioisotopes, already are performing wonders for science, industry, medicine, and agriculture. The AEC has launched an "isotope development program" to make them do even more.

Radioisotopes are plentiful and becoming more so. The AEC manufactures some. Others it plucks out of the vast quantities of "hot waste" from its nuclear reactors.

Because they emit easily detectable rays, they lend themselves to a host of uses in everything from thickness gauges to process controls in automatic factories.

★ ★ ★

For example, consider the atomic fire alarm. It consists of a chamber containing air made electrically conducting by rays from a tiny batch of disintegrating atoms. Says the AEC:

"It will sound an alarm if smoke enters the chamber since this alters the electrical characteristics of the air and upsets a balanced circuit."

For both medicine and industry radioisotopes provide compact sources of intense radiation similar to X rays.

★ ★ ★

For hundreds of uses, extremely small quantities suffice. The five-watt generator exhibited recently at the White House is powered by less than one-ninetieth of an ounce of radioactive material.

This tiny amount emits as much radiation as 6½ pounds of radium —and there is only about 4½ pounds of refined radium in the world.

The AEC estimates the value of industrial use of radioisotopes at about $500,000,000 a year and predicts this figure will rise to $1,000,000,000 soon.

The AEC said Saturday in its semiannual report that it distributed 228,000 curies of radioisotopes last year compared with 166,000 the year before. Since it started its isotope program in 1946 it has shipped more than 600,000 curies.

The curie is a measure of radioactivity—the activity of one gram of radium. This means that the artificially produced radioisotopes dispensed by the AEC in the past 13 years were comparable in activity to 14,520 pounds of radium.

The sensitivity of radioisotope tools is fantastic. The AEC reported a new gadget that can measure the thickness of silver plating to an accuracy of a hundred-thousandth of an inch.

By developing ways of separating useful radioisotopes from reactor wastes the AEC has been able to bring some prices down to 10 per cent of what they were. The commission is looking for even cheaper production.

Underground atomic explosions may provide it. Materials lining the shot chamber would be made radioactive by the explosion.

The AEC hopes to test this theory with an experimental explosion deep in a New Mexico salt bed some time in the fiscal year starting July 1.

Sumatran Rebels Loot Goodyear Rubber Estate

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Eight North Sumatran rebels looted the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co.'s Wingfoot rubber estate at Labuhan Batu last week and burned 18 laborers' homes, the Antara news agency reported today.

The 25 American families living on Wingfoot were reported unharmed, although they were robbed.

The company's Jakarta office said it had not yet received direct news of the incident.

Will He See His Shadow?

According to fable the groundhog is supposed to come out of his hibernation headquarters on February 2nd for a preview of coming weather . . . If he sees his shadow he rushes back to his winter quarters and we have six weeks of cold weather; if the day is dark and no shadow is forthcoming the fable states that we are to have an early spring.

Michigan weather has never reacted to the woodchuck's predictions and to insure yourself and your family of a truly warm, clean, comfortable home for the balance of the cold weather be sure to have a good supply of cleaner burning . . .

Can't Build Character by Making Life Easy

By RUTH MILLETT

"We didn't have anything else to do" said three young boys who broke into a school house, smashed windows, slashed wall maps and globes, splattered walls and floors with ink, tore up furniture, and left the school building a total mess.

A lot of kids today don't have enough to do to keep them busy and out of trouble.

Once parents believed strongly that "Satan finds work for idle hands to do." But that homely moral has gone by the board as children's happiness rather than their character has come to be the main concern of parents.

Well, Satan still finds work for idle hands. And parents ought not to forget it. Give a kid all the allowance he needs for spending money, give him a car to run around in and a credit card to keep the tank filled, ask nothing of him in the way of shouldering some of the responsibilities of family living and you're got a kid with more time on his hands and more unused energy than he knows what to do with.

Take the same kid and tell him he has to earn his own spending money, that he can have his own car when he can pay for it himself, and give him some of the jobs that have to be done around a house. Then you've got a kid who doesn't have the time or energy to go around smashing things for fun, who knows the value of money well enough not to think that property destruction is a big joke.

What we parents must face is that you don't build character in a child just by making life easy for him and removing all obstacles in his path. All that does is make an unhappy, restless child who thinks he has to have his fun and excitement, no matter who pays for it.

Dear Abby . . .

Tell Friend to Lay Down Law and Put Bite on Her Own Child

"DEAR ABBY: I have a serious problem. One of the women in our crowd has a 2-year-old child who bites my child. Sometimes the teeth marks go through the skin. I told the child's mother about this and she said, 'Tell your child to bite her back,' but this is a nasty habit and I don't want to encourage my child to bite anyone, even in self defense." WORRIED

ABBY

DEAR WORRIED: You should be aware that a human bite can be more serious than an animal bite. Explain this to the parents of the child who bites. Tell her to keep her child away from yours—and cooperate by keeping yours away from hers.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Why does the government spend millions of dollars to go to outer space when there is so much to be done on this earth? Many children don't have enough to eat and there are large families living in two and three rooms without sanitation. If we take care of the needs of the people right here on earth, we will be doing well. Anyway, if the good Lord wanted us to go to outer space, He would have built a bridge."

"PHILOSOPHER"

"DEAR ABBY: I have a friend of whom I am very fond. He is a plumber. He installed two bathrooms for me as a favor, free of charge. He installed them for me at night. After the job was done he bawled me out because I didn't come in and keep him company while he was doing the work for me.

"Miss Abby, I didn't keep him company for two reasons. One: I didn't want to bother him. Two: He never asked me. Do you think he has a right to be mad at me? I don't want to lose his friendship."

BERNICE

DEAR BERNICE: If the plumber didn't ask you to "keep him company" while he was working, he should pipe down.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: My husband is a salesman and earns approximately $200 a week. We have three children. He insists that I leave them with his mother and go to work. Since all I can do is clerk, my take-home pay would come to about $40 a week. I would much rather stay home and raise my own children. This has caused some terrible feelings and violent arguments in our house. If you agree that my place is home, please say so in your column." WORKING MOTHER

DEAR WORKING: Is your husband well? (The money in his blood could be eating up the red corpuscles.) In my opinion a woman should not leave the raising of her children to anyone else (to work outside) unless she absolutely has to.

Chocolate Almond Bars Go in Angel Cake Filling

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

It's so easy to make or buy an angel food cake and use it as the base for a delicious dessert. This one from Mrs. Leslie Patterson of Dow Ridge uses chocolate almond bars in the filling.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Patterson is a member of both the Countryside Improvement Association and a garden club. She has enjoyed the large number of birds that have come to her feeding stations this winter.

CHOCOLATE FILLED ANGEL FOOD
By Mrs. Leslie Patterson

1 large angel food cake
8 chocolate almond bars (small size)
24 marshmallows
⅔ cup milk
1 pint whipping cream

Put chocolate bars, marshmallows and milk in top of double boiler and cook over boiling water until they are melted. Cool. Whip one cup of cream and fold into chocolate mixture.

Cut angel food into three layers. Put chocolate mixture between layers and on sides of cake. Chill at least 8 hours.

Whip second cup of cream, add one tablespoon sugar and ¼ teaspoon vanilla. Frost entire cake with this 30-60 minutes before serving. Makes 8-10 servings.

Young Man May Refuse to Be Escort

Plea of Early Rising Should Be an Excuse

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: I wish you would write something in your column about the hostesses who put their men guests 'on the spot' by asking them to take unescorted young women home from a party. This has happened to me on quite a few occasions and I am getting fed up with it. It has always been my luck, too, to be asked to take a girl home who lives on the other side of town, and it takes me hours to get back.

"I am not alone in this complaint as several of my fraternity brothers have run into this same problem. Is there any way any one can gracefully refuse to comply with this request?"

Answer: Surely your hostess will understand and forgive you if you explain that the young woman she has asked you to take home lives on the other side of town and that you have to be up very early in the morning. A hostess who very often saddles young men with taking young women home will find it more and more difficult to get attractive young men to come to her parties.

"Dear Mrs. Post: My attendants are arriving at the last minute, no parties for them ahead of time are possible. When would be the best time to give them their gifts? Could they be given at the wedding reception?"

Answer: When you are together, before you leave for the church, would be the usual time to give them under the circumstances you describe.

Shampoo Sense

by Rowena Wilson

As for how frequently to shampoo . . . as often as necessary. Dermatologists say you can't harm hair by keeping it clean and healthy any more than you can harm your body with a daily shower. Select the shampoo that will best service your type of hair. Finger-tip cushions should be used to massage the scalp as the lather is worked up. A thorough rinsing is so important as shampoo residue can harm the hair. Be safe and have a professional shampoo. In that way you can be certain that the right shampoo will be used and the rinsing thorough. Two in Detroit Area Pass Century Mark

DETROIT (AP) — Two Detroit area residents passed the century mark yesterday.

Mrs. Theresia Mueller marked her century of life with a small party at the Detroit rest home where she lives.

Mrs. Mueller was born in Bohemia, now part of Czechoslovakia. Tarasuk was born in Russia.

U.S. Experts Aid Young Tunisia

Cost, $30 Million, Is Quarter of Youthful Nation's Annual Budget

TUNIS (AP)—A team of American experts is helping newly independent Tunisia take its place among free nations.

The U.S. effort costs 30 million dollars a year, or one fourth of Tunisia's annual budget. The program, headed by retired Adm. Elliott B. Strauss, consists largely of agricultural training, dollar grants and a surplus wheat supply program. It is administered by some 60 experts and technicians.

During the last fiscal year, Tunisia received 20 million dollars for imports of essential products. Tunisian currency obtained through the sale of those products was spent on development projects.

In addition, the United States spent some 10 million dollars for technical assistance, child relief and unemployment aid.

This nation of 3,800,000 has some 400,000 unemployed — or almost half its labor force. The average per capita income is $140 a year, or 1/14 that in the United States.

★ ★ ★

Lack of technical background among Tunisian youth creates problems which make modern training difficult and slow.

"I've been here two years now and I am ready to give up," said an American training official.

But a United Nations adviser to the Tunisian civil aviation authority had a different opinion. He praised young Tunisians' eagerness to learn.

"In a few months my work here will be finished," he said. "They can run the show as well as the French ever did."

There is no effort on the part of the United States to fill the vacuum created in Tunisia by the withdrawal of France, French investments and personnel.

"The only people who can replace the French are Tunisians themselves," said an American official. "We are here not to take over but to help Tunisians to become better Tunisians."

Big Ten, U. of C. Get Large Grants From Carnegie

NEW YORK (AP)—The Carnegie Corp. has announced a $254,000 grant to 11 major midwestern universities for cooperative educational studies.

The Big Ten universities and the University of Chicago will conduct the studies to interpret the educational function of the institutions in the life of the Midwest and their importance in the overall picture of American education.

The studies will deal with such fields as the status of planning for the future, including enrollment and admissions policies, and the history and present status of coordination among state supported institutions of higher education in the seven states represented.

In addition to Chicago, the other universities are Illinois, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Michigan State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Ohio State, Purdue and Wisconsin.

Boy Born to Ship Widow

ROGERS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Leo Promo, wife of one of the 33 men who lost their lives in the Nov. 18 sinking of the freighter Carl D. Bradley, gave birth to a 7 pound, 5 ounce boy Friday night. It was her first child. Only two crewmen survived the sinking in a Lake Michigan storm.

No 'Miracle' Solution to Civil Rights Woes

DETROIT (AP)—The chairman of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission says not to look for miracles in solving the nation's civil rights problems.

dent of Michigan State University,

Dr. John A. Hannah, also presi- said the solution must come from the minds and hearts of all Americans.

