Mercury to Climb to 20 It's Warmer---Can You Tell?

Can you believe it? It's getting warmer. The weatherman with the Detroit branch of the U.S. Weather Bureau had this little bit of welcomed news today after Pontiac residents were still trying to thaw out after yesterday—the coldest day yet in the 1958-59 winter.

The mercury did a little loosening up as it crept upward slightly to a warmer reading of 7 degrees above zero as most of us numbly made it to work this morning. Yesterday, the record cold reading was 1 degree below zero at the same time.

And it's going to continue to warm up around these parts, our friend from the Bureau says. It might get up to 20 degrees today with a few snow flurries coming with the "warming trend."

While most thermometers shivered down to a low of about 2 above last night, the weatherman says tonight's low reading is likely to be a warmer 12 degrees.

On tap for tomorrow, he says, is increasing cloudiness and a possible higher reading yet of 28.

The rest of Michigan can look forward to these raising temperatures also, the Bureau said, with light snow predicted by Wednesday afternoon for northern Lower and Upper Michigan.

The lowest temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a. m. was 0. The mercury rose to 17 at 1 p. m.

BABY, IT'S COLD OUTSIDE — Waterford Township High School students Donna Gracey (left), of 3591 Lakewood Dr., and Carole McIntosh, of 3857 Lakewood Dr., share a large scarf this morning to escape the second day of bone-chilling temperatures still gripping the Pontiac area and the rest of Michigan.

Hint Mikoyan Gives Pledge of Free Access to Berlin

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan was reported today to have assured the United States of continued free Western access to Berlin.

But he gave no detail that would permit judgment as to whether the access he offered would be really free as the West understands the word.

Such a pledge would go to the heart of the current East-West tension over Berlin's future. It would signal a major concession by the Kremlin to the West's objections to Soviet demands to make a "free city" of Berlin.

Mikoyan was understood to have told high level State Department, business and congressional leaders Monday night:

1. The Soviet Union is determined to turn over administration East Berlin to the puppet East German Communist regime, regardless of U.S.-British-French Denunciation of the plan.

2. The Soviet Union is not trying to throw the Allies out of West Berlin, even though Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, in a Nov. 27 note, suggested withdrawal of all Allied troops from the city.

3. The Soviet Union simply feels the time has come, 13 years after the end of World War II, to give Berlin a new status.

4. The United States, Britain and France, in replying last week to Khrushchev's note, were remiss in not coming up with some counter.

Storms Cause Deaths, Injuries on Both Coasts

18 Injured as Gale Smashes Barge Into Staten Island Ferry

FROM OUR NEWS WIRES

A wave of cold, arctic air drove into the East in the wake of damaging gale winds Tuesday, and the season's worst storm lashed the West Coast with heavy rains and 100-mile-an-hour winds.

As the core of the cold air pushed into the East during the night, temperatures plunged to below zero in New England and ranged in the 20s as far south as upper Florida.

Wind gusts of up to 75 miles per hour in advance of the bitter cold pounded New York City and its suburbs Monday, upsetting two airplanes at La Guardia Airport and causing a harbor collision between a Staten Island ferry and a barge.

Eighteen persons were injured when the ferry boat carrying 1,800 commuters from Manhattan to Staten Island was rammed broadside in New York Harbor by a gasoline barge cast adrift by gale-force winds.

The ferry, the Tompkinsville, completed its voyage to Staten Island, where two ambulances were waiting to remove the injured to a hospital. Several police launches and coast guard craft escorted the disabled ferry.

The double-decked ferry, which has a capacity of 2,500 passengers, was about half way between the Statue of Liberty and Staten Island when it was struck amidships on the starboard side by the barge Texaco. The impact, which ripped a huge hole in the ferry's side, knocked scores of passengers to the deck and broke several windows.

According to the requests, further study is needed before final action on a proposed ordinance amendment that would outlaw sale of non-essential items in Pontiac on Sundays.

The Chamber will appoint a special committee of board members to study the proposal, Hurlinger said.

To sample public opinion on the question, the DMA announced plans for an informal poll. Readers of The Pontiac Press may make their feelings known by filling out the ballot in today's issue of The Press and mailing it to the DMA.

FIGHT LOOMS

The Chamber's action may temporarily head off what is shaping up to be a battle between the Chamber and the DMA.

Big Annexation Eyed by Phoenix, Arizona

PHOENIX, Ariz. — The City of Phoenix is seeking 385 square miles of additional territory, 108,600 new citizens, and an increase in total valuation of over $100 million.

And three areas, now fringing on Phoenix, will be presented with the services offered by the city to those who live within its boundaries, plus the privilege of having a voice in the city administration.

Plans for these annexations have been announced by the city council, and the various legal maneuvers necessary to their achievement have been started.

City Man Returns Tells of Cuban Jail

Describing a "nightmare of torture" and a bullet-filled flight for freedom, Edward W. Keehn, 20, was back in Pontiac today after five months in a Cuban prison.

The ex-GI angrily accused U. S. officials of "refusing to lift a finger" in his behalf while imprisoned in a Batista jail until Jan. 1.

American Embassy officials refused help, he said, "even though prison guards were torturing us and we escaped with him during New Year's Day rioting."

"But we are working on other measures to get to the bottom of this injustice," Keehn said. He would not elaborate on this point, other than by saying:

"We want to let people know what could and did happen to a few people who became victims of circumstances, and then were refused help."

Keehn said he and a companion, Dean Leon Grayson, 23, Port Land, Ore., were "almost killed" during their daring escape from Cuba at the height of the overthrow of Batista forces by Castro rebels.

He and Grayson, another ex-GI, had been en route to Jamaica for a holiday, Keehn said, when their troubles began last summer.

They were arrested "for no reason" during a routine airlines stop at Camaguey, Cuba, said Keehn, the son of Mrs. Edith M. Keehn, 183 Pingree St.

"We were just walking down the street when suddenly fighting broke out," said Keehn. "Armed men warned out and fired on anyone within range, even children."

"Naturally we ran, but they caught up with us and took us to prison."

2 Police Officers Gain Promotions

Goines, Bale Advance to Ranks They Sought in Court Action

Two Pontiac police officers whose promotions were sought all the way to the State Supreme Court by the city got them yesterday without the benefit of a high court decision.

Public Safety Director George D. Eastman raised Sgt. Fred J. Goines' rank to lieutenant and Detective James F. Bale's to sergeant.

The promotions were certified yesterday afternoon at a special meeting of the Civil Service Commission, after City Manager Walter K. Willman that they be made.

Goines will fill the vacancy created by the retirement of Lt. Claude A. Evans, a veteran of 31 years with the Department. Bale moves up to Goines' position.

Oakland County Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams had issued a court writ on Oct. 9, ordering the promotion of Goines, Bale and Detective Herbert C. Cooley, all of whom had been denied promotions by Police Chief Herbert W. Straley, whose decision was upheld by Willman.

After city commissioners voted 6-1 Nov. 3 to appoint Judge Adams' decision, Pontiac City Attorney William A. Ewart filed an application for leave to appeal with the State Supreme Court on Nov. 18.

Judge Adams ordered the promotions after trial of a lawsuit started by police officers in June. They said they should have been promoted to vacancies on the force since they placed on top of the civil (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Ex-City Engineer Dies in Florida

William J. Fisher, 88, Laid out Sewer Plan, Paved Saginaw Street

William J. Fisher, 88, former city engineer and member of the City Planning Commission, died yesterday in St. Petersburg, Fla. He had been ill the past three years.

He was a graduate of Pontiac High School and the University of Michigan, class of 1893.

In 1901 Mr. Fisher was appointed city engineer. At that time sidewalks were made of wooden planks. The first concrete walks were laid in front of the property now occupied by the Elks Lodge on Orchard Lake avenue.

Among his achievements as city engineer was replacing of the old cobblestones on Saginaw street with a new pavement. During his term wooden bridges over the Clinton River were replaced by stone and concrete.

The first sewer system in Pontiac was laid out and supervised by him.

