Dionne Quintuplet Dies of Stroke

One of Famous Five Dies

EPILEPSY FATAL—Emilie Dionne, one of the world-famous quintuplets, died in Ste. Agathe, Quebec, yesterday, at the age of 20. Death came after an epileptic stroke in her room at L'Accueuil Guay, a home for the aged, where she had gone for a rest.

Emilie Victim of Epilepsy in 20th Year

Sudden Death Shocks Family; Funeral to Be Monday at Callander

MONTREAL (AP) — An epileptic stroke caused the death of Emilie Dionne, one of the famed Callander quintuplets, Dr. Rosario Fontaine announced following an autopsy today.

Dr. Fontaine, Quebec's leading medico-legal expert, said the girl, who died after three strokes yesterday in Ste. Agathe, Que., had suffered from epilepsy for some time.

"The epileptic stroke was brought up by pulmonary congestion, particularly in the pituitary gland in the brain," the doctor said after a 1¾-hour autopsy.

The autopsy was described as a formality necessary because of the prominence of the 20-year-old girl, and the fact no doctor was present when she succumbed. She died at Ste. Agathe Hostel for old folks and retired Roman Catholic clergymen.

Dr. Fontaine completed the autopsy at 10:15 a. m. He immediately confirmed with Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Girourd, elder sister and brother-in-law of Emile and the other quintuplets.

"The girl suffered a stroke and has suffered from epilepsy for some time," Dr. Fontaine said. "The pituitary gland was congested and enlarged as well as the thyroid and adrenal glands.

"They were enlarged beyond normal size.

"So, you can see the cause of death was very natural."

Dr. Fontaine's announcement was the first official word that Emilie had been subject to epilepsy. The ailment never was mentioned publicly in connection with Emilie until after her death yesterday.

Emilie's death followed three attacks within 24 hours. Death came at the Ste. Agathe hostel where the girl was a postulant with the Oblate order of Mary Immaculate.

Dr. Fontaine said "it is quite normal for a girl of Emilie's age to die of this illness."

The body was moved immediately after the autopsy to a funeral home. It was to be taken later to Callander, some 300 miles away.

An inquest—convened last night for identification purposes—will be reopened at Ste. Agathe later, an official said.

The autopsy was the last strict formality following the death of the dark-haired, shy girl, who led a sheltered life although born to fame.

Her body was moved under police escort 45 miles to the Montreal Morgue.

The girl's grieving family went ahead with plans for funeral services and burial Monday near

Killed When Car Hits Tree

Pontiac Press Photo

VIEW DEATH CAR—Sheriff's deputies examine the car in which a Milford man was killed early today when he apparently went to sleep at the wheel and struck a tree on Commerce road in West Bloomfield Township. Pronounced dead at the scene was the driver Kenneth L. Larsen, 38, of 11721 Sugden Rd. His car failed to make a curve near Green Lake road and the impact hurled the car 18 feet up the side of the tree, deputies said. Larsen was alone.

Emilie's Death Parts Famed Sisters Who Grew Up as Tourist Attraction

By International News Service

The Dionne quintuplets — separated now by the death of Emilie —began life as the greatest baby show on earth and never lost their hold on the world's heart with the passing years.

It was in the little town of Callander, Ont., on May 28, 1934, that Mrs. Elzire Dionne gave birth. Two tiny girls arrived before Dr. Allan R. Dafoe, could get to the simple home.

Dafoe successfully delivered another — and another — and another.

And for the first time in recorded medical history, quintuplets were born and survived. They were so small that their mother could have slipped her wedding ring over the hand of each one.

The five tiny girls—born blue in color and weighing altogether only a little more than 10 pounds—immediately became world celebrities.

Money and incubators for Marie, Emilie, Yvonne, Anette and Cecile flooded to the small cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Oliva Dionne. The quintuplets survived to become the best-known sisters in the world.

As they grew to young womanhood, they all but stole the spotlight at times from such celebrities as the late King George and Queen Elizabeth, at war bond rallies, in New York, and, in fact, anywhere they went. But throughout the years, the dark-haired girls kept their charm and seemingly innate dislike of being curiosities.

The girls grew into poised, natural and charming young women despite the turmoil of their lives. Until they reached maturity, the five were inseparable. Emilie's sudden death came only months after they had parted to follow careers of their choice.

The headlines that brought the news of the little girls' birth to millions around the world took the quintuplets from their parents.

The province of Ontario stepped in over Elzire and Oliva's protests to make the girls wards of the British crown for 18 years. Immediately, the tiny babies, still struggling for life, were moved across the road into a quickly built hospital directed by the late Dr. Dafoe.

The girls were too valuable, too great an attraction and too famed to be left to the care of their impoverished parents. As wards of the crown, they were kept under scientific study and care—tested constantly by medical and psychiatric specialists. They saw more of nurses and officials than of their shy mother and father.

Elzire, in her quiet mother's way, was determined to take the girls back into the family, completely. She said, when waging the battle to get custody of her children:

"We'll win it. We've appealed to the Pope for spiritual aid and guidance. Mothers and fathers and friends everywhere are praying with us. God gave us the little ones and He will answer our prayers. You will see."

But the government felt it necessary to keep the famed girls under its protection. They had quickly become Canada's top tourist attraction.

They became the greatest baby show on earth. Six and seven thousand persons packed into daily and Sunday exhibitions for tourists at the Dionne farm in Callander. The little girls put Callander on the map.

In May 1939, five years after their birth, they stole the show from a king and queen. They were presented in Toronto to the late King George and Queen Elizabeth, parents of the present Queen.

Their fame had brought them and their parents fortune. The four remaining girls will split a million dollar fortune when they are 21. The sum was amassed from endorsements and a trust

Other Fatality Occurs When Car Smashes Against Tree in West Bloomfield

Two automobile accidents in Oakland County early today claimed the lives of six persons and injured a seventh. Five of the fatalities were in one car.

Dead are:

June C. Alexander, 21, of 15653 Buckingham, Southfield Township. Ernest H. Day, 22, of 196 Vermont, Troy Township. Virgina R. Engelhardt, 18, of 1942 Villa Rd., Birmingham. Donna Asher, 22, of 314 Lincoln, Clawson.

Kenneth Leon Larsen, 38, of 11721 Sudgen Rd., Milford.

Reported in fair condition at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital is Jack Reneaud, 21, of 300 Leroy, Clawson, with scalp cuts, knee injuries and a leg fracture.

According to Troy Township Patrolmen Kenneth Hirt and Gene Sackner, Day, Eskridge and the three women were fatally injured when Eskridge's auto struck a tree on Rochester road about 300 feet north of Long Lake road about 2:55 a.m. today. Reneaud was a passenger.

Larsen died when his car failed to round a curve and struck a tree on Commerce road about one-fourth mile west of Green Lake road in West Bloomfield Township.

Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies Homer Kelly and Ross Miller said Larsen was pinned in his car for 45 minutes. He apparently went to sleep at the wheel, they said.

The front of Larsen's car dipped when he evidently applied his brakes, deputies said, throwing the back of the car into the air on impact. Marks on the tree made by Larsen's auto were seen 18 feet above the tree's base.

No witness were at the scene of the other crash but officers estimated the speed of the Eskridge car at about 75 miles per hour. Township Police Chief David Gratopp said that from the position of the bodies in the car, Eskridge was apparently the driver, and probably had dozed at the wheel.

No skid marks were made except where the car struck a culvert and turned completely around before crashing into the tree, Gratopp said.

Unusual was the fact that all six passengers were still in the car when officers arrived. Normally, Gratopp said, they would be thrown out at the impact, but the six were together inside the twisted wreckage and the motor was lying in the front seat. The car could not be towed and was hauled away on a trailer.

Officers said it took about half an hour to loosen the car from the tree, set back from the road

Impact Scatters Money

Mute evidence of the force of a headlong crash was brought home to onlookers in the crash that killed Kenneth Larsen when they found paper money hanging from branches high up in the tree he rammed. The money apparently was hurled from the victim's pocket about 20 feet up in the tree.

In First Half of 1954 Oakland Building Booming With 5,717 Home Permits

Oakland County building promises to go well beyond its 1950 record year if the current trend keeps pace for the remainder of the building season.

Figures gathered by the Detroit Metropolitan Area Regional Planning Commission reveal that during the first half of 1954 building permits for 5,717 new homes were issued in Oakland County.

This represents a gain of 33.2 per cent over the same period in 1953 and a 66.2 per cent gain over the similar period in 1952.

The record for new homes in Oakland County was in 1950 with 9,614.

Oak Park continues to lead all other communities in permits having granted 1,024 for new homes during the first six months of 1954. Southfield Township is second with 575; Royal Oak Township registered 572.

Since January 1950, a total of 39,431 permits have been issued in Oakland County for new dwelling units.

The areas of largest new home buildings have been consistently located in the four southeastern townships of the county, Royal Oak, Southfield, Troy and Bloomfield—with their cities and villages contributing to this.

The 15 Oakland communities or townships with the largest number of new home permits issued during the first 6 months of 1954 were as follows with the 1952 and 1953 figures given for comparison:

Community	1954	1953	1952
Oak Park	1024	786	525
Southfield Twp.	575	526	364
Royal Oak Twp.	572	140	45

State Polio Toll Below 1952-53

For 4th Week, Cases Fall Well Under Two Previous Years

LANSING (AP) — For the fourth consecutive week, the number of cases of polio in Michigan has fallen well below the two previous years.

The State Health Department reported today there were 95 new cases of polio in the past week, compared to 158 in the same week of 1953 and 221 in 1952.

So far this year, Michigan has had 492 cases of polio compared to 575 in the same period of 1953 and 604 in 1952.

The department said 38 of the new cases occured in eight of the 10 counties which participated in the Salk polio vaccine field test last spring.

Of the 38, six were in the age group eligible to receive the vaccine, but only two actually participated and both were reported to have non-paralytic polio. One was in Kent County and the other in Oakland.

The department emphasized that it cannot now determine whether either victim had received the vaccine or a useless injection used as a control measure.

The department said there still appeared to be no polio epidemic in Michigan since the cases were scattered and in proportion to population.

Iceberg Trails in DDGA Test

Detroiter Connolly Has 4-Up Lead at Turn of Quarterfinal Match

Pontiac's Roy Iceberg, 1953 runnerup, was fighting an uphill battle at noon today in his effort to stay in the current Detroit District Golf Association's tournament at Pine Lake.

Defending titlist Bob Babbish of Detroit, playing steady golf, was 2-up on Art Olfs Jr., of Country Club of Lansing, at the end of nine holes.

Bill Nettle of Pine Lake and Ralph Ellstrom of Dearborn were even at the turn. In the last match of the quarterfinals, Dick Whiting of Red Run was 1-up on Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile at the end nine.

Illinois Legion Hits Girl Scouts

Stops Support of Youth Group; 'Un-American Influences' Cited

CHICAGO (AP) — The Illinois American Legion has severed its support of the Girl Scouts of America, charging that "un-American influences" exist in the girl oranization's literature.

Convention delegates took the formal action in a roaring voice vote last night after 90 minutes of lively debate in which opponents assailed the resolution as "silly."

The resolution charged:

1. That the Girl Scouts 1953 handbook "gives the United Nations and one world citizenship precedence over American citizenship."

2. That the writings of unnamed alleged pro-Communist authors "have been highly recommended in an official Girl Scout's magazine as authentic historic material."

"How screwy can we get?"

He contended the resolution smeared individual Girl Scouts as subversive. He said the Legion's action would bar the use of his home for troop meetings.

But supporters of the resolution asserted it was aimed at "only a few people in the movement."

The vote to blast the Girl Scouts came after Edgar C. Bundy of Wheaton, a member of the Legion's antisubversive commission, asserted a reproduction of the Bill of Rights appearing in the 1947 handbook had been deleted from the 1953 book.

Man Turns Red but Cools Off After Arrest

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — An irate barkeep ran this classified ad: "Russian waitress — none other need apply!"

William A. Searless said yesterday he "might just as well be living in Russia." He was mad, he said, because he was fined $75 for speeding and running a red light.

"I had no fair trial at all," he said.

Three women who applied for the job were turned down, even though presumably they all were born in Russia. Searless said he didn't really need a waitress, and after cooling down, agreed that if he lived in Russia he probably wouldn't have a car to speed in.

140 City Guardsmen Trek To Grayling for Training

Some 140 members of Pontiac's Co. M, 125th Infantry Battalion, and 107th Ordnance Company left early this morning for Camp Grayling to undergo two weeks of field training with other units of the Michigan National Guard.

Company M, a heavy machinegun and mortar unit commanded by Capt. A. J. Largent, left at about 4 a.m. by chartered buses. The ordnance group, under the leadership of Capt. Carl G. Yarling, left at the same time in a 10-truck convoy. Both units left from the Pontiac Armory at 57 Water St.

The Pontiac contingent, along with about 8,300 guardsmen from all over the state, arrived at the northern Michigan training site at about noon today.

Training in all phases of warfare, including simulated battle conditions, will comprise most of the $1,033,150 training program, according to State Adjutant Gen. George C. Moran.

Pleasant Weekend for Pontiac Folk

Pleasant weather is expected to continue in the Pontiac area over the weekend, according to the United States Weather Bureau.

Little temperature change, coupled with partly cloudy skies, is expected tonight and Sunday, with a predicted high of between 82 and 86 degrees. A 55-60 degree low is expected tonight.

Friday's temperatures ranged from a 59-degree low to a high of 82. After a low of 57 degrees this morning in downtown Pontiac, the mercury registered 80 at 2 p.m.

Rochester Road Tragedy One More Grim Statistic

Today's traffic tragedy on Rochester road was Oakland County's fourth automobile accident in four years that claimed five or more lives.

Unlike this tree-car smashup, all the others were head-on crashes.

Dec. 9, 1950, five dead in collision on Square Lake road south of Pontiac.

Nov. 10, 1951, six dead in crash on M24 near Bald Mountain.

March 6, 1953, five dead in smashup on Dixie Highway near M15.

These are only individual major accidents. The number of victims of single-death or other multiple-death crashes is staggering.

In the past four years, a total of 487 persons have died on Oakland County highways. The worst year was 1952 when 132 fatalities occurred.

Today will be just another statistic in a constantly growing police record book:

Aug. 7, 1954, five dead in collision on Rochester road near Long Lake road.

Birmingham Lutherans to Break Ground Sunday for New Church Building

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM—It was on Aug. 21, almost one year ago to the day, that the Rev. Paul Shippert announced, "The long-awaited church building for Ascension Lutheran, at Pierce and 14 Mile is rapidly becoming a reality."

His words will be put into action tomorrow when ground breaking ceremonies follow the 11 a.m. service. The Rev. Mr. Shippert will conduct the brief ceremonies assisted by officers of his congregation.

Estimated cost of the new church, complete with furnishings and a pipe organ, is $150,000. Seating capacity will be from 200-400, including two overflow areas.

Architects for the structure of contemporary design were Stade, Cooley & Associates of Park Ridge, Ill. Richard Thomas, silversmith and teacher of design at Cranbrook, designed the chancel.

The completed edifice will contain Sunday School rooms, office space, pastor's study and adequate room for all parish functions.

The present church, a ranch-type building just west of the new site, opened with the Rev. Mr. Shippert as pastor in September 1951.

Their annual potluck picnic will get under way at noon Monday, when members of the MOMS Club Unit Three gather at the Elizabeth Lake summer home of Mrs. Percy Burnett.

A vacation in the area will bring the Rev. Ritchard E. Lyon, pastor of the Price Hill Baptist Church in Cincinnati, Ohio, to tomorrow's 11 a.m. First Baptist Church service as guest speaker.

He will be introduced by his one-time associate and pastor of the church here, the Rev. Emil Kontz. The Rev. Mr. Kontz will conduct the worship service.

The crib room, toddler's room, nursery and kindergarten will be open, and all are in the hands of experienced and trained teachers.

Referred to the city manager at this week's City Commission meeting was a letter from the chairman of the Oakland County Board of Health, summarizing a July panel committee discussion held on the rabies problem in the South Oakland area.

Three suggestions were made as a possible solution: Uniform dog laws for all South Oakland communities, a community dog shelter for the area and rigid enforcement of all rules and regulations governing the control of rabies.

The largest contingent from this area to attend the Philip Gray Memorial Camp since its organization, 24 boys, left from YMCA this past week on the Nissokone bus. A total of 57 lads will have spent at least four weeks there when the season ends Aug. 26.

Commenting on the delay in completion of a survey of the Quarton Lake Estates Subdivision, Mrs. Howard Willett was assured by city commissioners this week that City Engineer L. R. Gare will work personally on the study, and will submit it to the City Commission on Aug. 16. An open hearing was scheduled for Aug. 23.

The survey to determine drainage and paving needs is being made because residents have asked that the city put in new streets, replacing the original streets laid by the subdivision developer years ago.

The Commission has maintained that proper drainage facilities must be provided first.

Virginia R. Engelhardt

Service for Virginia Rae Engelhardt, 18, of 1492 Villa Rd., will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., with burial in White Chapel Memorial Cemetery. She died in an auto crash today.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Engelhardt; a brother, Robert; a sister, Linda; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Engelhardt and Mr. and Mrs Edward Rogner, and a great grandmother, Mrs Amelia K. Arthur.

Warner Opening an International Cinerama Chain

Plans to establish Stanley Warner Cinerama theaters world-wide were announced this week when S. H. Fabian, President of Stanley Warner Corp. signed an agreement with Nicholas Reisino, President of Robin International Inc., to open Cinerama theaters outside the United States.

It is planned to show "This Is Cinerama" in London and Paris sometime in the fall to be followed in Rome, Tokyo and a city in Western Germany before the end of the year.

Arson Suspected in Ranch Home Fire

FRANKLIN VILLAGE — Fire "of a definite incendiary nature" razed a nearly completed $25,000 ranch home on north Cromwell, near Telegraph road, last night.

The structure was almost demolished when firemen arrived, although they came on the scene only minutes after receiving the alarm.

"The fire was of a definite incendiary nature," said Lieut. Denny Converse, of the Franklin Fire Dept.

Converse added: "It will be almost impossible to make an arson investigation since nothing was left but ashes."

Six pieces of apparatus, including four units from Bloomfield and Southfield townships, fought to prevent the blaze from spreading to another home 100 yards away.

Converse said the house was owned by Leo M. Riley, a real estate agent, who lives at 24650 N. Cromwell.

PRAYERS FOR EMILIE—Lay sisters of the order of Mary Immaculate kneel at the sheet-covered body of quintuplet Emilie Dionne in the back room of the funeral parlor in Ste. Agathe, Quebec, last night. The 20-year-old Emilie, who had been accepted as a prospective member of the Oblate order, died unexpectedly yesterday of an epileptic stroke. She had gone to the Lac Brule Hostel about two months ago.

fund set up by the Canadian government.

As they grew from tiny babies, the girls developed the personalities which have marked their short separate lives during the last year. Emilie, who died today, was called "The independent one." Marie became known as the smallest. She had been the cause of thousands of prayers in the early months of her life.

Yvonne, who was the first born of the five, became marked as their leader. Cecile was labeled by her parents as the "most unpredictable", and by her sisters as probably the first to marry. Annette developed the distinction of the only quint with dimples — one in each cheek— and later a talent for music.

Mrs. Dionne's prayers were not answered until 10 years after the quints' birth, when the children were placed completely under their parents' control. Actually, the intervening years had not been years of separation. The family was close although at first under two roofs.

In 1944 the province of Ontario passed the Dionne Quintuplet Guardianship Act, making Oliva Dionne sole guardian and business manager of the girls. The act also put father Dionne in control of the trust fund.

That public interest which made the quints famous and wealthy also twisted their lives at least to some extent. Many persons were surprised that they remained natural and to a great extent unaffected by the unending publicity.

They learned early—as a queen learns—the indulgence they owed their public. They have always been gracious and polite when asked by strangers for their autographs or a chance to say they have talked to the famed quints.

about 18 feet. Three ambulances carried the victims to St. Joseph Mercy Hospital here.

Miss Asher was the only other victim, besides Reneaud, still alive when the ambulances reached the hospital. She died at 5:30 a.m.

Mrs. Prentice Alexander, mother of the dead Alexander girl, said the group was returning from a homecoming party held in honor of a friend who had just been discharged from the Navy.

Day, on Navy leave, was scheduled to leave this morning for duty on a new ship at Norfolk, Va., and was supposed to meet a shipmate in Ohio.

The three girls were all employed at Ford Motor Co.'s Tractor and Implement Division in Birmingham.

According to Mrs. Alexander, Eskridge was driving the car when he arrived for her daughter, an only child, last night.

A 26-year-old Pontiac man is in Oakland County Jail awaiting arraignment for violation of the Michigan liquor law, Pontiac Police revealed today.

Leon Cobb, of 38 Hibbard Ct., was nabbed this week by vice squad members shortly after he admittedly sold two gallons of moonshine whiskey to a pair of Utica youths. The suspect is slated to be arrainged in Circuit Court Aug. 16. He failed to post a $500 bond set by Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

The youths, Jerry W. King, 19, and Stanley P. Getz, 26, both of 5511 Auburn Rd., pleaded guilty to illegal purchase of alcohol and were ordered to appear for sentencing Aug. 13 by Judge McCallum. Both were jailed when they failed to post $100 bonds each.

Detective Sgt. Raymond Meggitt and Detective Herbert C. Cooley said they nabbed Cobb Wednesday night near Bagley and Wesson Sts. as he left the youths' car. The officers said they questioned Cobb because he was under suspicion of bootlegging. Both Cobb and the youths admitted the transaction under questioning.

Two other teen-age youths in the car at the time were released when King and Getz told police that neither knew of the prearranged sale.

Schedule Annual MOMS Picnic for Wednesday

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP—During the August meeting of the Pontiac Lake MOMS Unit 60, held at the Elmer N. Behnke residence Wednesday, the group made plans for the annual state MOMS picnic. The event will take place Wednesday at Avon Park, Rochester.

The unit has also scheduled an ice cream social to be held at the Roderick Anderson home on Aug. 28.

