Champion Archer Wins Miss Michigan Contest

MUSKEGON (AP)—Far curvier than her arrows, archery champion Ann Marston of Wyandotte wore a new crown today as Miss Michigan.

Succeeding Detroiter Patience Pierce, she lists sports as her hobbies, claims no steady boy friend, makes "good coffee" but doesn't do much cooking and has her sights set on a movie career.

The shapely (35-23-35), 5 foot-7 inch 118-pound blonde competed as Miss Detroit in the 10th annual contest last night which drew 24 candidates to Muskegon.

Her court includes red-haired runnerup Mary Ann Edit, 18, of Saint Clair Shores, with Anna Marie Haight, 18, as Miss Ionia, in third place.

Miss Marston, a native of London, England, holds 11 national archery championships. She tours with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marston in an archery act. All three call it "a family project."

She took up archery 10 years ago. Her father, also a former world archery champion, introduced her to the sport.

★ ★ ★

Ann dazzled the audience in talent competition last night by popping three balloons with arrows fired from 200 feet away in the balcony. She finished with a close-range exhibition on the stage before some 2,000 persons.

★ ★ ★

Despite her archery-for-pay status, she was permitted to compete with bow and arrows "because it is not a professional sport."

★ ★ ★

Ann tied for first place in bathing suit competition Thursday night. She was topped in last night's talent test by Barbara Anne Youngdahl 19-year-old Western Michigan University music major—a violinist.

★ ★ ★

"I was speechless," Ann said when asked to comment as the state's forthcoming Miss America Pageant candidate. She said, however, that stage bookings "were left open for this year—just in case I was lucky enough to win."

★ ★ ★

Other prizes in the three-day Michigan pageant included a $250 scholarship in talent awards to Miss Edit, a pianist, a $750 secretarial scholarship to Jane Wills, 23, of Houghton Lake, and a trophy for swimsuit winner Ann Jackson of Clare who competed as Miss Winter Sports Queen. Miss Central Michigan, 19-year-old Bonita Kolean of Holland, was named Miss Congeniality by fellow contestants.

Herter Takes Off for Geneva Talks in a New Jet

Pledges to Attempt Reasonable Agreement With Soviet Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter took off today for the Big Four talks at Geneva with a pledge to strive for "a reasonable agreement with the Soviet Union on the problems of Germany and Berlin."

But, Herter said, he has "no great expectations for success" and that bargaining with the Russians requires "infinite patience and long labor."

Herter spoke at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., near Washington, just before soaring away in a brand new jet plane, a giant military version of the Boeing 707 airliner.

It was one of three bought for President Eisenhower and other top officials. Herter's flight is the first official use of the new craft.

Aides said the U.S. foreign affairs chief is not ruling out the possibility of at least a temporary agreement on the cold war crisis issue at the second round of the foreign ministers' conference.

Such an agreement could pave the way for a summit meeting later in the year.

★ ★ ★

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko returned to Geneva for the crucial second half of the east-west foreign ministers conference today and said he hoped it would warm up the international climate and lead to a summit conference.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko's note of hope sharply contrasted with a bristling demand by East German Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, who arrived a few hours before him, that a "demilitarized free city of Berlin" be established.

Despite Bolz' sharp words, Gromyko was reported prepared to present to the west a proposal that would ensure a long postponement of the Berlin crisis

HER HOME IS GONE—Her search was in vain. Dazed Miss Veronica Simons walks down a road in Hollywood's Laurel Canyon area Friday looking for her house. She didn't find it. A brush fire which roared through tinder-dry trees had destroyed her home and 27 others. Temperatures above 100 degrees added to firefighters' miseries.

But Huge Blaze Fails to Cause Serious Injuries

'Worst in History' of Los Angeles Scorches Heavily-Populated Area

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A wild brush fire raced through picturesque, heavily populated Laurel Canyon in the Hollywood hills yesterday and destroyed 28 homes.

Hundreds of firemen and volunteers from throughout Southern California halted the blaze after toiling for four hours in 100-degree-plus temperatures.

"It was a major disaster," said the Los Angeles Fire Department, "and the worst in the city's history."

No major injuries were reported.

Several firemen suffered burns. Uncounted minor burns and hurts were cared for at home or left untended.

★ ★ ★

The Fire Department estimated 750 acres of brush and scrub trees burned during the peak hours of the fire. The fire was only two miles from central Hollywood.

An official count made late last night after the fire was reported contained said that at least 28 homes were destroyed. There could be more.

★ ★ ★

The houses of several celebrities were spared, however. Preliminary reports showed the residences of actor Charles Coburn and TV stars Steven McQueen, Gardner McKay, John Smith, Bob Sweeney, Minerva Urecal and Luciana Paluzzi, 21-year-old Italian actress, were saved.

ALL-NIGHT WATCH

Fire crews kept an all-night watch on the several hot spots that continued to burn around the edges of the blackened area. Officials hoped to extinguish the blaze completely some time today.

Several destroyed homes were hillside mansions dating back to the last century.

Burned-out families found refuge in a school rescue center. Hotels in Santa Monica and Hollywood also offered to take in the homeless.

Trying to Save Boy's Hands

Firecracker He Found in Yard of Bloomfield Neighbor Explodes

Doctors at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital today were working over a 6 - year - old West Bloomfield Township boy in an effort to save his hands, badly burned when a firecracker he was holding exploded.

★ ★ ★

Both hands of Charles Rudell Jr. of 4154 Blackburn St., were badly mutilated. He also suffered cuts about his face, doctors said.

The boy had found a firecracker in a neighbor's yard early today, according to Sheriff's Deputy Medward Tessier.

He lit it and it exploded in his hands, Tessier said.

The boy's mother described the firecracker as a "dud" and had given it to the neighbor asking him to dispose of it several days ago.

Assails Stand on 'Right to Know'

Editor Rips GOP State Senators

GREENVILLE (UPI)—The editor of the Greenville Daily News has sharply criticized Republican members of the state Senate for opposing a "right to know" bill now up for consideration.

★ ★ ★

"Michigan newspaper editors are learning that the Democrats are more interested in freedom of information than most Republicans," editor Dale Stafford wrote in his column.

The bill, approved earlier by the House of Representatives, is expected to come up for a vote in the Senate next week.

But before the bill is voted on, the Senate will consider a Republican-sponsored amendment which would allow school boards to take action at closed-door "executive sessions."

Stafford, former managing editor of the Detroit Free Press, write:

"The original key wording of the bill is this:

" 'All meetings of school boards shall be public meetings and no person shall be excluded therefrom. The board may hold executive sessions, but no final action shall be taken at any executive session.' "

"But having school business done in public doesn't seem to meet with the approval of Sen. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville), veteran Republican officeholder and a power in the Senate," Stafford said. "He seems to be the leader in an effort to have closed meetings legalized.

"Sen. Clyde Geerlings (R-Holland), another Republican, claims that this should be a local matter and decided at a local level. This argument appears to have no logic since the Legislature is the only body which controls school board operations. The local community cannot take legal action to open its meetings."

The Daily News editor said Sen. John Stahlin (R-Belding) and Sen. Lynn Francis (R-Midland) are the only two Republican senators opposed to Hutchinson's amendment that would legalize decisions at secret meetings.

Stafford said he believes "all tax-supported institutions should be open to audit by the public."

"You can't do auditing when the decisions are made in secret," he wrote.

★ ★ ★

"In recent years the Democrats have led the way in Michigan in favoring open meetings of governmental bodies. The same is true in Washington where Rep. Moss, California, and Sen. Hennings, Missouri, have carried the torch for freeing information from bureaucrats.

"In my opinion the politicians who oppose the public's right to know are making a serious mistake," he concluded.

An autopsy was scheduled for today to determine whether Schettling may have suffered a heart attack at the wheel.

His wife, Lydia, 69, was reported in fair condition with head injuries at St. Joseph Hospital. Schettling was dead on arrival at the hospital shortly after the collision, which occurred at 6 p.m.

The other driver, Joseph R. Gorman, 38, of Dearborn, was treated at the hospital and released.

Township police said Schettling's car suddenly swerved from the outside southbound lane across the inside southbound lane and center line; striking the northbound Gorman car.

Schettling was a retired cabinet maker.

Rescued Birds Refuse to Leave

2 Sparrows at Home With Twins

By MAX E. SIMON

As far as two young English sparrows are concerned, Patrick Henry's "Give me liberty or give me death" oration is strictly for the birds.

★ ★ ★

Instead of winging their way through the skies, the two birds have chosen to live with 11-year-old Pontiac twins.

The baby sparrows were found by Jim Jarrard four weeks ago in a nest near the twins' home at 605 Third St.

The nest had fallen from a tree during a heavy night rainstorm. The youngster came across the birds the next morning.

The frightened sparrows were shivering and peeping. Obviously they were hungry, the boy decided.

He scanned the heavens but saw no other birds.

So he picked up the nest and took it into the garage of a friend.

FIX UP NEST

The boys added some sticks to the nest which had been damaged falling to earth. They covered the nest with handkerchiefs and rags.

That was so they'd think their mother was still there," explained James' twin brother, Jack.

A few days later the mother of the twins' friend decided she didn't want to mother sparrows so the twins moved the birds into the basement of their home.

★ ★ ★

The sparrows apparently took a liking to Jack and Jim. They've had the chance but they won't leave.

The two birds have been thriving on canary conditioning food which the boys fed them with tweezers. "Everyone in the family likes them except Harvey," said Jack. "He's afraid."

Harvey is the family's pet canary.

The sparrows first started to fly this week and the tweezers aren't necessary any longer. Self-service is now the rule.

Monday the twins found the sparrows perched on the window sill in the kitchen. They'd flown there from the basement.

The boys were sure it was just a matter of time until the sparrows would end their stay.

"You know how it is," Jack said. "If they're kept in captivity, they'll die."

The youth explained that he had learned this from his book about birds.

★ ★ ★

Later in the week the birds were put outside.

That should have ended the story. But it didn't.

The birds played about for a time in the back-yard garden and, then, returned to the house.

Leaving the Jarrard twins hasn't seemed to enter their minds.

When they're outside, the birds immediately fly to the flowers and there they stay until they decide to go indoors. In the home, their favorite perch is the Report Detroit Doctor Disappeared on Trip

DETROIT (UPI)—A prominent Detroit doctor was reported missing today.

Dr. Edward J. Tallant, 46, head physician at Mt. Carmel Hospital, Detroit, disappeared last Wednesday, on a trip to attend a medical meeting in Flint.

He was driving a 1958 (Oldsmobile) automobile.

It could not be determined immediately whether Dr. Tallant had attended the meeting or disappeared before reaching there.

According to his office, Dr. Tallant was to have gone to the Flint meeting with another Detroit physician, but the latter was away on vacation, so Dr. Tallant left for Flint alone.

The doctor is married and has three children, Edward Jr., 21, Susan, 12, and Marie, 8.

He lives with his wife, Norma, and children, at 19324 Westmoreland, on the Detroit west side.

Jealous Tot, 2, Kills Her Sister

Demonstrates on Doll How She Used Stick on Baby Girl

WRIGHTSTOWN, N.J. (AP)—Susan Idel, 2, was very jealous of her baby sister, Marjorie, 1.

Several months ago she knocked Marjorie out of her high chair, and the baby got two black eyes.

Yesterday, police said, she killed the girl by dumping her out of a playpen and hitting her with a stick. She died of a fractured skull.

G. Clinton Zeller, chief Burlington County detective told this story today;

"Susan was very jealous of her sister. The mother had put the two children in the playpen. The ground outside was just like cement.

"From all indications she held up the baby and pushed her out. She dropped 30 inches and fractured her skull.

★ ★ ★

"The mother was only gone 25 minutes. When she came back, the 2-year-old had crawled away. She grabbed the baby, put a towel on her head, realized she was in bad shape, and ran outside to hail the first car." The baby was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Zeller and a trooper questioned the 2-year-old, although he said they didn't necessarily believe everything she said in view of her age.

"We asked what happened. She said, 'I hit her.'

"What with?"

"A stick."

There was a broomhandle nearby, with a split end.

"Is this the stick."

"Yes." And she whacked a doll to show how she had hit her sister.

Zeller said the mother, Mary Jobes Idel, 19, told him of the jealousy between the two children.

"This is the only answer we can find for it," he said.

To Rap Lake Diversion

LANSING (AP)—A Michigan delegation led by Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said the district is "attempting to rob the lake states of their great water resources."

East Dampened as Southwest Gets Scorching

By The Associated Press

Scattered showers and thundershowers dampened the eastern half of the nation Saturday but the southwest continued to bake in hot, dry weather.

Cooler air gushed over the Great Lakes region from Canada on the heels of squall-like weather that raced through the area Friday night.

★ ★ ★

Winds near 70 miles an hour accompanied thunderstorms in the Chicago area. Damage was confined to felled trees and power lines, however, and rainfall generally was less than a half inch.

In contrast, the mercury failed to drop below 80 in parts of the Southwest early Saturday and readings in the 100s prevailed in some desert regions.

Scattered showers and thundershowers over the East extended from the Plains states across the upper Mississippi Valley and eastward into New York State.

★ ★ ★

The remnants of tropical storm Cindy continued to thrust rain and gusty winds at southern New England early Saturday but the storm was expected to push eastward and give way to fair skies by midday.

Warm, humid air was forecast for the south Atlantic states.

SGT. EDWARD A. LENON

State Trooper Gets Promotion

Will Be Transferred From Pontiac Post to Jonesville

Michigan State Police headquarters in East Lansing has announced the promotion and transfer of Corp. Edward A. Lenon of the Pontiac Post.

Lenon, 34, who joined the State Police in March, 1947, has been promoted to sergeant and transferred to command of the Jonesville Post, effective July 19.

He came to Pontiac in March, 1957 from the Mount Pleasant Post. A native of Gulliver, in Schoolcraft County, Lenon and his wife, Mary, live at 1295 Featherstone St. They have a son, 6, and a daughter, 4.

Lenon holds three meritorious service awards and one honorable mention for outstanding performance of duty.

★ ★ ★

He will be replaced by Corp. Maitland C. Landon, who is being transferred here from the Sandusky Post.

The transfer of several troopers, effective Aug. 1, was also announced.

Trooper Stanley Sitkowski, of 3555 Oakshire St., will go to the Niles Post and Peter R. Basolo, of 2287 Briggs Rd., Drayton Plains, will be transferred to the Wakefield Post.

Coming to Pontiac from Wakefield is Trooper John T. Gehring.

Michigan May Sell Buildings

Officials Surprised at New Attempt to Ease Fiscal Crisis

LANSING (AP) — State officials may express surprise at reports Michigan might sell some of its state office buildings as a way of easing the state's financial crisis.

State Controller James W. Miller said he was approached several weeks ago by a man who suggested that the buildings be sold and then leased back from the new owners.

Miller said he could not recall the man's name but said the caller mentioned that John W. Galbreath, owner of the Pittsburgh Pirates, headed a firm which dealt in such real estate transactions.

Miller said no firm offer was made and that the caller seemed to be feeling the state out on whether it would go for the idea.

The state controller added:

"I told the man it was an interesting suggestion but that the state can not dispose of any real estate property except by legislative action and I suggested he might mention it to a legislator.

★ ★ ★

"I told him I would mention it to the governor and the State administrative Board but said we were aware already that we could have solved the financial problem by selling a park or building and then leasing it back. I mentioned the Mason office building as an example of one that we are renting since it is owned by the State Building Corp.

"That was the extent of our conversation."

Driver Lauds Area Officers After Ticket

An elderly motorist who received a ticket for speeding in White Lake Township didn't forget to say thanks.

Maurice L. Wiseman, 218 Dinona St., Commerce Township, was fined $15 for driving 45 m.p.h. in a 25 m.p.h. zone on July 1.

In a letter addressed to White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz, dated July 3, Wise commended the two officers, Patrolmen Joseph Montrueil and Walter Weinman, for their attitude and understanding.

The letter read:

Dear Sir:

I am taking this opportunity to congratulate White Lake Township for their choice of patrolmen.

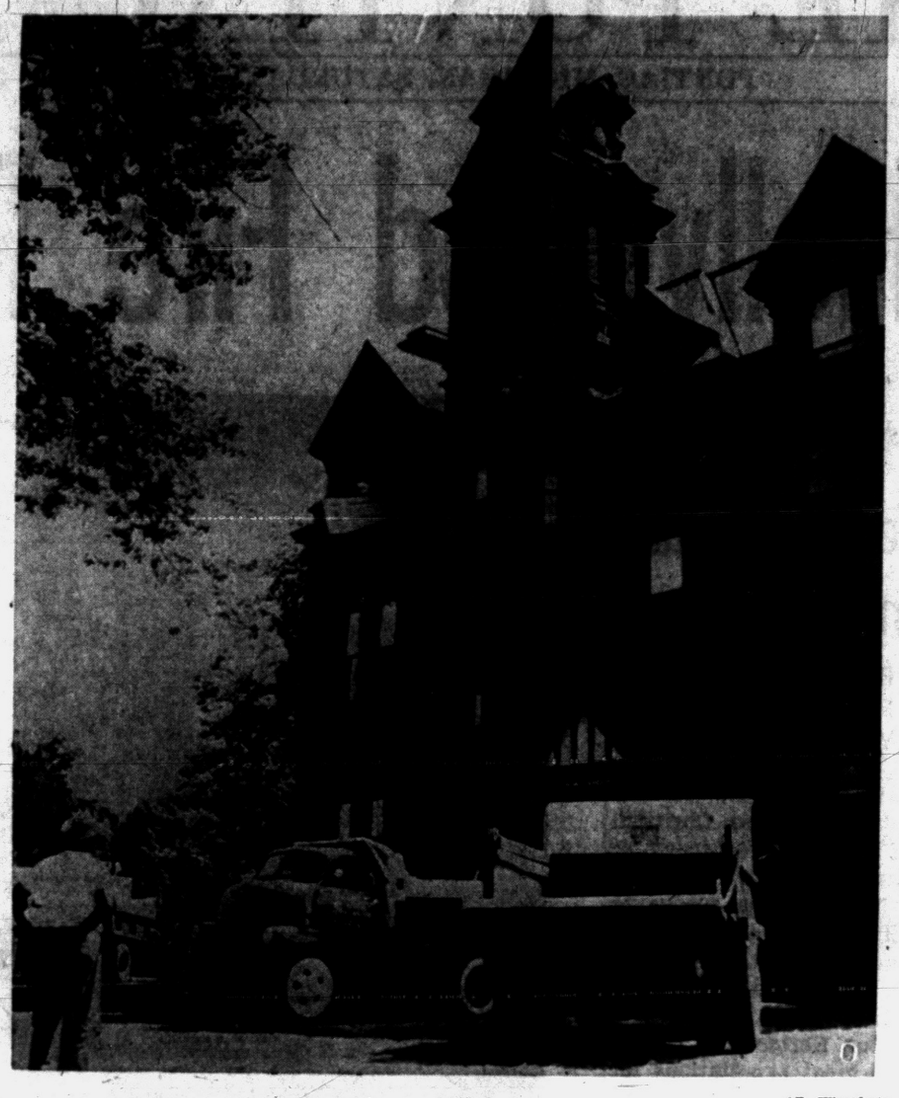

I personally think that some of the larger cities' forces would benefit by adopting their attitude and understanding. I have never before been treated with the courtesy that these two showed me, and I would appreciate it if you would again thank them for me.

Very truly yours,
Maurice L. Wiseman

Supervisor Cheyz personally commended Montreuil and Weinman yesterday for their tact and courtesy in performing their duty.

Both Wife, Boat Possible Now

Self-Construction and Low Maintenance Put Many More on Water

NEW YORK (UPI) — Not too many years ago, it used to be said that "you could not have a wife and a boat; either of the two but not both."

★ ★ ★

Reason? Expensive upkeep.

Then, there was the theory that if you had to ask the price of purchasing a boat and how much it would cost to maintain, you had no business buying one.

Reason? You evidently were so close to the financial saturation point it was no time to think about this so-called luxury of boating.

PRICES VARY

Today, however, in this do-it-yourself era, things have changed. By building his own boat, a man need not crawl out onto a financial limb.

Depending on your wants, prices vary. For an eight-foot pram, a frame kit costs about $25; a complete but unassembled kit about $55; an assembled but unpainted kit about $100.

This last job would set you back about $135 if you were to shop around on the outside for it.

For those whose aspirations run higher, the frame kit of a 14-foot utility runabout would cost approximately $50; complete but unassembled kit, $160; assembled, $275.

This job, custom finished and of the same construction, would cost you roughly $350.

Assuming you've gained the experience in building the pram and runabout, it's time to sell your finished product (after using it for a couple of seasons of course) and enter the cruiser class.

21-FOOT CRUISER

A 21-foot cruiser hull, either inboard or outboard powered, costs about $200.

The complete but unassembled kit runs about $1,100, and the assembled kit, $1,600. A finished boat of this type would cost more than $2,000.

A recent survey showed there are more than 300,000 boat owners in the United States. The most popular boats were in the 17-19-foot class, powered by outboard motor.

Next were inboard powered 15-16 footers, followed by inboard 26-30 footers and 31 to 40-foot cruisers and auxiliary sailers.

Each group favors its particular class depending on the use of the boat. Water-skiers lean toward the high-powered outboard motor; day and night sailors go for the larger type boat, and if you just want to fish or lie around and take it easy on the deck, any size craft will do the trick.

Boating today does not necessarily have to be an expensive sport.

NO STORAGE COSTS

Many boatmen report they have no expense for storage; they put the boat aboard a trailer, haul it to some free shore site and then back home.

Some boat yards permit owners to work on their boats, charging the boater a nominal fee for the use of electricity to run power tools.

Park Ranger Reports Beating by Picnickers

Oakland County sheriff's deputies and police from four area communities rushed to Bloomer State Park No. 1 on Commerce road, West Bloomfield Township, last night to investigate the alleged beating of a park ranger.

★ ★ ★

Deputies and police from Bloomfield and West Bloomfield townships were told an unidentified park ranger had been beaten by "three carloads of people."

Orchard Lake police stopped the cars on Pontiac Trail near Orchard Lake road.

The couples and their families were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Ernest D. Bunner of 213 Leroy St. and Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Bell of 1508 Bywood St., both of Clawson, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Bunner of Royal Oak.

★ ★ ★

They told deputies they were on a picnic when they noticed someone going through their cars. The three men said they walked over and asked the man what he was doing.

"He jumped out of the car and asked us for our identification," one of the men told deputies. "We asked him for the same."

Then, they said, the man suddenly freed two dogs he had with him and began "throwing punches." He also swung a knife at one of the men, deputies said.

★ ★ ★

After a scuffle, the ranger fled into woods, Bunner said. He returned to the scene with two other rangers from Proud Lake Recreation Area while officers were taking statements.

Deputies said he would not show them his identification and insisted the couples be jailed. When asked on what charge, Deputy Lyle R. Gillespie quoted the ranger as saying, "Never mind the charge. Take them in and lock them up and we'll make the charge later."

Deputies described the ranger as "uncooperative." The couples were not held. The unidentified park official said he would file charges today at the Oakland County Prosecutor's office.

The North, West and Downtown Pontiac Kiwanis clubs are chartering a new group, the Drayton-Waterford Kiwanis Club.

More than 300 Kiwanians are expected to attend the "Charter Night" ceremonies which will begin at 7 p.m. They will be from all sections of Michigan.

Featured speaker will be Sidney F. Main, Michigan District Kiwanis governor. Also on hand for the ceremonies will be R. F. Thalner, past governor; Walter J. L. Ray, past international president; Frank Staiger, Michigan District secretary; George E. Bowler, chairman of the new club-building committee of the Michigan District; and Lauren White, lieutenant governor of Division 5.

Music for the festivities will be provided by the West Pontiac Kiwanis Club orchestra.

The club will have 30 members when it receives its charter.

Officers will be Loren D. Aris, president, Elmer O. Johnson, vice president; Kenneth Wilson, vice president; Gerald Deewees, treasurer; and Cletis Mick, secretary.

On the Board of Directors will be James Smart, Harold Sayles, Basil Thompson; Al Peters, James Walls, Cecil Schiemel and Don Hughes.

★ ★ ★

The new Kiwanians will meet at noon Thursdays at the Drayton Inn, 4195 Dixie Hwy., Waterford Township.

Still Have Mile to Go

Steel Talks Inch Along

NEW YORK (AP)—Steel labor negotiators faced an uphill fight today to win a settlement formula in time to avoid starting mill shutdowns this weekend.

With an industrywide strike threatened at midnight Tuesday, progress so far could be measured in inches—with about a mile left to go.

Much haggling over side issues during the past few days has created a situation where an industry money offer could assemble the pieces of a new contract jigsaw puzzle quickly into place.

So far, it was reliably reported from both sides that the top dozen steel firms have stood firm on their refusal to raise wages or benefits resulting in any cost increases.

Instead, the industry bargaining team headed by R. Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel Corp. vice president, has been insisting on contract changes that would give steel firms more leeway in making work assignments and otherwise slashing operating costs.

David J. McDonald, Steelworkers Union president, has pledged "no backward step" from present contract terms.

But the industry has indicated it may come up with a money offer if the union gives ground on allowing more management prerogatives.

The Day in Birmingham

Addition to Hickory Grove OK'd by Bloomfield Board

BIRMINGHAM — A three-room addition to Hickory Grove School has been authorized by the Bloomfield Hills Board of Education, according to Supt. Eugene L. Johnson.

Most of the money for construction was made available through sale of the old Hickory Grove School, with a smaller amount from the school district's building and site fund.

The addition will make Hickory Grove a 13-room or two-unit school, and is expected to handle student enrollment in the area for some time, Johnson said.

The addition is expected to be completed within a year.

Queen and Philip Get 3-Day Cabin Holiday Respite

VERNON, B.C. (UPI)—Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip rode through the towering Rocky Mountains en route to a three day log cabin holiday today.

