Drops Attempt to Oust Judge

House Committee Says Further Probe Needed in Antrim Case

LANSING (AP) — The House Judiciary Committee has decided there is no cause for action against Antrim County Probate Judge William G. Severance.

The decision came in the form of a resolution adopted yesterday following a hearing on a removal petition filed by the Antrim County Board of Supervisors.

The committee decided that since the Legislature adjourns tomorrow, there is not enough time to conduct further hearing. The committee said it believes this should be done.

The resolution said that impeachment was not warranted on present evidence but that "removal proceedings have possibilities."

The hearing developed that Judge Severance had not been conforming to law and that better safeguards are needed for the operation of probate courts in Michigan, the resolution added.

The petition charged the judge with illegally acting as administrator for estates, charging excessive fees, aiding in the disposal of real estate without consent of the director of social welfare and being "given to excessive drinking during business hours."

LIFESAVER—Ten-year-old Darlene Roaten, of Memphis, Tenn., clutches the piece of cork which kept her afloat in the Mississippi River for some three hours, after she was hurled overboard in a boat collision. She floated downstream for 10 miles before a towboat rescued her. Cork was piece of old life preserver.

Trainman Loses Teeth

STRATFORD, Conn. (UP) — Baggageman, Kenneth Salter, dropped more than baggage when he leaped from a moving train. Salter had to take another train back to the station to recover his false teeth.

Empire Radar Station to Hold Open House

EMPIRE (AP) — The Empire Air Force station, a part of the nation's radar network, will make a rare exception to its off-limits policy and conduct open house for the public Saturday.

The two hour tour period will mark an observance of Armed Forces day, said Maj. John M. Pemberton, commanding officer.

There will be exhibitions and special films of gunfight action in the air over Korea.

Empire is a Leelanau County village on highway M. 22.

Kidney Ailment Delays Ava's Return to America

MADRID (INS) — Hollywood actress Ava Gardner, ill with a kidney ailment, postponed until next Tuesday her return to the United States.

Miss Gardner was hospitalized

Wednesday morning. Her physician said a small kidney stone was causing her pain.

Pontiac Cornetist Joins Navy Band

Paul F. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen, of 52 Oliver St., recently became a member of the U. S. Navy Band of Washington, D. C., after a successful audition before Comdr. Charles Brendler, conductor.

A 1949 graduate of Pontiac High School, Allen considered one of the top high school cornetists in Michigan. He played first cornet in the 1948 and 1949 Michigan All State High School Bands.

Government to Borrow $10 Billion by December

WILMINGTON (AP) — David M. Kennedy, a Federal Treasury official, said today that during the last half of this year the treasury will try to move forward toward its announced aim of lengthening the maturity of the federal debt.

Kennedy, an assistant to W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey for debt management, said the government will need to borrow about 10 billion dollars new cash from July to December.

A Needless Defeat

Was Dien Bien Phu necessary? There is plenty of professional military opinion in the Pentagon that it wasn't. Furthermore, these experts criticize the French commander in Indochina, Gen. HENRI NAVARRE, for tactics they believe can't be justified.

Among other things they consider it inexcusable for Gen. Navarre to have established in enemy held country a garrison which could be supplied only by air. Another objection was that without French control of the surrounding hills, the position was a constant invitation to Red attack.

Gen. NAVARRE's operation was the subject of criticism on another point—failure to make a more vigorous effort to relieve the trapped and besieged force.

From a coldly military standpoint, according to U.S. observers' opinions summarized in U.S. News & World Report, the loss of Dien Bien Phu was of no great military importance. Its heroic defense dramatized the position out of all proportion.

Although our Army men believe Gen. NAVARRE's original victory plan is collapsing, a backward look at the situation isn't as discouraging as it might be. Gen. NAVARRE, the experts say, "is commonly estimated still to have a force sufficient to crush the Vietnamese ultimately—barring entry of Red Chinese troops."

Our FBI

Through countless congressional investigations and charges of every conceivable nature, one organization continues to ride the Washington scene untouched.

No one challenges the FBI.

J. Edgar Hoover and his associates have established their organization on a plane that almost seems unassailable. The nation never hears rumors of bribes or deals with the underworld. Hoodlums, thugs and goons receive short shrift. Men in high places who go wrong get their just due—and quickly.

The percentage of convictions is in the high nineties. The Federal Bureau of Investigation doesn't fool. It doesn't waste time on silly motions and extraneous matter. The law is applied as rapidly as is consistent with justice, fairness and the equities.

Just recently on behalf of his organization, Mr. Hoover accepted the 1954 Award of the Military Chaplains' Association. This is a fine honor and it is bestowed on a worthy recipient. Perhaps it is symbolic of the attitude felt towards the FBI by the nation as a whole.

We believe this is true. It's tremendously appropriate.

Dems Block T-H Revision

In view of the factors which led to defeat of Taft-Hartley revision, the Administration had little choice but to abandon any idea of revising the measure this session.

The vote of 50 to 42 to send the bill back to committee was a sharp defeat for the Administration. It also was a jarring reminder that the Democrats can control the upper chamber, and a sound reason for examining the causes of the defeat.

When the final vote came in proceedings which barred a Southern Democratic filibuster, it revealed every member of the minority party in opposition. Voting with them were Republicans YOUNG, LANGER and MALONE and Independent MORSE.

There were conflicting but none the less effective reasons for this rare show of Democratic unity. Southern Democrats opposed the bill because they consider it too liberal and North-easters voted against it for the opposite reason.

Another factor which no doubt helps explain why labor leaders cheered the bill's recommitment was the defeated anti-labor Goldwater amendment. This would have returned to the states an enormous part of the regulation of labor-management relations now handled by the NLRB.

That amendment and the break in Republican ranks showed that the GOP was not standing solidly behind the limited revision proposed by President EISENHOWER.

The lesson is clear. With the Democrats holding a one seat edge in the Senate, the Republicans can't afford the luxury of such loose party discipline.

Strike in Well in Nearby County Has Added Interest

Love: What 'tis better to have done and lost than never to have lost at all.

The striking of natural gas in paying volume this week in a Washtenaw County well within a couple of miles of the Oakland County border, spurs work on such wells in the Pontiac area. In the nearest well to this city, on the Williams Farm in Springfield Township, a depth of over 6,000 feet has been reached, with no satisfactory oil flow, but who is in charge of the work, says there were indications of a strike around the 4,000 foot level, and that now is being further explored. This is at approximately the same depth as the Washtenaw strike.

Back from a winter in Southern California, Albert Weber says there's no trouble with smog or excessive heat there if you pick the right place.

Tulip blossoms six inches long and as large around as a baseball are reported by Mrs. Bessie Whittell of Huron Gardens, with some of the curious parrot tulips almost as large.

Right now is the season of many prospective brides, and Mrs. Josephine Lawyer, Oakland County Home Demonstration Agent, has several free booklets on cooking and general home making. They come in the general category of "husband keepers." Mrs. Lawyer's office phone is FE 4-2564.

As usual, in the entries in this year's Man About Town Baseball Contest the women far outnumbered the men. But a man finally was able to win a prize.

Even the lilac blossoms are coming out in greater profusion than ever before, which according to

Mrs. Harmon Dean of Walled Lake, means a prolific season with all other flowers.

Joseph Childs Says Press Helped Make Addition of 50 State Troopers Possible

(Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests, unless the letter is critical in its nature.)

The appropriation measure providing for fifty additional State Police Troopers has been signed by Governor Williams and we are now busy recruiting candidates for a training school.

In this connection, we want to express appreciation for the generous support you accorded us in the effort to obtain more troopers so that we may do a more effective job of highway patrol. Although the number recommended was not provided, at least this is a step in the right direction and it was such support as yours that helped bring it about.

Says Progressive System Is Way of Lazy Educator

I think progressive education is just a lazy educator's way out. We need to teach more spunk and more of the three "R's" in our schools. Vandalism is a direct product of "modern education."

By DAVID LAWRENCE
 GENEVA — Here at the conference of world diplomacy it is possible to discern more clearly than anywhere else the deterioration of moral and spiritual values which has set in nowadays among the so-called intellectual segments of public opinion.

Here, for example, moral principle is treated by too many persons as just an obsolete habit of expression characteristic of bygone days.

It is cynically cast aside as too old-fashioned for this new era of the sophisticated in our midst or too bothersome to maintain if creature comforts and the supposed benefits of materialism are to be enjoyed.

A good example of reckless disdain for principle is to be found in the tendency here to assume that the United States does not mean what it says when it seeks a means of establishing peace in the world but that it is really bent on prolonging the war in Indochina for war's sake.

This is to be expected from Communist newspapermen, but it is remarkable how distorted an impression of America and its ideals are to be derived from so many newspapermen in non-Communist countries in Europe.

Thus, when the President a week ago or so used the phrase "modus vivendi" to express a generality of temporary adjustment, it was seized upon as meaning a willingness to "surrender" Indochina to the Communists.

Then on Tuesday of this week, Secretary Dulles, attempting to be obliging to an inquiring press and in response to a hypothetical query said that even if Indochina were lost it would not alter our own position in seeking to build up a collective defense to save South-east Asia.

This was transmitted in abbreviated form to Geneva and caused a sensation among the French delegates, who were told by excited European newspapermen that the

He Claims Idle Dollars Will Breed Depressions

Herbert Hoover became President at the height of the inflationary period 11 years after World War I. When the depression struck seven months later, he took office. He called the heads of business and industry to Washington and advised them to put the people to work. Had they done this the depression would have been broken and no "New Deal" would have been born.

United States was running out on its ally and was already conceding the fall of Indochina.

Promptly the American delegation called for the exact text which, when it arrived, readily reassured French Foreign Minister Bidault, who saw that no such meaning was intended.

If these were isolated instances, it would be understandable, but the tendency seems to be to create situations that either seek to emphasize alleged differences between Eisenhower and his secretary of state or between the United States and the French delegation.

It is surprising, but the assumption always seems to be that the formal statements issued by the American government are being or will be superseded by some of the biased meanings read into off-hand comments at press conferences.

Such are the mischief-making handicaps which face diplomats who represent the United States nowadays. The highest purposes are clouded by an atmosphere of wishful thinking here—wishful that America should or must inevitably yield to the Communist pressure and forsake its moral principles.

It takes more than ordinary

Case Records of a Psychologist

Medical Plot Cured Man; Imagined He Was Dying

Henry was dying. But all he lacked was a tonic for his mind. So his smart physician hatched up a plot. And within 10 minutes, this supposedly dying man was on his feet and storming around the house. Paste this Case Record in your scrapbook as an example of modern psychosomatic medicine.

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
 Case L-304: Henry F., aged 66, decided that his time had come and he was going to die.

So he took to his bed to wait for the end. His family called the physician, who said there wasn't anything especially wrong with Henry from the organic angle.

He simply had the negative idea that he was dying, and so he actually began to fail in his strength and his appetite.

During his life, however, his one great hobby had been stamp collecting. He had a valuable album of rare stamps which was worth some $25,000 but he even lost interest in this.

During his final illness, however, he expressed a desire to see his only son, with whom he had feuded several years before. He and this son had been estranged during all the intervening time.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
 International News Service

Self-funding continuation of UN stems from the fact it is an ideal peace conference. It always has a war on its hands.

No delegate is talking from ear-say or gossipation. There isn't a lecture that cannot be illustrated with live or dead models.

First it had Pakistan, Israel, Jordan, the Mau Maus, Iran and Suez. There was a bit of a hassle in Iraq. Which kept the factory busy enough to make the devil eat at his desk.

Most of these full-dress rehearsals were handled by former man Dulles and his maintenance squad from the state department.

The UN had no more to doodle with it than you have with the fall of Carthage.

It did get us tightrope walking on the thirty-eighth parallel in Korea when we could have chinned ourselves on that imaginary line in Baltimore, Topeka or Denver.

In atomic fascination the UN palaver is stylized as M-385. Meaning malarkey we get every day in the year.

Just when the trouble-shooters had stashed their doubts in the arsenal of interference along came Indochina. Now they had hot water with the leaves in it.

But the UN was no more help to the besieged French than a fish hook in the seat of your pants.

They did sing solos into microphones they mistook for parking meters.

Physical Degeneration Can Be Retarded but at Least Is a Dignified Way to Die

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

On a rainy night three or four years ago I hurried out to get the car off the street before the cops ticketed it, slipped on the steps and came up, after two or three tries, with a large lump on right side of head, open gash over left eye and Colles fracture of left arm.

It occurred to me, as I lay there considering some better way to get in out of the rain, that we might all meet the guy with the scythe in dignified, leisurely fashion but for such mishaps as infection, accident, murder and execution.

What I mean to physical degeneration, which begins the moment after one has attained growth and development.

Of course one likes to believe one can attain the peak at, say, forty and stay there for years and years.

When I was 35 I felt sorry for old crocks in their fifties. But my conscience is comfortable. Certainly I have tried with all my heart to teach folks how to stay young. But the blankety-blank...

Take for instance the pamphlet Young Folks and Old Folks—available on written request (clipping will not suffice) if you provide stamped, self-addressed envelope—in which I tell in words of one syllable how to supplement the everyday diet and prevent or retard the process of physical degeneration.

You just eat along with your food a daily ration of the three minerals

But now that he was dying, Henry decided he better make up with his boy. The latter really loved his father very much, and was frantic about the great decline he had noted in the old man's health.

ing him this valuable stamp collection.

The boy had a long conference with the family physician, who was a dandy Applied Psychologist. He told the son that if the old man could be made sufficiently irate, he would probably jump out of bed and get well.

So the son decided to try a psychological experiment. He went back upstairs to talk to his father. Then he sprang the "trap."

"See, Dad," he began, "I'm glad you are leaving me that fine stamp collection. It will be a big help to me. For I'll break it up and sell the stamps to the highest bidders."

That did it! Henry lay for a moment, saying nothing. Then he bounced out of bed in a great rage and yelled at his son:

"Sell my stamps, will you! Break up my beautiful collection! Auction them off separately to greedy collectors!"

"Why, you-you-ungrateful pup! Get out of here. Get out of my house this minute."

"Mother, get me my pants! I'll show you whether you can sell my stamp collection!"

The boy got out, pleased to see that his father was jolted out of his negative idea of dying, although he knew it meant another feud between them.

"You did it!" the doctor gleefully exclaimed later. "He's so irate he's forgotten about his ailments and I'll bet he lives 20 years more."

The physician didn't miss it much, either, for Henry lived for 18 additional years.

Meanwhile, the son asked the doctor to explain the trick to Henry after the old man was entirely recovered.

"Tell him I don't want the stamp collection," the boy added. "Let him will it to a museum, for all I cared about was for him to get well."

Even the neighbors, for example, had been taken in by this ruse, and expressed great hostility to the son for even daring to think of selling Henry's stamp collection.

Later, the doctor told Henry of the psychological strategy which he and the son had employed, and Henry bequeathed the stamps to his son, after all, with a codicil which read:

"You may do what you wish with these stamps and God bless you, son."

Thousands of patients need an emotional or psychic tonic to tone up their bodily physiology. Such tonics may be as important as liver and iron therapy, for the mind exerts a powerful influence over the body.

Henry's case is presented to you readers as an excellent example of what we now describe as psychosomatic medicine.

Portraits

By JAMES J. METCALFE

There was no other day so bright... Or any sky so clear... As on that sweet occasion when... You said you loved me, dear... And when the sunlight disappeared... And stars adorned the sky... I was so happy in my heart... I dared not wonder why... I kissed the promise on your lips... And yet I was afraid... That I was merely dreaming... The vision soon would fade... But as I held you in my arms... I felt you close and warm... And you became my guardian... Against whatever storm... And then I knew forever, dear... That it was really true... That all of you belonged to me... As I belonged to you.

LOOK ALIKES—Resembling a cross between "Whistler's Mother" and the "Laughing Cavalier," this portrait of "Pearly Queen" Mary Ellen Tinsley looks almost identical to the original "Queen." The painting was done by Molly Guiron, of New Rochelle, N. Y., who became fascinated with the pearl buttons worn by entertainers in the music halls and on the sidewalks of the London suburbs. Completed in three days, the portrait is part of the artist's exhibition, "Pageantry and Tradition of Great Britain," now showing in the U. S.

Talks to Start on H-Bomb Ban

5 Top Powers Meeting in London to Discuss Bombs, Germ Warfare

LONDON (U) — The world's five leading atomic powers meet in this H-bomb-wary capital today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the Western nations, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the years-long deadlock with Russia on the issues.

The secret talks at the British government's stately Lancaster House are under United Nations auspices.

The group is meeting as a sub-committee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission to discuss effects of hydrogen-bomb-test explosions gave new urgency.

Revelations stemming from U.S. tests in the Pacific touched off a chain reaction of nervousness in many parts of the globe and especially in this exposed island. This led the Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.

There were no clues to the possible nature of any new Western proposals for disarming or atomic and germ warfare control.

To start the talks, however, the four Western Powers — the United States, Britain, France and Canada — were reported planning to stand on their old position that establishment of reliable enforcement machinery must precede any ban on atomic weapons.

The West apparently wanted to see whether the Soviets have anything to offer either in the form of concessions or new ideas.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd is Britain's chief delegate at the talks. Morehead Patterson, an industrialist, represents the United States. The other delegates at the opening meeting were Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson for Canada, former Defense Minister Jules Moch for France and Ambassador Jacob Malik for Russia.

New School Bus Waiting for Owner to Claim It

WENATCHEE, Wash. (U) — Any-one been missing a school bus for a couple weeks? Are 58 kids walking to school somewhere for lack of transportation?

If so, there is a new bus parked at Pangborn Field near here. It has been there ever since the driver parked the vehicle and boarded a plane for Seattle three weeks ago.

West Coast airline officials said the driver bought a round-trip ticket and they presumed he would come back. He didn't.

HELPER FOR SANTA—It's about seven months early, but Santa Claus has reason to make an early appearance. Here he holds a new member of his reindeer team, as Blitzen, the proud parent watches. This is the first fawn born to a pair of Alaskan reindeer which were flown to North Pole, N. Y., from Alaska last August.

Rabbit Hunters Want Larger-Sized Targets

AKRON (UP) — Not satisfied with the native rabbits here, which average around two pounds in weight, the Goodyear Hunting and Fishing Club plans to import 2,000 king-sized bunnies from the state of Washington for the benefit of hunters.

Floyd Snyder, president of the club, said the bill for the five-pound breed will total about $4,600. He doesn't know just how soon Washington trappers will be able to fill the order.

to Be Big Gray Squirrel

HARRISBURG, Pa. (UPL.—J. K. Buser, discouraged by the apparent vandalism being wreaked on the Christmas decorations on the 10-foot living pine in his front yard, was about to remove them. He repeatedly had discovered electric wiring severed and empty sockets from which the bulbs had been cleanly broken.

Then he caught the "vandal" in the act and followed him to his home. A gray squirrel had stored up as neat a cache of multi-colored bulbs as any hoarder could want.

In Iran, Student Claims, Women Have It Better

McCOOK, Neb. (U. S. — Mehdi Hamidji started to address a women's group here with: "I hate to tell you this."

Then he expressed the view that women in his homeland of Iran are treated more politely by Iranian men than are American women by American men and they lead an easier life, generally speaking.

Hamidji is a premedical student at Kearney (Neb.) State College.

Santa Isabel was the first of the Solomon Islands to be discovered.

Turkey Sure to Elect President Bayar Again

ANKARA, Turkey (U. S. — Celal Bayar was assured today of another four-year term as Turkey's president following his nomination by the majority Democrat party. The parliamentary group of the party, which won a sweeping victory in general elections May 2, decided to put Bayar's name before the new National Assembly when it convenes tomorrow to elect a chief executive.

Potatoes and tomatoes are both members of the nightshade plant family.

Finger Slips, Boy Shoots Himself Through Mouth

LUDELOW, Ky. (U. S. — "Dare me?" Charles Handley Jr., 15, smilingly awaited the reaction of his friend as he pointed a .22-caliber rifle at his own mouth and cocked the hammer.

At that instant, Handley's finger slipped and the gun went off. He was killed almost instantly.

The friend, James Ison, also, 15, told of the incident, which ended a target-shooting session in a wooded area yesterday.

GLOSTER B. CURRENT

Official of NAACP Talks Here Monday

The Pontiac Branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People will present Gloster B. Current Monday at 8 p. m. in Trinity Baptist Church.

Current is director of NAACP branches. He is a graduate of West Virginia State College and holds his master's degree in public administration from Wayne University.

He will speak concerning the segregated school buses now in the U. S. Supreme Court, and explain the "Fighting Fund for Freedom." This is an effort to raise a million dollars each year for 10 years to finance the NAACP's program of promoting better interracial understanding.

Fatal Cancer Not Affecting Priest's Life

OMAHA (U. S. — When the Rev. Daniel J. Lord, S. J., of St. Louis was told he had incurable cancer of the lungs, it didn't affect his way of life in the least.

Here for a religious forum, he said, "I'm happy about having a little warning. God was very good to let me know. It makes life more beautiful and it takes the edge off death."

Father Lord, a lecturer, author and youth leader, when asked if the cancer warning had affected his way of life, replied, "not in the least. I keep busy with my work. And who knows? I may die by tripping over a rug."

Unveil Jet Fighter Suitable for A-Bomb

FARMINGDALE, N. Y. (U. S. — Republic Aviation and the Air Force have released pictures of the new YF94 jet fighter, capable of carrying the atom bomb.

The pictures show the craft with swept-back wings in flight while making first tests at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The date of the flight was not given.

The "J" model still is considered an experimental plane. It is the latest in the Thunderjet and Thunderstreak family of atomic fighter-bombers, thousands of which have been built by Republic for the U. S. Air Force and NATO nations.

Notice of Special Assessment. Sanitary Sewer on Brooklyn Avenue from Stanley Avenue to Richmond Avenue.

To: Earl Haasemuhl, George Lambe, Margaret Garrison, John L. Cole and to all persons interested, take notice: That the roll of the Special Assessment heretofore made by the City Assessor for the purpose of assessing that part of the cost which the Commission decided should be paid and borne by special assessment for the construction of the sanitary sewer on Brooklyn Avenue from Stanley Avenue to Richmond Avenue is now on file in my office for public inspection.

Notice is also hereby given that the Commission and the Assessor of the City of Pontiac, will meet at the Municipal Court in said City, on the 18th day of May, A. D. 1954, at 10 o'clock A. M., to review said assessment, at which time and place opportunity will be given all persons interested to be heard.

Dated May 12, 1954.

Bob Considine Says:

Army Badly Wants Cohn
to Take Stand in Dispute

WASHINGTON (INS) — Roy M. Cohn's name was hardly mentioned in the two-day wrangling over whether and how to shorten the disgraceful McCarthy-Pentagon spat. But the figure of the dapper New Yorker was behind every argument, pro, con and neuter.

The Army wants to get Cohn on the stand under the full lights of television. It wants to oppose him with Joseph N. (I'm just a little old country lawyer!) Welch, the foxy Pickwickian retained by the Army in this case.

In their first brush, Welch won going away. He put the usually confident young Cohn on the defense at the start. This first skirmish involved the now famous "doctored" picture. Cohn, briefly on the stand to explain how the print reached the hands of the subcommittee, asked that a copy of it be placed closer to him. He was nearsighted, Cohn volunteered.

"You have betrayed nearsightedness throughout the hearings," Welch commented. When the caucus room laughed, Cohn replied seriously:

"I'm not as clever as you, Mr. Welch. I will not attempt to answer your quips."

The Army wants the return bout very badly. It feels it will have difficulty proving its charge of "improper pressure" unless the public sees Cohn confronted under oath with the now familiar complaints that he said, "this means war!" When denied admission to a Fort Monmouth lab, and that he also said Pvt. Schine's dispatch out of the country would "greek" the Army and force out Secretary Robert T. Stevens.

From Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy's support of the defeated Dirksen speed-up plan — which would have closed the subcommittee's doors on Cohn's testimony—it would appear that the Wisconsin solon did not want Cohn questioned in open court. But Cohn himself is understood not to care. He's sure he can handle himself in any duel with Welch, who is old enough to be his grandfather.

The type of microphones used in the caucus room is the reason why nearly everybody who speaks appears to address his remarks in a truculent manner. The mikes will not pick up a speaker's voice with any consistency unless he places his lips very close to the instrument and speaks directly into the nozzle.

All the mikes are rooted in very low stands to afford TV cameras an unobstructed view of the senators and the principals in the case. Thus, in order to be heard properly, a speaker must lower his head down to mike level before sounding off, or he just doesn't get heard. This makes the speaker appear that he's about to charge like a maddened bull at the end of what he has to say.

Bathers Litter Beach

WILDWOOD, N. J. (UP)—This resort town is willing to pay thousands of dollars for a device that can effectively keep its beach clean. Joseph Chambers, superintendent of beach cleaners, said it costs $10,000 annually to have men pick up papers discarded by bathers. He said 460 truck loads were removed from the beach last summer.

Law Inhibits Anglers

CONCORD, N. H. (UP)—One of the Fish and Game Department's new regulations which went into effect Jan. 1 is that no person may have at any one time more than a total of eight ice-fishing devices, whether attended or unattended.

