Lapeer County Collision Leaves 3 Dead, 3 Hurt

Three persons were killed and three others seriously injured, one critically, in a Lapeer County auto crash last night.

Dead are Cyrene Arnold, his wife Marion, both 64, of 2082 Pero, Lapeer County, and Linda K. Grimes, 19, of 2756 Kenmore, Berkley.

The crash occurred at 10:30 p.m. at Davis Lake Road and M24 in Metamora Township.

Lapeer County Sheriff's officers said a car driven by Michael F. Livingston, 18, of 3339 Bacon, Berkley, apparently ran a stop sign at the M24 intersection, hitting the northbound Arnold vehicle.

Miss Grimes was a passenger in the Livingston car. Livingston is reported in serious condition with a fractured knee and lacerations.

OTHER INJURED

Another passenger, Martin Comshafeter, 20, of 161 E. Baker, Clawson, is in critical condition with a fractured hip and a possible head injury. The third injured person, Sara Jean Arnold, 20, riding with her parents, suffered scalp lacerations.

All of the injured are at Pontiac General Hospital.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are at Muir Brothers Funeral Home, Lapeer.

LBJ Pushes Aid Plans in 'Poverty War'

Will Send Congress
Special Message to Relieve 10-State Area

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson pushed plans for aid to poverty-stricken Appalachia today, heartened by the enthusiasm of the crowds he met on a whirlwind five-state tour strongly reminiscent of a political campaign.

The Chief Executive capped his 17-hour personal look at hard times in Northern industrial cities and backwoods hamlets by announcing last night that he would send to Congress "in a matter of days" a special message urging measures to relieve economic distress in the 10-state area.

Johnson was expected to seek approval of a $500 million program to renew the human and physical resources of the area, which stretches from Pennsylvania to Alabama along the Appalachian Mountain range.

After the meeting with the governors of seven of the states, he told a crowd of about 2,500 at the Huntington, W. Va., airport last night, "This trip has been inspiring... everywhere we have gone, the thought has inspired us—what a wonderful spirit there is among the people."

The President's scratched and bruised hands—rubbed raw by a marathon handshaking foray—gave silent testimony to the political side of his dawn-to-dusk tour in South Bend, Ind., Pittsburgh, Pa., Inez and Paintsville, Ky., and Huntington.

BOOST TO LBJ

The crowd acted on him "like a shot of adrenalin," according to the weary Mrs. Johnson, who added that after such a reception "Lyndon feels like going back and working harder to live up to the faith that he has found people have in him."

The Chief Executive grove his Secret Service bodyguard almost to despair, darting into crowds, climbing over wooden barricades and reaching through wire fences to make contact with thousands of Americans who turned out to see him.

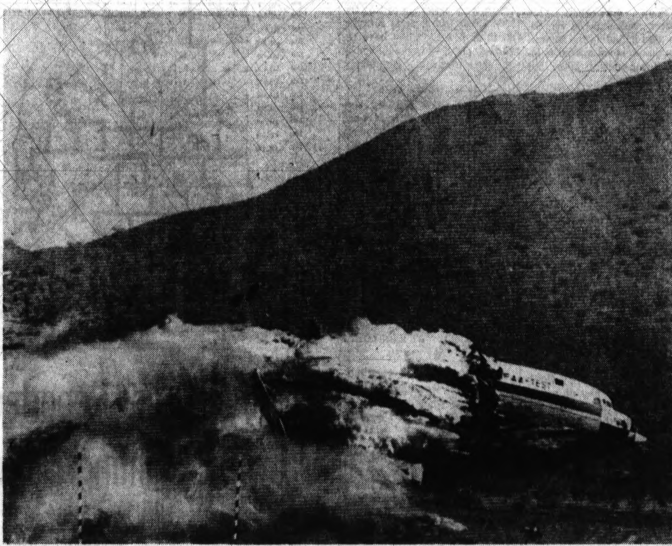

"Dear Clyde: Please carefully reconsider your party position over the weekend and let me know if you feel differently. I will hold the Ed Ellis etc. telegrams until Monday. You should end your career in honor, not dishonor. Signed George."

Geerlings answered Romney by letter, telling him to go ahead and release the telegrams, which were signed by seven Republican party officials in Geerlings' senatorial district, the 23rd.

Romney then released the two wires from Muskegon, saying he feels "personally sorry for Sen. Geerlings."

IRRATIONAL ACTION

One, signed by GOP state central committee man James Schoener, called the Geerlings floor speech an "irrational outburst," and said the party "will accept his resignation."

Vote on 1st Amendment Nears

Hope to End Rights Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders said today they expect a vote by Wednesday on their amendment to the civil rights bill—an amendment they hope will drive the opening wedge into the Senate stalemate.

Southerners could upset the timetable. However, the Mansfield-Dirksen proposal on jury trials in discrimination cases is a gesture toward easing their opposition which has forced the debate into its 40th day.

Originally, President Johnson and other supporters of the broad antidiscrimination measure had called for its passage in the same form as drafted in the House.

But after consultation with administration strategists the Senate leaders introduced their amendment as a substitute for a Southern proposal offered by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

JURY TRIAL

It would permit a jury trial on any contempt action arising under the rights bill if the penalty involved more than 30 days in prison or a fine or more than $300.

If an individual or official fails to comply with a court order in a racial case, he could be found to be in contempt of the court. Most such contempt cases in the past have been decided by federal judges without a jury.

Normally the Senate does not meet Saturday, but leaders called for a fourth consecutive Saturday session.

Quake Topples Mountain; Flood Threat to Soviet City

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet officials hurriedly evacuated villagers near a bulging, earthquake-formed lake which threatened to flood an Uzbekistan Valley and overflow into the legendary golden city of Samarkand.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the quake cut nearby Darnovz Mountain in two, dropping a mass of rock as high as an 80-story building into the Zeravshan River near the village of Ainl.

The rocky bulk formed a natural dam, Tass said, and the lake formed rapidly. It said the water had risen by as much as 30 feet in the past 24 hours, threatening "nearby official centers."

Officials were evacuating residents from the threatened zone, it said.

But Uzbek and Tadzhik government authorities—fearing the flood waters might plummet into the beautiful oriental city of Samarkand—urgently convened a committee of experts.

Samarkand has a population of about 200,000 persons. It lies in the far south-central Soviet republic of Uzbekistan, just above the Afghanistan border.

Republicans Push Through Own Formula

Democrats Triumph
in Vote on Straight
Party Ticket Issue

LANSING (AP)—Rejecting the plan offered by Gov. George W. Romney and defying a bipartisan Senate coalition, House Republicans yesterday passed their own plan for congressional redistricting.

But it was virtually their only achievement during a day in which partisan and interparty

differences over redistricting and elections issues flared openly in the House.

Democrats gained at least a temporary triumph against the proposed "Massachusetts ballot."

As Romney's plan failed, "Plan C," a compromise drafted late Thursday by a special House GOP committee, was adopted on a 57-48 vote—that—except for one rebel on each side—followed party lines.

But the Republican plan to abolish the straight party ticket and replace it with the "Massachusetts ballot" lost on a 55-50 vote, one vote shy of the needed majority in the 110-vote chamber.

GOP leaders, who viewed the ballot proposal as a key element to help them bargain with the Democrats on redistricting, admittedly were stunned by the result.

CHARGE DEMOCRATS

Republicans were charged by Democrats with seeking to "gerrymander" Congressional districts with their plan and were accused of trying to disenfranchise voters with the bill to abolish the straight party ticket.

Democrats also challenged the GOP to demonstrate support for Romney by backing the government's Congressional plan instead of its own.

Romney, however, said the Congressional plan approved in the House "is fairer and more equitable, and is closer to the principle of equal population than the proposal passed... by the Senate coalition."

The vote which sent the plan to the Senate demonstrated what House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, earlier had referred to as intention of House Republicans "to get and keep control of the situation."

It came after Romney's plan was rejected on a 15-45 vote. Five Republicans and 10 Democrats voted for it, 15 Republicans and 30 Democrats voted against it and 37 Republicans and 9 Democrats abstained. Republicans had been split because it cut county lines in several places—a problem which Plan C was designed to solve.

Says Romney Letter Contained Threat

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, yesterday accused Gov. Romney of writing a threatening letter to try to make the senator recant from an anti-Romney speech.

Geerlings angrily told the Senate Wednesday night that he was getting out of the Senate and the Republican party because he was disgusted with the Romney administration.

Geerlings released reproductions of the handwritten letter, confirmed by Romney's office as genuine, which said:

"Dear Clyde: Please carefully reconsider your party position over the weekend and let me know if you feel differently. I will hold the Ed Ellis etc. telegrams until Monday. You should end your career in honor, not dishonor. Signed George."

Geerlings answered Romney by letter, telling him to go ahead and release the telegrams, which were signed by seven Republican party officials in Geerlings' senatorial district, the 23rd.

Family Hurt in Car Crash

Four members of a Port Huron family were injured this morning when their car slammed broadside into a tree in Independence Township.

At St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is Frederick Filhart, 23, a U.S. Coast Guardsman, and his wife, Betty, 20, who was driving. The couple's two children, Terry, 1, and Wayne, one month old, suffered only minor injuries.

State police said Mrs. Filhart was driving south on Clinton-Orion Road at 10 a.m. when the car went out of control.

Sorry to See Station Close

Grosse Ile Residents Will Miss 'Neighbor'

GROSSE ILE (AP) — They're getting ready to play taps for the Grosse Ile Naval Air Station.

And, the nostalgia is being heard from residents of this Detroit River island some 20 miles south of Detroit. They have regarded the base as a neighbor in the township community since 1929.

Among the 620 military personnel here, few are new. They were surprised Friday when Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced the Grosse Ile station and 21 other bases would be closed for economy reasons.

"The people here will be sorry to see it close," said Mrs. Dorothy E. Wheeler, Grosse Ile Township treasurer. "It will be like seeing a good neighbor move away."

"The base has always been a part of Grosse Ile," said Mrs. La Verne B. Garrard, a long-time resident. "We'll miss it."

Currently valued at $12.8 million, the base was barely a spot on the map when it opened 35 years ago. It consisted of a tin shack and runways, with two commercial hangars nearby.

World War II turned the tide. The Naval Air Station doubled in size and scope and became a training headquarters for American, Canadian and British airmen. Uncle Sam invested some $5 million to make Grosse Ile fit its new role.

There was a light right after the war, but the Navy kept the base going with the advent of Cold War tensions. The Korean War solidified the air station's position as a training hub.

Now, some 3,000 Navy and Marine Corps reservists receive their training on the island. The base has more than 40 combat-ready planes available.

Planes from the base also perform valuable public service. The craft have rescued 331 persons from nearby waters in the last five years.

McNamara said closing the base would save about $800,000 a year in maintenance and operations. The Pentagon noted that Grosse Ile's runways aren't long enough for jets.

Among the personnel at Grosse Ile, the biggest concern was housing.

Chief Petty Officer R. F. Hughes, of nearby Rockwood, said "it looks like I'll lose my shirt if I try to sell my house. The FHA is trying to sell one like mine for less than I paid."

He said he knows of 40 to 50 other homes at the base who will be in the same predicament.

British U.N. troops, after suffering their first casualty in the Cyprus crisis, came under fire again today as gunfire rattled through Nicosia.

A U.N. spokesman said Greek Cypriots opened fire on a British artillery gunpost in the capital, marking the third outbreak of violence in three days between Greeks and her majesty's soldiers.

The British took cover and fired one shot at the Greek Cypriot positions, the spokesman said. The shooting stopped a few minutes later.

A pitched battle around this sprawling village opened yesterday with a classical infantry charge against well dug-in Viet Cong positions.

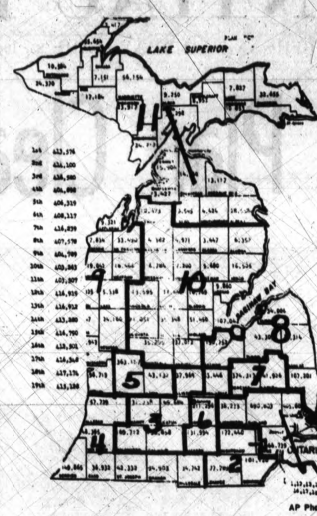

Whooping and yelling, about 200 government troops charged across the paddy fields about as wide as a football field behind a line of 24 armored personnel carriers.

Two fell dead and eight others were wounded in the charge which carried government forces right into a line of deep bunkers the Viet Cong had built earlier in the day.

"It was beautiful," said Sgt. Clarence Bath, from Savannah, Ga., who was seeing the fruition of months of advising his reconnaissance company that participated in the battle. "They bounced around that grass like they were in a foot race."

An American officer advising the same company, Lt. Roger W. Zalkaus, from Waterbury, Conn., was wounded with a shrapnel in the face but he returned to duty this morning after having the shrapnel removed in Saigon last night.

Zalkaus was a West Point football player in 1961.

More Casualties Reported as Cyprus Fighting Flares

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — One Greek Cypriot was killed and four wounded when heavy fighting erupted between Greek and Turkish Cypriots today.

The Greek was shot dead in the mixed village of Ayios Theodoros, 30 miles south of Nicosia. Three villagers have been wounded there in sporadic shooting over the past three days. U.N. officers were trying to arrange a cease-fire.

The heaviest fighting flared about 10 miles north of Nicosia in mountain ridges overlooking strategic Turkish-held Kyrenia Pass.

Greek sources said four Greek Cypriots were wounded at Gomaristarak, about two miles west of the pass.

Two weeks ago, Greeks and Turks have been exchanging fire in the Kyrenia Pass area for two weeks, each side dug in at heavily fortified positions on the rocky peaks and ridges.