"America needs most of all a great reawakening to truths, principles and values in areas the law cannot invade," Hannah told the Governors' Conference on Civil Rights here over the weekend.

"The laws and customs of decades cannot be changed overnight."

The governors and representatives from 18 states urged Congress to authorize broader federal action on voting rights.

They asked the federal lawmaking body to facilitate orderly desegregation of schools, to curb violence and intimidation and to enact federal fair employment legislation.

If all the registered motor vehicles in the U. S. were lined up bumper to bumper, the line would stretch from New York to San Francisco about 70 times, statisticians claim.

Others are Pontiac, Waterford, Warren, Roseville, Walled Lake, Bloomfield Hills, Memphis, Rochester, Troy, Milford, Clarkston, St. Clair and Avondale.

Professional problems will be discussed by the group in the morning. Guest speaker of the afternoon session will be the Hon. Judge Arthur E. Moore, Probate Court of Oakland County, and a panel of his Juvenile Court Workers.

Farmers Won't Pay for Parking

MSU to Cover Meters During 44th Annual Agriculture Conclave

EAST LANSING (AP)—The parking meters will be covered all this week at Michigan State University.

The reason? The farmers are coming to town, returning to the campus of the former Michigan agricultural college for the 44th time.

★ ★ ★

And they have resented the idea of paying a nickle or a dime to park on a campus they consider their own.

Some 50,000 farmers, driving everything from pickup trucks to Cadillacs, will attend the week-long sessions.

The session will cover all aspects of farm life, including agricultural economics, engineering, animal husbandry, botany plant pathology and social sciences.

More than 60 farm groups will hold annual meetings. These range from the dairymen, first to arrive today, through nut growers to bee keepers on Friday.

Current tax proposals, and how they might hit the farmers, will be discussed. Latest scientific developments in plant breeding and the glossiest and newest farm machinery will be top attractions.

Youths from the 4-H clubs will display their talents. Special events including a dress revue, will be staged for the farmers' wives.

MSU sponsors are carefully watching the weather. Bad weather cuts into attendance but the farmers always show up in force for the non-commercial event they consider their own.

Patterson to Direct UAW Region 1-C

FLINT (AP)—The new director of United Auto Workers Region 1-C is Elmer S. Patterson.

Patterson, administrative assistant to UAW Vice President Leonard Woodcock, was elected to the $12,500-a-year post yesterday.

★ ★ ★

He defeated M. Otis Bishop, president of UAW Local 599, by a vote of 466-to-198.

Patterson will fill out the unexpired term of Robert A. Carter which ends in October. Carter resigned Dec. 9 to become Flint city manager.

★ ★ ★

Region 1-C has 20 locals of some 85,000 UAW members at Flint, Lansing, Owosso, Fenton and Holly.

Paper Reports Hank Greenberg Gets Divorce

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Plain Dealer reported today that Hank Greenberg and his wife, Caral, were divorced recently.

The former Cleveland Indians general manager, a member of baseball's Hall of Fame, said in New York: "I don't know where you received your information. Don't say I denied the story. Just forget about the whole thing."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Greenberg, the former Caral Gimbel and heiress to a New York department store fortune, could not be reached for comment. She also was reported in New York.

A Cleveland attorney who formerly represented Mrs. Greenberg, Victor De Marco, was quoted by the Plain Dealer that the Greenbergs were divorced in Alabama.

The Greenbergs were married Feb. 18, 1946 and have three children, Glenn, 11, Stephen, 9, and Val, 5. They have a home in suburban Shaker Heights.

In 1955 Mrs. Greenberg filed a suit against her husband charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty. The suit was dropped after a reconciliation.

20 Oxford Boys Finish Training
Junior Police Get Badges

OXFORD—Saturday marked a high point in the careers of 20 members of the Oxford Junior Police League. After eight months of preparation and training the boys received their official badges in ceremonies staged in the Municipal Building here.

★ ★ ★

Presenting the badges were Youth Officer Patrolman Chauncey Brooks, who started the organization last May, and his assistant, Reserve Officer Don Tyler.

Oxford village officials, believing children of the community to be their "most prized assets" sent Brooks to Michigan State University to take a police juvenile training course in February 1958.

The two-week extension course impressed Brooks with the job he might do with the youth of his own community, he said.

100 LIKE IDEA

Upon his return he mentioned his plan to form a Junior Police League to a number of boys, and about 100 were so enthusiastic that they wanted to sign up for the program immediately.

"Because of limited personnel, finances and facilities, we had to start with just 20 boys," Brooks said.

A room in the Veterans Assn. building was provided for the group to hold its regular meetings every two weeks. The youths have been occupied during these sessions studying mechanics of fingerprinting and learning how it facilitates identification.

The boys, who range in age from 11 to 16 years, also practice wrestling, boxing and archery. Now they are planning to expand their ranks and train for their first appearance marching as a unit in the Memorial Day parade.

"The program has proved it will work; so now we are ready to open our membership to other boys—a few at a time," Brooks said.

"The League has been self-supporting through payment of dues since it was organized. We didn't want to be obligated to anyone if the idea didn't pan out," he explained.

SPECIAL ALLOCATION

Now with itis success assured, the League will receive a special village allocation of funds beginning with the new fiscal year July 1. The village paid half of the expense of the badges—the boys the other half from their treasury.

Brooks and Tyler receive no compensation for the countless hours they spend working with the youth group. But they say they are "well paid" in satisfaction for the job they are doing with the boys in fostering a better understanding of citizen-police relationships.

Officers of the League are Dennis Snyder, 13, captain, and Greg Roberts and Harold Prince, both 11, lieutenants. The other 17 boys are patrolmen.

Each member carries an identification card which certifies he will do his best "to obey the laws of the United States of America and to be a good citizen."

Keating Readies News Source Protection Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. Kenneth B. Keating (R-NY) announced Sunday he will introduce a bill to permit newsmen to keep their news sources confidential except where national security is involved.

★ ★ ★

He said he would push for early hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee on the "admittedly controversial subject."

★ ★ ★

In a biweekly broadcast to New York radio and TV stations, Keating noted that New York columnist Marie Torre went to jail to protect a news source because New York is not one of the 12 states with laws protecting journalists' sources.

★ ★ ★

He said that while he believed corrective legislation is primarily a state matter, he decided after a survey of various state laws that federal legislation would be desirable.

Candidate With Remedy Could Cinch Election

By MARY CELINSKE
Pontiac Press Corespondent

FARMINGTON TOWNSHIP — Water, or the lack of it, continues to be a major bone of contention on the local scene.

With both major policitical parties promising to promote a water system for dry areas of the township, residents in these areas continue to haul water into their homes from nearby Northville and Livonia via truck, barrels, etc.

And, in spite of Democratic Supervisor Frank J. Stephenson's vow "that a water system for these people shall not become a political football," there is little doubt here that any advocate of a strong plan in this matter will be a cinch in the forthcoming election.

Both sides of the polictical fence promise action. But Stephenson said a city councilman in Farmington, whom he declined to name, told him the council had no real intention of doing anything to ease the water situation until sometime after the election.

Stephenson has said "I won't be a party to politics with a commodity as necessary as water whether I am elected or not." He added that he has instructed Dean Stanley, the township's financial consultant, to proceed with plans for a water system without the city of Farmington's participation.

City Manager Earl Scherffeus said he knew nothing of any move on the part of the city council to delay the formation of a water authority.

"In fact the opposite is true," he said. "The council has adopted a resolution, indicating the desire to form an authority and proceed as soon as possible," he said.

Scherffeus said the city already has employed a financial consultant to examine legal implications and draw up necessary papers for forming a water authority. The report is expected to be ready by next week.

"As for playing politics," he added, "we don't care who the township supervisor is."

Both Republican candidates for supervisor accused Stephenson of "trying to make political hay out of the water issue.

"Two years ago he promised water for the township within six months," said Joseph T. Brennan, township attorney and Republican candidates. "He couldn't deliver. Now he has had to look around for a whipping boy and picked the city council."

Brennan termed Stephenson's charge "ridiculous."

"He's a past master at political fabrication and only made the statement to get publicity," Brennan said.

Curtis Hall also a Republican candidate for supervisor, remarked:

"Evidentally Stephenson is more concerned with politics than he is with water or he wouldn't have created friction between the city and township governments, which could tend to delay efforts to establish a water authority.

"The question of water is too big an issue to play politics with," Hall continued, "why should we question the integrity of the city council?"

"I'm sure they would not stoop to such tactics," he concluded.

Township residents in the south and eastern sections of the township have been trying for the past six years to bring a water system into the area.

During the past two election campaigns, candidate s have promised to promote the water system. However, to-date, little progress appears to have been made.

Correspond With Banana Boat
Ship 'Adopted' by Rochester Pupils

By LEE WINBORN

ROCHESTER — Miss Louise Burkitt's fifth grade class at Harrison Central Elementary School here has "adopted" a ship—a banana boat of the United Fruit Co. Line.

★ ★ ★

For four years Miss Burkitt has tried to arrange the "adoption" of a ship through the U.S. Merchant Marine for her class to correspond with during the school year. This is the first year one has been available, she said.

Shortly after the beginning of school last fall, Miss Burkitt's pupils read about the banana cargo ship "San Jose" in their weekly paper "Young Citizen" which they take to help them with their social studies and reading.

The 32 members of the class drafted a letter to Capt. E. F. Colburn, master of the ship. In the letter they inquired about the vessel, its cargo and crew. They also told the captain about their class, their school and the community in which they live.

TEACHER WRITES

According to the rules set up by the Merchant Marine, the teacher must write the letter. Miss Burkitt said a few children stay after school each time to help her decide what the class would like to say.

Early in November the fifth graders received their first letter in reply from the "San Jose." The children learned "their" ship makes regular round trips from New York City through the Panama Canal to Seattle and back—taking about five and a half weeks to complete the round-trip run.

Capt. Colburn explained that the ship carries about 68,000 stems of bananas, each stem weighing approximately 85 pounds, amounting to roughly 2,500 tons.

★ ★ ★

The pupils delight in checking the port that the "San Jose" is scheduled to visit on their large classroom map of North and Central America.

They have learned that the ship takes 17 days to go from Seattle to New York, stopping at Golfito on the west coast of Central America for bananas and at Cristobal, Canal Zone for fuel—spending just a few hours in each port.

"On the way from New York to banana ports, we do carry some cargo, usually less than 600 tons which is divided for delivery to Kingston, Jamaica, and Santiago, Cuba," Capt. Colburn said.

54 CREW

The ship's master told the youngsters "their" banana boat is manned by a crew of 54 officers and men, most of whom live in the New York area—the ship's home port. It docks at Pier 3 in the North River there.

The "San Jose" also may carry up to 12 passengers, having six state rooms with two bunks in each, Capt. Colburn said. He also explained the regular working day of the crew, how the men stood watches and what equipment they have aboard the ship.

★ ★ ★

In December, each of the 32 Rochester students made two Christmas cards to send to their "shipmates." And they asked the captain for a picture of "their" boat.

★ ★ ★

They have just received another letter from the skipper, postmarked San Francisco, thanking them for their cards and with the picture enclosed.

With Feb. 14 fast approaching, the youngsters are now busy making valentines to send to the crew. They all say they are "thrilled" with the idea of adopting the ship and are enthusiastic about this novel way to learn their geography.

Baton Twirlers to Compete

LAKE ORION—Over 500 baton twirlers are expected to enter the fourth annual International Land O' Lakes Baton Contest Feb. 14 at the new Lake Orion High School, according to Roy G. Hess, who will act as director again this year.

The contest will start at 9 a.m. and last all day. In addition to the 500 individual twirlers there will be 20 or more corps competing for the 275 medals and 125 trophies.