No One Raises
Point of Order

WASHINGTON (U) — The McCarthy-Army hearings set some kind of a record yesterday. No one raised a point of order.

The nearest thing to the parliamentary wrangles distinguishing the 14 preceding days' sessions was the "clearing up of a misunderstanding" at the start of the day's hearing.

Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch got that all straightened out in 10 minutes. It had to do with whether Welch talked to McCarthy on the phone the day before.

When it was shown that he hadn't, Welch made a suggestion which may have had something to do with the ensuing calm. The Boston attorney amiably proposed: "Let's put on a kind of grin of some sort, and all smile at each other a little if we can, and go on with the next witness."

Missing Cornerstone Poses Weighty Problem

TRENTON, N.J. (U) — On Tuesday a 200-pound limestone cornerstone for the new women's dormitory at N. J. State Teachers College was laid in a solemn ceremony. The block, for posterity's sake, contained daily newspapers, the school paper and college programs.

Yesterday somebody stole it — from underneath two layers of brick and cement. It hasn't been found.

Hal Boyle Says:

Troops Overseas Believe Merchants Gouging Them

NEW YORK (U)—During the American Revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters for freedom.

Many of these Gallic idealists, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to their friends in France, the gist of which was roughly as follows:

"What a crude and ungrateful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed an ocean to help them fight for and win their liberty.

"And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer 'patriots' refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers—every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They seem to think every Frenchman is a millionaire.

"Believe me, my dear Andre, if you are still planning to come over to help in the struggle for independence, you would do well to abandon such ideas at once and remain where you are in our beloved Paris. These Americans are a race of bandits. Far from desiring their freedom, they should in my opinion all be thrown in jail until they learn a little honesty."

Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served in France during the second world war were equally disillusioned—and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

"We figured the French would roll out the welcome mats," they wrote back home. "but you have to count your fingers every time you shake hands with these yokers."

"As soon as an American uniform comes into sight, they jack up the prices sky-high. They clobber you for a week's pay for a bottle of wine full of bubbles, and if you ask me I think we ought to pay Germany to take the country back."

This same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American servicemen stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a British newspaper showed that more than 8 out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans.

Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between our servicemen and our British allies.

It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers—ever since the Romans—have been firmly convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilians take them for suckers and hike the prices on them.

A poll among troops at most bases in this country would show probably a majority of the men are firmly convinced the storekeepers in the area are engaged in a mass plot to overcharge them. Certainly they felt that way in wartime, and it must be admitted that often they were right. They were gulled by many a pinch-penny profiteer.

There is undoubtedly justification for the complaints made against British shopkeepers, a number of whom are convinced all Americans are rich and that the U.S. motto is "Fun at Any Price."

But it is also true, as the paper which made the poll pointed out, that the longer American servicemen stay in Britain the better they like the country. Most of our men who serve in Britain have a good time there and make firm friends.

Looking at the other side of the picture, it must be realized that it is difficult for a people to have foreign troops quartered among them, even though they are allies and speak roughly the same language. Britain, it has always seemed to me, meets this problem with more grace and hospitality than any other nation. One measure of this hospitality is the fact that between 1946 and 1950 Ameri-

Memorial Services Held for U.S. Pilots

HONG KONG (U)—Memorial services were held in the British Royal Air Force chapel here yesterday for two American civilian pilots killed May 6 in Vietnam territory in Indochina.

The fliers, Wallace A. Buford, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., and James B. McGovern, 32, of Elizabeth, N. J., lost their lives when the flying boxcar they were piloting for the French was hit by Viet-minh antiaircraft and exploded in a crash-landing.

The chapel was packed by friends of the airmen, including officials of the Civil Air Transport Airline (CAT), U. S. Consulate personnel and French air and Army attaches.

Resigns $10-Month Job to Protect His Pension

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. (U)—Arthur H. Excell, elected to the Mountain View City Council less than a month ago, resigned yesterday when state officials informed him the job might jeopardize his pension as retired Mountain View chief of police.

The city councilman's job pays $10 a month.

Columnist's Wife Sues for Divorce in California

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (U)—A divorce suit has been filed by Mrs. Mary Heg McLemore against Henry T. McLemore, identified by her lawyer as a syndicated columnist. Mrs. McLemore charges mental cruelty and asks $300-a-month alimony, as well as a car and furnishings of their apartment in Los Angeles.

3 Wreckers and a Car Just Stick-in-the-Muds

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (U)—A wrecker was dispatched yesterday to pull out a wrecker that got stuck in the mud while trying to pull out another wrecker that got stuck while trying to pull out a car that got stuck.

They finally made it, despite the best rains in years around here recently.

Oakland, Beaudette, Murphy, Indian Village Ready for Picnickers

Four city parks will open Saturday for picnickers and persons seeking other types of outdoor recreation, according to Raymond C. Keller, Pontiac parks supervisor. Parks to open will be Oakland at Glenwood Ave. and E. Montcalm St., Murphy on South East boulevard, Beaudette on Orchard Lake avenue, and Indian Village at W. Huron St. and Genesee Ave.

Besides facilities for picnics, available recreation includes softball, horseshoes, tennis, shuffleboard and use of playground equipment.

Indian Village Park offers only picnic grounds and playgrounds facilities, said Keller.

The parks will be open all day, Keller stated, with caretakers present from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

An extensive repair and building program has been carried on through the winter, said Keller, with 25 new picnic stoves and three slides yet to be installed at the parks.

A new outfield fence was completed this week at the Beaudette Park softball diamond.

Sanity Test Set for Tot's Killer

'Uncontrollable Anger' Boy's Only Explanation for Savage Murder

DETROIT (UP)—Psychiatric examinations were planned today for Terrence De Moss, 15, killer of a 4-year-old girl who contends that he was motivated by "an uncontrollable anger."

The youth appeared before Judge Nathan J. Kaufman late Wednesday to explain why he clubbed and slashed little Marion Jo Zobrovitz in a fiendish, back-alley attack.

Marion—known to her parents and friends as "Cookie"—was lured into a garage, beaten with a two-by-four and slashed with a razor blade Tuesday. She died in Receiving Hospital.

"Suddenly, an angry feeling came over me," De Moss said. "It was an uncontrollable anger. I grabbed her by the throat."

Kaufman said he would file juvenile charges against the youth, but police said they would demand that Juvenile Court waive jurisdiction so the boy can be tried for murder.

The judge ordered that De Moss be held for a hearing June 2. However, the hearing would be cancelled if the case is transferred to an adult court.

Young De Moss, long recognized by teachers and social workers as a problem child, has been under treatment at the Wayne County Clinic for Child Study since February.

The director of the clinic, Dr. John F. Franklin, said additional emotional and mental tests now being planned for the youth will take about three weeks.

School Bus Driver Ticketed for Speed

BATTLE CREEK (UP)—Geor W. Norton, driver of school bus that rammed into the rear of a tractor near Fulton Wednesday, has been ticketed for driving at excessive speed, State Police at the Battle Creek Post said today.

Police said Norton, 33, of Fulton, apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The bus, carrying 46 children, crashed into the tractor and rolled over on its side.

Five children were injured, none seriously.

The driver of the tractor, Calvin Hope, 55, Vicksburg, was taken to Community Hospital, Battle Creek, where his condition was reported to be "good."

Population Growth Is Stressed

Townships Told to Plan Ahead

Commissioners Warn Addison, Orion, Oxford of 1970 Needs

Six Detroit and Oakland county planners Wednesday urged Addison, Orion and Oxford townships to get ready for the heavy population growth "that's sure to come your way over the next 10 years."

J. Robert F. Swanson, chairman of Oakland County Planning Commission, presided at last night's program at Oxford High School. Harry J. Merritt, county corporation counsel, was keynote speaker on "The Values of Community Planning."

County officials hope the program will spark organization of a three-township "planning council."

Merritt said everyone plans meals crops and other matters in his everyday life. "If you don't plan, you wind up with chaos," he said, adding that the statement covers communities, too.

He said the new St. Lawrence Seaway is likely to bring even more people and industries into Oakland County than the Detroit Regional Planning Commission had estimated would come by 1970.

"Good planning," he said, "can keep slums from developing, keep lots big enough to avoid health problems."

T. Ledyard Blakeman, director of Detroit's Regional Planning Commission, told how the commission was set up. "This Detroit urban area," he said, "is the fourth or fifth biggest in the United States. And it's all tied together—we're interdependent."

Paul M. Reid, Detroit commission analyst, pointed out that the health of the whole Detroit region—including Oakland County—really depends on the auto industry.

"And industries aren't being built in one central area anymore," he said. "Manufacturing is spreading out all over Oakland, Wayne, Macomb, Washtenaw counties—and population and small business follows."

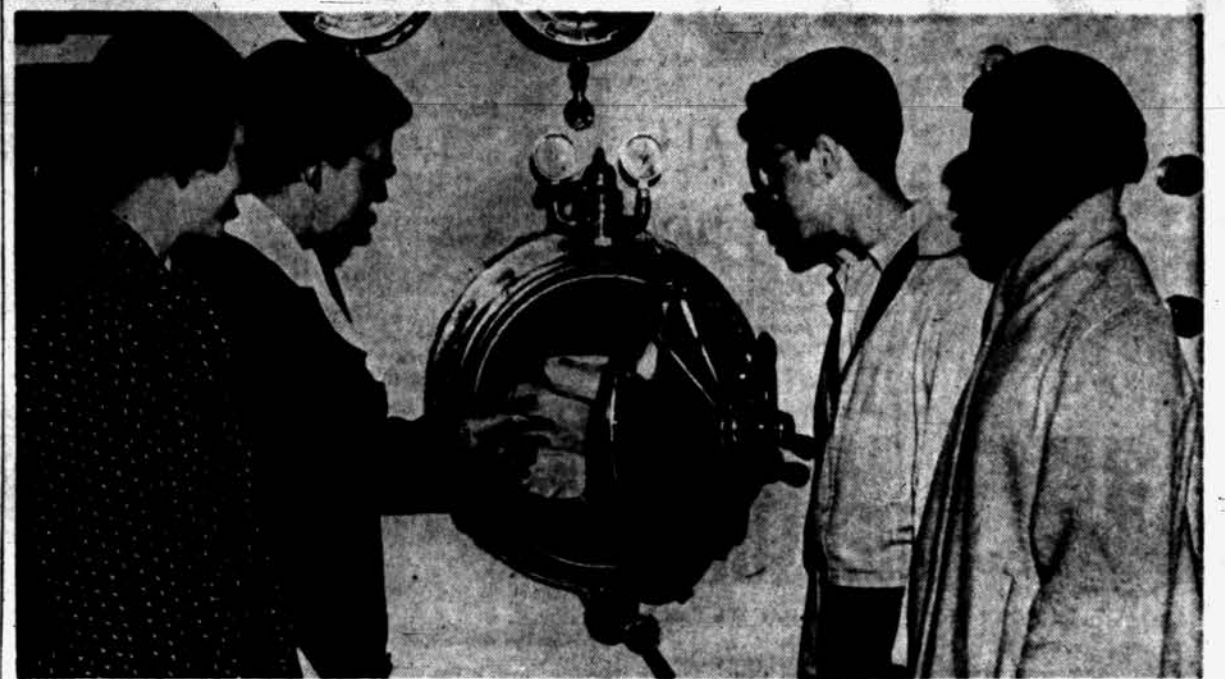

He added that the number of farms in Oakland County is falling steadily, and the amount of land being used for home sites is increasing. Here in these three townships, we have almost three times as many people today as we did 23 years ago.

Robert D. Carpenter, Detroit commission planner, urged people to "keep in mind your town's relation to the area around it. Find out where your community can go, and wants to go," he said, "then make up your land-use map and set up zoning regulations."

George N. Skrubbs, Oakland County planning director, urged communities to use zoning laws to keep industries, homes and businesses separated.

LEBANON, N. H. (UP)—Police put a ticket on an automobile parked at night on the Hanover Square railroad bridge. No less than seven signs on the bridge said parking was illegal there.

STUDENTS TOUR HOSPITAL—Students in a vocational studies class at Washington Junior High School were given a preview of what visitors will see during Pontiac General Hospital's third annual open house today and Friday. Mrs. W. A. Vernon, head of the

Latest Equipment to Be Shown at Hospital Open House

The Pontiac General Hospital open house which began at 1 p.m. today offers a chance for local persons to inspect some of the latest in hospital equipment.

Guests will be given conducted tours of Pontiac General by members of the hospital women's auxiliary until 8 p.m. today and Friday.

Equipment which will be shown visitors, according to Miss Shirley Doyne, hospital administrative assistant, includes a machine which cleans, sharpens and sterilizes hypodermic needles.

A deep-therapy X-ray machine can be seen along with other

X-ray devices and the blood bank where blood is typed, tested and administered.

Included in the tour are an explanation of the workings of an electrocardiograph machine which measures heart action and a visit to the room where surgical instruments are cleaned and sterilized.

Other points of interest include the emergency area which is kept ready to receive patients at any time and the laundry where all hospital linen is washed and ironed.

After the tour refreshments will be served and any questions about hospital operations answered. Groups of six or more persons may arrange tours by appointment.

Dairy Farm Couple to Win Trip to DC

LANSING (UP)—A husband and wife team will be chosen as Michigan "Outstanding Young Dairy Farm Couple" to win a trip to the annual convention of the National Milk Producers' Federation at Washington, D. C., Nov. 7-11.

Sponsors of the trip are the Michigan Milk Producers Assn. and the Michigan Assn. of Future Farmers of America.

Local teachers of vocational agriculture will make the recommendations of couples eligible for the trip. The final selection will be made by the FFA state adviser and his staff.

Handyman to Return to Mancelona Via Bike

MANCERLONA (UP)—Carl Westman, 40-year-old Mancelona handyman, is getting into condition for a 350-mile return trip via bicycle to his home town. Westman will start cycling his way back to Mancelona next Tuesday. Recently he rode his bike to Lake Bluff, Ill., to visit a sister.

Convict Involves 2 in Inn Holdup

Prisoner Takes Stand, Says Accused Helped Carry Out Robbery

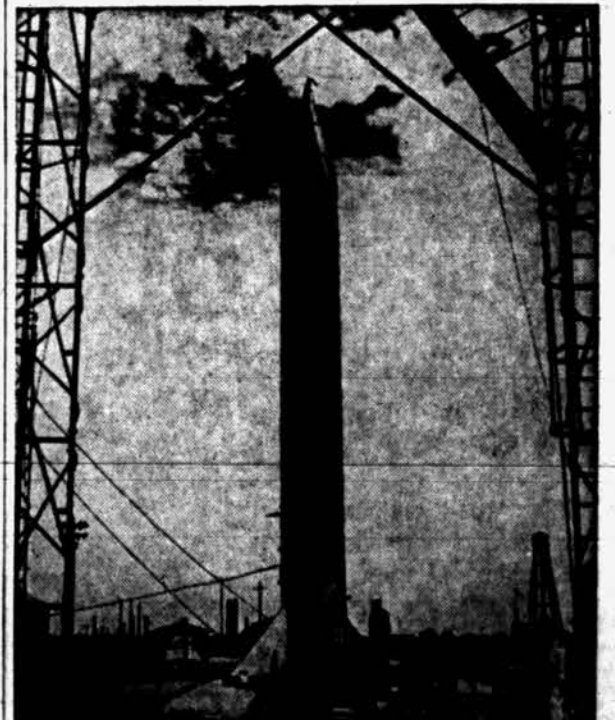

Two Detroiters on trial in Oakland County Circuit Court for armed robbery of the Fox and Hounds Inn last November, were implicated in the crime Wednesday by James T. Sullivan, 30, now serving a prison term for the same offense.

Sullivan took the stand before a jury of nine women and five men in Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty's court and said Charles Clark, 31, and John W. Graham, 37, helped him plan and carry out the holdup.

Another holdup suspect, Thomas Thompson, is being sought on an FBI fugitive warrant.

Seven other persons also testified Wednesday and Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor said he expects the trial to end today.

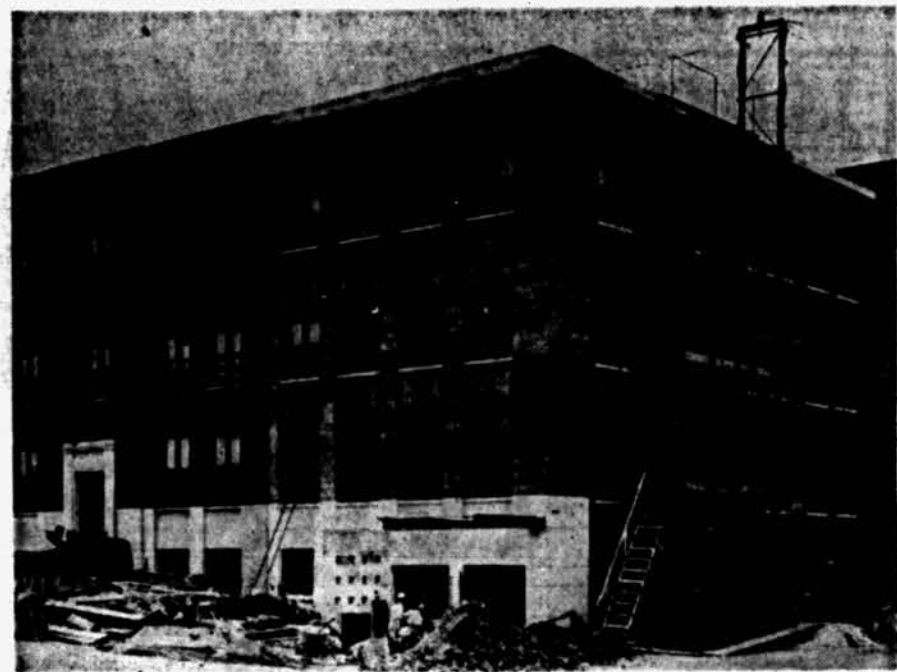

Sullivan, returned from Jackson Prison at the request of Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem, will be returned to the prison to finish his 5 to 20-year term imposed six weeks ago.

CAN TRAVEL 4,000 MPH NAVY CLAIMS—A Viking 30, the Navy's newest rocket, is shown above poised for ascent at the White Sands Proving Grounds, New Mexico. The Navy claims the Viking has reached a height of 136 miles and a speed of about 4,000 mph. The largest American-built rocket for upper-air research, it weighs 7½ tons and is 42 feet long.

THE WINNER—Romp away with the trophy he won in a tug-of-war with another pup is this 2-month-old dachshund, resident of a San Francisco pet shop. The trophy—just a plaything to keep frisky pooches occupied.

ADDITION—Shown above is the new three-story and basement addition to the Personnel Building at Pontiac Motor Division. Firm officials say the enlargement will be used as office space for the Personnel and Purchasing Departments. The basement will provide a modern terminal for the plant tour train. Occupancy is expected early this summer.

3 Missionaries Brave Stone-Age Men to Settle in New Guinea's Shangri-la

CHICAGO (UP)—Three missionaries have penetrated New Guinea's hidden Shangri-la valley to live the rest of their lives among a people that time forgot, the barbaric, stone-age "Dani-Men."

Fortunately, however, they have so far been able to keep "friendly contact" with one clan of the estimated 100,000 natives of the mountain-rimmed Balim River Valley, which is accessible only by air and then with difficulty.

The story of the Protestant missionaries' triumph was told today to more than 1,000 delegates to the annual convention of the Christian and Missionary Alliance by the Rev. Bernard

King of New York, treasurer and deputational secretary of the CMA.

The missionaries, who reached Shangri-la only last month, are: Lloyd Van Stone, native of Houston, Tex., and a graduate of the St. Paul (Minn.) Bible Institute; Einar Nickelson, CMA missionary with 15 years' experience with other primitive New Guinea tribes; and Myron Bromley, linguistic expert and former St. Paul Institute faculty member.

Two pilots, former Canadian Air Force flier Al Lewis of Hamilton, Ont., and one-time U. S. Air Force bomber pilot Ed Ulrich of Pennsylvania, are key members of the mission.

The valley got its romantic name of "Shangri-la" during World War II when, for 47 days, news stories told how U. S. military units finally succeeded in rescuing three air crash survivors from the walled-in valley with a daring glider-snatching operation. No white man has ever lived in the valley.

The missionaries, who can contact the New Guinea coast by radio, have reported that they are living at peace with one clan of the Dani-Men about 1,000 persons strong.

The various clans of the stone-age primitives are in a constant state of no-quarter-asked-or-given war, the Rev. Mr. King said.

Will Secret of Mars Soon Be Penetrated?

By ROSE KRULL
NEA Special Correspondent
WASHINGTON—The red planet has an important rendezvous with earth this year during which man will try to solve some of its age-old secrets.

Is there life on Mars? Are there intelligent beings? What is the meaning of the mysterious "blue envelope" which clouds the planet's surface?

What do the dark greenish markings portend during the Martian summer? Are they vegetation? Are there really "canals" on Mars as claimed by the Italian astronomer Schiaparelli in 1877? The passing years have not settled this controversy.

These are some of the mysteries scientists hope to penetrate this year—and in 1956—when the planet will approach closer than it has in 15 years.

Mars swings next beyond the earth in distance from the sun. When the two planets reach positions nearest each other in their orbits, at intervals of slightly more than two years, their average distance apart is 48,000,000 miles.

At times, Mars is more than 300,000,000 miles from the earth. Mars' orbit is off center, however, bringing it closer to the earth in regular cycles. In 1954 it will pass a distance of about 40,000,000 miles, and in 1956 a little more than 35,000,000 miles, closer than it has been at any time since 1939.

Last summer the International Mars Committee was formed to plan and coordinate astronomical work on the red planet.

In the coming year, observations will be made on all major continents, from high flying planes and perhaps even from stratosphere-piercing unmanned missiles.

The chief attack upon the planet's secrets will be made by a team of astronomers sponsored by the Lowell Observatory, of Flagstaff, Ariz., and the National Geographic Society.

The expedition will be led by Dr. E. C. Slipher, of Flagstaff, who has given a lifetime study to Mars. It will spend nine months at the Lamont-Hussey Observatory at Bloemfontein, South Africa, where a 27-inch refracting telescope will be trained nightly at the planet.

The telescope is ideally placed for the work, being located at a latitude where Mars will pass almost directly overhead each night. The skies there are usually also clear in late spring and summer.

The committee hopes that by organizing round-the-world study of Mars, in which numerous amateur astronomers will participate, science will gain its most searching knowledge of the strange planet.

One goal is more exact measurement of the planet's diameter, about half that of the earth, and from it a better understanding of Mars' internal makeup.

Another is the photographic investigation of the so-called "blue envelope" that clouds the planet's surface at all except brief intervals.

Is there life on Mars? It has an atmosphere with varying weather and climate. It has polar caps, which change in size with the Martian seasons.

Probably the most controversial thing about Mars, however, are the "canals" which Schiaparelli saw. Since canals would imply something dug by intelligent beings, they have excited man ever since.

Other astronomers have seen Schiaparelli's lines, thin and straight and tracing a grid-like pattern over vast areas of Mars. But still other astronomers, competent also, have failed to observe them. The overall network has never been photographed satisfactorily.

Galileo first observed the phases of Mars in 1610. The first sketches of surface markings were made in 1659.

By 1783, astronomers had discovered that polar caps on Mars expanded and shrank in regular variation. In 1877, two moons, tiny satellites of Mars, were discovered.

Artist's conception of what Mars would look like from a nearby planet.

It has huge dark areas which extend toward the planet's equator. These change over the years and also with the seasons, although their general outlines remain relatively fixed.

The markings are dark greenish blue in the Martian summer, turning to a brownish shade as fall and winter approach. This has led to conjecture that they are formed by vegetation.

Why Not the Bomb, Says Gen. Chennault

NEW YORK (U) — Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault (ret.) says he would have used the atom bomb in defense of Dien Bien Phu, the French Indochina fortress which fell last week to the Communists. Chennault, leader of the World War II Flying Tigers, an American volunteer group, told newsmen yesterday the United States should have intervened in Indochina "with adequate air support" but not foot soldiers. "If it had been up to me, I would have used the atom bomb," he added. "I do not think this would have precipitated World War III. I don't see how anyone could attack us for attacking an aggressor."

Chennault and his Chinese wife, Anna, are here from New Orleans to attend the annual "Flying Tigers" reunion this weekend.

Being Too Smart Creates Puzzler for 17-Year-Old

TIVERTON, R. I. (U) — Being a smart fellow can lead to complication sometimes, as John P. Moloney, 17, is finding out.

An honor student at De Lasalle Academy, Newport, Moloney won a Naval ROTC scholarship entitling him to choose from 52 colleges with tuition and books paid, and $50-a-month subsistence.

Moloney filed applications at Brown, Harvard, Yale and Princeton. Yesterday, he received replies from all four, offering him full scholarships.

Now he's trying to decide which school he'll choose.

Kremlin Must Be Alarmed at Breakup in Spy System

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The casualty rate in the worldwide Soviet Russian spy network has started to mount at a speed that must alarm the Kremlin.

A sort of chain reaction has set in. Key agents of the MVD, the Soviet secret police, have surrendered to the allies in Japan, Australia and Germany within the last four months.