There was no indication yet whether the intensification of shooting heralded a threatened all-out Greek push against Turkish positions.

A U.N. spokesman said firing also broke out in Bellapais village on the north side of the mountains just beyond the pass and also at Kato Diokomo, the nearest Greek village to the pass on the south side.

High Court Said Monster

8 Heads, No Brain, State Solon Claims

By RICHARD PYLE
LANSING (AP) — "We kept the bill in committee because of that eight-headed monster with no brain on the third floor that can't make up its mind."

That was the Michigan Supreme Court described Friday when the House of Representatives came to real grips for the first time with Congressional redistricting.

In keeping with the atmosphere of confusion that surrounds the present crisis, the reference had little to do with the important question, however.

The court has been unable to "make up its mind" on legislative, not Congressional reapportionment. And the words were used by Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, in trying to tell adamant Democrats why a bill on still another subject — postponement of the August primary — should be passed immediately.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Denton Anderson of 1909 Orchard Ridge had challenged the right of the two sticker candidates to hold office after their election had been certified by the city canvassing board April 11.

A temporary restraining order issued by Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro was lifted pending the outcome of Thursday's recount.

It appears probable the case will be dismissed Monday by agreement of counsel, John A. Gilray Jr., attorney for the Andersons, said yesterday after the certification.

"The attorneys for Pierce and Webb have agreed to pursue the matter no further," he said. "Effectively, the suit has accomplished its purpose."

Initial returns from the April 6 city election tied Beresford and Webb at 365 for a 2-year term. In the race for a 1-year term, Blanchard had 416 votes and Pierce 395.

The city board of canvassers, however, added 34 votes to Webb's column by counting his stickers placed on other portions of the ballot. Similarly, Pierce picked up 30 more votes to pass Blanchard.

Webb and Pierce ran as sticker candidates in opposition to recent adoption of a new zoning ordinance which includes provision for 3-story multiple residences.

Also on the "2-story" slate with Webb and Pierce was declared candidate Robert Frye, who polled 555 votes to win the other 2-year term.

The recount sought by Beresford in his and Blanchard's behalf ended in victory for the two incumbents.

Gain Lull in Zoning Rift as Incumbents Reseated

BLOOMFIELD HILLS — Transquility appears to have returned to Bloomfield Hills.

The Oakland County Board of Canvassers' certification of James A. Beresford and John W. Blanchard as duly elected city commissioners brought a cease-fire in the controversy over multiple residences here.

Bomb Home of Klansman

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The home of a Ku Klux Klan leader, charged with conspiring to blow up a Negro house, was bombed and burned to the ground here early today.

Duval County police said Martin H. Griffin, 35, was at work at the time of the blast. Griffin told them his family was on a trip.

Police said the small house, located in a white neighborhood on the outskirts of town, was burned to cinders. Damage was estimated at $4,000.

It was definitely a bomb, said Duval County Intelligence Sgt. John Cunningham. "What kind, we don't know yet."

Cunningham said Griffin's neighbors reported hearing a loud explosion before the fire broke out and close examination of the shattered wreckage showed the fire was caused by a blast shortly after midnight.

Griffin is one of five Ku Klux Klansmen charged with conspiring to blow up the home of E. J. Donald Godfrey on Feb. 16.

William Sterling Rosecrans Jr., an unemployed mechanic, pleaded guilty to blowing up the home and indicated he conspired with others in the act.

He was sentenced to seven years in a federal prison last week.

No one was hurt in the blast at the home of the Godfrey boy, who had been the first Negro to break the color barrier at previously all-white Lackawanna elementary school here.

The five Klansmen are currently free on $5,000 bond each. No trial date has been set.

2nd Man Found Dead in NY Park

NEW YORK (AP) — An expensive dressed man, shot three times in the head, was found dead in front of a limousine in Central Park last night.

It was the second murder mystery in the park in slightly more than a week.

Dr. Charles J. Gallagher, 31, nuclear physicist at Columbia University, was found slain in the park on April 16, with 25-caliber bullet holes in the lung and heart.

Police said the latest victim, still unidentified, had been killed with a weapon of the same caliber, but there was nothing else to link the two cases.

The man appeared to be in his 30s. He was wearing a suit, tie and anything else that would identify him were missing. So was the ignition key to the car.

Police later found an automatic pistol, believed to be the murder weapon, under a lilac bush on Fifth Avenue, about 250 feet from the crashed automobile.

Plan to Honor
Area StudentsSpecial Program for 'Culturally Deprived'

A program for motivating scholastic achievement in schools of designated "culturally deprived areas" is planned by the Pontiac Area Urban League.

An Urban League committee, headed by Executive Director Clarence Barnes, plans a Scholarship Achievement Day, featuring an outing at Green Pastures Park, a few miles from Jackson.

Stated for June 6, the all-day outing will be for students from nine Pontiac schools who have achieved a "B" average during the second semester.

School officials from Jefferson and Eastern Junior High and Bethune, Bagley, Whittier, Franklin, Wilson, McConnell and Central elementary schools are cooperating with the project.

Each of the participating students will receive an award stating his scholastic achievement over the designated period.

BRAIN POWER

The avowed purpose of the Scholastic Achievement Day is to point up the high potential of "brain power" existing in so-called "culturally deprived areas."

Urban League officials hope to make the outing an annual event.

Park Has Large Area

Established by an act of Congress in 1872, which was signed by President Ulysses S. Grant, Yellowstone National Park has an area of 3,472 square miles, or more than Delaware and Rhode Island.

The State of Israel comprises about 8,000 square miles.

It's Right, but Don't Press Issue

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: My sister became engaged recently. Our parents have been dead for many years. I think the fiancée's family should call on me and my husband as we are the bride-to-be's immediate family.

His parents feel that since our parents are dead, it is not necessary for them to call on us and furthermore, as we are years younger than they, they think it is our place to go to see them.

I don't think these two factors alter the conventional procedure. May I please have your opinion on this matter?

A: You are right, but to stand firm and insist on their coming to call on you will certainly not help your sister in starting a happy relationship with her in-laws-to-be.

Q: When sending out bridal shower invitations to the bridegroom's relatives and friends, would it be proper to write in parenthesis after the bride-to-be's name, "fiance of John Smith"?

The reason for this being that the bride-to-be knows them only slightly and without some identifying note after her name, they will probably not know who Mary Green is.

A: It would not be proper to do as you suggest. Anyone who doesn't know who Mary Green is should not be invited to a shower for her.

Q: Are black patent leather shoes mandatory with a tuxedo or may highly polished black calfskin shoes be worn in their place?

A: Patent leather shoes are correct; but if one doesn't have them, highly polished calfskin shoes are permissible.

The correct wording and addressing of wedding invitations and announcements are described in the Emily Post Institute booklet entitled, "Wedding Invitations and Announcements."

To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Emily Post Institute, in care The Pontiac Press.

WOMEN'S SECTION Time to Pin Husband Down on Wrestling With Nieces

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Every time we go to my brother's home, my husband embarrasses me to death. He wrestles with my twin nieces, who are 19 years old.

He just can't leave them alone for five minutes. He has to be grabbing one of them by her legs, pulling her out of her chair onto the floor, and trying to pin her arms down.

When we leave there, he always has the buttons torn off his shirt or his pockets torn.

I know it's all in fun, but I think he ought to know better.

Am I being overly critical? I am 24, my husband is 25, and I am not jealous.

WRESTLER'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It's time you went to the mat with your husband and pinned HIS ears back.

Tell him to keep his hands off the girls, and then have a long talk with the girls about how young ladies should conduct themselves.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter is writing this letter for me because I cannot read or write English.

My dream of becoming an American citizen will soon come true, although I speak and write only Spanish.

I just learned that it is possible for foreign-born people to take American citizenship tests in their native language, and I hope you will tell others who cannot read, write or speak English that this is so. AN OLD BUT NEW AMERICAN

DEAR AMERICAN: Thank you for your letter. It is with much pleasure that I share the following information with all interested readers:

"According to immigration law, persons born before December 24th, 1902, and have resided in the United States for at least 20 years, can take their citizenship tests in their native tongue."

Immigrants who came to America after the turn of the century, and who never learned English, should know that this opportunity is available to them.

Get it off your chest. For a personal, unpublished reply, write to ABBY, in care of The Pontiac Press. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

All-Male Choir Chants Solemn Nuptial Mass

An all-male choir chanted a solemn high nuptial Mass at noon today as Carole Jeanne Beatty became Mrs. William Michael Rausch in Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

A gown of white satin peau de soie for the daughter of the Ralph H. Beatty of Elizabeth Lake was designed with Chantilly lace bodice and bell skirt.

Completing her ensemble were a silk illusion veil with crystal tiara and a cascade bouquet of gardenias and Stephanotis.

ATTENDANTS

With honor matron, Mrs. Marvin Grappin, were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Larry Morgan and Nancy McKown. Linda Sue Beatty attended her sister as junior maid.

James Rausch served as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. I. Bernard Rausch of Clarkson, William Beatty, James Hennig, Larry Morgan, Sam Sheehy and Fred Turek were ushers.

MRS. W. M. RAUSCH

After the reception in the Coral Reef Room, at Airway Lakes, the couple left for northern Michigan where he attended the Michigan Technological University. They will live in Clarkson.

Newlyweds Honeymoon in the North

Returned from a northern Michigan honeymoon are the George Adla Poynters (Donna Faye England) who were wed recently in Our Lady of the Lakes Church.

Parents of the couple are the Wilbur H. Englands of Lake Orion and the Adla Poynters of Dill Road.

Pearl - embroidered floral motifs accented the bride's gown of white silk organza over taffeta, styled with chapel train. A pearl diadem held her illusion veil and white carnations and Shasta daisies comprised her bouquet.

Sharon Steffens of Lake Orion was honor maid. Mrs. Charles Gillis attended her sister as bridesmaid with Mrs. Douglas England. Margery England was junior attendant.

Robert Linsenman assisted as best man. David VanHull and Paul Koenig seated some 300 guests.

The Douglas Englands were hosts for the wedding breakfast. The evening reception was held in the UAW Hall on Kennett Road.

Rebekah Has Initiation

Four new members, Mrs. Roy Ottmar, Mrs. James Schaffer, Mrs. Dorothy Rose and Mrs. James Shaffer, were initiated into Welcome Rebekah Lodge 246 in Thursday ceremonies at the Pythian hall.

Guests for the evening included Mrs. Alfred Froede of Chula Vista, Calif., Mrs. Mildred Brown of Clyde, Mrs. Ruth Stalker of Mt. Jewett, Penn., and Mrs. Hattie Dunn of Davison.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Curtis, Mrs. Raymond Brown, Mrs. Bessie Shaw and Mrs. Rosamond Williams.

Especially designed for the coming wave of soft suits and blouses, this Young Natural Coiffure was created for the very young at heart by the official hair fashion committee of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association. Note the soft movement of wave rising from a long, low side part to dip gracefully over the right temple toward the eye. Waves at the sides hug the cheek in a wide sure sweep stemming from the soft ripples at the nape.

On the esquire side were best man Robert Houck, with Bill Whitten and Robert Fisher serving as ushers.

The couple will visit Chicago on their honeymoon.

Area Michigan State Students Accept Honors

By JANE BIGLER

Michigan State University's spring term is well on its way as this, the beginning of the fifth week of classes, is starting.

On Thursday, April 16, the Circle Honorary initiated 67 new members. This group is for women who have made outstanding contributions in their residence, halls in the areas of leadership, service and citizenship. The entire membership cannot exceed one and one-half per cent of all undergraduate women students.

Joyce Ketter and Susan Kreis of Birmingham are two of the Circle Honorary's new members.

Twenty-five-year-old Abbott dormitory will again be a men's dorm next year. The dorm was constructed as a men's hall in 1939, but was turned over to the girls in 1963.

The reversion is being made because of an unexpected number of male applicants.

NEW PLEDGES

Phi Kappa Psi social fraternity took in eleven pledges during rush this term.

Two of the new pledges are Jim Restrict, Birmingham, and Terry Givins, Bloomfield Hills.

Terry also recently received a freshman letter for fencing. Several other Birmingham students have also earned letters this year for their athletic achievements.

Stuart Forrest received a freshman letter in hockey, and Robert Wolf got a freshman letter for his swimming accomplishments.

LETTERS FOR SWIMMING
Lee Driver and Van Lowe received varsity letters for swimming.

The MSU daily, the State News, has been judged the top collegiate daily in Michigan for the fourth year in a row by the Michigan Collegiate Press Association.

The State News place in all but two of the thirteen award categories, receiving 5 first places and 9 honorable mentions.

A leadership conference sponsored by the J-Council was held April 18, in the Wilson Hall auditorium.

This conference was to acquaint students with the need and the demands of leadership.

HOLD DISCUSSIONS

A panel, and then group discussions were held. Among the speakers were James M. Hare, Michigan Secretary of State; Zoltan Ferency, chairman of the Democratic State Committee; and Jack Breslin, secretary to the MSU Board of Trustees.

"Ball Hall" was the theme of Gilchrist Hall's term party held in the dorm earlier this month.

A pond and palm trees were part of the decorations used for the party. Kathy LaCoe of South Josephine, and Judy Winchell and Judy Bird, Bloomfield Hills, were among the Gilchrist residents promoting the party.

STUDENT TEACHERS

Twenty-seven education majors from the Pontiac area are fulfilling their student-teaching requirement at various school systems throughout Michigan this term.

Some of the "teachers" from Pontiac are Barbara Cole, Lincolnshire, Sue Helsler Duncan, East Montclair, Carol Esser, Oneida Road, Carol Friedlander, Fairfield, and Gary Henry, James K Boulevard.