Hess said the contest is now considered the largest in the middle west and is co-sponsored this year by the Lake Orion Community Club which will serve all the meals. The profits will go into the club's building fund.

Twirlers from Michigan, Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, Kentucky, Wisconsin and Canada—some of them traveling over 600 miles—will be on hand to compete for prizes.

★ ★ ★

Because of the larger floor space in the new high school, a new class, called the "Exhibition Class," will be introduced this year—in addition to the regular junior and senior corps. The exhibition corps have about 70 majorettes and a full squad of drums.

★ ★ ★

A special invitation has been issued to the national champions, Fred Miller's Blackhawks from Dayton, Ohio, and also to the Toledo Marilynettes. These two corps have a rivalry dating back many years, Hess said, and only a few points separate them when they appear against each other, he added.

Last year's winners, the Betty Fiest Junior Corp and the Betty Hurst Senior Corp, will be in a contest to defend their titles. They are both from Hamilton, Ont.

Besides the corps, there will be classes for beginners, intermediate and advanced twirlers and for boys in single acts. Others are scheduled for two baton twirlers and duets plus three classes in strutting.

★ ★ ★

Any inquiries about the contest may be sent to Hess at 686 Crescent Lake Rd., Pontiac.

CHAPTER XLII

For the first time, Angus realized that trouble was in store for Yule. When he reached Lisbon, he was going to find himself without a job. He had lost Angela, and at the journey's end he was going to lose her father. There was no end to the unhappy chain: Angela, Yule, Miss Seton, the Zollers, the Admiral and his sister, Maurice Tarrant . . . and himself, mused Angus. They were all caught fast in the tangle.

His eyes rested on Lord Lorrimer's haggard face. If Rosamond Blake could see him now, she would hardly feel herself sufficient compensation for all that he was leaving behind. Struggling to condemn, as Miss Seton and Maurice Tarrant had condemned, Angus found himself with nothing but pity in his heart.

It was a tragedy that a man of Lord Lorrimer's character and reputation had found himself, at fifty-five, in love with a young girl. This journey, he realized, must have been in the nature of a preliminary penance, a battleground between the past and the unknown future.

Was it Rosamond he wanted, Angus wondered, or was it her youth . . . or his own? Having had so many good things in life, did he think he could order the mixture as before? Did he imagine that his good looks and charm would be proof against Time's wear and tear? Fifty-five was an age at which a man might have twenty useful years before him—but a new life with a young girl?

* * *

Angus went back to the story Miss Seton had told. Her sister had rejected the proposal to go to South America with Lord Lorrimer—and then she had changed her mind. Her letter must have reached him the day before he was due to leave for Lisbon. No wonder he had sat throughout the journey as he had done.

* * *

Angus for the hundredth time, examined his plan of breaking the news to Angela himself—and for the hundredth time, rejected it. The secret was not his, it was her father's and only her father had the right to break it to her in his own way—but not, decided Angus, in his own time.

He had been shut away too long, brooding. He must come out of his musings and learn that the affair no longer involved himself alone. He must tell Angela the truth—and when he had told it, Angus would comfort her.

He looked out to see the coach slowing up at the approach to Ciudad Roderigo. They got out and waited for lunch, and when it came, it was a quiet meal. Nobody seemed disposed to talk. Before the coach left for the frontier, Angus had a few moments alone with Angela.

"You're still looking terribly depressed," she told him anxiously.

"That's because I am depressed."

"I know. It's nice, isn't it, to think that in the future we'll never have to face trouble alone?"

He looked down at her.

"Just so long as you remember that—" he said slowly.

"These have been beastly days for you. Wish I could have done something."

'YOU WERE HERE'

"You were here — that was enough. But when trouble comes to you, remember that I'm there to share it."

"You mean I just hand it to you and let you deal with it?"

"Yes."

"We share all the joys and you bear all the troubles?"

"Yes again. Will you remember that?"

"Of course I will."

She sat with him in the little observation compartment until they reached the frontier. The formalities on the Spanish side ended, they drove slowly to where the Portugese officials awaited them. They looked darker, sterner than the Spaniards, but the country was infinitely softer and greener.

Past the frontier, the road began to climb, and the air, which had been almost oppressive during the afternoon, became pleasantly cool. The coach climbed, and then they could see, across a narrow valley, the Green Empress hotel, set amid trees, in which they were to spend the night.

Ferdy, handing over the few remaining pieces of luggage, had a gloomy comment to make.

"Yes, Ferdy; I know."

"Now we're down to eleven. What's the Company going to think sir?" He sighed. "I know it's none of your fault, sir, but in all the years I've been with them, I've never known anything like this happen. Never. We've gone off with ten passengers and we've arrived with ten, all intact. We've had a troublesome passenger or two, asking for this and that, but asking to leave the coach? Never, sir, never."

"I know, sir, but back at Head Office, where they keep the numbers, that's all they'll look at, sir. We've lost seven passengers, sir, and that's . . . that's phenomenal."

"I daresay it is, but there's nothing we can do about it. Mr. and Mrs. Zoller left to make a quick trip to Algeciras. The Admiral was injured and his sister wasn't well. Mr. Tarrant went because he tried to be too funny.

Mr. Holt and Miss Seton—well I leave you to guess. On paper it might look bad, but you're in the clear, Ferdy. The the only thing that could affect the Company's credit is complaints—and there aren't any. Everybody has been most careful to say so."

"To you, sir, and to me. What's important is that they should say so to Sir Claud."

Angus smiled down at the sturdy figure.

"I've let you down, Ferdy, and I'm sorry."

"You haven't done anything wrong, sir."

"Neither did Jonah, but the fact that he was there seemed to cause a lot of trouble. They heaved him overboard, so perhaps it's as well I'm only doing the job for one trip—or two, if they let me do the return journey."

DONE A GOOD JOB

"I think you've made a good job of it, barring these accidents."

"We'll we've got the most important passengers with us still. If we get Lord Lorrimer there safely, we'll get a few marks. Send the luggage in, Ferdy, and don't worry about anything. I'll ask Lord Lorrimer to send a special message to Sir Claud giving us both a good write-up."

He walked into the hotel, frowning as he went. The exchange, short though it had been, crystalised his decision to speak to Lord Lorrimer. The thing had gone on long enough. They were all involved, and Ferdy was the last to be caught; he was out there now wondering whether his job was safe.

He would go at once, he decided, to Lord Lorrimer's room; he would tell him the whole story and ask his permission to break the news to Angela.

Only one duty remained before he was free, the distribution of mail. There was nothing for anybody but Lionel Yule; Angus sent a servent to his room with the telegram and then went upstairs to Lord Lorrimer's room.

Knocking, he was told to enter. When he went in, he found Lord Lorrimer looking at him in surprise.

'QUICK, SIR?'

"That was quick," he commented.

"Quick, sir?"

"I've just this moment sent a message asking you to come and see me. Didn't you get it?"

"No, sir. I . . . I came because I had something rather important to say to you."

A short silence fell. Lord Lorrimer looked at the younger man and took in slowly his pallor, his hesitation and his air of strain.

"Perhaps," he said, "what I have to say to you won't be such a shock after all."

Angus' expression did not change.

"What did you want to say to me, sir?"

Before answering, Lord Lorrimer turned and walked slowly to the window and stood staring across the valley. When he faced Angus and spoke, his first question was not a direct one.

Baby Pignatari to Try Hand as Actor in Movie

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD — Would you call this type-casting or not? Jerry Wald has Baby Pignatari signed for "The Billionaire" which goes in April.

Jerry met Baby in Europe last summer and he asked Richard Gully, who is here, if he thought Baby would be interested in acting as consultant and playing a small part. Baby would. He answered "yes" by cable to Richard in nothing flat. So Pignatari arrives here Feb. 10 to spend his birthday, which is the next day.

He has been in Sao Paulo looking over his steel mills. Seems that Baby plays hard when he plays, but really is a hard working gentleman when he works.

"The Billionaire" is by Norman Krasna, and Jerry tells me that he will really put Baby to work. And for heaven sake, isn't it about time he changes his silly name?

Iron Lung Breathes for Accident Survivor

KINGS MOUNTAIN, N.C. (AP) —The thump-thump of an iron lung today forced life into a 10-year-old girl who can't breathe on her own because of brain damage in an auto accident. Her parents and two others were killed in a head-on collision.

Priscilla Taylor, 10, of Chamblee, Ga., was in critical condition. She had not drawn a breath of her own since midnight Saturday.

An electric respirator broke down Sunday. Nurses and orderlies pumped a hand-operated one more than three hours before the iron lung was obtained from Charlotte, 35 miles to the east.

Killed in the wreck at nearby Grover were Marine T. Sgt. Mack Taylor, 36, stationed in Atlanta and his wife, Stella Taylor, also 36. George Arthur Gregg, 14, and Clarence uther Horton, 20, of Gaffney, S. C., also died.

★ ★ ★

Sgt. J. B. Kuykendall of the state highway patrol said a car driven by a third Gaffney man, Henry Galmer, 32, went out of control at high speed and hit the Taylor car head-on. Galmer was in good condition at a hospital here. Kuykendall said he was charged with murder.

Engine Quits, Pilot Lands Safely on Columbia River

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A pilot crash-landed his single engine plane Sunday in the Columbia River. He and his teenage nephew swam safely to shore.

Patrick Michael Barker, 45, of Portland, said he couldn't make an airfield near the river because he was too low when his motor quit. He and his nephew, Robert Vanderwall, 14, were exhausted by the 150-foot swim against strong currents and suffered shock.

The Health News Institute reports that 71 per cent of all prescriptions filled in 1956 were priced below three dollars.

3 Die in Annual Gift Rush on Chinese New Year

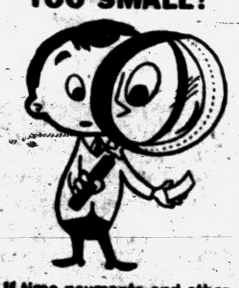

SINGAPORE (AP)—Two women and a man were trampled to death Sunday in a rush by aged poor for Chinese New Year gifts at a Singapore Buddhist lodge.

City Basketball Rivals Clash Tuesday

Chiefs at PNH; St. Mike, Rams on PCH Court

Walled Lake - Milford, Avon - Oxford Tussles Also in Spotlight

By BILL CORNWELL

If the city fathers were looking for a good excuse to push plans for a giant civic center in Pontiac, they'd find a dandy Tuesday night.

Pontiac's four high schools are scheduled to engage in a basketball doubleheader tomorrow night—a natural attraction at the gate.

Pontiac Central, rated Michigan's No. 1 Class A schoolboy team, collides with new Pontiac Northern on the PNH court while the city's two parochial quintets, St. Michael and St. Frederick, tangle in the PCH gym.

A twin bill like this might easily fill a civic center auditorium if the city had one. Here is ample reason to promote such a building for the people of this city, not to mention its many other possibilities.

Oxford goes to Avondale for a return match with the Jackets, Romeo visits Lake Orion and Walled Lake invades Milford in other standout area prep activity.

There is little doubt about who will win the Central-Northern game. It's the nature of the contest that provides the interest, not the anticipation of a closely fought battle between evenly matched teams.

The Chiefs are unbeaten in eight games, their latest win a 61-57 conquest of Arthur Hill last Friday night, and they lead the rugged Saginaw Valley Conference with a 6-0 record.

Northern took a 75-63 lacing from Detroit Catholic Central last Friday and the Huskies have tasted victory just twice in eight attempts.

St. Fred and St. Mike will be meeting for the 2nd time this season. The Rams of Gene Wright won the 1st engagement, also in the PCH gym, by a 49-36 score.

