Next Stop: Sunny Florida

HOME AT LAST—President-elect John F. Kennedy brings wife Jacqueline and 14-day-old son John F. Kennedy Jr. home from Washington's Georgetown University Hospital this morning. Nurse Luella Hennessy is carrying the baby. The Kennedys spent a few hours at their Georgetown home, then headed by plane for Palm Beach, Fla., where 3-year-old daughter Caroline was waiting for her first look at her new brother.

Breakfasts With Rep. Boggs

Jack Talks of Aged Plans

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy's plans for a health program for the aged came to the fore as he resumed talks with legislative leaders today.

Just before going to Georgetown University Hospital to bring home Mrs. Kennedy and their young son, Kennedy breakfasted with Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., a member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Boggs told Kennedy they talked about "legislative program in general," specifically including Kennedy's plan for a health program for the aged to be financed under Social Security.

Boggs said he thinks the administration program generally, including the medical bill, will have easier going than such proposals had last year.

The Ways and Means Committee last year refused to approve a plan along the line of Kennedy's medical bill ideas.

Heading out for Florida with his wife and baby this afternoon, Kennedy let up a bit today on the pace he has maintained as he sought to put an administration together.

Both parents were happy smiles as Kennedy pushed his wife's wheel chair to the door of the hospital. There she got out of the chair and stepped into a waiting automobile.

Miss Luella Hennessy, Mrs. Kennedy's nurse, carried the baby, wrapped in blankets so closely his face could not be seen.

Reporters and photographers lined a pathway in the lobby and flash bulbs popped as Kennedy pushed the rolling chair through.

"Oh, Jack, please keep going," Mrs. Kennedy said as her husband paused. But she was smiling as she said it.

She appeared a little pale but there was no indication of difficulty as she walked to the automobile, holding her husband's arm.

In a hectic round of 18 conferences, Kennedy's new cabinet members have a look at the Executive Mansion where she will live after Jan. 20.

The young wife of the president-elect made the call soon after being released from Georgetown University Hospital where her son was born two weeks ago. The visit had not been announced in advance.

Anne Wheaton, assistant White House press secretary, told newsmen of the visit after Mrs. Kennedy arrived.

Mrs. Wheaton said Mrs. Kennedy was making "a short informal call" on Mrs. Eisenhower in order to get acquainted.

The visit was in response to an invitation from Mrs. Eisenhower. It is customary for the outgoing "First Lady" to invite her successor to the White House.

About the time of Mrs. Wheaton's disclosure that Mrs. Kennedy was at the White House, it was also made known by Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's news secretary.

"Mrs. Kennedy is now at the White House visiting with Mrs. Eisenhower," he told startled reporters. "She arrived there about five minutes ago, and will be there with Mrs. Eisenhower for 30 to 45 minutes."

He said that Mrs. Kennedy was driven to the White House alone, departing from the Kennedy's Georgetown residence by the back entrance, avoiding a large assemblage of newsmen and photographers.

Salinger said that Mrs. Kennedy had been invited by Mrs. Eisenhower to make the visit.

Let's Peek in the Stores for 'That Man's' Present

By JANET ODELL

Let's go shopping for the men today. There seems to be more than the usual number of quality items for masculine tastes this year.

There's nothing out of the ordinary about giving a man a belt. We just think he might like a plaid one with a seal-type buckle to wear with sport clothes.

Does he raise the roof because the hangers he has let his trousers drop to the closet floor? Present him a new kind that looks as if it would hold tightly, yet release in an instant.

If he is the methodical type who makes a budget—and sticks to it—he might like a little automobile record book. With Mrs. ODELL, this he can keep all his car expenses in one place. It's a nice stocking stuffer.

Cater to your trigger-happy mate with a Blotwick 1616 cigarette lighter that looks exactly like an old-time gun.

Reversible vests are showing up in a number of stores. If a vest is out of the question, how about a equestrian or plaid wool cap for cold weather wear?