HAT TRICKS—A little paste, a bit of crepe paper or newspaper and lots of imagination have kept fingers busy during the summer program at City and County School, Bloomfield Hills. Some 120 youngsters climaxed many hours spent in preparation for the annual Hat Parade, held yesterday. Each child designed and made his own creation, and each was awarded a prize. Shown modeling their finery, a la chorus line, are: Paul St. Clair and Mary Ellen Demisther, both of Birmingham, John Zeaman of Detroit, Alice Colombo of Bloomfield Hills and Dinny Rider of Detroit.

the Dionne home at Callander, Ont.

A dispute arose, meanwhile, over a surprise report that she had been stricken with polio as a child.

An elder sister, Mrs. Maurice Giraouard, who arrived to take charge of the body, said yesterday Emilie had polio 17 years ago and since then had been afflicted with fainting spells. The sister explained she was not familiar with the medical term for the attacks but believed they were epileptic. Others who knew her also said she was a victim of epilepsy.

In Callander, a parish priest who acted as spokesman for her father, Oliva Dionne, said she died from a stroke. He said she had had a "weak spell" when she was 6.

"It was never diagnosed," he added, "but polio is out."

Emilie — at birth the second smallest of the sisters — was known as the most carefree of the five when they were youngsters. The girls celebrated their 20th birthdays together last May 28.

The four survivors — Yvonne, Marie, Cecile and Anette — as well as Emilie's parents and seven other brothers and sisters were reported deeply shocked at her untimely death.

"It is a terrible blow to us all," the father said last night. "She was very dear to us."

"I had a letter from her only yesterday," he added, "and she didn't give any indication in it that she was about to be seriously ill. She hadn't been quite herself during recent months — that is one of the reasons why she went to Ste. Agathe to rest and where the air is good — but we were not prepared for anything like this."

Emilie, wearing the dark habit of the Oblate order, was seen strolling about the hostel grounds Thursday evening. That night, because she had difficulty getting to sleep, a sister slept with her in a second cot in her austere room.

Two attacks within a few hours weakened her, nurse Believeau said, and in the morning she refused her breakfast.

At 9 a.m. she appeared to be sleeping. The sister who had been at her bedside went to Mass, thinking the girl was no longer in danger.

Returning, the sisters discovered she had suffered her third stroke. They summoned Dr. Albert Joannette from Ste. Agathe. He pronounced her dead when he reached her bedside about 10:30 a.m.

Her father, in Callander, announced the death during the afternoon.

He said the body will lie in the living room of the big Dionne house before the funeral. Mourners will be permitted to pay their respects, but curiosity seekers will not be admitted.

The funeral services will be at 9:30 a.m. Monday in the Sacred Heart of Jesus Church in nearby Corbeil, with Rev. W. H. LaFrance the parish priest, officiating.

Emilie will be buried beside her four grandparents in the tiny Corbeil Cemetery.

Emilie, considered the most affectionate of the five identical quints, always was closest to Marie, the tiniest and most delicate.

When Marie left the Quebec City cloister of the Servants of the Blessed Sacrament last month after spending six months there as a postulant and two as a novice, Emilie went from Ste. Agathe to Montreal to meet her.

She became lost in the city traffic and asked directions of police. They questioned her at the station and then sent her to the Catholic archbishop's palace. She and Marie were finally reunited at the Giraouard home at Waterloo, Que., but not before both had made the newspaper front pages.

Until Marie entered the convent last November, the five girls always had lived together — first in the northern Ontario farmhouse where their birth in 1934 made medical history, then in a special nursery as the whole world watched their early progress and finally in the family's $80,000 mansion. It was built from profits from motion picture rights, endorsements of products and other promotions.

The fortune built up by the quints has been estimated at between 1 and 1¼ million dollars. Emilie's share probably will be divided among her parents and all their children, a Toronto official said.

The death of Emilie leaves the Diligenti quintuplets — two boys and three girls — of Buenos Aires, Argentina, as the only known living quintuplets. They celebrated their 11th birthday July 15.

Judge Lectures Trio for Beating

Tells Parents and Boys Pontiac to Crack Down on Hoodlumism

Three youths accused of beating up a 15-year-old boy Thursday night were strongly censured by Judge Cecil McCallum late yesterday with two of the youths' parents attending their arraignment in Pontiac Municipal Court.

Judge McCallum, who Friday pledged cooperation with Pontiac Police to put "an immediate end to hoodlumism in Pontiac before it got out of control," told the youths, "We are not so busy in Pontiac that we can't handle the situation."

Speaking from the bench to the parents, he also said,

"It seems that some parents in town know little about what their children are doing. When a boy comes home with liquor on his breath, the parents should start asking questions and correct the matter immediately.

"Perhaps the parents need to be taken care of, too. Unfortunately, the parents are missing the boat somewhere to allow children to get into such trouble," Judge McCallum said.

The other two youths, John E. Stolt, 18, of 397 S. Jessie St., and Mark J. Peck, 17, of 38 Park Pl., pleaded innocent to the charge. Peck was released on personal bond and Stolt on a $200 bond. Both were ordered to return for trial Aug. 11.

"I want you three boys to go out and tell your friends, after we're through in court, that this bully stuff doesn't go in Pontiac," Judge McCallum instructed the trio. "Detroit hoodlumism is definitely out and we'll make sure of that."

The victim, Robert Pena, 15, of 227½ N. Saginaw St., told police and the court that he was riding his bicycle when the auto, driven by Stolt, forced him to the curb in front of 55 Edison St. He testified that Leahy jumped out of the car with a beer bottle, which he set on the sidewalk, and started beating him with his fists. According to police, the other two youths joined in the scuffle.

A 15-year-old girl, also in the auto, reportedly tried to avert the incident when she yelled, "Come back, leave him alone."

The victim's yells for help attracted a reserve Pontiac policeman Herbert A. Slaght, 35, to the Edison address.

When he warned the youths, according to Slaght, Leahy threatened the policeman and said, "If you report this to the police, we'll be back to get you." The youths fled in the auto when Slaght shouted to his wife, "Bring out my .38."

Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of Pontiac detectives, who issued the get-tough policy last week after similar occurrences, said the Oakland County prosecutor's office also promised cooperation by enforcing "severest punishment."

He said Assistant Prosecutors Robert D. Long and Homer Gerue pledge "utmost cooperation."

Reflections

Thirsty, for Pleasure?

J. L. VOORHEES

To be happy is the ideal of all mankind; lustful pleasure is a part of human beings that has only one ending—defeat. Pleasure at the expense of honor, is silly; pleasure as a goal is nebulous, has no substance, has been followed to doom.

M. E. SIPLE

We see it as a dad takes his son to a ball game, a mother making jam or jelly, a cake or new dress for daughter. It is obvious when son buys little gift for mother with money he has earned, a customer being courteous to a salesperson, a contrite, sincerely honest apology, a host making his guest feel at home. Pleasure, in itself, causes misery, tears and disillusionment while giving pleasure to others returns an abundance of joy to the giver.

To be happy, give pleasure to someone else. It never fails. Works everytime. If you're thirsty for pleasure give the cup to another; it's an Open Sesame to happiness, that lasts.

Queen Selection Starts Activities

Exhibits in 5-Day Event Go on Display at 7 P. M. at Perry Street Site

Selection of a queen to reign over the 4-H Fair will highlight the opening of the five-day event Tuesday night at the fairgrounds, on Perry street near Walton boulevard.

The opening of the exhibits at 7 p.m. will officially launch the fair.

To qualify for the royal role, queen contestants must be between 15 and 21, be active in 4-H Club and have one summer project at the fair. In addition, she must wear a cotton dress.

A show by May Hawks and entertainers from a Detroit radio station will round out the evening's activities.

Early Wednesday morning the judging of home economics, dairy classes and general exhibits will get activities under way.

An archery contest and dairy showmanship are then scheduled preceding a baseball game between the Lucky Leaf an Nu-Ly Wix nines.

The parade of clubs will be followed by the Milford High School Band, and, later on, a pig scramble. The Jackie Ray Voorheis Dancing School will close the day with a stage show.

The judging of hogs, sheep and beef will kick-off Thursday's list of events. Beef showmanship will be the early afternoon feature.

A baseball game between Lake Orion vs. Rolling Acres is also on the agenda.

The Holly High School Band and the dress review will be seen next, with the contest night for both children and adults to follow. Gallagher's Music School students will round out Thursday's activities.

Friday's opener will be a 4-H tour of Nye Dairy. During the early afternoon the tractor field day will take place, after which the machinery parade will be seen.

A 4-H amateur program, a riding demonstration and an old-time music and square dancing event are the day's concluding items.

The last day of the festivities—Saturday—will begin with horse judging followed by an all-day horse show. Dismissal of exhibits will herald the close of the annual fair.

Officials for the fair are John K. Bray, fair manager, Rella Bowers in charge of general exhibits, and Mrs. Stanley Kipp taking care of clothing.

In charge of livestock will be Thurman Bowers, with Mrs. Dudley handling horses, and Leon Storm sheep and swine.

The dairy and beef department will be supervised by James L. Reid; poultry and rabbits by James Lyke; and home economics by Mrs. David Bennett.

In charge of registration is Mrs. Thurman Bowers, and handling machinery is Robert McCrory.

Mrs. Russell Pickering is taking care of the dress revue and the tractor field program is under the supervision of Stuart Braid.

Clabelle Brooks, Leroy Penoyer Wed in Lapeer

ALMONT — Clabelle Mae Brooks became the bride of Leroy Penoyer Saturday in a double ring ceremony performed in Lapeer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Brooks of Almont, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Roy Penoyer of Davison.

Clabelle chose a street-length gown of navy blue net over taffeta for her marriage. White accessories and a red rose corsage completed her ensemble.

Serving as matron of honor was the bride's sister-in-law, Mrs. Frederick Brooks, and performing the duties of best man was her brother, Frederick Brooks.

Four Hold Up Attendant at Gas Station, Get $65

FERNDALE—Three men and a woman held up a service station at 900 W. 8 Mile Rd. early today and escaped with $65 and a revolver, police reported.

The lone attendant, Gerald Wayne of Detroit was told to remain in a small room used for storing lubricating materials while the four fled.

Wayne told police that two of the bandits accompanied him into the station on the pretext of paying for gasoline just purchased when one of them thrust "something" in his back and told him it was a holdup.

The gun and money were taken from the cash drawer.

My recipe for CRANBERRY AND APPLE PIE...
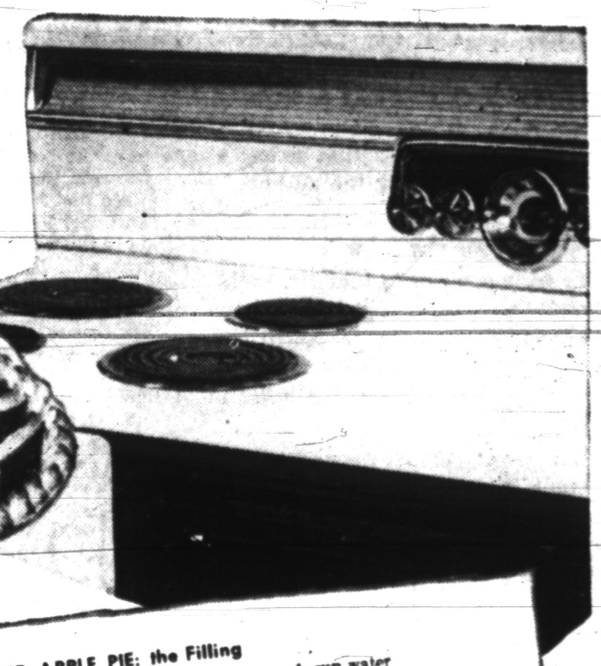
ELECTRIC RANGE



Talented Lucy Corbett combines a successful career with good cooking and leisurely living. Coauthor (with husband Sid) of cookbooks and cookery columns, she's also a newspaper reporter. Rushed as Lucy is by her many activities, as a cook she's relaxed. Dinner guests can depend on a scrumptious pie like this because Lucy depends on a modern electric range. It's so fast and accurate she has time to relax and still be a popular hostess.

BE MODERN—
COOK ELECTRICALLY

CRANBERRY AND APPLE PIE: the Filling

3 cups raw cranberries
3 cups diced cooking apples
1 cup water
2 cups sugar

FRENCH WHIP PASTRY: the Crust

¼ cup shortening
3 tbsps. boiling water
1 tbsp. milk
1 tbsp. lemon juice
2 unbeaten egg yolks
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
1 tsp. salt

Place shortening in a bowl, add boiling water, milk and lemon juice. Mix with fork till liquid is absorbed and mixture will stand in soft peaks. Add egg yolks and beat till blended. Sift flour, sugar, salt into mixture, stir till all dough clings together. Roll out 2/3 dough, line 9" pie plate with pastry. Put in filling. Roll out remaining pastry for lattice work top. Bake in preheated oven 425°—10 minutes, reduce heat to 350°—20 to 30 minutes.

Mine Report Denied

It is good news for the public and miners alike that the Interior Department will not urge return of mine safety enforcement to the States.

In denying the report which met immediate strong adverse reaction, Undersecretary Tudor explained how the misunderstanding occurred. The erroneous dispatch was the result of a long range recommendation by a survey team. The proposal doesn't have the approval of Secretary McKay.

Two years ago Congress, moved by a long series of mine disasters, attributable to inadequate safety enforcement, enacted a Federal code with teeth in it. Among the tragedies which helped advocates win their long fight were those at Centralia and West Frankfort.

The Federal code which this newspaper supported, empowers Federal inspectors to close mines in which safety measures were below standard. Since its adoption there has been a noteworthy improvement in enforcement in several of the mine States.

Unfortunately, however, in some other States politics continues to infest mine inspection staffs. Another weakness is lack of uniformity in State codes. Until these weaknesses are eliminated in all States there can be no strong case for return of enforcement to the individual commonwealths.

Army Man Named to TVA

Because TVA has been the subject of so much controversy, additional interest attaches to President Eisenhower's nomination of Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel to be its new chairman.

There no doubt will be criticism of the nomination on the ground that Army Engineers are traditional foes of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Staunch advocates of TVA also may question the appointment despite the President's assurance that he has no desire to destroy the authority.

The facts seem to be that Mr. Eisenhower's choice to succeed former chairman Gordon Clapp is an excellent one. Gen. Vogel has a fine technical record and already has affirmed his belief in TVA.

That record includes the post of chief assistant in the Panama Canal Zone, World War II service in the South Pacific and supervision of construction in various parts of the mainland.

While chairman of the Arkansas-White-Red River Basins Inter-Agency Committee Gen. Vogel had general oversight of a soil and water plan covering one-eleventh of the U. S. A.

As sent to the Senate, the nomination is for membership on the TVA board. If confirmed there, Gen. Vogel later will be designated chairman.

Saving Niagara's Beauty

The spectacular plunge of a 185,000 ton chunk of Prospect Point into the Niagara Gorge calls attention to the fact that work is under way to save the beauty of the magnificent cataract.

Actually, rock falls at Niagara are an old story. They occur because the formation over which the rushing Great Lakes waters fall is soft shale covered with hard dolomite. The water eats away at the shale and eventually the dolomite collapses of its own weight.

Of course, it would take thousands of years for the torrent to wear away the 16 miles of rock between the Falls and Lake Erie. To slow that process as much as possible and preserve the beauty of this natural wonder, the United States and Canada are co-operating in some remedial engineering work.

Under the terms of a 1950 treaty the two countries will spend $17,500,000 on this work. Gates extending into the river from the Canadian shore will be raised or lowered to increase or decrease the flow and distribute it more evenly. There will be crest-fills to correct the results of earlier rock falls.

These remedies were proposed after several years study by a joint international board which reported in 1930. Senate action on the report, however, was delayed by the fear of members that the operations would permit power companies to make too much profit.

Thanks to that report, however, the probability is that within four years Niagara will be more beautiful than ever and huge rock falls far less frequent.

Nature still has man bested. An earthquake or a hurricane is many times more powerful than an atomic bomb, and no airplane has yet been able to knock a mountain out of its way.

"A Canadian woman is suing for divorce because her husband hasn't said anything to her for six months."—Press report. Maybe he got tired of taking it back.

Dems Ask 'Who' as GOP Sings 'Don't Rock Boat'

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP) — Both the Republicans and the Democrats seem to have new theme songs for their approaching nominating conventions.

The Democrats are singing "Who?"

Republicans, preparing to meet Aug. 21 in Grand Rapids for their "fall" convention, are being besieged with suggestions to renominate their entire state ticket and thus avoid an intra-party fuss.

Democrats, meeting next weekend at Grand Rapids, seem to be in a complete fog about who their nominees will be.

The problem in the Republican ranks is what to do with Secretary of State Owen J. Cleary and State Treasurer D. Hale Brake, both of whom were defeated in the primaries attempting to win the governorship nomination.

Both Brake and Cleary have let it be known they would accept renomination to their present posts. Brake said he was "available" but would make no fight for the nomination. Cleary said "it is a matter for the convention to decide; if nominated, I shall be happy to accept."

However, there are some problems to be hurdled first for both, especially for Cleary.

The Upper Peninsula wants a spot on the ticket badly. Will the convention want to risk a fight with Brake or Cleary partisans in order to make a hole for a northern county man?

Sen. George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale) let it be known he wants the secretary of state nomination. Will he make a fight for it and tip over a smooth arrangement?

Aud. Gen. John B. Martin apparently would like to switch to secretary of state because it provides more political leg room.

But he probably will not make an issue of it unless others break the convention wide open.

No one knows yet what Donald S. Leonard, the new Republican nominee for governor, wants. He has been silent on the subject, but has shown a willingness so far to avoid stirring up a scrap inside the party.

So the question facing the Republicans is whether to present a united front and avoid a convention scrap or try to bring in some new faces which might have political appeal come November.

The Democrats' problem is just the opposite. They have no one in line for any of the convention nominations.

Party leaders have solicited from county committees a list of possible candidates. They now have 15 on the list but no one seems to have made any attempt to assign any of them to the different candidate spots.

Administration people are talking about former Supreme Court Justice Clark J. Adams of Pontiac for attorney general. They are suggesting that maybe former Rep. Gerald L. Murphy of Detroit would fit in nicely some place since he lost his bid for the State Senate.

James P. Dunnigan of West Branch is reported willing to go for secretary of state. Some think the party's big Polish bloc would appreciate having Joseph Wisniewski of Hamtramck, former U.S. marshal, on the ticket some place.

But with only a week to go, the Democrats seemingly have come to no conclusions, even tentative ones.

Mother of Nine Children Gives Advice on Successful Training of Youngsters

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I hesitate to write this because a vast number of parents of today have their own theories on child rearing. However, my husband and I have successfully reared a family of nine children and I believe I can give some advice on the subject.

Fifty per cent of juvenile delinquency is the fault of the parents, no matter how bitter the pill is to swallow. The lucky parents of today are the ones who have very small children for there the training begins.

Here are a few suggestions: 1. Mothers, don't work away from home unless absolutely essential. 2. Train your child from the baby stage to respect the home and other folks property and rights. 3. Train them to be honest and not to tell 'little white lies.' 4. Mother and Dad, don't argue in front of your children. Have family conferences during which each member expresses his views no matter how childish they are.

I could list many more but to us the most important is Sunday school or church. A child taught faith in God very seldom strays too far. I've spent many a sleepless night, but not worrying about our family but because there was a pair of pants to press or some other chore to do because I had spent my time with the young folks during the day.

Case Records of a Psychologist

Create Interest in Sunday School Class by Asking Students to Help Conduct It

Leonard wants some practical phychology for handling a Sunday school class of 12-year-old boys. So save this Case Record for your scrapbook or pass it along to other teachers who wih to zoom attendance and get better attention to Bible lesson. Here is a surefire technique.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case L-378: Leonard W., aged 27, has recently taken over a Sunday school class of 12-year-old boys.

"I'm new at this job of teaching," he modestly began, "so I wish you could give me some psychological pointers.

"The boys are such bundles of energy that I have trouble holding their attention.

"Dr. Crane, how can I keep their minds on the lesson and also stimulate greater attendance on the Sabbath morning?"

Use more "audience participation". By that, we psychologists mean you should get more of the students to help you conduct the class meeting.

For whenever you enlist help in a program, that boy becomes a junior partner for the service. So he naturally thinks the lesson is then more interesting.

"For I helped," is his subconscious attitude.

Whenever you clergymen deftly name a parishioner in your sermon and pay him a deserved complement, you likewise link him to yourself as a junior partner. So he also thinks your sermon that morning is better than usual!

For it is an axiom of Applied Psychology that nobody ever depreciates his own partnership or the firm or the bank in which his money is invested.

So Leonard should ask some of his boys to volunteer for helping concoct a true-false and "multiple choice" typewritten quiz over the lesson.

"Goliath was slain by Moses-David-Jonah-Boaz" is an example of the 4-answer quiz. Kids enjoy this type for it gives them a chance to guess.

Or you can develop a series of true false statements, such as:

T F (1) The girl who won a national Hebrew beauty contest to become King David's private nurse, was Abishag.

Earlier this week I told you that contests produce more enthusiasm if you let members team-up and thus pool their knowledge.

So divide your class into two competing teams, for children relish rivalry.

Let two alert boys on each team compile a quiz for the opposing team. They can prepare these items on an old typewriter that you can undoubtedly find in some of the homes.

Each team should thus be entitled to administer a 10-item or even a 25-item true-false and 4-answer quiz to the rival team.

Leonard can act as referee and umpire. At the end of the month, the winning team should receive some official recognition, such as free food at a weiner roast.

Meanwhile, Leonard will find attendance increasing if he also offers some minor prize to the losers each week and a bigger prize to the winner.

Candy bars and chewing gum are convenient awards and not too costly.

It is also helpful to challenge some other class in the same Sunday school to a monthly contest.

Make the scoring quick and simple. Give 10 points for each new person in attendance. Avoid complicated points for cash collection, etc.

Then have the "pay off" for the winners after four Sundays, but don't lose the momentum by then ceasing your competition.

Instead, vary the nature of the contest but keep your rivalry going steadily.

Church contests are like department store advertising. You must keep up both of them 52 weeks in the year to bring customers to your class or counters.

Send for my bulletin "How to Pep Up Sunday School," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime. It offers more strategy.

