Pontiac Plagued by Tax Question

By BOB WISLER
Will Pontiac have an income tax in 1968? This is a question that has been hanging over the city for the past six months. Today it is still unresolved.
The ordinance enacted by city commissioners in early October calls for tax collections to begin Jan. 1. But at this point it doesn't appear that collections will begin then, and it's more likely they won't begin until July, if then.

City District Gets 1 School Center

Pontiac and Royal Oak school districts have been designated as sites for the first two of Oakland County's four vocational education centers.
Oakland Schools Intermediate District Board of Education yesterday authorized its superintendent, Dr. William J. Emerson, to enter into contracts with the two districts.
Local districts will operate the centers with funds from Oakland Schools.

The voter-approved centers are expansions of high school vocational education programs.

Emerson was also given board approval to enter into contracts with Walled Lake Consolidated and Clarkston Community districts for the second two centers, contingent on the receipt of state funds.

WALLED LAKE, CLARKSTON
Vocational centers are planned to open in the Pontiac and Royal Oak districts in September 1968, and in Walled Lake and Clarkston in September 1970.

Contracts with Walled Lake and Clarkston depend on Oakland Schools receiving $1.3 million in matching funds from the state. The state reportedly has promised the money.

Centers in Pontiac and Royal Oak will be the largest of the four.

School boards of the four districts now will have to approve the contracts before centers are built.

ADMINISTRATORS SOUGHT
Oakland Schools administrators were authorized by the board to search for the top administrators for the centers — home economics, business and distributive education, industrial and cooperative education and vocational consultants.

A budget of $2.4 million for vocational education for fiscal 1968-69 was presented to the board but not acted upon. It includes funds for construction and salaries.

Costs of construction and equipment for the four centers has been estimated at $6.4 million.

The income tax issue has taken some tortuous turns during the past year and its presence in Circuit Court is just one of the latest.

City officials foresaw a need for additional revenue in 1968 early this year, but it wasn't until the tax advisory election in September that city commissioners decided definitely on an income tax.

PREFERENCE SHOWN
Voters showed a preference for an income tax — accompanied by a property tax cut — instead of more property taxes, by a 2-1 margin.

The income tax ordinance was challenged when a group of income tax foes two weeks ago filed enough petitions to force a referendum vote — allowed under the city charter and state election laws.

Now the validity of the petitions requesting the election are being challenged, ostensibly by two residents who are city employees — a fireman and a police officer.

The attorney for the plaintiffs also is the attorney for the Pontiac Police Officers Association. Both the police organization and the local firefighters' union are vitally interested in the tax question. They figure that without the income tax, police officers and firefighters will suffer.

IMPROPER PETITIONS
In a suit filed Tuesday they charged that the petitions are not proper and asked the court to restrain the city from holding a referendum election.

If the election is set the city could be prevented, under state law, from collecting income taxes until July, pending the results of the election.

The court has issued a temporary restraining order, but how long this will remain in effect is in doubt.

It is possible that the judge would rule that the petitions do not comply with the form demanded by the city charter and state election law.

PROVISIONS UNCLEAR
However, the language and provisions of the charter and the election law are, like many such documents, unclear and seemingly ambiguous.

War Changes Viet Hill People

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in a series of reports by comedian Bob Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia entertaining U.S. servicemen.)

BY BOB HOPE
PLEIKU, Vietnam — As you can see by the dateline we went back home — back to Pleiku. We first went up to the central highlands four years ago. Camp Holloway, as it was called then, was a picturesque spot of a few huts and a couple of copters and a round of two of ammunition.

The whole base was so small you could cover it with one snap of your Instamatic. A couple of hundred men gathered around the truck to watch our medicine show. Afterwards they had a ceremony put on by the Montagnards or hill people.

The Montagnards are a fiercely independent group and are savage fighters. They have a very positive though primitive philosophy. They hate every other group in Vietnam — the Buddhists, the Catholics, the Chinese, the Communists, the nationalists, the Vietcong, the lowlanders and the city folk.

The only people they like are the Montagnards who live over the hill.

The Montagnards, however, like most of us, have learned that one must put up with certain social demands. A rather group of them came to the show banging pots and pans and bamboo sticks like they'd seen in the "B" pictures.

STOLEN TRUCK — Detectives examine the scene where an armored truck was abandoned after thieves took it and $330,000 in it from in front of a Boardman, Ohio, department store. The bandits emptied the truck of all but $32,000 and fled, apparently in a getaway car.

Denver Quake Link Is Probed

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Renewed interest is being focused on a deep well drilled at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal and any possible connection with a five-year series of earthquakes in the Denver area.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced a study is being made to determine if waste fluids standing in the deep—and now unused—well should be pumped out.

Denver had its heaviest earthquake last August, registering 5.5 on one Richter Scale and causing considerable property damage. Another jolt last month was nearly as severe. No injuries have resulted.

A Denver geologist, David M. Evans, has contended for more than two years that pumping of waste into the 12,000-foot well at the arsenal northeast of Denver triggered the earth shocks. Before that, quakes had been unknown in Colorado. Some scientists agree with Evans, but others are skeptical.

But this much is known: The well was completed in March 1962 and wastes from the manufacture of chemical weapons at the arsenal were pumped under high pressure into the well for disposal underground. Just a little more than one month later, the first quake ever measured on instruments in Denver occurred.

Since that April day more than 1,500 tremors have been recorded here, although most of these went unnoticed by the average citizen.

Evans, who is director of the Potential Gas Agency for the Mineral Resources Institute at the Colorado School of Mines, said the well was drilled into a stratum of extremely hard granite rock.

"As fluids were flushed down the well from the arsenal, pressure built up in the rocks below," he said. "The forced-in liquids lubricated the rocks and caused them to shift and slide. As a result, we have earthquakes."

Arsenal officers point out that pumping of wastes into the well was stopped in February 1966 at the order of Army Engineers, yet the earth shocks continued.

Evans said despite this halt — and the U.S. Geological Survey agrees with him on this — waste fluids still are standing almost 11,000 feet deep in the well. He said this causes steady pressure on the shifting rocks below.

Dog Mauls Girl, 7
UPPER DARBY, Pa. (AP) — A 7-year-old girl was reported today in serious condition after being mauled and bitten by the family's pet German shepherd dog.

Police said the girl, Diane Pateckis, was attacked by the dog at her home last night.

Police, responding to an emergency telephone call from a babysitter, rushed to the home. Officers found the dog still mauling the child. Unable to pull the dog away, they shot and killed it.

Truck Runs Amok —to Say the Least

PELOUSAS, La. (UPI) — Police said Eugene Neil Hoell was driving a semi-trailer truck on U.S. 190 west of Opelousas yesterday when the truck:

- Went off the road and hit a fence,
- Tore the fence down, carrying it about a block,
- Crashed into a garage between two houses,
- Picked up a car while en route through the garage,
- Carried the car and a part of the garage until it struck another car,
- Slammed into a tree, still carrying the original car, hit a house and knocked it four feet off its blocks,
- Finally came to rest.

Robert Watts, 19, who was riding in the back of the trailer, suffered cuts.

A man and his wife and their two children were knocked out of bed but were not injured seriously.

Police said Hoell of Dayton, Tex., said he does not know what happened to start the whole thing. He was given a ticket for careless driving.

UAW Near Finish of GM Pact Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Some 380,000 members of the United Auto Workers are expected to complete ratification voting on a new three-year contract with General Motors tonight.

A union spokesman said Tuesday that GM workers are approving the contract by a five to one margin, with 83 per cent of the production workers who had voted favoring the contract and 79 per cent of the skilled tradesmen.

Craftsman and production workers voted separately on the pact.

Balloting is to be completed by midnight tonight, the spokesman said.

The contract parallels those ratified by 103,000 Chrysler workers and 160,000 Ford workers, and is expected to increase labor costs by roughly six per cent a year over the next three years.

Crime Is Climbing at Record Pace

The 1967 Pontiac crime rate continues to climb at a record-breaking pace, according to latest statistics.

In the first 11 months of this year compared to the same period in 1966, there has been a significant rise in every major category.

Investigations of violent crimes show a huge increase.

Armed robbery is up 18 per cent over last year; aggravated assault investigations have leaped 45 per cent. Forcible rape investigations and murder and manslaughter investigations, while showing a small numerical increase, reveal staggering percentage increases.

Police investigated nine murders or nonnegligent manslaughter cases last year, 11 for the first 11 months this year — a 22 per cent increase.

The over-all index for major crimes shows a 32 per cent increase over last year, larcenies 18 per cent and auto thefts 48 per cent.

Little Prostitution Found in City
Prostitution is not a major problem in Pontiac, according to a report issued yesterday by the American Social Health Association.

Harlan E. Raimo, regional director for the nonprofit organization, said that a four-day survey this month revealed that relatively little vice exists in the city.

The study was conducted by an investigator for the association on the request of the United States Public Health Service.

All information, including the names and addresses of prostitutes and procurers obtained by the investigator, have been turned over to the Pontiac Police Department, added Raimo.

"GOOD INDICATION"
He admitted that the study, because of the time involved, is not a thorough analysis of conditions, "but it gives a good indication of what is going on."

For the size of the city, the amount of prostitution and its accessibility, Pontiac was given the association's best rating, according to Raimo.

Vehicle Taken in Ohio Theft Is Abandoned

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Thieves escaped with $301,000 in an armored truck yesterday by driving it out of a parking lot crowded with people while the two guards were in a department store.

The truck was found within 30 minutes abandoned about 1½ miles from the shopping area, in nearby Boardman, with $22,800 still inside. Police said the thieves switched the rest of the loot to a getaway car.

Authorities said someone evidently had a set of keys to open the truck doors that locked automatically when closed. There was no sign of forced entry into the Kane Secrest Service Co. truck.

The two guards, Steve Sulik, 46, of Boardman and James Lockhart, 45, of Youngstown, were in the Almart Department Store "four or five minutes," according to Boardman Police Chief Don Hawkins.

"When they returned, the truck was gone."

SHOPPERS WATCH
Several witnesses outside the store said a man in uniform got into the truck and drove away. It was found in a wooded park area.

"They were certainly familiar with the operation," said Hawkins. "I would say it has every appearance of being an inside job."

The chief said the theft, largest in the recollection of officials in the Youngstown area, was pulled by "two or three men."

Police said at least two keys were needed by the bandits — one to open the door on the driver's side and another for a side door to get the money.

BANK TRANSFER
The Kane truck was carrying money on a bank transfer and making pickups and deliveries at Boardman Plaza Shopping Center on U.S. 224. The truck then crossed the highway to the department store in another smaller shopping area.

Hawkins said the guards "loaded a three-wheel cart with coins to deliver to Almart's."

Weather Outlook: Light Snow, Cold

Light snow or snow flurries with less than an inch accumulation is the forecast for late today and tonight in the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts the mercury will dip to a low of 4 to 10 degrees tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cold with little change in temperature, the high reaching 18 to 25. Cloudy and cold with a chance of snow flurries is Saturday's outlook.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: Today 40, tonight and tomorrow 20. The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 16. By 2 p.m. the temperature had climbed to 23.

Brownson requested the statistical breakdown from the police department to formulate ideas for more effective law enforcement.

SPIRALING EFFECT
He suggested that the huge increases in the crime rate indicate a definite spiraling effect of crime and violence. The incidents of violence are creating a climate which is leading to more violence, he said.

The statistical breakdown for various categories:

- Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter — nine in 1966, 11 in 1967,
- Rape by force — four in 1966, 12 in 1967.
- Attempted rape — four in 1966, seven in 1967.
- Armed robbery — 190 in 1966, 225 in 1967.
- Robbery, strong-arm with no weapon — 56 in 1966, 67 in 1967.
- Assault with a gun — 258 in 1966, 375 this year.

LBj Signs Two D.C. Bills

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — noting that "public order is the President Johnson signed crime structure on which any society control and health bills he hopes grows and prospers."

URGENT ATTENTION

Johnson said he hopes Congress on its return Jan. 15 will give "the most urgent attention" to his proposed law. He said the bill is "the most important piece of legislation to be passed in the next few months."

The chief executive coupled the signing with a statement to keep firms out of from his Texas White House the wrong hands."

The most disputed provision of the bill is one which permits the police to search for and seize "any instrument, article, or thing which is used in the commission of a crime."

"No more serious problem faces America than the growing up to three hours before the dawn of crime in our country whether to charge them streets," the President said, with a crime.

Johnson expressed some misgivings about the crime bill and Social Security health provisions.

"The effectiveness of this provision will depend on the up of pending bills with low precision—his tally now five out of more than 40 measures awaiting the Presidential signature."

Johnson has been occupied mainly with fiscal problems since his arrival two days ago at his hill country Texas ranch. He said he is "not in a hurry to get back to Washington."

'SPECIAL PRIDE'

With "special pride," the President also put his signature to a measure extending Medicare and Medicaid benefits to 180,000 poor and elderly citizens of the District of Columbia.

Heretofore, the nation's capital was not included under these agencies.

3 Hospitals Readied for Civilians in Viet

SAIGON (AP) — The United States is preparing three hospitals with a total of 800 beds and staffing them with American military doctors and nurses to help care for the thousands of civilian victims of the Vietnam war, U.S. officials disclosed today.

Week's War Toll Declines

SAIGON (AP) — The number of Americans, South Vietnamese and enemy troops killed in the Vietnam war dropped slightly last week while the toll of U.S. wounded rose in fighting that officially was described as light to moderate.

The U.S. Command, in its weekly summary issued today, said 166 U.S. personnel were killed in the seven-day reporting period ending at midnight Saturday. A week earlier 187 were reported killed.

The number of Americans wounded climbed to 1,361, after dropping to 932 a week earlier. Of the 1,361 wounded, the command said 762 did not require hospitalization.

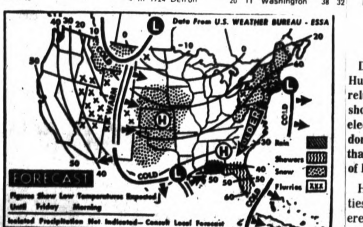

The new casualty figures culminated to 15,812 the number of Americans killed so far in the war and the total wounded to 99,305. Of the wounded, the command said 46,640 did not require hospitalization. Another 866 Americans are listed as missing, captured or interned since Jan. 1, 1961.

South Vietnamese military headquarters reported 234 government troops were killed in the action last week as compared with 278 a week earlier.

Legislator Will Seek Vacant Senate Seat

LANSING (AP) — A state representative plans to try to run for the vacant Senate seat of the late Harold J. Volpe, a challenging not only Republican primary opponents but also an opinion by the state's attorney general.

Meanwhile, Acting Gov. William Milliken's legal staff picked Jan. 23 as the date for the primary election in the 23rd Senatorial District and Feb. 19 as the general election date.

The district — including Ottawa, Allegan and Van Buren counties and one Barry County township — is heavily Republican.

Rep. Melvin DeStigter, R-Hudsonville, told the Associated Press Wednesday he would try to win the vacant Senate seat "within the next few days."

"I don't know just exactly what I would do," he said.

The uncertainty is caused by a 1963 legal opinion written by State Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley which forbids a legislator from being elected to any state office which he would assume before his legislative term expired.

Gravlin, 33, was released into the custody of county authorities recently following his release from Ionia State Hospital for the Criminally Insane.

He was admitted to the institution in January 1965 by Thorburn without ever standing trial.

Gravlin is specifically charged with the slaying of his teen-age stepdaughter, Judith Ann Bentley, 16.

But Col. William W. Moncrief Jr., U.S. assistant director for public health, estimated that only half of the civilian casualties are reported and the war's toll of civilians this year would be 40,000 killed and 75,000 wounded.

Thorburn directed the four psychiatrists who recently examined Gravlin at Oakland County Jail to make another evaluation of his condition the day before his trial begins.

The four psychiatrists are Abraham Tashner of Pontiac, William Gordon of Detroit, George Evesoff of Royal Oak and Edward Wisniewsky of Birmingham.

Gravlin is scheduled to stand trial Jan. 16.

DIVING FOR LOOT — Filipino housewife Mrs. Leonora Lopez plunges into a pile of pesos (top) and collects an armful (lower), even holding a few in her teeth, to win first prize in a contest called "Instant Riches" held in Manila recently. The mother of seven scooped up about $4,200 worth of pesos which she got to keep as her prize. She and 11 other finalists were turned loose in a pile of 150,000 pesos on the floor of a bank.

Little Prostitution in City

"It definitely is not a wide-open town," he said. Raimo credited the lack of prostitution in Pontiac on the public's attitude, law enforcement and court support.

The most recent survey is comparable to one taken about two years ago in Pontiac, added Raimo. "There has been no noticeable increase in prostitution."

"I don't find many of the old red light districts these days," said Raimo, "and I think the association is mainly responsible for the reduction."

A nationwide organization, the agency is headquartered in New York, and has branches in Atlanta, Ga.; San Francisco; Arlington, Va.; and Ann Arbor, where Raimo has his offices in the Municipal Court Building.

"Crime, Riot Controls Should Be Targets"

LANSING (AP) — A Senate floor of an open housing bill said today he is "utterly amazed" of acting Gov. William Milliken and the Romney administration in seeking passage of such a measure.

In a letter to Milliken, Sen. George Kuhn, R-West Bloomfield Township, KUHN repeated his call for legislation "to preserve law and order in our streets."

The No. 1 concern of the 1968 regular legislative session, which begins Jan. 10, should be enactment of "antiriot and antiriot legislation," he said.

"It is with deep regret that I remind you of the administration's lack of adequate attention and action on this subject since I joined the Senate a year ago," Kuhn said.

"To me, this has been the biggest disgrace and tragedy of both the regular and special sessions of the 1967 Legislature," he added.

He said the FBI now cites Detroit and Michigan in the forefront of the nation's "crime crisis."

The Legislature last week ended its special session in which the House defeated an administration-backed measure for open housing.

Girl Missing, Body Found; No Link Yet

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI) — The blood-spattered body of a partially clothed young girl was found in the West Side residential section today shortly after a 9-year-old girl was reported missing from her home.

Police said identification of the body had not been made, and they declined to establish any connection with the missing child, Linda Miller, who lived several blocks away.

Mrs. Sylvia Miller, mother of the missing girl, reported that footprints in the snow led from the window of her daughter's first-floor bedroom, police said.

Work on Parking Facility Expected to Start Soon

BIRMINGHAM — Construction of the city's second and largest parking structure is expected to get under way early next month with an eye toward completion by the 1968 Christmas season.

Preliminary work could begin immediately since the construction contract was awarded Tuesday, but it is unlikely since the sale of general obligation bonds to finance the project won't be held until Jan. 8, according to a city spokesman.

The City Commission awarded the contract to the A. J. Etkins Co. of Oak Park for its low bid of $1,543,900. Approval was recommended by the architectural firm that designed the three-level structure, O'Dell, Hewlett and Lackenbach, Inc., Birmingham.

Etkins built the city's first parking structure, located on Woodward near Willits. It has a capacity of 560 cars.

The new structure will provide parking for 710 automobiles, nine more than originally announced by the city.

AT PIERCE, MERRILL — It will be built on the site of the city's municipal surface parking lots at Pierce and Merrill.

When the project begins, the 232 parking spaces in the surface lot will be lost for the duration of construction.

The parking structure is to be paid off from parking meter revenues and a 10 per cent advance fee from property owners in the central business district.

Commissioners, in other recent business, have approved a plan to install exterior water meters on most new residences, and at homes where the occupants are away during the normal working day.

The remote meters also can be requested by homeowners who want them installed by the water department.

The cost of the outside water meter is about $15 which is to be charged to the property owner. Labor costs will be absorbed by the water department.

Ho One of Most Exasperating Figures in U.S. History

SAIGON (UPI) — A wisp of one of the most stable Communist governments ever formed in Southeast Asia, Ho Chi Minh is certainly one of the most enigmatic and exasperating figures to cross American history.

After seven years of war in fact if not in name with the United States, Ho Chi Minh still is not victorious. But neither is he defeated.

Today he calls himself Ho Chi Minh — "he who enlightens." He is president of North Vietnam, undisputed head of army extending into South Vietnam. Ho Chi Minh has fought and stayed put. But 1967 was a tough year for him.

2-WAY BOMBARDMENT

The United States bombed North Vietnam two ways during the past year — with bombs to try to drive the North Vietnamese to the conference table, and with diplomatic notes and messages to try to persuade them to sit down and talk.

Since July 1965, according to official figures, U.S. warplanes have dropped about 900,000 tons of bombs on North Vietnam, or about 100 pounds per person in the country.

In this year, step-by-step escalation hammered bridges, rail lines, power plants, steel and concrete factories, highways and jet bases. Rivers were mined.

U.S. warships patrolled North Vietnam's shore line and unleashed bombardments of shells and rockets on coastal targets. North Vietnam responded with pontoon bridges which could be used at night and removed during the day, rationing of electric power, massive work forces that repaired rail lines within hours and removal of some of their MIG jets to bases in Red China.

Ho's government called all U.S. peace proposals "sheer deception" and demanded time and again an unconditional end to the bombing with no promise of talks.

The outlook for 1968 is more the same.

These are Ho's twilight years. He is nearing 78, and reports that he is in declining health have cropped up.

2 IN RUNNING

There is no clearly defined line of succession in North Vietnam.

At least three men would appear to be in the running — Premier Phan Van Dong, Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap and Le Duan, first secretary of the Lao Dong (Communist) party's central committee.

In normal times, North Vietnam would be a modestly wealthy country.

But that was before the U.S. bombing started. North Vietnam was fairly well off, with coal, iron and chromium for export.

By one U.S. estimate, North Vietnam by 1964 was exporting 1.7 million tons against 1 million tons of imports.

By the same estimate, North

Vietnam in 1967 has to import four times as much as it sends out. Big steel and cement plants like Thai Nguyen, no longer exist. Bombardment of power plants has blacked out or at least "browned out" other industries.

A lot of people read slowly because they unconsciously "read out loud." Although there may be no visible movement of the jaw or lips when reading silently, there still may be activity of the speech muscles.

W. Bloomfield Is Waiting for Union Election

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — The township will wait for a certification election before recognizing a newly formed union here, which seeks to bargain for the township's full-time firemen.

According to Supervisor John Doherty, the township is acting on the advice of its legal counsel in not recognizing Local 1721 of the West Bloomfield Township Firefighters Association of the International Association of Firefighters.

Doherty said the legal advice was to wait until an election had been asked to certify the union as bargaining agent for the firemen.

Donald Nelson, Local 1721 president, said such an election would be sought.

Nelson, meantime, charged that the township's fire protection was suffering for a lack of manpower.

STATION CLOSED

He said the Green Lake station had to be closed last Saturday for lack of manpower and that the same station would probably have to be closed again this Friday for the same reason.

Doherty said he had no personal knowledge that the station was closed last Saturday. He further denied there was a manpower problem.

"Of course," he explained, "we don't have as much as we'd like, but we've got as much as we can afford."

The supervisor said the township has three fire stations, nine full-time men and about 30 or 40 volunteers.

OCCEO Hears Report of Recent Poverty Confab

"The poverty program can still live, and it must live," Rev. Arlond Reid of Pontiac told the Oakland County Commission on Economic Opportunity (OCCEO) yesterday.

Rev. Reid reported to the commission, meeting at Hazel Park High School, on a U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity conference held in Chicago last week and attended by a delegation from Oakland County.

He warned the group that programs had been cut about 20 per cent and that some difficult-to-comply-with amendments are on the poverty bill.