On the whimsical side there's a large clothes brush in a ceramic holder shaped like a duck. There's a ceramic pooch who acts as a night valet on the dresser; his tail is a shoehorn. Decanters appear in a number of new forms, one of which is a lantern.

And speaking of lanterns, take a look at the new flashlights. They've been squared off, and fit the hand well.

Cubans Battle Band of Rebels in Central Area

Castro Ministry Denies Landing of Insurgents—Foes Say Otherwise

HAVANA (AP)—A band of about 150 armed anti-Castro insurgents was reported fighting in Central Cuba today after a new landing near Corralillo on the north coast 120 miles east of Havana.

Although the Armed Forces Ministry denounced the report as a "counterrevolutionary rumor," sources opposed to Prime Minister Fidel Castro insisted it was true.

Persons arriving in Havana from Matanzas west of Corralillo, said the invaders have been engaging Castro soldiers and clashed with troops at Cumanayagua, one of the gateways to the rugged range.

Two militiamen were reported killed by one such band which came out of the mountains on a raid for food Thursday.

Castro's army, however, said the invaders have been engaging Castro soldiers and clashed with troops at Cumanayagua, one of the gateways to the rugged range.

This report—one of several concerning armed clashes—came amid these other developments:

Authorities at Cienfuegos, near the south central coast, announced one person was killed and four injured in an unsuccessful attempt of a group of counterrevolutionaries to seize a Cuban airplane in flight and force the pilot to fly out of the country.

A Cuban diplomatic note to the United States, charged that a double-breasted space rocket, which fell in fragments near Holguin in Eastern Cuba 10 days ago and killed a cow was a part of a "treasonable plot" of aggression.

The attempt to commandeer the airplane was foiled, Cuban officials said, when the pilot crashed-landed the plane during a dramatic airborne gun battle.

Jackie Visiting Mamie Today

Responding to Invitation She Makes Call Before Leaving for Florida

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy visited the White House today to meet Mrs. Eisenhower and have a look at the Executive Mansion where she will live after Jan. 20.

The young wife of the president-elect made the call soon after being released from Georgetown University Hospital where her son was born two weeks ago. The visit had not been announced in advance.

GI High for Discharge, Then . . .

Tanks Smother Algiers Uprising

ALGIERS (AP)—Army tanks, backed by troops and riot police, crushed barricades thrown up here today by angry crowds protesting President Charles de Gaulle's arrival in this rebellious African area to whip up backing for his home-rule plan for Algeria.

About 10,000 Europeans skirmished bloodily with security forces throughout Algeria as a French territory—threw up barricades toward nightfall, just as they did last January, when they came close to overthrowing De Gaulle's government.

Two army tanks rolled over the wooden barricades across the Rue Michelet in downtown Algiers shortly after they were thrown up by the rioters.

The tanks turned and recrossed the shattered barricades and the crowds tried to surge forward and mount them, but were turned back by about 50 infantrymen surrounding the tanks.

Surrounding the area were steel-helmeted riot troops who then moved in with tear gas grenades to drive the rioters up side streets.

The attempt to barricade the downtown area—reminiscent of the French Revolution—capped a day of rioting in which police reported at least 100 persons injured.

Downtown Algiers was strewn with debris as though a full-scale battle had raged there.

As night fell, riot police were still jobbing tear gas grenades into demonstrators trying to regroup for more violence.

NEED ARMY SUPPORT

Unlike last January's riots, when the soldiers obviously were sympathetic to the demonstrators, there was no apparent warning today between troops and rioters.

It has become an axiom among Europeans in Algeria that no demonstration against the government can be successful without at least tacit army support.

Another sign of toughness on the part of the authorities was the announcement that 400 people arrested today, 350 were destined for internment camps in Southern Algeria.

The others will get police court trials for disturbing the peace.

De Gaulle himself, on a trip to promote his ideas of self-determination for Algeria, was not more the center of today's riotous violence, in Algiers and Oran.

Laos Coup Puts Leftists in Control

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Red-beribboned paratroopers of left-leaning Capt. Kong Le seized control of this capital today in a swift rebound from apparent defeat.

