McCarthy Censure Row May Be Ended Quietly if New Resolution Is Accepted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill) said today a substitute for a resolution to censure Sen. McCarthy has been "shaped" in an effort to compromise the bitter fight over the Wisconsin Republican's conduct.

Dirksen declined to disclose the nature of the substitute. He would not say whether he had discussed it with McCarthy.

There have been persistent reports that McCarthy's friends were working on a resolution which, while combining some mild criticism with some words of praise, would prove acceptable to a majority of senators.

It would be offered in place of the resolution of censure unanimously recommended by a special committee of three Republican and three Democratic senators after nine days of public hearings earlier in the fall.

That committee, accused by McCarthy of acting like the "unwitting handmaiden" of the Communist party, said he had shown contempt for a Senate elections subcommittee that investigated his finances in 1951-52 and had abused its members.

It also recommended that he be rebuked on the ground that he abused Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker, a decorated combat veteran, in questioning him at a one-man hearing last Feb. 18 and calling him unfit to wear the uniform of a general.

McCarthy has predicted he will be censured.

Dirksen said he would not offer the substitute resolution until members of the special committee have finished statements about the censure case.

Chairman Watkins (R-Utah) and Sen. Case (R-SD) already have spoken.

McCarthy indicated yesterday he would not adopt a suggestion by Case that he apologize for what he had said about the elections subcommittee.

"If I were doing everything over today," he said in reference to the elections subcommittee, "I would not do it any differently."

The day's debate wound up, however, with McCarthy renewing his accusations that the elections subcommittee had acted illegally and improperly and complaining that Watkins refused to let him bring out evidence to that effect at the censure group's hearings.

As McCarthy challenged the select committee's procedures, Watkins exclaimed in exasperation: "I wonder sometimes if I'm on trial." He said McCarthy always manages to turn trials of himself into trials of somebody else.

MONTREAL TRAIN DERAILED—One woman was killed and at least 19 persons were injured today when this Boston and Maine train was derailed shortly before stopping at the station in Nashua, N. H. on the run from Montreal to Boston.

8-Car Red Wing Skids Off Rails in New England

Diesel-Engine Flyer Cracks Up En Route to Boston From Montreal

NASHUA, N. H. (AP)—The crack Montreal-Boston overnight train Red Wing jumped the tracks just north of the Nashua station early today killing one woman and injuring 19 persons.

Six sections of the eight-car train overturned and a mailcar was upended, its wheels in the air.

The dead woman was identified by police as Mrs. Mary Buckley, 47, of Manchester, N.H. Her body was trapped in the wreckage of one of the coaches.

The first of two diesel locomotives halted about 30 feet north of the station after ramming an express truck. The second diesel tipped over.

The coaches and baggage cars were scattered over the four lanes of tracks completely tying up traffic which had to be rerouted from Manchester, N.H., and Lawrence, Mass.

O. C. Hardy, New Hampshire superintendent of the Boston & Maine Railroad, described the accident as a "general derailment."

Most of those taken to Memorial and St. Joseph hospitals suffered minor injuries. Among them was Katherine Buckley, 11, daughter of the dead woman.

The train crashed into two parked freight cars on a parallel track and pushed them through the wall of the Johns Manville Co. warehouse opposite the station.

The accident occurred at about 5:30 a. m., Arthur Furbush, 55, of Boxboro, Mass., a trainman, said: "I just stepped into the baggage car when it happened. We were rolling all around in there."

Mail clerk Lester Hyde of Medford, Mass., said: "There was an awful lot of noise. Five or six of us in the mail car were tossed

Vishinsky Gives Answer to Ike

Russian Replies Today on the Atoms-for-Peace Proposal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Russia's Andrei Vinshinsky makes his long-awaited reply to President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace proposal today amid reports the Soviet Union would give conditional support to the program.

In advance of Vishinsky's address to the U.N. Assembly's top Political Committee, diplomats who have been privately sounding out the Russians predicted the chief Soviet delegate would:

1. Agree to join the international atomic agency proposed by Eisenhower, provided various Soviet specifications are met.

2. Spell out just what sort of international agency the Soviets favor.

3. Accept a Western bid to help arrange an international scientific conference to meet next year as part of the Eisenhower program.

Some observers felt Russia's current policy of moderation and international harmony would deter them from setting up insurmountable conditions.

Others recalled, however, that the Russians have been insisting ever since Eisenhower unveiled his plan before the U.N. Assembly last December that any international atomic agency should be under the Security Council, in which the Soviets hold veto power.

The United States wants the agency set up as a veto-free group affiliated with the U.N., with its own budget and constitution.

The proposed agency would serve as an international clearing house for certain atomic materials and information.

Seagulls Roost on Ellis Island Since Closing

Unlike the 20,000,000 immigrants who had to wait on the island a day, a week, or even months and years while the U. S. government decided whether to let them in, the seagulls will come and go as they please.

The U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service has completed an orderly and somewhat nostalgic retreat from the island in New York harbor which for 62 years stood as America's gateway for aliens from every country on the map.

For the time being at least the island and its 27 buildings will be vacant.

Signs around the corridors and dormitories give directions in English, German, Italian, Polish and Spanish, but there is no one around to read them. A completely-equipped kindergarten stands empty and quiet.

Reduced immigration quotas and streamlined processing of aliens has eliminated the need for the island detention center. Would-be immigrants now get most of their screening, and do their waiting in their native country.

Miss Michigan Leads Hunt for Game Tickets

A group of Michigan State College students, led by Miss Jan Somers, Miss Michigan of 1954, were in Grand Rapids yesterday to get their tickets for the game.

Ike Out Hunting Lake Erie Ducks Today at Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — President Eisenhower took a "breather" from government business today to hunt ducks on Lake Erie with Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

"We should have pretty good luck if it doesn't rain," Humphrey remarked with an anxious look at the skies as the President arrived here late yesterday.

The chief executive flew in from Kansas, where earlier in the day at his boyhood hometown of Abilene he didicated a $325,000 Eisenhower Memorial Museum "to the future citizens of a great and glorious America."

The President and Humphrey were staying at the secluded Cedar Point Club on Lake Erie marshland about 14 miles east of Toledo.

Foreign Stock Plan Wins OK

U.S. Agrees to Support $100 Million Investment Agency Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Under increasing pressure from needy nations for a greater flow of American investment dollars, the government has agreed to back a 100-million-dollar international investment agency.

The decision, announced late yesterday, reverses a policy of opposition to the idea of years' standing.

The move was expected to get British cooperation, and to raise a round of cheers from capital-hungry nations of the free world whose peoples are demanding a living standard nearer to that of the United States.

Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey cautioned that the venture would be an experiment "subject to review from time to time." He said the administration would submit the plan to Congress as soon as details have been worked out.

Power Dispute May Continue

Dixon-Yates Quiz Ends Amid Signs of Further Controversy in '55-'56

WASHINGTON (AP)—Atomic Energy Committee members gathered for a windup public session on the Dixon-Yates contract today amid fresh signs the dispute over the private power project will boil over into the new 84th Congress.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House group, said he hoped to finish open hearings on the contract, finally signed yesterday, with further testimony from top Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) officials.

Tomorrow, he said, the legislators may be called into closed session to decide whether to grant a quick go-ahead on the project as President Eisenhower has asked.

On tap for questioning today were AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, AEC General Manager K. D. Nichols, acting Comptroller General Frank H. Weitzel and R. W. Cook, the AEC's acting assistant general manager for manufacturing.

Cook signed the contract for the AEC yesterday after the commissioners approved it 3-0 with some last-minute changes aimed at making its terms more favorable to the government.

Signing for the private utility, the Mississipi Valley Generating Co., was Edgar H. Dixon, whose Middle South Utilities Inc. and the Southern Co., headed by E. A. Yates, created Mississippi Valley to carry out the contract.

Dixon and Yates said in a joint statement they had entered into the contract at the suggestion of the administration, and that "the possible earnings are too small to make it attractive as a usual business venture."

Three in Parked Car Killed by Exhaust Gas

CLARE (UP)—Three men died of carbon monoxide gas poisoning while parked in an automobile with a defective muffler, State Police reported.

The victims were identified as Claude Gantz, 48; Charles Furman, 45, and Randale Dougherty, 34, all of Clare.

State Police said the men were overcome while sitting in the car which was parked in front of Dougherty's home in the village of Clare. Their bodies were discovered shortly after 7 a.m.

It was not immediately determined how long the men had been parked in front of Dougherty's home.

State Police from Mount Pleasant who investigated the case said they found that the car's muffler was defective and permitted the monoxide fumes to seep into the car.

Reveals Promise by Eisenhower for Second Term

AKRON, Ohio, (AP)—The Akron Beacon Journal said today President Eisenhower has promised Republican leaders to run for re-election in 1956.

This promise was made, said the newspaper, at a highly secret meeting at the White House shortly after the election. The article did not specify the date nor name any of the party leaders at this meeting.

"At the meeting, party leaders told the President the party would be without leadership if the President decided to retire.

"Party leaders attributed the GOP loss of the House and Senate to more than just the traditional off year election losses."

The story of this meeting, said Mann, was obtained from a person very close to the President.

Mann also stated that: "Several members of the President's personal staff will be replaced soon with persons skilled in the art of practical politics."

This definitely, however, will not include presidential assistant Sherman Adams, he wrote. Adams, he said, will continue on as an extremely important member of the President's advisory staff.

TOKYO (AP)—A stationmaster on Japan's northern island of Hokkaido has asked the Tokachi-Shiboro Railroad to insure his life for $2,800. Every day going to work, he explained, he walks past bear caves.

Baby Drowns After Falling Into Bucket of Rinse Water

A six-month-old Orion Township boy drowned yesterday when he accidentally tumbled head first into a bucket of rinse water next to his bed while his mother was outside hanging up diapers.

The child, Gordon R. McMaster Jr., was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon R. McMaster Sr., who live in a converted school bus at 970 W. Clarkston Rd.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. H. F. Stahl, deputy Oakland County coroner.

The child's mother, Eleanora, 23, told Lake Orion Patrolman Neal Leonard she had been watching the baby take his bottle while she rinsed out diapers beside the bed. When the infant fell asleep, she stepped outside to hang up the wash.

When she returned, she found Gordon, an only child, head first in the 12-quart pail. Efforts of Lake Orion firemen to revive him were futile.

The baby's 25-year-old father brought his family to live in the converted bus two months ago. Previously he had been a truck driver in Flint.

He is employed at a builders supply company in Oxford.

The bus-home is parked behind a model home in the Sunset Hills subdivision at Clarkston and Sunset Rds. The elder McMaster's father, Kenneth, is a bulldozer operator at the project and arranged for the unique home.

Funeral service will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday at Allen's Funeral Home, Lake Orion, with burial in East Lawn Cemetery.

Surviving besides the parents and the grandfather are two other grandparents, Mrs. Robert Reahd of Sandusky and Glenn Rayner of Davison.

Michigan Dems Draw Up Policy

New Administration and McNamara Seek More Schools, Highways

LANSING (AP) — The newly elected Democratic state administration and U.S. Sen.-elect Partick V. McNamara have agreed to "work hand-in-hand at state and national levels" for more prosperity, schools and highways.

That summarizes discussions at the first "cabinet" meeting of the seven Democrats who were elected to state and federal offices in the Nov. 2 election sweep.

Gov. Williams said the group also had agreed to seek "efficiency, economy and reorganization" in state government.

McNamara said he would press in Congress for an immediate federal appropriation to help the states build highways.

He said promises of federal highway aid by the Eisenhower administration have not passed the talking stage.

McNamara also promised to work for federal school construction funds.

Two of the four new state officials, State Treasurer-elect Sanford A. Brown and Aud. Gen.-elect Victor Targonski said they were not ready to discuss their new offices in detail.

Secretary of State-elect James M. Hare said he thought a number of services in his agency should be shifted to others where they would fit better.

Atty. Gen.-elect Thomas M. Kavanagh said his policy would be to let local officials assume re-

Officer Testifies at Doctor's Trial

Found No Signs That Sheppard Home Was Entered by Window

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first police officer to enter the bedroom where Marilyn Sheppard lay slain said today he found no signs that anyone had entered from outside through a window.

Fred F. Drenkhan, a patrolman in suburban Bay Village, said only one of three bedroom windows was open when he inspected the room shortly after Mrs. Sheppard was clubbed to death on July 4.

The screen of that window was securely latched and there was dust on the window sill, the policeman testified. The other two windows were locked.

In previous testimony in the victims husband, Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, his defense attorneys had injected the possibility someone might have come into the murder room by climbing an apple tree at the rear of the home and entering through a window.

Shepard has maintained steadfastly that his wife was beaten to death by a bushy-haired intruder, and that he was "clobbered" unconscious when he tried to help her.

Drenkhan also said he found no evidence of a struggle in the bedroom at the lakefront home, but noted blood specks on all four walls and on a closet door.

"Were there any signs of entry whatsoever on any of the windows?" prosecutor Thomas J. Parrino asked.

"No," the witness replied.

The patrolman said there was a second bed in the room.

"What was the apearance of the second bed?" Parrino asked.

"It was open," the officer replied, "and there were specks of blood on the sheets.'

Parrino asked if there was any evidence that anyone had slept in the second bed.

"No," the witness replied, "it looked as if it had just been opened

The Day in Birmingham

Five-Community OK Spurs Evergreen Sewer Project

From Our Birmingham Bureau

BIRMINGHAM — Advantages of the proposed $2,740,000 Evergreen Interceptor Sewer appeared so obvious to area representatives meeting here yesterday that a resolution asking for further action was passed and will be forwarded to the Oakland County Drain Commissioner, City Manager Donald C. Egbert said today.

The project took a setback following last week's election when participation amounting to 62 per cent of the construction costs was threatened.

By a 4-3 margin, Southfield voters turned down a millage increase which would pay $1,703,557 as the township's share in the six-municipality undertaking.

With Troy Township absent, representatives from Birmingham, the City of Lathrup Village, Southfield Township, and both Bloomfield Hills and Township met with Milton Adams of the State Water Resources Commission.

It is the Water Resources Commission that has cited all but Troy for pollution of the Upper Rouge Valley, and has set a January deadline for remedial measures to be taken.

The resolution will point out that population in the area has increased 50 per cent since 1950. Egbert said, with the situation expected to become very critical unless corrective steps are taken.

It will be recommended that legal, engineering and financial consultant services be secured so that no further delays are incurred.

Egbert said Adams indicated that the usual policy of the Water Resources Commission would be followed if the stop-pollution order was not acted on.

The matter would be referred to the attorney general and then sent to the courts for action. The commission would then have no alternative than to investigate individual homes and other developments, correcting those which contribute to the pollution.

Septic tanks, Egbert pointed out, would be temporary, inconvenient and an added expense in the long run.

Egbert said William Roeser, Southfield supervisor, felt that the time element prevented the proper presentation of the problem to township residents prior to the election. He anticipated that a special election would be called for late in January or the first of February.

City commissioners this week approved construction of a brick shelter house for Eton Park, at an approximate cost of $8,500. Request came from the recreation board, which named the shelter the most urgent need for the recreation program.

The lawmakers also approved a contract giving the city part time planning director services. Planning Director Robert Boatman will now spend two weeks per month, plus one additional week a year, in Birmingham.

At other times he will work for Scott Bagby, Grand Rapids planning consultant, who has also worked for the city. Bagby, in turn, will be available here for 30 days a year and will attend at least six planning board meetings.

A public showing of the new feature-length film, "John Wesley," will be held here on Sunday, at 7:30 p.m. at the Embury Methodist Church, with a children's matinee scheduled for 3:30.

Produced by the Radio and Film Church, in cooperation with J. Arthur Rank, the motion picture was filmed in England and is in the new Eastman color. During its initial period the film is being released only to Methodist churches, the Rev. Reginald B. Becker explained.

It brings the colorful 18th century evangelist and educator to the screen for the first time, unfolding the story of his influence upon history.

The picture carries the English clergyman through his "failure" as a missionary to the Indians in the Georgia Colony of America, to the point where he sends supervisors for the movement in the new world, following the American Revolution.

Fred Hopkins Worked in Washington, D.C., for Forty Years

Fred Merriam Hopkins, 77, a retired patent officer died Wednesday at his home in Washington, D.C. following a six years illness.

Born in Romeo in 1877, he was married there in 1904 to Charlotte Scott. After his graduation from the University of Michigan in 1902, Mr. Hopkins entered the patent office in Washington the following year.

He later was graduated from the George Washington Law School, receiving degrees in both common and patent law.

In 1930 President Hoover appointed him assistant commissioner of patents. He served in that position for four years. When he retired in 1943, he was supervisory examiner of the patent office. Mr. Hopkins had been a member of the committee on enrollment and disbarment which supervised examinations for registrations of attorneys to practice before the patent office. He also conducted disbarment proceedings.

Fred Hopkins was a member of the Masonic Lodge in Romeo and of the Chevy Chase Methodist Church in Washington.

Richard Stinchfield of Hudson, N.H., a Johns Manville employe, said: "I rushed from the building and saw the cars toppled over on the left side. There were screams from the inside of the cars. With a group of men I boarded the train and carried the victims out."

Conductor of the train was H. J. Sanborn of Lebanon, N. H. Samuel Burns, 62, of Saugus, Mass., was the engineer, and J. P. LaFlamme, 64, of Nashua, the fireman.

The train was due at Nashua at 5:47 a.m. It jumped the tracks at the Bridge St. crossing just north of the station.

Wreckage was strewn over three tracks, blocking the road's main line between White River Junction and Boston.

Traffic was rerouted between Manchester, N.H., and Lawrence, Mass. The line also pressed buses into service.

sponsibility for enforcing criminal laws.

Williams expressed the hope that the outgoing Republican Administrative Board officials would invite their Democratic successors-elect to drop in and become familiar with their duties before inauguration Jan. 1.

Kavanagh said he already had such an invitation from Atty. Gen. Frank G. Millard. Targonski said he had not received an invitation from Aud. Gen. John B. Martin but added "I intend to invite myself."

Williams said Lt. Gov.-elect Philip A. Hart will play an important, but as-yet-undetermined role, in formulating and executing policy.

The governor plans to organize a "super-cabinet" of the Administrative Board and top appointive officials to meet every two weeks.

Library of Congress Not Without Humor

"How far was Marilyn's bed from the east wall window which was open?" Parrino asked.

"About four feet," the officer replied.

"As you examined all the contents of that room did you find in that room any evidence whatsoever of a struggle?"

"No, there wasn't," the patrolman replied after a defense objection was overruled.

Drenkhan testified that in the living room of the house a secretary desk had the three lower drawers pulled out. Papers, he said, were strewn on the floor. The fourth, top drawer, was closed, he said.

"Otherwise, the appearance of the room seemed normal," the officer said.

Socialists Shun Mendes' Bloc

Won't Join Premier's Government Unless He Accepts Their Policy

PARIS (AP) — Premier Pierre Mendes-France's bid to enroll the big Socialist party in his coalition government appeared today to have failed.

A party convention decided last night that six Socialists invited to take Cabinet posts should refuse unless the government accepts the party's basic program. It seemed unlikely that the Premier would agree to such terms since he has refused to bind his coalition government to any single party program.

Earlier, the Socialists voted 2,817,454 to support the London and Paris accords to rearm a sovereign West Germany within the Western defense alliance. Ninety-three delegates abstained.

The overwhelming favorable vote made it possible for Mendes-France to virtually assure American officials the French National Assembly will ratify the pacts. The Premier leaves for Washington tomorrow on a state visit.

On the question of taking part in the government, the Socialists voted 1,773 for participation on their own terms to 1,091 for participation with no strings attached. There were 498 votes against joining the Cabinet under any conditions.

The Socialist program calls for an increase in minimum wages, reduction of indirect taxes on basic consumer goods, more public works and withdrawal of state aid to church institutions.

Torch Campaign Goes Over Top

Birmingham UF Drive Hits $186,000 Goal, Director Reveals

BIRMINGHAM—Actual figures aren't in yet, but a jubilant Mrs. J. Rowland Quinn, campaign director for the Birmingham-Bloomfield-Franklin area United Foundation Torch Drive said this morning that "at the last minute the money just rolled in, putting us over the top."

This means that at least $186,000 was collected by more than 1,100 volunteer workers.

"The adding machines are going at a terrific rate of speed," said Mrs. Quinn, "but it will be several days before we have an accurate picture of the total."

Mrs. Quinn singled out for special praise the women volunteers who solicited in the residential areas, for performing a fine job.

Foreign Investment Plan Wins Okay

Cabot Lodge Jr. hailed the decision as a "step forward" toward industrializing under developed countries. Lodge, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations, added in a statement:

"This new approach to international economic development, if it is approved by the Congress, should make possible a new enterprise which would contribute substantially to the industrial progress of the less developed countries of the world."

Humphrey's announcement accepted the name—International Finance Corp. — and most operational details of the institution advocated during the last four years by underdeveloped nations.

Dems Line Up on Dividend Tax

Three Won't Support Move to Repeal Cut in Stockholders' Levies

WASHINGTON (AP)—Three Democrats on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee say they won't support a promised moved to repeal the controversial tax cut on dividends enacted by the last Congress.

With Republican help, that could kill the repeal effort.

Two other committee Democrats were noncommittal, while 4 of the 10 holdover Democrats polled on the issue said they would support repeal.

One committee member did not reply.

The dividend tax cut, strongly backed by the Eisenhower administration, was written into the 1954 tax revision act over strong opposition from many Democrats, some of whom made an issue of it in the election campaign.

It exempts from income taxes the first $50 in dividends received by shareholders each year. And stockholders are permitted to deduct 5 per cent of their remaining dividends directly from the tax bill they otherwise would pay.

This amounts to an estimated revenue reduction of about 362 million dollars a year.

Republicans argued that corporation profits are taxed twice—first under regular corporation income taxes and again under individual income levies as profits are passed out to stockholders in dividends. They said the tax cut would be a spur to business investment and help long-range economic growth.

Dulles Seen Willing to Name Dem Aide

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Times said today that Secretary of State Dulles would be willing, in support of bipartisanship, to name a qualified Democrat as a State Department consultant.

Dulles was represented as being anxious to preserve the form as well as the substance of a bipartisan foreign policy, a Washington dispatch to the Times reported.

Tijuana Detectives All Under Arrest

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP)—The entire Tijuana detective force, 27 men, was arrested last night on orders of Army Capt. Salvador Revueltas Olvera.

Police said the arrests followed a statement by Raoul Casares that Tijuana detectives had taken from him $9,000 of the $10,000 loot from a Los Angeles robbery.

Dist. Atty. Leonida Miranda Bello said Casares admitted he and two accomplices took the $10,000 in a robbery in Los Angeles and deposited the money in a Tijuana bank.

When the men returned to get the money, Miranda Bello said he was told three Tijuana detectives took $9,000 of the loot and told Casares and his accomplices to get out of town.

Casares was arrested in Mexico City and returned here.

Teach Retarded to Perform Tasks, Speaker Advises

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—A University of Chicago educator says it's futile for teachers to try to impart formal education to seriously retarded children.

Dr. Bruno Bettleheim, who is also a graduate of the University of Jena in Germany, told a regional meeting of the International Council for Exceptional Children that "even if you can't learn to read and write, you can perform useful tasks."

"In the United States there are such tasks as farming, gardening and domestic work that can be mastered by the mentally retarded," he said.

Dr. Bettleheim said mentally retarded people can get a feeling of achievement in such tasks but meet only frustration in trying to acquire a formal education.

Soviet Train Order for Japan Reported

TOKYO (AP) — The newspaper Asahi today said Russia wants to buy 50 narrow-gauge steam locomotives and 1,000 freezer cars from Japan, a 17½-million-dollar order.

V. Krupin, Russian commercial representative, reportedly made the offer yesterday to the Japan Locomotives and Rolling Stock Industry Assn. The association instructed its members to submit quotations.

The order probably would top that of 1948 when Russia purchased 365 locomotives and rolling stock. It would be the first such order since the start of the Korean War.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A spokesman for actress Rhonda Fleming says she will go to Switzerland next week to obtain a divorce from Dr. Lewis V. Morrill, whom she married in 1952.

BRUSSELS (AP)—The poor man's Baedker to Belgium:

There is no law about it, but by custom the seventh child in every Belgian family is the godchild of the King.

However, a mother doesn't have to raise that large a family to start getting something from the government. She gets an allowance equivalent to $6.30 a month for her first child. The figure gradually rises until the payment reaches a peak of $13.90 monthly for her fifth child, and any thereafter.

There are also small birth and death allowances, and a nonworking mother also gets an allowance from the government to stay home and raise her kids.

These family bonuses increase the birth rate in rural more than in industrial areas, however. The clear bracing air in rural zones is regarded by some authorities as even more important to the birth rate than government bounties.

Belgium's 8,725,000 people have three different national tongues — Flemish, French and German. Some 3,039,315 in 1950 spoke French only, 3,473,291 Dutch only, 49,033 German only.

It was also discovered that 334,206 inhabitants couldn't speak any of the three languages. It turned out most of them had a reasonable excuse—they were still under 2 years of age.

Belgium produces no romantic films, does go in heavily for serious home-produced documentary movies. But cinema fans here like American stars, and currently Jane Russell is ahead of Marilyn Monroe by a wide margin . . . Television is state controlled here, and separate networks are provided for the Flemish and French-speaking populaces. Two hours of TV are scheduled for the kids each Thursday afternoon (children get an afternoon off every week), but so far Hopalong Cassidy hasn't invaded the frontier. . . . So far there are only an estimated 40,000 TV sets in the nation, and most of them are in cafes . . . Here as in America the thoughtful bartender is in the forefront of any move that will help bring culture to his customers.

Federal Payroll Drop Continuing This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal payroll continued to shrink slightly in September, dropping 13,943 persons below August, a Senate-House committee reported today.

Total civilian employment in September was reported as 2,317,565, which was 84,245 less than the same month a year ago.

Jail Shut, Violators Snub Traffic Court

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Nashville's traffic judge says about 50 violators have ignored traffic citations since the city jail was closed Sept. 15.

"The word has got around that we have nowhere to put violators who refuse to pay fines. We have no city jail or workhouse, so we just release them now if they refuse to pay," said Judge Elvin Woodroof yesterday. He said he did not have authority to put them in county jail.

Mayor Ben West closed the city jail after Chancery Court issued an injunction forbidding occupation until the building was made suitable for habitation. Thirty-one city prisoners were released at that time.

Red A-Blasts Mapped by Japanese Scientist

KANAZAWA, Japan (AP)—A Japanese scientist said today the latest series of Russian atomic explosions were carried out in the Lake Baikal area of Siberia in late October and early November.

Kameo Ito, head of the Kanazawa University Observatory, said a study of air currents showed that radioactivity from that area was being carried over Japan.

Mr. Willman's Question And a Prompt Answer

City Manager Walter K. Willman asks a question of anyone apparently who happens to be listening.