However, he predicted the program would go on with renewed effort and that "poverty can be removed in Oakland County in 10 years." Rev. Reid served as acting chairman of the commission in place of Carl Ingraham of Birmingham.

Many commissioners were missing, apparently due to the holidays and cold weather and a quorum was not available to take any positive action.

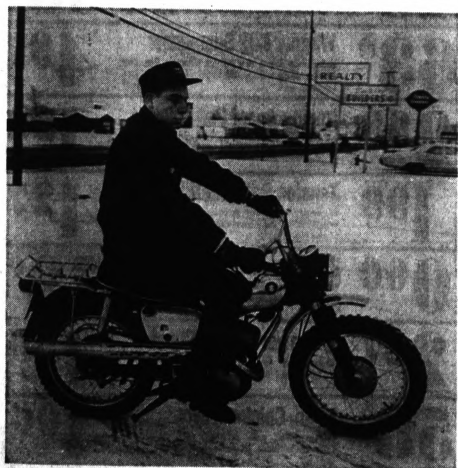

REORGANIZATION

But members were able to present views on reorganization of the commission. A new Congressional amendment to the poverty program requires the OCCEO to have 17 "public officials" it was pointed out.

None of the group was able to determine if the amendment meant elected officials or public agency officials or both. Presently the group has two elected officials and three public agency officials out of 46.

Thus a great deal of new appointments would have to be made and some members dropped as the new amendment also reportedly calls for a maximum of 51 members on a commission.

Rabbi Ernst Conrad criticized the requirement and pointed out that the OCCEO has had trouble in the past getting public officials to participate.

WEATHER CYCLE — Getting there might not be much fun these days on a motorcycle, but at least the little vehicle is pretty sure to get there. Dashing through the snow on his two-wheeler is Dale Jaynes of 65 E. Ypsilanti.

Added Revenue Makes It Worthwhile to Rochester

Urban Renewal: Paper Work, Problems

ROCHESTER — Urban renewal — held out as a carrot at end of the stick for the blighted areas of cities and villages — is 3 years old here.

It has recently been undertaken in the village of Oxford in regard to its downtown business district.

Both areas are learning that the ins and outs of government paper work and the problems involved in carrying out the projects are a whole new field of education.

Held out as the prize is increased revenue from taxes.

Rochester, for example, expects to benefit from increased revenue to the tune of about $28,000 a year once the project is completed. The schools could conceivably benefit by some $93,000.

LONG, HARD ROAD

But it's been a long, hard road to follow.

When Frank Kelly added the job of urban renewal coordinator to his duties of city assessor less than a year ago, it was doubtful that he visualized a schedule like the last year has revealed.

Kelly has been up to his ears in re-location problems involving the 44 families who had to be moved from the city's 26-acre Third Street Urban Renewal district.

For him it's been a case of helping the families find homes, arranging re-location payments which have varied from nothing to $500, and seeing to the payment of moving expenses.

BECAME LANDLORD

It has also meant that once the homes were purchased by the city, Kelly has become a landlord. It's to him that the former owners pay their rent and complain about services until they can find new homes.

So far Kelly reports he has seen to the moving of 32 families in the area. He expects to have the remaining 12 resettled by March, and then he'll be more fully able to devote himself to the clearing of the land.

Yesterday he was checking bridge construction on the relocation of Paint Creek. The creek moving and the new Third Street bridge are a package estimated at close to $100,000 of the total $1.2 million project.

A new channel, dug from where the New York Central railroad tracks cross the creek straight across to where the Grand Trunk Western railroad tracks cross it, has accumulated more surface water than expected, Kelly revealed. There's also been some sewer problems.

MAZE OF DETAILS

It's just meant more of the same added to the unbelievable amount of paper work required in such a project, Kelly said.

Mrs. Vera Secrist, the secretary, handles most of that, but both give credit to George Wilhelm, the city's urban renewal consultant, for being able to find their way through the maze of details.

Urban renewal has been a three-year job here and it's not expected to be wrapped up for another two years, Kelly said.

Once the families are all removed, grading of the area to allow installation of utilities will follow.

ACCESS TO AREA

Then Kelly visualizes that the roads in the area will be taken care of next. Involved here is a new Second Street access to the area graded to allow easy movement of truck traffic down into the creek basin area.

There are 21 parcels of improved land involved in the project. Buyers have been found for most of them and the remainder are currently bound by tentative purchase agreements, the director said.

Some of the purchasers are current area industrialists who plan to use the land for expansion purposes, some of it for parking lots. About 10 new industries are visualized in the area once the transaction is complete, according to officials.

Despite the fact that resale of the land is moving to completion, Kelly reports that his job will not end there. The purchasers until they actually construct are policed by the city to make sure that plans go ahead according to expectations.

REVERT TO CITY

If purchasers don't build within a deadline or if they fail to follow regulations, the parcels could revert to the city, Kelly said.

Meanwhile, the city is engaged in getting its original financial grant approval increased. The cost of the job, like most construction jobs in the area, has increased over the last three years.

Where the city originally had approval on about a $600,000 grant or 75 per cent of the then estimated $800,000 cost of the project, it is now seeking $800,000 as three-fourths payment on the new figure of $1.2 million.

That means more paper work.

County Units Urge Study of Medical Care Needs

By ED BLUNDEN

A study to determine if the county will need a new medical care facility was urged by county officials yesterday. Two committees of the Oakland County Board of Supervisors approved making a study which would be taken by an impartial agency to determine future hospital bed needs.

A crisis was predicted, centering around the need for more care for elderly patients.

Daniel T. Murphy, chairman of the board of auditors, was directed to work with Dr. Bernard Bernman, county health director, to find a proper agency to conduct the investigation.

Cost of the study was estimated at $35,000.

Supervisor R. W. Lahti of Wixom, chairman of the Social Services Committee, presented the recommendation and cited "a lack of direction in county health planning."

He reported that both the Board of Institutions and Board of Social Services had also recommended the study.

Maurice J. Croteau, chairman of the Social Services Board, warned the county faced a "crisis within three years."

He gave as an example the estimate that area auto plants would retire 1,200 persons within that time and about 9 per cent of them (106) would be needing hospital care.

CHANGING PICTURE

Dr. Bernman also supported the study, but warned the picture was changing rapidly due to Medicare and Medicaid implementation.

Several members pointed out an objective study may discover that the county will not need any new facilities for elderly care.

However, Dr. Bernman warned that new laws being proposed by state health authorities were going to make nursing home operations more difficult and expensive.

Delos Hamlin, chairman of the board of supervisors, said institutions, such as those built by counties, were "on their way out." He indicated nonprofit corporations built adjacent to and cooperating with hospitals appeared to be the coming thing.

TO SHOW DIRECTION

The officials were for the most part agreed that a competent study would reveal what direction the county should take to handle the predicted increase in need for hospital beds in the future.

The completed recommendation for the investigation would have to be approved by the entire Board of Supervisors.

Madison Heights Girl Killed in Auto Mishap

TRAVERSE CITY (AP) — Beverly Mencuso, 8, of Madison Heights was killed instantly after a car driven by her uncle, William Wegener of Traverse City, careened out of control off M72 near Traverse City yesterday.

Wegener, Mrs. Mary Mencuso, 29, and two of her sons were taken to a nearby medical center for treatment of cuts and possible broken bones.

Bloomfield Twp. Okays $18 Tax Rebate

BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — An uncommon tax refund is on its way to some 36 lot owners along Long Lake Shores Drive.

The Township Board has approved the rebate of $18 per lot from funds left over from construction of the road.

The total to be returned is $648.

In other recent business, the board approved the final plat for Bloomfield Fox Hills Subdivision No. 4, located off Hunters Ridge.

Plans call for the development of 28 lots in the new subdivision, which is west of Bloomfield Fox Hills Subdivision No. 3.

NO PARKING SIGNS

The board also has approved a request to the Michigan State Highway Department for no parking signs on both sides of Woodward from Square Lake Road to Alice Road.

A decision on two miles of road improvements for 1968 has been tabled by the board, according to a township spokesman.

Funds for the road improvements are part of matching monies from the township and the Oakland County Road Commission.

The board, in still other action, has approved the purchase of a 3/4-ton truck for the water department. Matthews-Hargreaves Chevrolet, 631 Oakland, Pontiac, was the lowest of five bidders at $2,932.

One, requested by the Oakland County Road Commission, is in regard to ditching and culverts around driveways to newly constructed homes.

A suggestion that a deposit to guarantee proper work be filed with the building permit will be studied.

The second proposal is a local amendment to the Building Officials Conference of America code used by the township which would regulate lawn grades above curbed roads.

A drainage problem along Ann Maria Drive was referred to the developers of Bedford Square Apartments, the township engineer and the township department of public works for investigation. Residents contend apartment construction has caused a change in the drainage field.

A plea to maintain the township's weekend road patrol on a year-round basis was made by Justice Arthur Kolien. The policy of the township in the past has been to discontinue the service during the first three months of the year.

Lady Pilot's Enthusiasm Stalls After Solo

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Jean Saile a Pontiac Press reporter and mother of six children, is learning to fly a plane. Having passed the first solo stage, she is now on her way toward winning a private pilot's license. This is another in a series of her impressions.)

By JEAN SAILE

This learning to fly business is one emotional hang-up after another.

Almost two weeks ago I soloed and three times since then I've flown again. My logbook records 90 minutes of solo time in 18 1/2 hours of flight.

What it doesn't say is that each lesson following the original solo, I have had to force myself out to the airport and up into the airplane.

Finally able to talk about it during the last lesson, I admitted my reluctance and was surprised to learn that many veteran pilots have gone through the same thing.

For a neophyte the solo is the thing and once that goal is accomplished there is an emotional letdown — at least there was for me.

AN UNDERSTANDING

I began to understand the significance of what Alice Dodge, a member of the Ninety-Nines women fliers' organization had been telling me.

"We encourage women to keep on with their lessons. Some of them just give up," she said. At the time I thought, "It will never happen to me."

But it did. I knew I had to keep flying — and the day following my first solo, I was out at Oakland-Pontiac Airport prepared to do it all again, but not looking forward to it at all.

Art Trowbridge, the instructor, flew with me for the first half-hour. Then, I, upon his demand, returned him to Aerodynamics, Inc.

"You've got to get more solo time.

It's not going to do you any good if I fly with you," he said.

I took to the air alone. Three touch-and-goes and a full-stop landing. I did it and I heaved a sigh of relief.

Five days later I was back for the same routine.

Last Tuesday I flew again — this time on ice and snow-covered runways. Zero Four Quebec had needed defrosting before takeoff and Trowbridge had meantime assured me he'd ride with me while I became accustomed to different weather conditions.

BRAKE WARNING

"Don't use the brakes," he warned as we taxied out to the runway.

"See what happens," and with that the plane veered sharply to the left.

"Use rudder control and treat it gently," he warned.

We flew the pattern a few times. As before, none of the landings quite equaled what I felt was the perfection of my full-power stalls executed during the original solo.

'LET IT STALL OUT'

"You're trying to skin it onto the runway," said Trowbridge. "Let it stall out."

He was right.

You think you've got something down pat and then somebody's got to draw pictures to get you straightened out again.

Tuesday was different, though. Maybe it was that the flurry of Christmas had successfully come and gone, but I was actually able to look forward to the lesson.

Blue skies — favorable winds — and we were off and climbing. "Gee, it feels great to fly," I said.

County Parklands Foresight Pays Off

Oakland County voters showed great foresight when they approved a one-fourth mill tax levy in November 1966 to produce revenues for purchase of parklands in the County.

County officials who proposed the levy also deserve credit.

The levy is beginning to pay off in some land acquisitions that probably wouldn't have been possible otherwise.

Most recent was the purchase of a 337-acre parcel which includes the west half of Crooked Lake in Independence Township. It may well be one of the wildest and most beautiful pieces of land in the state.

Offering a combination of hills suitable for sledding or skiing, rolling meadowlands, wooded areas, 10 springs and two spring-fed lakes, it is ideal for development as a wilderness park area only minutes away from Pontiac.

This follows the earlier purchase of the Paradise Beach Park, a 155-acre recreation site in Groveland Township.

The owners of both parcels are also to be commended for their obvious desire to see more parklands provided for county residents. In both cases, the land could have been sold at a higher price for other purposes.

The Independence Township land was being sought by gravel mining firms and the Groveland parcel was about to be sold to a subdivision developer.

The end result of this levy may not be fully felt or appreciated for several years, but appears certain to provide much fun and recreation for future generations.

Hubert's Africa Trip Detours Dubious Domains

Certain evangelists, as the aphorism goes, preach only to the saved. The route Vice President HUMPHREY is taking on his African jaunt that begins tomorrow suggests that it is doing more or less the same thing.

He starts out in Ivory Coast, then goes to Liberia, Ghana, the Congo, Ethiopia, Somalia, Kenya, and Tunisia. Significantly, all these nations are emergent — save for Liberia, which has been in business as a republic since 1947, and Ethiopia, which became independent in 1896. All are Western-oriented. All receive U.S. aid and might even be considered U.S. clients.

Almost conspicuously, the American delegation will skip over embattled Nigeria. Even more than other Black African states, Nigeria is reft by tribal conflicts.

HUMPHREY obviously was not going to visit Portuguese-held Angola and Mozambique, which give off a strong whiff of white colonialism. For somewhat the same reasons the Vice President will bypass Rhodesia and the South African Republic. The reason for the last is more ideological than pragmatic.

South Africa is by all odds the dynamo of the continent. With 6.5 per cent of Africa's population, it generates 57 per cent of its electricity.

A state department official just back from a long sojourn in both white and black Africa makes the cogent observation that Humphrey might have been well advised to visit certain peripheral, less aligned nations.

Latin American Nation Seen in Economic Chaos

Many appear to think that the steady broadening of governmental paternalism and spending on an ever-increasing scale is evidence per se of an approaching better life.

Not so, says a qualified observer, who took a good look at once-prosperous Uruguay. There he found a welfare state gone wild.

One out of three adults receives some kind of pension, he reports, with 40 per cent of the labor force employed by the state. Political parties compete to expand a ridiculously swollen bureaucracy which works a 30-hour week.

"The system maximizes rights of the citizen and minimizes his obligations. As a result, Uruguay is going bust . . . the cost of living has multiplied 32 times in the past decade. Gross national production has actually declined 9 per cent and this year will take a nose dive," is his summation.

Uruguay, of course, is a small nation, but the irresponsible policies of welfareism that have brought it to collapse can work the same havoc elsewhere — even in the United States.

GOP Governors Have Muscle, but . . .

By WALTER R. MEARS

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON — Republican governors have turned out some statistics to prove they'll have plenty of muscle as the GOP selects a presidential nominee next year.

But they haven't yet figured out how to flex that muscle.

Collectively, the 26 GOP governors would be a massive influence in the direction of the party and its choice of a nominee. But their influence is not being exerted collectively in the candidate field.

Here are the statistics compiled by the Republican Governors Association:

• The 26 states with Republican governors will have 302 electoral votes next year, 32 more than it will take to elect a President.

• The same 26 states will send 760 delegates to the Republican National Convention — 93 more than it will take to nominate the Republican candidate and approve the party platform.

• Republicans govern states with about 56 per cent of the U.S. population, including 7 of the 10 largest states.

Despite the statehouse strength evidenced by those figures, the governors still are overshadowed in party councils by the party's congressional minorities.

So far they have responded in two ways:

• They decided in Miami Beach, Fla., that GOP governors are going to raise their own campaign war chest for 1968 by claiming a percentage of the revenue from each fund-raising dinner a governor addresses.

• They proposed that Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer be named co-chairman, with Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, of the platform committee at the Republican National Convention.

As a result, that's not likely to go far. Both Dirksen and Shafer are expected to oppose a two-man chairmanship of the platform, although neither has taken a public position on the matter.

DELEGATE VOTES

But by their own statistics the governors could, if they chose, move to enforce their proposal with delegate votes.

The American Conservative Union argues the governors want part of the platform leadership because they fear Dirksen "may try for a strong party plank on Vietnam."

But there appear other reasons for the governors' platform move. One is simple: The state leaders are dissatisfied with congressional dominance of party councils. Too often for their liking, leadership roles are apportioned in Washington while they sit in far-off state capitals.

The other is more complex, but it has its roots in the governors' inability to coalesce around any of the potential nominees for the White House. Unable to build a consensus for any candidate, the governors hope through the platform to influence the choice of a candidate and the campaign he runs. If they succeed, they will have reversed the traditional course of convention politics.

'Hot Pursuit'—

David Lawrence Says:

Nominating Setup Same as Ever

WASHINGTON — Are the aspirants for the presidential nominations in 1968 getting into the contest too soon, and who are they really trying to convince nearly six months before all the delegates to the national convention are actually chosen?

Asking such questions can lead to the assumption that something different is happening this time when, as a matter of fact, it's the same old game but with different players.

The audience which the would-be nominees are trying at this stage to win consists of less than a million people — the persons who will be the delegates and those who are usually in the background telling them which candidates to support.

Having witnessed 14 pre-convention campaigns, this correspondent perceives no change as yet in the system.

For, unfortunately, the United States hasn't modified its method of choosing a party nominee. It is still a most undemocratic process.

A few states have primaries, but even these do not always bind the delegates to the conventions to vote for the individual who has won the primary election except on a few of the initial roll calls.

The nominees, therefore, are selected by a small group of political leaders or bosses or managers of state delegations who listen carefully to the advice of some of the persons who have made substantial contributions of money.

But what does public opinion have to do with it all? Plenty for the same persons who are politically influential behind the scenes are trying to figure out just which candidate either has popular favor already or is likely to obtain it once the election campaign begins.

Polls and surveys are studied carefully, and some are privately made and never published.

Basically the search is for a presidential candidate who seems to have the best chance of winning in November. He has to be a candidate who understands public opinion trends and knows how to deal with them in his speeches.

Thus, in 1964, the Republican nominee spoke realistically from a military standpoint when he advocated "escalation" of the Vietnam war. But, politically speaking, he made a mistake at the time because he didn't come up with a formula that promised an early peace.

In a national campaign, the peace side of the argument is the more powerful, even though it may prove fruitless.

In 1916, for instance, the Democrats had as their campaign slogan the boast that President Wilson had "kept us out of war." It so happened that five months after the election the United States entered World War I.

Likewise, in 1940, President Roosevelt gave the voters an impression that America would stay out of World War II and he won on that issue, but within 13 months following the election, this country had entered the war.

In the 1952 contest, after Gen. Eisenhower won the nomination, he announced that he would "go to Korea." All the Republican campaign speakers emphasized this as a way to end the war there. The maneuver helped elect the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

Today the Republicans have a lot of issues besides the Vietnam war.

The leaders in the state, county and city organizations have been hearing that victory is assured because the country is in a negative mood against the incumbent administration and hence it doesn't make much difference who is the candidate.

Obviously, if there is no important change in the war situation by November next, a Republican has a good chance of winning, but it isn't so certain that just any Republican can be victorious.

Bob Considine Says:

Christmas Truce Relief to Americans Who Bomb

NEW YORK — The Christmas pause in the bombing of North Vietnam came as a relief to those who bomb, too.

Nearly all of the American prisoners of war now in the hands of North Vietnamese are airmen, not infantrymen or Marines.

They were shot down while engaged in perhaps the most sophisticated combat in history. We have admitted the loss of about 800 planes since the war heated up in 1965.

The figure is higher. We don't count the ones that get back from the north on a wing and a prayer. There have been scores of these aircraft. Most of them never fly again. They are "cannibalized" to provide needed parts for other planes.

Those who man the anti-aircraft defenses in North Vietnam are not dismissed lightly by our airmen. Indeed, veterans of World War II and Korea are unanimous in the opinion that this is a rougher proposition than either of those wars.

BIG DIFFERENCE

There is more of a flak, it covers a greater range of altitudes, and much of it is aided by electronic systems only recently developed.

The major difference between the air war over North Vietnam and everything that went before is the SAM.

The Russian-built ground-to-air missile unaffectionately known to our fliers as the "telephone pole," is 32 feet long, has a speed of close to 2,000 m.p.h., and can "home in" automatically on anything that flies.

It is a solid fuel missile and easily launched. Its launching apparatus is quite mobile. Thus its pad can be moved to a new position overnight.

BAD BATTING AVERAGE

Its warhead can be nuclear or conventional. A proximity fuse can detonate the warhead in the case of a near miss.

It also is equipped with gear that will touch it off at desired altitudes, in the event we were to send in a closely massed group of bombers, a la World War II.

It can seek out and destroy its prey up to altitudes more than twice as high as any of our planes can fly.

Interestingly enough, SAM has a deplorable batting average. U.S. 7th Air Force quarters in Vietnam insist that only one SAM in 70 finds its mark.

EVASIVE TECHNIQUE

The men who pilot our F105S and F4S, the workhorses of the air war, have worked out a simple if hair-raising technique to thwart SAM's iron brain.

They permit a SAM to come at them until it is harrowing close, then break into a vertical dive with after-burners going full tilt.

The SAM's stubby controls do not allow it to maneuver so drastically and quickly. Thus it passes harmlessly overhead, runs out of fuel as it climbs high in the sky, and then is unable to fall back on the land and blow up some of its people.

On at least one occasion, the senseless brute took a bead on a MIG and blew it and its North Vietnamese pilot to smithereens.

'Churches Aiding Enemy Should Help Pay Taxes'

In regard to hypocritical clergy and members of churches who continually cant support of open housing and their support and comfort to our enemies in North Vietnam, I say take away their church tax exemption.

Our government is clearly an institution of the separation of church and state and if they want to dabble in worldly affairs, let them pay taxes as the rest of us. Maybe our national debt could be solved if this loophole would be eliminated.

Letters Discuss Law Enforcement Efforts

If a citizens group can be so VOCAL about our policemen doing their duty and acting as they should, why not try a switch? Instead of sticking its nose in a business of which it has little or no knowledge, why not be real VOCAL and try teaching young people the right and proper way to behave and respect other people's property. I am 100 per cent behind our policemen as they are.

WILLIAM J. TERBECK
341 FIRST

Who are these protest groups that infest the area and who is financing them? By what right do they dare threaten our lawmakers or expect laws favoring any group to be passed against the wishes of the majority? What right have they to demand that police officers be suspended and harassed for doing their duty?

If you want a decent community to live in, stand up for your law enforcement officials. Back them with respect, decent wages and any assistance you can give. Otherwise, you can look forward to living in a jungle of fear and lawlessness.

Questions Behavior of Immature Adults

This most beautiful and happy time of year is hampered by the thought of sons, brothers and friends in Vietnam risking their lives for the freedom of all Americans.

Compare this with boys at home who must fight each other — those who beat a fellow American until he is no longer recognizable — those teen-age punks who think they are so great. This letter is dedicated to those immature adults. Please open your eyes and realize the ignorance of your actions. Boys are put into casts, hospitals and graves because of you. Why and for what?

Comments on Condition of Roads in County

Last week while sloshing and bumping my way to work over the County roads, my mind was filled with mingled emotions about township supervisors, county roads, airports, Christmas and the poor people who own airplanes who were still home in bed. These amateur politicians better build that airport pretty close to a paved road as those airplane owners will not be able to get to their 7,000-foot runways.

I decided not to get the township supervisors anything for Christmas. I think I will send the money to the Oakland County Road Commission so those poor fellows can be encouraged to fix some of the roads that got completely washed out that morning.

'Kids Aren't to Blame for All Petty Thefts'

It's a shame that all petty thefts are blamed on kids. An adult could steal Christmas decorations and know for sure the kids would be blamed. Let's face it, what would a kid do with something like this? Let's be fair and not blame the kids if we didn't see them do it.