It is known that they are talking freely. It looks as if they are leading allied counter-intelligence agents to other men whom they have named as being on the MVD spy roster.

Two air force attaches of the Soviet Embassy in London were ordered out of Great Britain last Saturday. They were accused of attempting to get military secrets.

A Polish "refugee," who called himself anti-Communist, was arrested in Paris yesterday. He was accused of spying for an unspecified Iron Curtain embassy.

It is highly unlikely that this crackdown on three alleged Communist spies within four days could have been a mere coincidence. Apparently somebody blew the whistle.

Charges against alleged Soviet spies in other countries — possibly including the United States — are likely within the next few months.

Yuri Rastvorov, chief Soviet spy agent in Japan; Vladimir Petrov, spy chief in Australia, and Nikolai E. Khokhlov, spy agent in Germany, are the MVD men who have come over to the West in the last four months.

Their defection undoubtedly caused the MVD to go over its list of agents in foreign countries in an attempt to weed out any whose loyalty could possibly be questioned.

The charges against the alleged spies in London and Paris probably will cause the MVD to be a good bit more careful about its operations abroad. MVD agents themselves may think it wise to be more cautious.

AFL Studying Union Disputes

Council Meeting Today to Review System for Job Mediation

CHICAGO (U) — The AFL Executive Council, top policy-making body of the 10-million-member labor group, convene today to consider a plan for settling jurisdictional disputes between rival AFL unions.

The council approved the plan in outline at a winter meeting in Florida but decided to review a written draft at the Chicago meeting.

Fights between rival AFL unions over the right to represent workers on particular jobs long have plagued the AFL and employers, particularly in the construction industry.

The plan is admittedly an incomplete solution of the problem, but it has been described by AFL President George Meany as a step forward.

The proposal, applying only to unions willing to accept it in advance, would establish a system of mediation of disputes between AFL unions, with a final step of arbitration. That means the subscribing unions would agree to let a neutral work out a binding solution of any job-rights problems.

Those unions unwilling to go would have disputes settled by regular AFL machinery. This has not worked out well in the past, because the larger unions have often disregarded AFL council and convention decisions on job disputes.

A number of major AFL unions are reported unwilling to go along with the new plan, preferring to rely on their strength to battle out jurisdictional fights as they go.

Approval of the plan at today's council meeting would bring it up for consideration tomorrow at a special meeting of presidents and other top officials of the AFL's 110 unions.

This meeting can either approve or reject the plan, vote it into effect immediately or refer the whole problem to next fall's AFL convention.

The council will start its regular quarterly meeting here next Monday to study and consider resolutions on such problems as unemployment, pending legislation in Washington, and Eisenhower administration policies.

Also to be considered next week will be the pending "no raiding" agreement between the AFL and CIO. This is similar to the AFL's own "peace" plan for intra-AFL rivalries.

The Spanish village of Livria, north of the boundary, is entirely surrounded by France.

Blasting Rock in Canal Expected to Take Months

PANAMA (U) — John Seybold, Canal Zone governor, says more than two million cubic yards of rock on the Panama Canal of Contractors Hill must be removed in a job that will take months and cost millions of dollars.

He said yesterday that despite the blasting job necessary to clean up the break in the hill, he did not think enough material would fall into the canal to bother traffic.

Woman to Oppose Lodge for Governor

STONINGTON, Conn. (INS) — Vivien Kellems, wealthy woman industrialist and arch foe of the federal withholding tax, announced today her candidacy for governor of Connecticut.

Miss Kellems said her decision to run as a candidate on her own Independent republican ticket and against Gov. John C. Lodge for the regular GOP nomination was based on the "deplorable condition of our state politics."

The Stonington cable grip manufacturer said she originally intended to announce her candidacy Friday night over a New Haven television station but "leaks" forced her to advance the release.

Miss Kellems announced the following platform:

1. A direct primary law and two-year registration law.
2. Lower and fewer taxes.
3. Availability to women of more state and federal offices.
5. "No more war."

Mossadegh Planning Appeal of Sentence

TEHRAN, Iran (U) — Ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh, his three-year solitary confinement sentence confirmed by an army appeals court, says he will take his case to Iran's highest court.

The appeals court voted 6-1 last night to uphold the sentence imposed by a military tribunal. Mossadegh was convicted Dec. 21 of seeking to overthrow Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi last August. The ex-dictator was thrown out a short time later by the royalist forces of Gen. Fazollah Zahedi, who took over as premier.

Mossadegh said he would appeal to the Iranian Supreme Court. The Shah would have to approve shifting the case from the military to the civilian courts.

The appeals court also increased the prison sentence of Mossadegh's former army chief of staff, Gen. Taghi Riahi, from two to three years. Riahi was convicted of ordering the army to defy the Shah's order that Mossadegh quit.

JC Frosh to Dedicate Fountain to President

GRAND RAPIDS (UP) — Freshman students at Grand Rapids Junior College have decided to dedicate an English fountain on the school's campus in honor of Arthur Andres, who is serving his 34th year as JC president.

The fountain, which has been the project of every freshman class since 1949, will be unveiled June 10.

Lost 20 Lbs. REDUCERS Like Renna

"I want to tell you how glad I am that I started to use Renna Concentrate," writes Ruth Squires, 315 Whitney St., Jackson, Mich. "I am 5 ft. 3 in. tall and six weeks ago I weighed 133 lbs. which was very much overweight. I felt so bloated all the time and now after having taken six bottles of Renna I weigh 113 lbs. I feel 100% better and will continue to take Renna as long as I feel the need of it. Obtain liquid Renna at your drug store, mix with grapefruit juice as directed and take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. If you do not lose weight with the very first bottle just return it for your money back. You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Renna. Insist on Renna."

Coffee Nations Boil at Dewey

New York Governor Urged People to Drink Milk Instead

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey's assertion that people should switch from coffee to milk has South American diplomats boiling. They even hint our "hemispheric solidarity" may go pot.

The governor, who has his own dairy farm at Pawling, N. Y., strayed into the "cow vs. coffee bean" pasture in an innocent enough way.

New York's cows have delivered an excess of 165 million quarts up to last March.

So, said Dewey, if all citizens drank a glass of milk a day the surplus would fade away. State dairy officials applauded the idea.

"Switch to milk," Dewey urged, adding it's "healthier, cheaper and more plentiful" than coffee.

Coffee officials and Latin Americans immediately considered this grounds for complaint.

Alfonso Patino, charge d'affaires of Colombia, a coffee-producing country, said yesterday in Washington that Dewey's "Milk Week" proclamation soured the whole concept of U. S. policies on inter-American relations.

Also steeped in resentment was James M. O'Connor, president of the National Coffee Assn. of the U.S.A.

O'Connor protested that Dewey had suggested a "spirit of boycott" against coffee. To curtail the 24-billion-dollar coffee industry, O'Connor said, would "put tens of thousands out of work."

There was no immediate comment from Dewey.

Danes Call Off Nuptial Plan as Government Acts

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Thirty Danish civil servants who planned to marry for money, then divorce at once, have called off arrangements for the mass nuptials. Last-minute parliamentary action gave them hope of higher pay by less dramatic method.

"We part as friends and are only too glad," said Verner Overoe, organizer of the wedding project. The 15 men and 15 women decided to call the whole thing off last night at a meeting called for signing necessary paper for a three-minute ceremony followed by a mass divorce.

The mass wedding was planned as a protest against government regulations giving higher wages to married or divorced employees.

In Parliament yesterday, Finance Minister Viggo Kampmann accepted a resolution which would make it impossible for Overoe's group to get any financial advantage from the momentary marriage.

But Kampmann also promised higher pay for some categories of civil servants and promised to consider equalizing pay for single and married employees.

"The politicians freed us of the unpleasant task," Overoe, a customs officer, said. "They made our action useless and at the same time gave us a bit of what we wanted."

Wednesday Dinners Draw Members of Two Pontiac Organizations

At Grace Lutheran Church

Federation Has Installation

Installation of new officers highlighted the dinner at Grace Lutheran Church Wednesday evening for Pontiac Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Paul Gorman was installed as president; Mrs. Forrest Brown as vice president and Mrs. Socrales Seides as second vice president.

Officers Elected by Newcomers at Hawke Home

Mrs. Gordon Bennett was elected president of Newcomers Club at a recent meeting held in the Dixie highway home of Mrs. Allen W. Hawke.

Members also named Mrs. Grant MacDonald, vice president; Mrs. Peter Aldo, secretary; Mrs. Don Hildebrandt, treasurer; and Mrs. William Garner, publicity chairman.

Members participated in a talent show at the meeting. It was announced that the closing dinner will be held May 26 at Old Mill Tavern. Mrs. John Ball Jr. and Mrs. Reginald Edwards were welcomed as new members.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. LaVerne Spooner and Mrs. Robert Parker.

Mrs. Robert Nelson is corresponding secretary; Mrs. Arnold Hillerman, recording secretary; Mrs. Dale Moats, treasurer; Mrs. Meyer Simon, auditor, and Mrs. C. W. Mossey, parliamentarian. Mrs. E. M. Evans installed the officers.

Guest speaker for the occasion was Mrs. John B. Martin Jr. who chose "Stage Fright" as her topic.

Mrs. Martin, wife of the state auditor general, is a newspaper columnist and instructor of adult speech classes.

Listing the symptoms of stage fright she said they are caused because the speaker has not learned to relax. She recommended deep breathing, relaxation and learning to smile as essential elements to eliminate stage fright.

For public speaking, Mrs. Martin advised being natural in an immature situation. Don't apologize for a mistake," she said, "it just draws attention to it."

Nothing of the speaker should be in quiet good taste so as not to distract the audience, and it should be comfortable so as not to distract the speaker.

Mrs. Adolph Magnus had charge of reservations for the evening and Mrs. Richard Moore and Mrs. Harry C. Higgins had charge of arrangements. Introducing the speaker was Mrs. Moore.

Amvets Auxiliary Marks Its Seventh Anniversary

Jimmy Dey Group Hears Address by Mrs. Theodore Wiersema

Jimmy Dey Post 12 Amvets Auxiliary held its seventh annual Charter Dinner and program Wednesday evening at Devon Gables.

A history of the organization was given by Mrs. George A. Brown, a charter member, who explained its origin.

A group of three women, Mrs. Veri Kline, Mrs. H. W. Parsons and Mrs. Brown, got together in 1946 to form the auxiliary, which named Mrs. Ralph Allen as its first president.

Subsequent presidents were Mrs. Stait Lloyd, Mrs. Richard Moore, Mrs. Louis Sadler, Mrs. D. T. Murphy Jr., Mrs. Bennie Mirkin, Mrs. Keith Bigger, Mrs. George Sugg, Mrs. Fred Ziem and Mrs. Peter Metes, this year's president.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Theodore Wiersema who talked on "Women in a New World."

Mrs. Wiersema stressed the importance of women making themselves felt in the community and the awakening of the citizens to his responsibilities in world affairs. Much of the trend of the world today women can bend their way if they but use the power within them, said Mrs. Wiersema.

When women plan together for higher goals of the community and nation, progress begins, the speaker noted, but when they begin working together, success is in sight.

Pointing to the auxiliary, Mrs. Wiersema said that as a group it is doing the kind of thing that is making a better world. As members go about their work in veterans' hospitals, in institutions and in the homes of veterans, they are gaining happiness from serving others.

We have the ability to change as individuals, Mrs. Wiersema said, and we as women should see the light of change and identify ourselves with something effective. Mrs. Wiersema also reminded the group that women must develop all their talents and must inspire children to do their best to bring about peace and understanding.

A special guest was Mrs. Helen Rogers, state president of Amvets Auxiliary, who spoke briefly to the group.

Mrs. Stewart Houghton was general chairman of the program and Mrs. Orrin Houghton Jr. was toastmistress.

Assisting Mrs. Houghton were Mrs. Daniel T. Murphy, Mrs. O. T. Baxter, Mrs. Louis Hadden, Mrs. Bigger, Mrs. Fred Olsen and Mrs. Ziem.

Announcement was made of the election of Mrs. Allen to the post of regional director for next year. At present Mrs. Allen is state treasurer and Mrs. Murphy is state parliamentarian.

Ironer Easily Moved Upstairs

Regardless of what type or style of household ironer you select, you sit comfortably during the entire ironing, and you sit wherever you please, because any ironer can be moved easily to suit the home-maker's convenience.

One woman has her ironer upstairs because she has an air conditioner in her bedroom all summer and, she says, things are put away upstairs anyway, so it really is much more convenient. Another woman has her ironer on a screened porch in summer.

She says all her friends come by with the latest news and gossip, and ironing time for her is the liveliest hour in the whole day.

Fast-Acting Hair Set

For a fast-acting hair set, use cologne instead of water. This is a fine practice for emergencies, but since the alcohol in cologne is drying, it should be reserved only for such hectic occasions.

JO ANN FRITCH

Announcing the engagement of her daughter, Jo Ann, to John Vitton is Mrs. Leon Fritch of Ruth avenue. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Vitton of Madison avenue. No date has been set for the wedding.

Dee Vann Feted at Recipe Party

Dee Van, bride-elect of Lt. Walter Mitchell, was honored at a recipe shower and luncheon given by Mrs. Arthur W. Seiden and Mrs. J. A. Rammes at the Rammes home on Rosedale avenue, Sylvan lake.

The daughter of the W. H. Vanns of Watkins Lake, Dee will speak her vows with Walter on May 15 in First Congregational Church. He is the son of Mrs. James K. Glennon of Panama City, Fla., and the late Walter Mitchell.

A special guest at the shower was the honoree's grandmother, Mrs. A. H. Whittemore of Vermilion, S. D.

Lincoln PTA Hears Talk by Mrs. King

"Problems Facing Our Schools" was the topic of a talk given by Mrs. Harry King before Lincoln Junior High School PTA Tuesday.

Howard Shelley presented a travelogue on a trip to northwestern Ontario and announcement was made of the silver anniversary party to be held at the school Saturday.

Refreshments for the evening meeting were served by Mrs. James Card, Mrs. David Sherman, Mrs. Val Murriah and Mrs. Russell French.

ELEANOR ARLINE SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Smith of Seward street announce the engagement of their daughter, Eleanor Arline, to Robert James Havens, son of the Percy Havens of Highland road. No date has been set for the wedding.

Darlene Brokaw Married in Indiana

Darlene Ann Brokaw chose a balmy colonial bouquet of feathered carnations, sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

St. James Episcopal Chapel in South Bend was the setting for the candlelight ceremony.

Darlene's matron of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. R. G. Mathews of East Lansing. Thomas Gunther was best man. Seating the guests were Mr. Mathews and Bucky Milton of Chicago.

The bride wore a fitted bolero jacket with long, pointed sleeves made of lace edge in nylon tulle ruffles. The bodice topped a full skirt of Chantilly lace.

The fingertip veil was of imported silk illusion held by a smocked net Juliet cap studded with seed pearls. Darlene carried a colonial bouquet of feathered carnations, sweetheart roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

St. James Episcopal Chapel in South Bend was the setting for the candlelight ceremony.

Darlene's matron of honor and only attendant was her sister, Mrs. R. G. Mathews of East Lansing. Thomas Gunther was best man. Seating the guests were Mr. Mathews and Bucky Milton of Chicago.

Upon returning from a honeymoon, the newlyweds will reside in Ypsilanti.

The new Mrs. Underhill attended the Chicago Academy of Fine Arts and Indiana University. William is

Baby Triples Weight During First Year

During his first year, baby triples his weight and grows from eight to 10 inches. After that, he has alternating periods of rapid and slow growth.

During the next few years he will gain only about four or five pounds a year. His head, so large at birth, will grow very little. Nevertheless, when he reaches five, it will be almost as large as its adult size.

Sorority Plans Saturday Dance Ball Committees Named

Mrs. Donald White, chairman of the Beta Ball for Beta Chapter of Beta Theta Phi sorority, has announced committees for the event. Hotel Pontiac will be the setting for the dance scheduled for Saturday evening.

Deciding on the place for the dance were Mrs. Ida Mae Hiltz, Mrs. M. C. Worster, Mrs. John Sinclair. The orchestra was engaged by Mrs. Corwin Woodard. Mrs. Duane Hamilton and Mrs. Ward Ross.

Planning the decorations were Mrs. William Hutchinson, Mrs. George Zannoth, Mrs. Norman Mack and Mrs. Norman Haldane. Mrs. Kenneth Madsen and Mrs. Robert Tedcastle are in charge of tickets.

Handling publicity are Mrs. Joseph Burdorf, Mrs. Ruth Kennedy and Mrs. Walter Terry.

Pontioak Group of Secretaries Marks Birthday

A spring bouquet and first year birthday cake centered the table when members of the Pontioak Chapter of National Secretaries Association met for dinner and election of officers Wednesday evening in Hotel Waldron.

Mrs. Dee Dieterle gave the invocation and Mrs. Hope Scott conducted the business meeting during which plans were made to attend the state convention at Muskegon May 21 through 23.

Assisting Mrs. Dieterle as chairman of the National Secretaries Week, May 23 through 29, will be Mrs. Warren Trevethan, Mrs. Mary Mazurek, Mrs. John Duncan, Edythe Perry and Mrs. Charles Renwick.

The new president of the group is Mrs. Dieterle, Mary Eleanor Lockman is vice president; Mrs. Russell Brackett, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Trevethan, recording secretary, and Miss Perry, treasurer. These recently elected officers will be installed June 9.

Lady Sheriff, 82, on Job 42 Years

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—One of the oldest pistol-packing great-grandmas in the business of being a deputy sheriff recently observed her 82nd birthday with no plans to retire.

Mrs. Mary McAuliffe — also known as "Little Mac" — has been on the job at the Westchester County Courthouse for 42 years.

Mostly she is assigned to civil hearings nowadays, with no prisoners involved. But she says her 125 pounds and a strong wrist could still come in handy if needed.

VFW Auxiliary Announces Chairmen

Candlelit Blonde Sets Fashion All Her Own

At this very moment, the candlelit blonde is setting a fashion in the world. She accentuates the classic fact that the blonde is the most desirable and mysterious of all women.

Her hair is pale, luminous, as uniform in color as a piece of silk cloth — and as dramatic a contrast to the color of skin and eyes as the even blackness of a Chinese woman's hair against her ivory skin.

Each of the clear, pale blondes — and they are of all ages — seems to move in an atmosphere of her own making. The effect, and the allure, of her coloring is undeniable.

There are other variations of this pale coloring, delightful ones, and possibly less demanding. Pale blonde streaks in darker hair, for instance — and this need not be done chemically. You can buy a strand of pale blonde hair to wear as your own, when the spirit moves you.

Or you can have your hair flashed with blonde, about the face or at the ends, giving a wonderful sunny, uneven ash-blonde and silver coloring about the face is unbelievably becoming to many women with silver-gray hair.

Pink and gray are the colors for the blonde. Organza, fur, silk, and cotton are the media.

18th District Legion Plans May Projects

Activities for the month of May were discussed recently when American Legions and Auxiliaries of the 18th District met in Southfield.

The Poppy Drive, Gold Star Memorial Service and membership are the projects for this month. Mrs. Mary Markell has charge of poppies for the district and Mrs. Ruth Rowan is 18th District Gold Star chairman. She reminded members to attend memorial services in their churches and to attend the 18th District memorial service.

Mrs. Dean Re-elected by Auxiliary

Officers Selected by General Hospital Group Wednesday

Mrs. William J. Dean was re-elected president of the Pontiac General Hospital Auxiliary at a meeting held Wednesday at the hospital.

Assisting Mrs. Dean through the coming year will be Mrs. Eugene Miller, first vice president; Mrs. R. E. Springer, second vice president; Mrs. Ben Madsen, third vice president, and Mrs. August Heble, recording secretary.

Others are Mrs. William McCure, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harold Tripp, treasurer, and Mrs. Leo Heenan, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Christian Greve, Mrs. Sadie Williams and Mrs. Russell Eakle are executive board members. Auditors are Mrs. Gwendell Purkiss and Mrs. John-Marra.

Mrs. Ralph Babbington, chairman of the ways and means committee, extended thanks to the members who gave parties during past months to raise money for the auxiliary.

These members are Mrs. Donald Barker, Mrs. O. E. Overmyer, Mrs. Don Steinbrecker, Mrs. T. I. Lassen and Mrs. M. L. Spears.

The group honored Lauretta Paul, director of the hospital, and her assistant, Shirley Dove. It was announced that open house will be held today and Friday with tours from 1 to 8 p.m.

Try Perfume on Your Skin for Final Test

When buying perfume, your selection should be highly personal and depend on your own pleasure. Don't buy only on hearsay. What's right for someone else may not be right for you.

Make sure you are choosy when perfume-shopping. Perhaps you feel you should ask intelligent questions about basic ingredients—but forget them.

The composition of a perfume is an almost mystically complex affair; you'd have to be a scientist to understand what you were asking. Put your trust in the name of a good maker, a bottle with an unbroken seal, and a reputable shop.

When in doubt, buy a small amount of a new scent and "try it on" before investing in a big bottle. If a perfume gives you pleasure, it will probably give pleasure to your most critical audience as well.

Most men, by the way, have excellent "noses" for perfume. They possess an instinctive and sophisticated taste in the matter even if they don't give themselves credit for it.

Perfume should be sampled on the skin instead of in a bottle because the final test of its fragrance is its meeting, warming to, and blending with your skin.

Lastings is not the sign of a good perfume. Most perfumes don't live longer than four hours on the skin. If the perfume you love is delicate, it's worth your while to refresh it often rather than you would a more clinging scent that doesn't conjure up the same magic for you.

Remember the perfume that gives you pleasure should be your main consideration when buying perfume.

Match Scents With Jewelry

One of the most charming ideas to come forth in a long time is a natural for teenagers. It's match your fragrance with your jewelry.

The idea lends itself well to the currently popular floral earrings. These conversation pieces consist of tiny flowers that cascade in shower bouquets or swing out in blossomy hoops. They are especially lovely on young girls.

It probably would be best to select the floral fragrance that most appeals to you and then buy earrings made of these flowers. If your allowance permits, buy dusting powder and other bath preparations in the scent, too. Then you can literally bathe in your flower.

You can carry out the idea with other jewelry, too. Pearls, for example, are classic, always correct. When wearing them, wear your favorite fragrance, the one you feel instinctively is right for any occasion.

For dress-up occasions, when you wear rhinestones or other sparkling jewelry, choose a fragrance that you'd find intriguing, one that makes you stop and think about it, one that sparkles as a jewel.

Neckline Important

It's important to consider the shape of your face when buying a dress. Select a dress the neckline of which will be flattering. For example, a V-shape is good for the round and square-faced girls. The high, round neckline is good for the girl whose face is long.

Moisture Will Crack Sidewalks

By HUBBARD COBB

People have learned to trip over almost anything from their own feet to a parked truck. A lot of people trip over sidewalks and this is especially true if a section of the sidewalk has cracked and heaved up above the rest of the walk.

If it's of any interest, the main reason for this headache is moisture getting in under the concrete and then turning to frost.

When it turns to frost the moisture expands and when it expands something has to go. Usually it's the concrete.

The first step is to remove all the old damaged concrete. This can be done with a cold chisel and a hammer. If a large portion of one section has been damaged, you might as well replace the entire section.

Once you have the old concrete out of the way, examine the bed on which the concrete was poured. If there were no cinders or gravel under the walk or only an inch or two, make an excavation and put in 6 or so inches to insure for good drainage.

The concrete for the walk should be about 4 inches thick and you will need forms at the sides. Use 2x4 lumber for the forms and be sure that they are well supported.

Take a strip of building paper and place it along the edges of the concrete adjoining the new section to be poured. This will act as an expansion joint and help prevent further cracking.

A good concrete mix for the walk is one part cement, two parts sand and three parts gravel. Spade this into the opening so that it is well compacted and then use a wood float to work the concrete into a smooth but somewhat gritty non-slip surface.

Garden Hobby Pays for Vacations

By ANNE HEYWOOD

"After my husband retired," a woman writes me, "we had to pare our budget a good deal. We own our own home in a suburban community and we intended to stay here, since all our friends are here. But we knew we would have to give up some of our luxuries, and vacation trips were one of them."

"We were sad about that—yet, oddly enough, that decision was the beginning of something very nice."

She went on to say that gardening had always been her hobby, and she managed to get her husband interested in it.

"Time hung heavy on his hands," she went on, "so I got him interested in taking care of our many house plants. He began working with them, and tried a lot of new things with good success."

"He changed the soil and tried some of the chemicals, and the plants began to thrive. He got books out of the library and really went to work on house plants, while I did the outside work."

"Pretty soon our friends began asking his advice, and it tickled him."

"By the time July came," she continued, "our friends and neighbors all began getting ready for their vacations, and I must admit we felt out of things."

"Then our next door neighbor asked if I would take care of the garden while they were away, and if my husband would take care of the plants."

"Of course we did, and when they got back they insisted on paying us, not much, but a few dollars."

"That was only the beginning. All our friends and neighbors made similar arrangements with us, not for extensive gardening, but just to keep an eye on things while they were away."

"And I must say, we did a good job—I on the garden and Robert on the house plants."