It was the second military take-over by rival paratroop factions in 24 hours but neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma continued to preside over the government in his cream stucco palace through all the changes.

In Washington the State Department studied reports of the latest topsy-turvy developments in Laos today with intense interest—but without any immediate comment.

It appeared that moves were being made at such rapid pace by the pro-American, Pro-Communist and neutralist factions that no one in the government here knew quite what was happening or how it would turn out.

Col. Kouprasith Aphay and the anti-Communist leaders of Vientiane's garrison who seized control of the capital in a previous strike Thursday, were reported bottled up by Kong Le's 2nd battalion paratroopers at Chinsamo army camp outside the capital today.

Kouprasith's 3rd battalion got the upper hand temporarily in a brief clash with pro-Communist elements of the 2nd battalion at Camp Chinsamo Thursday.

Wearing white armbands and flying white flags to denote their support of neutralist Souvanna, they swarmed over the capital in jeeps, tanks, trucks and staff cars.

Premier Souvanna declared Kong Le, the leader of the coup that overthrew the pro-American government last August, had been relieved of his command of security forces in the capital.

But today there was not a white armband or white flag in sight. The grounds of Souvanna's palace in the center of the city were surrounded by Kong Le's men wearing red kerchiefs.

Congo Hostages Face Death if Lumumba Held

Backers of Ex-Premier Say Unless He's Freed, They'll Kill Belgians

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Supporters of Patrice Lumumba who rule Oriental Province today threatened to kill an unspecified number of Belgian hostages unless the deposed premier is freed.

They made the threat in a telegram to President Joseph Kasavubu and Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congolese army commander whose troops arrested Lumumba and clamped him into prison.

Bernard Salumu, boss of the regime at Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province, threatened to arrest all Europeans, kill some of them, and "sabotage all Belgian interests in the province" if Lumumba was not released within 48 hours.

The United Nations took immediate emergency action to protect the estimated 2,500 whites living in the province, half of them in Stanleyville.

The United Nations spokesman said Salumu threatened only Belgians, but was expected to make no distinction between Belgians and other whites.

FEW AMERICANS

An unknown number of non-Belgian and a handful of Americans are believed to live in Oriental Province. Many of them are missionaries.

The United Nations has 1,800 Ethiopian troops in the province. They took over a school building in Stanleyville Thursday as a protected refuge for all whites.

Plans were made to evacuate the entire white population to Leopoldville if necessary.

Salumu's cable reached Leopoldville this morning, but the threat became known to U.N. officials after a news conference Salumu gave in isolated Stanleyville late Wednesday.

Early today U.N. Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld told the Security Council meeting in New York that he has "deeply disturbing news" from Stanleyville and Oriental Province. He declined to go into details at that time.

Salumu's deadline for Lumumba's release was believed to expire tonight. It was not known whether any whites have been arrested as hostages thus far.

The cable said: "Demand immediate liberation Prime Minister Lumumba and members local government arrested by Col. Mobutu."

"Liberation must take place within 48 hours."

"If not will arrest all Belgians in Oriental Province and begin (Continued on Page 2, Col. 3)

Advantages Many in College Trimester Plan

'Would Cut 40 Per Cent Off Needed $10 Billion'

NEW YORK (AP)—A university administrator said today a new operating timetable can shave 40 per cent off the "better than $10-billion" expenditure the nation faces for new college facilities in the next 10 years.

Dr. Edward H. Litchfield, chancellor of the University of Pittsburgh, said the way was pointed by Pitt's "trimester plan" inaugurated 18 months ago.

(Editor's note: Michigan State University Oakland will operate on the trimester plan beginning next September.)

In a talk prepared for the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, Litchfield said two additional Pennsylvania institutions already have taken a leaf from Pitt's book.

More than 40 others in the nation are considering similar academic calendar changes, he said.

Under the trimester plan, students attend classes 11 months instead of the conventional 10 months each year. They are able to complete undergraduate work in less than three years, compared with the usual four, and to obtain a masters degree in one year.

