Hike in Rates Is Requested by Blue Cross

3.8 Per Cent Jump Would Affect Over 600,000 in Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — Blue Cross, Michigan's largest hospitalization plan, today asked state permission for a 3.8 per cent hike in rates.

More than 600,000 policyholders would be affected by the rate hike if it is granted, a Blue Cross spokesman said.

Blue Cross officials presented the rate increase proposal to State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson at a 9 a.m. meeting in Lansing.

Mayerson said he wouldn't be able to comment on the proposal until he and his staff had a chance to study and analyze it.

"We'll probably hold hearings on it," he said.

Mayerson said the rate hike application was the smallest ever presented by Blue Cross. The last time Blue Cross increased rates, he noted, was when a 22.4 per cent increase was allowed in June 1963.

ADDED COSTS

Dale Nouse, Blue Cross spokesman, said the increase is needed "because of added obligations and costs."

At least two kinds of Blue Cross policyholders would be exempt from any increase in premiums, he said.

These are holders of senior citizens policies and individual, or non-group policyholders, Nouse said.

Additionally, there would be a temporary deferment of rate increases to some group policyholders, Nouse said.

INCLUDED GROUP

The proposed 3.8 per cent hike would apply only to group policyholders included in the Blue Cross experience rating system, he said.

Blue Cross currently is changing over on a gradual basis from its community rating system to experience rating.

Groups still left under the community rating system at the proposed Jan. 1, 1966, date of a rate hike would not pay the new rates, he said. Those under the experience rating system would.

Applications Rise Sharply Retirements Worry Big 3 Auto Firms

DETROIT (AP)—A sharp upswing in retirement applications has developed in the automotive industry where a $400 monthly pension at age 60 becomes a possibility a week from Wednesday.

Retirement requests, which must be filed at least a month in advance, are reported running anywhere from three to almost five times above normal this month at the Big Three—General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

With the industry scheduled to slam into all-out production of 1966 models in September, the threatened escalation in retirements is causing concern in some tight labor market areas with big auto plants.

Fiat and Saginaw, are examples with less than two per cent of total labor forces unemployed.

EARLIER AGE

Retirement at age 55 at $200 a month also is a possibility Sept. 1 under three-year contracts negotiated in 1964 between the United Auto Workers Union and the nation's auto makers.

The Joint Ford-UAW Retirement Board, which normally has around 200 applications in process, had 440 on hand Aug. 1 and this had grown to 914 by last Monday. It said a sampling indicated most in the 60-65 age group.

The similar Chrysler-UAW board estimated the August rate three and a half times normal, and a UAW spokesman said there was "no question" the rate was at least three times normal at General Motors, although no attempt had been made to compile totals from GM's 119 plants.

While the number asking retirement is up sharply, a worker can change his mind any time before final action is taken on his application by the joint union-company committee which passes on retirements at its plant. These committees normally meet once monthly, handling requests of the previous month.

SERVICE RATE

To obtain a maximum $400 a 60-year-old must have had at least 30 years service and be making a minimum of $3.30 an hour. To retire between 55 and 60 a worker must have a combination of age and service equalling 85. For instance, be 56 and have 29 years.

In no event can a pension exceed 78 per cent of a worker's monthly straight-time wage. The $200 and $400 limits prevent this if other factors do not.

Flight Is Near 1 Million Miles

MANNED SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Gemini 5 astronauts began chasing a phantom satellite across the skies today as they swept through the third day of their marathon space flight.

As L. Gordon Cooper Jr. and Charles Conrad Jr. neared the million-mile mark of their journey, they were reported well-rested after sound sleeps and in excellent physical condition.

A high-spirited Conrad even broke into an impromptu song more than 100 miles above the earth: "Over the ocean, over the blue; here's Gemini 5, singing to you."

Flight controllers were confident the mission could continue its full eight days, which would eclipse the Soviet man-in-space record by three days.

By 11:36 a.m. EST, Gemini 5 had completed 32 orbits.

The pursuit of the ghostly satellite was a rehearsal for the Gemini 6 flight scheduled in October. On that mission astronauts Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Thomas P. Stafford will attempt to rendezvous and link up with an Agena satellite launched by an Alt-Agena rocket.

SALVAGE PART

Success of the maneuver would salvage at least part of the rendezvous experiment Cooper and Conrad had planned with a satellite which they ejected from their spacecraft on Saturday, the first day of the flight.

A power system problem in Gemini 5 forced them to abandon the attempt to maneuver within 20 feet of that satellite, which carried electronic devices to aid them.

By the time the power situation had stabilized, their private miles away and no longer had operating batteries.

The substitute space chase began at 11:50 a.m. EST today when Gemini 5 and the make-believe Agena were assumed to be about 477 miles apart, with the Agena in front.

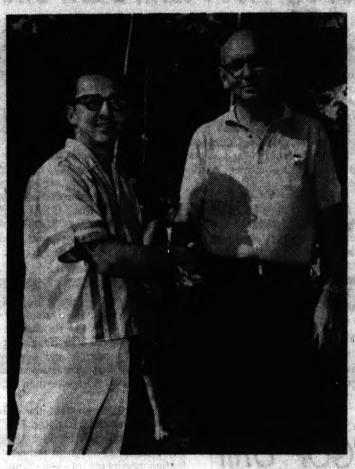

Command pilot Cooper initiated the pursuit by firing slung thrusters to reduce his greater than 17,500 mile-an-hour speed by about 13 miles an hour.

EXACTLY RIGHT

"It was right on the money," Cooper said after the firing.

This dropped the high point of the Gemini 5 orbital path from 207 miles to about 193 miles. The low point remained at 103 miles.

Hare Picnic Draws 5,000 at Ivory Farm

A sprinkling of Republicans joined some 5,000 Democrats yesterday at the annual picnic honoring Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The six-hour outing was held at the John F. Ivory Farm in White Lake Township.

Numerous political figures from the metropolitan area were on hand to salute Hare at the fifth annual event in his honor.

All were introduced to the huge throng but there were no political speeches as such.

OTHER FIGURES

Among those present were U.S. Congressman Billie S. Farnum of the 19th District and Oakland County State Senators Sander M. Levin of the 15th District and Carl W. O'Brien, 17th District.

Other Oakland County political figures at the picnic included State Representative Robert J. Slingerland of Orion Township and White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz.

The day was devoted to fun and relaxation and several activities were planned for the entertainment of the large crowd.

There was the traditional pillion and horseshoe pitching contest.

A special treat was an exhibition by the John F. Ivory Roman Riders.

Lake Orion Official Fires Policeman

Lake Orion Police Sgt. Leslie Perkins was relieved of his duties Saturday evening by Village President Clarence B. Rossman. He remained on the job this morning, however, on the orders of Chief Neal Leonard.

Rossman fired the veteran sergeant on charges of insubordination arising from an incident which took place at last week's council meeting.

Chief Leonard contends, however, that the village president does not have the authority to fire Perkins. The chief said he is keeping Perkins on the job on the advice of the village council.

Rossman charged the sergeant with insubordination Monday night after he refused to remove Attorney Robert V. Parent from his seat at the council table.

Rossman terminated Parent's contract as village attorney June 1, but the council has retained him as their legal adviser.

Perkins stated at the meeting that he would not act on Rossman's order unless the council told him to. The council gave no such order, so Parent's (Continued on Page A-4, Col. 1)

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four months ago, the State Department informed a congressional committee that the threat of increased Communist activity in Latin America is "very much with us."

"Difficult and dangerous days still lie ahead," the department added.

Since then, a buildup in Communist bombings, killings, kidnappings, riots, demonstrations and subversion has been reported.

U.S. officials privately express deep concern over the situation. They say it appears things are going to get worse.

Three key South American nations — Colombia, Peru and Venezuela — have come under intensified attack. Guerrilla bands, Communist-led, are in Guatemala.

STATE OF SIEGE
A state of siege prevails in Colombia.

Troubled areas of Peru are under virtual martial law and, nationwide, a state of emergency and suspension of constitutional rights has been declared.

U.S. Planes Again Pound at N. Viet Plant, Dam Site

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Twenty-four U.S. planes pounded a hydroelectric plant and dam site in North Viet Nam today for the third successive day, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Striking the Ban Thach plant twice, pilots said they damaged a generator building and a dam 80 miles south-southwest of Hanoi.

Eight Air Force F4 Phantoms, eight F104 Starfighters and four support aircraft bombed the plant this afternoon after four other Phantoms hit it earlier in the day.

Heavy damage was reported inflicted on the same target in two raids over the weekend.

IST DAM STRUCK

The site was first bombed Saturday in what was described as the first dam reported struck by American planes since air strikes in North Viet Nam began more than six months ago. All of the planes returned safely from the latest strike, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said no flooding was reported following either raid.

In another strike, 16 Thunderchiefs flew within 31 miles of Communist China, hitting a bridge 42 miles north-northeast of Dien Bien Phu. U.S. planes penetrated to within 30 miles of the border on a previous raid military spokesman have reported.

BIGGEST KILL

In the ground war, the U.S. Army's 1st Division made its biggest kill so far in the Viet Nam war — 25 Viet Cong guerrillas in a search and destroy operation last Thursday and Friday, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the 18th Battalion of the "Big Red One" also wounded three Viet Cong and captured seven in the operation northwest of Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon. U.S. casualties were described as light.

A U.S. Marine patrol wiped out a 30-man Viet Cong mortar team Sunday just as it was getting ready to launch an attack, a spokesman announced. He said the leathernose used an M79 grenade launcher in the operation 4 miles south of the Da Nang air base, 300 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. spokesmen gave these other operation reports:

SEIZE SAMBAN
Two government boats seized a motorized sampan loaded with mortar rounds 80 miles southwest of Saigon. The sampans opened fire, the government boats returned it and eight Viet Cong were killed.

Nine Viet Cong were killed and four captured in a Vietnamese operation 80 miles southwest of Saigon, in Vinh Long Province.

Pontiac Rae-Vens Win National Title
The Rae-Vens of Pontiac won the National Drill Team competition Saturday in Boston, Mass., and their color guard also captured the National Championship, in competition with teams and color guards from 34 states.

This is the third consecutive year the Rae-Vens have won the national trophy. The unit is sponsored by the Jimmy Dey Amvet Post number 12.

The group received their trophies from the national commander according to Arthur Voorbes, 255 Dick, manager of the prize winning team.

Latin Reds Intensify Activity

stitutional rights have been declared twice.

Venezuela has struck back with widespread arrests of Communists and their followers.

The Communist dictatorship of Fidel Castro spent more than a million dollars on subversion and violence in Venezuela alone in 1960-64, the CIA informed the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Armistead Selden Jr., D-Ala.

To mention a few others, CIA said it was told that the Castro regime spent $250,000 in Guatemala, $50,000 in Salvador, and $30,000 in Panama in recent years.

Selden said a Havana conference of hemisphere Communist last November was designed specifically "to give new impetus to Communist activity in the Western Hemisphere." Hundreds of Latin Americans are trained yearly in Cuba in sabotage, civil disorders, guerrilla warfare, propaganda and subversion, U.S. officials say.

ALL COUNTRIES
Not a country in Latin America appears to have escaped troubles with the Communists.

These include even Mexico — only hemisphere nation to continue diplomatic relations with Communist Cuba, and the country where Fidel Castro found hospitality, financial aid, and training grounds for an invasion against the regime of Fulgencio Batista in Cuba.

Last April, Mexican police raided the headquarters of the Mexican Communist party and two other leftist groups which they accused of planning "acts of grave consequences."

Since then, there hasn't been a demonstration against U.S. policy in Viet Nam, or the stoning of a U.S. embassy or consulate in Mexico.

REPORT BOMBING
Uruguay, which like Mexico has long been regarded by Latin Americans as a focal point for Communist activity, reported this month the bombing of a drug firm by an extremist group which circulated a statement to newspapers saying the attack was to protest U.S. policy in Viet Nam and to express sympathy for the Viet Cong.

In Chile, where Communists suffered a luring defeat in the last presidential elections,

DETROIT IS FOUND DEAD IN UNION LAKE
A Detroit man was found dead in Union Lake early yesterday morning after he had told his companions he was going to take a brief swim.

Harley Dawson, 36, was found floating face down about 20 inches of water near a dock at the rear of 7583 Barnsbury, West Bloomfield Township.

An autopsy was scheduled for today in an attempt to discover whether Dawson was a drowning victim or had died from another cause.

Witnesses said they heard the man splashing in the water and thought he was swimming. Ten minutes later he was found dead.

Marxists are active in the Congress, in labor unions, in some universities, and are helping to block economic and social legislation sought by the Christian Democratic regime headed by President Eduardo Frei.

Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., says Argentina's government, faced with serious financial problems, is hampered by Communist agitators who, he said, have joined forces with anti-government followers of former dictator Juan Peron to "strike, riot, and demonstrate against the democratic government."

There is some speculation in Argentina — which U.S. officials appear not to share — whether the military may feel it necessary to oust the present government and install a tough regime.

DRASTIC PLANS
Colombia's President Leon Valencia says he has learned from an "unimpeachable source" that there are plans to assassinate the presidents of Colombia and Venezuela.

Colombia for years has been plagued with roving bands of marauders which have killed thousands of people. Now some of the bandit gangs operate under the Communist banner, seizing villages and towns, murdering ranches and farmers and their families, and kidnapping rich Colombians for ransom.

The government of Peru has accused Cuba, Red China and the Soviet Union of inciting Communist forces. This month, it sent air force, army troops and police to various areas to attack Communist-led guerrillas.

HARDEST HIT
Venezuela has reported some of the greatest and most widespread violence in all Latin America. One of the richest countries in the world due to its petroleum industry, it has become one of the most advanced in economic and social development. It is now considering financial help to less fortunate members of the Alliance for Progress.

But for all its wealth, Venezuela has not been able to stamp out an astonishing succession of Communist violence and subversion. Bombings and machinegun fire have hit the U.S. Embassy, U.S.-owned oil pipes and equipment, the homes of Venezuelan officials, a supermarket owned by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his associates and many U.S. business and government officials.

Last April, two Italians were detained in Venezuela with $270,000, the government said, was sent the country to finance subversion. The government has just announced it will distribute the money to survivors of victims of terrorist attacks.

In many countries in Latin America, some universities have become key centers of Communist activity and the birthplace of riots against the government.

INFILTRATE UNIONS
But Communists also have infiltrated labor unions, some of which they control; political parties, farm, civil and trade associations, newspapers, magazines, radio and television, and even the police and military forces, in some instances.

U.S. officials say the Communists have had some serious setbacks in Latin America. Brazil overthrew a pro-Communist regime; a Communist-supported presidential candidate was defeated in Chile; Communists failed to prevent presidential elections in Venezuela; lost control in British Guiana; were caught red-handed with a shipment of Cuban war supplies in Venezuela. But they are still active in these countries.

Even little countries such as Haiti, Costa Rica, Salvador, Bolivia, Ecuador and the Dominican Republic have had their troubles.

The government of Honduras recently proclaimed that "a series of violent acts tending to create a climate of anarchy" was "part of a vast Communist conspiracy."

RECENT COMPLAINT
Haiti recently complained to the Organization of American States that Cuban-oriented forces are poised in the Dominican Republic to invade Haiti. Havana radio, broadcasting in Haiti's Creole language, calls for overthrow of Haiti's government, blames white Haitians and "U.S. imperialists" for the country's poverty.

An OAS committee reported Communists a powerful force in the internal strife in the Dominican Republic.

In Panama, university students, blamed for the Communist-style anti-U.S. riots in the Panama Canal Zone, still carry on attacks against Washington.

Inter-American agencies and security officials of the Central American republics are carrying on an intensive campaign against subversion. The United States is helping out where it can, both in equipping and training internal security forces, in sharing intelligence about Communist activities and helping finance Latin America's Alliance for Progress program of economic and social development.

But in the fight against Communists, as in the alliance, the officials say the big job must, of necessity, be done by each of the Latin-American republics.

Southern Schools Warned to File Plans or Lose Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — One-fourth of the school districts in the 17 southern border states were warned today of a cut-off of U.S. funds unless they file acceptable desegregation plans by the beginning of the next school year.

The White House, reporting that the other 75 per cent have qualified, said no federal money for any purpose will go to school districts that fail unless they submit compliance plans satisfactory to the Office of Education.

Retirements Worry 'Big 3'

basic pension and a supplemental allowance.

The basic rate is $4.25 monthly for each year of service, and no deduction is made in it for those retiring at 62 or over. For those getting out earlier, however, the rate slides down to $6.7 per cent for those quitting at 60 and to $7.9 for those moving on at 55.

OTHER ALLOWANCE

The supplemental allowance is calculated by figuring 70 per cent of a worker's monthly wage. If this is less than $400, the smaller figure is used. The amount of basic to which he is entitled then is subtracted. This gives the amount of supplemental allowance payable.

The basic amount continues for life, but the supplemental allowance cuts out when social security cuts in at 65. Thus an early retiree would see less income after 65 than before.

The union gave this example in a booklet of explanation distributed to workers:

"Let's assume you're retiring at age 62 with 30 years service and your wage rate, including cost of living, is $2.93 per hour.

PENSION BENEFITS
"Your pension benefits will be: Basic pension of $4.25 X 30 years equals $127.50 payable for life, plus supplemental allowance of $228.01 (x) payable to age 65.

"Total monthly benefits from pension fund:

"After age 65 — $127.50
"If 70 per cent of your monthly straight-time pay is $35.51 (173.33 hours X $2.93 X 70 per cent), and since this amount is less than $400, it is used to calculate your supplemental allowance. $355.51 less basic pension of $127.50 leaves a supplemental allowance of $228.01.

(In addition, you may receive reduced social security benefits after age 62 or full benefits after age 65.)

CANT WORK

The UAW's booklet emphasizes an early retiree forfeits forever his supplemental allowance if he takes another job and earns more than $1,200 in any calendar year. He is required to give his pension board an OK to check Social Security Administration records anytime it wishes.

As of last Dec. 31, a Chrysler Corp. survey showed it had 18,143 who were 55 or older out of an hourly rated work force of 85,000. And, in any of the 18,143, only 7,211 had 30 or more years service.

The average hourly wage in the auto and associated industries is estimated at $3.05 after tax. A janitor makes $2.73; a man on the trim line $2.89; a journeyman tool maker $3.73.

Some automatic applications may continue upward in September. The reason: Those still on the payroll Labor Day will receive holiday pay for it, and in the holiday of Sept. 5 a so-called annual improvement factor wage increase become effective.

AUTOMATIC RAISE

The annual improvement factor — forfeited in 1964 to a supplemental benefits for early retirement — gives a worker an automatic boost of 2 1/2 per cent or six cents hourly, whichever is greater. This could push some past the $3.30 level for maximum pension. And, in any event, it would be added in figuring 70 per cent of a month's wage.

Any projection of the number likely to apply in September or to stick with their August requests "would be purely guesswork," said one union spokesman.

In the two-county Flint labor market on July 15 there were only 3,000 unemployed or 1.8 per cent, out of a total labor force of 170,700. By mid-August, 1,100 applicants had filed for September or October retirement at GM plants there.

Paul P. Kimball, Flint manager for the Michigan Employment Security Commission, predicted finding replacements would be "rough." He pointed out Michigan's unemployment rate July 15 was only 4.1 per cent and that it reflected idleness caused by auto shutdowns for model changes.

Report to Commission on Dutch Elm Disease

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will receive a report on Birmingham's battle with Dutch elm disease.

Control of the disease on city-owned property remains excellent, according to Darrel C. Middlewood, forestry and parks department superintendent.

In his report to commissioners, Middlewood notes that losses this year to date total 80 trees on city property and 267 trees on private property, for a loss percentage of 1.2 and 3.8 per cent respectively.

At present, he says, there are no control programs 100 per cent effective and no cures for the disease which are effective to any degree.

The city's control program has three phases — sanitation, prevention and replanting.

INCLUDES SURVEY
Starting in the winter, the first phase includes a survey for dead elm wood. Dead trees are promptly removed and unhealthy ones are trimmed.

A summer survey is taken for infected trees on city and private property, including sampling, culturing and enforced compliance with city and state laws.