Queries he:

"I wonder how important it is to have the results (of the election) an hour after the polls close when you've been arguing over the election for three months?"

Mr. Willman, we'll undertake to answer.

VERY IMPORTANT.

We may argue over the Michigan-Michigan State football game all week, but no one wants to wait even an hour, Mr. Willman, when it ends.

They want to know at once.

By "at once," we mean in thirty seconds, or three seconds. And they're entitled to know. The same holds true of your elections. If you could provide the people with the answer in thirty seconds you should do so.

Of course you can't.

Therefore, you should do the ~~next best~~ thing and provide them as soon as possible. If you can do it in an hour with machines, let's have machines. Otherwise we wait until some time the next day before your larger and slower precincts get all the facts in hand.

Next question.

Lesson From Saginaw

There is a lesson for any community considering fluoridation in Saginaw voters' decision to abandon that process after a three year trial.

While the charter amendment prohibiting continued use of fluorides carried by only 228 votes, the Saginaw News considers it overwhelming and conclusive. Its opinion is based on the fact that the issue was the subject of so much pre-election discussion.

Opponents argued that they had been subjected to mass medication despite support of the process by the city's health officer and national medical and dental associations. In discussing the question of why voters rejected an apparently beneficial program, the News said:

"... fluoridation's sponsors may have let the program's eventual success slip out of their hands at the time when it was instituted three years ago. Hindsight now indicates it would have been better if all controversy had been aired prior to inauguration of the program."

In other words, informed public opinion is essential to the successful use of fluoridation. Saginaw's vote was a victory for opponents of this process. It was a defeat for better dental health.

Drivers More Skillful

There's some encouraging news on the highway accident front.

It comes from the National Safety Council which says today's automobile drivers are more skillful than their fathers. The council adds that this fact is just one of several which has made it possible to report improved safety in six of the last seven years.

Other factors listed include today's safer cars with their better brakes and improved lights. Also contributing materially is our present highway system which, with all its faults, is still the best in the world.

Other helpful developments have been the advent of traffic engineering, better law enforcement and greater uniformity of traffic laws. Then, too, pedestrians living in a country with 50,000,000 automobiles are learning how to take care of themselves.

Nothing has happened, however, to alter the basic fact that the major responsibility for highway safety rests on the shoulders of individual drivers.

Weapon Against Hunger

Research conducted by one Occidental and three Hindu scientists gives promise of providing a very effective new weapon against the hunger which besets half the world.

The result of this co-operative project is a substitute rice developed by blending flours made from tapioca roots and peanuts. According to the Scientific American reporting on the work done at Mysore, India, the new rice looks and tastes like some varieties of the natural product used in India.

The substitute, however, is said to have three great advantages. Tested on animals it proved to be twice as nutritious as natural rice. A given area of land can grow twice as much tapioca and peanuts as rice and with less attention. Production costs are estimated at $100 a ton, considerably cheaper than rice.

If that half of the human family living on rice likes this new food, it may prove to be a wonderful agent in diminishing the unrest born of the hunger which always has been a major world problem. Certainly experience emphasizes the fact that full stomachs are a strong bulwark against the spread of Communism.

Many Deer Here

Local Nimrods Can Find Good Hunting Near Home

Arrogance: Usually just a form of ignorance.

With the northward trek already started, many local deer hunters are leaving behind some good hunting in the Pontiac area. Cleaning his gun in preparation for a trip to the northern peninsula, of Pontiac Road looked out his kitchen window and saw a buck and two does in his own back yard. Traffic was held up on the Dixie Highway just northwest of Pontiac Thursday morning to allow four deer to leisurely trot across the road. Near Walled Lake, has registered a protest because the deer are eating his strawberry plants and stripping other vegetation around his home. The biggest population of deer in Oakland County is in Kent Lake Park near Milford, where the herd has passed the hundred mark, but they enjoy year round protection. However, they are prone to stray outside its limits. Through the game biologist at Highland Recreation Area, an effort is being made to get some data on the deer killed in Oakland County. Hunters are requested to notify him of the age, size, antlers, etc. Write him at Milford. As the season opens, housewives will be interested to learn that

Ben Wilshire

Douglas Rasmusson

Jo Vogt,

Mrs. Freida Bennett,

Oakland County Home Demonstration Agent, has some free booklets on the cooking of venison.

In the 12 times that he has been the Republican nominee, always winning,

Congressman George A. Dondero

has made a close run but once. That was in 1936 when he had a margin of only 1,140 over the Democrat nominee. In the other 11 election he has won by majorities ranging from 6,312 to 47,408, this year by 11,587.

Draper Allen,

Here where a great many of them are made it is interesting to note that the automobile industry is the chief user of steel, gasoline, rubber, upholstery, leather, mohair, plate glass, lead and nickel.

With a habit of always looking on the bright side, of Auburn Heights, calls attention to the fact that the days this week have been the most glorious she ever saw in Michigan in November. And our young people tell me that the nights have been just as glorious.

Mrs. Conrad Brownell

Ex-Student Praises Francis Staley, Principal of Eastern Jr. High School

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

I was delighted to see the article in the paper November 9 by Francis Staley. I'm one of the many who were privileged to attend Eastern Jr. High School where Mr. Staley presides as principal.

His kindness and generosity are symbols of higher education. He is never too busy to see a student and discuss his or her problems. I believe he has good advice to offer.

To you, Mr. Staley, my hat is off. You've done a grand job and I consider it a privilege to be one of your many ex-students.

Scores 'No' Voters on Korean Bonus

In looking over the election returns I notice many people voted against the Korean bonus. They do not think very much of the fellows who were fighting over there, or is it that their sons were fortunate enough to have parents with enough influence to keep them out of the fight?

Seems to me that a few dollars is little enough to offer young men for their lives. I wonder how they must feel when they look at the "no" votes. What a slap in the face that must have been.

Here they were willing to give their lives, if necessary, for you and their country, but they were fortunate enough not to have to give them. Then they return home and find that some of their people do not think that they did enough for a bonus.

You who voted "no" on the passage of the bonus, what are you using for a heart these days?

L. E. Robertson

Interesting Happenings in Recent Election

Some of the things that interested me in this last election were that the majority in Birmingham, Bloomfield Hills and Huntington Woods voted against the Korean Bonus although by a small margin and 4,266 voted in Berkley for a prosecutor but didn't vote for a sheriff.

Now that the election is over and some of us look like deflated balloons, we can well remember that there's not too much distance between a pat on the shoulder to a kick in the pants.

Why don't our unions separate men and ~~women~~ in ~~shops?~~ There have been more homes broken up and it starts with women working in the shops. Why don't they pick on some man who isn't married?

Case Records of a Psychologist

Man Over 40 Worries About Impotence, Takes Up Drinking to Escape Fears

When men past 40 suddenly start drinking, do you know the most likely cause? Well, you wives can stop the need for whisky if you will study this case record carefully and then use the advice in the bulletin described below. For alcoholism after 40 is usually based on sex fears.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case M-365: Howard R., aged 46, has been a successful businessman.

"But, Dr. Crane, Howard has begun to drink to excess," his wife tearfully informed me. "And what is so strange about the whole affair, he never used to touch liquor at all.

"But about two years ago he started taking a highball. He said it was good for his appetite and helped relax his nerves at night.

"But he has continued drinking until now he doesn't get home at night till 2 o'clock in the morning. And he says he can't quit liquor.

"What can I do to save him, for he is a wonderful man?"

Yesterday I told you that we psychologists regard alcoholism as the figurative fire escape which people take to get away from the burning emotional conflicts inside themselves.

Remember, people never try to flee from pleasure and happiness. So you can quickly deduce that Howard is afraid of something or unhappy, despite his successful business career and attractive wife.

What should scare a man of 46 into wishing to hide in a drunken stupor? You regular readers of this clinical column on psychology can make a pretty shrewd guess.

Howard is terrified about impotence. Later discussion with his wife revealed the fact that their marriage had been platonic for the last two years.

So Howard is like millions of other males who pass the age of

40. He got scared over his waning sexual vigor and feared that he was becoming prematurely senile.

In his terror, he finally sought an escape via the whisky bottle, as many middle-aged men do.

For whenever a man starts drinking to excess after the age of 40, your first guess should be sexual fears.

Furthermore, the alcoholism of such an impotent husband also serves as a red herring, for it diverts his wife's attention from the real cause of Howard's difficulty.

No husband wants to admit to his wife that he is on the shelf. It is mankind's most sensitive point.

"If I can't appeal to her as a sweetheart," Howard subconsciously reasons, "then I'll appeal to her maternal love."

Thus, by stumbling home drunk at 2 a.m., Howard figures he can keep his wife concerned about him and thinking of him. And she will be so anxious about his drunken state that she will not see to the bottom of his strategy.

"He doesn't kiss me or make love to me simply because he is so drunk," Howard figures she will decide.

And thus he protects his male ego by disguising from her the very deflating thought that he is on the shelf.

You wives can easily stop this kind of alcoholism by sending for my bulletin "How to Prevent Impotence," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus a dime.

For neither husband nor wife was intended by God Almighty to lose their sex vigor till death. But fears can scare you into impotence.

Aunt Het

I know women buy some funny hats, but when I see one that is simply awful, I know the poor woman's husband picked it out.

David Lawrence Says:

McCarthy Censure Vote May Defeat GOP in 1956

WASHINGTON—The Senate may vote to censure Senator McCarthy, but it cannot possibly rub out the millions of voters in his following. This presents a political problem for the Republican Party in 1956 and may cost it control of the White House as well as Congress, next time unless the wounds in the party are healed.

For the facts are that Clifford Case, who made an issue of McCarthy in New Jersey, now appears to have been elected senator by a plurality of less than 4,000 votes. He failed to win a majority of the votes cast in last week's election. Approximately 26,000 votes were cast for two independent candidates sympathetic to McCarthy and,

If these votes had been swung to the Democratic nominee, he would have won overwhelmingly. That's not a healthy situation for the Republicans to contemplate in 1956.

In New York State Senator Ives, Republican, lost the governorship to Averell Harriman by less than 15,000 votes but there are reliable estimates that somewhere between 200,000 and 300,000 Republicans deliberately refused to go to the polls on account of Ives' stand on the McCarthy censure issue.

These estimates come from Republican officials in New York State who are in a position to know what happened when the registration totals are compared with the actual vote.

Also, Ives two years ago got more than 1,300,000 Republican majority, which was more than President Eisenhower received. There is no evidence that in the last two years he has lost his personal popularity.

Hence political observers from New York are writing in to say that Ives was the victim of the McCarthy controversy. In the last three weeks of his campaign, it is estimated that 250,000 post cards were sent to Ives by New York State voters saying that he would not receive the votes of the sender of the post card unless he declared himself as favorable to McCarthy.

Reports are coming in from Iowa that Senator Gillette, Democrat, who once headed the Senate Subcommittee on Privileges and Elections which initiated the investigation of Senator McCarthy, was hurt politically in the last few days of the campaign by an open letter from the Wisconsin senator.

One charge made by the Wisconsin senator was that the subcommittee, when Gillette was chairman, had asked the postmaster in Washington to place upon the mail to Senator McCarthy and his wife what is known as a "mail cover" — a form of surveillance of personal mail used, it is said, under existing law only when fugitives from justice are involved.

A reverse twist to the McCarthy issue occurred in Illinois, where anti-McCarthy Republicans voted for Senator Douglas, Democrat, rather than for Joseph Meek, the Republican nominee. Charges are heard that the Illinois Citizens for Eisenhower didn't go all out for Meek. Among anti-McCarthyites much was made of Meek's sympathetic attitude for McCarthy.

When President Eisenhower visited the Illinois State Fair during the campaign, he did not invite Meek to sit on the platform with him nor let him ride with him in the parade. This was interpreted by many anti-McCarthy voters as a sign that the President wanted to remain aloof from a candidate who was prominently allied with the Wisconsin senator.

Reports also are coming in that Senator Ferguson, defeated in Michigan, was hurt in some respects by the McCarthy issue because of the stay-at-home vote. This was a form of protest against both nominees.

The fact remains that the McCarthy issue cut deeply into the Republican chance of winning the Senate.

Despite the plain implications of the controversy, some of the same people who have been needling the White House all along to become openly anti-McCarthy are now denouncing "peaceful co-existence" inside the Republican Party and insisting that the President fight it out within the party on a knock-down-drag-out basis. Many of those who are giving the White House that advice are themselves more in sympathy with Truman policies of the past than with the Republican Party.

The censure controversy will leave deep wounds. The roll-call vote of each senator will be remembered. The controversy will carry over into the next session with more and more battling between Republicans.

Senator Flanders, Republican, started the censure movement. He can wistfully survey the wreckage of the 1954 election and probably, if there are no measures applied by the leaders of the Republican Party to bring harmony in that party in 1956, he will see a sequel then to the disunity of 1954.

Pretty corrugated in international wrangles when the wife of an American diplomat calls for a free boot at a Russian cop.

That sure set off an atomic blast in a samovar.

We feel she shouldn't butt into her husband's business.

The Kremlin said she was a Hooligan. As usual they are muttering the half-truth that louses up the details. The first name of Hooligan is Happy.

The Soviet charges the lady was boisterous and rowdy. Over here that's not a serious charge during the shopping season.

The truth is she was Kodaking the native as he leaped from bough to bough uttering the quaint cries of his species. Then a couple of Moujiks drove up on foot. A Moujik is a Cossack who ate his hoss.

Dr. Brady Picks Quarrel With Dentist From Michigan Who Lauds His Work

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

Somewhere in my maddening files or maybe, in a scrapbook there is, I hope, a citation—if I may flatter myself — I received from a Nebraska Dental Society, commending or approving some of my teachings in regard to preservation of the teeth.

At the time the dental society gave me the pat on the back the dentists had not become fully aware that I had quit brushing my teeth. The Nebraska Dental Society has not yet formally repudiated my teachings, but in the past decade I seldom have heard an encouraging word from dentists in Nebraska or anywhere else.

In several throw-away publications, which seem popular with the dentists, I have been treated as the sponsors who sell glorified soap and trick brushes to the moron public, think I deserve.

Sept. 2, '54, a Michigan dentist wrote:

"As for dental health, balanced diet, good thorough prophylaxis, plus rigid scaling of roots, when indicated, and also periodic X-ray check-up of the teeth—then there wouldn't be such a loss of human teeth. I think you expound this type of treatment." (signed) — —, D. D. S.

I had become so accustomed to unfriendly communications from dentists that this friendly note flabbergasted me.

In regard to scaling of roots and periodic X-ray films of the teeth (I do wish the dentist had not used the glib term "check-up," which, like "shot," "definite," and "rather" is affected by people who don't know what they're talking about). I'd defer, believe it or not, to the judgment of my dentist.

These are technical questions which the dentist is better qualified to answer, it seems to me, just as the physician is better qualified than even the smartest patient to judge whether an anesthetic is to be used and if so, which.

What the dentist means by "balanced diet" I don't know. What anybody means by "balanced diet" I don't know. Does anybody?

In No. 1 Little Lesson in the Ways of Health, the booklet Save Your Teeth (for which you send 25c and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I give what seems to me to be the consensus of dental, medical, and nutrition authorities upon the diet in America is not adequate for keeping 'em sound. Our everyday diet in America is not adequate for this—it fails to supply enough calcium, phosphorus, and vitamin D.

Even though I try to pick a quarrel with the dentist before he has finished what he had to say, I assure him that his letter has done much good. For one thing it reminds me that in my book, column, pamphlets, and belief, good dentistry is essential for health, comfort, vite, good looks, and longevity; and between rounds, so to speak, I love and admire all dentists for their contribution to the greatness of America.

Richard Rodgers' Musical Scores Given to Library

Rodgers, who once estimated that he had written one thousand melodies, presented the 17 volumes to Dr. Harold Spivacke, chief of the music division of the Library of Congress, in a ceremony at Carnegie Hall.

The material has been assembled during the past 10 years by Mrs. Rodgers. Missing are a few manuscripts given previously to friends and the originals of songs Rodgers has written for the armed forces.

The record begins with his contributions to the Garrick Gaieties of 1925, includes collaborations with the late Lorenz Hart and complete scores, notes and rejected melodies from the seven hit shows turned out by Rodgers and his current collaborator, Oscar Hammerstein II.

Young Scientists Vie for $11,000

Westinghouse Sponsors Annual Talent Search for High Schoolers

WASHINGTON (UP) — High school students throughout the country are invited to compete in the 14th annual Science Talent Search for a total of $11,000 in Westinghouse science scholarships.

Forty finalists will be selected from thousands of entrants from participating public, private and denominational schools.

The boy or girl, whose all-around search for performance and whose personal qualities are judged the most outstanding, will receive a $2,800 grand science scholarship. Other scholarships ranging from $100 to $2,000 will be awarded to the remaining 39 finalists.

The awards are made by Westinghouse Educational Foundation which is supported by Westinghouse Electric Corp. The search is conducted by Science Clubs of America, administered by Science Service.

The 40 finalists will be invited to Washington to attend the Science Talent Institute beginning Feb. 24. Scholarship winners will be announced at the conclusion of the sessions. In addition, 260 other boys and girls who show "excellent promise of becoming creative scientists" will receive honorable mention citations.

The estimated 16,000 entrants must report on an original science project and take a stiff aptitude examination. Their schools then submit scholastic records and teachers' estimates of the entrants' ability. To be eligible, entries must be received in Washington by midnight, Monday, Dec. 27.

Business Experts Busy

NEW YORK (UP) — American business management in 1953 spent nearly $426,000,000 for the services of 1,753 business consultant firms located in cities of 100,000 or more, according to a nation-wide survey by the Association of Consulting Management Engineers, national professional management consultant organization.

ON-THE-SPOT CLEANING—Most everyone in Frankfurt, Germany, seems to like this idea—it's a machine that beats and vacuum-cleans rugs and carpets. The owner rolls the machine into a neighborhood, puts the carpets in one side and takes them out on the other side all cleaned.

GOP Is Risking Nomination Rift

Sends Choice for FCC Post to Senate During Censure Session

WASHINGTON (INS)—Republicans risked a fight over presidential appointments during the current Senate session yesterday by sending to the floor the nomination of George C. McConnaughey as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Democrats have insisted that the Senate should not be asked to act on nominations during the censure session. They said they abstained from voting when the Senate Commerce Committee approved McConnaughey's appointment, although the vote was announced as 7 to 0.

Sen. Mike Monroney (D-Okla) said flatly that Democratic policy is that "there will be no confirmations at this session."

Other Democratic members expressed doubt that Republican floor leader William F. Knowland would even bring up the McConnaughey nomination on the floor in the face of unanimous Democratic opposition.

Cry of 'Can't Save a Cent' Brings on Plenty of Advice

By LAURA Z. HOBSON

"I must get more exercise" is a magic sentence that can make a hassle materialize out of thin air—like one rub on Aladdin's lamp.

Everybody within earshot will react, if not like a genii, then at least like an Olympic genius of physical perfection, and an expert on how to attain and maintain it.

"Push-ups every morning," one friend will advise, but another will advocate rolling around on a bare floor, while a third brushes off any indoor calisthenics as a waste of time, insisting that only workouts in fresh air can do you any good.

Another sentence to start arguments going is, "I have insomnia." Just try it during some kaffeeklatch, and see if you don't stay up half the night listening to the special remedies your pals all have on tap.

Something hot before bedtime, something to eat before bedtime, nothing to eat before bedtime—there'll be an advocate for each. You might even be treated to a talk about mental unwinding, or pretending you're all foam rubber or an empty burlap bag.

"I've got to go on a diet" is still another magic talk-maker. Just say it publicly and you're going to be crammed full of favorite fads before you can even close your mouth! The frenzied loyalties engendered by pineapple and lamb chop eaters or the nothing-but-bananas dieters passeth all human understanding. And I'm sure snobbery accounts for at least half those who diet on expensive steaks and roasts of beef.

But ribbing aside, even those three sentences cited above aren't in it with one other familiar little phrase most of us have heard—or uttered—at some time of our lives:

"I can't save a cent."

Just say those five words out loud, fellow worriers, and you'll be so swamped with advice about what to give up, what not to buy, where not to go for which trips you really shouldn't be taking—

You'll soon be so inundated with how-to talk that you'd gladly offer a million dollars to any good dike-builder to save you from the floods.

Can you explain why this one special topic should contain such explosive verbal force?

I sure have my own pet theory about it. I believe the little phrase, "I can't save a cent," always touches off hidden emotional dynamite in the folks to whom you say it.

Dynamite of two kinds. One comes from guilty recognition, and the other from half-hidden scorn.

The recognizers want you to do all the things they've never had the self-control to do, to buy cheaper cuts of meat for your family, less attractive clothes for yourself, fewer little luxuries for the house.

The scorners are those who actually have managed to save a few cents, and who go around in a coppery glow of holier-than-thou that they could save while you couldn't.

There's no sense blowing your top, either after you've brought the chain reactions on yourself by talking too much. And confiding such personal secrets doesn't give you permanent relief anyway.

The only thing that will help—more than calisthenics, diet, and sleep—is to pipe down and remember that these days just about 99 per cent of the population "can't save a cent" either.

Overall Suits Dismissed

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — District Court Judge Luigi DePasquale is a believer in the maxim "clothes make the man." The judge sent two motorists home to change their clothes when they appeared for arraignment in overalls.

Prisoners Tattoo Chests With Anti-Crime Slogan

LAGRANGE, Ky. (UP) — Warden Porter B. Lady of LaGrange State Reformatory thinks it's fine if criminals realize that "crime doesn't pay," but he wishes they wouldn't wear the motto on their chests.

Several former prisoners at LaGrange told Louisville authorities recently that they had the motto tattooed on their chests while serving time in the reformatory. Lady said tattooing is strictly against the rules.

Multimillion Dollar Search Under Way to Probe Effects of Smoking on Disease

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—A multimillion-dollar search is getting under way to find the answer to this question: Are cigarettes guilty or innocent as a cause of cancer, heart disease or shortened life?

Numerous laboratories and agencies, here and abroad, are conducting it. The search will lead into strange byways.

It should in time produce enough evidence to give yes or no answers, to the satisfaction of almost all physicians and scientists.

One phase is a research program by the Tobacco Industry Research Committee, starting with an initial half million dollars. This week its scientific advisory board, headed by Dr. C. C. Little, Bar Harbor, Maine, announced the first of six grants totaling $82,000 for research projects.

This advisory board says no one has yet proved a definite cause-and-effect relationships between cigarettes, cancer and heart disease. It has mapped a broad program to cover studies of humans and human lungs, smoke tests on mice, human habits, jobs and geographical differences, the effects of inhaled smoke on animals' nervous systems, blood vessels and lungs, and to make analyses of tobacco.

The British tobacco industry has pledged $100,000 a year for seven years for research under auspices of Britain's Medical Research Council and the first installment has been paid. One Danish tobacco company granted $14,000 to a scientist for research with special reference to lung cancer.

The American Cancer Society, saying that "presently available evidence indicates an association" between smoking and cancer and heart disease, has just earmarked a special half-million-dollar fund for more studies on lung cancer.

This society is continuing its study to learn what happens to 180,000 men whose smoking habits are known.

The Veterans Administration and National Cancer Institute are making a similar study of smoking habits of 200,000 World War I veterans to determine any relationship between lung cancer and smoking.

In some laboratories, scientists are breaking down cigarette tars, trying to find any specific cancer-causing agent or agents.

If one were found, and proved—or strongly suspected—as a cause of cancer, it might be removed from cigarettes to make them safe.

Development or use of new types of tobacco, shown to be free of suspected agents, has been proposed.

Cigarette paper is being studied. If danger is found to exist there, that could be removed, or avoided.

In one human experiment, a New York scientist is having his skin painted with tobacco smoke extracts, to see if they produce skin cancers as tobacco tars have produced skin cancers in mice. His skin also is being painted with other chemicals which are known to induce cancer in animals.

He is relatively safe in this experiment, for any skin cancers which may appear could easily be removed in ample time.

The buildup of evidence so far has numerous well-known physicians and scientists either convinced or highly suspicious there is a link of definite danger in cigarettes, even though the extent has not been accurately measured.

To others, there seem to be serious loopholes in the statistics, or other explanations; in short, lack of sufficient proof.

Dr. Little, for example, says the TIRC's scientific advisory board of nine prominent scientists and physicians all "believe more research is needed. Not one says that cigarettes cause cancer—nor that it does not. We've got to be able to take any kind of evidence, and weigh it."

No strings are attached to scientists working under TIRC grants, he adds. The committee "will make no attempt to direct the administration of the project once started, to influence its course, or to control the results." The scientists are free to publish their findings and conclusions to inform the public.

Certainly an energetic quest, going deep into various questions or aspects raised, could produce unexpected dividends of great importance in probably unpredicted ways. It could produce more knowledge about cancer or heart disease, not connected with any smoking aspect.

That could become one of the great, positive values from the current controversy.

Meanwhile, smokers can decide for themselves whether they agree with the experts who say cigarettes are bad, those who say they are not, or those who advise waiting for more evidence.

Says VD Rate in Teeners Up

State Official Reveals 6 of Every 1,000 in High School Get Syphilis

GRAND RAPIDS (UP)—There has been an "alarming" increase of syphilis among Michigan teenagers, a state Health Department official told a Parent-Teacher Health Institute here.

Dr. John A. Cowan, director of the State Health Department's Bureau of Chronic Diseases, said that six out of every 1,000 high school students get syphilis.

Dr. Cowan said 18 per cent of all syphilis and gonorrhea cases are in the 10 to 19-year-old age group.

The Health Department official said he believed the veneral disease rate would drop among teenagers if they were given proper sex education by their parents.

"People are afraid of the word 'sex' but if school children are old enough to get a social disease they are old enough to receive education that will prevent promiscuity and disease," Dr. Cowan said.

Dr. Cowan blamed the Army, in part, for increase in veneral disease.

He said that during World War II, the Army motto was, "You'll probably get a disease and here's how to get a cure" and during the Korean War it took just the opposite view with a slogan of something like "It's beneath the dignity of the Army to get veneral disease."

Dr. Cowan said he believes it's time the Army hits a happy medium on the problem.

Harlan Action May Be Put Off

Immediate Confirmation of High Court Justice Not Probable

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Langer (R-ND) said yesterday current Senate procedures "make it impossible" for the Judiciary Committee he heads to act on the nomination of John Marshall Harlan to the Supreme Court.

Langer referred to the request of Senate leaders that Senate committees refrain from meeting during the session called to act on proposed censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

Harlan, nominated as an associate justice Monday, was confirmed as a federal circuit court judge earlier this year, and there had been suggestions that Langer poll Judiciary Committee members now without calling a formal hearing. But he said he has no such plans.

This raised the possibility that no action would be taken on the nomination of Harlan, a New Yorker, until the new Congress meets in January.

Senate Recount Asked by Dems in New Jersey

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—Democrat Charles R. Howell, refusing to concede to Republican Clifford P. Case, today seeks court orders throughout the state for a recount of the New Jersey senatorial election.

