Thugs Herd 4 Persons Into Back Room as Love Record Plays

Two armed thugs robbed a downtown jewelry store in mid-afternoon yesterday, escaping with $525.

The 10-minute robbery of Lynn Jewelers, 1 S. Saginaw St., was carried on to the accompaniment of love music.

Owner Jerry D. Lynn, 29, of Detroit, two employes and a customer were herded unharmed into a back room while the pair left by the front door.

The pair entered at 3:35 p.m., Manager Irving LaDuke, 31, of Clarkston said. One of them asked LaDuke to demonstrate a phonograph.

LaDuke told Pontiac Police Detectives Richard Evans and Olin Hoffman that he put on a record entitled "Love Letters."

The man then raised a handkerchief to his face and stuck a snub-nosed, nickel-plated pistol in LaDuke's back.

FORCED TO REAR

The manager said he was forced to the rear where Lynn and a bookkeeper, Mrs. Carolyn Asbury, 44, of 2625 Woodbine Dr., Waterford Township, were standing behind a counter.

From a position in front of the counter, the second man also raised a handkerchief to his face and pulled a pistol on Mrs. Asbury.

A customer, Fred Julian, 24, of 110 Wall St., said he was commanded to face the wall by one thug.

EMPTY CASH DRAWER

Mrs. Asbury was ordered to remove bills from the office cash drawer and stuff them into a store envelope, along with petty cash which was lying on a table, Evans said.

The pair refused to take loose change and made no mention of jewelry or money on the victims' persons, Evans added. Mrs. Asbury said she showed them the safe contained no money and they left it untouched.

The four escaped the back room by pounding on a door connecting another store, where police were summoned.

40,000 in Tokyo Hear Graham

Japanese Crowds Jam Stadium as Evangelist Warns World on War

TOKYO (AP) — U.S. evangelist Billy Graham today prayed for Ichiro Hatoyama, Christian prime minister of Japan, and later preached the gospel to thousands of Japanese and Americans.

Police estimated 15,000 persons jammed the International Indoor Stadium to sing hymns and hear Graham warn that "The world will blow itself out of existence" unless it bridges a gulf of sin between God and man.

Police said another 3,000 listened to the sermon on loudspeakers outside. Several hundred of these angrily beat on the doors which had been closed an hour before Graham's scheduled appearance. The evangelist's spokesmen estimated the total crowd at 40,000.

2 MASS MEETINGS

It was the first of two mass meetings Graham has scheduled during a week in Japan.

He spoke in English. Interpreter Shoichi Ozaki translated the message into staccato Japanese sentences, at the same time imitating Graham's gestures.

In the throng — silent at Graham's request — were Japanese in Kimono and modern dress and hundreds of American servicemen in uniform, some with wives and babies.

Washington Saw Beginning of a New Civilization Here

(Editor's Note: Assuming George Washington really slept in half the places that claim he did, what kind of accommodations was he likely to find in them? How much did an average dinner cost him? What did it consist of? How was the room service? Here's a factual story that answers these and other questions about the first Presidents' travel habits.)

By CHARLES MERCER
AP Newsfeatures Writer

It has become a tiresome old joke that "George Washington slept here." Actually most of his camp sites and resting places have disappeared. But he was a great traveler, one of the most durable of his time, and he saw the beginnings of a great civilization.

Washington was in Boston just three times. He never got farther north than Kittery, Me., just across the New Hampshire border. He never was in Vermont, though he visited Albany and ranged some distance west into the Mohawk Valley.

He never was south of his beloved Virginia until 1791. Then, at the age of 59, he rode 1,887 miles through the Carolinas and Georgia, traveling 40 to 50 miles a day over foul roads in foul weather.

Those who glide on super-highways today over the traces of George Washington's America cannot realize what this means unless they've ridden five miles on horseback.

As a younger man the general wandered as far west as West Virginia, Western Pennsylvania and the beginnings of Ohio. He knew the dense shadows and brooding silence of the original forests, the almost impenetrable jungle of oak, pine, hemlock and chestnut tangled with wild grapevine. He knew the rivers of wonderful names: Allegheny and Monongahela and Youghiogheny. A better painter than Gilbert Stuart would have seen much of all this on his face.

It was a source of ironic amusement to the general and the strong young men he always chose as aides that almost always when he started a journey the weather turned bad: Hot or rainy or sleeting or snowing. The wind seemed to quarter to smite the general's face, and he leaned into it, cocked hat pulled low, greatcape fluttering, cold numbing the strong booted legs that clamped the horse's

Layoff Pay Plan Discord Hinted

Bronner Reports Some Opposition to Proposal by Detroit UAW Men

DETROIT (AP) — George Bonner of Grand Rapids, new chairman of the Michigan Information Committee, says he has found sentiment among some Detroit members of the United Auto Workers against the layoff pay plan negotiated with the auto-makers by the union.

The committee was formed to work for legislative action to block the plan in Michigan, and such a bill now is under study by a committee of the State Legislature in Lansing.

If the Legislature turns down the bill to block layoff pay, Bronner said his committee will seek a referendum on it in the fall elections.

Bronner, a UAW member, is a tool and die worker at the General Motors Fisher body plant in Grand Rapids. His appointment as chairman was announced Saturday, following the resignation of Dan Gerber, president of Gerber Products Co., of Fremont.

Bronner said Gerber resigned because of a threatened union boycott of Gerber baby food products. Gerber has denied he was subjected to pressure. He said he quit because he did not agree with aims of the committee.

Bonner said he spent Sunday talking with UAW members from four Detroit area plants and that they expressed opposition to the layoff pay plan. He did not say with how many he talked.

Connecticut Governor Speaks

Lauds Work of Red Cross

Ribicoff told a campaign luncheon in New York that he had known "vaguely" of the work done by the Red Cross, but had never seen the organization in action.

The group's work in Connecticut's flooded towns was a "revelation," he declared, calling the services "indispensable" and deploring that "the Red Cross story is not known the way it should be."

Prophet Freed on Bond Following Morals Arrest

DETROIT (AP)—As several hundred followers stood by, James F. (Prophet) Jones was released under $2,500 bond today following his arraignment on a morals charge.

The 48-year-old leader of a Negro religious cult stood mute at his arraignment in Recorder's (Criminal) Court Judge Gerald W. Groat entered a plea of innocent for him. Examination was set for Feb. 29.

About 300 members of his flock, members of the Church of Universal Triumph, Dominion of God, Inc., hailed the Prophet's release with cries of "go home, all is well!"

Jones spent last night in Wayne County Jail after his arrest on a charge of gross indecency and many of his followers crowded jail corridors throughout the night to be close to their leader.

Jones, one-time boy evangelist, was arrested yesterday at his 54-room mansion known as the French castle. A warrant authorizing his arrest was signed by vice bureau patrolman John Henry who made several visits to Jones' palatial home in the course of his investigation. At one audience, the warrant stated Jones made indecent advances.

Fourteen members of Jones' flock, 11 youths and three women, were taken to police headquarters for questioning. Jones' chief aide, Douglas T. (Prince) Rogers, 30, voluntarily accompanied Jones to police headquarters. No charge was placed against Rogers.

The warrant said Henry obtained

Perry Street Building to Receive 550 Pupils From Other Schools

Pontiac's new Madison Junior High School, at 1275 N. Perry St., will open to about 550 pupils Friday, according to Assistant Superintendent of Schools J. Cecil Cox.

The boilerhouse and two classroom wings have been completed, said Cox, but a shortage of structural steel will hold up completion of the gym and cafeteria for a few months.

The Madison students will be transferred from Weber School, which will be converted back to an elementary school to relieve overloading at Owen and Hawthorne Schools.

Madison's total completed cost will be about $1,238,431, and its pupil capacity 616.

The structure was started June 16 last year. Contractors are Ward W. Ross, Inc.; Eames and Brown and Ballard Electric. Principal of the new school is George Yansen.

Legal Holiday Closing Doors on Some Offices

Both Pontiac banks, the post office and its branches, offices in the County Building and Courthouse will be closed tomorrow in celebration of George Washington's birthday.

City Hall offices will be open along with the main library at 47 Williams. The two branch libraries will be closed as usual on Wednesday.

Federal offices in the city will also be closed and the only delivery made by the postal services will be special delivery and perishables.

Dye Is Expected to Take Stand

Defense Attorney Seeks Dismissal of Charge of Assault to Murder

Former Fenton Village Attorney Clifford B. Dye, charged with attempting to murder a 27-year-old tenant farmer last Aug. 26, was expected to take the witness stand this afternoon.

Defense Attorney Clarence L. Smith was expected to attempt to show that William C. Clark tried to twist the gun that Dye held in the quarrel so as to shoot Dye.

Dye, 53, is charged with attempting to murder Clark following a purported dispute and court action between the two over a management of a farm leased by Clark from Dye's sister.

This morning before Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams, Smith requested dismissal, claiming the prosecution had not shown any intent on Dye's part to commit murder.

Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor argued that from witnesses' statements Dye had made alleged statements that "he would use a gun on Clark."

Smith said that Dye had fired the first two shots intentionally into the ground to warn Clark to stay away from him.

He said the last two shots went off accidentally with one of them striking Clark after he struggled with Dye.

He said Dye had become frightened that Clark would get violent with him and secured a gun permit June 6.

On the day of the non-fatal shooting, Dye had gone to the barn, Smith said, to ask Clark to remove a bull he believed had entered the barnyard.

The defense attorney told the court that after the shooting the accused offered to take the wounded farmer to the hospital. But Clark went to his truck with his wife, Smith added.

Within 10 minutes of her arrival she was on her way to her dentist by automobile.

After obtaining treatment, she will begin making preparations for the U.S. visit of Italian President Giovanni Gronchi. He leaves for this country next Sunday, and Mrs. Luce will take part in his tour while here.

Claims Russia Leads Nations in Peaceful Use

Premier Says Soviet Must Remain Ahead to Build Communism

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin today called on his party to use atomic energy to achieve victory for communism.

He claimed the Soviet Union was ahead of all countries in peaceful use of atomic energy, and he urged his audience at the 20th Communist Party Congress to keep this lead.

Bulganin formally introduced the sixth five-year plan and assured the delegates that collective leadership of the party would continue.

"If the 19th Century was the age of steam," Bulganin said, "the 20th Century — the age of electricity — is becoming the age of atomic energy which harbors unlimited potentialities for the development of productive forces.

"We Communists must fully place the greatest discovery of the 20th Century—atomic energy — at the service of . . . the cause of building communism.

"In the peaceful uses of atomic energy our country is ahead of other countries. This lead we must keep in the future as well."

The white-goateed marshal, taking the spotlight for the first time since the congress opened a week ago in the Grand Kramlin Palace, filled in details of the economic program published by party organs just before the congress opened.

It appeared certain that delegates would vote with alacrity for the new economic blueprint. It calls for sharp boosts in heavy industry and agricultural production and development of nuclear power stations.

For example, it asks a 70 per cent increase in steel production by 1960 and increases ranging from 85 to 154 per cent in basic food crops.

TANGLED WAGES

Another party stalwart, First Deputy Premier Lazar Kaganovich called the Soviet wage scale in industry "all tangled up" and "obsolete" and said a thorough study was needed to bring pay scales to a realistic basis.

Kaganovich's speech was carried in full in the Soviet press today.

He indicated much of the bonus pay workers have been getting for overfulfilling their quotas would be blanketed into the basic wage scale—now averaging 800 to 1,200 rubles ($200 to $300 per month at the artificial government exchange rate).

But he also indicated that minimum work requirements would be boosted accordingly.

Fear Thaw Will Bring Floods

New Snows Grip Europe

LONDON (AP)—Heavy snows and bitter winds spread still more misery over frozen Europe today, locked in the 22nd day of its worst freeze-up of the 20th century.

Deaths from the weather totaled at least 737.

Weathermen cautiously said milder temperatures might be in the offing, but that brought fears of widespread flooding from thawing rivers and snows.

Italy, one of the worst hit countries, faced new troubles—Communist-backed relief riots. Demonstrators clashed with police in several traditionally poor Southern towns where cold has brought new hardships.

Communist East Europe called out troops to keep industries moving. Czechoslovakia ordered soldiers into coal mines. Hungary put troops into its giant Stalinvaros steel plant after heavy snows snarled operations.

Britain too used troops for snow clearing.

Frigid weather came back to Spain. The Balearic Islands, favorite sunshine spot for tourists, lay under thick snow. Barcelona had thunder, hail, rain — and then a blizzard. Snow plows had to rescue a movie unit stuck in the Pyrenees Mountains.

Paris shivered in its coldest Feb. 21 on record—8 degrees. Wine growers in the Bordeaux area feared half their vines were dead.

The winter already has cost hundreds of millions of dollars in spring crops.

SNOW JOLTS ITALY

New snows covered most of northern Italy. Rome reported a big increase in deaths not directly caused by the weather. One paper carried five columns of obituary notices instead of the usual half column.

Ice packs blocked coastal shipping in the North Sea and Baltic. Coal was short in towns across Germany. Wild boars and deer came down into towns looking for food.

An earthquake rocked a large area of Turkey between Istanbul and Ankara, wrecking more than 100 houses in two villages alone. Press reports said one woman died of fright and eight persons were injured in a theater which collapsed during the tremor.

Probers Delving Oil Money Quiz

Senate Edges Toward Broad Investigation of Lobbyists' Activities

WASHINGTON (AP) — A special committee probed further today into the use of "oil money" for political contributions while the Senate edged toward a broad investigation of campaign donations, lobbying and legislative influence.

The special committee looking into the $2,500 offered to and rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) during the natural gas bill debate called Joseph Wishart, Nebraska state Republican finance chairman, for questioning about a like contribution from John M. Neff, lawyer-lobbyist for the Superior Oil Co. of California.

Both the Senate committee and a federal grand jury are looking into the contribution to the Nebraska GOP committee as part of an investigation of the proffered $2,500 donation to Case.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican leader, planned meantime to lay before the Senate GOP Policy Committee a proposal for a special bipartisan committee of six to undertake a broader inquiry.

Acceptance of the proposal by the Senate apparently would wipe out prospective separate investigations by other subcommittees.

Donald R. Ross, who resigned last week as U.S. Attorney from Nebraska, told the committee Neff had contributed $2,500 to the Nebraska GOP committee last October after talking to the state's two senators about the gas bill.

With tears in his eyes, Ross testified Neff had tried to hire him and to give $500 to his children in connection with the lawyer-lobbyist's activities on behalf of the gas bill.

Ross said he rejected Neff's employment offer and promptly returned passbooks Neff sent to him on a Lexington savings and loan association made out with $100 for each of Ross' five children.

Jail Prophet Jones on Indecency Counts

audiences with Jones on the pretense of seeking a cure for a twitch in the arm. The Prophet, according to the warrant, advised the policeman to soak his face and hands in cold water.

Henry said he went to Jones' home on Dec. 29 to tell him his arm was cured and to thank the Prophet for the treatments. The warrant quoted Jones as saying, "The Lord knows that I am not a fake. Thank you, God." It was then, the warrant said, that Jones performed grossly indecent acts.

Police said Henry paid $10 a visit.

Describing the arrest, Slack said Henry entered the house first. Jones refused to open the door until the officers identified themselves.

Police found the Prophet clad in red pajamas trimmed in white. Slack said two youths were in the room. Jones, informed of his arrest, was quoted by Slack as saying, "God help me." Slack said Jones protested his innocence and excitedly recited quotations from the Bible.

Jones headed an organization he has styled the Universal Triumph, Dominion of God, Inc. He refers to himself as the Rt. Rev. Dr. James F. Jones, D.D., H.D.R., dominion ruler.

He was born in Birmingham, Ala. in 1907 and became a boy evangelist at the age of seven. He left Birmingham in 1935 and came to Detroit after conducting revival meetings through the south.

He and his followers hold services in a converted theater. His followers in the past have showered him with expensive and exotic gifts—including a white mink coat.

In recent days, Jones has suffered some apparent financial reverses. His auto fleet—a Lincoln, Cadillac and Buick — twice was seized to satisfy judgments brought by people to whom he owed money. The rolling stock was gotten out of hock both times.

Britain Announces Plans for Americanizing Army

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced plans today for a new, streamlined hard-hitting army equipped with American guided missiles to meet the new pattern of nuclear war.

Training in use of the American land-to-land missile "Corporal" will begin this year, War Minister Antony Head disclosed.

The entire army pattern will be revamped with the emphasis on smaller, fast moving combat groups, comprising both infantry and armor and equipped with the most modern weapons available, he said.

A new independent infantry brigade, will be set up and earmarked to move quickly to any part of the world.

The estimates call for an expenditure of 479 million pounds — $1,441,000,000— in 1956-57; a drop of 5 million pounds —14 million dollars— from 1955-56.

Manpower will be cut from 405,000 to 374,500 in line with Prime Minister Eden's plan to trim 100,000 men off the armed forces the next six years.

Head said special equipment to protect troops from the effects of atomic radiation has been developed.

Seek Warrants in Murder Plot

Detroit Officers to Ask Measure Against Five in Revenge Attempt

DETROIT (AP) — Two police officers said today they will ask conspiracy to murder warrants in what they described as a plot by the mother of a slain policeman to have her daughter-in-law killed for revenge.

Detective Sgt. Harold Cooper and Detective Oliver Rowell said they would ask warrants against Mrs. Agnes Astasauskas, 58; her daughter and son-in-law, Bertha and John Levon, and two skid row habitues, Donald Russell, 43, and Thomas Bunch, 50.

Cooper and Rowell said Mrs. Astasaukas admitted to them yesterday she had tried to hire Russell and Bunch to kill Marian Austin, 34, to avenge the death of Mrs. Astasauskas' son, Patrolman Vincent Austin.

Austin was shot to death by his wife four years ago. She was acquitted on grounds of temporary insanity.

TO 'BEAT UP'

Police said Mrs. Astasauskas previously admitted she tried to hire Russell and Bunch "to beat up, not kill" Mrs. Austin. But Cooper and Rowell said she changed her story yesterday.

The alleged plot came to light when Russell tipped Mrs. Austin and police her mother-in-law was trying to have her killed.

Levon, 43, and his wife, 38, told Assistant Prosecutor Alvin Davenport that a fake conspiracy had been concocted with Russell to make the dead policeman's mother think his death would be avenged.

The Levons said the plot was "just make believe to make an old lady happy," because her son's death "had preyed on her mind." They also said they were fearful she might take "some action herself."

Two Bandits Rob Local Motel of $82

Two bandits, one brandishing a shotgun, held up the Motel Lee on Telegraph Road at Square Lake Rode last night. They escaped with $82.25 and a customer's gold watch from the till.

Night Manager Raymond Taylor, 144 W. Ann Arbor St., told police one of the bandits was over six feet tall. The other, he said, was about five feet four.

Taylor said the tall man, who was carrying a .410 shotgun, told him to lie down behind the counter while the pair escaped. Police said they were seen driving east on Square Lake Road in a two-tone, light blue, late model car.

Doctor Orders Cobo to Bed to Cure Cold

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit Mayor Albert E. Cobo today was under doctor's orders to spend several days at home to cure a bad cold.

Dr. Basil H. Hunter yesterday said the mayor was suffering from an upper respiratory infection accompanied by a slight fever, but that the condition was not serious.

Waive Examination in Robbery Charges

Although charged with a specific Hazel Park holdup Feb. 13, the four have admitted four other robberies, Hazel Park police said.

The quartet, each wanted by at least four other law enforcement agencies, are John Panzo, 18, of Dearborn, and Louis Mallat, 21, Frank Mallat, 19, and Ronald Gregory, 20, all of Detroit.

Bond of $5,000 apiece was set, but not furnished. The four are in jail awaiting circuit court arraignment Monday.

Towing of Car Brought Ticket, Warrant Says

A warrant was issued yesterday against a city parking lot owner who allegedly was responsible for towing a legally parked car across his driveway and having police tow it away.

A complaint against William Terentiak, 637 Central Ave., was signed by Gerald Schram of Drayton Plains, who told police he saw an attendant at Terntiak's Plainfield Street lot tow the car away from a parking meter across the driveway.

Pontiac police said the car, which belonged to Barbara Bellows of Waterford Township, was then impounded and towed away to the police yard.

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum issued the warrant yesterday afternoon. Police said it will be served today.

School Bus Plan Appears Doomed

LANSING (AP)—A House bill requiring motorists to stop when approaching school buses in the opposite lane is apparently doomed to die in committee.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Fred W. Zinn (R-Battle Creek), was sent to the Public Safety Committee last night over the objection of sponsors who argued it would reduce school bus accidents.

Present law requires drivers to stop when overtaking school buses from the rear if the buses are loading or unloading passengers.

Zinn argued that 43 state have laws requiring drivers to stop for buses in the opposite lane and that the laws have cut the number of accidents.

But opponents objected there is no proof that the laws have reduced the number of accidents.

Give $306,072 in Contracts for County Road Projects

Contracts totaling $306,072 have been awarded by the Oakland County Road Commission for recap and repair work on 11.5 miles of county roads, according to Commission Chairman Lee O. Brooks.