Prevention is aided through spraying of all city elm trees with DDT. This is done during the dormant season.

Whenever possible, new trees are planted during the following planting season.

TWICE A YEAR
Middlewood notes that some cities are reverting to a program of spraying twice a year.

"It is our present feeling that this second spray is not warranted in Birmingham," he said. "The second application just cannot be economically justified because we do not feel that this application would greatly reduce the losses being lost these presently occurring."

With Middlewood's report is a statement from a Wayne County extension agent denouncing a so-called "cure" for Dutch elm disease involving the applications of limestone around the roots of the tree.

Gordon K. Dennis, speaking also for horticulturists at Michigan State University, labels the method "just another fantastic quack-type procedure."

State Police Moves Told

Three personnel changes have been announced at the Pontiac post of the Michigan State Police.

Cpl. Peter Waisanen, 47, of 424 Tilmor, Waterford Township, who has been at the Pontiac post since 1954, will retire Sept. 10.

Trooper James P. Lentz, 38, 1571 Irwin, Waterford Township, will be promoted to detective and transferred to Detroit district headquarters.

Trooper Dale J. Schenkus, 35, of the Jenette Post will be promoted to corporal and will be transferred to Pontiac.

Waisanen joined the department in 1940. He was granted a 54-month military leave during World War II and returned to duty in 1945.

By shifting to a lower orbital path than the Agena, Gemini 5 required about one minute less time to circle the earth than the make believe Agena. Thus the spacecraft gradually gained ground on the target.

THREE MOVES

Cooper planned three more maneuvers to move into a more precise position to close in.

The plan was to approach within 15 miles. This would cover the Gemini 6 flight plan up to the time of the terminal closing maneuver scheduled on the actual Agena.

Hubert Critical of 'Destructive' Protests

MADISON Wis. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey told a meeting of college students today that "the right to be heard does not include the right to be taken seriously. The latter depends entirely upon what is being said."

Taking note of recent student protest demonstrations, Humphrey said in a prepared speech for the annual convention of the National Student Association at the University of Wisconsin:

"I've heard critics say that dissent in America has been silenced, when, in fact, it is simply that little attention is being paid to the critics' views."

The vice president saluted "those students who not only dissent, but who by the logic and substance of their argument have compelled the citizens of America to pay attention to their views — to take them seriously."

He added: "I am also here to say frankly and critically that the behavior of some young Americans in recent months is not deserving of such attention."

CRUCIAL FACTORS

Humphrey said student protests against racial discrimination have "indeed been worth taking seriously."

"The tactics of freedom rides, sit-ins, and picket lines have been crucial factors in tearing down the barriers of legalized discrimination in America," he said.

Criticizing the Los Angeles riots as "brutal, uncontrolled, destructive hoodlums and rioting" which "no public official can condone," Humphrey

Shipping Snarl Hits 69th Day on Two Fronts

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The east and gulf coast shipping strike went into its 69th day today.

Federal mediators continued attempts to reach a settlement between shippers and two hold-out unions.

Representatives of the American Radio Association and the International Organization of Masters, Mates and Pilots held a day-long session with mediators yesterday, but no signs of progress were reported.

Other unions involved in the strike reached an agreement last week. The radio officers and deck officers have been unable to reach agreement with the shippers on wages and work rules, however.

Ohio 2-Car Mishap Kills Detroit Girl

XENIA, Ohio (AP) — A 17-year-old Detroit girl, Carolyn Dillon, was killed and four members of her family were injured Sunday in a two-car collision on I-75 68 north of here.

Injured were the girl's father, Richard, 45, her mother, Maylene, 37, her sister, Janice, 15, and her brother, Richard, 12. All were hospitalized with undetermined injuries.

Great strength can be given to some materials by the inclusion of single-crystal fibers or "whiskers." Aluminum, for example, is increased in strength 30 times by adding sapphire whiskers.

warned that "we must also be able to differentiate between constructive and destructive protest in other forms."

He referred to a demonstration in Washington earlier this month by the "assembly of the unrepresented." Some 290 of the more than 500 demonstrators protesting U.S. involvement in the Viet Nam war were arrested.

"We have," the vice president said, "for example, been informed by other people that they are 'unrepresented.' And we have been told that therefore, they acquire the warrant to violate necessary laws relating to public and assembly and safety."

"But let me put the question directly: who is unrepresented? I have heard some of the most influential members of the Senate raise honest questions about certain aspects of our Viet Nam policy. And I have heard these same questions debated, considered and analyzed in the highest councils of our nation."

kins, whom I cited for insubordination on Aug. 16, 1965, has been discharged effective Aug. 21, 1965, at 5:30 p.m.

"Accordingly he is to receive no remuneration for police duties beyond that due and his name is to be removed from the payroll.

POSSESSION OF FIREARMS — "I also wish to point out the unauthorized use and possession of firearms by a discharged police officer, and the illegality of any attempt on the part of the discharged officer to maintain his position in the village of Lake Orion."

Copies of the letter were sent to Chief Leonard, his Michigan State Police and the Oakland County Sheriff's Department.

Rossman also sent a night letter to Attorney Frank J. Kelley which read as follows:

"Chaotic, if not anarchic situation exists in Lake Orion with insubordination by police officer and illegal attempt to maintain his position after ouster resulting in irreparable damage to citizens. Urge you investigate situation without delay."

AT ODDS WITH COUNCIL — Rossman has been at odds with the council ever since he took office last March.

At that time the president attempted to appoint a new attorney and a new police sergeant, but the council refused to approve the appointments.

The village's general law charter gives the president full executive authority and the power of appointment with the approval of the council.

4 Drownings Reported

Weekend Traffic Claims 13 Victims

By The Associated Press — Traffic accidents claimed 13 lives in Michigan during the cool, late August weekend. Only one accident claimed more than one life.

In addition to the traffic deaths, at least four persons drowned in the state over the weekend.

LIST OF VICTIMS

Arthur Lippone, 49, of Waco, was killed Saturday when the truck in which he was riding and another truck collided in Chippewa County near Waco.

Salvador Alcantar, 41, of Chicago was killed Sunday when he was struck by a car at the I-196 and Red Arrow highways intersection near Benton Harbor.

Charles Salow, 18, of Monroe was killed Sunday when the car in which he was riding struck a tree and a bridge abutment in Royalton Township, Berrien County.

TWO-CAR CRASH

Helen Skirvin, 47, of Sherwood died in a two-car collision Saturday on 3456 in Nodawa Township, St. Joseph County.

William Splinter, 8, was struck by a car and killed Saturday while riding a bicycle near his home in Detroit.

Thomas Powell, 56, of Roseville died Saturday when he was struck by a car in Roseville.

Oxford Twp. Couple Entertains Church Club

LAKE ORION — The 50 and Uppers Club of St. Joseph's Church held its first meeting recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Haines, 776 Lapeer, Oxford Township.

"Fun and Friendship" is the motto of the club, which will meet in the parish hall at 1:30 p.m. every Wednesday.

ville died Saturday when he was struck by a car in Roseville.

Evelyn Alexander, 4, of Jackson was killed Saturday when she was struck by an automobile near her home.

CYCLIST KILLED

Wayne Monkman, 34, died Saturday when a car collided with his motorcycle near his home in Sault Ste. Marie.

Paul Johnson, 29, of Burr Oak died Saturday of injuries suffered Friday in a two-car collision near Burr Oak.

Barney Krawczyk, 17, of Petokey was killed Sunday when he lost control of his car on McDougal Road in northwest Michigan. He was flung out and crushed when the car pinned him in a ditch.

Mrs. Larry Smalley, 22, and Rose Ann Zakashek, 18, sisters, of Alpena were killed when their car and another collided near Alpena.

PONTIAC DRIVER

Dale Fox, 23, of Pontiac, died Friday when his car overturned in Caldwell Township, Muskegon County.

Ronald E. Anderson, 29, of Milwaukee, Wis., drowned Saturday in Lake Idlewild in Lake County.

Louis Crocker, 17, of Flint, drowned in Lake Huron Saturday when his canoe capsized.

Robert Anderson, 25, of Wyandotte, drowned Saturday when he was thrown from a boat which had collided with a piling in the Detroit River.

Abraham Postema, 20, of Grand Rapids, drowned Saturday while swimming in Gun Lake near Grand Rapids.

Ford Gives Hospital $50,000 Installment

ROCHESTER — Ford Motor Co. Fund today presented $50,000 of a $150,000 grant to the Rochester Unit of Crittenton General Hospital.

The presentation was made this morning by Robert Miller, manager of Ford Motor Co. Utica plant.

The total grant is to be paid in three annual installments.

Ford Motor Co. Fund is a nonprofit corporation operated for educational and charitable purposes and is supported by contributions from Ford Motor Co. It is not related to the Ford Foundation.

Work is now under way on the 207-bed hospital to be located on Walton Boulevard just east of Livernois. The six-story building will be equipped to employ the latest in medical procedures and surgical techniques.

Construction is expected to take about two years. Cost of the building will be about $5.75 million.

To date more than $1.25 million has been pledged toward the unit.

This includes, in addition to the Ford grant, a $1.8 million grant through the Federal Hill Burton Fund, a $2-million mortgage loan from the B. C. Ziegler Co. of West Bend, Wis., and $125,000 pledged by the residents and industry of the area.

Chest X Rays Free at Fair

Free chest X-rays will be available again this year at the Michigan State Fair, which opens Friday evening and runs through Labor Day, Sept. 6.

The Detroit Department of Health's mobile chest X-ray unit will be located south of the Coliseum near the intersection of Fourth Avenue and Avenue B. It will be open from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. on opening day and from 1 p.m. to 9 p.m. the remainder of the fair.

In the past five years, 31,925 persons obtained free chest X-rays at the state fair. Of these, 56 were found to have either active or inactive tuberculosis.

Not yet filled is the vacancy on the board of review created when Mrs. Maude M. Panches resigned because of ill health.

City Council Fills Vacancies

KEEGO HARBOR — New members have been appointed to the city planning commission and municipal building authority.

The City Council has named Wendell Taylor, 2485 Willow Beach, and Robert DeLisle, 2845 Knollson, to the planning commission.

They replace Vernon Bradburn and Jack Zeunen.

Bradburn resigned from the authority when appointed to the peace as the city's justice of the peace.

Zeunen vacated his planning commission post because he plans to retire Sept. 1 from the Detroit Edison Co. and therefore can no longer represent utilities on the commission.

TO REPLACE BRADBURN

Leslie Randall, 2287 Maddy Lane, was named to replace Bradburn on the building authority.

Not yet filled is the vacancy on the board of review created when Mrs. Maude M. Panches resigned because of ill health.

Registration for School Set at White Lake

WHITE LAKE TOWNSHIP — Students in the 1st through 8th grades at Dublin School will register Sept. 9.

The opening day session will be from 8:30 to 10:30 a.m. Regular classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. Sept. 10, with dismissal scheduled for 2:55 p.m.

Registration for all kindergarten students will be held Sept. 10.

Those who registered in the spring are to report between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m.

Parents registering kindergarten students for the first time are to report between 12:30 and 2:30 p.m.

All bus schedules will remain the same as last year for students attending Dublin School and Walld Lake schools.

The Blue Water Fire and Drum Corps from Port Huron, outfitted in authentic Civil War uniforms, will perform on Veterans' Day at the Michigan State Fair Aug. 28. The fair opens Aug. 27 and runs through Sept. 6.

Like Song Says, the 'Moon Belongs to Everyone'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has some advice for would-be moon home-steaders: forget it.

"The moon belongs to the world, not the first arrival," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"We assume any exploration there will be handled on an international cooperative basis much like that in Antarctica," the spokesman said.

Over the years, however, many Americans have contemplated a life beyond earth. Some even filed claims with a county recorder, listing the moon or part of it as their own.

FILED CLAIM

In 1857, a man filed a quit claim deed in Navajo County, Arizona. He wanted enough land for his proposed King Solomon mines subdivision. The consideration was his "love and affection."

Others have claimed, via written declarations, Saturn, Venus, Pluto, Jupiter, Neptune, Mercury, the sun and "all planets between the planets of Mars and Jupiter."

The Bureau of Land Management, because of its name, has been the recipient of most of these claims. Two accordion-type folders now house a 20-year accumulation of about 200 claims and queries.

All have been answered, usually with a form letter which explains there is no legal basis for regarding the moon or planets as public land, and thus "there is no means or method by which they may be officially claimed or obtained by anyone."

PERSONAL LETTER

Occasionally, a personal letter is written. The bureau told one man seeking land with a view of the moon's Sea of Tranquility that land in Southern California provides "an excellent view of the Sea of Tranquility, if you have a telescope."

Then came his reply: "Apparently my letter did not explain my intentions correctly. I am interested in a parcel of land on the moon with a view of the Sea of Tranquility."

The form letter followed. The bureau decided one writer was a jokester, and told him in effect: "Live there six months, then we'll talk business."

BUSY CHILDREN

Many of the letters are from children.

A Stuttgart, Ark., youngster wrote: "I would like to put a claim (sic) on a planet. I would like to have Mercury but if it is taken I would like any planet I can."

One letter-writer asked, "Do you furnish free transportation for settlers?"

Some had an eye for money-making schemes. They included working real estate men, a man who wanted to start a mushroom plantation on Venus, one who hoped to start a trading stamp company on the moon.

Twenty years ago, an Alabamian asked for full information on moon claim requirements. He concluded his letter with his query: "Any taxes?"

Casino Opens; Revolt Over?

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic. (AP) — The nights are going to be less dreary although perhaps more expensive for some in Santo Domingo.

Gambling has been added to such nocturnal diversions at the Hotel Embajador as home movies, waiter baiting, diplomat watching, girl watching and waiting — waiting for service, for elevators, for dial tones and for the solution to the Dominican political crisis.

Four months almost to the night since it closed, the scarlet-carpeted, oak-paneled casino reopened Sunday night.

Opening night wasn't a smashing success, even if the hotel is filled with U.S. government officials, representatives of the Organization of American States and the United Nations, and foreign newsmen.

SPORT ATTIRE

As a concession to the revolutionary situation, patrons were allowed to wear sports shirts. Coats and ties were required before the rebellion.

A blackjack table went into action first. After an hour one of the two roulette wheels began its characteristic rattle. Only one young woman, an American, was among the blackjack players. She lost quickly.

Among the watchers were some uniformed members of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division, which is here with the OAS peace force.

Boys Town Honors

U-M Music Professor

BOYS TOWN, Neb. (AP)—Dr. Louise Cuyler, professor of music and chairman of the department of musicology at the University of Michigan, was the recipient Sunday of the 14th annual Boys Town Medal of St. Cecilia.

The medal is presented annually by Boys Town in recognition of outstanding contributions to the field of liturgical music.

It Seems to Me...

President Infers Accusations in Refusing Hearing to Ford

Michigan is pretty indignant over the treatment accorded our own Rep. GERALD FORD by the President of the United States. Not so long ago, the President announced that a confidential briefing of leaders had been breached by the Wolverine Congressional leader.

Mr. FORD denied everything. He waxed indignant.

But he held his dignity and principles of high purpose as he requested a White House meeting with the President to prove and establish his innocence. Did he get it? He did not.

LBJ, with utter indifference, casually looked out of the window and left the Michigan man standing hat in hand. This treatment is hardly becoming to the head of the Nation. GERALD FORD is the House minority leader and one of the most influential Congressmen in Washington. Furthermore, he's one of the most respected by his own party and the opposition.

In commenting on this unhappy turn of affairs, The San Diego Union said:

"Rep. Ford showed courage, dignity and grace and a fine sense of patriotism in replying to a bitter, taunting and personal attack by the President. He puts the best interests of his country above personal feelings... and displays high quality of leadership... President Johnson should use his high position... against his principal critics, the Democrats who oppose him and not the Republicans who support him."

Many staunch Democrats agree that Representative Ford has not been treated honorably or fairly. You can't accuse someone of a wrong and then refuse to hear his side or retract.

Plain Fact....

The question isn't 'original with me but has been looming larger in the minds of a nation. Stated succinctly it amounts to this:

How can a nation that laid low a huge Japanese city with one fearful blast; and which flashed pictures of Mars more than 130 million miles — plus other equally incredible feats — how can that nation be checkmated for weeks, months and years by ragged Oriental hoodlums whose military equipment is woefully inferior?

If our hands are so badly tied we can't use real force, let's bring about the best settlement we can — and call it off.

The Payoff....

ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG's first official act at the U.N. was to present this Nation's meek surrender to France and Russia on the matter of paying delinquent dues.

For eleven months a controversy has been waging and raging, with thirteen nations refusing to hear their share of the peace-keeping operations. Over a hundred "settled up." France and Russia were the main recalcitrants with Soviet satellites tagging along. Slowly the bulk of the countries which had upheld the law began to defect until more than half agreed to bow their heads and let the free-loaders continue to huff and puff. So-o-o-o-o, the U. S. capitulated.

The International Court of Justice at The Hague rules against the Reds but the U.N. seems to revolve more and more around this point: what do the Russians want?

There's the payoff. Once more our waning, faltering international "prestige" suffers another body blow.

How low will we ultimately sink?

In Honor Due....

Washington agitation is revived for a suitable Vice Presidential residence.

Surely we should have one. The office deserves it.

The Vice President's position in the Nation and in the world steadily increases. He has become "Assistant President." With all the money this great nation fritters away and throws to the dogs, it's high time we buttressed our second in command. He ought live in a style to which he should become accustomed.

Our new House Office Building probably constitutes the most profligate building boondoggling of all time. With these legislators taking care of themselves in such extreme luxury and affluence, H. H. HUMPHREY deserves a normal mansion in keeping with his position as the Number Two man in the Greatest Nation on earth.

And in Conclusion...

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

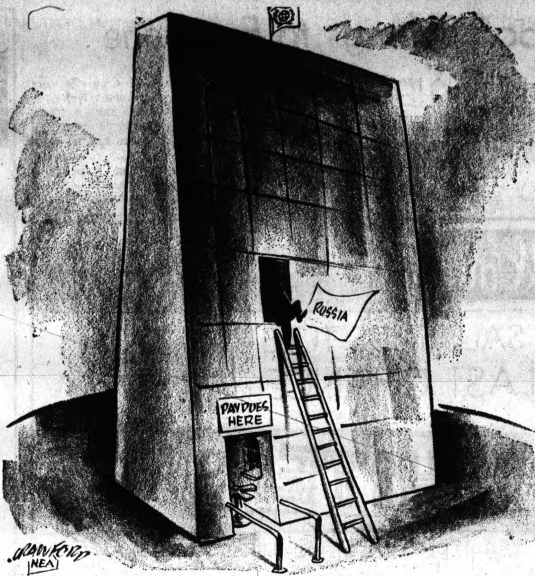

A few days ago I received sixteen (16) pieces of junk mail in a single delivery; and it all slid straight into that yawning you-know-what without being opened. Overheard: "The nicest thing about passing 40 is the fact that the Army is no longer interested in you, but the gals still are."

When you sound your automobile horn, you're using the invention of one of our own boys: ROBERT M. CRITCHFIELD.

Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young lady in the area: Crystine Jones. The teacher found five youngsters on their knees in the hall. "What are you doing," she demanded. One looked up. "Shooting craps." The teacher nodded in relief. "O. K. I was afraid you were breaking the law by playing."

Roger Kyes says GM has built its five millionth air conditioned car and all GM makes experience huge upswings. Pontiac is running better than 40%.

ROBERT EUNSON, Associated Press, is one of the few men in the world transferred to New York City, only to find himself in a smaller hamlet than the one he left. Bob headed the AP bureau in Tokyo with distinction and now becomes an assistant General Manager at headquarters. LAWRENCE WELK produces one of the most satisfying TV shows of the week. If Miron ("Sing Along With") had enough sense to leave a winning format alone, he'd be in the big dough today, but he decided he was a variety show champion, and faded into TV obscurity. Dept. of Cheers and Jeers: the C's—MARGARET (PEGGY) ALLEN; the J's—the politicians who discharged her. —HAROLD A. FITZGERALD.