Terming the results of election "extremely close," a party spokesman declared the people of New Jersey are entitled to know who is their rightful representative.

Case was 3,469 votes ahead of Howell on the basis of official returns from 20 counties and unofficial returns from the 21st—Camden — where a recanvass still is under way.

"The present margin of difference is less than one fifth of 1 per centum of the total vote cast," said State Democratic Chairman George E. Brunner of Camden.

"An error of one vote" in each of the state's 3,998 election districts "would be enough to reverse the present trend of the count."

Case has announced victory in the election on the basis of returns so far, which showed he polled 861,627 to 858,158 for Howell.

2 Young Sisters Operate Successful Antique Shop

BUCHANAN (UP)—One of the best-known antique shops in southern Berrien County is owned and operated by two energetic sisters who haven't reached their teens yet.

The girls—Jane Patricia and May Michele Boyce—operate the Three Sisters Antique Shop at their home three miles northwest of here.

Jane Patricia, who prefers to be called Pat, is 10 years old and her sister, who likes to be called Mike, is 12. The girls are in the sixth and seventh grades, respectively, at Buchanan Junior High.

Mike started collecting antiques four years ago, when she was eight. She picked up her first antiques at county auctions.

By last June, the girls had quite a collection so they decided go into business. They opened their shop in a converted chicken house and since then have sold more than 400 pieces. Despite brisk business during the summer, they still have nearly 1,000 antique items on hand.

The two girls handle every phase of their growing business—buying, selling and bookkeeping and rarely ask their parents for any help.

"We want them to have some business experience," said their father, H. E. Boyce, "so we let them try and work out all of their problems by themselves."

The girls have taken quite an interest in glass and china and their most prized antique is a hand-blown venetian carafe decorated with multicolored dragons.

Some of their other top antiques include an Edison cylinder phonograph, old-time wooden pitchforks, an elaborate wood baby buggy used before the turn of the century and a 100-year-old brass whale oil lamp.

The girls have a number of old copper and brass articles which they shine themselves "until you can see yourself in them" and then they apply laquer to keep them that way.

Professional antique dealers had high praise for the sisters recently when they participated in an antique show at the Whitcomb Hotel in St. Joseph. The dealers said they displayed a "business-like manner" when discussing their antiques with prospective buyers.

"Our business takes most of our time when we're not in school, but we love it," said Mike.

Poor Hiding Place

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Margaret Murphy opened her umbrella to keep the rain off her new hat and lost $1,700 worth of jewelry. She had forgotten she had hidden a watch and three rings in the umbrella.

Thief Shakes Hands With Victim's Dogs

LONDON, (AP)—A thief posing as a plumber was greeted by Mrs. Ruth Osborne's two poodles as he walked up the stairs of her house yesterday.

The maid who let the imposter in said the friendly dogs — Susie and Simone — lifted their paws and the "plumber" gravely shook them.

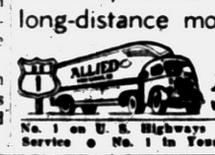

He then proceeded to Mrs. Osborne's bedroom and filched a box containing jewels worth 3,500 pounds ($9,800).

He came downstairs, shook the poodles' paws a second time and departed with the loot.

Tractor Mishap Fatal

MOUNT PLEASANT (UP)—William J. McFarlane, 68, of Rosebush, was fatally injured Thursday when his tractor overturned and fell on him. Police said McFarlane apparently drove the machine into a barn and through the barn wall. The tractor toppled after crashing through the wall.

Watervliet Man Killed

PAW PAW (UP)—Gustave Henschl, 38, of Watervliet, was killed Thursday night in a traffic crash on US12 near the east Van Buren County line. He was riding in a car driven by Lester Bailey, 39, Watervliet. Baily swerved to avoid hitting another car and crashed into a tree.

Slaying Suspect Found Hanged

Married Man Among Those Sought in Death of Baltimore Girl, 14

BALTIMORE (UP)—The hanging of a 45-year-old married man wanted for questioning about the slaying of a 14-year-old girl complicated police investigation of the case today.

The girl, Carolyn Loretta Wasilewski, jazz-loving, boy-crazy teenager who relied on adult makeup and slang talk to appear older, was brutally beaten Monday night. Her nearly nude and battered body was found Tuesday on railroad tracks under a bridge in northwest Baltimore, about eight miles from her home and a vacant lot where police say she was slain.

Among the dozens of "drapes," girl friends and other acquaintances of the high school girl police wanted to question was Ralph B. Garrett.

He lived close to the murdered girl's home, owned a two-toned car similar to one seen where her body was found, and had been missing since he drove his wife to work Monday. His car was found abandoned in nearby Anne Arundel County Wednesday night. Police issued a pickup for him yesterday morning.

Late yesterday afternoon, a man walking along a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad siding, near the vacant lot where Carolyn was beaten to death, spotted Garrett's body. It was hanging by a belt from a brake wheel on top of a gondola car.

Police awaited the medical examiner's verdict on the cause of death, presumably strangulation, and whether by his own hand or others.

Technicians from the police crime laboratory combed the scene for clues. Others were sent to reexamine Garrett's car and to check the tires to see if they matched a perfect set of prints found in the lot where Carolyn was slain.

His wife, who reported him missing when he failed to return home Tuesday, said her husband had been depressed since last week, a condition he felt annually on the anniversary of his mother's death four years ago.

Find Missing Parakeet Guest at Bird House

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Mrs. Paul Vanderbosch was puzzled when a group of neighbor children told her that her missing parakeet was with the "birds."

She continued her search and sure enough it was with the "birds"—Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bird. The Birds told her they found it Monday but didn't know who it belonged to.

Iowa Car License Tag Takes Long Way Home

DAVENPORT, Iowa (UP)—Mrs. Harry Nelson found a 1954 Iowa license plate in an Oregon redwood forest and brought it home in hopes of finding the owner.

The Scott County treasurer's office said the plate owner's address was on the same street as Mrs. Nelson, and only a few blocks away.

When she tried to return the plate, she discovered the family had moved to California.

Doctor Studies Lumber Lore

State Surgeon Collects Log Brand Designs as Hobby

SAGINAW (AP) — The rough and tumble era when Michigan's vast pine forests furnished the state with its leading industry has bequeathed both a heritage and a hobby to Dr. Don H. Bellinger, a Saginaw surgeon.

The heritage is an abiding interest in the history of Michigan's once-mighty lumbering industry, passed on to him by his lumberjack father and his grandfather who was a timber contractor.

The hobby is the study of Michigan log marks, the distinctive and often curious marks that lumbermen stamped on each log they cut to distinguish it from logs belonging to other lumbermen.

Log marks once were to the Michigan lumberman what cattle brands were and still are to the western rancher. They were the symbols of order in the industry, enabling each lumberman to keep track of his own logs as they were driven downstream to the sawmill.

Marks were stamped into each log with a hammer. Some were in the shape of bottles, keys, circles or squares. Some were the initials of owners. Some even suggested the ribald humor in lumberjack lore.

"For many years, including the earliest logging era in Michigan, log marks were cut into the bark with an ax," Dr. Bellinger said. "Of necessity, such hacks — or bark marks — were limited in design to patterns of straight lines such as simple initials, triangles, squares and combinations of these."

With formation of more and more lumber companies, the need for more distinguishable markings was seen and thus began the evolution of the marking hammer. By 1842 the state Legislature passed a law requiring log marks to be registered in counties in which logs were sawed into lumber.

Legislation and marking hammers failed to deter gangs of log thieves, who operate much as western cattle rustlers, sawing off marked log ends and stamping on their own.

In 1859 the Legislature enacted a law to deal with such thievery. But, like their ranching brothers in the West, lumbermen sometimes grew impatient with the law and simply did away with log rustlers at the scene of the crime. At least Dr. Bellinger said, that's what the oldtimers claim.

Pay Is Increasing Faster Than Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said today hourly factory pay since the start of 1953 has climbed more than seven times as fast as prices.

The Chamber said the government's consumers' price index rose 0.8 per cent in 1953 while its figure on average hourly earnings in manufacturing increased 6 per cent. It listed the January-September 1954 rises as 0.3 per cent in the price index and 2.3 per cent in factory pay.

The price index went up from 113.5 at the start of 1953 to 114.7 in September, it said, while the earnings figures increased from $1.67 to $1.81.

There are almost 4,000 figures represented in the stained glass windows of Chartres Cathedral.

High school correspondents Vicki, Marcee and Marlene report National Honor Society, dances and wind-up of football games make for a full week of activities.

St. Michael

Shamrocks returned to school Tuesday after a free day Monday for winning the St. Fred-St. Mike football game. They brought with them the coveted Steve Griffin trophy to keep for good. Of the four trophies offered, this is the third retired by the Shamrocks.

Michaelite editors and staff are busily compiling the forthcoming issue of the paper, and class reporters are industriously gleaning news from their classmates.

"But Sister, I handed them in already," was the phrase often heard in senior American history classes this week, as quarterly projects were due.

MARCEE

Everyone enjoyed the skit presented by the cheer-leaders at last Friday's pep meeting enacting the "Crowning" of St. Fred's high-steppers after the defeat. Another highlight of the rally was the awarding of prizes to poster contest winners.

First prize went to Joyce Dropps, second to Mary Singles and third to Mary Carol Trudell.

All Michaelites enjoyed a victory dance after the game Friday night in the parish hall, where players received the congratulations of their classmates.

The "Know Your Saints" contest sponsored by the sodality came to a close this week. First prize went to Patricia Deering, followed by Ann Roetteger, Lillian DeConick and Joanne Helander.

Cheerleaders are holding their regular Thursday and Friday practice sessions and they are particularly busy this week boning up on all the old cheers and the several new ones to be used at the game Saturday night.

Children of Mary and Holy Name societies held their monthly meetings in the hall Wednesday. New officers of Children of Mary were nominated and voted upon. Students will learn the names next week.

St. Frederick

Seniors received their class rings this week and it seems that already the shiny gold is a bit worn as the students have "accidently" been running their hands under the noses of underclassmen for admiration.

With the last competitive football game of the year having taken place against Avondale, students are beginning to look forward with eagerness to the opening of basketball season.

Musical chords echoed down the halls this week as choral members tuned up for Jingle Bells, Santa Is Coming to Town and other songs to be used in the Christmas program.

When juniors gave out word this week that they were giving a dance Nov. 19, the Varsity Club issued news that they were giving an even better one on Nov. 21. Whose will be best is something which remains to be seen, but students are saving all their change with intentions of attending both.

MARLENE

Fire bells sent some 800 students filing out of school Monday. When they had reached their destination they turned to face the school hoping to see some part of it crumble in flames, but with the sound of the bell recalling them, they sighed in dismay at the thought of just a fire drill and shuffled slowly back to the monotony of classes.

In accordance with assignments given at the end of the units, Coach Huislander's history classes were combined Friday in the assembly. For two hours panels and open floor discussions were the things at hand. It was a girl's panel versus boy's panel, both using the same topic.

Chairmen of the panels were Jean McHugh, Sharon Wolf, Carolyn Robichaud, Monica Maloney, Alice Rivera, Marlene Green for the girls. For the boys were Michael Wells, Pierre Herveat, Ross Moody, James Williams and Don Cox. Which team was better is a debatable point, for the boys far surpassed the girls on political issues, but on home and family affairs the girls left the boys in the lurch.

The freshmen and sophomores are going to change the trend of things Monday when report cards are given out. Instead of being given to students as usual they will be given to parents, by the Bishop Alexander Zaleski, at a Parent-Teacher get-together Monday night.

Before issuing the report cards entertainment prepared by the students will be offered in hopes of easing the shock.

That friendly old rivalry has so greatly mounted this week in anticipation of the junior-senior football game Monday night that nervous tension was almost at the breaking point by this afternoon. The victors will receive the traditional "Brown Jug" which increases the desire to win. Seniors are taking all bets that juniors will get beaten, but juniors are just commenting "You wait and see."

Pontiac High

PHS students are all busy making plans for the big football game tonight and record hop to follow the game. The student body will be out hoping to see Pontiac win their first Saginaw Valley football game of the year, and close out the home football season with a win.

This afternoon a pep assembly was held, while the Booster club completed plans for their card section. The band has lined up a big half-time program, starting off with a salute to Saginaw Eastern.

A TV sequence will follow as a television camera is formed. Theme song for the Mister Peepers show will be played as the band forms a pair of glasses. With a formation of the familiar Mark VII, from Dragnet, music from that show will be presented.

Finally the music from the Gillette Cavalcade of Sports will be played. The band will close out the festivities with the playing of PHS' fight song.

VIKI

This past week, National Education week, Pontiac High students presented a series of broadcasts over the public address system concerning education. The National Honors Assembly was held Wednesday and the Radio Workshoppers presented their tribute to National Education Week.

Plans for a skating party were completed at a meeting Thursday by the Projectionist Club. Date set aside for the affair is Dec. 14, and it will be at the Rolladium.

An invitation to attend the party was sent to the newly organized Latin Club. Committee for the party is Martha Machnauer, chairman, Linda Schellenberg, Bob Erb, Dick Gavette and Norma Balmer. Club advisor is Marion Lehner.

The new PHS Latin Club, under the supervision of Iama Hook, recently elected officers. Sharon Holland is the new president, Judy Levine, vice president; Sonja Kyan, secretary; and Barbara Berg, treasurer.

Meetings are to be held Wednesdays. Forthcoming activities include a hayride to be held next Wednesday, and a trip to see Cinerama Nov. 20.

Vera Mae Adams has announced the programs which the Workshop will present next week. Monday on the "More Wonderful Than Magic" series, the story is entitled "The Way eW Act." Wednesday on "It's Story Time" the workshop will broadcast the story of "Bears on Hemlock Mountain." Friday "An American Prayer" will be given on "This We Believe" series.

PHS Retailing Club will send Joan McLean, senior, to the state retailing convention as nominee for the state retailing vice presidency. Also attending will be Don Lovett and Joe Dabbs, along with Grace McLaughlin the club and state advisor.

The convention will last two days at St. Mary's Lake Camp near Battle Creek. Helping Joan with her campaign will be Marleen Tobin, Janice Fosmoen; Janice Roberts and Betty Anderson. Nov. 17 a representative from the Michigan Bell Telephone Company will speak to the Retailers.

Bob Considine Says:

People in Sheppard Trial Will Never Be the Same

CLEVELAND (INS)—There are always a lot of people to feel sorry for around a trial of any type. The number multiplies rapidly at a murder trial. If you stay with one long enough you feel sorry in time even for the man or woman found guilty, no matter how horrendous the crime.

A terrible crime such as the murder of Marilyn Sheppard spreads the area of utter woe. Parenthetically, the way things are going I'd bet that nothing much happens to Dr. Sam, the defendant in the case. But if acquitted, Sam still will be marked for life. So will many around him.

To date, the Sheppard case has demolished or sorely oppressed a great number of persons, and as trials are measured chronologically it is barely under way. About 50 more witnesses are scheduled to appear and—as one cynic has suggested—it may not reach its climax until Christmas Eve when the jury comes back in while a choral group sings carols outside in the snow.

Yet, up to now, we have Sam's brothers—notably a fine looking man named Dr. Richard Sheppard—and their wives and children, all being pointed out as related to a man accused of an almost incredible murder. We have, too, the sticken step-maternal relatives of Marilyn, most of whom show by their demeanor in court that they firmly believe Dr. Sam did her in.

In recent days we had on the witness stand a couple who can best be described by the word "demolished." Spencer and Esther Houk were (and still must be) hard-working people living in nearby Bay Village, Ohio. Spencer has two important jobs there. He is the foremost meat merchant of the town of 12,000 and he is its mayor.

Sam's brother, Steve, put the finger on Mayor Houk. He, Steve, is a fast man with the finger. He said Houk was in love with Marilyn and conceivably could have killed her, a somewhat interesting combination of emotions. He said it out loud before the cops, too, and when he did so this Houk, a normally even-tempered man, lunged at him manfully and tried to dice him. Cooler heads and stronger biceps intervened.

The mayor had a nervous breakdown as a result of the case. On the stand he was a man completely incapable of asnswering a direct question instantly.

For example, John Mahon, the tender-voiced prosecutor, asked him if he had joined with Sam and Marilyn Sheppard in social functions in the past. Mayor Houk must have thought for a full minute (which is a long time in court) before he answered, "What do you mean, 'Social functions'?" Another time he pondered so long over a question, roughly comparable to "What is today?" that he asked to have it repeated.

Mrs. Houk, the poor soul, testified most of the time with her eyes closed. When they opened she gave the ceiling or walls of Judge Blythin's hand-ball-sized courtroom a vacantly piercing stare. It fell this gentle woman's lot in life to be the first (except the murderer) to look upon the horrifying pulp of Marilyn Sheppard's head and then to face the burden of having her husband named as one who had secretly loved the dead woman.

It became her chore, too, to spirit the little Sheppard boy out of the house on the morning of the murder.

Mrs. Houk must be a fine woman. She saw to it that the door of the lad's mother's room was closed before she led the little boy past it. She arranged for his Uncle Richard to awaken him, so he would not be startled. When she got the child to the yard and he asked her about the ambulance parked there (waiting for Marilyn's body) she explained that Dr Sam had had a small accident resulting in a bump on the head. Dr. Sam, at the moment, was being shot out of a cannon, more or less. He was being catapulted off by Dr. Steve. As of this point in the testimony nobody has quoted him as saying, "Bring Chip."

But, as I said earlier, the trial is young. However, many of its principals (and Boswells) have aged. And the people nearest it will never be the same again.

Judge Fines Driver With Wrong Paper

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Eddie Roy Robertson, 32, was asked in Traffic Court why he was driving without a license.

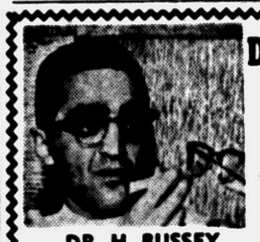

He drew an envelope from his pocket and began thumbing through some papers.

"I guess I lost it," he said after a minute.

But court attaches had already spotted a familiar looking document among the papers. Handed to the court on demand, it showed that Robertson's license had been revoked in Elizabethtown last month for drunk driving.

That was all the judge needed to know. He fined Robertson $100.

Ailing Young Mother Gets Thousand Letters of American Goodwill

TOKYO, (AP)—An ailing young Japanese mother has received a thousand letters from America.

The woman, on a tuberculosis sickbed, has written letters urging peace and international good will to the United States, Russia and Red China.

She was swamped with American answers, but has yet to hear a word from the Reds.

Three months ago, Mrs. Chizu Tomizawa, 25, wrote 48 letters to leading American newspapers in each state, asking to exchange letters with Americans.

"Japanese newspapers were attacking the United States in relation to the H-bomb tests in the Pacific which hurt some of our fishermen," she said. "But I wanted to believe in the good will of Americans . . . A person who may die soon ought not to hate anyone."

Young Japanese students, impressed at the 1,000 replies she received, wrote similar letters to Canada, Australia and New Zealand. Another thousand letters came quickly.

More than a month ago, Mrs. Tomizawa wrote 150 letters to Russian and Red Chinese newspapers and organizations. She has yet to receive a single reply.

Comical Harpo Marx Gets Cantors to Fill Up Everything With Water

By EDDIE CANTOR

About 23 years ago when I first moved to Beverly Hills, I walked into my home one day to find my wife and some of the help running frantically around filling every available receptacle with water.

"The Beverly Hills water supply phoned a little while ago," Ida said, "telling us the water would be shut off for twelve hours." Bathtubs were filled, pots and pans—we had enough water for Esther Williams to swim in for the rest of her life.

Harpo Marx walked in at this moment, and I noticed the twinkle in his eye when he asked, "What's going on here?" You guessed it. Harpo was the "Beverly Hills Water Supply Company."

Fanny Brice loved to cook. It was in New York at her apartment one evening that she decided to make spaghetti for the gang. We had just started eating when we began foaming at the mouth. It tasted awful. No wonder W. C. Fields said he wasn't hungry—the rascal had mixed the grated cheese with a handful of soap flakes.

This incident concerns a waiter named Luigi in a restaurant in Naples, and the greatest tenor the world has ever known, Enrico Caruso. Whenever he was in Naples, he dined at one particular restaurant and permitted no one to wait on him except Luigi. This became Luigi's claim to fame—he was Caruso's personal waiter.

One evening the famous tenor came in with a party of friends and almost broke Luigi's heart by saying, "Luigi, please, tonight you no wait on me. You too old. I got to have a younger waiter."

Completely crushed, Luigi stumbled back to the kitchen, his eyes filled with tears. He picked up his hat and coat and was leaving the restaurant when the proprietor stopped him and gave him a note. Luigi opened it—read it—read it again.

Luigi was the new owner of the restaurant. Earlier that day Caruso had bought the place for his favorite waiter.

'Coaxial' Steering Bared

DETROIT (AP)—M. E. Trueman, works manager of the Chrysler Corp.'s suburban Trenton plant, said Thursday at least 65 per cent of all 1955 model Chrysler and De Soto cars will be equipped with "coaxial" power steering units. The Trenton plant supplies all of the power steering requirements for the company's five lines of cars: Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto, Chrysler and Imperial.

Judge in England Favors Reducing Number on Jury

LONDON (AP)—Lord Goddard, the lord chief justice of England, suggests the size of juries be reduced from 12 to 7 in all court actions except murder trials. And he says verdicts should not be unanimous but by majority vote.

Lord Goddard says retrials have become more frequent recently because one "unreasonable or prejudiced juror" can cause a mistrial. Smaller juries sat in courts during the war and served without risk of real injustices, he contends.

The question of a majority vote by reduced juries also has been advanced by Sir Gerald Dodson, senior judge of Old Bailey, London's criminal court. He told a jury which could not reach a verdict because one of its members differed from the rest:

"Perhaps one day our legislature may see fit to decide that a majority verdict of say 10-12ths may be valid."

Many lawyers opposed the idea of majority verdicts in murder trials.

"British justice has been built up on the belief that an accused man is always entitled to the benefit of any doubt in the minds of his fellow men," said one.

Open House Is Activity for PTA's

Wisner and Central Conduct Parents Through School

Wisner School was host to approximately 300 parents and friends Thursday evening at its annual open house.

Parents met with the teachers and viewed displays made by the children especially for the event. Each child's work sheets and books were displayed.

Handwork, drawings and exhibits were shown to illustrate aids in teaching. Rooms were decorated with Thanksgiving themes. Parents signed guests books and they visited the rooms.

Central

Central School's open house was also held on Thursday evening. Mrs. Dale Rolfe, chairman for the recent fair reported on the proceeds from the event. She announced that a Christmas party will be given for homeroom mothers and teachers on Dec. 14.

Mrs. Ray Meiser led in group singing and Mrs. Stuart Galbraith, principal, gave a short talk. She presented an outline to the parents and a guide to them when visiting the rooms for the open house.

Included in guide were questions such as, how does your child's work compare with the past? Is he growing and improving? What is your child's attitude toward school? Can home and school, working together improve a child's attitude toward learning? What do you want your child to learn in school? Who is responsible for building a good school?

After a tour of the rooms and visits with teachers a social hour was held.

Tops Are Tops in Designer's New Creations

NEW YORK (NEA) — Because the top of the silhouette has gained such fashion emphasis this fall, blouses are getting imaginative neckline treatments and collars of many shapes and sizes. There's freshness, too, in the way detailing is used at the back as well as front of a blouse.

The fill-in necklines and removable collars in the new blouses are real budget-savers for career and college girls since they permit a daytime-to-date transition. Fill-ins sometimes take the shape of a turtleneck gilet which, when removed, leaves a flattering boat neckline that's a background for pretty accessories.

Sailor collars and peaked-back collars add as much individuality as the new back treatments that often have narrow, flat pleats set below a yoke.

Precautions Help Keep House Neat

No matter how they try, a family inevitably gives in to the presence of a baby. There are diapers in the front hall, rattles under the sofa, dirty T-shirts on the bathroom floor, towels draped on chairs.

In crowded quarters, there is little to do but relax and try to clean up before company arrives.

One bane that is unpleasant, however, is the endless succession of little blots on the rug, sofa and clothes, where baby spit up a touch of milk. The odor clings.

Protect yourself against this with a big apron that covers shoulders, an old sheet on the floor where Baby plays and another over the sofa where he's fed. Wash them often.

Make Own Cream

If your cosmetic budget is rather tight, try making your own massaging cream. Simply combine thick soapsuds with a bit of salad oil. Works wonders for roughened skin.

Her unique demonstration, scheduled for 2 p.m. on Dec. 1 at the Birmingham Community House, is being sponsored by the Birmingham and Bloomfiled Hills Branches of the Women's National Farm and Garden Association. General chairman of arrangements is Mrs. J. C. Roberts of Birmingham, program chairman of the Detroit Garden Center.

Swimsuits Have 'Pared Down' Look

The body emerges beautifully emphasized in the "pared down" silhouette of a new swimsuit collection for resort and summer 1955.

First introduced in swimsuits last year by designer Margit Fellegi, this silhouette with its heightened bosom, elongated molded middle, and lowered hip interest, looks even more timely this season as the eye becomes more adjusted to it and as it enters a period of exquisite refinement of detail, imaginative fabrics, and delicious colors.

As a dramatist uses a stage, one famous designer uses the simplicity of the silhouette as a backdrop for all kinds of exciting "goings on". Three major themes are spotlighted. "What's New? Blue!" is the catch line for a series of beach fashions in a bright dark blue that is looming importantly in the fashion picture.

Teh "Undersea" group capitalizes on the national interest in skin-diving. The designer commissioned an undersea explorer, who is also a fabric designer, to translate to fabric the textures, colors, luminosity, and beautiful shapes of the undersea world.

The third, resulting from a trip to Spain last spring, is a stimulating group of fashions that are Spanish in silhouette, color and trim. Included are the long slim flamenco line of the Spanish dancing dress, ruffles accenting bosom and hips, braid-trimmed short suits and liesure pants muleta-slim as a matador's costume. All come in hot, pulsating Spanish colors.

The "pared down" silhouette embraces many variations. At its sparest, barest minimum, it is a body-slick maillot. But even shorts, bloomers and skirted styles have been pruned down to reflect the new slimmer body line.

The lengthened look is frequently achieved by an unbroken princess line. It is also notably expressed by asymmetric drapery that wraps the figure with spiral folds. This silhouette is the essence of a subtle new kind of femininity because it emphasizes a woman's own body, not an encasement of fabric that submerges her body.

There are special types of floor tile on the market these days that don't require any adhesive. They are just set over a smooth clean floor and pressed down. They will hold their position this way indefinitely but can be picked up should you decide to move and and to take your flooring with you. Nice for people who rent.

Her Letter Would Only Be Harmful

'Dear John' Should Bring Only Silence, 'Other' Girl Is Out

By ELIZABETH WOODWARD

"Dear Miss Woodward: I fell in love with him at first sight, and when he went into the service we wrote to each other every day. When he was home I saw him nearly every day of his 23-day leave—he asked me to go steady and I agreed I would if I could still go to my school activities.