"By the end of the summer we had made a tidy sum, so we decided to use it for a winter vacation for ourselves."

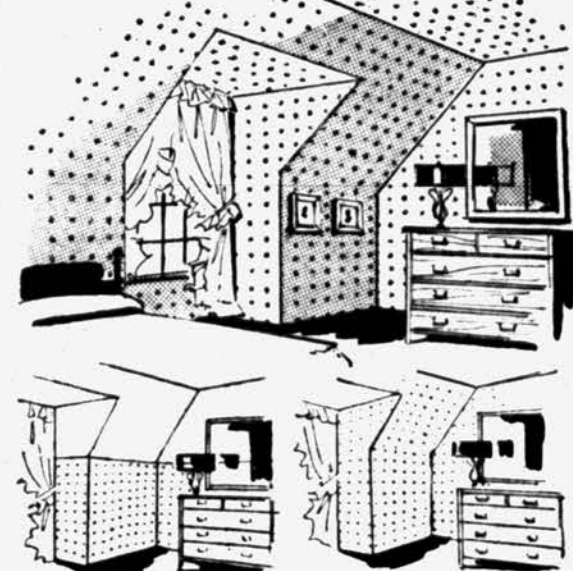

All this was three years ago, and now, this woman says, she and her husband have a vacation every winter.

The money they make from their gardening and house plant hobby all summer has made this possible.

"Not only that," she says, "but we have a very absorbing life, because we are always learning something new in our field. It just goes to show that retirement doesn't have to be an end to life but that it can start a whole new life!"

To Minimize Slanted Lines Paper Both Walls, Ceiling

By ELIZABETH HILLIER

A cheerful small pattern on both the walls and ceiling does wonders for the room with slanted walls.

A room of this kind sometimes brings up problems, as it does to Mrs. K. H. who asks, "What kind of paper should I use on slanted walls and where should it go? Should the paper end where the wall begins to slant, or where the ceiling begins?"

We've sketched the same walls all three ways, to show the effect of each plan. The all-over use of the pattern minimizes the slant of the walls, while the partial use of it emphasizes irregular outlines.

To hang the paper only on the vertical wall areas may be particularly disturbing if the angle of one wall begins higher or lower than on the opposite wall, which it often does. To stop the paper at the ceiling is a better plan.

Choose the paper for both walls and ceiling in a simple pattern that looks the same upside down and sideways as it does right side up.

Mrs. R. F. "We have matching bedspreads on our beds in the room my daughter and I now share. She is soon to have a room of her own, and I am wondering if I should buy her a new spread. Or can I use identical spreads in the two rooms?"

An attractive bedspread needn't be wasted just because it happens to match one in another bedroom. Different color schemes in the two rooms can provide variety. However, if the new bedroom would be improved by a spread in a different style or color, the duplicate of the one used in the present bedroom can be used to advantage. Alternating the two means no time out for washing or cleaning and eventually full wear will be had from both.

Mrs. J. Z. "My newly remodeled kitchen has a light green ceramic tile ceiling and yellow ceramic tile walls. Windows and doors are trimmed with the green tile and cabinets are white."

"The dark green marbled linoleum has a white inlaid stripe. What color should the kitchen table and chairs and the curtains be?"

White, natural wood, black wrought iron or chrome would look well for the furniture frames, with light or medium green upholstery covers.

Stepfather Is Adopting 7-Year-Old

How Does Family Announce Change of Name, Status?

By EMILY POST

A reader explains: "I have a 7-year-old daughter from a former marriage whom my present husband is adopting and to whom he is giving his name."

"Would you kindly advise me of the correct wording of an announcement to send to friends notifying them of this? Would it be proper to send an announcement to my late husband's family?"

Answer: The wording for this announcement would be:
Mr. John Smith is happy to announce his adoption of Mrs. Smith's daughter Mary Green who will henceforth be known as Mary Smith

It would be better to write to your ex-mother-in-law and say that "because of the confusion caused by Mary's having a different name from the rest of the family, John is giving her his name. We hope this will not cause you too great distress, and it does not mean that she is going to forget her own father's family."

Dear Mrs. Post: Our senior prom will take place the end of this month at one of the big hotels. The girls would like to wear evening dresses to this dance but the boys have voted against wearing tuxedos.

Now our question is, would it be proper for us to wear ballerina-length evening dresses if the boys wear dark blue suits? We are anxiously waiting to hear from you.

Answer: It would be entirely proper for the girls to wear simple evening dresses not too low at the neck.

Dear Mrs. Post: For my birthday I received eight beautiful white plates, dinner-sized. Each has a different painting on it—either of a church or a famous building in the city of Rome. I would like to know how and when these plates may be properly used.

Answer: You very properly may use them as place plates, setting the table with them, and as no food is ever put on these place plates, the beauty of their pictures will not be marred.

Spring Jewels Vary

In precious jewelry collections there are long, flexible columns of cultured pearls, graceful karat-gold tassels and large suspended squares or discs of bright blue-green opal mosaic. In costume jewelry, chalk-white or pastel porcelain imitates shining grape clusters. Lightweight filigreed flowers are spring news, too, and the garden grows with blossoms of all sizes, some in pale, faceted stones with bright rhinestone centers.

Mary Margaret McBride Says:

House Won't Suit Others, but Who Sells a Dream?

By bartering a valuable solid silver monstrosity that I never quite knew what to do with, I have acquired a tiny piece of land and a magnificent mountain-lake view. So, although up to now I've always carefully avoided owning real estate—maybe frightened by the family mortgages as a child—I've finally succumbed to the building bug.

I know what I want, too, and a mighty uncomplicated job it will be for some construction man if he will only do it my way. Most houses have too many frills to suit me, particularly since I plan to do my own cleaning and polishing.

Luckily I know a lot of people who have experimented with dream houses, and I have all their failures as well as successes to guide me. About the only one I ever felt the urge to copy was a bachelor named Allen who agrees with me about clutter. His home hasn't a single useless ornament to gather dust.

His three rooms do the work of six with the help of a living room 50x40 feet which also serves as a place to eat and to sleep overnight guests.

I shall certainly copy his enormous fireplace and built-in couches, bookcases and tables. Only I like blue and red as a color scheme better than his yellow and green and I'm going to have curtains, which he calls trippery.

For my bedroom, I'll just appropriate the idea of a Norwegian composer whose rambling home I visited last year. This man believes that bedrooms should be only big enough for sleeping and reading in bed and he tucked them like oversized airy closets wherever there was a little space off his study, music room or halls.

I want my walls of pine, the furniture of fruit woods and enough wall space for my sampler collection and bureau space for my perfumes, dust-catcher though they are.

I expect to have trouble with my builder when I tell him that I want three baths in a one-bedroom house; also twice the normal number of electric outlets, none under a couch or a table, besides a constant supply of hot water that would take care of a family of 12.

Nobody ever has had a kitchen quite like the one I dream of—paneled, coppering, with fireplace, rocking chair and built-in couch where I can stretch out and read amidst the fragrances of cooking. And instead of being at the back of my house, this important room will be part of the huge screened and glassed stone terrace that looks out on lake and mountains.

It all sounds so lovely. I can hardly wait. But I know practical

Blue Jeans Go in Hiding This Spring

New High Fashion for Girls Has Ideas Right From Paris

For more years than we can count, people have been trying to pry teenagers away from their blue jeans. Trouble was that no one offered them anything better to wear other than the time-worn baggy skirt and sweater, with a ton of junk jewelry tossed in for good measure.

Now, however, there is a move afoot in junior fashions to combine the latest silhouettes and sophisticated design ideas straight from Paris, with the style whims and fads that appeal to this late teen-into-early twenties age group.

One junior dress firm that is making a specialty—and crusade—of this sort of high fashion plus youth appeal, describes its latest collection of clothes for spring as a "new philosophy of dress for the girl with the blue jean figure."

All the latest fashion trends are interpolated into this collection, with a design touch that's as fresh as outdoors. Dresses, for instance, are as narrow as an arrow or as full as a dome depending on the fabric and fashion interpretation. Gay little jackets cut to just below the bosom lend a chick Empire effect to costumes.

Necklines, whether they are deep-cut in scoop and portrait shapes, or throat-hugging, achieve a grace of line that is flattering to all junior figure types from the sleek and svelt to the round and roly-poly. The princess line, sometimes combined with the Empire, is shown with both slim and full skirts.

The key to this "philosophy of dress," however, lies in the individual treatment of details. Twinkling rhinestones no bigger than a squirrel's eye are used to rim a neckline.

A bright colored sash in a contrasting fabric points up a tiny waist. Cap sleeves sometimes end in small bows. A fringed stole turns a sundress into a theater costume. An inverted accordion pleat gives a redingote air to a full skirt.

A floral sprig embroidery decorates a simple sheath dress. These are just a few of the details that designers weave into the new junior collection.

Fabric, too, plays an important role in fashions for juniors this season. Since the basic silhouettes are simple, fabrics must have elegance as well as surface interest.

Textured linens, which have enough "body" to be draped and molded easily without fear of wrinkles, are used in slim-line dresses.

Some of these linens are fine-woven, with beige or white backgrounds to serve as perfect setting for printed florals in spicy colors; others are rough-textured, knobby, and shot with bits of bright thread for a tweedy effect.

For the fuller silhouette, there are crisp taffeta prints in spring flower shapes treated much as brush strokes are in an abstract painting.

Manners

MAKE FRIENDS

When a woman who is supposed to be a good friend of another woman makes a catty remark about her behind her back, the one who makes the slighting remark gets a mark-down in everybody's book.

That's because she is not only displaying her claws—but her disloyalty is showing, too.

Babies on Bottle Use Cup Later

If baby has been bottle-fed, remember that he's not likely to change to a cup as early as a breast-fed baby.

The bottle has become a cherished possession he will not want to relinquish. If you wean him by easy stages, he's not so likely to feel he's being deprived of an important source of pleasure.

Presenting a check for $100 to James Hunt, assistant director of Camp Oakland, Auxiliary. Camp Oakland has been a project recently, was Mrs. Leslie Hotchkiss of the auxiliary for the past two years.

Jaycee Auxiliary Helps Support Camp

Camp Oakland has been Pontiac Jaycee Auxiliary's main project for the past two years.

The camp, a ranch near Oxford, provides a home for delinquent and underprivileged boys and girls, and is maintained by donations from private citizens and business, professional and service clubs. The camp receives no support from the state.

To raise money for the camp, Jaycee Auxiliary gave a toy demonstration before Christmas at Elk Temple. The toys were sold as Christmas presents.

James Hunt, assistant camp director, explained to the auxiliary members on their recent visit that each of the 10 boys has his own job to do in keeping the house clean. They take care of their rooms, do household chores and tend to the barn chores as well.

The goals of the camp, set up by Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore and William Matus, are three-fold: To provide a year-round supervised home for boys 15-18 years old placed there by the Juvenile Court; to serve as a summer camp for underprivileged children and to furnish winter camping facilities for organizations such as Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and boys' clubs.

The camp site was purchased two years ago, and buildings have been donated by various clubs and service groups.

Gathering Held at Kirby Home by Pillar Club

Mrs. A. C. Kirby was hostess to Pillar Club at her Maceday Lake home for a cooperative dinner Tuesday. Assistant hostesses were Mrs. J. L. Van Wagoner, chairman; Mrs. Irene Swanbeck, Mrs. Clara Connor and Mrs. J. Kirk Campbell.

Thirty members and two guests, Mrs. Irene Albright and Norma Strickland, attended. Devotions were given by Mrs. L. F. Hire using the theme "Spring and Positive Thinking" taken from Dr. Norman Vincent Peale's book, "Positive Thinking."

Following the business meeting conducted by Mrs. E. K. Vanderlind, Mrs. Van Wagoner introduced Thomas Kent who showed colored slides of his recent trip to Hawaii, the Rose Bowl game and the Tournament of Roses.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Howard Losee in June.

2 County Students Will Be in Concert

Two Oakland County music students at the University of Michigan will be among those taking part in a chamber concert in Angell Hall Friday evening, presented by the School of Music.

Frances Watson of Oxford will play the flute in a "Sonata for Flute and Piano" with Bruce Wise of Melvindale, the composer. Charles Wingert, of Royal Oak, a tenor, will sing Reginald Hall's "Poems for Music". All numbers in the Friday evening concert are composed by Michigan music students.

Square Umbrellas

Guest Addresses Whitney WCTU

Mrs. David Gee was hostess to Dora B. Whitney Group of WCTU Tuesday at her home on Illinois avenue where Mrs. Louis Hutton, state corresponding secretary, was guest speaker.

Mrs. Hutton spoke on new members and how to keep them. She pointed out that the WCTU which was started in 1874, is observing its 80th birthday and has spread to 60 countries.

"The organization has withstood the opposition," she said,

"because it is religion in action. Every united church woman should stand for total abstinence."

"To hold new members, one must be sincere in her purpose and enthusiastically inform others of the importance and scope of the work covered," added Mrs. Hutton.

Mrs. John McCormick used "Prayer" as the subject of her devotion saying one should not only pray, but should wait for the answer.

Mrs. Herbert Flemington of Birmingham sang two selections accompanied by Mrs. Gee, and Mrs. John Little closed the meeting with prayer.

Carder Unit Meets

Carder Missionary Circle of Emmanuel Baptist Church met with Mary Conway of West End street recently to complete garments to be sent to the Canary Islands. Mrs. Cecil Morgan gave devotions.

Shower Honors Bonnie Scholtz

Friends and co-workers gathered at the home of Mrs. Robert Tompkins on Monroe street recently to honor Bonnie Jean Scholtz with a bridal shower.

Bonnie Jean, bride-elect of Robert Zimmerman, will speak her nuptial vows May 29 at St. Vincent de Paul Church in a double wedding ceremony. At the same time her twin sister, Betty Jane, will exchange vows with Charles F. Wells. Bonnie Jean is the daughter of

Mr. and Mrs. George Scholtz of Illinois avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Zimmerman of Wall street are her fiancé's parents. The party was planned by Bonnie Jean's fellow teachers at Sashabaw School.

Save Your Receipts

It's sensible to save receipts for some time. One never knows when she'll be called on to produce proof of payment. The best thing to do is file all receipts in a small box according to month and year.

Men's Wedding Attire Causes More Concern Than the Bridal Finery

Give In to Parents on Party Incidentals

BY ELIZABETH WOODWARD
When you accept an invitation you have a pretty good idea of what you're getting into. You know how you're going to get there, what time you'll be getting home. Such details click immediately into place in your own mind and give solid shape and form to the approaching party.

It's when you begin talking things over at home that your whole plan threatens to come apart at the seams. Mother doesn't like the way you're going to get there, maybe even puts up a fuss over a new dress. Dad doesn't care at all about the hour you plan to get home.

Their disapproval over the incidental to the plot make you so miserable you almost wish you hadn't accepted the invitation.

Here are two girls who are ready to call the whole thing off because the incidentals have become more important to them than the party. Jill is in despair because her mother won't let her ride to the prom in some boy's car. She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: A boy I like very much has asked me to go to the prom, and when I asked mother if I could go, she said only on the condition that she comes down to bring me home."

"I was planning on our going with another couple in their car."

You see, my boy friend is 15, but his friend is 18 and can drive. I'm sure if mother met him she'd have no reason to be afraid.

"I do want to go so badly — and I'm sure my boy friend won't understand why I don't go to the prom with him. Don't you think my mother should let me go?"

But your mother has already said you could go. It's your plan for getting there that is confusing the issue. A little compromising all around could settle that detail.

You have to give in on the point of riding in that boy's car. But the getting to and from isn't nearly as important as being at that prom with the boy you like.

What if your parents do come down to give you a lift home? What if his dad does the driving and escorts the two of you in their car? If such transportation makes the prom possible for you, settle for it good-naturedly. It's only a ride, you know.

Lucille's mother thinks she's too young to have a formal or even a semi-formal dress — and here she has already accepted the boy's invitation to the big dance! She writes:

"Dear Miss Woodward: This is a formal dance at our city's swankiest hotel. The boy I'm going with is going to wear his tuxedo — and mother thinks I should wear a print dress!"

"I'm 14 — do you think I'm too young to have a proper dress for this dance?"

Having the right clothes (or the possibility of getting them) should guide any girl in accepting invitations. A formal dance at a big hotel sounds like a big occasion and calls for more than a girl's best Sunday frock.

But you needn't get something so fussy that you won't get any wear out of it this summer. Compromise with your mother on a ballerina-length cotton — a swish party frock.

Of course, if you are that rare girl who can do a lot on the run without becoming ruffled, and if you plan a very simple ceremony anyway, you'll be safe in passing up these suggestions.

But any girl who will face a formal wedding and a reception after having only haphazard preparations is jeopardizing her right to wedding day radiance.

Exhausted by last-minute activities, she'll find little joy in ceremony or reception. Fatigue will show in her face. And that's certainly too great a price to pay for disregarding the calendar now.

The first thing you should do is draw up a master list of all arrangements that must be made: For invitations, gifts to bridal party, photographs, etc. You no doubt realize the importance of taking care of these matters well in advance.

But it's equally important that you waste no time in gathering together everything you will need on the wedding day and during the honeymoon.

Use a large sheet of paper for this list and enter the items neatly so that you and your bridesmaids will have no trouble checking them later on.

The time to think about your wedding fragrance is the day your gown and veil arrive. Put a sachet pillow into the box with the veil and hang one on the hanger with the gown. And don't forget to

Time of Day and Place Dictate Garb

Costume Expenses Are the Obligation of Attendants

By EMILY POST

The time of day and the place determine what kind of clothes the bridal party wears. So as soon as this is decided, the bride-to-be should inform members of the wedding party.

The bridesmaids pay for their own dresses and accessories (hats, gloves, muffs as the case may be).

Strange as it may sound, it is the men's attire that often causes most concern. Here, for instance, are some questions and answers:

"I am going to be married soon at an evening wedding. My dress is ankle-length and with it I will wear a fingertip-length veil."

"My mother-in-law insists that the men should wear tails since it is to be an evening wedding, but I think these clothes are much too formal for my dress and that they should wear tuxedos. Will you please settle this?"

While I agree that attire more formal than a tuxedo is not required with a bridal dress that has no train, on the other hand, I cannot agree that tails would be incorrect.

"I am going to be married soon at an evening wedding. The bridegroom and his attendants will wear tuxedos. However, several of the ushers do not own dinner clothes and will have to rent them."

"Will you please tell me if the bridegroom is supposed to pay for the rental of these clothes?"

No. The ushers are expected to provide their own clothes.

"I am going to be married soon at a late afternoon wedding. My fiancée wants me to wear a tuxedo. She thinks that striped trousers are much too formal for the simple wedding we are having and a plain dark business suit not dressy enough for her bridal clothes."

"I do not think a tuxedo proper before 6 o'clock, but she thinks that since the wedding is so near 6 (the wedding will take place at 5) it will be permissible. What do you think?"

I agree with you that a tuxedo at 5 o'clock would be completely wrong. Your most correct clothes would be the striped trousers and a black coat, but a dark blue suit is quite proper and worn by many bridegrooms who want to avoid pretentiousness.

"My son is to be married at a morning wedding, and he and the other men in the wedding party are going to wear striped trousers and cutaway coats."

"Is it absolutely necessary for them to wear gloves, or may they be omitted? The bridegroom and best man would like to omit them as they think they will be very clumsy during the ceremony."

To be truthful, men are always troubled by the bridegroom's gloves. I've never written this before, but I do agree that it would be better to omit gloves.

"My son is to be married soon at a Nuptial Mass. He and the other men in the wedding will wear the conventional striped trousers."

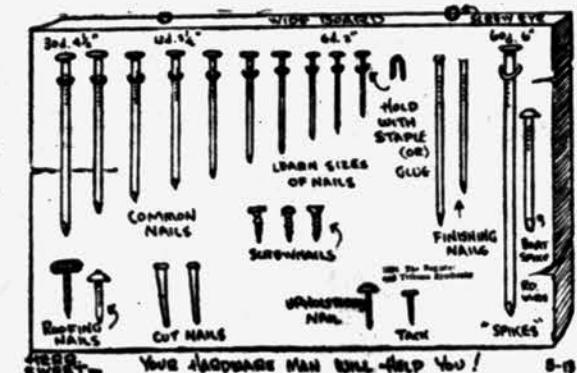

"I would like to know if it is necessary for my husband to wear these same clothes. My son thinks he should, but I don't agree as he is not part of the wedding party."

It is not at all necessary that his clothes match those of the men in the wedding party. What-ever he ordinarily wears to church will be correct.

"Please tell me if it is proper for the men in the wedding party, who will be wearing plain dark business suits, to wear white handkerchiefs in their breast pockets?"

A handkerchief should not be used as a decoration and certainly cannot take the place of a boutonniere.

Mount Collection of Nails

I wonder if you have ever stopped to think about the number of nails which are used in this country each day. Now, stop and see how many different kinds of nails you can name? It makes you think that you do not know much about these handy little things, for although they are small, they are most important.

If we did not have nails to use in our houses, we would have to peg them together and it would take months longer to build a house.

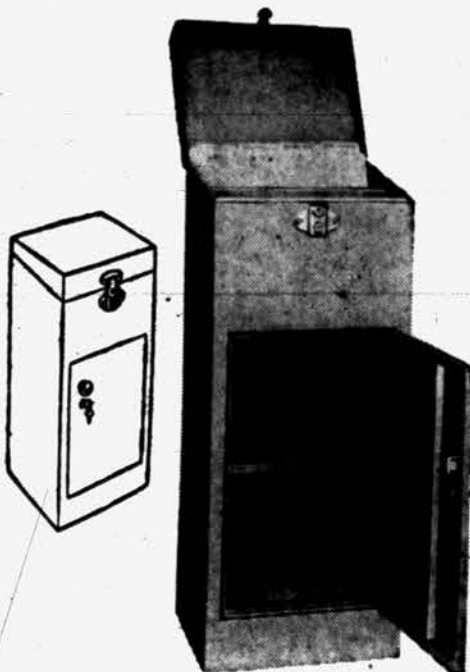

How about starting a nail collection? You would not only have fun making the collection, but many people would be interested in seeing it and learning more about the different kinds of nails which are made. This is an inexpensive kind of collection, too.

Let's start by talking about finishing nails. One company makes 16 sizes in this one kind of nail alone. A finishing nail is a nail with a small head which is used where nails are not wanted to show. Look at the drawing. See the different kinds on the board. This is just a start!

Make your collection on a wide, thin board that has some nice grain through it. Sand it, then give it a coat of shellac. Put your nails on with small staples or glue in place.

The girl who goes about her wedding preparations in a businesslike manner has the best chance of being the radiant bride of her dreams. Haphazardly made plans make for confusion, consternation and exhaustion on the big day. This girl (upper left) packs all but crushable garments a week before her wedding, tucking sachet pillows among her lingerie. All preparations in order, she can devote the final hours of the wedding eve to her grooming ritual. Just before going to bed, she lolls in a delicately scented bubble bath (lower left) that loosens taut nerves, readies her for a sound sleep. And just before the ceremony, the radiant bride sprays on her favorite perfume (center). Later, in her going-away outfit (right), she's still relaxed, refreshed and radiant. Undisturbed by last-minute mixups, she takes a minute to revive the fragrant note that spells romance to her and her bridegroom.

Haphazard Planning Destroys Peace of Mind

Businesslike Preparations Insure Bridal Radiance

By ALICIA HART

If it's your turn to be in the limelight this bridal season, you can come close to guaranteeing smooth sailing through the days immediately surrounding the wedding by making all your plans early — and most carefully.

Of course, if you are that rare girl who can do a lot on the run without becoming ruffled, and if you plan a very simple ceremony anyway, you'll be safe in passing up these suggestions.

But any girl who will face a formal wedding and a reception after having only haphazard preparations is jeopardizing her right to wedding day radiance.

Exhausted by last-minute activities, she'll find little joy in ceremony or reception. Fatigue will show in her face. And that's certainly too great a price to pay for disregarding the calendar now.

The first thing you should do is draw up a master list of all arrangements that must be made: For invitations, gifts to bridal party, photographs, etc. You no doubt realize the importance of taking care of these matters well in advance.

The time to think about your wedding fragrance is the day your gown and veil arrive. Put a sachet pillow into the box with the veil and hang one on the hanger with the gown. And don't forget to scent your lingerie and other outfits with sachet.

Incidentally, this is no time to experiment with new fragrances. On your wedding day you should wear the perfume your fiancé has come to associate with you.

Your sachet, dusting powder and soap should be in the same scent as the perfume and cologne.

About a week before the wedding, have a trial-packing session to be sure there's a place for everything.

As the trial-packing proceeds, you'll probably think of a few necessities you failed to list. Such items as old socks to cover shoes and aluminum foil to wrap precious perfume and other leakables are seldom thought of before packing begins.

With all your well-organized preparations, you'll probably still feel somewhat nervous and concerned over details as the day draws to a close.

So, to buoy up your spirits, plan to devote the last hour before bedtime to lolling in a sweetly scented bubble bath.

Promote lots of suds by putting the salts into the dry tub and opening the faucets wide.