David Lawrence Says:

U.N. Not Designed as Superstate

WASHINGTON — It's an ill wind that blows no good. Luckily the controversy over the failure of certain governments to pay "peace-keeping" expenses levied by the United Nations could result in a stronger rather than a weaker mechanism for the maintenance of peace in the world.

The time may come when the LAWRENCE American people will be benefited not only by what France and Russia unwillingly accomplished in refusing to pay certain expenses of the United Nations but by what America did in announcing that it will also feel free hereafter to pay or refrain from paying certain expenses that may be imposed by the organization.

The real point at issue, which has been stressed in the public discussions, is that the United Nations is not today and never was intended to be a superstate — a world government capable of levying at will the sovereignty or independence of any nation.

The United Nations was designed to be and is really a federation of states whose members are authorized by its charter under Article 51 to take collective action for their own defense and for the defense of any other nations that may request it or need it — as in the case of South Viet Nam.

But "collective action" means voluntary action, and no nation which chooses to remain aloof can be required to pay the expenses of any war or peace-keeping operation of which it wishes not to be a part.

It is clear that a sovereign nation cannot be compelled against its will to participate in the work of the specialized agencies of the U.N., as these extend from social and economic problems to the handling of a variety of activities by nations voluntarily seeking to improve the general welfare of certain countries or regions.

The fundamental principle of the United Nations Charter is that nations shall work together collectively on a purely voluntary basis.

Otherwise, a group of nations interested in promoting aggression and imperialism throughout the world — as, for instance, the Soviet Union and Red China — could some day take possession by majority vote of the United Nations Assembly and order the United States to do its bidding.

It will be argued that in the Security Council, this country, like Russia, has a veto. But, on the other hand, the General Assembly in recent years has endeavored to do what the Security Council was thought to be obligated to do — to take measures to keep the peace.

COULD TELL U.S. ignoring the veto system of the Security Council, a majority of the 115 nations in the General Assembly could attempt to tell even the United States what it must do.

So it all boils down to whether the U.N. is to be a super-government or a federation of states which permits individual members to act voluntarily in joining or refraining from participating in "peace-keeping" operations.

The responsibility for stopping aggression now has been placed squarely on the voluntary alliances of nations, where it belongs, and if they do not have the military and economic force to do the job collectively in special situations that arise, the U.N. would hardly have achieved it either by arbitrarily levying assessments for "expenses."

Crime Curbs Are Unlikely Despite Growing Need

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON: Crime marches on!

While a waning Congress debates everything from wheat and cotton subsidies to liberalized immigration quotas, stern measures to stem our mounting crime wave are given little chance of action at this session.

FBI statistics reveal that the U.S. rate of serious crimes is increasing six times faster than our population growth.

A murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, Montgomery serious larceny or auto theft occurs on the average of every 15 seconds in this country.

The national increase in serious crimes is up 11 per cent over last year, but here in the district which is administered by the federal government the serious crimes rate has risen nearly 20 per cent!

For the 38th consecutive month, Washington's crime rate for July soared well above that of the comparative month last year.

ONLY DEFEATED

"The only issue that could defeat me," President Lyndon B. Johnson confided to friends in the early weeks of last year's presidential campaign, "is crime in the streets."

Nearly a year later crime in the streets continues to skyrocket. A bloody insurrection in Los Angeles has shocked the world, and given communism its greatest propaganda ammunition in years.

Forcible rape in the District of Columbia last month increased 40 per cent over July of 1964.

To add to the horror, the district leads all states and comparable U.S. cities in syphilis and gonorrhea. No other area approaches Washington's gonorrhea rate, and few other cities approach even half the rate here.

WAS RAPED

The wife of a high-ranking State Department official was raped recently while walking her two dogs in a Georgetown park in midmorning.

Within the past two weeks

three other Georgetown women have suffered similarly at the hands of a man who answers the same description, and who is still at large.

Last week a Washington man was caught in the act of raping and robbing a waitress. It was his fifth rape offense charge here in less than a year.

USE LAW

The do-gooders on and off the court benches who use the law to protect criminals rather than the innocent are busily blaming everyone but the offenders for their crimes.

Something is obviously wrong with our court and penal system, therefore, and it is up to Congress to take action.

Voice of the People:

Readers Give Opinions on Streamlined Religion

So the world's in a mess! What kind of religion is Earl Borden looking for? The kind that Christians enjoy on Sunday morning, or just plain, modern religion?

To many it's wonderful to hear 60 minutes of God's word and sometimes it would do us good to listen even longer instead of looking forward to all the recreation that could be done during the week.

God gave us six days to work and play, and the seventh day to rest and worship.

MRS. PAUL COOK
OXFORD

Mr. Borden's solution of streamlining religion is part of the mess in the world today. Most people have a form of religion but few have true salvation. Going to church, reading a prayer while listening to music, and a five minute sermon—what problem would that solve?

Our problem is that we have forgotten a simple command. One is to remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy. A true Christian will thirst after the things of God and want to spend time in his place of worship praying for fellowmen.

The world's ills are brought on by the worldly people, not Godly people.

GLADYS HODGE
243 W. STRATHMORE

I grant you the world is in a mess, but I disagree that religion is outmoded and takes too much of our time. People are going to flock to the fold when they know they are given the right principles and ideals to base their thinking on.

Man is taking the church and changing it to suit his way of thinking. The church should take man and change him to Christ's way of thinking. It's about time we spent more time in the ways of Christ instead of in the ways of the world.

EDWARD PAIGE

Achilles Heel

The Holland Evening Sentinel

The Achilles heel of the Great Society is that it is completely preoccupied by re-distributing wealth instead of creating it. Social scientists have long leached over the relative merits of two opposing viewpoints regarding improving national welfare. Some would take from the rich and give to the poor. Others would improve productivity so that both rich and poor would be better off. Historically the latter attitude has prevailed and has brought us to the highest level of affluence of any civilization in history.

The present administration however has shown almost complete disregard for preserving the vital incentives which have so successfully made our nation productive. The Medicare program transfers wealth from the young to the old. The poverty programs will be financed largely by the graduated income tax, another transfer from those who produce to those who are unproductive. Minimum wage increases similarly penalize the valuable worker and reward the unproductive worker.

It seems inevitable that in the long run, our lack of appreciation of productivity as a prerequisite for total national welfare will bring us face to face with national disaster. The Russians are learning this fact of life through bitter experience. Perhaps we can only learn in the same way. No one has yet solved the problem of continuing to enjoy golden eggs after killing the goose.

and ghoulishly ingenious ways to bleed markets of automobiles, private airplanes, etc. al.

Under discussion, among other things, are plans to use auto companies for injuries to motorists driving cars not equipped with safety belts — cars made before such belts were required equipment anywhere. Some of our best friends are lawyers. We wish they would buzz these Miami fellow practitioners of theirs to the effect that this sort of publicity can only harm the legal profession — badly.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The sign in Benjamin Ross' ice-cream store says, "Crime does not pay." It's a word to the wise, from someone with first-hand experience.

Two men held up Ross' place three days before Christmas in 1963 and took $21. One was caught within half an hour and later was sentenced to 10 years in prison.

Less than three weeks later, a gunman took $18 and fired a shot which grazed Ross. The bandit was captured within 20 minutes and wound up with a 20-year prison term.

Ross, 70, a retired chiropractor who runs the confectionery store "as a hobby," decided it wouldn't hurt to remind other would-be robbers that the penalty can be severe.

The little city, whose western and northwestern edge was gouged by a vicious tornado last Palm Sunday, wants to play host to the nation next month. The "Swiss Cheese Capital of the World" is going ahead with plans for the 1965 cheese days Sept. 18 and 19.

The event, planned long before the twister cut into Monroe that dark afternoon of April 11, injuring 100 persons and causing almost a million dollars in damage, has taken on new significance.

"Now we look at it as sort of a 'thank you' to everybody who helped us," said one businessman.

Cheese Day is an event in this predominantly Swiss farming, manufacturing and cheesemaking center of 8,500 near the Illinois border in southern Wisconsin.

There has been a Cheese Day every five or 10 years since 1914. The last one was in 1955 when 100,000 persons crowded into the community to watch parades, hear band concerts and Swiss yodling, dancing in the streets and of course, down prodigious amounts of Monroe-made beer — and cheese.

Nasser, Feisal Discuss Yemen

JIDDA, Saudi Arabia (UPI)—United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser and King Feisal of Saudi Arabia met today to discuss a possible settlement of the three-year-old civil war in Yemen.

The two-day meeting, concluding today, was viewed by political observers as a vital key to the future of the Middle East.

Nasser, the acknowledged leader of the Arab world, has backed the revolutionary republican regime of the Yemen. Egypt has committed 50,000 troops, armed with Soviet-supplied equipment, to bolster the regime of President Abdullah Al-Sallal.

Feisal, Saudi Arabian ruler for less than a year but nonetheless a powerful figure in the Middle East, has thrown his support behind the royalists of the former Imam, Mohammed Althority for the Yemen with an Badr.

The Imam was deposed at the start of the civil war three years ago.

Nasser, Feisal and factions within the Yemen agreed in principle that the peninsula nation of five million people must be allowed to decide its own future.

Nasser and most of the republican factions demand the preservation of a republican-type government, excluding all royalists.

Feisal and the royalist groups seek instead a transitional eventual plebiscite in which the Yemenis would decide exactly what type of leadership they want.

Nasser arrived here yesterday to a warm greeting from the Feisal and a delegation of 45 Saudi princes.

Supplier of Heroin Is Gangland Victim

BOSTON (AP) — Wady David, 52, described by police as once the area's "biggest supplier of heroin," was found slain early Sunday in an alley in Boston's South End. It was the 23rd gangland slaying in Greater Boston in 18 months, police said.

Police said David once made $200,000 a year from narcotics sales. He had $4.25 in his pockets when found.

In 1952, David was sentenced to two years in prison on a narcotics charge, and in 1955 he received a three-year federal term on narcotics charges.

Bathers Cheer Chilly Nudes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Two young women and a man swimming in chilly San Francisco Bay covered only by goosepimples Saturday while hundreds of bathers at the city's Aquatic Park cheered.

Police moved in quickly with blankets and charged the three with swimming "without wearing suitable bathing dress."

Shirley Elsie, 21, clothed in a flowered jailhouse dress yesterday, explained: "We feel there ought to be beaches for nude bathing here, just as there are in Europe."

Heart Attack Is Fatal to 'Gypsies' Champion'

DARTFORD, England (UPI) — Norman Dodds, the so-called "Gypsies' champion" in the House of Commons, died yesterday of a heart attack. His death cut the Labor government's majority in Parliament to two votes.

Dodds, 61, had been in Commons for 20 years. He built up a strong following for his interest in protecting the rights of the "little man."

Job Corps 'Troublemakers' Rooted Out

MORGANFIELD, Ky. (AP) — By transferring and discharging students involved in a Friday riot, Job Corps officials hoped today to return Camp Breckinridge training to its normal schedule.

"We are getting the people involved," said Charles Preston, director for public relations. "It will be business as usual with classes and job training."

Thirteen students had left the training program Sunday, voluntarily or under orders, including seven against whom charges of public drunkenness were dropped when their dismissal was ordered. Six others were transferred to other centers.

Most of the 546 students at the camp at the time of the rioting that injured 13 persons, fled in fear during the weekend. Of these, 483 had returned by Sunday night.

WITHOUT LEAVE

Thirty-seven were absent without leave and seven took leave.

Job Corps officials were checking hotels in the area for AWOLs.

Preston said those who refused to return would be dropped from the Job Corps, a part of the federal anti-poverty program aimed at providing job training for youths 16 to 21.

Of those who returned late, Preston said, "Normally, any student who misses a bus (to return to camp) is in for a disciplinary hearing. But these circumstances are a little bit unusual."

The FBI was investigating allegations by students of a "protection racket." One student said he was being charged $13.50 a month to keep from being beaten.

Officials differed on the number of students involved in the rioting with estimates ranging from 50 to 150.

They also differed over whether it was a spontaneous reaction to a fight in the mess hall between a Negro and a white youth or whether it was planned.

James Hughes, camp director, said he planned to meet with students Thursday to discuss grievances. He said he held a "frank discussion" with about 200 of them Friday after the riot.

An additional program to teach radio and television repair was expected to start soon, but officials said this was planned several weeks before the outbreak of violence.

There were about 31,000 banks in the nation in 1961 compared with approximately 14,000 today.

Revive Old Favorites with Nectarines

"As good as Grandma's cooking!" That expression with its nostalgic ring always cheers today's busy homemaker who may not spend as much time preparing meals as Grandma did.

No matter how wonderful Grandma's cooking may have been, she lacked one ingredient that would have made some recipes even better. She didn't have today's fresh nectarines from California. Nectarines are one of the world's oldest fruits but nearly all the nectarines California now ships are new varieties developed since World War II.

With these modern varieties, you can make old-fashioned recipes taste more beguiling than ever. So it's time to revive old favorites with the help of luscious new California nectarines.

It's hardly ever necessary to remove the fuzzless skins of nectarines for recipes. In fact, it seems a shame to get rid of that gorgeous red-and-gold outer covering. However, if you do want to peel them on certain occasions and retain the rosy blush that is just under the skin, cover the fruit with boiling water for about a minute and the skin will strip off easily.

Should you wish to expand your nectarine recipe repertoire while the fruit is in season, simply write to Nectarines, 701 Fulton Avenue, Sacramento, California 95825. You'll receive a recipe leaflet full of exciting things to do with fresh nectarines.

In salad, with meat, as dessert—just decide what part of the meal you want fresh nectarines to spark!

SPICED-CIDER NECTARINE SALAD

|-----------------------------|-------------------------|
| 1/2 lemon | 1 cup mayonnaise |
| 1/2 teaspoon whole cloves | 1 cup dairy sour cream |
| 1 quart apple cider | 1 tablespoon sugar |
| 1 stick (3 inches) cinnamon | 2 teaspoons lemon juice |
| 1 teaspoon salt | 1/2 teaspoon bitters |
| 3 envelopes plain gelatin | 3 fresh nectarines |

Stud lemon with cloves. Simmer in saucepan with 3 cups cider, cinnamon and salt about 10 minutes. Remove lemon and cinnamon. Combine gelatin with remaining 1 cup cider; heat gently, stirring, until gelatin is dissolved. Add 2/3 cup gelatin mixture to hot cider; cool slightly. Blend remaining gelatin mixture with mayonnaise, cream, sugar, lemon juice and bitters. Cut nectarines lengthwise into halves; twist to separate. Remove seeds. Cut each half not quite through into 4 or 5 petals. Arrange skin-sides down in 2-quart ring mold. Pour cider mixture over nectarines. Chill until almost firm. Pour mayonnaise mixture over cider layer. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with mint sprigs if you wish. Makes 6 servings.

OLD-FASHIONED NECTARINE CHUTNEY

|--------------------------|---|
| 4 or 5 fresh nectarines | 2 cups pared, diced apple or drained canned pineapple tidbits |
| 2 cups cider vinegar | 1 cup thinly sliced onion |
| 1 lb. brown sugar | 1 cup raisins |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons salt | 1/2 lemon, thinly sliced |
| 1 teaspoon ground ginger | |
| 1/4 teaspoon cayenne | |

Slice nectarines to make 3 cups. Combine vinegar, brown sugar, salt, ginger and cayenne in large saucepan; cook over low heat until reduced to about half. Add apple, onion, raisins and lemon; cook about 10 minutes longer. Add nectarines; bring just to boil. Chill well. Serve with capon basted with curried butter or with other meats. Makes about 1 1/2 quarts.

|-------------------------|------------------------------------|
| 5 or 6 fresh nectarines | 1/4 teaspoon nutmeg |
| 1/2 cup honey or sugar | 2/3 cup milk |
| 1 teaspoon vanilla | 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine |
| 1/2 teaspoon salt | Whipped cream |
| 2 cups biscuit mix | |
| 2 tablespoons sugar | |

Slice nectarines to make 4 cups. Combine with honey, vanilla and salt. Blend biscuit mix, sugar and nutmeg. Add milk; stir to soft dough. Add butter; mix well. Spoon onto ungreased baking sheet, forming into 6 biscuits. Bake in 425-degree (hot) oven 10 to 12 minutes, until golden brown. Split biscuits. Spoon nectarines and cream over bottom halves; add tops. Serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

DESSERTS

NECTARINE CUSTARD ICE CREAM

- | | |
|-------------------------|-------------------------------|
| 2 eggs, beaten | 1/4 teaspoon almond extract |
| 1 1/2 cups milk | 1 1/2 cups light cream |
| 1 cup sugar | 3 or 4 large fresh nectarines |
| 1/8 teaspoon salt | Crushed ice |
| 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla | Coarse salt |

Combine eggs, milk, sugar and 1/8 teaspoon salt in saucepan. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until mixture coats metal spoon lightly. DO NOT BOIL. Remove from heat; stir in vanilla, almond extract and cream. Cool. Blanch and peel nectarines; halve or slice, then mash with fork or press through coarse sieve to make 1 1/2 cups. Add to custard mixture. Pour into 5-quart freezer can. Cover. Mix ice and coarse salt as manufacturer directs. (If no directions are given, use 8 parts ice to 1 part salt.) Pack around freezer can in freezer; attach crank and turn, slowly at first, then more rapidly. Add ice and salt as needed; continue freezing until it is difficult to turn crank. If ice cream is not to be eaten immediately, repack for "ripening." Drain melted ice through small hole in can. Remove cover of ice cream can; plug opening in cover. Remove dasher; pack with 1 part salt; pack around freezer can. Cover top with heavy cloth.

Freezer Tray Variation: Substitute 1 cup whipping cream for light cream. Cool cooked custard mixture without cream; add mashed nectarines. Turn into 2 freezer trays. Set control for fast freezing. Freeze 30 minutes to 1 hour, or until "mushy" in center and frozen about 1 inch around edges. Whip cream until thick and shiny but not stiff. Turn partially frozen mixture into chilled bowl; beat until smooth. Fold in cream. Return to freezer trays; freeze until firm, stirring 2 or 3 times during first hour. Reset control for normal freezing.

Makes about 1 1/2 quarts.

Supremes in Concert at OU

These five area young people seem to be comfortably enjoying their picnic dinner before the start of the Supremes Concert at Oakland University. Eating with their shoes off won unanimous approval from (left to right) Mary Stark, Patti Kelley, Keith Stark and Caroline Rosier of Birmingham and John Hanley of Detroit.

Pleasant weather prevailed and the Supremes Concert on the Meadow Brook Music Festival Grounds at Oakland University was able to go off without a hitch on Saturday. A well-behaved group of area young people attended the performance which was sponsored by the Oakland University Scholarship Committee. Mrs. Addison Oakley of Cherdore Road as coordinator of Volunteer Activities was chairman of the event.

The concert was opened by the Fugitives, a five-piece area combo that has gained much attention lately. Their rock 'n' roll music set feet tapping and hands clapping shortly after the concert began at 8:30 p.m.

Next on the program was the New Gibson and Martin Trio. These three boys demonstrated their ability to clown as well as sing favorite folk songs and win large audience approval.

The Supremes, naturally, were the hit of the evening. Appearing in green satin gowns with sequined bodice and shoes, these girls stole the show. They spent more than an hour on stage and over and over showed their polish and ability to please audiences.

Master of ceremonies Fred Coffin kept the show going smoothly. Before the arrival of the Supremes, he introduced Mrs. Alfred G. Wilson and Mrs. Oakley to the audience.

Besides the tremendous help of the scholarship committee, the Clarkston, Rochester and Pontiac Jaycees also aided in the arrangements for the concert.

The Lakeland Optimist morning and evening clubs, staff members from Oakland University and the husbands and friends of the scholarship committee members are also to be applauded for their efforts in producing the show.

An overall view of the festival grounds and pavilion shows the large number of people in attendance for the Saturday evening performance. Sponsored by the OU Scholarship committee, the concert was under the leadership of Mrs. Addison Oakley, coordinator of Volunteer Activities.

The lawns of the Meadow Brook Music Festival Grounds at OU were packed. Area young people spent more than two hours enthusiastically showing their approval of the performers at the Saturday evening concert. Even the weatherman helped by holding back the rain he had been promising.