In 1907 he built the West Huron street pavement to secure the state fair for Pontiac. The fairgrounds were at Thorpe street.

Mr. Fisher formed a partnership in 1891 known as Fisher Brothers, Architects and Civil Engineers. The firm specialized in school design.

In 1891 he built the Pontiac-Sylvan Lake railway which extended from the city to the Sylvan Lake Hotel. Later he laid out a railway from Frederick to East Jordan.

In 1937 Mr. Fisher of 29 Franklin Blvd. was appointed to the City Planning Commission, later serving as chairman.

He was a member of St. Vincent de Paul Church, Pontiac Lodge 810 and the Emeritus Club of the Alumni Association of the University of Michigan.

A native of Pontiac, he was married to the former Josephine Gaudier.

Surviving are a son, Truman of St. Petersburg, two grandchildren, and six great-grandchildren.

Following the cremation of the body at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday in the DeWitt C. Davis Funeral Home, an Elks Lodge of sorrow will be conducted at 8 p.m.

Service will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday from St. Vincent de Paul Church, with burial in Mt. Hope Cemetery.

Mr. Fisher's body may be viewed at the funeral home after 4 p.m. Wednesday.

CUBAN PRISON ESCAPEES — Relaxing for the first time in three days are Edward W. Keen (second from right), of 183 Pingree St., Pontiac, and two other escapees from a Havana prison, Dean L. Gleaves, 21, of Portland, Ore., and Jonathan nouncing the arrests, first accused Keen of the kidnapping robbery of a Havana gambling spot manager. Keen denied any knowledge of the crime.

Later, he said, they were taken to El Principe Prison in Havana, where they met the third American, Jonathan J. Graham Jr., of Akron, Ohio.

Keen said Graham told him he was also arrested for no apparent reason by guards who swarmed down on his Havana hotel room. All three were accused of being supporters of the rebel movement.

"They burned our arms and legs with cigarettes, trying to make us confess we supported Castro," Keen said.

"They forced us to put on Castro uniforms and took out photographs. They tortured us and beat us."

American officials failed to forward most mail and packages from relatives, Keen charged.

He said that although embassy representatives visited them in jail, "they listened indifferently when we told them about the torture, foul living conditions and starvation rations."

A guard broke Gleaves' nose, Keen said, but an embassy official told Gleaves later, "You must have fallen down a flight of stairs."

Another time, Keen said, Graham showed an attaché his blood-soaked underwear, but the official said only, "Do you want me to change your diapers for you?"

Keen said the two armed guards to smuggle out letters to their relatives. He said that upon reading one of these letters, his mother flew to Havana with $1,000 in ransom and gave it to the prison commandant to free her son.

"The commandant took the money and promised to free me," Keen said. "But when I asked the guard about it, he just laughed in my face."

Keen noted that this guard was one that was shot to death in the riots.

During the rioting, Keen said, the prison was filled with bullets. "We were afraid they would try to machine gun us all. Many of the prisoners were killed. I don't know how we managed to survive."

The American trio fought their way to the streets. "Everywhere we went, there was gunfire," Keen said.

"We were sneaking through a square in Havana when some Batista men rushed down on us in a jeep. They spotted our white prison uniforms and began shooting at us."

Keen did not disclose the means whereby he, Gleaves and Graham were able finally to get clear of Cuba.

In Miami, Fla., on Wednesday, however, they were met by friends at International Airport, and with money sent by relatives were able to fly home.

"The only thing I want now is to forget all those horrible events and resume my normal life," said Keen.

Officers Start Classes To Offer Courses in Police Techniques in Engineering

A training program for city police officers got under way yesterday.

All patrolmen will receive two weeks of schooling, with supervisory officers in classrooms for three weeks.

In addition, command officers will be given training through a series of staff conferences held at regular intervals, Public Safety Director Joseph D. Eastman said.

Among the subjects officers will study are traffic control, first aid, minority group relations, traffic accident investigation, police organization, investigation, report writing and physical arrest techniques.

Courses will also be given in vice suppression techniques and police records.

Instructing the officers will be members of the Pontiac and Detroit police departments, FBI officers, city officials, and members of the Oakland County Prosecutor's Office.

"The purpose of the program is to make sure our police are well-versed in the fundamentals of police work, and to make them better all-around officers," Lt. William Hanger, head of the department's Staff Bureau said.

Hanger is in charge of setting up the training program.

The 63-year-old Mikoyan, second in Khrushchev's order of precedence, had these cards on the table in replying to questions at an exclusive dinner given for him by Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Assn. of America.

Johnston was apologetic after word for inviting some newsmen and letting others shiver outside his swank headquarters in 15-degree temperature. He said the five invited were "personal friends."

Hanging outside also were about 30 anti-Communist pickets, refugees from Iron Curtain countries. Sparked by former Freedom Fighters in Hungary's abortive 1957 revolt, they brandished placards, shook fists and screamed in defiance. "Mikoyan the murderer!"

Mikoyan and his party, arriving for the dinner in a Soviet Embassy Cadillac, paid no attention to the pickets. Neither did the 48 other guests, about equally divided between State Department officials, congressional leaders, selected newspapermen and business executives.

Field Purchases Chicago Paper

$16 Million Price Paid to John S. Knight for Daily News

CHICAGO (AP) — Field Enterprises, Inc., owners of the Chicago Sun-Times, has bought control of the Chicago Daily News for an estimated 16 million dollars.

Marshall Field Jr., head of Field Enterprises and editor and publisher of the Sun-Times, and John S. Knight, editor and publisher of the Daily News, made the announcement jointly Monday.

Field paid $50 a share for his more than two-thirds interest and offered the same price to holders of the balance of the stock. The total number of outstanding shares was listed as 481,293 of which more than 75 per cent were held by Knight Newspapers, members of the Knight family, and executives and employees of Knight papers.

Purchase of the minority holdings by Field would boost his outlay for the Daily News to an estimated 24 million dollars, thus making the deal one of the biggest newspaper transactions in history.

In 1955, S. I. Newhouse bought the Birmingham, Ala., News, the Huntsville, Ala., Times, a TV station and three radio stations for $18,700,000.

The Daily News building also becomes the property of Field Enterprises. It was erected in 1929 at a cost of $8,786,000.

The purchase of the Daily News reduced the Chicago daily newspaper publishing field to two groups — the Tribune company which publishes the morning Tribune and the afternoon Chicago American; and the Field Enterprises.

The Sun-Times, a morning newspaper, has an average daily circulation of 561,978 and a Sunday circulation of 630,006. The News, an afternoon newspaper, has an average circulation of 575,371.

Winter term graduate engineering courses offered at the Michigan State University Oakland Continuing Education Center, 3070 Butler rd., Avon Township, will begin Jan. 12.

Dr. Lowell Eklund, director of continuing education at MSUO, said the engineering courses — like all credit courses now offered — are actually extension courses of Michigan State University brought to this area as a matter of service for the local residents through the facilities of MSUO.

The faculty will be furnished or approved by the appropriate MSU departments and all credit for these courses will be accumulated at the East Lansing institution.

"This will continue to be the pattern of operation, pending that time when sufficient faculty for these many and varied programs are resident at MSUO," Eklund said. "But this will probably be a considerable time into the future."

Graduate engineering courses in two levels of mathematics and one refresher course will begin the week of Jan. 12 and will be taught during evening sessions.

A Waterford Township father of two was listed in "very critical" condition today at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital as the result of an explosion and fire in his garage at 8 last night.

When Max Richardson, 40, of 2624 Walton Blvd., turned on an open electric heater to warm his garage, fumes from a pair of gas-line were ignited, setting off the blast.

Richardson, vice president and manager of Hillcrest Golf and Country Club, near Mount Clemens, managed to struggle to the garage door and open it. Then he got into his station wagon and drove next door to his neighbor, Ralph Bump, who called an ambulance.

"I don't know how the man could possibly drive a car," said Mrs. Bump. "The explosion had ripped nearly all his clothing from his body."

A hospital spokesman this morning said Richardson suffered first, second and third degree burns over at least 50 per cent of his body.