STUDENTS LIKED IT

Litchfield said Pitt expected 3,000 students to take advantage of the third-term plan when it was first offered. Five thousand actually did so.

Eighty per cent of those who did not stay over for the extra term went to work, and because of trimester management 100 days of gainful employment instead of the normal 65.

More than 50 per cent of faculty taught through the summer, Litchfield said, increasing salary income accordingly. Seventy-eight per cent of those who did not engaged in professional consulting, research or related work.

The educator said revision of the academic calendar resulted in greater use of university facilities, a spreading of overhead costs and increased the number of students who could be accommodated without sacrifice of educational quality or quantity.

Litchfield put much on the list improper use of time and resources, reflected in "partial" school years, wasted faculty time, trivial undergraduate preoccupations, premature and indiscriminate retirement of our workers, large groups of idle women, and an even shorter work week.

"I ask you the question of whether a culture working less and less, and less work, has much prospect of victory in a competition for survival," he said.

"We cannot marshal the strength of a culture by postulating leisure—that is, freedom from engagement—as a national goal."

The dead man was identified as Ramiro Rodriguez.

It was not clear whether the injured were wounded in the gunfire or by the crash landing.

The note delivered to the U. S. chargé d'affaires, Daniel Braddock, protested that the United States was endangering Cuban lives and property by launching its space rockets over this island.

"Chunks of the rocket weighing up to 40 pounds fell in an unpopulated area 500 miles east of Havana after it was launched from Cape Canaveral and then destroyed by chance, with absolute contempt for the life and interests of citizens of all our continent," said the note.

'Any Deer' Seasons Likely Out for 1961

LANSING (AP)—The State Conservation Commission today disclosed it will open a moratorium on "any deer" seasons in 1961 except in areas where deer do considerable damage to farm crops.

The stand against doe and fawn shooting next year was announced in a statement signed by all six commissioners attending the group's monthly meeting.

Commissioner Stanley Cain of Ann Arbor was absent.

City Students Win 6 of 25 Drafting Honors

WIN AWARDS—Two Pontiac High School students were awarded first and second place last night in the seventh annual drafting contest of the American Society of Body Engineers in the Detroit area.

The top winners were Tom Zink, 16, of 78 E. Columbia Ave., and Edwin Wasik, 16, of 861 Spence St. To the winners went cash awards.

The contest, which closed Nov. 17, was open to all senior high school students in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Pontiac Central students took the top two prizes and three others.

Brochure to Explain Plea for Hills School Bond

BIRMINGHAM—Information concerning the special upcoming school election in Bloomfield Hills will be received by all residents of the district early in January.

Assistant School Supt. Irving Menucci said today that a brochure is currently being compiled and will contain all pertinent information on the proposed $4-million bond issue that will be presented to property owners Jan. 30.

The school district is seeking approval of a 30-year, $4,135,000 bond issue to be used to finance school construction and purchase school sites.

If approved, the new money would finance an addition to the present high school, a second junior high school, a new two-unit elementary school, and one-unit additions to three elementary schools.

WOULD MEAN TAX RISE

It received favorably, the proposed bond issue would mean a 7.25 per cent increase in taxes to residents in the school district, according to Menucci.

This would mean an increase of about $1.25 on the current $101.50 tax on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Menucci said the 7.25 per cent hike would be levied only the first year and at that time it will be the highest it will ever become.

It will be reduced proportionately by each year as the bonds mature, he added.

Tentative plans call for a 3-year building program.

The proposed new schools and additions by the end of the four years could accommodate some 5,600 students.

This is an increase of 2,000 over the number now attending classes.

A survey conducted by Michigan State University points up the fact that the student population in the area will be close to 8,000 by 1965-66.

The proposed junior high school would cost $1,363,000 and accommodate 800 students.

The addition to the high school would increase capacity by more than 400 and cost an estimated $1,029,100.

The new elementary school could handle 550 students. It would cost approximately $554,000.

Future additions to the elementary schools would increase overall capacity by 325.