Showstopper at the Saturday evening concert on the Meadow Brook Festival grounds was the world renowned trio from Detroit, the Supremes. Called upon to do two encores, the Supremes were on stage for over an hour. The girls sang their current and past hits as well as several numbers from their albums and recent engagement at New York's Cocacabana Club. From left to right the girls are Florence Ballard, Mary Wilson, and Dina Ross, lead singer.

Visits and Travel Spark Hills News

By SIGNE KARLSTROM
Mrs. William C. Newberg and sons Sandy and Bob returned home recently after a month at Marblehead, Mass. Mr. Newberg returned a week earlier and son Jim visited his aunt, Mrs. Wesley Day in Seattle, Wash.

Dr. and Mrs. John Bookwalter of Newton Highlands, Mass. (the former Judy Newberg) and their two-month-old son, William Henry, have also been vacationing with the Newbergs.

On Wednesday, Mrs. Newberg will entertain a few friends for luncheon. Among them will be Mrs. Henry Dorsey and daughter Evelyn of Texas. They are the houseguests of Mrs. Dorsey's sister and brother-in-law, the Harvey Kreegases.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Segher have returned after visiting their grandson, Andrew W. Watts, who is attending Culver Military Academy.

They brought with them Andrew's twin sisters, Sheena and Shelley who are spending some time with their grandparents. The children's parents are Dr. and Mrs. R. W. Watts of Lakewood, Ohio. Mrs. Joseph E. Wellman of Falmouth Road is back home after wonderful weeks of traveling in Europe. Together with her daughter and son-in-law Dr. and Mrs. James Nelson of Topeka, Kan. they attended son Mark Wellman's recent wedding to the former Carina Pehrson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Pehrson of Gothenberg, Sweden.

The wedding took place in Hagakyrkan in Gothenberg and the reception was held at Henriksberg which is a special spot for happy gatherings overlooking the beautiful Bay of Gothenburg.

COPENHAGEN STOPOVER
The new Mr. and Mrs. Wellman sailed for America, stopping at Copenhagen where they were greeted by Mrs. Wellman and her party as well as Carina's parents who had come to wave good-bye. It was also an opportunity for another festive evening before Mrs. Wellman left for the states by plane via England.

At this time the young bride has met her father-in-law Mr. Wellman as well as some members of the family and friends.

The young couple has departed for Fort Bragg, N. C. where he is stationed with the Army.

Marriage Is Not for Children

Get Lawyer's Opinion

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: We are having a heartbreaking problem at our house. Our 17-year-old son is being blamed for getting a 17-year-old girl pregnant.

We know the girl's parents well and they have had a lot of heartache from this girl as she has been a boy-crazy since the age of 13.

The girl's father claims our son is responsible for her condition. Our son says he isn't sure as there are others in the picture, too. But rather than name a lot of his friends and make a scandal, he will marry the girl.

We are able to help our son financially and are willing to do so if he marries her, but he doesn't love her and with this kind of start their chances for a lasting marriage are slim.

Abby, we are desperate for a decision. We realize our son is not blameless. But how much responsibility should a 17-year-old boy assume in a case like this?

If any of your readers have ever had to face this problem, I hope they'll help us.

NIGHTMARE IN AUSTIN

DEAR NIGHTMARE: It's noble of your son to offer to marry the girl rather than implicate "a lot of his friends."

But under the circumstances, marriage is not the solution to this problem. Marriage is forever, not a temporary escape. And it's not for children, especially where there is neither love nor respect.

Your best source of advice and counsel is a lawyer.

DEAR ABBY: How does one go about meeting a gray-haired, middle-aged bachelor? He attends church alone and so do I. I am dying to meet him. But how?

BRUNETTE
DEAR BRUNETTE: Keep

your eyes and ears open. Eventually, he will speak to someone you know. And when he does, let that person know (subtly) that you would like to meet him.

But don't let HIM know you are "dying" to meet him or you'll be a dead duck.

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you about a friend of mine. He insists on washing his hair every single day. I am afraid if he doesn't quit washing his hair so much he will go bald before he is 20. (He is 17.)

He has a very nice head of hair, but he is worrying me sick. Could you please advise this boy through your column. He never misses it.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: If your friend has a normal, healthy head of hair, washing it daily will do it no harm. Contrary to your fears, those who keep their hair cleanest, keep it longest.

Miss Wilson
Wears Silk
Ivory Gown

Kathleen Curtis Wilson chose a Blanche gown of ivory peau de soie veiled with English net for her marriage to Robert Ellis Haskett, Saturday, in Christ Church Cranbrook.

Alencon lace framed the portrait neckline and accented her court train and an open pillow for her French illusion veil. She carried white roses and Stephanotis.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. Clark D. Matthews, Bloomfield Hills, Edward E. Wilson, Metamora, and the Stanley Sinks of Grayling. Mrs. William K. Kinslow Jr. of Chapel Hill, N. C. was her sister's honor matron for vows pledged before Rev. T. H. Michael Nesbitt.

BRIDESMAIDS

Bridesmaids were Christine Myers, Erma Livingstone, Mrs. Alden Hanser, Anne Haskett, Kathleen Severs and Lynn Stewart.

With best man Michael Haskett, were the ushers, Edward E. and George E. Wilson, Stephan Sink, Peter Haskett, Jon Hobrock and John Kopp.

After a reception in Orchard Lake Country Club the couple left for a northern honeymoon. They will live in Mt. Pleasant where he will attend Central Michigan University.

MRS. ROBERT ELLIS HASKETT

Kathleen Curtis Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Clark D. Matthews, Bloomfield Hills, and Edward E. Wilson of Metamora, spoke vows with Robert Ellis Haskett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sink of Grayling, Saturday, in Christ Church Cranbrook.

Sharon Gaddis,
Robert Ferdon
Exchange Vows

Returned from a honeymoon in the Smoky Mountain area are Robert Wesley Ferdon Jr. and Sharon Gaddis, daughter of Lakeview Lane, Highland Township, and his bride, the former Sharon Lee Gaddis.

Chantilly lace and white nylon fashioned a gown for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Gaddis of Dellwood Court at the recent ceremony in Our Lady of the Lakes Catholic Church.

Her attendants were Tommye Waldrop, Mrs. Reuben McDonald and Mrs. Clifford Howard. The bridegroom, son of the Robert Ferdons of Barbeau, had John Peck for best man. Reuben McDonald and Clifford Howard were ushers at the rite performed by Rev. F. J. Delaney.

Area Pair

300 AT RECEPTION

Reception for 300 guests in Stevens Hall followed the double-ring candlelight rite performed by Rev. Charles Sturm.

Parents of the couple are the James W. Littletons, Seminole Road, Redford Township, and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Blamy Jr., Bloomfield Village.

Crystals and pearls accented the bride's Empire gown of ivory peau de soie with chapel train. A matching tapered crown held her imported illusion veil.

Phalaenopsis orchids centered her bouquet of cascading ivy and Stephanotis.

With Judith Littleton, her sister's honor attendant, were bridesmaids Mrs. Donald M. Lucas, Kathy Keller, V. Jane Gobeke, Sue Hathaway and Maryetta Andrews.

Donald M. Lucas was best man, David Littleton, Richard Rogers ushered.

The couple will honeymoon in Florida. They are alumni of Albion College and he is in graduate work at Wayne State University.

Host Keeps Tickets at Theater

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When inviting guests to the theater (tickets bought beforehand) does the host hand each guest his own ticket, or, when all have arrived, does he precede the guests, hand all the tickets to the ticket-taker and the guests follow him into the theater?

A: The host holds the tickets his hand so that the ticket-taker may see them, but he allows his guests to go in ahead of him.

A: At the head of the aisle, if the usher is there, he gives her the stubs and steps back, and the ladies precede him down the aisle. If however, the usher is already part way down the aisle, the host may lead the way until he reaches her.

If it is a very large party, it is wise for the host to tell his guests in what order they are going to sit, so that they may arrive at their row in more or less that order, thereby avoiding a great deal of shuffling about and confusion in the aisle.

SEATING

Q: My daughter is going to be married next month, and I would like to know the proper seating of the wedding party at the bridal table. My daughter and I disagree on how they should be seated.

The best man is seated at the right of the bride. Bridesmaids and ushers are seated alternately around the rest of the table.

Polly's Pointers Last Minute Rush

DEAR POLLY — May I pass on a little saying that has helped me so much? "Whatever you have to do, do in the FOREPART of PLENTY OF TIME." This does not sound like much when first read but read it over and it may help you, as it has me, from so much last-minute breathless hurry to meet deadlines.—MRS. O.P.

GIRLS — No one needs to ponder over this more than I as I am afraid I am one of the world's worst for doing things at the last minute. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for the girls who sit all day at a desk. Release the back garters fastening your stockings to your girdle when sitting for long periods of time. Your legs will feel much better after this all-day sitting.

This relieves that tight, pulled feeling of your stockings around the legs and improves circulation.—BERNICE

DEAR POLLY — When washing rough or sand-coated plaster walls, I use a large piece of nylon net. This really scrubs off the dirt or finger marks and leaves no stray bits of net.

There is always an excess of sponge left on such walls when washing with this. I do use a clean damp sponge to wipe the excess water off the walls. The nylon net also is good for just wiping down walls or removing dust after the long winter months.—MRS. S.K.

"Astonishing statistic!"
"Never dreamed it could be that high."
"Why didn't you tell me this years ago?"
"A revelation to all businessmen."
"Are you sure these figures are correct?"
"Great Scott!"

Many people are amazed when we tell them the facts: In a year, 43% of all home building and repairs shoppers in Michigan consulted their Yellow Pages before selecting a dealer.*

This means that Michigan people looked in their Yellow Pages 4,271,000 times for builders, roofers, carpenters, painters, plumbers and electricians.

The facts on how your prospects use the Yellow Pages are impressive, too.

All of which underscores the profitability of your advertising in the Yellow Pages. That's where the buyers go. That's where they ought to get your message loud and clear.

Greek Premier to Ban Rallies?

Say Crackdown Set
After Friday Riot

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Premier Elias Tsirimokos is reported ready to crack down hard on any more demonstrations in Athens in support of fallen premier George Papandreu.

Sources said Tsirimokos' four-day-old government was prepared to ban all public demonstrations in downtown Athens and order police to move in fast whenever large crowds gathered.

So far only street marches have been banned while gatherings in stadiums and theaters were permitted. But more than 150 persons were injured in a six-hour riot Friday night when some 15,000 demonstrators tried to march on Parliament following a pro-Papandreu rally in a downtown theater.

A police official said it was the worst outbreak of violence in the Greek capital since the 1947-49 civil war.

500 INJURED
More than 500 persons have been injured and a leftist student has been killed in street disorders since 25-year-old King Constantine fired Papandreu July 15. They disagreed on who should control the armed forces. Tsirimokos, who last week broke with Papandreu's Center Union party, was believed still a few votes short of the majority in Parliament he needs to survive. He goes before Parliament this week to ask for a vote of confidence.

While King Constantine spent the weekend with his family on the island of Corfu, Papandreu was putting his case before the people in the provinces.

The former premier called the royal palace "a workshop manufacturing fake governments" in a speech at Volos Saturday night. He suggested the king "stay high on the pedestal" and leave politics to the politicians.

Elections were "the only recourse" in the current crisis, Papandreu told 40,000 cheering supporters at Larissa Sunday night. He referred to Tsirimokos and George Athanasiadis Novas, the king's first unsuccessful choice to succeed Papandreu, as "purgers" and "traitors."

LBJ Church Is Scene of Letter Find

WASHINGTON (AP) — A letter written by President James A. Garfield to his mother shortly after he was shot by an assassin in 1881 was found recently in the basement of President Johnson's church.

The Rev. George R. Davis, pastor of the National City Christian Church, told of the letter in his sermon yesterday. President and Mrs. Johnson Johnson were among the worshippers present.

In the letter, apparently written during the weeks that Garfield lay wounded in the White House, the 28th president assured his mother that reports of his condition were exaggerated and that he would recover.

But he died Sept. 20 after being taken to the New Jersey seaside.

Dr. Davis said he did not know how the letter, which was found when custodians moved some boxes, came into the church's possession but added that Garfield was a lay preacher there.

The pastor revealed later that a church custodian also found a waxed white flower from a bouquet sent to Garfield's funeral by Queen Victoria of Britain. It was found in a small, glass-covered box.

Free Society '65 Goal: 100,000 Members

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater's Free Society Association is out to enlist 100,000 members by the end of this year.

Denison Kitchel, president of the conservative association for which Goldwater serves as honorary chairman, said today there is no reason for Republican party leaders to fret. He said the group would not hurt the GOP financially and should help it philosophically.

Goldwater was the 1964 GOP presidential nominee, Kitchel his campaign director. Kitchel insisted in an interview that the society Goldwater helped found two months ago would not develop into a political action organization.

EDUCATIONAL

He said its aims are educational. "We want to build up a political philosophy that has almost gone by the board by default," he said.

He conceded that conservative-minded Republicans now form the bulk of its membership, the actual size of which he declined to reveal. Kitchel said the organization aims to enlist Democrats and independents as well.

"Our initial membership is going to be drawn principally from the people who agree with the philosophy that made Goldwater the Republican nominee," he said. "But this is not going to accomplish the result we're after if this is as far as we can go."

"The whole point of this thing is to get beyond the like-minded people," he said, and spread the tenets of conservatism among people who now are politically disinterested or don't subscribe to that philosophy.

100,000 MARK
While he would not reveal the current size of the organization,

Kitchel said if the ratio of society contacts to recruitment continues at its current pace, the organization should reach the 100,000 mark by the end of 1965.

Indications are that current membership is only a small fraction of that total.

Kitchel said the society hopes to sign up 400,000 to 500,000 members by mid-August, 1966. Membership costs a minimum of $5, but Kitchel said most of the people who have signed up have given more. He would not say how much money has been collected.

SAW DANGERS

When the society was formed, Republican National Chairman Ray C. Bliss said it would hamper his quest for party unity and money.

"Anyone would be a novice to think that splinter groups within your party don't drain off some funds," he said.

Republican Finance Chairman Lucius D. Clay said Thursday he did not know of any contributions lost to the party because of money given to Republican offshoots.

But he said some GOP contributions might have been bigger but for money given to other organizations.

"So far," Clay said, "I have not been turned down by anyone because they have given their money to some other group."

U.S. School Chief Raps Education Progress

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Francis Keppel, U.S. commissioner of education, said today that "in a world that is closing in on the moon and on Mars... we are still graduating functional illiterates from our public schools."

"We are still staffing classrooms with poorly paid and untrained personnel, and we are still calling enough to lock the playground gate at 3 o'clock in the afternoon," he said.

Keppel's address was prepared for the opening session of the five-day, 48th annual convention of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Teachers.

Enrollment Boom to Hit Colleges

WASHINGTON (UPI) — School enrollment will set new records this fall from kindergarten to Ph.D., but the big boom will again be in the nation's overcrowded colleges, according to the U.S. Office of Education statistics.

Elementary and secondary school enrollments will show only slight increases. Kindergarten through grade 9 enrollments are expected to be $5.5 million, an increase of 1.1 per cent over last year.

Grades 9 through 12 are expected to enroll 12.9 million, about the same as last year.

Total enrollment of all students this fall in elementary, secondary and higher education is expected to be 54.2 million, nearly 28 per cent of the U.S. population.

NEW RECORD

The figure, which includes both public and private school enrollments, represents a new record for the 31st straight year.

The spurt in college enrollments is a continuation of the post-World War II baby boom, complicated by the continuation of the military draft.

The U.S. birth rate increased rapidly for the five years after the war ended in 1945 and the effects have been felt in the nation's already overcrowded colleges for several years.

The complication has been that many young men have chosen to enter the military services immediately after graduation from high school to dispose of their military obligations.

The office of education estimates that the bumper crop of 1.45 million college freshmen this fall will include substantial numbers of these veterans.

Planners to Air Zone Request

The delayed public hearing on a rezoning request for establishment of a residential-recreation area on a 60-acre parcel of land will be held tomorrow night at the monthly zoning meeting of the Waterford Township Planning Commission.

The initial hearing on the project last month attracted more than 300 persons.

The $4-million project is proposed for the northeast corner of Cass-Elizabeth and Cooley Lake Roads.

Planners tabled the request last month pending receipt from the developers of accurate legal descriptions of the several requested zoning districts.

The proposed subdivision would contain new homes, apartment buildings, stores, an 18-hole golf course and a beach.

Also on the agenda tomorrow night are three special approved requests and two additional rezoning requests.

"These are terrible indictments, yet I sorrowfully challenge anyone in education to refute them," he said.

OTHER FAILURES

Keppel said, "There are other failures in our learning system that are not so visible." He listed:

"Recruitment policies that settle for mediocrity or that covertly discriminate against teachers of particular races or religions."

"Safe" textbooks that are selected because they will not cause trouble.

"Guidance and counseling practiced part-time by untrained and overworked teachers who shuttle students along according to misread test scores."

WORST OF ALL

Keppel said that "worst of all these shoddy episodes are played against a backdrop that reveals more than 10 million children of poverty" who lack proper medical care and are frequently ill and not at school.

"Money runs low at home and they disappear from the classroom for a few days to seek part-time work," he said.

He told the teachers' union that these 10 million children have "deep and abiding grievances" and:

"Whatever the grievances of teachers and administrators and custodians and others, there are 10 million grievances that argue, 'Keep the schools open and keep them free of strife.'"

RESPONSIBILITY

Keppel said also: "The condition of the schools — and of teachers and students alike — is the community's responsibility no less than yours."

He added: "We have grants ready to help schools with handicapped children, to strengthen guidance and counseling programs, to bring the newest in science and foreign language teaching to even in the most remote mountain schools or the most neglected inner-city slum schools."

"In short, Congress has asked the Office of Education — ordered us, in most instances — to spend a great deal of money on the children of this nation, and to spend it well."

"We do not want to have to send checks to closed schools."

"And so I would argue that strikes, sanctions and boycotts be exercised with the utmost restraint."

Thank Goodness, AUGUST Is Nearly Over!

How do you sell air conditioners when the time to think about having a color TV? How do you sell stereo hi-fi when the weather is for hot sunny days? Thank August for making you forget that it's the wrong time of the year to buy appliances. We've come up with absolutely irresistible money-saving prices on everything! Maybe a little sneaky, but you'll agree there's never been a better month than August to buy at Highland. If you are one of the thousands of people who have not bought at Highland this month we ask: What do we have to do to convince YOU that you're missing the best buys of the year? Maybe of your lifetime. You want proof? Here is proof. What other month of the year can you buy refrigerators for $399 or air conditioners for $79? There are RCA Victor 16" portable TV's for $99. G.E. stereo hi-fi consoles for $89.95, and color TV's at $279. Check our prices. Count your savings. Everything is marked down, including newly arrived 1966 models. Everything is top-notch, top-brand. Floor models priced accordingly. We know one thing. Any month of the year is a good month if you save money on purchases. Even August.

Army May Try Big Offensive in Viet

By WALTER LOGAN,
United Press International

The U.S. Marines in Viet Nam have found a new formula for victory and experts in Saigon believe many more big American operations will be coming up.

The Marines killed nearly 600 guerrillas in an air, ground and sea attack involving thousands of Leathernecks.

The victory seems to prove that massive conventional campaigns can kill Viet Cong as effectively as the small commando-type operations advocated by guerrilla warfare theorists.

U.S. Army units eager for such a top-sided victory are expected to adopt the same tactics.

WHEAT SHORTAGE: Russia's agricultural crisis is assuming ever increasing proportions and the Soviets have purchased wheat from Canada, Argentina and France.

The Kremlin has studiously avoided the U.S. wheat market thus far but may have to turn to it if the harvest, as expected, is as bad as the crisis year of 1963.

NEW ALPHAND JOB: French officials in Paris say it is almost certain ambassador to Washington Herve Alphand will be named secretary general of the Quai D'Orsay (foreign office) to succeed Eric d Carboneil who died recently.

However the appointment may not be announced for some time.

Charles Lucet, political director of the Quai D'Orsay, is considered a leading contender for Alphand's Washington job.