It will be an important Suburban Catholic League scrap for the Rams, whose title hopes took a severe jolt Saturday evening at Royal Oak when they were upset by the Irish of St. Mary, 45-40.

St. Fred, now 6-2 in the SCL and 7-2 overall, must whip the Mikes to keep their championship ambitions alive. The Shamrocks will enter the crosstown feud all even at 4-4.

Completing tomorrow's slim area schedule will be Brown City at Memphis in a Southern Thumb tussle, Oak Park at Bloomfield Hills, West Bloomfield at Inkster, Royal Oak Dondero at Hazel Park, Orchard Lake St. Mary at St. Stanislaus, Shrine at Holy Redeemer and Kingston at North Branch.

Rams Surprised by RO St. Mary

St. Frederick, Victim of 45-40 Defeat, Sees Title Hopes Fade

Running into the Suburban Catholic League's most aggressive "spoiler," Saturday night at Royal Oak, Pontiac St. Frederick was the victim of St. Mary, 45-40. The loss was Rams' 2nd in league play. It also dimmed the Rams hopes of keeping alive hopes of sharing in the SCL title.

St. Mary of Orchard Lake and Highland Park St. Benedict remain in the lead with 3-1 records. Rams now have a 7-2 overall, 6-2 in league competition.

Only time the Rams led was at 28-25 in the 3rd, when Derocher, Phil Bieri, and Phill Landry hit three straight goals. They couldn't hang on, however, and the Irish tied it up at 30-30.

With two minutes left in the game the count was knotted again, 40-40. Rams missed many chances, but ROSM's Mike Butash snared two baskets and a gift toss to nail the win. Bill Crawford was top scorer with 17. Butash had 14. Tom Derocher paced Rams with 15.

TRIPLE VICTORY — Hayes Jones, former Pontiac Central track ace, made a triple killing in the Michigan AAU Saturday at Ann Arbor. Jones strengthened his bid for the 1960 Olympics with victories in the high and low hurdles and the 60-yard dash.

Pistons Back to Old Ways---Lose to Hawks

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A victory was nothing but a brief interlude among a string of defeats for the Detroit Pistons.

They returned to their losing ways yesterday after finally snapping a nine-game losing streak the night before. Bob Pettit, destined to replace Detroit's George Yardley as the National Basketball Assn.'s scoring leader, tallied 40 points and led the St. Louis Hawks to a 130-96 triumph.

The Hawks opened a 7-game spread between themselves and second-place Detroit in the NBA's Western Division.

And more woe has been heaped upon the troubled Pistons. There's some danger Yardley might be lost for the remainder of the season and the playoffs.

Piston general manager Nick Kerbawy said Yardley would return today to Detroit Osteopathic Hospital for a checkup on his broken hand and respiratory ailment.

Yardley has been sidelined since he broke his left hand at Boston Jan. 25.

The Pistons must name their 10-man squad for the remaining weeks of the regular season and the playoffs by Feb. 15.

Detroit played yesterday as if it still was relishing that streak-ending 103-88 victory over Cincinnati Saturday. The Pistons were easy prey for the Hawks, who won their third straight. The loss was the Pistons 10th in 11 games and left them a half game above the idle Minneapolis Lakers.

★ ★ ★

Pettit, scoring 40 or more points for the seventh time this season, got the Hawks off winging. By halftime, they led 61-40 and it was no contest.

The Pistons now are idle until Wednesday when they face Philadelphia in Detroit.

In other NBA games yesterday, Boston edged Syracuse 139-137 in overtime, offsetting a 50-point outburst by the Nationals' Dolph Schayes, and Paul Arizin tallied 36 points as Philadelphia downed New York 113-105.

Plymouth Man Singles Leader

Max Lare Paces Field in 'Elks Tourney With 696 Series

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Max Lare of Plymouth moved into first place in the singles handicap as the Michigan Elks bowling tournament reached the one-third mark.

★ ★ ★

Lare rolled a 696 handicap yesterday to nose out last week's leader, John Nyeste of Saginaw, by one pin. Nyeste retained his lead in the actual score with a 659.

★ ★ ★

John Bering and Bob Bingley of Plymouth took over first place in the doubles with an actual score of 1,146 and a handicap score of 1,284. They dislodged Ray Buckner and Larry Montag of Ferndale, the leaders after the first two weeks.

Cherokee Bar of Royal Oak moved into first place in the team event with a 2,718 actual and a 3,009 handicap. Ken's Market of Ferndale, leader after two weeks, was dropped down to fifth.

The Elks tournament runs for six more weeks.

Hayes Posts Rare Triple Victory in Michigan AAU Meet

Jones Back in Top Form

The former Pontiac Central track ace now at Eastern Michigan College, established himself as a shoo-in for the 1960 Olympic team Saturday at Ann Arbor where he dominated the Michigan AAU meet with a rare triple victory.

Displaying a lightning kick, he won the 65-yard high hurdles, the 65-yard low hurdles and the 60-yard dash easily.

But the one runner who might have matched Jones in the dash was forced to withdraw from the meet. Michigan's brilliant sophomore from the Bahamas, Tom Robinson, came up with a leg injury. Robinson is an American record holder in the 220 and a British Empire champion.

Jones was sorry that his first face-to-face meeting with Robinson was postponed.

"I'm sorry I wasn't able to run against him," Jones said. "Now I might not get the chance until the outdoor season."

Jones' victories in the two hurdle events were near duplicates of his triumphs in the AAU meet last year.

He topped the low timbers in :07.4, matching the meet record he tied last year. He crossed the high hurdles in :08.0, just a tenth of a second off the meet mark he equalled last year.

Eeles Landstrom, who has soared over 15 feet in his native Finland, pole vaulted 14 feet 8 inches in defense of the crown he won last year. Landstrom, of Michigan, was forced to share his crown despite his brilliant vault. Ed Hoyle of the Chicago Track Club also lifted himself 14 feet 8 inches.

Dave Mills, a Purdue freshman, won the 600-yard run in meet record time of 1:11.2. He chipped .4 second off the old mark set in 1955 by Kevan Gaspar of Michigan State.

Ed Vanderheuvel of Central Michigan raced home first in the 1,000-yard run with a 2:14.7 clocking.

Among other Pontiac and Oakland County contestants were Farmington's Warren Cawley (4th in high hurdles); John Pleghm (former Chief) 6th in novice 300; Birmingham's 880-yard relay team, first, 1:36.0 (Dick Zaino, Mark Hall, Les Danielson, Bob Kulow) and mile relay team, 3rd, (Bill Green, Kent Rathbun, Jim Reilly, Fraser Cox) 3:38.8, both in prep division. Bill Alcorn (Birmingham) vaulted 12 feet, barely missed try at 13 feet, competing unattached. Former Maple, Doug Wuggazer (soph at Western Michigan), was nosed out for first in the 1,000-yard run.

Junior Division Skier Outshines National Champ

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—National champion Billy Olson of Eau Claire, Wis., won the central U.S. Senior Ski jumping championship yesterday but was outjumped and outpointed by stylish Gene Kotlarek of Duluth, Minn., who scored a rocking chair easy victory in the Junior Class.

The 18-year-old Kotlarek established a new Tomahawk Hill record at nearby Middleton with a graceful leap of 190 feet on his first try and then eclipsed it again with a jump of 188.

The bespectacled Olson scored 224.4 points in the class A division with leaps of 179 and 188 feet, while Kotlarek registered 228.5 points on his nearly flawless rides.

Merchants Win Overtime Game

Two goals by Art Atkinson, the 2nd one in the 1st minute of overtime, brought the Fisher Hill Merchants a 2-1 victory over Bulman's Hardware Saturday afternoon in an exhibition game between the two City Junior hockey champions at Northside Community ice rink.

Fisher Hill, Class A champ, and Bulman's, Class B king, met as an added attraction to the annual winter ice carnival, sponsored by the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department.

Bulman's scored the 1st goal when Jim Paschke clicked in the 2nd minute of the 2nd period. Atkinson tied the score in the 6th minute of the 3rd stanza, then fired the clincher after 60 seconds of the 1st overtime session.

Jere Dirker, subbing for regular goalie Glenn Nichols, was the winning netminder. Dennis Hoyes was the losing goalie. A dozen penalties were called, seven against the Merchants.

New Haven Champ of Thumb Tourney

A well-balanced scoring attack paced New Haven to a 55-41 victory over new member Anchor Bay for the Southern Thumb League tournament championship Saturday night.

Three of the six players used by the winners combined to outscore the New Baltimore quintet. Nate Petty swished 16, Bill Kjerrumgaard 14 and Don Smith 12 to turn the trick.

Boston's Thomas High Jumps 7 Feet

NEW YORK (AP)—Two years ago, when he was 15 years old, John Thomas had trouble clearing 6 feet in the high jump.

Today, the gangling Boston University freshman is one of the world's five 7-foot jumpers, holds the world's indoor record and very well could go up to 7-4 by the 1960 Olympics.

Young John, who stands 6-4¼ still is developing. In less than a year, he has grown an inch and three-quarters. He hasn't reached his potential yet.

In his past three competitions, he has broken the world's indoor record each time. First, he made 6-11. That erased Ken Wiesner's mark of 6-10¾.

Next time out, he upped his week-old standard to 6-11¼, and last Saturday in Madison Square Garden, became the first high jumper in history to get over 7 feet indoors.

★ ★ ★

There's simply no telling how high this amazing youngster might go. And just two years ago, he was so discouraged with his erratic performances that he was seriously thinking of quitting track and concentrating on tennis.

★ ★ ★

At the moment, Yuri Stepanov of Russia holds the outdoor world record of 7-1 with the aid of a built-up shoe. That's certainly within easy reach of Thomas and, he came mighty close to clearing 7-1¼ Saturday night.

Howe Stars but Wings Lose 5-4

Gordie Scores Twice, Whips Tough Fontinato

New Yorker Suffers Broken Nose, Bruises After Starting Fight

NEW YORK (AP) — Gordie Howe supplied most of the punch—scoring and fistic—but he couldn't keep the Detroit Red Wings from dropping deeper into fifth place anyway last night.

The New York Rangers jumped to a 4-1 first period lead and then held off a Detroit rally for a 5-4 victory. The Wings fell three points behind the fourth-place Boston Bruins in the National Hockey League standings.

Howe notched his 23rd and 24th goals and scored an undisputed fistic decision over the Rangers' Lou Fontinato.

The brawl, in which the New Yorker received a broken nose and bruised face, began late in the first period. Fontinato and Howe met behind the Detroit cage with the Ranger tossing the first blow.

Howe retaliated with a series of right upper cuts while holding the big Ranger's jersey. Fontinato landed only a few blows before the slugfest was broken up. Both fighters were penalized for five minutes.

It was a continuation of a feud that started last year when Fontinato appeared to go out of his way to check Howe, often into the boards.

"I'm patient," Howe had said at that time. "He'll be in the league awhile. He's the kind of guy who won't let you alone."

★ ★ ★

The battle seemed to give the sagging Wings new life. Howe had scored Detroit's first goal. But tallies by Andy Bathgate, Red Sullivan, Andy Hebenton and Larry Popein had pushed New York into a commanding lead.

The Red Wings controlled the game the rest of the way. But they couldn't overcome the Rangers' great advantage. Nick Mickoski scored early in the second stanza and Sullivan got his second counter before the period ended.

Pioneers Top U. S. Medley Relay Mark Against PNH

Ann Arbor High School's 1958 state prep swimming champions Saturday night gave a convincing demonstration of the power that brought that title, and makes them favorites for a repeat, this spring.

The Pioneers came to Pontiac as guests of Pontiac Northern High.