Days of All Faiths

Vivid Legends Are Told Regarding St. Lawrence

Dr. HOWARD V. HARPER

There is not much recorded history about St. Lawrence, for whom the great North American river was named, but there is certainly plenty of legend. He was born in Aragon (Spain); he served Pope Sixtus II as a deacon; and he was martyred in the Third Century—and that is about as far as the facts go.

Legend says that he was the Pope's treasurer, and that when the Sixtus was led off to be killed Lawrence begged to be taken along. Sixtus assured him that he should follow within three days but instructed him that in the meantime he should give all the treasure to the poor.

It was by carrying out this instruction that Lawrence brought on his own martyrdom. The authorities were so angered at this irretrievable distribution of the Church's wealth that they put Lawrence on a gridiron and roasted him to death.

Another story, which brought him the name of "the courteous Spaniard," tells that 200 years after his death his tomb was opened to receive the bones of St. Stephen, the first of all Christian martyrs. When the time came to deposit Stephen's relics, the skeleton of St. Lawrence politely moved to the left, giving the place of honor on the right to the distinguished newcomer.

The gridiron on which St. Lawrence met his death is preserved in the Church of San Lorenzo in Rome.

At Northwestern University in Evanston, Illinois, the week end of August 14, 1500 leading clergymen and laymen from 48 countries will be coming together for the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches. Protestants, Anglicans, and Eastern Orthodox will represent 161 communions and denominations with 170 million members — a vast majority of all non-Roman Christendom. This is the first such gathering to be held in the United States. World Council headquarters are in Switzerland.

Following the general theme "Christ, the hope of the world," this international conference will attempt to develop "a conversation among the churches." Without infringing upon the character or the organizational independence of any of the participating groups, the Assembly will enable the various bodies to exchange ideas and insights, and to come closer to a common, unifying point of view.

Delegates plan to talk about the nature of the church, about the relation of the church of the modern world, and about the place of the layman in the church.

Because the Assembly is the governing body of the World Council, it will also deal with such official matters as the election of Council officers, the adoption of a budget, and the establishment of policies.

The most dramatic feature of the week end's opening exercises will be the "Festival of Faith" in Soldier's Field, Chicago, in which more than 1000 people in ecclesiastical regalia or picturesque native costumes, will march in the procession.

To many people the term "cathedral" means any large or important or particularly magnificient church. Such people are misinformed.

To know what a cathedral is, one must first know what a "cathedra" is. A cathedra is a bishop's throne. A cathedral is the church in which the cathedra is kept.

The geographical area over which a bishop presides is called a "diocese," and according to ancient custom one church in the diocese is the bishop's own church, where he maintains his throne and his general headquarters. This church is the cathedral of that diocese.

A cathedral properly does not have any members, as a parish church to serve as his cathedral, but a real cathedral, such as those one sees in Europe, is never a parish church.

Baering Down

(International News Service)

Seems to be only two schools of military channels at Fort Dix. They pay no attention or they stand at attention.

The hard hats at the camp courted a top-kick for making his recruits stack at schnozzolas-front for an hour in the broiling sun.

Posing for animal crackers on the parade grounds is standard equipment in the Army. An old Canal Zone Sarge told me he had stood at attention longer than I had been in the service.

I knew the mug had stolen his stripes off a zebra's tail. But anybody who talks back to a super-Corporal is escorting a Fiji to a fire dance.

In 1918 I was donated a drumhead for saluting an officer with both hands in my pockets.

The eight Jiggadier-Brindles on the Board of Breveted Dignity were trying to break up the camp habit of saluting with the thumb on the right diagonal.

Standing at attention is not cruel or unusual punishment. The code of curdled seniority says it is respect for the back of the kernel's neck.

This vertical bivouacking on flat feet is a stationary deployment on disputed territory. I was one soldier who could get out of step standing still.

There is no law north of the border that can prevent a top-kick from dishing out home-cooked discipline. If you want to settle it man-to-man he is always willing to give you the benefit of his superior animosity.

I was a file-closer in the shovel chauffeurs of old Camp Zach. Just this summer my old battery commander Lieutenant Brennan called on me. We hadn't seen each other in thirty-six years. Yet in thirty-six minutes he had me standing at roe.

One advantage of being in the Artillery, was the top-kick couldn't blame you for what your hoss did.

Landlady: "That's what you told me last month."

Tenant: "See, I keep my word—you can trust me."

"Hey, you! Pull over!" shouted the traffic officer. The lady driver complied, and next day the judge fined her $25. She went home in great anxiety lest her husband, who always examined her check book, should learn of the incident. Then inspiration struck, and she marked the check stub, "One pullover, $25."

Cane and Beet Sugar Just the Same; It's Sucrose No Matter Where Obtained

By WILLIAM BRADY M. D.

Sugar is Sugar

Please state what difference there is between beet sugar and cane sugar. (Mrs. T. A.)

Answer— None. It is just sucrose, no matter obtained from cane or beet.

Milk

Taking treatment for peptic ulcer. Some one told me to take yogurt for it. Do you think it would be advisable? (H. H.)

Answer — Your physician's advice would be best, but in general yogurt is as good as any other milk or milk product for a healthy person or for one with peptic ulcer.

Gallstones

Please tell me what to do not to get gallstones. (Mrs. H. P.)

Answer — Among other things, (1) roll 6 somersaults first thing every morning, (2) practice belly breathing last thing at night and on waking every morning, (3) restore the staff of life (plain wheat) to your everyday diet in place of refined white flour and refined white sugar.

Who Cares?

How can any one tell if they have high or low blood pressure? (Mrs. W. B. R.)

Answer — Why should any one care? Leave blood pressure to your physician

Diabetics

Can diabetics take the Iodin ration? (W. V. H.)

Answer — Not only can but should. Everybody needs a daily ration of iodin and few get it in food or water. Send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for in the pamphlet, The Iodin Ration

Weight

Taking the 3 vitamin-3 mineral tablets for six months—have gained 21 pounds. As I am a 6-footer and weighed only 150 pounds, you see why I am so grateful . . . (J. M.)

Answer — Fine. For How to Gain Weight or for Young Folks and Old Folks send stamped, self-addressed envelope. Inclose 10 cents additional if you want both.

Essential

I am 75 and almost bald. Have high blood pressure. I am distressed about my hair. Tell me, Doctor, is it safe for me to take the Iodin ration. (Mrs.——)

Answer — It is not only safe but essential — but be sure about what you take. Follow the instructions in the pamphlet The Iodin Ration which I am sending by mail. Others who want the pamphlet send stamped, self-addressed envelope and ask for it in writing — do not send a clipping.

No Breakfast?

Our parents think it is unhealthful for my sister (13) and me (14) to go to school mornings without breakfast. (G. K.)

Answer — It is. Why do you trifle with health like that? I hope not with the idea of going Hollywood.

Bathing

Does bathing in salt water (ocean water) bring relief to people with arthritis or rheumatism? (Mrs. W. M.)

Answer — Going swimming anywhere — in ocean, lake, pond, creek, river, pool, is beneficial to one with rheumatiz.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. Brady if a stamped, self addressed envelope is enclosed, etc.

SCUTL Kills Crabgrass

DUST-A-WAY is a new type crabgrass killer based on (PC) Potassium Cyanate, the non-poisonous, safest, most efficient chemical yet discovered for killing crabgrass and chickweed. DUST-A-WAY, in addition to containing the most potent chemical for crabgrass (Potassium Cyanate), also contains soil sweetener and turf invigorator. Thus DUST-A-WAY gives 3-way action—kills crabgrass, sweetens the soil, stimulates plant growth — making lawns and turf grow greener, healthier and crabgrass free.

Food Efficiency Termed Vital

Production Must Equal Pressure of Population or Turmoil Will Result

NEW YORK (INS)—A nutrition authority warns that unless our efficiency in food production keeps pace with the pressures of population both here and abroad, increased social and political turmoil will result.

The warning comes from Charles G. King, professor of chemistry at Columbia University, who says it will come about despite the fact that America's food supply never has been so abundant or reliable as it is today.

"We cannot escape the conclusion," he emphasized, "that adequate nourishment of the human body is basic to all our goals for human achievement."

Prof. King, who also is director of the Nutrition Foundation, was the first to identify Vitamin C chemically in 1932. His remarks were contained in a special lecture given in honor of Columbia's Bicentennial which is being observed throughout 1954.

"If we are to continue to improve food production and processing," he continued, "and thereby make advances in the use of food for protection of public health, basic research must be speeded up and more scientists trained for the work?."

"Failure to meet this basic requirement of society in a far-sighted manner in any land, Professor King concluded, "imposes a corresponding risk of failure in man's efforts to build a world in which peace, health and justice can long endure.

The science of nutrition in specific human terms, holds a substantial place in any mature outlook for building a social order where there is hope for peace and stability."

Army's Recruiting Being Streamlined

An increased emphasis is being put on recruiting by the Army, with a resultant upswing in enlistees, the U. S. Army announced recently.

Responsible for this is the application of "more progressive thinking to the recruiting problem" than these officials have seen in months.

The Army has raised the criteria for recruiting personnel, both officer and enlisted. These men are being given better and more modern training, more sales aids, and are being backed up by better publicity using harder hitting advertising techniques, officials said.

The Recruiting Service is also getting better command support. Permission has been granted the Recruiting Sevice within the last six months to enlist men for any one of the arms, branches or services of the Army. This applies also to those who re-enlist within 90 days of discharge.

"TUNNEL OF HEALTH"—An arthritis victim makes her way up the steps of an old store in Lone Rock, Wis., which houses a "uranium tunnel." A few thousand pounds of low-grade uranium hardly stronger than the radium dial of a watch, is said by the owner of the store to hold hopes for the injured and ill, some 200 of whom visit the "tunnel" daily, paying $1 an hour. Civil action against its operator has been requested by state medical examiners.

CHAPTER 34

The Court Martial: Queeg Versus Greenwald.

The defense counsel introduced as evidence photostatic copies of Maryk's fitness reports, and then called Queeg. The ex-captain of the Caine, taking the stand, was as debonair and assured as he had been on the first day.

Greenwald lost no time in getting to the attack. "Commander, on the morning of December 19, did you have an interview in your room with Lt. Maryk?"

"Let's see. That's the day after the typhoon. Yes, I did."

"What was the substance of that interview?"

"Well, as I say, I felt sorry for him. I tried as hard as I could to show him what a mistake he had made. I recommended that he relinquish command to me, and I offered to be as lenient as I could in reporting what had happened."

"What was his response?"

"Well, as you know, he persisted in the course that led to this court-martial."

"You say you felt sorry for him. Weren't you worried about the effect of the episode on your own career?"

"Well, after all, I knew the verdict of the doctors would turn out as it did. I can't say I was very worried."

"Did you offer not to report the incident at all?"

"Of course not. I offered to report the incident in the most extenuating way I could."

"You never offered not to report the incident?"

"How could I? It was already recorded in the logs."

"Did you offer to erase the incident from the penciled logs and make no report at all?"

"I did not. Erasures aren't permitted in penciled logs."

"Lt. Maryk has testified under oath, Commander, that you made such an offer. Not only that, but you begged and pleaded and even wept to get him to agree to erase those few pencil lines, in return for which you promised to hush up the incident completely and make no report."

"That isn't true." Queeg spoke calmy and pleasantly.

"There isn't any truth in it at all?"

"Well, it's a distortion of what I told you. My version is the exact truth."

"You are accusing Mr. Maryk of perjury?"

"I'm not accusing him. He's accused of enough as it stands. You're likely to hear a lot of strange things from Mr. Maryk about me, that's all.

"It's his word against yours, then, in this matter?"

"Unfortunately there wasn't anyone else in my cabin at the time."

"Commander, did you recommend to the commodore at Ulithi that Maryk be allowed to take the Caine to Lingayen Gulf?"

"I thought that would come up. I did, yes."

"Despite the fact that, according to your story, you had seen him make a panicky mistake in a tight situation—a mistake of the most disastrous kind?"

"Well, I wasn't recommending him for command. The commodore put it to me that the Navy desperately needed minesweepers.

"He asked me to put aside personal considerations. I did put aside personal considerations. Maryk vindicated the training I had given him."

"Commander, the Caine took a Kamikaze hit at Lingayen, and yet Maryk brought the ship back safely. Was that likely in a man given to panicky mistakes?"

"Well, I understand it was a glancing hit, practically a miss. Anyway, for all I know, Keefer took charge in the pinch. Keefer is an outstanding officer, best on the ship. I relied more on him than on Maryk."

"Commander Queeg, during the period when the Caine was towing targets at Pearl Harbor did you ever steam over your own towline and cut it?"

"Objection!" Challee was on his feet again. Blakely gave him a frankly irritated look and ordered the court cleared, motioning to the two lawyers to remain behind.

There was a fifteen-minute wait. Blakely and the other court members looked grim when the parties returned.

"The objection is overruled. The witness will answer the question." Challee appeared stunned, sitting down slowly. The stenographer read the question about the towline from the record.

Queeg answered promptly, "Well, here's the story on that particular slander. I saw some AA bursts close aboard to starboard. I was gravely concerned that my ship might be within range of somebody's firing. We were in a gunnery area.

"I was watching the bursts. This same sailor Stilwell, a very dreamy and unreliable man, was at the helm. He failed to warn me that we were coming around the full 360 degrees. I saw what was happening, finally, and instantly reversed course, and I avolded passing over the towline, to my best knowledge. However,the line parted during the turn.

Greenwald nodded. "You were distracted, you say, by AA bursts. Did anything else distract you?"

"Not that I recall."

"Can you name any officer who will testify that he saw those AA bursts?"

"Maybe all of them did and then again maybe none of them did. It was fifteen months ago and we've been fighting a war and we've had much more on our minds than a few AA bursts off Pearl."

"Did you drop a yellow dye marker off Jacob Island on the first morning of the invasion of Kwajalein?"

"I may have. I don't recall."

"Do you recall what your first mission was during the invasion?"

"Yes. To lead a group of attack boats to the line of departure for Jacob Island."

"Did you fulfill that mission?"

"Yes."

"Why did you drop the dye marker?"

"I don't know for sure that I did drop one."

Chamber of Commerce Ordinance

BLOCKS 'Charity Swindles'

In passing its new Solicitations Ordinance, the City of Pontiac leads the nation in stopping "charity" swindles. Drives in the name of charity have defrauded the nation of over $100,000,000 annually. Pontiac citizens have unkowningly given thousands of dollars a year to unwarranted solicitations.

Recognizing the need for eliminating these abuses, your Better Business Board, a division of the Pontiac Chamber of Commerce, spent many months preparing an effective ordinance. This proposed ordinance was offered to your City Commission, which, after due study, made it law—probably the first such ordinance to be passed in any city.

Following are significant excerpts from the new ordinance:

SOLICITATIONS COVERED: Any request based "on the plea or representation that . . . money, credit, property, financial assistance or other thing of value, or any part thereof, will be used for a charitable, religious, patriotic, civic, educational or philanthropic purpose . . ." is covered by this ordinance.

PERMIT REQUIRED: No person shall solicit for any cause whatsoever . . . within the City of Pontiac, without a permit from the City Clerk upon blanks to be furnished by the City Clerk."

APPLICATIONS: "Applications for permits under this ordinance shall be filed with the City Clerk upon blanks to be furnished by the City Clerk."

SOLICITORS NOT TO BE PAID: ". . .None of the proceeds derived from the solicitations authorized by the permit will be divided in any manner with persons who actually make the solicitations."

CAMPAIGN EXPENSES: ". . . expenses incidental to the solicitation shall not exceed Thirty Per Cent (30%) of the gross proceeds, assuring the donor that at least Seventy Per Cent (70%) of the donation shall be used for the . . . activity names . . ."

PERMIT NOT ENDORSEMENT BY CITY: "No person shall represent that the granting of a permit hereunder is an endorsement by the City of Pontiac, and any such representation is hereby declared to be a misrepresentation of fact and subject to the provisions for revocation of the permit . . ."

PENALTIES: "Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, or filing, or causing to be filed, an application for a permit or certificate under this ordinance containing false or fraudulent misstatements, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) and costs, or shall be imprisoned for not more than ninety (90) days, or may be punished by both fine and imprisonment.

It cannot be emphasized too strongly that no organization affected by this solicitation ordinance may hire solicitors. No professional solicitation will be permitted. Any organization hiring solicitors and any solicitors working for hire will be subject to the penalties of the ordinance.

Those wishing further clarification of this ordinance are invited to call the Chamber of Commerce.

Confident Living

Customers at Gas Station Can Fill Souls With Faith

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

Out in the Southwest, U.S. 77 disappears like a river of silver into the sunset. As it goes by, it passes a little town in Oklahoma. Today one of the most important spots in that town is Erwin Tucker's gasoline station.

I learned about Erwin Tucker and his gas station from an article written for the magazine Guideposts, of which I am the editor.

The gas station looks like many others on any U.S. highway any place in this country of ours. But there is one thing about it that is very different. This is a filling station where you can fill not only the tank of your car with gas and its engine with oil, but you can also fill your mind, your heart and your soul with courage and faith.

DR. PEALE

Erwin Tucker came back to Oklahoma from World War II with a lot of unanswered questions about life in his mind. Always a genuine honest man, he describes himself, however, as "knowing all the answers."

He remembers himself as spiritually seeking for deeper understanding. Married and the father of children, he still could not find true peace of mind. He kept looking for something he couldn't seem to find.

The one day, listening to the radio, he heard a preacher say that a man could take God as a partner. At first when he thought about it, the idea struck him as queer, different, strange.

How could a man take Almighty God as a partner? But the idea stuck in his mind and somehow he began to live with God and feel a presence which gave him both peace and satisfaction.

Then he began to think about something else he had heard on the radio, this time from a Catholic priest, Father Peyton: "The family that prays together stays together." So he put up a small altar in his house and gathered his family about it every morning and evening to talk to God, their partner.

Word of Erwin Tucker's family altar began to get around. One day the boys at his gas station asked him if he couldn't put one up for them right there. Tucker and his assistants numbered three white men and two colored men—all Protestants—so they put up a Protestant altar in an empty room previously used to store junk.

Somehow, the customers found out about this room and began to drop in for a moment of quiet prayer. There were Jews and Catholics among them. The little town has neither a Catholic chudch or a synagogue, but Erwin Tucker went to Oklahoma City and talked to a priest and a rabbi about the symbols of devotion appropriate to those faiths.

Today there are Catholic and Jewish altars too, but all it says over the doorway to that room is "Prayer." And thousands of people traveling along route 77 have stopped at Tucker's and found the presence of God.

A department store owner was among them and he now has a prayer room in his store; an officer of a great manufacturing company was inspired to put one in his factory, and the state's safety officers found that drivers who came out of that room drove better, because a man with peace in his mind and heart has better control of himself and his automobile.

As you read this, there is probably someone in Erwin Tucker's filling station filling up with prayer, power and faith.

This layman has made his place of business a place of God and a living demonstration of the magic quality of faith.

Restaurant Tithes Help 59 Churches

By Religious News Service

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—One of this city's largest cafeteries is "tithing"—at no extra cost to its patrons—to support churches of the community as well as some in neighboring Kansas City, Kans., and several in other parts of Missouri.

Harry Roe, who took over the cafeteria last November, said he had the idea in mind since the business came under his management but he didn't get it worked out well enough to put it into operation until recently.

Thirty-six churches—14 in Kansas City, Kans., and 12 down state—benefitted from the first day's "take," he said. Since then 23 others have been added to the list of beneficiaries.

Before paying for a meal, patrons write on the back of their check the name of their own church (and, if they wish, their own names) and a percentage of the amount is set aside for the tithing fund.

The world's largest Negro religious body is the National Baptist Convention, Inc., with some 4,500,000 members.

Souls at Stake, Nixon Tells CE

U. S. Strength Hinges on 'Spiritual Dignity', Convention Warned

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The struggle in which the world is engaged today is a "struggle for the souls of men," Vice President Richard M. Nixon told the 12th World's Christian Endeavor Union convention here recently.

"And unless we realize that, we are going to lose it," he told the 1,000 delegates from 24 countries.

Nixon said the greatest weakness of Communism is that it denies the spiritual dignity of man, and the greatest strength of the free nations is that "we believe in and respect the individual's spiritual dignity."

"Since that is our strength and that is their weakness," he said, "it is essential that we understand that struggle and that we win it. And may I say in that connection that we are not going to win it simply by exposing Communism for what it is.

"That must be done. We must expose its godless character; must expose the fact that men become slaves, that nations lose their independence—all those things must be exposed. But, in addition, we must have a positive message to present to the peoples of the world."

Pastor and Daughter Attend Baptist Conclave

School Marm Earns Capital Drama Award

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C.—A school teacher here was named winner of a city-wide religious drama writing contest on the theme, "The Church Ecumenical."

Miss Verna J. Dozier, a member of the non-denominational Church of the Saviour, submitted the winning script. The contest was sponsored by the Washington Federation of Churches in connection with the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches to be held in Evanston, Ill., Aug. 15-31.

Miss Dozier's play, entitled "Gathered Together," was given its premiere in the Amphitheater of the Washington Cathedral (episcopal) grounds.

Ring Champ Wins by Saying Rosary

By Religious News Service

MELBOURNE, Australia — Patrick Ford, Australian and British Commonwealth lightweight boxing champion, attributes his success in and out of the ring to daily recitation of the Rosary.

He told the Young Christian Workers movement here that just before all his fights he and his trainer say the Rosary with the special intention of victory, if God wants it that way.

Ford, who was a member of the YCW in his home town of Orange, New South Wales, said he learned all his boxing in the movement.

"The better Catholics you are," he said, "the better will be your success in sport and in your lives generally. You should remember that your greatest possession is your Christian faith."

The Week in Religion

By Religious News Service

Churchmen from all over the world are arriving in the United States for what probably will be the most important Protestant and Eastern Orthodox gathering ever held in this country.

The meeting is the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches, an organization embracing most major Protestant denominations and a number of Eastern Orthodox bodies.

The Assembly will open Sunday, Aug. 15, at Evanston, Ill., and run through Aug. 31.

Although there will be solemn worship services and religious pageantry, including a public observance at Chicago's huge Soldier Field, plus speeches by President Eisenhower and leading churchmen, a considerable part of the Assembly sessions will be spent in study.