STUDENT UNREST: President Park Chung Hee of South Korea apparently is headed for more trouble — student protests against ratification of the treaty restoring Japanese-Korean relations.

Colleges and universities are reopening after what is called a "political vacation" and the students seem more determined than ever to fight for nullification of the treaty.

Their aim is dissolution of the

2,000 Workers Idled in Strike at Calumet

CALUMET (AP) — Some 2,000 workers were idled today by a strike at Calumet division of Calumet & Hecla Inc.

The seven mines, a smelter and mills of Michigan's second largest copper producer were struck at midnight Saturday by approximately 1,500 members of Local 4213, International Steelworkers of America.

present national assembly and new elections.

NO FILIPINO TROOPS: The Philippine government is too tied up now with domestic affairs, particularly the all-important national elections in November, to bother with sending 2,000 combat engineers and supporting troops to Viet Nam this year as requested by the Saigon government.

In the meantime a Filipino veterans unit has offered 50,000 volunteers if there is U.S. logistical help.

So far Washington has not done anything about the offer.

NASSER VISIT: United Arab Republic Vice President Marshal Abdel Hakim Amer is expected to visit Paris at the end of September or the beginning of October.

Officials say his talks could prepare the way for a state visit later by U.A.R. President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

FIT AND RUNNING: Officials who saw President Charles de Gaulle in Paris recently for a Cabinet meeting say he is in such peak physical and mental form they are convinced he will run for a second term in December.

POLITICAL DOLDRUMS:

Politics in Moscow are expected to be in the doldrums until next weekend when Nasser arrives to reassess his relations with the Kremlin following the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev.

There is every indication the Russians will continue friendly relations to protect their heavy political and economic investments in Egypt.

HEAT HELD CAUSE OF MANY DEATHS

Michigan Studies Show That Frequency Rises After 60

ANN ARBOR, Mich.—A University of Michigan scientist says that "a killer of a heat wave" can be more than an expression; it often poses a real threat to human life.

According to Dr. Stanley H. Schuman, there is strong evidence that prolonged summer heat waves cause a striking number of deaths. But medical and engineering advances can prolong life and protect persons in homes, cars and industries from unusual heat stress. Thus many persons are surviving despite low physiological tolerance for high temperatures and humidity, he says.

While these people are clearly in jeopardy during severe heat waves, the actual extent of the problem is still unknown. Dr. Schuman explains that "heat illness or heat stroke has never been a cause of death noted frequently on routine death certificates."

Recent studies show "remarkable rises in mortality in large urban populations from periods of sustained, but not necessarily record-breaking, heat," according to Dr. Schuman, an assistant professor of epidemiology.

With James T. Oliver, principal statistician of the Detroit Health Department and assistant professor at Wayne State University, Dr. Schuman collected data on the number of deaths that occurred in 108 United States cities on days with "unusually high temperatures" in the last three summers.

They compared this information with mortality statistics for periods with normal mean temperatures and discovered, for example, that 4,665 "excess deaths" occurred during June and July, 1963.

Dr. Schuman pointed out that these unpredicted deaths often resulted from cerebral strokes.

"Over the past 10 years, strokes have consistently accounted for about 10 per cent of the deaths in Michigan, but in periods of heat stress during 1962 and 1963, the number of such deaths in the state rose to 15 per cent," he said.

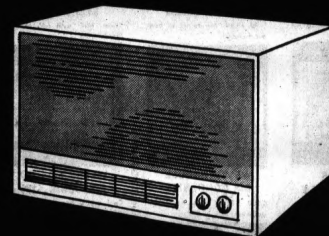

He also found that "excess deaths" frequently occurred among those more than 60 years old, adding: "There is a fixed pool of susceptibles among the elderly who are unable to survive sudden stresses, such as influenza or unusual heat."

However, this is not exclusively a problem for the elderly, he said, explaining: "Preventable deaths will continue to occur among youngsters engaging in competitive sports, among military recruits, and among summer workers."

Restraint on Viet Nam

Victory Optimism Cloaked in Caution

(EDITOR'S NOTE: An air of cautious optimism on the Viet Nam war has spread through high government circles. In this news analysis, veteran AP military writer, Elton C. Fay tells of the reasons for encouragement and the reasons for restraint in optimism.)

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The small tide of optimism rising in the Johnson administration about the Viet Nam war is fed by obscure events and trends as well as by such developments as the successful outcome of the battle of Chu Lai.

The optimism in the highest levels of the government is restrained for several reasons, among them:

1. The successes and trends are still dwarfed by the massive setbacks during the last year or two.

2. History holds up a cautionary finger about optimism. In Korea, optimism was running high as American forces drove northward almost to the Yalu River boundary of the enemy, then applied as hordes of Chinese Communists drove the Americans back. With World War II in Europe on the doorstep of victory, German forces launched the Battle of the Bulge.

OBVIOUS REASONS

Some of the reasons for the administration's slightly brightened view of the Viet Nam war are obvious.

The big buildup of U.S. military strength is beginning to roll. In the three-day battle last week that headed off a Communist attack on the Marine air base at Chu Lai, U.S. officials say almost 600 Viet Cong were killed and hundreds more were wounded. U.S. casualties have not been listed. Lt. Gen. Victor H. Krulak, Marine commander in the Pacific, called the battle a major victory.

The daily bombing attacks on North Viet Nam targets are producing effects on the North Vietnamese civilian economy, it is contended in many administration quarters.

The expected scale of Viet Cong attacks under cover of the monsoon rains has fallen short of original predictions by U.S. strategists, in part because U.S. and South Vietnamese ground and air forces have been able to battle more aggressively than was expected.

MANPOWER WOES

There is some evidence the Viet Cong Communist guerrilla forces are having their own manpower troubles. Deputy Secretary of Defense Cyrus R. Vance said in a speech last week that "war and time have taken their toll and Hanoi's reserve of southern manpower, like its arsenal of captured weapons, has begun to run out."

On the other hand, the South Vietnamese army is finding that its reserve of manpower is growing low.

All of these factors and others probably have resulted in top administration officials deciding that the gloom is lightening a little.

There are other obscure tactical and strategic bits put into the picture.

There is no evidence that the Viet Cong have been able to replenish heavily and build up their stocks of supplies which had come in from the north.

HARD CORE UNITS

The Viet Cong guerrilla army's organization has been constituted around regiments of three "hard core" battalions of trained and experienced soldiers. Information obtained from battlefield contacts and other sources indicates now that the average villagers are brought into military service with neither experience or enthusiasm.

The Achilles' heel in the Communist idea of the war of national liberation may be the problem of keeping turbulence at a high level.

Gen. Harold K. Johnson, Army chief of staff and member of the strategy-making Joint Chiefs of Staff, says the Viet Cong has had to bring in more and more people from North Viet Nam to try to keep turbulence growing.

There is nothing in the general's statement, the speech by Vance or the opinions of others equally high to support any belief that victory may come tomorrow, next month or next year.

The conservative estimates are that, perhaps by next year, there will be changes in the Viet Nam situation, which while not major in themselves, will combine to reduce the over-all problem.

By then, at least 125,000 men will be in the American forces deployed in South Viet Nam. With that force, it is hoped that results will include these:

Fifty per cent of the roads now cut off by the Viet Cong will be open again.

The primary rail line along the coastal area between Hue and Saigon will be back in full operation.

The number of terrorist kidnappings will be reduced by from one-half to two-thirds.

The Number of Viet Cong murders and assassinations will be cut from a present average of 40 per month to 15.

How Many Police to Control City Crime?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's new Crime Study Commission is faced with the question of figuring out how far police protection can be expanded before it becomes a liability.

The question will be one of the major issues to come before the panel in a 12-month study beginning next month, particularly because most experts feel that present police strength is inadequate in the light of recent crime increases.

The experts have been reluctant to say how much police strength should be increased. They contend it is dependent upon local conditions, the duties assigned police and the degree to which citizens are willing to have the police exercise control over their community.

James Vorenberg, executive secretary of the commission, said in an interview that any city would be able to improve crime control by quadrupling the size of its police force. But he questioned whether this would be acceptable.

"The question is what level of crime we are willing to live with to avoid the dangers of a police state," he added. "It won't be an easy question to answer."

SEEK METHODS

Vorenberg said the commission is sure to take up the issue in its search for methods of reducing crime.

CONTRIVERSY CONTINUES — Though the Los Angeles riots are over, the arguments lingered on yesterday as the town's mayor, Samuel W. Yorty (left) debated on television with Chester L. Washington, editor of the Negro newspaper the Los Angeles Sentinel. Mayor Yorty branded charges of police brutality as the "big lie technique."

Officials Squabble

Debate LA Riot Cause

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the riot-devastated South Los Angeles district of Watts, the painful process of recovery continues — slowly and silently.

Elsewhere the riot lived on in a controversy of growing rancor, as public figures probed for reasons and attempted to fix blame for the week-long disturbance.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty took to the airwaves Sunday with their explanations of the cause of the holocaust that left 36 persons dead and untold property damage.

By day's end, verbal salvos had been fired as far away as Portland, Ore., where Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker addressed an American Legion convention: Washington D.C., where Sargent Shriver heads the Office of Economic Opportunity, and Atlanta, home of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

HURT CAUSE
Brown, appearing in San Francisco on ABC's "Issues and Answers" radio and television show, said statements by Parker during the riots "hurt the whole cause of race relations."

"I do think his statements have been very, very unfortunate. I think they have hurt the whole cause of race relations in Los Angeles. But he's a sincere man. I know he's tried awfully hard to bring about a greater understanding between races."

Brown did not specify any particular statements by Parker.

Los Angeles Negroes maintain alleged police brutality — physical and psychological — was a contributing factor leading to the disastrous rioting. They have demanded Parker be fired or resign.

In Portland, Parker replied to Brown's statements.

WONT COMMENT
"He'll have to be more specific than that. Before I can comment I'll have to know what statements he is referring to. I don't deal in generalities. He is making shotgun statements. We're both attorneys, and he knows better than that."

Brown also said he had run into a "political war" in Los Angeles over the war on poverty "between the Democratic congressmen and the mayor's office."

He said the "more important programs just have been shoved and delayed by reason of the inability to determine who's going to run it."

He also rapped Congress which, he said, "in their wisdom or lack of it have leapfrogged the governor in the state administration in this matter."

RAPS PROGRAM

Yorty, appearing in Los Angeles on CBS' "Face the Nation" television show, also criticized the federal administration of the poverty program.

Washington officials earlier said Yorty evidenced little interest in a summer-long program designed to improve economic conditions such as those existing in the Watts district. Yorty retorted then that he was not disinterested, but that Los Angeles was bypassed.

Yorty then clashed with Chester L. Washington, Negro editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel, a Negro newspaper, on the police brutality issue.

After a heated discussion, Yorty asked Washington:

ASKS QUESTION
"Are you trying to say that all of this looting and burning, these attacks by the Negro on the white people are justified by my police department's acts?"
"By no means," said Washington, one of program's three panelists. "There are a number of factors, but this is one of them, in my opinion."

Yorty also repeated criticism of Dr. King, who visited the riot area after violence subsided and said he believed police brutality was an issue.

"Well, Dr. King should not have come here," Yorty said.

"He came and talked with too few people, then tried to find something that he could say that he had accomplished."

GUARD GENERAL

One person who had no unkind words for anyone Sunday was Lt. Gen. Roderic Hill, commander of California's National Guard troops who aided police in quelling the riots.

Speaking in Sacramento, Hill told newsmen he felt the violence grew out of long-standing grievances which will continue to exist.

Professor in Line for Federal Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has announced he intends to appoint Dr. Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy at New York's Columbia University, as assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs.

Frankel, 48, has been on Columbia's faculty since 1939. He succeeds Harry C. McPherson Jr.

The announcement Sunday by Johnson said McPherson, a Texan who has held a number of positions in government, was being named an assistant to the President.

Pair of Drunk Suspects Are Highly Sought After

Two men arrested Saturday on drunken driving and drunk and disorderly charges turned out to be prize catches for the Michigan State Police at the Pontiac Post.

The pair, Bobby R. Anderson, 31, of Denison, Tex., and Martin L. Daigle, 34, of Beaumont, Tex., were arrested Saturday afternoon after a high speed auto chase by Trooper Charles Morr.

Troopers had been alerted that a drunken driver was heading north on Telegraph. Morr spotted the car in Bloomfield Township and apprehended the pair when they entered a driveway at 4255 Telegraph, thinking it was a side road.

After a check was made at the police post, troopers discovered that both men were wanted throughout the northwestern and western United States on a number of charges. Troopers said Anderson had jumped up to $150,000 in bond in various cities throughout the nation.

Charles Schultz, 17, of 8792 Buffmeyer was a passenger in a car driven by Stephen Slack, 16, of 8798 Portlock, Commerce Township.

The Slack vehicle collided head-on with a car driven by Jane E. Maki, 19, of 9055 Redwood, White Lake Township.

Illness Claims GOP Figure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Brown, Ohio's Lieutenant governor at 26 and long a Republican power in the House, died today at Bethesda Naval Hospital.

The 72-year-old veteran congressman's death was attributed to uremic poisoning. Ailing for years, the big, gruff but friendly Brown entered the hospital for treatment of a kidney ailment last week.

Brown, in his 27th year of representing his 7th Ohio District, was the ranking Republican on the House Rules Committee and had been a driving force in Republican politics.

He was a campaign manager for Sen. Robert A. Taft's bid for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948 and played a leading role for the Ohio senator in Taft's torrid second unsuccessful try for the party's top ticket spot in 1952 against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

After serving as lieutenant governor, Brown was Ohio's secretary of state from 1927-1933. He was defeated running for governor in 1934.

Leads Cleveland Past Rams

Browns' Brown in Same Old Groove

By The Associated Press

Fullback Jimmy Brown is at his plunging best for the Cleveland Browns these days.

Brown's hard running has led the National Football League champions to three straight exhibition victories, including the one over the College All-Stars and indicates he will be among the NFL individual rushing leaders again this season. He has led the league in this department in seven of his eight years in the NFL, including a record 1,863 yards in 1963.

Brown demonstrated his speciality Sunday as he led the Browns to a 21-19 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in one of three pro football exhibitions. He ripped off successive runs of 28, 10 and two yards to put Cleveland ahead 14-9 and set up the clinching touchdown with a 16-yard burst in the last quarter.

Chuck Mercien's 45-yard field goal in the third period broke a 7-7 tie and paced the New York Giants to a 16-7 victory over Pittsburgh in the other NFL game Sunday. Gene Mingo's three field goals, one a 47-yarder, helped Oakland defeat Kansas City 23-6 in the American League.

Pete Green of Orchard Lake CC and Fred Bens of Lochmoor Club won the Lochmoor Invitation on the 21st hole by defeating Gene Wondard and Jack Zinn.

Green birdied the first three holes and Bens had a 4-up lead after nine holes. On the winning hole, Bens dropped a 25-foot putt to end the match.

Clarkston's Publinx Team in 1st Place

Clarkston's Publinx golf team posted a 12½-9½ victory over Morey's No. 2 team yesterday to take the lead in the Red Division race.

In other matches, Red Division matches Romeo No. 1 dumped Hickory Hollow, 15½-6½, and Northwood downed Highland, 19-3, for its first win of the season. In other matches, Braeburn posted a 16-6 win over Salem Hills in the Blue Division, Lilacs topped Morey's No. 3, 12½-9½, and Idyl Wyle routed Raisin River, 20-2.

Tells Pupils to Make Specific Resolutions

By LESLIE J. NASON, Ed. D.
University of Southern California

What will this new school year bring?

"This year I'm going to do better and get good grades," say thousands of students.

But being determined to do better is not enough. Those who rely on this alone will drift back into days before many days have passed.

To be effective, resolutions must be specific. And with each, there should be a plan of action for carrying it out.

The following affirmations have helped other students esablish habits which led to greater success.

I will learn as much as I can in each course, not just carry out assignments. Sometimes, when there is no assignment in a class for the next day, 15 or 20 minutes of thinking about what you have learned in the course and what is coming up next, is valuable.

MAKE LIST

I will make a list for each course of the things I must do; as an ace, king and queen; of each one, plan on completing the assignments every opportunity I get, and check each off as I complete it.

I will set a high standard of homework. Remember that first impressions are important. Turn in your first assignments on time and in good order. Then hold to this standard.

I will review each course from the beginning every few days and keep the overall pattern of the subject clear in my mind.

I will begin my preparation for examinations with the very first meeting of the class. Final preparation for tests should be a polishing, rather than a cramming session. This is more efficient, takes less time, results in higher grades, and produces more learning.

REVISE PROCEDURES

I will revise my review and test-taking procedures to eliminate my shortcomings. If necessary, I will ask my counselor and teacher for suggestions.

I will strive to improve my handwriting. Ease in handwriting is needed in transferring your thoughts to paper, in taking notes, writing themes and in tests. Improvement can be attained best through repetitive practice for that specific purpose.

I will strive to learn in class. If I have difficulty understanding the teacher, I will increase my before-class preparation. If necessary, I will both read and outline ahead.

I will take charge of my education and formulate a plan of attack for each course. Plans produce action. Keep revising your plans and looking for improved techniques.

I will dress the part and act the part of the kind of a student I wish to become. Teachers accept students at their own face value. Play the part of the person you wish to be. You may have to think carefully each day about how you are dressing and acting until proper action becomes a habit.

Suggestion: Post this article over your study table. Read the plans over occasionally. One or more of them will provide the ideas that will bring continuing improvement.

In 1927 Harold S. (Mike) Vanderbilt invented the game of contract bridge. By 1928 the new game had started to replace the earlier games of auction bridge and whist. By that time Mike had invented the Vanderbilt Club convention as a system of bidding.

He celebrated his 80th birthday last year by bringing his convention up to date. While we believe firmly that standard American bidding is superior to any system that employs a basic artificial bid, we realize that the Vanderbilt Club and the very similar Schenken Club are by far the best of the dozens of forcing club conventions.

In the Vanderbilt convention the opening club bid shows at least 16 high card points and is forcing for one in Ticket Case*Wayne County Sheriff Acts After Allegation

DETROIT (AP) — A sergeant and an inspector of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department were suspended by their chief Saturday in connection with an alleged traffic ticket fixing operation.

Sheriff Peter L. Buback, who has said he knew nothing of alleged wholesale ticket fixing, suspended Sgt. Paul Paciorek and Inspector Dan D. Martin.

In a copyrighted story the Detroit News said Paciorek showed reporters "a cache of 3,000 fixed traffic tickets he said he had kept hidden for more than three years in an old ice-box in a chicken coop at his farm home."

KEPT PROOF

Paciorek, who told the News: "For years I have figured I might need the tickets someday to prove I was not the one responsible," assuaged Martin of ordering him to void tickets in "95 to 98 per cent of the cases." Martin denied the charges.

On Friday, chief assistant prosecutor Samuel Brezner said investigators found some 250 tickets marked "void" or "cancelled" in Paciorek's home.

Paciorek asked the paper "Why didn't they (the prosecutor's office) also reveal they got a box full of void tickets from Martin, which I had told them about?"

75 IN BAG

Prosecutor's investigator Morris B. Gruskin said "The only tickets our men got from Martin were 75 in another bag which the inspector said he had confiscated from Paciorek."

The alleged ticket fixing came to light a week ago when three sheriff's deputies and one former deputy brought accusations against Paciorek and Martin in a copyrighted News story.

Double-Talk Skill: an Item of Necessity?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — The class in double-talk will please come to order.

You will remember, students, that double-talk is the art of saying just the opposite of what you mean. It is one of the most necessary skills in a complex civilization.

It is important that the first thing a wise child learns to do after he learns to talk is to double-talk.

Here are a few common examples of double-talk — with their literal translations.

Says U.S. Victory in Viet Offensive Hard to Evaluate

HONOLULU (AP) — The U. S. battle victory near Chu Lai, Viet Nam, last week was a major one, the Marine commander in the Pacific said yesterday, but "the overall effect is hard to evaluate."

LI Gen. Victor H. Krulak, commander of the fleet Marine force, said he could not classify the victory as decisive in the Viet Nam war.