Others are Edward Johnson, Fort Street, Linda Mitchell, Bedford and Cynthia Williams, Cederdale.

From Waterford are Carolyn Kleider, David Nielson, and Jerrie Turner. Those from Bloomfield Hills are Lenore Riley, Sharolyn Schoenheit, and Paul Steina.

Birmingham student teachers are Elizabeth Clark, Chester Guilmet, Holly Hoyt, and Susan Lorimer.

Kenneth Mitchell, Joan Reilly, Martha Steiner and William Thurman are also from Birmingham.

Concluding the list of student teachers are Karen Gammel, Walled Lake; Marcia Mills, Union Lake; Gary Schubert, Lake Orion; Betty Sue Steehler, Drayton Plains; and Margaret Warfield, Orchard Lake.

FACTS ABOUT PHARMACY
by HOWARD L. DELL
Your Neighborhood Pharmacist

LET'S LOOK AT THE RECORD ON DRUG PRICES
At prevailing prices in 1929, it took 31 minutes of working time to pay for the average prescription medication. Only 82 minutes of labor pays for the average prescription medication fee today. If the cost of drugs had risen as much as the consumer price index since 1929, the American public would have spent an additional one billion dollars for needed pharmaceutical services. The $22 per capita expenditure for drug products today compares with $41 spent on tobacco products and $57 for alcoholic beverages. Today's prescription medication, averaging $3.52, is a relatively modest investment in better health and a longer, more productive life.

sit-in demonstration by backers of legislation to bar discrimination in housing ended early today at the Rhode Island State Capitol.

Some of the 60 Negro and white demonstrators had maintained their vigil in the House of Representatives for more than 80 hours.

The group broke into song as the House adjourned at midnight unable to wind up the year's business as some had hoped.

After the singing demonstration, Gov. John H. Chafee ordered police and deputy sheriffs not to allow any more persons into the capitol.

The house earlier this month killed a proposed ban on housing discrimination by a margin of almost two to one.

post offices and 10,000 postal stations in the nation.

In Destruction of Mansion

Society Youths Acquitted, but Get Tongue-Lashing

RIVERHEAD, N. Y. (UPI) — Four high society youths involved in a destructive aftermath of a debutante's coming-out party were acquitted of criminal charges yesterday, but they didn't escape a tongue-lashing.

"The court does not condone or attempt to justify or excuse the conduct of the guests and, in particular, the four who have been sitting in front of me for the past four days," Suffolk County Judge Thomas M. Stark told the defendants.

Stark, who heard the case without a jury, said the prosecution had failed to prove the youths were guilty of "willful and unlawful" destruction of much of the interior of a Southampton mansion, which had been rented as overnight quarters for some 100 of the male guests to the coming-out party of Fernanda Wana-maker Wetherill last Aug. 31.

The acquitted youths are Granville Toogood of Philadelphia, charged with breaking a French door; Eaton Brooks of Darien, Conn., charged with wrecking a chandelier by swinging on it; Thomas Molyneux of Philadelphia, accused of smashing a lamp; and Samuel Shipley III of Philadelphia, charged with using dinnerware as a target for a BB gun.

Damage was estimated at $5,000 at the mansion which had been rented by Donald S. Leas Jr., stepfather of Miss Wetherill. The mansion is located near the Leas estate where the formal party was held.

In announcing the acquittal, the judge said that, "I want to make it clear that the background, education, or social status of these defendants make no difference to me or this court or any court in the state."

During yesterday's session, defense attorney Gordon Lipitz asked for a dismissal on grounds that "some of these boys are members of the social register and they are being made into a public spectacle."

Assistant District Atty. Theodore Jaffe objected, saying "If these had been some poor kids who didn't have the advantage of college, who were poverty-stricken and humble, then they might have been some excuse.

Underground A-Blast Is Set Off by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A nuclear device was set off underground Friday at the Atomic Energy Commission's test site in Nevada. It was the sixth weapons test announced this year.

The commission described the blast as of low intermediate yield, which means it had a force equivalent to 20,000 to 300,000 tons of TNT.

School Strife Said Danger

'Pressure Discourages Citizen Participation'

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Unless there is a meeting of the minds between school boards and teacher organizations — and soon — "the pressures can tear our schools apart," says Mrs. Fred Radke, president of the National School Boards Association.

"I see no lessening of the tensions, and it worries me greatly," Mrs. Radke said in an interview today.

"These tensions may discourage citizen service on school boards, particularly in the big cities. And they may discourage our best administrators to the point where they feel they must seek other employment."

ANNUAL MEETING

Mrs. Radke, of Port Angeles, Wash., is presiding at the association's annual convention here.

The basic problem is how much say the teacher organizations shall have in determining public school policies and programs.

Says Mrs. Radke: "We believe in giving teachers every right to be heard, but in retaining for ourselves the right to make the final determinations."

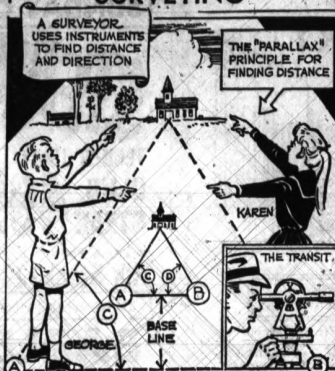

But spokesmen for the two major teaching organizations also have made their positions clear.

DEMANDS RIGHT

Says William G. Carr, executive secretary of the National Education Association: "The NEA insists on the right of professional organizations . . . to participate with boards of education in the determination of policies of common concern, including salary and other conditions of professional service."

Says Carl J. Megel, president of the American Federation of Teachers (AFL-CIO): "The existence of a contract means that decisions on salaries, working conditions and other matters . . . can no longer be made unilaterally by the school administration."

Junior Editors Quiz on SURVEYING

QUESTION: How can the shapes of states and countries be known?

ANSWER: The shapes of states and countries are determined by their boundaries, and these are worked out and put down on maps by the process called "surveying."

The practice of fixing exact boundaries originated in Egypt where every year the Nile river overflowed its banks and surveyors had to be employed to find the original boundaries of the farms.

Surveyors start from one exact point and then go on measuring angles and distances to find other points, keeping careful notes so these may be put down exactly on a map. Surveyors have carefully-made compasses which show them the exact compass bearing on distant points.

The surveyor's most important instrument is the transit, the top of which we illustrate. This is mounted on a strong tripod which can be folded for carrying around.

The transit can measure angles up and down or sideways. An important use for it is to determine the distance of far off objects. Here, George and Karen show us how the parallax system is used.

If a surveyor wanted to find his distance to the church door, he would establish a "baseline" with two points, (A) and (B) and he would measure to see how close they were. Then he would sight the church door with his transit from (A) and measure the angle, (C) between his sight line and the baseline.

Then he would move to Karen's side and get the angle from (B). Putting these angles on paper, he could figure the distance from the base line to the church door by trigonometry.

FOR YOU TO DO: Although some boundaries are laid out by surveyors, there are many which follow natural features such as rivers, mountains or lakes. Get a large map of the United States and see which boundaries are formed by such natural lines. You might start with the Rio Grande River between Texas and Mexico.

Links Cong Raids to Viet Instability

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, acknowledging high casualty rates in South Viet Nam, blames recent government turnovers for the increased Communist attacks on U. S. supported troops.

McNamara said Gen. Nguyen Khanh, who assumed power early this year, still does not have "the strong government he wants" although he is continuing to tighten his control on South Vietnamese forces.

Communist guerrillas have taken advantage of this power vacuum, McNamara said, to step up their attacks on villages and towns causing an increased casualty rate on both sides.

During a news conference, the defense chief refused to predict when the 16,500 U. S. troops in South Viet Nam would be withdrawn.

Some new training missions are being sent to the strategic southeast Asian country, he said, while others are being returned to the United States as South Vietnamese take their place.

Adm. Harry D. Felt, Commander in Chief of U. S. Pacific Forces, emphatically denied that massive American intervention was needed to save the country from coming under complete Communist domination.

Appearing before the House Foreign Affairs Committee yesterday, Felt said that the situation in South Viet Nam "has not gotten out of hand despite a deterioration in the past year."

A bright spot in the war there, Felt said, was an improvement in "military tactics." The admiral testified on the administration's foreign aid bill during a closed session of the committee. Only a portion of his testimony was made public.

As the two defense leaders defended the U. S. role in the South Viet Nam, Sen. Wayne L. Morse, D-Ore., kept up his barrage of criticism against U. S. involvement. He called U. S. military intervention in the area "illegal and a menace" to the nation.

U. N. VIOLATION

According to Morse, U. S. support for the Viet Nam government violated the provisions of the United Nations charter and also the 1954 Geneva agreement partitioning Viet Nam.

The lingering war there threatens to engulf the resources and manpower of the American people on the continent of Asia for an undefined time and purpose, Morse said in a Senate speech.

Administration support of the war also drew criticism from Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, who charged that U. S. policy in Viet Nam has been "a complete failure."

William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, replied sharply "I dispute that completely."

The exchange took place during an April 7 meeting of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, but the testimony was not made public until yesterday.

Bundy said that Viet Nam "would have gone down the drain if it wasn't for the program carried out there in the last three years."

"That may be," Hays interjected. "It appears likely it is going down the drain anyway." "It is a tough war," Bundy replied. "I think we have got it where it can start moving upward. I think we have done a tremendous job out there."

Exec Is Held in Slaying of Actor's Niece

COMMACK, N.Y. (AP) — A Wall Street executive was ordered held without bail Friday in the slaying of his wife, a niece of actor James Cagney.

The husband, Kerim Alkanani, 43, was held for a hearing next week.

Police said the victim, the former Jacqueline Cagney 29, was found beaten and stabbed Wednesday in the couple's $40,000 ranch home in Cold Spring Harbor. Authorities said she apparently was killed during a quarrel.

Alkanani, a native of Iraq, denied the slaying and said she had been beaten to death by an unidentified man.

Jacqueline's father, Edward Cagney, resides in North Hollywood, Calif.

Alkanani operates A.K. Trading Import-Export Inc.

Everyone Shows Up; Sign Tells the Story

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Everyone showed up despite this sign in front of a high school. It read:

Firm Wins Praise for Airplane Device

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—Lear Siegler, Inc., instrument division won praise from the Federal Aviation Agency Friday for a new aircraft navigational aid known as an hyperbolic coordinate converter.

The new device takes long range navigation (LORAN-C) radio signals from the ground and converts them to aircraft grid coordinates in digital form. Then by means of a moving "bug" on a map display, indicates automatically to the pilot the exact position of his aircraft.

Devices now in regular use require interpretation and manual transfer of information to navigational charts which result in showing the craft's position at the time the radio signal reading was taken.

Several hundred members of Christ Lutheran Church, Airport at Williams Lake Road, Waterford, will attend a 6:30 p.m. dinner meeting Tuesday in Community Activities, Inc. building, Waterford.

The dinner is a feature of the six-week capital funds appeal at Christ Lutheran. The Lutheran Laymen's Movement for Stewardship is sponsoring the appeal.

Objectives of the campaign are elimination of existing capital indebtedness on the present church facilities, improvement of buildings and grounds, and participation in the Lutheran Development Fund of the Michigan Synod.

Maximum goal of $100,000 has been approved by the church council.

Pledges totaling in excess of $21,000 have been received from the first 35 families visited. Pastor Wayne E. Peterson said. All of the nearly 400 homes in the congregation will be visited for three-year pledges before May 8.

The speaker will be Dr. Henry Endress, vice president and director of development, Lutheran University in Waterloo, Ont. Felix A. Anderson and members of the campaign committee will also speak.

The choir formed in November has gained prominence in the area as a unique and outstanding musical group.

Their repertoire consists of familiar hymns, melodies from great music, spirituals and, when the occasion arises, familiar tunes in the popular field, he said.

All members of the choir have an extensive musical background in band, choir, organ or vocal solo work.

Handbell ringing originated in England to provide a means of practicing "change ringing" by English tower bell ringers.

Such groups were started in America for the same purpose, and since the early 1950's have grown rapidly to provide a worthwhile contribution to the musical program of a community.

There are a number of openings in the Pioneer Unit and in the Junior Unit at the Boys' Camp. Eligible for this camp are boys who will be entering the eighth, ninth or tenth grades in the fall. The age range for Junior Units is from eight through 13 years.

Boys and girls may sign up now for the periods beginning June 22 to July 6, and August 14 to 27. Rev. James Hayes of St. Michael Catholic Church said.

In addition to full staffs of counselors with good Catholic backgrounds, the camps have a resident chaplain, experienced camp directors and program specialists, plus a registered nurse.

Catechism classes for Catholic children attending public schools will be held from 4 to 5 p.m. Monday for grades one through three; 4 to 5 p.m. Tuesday for grades six through eight; and 7 to 8:05 p.m. Monday for grades nine through 12. CATHOLIC RETREAT

Over 100 men of the Pontiac area have requested reservations for the annual spring weekend retreat for Catholic laymen Friday through Sunday at St. Paul of the Cross Retreat House, Detroit.

The Pontiac group starting with an allotment of 10 reservations in 1949 now is one of only a few groups assigned the entire facilities of the 36 room retreat house for one weekend, said J. B. Parle, secretary of the Pontiac men.

St. Paul of the Cross conducts retreats on 45 weekends each year for over 4,000 laymen representing some 150 parishes and laymen groups.
In addition midweek retreats are held for all archdiocesan clergy and evening retreats for high school students.