CHILDREN AT HOME The victim's wife, Donna, was shopping at the time but her two children, Carol 10, and James, 9, were at home.

The garage is connected to the Richardson's home. When the blast occurred the frightened children ran next door.

Waterford Township firemen said the heater was connected to a two-way light socket with a bulb in the other socket. When Richardson turned the light on, the heater automatically switched on, also, they reported.

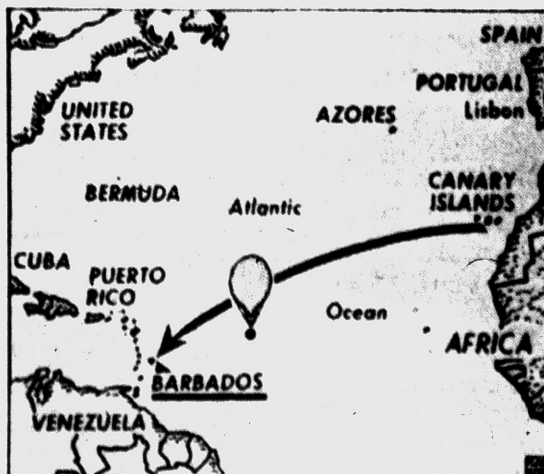

The explosion knocked out three windows in the garage and set fire to its contents. Firemen estimated the damages at about $1,500.

At the hotel they were given rooms overlooking the Atlantic and promptly relaxed in hot, fresh water baths, with a meal of grapefruit, soup, salad and flying fish in their rooms.

Their first callers were West Indies Prime Minister Sir Grantley Adams, his wife, and the wife of the governor of Barbados, Sir Robert Arundell. Before bedding down for the night, the Small Worlders celebrated with Barbados rum punches, water down to take away some of the sting.

The fishing boat that rescued them meanwhile towed the Small World's gondola into Bridgetown harbor, where its arrival caused a near riot by a crowd intent on getting souvenirs. Police reinforcements finally restored order and placed a guard on the gondola at headquarters of the harbor police.

The four Britons were to be given the freedom of the city this afternoon. There also were tentative arrangements for them to make a triumphal drive through the city's main streets.

Weights, Measures Post Is Given to Arthur Ball

BIRMINGHAM — Last night's city commission appointment of Irene Hanley in the care and operation of voting machines.

Commissioners re-appointed Percy Burnett and Arthur Hinkle to serve on the 1959 Board of Appeals. The board is scheduled to meet Mar. 3, 9 and 10 at the City Hall from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

There was no action taken on the city manager's recommendation that Birmingham back plans to make the unused contagious hospital available to mental patients. As a group, commissioners agreed that more study should be made before they lend their support to a project that will cost taxpayers $300,000 a year or more.

Two deficiency rolls, totaling $23,354.60, on the Maple-Willits alley were approved. There is an $11,194.86 deficiency on the right of way and $12,204.74 on the sewer and paving projects for the alley.

Mrs. Man Degen, 58, of 327 Southfield Ave., suffered severe lacerations to her right arm yesterday morning when struck by a car at Woodward and Maple avenues.

Mrs. Degen told police the rearview mirror on the car door struck her. She said the driver "hesitated and then drove on."

A special meeting of the Birmingham Board of Education will be held at 8 p.m. this evening in the Hill School. Dr. Dwight B. Ireland said that the board will discuss additional school sites.

Birmingham Temple No. 94 of Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 to night in the Community House and install new officers for 1959.

To be installed are Irene Gifford as most excellent chief, Florence Brown as excellent senior, Ilau Matic as excellent junior and Kathleen Ling as manager.

The public safety director said there is "no connection" between the court case and the promotions today. "The vacancies exist and these two men are entitled to them," he said.

U.S. Police Halt Cyclist From India 210 Times

TUCSON, Ariz. — Ram Chandru Basu, 22-year-old mechanical engineering student from Calcutta, India, says there's nothing to compare with the police of the United States.

Basu is on a round-the-world motorcycle trip. By the time he reached Tucson, Basu said he had been stopped 210 times by U. S. cops, searched several times, and even taken to jail once for questioning.

He said that says anything faced in 38 countries.

Firemen were hampered by wind gusts that reached 60 miles an hour, blowing snow, and temperatures 6 degrees above zero.

The flames broke out about 6 a.m. The fire was under control about 90 minutes later.

The students were attending the Air Force Institute of Technology. They are taking a crash 9-month program that stresses the Russian language.

The men had arrived only 48 hours before from various Air Force bases throughout the nation.

Survivors, blackened with soot, crashed through windows to escape. Many were cut.

They said they were awakened by shouts of "fire," and saw flames licking under doors that led to the single hallway in the prefabricated building.

All of the 45 in the barracks were unmarried men.

Mamie Van Doren Inc. Grosses 1/4 Million Yearly

By JAMES BACON
AP Motion Picture Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—A. T. and T. may have more capital reserve but it can never match the well-rounded assets of Hollywood's newest corporation — Mamie van Doren, Inc.

The blonde Swede from South Dakota emancipated herself from a steady weekly paycheck a few years ago and says she now grosses a quarter-million yearly.

"Pretty good for a former 4H Club member," boasts Mamie, who doesn't exactly typify the public conception of the farmer's daughter. But Mamie grew up on a farm near Sioux Falls, coming out here in her early teens.

Universal-International signed her five years ago at $200 a week, later raising it to $400. Her then husband, bandleader Ray Anthony, urged her to quit the studio and free-lance.

"Mamie had that farm upbringing," Anthony recalls, "and that steady pay check looked too good to give up."

Mamie says: "I never would have had the nerve to do it if I hadn't had a steady-working husband to fall back on."

But quit she did and her first free lance job at Las Vegas' Riviera Hotel paid her $15,000 a week, more than she earned her entire first year at U-I.

Since then she has made movies here and abroad—she has five unreleased pictures — does movies, TV and now records.

She thinks the recording business is the wildest of all. She signed a contract with Dot Records some months ago. Nothing happened until a few weeks ago when Randy Wood, president of the company, called Mamie at 9 a.m.

He asked her if she could appear on a local TV show called Juke Box Jury that night.

"I want you to plug your new record," said Wood.

Mamie answered: "What new record?"

Replied Wood: "The one you're going to make at 2 o'clock this afternoon."

At 2 p.m., Mamie went into the record session and sang two songs she had never heard of before. Promotion copies were pressed by 6 that night. At 10 p.m., her record was judged a hit by the TV panel.

Like the clown who yearns to play Hamlet, Mamie has long wanted to kick the dumb blonde roles that invariably fall to actresses who look like Mamie.

"How can you be classed a dumb blonde when you're incorporated—with a board of directors, even?" she asks.

377 Die in U.S. Holiday Traffic

New Year Weekend Final Toll Is 32 Below Record 1956-57 Period

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic death toll during the long New Year weekend, a final count shows, was 377—13 less than the National Safety Council's pre-holiday estimate.

Final tabulations for the four day period from New Year's Eve to midnight Sunday also showed 61 persons lost their lives in fires and 113 were killed in miscellaneous type accidents for an over-all total of 551. The traffic toll compared with the record 409 set in the four-day New Year holiday period of 1956-57.

During the four-day Christmas holiday there were 594 traffic deaths, 93 killed in fires and 97 killed in miscellaneous accidents for an over-all total of 784. The record Christmas traffic toll is 706, set in 1956.

What Is Wrong When Prayer Fails

A strange man in Los Angeles, known as the "Voice of Two Worlds," is offering, free of charge to the public, an astonishing Booklet which is a great step forward toward the answer to this question. The search for clues led to a prolonged study of all the great religions of the world, until at last a surprising new light was thrown upon the entire subject of prayer.

In this new light, even the well known Lord's Prayer acquires astonishing new meanings. Hidden between the lines are deep significances and wonderful truths that do not appear in the words alone. The free booklet points these out and is entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer."