Two contracts were let on Ten Mile Road over 4.5 miles between Telegraph and Powers Rds. The H. J. Brighton Co., of Detroit, will repair the existing concrete pavement plus doing excavation and gravel fill work at cost of $66,675.

The A. & A. Asphalt Paving Co., of Birmingham, will then put blacktop recap on the repaired stretch for $92,374.

The Detroit Concrete Products Co. received a contract to recap 7 miles of Lahser Road from Eight Mile to Maple Rds.

The commission has purchased 2,220 barrels of cement, at $3.66 each, to stabilize Sashabaw Road from Clarkston Road about two miles north.

All projects will start as soon as weather conditions allow, said Brooks. The commission has been taking bids early this year, Brooks added, and contracts are going for less than original estimates.

Washington Saw Birth of a New Era flanks. It is accurate, not just romantic, to remember him thus.

The general always tried to begin a journey before dawn and before breakfast—to the special distress of that young aide, Col. Alexander Hamilton. But there was method in the general's madness.

He did it for the sake of the horse he was riding; he knew and respected horses thoroughly; none of America's leaders was a better horseman until U. S. Grant appeared.

Washington knew you get more from a horse in the early morning before he feels the weather. After riding seven or eight miles with the three or four aides and score of dragoons who usually accompanied him, they'd dismount at an inn or someone's house. There they rested and fed the horses — "baited" them, as they called it. Then, if the general were lucky, he might have his favorite breakfast: Indian hoecakes and honey and tea.

NOON REST

Toward noon they stopped again and somebody broke out rations: biscuits and a bit of cold ham or tongue and maybe some of the general's favorite Madeira wine. Then they pressed on until darkness or exhausted horses stopped them.

When the general and his aides were lucky, they spent the night at a good inn. And to this day there probably isn't anything much better than was a good colonial inn. For one thing, it was the local capital—the gathering center. It was life itself, the scene of eating, drinking, politicking, quarreling. In New York and New England these centers were called taverns. In the south they were known as ordinaries. But in Pennsylvania and New Jersey they were called inns.

As the Revolution waxed, many patriotic inn - keepers named their inns "Sign of Gen. George Washington." There were other popular and wonderful names: Sign of the Cross Keys, Sign of the Buck, Indian Queen, Black Horse, Rising Sun, Mermaid.

The best of them were square, stone, two-storied structures with a tap room and a parlor and upstairs bedrooms with six to eight beds to a room.

It doesn't take much imagination to see the general stiffly dismounting before one of these inns on a cold winter evening. Followed by his aides, he steps into a dimly lighted room heated by a huge chestnut log in a wide stone fireplace.

The good inn-keeper was a respected and often a powerful man. He stands at one end of a long table personally carving the roasts for the guests while his wife serves other dishes at the opposite end.

What tables those were! There were boiled mutton and boiled beef and baked ham and hot roast turkey; there were mashed potatoes and boiled onions and creamed turnips and coldslaw and two or three kinds of pickles and four or five kinds of jellies and hot rolls, biscuits and wheat bread.

HEARTY FOLK

They were hearty folk in those days, and when the guests had polished off this course, washing it down with small beer and mulled wine and buttered rum, the innkeeper's wife and her servants cleared the table and brought in the next course. They brought in mince, custard and apple pie, pound cake, suet pudding, doughnuts and tea.

But the general does not rush to the table. He stands, hands clasped behind him, warming his saddle-chilled backside at the fire. His grave face bears an almost abstracted expression: only history will tell how much was on his mind. He wears an old blue coat and a buff vest and breaches. His shirt is of the finest linen, but he wears no ruffles at the wrists and his greying hair is uncurled and bears little powder. The firelight cannot catch the oil polish of his muddy boots.

He is served dinner with his aides at a small table. But he does not gorge. He eats heartily of one meat and a little vegetable. He would be pleased if fish were offered. He eats a little suet pudding and wishes a bowl of fruits and nuts were available. With his food he drinks four or five glasses of Madeira.

The inn-keeper has given the general a bedroom to himself and he personally goes up to heat the general's bed with a warming pan and place a flannel-wrapped hot stone at the general's foot.

The general goes up to bed early, for he will rise early and ride again before breakfast.

It is, he thinks, a good inn. He has known far worse nights: Nights when he's chewed a bit of unsalted beef and rolled himself in one lice-crawling blanket before a flickering fire. And he's known better nights: Mount Vernon nights when there was laughter and music and a small minuet.

And, knowing how this whole incredible experiment in war is suspended on a tenuous spider web of faith, he is certain there will be worse nights and he hopes there will be better nights.

He falls asleep quickly, for he will rise early and ride again.

The Day in Birmingham

Okay Health Integration at Commission Meeting

BIRMINGHAM — Details completing the integration of the city's health department with the Oakland County Department of Health were approved by City Commissioners last night.

The letter clarifying policy, staff changes, and other items from City Manager D. C. Egbert to Dr. John D. Monroe of the county health unit said, "Sanitarians and nurses provided at a ratio per population would be subject to county policies except the present staff would stay under city pay status to retain retirement tenure."

With Mrs. Anyce Gillette assuming supervisory responsibilities for nursing, the Oakland group is to fill the staff position she vacates. She is to have from five to nine nurses under her according to the letter's recommendation.

Space in the city's municipal building will be provided with alterations to include the present offices of the police chief, his secretary, juvenile offices, squad room and the present coffee room.

Henry Johns, presently a city sanitarian, will not transfer into the integrated health unit but Mrs. Gillette and Mrs. Doris Donaldson will be under the Oakland department's supervision.

Parking Lot 3-A's recently passed necessity resolution is to receive further consideration and has been tabled pending study as to whether the William and Robert Bany property should be in the assessment district.

The Banys who operate the flower shop on Willits requested that their site be included because of need for parking facility according to the ordinance that otherwise would prevent their expansion.

Eggs were thrown into their parked cars, reported Kevin Roach, 493 W. Frank, and Mrs. Donald Graves, 468 W. Frank, Sunday, but police have been unable to solve the riddle of who or why.

Girls Town, for which Women's Club members are tomorrow staging a card party and tea at the community house, is a projected home for girls, site for which has not been chosen. But the Michigan Federation of Women's clubs have accumulated $50,000 towards the home and its operation.

Mrs. Matthew Cammareri, project chairman for the local group, has planned the party, with aides from each of the four sections. Mrs. John Rosso Sr., Mrs. Paul Grant and Mrs. Wilber Johnstone and Mrs. Carl Rice.

Pouring tea will be Mrs. Lawrence Heintz, club president, Mrs. Charles Shain, Mrs. Rice and Mrs. Carl Binkel.

Worthy Grand Matron Glenna P. Hagle and other state officers were guests of the Birmingham chapter No. 220, Order of the Eastern Star last night at Masonic Temple. The grand officers exemplified degrees after the dinner.

Wally Wolcott's visit last night to the High Twelve Club here recalled his founding of the High Twelve organization in Sioux City, Iowa in 1921. His talk pointed up his goal, then and now, of a men's group with prime interest in the welfare and progress of communities.

Thomas E. Campbell, past president, was chairman of the program, which featured support of the "Wolcott Foundation," to aid young men and women to take business post graduate work at George Washington University.

Wayne County Official Indicted

Drain Commissioner, Ex-Tax Agent Are Cited on Bribery Charge

DETROIT (INS) — Wayne County Drain Commissioner Christopher J. Mulle was indicted by a federal grand jury on two counts of conspiracy and violation of the bribery section of the U. S. Code.

Conviction on both counts could result in a maximum prison sentence of eight years.

Indicted with Mulle was former Internal Revenue agent Carl Tabbert. The offense allegedly consisted of a $350 payment on a car ordered by Joseph Hamer, a special agent of the Internal Revenue Bureau.

Hamer reportedly was investigating approximately $30,000 worth of income tax returns prepared by Mulle at the time the payment was made. Mulle, as an attorney, was preparing the returns for clients.

3 YEARS TARDY

Some of the returns were said to be three years in arrears.

However, Hamer canceled his order and never accepted the car.

Mulle said:

"This is a preposterous, ridiculous, terrible thing. I have a confession from the individual who actually made the payment."

Mulle refused to name the man he said made the confessions.

Phone Tip to Williams to Save His Fireplace

DETROIT (AP) — Workmen called Gov. Williams yesterday to tell him he had better rescue his marble fireplace and walnut paneling for posterity in a hurry.

They're tearing down the governor's birthplace to make room for the war memorial hall on the expanding Wayne University campus and Williams earlier had expressed interest in saving the fireplace and paneling.

When workmen started hammering on the two-story, brick home yesterday, the two items had not been touched.

Schedule Hearing on Water Aid Bills

Bills designed to aid local communities in solving their long-range water needs will be the subject of a public hearing at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Lansing.

All interested municipal and county officials have been invited to attend the session in the Senate chambers.

The measures, sponsored by Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), would set up a $200,000,000 revolving fund for loans to local units for construction and improvement of water supply and sewage projects.

The State Water Resources Commission would be authorized to make surveys and establish sewage disposal and water supply districts on request of two or more local units.

Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman said today he will be unable to attend the hearing, but has notified Broomfield that he supports the plan.

The doctor's wife, Freda, said her husband had been acting strangely for two weeks but she added she couldn't believe he had taken his own life.

Edison Operates New Generator

World's Most Powerful Electric Power Turbine Located in River Rouge

DETROIT (AP)—The most powerful steam turbine electric generator in the world began producing power yesterday at the Detroit Edison's new River Rouge plant.

The new generator is capable of producing 260,000 kilowatts, the equivalent of 350,000 horsepower or enough electricity to take care of the entire light an power needs of 400,000 people.

It is the first of three generators to be installed in the new River Rouge plant in suburban Detroit.

The new power will go into a "pool" collected from other Edison plants, bringing the pool to 2,795,000 kilowatts.

Detroit Edison serves an area of 7,600 square miles, from the tip of the Michigan thumb to the Ohio border, and from the Canadian border west almost to Lansing.

Ground was broken for the new River Rouge plant in November, 1953. The second generator, equal in power to the first, is scheduled to be cut in November of this year, and a third and even larger one 300,000 kilowatts) in November of 1957.

Boilers in the coal-burning plant are 150 feet—about 15 stories—high. Its three smokestacks reach 400 feet—about 40 stories—into the air.

The U. S. natural gas industry has 29,2100,000 customers.

What Does the Future Hold for Clare Luce?

(This is the last of two articles in which a veteran Rome correspondent describes the career of Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce as U. S. Ambassador to Italy.)

By MICHAEL CHINIGO

ROME (INS)—What new worlds does Clare Boothe Luce want to conquer?

After three years in Italy as U.S. Ambassador, she might have her eye on the London embassy.

Clare Boothe Luce, like most Americans, has a romantic fondness for royalty.

She made the candid confession to this writer after her visit "and tea" with the British Queen Mother and her daughters, queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret, shortly after Margaret's break-up with Peter Townsend.

Parenthetically she observed that Margaret did not look at all like a suffering woman in love, but perhaps complete control of emotions was a specialty of royalty.

Her minute description of the tea and the behavior of the three royal ladies left no doubt in the mind of this writer that this was one of Ambassador Luce's most pleasant experiences since she took the Rome post.

The "relaxed . . . unpretentious mien" of queens and princesses impressed her most.

LONDON NEXT ?

There was no doubt she had felt at home, and it would not be surprising if, were she to choose another ambassadorial post, it would be London.

* * *

The big question looms: What does Clare Luce want?

Italian officials expect her to leave Rome this year. To them, the London post seems a likely breather and a stepping-stone to something bigger in the U. S. itself for the attractive ambassador.

The feeling in Rome is that Mrs. Luce will be spending more and more time in the U. S. this year. Italians take it for granted she probably will have a key role in planning the Republican campaign and in selecting the slate.

She is expected to take on a big campaign speech load and contribute her utmost efforts to re-electing a Republican administration.

What will Clare Luce do after the elections?

Most Italians especially the aristocrats of Rome who know her best, say she has not made up her mind about what she wants to do.

Some of her close Italian friends say that her future decisions will depend on the moves of other key people in the Eisenhower administration.

MAY BID FOR U. N. POST

Should Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge be shifted from the U. N. to a full cabinet post then, Italian intimates feel, she might very well bid for the U. N. post where her oratorical ability and wit could deal effectively with Communism.

* * *

Should John foster Dulles relinquish the post of Secretary of State, Clare Luce, after her experience in Rome, cannot be ruled out—those close to her maintain—as a possible successor.

CLARE BOOTHE LUCE

It is further said of Mrs. Luce that to cooperate closely with President Eisenhower in fashioning America's policy for the next four years—should he run and be re-elected—she might take almost any cabinet post, even if not of her liking.

In the numerous conversations this writer has had with her over the years, her awareness of the Communist threat to the world and the need for all human energies to contribute to its defeat has emerged with compelling clarity.

If real peace could be achieved tomorrow, perhaps she would retire to her writing and the hobby of painting she has begun to acquire at the persuasive insistence of Sr. Winston Churchill and President Eisenhower.

But until true peace does come, she may be expected to continue dedicating herself to the sturggle against Communism, no matter the role.

Naturally, a Democratic victory in November—which she as a first-line Republican will not even consider—would terminate her diplomatic mission.

A tip-off that her mind is not made up as to her future, and will not be until the next elections are over, is the fact that she has had her New York apartment on the East River completely done over and ready for occupancy.

ITALIANS WILL MISS HER

When she departs from Italy, most Italians will be sorry to see her go. And when she goes, Rome also will lose her as a "landmark" for visiting Americans.

One morning, walking to the embassy, she heard a middle-aged American couple, walking in front of her, remark: "Never mind the coliseum—it will be there when we come back. But we must see Ambassador Luce now, because she may be gone by the time we return."

She "didn't exactly appreciate being compared to a Roman . . . ruin," but she was so touched that she tried, thereafter, to greet as many visiting Americans as possible and of all walks of life.

She likes to recall how the British ambassador to Rome suggested to her, unsuccessfully, to "go to the embassy only in the morning." And she doesn't mind admitting that it took Italians quite a while to get used to the idea of a lady envoy, and especially a hard-working one.

She had the delicacy to switch from French to Italian masterpieces in paintings for the formerly barren walls of the Villa Taverna, ambassadorial residence and switch from French to Italian fashions for herself. Clare Luce is a past master at doing the "right thing."

She showed this in another way when she flew back from the U. S. to be present at the funeral of former prime minister and great friend of America, Alcide De Gasperi. And she showed it by flying to the U. S. aboard an Italian airline plane immediately after the disastrous crash of an Italian ship at Idlewild a year ago this last fall.

Above all, Clare Luce is willing to admit mistakes when she makes them.

For all these reasons, she will be missed in Rome when she goes. But until that happens, the Romans will continue to say, as their wish that she may have what she wants most: "Quo Vadis — Clare Luce?"

Cold in Italy Helping Red-Backed Revolt

ROME (AP) — Warning alerts against Communist-backed disorders flashed today from Premier Antonio Segni's Cabinet to authorities in southern Italian provinces plunged into new misery by the current cold wave.

The orders followed bitter clashes between demonstrators and police yesterday in Foggia, Comiso and other towns in the South. Traditionally poverty stricken, the region has been brought to a new low by the weather.

The government charged the Communists were in the vanguard of the demonstrators, who demanded larger government handouts.

The most violent outburst was at Comiso, a city of 23,000 in south east Sicily. Riot police there laid down a tear gas barrage to break up a demonstration of about 1,000 striking farm workers.

Housewife Has a Pet 350-Pound Puma

A 350-pound puma sits on a drain board while Mrs. Koontz washes her dishes. He follows her about the house and is as domesticated as a kitten—well, almost, although Mrs. Koontz has a few scratches.

She acquired the puma, named Kimbo, five years ago as a baby. She bottle fed him and reared him as a pet. Now he eats 10 pounds of horse meat and a gallon of milk daily, and watches television when time hangs heavy.

British to Raise Flag for 'Our George Washington'

WASHINGTON, England (AP) — The Stars and Stripes will fly bravely tomorrow in this Durham County village in honor, say the Englishmen who live here, "of our George Washington."

For some centuries ancestors of the first President of the United States lived in this North Sea coast village 265 miles north of London. And the community feels that although Washington was born in far-off Virginia, it has some special claim to him.

There are even many here who are convinced that the design of the Stars and Stripes had its origin here, and that the stern eagle of the great seal of the United States was originally a Durham bird.

TO RAISE U. S. FLAG

A ceremony has been arranged for the first President's birthday this year at the 2½-story gray stone building known as Washington Old Hall, ancestral home of early Washingtons. The American flag will be raised.

So far as is known, not a single member of the Washington family now lives here. Historians have remarked that the first President seems to have taken little interest in his English antecedents. The Washingtons and Wessingtons who remained here were loyal to the British crown.

Contacts are being re-established now and Washington Old Hall, managed by an Anglo-American committee, is being set up as a museum and a center to foster Anglo-American amith. It is attracting an increasing number of American visitors, and Washington hopes to become as popular as that other Washington shrine, Sulgrave Manor near Northampton, to which the family moved after long residence here. The immediate English progentiro of George Washington was his great-grandfather, Col. John Washington, who left Britain for the American Colonies in 1657.

AGE UNCERTAIN

The age of Washington Old Hall here is uncertain, but according to one chronology it was in existence in 1183. It tumbled into decay, and it would have vanished from the earth after condemnation in 1936 had it not been saved by a committee which raised a restoration fund here and in the United States.

American Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich accepted it as American property at a ceremony last September. His remarks on that occasion gave a great boost to the contention that the designs of the American flag and the great seal have their origins here.

At some time, probably before 1300, the Wessingtons or Washingtons adopted a coat of arms, which is to be seen today in the library of Durham Cathedral, and over a doorway of Hylton Castle.

The design consists of a seal, at the top of which is a line of three stars, and across which are three stripes. Surmounting all is a bird with raised wings which looks something like a dove, but a little imagination can make an eagle of it.

Commenting on this, Ambassador Aldrich said:

"Who can resist the conjecture that here, at Washington Old Hall, is the true origin of the Stars and Stripes, and the great seal of the United States government?

"It is surely more than coincidence that the Washington arms combined the stars, the stripes and the eagle 2½ centuries before America was even discovered, and five centuries before it became a nation."

'Creepy Peepy' TV Used in Battle Area

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has added to its combat arsenal a gadget it calls the "creepy-peepy"—a television camera and transmitter designed for use in forward battle areas.

One man could move the 55-pound camera and transmitter to an advanced position under cover of darkness, then withdraw to safety. A receiver set up behind the lines would record the transmitter's signal on a 10-inch picture tube.

Although designed for combat use, "creepy-peepy" might be used commercially for TV coverage of fast-breaking news stories, presidential nominating conventions and sports events, the Army said.

Youth Fills Churches

EAST LANSING (AP)—The growing church membership in the country is largely concentrated in the 20 to 30-year-old group, the Rev. Garner S. Odell of Detroit told a conference of young adult Presbyterian leaders at Michigan State University.

Letter, Telegram Mix Good News With Bad

WAILUKU, MAUI, Hawaii (AP)—Mrs. Victoria Gomes got a letter and a telegram Sunday. The letter was from her son, saying he would be coming home; the telegram reported that he was dead.

Cpl. Herbert Mamaril mailed the letter shortly before the Marines transport plane left Camp Pendleton for Oakland, Calif., saying: "We'll be flying over Friday morning." The plane he was on crashed south of Oakland last Friday afternoon, killing all 40 Marines aboard.

"May the good Lord bless you and keep you and the family as you are now," said his letter.

Kansas Hamlet Builds 25-Bed Do-It-Yourself Hospital

WINCHESTER, Kan. (AP)—It took three years and a lot of elbow grease but Winchester, a town of less than 400, is ready to dedicate its new 25-bed hospital tomorrow.

The money was raised almost entirely in this pint-sized community 40 miles northwest of Kansas City and neighboring hamlets even tinier. Winchester couldn't very well afford more.

But its people could, and did, pitch in to an extent which makes their trim Jefferson County Memorial Hospital a remarkable do-it-yourself project.

Without the volunteer workers, Ross B. Keys said, the hospital would have cost twice as much, far beyond the community's reach.

Keys, 64, has a farm with 150 cattle to feed. As chairman of the Winchester Hospital Committee, he spent many hours of tough work on the building site.

VOLUNTEERS WORK

"All the common labor was done by volunteers," he said. "We didn't build under a general contract. We did things one at a time—plumbing wiring, plastering—as the money became available."

Construction began in April 1953.

Subcontracts, ready mixes and similar expedients could have speeded completion.

But they would have increased costs. And 101-year-old Winchester, which has been dreaming of a hospital of its own for generations, was in no particular rush.

Volunteer work naturally fell off around harvest time.

"We never stopped, though," Keys said. "At times we had as many as 30 volunteers at the scene.

All told, Keys figures some 200 men and women donated their time and labor to the hospital.

"Until today, we were 25 miles from the nearest hospital," Keys said. "This will be a wonderful convenience for our people. And it may save a life sometime."