In preparation for this study, delegates and observers have been poring over a series of reports drawn up by Council commissions. These papers will provide the basis for discussion of the Assembly's main theme, "Christ—the Hope of the World," and several sub-topics.

The commission also stresses the need for more serious missionary efforts in the face of a resurgence of nationalism and urges the churches to work to overcome the "scandal" of divided Christianity.

The urgency concerning the need for worldwide evangelism is set forth in another report entitled "The Mission of the Church to Those Outside Her Life."

Prepared by the Evangelism Commission of the Council, the paper warns that "our opportunities of today may cease to be opportunities tomorrow."

The sense of urgency, it adds, has been mainly awakened and intensified by rapid changes in the world picture. Although the "younger churches" of the world tend to feel that the Christian era of missions is near its end, "the Church of Christ is still today, at home and abroad, 'on mission sent'," the report asserts.

The Intergroup Relations Commission reports that the churches still are badly split on the question of racial segregation. And it sees no immediate way out of the complex situation.

The racial question has caused deep and serious division within the denominations, the commission declares. In the United States, less than ½ of 1 per cent of Negro Christians customarily worship with white Christians.

Yet the commission sees hope in the fact that World Council member churches in general recognize the need to establish justice and reconciliation among the races.

But perhaps the most hopeful note that has been sounded by the study groups in advance of the Assembly sessions is in the report of the Faith and Order Commission.

The ecumenical movement, says this group, has come of age. Problems of unity and division of the church are now getting more serious attention from vaster numbers of Christians than ever before.

Citing the evidence for this which includes the actual unions of churches, the growth of councils of churches and the growing program of the World Council itself, among other things, the commission declares the many expressions of concern are calling "defenders of disunity before the judgment seat."

Street Named After Minister

Cuban Town Honors Memory of Unusual Missionary

Twenty-five years ago a stranger came to the Cuban town of Encrucijada — a stranger who although he lived there only ten years was to change the lives of large numbers of the townspeople.

He was the Rev. Ferreol Gomez, a Presbyterian minister—a man who found a unique way to bring his mission to the people. Unlike the traditional missionary he had no organization and no mission station. He did no preaching and in fact did not introduce himself as a missionary.

He rented a house on a prominent street and settled down to get acquainted with the people. Then one day some of his neighbors asked him why he had come to Ecrucijada. For an answer he took his Bible and read aloud to them the story of Christ.

Spon there were regular gatherings of people who wanted to hear more. The group grew and within a short time it was necessary to rent a building to hold them all. The next step was a church building, built largely by the manual labor of the new Christians.

A school came next—with financial aid from the Presbyterian Board bolstering contributions of the townspeople. And soon after Mr. Gomez, who had studied medicine as a young student, had a medical clinic underway with local doctors volunteering their services as needed.

But Pastor Gomez never lived to see the full benefits of his work. His life was cut tragically short in 1938 when he died suddenly shortly after his return from the International Missionary Conference at Madras, India.

Now, fourteen years later the church, the school and the clinic continue to thrive each serving many hundreds each year. And the impress of the personality of their founder is still so strong in the life of the town that its people have paid a special tribute to him.

Last week it was learned the Encrucijada City Council has renamed one of the main streets of the town—a street which he must often have walked in carrying out his work—for the young stranger with the unique mission.

FCC Recommends Notre Dame Network

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Federal Communications Commission Examiner Basil P. Cooper has recommended that the Michigana Telecasting Corporation, stock of which is wholly owned by Notre Dame University, be granted a license to operate a commercial TV station at South Bend, Ind.

If the recommendation is approved by the F. C. C., the Roman Catholic university's subsidiary would be assigned Channel 46 in the new ultra-high frequency band.

Michigana has agreed to buy out a competing applicant, the South Bend Broadcasting Corporation, which operates radio station WHOT.

Subject to F. C. C. approval, it will purchase all outstanding stock in the radio station for $140,000. Whether the university also will operate the 250-watt radio staton was not made known.

Rebuilding of Jackson, State Prison chapel was aided by royalties from a book written by a prison inmate.

4-Church Town Would Astound Atheist Fathers

By Religious News Service

LIBERAL, Mo. — This little town's founders would consider its four churches an abomination but worship is encouraged by today's residents.

Original settlers here were agnostics and atheists from all over both churches and saloons to keep the city free from "the conflict between God and Satan."

A Universal Mental Liberty Temple was erected to their philosophy and a free thought university established to perpetuate it.

Although both institutions were planned on a grandiose scale, they many years ago gave way to the advance of Christianity.

A Methodist church now occupies the old university site. Other churches here are the Baptist, Disciples of Christ and Church of God.

Former Pastor to Speak at Trinity Baptist

The Rev. William H. Donaldson, former pastor, will be guest speaker Sunday at the morning service at Trinity Baptist Church. He is now minister of Zion Baptist Church, Peoria, Ill.

Special music will be given by the Men's Chorus with Charles Lockett of Detroit, soloist.

Everyday Religion

By DON D. TULLIS

The first Latin word you learned in school was amo—I love. Everybody loves something. It is of the greatest importance what that something is, for, sooner or later, we all become like the thing we love. The center of one's affections becomes the core of one's character.

What do you love most? Walt Whitman, that much misunderstood American poet, highly respected by all who catch his spirit, gave his answer to this question in these words, "I love God, flowers and little children." What a world this would be if all men would follow in his footsteps to this high goal.

Loving God, something of His virtue flows into our lives. Loving beauty, rare bits of beauty spill over into our hearts. Loving little children, we become more childlike, lacking which we may not hope to enter the Kingdom of God.

Contrast Whitman's philosophy with that of the man who loves lesser things. The love of the good and the beautiful lifts life to the higher planes of character. Devotion to the less than good drags life down to the lower levels of thought and action.

Who loves power is devoured by it; who loves pleasure learns with Bobby Burns that "Pleasures are like poppies spread, you seize the flower, its bloom is shed." Who loves liquor more than life will lose his life in liquor; who loves her bridge game more than her bairns will one day languish in loneliness.

Who loves gold more than God becomes as adamant as his coins. Greed blinds his intellect and poisons his soul. A Scotch minister tells of such a man, who was so miserly he delayed his daughter's funeral to scrape up and lock up the burial bread, before going to the cemetery.

When this same man lay dying he whispered something the minister thought might be a plea for mercy. He put his ear close to the man's mouth but what he heard was this, "Tell them to buy the murnings (funeral necessities) in Dumfries; its a hantle (great deal) cheaper than in the village." With this he went to meet his Judge.

Knowing we become like the things we love, let us fasten our affections upon the things that are above, God, and beauty, and innocence, not the innocence of ignorance, but rather a child-like faith that somehow, "through the ages, one eternal purpose runs."

Telegu Language Study Backed by Mission Priest

By Religious News Service

ST. BONIFACIUS, Minn.—A Roman Catholic pastor here could have given some help to the president of the Ford Foundation when he spoke about a "neglected" language in a report filed recently with a Congressional committee.

The Rev. Karl J. Wohlfahrt of St. Boniface church here, who was a missionary priest in India for 14 years, speaks Telegu fluently, and corresponds with many Indians in that language today. He has several books written in Telegu and one of his most treasured possessions is a Bible written in that language on palm leaves.

A newscaster recently stated that the Ford Foundation had granted $250,000 for a study of Telegu and commented that "if the disturbed dead could turn in their graves, old Henry would be whirling tonight."

Catholic Pair Honored for Training Children

NEW YORK—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Donachie of Yonkers, N. Y., were honored here as the Roman Catholic family in the New York Archdiocese which has given most children to the religious life.

Parents of nine, of whom three sons are in the priesthood and five daughters in religious orders, they received a citation as "models of an upright, industrious and pious life" from the Very Rev. Laurence J. McGinley, president of Fordham University, during the fourth annual institute on Religious and Sacerdotal Vocations there.

Plan First Worship in Burned Church

The First Church of the Brethren Congregation will worship Sunday in their church at 46 N. Roselawn Dr., for the first time since the fire. For the past four months they have held services in Eastern Junior High School.

Preceded by Sunday School, the morning and evening services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. with special music by Patricia and Nancy Shafer of Durand.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Overbaugh of 229 Dinona Dr. will open their home Wednesday evening at 7:30 p.m. for prayer and Bible study. The Rev. LeRoy Shafer is pastor of the church.

Methodists Plan Alaska College

Drive to Raise Funds for $2 Million School Will Open Oct. 18

Plans for an intensive campaign to raise funds in Alaska for the proposed two million dollar Methodist college were outlined by the committee for an Alaska Christian college of the Methodist Board of Missions in a recent meeting in Denver, Colo.

Alaska Day, October 18, a holiday commemorating the official acquisition in 1867 of the territory from Russia by the United States, has been chosen as the opening date for the campaign which seeks to raise $500,000 in the territory.

The governor of Alaska, Hon. Frank Heintzelman, officials of the city of Anchorage and the local Chamber of Commerce will participate in the launching of the campaign in the territory.

Alaska Methodist College was chosen by the committee as the official name for the new institution of higher learning. The proposed four-year liberal arts college will be the only accredited church-related senior college in the territory. The University of Alaska at Fairbanks is a land grant college.

After-Service Coffee Still Attracts Crowds

The after-service coffee hours which gave impetus to this country's back-to-church movement when they were introduced a couple of years ago still are helping congregations to expand, according to a spot survey of churches in various states.

This growing "church-going through fellowship" movement is also proving an effective means of getting new members acquainted with older parishioners and, in the words of one pastor, "of widening family relationships in the church."

Oldest of the church "coffees" is probably that at St. John's Episcopal Church in Washington, D. C., which has been using the idea to build good will for more than 10 years. The church holds get-acquainted coffees weekly after both the 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. services.

Rhee Stresses Power of God

Faith Is Stronger Than H-Bomb, Korean Chief Tells Churchgoers

By Religious News Service

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Faith in God is a more powerful weapon than the H-bomb, President Syngman Rhee of South Korea said in a talk delivered from the pulpit of Foundry Methodist Church here.

The 79-year-old Korean leader joined the Foundry Methodist congregation nearly half a century ago during the early years of his exile from Korea, which ended with its liberation in 1945. As he spoke, the Rev. Frederick Brown Harris, chaplain of the U.S. Senate and Dr. Rhee's friend and spiritual adviser, was at his side.

"Many people say that if we try to drive the Communist force of 1,000,000 men from North Korea it will mean World War III," Dr. Rhee said. "They speak of the terrible atomic and hydrogen bombs which will destroy civilization itself in a few moments.

"Yes, it is terrible. But to them I say that we have something more poweful than the H-bomb—we have God with us leading us by the hand through crisis."

"I know God will not tell us what we are doing is wrong. He is the God not only of love but of righteousness. I know we are right."

Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif) sat in a pew with President and Mrs. Rhee during the service which also was attended by Gen. James A. Van Fleet, former 8th Army commander in Korea.

Southern Baptists Prepare TV Reel on Prodigal Son

By Religious News Service

ATLANTA, Ga.—Shooting of the first dramatic film prepared under Southern Baptist auspices for use on television has been completed in Hollywood, it was announced here by the denominaton's Radio Commission.

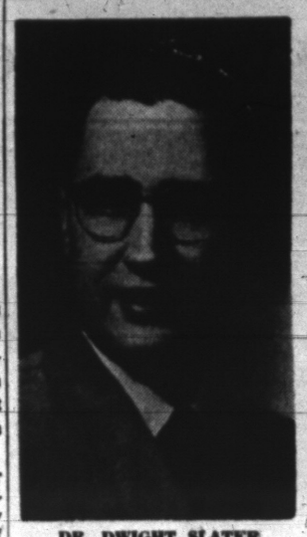
Titled "This My Son," the half-hour picture is based on the parable of the prodigal son. It was produced for the Radio Commission by Family Films Inc., and will be released to Southern Baptist Churches.

The Radio Commission annoucement said that professionals in the religious motion picture production field regard it as "the outstanding religious television film of the past three years."

Church of God Here Exceeds Fund Goal

The First Church of God here was one of 484 congregations of the denomination in America to exceed the goal of $13.00 per member for the World Service Fund of the church. The per member giving was $24.65.

The goal of $13.00 per member set by the national church organization was designed to raise more than $1,000,000 for world service for the year ending June 30. The Church of God has 2,100 congregations throughout America.



DR. DWIGHT SLATER

MRS. SLATER

Fete Congo Missionaries at Open House on Sunday

Open house will be held Sunday from 2 to 5 for Dr. and Mrs. Dwight Slater. The affair is being given by Dr. Slater's mother, Mrs. Albert Slater at her home, at 187 E. Huron St.

Dr. and Mrs. Slater with their two children Linnea and Dwight Earl, are leaving Aug. 16 for missionary service in the Belgian Congo.

They will go immediately to Brussels where they will study French and from there to Antwerp where they will take a course in tropical medicine.

Dr. Slater graduated from the Medical School at Wayne University a year ago and has been serving his internship at Harper Hospital this past year.

Mrs. Slater, the former Barbara Acre, graduated in nursing from Sparrow Hospital in Lansing in 1948. The Slaters were married that year.

Both are graduates of Michigan State College and both attended Bob Jones College in 1943.

The Slaters will be located at Palmer Memorial Hospital in the Congo. They will be working with Dr. Thomas Humphrey who built the hospital in memory of Mrs. Elmer Palmer.

Mrs. Palmer, whose husband, Dr. Palmer was pastor of Gratiot Ave. Baptist Church in Detroit and the Famington Baptist Church, and their son, were killed in an automobile accident in Illinois.

7,000 See Religious Art Despite Midwest Heat

By Religious News Service

CHICAGO — Despite a Midwest heatwave, nearly 7,000 persons thronged into the non-air-conditioned Art Institute here to see 30 famous religious paintings in the first five days of an exhibit arranged with the cooperation of the World Council of Churches.

Skylights of second-floor galleries were darkened with opaque paint to give the show a spiritual setting, an institute spokesman said. This also served to lower temperatures in the notoriously warm galleries nearly 15 degrees.

Many religious organizations have called to arrange guided lecture tours. In addition, free guided tours are offered Monday through Friday.

Archbishops Plan to Celebrate Two Evening Masses

By Religious News Service

Two evning masses have been announced, one in England and one in the United States.

Samuel Cardinal Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, has announced a nocturnal Mass in Soldier Field to celebrate the Feast of the Nativity of Mary, Wednesday, Sept. 8.

It will be the first evening mass celebrated by the cardinal, although he had previously authorized afternoon masses on certain holy days and on the first Friday of each month in Holy Name Cathedral.

The service will be a "mammoth public homage to Mary, the mother of God and queen of the apostles," according to his announcement, and will climax the archdiocesan observance of the Marian year.

Roman Catholic hotel workers in the Piccadilly Circus area in London here will be able to fulfill their obligation of Sunday mass in the evening, according to new instructions issued by Bernard Cardinal Griffin, archbishop of Westminster.

One of the most unique churches in Canada is the little white structure in Indian Point, Nova Scotia, where Anglicans, Baptists, Lutherans and United Church folk worship and their pastors hold services in turn.

Mother Needn't Rise to Say Goodbye When Daughter and Beau Go Out

And Shakes Hands in Some Cases

Merely Bids 'Goodnight'

By EMILY POST

A mother writes: "Will you please tell me about a detail of greeting and leave-taking? Should I rise from my chair to shake hands with a young man friend of my daughter?

"For example: When they both come into the room to say goodnight before leaving for a movie or a dance? If this is a man whom I have never met before, would your answer be any different?"

Answer: If he is someone who is often at your house and he merely follows your daughter as she comes into the room to say goodby before going out with him you would merely say goodnight to your daughter and "Goodnight, John" to him, without rising or offering your hand — unless he approaches your chair with his hand held out.

In this case, you would shake hands but not rise. Even if he were a stranger you would hold your hand out and shake hands with him, but not get up, You do, however, get up to welcome anyone who comes to your house.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it proper to send flowers to a young man who is making his debut soon as pianist at a concert, or is this too feminine?

My husband thinks that flowers are properly sent only to women performers and that we should send a present instead to our neighbor's son. Will you please advise me on this matter?

Answer: I agree with your husband about the impropriety of flowers for a man. Under most circumstances a telegram is sufficient. If you would like to send a present, it would be unusual but not incorrect.

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it improper for a guest at a wedding to wear white? I have a very pretty white nylon evening dress which I had intended to wear to a friend's wedding, but have been told that it would be very discourteous to the bride to do so and that she is the only one dressed in white. Will you advise me?

Answer: This is certainly not a rule of convention. You can wear whatever color you like, including white. You would not, however, wear anything on your head which suggested a veil.

Encourage Good-Grooming Habits

Give Little Girl Her Own Manicure Kit

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Since most 7-year-old girls spend their summer in playclothes, relaxing and dressing for children's games rather than for appearance's sake, the smart mother will start getting her daughter prepared for school well in advance.

You may think this will be a difficult task, and that it will take a small miracle or fantastic promises to get your little girl back into the immaculately groomed class.

If so, watch your daughter's expression the next time you make up your face, or give yourself a manicure.

Isn't it one of complete interest? And doesn't she ask if she can paint her nails, too, or apply a little bit of your cologne?

Well, there's your solution. By introducing her to a few cosmetics, made especially for small-fry ladies, your grooming job is more than half done.

For she'll take to the junior-sized manicure kit the same way she admires your own.

With her own hand lotion, colorless nail polish, polish-remover, orange stick and emery board, it'll be a nicely kept little hand that reaches for that first report card.

You certainly won't have to show her how to use the kit, either. Chances are she's watched you so many times, she's the best little amateur manicurist in your neighborhood.

Book Helps Housewife Style Hair

Good Coiffure Aids Woman Braving the Business World

By ANNE HEYWOOD

Some months ago we reviewed a book called "Perfect Fit," which would enable the homemaker to make her own clothes very professionally.

We commented, at the time, that so often a young mother with schoolage children is eager to get a part-time job but cannot afford the wardrobe it entails.

As a result, we were snowed under with letters from women who had that very problem.

And now, along comes another book which will be just as helpful. It is called "Top Secrets of Hair Styling," by Victor Vito, and will honestly help you achieve a salon appearance right at home, will give you that chic look which employers value, and which many a homemaker feels she cannot afford.

The book describes every kind of hair style, what type is best for faces of various shapes, and what effect the texture of your hair will have on any given hair style.

It shows what equipment you will need, and gives play-by-play outlines for the whole process. There is an excellent section on how to disguise defects in your appearance, and how to let your hairdo do the most for you.

The woman at home, I think needs to take particular pains with her appearance, especially when she braves the business world in an attempt to get a part-time job.

She is apt to belittle herself; to attack a prospective job with a hesitant: "I'm just a housewife," which is unjustified, and which many times defeats her.

Well - fitting clothes and a beautifully styled coiffure will do a lot to overcome this, and they are within the budget of any woman who is willing to put in a little extra effort.

If you would like to know how you may get "Top Secrets of Hair Styling" and "Perfect Fit," send me a stamped envelope, Care the Pontiac Press, and I'll give you full information.

american designer's pattern

By Chapman Design

Larger Sizes Flattered

The new Ceil Chapman look is here to stay, for her recent collections of day dresses have been absolute sellouts. This success is not surprising, for Mrs. Chapman continues to invest her superlative knowledge of beautiful body-building in all her designs.

This dress, whose body lends itself to sizes up to 20 (the V-neck is part of this) but is equally good for size 12s, was one of the biggest sellers in a recent collection.

The envelope-fold pockets on bodice and skirt do a marvelous and wondrous trick of minimizing the tummy while emphasizing the bosom which, from a style viewpoint, is necessary this season in all sizes.

As easy to sew as it is to wear, it was originally made in gray flannel with linen collar and cuffs. In tweed, or any of the new wools, it is the perfect way to start the fall. In faille or crepe it is an ideal casual afternoon dress.

Bust	Waist	Hips	Size
35	25	36 inches	12
36½	26½	37½ inches	14
38	28	39 inches	16
40	30	41 inches	18
42	32	43 inches	20

Size 12 requires 2⅝ yards of 54-inch material for dress and one-half yard of 39-inch material for contrast.

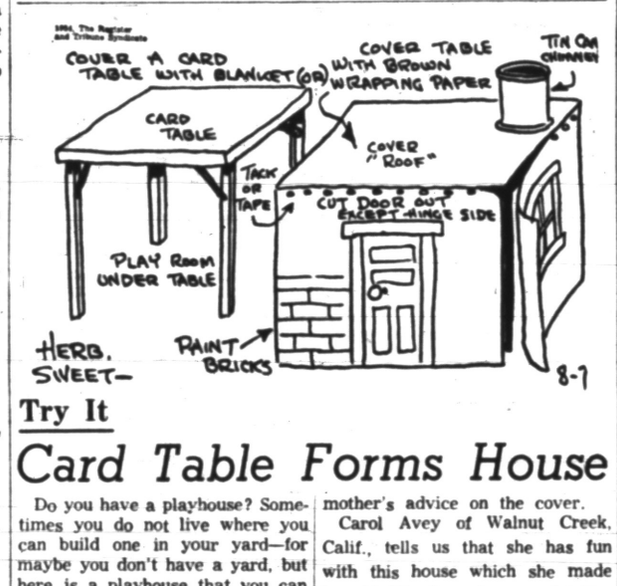
Try Sewing Napkins

If you sew, and have bits of gay colored material left over, why not use them for table napkins. Seersucker, gingham, chambray, almost any cotton or linen is very usable and adds to the gaiety of a table setting. If you want to be very up to the minute use nylon lace on the edge of the napkins. And on the edge of table cloths, too. It's the thing this season—they say.



Try It

Card Table Forms House

Do you have a playhouse? Sometimes you do not live where you can build one in your yard—for maybe you don't have a yard, but here is a playhouse that you can make for yourself. You will need mother's advice on the cover.

Carol Avey of Walnut Creek, Calif., tells us that she has fun with this house which she made herself. The base is a card table, and the only hard part is the covering. This can be used in the house, on the porch, or in the yard on nice days.