2 Bandits Commit Suicide as Police Corner Them

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (U.P.)—Two desperate gunmen committed suicide yesterday when they were cornered by police who sought them for critically wounding a detective in a movie theater.

Police Chief Howard O. Young said one of the fugitives, James Pollard, 26, of Stonington shot himself in the head as Young closed in on him in an apartment house attic.

Police said the other gunman, Clarence Rydstrom, 21, of Waterbury shot himself to death in a taxicab an hour later as police surrounded him with drawn guns.

Shot in a downtown movie was Detective Ralph Palma, 30. He was felled by two bullets in the chest as he wrestled with the pair.

Pollard and Rydstrom had been hunted all over the city's center yesterday in connection with a holdup Monday in Middlebury, where two bandits tied two women and escaped with $1,400 in cash, jewelry and bonds.

Palma, two other detectives and several state troopers went to the movie theater on a tip the fugitives were there.

Palma went into the seats and there was a scuffle. Suddenly two shots blazed and many of the 200 patrons dived under their seats.

The state troopers and other detectives said they held their fire lest stray bullets hit the patrons.

The fugitives escaped, but a short time later Pollard was trapped in the apartment house a few blocks from the theater. Rydstrom, meanwhile, had caught a cab.

Hundreds of police and thousands of spectators gathered outside the house. A squad of patrolmen fired tear gas bombs into the apartment, shouting to Pollard over loud speakers to come out. But there was only silence from the inside.

Chief Young stripped off his jacket and put on a gas mask and went in. He searched every room and was climbing the attic stairs when he spotted Pollard.

He yelled for Pollard to come out and then heard a shot. It was the shot, apparently, that went through Pollard's temple. But Young said he fired anyway to be sure Pollard wasn't firing at him.

This was 4:40 p.m. An hour later a taxicab company dispatcher telephoned police and said "Cab 23" appeared to be in trouble.

Police put out a citywide pickup for the cab. It was spotted near an intersection about a mile away from the apartment house.

The cabbie, John Casapulo, 28, said that when Rydstrom saw the police cars he reached for his gun. Casapulo said he stepped on the brakes and jumped out. The cab rolled into a parked car.

Police said Rydstrom put the revolver to his head and fired as they converged on the cab.

Underground Farm

REDMOND, Ore. (U.P.)—City officials see the high underground caves which extend beneath the city as a state park and a tourist attraction. But one resident has a different idea of how the caverns should be used. R. S. Roudner says the damp, dark caves are ideal for mushroom growing and he'd like to start growing them commercially if the city fathers would give him permission.

Personal To Women With Nagging Backache

Nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headache and dizziness may be due to slow-down of kidney function. Doctors say good kidney function is very important to good health. When some everyday condition, such as stress and strain, causes this important function to slow down, many follow-up complications develop—fatigue, nervousness, bladder irritations due to acid or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages. Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. It's coming here every day. Doan's gives happy relief from these discomforts—helps the 15 million of kidney-impaired Americans back out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Farmers Deny Slavery Charge

Defense Closes Case in Alabama's Federal Peonage Trial

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Two Alabama farmers denied in testimony yesterday that they held Negroes in slavery on their farms or beat their workers.

Fred and Oscar Dial of Sumter County were placed on the witness stand as the defense closed its testimony in the four-day-old federal peonage trial. Rebuttal testimony and closing arguments follow.

J. W. Boyd, Livingston, testified yesterday he had "heard about" the two men having reputations for whipping their farmhands.

Mrs. Fred Dial, wife of one of the defendants, said her husband struck one worker, but only because the Negro refused to stop cursing in the presence of her and her children.

She denied that her husband hit Coy Lee Tankersly with part of a plow as was testified.

The government introduced pictures of the body of Hubert (Monk) Thompson, which Associate State Toxicologist Nelson Grubbs said had wounds and bruises on the legs and left thigh.

Federal authorities claimed that Thompson died three days after being beaten, but Grubbs said death in 1951 resulted from pneumonia.

The government charged that the Dials paid fines of Negroes being held on minor charges in Alabama and Mississippi jails and took them to their farms.

W. C. Temple, a Mississippi prison guard, testified that he talked to Thompson while the Negro was a prisoner in Mississippi and Thompson wanted to go back to Alabama with Fred Dial.

Spectator's Collapse Doesn't Disrupt Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—The collapse of a woman spectator caused scarcely a ripple of confusion yesterday at the McCarthy-Army hearings.

The office of Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said the woman is Mrs. R. D. Seaman of Washington, and that her condition did not appear serious. The testimony of John G. Adams, Army counselor, continued as Mrs. Seaman was wheeled out on a stretcher. She was taken to Casualty Hospital.

Change of Sex Completed for Tennessee Girl?

DYERSBURG, Tenn. (AP)—Pretty Charlotte McLeod, back in her home town after a series of sex change operations in Denmark, says it's a "crying shame" that American physicians frown on such surgery.

"I fit right in where I left off," the 29-year-old willowy brunette said yesterday. "It's wonderful to be back home. Friends don't feel any different toward me now than before. They've accepted the many changes."

Charlotte intends to write a book, she said, aimed solely toward educating people as to the medical help "sexual cripples" need "before they are forced to commit suicide. I was at that stage."

Her experience, she said, may help create "an understanding between John Doe and sexual cripples. There are thousands."

Charlotte, who left here as Charles, stands 5 feet 8½, weighs 118. Her dark hair was gathered in a cluster of curls at the nape of her neck. She was attractively clad in a white blouse, flared aqua skirt and high-heeled sandals.

She arrived Monday night and moved in with a friend, Mrs. Stuart Wilson. Her father, Charles McLeod Sr., said:

"I was happy to see her. I hope that this change will be better. I hope she'll be happy."

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Discouraged authors can take heart from a Yale University announcement that it is publishing a book written by Edward Hake 350 years ago. The manuscript, dealing with questions of government, was found by a Yale librarian in the British Museum 10 years ago.

Autos Require Leather

Detroit (AP)—The Upholstery Leather Group Inc. is making a drive for increased volume in the automobile industry. The group claims the auto industry already takes about 65 per cent of the output of America's upholstery leather tanneries.

For That Different Supper Dish!

Eggs Confetti Gay and Tasty

This Recipe Forgets the Scrambling, Poaching or Boiling Methods

One of the leading food stories of the season might be entitled "The Egg and Us" — with apologies to a best seller of recent years but no apologies to the homemakers who are delighted to find eggs on the plentiful list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

And now for serving ideas other than plain fried, scrambled, boiled or poached eggs.

For a gay and tasty note to luncheon or supper try our kitchen tested recipe for Eggs Confetti served over broiled or plain tomatoes — another plentiful of the season.

Still another food on the plentiful list — nutritious nonfat dry milk — is featured in the sauce. Nonfat dry milk, which gives milk nourishment without fat, enriches this recipe for its use in dry form enables the homemaker to pack in an extra amount of milk nutrients.

This versatile product, which is liquefied so easily in a jiffy, is used for drinking, cooking, baking, with cereals and even for whipping.

Eggs Confetti
4 sliced lean bacon
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1/2 cup chopped pimiento
1 1/2 cups water
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon black pepper
1 pound process sharp cheddar cheese shredded
4 hard cooked eggs, sliced
4 tomatoes, cut in half and broiled

Cook bacon until crisp and lightly browned. Drain on absorbent paper and crumble. Remove all but 1 tablespoon of bacon drippings from skillet. Sauté onion, green pepper and pimiento until onion is lightly browned. Pour 1 1/2 cups water into top of double boiler.

Combine flour, nonfat dry milk powder, salt and pepper. Sprinkle over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until blended. Cook,

EGGS CONFETTI — Here's how to use plentiful eggs in a delicious supper dish—Eggs Confetti. Sliced hard cooked eggs and a cheese sauce made with nonfat dry milk and dotted with bits of green pepper and pimiento, are served atop a plentiful May vegetable, tomatoes. A strip of bacon is the finishing touch.

Chopped Nuts Vary Spicy Prune Cake

Similar to applesauce cake in texture, but with an entirely different flavor is this Prune Cake. It calls for a cup of strained prunes, so use canned baby food to make your task really simple.

Prune Cake
(1 bowl method)
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 teaspoon allspice
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup strained prunes
2 eggs
1 cup finely chopped nuts

bowl. Add shortening and strained prunes. Mix until all flour is dampened. Beat 2 minutes by hand or electric beater (low speed) until batter is well-blended.

Add eggs. Beat 2 more minutes. Fold in nuts. Pour into two well-greased and lightly floured 8-inch layer cake pans. Bake 30-35 minutes or until done. Cool. Frost with 7-minute frosting.

Perforate Pie Crust
When you are making a one-crust pie, make sure you prick the bottom and sides of the pastry shell thoroughly before you bake it. Pricking the dough will let steam escape and help the shell to keep its shape. Be sure to cook the shell before adding the filling.

Orange Juice Requires Extra Careful Storage

For the best flavor and highest vitamin value, frozen orange juice should be used at once after being mixed with water. Orange juice concentrate with water added may lose 10 per cent of its vitamin C content when stored 24 hours. Longer storage results in even more loss.

When reconstituted juice must be stored, care should be taken to prevent unnecessary vitamin loss caused by heat and air. The juice should fill the container in which it is stored. Cover tightly and place in the refrigerator.

To remove fish odor from hands, pots and pans, rub them with hot salty water, then wash with soap and water.

Mint Enhances Broiled Lamb

Springtime eating always includes lamb. Usually lamb is less expensive at this season, making it an economical buy. Since lamb has a delicate, almost neutral flavor, this should never be lost or submerged by the addition of strong, pungent vegetables or seasonings.

Mint is the traditional team-mate for all roasted and broiled lamb dishes. Spread half the chops with mint jelly. Sprinkle with crumbled thyme or marjoram. Top each chop with another one. Fasten in place with toothpicks.

Broil 3 inches from heat source about 10 minutes. Season. Turn and broil 10 minutes more or until chops are crispy brown. Serve at once on hot platter or plates.

DOUBLE-DECKER LAMB CHOPS—Here are double-decker lamb rib chops with mint jelly and herb seasoning between. Shoulder, T-bone, or sirloin chops may be used, too, but this 2-for-1 arrangement is especially good for the smaller rib chops cut $\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{3}{4}$ inch thick.

Recipe Offers Novel Molded Meat Salad

Are you looking for a novel molded meat salad for your spring luncheon party? Try this agreeable version of Corned Beef and Cabbage. It comes from Brooklyn.

Molded Corned Beef and Cabbage

Cabbage Layer:
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water
2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup vinegar
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
2 cups finely chopped cabbage

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add hot water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add salt, sugar, lemon juice and vinegar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Chill until mixture is the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Mix in green pepper and cabbage. Turn into an 8-inch square pan and chill until almost firm.

Corned Beef Layer

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup hot water
2 teaspoons salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup minced onion
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup chopped sweet pickle
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sliced celery
1 12-ounce can corned beef, finely cut

Soften gelatin in cold water. Place over boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add salt and lemon juice; cool. Gradually add to mayonnaise; mix in remaining ingredients. Turn on top of almost firm layer and chill until firm. Unmold on serving platter. To serve, cut into squares. Makes 9 servings.

Serve this thrifty and nourishing soup to the youngsters for lunch... they'll go for its hearty flavor.

Empty two cans of vegetable soup into a pan, and add 1 can of water and a cup of ground cooked or canned ham, or luncheon meat. Heat and serve.

Potpourri of Cookbooks Should Suit Every Taste

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

I've had a windfall of new cookbooks this past week. Two of them—"Breads and More Breads" and

"Paris is a Nice Dish"—are not new in the field; I've just never seen them before.

The other book, "The 20-Minute Cook Book" (Crown Publishers, Inc., New York) is brand new and may be obtained from the Pontiac Public Library.

With three books to talk about, I'm not going into great lengths about any of them. But "The 20-Minute Cook Book" is written by a man. When a man invades our traditional field, it calls for some comment.

Michael Reine says he tested all his recipes in a "postage-stamp-size apartment kitchenette using the everyday utensils found in any kitchen."

Many articles and books on quick and easy meals often require your spending two hours the day before in the kitchen so that you can put the meal together at the last minute in a hurry. Mr. Reine's book is different in this respect. His recipes actually are quickies.

The secret is that he advocates the almost exclusive use of ready-to-cook (such as frozen vegetables), ready-to-eat (such as canned fruits and meats and ready-mixed foods.

He wouldn't consider making a cake or pie from scratch, or even making hamburgers from fresh beef.

With this philosophy I cannot agree. But I believe this book will fill a need for some cooks.

"Breads and More Breads" (Manual Arts Press, Peoria, Ill.) is a grand collection of bread recipes from practically every country in the world. The day after I bought the book the family had Hungarian Spaetzel for dessert; Spaetzel is a yummy rich, nutty sweet bread.

The introduction which is a history of bread is interesting reading in itself. I intend to try many more of the recipes and I recommend the book to any person who enjoys making bread.

"Paris is a Nice Dish" (Henry Regnery Co., Chicago) is an entirely different book from the other two. It is a combination travelogue, guide to Parisian restaurants and recipe book, rolled into one volume.

It's smooth reading and the recipes are mouth-watering. Furthermore, they are not too difficult nor do they call for exotic ingredients.

As one would expect, they lean rather heavily on butter, garlic, tiny onions and wines of all kinds. But most of them could be duplicated in American kitchens without much trouble. This is a cook book that is fun to read.

Succulent Fried Chicken Is Also Budget Stretcher

Have you checked on how little it costs to get the makings for a fried chicken dinner these days? The Department of Agriculture has chicken on its "Best Food Buys" list. Grocers and markets are offering broilers and fryers at the lowest prices in a long time.

It's a good time to serve your family a big platter of fried chicken and save money and a wonderful time to stock up the freezer with fryers for summer picnics.

Here are some facts about the modern broiler and fryer you may not have realized:

1. Chicken is a low-calorie, high-protein food. If you're watching your weight, chicken offers you proteins without fat. It's all lean meat.

2. Today's commercial broiler is a lot better bird than those grandmother served. The modern chicken is the result of careful breeding to produce more meat and smaller bones. You get more meat for your money these days.

3. Today's commercial broiler is raised in confinement. It isn't allowed to roam the range and toughen up drumsticks and thighs. And it goes to market when less than ten weeks old. It's young and tender.

4. Modern birds are fed special feeds to give them fastness, meatiness and fine flavor.

5. Many stores offer you a variety of ways to buy chicken. You can buy packages of all white meat, all drumsticks, thighs, wings or, of course, whole chickens and halves.

6. This makes it easy to serve the family just what they like.

At today's low prices on broilers and fryers, the economy-minded housewife can sure stretch the food budget by serving her family fried chicken.

Fried Chicken With Gravy
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup evaporated milk
 $\frac{1}{2}$ 3-lb. frying chicken, cut in pieces
 $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons flour
Few grains pepper
1 cup water

Put milk into a bowl. Dip pieces of chicken into milk, then roll them in a mixture of $\frac{1}{2}$ cup flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt and $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper. Save milk for making gravy, adding enough to make 1 cup.

Brown chicken slowly in $\frac{1}{2}$ -inch hot fat in skillet about 30 minutes, or until drumsticks are tender when pierced with a fork. Remove chicken and keep hot.

Drain off all fat, then return 2 tablespoons to skillet. Mix well into fat in skillet 2 tablesp. flour, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt and few grains pepper. Stir in water. Boil and stir 2 min.

Stir in the milk and heat until steaming hot, but do not boil.

Dress Up Custard

Put 1 tablespoon brown sugar in the bottom of each custard cup before carefully pouring custard mixture on top. Gives caramel-like flavor to custard.

SIX-WAY WHIP—Straight from the original tradition of Viennese desserts comes this Six-Way Whip. It's satiny smooth, with almond flavor delicately pointing up the coffee flavor. Serve it in any of the ways suggested, and your guests will call it elegance personified.

Instant Form of Coffee an Aid to Modern Baking

The coffee houses of Old Vienna created a tradition in baking as well as in drinking. Their wonderful cakes, cookies and other fabulous desserts made with such elegant ingredients as almonds, whipped cream, coffee, chocolate, vanilla and butter, have passed into legend.

But not all of these wonderful desserts were so rich or so complicated to make that they cannot be simplified for modern cooks.

In the great days of Viennese baking, one of the housewife's duties was brewing double strength coffee to flavor her favorite recipes.

Nowadays, we can eliminate this step, using instant coffee in its original form. Just blend the coffee with the other dry ingredients in the recipe. No liquefying is necessary.

It's a great convenience with it's instant coffee flavor to make delicious desserts and candies any time.

Six-Way Whip
2 tablespoons instant coffee
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1/2 teaspoon almond extract

Combine instant coffee, milk and marshmallows in a saucepan, and cook over low heat stirring occasionally until marshmallows are melted. Chill until mixture begins to thicken, beat until smooth. Fold in the whipped heavy cream and the almond extract. Chill several hours. Spoon into sherbet glasses. Yields 4 servings.

Or use chilled mixture as filling for cream puffs, tart shells, or for butterfly cupcakes, or fold in crushed peanut brittle or toffee, or top with crushed macaroon crumbs, or line dessert dishes with lady fingers or sponge cake strips and fill with mixture.

Unusual Fruit Sauce to Serve on Waffles

Apricot, Banana and Honey Sauce
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 1/2 cups canned apricot nectar
Dash of salt
1/4 cup honey
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup finely diced ripe banana

Gradually add apricot nectar to cornstarch, stirring until filling each time. Stir in salt, honey and butter. Cook and stir constantly over moderate heat until thickened clear.

Cool. Stir in banana. Makes about 2 1/2 cups. Serve over waffles.

Pastry trick: You can use an electric mixer, operated at low speed, to cut shortening into flour.

From Key West to Pensacola, some 75,000 persons in Florida fish for a living.

New Kind of Pie Quickly Made

It's an entirely different kind of pie—this Coconut Pineapple Pie—so simple to make you'll marvel—and so delicious you'll be amazed! For the filling you'll only need these ingredients—3 eggs, a small can of crushed pineapple, 1/4 cup melted butter and a package of coconut quick fudge mix. A quick mixing and the filling is ready to go into a 9" pastry crust to be baked.

When the pie is cool, it is served with a spoonful of whipped cream, or ice cream if you prefer.

You'll find this richer than most pies—serves 8 to 10 persons amply. It will be a perfect climax to your meal.

Coconut Pineapple Pie

1 unbaked 9" pastry crust
1 package coconut quick fudge mix
3 large eggs
1/4 cup pineapple juice
1/4 cup well drained crushed pineapple
1/4 cup melted butter

Prepare pie crust from your own recipe or from packaged pie crust mix. Put coconut quick fudge mix into bowl. Add eggs, pineapple juice, crushed pineapple and melted butter. Beat with rotary beater until thoroughly blended.

Pour into unbaked crust. Bake at 375 for 40 minutes until filling is set. Cool. Serve with whipped cream and garnish with crushed pineapple, if desired. Serves 8 to 10.

Three Ways to Clean Aluminum Saucepans

To clean the outside of heavy hammered aluminum cooking utensils, wash them in hot, sudsy water. If the spots are very stubborn, try a fine wire brush sprinkled with scouring powder and powdered soap. Soap-filled steel wool pads will remove both the burned on grease on the outside and the harmless mineral discoloration on the inside of aluminum cookware. For badly discolored saucepans, add 2 tablespoons of cream of tartar to each quart of water, using sufficient water to cover the darkened area. Simmer 20 minutes on low heat, let stand until cold, then rub with the steel-wool pads. Wash, rinse and dry. Repeat if necessary.

Eggs at Peak Quality

This is the best time of year to put eggs into your home freezer. Eggs are top-quality, the supply is good and prices are probably the best you'll find for some time.

THREE WAYS WITH SAUSAGE—Take pork sausage out of the breakfast class and let it prove what it can do for your dinner menus. Here pork sausage stars in three tasty dinner dishes—links with skillet corn pudding, patties with candied sweet potatoes and an unusual sausage and macaroni casserole.

Sausages Fine for Dinner With Macaroni or Pudding

There are plenty of tempting ways to ring the dinner bell with pork sausage, so put it on your list of handy dinner meats and call on it often.

Here's a trio of pork sausage dishes which are ideal for dinner. The first is a casserole dish which never fails to delight guests. Spicy pork sausage links are baked atop a combination of macaroni, onions, cheddar and unusual seasonings. Here's the tested recipe:

Sausage Macaroni Casserole
1 pound pork sausage links
1 cup uncooked elbow macaroni
1/2 teaspoon caraway seed
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1/2 cup thinly sliced onions
1/2 pound cheddar
Paprika

Cook macaroni in boiling, salted water until tender. Drain. Add caraway seed and mustard. Place half the macaroni in a greased 1 1/2 quart casserole. Top with half the onions and thinly sliced American cheese. Add rest of macaroni and another layer of cheese and onions.

Pour milk over all and bake, covered, for 35 minutes at 350 degrees. Meanwhile, brown sausage links thoroughly in a skillet over low heat. Place on top of macaroni, sprinkle with paprika and continue baking, uncovered, for 15 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Thirty minute dinners are no novelty when pork sausage is the star of the menu. This good tasting combination of scrambled corn served with sausage requires only a few minutes to prepare. The pork sausage links are cooked to sizzling perfection and the sausage drippings are used to season the skillet-cooked corn pudding.

Pork Sausage Links

Place links in an unheated skillet and add a few tablespoons of water. Cover and steam for 5 minutes. Drain, remove cover and continue cooking sausage links over low heat until browned, 12 to 15 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and keep in a warm place while you prepare the quick corn pudding.

Skillet Corn Pudding

1/2 cup sausage drippings
1/2 No. 2 can cream style corn
4 eggs
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Salt and pepper
To hot drippings in the skillet, add corn, unbroken eggs and Wor-through, about 15 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper and serve with candied sweet potatoes.

Honey-Candied Sweet Potatoes are extra good. Prepare them this way: Slice cooked or canned sweet potatoes in half and arrange, cut side down, in a baking dish. Dot with butter or margarine and sprinkle with brown sugar. Then sprinkle lightly with nutmeg and cinnamon. Drizzle honey over potatoes and bake, uncovered, at 350 degrees for 30 minutes, or until glazed.

Favorite Dinner Team

The third dinner special is pork sausage patties served with candied sweet potatoes.

Perfect Sausage Patties: Shape pork sausage into patties about 1/2 inch thick and pan-fry slowly until browned on both sides and cooked

When a clove of garlic is added to French dressing, the garlic should be removed after the dressing has stood for several hours.

Price of Coffee Plaguing You?

High prices of coffee have led to occasional recommendations in some sections of the country that substitute beverages be bought. The suggestions recall some of the weird things proposed or used as coffee substitutes in past times.

These substitutes were most prevalent in time of war. War in Napoleon's era, for instance, was characterized by crisis in the coffee supply, and consequent desperate substitutes.

Juniper berries, chick peas, asparagus stalks, dandelion roots, pumpkin seeds, horse chestnuts, chrysanthemum seeds, were only a few of the strange things that people tried to dry, roast, and convert into something like coffee when the real thing was denied them.

Dash of Spice, Herbs Improves Tomato Sauce

A dash of allspice is delicious in a tomato sauce. And some cooks like to add a pinch of cinnamon, too.

Or if you want to add herbs, rather than spice, to the sauce try dill, parsley or basil. If you use parsley be sure to add enough to give real flavor.

A tomato sauce usually also benefits from a dash of sugar: the amount of sugar needed will depend on the acidity of the tomatoes.

Purchase Thick Steak for Successful Broiling

A steak should be at least an inch thick if it is to be broiled. If it is a thinner cut, try pan-broiling it. To pan-broil well, you'll need a heavy lightly greased skillet. As the steak cooks, pour off any fat that accumulates in the pan. Turn the meat occasionally so it will brown and cook evenly. Never add fat or water when you are pan-broiling!

DEVILED POTATO HASH — Potato hash becomes a glamorous Deviled Potato Hash when you add deviled ham to a mixture of diced potatoes, sour cream and chopped onions. Serve this as a wonderful economical buffet dish or main course supplement.

Tantalizing Deviled Ham Glamorizes Potato Hash

Many are the virtues of the lowly potato which should hold a place of honor in any household. Low-cost, health promoting, money-saving—and on you can go extolling this food that with a simple twist can take on a glamorous gleam.

Simple is the twist indeed if you have learned that deviled ham is a glamorizer with so many foods. Take for instance this Deviled Potato Hash, made attractive to the eye and tantalizing to the taste, merely by adding deviled ham to a mixture of diced potatoes, sour cream and chopped onions. This dish is ideal for a buffet dinner or an early spring porch supper.

But don't stop there with deviled ham. Keep it in mind whenever you want to add sparkle and more to plain foods. It blends in with cream soups, scrambled egg dishes, macaroni casseroles.

Always a favorite sandwich spread, deviled ham is now a basic ingredient for main dish-cooking.

Dice 4-5 large boiled or baked potatoes into greased casserole. Combine 1 cup thick sour cream with contents 2 (2 1/4 oz) cans deviled ham and 1 small chopped onion. Stir into diced potatoes. Taste and season as desired.

Top with crumbs, dot with butter and bake in 350 oven about 35 minutes or until mixture is heated through and browned. Makes 6 servings.