He comes to us as One unknown, without a name, as of old, by the lakeside. He came to those men who knew Him not. He speaks to us the same word: "Follow thou Me!" and sets us to the tasks which He has to fulfill for our time. He commands. And to those who obey Him, whether they be wise or simple, He will reveal Himself in the toils, the conflicts, the sufferings which they shall learn in their own experience Who He is.
— Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

Few men suspect how much mere talk fritters away spiritual energy — that which should be spent in action, spends itself in words. Hence he who restrains that love of talk, lays up a fund of spiritual strength.
— F. W. Robertson.

Professional Party Worker

Jim McNeely: Dem Buzz Saw

By JIM DYGERT

Went over to see Jim McNeely a couple of weeks ago. Wanted to find out what was so special about him that he should be the only Democrat in the state who is a full-time paid party staff professional at a county level.

Not even Wayne County has a full-time Democrat to coordinate all the political string pulling, and everyone knows how Democratic that county is.

Of course, the fact that Oakland is the second biggest county in the state, still growing fast, and still electing Republicans may have had something to do with McNeely's becoming full-time deputy county Democratic chairman in 1962.

Snatching it from GOP clutches was going to be a full-time job. County Democratic Chairman Sander M. Levin thought as he suggested a "100 club" drive to collect $100 each from 100 wealthier-than-average Democrats to pay a $10,000 salary.

The drive was successful and Levin looked at McNeely as just the guy.

LOSING BATTLE

McNeely had organized a Democratic club in Milford and waged a fierce but losing battle for state representative in the overwhelmingly Republican Third district.

A teacher in Farmington schools and a 1955 graduate of St. Norbert's College in Wisconsin, McNeely had become interested in politics because "I wanted to have some impact on what was going on in government."

He was aggressively Democratic, and loyal enough to put in all kinds of ridiculous hours.

He's the kind of guy who ... But, wait a minute, we're way ahead of the story.

HAD TO WAIT

Had to wait quite a while before seeing him, even with an appointment. When he was finally free, it was only for a couple of minutes before he was dashing off somewhere.

Made another appointment, but, if anything, things were worse.

In short, McNeely is either a busy man or doing a whale of a job of looking like one.

It's the year that makes him even busier than usual. It's a presidential election year and they don't come any busier for a political party.

WEARS MANY HATS

It could be said that McNeely is a man of many hats, except that he doesn't wear any hat at all on the prematurely white hair atop his 33-year-old head.

He's a coordinator of volunteer work, a helper, adviser and supplier of materials to candidates and potential candidates, and an organizer of political dinners and other such events in cooperation with special chairmen.

He's sometimes a public relations man, an administrator, office manager, vote analyzer, generator of party enthusiasm, or anything else the situation requires.

Most important of all, he's a fund raiser. An army can travel on its stomach, perhaps, but a political party needs some cash.

ARM TWISTER

He's also a liaison man with Democratic officials and legislators, keeping them advised of party policy. Twist any arms lately? "How can you suggest such a thing?" McNeely recalls.

"He's quite a guy," Levin often says. The two have grown to be close friends in the last two years. Levin has found he can depend on Mc-

Neely to know what Levin would want in a situation, and McNeely rarely disagrees with him, anyway.

In an election year, his 60 hours a week begins stretching into 70, then 80 and may even reach 90 or 100 by the time campaigning is in full swing.

Enthusiasm is easier to build, but there are so many other things to be handled, especially the scheduling of political speeches by all the local candidates plus state and national hopefuls passing through.

PERSONAL OPINIONS

McNeely says as a staff man he has to keep his personal opinions out of internal party issues, but admits this is sometimes hard to do.

As an appointee of Levin confirmed by the executive committee that elected Levin, Levin's opponents, if any, would be perfectly neutral.

In any event, he's irrevocably Democratic, and he and his wife Mary Alice, are raising their six children to be the same at his home at 314 Devonbrook, Bloomfield Township.

Smugglers Lrk Swiss Skiers

GRAND ST. BERNARD, Switzerland (AP) — Ski fields of the new St. Bernard center which reaches into Italy, have run into an unexpected hazard: cigarette smugglers.

The ski areas are being crisscrossed by jeeps and other vehicles laden with cigarettes being smuggled into Italy duty-free.

The vehicles' chains plow up the runs at certain points and tourists have become increasingly irritated at the scale of this local "industry."

Until this season the smugglers shared the mountainside only with the Grand St. Bernard monks and their dogs, and carried on their "industry" openly, expecting to net about 150 francs ($17) each for their work daily.

Movie for 'Hello Deres' Pictured by Columnist

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Probably because Mother's Day was nearing, somebody asked wild-haired comedian Marty Allen, of Allen and Rossi, "Marty, how's your mother?"

"Oh, Mom's fine," the "Hello Deres" guy said. "She's still out on the road with Minsky's."

The idea that his mother might be a stripper appeals to Marty's untamed sense of humor.

"Mom reads a lot," Marty says. "I said to her, 'Mom, can I send you some books? What would like to read?' Mom says, 'Yes, son, what's this new book called "Fanny Hill"?"

I have spent some recent evenings with the team of Allen and Rossi and they all turn out to be rather uncharted. Last weekend they entertained the editors of the nation at a Hall Syndicate reception in Washington. They are the modern Martin and Lewis, the modern Abbott and Costello, the modern Laurel and Hardy ... and many people feel it is about time that they start making good in films as they have in nightclub.

Marty seems to have few serious moments.

"I have to see my dentist," he says. He's serious up to there. "My teeth are magnetized. Every time a sandwich comes close to them, my teeth draw it right in my mouth."

It's hard to believe that Marty once studied journalism at the University of Southern California—and that Steve Rossi, the good-looking singer, appeared in such movies as "Going My Way" with the Mitchell Boys' Choir.

THE WEEKEND WINDUP ... Eddie Fisher's former manager Milton Blackstone is with him again, helping him off the shoals ... Actor George Hamilton studied singing with vocal coach Carlo Menotti for the Hank Williams film bio—then learned it'll be dubbed by Hank Williams Jr. ... Eddie Adams had his white Rolls Royce shipped from L.A., and hired a chauffeur—to drive her nightly from the Waldorf to her Greenwich Village apartment.

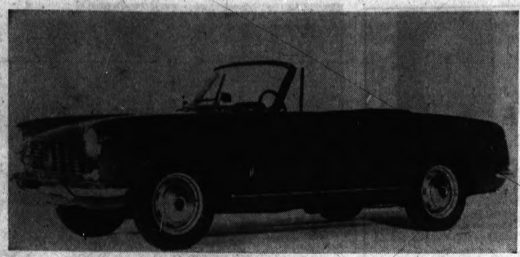

Actor Billy Redfield tried vainly to phone Marion Brando in Hollywood, and left his 10-digit number to have Marlon call back. "I don't think he'll do it," Brando's father said, "—Marlon's head of the anti-ditching society here."

Mary Healey turned down the lead in the Bing Crosby TV series—she wants to stay in N.Y. with husband Peter Lind Hayes.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Anybody can do any amount of work, provided it isn't work he's supposed to be doing at the moment."

EARL'S PEARLS: Larry Mathews reports on the auto wash that's very tidy—they even sew the handles back on your door. "One thing I can't stand," says Leo Fuld, "is a know-it-all who keeps insisting I'm wrong!" That's earl, brother.

Ex-Dodge Wife's Claims Are Settled Out of Court

DETROIT (AP)—Former showgirl Gregg Sherwood Dodge said Friday she has agreed to an out-of-court settlement of her $11 million in claims against the estate of her late husband, automotive heir Horace E. Dodge Jr., and against his mother, Mrs. Anna Thompson Dodge.

Morton M. Bass, New York attorney for Mrs. Dodge, said the settlement "involved approximately $9 million."

However, C. W. Van Blarcom, Detroit attorney for Dodge's 93-year-old mother, disputed the figure. Although declaring "it is completely confidential," Van Blarcom said the figure "is considerably less than $9 million."

Dodge, heir to a multi-million-dollar automotive fortune, died last Dec. 22 at the age of 63. Gregg Sherwood Dodge, now Dora Fjelstad, was his fifth wife. They had a son, John, now 10.

ANNOUNCEMENT

Announcement of the settlement came at a press conference in a downtown hotel, where the blond ex-showgirl was flanked by attorneys from Detroit, New York and Beloit, Wis.

Bass said the settlement does not require court approval. He said it was signed here earlier today by attorneys for Mrs. Dodge and attorneys for Dodge's mother and for his estate.

Mrs. Dodge, who planned to leave immediately for her home in Palm Beach, Fla., said, "I'm happy that all this could be resolved within the family itself. I feel that's the way it should have been."

Several other suits against Dodge's estate, including an $11.745 claim by Gregg's mother, Mrs. Helen Fjelstad, still are pending in court.

AP Adds Photo Link to Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—The European wirephoto network of the Associated Press today was extended to the Soviet Union.
The new link from Helsinki to Moscow is the first permanent, full-time picture transmission system between the U.S.S.R. and other countries.

Tass, the Soviet news and photo agency, completed arrangements Friday for the new photo line with Preston Grover, chief of the Associated Press bureau here. Photos began to flow today.

DIRECT TRANSMISSIONS
In New York, Wes Gallagher, general manager of AP, said "This new facility will permit direct transmissions of photos from Moscow across Europe on the AP network, then across the Atlantic on AP's exclusive full-time picture cable and directly onto the U.S. wirephoto network. It marks another important step in AP wirephoto superiority."

AP's permanent European wirephoto network already operates in Great Britain, France, Italy, Germany, Switzerland, Norway, Sweden, the Netherlands and Belgium.

Paving District to Be Aired

Final Hearings Set for Waterford Meeting

A final public hearing of intent to proceed on the H-1A Street special assessment back-topping district is slated in conjunction with Monday night's Waterford Township Board meeting.

A low bid of $10,766 for the project was accepted by the Township Board two weeks ago.

Cost per front foot of property to be paved included in the district will be $2.80.

In other business the board will consider a transfer of ownership for a Class C and SDM licensed business at 444 Dixie. Transfer is proposed from William H. Smart to Primrose Lanes Inc.

Also Monday, board members will hear a citizen's objection to appropriation of funds for a township library.

Maynard Peters, 3340 Main, requested an opportunity to express his views at the meeting on the library appropriation.

In other business the board will consider a request from the Oakland County Road Commission that a road on Farmbridge Street be vacated. A statement of no objection is sought.

The road near Cass Lake is platted but has never been used.

Russia Renews Vow to Cuba

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia, in a new denunciation of U.S. reconnaissance flights over Cuba, today renewed its pledge to support Fidel Castro's revolutionary regime against U.S. attack.

The statement was the latest development in a week-long anti-American campaign touched off by Castro's threat Sunday to shoot down U.S. reconnaissance planes.

(In Havana last night, a mob made up largely of students and professors from Havana University staged an anti-American demonstration outside the building which used to house the U.S. embassy.)

The government organ Izvestia said Russia will side with Cuba if that country "is subjected to treacherous attack."

"The U.S.S.R. . . . has declared this before and confirms this now," said an Izvestia article whose author was identified only as "observer." "If provocations are continued against Cuba, the responsibility will be borne by those who organize them."

The article said there is no reason why Russia should not supply Cuba with weapons.

"Cuba . . . has the right to possess such weapons to safeguard its security, and the right to use them if necessary to defend its sovereignty and independence," Izvestia said.

Protest in Havana Against U.S. Flights

HAVANA (UPI)—Several hundred Havana University students, professors and employees demonstrated in front of the former U.S. embassy building last night, protesting American reconnaissance flights over Cuba.

U.S. officials have not occupied the building since the United States broke diplomatic relations with Cuba in January, 1961.

The demonstrators were among thousands of persons who had been rehearsing for May Day celebrations.

Their protest coincided with a note Cuba sent to the United Nations yesterday protesting alleged U.S. aggressions and claiming they were a prelude to an American attack on Cuba.

Havana radio had announced Thursday night that demonstrations would be held "against the latest provocations of Yankee imperialism."

Some demonstrators carried banners of the Venezuelan Armed Forces of National Liberation (FALN), the pro-Communist underground movement attempting to overthrow the Venezuelan government.

The Cuban note, supported by the Soviet Union, did not request any U.N. action, but said Cuba will not "tolerate indefinitely" alleged provocations from U.S. Marines at the Guantanamo Naval Base and air space violations by American aircraft.

Danish Landmark Ruined by Vandals

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—One of the most photographed statues in the world—the Little Mermaid—was destroyed during the night by a vandal who sawed her head off and took it with him.

The dainty little figure, sitting at a huge stone at the entrance to the Copenhagen harbor, has been admired by thousands of tourists.

Inspired by a fairy tale by Hans Christian Andersen, the Little Mermaid had become a landmark in Copenhagen.

Bike Rider Wounded

TRAVERSE CITY (AP)—Six-year-old James Sonderegger was struck by a bullet or pellet from a gun while riding his bicycle Friday evening, Grand Traverse County sheriff's deputies reported. He suffered a thigh wound and was reported in good condition at Munson Hospital.

Malaysia Election Tests 'Tough' Policy

KUALA LUMPUR, Malaysia (AP)—Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman put his policies and prestige to the test today as voters weighed his appeals for all-out resistance to Indonesian hostility.

Rahman has made resistance the cornerstone of his campaign in the state and parliamentary election and told his people they must be ready to fight in the face of President Sukarno's repeated threats to "crush Malaysia."

The 61-year-old architect of Malaysia, molded last September of Malaysia, Singapore and the Borneo states of Sabah and Sarawak, predicted a ringing endorsement as throngs jammed the polls in an apparent record turnout.

80 PER CENT

About 80 per cent of the 2.8 million voters were expected to make a choice between Rahman's aim to stand up against Indonesia and the softer attitude of accommodation preached by his opponents.