Soviets Approve Khrushchev's Anti-Stalin Line

LONDON (AP)—The 20th Communist party Congress in the Kremlin has approved "the political line" laid down by First Secretary Nikita Khrushchev, Moscow radio reported.

The new Kremlin line to Western ears sounded sharply anti-Stalin. Khrushchev's speech also denounced Western policies and called for a stress on heavy industry in Russia.

The Moscow broadcast said delegates unanimously endorsed Khrushchev's report to the Congress of last Tuesday after the 61-year-old party boss "declined to wind up the debates."

During the six-day meeting in Moscow, 51 delegates spoke, including Deputy Premier A. I. Mikoyan and former Premier Georgi Malenkov, who were sharply critical of Stalin's one-man dictatorial rule.

There has been no report so far of any address by Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin, whose omission from the speakers' list would be a sharp departure from practice.

Entire Crew of Freighter Under Suspicion of Killing

WILMINGTON, Calif. (INS)—A New Zealand freighter is in port here with a murder mystery such as one reads about in detective novels.

The craft is the Waitemata, which means sea of sparkling water in the Maori language.

All 35 members of the ordinary seamen members of its crew are under suspicion of being the two sailors from the ship who killed a Polynesian woman on the south sea island of Rarotonga last Dec. 26.

Detective Inspector James B. Finlay of the New Zealand Bureau of Criminal Invetsigation joined the freighter at Vancouver, B. C. after a flight from Wellington several days ago, but up to yesterday, he reported he had made no progress in ferreting out the slayers.

The killings was done by two of 16 men who went ashore at Rarotonga during celebration of Britain's boxing day, Dec. 26.

However, no log of those who went ashore was kept and so the list of suspects cannot be narrowed down even that much. As a result, the entire crew, except for the officers, remains suspect.

The victim of the slaying was a Mrs. Aiu Vakatini, 44. She was beaten to death when she came to her 14-year-old daughter's rescue when the sailors were trying to force the girl to accompany them to a village on another part of the island.

The crew was not held at the time because the freighter already had put to sea when the killing was discovered.

The ship is due to leave on the trip back to New Zealand today.

State to Restock Lake

CHEBOYGAN (AP)—The State Conservation Department plans to restock South Twin Lake with fish to make up for a heavy winter kill caused by lack of oxygen in the water. The lake will be stocked with bass and bluegills.

Firefighter Ends Up Where He Started Out

WINDBER, Pa. (AP) — Morris Barefoot was in the basement of his home burning old newspapers in the furnace. The fire whistle sounded and since he was the volunteer company's driver, Barefoot made haste.

At the municipal building, five blocks away, he jumped into the truck. As he pulled out of the garage the address was shoved into his hand. He pulled up in front of his own home.

Press Files Entry in Big Eisenhower Contest

Speculation in America is rife as to whether President Dwight D. Eisenhower will run again for the Presidency.

It continues to be a matter of daily discussion along the political fronts and in industry and commerce as well. The subject is alive in all forty-eight states. The Pontiac Press has refrained from filing an entry in the great, international derby as to whether the President will or will not become a candidate.

But we refuse to keep silent any longer.

The super-experts, the ordinary experts, the lesser experts and the "me too's" are all in there pitching. We feel that we qualify in the last division and we're going to give you the "guidance" and "benefit" of our wholly inexpert ideas on that basis.

The President will run.

Probably he would prefer to walk quietly and easily to the side lines and leave the tempestuous and tumultuous scene to half a dozen others. But The Press believes that the President will decline to make his decision on the basis of himself and his personal preferences.

We believe he will reach his finding in the light of world affairs, and affairs in the country. Based on that viewpoint, we believe he will see a clear-cut duty ahead and act accordingly.

As the nation's marginal soothsayer, we promise not to leap into print with a ringing "I Told You So," if we're right, providing you promise equally to refrain from twitting us if we're wrong.

O.K.?

Caribbean Federation

Of political and economic interest in the United States is a proposal now being discussed in London for federation of British island groups in the Caribbean.

These, now under five colonial administrations, include Barbadoes, Trinidad, Jamaica, Tobago, the Leeward and the Windward Islands. Their 3,000,000 people occupy territory stretching across 1,300 miles of sea. They produce and export such products as sugar cane, rum, limes, cotton, petroleum and asphalt.

Federation isn't a new subject for the islands. It has been discussed for many years. Heretofore, however, communication has been the big problem, but that disappeared with the arrival of the air age. Now, the major problem is island rivalry for the honor of becoming the capital.

Other problems still unsolved include methods of providing revenue and establishing a supreme court. Once there is agreement on this, the British are prepared to push a federation bill through Commons before summer.

London opinion inclines toward the belief that once federation is accomplished, it would become a strong candidate for dominion status within the British Commonwealth. Naturally, it would have to prove its ability to undertake the obligations and responsibilities of commonwealth membership before attaining that rank.

China's Russianization

A British professor of economics at Hong Kong University has been taking a look at Red China from the inside and believes that it is being "Russianized."

While he didn't see anything of the agricultural interior, Prof. E. Stuart Kirby had a chance to visit many towns in his three weeks' conducted tour. This convinced him that there has been solid progress in industrialization.

He also believes the standard of living for the urban population is slightly better than before. Rationed food and clothing, while sufficient, are deadly monotonous. But the people's love of banter, sense of humor and spirit of independence are largely gone.

"The thing that struck me most about the new China," Prof. Kirby told a correspondent in the British Crown Colony, "was a drabness and lack of sparkle in the people — their living conditions, their dress, their demeanor, indeed in everything."

As for Red China's new culture, he found it phony. Stage dancing is entirely Russian and so is choral singing. In his opinion Formosa's government, with all its imperfections, more truly represents the old China than the Russianized mainland.

What is happening is disturbing but not surprising. Prof. Kirby concludes that "a common culture is being fashioned at the lowest common denominator all the way from Leipzig to Hanoi."

The Man About Town

Women Drivers

Not a Rarity in Piloting School Busses in Our Area

Washington: Father of his country, capital of it and last in the American League.

A Detroit paper has made what it considered to be a profound discovery. It located a woman school bus driver in Wayne County, and threw a big story about her. We have them by the dozen in Oakland County, and inquiry at their schools show their safety records to be as good as the men drivers, and sometimes better. And they do not miss any more trips in winter than the men.

It was not until Pontiac had quite a substantial population that it had a Washington school, street, or honored his memory in any other way.

Having little complaint about this winter, dean of the Oakland County Bar Association, says he's seen worse ones for golf. Before Jay was 75 it required more than snow or frozen ground to keep him off the links.

Jay Tillson,

What gives?

A picture post card bursts in from Pasadena, California, depicting my old friend, Glenn C. Gillespie, all decked out in Indian regalia. Glenn has lived outdoors enough to qualify as a full fledged Indian, at that. Judging from the look on his face, Chief Gillespie is debating the advisability of declaring war on those nefarious tribesmen up Flint way.

In a recent conversation wtih

of Rochester, he told me The Press has been a daily visitor in some branch of his family ever since it was started nearly 56 years ago. "In the early days, we were extra happy when we got eight pages," he says, continuing, "It usually was four or six."

Statistics show that traffic accidents that happen at night are twice as apt to be fatal as those that take place during the daylight hours.

Oakland County Drain Commissioner

Ralph Main,

recently elected president of the state association, says drainage is a far more vital part of our daily lives than most of us appreciate.

"Keep Moving, Buster"

David Lawrence Says:

U. N. Must Step In to Halt Arms Race in Middle East to Realize Any Peace

WASHINGTON—Time was when, if any events occurred which threatened the peace of the world, there would be a special meeting of the United Nations Assembly and a general discussion of the pros and cons of the problem.

But today there is little inclination to call the United Nations Assembly into session to take up the acute situation in the Middle East.

Maybe it's because the United Nations itself, through its "package deals" and its log-rolling tactics, is afraid to tackle a factional controversy within its own ranks. Ever since the U. N. Security Council adopted a resolution of censure of Israel—a move that was interpreted in that country as partisan and as hostile to its interests—there has been difficulty in getting the U. N. itself to take a broad perspective on the whole Middle East problem.

It is true the U. N. had a commission on the spot and that it reported on the border raids. But it was a mistake to leave the matter to a military commission instead of one especially chosen to look into all phases. Instead of a resolution of censure or any other action on the border raids, the U. N. assembly might well have used the occasion to call a halt to the use of force or the threat to use force on the part of any of the countries involved in the Middle East friction.

SITUATION BECOMING GRAVE

Until the U. N. steps in and demands that all the nations in the Middle East suspend their arms race, the situation may go from bad to worse. It is most unfortunate that the United States should be placed in the position of being required to take unilateral action. Whether Saudi Arabia gets tanks or Israel gets arms is not a matter for the Washington government alone but for all the nations of the free world to consider.

Actually, the present crisis was provoked by the Soviet Union, which entered into negotiations to supply Egypt with arms. This, in turn, stirred the apprehension of the people of Israel. A chain reaction has been started which has aroused, too, the countries of the Arab world. All this is to the advantage of the Communists, who are fishing in troubled waters.

The solution lies in the charter of the United Nations, which is empowered to take up any dispute that threatens the pace of the world. Certainly, since the Soviet Union has been guilty of starting an arms race in the Middle East, a resolution of censure for this is long overdue.

The question is broader than any single country's interests. The United States government wants to remain friendly with Israel and to furnish economic aid. But, at the same time, Saudi Arabia has made available a military base for the use of the American air forces. All this is well known to Moscow, which plays one side against the other.

The United States, moreover, is in the midst of a presidential and congressional campaign, and the Middle East issue gets into American politics no matter how hard people in this country may strive to keep it out. For some of the candidates are bound to issue statements seeking to benefit by the vote of one group or the other of sympathizers with the factions in the Middle East controversy.

But when all the governments take up a question in the United Nations and debate it in the open, this can override any domestic attitudes or political quarrels as world opinion begins to mobilize.

MORAL PRESTIGE LOST

The weakness of the United Nations today is that it has lost much of its moral prestige because it has not been willing to champion morality against unmorality. The failure of the U. N. to denounce the unmoral behavior of the Chinese Communists in North Korea and their disregard of the U. N. commission is on a par with the omission of any censure of Soviet Russia and her part in furnishing arms and ammunition to Red China and the North Koreans. Another example of the same disregard of the principles of the United Nations charter emerged when the Soviet Union chose to send arms to Egypt by way of Czechoslovakia.

There can be no peace in the Middle East unless the free world is united and examines the controversy as the United Nations, by its charter, is specifically obligated to do.

Collective action is always to be preferred to unilateral action, and the U. N. has a chance to recover lost ground by calling a special meeting to devise ways and means of ending the arms race in the Middle East. By exposing fully the causes of the friction in that part of the globe and by placing all the facts on the table, a way can then be found to introduce mediation and moral suasion—for neither side really wants a war.

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

1. Deep-seated pain between shoulder blades or very low in the spine, aggravated rather than relieved by rest in bed.

2. Feeling fatigued, languid, on rising; feeling better as the day wears on.

3. Low temperature, always feeling cold.

4. Tendency to become prematurely gray.

5. Low blood pressure.

6. Turgescent nasal mucous membrane makes the nasal passages stuffy.

7. Weakness of knees.

8. Oversensitive to slight exposure, always wanting more clothing and more heat than ordinary persons consider comfortable.

9. Head noises.

10. Uncheerful spirit.

If you have the pamphlet The Iodin Ration (sent on request if you provide a stamped, self-addressed envelope) you may notice that these manifestations of hypothyroidism are the same as the manifestations of iodin deficiency.

Hypothyroidism is iodin deficiency; that is, everyone requires a certain amount of iodin daily to maintain normal thyroid function.

In areas of the United States and Canada the drinking water and locally grown food contain little or no iodin. What iodin originally was in the soil has been leached out and carried back to the sea.

Fresh fish from the sea would probably insure an optimal daily ration of iodin if one made a meal of it once a week.

Canned, dried, or smoked fish or shellfish lose so much iodin in the processing that even the canners say nothing about iodin content.

In some communities a considerable portion of the salt sold for domestic use is iodized salt. People who use it exclusively in place of ordinary salt may possibly get enough iodin to prevent goitre.

In my judgment, unless one habitually uses too much salt in food, it would be impossible to get an optimal daily ration of iodin from iodized salt.

By "optimal daily ration" I mean enough to prevent the development of the manifestations of hypothyroidism, on the one hand; or enough to keep one feeling—as various correspondents report.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis, or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

Voice of the People

Suggests Thursday Nights for Stores to Remain Open

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

I think Thrusday and Friday nights are two good ones for stores to be open.

I for one don't like Monday nights, either. In most homes that is washday, clean-up day after the weekend, etc. I have been up one Monday since they opened.

As the factories pay Thursday and Friday, I think that would be better, and I would also like it. I know of others who would, too, so let's hear from a few.

The educated youth of our Walled Lake community and environs are vitally interested in, and want, a Civil Defense Program in which they can take an active part.

Let us, as parents and teachers, provide this practical outlet for some of their surplus energy.

Air Force Cadets Learn to Endure Spartan Living

Only the hardy survive.

Of the 306 cadets selected last summer from 6,300 applicants to join the first class of the nation's third service academy, 41 have already been washed out.

TOO RUGGED

The survival rate actually so far has exceeded expectations of academy officials, who deliberately have planned a four-year course of study tough enough to strain the stoutest.

Typical academy students are Mike Lipscomb of Tucson, Ariz., and Richard Lee of Kalamazoo, Mich. Both are 19. Mike's dad is in real estate. Dick's dad is a truck salesman.

They each get $111.15 a month out of which they can keep only $8 for spending money.

RIGID SCHEDULE

Almost every minute of their day is rigidly controlled, from the time they rise at 5:50 a.m. and make their beds until "lights out" at 9:30 p.m.

They march to and from classes, and practically everywhere else. They spend at least 20 hours a week in class, more than that preparing their lessons. Among the arts they are expected to learn: How to deal a deadly judo blow effectively, how to dance gracefully.

At the dinner table they practice Air Force lingo, and each cadet in turn acts as table pilot, navigator, or crew chief. When the coffee reaches the table, for example, the navigator may announce:

"Sir, the JP4 (coffee) has completed its cross-country and is on the ramp."

Or: "Sir, the fuel injection (water) has met its ETA and is on the ramp."

HONOR CODE

The cadets have an honor code which is unbelievably strict and to which they are fanatically loyal, as they enforce it themselves. Its main tenet is undeviating adherence to the truth.

One cadet who stepped across the hall to borrow some tobacco quibbled when asked by an officer if he had permission to leave his room. After the 12-man cadet honor council investigated his case, they asked him to resign from the academy. He did.

The cadets can date twice a week, but during the first year are restricted to the base, except during parental visits. They are expected to abstain from liquor completely until graduation.

Do the cadets like the life?

"Yes, it definitely brings a closer comradeship," said Lipscomb. "You're not only closer to one man—you're closer to all."

* * *

"Yeah," grinned Lee, who wants to be a fighter pilot. "The suffering brings us together. There isn't time for monotony to set in. They keep us too busy."

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Greater Pride in Teaching Should Be Goal of Those Engaged in Education

Take the quick test which Prof. John L. Buford, new NEA president, is emphasizing. School teaching is an honorable profession. And teachers must like it, or they would get out of the field. So how about trying to "sell" school teaching as a wonderful profession for our teenagers? "Big dough" or "Quick Profit" is not the proper yardstick to use in selecting your life work.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case Q-380: John L. Buford, aged 45, is the new president of the National Education Assn., whose 5,500 official delegates gave him their overwhelming vote at their recent national NEA convention.

* * *

What do you readers think would be the most likely goal which Prof. Buford advanced for the coming year? I'll give you some samples and see if you can pick out the winner.

(1) Bigger salaries for school teachers in 1956.

(2) Bigger gymnasiums and athletic budgets.

(3) Shorter hours for school teachers.

(4) Greater pride in teaching.

Well, the correct answer is the positive goal indicated by the last entry, for Prof. Buford urged all teachers to stress their pride in the honorable profession of tutoring young minds and planting ideals, ambition and high aspirations therein.

As a lifelong college teacher myself, I certainly commend Prof. Buford. His own behavior demonstrates the superlative educator in our public schools.

For I am indebted to him for having taught my Bible Class at the St. John's Church in Chicago, where his talented brother Joe functions as the "sparkplug" president of that same class.

As a result, I know Prof. Buford personally and can attest to his emphasis on character building as a vital aim of pedagogy.

SALUTE TO TEACHERS

Good teachers are the salt of the earth. They often serve as the glorified foster parents for millions of youngsters whose real parents aren't much to brag about.

They take timid toddlers and gently inspire them to go onward to lofty attainment.

School teaching is next to the clerical profession in its ultimate power to benefit mankind by producing peace and goodwill.

Obviously, teachers aren't adequately paid. But neither are many other groups in America. And every profession gripes because it feels it should be given a higher status and a more liberal income.

Teachers have been abused, true enough, but some of them have not brought as much credit to education as Prof. Buford is doing via his positive emphasis on realizing the dignity and pride in pedagogy.

It has been my pleasure to address many state teachers' conventions, among which was that of Kentucky. I was scheduled to speak there at 3 p.m., so sat in the audience listening to another orator who was talking at 2:30.

And he stressed the great need to recruit teachers of the more desirable sort.

"You chose teaching as a life work," he reminded the audience, "and you must have done so because you liked pedagogy. You saw the wide opportunities for service. You enjoyed dealing with youngsters.

"Well, if it is such a worthy profession that you have remained in it all these years, what have you done to coax talented teenagers into following in your footsteps?

"If you enjoy your profession, why not try 'selling' it to your present pupils? Let's recruit top-notch youth."

Well, I had taught for a generation, and I started this column as an educational mission, yet I felt indicted by that sterling address.

For I had never spent five minutes trying to sell any of my 5,000 college students or even my own five youngsters on being a teacher.

But I realized I was at fault for not doing so. Since then I have tried to remedy the situation.

Send for my "Test for a Good Teacher," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. It emphasizes positive virtues, as Prof. Buford so wisely is stressing for the NEA.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich., enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for this psychological chart and pamphlet.

Why Suffer Bleeding Piles Any Longer

Medical research has developed a miracle medicine called RECTORAL. It does away with the continual use of old-fashioned ointments, suppositories, injections, etc., that give little, if any, even temporary relief. RECTORAL has a tendency to shrink the piles and usually in a few days, the bleeding, soreness, irritation and pain start to disappear and in a few days more are completely gone. Thousands of sufferers have used this remarkable medicine and have never had any further trouble, even years afterwards. Many of these people had been advised that only an expensive and painful operation would help them. Why suffer any longer? Get well NOW! Stay well! Get a bottle of RECTORAL today at

Southwest Snow Storms Seen as Good Crop Omen

AMARILLO, Tex. (INS) — Mammoth snows in late January and early February on the Southwestern "dust bowl" area of the U.S. have given rise to an optimistic but cautious outlook for crops and pastures this year.

Wise to the ways of the elements in the Southwest, they say that fickle dame nature could send hopes crashing in the next few critical weeks.

That is the concensus of a survey just completed by INS on crop, pasturage and soil conditions in five key states of the dustbowl area—Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado and New Mexico.

R. I. Cross, agricultural agent for the Santa Fe Railway Company at Amarillo, says the moisture content of snow and rain which has occurred in the five-state area since Jan. 29 ranges from one-half to two inches. However, some sections did not receive the full benefit of the snow because of drifting.

The big snows were the first effective moisture that has fallen over the vast plains area since October. Cross says the moisture generally should bring up wheat which had not sprouted and allow plants to develop good crown roots.

On the other hand, a series of warm days and cold nights in areas where vegitative cover is lacking could develop a highly pulverized surface soil condition susceptible to damage by high winds. But temperatures favorable to plant growth each day will decrease the chance of severe wind damage.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture says long-term benefits from heavy snows in Texas may far exceed loss of livestock in the worst-hit storm areas.

Wheat prospects in the high plains country south of the Canadian River were given a "definite boost" by the moisture, the USDA says, but adds that the snow tapered off rapidly north of the river and strong winds caused much drifting of snow.

Snow and freezing sleet over the low rolling plains of Texas, the USDA says, will be temporarily helpful but much more moisture is needed in a large part of that area.

Harold Hutton, president of the Oklahoma Board of Agriculture, says recent rains and snow have "certainly alleviated" the drought situation in his state "for a little while, anyway."

OKLAHOMA PROSPECTS BETTER

But he warns that if there is no more moisture and high winds the condition of the soil could change within a week. Hutton concedes, however, that crop prospects in Oklahoma are better. He says the moisture which occurred in arid west and northwestern Oklahoma "will help for some time."

Alvin E. Lowe, widely-knownagronomist at the Kansas experimental station at Garden City, says that because of the recent moisture he sees little chance for wind erosion in his area soon.

Lowe notes that one of western Kansas' worst dust storms on record occurred Feb. 19, 1954. However, he sees no such storms for western Kansas in the near future, thanks to the moisture.

Lowe says that a wheat crop in western Kansas is not yet assured but that it has received a good boost.