"In a war that has gone on this long you can make no predictions about it," Krulak told newsmen upon his return yesterday from a tour of the Viet Nam war theater.

The American victory wrecked a Viet Cong force that had been estimated at 2,000 men, Krulak said, killing more than 500 guerrillas and wounding hundreds more.

Washington Crash Kills Kalamazoo Couple

SEATTLE (AP) — A Kalamazoo, Mich., couple and a Seattle man were injured fatally in an automobile crash at nearby Mercer Island Sunday.

Mrs. Peter Thiesen Sr. of Kalamazoo and Matthias Pilo, 56, Seattle, were killed outright, state troopers reported. Mrs. Thiesen's husband died in a hospital later.

Junior Editors Quiz on RAIN IN SPACE?

QUESTION: Is there rain in space?

ANSWER: Our earth is surrounded by an ocean of air often called the atmosphere. It may seem like nothing, but actually it is a mixture of gases.

Without being able to breathe these in, we could not live more than 10 minutes. The earth's atmosphere is several hundreds of miles deep but becomes much denser toward the earth's surface.

In order for there to be rain, clouds are necessary. For clouds, there must be sufficient water vapor in the air for water droplets to form under certain conditions and fall as rain.

The layer of atmosphere closest to the earth and extending about 10 miles up, called the troposphere, is the only place (except for possible similar areas around other planets) where there could be weather, with rain, clouds and a bright sky, caused by the sun reflecting on tiny atmospheric particles.

As we go higher, the atmosphere gets lighter and the sky gets darker. About 110 miles up, space begins. There is so little atmosphere there it doesn't affect objects passing through it.

Our large picture is based on recent photographs of a man walking in space, with a black sky, and the earth, partly covered with clouds, far below.

FOR YOU TO DO: Our picture shows an extraordinary landscape, never seen until our exciting age of space travel. Color the earth a light blue and it will give an even more vivid idea of what space looks like.

"Of course, this is only a suggestion." But if you know what's good for you, you'll do what I say.

"That certainly was an enlightening sermon, pastor." It did wonders for my insomnia.

"Of course, this is only a temporary tax." You'll only have to pay it during your lifetime.

"Every man has a right to his opinion." So, if you'll please shut up, I'll tell you mine.

NOT HUNGRY? "I'm not really hungry, dear." I wonder if the cheap-steak will faint if I order a big steak.

"I sure did enjoy reading your last book." Well, at least I hope it's your last one.

"The starting salary is small, but the opportunity is unlimited." If the job really required any brains, we'd have to pay more.

"We call this our junior four apartment." It has two rooms and two closets.

OLD TIGHTWAD "Gee, boss, it sure is a pleasure to accept this 25-year pin from you." Why didn't the old tightwad come through with a bonus or a gold watch?

OH HUNGRY? "Oh, Henry, what a darling engagement ring. But it looks terribly expensive." It must have been a big day at the dime store when you bought it.

"This suit hardly ever requires pressing, sir." That is, if you don't mind going about looking like a gummy sack.

"You couldn't get a used car in better condition. It was sold to us by a little old lady." You'd never guess how many telephone poles that old dame wrapped it around.

RATHER WALK? "It's such a nice day out, honoree, why don't we just walk?" If this gal thinks I'm going to pay her way through life in a taxicab, she's crazy.

"Naturally, I welcome criticism — as long as it's constructive." When I want your advice, I'll ask for it.

"No, I'll get this round. I insist." What's the matter with this joker? Doesn't he ever buy? "You're in the phone book, aren't you?" Well, that's one wrong number I'll never call.

"Let's have lunch sometime." You eat at your restaurant, and I'll eat at mine.

Well, there goes the bell, students. The class in double-talk is dismissed.

Pills Helped Lone Sailor to Survive

PAGO PAGO, American Samoa (AP) — David Meigs' epic story of survival on the sometimes calm, sometimes raging face of the South Pacific has ended happily, perhaps because of his chance discovery of a bottle of vitamins.

Meigs, 24, sailing alone in his storm-battered trimaran with sharks as his only company, ended his lonely 130-day voyage by sailing into Pago Pago late last Friday. He had been given up for lost.

Meigs said the vitamin pills had been left on the 35-foot boat, Extended Adolescence, by a former crew member.

He claimed they helped him live through his ordeal which started last April 12.

He needed a shave, a haircut and a bath when he arrived. In spite of losing 25 pounds he was in high spirits and apparent good health.

BECAME ILL

The Atherton, Calif., man said he abandoned hope of reaching Hawaii, his original destination, on July 13 when he became acutely ill.

Meigs said he discovered he had been sailing in circles near Palmyra Island, 1,000 miles from Hawaii for over a month.

After 10 days his health improved enough so that he was able to navigate properly and he headed south toward Samoa.

He found the going easy as he sailed before the steady northeast tradewinds. Suddenly however, he was hit by two fierce storms that left his mainsail and jib in shreds.

SHORT RATIONS

Meigs had plenty of food when he left Pago Pago, but was on short rations on his return trip.

"About half of what I ate came from the sea," he said. "I got one tuna of about 70 pounds and I cut it into strips and dried it into jerky. I got sick eating a bit of it raw while cleaning it."

He also caught fish with a spear gun and collected flying fish that landed on deck.

When he arrived in Pago Pago, he first bought an orange. Then he telephoned his mother Mrs. Alice Richards in Atherton, Calif.

Meigs plans to sell the Extended Adolescence in Pago Pago and return to the United States Aug. 30.

Reds Shoot Berliner on Boating Outing

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East German border guards yesterday shot and wounded a West Berliner whose motorboat strayed into Red territory on the Havel River. He was on a Sunday outing with his wife and sister-in-law.

Maj. Gen. John F. Franklin Jr., U.S. commandant in Berlin, accused the Communists of "utter callousness toward human life." He demanded the Russians take action to halt border shootings.

The Red soldiers in a patrol launch fired five shots from sub-machine guns and hit Klaus Matuschke, 28, in the left lower arm. The women were not hurt. Despite the wound, Matuschke managed to steer his boat back to the West Berlin shore.

More money is spent in the U.S. on pet foods than for prepared United States for the purchase baby foods.

First industrial plant built exclusively for manufacture of internal combustion engines rose in Cologne, Germany, in 1964.

MISS U.S.A. — Miss District of Columbia, Dianna Batts, 19, of Falls Church, Va., parades with crown and robe after winning the Miss U.S.A. title at Ashbury Park Saturday. She will go to London in November to vie for Miss World. Vital statistics: blonde, blue eyes, 36-23-36.

Pope Paul VI gave a party yesterday at his summer villa at Castel Gandolfo, Italy, for about 200 foreign seminarians staying nearby.

The white-robed pontiff walked among the seminarians, chatting, as they strolled in the gardens. Ice cream and soft drinks were served.

Names of the young Roman Catholic student priests were put in a bag and the slips drawn. Prizes donated by the Pope included an accordion and a portable typewriter, plus objects that the Pope had blessed.

Elliott Roosevelt Is Bedridden by Smoke

Elliott Roosevelt, mayor of Miami Beach, Fla., became ill from the effects of carbon monoxide and smoke when an engine fire broke out in his 41-foot cruiser Saturday.

The mayor, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, was treated at home and ordered to remain in bed until midweek.

His illness canceled appearances he had scheduled this week on television and radio shows in New York.

Elderly Tenant Held in Beating of Landlady, 78

NEW YORK (AP) — A 58-year-old man has been accused of severely beating his 78-year-old landlady with a cane in her lower East Side apartment.

The man, Frank Nalysnik, was charged Sunday with felonious assault in the beating of Mollie Michalovich.

She was reported in critical condition at Bellevue Hospital with skull, collarbone and rib injuries.

Police said Nalysnik does not speak English well, and Mrs. Michalovich was too ill to give a reason for the assault. Authorities said there apparently was an argument about money.

The man was Miss Michalovich's only roomer.

Swede Finds 'Good Fortune'

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HONOLULU — As the most prestigious import from Sweden since Ingrid Bergman, Max Von Sydow is no doubt the envy of fellow players in his homeland.

Von Sydow himself would be the first to admit his good fortune. And yet—

In his first American film, "The Greatest Story Ever Told," he labored for nine arduous months, much of it in freezing locations.

FILM PROBLEMS

And now "Hawaii." The production troubles of the island epic have already been reported. While they haven't reached "Cleopatra" proportions, these problems have been wearing on one and all.

What Von Sydow doesn't anticipate was the physical struggle. Until his American career opened up, his film work was limited to Ingmar Bergman dramas. In "Hawaii" he has been slugged, dragged and dowsed. When I visited the set, the scene called for him to be thrown into the Pacific and menaced by a shark — actually a skin diver with a fin on his back.

"It started before I came out here, when we were shooting the shipboard scenes in 'Hawaii,'" the actor said. "Day after day, we sat on the boat as we were rocked back and forth and splashed with hundreds of thousands of gallons of water. Sometimes I could stand it no more and I would have to change into dry clothes."

Don't get the idea that Von Sydow is complaining. His coworkers report that it is impossible to ruffle the towering Swede. He wouldn't even grieve about the blistering heat of Death Valley on "The Reckless."

Said he: "How many sunless winters have I known in Sweden!"

COMPENSATIONS

Admittedly, Max has compensations for his "Hawaii" labors. He and his family are living in one of the Kahala district showplaces, a fern-shaded, oceanfront spread complete with salt-water swimming pool.

"The pool is unoccupied right now," he reported. "My sons have been filling it with a variety of creatures such as octopus, crabs and various kinds of fish."

The boys are Clas, 12, and Henrik, 7, and they are going to make their acting debuts in "Hawaii." Only one of the boys was sought to play Max's son in the film. Max, with a flash of paternal wisdom, insisted that both had to be hired, or neither.

So they'll appear as the son of missionary Abner Hale at different periods. Peter Fonda plays the grown son.

"I think it's all right for the boys to work, since they'll be acting in scenes with me," Von Sydow said. "But I think that will be all the acting for them until they grow up."

The actor has no immediate plans after "Hawaii," which is hopefully aimed at a finish date in October. He has learned the hard way that American films don't always proceed as scheduled.

Liz, Burton Occupying House Near Film Site

GOSHEN, Mass. (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton have moved into a house on Highland Lake where they will live while at work on a movie to be shot at Smith College in Northampton.

Burton and his wife arrived here Saturday.

'Happily Married' Burtons Say Report Is a Misquote

By EARL WILSON
 NEW YORK—The latest flush from the happy-married Richard Burtons is that Liz is eagerly looking forward to going to Italy next March... but not necessarily to see reporters from an Italian magazine who quoted her as saying "Richard won't be my last man."

Liz and Burton are clearing all decks to do "The Taming of the Shrew" as a movie in Venice in March for the famous stage director Franco Zeffirelli.

Liz and Burton, who've chosen a house at Northampton, Mass., from photos submitted to them, will be entertained at a cocktail party by the president of Smith College when they arrive for scenes for "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

"I haven't spoken to any Italian journalists in four years," Liz said about a magazine story which quoted her as calling Burton a monster with a bad temper who disappears on fishing trips and plays cards for three days.

The Burtons have got somewhat social lately. They were hosts in Hollywood at a private black-tie party at the exclusive Daily Club for the Southern Negro Integration Council. Daughters Maria and Liza have been registered in Miss Buckley's School which was attended by Liza Minnelli and Mia Farrow.

The Beatles did such great business—$304,000 for themselves—at Shea Stadium, that Sid Bernstein has now offered them an even more spectacular deal for next year—two nights at the stadium, back to back, a guarantee of $250,000 against 60 per cent of the gross, which might yield them half a million or more.

Fred Cole, younger brother of Nat (King) Cole, is singing at the Hawaii-Kai. Joe Kippness, the owner, says, "You close your eyes and you swear it's Nat singing." Irving Hoffman who knows all the troubles Oscar Levant's wife June has had, calls her "Saint June" and Oscar applauds.

EARL'S PEARLS: "Those poor Mets are sure unlucky," sighs Marty Allen. "Not only can't they win—in New York they can't even get rained out." That's Earl, brother.

Ask Rate Hike for Blue Cross

DETROIT (AP) — Blue Cross, Michigan's largest hospitalization plan, today asked state permission for a 3.8 per cent hike in rates.

More than 600,000 policy-holders would be affected by the rate hike if it is granted, a Blue Cross spokesman said.

Blue Cross officials presented the rate increase proposal to State Insurance Commissioner Allen Mayerson at a 9 a.m. meeting in Lansing.

Mayerson said he wouldn't be able to comment on the proposal until he and his staff had a chance to study and analyze it.

"We'll probably hold hearings on it," he said.

Lake Orion Sergeant Called Insubordinate

Mayerson said the rate hike application was the smallest ever presented by Blue Cross. The last time Blue Cross increased rates, he noted, was when a 22.4 per cent increase was allowed in June, 1963.

ADDED COSTS
Dale Nouse, Blue Cross spokesman, said the increase is needed "because of added obligations and costs."

At least two kinds of Blue Cross policyholders would be exempt from any increase in premiums, he said.

These are holders of senior citizens policies and individual, or non-group policyholders, Nouse said.

Additionally, there would be a temporary deferment of rate increases to some group policyholders, Nouse said.

INCLUDED GROUP

The proposed 3.8 per cent hike would apply only to group policyholders included in the Blue Cross experience rating system, he said.

Blue Cross currently is changing over on a gradual basis from its community rating system to experience rating.

Groups still left under the community rating system at the proposed Jan. 1, 1966, date of a rate hike would not pay the new rates, he said. Those under the experience rating system would.

The experience rating system went into effect July 1. Under this method, groups are charged rates according to their usage of the insurance. Under the community rating system, all subscribers in a given area were given the same rate.

Lake Orion Police Sgt. Leslie Perkins was relieved of his duties Saturday evening by Village President Clarence B. Rossman. He remained on the job this morning, however, on the orders of Chief Neal Leonard.

Rossman fired the veteran sergeant on charges of insubordination arising from an incident which took place at last week's council meeting.

Chief Leonard contends, however, that the village president does not have the authority to fire Perkins. The chief said he is keeping Perkins on the job on the advice of the village council.

Rossman charged the sergeant with insubordination Monday night after he refused to remove Attorney Robert V. Parenti from his seat at the council table.

Rossman terminated Parenti's contract as village attorney June 1, but the council has retained him as their legal adviser.

REFUSES TO ACT

Perkins stated at the meeting that he would not act on Rossman's order unless the council told him to. The council gave no such order, so Parenti refused to act.

Railway Work Diverts

Traffic on West Huron

A portion of West Huron between West Wide Track and Williams will be closed to through traffic for about one week, city officials announced today.

Traffic will be rerouted during reconstruction work which began this morning on Grand Trunk Western Railroad tracks at the crossing on West Huron.

Kraft, flight director; Dr. Robert H. Gilruth, director of the Manned Spacecraft Center; and George Low, deputy director of the center. Approval was given for an additional 13 orbits today.

Rendezvous Exercise to Be Tried With a Phantom Satellite

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The flight control center today gave astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad the go-ahead to complete 46 orbits—at least a third of their planned eight days in space.

The astronauts, well-rested after a sound sleeping period, swept into their third day in space today and prepared to chase a phantom satellite across the skies.

Cooper and Conrad were to begin pursuing the imaginary satellite about 11:55 a.m. in a rehearsal for the Gemini 6 flight scheduled in October.

By 10:21 a.m., the Gemini capsule had completed 31 orbits.

Flight controllers were confident the mission would go the full eight days ending with a splashdown in the Atlantic ocean Sunday. Successful completion would eclipse the Russian endurance record of five days.

POWER PROBLEM

Because of a spacecraft power problem which caused concern early in the flight, controllers are committing the pilots to continue only on a day-to-day basis.

The trouble with a balky fuel cell oxygen supply was improving steadily.

Mrs. Conrad was in Houston control center today during a Gemini 5 pass overhead. Astronaut James A. McDivitt, the capsule communicator, acted as a go-between in a brief exchange between husband and wife, who was in a glass-enclosed viewing room.

Here's how it went: McDivitt: "Why not make a few comments for the better sex... Jane is here."

Conrad: "Hello there, how are all the (four) boys doing?"

McDivitt: "She says 'fine.'" Both astronauts were reported in fine spirits after logging 10 (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7)

Soviets Busy on 'Soft' Lunar Touchdown

MOSCOW (UPI) — A top-ranking Soviet space official today said Russian scientists have begun preparations for a soft landing on the moon.

He did not elaborate and set no target date for the attempt to land a satellite on the lunar surface without destroying the vehicle.

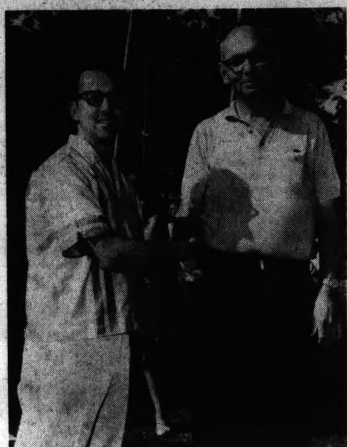

At the same time, Mstislav Keldysh, president of the Soviet Academy of Sciences, hailed U.S. space feats and told a news conference that Soviet scientists were "following with interest" the current flight of Gemini 5.

Newsman asked Keldysh about the charge made by the official Soviet news agency Tass that the United States had launched Gemini 5 merely to beat the Russians and without sufficient preparations.

"I haven't spoken to anyone on Gemini 5," he replied in jest. "Therefore it is hard to judge."

TAKING RISKS

Tass had accused U.S. scientists yesterday of taking risks with the lives of the two American astronauts in an effort to surpass the Russian record for the longest manned space flight.

5,000 Pack Ivory Farm at Picnic Honoring Hare

A sprinkling of Republicans joined some 5,000 Democrats yesterday at the annual picnic honoring Secretary of State James M. Hare.

The six-hour outing was held at the John F. Ivory Farm in White Lake Township.

Numerous political figures from the metropolitan area were on hand to salute Hare at the fifth annual event in his honor.

All were introduced to the huge throng but there were no political speeches as such.

Among those present were U.S. Congressman Billie S. Farnum of the 19th District and Oakland County State Senators Sander M. Levin of the 15th District and Carl W. O'Brien, 17th District.

OTHER FIGURES

Other Oakland County political figures at the picnic included State Representative Robert J. Slingerland of Orion Township and White Lake Township Supervisor Edward Cheyz.

The day was devoted to fun and relaxation and several activities were planned for the entertainment of the large crowd.

There was the traditional pie-eating contest, talent competition and horse shoe pitching contest.

A special treat was an exhibition by the John F. Ivory Roman Riders.

Awards were presented to the oldest and youngest persons in attendance, the father of the largest family and the person who traveled the farthest to attend.

Tonight's Theme: Chatter, Chatter

Better get an extra blanket out of the cedar chest for tonight. Temperatures are slated to slide down into the 40s.

Tomorrow's clear skies and sunshine promise warmer weather with a high from 76 to 82.

Showers and still higher temperatures are on the agenda for Wednesday.

The low in downtown Pontiac today prior to 8 a.m. was 55. By 1 p.m., intermittent sunshine coaxed the thermometer to 71.

Lutz, 2330 Oklahoma, Avon Township; Janet L. Dixon, 404 Helen, Rochester; and Frederic S. Pearson of Huntington Woods. Held yesterday in the Howard C. Baldwin Memorial Pavilion, the ceremony honored 43 graduating students.

U.S. Planes Again Pound at N. Viet Plant, Dam Site

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Twenty-four U.S. planes pounded a hydroelectric plant and dam site in North Viet Nam today for the third successive day, a U.S. military spokesman said.

Striking the Ban Thach plant twice, pilots said they damaged a generator building and a dam 80 miles south-southwest of Hanoi.

Eight Air Force F4 Phantoms, eight F104 Starfighters and four support aircraft bombed the plant this afternoon after four other Phantoms hit it earlier in the day.

Heavy damage was reported inflicted on the same target in two raids over the weekend.

1ST DAM STRUCK

The site was first bombed Saturday in what was described as the first dam reported struck by American planes since air strikes in North Viet Nam began more than six months ago.