All they did was smash five team records, nine pool records and hang up a brilliant 4:00.9 mark for the 400-yard medley relay, which bettered the national record by 2.5 seconds. Ann Arbor won the meet, too, 74-22.

In another highlighted event Pioneer's Bob Clark touched out Pontiac Central High's star, Bruce Norvell in a pool-record 1:09.9 for the 100-yard breaststroke. Norvell swam as an exhibition entry.

50-yard freestyle — Enns (AA); Thomson (AA); Jim Tuttle (PNH). Time 25.4*

100-yard butterfly — Griffith (AA); Gary Rose (PNH); Cooper (AA). Time 59.8*

OWwww, THAT HURT — Jerry Wilmot of Clarkston, member of the Pontiac Golden Gloves team, connects with a right to the face of Bill Fisher of Port Huron in the 158-pound novice class Saturday night at Pontiac Central. Fisher, however, finished strong in the final round and took a close decision from Wilmot. Finals will be held next Saturday night in the PCH gym.

Five Pontiac Boxers in Gloves Finals

Local Novices Vie for Titles Saturday Night

Compton, Robertson Score Two Victories in Preliminaries

The local glovers will join four Port Huron novices and a list of open division entries Saturday with the winners going on to Grand Rapids for the state championships, Feb. 13-14.

Bill Robertson, a 135-pound novice, and Dick Compton, a 146-pounder, each scored a pair of victories Saturday night, with Bob Ragland, Larry Saiz and Frank Brown scoring single wins to qualify. A crowd of 1100 watched the fights.

Saiz, a 145-pound novice who lives in Clarkston, scored the only KO of the night when he took Fred Bates of Port Huron for the count in 1:25 of the first round.

Bates was out of the ropes for an eight count once and the second time he went out of the ropes for the full count.

Most impressive of the Pontiac contingent was Dick Compton, 17-year-old novice who took a unanimous decision from Willis Coleman of Port Huron in his first bout and then scored a TKO over Paul McShane of Port Huron in his second appearance.

Robertson took a close but unanimous decision in beating Mike Kidd of Port Huron in his first fight. He then outpointed Al Gunter in his second fight.

Only other fight not going the distance was Ragland's TKO over Nobel Rogan of Port Huron. Ragland, an aggressive 135-pounder, stands with Compton as Pontiac's top entries in the finals.

★ ★ ★

Jimmy Singleton, a Pontiac Boys' Club entry, won his first fight by decisioning Abe Davis in the opening bout of the night but he then lost to Port Huron's Eric Price later in the program.

In hard fought decision, Jerry Wilmot, who hails from Clarkston was outpointed by Bill Fisher of Port Huron in the 158-pound class. Wilmot appeared to have the decision, but Fisher rallied in the last 15 seconds and won the decisive points of the third round to win.

Play Wisconsin Tonight After Beating Northwestern

Spartans Eye Title Chance

By The Associated Press

The night of reckoning has arrived in the Big Ten basketball race.

Michigan State, Michigan and Indiana—the top three teams in the conference—will be on the road tonight and if everything breaks according to Michigan State's hopes, the Spartans will be in a snug position to say the least.

Although it is only the halfway mark in what started out to be a rat race, Michigan State (5-1) could virtually lay claim to the championship by winning at Wisconsin (0-4) if Indiana (3-2) and Michigan (3-2) get dumped at Ohio State and Illinois.

Ohio State (3-4) is capable of beating Indiana at home and Illinois (3-3) has the qualifications of ambushing Michigan. Wisconsin, however, would have to be in top form to pull off one of the big upsets of the season.

If Michigan State wins and Indiana and Michigan lose, the Spartans would be coasting with a 6-1 record while every other team would have at least three defeats.

That would leave MSU with seven to go and four of them in East Lansing—where the Spartans have not lost this season.

State gained its undisputed command by dumping Northwestern 81-72 Saturday at home while Michigan, upset 78-74 at Iowa, dropped into a tie with Indiana for 2nd.

Michigan State had only a 35-31 lead at halftime but a sprint of scoring midway in the 2nd half put the East Lansing quintet out of reach.

Bob Anderegg scored 21 and Johnny Green 17 for the winners. Green, although jumping against 6-9 Joe Ruklick, took off 19 rebounds as Michigan State dominated that department 65 to 46. Ruklick topped both teams with 29 before fouling out with over two minutes left.

Michigan supporters were not surprised at the Wolverine setback following the annual examination layoff. Off-form shooting by big guns George Lee and John Tidwell hurt the Wolverines. They combined for only 23 as compared to their usual average of 39 while M. C. Burton was hitting 25.

Down by seven at halftime, "M" drew even at 62-62 midway in the final session but fell behind again to stay. Michigan held high-scoring Dave Gunther to 17 points but Clarence Wordlaw took up the slack with 23.

Pontiac Girl 5th in Junior Division

Detroit Woman Wins Skate Title Again

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Kenny Bartholomew, a middle-aged father of five girls, today had his 13th National Outdoor Speedskating championship safely in tow.

Batholomew, 38, of Minneapolis, grabbed his latest crown yesterday by winning the mile and 5-mile events to wind up far ahead in the final point standings of both Bob Snyder of Detroit and Ron Carlson of Minneapolis.

It was a Detroit woman, however, who really stole the show. Jane Omelenchuk successfully defended her senior women's title and, in doing so, cracked two national speed records.

Mrs. Omelenchuk whipped through the 880 in the record time of 1:24.8, snapping the old mark of 1:25.9 set by a Milwaukee woman in January 1940 when the championships were held in Escanaba, Mich. Mrs. Omelenchuk also whipped through the mile in 3:04.5, cracking the old record of 3:06.1 set by the same Milwaukee woman—Maddy Horn—this time at Oconomowoc, Wis., in 1937.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile, Sandy Danielson of Minneapolis won her fourth straight National Outdoor title by grabbing the junior girls' championship. In previous years, Miss Danielson had won in the juvenile and midget divisions.

Renee Garvin of Minneapolis, Mary Meyers of St. Paul and Kathy Sullivan, Cheboygan, Mich., continued to dominate their classes in the juvenile girls' division. Miss Garvin won this year. Misses Meyers and Sullivan had won in previous years and this time wound up second and third.

Another Front Office Move

Tigers Name Campbell VP

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, continuing to reshuffle their front office, have appointed Jim Campbell a vice president of the club.

Campbell, who joined the Tigers in 1949, has been the team's business manager since May 1957.

His elevation yesterday followed by six days the appointment of Rick Ferrell as acting general manager. Ferrell replaced John McHale, who moved to the Milwaukee Braves as general manager and vice president.

"We are making this move to further consolidate our executive organization," said John E. Fetzer, chairman of the board of the Detroit Baseball Co.

"Campbell will have expanded overall responsibilities from an administrative standpoint," said Fetzer, "and as an officer of the company, he will aid in determing policy. He will be the chief coordinating officer under Executive Vice President Harry M. Sisson."

Campbell has received acclaim from the front office for his part in developing the Tigers' farm organization. He will be 35 Thursday and worked his way up to the vice presidency after starting as business manager of a Tiger farm team in a Class D league.

He was named business manager of Detroit's entire minor league operations in 1952 after holding business posts with the Toledo and Buffalo clubs. He became farm director in October 1956.

Faces Round Table Again Feb. 28

Six Straight for Hillsdale

By The Associated Press

Money-wise Hillsdale's earnings of $285,995 are minute compared to Round Table's record bankroll of $1,363,189. But that doesn't mean the Indiana-bred 4-year-old from C. W. Smith's barn is going to sidestep the issue when their paths cross again—probably in the $100,000 added Santa Anita Handicap Feb. 28.

En route to the enviable record of six straight stakes victories, four of them at Santa Anita, Hillsdale met Travis Kerr's hard-hitting 5-year-old in a 7-furlong race and won by a neck. But Hillsdale had an eight-pound pull in the weights and Round Table was coming fast at the end.

Hillsdale, who developed into a top flight horse late in his 3-year-old campaign, ran his winning streak to six Saturday by taking the $177,150 Santa Anita Maturity. It was a victory worth $91,150 to his owner, former pro football player, and $4 for each $2 invested at the betting windows.

Saline Kegler Leads in State Tournament

DETROIT (AP) — Alfred Gross of Saline retained his lead in both the singles actual and handicap events today after another weekend of competition in the Michigan state men's bowling tournament.

In the doubles, Dale Gleesing and Dick Rodgers of Homer were first in the handicap with 1,389. Ontario Burgnoni and Dominic Grazinani of Detroit were first in the actual with 1,237.

316 State Papers Cited at Meet

Editors and Publishers Paid High Tribute for Boosting Michigan

EAST LANSING (AP)—A high tribute to the state's editors and publishers for their industrial promotion activities marked the close of the 91st annual meeting of the Michigan Press Assn.

Speaking at the traditional "all Michigan dinner," Walker L. Cisler, Detroit utility executive and chairman of the state Economic Development Commission announced award of citations to 316 dailies and weeklies.

They were cited by the commission for donating an estimated one fourth to one half million dollars in advertising space to spread the word about the state's attractions as a place to work and live.

Under the campaign, carried out jointly by the papers and the commission, each publication undertook to print a quarter page advertisement prepared by the commission every other week for a year ending next August.

A capacity throng of newsmen and their wives, about 600, crowded the Big Ten room at Kellogg Center on the Michigan State University campus for the concluding event of the two-day meeting Saturday night.

Medical Prof Will Moderate Slide Seminar

The seminar, which will study the histologic change of tissue with associated birochemical alterations, is the first such seminar to be conducted in Michigan.

Dr. Stowell, who received his medical degree from Stanford University in 1941, also holds a doctor of philosophy in pathology degree from the University of Washington. He is a consultant for the Atomic Energy Commission and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Congressional Doctor Gives Health Routine

Dr. Calver has a passion for keeping congressmen physically fit. His prospective patients include 436 representatives and 98 senators whose ages range from the low 30s to the low 90s, and whose girth varies from slim to global.

"You can't put a member of Congress on a diet," he said. "They just can't follow one. They attend numerous dinners and other social functions and they must eat what their hosts serve. You just can't stick to a diet when you are served steak and potatoes five nights a week."

Among the things Calver advises his patients to avoid are cream, butter, eggs, bacon, ham or other pork products, goose, liver, sweetbreads, shortened pastries, fish roe, and oily fish such as shad or mackerel.

Horse 50 Years Old? That Is Age Claimed

EL CAJON, Calif. (AP) — The day a horse named Fleet died, Dr. Randall Knox said the animal must have been 50 years old.

Dr. Knox had owned the horse for 20 years and said he was told it was born the day the United State's navy's Great White fleet sailed into San Diego bay. That was in 1908. Veterinarians say the average life of a well cared for horse is 20 years.

3rd of Congress Dems Favor Symington in '60

Of the 133 who voted, 33 per cent voted for Senator Symington (D-Mo.); 17 per cent for Senator Kennedy (D-Mass.); 14 per cent for Senate Majority Leader Johnson (D-Tex.); 13 per cent for Senator Humphrey (D-Minn.); 12 per cent for Adlai E. Stevenson.

The poll showed Williams, Gov. Robert B. Meyner, of New Jersey, and Senators Byrd (Va.), Russell (Ga.), Jackson (Wash.), Lausche (O.) and McClellan (Ark.) with "one or two votes each" from their Democratic friends.

Symington's strong showing in the poll of Democratic congressmen is in contrast to his standing in the most recent public opinion surveys. In these, he trails far behind Stevenson and Kennedy as the choice of Democratic voters.

Illinois National Committeeman Jacob M. Arvey says he is behind Symington, and former President Harry S. Truman has given broad hints that he, too, would like to see another Missourian become president.