The royal couple were to fly into the British Columbia interior aboard a twin engined amphibian bushplane for their first extended rest away from crowds since they started their 45-day, 15,000 mile Canadian tour June 18.

They will spend the time at an exclusive lakeside camp 40 miles from Merritt, B.C., the nearest community. The camp has been vacated by its members until July 15.

The royal visitors traveled yesterday in a special vista dome coach attached to their 16 car special train and in an open convertible through a half dozen Albert and British Columbia towns and villages. During the day they covered about 100 miles of the winding trip through mountain roads and snow capped peaks in the car and finally caught up with the train again at Field, B.C.

They saw prize-winning army cadets drilling and practicing unarmed combat near Banff, one of the best known Rocky Mountain resort areas.

They also toured the Banff School of Fine Arts and watched students on summer courses practice ballet, painting and music.

Water Stunt Almost Fatal to Area Girl

A 16-year-old Commerce Township girl "held her breath" under water last night and nearly drowned in Lake Orion, according to Lake Orion Police and Oakland County sheriff's deputies.

Sally Wilson, of 3340 Royal St., was rushed to the Lake Orion Police Station where she was treated by Oakland County Deputy Coroner Dr. E. Arthur Calkins, of Lake Orion.

★ ★ ★

Her companions said she had been trying to show them how long she could hold her breath under water. The girl passed out and was in a mild state of shock.

Freight Train Traps 2 Robbery Suspects

FERNDALE — Two robbery suspects were trapped by a freight train yesterday while fleeing a $50 restaurant holdup in nearby Hazel Park.

The getaway car was blocked by descending gates at a Grand Trunk Railroad crossing. Officers seized George A. Zivinski Jr., 28, and Edward C. Budzyna, 34, both of Detroit.

Hazel Park Police said the two men were suspected of three other holdups in the past three nights in which $170 was taken.

Zivinski and Budzyna are being held for investigation at the Hazel Park Police Station.

Castro Decrees Death

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government today decreed the death penalty for the same type of counter-revolutionary activity that brought it to power. The decree was issued as the result of antigovernment plotting and bombings in the past month.

Hollywood Blaze Destroys 28 Homes

a dull, deep red. Fire units from as far as 40 miles away in neighboring Orange County came to help.

Most of the families in the area, unless ordered out by officials, chose to remain and fight for their homes. They swarmed over their roofs, playing garden hose on them as embers fell around them.

One woman, expecting a child, was taken out by helicopter.

BIRDCAGE . . . SUITCASE

An elderly couple fleeing the fire walked down a road carrying a birdcage and a suitcase—all that was left of their belongings.

At a rescue center, a pretty blonde divorcee sat in tears. She held her three-year-old son on her lap amid a pile of belongings that she had saved—a painting of a nude, a set of bongo drums and a guitar.

"I smelled smoke while I was taking a sunbath on the roof," she said. "Then there was a bang—real loud—and the house was on fire. I grabbed my son and what else I could and ran for my life."

★ ★ ★

A small girl brought officers a cat that had been badly burned. She asked if they could help. A policeman took the cat into the woods and shot it.

Police led an elderly blind woman to safety. They plucked two children from a home that was threatened. They shooed two newsmen from a burning building..

The fire cut off power and lights in the area.

Mayor Norris Poulson, even as the fire whipped its way through the canyon, called on Gov. Edmund G. Brown to declare the area a major disaster area and to provide funds to the homeless for rebuilding.

Waterford Sends 13 Jaycees to Planning Session

Thirteen members of the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce left last night for Crystal for their annual planning session.

The year's projects, budget and portfolio assignments will be assigned.

Appointment of chairmen of the fall projects, such as the Kiddies' Halloween party, cosponsored with the Township Recreation Board, will also be made at this session.

★ ★ ★

The meeting will give the Board a chance to plan for the coming year, and to prepare for any other projects that might be introduced during the year, according to Jaycee President Frank Richardson.

Pleads Guilty in Lake Mishap

City Man Pays $100 for Driving Boat After Drinking Liquor

A Pontiac man who with his wife was rescued from Lake Orion after their boat capsized Thursday evening pleaded guilty yesterday to a charge of operating a motorboat while under the influence of liquor.

Joseph Kasuba, of 5633 Berkley St., was fined $90 plus $10 court costs by Orion Township Justice of the Peace Helmar G. Stanaback.

Kasuba and his wife were out in the lake fishing when their boat tipped over. Mrs. Kasuba, who was wearing a life jacket because she couldn't swim, apparently hit her head when she fell out of the boat.

Harry Russell Jr., 11, who was sitting on his dock and saw the accident, quickly rowed his boat out to the Kasubas and helped the unconscious woman into the boat. Then he rowed the pair to shore.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Kasuba was treated at the Lake Orion Medical Center and released.

The boy, who was credited with saving the lives is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Russell of 19Bellevue St.

Buy Own Turpentine, Say Builders to Thief

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A Columbia construction company reported a large paint brush stolen from a construction job Wednesday night.

The same firm reported a gallon of paint was taken Thursday night.

There was no clean-up help for the thief Friday night. Construction officials locked up the turpentine.

Tennis Club Due for Censuring

New York City Council to Get Resolution Soon in Racial Dispute

NEW YORK (AP)—A resolution censuring the West Side Tennis Club will be brought before the City Council Tuesday. The fashionable club reportedly barred a Nobel Peace Prize winner from membership because he is a Negro.

★ ★ ★

Meanwhile another highly fashionable group—the Town Tennis Club—welcomed the same man, Dr. Ralph J. Bunche. Governors of the second club voted unanimously to invite Bunche to accept an honorary membership for himself and his family.

Abe Stark, president of the City Council and acting mayor of New York, said Friday he had drawn up the resolution of censure which he will bring before the council Tuesday.

He also said he will introduce legislation in the council to deny licenses to nonreligious organizations which bar members on the basis of race, color or national origin.

Bunche, who is United Nations undersecretary for special political affairs, said the president of the Forest Hills club told him that neither his son nor he could join because the club did not accept Negroes or Jews as members.

★ ★ ★

The club president, Wilfred Burgland, has remained silent. Bunche said it was Burgland who told him about the policy.

Stark also took steps to see if he could have the Davis Cup matches next month and September's national championships moved from the Forest Hills club. Several U.S. senators have made similar demands.

Cubans Establish Base for Nicaragua Invasion

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Cuban mercenaries planning an invasion of Nicaragua have turned the coast of the territory of Quintana Roo into a military base, the newspaper Excelsior said today.

The report was in a dispatch from Chetumal, capital of the territory, by a reporter sent to check reports of Cuban activities in the area.

★ ★ ★

At least a dozen Cubans who landed on the coast of Quintana Roo have been deported in recent weeks. The territory lies in southeast Mexico along the Yucatan Peninsula on the Caribbean.

3 More Scorn Butler for Congress Attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Democratic senators added their voices today to swelling criticism of National Chairman Paul Butler for his attacks on party congressional leaders.

Sens. John Sparkman (D-Ala), Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash) and Gale W. McGee (D-Wyo) stoutly defended the course Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson has taken in attempting to tailor legislation to avoid presidential vetoes. Sparkman, Jackson and McGee are rated as liberals on most issues.

Butler will get a chance at an afternoon news conference to comment further on his previously expressed view that the party's congressional leaders are compromising with the GOP administration too often and thus are not welding a program on which the Democrats can win in 1960.

10 Tips Can Save Life, Property

Hurricane Protection Rules

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ten tips on ways to cut down loss of life and property damage in hurricanes have been issued by Robert C. Edson, disaster chief of the American Red Cross.

He prefaced the safety rules with a warning that two storms already have boiled up in the Gulf of Mexico and that vulnerable Atlantic and Gulf areas should stand on the "ready" until the end of October.

Edson's tips:

1. Follow official weather bureau reports closely in newspapers and on radio and TV.

2. Store garden furniture, awnings and other such objects in a safe place. They could become lethal weapons in a storm.

3. Board up windows and put storm shutters into place.

4. If you're told to evacute, don't delay. A minute could save your life.

5. Don't run the risk of being marooned. Get away and stay away from low-lying areas, beaches or other places likely to be swept by ocean winds and high tides.

★ ★ ★

6. Stay indoors, preferably in a brick or concrete building.

7. Stay away from windows.

8. If the center or "eye" of the storm passes directly overhead, there will be a deceptive lull, lasting as long as 30 minutes. Stay where you are. The wind will return from the opposite direction—with perhaps greater force.

9. Fill bath tub, bottles and cooking utensils with water. Keep extra food, which does not require cooking, handy. Be sure to have a flashlight or candle in the event of a power failure.

10. Don't touch fallen wires. Report such damage to police or power companies.

Red Cross chapters along the costal areas have established a "hurricane watch" — a concentrated training program with emphasis on mass care and sheltering.

Everybody Needs a Friend

J. L. VOORHEIS

For fifty years men and women make many friends and then move out of their orbit to a strange community; those people desperately need friends. A happy, friendly young man opens a shop. Competition is keen and his failure is predicted; he made friends and they tipped the scales in his favor. Big corporations, one time unapproachable, are now wooing the friendship of the public; they too, need friends. Everyone needs human friendship.

M. E. SIPLE

Our younger years were happy times as we forged the bonds of close friendships; many of the millions of letters transported across our United States are missives of love between those friends. The greatest loss of people moving from a small town to a city is that warm friendship displayed whenever two people meet, that cheery greeting, that handshake, that smile of welcome, knowing the druggist, Postmaster, clerk in the grocery, mail carrier and organist in their church.

Cherish that friendship. Let no tarnish gather; keep it polished, shining bright. It is one possession without a price tag. Deserve it and prize it above all else.

It Seems to Me . . . .

Optimistic Look Toward Future Gives Pontiac Cause to Rejoice

With the first half of the year comfortably behind us, let's recapitulate and then look ahead purely from the local angle.

★ ★ ★

The last few months have shown a forward trend in area activities. Pontiac Motor Division and GMC Truck picked up appreciably late in 1958. We experienced a lag in retail circles, probably because a lot of the boys and girls were exercising caution and many pay checks were used in meeting accumulated debts. But retail business started upward a bit later.

★ ★ ★

There's no way of ducking the fact that 1956 lagged behind 1955; and 1957 slipped a bit behind 1956, with 1958 continuing the unhappy trend by dropping a bit behind 1957.

All this added up to a mild recession.

And those out of work will probably challenge the word "mild."

★ ★ ★

Anyway, it wasn't catastrophic and we didn't have soup lines and the other miseries of the early thirties. But we had a general tightening of the community belt and business was proceeding at a leisurely pace.

★ ★ ★

Now retail circles have felt the accelerated industrial pace and those that haven't sensed a definite improvement had better double check themselves. They'll find the parade leaving them behind. This 1959 increase hasn't been cyclonic, which is a good thing. Violent ups and downs are not conducive to permanent prosperity.

★ ★ ★

Pontiac Motor is having a wonderful year and the local firm has stepped forward appreciably in the industry. At the moment we are actually occupying third position, but this is a temporary illusion as Plymouth has been handicapped badly by strikes. At the beginning of the model run, General Manager S. E. Knudsen said he was aiming at fifth. If Pontiac attains this objective, the area will have due cause for rejoicing. If we should happen to startle the world and ourselves in the bargain by nudging our way into the fourth spot, it would be the major industrial achievement of 1959. In any event, the local situation is very satisfactory.

★ ★ ★

As outlined in The PRESS before, GMC Truck and Coach Division is bounding forward on the impetus of a brand new design and making wonderful progress.

Fisher Body Division is undergoing a modern face-lifting operation which will strengthen our position and bring added work in producing station wagons and convertibles. When the replacement program is completed, THOMAS F. WIETHORN will be operating the most modern body plant in the industry.

★ ★ ★

I just talked with "Bunkie" Knudsen and he is very optimistic over the balance of 1959. The first strong impression that Pontiac created on the buying public has actually strengthened. When the car was first introduced, a great wave of approval and popular acceptance swept the country. Even those who weren't driving or buying a Pontiac granted that the '59 was truly "the car of the year." In fact, the division was officially awarded a trophy of this designation.

★ ★ ★

As time has passed, this universal applause has actually increased. You hear nothing but praise for the looks and performance of the new Pontiacs. To revive its old slogan, the car is the "most beautiful thing on wheels"—and acts accordingly.

★ ★ ★

Hence, officials are optimistic that the summer and early fall will run comfortably ahead of last summer. Then new models are due. Knudsen is very happy about these. "They're terrific," he says. "We're going to hold our place and position with the people."

★ ★ ★

The Truck Plant is forging ahead strongly, so the balance of the year could keep the fine pace of the past few months.

In the words of the old hymn: "Rejoice."

And in Conclusion . . . .

Jottings from the well thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

Overheard at the Orchard Lake Country Club: "HENRY FORD says his brother, BENSON, is the handsomest executive in the low priced field." . . . . . VICTOR RIESEL, labor editor, declares there's an undercover move to nominate LEWIS L. STRAUSS for Vice President in 1960. He stands in highest favor with EISENHOWER. STRAUSS would be the first Jew on a National ticket. . . . . The fourth highest point in Oakland County is just north of Deer Lake in Independence Township (1141 feet) . . . . . When the U. S. track team meets the Russians next weekend, Pontiac's own HAYES JONES will be one of the two U.S. high hurdlers . . . . . Many people—especially men—have asked me what my two girls, FRIDAY and APRIL, look like. Both of them appear here today—and they're a real comely pair of lasses.

I'm APRIL

I'm FRIDAY

★ ★ ★

A charmingly informal picture packed with human interest that got a big newspaper play from coast to coast showed a busy husband changing his triplets' diapers while his wife prepared for her high school graduation. . . . . A manuscript of Winston Churchill's had a notation calling attention to a sentence that ended with a preposition. Churchill penned: "This is the kind of arrant pedantry up with which I shall not put." . . . . . Our own A.P. goofed in a photo of the Queen which carried these cut lines: "Queen stands at attention as the band plays 'God Save the King'."

★ ★ ★

Overheard on Orchard Lake Avenue: Traffic Officer—"Yes, madam, your driver's license certainly seems to be in order, but tell me one thing: how in the world did you get it?" . . . . . Two of the biggest stockholders in the Lions are President "ANDY" ANDERSON and HARRY WISMER . . . . . ED SULLIVAN says FLOYD PATTERSON can't hit and can't take it and his record proves it. GENE TUNNEY said the same 'way back . . . . . A radio station in Massachusetts has started a two watt campaign to repeal the 19th amendment (allowing women to vote) . . . . . Washington newsmen say EISENHOWER has been offered the presidency of several colleges and universities when he leaves the White House.

The POWER of FAITH

by Howard Brodie

THE FAITH AMERICANS LIVE BY

Faith plays a part today in the lives of ordinary Americans going about their everyday business—as I found during a recent cross country trip by talking to taxicab drivers.

In Denver, cabbie Joseph Walsh told me about a lady he drove to a hospital: "I could tell she had to break a kid's bank when she handed me 70 pennies for the fare. She told me she had to take her grandson's pennies in order to get to the hospital to be with her dying daughter. I paid the fare, told her to return the pennies, waited and drove her home."

In New York on my way to Pennsylvania Station, good natured cabbie No. 67555 told me, "I always carry a Bible in the front seat."

In Cleveland, cabbie Tom Davis, a Negro, talked of God's love as the meter ticked. "I try to practice religion in my cab . . . I carry a Bible and start my day off with the 23rd Psalm . . . Had an old lady from the Golden Age Center and she wanted to give me a tip, but I said 'I can't take anything from you, I like to help you, it does something within.'" For safe and sane driving, for holding up traffic until a child safely crossed a street and for many courtesies, he was chosen "Cabbie of the Year" in Cleveland.

And in my home town of Palo Alto, Calif., Jack Gansel carries a Bible with him in his cab. "It's a comfort," he told me.

Days of All Faiths

Love Is Main Point of Legend

By DR. HOWARD V. HARPER

In all Christian lore there are few better known legends than the one about St. Veronica, the kindly Roman lady who took pity on Jesus as he struggled on the way to Calvary with His grisly burden.

★ ★ ★

Obeying her impulse, she stepped out from the crowd that lined the way and wiped the Lord's face with her kerchief. Miraculously the cloth came away with the unmistakable and indelible image of the holy countenance.

The incident, though only legendary, has become one of the "Stations of the Cross," which is a service of prayer and meditation observed in the Roman Catholic and other churches in a step-by-step commemoration of the last sad hours of the Lord's earthly life.

Naturally, the glamor of the story has always gathered around the idea of the picture on the cloth, but even if that did happen it still is not the main point. The important thing is the love and charity of Veronica's action — and the courage of it.

It would not have been easy for a Roman officer's wife, which Veronica is said to have been, to make herself conspicuous before that jeering, angry throng and perform this gesture of comfort toward a condemned criminal on His way to execution for treason against the government her husband represented. It could have meant real trouble for both the gentle lady and her husband.

MANY VARIATIONS

The legend is so old that it has developed many versions over centuries of retelling, and Veronica has been given many identities. The name Veronica tells nothing about who she may have been; it is simply a combination of two Greek words which together mean "true picture."

★ ★ ★

One story says Veronica came to Rome sometime later and with her precious cloth miraculously cured the Emperor Tiberius of some ailment. Tiberius' illness is not stated. The cloth was left to Pope Clement on Veronica's death.

RUSSIA'S PATRON SAINT

Do "saint" and "Russian" seem a contradiction in terms? You would probably have had a harder time finding any good in St. Vladimir than in Stalin or Khrushchev. And yet Vladimir is the patron saint of Russia.

★ ★ ★

Cruel, idolatrous and lecherous almost beyond imagining, Vladimir was Emperor of Russia toward the end of the tenth century. But he became dissatisfied with the religion, if it could be called a religion, of his fathers, and sent to Constantinople asking for Christian missionaries to come and tell him about their faith.

★ ★ ★

The missionaries converted him and there could be no doubt that his conversion was genuine. He destroyed his idols, put away his concubines and became so gentle that as king he struggled hard with his conscience over the question of whether he dared retain the death penalty in his empire.

Dread of Trip to Dentist Quite Easy to Overcome

"I have to go to the dentist—who hates to see me coming, I am so tense and nervous." (Mrs. C.F.H.)

DR. BRADY

Answer. — The dentist should not only prescribe a suitable remedy for you to take hours before the visit but use local anesthesia to prevent pain, whatever the treatment may be. As a patient I can assure you that one does not in the least have to dread a visit to the dentist.

"It took two births to convince our doctor, but my last baby was born naturally—no anesthesia, no fear, no pain, and a healthy, happy baby. But I'm afraid the doctor will still not promote the idea in his practice. He says most women want to be knocked out." (Mrs. A.J.S.)

Answer—Especially women who are ignorant and haven't the gumption to learn from such books as Grantly Dick Read's "Childbirth Without Fear" (Harper & Bros.) $2.75 at book dealers, and "Preparing for Maternity," a primer for which send me 35c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"I stopped drinking milk two years ago because every time I drink any I had nausea, severe headache and frequent micturition to the extent of occasional wetting. No such symptoms since quitting milk, but now suffer, dry, sandy feeling in my eyes, so severe at times that it is uncomfortable to keep my eyes open. Neither my physician nor my eye specialist finds anything wrong." (U.J.S.)

Answer — Milk is the best source of riboflavin (vitamin B2). The eye condition may be due to riboflavin deficiency. Try taking three 5-mg. tablets of riboflavin daily for a few weeks.

"My sister gives her 1½ year old baby canned baked beans. I think baked beans too hard for a baby to digest. Am I right? Are they constipating?" (Mrs. T.S.H.)

Answer—You are wrong. They are not hard to digest and not constipating. Baked beans are excellent food for babies over a year old.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Mr. Niedelson Disagrees With Editorial Comment

In reference to your recent editorial regarding Senator Margaret Chase Smith's vote against Lewis Strauss, I'd like to take exception to the remark that she had better not "look to the Jews for any support at all." I feel this was a rather tasteless observation in that it connotes that Jews only vote for politicians who in turn vote for Jews.

★ ★ ★

I think I speak for most Jews when I say that, like Protestants or Catholics, they go to the polls to vote for the individual who will best serve our country, regardless of race, creed or color.

★ ★ ★

Senator Smith had every right to vote whichever way she felt was for the best interest of the nation, and for you to intimate she would be blacklisted by Jewish people of her state because of this action is a definite reflection on the loyalty to this country of all the Jewish people.

★ ★ ★

If you intend adding an editor's note to these comments, please omit the one "Some of my best friends are Jews."

Claims Circular Advertises Falsely

Isn't it against the law to advertise merchandise in a pamphlet sent by mail and not have it in stock?

★ ★ ★

We received a circular and the following morning drove to the chain store to get floor covering and carpeting advertised. They didn't have it. One sales clerk showed me the 9x12 rug exactly as advertised, but after 45 minutes going through books looking for prices, he told me the rug was $10 more than the advertised price.

★ ★ ★

I call that false advertising and using the mail to defraud. Am I not correct? I still have all the proof of my statements.

'Motorist's Prank Isn't So Funny'

Some people sure have a morbid sense of humor.

Last night my husband was driving north on Telegraph and someone in an oncoming car threw a heavy object out of the window and it landed right smack in the center of our windshield and smashed it into a million pieces which landed all over the dash and the front seat. It could just as easily have landed in his face causing a very serious accident.

New Managerial Class Rises in the Soviet Union

By PRESTON GROVER
AP Bureau Chief in Moscow

KHARKOV, Ukraine (AP) — The Soviet Union is developing a new managerial class, strong party men in most instances, tough in debate, and often technically expert.

★ ★ ★

Many of them are concentrated in the Ukraine because that is where the Soviet Union's main industry has been concentrated.

One of the most impressive is the deputy director of the economic council at Stalino.

Markovitch Alexander's organization coordinates the work of more than a million men and women employed in 29 branches of industry in a veritable Soviet Pittsburgh.

Red-faced, red-haired, wearing a brown suit with a blue shirt open at the collar, Alexander, fields tough questions with skill.

He candidly admits that America could compete with the U.S.S.R. in the export market despite a much higher wage scale and higher standard of living because America is two and a half times more efficient.

★ ★ ★

The manager of a three-million-ton steel plant in Zaporozhe is Lev Dimitriyevitch Yubro, about 48.

On a tour of his plant, he shows he knows where everything is and how it works.

He makes it plain that he likes the decision of the government two years ago giving more control to regional managers and plant managers to get their production up.

A lot of decisions which had to be cleared through 30 ministries and departments in Moscow now can be made by himself or the regional council.

★ ★ ★

The City of Kharkov changed hands four times during the war, and what wasn't shot up in the fighting was blown up by the retreating Germans. All the industry and 40 per cent of the residences were gone when the Russians moved back in.

★ ★ ★

But now this rebuilt city of 930,000 is a center of scientific and tehnical institutions turning out engineers, planners, chemists, electricians, crane operators and tractor men. It has 50 scientific institutes and 25 high schools and academies.

★ ★ ★

Unlike the rather suave Mayor Mikhailik Fedocieyevich of Kharkov, the mayor Stalino is a bustling, warm type.

Mayor Alexei Mehailovich, 53, of Stalino knows his town like the back of his hand. Mehailovich began work in the local mines at the age of 12, about the time of the 1917 Revolution.

★ ★ ★

He is still boiling mad at the Germans and accuses them of having tortured 150,000 to death in a single Gestapo building. Scores of thousands of Jews were thrown down an old mine shaft and their bodies dissolved with quicklime, he says.

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Little Minds Seize Upon Splinters

Dr. Rast will give you a unique view of John Wesley's personality. It made me chuckle when I read it and I now have far more respect for John Wesley because of his tart comeback. Ie belongs in much the same category as Christ's retort to the petty critics who ignored his major religious principles and pounced on a picayune item like his failure to wash his hands before supper.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE B-484: Dr. John M. Rast, famous clergyman and former president of Lander College, writes a fascinating daily religious column.

In one of his recent releases, he gave us a quick glimpse into the personality of John Wesley.

DR. CRANE

Many of you realize that John Wesley was the founder of the Methodist Church.

He and his colleagues at Oxford University believed in living according to an agenda. They did things according to a "method," hence, the name Methodists.

And he was certainly a scholarly university man.

But one day he received a letter from a disgruntled member of an audience that he had addressed. This writer said:

"The Lord has directed me to write you and tell you while you know both Greek and Hebrew, he can do without your book larnin,."

Well, I imagine most of our newspaper editors would relish John Wesley's reply, for I chuckled at it and have had much more respect for John Wesley ever since.

"Your letter received," Wesley replied to his critic, "and I may say it was superfluous, as I already know that the Lord could do without my larnin'.

★ ★ ★

"While the Lord does not direct me to tell you, yet I wish to say, on my own responsibility, that the Lord does not need your ignorance, either."

BRAVO, JOHN WESLEY

A lot of philanthropic leaders and sincere statesmen have often been taken to task by little minds who seize upon some splinter from a major plank in the statesman's program and then try to needle him with it.

Jesus was thus criticized for eating with the publicans and sinners without washing his hands.

And Christ tartly shot back at his critics, much as John Wesley did, by reminding them it wasn't what goes into a man's mouth which pollutes him but what issues therefrom!

Editors, teachers and other civic leaders likewise are maligned and often misquoted in the process, just so some petty wiseacre can try to pontificate.

★ ★ ★

Notice how this critic of John Wesley tried to do God's speaking, by self-appointing himself as the Lord's prophet.

★ ★ ★

Yet many clergymen likewise consider themselves God's mouthpieces when they utter asinine statements.

Thus, an eloquent clergyman in Kansas a generation ago made a masterful address extoling his mother as the most saintly person he had ever seen in the flesh. He added that he had never remembered her doing a wrong thing or saying an evil word.

But in his peroration he pontificated by exclaiming:

"Ladies and Gentlemen, I regret to inform you that I shall never see my mother in heaven, because she wasn't baptized by immersion!"

★ ★ ★

Many other clergymen of different faiths likewise pontificate. It may be a real shock to them in the Hereafter to learn that they weren't speaking for God at all!