Ask mother for an old sheet or blanket. Now, cover the top of the table with brown wrapping paper or even an old blanket. Cut the old sheet so that it just reaches from the table top to the floor. Tack or tape this on, or use brown paper fo this, too.

The paper is nice, for then you can paint on bricks, windows and doors with black show card colors. Set a tin can on top for a chimney, and you may move in!

If you only cut on three sides of the door, the fourth side will make a hinge and the door will open and close. Perhaps you can find some wooden boxes for furniture.

IF buying lingerie—

Select the type that best reflects your most natural instincts; jog your complacency with sophistication instead of little-girl type.

Miss B. L. — Your practical, conservative side seems to war with your dramatic and romantic impulses, but you can blend these into a harmonious you with daring lingerie. Later you can carry it into more daring costumes.

Gives Body to Hair

If your hair is fine, set it in large, thick pin curls for thickness and spring. When wound tightly, fine hair tends to look fuzzy.

Test Tube Fibers Need Little Washing

As a general rule, the newer fabrics—such as nylon, Dacron, Orlon, Dynel, Acrilan—don't require long immersion or action to come clean in soapsuds.

The reason is that soil doesn't penetrate these "test tube" fibers and is easily washed off the surface.

It's usually pretty easy to find out who a person is trying to be impartial against.

First Exposure to Sun Governs Skin Condition

The way you prepare your skin for its first exposure to the burning rays of the sun will determine its condition for the rest of the summer.

Too many girls on a first day at the beach subject winter-white skins to an overdose of sun, and the result is usually an unattractive and painful burn.

First of all, you should not venture into the sun without covering your body with suntan oil. Modern suntan preparations offer full protection for your skin and it is only through neglecting to use them that you can acquire a painful sunburn.

The newest of these suntan lotions is an aerosol spray. A touch of the fingertips will release a fine mist of this lotion. In seconds, it covers the skin with an invisible film. In addition, it has a lanolin-rich base that has been combined with fine face cream emollients, its makers say, to keep the skin smooth and soft.

Besides being greaseless and non-staining, it is also water repellent. This eliminates the danger of a burn after your swim, when the water has washed away your skin protection.

Using this spray, you can acquire a desert tan if you time yourself, too. After you've covered yourself with oil, lie down facing the sun for two minutes. Then, lie face down for another two minutes. Finally, lie on each side for the same length of time.

Cleans Appliances

Use a cloth soaked in turpentine to remove paint splashes from enamel-surface equipment such as gas ranges, refrigerators, washing machines, and dryers. Once the paint is off, wash away the turpentine with soapy hot water; otherwise it will dry to a sticky film.

Halo Effect Made by New Curl Set

If you wish to create a halo effect around your hairline, set the curls so that they will stand away from your head when combed out.

To do this, wind the hair in a series of rings of exactly the same size. The curl is usually wound so that the outside ring is largest, the inside, smallest.

Construct a Swing for Active Kiddies

It's easy to give the kids a swing in the backyard. Cut a board two feet long and 2 feet wide. Drill holes in each of the four corners and knot a rope beneath each corner.

Bring the four ropes up and join them to the two main supporting ropes about 2 and a half feet above the board. Attach the main supporting ropes to the limb of a tree, to a scaffold or to a porch or garage opening and the swing is complete.

MRS. DOUGLAS C. TREAIS

Marriage Vows Spoken by Mary Ann Fitzpatrick

Mary Ann Fitzpatrick became the bride of Douglas C. Treais this morning in St. Vincent de Paul Church.

The bride is the daughter of the Thomas C. Fitzpatricks of Mary Day avenue and his is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Treais of Snellbrook road.

The Rev. Maurice Veryser performed the 10 o'clock Nuptial High Mass before an altar decorated with vases of white gladioli, pompons and fugi chrysanthemums.

The deep-yoked skirt of Chantilly-type lace with flounce of nylon tulle fell into a chapel-length train. A softly fluted Juliet cap of net and lace dotted with brilliants secured her fingertip-length veil of silk illusion with hand-rolled hem.

She wore a single strand of baby pearls with matching earrings, gifts of the bridegroom. The bride carried a white mother-of-pearl prayerbook and a crystal rosary with an arrangement of daisies, roses and stephanotis with streamers.

Christine Zaffina attended the bride as maid of honor and Betty Jo Fitzpatrick, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Palmer Kroh of Detroit were other attendants.

They were gowned in dresses of copper-toned crystallized silk. Rows of delicate tucks detailed the cap sleeves as well as the bateau necklines of empire-styled bodices. The bouffant skirts belled over taffeta to ballerina length. Forehead veils accented their matching caps of fine braided straw.

Miss Zaffina carried a crescent-shaped bouquet of aqua daisies and the other attendants carried crescent-shaped bouquets of yellow daisies.

A breakfast was held at Devon Gables immediately following the ceremony for the bridal party, immediate family and grandparents.

Greeting the 300 guests at her home for the 3 o'clock reception, Mrs. Fitzpatrick wore a powder blue street-length dress of Chantilly lace with white accessories and a corsage of yellow tearoses. The bridegroom's mother chose a powder blue faille street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses.

Mrs. Cora Fitzpatrick of Gaylord, grandmother of the bride, wore a mauve suit and corsage of yellow shattered carnations. Mrs. Dora Scully, another grandmother, wore a black and white print dress and a corsage of deep pink shattered carnations.

For a wedding trip through northern Michigan and the Upper Peninsula, the new Mrs. Treais changed to a charcoal gray sheer wool dress with matching jacket, accented with bittersweet accessories. She wore a corsage of valeria glamellias.

Upon their return the newlyweds will reside in Pontiac until fall when the bridegroom will resume his studies at Michigan State Normal College. The bride attended Sienna Heights College in Adrian.

Beverly Bugg Showered With Linen Presents

Beverly Bugg announced the attendants for her Aug. 14 marriage to Harry J. Nicholson at a linen shower given in her honor Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Gordon L. Booker of North Avery road.

Hostesses for the shower assisting Mrs. Booker were Nancy Upham and Mrs. Robert Lussie.

Mrs. Booker will be the honor attendant and bridesmaids will include Miss Upham, Mary Gillow, Bonnie Green and Fran Nicholson.

Guests at the shower were Mrs. Bugg, Mrs. Ben Bundo, Mrs. Bernard Toutant, Bonnie Miller, Mrs. Jack Selberg, Mrs. Lynn Wyckoff, Mrs. Gerald Dewees, Phyllis Berry, Mrs. Gary Hetherington, Betty Clark and Mrs. Lloyd Mayo.

Other were Miss Gillow, Marcille Shell, Joan Slygh, Kathy Shields, Shirley Taylor, Barbara Zoch and Miss Green.

Hands Reflect Personal Habits

Perhaps more than anything else, your hands are a reflection of your self - respect. Beautiful, smooth hands indicate giving of your own precious time to care for them. Sloppy, rough hands are a sure sign of personal carelessness.

Whether you're a housewife or a career girl, your hands do most of your work for you. So, why not treat them well? After all, they'll have to last you a lifetime.

Clean hands are the beginning of hand beauty. But, some women rinse their hands in soap and water and let it go at that. To thoroughly clean your hands, scrub them and your nails with a nail brush in warm, but not hot, soapy water. Then, dry them well, pushing back the cuticle of your nails with your towel as you do so.

If you're self-conscious about the shape of your hands, or if they feel stiff and awkward, hand exercise will help them. First, raise your right hand up as far as possible. Shake it and your arm for about 20 seconds. Then, do the same with your left hand. Repeat this exercise six times with each hand. If you do this every day, you'll soon notice how much more relaxed your hands have become.

Be Classic Oval by Camouflage

Grab Ruler and Measure the Contour of Your Face

Foundation and powder dry—tie your hair back tight. Get a ruler. Face a mirror and a strong light. Now see your face as a block.

We're going to measure your face from outside edge to outside edge. First press ruler flat across forehead, and note down inches from outer edge of block to the other.

Working like that, measure yourself next across bridge of nose, upper lip, lower lip, and then straight up from chin to hairline, and compare with the Classic Oval's measurements:

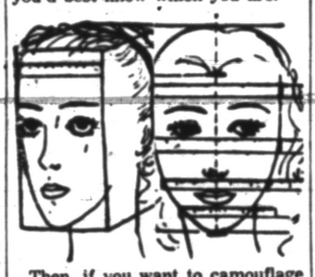
	YOURS	OVAL'S
Center of forehead width	——	5 inches
Under eyes to cheek edges	——	5½ inches
Under nose to cheek edges	——	4½ inches
Under lips to jaw edges	——	3½ inches
Overall depth, hairline to chin	——	7½ inches

Now take pencil and paper and, with your ruler, draw a vertical line, the length of chin to hairline. Draw bisecting lines at the proper places corresponding to all your cross measurements.

Now connect the outside ends of all your lines, and there's your face. Keep that guide in front of you. Mark it up for all the things you're going to learn—foundations, rouge, lipstick, eye business.

7 Faces of Beauty

So, here goes. There are seven fairly distinct types of faces, other than the you-know-what oval, and you'd best know which you are.



Then, if you want to camouflage it to look more perfectly oval, I'll show you how. But I'll just mention in passing famous faces of each type, so don't think you're alone in deviating from the norm.

The oval: Ovate, egg-shaped — cheekbones dominating contour, chin smaller than forehead. Joan Fontaine and Joan Caulfield — you think of some.

The square: Squared-off forehead and jaw lines, approximately as wide as cheekbones. I could name a lot —'Greer Garson, Bette Davis.

The oblong: High, prominent forehead, hollowed long cheeks, slightly squared jaw — and that's Marlene Dietrich, Katharine Hepburn, Loretta Young.

The heart: Short type, wide forehead and cheeks, short, narrow, pointed chin. This is Jennifer Jones to a T. The longer heart — take Ida Lupino.

The diamond: Narrow forehead, broad cheeks and jaw, short pointed chin. And that's Claudette Colbert.

The marquis: A lengthened version of the diamond—long, narrow forehead, high cheekbones, narrow jaw, long chin. Ava Gardner, for instance, or Lauren Bacall.

To Perfect Face

Last week you learned how to put on your basic foundation. Today you've found your true shape.

Now see what darker and lighter foundation shades can do to correct your contours to a more perfect oval. (Rouge and hair style will take care of finishing the illusion.)

The oval girl needs only basic foundation — colorless if her skin is flawless, otherwise colored as indicated.

Heart: If short, lighten chin with lighter foundation. If long, darken forehead and tip of chin with dark foundation.

Diamond: If short, lighten chin with lighter foundation.

Now Experiment

These are only very basic suggestions for changing the effect your contours give.

You understand the principle: Lighter foundation to emphasize—darker to minimize. Experiment, again and again. Give at least three chances to any new product you try.

And now once more I'm going to repeat: Get your foundation on properly, but be sure you get it off, too — all, all off.

Applying Powder

First, you remember that you buy powder a touch lighter than your foundation — never darker.

Next, test its resistance to oil absorption. Get a sample of powder, pile a bit on a clean surface. Drop a splatter of mineral oil or colorless liquid foundation into it.

If the powder doesn't turn much darker, but hangs onto its own tone after 10 minutes, you can have faith in its color trueness.

Powder should not absorb the oil of your foundation — just rest on it lightly. So first make sure your foundation is sheerest film — not a perceptible coating.

Flour Barrel Look

Step 1. Take up all the powder the cotton puff will hold. Too much? Shake off excess. Pat it on — P-A-T, pat. Don't rub or slide.

Pat your neck, face and brow with lots and lots of powder. Yes, lips and eyes, too, but lightly over and under eyes. Elsewhere really "flour" yourself.

Step 2. Now, inch by inch, lightly press or pat powder into skin with puff. Give a little twist each time you press or pat — it helps to get down into the tiny valleys.

You are setting your powder on the foundation, giving it a good footing. You'll look a little like your head had been in a flour barrel, but wait and see how long it will last.

Hollywood Trick

Don't brush powder out of lashes (shh — Hollywood trick — when you mascara them, they look much thicker this way). A final examination for smoothness — for clean hairline — and you are ready for lipstick and mascara.

Look up when powdering under eyes.

1. A powder for day: A warmer, darker shade because blue light cast from the sun chills the skin tone.

2. A powder for night: A lighter, cooler shade. The yellow from artificial lights of night sallows the skin tone.

Club Celebrates 3 Years of Growth

Sylvan Water Ski Club, now in its third year at Oakland County Boat Club, has planned a ski show for 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon at the club on Sylvan Lake.

Headed by Jack Gilson and Jerry Brace, the club has grown steadily since its organization, now counting those as young as 8 years old among its membership.

The club has furnished much excitement to the residents of Sylvan Lake and to boat club members with stunts built around general skills and the 7-foot adjustable jump.

Stunts will include a performance of six skiers being towed behind one boat, pyramids, slalom skiing, saucer riding, single, double and triple jumping and helicopter spins over the jump.

Baby Comparisons of Very Little Value

One of the biggest mistakes you can make is comparing your Baby to others. To be sure, all babies have things in common, just as do all adults. But there the connection ceases. So, worrying about the age Baby begins to walk or talk as compared to the child next door is needless.

Babies are individuals and it's useless to expect that they'll all perform alike. If you have genuine reason to feel alarm concerning Baby's slowness in anything, consult your doctor. He can give you a sound, expert opinion.

Speeds Washing

Speed dish washing by putting sudsy dishes into drain and pouring hot water over them. This is not only the quickest but the most sanitary method of rinsing dishes. And, since hot water evaporates rapidly, the dishes will soon be ready to go into the closet.

Chapter Celebrates Mooseheart Night

Mooseheart Chapter Night was celebrated by Women of the Moose recently in the Moose Temple on Mount Clemens street.

Mrs. Verna Mae Moore was initiated in honor of Mrs. Ferman Huston, senior regent.

Plans were announced for a breakfast to be held on Aug. 15. Ritual practice will be held Monday at the Moose Temple with all officers and committee chairmen present.

Place Baby in Low Chair With Table

As soon as Baby is able to sit up well, put him into a chair rather than holding him on your lap when he eats. A low chair and table are convenient and he'll use them into childhood.

See to it that he has a foot rest of some kind, whether box, stool or built-in. And make sure, too that the table is the right height for him to lean on while he's feeding himself.

Around-the-Clock Job Watching Baby

Protecting Baby from accidents means a constant watchfulness on your part. It's never safe to leave him alone while you're away on an errand, even if he's sleeping soundly.

And never leave him in the bathtub alone even for the length of time it takes to answer doorbell or telephone. Be sure that the screens are secure and cannot be pushed out. Keep all small articles (particularly pins) out of his reach and let him have only those toys that have no buttons or whistles.

Chill Candles First

Candles will burn evenly and will not drip if you store them in the refrigerator for 24 hours before using.

Couple Wed in Morning Ceremony

St. Michael Church was the setting this morning when Beverly Jane Haley became Mrs. Anthony M. Fisher.

She is the daughter of Mrs. Arthur Haley of East Rundell street and Mr. Haley of Ferndale avenue, Sylvan Lake. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Fisher of Waterly street.

A gown of Chantilly-type lace and net over taffeta was chosen by the bride for the 9 o'clock ceremony. A matching tiara of lace held a fingertip-length veil. She wore pearl earrings and carried a bouquet of daisies and white carnations.

Doris Balwinski of Bay City was maid of honor and Janice Schwartz was bridesmaid. They both wore waltz-length dresses of blue and white dotted Swiss with bolero jackets of the same material. They carried colonial bouquets of daisies and bachelor buttons.

After the reception held this afternoon at Rotunda Inn, the bride changed to a navy blue and white shantung dress with white and blue accessories and a corsage of white carnations for a honeymoon trip to Quebec. They will reside in Detroit.

She is a graduate of the University of Michigan where she was affiliated with Alpha Omicron Pi sorority.

New shoe laces will last longer if they are stitched up and down a few times on a sewing machine.

Becomes Mrs. Ronald Felix

Nancy V. Schulz Married

Nancy V. Schulz became Mrs. Ronald F. Felix in a 4 o'clock ceremony performed by the Rev. Milton Bank this afternoon in Central Methodist Church.

Nancy is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Schulz of Osceola drive and Ronald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack K. Felix of Riker street.

The bride chose a pink cotton satin dress trimmed in pearls for the wedding ceremony. She wore matching hat and shoes and carried a nosegay of pink roses and white carnations.

The bride's mother wore a navy dress with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. Mrs. Felix also chose a navy dress accented by white accessories and a gardenia corsage.

Mountain Is Barometer

NORTH BRIDGTON, Me. (UP)—James G. Chandbourne doesn't have to leave his house to decide whether it's too wet outside to work in his garden. Chadbourne, 67, says he has found that when the peak of Pleasant Mountain is obscured by clouds it's too damp to putter in the garden. He keeps his eye on his "barometer" 10 miles distant, through the living room window.

Great Salt, Utah, and Sevier Lakes are remnants of an ancient Ice Age inland sea, which geologists call Lake Bonneville. This sea covered what now is western Utah, eastern Nevada and southern Idaho.

Monument to Fish Dinner Cost Builder $1 Million

In the early 1930's the late Moses Annenberg, multi-millionaire publisher, passing through this area on a motor tour to Yellowstone Park, stopped for dinner in a restaurant in a nearby town. He was served trout, and found them amazingly succulent.

"Where did these come from?" he asked. He was told they came from Sand Creek, which some experts regard as one of the two best trout streams in the world (the other is in Switzerland ... or Colorado ... or wherever you caught your last trout).

The next morning Annenberg drove to the heart of this fisherman's paradise, took a long look at the beautiful salmon-colored cliffs and the clear-flowing stream, and said two words to the owner: "How much?" He bought it on the spot.

In the next few years Annenberg is reported to have spent approximately a million dollars on the ranch. The great lodge—it has 8 bedrooms and 6 baths—was built of huge logs, and filled with fine hand-carved western style furniture. He put in a 9-car garage, a huge barn in which each horse has its own automatic drinking fountain.

The draperies in the lodge are of horsehide, elaborately beaded. The giant Navajo rugs can no longer be duplicated; looms that size no longer exist.

Ranch "A" (for Annenberg) is small as ranches go out here—only 680 acres, slightly more than a square mile. But it is a fish ranch, not a beef ranch. It has some 40 elk, 200 deer, and flocks of wild turkey and ruffed grouse—but its main stock is in its flowing hatchery housing several hundred thousand delectable trout.

Is the fishing good? Sen. Bricker of Ohio once cast a fly from the front porch of the lodge and hauled in a 14-pound rainbow beauty.

Annenberg, who also maintained fishing lodges in Florida and Pennsylvania, came here less frequently in his later years and disposed of the property before his death. It is now owned by Pete Smith, 6-foot 7 son of a former Wyoming governor.

Smith estimates it would take $2,000,000 to $3,000,000 at today's prices to duplicate the lavish splendor of Ranch "A."

"Annenberg built it to last forever—and it should last forever," he said. "I've been told that each of the bronze casement windows cost $1,600."

Pete and his pretty wife, Oydis, love the quiet charm and seclusion of their canyon retreat. They can sit on the porch at evening and watch elk come cautiously out to graze on the 1,000 foot ledges that border murmuring Sand Creek.

"One of the nicest things is that no dust gets into the lodge," said Oydis, giving a housewife's view.

But tempting as it is as a place to loaf, Pete, who has been a cattleman all his life, has decided that even a showplace ought to show a profit.

"There is no reason this hatchery can't harvest 150,000 pounds of trout a year," he said, "and trout brings a dollar a pound."

One single fish dinner led to the building of Ranch "A." But a lot more trout now will have to go to market to keep it going.

Knight Brings His Bride Home to State Mansion

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Goodwin Knight brought his pretty bride home to the executive mansion yesterday and carried her across the threshold three times.

The first was for tradition, he said.

The others were for press photographers.

The governor, a widower, and the former Mrs. Virginia Carlson, a war widow, left their honeymoon yacht at Balboa and flew here in time for Knight to attend the Republican State Convention. They were married in Los Angeles Monday.

The Boy Scouts movement had its beginning in the British isles in 1908.

Short Lived Shinny Is Getaway Gimmick

NEWARK, N. J. (AP)—Patrolman Joseph Tartaglia nabbed an unidentified man for shooting dice on a street corner last night.

A fire nearby distracted his attention so he handcuffed his prisoner around a street pole twice the man's height.

When he returned, the pole was still there. The prisoner wasn't.

Greyhound Hospitalizes Woman; Gives No Bark

PHOENIK, Ariz. (AP)—Mrs. Louise Smith, 38, Phoenix, was run over by a greyhound and hospitalized. But her injuries were not believed to be serious.

The greyhound, however, wasn't a bus. It was a dog, a racing hound which Mrs. Smith was training. It was estimated the dog was traveling at 40 m.p.h. when it crashed into Mrs. Smith.

Eddie Foy Film Shooting Stirs Old Memories

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—And so I start another year's wanderings among the movie and TV stages, the bistros and the theaters in search of something worth relaying to you.

Basking and boating at Balboa is fun, but so is watching the antics and listening to the mouthings of the stars. The most fun this week was with the Foys.

First I watched Bob Hope and some talented kids impersonate one of vaudeville's greatest acts for "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys." I talked to Charley, Mary and Madeleine, who are real-life Foys from the original act.

Charley told me that none of them will be in the film, but one Foy will be represented by voice. That's Eddie Jr., most famous of the second generation. He's now happily playing "The Pajama Game," the Broadway smash. At the beginning of the picture, Eddie will introduce the impersonators of his family.

I couldn't even get away from the Foys when I was talking to Cary Grant. Few people remember it, but Grant was a vaudevillian. He toured the United States with an English acrobatic act as a lad. And he has good reason to remember the Foys.

"I used to sign my breakfast bills at the hotel with the name of one of the Foy Brothers," he said. "Then I'd pocket the expense money myself. Old man Foy never worried about it; I guess he figured one of the boys ate two breakfasts.

"That was a long time ago. I don't recall the year, but I remember we were on the same bill in Washington when President Wilson came to see the Foys. I didn't get to meet him, but all the Foys did."

I ran into still another Foy on the set of "Women's Prison," which Bryan is producing. He revealed that the family sold the rights to their story for $100,000.