All of the planes returned safely from the latest strike, the spokesman said.

The spokesman said no flooding was reported following either raid.

In another strike, 18 Thunderchiefs flew within 31 miles of Communist China, hitting a bridge 42 miles north-northeast of Dien Bien Phu. U.S. planes penetrated to within 30 miles of the border on a previous raid military spokesmen have reported.

BIGGEST KILL

In the ground war, the U.S. Army's 1st Division made its biggest kill so far in the Viet Nam war—a 25 Viet Cong guerrilla in a search and destroy operation last Thursday and Friday, a U.S. spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the 18th Battalion of the "Big Red One" also wound three Viet Cong and captured seven in the operation northwest of Nha Trang, 200 miles northeast of Saigon. U.S. casualties were described as light.

GOP Unit Opposes Union Shop

The executive committee of the Oakland County Republican party has passed a resolution opposing the report of Section 14b of the Taft-Hartley Act which grants states the authority to prohibit compulsory union membership.

This action by the committee followed rejection by the Democratic majority in Congress of Republican opposition and amendments to a House resolution which would protect union members in all states.

In commenting on the county committee's resolution, GOP County Chairman Dale A. Fleet expressed "dismay at the manpower and money labor unions put at the disposal of candidates selected by a small group of union officials."

"There are hundreds of legislators, congressmen and senators who owe their election to the support of labor unions," Fleet said.

He pointed out that unions are the only organizations in the nation which have the legal power to force persons to join, pay dues and finance the campaign of a candidate.

LEGAL RIGHTS

"The Republican party does not believe that the legal right to apply such force is compatible with American principles," said Fleet.

A copy of the Oakland County Republican party's resolution has been sent out to all Michigan congressmen and to all other uncommitted senators and congressmen.

Venezuela has struck back with widespread arrests of Communists and their followers.

The Communist dictatorship of Fidel Castro spent more than a million dollars on subversion and violence in Venezuela alone in 1964-65, the CIA informed the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Armistead Selden Jr., D-Ala.

To mention a few others, CIA said it was told that the Castro regime spent $250,000 in Guatemala, $50,000 in Salvador, and $30,000 in Panama in recent years.

SEIZE SAMPAN

Two government boats seized a motorized sampan loaded with mortar rounds 80 miles south of Saigon. The sampans opened fire, the government boats returned it and eight Viet Cong were killed.

Nine Viet Cong were killed and four captured in a Vietnamese operation 90 miles southwest of Saigon, in Vinh Long Province.

Pontiac Rae-Vens Win National Title

The Rae-Vens of Pontiac won the National Drill Team competition Saturday in Boston, Mass., and their color guard also captured the National Championship, in competition with teams and color guards from 34 states.

This is the third consecutive year the Rae-Vens have won the national trophy. The unit is sponsored by the Jimmy Dey Armey Post number 12.

The group received their trophies from the national commander according to Arthur Voorhees, 255 Dick, manager of the prize winning team.

that there are plans to assassinate the presidents of Colombia and Venezuela."

Colombia for years has been plagued with roving bands of marauders which have killed thousands of people. Now some of the bandit gangs operate under the Communist banner, seizing villages and towns, murdering ranches and farmers and their families, and kidnapping rich Colombians for ransom.

The government of Peru has accused Cuba, Red China and the Soviet Union of inciting guerrilla bands. This month, it sent air force, army troops and police to various areas to attack Communist-led guerrillas.

HARDEST HIT

Venezuela has reported some of the greatest and most widespread violence in all Latin America. One of the richest countries in the world due to its petroleum industry, it has become one of the most advanced in economic and social development. It is now considering financial help to less fortunate members of the Alliance for Progress.

But for all its wealth, Venezuela has reported some of the greatest and most widespread violence in all Latin America. One of the richest countries in the world due to its petroleum industry, it has become one of the most advanced in economic and social development. It is now considering financial help to less fortunate members of the Alliance for Progress.

Deloitre Is Found Dead in Union Lake

A Detroit man was found dead in Union Lake early yesterday morning after he had told his companions he was going to take a brief swim.

Harry Dawson, 36, was found floating face down in about 20 inches of water near a dock at the rear of 7383 Barnsbury, West Bloomfield Township.

An autopsy was scheduled for today in an attempt to discover whether Dawson was a drowning victim or had died from another cause.

Witnesses said they heard the man splashing in the water and thought he was swimming. Ten minutes later he was found dead.

Road Job Near End in Upper Peninsula

LANSING (AP)—A $15 million road project, one of the largest in the Upper Peninsula, is nearing completion and will be opened to traffic Thursday, the State Highway Department said today.

The two-lane section of US2 extends more than 16 miles from Watersmeet West to Gogebic Station and lies within the Ottawa National Forest.

Decomposed Body Found in Nankin Twp.

DETROIT (UPI)—A passer-by found a decomposed body today in a woods in suburban Nankin Township.

Police took the body to the Wayne County morgue where an examination was scheduled to determine the identity and cause of death.

ezuela has not been able to stamp out an astonishing succession of Communist violence and sabotage. Bombings and machinegun fire have hit the U.S. Embassy, U.S.-owned oil pipe lines and equipment, the homes of Venezuelan officials, a supermarket owned by New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and his associates and many U.S. businesses.

Last April, two Italians were detained in Venezuela with $270,000, the government said was sent the country to finance subversion. The government has just announced it will distribute the money to survivors of victims of terrorist attacks.

INFILTRATE UNIONS

But Communists also have infiltrated labor unions, some of which they control; political parties, farm, civil and trade associations, newspapers, magazines, radio and television, and even the police and military forces, in some instances.

U.S. officials say the Communists have had some serious setbacks in Latin America. Brazil overthrew a pro-Communist regime; a Communist-supported presidential candidate was defeated in Chile; Communists failed to prevent presidential elections in Venezuela; lost control in British Guiana; were caught red-handed with a shipment of Cuban war supplies in Venezuela. But they are still active in these countries.

As of last Dec. 31, a Chrysler Corp. survey showed it had 18,143 who were 55 or older out of an hourly rated work force of 80,726. And of the 18,143, only 7,216 had 30 or more years service.

The average hourly wage in the auto and associated industries is estimated at $13.50 hourly. A janitor makes $2.73; a man on the trim line $2.89; a journeyman tool maker $3.73.

RECENT COMPLAINT

Haiti recently complained to the Organization of American States that Cuban-oriented forces are poised in the Dominican Republic to invade Haiti.

An OAS committee reported Communists a powerful force in the internal strife in the Dominican Republic.

In Panama, university students, blamed for the Communist-style anti-U.S. riots in the Panama Canal Zone, still carry on attacks against Washington.

Inter-American agencies and security officials of the Central American republics are carrying on an intensive campaign against subversion. The United States is helping out where it can, both in equipping and training internal security forces, in sharing intelligence about Communist activities and helping finance Latin America's Alliance for Progress program of economic and social development.

But in the fight against Communism, as in the alliance, the officials say the job must, of necessity, be done by each of the Latin-American republics.

basic pension and a supplemental allowance.

The basic rate is $4.25 monthly for each year of service, and no deduction is made in it for those retiring at 62 or over. For those getting out earlier, however, the rate slides down to 86.7 per cent for those quitting at 60 and to 57.9 for those moving on at 55.

OTHER ALLOWANCE

The supplemental allowance is calculated by figuring 70 per cent of a worker's monthly wage. If this is less than $400, the smaller figure is used. The amount of basic to which he is entitled then is subtracted. This gives the amount of supplemental allowance payable.

The basic amount continues for life, but the supplemental allowance cut out when social security cuts in at 65. Thus an early retiree would get less income after 65 than before.

The union gave this example in a booklet of explanation distributed to workers:

"Let's assume you're retiring at age 62 with 30 years service and your wage rate, including cost of living, is $2.93 per hour."

PENSION BENEFITS

"Your pension benefits will be: Basic pension of $4.25 X 30 years equals $127.50 payable for life, plus supplemental allowance of $228.01 (x) payable to age 65.

"Total monthly benefits from pension fund:

"Prior to age 65—$355.51

"After age 65—$127.50

If 70 per cent of your monthly straight-time pay is $355.51 (173.33 hours X $2.93 X 70 per cent), and since this amount is less than $400, it is used to calculate your supplemental allowance.

"$355.51 less basic pension of $127.50 leaves a supplemental allowance of $228.01."

CAN'T WORK

The UAW's booklet emphasizes an early retiree forfeits forever his supplemental allowance if he takes another job and earns more than $400 in any calendar year. He is required to give his pension board an OK to check Social Security Administration records anytime it wishes.

As of last Dec. 31, a Chrysler Corp. survey showed it had 18,143 who were 55 or older out of an hourly rated work force of 80,726. And of the 18,143, only 7,216 had 30 or more years service.

The average hourly wage in the auto and associated industries is estimated at $13.50 hourly. A janitor makes $2.73; a man on the trim line $2.89; a journeyman tool maker $3.73.

SOME ANTICIPATE APPLICATIONS

Some anticipate applications may continue upward in September. The reason: Those still on the payroll Labor Day will receive holiday pay for it, and in the week of Sept. 5 a so-called annual improvement factor wage increase become effective.

AUTOMATIC RAISE

The annual improvement factor, forfeited in 1964 to win supplemental benefits for early retirement—gives a worker an automatic boost of 2 1/2 per cent or six cents hourly, whichever is greater. This could push some past the $3.30 level for maximum pension. And in any event, it would be added in figuring 70 per cent of a month's wage.

Any projection of the number likely to apply in September or to stick with their August requests "would be purely guesswork," said one union spokesman.

In the two-county Flint labor market on July 15 there were only 3,000 unemployed or 1.8 per cent, out of a total labor force of 170,700. By mid-August, 1,100 applicants had filed for September or October retirement at GM plants there.

Paul P. Kimball, Flint manager for the Michigan Employment Security Commission, predicted finding replacements would be "rough." He pointed out Michigan's unemployment rate July 15 was only 4.1 per cent and that it reflected some idleness caused by auto shut-downs for model changeovers.

Birmingham Area News

Report to Commission on Dutch Elm Disease

BIRMINGHAM — City commissioners tonight will receive a front-line report on Birmingham's battle with Dutch elm disease.

Control of the disease on city-owned property remains excellent, according to Darrel C. Middlewood, forestry and parks department superintendent.

In his report to commissioners, Middlewood notes that losses this year to date total 80 trees on city property and 287 trees on private property, for a loss percentage of 1.2 and 3.8 per cent respectively.

At present, he says, there are no control programs 100 per cent effective and no cures for the disease which are effective to any degree.

The city's control program has three phases — sanitation, prevention and replanting.

INCLUDES SURVEY

Starting in the winter, the first phase includes a survey for dead elm wood. Dead trees are promptly removed and unhealthy ones are trimmed.

A summer survey is taken for infected trees on city and private property, including sampling, culturing and enforced compliance with city and state laws.

Prevention is aided through spraying of all city elm trees with DDT. This is done during the dormant season.

WHENEVER POSSIBLE, NEW TREES are planted during the following planting season.

TRICE A YEAR

Middlewood notes that some cities are reverting to a program of spraying twice a year.

"It is our present feeling that this second spray is not warranted in Birmingham," he said. "The second application just cannot be economically justified because we do not feel that this application would greatly reduce the losses below those presently occurring."

With Middlewood's report is a statement from a Wayne County extension agent denouncing a so-called "cure" for Dutch elm disease involving the application of limestone around the roots of the tree.

State Police Moves Told

Three personnel changes have been announced at the Pontiac post of the Michigan State Police.

Cpl. Peter Waisanen, 47, of 424 Tilmar, Waterford Township, who has been at the Pontiac post since 1954, will retire Sept. 10.

Trooper James P. Lentz, 38, 1571 Waterford Township, will be promoted to detective and transferred to Detroit district headquarters.

TROOPER DALE J. SCHENKUS

35, of the Jonesville Post will be promoted to corporal and will be transferred to Pontiac.

Waisanen joined the department in 1940. He was granted a 54-month military leave during World War II and returned to duty in 1945.

CITATIONS

He has three meritorious service citations, is married and has two children.

LENZ

Lentz enlisted in the department in 1954 and has served at Pontiac since 1961.

He is married and has three children.

SCHENKUS

Schenkus has been in the department since 1954 and served in Detroit before being transferred to Jonesville.

He is married and has three children.

Like Song Says, the 'Moon Belongs to Everyone'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has some advice for would-be moon home-seekers: forget it.

"The moon belongs to the world, not the first arrival," said a spokesman for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

"We assume any exploration there will be handled on an international cooperative basis much like that in Antarctica," the spokesman said.

Over the years, however, many Americans have contemplated a life beyond earth. Some even filed claims with a county recorder, listing the moon or part of it as their own.

FILED CLAIM

In 1957, a man filed a quit claim deed in Navajo County, Arizona. He wanted enough land for his proposed King Solomon mines subdivision. The consideration was his "love and affection."

Others have claimed, via written declarations, Saturn, Venus, Pluto, Jupiter, Neptune, Mercury, the sun and "all planets between the planets of Mars and Jupiter."

The Bureau of Land Management, because of its name, has been the recipient of most of these claims. Two accordion-type folders now house a 20-year accumulation of about 200 claims and queries.

All have been answered, usually with a form letter which explains there is no legal basis for regarding the moon or planets as public land, and thus "there is no means or method by which they may be officially claimed or obtained by anyone."

PERSONAL LETTER

Occasionally, a personal letter is written. The bureau told one man seeking land with a view of the moon's Sea of Tranquility that land in Southern California provides "an excellent view of the Sea of Tranquility, if you have a telescope."

Then came his reply: "Apparently my letter did not explain my intentions correctly. I am interested in a parcel of land on the moon with a view of the Sea of Tranquility."

The form letter followed.

The bureau decided one writer was a joker, and told him in effect: "Live there six months, then we'll talk business."

BUSY CHILDREN

Many of the letters are from children.

A Stuttgart, Ark., youngster wrote: "I would like to put a calm (sic) on a planet. I would like to have Mercury but if it is taken I would like any planet I can."

One letter-writer asked, "Do you furnish free transportation for settlers?"

Some had an eye for money-making schemes. They included working real estate men, a man who wanted to start a mushroom plantation on Venus, one who hoped to start a trading stamp company on the moon.

Twenty years ago, an Alabamian asked for full information on moon claim requirements. He concluded his letter with his query: "Any taxes?"

Casino Opens; Revolt Over?

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic, (AP) — The nights are going to be less dreary although perhaps more expensive for some in Santo Domingo.

Gambling has been added to such nocturnal diversions at the Hotel Embajador as home movies, waiter baiting, diplomat watching, girl watching and waiting — waiting for service, for elevators, for dial tones and for the solution to the Dominican political crisis.

Four months almost to the night since it closed, the scarlet-carpeted, oak-paneled casino reopened Sunday night.

Opening night wasn't a smashing success, even if the hotel is filled with U.S. government officials, representatives of the Organization of American States and the United Nations, and foreign newsmen.

SPORT ATTIRE

As a concession to the revolutionary situation, patrons were allowed to wear sports shirts. Coats and ties were required before the rebellion.

A blackjack table went into action first. After an hour one of the two roulette wheels began its characteristic rattle. Only one young woman, an American, was among the blackjack players. She lost quickly.

Among the watchers were some uniformed members of the U.S. 82nd Airborne Division, which is here with the OAS peace force.

It Seems to Me...

President Infers Accusations in Refusing Hearing to Ford

Michigan is pretty indignant over the treatment accorded our own Rep. GERALD FORD by the President of the United States. Not so long ago, the President announced that a confidential briefing of leaders had been breached by the Wolverine Congressional leader. Mr. Ford denied everything. He waxed indignant.

But he held his dignity and principles of high purpose as he requested a White House meeting with the President to prove and establish his innocence. Did he get it? He did not.

LBJ, with utter indifference, casually looked out of the window and left the Michigan man standing hat in hand. This treatment is hardly becoming to the head of the Nation. GERALD FORD is the House minority leader and one of the most influential Congressmen in Washington. Furthermore, he's one of the most respected by his own party and the opposition.

In commenting on this unhappy turn of affairs, The San Diego Union said:

"Rep. Ford showed courage, dignity and grace and a fine sense of patriotism in replying to a bitter, taunting and personal attack by the President. . . . He puts the best interests of his country above personal feelings . . . and displays high quality of leadership President Johnson should use his high position . . . against his principal critics, the Democrats who oppose him and not the Republicans who support him."

Many staunch Democrats agree that Representative Ford has not been treated honorably or fairly. You can't accuse someone of a wrong and then refuse to hear his side or retract.

Plain Fact . . .

The question isn't original with me but has been looming larger in the minds of a nation. Stated succinctly it amounts to this:

How can a nation that laid low a huge Japanese city with one fearful blast; and which flashed pictures of Mars more than 130 million miles — plus other equally incredible feats — how can that nation be cheepmated for weeks, months and years by ragged Oriental hoodlums whose military equipment is woefully inferior?

If our hands are so badly tied we can't use real force, let's bring about the best settlement we can — and call it off.

The Payoff . . .

ARTHUR J. GOLDBERG's first official act at the U.N. was to present this Nation's meek surrender to France and Russia on the matter of paying delinquent dues.

For eleven months a controversy has been waging and raging, with thirteen nations refusing to bear their share of the peace-keeping operations. Over a hundred "settled up" France and Russia were the main recalcitrants with Soviet satellites tagging along. Slowly the bulk of the countries which had upheld the law began to defect until more than half agreed to bow their heads and let the free-lancers continue to huff and puff. So-o-o-o, the U. S. capitulated.

The International Court of Justice at The Hague rules against the Reds but the U.N. seems to revolve more and more around this point: what do the Russians want?

There's the payoff. Once more our waning, faltering international "prestige" suffers another body blow.

How low will we ultimately sink?

In Honor Due . . .

Washington agitation is revived for a suitable Vice Presidential residence.

Surely we should have one. The office deserves it.

The Vice President's position in the Nation and in the world steadily increases. He has become "Assistant President." With all the money this great nation fritters away and throws to the dogs, it's high time we buttressed our second in command. He ought live in a style to which he should become accustomed.

Our new House Office Building probably constitutes the most profligate building boondoggling of all time. With these legislators taking care of themselves in such extreme luxury and affluence, H. H. HUMPHRIES deserves a normal mansion in keeping with his position as the Number Two man in the Greatest Nation on earth.

And in Conclusion . . .

Jottings from the well-thumbed notebook of your peripatetic reporter:

A few days ago I received sixteen (16) pieces of junk mail in a single delivery; and it all slid straight into that yawning you-know-what without being opened. . . . Overheard: "The nicest thing about passing 40 is the fact that the Army is no longer interested in you, but the gals still are." . . . When you sound your automobile horn, you're using the invention of one of our own boys: ROBERT M. CRITCHFIELD.

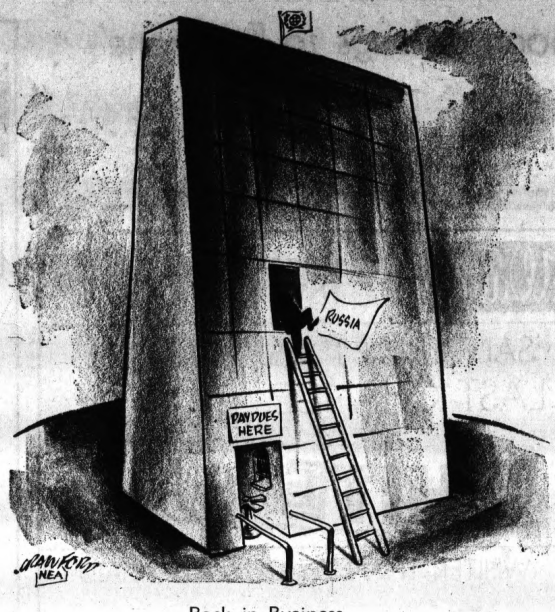

Purely personal nomination for an especially attractive young lady in the area: CRYSTINE JONES. . . . The teacher found five youngsters on their knees in the hall. "What are you doing," she demanded. One looked up. "Shooting craps." The teacher nodded in relief. "O. K. I was afraid you were breaking the law by praying." . . . Roger Kyes says GM has built its five millionth air conditioned car and all GM makes experience huge upswings. Pontiac is running better than 40%.