God is Truth and Logic, so unless your remarks are sensible and jibe with logic, don't insult

God by claiming you are his mouthpiece as you utter them.

Such a sin of taking God's name in vain doubtless ranks in the very same category as profaning Diety by using God's name in cursing.

4,000 Airmen Going to Britain

They'll Bring Families and Population at Bases Will Swell 12 Per Cent

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. Air Force population in Britain will increase by about 12 per cent over the next few months.

"Let them all come," says the chairman of a good will committee near the big Ruislip base. "We've been getting along fine with the Yanks here for years."

His sentiments were echoed by owners of village stores near the American Air Force bases dotted over eastern England. Taking care of American families has meant business since World War II.

Some 4,000 U.S. airmen and about 4,000 dependents are expected to come to Britain from bases closing in France.

"They should love it," said Jean Marker, wife of a U.S. Air Force technical sergant who has been in Britain three years. She comes from Manhattan, Kan.

"Their biggest problems will be the weather and the currency. I thought I'd never get used to either, but I did."

A more immediate problem will be housing. An Air Force spokesman said:

"We've been building and buying houses on the base or in the neighborhood but we still don't have enough for our needs.

"Most of our dependent families live in rented homes."

The Air Force has been installing trailer homes on some bases. An extra room is attached to each trailer to make a second bedroom.

The basic monthly allowance of $97 for quarters is adequate for British rents outside London.

The Air Force operates 21 American schools in Britain, including two high schools. By the end of next year it plans to have 14 new elementary schools for 3,000 youngsters.

Khrushchev 'Elects' Nixon President

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Nixon learned from W. Averell Harriman yesterday that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev "regards Mr. Nixon as the next president of the United States."

Harriman, recently returned from a visit to Moscow and an interview with Khrushchev, chatted with Nixon in the vice president's capitol office.

On leaving, Harriman told newsmen about his talk with Nixon and his report on Khrushchev's comments.

"I told Premier Khrushchev that I thought the next president would be a democrat," Harriman added with a smile.

Nixon will fly to Moscow July 22 to open a U. S. exhibit there and visit with Soviet leaders.

Harriman said he told Nixon that this trip is "of great importance and his talks with Soviet officials will give them a chance to know American views better."

Khrushchev is anxious to visit the United States, Harriman said.

Nation's Polio Case Toll 3 Times Higher Than '58

WASHINGTON (AP) — A total of 175 cases of polio were reported throughout the country for the week ending July 4, the Public Health Service says. This was about three times as many as in the same week last year.

Only New England seems to be maintaining a relative immunity.

Foreign Cars Likely to Hold U.S. Markets

For the first time in history, foreign car manufacturers are carving themselves a substantial piece of the U.S. auto market. What accounts for booming foreign car sales in the United States? Here's a report on the current situation and the likely future trend.)

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT (AP)—Once hesitant to compete with glossy American models on their home grounds, European auto makers now have invaded in force. Not only do they intend to stay here, they hope to expand their beachheads.

If you bought a new car five years ago there was only one chance in 160 that you got a foreign model. Today the chances are one in 10.

Five years ago the United States built 70 per cent of the world's passenger cars. Last year, for the first time, it built less than half.

American manufacturers feel that a good 1959 sales year will give them 55 to 60 per cen of the total world production. But they are going to have a tough fight cutting back the foreign foothold in the United States.

So far imported cars have found their best markets along the East and West coasts. Almost 17 per cent of new car sales in California last year were foreign models.

★ ★ ★

Guy Fox, executive vice president of England's Standard-Triumph Motor Car Co., Inc., recently called the Midwest and Central Plains area "an up-and-coming market which has been neglected . . . it needs educating in the advantages of driving small imported cars."

Fox said shipments via the St. Lawrence Seaway direct to Chicago for virtually the same cost as to Eastern ports will aid in developing the Midwest as a market for foreign cars.

European manufacturers speak confidently of the future and show little or no concern for the possible impact of new smaller American-made cars which will enter dealers' showrooms this fall.

One European declared:

"The importing companies with top-flight management and marketing skills and with products of undisputed merit need not fear for the future of their market in America.

"European companies need not compete with Detroit on a unit-for-unit basis. The appetites of the European makers are far more modest. Depending on the company, the United States can be a whale of a good market (for a single manufacturer) on a sale of anywhere from 3,000 to 100,000 cars annually."

Last year foreign carmakers sold 377,625 units in the United States. Their total combined goals for 1959 run to around 600,000. Sales figures so far indicate they should make it.

Sixty-seven foreign manufacturers are trying to sell cars on the American market. Competition among them, and with the new American smaller models, obviously will cut the number sharply. But the survivors will be firmly entrenched with accepted products, many of them listing prices well below anything the U.S. makers can hope to offer.

For example, the small American cars are expected to sell for about $2,000. The price range on the cheapest models of volume foreign sellers runs from $1,098 at the New York port of entry for Fiat up to $1,645 for Renault.

Leader among imports is the Volkswagen from West Germany, product of continental Europe's biggest automaker. The French Renault is challenging the Germans and running a strong second.

West German firms expect to ship more than 160,000 automobiles to the United States this year. This compares with a startling total of two—that's right, two—German cars exported to America in all of 1949.

In 1958 England exported more cars to the United States than any other country. West Germany was a close second, followed by France, Italy and Sweden. Manufacturers of all five nations are adding dealers, improving distribution and modifying models to meet American peculiarities.

★ ★ ★

Rootes Motors, Ltd. (Hollman, Signer and Sunbeam) is developing an automatic transmission and figuring on more truck space—two specific U.S. demands. Simca, now 25 per cent owned by Chrysler, has just introduced two new models on the American market. Renault has a flashy little sports car, called the Floride in France but named Caravelle in the United States to avoid offending Californians.

Renault has prepared a four-million-dollar U. S. advertising campaign, only a drop in the bucket by American auto standards but an unheard of figure for a foreign car manufacturer.

Japan's Toyoto Motors is the most recent foreign entry. Last year 1,604 Japanese cars were sold here. This year a spokesman for Toyota Motors says his company expects to ship 300 to 400 cars monthly to America.

The foreign manufacturers are in general agreement on reasons for their success here—low purchase cost, low cost maintenance, high gas mileage and foreign styling.

These factors also seem to be the reasons why the foreign market for American-made cars has declined from 451,095 cars in 1929 to 125,834 in 1958. During this period exports shrunk from almost 10 per cent of total U. S. production to 3 per cent.

Some countries, such as England, France, Italy and Japan limit the number of American cars that can be imported. But in England and Italy these quotas never have been filled and one Renault official in Paris said "I doubt that the sales of American autos would increase enough to worry us if all trade barriers were dropped. The European wants a small car. An American car costs too much to operate in France. The roads are too narrow and the gasoline too expensive."

Venezuela, Cuba, Colombia, South Africa and Mexico remain fairly good markets for standard-size American cars. One of the best is the Benelux area where some 6,000 U.S. cars were sold last year. This superior foreign market is not as good, however, as any single U.S. state. Nevada had the least new car sales in 1958, but its figure was some 1,500 more than the Belgium-Holland-Luxembourg market combined.

Are American manufacturers worried about their shrinking export markets? Apparently not too much. The trend appears to be the old one: If you can't lick 'em, join 'em.

General Motors, Ford and Chrysler all operate in Canada and overseas through independent companies, wholly owned subsidiaries and various other complicated alliances. About 22 per cent of the foreign models sold in the United States last year were produced by Big Three subsidiaries.

★ ★ ★

Ford's international operations, mainly in Germany, England and Canada, have become so profitable that the parent company revised its accounting procedures this year to reflect all the glowing figures. The international side of Ford made a profit of 33½ million dollars last year.

General Motors, which makes the Vauxhall in England, the Opel in West Germany and the Holden in Australia, reported net assets outside the United States and Canada at $472,179,974 at the end of 1958.

Chrysler never has given a financial breakdown of its foreign operations. Right now it is completing a vast expansion program under Vice President Lynn A. Townsend.

Townsend gives the new viewpoint on foreign business in explaining Chrysler's aims.

"Many people believe we bought into Simca last year in order to have a forgeign small car for our U.S. dealers to sell. That's one reason, but it was not the major reason.

★ ★ ★

"We bought into Simca because it is a good company with an excellent product and established world markets that complemented ours."

"Five years from now, and from then on, more cars will be made and sold outside the United States than on the domestic market. We want our share."

Seaway Service Said Improving

Official States Delays, Mishaps Expected for Operation This Size

CHICAGO (UPI)—The St. Lawrence Seaway's operation is beginning to improve after a rocky start, an official of the Seaway Development Corporation said yesterday.

Martin W. Oettershagen, the corporation's deputy administrator, said the delays and mishaps which plagued the seaway when it was opened were to be expected in an enterprise of such magnitude.

Oettershagen addressed 400 businessmen and industrialists at a lunch sponsored by the Chicago Assn. of Commerce and Industry and the Traffic Club of Chicago in conjunction with Seaway Day at the Chicago International Trade Fair.

"The early criticism has turned to praise," he said.

Oettershagen noted a number of factors responsible for the crowding and jamming of lock facilities along the St. Lawrence River-Welland Canal route.

These included unusual ice conditions which caused a five-day delay in the opening, lack of experienced pilots, inexperience of ships' masters and accidents, he said.

"It is a good seaway. It is a going concern. It is practically a completed project when we consider the original concept," Oettershagen added.

To Try Mack, Whiteside Again if Permitted

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government says it will try Richard A. Mack and Thurman A. Whiteside again if it can. Their 14-week trial ended Friday in a hung jury.

They were charged with plotting to rig the award of a Miami television channel while Mack was a member of the Federal Communications Commission. Whiteside is a Miami lawyer.

But whether the government can bring them to trial again depends on a pending decision of Federal Judge Burnita S. Matthews.

Jail Congressman's Son in Missile Demonstration

OMAHA, Neb. (AP)—A pacifist demonstration against a missile base site has brought a six months federal jail sentence to the 22-year-old son of a Vermont congressman.

Sentenced to serve the six months, and to pay a fine of $500, was Karl H. Meyer. His father is Rep. William H. Meyer, Democrat serving his first term in the House and a member of the House Foreign Relations Committee.

Summer Should Be Carefree—Not Careless

Don't Exclude Beauty

"One should never take a summer vacation from beauty," said Mme. Elsa Schiaparelli.

"I always feel that summer days should be the most pleasant days of the year — certainly carefree, but never careless. Is there anything more appealing than an attractive woman who looks cool and smartly dressed in a seemingly effortless manner? She creates a wonderful atmosphere, whether on a country club terrace admiring the view or during a city shopping trip."

★ ★ ★

One always admires this type of woman — and wonders how she achieves her chic even on sultry days. The answer is that she leaves nothing to chance. She knows that no phase of good grooming should be neglected because of the weather.

KEEP IT SIMPLE

One cardinal rule is to abolish unnecessary detail. One striking accessory creates a dramatic effect in an otherwise simple ensemble.

The traditional straw hats are great allies to any woman in the summer. Wide brimmed chapeaux shade and cool as well as flatter the eyes. And the wonderful tulle and organdy turbans of this year give a woman a "head in the clouds" far above summer humidity.

★ ★ ★

One should strive for light graceful accessories — white gloves, gay jewelry, and pale or open-worked shoes. White gloves always give a crisp edge to what otherwise might be a wilted effect.

Summer too, can be a time to experiment a little. The sunny days give one the right to be more daring in color and ideas.

Even the most conservative of women has the right to one spectacular pair of sunglasses. This, the most basic summer accessory can be the most exciting. Colorful and fanciful shapes and sizes give a lift on a hot day.

BEAUTY TRICK

And in summer routine beauty care can be given an extra touch that suits it to the season.

"One trick, invaluable during traveling—and till now a great secret of mine," says Mme. Schiaparelli, "has been a quick facial. Follow a cold creaming by stroking an ice cube wrapped in a face cloth against the skin until it tingles. This is as good for the complexion as it is for the morale."

★ ★ ★

And, of course, it is morale that is the key to this whole problem of dressing well. If one takes care and time, one can feel elegant on the warmest day — consequently morale and spirits keep pace with the thermometer.

Tell Guest Your Party Is Complete

By EMILY POST

"Dear Mrs. Post: The other evening I gave a buffet party for twenty people. One of the guests (a single man) called me the day before the party and asked if he could bring along a woman friend. Having been put on the spot, so, to speak, I didn't know what to say except to bring her along.

"This young woman was a total stranger to me and I resented having to entertain someone I didn't know when there are so many of my own friends that I could have invited. Don't you think it was an imposition to ask to bring her along, and also, how does one refuse when asked such a question?"

Answer. Unless the man was a very intimate friend and there was some special reason he wanted to bring her (for example, if she was a house guest of his mother's), it was very cheeky of him to ask. The only thing you could have said was, "I am terribly sorry, but we have so many girls coming compared to the number of men, that we cannot add to their number."

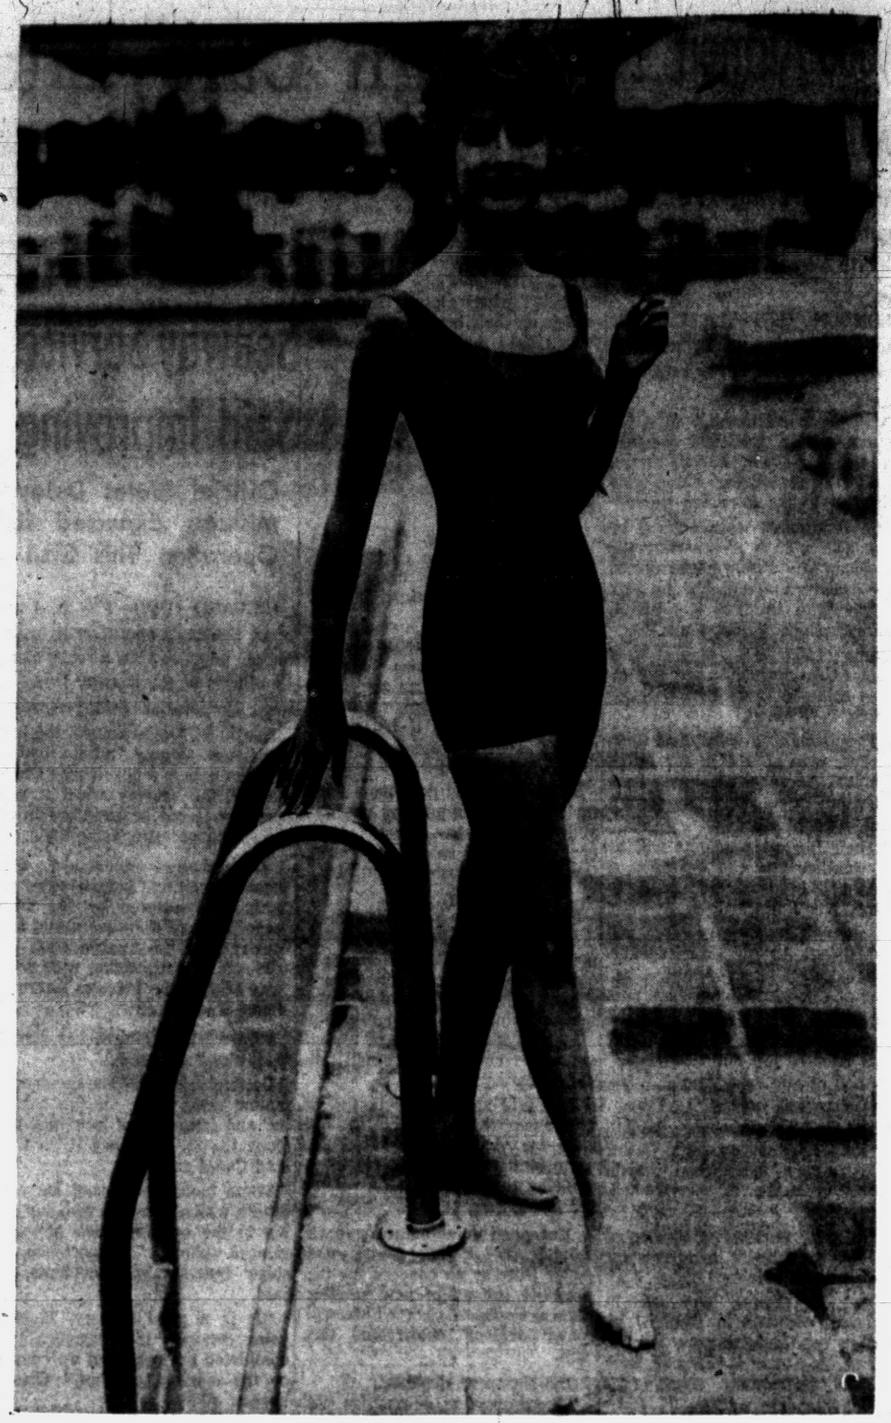

"Dear Mrs. Post: While I know that a typewriter letter is accepted today, is it proper for an executive to dictate personal letters to his wife who may be out of the city, or to members of his family living away from home?"

Answer: He may dictate these letters so long as they contain nothing that his wife or family can possibly mind his secretary knowing about.

"Dear Mrs. Post: One of the young men in our office is going to be married soon and we have taken up a collection for him. We intend to get a wedding gift check from the bank and present it to him the day before he leaves. There is some question as to how this check should be made out.

"I think it should be made out to him, but one of the young women insists that it should be made out to his bride-to-be, as all wedding presents are sent to her. Will you settle this please?"

Answer: Your check may be considered an exception to the rule that all the wedding presents must be sent to the bride-to-be, and you may properly present it to him. You might say in doing so, that it is to buy something that she would like to have.

High Grade Husband Price Set at $10,500

MANCHESTER, England (UPI)—A judge Thursday solemnly ruled that the cash value of a "wonderful" husband was exactly $10,500.

The wonderful husband was Matthew Tavlin. He was 46 years old when a runaway wagon ended his life. His widow, Mrs. Margaret Ann Tavlin, the memories of her ideal marriage still painfully fresh in her mind, took her problem to court.

★ ★ ★

She told Justice Hinchcliffe that Matthew was "my wonderful man." She said he:

—Did not drink or smoke;

Repaired the family's shoes;

—Decorated the house;

—Mended all electrical faults;

Fixed the television set when it went wrong;

—Worked overtime to save money for family holidays;

—Never had a day's illness in his life.

"He was wonderful," said Mrs. Tavlin. "There'll never be another like him."

★ ★ ★

And to prove it, she said she had rejected an offer of $14,000 compensation.

"I think I did the right thing by taking the case to court," she said. "I just had to."

Justice Hinchcliffe pondered the problem. Then he translated the ideal spouse into terms of hard cash. The value, he ruled, was $10,500.

★ ★ ★

Then he learned of the $14,000 offer.

Said he: "Oh dear! A most generous payment. And I tried to be as fair as I could."

Eye Future in Buying Furniture

CHICAGO—Interior decorator Jane Derrick offers newly-weds a yardstick by which to choose furniture that can be moved from the first apartment to the larger quarters which the young couple eventually will want.

Miss Derrick said it's best to consult a professional decorator, who will help a young couple furnish an apartment with a $1,000 budget and guide them to choices that will last. This, she said, is the least expensive and most satisfactory way.

SOME TIPS

But for the bride who wants to proceed on her own, Miss Derrick had these suggestions:

Stick to the good straight lines of traditional furniture. The design is always good, and "there is a lot of bad design in modern." "Modernizing" touches can be added in fabrics, pictures and other accessories.

★ ★ ★

Buy good wood pieces. Excellent wood will withstand almost unlimited rough treatment and can be refinished and repaired without losing its beauty, while cheap wood will always look like what it is. Upholstered furniture must eventually be recovered, no matter how fine the fabric.

Avoid bulky furniture which looks fine in the showroom but overwhelming in an apartment living room. Small pieces almost always can be transferred to new quarters, but over-scale furniture might dominate the scene.

Keep the rooms simple, sparsely furnished. They can be brightened with flowers, pictures or greens, "and remember there shouldn't be a room without some place for books."

Deal in monotones, with only an occasional printed fabric or figured wallpaper for accent.

★ ★ ★

In pictures, "it's better to have a good copy than a poor original."

Appointed to Scholarship Committee

Mrs. Pauline M. Ryman, medical social worker at Henry Ford Hospital, and a member of the Detroit Chapter of the National Assn. of Social Workers has been appointed to serve on the state Health Scholarship Committee, according to Robert Langer, Chairman of the Oakland County Chapter NASW.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Ryman is one of five members of the statewide committee which will select the first 20 students from Michigan to receive four-year scholarships under the National Foundation's $12,000,000 health scholarship program.

Committee members represent five health professions, medical social work, medicine, nursing, physical therapy and occupational therapy. In Michigan, four scholarships will be awarded to each of the health fields represented.

★ ★ ★

A total of 505 scholarships are to be offered each year in each of the five professions. More than 4,600 students from all parts of the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii applied for scholarships this year.

"The National Assn. of Social Workers is delighted at the prompt and enthusiastic response of Michigan students to the new National Foundation scholarships awarded to college sophomores interested in medical social work—for two years of undergraduate and two years of graduate education," Mr. Langer said.

★ ★ ★

Mr. Langer, assistant director, Pontiac Area United Fund, also said that the shortage of social workers is acute. Some 8,000 openings for social workers in medical settings throughout the country cannot now be filled.

The National Foundation has been supporting the Association's recruitment efforts since 1953.

The National Association of Social Workers is a professional membership organization with 23,000 members who work through 151 chapters throughout the country.

Ike Ha$ a New Type of $tory for U.$. Children

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Friday suggested a new kind of bedtime story for children—tales emphasizing need for prudent spending.

★ ★ ★

The suggestion was reported to newsmen by the new cochairmen of the Young Republican National Federation. They are Ned Cushing of Downs, Kan., and Mrs. David G. Fernald of Upper Montclair, N.J.

After a visit with Eisenhower, Mrs. Fernald quoted him as saying that if he were to tell his grandson a bedtime story, he would say:

"I am not supporting you — you are supporting me."

★ ★ ★

In explaining, Mrs. Fernald related, the President said the future of all American youngsters is mortgaged because of heavy federal spending and the big national debt.

Both Mrs. Fernald and Cushing said Eisenhower is deeply concerned about this and emphasized that there must be prudent spending in government.

As for political prospects, Cushing quoted Eisenhower as saying the Republicans can win the 1960 elections "if we work hard and tell the truth."

★ ★ ★

The President also said, Mrs. Fernald related, that young people among the Republicans must provide the spark for success in the elections.

Zontas Mix for Dinner

Pontiac and Milford Zonta Clubs held a dinner meeting together Thursday at Kensington Park.

★ ★ ★

Forty members and fourteen guests, including Senator Harvey Lodge, enjoyed a picnic dinner and a ride on the park's excursion boat.

Dr. Ann Becker (Mrs. Jack Becker) who is leaving Monday to live in California was presented a gift by Mrs. Lloyd B. Smith on behalf of the Pontiac club.

Committees were named for the Zonta Fair which will be held Nov. 7.

100 Teenagers Touring Europe

Michigan Chorale Visits Emerald Isle

The names Bangor, Nutt's Corner, Ulster, County Down, and Ballymena, formed the background of a new experience for a 100 teenagers from southern Michigan, members of the Michigan Chorale, as they spent a "fortnit" in northern Ireland last week.

Staying in private homes, usually built attached to one another in long rows, they sipped tea, spent their shillings, rode in tiny cars on the "wrong" side of traffic, and learned new expressions and folk stories of the fabled land of the wee people.

★ ★ ★

In Ireland on the initial part of the teenage exchange program, sponsored by the Michigan Council of Churches, the young vocalists, conducted by Lester McCoy, provided concerts for the benefit of the British Leprosy Relief Assn. and the National Fund for Polio Research. The first of these events, held in Ulster Hall, drew a large crowd which included the governor of northern Ireland, the Honorable Lord Wakehurst. The Lord Mayor of Belfast and Bangor's deputy mayor welcomed the chorale to their respective cities. Also on hand was the American consul general in Belfast. Souvenir gifts of embroidered Irish linen handkerchiefs were presented to each member of the chorale by members of the Ulster Girls' Choir who toured America recently.

★ ★ ★

Sightseeing excursions acquainted the young people with the hedge-lined shamrock countryside, the mountains of Mourne, and Tyrella Beach. A special tour was made of Bangor Castle and its gardens, exploring the exhibits and learning its history.

★ ★ ★

Next stop in the students' twelve city good will concert tour will be in Royal Tunbridge Wells in Kent, near London, before moving on to the continent of Europe.

Time of First Words Varies

When should a child be talking and at what age should you begin to be alarmed if he isn't talking?

The normal range is wide. A few children will say their first real words as early as eight months but other equally normal children may be well over two years old before they have picked up the idea that sounds can mean things.

A child who is approaching his third birthday and hasn't begun to talk should most certainly be thoroughly examined.

One of the first things we think about in delayed speech is that the child doesn't hear. Children talk a jargon before they master intelligible speech. Listen to your child. When he babbles does it sound like conversation? Does he go sometimes slowly, sometimes more rapidly? Is his voice full and vibrant, high-pitched at times and low at others?

VOICE INFLECTIONS

If there are all these subtle inflections in his jargon, you can rest easy that he is not deaf. These sounds he learned from listening to you; he didn't think them up himself. And he couldn't have done it if he were deaf. On the other hand, if a child jabbers always in a monotone, if his voice is uninteresting and dull and he doesn't pay much attention to it himself, possibly he cannot hear. You had better have his hearing examined right away.

But delayed speech can be due to the simple fact that you don't talk to your child. If you go about your care for him silently, he hasn't anything to copy, so he doesn't talk.

Talking is a means of getting what you want from the world. If you anticipate every wish of your child, he doesn't have the need to ask or demand what he wants with words. Talk to your baby, but by your actions let him discover that talking gets him what he wants.

