OU, Detroit Symphony Orchestra host summer institute

Oakland University and the Detroit Symphony Orchestra (DSO) will host a two-week summer institute July 16-30 at the Meadow Brook Music Festival on the university's campus.

Young Michigan musicians will be given the opportunity to improve their instrumental and ensemble abilities, alongside some of America's finest symphonic musicians. Students will stay in university dorms, attend courses in Orchestral Literature and Music Theory, receive private lessons and attend group rehearsals.

Auditions were held in March and April and a select number of musicians were selected.

Oakland University is a state-supported institution of higher education located in Oakland County, Michigan. The university has 109 bachelor's degree programs and 63 graduate degree and certificate programs. Dedicated to preparing learners for the 21st century workplace and society, Oakland University is organized into the College of Arts and Sciences and the Schools of Business Administration, Education and Human Services, Engineering and Computer Science, Health Sciences, Nursing; and the Honors College.