Total cost of the three additions would be $600,000.

Nearly $500,000 would be set aside from the proposed bond issue to purchase new school sites.

A surplus from a $700,000 bond issue in March 1959 will be applied to the January proposal if it is approved.

Like to Weekend in South

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower planned to leave today to spend the weekend in Augusta, Ga.

The U. N. spokesman said Salami at his news conference had also threatened to loot the property of the arrested Belgians.

Salami two weeks ago roped in virtually every white in Stanleyville for an "identity card check" and kept them standing in the blazing sun for up to seven hours.

A score of whites, including a woman and a young child, were kept in prison and brutally ill-treated for several days before being released through U. N. intervention.

Most of the whites still living in Stanleyville are men, but a few white women and families remain.

5 Pct. Lower in October

DETROIT (AP)—October building contracts in metropolitan Detroit slipped five per cent from the same month a year ago, the F. W. Dodge Corp. said today.

Nonresidential contracts climbed to $25,264,000, up 46 per cent over last year, the marketing agency said, while residential contracts fell 37 per cent from October 1959 to $18,237,000.

barrenness, hoisted French flags and shouted.

Wearing his general's uniform, the French president set about one of the most dangerous and delicate missions of his political career—a move that could lead to a break in the French hold on Algeria.

De Gaulle brushed aside the demonstrations in a talk with the officials at Algiers.

"Shouts, noise—that signifies nothing. Facts, clarity, good sense are what we should show and not a devotion to outdated slogans and formulas," he said.

The president predicted both Algeria and Metropolitan France will vote yes in next month's referendum.

Traditional Rail Pocket Watch Fails to Progress

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Capital system has authorized the use of an American-made railroad wrist watch for its operating personnel, the first departure from the time-honored use of a pocket watch by railroad men.

The central has approved the 2 1/2-inch B. W. Raymond railroad wrist watch (made by the Elgin Watch Co.), the first American-made standards of accuracy and ruggedness of the old pocket variety of "ticker."

The railroad expects to approve watches made by other companies when they meet the required standards.

Regular inspection by accredited time inspectors will still be required, even though the B. W. Raymond resembles a version of the watch produced for the U. S. Air Force and exceeds government specifications for watches of this type.

Group of Parents Complains of Required Books

CLYDE, Ohio (UPI) — A group of parents has complained to the school board because a high school teacher assigned his students to read and report on the books "1919" and "The Grapes of Wrath."

The parents said the books contained what they described as "dirty" passages.

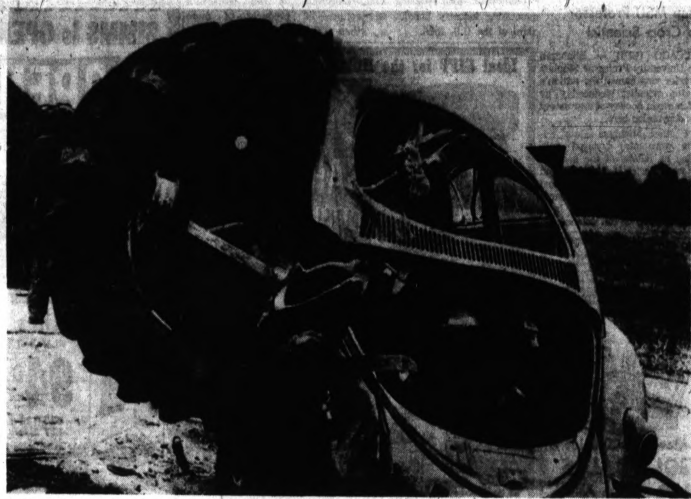

School Supt. Richard Van Atta, who launched an investigation into the charges, said that the book "1919" was of a questionable nature.

He said the book was not in the school library, but was the personal property of the instructor.

Van Atta said he would meet with the teacher, Ray J. Hoover, and ask him to explain his reasons for using the two books involved.

The superintendent said that "1919" concerned a moral breakdown following World War I and contained parts dealing with sex perversion. "The Grapes of Wrath" was written by John Steinbeck and was a best selling novel.