Sometimes parents worry that a child is mentally retarded if he is delayed in talking. Of course there is this possibility, but don't jump to the conclusion. A child whose speech is delayed because he is retarded will show his slowness in all phases of his development. He will be late in sitting up, in walking, in toilet training and in all the other multitude of things a child does. If he is only slow in talking, this slowness is probably not due to retardation.

SOME WALK FIRST

A child who walks before he talks may just put off talking for a while. He becomes so absorbed in going places he doesn't have time or interest for a different skill. Let him alone. When he becomes so proficient at walking he can do it without thinking about it, then he will turn his attention to his vocabulary.

If your child is slow in talking, talk to him and talk plenty. Love him, keep him happy and content as much as you can. If you are worried about him, by all means take him to your doctor and have him thoroughly gone over and have hearing tests and intelligence tests included in the examination.

Make-Up Should Be Soft Blend

There's a world of difference between the face that glows with color and the one that's heavily plastered with make-up. The difference lies in the way that the make-up was handled, of course.

In one case, it was applied lightly and skillfully by a deft hand. In the other case, it went on heavily and without much thought.

To give a face a vibrant look and play up a pair of beautiful eyes or a lovely mouth, make-up must be blended. Powder, rouge, lipstick and eye make-up must all get together to create the final, wanted effect. They can't do this if the boundaries are as clearly marked as areas on a map.

This is where cleansing tissues become a girl's best friend. A cleansing tissue, wadded up in your hand, will blend rouge so that it supplies just the lightest glow of color. It will smooth eye make-up into a faint shadow and blot lipstick until nothing is left but the color of the lipstick itself.

Luggage Just Gets Better and Better

The newest in luggage is so light-weight that it almost seems to carry itself. And it's so easily washable that it almost takes care of itself.

It is made with a covering which is vinyl-coated so that such bags are stain, scuff, and flame-resistant. Dirt sits only on the surface, so it can be wiped off with a sponge and soap or detergent suds.

Hawaiian Muu-Muu Won't Do

Pierre Balmain, the noted Paris couturier, took one look at the Hawaiian muumuu and declared: "Mais, non."

Balmain said the loose-fitting, nightgown-like dress might be "fun" but it couldn't be worn on the Riviera or anywhere else in the world.

And, he said, no one but a young and shapely woman has any business wearing one.

CHRISTIAN ORIGIN

The muu-muu is a shapeless, drapeless gown, usually floor-length, that originated in the 1820s when missionary wives put Mother Hubbards over the Polynesians to cover their nakedness. The Polynesians since then have prettied the gowns by putting flower prints on them.

Balmain, whose fashion house in Paris employes 800 and caters to society women, stopped off in Honolulu on his round-the-world vacation trip.

He remarked that he didn't pay much attention to what women in the islands are wearing.

As for muu-muus, Balmain commented:

"Loose dresses make a woman with a poor figure look as if she has a complex about her body."

He said his fashion house ignored the sack dress.

"They were unfeminine," he commented. "I design to enhance femininity, not to destroy it.

"The woman is more important than the dress. A dress is just part of her look. Accessories are just as important.

Balmain took a dim view of men's fashions.

He said he liked Hawaii because "it's one of the few places in the world where a man can wear colors without appearing ridiculous."

He called men's styles dreary and dull.

"But," he added, "elegance in a man is designed to be noticed."

Consider Ages in Food Budget

When planning food budgets, consider the ages of the family members, says Lois S. Cline, home advisor of thew University of California in Los Angeles County.

★ ★ ★

"Food costs generally increase with age up to 20 years, then decrease," Mrs. Cline said.

"After age 12, men need more food than women, and therefore cost more to feed. It costs about a third more to feed a 16-year-old boy than a girl the same age.

Next to a teenaged boy, a man 35 to 54 years is the most expensive to feed, Mrs. Cline added.

May Be Boring

Care for Teeth to Keep 'Em

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

The newer theory is that we cannot improve our teeth through nutrition. The only time diet plays a part is during the development of the fetus. Once the teeth are formed before the birth of the child nothing it eats later on can improve them. That is one reason why the diet of the pregnant woman is so important to her child.

After we once have our teeth we must resort to preventative measures. Of course this means brushing them carefully after each meal and after eating at any time whenever this is feasible.

This is much more important than many folks realize. When food substances remain in contact with the surfaces of the teeth, the acid reaction breeds bacteria which lead to decay. this can happen in a very short period of time. Sugars and other carbohydrates are particularly destructive in this way. The teeth always should be brushed as soon after eatnig sweets as possible.

When we consider the fact that more than two-thirds of all Americans are in need of bridges or dentures by the age of 35, and that 97 million of the population have decayed teeth, we are impressed with the importance of tooth care.

Just giving your teeth a lick and a promise is not enough. In order to be effective you must take time and give real thought to the way you brush your teeth. I myself do not think there is anything more boring and I know we all have a tendency to do a poor job.

However, investment in correct care will pay off in appearance and in keeping our teeth. Neglected teeth not only cause pain but are a great expense.

HOW TO BRUSH

When brushing your teeth hold your jaws slightly apart. Use a downward motion when brushing the upper teeth and an upward motion when brushing the lower teeth. The inside as well as the outside surfaces should be brushed, also the chewing surfaces.

One expert I interviewed recommends the methods just mentioned but likes to have his patients vibrate the brush as it moves slowly up or down the surfaces. For this he likes a soft brush. This pushes the bristles into the crevices.

Our teeth have a great effect on our health. Diseased teeth can lead to serious trouble since these release poisons in our bodies. Also those who have missing teeth and do not have them replaced cannot chew properly. Therefore they avoid many foods which they need for good nutrition. This is often a problem of the older persons who cannot afford to or will not have essential dental work done.

If the teeth are brushed regularly and carefully and we visit our dentist twice a year, we probably will avoid trouble later on.

Just giving your teeth a lick and a promise is not enough. In her column today, Josephine Lowman tells you how the dentists would like to have you brush your teeth.

Speak Up Men, Tell Her You Want Her

By RUTH MILLETT

"My wife is always saying, 'I hardly ever see you,' Yet when I'm home and working in the yard or somewhere, she shuts herself up in the house and never comes near me. How can you explain that?" asks a husband.

That's easy. When a woman says, "I hardly ever see you," what she usually means is, "You don't pay enough attention to me."

For a woman who feels neglected, a husband busily at work in the yard or garage might as well not be at home. She hesitates to tag along after him for fear he wants to be alone. So she resorts to nagging him about how little time they have together.

If you really want to solve the problem, you can do it with just a little blarney.

Before you retire to the workshop, ask your wife to come out and keep you company while you work. Tell her you enjoy having her around.

When you go into the yard to work, tell her you want her advice on some project you are about to start. Or pull up a lawn chair for her and tell her to come out and watch the sunset.

In short, instead of expecting your wife to follow you around—make a little effort to show her that you like having her near you.

That little bit of reassurance will give her a lift. And who knows, it might just happen that you'll wind up having a little help on your do-it-yourself jobs. If not, you might, at least, find that you have an admiring audience.

This, of course, all presumes that you aren't trying to get away when wou retire to the yard or workshop.

Takes Only Speck of Brain

Social Behavior Pinned

By RENNIE TAYLOR
Associated Press Science Writer

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—A scientist working with chickens has come up with the finding that only a pinhead sized piece of the forward part of the brain is necessary for learning social behavior.

Although there is some resemblance between these brain parts in humans and animals, the discovery does not mean that acceptable human behavior can come from a minimum of gray matter, he said.

What it does indicate, he added, is that only a speck of material from the highest brain center can work with the more primitive part of that organ to produce social responses in animals. These responses are nestling, following a mother, and chirping for help when lost or frightened.

Chickens in which the entire forward part of the brain was removed lost all desire to cuddle, chirp or follow a mother-like object, said Dr. Nicholas E. Collias, a zoologist from the University of California at Los Angeles. He addressed the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science Wednesday.

Chicks only 30 minutes out of the shell were used. Those with part of the higher brain section remaining responded quickly after the operation to mother objects. After three days they became somewhat less socially gifted.

In another report, Dr. Benjamin F. Stimmel and Vessa Notchev, biochemists of the Ress-Stealy Research Foundation, San Diego, said they had been able to make rabbits produce a female sex hormone heretofore supposed to be exclusively a human product.

Who Said Short Bob Is Breeze?

Just because your hair is cut short and shaggy in this fashion year, don't believe that brushing is not as essential as it would be if your hair were waist length, warn a Hollywood beauty authority.

★ ★ ★

In fact, the shorter the tresses the more you need sheen and sparkle to augment its beauty.

Give your hair at least fifty brush strokes each day. Bend forward while you brush so the blood will circulate with even more vigor.

Massage your scalp to keep it healthy and loose. Do not scrubb your finger-tips back and forth over the hair roots. Instead, press your fingertips firmly against the your scalp and you move it back and forth until you feel the tingle of increased circulation.

Stresses Value of Rural Church

Agriculture Missions in Asia, Africa Are Badly Understaffed

The potential of village churches as a force for rural reconstruction is now being impressed on missionaries overseas, Dr. Ira W. Moomaw declared recently. He is executive secretary of Agricultural Missions, Inc. and of the Rural Missions Cooperating Committee of the National Council of Churches, with which it is associated.

Dr. Moomaw outlined committee plans for an intensified field service program which will include rural training for village pastors and courses in rural youth work and community extension services.

"By conservative calculation," he said, "there are over 72,000 village churches but only 35,000 trained village pastors in Asia, Africa and South America."

To help remedy the situation, consultations have been going on between missionaries, church leaders and missions executives to set up workshops and develop field projects abroad.

Dr. Richard O. Comfort, secretary for village church and community service of the Committee, will conduct such workshops in Greece, the Near East, Pakistan, India and Thailand during the coming year.

"In 1950 only 92 missionaries with agricultural training were serving missions boards," Dr. Moomaw declared, "while today they list 210." He cited the training courses at Cornell and agriculture colleges in this country, which are producing more of these dedicated workers.

★ ★ ★

"The agricultural missionary," Dr. Moomaw said, "is now at the edge of the paddy fields, in the villages and wherever water is brought in to irrigate fallow land and produce food for the people, and the heart of his work is the village church."

A church and Sunday School picnic will be held Tuesday at Dodge Bloomer Park near Rochester. The Rev. E. I. Watkins is pastor.

TO SERVE AS MISSIONARIES — The Rev. and Mrs. Bernard H. Wright, who were married following their graduation from Nyack Missionary College in June, left this week for Uvaldi, Texas, where they will serve the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church for two years. They will then leave for a mission field in Africa. Mrs. Wright's parents are the Rev. and Mrs. John S. Johanson, missionaries in Banfora, West Africa. A graduate of Pontiac Central High School, the Rev. Wright is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wright of 145 E. Huron St.

Installation at St. Michael

Rev. Leon O. Kennedy to Mark Anniversary With Sunday Mass

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Eugene Paddock, pastor of Holy Name parish of Birmingham, will install the Rev. Leon O. Kennedy as pastor of St. Michael Church at the 12:30 p.m. Mass.

★ ★ ★

Following the ceremony, Fr. Kennedy will celebrate the silver anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood with a Mass of Thanksgiving.

The Rev. Mervin Lenk will preach the sermon.

In addition to the parishioners of St. Michael, a group of about 50 relatives will attend the Mass.

Coming from Florida, Alabama, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and New York, the family will honor Fr. Kennedy with a dinner get-together at Rotunda Inn after the service.

Fr. Kennedy was ordained in Fribourg, Switzerland, on July 8, 1934. He comes to the local parish from St. Francis of Assisi parish in Ann Arbor.

Catholic Boy Scouts Quit Over Segregation Issue

HAVELOCK, N. C. (AP) — A Catholic Boy Scout troop has withdrawn from scouting because the regional Scout council ruled that one of the troop's members — a Negro boy — would not be welcome at a regional outing.

The Rev. Frank J. Howard, pastor of Annunciation Parish, wrote in turning in the troop charter: "If we had known that you were set up on a segregated basis, we would never have sponsored a troop in the first place."

A recent study determined that the average length of passenger car trips in the U.S. is 8.5 miles.

List Church Occupations

NEW YORK (AP)—A 52-page handbook, "Lutheran Church Occupations," has been published by the United Lutheran Church to inform youth about vocational possibilities in the church. It lists 29 different occupations that might be chosen —ranging from pastor to missionary dentist.

Jewish Population Up

NEW YORK (AP)—Jewish population in the United States is five times what it was 50 years ago, the current American Jewish Year Book reports. It gives the total today as 5,260,000, compared to a million in 1899.

The Federal government collected 540 billion dollars in excise taxes in 1929 and almost 11 billion in fiscal 1958.

Nazarenes Plan District Meeting

Dr. G. B. Williamson, of Kansas City, Mo., will be the presiding general superintendent for the annual Eastern Michigan district assembly of the Church of the Nazarene to be held in the Detroit First Nazarene Church, 18751 Fenkell, Wednesday and Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Pastors of all 73 district churches will report, representing a total of 6,500 members and a Sunday school enrollment of 15,500.

The Rev. W. M. McQuire, 450 Eileen Dr. will give his annual message as district superintendent and outline plans for the 1959-60 year. Officers will be elected.

Pastor of the host church is the Rev. E. W. Martin, 14329 Greenview, Detroit.

Columbia Avenue Baptist Sponsors New Chapel

A new Baptist Chapel will open Sunday at 107 Second St. in Rochester.

★ ★ ★

Sponsored by the Columbia Avenue Baptist Church of Pontiac, it is one of 30,000 new chapels planned by the Southern Baptist Convention by 1964.

★ ★ ★

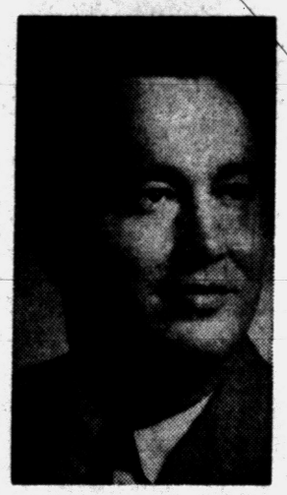

The Rev. Jay W. Brown, missionary of the convention for the Detroit Metropolitan area, will lead the Sunday School at 10 a.m.; morning worship at 11 a.m.; evening worship at 6:30, with Baptist Training Union and worship at 7:30 p.m.

★ ★ ★

The congregation of the Columbia Avenue Church and the Rev. Marion F. Boyd, pastor, surveyed the Rochester area and worked for the past year with the Baptist State Convention in organizing the chapel.

★ ★ ★

The Rev. Boyd said the services are open to the public.

Pontiac Girls Honored

Ann Savvas and Evelyn Ryeson, delegates to Diocese VI district 2 conference, of the Greek Orthodox Youth of America in Toledo, Ohio, were honored at the banquet and grand ball.

The affair was held this week in Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Church.

Others representing the St. George Greek Orthodox Church of Pontiac were Christine George, who has served as past district secretary and treasurer, Stella Williams, Mary Iliades, Mary Cosmas, Antigone Papanichola and Jim Iakovides.

Also attending were Martha and Rouni Savvas, Beth and Elizabeth Gregory, Gus and Sam Kiriakides.

At the grand banquet Andrew Kopan of Chicago, national president of Greek Orthodox Youth of America, presented the "GOYAN of the Year" award to Miss Savvas for her outstanding work and contributions toward the welfare of the organization.

Miss Ryeson, past district chairman, was chosen "GOYAN Queen" at the grand ball and given a glass key to the city by Toledo's pro-tem mayor.

With the theme of the conference "Responsibility," the main topic of the religious workshop was "Moral and Financial Responsibilities Toward the Church."

On July 19, district members will begin a campaign to help raise the $150,000 pledged for the erection of an Orthodox Chapel at Brookline, Mass. in memory of the late Archbishop Michael, founder of the Greek youth group.

The chapel will be dedicated to parents.

The national GOYA conference will be held the week of Aug. 23 in Grand Rapids.

Delegates and alternates present from Michigan, Ohio, Kentucky and London, Ont., selected Lexington, Ky. as the conference site for the 1960 district conference.

"CHURCH OF CHRIST NOT DENOMINATIONAL"

In previous articles we have endeavored to point out the difference in SO-CALLED DENOMINATIONAL CHRISTIANITY AND THE CHURCH OF CHRIST. The task before us in these articles is to point out why we (the members of the church of Christ) continually claim that the Church of Christ is not a denomination.

The Church of Christ is not a denomination because it does not have a denominational type worship.

L. R. Wilson has well said, "Wherever you find man upon the earth you find a worshipping being. It is as natural for man to worship as it is to eat. It is an instinctive urge created within the heart of every individual. Our manner and object of worship, however, differ with our understanding and emotions. It is not enough for us to worship—we must worship the right object in the right spirit and manner. Jesus said, "God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and truth" Jno. 4:24. Our Lord distinguishes here between "true worship" and all other kinds of worship; which means, of course, that not all worship is true."

Men have worshipped in all ages and have been commanded to do so by God but, "AS A CHRISTIAN I AM MUCH MORE INTERESTED IN LEARNING HOW TO WORSHIP GOD ACCEPTABLY TODAY." Unfortunately today people seem to be more concerned about PLEASING THEMSELVES IN WORSHIP THAN THEY ARE ABOUT PLEASING GOD, THE OBJECT OF MAN'S WORSHIP. Unfortunately again the leaders of many churches BOW TO EVERY WHIM, FANCY AND DESIRE OF THE MEMBERS IN REGARDS TO THE WORSHIP. But we should remember that the worship of Christians is not designed to please MAN, BUT GOD. We should remember also that God does not leave it to us TO DECIDE "HOW" WE MAY WORSHIP HIM BUT HE TELLS US "HOW" TO WORSHIP HIM. Jesus says in Jno. 4:24, God is a Spirit; and they that worship Him must worship him in spirit and in truth. TO WORSHIP GOD IN TRUTH IS TO WORSHIP HIM ACCORDING TO HIS WORD. Jesus said, "Sanctify them through the truth; Thy word is truth." (Jno. 17:17). It should be clear from this expression of Jesus that the only way to worship God in truth is to carefully study the New Testament for it is the will of God to us today.

What does the New Testament teach regarding Christian worship? In Acts after the church had been set up we read, "and they continued steadfastly in the apostles' teaching, and fellowship, in breaking of bread and the prayers." Here we have four of the items of Christian worship definitely stated: teaching, the breaking of bread (partaking of the Lord's supper), the fellowship (contribution), and prayer. Along with these we are commanded to sing (not play but sing) Heb. 2:12, "IN THE MIDST OF THE CHURCH WILL I SING." In numerating these as acts of worship for Christians today, Bro. Wilson says, "WE SEARCH IN VAIN FOR ANY OTHER ACTS OF WORSHIP ENJOINED UPON CHRISTIANS TODAY." "In short we must have the right doctrine in head, the right motive in heart, and the right practice in life if we worship God in spirit and truth." It is imperative that we follow the inspired examples which we find in the New Testament It is no less important that we learn not to go beyond the things that are written. (1 Cor. 4:6). To do less than God requires is Culpable; to do more than he requires is presumptuous; to alter what he says is rebellion." Believeth Thou This?

Harriman Asks Summit in U.S.

Tells Senators Nikita Should Get Invitation to Our Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—W. Averell Harriman, Democrat and former diplomat, advocates a summit meeting in the United States with an invitation to Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union.

Harriman tossed this idea on the table Friday during a 70-minute meeting with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

The former governor of New York and one-time ambassador to Moscow recently returned from a Soviet trip. He earlier reported that Khrushchev took a very tough line in talking with him about the Berlin crisis other East - West areas of conflict.

Harriman talked with the foreign relations group after a conference with Vice President Richard M. Nixon in his office just off the Senate floor. The meeting was Nixon's idea.

Harriman's views on easing U.S.-Soviet tension got considerable support from committee members.

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark) said he felt very strongly there should be a summit conference, or even a series of them, in a patient effort to solve these problems.

★ ★ ★

He endorsed the idea that Khrushchev should be invited to visit the United States, either for a summit talk or just to learn more about the country.

North Country Calls for Two TB Doctors

LANSING (UPI)—Help wanted: Two doctors who will answer the call of the north country.

This appeal was made by the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium Commission, which needs physicians to assist in running combined TB and mental hospitals at Gaylord and Hancock.

The commission noted the jobs were at "towns nestled in northern vacation lands."

The jobs, as assistant medical director at Hancock and assistant director at Gaylord, both could pay from $11,880 to $14,031 a year.

During World War II American soldiers and sailors on active duty drank twice as much tea as they consumed when they were civilians.

'Guido Panzini' Springs Comic to Meteoric Rise

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — As Guido Panzini, an Italian golf professional, he turned up sporadically and hilariously on Jack Paar's late evening NBC show for months. But now Pat Harrington Jr. seems scheduled for greater things in television under his real name.

The Panzini business started as a spur-of-the-moment gag about three years ago during a frolicsome afternoon in Toots Shor's fabled saloon. Harrington, then a television time salesman, and a pal took in a number of unsuspecting customers with Pat's fractured English and realistic spiel.

★ ★ ★

Ultimately, the Panzini bit landed him on his first Paar show in January, 1958, where the nation's stay - up - lates immediately took him to their hearts. Guido, during many appearances explained earnestly that, among other things:

1. He had learned English in the Italian submarine service — surfacing behind U.S. warships to watch recreation movies.

2. He was captured because he followed one ship right back to Newport watching a double feature.

★ ★ ★

3. As an international golfer he figured the most difficult hole was the third on a Tanganyika course where the green is on the other side of a pigmy village. Failure of one's two iron, he reportd, means pow!—a blowgun dart in the chest.

Harrington, son of a vaudevillian, is not only flawless in Italian accents. He's magnificent in Scotch and Irish brogues, too, but for years his pleasure has been playing outrageous practical jokes.

As Guido, Harrington—who has never been even near Italy—took in Italian-Americans of the viewing audience and even the U.S. Immigration Service which made inquiries about a man whose name was not on their records. He was finally unmasked. But by this time he had established himself as one of Steve Allen's madmen, picked up a spot on the panel show, "Laugh line." During the summer he's on "Pantomine Quiz." And this fall he's signed for the Danny Thomas show. Gossip is that Thomas plans to move his own part into the background while pushing Harrington forward. Meantime, of course, Pat has quit selling TV time.

He lives with his wife and two children in the suburbs, plays golf (in the mid 70s) every morning and is extremely happy about life.

ODDS AND ENDS: A. E. Hotchner, who adapted Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls" for last season's three-hour TV special, has flown to Spain to talk to the author about dramatizing on TV a newly completed and as yet untitled and unpublished short story. It would be one of four projected Hemingway specials on CBS next season. CBS has preempted the time spot of "The Last Word" Sunday for a special interview with W. Averell Harriman on his recent conservations with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev in Moscow.

End Adv for pms Saturday, July 11.

Mice Exposed to Smoke Doses Resist Cancer

LONDON (AP) — Mice exposed to strong doses of cigaertte smoke have failed to develop lung cancer in five years of laboratory tests, the British Institute of Cancer Research reports.

★ ★ ★

Only one mouse developed a tumor, and that was blamed on a bad case of bronchitis, scientists assigned to the research project said in a report made public Thursday.

★ ★ ★

Mice are being subjected to cigarette smoke plus the ingredients of smog with the same negative results, the report continued.

At Leeds University, 40 mice were subjected to concentrated cigarette smoke and atmospheric pollution. Of these 27 still are alive and none has developed lung cancer. The report did not say how the other 13 died.

★ ★ ★

At London's St. Bartholomew's Hospital, substances of tobacco smoke and smog were injected into the lungs of rats and guinea pigs and no malignancy has been found so far.

The Institute did find that smoking seems to keep down the weight of animals, as it sometimes does in human beings.

★ ★ ★

"Exposure to cigarette smoke results in reduction of food the animal consumes, just as in man the smoker usually eats more sparingly," the report said.

Khrushchev Accepts Invitation to Ethiopia

LONDON (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev has accepted an invitation from Emperor Haile Selassie to visit Ethiopia, Moscow Radio reported. It would be his first visit to Africa.

★ ★ ★

No date for the trip was announced. Haile Selassie now is touring the Soviet Union, and the broadcast said he issued the invitation during a Kremlin speech.

★ ★ ★

The much-traveled Soviet premier is due to visit Poland and the three Scandinavian countries this summer. Haile Selassie invited Khrushchev and Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov "at a time convenient to them."

Need to Rhyme 7th Child's Name With 6 Others

TOKYO (AP) — Thousands of Americans in the Far East are being asked to help a U.S. Army couple name their seventh child.

It's not as easy as it sounds. Names of the first six children rhyme, a 15-year family tradition Sgt. Jack Lovett, in Korea, and his wife, back home in Texas, would like to keep up.

The seventh child is due after October. Lovett wrote the military newspaper Stars & Stripes saying they had just barely found a rhyming name for the sixth a year ago.

Stars & Stripes asked its readers to send in rhyming names, keeping in mind the new baby may be either a boy or a girl.

Lovett's wife, the former Geraldine Gravette, is living at 313 Water St., Whitesboro, Tex.

With her are Linday Fay, Larry Ray, Garry Jay, Glinda Kay, Brinda May and Winda Gay.

Ship Brings Bounty to Pitcairn Island

NEW YORK (AP) — A cruise ship made an unscheduled call at Pitcairn Island in the Pacific to drop off gifts of clothing, cookies and toys for the island's 27 children.

The stop on June 26 was reported when the Dutch liner Willem Ruys docked here with 1,002 passengers.

The ship's master told about the gift — donated by Mrs. Arie Dutilh of Rotterdam, Holland, whose son had visited the island during World War II.

The island's entire adult population of 109 rowed out to the liner. They were led by Fletcher Christian IV, chief magistrate and a direct descendant of the mutineer from the Bounty.

The remains of President James Polk and his wife were removed by Tennessee in 1893 from the Polk homestead to a place of honor on Capitol Hill in Nashville.