'Suggest Taxpayers Protest Tax Increases'

As a taxpayer in Pontiac, Waterford Township, White Lake Township and Independence Township, I am concerned about the tax increases in 1967. Labor strikes and sit-ins seem to get good results in effecting legislative changes. I suggest a one-year moratorium by property taxpayers as a sign of protest of this exorbitant tax increase.

'Congressmen Face Challenging Session'

The first session of the 90th Congress was long and strenuous. The 90th Congress started slowly but finished with an avalanche of significant legislation pertaining to wholesome meat, flammable fabrics, Social Security and extension of aid to education, to name a few.

The second session will be even more challenging. The major anticrime legislation awaits Senate action. Important consumer bills, such as truth in lending and pipeline safety, job opportunities, national parks — including Michigan's Sleeping Bear Dunes National Lakeshore — are also on the legislative agenda for the second session.

Question and Answer

When was the big wheel torn down in Paris, France? It used to be within walking distance of the Eiffel Tower.

MRS. C. H. K.

REPLY

It was transferred from Champs-de-Mars to the Porte de Clignancourt, at the famous Foire du Trone, according to the French cultural counselor in New York. He believes around the 1930's works were undertaken at that location and the wheel was demolished. However, he cannot confirm the demolition date and suggests writing to Direction de l'Urbanisme, 17, boulevard Morland, Paris (4e) if you need such confirmation.

Gasoline Contract for Fleet Vehicles Awarded

Ashland Oil and Refining Co. was awarded a contract last night by the Waterford Township Board to provide gasoline for the township's fleet of vehicles.

Based on a yearly usage of 25,000 gallons of regular grade gasoline at 13.44 cents per gallon and 38,500 gallons of premium grade gasoline at 15.44 cents per gallon, the firm's total combined bid was $9,304.40.

Five companies submitted bids, ranging to a high of $11,825.

Elitis & Ford Manufacturing Co. of Birmingham was awarded a purchase order to provide the township with $2,027.70 worth of plastic water service tubing for 1968.

The 13,000 feet of tubing will be used for connections from mains to property lines.

LOWER BIDS

Two of the five bids submitted were lower than Ellis & Ford's.

quotation, but the plastic was of poorer quality, according to water and sewer department officials.

In other business last night, the board approved the preliminary land plan for Lakeland Estates No. 3 Subdivision.

The proposed 79-lot single-family residential development is located on the northeast side of Dixie Highway between Eagle and Woodhull lakes.

The board readjusted the first department budget to allow for a new hot water boiler system at station No. 3 on Elizabeth Lake Road near Cass Lake Road.

Drayton Heating is doing the work for $1,569.16.

AMENDMENT

Also approved was an amendment to a township ordinance establishing connection charges and other costs for the Waterford Pontiac Lateral of the Clinton-Oakland Sewage Disposal System.

The revision was necessary primarily because the per-house connection charge was increased from $900 to $1,180 for benefiting residents of a sanitary sewer project involving parts of Myrtle, Lakeview, Boston, LaSalle, West End, Pioneer, Norva, Telegraph, Fremont and Downing streets.

The first payment date for residents was changed to Feb. 1, 1969.

A police department request to upgrade the classification and increase the salary of employee Mrs. Myrtle Burnia was tabled until the board's Jan. 8 meeting.

CLASSIFICATION

She is classified as a clerk-typist, but recently has acquired

"greater responsibilities," explained police department officials.

The board also decided to meet at 7 p.m. Jan. 5 to discuss the proposed townshipwide sanitary sewer program.

Real Estate Office Zoning to Be Considered in Future

A rezoning request for a real estate office on Elizabeth Lake Road near Crescent Lake Road will be up for consideration at a future meeting of the Waterford Township Board.

The proposal received a negative recommendation from the Waterford Township Planning Commission following a recent public hearing.

The planners felt it would result in spot zoning in a predominantly residential area.

The request was from single family residential (RIA) to restricted office (RO1).

In other recent business, the planning commission tabled two rezoning requests, withdrew another and granted two special approval proposals.

The Church of the Nazarene, 2840 Airport, was granted special approval to be allowed to construct additional educational facilities on RIA-zoned property.

RABBIT RAISING

Special approval also was granted for rabbits to be raised on RIA-zoned property at Hospital and Redmond.

Planners set the limit at 25 rabbits no longer than three-year period and indicated that the animals must be housed in a proper manner.

Tabled for further study by township engineers, the township attorney and the planning director was a request to rezone 8.52 acres of property on M59 near Cass Lake Road from RIA to agricultural (AG1) for land-lift purposes.

The planning commission also resolved that the township should secure a position from the board of education concerning the future use of the property.

REQUEST TABLED

Tabled by the planners until an adequate site plan is presented by the applicant was a request to rezone property on the northeast corner of Pontiac Lake Road and Hospital Road from RIA to general business (G2) and multiple dwelling (R2) for apartments.

Withdrawn was a request to rezoning property by the Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks at Williams Lake Road near Van Zandt from AG1 and RIA to general industrial (I2) and R2 for apartments and an industrial park.

The applicant, Nichol-Hudson Associates, Inc., must reapply if it still seeks the change and must supply the planners with all essential information.

Canceled was the commission's Jan. 2 meeting.

Social, Leisure Activities Called Poverty Measure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The control their own destinies, and way to measure poverty is to find out about the family's social attitudes and aspirations and leisure activities, as well as its income, a University of Michigan economist suggested today.

Speaking to the American Economic Association here, Prof. James N. Morgan said merely counting the number of people with low incomes does not provide a good indication of poverty.

Morgan, program director in the Survey Research Center of the university's Institute for Social Research, said things such as homes, the total hours of paid and unpaid work, illness and unemployment and the desire for more or less work are all part of the family's financial status.

"We also need to know to what extent families really do control their own destinies, and way to measure poverty is to find out about the family's social attitudes and aspirations and leisure activities, as well as its income, a University of Michigan economist suggested today.

"Such a study should enable us to develop a better national policy to eliminate dependency where we can, but in any case merely counting the number of people with low incomes does not provide a good indication of poverty."

SATURATED SOCIETY

At the same meeting, another economist, Prof. George Katona, director of consumer attitude surveys for the U-M institute, denied that American society would become a saturated society in which people run out of things they want to buy.

Katona said the affluent society is adaptive, and, "The transition from a needs economy to a wants economy does not warrant such views."

2 Davison Men Hurt in Truck-Train Crash

FLINT (UPI) — Two men were injured yesterday when their pickup truck slammed into the side of a moving freight train at Davison near here.

Police said the truck went over the center line on Irish Road just south of Davison Road, spun out of control and hit the Port Huron-bound Grand Truck freight.

Ralph Katzenberg, 47, Davison, and Alexander Murphy, Davison, were seriously injured and taken to St. Joseph Hospital here.

Ike Clarifies View of Romney

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — Romney is unfit to be president, that he has been on too many sides on too many issues, or that he would panic in emergency.

The Times on Christmas Day said Eisenhower had made such criticisms of the Michigan governor in talking to close friends. The Times printed Eisenhower's statement to CBS without comment today.

ROMNEY'S POSITIONS
Eisenhower told CBS that during a recent interview "I emphasized that Gov. Romney had, in my opinion, taken forceful, logical and intelligent positions on many vital domestic issues and could not be written off as a serious candidate."

"Though I am not indicating any preference among the several possible Republican candidates,"

He stated: "I have not said, nor do I believe, that Gov. Romney is unfit to be president."

Certainly nothing could have been more peaceful and no setting more picturesque. Three weeks later Camp Holloway was mortared and the camp overrun by the Cong. The copters were left in clinders. The ammunition dumps were now holes in the ground; the camp was decimated.

Today it was an entirely different scene. Our host General Wm. Peers and the men of the Ivy Patch, the fighting Fourth Infantry Div. have the situation well in hand. The strategic central highlands are bristling with American military machines and armor of every kind today.

Everywhere are trucks, tanks and copter fighters by the hundreds. We played to over 12,000 troops, and there were as many in the field, ranging all the way to the Cambodian border. The action is constant. Some of the operations are small, some are fierce.

SOPHISTICATED

And what's happened to our primitive allies, the Montagnards? Thanks in large part to the Fourth Div's civic action program they have become as sophisticated as our weapons.

Specially trained GI's from the Fourth Div. are out visiting 85 native villages on a daily schedule. They're passing out instant education. How to bathe a kid. How to read and write. How to put a hand-said on a cut. How to build everything from a sewer to a schoolhouse.

This year the Fourth sponsored six Montagnard youngsters and sent them all the way to Southern California to school. I saw their pictures. Not one of them has long hair or carries a picket sign. I said they were primitive, not ridiculous.

It's all part of the "good neighbor" or "helping hand" policy which our troops are pursuing all over Vietnam.

SLOGANS

Those are wonderful jingoist slogans for a very practical military philosophy. "A guy with a book in his hand isn't apt to be holding a machine gun in your back." And similarly "a man who has something is going to fight to protect it—not take it away from somebody else."

So much for sermons. I'm still puzzled by one thing. What did those Montagnard students think the first time they saw the hippies on Sunset Strip? They must've felt like missionaries.

N.H. Primary to Be Shunned by McCarthy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy apparently is planning to pass up the opportunity to challenge President Johnson in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary.

McCarthy said yesterday he felt New Hampshire was "not a particularly significant primary" and indicated he would concentrate his New England campaigning in Massachusetts.

McCarthy spoke in a radio interview.

Blair Clark, McCarthy's campaign manager, said no final decision had been made on entering the March 12 contest in New Hampshire.

FRED ZITTEL

Here's a Poll That Favors Gov. Romney

A poll taken by the senior civics class at Pontiac Central High shows Gov. Romney leading as the favored Republican nominee for 1968.

Escalation of the Vietnam war is soundly favored and an open-housing ordinance for Pontiac was opposed in the most recent survey.

The Zittel Poll is named after teacher Fred Zittel, and has been a senior class project for eight or nine years.

The poll is conducted while students are studying public opinion, and have studied other polls.

The students submit the questions, and Zittel picks the most interesting ones.

20 INTERVIEWS

Each pupil has to turn in 20 interviews. The sample is structured to include representative numbers of adults and teachers, males and females, ages, occupations and political preferences.

Before the students turn in their results, they must tabulate and analyze them for trends. They are graded on their efforts.

Here are the results of their most recent poll:

"At this time, who do you favor for the Republican nomination for president in 1968?"

Foot Size Wins Court Verdict

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — "This man's feet are more than seven inches long," said the judge, and he awarded $9,272 to Denver detective Walter Radovich.

District Court testimony indicated Radovich was chasing a suspect down an alley when he stepped into an empty fence post hole, breaking his left leg.

Attorneys for Mile High Fence Co., which had been installing a fence on property nearby, claimed the hole was not in the alley, but seven inches away from it. He could have been termed a "trespasser," they claimed.

But Judge Edward J. Keating ruled Wednesday the hole endangered persons using the alley and found the fence company negligent.

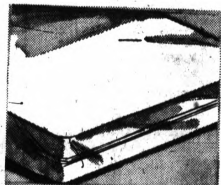

"This man's feet are more than seven inches long," he said. "He could have been standing in the alley with his feet still hanging over the hole."

Commerce Secretary Sees 'New Wave of Prosperity'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge predicted today a "new wave of prosperity" during 1968 with significant gains in employment, income, profits and purchasing power.

But he said his forecast depends on congressional enactment of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, a measure Trowbridge said would keep the economy on an even keel "so that we can continue to grow."

He also urged both labor and management to seek restraint in seeking higher wages and prices.

"Inflation breeds more inflation," he said. "If there are excessive wage and price increases in 1968, the chances are much greater for more wage and price pressures in 1969."

'NOT WANTED'

"The longer an atmosphere of fast-rising wages and prices persists, the tougher the measures that will be needed to keep them in check," he added. "And I want to assure you that the last thing we in government want is wage and price controls."

He made the remarks in a talk prepared for a meeting of the American Marketing Association.

It will probably be the last official administration economic projection until Johnson unveils his budget and economic message to Congress early next year.

Trowbridge said the gross national product—the value of all goods and services produced in the economy—should increase by at least $50 billion next year from 1967's level of $785 billion.

'A STEP-UP'

"Even this minimum gain would mean a step-up in the rate of growth from 5½ to 6½ per cent," he added.

Trowbridge said the rosy forecast's overriding question mark is the course of military and political events in Vietnam.

The secretary said he's confident Congress will enact higher taxes to help finance the war, head off inflation and to keep interest rates down.

A vast increase in retail sales is likely to overshadow other economic developments next year, Trowbridge said, while automobile production is expected to bounce back to 8.5 million units compared with 7.4 million units in 1967.

A rise in housing starts should prompt a sizable gain in sales of household appliances, he added, as the private economy—rather than any new substantial increase in federal spending—stimulates the economy.

Trial of Man in '43 Killing Shifted Here

BAY CITY (UPI)—Bay County Circuit Judge John Tyler agreed yesterday to shift the murder trial of John Woods, 45, to Pontiac on grounds the 24-year-old case had received too much publicity in Bay County.

Tyler granted a defense motion for a change of venue, and tentatively scheduled the trial for Jan. 16 at Pontiac.

Oakland County authorities asked Tyler to continue to preside over the case after it moved to Pontiac, the judge said.

Tyler also granted a motion to suppress physical evidence in the case, on grounds the evidence was obtained by illegal search and seizure. He delayed a ruling on another defense motion seeking suppression of admissions and confessions.

Woods confessed 24 years ago to the slaying of theater manager Floyd Ackerman during a robbery. He pleaded guilty to a murder charge, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

NEW TRIAL WON

He won a new trial on grounds he did not have sufficient legal advice.

At the time Ackerman was slain, Woods was on parole on a second-degree murder conviction in Detroit.

The earliest Halloween celebrations were held by the Druids in the second century, B.C., in honor of Samhain, Lord of the Dead.

Father Admits Killing His Four Daughters

JONESBORO, La. (AP) — A father who shook hands with him and north Louisiana community but considered the world "too wicked" for his four little girls they walked out together and delivered their bodies to a funeral home Wednesday and said he had killed them.

The father, Earl Clinton Watson, a 31-year-old worker at a Jonesboro meat processing company, was taken to a mental hospital for observation and examination.

Tina Charmine, 9, and Karen Hope, 8, had been killed with a .30-06-caliber rifle. Margaret Wendy, 5, and Faith Erlene, 3, had been strangled.

Townpeople said Watson frequently announced that the "world is too wicked a place for my kids to grow up in." He had talked of studying for the ministry.

PRETENDED VISIT

Watson told his wife, Margaret Ann Watson, Wednesday morning that he was taking the four girls to visit his mother. Later he drove to the funeral home, wined by Mrs. E. L. Edmonds.

"I didn't know anything was wrong," Mrs. Edmonds said. "He appeared calm. I asked if I could help him."

She quoted Watson as saying, "I've had an accident. I've killed my babies."

He sat quietly in the waiting room until officers arrived. He was dressed in slacks and a sports jacket.

SHOOK HANDS

"He didn't have anything to say after that," Mrs. Edmonds said. "When the sheriff walked

Friends and neighbors said he recently showed signs of deep depression.

Funeral services for the little girls were set for this afternoon at the Southside Baptist church in Jonesboro, which Watson attended.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. J. W. Kennedy, one of two ministers at the church. He was overcome emotionally at the deaths and at first thought that he could not be present.

Watson told officers the death scene was on Walker Road, about eight miles east of this.

No charges were filed.

Egypt Starts Suez Survey

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government has started surveying the east bank of the canal and the rest of the Sinai peninsula.

Al Ahran reported earlier that the canal would be reopened at the southern end to let the trapped ships out. Today it said the government was studying whether the ships should leave through the southern or the northern end.

No time limit has been set for the operation.

A government spokesman said Wednesday that although the trapped ships would be released, the canal will not be reopened to other ships until Israeli troops are withdrawn from the area.

Obstacles that must be cleared include at least one tanker ship, the Egyptian oil tanker Magid, and several unidentified objects that accumulated during the fighting.

Junior Editors Quiz on THE STATES

QUESTION: Why is California called the Golden State?

ANSWER: In California, 1848 and 1849 were great years. "Gold discovered at Sutter's Mill" was the cry everywhere. Shining nuggets had been found where John Sutter built his mill on the American River, and people began pouring in to stake gold claims.

The great gold rush of 1849 was on, and all America was linking the words "gold" and "California" together.

Soon Californians were finding other golden things besides metal nuggets. When irrigation came, desert soil turned into magnificent farm land and soon there were golden oranges, wonderful fruits and vegetables which brought showers of gold to the growers.

By 1910, the world mine of moving picture production had made Los Angeles the world's motion picture capital.

The Golden Gate International Exposition of 1939-40 brought attention not only to the spectacle of the golden sun sinking westward in the glittering Pacific, but also to the golden opportunities opening in California in every field of effort.

Dental Plan Eyed for GI Dependents

By JERRY T. BAULCH
AP Newsfeatures

WASHINGTON—The Pentagon is now studying just how far Uncle Sam should go in providing cost-sharing dental care for the wives, children and other dependents of servicemen. A big factor is the cost.

Already, a basic, $100 million-a-year plan has been approved by a House Armed Services subcommittee headed by Rep. James Byrne, D-Pa. Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has introduced a bill in the Senate.

The Defense Department is starting a survey on costs by sending a questionnaire to 10,000 military men in this country and to 7,000 civilians working on military installations.

The civilians are included so the survey team can compare the costs and kinds of care available to military families with those available to civilians in the same localities.

Some of the questions will include the number of members of each family, how much dental care costs the family and how far the family has to go to its dentist.

Unlike the Medicare law that went into effect this year for military dependents, the Byrne committee dental program would not take in retired servicemen and their dependents. But the report suggested that might come in the future.

Under the basic plan, civilian dentists would handle the work load; almost all dental procedures would be covered except purely cosmetic repairs; there would be cost-sharing with different rates for various procedures; there would also be a sliding scale so those in the lower ranks would get more help with dental bills; to encourage children in good dental habits the deductible would be lower for those under age 14.

No Free Mail Extension

The free airmail privileges will still be restricted to men in the Vietnam war area.

One of the bills to die in this session of Congress, killed by the Senate, would have extended the privilege to all servicemen overseas.

The Senate Post Office Committee expects, however, to take up next year the granting of additional mailing privileges to servicemen in combat zones.

Incidentally, there is some confusion about the free mail rule for the men in Vietnam. It's limited to letters and tape recordings—not packages.

AT 4TH CLASS RATE

As for packages, they may be airmailed by servicemen overseas anywhere in the world at the low fourth class rate if they are marked "SAM"—meaning space available parcel. They are flown to a U.S. port, where regular fourth-class surface transportation takes over.

Civilians can mail a package to a serviceman through the same system in reverse. Have the post office stamp it "SAM." It'll go normal transportation to the port of embarkation and then be flown overseas when space is available.

A Tough Row to Hoe

BOLTON, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Sal Gullick, 68, a widow, reports I didn't have a team and the that she has harvested and sold necessary 24-inch sweeps to the only cotton grown in Kansas drain the water off the rows. This year.

But she is not discouraged. "I just love to plant, chop and watch the plants grow," she says the 4,500-pound crop grown on the 17-acre farm she said. "Next year I'll be at it operates left much to be desired again."

Area Night Spots Set to Ring In 1968

By ED BLUNDEN

Area New Year's Eve celebrations of the imbibing type will take on a different twist this year due to the state law on Sunday drinking.

Though liquor will not be served until midnight, area night spots reportedly have taken on extra supplies of beer and champagne to stave off thirst until the magic hour.

Bars will be permitted to stay open until 4 a.m. with an extra half hour to get everyone off the premises.

Pontiac police supplied some tips for celebrators that could come in handy. How about:

- Taking along a driver who won't drink during the night as they do in the Scandinavian countries where drunken driving is an extremely serious offense.
- Choosing a place near home where you can take a cab or walk.
- Staying at a hotel near the party spot.
- Staying home (!!).

A check of niteries around Pontiac shows most of them having some sort of special party New Year's Eve. Those wishing more elaborate affairs with meals, dancing, floor shows, etc., are advised to make reservations early.

Types of parties being offered range from a Hawaiian luau in Holly to a masquerade ball in Waterford Township to a filet mignon dinner in Bloomfield Hills.

Some of the places are of a small, intimate nature while others can accommodate as many as 1,000.

Prices range greatly, too. The following list is a sampling of what is being offered, where, and at what prices. For the other well-known night spots, the word is check early for reservations and costs.

A change to forget the winter scene is offered by Hawaiian Gardens at 4501 Grange Hall, Holly Township. Featured will be a Hawaiian luau followed by dancing and a floor show. Cost is $15 per person.

SHOW, DANCING
Also offering a floor show is Dell's Inn, at Elizabeth Lake and Cass Lake, Waterford Township, with dancing to the El Dorados. Cover charge is $3.

At the Sandbar, M59 and Elizabeth Lake, the party will feature dancing to Ronnie Wolfe and His Runaways. The cover charge is $5.

Party goers will get two meals at the Huron Bowl Lounge, 2525 Elizabeth Lake, Waterford Township, at a masquerade party that costs $25 per couple. Included will be a smorgasbord and then a breakfast after 3 a.m. Also on tap are dancing and a floor show.

At Morey's, 2280 Union Lake, Union Lake, celebrators are offered a buffet dinner, favors, dance music and beverage for $15 per person.

At Kingsley Inn, Woodward and Long Lake, Bloomfield Hills, two parties will be in progress. In the Athenian Room there will be dancing with a $5 cover charge. In the Grand Ballroom will be dancing and a filet mignon dinner at $17.50 per person.

A REAL CHRISTMAS PRESENT — Lt. Col. Daniel Stefanowich, a Scranton, Pa., helicopter pilot home on Christmas leave from duty in Vietnam, points out holes in his flight helmet made by Vietcong bullets. Of the three bullets, one grazed his head, another lodged in his skull and a third was stopped by the helmet's padding. The Army, after stitching the helmet, gave the colonel the helmet as a souvenir.

Aris Koutroulis, artist, educator and print-maker, shows a fine art print made from aluminum plates on the electrically-operated press at the Bloomfield Art Association. Koutroulis teaches this art, both at the BAA and at Wayne State University. Modern methods have increased its popularity.

Art of Printmaking Regaining Favor

By JANET ODELL
Pontiac Press Women's Editor
Lithography or print making is nearly 200 years old. But far from being considered an outmoded form of art, it is experiencing a new popularity.
New methods and the opportunity to experiment allow area residents to participate in this fine art medium.
Commercial printmaking is one thing. But more and more artists who work in other media have turned to printmaking too.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip C. Stephens of West Livingston Street, Highland Township announce the engagement of their daughter, Carol Jean, to David Elsley Reagan. He is the son of the John F. Reagans of Holly. The bride elect and her fiancé are both graduates of Michigan State University.

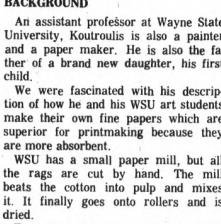

Classes Will Begin for Parents-to-Be

A series of eight classes for expectant parents will be held Monday evenings from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. at the Oakland County Health Center, 1200 North Telegraph Road. They begin Jan. 8.
Sponsored by the Oakland County Medical Society and various adult education departments throughout the County, the classes will cover the mental health of the family unit, growth and development of the baby before and immediately after birth, labor and delivery and care and feeding of the infant. FILMS
Films and other audio-visual aids will be used by the instructors, Public Health Nurses, to illustrate some of the topics and each class will be taken on a tour of a hospital.
These free classes are limited to twenty-six persons. Those interested may register by calling the Oakland County Health Department.