Guerrillas Kill Sheik in Tunisia

TUNIS, Tunisia (AP) — Guerillas kidnaped and killed the sheik of a Tunisian village near Sfax yesterday as Premier Tahar Ben Ammar was setting up a Cabinet designed to end violence and give Tunisia more self-government.

In Morocco the situation appeared calmer than in recent days. Thursday's death toll in the rioting at Fez was put at seven, two more than previously listed.

Plane Crashes, 30 Safe

TOKYO (AP) — A four-engined American Coast Guard plane crashed and burned on takeoff at Kadena Air Force Base on Okinawa yesterday. All 30 military passengers escaped serious injury, Air Force headquarters said.

SETS WORLD RECORD—Burwell (Bumpy) Jones of Pontiac and the University of Michigan bettered his own world's record for the 400-meter individual medley Friday during the National AAU tank championships at Indianapolis. Jones, who lives at 5652 Pontiac Trail, Orchard Lake, churned the distance in 5 minutes, 29 seconds, lowering his own mark by better than 2 seconds.

Horvath Surprise Leader in All-American

By JERRY LISKA

CHICAGO (AP)—Established pro stars still were stabbing feebly at the brass ring as the $25,000 All-American golf merry-go-round went into its third round at Tam O'Shanter today.

Halfway leader in the All-American which pays a modest $3,400 first money, compared with the World's $50,000, plus a $50,000 exhibition contract, was a lightly reckoned Canadian pro, Rudy Horvath.

Horvath with a seven-under-Par 137 was a stroke ahead of three earnest but not spectacular golfers—Pete Cooper, Jerry Barber and Australian Peter Thomson.

As a matter of fact, yesterday's second round firing by the men's pros produced only three scores better than a women's record 69 fashioned by the unconquerable Babe Zaharias.

Those were three 68's. They were fired by Cooper; Marty Furgol, notched fifth with 139; and Harry Ransom, jammed with nine others at 141.

It appeared that most of the more heralded pros were experimenting with the "gamble" shots they may have to use under the white-hot pressure of the spectacular World tourney.

Marty Furgol, no relation to U.S. Open champion Ed Furgol who had a poor 149—completely out of the running—probably put his finger on the attitude of the field with this comment:

"You have to get the feel of this course. You have to play position."

That seemingly explained the exploratory, errant shots by the likes of Cary Middlecoff and Ed Oliver, among 10 bracketed at 141; of defending champion Lloyd Mangrum, a 142 shooter; Lew Worsham, 1953's miracle World winner, straggling with 146; U.S. champ Furgol at 149; and 1954 PGA champion Chick Harbert with 150.

Three strokes behind Horvath, an ex-Royal Canadian Air Force pilot from Windsor, was the quintet of Chandler Harper, Bill Markham, Bud Holscher, Bob Toski and another foreign contender, Flory Van Donck of Belgium.

New Wings Goalie

Miss Chadwick Practices Amid Ack-Ack Fire

Florence Chadwick of San Diego, Calif., who has bucked dangerous tides and cold in swimming tests the world over learned of the new danger yesterday.

Prepping for next Monday's attempt to swim the 18-mile wide Strait of Juan De Fuca between here and Port Angeles, Wash., the ex-stenographer came under the fire of anti-aircraft guns aiming at a target being towed by a plane.

Pieces of shrapnel showered around her and one landed in an escorting boat. Neither Miss Chadwick, nor her navigator, Frank Seehorn of San Diego, who was in the boat, were hurt.

Babbish, Iceberg Move Into DDGA Quarterfinal Slots

By H. GUY MOATS

Last year's Detroit District Golf Association champion and the runnerup in the 1953 tournament today had moved up into the select quarter-final bracket, and at this time appeared to be the favorites for Sunday's title battle.

Bob Babbish, 1953 titlist, defeated Ray Palmer of Detroit by default in Friday's second round of match play, to reach the round of eight, that started today's 18 hole test in the championship flight.

Roy Iceberg, Pontiac, last year's runnerup, was keeping pace with Babbish, but had considerably more difficulty remaining in competition.

Roy had to go down to the final hole Friday to defeat Jack Gregory, 1 up. He disposed of Earl Burt in his opening match Friday in easy fashion, 6 and 5. Gregory made a real battle of it all the way.

Palmer, usually a strong contender, was four down to Babbish going into the 10th hole. He suffered a pulled back muscle at that time, and decided to quit. Others making the quarter-final round were Frank Connolly, Ralph Ellstrong of Dearborn Country Club, Bill Nettle of Pine Lake, where the district championship is being determined, Dick Whiting of Red Run, Glenn Johnson of Grosse Ile, and Art Olfs Jr. of Country Club of Lansing.

Connolly defeated Gene Woodard, Lakepointe, 5 and 4, with a display of steady shotmaking that kept Hui at even par, or under, all the way.

Ellstrom eliminated Tom Draper, the tough competitor from Red Run, 1 up and Nettle put out Don Dykstra of Lakepointe, medalist on Thursday, 2 and 1. Whiting disposed of his erstwhile best-ball partner, in the recent Pine Lake Invitational title winning effort, Tony Skover of Meadowbrook, 1 up. This match was tight all the way to the final green.

Johnson dropped Jack Zinn of Red Run, 4 and 3, and Olfs defeated Joe Grace of Detroit Golf Club by the same margin.

Today's pairings pit Babbish and Olfs Whiting and Johnson Nettle and Ellstrom and Connolly and Iceberg. The last-named match was tabbed early today as the one to watch.

Sunday's big rounds include the semifinal in the morning, at 18 holes, and the 18-hole title round in the afternoon.

Championships in six other flights will also be settled in Sunday's action.

Proper Start Made by Golfer; Aces First Hole

Best way to start a golf round? Bill Davidson will take his opening shot Friday at Davisburg Golf Club.

Davidson, who lives at 6095 Southward, Waterford, used a 2-iron and sunk a hole-in-one on Davisburg's 200-yard 1st hole. He continued on to an 82 for the round. Playing with Bill were his brother Jack and Larry Toney of Lake Orion.

A group on the 1st tee and another waiting at the green also witnessed the feat. It was the 2nd ace in the last month at George Ferguson's nine-hole layout.

'Dream' Mile Slated Today

By JACK HEWINS

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP) — The miracle men of the mile, Roger Bannister and John Landy, tangle today for the British Empire title and both of them think the time will be very close to 4 minutes.

"I think I'll be getting down to four minutes if I'm to win," says Doctor Roger, the English interne who was first to crash the 4-minute barrier.

And Landy, Australia's national hero who claims the world record at 3:58 guesses "it certainly won't be much over 4 minutes, but perhaps 4:02 or 4:03 will win it. I don't think it will be under 4."

Although the world views this as a duel between Landy and Bannister one of the six others in the race could steal through to victory if the big stars falter. New Zealand's Murray Halberg is the most likely upset winner. Murray ran the fastest heat in the preliminaries Thursday at 4:07.4 and has done 4:04.4.

Asked why he set such a blistering pace in the qualifier, Halberg said seriously, "I just thought I needed the workout."

When the eight strong men line up at the starter's call at 4:00 p.m. Eastern Standard Time, television cameras will flash the picture across the North American continent and radio will tell the story to the far corners of the globe.

Rain or shine—and the forecast calls for cloudy but dry weather at race time—a capacity crowd of 35,000 will jam Empire Stadium for the climax moment of the eight-day program.

Other things will be going on—like the marathon race which England's Jim Peters is expected to win as he wishes. And the hammer throw and pole vault and some relays will be tossed in as frosting, but the mile is the real dessert of the day.

England has "won" the games. No official team scores are kept but unofficially the English were so far ahead last night they couldn't be overhauled. On a late count the points were 441½ for England, 323¾ for Australia, 286 for Canada, and the other 21 nations were trailing far back of these leaders.

Ex-MSC Stars Help Redskins Rout Navy 11

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Washington Redskins swamped an 11th Naval District All-Star football team, 52-0, before a crowd of 10,000 in an exhibition game last night.

Washington quarterbacks Jack Scarbath of Maryland and Al Dorow of Michigan State each threw two touchdown passes during the evening.

Dorow tossed his to end Bones Taylor, one on a 50-yard play and the other on a 51-yarder. Scarbath threw one to rookie end Bill Marker for 35 yards. The other went to rookie halfback Billy Wells of Michigan State for 53 yards.

Rob Goode, husky fullback who has just rejoined the Redskins after two years in the Marine Corps, plunged across for two touchdowns.

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN

CHICAGO (AP)—Gallant Babe Zaharias, who 16 months ago underwent surgery for a critical cancer condition, is at the peak of her golf form today at the age of 39.

The stirring comeback of the beloved Babe, recognized as the greatest woman athlete of our time, and perhaps all time, reached a sort of climax at Tam O'Shanter yesterday.

She cut seven strokes off women's par and three off the men's standard with a record-shattering 33-36—69. The sensational round, in which she never once strayed over men's par, shot here into a two-stroke 36-hole lead of the All-American women's pro division.

The Babe collected $1,500 for the effort, a prize confidently put up for grabs by promoter George S. May as an award for a new women's mark.

In all, Babe has walked off with nearly $11,000 of Tam O'Shanter since 1946. By taking the All-American crown this time she can add $1,000 and be set up for the grand prize of $5,000 in next week's "world" championship.

Merchants Nine Clinches Berth in 'A' Playoffs

Hands Elks 15th Loss of Season Yesterday, 11-1, at Wisner

Auburn Merchants handed Elks Lodge No. 723 its 15th defeat of the City Class A Baseball League season yesterday, 11-1.

Victory assured the Merchants at least a tie for 3rd place in regular season standings and a berth in the playoffs which start next Wednesday.

Class A season comes to an end Sunday with a single game at Wisner Field—CIO vs Auburn at 2 p.m.—but the game will have no bearing on the playoff spots.

Playoff drawings will be held Monday night at the City Parks and Recreation office.

Howard (Hud) Johnson fashioned a 3-hitter as the Merchants won with ease over the cellar-dwelling Elks. Johnson struck out 5 and walked 2 before being relieved by Dewayne Sheffer in the last inning.

Drivers Eye Share of $2,000 Purse

A fast field of drivers circle the Pontiac M-59 Speedway tonight for a guaranteed purse of $2,000 as the track presents a program of late model stock car races. Cars will run just as they appear on the highway, with the exception of an added safety belt. Feature event is 50 laps.

Trials at 7 p.m., with races starting at 8:30. Another Land O'Lakes Association hardtop show is slated Sunday night with qualifying at 5:30 p.m. and races at 7 o'clock.

Lions' Drills Cut to Only One a Day

YPSILANTI (AP)—With the College All-Star game less than a week away, Detroit Lions were down to one-a-day practice sessions today.

There will be no more two-a-day drills before the meeting of the professional champions and the collegiate stars at Soldiers Field in Chicago next Friday night.

And there will be no more full-dress scrimmages before the extravaganza, either.

Oldtimer '9' to Play

Pontiac Oldtimers' baseball team goes to Toledo, O., Sunday to play the Toledo Oldtimers. Anyone wishing to attend the game should be at the VFW No. 1370 Hall, 398 S. Saginaw street, at 9:30 a. m. Sunday.

Milers to Run Under 25 Stop Watches Today

Timer, Crew of Swiss Technicians to Oversee Clocks' Operation

VANCOUVER, B. C. (AP)—Landy, Bannister and friends will be clocked by $8,000 worth of certified, verified, checked and rechecked timing devices when they take off on their long-awaited mile duel today.

Melvin Hatch of Quebec is on hand with 25 stop watches and a crew of Swiss technicians to oversee their operation.

All week long they have been timing track, swimming, cycling and crew races.

Champs' Last Race

McDougald's Grand Slam Homer Beats Tigers, 4-3

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Who said "The Yanks is dead?"

This has been the word around the American League. But don't try to sell it to the Detroit Tigers. They're convinced "The Yanks is alive!" and kicking.

World champions, a beaten team for seven innings last night, erupted for four runs in the 8th on Gil McDougald's grand-slam home run and defeated the Tigers, 4-3, before 43,982 slightly stunned fans.

They had seen Al Aber, a pitcher of little prominence, blank the Yanks for seven innings. They had seen Hoot Evers give Detroit a 2-0 lead in the 4th with a two-run double.

That's all McDougald was hitting when he stepped to the plate in the 8th inning with the bases loaded. He lined one of Aber's pitches high into the upper left field deck.

Aber was strong for six innings, allowing only three well-spaced hits. He was given a working margin in the 4th on a Yankee error, singles by Harvey Kuenn and Bill Tuttle, and Evers' double.

Bob Nieman, pinch hitting, hit a home run in Detroit's half of the eighth but that only made it close.

Philadelphian to Bid for A's

Harry Sylk Would Match Johnson Offer, Keep Team in Philly

PHILADELPHIA (INS) A 15-man syndicate, headed by Harry Sylk, wealthy head of a Philadelphia drug store chain, will make a formal bid Tuesday to purchase the Philadelphia Athletics and keep the American League franchise in the Quaker City.

The group reportedly includes Albert M. Greenfield, banker, realtor and philanthropist who stated publicly last June that he is ready to assist any group in saving the A's for Philadelphia.

Sylk announced yesterday that he is ready to match the offer made by Arnold Johnson, spokesman for a Kansas City, Mo., syndicate. Johnson's offer reportedly is in excess of $4,000,000.

Hill Eliminated

LOS ANGELES, Calif. (UP) — David Hill, Jackson, Mich., was eliminated Friday in a 4th round match at the USGA Junior Tournament.

Hill, last Michigan entrant, bowed to Howie Hesler, Kansas City, Mo., 1 up.

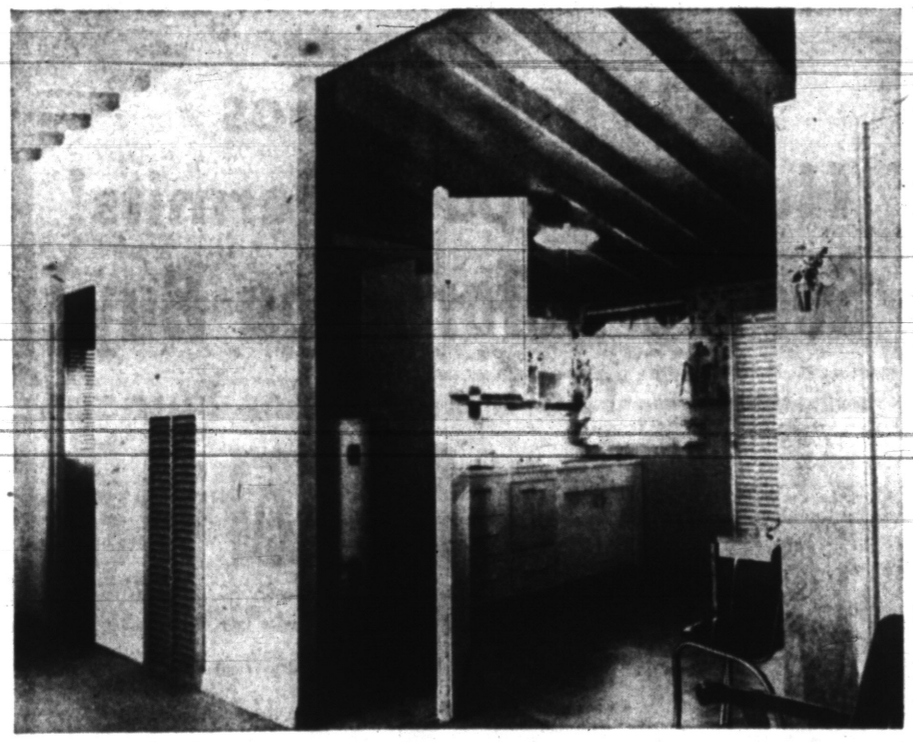
KITCHEN INVITES DECORATION—Above is the way the Willis kitchen looked when the couple stepped into their brand new home. Though cement floors were uncovered and the walls were unpainted, it was completely modern and included Youngstown steel sink and wall cabinets, newest type oil forced air automatic furnace and automatic hot water heater.



WILLIS INNOVATION—Employing a partition which had helped form an unneeded fourth bedroom, Mr. and Mrs. Willis enclosed the automatic furnace and hot water heater. This they did by putting it on hinges and casters, forming a swinging door (open above) and on the outside they fastened needed cabinets.

MODEL NOW OPEN—Above is a 1954 "Cadet" model home, now open in a new subdivision south of Pontiac Trail on Decker Road, in Commerce Township. Similar to the one bought by the Willis family, 122 homes, varied in style, size and color, are being built at the Decker Road location by Colwell Homes, Inc., of 4057 West Maple Rd.

Couple's Ingenuity Cuts Cash Outlay for Smart Home

By ABBIE KUCSERA

Counting up the costs in comfortable living, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Willis of Commerce Township find that cash can be a low figure on the total tally.

Often for budget-minded people, as in their case, ingenuity, work and a little loving care can add up to an attractive and cheerful home.

A smart little structure with superb styling, and housing more rooms than would be suspected, (six rooms and bath) the house was complete except for a few minor details such as floor covering and painting or papering of the interior.

Since both Mr. and Mrs. Willis work (she owns and manages Lil's Infants' and Children's Shop in Farmington) they decided to completely finish the abode before they moved in.

Consequently, the couple worked evenings and all spare time to ready their new home. They painted and papered the dry walls, laid tile on all the floors except the living room, using asphalt in the bedrooms and Vinyl-plastic in kitchen and bath. Peach-colored plastic tile was applied to bathroom walls and yellow tile with a black border was chosen for the kitchen.

The Willises had an exciting time watching the "personality" of their home emerge and looking back on it now, a lot of the work was fun.

Mrs. Willis laughingly tells about the time, before their electricity was turned on, that she laid the asphalt tile in one room by the light of a flashlight.

The house, now ship-shape, and at a cash outlay of only $391 for finishing materials, the couple moved in on July 6.

One feature of the kitchen which they enjoy, and which is their own innovation, is the concealed furnace and hot water heater. The Willises managed this by utilizing a portion of a partition they had removed from an unneeded bedroom. Hinged, and on castors, with extra cupboards hung on the outside, the partition became a swinging door to enclose the heating units.

At the same time they removed the partition from the unnecessary bedroom, they lengthened their 12 by 16 foot living room to 24 feet.

In the master bedroom, Mrs. Willis carefully chose her colors of wine and green with a touch of rose, matching her throw rugs and curtains to the wine in the flowered wallpaper. Green and white shades of the paper are carried out in the asphalt tile.

WILLIS VERSION OF COMFORT—The couple removed the partition which stood at the far end of the living room to extend its length to 24 feet. Exposed-beam ceilings were painted gray, with gray wall-to-wall carpeting and modern blonde furniture installed. Printed wallpaper was used on the far wall and red, green, gray and gold predominate the living scene with a pair of dark green Rembrandt lamps and gold sectional sofas the feature pieces. Stepping into the room, one gets the feeling of space and cheeriness.

4 Firms Building National 'Cadet' Homes in Area

National "Cadet" homes such as the Willis family bought were designed by world-famous architect Charles M. Goodman. The two and four bedroom houses, with low down payment and low price, are ready to move into. They come in several styles and attractive colors, with or without carport.

Builders of the "Cadet" in the Oakland County area are: Colwell Homes, Inc., of 4057 West Maple, Birmingham, now constructing 122 homes on 100 by 120 foot lots south of

A KITCHEN COMPLETE—Mrs. Willis (at refrigerator) is "pleased as punch" with her roomy kitchen. Colors are gray, white, red and yellow, carried out in the Colonial, pre-pasted wallpaper which Mrs. Willis put on herself, and in the marbleized Vinyl-plastic floor and the cheery yellow plastic wall tile (which she also applied.) Her curtains are white ruffled nylon with a red valance and in the dining area is a gray marbleized drop-leaf table with red leather chairs.

New 7-Month High Reached

More Than $20 Billion Paid Out Since Jan. 1, Departments Report

WASINGTON (AP) — The building boom surged in July to a new monthly record of 3½ billion dollars for new construction, the Commerce and Labor Departments reported this week.

The total outlay during the first seven months of this year—$20,100,000,000—also set a new record despite a 40 per cent drop from last year in federal military construction, the announcement said.

Greatest dollar gains over 1953, in a comparison of the seven-month figures, were registered in construction of offices, stores and other commercial structures, private dwellings, and school and road construction.

Sizable drops were recorded for industrial buildings, public housing, farm construction, and river and harbor work, in adition to federal military projects.

In private residential building, New York totaled $1,237,000,000 in July—10 per cent above a year ago and higher than in any month since the 1950 housing peak.

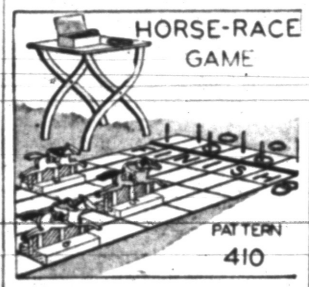
IN THE HOME WORKSHOP
with RUTH WYETH SPEARS



Make your rumpus room a center of attraction with these easy-to-make games. The horse race or steeplechase game is an old favorite and a grand way for the whole gang to have fun at home. The course need be no longer than seven feet but it may be much longer if space permits. The horse and jockey figures as well as the numerals and lettering are traced directly onto the wood with position and shape of each color. Bright hues are indicated in poster colors. No particular skill is required. Price of pattern 410 is 25c. If you really like to make games you will be pleased with the Rumpus Room Games Packet of five standard size patterns to make eleven different games—some old—some new—for only $1. postpaid.

Unused Doorway Easily Converted to Book Cabinets

If you have a little-used door in the living room, you can make a useful bookcase from it by a small expenditure and a few hours work.

Remove the door and hinges. Put a wood panel backing on the doorway, and fit adjustable shelves to it.

Stain or paint the shelves to match the walls of the room and do the panel in a smartly contrasting shade. A full length mirror can be hung on the back of the panel in the room or hall into which the doorway formerly led.

A charming spot for the display of prized china and glass can be created if the doorway opens into the dining room by using glass shelves.

Think Before Painting

When you get around to painting a porch ceiling, remember that if you use a light color paint it will reflect light into the house while if you use a dark paint it will absorb light and not reflect it indoors.