'The Drunkard' Will Fold Up After 26 Years

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Twenty-six years of hisses, jeers and boos will come to an end soon. "The Drunkard" is tapering off.

The old-fashioned melodrama will close in three months, ending the longest run in theater history.

Mildred Ilse, one of the founders and producer of the show, broke the news to the audience Thursday night.

The melodrama has become a fixture in Los Angeles — after 26 years most residents thought it would outlast the City Hall. Thousands of the show's three million customers had returned time and again, over the years.

Mrs. Ilse and her husband, Jim, are closing the show to retire and devote time to other interests.

There was a touch of drama earlier when Mrs. Ilse told the 50 actors, actresses, and production workers.

"Members of the cast wept when we told them we were going to close," she said. "I guess I wept, too."

Almost Fifty Persons Move With Steve Allen

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Steve Allen has given up an apartment on Park Avenue for a house in the San Fernando Valley, and we're sorry to see him go—which is more than we can say about some people who've gone to Hollywood.

WILSON

With Steve, it isn't a matter of going to Hollywood for money. He already has the money.

Steve wants to be with his three sons, Stephen, Brian and David, in their teenage years. They are attending Los Angeles schools. On many a Sunday night, after his TV show in New York, Steve would whip out to Idlewild or La Guardia and get a plane so he could fly to L.A. to see them for a day or two — but that wasn't enough.

So Steve chose to move to California—and not just himself, either.

Steve's whole company of around 40 to 50 people, and their families, are moving with him.

Even Lennie Stern, his head writer and comedy director, and the five other writers who manufacture Steve's funnies, are moving to Hollywood, lock, stock and gag files.

THE ALLENS

"I'll be coming back four or five times a year, at least, to do some shows here," Steve said the night before he departed for California. Steve and his wife, Jayne Meadows, have a house near Encino—with Gale Storm and Shirley MacLaine as neighbors.

Steve's losing the regular services of comedian Tom Poston, Maestro Skitch Henderson and announcer Gene Rayburn — the only members of his company who decided to stay in New York — but now he will probably be able to use his mother, Belle Montrose, once of vaudeville, as an occasional guest performer.

Tom Poston will be persuaded to make occasional 10-day trips to California to do two of Steve's shows which, starting in the fall, will be on Monday night instead of Sunday.

"But I'm not a California guy, I'm a New York guy," Tom has said.

Steve, however, is a California guy. He was a well-known Los Angeles disc jockey before he came to New York to go seriously into television.

It was three years ago—June 24, 1956—that Steve did his first Sunday night show for NBC . . . he was only 34 when he was projected into that "Battle of Sunday Night" against Ed Sullivan . . . a battle which became less of a duel with "Maverick" coming in and frequently licking both of them.

He was possibly a little uncertain then but he isn't now. He's made Louis Nye and Don Knotts household names—they'll be with him out there, too, along with Dayton Allen and Gabe Dell—and he may have even added something to the fame of his wife Jayne who will be house-mother to Steve's three sons by his first marriage, as well as to her own son, William Christopher.

U.S. Receptions Rile Russians

Moscow Radio Raps Attitudes on Kozlov, New York Exhibition

LONDON (AP)—Moscow radio has complained about some of the reception given the Soviet exhibition in New York and First Deputy Premier Frol R. Kozlov.

★ ★ ★

A Soviet commentator said he could not understand why New York City authorities apparently are powerless to stop groups of rowdies from picketing the exhibition and from passing out anti-Soviet literature.

"They are vulgarly rude to the Soviet guides, and they write coarse, critical and abusive remarks in the visitors' book which are then picked up by certain newspapermen seeking sensations," the broadcast charged.

★ ★ ★

The radio also accused the New York World-Telegram & Sun of writing "rudely and disrespectfully" about Kozlov, now touring the United States. Such articles, it said, could hardly benefit U.S.-Soviet relations.

"We can asures the U.S. people that Vice President Richard M. Nixon will not be subject to that kind of thing during his visit to the U.S.S.R. We will treat him as a most honored guest."

In regard to the reception of the exhibition, Moscow radio said all the activities could "be ignored as one ignores some insects at a picnic were it not for the strange position taken by U.S. authorities with regard to their actonis."

★ ★ ★

When Soviet officials appealed to New York authorities to enforce order, the broadcast claimed "for some reason or other they appeared powerless to do so."

★ ★ ★

"All they did was make hypocritical reference to the freedoms guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution," the commentator said.

Anyone with common sense, he continued, understands freedom as "freedom from the excesses of antipublic elements and not freedom for these elements."

The commentator asserted that this was the way it was understood by "the overwhelming majority" of the Americans who visit the exhibition.

Tomorrow Is Birthday of Our Income Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tomorrow is an anniversary that U.S. taxpayers will not celebrate.

Fifty years ago—on July 12, 1909 — Congress passed along to the states a proposed constitutional amendment empowering the federal government to levy income taxes.

The amendment—the 16th—was declared ratified Feb. 25, 1913. It was approved by legislatures of 42 of the 48 states, approval by three fourths of the states being necessary.

The United States had had an income tax during the Civil War period. It was abandoned in 1872, and a subsequent effort to tax incomes was ruled unconstitutional in 1895.

Copyright Suit Threatens Judy Garland's Show

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A suit filed Thursday seeks to stop the use of four songs in the Judy Garland show now playing at the San Francisco opera House.

Irving Berlin, Richard Rodgers, Oscar Hammerstein II, Chappell & Co., and the New World Music Corp. of New York charge copyright infringement in a complaint filed in U.S. District Court.

Defendants are Sidney Luft, Judy's husband, and Henry Zelzer of Chicago, the show's producers.

Luft declared that he had paid for performance rights of the songs.

Bengals Snap 6-Game Losing Streak at KC

Bunning Tops A's, 5-2; Detroit Begins Weekend Series With Indians

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, who have been rolling over and playing dead for six straight games, are back on their feet and snarling again.

The Tigers snapped their six-game losing streak last night with a 5-2 victory over the Kansas City Athletics.

The victory allowed the Tigers to leave Kansas City with their heads held high. The Athletics had belted the Tigers 5-0 and 4-0 Thursday night in the first two games of the three-game series. The double shutout marked Detroit's fifth and sixth losses in a row.

The Tigers play in Cleveland tonight in the first game of a three-game series.

Jim Bunning, who was bombed in the All-Star game, paced Detroit to victory last night.

The big righthander gave up only seven hits including Jerry Lumpe's fourth inning homer which scored both Kansas City runs.

Bunning struck out eight and walked two as he ran his won-lost record to 8-6.

The fifth place Tigers, with a 41-42 record, ran up a 1-0 lead when Eddie Yost singled, Al Kaline collected a base on balls and Red Wilson singled in the first inning. They increased their lead to 2-0 in the third inning when Wilson doubled and Gus Zernial singled him home.

Kansas City bounced back to tie it up in the fourth when Bill Tuttle singled, getting the first hit off Bunning in the game, and Jerry Lumpe blasted his third home run of the season.

The 2-2 stalemate lasted until the sixth when Ted Lepcio broke it by hitting a two-run circuit smash off reliever Bob Grim. Lepcio's homer, his third as a Tiger, proved to be the deciding hit.

Grim, who took his sixth loss against five victories, had taken over from Howie Reed. Reed was pulled when he developed a blister on his pitching hand after going five innings.

Detroit scored its final run in the seventh. Yost and Charlie Maxwell walked. With one out Kaline grounded to shortstop Joe Demaestri who tried for a double play. His throw forced Maxwell, but Lumpe's heave to first was wide and Yost scampered home on the error.

Jordan Retains Crown, Eyes Tilt With 'Sugar'

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Tough Don Jordan of Los Angeles defended his welterweight championship convincingly, and looked today toward middleweight Ray Robinson for his next bout.

Jordan, a punishing body puncher, rammed solid hooks into the ribs of 19-year-old Denny Moyer, and uppercuts to the face as he scored a unanimous 15-round decision over the young Portlander in a nationally-televised bout last night.

★ ★ ★

There were no knockdowns.

Several times Moyer appeared about to go down, but each time called on some hidden resources to stay upright. He still was dancing gamely about at the end, flicking left jabs at Jordan.

The jab was his main weapon against the aggressive Jordan. It became apparent early that his right caused Jordan no fear. It was like a destroyer against a cruiser. Moyer was willing, but lacked the guns.

For Jordan it was his 11th straight victory, his third since winning the title. It makes his record 46-11.

Moyer, who had hoped to become the youngest champion on record in the welterweight division, suffered his first loss in 21 bouts.

Of the possible fight with Robinson, Jordan's co-manager, Don Nesseth, said "We have been offered a lot of money to fight Robinson."

He said the offer came from an Eastern promoter, but disclosed no other details.

Two pre-fight incidents stirred interest in the bout, which was held at Portland Meadows race track.

One was Jordan's failure to make the 147-pound weight at his first weigh-in. He was 1½ pounds over the limit, and had to sweat it off by exercising. There was speculation the process might have weakened him.

The other was the discovery that Mickey Cohen was in town, and had paid a 1 a.m. visit to Jordan. This brought police into sudden activity, for earlier Nesseth has said the underworld was trying to get control of Jordan. The police suspect Cohen of having underworld connections.

Promoter Tommy Moyer, Denny's uncle, reported the gate was $44,390 and attendance 4,813. Moyer earlier said he had expected a crowd of 10,000 and a gate of $100,000.

★ ★ ★

Jordan was dominant on everyone's card. Referee Eddie Volk had him winning 147-143, Judge Ralph Gruman 144-143, and Judge Andy Crabtree 147-144. The Associated Press scored it 150-318 for Jordan.

Bucs Also Take 11-Inning Contest

Mays Keeps Giants on Top

By The Associated Press

Willie Mays is looking like the old, carefree Willie again and that may be bad news for the teams that are trying to topple the San Francisco Giants from their newly won place atop the National League standings.

Up to the All-Star game last week, Mays wasn't doing especially well—if you think hitting .311 isn't a good performance. Now he apparently is off on another of the late-season spurts that have marked his major league career.

★ ★ ★

It was Willie who produced the winning run Thursday as the Giants moved into first place ahead of Los Angeles and Milwaukee. It was Willie again last night providing the highspots of San Francisco's 11-inning, 8-6 victory over the Cincinnati Reds that increased the Giant margin to a full game.

The second game of the important Los Angeles-Milwaukee series was rained out before the third inning was completed, droping each team another half game behind the winning Giants.

The Pittsburgh Pirates came out on top in another 11-inning contest of homers and errors, beating the Chicago Cubs 7-6. The St. Louis Cardinals put together an eight-run rally in the sixth inning and then barely choked off a ninth-inning splurge by the Phillies to win 9-7.

Mays' 15th home run of the season was the climactic blow of San Francisco's victory over Cincinnati, but it wasn't his most important contribution. Earlier in the game he had hit two singles and had stolen three bases. And the Giants already had scored the tie-breaking run in the 11th before Willie connected.

It wasn't a game to make the managers proud. Eight pitchers went into action — five for the Giants—and yielded a total of 24 hits, including three homers by each team.

The Giants got off ahead on Orlando Cepeda's three-run homer in the first. But Ed Bailey connected for two Cincinnati homers and Frank Robinson hit his 19th of the season with one aboard in the seventh. That made it 6-6.

★ ★ ★

In the 11th, Felipe Alou led with a double off Orlando Pena and a sacrifice by Jim Davenport and a sacrifice fly by Willie Kirkland brought him home. That made Pena (3-7) the loser and Sam Jones (11-8) the winning pitcher.

Pittsburgh's 11 - inning game ended just about as sensationally. The Cubs had scored three runs in the first half of the inning to break a 3-3 deadlock. Then a fielder's choice and a walk put Roman Mejias and Bill Virdon on base. Hank Foiles singled Mejias home, then Dick Stuart blasted one of Don Elston's pitches over the center field wall for three more runs to win the game.

★ ★ ★

Back-to-back homers by Gene Oliver and Hal Smith highlighted the Cardinals' big inning against the Phillies. The Cards sent 13 men to the plate against three pitchers in that inning and made nine hits. It cost Jim Owens (4-8) his fifth straight defeat. But Vinegar Bend Mizell got into difficulties in the ninth and the Phils got three runs before Lindy McDaniel fanned Harry Anderson and Carl Sawatski to end it.

JUST MADE IT—Don Jordan of Los Angeles scaled an even 147 pounds, the welterweight limit, at a second weigh-in yesterday for last night's title bout against Denny Moyer at Portland, Ore. At right is Ben Harris, chairman of the Portland boxing commission. Jordan was a pound and a half overweight at the first weigh-in. Jordan retained his world's welterweight crown with a unanimous 15-round decision over Moyer, who weighed 146½.

Jewelers Snap Back at Bucs

Goldsworthy's Hurling, Big 5th Inning Stop Pirates, 5-3

Victims of an 11-5 pasting at the hands of the Pirates on Thursday, Shaw's Jewelers avenged that loss Friday with a 5-3 victory over the Bucaneers in a Class A City League baseball game at Wisner Field.

After spotting the Bucs a 1-0 lead in the 4th inning, the Jewelers exploded with all five of their runs in the 5th stanza to chase John York from the mound in favor of Tom Demrick.

A leadoff walk to Daryl McGlashen, Jim Scheibner's single and a barrage of four doubles by Bill Graham, Walt Honchell, Herman Bishop and Jim Berg produced Shaw's five runs.

Dick Goldsworthy was on the hill for the Jewelers and the strong-armed right-hander hurled a neat three-hitter while striking out nine batters. York was the starting and losing pitcher.

Tawas Pair Leads District Sail Meet

Title Regatta Hot Event

Special to The Pontiac Press

EAST TAWAS, Mich.—Spirited sailing, with a fine brush between four Pontiac area skippers, marked the first day's action, here, Friday for the Michigan District Lightning Regatta.

During a pre-regatta meeting, Pontiac Yacht club's Alton Gray was named district commodore for 1960. He is a veteran lightning skipper.

Top five boats in this 3-day event qualify for the International at Detroit's Crescent Sail and Yacht club in September, and the next five qualify for the President's Cup regatta at the same time.

Forty-eight boats sailed the two opening races, won by defending champion Hank Cawthra of CSYC, and Bill and Ed McKinley of Tawas. The Tawas pair holds a one-point lead 95 with Cawthra at 94, Carlin of Bayview with 93, Schudel and Wes Wedrick of Bayview with 89. Clarence Holman and Mack Goodwin of PYC had 81 apiece.

Two races will be sailed today, one on Sunday.

PYC finishes for Friday's races included — 1st race — Goodwin (6), Holman (9), Phil Smith (10), Claude Bennett (11), 14-year-old John O'Dell Jr. (14). Last four skippers staged a hot battle on their own.

Second race — (PYC finishers) —Holman (7), Goodwin (11), Smith (14), Chuck Buck (15) and Ralph Behler (16).

Stiff winds made the sailing exciting. A threatened blow and bad weather held up the 2nd race until evening, when a shortened course was sailed.

Decathlon Ace Off U.S. Squad

Johnson's Withdrawal Is 2nd From Team to Meet Russians

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Definite withdrawal of decathlon ace Rafer Johnson Friday means the U.S. track and field team will be without its two top Moscow meet stars when it faces the Soviet team here July 18-19.

Previously, versatile Glenn Davis —Olympic 400-meter hurdles champion and former Ohio State star— took himself off the team.

Both have back trouble.

★ ★ ★

Johnson, a UCLA student, sustained a back injury in an automobile accident in California June 11 and will not be able to resume heavy training until next year.

Davis has been hampered by a chronic back ailment.

A year ago in the inaugural meet with Russia, Johnson set a world decathlon record to win a momentous duel with Russia's Vasily Kuznetsov. Davis won the 400 meters, the 400 meter hurdles and anchored the winning 1,600-meter relay team.

Grill Comes Back for 7-6 Victory

Griff's Grill came from six runs behind to eke out a 7-6 triumph over Don Nicholie yesterday in a Class B City League baseball game at Jaycee Park.

Nicholie piled up a 6-0 lead in the 2nd inning, then let it melt away. Griff's big comeback was climaxed in the bottom of the 6th inning when Jerry Dennis singled to score Dave Diehm with the winning run.

McLish, Minoso Save Tribe's Lead

By The Associated Press

Cal McLish and Minnie Minoso, a couple of players who have had their ups and downs — perhaps more of the latter than the former—could take the bows today for saving Cleveland's American League lead.

McLish a veteran Oklahoman who broke into major league baseball as a Dodger whiz kid some 15 years ago, recorded his 11th victory of the season against three defeats last night as the Indians turned back the second - place White Sox 8-4 and increased their lead to two games. Minoso was the leader in two rallies that ruined Early Wynn's hopes.

★ ★ ★

It was a rather important victory for Cleveland. It not only doubled the Indians' margin over Chicago, but it enabled them to gain on the Baltimore Orioles and New York Yankees, who were getting a bit too close for comfort.

The Washington Senators, held homerless and shut out twice by Baltimore on Thursday, unleashed their power again last night, hit four homers and downed the Orioles 7-6. The Boston Red Sox, with Bobby Avila and Ted Williams again leading the way, knocked off the Yankees a second time 8-5.

★ ★ ★

McLish a 6-1, 200-pound husky who won 16 games for Cleveland last season, had to have help from Gary Bell in the eighth inning after rain had cooled him off twice. He lost an early 2-0 lead but bore down and took charge until Al Smith singled and scored in the eighth to bring Chicago within one run of a tie.

Minoso, Tito Francona and Rocky Colavito were the Indian hitters who handed Early Wynn his sixth defeat against 12 victories. Minnie hit two singles and scored twice, Francona had four hits and drove in three runs and Colavito knocked in three runs with three hits.

★ ★ ★

Washington blasted starter John Fisher early and hard, gaining a 7-2 lead on homers by Ken Aspromonte, Bob Allison (his 22nd), Harmon Killebrew (his 29th) and Roy Sievers. That gave the Senators a total of 105 homers in 81 games. But the Orioles got to Camilo Pascual and Tex Clevenger for four runs in the eighth before Billy Consolo snuffed out the rally with a leaping one-hand catch of Albie Pearson's liner.

★ ★ ★

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel took a chance on starting Whitey Ford in Boston's Fenway Park, a trouble spot for southpaws. Ford found the trouble in the fourth inning when Avila and Willitms contributed singles and the Yanks contributed three errors to a five-run Boston outburst.

The Yanks came back to make it 5-4, but the Sox got three more runs on Marty Keough's pinch double, singles by Avila and Jackie Jensen and a double by Williams. Williams now has hit safely in eight of his last 13 times at bat.

Western Amateur Title at Stake

It's Gunderson vs. Lindsay

CHICAGO (AP)—Tomboyish Jo Anne Gunderson of Seattle, the Mickey Mantle of women's amateur golf, and 34-year-old Marge Lindsay, whose cross-handed putting style crossed up the handicappers, battle today for the Women's Western Amateur golf crown.

Miss Lindsay, daughter of a Decatur, Ill., newspaper publisher turned back the challenge of the younger set yesterday. She trimmed 20-year-old Barbara Williams of Richmond, Calif., current champion of her state, 2-up, in a hectic semifinal feud over the shady acres of Exmoore Country Club.

Miss Gunderson, 20 - year - old physical education major at Arizona State and 1957 National Amateur queen, disposed of Andy Cohn, Waterloo, Iowa, a Northwestern University sophomore, 3 and 2, with a deadly short game coupled with 250-yard drives.

★ ★ ★

Only one before have the two finalists in the 59th annual Western Amateur, oldest women's tourney in the country, met.

Let Miss Gunderson, a sturdy flaxen-haired member of the 1958 Curtis Cup team, explain it:

"Last year in Springfield, Mo., Marge and I got together in the second round of the Trans-Mississippi. She began dropping 30 and 40-foot putts and before I knew it she had blasted me out 5 and 4. So, I have a lot of respect for her."

★ ★ ★

Miss Lindsay the tourney's long-shot took up the cross - handed putting style in 1953 after winning the 1951 Western and making the 1952 Curtis Cup squad.

"I was putting so badly I was ready to try anything," she said. "I got my confidence back with the cross-handed grip and used it ever since."

Miss Lindsay was 4-over-par in ousting Miss Williams in a match that saw her never down and squared only once.

★ ★ ★

Miss Gunderson's booming drives and sure-fire putts of 18 and 4-feet for birdie deuces, left her with a 1-under-par card for the 16 holes needed to oust the erratic-putting Miss Cohn.

AL Wins Church All-Star Contest

Reggie Shaw's American League team defeated Al Carline's National Leaguers, 11-4, in last night's annual Pontiac Church Softball League all-star game at Northside Park.

Each team committed six errors in the poorly played contest with the winners icing the decision in the 5th inning by scoring five runs to break a 4-4 tie. The Americans collected 13 hits while the NL made only two.

Floyd Hicks, Sterling Devault and Blakshire hurled for the AL with Devault getting the credit for the win. Walt Sadler was the losing pitcher for the Nationals.

Doctoring Your Golf

By DR. CARY MIDDLECOFF

PATIENT'S COMPLAINT: Inconsistent chipping.

DIAGNOSIS: Sticking slavishly to a "favorite club."

TREATMENT: Many golfers have a strong preference for one particular club on chip shots. Among non-tournament golfers, this favorite club is often a chipper of some sort, but since the USGA has limited the number of clubs to 14 in tournament play, no expert that I know of carries a chipper.

These "favorite club" chippers tend to chip beautifully one day and badly the next. The reason, I think, is luck: one day the chip shots they get lend themselves to the favorite club, and on other days these shots do not fit the favorite club at all.

The idea is to take a club that fits the shot, not try to fit the club to the shot. Decide on the shot-pattern you want, taking into account the needed loft and the amount of bounce and roll you want to get.

This done, take a club that fits the pattern. If the pattern fits the favorite club, well and good. And when the choice between the favorite club and some other is close, choose your favorite. But beware of overdoing this!

State Amateur Field Cut to 16

4 Past Champs Ousted Friday in Match Play

Syron, Smith, Wendrow and Turner Eliminated; Johnson Beats 2 Foes

PORT HURON (AP) — Sixteen of the state's finest amateur golfers moved into the third round of the 53rd State Amateur Golf Championship today but four former winners missed the trip.

Defending champion Glenn Johnson paced the select field after a pair of lop-sided triumphs yesterday at the Black River Country Club.

Batted out in the first day of match play were 1957 champion Lloyd Syron, 1952 winner Fred Turner, 1950 titlist Ben Smith, and 1946 champ Lou Wendrow.

Syron, the Pontiac youngster who interrupted Johnson's string of victories two years ago, and Wendrow, the veteran from Lansing, failed to survive the first round.

★ ★ ★

Syron, 2-up at the turn, lost four of the next five holes and bowed to Tony Majda of Flint, 3-and-2.

Wendrow lost to 20-year-old Gene Hunt, the Flint Junior College golfer who recently captured the State Public Links crown. The margin was 4-and-2.

Turner, 50-year-old railroad clerk from Flint, eased past Mike Hill of Jackson in his opening round, but lost to veteran Harold Brink of Grand Rapids in the afternoon, 2-and-1.

★ ★ ★

Smith, medalist in the qualifier and a pre-tournament favorite, sidelined Bill Western of Kalamazoo in the first round but was no match for Jackson's Bob Zimmerman in the afternoon.

A 22-year-old Duke senior and a quarterfinalist in this year's National Intercollegiate, Zimmerman was one-over-par in gaining a 4-and-3 victory.

Sam Kocsis won his first two matches. The 1941 champion went 19 holes before downing Cliff Taylor of Spring Lake. Then beat Mickey McMillen of Midland 4-and-3.

Johnson, the 36-year-old ex-Michigan State football player, had an easy time of it. He beat Karl Mueller of Saginaw and then dumped Majda by identical scores of 6-and-4.

Power Hitters Set Western Open Pace

Palmer's 133 on Top

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Power looked today like the payoff in the Western Open Golf Championship.

The pacesetter, Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., is one of the longest drivers in the game. He putted for eagles at every par 5 hole on the second round of the tournament and made one as he blazed aroun dthe Pittsburgh Field club yesterday in 66 strokes for a two-round total of 133.

★ ★ ★

His closest competitor at the halfway point was powerful Mike Souchak of Grossinger, N.Y., who has carded two fine 67s for a 134 total.

These two among the touring golf pros might yield driving distance honors only to burly George Bayer, of LeMont, Ill., whose booming tee shots have become almost a legend on the tournament circuit.

And where is Bayer? Perched in a third-place tie with Joe Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., at 136, only three behind Palmer's pace. Campbell is another of the chunky hard-hitters who are so prominent in the game today.

★ ★ ★

Pairings for the third round set up a fascinating duel of the siege guns, with Palmer and Bayer head-to-head in the last threesome this afternoon. Souchak and Campbell are opponents in the next to last group.

★ ★ ★

The par 5 holes are all respectable. They run 475, 504 and 561 yards, respectively. In his opening round 69, Palmer made a par and two birdies. In scoring 67 Friday, he cut exactly two strokes off the previous day total on the par 5s, with an eagle and two birdies.

The leaders:

Administration Fears Inflation Effect

Will Oppose Minimum Wage Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill) said today the administration would strongly oppose the revised Democratic-sponsored minimum wage bill as inflationary.

★ ★ ★

But Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass), chief author of the rewritten measure, said it was reasonable legislation needed to insure a bare living standard for many low-paid workers.

The bill would raise the $1 an hour minimum to $1.25 for most employes covered by the wages and hours act, and extend coverage to 10 million additional workers.

Dirksen told newsmen President Eisenhower could not go along with an increase in the mandatory wage and still seek to hold the line against price boosts in the private industry.

★ ★ ★

This was an apparent reference to administration pleas for a steel wage dispute settlement which would not lead to any price increases.

The labor subcomittee headed by Kennedy approved the bill Friday after making a number of changes.

Under the measure, the 24 million workers now covered would get an increase in the minimum the first year to $1.15, and $1.25 the second.