"The Voice of Two Worlds," a well known explorer and geographer, tells of a remarkable system that often leads to almost unbelievable improvement of power of mind, achievement of brilliant business and professional success and new happiness. Others tell of increased bodily strength, magnetic personality, courage and peace. These strange methods were found in the Far East, where in ancient times all the great religions and philosophies of the world originated.

He discloses how he learned rare wisdom and long hidden practices, closely guarded for three thousand years by the sages, which enabled many to perform amazing feats.

He maintains that these immense powers are latent in all of us, and that methods for using them are now simplified so that they can be used by almost any person with ordinary intelligence.

In his own case, he was brought back to splendid health. He acquired wealth, too, as well as world-wide professional recognition as a leading geographer and map-maker of the Far East.

He wants to tell the whole world what he learned there, under the guidance of the wisest mystics he ever encountered during his twenty-one years in the Far East. He wants many others to experience the greater health and the Power, which there came to him.

For your free copy of the amazing free booklet, entitled "The Magic Between the Lines of the Lord's Prayer," together with other free literature regarding this remarkable system, address the Institute of Mental Physics, 213 So. Hobart Blvd., Dept. 67R, Los Angeles 4, California. Send no money. Just your name and address on a postcard will do. No obligation. Readers are urged to write promptly, as only a limited number of the free books have been printed.

Social Security Problems

Medical Care Plan Outlined

By RAY HENRY
Associated Press Writer

The American Medical Assn. has just proposed a plan for low-cost medical care for people 65 or over.

But, the proposal—approved by the AMA's governing body, the House of Delegates, at a meeting in Minneapolis recently—is long on generalities and short on details.

In fact, the proposal only makes these two points:

1. That the AMA "expedite the development of an effective voluntary health insurance or prepayment for the group over 65 with modest resources or low family income."
- (Exactly how the development will be "expedited" is not mentioned.)
2. "That physicians agree to accept a level of compensation for medical services rendered to this group, which will permit the development of such insurance and prepayment plans at a reduced premium rate."

(This is only a recommendation since the AMA can't actually set fees to be charged by its 200,000 doctors.)

How and when the AMA will follow up with details on the plan is an open question.

But, in a press release issued following the House of Delegates' actions, two AMA officials are quoted as saying they've talked with insurance and prepayment representatives about the plan and, say the AMA spokesmen, "they are enthusiastic about it."

One thing for sure: The proposal is designed to answer a plan urged by the AFL-CIO to provide medical care for the aged through the Social Security system.

A bill including the AFL-CIO plan was introduced in Congress last year by Rep. Aime Forand (D-RI), second ranking Democrat on the House Ways and Means Committee which originates almost all Social Security legislation.

A few days ago, Forand said he will introduce the same bill this year and predicted it has a greatly improved chance of passage by Congress.

He based his prediction on larger Democratic majorities in Congress and steadily stronger support for his proposal throughout the country.

The main provisions in Forand's bill would provide up to 60 days of hospital care and 60 days of home nursing care a year for people 65 and over who are eligible to receive Social Security retirement payments.

To cover the cost of the care, the bill proposes a raise in the Social Security tax of one-half per cent on employees and employers. It would also boost from $4,800 to $6,000 the amount of total earnings on which the tax would be collected.

All persons now getting Social Security retirement payments would be eligible for the care as well as those who come on the rolls in the future.

It's been estimated that about 13 million persons might now be eligible.

When Forand's bill was proposed the AMA attacked it as impractical, dangerous and the wrong approach to the problem of giving adequate hospital and medical care. It also promised to come up with a plan of its own.

CHAPTER XIX

"The hot weather will bring on the raspberries," the admiral mumbled, "and I shan't be there to pick 'em. That fellow's been told to put the sprinkler on the lawn if there's a heat wave, but he won't."

"He won't do anything. I'll go back to find the whole place under weeds."

"Can't you stop thinking about your garden?" asked his sister with a touch of irritation.

"No, I can't. I put in several hundred hours getting it into shape, and if I don't keep it in shape, it'll run away from me and I shall never get it right again. I'm too old to do all that donkey work I did before."

"You are old, yes," said Mrs. Zoller with her usual tact, "but you can have gardeners, no?"

"No," said the admiral shortly, and grew purple with the effort of preventing himself from adding that only bloated millionaires could have gardeners at four shillings an hour, six days a week.

He settled himself angrily in his seat, shook open the English newspaper he had bought at the frontier, and hid himself behind it.

"Incidentally," said Angus, to the passengers in general, as he went back to his compartment, "I'm glad to tell you that Mr. Yule's dispatch case has been found."

"Found?" The admiral lowered his paper. "Found where?"

Lord Lorrimer answered the question.

"Mr. Graham and the driver found it on the coach when they were able to make a thorough search. Mr. Graham brought it to my room last night." He handed the case to Lionel. "It must have got wedged behind the seat," he said.

Lionel, without a word, took the case and put it into his locker. Leaving them all to discuss the matter if they wished, Angus went back to his compartment and looked out at the sunlit scenery. His mind was on Angela, and soon she came to join him.

"Why didn't you tell me about the case?" she asked in surprise.

"I wasn't sure what your father was going to say about it."

"How did it get back?"

"Somebody — probably Tarrant — pushed it just inside his room during the night. Have the others swallowed your father's version?"

"Apparently. All except Mr. Holt and Miss Seton. Mr. Holt gazed out of the window one side, and she gazed out the other side and they both looked—"

"Skeptical?"

"No. Purposely blank."

"Well, that's that. See the yoke on that ox-cart? I've got one. My father made it into the back of a garden seat, and it looks good. They're heavy, but the decoration's interesting."

"Have you seen Roncivalles?"

"Yes. Have you?"

"Yes."

"Which was the last army to march through there?"

"Bonaparte's. And the Black Prince went through there. And Charlemagne's rearguard was destroyed there and Roland died there and he blew three blasts on his magic horn called . . . called something or other. Olivant. You thought I didn't know anything, didn't you?"

MAGIC SWORD FLOPS

"I didn't know, I only feared."

"This Roland character had a magic sword, too. If he had a magic sword, how did he manage to get killed?"

"He ought to have swapped it for a magic suit of armor. Do you know as many facts about Burgos?"

"I don't know one. I've never been there."

"Good. Then I can show it to you. It's beautiful. Will you come out to dinner with me?"

"I'll think about it."

"And when you've thought about it?"

"I'll come out to dinner with you."

She stayed with him until they reached Pamplona. In spite of the one o'clock stop, most of the passengers were hungry and some a little peevish by three.

Angus ordered sherry as they waited for the meal, but the admiral refused it, eating at that hour was bad enough, he said, but drinking was worse.

Mr. Holt and Miss Seton had withdrawn a little from the rest. Lord Lorrimer sat with Lionel Yule, the Zollers joined Mrs. Denby-Warre. As usual, Mr. Zoller was silent.

When addressed, he answered as briefly as possible and relapsed into silence once more.

People seldom approached him, for he was as sharp as his wife was stupid, and on the few occasions on which his small, beady eyes were open, he let them roam, hard and unblinking, from one of his fellow passengers to the other, studying them, missing nothing.

BULL ARGUMENT

Maurice went to sit beside Angela. He mentioned the Pamplona bull-running, and soon a heated argument on bull-fighting was taking place.

"But have you ever seen one? A good one, I mean," said Maurice.

"Yes, I have," said Angela.

"I saw one in Madrid with all the top forefathers and—"

"Terroros."

"Who cares? It was horrible."

"Cold-blooded slaughter," said the admiral.

"My dear Admiral"—Maurice's voice was edged with contempt—"there's nothing in the least cold-blooded about bull-fighting. If you'd understood what was going on—"

"I understood everything that was going on," said the admiral, his color deepening dangerously.

"They were slaughtering the bull, that's what was going on."

"But if you'd watched with real knowledge—" said Maurice.

"Oh, I have heard all that," said Mrs. Zoller. "All that, my husband told me."

"Watch this matador, he said, watch how he does this with his hat and this with his feet, and this with his cape. But all the time, I watch the bull and—"

"Well, that was a mistake," said Maurice. "If you're going to miss all the—"

"Yes, yes, yes," broke in the admiral angrily, "we know all about that. Twenty-five different dance steps or something of that kind."