Deviled Luncheon Casserole
1 package frozen spinach
Butter

Coffee Powder Tops Butter Frosted Cake

To top a butter frosted cake with lacy coffee elegance, place a paper doily on top of the frosted cake, combine equal amounts of instant coffee with confectioners' sugar, and sift over the doily.

Remove the doily gently, and the coffee lace will pattern the cake.

You may still have recipes in your cook books and files that require in the ingredients "strong" coffee. What this means is double strength coffee.

Guests Will Find Canapes of Pizza Artistic, Exciting

Bright and exciting are the scores of canapes in kaleidoscopic pattern, which come out of a package of prepared pizza mix.

They are a boon to the busy housewife who will be able to present a beautifully decorated canape tray that looks like the work of an artist. The only trouble with this assortment of pizza canapes, is that the guests will want to make a meal of them.

Canape Kaleidoscope

1 package pizza mix
1 can sardines
1/2 cup sliced, stuffed olives
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Garlic salt
1/2 cup mushroom caps
1/2 pound salami, thinly sliced
1 can anchovies
1/2 pound sliced American cheese
1/2 cup chopped chives or parsley

Prepare pizza dough as directed on package and shape into large rectangle on cookie sheet, about 8 by 16 inches. Cover Pizza pastry with pizza sauce. With a spoon, mark the pizza into thirds. Work with one section at a time, making canapes two inches apart.

Bake canape pizza in 425 oven for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and while still hot, cut with a sharp knife into individual canapes, to make different shapes. Arrange on hors d'oeuvres trays and serve piping hot.

Applesauce Cake Gets Compliments

You're sure to get compliments when you serve this dessert!

Applesauce Cream Cake

1 16-ounce package yellow cake mix
2 cups sweetened applesauce
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
1 cup cream, confectioners' sugar
Vanilla

Bake cake according to package directions using a 9-in. square pan, 1 1/2 inches deep; cool. At serving time, cut cake into 8 portions. Heat applesauce with butter and orange rind, stirring well, until bubbly. Whip cream; sweeten to taste with sugar and flavor with vanilla. Spoon hot applesauce over cake; pass the whipped cream as a topping. Makes 8 large portions.

Budget Special: Fish Supreme

Here's a fish story that makes cents as well as sense. This Baked Fish Supreme will serve four and will cost just about seventy-five cents (cost based on supermarket prices.) In other words, the title of the story might well be "The Food Budget That Didn't Get Away."

The economical nonfat dry milk is part of the reason for the low cost of this dish. Remember, nonfat dry milk is versatile as well as nutritious, for it is used as a beverage, in cooking and baking, with cereals, or even as a whipped topping for desserts.

Baked Fish Supreme
3 cups (4 slices) bread cubes
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk
1 tablespoon grated onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon rubbed sage
1 pound fresh or quick-frozen fish fillets
2 cups water
1/2 cup nonfat dry milk
4 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 pound process sharp cheddar cheese, shredded

Combine bread cubes, parsley, 2 tablespoons nonfat dry milk powder, onion, salt and sage; blend well. Line bottom of (11x7x2-inch) baking dish with bread mixture. Arrange fish fillets over bread mixture. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees) 30 to 35 minutes or until fish flakes when tested with fork. Pour 2 cups water into top of double boiler. Combine 2/3 cup nonfat dry milk powder, flour, salt and pepper. Sprinkle over surface of water. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add shredded cheese. Continue cooking, stirring constantly, until cheese is melted. Pour sauce over cook fish. Serve at once. Makes 3 servings.

Mother-Toddler Lunch Solves Eating Problems

It's just no fun to eat alone. Small folk like toddlers are sociable. They may balk at sharing toys, but they do enjoy sharing meals.

The day is a long drag for the toddler who has a big brother and sister at school. He is very apt to cling to his mother and demand extra attention. All the more reason for making nontime a high spot of the day by planning "lunch-on for two."

Mother-toddler menus provide a remarkably simple way to do several useful things. The toddler, newly important, learns table manners painlessly.

Absorbed and flattered by the novelty of sharing the same foods with Mother, he is very apt to eat the menu "as is," solving eating problems.

Third, Mother takes the time to relax and enjoy the friendly meal, rather than eating a pickup sandwich on the run.

Plan mother-toddler menus around foods that require almost no preparation. Emphasis is on foods that are high in body building elements, low in fats and sugar.

Keep the basic menu comparatively bland, for extra seasonings can easily be added to mother's portion. Vary these recipes with other strained and junior fruits, vegetables.

Along with her somewhat larger serving, the mother can include a celery heart or lettuce with her salad, or a dash of paprika in the creamed soup. These succulent concessions will not undermine the toddler's happy impression that both are eating the same food.

Spinach Soup
1 cup milk
1 chicken bouillon cube
1/2 cup junior spinach
1 tablespoon butter or fortified margarine
Heat milk. Crush bouillon cube and add to hot milk. Stir until dissolved. Add chopped spinach and butter; reheat. Serve with toasted cutouts or squares. Yield: 2 servings.

Apple-Gingerale Salad
1 envelope (1 tablespoon) plain gelatin
1/2 cup cold water on crisp lettuce. Yield: 4-6 servings.

Peanut Butter Spread

1/2 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons peanut butter
1/2 cup any strained fruit or junior fruit
Put cottage cheese through a coarse sieve. Blend thoroughly with the strained fruit and peanut butter. Chill. Makes approximately 1/2 cup.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Add sugar, fruit juices, applesauce and gingerale. Pour into lightly oiled molds and chill until firm. Serve.

Dip bacon strips in cold water before frying and they won't shrivel into irregular pieces.

Two-Rib Roast of Beef Requires High Heat Trick

A rib roast must be at least two ribs in size. If your family is small, you will find that even the smallest roast yields a large amount of left-over beef.

Purchase a 3-rib standing beef roast, weighing approximately 7 pounds. Place the meat fat side up in a shallow open pan, allowing the rib bones to form a rack to lift the meat off the bottom of the pan.

A roast meat thermometer, inserted into the center of the meat is used as a guide to doneness of the meat. Roast the meat in a 350 degree oven until the center of the meat reaches an internal temperature of 130 degrees F.

This 350-degree roasting temperature is a bit higher than usually recommended, in order to cook the outside edges of the roast, leaving the center almost uncooked.

Approximately 2 to 2 1/2 hours are required to bring the roast to this temperature.

The roast should be carved into juicy, tender, pink-rare slices, cut from each side of the roast. To carve, place the meat on the platter, resting on the ribs as it stood in the roasting pan.

This makes it easy to carve from each side of the roast. As soon as the meal is over, remove the rib bones which have been exposed during the carving and wrap the rare meat loosely in waxed paper or aluminum foil and refrigerate promptly.

In a day or two, cook the remaining piece exactly as you did the first roast.

This will require approximately 40 minutes. Serve for a second meal of freshly roasted beef. If the second service yields a small

Hot-Stuff Mustard Sauce

1/2 cup wine vinegar
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 egg, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon paprika
1 tablespoon sugar

Combine ingredients in saucepan. Stir and cook over low heat until thickened. Serve hot or cold with hot or cold meats. Makes 1/3 cup sauce.

Guests Will Enjoy New Kind of Cake

Your guests will enjoy this tempting and unusual cake. Few will guess that graham cracker crumbs are part of the ingredients.

Graham Cracker Cake

1/2 cup sifted flour
1/2 cup sugar
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/2 cups finely rolled graham cracker crumbs
1/2 cup shortening
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder and salt; mix with graham cracker crumbs. Place shortening in a bowl. Add dry ingredients, milk and vanilla; mix until dry ingredients are dampened.

Beat 2 minutes in electric mixer or 300 strokes by hand. Add eggs and beat 1 minute in mixer or 150 strokes by hand. Pour into 2 greased paper-lined 8-inch layer cake pans.

Bake in 375 oven about 25 minutes or until cake tester inserted in center comes out clean. Turn out on cooling rack; remove waxed paper at once. When cold, fill and frost.

Like peppermint flavor? Then minute frosting for a chocolate add a few drops to a regular 7-cake.

Soap or Detergent? It's up to you!

RINSO WHITE
Now richer than ever!

THIS is the song of Rinso White.
The soap we've made for your delight.
It washes whiter and brighter than new
And saves you barrels of money too.
It's extra rich and it's extra kind
And it leaves old Rinso far behind!

RINSO BLUE
Blues as it washes!

THIS is the song of Rinso Blue.
Complete detergent—completely new.
It blues your wash as it gets it clean
And it's wonderful in your washing machine.
It's swell for dishes and glasses too
This highly remarkable Rinso Blue.

From the RINSO SONG—to the tune of "Boys and Girls Come Out to Play!"

Rinso White and Rinso Blue
Both wash whiter and brighter than new!

Whether it rhymes or not, every word in these two songs is guaranteed by Lever Brothers Company to be true. And don't forget, when it's got to be really white, use Rinso with Solium—either Rinso, Soap or Detergent.

Tart Dressing for Fruit Salad

Your cooking fame is secure. And, all it takes is the know-how of making the best fruit salad you ever tasted. The secret is in the delicious cooked dressing.

Famous Fruit Salad Dressing is a tart, rich mixture well worth the short time it takes for the making. The addition of celery seed gives an interesting flavor and appearance. Serve it on chilled canned fruits, attractively arranged on crisp greens.

A sprinkling of chopped nuts or celery over the fruit gives nice crunchiness.

Famous Fruit Salad Dressing

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup flour
1 egg yolk
2 tablespoons canned lemon juice
1/2 cup canned pineapple juice
1/2 cup celery seed
1 cup whipping cream

Mix sugar, flour and egg yolk in a saucepan. Add fruit juices and cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add celery seed. Cool. Stir in whipped cream just before serving. Makes about two cups.

FAMOUS FRUIT SALAD—Canned pear halves and light sweet cherries, crunchy nuts and crisp greens with delicious Famous Fruit Salad Dressing make a memory-book salad. Serve the dressing with any combination of favorite canned fruits.

Oatmeal, Currants Used in Bread Loaf

This recipe for a quick bread sounds like good eating to us. We've heard of oatmeal bread and we've heard of raisin or currant bread. This is a combination which should be unusually interesting to serve with salads or as a tea bread.

Oatmeal Currant Bread

1 egg
1/2 cup buttermilk
1/2 cup brown sugar
2 cups sifted enriched flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon soda
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 cup currants
1 cup rolled oats (quick or old-fashioned, uncooked)

Beat egg; beat in buttermilk and brown sugar. Sift together flour, salt, soda, baking powder and spices and stir into liquid ingredients. Lightly stir in shortening, currants and rolled oats. Pour into a waxed paper-lined loaf pan (1 pound size). Bake at 375 degrees for 45 to 50 minutes. Remove from pan immediately and cool thoroughly. Store in bread box one day for easier slicing. Makes 1 loaf.

Baking biscuits? Place them on a cookie sheet without sides, and they'll brown better than they would in a deeper pan.

Try Roast Beef at Potroast Cost

The following material comes to us from Mrs. Frieda Bennett, assistant Home Demonstration agent of Oakland County.

You can have tender, juicy roast beef at pot roast prices if you know cuts and U.S. grades and if you buy and cook accordingly.

Shoppers may pass up economically priced blade chuck roast supposing that all chuck is suited only for pot-roasting. This is true only of the lower grades, however. In the higher grades part of the cut is tender enough to broil or oven-roast. There is also an outer section of lean, less tender meat for braising, stewing or for chopped beef dishes.

This division of tenderness makes it economical to buy a thick U. S. Choice blade chuck and then to separate and cook portions according to their tenderness.

At most prepackaged meat counters you may find blade chuck only one-rib thick. But while beef is plentiful and reasonable in price, a thicker cut may be a better buy because it provides enough meat to use in different ways at two or three meals. It is suggested that you can ask your butcher to cut a two-rib blade chuck, U.S. Choice.

When you have this thick chuck at home, the first step is to separate the tender from the less tender parts. The dividing line is the blade bone. Cut along the blade bone, remove the narrow section of lean meat between that bone and the outer layer of fat. Use this meat for pot roast, stew or ground beef.

Limas, Corn Make Beef Stew Different

Vegetables make the difference in this beef stew. In place of the usual potatoes and carrots, this stew joins beef chunks with lima beans and whole kernel corn. Liquid is in the form of a can of tomatoes.

Beef Stew With Corn, Lima Beans

1 pound boneless beef stew, cut in 1-inch pieces
2 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 onion, chopped
2 cloves garlic, minced
1 No. 2 can tomatoes
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup canned or frozen lima beans
1 cup whole kernel corn

Brown beef cubes in lard or drippings. Add onion and garlic and brown lightly. Add tomatoes and seasonings. Cover and cook in a slow oven (300° F.) or simmer on top of range for 1 1/2 to 2 hours. About 30 minutes before serving, add lima beans and corn. Cover and simmer until done. Thicken liquid for gravy if desired. 4 servings.

Garbage bags, made of waxed treated paper, are handy for storing dampened clothes before ironing.

High-quality beef has a deep red color, fine grain, an outside covering of creamy white fat, and is well marbled.

What Is Your Reputation With Shrimp? Try These

Pontiac Press Food Editor

One hundred and twenty-five million pounds of shrimp are caught each year in the coastal waters of the United States. Half of that catch goes into cans, the other half comes to market as fresh shrimp.

Fresh or canned, shrimp is excellent eating. Not only does it contain a high percentage of digestible protein, but it also contributes vitamins, minerals and iodine to the diet.

Cooking fresh shrimp is not too great a chore. Some cooks I know use an old-fashioned laundry stove in the basement so that the odor does not permeate the living rooms. We cook shrimp in the pressure cooker and put on the kitchen fan, with the same result.

What you do with the shrimp after you open the can or cook the fresh little shellfish is the important thing.

There's no getting away from the fact that shrimp cocktail and shrimp salad deserve the permanent place in our culinary affections that they have. Nevertheless, there are other ways of serving shrimp, two of which are given below.

The first recipe is for a glamorous curtain-raiser, Savory Buttered Shrimp. Prepare the shrimp and sauce ahead and put in a container shaped out of aluminum foil. After the guests arrive, broil the shrimp and serve piping hot.

Savory Buttered Shrimp
1 pound shrimp (fresh or frozen)
2 cups boiling water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 small clove garlic (peeled and finely minced)
2 tablespoons minced parsley
1 tablespoon lemon juice
Parsley sprigs

If shrimp is fresh, rinse in cold water and drain. Cover with boiling water; add salt. Bring to a boil and simmer 1 minute for medium-size shrimp, 1 1/2 minutes for larger shrimp.

Drain and cool just long enough to permit handling remove shells and black veins. If frozen uncooked shrimp in their shells are used, defrost enough to permit separating before giving them the above treatment.

Form a pan large enough to hold shrimp from two thicknesses of double-duty aluminum foil. To do so, turn up edges of foil 1 inch all around and mitre the corners; double edge by turning down half way to make neat rim.

Place shrimp in foil container. Melt butter and stir in garlic, parsley and lemon juice; pour over shrimp. Make sure all shrimp are coated with mixture. Place foil container on broiler pan.

Have broiler pre-heated and broil shrimp quickly and lightly. Stir and turn after a few minutes, so as to brown both sides. This will take from 6 to 8 minutes.

Transfer the container with the shrimp to a serving tray, garnish with parsley sprigs. Serve piping hot with French bread for dunking in the butter sauce. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

The second recipe is for a seafood dressing that is excellent with green or seafood salads.

Famous Seafood Dressing

1 (8-ounce) can small wet-pack shrimp, drained
1 anchovy fillet
1/2 cup (firmly packed) parsley sprigs
1 slice onion
1 clove garlic (or to taste)
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup cream
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Salt and coarse black pepper to taste
1/2 teaspoon MSG

Combine shrimp, anchovy fillets, parsley, onion and garlic in a chopping bowl; chop very fine. Add mixture to the mayonnaise; blend in remaining ingredients.

Cover and chill several hours before serving. Bring to room temperature before using. Excellent with mixed green and seafood salads. Makes about 2 1/2 cups.

Corn-Salmon Souffle Flavorful Main Dish

Years ago young cooks used to learn how to make special dishes, but rarely selected these with the idea of a complete menu in mind. Now beginning cooks want, when they consider a new recipe, to think first of how it will fit into a properly planned meal as a whole.

Usually we all begin our meal planning with the main dish, such as the one given below. With the addition of French fried or other crisp potatoes, a green salad and a fruit dessert, this recipe, containing fish and cheese proteins plus a yellow vegetable, provides everything needed for a satisfying, well-balanced luncheon or dinner.

Souffled Corn and Salmon

1 flat can (1 1/2 ounces) salmon
1 No. 3 can whole-kernel corn
1/2 cup real mayonnaise
4 eggs
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
Few drops Tabasco sauce
1/2 cup grated cheese (optional)
Bread crumbs

Bone salmon and flake. Drain corn thoroughly and mix salmon in a large mixing bowl. Toss with real mayonnaise. Beat eggs until light and fluffy and add seasonings. Fold into salmon-corn mixture and pour into a greased 1-quart or 4 individual casseroles.

Top with cheese and crumbs or crumbs only. Bake in 400 degree oven 20 to 25 minutes. Yield: 4 servings.

Sparkling Drink Starts Day Right

News for sleepy heads! Frozen fruit juices take on new breakfast appeal when they're extended with a sparkling soft drink in place of water.

The addition of carbonated beverage makes them a lively eye-opener, helps to wake the digestive juices and lets you start the day feeling really refreshed.

Have the bottled soft drinks chilled and the frozen concentrate partially thawed. Put two to four tablespoonsful of the juice in a glass (depending on its size), stir in just a little soda first, to blend, then fill up the glass — effervescent and delightful is the result!

You'll want to work out your own flavor combinations, but for a starter, try these, they're sure to please everybody: cola with lemonade concentrate or with pineapple, lemon-lime beverage with orange juice, orange soda with grapefruit juice, ginger ale with grape or orange juice.

If you're calorie-conscious, just tuck an egg under your belt along with your fizzy fruit juice. Then, you're off to your day's work feeling fed and full of pep without any starch or fats in your first meal.

Aloha Cola

1 egg
2-3 tablespoons concentrate pineapple juice
Cola, chilled bottle
Break egg into tall glass; beat with fork until frothy. Beat in pineapple juice and just a little cola to blend. Then fill up glass with cola. Serves 1.

Butter Cake Finished When Slightly Shrunken

Here's how to know when a butter cake is done. It will be slightly shrunken from the sides of the pan, fully risen, and evenly browned.

The top should spring back when touched lightly with the tip of a finger, and a cake tester inserted in the center should come out without any particles sticking to it.

Use distilled or rain water in your steam iron to prevent rust or lime crust from forming in the water receptacle.

BREAKFAST REFRESHER—Bring tang to family choose his favorite flavor. There are endless combinations you can make by varying the frozen concentrate and the soft drink.

Don't Overcook Rhubarb

In preparing rhubarb sauce, remember that the fruit should be cooked as short a time as possible to retain the most of the fresh fruit flavor—the more aroma in the air the less flavorful the sauce.

Harmony Prevails at Kiwanis Meeting

MIAMI (AP) — Kiwanis International closed its 39th annual convention today and delegates agreed it was one of the most harmonious on record.

Morgan Beatty, NBC editor in chief and news commentator, was principal speaker at the concluding session, presided over by John R. Wright, of Lakeland, Fla., international vice president.

Cleveland is expected to get the 1955 convention.

Observers expressed surprise at the complete agreement which prevailed, especially during Wednesday's session which saw Don E. Engdahl of Spokane, Wash., manufacturer, named president by acclamation.

Engdahl has been international treasurer and succeeds Donald T. Forsythe of Carthage, Ill., newspaper publisher.

In the only contest for a top office in the 229,000-member organization, R. Warren Graffam of Pittsburgh, defeated C. I. Moyer of Topeka, Kan., for treasurer.

Second Brando —Jocelyn—Bids for Film Fame

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—At least one Brando is working in Hollywood these days. It's Jocelyn, pretty sister of muscular Marlon.

Jocelyn is playing opposite Randolph Scott, called "Old Reliable" because of his box-office potential, in a Western named "Violent Men." It's her third picture.

"I've just about run the cycle," she observed between scenes. "My first picture, 'The Big Heat,' was a crime picture. The second, 'China Venture,' was an adventure film. Now I'm doing a Western. All that is left is parlor, bedroom and bath."

"I like doing pictures. If Columbia picks up my option, we may move out here to live. My husband is a writer, so he can work almost any place. Right now he is in the throes of having his first novel published."

Until now, she has lived in New York with her husband, Eliot Asinof, and their two children. She is under contract to Columbia and so far her option has been picked up. Another option period is approaching. That will tell the story.

Jocelyn is an attractive, strong-featured blonde with a firm will, a family trait, no doubt. I began asking her questions about Marlon. She replied with the natural concern of one who has sometimes been in the shadow of her more famous brother. "Is this going to be an interview about Marlon?"

"Partially," I answered. She acquiesced. I asked her if she thought her brother was temperamental.

"Not at all," she replied in strong defense. "He isn't the least bit temperamental. He's an honest boy who tries to be strictly honest with everyone he deals with. The trouble is that people are not always honest with him."

"He has great talent and integrity as an actor. This business about his being a character has been created about him. About the difficulty with Fox, that was unfortunate. But apparently it has all been resolved and the studio is happy now."

"He's a fine boy. I admire him a great deal."

She referred to his beef with 20th Century-Fox, which complained because he failed to report for "The Egyptian." In fact, the studio complained to the tune

Naval Reservists to Vie for Honors

Pontiac's Naval Reserve Division 9-104 will seek its third straight excellent award when reservists stand inspection here next Wednesday.

Conducting the inspection will be a four-man team headed by Capt. J. S. Champlin, USN, from the Great Lakes Naval Training Station.

The local unit will compete with 10 other midwestern centers in the 13-state Ninth Naval District. The unit's 175 officers and men, tops in the Ninth District for the past two years, will be evaluated on the basis of training, appearance and administration.

Grosse Ile Cleric Is New Bishop

Episcopalians Name
Rev. Archie Crowley
to Michigan Post

DETROIT (AP)—Shattering more than a century of tradition, the Rev. Archie H. Crowley, rector of St. James Episcopal Church of suburban Grosse Ile, was elected yesterday suffragan bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Michigan.

Rev. Crowley, 47, rector of the Grosse Ile church since 1948, is the first minister from the diocese in 121 years ever elected to serve Michigan Episcopalians. It has been traditional for ministers outside the state to be elected to diocesan posts.

He succeeds the Rt. Rev. Russell S. Hubbard as assistant to the Rt. Rev. Richard Emrich, Episcopal bishop of Michigan.

Leading from the first ballot,

Rev. Crowley was elected on the fourth. Clergy and lay delegates throughout Michigan participated in the election at St. John's Church in Detroit. A move to make the election unanimous was approved enthusiastically.

Mr. Crowley said following his election: "I am humbly grateful for the honor bestowed upon me. It goes without saying that I will do my best in aiding and supporting Bishop Emrich."

Date for his consecration has not been announced.

Mr. Crowley is a 1929 Dartmouth College graduate. He is also a 1935 graduate from the Episcopal Theological Seminary.

He has served as curate at St. Paul's Cathedral in Boston; curate of Grace Church in Lawrence, Mass., and rector of that church for 11 years prior to becoming rector at St. James.

He is married and has two sons.

Some fast trains in England carry "slip" coaches which are dropped off at stations where the trains do not stop to permit passengers to get off.

Holdup Suspects Returned to Jail

3 Will Be Arraigned in Circuit Court Monday
for April 20 Stickup

Three of five men accused of the April 20 holdup of the Walton Dairy Bar were bound over to Oakland County Circuit Court Wednesday after appearing before Pontiac Judge Cecil McCallum.

Ordered held in Oakland County Jail after failing to post bonds of $2,000 each are Richard Parks, 17, of 22 McNeil St.; Arthur C. Hewitt Jr., 19, of 1654 Giddings Rd., and Robert K. Smith, 19, of 1024 Hospital Rd. They face arraignment Monday at 9:30 a. m.

Two others, Lee D. Bates, 20, of 80 Omar St., and Francisco M. Mendez, 26, of 61 Pine St., also charged in the $75 robbery, were arraigned in Circuit Court

May 5 after waiving examination.

Bates, who furnished a $5,000 bond, stood mute and Mendez, unable to post $5,000, pleaded innocent. Trial date has not been set.

Arrest of the five men followed a tip to Pontiac Police by a witness who obtained a description of the holdup auto.

Thieves Steal Singer's
Medals From Automobile

CHICAGO (AP)—Two dozen foreign decorations awarded to opera singer Lauritz Melchior were stolen, along with jewelry, from an auto yesterday.

Police estimated the loss at $4,000. But the thieves who broke into the car and stole the leather case containing the medals and jewelry did not disturb cases containing jewelry and clothing valued at $25,000, which were locked in the car's trunk.

Melchior and his wife, Maria, were lunching with friends, and the auto containing their luggage had been loaded for a trip to Midway Airport.

Injured GIs to Double in Atom Warfare

PARIS (AP)—The American chairman of a NATO medical conference says the United States expects atomic weapons to double the number of her military men injured in case of war.