He wrote every day after he left—the last one came two days ago and was a "Dear John." His excuse for not wanting to go steady or write any more is that he thinks he has fallen in love with another girl he has been writing to. He said he hadn't really loved me when he was home but had thought if he saw me enough I might make him love me. That didn't happen, apparently.

"My family and his family have all told me to wait—that in a couple of weeks he'll come crying back to me. But I don't think he will. I love him so much I don't know what to do. If I ever get the other girl's address I'm going to write to her! Don't you think I should?"

It wouldn't be very wise to put any of the feelings you're churning with right now on paper. You're hurt, bewildered, jealous, crushed. None of that would sound pretty in a letter.

What can a girl say after a "Dear John"? Practically anything would turn out to be immodestly revealing. He doesn't want to write any more, so no reply is really necessary. It's better to leave him wondering how you're taking it, wondering what you're thinking and how you're feeling. It would certainly do no good to tell him.

As for the other girl in the case. You've nothing to say to her on any subject. She's no affair of yours. You don't know anything about her, you know nothing of their friendship or the details of their dates and their correspondence.

All you know is his feeling that his leave at home with you was no kind of a success. From your angle everything seemed smooth and wonderful. From his, something was lacking. He thinks he gave up hope of loving you way back there. This new girl came along after he had already made up his mind to break with you.

Will pleading letters, arguing letters, scolding letters do your cause any real good? I doubt it. Dignified silence—as far as he and his girl are concerned — is a wiser course. In silence you avoid putting your cards humbly on the table; you keep your pride; you leave the way open for him to come back if he changes his mind. It keeps you from saying sentimental things you'll both remember. He with annoyance, you with embarrassment.

Does a Career Impair Womanhood?

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. P.'s daughter-in-law is a highly paid young advertising executive. At a recent birthday party for her five-year-old Marilyn, she gave her a magnificently equipped doll house. It is, says Mrs. P., just one of many such too-wonderful toys that are lavished on this little girl.

She writes: "I wish you'd comment on the wastefulness of giving little children expensive toys that they cannot appreciate."

Working mothers often have a hard time controlling this kind of over-indulgence of their children.

For though such mothers tell themselves they have most solid reasons for spending time in offices instead of at home, they do not always believe in them.

Often, they are continually haunted by an uneasy feeling that their real job is answering Marilyn's question, not those of their employer and his customers. To still their guilty sense that they are denying the child what belongs to her, they will try to distract her attention from the real denial with extravagant gifts.

This uneasy fear that she is not a whole mother is the chief problem of the working mother — and reflects her real trouble: her suspicion that earning money for her family violates her womanhood.

It's no wonder that we suffer from it. In our country, we have the fond delusion that to "emancipate" people, all you have to do is say, "Now you are free." Actually, of course, we so-called "emancipated" women of America are just beginning to work out the confusions developed from our claims to "equality" with men.

So to working mothers, generally, I want to say that we can work in offices, factories or homes with equal womanliness—if we do not work out of contempt for what our man can give us.

It is this contempt, not the location of our work, which is the confuser. For it brings us into direct conflict with the basic needs of our emotional nature.

Our bodies define this nature for us. Their function is to take male energy, nourish it — and transform it into a child. Our emotional nature fulfills itself in the same way, and is happiest when we are transforming other kinds of male energy into homes and comforts and new usefulness.

Thus, to feel contempt for our husband's earning power is to despise our own feminine ability to nourish and create from it. Nor can all the money we flaunt in his face buy us anything but more confusion.

A casserole dish is a life saver for anyone feeding a large family. Mrs. John Ashby of Westacres makes frequent use of such one-dish meals to keep her family of four children well fed. The recipe she gave us to share with you may be made with any kind of meat, although beef is called for in the original recipe.

Home, church and school activities keep Mrs. Ashby's schedule full. She belongs to the University of Michigan Alumnae group here in Pontiac, is active in her church as choir singer and group president and takes part in a Child Study Club.

BEAN AND BEEF POT
By Mrs. John Ashby

1 cup diced celery
3 onions, sliced
2 cups leftover beef, cubed
¼ cup flour
3 packages frozen lima beans (or 2 cans limas)
1 green pepper
1 quart canned tomatoes
1½ teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper

Brown meat, onions and celery in a little fat. Add the flour and stir smooth. Cook the lima beans. Add cooked beans and the rest of the ingredients to the thickened meat mixture. Pour into a casserole; cover and bake 1 hour at 350 degrees. Will serve 6-8.

Any leftover meat may be used, or the recipe may be made with 1 pound of stewing beef, cubed in inch pieces.

Boudoir Chairs Made of Lucite

Upholstered lucite chairs for the bathroom or milady's vanity add an elegant air to grooming. Some are backless, while others have a back rest. It's nice to have such a note of glamour in the bathroom—usually the one room in the house with stationary "furnishings."

Nicest of all, however, is the fact that Lucite is a plastic and easy to sponge clean with soapsuds. It won't make any difference if lipstick gets smeared on the chair, or if Junior daubs it with cold cream.

Get Expert Advice in Job Hunting

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"I HAVE just sent out about fifty letters and resumes to firms I would like to work for," a young woman writes. "I know it was a good letter and a good resume, and I carefully selected my firms.

"But that was about a week ago, and I have heard from only a handful. Wouldn't you think companies would answer a decent job-hunting letter?"

In the first place, give them time.

In the second place, it is much better to follow up on these things yourself. After a few days, telephone the secretary of the man to whom you wrote, ask if your letter was received and if it would be possible for you to have an appointment even if there isn't a specific opening.

Many firms judge your enthusiasm, and how much you mean business, by whether or not you follow up your resume. You don't have to be aggressive; just polite, but serious about it.

Be very nice to the Big Man's secretary; you'll be judged by your telephone manners. In fact, it's a good idea to say, in your letter:

"I will telephone your secretary in a day or two to see if I might have an interview with you against a possible future opening." If the firm is out of town, too far away to telephone, it is then best to say: "I am enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelop, and hope I may hear from you soon."

In business, as elsewhere in life, good manners and thoughtfulness pay off.

"I have just been to a vocational counselor," another reader writes, "and she helped me plan my job - hunting campaign and prepare a resume. I showed the resume to a few friends, but they think is is awful. I have my Master's Degree, and they think it should be mentioned in the resume, but the counselor said no. Who is right?"

Friends are never much good as critics of job-hunting campaigns or resumes. The things your friends think are nice about you, or impressive about you, are not very often what the employer would find impressive.

If the counselor you consulted is a good one, I'd stick with what she says. Perhaps a Master's Degree is not needed in the field you are going after, and it would give the employer the impression that you're too academic or "overqualified."

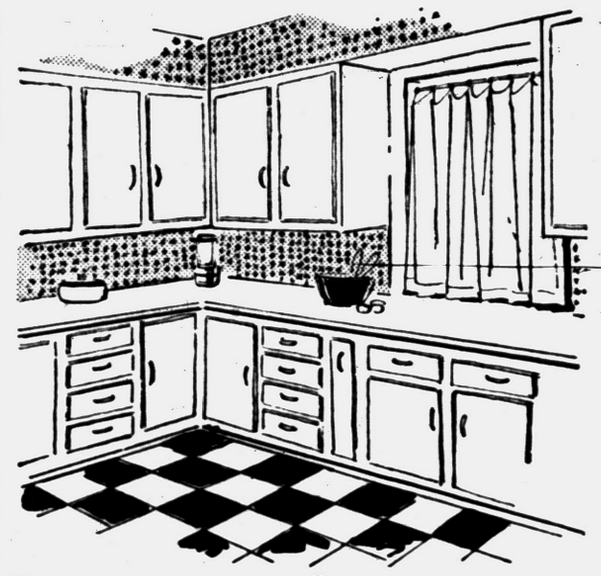

At any rate, it's best to leave friends out of your job-hunting activities.

Decorators Suggesting Pink Popular for Kitchen

By ELIZABETH HILLYER

Pink is popular for everything these days, and it makes its way to the kitchen. How can a kitchen be changed to a pink color scheme?

The first thing to decide is just how pink you want the kitchen to be. If pink has always been the best beloved color, it can be fairly bright and used widely without becoming tiresome.

But a soft, medium shade of pink, very pale pink or a rosewood shade is often a better choice. The cabinets might be painted any one of these shades, and they alone make the change-over to pink.

Here the cabinets are pink and a gray background wallpaper with tiny designs in two shades of pink, green, and touches of black is used on the wall. The black echoes the black and white of the floor, and curtains are white. For more emphasis of the pink, the wallpaper might have a pink background and a lightly traced pattern in black, and this type of paper might also be used with white cabinets.

If the cabinets are natural wood, pink that leans toward rose is better related to the wood than a typical pastel. Natural wood cabinets might also be stained a rosewood pink and emphasized with medium to keep rose pink for the wall color.

Poor Taste at Luncheon Was Shown

Consideration for Hostess' Kindness Lacking in Guest

By EMILY POST

A reader tells me: "Last week, I, along with two other women, was invited by a mutual friend to lunch in a restaurant. One of the women guests ordered the most expensive dish on the menu.

Although I myself like this particular dish very much I did not order it because of the price and ordered something else. In discussing this later with a friend, I said that I thought Mrs. X showed very poor taste in ordering the most expensive dish on the menu, but she disagreed with me saying that if that was what she liked, she was quite right in ordering it. I think some consideration should be shown for the hostess' pocketbook. I would appreciate your opinion on this matter."

If the hostess had suggested it as being a speciality of that particular restaurant, it would have been quite right for her to say, "I'd like that very much." But to just pick out the dish of highest cost on the menu was very unreasonable.

Dear Mrs. Post: My personal physician is to be married soon. While I think a great deal of him, I know him only professionally so am not familiar with his tastes, nor am I acquainted with his future wife.

Under the circumstances, would it be proper to send him a check for a wedding present rather than by something that will probably be a "white elephant" in their house.

If you are very well to do, then I think a check would be most welcome. But if the check must be small then I think it would be better to choose a present.

Dear Mrs. Post: A business acquaintance of my husband and his wife entertained us at dinner and the theater. Having expressed our thanks for a most enjoyable evening, is it necessary to write a note saying once again how much we enjoyed the evening? I had met our host once before but I had never met his wife.

Your verbal thanks at the end of the evening was sufficient.

Many a girl has thought she was the eighth wonder of the world until she caught her boyfriend out with one of the other seven.

Achievement Leads to Higher Goals

By MARY MARGARET McBRIDE

Anybody want to bet that actress Betty Hutton will keep her publicly expressed resolution to lead a "dull" life from now on? Because I'll take on all comers.

Mind you, I don't doubt for a moment she meant every word of it when she cried out unhappily not long ago that she was quitting show business to take up sewing and card-playing because she just can't "stand the heartbreak any more."

I know how she was feeling, too. So do you. You work your heart out, give the best you have, and then get slapped down. Your effort is rated zero and you are too tired to realize that this, too, will pass as other catastrophes have.

The wise and philosophical Rosalind Russell described to me the way she worked herself out of such a period of despair. She'd been seriously ill, unhappy with her motion picture roles and no longer felt she had talent for the work she loved.

Recovered from her illness, Miss Russell uprooted herself from Hollywood and went to New York. She landed a job—in a road company touring the country.

"There was one question I had to answer before I could even start back to normal," she mused. "It was 'What'll I do if I'm a flop in this too?'

"And when I could answer, Why, I'll just pick myself up again, dust myself off and try something else quickly,' I knew I could again face life and what it brings."

The durable Tallulah Bankhead, whose career, in spite of her international reputation, has been a series of professional ups and downs (it's way up again right now with her play "Dear Charles" a smash Broadway hit) also understands the necessity for taking reverses as part of the game and working doggedly through the period when a less experienced person would threaten to give up.

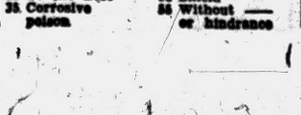

"When you make a name for yourself," Miss Bankhead once remarked to me, "you can't stand still. As you reach each new level, you have to start getting above it right away. To stay in the public eye you must keep moving ahead all the time. It's rugged."

That ruggedness was what made Betty Hutton say that she was ready to relinquish all the glittering perquisites — the name in lights, the autograph seekers, the goldfish bowl existence.

Ah, but Betty—remember what the critics said about you in that circus picture, how crowds watching you on the screen applauded your courage and vivacity? Remember what FUN you had learning to fly through the air and hang by your teeth? Remember how the critics have raved for years about your performances?

If you could just relax now and have fun—and it CAN be fun—crocheting, cooking up messes in the kitchen, being a den mother in the Scouts and playing canasta—I'm betting that after awhile other opportunities will come along and you'll know again the bliss of having dope your job superlatively and being acclaimed for it.

Cover Electrical Outlets With Caps

There are now inconspicuous caps to cover electrical outlets on the market. For any outlet not being used with a plug, these are a good idea.

Baby will begin to poke into things and explore very soon and the electric outlets aren't good for him. It's a good idea, if you have a choice, to push furniture against those plugs you use to prevent Baby from pulling them out.

If there's a room with an overhead light, that's a good place for him to play when he's indoors, for you can remove the fragile lamps with tempting cords.

An electrical condenser is a device consisting of two metal plates with the capacity to store up an electrical charge.

Knitwear Good Sparkle Fashion for This Year

NEW YORK (NEA) — The knitwear fashion is one that has a real importance this year. Far from being basic and conservative, it sparkles in a highly individual manner.

No longer is the knit dress the sole property of the girl with the perfect figure (whoever she is). Traditional weaves have given way to interesting textures, new weaves, clever styling and versatility. The new wider skirts mean that the woman who wears a half size may wear knits as gracefully as the tall, slender girl.

Like tweeds and other woolens, knit fashions now span the seasons. They're as wearable in the warmth of the tropics as they are in wintry cities. Further, many of them are convertible, with small jackets or dickeys that transfer them from suitable wear to a dress that's exactly right for dinner out.

Any woman who's ever taken a knit suit along on a trip knows that it packs beautifully and is comfortable to wear, on plane, train or in a car. The double-duty knit fashions are particularly good for travel, saving precious room in a suitcase.

Newest knits now come in reproductions of woolen imports, in paisley patterns, in tweed patterns.

By MARGARET LATROBE

They got me covered — the insurance companies, I mean. You name it — fire, theft, life and limb — and there is a large mass of fine print in my safety box stating that some body is gonna pay off, when, if and as. Right at mother's knee, along with the difference from right and wrong, black and white, we learned to place our trust and premiums with the insurance man.

LATROBE

But with all my fine coverage, there is something referred to in the vernacular as the "$25 deductible," which has been a source of exasperation to me.

As you know, this means that first you subtract th sum of $25 from any insurance loss you are lucky enough to incur. Then you collect over and beyond this sum.

Well, I never would have believed the things one can lose which cost $24.95, or slightly less. That pair of shoes I left at Aunt Min's was lost in the mail, but could I get the insurance man to fly right? Not a chance. If I had been bright enough to have asked Aunt Min to send along the old fur piece she said she might part with — then we would have had a loss worth talking about. Surely a 1913 mink scarf would rate the attention of the adjustor.

There was one year when I expected to be in insurance clover. That was when I took out the policy without any deductible. Drop a handkerchief, they paid you. Lose one glove, they picked up the tab. Even a lead pencil, I guess, they would have replaced.

That was the year when I couldn't lose one single sou's worth of merchandise. Even the folks I had lent books to all came trotting back with them. But it just didn't seem right to carry this dandy policy without getting my money's worth — and sure enough, a jacket disappeared. It cost just $25, and I recovered just $25. Also found the jacket the next week, right in the closet. Returned the money, feeling slightly foolish.

Well, you can't win and you can't lose, with insurance. At least, you can't lose anything worth less than that deductible clause, and win. That's the way it works around here. It just dawned on me—maybe I don't own anything worth more than $25. And if so, what am I doing here, anyway?

Fish Alters Color Two Times a Day

ROTORUA, N. Z. (UP) — In the United States the name "Harvey" usually is associated with invisible rabbits, but in New Zealand it is the given name of a strange fish that changes color twice a day at regular intervals.

Harvey is a male four-colored rainbow trout weighing about four pounds and measuring 18½ inches long. He lives at Taniwha Springs, an attractive sightseeing area not far from this center of New Zealand's thermal area.

From the dorsal fin to the end of the tail Harvey is "lettuce" green. The normal color from the nose to the dorsal fin is dark green. During regular feeding periods the front portion of the body changes from dark green to a light green similar to the usual lettuce shade of the rear half.

The section of the body after the dorsal fin does just the opposite. It changes from lettuce green to dull khaki. Soon after the fish finished feeding, the normal coloring returns.

Ancient Hair 'Restorer'

BUFFALO, N. Y. (INS)—Remedies that claimed to grow hair and cure baldness were as popular hundreds of years ago as they are today. And just about as ineffective. Researchers of the Arner Co., pharmaceutical manufacturers, offer this ancient example: To stimulate hair growth, patients were given medicine supposed to contain the heel of an Abyssinian greyhound, donkey's hoofs and date blossoms boiled in oil.

One Eye Moves About on Head of Flatfish

Flatfish—flounder, sole, halibut and dab—hatch with eyes on each side of the head and swim freely about, back upright, near the sea's surface. As the small fish grow, says the National Geographic Society, one eye begins to shift, gradually moving across the head until it reaches a position near the eye of the opposite side. From then on the fish usually rest flat on the sea bottom with both eyes in a position to watch the approach of food.

What Education Means to Me

Sister Happy for Chance to Teach, Guide Children

Editor's Note: Fifth in a series on "What Teaching Means to Me" published by the Pontiac Press during American Education Week, Nov. 7-13 is written by Sister M. Mercile, Immaculate Heart of Mary, first grade instructor at St. Fredericks School, Pontiac. A truly dedicated teacher, Sister Mercile has had eleven years in elementary classrooms. Three of these years have been at St. Frederick. The parochial, as well as the public schools, have heavy classloads—Sister Mercile has 59 this year.

By SISTER M. MERCILE

Every September, as I walk into my first grade classroom, a sea of faces greets me—all kinds of faces, some smiling, eager, ready for the new adventure; others fearful, apprehensive of what lies before them; still others, tearful, and some few, perhaps, rebellious to the point of almost having to be lassoed to their seats.

Before long these faces become more than faces.

Each child emerges as a distinct personality, claiming to be known and loved and understood in his own right. It is then that I realize how much I love being a teacher and how grateful I am that God has given me the opportunity of doing one of the noblest things that can be done—the task of bringing truth into the mind of a child so that he can grow to be the kind of person his family, his country, his church can be proud of.

When he comes to me—my little first grader—his mind is already inquisitive, wanting to know the why of things, as his mother and father can readily testify. It is my task not to stifle, but rather to channel, his curiosity so that very soon he will be able to see relationships and start off on little tours of his own.

After a few weeks in school he wants to know not merely A and T—but now it's "Mommy, does A and T spell at? I know some other words like that—They're cat and hat and fat and mat—Why! I can almost write a poem."

Not only must he be content to know how to count from 1 to 100. He must want to know that if there are 6 rows of seats in his first grade room with 10 seats in a row that there can be 59 other first graders in the room with him (too many for any one person to handle, but we thank God for the strength to handle them and realize that there isn't one we'd want to give up if we had the chance to.)

There are many joys that come a teacher's way—joys that more than offset the inevitable weariness of each day's end: the changing of that possessive tendency that wants to say "That's mine" to the more generous one of "Would you like some?" The changing of the impulse that wants to throw one's coat on the floor to the more gracious one of picking up some one else's.

And to the religious teacher there comes the added joy of knowing that she is trying to help prepare citizens of two worlds—to help the boys and girls entrusted to her by their parents to be a credit to their country for all of time and a credit to their God for all eternity.

Queen Mother Wins Over Judy Holliday

WASHINGTON (UP) — Judy Holliday, the cutie from Hollywood, called on George Magoffin Humphrey, Judy cried a mite because the secretary of treasury could not go with her to attend a savings bond dinner where the star was to receive an honor.

Humphrey said he had a date to go to a dinner for the Queen Mother. Judy puckered again and said:

"Bring her along; we'll have a lot of fun."

The spirit likely was willing, but the secretary had commitments.

LINCOLN CAPRI COUPE — Marked by a new horizontal grille and ornamentation on the front, and unusual tail light assembly, Lincoln and Lincoln Capri for 1955 will be on display Nov. 23. Shown above is the Lincoln Capri coupe. The cars present an all-new turbo-drive automatic transmission, an overhead valve V-8 engine of 225 horsepower, dual exhausts and tubeless tires. The cars will be shown here by the Central Lincoln Mercury Sales Inc., 40 W. Pike St.

Teacher Sees Good Year in '55

U. of M. Research Head Optimistic on Economic Outlook

ANN ARBOR (UP)—Prof. George Katona, director of the University of Michigan survey research center says he is optimistic about the economic outlook for 1955.

"I'm an optimist," Katona told a campus conference on consumer attitude and demand yesterday, "but 1955 will be a better year than 1954, though not quite as good as 1953."

Katona said surveys indicate the average citizen sees the conomy as "depression-proof."

"Unemployment and the loss of overtime hours has never really shaken the public confidence," he said. "And if the customer is satisfied and feels secure he will be more likely to open his pocketbook," he added.

Katona challenged the suggestion that there is a buying "saturation point." And he said "there is no reason to believe that prosperity is its own gravedigger.'

Katona said 86 per cent of the people questioned have said there are things they want to buy that they put off buying last year. The majority, interviewed, he said, feel they are economically better off than they ever were.

Disregard Party Shambles Until Morning: Duke

LONDON (UP)—It's the end of a party. All the cocktail glasses are a mess and six are broken; ash trays full of olive pits and cigarette butts; French dressing on the rug; lipstick on the coffee cups.

Question: Should the shambles be cleaned up tonight, or wouldn't a really smart little woman go to bed and tackle the confusion in the morning?

The Duke of Edinburgh, husband of Queen Elizabeth II, gave a royal opinion last night.

"Leave the washing up until the morning — when you feel stronger," he said.

He stated his views to Mrs. David Legate, wife of the president of the Canadian University Club, which was host to the Duke.

The problem didn't arise last night because the party took place at a Mayfair hotel. And presumably it hasn't arisen in some time in the Duke's family.

Comic Book Seizure Grounds for Lawsuit

LONDON, (UP) — British schoolteachers seizing comic books from children in classrooms had better not destroy them. The kids may sue.

This warning was issued yesterday by the National Union of Teachers, whose legal eagles have come up with the following opinion:

"The comic is not valueless. Ownership does not reside in the teacher. To destroy it or otherwise deprive the true owner of it permanently would be an illegal act . . ."

Lincoln Offers More V-8 Power

Redesigned Engine and New Transmission Are Feature for 1955

New Lincoln models for 1955 will go on display in dealer showrooms on Tuesday, Nov. 23.

A restyled exterior, a new turbo-drive transmission, a redesigned overhead valve V-8 engine developing 225 horsepower and major chassis improvements are some of the features for the 1955 Lincoln and Lincoln Capri.

The Lincoln Capri series includes a special custom coupe, special custom 4-door sedan and a convertible. The Lincoln series consists of a custom sport coupe and a custom 4-door sedan.

A total of 16 solid body colors and 35 two-tone combinations and 24 interior trim options are offered.

Power steering, power brakes, electric window lifts and four-way power seat are optional equipment, as is Lincoln's custom built air conditioning system.

The Lincoln automatic transmission combines fluid torque converter with three-speed planetary gear. The rear axel ratio has been reduced from 3.31 to 3.07. Horsepower rating has been increased to 255, displacement to 341 cubic inches and cylinder diameter bore to 3.9 inches. The stroke remains at 3.5, but compression ration is increased to 8.5 to 1.

Lincolns will use a new 18 millimeter conical seat spark plug. Dual exhausts and tubeless tires are standard equipment. Rear tread has been increased to 60 inches.

A powered lubrication system which will lubricate the car by the mere press of a button is available on 1955 models.

The cars have a 123-inch wheelbase and an overall length of 215.6 inches.

Major changes have been made in material and in construction of many of the engine components, including main bearing caps, camshaft, push rod and tappets, valve rotators, timing chain and oil pump.

Mrs. Sheppard's Black Lincoln Up for Sale Now

CLEVELAND (UP)— The black Lincoln Continental automobile that Marilyn Sheppard used to drive is up for sale.

The murdered woman's brother-in-law, Dr. Stephen Sheppard, had a serviceman try the motor today at the Sheppards' lakefront, Bay Village home. Two car dealers looked the auto over.

"I'm surprised the way the motor turned over," said another brother of the accused osteopath, Dr. Richard Sheppard.

"I never thought it would start. It hasn't been run since the "Fourth."

That was the day Mrs. Sheppard was murdered.

Dr. Stephen Sheppard said the Lincoln would be sold, but that the Jaguar of the accused Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard would be kept in running order by one of his friends.

Escapees Back in Wayne Jail

3 Recaptured Shortly After Climbing Down Sheet Rope

DETROIT (UP)—Three men who broke out of the Wayne County Jail last night using a sheet rope to lower themselves from a second-story window, were back in custody today — recaptured minutes after their escape.

One of the trio is in Receiving Hospital with injuries suffered when the makeshift rope broke and he fell into a brick-paved alley.

Milburn Towers, 21, of Detroit was found by police lying where he fumbled, too hurt to move. Jerry Anglin, 23, and Juan R. Canadas, 25, both of Detroit, were captured a block from the jail by police in a scout car.

Sheriff's deputies said the three fastened four sheets to a steampipe and climbed through a window barred only by a heavy mesh screen. The men made the break after being transferred from their cellblock to a shower room.

Sheriff Andrew Baird said an investigation would be launched to determine how the three gained access to the window.

Union Votes Chrysler Strike

Body Division Walkout Could Cripple Output of 1955 Models

DETROIT (UP) — A strike which would cripple production and idle some 27,000 hourly and salaried employes of the Chrysler Corp.'s automotive body division (ABD) in Detroit and Evansville, Ind., has been approved by CIO United Auto Workers (UAW) in the two plants.

Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer and director of the union's ABD department, said he would seek immediate strike authorization from the UAW executive board.

Mazey said the dispute involved grievance issues in both plants. He said the strike vote in Detroit local 212 carried by 92.4 per cent but he did not disclose how many workers voted.

Mazey said local 265 in Evansville voted "favorably" to strike to settle "numerous grievances" there.

There are about 24,000 hourly and salaried ABD workers in Detroit and 2,900 in Evansville.

A strike, if called, could halt output of Chrysler's 1955 models. The ABD builds bodies for the corporation's Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto, Chrysler and Imperial cars.

Chrysler officials had no immediate comment on the strike threat.

Mazey said the dispute was touched off by "a general breakdown of collective bargaining."