To protect the bottom of screen doors from being damaged by small children or pets, cover the insect screening with a sheet of ¼ inch mesh screening.

Modern Habits Developing Many New Kinds of Rooms

By ELIZABETH HILYER

New types of rooms are being created today.

The living-dining room caught on so fast it hardly seems new anymore. The television room sprang full-blown in a year or two from the old den or small library. Bedrooms become living-room-like to be used around the clock; many rooms with other duties are also guest rooms; and there's the outdoor area that's so well-furnished it serves as an extra room; and the rapidly developing living-kitchen.

Add to the list one of the newest — the office at home. So many women have had — or still have — careers that they, as well as men with home-bound brief cases, feel need of a well-organized and comfortable place to work at home. It may be a carefully plotted corner where there's no other room for it, or it may be — and more and more often is — a special office or studio room.

The handsome office at home sketched was designed for the American Institute of Decorators' trend-setting Exhibition called "At Home in America 1954," in Chicago late in June. It is one of the eighteen rooms by the eighteen regional chapters of A. I. D., the design of the Midwest Chapter which has headquarters in Kansas City.

The designers have a good name for it. It's called the brief case office. It is planned for efficiency and comfort and for special good looks which fit it into a beautiful house. The color scheme is subdued to create a quiet atmosphere and decorative accessories are limited — much of the room's decoration lies in the unusual design of the two-piece wall cabinet by the Italian architect, Gio Ponti, which is as useful as it is decorative.

There's a jaunty executive tilt to the desk chair. The chair moves about on casters. The desk includes a file drawer. The brass hanging light raises and lowers to provide the right light where it's needed, and a big comfortable lounge chair sits companionably on the other side of the desk.

On Hanging Mirrors

To judge the weight of a framed mirror, allow four pounds per square foot. If it weighs less than 35 pounds, hang with twin-strand wire over two wall-brackets four inches apart; if more, use twin-strand wire loops from brackets the same distance apart as the mirror hangers.

Plants Are Mirrored

Seaweed, ferns and heather are being used by designers of modern mirror frames. The lacy plants are sealed in translucent plastic which covers the wooden frame in which the twin-ground plate glass mirror is mounted.

WITH OR WITHOUT BASEMENT — A modern house designed to be built either with or without a basement. Storage space adjoining kitchen provides ample room for a stairway. Terrace in back of car port has an outdoor barbecue fireplace. All closets have wardrobe type sliding doors. This is plan No. 310 by Walter T. Anicka, architect, 617 Forest St., Ann Arbor, Mich. The house covers 1,020 square feet. A minimum lot of 55 feet is recommended. Further information and blueprints available from architect.

University Home Council Gives Coolness Formula

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (INS) — The Small Home Council of the University of Illinois has worked out an effective formula for keeping homes cool in even the hottest weather.

The circular says heat can be kept out of the house by keeping the sun off walls, glass and the roof. Proper insulation is of the utmost importance.

Major walls and glass areas should be on the north and south. Walls and glass should be at a minimum on the east and west because it is difficult to protect such areas from the sun's rays in early morning and late afternoon.

Dark-colored blinds are only 15 per cent effective inside the house. A light-colored inside roller shade, fully drawn, is 55 per cent effective and a dark shade is only 20 per cent effective.

The council says the ceiling is the most important part of the house for proper insulation. The roof should be adequately vented to allow hot air to get out.

Night cooling with fans is urged because it reduces the temperature faster than by merely opening windows. When the house is cooled properly at night, it remains cooler throughout the next day.

Air conditioning is suggested where the desired comfort cannot be obtained solely by house design and ventilation.

The council suggests that before installing air conditioning a check should be made of gas and electric equipment available; water, gas and electric rates; local regulations of utility companies; local building codes and ordinances regarding water usage; and the capacity of the electrical system.

STOCK SIZES OF LUMBER ARE BOLTED TOGETHER TO MAKE A FRAME FOR PLAY EQUIPMENT PATTERN 367

Do not build this popular playground equipment unless you want your backyard to be the center of interest for the children of the neighborhood. But if you do, be sure to use a pattern and avoid the expense involved in the trial and error method. The pattern gives exact dimensions of each part with actual-size guides for cutting the angles of the end pieces. A list of all materials needed as well as assembling directions are included. There is no need to leave this piece out during the winter; just remove the bolts to store overhead in the garage. This pattern 367 is included in the Outdoor Play Equipment Packet price $1, or it may be ordered separately for 25 cents. Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Prospective Homemakers

Plan Furniture Layouts for Attractiveness, Space

So you're going to be married! You're going to exchange your business or professional career for a domestic career.

Maybe you're going to combine both. If you are, this will call for a bit of strategy and ingenuity in home planning and furniture purchasing.

In any event, you will want furniture that looks well and serves well with regard to time, durability and function—furniture that gives the most value for your investment.

The manufacturer has done his part by producing furniture that is beautiful, versatile, and designed to function with the utmost ease and grace. The furniture dealer will provide the assistance of a home planning consultant. The rest is up to you.

Keep in mind that in order to show and function to best advantage, you must contrast the balance of furniture with color, so that neither is too heavily emphasized.

Scaling, too, is important to the well decorated home. Shy away from over-sized ungainly pieces that absorb too much wall space, or take away traffic area. Each furniture piece should be chosen proportionately to the others, and to the size of the room.

Don't be afraid to contrast, within reason of course, colors and lines. This will invite unusual and interesting eye-attracters. Give each room its own color accent, or correlate the same color from room to room if you like.

Make a home comfortable traffic-wise, too. Don't creat obstacle courses within rooms and between rooms. Create pathways between rooms that are easy, direct, and step-saving.

Don't overcrowd. Conversational groupings are essential to the enjoyment of any home, but plan them so that they give an effect of spaciousness.

These are the essential guides. If you plan and buy well there is no reason why your furniture shouldn't do anything you want it to do.

Paved Terrace Is Spruced Up by Additions

You can spruce up a concrete paved terrace by adding powdered mineral-oxide pigments to the concrete mixture.

There are several ways you can go about coloring a paved terrace, but the following two are recommended for a long-lasting effect.

1. Mix 1 part cement and 1 to 1½ parts fine sand with the mineral-oxide pigment, the amount depending on the color desired.

After the concrete slab has been poured and all surface water removed, sprinkle the colorer "dust-on" mixture evenly over it. Use 125 pounds of mixture for each 100 square feet of floor area. After the water sheen has disappeared, trowel the concrete to a smooth finish.

2. Mix the mineral-oxide pigment with the concrete mix that will form the 1-inch thick topping of the terrace. A good topping consists of 1 part cement 1½ parts sand and 1½ parts gravel.

Add the necessary water—not more than 5 gallons per sack of cement. Spread the colored concrete mixture on the base slab and level off with a wood float.

Perfects Termite-Finder

Entomologist Roy Pence of the UCLA faculty has announced the development of a compact sound detection unit which locates termites by unique noises they make. The highly sensitive device can pick up termite footsteps, clicking noises made by the insects' jaws and rhythmic tom-tom beats apparently used as a means of communication.

Key-Lock Is Safety Device

Device Shoves Keys Out of Ignition When Motor Is Shut Off

HAMMOND Ind. (INS) — A former Hammond street commissioner has invented an automobile key-lock combination which can be described by saying, 'If you don't take it with you, you can't go."

George E. St. John said he was led to his invention by a West Coast tragedy in which five teenage boys stole a car. He said the police report disclosed the motorist had left his keys in the car.

Police chased the youths in the stolen auto. There was a crash and two of the teen-agers were killed. St. John said:

"That story touched me deeply and I resolved that I would invent a lock that would make it impossible for a key to remain in unless the motor was running."

Six years and 800 dollars later, St. John, who had moved to Palmdale, Calif., finally perfected his lock. And it isn't at all complicated in concept.

The device simply pops the key out of the lock when the motor is turned off.

This "simple" spring mechanism may revolutionize the parking habits of millions of motorists and save the lives of countless youngsters who would not be tempted to take a "joy ride" in a car if the keys weren't left dangling from the ignition.

Discouraging joy riders isn't the locks only value. St. John said half a million persons lock themselves out of their cars each year and another 200,000 auto keys will be stolen this year with 70 per cent of these traceable to the dangling keys.

The 65-year-old inventor said if his lock is put into the auto as standard equipment, the added cost will not be more than a dollar on the total price of the auto.

Use of Plastics Shows Modern Fashion Trend

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Plastics, in almost unrecognizable forms, were among the highlights of new home fashion trends at the recent Furniture Market in Los Angeles.

Their use extended from liquor and burn-proof table tops closely resembling walnut to lampshades of various weaves and chairs covered in stain-resisting orlon of a rich, fur texture.

One of the more unusual uses of plastic was in transparent "see through" drawers in a Mr. and Mrs. Chest of Philippine mahogany. Each dresser was equipped with a cover to make the unit completely dust proof.

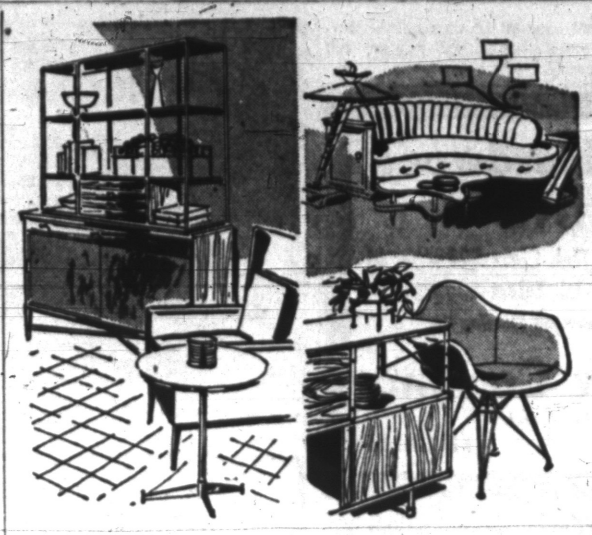
All lines of home furnishings—from latex-cushioned, zippered-in Belgian linen to cocktail tables that open to reveal bars or serving trays—were designed with an eye toward lightening chores and saving steps.



Designers Get Big Break From Contemporary Style

Paul McCobb's furniture at left, his lean and curving arm chair, tall cabinet in walnut, brass and leather and small table in brass with a white carrar glass top?

Each is a different style, but all are called modern. Contemporary is the term often preferred in professional circles for the design of today, not only for that which somewhat harks back to the past but for that which does not, simply because "modern" has been used for so many things that no one is sure what it does mean to the most people.

And it has been used for so many bad design phases that its original meaning is besmirched.

Today's abundant design can't fit into one design category. It can't be said that modern is good or modern is bad, or even that modern is sensible, timely and beautiful or that it's ugly and senseless.

Of course there had to be a contemporary re-evaluation of what today's homes need which inevitably resulted in furniture that looks different from that used long ago.

This furniture that grew out of the needs of changed ways of living has had a plus ingredient furniture never had before—there have been more designers for it with unprecedented opportunities for developing their skills, and they've been able to work for more and better furniture for everyone, not merely with handmades for the few.

One by one makers of the finest traditional furniture and the most exacting antique-bound decorators have turned to the new masters of contemporary design.

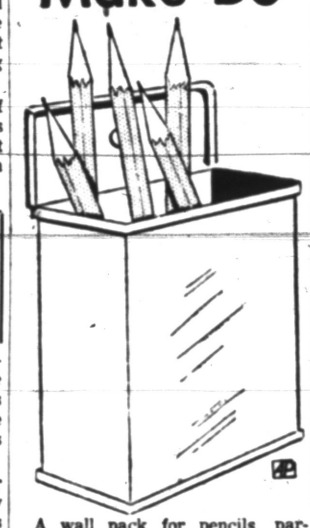
There are great names today which will live, and their works and the best efforts of lesser designers of course can be called modern in the true sense of the word. Paul McCobb's furniture sketched represents this type of design.

Advanced modern is usually understood to mean the type of design which blazes trails to design futures, and Charles Eames has been a leading light in this direction. With the furniture sketched he searches for ways of making low cost furniture with maximum efficiency and strength and minimum bulk.

The remaining furniture sketched is called modern but is the least modern of the three styles. Furniture that must strain to be different and startle the eye is left behind by better ideas. When it does angle and flash for attention it may still deserve the old-fashioned word "modernistic."

Some 20,000,000 Americans are said to be doing some sort of work around the house — carpentering, painting, wallpapering, etc. On the average, it's now estimated that there is one home workshop in every fourth home in every residential block in the U.S.

Make Do



A wall pack for pencils, particularly handy near the kitchen telephone, is easily made from a small metal box for adhesive bandages. Punch a hole in the lid for hanging on the wall. To give this can a finish as slick as your refrigerator apply two coats of white shellac enamel, letting the last coat dry overnight. Then apply a coat of pure white shellac cut half and half with alcohol. When dry, apply paste wax and buff.

Even TV sets are getting the slipcover treatment these days. One company is offering a fabric "sleeve" to fit its new television receivers. The "sleeve," which fits right around the set except for the screen, comes in colors or a snappy zebra stripe pattern.

Fifty years ago plate glass windows were the mark of a rich man's home while today many homes have huge picture windows and entire window walls of plate glass.

Knowledge of Wood Uses Can Avoid Excess Lumber Expenses and Wastes

How to judge and buy lumber is a knack the do-it-yourself handyman might master if he had college degrees in forestry, engineering and architecture—plus a lot of practical experience in the use of lumber.

But cheer up. There are short cuts. One is to buy cheap grades of lumber for unimportant or inconspicuous places, such as sheathing, fences, box making and all rough work. Another is to take the advice of a reliable lumber dealer in your own community. Getting and keeping customers are uppermost rules for him.

The easiest thing to do is to tell your lumber dealer what you want lumber for and how you plan to finish it. Walk in and ask for "a board" and you have the dealer in about the same quandry as a butcher when a bride asks for a pound of meat.

For instance, if you want to put up a shelf, you really need lumber that combines stiffness with good finishing qualities—lumber that is relatively free from pitch and warp. Do you plan a natural finish — something to match natural interior trim? Then you can use ash, birch, maple, or walnut.

On the other hand, you may want what is called a high-class paint finish. Leading this list are ponderosa pine, northern or western white pine and sugar pine. Still cypress, redwood and yellow poplar will also be suitable for such a finish, although their use is more limited.

If you haven't made up your mind as to natural or paint finishes, you'll find that Douglas fir, hemlocks, western larch, southern yellow pine, spruce, white fir, basswood or chestnut will fill that bill.

This sounds pretty complicated and it is. The U. S. Department of Agriculture says grade C or better should be used for shelves to receive a high-class paint or enamel. Grade D is considered serviceable, "but may entail some waste." Shelving left unpainted or to be given only a rough paint finish calls for No. 1 or No. 2 lumber. No. 3 can be serviceable, "especially when cut into short lengths, but may entail some waste."

Isn't it simpler to ask the lumberman?

When you go into a lumber yard and ask for "a board" of a certain size, chances are you'll get ponderosa pine — and because of its workability, light color and delicate grain, you'll be lucky. According to the Western Pine Assn., "the most popular and versatile lumber in current use" is ponderosa.

To expect to use only the best grade of lumber for all purposes is about as foolish as buying porterhouse for the dog.

Knots in lumber are no serious detriment in construction usage. They merely limit you a bit. For example, a knot in the bottom edge of a beam or joist may pull loose under tension, since there is a pull on the bottom edge. But the same knot on the upper edge means nothing, because it is under compression at that point. Knots close to the end of a piece are not as serious as those in the middle. And knots near the center of a wide board are not as weakening as those at the edge.

Pitch streaks in wood do not take paint readily. So in clear grades of lumber you'll find pitch streaks strictly limited as to size.

The grain in wood is a vertical view of the growth of a tree. When you saw a tree down, you can count the rings of its annual growth. The hardest part of the wood is formed in its slow summer growth; the softest part by its faster spring growth.

Because of this, southern yellow pine is rated among the most satisfactory construction lumbers. Its longer summer growing season gives it a high density, bending strength and hardness.

If you are buying a lot of lumber, such as for a building job, it is wise to draw your plans to accommodate standard lengths. You can avoid a lot of waste from cutting on the job if you can use the lumber as it comes in multiples of 2 feet. This is why you'll see smart architects planning room widths of 9 feet, 4 inches, 11 feet, 4 inches, 13 feet, 4 inches, etc. Those widths allow for finished wall thicknesses on standard lengths of 10, 12 and 14-foot joists, respectively.

NEW SUBDIVISION—On hand for the groundbreaking ceremonies in a new subdivision being developed by Royal Park Homes, Inc., on East Walton Boulevard one-fourth mile east of Opdyke, are these three executives. Standing, (front) is John D. Taylor, president of Royal Park Homes; seated at controls, Harry M. Steffey, assistant director, FHA, Detroit Insuring Office, and L. A. Wagner, secretary-treasurer of Royal Park. Two houses are now completed of the 40 homes planned there.

Aims at Better Housing

FHA to Launch Program for Stricter Construction

By WILLIAM KERWIN

WASHINGTON (INS)—The Federal Housing Administration is preparing to launch a new program for stricter construction rules in an effort to provide American families with better housing.

Officials say results of the operation will add space, improve wiring and plumbing equipment and allow the use of up-to-date building products and techniques in the new homes insured by the agency.

Plans for the program began to take shape shortly after Norman P. Mason became FHA commissioner a few months ago, and officials say it will get under way in the next few weeks when FHA opens a series of conferences with industry groups on the changes.

FHA's main objective is to eliminate the emergency measures taken after World War II which lowered construction standards to provide maximum housing output and relieve the nationwide housing shortage.

Over the years, FHA has from time to time raised standards but shortages of manpower and materials, aggravated by the Korean War, tended to block the sweeping revisions now contemplated.

Since the nation appears to be headed for a peacetime economy, Mason was said to feel that the raising of construction standards is "one of the important problems facing the agency."

It probably will take a year before the present study is completed, but officials emphasize that it will be a "continuing program" designed to improve constantly the supply of new homes.

One official says: "All too frequently in the past our minimum standards became the maximum for some builders. That was due largely to emergency conditions. Now we want to improve the home without adding unduly to the cost.

"We think this can be done. And, meanwhile, FHA will continue to encourage builders to provide greater value for the money."

Remove Wood From Diet

When small children chew on wood, it is often because of some diet deficiency. Parents who note any such tendency should consult their physicians. Splinters in the digestive tract are certainly not desirable. If the wood is part of exterior surface and is coated with house paint, there is also the possibility that it may contain lead.

Plastics Handy for Upholstery

Fabrics Clean Easily, Cut Housewives' Work, Brighten Homes

Careful selection of materials an colors for their bedrooms can help brighten children's lives and at the same time save extra housework for mother.

Children love color and bright fabrics. Most experts agree children should be allowed to help choose the colors for their own like red and blue which many children naturally like may not be suitable for painting walls or woodwork but they should be used for upholstery and draperies.

More and more flexible material like plastics are being used for chair coverings and curtains in children's rooms because these materials require very little upkeep. Also, new fabric styles that look like tweeds, linens—even needlepoint—make it possible to blend them with any bedspread or rug materials used in the child's room.

Plastics can take more hard use and still look brighter than cloth upholstery fabrics. Also, they don't snag, stain or fade like cloth, and ink spots, shoe marks and fingerprints can easily be removed with soap and water.

Drapes or curtains made of plastic can be just as light and flexible as cloth ones, yet they can be dusted with a damp cloth or throw into the washer for cleaning. They resist fading and, of course, need no stretching or ironing.

Much of the experience furniture makers have had with plastic upholstery has been in dinette sets and hassocks where an easy cleaning, bright material is practically an absolute necessity. Housewives, themselves, have discovered that the upholtery has plenty of practical use in other rooms of the house where furniture gets hard wear. As a result, more and more firms are using flexible plastic materials to cover furniture that can be used throughout the home, indoors or out.

Replace Window Putty

It pays to inspect the putty on window sash at regular intervals. Replacing portions that show signs of separating from the glass is good economy. Not only does it forestall complete replacement, but it is good insurance against rot in wood sash and rust on metal sash. Be sure to use a priming coat on all areas that are to be reputtied. New putty requires several days drying time before painting.

Care for Stove Pipes

Stove pipes have a nasty habit of rusting out during the warm season. Best way to save them is to take 'em down, clean inside and out, coat with oil and then store in warm dry place.

French Beds Now Look Like Beds

Antique - styled beds have elaborate headboards with silk or satin upholstery filling the carved wooden frames. The spreads are made to match the headboard upholstery

For modern - styled beds, the headboard is upholstered or trimmed with chair-caning, wicker weave, bamboo or fabric, usually framed in wood.

One such modern chair-bed has a white cane headboard, and instead of using a bedspread, covers the sleep-and-sit mattress in bright yellow linen.

Canopy beds are staging a big comeback in Paris. The French decorators match the canopy to the room style, and use everything from a striped linen "tent-roof" to elaborate period - styled swag-draped canopies.

The "tent-roof" canopy which is popular as a summer style, is usually of a bright color and edged in scallops. It is suspended above the bed on ropes from the ceiling or fixed on four metal or wooden posts.

Moisture Dangerous

The arch enemy of home owners is often not recognized by them. This silent enemy that seeks to destroy their property and ruin its appearance is moisture vapor. It is a well established fact that moisture vapor migration in houses is the direct cause of most cases of exterior paint peeling.

Paint Rust-Free Radiators

Radiators which are grease-free and rust-free may be painted with a flat wall paint of the same tint as the walls or with an enamel. The former practice of using a metallic paint is seldom followed these days because it has been established that these retard the radiation of heat. Such metallic coatings are used instead on pipes and storage tanks where it is important to keep heat in.

Building Ping Pong Table Utilizes Spare Time Well

By STEVE ELLINGSON

A old retired doctor stopped in yesterday and we got to talking about hobbies versus habits. This is what the old doctor had to say, "Nothing stands still—it either goes forward or backward. There is no such thing as physical laziness. Our bodies are constantly in motion. We are either employing our time in some act which is constructive—or one which might be detrimental."

He went on, "fifty years ago we hardly knew the meaning of the words spare time. Working people had hours from 8 to 6, Saturdays included; excepting those who had to work in stores, and therefore had longer hours.