He also says that Texas' recent record-breaking snow will help vastly in protecting Kansas from dust blowing north from the Lone Star State.

Colorado reported that in the critical areas there seemed to be a race between heavy snows and strong winds, and the snows won, with the result that conditions warrant optimism.

The parched eastern slope of New Mexico had two snow storms which were described as "dillies" and soil has been nailed down there for the time being at least.

January Ranks Second Highest in Fire Losses

NEW YORK (AP)—This country's fire losses in January were the highest for any month in history except for August 1953 when a multi-million dollar blaze swept the General Motors plant at Livonia, Mich., the National Board of Fire Underwriters said today.

January losses amounted to $96,972,000, an increase of 28.8 per cent over losses of $75,265,000 in the like month of 1955. The record total in August 1953 was $107,713,000.

Spokesmen for the national board and for the Factory Insurance Assn. said they knew of no tremendously costly industrial fires which would account for the big jump in the January total.

They pointed out, however, that the cold weather coupled with the peak business activity brought on a larger number of small industrial fires.

These sources also noted that inflation of property values in recent years was a factor in making the January figure high in comparison with like months of other years.

They did and announced that a reconciliation was the best solution for their problems. They have been wed 22 years. Now an evangelist, Armstrong once held the featherweight, lightweight and welterweight boxing titles.

In requesting the temporary alimony, Armstrong said his wife and her mother controlled $50,000 worth of commupity property.

Mediation Bogs at Westinghouse

Time Study Controversy Arises Again in Talks to End 128-Day Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bothersome time study issued bobbed up again today to complicate government efforts to settle the 128-day Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike.

Mediators thought for a time yesterday they had the time study issue out of the way under an agreement to postpone it for 90 days. Involved is a proposed company re-evaluation of worker output.

James B. Carey, president of the striking International Union of Electrical Workers, said he wants assurance that if other strike issues are settled, there would be some way to resolve the time study question at the end of a 90-day period.

AGREE TO POSTPONE

But negotiators for Westinghouse maintain they agreed to postpone the time study issue with an explicit understanding they were not committed to arbitration or any similar method of solving it in the future.

The IUE wants the right to appeal to a neutral any company-ordered job changes resulting from the time study. Westinghouse insists such decisions are solely for management.

Federal and private mediators working on the case wanted to get the time study issue checked to the sidelines so they could get down to wage and other issues holding up an agreement.

All Their Labor Goes for Naught

MUSKEGON (AP)—If Muskegon Coast Guardsmen have mixed feelings about getting a new boathouse, no one can blame them.

The same week they finished reshingling the old one, working in snow, sleet and freezing rain, they were notified it's to be replaced.

It had taken the station crew two weeks of hard labor to do the reshingling job. Then the Detroit base commander notified them that the new boathouse, recommended for several years, was included in the 1957 budget.

Said one weary worker: "At least it'll be a prettier building for them to tear down."

Volunteer 12,500 Hours at Beaumont

Women Donate Aid to Hospital Patients

Volunteer aid, amounting to 12,500 hours, has been donated by the Women's Auxiliary of William Beaumont Hospital during the first ten months of operations.

Under the direction of the Auxiliary President, Mrs. Lewis G. Erb, many services are being performed to make the patient's stay in this hospital more pleasant.

When a patient enters the hospital for care on Monday, he is met by Mrs. Howard Christie of Birmingham, who escorts him to the admitting desk and stays with him until he is safely ensconced in his hospital room. Each day a different volunteer gives this helpful service. Mrs. Roy LeMoyne, Mrs. H. C. Ervin, Mrs. Howard L. Linder, Mrs. L. M. Fehan and Mrs. George Schutz are workers in the admitting office.

Another service to the patient is the mobile library. A cart, carrying the mail, also the latest magazines and books is a welcome diversion.

Mrs. Elmer Hartwig has organized this group of 50 women. A few of the Birmingham library volunteers are Mrs. Milton Ringland, Mrs. W. T. Minewisch, Miss Marian Cannon, Mrs. J. T. Southard, Mrs. M. R. Scott, Mrs. Arthur Chantler and Mrs. Philip Sheld. On Friday, Mrs. Sheld was hostess to the entire group of library workers at luncheon at her home on 13 Mile Road.

Seventeen volunteers under the direction of Mrs. Louis J. Colombo Jr., and Mrs. George W. Akers, assist the staff as nurse's aids. Mrs. Colombo also directs the floor secretaries, who work at the nursing stations on each floor, charting temperatures, answering phones, discharging patients and transcribing orders and records.

Mrs. George T. Trumbull Sr., of Bloomfield Hills and Mrs. Edward Proctor of Wing Lake, have organized the Visitor's Information project, the newest hospital service. A volunteer is stationed at a desk on the 3rd, 4th, and 5th floors from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m., the hospital visiting hours, to issue visitor's cards. Only two guests are allowed a patient at one time. Among the volunteers in this group are Mrs. Palmer Sutton, Mrs. William Seibert, Mrs. Dale Miller, Mrs. Russell McKinney and Mrs. O. P. Dallavo.

Mrs. Roger W. Adams is chairman of the sewing group, who have made spreads for children's beds, toy bags, baby's bibs, children's pajamas, and the blue smocks used by the volunteers.

Birmingham workers are Mrs. H. A. Foust, Mrs. Edward Glowacke, Mrs. E. H. Wyman, Mrs. Charles W Mintling and Mrs. L. T. Bishop.

Working in Central Supply on bandages and pads are Mrs. H. D. Sielinger, Mrs. James Cox, Mrs. W. A. Plumb, Mrs. Frank Cox, Mrs. Charles Kreidler and Mrs. Stella Leland.

The executive office — room 258 — is staffed Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., by members of the board. Persons wishing information concerning the hospital projects may call at this office.

The next general meeting of the Women's Auxiliary will be election of officers to be held at the hospital, May 14.

Kefauver Urges Vote for Youth

Wants Law Permitting 18-Year-Olds to Cast Ballot in Elections

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Dropping the voting age to 18 cannot bring anything but good for the nation and the time for such legislation is now, Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn) told a University of Minnesota convocation audience today.

The senator said such a change was needed, "if only to keep the nation on an even electoral keel."

"What I mean," Kefauver said in his prepared text, "is that the life expectancy is going up and up, and every year our society contains a larger number of old people. Consequently, the decisions we make at the polls are coming to reflect a disproportionate weight of judgment by the aged. . .

"We honor them and venerate them. But who can deny that a person's outlook at 70 is different than it was at 30? And who will say that the older viewpoint is better than the younger, or vice versa?

"Ideally, we should have a balance of viewpoints. The best and easiest, and I think the only way to strike that balance is to lower the voting age to 18 and give youths its chance to be heard."

Kefauver's talk came between visits to St. Paul and Minneapolis industrial plants and a luncheon with university faculty members. He will wind up his four-day Minnesota campaign tour with a public rally at the labor auditorium tonight.

Firm Chief Runs His Egg Business on Factory Site

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Utah's Public Service Commission told the president of a small northern Utah utility to keep separate accounts for his chicken-and-egg business.

The commission noted that Vernon G. Robinson, president of the Swan Creek Electric Co., runs his poultry business on company property and has utility employes take care of the chickens for him. Robinson returns $50 of his $400-a-month salary to the company to pay for rent, help and electricity.

The agency noted that the sideline has "not necessarily been to the financial detriment of the company and may have been of benefit. . .

"But good business practice requires that there be a strict accounting of personal business separate and apart from affairs of the company."

Pupils Drinking Milk

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Department of Agriculture survey shows that school children are drinking more milk.

The department reports that "increases in total milk consumption by children participating in the special school milk program averaged 67 per cent." The survey was made in 22 city and county school systems last October. It showed that a total of 11,360,000 half pints were consumed in October 1955.

EXHIBITION ISSUE—An American eagle in flight is featured in this stamp embossed on a new airmail envelope. The envelope will go on sale May 2 in New York City during the Fifth International Philatelic Exhibition. Eagle and lettering are white on a red background.

Romance, Yes - - - Marriage, No

Tuxedo Not Likely to Trap Born Bachelor

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — This being almost Washington's birthday in the year of the leap, let us be utterly truthful, ladies, and concede there are some men who were born to be bachelors.

By the time they are 30, they have an impeccable wardrobe that smacks of a valet service, and a reciting knowledge of poetry for all occasions—the sign of the perennial lover and marriage fighter.

After 40, the born bachelor is truly dedicated and easier than ever to spot. To poetry he has added philosophy, and his eyes are gentle and gay. He sends flowers, knows maitre d's, drinks champagne, goes to Yale football games and enjoys the company of shy young ladies in their 20's. Parents, he avoids.

Knowing all this, I was amused today to receive the results of an extensive survey among New York men, both married and free, on the subject of "The Effect of Men's Clothing on His Romantic Instincts."

According to Patrick B. Comer Jr., psychologist, a man in a tuxedo is far more likely to propose marriage than a man in a sports coat.

ROMANTIC INFLUENCE

Pat says he interviewed hundreds of men on this subject of love and wearing apparel and discovered that:

(1) 68 Per cent of the men were "influenced" toward romance by the clothes they wore, and 2) 71 per cent felt more romantic in tuxedo or white tie and tails than in any other form of sartorial splendor.

The majority of the men told the inquisitive Comer that the reasons for this are that girls admire them more openly in dressy clothes, and that tuxes recall inspirational, yea even mushy, nights of their schooldays.

The psychologist elaborates:

"The little 8-year-old child feels courageous when he dons a Davy Crockett coonskin cap—even if it is old hat. Likewise, the adult male has developed certain attitudes about formal dress.

"It calls to mind the glamor of his first formal dance."

The results of this survey are not very startling, considering that Comer was hired to do the job for the "After Six Formals" people, who are prejudiced.

But he insists that he twisted no arms to get the results, and suggested that unmarried women who doubt his integrity should start dragging their men to more formal affairs and just see what happens.

APT TO SUCCUMB

He is thoroughly convinced that even a perennial bachelor is likely to succumb to romance—if his tie is black and his shirt front is comfy and the moon is shining down on his shiny silk lapels.

I agree with that. A PB may become extremely romantic, even perhaps sticky, under the influence of shiny lapels, for established rovers are notably vain. But to sugget that a tux will make a man propose marriage—this is madness.

The natural born free-lance male over 30 is tumbled into wedlock only when taken with complete mental and physical collapse.

Brings More Trouble

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A driver in trouble was deeper in trouble because of the help he received.

Clyde T. Rea and Milton Kafoglis, investigators for the federal alcohol tax unit, stopped to help Eddie Coleman, 41, change a flat tire.

They became suspicious when Coleman put the flat tire in the back seat, so they took a look at contents of the trunk. They said they found 17 gallons of moonshine whusky. Coleman was charged with possessing.

Blood Tests Planned

BENTON HARBOR (AP) — The Michigan Department of Health this week plans a blood test campaign in Berrien County to investigate a high incidence of venereal disease. J. V. Malcomson, County Health Department member, said the county ranked third in the state with 300 cases treated last year.

Waives Examination on Breakin Charge

One of five youth who admittedly entered workers' shanties and the Linda Vista School, under construction on Court St., Gerald L. Sandusky, 19, of Rochester yesterday waived examination on a charge of larceny from a building.

He was bound over to Oakland County Court for arraignment Monday and freed under $30 bond set by Municipal Court Judge Cecil McCallum.

Sandusky admitted to police he and four juvenile companions stole four bars of lead during the robbery Sunday night. The other boys were turned over to police juvenile officers.

Hospital administrator Erickson sees examples daily of patients who have inadequate hospitalization coverage. "Because Blue Cross benefits are service benefits—with no dollar limits—they always keep abreast of the times," he says.

"Doing my job, I find more and more reasons each day...

Why your community hospitals sponsor Blue Cross"

—says Mr. W. E. Erickson, Administrator, Three Rivers Hospital, Three Rivers, Michigan

"Yes, as a hospital administrator, it is my job to see to it that each patient gets the services prescribed by his doctor as well as the kind of modern general hospital care that will get him well in the shortest possible time.

"Day after day, I have to deal with patients whose insurance policies do not provide for this kind of modern hospital care. They have insurance policies with fixed dollar limits. Too often these dollar limits are pathetically low.

"Neither I nor any other hospital administrator can tell you in advance how much your hospital care when you need it, will cost you. Since you are dealing with an unpredictable cost, why should you buy hospitalization coverages with prefixed dollar limits on any of the services?

"This is why your community hospitals in Michigan and throughout the country sponsor Blue Cross. Blue Cross gives you service benefits. This assures you the services you will need to get modern hospital care. And Blue Cross Comprehensive Contract benefits have no dollar limits. Moreover, these benefits always keep abreast of the times. They do the job for you. Blue Cross is your answer to the problem."

By IRVING BEN COOPER
Court Judge, New York City.

The very day I borrowed the book from one of my classmates from the neighborhood.

It was March, 1917, and we were living in St. Joseph, Missouri I carried the book home from high school and walked into the kitchen. It was so cold I might just as well have been outside. Yet there was Mother Irving Cooper on her knees, scrubbing the bare floorboards again; in preparation for Passover.

The other children were not at home—there were six of us—so I had to make the trip down to the railroad tracks, alone.

In the doorway I stopped to take a quick survey of the street. The gang was not in sight. I managed to get all the way to the track without seeing the gang, and I began to pick up coal that had fallen from the cars coming into St. Joseph. I picked up my pail and started home. I had gone about a block, when from some bushes came the voice:

HEY, SHEENY

"Hey, sheeny. What you got there?"

"Coal."

"Let's see, Ben boy."

And the leader of the gang stepped out, followed by six others. I began to run. They caught me. I went down, holding onto my pail, tight-fisted, and fought as best I could with one hand.

The leader stood up. "Let him go," he said. "Let's save part of him for later."

COURAGE WON OUT

I didn't get to read the book that day. On the third day no one was around. The title was "Robert Coverdale's Struggle." by Horatio Alger.

Nothing has been the same in my life since then. I read the story of a boy who was in just as desperate straits as my own. He, too, faced a fate that seemed against him. With courage he won out.

I read the entire novel to my mother. She sat so still I wondered if she were listening. Then, one day, she looked up suddenly.

"Just like in the Holy Book," she said.

I WOULD GET OUT

This talk of the Bible puzzled me. Although Mother attended synagogue regularly and held rigidly to virtues like honesty and fair play, she was not orthodox in her religion. But she kept mentioning it right up the moment when we turned the last page.

We read every one of the Horatio Alger books together. Soon I began to see myself as an Alger hero. I would stand up to injustice. I would get out of the slums. I would go to college. I would have to pay my own way for everything, from shoelaces to tuition, and become a lawyer. I would some day champion families like my own.

During these months, with Mother's constant reference to the Holy Book, I began to take a new interest in the Bible. Gradually I began to see why these stories meant so much to Mother. They were her model for courage.

I don't want to say that with the coming of Horatio Alger into my life everything changed. I was still called sheeny. Mother was still bent to her knees, scrubbing. My father still had to work in his shop for long hours to earn his dollar. Yet, with it all, things were not the same.

WALKED TOWARD THEM

I remember the day I knew it for sure. I came home from school to find the pail waiting for me on the kitchen table. I walked out the door, and suddenly, in the middle of the street, I stopped. I remembered the last time I had come into the street, I started off toward the track slowly, as though I were on the verge of understanding something.

Then suddenly, down the street, I saw them coming toward me. Three of them. But that day I did not run. I took a deep breath, held it, started to walk toward them.

Their leader slowed down for an instant, confused. Then about three yards away from me, I heard him say under his breah, "Okay, sheeny." And in another instant all three of them were on me.

I closed my eyes and I began flailing my arms as though possessed. I hit one boy somewhere that made the breath come out of him in a little noise. I was suddenly aware that I was fighting only two boys, and then I was fighting only the leader.

We stood toe to toe, and I got the worst of it until suddenly I saw him drop his hands to his sides, and he just stared at me. He was confused. He began slowly to back away.

I stood there on the street, shaking and sobbing in my anger, cut and bruised—and happier in that moment than I had ever been before.

Bob Considine Says:

Democracy Definition Has Timeless Quality

NEW YORK (INS) — Vol. 1, No. 1 of the "Times of Viet Nam" has just reached this desk. It is the first English language paper ever printed in a seething area where Communist aggression (highly successful) brought us to what Dulles later described as the brink of war.

The maiden issue features a definition of democracy which might have been written by Nguyen M. Thai, the weekly's editor and publisher, Le Ngo Nhi, senior editor, or Nguyen Van Thai, feature editor.

Then again, it might have been written by Thomas Jefferson. T. J. would have been foggy if asked about that part of the world in his time, but he certainly would have stood behind the pen of the Viet Namese who told his long-exploited people:

"We have heard men in public life say, 'I am very democratic. I thoroughly enjoy a good talk with a peasant.' It is hard to see what this has to do with democracy. Democracy is faith in humanity, not faith in the 'poor' or the 'working' people.

"It is faith in every living soul. Contrary to some doctrines enjoying currency in the world today, democracy does not enthrone the working man any more than it enthrones the bourgeoisie."

ENOUGH MONEY?

Are there going to be enough air travelers to repay the airlines for buying all those $4,000,000 (plus) jet transports they'll start getting delivery on in a few years? A survey made by the Douglas company says yep.

By 1965, the study shows, there will be 1,034 planes of the DC-3, Convair and Martin types on the job, plus 1,336 others engaged in hauling travelers on short jumps.

There will be 122 Douglases and Lockheeds of the earlier known four-engined type; 282 DC6Bs and Super Connies; 444 turbo-prop planes like the Viscount and the larger type American Airlines is now buying from Lockheed; and 515 of the Series-G Connie, the DC7 and their variations.

As for jets in 1965, the sampling shows expectations of a dozen French-made medium jets, a couple of dozen Comet IVs, three or four dozen turbo-prop Britainias and 157 U. S. jets of the DC8 and Boeing 707 type.

People now are flying first class at six cents a mile and a bit over four cents a mile on tourist planes.

The airlines are eyeing the railroad rate of 2.8 cents a mile, hope to make heavy inroads on this coach trade. If this field is tapped, the world airlines can use from 120 to 223 more 707s and DC8s by 1965.

Why did the Reds decide to pry the lid off Guy Burgess and Donald Maclean just at this time?

Vladimir Petrov, the Russian spy who defected two years ago in Australia and has since been given asylum there, feels that it is part of a complex cold war maneuver designed to show the British man-in-the-street that "decent" Englishmen are so resentful of U. S. foreign policy they prefer to go to Russia to live rather than cooperate. (Khrushchev and Bulganin soon will make a state visit to England.)

Petrov adds that the complicated Russian propagandists also figured that there would be a cry in the U.S. to stop giving atomic secrets to Great Britain — what with Burgess and Maclean having broken a camel's back already sorely strained by Alan Nunn May, Klaus Fuchs and Bruno Pontecorvo.

Vice President Nixon made a special effort Saturday night at the radio and TV correspondents' dinner in Washington to point out that Chief Justice Earl Warren (who was present) was beyond the claim of any political party.

It was Nixon's effort to counteract the unhappy response to his statement last week concerning the role of a "Republican chief justice" in the integration fight. But the counter action will need a much bigger rostrum than the correspondents could offer.

First President Nearly Left Out

When Washington Died in 1799 Two Questions Arose for Monument

WASHINGTON — On George Washington's 224th birthday, the Washington Monument is as much the symbol of the National City as the White House or the capitol, though it is younger than either and its building stirred up more controversy than both.

Currently, says the National Geographic Society, the city has extensive plans for renewing and improving "Foggy Bottom" and the areas south of the monument. A by-product will be to give it a nobler setting.

When General Washington died in 1779, two questions immediately arose. Where should the first President be buried? And what form should a memorial take?

A crypt was built in the unfinished United States capitol. A request by Congress for removal of the body was rejected, however, by relatives. Bushrod Washington, a nephew, said that since Washington had asked to be buried at Mount Vernon, his wish would be respected.

CLAY REVIVED IT

Henry Clay revived the capitol project in 1832 and received another emphatic "No" from Washington's kinsmen. The state of Virginia also objected to transferring the shrine.

Meanwhile, sculptor Horatio Greenough worked eight years on a massive neo-classic statue of Washington dressed in a Roman toga. The statue was placed in the rotunda of the capitol but proved too heavy for the floor.

It found its way eventually to the Smithsonian Institution's National Museum. General agreement was that the toga pose was too affected for the modest Washington.

Finally, in 1883, the Washington National Monument Society was born.

Panel members were Lloyd Anderson, township supervisor; Mrs. Dorcas Tibbals, treasurer, and Louis Barry, clerk. Mrs. L. Raymond Sampson was hostess to the group at her home on Watkins Lake.

Mr. Anderson said that the 1,600 acres which are in the planning stages of development are creating a large problem of water, sewage, drainage and roads.

The duties of the township officers, Mr. Anderson said, are to serve the county as a whole and to enact improvements which are best for the township. A few are hurt when new improvements are made, but more people benefit in the long run, he said.