Specific grievances listed by Mazey included the company's failure to reinstate 25 office workers discharged prior to a National Labor Relations Board (NLRB) election, a contract for office workers, production standards, health and safety problems, reclassification of wage rates and violations of seniority provisions.

Democrats Try to Avoid Tangle

Joe Addresses Rally of Supporters Meeting in Constitution Hall

FROM OUR WIRE SERVICES

WASHINGTON—A big dent could be made in the national debt if the Senate charged admission to its current atraction.

Like good theatre anywhere, hundreds more persons were turned away than could squeeze into the galleries to see the censure-McCarthy show.

Those who stood in line for hours and then had to go home without a look at their respective hero or heroes were, for the most part, good natured. But they wore their partisanship very near the skin and it is a wonder censure fights didn't break out in the long line which extended half-way across the Capitol and around the dome.

Several Democratic Senators conceded today they have been avoiding as much as possible any active role in the sometimes angry debate over proposed censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

"After all, this is primarily a Republican responsibility at this stage," Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) said. "Additional debate right now would only prolong this."

Sen. Symington (D-Mo), who clashed frequently with McCarthy during the McCarthy-Army hearings, said he plans to "stay out of this if I can."

Newsmen covering the pro-McCarthy rally at Constitution Hall last night were given complimentary admission cards with the word "press" penned on them in ink. The printed cards bore the notation: "Admit one anti-Communist."

A tearful Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy told more than 3,500 cheering and whistling adherents last night that his campaign against communism will "go on and on and on."

That will be so, he said, regardless of the outcome of Senate consideration of a move to censure him—a debate he said "makes me sick way down deep inside."

Seven members of Colgate University faculty at Hamilton, N. Y., have protested to Francis Cardinal Spellman a Roman Catholic priest's statement that a fund has been raised to oust Joseph R. McCarthy from the U. S. Senate "because of his Catholic ideals."

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Edward R. Martin, retired chief chaplain of the First Army, has said that five million dollars had been raised for such a purpose.

The seven faculty members at the college sent protesting telegrams to Msgr. Martin and to Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of the Archidiocese of New York. Copies of the protests were sent to local newspapers.

Ewalt on Committee of Recreation Society

Pontiac Parks and Recreation Director David R. Ewalt has been named to the Membership and Affiliation Committee of the American Recreation Society, according to an announcement from the group's headquarters in Washington, D. C.

The society is composed of 2,200 recreation leaders and administrators employed by governmental agencies, hospitals, industry and voluntary organizations.

BIG BITE—City employe William Baker operates a power shovel as excavation work continues at Pontiac's new municipal sanitary fill on Kennett road, near Dixie highway. The new fill is expected to go into operation next week after crews put the final earth covering on the old Orchard Lake avenue city dump. Refuse will be buried in pits at the new 40-acre site.

New Municipal Sanitary Fill to Open Next Week

After slightly more than six years of operation, Pontiac's municipal dump on Orchard Lake avenue will close sometime next week, DPW Supt. Joseph B. Jewell announced today.

The new city sanitary fill — not a dump — will be located on Kennett road near Dixie highway, not far from the city's western limits.

The difference between the dump and the fill, Jewell said, is this:

At the new site, all refuse — garbage and rubbish — will be buried in long pits and covered with a layer of dirt by a bulldozer at the end of each day.

Jewell explained that the site was originally an old abandoned gravel pit, with a 30-foot lake in its center.

"We started by dumping rubbish in the lake," he said. The practice was continued because of the pit's irregular layout.

Although the new site covers 40 acres as compared with the gravel pit's 8-10 acres, Jewell does not expect the new one to last much more than five years.

"You don't have the advantage of depth," he explained.

The gravel pit's floor was about 35 feet below the surrounding ground and the lake was 30 feet deeper than that. The Kennett road land is partially sandy loam, with half of its rolling terrain marsh land.

City workmen have begun digging the first sanitary fill trench. It measures 30 feet across by 12 feet deep, and when completed will stretch 2,000 feet.

Excess dirt is being piled up. "It will be used to cover the low areas where dirt isn't available, such as the marshy areas through the center of the property," Jewell said.

Other ditches will parallel the first after it has been filled with refuse.

A fence will be erected around the new property and regular hours will be maintained daily and Sunday. An attendant will be on duty to direct the dumping.

The fill will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. weekdays and 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. Sundays.

Its use will be restricted solely to Pontiac residents, Jewell said.

He issued a plea for users to cooperate by dumping refuse where the attendant directs so the fill may be operated in "an orderly and sanitary manner."

As for the old dump, a sore spot with Washington Park residents since its opening in August, 1948, City Manager Walter K. Willman said it will be covered with about three feet of earth.

He stated it will be at least two or three years before the land settles enough to be used.

"In the meantime, the surface will be planted with some turf-growing seed to keep weeds and dust under control," he said.

Pastor Admits Shooting Friend While Hunting

BLAIRSVILLE, Ga. (UP)—A Baptist minister admitted that while on a hunting trip six days ago he accidentally fired a shot which killed a companion at whose funeral he later preached.

Lt. Woody Wilson of the Georgia Bureau of Investigation said last night the Rev. Carl Brewer, 46-year - old pastor of four rural churches in Union County, admitted the accident in a statement issued through his attorney.

The officer said the attorney, Jack G. Tarpley, quoted the minister as telling this story of the incident:

He and Alvin Towe, 40-year-old farmer and the father of eight children, became separated while hunting Nov. 5. The minister said he fired at a squirrel and that when he went to retrieve the animal, he discovered Towe's body.

The minister said he notified Sheriff Verge Kelly but "because of fear of the consequences and shock" did not admit his part.

Wilson said the minister preached Towe's funeral Monday and that they were reported to have been "the best of friends."

Wilson said no official action was contemplated pending outcome of a coroner's inquest.

TWINKIE ON A TIGHTWIRE

Here is a little red squirrel that will travel along a thread in your home just as real squirrels run along telephone lines and tree branches.

1. Color Twinkie a bright rust red, leaving paws, stomach and lower edge of face white. Color cluster of nuts brown, and leaves green.

2. Paste squirrel and cluster of nuts down on stiff white paper with library paste. When dry, cut both out carefully. Bend tabs A, B, and C behind squirrel.

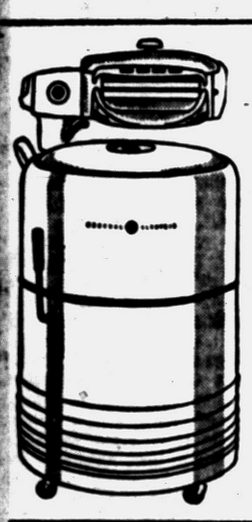

3. Punch hole in small circle under Twinkie's chin, and in nut cluster where indicated.

4. Diagram picture of squirrel will show you how to make Twinkie do his trick. Pass thin black thread through hole in cluster of nuts, then fasten thread with thumb tacks to reach across a window, or across the room. Make sure thread is tight.

5. Tie another thread through hole under Twinkie's chin. Place the squirrel on thread, using tabs A, B, and C to hold him. You can now pull Twinkie along to get cluster of nuts which should be placed at far end of wire. It's even more fun to place thread at an angle.

Scene of War Revisited

Quiet Patrols Only Action on Korean Battleground

(Editor's Note: United Press correspondent Jack Russell has revisited the former Korean battlefront nearly a year and a half after the truce went into effect. In the following dispatch he tells what he found along the only sector now held by Americans.)

By JACK RUSSELL

WITH 1ST MARINE DIVISION, Korea (UP) — Marines holding down a 21-mile-long section of the former Korean battlefront are the only United States troops along the line where Americans once bore the brunt of the bitter fighting.

It is left to a handful of these Marines to push out into the demilitarized zone — now referred to as the "DMZ" — on patrol each day. Three-man squads, armed with .45 calibre automatics, M-1 rifles and a radio, patrol the southern side of the zone on round-the-clock missions to see that the armistice is not violated.

About the only "enemy action" the Americans encounter is an occasional Communist rifle or field glass camera pointed at them.

About the only shots fired in anger are at line-crossers — who would be either spies or North Korean residents escaping to freedom across the two and one-half mile wide no-man's land.

Many of the line-crossers who risk the danger of mines and Allied and Communist bullets are captured.

One of them recently was a 64-year-old man who said he was trying to get to Seoul to spend the winter with his daughters.

Sometimes the Marines capture Communist soldiers, Cpl. Rudolph M. Newberger, 21, of Long Prairie, Minn., led a patrol which picked up a 13-man Communist working party in the southern zone.

Pfc. Jerry Allen Woodbridge, 21, of Modesto, Calif., who wears the red and white MP armband and a huge Marine buckle, the trademark of the DMZ company, told of the strange antics of one group of Red soldiers

"My squad stood within 10 feet of a Red squad at Boulder City with only barbed wire between us," he said. "We got them jittery by looking at them and when I stared at them through field glasses they turned around and left.

"They are always taking pictures of us, but once when they tried to photograph our field radio I threw a field jacket over it. They even sent out an artist one day and he squatted on the ground and sketched us."

The Reds keep the Marines under constant surveillance as they move through the brown grass. When the Marines enter the zone the Reds sound four gongs. When they near a Red outpost five more gongs are sounded.

Queen Visits Historic Town

Includes Williamsburg on Tour of American Landmarks

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (INS) — England's Queen Mother toured historic Williamsburg today in the style of the "Old Dominian"—riding over the cobblestone streets in a horse-drawn carriage.

Queen Elizabeth began her first full day of viewing Virginia by visiting the various historical spots and landmarks in the quaint town.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Rockefeller, who have spent $35-million restoring Williamsburg, were hosts to the Queen Mother at lunch today. The British ambassador to the U. S., Sir Roger Macon, and Lady Macon along with Winthrop Rockefeller also attended.

Tonight, she is to be feted at a reception dinner at the Williamsburg Inn.

Wednesday, the mother of Queen Elizabeth was cheered in Richmond where she spent the afternoon at the governor's mansion. Governor Thomas Stanley's nine-year-old grandson, Stan Chatham, after lunching with the Queen, commented:

"She's real pretty, but she didn't speak English too good . . . but I guess she speaks very good just to have been in this country for such a short time."

Bogart, Gable Old Fogeys, Younger Actor Charges

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A blunt-talking young actor today charged that Clark Gable and Humphrey Bogart should act their age on the screen and play father roles instead of romancing aging heroines.

"Both Gable and Bogart are over the hill romantically but don't know it," stormed handsome Bill Campbell, 28, in an unusually frank interview. Gable and Bogart are 53.

Campbell held that over-age Romeos last on the screen because of what he called a perversion of the Hollywood star system.

"Most of the leading women are 35 and then some," he said. "Yet they demand that the makeup department work miracles so they can keep on looking 21 year after year. They maintain this phony youthful look by throwing tantrums every time a young actor is suggested for a top role opposite them. So what happens? The choice roles go to the grandpa clique."

Campbell said he would have loved to challenge Gable in a screen test for Clark's upcoming role in "Soldier of Fortune."

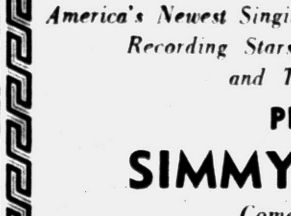

"In a closeup," boasted Campbell, "I couldn't have helped but come off better than Gable. When I get that many lines in my face, I'll play Susan Hayward's father, not her lover."

Comment was not at once available from Gable and Bogart.

Noted Architect Quits Wisconsin Over Tax Feud

MADISON, Wis. (AP) Frank Lloyd Wright says he is leaving Wisconsin and henceforth will conduct his architectural work from Arizona and New York.

The action of the famed 85-year-old architect followed a ruling of the Wisconsin Supreme Court Tuesday that Taliesin, Wright's studio home near Spring Green, Wis., is not an educational institution within the meaning of the Wisconsin law and thus is subject to local taxation.

Wright's decision to leave his native state was made known in a telephone call from Wright, in New York, to the Capital Times of Madison.

For the last 23 years Wright and the group of apprentices who work under his direction have spent summers in Wisconsin and have gone for the winter months to Taliesin West, near Phoenix, Ariz.

The decision upheld a lower court ruling that the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation is not entitled to tax exemption as an educational institution. The town of Wyoming, Iowa County, in which Taliesin is located, had sought collection of back property taxes from the foundation.

The foundation holds the 800-acre Taliesin property, which includes a farming operation. All of Wright's earnings are turned over to the foundation and Wright has a drawing account for expenses.

Red Chinese Warship Sunk by Nationalists

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—The Defense Ministry today said a Nationalist Chinese warship sank a Chinese Communist warship northwest of the Tachen Islands Oct. 28.

It said the Red ship went down after a nine-minute barrage. It was not identified, but may have been a gunboat.

'Gator Resists Arrest

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UP) — Right at the height of yesterday's rainstorm a two-foot alligator crawled down Wilshire Boulevard. Nobody knows where he came from. He's now at the Humane Society shelter after biting the police officer who picked him up.

The continent of North America has an average of one radio set for every two persons.

Rifleman Is Third in Line to Claim Deer's Carcass

LEWISTON, Maine (UP)—A hunter shot a deer yesterday but didn't get to keep the animal because he was at the end of the line.

The deer was run down accidentally by a motorist. Murray Hendsbee of Madison knocked the deer unconscious with a hammer and the rifleman finished the animal with a shot.

A game warden offered the deer to the motorist who declined. The carcass was accepted by Hendsbee.

Rare Birds Die in Fire

BALTIMORE (UP)—The Baltimore zoo lost $5,000 worth of rare birds—40 small ones, three pheasants and a hornbill—in a two-alarm fire which broke out yesterday on the ground floor of the old home housing the bird exhibit.

Frank Sinatra Offered Bogart Role in 'Sierra'

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS) — The whole town, and I presume, by the same token, the whole country, is talking about how great Frank Sinatra was on TV last Sunday. Things are really breaking for Frankie boy.

Warner Brothers has come up with the inspired idea of starring him in the role Humphrey Bogart did so impressively in "High Sierra." Author W. R. Burnett has rewritten the script, bringing it up to date, and it will be filmed in color and for wide screen.

Producer Willis Goldbeck asked for Frankie and thinks he would be a natural after his role in "Suddenly." However, Frank does not want to be typed as a bad man, so he has taken the offer under consideration.

After Gene Barry's raves in "Naked Alibi," in which he plays a psychopathic killer, he was signed sight unseen for "Soldier of Fortune."

This he thinks is the most exciting experience he's ever had because he takes off next week to join Clark Gable and the rest of the company in Hong Kong.

Reason he couldn't go with them was that he has publicity pictures to do on "The Purple Mask" at U-I. He flies out early next week and is already being fitted for wardrobe at 20th.

Dorothy Malone, who has been in Dallas practically in retirement with her grieving family since the tragic death of her young brother, called Hollywood on business.

She agreed to be the only girl in "Five Guns West" for Roger Corman Productions for which John Lund has been signed as one of five male stars.

Everyone expects Dorothy's stock to soar after "Battle Cry" is released. She is said to equal Marilyn Monroe in S.A. She also has "Young at Heart" with Doris Day and Frank Sinatra coming up.

Chatter in Hollywood: The last date Clark Gable had before he took off for Hong Kong was with Kay Speckels. They had dinner with Anita Louise and Buddy Adler at La Rue Restaurant.

As the four of them were having a glass of champagne, in walked the bride and groom—Mr. and Mrs. Pat Nerney. It was also Jane and Pat's last dinner in Hollywood before taking off on their European honeymoon.

Clark, Kay, Anita and Buddy toasted the happy bride and groom, and suddenly the whole room rose and raised their glasses to the newlyweds.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: A tempest has started on the MGM lot over the direction of "Ben Hur," which was given to Richard Brooks. A top director had set his heart on this assignment.

Arthur Cameron and his estranged wife Kay Aldrich were together on the ninth birthday of their daughter. But in spite of their frequent get-togethers they haven't been able to work out a reconciliation.

Blue Cross Starting New Coverage Plan

Michigan Blue Cross today announced a new low-cost group contract providing 365 days of continuous hospital care.

William S. McNary, executive vice president, said it is designed to help meet the cost of prolonged illness.

The new group contract is called the Cooperative because the member shares in the cost of his hospital care.

It will be made available to all enrolled groups starting Feb. 1, 1955.

At the same time, McNary announced that rates for the regular Blue Cross Comprehensive group contract will be increased 40 cents a month for single subscribers and $1.05 a month for those with family coverage effective Febru-

'M' Warned Spartans Primed for Upset

Patanelli Tells Wolverines That Foe Is Tough

Points Out That Team Has Piled Up 2,163 Yards This Year

ANN ARBOR (AP)—The Michigan football team swallowed a stern warning today that Michigan State was definitely "up" on the eve of the annual battle to crown the football champion of the state.

End Coach Matt Patanelli, who scouted the Spartans for Michigan, was certain of this: "You can bet that they'll have a full head of steam when they hit Ann Arbor."

Patanelli said it looked like the Spartan left halfback, LeRoy Bolden, was "his old self again." He said that Bolden looked great when the Spartans swamped Washington State 54-6 last weekend. The Flint flash has led Michigan State to three of their last five victories over Michigan.

But the Michigan end coach had only to show the Michigan State offensive yardage for the season to prove his point.

"Do you know how many yards they've piled up?"—Do you?" he asked. "It's 2,163. That's better than we've done.

"What kind of a team do you think they are? Their won and lost record is not a good indicator."

Spartans have won only one Big 10 game and lost four. Michigan has won four and lost one.

Patanelli said the Michigan State backfield had proven itself in the past against some very tough opponents. "They're fast and they're versatile," he said.

But the backfield was not the greatest of Michigan's worries.

"Their line is very fast," Patanelli added. "They're on you in a flash. There's not even time to think."

Then Patanelli went back to work with the Michigan team—a team that was causing head coach Bennie Oosterbaan a good deal of worry. His 1st string center, Jim Bates, a defensive stalwart at line-backer, probably won't play.

Michigan fullback Fred Baer, cut and slashed in a number of places, will be running under the handicap of bandages. At least one end, Tom Maentz, a sophomore, was complaining of a stiff back.

MSC Hopes to Defy Tradition, Pull Surprise

No State Team Ever Has Beaten Michigan Five Years in Row

EAST LANSING (AP) — All tradition says it can't be done.

But traditional games have a way of defying tradition, so Michigan State will try to upset the applecart Saturday in the 47th football game with Michigan in a series dating back to 1898.

No Michigan State team has ever beaten Michigan five games in a row. No new MSC coach has ever succeeded in downing the Wolverines in his initial season.

But there's a big matter of prestige involved for Coach Duffy Daugherty and his Spartans, both smarting after a disappointing record of only two wins in seven starts.

Although Washington State was badly overmatched, the game at least proved the MSC backs still have some of their old-time touchdown punch.

Michigan, a powerful defensive team with a 5-2 won and lost record, has to win in order to keep its Rose Bowl hopes alive. A loss would narrow the race to Ohio State and Minnesota.

A sellout crowd of more than 97,000 — the largest football attendance in the nation so far this season — will watch the struggle between the ancient rivals.

Attendance will top the 93,553 who saw the pro Rams and San Francisco 49ers meet at Los Angeles and the Ohio State - Wisconsin attendance of 82,636.

Michigan State hopes are heightened by the return to top physical form of LeRoy Bolden, still the squad's top ground-gainer although he has been hobbled by a leg injury most of the season.

There is still some concern, however, about the condition of quarterback Johnny Matsock, has been working out with the handicap of a pulled thigh muscle.

The MSC squad left Friday for Ann Arbor for an afternoon workout in the Michigan Stadium. Squad will spend Friday night at Jackson and will bus down to Ann Arbor for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

Busy Man

Red Wings' Ted Lindsay Tangles With Player, Coach, Spectator in 1-0 Loss

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (AP) — Ted Lindsay was a busy little hockey player last night, to say the least.

In order, the fiery captain of the Detroit Red Wings.

1. Swapped punches with Toronto's Jim Thomson.
2. Took a swipe at Coach King Clancy of the Maple Leafs.
3. Climbed into the seats and pummeled a spectator.

These were the riotous happenings in Olympia Stadium. The fact that the Red Wings dropped a 1-0 decision on Sid Smith's 2nd-period goal was lost in the furore created by Lindsay.

It all started in the 2nd period. Lindsay and Thomson engaged in a brief but hot fight, with both players landing several punches.

After they were separated, Lindsay skated in front of the Maple Leaf bench, where coach Clancy shouted at him. Lindsay lunged at Clancy, aiming a lefthanded punch at his chin. It missed as Clancy ducked below the sideboards.

Then, at the conclusion of the game, Glen Skov of the Red Wings and a spectator exchanged words. Lindsay went into the crowd and, like a machine, drove punch after punch at the spectator.

Detroit goalie Terry Sawchuk tried to get into the act. He climbed over the boards but was weighed down by his heavy equipment and couldn't get any whacks in, although his intentions were clear enough.

There were two versions of what started the post-game melee.

Said Lindsay:

"This guy yelled some obscenities to Skov."

The spectator said:

"I merely yelled to Skov, 'what crying towel are you going to use now'."

Police reported that the spectator said he was going to file assault charges against Lindsay.

After the game, Lindsay was more concerned with the controversial trade which sent Metro Prystai of the Red Wings to the Chicago Black Hawks for Lorne Davis, a player who has neither a goal or an assist this season.

The trade was termed by league officials as a move to help the have-nots in the league and, in the overall picture, save the league from folding.

Acting as a spokesman for his teammates, Lindsay said the Red Wings players were disappointed that Prystai was traded away on such premise.

"We feel badly about Metro leaving us," Lindsay said. "But we have the word of Bruce (Bruce Norris, part owner of the Red Wings) that such a deal won't happen again. We players want to prove that hockey is on the level and we're going all out to win the championship again."

Cadet Star's Eligibility Is Under Scrutiny

Army Spokesman Says Academy Is in Touch With ECAC Chief

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—A report that the eligibility of halfback Tommy Bell, the nation's leader in rushing averages, was being investigated has drawn a terse description as "much ado about nothing" from a high West Point official.

The New York Daily News published the report in a copyrighted story Friday, saying the investigation was under way because Bell is playing his fifth year of varsity football at the Military Academy.

Lt. Col. James T. L. Schwenk, graduate manager of athletics, said however: "We are aware of Bell's status and certainly don't think we are breaking any rules of the Eastern College Athletic Conference."

He added that the academy had been in touch with Asa Bushnell, ECAC commissioner, however, on the question of Bell's eligibility, but would not elaborate.

Bell, who has averaged 11.59 yards a crack, has been a main cog in Army's football unit this season. The Cadets have won six straight since losing to South Carolina in their opener.

'Good for Fair'

Prystai Trade Was a Compromise Move

DETROIT (UP)—Marguerite Norris, president of the Detroit Red Wings, said the agreement which sent Metro Prystai to the Chicago Black Hawks in return for Lorne Davis was a "compromise agreement."

Miss Norris said she and her brother, Bruce, co-owner of the Red Wings, agreed to trade a good player for a fair player rather than accept a "pool agreement" which was originally proposed.

She said under the agreement which sent Prystai to the Hawks, Montreal and Toronto were to give up two "fair" performers to prevent the "collapse of the league or a drop to four teams."

Red Wings president said she and her brother argued for five hours but finally submitted because she felt the option was the least "drastic."

The other option, she said, was to form a pool of extra players from which the bottom teams could draw as necessary.

In explaining the agreement, Miss Norris revealed for the 1st time that it calls for both Montreal and Toronto to send one player each to the Hawks in addition to other transactions which already have been announced.

Naming of KC Pilot Scheduled Next Week

LIGONIER, Pa. (AP)—Arnold Johnson, the man who bought the Philadelphia Athletics and is moving the franchise to Kansas City, says he'll name his field manager and general manager next week.

Johnson made the statement Thursday night at Pittsburgh in an airport interview before motoring to the exclusive rolling Rock Hunt Club. He said he'd devote the weekend to "hunting and relaxing."

The Chicago multi-millionaire didn't give an inkling of the men who will rebuild the Athletics and try to get them out of the American League cellar. He merely said he expected to make his choices known Monday or Tuesday at Kansas City.

However, in Chicago, Lou Boudreau, former manager of the Boston Red Sox, said he had been in touch with Johnson.

"But nothing is definite yet," Boudreau declared.

The Chicago Tribune said Johnson announced recently he planned to confer with Joe Cronin, general manager of the Red Sox. The Tribune added:

"Boudreau's contract with Boston, calling for an estimated $40,000 to $45,000, had another year to run. Johnson would want to know if the Red Sox will have to assume the entire obligation, or only the financial difference if Boudreau lands another job in 1955. Boudreau admitted he didn't know of such a twist in his contract."

Johnson said he has had many applications for the field job.

Asked if he had received an application from Bobby Bragan, manager of the Hollywood club in the Pacific Coast League, Johnson smiled and said:

"I've seen his name mentioned for the manager's job but there was nothing official about it."

There has been speculation that Parke Carroll, general manager of Kansas City when it was in the American Assn., might get the front-office job with the transplanted Athletics.

"I know Parke," Johnson said. "He is a fine man and a good friend."

Johnson said he'd fly to Kansas City Sunday night. On Monday, he added, the first order of business will be a conference with architects who are rushing plans to enlarge the Kansas City Baseball Stadium to 36,000 seat capacity.

Hunters Who Get Buck Locally Asked to Report

LANSING — Deer hunters who kill their bucks near Pontiac or elsewhere in southern Michigan during the Nov. 15-30 season are urged to telephone the Rose Lake Wildlife experiment station near Lansing.

Pontiac hunters can call the conservation department station collect at Lansing, FE 9-8638. A game biologist will go to the hunter's residence or locker plant, weigh the deer, measure its antlers and determine its age.

Even if the deer has been cut up before the biologist arrives, he can still obtain valuable information from the head alone.

"Last hunting season we checked 145 deer taken mostly within 50 miles of Lansing," Dr. S. T. Black, Rose Lake station chief, says. "Credit for this remarkable job must go first of all to the whole-hearted cooperation of the hunters who reported."

These studies have been made since the fall of 1951. Hunters have learned that they can expect southern Michigan deer to weigh more and have larger antlers on the average than northern deer of the same age.

Well-fed yearling bucks from southern Michigan farmland weigh 30 pounds more and average about twice as many antler points as yearlings from northern Michigan poor food areas.

Curley Cook Tops First Day of Field Trials

Curley Cook, a hound owned by Dr. A. S. Pearson of Woodruff, S.C., scored 150 points Thursday on the first day of the all-age trials.

Corburn Hill King, owned by C. D. Smith of Freeman, Mo., was second with 140 points and Meggs Rexie, owned by J. W. Meggs of Marshville, N.C., and J. M. Wade of Wenatchee, Wash., was third with 75 points.

A total of 280 hounds were released in the first cast. The all-age competition ends Saturday.