About three-fourths of the 10 million newly covered employes would received a $1.25 minimum, but in graduated stages over a four-year period.

This step-up process would be applied to 3,800,000 workers for retail and service establishments doing more than $750,000 of annual business, and to 3,500,000 other workers in such fields as canning, laundries, local transit, seamen and logging.

The plan would work this way: a $1 minimum the first year and overtime after 46 hours, $1.10 the second year and overtime after 44 hours, $1.20 and 42 hours the third year, and $1.25 and 40 hours the fourth and succeeding years.

The other 2,700,000 workers brought under the law, who work for smaller stores doing less than $750,000 of annual business, would get a $1 minimum but no overtime.

Eisenhower's proposal called for no increase in the wage floor but extension of coverage to 2,500,000 additional workers, mostly in large retail stores.

The original Kennedy bill would have fixed an immediate $1.25 minimum and brought 7,800,000 additional workers under the law. It would not have applied to small establishments doing less than $500,000 of annual business.

Irish Playwright Rolls Into Court on Drunk Charge

By ANTHONY WHITE

LONDON (AP) — Still ruffled, and rumpled but subdued, Brendan Behan rolled into Bow Street Court today and was fined 5 shillings (70 cents) for being drunk in public.

The thirsty Irish playwright pleaded guilty.

"Is anything known about him?" asked Magistrate Clive Burt.

"Not in this court, sir," said a court official.

A chuckle rippled round the public seats and the big, bleary-eyed Behan grinned.

For since his arrival three days ago from a drying out course in a Dublin hospital, he has been hitting the bottle and the headlines day and night.

Behan—author of "The Hostage" now playing at a London theater—turned up in court in an unpressed gray suit. His coat sagged limply open. His white shirt was bunched up. He never wears a necktie.

On his chin was a three-day growth of stubble.

Police Constable John Dicks testified he picked Behan up in swanky Mayfair Friday under the influence of alcohol.

Behan nodded.

"He gave no trouble," said the policeman.

Hungarian Reds Can Choose Clergy

VATICAN CITY (AP)—A Vatican newspaper has protested a new law empowering Hungary's Communist regime to pick the men it wants for all Catholic Church posts, including bishops.

★ ★ ★

L'Osservatore Romano said Friday Karoly Holt, a Communist for 30 years who has just been made head of the government's office for ecclesiastic affairs, now has the "judicial instruments to legalize all abuses which civil powers seeks to commit against the church."

★ ★ ★

The judicial instruments, the newspaper said were a decree of June 4, 1959, intergrating and putting into effect an old decree of March 24, 1957.

Cardinal Publishes List of Grave Sins

TOLEDO, Spain (AP) — Enrique Cardinal Play Deniel told Roman Catholics it is a mortal sin for engaged couples to walk arm-in-arm in the streets or to be alone together.

The primate of Spain and Archbishop of Toledo declared mixed bathing at beaches, pools and rivers constitutes a state "very close to sin and scandal" and must be avoided.

In a communication published in the ecclesiastical bulletin of the archbishopric, the Cardinal also forbade Catholics to walk the streets in shirt sleeves or to wear low-cut dresses.

As for dancing, about which he has spoken sternly before, the cardinal said:

"Among diversions, probably none constitutes a graver and more frequent danger than dancing. Modern dances, among which we can classify as those involving an embrace, are a serious danger for Christian morals because they are very close to a state of sin."

Can't Hold Patients for Bill Payment Lag

DETROIT (UPI)—Patients cannot be held against their will until their bills are paid, Prosecutor Samuel H. Olsen has warned all Wayne County hospitals.

He threatened to prosecute any hospital which ignores his warning.

Olsen's statement came after a woman complained that she was kept in Highland Park General Hospital for an extra day because she couldn't pay a $10 bill.

The hospital denied the charges, saying Mrs. Pauline E. Ward, 27, Highland Park stayed on her own free will.

Olsen said, "I am not asking action against the hospital, but I want to make sure this sort of thing doesn't happen again."

"To me this is a shocking situation because the hospital doesn't have the legal right to hold a patient for nonpayment of any kind of bill," he said.

Japanese Influence Is Seen in Home

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Look out the picture window in the living room and you see tree tops and, farther down, a deep ravine. The Mogens Klopp house is built at the edge of a wooded ravine. In all, they have 3½ acres.

★ ★ ★

Before they moved to their new home on Spring road they lived in a Dutch Colonial house on Middle Belt road. Now they live in a modern home with Japanese influence.

★ ★ ★

George Head, an architect friend of the Klopps' and professor at the University of Detroit, designed their house. It was built by John Wood Homes of Birmingham.

Fifteen-year-old Jeanne and ten-year-old Steven are the younger members of the Klopp family.

You can enter the house from front or back after you go up the driveway. The exterior is brick and stained board and batten with white trim. The built-up roof is covered with marble chips. Steps from the driveway are railroad ties with gravel on each level.

We went in the "back" door. This opens into a large vestibule that is slate floored. Long narrow windows, 10 feet tall, let in plenty of light over the stairway. There is a shoji-like rail around the basement stairs. The exterior door is paneled like a shoji screen.

ART GALLERY

The hallway extends half the length of the house and leads to the bedrooms. Here the floor is polished oak. Walls are blue and are lined with original paintings, some done by members of the family, others by friends.

At the end of the stairwell there is a storage closet and next to that a high pair of windows. At this end the wall is covered with blue and gold paper. There is an antique chair under the windows.

All rooms but Steve's bedroom have a view. But his mother says he's in it only to sleep, so what's the difference? His walls are off white. Curtains are white. There is a gray rug on the oak floor. His bedspread is blue.

★ ★ ★

Jeanne's room also has white walls. She has a round fringed gray rug on the bare oak floor which is lighter in color than the living room floor. Her curtains are blue and white. Storage chests are blond wood.

★ ★ ★

The youngsters share a blue and yellow bathroom. A long narrow window just under the ceiling lets in light from the hall.

The master bedroom has an attached dressing room and bath. In here the tile floor and walls are sandalwood. The same ceramic tile tops the vanity. Fixtures are yellow.

Above the wall tile the paper is beige with bits of gold to match the gold curtains. Two sets of louvered doors close in storage closets in this room. Painted white, they have silvery handles.

★ ★ ★

Walls in the bedroom are gray. One complete wall has bookshelves mounted on it to hold both books and records. Next to the bed is a Moroccan type rug. The gray draperies have an oriental floral design.

There is a gold spread on the bed. Chests, bed table and chairs are all antiques. On the wall opposite the bed there is a large mirror framed in gilt. The frame has a Greek key design on it.

★ ★ ★

In the living room the floor is dark oak. The rug is off white with a gray diamond design like the bedroom one. Walls are white.

UNUSUAL WINDOWS

The focal point of the room is the window wall. This is made of six panes of glass coming to a point in the center. At each end there are plain windows and shoji type ones. There are 25 feet of glass on the front wall, 5½ feet more on each side. Sheer beige draperies are pulled over the glass to cut the light.

On one wall there is a massive fireplace made of New York brick. The upper part is pink while the middle section is white and rough textured. The top of these white bricks is the mantel. In front of the wood opening there is a large piece of sculpture. The hearth is brick.

★ ★ ★

Shoji doors lead from the living room to both dining room and hallway. These have black frames with white panels.

There is a bubble lamp over the tall, gold wing back chair. One of the lamps near the sofa has a glass base that shades from blue to amber.

The sofa is covered in aqua linen. A pair of beige linen armless chairs face the fireplace. Near the hall doorway is a baby grand piano.

★ ★ ★

In the dining room the end wall is pink. The other three walls are blue. There is an Oriental rug on the floor and stylized Persian horses on the draperies. These draperies are white with the figures and scrolls in dull reds and grays.

A handsome old cherry chest with bowed front and brass hardware is the commanding piece of furniture in the dining room. Victorian chairs with velvet seats are used with a drop leaf table.

LITTLE PANTRY

In contrast, the kitchen is completely modern. No, Mrs. Klopp has one feature that is reminiscent of grandmother's day. She has an honest-to-goodness pantry in a cupboard. Little shelves have been built around three sides of the cupboard. Below, there is storage room for vegetables and bottled goods.

★ ★ ★

In both kitchen and adjoining TV room the floor is white tile with gray spatters. The end wall in the TV room is pink brick while the painted walls are avocado.

Cupboards in the kitchen are blue with black walnut trim. All hardware is "silver." Counter tops are white Formica. The refrigerator, freezer and dishwasher are black. Curtains are pale gold.

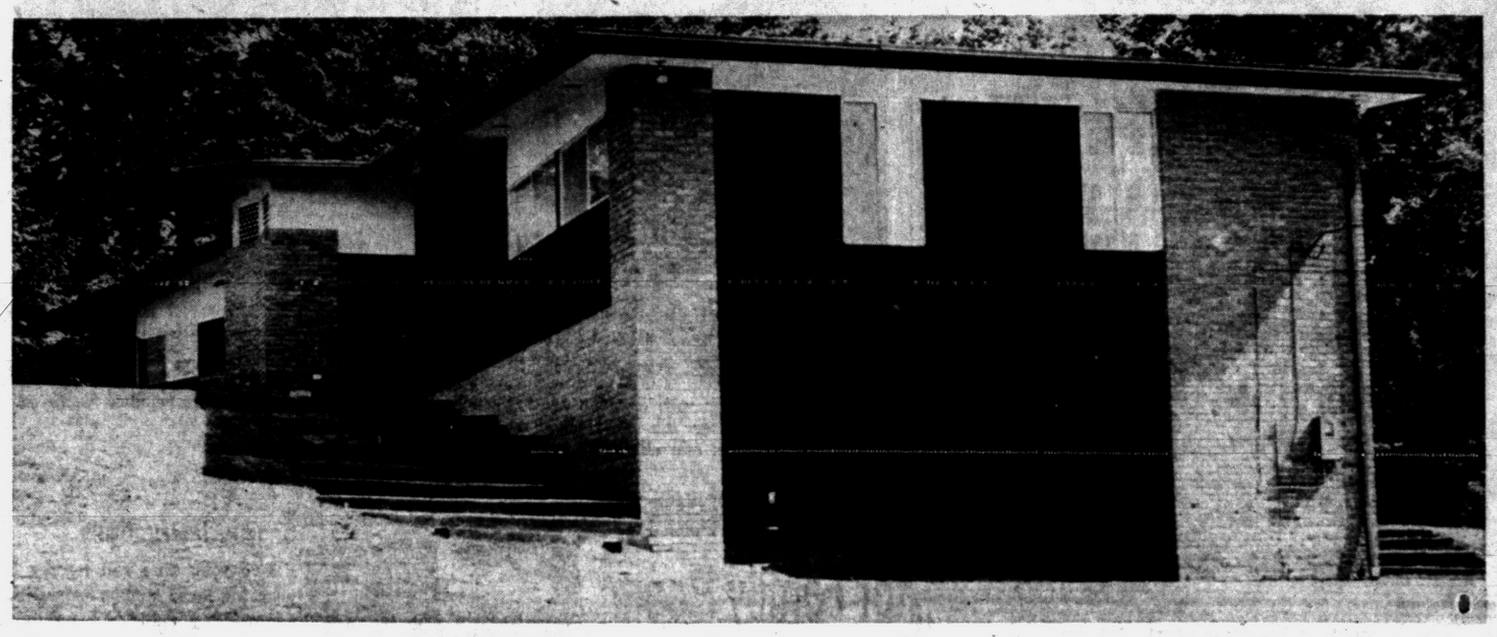

A center peninsula separates the two rooms. Here the work surface and range are stainless steel.

★ ★ ★

A window wall separates the TV room and screened porch. The drop leaf table with cane seated chairs are placed in front of these windows. On the opposite wall is a Victorian sofa upholstered in avocado velvet.

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Klopp designed the crescent shaped patio. It has a tiny pool and a built-in grill. A red brick wall and brick steps outline the half moon shape. The patio itself is cement. Flowers bloom above it. This patio is on the west side of the house but so screened by trees that it is cool and shady in late afternoon.

MODERN STYLE — Pink brick with brown board and batten sections make up the exterior of the Mogens Klopp home on Spring road, just off Middle Belt. The house has interesting angles; notice the wing jutting out at the top left. That part contains kitchen and TV room. Wide shallow steps lead up to both back and front of the house. George Head was the architcet. John Wood Homes of Birmingham did the building.

Be Sure Your Paint Is Thoroughly Mixed

If painting is included on your home improvement list, make sure that the paint is mixed thoroughly before beginning the project.

Use two galvanized steel pails to mix paint. This is very important when using oil paints, since the pigment separates and settles on the bottom.

Pour about two-thirds of the paint into the second pail. Mix thoroughly the remaining portion, and then return the other two-thirds gradually, mixing as you go. If you are painting a large area, the paint should be stirred from time to time to retain a uniform consistency.

★ ★ ★

Leave the mixed paint in the galvanized steel pail, which has a convenient carrying handle that can be hooked onto a stepladder.

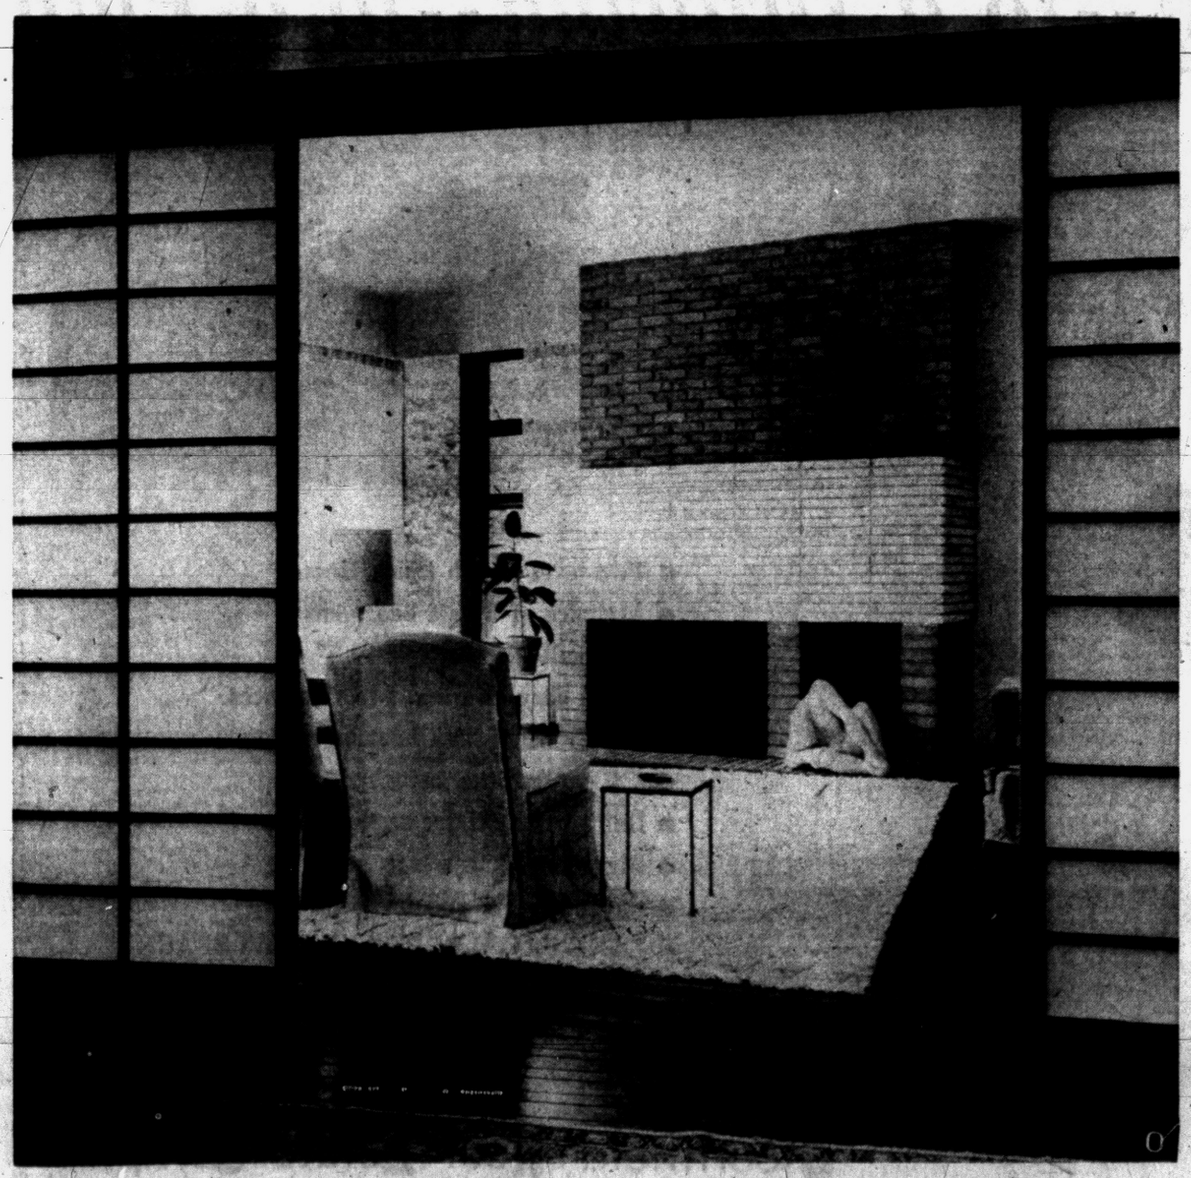

Awnings Now Come in Do-It-Yourself Kit

Awnings are now available in a do-it-yourself kit. The awnings are of woven dacron between layers of vinyl with weather-resistant qualities, protection from heat and light.

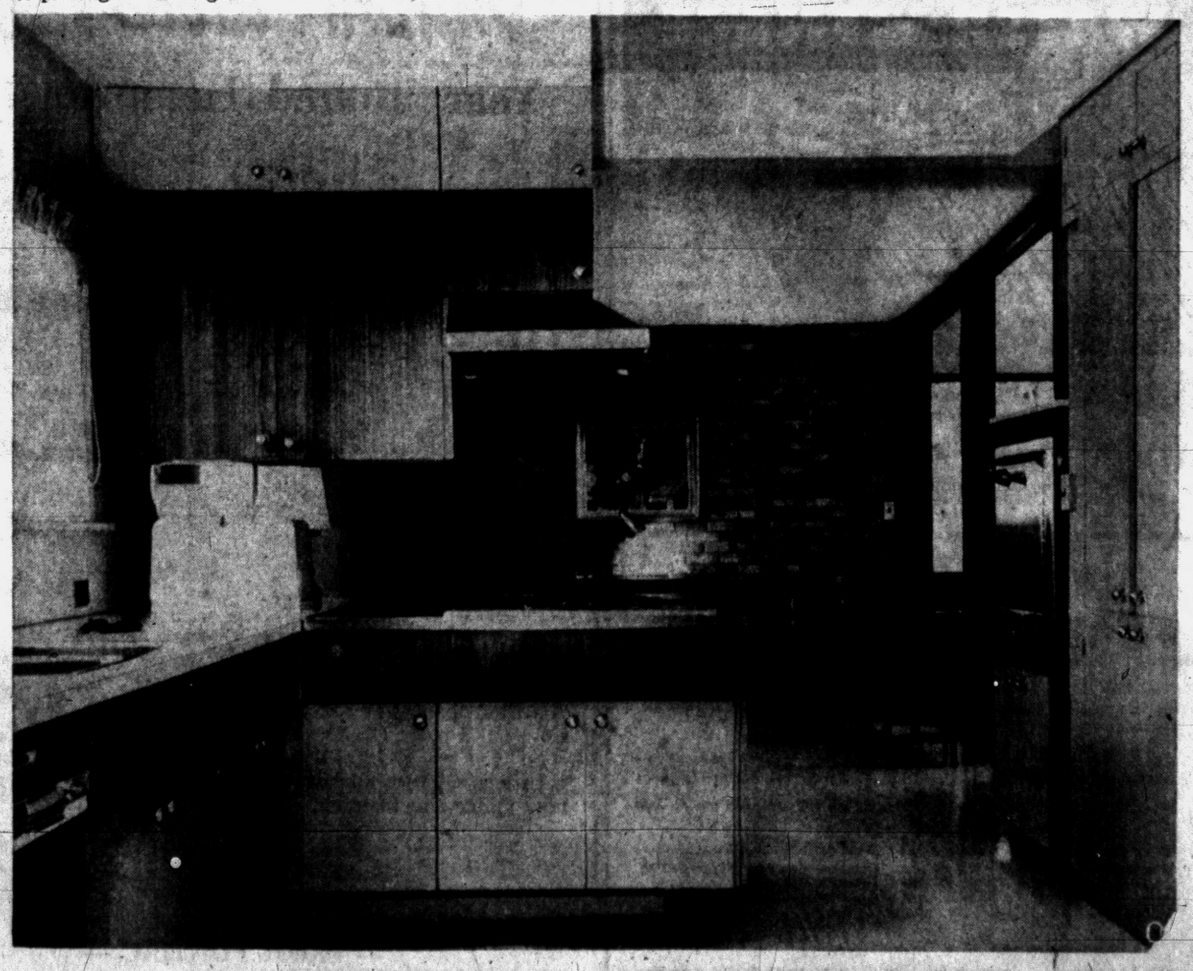

The awnings come in three sizes and widths with hardware, rods, rope and easy-to-follow directions. All exposed edges of the covering are sewn and bound with laminated tape.

DECORATIVE HALLWAY — Unlike most hallways which are purely functional, this one is also decorative. A shoji-type railing outlines the stairwell to the basement. There is a variety of paintings — all originals — on the blue walls. The near end has a slate floor. At the far end there are a couple of small Oriental rugs and an antique chair. That long window near the ceiling lets light into the bathroom.

SHOJI DOORS — These black framed doors with the white panels are used between dining room and living room and hallway and living room. The fireplace has two different bricks in the chimney. The upper brick is pink New York. The middle section which forms the mantel is white and rough textured. Part of the 36 feet of windows can be seen at the left of the fireplace. The twin chairs facing the fireplace are slipcovered in beige linen. Walls are white. The floor is dark oak.

MODERN KITCHEN — Blue cupboards with black walnut doors and trim are a feature of the Klopp kitchen. Floor and counter tops are white. The end wall, seen here in the TV room, is pink brick. That cupboard on the extreme right is a complete pantry. Beyond the oven at the center right is a shoji-type door to the screened porch. A drop leaf table and cane seated chairs are used for informal meals in the TV room.

WAS A BREEZEWAY — A once-upon-a-time ordinary breezeway was converted by the owner into this pleasant closed porch and study by improving the walls, ceiling and floor and adding an attractive divider with modern lighting fixtures suspended over the desk area on the window side. Walls and divider were surfaced with a woodgrained hardboard made especially for interiors. The low-cost paneling, available at lumber yards, may be installed by an amateur or professional carpenter. Ends of the former breezeway were closed with window walls for excellent natural lighting.

Porch Nucleus for Family Room

A part-time porch isn't living up to its potential usefulness! That's a porch that's usable only during the good outdoor season but abandoned during the balance of the year.

Many such porches have been given a new purpose by converting them into a year-around room. With floor, one or more walls and ceiling already in place, the major expense of such an addition already has been invested. Now, it's a matter of improving the existing construction, modernizing it and making it comfortable for family use any day of the year.

Oftentimes, an existing wall can be used "as is" or covered with a modern material such as a woodgrained hardboard especially made for interiors. Instead of boxing up the entire porch, however, many home owners have installed one or two window walls.

A good investment is a flexible floor covering for hard use and long wear. Before it's laid, be sure to cover the existing boards with Masonite underlayment, an extremely smooth, evenly calipered hardboard that will provide an excellent foundation for the floor covering and extend its life.

If the porch is roomy, it would be a good idea to install a counter-type divider extending from one wall. One side of it may be the backstop for a desk and become the nucleus of a study or reading center. The woodgrained Masonite makes a good-looking divider, the panels being applied directly to a lumber framework.

There may be space for a sewing area, if desired, or for a hobby spot.

Pastel Hardboard Panels Powder Room

Soft pastel colors give a downstairs powder room a fresh, spring-like decor all year 'round. Many home handymen are installing plastic-surfaced hardboard planks in one or more of the paneling's 10 "companion colors" to achieve an interesting wall treatment. By alternating two harmonizing colors, a feeling of greater spaciousness can be achieved.

This plastic-surfaced hardboard also is available at lumber yards in 16" square blocks, which can be used to cover the ceiling. Planks and blocks come in the same colors.

Hardboard paneling can be damp-wiped clean in a jiffy. Even cosmetics, lipstick and other hard-to-remove items can be removed with soap and water. The paneling never requires refinishing.

Appeal to Women

The paint brush has been changed to appeal to women. Pink, blue, aqua and yellow nylon filaments are being used with color-coordinated handles.

Kerosene for Rust

To remove rust stains from tile, first rub with kerosene. If necessary, cover for a few hours with a kerosene-soaked cloth. Then scrub with hot soap or detergent suds.

Lightweight Plastic Chair

CHICAGO (UPI)—The trend to chairs with frames of specially molded plastic covered with foam rubber brought one named, "The Egg," to the recent summer International Home Furnishings Market.

In shape, "The Egg" is something like a cupped palm of a hand, mounted on a chrome base. The manufacturer said the design makes the chair strong and surprisingly light—30 pounds. It is upholstered in natural leather or imported colored mohair fabric.

Still standing and carefully preserved at Danvers, Mass., is the home of Rebecca Nourse, who was executed for witchcraft in the 17th century.

Narrow House Gains Space From Courtyard

FOR NARROW LOT — This three-bedroom modern ranch will fit easily on a 50-foot lot. A well shielded garden court on the left side gives an air of spaciousness to all living and working areas. House offers 1,444 square feet of habitable space.

By DAVID L. BOWEN

Here's a "narrow lot" house that can hold its own in any beauty contest.