Choose a May Date for Slated Nuptials

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas P. Fitzpatrick of Shellman Lane announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Marie, to Charles John Watchow.
The prospective bridegroom, a senior at Western Michigan University, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Watchow of Warwick Drive.
A late May wedding is planned.

concept of graphics as 'art for the masses' and enabled them to recover their dignity in a medium of original expression."
Koutroulis, a native-born Greek who has been in the United States since 1953, teaches the only printmaking courses in the Detroit area available to students not enrolled in a college.
In fact, there are only two other places in the country, outside of colleges, where there are similar facilities. New York City is one and the Ford Foundation's Tamarind Workshop in Los Angeles is the second.
Koutroulis learned his skill in the medium at the latter which is credited with reviving and popularizing graphic art in the United States.

BACKGROUND
An assistant professor at Wayne State University, Koutroulis is also a painter and a paper maker. He is also the father of a brand new daughter, his first child.
We were fascinated with his description of how he and his WSU art students make their own fine papers which are superior for printmaking because they are more absorbent.
WSU has a small paper mill, but all the rags are cut by hand. The mill beats the cotton into pulp and mixes it. It finally goes onto rollers and is dried.
For pure white paper, they use only white rags; a mixture of colored rags produces gray paper. It takes one pound of rags to make about 10 sheets of paper. And making it is an eminently satisfying process, says Koutroulis.

Instead of the enormous heavy stones used by printmakers for years, today's artists use an aluminum sheet on which to draw.
The press is electrically operated and the lightweight plates may be carried anywhere. This allows the artist to do on-the-spot drawing, with a grease pencil if he desires. Or he can do the drawing on special paper and transfer it to the plate.
"Only the artist's imagination limits the results," says Koutroulis.
When more than one color is used, the plates go through the press more than once.

Bandleader Harry James was married Wednesday to reheaded, former Las Vegas showgirl Joan Boyd. The ceremony took 20 minutes in a wedding chapel. James is 51. Miss Boyd is 27. It was his third marriage, the most recent to Betty Grable. They were divorced in October 1965 in Las Vegas. Miss Boyd listed an annulment in Los Angeles in 1962.

For black and white, a leather roller is on the press; color calls for a gelatin roller. The bed of the press is laminated masonite.
All of these newer developments make printmaking less expensive.
Although it is possible to roll an unlimited number of prints, most artists stop with 10 or 15. Each one is marked.
The next time you see an original print, look in the corner for something like this: 1-6. This means that the print is the first of six.
Anyone interested in working in this medium may enroll for a class at the BAA during the winter term which starts Jan. 8. Further information may be had by calling the BAA office.

Art Association's Winter Schedule of Classes to Open

The Bloomfield Art Association will begin its 10-week winter term of classes for adults and young people Jan. 8.
The art center, located at 1516 South Cranbrook Road, Birmingham, is staffed by professional artist-teachers.
Adult classes are available mornings, afternoons and evenings. They include life drawing; figure drawing and painting; portrait painting; creative life painting; watercolor.
Painting classes are programmed from basic to advanced. A costume model will be on hand for the advanced painting group.
Crafts for adults this season are printmaking (plate lithography); pottery; sculpture in varied media, including clay, welding and direct wax; weaving; jewelry.
BAA children's classes meet after school on Saturdays, and are set up for all ages at all levels of ability. They are introduction to art; drawing and painting; watercolor; pottery; sculpture.
Information about classes and registration may be obtained by calling the Art Association.

This Jealous Husband Is Sick-- You Will Never 'Prove' Anything

By ABIGAIL Van BUREN
DEAR ABBY: When my husband courted me I was secretly flattered because he was terribly jealous. I thought it was proof of his love. Now that we've been married for seven months, I'd give anything if he weren't so jealous.
He is jealous of every man I mention, look at, or pass on the street. He accuses me of winking at them and giving them encouraging signals and what not.
He accuses me of meeting men on my lunch hour, and says he "knows" I have been with a lover if I get home fifteen minutes late. No one is safe from his filthy accusations. (Even the young boy who delivers the newspaper!) He keeps after me to "confess" things and there is nothing to confess!
I will gladly go to the police station and take a lie detector test or truth serum. Anything to prove my innocence once and for all.
FAITHFUL

would probably accuse you of being in cahoots with the man who gives them. Your husband is the one who needs the help. Constant accusations without basis is symptomatic of a very disturbed mind.
DEAR ABBY: My problem is not another woman. It's a pipe. My boy friend is forever sucking on that blooming pipe, and it is driving me out of my mind. He is either knocking it against something to loosen the old tobacco, or packing some fresh tobacco into it, or cleaning it, or looking for matches.
It really keeps him busy. He doesn't even enjoy it. He says he only took up a pipe because he quit smoking cigarettes and this gives him something to do with his hands. Help!
DEAR ALMA: Don't complain. You could be lucky.
WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: For the most accurate answer to your question, ask the daughter.

Meadow Brook Theatre Opens Program Cover Design Contest

A unique opportunity for young artists to have professional reproductions of their works exposed to the general public has been created by the John Fernald Company of the Meadow Brook Theatre.
The theatre today announced an art contest, open to high school and junior high students, for design of program covers for the final three productions of the current season. The three winning designs will be used as covers for the shows, with credit given in the programs to the student artists.
There is also a possibility that other outstanding entries in the contest may be displayed in the Theatre lobby during the run of each show.
The art work should be in two colors, must be square, and should relate to the plays being presented.
The productions are Shakespeare's "King Lear," to be presented from Feb. 23 through March 24; a double bill of Jean-Paul Sartre's "No Exit" and Max Frisch's "The Firebugs," from March 29 through April 28, and Anton Chekhov's "The Sea Gull," from May 3 through June 2.
Deadlines for submission of cover designs are Feb. 1 for "King Lear," March 1 for "No Exit" and "The Firebugs," and April 11 for "The Sea Gull."

Today's Women

Two From Area Compete

Two young women from the Pontiac area will compete in the state contest for "The Four Outstanding Young Women" sponsored by the Michigan Jaycee auxiliaries. Results will be announced in February.
As set down by terms of the contest, each has made a significant contribution to her community. Both are under 36 which is the upper age limit.
Nora Jorgensen (Mrs. Richard) is the Pontiac entry. The Jorgensens have four children live in Sylvan Lake.
For the past nine years, Nora has been active in the management of the Pontiac Jaycee Jr. Miss pageant. She runs the show behind stage, spending many hours ahead of time with her committees.
She has traveled with local and state Jr. Miss contestants and with America's Jr. Miss, the year that Patrice Gauder of Stevensville won the national title.
Because of her extensive experience in this field, she is often called upon to advise other groups planning similar pageants.
Nora is first vice president of The Pontiac Area Federation of Women's Clubs. She is on the board of directors for the Pontiac Area United Fund Women's division.

With her daughters, she is active in the Rae-Vons drill team; and for her sons she goes out to cheer at Little League ball games.

Nora graduated from Pontiac Central High School.
Sue Vernia
Rochester's entry in the same contest is Mrs. Peter Vernia (Sue) who lives on Tallahassee Drive in Avon Township.
Sue's list of accomplishments matches Nora's.
Her latest effort was the 1967 Art 'N' Apples Festival for which she was cochairman. She was general chairman of the Mother's March of Dimes in 1966.
She belongs to the Rochester Jaycee Auxiliary, of course; the Rochester Junior Women's Club; the Friends of the Woodward Memorial Public Library and the Judson Park Association. She is active in a church group.

The Vernias have two boys and a girl. Sue likes to knit and sew for her daughter and herself. During the proper season she gardens.

Romney's Daughter Reportedly Doing Fine

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Gov. George Romney's daughter, Mrs. Bruce Robinson of Ann Arbor, is reported doing fine after returning home from St. Joseph Hospital last Friday.
Mrs. Robinson had undergone surgery to correct complications that occurred when she gave birth Dec. 8 to her fourth child, Timothy.
The governor's office says there are no plans for her to return to the hospital. She remains in bed at her home with a nurse at her side.
Her mother, Lenore Romney, stayed with her until Tuesday night.
She has traveled with local and state Jr. Miss contestants and with America's Jr. Miss, the year that Patrice Gauder of Stevensville won the national title.
Because of her extensive experience in this field, she is often called upon to advise other groups planning similar pageants.
Nora is first vice president of The Pontiac Area Federation of Women's

MRS. M. T. BRADLEY

Recent Vows Unite Pair at Ceremony

Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church was the setting Tuesday evening for the wedding of Nancy Marie McCulloch and Cpl. Michael T. Bradley, USMC.

For the evening wedding, the daughter of the L. J. McCullochs of Cambrook Lane wore a velvet ensemble fashioned with a high rise waist, long sleeves and a cathedral train which flowed from the shoulders.

HEADPIECE

Four satin orchids, trimmed with tiny seed pearls and crystals, capped the bride's floor length veil. For her bouquet she carried red roses and white carnations.

Honor attendants for the vows were Florence A. Ford and Patrick Bradley.

Other members of the wedding party were Mrs. Michael L. McCulloch, Lynne Springer, Mary Ann Vukovich, Dennis P. McCulloch, Gary Priemer and Dean Sovey.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H. J. Campbell of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late James A. Bradley.

Before using chemicals, drugs and pesticides, read the labels carefully and follow the directions exactly for proper use, storage and disposal.

A short time ago I printed a reminder to all husbands that column I had written many their wives are indeed some- years ago, which a reader had thing special. Would it be pos- sible to print a similar column me and asked that I reprint it, titled, "Things Every Woman It was concerned with what a Should Know About Her Hus- band should know about his band?" I think it would be well worth the time and the space.

Here goes:
As a result of this I received letters from many husbands. Here is one of them.

Dear Mrs. Lowman,

I have just read your article in today's paper concerning the 12 tips to husbands. I found it quite stimulating. I feel that every husband should read them, know them, and put them into practice to improve his relation- ship with his wife and make their marriage really wonder- ful.

You can infer from what I have said that my goal in life is to make it as happy and re- warding as possible. I think this starts at home, although minute they stick their head in not seem to think so.

I want to thank you for print- ing that article. It serves as a

An early May wed- ding is planned by Linda Quick and Robert S. Akroyd. Parents of the engaged couple are the M. L. Quicks of Orchard Lake and Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Akroyd of Bloom- field Hills. Miss Quick's fiance is a graduate of Heidelberg College.

Men like a wife who makes life seem easy and uncomplicated and lets him know that he is most important of every- thing in her life. We often hear people say, "I don't know what he sees in her. She is down- right mousy." She is mousy like a fox, but not really, be- cause she sincerely feels that way.

Men like a little peace and quiet, a warm welcome when they first return home in the late afternoon from work. They are aware that their wife may have had her problems too, and want to help, but not the first minute they stick their head do the door.

Men hate nagging (who doesn't?) and also, highly emo- tional conversations. Usually, a man will be willing to talk about a problem reasonably day later but not in the heat of emotion. Actually, about half the time or more the wife will find that it isn't worth talking about anyway, after she has cooled off.

Most men are not attract- ed to overweight, but they pre- fer a few curves to bones.

They are attracted to vi- tality and aliveness in a woman but seldom enjoy having their wife life of the party.

They like a woman who is natural, not putting on an act.

They appreciate little thoughtfulnesses or an unex- pected gift just as a woman does.

Reinforce Area
Before Resewing

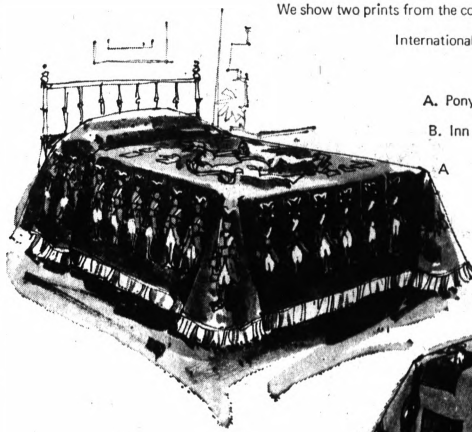

To mend a hole where a button has been torn off, cut a patch of heavy material a little larger than the hole. Then slip the patch between the garment and the facing, and baste around the outside edge of the patch to hold it in place.

Using the sewing machine, stitch in circles and criss-cross on the right side over the patch until you have a good firm foundation. Sew the button on again.

Know your directions when painting inside. Ceiling is painted first, across the width of the room so that you al- ways have a wet edge to work to. Start walls in a top corner and work downward on strips as wide as the arm can reach comfortably.

Recent Bride Carries Holly in Bouquet

Ferndale Free Methodist Church was the setting Saturday for the marriage of Helen Louise Wheeler and LeRoy Duane Mjovig.

Carrying a bouquet of Chrysanthemums centered with a corsage of orchids and holly, the bride wore a velvet ensemble highlighted with lace appliques and crystals.

A satin train complemented the Empire gown. To secure her English illusion veil, the bride chose a matching lace headpiece.

Honor attendants for the ceremony were Rebecca Belson and Romaine Erickson. Laurie Atwood and Scott Hutchins were flower girl and ring bearer.

WEDDING PARTY

Other members of the wedding party were bridesmaids Jan Mjovig, Mary Moore and Janice Banks with ushers Joseph Suzor, Raymond Mjovig, Gerald Martin, Phillip Wheeler and David Smith.

A reception at the VFW Hall in Madison Heights followed the vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Wheeler of East Auburn Road, Avon Township and the late Mr. Wheeler. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Lawrence Mjovig of Muskegon and the late Mr. Mjovig.

Brass Hardware

To remove dirt and tarnish from old brass hardware, unscrew it from the furniture, brush - scrub it with salt and vinegar (mixed in a ceramic dish), then wash it with soap or detergent suds and wipe it dry after rinsing. The next step is to oil the screws, and reattach the gleaming pulls to the furniture.

A September wedding is planned by Diane Dean Derrickson and Seaman Appren. Thomas George McNally, USN. Parents of the engaged couple are the Harry F. Derricksons of Allentown, Pa. and the George F. McNallys of Rochester. The bride elect is a student at the University of Montana. Her fiancé is currently stationed in Brunswick, Ga.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harris of Willett Street announce the engagement of their daughter, Edna E., to Seaman Recruit John, Fahrner, USN. He is the son of the Fred Fahrners of Kenilworth Street and is presently serving at Great Lakes Naval Training Center. A mid-summer wedding is planned.

The engagement of Beverly Ann Kitzmiller to Floyd A. Miles Jr. is announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin B. Kitzmiller of Rochester Road, Oakland Township. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Miles of West Columbia Street. Miss Kitzmiller is a graduate of the Shapero School of Nursing in Detroit. A May wedding is planned.

Patterned Stockings Add Color to Viewing Pastime

By HELEN HENNESSY
NEW YORK (NEA) — About three years ago the ailing hosiery industry got a shot in the arm. The life-giving prescription was the patterned stocking — the gal behind the hypo the young, the daring, the uninhibited lass who would rather switch than be called old hat.

Fashion reporters, quick to be on to anything "new" did a fine job of making anyone who resisted the trend feel out of things. I recall reading one comment by a fashion writer about how drab and monotonous it was to watch hundreds of beige legs ascend a department store escalator. A picturesque phrase — but I agree, a boring pastime. Yet it is a fact that any hosiery designer with the double asset of an elderly lady relative and a curiosity about what went on underneath the ankle-length hemlines of her youth could have given the industry this needed boost years ago.

The truth is that our current, tricky, colorful leg coverings aren't "new" at all. As far back as the late 1800s fancy gams were "in."

In the Gay Nineties, lace stockings tripped their way through the Turkey Trot. Today they Swim, Banana, Frug and Watusi. (Or do they any more? I can keep up with the hosiery, not the writhings.)

PLAIDS
Plaid hose may strike a bright, new note on campus today, but "new" it isn't. In 1865 the ladies wore plaid stockings to indulge in a little mild tennis.

Even today designers who create the total look with stockings in the same color and fabric as the ensemble have nothing on great-granny.

She cut and sewed flannel stockings to match her longsleeved flannel nightgowns. The cotton stockings of the early 20s gave way to lisle. Then when skirts went up, lisle N.Y., and Michael Aldrich ushered in the nylon era.

And here we are now, with the latest leg look — the opaque stockings, non-see-through in dark shades. And the appearance of the leg simply reverts to the look of lisle — a look that caused a horrified shudder among the beautiful young people of another era once silk came on the scene.

Even shoes hark back to the T-straps, buckles and chunky heels of yesteryear. So, as we say on Seventh Avenue: "What's NEW?"

Marguerite A. Aldrich Becomes Mrs. Patterson

A reception at the Rochester Elks Club followed vows Tuesday evening in St. Philip's Episcopal Church for Marguerite Ann Aldrich and Archie Jay Patterson II.

For the ceremony, the daughter of the Edwin M. Aldriches of Rochester, wore a floor length ensemble fashioned from peau de soie. Lace appliques highlighted her attire at the neck, bell sleeves and chapel train.

A pearled orange blossom crown capped the bride's silk illusion veil. She carried white camellias, small white rosebuds and Christmas greens.

Laura Aldrich was maid of honor for her sister with Lawrence Patterson performing best man honors. Cadet Joseph E. Aldrich, USMC, West Point, and Michael Aldrich ushered.

Archie J. Patterson II, son of the senior A. J. Pattersons of Rochester, and his bride are honeymooning in the south.

Polly's Pointers

Pointers on Wigs

By POLLY CRAMER
DEAR POLLY — I am hoping to help Pearl who cannot afford professional care for her wig. I have three wigs, was a beautiful at one time, but I still send mine out for professional attention.

To do it yourself, you need professional wigcleaning solution, reconditioning oils, wig spray and attention. They have to be cleaned about once a month or every six weeks, depending on the amount of wear. It should be brushed and combed when needed, but care must be taken not to rip the tied hairs from the base.

Set from time to time with rollers but, again, use care. The cleaning fluid is inflammable, so you need a large container, rubber gloves and an airy place. One needs a hair block and pins to secure the wig to the block when it is being combed, styled or brushed. Keep it on the block between wearings.

It depends on the quality of the wig but sometimes the initial set will remain through repeated cleanings. Even if money is a problem, it is better to invest in the cleaning and set by professional stylist and do the regular maintenance one's self. There is nothing inexpensive about the upkeep of a wig — LILLIAN

DEAR POLLY — Pearl needs a wig block, stand, wig pins for rug? — LAUREL

(T-shaped), net hair rollers with brushes inside and liquid setting lotion.

The wig block and stand can be hooked up on the ironing board. Pin the wig at the sides, top and back and stretch as you do it. It tends to shrink when wet.

Saturate with the lotion and set as you normally do. Put a net on, dry and comb out. A lanolin spray is best but do not use a lot of spray.

Throw a net loosely over the wig when not wearing it. I cannot stress too strongly the importance of having the wig cleaned by a professional. Try not to wear it all the time. Give the scalp a chance to breathe and keep your hair short — A HAIR DRESSER

DEAR GIRLS — A professional also told me that real hair, hand-tied wigs should not be shampooed but always cleaned with the fluid made for that purpose. Also wigs should not be stored in wig cases or plastic bags for long periods of time as they may absorb a plastic smell. Airing is needed from time to time — POLLY

Learning Hard Way About Credit Costs

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant In Money Management

Dear Miss Feeley: Recently I purchased a TV set that was priced at $365. After the salesman figured up the sales tax and what I thought was interest, the bill amounted to $388.

I gave him a deposit of $48, leaving $340 to be financed with payments for 18 months.

The contract was put into the hands of a finance company, although I thought it was going to be in the hands of a bank. I received my payment book, with an insurance policy included (I didn't know about the policy). Figuring up my payments for the 18 months, I find I have to pay $399.06 before I own the set.

Is there something wrong with these figures? Or is buying on time this expensive? This is my first experience and I'm baffled. If I decide to pay up before the 18 months, do I still have to pay the whole $399?

I would appreciate your answers, as my mother is not aware of the outcome of my time payments. I have a job and I'm 24 years old. So you can see I'm old enough to sign for the TV. But after this experience, I don't think I'll ever buy on time again!

M. G., Hoboken, N. J.

Dear M. G.: Learning comes hard — especially in the complicated realm of credit. Time payments can indeed cost this much. It appears that the financial arrangement you made was for one and one-half per cent interest a month on the unpaid balance, plus term life insurance and property insurance, with a breakdown of $52.02 for finance charges and $7.04 for insurance coverage — all adding up to $399.

You're probably paying closer to an annual interest of 20 per cent for this use of credit, rather than 18 per cent, since the insurance costs were added to your payments, boosting the figure.

However, don't be discouraged. You had to get your first lesson some day. If this experience makes you more aware of what you need to know before you sign a contract, you're that much smarter than you were. If there's a next time — and there are justifications for instalment buying — get the answers to these questions before you sign on the dotted line:

Ginger Rogers' Complexion Care

Ginger Rogers admits that she has worn heavy make-up to cover freckles during all of her acting life on stage and before the camera.

She attributes her youthful complexion at age 54 to the lavish use of soap and water at the end of every day to rid her skin of those cosmetics.

What will the finance charges be in dollars for one year?

What will be the true annual rate to borrow this money?

What happens if a payment is late? Does the contract provide for stiff penalties?

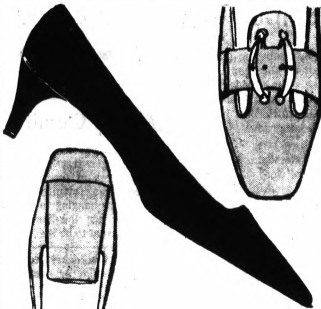

To whom will the payments be made?

What are the seller's stated responsibilities for maintenance, service, or replacement?

One of the most detailed booklets available on the whole subject of credit is entitled "Credit — Master or Servant?" It was written for men and women in the Armed Forces by the Department of Defense, and offers a working knowledge needed to understand why and whereof credit, what you can expect in financing a loan or purchase, and how better to appreciate your own responsibilities.

CHARGED IN POISONING — Mrs. Janie Lou Gibbs, 35, holds photographs of three of her sons, all of whom died in the past two years. They are (from left) Marvin, 13; Roger, 10; and Melvin, 16. Mrs. Gibbs has been charged with the arsenic poisoning death of Roger. The bodies of her husband and the other two sons were exhumed yesterday.

Three Bodies Exhumed Murder Probe Shocks Town

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — Authorities have exhumed the bodies of three members of the family of Mrs. Janie H. Gibbs, a plump brunette whose arrest on a murder charge has shocked this southwest Georgia community.

Mrs. Gibbs, who spent her 35th birthday in jail Christmas Day, has been charged with murder in the arsenic poisoning death of her 18-year-old son, Roger Ludean Gibbs. His death soaked a Georgia Bureau of Investigation probe into the deaths of four other members of the family, all of whom succumbed within the past two years.

The arrest of Mrs. Gibbs was a shock to the community because she operated a small nursery and at times cared for more than a score of young children.

But the community's greatest shock came Wednesday when authorities ordered the bodies of her husband and two other sons exhumed from Sunnyside Cemetery.

RESULTS AWAITED

Authorities now are awaiting the result of an examination of those bodies.

Mrs. Gibbs was jailed two days before Christmas, authorities said, after an autopsy revealed several milligrams of arsenic in the body of Roger Gibbs. His body and that of his infant son—Mrs. Gibbs' grandson—are in the same cemetery but were not exhumed.