Gridders Hurt, School Moves to Hospital

Streaks at End in NBA Action

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A pair of streaks were at an end today in the National Basketball Assn. with the Fort Wayne Pistons no longer unbeaten and the Milwaukee Hawks finally in possession of their first victory.

The Pistons had swept through four games before bumping into the Syracuse Nationals, who held on to a third-period lead for an 88-86 victory Thursday night. The Hawks, meanwhile, shook off their five-game losing streak by defeating the Boston Celtics 95-85 on Ken McBride's 11-point outburst in the final period on a doubleheader card at New York's Madison Square Garden.

Fort Wayne retained its undisputed Western Division lead, however, as the New York Knickerbockers beat the Rochester Royals in a 79-78 thriller that filled out the twinbill at the garden.

Lightweight Title Bout in Philippines Postponed

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine lightweight championship bout between champion Flash Elorde and Japanese challenger Katsumi Kosaka has been postponed from Nov. 17 to Nov. 20.

The Philippine Games and Amusement Board said a cut over Kosaka's left eye, suffered in a fight with Filipino Bonnie Espinosa in Japan last month, has not healed.

Ferguson Top Rated Harrier

Iowa Runner Favored in Big 10 Test Today in Chicago

CHICAGO (AP) — Rich Ferguson of Iowa is favored to retain his Big 10 individual cross-country championship but Michigan State may have trouble hanging on to the team title today in the 40th annual conference race.

Spartans, winners for the last three years, were hard hit by graduation. Ohio State, having beaten MSC, may be the team to catch.

Full squads for the meet, at Chicago's Washington Park, have been entered by Michigan State, Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio State and Wisconsin. Minnesota will have a 2-man entry. Northwestern and Purdue are not entered.

Ferguson has taken the individual crown the last two years.

Notre Dame is expected to dethrone Western Michigan in the Central Collegiate Conference cross country meet on the same 3-mile Washington Park course after today's Big 10 competition.

Same course also will be the scene tomorrow of the Midwest Conference meet with Carleton, led by student coach and captain, John McCamanant, seeking its 3rd straight title.

Eastern Illinois State and Michigan Normal are favored in the Interstate Intercollegiate Athletic Conference harrier race tomorrow on the El Paso golf course near Bloomington, Ill.

Fuentes Is Jailed Following Bar Brawl

LOS ANGELES (INS) — Ramon Fuentes, top contender for the welterweight boxing championship, was jailed today after he assertedly broke a man's nose in a bar brawl.

The boxer, 27, was charged with suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon (a professional fighter's hands are legally considered deadly weapons). Gorman Ornales made the charge and told police that Fuentes struck him in the nose in the climax to an argument.

Fuentes denied that he struck Ornales and said it was someone else.

Las Vegas Boxer Is Winner Over Salas

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Hard-hitting Neal Rivers of Las Vegas, Nev., again proved too much for Charlie Salas Thursday night and won a unanimous decision over the Phoenix boxer in a 10-round rematch.

Crisler Won't Say if UM Will Accept Trophy

ANN ARBOR (UP)—University of Michigan athletic director Herbert O. (Fritz) Crisler today declined comment on whether the Wolverines would accept the Governor's Trophy if it defeats Michigan State Saturday.

"The university has made no official acceptance of the trophy," Crisler said. "We'll have to win the game before we make any announcement concerning the trophy."

The trophy — a huge figure of the legendary woodsman, Paul Bunyan — was donated by Gov. G. Mennen Williams last year to be used as a symbol of victory between the state's two Big 10 football teams.

A controversy developed when the university refused to say whether it would accept the trophy if it won the game last year but subsided as Michigan State won and willingly took the trophy back to East Lansing.

Moore Decries 'Win at Any Cost' Plans

NEW ORLEANS (UP) — Bernie Moore, southeastern conference commissioner, while speaking before the Chamber of Commerce members council, decried athletic programs which are set up to "win at any cost."

Moore, former Louisiana State University coach and a member of football's hall of fame, said he thought the firing of football coaches is the cheapest means a college can take to cover up a poor team.

Moore said he is interested in the value of the game to individual players and added that "athletic programs which are set up to win at any cost—even the boys' honesty—are no good."

Yankees Name Page Farm Team Manager

Bag Two Pheasants Without Firing Shot

Hunters chased the first pheasant into the Schmidt's front yard. The bird was so tired that Janice Schmidt, 15, picked it up and took it inside the house.

A short time later a pheasant fell dead in front of Schmidt, the victim of a hunter's bullet.

'Hunter' Gets His Buck 4 Days Before Season

NAPOLEON (UP) — Lester Felton bagged a 180-pound buck Wednesday, four days before the deer season started. But he bagged it in an unorthodox and legal manner.

Felton, who lives in Sharon Valley near Napoleon, was backing out of his farm drive to go to work when a deer suddenly stepped in back of his car and was run over.

Felton plans to go north for the hunting season next week.

Adams MIAA's Best in Rushing

Hope Back Averaging 6.4 Per Try; Hillsdale's Clark Top Scorer

VICKSBURG (AP)—Veteran Johnny Adams of Hope College continues to rank No. 1 in ground gaining in the MIAA football conference.

Adams has carried the ball 55 times for 354 yards—an average of 6.4 yards per try.

In total offense, Rolland Wahl of Olivet remained in 1st place, with a combined total of 672 yards. Wahl has completed 37 passes in 88 tries for 542 yards and has rushed for 130 yards. His passing record is tops in the conference.

Leading scorer is Nate Clark of Hillsdale, who has tallied 30 points on five touchdowns.

In team statistics, Hope boasts the best offensive record, averaging 333.2 yards per game. Hillsdale has the best mark on defense, yielding an average of 141 yards per game.

Cisco Andrade to Meet Mathias in Tune-Up Bout

LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's Cisco Andrade, sixth-ranking lightweight in the nation, will meet George Mathias of Mexico City, in a 10-round bout Nov. 23 at San Jose, Calif.

Jimmy Slade to Sub for Troy Against Patterson

NEW YORK (AP) — Floyd Patterson, 19-year-old light heavyweight sensation, and veteran Jimmy Slade of New York will collide in an eight-rounder Nov. 19 with the victor possibly earning a title shot at Archie Moore, the 175-pound champion.

The interesting match was made Thursday when Willie Troy of Washington, D. C., was forced to withdraw from the date with Patterson because of a shoulder injury suffered earlier in the week. Troy said he was hurt in beating Jesse Turner in Kansas City.

The substitute match is better than the original. Slade is the New York State heavyweight champion and is the fifth-ranking contender among the big boys although he also is rated a top light-heavyweight challenger.

It was Slade who first deflated Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson last April. In his last bout a week ago, Jimmy was outpointed by big Bob Baker.

Patterson has a 17-1 record, the lone loss being a split and controversial decision to Joey Maxim, the ex-light heavyweight king. Floyd can't fight more than eight rounds in New York until January when he reaches 20. He may be ready for Moore in another six months.

Another "break" in a fight card gives Gene (Cyclone) Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, a chance to fight at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway arena for the second straight week. Tony Anthony, New York middleweight, fractured a hand in training and was forced out of his Monday night date with Germany's Peter Mueller. Fullmer was quickly contacted and he agreed to come right back.

Deaf Mute Stars on Grid for Ohio School

By DICK SMITH

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A deaf mute since birth, Lou Mariano, who lipreads the play in the huddle and moves when he sees the ball snapped, is leading the Mid-American Conference in touchdowns and yards gained.

The rugged little Kent State University fullback, 5-foot-7 and 170 pounds, has scored 14 touchdowns and 2 extra points and has gained 877 yards on 73 carries in 7 games, with 2 more to play.

"He's one of the fastest starters I've ever seen," Kent's Coach, Trevor Rees says of the 23-year-old Mariano, who starred for Canton McKinley as a high school football player.

"He has great football instinct—which way to cut and when to cut. And he makes excellent use of his blockers."

Mariano's specialty is a sweep to the outside, usually on a pitchout, and 4 of his touchdowns have been on runs covering more than 80 yards. Against Western Reserve he ran 89 yards for a score, against Akron 85 and against Bowling Green 83.

Actually, Mariano's yardage and scoring totals—new records for Kent State—were compiled in only five games. Injuries kept him benched for all but six plays against Ohio University and he got into only two plays against Marshall. Kent's only loss in seven games was to Ohio University 14-7, and the 277 points the Golden Flashes have scored to 84 for opponents established a new school record.

His team mates are fond of the speedy Italian, and so are his classroom instructors. After Kent's 58-18 victory over Akron, to which Mariano contributed four touchdowns, his fellow players gave him the ball as a souvenir.

"Very cooperative and cheerful," his speech teacher described him. To get his C-plus average, the handicapped Mariano has to work much harder than his classmates."

Etcheverry Is Named Canadian Loop's Best

OTTAWA (AP) — Sam (The Rifle) Etcheverry of the Montreal Alouettes Friday was awarded the Jeff Russel Trophy as the most sportsmanlike and Valuable Player in the Big Four. Halfback Ron Howell of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats was the Rookie of the Year in the league.

IC4-A Lures 322

NEW YORK (UP) — A total of 322 runners from 41 colleges will compete in the IC4-A cross-country race in New York's Van Cortlandt park, Nov. 15. Michigan State is the defending team champion in the event.

Owners' Group Approves Suspended Prexy's Actions

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Standardbred Owners Assn. has given a vote of confidence to its president, Edward T. Dougherty, who is under one-year suspension by the New York Harness racing commissioner.

At a meeting Thursday night, the membership passed a resolution "unanimously backing" Dougherty and "his officers and directors in whatever action they may take now or in the future regarding the suspension of Dougherty" and eight drivers who received six-month suspensions in the same dispute.

The suspensions were announced by Harness Racing Commissioner George M. Monaghan. He said Dougherty and the drivers failed to appear on time for a race two weeks ago at the Yonkers Raceway. Dougherty said the action was taken by himself and the drivers over a purse dispute.

A total of 201 trotters and pacers were sold for $675,150 Thursday the fourth day of the five-day sale. To-date, a total of $1,619,225 has been paid for 779 head of horses. The record for the sale is $1,623,000.

The top price Thursday was paid by Paul Wixom of Chicago: $34,000 for Noble Adios, a full brother to Little Brown Jug Winner Adios Harry. Wixom also paid $19,000 for another yearling from the Max Hempt consignment, Adios Volo.

Ollie Matson of the Chicago Cardinals in the National Football League ran the first leg of the winning 1,600-meter relay team in the 1952 Olympics.

Lions-49ers TV Is Denied

NFL's Head Refuses to Permit Sunday Sellout Game to Be Shown

DETROIT (AP) — Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League has turned down a request to permit Michigan telecasting of the sellout Detroit - San Francisco game in Briggs Stadium Sunday.

Bell granted such a request two years ago for the Detroit - Los Angeles playoff for the League's Western Division title. That game also was a sellout.

Edwin Anderson, president of the Detroit Lions, said Bell told him that approval would "establish a precedent which would be confusing to pro football fans in the future."

"They would not know," Anderson said Bell told him, "whether to buy tickets for a game or to wait to see if it was to be telecast."

Anderson said Bell told him also that league rules prohibited a suggestion by TV sponsors to pay for any tickets which might be returned in event the Lions - 49ers game were telecast in Detroit and out-state Michigan.

Joe Adcock was the only regular on the Milwaukee Braves to bat over .300 in 1954. He hit .308.

Pontiac High's football team, hoping recent history will repeat itself, plays host to Saginaw High tonight in its final game of the 1954 football season.

Chiefs have come up with upset victories over the Trojans for the last two seasons to snap losing strings and will be seeking to again spring a surprise tonight.

Pontiac dumped Saginaw 18-7 in 1952 to halt a 3-game slump and last year downed the Trojans 20-13 on the upstate field to bring to an end a 5-game winless streak. Trojans will rule 2-touchdown favorites despite the fact that they'll probably be without the services of fullback Archie Jackson.

Jackson suffered a knee injury in Saginaw's 13-7 loss to Flint Central last week and isn't expected to see action. Marty McLean, a 130-pound speedster, or defensive back Alors Nichols will take over the position.

Two Pontiac regulars, seniors Willie Wilson and co-captain Walt Poe, are sidelined with injuries. Wilson's end slot will be filled by sophomore Frank Whitlock, while junior Clay Williams will move into Poe's right half spot.

Eight other seniors will be playing their final games for PHS tonight. They are tackles Bob Johnston, Colle Hunt and co-captain George Thrasher, centers Wayne Pyke and Jack Brown, quarterback Marv Caswell, halfback Dick Slade and fullback Coley Gracey.

Gracey has been hampered by a knee injury suffered in practice Tuesday, but is expected to be ready for action.

Equipment Is Blamed for Grid Injuries

Michigan Trainer Says New Gear Should Be Streamlined

ANN ARBOR (UP) — Part of the blame for the alarming number of football injuries in recent years can be attributed to equipment which "causes more injuries than it prevents," University of Michigan trainer James E. Hunt said today.

The white-haired trainer minimized the effect of "1-platoon" football on the increase in injuries.

"I think streamlined equipment, utilizing modern fabrics but designed to resemble the equipment used by the 'iron men' of the 1900's, would cut down on these injuries," he said.

Hunt, whose job is to keep University of Michigan Coach Bennie Oosterbaan supplied with able-bodied players, said most equipment today is designed to protect only the player wearing it.

"Something should be done to protect the player who gets the equipment shoved into his face or side, too," he said.

Veteran trainer said manufacturers have materials which are much safer than the traditional sponge rubber and composition materials used in conventional football equipment.

"But they still are following the bulky models of standard equipment," he said. "It seems it is about time we take some of the armor plate off and utilize the new materials," he said.

Wismer Picks Upset

Spartans Get 7-Point Edge Over Wolverines

By HARRY WISMER

(Copyright, 1954, by INS)

Razorbacks from Arkansas Saturday go for their 8th straight victory in their final Southwest Conference game. They need only a tie with Southern Methodist to be eligible for the Cotton Bowl but I pick them by six points.

California is bouncing back, and its Oregon State engagement should cause the Bears no detours. California by 27.

Georgia Tech should find Alabama a worthy foe in the TV game of the week. But Bobby Dodd can explode too much offense for the Crimson Tide. Tech by 10.

Michigan State and Michigan. Spartans have had their worst year in a long time. But in my opinion they will topple Michigan by seven points.

Minnesota tries Iowa. This time the Hawks will steal the glitter by a substantial 12-point margin.

Navy will waltz through Columbia with a 27-point cushion.

Notre Dame and North Carolina. Notre Dame by 28 points.

Oklahoma and Missouri. Sooners should win by 10.

Penn and Army. This game shouldn't be played. Army by 40.

Purdue and Ohio State. Ohio State by seven.

Southern California and Washington. Southern Cal can ride herd on Washington to the tune of 21 points.

Rice and Texas Aggies. Rice can bounce back to win over "Bear" Bryant's team by seven.

Yale and Princeton. The blue should handle Princeton by 28 points.

Bouncing among the pros.

Green Bay Packers can win by 20 points over Baltimore. A 42-point margin for the Los Angles Rams over Chicago Cardinals. The Eagles by 14 over the Giants. Steelers can take Washington by seven. Detroit by 11 over the 49ers. Cleveland Browns can win by seven over Chicago Bears.

Of the 60 man grid squad at Duke University, 30 players hail from North Carolina.

Deluxe Treatment Now Available to Jap Horses

TOKYO (AP) — In Japan they've got a spa where a horse gets a hot tub, a brisk rubdown, and a new lease on life. The establishment is operated by the livestock section of the prefectural government of Shizuoka, south of Tokyo. It is intended for overworked race horses.

The spa can handle 10 horses at a time. They are driven into the bath room, tied to bars and a shower turned on. This is followed by a steam treatment and rubdown.

The horses didn't like it at first. But now, say the operators, they go for it in a big way.

Jock Sutherland Biography Is Inspiring Story

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP)—"Football is a crucible and the fires of competitive play slough off the dross of character—there is no place for the weaklings, the coward, the whiner or the healf-hearted."

These are the words of the late Dr. John Bain (Jock) Sutherland, beloved as a molder of men and football coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

His biography, "Jock Sutherland, Architect of Men" by Dr. Harry G. Scott (Exposition Press, $4.50) is a 50-yard line seat to an inspiring success story.

Sutherland's powerhouse Pitt Panthers were perennial contenders for the national championship. His teams played in the Rose Bowl four times.

'54 Was Reese's Best Season With Dodgers

BROOKLYN (AP)—Pee Wee Reese, captain and shortstop of the Dodgers, smiles when he looks back at the banner year he enjoyed in 1954. The 35-year-old infielder batted over the .300 mark for the first time in his 12-year major league career. Reese finished with a .309 average. His 34 two-base hits were tops, too. His best marks previously were .286 in 1951 and 31 doubles in 1948.

Jones Favored in TV Match

'Tiger' Has Experience, Weight Edge for Bout With Constance

NEW YORK (AP)—Hector Constance, one of the few new faces in boxing, hopes to run his unbeaten streak in the United States to three tonight when he faces rugged Ralph (Tiger) Jones at Madison Square Garden.

The lad from Trinidad, however, is an 8-5 underdog to the heavier and more experienced Jones.

The 10-rounders will be broadcast and telecast (NBC radio and TV at 10 p. m., EST.)

The rangy, 26-year old West Indian Negro, who has done most of his pro battling in England, drew with Johnny Brown and upset Cuba's Chico Varona in his two American scraps. The victory over Varona shot Hector into the No. 10 ranking among the welterweight contenders.

Montreal Wins, 7-4, With Rookie in Nets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The league leading Montreal Canadiens blasted the Chicago Black Hawks, 7-4, to move four points ahead of Detroit, Thursday.

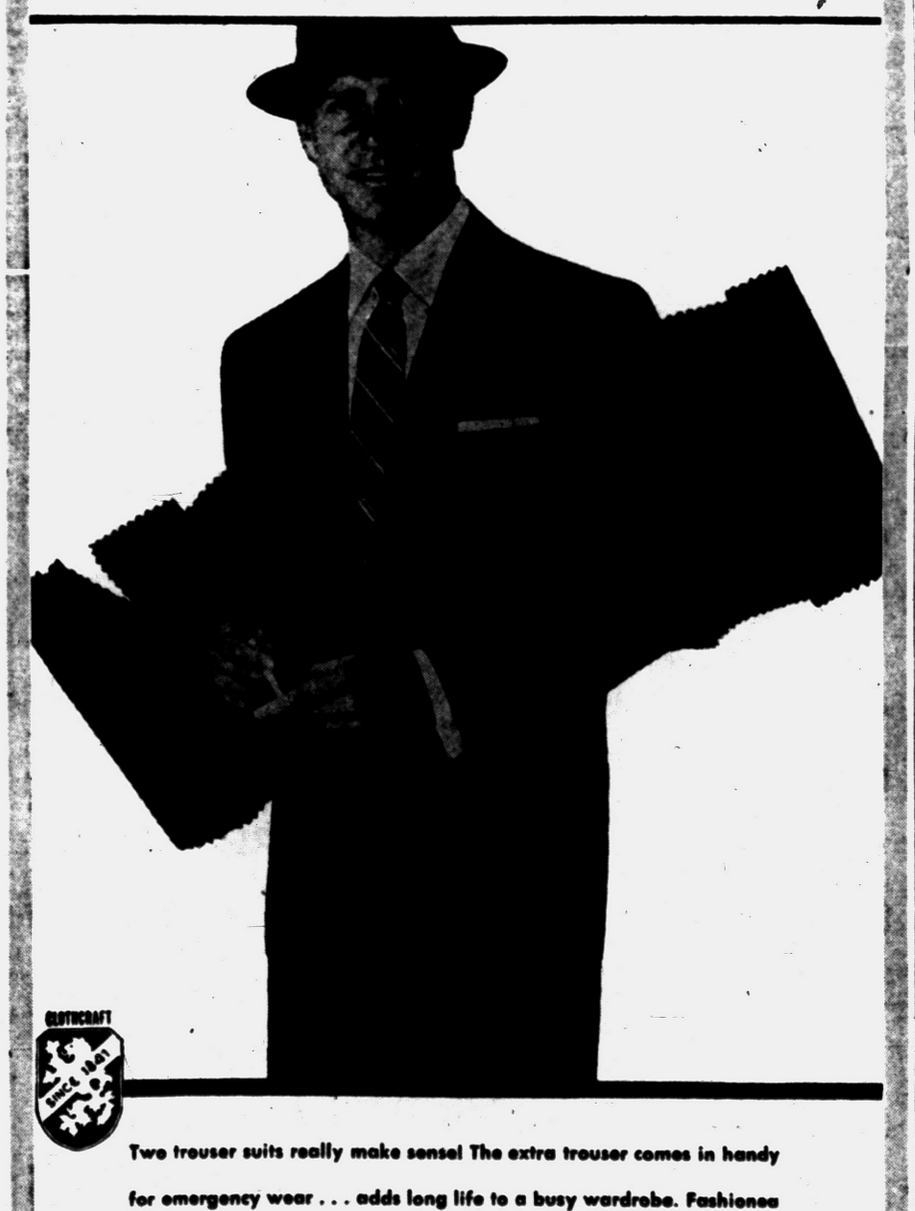

The Canadiens lost their regular goalie, Jacques Plante, however, when he was struck by a warmup shot. The puck fractured his right cheekbone. Rookie Andre Binette stepped into the Montreal nest and in his NHL debut made 23 saves.

IBC Monopoly Hearing Scheduled to Start Today

The affidavits, first ever obtained against the Guild, charge it and its New York chapter with black-listing, discrimination and monopolistic practices in preventing fight managers who are not guild members from detting bouts for their boxers.

They charge also that the promoters and matchmakers of television bouts have been cooperating with the Guild in obtaining a $100 Guild fee for every professional who appears on TV and in sidcriminating against fighters who have independent managers.

At least one representative of district attorney Frank Hogan's office was expected to sit in on the hearing. The D.A.'s office is conducting its own parallel investigation of the Guild.

However, officials of the Guild confidently asserted before the hearing opened that the affidavits would prove to be blank cartridges instead of bullets.

Charley Johnston, Guild president, declared, "most of the stuff in those affidavits is just a pack of lies, and we welcome this opportunity to bring the mess into the open and prove that our organization is spotlessly clean."

Pontiac Press' Deer Contest Starts Monday

Evans Sparks Avon Team to 19-0 Victory Over Rams

Marv Evans concluded his high-scoring football career at Avondale High School by tallying all 3 touchdowns Thursday night as the undefeated Auburn Heights' team blanked St. Frederick's, 19-0, at Wisner Stadium.

It ended the Yellow Jackets' season with 6 wins and 3 ties. They shared the Oakland-B conference championship with Roseville. For St. Fred's it was the 8th loss of the season. The Rams tied one game.

On the 1st play from scrimmage Evans broke through the line, passed to Don Krupp who continued the 65-yard touchdown play, but Evans' pass was ruled as forward instead of lateral, cancelling the play.

Avon marched for the TD, however, with Evans scoring from the 5-yard line. Krupp's kick was wide. Another drive was climaxed by Evans' scoring thrust from the 7 in the 2nd quarter. Krupp's kick was blocked.

The Pontiac eleven then made its only scoring threat. Larry Morrow's passes to Del Chavez, Don Younce and Dick Doyon carried the Rams to the Avon 10, but Evans picked off the next pass in the end zone and ended the threat.

Evans final marker came in the 3rd period. Toby Aldrich carried on the option play and after being trapped following a 7-yard gain, pitched out to Evans, who completed a 55-yard run. Krupp added the point.

In the past 2 seasons, Evans has scored 26 touchdowns for Avondale. He had 14 along with 6 extra points for 90 points last year. Thursday night's ouput gave him 12 TDs and 3 extra points for a total of 75 points for this campaign.

Pontiac's other parochial club, St. Michael's, closes its season Saturday night at Wisner Stadium against the unbeaten, untied Oxford team.

Orioles Sign Young Pitcher From York, Pa.

Myers stands 6-2 and weighs 175.

He was the first pitcher in the history of his school to hurl a no-hitter. He graduated last June.

Bad News in Bunches

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (UP)—Bad news seems to come in bunches for Terry Moore, former star outfielder for the St. Louis Cardinals. The bowling alleys owned by Terry and his brother were destroyed by fire. A few days later he was notified that his contract to manage the Philadelphia Phillies was not being renewed for next season.

EVANS ROLLS—Avondale's star backfield man, Marv Evans, is brought to a halt by an unidentified St. Frederick's tackler after rolling to a gain in the 4th quarter of Thursday night's game at Wisner Stadium. Evans scored 3 touchdowns as the Auburn Heights' 11 won, 19-0.

Chief JV's Triumph, End With 7-1 Mark

Pontiac High's junior varsity football team finished its 1954 season yesterday with a 14-0 triumph over Saginaw.

Victory was Pontiac's th victory in eight starts and marked the 5th time this year that the operation has failed to score.

Bob McDonald scored the 1st touchdown on a 7-yard reverse in the 2nd period, and quarterback Tom Poponea passed to Bill Kennedy for the extra point. Poponea hit end Bob Baxter with a 25-yard scoring pass in the 4th period and Lonnie Humphrey ran for the point after.

Kluszewski Set Nine All-Time Cincy Marks

CINCINNATI (UP)—Ted Kluszewski, major league home run and runs-batted-in king for 1954, led his Redleg teammates in nearly every hitting department. He also set nine all-time Cincinnati records. Big Klu led the Redlegs in hits with 187, homers (49), runs-batted-in (141), batting average (.326), most total bases (368) and slugging (.642).

Best Winning Streak

NEW YORK (UP) — Longest winning streak in the major leagues last season was made by the New York Yankees. They won 13 in a row.

Best in the National League was 10 straight victories. The Milwaukee Braves did it three times and the Dodgers once.

3-Way 'Derby' Offers $300 Hunter Prizes

Divisions Set Up for Biggest Buck and Best Rack and Head

Pontiac Press' 3rd contest of the year for Oakland County hunters and fishermen gets under way Monday with the start of the 16-day statewide deer season.

Largest deer (dressed-out weight only considered).

Best-balanced rack.

Finest all-around head.

Rules for entering the contest are as follows:

1—All contestants must be bona fide FULL-TIME residents of Oakland County. Pontiac Press employes and members of their families are not eligible.

2—An entry can win only one award.

3—All entries must be filed no later than 12 o'clock noon Dec. 4—four days after the Nov. 15-30 season ends. The extra days permit hunters to return from northern trips.

4—Certified weight slips must accompany all entries in the weight division. These slips must be signed by the weigher, the hunter and a disinterested witness. Addresses must accompany each signature. Slips must state that weight is a dressed-out figure.

5—Complete information, and clear photographs, must be provided when entries are not brought to the Pontiac Press for measuring and photographing. They may be brought in only during the hours of 8 a.m.-3 p.m. on weekdays and 8 a.m.-noon on Saturdays. No entries are taken Saturday afternoons, Sundays or holidays.