Snow Spells Pleasure for Students

By BARBARA JOHNSON

EAST LANSING — MSU's centennial officially closed last week. Given to the university library, museum and information services were records, films and manuscripts of historical material.

A 28-minute film called "The Year We Were One Hundred" will be released in March.

Big discussion this week was about the blood drive. The fourth floor of the Union was open every day from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Over 1,400 pints were collected. Red Cross officials said that the donations were far beyond what they had expected.

The term play opened this week and received a big reception. Spectators jammed Fairchild Theater all three nights that it ran.

The title itself, "The Madwoman of Chaillot," attracted many curious students. Donald Bumgardner, Pontiac freshman, portrayed an enthusiastic bourgeoise doctor and was noticeably good although in a minor role.

LET IT SNOW!

Snow, snow, snow! We love it! Especially when it gives us a chance for a contest. Nine coed dormitories competed in a snow-sculpturing contest on Saturday. The displays depicted some major events of the term.

A traveling trophy was awarded to the best display, judged on originality, construction, art and correlation of the theme.

Entered in this third annual contest were Snyder, Mason, Abbott, North and South Williams, West Landon, East Yakely, East Mayo and South Campbell dormitories.

Besides all this activity in the morning, many of the girls' dorms received official telephone calls from the men's dorms, challenging them to snowball fights in the early evening.

After this day outdoors everyone, although wet, cold and tired, agreed that the day was a fine diversion from the usual routine.

SPINSTER SPIN

Besides looking back on the full week, collegians have many things to look forward to. One of the main things is the annual dance to which the girls invite the boys. It's the Spinster Spin to be held March 9.

Students will be dancing to the music of Buddy Morrow's orchestra. During the next couple of weeks coeds will be deciding whom they want to ask, and the men will be waiting for their phones to ring.

But the dance itself, "Cinderella's Knight," is not the only event MSU men are anticipating. On Feb. 29, Leap Year's extra day, they will reign.

Coeds will open doors, buy coffee and carry books for the men. And everyone agrees that turnabout is fair play.

Birthday Marked by Sharon L. White

Those attending were Gloria Sulada, Victoria Mrsttersbaugh, Linda Foote, Don Lloyd, Phyllis Maulding, Gary White and Kenneth Rutenber.

Girl Asks About Writing to Boy in Service

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I'll soon be 18 and out of high school, and my parents still think I'm not old enough to go out on dates.

"When I was a junior I met a boy I liked very much (I still do). He asked me to go steady with him, but I knew my parents would not agree to that, so I told him I couldn't, but would just go out with him. When he would call they'd tell me I couldn't go, so he finally stopped calling.

"Now he's in the service and I want to write to him, but do not know his address. Would it be okay to call up his parents and ask them for it?"

"They told me I should if I wanted it. But my parents don't like the idea at all. What do you think?

Answer: It's easy enough to understand your frustrated feelings over having a boy who liked you slip through your fingers through no fault of your own. I hope he understood that it was not indifference and lack of interest on your part that made dates with him out of the question.

But if you're not sure he realizes that, you might write and tell him so. But only if you are reasonably sure you would be allowed to see him if he were home. There's no point in stirring up the pot to no good purpose, you know.

If you think your parents would let you see him, write and tell him so, with the big hope that he wasn't so completely discouraged as to lose all interest in you.

Address your letter to his parents' home, with Please Forward written clearly on the front, and your own name and address on the back. Then cross your fingers and wait patiently to see how he answers.

"Dear Miss Woodward: I've been going steady with him for two years now, though my mother doesn't know it. She doesn't approve of any of us—my brothers or sisters, either — going steady. Should I tell her? If I do, she'll make me quit!"

Answer: If your mother doesn't know you're going steady it's because she doesn't recognize any signs of what she considers going steady. So I'm just wondering if your idea is the same as hers!

If you just see the boy around school, but don't date with him very much, if at all, perhaps you have nothing to confess to your mother.

If he's not around the house all the time, or taking you places and calling you up, he's hardly what your mother would call a steady beau.

And perhaps if you confided in her that you liked him best of all the boys you know, she might understand and sympathize.

Ask In-Law, New Wife to Reunion

Not Inviting Them Implies Banishment From Family

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "My sister passed away about two years ago. She had four children. All are married and in homes of their own. "A year after my sister's death her husband remarried. We are having a family reunion shortly and of course my sister's children will be invited, but we are wondering whether my brother-in-law should be included at this gathering.

"I feel that since he has remarried, he should not be included in his first wife's family gathering. Some members of the family think it would be a slight not to invite him.

"If he should be included, what about his wife who is practically a stranger to us? I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter."

Answer: He, after all, is the father of the children and not to invite him would certainly mean that you have banished him from your family circle. If this is not true, he and his present wife should both be invited.

"Dear Mrs. Post: We have a new chapel and I would like to donate one of the pews as a memorial to my parents. Will you please tell me how their names should appear on the marker?"

Seed Cake Filled With Custard

Mrs. Maynard Says Delicate Light Loaf a Family Favorite

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Home Editor

Want a cake that is a bit out of the ordinary? Why not try Mrs. Irvin H. Maynard's Poppy Seed Cake. This old-fashioned cake will occasion comment from your guests whenever you serve it.

Be sure to refrigerate any that is left. Remember custard filling must not be kept in a warm room.

Mrs. Maynard is the busy mother of three school age children. She's active in a number of church, school and civic organizations. Her chief interest lies with the Ladies Auxiliary to the Union Lake Fire Department, a volunteer group. But she spends as many hours as necessary each week in baking cakes, pies, cookies and bread.

POPPY SEED CAKE
By Mrs. Irvin Maynard

Soak 2-3 cup poppy seeds in ¾ cup milk for 2 hours.

Beat:
½ cup butter or margarine
1½ cups sugar

Sift:
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Add:
¼ cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla

Fold in:
4 egg whites, stiffly beaten

Bake at 375 degrees in three 8-inch cake pans for 20 minutes.

Custard Filling

4 egg yolks
1½ cups milk
¾ cup sugar
2 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon vanilla

Beat yolks slightly, add sugar and flour. Scald milk and add. Cook in a double boiler until mixture coats the spoon. Add vanilla. Cool and spread between layers.

Free Advice on Cooking Pays Off

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I used to think you were talking a lot of nonsense," a woman writes frankly, "when you carried on about giving away your services for nothing, and how eventually somebody would pay for them.

"I'm not a commercial type, and I could never sell my services to friends. I just give them as favors. And I thought that's how it would always be, but I was wrong.

"You see, I'm awfully good at cooking. I love it, and have done it for years.

"At home, Mother worked and I did all the cooking when I was in my teens, and got a big kick out of it. We were a family of five, so it was really pretty serious cooking.

"Then I married and had four children, and again did all the cooking for us. Now the children are grown and married, and it's just my husband and me. But I still do all kinds of entertaining and cooking.

ASKING ADVICE

"And of course all my young neighbors, mostly newlyweds, are always popping in to get my advice if something they're cooking goes wrong, or if they don't know how to make a special dish. I've been giving free cooking lessons, you might say, for years now.

"We have a nice home appliance shop in our neighborhood, where they sell all the latest ranges and pressure cookers and all kinds of utensils.

"One day I was in there buying something, and a customer came in, threatening to return her electric stove. It wasn't any good, she said. It did this and that, and so forth.

"I could tell that she was just using it wrong, so I found myself telling her what to do, and how to adjust the oven, and giving her all kinds of pointers. She seemed really grateful, and left.

"Well," she concluded, "the owner of the store thanked me, we got chatting, and I told him about my cooking know-how, and how ignorant most of the young women were nowadays. When they were married, they usually didn't know a single thing about cooking.

OFFERED A JOB

"I also told him about the informal cooking lessons I was always giving someone.

"I didn't hear any more about it until one day he called me and asked if I could come in and have a talk with him. Darned if he didn't offer me a job!

"It seems there was pretty stiff competition among stores of that kind in our city, and he wanted to offer a special service to attract customers and build goodwill.

"The special service was me, three hours a day, available for advice on using the appliances and for a nice weekly salary!"

Minister Talks to Malkim PTA on Brotherhood

The Rev. Edmund Watkins of the Joslyn Avenue United Presbyterian Church spoke before members of Malkim PTA Thursday.

The Rev, Mr. Watkins, who is a student of history, chose "Brotherhood" as his topic. He gave an analogy of the time of the Book of Esther and today.

He believes the great problem of the home today is the lack of positive guidance by parents.

His message concluded, "History contributes lessons which people have not learned."

SHOW-YOU-SAUCE

'I Am Just Housewife,' Claims Duchess of Windsor

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS)—For nearly 19 years the Duchess of Windsor has sat by—her voice still, her pen dry—while the world fabricated a wild anthology of legends about her life.

Today, for the first time, she spoke out. "We may as well," she said quietly, "get the facts.

"The Duke of Windsor and I are very happy, and that's a terrible thing. Happiness breeds jealousy.

"I would like to see people happy everywhere, wouldn't you? Yet people are always trying to make us unhappy."

With gossip? With rumors?

"Yes, but it doesn't disturb us in the least," she said pleasantly. "We laugh about them."

STILL GETS OGLED

The duchess, a delicately proportioned woman whose marriage to the former King Edward VIII in 1937 stunted all other love stories of the century, was seated in her apartment in the Waldorf Towers, 28 floors above the pedestrians who still ogle her wherever she walks.

At her back was a satin couch so monstrous it made her look doll-like, deceptively fragile. On her lap was a small, round, snoring dog.

"My side of the story has never been told, because I never opened my mouth," she said. "I have read so many written versions of me — telling what I thought and how I felt at the time of my marriage. But I never recognized myself. It wasn't I.

"So I decided to write my story. It really is a serious document; it is historical and for the record."

She smiled, but the cool gray eyes were somber.

"I don't want people referring back to inaccuracies after I am dead."

BEING SERIALIZED

Beginning today, this autobiography, titled "The Heart Has Its Reasons," is being serialized in McCall's magazine. Later it will be published in book form.

The Duchess moved animatedly, apologized to the dog for awaking him, and remarked: "To tell your heart to the world is a terribly difficult thing to do. Like sitting looking in a mirror all day long.

"You must be truthful, correct and not too dull. You must tell the unpleasant things, and you cannot say anything complimentary about yourself."

As a matter of fact, she said, the Duke's only comment after reading several chapters of the book was this:

"You aren't sparing yourself, are you?"

Although the man who abdicated the throne of England to spend his life with her was "helpful in the tight spots of the book," he has not yet read the finished version. The duchess has put nothing in her autobiography, probably, which will be new to him, however.

For the Duke of Windsor, is, his wife believes, the most understanding man on earth.

"I don't want to sound corny," she said serenely, "but I married a saint.

"The duke has more courage than any man I know. He has eternal patience. And he has above all the greatest faith in mankind.

"The only criticism I have"—and the duchess' eyes took on a liveliness that might be the royal equivalent of a wink—"is that he is a little late occasionally. Quite occasionally."

In this, her first lone interview since her historic marriage, the duchess genially but firmly declined to discuss what she referred to as "family matters."

CERTAIN MATTERS

"I am aware that the American press does have to know what brand of toothpaste you use, but there are certain family matters that are—well, family matters."

* * *

She did, however, discuss what would be called an "average day" in the life of the Windsors, now that they live in two homes in France for eight months of the year, and the U.S.

"I adore making a home for the duke."

In the U.S., she said, they act like vacationers. She generally lunches with a woman friend, window shops, and attends the theater regularly with the duke. He sometimes takes side trips to shoot—at the time of this interview, he was shooting quail in South Carolina.

"In France, where our real homes are—one in Paris, one in the country because the duke would be just as happy if he never saw a concrete pavement—we lead a very normal life.

"I am just what it says on my passport I am—a housewife," said the duchess. "I spend the morning seeing the servants, planning meals, trying new recipes. The duke spends the morning at his office, working, and then we have luncheon together, on two trays.

PUTTERS IN GARDEN

"We eat very little lunch. He has stewed fruit, and I keep my diet with cold meat. Then all afternoon he either putters in the garden or plays golf, while I go either to an art exhibit or make a tour of antique shops or some such thing."

The duchess said she abandoned golf after almost the first attempt, as an art which takes too long to master. "I am too restless to work at it. But I adore to swim."

In the evenings, friends from all over the world pay calls on the Duke and Duchess of Windsor. Nearly every night is visitors' night in France.

The duchess shops like any other woman.

"But you know, when you are not accustomed to it, it is disconcerting to be known and watched by people who see you. I was thrust into being a public character.

"At first, when I would go into a shop to buy a red ribbon and would find myself being looked at, I would get so addled I would invariably come out with a yellow ribbon."

UNRUFFLED DUKE

She laughed. "The duke is different. Being born a public personality, he can be watched without being distracted. If there are a hundred people looking, he still will buy exactly the pair of socks he wants!"

The duchess wore, for this afternoon interview, a rust-colored tweed suit that livened her porcelain beauty and illustrated, convincingly, why she has for 20 years been among the "10 best-dressed women" of the world. Of this sartorial honor, she commented only briefly.

"I feel I really shouldn't be on the list. I believe that younger people should be noticed and encouraged."

At one point in the afternoon, the duchess, always pictured as the acme of sophistication and regal dignity, was surrounded by four dogs of the tawny, prune-faced, waddily variety called "pugs." At least two of them were snoring rather discordantly, a basic aptitude of the pug breed.

"I am afraid," mentioned the duchess calmly, "there are two of you who are not grown up enough to stay in the living room. I think you had better leave, Peter and Davy Crockett."

Peter and Crockett trudged out to the kitchen.

ALL RECALLED

Obedient to her memories, as her dogs are obedient to orders, the Duchess of Windsor spent hundreds of hours dictating into a tape recorder the ingredients of her autobiography, "The Heart Has Its Reasons."

The duchess has wet her pen at last, and opened her mouth and said: "This is what I really thought and did, and why I thought and did it, and nobody has ever known that but me . . ."

Casual Apparel Fits European Trip

Gone are days of "dressing to the hilt," as true in Europe as it is in the United States. The casual air so popular now in cities throughout America is the style for Americans in Europe as well, and a college girl planning a trip abroad this summer can very likely get by without buying anything new. Naturally, the most important consideration is being sure the clothes you take will be suitable wherever you are and whatever you do.

Here's what a travel company suggests a young girl should carry for a summer's trip abroad. Three dark dresses of the new, easy-to-pack-and-wash, non-wrinkable fabrics . . . two cocktail dresses . . . a lightweight suit and two matching blouses, also washable . . . a lightweight coat that can double for a raincoat and bathrobe as well as for walking that long distance from your hotel or pension room to the nearest shower . . . a cardigan sweater and a pair of pedal-pushers, Bermuda shorts or slacks . . . a bathing suit.

Take three pairs of shoes—one "loafer" type for sightseeing and two pairs of heels, one medium and one high—all three comfortable . . . eight pairs of nylon hose . . . if you can wear them comfortably, several pairs of foot-peds . . . a silk scarf for evening breezes . . . a soft hat, or make your scarf do double duty for head covering, required in most of Europe's churches . . . a pair of dark, washable gloves . . . and, of course, ample nylon lingerie and nightwear.

Be sure to pack sun glasses, Band-aids, shampoo, hairpins and such. You can buy them abroad but they'll cost you more. If you need glasses for reading, carry the prescription — the same goes for any medicines you're required to take. As for your travel funds, buy travelers cheques. They're a hundred per cent safe and spendable throughout the world.

But keep your extras to a minimum. With the wardrobe outlined above, or your own slight variation of it, you'll be comfortably and correctly dressed for every occasion this summer. Leave some room to pack souvenirs — after all, you may want to buy a Dior creation. Who knows?

Women of Church Entertained at Tea

Groups Three and Four of the Women's Association of Oakland Avenue United Presbyterian Church held a tea for the women of the church.

Mrs. Q. R. Mahan, Mrs. G. W. Barnhart, Mrs. May Sweet, Mrs. Guy Caswell and Mrs. Richard Kelley served as hostesses at the recent tea.

The Rev. Don McCurry, pastor of the Colorado Springs United Presbyterian Church and missionary candidate to Pakistan, spoke.

Soap and Water Sparkles Pans

The easy way to clean stainless steel is also the best way, according to an expert with the American Iron and Steel Institute. Richard E. Paret says:

"Don't use scouring pads or cleanser when soap and water will do. And if your stainless pots and pans do need scouring use stainless steel wool, never ordinary steel wool."

Paret also says there's no need to wax stainless steel equipment in the belief that it helps preserve the finish. He claims stainless needs no protection and that waxing can be harmful.

Students Check Ability to Handle Emergencies While Driving

Abilities that make a driver either good or bad were tested for more than 150 students at Bloomfield Hills High School Friday, with a goal of having teenagers recognize weaknesses and correct them.

Conducted by Guy Mulholland, the tests were conducted by the Michigan Trucking Association and have been given to thousands of students throughout the state. They were made available to the Hills school district as part of new emphasis on driver training for high school students.

Students peered through boxes onto miniature cars approaching in staggered positions to test their distance perception, and stamped on simulated brake pedals in response to signals to check their reaction time.

They looked at numbers reflected in mirrors to appear at 20 feet of distance, to see how their vision was rated, and they looked at lights simulating oncoming cars at night, to test recovery from glare.

EXPERTS EVALUATE

Groups gathered around each test center in room 208 in the modern, rambling school that was opened last fall on Andover road, just off Long Lake in Bloomfield Hills. The teenagers helped Mulholland conduct the tests, marking individual scores which were rated in letter average later by the experts.

Felix Wotila of the school faculty worked out details for excusing students from classes for the short testing periods and assisted the trucking association's representative.

Tests included one for steadiness, where a stylus moved between metal strips lit a light when it swerved to either side. Color vision testing with the Ishihara Color Charts told students if they could distinguish red, green or amber of traffic signals.

ADVISES CAUTION

He pointed out that if "glare blindness" lasted for seven seconds, a car going at 45 miles an hour would travel 462 feet with the driver "driving blind." He advised keeping windshields clean and watching the right side of the road, or the center line if it is distinctly marked.

"Remember the other fellow and depress your lights when you meet him," he concluded.

Israeli Sources Fearing Massive Jet Plane Attack by Egyptians at Year's End

WASHINGTON (INS) — Israeli sources claim that their government fears that before the end of this year Egypt will hurl jet warplanes into a massive and possibly crushing assault on Israel.

Ambassador Abba Eban appeared to give official support to this estimate of war danger when he said that, as Egyptian power grows, the temptation to attack will become overpowering.

U. S. officials are trying to take a calmer view of the situation although admitting its gravity.

But another Israeli official declared in an interview: "We expect Egypt to attack as soon as she is convinced she can win quickly, in a week or so, with smashing blows from the air. That's why we want jet fighters . . . to ward off their bombers from the air.

BOMB SHELTERS BEING BUILT

"We believe that if Egypt continues to build up military strength and Israel is not permitted to buy arms from the West, the attack will come before the end of this year.

"The feeling is so general that the people in Israel are now building bomb shelters."

One U. S. official said this country is trying to determine whether the Russian-built arms sent to Egypt by Czechoslovakia have given the Egyptians the power to strike a crushing blow.

He said the study is part of the work under way in consideration of the Israeli request for permission to buy 50 million dollars worth of arms from the United States.

Meanwhile, as the freighter U. S. S. James Monroe prepared to sail for the Middle East carrying 18 light reconnaissance tanks to Saudi Arabia, congressional protests mounted against American aid to the Arab states.

The tank shipment was blocked by a temporary embargo early Friday morning, but the order was rescinded Saturday night.

TO STUDY LEGITIMATE REQUESTS

In lifting the embargo, the U. S. emphasized that it still was opposed to an arms race in the Middle East but that it would consider any reuest for arms needed in legitimate self defense.

Sen. Hubert Humphrey (D-Minn) declared that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles "should be called — summoned even — before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee to explain" the tank shipment.

The Minnesota Democrat said the "whole episode" is "evidence of the utter confusion and lack of policy of the State Department."

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga) of the committee said that he expected both Dulles and under secretary of state Herbert Hoover, Jr. before the group as soon as possible. Dulles is vacationing in the Bahamas and will return to the nation's capital Wednesday.

* * *

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) declared that Congress "must" investigate the sale of tanks to Arab nations, and he accused Hoover of representing oil interests in advising President Eisenhower to rescind his original ban on the tanks for Saudi Arabia.

Reuther Asks Senate Social Security OK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Walter P. Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers union, asked the Senate yesterday to approve a House-passed social security bill that would set up for the first time a system of disability payments.

Reuther, who also is vice president of the newly merged AFL-CIO said in a statement to the Senate Finance Committee that disability insurance would close "this most conspicuous gap in the American social security system." The committee is studying the bill. It would provide payments to persons age 50 and over.

The auto workers, he said, have permanent disability benefits in contracts covering more than a million workers, "and the result has been entirely successful."

This experience, like that accumulated through the years under workmen's compensation laws, veterans' legislation, the railroad retirement act, and many state and city retirement systems, proves that longterm disability benefits are entirely feasible," he said.