Rahman's Alliance party, a coalition of Malay, Chinese and Indian parties, accused the two main opposition parties of complicity with Sukarno, who has denounced Malaysia as a British neo-colonialist plot and launched guerrilla operations in Sabah and Sarawak.

Police and troops were placed on special alert for possible terrorism, especially in Southern Malaysia and Singapore where the government charges scores of Indonesian saboteurs and agents are operating.

The voting was for 104 parliamentary seats and 232 state government seats in the 11 Malay states, kingdom of the Malaysian federation, Sarawak, Sabah and Singapore appoint their federal representatives and hold separate state elections.

Rahman's party was favored to win. Counting seats held in Sabah and Sarawak, it needed only 44 more to win a majority in the 198-seat federal parliament.

Rahman's chief opposition parties are the leftist Socialist Front and the right-wing, religiously fanatic Pan-Malayan Islamic party. Both have been advocating a softer line toward Indonesia.

Claims Bid Was Error

Builder Likely to Sue County

Oakland County is likely to be sued as the result of a mix-up in the awarding of contracts to construct a sanitary sewer arm in Farmington Township.

The low bidder for one section of the $700,000 project claimed a mathematical error in its bid after the bids were opened last week.

Northeast Construction Co. of Roseville said its cost figures on the job should have come to $425,928 instead of $235,928, which was the amount tendered as the low bid.

The Oakland County Department of Public Works has tried to hold the firm to the lower figure.

Yesterday the firm sent a contract back to the department unsigned. A cover letter from the company said a legitimate error had been made in the bid, and Northeastern is asking for its $15,000 cash bond to be returned.

CLAIM FORFEIT

The county department has taken the position that there is insufficient evidence that a legitimate error had been made and so the bond should be forfeited.

If Northeastern insists that it should get its bond money back, and the county refuses, the only recourse for the company is to sue the county, said Donald Ringler, deputy director of the public works department.

"We probably will award the contract on this section of the job to the second low bidder on May 1," said Ringler.

The second low bid of $433,210 was submitted by Piccirilli Construction Co. of Detroit.

TOTAL IS LESS

In claiming an error after bids were opened, Northeastern's new total came to $9,282 less than Piccirilli's bid instead of $88,000 less as indicated before.

The other section of the project has been awarded to Shelby Construction Co. of Utica for a low bid of $238,761.

Construction of the 37,000-foot pipeline is scheduled to begin by May 27.

The project, known as the Tarabussi Sanitary Sewer Arm, will open some eight square miles in the southwest corner of the township mostly for industrial expansion, when completed in about six months. It will carry sewage into Detroit for treatment.

PROJECT FINANCE

The project is to be financed

Mink Stork Is Due; Planes Alter Course

EVERETT, Wash. (AP)—Operation Hush is under way at Pease Air Force Base and the order of the day is: Please do not frighten the mink.

Fifty local mink ranchers appealed to the Air Force for quiet until the spring crop of mink is born. They said loud noises sometimes frighten baby mink to death.

The Air Force agreed to a temporary alteration in takeoff and landing courses.

background for LIVING

EARLY AMERICANA — A homey atmosphere of Early Americana permeates the living room. Its birch-paneled walls are highlighted by one wall of gold-patterned wallpaper. Beige fiber glass draperies dress the broad picture window. Furniture pieces are spice-finished maple. Throw pillows of brown, gold and orange are used on the sofa, upholstered in a brown provincial print. Hobnail and maple lamps topped by beige shades are placed on step tables flanking the sofa. Folding shutters on the half-glass entrance door contribute to the family's privacy.

Hellners' Brick Trilevel Decorated Traditionally

By JODY HEADLEE

Mrs. Marjorie J. Hellner and her three children, John, 15; Bob, 13, and Cindy, 9, have become do-it-yourselfers since they moved into their tri-level home on Buffalo Drive, Commerce Township.

They paper, paint and panel with the aplomb of professionals and are mighty proud of the end result, their traditionally decorated home.

For convenience, they converted the third bedroom on the upper level into a television study. The blond corner desk features specially designed compartments to facilitate efficient handling of Mrs. Hellner's correspondence and bookkeeping records.

Comfortable television viewing is assured by a maple-framed occasional chair upholstered in brown with the back and seat in a patchwork pattern of many colors. The accompanying footstool is covered in a pink and brown braided fabric.

A white hobnail desk lamp and ceiling spotlight insure adequate illumination in Cindy's blue bedroom.

Fond of play poodles, she has two on her bed and one on her bookshelves. And, like all little girls, Cindy has a soft spot in her heart for brides. On her spice finished double chest, where all can see, is her beautifully gowned bride doll.

Like her daughter, Mrs. Hellner favors blue. Her bedroom is painted a light blue. A deeper blue rug covers the floor. Her draperies combine lavender and blue against a white background.

BLUE AND WHITE

Accenting the white candlewick spread are deep blue throw pillows. Furniture pieces are in maple. A blue and white shade on a hobnail table lamp executes the room's dichromatic color scheme.

The nearby hall bath also uses Cindy's favorite color. The blue walls and blue and white tile are enhanced by coordinated blue and lavender draperies and shower curtain.

The lower level, with exception of the utility room, is strictly a masculine domain. To accommodate the gear that goes with male teen-agers, Mrs. Hellner felt it best to turn over the family room to John and Bob.

BLUE ROOM — "I love blue," 9-year-old Cindy Hellner stated emphatically as she sat down at her corner desk wearing a blue jumper that just matched her blue eyes. The soft blue of her bedroom walls is repeated in her throw rug. Of identical fabric are the blue-on-white draperies, the canopy, the bedspread and the ruffled pillow shams.

WILLIAMSBURG PRINT — A Williamsburg print wallpaper introducing gray, blue and muted orange on a reduced green background brightens the dinette's Philippine mahogany wainscoting. Carrying out the Early American feeling established in the adjoining living room is the wagon wheel ceiling fixture. Deacon's benches are used on the long side of the rectangular drop-leaf table. The hutch cabinet displays hand-painted china and green glassware. Colonial prints framed in brass are used on the sidewall.

YARD LIGHT — A black, wrought-iron gas light in Mrs. Marjorie Hellner's frontyard on Buffalo Drive, Commerce Township, gives a hint of the home's traditional interior. The trilevel is finished in red brick with white overhang and blue trim. Tall shade trees in the backyard make outdoor living pleasant and comfortable.

See Sickness Plagues American Countryside

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK — America suffers from a vast attack of "see sickness" because of the un-aesthetic constantly before its eyes, charges one of the nation's leading industrial designers.

J. Gordon Lippincott speaks out against the "garish billboards and the proliferation of neon signs, posts, pennants," which are part of the American scene.

He also charges that most suburbs are "visually monotonous" and that the vast majority of new buildings in America are "tension twist-ers" and a "monument to the dollar sign."

"Individually and collectively," says Lippincott, "these things represent an American phenomenon best described as 'visual pollution.'"

"Call it 'see sickness' if you prefer, for truly most of what can be seen from city streets and highways can and does make people psychologically sick."

"In effect, our modern industrial society is working night and day to fill the nation's hospitals with mental health cases and time is running out on what can be done about it."

His attack on "visual pollution" is in an article he prepared for the firm's "Design Sense," a publication which goes to 15,000 management and marketing executives.

Lippincott began his career as an engineer, studied architecture, taught at New York's Pratt Institute for seven years, turned industrial design editor, and then became a management consultant.

In 1946, with Walter P. Margules, he founded Lippincott & Margules, which today calls itself the world's largest firm of marketing consultants and industrial designers.

Lippincott is board chairman.

The designer says that "ugh-liness and squalor in public places have been accepted as the price of economic progress for far too many years."

The solution, Lippincott believes that if there is one, "I'm convinced it will be found only under the auspices of federal government planning and as a result of major legislation by the Congress."

Metal Lath Reaches Its 125th Anniversary

Diamonds, cherry trees and reliability have something in common: a birthday anniversary.

In addition to being observed on the birth date of George Washington — whom legend credits with cherry tree chopping and with complete honesty — February 22, 1964, is the anniversary of the day, 125 years ago, when a patent was granted for a design of diamond mesh metal lath.

Metal lath is the material used by builders today to provide a rugged, reliable base for plaster walls and to increase fire resistance and sound insulation.

On February 22, 1839, the
U. S. patent office recognized Peter Nyberg's claim to an inventor's rights to an "improvement in the mode of providing plastered walls and ceilings to resist fire."

This, however, proved to be a great understatement, in view of the performance of the product under severe conditions of fire and earthquake, in the intervening years.

The quality of durability, even under extreme conditions, was explained by Nyberg as resulting from the numerous perforations of the metal lath, through which plaster would pass "to be securely keyed and retained in place." There are approximately a thousand diamond-shaped perforations in each square foot of modern lath.

Quietly, unobtrusively, hidden by the plaster which it holds securely, metal lath provides the base and shape for rugged, low maintenance partitions and ceilings, many of which have been in place for impressively long periods of time.

In Washington, a city established under the guidance of George Washington, and named in his honor, the Library of Congress is an outstanding example of the lasting combination of diamond mesh metal lath and plaster.

Today, three-quarters of a century after its construction was started in 1880, the conditions of its murals, ornamental sculptured and plane walls testify to such durability.

HOUSE TRADE-IN PLAN

1941 S. Telegraph FE 4-8591

Now Is Good Time to Buy Older Home

Anybody thinking of buying a home should investigate the older home market which right now has extremely favorable conditions for such a purchase, reports the Construction Research Bureau, national clearing house for building information.

Today you can get a larger loan for a longer time, at a lower interest rate, than last year.

There are many advantages in buying an older house. Since land was more plentiful when it was built, it may have larger grounds. Construction is apt to be sturdier, ceilings higher, and walls thicker, deadening noises.

An older house already has settled and often has beautiful gardens, a lawn and trees it took years to grow.

LOCATED CLOSER
Often an existing house is located closer to good transportation, schools, shopping, churches and other conveniences like the public utilities.

Even if a house is 30 years or older, it is well worth buying for these advantages since it has a long life ahead of it.

Finally, an older house will cost less and you will get more space for your money in larger rooms and closets. The loan cost is cheaper, too according to The Federal Home Loan Bank Board.

With this money you can get an existing house whose graciousness and charm are highly valued by those who like the traditional, or if you prefer, you can easily transform an older house into a modern concept.

SOME SUGGESTIONS

Regardless of which you may want, here are suggestions toward attaining the desired effect: Fresh paint colors can lighten interiors, windows can be made to appear larger by artfully hung draperies, wood paneling can bring a lovely balance between old and modern decor.

If the floor needs attention, a new resilient tile floor, in warm colors and patterns now available will put your floors in excellent condition, while enhancing the mellow charm of the house itself.

These renovation costs, it should be noted, can be included as part of the mortgage. Naturally, an architect or appraiser should be hired to check on the major repairs required so you'll have full information on what the final cost of the house will be.

The special advantages an existing house offers tends to cancel out the need to spend additional money on repairs. Then, too, there's the fact that your knowledge of repairs needed can be a good bargaining point in settling the final price.

Ceramic Tile Waterproof

Bathroom planning can be one of the most important phases of building or remodeling a home.

Because of the high humidity and condensation problems commonly found in bathrooms, considerable thought should be given to the choice of surfacing materials.

Ceramic tile, long noted for being waterproof, stain-resistant and dimensionally stable, is also preferred for its beauty and wipe-clean quality. For complete protection, even the bathroom ceiling may be tiled.

Space-saving hangers and fixtures can be attached anywhere on the continuous wood surface of a cedar closet.

Know Manufacturers

Knowing the names of the manufacturers of the plumbing-heating work to give you a complete list of the manufacturers whose products he installed.

If it becomes necessary to call for repairs. When you move, ask the contractor who did the plumbing-heating work to give you a complete list of the manufacturers whose products he installed.

Women in a Hurry

For homemakers in a hurry and women with two jobs, a National Housing Center school advises, "Eat your centerpiece. Use a dessert as your table decoration—a basket of fruit, tray of cheeses, upside-down cake—it whets the appetite."

Ceramic tile is stainproof, scratchproof, heatproof, fireproof, fadeproof and dentproof.

Retirement Towns Spread in Nation

Retirement communities were born in Florida and California. But the idea of developments designed to meet the special needs of the elderly is spreading rapidly to other states throughout the country.

One of the newest of these is Leisure Village in Lakewood, N.J. Within easy driving distance of New York and Philadelphia, it is in a wooded area blessed with ocean resorts, lakes and scenic parks.

Plenty of Elbow Room Supplied in Ranch Home

Undoubtedly there are many romantic and uplifting reasons families give for deciding to move to a new home, but surely in most cases at the root of the decision is a simple demand for more space.

Architect Lester Cohen recognized the fact that civilized man just isn't comfortable in cramped quarters when he designed today's House of the Week.

It is not a large house home-embowed with rooms for a battalion-size family. Basically it is a three bedroom house with 2½ baths, living room, dining room and large family-kitchen.

But it is expanded just enough beyond the "efficiency" class to give the elbow room necessary for gracious living.

DESIGN CONCEPT

Architect Cohen explains its design concept this way: "Well proportioned rooms don't require 'multi-use' handling. "Avoiding this sort of compromise is what the term gracious living actually means."

The house contains a living area of 1,848 square feet in over-all dimensions of 79'6" wide by 38'4" deep.

Thus it still is well below the "large" category which begins generally at 2,000 square feet.

An inviting front portico with arched columns defines the traditional exterior which features a pleasing blend of native stone and vertical board siding.

Multiplaned windows accent the home's colonial flavor, and a broad planter adds interest at the protruding gable.

EQUALLY EXCITING

The house is equally exciting in the rear.