Roger Gibbs died Oct. 28 in a hospital at Albany, Ga. His small son died just three weeks earlier.

Another of Mrs. Gibbs' sons, 16-year-old Melvin Gibbs, died Jan. 23, 1967, of what was listed as a rare muscular disease. On Aug. 29, 1966, Marvin Gibbs, 13, died in Columbus of what was described as hepatitis.

HUSBAND'S DEATH

Her husband, Charles Calton Gibbs, 40, died Jan. 21, 1966, in Crisp County hospital of what was believed to be a heart attack.

Actually, authorities said an autopsy was performed on the body of Melvin Gibbs some months ago in Americus. But the physician who performed the autopsy, Dr. Frederick H. Thompson, said Wednesday night he would have no comment on the results of the autopsy or the exhumation of the bodies.

The Gibbs' home at Arabi burned after her husband's death and she moved to her present home in Cordelle.

The Crisp County coroner, J. D. Rainey, who also is an undertaker, directed the funerals of four members of the family. He petitioned Crisp Superior Court for the order to open the Bachelor girl Hazel Vivienne stepped onto a specially raised rostrum last night and with a wave of her baton made history for Sadler's Wells Opera Company.

She became the first woman member of the company ever to conduct an opera at Sadler's Wells theater in London. Hazel, 33 years old and just 5 feet tall, stood in for regular conductor Bryan Balkwill who was ill.

Before she took her place at the head of the orchestra for Richard Rodney Bennett's two-hour opera "A Penny for a Song," the stage carpenter raised the podium six inches to give the 52-piece orchestra a clear view.

"I wanted very much to conduct, but there is a great deal of prejudice against women," she said. "I've asked before why we could not have a woman on the rostrum, but the company always put me off with a vague reply."

The last woman to conduct at Sadler's Wells was Dame Ethel Smyth, who presented her own opera, "The Wreckers," at the theater in 1931. But she was a guest, not a member of the theater's own company.

Hazel was rewarded with four curtain calls. Even the orchestra applauded.

The Tournament of Marigolds ???

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., is in Los Angeles preparing to lead the Rose Bowl parade New Year's Day but the 72-year-old lawmaker isn't sold on the flower involved.

"Give me a year or two, and we make it the Tournament of Marigolds," Dirksen told newsmen after arriving yesterday.

In the Senate he has pushed marigolds for adoption as the national flower.

Why, a newsmen asked. "Well, because I like the marigold," Dirksen replied. "Don't I count for something?"

FBI Probes Article Urging Protesters to Spit at LBJ

ATLANTA (UPI) — The FBI said today it was investigating an article in a black power newsletter advocating that anti-Vietnam protesters spit at President Johnson and attack his limousine to make him "afraid to leave the White House."

The article, appearing in the current issue of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) newsletter, advocates the attacks as part of a strategy to make Johnson fearful of barnstorming to make speeches about his Vietnam policies.

An FBI spokesman said federal authorities had been advised of the article, written by Julius Lester, a field secretary for the militant Atlanta-based SNCC, and that it was being "looked into." He declined to elaborate.

Lester, who recently returned from a trip to North Vietnam and Cuba, wrote that to "resist is to make the President afraid to leave the White House because he will be spat upon where ever he goes to tell his lies."

"His limousine will find the street filled with tacks and thousands of people who will surge around it, smashing the wind around it, smashing the car until induction during the month, with it is turned on its side," he wrote.

STASHING WINNINGS — Anne Clarke of Vancouver, B.C., stashes away $100 bills she won in a big payoff on Nevada's first $5 slot machines. A casino employee is at right.

Lucky Dressmaker Hits Reno Jackpot

RENO, Nev. (AP) — "I get in front of a couple of machines and I feed and pull and feed and pull and get a rhythm going—the faster you play the more you get."

You've got a brassiere stuffed with currency and a set of shingards made out of C-notes. You do, that is, if you are Mrs. Anne Clarke, who tackled the new $5 slot machines in Harold's club with a $20 stake the other night and staggered away 10 hours later with a cool $13,750.

"After I got my brassiere full I stuffed $100 bills into the top of my stockings until they were running down my legs," she said.

Housewives' Valuation Eyed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department, asked to rush in where many a husband fears to tread, may attempt to put a dollar value on the homemaking tasks of housewives.

The research project was suggested at a recent meeting of the department's Advisory Committee on Human Nutrition and Consumer Use. The panel is composed of national leaders in the nutrition and consumer service fields.

Dr. Axel L. Andersen, the committee's executive secretary, said the proposed study grows out of some committee members' feeling that many working wives actually contribute little to the family coffers.

Their extra income as outside job-holders is in many cases offset by their outlay for homemaking services they normally would perform but which—because they work—must be done by others, say those backing the research.

Anderson only smiled when it was suggested such a study might give many a wife a financial club to hold over her husband.

But at the same he noted the committee has sidestepped an immediate decision on whether to undertake the research.

As anybody with gambling experience knows, you can't beat the house percentage playing the slot machines. But you can't prove that by Mrs. Clarke. She says she has been bucking the one-armed bandits at Harold's club with consistent success since 1963 and has the cash to prove it.

Mrs. Clarke, who runs a dress shop in Vancouver, B.C., told an interviewer:

"I've got $12,000 worth of Harold's club money in a bank at home marked 'Reno money.' I usually carry $2,000 down here with me, and I only play with what I come down with. The rest is in safe deposit and I can't get to it."

Mrs. Clarke said she plays Harold's club about four times a year. She started in 1963 after surviving an illness which required three operations and almost killed her.

Health restored, "I decided I'd do something silly," she said. "I thought I'd come to Reno and gamble some."

Mrs. Clarke said she left Reno in 1963 with a net profit of $560, made another $3,900 in the spring of 1964, clipped the machines for $4,900 a few months later and cleared $3,300 on a Christmas visit.

She said she had a losing year in 1965, including a $1,700 trip to the cleaners in April, but averaged a $500 profit in four visits in 1966. On Tuesday night, playing the $5 slots, Mrs. Clarke hit it big.

She ran her $20 original investment into $450 with small winnings, and then hit jackpots of $5,000, $750, $5,000, $750, $750 and, finally, simultaneous $750 jackpots on each of two machines.

Mrs. Clarke pooh-poohed cynical suggestions that the club had softened up the newly introduced $5 machines for her on the theory that a big killing would be good advertising.

"I'm really lucky," she declared.

Mrs. Clarke said she turned to dressmaking after a professional stage career which included a stint as a Ziegfeld Follies girl in New York. She is married to a truck driver, Teddy Clarke, whose voices are poker and playing the horses—both with indifferent results.

S. Viets' Battle Showing Tied to Use of M16 Rifle

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnams to clean their weapons," a headname soldiers today credited quarters officer reported. "That the M16 rifle, which U.S. troops is one reason it worked so had criticized, with the punch well."

Some American troops on first receiving the M16 reported it had a tendency to jam. Officers say this has largely been eliminated by slight modifications in the weapon and by giving troops better instruction in weapon only two days before the battle Tuesday in Quang Tri Province.

The South Vietnamese 1st Division took to the weapon enthusiastically, headquarters reported. The slight South Vietnamese soldier prefers the seven-pound M16 to the far heavier weapons he has been carrying up to now. Its rate of fire also far surpasses anything that had been issued the South Vietnamese soldier.

Stretch Post-Holiday Budget With Meat Balls

CURRIED BEEF BALLS

Curried Beef Balls

These 10-way Beef Balls make it easy to get meat on the table without wrecking the wallet.

In addition to saving money, this recipe offers still another bonus: It's a real time-saver. The beef balls can be prepared ahead, frozen, and used later.

Peas, Oyster Stew a New Combination

This vegetable and seafood combination complements both turkey (or chicken) and ham.

Seafood Peas
2 cans (each 10 ounces) frozen oyster stew soup, thawed
4 tablespoons flour (regular or instant blending) blended with ¼ cup cold water
2 cans (each 1 pound, 1 ounce) very small green peas, drained
2 cans (each 7½ ounces) king crab with tendons removed, drained and sliced into fairly big pieces

Remove oysters from soup and cut in half; reserve. To the undiluted soup add the flour mixture; over moderately low heat cook and stir constantly until thickened.

Add reserved oysters, peas and crab; reheat but do not boil. Makes 12 generous servings.

Make Appetizers One-Bite Size

Chicken Nuggets are delectable party appetizers.

Bone 2 whole chicken breasts, remove the skin, and cut each breast half into 8 nuggets about 1½" square. Dip in melted butter and roll in seasoned crumbs. Place in a single layer on foil-lined baking sheet and bake in a 400 degree oven for 10 minutes. Serve hot or cold on picks. Yield: 3 dozen nuggets.

Bake Stuffing With Beef Balls

Just to be sure that the "Kissin' won't be Missin'" put the recipes for the beef balls potpourri on your cookin' list.

BEEF BALLS POTPOURRI
Casserole
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped onion
1½ teaspoons salt
2 quarts (½ inch) bread cubes, toasted
¼ cup butter or margarine

BEEF BALLS POTPOURRI

Spaghetti and meat balls are unexcelled, especially when the spaghetti is freshly cooked and tossed with butter and cheese, and the meat balls are light in texture with a wine flavor.

There is a simple trick to assure both good texture and flavor; use slices of French bread well soaked with wine as part of the meat mixture. This is an especially important step in the recipe, because these meat balls are meant to be served without sauce. All their flavor is self contained.

BURGUNDY MEAT BALLS
3 slices French bread
1 cup Burgundy
2 pounds ground beef chuck
1 egg, beaten
1 tablespoon instant minced onion
2½ cups water
1 teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon seasoned pepper
½ teaspoon dry basil
2 tablespoons cooking oil

Place French bread slices in mixing bowl; pour on ¼ cup wine. Let stand ½ hour until bread has absorbed wine and is very soft. Beat with egg, onion, salt, pepper and basil until well blended. Combine with meat lightly but thoroughly.

Divide into 18 equal-size portions; shape each one into a ball. Brown meat balls slowly in heated oil on all sides. Add remaining wine to pan.

Cover tightly and cook over low heat until meat is done, about 15 minutes longer. If

Rum Flavor Is Secret of Pie Recipe

A good pie with a taste reminiscent of fall is Butterscotch Mince Pie. This pie's a creamy one, since the butterscotch pie filling is cooked with milk. Mince meat and rum flavoring are folded in. Sprinkle with a whipped cream topping for the chilled pie.

Butterscotch Mince Pie
1 package (4 oz.) butterscotch pudding and pie filling
2 cups milk
¼ cup moist mince meat
1 teaspoon rum extract (optional)
1 baked 8-inch pie shell, cooled
½ cup heavy cream
Combine pie filling mix and milk in a saucepan. Blend well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture comes to a full boil.

Remove from heat. Cool about 5 minutes, stirring once or twice. Fold in mince meat and rum extract. Pour into pie shell.

Cover surface with wax paper. Chill. Whip cream and spread over top.

liquid in pan is completely absorbed before cooking is completed, add ¼ cup water.

Pile meat balls on top of hot cooked spaghetti tossed with grated cheese. Makes 6 servings of 3 meat balls each.

Another idea that is not only economical, but particularly tantalizing for any appetite, is Sauerbraten Meat Balls. It's a ground beef combination which includes a tangy sauce just like that of the famous German Sauerbraten.

SAUERBRATEN MEAT BALLS
1 pound ground beef
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
¾ cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons water
½ teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2½ cups water
3 beef bouillon cubes
½ cup brown sugar

SAUERBRATEN MEAT BALLS

¼ cup dark seedless raisins
¼ cup bottled lemon juice
¼ cup gingersnap crumbs
1 package (8-ounces) noodles
1 teaspoon poppy seeds

Combine meat, bread crumbs, onion, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 tablespoons water, salt and pepper. Shape into 1-inch balls. Brown meat balls in small amount of hot fat.

Remove meat balls; add 2½ cups water to drippings and bring to a boil; stir in bouillon cubes, sugar, raisins, ¼ cup lemon juice and gingersnap crumbs. Add meat balls; cook uncovered over low heat 10 minutes. Turn meat balls, spooning sauce over; cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally.

Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain and top noodles with poppy seeds. Serve meat balls and sauce over noodles. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

ORIENTAL MEAT BALLS

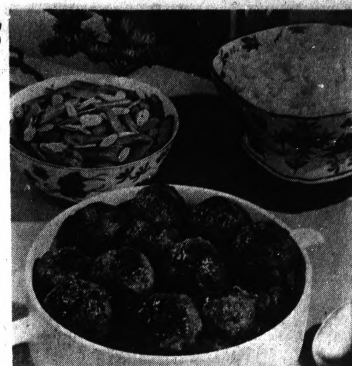

Meat Balls:
1 8½-oz. can crushed pineapple
1 lb. ground beef
½ lb. ground pork
1 5-oz. can water chestnuts, drained and diced
1½ teaspoons soy sauce
1 clove garlic, crushed
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1 egg
½ cup milk
¼ cup raw oatmeal
Glaze:
1 beef bouillon cube
½ cup firmly-packed brown sugar
2 teaspoons soy sauce
2 teaspoons salt
3 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup water

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Thoroughly combine drained pineapple and remaining ingredients for meat balls. Shape to form 24 meat balls.

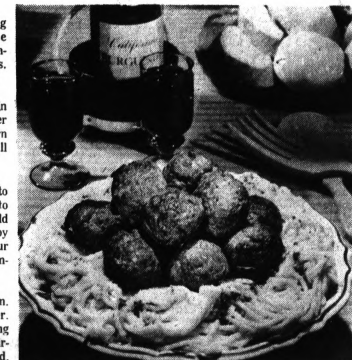

Cook over medium heat in just enough shortening to cover bottom of large fry pan. Turn frequently until browned on all sides.

Add enough boiling water to the reserved pineapple juice to make 1½ cups liquid. Add bouillon cube, brown sugar, soy sauce, salt and vinegar. Pour over meat balls; cover and simmer 25 to 30 minutes.

Remove meat balls from pan. Combine cornstarch and water. Add to liquid in fry pan, mixing well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add meat balls and heat about 5 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

CORNEB BEEF 'N' SAUERKRAUT BAKE — Combine one can (1 lb. 13 oz.) sauerkraut and 1/4 cup brown sugar. Turn into shallow baking dish. Sprinkle with caraway seed, if desired. Flake one corned beef with a fork. Add one egg. Tear one slice bread into small pieces and add to corned beef and egg, blending well. Shape beef mixture into six or eight balls. Nest on top of sauerkraut mixture. Arrange unpeeled apple wedges between corned beef balls. Bake, uncovered, in a 350-degree oven about 30 minutes. Makes 4-6 servings.

There's Reason for Toughness

EAST LANSING, Mich.—Was your last turkey a little tough? Well, homemakers, it may not have been your fault.

You may be able to blame the whole thing on some error in processing. But more than likely, it was the fault of the bird itself.

Recent research by Michigan State University food scientists shows that poultry tenderness is affected by the "degree of bonding within the muscle fibers." This, says Dr. James F. Price, is related to the ability of the muscles to contract when the bird is either living or dead.

"We found that very subtle changes in protein occur within the muscle fibers and that these changes in protein are related to the muscle's ability to develop tension or contract."

Dr. Price adds that breaks occur within protein chains at the same time poultry muscles become tender.

"We know that poultry meat can become tough if birds are frozen too quickly or overcooked soon after they have been killed," he comments. "A turkey can also become tough because of dryness, if it is overcooked at home."

"But none of this dryness or toughness affects the nutritional value of the bird. We found no changes in meat composition as the result of freezing too quick or overcooking."

Surprisingly, there is a great chance of getting a tough young bird than a tough old one, according to Dr. Price.

"Biochemical changes" occur very rapidly in mature turkeys, so the odds are good that birds will be frozen or scalded after these changes have taken place.

"It's only fair to say that toughness caused by quick freezing or overcooking is not too great," says Dr. Price. "Most people would still consider even the 'tough' bird acceptable."

The MSU food scientist is currently conducting basic studies over meat composition and factors that influence tenderness in an effort to insure fine tasting, high crisp with morning dew are best quality poultry meat products for freezing.

Asparagus Is Contest Star for 1968

Once again the New Jersey Asparagus Industry Council is sponsoring an asparagus recipe contest.

Thirty-one prizes will be awarded for the asparagus recipes judged best by a panel of home economists. First prize is a $100 U. S. Savings bond.

Contest rules are simple:

- Recipes must use asparagus in some manner.
- Recipes must be written legibly. No labels or special forms are required.
- Recipes should list title; ingredients, step-by-step cooking instructions and number of servings. Limit—three (3) entries per family.
- Entries must be postmarked not later than midnight, January 15, 1968.

Here is one unusual way to use asparagus.

Sunday Night Treat
1 1/2 cups cooked mashed potatoes
1 1/2 cups cooked asparagus cuts and tips
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1/4 teaspoon onion salt
1/4 teaspoon celery salt
3/4 cup sliced frankfurters
2 tablespoons butter
Grease a 9-inch pie plate. Form a crust with mashed potatoes. Add drained asparagus. Combine bread crumbs with seasonings and sprinkle over asparagus.

Arrange frankfurter slices on top, dot with butter and bake for 30-45 minutes at 300 degrees. Serves 4.

"Equivalent of one standard (No. 300) can, glass container or package of frozen."

It's Continental
Add 1/2 cup chopped ripe olives, 1 tablespoon chopped green onion and a dash liquid red pepper seasoning to 1/2 cup mayonnaise thinned with 2 tablespoons half and half. Delicious over lettuce wedges.

Fresh tender vegetables still effort to insure fine tasting, high crisp with morning dew are best quality poultry meat products for freezing.

Recipe From Retirees' Cookbook

"A Cookbook for the Leisure food and nutrition — also to Social Security, medical and health benefits, and protective services. (Doubleday and Company, Garden City, N. Y., $4.50) is more than a cookbook filled with recipes. Each chapter is devoted to an individual interest, such as "Bargain Buys," "A Light Diet Temporarily," "Meals in Minutes from Your Pantry Shelf" and "Meals from a Table-Top Kitchen."

There is chapter "especially for Men" and another with recipes contributed by famous Americans, all of whom are over 60.

A dividend is the listing of booklets and pamphlets available to retired people, including many publications related to

In the chapter on "Cooking for One" is a recipe for Stirred Shrimp, a dish that can be prepared in minutes but thoroughly enjoyable.

Stirred Shrimp
2 teaspoons butter or margarine
1/2 pound raw shrimp, shelled and deveined or 1/2 of a 7-ounce package frozen ready-to-cook shrimp
1/2 teaspoon cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon sherry
2 teaspoons chopped chives
Dash ground ginger

In a small skillet melt butter. Combine shrimp and remaining ingredients in a bowl and stir them to mix well. Cook shrimp mixture in hotter butter over low heat, stirring frequently with a fork until shrimp is pink and tender — about 4 to 5 minutes, depending upon the size of the shrimp. Makes 1 generous serving.

Roast Onions

Ever bake medium-size onions, unpeeled, when you are baking potatoes? Peel the roasted onions before sending to the table, making a criss-cross over the top and inserting a square of butter; sprinkle with paprika.

Tannah Hirsch, the associate editor of the American Contract Bridge League Bulletin, plays a lot more bridge than most members of the league staff. One reason is that Tannah, who played top flight bridge in Europe for many years, wants to be a Life Master in this country.

He writes very scientifically for the bulletin. His own bidding is of the simple style as may be seen from his six no-trump call with this hand from a recent tournament.

A scientist's scientist would have taken up to a dozen bids to get to the eventual slam and if that slam happened to be in clubs, the scientist would have had no play to make his contract against a heart lead.

A spade was opened against the six no-trump contract. Tannah looked over dummy a while and called for the deuce of clubs discard. Then he led a club to dummy's ace. East showed out and Tannah went after dummy's king.

"Not at all," replied Tannah. "But five diamonds. Your partner was willing to have you bid three diamonds with some very poor diamond holding. You actually have a reasonably good six card suit and you denied anything in high cards when you passed one spade."

When that suit broke all Tannah had to do was to lead a heart toward his king in order to make his no-trump slam. "Lucky discard," said North. "It was the correct play. I could not make more than six no-trump unless I could run both minor suits. Clubs figured to break but I didn't really need six club tricks. Five clubs plus three spades plus three diamonds would represent 11 tricks and East was marked with the ace of hearts for his spade overcall."

If neither suit broke I wasn't going to make my slam in any

School Desegregation Plan Draws Pros, Cons

By DICK ROBINSON

Thirteen years after the Supreme Court's historic decision on school segregation, race still remains a major issue in education.

Some educators say the problem is growing faster than efforts are being made to solve racial imbalances in schools.

A clamoring for better racial balance in Pontiac schools has been particularly noticeable in the past six months. Sixty-one percent of the city's Negro students attend predominantly Negro schools.

As a result of one suggestion to reduce de facto segregation at Jefferson Junior High School, the board of education a few weeks ago adopted short- and long-range plans to relieve de facto segregation.

Basically, the short-range plan allows students from Jefferson to attend any other junior high school in the district next year, provided that there is room and not too many other Negro students there and that they get there by their own transportation.

The long-range plan provides for only east side and west side senior high schools, a new junior high school in the Central High building and the phasing out of Jefferson Junior High.

A number of pros and cons have been expressed on the modified open enrollment plan to alleviate de facto — created by housing patterns — segregation at Jefferson.

Critics say the so-called solution represents a token gesture toward racial balance but does not wipe out de facto segregation. One critic is Negro board member Dr. Robert R. Turpin.

He claims that only a small number of Jefferson students — just the best — will be able to transfer to four eligible junior high schools. Secondly, he points to transportation as a problem. Eastern Junior High has been ruled out of the picture because it is already 57 per cent Negro.

SOLUTION SLOW
"It may not be possible to wipe out de facto segregation totally overnight," one authority, Schools Supt. Dr. Neil V. Sullivan of Berkeley, Calif., comments, "but a community must accept the fact that tension will continue and the problem will not be solved until segregation in fact is ended."

Pontiac Schools Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitner, on the other hand, says this is the best workable plan at present.

Although he can not estimate how many spaces will be available for transferring Jefferson students, he does say every effort will be made to accommodate these students.

Enrollment predictions indicate that three of the four eligible receiving junior highs will be beyond reasonable capacity with just their own students. How can they still take Jefferson students?

OPENINGS BY GRADES
Whitner emphasizes that small amounts of pupils still could go to a school even if the total enrollment is beyond capacity. For example, the eighth and ninth grades may be overcrowded but the seventh grade could have openings.

The superintendent has said that Washington Junior High appears it will be able to accept the most Jefferson students. He estimates about 100 openings.

That is better than nothing, as two school board members indicated, but some say it isn't enough.

Other objects to the short-range plan, which is expected to be in effect for three years, say:

SPECIAL HELP
• It does not provide for a program of educational improvement. Negro youngsters, many of whom come from a background of educational deprivation, need special help, not just a mixing with white students.

• Defacto segregation plans must involve the total community. Negroes cannot be asked to bear the brunt of the drawbacks, such as long-distance travel.

What other short-range alternatives are there for desegregation that could be implemented next September?

One proposal by a citizens committee to change attendance boundary lines between Jefferson and Washington junior highs was dismissed after study by top administrators and members of the board of education.

They said the plan would increase travel distance by students, would be more hazardous for pupils and would result in white parents moving out of the area.