MSU Prof Says Work Routines Cut Efficiency

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP) — A professor Tuesday told industrial engineers that simplification of a job routine in the interests of greater efficiency sometimes defeats its own ends.

Dr. Eugene E. Jennings, an associate professor of management at Michigan State University, said that saving of a worker's time and motion can be overbalanced by a loss of job satisfaction.

Jennings said men performing essentially routine skills like to vary their motions occasionally, even at the expense of apparent inefficiency, and miss the opportunity of doing so if it is taken away by time-study experts.

59 U.S. Buildings Requested by Group

WASHINGTON (AP)—The general services administration (GSA) is asking the Budget Bureau and Congress to approve construction of 59 federal buildings with a total cost of about 284 million dollars.

Uncle Sam wouldn't have to put up all that money at one time, however, because the projects would be built under GSA's lease-purchase program.

This program, begun in 1954, calls for buildings designed by the federal government to be financed and built by private concerns. Federal agencies would use the buildings and the government would pay for them on the installment plan—annual payments over a period of from 20 to 25 years.

GSA, the government's housekeeping agency, draws up proposals for lease-purchase buildings and submits them to the Budget Bureau and the public works committees of Congress. When a project gains these approvals GSA can proceed, an okay by Congress as a whole is not required.

Other projects GSA intends to submit to Congress include:

Dog Given Rabies Test, Owner Now Sought

DETROIT (INS) — Detroit police today sought the owner of a brown and white fox terrier wanted for rabies tests after the dog reportedly bit a boy at an animal clinic.

The dog had been taken to the veterinarian by a woman owner for minor treatment, but the party failed to leave her name or address. Police said the boy will have to undergo shots against rabies if the dog is not located.

Temperatures Halting St. Clair Ice Breaking

The cutter Acacia yesterday broke through the ice of Lake St. Clair and into the river as far as Tashmoo Park.

The skipper, Lt. Cmdr. Edward Sawyer, reported ice of about 15 inches thick was solid from Windmill Point across the lake. He said ice on the river was six to 10 inches as far as the cutter went.

Adenauer Now Threatens Rebel Party With Ouster

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer threatened the rebellious Free Democratic party last night with ouster from his government coalition in retaliation for the humiliating defeat they handed him in West Germany's richest state.

The rightist Free Democrats teamed up with the opposition Socialists in the rich Rhur industrial state of North Rhine-Westphalia to unseat Premier Karl Arnold, one of Adenauer's chief lieutenants. The vote on a non-confidence motion yesterday was 102-96.

The tight-lipped old Chancellor told the German Press Club last night it appeared impossible that his Christian Democrats could continue to cooperate on a national level with a party opposing him on a state level. He said his party's national committee would examine the "impossible situation" Friday.

EXPAND CAMPAIGN

Leaders of the Socialist-Free Democrat alliance in the Rhur said they would expand their campaign to end what they termed Adenauer's one-party domination of West Germany. Steinhoff said

The defeat cost Adenauer his absolute two-thirds majority in the Bundesrat, upper house of Parliament. It reduced from 26 to 21 his iron-clad voting strength in the 38-member house, elected by parliaments of the nine states of West Germany.

But he retains a bare two-thirds majority on foreign policy and defense matters. The five representatives from Bavaria, controlled by an opposition coalition, are pledged to support him in those two key policy fields.

Hassle Delaying Farm Bill Debate

Senate Disagrees on Amount Its Committees Can Spend in 1956

WASHINGTON (AP) — Debate on the controversial farm bill was delayed again today by the Senate's prolonged arguments over the amount of money its committees can spend this year.

Senators already have spent three full working days in wrangling about committee funds — a chore that in the past often has been handled in a single day. A number of disputed allotments still awaited consideration.

Nevertheless, Sen. Ellender (D-La), Agriculture Committee chairman, expressed hope the farm bill could be taken up late in the day and finally acted on Friday.

But most senators considered Ellender's estimate highly optimistic, since farm legislation is one of the most politically explosive issues before Congress in this national election year.

The principal farm bill fight is expected to be over proposed restoration of high, fixed price supports on basic crops, which the administration strongly opposes. However, there are numerous lesser farm provisions to be fought out on the floor.

State Senate to Vote on Fairgrounds Bill

LANSING (INS) — The State Senate today will vote on a bill ending dual management of the state fairgrounds in Detroit and creating a new state fair board.

The measure, which has not yet been before the House, was approved tentatively last night.

Under current law, the fair board has authority only during the annual exhibition and the property is under jurisdiction of the Department of Agriculture for the rest of the year.

Youngster Slays Father, Brother

Killings Kept Secret by 12-Year-Old Boy and Sister for 3 Days

BEATTYVILLE, Ky. (AP)—A 12-year-old boy has admitted shooting to death his father and brother, then setting fire to their isolated cabin.

The boy and his 9-year-old sister kept the slayings secret for three days, County Judge Cecil Kincaid said.

He said William Brandenburg broke down under questioning and admitted shooting his father Brack, 65, and his brother Luther,

The boy gave no motive for the slayings last Friday. But he said he and his sister Hallie had looked for money they thought Luther had hidden and had been scolded by their father for being out in the rain.

Kincaid said William told him he went into the house and shot Luther with a .22-caliber rifle. When his father came to investigate the shot, the boy grabbed another rifle and killed him, the judge quoted William.

SET FIRE TO HOME

The boy spread kerosene over the house and set it on fire and he and his sister went to their grandmother's for the night, Kincaid quoted him. The grandmother said she noticed nothing unusual about their actions.

The next day the boy returned home, then reported the cabin had burned. His sister confirmed his story.

William was jailed without formal charges. Officials planned to try today to locate the rifles and an undetermined amount of money the boy reportedly hid.

Mrs. Brandenburg died about a month ago.

Railroads Urge Higher Taxes Upon Trucking

WASHINGTON (AP) — Demanding that trucks "pay the costs of their extraordinary highway demands," the Assn. of American Railroads has called on Congress to lay special taxes on the trucking industry to finance new road building.

Without such tax adjustment, the railroads said the heavy trucking industry would have "a virtually free ride on the public highways at the expense of others."

Burton N. Behling, AAR spokesman, told the House Ways and Means Committee that a bill for uniform across-the-board tax increases on fuel and tires "fails to meet tests of equity and sound economy."

Instead, he proposed upward graduated charges for heavy vehicles and "supplemental" taxes in the form of permit, or registration, fees for trucks of 10 tons and more.

Behling testified at hearings on plans to finance a new 40,000-mile system of interstate highways.

New Water System Brings Dip in Rate

Installation of the city's new $275,000 water system, has resulted in 30 per cent reduction in insurance rates for residents of Sylvan Lake, City Manager Ernest L. Ethier reported yesterday.

The reduction was approved by the Michigan Inspection Bureau and became effective recently. It lowered dwelling rates from $9.50 per thousand to approximately $7 per thousand, Ethier declared.

He also announced that the opening of bids for the $50,000 water revenue bonds for the completion of the system will be 8 p. m. March 7 at the Sylvan Lake City Hall. The issuance of the bonds were approved Feb. 7 by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

To date, 123 residences have been connected to the new system, Ethier reported. This is out of a possible 540, he added.

FINGER PUPPET

Walking on Your Fingers

You can have fun with your fingers by using them as part of a picture or cut-out, to make the pictures move.

Here is a funny little man who needs your fingers to walk.

Color with crayons or paints and paste down on stiff paper or cardboard.

You can paint the little man all sorts of bright colors. And, if you keep a little white in the collar, shirt, cuffs and handkerchiefs, the other colors will show up better.

Cut out the little man carefully, making the holes as indicated. Put your index and middle fingers in the holes as shown in the small sketch C at lower left and D at lower right.

If you can find an old pair of cotton gloves with two good finger ends you can cut off the fingers as shown in the sketch. Place them on the ends of your fingers and they will look like the funny man's stocking feet.

Will New Lobbying Probe Check Vote Influencing?

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — In the past 102 years Congress has investigated lobbying seven times. The result: a lot of bad publicity for lobbyists but no law to control them. Now Congress seems ready to start an eighth investigation.

There is a law requiring lobbyists here to register with Congress and report on their spending. It did not result from an investigation. It was passed without much examination in 1946 when Congress was reorganizing itself.

There is nothing illegal or wrong about lobbying. Every individual or group has a right to try to get Congress to pass the kind of legislation it wants. But lobbying can cross over into the corrupt class by the way money is used to influence voting.

This is an election year and whether this new inquiry does a real job or shadow-boxes depends on:

(1) The willingness of the full Senate to make an all-out inquiry, an attitude which will be revealed in the authority the Senate gives its committee; and (2) whether the Democrats and Republicans on the committee let their investigation degenerate into a political fight.

The Senate is expected to create a special committee made up equally of Democrats and Republicans.

The first such investigation by Congress was in 1854, when lobbying had become a national disgrace. The last was in 1950 when a House committee, also made up equally of Democrats and Republicans, got involved in intense partisanship.

The chairman of that committee, the late Rep. Frank Buchanan (D-Pa), described lobbying at the end of the inquiry as a "billion-dollar industry."

A report by his committee disclosed that 152 corporations spent $32,124,835 on "activities relating to attempts to influence legislation between 1947 and 1950" although they had reported only $750,000 under the Lobbying Act of 1946. Thirty companies refused to tell what they spent.

Congress did nothing then to make the Lobbying Act stronger.

There are a lot of defects in the present law but the basic one seems to be this: Congress required lobbyists to register with Congress but did not appoint any individual or group to police the law and the lobbyists.

Georgian Held in Murder Count

Columbus Department Store Boss Jailed for NAACP Chief's Death

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP)—A white department store owner was being held without bond on a murder charge today in the pistol slaying of Dr. Thomas H. Brewer Sr., 61-year-old Columbus Negro leader.

Solicitor Gen. John Land said a murder warrant was sworn out by Police Chief E. S. Moncrieff charging Luico Flowers, 54, with murder.

Land said the case would be placed before a Muscogee County grand jury Feb. 29.

The solicitor general reported a witness said Brewer, a prominent Columbus physician, reached into his pocket Saturday night just before he was shot to death in the office of the department store owned by Flowers. A pistol later was found in Brewer's pocket, Land said.

Land quoted Flowers as admitting in a statement that he shot Brewer.

Brewer had "threatened to get" Flowers shortly before he entered Flowers' office in the rear of the F&B Department Store, the solicitor general said.

Land said apparently there was no connection between the slaying and any activity of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, in which Brewer was a leader.

E. E. Farley, president of the Columbus chapter of the NAACP, said Brewer was dissatisfied with the police investigation of the arrest of an intoxicated Negro in front of Flowers' store two weeks ago and wanted Flowers to appear as a witness in the case. Flowers refused, he said.

Police said the men denied knowledge of a bombing which took place Jan. 1 at the scene of the alleged poker game, 367 N. Saginaw St. where a vacant store is located.

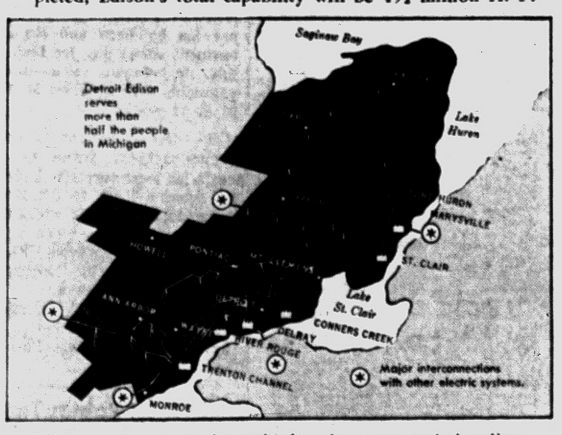
World's largest turbine-generator begins operation at Edison's River Rouge Plant

This new turbine-generator adds 349,000 H.P. to Detroit Edison's power system. Next year, when the Rouge is completed, Edison's total capability will be 4½ million H. P.



Edison system map shows high voltage transmission lines, major interconnections, and six power plants. The plants all operate as one unit, forming an electrical pool that can supply plenty of power any place in Southeastern Michigan.

bringing more power to help the residents of Southeastern Michigan live better electrically

Providing electric power for the thriving communities of Southeastern Michigan is a full-time job. And it's getting bigger all the time. To keep pace with the constantly increasing demands of this area, Detroit Edison carries on a program of continuous expansion. Edison's most recent addition is the River Rouge plant where the first turbine-generator unit has begun operation.

Probably the most modern and efficient generating plant of its kind, the new River Rouge installation boasts the largest turbine-generator in the world—a unit which can supply power for a city of 400,000.

In size, structure and equipment, this great power plant is a symbol of progress. The communities of Southeastern Michigan, together with Detroit Edison, are building towards a bright future. And that's a good sign, too.

SPECTACULAR FIRE — Fire of unknown origin early Monday destroyed the Second Presbyterian church, one of the landmarks in downtown Louisville, Ky. No estimate of the damage was available, but officials said the 48-year-old structure cost $100,000 to $500,000. After the fire, police said they found a safe in the church had been forced open and said there was definite evidence of a break-in before the fire started. This picture was taken by an amateur, Louis J. Moseson, during the height of the blaze.

70-Year-Old Immigrant Has About $10 Million in U.S., Polish Firms

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)— A Grand Rapids attorney is attempting to locate a Polish immigrant to the United States who now allegedly has interests totaling $10,000,000 in four leather manufacturing concerns.

Clifford J. Murphy was assigned the task by the German consulate in Detroit which had been asked for assistance in locating Jacob Gorski, whose relatives live in western Germany.

The relatives reportedly received word from persons who allegedly have seen Gorski, that he has a $2 million interest in a leather company in Poland and $8 million interest in three United States leather manufacturing firms.

The leather firm in Poland now is under Russian control.

Murphy said his search will cover government leather production records, inheritance tax records in eastern states and immigration records. Gorski came to the United States from Ludlow, Poland, shortly after World War I. If still alive, he would be about 70.

Expect Six Nominations at Commission Meeting

Nomination of six candidates for the 1956-57 in Districts 3, 5, and 6 where no primary is necessary, is expected to take place at tonight's City Commission meeting.

City Clerk Ada R. Evans is slated to make the report placing Mayor William W. Donaldson, Earl J. Smith (District 3), Commissioner John A. Dugan, Pat Stoglin (District 5), and Commissioner John E. Carry, J. H. Patrick Glynn (District 6), on the April 2 general election ballot.

The City Charter provides that if less than three candidates file from any district, the candidates shall be nominated for the April balloting. A primary will be necessary in the remaining four districts.

Also included on tonight's 33-point slate, is a report from City Manager Walter K. Willman selecting Leo J. Heenan as architect for a new $75,000 fire station for the city's west side. It is proposed for the southwest corner of Huron St. and Genesee Ave.

The City Commission is expected to hear an invitation from Raymond E. Best, chairman of the Pontiac post Ground Observer Corps membership drive committee, that the commissioners participate in the drive.

City Attorney William A. Ewart will report of a cancellation of a request of J. A. Fredman, Inc. to place a one inch encroachment over the sidewalk at Huron and Saginaw where they are building a new Kinsel Drug store.

The city manager will also recommend further action on a lease of the Barber's Flying Service at the City Airport, while the city engineer will recommend the deletion proposed sanitary sewers for Spruce and Eston streets from a special assessment roll.

Engineer's estimates for two-inch blacktopping for 10 streets totaling $40,497.05 are expected to be aired tonight by the city clerk.

After a hearing on intention to construct a water main in Elm street from Anderson to Marshall, the commissioners are expected to accept resolutions of special assessment rolls for 10 further blacktopping projects. Public hearings were held on these last week.

Hearing will be held tonight on special assessment rolls on blacktoping pavement for the following streets:

Beverly avenue from Baldwin to University; Blaine street from Oakland to Montcalm; Burt avenue from Montcalm to Hillside and Hillside drive from Burt to Summit; Cornell avenue from Baldwin to University; Drexel avenue from Paddock to South boulevard; Elm street from Jessie to Sanford; Fourth avenue from Joselyn to Fuller; Gordon avenue from Oakland to Corwin; Going street from South boulevard to Prospect; and Hamilton and McNeil streets from Baldwin to Rundell.

A hearing will be continued from Feb. 7 on the rezoning to manufacturing 3 of lots 145-147 of Dixie Highway Subdivision.

The commissioners will also hear the second reading of an ordinance to license and regulate the storing, wrecking and dismantling of wrecked automobiles.

In further action, the city clerk is expected to be granted authorization to advertise for bids March 19 for both the Pontiac Creek Drain and the 1956 blacktopping program for city streets.

Resolutions of public necessity for sidewalk: for the following streets are expected to be accepted tonight: Melrose avenue from Madison to Mt. Clemens; Kenilworth from Madison to Mt. Clemens; Cameron from Madison to Mt. Clemens; and Emerson from Madison to Mt. Clemens.

Renegotiation Board Looks In on Probe

WASHINGTON (AP)—The renegotiation board, which seeks to recover excessive profits on government contracts, is looking in on a congressional investigation of the aircraft industry.

An aide of the House Armed Services Investigations Subcommittee said today the board has assigned observers to open hearings on the production and profits of 15 companies which supply the air force and navy with aircraft.

Testifying yesterday, Controller Clyde Skeen of the Boeing Airplane Co. said the renegotiation board has declared excessive $9,822,340 of Boeing's 1952 government contract profit of $54,566,884, before federal income taxes.

Skeen said the order is being appealed to the U.S. Tax Court. He read into the hearing record a company statement strongly objecting to the standards used by the renegotiation board for determining the reasonableness of profits.

Skeen was recalled to the stand today (2 p.m. EST) to finish a statement of his company's position.

Melbourne University, Australia, announced establishment of a scholarship for creative writing at Standford University, California. It will be open to under-graduates of Australian universities.

Santee's Case Stirs Bitter Tempest

Missouri Group Says AAU Move 'Slap in Face'

Charges the Executive Body Violated Bylaws by Suspending Star

NEW YORK (AP)—A bitter tempest within the Amateur Athletic Union developed today in the wake of Wes Santee's lifetime suspension.

While the star American miler went about his duties as a Marine lieutenant in Quantico, Va., one of the top officials of the Missouri Valley Section of the AAU accused the organization's Executive Committee of "bungling the case badly."

The Executive Committee found Santee guilty of accepting about $1,500 in excess of allowed expenses last year and barred him for life.

"The action was a slap in the face to the Missouri Valley Section," said Registration Committee Chairman Julius Koenigsdorf in Kansas City. "It also violated the AAU bylaws in the process. They state specifically that application to full amateur status can be acted upon only at the annual meeting of the Board of Governors."

He added that he thought Santee was correct in going to court in hopes of reversing the decision. The Missouri Valley Board of Governors cleared Santee of charges of excessive expenses late last year only to have the case reopened by the parent body.

A high-ranking AAU official hit back at Koenigsdorf. The official, who asked that his name not be mentioned, told The Associated Press:

"We could have brought Koenigsdorf up on charges too. He was either concealing information from us or he was derelict in his duty. He knew about Santee's expenses."

AAU Secretary-Treasurer Dan Ferris was calm, however.

"Koenigsdorf is a good AAU man, and once he sees all the facts of the case, he'll agree with us," Ferris observed.

By way of keeping Santee out of competition, Ferris sent a teegram to all meet promoters warning them they would lose their AAU sanction "forever" if they permitted Santee to run. Ferris admitted he took the action "in case someone should obtain an injunction."

That is exactly what Santee and his attorney Charles P. Grimes plan to do. Grimes, in fact, said he hoped to have the papers drawn up in a few days and get quick results.

Appraised of Ferris' telegram to the meet promoters, Grimes said:

"It is characteristic of the AAU's arrogant attitude throughout the proceedings. It's a very interesting attempt by the AAU to commit contempt of court in advance."

Argument Over Nashua, Swaps Faces Revival

Saturday Duel Between Swaps, Social Outcast Stirs Debate Anew

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—Is Swaps as good as Nashua? Nothing short of another match race might answer the question unequivocally, but Alfred Vanderbilt's Social Outcast is going to point up the issue Saturday.

Swaps and Social Outcast are to hook up in a duel at a mile and one quarter Saturday. The circumstance will be the $100,000-guaranteed-to-the-winner Santa Anita Handicap.

Social Outcast was beaten by a whisker in the Widener at Hialeah last Saturday. Trainer Bill Winfrey had him flown to Santa Anita yesterday at a cost of $6,600 and says he believes Social Outcast will give a good account of himself. The horse will carry 124 pounds, compared with 129 for Swaps.

Social Outcast stood the trip from Miami well and is scheduled for a workout tomorrow. Eric Guerin, his regular jockey, will be aboard.

Freeman Holds Sizeable Lead in Big 10 Scoring

Freeman has scored 604 points in 19 games while Julius McCoy of Michigan State has 505 points in 18 games.

Another large gap opens behind McCoy who has a 105-point lead over Wally Choice of Indiana. Choice has 400 points in 19 games followed by Dick Miller of Wisconsin with 365 in 19 games. Illinois ace Paul Judson has 362 point in 18 games.