Hoover is in his second year at the Clyde High School.

Grain Shipping Record Set by Port of Toledo

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A record 21,032,000 bushels of grain were shipped out of the port of Toledo during the 1960 shipping season, the Toledo Board of Trade reports.

Shipments this year increased more than 55 per cent over the previous record of 13,534,000 bushels set last year.

The last grain vessel to visit the port this season, the Brookdale, a Canadian ship, loaded a cargo of soybeans Thursday.

Automated Post Office Chews Mail, Not Nails

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (UPI) — What the engineers may have forgotten in the world's first automated post office is a set of old-fashioned, human-type nerves.

At least when postal workers became a trifle overburdened they settled for chewing their fingernails or a cold cigar—but never the mail.

Not so with this new gadget that is the pride of the postal service. It chews up 30 or 40 letters daily and this requires a mimeographed notice to the addressee explaining his mangled mail.

The experts maintain the real trouble is that letters processed by electronic sorters are not removed fast enough by postal workers from the sorting bins. The resulting back-up pushes letters into the conveyor mechanism.

Last week the gadget's electronic eye was quicker than its electronic hand, and letter with Christmas seals pasted on the front were rejected and labeled "foreign."

It took a steady, human-type hand to fix that matter. up too.

MRS. FDR AN INDIAN SQUAW—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who gets around, receives the traditional trappings from Wah-Nee-Ota, chief of the Creek Indian tribe from Muskogee, Okla., as she was adopted by six Indian tribes at Beverly Hills, Calif., Wednesday. She became a Creek, Crow, Seminole, Navajo, Apache and Mohawk. The Indians explained that her late husband, President Franklin D. Roosevelt, won their gratitude in 1938 during a widespread drought when he helped them regain the Smithsonian Institution a sacred beaded thunderbird. Rains came the day it was returned to the reservation.

Plans for Compact Compact May Get S-P Into High Gear

By JACK VANDENBERG

Studebaker-Packard, the smallest of the nation's five major automobile companies, is quietly laying plans to shift out of the low gear it has been in for most of its six years.

Except for a short speedup in second gear in 1959 when it first brought out its Lark, Studebaker-Packard has had little more than a marginal existence since it was created by the merger of Studebaker and Packard in 1954.

But there are stirrings in the South Bend, Ind., company now that are reverberating all the way back to Detroit, the heart of the auto industry.

Most of the rumblings among Detroit auto makers have been about the company's plans to bring out a new "compact compact" car in the 1962 model year.

ITS ON SCHEDULE
This car, which would be built on a 96-inch wheelbase and would be powered by a four-cylinder engine, is proceeding as scheduled despite a recent revision in tooling orders sent out by Studebaker-Packard, sources say.

Although work on the engine for this car is now going on, the decision to market it still is not beyond the point of no return.

The new tooling orders do not affect any of the engineering components of the minicar, which is designed to compete with foreign imports like the Volkswagen and Renault.

The new tooling orders are a result of a "reappraisal" of the company's styling and engineering plans for its 1962 model Larks and Hawks primarily, although it may involve some changes in the planned styling of the minicar too, sources said.

S-P Vice President Lewis E. Minkel recently acknowledged that the "reappraisal" was in progress.

Minkel indicated that the company felt its original plan for drastic restyling of the Lark in 1962 was too much of a break with the past to conform with the company's policy against "planned obsolescence."

"We feel the public wants to avoid obsolescence in cars and wants auto makers to lower year-to-year costs by making only changes necessary to improve the car," he said.

Perhaps the most important phase of Studebaker-Packard's rebuilding program has not been discussed previously, however.

Currently, many Studebaker-Packard dealers are what is known in the auto industry as "duals," that is dealers who handle more than one line of cars.

Dealers who also handle competing lines of cars usually do not push sales of either line as hard as they might if they had undivided loyalties. Most auto industry officials have felt for a long time that Studebaker-Packard's dealer organization was one of its major problems.