Brig. Gen. William J. Kennard, U. S. Air Force, said yesterday: "Instead of thinking in terms of 6 to 8 per cent of our forces as casualties, we are counting on having 12 to 16 per cent of our men injured."

"Some services will suffer even greater casualties," he added.

Kennard talked with newsmen after the final session of a three-day conference of top military and civilian medical experts from 13 of the NATO allies.

3rd Baseman's Fielding Angers Ground Squirrel

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Dennis Carlson, 9-year-old third baseman on an elementary school baseball team, started out chasing a grounder yesterday and ended up receiving a tetanus inoculation.

"Dennis reached into a hole for the elusive ball and a ground squirrel bit his finger."

Rochester Council Approves '54-55 Budget

$19,234 Hike Provided For

Increases Are Shown in General Fund, Water, Sewer Appropriations

ROCHESTER—Village councilmen here this week gave their final approval to a budget for the year 1954-55 calling for an overall increase of $19,234.

The new budget showed increases in the general fund and the water and sewer fund. The general fund was set at $135,726 compared to $112,050 for the past year. Designated for the water and sewer fund was $47,050 compared to $46,692 for 1953-54.

The highway fund showed a decrease of $6,400—from $60,800 for the past year to $54,400 for the coming year.

Recommendations of Village Manager Robert Stone for the new year included one that steps should be taken by the highway department to put a prime and double seal coat on the village parking lot at East Fifth and East Sts. He also recommended that money be set aside as a partial payment on an additional parking lot in the downtown section which he said should be purchased this year.

There were no major changes in appropriations for the fire department. Councilmen, however, believed that the cost of outside fire protection for Avon Township should be lower the coming year because of the installation of fire equipment to serve the southwest portion of the township.

The Council anticipated an increase in revenue from parking meters next year. New meters are to be installed off Main street.

In the public works department, money for new equipment includes one half the cost of a bulldozer for the village dump, needed for work already contracted.

Under parks and recreation, $600 was earmarked for the Avon Youth Recreation Assn. and $1,000 for the purchase of new lighting fixtures for Halbach Field this summer.

In the highway department, $30,000 was recommended for the resurfacing of Ludlow avenue and some widening of Walnut boulevard. Also earmarked was $4,000 for the maintenance of sidewalks and streets and $2,000 for seal-coating a number of streets on the west side of the village.

An increase in receipts next year is expected because of the recent raise in water rates. Anticipated expenditures included the replacement of small mains on the east side of the village.

Manager Stone also recommended that money be set aside in the near future for a new water reservoir, and the Council consider the installation of a flasher light at the New York Central Railroad tracks at Woodward street.

In other business this week the Council:

1. Accepted the 1954 tax roll and kept the village tax rate at 17 mills, the same as last year, four mills for the highway fund and 13 mills for the general fund. Assessed valuation is $5,065,300.
2. Held the first reading of a proposed ordinance setting up an electrical licensing fee schedule.
3. Authorized Stone to ask for bids on a new police car before the next Council meeting.

5-Year-Old Hospitalized When Struck by Cab

A 5-year-old Pontiac boy is in good condition at Pontiac General Hospital today with possible brain concussion suffered when he was struck by a taxicab Wednesday evening in front of his home.

Hospital Staff Program Slated

St. Joseph Open House Ends Today; Speakers to Be Heard Friday

St. Joseph Mercy Hospital's four-day open house will end today as the hospital prepares for a special Friday night program for its staff to climax National Hospital Week festivities.

Visitors will be shown through the 300-patient hospital today from 2 until 4 and 7 until 8 p.m.

Hospital staff said 100 more visitors dropped in Wednesday, bringing the total of open house callers to 400 for the first three days. Visitors' children are entertained by Mrs. Douglas Barrett, a volunteer, while parents tour the hospital.

St. Joseph Mercy alumnae who led tours Wednesday were Miss Geraldine Zittel, Miss Catherine McManus, Miss Lucille Shove, Mrs. Dalton Smith, Mrs. Francis Kirkwood, Mrs. Thomas Gentry, Mrs. James Ebaugh and Miss Barbara Kemp.

Friday night's program, open to St. Joseph doctors, nurses, department heads and members of the hospital auxiliary and alumnae, will start at 8 o'clock in McAuley Auditorium.

Owen R. Pinkerman, director of William Beaumont Hospital, will discuss "Hospital Participation in the Community—Public Relations." Dr. Felix J. Kemp, St. Joseph Hospital's chief of staff, will speak on "Our Hospital."

Harriet M. Toomey will sing several selections with Adelaide Hill as accompanist. Irene Schneidmann will play piano solos.

The Friday program is sponsored by St. Joseph Mercy Hospital and its auxiliary. Mrs. Walter Williams, auxiliary president, is program chairman. Sister Mary William, hospital administrator, will introduce Pinkerman.

Nine of the 10 charter members were present and Mrs. Marie Hugo was admitted as a new member. The lesson on house cleaning was given by Mrs. Russell Williams.

"Table Arrangements and Centerpieces" will be the lesson presented at the next meeting, which will be at the home of Mrs. Andrew Douglas on Wabash road June 3.

Woman Bus Driver Injured in Crash

ROCHESTER—A Pontiac woman, driving a Rochester school bus, received slight injuries Wednesday as the bus got out of control north of Rochester and struck a tree.

Mrs. Mural Peters, 43, of 2959 St. Clair St., Pontiac, was driving an empty bus to Baldwin School at Goodison where she was to pick up kindergarten children.

She was treated for rib injuries at Pontiac General Hospital and released. Mrs. Peters said the bus wheels apparently slipped into soft gravel. The bus was extensively damaged. Donald Baldwin, superintendent of Rochester Community Schools, said the vehicle was covered by insurance.

The first execution in an electric chair was in August 1890 in Auburn prison, New York.

MUSHROOM MINER—Sporting a miner's helmet, Evelyn Mitchell, manager of a mushroom-growing enterprise at Lanarkshire, Scotland, inspects the "crop" growing in a mine there. The old mine, in disuse for 25 years, required a year's labor to restore it to working order. The "mine" is located 50 feet below the surface, covers two-and-a-half acres.

Muskrat Sabotage

SOMERS, Mont. (AP) — The good ship "Flathead" will sail again despite efforts a hungry muskrat made to scuttle her. A fisherman noticed that the excursion boat was riding low in the water of Flathead Lake. He looked for a leak and found that a muskrat had rammed up a discharge pipe, gnawed through, climbed into the boat and — died. Lead poisoning stopped the saboteur.

Garver to Get Call Against Ex-GI, Morgan

Ted Gray Chalks Up First 1934 Win With 4-2 Victory

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT (U)—The world champion New York Yankees, slow in starting but gaining momentum, met the upstart Detroit Tigers tonight in the season's first night game at Briggs Stadium.

Yankees will test the Tigers in a three-game series to see if they are contenders or pretenders. Casey Stengel, wrinkle-faced manager of the New Yorkers, thinks it's the latter, although he admits the Bengals are a vastly improved team.

Stengel names Cleveland—not Chicago or Detroit—as the chief threat to the Yankees this season. Tigers will attempt to prove old Casey wrong.

Detroit skipper Fred Hutchinson has named Ned Garver to open the three-game series. Garver has a perfect 3-0 record, leads the league in earned run averages but usually has little success against the Yankees, who have beaten him 14 times while losing only twice.

Stengel picked righthander Tom Morgan, the ex-plot boy and former GI, to oppose Garver. Morgan has a 2-0 record.

Tigers hold 1st place by the slim margin of 27 percentage points over the second-place Chicago White Sox. Ted Gray pitched the margin by pitching Detroit to a 4-2 victory over Washington Wednesday.

It was Gray's first victory of the season, and he had to work for it. The 23-year-old southpaw threw 149 pitches, allowing six hits in three innings for the 1st time this season. Senators put runners on base in every inning but the 1st and last.

Gray, however, had all the working margin he needed by the 1st inning was over. Ray Boone slammed a three-run homer off starter-loser Camille Pascual, Washington's 19-year-old Cuban righthander. It was Boone's 4th home run of the season.

Hutchinson said Steve Gromek would pitch against the Yankees Friday, with Billy Hoelt closing out the series Saturday.

The Tigers are anxious to make a good showing against the world champions. They were able to beat them only six times in last season, losing 16 times.

It was Gray's first victory of the season, and he had to work for it. The 23-year-old southpaw threw 149 pitches, allowing six hits in three innings for the 1st time this season. Senators put runners on base in every inning but the 1st and last.

Clarkston squeaked out a victory in the record-shattering Wayne-Oakland County League track meet at Ypsilanti Wednesday night by less than 1 point.

Dominic Mauri's squad scored 49.56 points to 49 for runnerup Clarenceville. Keego Harbor tallied 42½ to take 3rd, while defending champion Milford was 4th with 38 2/3. Brighton followed with 8, Northville with 7 and Holly did not compete.

Only three of 13 records survived the fine field, headed by Keego Harbor's Dennis Singleton and Bill Myers of Clarenceville.

Spotlight On Snead in 13th 'Round Robin'

Slammer Is Favored to Become First 3-Time Winner of Event

By WILL GRIMSLEY

WESTBURY, N.Y. (U)—Sixteen of golf's finest open fire today in the 13th annual round robin tournament but the whole show seems centered around Sam Snead.

The balding pro from West Virginia is the only competitor who has played in all 12 previous events. He is favored to become the first three-time winner.

Sam won the inaugural tournament in 1933 and came back 14 years later to do it again. The only other double victors, National Open champion Ben Hogan and South Africa's Bobby Locke, are not competing.

Winner over his old rivals, Hogan in a playoff for the Masters crown last month. Snead has figured himself as one of the "dogs the sun is shining on at the moment."

He is playing at the top of his game, despite limited activity, and seems to be pointing himself to another all-out effort for the Open next month at Baltusrol, a title he's never won.

The first of four four-somes leaves the tee at 12:30 p.m. and others follow at 15-minute intervals.

Here's the first day lineup: 12:30 p.m.—Jimmy Demaret, three times Masters winner, Ed (Porky) Oliver, Marty Furgal, Earl Stewart, Jr.

12:45 p.m.—Doug Ford, winner of the Miami and Greensboro Opens; Peter Thomson, young Australian; Tommy Bolt, Ted Kroll.

1:00 p.m.—PGA champion Walter Burkemo, U. S. amateur champion, Gene Littler (now a pro), defending champion Cary Middlecoff, Jackie Burke, Jr.

Fish Planting Cut, Improve Lakes Instead

LANSING (UP)—Michigan's fish-planting program has been curtailed because "it's foolish to pour water into a filled pail," the conservation department disclosed today.

The department, in a six-page folder outlining the state's fish management program, said it is putting more emphasis on improving lakes rather than on planting them with hatchery-produced fish.

The department said it is increasing its program of laying down gravel for spawning beds, construction shelters and trying to increase fertility of lakes so they'll produce more food and more fish worth catching.

Sheldon Shuts Out Dales on One Hit

Dick Sheldon, of Birmingham High baseball team added to his brilliant pitching record for the season Wednesday by shutting out Ferndale, 13-0, on a one-hitter.

Sheldon has appeared three times, twice hurling 1-hitters in starting roles. His other showing was a 7-inning hitless relief chore. He has yielded only two hits and no runs in 21 innings.

Birmingham's victory kept the Maples in 1st place in the Eastern Michigan loop. Sheldon fanned 10, but walked seven. Ferndale made 9 errors.

Chuck Dressen Has Taken 7th Place Oakland Team of '53 and Whipped It Into Coast Loop Contender

By GRANTLAND RICE

NEW YORK—While the Dodgers are not breaking up the league, what is happening to Chuck Dressen in Oakland? After asking our West Coast correspondent for the answer, we get the following reply:

"The Pacific Coast League season is only four weeks old but the standout person is Chuck Dressen, making a reappearance since he led Oakland to the Pacific Coast League championship in 1950. You doubtless recall Dressen and his champion Oaks of 1950. Next he went to Brooklyn for three seasons, finishing second in '51, after which he won the National League flag in 1952 and 1953.

"Look what he is doing now. He is taking practically the same team which finished 7th in the PCL in '53 and has them out front with indication that the once-declined Oaks of last year might lead all the way this year."

Hollywood, the preseason favorite for its 3rd straight pennant, and Los Angeles, favored by a considerable following, to take it all this year, are

Fast Start Ted Kluszewski Finds Lighter Bat Effective

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (U)—They don't call Ted Kluszewski the blacksmith for nothing. The short sleeves of his Cincinnati uniform expose the bulging muscles of a plough jockey. He makes Rocky Marciano look like a welterweight.

The powerful Cincinnati slugger is off to a flying start this season, with 10 homers, 20 runs batted in and a .318 average.

Since April 27 in 12 games, the big fellow has batted out 17 hits in 44 trips, including eight home runs and 20 runs batted in. Before April 27 he was hitting a sickly .250.

What happened?

"When I find I'm not getting around with the heavy bat, I switch to the lighter one. The way I've been going recently I'll stick with it. Maybe it's only a psychological thing but it seems to make a difference to me."

Time was when a Memphis sports writer described Ted's first base play like this: "He couldn't catch a bear in a telephone booth." Kluszewski admits it was almost as bad as that. Now he does a better than passable job around

New Lap Record Looms for 500

First 140 MPH Mark Expected in Saturday Speedway Tests

INDIANAPOLIS (U)—Hot practice rounds indicate that the Indianapolis Motor Speedway may yield its first 140-mile-an-hour lap when the heavyweight drivers go for the pole position Saturday.

The lap record they'll be going for is 139.6 set in 1952 by Chet Miller, who was killed last year in a pre-race accident.

The fastest car to qualify Saturday will be on the inside in the front row of the 33-car lineup for the 500-mile race May 31. Additional qualifications are scheduled for May 22 and 23.

Fisher and Kobs in Hall of Fame

LOS ANGELES (UP)—Ray L. Fisher of the University of Michigan and John H. Kobs of Michigan State College were among 20 college baseball coaches named to the Helms Athletic Foundation's Hall of Fame.

Selections announced Wednesday also included George A. Huff, Illinois coach; Otto H. Vogel, Iowa, and Paul B. Williams, Ball State, Ind.

Fisher has been at Michigan 34 years. Kobs has coached at Michigan State 29 years.

Second for Hofman

NEW YORK (U)—Pinch hit home runs aren't anything new to Bobby Hofman of the Giants. Hofman's pinch hit homer, which gave the Giants a 2-1 victory over Cincinnati yesterday, was his second of the campaign. Hofman connected for three pinch hit round trippers in 1953.

FROM GOLF BALLS TO EGGS—Byron Nelson (left) and his father J.B. Nelson, study one of the 4,000 chickens on the famous golfer's 778-acre farm in Texas. The golf clubs that brought him fame and fortune stay pretty much in his closet nowdays. He'll take them out occasionally to play in things like the Bing Crosby Tournament or the Celebrities Tournament, but his feathered friends are his real interest now.

Brennan's first task as head coach was to prepare for spring practice and now he's learning how fast 20 days can go by. Limited to 20 sessions within 36 days by the NCAA rules, he saw much of the early conditioning work wiped out by a 10-day Easter vacation. Miserably cold and damp weather forced cancellation of other drills and caused a lot of minor injuries on his squad.

Vacation, Weather Give Terry Brennan Rough Time in Notre Dame Spring Drills

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Major Clubs Pare Rosters to Player Limits

NEW YORK (AP)—Barring trades or recalls, baseball's major league clubs are all set for the pennant drives after reducing their rosters to 25 players plus military exemptions.

Eight clubs, four in each league, just did get under last night's midnight deadline with Cleveland and Baltimore of the American League making the biggest shifts in order to reach the player limit required 30 days after the opening of the season.

The Indians trimmed six players, including big Luke Easter.

from their roster and the Orioles disposed of four.

Four clubs in each circuit already had complied with baseball's law. These were New York, Milwaukee, Cincinnati and Chicago in the National League and Philadelphia, Washington and Boston of the American. In fact Washington and Boston each added a player without going over the limit.

Here's how the clubs got down the player limit:

CLEVELAND — Sold outfielder Jim Lemon to Washington. Optioned Easter to Ottawa in the International League and sent pitchers Jose Santiago and Dave Hoskins to Indianapolis of the American Association, outfielder Jim Dyck to Richmond of the International and pitcher Bill Wright to San Diego of the Pacific Coast League.

BALTIMORE — Sold outfielder Don Lenhardt to the Boston Red Sox. Gave pitcher Vern Bickford his unconditional release and optioned catcher Darrell Johnson and pitcher Mike Blyskal to Richmond. As part of the Lenhardt deal, the Red Sox sent Stan Holm from their Louisville farm club to Richmond where the Orioles will have an option to claim him at the end of the season.

NEW YORK YANKEES — Optioned Bill Miller to Toronto of the International League, Art Schallack to Oakland of the Pacific Coast League and Bob Wiesler to their Kansas City farm in the American Association.

BROOKLYN — Returned outfielder Sandy Amoros to Montreal of the International League, where he was the league leading batter last season.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES — Optioned pitcher Ron Mrozinski to their Syracuse farm in the International League.

PITTSBURGH — Sent outfielder

Gall Henley, catcher Bill Hall and pitcher Nelson King to New Orleans of the Southern Association on option and released first baseman Al Grunwald outright to Waco in the Big State League.

ST. LOUIS — Asked waivers on pitcher Hal White and said he would be released outright if not claimed.

Spartans Lead Big 10 Team Hitting List

MSC's Ray Collard is Individual Leader With .500 Mark

CHICAGO (AP) — Michigan State tops the Big Ten in team batting with .302 and Ray Collard, Spartan outfielder, heads the individual batting race with an even .500.

Official conference baseball statistics show that Michigan is 7th in team batting with .234. Michigan State, now leading the league with a record of six victories, one loss and one tie, will meet defending champion Michigan in a three-game showdown series this weekend.

The two teams will play at East Lansing tomorrow in a single game and at Ann Arbor Saturday in a doubleheader, Michigan is second with a 7-3-4 mark.

Joe Saxon of Purdue and Minnesota's Gene Steiger share second in batting each with .464.

Shortstop Don Waldron and outfielder Ed Lindsey, both of Iowa, are tied for slugging honors. Lindsey has 23 bases and Waldron, who is averaging .323 has 22. Don Eaddy, Michigan third sacker, leads in runs batted in with 10 and in stolen bases with five.

Six conference pitchers are undefeated, and four have three victories. Leading the close competition are Minnesota's Paul Giel and Ohio State's Paul Ebert.

Chiefs Victors Over Skippers for 6th in Row

Down Suburbanites on Fine 1-Hit Mound Job by Caswell

Pontiac High's baseball team won its 6th straight victory of the season Wednesday at Waterford, downing the Skippers 5-3 behind the effective 1-hit pitching of Marv Caswell.

Only hit off Caswell was a 1st-inning scratch single by 2nd baseman Bill Wood. The PHS senior then retired Waterford in order until the 7th inning, when three Skipper runs came in on three walks, an error and a wild pitch.

In all, Caswell fanned nine batters and gave up three bases on balls.

Caswell drove in Walt Poe with the 1st run of the game in the opening frame with a single. Catcher Al Hayward then poled a home run into right field to score behind Caswell and Colle Hunt, who had gained base on a fielder's choice.

Chiefs' other run came in the 3rd, with Dick Slade rapping a single to usher home Trueman Lamphere.

Pontiac goes to Port Huron for a double-header with the Big Reds on Saturday.

Pontiac: Waterford.....401 000 0-4 9 1

WEDNESDAY'S STARS

PITCHING—Low Burdette, Milwaukee Braves, gave up only one hit, a home run by Gil Hodges, in beating Brooklyn 5-1.

BATTING—Wally Moon, St. Louis Cardinals, hitting a home run and four singles, drove in four runs and scored five as St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 13-5.

Frank Menke Dies After Heart Attack

CINCINNATI, O. (INS)—Frank Menke, famed sports historian and author of "Encyclopedia of Sports," died of a heart attack in a Cincinnati hospital today. He was 68.

Menke, whose home was in Fairfield, Conn., was returning home from Florida with his wife when he became ill at Cincinnati three days ago.

He was the author of many volumes on sports, mostly history and records, and collaborated with several sports stars on the writing of their stories.

Hitless Prep Nine Blanked Five Times

PEAPACK, N.J. (AP)—Wanted: One baseball player for St. Bernards school who can come up with a hit.

The prep school squad had a no-hitter tossed against it today for the fifth time in six games. In 42 innings, the players have produced just one hit.

The villain today—repeating last week's no-hitter — was Oratory School of Summit. Gabe Lull didn't allow a hit or a run, walking just four men and winning 8-0.

Hollywood Park Starts Season

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP)—Hollywood Park launches its 16th summer season of racing tomorrow with the $25,000 added Premiere Handicap the leadoff attraction of the 30-day meeting.

A select array of sprinters is expected to tangle in the 6-furlong feature, headed by Andrew J. Crevelin's Imbro, winner of four stakes this year, including the recent $100,000 William P. Kyme Handicap at Bay Meadows.

Imbro, handed high weight of 132 pounds, is a stablemate of the Kentucky Derby champion, Determine. He is also the horse's owner swears can beat the great Native Dancer at a mile or less.

Other premiere eligibles include Stranglehold, Duce II, Chanles, Smart Barbara and others.

Hollywood's official family, which counted attendance of 1,457,544 and a whopping pari-mutuel handle of $106,003,257 for the 1953 meeting, anticipates another successful season.

Bannister Indicates He'll Quit Racing at Year's End

NEW YORK (INS) — Roger Bannister, the 25-year-old English medical student who smashed the four-minute mile barrier, may retire from all athletic competition at the end of the year.

The man who startled the sports world last Thursday by running an unprecedented 3:59.4 mile in a race at Oxford told newsmen upon his arrival in the U. S.:

"My studies and medical obligations make it progressively more difficult for me to find time to train. If I find that I do not have enough time for running, I shall have to stop. All things must come to an end, and after all, it's only a sport."

Bannister stepped off the plane at New York's International Airport yesterday into a rumbustious scheduled appearances on commercially-sponsored radio and television shows.

John Russell, director general of the British Information Services, announced almost immediately that all six of Bannister's original-scheduled appearances were

New Golf Club Picks Manager

Newest addition to Forest Lake Country Club's staff is Gene Rawlins, 39, of 2120 Farrow, Fernside. Rawlins comes to the club from Cregar's Pickwick House where he was catering manager.

His experience has ranged from running his own restaurant to feeding thousands of civilian employees when he was in charge of a catering service at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. He has also worked for the New York Central Railroad and was on the managerial staff at Stouffer's Restaurants.

Rawlins will move into the club house at the end of May. Forest Lake members have already discovered he can play the piano as well as he can golf.

Drought Hurts Sports at School in Kansas

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) — The drought-bred water scarcity has cost this southern Kansas city the state junior college track, golf and tennis meets, says Dean Max Bickford of El Dorado Junior College.

Just showers for the expected 150 athletes would take too much water, Bickford explains.

El Dorado's three track teams — junior college, senior and junior high — have been using a single shower room at the community athletic field.

3 New Schools in Prep Links Tourney

By JACK SAYLOR

Three newcomers are included in the 13-team field that will compete in the 3rd annual Pontiac Press Invitational Golf tournament over the Pontiac Municipal course next Monday.

Close of entries Wednesday found Bentley, Fitzgerald, and Farmington added to the groups who have previously played in this prep links feature.

A favorite is lacking in the team competition, but Shrine's Lloyd Syron rates as the choice to repeat as tournament medalist. The 17-year-old senior shot a 75 to tie Joe Glass of Birmingham in last year's event, then defeated Glass in a playoff.

Three of the nine players who broke 80 in last year's tourney are returning. Besides Syron, they are Larry Wigner of Waterford (78) and Tim Baldwin of Birmingham (79). Birmingham's defending team champions will again present a strong threat with a lineup of Baldwin, Jim Kraus, Terry Laundry, Bob Goldsmith and Mike Conroy, freshman son of Leo Conroy, North Hills' professional.

Those most apt to challenge the Maples in the team competition are Shrine, Southfield and Waterford.

In addition to Syron, Shrine has Fred Howling, a junior who posted an 83 in last year's tourney. Waterford has Wigner, Bill Mitchell (83 last year), and sophomore Jack Reynolds, who has shot some fine rounds this spring.

Southfield is sparked by Bob Turner and Don and Harvey Bradley. Rounding out the field are Bloomfield Hills, Avondale, Northville, Milford, Royal Oak, and Rochester.

Play is over an 18-hole route, with the total 5-man medal scores determining the winner. Winning school receives the Press rotating championship trophy and a plaque, which the school keeps.

Medals go to the members of the winning team, to the tournament medalist and the low scorers in Class A, B and C.

Pontiac Parks and Recreation department donates the use of the golf course for the tournament. Play will start at approximately 10 a.m. Monday. Exact times and pairings will be announced in Friday's Press.

Wallace Wins Split Verdict Over Gilliam

Coley Is Unimpressive Against Light-Punching Opponent

By HERB ALTSCHULL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Coley Wallace, who has ambitions in boxing's heavyweight division, learned last night he has a long road to travel before he can rate a shot at Rocky Marciano's title.