Only 11 Berths Left Unfilled in Big Tourneys

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Only 11 berths remain open today in the annual cold war between the two-giant post-season basketball attractions—the NCAA's National Championship Tournament and the National Invitation Tournament.

While officials of both tourneys insist there is no actual competition between them, there's no denying that both will have an eye on Philadelphia tomorrow when St. Joseph's tangles with Temple.

The NIT would like the winner for one of its four remaining openings—particularly since Temple is 20-1 for the season and ranked No. 10 in this week's Associated Press poll and St. Joseph's stands as the only club to defeat St. Francis of Brooklyn, already an NIT entry.

Temple, St. Joseph's (16-4), Oklahoma City (17-5), Canisuis (13-6), and Seattle (15-7) appear to be the leading contenders for the available tournament berths.

The NCAA actually has only 4 of its 25 Championship entries in hand—but of the remaining 21, all hand—but of the remaining 21, all but 7 will come in automatically as conference kings. It's the other 7 at-large berths the NCAA has to fill.

Already in as conference champs are Marshall (17-3) of the Mid-American and Connecticut (16-7) of the Yankee.

In addition to St. Francis of Brooklyn (18-1), the NIT field lists Louisville (21-2), Dayton (20-2), Seton Hall (18-3), Niagara (17-5), Duquesne (11-9), Marquette (11-9) and Xavier of Ohio (14-8). Louisville, No. 3 in the poll, and Dayton ranked No. 4, are the co-favorites to lift the NIT crown from Duquesne.

Santee Case Holds Little for America

By BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

If the United States is going to get serious about the Olympics, intent on giving this country the best possible representation in the winter and summer games, the place to start a transfusion for life would be at the root—that being the Amateur Athletic Union.

The AAU and its "secret seven," the committee which conducted the investigation of the Wes Santee case sure warrants some looking into itself.

Santee received a clean bill from his own governing body for the AAU, namely the Missouri Valley Association. The national AAU wasn't satisfied.

They went into Santee's athletic travels with a fine-tooth comb, and in a five-hour report during which time the miler wasn't even given right of presence, the committee finally decided 14-1 for a lifetime suspension.

WIFE'S TRIP WAS AN "IRREGULARITY"

One of the "irregularities" was the accepting of round-trip fare for his wife from their home in Kansas to California for a meeting in which Santee was participating.

He was also charged with the "irregularities" of accepting round-trip expenses from Kansas to meets in Cleveland, Chicago, Washington, D. C., and Philadelphia.

These meets were on successive nights so that according to the AAU charge, the round-trip from Kansas was not necessary. He should have received only the cost of his expense from one city to the other.

Lou Wilkie, AAU president last year, was the sole dissenter in the voting. He admitted there were violations, but he had enough gumption to swallow his pride as a national committeeman to say that the case belonged to Santee's home group, the Missouri Valley Assn.

Right now the U. S. is thinking about a bill which would have the government pay the training costs for U. S. Olympic athletes. Maybe the AAU will put a maximum on how much each meal at the training table should cost, if the government passes such a bill for a training site.

DITTO MARKS IN THE PRESS BOX

Nominating ballots for the All-Oakland County basketball team, and teams in Class A, B and C were well received as 22 of 29 schools participated. Only the Wayne-Oakland league with five county representatives failed to co-operate because of a rule against all-star balloting. It isn't because some of the athletes have to take a back seat to other county athletes when it comes to ability, but because they have to by regulation. Is it fair?

Rookie Hicks Gets Chance at Tiger Utility Position

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Manager Bucky Harris says he plans to give rookie Clarence (Buddy) Hicks a chance at an open infield job when the Tigers start regular drills March 1.

Harris decided to give the shortstop-second baseman a crack at a utility job after watching him perform in two rookie exhibition games at Tigertown. He hadn't been slated to move over to the big camp with the 18 Tigertown players who are on the regular Detroit roster.

Harris says he plans to carry only six infielders this year. Ray Boone, Harvey Kuenn, Fred Hatfield, Earl Torgeson and Jack Phillips appear all set. The 6th will be picked from among Reno Bertoia, Harry Malmberg and Hicks.

"I need a utility man who can play both short and second," Harris said. "Hicks looks like he might be able to do it and hit a little more than either Malmberg or Bertoia. We'll give him every chance to prove it this spring."

Top 10 Quints Undergo Shuffle

Dons Still in Front as Major Colleges' Only Unbeaten Club

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco has all but permanently appropriated the No. 1 spot among the nation's college basketball teams, but the rest of the top 10 underwent a complete reshuffling today in the Associated Press poll.

Three unranked teams rose up to beat foes in the select 10 and the free-wheeling Dons were left as the only undefeated quintet in major college ranks.

Louisville beat Dayton for the second time this season and knocking the Fliers from the runner-up spot down to fourth.

Illinois moved into second place and Louisville vaulted into third on the ballots of sports writers and broadcasters.

Class D activity at Lincoln Junior High found the Aces handing the National division pacesetters, the Meteors, their 1st setback of the season, 41-39. Gale McAnnally tallied 23 points for the Aces, who moved within half a game of the leaders.

Six games are scheduled tonight. In adult contests at Jefferson the Trojans battle Louie's Tavern and Phil's Inn tangles with Griff's Grill. Class D action at Eastern pairs Blue Devils-Slaybaugh's, Pulver Tire-Central, Oliver Buick-Wolverines, and Lakesiders-Boys Club.

FRED HANEY

Manager Fred Haney calling the correct signals.

Would you:

B. Have Dark intentionally walked and play your infield in?

C. Pitch to Dark?

Result: B—Dark was intentionally passed and the infield was brought in. Lockman grounded to Gene Freese, who threw to the plate forcing Irvin. A strikeout and easy fly ball followed and the Pirates won 3-2 (May 6).

Illinois Breezes Along

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Illinois continues to overpower its opponents with ease in running up 16 straight basketball victories and 10 without defeat in Big Ten competition but still can't make any headway.

Despite its remarkable record, the nation's No. 2 team is no better off in its bid for the title than it was after the initial conference games.

Illinois won is opener and Iowa lost its opener. Since then each team has run off nine straight Big Ten victories to remain one-two in the conference race.

Last night was a perfect example of the way the race has been going. Illinois swept by Purdue, 102-77, at Champaign while Iowa had to pull another one out of the fire in edging Indiana, 87-83, at Bloomington.

Illinois also has games against Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern while Iowa tangles with Minnesota, Northwestern and Indiana.

Illinois breezed by Purdue, opening a 33-point second-half lead and coasting to victory. The Illini made 9 out of their last 10 field goal attempts in the first half to grab a 50-37 lead.

Paul Judson led the attack with 21 points while Joe Sexson scored 26 to set a four-year Purdue scoring record of 1,013 points to 1,011 established by Dennis Blind last year.

Chiefs Hope to Upset Vikings

By H. GUY MOATS
Pontiac Press Special Writer

VALLEY SCHEDULE
Tuesday's game—Arthur Hill at Midland.
Friday's games—Northern in Pontiac; Saginaw at Flint Central; Bay City Central at Arthur Hill.

With Flint Northern's Vikings practically assured one more victory in the hot Saginaw Valley title race, now nearing its conclusion, most observers rate Jack Marlette's crew the best bet for the 1956 crown. Victory assurance is based on what Northern did in the 1st engagement with its finale foe, Bay City Central. Worst that can happen to Northerners is a tie for the top spot, but that chance is rather dim.

In the meantime, however, the Valley spotlight is turned full on three games this week. Top interest, locally, of course is on the visit Vikings pay to Pontiac's Chiefs, Friday night. The other top-rated games pit Flint Central and Arthur Hill against Bay City Central on Lumberjacks' floor.

Art Van Ryzin's Chiefs face the toughest task. After Vikings dumped Central, 69-51 last weekend (an 18-point margin) they have been made favorites in the test here on Friday night. However, Pontiac observers recall what happened to Flint Central in its return engagement here after the 80-58 on Dec. 16. Chiefs took adequate revenge for that licking, 64-59.

And it's a sure thing that Van Ryzin's club is getting ready to go all out against the Vikings in hopes of turning the tables. PHS has improved greatly since that 1st meeting and is capable of giving the Flint club a battle royal.

After Friday's contest Chiefs take on Saginaw Eastern on March 2 in the season's SVC windup here. They should win that one.

Central's chances rest on its hopes for beating Saginaw and Arthur Hill, while the 'Jacks place their hope for a continued share of the runnerup spot on wins against Bay City and Central. The finale will cut the three-way knot.

15 Now Loom as Possible Starters in Rich Flamingo

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The $100,000-added Flamingo Stakes at a mile and an eighth at Hialeah Saturday began to take shape today with 15 speedy 3-year-olds regarded as probable starters.

Attention centered on Maine Chance Farm's Gun Shot, a winner by 8 lengths Saturday in 1:22 3-5—fastest time of the meeting for 7 furlongs. Gun Shot went on out another furlong to finish the mile in 1:34 4-5.

That was faster than the first mile of the Widener in which Nashua, Social Outcast, Sailor, Find, El Chama, Jamie K., Man of Destiny, Sea O Erin and Prince Noor competed. Time for the first mile of the mile and a quarter Widener was 1:35 3-5.

Trainer Ike Mourar said Mrs. Elizabeth Graham, owner of Maine Chance Farm, may send Busher's Idol as an entry with Gun Shot.

Spartans Rally to Beat 'Cats

Last Minute Spurt Is Win Producer; Breaks Losing Streak

EAST LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University put on a last-minute spurt to break a three-game losing streak and defeat Northwestern, 96-93, in a Big Ten basketball game last night.

The Spartans now are 5-5 in Western Conference competition.

Bowling Clinic

By BILLY SIXTY

PITCH FOR SPIN — Until you learn to release the thumb first, you cannot get consistent and effective hook spin on the ball. Once you master this important function, you're on your way up.

And to develop the action, the type of grip used means a lot. With a two-fingered ball, for example, it is best to have "no pitch" on the thumb hole, as sketch shows, with either a conventional

INCREASED FINGER-HOLE PITCH PRODUCES GREATER HOOK-SPIN FOR POWER.

(three-eights) or even a full-western (half) pitch on the fingers. Have the thumb hole snug but never tight to insure getting the thumb out first.

With a three-fingered grip, which naturally provides a more secure hold of the ball during the swing, less pitch is needed on both the thumb and the finger holes. Almost without exception, top bowlers now use no-pitch, or even back pitch, on the thumb, and three-eighths on the finger holes for a smooth release with hook power off of the fingers.

As we mentioned previously, pitch decreases as the span (thumb to fingers) of the grip gets wider. Comfort is paramount. In selecting a ball bear in mind that a narrow grip releases easier. Be sure your grip is right.

Milford Seeks Revenge Over Skippers

Milford High School's basketball powerhouse will have an opportunity to avenge its only setback of the season tonight.

Jack Minzey's high-scoring Redskins, spearheaded by Jim Davidson and Fred Baker, entertain Waterford High in this evening's top prep attraction of an otherwise light area schedule.

The Inter-Lakes League Skippers are the authors of Milford's lone defeat, a 52-51 squeaker at Waterford in the season opener for both teams. Since that time the Redskins have breezed through 12 opponents to clinch the Wayne - Oakland League championship.

Buoyed by a home floor advantage and boasting Oakland County's leading point-maker in Davidson, the Redskins hope to erase the only blot on their record.

Don Beedle's Skippers will counter with Chuck Gillis, their No. 1 scorer, and a defense designed to halt the basket-happy Redskins. Waterford's overall record is eight wins and five losses.

In other games of interest West Bloomfield's Lakers invade Ortonville to meet the Blackhawks, Rochester plays host to Oxford, and Walled Lake visits Cranbrook for an afternoon outing.

Novi Dog Wins Boxers' Club Best of Match

Officials reported today that the spring puppy match held at May's Barn, Rochester, Sunday, by the Michigan Boxer Club was a successful affair.

With 41 entries (larger than had been expected), some very good competition was enjoyed, with the best in match going to a fawn-colored bitch owned by Ralph and Florence Makin of Novi. "Tal Flo's Magnificent Imp" also went winners' bitch (9-12 months). Winner's dog was "May Wills Bullet," owned by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Williams of Rochester (6-9 months class).

Moore Beats King, Plans Another Fight Next Week

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Archie Moore, a pleasantly plump 197 pounds, said today he'd train down and defend his light-heavyweight boxing title in London next summer but in the meantime planned to do as he pleased.

His comment was occasioned by a cablegram from English Promoter Jack Solomons. It arrived shortly after he puffed to a 10-round decision last night over Howard King of Reno before a crowd which paid $8,523 to watch the workout.

"Well, I've got a fight scheduled with Bob Dunlap down at my home town, San Diego, next week and I figure on going through with it."

Moore had more paunch than punch last night. But he decked the 21-year-old King twice in earning the decision in his first ring showing since Rocky Marciano knocked him out last September. The Reno youngster was down for eight counts in both the first and ninth rounds, but managed to stay out of trouble otherwise.

Waterford Archers See Action Tonight

Bill Giles was last week's high scorer for the men with 199 out of a possible 250. Dorothy France led the women archers with 131.

The team of Sunny France, Bill Carland, Merle Finkle and Giles is presently leading the league with 18 points. Two teams are tied for 2nd place with 16 points each.

League matches are conducted every Tuesday and are sponsored by the Waterford Township Recreation Department.

Marxism Fails to Heal Wounds of Jilted Soviet

And this may explain why love philters and the other paraphernala of magic-making "heart specialist" still thrive in Soviet Russia, the "land of Socialist enlightenment."

As a school teacher wrote in the magazine "Working Woman" (Rabotnitsa):

"Backward people exist (in the U.S.S.R.) who still believe in 'fate', magic charms and fortune telling. This is because these superstitions have been circulated for thousands of years and it's not so easy to liquidate them."

Soviet newspaper articles from time to time expose fortune-tellers, quack herb doctors and other traditional fakirs who have survived 38 years of Communist rule and are still practicing the ancient tricks.

Moscow police have just rounded up a couple of gypsy fortune-tellers who have bilked an impressive list of gullible women.

Among the credulous were a girl medical student who paid a gypsy 1,500 rubles to help her "recover a cow," a girl economics student who sought a "miraculous cure," the wife of an engineer who wanted to rekindle her husband's love and a colonel's daughter who called on the gypsies for supernatural aid in launching a scientific career.

The newspaper account outlines the fate of one victim who fell for the ancient gypsy "money-burning" trick that seems to work just as well with rubles as it does with capitalist currency.

The gypsy led a young woman "whose sweetheart had become cold toward her" to an underground cemetery vault.

The gypsy set fire to the sheets of paper, after adroitly switching the 100-ruble notes with newspaper cuttings. The girl suffered severe burns, but she bore her pain — and the loss of the 1,000 rubles — in silence, until she discovered that her ordeal had not brought her boyfriend back. She went to the police.

So did a young Communist leaguer, identified only as "Valya s.", who felt she was too skinny. She lost 1,200 rubles and her gold jewelry seeking a magical transformation to fashionable plumpness.

Two gypsy women were arrested and charged. But more often than not, the fortune-tellers' clients are too shamed to reveal their gullibility to the authorities.

Gleason Slips Ahead of Como in TV Ratings

Gleason's CBS show was given a rating of 25.9 against 25.5 for the first half of the competing Como show on NBC.

CBS moved Gleason up a half an hour last week into the 8 p.m. spot to combat the higher ratings of the hourlong Como show.

U.N. Group OK's Mass Polio Shots

Experts Say Vaccine Found Safe for Usage in Global Program

GENEVA (AP)—The U. N. World Health Organization reported today that the American polio vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk could now be considered safe for use on a mass scale.

The report, by an international group of 12 leading polio experts who met in Stockholm last November, was the first official international approval of the Salk vaccine and similar antipolio serums developed in other countries.

The experts reported about 200 cases of polio were caused by faulty batches of vaccine in the United States. But it added:

"Except for these incidents, associated with a few lots of vaccine, several million children have been inoculated without mishap in the United States. It has recently become clear that this has been of considerable benefit in reducing the incidence of paralytic poliomyelitis the rate being significantly lower among the vaccinated children than among the unvaccinated children of a similar age group."

Vaccine produced on a large scale in Denmark, West Germany and South Africa has been used to inoculate some 800,000 children, the experts said, without any mishap being reported.

The experts said the production of vaccine involved a constant risk of accidental survival of live polio virus unless very stringent precautions were taken throughout the process, and unless only fully qualified and trained personnel was employed.

The report advised countries where poliomyelitis is a major health problem to plan a mass inoculation campaign, preferably at the time of the year when the disease is normally at its ebb.

Tallulah Receives Less Money Than Her Maid!

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — Tullulah Bankhead and I went out frolicking until dawn.

Our rendezvous wasn't too private—starting as it did before several hundred others at City Center. The audience's ecsatic "Bravos" pulled her on stage for a curtain speech. Arms outstretched appealingly, the Wham from Albam cried, "DAR-lings!"

The audience laughed.

Then Tallulah laughed.

"The hardest thing in this play is that I can't say 'Dar-lings' once." She had that hoarse breathlessness that's her trademark. "You've made this such a happy moment of my life that I'm afraid to wake up tomorrow—BLESS YOU!"

I had a tear in my eye just from her curtain speech after "Streetcar Named Desire." Stumbling backstage, I encountered Margaret Truman, Mrs. Earl Warren, Virginia Warren and others equally choked up—also a famous doctor who's treated her for shingles and an ulcer, who assured her this was her most magnificent hour.

★ ★ ★ ★

Then I went to a party for Tallulah at the Bernard Goodwins, where Tallulah had an arm around Playwright Tennessee Williams.

TALLULAH BANKHEAD

"I heard you two were feuding," I mentioned.

"He knelt at my feet tonight, darling," Tallulah replied.

"I was her director," spoke up Herbert Machiz, "and let me tell you that she let me know I'd better damn well know what I 'was supposed to know!"

Tallulah, sipping a bourbon and ginger — for the old South — and looking "bone-thin" because she felt she should appear emaciated — was asked what she planned to do after the party.

"DAR-ling," she replied readily, "I intend to sleep till 5 o'clock in the afternoon."

I'd just like to say that Tallulah's performance after the show is as good as it is in the show. But more than that, Tallulah's doing it as a contribution to the theater. She got $5,000 or $6,000 a week in Florida for this show which, at City Center, pays her "scale"—$85 a week.

"After she agreed to do it," said Producer Jean Dalrymple, "she called me and said, 'I'll go through with it, but you'll pay my maid, Rose, won't you, darling?'"

"Certainly," Miss Dalrymple said. "And how much will that be?"

Men Are More Deadly in Insurance Statistics

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Insurance underwriters disagree with Kipling's famous line. They think the male driver under 25 is more deadly than the female — especially if he is unmarried.

Proposals for revised liability insurance rates, filed with the state, ask increases up to 43.6 per cent for unmarried male drivers under 25. Such drivers who are married would get off lighter and girls in the same age bracket — married or unmarried — would get a decrease.

U.S. heart disease deaths declined from 169 per 100,000 in the 1931-35 period to 163 in the 1951-54 period, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. statistics indicate.

Hint Grand Jury on Trade Papers

Probers May Force Officials to Give Facts of Sales to Russia

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Investigations subcommittee considers today whether to try to force federal officials to disclose some details of the easing of East-West trade curbs.

Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) told the group yesterday a contempt of Congress citation "should be voted" if Secretary of Commerce Weeks does not produce some requested documents, "and the case should go to the grand jury."

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) in a stormy exchange with Philip A. Ray, Commerce Department general counsel, hinted he also might have in mind a test of executive agencies' right to withhold subpoenaed material.

The subcommittee is exploring this country's part in a 1954 agreement to end some embargoes and world sales of goods to Russia.

At the time, the then foreign aid director, Harold E. Stassen, said the net result would be of advantage to the free world. McClellan, however, contends Russia's "war machine" has been strengthened by free world shipments behind the Iron Curtain.

In a letter delivered to the subcommittee, Herbert Hoover Jr., undersecretary of state, refused to turn over certain documents McClellan says should show who in Washington recommended that this country agree to the relaxation.

Hoover said he spoke for the Departments of State, Commerce and Defense, and the International Cooperation Administration, which administers foreign aid.

Hoover agreed to provide at public hearings a list of items stricken from the list of goods embargoed for sale to Russia.

But he said public disclosure of items on which restrictions less than a total embargo were either eased or tightened, or of items added to the list, would amount to "a breach of trust" with other Western nations. He said they are privileged executive branch papers.

He said he would give such information only behind closed doors, under guarantees of secrecy.

McClellan accused Commerce Department Counsel Ray of repudiating a promise to produce a list of items a U.S. policy committee had recommended for removal from the embargo list or for other relaxation of curbs. Ray acknowledged he had agreed last weekend to hand over the list, but he said this now is forbidden in view of Hoover's letter.

Griffin has served as executive assistant to the director since May, 1955. Before that, he headed the blood typing program and served as chief of the bureau of health, welfare and dispersal.

Marine Engineer Wins Algonac Village Vote

The non-partisan election was only a primary, but Jasper's nomination is tantamount to election since only his name will appear on the general election ballot.