PRINCETON PLAN
Turpin advocates what is called the Princeton (N.J.) Plan. It abolishes segregation between two schools by having all of the students of the two combined attendance areas attend one of the schools for certain grades and then all of them go to the other school for other grades.

For example, all seventh and eighth graders who would go to Washington and Jefferson could go only to Washington and all ninth graders who would normally go to both schools would go to Jefferson.

Other short-range plans considered by administrators and school board but regarded not as promising as the adopted plan are:

• A modified open enrollment plan in which Negro pupils at Jefferson could attend Lincoln, Kennedy or Madison junior highs with transportation provided by the school district.

TRANSFER PLAN
In addition, up to 100 pupils living nearest Washington in the federal housing project could be transferred from Jefferson to Washington.

A three-year plan to phase out Jefferson as a junior high school by reassigning Jefferson pupils to other junior high schools, except Eastern, by providing transportation.

The first year all ninth grade pupils would be bused, the second year all eighth and ninth graders and the third year eighth, ninth and 10th.

But no matter how much opposition to any given plan, educators agree that the approach used in attacking the problem varies from community to community. There are no pat solutions that can be applied universally.

Boy Gets Wish

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Five-year-old Adam Gilmore of Dayton had his heart set on a boa constrictor for Christmas. And he got it.

He learned about snakes from a picture book. When he saw the boa in a pet shop, it became his heart's desire. Christmas morning, one of the boxes under the Gilmore's Christmas tree contained Adam's boa.

"I got it, I got it, I got my living nearest Washington in the box," he squealed.

Electronic Device to Help Heart Patients Hailed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The National Heart Institute says it has successfully tested an electronic device which permits some invalid heart patients to resume normal physical activity by pressing a button.

The apparatus consists of a small transistor worn outside the body which patients suffering from angina pectoris can switch on before engaging in activities that might cause pain.

The transmitter, by electrical impulse, stimulates the carotid sinus nerves in the neck to reduce blood pressure and blood vessel tone, thus reducing heart work and oxygen requirements. The Heart Institute said yesterday the nerve stimulation enables patients to work 15 times longer than before the devices were installed.

STUDENT COSTS

SPENDING INCREASES — All U.S. institutions of higher education have been suffering financial strain in recent years because of inflation pressures, staff salary increases, the expanding technology of education and—above all—rapid enrollment increases. But the heaviest burden, particularly in enrollment, has fallen on public institutions whose resources have not been equal to the demand. As a result, public expenditures per student have fallen steadily behind per-student spending in private institutions.

Risky '66 Kidney Transplant Now Hailed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The transplant procedure, which took 48 minutes, was hailed by doctors at the Einstein Memorial Hospital as a landmark in the treatment of kidney disease. The man had died of a brain hemorrhage and was of a blood type compatible with the donor's.

I thought I was a dead man when I first came to Einstein, said Fagelson, whose one-year-old son had been born with a kidney disease. Fagelson's wife, Mrs. Sarah Fagelson, said the transplant was a miracle. The man had died of a brain hemorrhage and was of a blood type compatible with the donor's.

Are You on LBJ's List?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If "No Retreat From Tomorrow" you're one of the 25,000 people row" is a privately published, Lyndon B. Johnson really cares 243-page collection of the 23 messages, you may now have a sages Johnson sent to Congress copy of his book "No Retreat in 1967."

With it comes a warm note Inc. of Baltimore said a run of from presidential aide Marvin 25,000 had been ordered. The Watson saying, "The President Hoen people wouldn't talk about hopes that you will accept this the expense involved but one of little holiday gift as a token of official said the job "had to be his personal esteem and warm perfect. AN ART FAKE? — Beverly Hills art dealer Frank Perl paid a Berlin art dealer $7,000 for this statuette, which he says he later found to be a fake. The 14-inch bronze sculpture bears the name of Alberto Giacometti, a Swiss-born artist who was a pioneer of modern art.

Materiel Firm Fire Kills Girl

GOODYEAR, Ariz. (AP) — Fire flashed through a plant making munitions, killing one person and burning another seriously, in one of two fires in the nation Wednesday in munitions plants.

One man was killed and 15 injured in a fire and explosion at a Hanover, Mass., plant that manufactures antipersonnel mines for use in Vietnam.

The fire at this Phoenix suburb occurred in a small building housing a mortar shell assembly room, about 30 feet from the main plant of Unidynamics, Inc. The building remained intact.

A company spokesman said only two persons were in the building when the blaze went through it. He declined to say what was manufactured in that building.

SECURITY
Guards restrained photographers from taking pictures and kept newsmen behind an eight-foot fence.

Carolyn Joyce Miller, 19, was killed and Cirilo Almanza, 23, was critically burned.

The plant, a division of Universal Match Corp., produces explosive compounds for weapons used in Vietnam, and components for missiles and aircraft. Opened in 1963 at a cost of more than $1 million, it employs about 550 persons.

At Hanover, Ralph Garrett, the Massachusetts state fire marshal, said that blast was caused by "human error."

Howard Chute, 20, of Marshfield, Mass., was killed at Hanover.

Food Stamp Project Continues to Grow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Or-But no one at Agriculture kids and blue bills that look like play money are helping 2.6 million needy Americans buy nearly $1 million worth of food every day.

Known as food stamps, they'll be circulating by July 30 in 1,200 areas of 43 states and Washington, D. C., including eight of the nation's 10 most populous cities.

Backers of the stamp program call it the most promising approach yet to the goal of putting better food on the poor man's table without making it a handout.

Nobody gets food stamps for free. The poor pay for them, swapping cash for stamps worth many dollars more.

COLD-BLOODED
Some find it a little cold-blooded that the government extracts money from those it professes to help.

But Congress shows its approval by giving the Agriculture Department a bigger budget for stamps every year—$185 million for the current fiscal year, up from $116.3 million last year.

"We've got to get away from this idea of giving the poor everything we think they need," said Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., the stamp program's best friend on Capitol Hill.

"In this program the people are taught how to spend their money," she said. "As little as it is, they learn to budget it."

THROUGH 1950s
Mrs. Sullivan and others badgered the Eisenhower administration for a stamp program through much of the 1950s. It had too much of a welfare state aroma about it to suit Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Ex- Eisenhower in 1961, and with him Benson. Enter President John F. Kennedy, determined to have stamps.

Kennedy's first executive order was to establish a pilot program in a handful of cities. Congress put it on a formal continuing basis in 1964.

A shopper armed with books of stamps, signed on the back so no one else can use them, can buy just about anything on the grocer's shelves so long as it's food and—with the exception of coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas—American-grown.

Train Derails in S. Illinois; 3 Are Injured

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Eight cars of the Illinois Central Railroad's Panama Limited—Magnolia Star derailed south of Carbondale late Wednesday night, injuring three persons, one seriously.

The rest of an estimated 150 passengers who had left Chicago Wednesday afternoon were able to resume their trip to New Orleans within three hours after the midnight accident.

Among the uninjured passengers were William B. Johnson, Illinois Central president, and O. H. Zimmerman, the line's vice president and general manager.

A railroad flagman, Orvis Crain of Centerville, was admitted to doctors hospital in Carbondale with serious injuries. A porter and one passenger, not identified were treated and released. Several other passengers were shaken up, none seriously enough to require hospital treatment.

FEW ARE HURT
"We were very fortunate that more people weren't injured," said Harry B. Coonce, IC division superintendent at St. Louis. The cause of the derailment was not immediately learned.

PCH, PNH Cagers Trying to Shift Gears

Both teams will be trying to shift basketball gears when Pontiac Northern travels to Central tomorrow night.

The Huskies will be attempting to shift from second to high and cut into Central's 20-3 margin in the city game series. Getting out of reverse will be the Chiefs' main objective.

Northern will go into the contest as a solid favorite for the first time in the series.

The Huskies have posted a 3-1 record while averaging 82 points a game. Lone blot on the record is a 74-72 overtime loss at Highland Park. PNH rolled to 40 and 25-point wins over Farmington and Walled Lake in its last two outings.

And Dana Cain, the top scorer and rebounder last season, is expected to make his initial appearance of the campaign against Central. He has been nursing a leg injury.

The Chiefs, on the other hand, have been going backward since defeating Roseville in their opener. They have lost three straight.

"I just don't know what to expect against Northern," said PCH mentor Fred Zittel. "The game is a big question mark for us."

He was speaking of the performance of the Chiefs. Zittel is well aware of what Northern will offer.

MAIN PROBLEM

"Northern is a very impressive team," he said. "They have four good guards and are strong up front." Central's main problem has been at guard. The Chiefs came to grief against the pressing tactics of Bay City Central and Arthur Hill.

This would indicate that future foes, including Northern will throw more of the same at the Chiefs.

In an attempt to shore up the back-court situation, Zittel has moved Lewis McNair into a starting role. He will team with Frank Russell who is the team's leading scorer with a 16.5 average.

The three starting berths in the front line will go to Alton Wilson, Rudy Churchwell, Walter Causey or Len Cole. Zittel said he wouldn't quarter until game which three will start.

A similar problem with his two forwards and a center. Bob Traylor, Chuck Moncrief and Don Hayward have been starting. Cain will replace one, either for the 8 p.m. tipoff or after the contest in under way.

Craig Deaton and Mike Clancy, one of the top guard combinations, will be the other starters.

Trying to defense Northern is a major problem. Three of the starters have been over 20 points at least once and Clancy has two 19-point efforts to his credit. Moncrief, a sophomore, hasn't scored over 16, but has been very consistent both as a point-producer and a rebounder.

The preliminary game between the jayvees will match two high scoring squads.

Crystal Ball Battle Under Way

The honor of all athletic minded men, football fans and the Loyal Order of Swamis (female members prohibited) lies in the hands of the champion prognosticator of the sports department, Swami Spears.

Having been challenged, needed, insured, dared and even threatened to match wits in picking the Bowl Games against the 1967 champion of the Editorial page football contest, Swami Spears has . . . eh, volunteered to battle Seeress Wilson in the six big bowl predictions.

There will be steak for the winner and crow for the loser. Seconds for the battle are editorial writer Howard Heldenbrand for Seeress Wilson and sports editor Bruno Kearns for Swami Spears.

Murphy Leads Collegians

Top Scorer in Motor City

The most prolific basketball scorer in the country at this time, Calvin Murphy, is expected to shatter all existing records when the 16th annual Motor City basketball classic begins Friday at the University of Detroit Memorial Building.

The 5-10 sophomore, who averaged 49 points a game as a freshman, leads all college scorers with a 45.6 average, including scoring outbursts of 57, 52 and 41 points.

Murphy will be the feature in the opening game when Niagara meets Valparaiso at 7:30 p.m. Host University of Detroit tangles with Portland in the nightcap at 9:15 p.m.

The opening night losers will play in the consolation bracket Saturday night at 7:30 with the championship game following.

ACCURATE SHOOTER

In one game at the Philadelphia Palestra, Murphy hit on 19 of 36 shots and converted a perfect 14 of 14 from the free throw line for his 52 points effort even though his team was defeated by LaSalle.

His 6-game total of 270 points is expected to mount in the tournament with at least three existing scoring marks within reach.

Bill Ebben holds the records for most points in a single game 40; most points in two games 69 and most field goals in two games 24.

Niagara and U. of D. are favored to reach the finals Saturday night.

'Straight Football' Oakland Title Plan

OAKLAND, Calif. (U) — Straight football — no fumbles or interceptions allowed — is the way the 13-1 Oakland Raiders will play it against the Houston Oilers Sunday in the chips-down fight for the American Football League crown.

That's the way Coach John Rauch sees it, and his eyesight so far has encouraged the oddsmakers to give the Californians a 10 1/2-point advantage over the Texans.

The scribes and the team like to think the Raiders come complete with instant adjustments to odd defenses, should the Oilers decide to try it.

Raider quarterback Daryle Lamonia agrees with Rauch's "straight" strategy. Said the AFL's most valuable player:

"We must play hard-nosed football. Executions, not gimmicks, is the way to win. But we have to minimize our mistakes — no fumbles or interceptions."

Indiana Five Whips Albion in Tournament

MARSHALL, Ohio — Jerry Walther scored 31 points to lead Manchester College of Ind. to an 88-79 victory over Albion in the Marshall Optimist Classic Wednesday night.

In other games, Calvin College whipped Ferris State, 60-54, and Kalamazoo downed Ferris State 60-54.

In tonight's games, Adrian goes against Ferris State, Manchester plays Kalamazoo and Taylor University of Ind., which had a bye in the first round, goes against Calvin.

DOUBLE FIGURES—Walter Causey (left) and Alton Wilson are both averaging close to 13 points a game for Pontiac Central which will be trying to snap a three game losing streak at home against PNH. Causey and Wilson also are strong rebounders.

Indiana Defensive Stars Facing Tough Assignment in Bowl Tilt

PASADENA, Calif. (U) — Indiana's defensive end Cal Snowden goes from one tough problem to another.

"Against Purdue we had to contain Leroy Keyes and now we have to try to contain O. J. Simpson," says Snowden in assessing the Rose Bowl battle against Southern California on New Year's Day.

Snowden, a 222-pound junior from Washington, and his fellow end Tom Bilunas, a 215-pounder from Gary, Ind., were big reasons the Hoosiers beat Purdue 19-14 in the traditional finale of the season to win the Rose Bowl trip.

TAKE TOP HONORS

Keyes and Simpson won All-American honors this season with the latter second in the Heisman Trophy voting and the former third.

Keyes didn't score against Indiana and Snowden says the Indiana defensive corps hopes to contain Simpson as effectively.

Coach John Pont closed the Indiana practices to spectators today except for news media and the official party. Earlier drills had been open to the public.

"Southern California realizes Indiana is well aware of Simpson, the nation's leading rusher with 1,415 yards during the season. So there has been stress on the passing game to keep the defenses honest."

LONG THROWER

Coach John McKay says the Trojans may play quarterback Mike Holmgren, a third stringer but the longest thrower on the club.

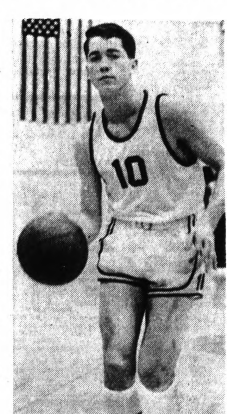

IMPROVED — Pontiac Northern's Bob Traylor has shown steady improvement since joining the varsity at the start of last season. The 6'4 forward is expected to see considerable action against Central tomorrow night.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (U) — Six Michigan youth swept to quarter final victories Wednesday in their various divisions of the Orange Bowl Junior Tennis Championships.

John Lamerato of Hamtramck ousted Harold Rabinowitz of North Miami Beach, 6-0, 6-0. He will meet Harold Solomon of Silver Springs, Md., in the semifinals for boys 16 and under.

GIRLS DIVISION

In the division for girls 18 and under, fourth-seeded Kathy Dombos of Kalamazoo defeated Joan Dukeshire of Fair Lawn, N.J., 7-1, 6-0. Miss Dombos will meet top-seeded Patti Hogan of LaJolla, Calif., in the semifinals.

Emily Fisher of Bloomfield Hills defeated Plums Barkowicz of Hamtramck, 6-4, 6-2, in the division for girls 16 and under. Miss Fisher will play Karin Benson of Miami in the semifinals.

Miss Fisher teamed with Alice Derocement of Shreveport, La., to defeat Andrea Larson of Hamtramck and Alice Valentine of Cleveland, 6-1, 6-2, in a doubles match for girls 16 and under.

KAZOO GIRL LOSES

Kathy Dombos and Linda Berry of Kalamazoo defeated a doubles team, 6-3, 6-0 for girls 18 and under. One member of the losing team was Toni Locker of Kalamazoo.

Cherie Carlson and Patti Miller, both of Kalamazoo, won a doubles match, 6-2, 6-1, against Anna Marie Cavadeni of Argentina and Beth Whalley of Point Pleasant, N.Y.

N. Michigan Ranked

NEW YORK (UPI) — Northern Michigan will be ranked 15th among the nation's small college basketball teams, up from 19th the previous two weeks, the United Press International weekly poll showed today.

TOP SCORER—Niagara's Calvin Murphy will carry a 45 points per game average into the Motor City tournament at U. of D. tomorrow night. The 5-10 sophomore is the top scorer in the nation.

HAVING A BRAWL — Defenseman Bob Woytowich (2) of the Minnesota North Stars and forward Reg Fleming (9) of the New York Rangers square off for a short fight during the third period of their National Hockey League game in

New York last night. Both drew major and minor penalties — five minutes for fighting and two minutes for high sticking. The bout ended in a draw and the game, also, 3-3.

Ex-Black Hawk Scores With Boston's Bruins

By the Associated Press

So who needs Bobby Hull any way?

Certainly not Phil Esposito, who is passing less and enjoying it more now that he no longer centers Chicago's Golden Jet.

Esposito was the playmaker for Hull's 54 and 52-goal outputs the last two seasons, which shattered National Hockey League records.

Traded to Boston during the summer, Esposito has become a scorer himself. He proved that to his old Black Hawk teammates Wednesday night when he notched his second three-goal hat trick of the year in a 7-2 Boston romp over Chicago.

STRING SNAPPED

The loss snapped a 10-game unbeaten string for the Hawks and dropped them back into a first place tie with the surprising Bruins.

Elsewhere, New York and Minnesota battled to a 3-3 tie, Montreal tied Toronto 2-2, St. Louis lopped Los Angeles 4-2 and Oakland and Pittsburgh played to a scoreless tie.

Esposito's three goals gave him 15 in 32 games with the Bruins compared with 21 all last season for Chicago.

"I think the big reason I'm scoring more," said Esposito with perfect logic, "is that I'm shooting more. I don't think I took 100 shots all last year with Chicago. Now I'm well past 100 and the puck is going in for me."

EXPLODE WITH 2

Against the Hawks, it seemed the puck was going in for all the Bruins. After Doug Mohns had given Chicago the early lead, Boston exploded with a pair of goals by Esposito and one apiece by Tom Williams and Eddie Westfall for a 4-1 first-period edge.

Then Eddie Shack fired a pair and Esposito completed his hat trick in the middle period.

Minnesota, scoreless in three straight games, saw the frustrating streak extended to 11 periods before bursting it with a flurry of three third-period goals inside of 3½ minutes against New York. Ray Cullen scored two of the goals and assisted on the third.

That wiped out a 2-0 Ranger edge, but New York managed the tie when Rod Gilbert poked a loose puck past Cesare Maniago with just 72 seconds left to play.

STANDOFF

Danny Grant and Jean Beliveau scored with less than four minutes left, giving Montreal its standoff against Toronto.

George Armstrong and Pete

Stemkowski had snapped a scoreless tie early in the period for the Maple Leafs.

Gary Sabourin fired a pair of goals as St. Louis dropped Los Angeles. The Blues, who outshot the Kings 37-19, were in a 1-1 tie until Sabourin's second goal and singles by Gerry Melynk and Don McKenney gave them some breathing room in the third period.

Oakland's Gary Smith and Pittsburgh's Les Binkley played the NHL's first scoreless tie of the season. The shutout was the third this year for Binkley and the first for Smith.

SEEKS MIDWEST HONORS—Pam Mason, 14, of Birmingham will compete in the Midwestern Figure Skating Championships Jan. 4-6 at Green Bay, Wis. She qualified for the Midwestern by placing third in the novice ladies division of the Eastern Great Lakes championships held recently in Bowling Green, Ohio.

Area Skater Bids for Midwest Title

A 14-year-old honor student will be striving for honors of another sort next week.

Pam Mason, 1001 N. Adams, Birmingham, will be seeking the Midwestern novice ladies figure skating championship Jan. 4-6 at Green Bay, Wis. This will be her third try since moving into the novice class in late 1965.

She finished sixth and ninth in her two previous bids.

Soviet Ice Team Halts Finland, 3-1

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The Soviet Nationals scored twice in the final four minutes of the second period Wednesday night to defeat Finland, 3-1, in the second round of the Broadmoor International Hockey Tournament.

It was Russia's second win of the tournament, having trounced the United States in the first match Tuesday. Finland fought to a 2-2 draw with the University of Denver.

The only game scheduled for today will pit United States Nationals against Denver University.

Western Flavor in Ice Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—North Dakota blasted Harvard, 8-1, and Colorado College rallied for four goals in the third period to upset Boston College, 8-5, Wednesday night, setting up an all-western finale in the St. Paul Classic Collegiate Hockey Tournament.

North Dakota and Colorado College play for the championship tonight after Harvard and Boston College meet for third.

UCLA Quintet Adds to Streak in 95-45 Rout

Minnesota's Gophers Victim of Coast Five in Tourney Contest

By The Associated Press
The high line goes on at 40 for UCLA's all-conquering basketball dynasty.

The Bruins rambed to their 40th consecutive victory in appropriate fashion—with a 40-point cushion—Wednesday night, burying Minnesota's gasping Gophers 95-45 in the opening round of the Los Angeles Classic.

Low Alcindor popped in 28 points as UCLA, the nation's reigning college power, shot 61 per cent on the way to its sixth victory of the season.

The Bruins surged to a 51-25 halftime bulge and upped the count to 67-28 before Coach John Wooden let his reserves play out the string. Lucius Allen and Edgar Lacey supported Alcindor with 19 and 14 points, respectively.

NEXT HURDLE
UCLA's next hurdle will be a tall one. The Bruins play St. Louis University, 97-78 first-game victor over Utah State, in Friday night's semifinals—with 7-foot-2 Alcindor pitted against 7-foot Rick Niemann of the Billikens.

Unbeaten Oklahoma City got a total of 76 points from Rich Travis, Charles Wallace and Henry Koper on the way to a 105-86 triumph over Fordham in the first round of the 32nd All College Tournament—the nation's oldest holiday cage attraction.

Travis scored 29 points, Wallace 26 and Koper 21 as the Chiefs rolled to their sixth victory after Auburn trimmed Arkansas 65-58 in the tourney opener at Oklahoma City.

WORST BEATING
At Philadelphia, Temple handed Providence its worst beating in four years, mauling the Friars 99-63 behind a tenacious zone press to advance to the semifinals of the Quaker City Classic with Wisconsin, St. Francis, Pa., and Duquesne.

Britain Removes Ban on Racing
LONDON (UPI)—British agriculture leaders have removed the ban on horse racing, and the sport will resume next month.

The decision to resume racing on Jan. 5 was reached after a meeting between Agriculture Minister Fred Peart and racing officials.

Carless Model Cities Urged

By ALTON BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—One solution for our vexing, horrendous city traffic and transportation headaches.

Build a city in which cars and trucks were totally banned—except for some perhaps underground.

Instead everyone would ride entirely for free—on semiprivate mode pods, motorless, driverless, noiseless, all controlled by computer. They would whisk you to your office or home speedily and nonstop.

Such a transportation system would be a feature of a new way of life, in a program called the Experimental City, to be built from scratch, with no propensity to follow practices of existing cities.

The city would be operated much like a big hotel, says Dr. Altheimer Spilhaus, president of the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. In hotels and other buildings, elevator service to ride you up and down is free, he remarked, so why not free transportation around town?

City problems, pollution problems, transportation problems are among main topics being discussed this week at the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science (AAAS).

This reflects an awareness, say officials of the AAAS, that the applications coming out of science and technology have created pressing social, economic and human problems to which science and technology could help supply some solutions.

Dr. Spilhaus told the association there is urgent need to start soon to build an experimental city, and then add many more of them.

The city would have a central core of homes, stores, industries, businesses, schools, hospitals, with open green land, farms and forests surrounding it.