A large covered porch, which could be screened if desired, is at one corner directly behind the garage.

At the center of the house is a recessed entry to the dining room.

Sliding glass doors lead to the rear terrace, down two steps from the level.

The front portico, 31' wide and 6' deep, provides a gracious covered entry as well as a delightful place to relax and watch the passing neighborhood scene.

A vestibule leads to the spacious reception foyer with its generous coat closet and adjoining powder room, as especially nice feature which is convenient to the living area and not far removed from the bedroom wing, so that it can be pressed into family service if necessary.

A handsome, strong fireplace, is the focal point of the 25' by 14' living room.

WINDOW BANKS

Two broad banks of windows overlook the portico, and there more space.

H-27 STATISTICS

A three-bedroom one-story home with 2½ baths in over-all dimensions of 79'6" wide by 38'4" deep and basic living area of 1,848 square feet. Entrance portico is 186 square feet, rear covered porch is 238 square feet, garage is 333 square feet. Finished area, floor to ceiling, is 14,640 cubic feet; basement 14,640 cubic feet; attic 5,300 cubic feet; garage 5,600 cubic feet.

is plenty of wall space for imaginative furniture arrangement.

The informal family-kitchen is planned ideally for a medium size family.

The kitchen work area is nicely contained in an efficient U-shape plan which offers a maximum of counter space in a minimum area, and assures a work zone free from annoying traffic.

A window over the sink provides excellent supervision of the outdoor play area.

The covered porch actually is an extension of the family room, offering 228 square feet of protected recreation space.

There also is a door from the garage to the porch, providing sheltered access to the kitchen when you drive it in bad weather.

All three bedrooms are well sized and have copious closet space.

The master bedroom is an especially elegant suite. It has a dressing room with built-in, an adjoining full bath with stall shower, and no less than five closets.

The family bathroom (which is back-to-back with the master bath for plumbing economy) has a double vanity and recessed tub, and is just a step away from both family bedrooms.

Diagonal Pattern Creates Illusion

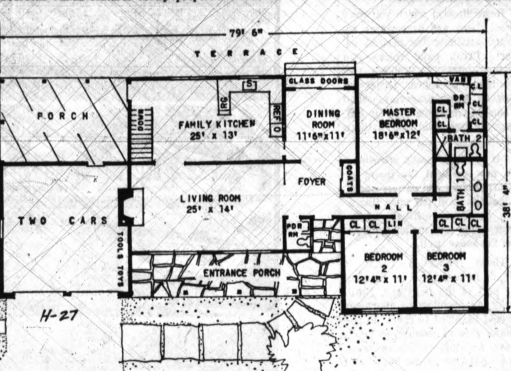

To make a small room look larger you can borrow an idea from the architect and decorator: use a diagonal type layout for your floor tiles.

The trick is especially effective with ceramic tile in entryways, bathrooms, kitchens and outdoor patios.

Tiles laid in this fashion create the illusion of space, because the eye tends to linger longer over diagonal lines. The same idea also may be applied to countertops.

TRADITIONAL AND COMFORTABLE — This fine three-bedroom ranch features nicely proportioned rooms and the amount of living space sought by medium size families tired of living in cramped quarters. The architect is Lester Cohen.

FLOOR PLAN — The basic living area is 1,848 square feet. Good planning keeps hall space to a minimum yet provides easy movement from one part of the house to another. Note also the copious closet space.

Home's Upkeep Often Raises Housing Costs

Most homeowners are wisely cost-conscious when they build or buy, yet they frequently overlook one of the biggest expenses of home ownership — maintenance.

Heavy use areas, such as bathroom and kitchen walls, are costly to maintain if they must be repainted frequently over a period of years. The solution is to surface these areas with a durable material whose first cost is its final cost.

A good example is ceramic tile, which never needs to be painted or waxed and can be kept sparkling like new by wiping occasionally with a damp cloth. Ceramic tile is ideal for bathroom walls and floors because it's waterproof. And, because it is impervious to scratches and burns, it is the preferred material for kitchen countertops and wall surfaces.

Quality materials that still look new after years of use also add to the resale value of a home. Walls and floors that have been repeatedly nicked, scarred and patched do not have the same appeal.

2 Missing as Tug Sinks

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—One crewman drowned and two others disappeared as a tugboat sank in the Houston Ship Channel early today.

Divers heard sounds which they said might hint an air bubble enabled one or both missing men to survive inside the sunken craft, the R. J. Whales.

Witnesses said the Whales apparently shoved itself to the bottom while trying with an outboard motor to push the tanker Spinnago to a Shell Oil Co. refinery dock at suburban Deer Park.

The accident happened about 3 a.m.

Searchers recovered the body of Engineer Jack Kelly 2 1/2 hours later.

MISSING MEN

The missing men were Capt. A. L. Hernandez and First Mate T. R. Saller.

Two other crewmen — Joe Ferrer of La Marque, Tex., and J. C. Oliver of Pasadena, Tex. — were rescued.

Both were in a state of shock and unable to tell what happened.

Only a part of the Whales' radio antenna remained above water in the middle of the ship channel, opposite the Shell refinery.

SEARCH ON

Coast Guardsmen aided by divers continued a search for the missing men.

Escaped Mass Murderer

Police Comb S. Switzerland for Nazi

BASEL, Switzerland (AP)—Police combed southern Switzerland today for traces of fugitive Nazi mass murderer Hans W. Zech-Neunthwisch despite strong belief the "Nazi underground" has smuggled him out of the country.

The 47-year-old SS veteran, who escaped from a German prison Thursday, three days after he had been convicted of complicity in the wartime killing of Russian Jews, was last seen boarding a train in Basel's Muehlhausen station.

The search was concentrated in the Italian-speaking Ticino region of Switzerland, a favorite hideout for Nazis in recent years.

Erich Rajakowitch, an alleged aide of Adolf Eichmann, was arrested in the Ticino a year ago and extradited to Austria to face war-crimes charges.

Police sources said, however, that Zech-Neunthwisch probably lost no time in getting out of Switzerland. They speculated that he may very well be in Egypt or some South American country by this time.

NAZI UNDERGROUND

In Frankfurt, Deputy Hesse State Prosecutor Ulrich Kruger said authorities are working on the assumption "some kind of Nazi underground" may be helping hunted Nazi war criminals.

He said Zech-Neunthwisch's escape from the West German jail might be the latest work of the group, adding that it is unlikely several thousand war criminals could have escaped West German courts without "experienced, organized assistance from a group operating clandestinely."

In Braunschweig, police were questioning a man arrested on suspicion of helping Zech-Neunthwisch escape. His identity was not disclosed, but it was believed he might have driven the fugitive's "getaway car."

Braunschweig prosecutor Heinrich Kintzi said an unidentified man drove the fugitive to the airport where he boarded a chartered plane for the flight to Basel, in the company of a woman believed to be his 32-year-old girlfriend Margit (Little Angel) Steinhauer.

GUARD ARRESTED

West German police already have arrested guard Dietrich Zeemann, 46, who has admitted he smuggled Zech-Neunthwisch out of the prison.

Basel's Chief Prosecutor Walter Burkhardt said the fugitive will be "arrested on sight anywhere in Switzerland," and an official of the Swiss Justice Ministry said he probably would be extradited to West Germany if he is captured.

Fugitives guilty of political crimes are not usually extradited from Switzerland, the official said, "but in these special mass murder cases it is unlikely any objection would be raised."

Train-Car Crash Kills Mother and Three Children

BRYAN, Ohio (UPI)—A Michigan woman and three children were killed last night when a Washab passenger train slammed into their car and tore it to pieces at a rural crossing northeast of here.

Two other children were critically injured.

The highway patrol identified the dead as Stella Sizemore, 31, of Adrian, Mich.; her son, Donald, a daughter, whose name was not known; and Kathleen Hale, 15, also of Adrian.

In poor condition at Williams County Hospital at Montpelier were two more Sizemore children, Anna Jean, 11, and David, 9.

Primary Set in California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Preparations for California's June 2 presidential primary returned to near normal today, but Harold Stassen, who stalled election machinery for two days in an attempt to get on the Republican ballot, vowed to keep trying.

The U.S. Supreme Court Friday turned down Stassen's appeal to stay on the ballot.

California's Supreme Court had previously upheld Secretary of State Frank Jordan's refusal to list Stassen, Jordan said former Minnesota governor had fallen short of the required number of certified signatures.

But Stassen told a Republican club's meeting in French Lick, Ind., Friday night that he has uncovered "new evidence" and will continue his investigation into what he called "unfair, wrongful and hand handed" actions by Jordan.

He did not say what the evidence was, or what his next step might be.

Jordan ordered clerks of the 58 counties to go ahead with printing of Republican ballots after he was informed of the high court's 6-3 decision, issued without comment.

But he advised waiting on Democratic ballots pending the outcome of a similar court action by Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles.

Yorty seeks to qualify a slate of delegates to oppose Gov. Edmund G. Brown on the Democratic ballot.

COMPLICATIONS

Brain surgery last August left the California Democrat partially paralyzed and with a speech difficulty. Some party leaders have questioned his ability to campaign.

Paul Green, Engle's press aide, said the latest operation was successful, but did not give any details. However the senator's campaign chairman, Assemblyman Tom Carroll, said he assumed it was further brain surgery to cure the paralysis.

He said Engle's campaign would proceed "unless there is a sudden change."

Lady Bird Enjoys Role in 'Poverty War' Swing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says she won't soon forget the little boy in the tiny Kentucky mountain town who breathlessly told her husband: "Mr. President, no one ever comes to Inez."

And she still seems astonished at the sign held up in a crowd, "Tell 'Him' and 'Her' Hello," a greeting for the Johnsons pet Beagle dogs.

Like everyone else, Mrs. Johnson went on Friday's on-state poverty swing "on short notice." She'd planned to return to Washington after attending a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago with him Thursday night. But "Lyndon just thought I really ought to go and he wanted me to."

SHOOK HANDS

Not only did Mrs. Johnson go, she shook hands in the crowds, was crushed in the friendly, but bustling throngs and made speeches everywhere Johnson did.

Huntington, W.Va., airport, Friday night, the First Lady said: "We have seen a big slice of America, and although we have seen economic problems, we have also seen initiative and determination, and just a lot of ways of attacking things."

She said this type of trip was like a dose of adrenaline to Johnson. It was "the sort of a day that makes Lyndon feel like going back and working harder to live up to the faith that he has found people having in him today."

DID HIM GOOD

At Huntington, while she waited in the presidential plane for Johnson to confide his governors' conference before heading home, Mrs. Johnson said in an interview she thought it did her husband good to get out of Washington to meet the people. "I don't think Washington is a reliable thermometer to test the political temperature or a barometer of the way the wind is blowing," she said.

Mrs. Johnson said she really likes to go on such trips with the President "except that I don't get to take in as much as I like to. I'm not as fast acting, fast thinking and fast walking as he is."

In fact, Mrs. Johnson often got left behind in the hand-shaking as she slowed down to chat a bit or pat a child.

UNEASY FEELING

She had to admit "I don't really feel easy talking around my husband," referring to making comparisons with him on the same platform.

The 51-year-old First Lady finished her long day admittedly a bit weary, and the first thing she did was to dab her aching, right hand, with hand cream. The President had fared worse; his right hand was scratched and hurting from handshaking.

"People don't exactly shake," she explained; "They hold."

Seek New Site for Dallas Trial

Man Is Accused of Spitting at Stevenson

DALLAS (AP)—A lawyer for Robert Edward Hatfield, 23, accused of spitting at United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, says he will seek to have Hatfield's trial moved to another county.

The attorney, Pete White, questioned yesterday whether the suburban Irving resident could get a fair trial here as a result of "the events which have taken place."

This was an apparent reference to the assassination of President Kennedy and criticism which Dallas has received.

Police said Hatfield spit at Stevenson as he left Dallas Memorial Auditorium after a U.N. Day speech Oct. 24, 1963.

An aggravated assault complaint accuses Hatfield of striking patrolman L. R. Larsen as the officer arrested him.

RELATE TO CHARGE

Spokesmen from the district attorney's office said, however, that testimony would also relate to the spitting accusation.

Prosecutors said the aggravated assault charge involving the officer is a strategy which removes the need for Stevenson to appear as a witness in the trial.

Hatfield's trial is scheduled May 18 in Judge Newton Fitzhugh's County Court of Criminal Appeals.

If convicted, Hatfield — now free on bond — could be sentenced to two years in jail and fined $1,000.

Crosses Burn in State of Mississippi

GREENWOOD, Miss. (AP)—Crosses blazed in many towns and communities across Mississippi Friday night.

At Greenwood, a white-hooded figure was seen setting fire to a cross on the lawn of the LeFlore County Courthouse. At least two other crosses also burned at Greenwood.

Shortly afterwards some 25 local and state law enforcement officers were seen parked across the street from the courthouse.

An unconfirmed report to the Jackson Clarion-Ledger said crosses blazed in 64 of the state's 82 counties.

At Greenwood, which is state headquarters for the pro-segregationist Citizens Council, a number of Ku Klux Klan literature has been popping up recently.

BUBBLES:

As you know water has a skin, witness the billions of bubbles at the base of a waterfall, or a child blowing bubbles—air inside a drop of water. Your doctor prescribes, "Take ten tablets in a glass of water." You measure that liquid one drop at a time and recover. Water behind a dam has vast potential power but in a fountain it falls as bubbles.

Bubbles build society that air tight skin has incalculable force, for good or evil; our Fire, Street and Police Department, Parking Meters and personnel in City Hall are Chris Bubbles, all of which can cause a flood of complaints, rising tempers and unhappy citizens or verbal commotions.