The company is in the process of building up a new dealer organization. It already has taken its best executive personnel in dealer relations and realigned them to the drive for a stronger dealer organization can be more concentrated. With new products, advanced engineering, consistent styling and a new and stronger dealer body, Studebaker-Packard hopes to once more issue a stronger challenge.

Free Parking Is Offered to Downtown Shoppers

One of the sounds of the holiday season will not be the ticking of the meters in the city parking lots. The red flags will be up, but the tickets will go to the Downtown Merchants Association and the city.

The "fine" will be $4.200 split between the association and the city's cash box. Throwing the lots open on a payless basis for the two weeks before Christmas will help stimulate sales, and it will make it easier for shoppers, which is important to any trade center.

However, don't forget to put up your ante if you're alongside a meter on the street. These are not included in the yuletide maneuver, and tickets will be forthcoming for lapses of memory.

And if you're going downtown tonight, remember this, too— you don't want to pay for your parking tickets. IT STARTS TOMORROW.

Area Has Year-Round Recreation Facilities

The Pontiac area has every natural advantage for a year-round resort section. The possibilities for the warmer period have already been developed to great extent.

But that for the colder months is only well started toward utilizing what we have.

With the ski craze taking the country by storm, greater possibilities are warming up.

Our many hills all beckon the devotee of the sport where a bone fracture is an honor.

And they likewise bring longing looks to that more timid fan, the tobogganer.

Although the monetary investment here in this sport already exceeds a million dollars, it only makes a fair start.

With artificial snow, chair lifts and other modern installations, the buoyancy of youth is no longer an essential. So-called oldsters are getting into the game.

Our numerous lakes offer every possibility for the exhilarating sports of skating, ice boating and hockey. Can any other area, in any state, offer more?

And right here in the center of the area where the motor car drove the horse out of business, Old Dobbin is coming back as the power in the revival of sleigh rides.

When it is remembered that all of this is closer to a large concentration of population than any other area in the entire U.S.A. that even faintly resembles it, we should be mindful that the Pontiac vicinity has all the advantages to make it a great winter resort section.

We have the good roads to reach what we have to offer, the crowds are assured. Let's get ready for them, and show them that they do not have to go further north to avail themselves of less.

Disillusioned Followers Continue to Flee Cuba

The list of disillusioned CASTRO followers grows daily. Fortunate ones find asylum in foreign embassies or refuge in neutral countries. Others are imprisoned and even executed.

Cuba's chief justice of the supreme court, appointed by CASTRO, is under Argentine embassy protection in Havana. The minister of finance quit his post. The head of CASTRO's air force, his intelligence chief and railroad administrator all have fled to Florida. Four nominees to important ambassadorial posts resigned.

Recently Teresa Caruso, one of CASTRO's most vocal supporters, resigned as Cuban delegate to the United Nations and told why on television from New York. Her reasons are the same as other defectors — the people have been betrayed: Cuba is being turned into a Communist state as oppressive as that of Batista's dictatorship.

There are some 60,000 Cuban refugees in Florida. Some of these had supported the BATISTA regime. But more and more original CASTRO backers are joining them along with others, mostly professional men and skilled craftsmen, who refuse to live under CASTRO.

The Man About Town

From Our Readers

Expressions of Gratitude During Holiday Season

Cheerful: What some men are only when they're beauful.

A boost for our mercantile employees comes from

Mrs. Georgiana Chitney of Birmingham, who phones that after trading with them for many years, she never met a Pontiac clerk who was not courteous and obliging.

Supplementing our story about Pontiac on the survey of a cross-state canal.

Now in his 86th year.

Darwin A. Joslin of Sylvan Lake enjoys the distinction of never being out of work since he graduated from high school at Holly in 1893.

A collection of old newspapers owned by Robert Brown of Waterford, tells the doings of Ulster County, N.Y., in 1800, Detroit in 1865 and Pontiac in 1894.

Reader of this column, (in his words), "from away back,"

Francis E. Ward of Utica, sends me two metal badges of an ancient vintage that indicate that there then was an agitation for deeper waterways.