"Today, with the forty-hour week and two full holidays each week, the use of spare time becomes a problem of national importance. Those two days will not be used for rest. They will be used constructively or otherwise. And, if we study the faces of those going to work on Mondays, it will be easy to determine the nature of the pastime used to employ Saturday and Sunday. Some people will approach their work eager eyed and happy to start the new week. Others will force themselves to do their jobs, their eyes plainly showing the result of a weekend of indulgence."

"Most people will take up a hobby, one which fits their tastes and aptitudes. Even those who spend their time—and money—imbiding too freely, are doing so for want of something better to do. The right hobby is the answer.

"Lots of people, after passing a certain point in life, will begin living in the past instead of the future, and the moment they start doing so, they are playing right into the hands of father time. A hobby causes one to live in the future, keeping him active mentally and physically." That's why I came to see you today," the doctor said. "I want a full size pattern for a ping pong table. I'll be busy building it and, after it's finished, will enjoy playing ping pong with the friends who come to visit me."

We fixed the doctor up with his pattern and decided that lots of you readers would also like a ping pong table similar to the one pictured here with NBC television starlets Phyllis and Connie. It's a very easy article to build from the full size pattern. And that isn't all, the table is made without even one nail. It all fits together with notches which are sawed in the plywood. It can be put together or taken apart for storage in less than five minutes.

The table has many uses other than for playing ping pong. At Christmas time it's a dandy place for Junior's electric train. In the laundry it's handy for laying out your finished ironing. It also serves as a large picnic table. As always, this pattern is designed to be used by inexperienced amateurs who do not have an elaborate set of tools.

To make the table you merely trace the full size pattern on wood, then saw it out and finally put it together. A list of required materials is printed on each pattern.

To obtain the full size ping pong table pattern No. 123 send 75 cents in coin to Steve Ellingson, The Pontiac Press, Van Nuys, California.

Storage Walls Hold TV Sets, Clear Floors

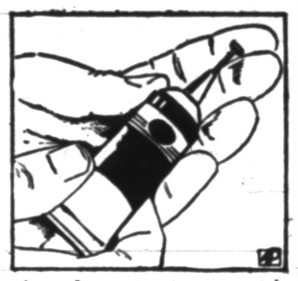
Disposal of a bulky television set, which frequently raises a major decorating problem in the home, can be handled easily by making space for the bulky equipment in a storage wall.

These popular money-and-space savers, frequently used as room dividers, or extending along windowless walls to the full width or length of a room, may include several open or closed units with space for practically any type or quantity of articles.

Their flexibility is almost limitless and they can be moved with minimum effort from room to room or even to another house.

Storage walls designed to meet the storage space problems of every family, particularly one whose members have several hobbies, can be constructed easily at low cost with standard size plywood panels.

This material is strong enough to permit compartments up to four feet wide without intermediate bracing of the back panel, due to the warp resistance of plywood. It can be left in its natural smooth finish or painted.



A good way to stop up a tube of glue or other adhesive is to use a nail for a plug. Glue will harden around the nail, but the nail is easily removed.

The use of farm fertilizers is believed to result in a crop increase each year of 25 or more per cent.

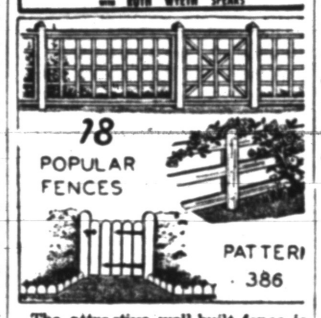
IN THE HOME WORKSHOP

with DAVID WYETH SPEARS



The attractive well-built fence is growing in popularity as a feature of the modern home. Just as we all want our house to differ from the others in the neighborhood, so do we like to have an individual style of fence.

The patern sketched above contains eighteen different styles with gates to match. They not only vary in design but also in cost of material and labor.

Send for the pattern and select the fence and gate that harmonizes with your home and its surroundings. Cutting diagrams are given on the pattern for each design with directions for erecting. Ask for pattern 386 and enclose 25c.

There are five other projects the week-end builder can make in the Homestead Improvement Packet which will be mailed for $1 additional.

Write to Workshop, Pontiac Press.

Remodel Before Selling

If you're going to sell your house a little remodeling won't hurt. Concentrate on those areas a prospective buyer looks at hardest and longest — the kitchen and bathroom. Are floors, splash-areas and countertops tiled? Could the storage be improved? How's the plumbing? A follow-through on these questions will enhance any home's value.

Zebra Boards Used

Zebra boards, panels of black and white diagonal stripes, are used by glass researchers to test mirrors made from new twin-ground polished plate glass. The mirror, at an angle to the zebra board, is examined by precision instruments to assure high quality.

Take Inventory if Rooms Always Appear Cluttered

If the bedrooms always seem cluttered, even when everything's in place, it's time to take inventory.

Is there an assortment of small storage chests instead of one or two large ones? Too many little knickknacks? Toiletries scattered over the dresser-top?

The simpler the bedroom furnishings, the more restful the room will be. Here are two good ideas for built-in storage that is handy—yet completely out of sight.

Pontiac Group Invites Nurses in This Area to Attend Meeting

The Psychiatric Aid Assn. of Pontiac State Hospital is sponsoring a move to form a state psychiatric aid group to promote better patient care.

The local association is inviting attendent nurses from all Michigan mental institutions to an organizational meeting Aug. 17 at 7:30 p.m. in the hospital auditorium here, according to Robert Larson, president of the Pontiac group.

"The proposed organization would be called the Psychiatric Attendant Nurse Assn. of Michigan," said Larson, "and a chief aim would be to promote welfare of patients through an improved training program for attendents."

Other medical groups including the Michigan League of Nurses and the Michigan Hospital Assn. are being consulted on the plan, Larson stated.

The state has been organized in two sections, said Larson, with Donald Royal of Northville State Hospital as general chairman for the southern region.

Chairman of the constitution and by-laws committee is Mrs. Nellie Young of Pontiac State. Publicity chairman is Mrs. Betty Sobol of Northville State.

County Vote Canvass to End Next Week

Oakland County's three-member Board of Canvassers is rapidly completing an official tally of the votes cast in Tuesday's primary election.

Certification of candidates is expected to be completed by next Friday. Checking of the official tally sheets from each precinct is being conducted in a Probate Court anteroom in the County Courthouse.

Watch Your Paint Job

KINGSTON, R. I. (UP)—Here's a tip for small craft owners from Edison I. Shock, associate professor of mechanical engineering at University of Rhode Island:

"While boats should be painted every year, they shouldn't carry more than four coats of paint at a time. Paint is what you take off a boat."

Seven Million Will Share in Dividend Tax Reduction

(Note: This is the fifth of a series of articles explaining how the new tax revision bill affects individuals.)

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than seven million corporation stockholders will share in the most controversial tax cut in all the 1,000 pages of the new tax revision bill.

After talking about it for years, Congress finally has restored a special tax benefit on dividends. It will reduce revenues an estimated 204 million dollars the first year, up to 363 millions in later years.

Dividend income received special treatment under tax laws until 1936, when Democrats struck it out in the heydey of the "New Deal." The new tax cut is a symbol of the return to power of Republican tax philosophy.

It is far less than recommended by the Eisenhower administration, but it is still substantial and it reestablishes the principle.

The tax cut is two-edged:

First, you pay no taxes on the first $50 of dividends received each year. You can automatically exclude this $50 from your income for tax purposes.

Second, you get a "tax credit"—a further direct tax cut—of 4 per cent of your remaining dividend income.

The timing is important this year. The $50 deduction applies to dividends dated last Jan. 1 or thereafter. The 4 per cent credit applies only to dividends received after last Saturday—July 31.

There is a limit to the amount you can claim under the 4 per cent dividend tax credit.

On your 1954 tax return, due next April 15, you can't claim dividend credit totaling more than 2 per cent of your "taxable" income, which is your income after all deductions and exemptions—the final figure on which the tax rate is applied.

In future years, you can't claim a dividend tax credit of more than 4 per cent of your taxable income.

So if most or all your income is from dividends, you probably won't be able to get the full 4 per cent credit.

And you can't get any tax cut on dividends received from mutual savings banks or building and loan associations, life insurance companies, foreign corporations, nonprofit cooperatives, or mutual insurance companies. These firms already are either tax-free, or not taxed as heavily as most corporations.

If a husband and wife both have dividend income, and they file a joint return, they can deduct dividends received by each of them up to $50, for a total deduction of $100. But if the wife receives $35 in dividends and the husband $65, they can deduct only $85—the $50 maximum for the husband and the $35 for the wife.

Say you have a family of four with $9,500 regular income and $1,000 income from dividends—a total of $10,500.

Both husband and wife have more than $50 in dividends, so first you subtract the $100 dividend exclusion, leaving $10,400 in income.

Then you subtract your $2,400 in personal exemptions and the standard personal deduction of $1,000, leaving taxable income of $9,700.

Your regular tax rate would run to a tax bill of $1,460. But now you take 4 per cent of the $900 in dividends left after your exclusion. This is $36, which is subtracted from $1,460 to leave a final tax payment of $1,424.

The dividend provision saved you $58 — $22 on your $100 exclusion, and $36 on your 4 per cent cent credit.

The admiistration argues all this will encourage public investment in stocks, and that this will help business expand and create more and better jobs for everybody.

Opponents argue 80 per cent of the dividend tax cut, or 290 million dollars, will go to only sixtenths of 1 per cent of American families. They say this is an unjustified special benefit to wealthy persons.

GMC Delivering Fleet of 72 Highway Tractors

The purchase by Cooper-Jarrett, Inc., of Chicago, of 72 GMC highway tractors equipped with the twin hydramatic transmission was announced today by R. C. Woodhouse, general truck sales manager of the GMC Truck and Coach Division.

The first five highway tractors of the huge new hydramatic fleet have just been delivered to the company, which hauls general merchandise on routes between Chicago and New York.

Cooper-Jarrett is the first large trucking concern to place the new GMC units, cab-over-engine models with 4-cylinder GM diesel engines, into service on a major scale.

It is the first time a fleet of heavy - duty tractors equipped with an automatic transmission ever has been used on American highways. They are rated at 60,000 pounds gross combination weight.

"We are justifiably proud to have a top-ranking truck operator like Cooper-Jarrett be the first to recognize what the new GMC twin hydramatic will mean for driving safety and operating economy," Woodhouse said.

"The decrease of driver fatigue and the saving of time through the faster automatic shifting will mean a more efficient shipment of goods over the highway for both shippers and operators alike."

In officially taking over the first new units, Guy D. Cooper, executive vice president of Cooper-Jarrett, said that in his opinion, trucks with automatic transmissions would soon make obsolete the ones with regular transmissions.

"With the faster shifting going away from stop lights and up hills, we figure we can cut three hours off our Chicago to New York schedules," Cooper said. "While we will remain within the same top legal speeds adhered to in the past, our average speed will be higher because of the time saved with the automatic shift."

Cooper said the safety factors on the new equipment were extremely important. Not only the decrease in driver fatigue, but additional braking power down hill through a device in the hydramatic transmission which holds it in gear, will help safer driving, he said.

As an example of how much gear-shifting a truck driver has to to, it was found that on one 300-mile stretch of highway a driver was compelled to execute 600 shift sequences averaging as many as 8 to 13 individual shifts per sequence.

The new "twin hydramatic" GMC, introduced recently, combines two truck hydramatic transmissions into one unit. They are mounted one over the other and governed to shift alternately with each other, through seven forward speeds and one reverse. Both units are geare dtogether at the rear, driving a single output shaft connecting with a three-speed reduction unit.

This combination of hydramatic and reduction unit provides automatically the gear shifting required under varying conditions throughout three separate ranges-creeper, low and direct.

"Twin hydramatic" assures a perfect gear ratio, continually for maximum engine performance both on straightaway and climbing hills. Thus it eliminates engine "lugging" and shock-loading of the drive line which involves costly maintenance and repairs.

Kills Policeman, Wounds Chief

Korean War Prisoner Shoots Up Town After Losing Sheriff Vote

LEXINGTON, Tenn. (AP)—A former Korean prisoner of war, his dream of being sheriff shattered, sat quietly in a cell today awaiting trial on a charge of murder.

James A. Cogburn, 33, a disappointed candidate who started shooting after the vote went against him, was trapped by a massive posse near here yesterday.

His brother, 31-year-old Roy, wounded by two state highway patrolmen during the manhunt, was in fair condition at a hospital in nearby Jackson, Tenn.

A third man, James Chadwick, 35, of Knoxville, Tenn., surrendered meekly. He caught a ride with Cogburn while hitchhiking some weeks ago and stayed on when promised a job as deputy sheriff.

The manhunt was ordered after a wild gunfight in which Lexington Patrolman Arthur Gurley, 50, was killed and Police Chief Clovis Stanfill critically wounded.

The early-morning battle occurred in front of the courthouse—where election officials were tallying the vote which showed James Cogburn running a poor third in the Henderson County sheriff's race.

Police officers said James Cogburn had been acting "peculiar" ever since he was released from a Korean prison camp to find that his wife, believing him dead, had remarried.

She later divorced Cogburn and remarried her "extra" husband.

News in Brief

James A. Jones, 43, of 464 Auburn Ave. pleaded innocent to driving an automobile with a revoked operator's license Thursday when he appeared before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum. He was freed on a $50 bond to appear for trial Aug. 26.

Olaf Solwolb of 306 Oak St., Auburn Heights, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone broke into his home Thursday night and took $3.50 in pennies from a glass jar.

John Camp of 104 Marquette St., who rents a small garage from Beechum's Service Station at 4795 Dixie Hwy., Drayton Plains, told Oakland County sheriff's deputies yesterday that someone broke into the garage and took $125 worth of tools and auto parts.

City Traffic Toll at 5 This Year, 328 Hurt

Pontiac Police traffic and accident bureau today reported that 328 persons have been injured and five killed in auto accidents here so far this year.

The present number of injuries, tallied in a monthly accident summary is one behind the figure for the same period last year, when six persons were reported killed due to auto accidents.

The monthly report states that 123 persons were injured in July accidents with no fatalities. A total of 802 accidents are noted in the accident report so far this year. Five of the accidents involved pedestrians, and 16 motorists had been driving under the influence of liquor when collisions occured, according to police.

Auto Plants Turn Out Low 5-Day Volume

DETROIT (AP)—Output of U. S. auto plants this week will total 120,392 cars and trucks, Ward's Automotive reports said today.

The agenc counted 104,720 cars and 15,672 trucks in the total. Last week 104,604 cars and 18,878 trucks were produced. In the comparable 1953 week 112,491 cars and 22,991 trucks were assembled. Ward's described this week's indicated car and truck output as the "lowest five-day volume of the year."

ORDINANCE NO. 1251

Adopted August 2, 1954
Effective August 12, 1954

An ordinance to license charitable and other organizations, institutions, or associations, their agents or representatives, for soliciting and receiving public donations.

The City of Pontiac ordains:

Section 1. Definitions.

(a) The words "solicit" and "solicitation" shall mean the request of money, credit, property, financial assistance or other thing of value on the plea or representation that such money, credit, property, financial assistance or other thing of value, or any part thereof, will be used for a charitable, religious, patriotic, civic, educational or philanthropic purpose, by telephone, personal interview, or otherwise. The said words shall also mean and include the sale or offer to sell any article, tag, ticket, emblem, publication, advertisement, subscription or other thing, whether of value or not, on the plea or representation that such money, credit, property, financial assistance or other thing of value, or any part thereof, whether received by the solicitor or purchased by the buyer, will be used for a charitable, religious, patriotic, civic, educational or philanthropic purpose.

(b) The word "person" shall mean any individual, firm, co-partnership, corporation, company, association or joint stock association, church, religious sect, religious denomination, society, organization or league, and includes any trustee, receiver, assignee, agent or other similar representative thereof.

Section 2. Permit Required.

No person shall solicit for any cause whatsoever, except as herein otherwise provided, within the City of Pontiac without a permit from the City Clerk authorizing such solicitation. No person shall solicit or act as an agent, runner, closer, representative or otherwise, of any person conducting a solicitation project outside the city limits. Provided, however, that the provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to solicitations conducted exclusively within the membership of an organization by its own officers and members.

Section 3. Application for Permit.

Applications for permits under this ordinance shall be filed with the City Clerk upon blanks to be furnished by the City Clerk. The application shall contain the following information, or in lieu thereof, a detailed statement of the reason why such information cannot be furnished:

(a) Name, address, telephone number and headquarters of the person applying for the permit.

(b) The purposes for which such solicitation is to be made and the use or disposition to be made of any receipts therefrom; or property purchased if the same is to be distributed by the solicitor;

(c) The name of the person by whom the receipts of such solicitation shall be disbursed;

(d) The names, addresses and telephone numbers of the person or persons who will be in direct charge of conducting the solicitation, and the names of all solicitors, plus their addresses and telephone numbers;

(e) An outline of the method or methods to be used in conducting the solicitation;

(f) The time when such solicitations shall be made, giving the proposed dates for the beginning and ending of such solicitations;

(g) The amount of any wages, fees, commissions, expenses or emoluments to be expended or paid to anyone in connection with such solicitation, together with the manner in which such wages, fees, expenses, commissions, or emoluments are to be expended, to whom paid and the amount thereof;

(h) A statement of all anticipated expenses relating to the solicitation, including the cost of all articles, tags, tickets, emblems, publications, advertisements, subscriptions, printing, distribution or other expense incidental to the solicitation.

(i) A financial statement for the last preceding fiscal year of any funds collected for the purposes set out in paragraph (b) of the application.

(j) A full statement of the character and extent of the charitable, civic, educational, patriotic, philanthropic or religious work being done by the applicant within the City of Pontiac.

(k) Such other information as may be required by the City Clerk for him to determine the kind and character of the proposed solicitation and whether such solicitation is in the interest of, and not inimical to, the public welfare.

Section 4. Filing Fake Application.

It shall be a violation of this ordinance for any person, knowingly, to file, or cause to be filed, an application containing one or more false statements.

Section 5. Standards for Manager's Action in Granting or Denying Applications.

The City Manager shall authorize the permit provided for in Section 2 hereof whenever he shall find the following facts to exist:

(a) That the applicant is a person or organization which is, as a matter of fact, engaged in charitable, patriotic, civic, educational, philanthropic or religious activity, or engaged in raising funds for distribution to such persons or organizations.

(b) That the net proceeds derived from the solicitations authorized under the permit shall be used exclusively for charitable, civic, educational, patriotic, philanthropic or religious purposes.

(c) That none of the proceeds derived from the solicitations authorized by the permit will be divided in any manner with persons who actually make the solicitations.

(d) That the proceeds of the solicitations authorized by the permit will not be divided or in any manner shared, either directly or indirectly, with any person or organization other than the applicant for the permit, or the person or organization for whose benefit the solicitation is made.

(e) That expenses incidental to the solicitation shall not exceed thirty per cent (30%) of the gross proceeds, assuring the donor that at least seventy per cent (70%) of the donation shall be used for the charitable, civic, educational, patriotic, philanthropic or religious activity named, provided, however, that where the solicitation is incidental to the sale of something claimed to be of value, the City Manager may, in his discretion, authorize a departure from the above ratio.

Section 6. Fee.

At the time when a permit is issued, there shall be paid to the City Treasurer the sum of $1.00 to cover the cost of an investigation into the qualifications of the applicant as above provided. There shall be no further charge for the permit, but the sum of ten cents (10c) shall be paid for each facsimile copy of the permit that is desired. All permits shall specify the period of solicitation, and all annual permits shall expire December 31st following date of issuance.

Section 7. Permit Non-Transferable.

Any permit approved and issued under this ordinance shall be non-transferable, provided, however, that this shall not prevent any permittee from using any number of solicitors and representatives as shall be reported to the City Clerk, and, provided further, that the City Manager may at his discretion, require that each solicitor and representative shall carry a facsimile copy of such permit while engaged in solicitation. All permits and facsimile copies shall be returned to the City Clerk within two (2) days of the date of expiration.

Section 8. Permit Not Endorsement by City.

No person shall represent that the granting of a permit hereunder is an endorsement by the City of Pontiac of the particular organization involved, and any such representation is hereby declared to be a misrepresentation of fact and subject to the provisions for revocation of the permit as herein provided.

Section 9. Procedure for Revocation of Permit.

If, upon receipt of written information or upon his own investigation, the City Manager has reason to believe that any officer, agent or representative of a permittee is misrepresenting facts or making untrue statements, or has misrepresented facts or made untrue statements either with words or by implication, with regard to solicitations or the purposes thereof, or has made untrue statements in the application, or that in any other way the solicitations have been conducted, or are being conducted, in violation of any part of this ordinance and not in conformity with the intent and purpose of this ordinance, then the City Manager shall immediately suspend such permit: Provided, however, that before any permit is revoked, the City Manager shall cause to be mailed to the permit holder a notice that a hearing is to be had before the City Commission, and such notice shall be mailed or served upon the permittee personally, at least twenty-four hours before said hearing, and at such hearing the facts shall be ascertained and reported to the City Commission at its next meeting, and if it shall find any of the reasons above set forth for revoking the permit exist, the permit shall be revoked.

Section 10. Separability.

If any clause, sentence, paragraph or part of this ordinance shall for any reason be finally adjudged by any court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such judgment shall not affect, impair or invalidate the remainder of this ordinance, but shall be confined in its operation to the clause, sentence, paragraph or part thereof directly involved in the controversy in which such judgment shall have been rendered.

Section 11. Penalties.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this ordinance, or filing, or causing to be filed, an application for a permit or certificate under this ordinance containing false or fraudulent mis-statements, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not more than one hundred dollars ($100.00) and costs, or shall be imprisoned for not more than ninety (90) days, or may be punished by both fine and imprisonment.

Section 12. Repeal of Conflicting Ordinance.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances of the City of Pontiac inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed so far as inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance, including Ordinance No. 703.

This ordinance shall take effect ten days after the passage thereof by the Commission of the City of Pontiac, Michigan.

Made and passed by the Commission of the City of Pontiac, on the 2nd day of August, 1954.

WM. W. DONALDSON,
Mayor.
ADA R. EVANS,
City Clerk.