What it doesn't have in wide, rambling, pretentious front, it makes up in clean modern lines, floor plan efficiency, and this architectural heritage: its delightful garden court is a modern adaptation of the ancient Japanese style.

The home is X-66 in the House of the Week series of distinctive homes and was designed by Architect Samuel Paul. It has three bedroms and should easily fit on a 50 by 100 foot plot.

The house, with a total of seven rooms and two baths, has a habitable area of 1,444 square feet. At its widest point, it measures an even 31 feet. Depth is 60 feet. It has a carport instead of a garage and no basement.

Because of the size limitation, Architect Paul sought to extract full living potential from every bit of space. The courtyard is one of the most important means of accomplishing this.

All of the living and working rooms have either window walls or glass doors on the courtyard so that its sunny garden cheerfulness will seem always within reach. Each room also is open to at least one other room indoors, another aid to the feeling of spaciousness.

A high fence along the side and louvers at front and rear of the court insure privacy both for the garden and the indoor rooms fronting on it.

The kitchen, the hub of every household, is at dead center in this plan. It serves the family room for informal indoor meals, and is just as handy to dining room and court for more formal occasions either indoors or out.

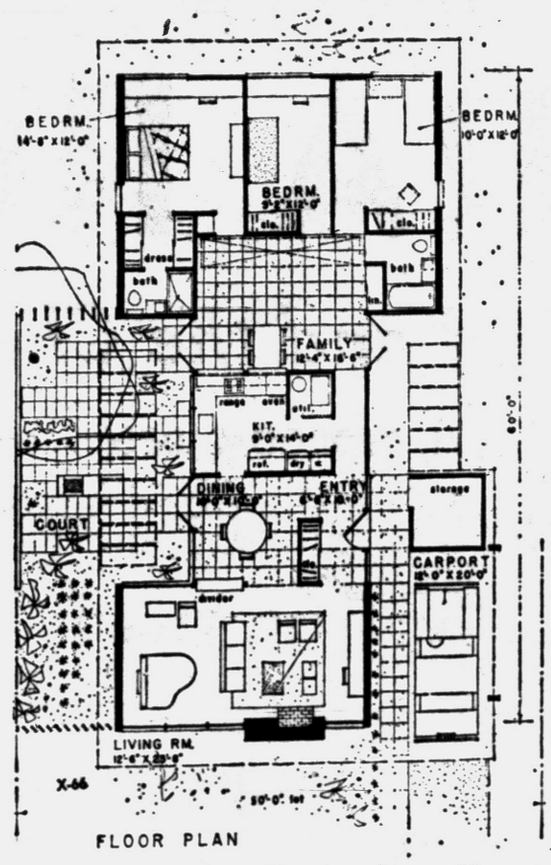

The kitchen is roomy enough to provide space for laundry and utility closet. Thus practically all normal household routine can be performed in this single control center.

An entry closet creates a foyer at the main entrance and helps define the dining area behind it. The large living room (12½ by almost 24 feet) is just off this foyer and completely out of the daily traffic pattern. It has a wonderful view into the court as well as to the street.

A big natural brick fireplace is the center of interest. The fireplace is projected to the outside to save valuable living space. Shelves serve as a useful space divider between liviing and dining rooms.

PLENTY OF SUNLIGHT

Glass doors at either end provide access from the family room to the private court and to the side yard. A long clear glass skylight in the ceiling of the family room floods the bedroom wall with sunlight.

FLOOR PLAN

KITCHEN IS HUB—Central location makes possible constant supervision of children's play from kitchen. Private court garden, shielded on every side, can be enjoyed from all working and living rooms indoors.

The bedroom unit contains three good-sized rooms. The master bedroom has its own bath and a dressing area with abundant closet space. The other two bedrooms share the main bath.

The exterior is simple in concept with dramatic contrasts in color and texture. Stained cypress siding, buff red brick, a continuous white fascia and light tan roof shingles are integrated with large glass areas to provide a light, modern appearance. A big storage room underneath the carport roof furnishes space for bicycles, garden tools and other outdoor equipment.

CHEF'S CART — The chef's cart was designed to make work easy for both Mother and Dad. It's used for carting all of the food, dishes and other supplies from the kitchen to the outdoor dining room. Then after dinner is over, it's an easy means of getting everything back into the kitchen again. It has convenient hooks on both sides for hanging kitchen utensils. There are places in the back for hanging towels, aprons, pot holders and things of that kind. The storage compartment is roomy and has spaces for all sorts of things. The cart also makes a handy outdoor bar. The top is a work counter which lifts off and becomes a serving tray. To obtain the full size chef's cart pattern No. 204 send $1.00 currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, Calif.

Today's Summer House Can Have Tile Floor

Don't look now, but the summer-house is back again. It doesn't look anything like the ornate garden pavilions of the gilded age of Queen Victoria—but it's a summer-house just the same. And more and more people who would never consider themselves Victorian are bringing back this gracious and satisfying symbol of an earlier era.

Of course, today's summerhouse resembles its bulky and bannistered predecessors only in the cool and comfortable function it performs, not in appearance. Today's summerhouse is ground-level, light and collapsible for storage in the winter.

Its floor is a practical, durable material like quarry tile; its roof is a light metal awning—louvered to let in breezes and make it safe from heavy winds. Its sides are screens that can be lowered or raised depending on the insects situation.

All of this assembly can be easily folded and stored away in the winter, except of course for the quarry tile floor, which can't be damaged by winter's ravages anyway and can be readied in ten minutes for summer use. Many housewives take advantage of this quarry tile platform during the winter by hanging clothes lines across it; the tile gives them a solid place to stand, free from slush and mud.

But the most fun from your summerhouse is to be had in the summertime, as any contented old-timer will tell you. The plain fact is that, unless your whole house is air-conditioned, a summerhouse is the only place around to cool off in the evenings. If you have enough privacy in your yard or garden, you will probably want to sleep there lots of times. At least you can bet the kids will want to.

When Fuses Blow Out Time to Check Wiring

CHICAGO (UPI) — Four out of five homes suffer from inadequate wiring and are unable to handle an overload of electrical appliances, reports Commonwealth Edison, a power company.

If fuses blow frequently, if lights become dim when appliances are turned on or if the TV picture shrinks when additional power is used, it may be a symptom of weak wiring.

Curb That Driveway

An easy way to improve the appearance of a lawn is to build a curb of stone along the sides of the driveway and front walk. A curb of granite, sandstone, bluestone or quartzite gives a distinctive look to the landscaping in addition to keeping unsightly mud and snow from the driveway and walks.

Watch Temperature

Never paint outside when air temperature is below 45 degrees. Allow 48 hours drying time between paint coats. Weather conditions influence time required for each coat of paint to properly dry. Do not paint siding if it is damp from frost, dew or water. Wait until siding has dried to not over 16 per cent moisture content before applying first coat.

Historic Souvenirs Find Resting Place in Fence

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—When Victor Rahner decided to build a fence in his back yard, he had some unusual material to work with, including a piece of coffin dating back to 1574.

The idea of a historic fence came to Rahner when work started on widening a street near his home.

Rahner, who had collected historic objects for years, joined others in hunting souvenirs uncovered when the dredge started pumping sand from the bayfront.

He found such souvenirs as pottery, broken bottles, ammunition pellets and parts of old ships.

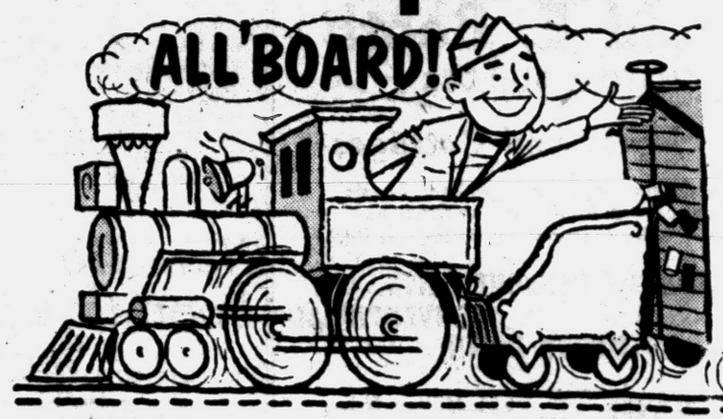

"I collected a number of objects and friends gave me quite a few," he says. "I had planned to build a fence in the backyard for several years so I got the ideal of embedding these historic objects in the fence."

To keep everything on a historic plane, Rahner hired Louis Solana to put the fence together. Solana is a descendant of the oldest documented family in the continental United States as well as a brick mason.

The fence was built primarily of brick and coquina rock, much of it used in early construction in this city. The chunks of coquina came from the old governor's palace, a fort, city library, old city gates, oldest house and other historic buildings while renovations were being made.

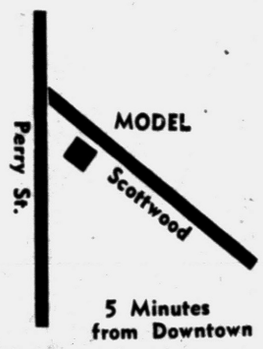

The prized item is a piece of the coffin of Pedro Menendez de Aviles who founded this city in 1565 and died in 1574.

Portable Electric Saw Cuts Work on Big Jobs

It's when you tackle some building project that a portable electric saw really comes in to its own. It can cut a variety of materials with little effort while saving many hours. And with it you bring power right to the job, not the other way around.

The portable electric saw is useful if you are building a garage, breezeway, tool shed, patio cover.

Indoors it will speed work adding rooms to the attic, making a recreation room; any job in which cutting must be done on the scene.

If you plan to use an electric saw but seldom, rent one. If your work may cover a long period of time, or if you plan more than one project, consider seriously purchase of a saw.

The most common mistake handy men make, perhaps, is in buying too large a unit. Ten- and 12-inch saws are for industrial use.

Most six-inch saws will make a 1⅞ inch-deep cut. That's enough to handle 2x4s. Even a saw with a four-inch blade will handle most everything; it will make a 1¼-inch cut, maximum depth.

Don't fret about the occasional lone piece of wood that's too thick for your saw. Make your cut, turn the work over and make another cut that will meet the old one. Or, of course, break out the hand saw.

Most saws are equipped with a combination blade that will handle both ripping and crosscutting.

Special rip and crosscut blades are available and should be obtained if you plan to do much of either type of sawing. The rip blade cuts faster than the combination; the crosscut blade does a neater job than the all-purpose blade.

If you've done much hand sawing, you're accustomed to workng with good side of wood UP. Electric saws cut from the bottom, and leave a rough edge on the surface of the work.

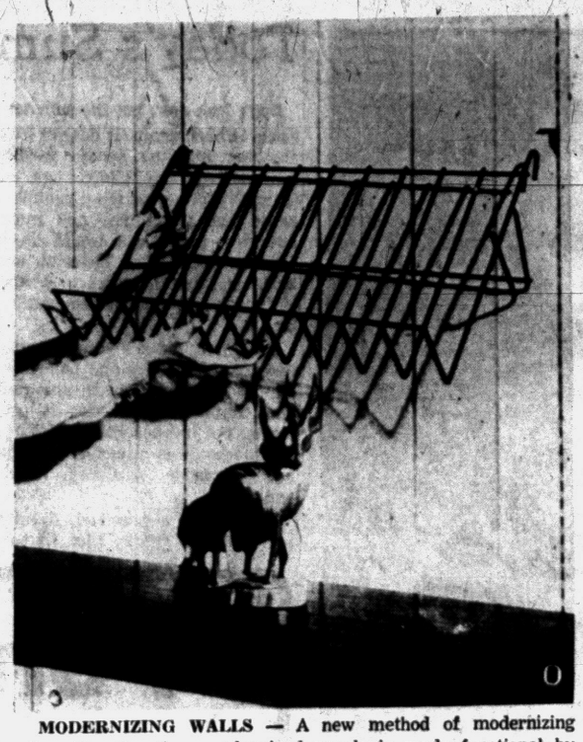

Remember to turn your wood over with the GOOD SIDE DOWN.

Good electric saws are equipped with a number of safety devices. All are useless if you remove them or ignore their purpose.

Never saw with blade exposed. A guard over the top of the blade must remain in place at all times. The guard at the bottom telescopes out of the way as the cut is made. If you tilt the blade, make certain that the "tilt" lock is tight.

Take it easy with the saw. Don't allow it to overheat. Don't permit the blade to touch the work when starting a cut. Start the saw and allow it to get moving at full speed before starting the cut.

DON'T push. Let the saw do the work. Your job is to guide it through the work.

MODERNIZING WALLS — A new method of modernizing walls with attractive woodgrained panels is made functional by means of slotted steel splines and accessories. Slotted to receive the nearly-invisible lockstrips which hold them vertically at the joints, the 2'x8' imprinted hardboard panels come grooved or ungrooved and in four colors of walnut or unfinished. Accessories like the magazine rack shown can be installed or moved to various positions instantly, as the slots in the lockstrips are one inch apart. The system permits use of walls for holding desks, dressing tables, dressing counters, cabinets, magazine racks, shelves, closet storage accessories, pictures, flower pots and other items. Available from lumber dealers, the retail price for the imprinted panels and splines will range from 45 to 50 cents a square foot.

New Housing Legislation Boon to Veteran Buyers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Veterans' prospects for getting home loans have brightened since a new piece of housing legislation has begun to take hold.

The bill, signed by President Eisenhower June 30, authorized a higher interest rate on loans guaranteed by the Veterans Administration and gave the agency 100 million dollars for direct home loans.

VA boss Sumner G. Whittker, exercising the bill's authority on July 2, lifted the maximum allowable interest rate from 4¾ per cent to 5¼ per cent. It was expected that this would make GI loans more attractive to lenders, and hence make it easier for home buying veterans to get them.

Locked in at 4¼ per cent and faced with competition from loans paying 5¼ per cent and more, the GI mortgages were simply unpopular. The guaranty program dried up. In 1955 it accounted for 30 per cent of a record number of new houses. By the first four months of 1959 it accounted for 8 per cent.

Discounts, which vary directly with tightness in money markets, had swollen to nearly 10 per cent in some areas. This meant that builders were forced to trim their profits or to pack their prices. Often they did both.

With the 4¼ per cent interest rate, discounts are expected to shrink. Both builders and home buyers should benefit.

Some observers pointed out that the higher interest rate did not deal with what may be a major problem later this year —too much competition for housing funds from other sectors of the economy.

Business, consumer and local government borrowing is picking up, and the pressure on credit markets is mounting.

VA officials expect the guarantee program to bring in enough new business to require expansion of staff in some of the agency's 65 offices.

Officials pointed out that the rate boost does not affect motrgages already in force. For many former servicemen about to buy a house, however, it meant an end to stalling by lenders who wanted to close the loan at the higher rate.

These veterans presumably got their loans. But they also will be paying more in monthly charges. For a veteran buying a home with a 25-year, $15,000 mortgage, monthly costs will go up $6.25 by virtue of the half-point interest rate hike.

The 100 million dollars for the direct loan iprogram is expected to help the VA whittle down a backlog of 55,000 applications. The loans are available only to persons living in rural and farm areas where it is especially difficult to get private financing.

Of 3,075 counties in the United States, 2,466 are fully eligible for the direct loans and 271 are partly eligible.

But VA officials will try to help applicants find private lenders before they agree to a direct loan. The loans run for a maximum of 30 years and up to $13,500.

Marble Crowds Wood as Leading Surface

NEW YORK (UPI) — Marble is now second only to wood as the leading surface for table tops and it is also finding increased use as a wall covering, counter-top and floor covering in entrance foyers, patios, dining rooms, kitchens and baths.

About 20 million square feet of marble will be sold for use in buildings this year, up one third over the 15 million square feet sold last year.

One ton of air-conditioning equals the cooling effect of the melting of one ton of ice in a 24-hour period.

Take Comforts Along With You

When you dash off for a month at the beach or mountains this summer, take your home with you.

Not the daily chores of homemaking you're vacationing from, but the hopes and dreams of a better place for your family to live. The time and distance will give you a perspective for sound planning.

Points to consider in planning improvements might include:

1. Additional bathrooms. Perhaps the most immediate improvement would be another bath or powder room with good-looking, low-maintenance materials such as ceramic tile covering floor, walls and counters.

2. More space for homemaking activities. One of the most economical methods of adding space is to consolidate rooms. For example, the partition between the kitchen and the dining room could be removed and the rooms' functions combined. Even the most fastidious homemaker will not object to this combination when she sees the new colors, sizes and shapes and textures of ceramic tile for use in homes with "open" planning.

3. Outdoor living. Another liberating influence for the servantless homemaker is a terrace. If surfaced with an attractive, easily maintained material like quarry tile, a terrace can provide an accessible retreat from the four walls of the kitchen while the laundry is in the washer or a cake in the oven.

Terraces also simplify family meals and informal entertaining. Cleaning afterward involves nothing more strenuous than spraying the terrace with a garden hose.

Garage Adds Expansive Look, Hikes Value

A garage plays a big part in today's residential architecture. In addition to offering extra storage space, many homemakers find a garage adds greatly to the appearance of their home — increasing property value and resale value.

Home builders rely on an attached garage to give homes a long and spacious look. And for today's indoor-outdoor living, a garage is often situated to provide privacy for a patio.

When planning a garage, consider the many design variations possible with an attached, unattached or attached-with-breezeway garage. Consider, too, the many diffirent angles in which a garage may be placed in relation to the house.

Whether you build a hip, gable, pitch or flat-roofed garage will depend on the design of your home. Usually, it is best to continue the same style.

As a general rule, the roof line of the garage should be kept slightly lower than the house roof line for best appearance.

More churches — large and small — are being air-conditioned each year.

Homeowners Get Help From Service Group

AP Newsfeature

Everybody wants to do something for the home owners—at a price, of course.

Organizations are springing up all over the country to make it easy for the home owner to get prompt, reliable services of all kinds at fair, prevailing prices. It works like this:

The home owner is assured quick attention 24 hours a day, seven days a week. When something goes wrong in the house, he calls a central telephone number and explains his problem.

From there on it is up to the organization to see that a skilled plumber, electrician, carpenter or other serviceman does the job promptly, efficiently and at a reasonable price. This includes emergency service at odd hours, which might be necessary for instance, when a pipe bursts in the middle of the night.

The home owner pays the organization a certain annual fee. One charges "dues" of $10 for the first year and $5 annually thereafter. Another charges $12 a year. The serviceman pays the organization a certain percentage of the bill, usually 10 per cent.

What does the home owner get for his annual fee? And why should the serviceman give 10 per cent of his bill to somebody else?

The organizations (they have such names as the Allied Homeowners Assn. and the National Home Owners Club) say that the customer no longer has to take pot-luck when it comes to finding the right craftsmen to do the job.

All repairmen are screened, all must conform to reasonable price schedules and all must agree to return to check the work if a member is dissatisfied. An organization man personally inspects the larger jobs to be certain everything has been done properly. All this is in addition to the obvious advantage of getting quick service at any hour of the day or night.

It is said that the servicemen are glad to pay the 10 per cent commission. They are assured of a large volume of business from organization members without solicitation costs or waste of time.

And they are guaranteed payment. The failure of a contractor to live up to organization standards means that his name is removed from the list.

One of the outfits has come up with an addition to its program. It is offering a special vacation-time house watcher service. It even includes watering indoor plants.

The Southern Pine territory—the nation's first lumber producing region—has reforested to such an extent that the U.S. Forest Service and other authorities regard it as the promised land of the U.S. lumber future.

Buy, Don't Rent, Advises Expert

Own your own home, urges a leading west coast lumber expert, who says it is the family's best hedge against inflation.

H. V. Simpson, executive vice president of the West Coast Lumberman's Association, says rents will go up, but mortgage payments remain constant once the home is bought.

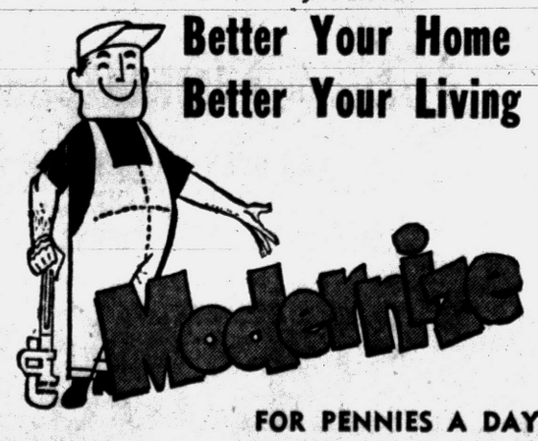

Simpson pointed out that most roomy apartments today rent for at least $125 a month, but an owner can buy a home built of high quality lumber at monthly payments of $125.

As each month rolls by, says Simpson, the renter acquires only rent receipts, while the owner acquires an increasing equity in his home which is the same as cash.

In addition, Simpson warned, the renter is constantly threatened with increased rents, and rents will continue to rise as construction costs go up, but the homeowner know his mortgage payments will remain the same until the home is paid for.

Utilize Bowling Trophies

Sporting enthusiasts like something around the house to remind them of their hobbies. Bowlers can turn an old bowling pin into an attractive lamp for hobby or living room. Sand wood clean and then coat with shellac after necessary wiring is installed.

WALKWAY — Patio blocks, broken concrete sidewalk sections or smooth, flat stones can be used for a walkway along the drive.

Can Install Walkway Beside a Narrow Drive

Today's autos on yesterday's average, single-lane drives crowd passengers into the grass so often that it's worth a look-see at ways to add a little foot-room for those not acrobatically inclined.

Widening the drive doesn't involve tearing out major construction.

Where it's more foot-room only that's wanted, no concrete is required. You will need concrete, though, if your car cuts over the lawn when turning into the drive.

For the straightaway section of the driveway, all that's needed is a hard surface that will stay dry.

Patio blocks, each two or three inches thick, are often used for making a walkway. If you really want to economize, try to locate some broken chunks of concrete paving, or some smooth flat stones. If space is limited, the regular shape of the patio block may be easier to handle.

Dig out the earth along edge of drive to a depth equal to the thickness of the block, plus as inch more. The extra inch is for a layer of sand. Before putting in the sand, tamp and scrape the earth at the bottom and sides of trench.

When putting the stones in place, make certain that their surfaces are flush with the surface of the drive. If not, someone is sure to trip. Adding or subtracting sand will bring blocks to the proper height.

Blocks can be made to remain secure by digging out some extra dirt along the outside edge and anchoring the blocks with a two-inch strip of redwood. Some stakes driven in at intervals will hold the strip in place.

Sweep the extra sand into cracks between blocks, and between blocks and drive.

Where drive meets the street, the problem is a little more difficult.

The car, turning slightly as it enters the street, may slip off the edge of the apron. This is bad for the lawn and bad for the wheels of your car as well.

This situation calls for additional concrete, a surface strong enough to support the weight of an auto.

Dig out the ground to a depth of at least six or eight inches. Another two inches at outer edge of area will leave room for pieces of lumber to serve as a form. Drive stakes into the ground to hold the lumber.

Concrete can be mixed on the driveway surface. Ready-mix concrete in dry form, while a little more expensive than buying separate ingredients, saves the work and bother of measuring. Use gravel mix.

Tile Checker Board

If you have any folks around the house who like a good game of chess or checkers once in a while, here's an idea that's sure to please them: Construct a solid masonry table in some cool corner of the yard and inlay it with ceramic tiles to form a regulation playing board. The outdoor table can double for any number of uses and, if made in the proper setting and proportions, it can be a valuable asset to the appearance of your lawn.

Keep Fire Pails to Check Home Blaze

Every home should be equipped with basic fire-fighting equipment to check a fire until the fire department arrives. A fire extinguisher and several pails should be kept handy in case of an emergency.

A small blaze can often be confined to its original area with several pails of water. For this reason, fire safety experts urge all homeowners to keep several galvanized steel fire pails, filled with sand or water, in the basement, garage, attic or other possible "hot spot."

Ordinary pails used for everyday household chores also can be used in case of an emergency, however, when every second counts. They should always be kept in the same locations, a cleaning closet or basement shelf, so every member of the family will know where they are if a fire breaks out in the house.

Portland Cement

Portland cement is made by burning and grinding a mixture of materials, usually including limestone. It is used everywhere as an ingredient for concrete or mortar for installing surfaces such as ceramic tile. It is called "portland" cement because, when first manufactured, it closely resembled the gray limestone quarried on the Isle of Portland, England.

Use a cut walnut meat to darken a scratch on dark wood.

Will Question Hoffa Monday

Senate Rackets Probers Charge Strikebreaking and Cheating

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa is due before the Senate rackets probers Monday to answer charges that his Teamsters Union cheated its members and took part in a secret strike-breaking mission.

★ ★ ★

Probe chairman John R. McClellan (D-Ark) reviewed Friday testimony that Hoffa made deals with favored employers and bargained away take home pay of rank and file teamsters.

That, said McClellan, was "ratting and cheating on these hard-working people." As to Hoffa's often-voiced charge that the rackets committee is antiunion, McClellan said:

"The real union busters are the cheats and the frauds we've exposed.

The strike-breaking charge came from Wally Butler, president of a Department Store Workers Union local in Detroit, Hoffa's home city.

Butler testified that Hoffa's teamsters have been used on at least one secret strike breaking mission in Detroit to defeat a walkout of employes of a bottling plant.

Butler said he has been offered payoffs—one a $150,000 offer—to merge his union with the Teamsters, but has rejected them.

The committee also inquired into Hoffa's efforts to work out an alliance with Harry Bridges' West Coast Longshoremen's Union.

BIGGEST OF WHEELS — The dream of becoming a big wheel turns into a kind of nightmare for Cathy Yatsevich in Claremont, N. H. She finds there's more to taming this old-fashioned bicycle than merely climbing aboard. Bikes of this type originated in England in the 1870s.

Former President of Airline Happier as Plane Builder

HAGERSTOWN, Md. (UPI) — James H. Carmichael holds a unique position in the aviation industry.

He happens to be the only airplane manufacturer ever to have served as an airline president.