SAME MURRAY

He was the same brash Ken Murray, except that his brush-topped hair was graying ("That's what TV did to me."), and Marie was still Marie—all of her.

Even the jokes were the same (Marie) "Here is a pome I have writ—wroten—all right, so it's rotten.") But they still convulsed the packed audience in the Venus Room of the Hotel New Frontier.

The Blackouts success story is being repeated all over again in Las Vegas. (The show ran seven years at the El Capitan Theater in Hollywood.) Ken and Marie are being held here six weeks and can return later this year for 8 or 12 weeks at $20,000 per week.

BROKE RECORD

"Two Saturdays ago, we broke the record set by Sammy Davis Jr. on New Year's Eve. And last Saturday we broke our own record. Of course, there's a good reason why we draw. This town is supposed to get 50 per cent of its trade from southern California (some say as high as 80 per cent).

"Some 5½ million people paid to see Blackouts at the El Capitan. So you can understand why they want to see it again."

Perhaps the main reason for the show's success is the happy wedding of two talents—the brash, wise-cracking Murray and the innocent sex of Marie. Both have had success in other mediums as single performers. But they are seldom as surefire hits as when they appear together.

'Blackouts' Given Million Dollar Deal

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Ken Murray's "blackouts," featuring Marie Wilson, has been given a million dollar contract to appear annually in Las Vegas, Nev., until 1960.

The contract calls for payment of a quarter million dollars a year for an eight week minimum.

Sammy Lewis, entertainment director for both the New Frontier and Riviera hotels in Las Vegas, said Murray's troupe will alternate between the two hotels.

* * *

"Blackouts" once had a seven-year run in Hollywood. It was revived for a three-week engagement at the New Frontier and the run has been held over for 10 weeks.

There were 1,545,000 marriages in the United States in 1953.

Most Grains Slip Downward

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains turned downward in active dealings on the Board of Trade today, giving up a relatively small part of the substantial advance scored in the previous session.

Wheat, rye and old crop soybeans were hardest hit by the selling. These grains had scored the widest upturn in yesterday's booming market. September soybeans went against the trend, making a good gain.

Corn and oats, which participated only slightly in the advance of the previous day, held steady. They were not subjected to the profit-taking which appeared in other cereals.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was ¼ to 1 cent lower, March $2.19⅛; corn ¼ lower to ⅛ higher, March $1.30¾; oats unchanged to ¼ higher, March 63¼; rye to ¾ lower, March $1.27¼; soybeans 1 cent lower to 2 cents higher, March $2.58¾, and lard 2 to 8 cents a hundred pounds lower, March $12.07.

President Planning More Quail Hunting

The President now plans to remain at the plantation until probably Saturday morning. He originally had intended to return to the capital three or four days earlier.

Humphrey is scheduled to fly to New York tomorrow to fill a speaking engagement. He will return Thursday.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said Eisenhower probably will play golf tomorrow at the Glen Arven Country Club course.

Friday the President played his first round since his Sept. 24 heart attack. He tallied an 11-over-par 47 for nine holes.

Car Driver Training for Students Rolling

LANSING (AP)—The state's school chief says Michigan's new driver education program for high school students is picking up speed.

Dr. Clair L. Taylor, state superintendent of public instruction, said Monday that in the 1956-57 school year about 60,000 pupils are expected to complete special driver training courses.

This number would compare, Taylor said, with an estimated 25,000 expected to finish courses in the remainder of the present school year and 24,000 trained in the entire 1954-55 school year.

Detroit expects to give the training to 14,500 students in the year ahead as against 4,500 in the present year. Many outstate school systems are looking for comparable increases.

Under the program, schools are paid a $25 a student subsidy by the state for conducting the safe driving courses, consisting of 30 hours classroom and six hours behind-the-wheel instruction.

Detroit City Employes to Work Tomorrow

DETROIT (INS)—Detroit's city-county building will be just the "city" building tomorrow when county employes enjoy a Washington's birthday holiday.

City workers will be on the job as the city does not observe the holiday.

Banks and some other public offices also will be closed for the day.

National Guard Stages Campaign Wednesday

LANSING (AP)—The Michigan National Guard stages a one-day drive Wednesday to recruit 750 new men.

The campaign, featuring open houses in the state's 60 armories, is part of a nationwide National Guard recruiting blitz in which units seek to build their strength to authorized levels.

The Michigan National Guard currently numbers 12,566 officers and men.

U.S. Visa Proposal Rejected by India

NEW DELHI (AP)—India said today that U. S. citizens visiting the country must go right on getting a new visa for each trip.

It turned down a U. S. State Department request for a reciprocal agreement to exchange multi-journey visa privileges.

Sadath Ali Khan, the Foreign Ministry's parliamentary secretary, told the lower House that the request was made by the U. S. Embassy in New Delhi.

"After full consideration, the government of India informed the U.S. Embassy it was not disposed to enter such an agreement, the secretary said.

He did not give the reasons.

3-Year-Old Detroit Girl Suffers From Burns

DETROIT (INS) — A three-year-old Detroit girl was critically burned last night when a kitchen gas stove ignited her dress.

Mrs. Mabel Woods, 37, returned home from using a neighbor's telephone to find her daughter, Berlinda, horribly burned. The youngster had run to the bathtub and turned on the water in an effort to extinguish her clothing.

Stocks Follow Narrow Range

The list was thoroughly mixed with no outstanding trend in any major division.

Some changes went to around a point either way but most were in the smaller fractions.

Trading simmered down to a pace around 2,000,000 shares for the day. That compares with 2,530,000 shares traded in yesterday's slightly higher market.

* * *

Steels down, motors up, rubbers mixed, aircrafts mixed, utilities mixed, coppers mixed, chemicals mostly lower, railroads mixed, oils higher, and airlines higher.

Kennecott Copper and Phelps Dodge were slightly higher on the heels of their price boost for copper. Anaconda started the ball rolling last Friday with a hike of three cents to 46 cents for the metal.

* * *

Ford Motor traded over the counter at a gain of ⅛ to ¼ over yesterday's close. The company reported record high earnings for last year.

At noon, the Associated Press average of 60 stocks held unchanged at $177.50. It was up 20 cents yesterday and $2.80 the previous session, largest gain for any single day in the past five months.

Widow of Fire Victim Files Suit for $150,000

DETROIT (AP)—The widow of a plant protection worker who lost his life in the 50 million dollar fire at the General Motors transmission plant in Livonia in 1953 filed a $150,000 damage suit yesterday.

Mrs. Earlene Degner contended that Hickey, Shaw & Winkler, a plumbing contracting firm, was negligent in a job it was doing at the plant at the time. She said sparks from a welder's torch operated by an employe of the firm touched off the fire.

Story of the Talents

Church Borrows Parable From Bible to Raise Funds

BEAVERTON (AP) — A fervent church group is hard at work bringing to life the Biblical story of the talents.

Some 43 volunteer members of the Church of the Brethren are putting money to use, planning to use the profits to help pay for a church addition.

Their theme is the Bible story about the man who gave his three servants some talents. One buried his in the ground. The others invested their talents and were able to hand their master the original talent plus what they had earned.

The Rev. Earl Atkinson, youthful church pastor, got the idea from an organ salesman who gave him home literature on how the congregation could earn money for an organ. One suggestion was that of the talents.

"We didn't buy the organ," the pastor said, "but we borrowed the idea."

He gave one talent each ($5) from the church funds to 43 members of the congregation. That was Dec. 11. An accounting will come April 22.

* * *

Those who took the money invested it in the project of their choice, plowing back profits into the project.

INVESTMENTS PAYING OFF

One woman and her husband have made $60 so far by baking bread, rolls and doughnuts. Another woman earned $20 through her sewing.

One family is in the ice cream business. They rigged up a motor-driven mixer in the basement that uses snow instead of ice. So far 94 quarts have sold at 50 cents each with a 40 per cent profit per quart.

Sharon, 7, and Donald, 11, children of Mr. and Mrs. Ottamer McKimmy, each took $1 to buy material for hot pads. They sell the loom-woven pads for 25 cents each and have made $6 so far.

Other projects include crocheting, painting pillow slips, giving home permanents, selling homemade salad dressing and raising veal calves. No one has run into trouble finding customers.

The congregation plans to build a fellowship hall as an addition to the church. It will cost about $200,000 but the pastor hopes to get it for a capital investment of $4,000.

Some parishioners in the 165-member congregation already have donated lumber from their farms. A sawmill will be set up as soon as enough trees are cut.

* * *

"We won't go into debt for the addition," said the Rev. Mr. Atkinson. "At the rate we're getting along, we think we'll be able to break ground this spring."

Martin termed the gas bill a good and necessary bill with its objective to protect "The American Way" and restrict federal encroachment on the rights of the states.

Solon Martin Sees Revival of Gas Bill

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Joseph W. Martin Jr. (R-Mass), House minority leader, will be keynote speaker tomorrow night at the annual award dinner of Sons of the American Revolution.

Martin arrived several days early as a guest of Hugh Roy Cullen, wealthy oilman and contributor to Republican campaign funds.

Martin said in an interview that legislation to free gas producers from direct federal controls could be revived "fairly soon" if an agreement can be worked out. He noted that two thirds of the House Republicans voted for the Harris bill which President Eisenhower vetoed.

Detroit Edison Picks New Board Member

DETROIT (AP)—Election of William C. Foster of Scarsdale, N. Y., as a director of the Detroit Edison Co. was announced today.

Foster is executive vice president of the Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp. He formerly served the government as Under Secretary of Commerce, Administrator for Economic Cooperation, and Deputy Secretary of Defense.

Edison directors declared a 45-cent quarterly dividend payable April 16 to stockholders of record March 21.

The company reported net earnings for the 12 months through Jan. 31, 1956, totaled $26,495,966, or $2.45 a share. This compared with $22,685,694, or $2.10 a share, for the previous 12 months.

Although a fall or injury often is cited as a cause for a child's mental deficiency, most experts deny that this is often the case.

Bud Flanagan at Son's Bedside

Top British Comedian Arrives From London to See Leukemia Victim

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Bud Flanagan, one of Britain's top comedians, arrived from London by plane last night to see his leukemia-stricken son and said after a hospital bedside visit:

"He has a grave blood disorder which has been present for some time. He has previously had critical periods but in the past has each time regained his strength.

"At the present moment he is in such a crisis. Later reports will be issued as indicated."

The elder Flanagan said he spent an hour to an hour and a half at his son's bedside.

He said his son recognized him and is "in a state where he's very emotional."

Bud Flanagan is senior partner in the "Crazy Gang," five comedians well advanced in years who have become part of British stage tradition. Their "Crazy Gang" show has been running for years.

3-Year Probation Terms Given 2 for Beer Theft

Jerry R. Dewey, 18, of 841 Stanley, and Earl D. Scribner, 17, of 1637 Beechcroft, Keego Harbor, yesterday were sentenced after admitting Feb. 6 stealing 9 cases of beer in Bloomfield Township Dec. 31.

Farmington Man Gets 6-Month Jail Sentence

Armchair Adventurers Invited to Color Travelog

Armchair adventurers have been invited to view a free color-film travelog, "Adventure in Colorado," which will be presented by W. Emerson Scott of Caro at 7:30 p.m. Thursday as part of the program of the Pontiac Education Assiciation meeting.

The film, to be shown at Pontiac High School following a 6:30 p.m. PEA dinner, is open to the public. Non-members of the education association also may attend the dinner, but tickets for the dinner must be purchased in advance at any of the Pontiac schools, said Charles Bovette, PEA program chairman.

The 90-minute movie will take the audience to Colorado's peaks and plains for some of nature's most vivid phenomena.

The pounding feet of bison, the Kosahre Indian dancers, the whispering sands of the Great Dunes, the "high country" with its lofty peaks and alpine flowers—are included in the movie which took eight months in the making.

Scott, an accomplished photographer, adventurer-traveler and lecturer, has won notice for his travel films, and his photography.

In 1950 he drew acelaim for movies of a 5,000 mile canoe trip which started in Saginaw, and ended at Aklavik, North West Territory, far north of the Artic Circle.

Firm Issues First Year-End Report

Figures Set New Record as Sales Top $5 Million During 1955

DETROIT (AP)—The Ford Motor Co., in its first public report, says that its net profits for 1955 totaled a record 437 million dollars.

Those profits are equal to $8.19 a share on its common stock, now publicly held for the first time.

Ford reported its total sales for 1955 were $5,594,000,000, compared with $4,062,300,000 in 1954, when profits were $227,800,000, equal to $4.31 a share.

Ford's $8.19-a-share compared with $4.3 by General Motors Corp. on a profit of $1,189,000,000, and a return of $11.49 by Chrysler Corp. on profits of $100,063,320. The difference in per share earnings is attributable to the wide difference in common shares outstanding.

Ford, like the other two of the Big Three, reported a record production in 1955. It said car and truck production totaled 2,614,558, compared with 1,990,020 units in 1954.

Its total assets at the end of 1955, Ford said, were $2,585,300,000, up nearly half a billion from 1954.

The statement of earnings and sales was the first ever made public by Ford. As a closely held family corporation it wasn't required to publish such figures until it offered its stock to the public a few weeks ago.

Ford stock started off at $64.50, but since has dipped to $61.25 bid and $61.50 asked over the counter.

Fluoride Work to Begin Friday

Lebaron School Pupils in Second, Fifth Grades May Get Treatment

Fluoride dental treatments for second and fifth grade pupils of LeBaron School will begin Friday, and future programs are planned at Malkim, Central and Wisner Schools.

Deadline for registering LeBaron pupils was today, according to Josephine Seeley, R.N., coordinator of health services in Pontiac public schools.

Parents of youngsters attending Malkim and Central Schools have until March 5 to send in consent slips and the $4 fee which covers cost of the program. The program is expected to begin at those schools early in March, and Wisner School will follow.

Applications of fluoride are given by a registered dental hygienist under the auspices of the Department of Health Education for Pontiac Public Schools. The program is endorsed by the Oakland County Dental Society and by Michigan, Pontiac and Oakland County Health Departments.

Buffaloes Have Animal Lover Plain Buffaloed

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Fifteen years ago Marion J. L. Lambert, St. Louis business executive and sportsman, started a one-man crusade to save the buffalo—the "vanishing bison".

He purchased a bull and two cows and turned them loose on his 5,000-acre game preserve near Land O'Lakes, Wis.

Fifty bison have been born in the past 15 years and 20 more calves are ready for delivery soon.

The herd has become a hazard and a nuisance and bills are running high.

He has considered every solution. Meat packers, zoos, conservation commissions won't buy them. The State of Wisconsin doesn't like his proposal of simply turning them loose. He has ruled out slaughtering them.

They were returned to Oakland County Jail under $5,000 bond to await sentencing.

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Berrien County law officials have dropped plans to quiz Leslie (Mad Dog) Irvin, condemned convict, in connection with the unsolved 1951 slaying of Mrs. Dorothy Kelm near St. Joseph. Officers learned that Irvin was in prison in Michigan City, Ind., at the time

Stars to Bolster Ailing Program

Cyd Charisse, Cantor, Durante and Others to Lend Support

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—NBC's decided finally to fight the dreadful drop in Miltop Berle's TV popularity: His show tonight has been bolstered with Eddie Cantor, Jimmy Durante, Cyd Charisse, Dan Dailey, Peggy Lee and the Four Aces . . .

The program will come from Las Vegas, and the Cyd Charisse-Dan Dailey appearances will be in connection with big fat plugs for their new movie, "Meet Me in Las Vegas" . . .

The Carneys are on the move: Art's brother Fred is moving to Hollywood to become a director of Lux Video Theater, and brother Jack will prowl the U. S. searching out performers for Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" . . .

Do all those comics imitating Charles Boyer by mooing "Come wiz me to thee Casbah" know that Boyer never really uttered that line—until March 5's "Lucy" when he will do an imitation of all those imitations of Sharles Bwoyeay? "Now I get even," he exulted.

CBS thinks it has a terribly funny series in "Joe and Mable" but because it can't find a slot for it in the present CBS-TV sked, filming was ended after the first 13 shows.

TIME FOR HERB

Herb Shriner's show will be on CBS-TV at 8:30 (EST) next fall, CBS already has decided, since "Stage Show" owns its slot only for the rest of this season.

Martha Raye's off to Puerto Rico to divert 6,000 Marines stationed there.

When ABC-TV' MGM Parade shows "Captains Courageous" as a three-week serial experiment, an interested onlooker should be Freddie Bartholomew, who starred in it 20 years ago. Freddie's now a Benton and Bowles man-in-gray-flannel . . .

"Do You Trust Your Wife" started off dull and is slipping . . .

The "Broken Arrow" book and movie will become a TV adventure series . . .

Soon as she finishes her TV filming for this season, Patti Page shuffles off to Tokyo and the Far East; Patti had to turn down the London Palladium . . .

More than a dozen letters and cards arrived suggesting Shirley Booth recreate her old stage role in "Three Men on a Horse" as a comedy spectacular . . .

The Telephone Hour's youngest artist ever will be 13-year-old violinist Marilyn Dubow, who saws away classically March 19.

Not Even Fish Escape Video's Prying Lenses

"It was an experiment but a successful one," said Charles Romine yesterday after rubber-suited cameramen gave national televiewers a look at the ocean bottom off Santa Catalina Island.

Underwater cameras have been used before, Romine said, but this was the first time movable undersea television cameras have been employed.

Aided by skin-diving assistants, two cameramen roamed the bottom 35 feet below the surface off Avalon. They shot other divers picking up shellfish, a lobster and a hapless abalone that was unable to escape to greener waters.

Advertising . . . keeps prices down

A penny a pound on the price of a pork roast can make a world of difference to a grocery shopper. And food store managers know it! That's why they do everything possible to keep prices low in their advertising. It's the same for almost any product you can think of. No store can sell it for ten dollars while a second store is advertising it for five.

Advertising enables you to sit back, relax and compare prices and merchandise. Shopping trips can be planned beforehand to take advantage of the sales which merchants are advertising constantly. By providing a giant market place where stores of all kinds can compete for your business, the advertising in this newspaper helps keep prices low.

Red China Family Enjoys Prosperity

(Editor's Note—Lois Mitchison, a British newspaper writer, has been touring Communist China on a temporary visa. This dispatch written for The Associated Press was mailed to Hong Kong.)

By LOIS MITCHISON

PEIPING (AP)—Mrs. Mo Trung, a middle-aged rather plump woman with a round polished face like a good apple, is better off than most women in Red China.

Her husband earns about $40 a month. Her son, an iron worker, earns $19 a month and gives his mother $8. Both husband and son come home on weekends. Her husband's board and lodging away from home cost about $8 a month. Mrs. Mo may have about $30 a month to run her household.

She lives with her 15-year-old daughter. This is how Mrs. Mo spends her money in a typical month:

House rent and coal cost $4. Water and electricity cost 60 cents. Food runs about $13. More than half of this is spent for rice and flour for noodles, mainstays of the traditional Chinese meal. The rest goes for meat and vegetable dishes. Mrs. Mo's family eats meat and vegetables every day—a sign of their prosperity.

Mrs. Mo saves at least $8, placed in a fund for furniture and clothes. Last year she bought a $64 sewing machine. And she made the blue corduroy trousers which, with a blue cotton blouse and padded blue cotton short coat trimmed with brown fur collar, make up her best street clothes.

When I visited the house, one of the two rooms was crammed almost full with coal and food for the winter. The other room, 6 by 10 feet, is the main living quarter. There is a window with two new glass panes.

Mrs. Mo apologized for the disorder but everything was freshly scrubbed, clean and neat.

"All the furniture is new," Mrs. Mo said proudly. "We bought it since the liberation. Before that we hardly had anything. My husband was always out of work."

"It is so convenient, having running water," Mrs. Mo said. "Before the liberation we only had a well."

"Everything we've got—it's all since the liberation. It's all thanks to Chairman Mao.

"Do you know, every morning the mothers in our courtyard teach their children to raise their hands to his portrait and thank him for all he has done for them."

Ike, Knowland in Pennsy Race

Entered as Opponents for GOP Preference Primary Election

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower and Sen. Knowland of California, were entered Monday as opposing candidates for the Republican presidential preference vote in the Pennsylvania primary election on April 24.

Petitions to place their names on the ballot were given the State Election Bureau on the last day for filing. Neither the President nor Sen. Knowland signed the petitions.

The Republican state organization circulated the petitions for President Eisenhower, a resident of Gettysburg, Pa. They were filed by Sen. James H. Duff, a Republican candidate for re-election.

Duff, asked if he thought President Eisenhower would run, replied:

"I thought so all the time. I feel sure he will be a candidate."

Sen. Knowland's petitions were filed by Andrew W. Green, Harrisburg attorney and former president of the Young Republican Club of Dauphin County.

State Indian to Be 105

STANWOOD (AP)—Big Elk, a Pequot Indian otherwise known in Stanwood as Herbert Gleason Mingo, says he'll celebrate his 105th birthday Wednesday. He credits his longevity to herb potions made at home. Big Elk claims Mashpee, Mass., as his birthplace and says he started on his first trip around the world at 14.