"But that's only when the bull's had a lance driven into it and is half dead. Do they do twenty-five dance steps when the bull's fully alive? They do not."

NO DANCE THEN

"A lot of fellows in pink stockings and silly hats flick their capes at the bull and then run hell for leather into those little wooden boxes at the side of the ring."

"None of your dance steps then, you mark my words. None of your slow tangos round the bull. They keep those till the animal's half dead. What'd you say?" he asked Lord Lorrimer.

"The great mistake," said Lord Lorrimer, "lies in calling it a fight. The Spanish don't. Their word is corrida, which means a race or a sprint."

"And how they sprint!" said the admiral. "Until the bull's dying on its feet."

"And bull-fighting was dying on its feet, too, until that writer chap wrote a book that started this vogue for pretending to know all about the finer points. Finer points, pah!"

"I agree," said Lord Lorrimer, "that football is slowly but surely superseding—"

"Never," said Maurice, never averse to interrupting his elders.

"What do you think?" he asked Angus.

Angus shook his head.

"Religion, politics — and bull-fighting," he said.

"See what you mean," said the admiral. "Quite right. Gets you nowhere."

Lunch was announced and they went in eagerly, and for the rest of the afternoon took little interest in the landscape.

The coach went on; Burgos was ahead and excitement rose in Angus.

REMEMBERED BUILDINGS

He remembered its beautiful buildings, and remembered also that Wax had told him that Sir Claud had restored an old Renaissance palace and made it into a Green Empress hotel.

They reached the outskirts of the city and drove slowly through the plaza crowded with gay girls and soldiers from the garrison.

Straw Hat Circuit Gets 3rd—or 4th—Farewell

KENNEBUNKPORT, Maine (AP) — Ageless Edward Everett Horton says his 1958 swing around the straw hat circuit is "the fourth of my 10 farewell tours."

Quickly the 70-year-old comedian added, while in Kennebunkport for a week's stint: "I'm cheating myself."

In 1955, he explained, he said he was starting his 10 farewells, so actually this is his third.

Two Oakland Communities Hold Council Meetings

Milford Studies Shopping Units

No New Action Taken on Construction of Two Centers in Village

MILFORD — With no official business scheduled at last night's regular meeting, council members had an informal discussion on the proposed shopping center in the village.

A Detroit firm, represented by Highland realtor Edward Steele, wants to build a 14-store shopping unit at the north end of Milford. The area is now zoned heavy commercial and would have to be rezoned commercial before construction on the center could begin.

At the other end of town, Le-man Kain of the Circle Realty Co. has had plans for a shopping center approved by the village council, providing he erects 60 new homes in his subdivision here first.

Although the property, located along General Motors and South Milford roads, is zoned for a shopping center, the 60-home stipulation has slowed that project down.

Kain has objected to the stipulation before some of the council members, but he has not yet presented a formal complaint, according to Village President Joseph Gerrard.

A committee is expected to present recommendations on the north side shopping center at next week's regular meeting.

Another question raised at last night's meeting was: "If two new shopping centers are constructed at either end of Milford, what will happen to the present business section?" Village council members and local merchants are considering the problem.

Farmers' Taxes Rise 7 Pct. in Year of 1958

WASHINGTON — Farmers were paying 7 per cent higher taxes on farm land by the end of 1958 than a year earlier, an Agriculture Department report showed today.

Land taxes were nearly five times as high by the end of the year as the average for the 1910-14 period.

Reports Progress in 1958

Wolverine Lake Goes Forward

WOLVERINE LAKE — The village of Wolverine Lake continued to grow at a moderate pace during the recession year of 1958, according to figures released today by Village Clerk John C. Finlayson.

Total number of building permits for construction of new homes during the past 12 months showed a decline of only 20 per cent from the 1957 level. Finlayson issued a total of 26 permits for new homes in 1958 as compared to 33 in 1957. A total of 43 building permits for garages and additions were issued in 1958, six less than the 1957 total.

The total estimated cost of construction for the past year amounted to $463,600. A breakdown of the total figure shows the estimated cost of construction for homes was $416,000; for garages, $22,300, and for additions, $25,300.

In looking to the future, Finlayson predicted an increase in building activity for the current year at a level about 10 per cent higher than 1957.

Following is a month-by-month summary of estimated cost of construction in Wolverine Lake Village during 1958:

January—1 addition, $2,000
February—1 garage, $1,400
March—3 homes, 2 garages, $49,000

April—8 homes, 3 garages, 4 additions, $103,600
May—4 homes, 3 garages, 2 additions, $58,700

June—2 homes, 1 garage, $43,400
July—1 home, 1 garage, 2 additions, $14,200

August—3 homes, 3 additions, $44,800

September—4 homes, 2 garages, 2 additions, $85,400

Benson Urges New Dairy Aids

Labor Secretary Points Out Need to Keep Up With Changing Field

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Benson is urging the nation's dairymen to redouble efforts this year on improving their herds.

Gains along this line, he said in a statement, would lower milk production costs and tend to enlarge producers' profits.

"Dairy farmers have made great strides in improving their efficiency," he said. "But the need for making continuous adjustments has never been greater in this rapidly changing field of dairying. Certainly, sound decisions must be based on sound information provided by accurate record keeping."

Benson will work through county agricultural agents, vocational agriculture teachers, dairy herd improvement supervisors, artificial breeding technicians, bankers and others having contact with farmers to stress the value of record keeping on individual milk cows.

Benefits to be stressed during the campaign include the importance of knowing exactly how much to feed each cow, information of value in culling unprofitable producers from herds, and the importance of accurate breeding data for selecting good herd replacements.

Blood Donations Asked at Commerce

COMMERCE TOWNSHIP — A Red Cross bloodmobile will be stationed at Commerce Methodist Church from 2 to 8 p.m. Wednesday for the purpose of replenishing the Commerce Township Community Blood Bank.

Appointments for blood donors will be scheduled by Mrs. Edward Genack, coordinator of the Commerce blood bank. Her phone number is EMpire 3-3806.

Mrs. Genack has stated that the Commerce blood bank service is available to any resident of Commerce Township. A telephone call to Mrs. Genack will result in the release of blood to any township resident in time of emergency or otherwise.

Members of the Commerce Methodist Church WSCS will serve dinner to volunteer workers during the bloodmobile visit. Blood donors needing transportation to the church are asked to phone the Shuman Ford Sales in Walled Lake, Market 4-1111.

Wants Payment of Two Refused

MADISON HEIGHTS — City Attorney H. Eugene Field announced today that he will recommend to the new City Council that it refuse to reimburse two former members of the 1955 city charter commission monies listed as expenses during their time in office. He will make his recommendation at tomorrow night's meeting, he said.

Mrs. Virginia Solberg is trying to collect $73.50 listed as "out of pocket expenses" and George Sargeant has requested $27 for lettering signs in charter elections, Field said.

Both were elected to Madison Heights' first city council when the city's charter was approved Dec. 6, 1955.

The county wants the unpaid balance of $8,000 of the original $15,965 paid by the county for three incorporation elections in 1955.

Field said state law denies compensation to charter commissioners.

George S. Horkey, now mayor, led a slate which swept all the former council members from office last April. The new council hired Field.

Holly Couple Make Home in Florida

HOLLY — Residing in Winter Park, Fla., after their recent wedding are Mr. and Mrs. John Abbey, who exchanged their marriage vows before the Rev. William Lankton in the First Presbyterian Church here.

The bride is the former Lois Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Long of 1121 Hubble Dr. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ival Paulsen of 3348 Grange Hall Rd.

For her wedding the bride wore a white-embossed cup and saucer and a white dress and a headband of white feathers and orange blossoms. She carried a spray of roses and carnations atop a white Bible.

Joyce Herrington was maid of honor, and Sharon Westerlund was the bridesmaid.

Arthur Burgess served as best man, and Robert Mallott seated the guests.