But Symington, admittedly pleased with the results of the poll as he starts his second six-year term in the Senate, has refused to say whether he is a candidate.

Kennedy led the voting among Eastern Democrats in Congress, with Symington a close second. Stevenson was the fair-haired candidate in the West with Symington and Johnson sharing the runner-up spot.

In the vice presidential balloting, Kennedy was a runaway victor, getting 41 per cent of the ballots cast by his party in Congress. Symington was second with 12 per cent. Gov. Meyner (D-N.J.) was third with 7 per cent of the vote. Williams again received two votes.

3 Die as Plane Smashes Texas Hill

25 Survive Fiery Air Crash

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) — A commercial DC3 carrying 25 National Guardsmen from Idaho and a crew of 3 crashed and burned in the central Texas hill country late Sunday night. Three men were killed.

The 25 survivors, some seriously hurt, managed to escape the flaming wreckage after the ice-laden transport smashed into a hill 17 miles southeast of here in rugged country just before midnight.

Three bodies were taken to a Comfort, Tex., funeral home. Thirteen men were taken to a veterans hospital in Kerrville and 12 to the Peterson Hospital here.

"It was a miracle anyone got out alive. The plane was demolished and was burning fiercely," said Carroll Abbott, assistant publisher of the Kerrville Times, one of the first to reach the scene.

Rescuers found most of the survivors, muddy, soaked and battered, huddled in a freezing rain a short distance from the flaming wreckage.

The plane, chartered from General Airways of Portland, Ore., had left Boise, Idaho, earlier for Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio.

The CAA control tower at International Airport in San Antonio said the plane reported its landing gear was locked. The tower lost radio contact with the plane about 20 minutes before the crash.

Gus Callas, owner of the airline, identified the crew members as W. O. (Woody) Epps, Portland, Ore., chief pilot; Harvey Hitt, Oswego, Ore., second pilot; and Wilbur Whittliff, Eugene Ore., third pilot.

"I'm It" was chosen the grand champion barrow at the Southern Wisconsin Junior Live Stock Exposition. And Robert received a $711 check for the auction sale of his 237-pound hog. That's $3 a pound.

Numerous Ties Are Keeping the U. S. and Cuba Together

By The Associated Press

★ ★ ★

These are examples of an interchange built up between the two countries since the Spanish-American War of 1898 freed the lush island from Spain.

Close ties are dictated by geographic, historic and economic facts of life, whether a Fulgencio Batista or a Fidel Castro is top man among Cuba's six million people.

Among these facts:

The United States buys about half the six-million-ton sugar crop that is Cuba's mainstay. Cuba is only 90 miles across the Florida straits from Key West, Fla.

American motor cars, TV sets, household appliances and machinery are among products flowing the other way.

Private interests in the United States are estimated to have more than a billion dollars invested in Cuba. The biggest of these is the American and Foreign Power Co., with about 221 million dollars in Cuba's major power company.

Cuba and the United States are partners in a military aid pact. The U. S. Navy maintains an important Caribbean base at Guantanamo Bay, near the island's southeastern tip.

Baseball is a year-round sport. Havana's club finished last, a notch behind Buffalo, in the International League in 1958. Such Cuban players as outfielder Minnie Minoso of Cleveland, pitcher Pedro Ramos of Washington, and shortstop Willy Miranda of Baltimore were starring on American diamonds.

American tourists contribute to the Cuban economy. They kept coming throughout the two-year civil war that toppled the Batista dictatorship New Year's Day.

Cuba is the size of Pennsylvania A semitropical climate makes the island a vacation paradise even during revolutions. The dollar and the Cuban peso rate as equals. A driver's license showing American citizenship has been the only thing needed to get into the country.

A gleaming monument on Havana's Malecon Boulevard bears the inscription: "Liberty dearly bought is fondly cherished." White steps lead up to 75-foot marble shafts which support a bronze American eagle with wings spread.

It is Cuba's tribute to the United States for American help in 1898. It remembers the Maine. This U. S. battleship was destroyed by an explosion Feb. 15, 1898, while on a good will visit to Havana harbor.

The blast, which the United States blamed on a Spanish mine, killed 266 seamen and touched off the war which crushed the Spanish fleet, freed Cuba, and gave the United States possession of Guam, the Philippines and Puerto Rico. Spain contended the explosion originated within the ship.

The United States kept rein on Cuba for a decade. Maj. Gens. John R. Brooke and Leonard Wood served in succession as U. S. military governors.

Then Thomas Estrada Palma, highly regarded as a Cuban patriot, took over May 20, 1902, as the first president of the infant republic. After a four-year struggle, he resigned.

The United States resumed active control. William Howard Taft served briefly as provisional governor. Then the job went to Charles Edward Magoon.

After a three-year term in which the scourge of yellow fever was virtually eliminated, Magoon gave way in 1909 to a Cuban chief executive, Gen. Jose Miguel Gomez.

Cuban democracy rarely has run smoothly. The record is dotted with armed coups. Graft and corruption thrived. Sticky-fingered politicians picked up fortunes on customs deals, government contracts, sugar quota allocations. Foes say Batista salted away up to 400 million dollars.

The ebb and flow of Cuban politics is reflected in the arrival and departure of Cuban dignitaries in the United States. It has been a haven for many when they were out of favor with the ruling administration. One long in exile in the United States was the present provisional president, Dr. Manuel Urrutia.

A source of friction in the days ahead may be the provisional government's review of concessions granted foreign companies by previous administrations. Castro has announced that "burdensome" concessions will be revised or thrown out.

★ ★ ★

The revolutionary regime has minimized the re-emergence of the Cuban Communist party. Outlawed by Batista, it claimed to support Castro in the revolution. The party is estimated to have a hard core of 8,000 to 10,000 members.

Infiltration of the Cuban Confederation of Labor, which was a tool of Batista, is an obvious hope of the Communist leaders.

Inquiry on Space Moves to House

Demand for a Bigger Effort Than Ike Plans Comes From Dems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inquiry into the U.S. space program swung from the Senate to the House today with some Democratic congressmen demanding a bigger effort than President Eisenhower's budget proposes.

Rep. Overton Brooks (D-La), chairman of the House Space Committee, called T. Keith Glennan, civilian space chief, for lead-off testimony in hearings to run at least a week.

Brooks brought up questions like those asked of many of the same witnesses last week by the Senate Preparedness subcommittee headed by Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex).

"Is the Soviet Union really ahead in science? In astronautics? In space exploration? In missiles?" Brooks asked in preparation for the hearings.

Brooks said he would seek to have a "10 per cent fund" set aside out of military development funds. It would be earmarked for pure scientific research, he said.

Brooks quoted the Army's top missileman, Wernher von Braun, as contending that "we are virtually scraping the barrel of scientific knowledge."

Secretary of Defense Neil H. McElroy was called before the House Armed Services Committee at the same time to tell about America's military position.

Defenders of Eisenhower's strategy and 41-billion-dollar defense budget have pictured the United States as behind the Soviets in numbers of intercontinental missiles, but as fast developing advanced missiles and meanwhile holding an over-all edge in strike-back power based on long range bombers and other weapons.

Grain Futures Prices Weak

CHICAGO (AP) — General selling hit the grain futures market again today in early dealings on the board of trade and prices were weak in almost all contracts.

★ ★ ★

The distant soybean contracts slipped more than a cent a bushel within a few minutes on liquidation which stemmed from Friday's announcement by the Department of Agriculture that it had reduced parity on that commodity eight cents a bushel.

★ ★ ★

Reports of heavy and fairly general snow over much of the winter wheat belt also caused some selling of that grain.

★ ★ ★

Wheat was ⅝ to ⅞ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, March $1.97; corn ⅛ to ⅓ lower, March old type contract $1.13⅛; oats unchanged to ⅓ lower, March 65⅝; rye ¼ to ¾ lower, March $1.35, soybeans ⅝ to 2⅓ cents lower, March $2.17⅞.

Stocks Advance in Active Trade

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, coppers and assorted low-priced issues made progress as the stock market resumed its advance in active early trading today.

Gains of most key stocks went from fractions to about a point. There were scattered losers.

The 1-cent-a-pound increase in the price of copper announced by Phelps Dodge drew trading interest to the coppers. Phelps Dodge itself was steady. Magma jumped about 2 and Anaconda a point. International Nickel rose fractionally.

Steels advanced moderately on further reports of stepped-up demand and production. Fractional gains were made by U.S. Steel and Republic Steel while Bethlehem was up around a point.

Mohasco, Welbilt and Fruhauf Trailer picked up fractions in brisk dealings. High-priced international business machines added more than 4.

Oils and rails showed an easier tendency. Motors were little changed. American Motors dropped another fraction. Ford eased.

Aluminium Ltd. advanced more than a point. Gains of about a point were made by Allied Chemical, Eastman Kodak and General Dynamics.

Speeds Interval From Drawing Boards to Production

New System Saves Time and Money

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Some defense plants report today they are cracking the preproduction cost barrier.

They say their new system also is shaving in half the time it takes to get new developments from the drawing boards into actual weapons production.

These cost and time problems trouble many civilian goods plants as much as they do the military forces. And such paper costs have been rising steadily, both in civil and defense production shops.

A new electro-mechanized system has been tested for a month in Westinghouse Electric's Air Arm Division in Baltimore, after two years of development. It is being used on such equipment as Bomarc area defense missiles.

At the rate paper costs have been rising, Westinghouse claims that by 1962 it will have saved its military customers a half million dollars through its new Mechanized Manufacturing Information system.

It also says the system minimizes preproduction and production overtime, helping to hold down both labor and materiel costs.

The system ties together semi-automatic and automatic business machines to cut the four to 10 weeks (depending on complexity) now needed to get new ideas into actual production to two to five weeks.

Manufacturing information furnished by design engineers goes to eight to 10 other departments. It covers instructions on how to make a product, when and where to get materials, what tools are needed, and how much such production work should cost.

The system now generally used in industry is for each department to add manually all of its own basic information and how and what to do, and when it can be done, and to pass this along to the next section.

Under MMI the basic information is put on perforated paper tape as soon as engineering drawings and specifications are issued. From then on data needed by each department are issued simultaneously in either tape or punched cards.

Electronic computers calculate automatically the quantities of raw materials needed. Tabulating machines process the information simultaneously. Electric repeater units automatically send the accumulated data, along with operating instructions, to all departments involved.

All of this can, and has, been done on the huge mechanical brains.

★ ★ ★

Sponsors of MMI merely claim that their hook-up of less expensive machines can solve many cost problems, save valuable time —and in this instance, some dollars for taxpayers.

Blacktop Issue to Be Resumed

Waterford Board Sets 6th Hearing for Tonight on Lansdowne Project

The Lansdowne street blacktopping hearing will be resumed at tonight's Waterford Township Board meeting after adjournment last week, according to Clerk James Seeterlin.

This will be the sixth hearing to be held on the controversial one-mile strip blacktopping project, which was started by more than 100 property owners five years ago.

Also on the agenda will be the presentation of the fourth plat of the A. S. George Building Co. for the Holiday Farms Subdivision on M59 near Crescent Lake road.

A request to rezone 16 lots on Dixie highway, near Scott Lake road, from residential to commercial, also will be considered by board members.

Already appointed to the board were Supervisor Elmer Johnson, Building Inspector Carl Walton, Al Moers and Sidney Baer.

Board members will discuss the sale of four police cars by presentation of sealed bids. The cars to be sold include a '57 Chevrolet, a '56 Ford, a '55 Pontiac, and a '53 Pontiac.