Prizes last year went to Cleve Raymond of Lake Orion (biggest deer) with a 219-pounder, Arnold Strandell of Pontiac (best head) and Durwood Nelson of Pontiac (best rack).

Littler Lays Off Golf Until Los Angeles Open

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UP) — Gene Littler, 1953 U. S. Amateur golf champion and second in the 1954 U. S. Open, is forgetting golf until the winter circuit begins with the Los Angeles Open early in January.

Littler will defend the San Diego Open crown at Mission Valley. It was the first tournament he won in 1954, and a week later turned professional.

Marion Gets Higgins' Job at Louisville

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP) — John (Red) Marion, who has a habit of stepping into every job Pinky Higgins leaves, will succeed him as manager of the Louisville Colonels.

Higgins is taking over as Boston's pilot and Marion, a 39-year-old former Colonel outfielder, was selected Thursday as his replacement.

"I love it. I'm back in a train league again. It gets a little rough riding those buses," Marion said at his home in San Jose, Calif. In three seasons with the Boston's Class-C farm team there, Marion has produced a pennant winner and a runner-up for the California League playoff title.

Marion, a brother of the famous "Mr. Shortstop" of the St. Louis Cardinals, also has produced playoff crowns at Oneonta, N. Y., Roanoke, Va., and Birmingham, Ala. Marion moved to Roanoke in 1949 after Higgins left and followed him to Birmingham in 1951.

Minors' Pleas to Be Heeded

Major League Owners Expected to Up Draft Prices

NEW YORK (UP)—Major league owners are expected to heed the anguished appeals of their minor league associates by increasing the draft price to $15,000 per player at the annual winter meetings next month.

The amendment, prepared by Commissioner Ford Frick's specially-appointed committee of nine ajor and minor league executives, also would permit the drafting of three players instead of one from each club. Under the current rule, the top price is $1p,000 and only one player ca nbe taken from each club.

Amdndment will be the No. 1 item on the agenda at the minor league meetings at Houston, Tex., on Dec. 2 and again at the major league meetings in New York the following week.

"The increase in the draft price small independent club owners—the ones who have the goughest sledding," said Fresco Thompson, farm director of the Brooklyn Dodgers and a committee member. "It would mean the industrious operator of a Class D club could realize a return of $15,000 for every good young prospect he discovered."

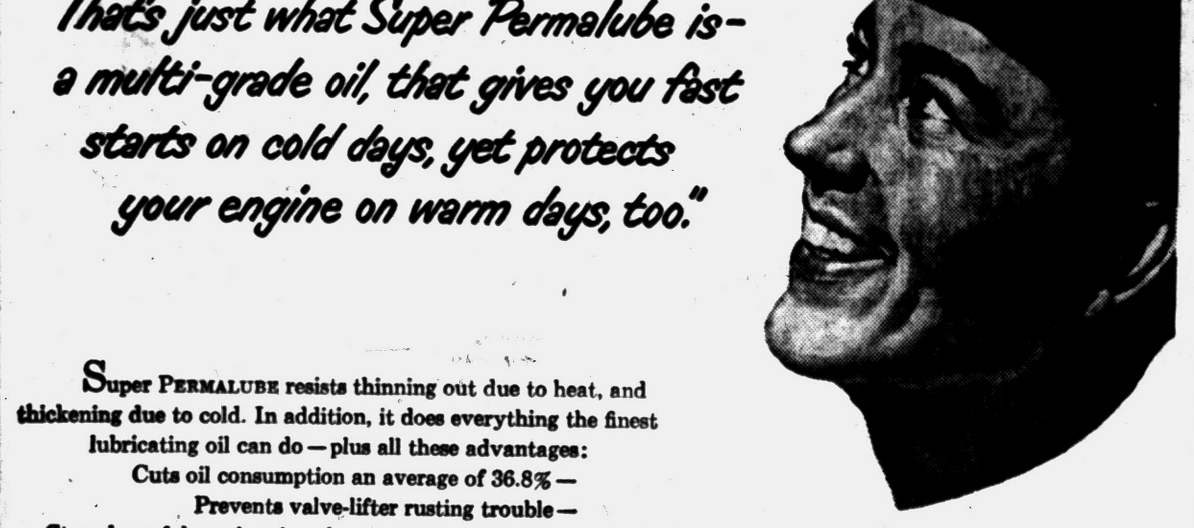

Amendment also is designed to prevent the "covering up" of prospects by "loading" a single minor league roster with the outstanding players in a farm system. Practice is believed to be widespread among teams with large farm systems.

Jim Martin and Leon Hart of the Detroit Lions, were teammates on four unbeaten Notre Dame teams from 1946 through 1949.

Upstarts Arkansas, OSU Near Bowl Bids

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Two upstarts who dared not entertain any fanciful dreams in September can make dates for New Year's Day if things go right tomorrow.

Arkansas, the Cinderella team of the Southwest Conference, needs only to tie Southern Methodist to clinch the league championship to the embarrassment of such powers as Texas, which was regarded as the almost-certain winner before the start of the campaign.

Ohio State, has shot to the fore in the up-and-down Big Ten race, and the No. 2 team in the country will seek to make Purdue its eighth straight victim and sixth in a row in league play.

The Buckeyes might get a real battle from Len Dawson and his aerial circus, but they're the favorites just the same. If Michigan State should whip Michigan and Iowa drops Minnesota, Ohio State is in.

The Southwest Conference winner automatically is nominated as the host team in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas, while the Big Ten victor takes the trek to the West Coast and the gold and glory that goes with the Rose Bowl.

The other Cotton Bowl team is invited after the season, so Arkansas won't know who its opponent will be for several weeks. But the Pacific Coast Conference representative probably will be Southern California, through the courtesy of UCLA. Southern Cal plays Washington and should have no trouble.

UCLA, the No. 1 team in the land in this week's Associated Press poll, is idle before tackling the Trojans next week. The Uclans played in the rose Bowl last New Year's Day, so they are not eligible to return.

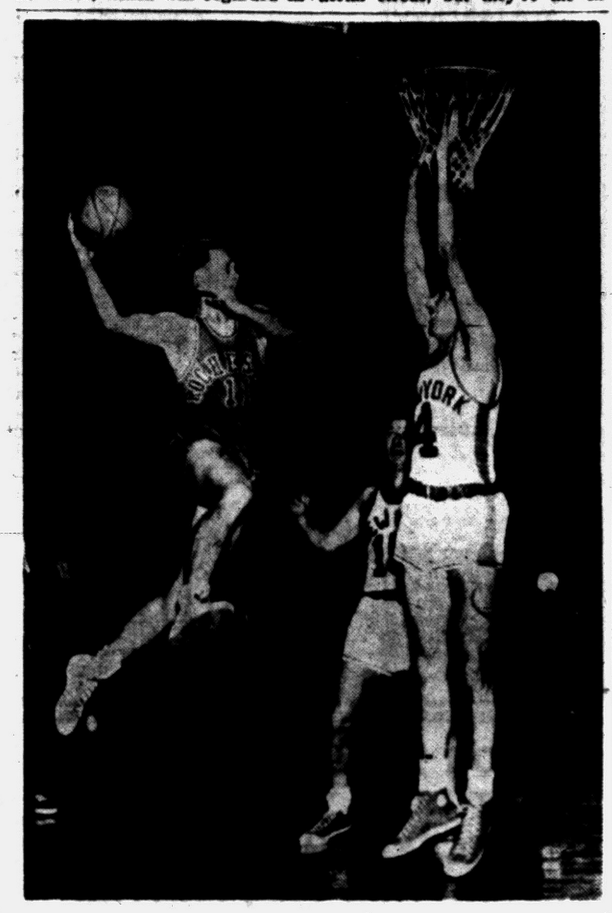

Another team that could see its bowl hopes enhanced or badly mangled is Georgia, currently leading the Southeastern Conference. The Bulldogs are undefeated but tied in league play, but they face a strong Auburn club and will be the underdog. The conference winner goes to the Sugar Bowl.

Meanwhile, there are numerous traditional games around the country, and even the ancient Ivy League could produce a winner. Yale, clubbed by Army last week, is 4-0 in the league. The Elis play Princeton for the 77th time and could come home first should Harvard turn back Brown and Cornell gets past Dartmouth.

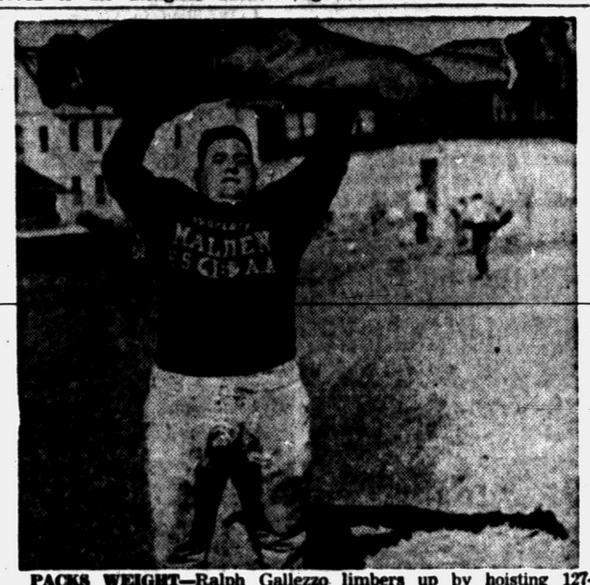

Other big ones from a traditional standpoint include Pitt-Nebraska and Alabama-Georgia Tech. In fact, even if they weren't traditional, these two games would be important. Nebraska is warming up for the Oklahoma game a week hence and hopes to get the Orange Bowl bid as runner-up in the Big Seven to the ineligible Sooners.

Oklahoma, ranked No. 3 behind UCLA and Ohio State, plays Missouri, Nebraska's chief rival for the Orange Bowl bid. Notre Dame No. 5 after Arkansas, will try to gain prestige at the expense of North Carolina, while Army, the class of the East and No. 6, has a relatively soft assignment against Penn.

HEMMED IN—Bobby Davis (11) of the Rochester Royals finds Knickerbockers Carl Braun (4) and Dick McGuire (15) in front of him near the Royals' basket as he tries to pass to a teammate in the 4th quarter of NBA contest at Madison Square Garden Thursday night. Knicks won, 79-78, on a push-shot by Braun with 12 seconds left to play. In the other game of a double header, Milwaukee defeated the Boston Celtics.

Hillite-Northern Contest One of Prep Highlights

DETROIT (AP) — Saginaw Arthur-Hill shoots for a share of the Saginaw Valley championship and Kalamazoo and Battle Creek, old and bitter rivals, meet for the 51st time since 1893.

These are the feature games tonight in the final after-dark activity of the 1954 high school football season.

Several traditional Thanksgiving Day games will be left on the schedule, but for the most part the season comes to an end tonight.

Arthur-Hill, surprise Class A team in the state, entertains dangerous Flint Northern. A victory for the Lumberjacks will assure it of at least a tie for the Saginaw Valley title.

In the last four weeks, coach Kurt Kampe's team has pulled three major upsets, defeating Grand Rapids Catholic Central, Flint Central and Bay City Central.

While these are teams in Saginaw, there will be another important Saginaw Valley game in Flint. Flint Central will meet Bay City Central in that one.

Going into tonight's action, Arthur-Hill has a 3-0 record to lead the Valley. Flint Central and Flint Northern are tied for second, with 2-1 records, while Bay City has a 2-2 mark.

In the meantime, Battle Creek will be seeking to clinch a share of the Six-A league crown when the Bearcats host Kalamazoo in one of the oldest rivalries in the state. Kalamazoo, which has fallen on lean years, holds a 25-21-4 edge in the historic series.

Another traditional game finds Muskegon meeting Muskegon Heights, Heights as a 6-1-1 record, compared to Muskegon's 3-5, but this game always is figured a tossup.

Beating the Cleveland Indians in the World Series was nothing new for the New York Giants. For the past two springs, the Giants have edged the Tribe in exhibition games. This year the New Yorkers won 13 of 21 games. In 1953 they took 11 out of 21.

High Altitude Factor in P-A Games

NEW YORK (AP)—"The high altitude is going to be murder for everyone but the sprinters at Mexico during the Pan-American games."

The comment was made by Katherine (Kay) Meyers, an Olympic official in '52 who recently returned with a group of U. S. swimers from Mexico City. The second Pan-American games will be held in the more than mile-high Mexican capital in March.

"The sprinters in both swimming and running will be okay," said the Glen Rock, N. J. swimming coach. "But for everyone competing from 100 yards up it's going to be murder."

"Ford Konno (the Olympic swim champ from Hawaii) never lets up when he competes and he said he was 'bushed' when he finished the 400 and 1,500-meter free style races. He won both.

"The Mexicans say they generally beat their own best times from by five to 15 seconds in swimming and running when they compete in other countries."

Recognizing the problem, U. S. Pan-American officials hope to get American athletes down to Mexico City at least 10 days before the games start.

"We'll do all right," said Dan Ferris, executive secretary-treasurer of the AAU. "I'm not too concerned about our success there."

The United States, he said, expects to send about 300 men and women athletes to Mexico compared to the 122 we sent to Buenos Aires for the inaugural games in 1951.

Educators Set for U.S. Tour

2 From Waterford High to Inspect Defense Bases With State Group

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — Two representatives of Waterford High School, along with 40 other people from education, business, parent-teacher associations and newspapers, will leave Lansing tomorrow for a tour of defense bases across the country.

Making the round of Lackland Air Force Base, the Pentagon, Great Lakes Naval Training Center, and Fort Knox, to return Nov. 20, will be Waterford High principal Roy Larmee, and Donald Arsen, head of the social studies department.

The only Oakland county school to participate in the air tour sponsored by the U. S. Defense Department in cooperation with the Michigan Secondary School Association, Waterford High School is a "pilot" school in a new military orientation class for high school boys.

Designed primarily to promote guidance and counseling of boys who must serve under the present selective service act, the purpose of the class is to educate them as to their rights and responsibilities while in service.

The week's tour will acquaint the instructors with the training program now going on at the different military centers in the nation.

Michigan heads the nation in this new type of educational program. Other states claim they will follow as soon as they are able to observe Michigan's procedure.

The class is actually an outgrowth of research on the part of men like Roya larmee and Nicholas Schreiber, Ann Arbor high school principal and president of the Michigan Secondary School Assn.

Larmee, when confronted by so many high school boys wanting information on the two years of service they faced, met with other high school principals having the same problem.

"What we needed was a source of accurate information, unbiased and objective, and people to work with these youngsters to counsel them in their planning for this period of their lives," said Larmee.

Unions May Get Slap by Bureau

Anti-Labor Resolutions Scheduled for Vote by Farm Organization

EAST LANSING (UP) — The Michigan Farm Bureau convention, which quickly gave its wholehearted support to Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson and flexible price supports, was poised today to take a slap at labor unions.

The convention's 629 delegates unanimously adopted resolutions yesterday calling for a "private-enterprise farm economy" and commending Benson for his "courageous" fight for flexible supports and elimination of government controls on farm operations.

Farm Bureau president Carl E. Buskirk, Paw Paw, told the convention he did not believe the Nov. 2 election results were a repudiation of Benson's farm policies.

The convention was slated to vote on a number of anti-labor resolutions today.

Expected to be adopted were resolutions to:

Outlaw union and closed shops, prohibit industry-wide and area-wide collective bargaining, eliminate authority of the National Labor Relations Board over unfair labor practices by routing them directly into federal courts.

Curtis E. Bishop to Head Lapeer Kiwanis Club

Lapeer Kiwanis Club has elected Curtis E. Bishop as president of the club succeeding Bill Collet.

Directors are Norman Carter, Lloyd Coulter, Dr. Paul Cote, Robert Wilmers, Rev. Floyd Crompton, Dr. Robert Ster, and Eugene Vesely.

Teenagers Pick Officers at New Baptist Church

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — The teenage group of the newly organized Calvary Baptist Church met recently to elect officers. Don Ziegland was chosen president, James France, vice president, and Barbara Beasley, secretary treasurer.

The group will meet every Sunday evening at the homes of various members.

Bids Due by Jan. 19 for Water Authority

Bids to construct mains, storage tanks and pumping stations to expand service to the seven municipalities comprising the Southeastern Oakland County Water Authority will be taken Jan. 19, the authority has decided.

Bids on bonds to finance the project will be received a week later. Member communities to be served by the authority are Birmingham, Berkley, Clawson, Southfield Township, and Royal Oak, Pleasant Ridge and Huntington Woods.

The total bond issue will be $6,067,000, of which $717,000 will be used to purchase the existing North Woodward water system.

To be completed as rapidly as possible, the projected expansion of the system is planned to give ample water supplies to the growing area.

The area between Eight and Twelve Mile Roads will be served first, by an expansion of the existing North Woodward System.

Registration Deadline Is Set Monday for Keego Election

KEEGO HARBOR — Monday is registration deadline at Keego Harbor. Those who wish to vote at the Dec. 14 election on the area's incorporation as a city have until Monday night to register.

Registrations will be accepted from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Monday at Cass Lake Pharmacy, corner of Orchard Lake and Cass Lake Rds., where West Boomfield Township Clerk Frank C. Hallett will set up a station.

In addition to voting on the incorporation, electors will name nine commissioners who will draw up a charter for the proposed city.

Nineteen residents, including three women, have filed petitions as candidates for the charter commission. The nine receiving the highest number of votes will be elected if incorporation is approved.

The Dec. 14 election date was set by the Oakland County Board of Supervisors after a census count showed a population of 3,186 in the area.

Proposed city boundaries are Waterford Township and Sylvan Lake on the north, the City of Sylvan Lake on the east, Grand Trunk Western Railway on the south, and the village of Orchard Lake and Cass Lake shoreline on the west.

Prior to the election, the Keego Harbor Chamber of Commerce will call a public meeting to give opportunity for discussion and questions.

Proceedings for the incorporation were begun three years ago by a group of citizens, who named William Hollibaugh as chairman of a seven-member committee with authority to plan for the incorporation.

The executive board of the youth association has expressed a desire to gain an expression of opinion on the project from the community.

S. Q. Ennis, who with Village Councilwoman Elizabeth Mattrott, represents the village on the board, has stated that the Rochester Board of Education is willing to cooperate with the plan.

Basic thinking by the youth association indicates that the proposed center would be used for scout meetings and similar occassions as well as for youth activities.

Expect Grange to Ask Individual Crop Support System

WASHINGTON (INS) — America's oldest farm organization — the National Grange — is expected this week to renew its campaign for an agricultural program in which individual support systems are devised for each commodity.

The Grange probably will recommend such a plan to the Eisenhower administration and Congress in resolutions adopted at its 88th annual convention which opened yesterday in Spokane, Wash.

A spokesman for the organization said the two-price system — a traditional favorite of the Grange — probably will be the backbone of much of the program developed during the session.

This plan most likely will be offered first for wheat, although the Grange thinks it also could be adapted to cotton, rice and some other crops.

Similar recommendations were made during the Grange convention last year, and it looked for a time as if Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson and his agricultural advisory commission would urge Congressional approval of the two-price plan for wheat.

When final recommendations were made by the White House to Congress, however, the two-price plan had been abandoned in favor of across-the-board flexible price supports for five basic commodities — wheat, cotton, corn, rice and peanuts.

In its meeting last year, the Grange said the rigid, high price support system then in effect should be maintained until a new program could be devised on a commodity-for-commodity basis.

When the issue came to a showdown in Congress, the Grange stood by this position, favoring a one-year extension of rigid 90 per cent of parity supports to adoption of the flexible system.

Now, however, the Grange is expected to call for continuation of the flexible system which Congress voted last summer until a commodity-for-commodity operation can be devised.

Within the Grange there appears to be some sentiment for eventual ending of all price supports. This desire recently was embodied in a resolution adopted by the Ohio Grange.

Grange leaders do not consider the two-price plan as a price support operation in the normal sense.

Under the system, each farmer would grow a certain amount of wheat for domestic use as food, and this wheat would move into the market at a guaranteed price.

All remaining wheat grown by the farmer would be sold into export at competitive world prices or for various domestic uses at going market prices without any guarantee of a specific price.

Grains Struggle to Keep Gains

CHICAGO (AP) — Grains got off to a firm start on the Board of Trade today but had some difficulty in trying to maintain early gains.

Light receipts of cash grain, coupled with a good demand for all types of cash cereals, spurred the initial upturn. Later the market suffered on some profit taking prior to the weekend. Dealings started out active and then quickly quieted down.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ⅝ lower. December $2.27; corn ⅜ to ½ lower, December $1.56⅝; oats unchanged to ⅜ higher, December 84⅛; rye ¼ to 1 cent higher, December $1.30; soybeans ⅝ to 1⅜ higher, November $2.84; and lard 10 to 25 cents a hundred pounds higher, November $16.55.

Auto Plants Work Overtime, Saturdays

DETROIT (AP) — Many auto factories are working overtime and on Saturdays to step up assembly volume of 1955 model cars.

As a result, Ward's Automotive Reports said today, this week's output will come to 117,078 cars and 20,025 trucks. Last week 93,150 cars and 19,891 trucks were built. In the corresponding 1953 week U. S. plants built 93,503 cars and 18,075 trucks.

Ward's said Packard will be back in production next week. It added, however, that the threat of a strike against Chrysler's body division was a disturbing prospect at the start of that company's comeback effort.

Business Notes

Three Pontiac men are attending the 13th annual Institute on Federal Taxation sponsored by the New York University Division of General Education in New York ending today.

They are Douglas W. Booth, Thomas J. Whitfield and Henry D. Price. Recent changes in the tax laws were a main topic discussed.

Gordon A. Low will begin duties Nov. 15 in Pontiac as electric distribution superintendent of Consumers Power Co.'s Southeast Division, according to Divivion Manager D. H. Gerhard.

Low has been serving as assistant division engineer of the Flint Division since early 1953. He succeeds Donald Hildebrandt, recently promoted to a similar job in the Saginaw Division.

The Detroit Edison Co.'s participation in atomic power development will be reported on by Walker L. Cisler, Edison president, at an informational meeting for stockholders Monday afternoon.

Besides Edison stockholders from this area, officers and members of the board of directors will also attend the meeting. The gathering will take place at 2 p.m. in the Henry Ford Museum auditorium, Dearborn.

American steamship lines spent a total of $62,500,000 in promoting and developing world trade between the United States and foreign markets in the past four years, the industry bulletin, Maritime Affairs, states in its November issue.

Of the total, $48,500,000 was spent in direct trade promotion and development, and $14,000,000 in advertising regularly scheduled cargo and passenger sailings, the bulletin said.

William P. Balthrop has been promoted from staff engineer to quality inspection supervisor for Chrysler Corp. by Carl J. Snyder, vice president.

After four years in the Central Engineering Division's fluid dynamics laboratories in Highland Park, Balthrop was named to the resident engineer's staff in July 1950. He was appointed staff engineer in May 1953.

Stocks Holding Higher Trend

NEW YORK, Nov. 12 (AP) — The stock market absorbed a rush of selling today and maintained its higher trend in early dealings.

This is the seventh day out of eight days since the election that the market has gone higher. The past four sessions all have established new 25-year highs.

All sections of the market were caught up in the swirl of trading. Going higher as groups were the steels, distillers, coppers, chemicals, railroads, oils and airlines. Otherwise the market was steady to mixed.

There were a lot of big blocks on the tape initially; New York Central 25,000 shares up ½ at 23, U.S. Steel 6,000 up ¾ at 62½, Bethlehem Steel 1,500 up 1 at 91¾, Chrysler 4,500 up ⅞ at 63, Radio Corp. 4,500 up ⅛ at 36½, and Colorado Fuel & Iron 4,500 up ¼ at 19½.

Traces History of GM Truck

Earl Maxwell Tells How Division Expanded From Tiny Company

The growth of GMC Truck and Coach Dvision from a tiny company producing one-cylinder vehicles in 1900 to an organization employing 10,000 persons and producing 80 per cent of the buses made in this country was described today by Earl A. Maxwell, division personnel director.

Speaking before the Exhange Club, Maxwell predicted the division's work force would be "considerably increased in the near future when production begins on 1955 models."

Among the "firsts" listed to the division's credit by Maxwell was the first successful truck ascent of Pike's Peak.

"In the engineering field, GMC introduced the first syncro-mesh transmission in heavy-duty trucks, and the first four-wheel brakes, the first dual range transmission and circulating ball-bearing steering.

"In making Hydra-matic available all the way up through the line, GMC became the first manufacturer with a full family of Hydra-matic models."

Maxwell said the division's 1955 models would feature 500 major improvements.

Union Chiefs Mull Contract Strategy

DETROIT (UP) — One-thousand CIO United Auto Workers union officers from the United States and Canada began a two-day conference today to map strategy for next year's contract negotiations with the auto industry.

The controversial guaranteed annual wage was expected to be high on the list of demands studied by the local delegates. Other demands to be formulated included pay increases, holidays and pension and insurance benefits.

Details of the 1955 demands will be ironed out at the UAW convention in March, only two months before five-year union contracts with the auto industry's "big three" expire.

The General Motors contract runs out May 29, Ford on June 1 and Chrysler on Aug. 31.

Carl Stellato, president of giant Ford Local 600 and an avowed foe of long-term contracts, met last night with a group of the delegates. He renewed his plea for a 30-hour work week with 40 hours pay as the best way of meeting the industry's unemployment problems.

Weekly Sales Record Seen

Crawford Says Success of New Car Is Due to Preliminary Work

The public's acceptance of the 1955 Pontiacs has topped the most optimistic expectations of the Pontiac sales force, H. E. Crawford, general sales manager, said today.

"The crowds that turned out for the Pontiac's 1955 announcement were the largest in our history," Crawford said.

"Huge crowds visited our dealers' showrooms Friday and Saturday and our dealers have wired us that the tremendous crowds which began with the announcement day have continued.

"When sales figures are totaled, they will set an announcement week record for orders and deliveries."

Crawford attributes the success of the new model announcement to preliminary work by Pontiac dealers and the wholesale organization.

"Our dealers were better prepared to introduce the 1955 Pontiac than they have ever been in history," he stated. "They strengthened their selling organizations and improved sales technique during 1954, their first real competitive year.

"Between our dealer previews and the public announcement, we held 246 group meetings at which 95 per cent of all salesmen and sales managers were given a complete training convering every detail of the new car.

"Pontiac also held an intensive training program for dealer service personnel in preparation for the 1955 models.

"A series of schools covering the V-8 engine and other features of the new cars was conducted for service personnel from all Pontiac dealers before the car was introduced to the public."

During announcement week, 300 factory representatives contacted every major city in the county to observe public responses.

Ford Announces Price Adjustment for New Models

DETROIT (AP) — The Ford Motor Co. has announced price adjustments — upward and downward — on 1955 model cars and trucks which go on sale today.

Compared to 1954, changes in suggested delivered retail charges at Dearborn range from a reduction of $33.86 for the custom ranch wagon to an increase of $64.32 for the eight passenger country sedan.