After a wedding reception, held at the home of the bridegroom's parents following the nuptials, the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip through the South.

The bridegroom was graduated from Holly area schools in 1957 and was the Holly Teen Club's first president, serving in that capacity for three years. The new Mrs. Abbey was in her senior year at Holly High School this year.

Oil Explosion in Pump House Causes Fire

OAKLAND TOWNSHIP — A pump house on the Old Acres Home for Children property at 384 W. Predmore Rd. was damaged by fire yesterday afternoon.

The oil burner in the building exploded, causing the blaze, according to Rochester Fire Chief George Ross. Damage to the structure and equipment inside was estimated at between $700 to $1,000, he said.

The pump house is located about 50 feet from the home which is owned and operated by W. H. Harding.

The Rochester firemen were assisted by the Orion Township Fire Dept. in fighting the blaze. No one was hurt.

Farmington Has Busy Session

Reappoints Hamlin to Review Board; Debates Parking, Rezoning

FARMINGTON — For people who recall past council meetings lasting until 1 a.m., last night's meeting, preceded by a public hearing, was an eye-opener.

In little more than an hour the council heard and answered questions on a rezoning proposal, discussed at length plans for off-street parking, reappointed Delos Hamlin to the Board of Review for another three years, and instructed City Manager Earl Scherffius to look into the possibilities of setting up a retirement program for city employees.

The meeting, which started at 8 p.m. was over at 9:07 p.m.

The public hearing concerned a proposal to rezone a parcel of land at the corner of Freedom and Farmington Rds. for multiple dwellings.

The few citizens present at the meeting offered only slight opposition. They wanted answers to questions on parking, garbage disposal, rubbish pickup and possible overcrowding of schools.

John Allen, architect for the Farmington Development Co., developers of the apartments, explained that parking lots and driveways would in no way interfere with adjacent property, that each apartment will have its own garbage disposal and incinerator, and that rubbish will be picked up at the curb as it is for the rest of the city.

He also pointed out that since the units are not designed for large families, they would create few problems in the schools.

ACTION WITHHELD

Mayor Robert Lindbergh said he prefers that the council take no action on the proposal "for the moment." Council members agreed.

Scherffius said that the Off-street Parking Committee was not yet prepared to give a final report on plans for municipal parking lots.

He said the boundaries of the proposed parking areas has been discussed, also the availability of lots. "We must determine the approximate values and the amount of property needed as a first step," he said.

Township Sets Police Course

Independence Is Slating Civil Defense Classes to Begin Jan. 14

INDEPENDENCE TOWNSHIP — A 10-week Civil Defense police course will be held starting Jan. 14 for men in the township who are interested in this type of volunteer effort, it was announced today by Ronald R. Bird, CD director in the area.

The meetings will be held at 8 p.m. each Wednesday during the period at the Clarkston Community Center, he said.

"Regardless of whether the men wish to join or not, we would like them to hear of our need for CD police locally," Bird said.

The course will be given by Robert C. Phillips, former CD director in the township, who now heads the training of CD personnel here.

The CD police serve as an auxiliary force for the full-time law enforcement agencies in the area, Bird said, as well as keeping prepared to swing into action in the event of an attack on this country. They also help out in time of any disaster, he added.

CAP Gives Plane Rides to Interested Teen-Agers

WALLED LAKE — The Walled Lake Squadron of Civil Air Patrol flew two aircraft from the ice on Walled Lake Saturday and Sunday to familiarize the community with one of the activities of CAP.

Donald Patterson, training officer for the squadron, used his Tri-Pacer to fly 51 members of cadets' families as well as interested teenagers. The CAP-owned L-16 aircraft, piloted by Capt. S. N. Domagique, who directed the squadron activity, made a total of 64 flights with CAP cadets on those two days.

Low ceilings and icy conditions forced the pilots to cease operations ahead of schedule on Saturday. Sunday was a beautiful day for flying, although the winds were gusty. Visibility was unlimited at 1,000 feet over Walled Lake. Patterson said, making it possible to see downtown Detroit from here.

Major Elmer W. Barry from CAP Group 11 Headquarters was on hand to observe the operation. He was accompanied by First Lt. William Sells, Berkeley squadron commander, and 2nd Lt. Dorothy Sells, squadron adjutant.

"Walled Lake Squadron, though less than a year old, is one of the most active in the state," Patterson said. Young people between 14 and 18 years of age who live in the Walled Lake area are invited to visit the squadron meetings on Thursday evenings at 7 p.m. in Room 2 of the Walled Lake Junior High School, he said.

The training program of CAP embraces all phases of aviation with their own distinctive insignia, is planned.

LO RAYNE VENNIX

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Moore, 3283 Emmons Rd., Rochester, announce the engagement of their daughter, LoRayne Helen Vennix, to Ted Schaefer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin T. Schaefer, 6269 Atkins Rd., Troy. An early fall wedding with their own distinctive insignia, is planned.

The training program of CAP embraces all phases of aviation with their own distinctive insignia, is planned.

"Safety for the Family" will be the theme of a public meeting to aid homemakers in their fight for home safety, to be held from 10 a.m. to noon tomorrow at the Oakland County Health Center, auditorium, 1670 North Telegraph Rd.

Mrs. Lorraine Black and Miss Louise Billings of the City of Pontiac Health Dept. will present the latest philosophy on how to teach babies and pre-schoolers to be safety conscious as recommended by a leading pediatrician.

They will also teach those attending how to handle accidental poisoning with tips on how to prevent it.

This section on "How to Keep Children Safe" will continue until 11 a.m. when a presentation of a miniature house which graphically shows the positions of many fire hazards evident in most homes will be given.

Kenneth Goodell, chief of fire protection at General Motors Truck and Coach Co., will bring this "House of Hazards" to alert families to the dangers they can correct.

Mrs. Lynn Martin, safety chairman of the Oakland County Home Demonstration Council, who arranged the meeting, urges homemakers to remember "safety is an important part of good house-keeping."

Kensington Park Draws Crowds

By REBA HEINTZELMAN

MILFORD — Thousands of men, women and children are enjoying winter fun at scenic Kensington Park near here at a cost of about 10 cents a year.

In a report just released by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority, statistics show that more than 2 million people take advantage of Kensington's recreational facilities.

Millions more are active throughout the gigantic Huron-Clinton project, which winds through beauty spots all the way from Ann Arbor to Lake St. Clair near Mount Clemens.

Kensington is not a state conservation park, but is 4,200 acres of hills, lakes and curving wooded roads resembling the wild beauty of northern Michigan, maintained by the authority.

By far the largest of any park in the Oakland County area, Kensington is one of five, included in the 15-year old Authority.

Sledding, tobogganing and skiing are becoming more popular with each fresh snowfall, park rangers report. The long steep slides are scientifically contoured to steer a "real-going" toboggan, and the frozen lake is ideal for ice skating.

Even on the coldest days this year, all of the many slides have been jammed with excited children and adults. The report showed that the peak day for attendance was last Jan. 13, with more than 5,000 persons enjoying thrills provided by the snow-covered hills and ice-covered lake.

Park rangers reported that some 2,000 fishermen were on the frozen lake one day last February, and it is expected that this year's total will set an all-time record for ice-fishing.

Ice skating is popular at the boat rental area on Kent Lake. Here the rink is cleared of snow periodically, by a brush-tractor and the surface is kept smooth for the enjoyment of young and old.

Music floats out over the three rinks from an outside loud-speaker and at night, the entire area is lighted.

Thousands of rare, wild Canadian geese have taken over one section of Kent Lake, and the huge birds seem to prefer the safety of the controlled sanctuary, rather than going north, east, south or west.

The big new Nature Center accommodates school children, study groups and camera enthusiasts, as well as the regular visitors.

Long-playing records of authentic bird calls are played on a hi-fi system in the building and are also broadcasted out over many nature trails surrounding the area.

For the first time, townships are helping to carry the relatively small cost of operating the huge project.

Previously, the three counties, Washtenaw, Oakland and Macomb, have absorbed the cost, along with grants from the state. Township taxpayers are now being taxed $5.50 per $1,000 of their property valuation.