Friendship is that element that began with a bubble of thoughtfulness and grew to ocean proportions. Friendship grows with one-drop-feeding of kindness; those bubbles climb a string to a heart—yours.

ONCE OUT OF TROUBLE — Victory in yesterday's Women's North and South Golf Tourney came fairly easy for Phil Tait (left) once she was out of the sand trap on the sixth hole at the Pinehurst (N.C.) Country Club. After blasting from the trouble spot, Miss Press went to gain the championship with a 7 and 6 win over Mrs. George Trahan.

Littler, Young Texan in Golf Tourney Tie

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Gene Littler, who has won more every time he played, and Salty Terry Dill, a young Texan looking forward eagerly to his first cash of the year, lead the $40,000 Texas Open into its third round.

Littler, former National Open champion who hasn't won a tournament in two years but has cashed away plenty of money—$11,848 this year—and Dill, who hails from a town with the picturesque name of Muleshoe, were the only leaders able to hold the pace Friday.

Each shot a second straight three-under-par 67 to tie for the top at 134. Eight others, who were tied with them for the first round, faltered and allowed Dan Sikes of Ponte Vedra Beach Fla., who shot a 66, to ease into the runner-up spot with 135.

Sikes, who had a 75-foot putt in his collection, was one stroke ahead of five players bunched at 136.

Tied at 136 are Dutch Harrison, Bob Charles, Dick Crawford, Howie Johnson and Ken Venturi. Bunched at 137 are Fred Marti, Miller Barber, Doug Sanders, Raymond Floyd, Jerry Steelsmith and Charles Sifford.

Seventy-four pros survived the cut as the tournament trimmed down to 70 low pros and ties, plus 10 amateurs who stayed in regardless of their scores.

Among those who failed to make it were Jimmy Demaret, the golf Hall of Famer to whom the Texas Open was dedicated this year; Bruce Devlin, Al Best, J. Edgar Hebert and Rex Baxter Jr.

Northern trimmed Waterford's inexperienced squad, 5-0 and lost only three sets all year. Rick Johnson and Ron Toroni had the day's best match with the former winning, 6-4, 4-6, 7-5.

The Huskies next will meet Walla Walla in a Tuesday I.L. clash.

Kettering, like neighboring Waterford in its first season of varsity tennis play, took a 4-1 loss, 4-1, for the Captains' second win in seven matches.

Kettering lost the opening singles match yesterday to Rochester's Kirk Roose, but No. 3 player Dave Carr edged the Falcons' Ron Sadler, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, and the victory drive was on.

Chisox Tardy Lefty in Winning Form

By United Press International
Juan Pizarro is a special case with the Chicago White Sox. The Puerto Rican left-hander is a year-round baseball player who more or less keeps his own time table—like reporting 30 days after the Chicago pitchers were required to be in training camp this spring.

But the White Sox weren't upset. Actually wanderin' Juan, 164 last season, was "only" 15 days late since he had been given a special extension of the deadline because he played winter ball.

Juan was rapped hard in his brief spring training appearances and missed a couple of starting turns early this season, but Friday night Pizarro rewarded General Manager Ed Short and Manager Al Lopez for their patience.

HURLS THREE-HITTER
Pizarro, in his first start of the season, held the Boston Red Sox to three hits, ripped a pair of singles good for three runs, and stole a base. He struck out six and walked only three in going the full nine innings. He had made only two two-inning starts in spring training, allowing seven hits and five runs.

Floyd Robinson added a two-run homer for the White Sox in their 6-1 victory.

Dick Stuart provided Boston with its only tally, his first home of the season in the fourth inning. Starter Bill Monbouquette was the loser.

Wayne Causey's two-base error opened the gates for four unearned runs in a five-run 10th inning for the Washington Senators. Southpaw Claude Osteen went the full 10 innings scattering seven hits to gain his first victory in three decisions. Orlando Pena, who went 9-13 in decisions for Kansas City, was the loser.

The Cleveland Indians broke up the longest game of the young season with three runs in the 16th inning to defeat the Angels, 5-2, in a four-hour 30-minute marathon at Los Angeles. Cleveland had carried a 2-0 lead into the ninth inning on a two-run homer by Woody Held only to have the Angels tie it.

Thirty-six players were used in the contest. Art Fowler, the loser, walked two and hit another batter in the fatal 16th, to snap the deadlock. Don McMahon, the fourth Cleveland hurler, was the winner.

Kelly's law states, "Anything that can float up, will." Applied to bridge it might read, "Give your partner a chance to make a mistake and he will."

West was a very good player. South a player and East just a player.

South ruffed the opening spade lead in dummy, cashed dummy's ace of clubs and led a club to his queen. He discarded two of dummy's hearts on the ace and king of spades and led the deuce of diamonds.

West played the three spot because he felt that the nine might be important later and East's ace picked up dummy's king.

East went into a long huddle and led the deuce of hearts. West was on lead with the ace and, after a little thought, West led the queen of hearts.

He was sure that South would not have gone out of his way to discard two hearts on a singleton himself. Hence South had started with exactly two hearts.

South ruffed with the king in dummy and proceeded to run out all his trumps and the good jack of hearts.

This brought East down to the queen of spades and he had to discard one of the other. In accordance with Kelly's law, East came the queen of diamonds and South had stolen the game.

East's play was horrible, but West could have protected his partner by leading back the nine of diamonds after taking his ace of hearts.

Reapportionment Plan Clears State House

Lapeer County Collision Leaves 3 Dead, 3 Hurt

Three persons were killed and three others seriously injured, one critically, in a Lapeer County auto crash last night.

Dead are Cyrene Arnold, his wife Marion, both 64, of 2083 Pero, Lapeer County, and Linda K. Grimes, 19, of 2756 Kenmore, Berkley.

The crash occurred at 10:30 p.m. at Davis Lake Road and M24 in Metamora Township.

Lapeer County Sheriff's officers said a car driven by Michael F. Livingston, 18, of 3339 Bacon, Berkley, apparently ran a stop sign at the M24 intersection, hitting the northbound Arnold vehicle.

Miss Grimes was a passenger in the Livingston car. Livingston is reported in serious condition with a fractured knee and lacerations.

OTHER INJURED

Another passenger, Martin Comahafeter, 20, of 161 E. Baker, Clawson, is in critical condition with a fractured hip and a possible head injury. The third injured person, Sara Jean Arnold, 20, riding with her parents, suffered scalp lacerations.

All of the injured are at Pontiac General Hospital.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold are at Muir Brothers Funeral Home, Lapeer.

LBJ Pushes Aid Plans in 'Poverty War'

Will Send Congress Special Message to Relieve 10-State Area

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson pushed plans for aid to poverty-stricken Appalachia today, heartened by the enthusiasm of the crowds he met on a whirlwind five-state tour strongly reminiscent of a political campaign.

The Chief Executive capped his 17-hour personal look at hard times in Northern industrial cities and backwoods hamlets by announcing last night that he would send to Congress "in a matter of days" a special message urging measures to relieve economic distress in the 10-state area.

Johnson was expected to seek approval of a $250 million program to renew the human and physical resources of the area, which stretches from Pennsylvania to Alabama along the Appalachian Mountain range.

After the meeting with the governors of seven of the states, he told a crowd of about 2,500 at the Huntington, W. Va., airport last night, "this trip has been inspiring... everywhere we have gone, the thought has inspired us—that a wonderful spirit there is among the people."

The President's scratched and bruised hands—rubbed raw by a marathon handshaking foray—gave silent testimony to the political side of his dawn-to-dark tour in South Bend, Ind., from Pennsylvania to Alabama, Pittsburgh, Inez and Paintsville, Ky., and Huntington.

BOOST TO LBJ

The crowd acted on him "like a shot of adrenalin," according to the weary Mrs. Johnson, who added that after such a reception "Lyndon feels like going back and working harder to live up to the faith that he has found people have in him."

The Chief Executive drove his secret service bodyguard almost to despair, darting into crowds, climbing over wooden barricades and reaching through wire fences to make contact with thousands of Americans who turned out to see him.

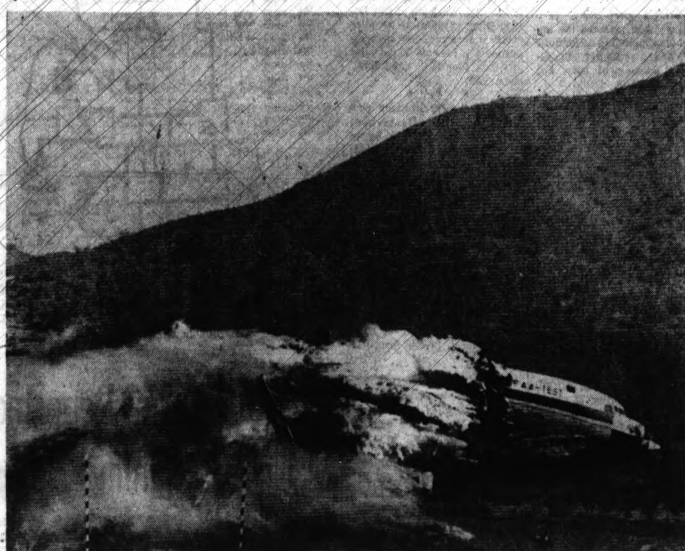

Geerlings released reproductions of the handwritten letter, confirmed by Romney's office as genuine, which said: "Dear Clyde: Please carefully reconsider your party position over the weekend and let me know if you feel differently. I will hold the Ed Ellis etc. telegrams until Monday. You should end your career in honor, not dishonor. Signed George."

Geerlings answered Romney by letter, telling him to go ahead and release the telegrams, which were signed by seven Republican party officials in Geerlings' senatorial district, the 23rd.

Romney then released the two wires from Muskegon, saying he feels "personally sorry for Sen. Geerlings."

IRRATIONAL ACTION

One, signed by GOP state central committee man James Schoener, called the Geerlings floor speech an "irrational outburst," and said the party "will accept his resignation."

PLANNED CRASH—Safety officials say some of the passengers would have survived this crash, staged as an experiment in the interest of safety studies yesterday in Arizona. Dummies and other equipment were in the plane

Vote on 1st Amendment Nears

Hope to End Rights Stalemate

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate leaders said today they expect a vote by Wednesday on their amendment to the civil rights bill—an amendment they hope will drive the opening wedge into the Senate stalemate.

Both leaders, Democrat Mike Mansfield and Republican Everett B. Dirksen, told newsmen the test on the first amendment to the measure should come by Tuesday or Wednesday.

Southerners could upset the

timetable. However, the Mansfield-Dirksen proposal on jury trials in discrimination cases is a gesture toward easing their opposition which has forced the debate into its 40th day.

Originally, President Johnson and other supporters of the broad antidiscrimination measure had called for its passage in the same form as drafted in the House.

But after consultation with administration strategists the Senate leaders introduced their amendment as a substitute for a Southern proposal offered by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga.

JURY TRIAL

It would permit a jury trial on any contempt action arising under the rights bill if the penalty involved more than 30 days in prison or a fine or more than $500.

If an individual or official fails to comply with a court order in a racial case, he could be found to be in contempt of the court. Most such contempt cases in the past have been decided by federal judges without a jury.

Normally the Senate does not meet Saturday, but leaders called for a fourth consecutive Saturday session.

10 Injured, 28 Arrested in Racial Demonstration

CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—Civil rights demonstrations flared in to violence in this southeastern Pennsylvania city Friday night, resulting in injury to at least 10 persons and the arrest of at least 28.

The violence erupted when police attempted to disperse demonstrators blocking a street corner in the Negro section of the city.

Fights broke out when some 150 helmeted state and city policemen, and deputized municipal workers, swinging nightsticks, moved in to make arrests and herded the demonstrators into buses to be taken to the police station.

A flurry of fighting erupted inside the bus and a second wave of violence flared, as bystanders joined the melee and more police arrived.

Minutes later, some 100 policemen rushed from buses to a nearby tavern where more rioting and rock throwing was met with force by police, carrying riot sticks.

Police quelled the outbreaks, but described the situation as tense as they patrolled the streets of Chester and followed up reports of vandalism and a rash of false fire alarms.

Machine Turns Matchmaker

Romantic 'Brain' Plays Cupid for Dance

STORRS, Conn. (AP)—Oswald, the romantic computer, did O.K. on his first venture as a matchmaker at the University of Connecticut.

He was beset by difficulties—such as the girls who said they didn't want "sexually aggressive" partners and boys who did not want girls who were likely to "get serious."

But, with the help of a few humans, everything went smoothly at the dance Friday night despite a surplus of a score of males.

It was all part of an experiment by the psychology department. Questionnaires with 60 questions were offered to the student body. They were filled out by some 550 students.

Oswald—an IBM 7090 computer—then essayed to provide each student with three suitable partners for the dance.

ARRANGED BY NUMBERS

Came the big night, the chosen students congregated in the student union ballroom and were quickly tagged and arranged by number.

Jack Carlson, a senior majoring in English, was paired with 333—a brunette graduate student also studying English literature—and 167 and 13, two blonde sophomores.

"If I could remember 333's name..." Carlson mused afterward. "She's older than I am—but so what!"

'PROBLEM DESK'

There were some who were hard to match in terms of the qualifications they had listed for their prospective partners.

They drew zeroes for one of their three partners and had to go to a "problem desk" staffed by humans to fill out their cards, which were IBM cards punched by Oswald.

Oswald generally was successful despite requests from most males for partners better looking than they rated themselves.

He was helped considerably by the ladies, 85 per cent of whom described themselves as above average in appearance.

The gallant electronic host of the evening acknowledged that he was not infallible. He signed each dance card: "Good luck—Oswald."