CRYSTINE

ROBERT EUNSON, Associated Press, is one of the few men in the world transferred to New York City, only to find himself in a smaller hamlet than the one he left. Bos headed the AP bureau in Tokyo with distinction and now becomes an assistant General Manager at headquarters. . . . LAWRENCE WELK produces one of the most satisfying TV shows of the week. If MITCH ("Sing Along With") had enough sense to leave a winning format alone, he'd be in the big dog today, but he decided he was a variety show champion, and faded into TV obscurity. . . . Back in Business

David Lawrence Says:

U.N. Not Designed as Superstate

WASHINGTON — It's an ill wind that blows no good. Luckily the controversy over the failure of certain governments to pay "peace-keeping" expenses levied by the United Nations could result in a stronger rather than a weaker mechanism for the maintenance of peace in the world.

LAWRENCE

The time may come when the American people will be benefited not only by what France and Russia unwittingly accomplished in refusing to pay certain expenses of the United Nations but by what America did in announcing that it will also feel free hereafter to pay or refrain from paying certain expenses that may be imposed by the organization.

The real point at issue, which has not been stressed in the public discussion, is that the United Nations is set to day and never was intended to be a superstate — a world government capable of invading at will the sovereignty or independence of any nation.

The United Nations was designed to be and is really a federation of states whose members are authorized by its charter under Article 51 to take collective action for their own defense and for the defense of any other nations that may request it or need it — as in the case of South Viet Nam.

But "collective action" means voluntary action, and no nation which chooses to remain aloof can be required to pay the expenses of any war or peace-keeping operation of which it wishes not to be a part.

PURELY VOLUNTARY

It is clear that a sovereign nation cannot be compelled against its will to participate in the work of the specialized agencies of the U.N., as these extend from social and economic problems to the handling of a variety of activities by nations voluntarily seeking to improve the general welfare of certain countries or regions.

The fundamental principle of the United Nations Charter is that nations shall work together collectively on a purely voluntary basis.

Otherwise, a group of nations interested in promoting aggression and imperialism throughout the world — as, for instance, the Soviet Union and Red China — could some day take possession by majority vote of the United Nations Assembly and order the United States to do its bidding.

It will be argued that in the Security Council, this country, like Russia, has a veto. But, on the other hand, the General Assembly in recent years has endeavored to do what the Security Council was thought to be obligated to do — to take measures to keep the peace.

COULD TELL U.S.

Ignoring the veto system of the Security Council, a majority of the 115 nations in the General Assembly could attempt to tell even the United States what it must do.

So it all boils down to whether the U.N. is to be a super-government or a federation of states which permits individual members to act voluntarily in joining or refraining from participating in "peace-keeping" operations.

The responsibility for stopping aggression now has been placed squarely on the voluntary alliances of nations, where it belongs, and if they do not have the military and economic force to do the job collectively in special situations that arise, the U.N. would hardly have achieved it either by arbitrarily levying assessments for "expenses."

Capital Letter:

Crime Curbs Are Unlikely Despite Growing Need

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON: Crime marches on!

While a waning Congress debates everything from wheat and cotton subsidies to liberalized immigration quotas, stern measures to stem our mounting crime wave are given little chance of action at this session.

FBI statistics reveal that the U.S. rate of serious crimes is increasing six times faster than our population growth. A murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, Montgomery serious larceny or auto theft occurs on the average of every 15 seconds in this country.

Ruth

The national increase in serious crimes is up 11 per cent over last year, but here in the district which is administered by the federal government the serious crimes rate has risen nearly 20 per cent!

For the 38th consecutive month, Washington's crime rate for July soared well above that of the comparative month last year. ONLY DEFEATED

"The only issue that could defeat me," President Lyndon B. Johnson confided to friends in the early weeks of last year's presidential campaign, "is crime in the streets."

Nearly a year later crime in the streets continues to skyrocket. A bloody insurrection in Los Angeles has shocked the world, and given communism its greatest propaganda ammunition in years.

Forcible rape in the District of Columbia last month increased 40 per cent over July of 1964.

To add to the horror, the district leads all states and comparable U.S. cities in syphilis and gonorrhea. No other area approaches Washington's gonorrhea rate, and few other cities approach even half the rate here.

WAS RAPED

The wife of a high-ranking State Department official was raped recently while walking her two dogs in a Georgetown park in midmorning.

Within the past two weeks

three other Georgetown women have suffered similarly at the hands of a man who answers the same description, and who is still at large.

Last week a Washington man was caught in the act of raping and robbing a waitress. It was his fifth rape offense charge here in less than a year.

USE LAW

The do-gooders on and off the court benches who use the law to protect criminals rather than the innocent are busily blaming everyone but the offenders for their crimes.

Something is obviously wrong with our court and penal system, therefore, and it is up to Congress to take action.

Voice of the People:

Readers Give Opinions on Streamlined Religion

So the world's in a mess! What kind of religion is Earl Borden looking for? The kind that Christians enjoy on Sunday morning, or just plain, modern religion?

To many it's wonderful to hear 60 minutes of God's word and sometimes it would do us good to listen even longer. Instead of looking forward to all the recreation that could be done during the week.

God gave us six days to work and play, and the seventh day to rest and worship.

MRS. PAUL COOK OXFORD

Mr. Borden's solution of streamlined religion is part of the mess in the world today. Most people have a form of religion but few have true salvation. Going to church, reading a prayer while listening to music, and a five minute sermon—what problem would that solve?

Our problem is that we have forgotten a few simple commands. One is to remember the Sabbath Day to keep it holy. A true Christian will thirst after the things of God and want to spend time in his place of worship praying for fellowmen.

The world's ills are brought on by the worldly people, not Godly people.

GLADYS HODGE 243 W. STRATHMORE

I grant you the world is in a mess, but I disagree that religion is outmoded and takes too much of our time. People are going to flock to the fold when they know they are given the right principles and ideals to base their thinking on.

Man is taking the church and changing it to suit his way of thinking. The church should take man and change him to Christ's way of thinking. It's about time we spent more time in the ways of Christ instead of in the ways of the world.

EDWARD PAIGE WALLED LAKE

In regard to the suggestion that church services be shortened, Paul said in First Corinthians 1:18: "For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God."

Achilles Heel

The Holland Evening Sentinel

The Achilles heel of the Great Society is that it is completely preoccupied by redistributing wealth instead of creating it. Social scientists have long feuded over the relative merits of two opposing viewpoints regarding improving national welfare. Some would take from the rich and give to the poor. Others would improve productivity so that both rich and poor would be better off. Historically the latter attitude has prevailed and has brought us to the highest level of affluence of any civilization in history.

The present administration however has shown almost complete disregard for preserving the vital incentives which have so successfully made our nation productive. The Medicare program transfers wealth from the young to the old. The poverty-war programs will be financed largely by the graduated income tax, another transfer from those who produce to those who are unproductive. Minimum wage increases similarly penalize the valuable worker and reward the unproductive worker.

It seems inevitable that in the long run, our lack of appreciation of productivity as a prerequisite for total national welfare will bring us face to face with national disaster. The Russians are learning this fact of life through bitter experience. Perhaps we can only learn in the same way. No one has yet solved the problem of continuing to enjoy golden eggs after killing the goose.

Bad Publicity

New York Daily News

The American Trial Lawyers' Association is sprouting some of the most nauseating news we've read in quite a while. These attorneys, many of whom specialize in personal injury suits, are talking about new and ghastly ingenious ways to bleed makers of automobiles, private airplanes, etc.

Under discussion among other things, are plans to sue auto companies for injuries to motorists driving cars not equipped with safety belts — cars made before such belts were required equipment anywhere. Some of our best friends are lawyers. We wish they would bury these Miami fellow practitioners of theirs to the effect that this sort of publicity can only harm the legal profession — badly.

Candlelight vows and a reception in the Royal Oak Missionary Church marked the nuptials of Margaret Darlene Schnaidt and Frederick C. Moulder III of Ferndale, son of the junior Frederick Moulder of Cheboygan. Alencon lace accented a white silk organza gown for the daughter of the George E. Schnaidts of Longworth Street, Royal Oak, for the rite performed by Rev. Laurence Pine. The pair chose a northern honeymoon.

An evening reception in the Michigan National Guard Armory will honor Mr. and Mrs. Louis Munoz Rodriguez (Delia Aguilera) who were wed Saturday in St. Vincent de Paul Catholic Church. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Isidro Aguilera, South Shirley Street and Mrs. Eliza R. Manriquez, West Howard Street. For the vows spoken before Rev. Frederick J. Kietner, the bride chose sequined white Chantilly lace over taffeta.

Wed Saturday before Rev. Roland Curtis in the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, were the Charles Scott Lamberti (Claudia Jean Cook). Their parents are the Claude E. Cooks, Victory Drive, Mrs. Yvonne Lambert, Genes Drive and Jacob Lambert, High Street. Alencon lace accented the bride's gown of white organza. The Daniel Footes of Waterford hosted a dinner for their niece and husband who will honeymoon in Washington, D. C.

Host Keeps Tickets at Theater

By The Emily Post Institute

Q: When inviting guests to the theater (tickets bought beforehand) does the host hand each guest his own ticket, or, when all have arrived, does he precede the guests, hand all the tickets to the ticket-taker and the guests follow him into the theater?

A: The host holds the tickets his hand so that the ticket-taker may see them, but he allows his guests to go in ahead of him.

At the head of the aisle, if the usher is there, he gives her the stubs and steps back, and the ladies precede him down the aisle. If however, the usher is already part way down the aisle, the host may lead the way until he reaches her.

If it is a very large party, it is wise for the host to tell his guests in what order they are going to sit, so that they may arrive at their row in more or less that order, thereby avoiding a great deal of shuffling about and confusion in the aisle.

SEATING

Q: My daughter is going to be married next month, and I would like to know the proper seating of the wedding party at the bridal table. My daughter and I disagree on how they should be seated.

The best man is seated at the right of the bride. Bridesmaids and ushers are seated alternately around the rest of the table.

Polly's Pointers

Last Minute Rush

DEAR POLLY — May I pass on a little saying that has helped me so much? "Whatever you have to do, do in the FOREPART of PLENTY OF TIME." This does not sound like much when first read but read it over and it may help you, as it has me, from so much last-minute breathless hurry to meet deadlines.—MRS. O.P.

GIRLS — No one needs to ponder over this more than I as I am afraid I am one of the world's worst for doing things at the last minute. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — My Pointer is for the girls who sit all day at a desk. Release the back garters fastening your stockings to your girdle when sitting for long periods of time. Your legs will feel much better after this all-day sitting.

This relieves that tight, pulled feeling of your stockings around the legs and improves circulation.—BERNICE

DEAR POLLY — When washing rough or sand-coated plaster walls, I use a large piece of nylon net. This really scrubs off the dirt or finger marks and leaves no stray bits of net.

There is always an excess of sponge left on such walls when washing with this. I do use a clean damp sponge to wipe the excess water off the walls. The nylon net also is good for just wiping down walls or removing dust after the long winter months.—MRS. S.K.

Many people are amazed when we tell them the facts: In a year, 43% of all home building and repairs shoppers in Michigan consulted their Yellow Pages before selecting a dealer.*

This means that Michigan people looked in their Yellow Pages 4,271,000 times for builders, roofers, carpenters, painters, plumbers and electricians.

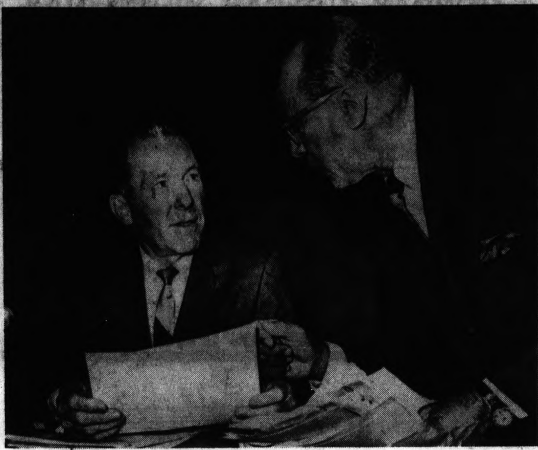

The facts on how your prospects use the Yellow Pages are impressive, too.

All of which underscores the profitability of your advertising in the Yellow Pages. That's where the buyers go. That's where they ought to get your message loud and clear.

CONTROVERSY CONTINUES — Though the Los Angeles riots are over, the arguments between the town's mayor, Samuel W. Yorty (left) debated on television with Chester L. Washington, editor of the Negro newspaper the Los Angeles Sentinel. Mayor Yorty branded charges of police brutality as the "big lie technique."

Officials Squabble

Debate LA Riot Cause

LOS ANGELES (AP) — In the riot-devastated South Los Angeles district of Watts, the painful process of recovery continues — slowly and silently.

Elsewhere the riot lived on in a controversy of growing rancor, as public figures probed for reasons and attempted to fix blame for the week-long disturbance.

Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty took to the airwaves Sunday with their explanations of the cause of the holocaust that left 36 persons dead and untold property damage.

By day's end, verbal salvos had been fired as far away as Portland, Ore., where Los Angeles Police Chief William H. Parker addressed an American Legion convention, Washington D.C., where Sargent Shriver heads the Office of Economic Opportunity, and Atlanta, home of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

HURT CAUSE

Brown, appearing in San Francisco on ABC's "Issues and Answers" radio and television show, said statements by Parker during the riots "hurt the whole cause of race relations."

"I do think his statements have been very, very unfortunate. I think they have hurt the whole cause of race relations in Los Angeles. But he's a sincere man. I know he's tried awfully hard to bring about a greater understanding between races."

Brown did not specify any particular statements by Parker.

Los Angeles Negroes maintain alleged police brutality — physical and psychological — was a contributing factor leading to the disastrous rioting. They have demanded Parker be fired or resign.

In Portland, Parker replied to Brown's statements.

WON'T COMMENT

"He'll have to be more specific than that. Before I can comment I'll have to know what statements he is referring to. I don't deal in generalities. He is making shotgun statements. We're both attorneys and he knows better than that."

Brown also said he had run into a "political war" in Los Angeles over the war on poverty "between the Democratic congressmen and the mayor's office."

He said the "more important programs just have been shoved and delayed by reason of the inability to determine who's going to run it."

He also rapped Congress which, he said, "in their wisdom or lack of it have jeopardized the governor in the state administration in this matter."

RAPS PROGRAM

Yorty, appearing in Los Angeles on CBS' "Face the Nation" television show, also criticized the federal administration of the poverty program.

Washington officials earlier said Yorty evidenced little interest in a summer-long program designed to improve economic conditions such as those existing in the Watts district. Yorty retorted then that he was not disinterested, but that Los Angeles was bypassed.

Yorty then clashed with Chester L. Washington, Negro editor of the Los Angeles Sentinel, a Negro newspaper, on the police brutality issue.

After a heated discussion, Yorty asked Washington:

ASKS QUESTION

"Are you trying to say that all of this looting and burning, these attacks by the Negro on the white people are justified by my police department's acts?"

"By no means," said Washington, one of program's three panelists. "There are a number of factors, but this is one of them, in my opinion."

Yorty also repeated criticism of Dr. King, who visited the riot area after violence subsided and said he believed police brutality was an issue.

"Well, Dr. King should not have come here," Yorty said.

"He came and talked with too few people, then tried to find something that he could say that he had accomplished."

GUARD GENERAL

One person who had no unkind words for anyone Sunday was Lt. Gen. Roderic Hill, commander of California's National Guard troops who aided police in quelling the riots.

Speaking in Sacramento, Hill told newsmen he felt the violence grew out of long-standing grievances which will continue to exist.

Professor in Line for Federal Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has announced he intends to appoint Dr. Charles Frankel, professor of philosophy at New York's Columbia University, as assistant secretary of state for educational and cultural affairs.

Frankel, 48, has been on Columbia's faculty since 1939. He succeeds Harry C. McPherson Jr.

The announcement Sunday by Johnson said McPherson, a Texan who has held a number of positions in government, was being named an assistant to the President.

How Many Police to Control City Crime?

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Johnson's new Crime Study Commission is faced with the question of figuring out how far police protection can be expanded before it becomes a liability.

The question will be one of the major issues to come before the panel in a 17-month study beginning next month, particularly because most experts feel that present police strength is inadequate in the light of recent crime increases.

The experts have been reluctant to say how much police strength should be increased. They contend it is dependent upon local conditions, the duties assigned police and the degree to which citizens are willing to have the police exercise control over their community.

James Vorenberg, executive secretary of the commission, said in an interview that any city would be able to improve crime control by quadrupling

the size of its police force. But he questioned whether this would be acceptable.

"The question is what level of crime we are willing to live with to avoid the dangers of a police state," he added. "It won't be an easy question to answer."

SEEK METHODS

Vorenberg said the commission is sure to take up the issue in its search for methods of reducing crime.

Illness Claims GOP Figure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Clarence Brown, Ohio's lieutenant governor and 35 and long a Republican power in the House, died today at Bethesda Naval Hospital.
The 72-year-old veteran congressman's death was attributed to uremic poisoning. Ailing for years, the big, gruff but friendly Brown entered the hospital for treatment of a kidney ailment last week.

REP. CLARENCE BROWN
Brown, in his 27th year of representing his 7th Ohio District, was the ranking Republican on the House Rules Committee and had been a driving force in Republican politics.
He was campaign manager for Sen. Robert A. Taft's bid for the GOP presidential nomination in 1948 and played a leading role for the Ohio senator in Taft's torrid second unsuccessful try for the party's top ticket spot in 1952 against Dwight D. Eisenhower.

After serving as lieutenant governor, Brown was Ohio's secretary of state from 1927-1933. He was defeated running for governor in 1934.

A familiar figure at Republican national conventions, Brown was one of the campaigners for then — Gov. John W. Bricker for the GOP nomination in 1944. Bricker became the vice presidential nominee that year.

AMY E. KRUEGER of Iowa spent a lifetime in service to the YWCA. She served 36 years as a YWCA staff and executive director.
In 1962, Miss Krueger became the Pontiac association's first honorary board member. Previously, she served on the Pontiac board for six years, serving as public affairs chairman and as religious emphasis chairman.
She also taught a silversmithing class here.

Area Youth Hurt in 2-Car Collision
A Commerce Township youth is in satisfactory condition at Pontiac General Hospital following an auto accident Saturday on Union Lake Road near his home.

Charles Schultz, 17, of 8792 Buffalo, was a passenger in a car driven by Stephen Slack, 16, of 8798 Portlock, Commerce Township.
The Slack vehicle collided head-on with a car driven by Jane E. Maki, 19, of 9065 Redwood, White Lake Township.

Mr. Reside died yesterday after a long illness. A corn dealer and farmer, he was a member of the Erly School Board.
Surviving are his wife, Lena; four sons, Earl, Neal, and Bruce of Inlay City, and Wayne of Ecorse; 10 grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren.

Who'll Get Bandit Kit?
LONDON (UPI) — London Transport's lost property office doubts if it will ever have a claimant for the parcel found in a bandit's kit of four nylon masks, two gags and two theatrical masks.

Pair of Drunk Suspects Are Highly Sought After
Two men arrested Saturday on drunken driving and drunk and disorderly charges turned out to be prize catches for the Michigan State Police at the Pontiac Post.
The pair, Bobby R. Anderson, 31, of Denison, Tex., and Martin D. Daigle, 34, of Beaumont, Tex., were arrested Saturday afternoon after a high speed auto chase by Trooper Charles Morr.
Troopers had been alerted that a drunken driver was heading north on Telegraph. Morr spotted the car in Bloomfield Township and apprehended the pair when they entered a driveway at 4255 Telegraph, thinking it was a side road.
After a check was made at the police post, troopers discovered that both men were wanted throughout the northwestern and western United States on a number of charges.
Troopers said Anderson had jumped out of a $10,000 bond in various cities throughout the nation.