Processers of Food Outnumber Farmers

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Farmers will be outnumbered within three or four years by the workers who process and distribute our food, according to a study by a large life insurance co.

It showed that there are about six million full-time farmers in the U.S., a decrease of two million in the past decade. There are about 5,250,000 full-time food workers, an increase of half a million in the same period.

Educators Offer Modern College Using Seminars

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — A four-man committee of educators has proposed a new kind of liberal arts college consisting of small group seminars rather than regular classes in which the students would be trained to educate themselves.

The committee recommended that the 1,000-student, co-educational college be operated by four existing institutions in western Massachusetts — Amherst, Smith, Mount Holyoke and the University of Massachusetts.

The committee said the new college should rely on the resources and reputations of the four sponsoring colleges and should have no fraternities, no sororities, no intercollegiate athletics and only 50 teachers.

The committee was made up of University of Massachuetts provost Shannon McCune, Assistant to the Smith College President Donald Sheehan, Prof. C. L. Barber of Amherst College and Prof. Stuart Stoke of Mount Holyoke College.

County GOP Decides It Has Work to Do

Taking their cue from national party leaders, Oakland County Republican workers held an election post-mortem of their own Saturday and decided something must be done.

Realizing that not much can be accomplished without money, a campaign to raise $46,000 in funds was announced so that the party might match the opposition party's year-round politicking. County leaders hope to get 3,000 dollar-a-month contributors as well as 2,000 $5-per-year subscribers.

George Labadie, former financial advisor to Wayne County Republicans and now executive-secretary of finance for the Oakland GOP, outlined the new program, which he said would require 500 volunteers to head the drive planned for this spring.

Claiming that the Democrats have been sustained by union contributions, Labadie called upon a revitalized effort "to provide a continuous source of income for year-round activity."

Labadie, about to move his residence here from Dearborn, spoke to about 100 Republicans meeting in an "Action conference" Saturday morning at the Bloomfield Hills High School. Lawrence B. Lindemer, state party chairman, was guest.

The group leaders returned from six separate panel discussions with summaries containing more criticism than praise for past election organization.

Typical was a synopsis of a discussion on motivation, which was headed by Jim Burlingame, a party worker from Waterford Township.

"It was agreed," he said, "that we are a bunch of salesmen willing to sell but not knowing what the product is. What we need is a down-to-earth, easy-to-understand epistle of what we stand for."

A similar self-evaluation came out of a meeting of the Republican National Committee which met in Des Moines last month. "Where does the party stand? What are its principles?" inquired Senate campaign chairman Barry Goldwater.

Lindemer, should he survive a ripple of opposition for re-election as state leader at the State Convention Feb. 13-14, promised he would pass along Oakland's suggestions "from this pretty thorough soul searching."

He praised Saturday's meeting "as a clear indication we are coming back." Republicans, not only in Michigan but in the nation, were jostled into action last November with one of the worst clobberings ever handed them by the Democrats.

Oakland workers readily admitted that "to win in Michigan the GOP must do what the opposition party has done so effectively."

Other criticisms that came out of Burlingame's panel were that:

1. More care should be given in the selection of precinct delegates.

2. Representatives of labor should be on the Republican Committee of Oakland County.

3. County headquarters should follow up those who volunteer to help.

4. Propaganda of Democrats should not go unanswered, which is applicable to the State Central Committee as well as on county level, Burlingame summarized.

Mrs. Dan O'Madigan of Bloomfield Hills, who was chairman of the group which looked into party activities, expressed the belief of the entire group that campaigning should not be a "last minute rush" right before elections.

President Eisenhower fostered this idea when he warned GOP leaders in the country not to let the party become "the hibernating elephant" that awakes only at election time.

"Our weakest link in our structure is organization from the grass roots level up," declared Bob Schwab of Troy, leader of a discussion on organization structure.

Criticism was leveled when workers were reminded that but 42 delegates out of 187 showed up for last month's county convention. Some county workers placed the blame on bad driving conditions.

He predicted that all would benefit from the suggestions, and that "this good teamwork is bound to increase the party's effectiveness during the coming campaigns."

"Perhaps this beating served as a very good lesson for all of us," said Gordon T. Getsinger of Bloomfield Township, cochairman of the event.

Artificial Kidney Used on Child

Youngest to Be Treated by Device That Takes Over for Human Organ

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Doctors at the University of Michigan Medical Center today reported the use of an artificial kidney in treating a 9-year-old boy.

Patrick DeWitt of Monroe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard DeWitt, is believed to be the youngest patient in the Center's history to use the mechanical kidney. The machine takes over for human kidneys during an operation or when doctors are treating kidney disorders.

★ ★ ★

The boy was admitted to the Center last Friday suffering from an acute kidney infection. His condition was listed as critical.

Saturday, doctors used the artificial kidney for six hours in an effort to save the boy.

Doctors said Patrick's condition still is critical but improved. He may face another treatment with the machine.

Poetry Works Where Prose Failed Before

ATLANTA (AP)—A suburban drive-in has noticed quite a decline in horn-blowers since its carhops began handing out cards with this verse:

When you want to call your waiter
And you're sitting all forlorn—
You will get him to you quicker
With your lights than with your horn.

For there ain't a man among us
Who has eyesight that has growed
To the point where he can look around
And see whose horn has blowed.

Science to Meet Food Problem for Our Billions

CHICAGO (UPI)—Agricultural experts see no problem in feeding the nation's population of one billion persons that is expected two average lifetimes from now despite the sharp decrease in per capita farm acreage.

With present birth-and-death curves indicating 500 million Americans in 2050 and a full billion in 2100, the magazine National Livestock Producer says that man will still eat well, although he'll have less than two acres per person on which to produce his daily bread.

Every American Indian once had an average 2,400 acres of land to supply his food and fibre. Today, 175 million people have only 11 acres apiece.

With three million new citizens every year, the allowance will be reduced to six acres per person in just 42 years, and less than one-third of that by the end of the 21st century.

Researchers say these methods will be used to meet the situation:

Better plant breeding, greater soil fertility and plant protection. Greater use of plant and animal food products. New foods from currently wasted plants. Development of new food-producing sources, including oceans, lakes and farm ponds. Solution of the spoilage problem. Synthesis of proteins and fats through a more abundant sugar production.

Calls for Record Tax Hikes

Rockefeller's Budget High

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller sent the Legislature a record $2,041,000,000 budget today that calls for the greatest round of tax increases in New York's history.

More than 400,000 people in the low-wage brackets would have to pay state income taxes for the first time to support the mammoth spending plan.

Altogether, the Republican governor advocated new or increased taxes totaling 277 million dollars —on incomes, cigarettes, motor fuel, race-track betting, estates, cigars and pipe tobacco.

He proposed to put the state income tax on a payroll withholding basis, beginning April 1, and to raise the tax by 150 million dollars—a boost of about 25 per cent for most taxpayers.

So that taxpayers would not have to pay two years' taxes at the same time, he recommended canceling the 1958 income tax, which normally would fall due April 15.

Rockefeller called this a 500-million-dollar "saving" for the people.

The 1958 forgiveness will apply to everyone, even those who have since retired or moved out of state and therefore will not be subject to withholding from 1959 income.

★ ★ ★

The outlook was that the GOP-controlled Legislature would accept his plan despite Democratic taunts that it was a "soak-the-poor" program.

Rockefeller said the state had fallen into "a critical fiscal situation." He said the problem was that state spending—much of it mandated by law — had soared dizzily while income lagged. The state has been dipping into reserve funds and floating bonds to meet the constitutional requirement for a balanced budget.

These were Rockefeller's major tax proposals:

INCOME TAXES—Cutting personal exemptions to $600 each, adding three brackets at the top of the income scale and shifting from the direct quarterly payment system to a payroll withholding basis. Gain: 150 million.

Current exemptions are $1,000 for a single taxpayer, $2,500 for a married couple and $400 for each dependent.

TOBACCO TAXES—Raising the cigarette tax from 3 to 5 cents a package and imposing a new 15 per cent tax on the wholesale price of cigars and other tobacco products, to be paid by distributors. Gain: 47 million.

MOTOR FUEL TAXES — Increasing the gasoline tax from 4 to 6 cents a gallon and the diesel fuel tax from 6 to 9. This already has been enacted. Gain: 65½ million.

ESTATE TAKES — Abolishing the 5 per cent discount for payment within six months and raising rates slightly. Gain: 10 million.

PARI-MUTUEL BETTING TAXES—Adding five days to the 1959 flat track racing season and permitting nine races a day, instead of eight. Gain: 4½ million.

Rockefeller said he tried to spread out the tax burden so that "no single tax or group of taxpayers" would have to bear the brunt of the increase.

Go Into Pony Business

CAMBRIDGE, Ill. (AP) — Henry County 4-H Club members now have the opportunity to include a yearling pony filly or stock or riding horse yearling filly with their projects.

"The project is primarily for members desiring to breed and raise ponies for pleasure and profit," said Jerry Payne, assistant farm adviser.

Home Brewed Beer Proves All-Powerful

MILWAUKEE (AP)—The beer that Luther Coleman made was unlike any produced by Milwaukee's six breweries.

Coleman, arrested on a charge of selling malt liquor without a license, said he compounded yeast, malt, water, sugar, cornmeal, white potatoes and peaches in preparing his powerful brew.

And a local policeman will attest to just how powerful it was. A bottle taken to the city chemist's office for analysis exploded. He received cuts on his finger and right ear.

There are more than 60,000 civilian planes in the U.S. Six out of 10 of them are privately owned, personal aircraft.

Is Bridle Path Really Only Road to Success?

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "I think I'd better get a horse," Gisele MacKenzie says.

Gisele was pointing out that TV westerns seem to have driven singers and comedians both off the air. "And besides the TV westerns, we have old western movies after the TV westerns go off," she lamented.

WILSON

"Isn't there ever too much of a good thing?" Gisele, who added that when she had her own TV show, "We had two westerns against us."

"Perry and Dinah are the only singers who seem to have survived, and as for comedians, there's only Mr. Benny." She still occasionally calls Jack "Mr. Benny" despite the fact that she's worked with him all over the country and is now off to Miami to appear with him at the Fontainebleau.

"What I'd like to do now on Hollywood Playhouse 90," she said, "is an expectant mother role. But I guess they'll say I'm not the type!"

Although Wally Cox believes the kidnap threats may be phony, he's staying close to home . . . The New Jersey Brigitte Barot (Brigitte Rohland, of Rahway and Elizabeth) says young ex-King Simeon of Bulgaria (now at Valley Forge Military School in Pennsylvania) doesn't call her any more because his family objects. She'd be a good decoration for the Steve Allen or Walt Framer TV properties.

Rod Steiger and Claire Bloom slipped away from the mob to be alone after his great acting job (she was excellent, too) in "Rashomon"—in which he attacks her in a forest. One fan who came to his dressing room to praise his performance was Eartha Kitt (with socialite Butler Miles).

Reading the headlines about Gov. Rockefeller's new tax plans, Congressman Jim Healey said, "He's got plenty of loot. Why doesn't he pick up the tab for the whole thing?" . . . When a reporter for The Morning Telegraph, the racing paper, tried to get into the Birdland murder, somebody said, "What do you care? That wasn't a horse that was killed."

'Symbol of Authority' Places Popular Comic in Bogus Medic Role

"Symbol of Authority," a lighthearted comedy starring Ernie Kovacs as a proofreader who gains temporary distinction in the world of medicine, will be seen on Desilu Playhouse, Monday, 10:00-11:00 p.m., Channel 2. Co-starring with Kovacs is Jean Hagen, Danny Thomas' erstwhile television wife, who portrays Kovacs' assistant proofreader, Mildred.