In spite of the tremendous number of people that swarm out to the Kent Lake area during the winter months as well as in the summer, authority officials say, there is still plenty of room for more people to have fun at Kensington Park — and the rangers are everywhere, "to see that they do."

SKATING FOR FUN — Recorded music furnishes a luxurious note as young and old glide across the well-kept ice rinks at Kensington park near Milford. The three rinks are lighted for night-skating.

HERE WE GO! — The many ice-coated and snow-covered toboggan slides at Kensington park near Milford attract young and old on even the coldest days of the year, according to Park Rangers.

There are no contests on the Republican ticket here, but on the Democrat ticket two candidates are seeking nomination for supervisor, two for clerk and three for the office of trustee with one to be nominated, McKeachie said.

Sophia Loren Ready to Brave 'Bigamy' Charge

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Sophia Loren says she's going back to Italy next spring despite reports that she might be jailed for bigamy if she returns.

"This is old stuff," the Italian actress said Monday. "Someone in Italy started the story a year ago. I'm going home in four or five months to work on a picture, and I'm not a bit afraid."

The government there recognizes only a church-approved annulment for a couple married in Catholic ceremony. Sophia, 24, and Carlo Ponti, 46, a film producer, were married by proxy in Mexico in September 1957, after he obtained a Mexican divorce from Giuliana Fiastri.

Ponti said he might not go back — "I like it so well here."

Springfield Dem Club to Meet Candidates

DAVISBURG — The Springfield Democratic Club will hear Joseph Radom, West Bloomfield Township attorney and candidate for the Wayne State University Board of Governors, at a 2:30 p.m. meeting Sunday.

Radom and Springfield Township candidates in the spring election will meet with the club at 663 Broadway St., Davisburg.

Despite its minus-70 degrees temperatures in Alaska during winter, there are frequent times when summer heat jumps to 100 degrees.

From the Press Box

BY BRUNO L. KEARNS
Sports Editor, Pontiac Press

Now that the Motor City basketball classic has "been saved," at least it would appear that way, the talk among the press box fraternity is the future of the tournament.

The 1958 edition, most successful in seven years, was only 2,300 short of total capacity of 18,000.

The addition of the University of Michigan was naturally a big factor in its success. The change in dates from the hectic Christmas weekend to post-Christmas weekdays was also a smart move.

Now the question asked by some of the writers is, "What can be done to put the tournament on an even keel with such classics as the Oklahoma City tourney, the Kentucky tourney or the Dixie Classic?"

Before kicking around an answer, we go back a year to a meeting of basketball writers in Detroit.

One of the writers pointed out that even the most loyal alumni from Michigan or Michigan State hardly cherish the thought of driving up to Ann Arbor or Lansing on a cold blustery evening for a basketball game and then having to return in the late hours.

"The Detroit area taxpayers and the alumni of the two schools should have the opportunity to see at least one game in this area," said the writer to officials present from the respective schools.

"A tournament of Michigan colleges" would be as good as anything, it was pointed out.

Officials of the schools were inclined to agree. However, they noted that it was against Big Ten policy to allow two member schools to participate in the same tournament. They could, however, play on a double header program.

This policy now seems to have been relaxed, because it was recently announced that Michigan, Northwestern and Illinois would participate in a 1959 tournament with five Pacific Coast schools in conjunction with the opening of Southern Cal's 18,000-seat fieldhouse.

With this in mind, the way appears to be left open to bring the major Michigan basketball schools together into a tournament.

The answer to the future of the Motor City classic was given when one of the writers suggested that Michigan, Michigan State, U. of D., and Western Michigan, considered the top four basketball schools in the state, get together with four other Ohio schools like Toledo, Bowling Green, Notre Dame and Louisville for an 8-team tourney.

Financially, this could be quite lucrative for the participating schools without any excessive travel costs.

The presence of four Carolina schools, North Carolina, North Carolina State, Duke and Wake Forest are big reasons for the success of the Dixie Classic which is filled to the 74,000 available seats for the six sessions in three days.

Midwest basketball doesn't take a back seat to any section, and the Motor City tourney could be a classic for the Midwest.

Golden Glovers Training

Training sessions for the Golden North Perry, with Bill Strange of Cooley Lake road as manager, will be in full swing at the Jaycee gymnasium, 18

Strange will be working with the Golden Glovers entries who will participate in the tournament to be held Saturday, January 31st and February 7th at Pontiac Central High School.

Boys still desiring to enter the 1959 Golden Gloves tourney can do so by submitting entry at the gym. The facilities are available for those desiring to train for the tournament.

Strange, who has been associated with local boxing since 1930, is listed as a judge with the Michigan A.A.U. He will operate the training facilities from 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Assisting Strange in the training sessions are Dick Huff, Leo Armstrong, Ed Bridges and Johnny Ferro.

Tickets for the Golden Glovers tournament have gone on sale at numerous locations around Pontiac or they can be obtained from Jaycees members.

The Russians have thus far outshone the Americans with five and two victories over the U.S. National teams in their first three games on the tour.

Hughes Helps Titans Defeat Chips, 83-69

MOUNT PLEASANT — The University of Detroit used its superior rebounding and sharper shooting for an 83-69 basketball victory over Central Michigan last night.

The Titans rolled to their eighth triumph in 12 games on the shooting and backboard work of John Belohlavek and Larry Hughes. Belohlavek netted 17 points, one more than Hughes.

The taller Titans were in front throughout, seizing a 44-37 lead at halftime and coasting. Gary Lee and Ken Van Dyke shared scoring honors for Central, each with 13 points.

Scoring Rules in NHL 'Sound,' Says President

NEW YORK (AP)—Regulations covering the individual scoring championship in the National Hockey League are "sound and should not be tampered with," Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said today.

Campbell took exception to the views expressed recently by Maurice (The Rocket) Richard, the Montreal Canadiens' star player and Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Boston Bruins. Both Richard and Patrick suggested separate trophies for the leaders in goals and assists.

Under current regulations, the player with the highest combined total of goals and assists receives a trophy and a $1,000 cash prize.

QUITS — Tom Dodson yesterday accepted a Civil Service post in Chicago after resigning over the weekend as recreation and athletic director of Pontiac schools.

Dodson Quits Position as Athletic Director

By BRUNO L. KEARNS

Thomas W. Dodson, supervisor of physical education and director of athletics and recreation of the Pontiac School system, submitted a letter of resignation to Dana P. Whitmer, superintendent of schools, and immediately accepted a Civil Service position with the Air Force in Chicago.

The resignation became effective immediately and Dodson left for Chicago yesterday where he will assume his new duties as a supervising squadron pilot at O'Hare International Airport.

Dodson came into the school system in 1950 as coach and physical education director at Eastern Junior High School, after his graduation from the University of Michigan in 1949.

Big Ten Coaches, Athletic Directors Want to Continue

Rose Bowl Renewal Favored

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten football coaches, naturally, and athletic directors, cautiously, want to continue Rose Bowl relations with the west coast.

That is the gist of an Associated Press survey completed today.

The survey reflects the working man's opinion of post-season football. The opinion of the Big Ten's faculty representatives who do the voting is a guarded secret.

The Pacific Coast Conference expires July 1. From the remnants will come the new Athletic Assn. of Western Universities, including UCLA, California, Southern California and Washington.

Rose Bowl contractual obligations between the Big Ten and PCC end with the 1960 game. The Big Ten faculty representatives would have to vote on renewal of the series. It is quite possible the required majority vote would not be forthcoming.

The future of the Rose Bowl, as far as the Big Ten is concerned, is nebulous at this time. And no ideas, other than for the 1960 game, crystallized last week in Pasadena.

The general feeling, the survey discloses, is that post-season football means the Rose Bowl. A thumbs-down by the faculty men would include all bowl games.

"It's the Rose Bowl or nothing," assistant commissioner Bill Reed has said.

Typifying the cautiousness of athletic directors is Dick Larkins of Ohio State.