Carmichael (Jamie to his wife and Slim to everyone else) headed Capital Airlines from 1947 to 1957. Now he is president of Fairchild Aircraft—a company battling hard to establish itself in the field of commercial transport planes.

Fairchild is producing the new F27, a jet-prop airliner designed specifically for the small local service or "feeder" airlines.

And Carmichael is the first to admit that being president of an airline has helped him in running Fairchild.

'KNOW WHAT THEY WANT'

"I know pretty much what airlines want and need in equipment," he explains. "Some of the things we've done in the F27 were the direct result of my experience with Capital."

Carmichael, a handsome man with graying hair and a dapper mustache, has never regretted the change.

"With the airline it was one government restriction after another," he recalls. "Until I went with Fairchild, I never realized how much control a Federal agency like the Civil Aeronautics Board has over your thinking and judgment.

"I have more freedom now. Just as many problems, but they're problems I can solve on my own initiative instead of wondering what government reaction will be to a policy move."

Carmichael faces a king-sized job in selling the F27 to the smaller airlines. The sleek, swift, high-wing transport is an immensely desired product by carriers still struggling along with outmoded DC3s, Convairs and Martins.

The feeders largely are operating with "hand-me-down" equipment purchased from the big airlines.

NO CHEAP PLANE

But the F27 is no cheap plane. It is a fully-pressurized airliner that carries a price tag of well over $700,000—a stiff price for the feeders, which have to rely on government subsidies to keep them out of the red.

Congress tried to help the local service carriers by passing a bill that would guarantee $5 million in loans for each feeder line.

"It isn't enough," Carmichael insists. "Five million dollars would enable an airline to buy, say, just four F27s with spare parts—and for most of them, four new planes won't begin to solve their equipment replacement problem. Fifteen million dollars would be a more realistic figure."

Fairchild, which is building the only really new replacement for the venerable DC3, faces competition from two sources: Convair is offering twin-engine 240s and 340s modified to carr y jet-prop engines literally turning a 15-year-old airplane into a jet-powered transport called the 540.

And the major airlines, trying to unload their piston-engine fleets as they convert to jet power, are selling surplus planes at bargain-basement rates.

"We've just heard that United sold about six Convairs to Frontier Airlines for $350,000 a plane, including spare parts and training," Carmichael says.

ATTRACTIVE DEALS

"I think in the long run, an airline would be better off buying brand-new equipment but with financing so restricted, I can see why propositions like this are attractive."

To date, Fairchild has sold 67 F27s, 18 of them to private concerns for use as executive transports.

"We need to sell 81 to break even on our production cost," Carmichael adds, "and several hundred to amortize completely everything we spent on preproduction research, testing and development."

★ ★ ★

Carmichael says airlines now flying the F27 are very pleased.

"They tell us the plane is generating new business, as shown by the fact that even on non-competitive routes, the F27 has increased passenger traffic," he says.

"We think that as the airlines learn what the F27 can do for them, through actual experience, our selling job will become that much easier."

LIKES MANUFACTURING

With all his problems, Carmichael likes the manufacturing end of aviation.

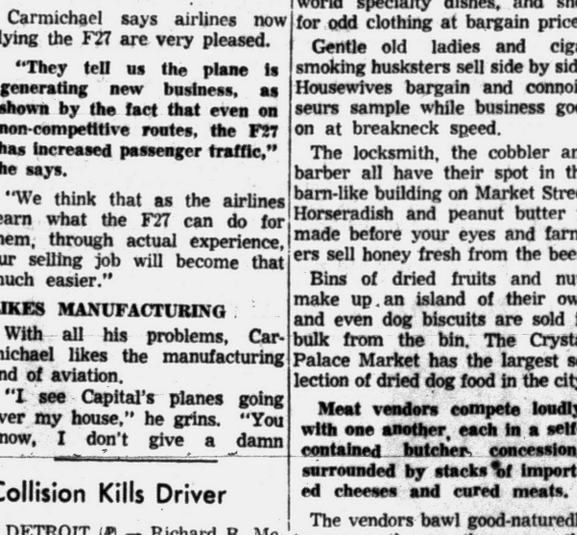

"I see Capital's planes going over my house," he grins. "You know, I don't give a damn

Collision Kills Driver

DETROIT (AP) — Richard B. McKay, 26, of Detroit, was killed today in a two-car head-on collision in Dearborn Township. Police brought a manslaughter charge against the other driver, Daniel D. Mastaler, 32, of Dearborn Township. Officers said Mastaler, who was injured, had been drinking and was driving to the left-center of the road.

Just Homesick, Judge

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — The defendant told Judge Harold C. Maurice he was lost and pulled a fire box alarm so he could find his way home. The judge expressed sympathy, but fined him $100.

CAUTIOUS OPTIMISM—Crime statistics just released by the FBI show an "encouraging drop" in murders and robberies during the first three months of 1959. But assault and rape were on the increase, and the nation's overall crime rate showed only a slight decrease—less than one per cent—as compared with the first quarter of 1958. Chart above lists the record of major crimes for the first quarter of the year.

Newly Published Letters Clue to Beethoven's 'Immortal Love'

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — For years to come scholarly detectives probably will be poring over 13 newly published love letters of composer Ludwig van Beethoven.

Not only do they throw some light on the composer's rather active love life, they may help solve one of the great art mysteries of all time: to whom did he write another passionate missive in which he speaks to an "immortal beloved?"

The 13 now published are not distinguished for literary merit. The other one, found among Beethoven's papers after his death, is considered by many critics to be among the greatest love letters of history.

All may have been meant for the same woman — Josephine Brunsvik, a pretty dark-haired mother of seven.

The 13 letters belonged to a Swiss collector who would never let them be published. He died two years ago and left them to the museum established in the house where Beethoven was born in Bonn, Germany.

NEVER MARRIED

Beethoven never married and was some thing of a ladies' man in spite of his deafness and uncouth manners.

There are at least nine candidates for being the "immortal beloved." With the publication of the new 13 letters, clearly addressed to Josephine, she must be considered among the front runners.

Some biographers, who favor her rivals, have dismissed Josephine as one of Beethoven's many flirtations.

Now there is no doubt that she must be classed among his fewer "heavy passions," says critic Max Unger.

Beethoven was almost as handy at composing love letters as string quartets, but the charming Josephine seems to have reduced him almost to incoherence.

"Oh, Heaven," he writes in one letter, strewn with dashes and exclamation points, "how much else I should like to tell you — how I think about you — what I feel about you — but how weak, how poor this language is — at least mine! — Long — Long — enduring — may our love become . . ." and so on.

Josephine Brunsvik was one of three sisters, two of whom Beethoven seems to have had quite a yen for. Josephine was married at 19, soon after Beethoven met her, to Count Joseph Deym, a man of 50 she did not like. She had four chldren in less than four years, the last born just after her husband's death.

Within a few months Beethoven was writing passionate letters to the pretty widow, and there is every indication that his love was returned.

It was not possible for them to marry. A countess with four children could not become the wife of a lowborn and relatively poverty stricken musician.

IMPORTANT PERIOD

The period of their love was an important one for Beethoven. Some think he took her for a model in drawing Leonore, the heroine of his opera "Fidelio."

★ ★ ★

About two years after the romance seems to have cooled, Josephine married again. This marriage was not happy either, although Josephine soon had two more children.

It was at this point, some four years after Josephine and Beethoven are last known to have met, that the letter to the "immortal beloved" apparently was written.

One scholar has written a carefully documented book to show that there must have been a passionate meeting at this time between Beethoven and Josephine. He believes that Josephine's seventh and last child, Minona von Stackelberg, was Beethoven's daughter.

The newly-published letters date from a period four to eight years earlier. They plainly show a close relationship between Beethoven and Josephine. The question scholars would like to have answered: did the romance go on for eight years, or only four?

Atlanta Must Outline Plans for School Desegregation

ATLANTA (UPI)—Georgia's capital city has been ordered to specify by Dec. 1 how it intends to desegregate its public schools in compliance with a federal court mandate.

★ ★ ★

The city school board, defendant in a desegregation suit on which the order was based, has said it will obey the court's instructions.

State law, however, spells out in one syllable words that any desegregated school would immediately lose state support and would be closed—along with the school from which the children came who brought about the integration.

It appeared inevitable that the Atlanta case was setting the stage for an all-out battle in the 1960 legislature and that the school board plan would be the focus.

★ ★ ★

There has been mounting pressure here for local option legislation that would give a city like this the right to decide for itself whether to accept some form of integration rather than to suffer its schools to be closed under the present state laws.

★ ★ ★

District Judge Frank Hooper instructed the school board to present a complete plan for a "prompt and reasonable start" toward the operation of a desegregated school system. He said it would be submitted contingent upon the enactment of laws necessary to put it into effect.

Gov. Ernest Vandiver immediately called a private, closed door conference for Monday night of his top legislative leaders and constitutional lawyers. They included a number of lieutenants from his own and past administrations who have steered the state's present rock-ribbed segregation laws into the books.

It was not considered likely that any suggestion would be made for a special session of the legislature this year to consider different racial laws. It was more likely that the Monday session would be for a full review of what is now on the books in light of the Atlanta decisions.

Hooper noted in today's order that it was not to be considered a final one but that he would "retain jurisdiction" in the case for an indefinite period.

★ ★ ★

Following submission of a compliance plan, he said he would hold another full dress hearing at which both the defense and the plaintiffs —ten Negro parents of school age children—would be allowed time for argument. After that he will decided whether the school board plan is acceptable to the court.

★ ★ ★

Hooper indicated that he would be lenient throughout on the case so long as there is willingness on the part of the school board to cooperate. He said he would allow a reasonable time "to achieve full compliance" with his orders.

He said flatly, however, that public schools here must no longer admit children solely "on the basis of race or color."

He specifically enjoined the board and all school personnel from "enforcing and pursuing the policy, practice, custom and usage of requiring or permitting racial segregation" in operation of the schools.

Crystal Palace Market to Close

Motel Will Replace San Francisco's Most Colorful Landmark

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—San Francisco will lose a colorful and historic landmark in a few months when the carnival-like Crystal Palace Market closes its doors to make way for a luxury motor hotel.

Grocers and tradesmen who have sold foodstuffs there for years in a maze of family-operated concessions will disband. Some will move to another part of the city and a few will try to form another market place.

This international market took only 35 years to become a landmark. Its 75 concessions, employing more than 300 persons, comprise the largest group of importers and old-country tradesmen in northern California to do business under one roof.

It's one of the last places in the city where you can buy a glass of steam beer, sample a multitude of foreign meats, cheeses and old world specialty dishes, and shop for odd clothing at bargain prices.

Gentle old ladies and cigar smoking husksters sell side by side. Housewives bargain and connoisseurs sample while business goes on at breakneck speed.

The locksmith, the cobbler and barber all have their spot in the barn-like building on Market Street Horseradish and peanut butter is made before your eyes and farmers sell honey fresh from the bees.

Bins of dried fruits and nuts make up an island of their own and even dog biscuits are sold in bulk from the bin. The Crystal Palace Market has the largest selection of dried dog food in the city.

Meat vendors compete loudly with one another, each in a self-contained butcher concession, surrounded by stacks of imported cheeses and cured meats.

The vendors bawl good-naturedly to one another as they serve the crowds. Late in the shopping day they might drop the prices on fresh produce to make way for the next day's load.

Many customers have traded there since the market opened in 1923.

In 1922 the grounds were bought by two brothers, Arthur and Oliver Rosseau, who thought the land, still considered "out in the country," was a favorable market site.

The market was built and known as the Crystal Palace. It didn't change hands until 1944 when it was sold to the Emporium Department Store. And now, the land is to become the site of a motor hotel.

Auto Smashes Into Tree

HOUGHTON LAKE (AP) Frank McCormack, 53, of Houghton Lake, was killed Friday when his car went out of control on a trail road south of here and struck a tree.

McCormack's daughter, Sharon, 11, was injured seriously. His son, Edward, 13, and a friend, Dennis Dermidoff, 14, of Detroit, escaped unharmed.

RIGHT IN THE KISSER — Maybe two-year-old Joan Kofoed doesn't know much about art, but she knows what she likes, as she plants a kiss on the nose of a pre-Inca god replica in Miami, Fla. 'Cowboy' Long to Take a Rest

Works Rounding Up, Feeding Cattle, Picking Watermelons for Guests

WINNFIELD, La. (AP) — Gov. Earl Long, reported showing marked improvement, was expected to leave his farm here today for an extended trip to rest and relax.

Aides said he would go to Shreveport to catch a plane for Fort Worth, Tex., the next stop on a three-week tour of the Western United States and Canada.

★ ★ ★

The 63-year-old governor spent an active day Friday on his 300-acre "pea patch" farm. He helped round up and feed cattle and supervised the selection of a half-dozen big watermelons for his visitors.

"Long has improved so much that he looks like a different man compared with the way he looked when he arrived at Covington," said State Rep. Jesse McLain of St. Tammany Parish, who has been with the governor almost constantly during the past few weeks.

The governor set up a temporary capital at Covington after he obtained his release from the Southeast Louisiana State (mental) Hospital near Mandeville by ousting the hospital director.

Long's tour of hospitals began six weeks ago today when he was flown to the John Sealy Hospital in Galveston, Tex. He was released there June 17 and admitted to the Ochsner Foundation Hospital in New Orleans the same day. Long left June 18 and a few hours later was committed to the Mandeville institution.

While Long is vacationing, his top legislative leader, State Sen. B. B. Rayburn of Bogalusa, will try to talk him out of calling a special session of the Legislature. Long has said he would call the session Aug. 5.

Long said Friday he expected his attorney, Joe Arthur Sims, to file suit Monday against Time, Inc., in District Court in Baton Rouge for what he called "slanderous articles and pictures" in Time and Life magazines. There was no comment from the governor on what he disliked but McLain and Rayburn criticized Life's picture of Long wrapped in a sheet on a motel bed in Covington.

Open Pairings

Pairings and starting times for Monday's two qualifying sections in the Michigan Open golf tournament. The double qualifying is scheduled at Forest Lake Country Club in this area and at Green Ridge Country Club near Grand Rapids.

The Michigan Open tourney is scheduled Friday through Sunday, July 17-19, at Green Ridge. John Barnum of Grand Rapids is defending champion.

He Just Got Mad

Banker Kills Bandit, Wounds Another

ECLECTIC, Ala. (AP)—A young small-town banker early today shot and killed one holdup man and wounded another who had kidnaped a policeman and robbed a bank of $250.

Before he shot the two bandits, Carl Ray Barker, 31, subdued one of them by throwing scalding water in his face and beating him on the head with the robber's own pistol.

★ ★ ★

Barker is cashier and general manager of the Bank of Eclectic.

He killed the other bandit with a shotgun charge in the chest and seriously wounded the scalded, badly beaten holdup man with a charge of No. 4 birdshot in the hip.

The dead man was identified by papers in his wallet as James Franklin Bray, 25, of Montgomery. Taken to Kilby Prison at Montgomery in serious condition from loss of blood and other injuries was a man who gave the name of William D. Hayward, 26, also of Montgomery.

The two holdup men kidnaped City Policeman Maxie Taunton after asking him to drive them out on a highway where they could hitchhike a ride.

The officer said one of the bandits had put a gun at the back of his head while he was driving, took his own gun from him, and ordered him to drive to the banker's home.

At Barker's home, the bandits ordered Taunton to summon the bank official to the door by telling him it was the police. They forced their way into the house and held the policeman, Barker, and the banker's pregnant wife and 3-year-old daughter captive.

Bray then forced Barker to accompany him to the bank while the other holdup man stayed in the house and stood guard over the captives.

The time lock on the bank vault was set to open at 8:30 a.m. and Bray couldn't budge it, so he grabbed a sack containing $250 in nickels and dimes.

After Bray and Barker had returned to the banker's home, the holdup man took Taunton back downtown with him to get tape so he could tie the hostages until the bank vault was opened.

Barker said he suggested a cup of coffee while he and his family waited for Hayward. But that he made only boiling water. Returning from the kitchen, he splashed the scalding water in Hayward's face when the bandit held out his cup. Then Barker seized the bandit's revolver and beat him into submission with the weapon.

★ ★ ★

When Bray and the policeman returned to the house, the banker had loaded a shotgun and was waiting for them at the front door. Taunton opened the door and then jumped to safety as Barker shot Bray in the chest at pointblank range. The banker had wounded the other holdup man a short time earlier when he refused to obey a command, after the beating, to move from one room to another.

★ ★ ★

Barker said he was frightened during the ordeal but that he was more mad anything else.

"I got sure-enough mad," he added, "when the big one (Bray) kept talking killing us."

Eclectic is a small community about 35 miles northeast of Montgomery.

Arcaro Takes 1 Second Place for Three Rides

NEW YORK (AP) — It's back in the saddle again for Eddie Arcaro, king of America's jockeys.

★ ★ ★

Arcaro was injured in a spectacular spill in the Belmont Stakes on June 13, but he returned to action yesterday at Belmont Park and rode three mounts. The best he could do was a second on Warhead in the feature.

★ ★ ★

"I got a little winded," he said. "but it's only natural. My arms and legs are strong from all the fishing I did. But it's good to be back."

Arcaro was listed to ride the Wheatley Stables' The Irishman in today's Saratoga Handicap at Belmont.

City School System Has Two Vacancies

The Pontiac Board of Education is accepting applications for two positions recently vacated in the school system, Dr. Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, announced.

One is the principalship at Crofoot Elementary School and the other is the administrative assistant's post at Pontiac Central High School.

The appointments will be made this summer, Whitmer said.

Written applications will be accepted until July 17.

State Advertising Push to Be Drawn Up Soon

LANSING (UPI)—The advertising program pushing Michigan's vacation travel advantages for this fiscal year will be formed at the State Tourist Council's meeting July 21.

Funds allocation will be determined for advertising in newspapers, magazines and radio and money will be budgeted for printing Michigan travel literature.

The promotion covers autumn and winter seasons and spring-summer efforts in 1960.

Found My Laundry Yet?

GLENEAGLES, Scotland (UPI) — Comedian Bob Hope, arriving last night for his first visit in six years, greeted hotel manager Denis Aldridge by saying: "Hello. Found my laundry yet?"

TOWERING FEELING — Soaring over the buildings of the town, a giant tapering tower, fashioned of wood and plaster of paris, is borne through the narrow srteets in a spectacular procession at Nola, Italy. Musicians sit at the foot of the tower playing popular tunes, while the entire edifice is carried on shoulders of the strongest men in town. The celebration, an annual event, commemorates a mission to the Orient of St. Paulinus, Bishop of Nola, in the fifth century.

Fires, Floods Rock England in Storm Wake

LONDON (AP)—Freak storms lashed wide areas of southern England today leaving a trail of fires and floods and plunging historic Windsor Castle into darkness.

Offshore, dense fog blanketed British coastal waters and there were two collisions involving four ships.

★ ★ ★

From midnight until dawn, storms ranged over hundreds of square miles hitting dozens of coastal resorts and veering northward toward London.

Floods spread rail lines and stopped trains. Houses, aircraft on the ground and a huge oil refinery were struck by lightning.

In the fog-blanketed English Channel the 680-ton British coastal vessel St. Ronan sank in a collision and three crewmen were missing.

★ ★ ★

On the mainland of Europe the heat wave continued. Parisians jammed railroad stations fleeing the steaming capital for a holiday weekend that will not end until the July 14 Bastille Day celebrations Tuesday.

Trilck Loses Battle Against Extradition

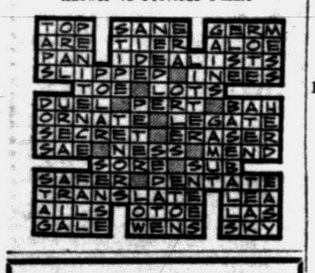

DETROIT (AP)—Russell R. Trilck's five-month battle against being returned to Michigan from Florida to face bribery conspiracy charges ended last night. He lost and was returned to Detroit.

Trilck, charged with conspiracy to bribe suburban River Rouge police officers in a lottery racket, was ordered extradited yesterday by Florida officials and was escorted back by Raymond Deryck, chief trial lawyer for the Wayne County prosecutor's office.

Trilck, 53, was taken to the Wayne County jail.

Trilck has been wanted since Feb. 13, 1959, in connection with the bribery case. He contended he was granted immunity by one-man graft grand juror Theodore R. Bohn in 1956. However, Michigan claimed Trilck's immunity extended only to another bribery case involving police in suburban Ecorse.

Florida Corn Comes to Michigan Stores

Lots of sweet corn from Florida fields is finding its way to produce counters in your stores. So what do you look for when you choose sweet corn? Here are a few rules given by the MSU Marketing Agent.

Look for fresh looking green husks and bright shiny kernels. The kernels may be white or yellow, large or small depending on the variety, but look for kernels that are well developed to the tip of the ear.

Buy sweet corn from a refrigerated counter and rush it home to your refrigerator. Corn allowed to stand at room temperature will quickly lose its fresh flavor.

A teaspoon of sugar added to the water in which you cook corn will add that "almost-garden-fresh" flavor which it might have lost on its journey from Florida to you.

REV. PAUL BERSCHE

Son to Occupy Pulpit of Rev. G. J. Bersche

The Rev. Paul Bersche, pastor of the Alliance Church in New Haven, Conn., will occupy the pulpit of his father, the Rev. G. J. Bersche of the Alliance Church, North Cass Lake road at M59, for the next two Sundays.

Services will be held at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m.

The visiting pastor was graduated from Pontiac Central High School in 1954 and Nyack Missionary College in 1958.

In August, 1958 he was appointed pastor of the New Haven

Blind Unit Changes Name

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan Institute for the Blind is now the Michigan Industries for the Blind under a bill signed into law by Gov. Williams. The governor also signed a measure permitting transfer of land from the Mental Health Department in Isabella County to State Police for construction of a radio tower.

Michigan's Biggest Civil Rights Dilemma

Minority Groups Find Housing Problem

By BOB VOGES

LANSING (AP)—A Negro runs into trouble when he tries to find a better house in Michigan. So does a Jew.

Real estate brokers, bankers and builders all conspire against non-whites and minority groups. There is no freedom in the housing market.

These were the main points claimed by Michigan's advisory committee on civil rights, reporting yesterday at Michigan State University.

Charles E. Wilson, former secretary of defense and committee chairman, summed it up this way.

"Housing is the toughest civil rights problem in Michigan. To the degree that the housing problem is resolved, the civil rights problems in other areas such as employment and education will be resolved."

★ ★ ★

Mrs. Dorothy S. McAllister, Grand Rapids civic leader, gave a blunt report on the housing of minority groups — mostly negroes --in Michigan.

"In the face of a Negro population that is expanding more rapidly than the white population," she said, "the lines of residential segregation are more tightly drawn today than at any time in the past."

She said that by next year one-fourth of Detroit's population will be non-white.

The modern trend, Mrs. McAllister said, is a move of the white population to the suburbs and a concentration of non-whites in commercial and industrial areas.

"Thus the basic pattern," she said, "is the growing non-white population concentrated in the oldest and most rundown sections of a city and the whites moving into newer homes in outlying areas.

"The difficulties of minority groups to find safe and sanitary housing are mainly due to the practices of property owners," Mrs. McAllister held. "They and real estate brokers, builders and financing institutions band together."

★ ★ ★

With the legal abolishment of restrictive clauses, she said, the current practice among property owners is to enter into a "gentlemen's agreement" with real estate brokers not to sell to non-whites and, in some instances, to Jews.

Builders construct little housing for rental or sale to Negroes, she said.

"Although bankers claim no distinction is made between races, and that equal terms are offered, our reports indicate that Negroes find it almost impossible to obtain mortgages to purchase houses in white or mixed neighborhoods," she said.

"It is obvious that freedom does not exist in the housing market," Mrs. McAllister concluded.

She recommended an increase in federal support of rental housing for low income families and state and local action "to assure good homes and the right to buy them to all."

Record Readings Brew Death

Heat Smothering Europe

LONDON (AP)—Europe's blistering heat wave sent the temperature to an all-time high of 99 in Berlin today and brought a wave of deaths through drowning and heat stroke.

★ ★ ★

Authorities started water rationing in some parts of Belgium and banned car washing and watering gardens. Brussels reported 97, a temperature exceeded only twice this century.

★ ★ ★

France reported at least 15 deaths from the heat and Germany 15 more. In Paris, civil servants working in a modern glass building went on strike when the thermometer topped 104 degrees.

West Berlin's main street, the Kurfuerstendamm, was almost deserted. Its sidewalk cafes keep open in the iciest winter weather with infra red heaters — but no one has thought of a way to cool their scorching canvas roofs.

★ ★ ★

Kozlov Cuts Short U.S. Tour to Rest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Frol R. Kozlov's barnstorming tour of the United States ends today.

The Soviet first deputy premier flies to New York's La Guardia Airport after a brief stop in this industrial city for a look at the Homestead works of the U.S. Steel Corp., and a visit to the nuclear power plant at Shippingport, Pa.

★ ★ ★

The weary Kremlin leader cut more than half a day from his Pittsburgh stay to permit him to rest in New York before taking off by Soviet jet transport for Moscow Monday. The last scheduled public event of his tour will be a news conference Sunday in New York.

Kozlov was a guest at a private dinner Friday night at the home of Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield of the University of Pittsburgh. Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania was among the guests.

Philatelic Convention to Be Held in Detroit

Detroit has been chosen headquarters for the fourth annual Convention of the American First Day Cover Society. The convention and exhibition will be held Aug. 7-9 at the Fort Shelby Hotel.

Awards for outstanding exhibitions of stamps and first covers include the Grand Award Trophy donated by Mayor Louis C. Miriani.

Miriani will present the trophy to the winner of the best exhibit at a banquet Aug. 8. The Motor City Philatelic Cover Club will host the convention.

Sees Big Cherry Crop

LANSING (AP)—A tart cherry crop of 84,000 tons—70 per cent above last year—has been predicted for Michigan by the State Arricultural Department. The department said the apple crop should hit 11,122,000 bushels—third among the several states.