A typical population might be just 250,000 people.

RUN LIKE UTILITY
It would be operated by a quasi-public quasi-private corporation, run like a hotel or public utility.

If 800 such cities, all of controlled size, were scattered evenly across the country, all Americans could live in them, and "we would not have the problems, the traffic congestion problems, the riots and many of the other ills that develop when cities become too large," Dr. Spilhaus said.

He said urban renewal or model city programs tear down old slums, but make more room for more people and lead to future slums. And "new cities" like Reston, Va., and Columbia, Md., are in danger of being swallowed up by the spreading out of Washington and Baltimore.

In the experimental city, everything could be preplanned, including waste disposal, and ultimate reuse of wastes. So could transportation systems, and easy disposal of buildings that became outdated or which no longer fitted into changing human aims.

MAIN AIM
A main aim, he added, would be to provide people with opportunities for rewarding use of their increasing leisure time.

Dr. Spilhaus said such an experimental city might cost $4 billion, "about the cost of the supersonic transport, and little less than one year's space program expenditures."

County officials had hoped to take bids on the garage project before the first of year. But financial advisors are now counseling the delay of the sale of revenue bonds until the New York market promises lower interest rates.

Construction time for the garage, once the dirt starts flying, is estimated at 18 months.

An artificial skin that looks and feels like the real thing has been developed which will cut the mortality rate of victims of severe burns. It can be worn four years if necessary.

The deaths were ruled accidental by the police department.

The bodies of Kelley and Jessi Walker, 53, of 842 Stanley I., were discovered in a car parked in a garage, operated by Walter at 84 W. Sheffield.

Walker's name had been with held until the next of kin was notified, but police said no close relatives could be found.

Bond Interest Delays Dallas Memorial to JFK

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Dallas County's plans to build a memorial to President John F. Kennedy have run aground again, this time on the New York bond market.

The $100,000 memorial to Kennedy, slain Nov. 22, 1963, two blocks from the proposed site, is to rest atop a $2.8 million, 490-car underground parking garage.

County officials had hoped to take bids on the garage project before the first of year. But financial advisors are now counseling the delay of the sale of revenue bonds until the New York market promises lower interest rates.

Construction time for the garage, once the dirt starts flying, is estimated at 18 months.

Reds' Activity in Laos 'Not on Invasion Scale'

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—erred by military men in Vientiane, reliable military and diplomatic sources said today that North Vietnamese and Pathet Lao forces are more active than usual in Laos but no large-scale Communist invasion of the country is taking place.

The sources, both American and Laotian, said the Communists have staged unusually large scale raids for rice on the agricultural communities of Nam Bac, near the royal capital of Luang Prabang, and Phalan, near Savannakhet in the south.

Officers at Laotian Army headquarters said every attack so far had been beaten back including one early today.

Surveys in Vientiane, endeavoring to explain reports of a Communist invasion, said the Laotian government frequently claimed the situation is "tense" in order to protect the presence of North Vietnamese troops in the country.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 40,000 North Vietnamese combat and support troops in Laos in the areas controlled by the Vietcong.

In Washington, the Pentagon and the U.S. State Department at first took a similar attitude toward reports of North Vietnamese military activity in Laos. But after reports from Saigon and Bangkok of large-scale North Vietnamese incursions into the kingdom, State Department spokesmen Robert J. McCloskey said Communist attacks in Laos are of serious concern to the United States "and we are watching the situation closely."

McCloskey linked events in Laos to reports of increased Red pressure on Thailand's northeast border and use of Communist cadres as a sanctuary for Vietnamese Communists, Thai army chief, Gen. Prethas Charathien, said in Bangkok Wednesday that Thai troops had been flown to the north to three Communist battalions in Laos.

The Pathet Lao, the Laotian Communist movement which controls much of northern and eastern Laos, in a broadcast today acknowledged that fighting had broken out in southern Laos. Phalan but made no mention of it.

The broadcast claimed that three U.S. advisers had been killed.

CLAIMS BY HANOI
Hanoi's Vietnam News Agency claimed that Pathet Lao forces had shot down a U.S. F106 jet fighter-bomber and damaged "a number of others" Monday in the northeastern Laotian village of Sam Nuea.

Nam Bac, which was captured from the Pathet Lao in 1966, has been the scene of numerous small skirmishes and sporadic shelling by the Communists. The situation there has always been described as tense, but no serious Communist attempt to retake it has been reported.

Red troops surround the valley of Nam Bac and frequently fire at government planes. The British military attaché in Laos, Col. Horace Moore, was wounded by Communist ground fire at the airfield there.

The town of Phalan in the south is some distance from the Ho Chi Minh Trail and considered by military men in Vientiane to be an unlikely target for the Communists.

Saravane, another town in the south near the Bolovens Plateau, is near the Ho Chi Minh trail and came under attack two days ago. The attacking Communist force was estimated by military headquarters in Vientiane to be less than two battalions, or about 300 men. Half of the force was believed to be Pathet Lao, the other half North Vietnamese.

MARATHON BIBLE READING—Thirty high school students, members of the Methodist Youth Fellowship of St. Paul's Church of Monroe, have taken on the task of reading the Bible from beginning to end. The marathon reading idea came from the Rev. Dennis Thompson, associate pastor of St. Paul's and adviser to the group. It began on Christmas Eve. Shown reading in the half-hour shifts and broadcasting their readings outside the church are (from left) Fred Woss, 15, Carol Bragg, 16, and Karen Williams, 15, all standing. John Hile, 17, is broadcasting on the microphone.

ered by military men in Vientiane to be an unlikely target for the Communists.

Saravane, another town in the south near the Bolovens Plateau, is near the Ho Chi Minh trail and came under attack two days ago. The attacking Communist force was estimated by military headquarters in Vientiane to be less than two battalions, or about 300 men. Half of the force was believed to be Pathet Lao, the other half North Vietnamese.

Officers at Laotian Army headquarters said every attack so far had been beaten back including one early today.

Surveys in Vientiane, endeavoring to explain reports of a Communist invasion, said the Laotian government frequently claimed the situation is "tense" in order to protect the presence of North Vietnamese troops in the country.

American intelligence sources estimate there are 40,000 North Vietnamese combat and support troops in Laos in the areas controlled by the Vietcong.

In Washington, the Pentagon and the U.S. State Department at first took a similar attitude toward reports of North Vietnamese military activity in Laos. But after reports from Saigon and Bangkok of large-scale North Vietnamese incursions into the kingdom, State Department spokesmen Robert J. McCloskey said Communist attacks in Laos are of serious concern to the United States "and we are watching the situation closely."

McCloskey linked events in Laos to reports of increased Red pressure on Thailand's northeast border and use of Communist cadres as a sanctuary for Vietnamese Communists, Thai army chief, Gen. Prethas Charathien, said in Bangkok Wednesday that Thai troops had been flown to the north to three Communist battalions in Laos.

The Pathet Lao, the Laotian Communist movement which controls much of northern and eastern Laos, in a broadcast today acknowledged that fighting had broken out in southern Laos. Phalan but made no mention of it.

"We lost everything," explained Mrs. William Miller, whose house and possessions burned to the ground Saturday in Pontiac Township.

The Millers and their daughters, Barbara Ann, 2, and Geraldine Marie, 3, were visiting Mrs. Miller's mother when a friend came to tell them the news.

"We had no insurance," added Mrs. Miller. The family is currently living with her sister-in-law, the Allen Davises of 125 Hickory Lane, Waterford Township. The Millers have already rented a duplex at 130 University Drive but can't move until they find furniture.

The Salvation Army donated money and gave the Millers a change of clothing for Christmas, according to a neighbor, Mrs. Betty Linn of 725 Albany, Pontiac Township. Mrs. Linn also collected money from friends to help the Millers.

Destroyer Tender Is Fogged In for Family Day Sail

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP)—For weeks, relatives of sailors aboard the Navy destroyer tender Frontier waited for Wednesday and a day at sea aboard the ship.
Fog closed in shortly before the ship was to sail around Santa Catalina Island with 400 of the sailors' wives, children and sweethearts aboard.
"Sorry, folks," Capt. Jay S. Howell announced. "We can't see to sail."
The visiting continued all day anyway.

"That's all, brother."

Earl Moved by Sentiment Hope's Viet Tour Aroused

By EARL WILSON.
DA NANG, Vietnam—It was a holiday spirit I'll never forget. First, the explosions of laughter for the Bob Hope gags and the whistles for the shapely girls.

Then a great khaki wave of some 16,000 GIs extending as far as I could see... standing bareheaded on a hillside on a sunny afternoon... singing "Silent Night" with Barbara McNair... many of them, especially the wounded in hospital outfits, gulping back a tear.

Twenty-year-old Miss World (Madeleine Hargobel of Peru) cried openly, and later came near collapse on a tour of a hospital ship at sea, not a wounded GI, but a critically sick civilian child.

Bob Hope's Christmas troupe of 63 people had brought a cargo of laughs here to "Big D" which, somebody says, "has wall-to-wall airstrips"... but there was an underlying seriousness as we rehearsed at the Hotel Erawan in Bangkok.

"It will be a 2½-hour flight into Vietnam. For security reasons we do not let where we are going. It is not safe to stray from your group..."

"What if you want to go to the bathroom?" Bob Hope quipped. "Do you have to take a general with you?"

It was Da Nang that we were bound for—in a pro-driven C-130... what an awesome sight for a civilian... an incredible amount of hardware... oceans and oceans of young GI faces.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL IN N.Y.

Xavier Cugat's wife (and vocalist) Charo stormed offstage at the Paramount Steak Pit when the audience was noisy. But Cugie went after her and sweet-talked her into finishing the show... Jackie Kennedy and the children, heading for a vacation in Antigua, will extend their stay till Jan. 7... Producer Joe Levine says the best review of "The Graduate" wasn't from a critic, but from his accountant, who said: "Joe, it's a money-maker!"

Tammy Grimes' Christmas gift to her sheep dog, a Persian lamb wool blanket... Eddie Fisher'll fly to Mexico to ask Budd Schulberg to do the screenplay of "The Man"... Sean Connery's learning to ride a horse, for a western he'll make in Spain... Ava Gardner's begun filming "Mayerling"—playing assassin Omar Sharif's mother.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Jackie Vernon gave his son $25 for Christmas, with a word of advice: "Spend it right away—soon it'll be worth only $20."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Comic Pat Cooper recalls the people in his home town were starved for entertainment: "They'd even applaud a guy trying on a hat."

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "A boy's voice changes when he becomes a man. A girl's voice changes when she becomes a wife."

EARL'S PEARLS: Mayor Lindsay's problem with City Hall aides quitting or being fired is getting serious—it's breaking up his touch football team.

Rodney Dangerfield mentioned some relatives: "Their kids are so ugly that in the family album they just keep negatives..."

That's all, brother.

Pontiac Plagued by Tax Question

By BOB WISLER
Will Pontiac have an income tax in 1968? This is a question that has been hanging over the city for the past six months. Today it is still unresolved.

The ordinance enacted by city commissioners in early October calls for tax collections to begin Jan. 1. But at this point it doesn't appear that collections will begin then, and it's more likely they won't begin until July, if then.

It now appears that the answer lies in the deliberations and decision of Circuit Court Judge William J. Beer.

City District Gets 1 School Center

Pontiac and Royal Oak school districts have been designated as sites for the first two of Oakland County's four vocational education centers.

Oakland Schools Intermediate District Board of Education yesterday authorized its superintendent, Dr. William J. Emerson, to enter into contracts with the two districts.

Local districts will operate the centers with funds from Oakland Schools.

The voter-approved centers are expansions of high school vocational education programs.

Emerson was also given board approval to enter into contracts with Walled Lake Consolidated and Clarkston Community districts for the second two centers, contingent on the receipt of state funds.

WALLED LAKE, CLARKSTON

Vocational centers are planned to open in the Pontiac and Royal Oak districts in September 1969, and in Walled Lake and Clarkston in September 1970.

Contracts with Walled Lake and Clarkston depend on Oakland Schools receiving $1.3 million in matching funds from the state. The state reportedly has promised the money.

Centers in Pontiac and Royal Oak will be the largest of the four.

School boards of the four districts now will have to approve the contracts before centers are built.

ADMINISTRATORS SOUGHT

Oakland Schools administrators were authorized by the board to search for the top administrators for the centers—home economics, business and distributive education, industrial and cooperative education and curriculum consultants.

A budget of $3.4 million for vocational education for fiscal 1968-69 was presented to the board but not acted upon. It includes funds for construction and salaries.

Costs of construction and equipment for the four centers has been estimated at $6.4 million.

The income tax issue has taken some tortuous turns during the past year and its presence in Circuit Court is just one of the latest.

City officials foresaw a need for additional revenue in 1968 early this year, but it wasn't until the tax advisory election in September that city commissioners decided definitely on an income tax.

PREFERENCE SHOWN

Voters showed a preference for an income tax — accompanied by a property tax cut — instead of more property taxes, by a 2-1 margin.

The income tax ordinance was challenged when a group of income tax foes two weeks ago filed enough petitions to force a referendum vote — allowed under the city charter and state election laws.

Now the validity of the petitions requesting the election are being challenged, ostensibly by two residents who are city employees, a fireman and a police officer.

The attorney for the plaintiffs also is the attorney for the Pontiac Police Officers Association. Both the police organization and the local firefighters' union are vitally interested in the tax the income tax, police officers and firefighters will suffer.

'IMPROPER PETITIONS'

In a suit filed Tuesday they charged that the petitions are not proper and asked the court to restrain the city from holding a referendum election.

If the election is set the city would be prevented, under state law, from collecting income taxes until July, pending the results of the election.

The court has issued a temporary restraining order, but how long this will remain in effect is in doubt.

It is possible that the judge would rule that the petitions do not comply with the form demanded by the city charter and state election law.

PROVISIONS UNCLEAR

However, the language and provisions of the charter and the election law are, like many such documents, unclear and seemingly ambiguous.

War Changes Viet Hill People

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is another in Hope, who is touring Southeast Asia a series of reports by comedian Bob einstein/U.S. servicemen.)

BY BOB HOPE

PLEIKU, Vietnam — As you can see by the dateline we went back home — back to Pleiku. We first went up to the central highlands four years ago. Camp Holloway, as it was called then, was a picturesque spot of a few huts and a couple of copters and a round or two of ammunition.

The whole base was so small you could cover it with one snap of your Instamatic. A couple of hundred men gathered around the truck to watch our medicine show. Afterwards they had a ceremony put on by the Montagnards or hill people.

The Montagnards are a fiercely independent group and are savage fighters. They have a very positive though primitive philosophy. They hate every other group in Vietnam — the Buddhists, the Catholics, the Chinese, the Communists, the nationalists, the Vietnamese, the lowlanders and the city folk.

The only people they like are the Montagnards who live over the hill. The Montagnards, however, like most of us, have learned that one must put up with certain social demands. A tattered group of them came to the show banging pots and pans and bamboo sticks like they'd seen in the "B" pictures. Then they staged a very unenthusiastic dance that was halfway between a lean and an outright stumble. After that we all took a sip of warm rice wine (there's nothing like it on an empty stomach) and they put friendship bracelets around our wrists.

The whole thing looked like a three-

STOLEN TRUCK — Detectives examine the scene where an armored truck was abandoned after thieves took it and $330,000 in it from in front of a Boardman, Ohio, department store. The bandits emptied the truck of all but $32,000 and fled, apparently in a getaway car.

Vehicle Taken in Ohio Theft Is Abandoned

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Thieves escaped with $301,000 in an armored truck yesterday by driving it out of a parking lot crowded with people while the two guards were in a department store.

The truck was found within 30 minutes abandoned about 1½ miles from the shopping area, in nearby Boardman, with $32,000 still inside. Police said the thieves switched the rest of the loot to a getaway car.

Authorities said someone evidently had a set of keys to open the truck doors that locked automatically when closed. There was no sign of forced entry into the Kane Secret Service Co. truck.

The two guards, Steve Sulik, 46, of Boardman and James Lockhart, 45, of Youngstown, were in the Almart Department Store "four or five minutes," according to Boardman Police Chief Don Hawkins.

"When they returned, the truck was gone."

SHOPPERS WATCH

Several witnesses outside the store said a man in uniform got into the truck and drove away. It was found in a wooded park area.

"They were certainly familiar with the operation," said Hawkins. "I would say it has every appearance of being an inside job."

The chief said the theft, largest in the collection of officials in the Youngstown area, was pulled by "two or three men."

Police said at least two keys were needed by the bandits — one to open the door on the driver's side and another for a side door to get the money.

BANK TRANSFER

The Kane truck was carrying money on a bank transfer and making pickups and deliveries at Boardman Plaza Shopping Center on U.S. 224. The truck then crossed the highway to the department store in another smaller shopping area.

Hawkins said the guards "loaded a three-wheel cart with coins to deliver to Almart's."

Weather Outlook: Light Snow, Cold

Light snow or snow flurries with less than an inch accumulation is the forecast for late today and tonight in the Pontiac area.

The weatherman predicts the mercury will dip to a low of 4 to 10 degrees tonight.

Tomorrow will be partly cloudy and cold with little change in temperature, the high reaching 18 to 25. Cloudy and cold with a chance of snow flurries is Saturday's outlook.

Precipitation probabilities in per cent are: Today 40, tonight and tomorrow 20. The low in downtown Pontiac prior to 8 a.m. was 16. By 12:30 p.m. the temperature had climbed to 25.

Denver Quake Link Is Probed

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Renewed interest is being focused on a deep well drilled at the Rocky Mountain Arsenal and any possible connection with a five-year series of earthquakes in the Denver area.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced a study is being made to determine if waste fluids standing in the deep—and now unused—well should be pumped out.

Denver had its heaviest earthquake last August, registering 5.5 on one Richter Scale and causing considerable property damage. Another jolt last month was nearly as severe. No injuries have resulted.

A Denver geologist, David M. Evans, has contended for more than two years that pumping of waste into the 12,000-foot well at the arsenal northeast of Denver triggered the earth shocks. Before that, quakes had been unknown in Colorado. Some scientists agree with Evans, but others are skeptical.

But this much is known: The well was completed in March 1962 and wastes from the manufacture of chemical weapons at the arsenal were pumped under high pressure into the well for disposal underground. Just a little more than one month later, the first quake ever measured on instruments in Denver occurred.

1,500 TREMBLORS

Since that April day more than 1,500 tremors have been recorded here, although most of these went unnoticed by the average citizen.

Evans, who is director of the Potential Gas Agency for the Mineral Resources Institute at the Colorado School of Mines, said the well was drilled into a stratum of extremely hard granitic rock.

"As fluids were flushed down the well from the arsenal, pressure built up in the rocks below," he said. "The forced-in liquids lubricated the rocks and caused them to shift and slide. As a result, we have earthquakes."

Arsenal officers point out that pumping of wastes into the well was stopped in February 1966 at the order of Army Engineers, yet the earth shocks continued.

Evans said despite this halt — and the U.S. Geological Survey agrees with him on this — waste fluids still are standing almost 11,000 feet deep in the well. He said this causes steady pressure on the shifting rocks below.

One who is skeptical of Evans' theory is Dr. Maurice Major of the Colorado Mines geophysical department and the school's seismologist. Major said, "After apparent evidence in the first four years, there was a lack of correlation between the well and the quakes in the last two years."

Evans said he feels "judicious lowering of the fluids" in the well by careful pumping would ease subterranean pressures. But Major said he fears that removal of the fluids from the well might cause even more severe quivering deep in the earth.

UAW Near Finish of GM Pact Vote

DETROIT (AP) — Some 380,000 members of the United Auto Workers are expected to complete ratification voting on a new three-year contract with General Motors tonight.

A union spokesman said Tuesday that GM workers are approving the contract by a five to one margin, with 83 per cent of the production workers who had voted favoring the contract and 79 per cent of the skilled tradesmen.

Craftsmen and production workers vote separately on the pact. Balloting is to be completed by midnight tonight, the spokesman said.

The contract parallels those ratified by 100,000 Chrysler workers and 160,000 Ford workers, and is expected to increase labor costs by roughly six per cent a year over the next three years.

Marines Battle Reds

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines battled a powerful Communist force today 20 miles south of Da Nang. A helicopter airlift landed a detachment of the 5th Marine Regiment in a muddy rice paddy that later seemed ringed by a battalion of the enemy—perhaps 500 men.

AP correspondent Kim Ki Sam reported in a dispatch from the area that virtually every helicopter that landed at Leathernecks and removed the wounded drew sniper and machine gun fire.

Wilson Sees '68 Hope

PENZANCE, England (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson predicted today that 1968 will be Britain's "year of opportunity" with a start on the long haul to prosperity.

Wilson said in an interview: "In the new economic situation we have the opportunity now to expand our production. It has to be a restrained increase, but this can lay the foundation for steady expansion year by year thereafter."

Investigations of violent crimes show a huge increase. Armed robbery is up 18 per cent over last year; aggravated assaults investigations have leaped 45 per cent. Forcible rape investigations and murder and manslaughter investigations, while showing a small numerical increase, reveal staggering percentage increases.

Police investigated nine murders or nonnegligent manslaughter cases last year, 11 for the first 11 months this year — a 22 per cent increase.

RAPE FIGURES

In the rape by force and attempted rape category, the number rose from eight in 19, a 137 per cent increase.

In addition, burglaries rose 38 per cent, larcenies 18 per cent and auto thefts 40 per cent.

The over-all index for major crimes shows a 32 per cent increase over last year, 2,441 incidents for the first 11 months of 1966 compared to 3,231 for this year.

Oakland County Prosecutor S. Jerome

Little Prostitution Found in City

Prostitution is not a major problem in Pontiac, according to a report issued yesterday by the American Social Health Association.

Harlan E. Raimo, regional director for the nonprofit organization, said that a four-day survey this month revealed that relatively little vice exists in the city.

The study was conducted by an investigator for the association on the request of the United States Public Health Service.

Raimo, who directs activities for the agency in 15 midwestern states, said the surveys are aimed at reducing incidences of venereal disease.

All information, including the names and addresses of prostitutes and procurers obtained by the investigator, have been turned over to the Pontiac Police Department, added Raimo.

'GOOD INDICATION'

He admitted that the study, because of the time involved, is not a thorough analysis of conditions, "but it gives a good indication of what is going on."

For the size of the city, the amount of prostitution and its accessibility, Pontiac was given the association's best rating, according to Raimo.

Bronson requested the statistical breakdown from the police department to formulate ideas for more effective law enforcement.

SPIRALING EFFECT

He suggested that the huge increases in the crime rate indicates a definite spiraling effect of crime and violence. The incidents of violence are creating a climate which is leading to more violence, he said.

The statistical breakdown for various categories:

- Murder and nonnegligent manslaughter — nine in 1966, 11 in 1967.
- Rape by force — four in 1966, 12 in 1967.
- Attempted rape — four in 1966, seven in 1967.
- Armed robbery — 190 in 1966, 225 in 1967.
- Robbery, strongarm with no weapon — 55 in 1966, 67 in 1967.
- Assault with a gun — 258 in 1966, 375 this year.

Ho One of Most Exasperating Figures in U.S. History

SAIGON (UPI) — A wisp of one of the most stable Communist governments ever formed in New York's Harlem has been enigmatic and exasperating figures to cross American history.

In those days, he was known by some of his friends as Nguyen Thanh, which means "he who will be victorious."

Today he calls himself Ho Chi Minh — "he who enlightens." He is president of North Vietnam, undisputed head of army extending into South Vietnam, Ho Chi Minh has fought and stayed put. But 1967 was a tough year for him.