Wallace learned his lesson the hard way, in a split decision win over Bill Gilliam in a nationally televised bout.

Bearing little resemblance to the Joe Louis he portrayed in the movies, Wallace seemed completely bewildered by his light-punching opponent. In only two rounds did he manage to rough Gilliam up.

The crowd didn't think much of the 10-round bout, letting fly with boos from the sixth round on. No one was knocked down and the only blood that showed was from Gilliam's nose.

Wallace, whose most recent fight ended in a knockout loss to Ezzard Charles, weighed in at 209. Gilliam was 210½ for the fight witnessed by 618 fans who paid $1.10.

Wallace showed nothing last night to indicate he is the only man who ever has won from Marciano. That was in 1948 when both were amateurs.

Referee Harry Volkman gave Wallace the verdict, 97-93. Judge Harry Dwyer saw it for Gilliam, 96-94. The Associated Press scorecard had Wallace ahead, 97-96.

A co-feature 10-rounder had the crowd sitting on the edge of the seats. In that one, Joe Gannon of Washington won a bloody split decision from Tommy Thompson of Quantico, Va. Gannon weighed 177½, Thompson 175½.

The youthful Tigers stole three bases against Washington yesterday, and one time it resulted in a run. That happened in the 5th inning when rookie Al Kaline stole his 3rd base of the season and rode home on Bill Tuttle's double. Tuttle and Jim Delisling also pilfered bases for Detroit.

Polly Riley Top Southern Choice

Shares Limelight With Eighth-Grade Sensation Mary Mills

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—Polly Riley, the determined Texan with a habit of collecting Women's Southern golf trophies, was the standout favorite to pick up another one as the tournament reached the quarterfinals today.

The stocky Fort Worth girl has won four of the last six Southern and is in a good position to grab an unprecedented fifth. She got past perhaps her toughest foe yesterday when she whipped medalist Mary Lena Faulk, the national amateur champion from Thomasville, Ga., 3 and 2.

Miss Riley met Mary Ann Villages of New Orleans today at 2 p.m. (EST).

Sharing the limelight with Miss Riley, who won her fourth Southern last year, was Mary Mills, an eighth-grader from Gulfport, Miss., who is playing in her first Southern.

Mary ousted Minnie Lee Ashley of Gadsden, Ala., yesterday 3 and 2 and met Marge Burns of Greensboro, N.C., in the quarterfinals. Miss Burns beat Betty Probasco of Chattanooga 2 and 1 in the second round.

There'll be only ticket lines—and no picket lines—at Briggs Stadium tonight. A proposed strike was averted when ball park employees and the Detroit Baseball Co., reached a settlement in their wage dispute. A two-year contract was to be signed today.

EAGLE EYE—Cute 14-year-old Mary Mills of Gulfport, Miss., gives her ball the old eagle-eye as she puts for an eagle on the 18th green in 2nd round of the Women's Southern Golf Tournament at Birmingham, Ala. Mary, who can hit a ball a country mile, plays in the quarter-finals here today.

Sports Briefs

The player who made the most errors in the majors during 1953 was Eddie Mathews of the Milwaukee Braves. He committed 30 errors.

The Detroit Tigers had the American League's poorest batting average for night games. The team batted only .236 under the lights.

Harry Nicholas, right handed pitcher purchased by the Giants from their Minneapolis farm team, was born in Valley Stream, N. Y.

Hawaiian Choken Maekawa, sophomore member of the Michigan State varsity boxing team, won his first two bouts by technical knockouts in the first round.

Owners Lose Ham Bone, but Reclaim Him Later

NEW YORK (AP)—It's no small wonder that Miss Josephine Rigione cried last September when Ham Bone, her 6-year-old bay horse, was claimed.

In 1949, Miss Rigione's brother John bought Ham Bone for $250 at the Saratoga Yearling Sales. He quit his job as an assistant starter at the race tracks and turned trainer.

In the last year, Ham Bone has won about $30,000 for the Rigiones.

A few weeks after the Rigiones lost Ham Bone via the claiming box they reclaimed the horse. He recently won his third straight at Jamaica.

ask Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore.

"She's terrific," said Mrs. Glick, who lost a 23-hole match to Mary Tuesday. "She has great promise."

Her amazing distance off the tee is her strongest point right now. She won the Southern's driving contest with a 223-yard blast.

No one else in her family is a golfer. She got the bug from the mother of a friend. Once she started knocking the ball around, her father, R. M. Mills Jr., who operates a fleet of barges and a lumber business in Gulfport, Miss., decided she should have some lessons.

"He said if I wanted to play I might as well try to do it right," Mary said. "Johnny Revolts worked with me this winter and he helped me more than anyone else."

Lake Angelus Speedway Plans Rodeo for Friday

Rodeo arena at the Lake Angelus Speedway will be opened Friday at 8 p. m. for the season's 1st wild west rodeo.

There will be 25 to 30 Brahma bulls and about the same number of wild broncs. The show is under the supervision of promoter Duke Dennison. Queen of the rodeo will be Lynn Colevill with a court of Peggy Neil, Nonie Zanoni and Marilyn Arnett.

HERE ARE THE FACTS About Tire Guarantees

All tires carry the manufacturers Standard LIFE TIME GUARANTEE which means a guarantee only against "factory defects" in workmanship and material. . . BUT only 1 tire in 100 fails because of "Factory Defects." The rest fail because of ROAD HAZARDS (glass cuts, spike, curb cracks, rim bruises, etc.) SO . . . Ask your dealer point blank, "IS THIS TIRE GUARANTEED IN WRITING BY THE MANUFACTURER AGAINST ALL ROAD HAZARDS?"

'Clown' Johnson All Business on Mound

CHICAGO — "Don Johnson will never clown on the mound."

That was the word on the Chicago White Sox sensational new pitcher from catcher Sherm Lollar, who was with Johnson on the St. Louis Browns in 1951. Lollar's appraisal of Johnson was all that Sox Manager Paul Richards wanted to know. He hired him.

The 6-2, 200-pound righthander yesterday hurled his second two-hitter of the season, blanking the Boston Red Sox 1-0 in a great pitching battle with rookie Tom Brewer.

The 22-year-old Brewer yielded only three hits, the first of these delayed until the seventh when Johnny Groth beat out a bunt. Four of his eight walks came in the first inning to produce Chicago's only run.

But the 27-year-old Johnson was even better. He shut out Philadelphia May 2 on two hits and faced only 29 batters. Yesterday he pitched to 30, fanned five, and walked two for his third triumph against one loss.

When General Manager Frank Lane bought Johnson from Toronto last year, on Richards' recommendation, there were snickers around the league.

They all knew Johnson, who had been through the mill with a series of minor league clubs and had been shuttled around in the majors with the New York Yankees, the old Browns and the Washington Senators.

They hinted Johnson should be in a circus sideshow.

There was the time he and Frank Shea, then roomies on the Washington club, tried to out-eat each other in a Philadelphia restaurant. They feasted on steaks, a side order of steak sandwiches, and, among other things, 24 ears of corn. The bill was $39.85 for two.

They laughed about the time Johnson was reading a newspaper and suddenly exclaimed: "It says here Bobby Shantz already has won 19 games....Why, he will win 20 before I've won my first."

The Athletics' lefty won 24. Johnson didn't win any.

Who's got the last laugh?

My Greatest Shot

By CRAIG WOOD

My greatest shot was made at Spring Mill in Philadelphia during the 1939 United States Open Championship.

It was made on the 18th hole, the 72nd of the tournament. It came after Sam Snead had registered, on the same hole, the ruinous 8 which cost him the title.

After a great drive, I was faced with a brassie shot of about 200 yards to a very narrow opening to the green, one which probably did not measure more than 15 yards.

The distance was so great that I could not play a carry shot to the green.

I had to play short to roll through the opening.

I required a 4 to tie Byron Nelson at 284.

After waiting 15 minutes for the crowd to clear, I played a straight brassie shot which went directly through the center of the narrow opening and rolled 15 feet short of the cup.

I missed the putt for an eagle 3 which would have won the tournament outright, but at least I had achieved one of my greatest thrills in hitting a fine shot when it really counted.

Byron Nelson, Denny Shute and I tied and Nelson won on the second play-off.

Although I won the Open two years later, no single shot stands out in my memory as much as the beauty on Spring Mill's 18th, where Sam Snead came his unfortunate cropper.

Keegan's Record Belies Slow Starter Reputation

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — Once lightly around the sports beat:

Bob Keegan, the streaking Chicago White Sox right-hander who just wrapped up his fourth victory against a single defeat, had a reputation before this season of being one of the worst springtime pitchers in the business. His record last year was a very undazzling 7-5, and most of his wins came in a late-season spurt, long after the Sox were out of the American League race.

Looks like Manager Paul Richards might have found that "difference" he was looking for by sticking with the Rochester product.

Gene Conley, the Leaning Tower of Milwaukee, made a great impression in blanking Brooklyn 2-0 in his first local appearance. The experts were dubious about his control in the spring, predicting that smart major leaguers would wait him out, but the 6-foot-8 rookie was cutting the corners against the Dodgers and coming in boldly with his fast ball when a walk threatened.

Washington's Mickey Vernon, normally a Tiger tormentor, proved no problem to Ted Gray, who retired the American League's batting champion five straight times.

Harvey Kuenn, Tiger shortstop, made two errors and now has six boots for the season.

Tiger Tales

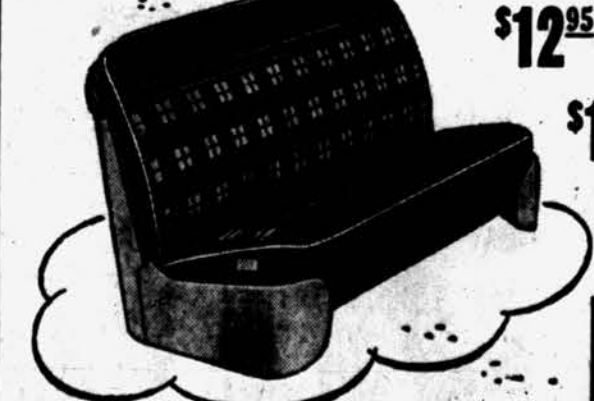

DETROIT — Overheard in Briggs Stadium:

The Tigers cut their roster to 26 players—their prescribed limit—yesterday by sending two pitchers to the minor leagues and placing Steve Souchock, veteran outfielder-first baseman, on 30-day disabled list.

Righthander Dick Donovan, purchased from Atlanta on a conditional basis, was returned to that club while Dick Weik, another righthander, was sent to Little Rock on a 30-day recall basis.

Souchock is still suffering from a broken bone in his right wrist and Jack Homel, Detroit trainer, says it'll be at least a month, likely more, before he'll be able to play again.

Olympic Committee to Probe 'State Amateurs'

By STERLING SLAPPEY
ATHENS, 10 — Avery Brundage said today he expects the International Olympic Committee to start an investigation immediately into the problem of so-called amateur athletes who are subsidized by their governments.

Brundage, president of the IOC, agreed the best known name for such athletes is "state amateurs" but added that he doesn't like that phrase.

"The investigation may begin with a questionnaire to each Olympic national committee asking point blank questions on how their athletes are selected, maintained and trained," Brundage told the Associated Press in an exclusive interview.

"One thing particularly to be inquired into is training camps," he said. "Under the Olympic rules and requirements state training camps of more than two weeks are against the Olympic spirit."

Reports of training periods of many months have been rampant but Brundage said nothing official has been received as yet on them. Neither did the IOC head single out any country as a probable violator of the rule.

The IOC meeting, which ends tomorrow, also is expected to select today the city to stage the 1956 equestrian events. The committee yesterday voted to move the equestrian competition to some city other than Melbourne because of a law requiring horses to be quarantined six months either in Great Britain or New Zealand before entering Australia.

The meetings this week have been exceptionally tranquil for a change but trouble may crop up if the IOC gets around to the discussion of the representation and participation of Red China and East Germany.

In the drive to straighten out the government subsidized athlete problem, Brundage said "we're no police force. We must assume until we learn otherwise that everyone is complying to Olympic rules and spirit."

"An amateur can only be in sports for pleasure and must not receive materialistic gain of any kind. Before an athlete competes in the Olympics he, his national federation and his national Olympic committee must certify he is a true amateur."

Joseph T. Johnson, golf pro at the Glenmere Country Club, Chester, N. Y., was a track star at Brown University.

Track Opens Tonight

Motor City Speedway, at 8 Mile and Schoenherr, will stage its long-delayed 1954 opening tonight.

Track manager Andy Barto said the 1st few programs to be held will be open competition races.

This means that any driver, regardless of association or affiliation is permitted to compete.

Opening program will be a nine-event hard top classic with a 30-lap feature.

Hunter Finally Scores

SPARTANBURG, S. C. 10 — Spartanburg County Jailer Carlisle Brockman says "a bird on the windshield is worth two in the bush."

During three hours he spent hunting quail, his dog flushed two coveys before he could get a shot. While driving home, however, a fat quail flew into his windshield and killed itself.

All Is 'Gemeutlichkeit'

Conley, Nichols, Mathews and Thomson Brighten Braves' Hopes in NL Race

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN, N. Y. 10 — All is "gemeutlichkeit" again with Charlie Grimm, the cholly manager of the Milwaukee Braves.

There is no specific English translation of the German word "gemeutlichkeit," but in substance it can be interpreted as meaning "good feeling" or "good fellowship."

Two consecutive victories over the defending champion Brooklyn Dodgers in their own lair, the last a 1-hit performance by Lew Burdette yesterday, has wiped away several lines from Charlie's creased brow and erased a great deal of worry from his mind.

"I think we are beginning to roll," Grimm declared today. "The pitching is starting to take shape. Eddie Mathews is hitting again. And Bobby Thomson is back with the club."

"I've said all along that no club is going to run away with the flag. This is going to be the maddest scramble you ever saw. There isn't a weak sister in the league. Anyone of six or seven clubs can win this thing. Cincinnati and Chicago can murder you with their long ball hitters and Pittsburgh has shown it will be no pushover for anybody."

The most heartening thing to Grimm has been the improved pitching of youngsters Gene Conley and Chet Nichols in recent starts. Conley, the 6-8 rookie right-hander, pitched the best game of his career Tuesday night when he shut out the Dodgers 2-0 without walking a single batter. Southpaw Nichols after a slow start, turned in two successive fine performances to look once again like the pitcher he promised to be before going into the Army at the end of the 1951 season.

Only a fifth-inning home run by Gil Hodges prevented Burdette from hurling a no-hitter yesterday in Milwaukee's 5-1 victory over Brooklyn. The triumph gave the Braves an 11-11 record for the season.

Sedgman Tripps Riggs in Pro Net Tourney

GRAND FORKS, N. D., May 13 10 — Frank Sedgman won the singles series of Jack Kramer's traveling pro tennis tournament here last night by beating Bobby Riggs 8-1 in the semi-finals match and Pancho Gonzales 8-6 in the final.

Pompeii Digging Still Continues

Uncovering of Ruins Has Taken 205 Years, Will Go On 75 More

WASHINGTON — Archeologists, digging at the ruins of Pompeii for 205 years, have succeeded in uncovering one-half of the famous buried city.

Block by block the ancient metropolis is being cleared of the 20-foot-thick layer of volcanic ash and stone that entombed it in A. D. 79, says the National Geographic Society.

An army of 1,000 workers now has restored hundreds of private homes, shops, temples, open-air theaters and public baths. Extensive bomb damage suffered during World War II has been repaired.

But to complete excavation of the 145-acre settlement, at least another 75 years will be required, the Italian government estimates.

At the time of its burial, Pompeii was six centuries old. It was a flourishing commercial center as well as a fashionable resort for wealthy Romans. Cicero had a villa at the foot of nearby Mount Vesuvius. The population exceeded 25,000.

In A. D. 63 the city was razed by an earthquake. Scarcely a structure remained undamaged. Fearful of further quakes, the Roman Senate at first refused to appropriate restoration funds. It later relented, and a new, even more luxurious city rose on the site.

Eleven years later, on a hot August morning, the final calamity struck. With a terrifying roar, Vesuvius erupted an enormous cloud of flame and smoke.

Burning lava flowed down the mountain's shuddering side. A black blanket of ash enveloped Pompeii.

Trapped in their homes and in public buildings, hundreds were smothered by poisonous gases. Others rushed into the streets and were killed by falling rocks. Many were crushed to death as panic-stricken residents mobbed the city's exits.

When the skies cleared and Vesuvius quieted two days later, survivors returned briefly to search for the 2,000 victims. Feeble attempts to raise the buried town were soon abandoned. Finally, even the last vestiges of Pompeii disappeared beneath rows of vines and greenery.

More than 1,500 years later, in 1594, a group of men laying a water conduit stumbled onto the ruins. The blanket of volcanic ash that destroyed Pompeii had also preserved it.

Works of art and science and objects of everyday life were miraculously intact.

Organized excavation operations were begun in 1748 by Charles III of Naples. Early treasures retrieved from the ruins were removed to the Naples National Museum or sold to private collectors.

In recent times the priceless articles have been left in their original positions, and Pompeii has developed into one of Italy's greatest attractions.

Vesuvius still casts a constant shadow over the restored city, and archeologists fear it may one day undo their work.

The volcano has erupted from time to time, but there has been no modern catastrophe comparable to Pompeii.

Driver Saves 1 Dollar but Past Costs Him $16

WHEELING, W. Va. — A Pittsburgh driver talked his way out of paying a $1 traffic fine by convincing Police Clerk William Thomas that a parking meter was broken and wouldn't take his nickel.

Thomas glanced at the license number on the ticket as the man began to walk away, then remembered something. He leafed through his files to find 16 old tickets bearing the same number. The red-faced visitor paid $16 in back fines.

Made to Order

MANCHESTER, Conn. — A couple suddenly called off its wedding plans. That left the baker with a $20 wedding cake on his hands — big enough for 25 persons. He offered it for nothing to the first couple who could produce a wedding license.

Precise Burglar

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — When an ice cream store was broken into, the burglar remembered to ring up "no sale," before taking $25 from the cash register.

Seek New Sites to Watch Skies

Astronomers Must Get Away From Big Cities for Best Results

WASHINGTON — Today's astronomers not only are searching the skies — they are searching the land as well, looking for new observatory sites far from the big cities.

The plan of the Naval Observatory here to move its largest telescope to Arizona marks but the latest development in a trend necessitated by the shifting needs of modern astronomy. There have been some noteworthy changes of location in the past. More are to come.

Only recently England's Royal Observatory has been busy moving from its world-famous site in Greenwich on the Thames at London to a 15th century castle in Sussex, 60 miles southeast, says the National Geographic Society.

As with American observatories, it was a case of too much industrial smog and too much glare from street and neon lights.

Now the U. S. Naval Observatory intends to take its 40-inch, 9-ton reflector to Flagstaff, Ariz., where "seeing conditions" are 16 to 20 times more favorable than in Washington.

If Congress appropriates $225,000, as expected, the job probably will be accomplished in 9 to 18 months. First, the instrument will be modernized at the observatory's shops here, then shipped by train or truck.

The Navy's 40-inch telescope will glean new knowledge about the sun's minor planets, too dim to be observed from Washington. It will also help analyze light from the paler stars.

Harvard University has set up an observing station in the Massachusetts countryside outside Cambridge.

Geraldine Brooks Is 'Child of the Theater'

-- Today's Television Programs --

Has Been Guest on Video Shows

Takes Her Last Name From Dad's Costume Business Firm

NEW YORK — Geraldine Brooks can be seen regularly on many top video shows.

Miss Brooks boasts a lifetime of close association with the theater. While her cradle was not a backstage trunk, she definitely belongs to the species known as "children of the theater."

Her father, James E. Strook, president of the Brooks Costume Co., has costumed countless Broadway plays and television shows. Her mother, Blanca Strook, is a top theatrical designer.

Geraldine's birth in New York City (Oct. 29, 1925) was heralded by a birth announcement which stimulated a notice for a new play.

She was named for famed soprano Geraldine Farrar and later adopted her father's firm name as her professional one.

Mariene Dietrich, Danny Kaye, Deanna Taylor, Richard Rodgers, Oscar Hammerstein and numerous other theatrical celebrities were frequent visitors to the Strook household during Gerry's childhood.

Miss Brooks attended the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, tested her wings at the Neighborhood Playhouse, and played ingenue roles in summer stock.

After refusing five screen offers, she eventually accepted an invitation to make her movie debut in "Cry Wolf," which subsequently led to her portrayal of Joan Crawford's teenage daughter in "Possessed."

Other screen credits include Live Today for Tomorrow, (with Frederic March), Embraceable You (with Dan Clark), The Younger Brothers, The Reckless Moment, T. Green, Glove, Volcano and Street of Sorrow.

On television she has made guest-star appearances on Studio One, The Web, Danger, Playhouse of Stars and other top shows.

Dark-haired, blue-eyed, diminutive (5'2", 100 lbs.) Gerry likes long walks with her collie dogs Hamlet and Ophelia; speaks fluent French and Italian; paints in oils and watercolors; delights in cooking complicated dishes; collects gold bracteate charms; makes hooked rugs, and is devoted to her most treasured possession, an ugly, dilapidated teddy bear which she named Lovely so that he would not suffer from a sense of inferiority.

Hoffman Drives on Waste Caused by Idling Autos

WASHINGTON — Rep. Hoffman (R-Mich) has turned detective. He hopes to get the evidence to prove a claim that idling chauffeur-driven government cars waste taxpayers' money.

An aide whom Hoffman had patrolled parking areas on the House side of the Capitol reported he found 17 such cars Monday and 7 yesterday.

Hoffman told the House Monday count included eight army cars, six Navy and three belonging to other government agencies.

NAACP Gets $75,000 From Murray Fund

NEW YORK — A $75,000 grant has been presented to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation, created in honor of the late CIO president.

Newaygo County Bridge Opens for Traffic Friday

LANSING — A bridge carrying M-20 over Five Mile Creek, north of White Cloud in Newaygo County, will be opened to traffic Friday, the State Highway Department said today. Harold F. Parsons, of Muskegon, was the contractor for $26,263.

A sturgeon may lay seven million eggs at a time.

SWIMMER WEDS — Shirley May France, 22, of Somerset, Mass., and Marine Corps 2nd Lieut. E. Douglas Smith, 23, of Fall River, walk down the aisle of the Baptist Temple in Fall River after their marriage. The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter France, made two unsuccessful attempts to swim the English Channel while a high school student.

3 Women Deny Breakin Attempt

Judge McCallum Holds Trio for Circuit Court Arraignment

Three Pontiac women accused of the nighttime breaking and entering of a restaurant April 23 steadfastly denied the charges at their examination Wednesday in Municipal Court.

They were bound over to Circuit Court for arraignment Monday at 9:30 a.m. after Judge Cecil McCallum said he found sufficient cause to continue their case.

Two of the women, Charlotte May Guinther, 27, of 77 Douglas St., and Martha Holsworth, 21, of 605 1/2 S. Paddock St., denied they entered the restaurant at 600 Sanford St. to loot the establishment.

The third woman, Claudine Carter, 18, also of the Paddock street address, is accused by Pontiac Police as being the lookout after she was arrested in a waiting auto near the restaurant. All three are free on $500 bonds.

Police said they arrested Mrs. Guinther and Mrs. Holsworth inside the restaurant. According to police they had taken chewing gum and candy from the restaurant, and Miss Holsworth was carrying a pistol and a knife when arrested.

Following the arrest, Detective William Hanger quoted Miss Holsworth as saying they planned the break-in for thrills.

Mayor Offers City as '55 Meeting Site

The Michigan Municipal League has been invited to hold its 1955 regional meeting for Oakland, Macomb and Genesee County municipal officials in Pontiac, according to Mayor William W. Donaldson.

The invitation was extended by city officials attending this year's regional meeting Wednesday at Fenton, Donaldson said.

If the bid is accepted, the gathering probably will be held about this time next year and would celebrate the completion of Pontiac's new city hall plus the city's emergence from bonded debt, Donaldson explained.

124 Game Law Violators Convicted in Past Week

LANSING — The State Conservation Department reported that 124 conservation law violators were convicted last week — up slightly from the total of 110 the previous week.

Fishing without a license accounted for the largest group of 64 violations.

Farm Phones Increase

DURHAM, N.H. (UP)—The number of telephones owned by New Hampshire farmers increased from 63 per cent in 1945 to 75 per cent in 1950, according to a marketing economist, L. A. Dougherty.

Passage Predicted for Rail Bill Addition

WASHINGTON — Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) today predicted Senate approval of an amendment which Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said would "practically nullify" the effect of a bill designed to speed action petitions for rail rate increases.

The bill would direct the interstate Commerce Commission to hike rail rates on a temporary basis 60 days after a railroad or other carrier asked for the increase. The railroad would not have to submit full justification for the increase. The ICC would not have to hold a hearing. The interim increase would take effect if the ICC decided the higher rate was "appropriate or necessary."

Within 60 days after the interim increase took effect, the ICC would make a full investigation of the increase request and study the carrier's full justification for it.