"There are too many angles that no one has yet explored," he said. "The Rose Bowl officials themselves don't know what they're going to do yet. You can't speculate. You can't even assume. You don't know what's happening and can't guess what will happen two years from now."

A definite stand for any post-season game was indicated by athletic director Biggie Munn of Michigan State.

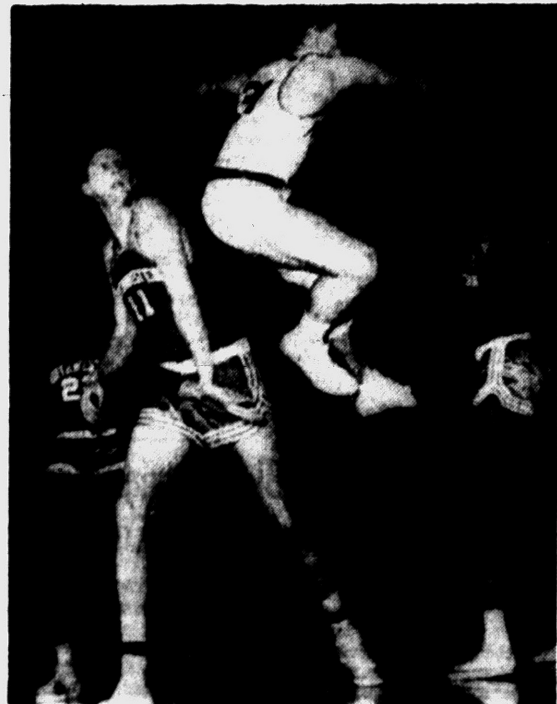

"The two games MSU won in the Rose Bowl were tough ones, great ones and wonderful memories," he said. "It's my hope the Big Ten will continue to play in the Rose Bowl somehow."

Coaches Want Posts Moved to Goal Line

CINCINNATI (AP)—College football coaches who scorned the two-point conversion rule have now learned to live and play with it. But they are seeking a compromise. They want the goal posts moved to the goal line.

The majority of delegates here for the annual convention of the American Football Coaches Assn., realize that the two-point rule, enacted suddenly a year ago by the NCAA Football Rules Committee, has won popularity among the fans and is not likely to be changed.

They contend, however, that putting the posts back on the goal line would make a more equitable game.

Williams Says He'll Play On

Bosox Slugger Hopes to Get in 100 Games, at Least

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Attention Joe Cronin: Before you take that job as president of the American League, send Ted Williams a contract. Ted says he's going to play in 1959.

Williams, generally recognized as the greatest hitter of modern baseball, listed his intention to play at least another year at an informal press conference last night.

"I don't know how long I'll be able to continue in baseball," commented the controversial outfielder. "Three or four years ago I'd have said I wouldn't be playing now. You just can't tell."

Williams, who at the age of 40, won the American League batting title with a .328 average, said he expects to play at least 100 games. "I'd hate to think I couldn't," he said.

The slugging outfielder of the Boston Red Sox was in the city for a sport-arama at which he gave a flycasting exhibition. He appeared in fine condition although he complained of being a trifle heavy.

Maryland Will Talk to Brennan

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—The name of Terry Brennan, ousted Notre Dame coach, popped up Monday night as a possibility for the head football coaching job at the University of Maryland.

Bill Cobe, Maryland athletic director, said he undoubtedly would talk with Brennan at the National Collegiate Athletic Assn. convention now under way in Cincinnati.

Huskies to Miss Freestyler Eley

Pontiac Northern's swimming team, handicapped in its first season of competition by a "short" squad, today was further reduced in numbers by the loss of ace sprinter Tom Eley. Tom is out, probably for the season, because of a glandular condition that hit him just before the holidays.

His loss will hit the Huskies hard for their first meet in their own fine pool, this afternoon. Northern meets a strong Royal Oak Dondoro club.

Pontiac Central gets back in action Friday with a SVC test against Bay City Central in the Chiefs' pool. Birmingham will resume EML competition Thursday, at home, against Royal Oak Kimball.

Celtics Down Lakers

Spectacular Finish Wins for Venturi

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The 1959 Phil Rodgers of La Jolla, Calif., winter golf season was off to a rousing start today with good-looking Ken Venturi a spectacular winner of the first tournament on the rich money trail.

As the nomadic professionals headed for the next stop, the $20,000 Tijuana Open in Mexico Friday, Venturi counted the $5,300 he picked up off his tremendous come-from-behind victory in the $35,000 Los Angeles Open.

At tee-off time at the Rancho Golf Club yesterday the 27-year-old pro from Daly City, Calif., was the forgotten man of the tournament. He played in a threesome with Joe E. Campbell of Knoxville, Tenn., and amateur which attracted practically nobody.

The gallery, braving blustery winds and cold, was out trailing the leader, Art Wall Jr., Billy Maxwell, National Open champion Tommy Bolt, Mike Souchak and two youngsters, Doug Sanders and John McMullin.

Venturi was no bargain. He was eight strokes behind Wall after mediocre rounds of 72-71-72 for the Rancho Club's par 36-35-71.

So all Venturi did was knock out two birdies and two back-to-back eagles on the first nine holes for a course record 30, blast on in with a 33, post a 63 for 278 and sit back to see if Wall could crack it.

As it turned out, Wall made a

Hawkeyes Rally to Knock Down Spartans, 80-68

M. C. Burton Fouls Out and Wolverines Bow to Wildcats, 83-78

By United Press International
Michigan State was stunned and Michigan ran out of M. C. Burton last night as both of the state's Big Ten schools lost their second conference outings.

The Spartans were heavily favored to trip up Iowa but the Hawkeyes, down seven points in the first minute of the second half, rallied behind Clarence Wordlaw to hand fifth-ranked MSU its second setback of the season, 80-68.

Michigan tumbled to Northwestern, 83-78, for the Wolverines' second defeat.

Iowa, as did Indiana Saturday, used a zone defense against the Spartans and forced State to shoot from the outside with the result being that only Johnny Green and Bob Anderegk could hit in double figures.

Wordlaw, with 12 points in the winning Hawkeye spurt, totaled 23 for the game, followed closely by Dave Gunther's 21.

Anderegk sank 23 for the Spartans and Green 18 but the next big man for MSU was Horace Walker who had only seven.

Twenty-one persons were called on MSU to only 11 for Iowa but the Hawkeyes, also 1-1 in Big Ten play, had three more field goals.

Burton was the key, along with George Lee, in holding the Wildcats in check but when Burton fouled out, Wildcat forward Willie Jones sank nine points, interrupted only by one two-pointer by Lee, to put Northwestern out of danger.

Northwestern had jumped to a 13-point lead in the first six minutes of the final half but Michigan kept whittling it down.

Burton and his teammates out-rebounded the taller Wildcats and Burton himself came up with 23 rebounds to go along with his 24 points. Lee pumped in 21 points for Michigan.

The lead changed hands or was tied a total of 21 times in the first half and Northwestern grabbed a 40-39 intermission edge on 6-foot, 9-inch Joe Ruklick's hook shot with 30 seconds to play.

Ruklick had to take a back seat in scoring to Jones and Nick Mantis, however. Jones netted 26 points and Mantis 23 for Northwestern which now is tied with Illinois for the conference lead.

In other Big Ten games last night, Illinois walloped Wisconsin 77-61, and Indiana turned back Purdue, 77-69.

Four conference games are scheduled this Saturday. Illinois entertains Michigan State in an afternoon tilt, Northwestern plays host to Indiana, Wisconsin visits Purdue and Ohio State invades Michigan for the weekly televised contest.

Ex-PCH Cager Sparks Hurons to 65-63 Win

YPSILANTI (AP)—Rod Trealt's three points in the last 10 seconds brought Eastern Michigan from behind for a 65-63 basketball victory over Albion last night. Trealt is a former Pontiac Central cage star.

Albion, trying to snap a seven game losing streak, was ahead 63-62 when Trealt tied the game with 10 seconds left on a free throw. Then he stole a pass and scored the winning basket two seconds before the final gun.