Suggested delivered retail charges for the 16 new Ford models at Dearborn, on six-cylinder cars, range from $1605.97 for the two door business sedan to $2391.59 for the eight passenger country squire station wagon.

These figures, the company said, include provision for federal excise taxes. State and local taxes, license fees, optional equipment and accessories are extra, the company said.

In October Ford made changes in the regional differences in distribution and delivery charges made to dealers. Some further adjustment of those charges has been made on the 1955 models, Ford said.

The company said the new prices reflect the inclusion of six completely new models — the Fairlane series — in Ford's 1955 line.

Jet Fighters Now Escort Photo Planes Over Japan

By RUTHERFORD POATS

TOKYO (UP)—Crack American Sabrejet fighter planes are now escorting reconnaissance planes over Northern Japan, ready to give battle to encroaching MIGs of the Soviet Russian Air Force.

Long-standing orders to shoot down invading Red Jets have been forcefully restated.

It is indicated that both the United States and the Russian air forces now are operating on a "shoot first" basis in the event of any contact over or near the North Japan area.

A high American officer said that reconnaissance flights of United States Air Force planes, and mapping flights by B-29s near the explosive frontier would continue.

The new situation was disclosed less than 24 hours after President Eisenhower said in a press conference in Washington that if a fighter escort was necessary in any area where planes of this country had a right to go, then escort planes ought to be used.

The new situation arises from the shooting down by the Russians Sunday of a B-29 mapping plane over Northern Japan.

In that instance, the captain of the B-29 did not give orders to shoot back. In the future, it is indicated, there will be no such failure to meet a Red challenge.

In addition to the constant watch for invading MIGs, the Sabrejets are now escorting reconnaissance planes instead of waiting to go up when it might be too late.

One reason for the American determination to continue flights in the area is that there are gaps in the giant Air Force photographic maps of Hokkaido, due to bad weather which prevented the earlier completion of a mapping project.

Veteran airmen predict that there will be no more isolated clashes so long as the planes on both sides are jets.

This explosive situation also sees action on the sea and ground.

Some 300 Japanese fighting boats have been seized by Russian patrol vessels since the end of World War II when the Japanese strayed or ventured near the Russian-occupied former Japanese islands.

The sparsely populated northern coast of Hokkaido has seen the capture of Russian spies and the secret departure of American employes on cloak-and-dagger missions into Soviet Sakhalin and the Kurlies. Some of these agents never returned.

There is little tension among the people over the possibility of a Russian attack. The Japanese leave worry over the defense of Japan from the Soviet Air Force to the Americans.

Masai Primitive

The Mesai tribesmen of Kenya and Tanganyika have no written language, says the National Geographic Society. They have never adopted the wheel; donkeys provide transport. Nor do they build boats, because they live near no large body of water.

Do-It-Yourself Shop Planned in Georgia

ATLANTA (INS)—For the man who doesn't have a basement—or the money to equip it with power tools—an Atlanta merchant is planning to open a do-it-yourself workshop.

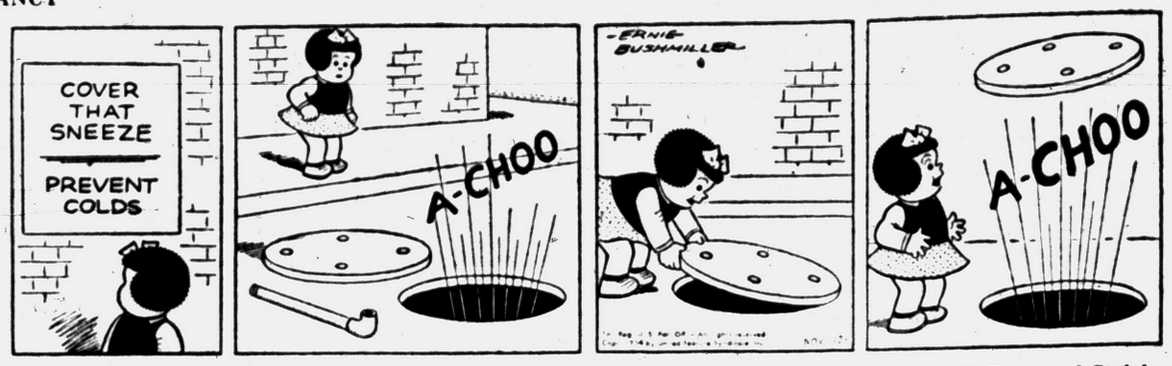

Dillard Munford, who owns ten do-it-yourself stores said that the workshop will be completely equipped with power tools of all types and will be open at the hours a man would normally work in his basement shop—during the evening or on weekends.

The customer, said Munford, will be able to work whenever he wants to and make whatever he wants to. Instructors will be available to help solve problems in construction of anything from a boat to a chair.

Munford has pioneered already in the direction of a do-it-yourself school.

In co-operation with Georgia Tech, where classes were held, he provided instructors and materials for a term this summer. The class was so popular that an even larger group will be trained this fall.

Hormones Help Aging Persons

Tiny Daily Doses Aid With Some Problems of Growing Old

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK (AP)—Tiny daily doses of fresh hormones look promising for overcoming some troubles and dangers of growing old, two physicians said today.

They reported mostly good results in overcoming fatigue, headaches, depressions, nervousness, irritability and even high blood pressure in a group of 61 women and nine men who were in or past the "change of life" period. That is the period in which the natural production of sex hormones starts to decline.

The report was made by Doctors Charles H. Birnberg and Raphael Kurzrok, of Jewish Hospital in Brooklyn and Morrisania Hospital, New York, at a symposium on geriatrics presented by the American Geriatrics Society.

Geriatrics is the treatment of diseases of the aging.

Tablets with tiny amounts of sex hormones were used in the doctors' experiments on people not acutely ill but mainly victims of changes in personalities.

Three quarters of the women were 50 to 68 years old, the others 39 to 50. The nine men were 57 to 67.

The hormones generally had a tonic effect, the physicians said. An unexpected result was a lowering of blood pressure in numerous cases, they added.

A-Bomb Survivors Suffer Rare Ailment

HIROSHIMA, Japan (AP)—A Japanese doctor today said a rare blood disease, characterized by an abnormal increase in red blood corpuscles, had been discovered in five survivors of the Hiroshima atom bomb blast.

Dr. Gensaku Obo identified the disease as erythrochtosis. He said only 50 cases had been diagnosed in Japan previously. However, it was too early to attribute the new outbreak entirely to the Hiroshima explosion, he said.

He said the disease usually is fatal within 2 to 10 years.

Suffers Head Injuries When Hit by Auto

A 58-year-old pedestrian, Sava Pupovac of 491 Franklin Rd., suffered a possible skull fracture last night when he was struck by an auto on Franklin road near W. South boulevard. He is reported in fair condition at Pontiac General Hospital.

Pontiac Police quoted the driver, John C. Gordon, 24, of 12 Clovese St., as saying he didn't see the pedestrian crossing the street until it was "too late to avoid hitting him." A witness told police the pedestrian was crossing with the green light near the intersection.

Wild West Indian Cherry Richest Vitamin C Source

CHICAGO (AP)—A cherry shaped semi-wild fruit described as the world's richest known source of vitamin C is ready for commercial marketing.

Tests have shown that juice from the acerola—also known as Puerto Rican cherry and West Indian cherry — contains more than 85 times as much vitamin C as fresh orange juice.

A six-ounce glass of acerola juice yields as much of the vitamin as 50 pounds of fresh raw cabbage.

Mrs. Anna May Wilson, wife of Dr. James R. Wilson, director of the American Medical Assn.'s council on foods and nutrition, described the new vitamin source in an article in Today's Health magazine, an AMA publication.

She said the tree grows semi-wild in the Carribean islands, where natives say a tree in the back yard will "keep colds out of the front door." She described its taste as "tart and refreshing."

Mrs. Wilson gave this account of the commercial development of the fruit:

Its vitamin value was discovered in 1945 by Dr. Conrad F. Asenjo, who was making research studies of various native Puerto Rican fruits.

He published his results in a medical journal but no one became interested in marketing it until Harvey Greenspan, Miami orange juice millionaire, learned of the fruit in 1949.

Greenspan backed the planting of the first orchard which produced its first harvest this spring after an expenditure of $250,000 on the project.

Mrs. Wilson said first use of the juice will be in infant food, enriching such things as apple juice or pear juice. She said it may appear next in soft drinks.

Prefer Ending Schools to Ending Segregation

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Mississippi's Farm Bureau Federation has given unanimous support to a proposed constitutional amendment abolishing public schools "in the event it is the only way to maintain segregation."

Federation delegates also voted yesterday to support segregated schools as a prerequisite for improvements to existing facilities.

Spaniel Long Favorite

NEW YORK (INS) — The small cocker spaniel—now a popular pet among suburban and apartment dwellers—was a favorite in Queen Elizabeth's day. Oppenheimer Joins Anti-Red Association

NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer, barred from the nation's atomic secrets, has been elected to membership in the American Committee for Cultural Freedom, an avowed anti-communist group.

The committee announced yesterday that Oppenheimer agreed to accept membership from his home in Princeton, N. J., where he is director of the Institute for Advanced Study.

The ACCF describes itself as an organization of 300 artists, scholars, scientists and writers "dedicated to a responsible struggle against communism and all other forms of totalitarianism."

Last June, by a 4-1 vote, the Atomic Energy Commission denied Oppenheimer further access to atomic data The chief complaint was "his persistent and continuing association with Communists."

Detroit Greets 1,829 Citizens

New Americans Take Oath in Veterans Day Ceremony

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit celebrated Veterans Day yesterday by welcoming 1,829 new citizens in the largest naturalization program in the city's history.

Ranging from 4-year-old Jeanne Marie Montpetit to 90-year-old Mrs. Sophia Sederstrom, the new citizens assembled in Masonic Auditorium to give the Pledge of Allegiance before Judge Charles C. Simmons, chief judge of the Sixth District Circuit Court of Appeals.

Federal Judge Frank A. Picard of Detroit presided over the Veterans Day naturalization ceremony. Other jurists on the stage of the huge auditorium included Henry M. Butzel, chief justice of the Michigan Supreme Court.

A Marine Corps color guard participated in the impressive Detroit ceremony.

"You have a value that includes all values," Judge Simmons told the new citizens and 4,000 friends and relatives.

"I noticed a grim note mixed with religious tones in your voices. Let that feeling remain, do not dissipate it with false security."

Royal Oak Woman Hurt When Car Crashes Tree

Mrs. Leota Stone, 36, of 4717 Crooks Rd., Royal Oak, was admitted to Pontiac General Hospital with head and leg cuts suffered yesterday when she lost control of her auto on Orion road, in Orion Township.

Mrs. Stone's condition today is reported as satisfactory.

She told Oakland County sheriff's deputies that as she approached a curve in the road, about ½-mile north of the Clarkston-Orion road, she saw an oncoming car, applied her brakes and lost control of her auto which crashed into a tree.

Fellow Workers Collecting $3,000

SALT LAKE CITY, (AP) — Mike Katsanevas doesn't say much when asked what he's going to get for Christmas.

And Sen. Arthur V. Watkins (R-Utah) has promised to do all he can to cut the red tape involved in getting them here.

Mike is 66. He has been back and forth between America and Crete several times. Now he works as a janitor at the supply depot. He has had a dream since he got the job in 1948 — and because of it his floors are the cleanest and his brass the shiniest in the vast establishment.

Last week a spontaneous campaign started among his 2,100 fellow workers to help him do it. In less than a week $2,100 of the needed $3,000 was collected.

"We'll make it," says Sandy Cahoon, who is president of the Civilian Employes Assn. at the base.

Mike first came to America 35 years ago. In 1924 he returned to Crete to see his dying mother. He married and returned to the coffee shop he operated in Salt Lake City. But his wife died in childbirth, and Mike, grief stricken, went back again to Crete. He farmed the small family olive grove, remarried and started raising a family.

When the Germans invaded Greece, Mike fought for his country and ended up in prison. When he was released his family was near starvation, his home had been burned, his olive grove despoiled.

After Congress passed a law allowing all former American soldiers stranded in Europe free transportation back to the United States, Mike got together enough money to bring two sons and a daughter with him. His wife and the others had to stay behind.

"It won't be long," he promised, "before I send for you."

But a janitor's pay is small, and it is now almost seven years.

Survivor of Shooting to Visit Puerto Rico

OWOSSO (AP)—Rep. Alvin M. Bentley (R-Mich), once shot on the House floor by a Puerto Rican fanatic, will leave Tuesday for a week's visit to Puerto Rico. He will be accompanied by his wife.

Bentley was critically wounded last March 1 when three Puerto Rican political fanatics let loose a barrage of shots from the House gallery in Washington.

Bentley said he had no fear of visiting the island commonwealth, adding: "In fact, I think I will feel safer there than I would in New York city."

(The fanatics who shot up the House had immigrated to New York city.)

The Michigan congressman said he would study conditions in Puerto Rico, with particular reference to Puerto Ricans entering the United States, of which they are citizens.

Bentley and his wife will be guests of Gov. Luis Munoz Marin and Mayor Felisa R. de Gautier of San Juan.

Woman Again Loses Mate in Plane Crash

WINOOSKI, Vt. (AP)—Mrs. Shannon Smith, mother of two small children, has been widowed by an Air Force plane crash for the second time in 10 years.

Her husband, Capt. Mahlon A. Smith II, 30, Sioux City, Iowa, was killed yesterday when he veered his Sabrejet plane onto a field to avoid landing in a thickly populated area.

No Long Sore Throats for Regent Park Zoo

LONDON (AP)—Officials at the Regent's Park zoo began preparations today to protect the animals from London's expected November fogs. They paid particular attention to the long necked giraffes. A keeper explained:

"Giraffes cannot cough. This means they cannot relieve any congestion, so they easily get sore throats and high temperatures. We keep all the giraffes indoors during November."

Veteran Printer to Quit as Typo Union Leader

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Typographical Union has announced the resignation of veteran president Clifford G. Sparkman, effective Dec. 3.

Sparkman, 48, now serving his seventh term as president, would give no reason for his action.

The remaining six months of his term will be filled by Kenneth Hull, first vice president of the union.

A journeyman printer for 30 years, Sparkman made unsuccessful bids in 1950 and 1952 to unseat Woodruff Randolph as president of the International Typographical Union. Last spring he failed in an attempt to defeat Frank X. Martel as president of the Detroit Federation of Labor.

Arabs Protest Visit of Envoy

Claim Diplomat Should Not See Israeli Chief in Divided Jerusalem

JERUSALEM (AP)—Edward B. Lawson, the new U.S. ambassador to Israel, presented his credentials today to President Izhak Ben-Zvi.

The Arab League nations had protested to the United States that the presentation carried the implication of recognition of Jerusalem as the Israeli capital. U.S. Secretary of State Dulles replied that normal practice was to present credentials where the head of the state resides, and the action in no way signified a change in the U.S. attitude toward Jerusalem.

Jerusalem is a divided city, with most of the modern portion under Israeli control and the old city under Jordan jurisdiction. Israel has moved its government offices to Jerusalem, which it claims as its capital.

The United Nations has never recognized the claim, and the United States maintains its diplomatic headquarters in Tel Aviv.

The U.N. plan was to make Jerusalem an international city but this has never been carried out.

Near Miss by Train 'Shocking' to Woman

Then the policemen took Mrs. Frances Pearman, 45, to Mills Memorial Hospital, where she is recovering today from shock.

2 Waterford Township Businesses Burglarized

Two Waterford Township business places were broken into early yesterday by burglars who broke out windows for entry, according to Waterford Township Police.

The two stores, side-by-side, are the Goodwill Heating at 3401 Highland Rd., and the Skipper Drive-In at 3425 Highland Rd.

Apartment House Thief Steals $24 in Clothing

A clothes-line thief invaded an apartment at 822½ Baldwin Ave., and stole $24—worth of undergarments owned by Mrs. Charles McMichael, according to Pontiac Police.

Mrs. McMichael said the garments, belonging to her 15 and 18-year-old daughters were hanging in the hallway to dry. Among the apparell a red wool blanket, a pair of work trousers and a pair of men's hose also were taken.

Jim Jordan Jr. Rising Producer

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK (AP) — Out of Peoria, Ill., came two Jim Jordans to put their imprint upon the networks, but in different ways.

Jim the elder is more familiarly known as Fibber McGee, and, with Molly, is going strong on radio five nights a week.

Jim Jr. has gone into television, not as a performer like his parents, but as a producer.

As a matter of fact, his name is appearing regularly in such programs as the Comedy Hour and the Bob Hope shows on TV. Young Jim first directed the Comedy Hour in 1950, when he switched from drama to variety.

That was in New York, and when the program was moved to Hollywood he went along. Right now he is in England with Hope to direct a kinescope recording Hope is making for his regular TV appearance on Dec. 7.

Born in Peoria 31 years ago, Jim Jr. was brought up in show business, with his parents in vaudeville and then radio. He attended school both in Chicago and Los Angeles, because first one then the other city was network headquarters for his family.

He tried acting for both radio and films, but he never had his dad's flair for comedy.

Jim's wife is actress Peggy Knudsen and they have three young daughters.

Met Opening So Quiet Men's Dress Is News

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—"The Opera Opening" has become so tame that for a story the other night I had to pick its Best-Dressed MEN . . . or tell how Gene Tierney and Ali Khan were together again . . . at other places.

"The Met was so well-behaved, you could have heard a Big Name drop," somebody said.

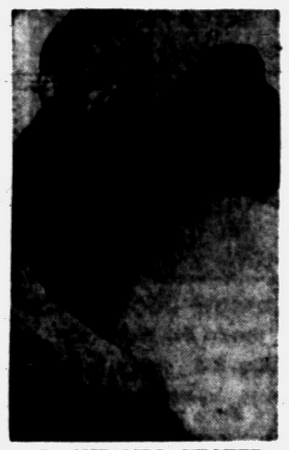

★ ★ ★ ★

But the Best-Dressed gee was Frank Chapman, Gladys Swarthout's husband, by reason of a lame vest that sparkled like a carnival spieler's false tooth.

It reminded me of Sherry's Bar in other years.

MR. AND MRS. TUCKER

Mrs. Doherty thumbing her nose at photogs . . . Juliana Larson in pants . . . some dame smoking cigars . . . Betty (Legs) Henderson popping her gams up on a table?

But this time Hope Hampton wearing her money (in jewels) and Margaret Truman looking the most radiant in her career (she was with Mrs. Leonard Warren and her brother, Roy Lieflin) were the most exciting personalities . . . except those Best-Dressed Men.

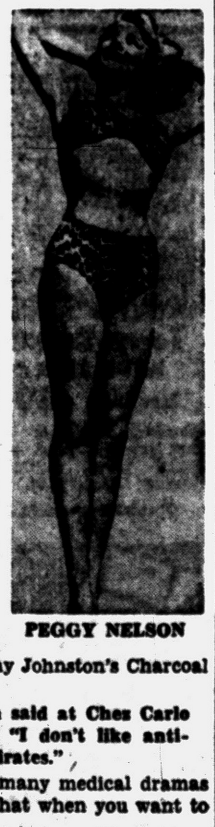

Let's see—Gen. Ridgway was in full dress; Gene Tunney wore matching shoes and carried his topper; Harry Gould wore accordion-pleated shirt and chinchilla shorts; and the other Best-Dressed Men included:

★ ★ ★ ★

Jimmy Donahue, Clyde Newhouse, Tom Rogers, Robert Sweeney, Conrad Thibaut, Rudolph Bing, Charles Revson, Cesar Siepi, Stanley Garfinkel, Earl Blackwell and Richard Tucker, the great singer, who bought me a drink afterward.

Maybe the Met's quieted down to a woman wearing a mask and a guy claiming to be a maharajah because we're all so much older.

But Gene and Ali were at El Morocco and the Copa this year's opening night . . . Gene looking lean, lovely and luscious . . . and THAT could be tomorrow's news.

PEGGY NELSON

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Neal Hefti, Arthur Godfrey's bandleader who quit after a fight with the boss, is back—as music arranger . . . It didn't take long—there's already a song called "Josanne," named for Marion's gal . . . Peggy Nelson's resuming TV work here after four months in Italy.

Mrs. Horace Dodge will give a party for daughter-in-law Gregg Sherwood to show there's no hard feelings . . . Are the Cy Howards (Gloria Grahame) scrapping already? . . . Gordon Jenkins leaves Decca Jan. 1.

★ ★ ★ ★

Saratoga expects gambling again in '56 . . . Daily Double: Peggy Ann Garner and publicity man Bill Stutman at Johnny Johnston's Charcoal Room.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Fred Allen said at Chez Carlo he wouldn't see "Peter Pan" because, "I don't like anti-anything shows—and this one is anti-pirates."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: There are so many medical dramas on TV these days, claims Peter Donald, that when you want to buy a new set you need a prescription.

JIM EILERS WRITES THAT HIS girl likes to see movies from the balcony. When they go to a drive-in movie he has to jack up the car . . . That's earl, brother.

Parole Board Gets New Head

Pascoe, Controversial Long-Time Chairman, Being Replaced

LANSING (AP)—A. Ross Pascoe, long-time chairman of the State Parole Board and a controversial figure in state government, was replaced yesterday as chairman by the State Corrections Commission.

The commission named Roy H. Nelson of Lansing, present member of the board, as Pascoe's successor. Nelson will take over Jan. 1, 1955, his term to run through the year unless extended by the board. Pascoe will remain a member of the board.

Pascoe has been a board member for 27 years and chairman for much of that time. He came under criticism for being "too tough" on prisoners asking for parole.

The commission, however, commended Pascoe for his "courageous" leadership as chairman of the parole board.

The commission went on record as favoring transfer of some 150 psychotic prisoners at the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson to the State Hospital for the Criminally Insane at Ionia, as soon as space becomes available there.

Corrections Director Gus Harrison told the commission a proposed new 600-man medium security prison at Ionia would cost nearly $5 million.

The State Legislature had authorized expenditure of $2,650,000 on the prison, and the commission hopes to get the amount increased during the next session of the Legislature.

Commissioners reviewed preliminary plans for the prison, which will be located about a mile from the Ionia Reformatory.

Harrison said the new institution would emphasize vocational training, and contain many recreational facilities, including television lounges and a football field.

Arnold Toynbee Doesn't Expect U.S.-Red War

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—British historian Arnold J. Toynbee does not expect a third world war involving the United States and Soviet Russia.

The research professor in international history at the University of London said in an interview last night that he looks for the present "cold war" between the West and Russia to continue "for a long time" with no "sensational ending."

Toynbee, here to address the autumn meeting of the American Philosophical Society, said, "We ought not be frightened by the competition. We ought to persuade the world that the West is better."

STORYTELLER—Eddie Albert, stage, screen and TV star, tells the story of a young boy's first love on this week's GE Theater when they present "I'm a Fool" by Sherwood Anderson.

Diphtheria Outbreak Quarantines Homes

GRAND RAPIDS (AP)—City health officials have quarantined eight homes since an outbreak of diphtheria in the city last week.

Dr. W. B. Prothro, city health commissioner said the latest family to be quarantined has two members, a father and son, known to be diphtheria carriers.

Homes of four persons who developed the disease and those of three other suspected carriers of the disease already had been placed under quarantine.

Dr. Prothro said he still is seeking the person he believes responsible for the original diphtheria contagion last week.

He said the outbreak ended a five-year period in which Grand Rapids had no diphtheria cases.

White Man Heap Fool to Use Bow and Arrow

MUSKOGEE, Okla. (UP)—Turner Bear, a full blood Creek Indian from Checotah, Okla., got his deer yesterday in an area where some hunters have been using bow and arrow.

Asked if he had used that weapon, Bear replied:

"No, that white man's way. Indian use 30-30."

Ann Arbor Health Chief From '04-'50 Dies at 94

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dr. John A. Wessinger, Ann Arbor health officer from 1904 to 1950, died here yesterday. He was 94.

One of Wessinger's first acts as health officer was to enact more stringent milk regulations. He also formed one of the first municipal health clinics in Michigan.

A native of Howell, he is survived by three sons and a daughter.

State Farmer, 87, Plans Own Funeral

ST. JOHNS, (UP)—If death came tomorrow, Gottfried Ottmar, 87, would be fully prepared.

Scheduled to arrive soon at a funeral parlor in Wacousta is a tape recording carrying a funeral sermon by Dr. Preston Bradley, Chicago minister chosen by Ottmar to deliver his final eulogy.

Ottmar, farmer and former attorney, does not consider himself eccentric for making such elaborate preparations for the death he knows is not too far away. He looks at it from a practical point of view.

His friends are numerous in Clinton County, but he nevertheless is alone in the world, without a living relative. His only child, a son, died in 1899, two years after he married Daisy Ruth Hildreth. His wife died 13 years ago, leaving him alone in their rambling 28-room farmhouse outside St. Johns.

"There is nothing odd about this," he said. "Now that my wife is gone, nobody would know what to do with me if I didn't give them the details.

"I'm known all over this county and the folks would expect something. My duty is to arrange my funeral in advance. When I go, everything is set. I'm willing all of my assets to charity. Even the cats are provided for."

Ottmar wants a male choir to furnish music at his funeral because "I don't want a woman screaming over me."

Because there will be no one left to mourn for him, he is asking that his body be cremated and the ashes deposited on the family lot in Boughton Cemetery in Clinton County.

He will have a Masonic funeral and his mission in life will be represented by the Masonic funeral ode, beginning, "To live as gently as I can; to be, no matter where, a man."

Ottmar's biographical sketch, written by himself, states that he was born in Wurttemberg, Germany, in 1867, where he lived and attended school until he was 13 years old. Then, with his parents' consent, he came to this country, living with relatives, working on the farm and continuing his education.

He taught school for three years, then entered the University of Michigan, where he obtained a law degree in 1895. He practiced law for two years in Lansing but quit on the advice of doctors. Soon after he moved to the farm which has been his home ever since.

"Take care of your living and your dying will take care of itself."

Mice Can Be Expensive

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (UP) — A mouse jumped out of a box Mrs. Catherine Hylander, 45, of West New York, was carrying while working in a factory. Mrs. Hylander became hysterical and required medical treatment. The State Workmen's Compensation Bureau awarded her $3,189.25 for permanent and temporary disability plus over $700 in medical fees.

Thief Scrambles Eggs

SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Grocer Robert Bryan kept all his eggs—17 dozen—in one basket. A thief grabbed it and ran.

Eggs kept plopping to the pavement but Special Patrolman Arthur Torres finally captured the thief, with only 31 unbroken eggs. He got 30 days in jail.

New Neighbor in Park

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP) — The 87 companies at Harborside Industrial Park, where there already are some 4,000 workers, will have a new neighbor this fall with the completion of a new 24,000-square foot industrial building. The General Fittings Co. will take over half the space of the building, the first of a new series of units planned for the industrial park, established in 1949.