★ ★ ★

The Ernest Kinoy teleplay was suggested by a short story by Henry Slesar. In the comedy, Kovacs develops a tummy-ache—colitis, he learns—and spends a few days in the hospital.

There he becomes enchanted with medicine and doctors—to the extent that he visualizes himself as a great doctor. He buys a stethoscope in a pawnshop for three dollars, and soon finds himself the most loved "doctor" in the hospital.

Also appearing in the comedy are Don Harron as Kovacs' publisher-employer, Robert Harris; Michael Landon, Burt Douglas and Ollie O'Toole.

National Anthem Stirs a Standing Feud at MSU

The Michigan State News, campus newspaper, asked editorially today for the second time in 10 days why the national anthem is not played at the start of basketball games in Jenison Fieldhouse as it is before football games in Spartan Stadium.

The MSU athletic and safety departments for years have taken the position that spectator response would enhance hazards of a bleacher collapse.

But the campus daily observed that fans rose in unison three or four times when the MSU fight song was played at Saturday night's game with Northwestern.

A week ago Friday this consideration led student editors to question whether loyalty to school was more important than loyalty to country.

Last Wednesday the Student Congress adopted a resolution urging that the anthem be played if the fight song were allowed.

22 Past Ford Workers Put on Pension Rolls

IRON MOUNTAIN (AP) — Twenty-two workers at a Ford Motor Co. plant here which closed in 1951 went on the company's pension rolls today.

Under a new three-year Ford-United Auto Worker contract, the workers, if they qualify by being 65 years old, will get full pension benefits for the time they worked at the plant. They are entitled to $2.40 a month for each year of past service.

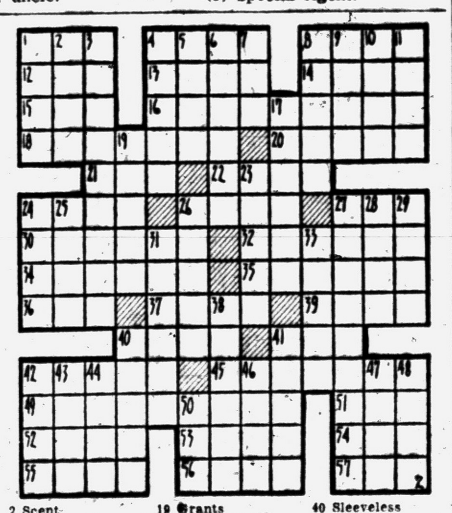

The union said the Iron Mountain workers were worked into pension eligibility for the first time in the new 1958 contracts.

Times Square Signs Called Fire Hazards

Cavanagh appointed a committee to draft a fire law amendment requiring fire access openings in the signs.

The commissioner acted after fire broke out Saturday night in a Times Square restaurant and spread to other structures, burning for three hours and threatening the theatrical area.

Cavanagh said the signs which covered the four-story brick structure had made the fire almost impossible to control.

'No Man Can Tame Me' a Useful Experiment

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UPI) — CBS-TV's G.E. Theater unpackaged an original musical, "No Man Can Tame Me," last night in place of its usual fishbait.

It was a useful if unadventurous departure, sparked mainly by the semi-stylized cooating applied by director Gower Champion to its hokey material.

Mother (looking at daughter and young man): "It reminds me of when we were courting."

This is plainly sausage-out-of-a-machine writing. The Jay Livingston-Ray Evans tunes were serviceable as were the performances of Gisele MacKenzie, John Raitt and Eddie Foy, Jr.

G. E. Theater overlapped the first half of the NBC-TV Chevy Show which offered Shirley MacLaine and a squad of performers from Japan. Mark this down then as a review of the final 30-minutes.

The half-hour was moderately entertaining, marred by an overlay of cuteness. Cuteness — by which I mean a kind of kiddy-biddy-precious-lollipop-and-gumdrop-yum-yumminess—is very big nowadays. TV generates it in huge and syrupy doses as a substitute for genuine feeling.

Watching a Japanese singer pitching out "Lullaby of Birdland" or a koto-player plinking out "Cherry Pink and Tpple Blossom White" packs a cuddly attraction, but it is the sort of attraction that wears thin very quickly. Too, bringing a singer all the way from Japan to mouth "There's Nothing Like A Dame" also strikes me as fairly melancholy.

SHORT SHOTS: "The Peter Tchaikovsky Story" on ABC-TV's Walt Disney Presents Friday night was a hack job, thin and surfacey. The touted "Magic Mural Screen" that Disney was to unveil on the show turned out to be an ordinary picture with the bottom and top of the screen blacked out. The lengthy plug for Disney's upcoming movie, "Sleeping Beauty," also impressed me as fairly outrageous.

NBC-TV's Steve Allen turned out a pretty funny show last night — I liked particularly the pop tunes Allen centered around such best-sellers as "Dr. Zhivago" and "Memoirs of Field Marshal Montgomery."

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Frankie Laine will emcee the CBS-TV Garry Moore show on March 3 while Moore takes a breather in Hawaii . . . There's talk about expanding the 30-minute ABC-TV Pat Boone show to one hour next fall . . . Bing Crosby will have his sons, Dennis and Philip, on board his ABC-TV one hour special March 2.

Lucille Ball is scheduled to tape a morning show today with CBS-TV's Arthur Godfrey for later use . . . Beverly Bentley, who'll star in ABC-TV's Naked City episode, "Ticker Tape," on Feb. 24, has been signed by Mike Todd Jr. for the feminine lead in his forthcoming "Smellovision" movie — Miss Bentley will sail in March to Spain where the picture will be filmed.

Educational TV to Solve Gifted Children Problem

WASHINGTON (NEA) — Educational television may provide teachers with the answer to how they can spark the interest of gifted children in courses designed for average IQs.

The idea of using TV to boost a quiz-kid's brainpower comes at a time when finding the right way to teach this type of youngster is considered one of American education's most important problems.

Main reason for this alarming situation, experts explain, is that most teachers just don't have time to give these youngsters the extra attention which they need.

Many proponents of educational TV, however, believe the problem could be solved if all students received most of their routine instruction from the special school television programs.

Under this system, the classroom teacher would still be on hand to answer questions, assign homework and grade examinations.

But her most important job would be to give individual help to each of the youngsters in her class. This would include devising special advanced homework projects for the bright kids to keep them interested in their school work.

ETV experts explain that television would in no way reduce the quality of instruction. In fact, they say that recent school television experiments show that in some ways it actually improves teaching.

In addition to enabling students to get a first hand look at world events without leaving their desks, TV is also a boon when it comes to presenting routine classroom demonstrations.

For example, they point out that an enlarged close-up shot of a teacher's hands operating a small piece of lab equipment enables pupils seated in the back of a classroom to see the demonstration as clearly as those seated in front.

This revolutionary type of teaching technique is what some ETV enthusiasts believe the future holds for all the nation's schools. Its pros and cons are currently being studied in several of the school video experiments that are being conducted throughout the country.

These projects involve two types of television systems, broadcast and closed circuit. Broadcast television uses airways to send both pictures and sound to the TV receiver sets. Closed circuit TV is transmitted by wires.

At the present time, schools in 34 cities are receiving the broadcast type on a limited basis from stations set up especially to handle educational programs. Twelve additional stations are under construction.

★ ★ ★

Many ETV promoters believe that most schools will eventually make use of both systems. They explain that special closed circuit studios will be built in each school.

Tormenting Rectal Itch Stopped In Minutes

Science Finds New Healing Substance That Promptly Stops Itching and Pain of Piles

No matter what you've used without results — here's good news. For the first time, science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to promptly stop the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids — without surgery. Medical science has proved this substance produces a remarkably effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. This improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of months! Among these sufferers were a wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' duration.

The secret is this new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*) — discovery of a world-famous research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as *Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H ointment with special applicator. Absolute satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Astronomer Says Universe Gradually Blacking Out

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An astronomer said this week that the universe is blacking out.

Countless billions of years hence no star will shine in the skies. The sun will be a shrunken dead mass weighing 15 tons a cubic inch.

The earth long since will have become a frozen cinder.

"All stars eventually fade to extinction," he said, "and so the sun will fade."

Stars are bound to die, Greenstein said, because the hydrogen fuel from their thermonuclear fires is bound to run out.

In such stars the inward pull of gravity no longer is balanced by the outward push of pressures generated by heat within. As they die, stars shrink to earth size or even smaller. This packs their huge masses to fantastic densities of many tons per cubic inch.

Greenstein said the sun probably will continue to support life on earth for another billion years so so. Then, as it begins to shrink, the sun's temperature will soar for a while.

The earth will burn to a crisp. Some seven billion years later, as its death throes drag on, the sun will become a "White Dwarf" and the temperature on earth will be 300 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

According to Martin Schwartzchild of the Princeton Observatory, it takes three billion years for a White Dwarf to cool to yellow and another five billion years to fade to red.

But billions of years before the last star sends forth the last feeble ray of heat, the shriveled embers of dying suns would be invisible from earth—if there were any living things left to look—except for an occasional faint red one passing near.

"Black night will reign supreme," Greenstein said. But even then, somewhere in the reaches of space some kind of life might persist.

"Close to one of the faint red stars," the astronomer said, "life might exist on other planets — in forms and for ages unimaginable to us."

Leadership to Be Issue in '60, Says Williams

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Michigan's Gov. Williams said yesterday the main presidential campaign issue next year will be what he termed the vacuum of leadership in the White House.

★ ★ ★

Democratic victory is likely but not a cinch, he added.

Launches Sweeping Reform in Cuba

Castro Starts Farm Plan

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro, his political revolution won, today launches an agrarian reform program that could prove a social revolution for Cuba's farmers.

Castro flew to his home province of Oriente to implement the program promised the tenant farmers and squatters who helped him overthrow Fulgencio Batista's dictatorship.

Meanwhile, the war crimes trials of Batista supporters were expected to resume. Capt. Pedro Morejon, first to die in Havana's showcase trials, fell before a firing squad late Saturday, revolutionary sources said. To speed up the trials the government planned to set up six new tribunals in Havana, 10 in Santiago, and others elsewhere.

★ ★ ★

During his stay in Oriente, birthplace of the revolution, Castro planned to set in motion a vast program aimed at distributing millions of acres of undeveloped privately owned land to landless peasants. The government says fewer than 100 sugar producers and cattle barons control 50 per cent of the land in the eastern province, most of it undeveloped.

Some government lands also are supposed to be distributed, and the Public Works Ministry has ordered the removal of all business houses established illegally on state property.

The revolutionary leader also is expected to launch a large-scale program for the building of homes schools and medical centers in the rugged Sierra Maestra Mountains. Balanced Funds Asked in Jersey

Gov. Meyner Wants Surplus but Without Tax Increase

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner today proposed a $403,325,022 state budget, surprisingly balanced without higher taxes and containing a tidy surplus.

While the budget would set a record for New Jersey, it is 10 million dollars below most predictions. Some new taxes had been considered a certainty.

Meyner refused to say whether he hopes the feat will move him closer to the White House in 1961, but he noted the fiscal troubles of Republican Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and others. Meyner is a Democrat serving his second term.

Meyner said his program was not an austerity budget but "it can at least be described as an example of prudent housekeeping—an example of how a state can live within its income."

On the other side of the ledger, Meyner said recent studies how taxes will produce about 11 million dollars more than the 370 million expected this year and he doesn't see any reason why the trend should not produce 393 million next year.

Wanted—His Wife

SENTINEL, Okla. (AP)—Don Westad was given a question to answer and discuss during Sunday school. When it came time, he said he had forgotton what his wife told him to say.

More than 300 bodies were bequeathed to medical schools in England and Wales last year for anatomical studies.