Youth Admits Wylie Slaying

2 Girls Found Dead in NY Last August

NEW YORK (AP)—A 19-year-old unemployed laborer was charged with homicide today in the brutal slayings of career girls Janice Wylie and Emily Hoffer last Aug. 28 in their upper East Side Manhattan apartment.

The suspect, George Whitmore Jr., stood poker-faced in Brooklyn Criminal Court as he also was charged with homicide in the stab slaying of a Brooklyn woman April 14.

Whitmore was arrested yesterday morning in connection with an attempted purse snatching on a Brooklyn street the day before.

During questioning, police said, Whitmore admitted killing 46-year-old Minnie Edmonds, stabbing her twice in the face and twice in the chest. Later he told them he had slain Miss Wylie and Miss Hoffer.

CHARGE DEMOCRATS

Police said Whitmore, in a statement, said that on the morning of the double murder he went by subway from Brooklyn to 42nd Street, Manhattan, and somehow got up to the East 80's where the girls lived in a $200-a-month, furnished three-room apartment.

REAR STAIRWAY

Whitmore was quoted as saying he got into the apartment building by a rear stairway and saw the door of apartment 3C ajar.

Whitmore's statement said he entered the apartment, made his way to the kitchen and was "rummaging around" when Janice came out of the bathroom wearing a towel, saw him, and screamed.

The statement said he picked up a soft drink bottle, struck her with it until she was unconscious, then tied her.

When Miss Hoffer returned, the statement said, Whitmore also struck her with a bottle and tied her. But she came to and started to scream.

Whitmore's statement said he then got three carving knives from the kitchen and stabbed Miss Hoffer repeatedly. Police said Whitmore told them he also stabbed Miss Wylie but for no apparent reason.

Whitmore further was quoted as saying he then thoroughly washed the knives and his hands and left the apartment, getting to the street by the rear stairway of the building.

Republicans Push Through Own Formula

Democrats Triumph in Vote on Straight Party Ticket Issue

LANSING (AP)—Rejecting the plan offered by Gov. George W. Romney and defying a bipartisan Senate coalition, House Republicans yesterday passed their own plan for congressional redistricting.

differences over redistricting and elections issues flared openly in the House.

Democrats gained at least a temporary triumph against the proposed "Massachusetts ballot."

As Romney's plan failed, "Plan C," a compromise drafted late Thursday by a special House GOP committee, was adopted on a 57-45 vote—that—except for one rebel on each side—followed party lines.

But, the Republican plan to abolish the straight party ticket and replace it with the "Massachusetts ballot" lost on a 55-40 vote, one vote shy of the needed majority in the 110-vote chamber.

GOP leaders, who viewed the ballot proposal as a key element to help them bargain with the Senate on redistricting, admittedly were stunned by the result.

CHARGE DEMOCRATS

Republicans were charged by Democrats with seeking to "germymander" Congressional districts with their plan and were accused of trying to disenfranchise voters with the bill to abolish the straight party ticket.

Democrats also challenged the GOP to demonstrate support for Romney by backing the governor's Congressional plan instead of its own.

Romney, however, said the Congressional plan approved in the House "is fairer and more equitable, and is closer to the principle of equal population than the proposal passed by the Senate coalition."

The vote which sent the plan to the Senate demonstrated what House Speaker Allison Green, R-Kingston, earlier had referred to as the intention of House Republicans "to get and keep control of the situation."

It came after Romney's plan was rejected on a 15-45 vote. Five Republicans and 10 Democrats voted for it, 15 Republicans and 30 Democrats voted against it and 37 Republicans and 9 Democrats abstained. Republicans had been split because it cut county lines in several places—a problem which Plan C was designed to solve.

Says Romney Letter Contained Threat

LANSING (AP)—Sen. Clyde Geerlings, R-Holland, yesterday accused Gov. Romney of writing a threatening letter to try to make the senator recant from an anti-Romney speech.

Geerlings angrily told the Senate Wednesday night that he was getting out of the Senate and the Republican party because he was disgusted with the Romney administration.

Geerlings released reproductions of the handwritten letter, confirmed by Romney's office as genuine, which said:

"Dear Clyde: Please carefully reconsider your party position over the weekend and let me know if you feel differently. I will hold the Ed Ellis etc. telegrams until Monday. You should end your career in honor, not dishonor. Signed George."

Geerlings answered Romney by letter, telling him to go ahead and release the telegrams, which were signed by seven Republican party officials in Geerlings' senatorial district, the 23rd.

Romney then released the two wires from Muskegon, saying he feels "personally sorry for Sen. Geerlings."

Russia, China to Confer in Fall

By K. C. THALER
LONDON (UPI) — Red China has agreed to bilateral peace talks with Russia in the fall, but has ignored a Soviet bid for a summit on the Communist ideological dispute, authoritative sources disclosed today.

Pravda Story Blasts Peking

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union accused the Red Chinese today of shameless slander and overt cheating and charged them with trying to isolate Russia from the nations of Asia and Africa.

The Communist party newspaper Pravda leveled an angry 2,500-word blast at Peking for blocking an immediate invitation for the Russians to attend a conference of Asian-African nations to be held in Africa next March.

The latest Kremlin salvo in the ideological battle with Red China sprang from the action of Chinese Foreign Minister Chen Yi at a preliminary Asian-African meeting earlier this month in Jakarta, Indonesia. Because of Chen's opposition, a decision was postponed on an Indian proposal to invite the Russians to the main conference.

OVERT CHEATING
"Chen Yi resorted to overt cheating when he declared that the participants in the Jakarta conference 'turned down' the Indian proposal," Pravda charged. It added:

"The Chinese minister of foreign affairs resorted to shameless slander when he alleged that the Chinese people's republic at the conference advocated unity in the struggle against imperialism."

"In fact... the Chinese delegation at the meeting in the Indonesian capital advocated the 'cutting off' of the Soviet Union from Afro-Asian countries, thus continuing to damage the unity of the forces fighting against imperialism."

"The Chinese delegation in Jakarta tried to fulfill its plan aimed at isolating the peoples of Asia and Africa from the socialist countries, from the struggle for peace. They did not stop at anything in their attempts to achieve their nationalistic and hegemonistic aims."

Considerable fresh mediation activity was expected to begin almost at once by leaders of key Communist parties.

The powerful Italian Communist Party — strongest in Western Europe — is sending a special mission to Moscow to seek Khrushchev from any attempt at a showdown with Peking and to counsel new peace efforts.

2 Missing as Tug Sinks

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — One crewman drowned and two others disappeared as a tugboat sank in the Houston Ship Channel early today.

Divers heard sounds which they said might hint an air bubble enabled one or both missing men to survive inside the sunken craft, the R. J. Whales.

Witnesses said the Whales apparently shoved itself to the bottom while trying with another tug, the Pike, to push the tanker Spingana to a Shell Oil Co. refinery dock at suburban Deer Park.

The accident happened about 3 a.m.

Searchers recovered the body of Engineer Jack Kelly 2 1/2 hours later.

MISSING MEN

The missing men were Capt. A. L. Hernandez and First Mate V. R. Salter.

Two other crewmen — Joe Forrest of La Marque, Tex., and J. C. Oliver of Pasadena, Tex. — were rescued.

Both were in a state of shock and unable to tell what happened.

Only a part of the Whales' radio antenna remained above water in the middle of the ship channel, opposite the Shell refinery.

Coast Guardmen aided by divers continued a search for the missing men.

Injured is Harlan Hether, 495 John R. Troy. He suffered chest injuries in a 3 a.m. accident yesterday at the Ford Tractor Division, 2500 E. Maple, Troy.

Police said Hether was test-driving a tractor with 100-pound weights on each wheel and drawing a double drag weighing about 5,000 pounds.

Escaped Mass Murderer

Police Comb S. Switzerland for Nazi

BASEL, Switzerland (UPI) — Police combed southern Switzerland today for traces of fugitive Nazi mass murderer Hans W. Zech-Neunthaler despite strong belief the "Nazi underground" has smuggled him out of the country.

The 47-year-old SS veteran, who escaped from a German prison Thursday, three days after he had been convicted of complicity in the wartime killing of Russian Jews, was last seen boarding a train in Basel's Muehlhausen station.

The search was concentrated in the Italian-speaking Ticino region of Switzerland, a favorite hideout for Nazis in recent years.

Erich Rajakowitch, an alleged aide of Adolf Eichmann, was arrested in the Ticino a year ago and extradited to Austria to face war-crimes charges.

Police sources said, however, that Zech-Neunthaler probably lost no time in getting out of Switzerland. They speculated that he may well be in Egypt or some South American country by this time.

NAZI UNDERGROUND

In Frankfurt, Deputy Hesse State Prosecutor Ulrich-Kruger said authorities are working on the assumption "some kind of Nazi underground" may be helping hunted Nazi war criminals.

He said Zech-Neunthaler's escape from the West German jail might be the latest work of the group, adding that it is unlikely several thousand war criminals could have escaped West German courts without "experienced, organized assistance from a group operating clandestinely."

In Braunschweig, police were questioning a man arrested on suspicion of helping Zech-Neunthaler escape. His identity was not disclosed, but it was believed he might have driven the fugitive's "getaway car."

Braunschweig prosecutor Heinrich Kintzi said an unidentified man drove the fugitive to the airport where he boarded a chartered plane for the flight to Basel, in the company of a woman believed to be his 32-year-old girlfriend Margit (Little Angel) Steinheuer.

GUARD ARRESTED

West German police already have arrested guard Dietrich Zeemann, 48, who has admitted he smuggled Zech-Neunthaler out of the prison.

Basel's Chief Prosecutor Walter Burkhardt said the fugitive will be "arrested on sight anywhere in Switzerland," and an official of the Swiss Justice Ministry said he probably would be extradited to West Germany if he is captured.

Seek New Site for Dallas Trial

Man Is Accused of Spitting at Stevenson

DALLAS (AP) — A lawyer for Robert Edward Hatfield, 23, accused of spitting at United Nations Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, says he will seek to have Hatfield's trial moved to another county.

The attorney, Pete White, questioned yesterday whether the suburban Irving resident could get a fair trial here as a result of "the events which have taken place."

This was an apparent reference to the assassination of President Kennedy and criticism which Dallas has received.

Police said Hatfield spit at Stevenson as he left Dallas Memorial Auditorium after a U.N. Day speech Oct. 24, 1963.

An aggravated assault complaint accuses Hatfield of striking patrolman L. R. Larsen as the officer arrested him.

RELATE TO CHARGE

Spokesmen from the district attorney's office said, however, that testimony would also relate to the spitting accusation.

Prosecutors said the aggravated assault charge involving the officer is a strategy which removes the need for Stevenson to appear as a witness in the trial.

Hatfield's trial is scheduled May 18 in Judge Newton Fitzhugh's County Court of Criminal Appeals.

If convicted, Hatfield — now free on bond — could be sentenced to two years in jail and fined $1,000.

Reflections
BUBBLES:
As you know water has a skin, witness the billions of bubbles at the base of a waterfall, or a child blowing bubbles—air inside a drop of water. Your doctor prescribes, "Take ten drops in a glass of water."—You measure that liquid one drop at a time and recover. Water behind a dam has vast power potential but in a fountain it falls as bubbles.

Bubbles build society; that air tight skin has incalculable force, for good or evil; our Fire, Street and Police Department, Parking Meters and personnel in City Hall are Bubbles, all of which can cause a flood of complaints, rising tempers and unhappy citizens or verbal commendations.

Friendship is that element that began with a bubble of thoughtfulness and grew to ocean proportions. Friendship grows with candor-feeding of kindness; those bubbles climb a string to a heart—yours.

Lady Bird Enjoys Role in 'Poverty War' Swing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson says she won't soon forget the little boy in the tiny Kentucky mountain town who breathlessly told her husband: "Mr. President, no one ever comes to see me."

And she still seems astonished at the sign held up in a crowd: "Tell 'Him' and 'Her' Hello," a greeting for the Johnsons' pet Beagle dog.

Like everyone else, Mrs. Johnson went on Friday's four-state poverty swing "on short notice." She'd planned to return to Washington after attending a Democratic fund-raising dinner in Chicago with him Thursday night. But "Lyndon just thought I really ought to go and he wanted me to."

SHOOK HANDS

Not only did Mrs. Johnson go, she shook hands in the crowds, was crushed in the friendly, but swelling through and made speeches everywhere Johnson did.

In a departing speech at the

Huntington, W.Va., airport, Friday night, the First Lady said: "We have seen a big slice of America, and although we have seen economic problems, we have also seen initiative and determination, and just a lot of ways of attacking things."

She said this type of trip was like a dose of adrenalin to Johnson. It was "the sort of a day that makes Lyndon feel like going back and working hard to live up to the faith that he has found people having in him today."

DID HIM GOOD

At Huntington, while she waited in the presidential plane for Johnson to conclude his governors' conference before heading home, Mrs. Johnson said in an interview she thought it did her husband good to get out of Washington to meet the people. "I don't think Washington is a reliable thermometer to test the political temperature or a barometer of the way the wind is blowing," she said.

Mrs. Johnson said she really likes to go on such trips with the President "except that I don't get to take in as much as I like to. I'm not as fast acting, fast thinking and fast walking as he is."

In fact, Mrs. Johnson often got left behind in the hand-shaking as she slowed down to chat a bit or pat a child.

UNEASY FEELING

She had to admit "I don't really feel easy talking around my husband," referring to making speeches with him on the same platform.

The 51-year-old First Lady finished her long day admittedly a bit weary, and the first thing she did was to dab her aching right hand with hand cream. The President had fared worse; his right hand was scratched and hurting from handshaking.

"People don't exactly shake," she explained, "They hold."