2-WAY BOMBARDMENT

The United States bombed North Vietnam two ways during the past year — with bombs to try to drive the North Vietnam to the conference table, and with diplomatic notes and messages to try to persuade them to sit down and talk.

Since July 1965, according to official figures, U.S. warplanes

have dropped about 900,000 tons of bombs on North Vietnam, or about 100 pounds per person in the country.

In this year, step-by-step escalation hammered bridges, rail lines, power plants, steel and concrete factories, highways, and jet bases. Rivers were mined.

U.S. warships patrolled North Vietnam's shore line and unleashed bombardments of shells and rockets on coastal targets.

These are Ho's twilight years. He is nearing 78, and reports that he is in declining health.

IN RUNNING
There is no clearly defined line of succession in North Vietnam.

At least three men would appear to be in the running — Premier Pham Van Dong, Defense Minister Vo Nguyen Giap and Le Duan, first secretary of the Lao Dong (Communist) party's central committee.

The outlook for 1968 is more the same.

In normal times, North Vietnam in 1967 has to import four times as much as it sends out. Big steel and cement plants like Thai Nguyen no longer exist. Bombardment of power plants has blacked out or at least "browned out" other industries.

But that was before the U.S. bombing started. North Vietnam was fairly well off, with coal, iron and chromium for export.

A lot of people read slowly because they unconsciously "read out loud." Although there may be no visible movement of the jaw or lips when reading silently, there still may be activity of the speech muscles.

By the same estimate, North Vietnam by 1964 was exporting 17 million tons against 1 million tons of imports.

FRED ZITTEL

Here's a Poll That Favors Gov. Romney

A poll taken by the senior civics class at Pontiac Central High shows Gov. Romney leading as the favored Republican nominee for 1968.

Escalation of the Vietnam war is soundly favored and an open-housing ordinance for Pontiac was opposed in the most recent survey.

The Zittel Poll is named after Fred Zittel, and has been a senior class project for eight or nine years.

The poll is conducted while students are studying public opinion, and have studied other polls.

Students submit the questions, and Zittel picks the most interesting ones.

20 INTERVIEWS

Each pupil has to turn in 20 interviews. The sample is structured to include representative numbers of adults and teachers, males and females, ages, occupations and political preferences.

Before the students turn in their results, they must tabulate and analyze them for trends. They are graded on their efforts.

Here are the results of their most recent poll:

"At this time, who do you favor for the Republican nomination for president in 1968?"

George Romney 31.4%

Richard Nixon 25.5%

Nelson Rockefeller 9.6%

Charles Percy 8.0%

Ronald Reagan 8.0%

Foot Size Wins Court Verdict

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — "This man's feet are more than seven inches long," said the judge, and he awarded $9,272 to Denver detective Walter Radovich.

District Court testimony indicated Radovich was chasing a suspect down an alley when he stepped into an empty fence post hole, breaking his left leg.

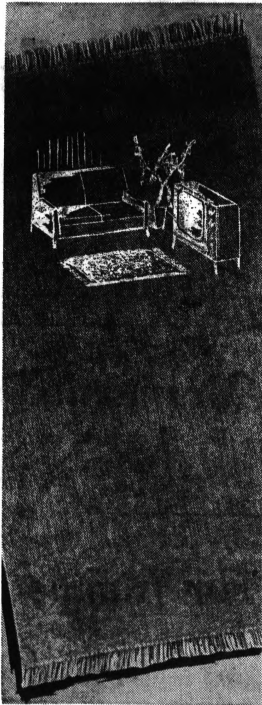

Attorneys for Mile High Fence Co., which had been installing a fence on property nearby, claimed the hole was not in the alley, but seven inches away from it. He could have been termed a "trespasser," they claimed.

But Judge Edward J. Keating ruled Wednesday the hole endangered persons using the alley and found the fence company negligent.

"This man's feet are more than seven inches long," he said. "He could have been standing in the alley with his feet still hanging over the hole."

To File for Funds

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — The City Commission in Grand Rapids has authorized filing an application for a $2.2-million federal loan for the Campau Commons 1 Housing project in the inner city and a $71,000 federal grant for a general neighborhood renewal plan for the southern portion of the downtown business district.

Commerce Secretary Sees 'New Wave of Prosperity'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Alexander B. Trowbridge predicted today a "new wave of prosperity" during 1968 with significant gains in employment, income, profits and purchasing power.

But he said his forecast depends on congressional enactment of President Johnson's proposed 10 per cent income tax surcharge, a measure Trowbridge said would keep the economy on an even keel "so that we can continue to grow."

He also urged both labor and management to show restraint in seeking higher wages and prices.

"Inflation breeds more inflation," he said. "If there are excessive wage and price increases in 1968, the chances are much greater for more wage and price pressures in 1969."

'NOT WANTED'
"The longer an atmosphere of fast-rising wages and prices persists, the tougher the measures that will be needed to keep them in check," he added. "And I want to assure you that the last thing we in government want is wage and price controls."

He made the remarks in a talk prepared for a meeting of the American Marketing Association.

Egypt Starts Suez Survey

CAIRO (AP) — The Egyptian government has started surveying the bottom of the Suez Canal to find out what sunken obstacles must be removed to free 15 foreign ships trapped in the waterway since the Arab-Israeli war last June, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahran reported today.

No time limit has been set for the operation.

SUNKEN SHIP
Obstacles that must be cleared include at least one sunken ship, the Egyptian oil tanker Magid, and several unidentified objects that accumulated during the fighting.

Trial of Man in '43 Killing Shifted Here

BAY CITY (UPI)—Bay County Circuit Judge John Tyler agreed yesterday to shift the murder trial of John Woos, 45, to Pontiac on grounds the 24-year-old case had received too much publicity in Bay County.

Tyler granted a defense motion for a change of venue, and tentatively scheduled the trial for Jan. 16 at Pontiac.

Oakland County authorities asked Tyler to continue to preside over the case after it moved to Pontiac, the judge said.

Tyler also granted a motion to suppress physical evidence in the case, on grounds the evidence was obtained by illegal search and seizure. He delayed a ruling on another defense motion seeking suppression of admissions and confessions.

Woos confessed 24 years ago to the slaying of theater manager Floyd Ackerman during a robbery. He pleaded guilty to a murder charge, and was sentenced to life imprisonment.

NEW TRIAL WON
He won a new trial on grounds he did not have sufficient legal advice.

At the time Ackerman was slain, Woos was on parole on a second-degree murder conviction in Detroit.

The earliest Halloween celebrations were held by the Druids in the second century B.C., in honor of Samhain, Lord of the Dead.

Father Admits Killing His Four Daughters

JONESBORO, La. (AP) — A father who told neighbors he considered the world "too wicked" for his four little girls delivered their bodies to a funeral home Wednesday and said he had killed them.

The father, Earl Clinton Watson, a 31-year-old worker at a Jonesboro meat processing company, was taken to a mental hospital for observation and examination.

Tina Charmine, 9, and Karen Hope, 8, had been killed with a 30-06-caliber rifle. Margaret Wendy, 5, and Faith Erlene, 3, had been strangled.

Townpeople said Watson frequently announced that the "world is too wicked a place for my kids to grow up in." He had talked of studying for the ministry.

PRETENDED VISIT
Watson told his wife, Margaret Ann Watson, Wednesday morning that he was taking the four girls to visit his mother.

Later he drove to the funeral home, woned by Mrs. E. L. Edmonds.

"I didn't know anything was wrong," Mrs. Edmonds said. "He appeared calm. I asked if I could help him."

She quoted Watson as saying, "I've had an accident. I've killed my babies."

He sat quietly in the waiting room until officers arrived. He was dressed in slacks and a sports jacket.

SHOOK HANDS
"He didn't have anything to say after that," Mrs. Edmonds said. "When the sheriff walked in, he shook hands with him and they talked a few minutes across the hall. Afterwards, they walked out together and were killed there.

Watson was discharged from Central State Hospital in Pineville six weeks ago after undergoing psychiatric treatment. He was taken to the East Louisiana State Hospital in Jackson for treatment and observation. He will remain there until the next grand jury convenes, probably in March.

No charges were filed.

Friends and neighbors said he recently showed signs of deep depression.

Funeral services for the little girls were set for this afternoon at the Southside Baptist church in Jonesboro, which Watson attended.

The services will be conducted by the Rev. J. W. Kennedy, one of two ministers at the church. He was overcome emotionally at the deaths and at first thought that he could not be present.

Why Grow Old ?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

A short time ago I printed a reminder to all husbands that column I had written many years ago, which a reader had sent it to me and asked that I reprint it. It was concerned with what a husband should know about his wife.

As a result of this I received letters from many husbands. Here is one of them.

Dear Mrs. Lowman, I have just read your article in today's paper concerning the 12 tips to husbands. I found it quite stimulating. I feel that every husband should read them, know them, and put them into practice to improve his relationship with his wife and make their marriage really wonderful.

You can infer from what I have said that my goal in life is to make it as happy and rewarding as possible. I think this starts at home, although unfortunately many others do not seem to think so.

I want to thank you for printing that article. It serves as a reminder to me. I don't know what he sees in her. She is downy like a fox, but not really, because she sincerely feels that way.

Men like a little peace and quiet, a warm welcome when they first return home in the late afternoon from work. They are aware that their wife may have had her problems too, and want to help, but not the first minute they stick their head in the door.

Men hate nagging (who doesn't?) and also, highly emotional conversations. Usually, a man will be willing to talk about a problem reasonably a day later but not in the heat of emotion. Actually, about half the time or more the wife will find that it isn't worth talking about anyway, after she has cooled off.

Most men are not attracted to overweight, but they prefer a few curves to bones. They are attracted to vitality and aliveness in a woman but seldom enjoy having their wife the life of the party. They like a woman who is natural, not putting on an act. They appreciate a little thoughtfulness or an unexpected gift just as a woman does.

An early May wedding is planned by Linda Quick and Robert S. Akroyd. Parents of the engaged couple are the M. L. Quicks of Orchard Lake and Dr. and Mrs. Cecil Akroyd of Bloomfield Hills. Miss Quick's fiancé is a graduate of Heidelberg College.

The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. H. J. Campbell of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the late James A. Bradley.

Decrease in Year's Highway Toll Seen

EAST LANSING (AP) — State police forecast a reduction in Michigan traffic deaths this year, the first in six years.

The annual highway toll is projected to be 2,075 deaths, a decrease of 221 or almost 10 per cent from the record high of 2,296 in 1966.

The last drop in fatalities was in 1961, when the count of 1,567 cast at 105,500, a drop of about 6,100 and expected to be the first decrease in nine years.

State Police travel is expected to reach 23.4 million miles, about 15.6 million miles on traffic patrol.

State Police this year started a limited program of motor vehicle inspection, authorized by the Legislature. Police also joined other law agencies in November in enforcing Michigan's new implied consent law involving checking suspected drinking drivers.

The year saw the start of operation of a Michigan law enforcement information network. The central equipment at State Police East Lansing headquarters provides record checks on such items as stolen cars and wanted persons.

LA Is Without a Mayor Today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — This city of almost three million people is without a mayor today.

Mayor Samuel W. Yorty is vacationing in Acapulco, Mexico. The acting mayor, City Council President L. E. Timberlake, was due in Las Vegas, Nev., and the third man in line, Council President Pro Tem John S. Gibson Jr., is vacationing in Boston. The city charter doesn't provide for an acting mayor beyond those three.

Car Insurer Sets Rebates

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's declining traffic accident rate will bring a 10 to 15 per cent dividend to policyholders insured by 55,000 cars and trucks, Farm Bureau Mutual announced Wednesday.

Farm Bureau Mutual, affiliated with Farm Bureau Life Insurance Co. of Michigan and Community Service Insurance Co., said dividends would be paid on all policies in force as of Dec. 21, 1967.

Dividend checks totaling some $300,000 will be mailed in mid-January, the company said. The dividend is the second within six months.

Are You on LBJ's List?

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you're one of the 25,000 people Lyndon B. Johnson really cares about, you may now have a copy of his book "No Retreat From Tomorrow."

The printers, A. Hoen and Co. Inc. of Baltimore said a run of 25,000 had been ordered. The Hoen people wouldn't talk about the expense involved but one official said the job "had to be perfect. Every little fly spot we had to take care of."

AN ART FAKE? — Beverly Hills art dealer Frank Perls paid a Berlin art dealer $7,600 for this statuette, which he says he later found to be a fake. The 14-inch bronze sculpture bears the name of Alberto Giacometti, a Swiss-born artist who was a pioneer of modern art.

Materiel Firm Fire Kills Girl

GOODYEAR, Ariz. (AP) — Fire flashed through a plant making munitions, killing one person and burning another seriously, in one of two fires in the nation Wednesday in munitions plants.

One man was killed and 15 injured in a fire and explosion at a Hanover, Mass., plant that manufactures antipersonnel mines for use in Vietnam.

The fire at this Phoenix suburb occurred in a small building housing a mortar shell assembly room, about 30 feet from the main plant of Unidynamics, Inc. The building remained intact.

A company spokesman said only two persons were in the building when the blaze went through it. He declined to say what was manufactured in that building.

SECURITY
Guards restrained photographers from taking pictures and kept newsmen behind an eight-foot fence.

Carolyn Joyce Miller, 19, was killed and Cirilo Almanza, 23, was critically burned.

The plant, a division of Universal Match Corp., produces explosive compounds for weapons used in Vietnam, and components for missiles and aircraft. Opened in 1963 at a cost of more than $1 million, it employs about 500 persons.

At Hanover, Ralph Garrett, the Massachusetts state fire marshal, said that blast was caused by "human error."

Howard Chute, 20, of Marshfield, Mass., was killed at Hanover.

Food Stamp Project Continues to Grow

WASHINGTON (AP) — Orange and blue bills that look like play money are helping 2.6 million needy Americans buy nearly $1 million worth of food every day.

Known as food stamps, they'll be circulating by July 30 in 1,200 areas of 43 states and Washington, D.C., including eight of the nation's 10 most populous cities.

Backers of the stamp program call it the most promising approach yet to the goal of putting better food on the poor man's table without making it a handout.

Nobody gets food stamps for free. The poor pay for them, swapping cash for stamps worth many dollars more.

COLD-BLOODED
Some find it a little cold-blooded that the government extracts money from those it professes to help.

But Congress shows its approval by giving the Agriculture Department a bigger budget for stamps every year—$185 million for the current fiscal year, up from $116.3 million last year.

"We've got to get away from this idea of giving the poor everything we think they need," said Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., the stamp program's best friend on Capitol Hill. "In this program the people are taught how to spend their money," she said. "As little as it is, they learn to budget it."

THROUGH 1950s
Mrs. Sullivan and others badgered the Eisenhower administration for a stamp program through much of the 1950s. It had too much of a welfare state aroma about it to suit Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Exit Eisenhower in 1961, and with him Benson. Enter President John F. Kennedy, determined to have stamps.

Kennedy's first executive order was to establish a pilot program in a handful of cities. Congress put it on a formal continuing basis in 1964.

A shopper armed with books of stamps, signed on the back so no one else can use them, can buy just about anything on the grocer's shelves so long as it's food and—with the exception of coffee, tea, cocoa and bananas—American-grown.

Train Derails in S. Illinois; 3 Are Injured

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP) — Eight cars of the Illinois Central Railroad's Panama Limited-Magnolia Star derailed south of Carbondale late Wednesday night, injuring three persons, one seriously.

The rest of an estimated 150 passengers who had left Chicago Wednesday afternoon were able to resume their trip to New Orleans within three hours after the midnight accident.

Among the uninjured passengers were William B. Johnson, Illinois Central president, and O. H. Zimmerman, the line's vice president and general manager.

FEW ARE HURT
"We were very fortunate that more people weren't injured," said Harry B. Coonce, IC division superintendent at St. Louis. The cause of the derailment was not immediately learned.

Time to Pay the Bills

Budget Appraisal Due

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK — For every American in these post-Christmas days the time has come to pay the bills, financial, moral, ethical. Anguish replaces merriment as reality raises its head in every house, the White House included.

This year's recognition of human frailty, or matching early hopes against ultimate accomplishments, is usually accompanied by an agonizing confrontation with conscience, from which there is no release except in resolutions to do better. No body, not even a king or president, is exempted.

President Lyndon Johnson undoubtedly is now undergoing this self-appraisal in preparation for his mid-January economic and budget messages, which involve problems of a magnitude unknown by ordinary men.

Looking back, Johnson will find that his assessment of national problems, as expressed in his economic message early this year, was quite accurate. But the problems quite often eluded the prescribed solutions.

HOPES SOUR
On page 25 of the 1967 "Economic Report of the President" are 14 consecutive lines that show that the hopes of certain President of the United States, with all the resources at his command, sometimes sour in frustration.

"Neither the threat of inflation nor of recession is ever distant in a high level of certainty," Johnson stated. Since both threatened in 1967, this assessment was right on the mark.

What followed was a question that was then rhetorical and which the President felt certain he had the answers. But, in terms of today's economic and social ills, a note of exasperation can be read into the question.

"How can we steer between these dangers," Johnson asked, "and at the same time supply the needs of national defense, strengthen our overseas position, relieve the inequities of light money and high interest rates, maintain the momentum of social progress, and provide growth of incomes..."

The same question can be asked today, for it remains the dominant one of the big problems of this administration.

But, one year ago when Johnson was marking out this route, he was full of hope. "I am confident that we can find such a course," he said. "We will continue to coordinate the tools of monetary and fiscal policy..."

He needs no further in that paragraph to realize that hope itself must have fallen upon the shoals. The inability to exercise fiscal policy, perhaps through indecision but mostly because a doubling Congress turned down a tax increase, was a failure for the administration.

"We are steering toward lower interest rates," the President continued in this statement made last January, "a better balance in our economy, a budget and a Social Security program that reflect national priorities."

Priority rates are now at all-time highs. The economy hardly can be called balanced. And some economic analysts claim that more than a few of Johnson's financial promises have come from an absence of spending priorities.

To judge an administration solely on the basis of hopes it expressed a year earlier would be unfair. A president must have hopes high, and the resolutions made by Johnson were mighty hopes anyway.

In addition, the administration has a long list of accomplishments as well as frustrations, not the least of which is the maintenance of the world's highest level of material wealth.

Nevertheless, every American, mighty as he is, is now going through the same ordeal as one year ends and another begins.

SURPRISES IN STORE
Perhaps the wisest statement made in that economic message back in January was "There will be surprises in store along the way."

The statement was accurate in all respects.

2 Firms Agree on Purchase
PALMYRA, N.Y. — Alling-Lander Co., Inc., of Sodas, N.Y., and C.A. Lock Inc., have entered into an agreement whereby Alling-Lander will acquire the stock and related business of Alling-Lander.

The purchase price is reported to be in excess of $1 million. The transaction involves stock and cash.

The Precision Seal Division of Garlock, Inc. (formerly the Michigan Precision Molded Division) has manufacturing facilities at Gastonia, N.C., and marketing and engineering headquarters at 2175 W. Maple, Walled Lake.

Successful Investing
By ROGER E. SPEAR
Q — We are retired and own Santa Fe Ry., Iowa Public Service, Columbia Gas, and Wellington Fund. Our investment in stocks now reflects a paper loss of around $2,800, yet the purpose of buying was to have a steady income. What has happened and what should we do?

A — You bought good stocks, strong and safe, and regards dividends, but they do not necessarily qualify as inflation hedges. You must first understand, if I may say so, that stocks are not necessarily a short-term hedge against dollar devaluation, because of market fluctuations. Issues which move ahead faster in earnings and price than the dollar is depreciating should supply long-term protection over a period of five to 10 years. Your stocks have made little price progress for a long time, since they are not strongly situated for growth. Wallace Race Gets GOP Eye

2 Senators Differ on 3rd-Party Impact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The two top-ranking Senate Republicans are at odds over what effect a third-party candidacy by former Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace would have on the 1968 presidential race.

Meanwhile Wallace, an applicant in his drive to qualify for the California presidential ballot reportedly has targeted Ohio for a similar campaign.

IKE DENIAL
And former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, indirectly quoted by the New York Times as supporting Michigan Gov. George Romney was too indecisive to be President, denied ever making such a statement.

These were Wednesday's political developments:

• In Los Angeles, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., GOP Senate whip, predicted Democrats would lose far more votes than Republicans if Wallace qualifies as a 1968 presidential candidate.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, in Los Angeles to serve as grand marshal of the Tournament of Roses, told newsmen he feels a Wallace candidacy would cut equally into both parties' ranks.

In Columbus, Ohio, a Wallace spokesman said the former governor plans to visit the Buckeye State Jan. 5-10 to plot strategy aimed at qualifying for the presidential ballot there.

Two members of Wallace's campaign staff in Montgomery, Ala., said they knew nothing of such plans, however.

State election officials said earlier this week Wallace apparently has succeeded in getting enough Californians to register with his American Independent party to qualify for the presidential ballot in the nation's most populous state.

In Concord, N.H., meanwhile, a spokesman for a state organization supporting President Johnson disclosed plans for a drive to get write-in votes for Johnson in the state's March 12 presidential primary.

Parking Is Cut at Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — This note for 65,000 football fans expected to travel by car to the Rose Bowl game New Year's Day:

There will be only 15,500 parking spaces now that 6,138 other spots have been eliminated.

The 6,138 parking areas were on Brookside Golf Course, where the Los Angeles tournament begins Jan. 25. In order to prevent damage to the course, parking won't be allowed there.

Police are urging game-goers to come by bus or park far from the stadium—or walk.

The game will match South Carolina and Indiana.

Quickie Marriage Will Soon Cost Santa's Mail

MORE IN NEVADA

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — It will cost a little more to obtain a "quickie" marriage or divorce in Nevada, beginning Jan. 1.

The state, which ranked fifth in the country last year in marriage licenses, has a new law requiring county clerks to collect $1 more for marriage licenses. The additional levy also applies to divorce and annulment decrees. The marriage fee jumps to $6.

Nevada does not require a waiting period or blood test for marriages. Last year 86,335 couples were married in the state, which has an estimated 500,000 population. There were 9,615 divorce decrees.

The larceny of two speakers valued at $724 from the dance hall at Elizabeth Lake Estates Improvement Association, 740 Lakeside, Waterford Township, was reported to township police yesterday.

Ticker Tape Runs Late

Active Stock Market Is Lower

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market was lower in active trading early today.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average was off 0.81 at 10:30 a.m.

The ticker tape on the New York Stock Exchange ran three minutes late. Prices were mixed. Gains held only a slight edge over losses.

Burroughs was down 2 1/4. IBM and Polaroid each gained 1/4. General Dynamics was off 1/4.

The market dip followed the late Wednesday action of the Federal Reserve bank in raising required bank reserves against demand deposits.

Brokers said they still were not sure what effect, if any, the move would have on stock prices over the long run. But some pointed out that the Federal Reserve action did end speculation.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Bell Electric and Zapata were off 1/4 while Falcon Seaboard and Plume & Atwood were up 1/4. Data Processing was off 5/4 at 111.

Prices were mixed on the American Stock Exchange. Bell Electric and Zapata were off 1/4 while Falcon Seaboard and Plume & Atwood were up 1/4. Data Processing was off 5/4 at 111.

The market dip followed the late Wednesday action of the Federal Reserve bank in raising required bank reserves against demand deposits.

Brokers said they still were not sure what effect, if any, the move would have on stock prices over the long run. But some pointed out that the Federal Reserve action did end speculation.