A challenge is received from Clerk

Fred Mathews of Tuscola County. He wonders if any Oakland County city, village or township can match the 95 per cent voting record of one of his townships in the Nov. 8 election. Can we do it?

Inspired by our recent story about junk mail.

Mrs. Grace Londrigan of Birmingham writes that the federal government itself is one of the worst offenders through the stuff franked by congressmen and its other employees. She says there surely is something in a name, as Raymond Blattenburger appears to be the power behind a 20-page propaganda booklet mailed at government expense.

In his 75 years of living in Michigan.

David Cheyney of Drayton Plains says he never saw a more beautiful November. And I'll make it 83 years, and say the same thing.

To the Battlements, Men!

David Lawrence Says:

Cabinet Selection Again a Travesty

WASHINGTON—The American people are witnessing again a travesty on representative government—the selection of the cabinet by a president-elect.

Not one of the men who will wield tremendous power over a huge department of the Federal Government was elected by the people.

Not one of them was proposed for cabinet membership before the election.

The fact is, however, that the names of many persons who helped in pre-convention or post-convention efforts to win the electoral votes of key states have been bandied about in the press as likely selections.

Whether these were trial balloons or whether they reflected the ambitions of certain influential persons trying to mould Kennedy's decisions is unknown to the public.

DISREGARDING PLEDGE

But it seems certain that if, as rumored, the president-elect is seriously considering some of the names being mentioned, he is disregarding some of the principal points in his pledge.

Picking a cabinet is no easy task, but the regrettable custom is to satisfy the political leaders and factions and take a chance on popular indifference or lack of interest.

Theoretically the people have something to say about it, as all appointments to the higher posts have to be confirmed by the U.S. Senate.

Dr. William Brady Says:

High Cholesterol Foods Aren't Necessarily Evil

"This summer when I was visiting my brother, I happened to mention that I eat an egg every morning for breakfast.

"He has a son who is a doctor of internal medicine.

"My brother told me his son says that if I continue to eat so many eggs I will perhaps eventually develop a coronary lesion. He says cholesterol deposits have been found in heart tissue or in the coronary arteries, in a great many autopsies.

"Is this true? If so what is your advice?" (Signed, Mr. R.P.)

What the doctor says about the findings in autopsies is true. But what he says about what will happen to you if you continue to eat an egg every day is absurd. Nobody really knows whether the cholesterol in such excellent, healthful foods as milk, eggs and meat is in any way related with the cholesterol deposits which commonly found at autopsy, in the coronary, heart, joints and other arteries, no matter what may have been the cause of death.

There is no proof that limiting the intake of high cholesterol foods or excluding them from the diet will prevent atherosclerosis or coronary or arterial or joint trouble in a great many autopsies.

One correspondent told me her two elderly bachelor uncles carefully dissect all fat from meat they eat, so they won't develop atherosclerosis, coronary lesion or other dire consequence of consuming too much cholesterol. Maybe the old boys enjoy practicing such a self-denial.

I believe this too about "cholesterol" deposits and high blood cholesterol levels is founded on ignorance of pathology. One might as well advise babies to vomit by developing arteriosclerosis if they continue to take so much milk—for milk is the richest food source of calcium.

Please send me a copy of Little Lesson No. 1, "Save Your Teeth." I'm forty and have receding gums. Is it too late to do anything? (Mrs. R.M.H. of any kind.)

Ans.—No. For the booklet send me 35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope.

I have pernicious anemia. Analysis of gastric juice shows I have no acid in my stomach. I take 30 mg. of vitamin B-12 every 5 or 7 days. Please send me your pamphlet on the red vitamin. How much acid should I take? (Mrs. L.H.)

ans. — The pamphlet is available free to any reader who provides stamped, self-addressed envelope. You should take no acid unless your physician prescribes it.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 300 words long, pertaining to personal health and medicine, will be answered. Send them to: Dr. William Brady, 2700 East Huron St., Pontiac, Mich. 48134.

REjuvenate GRANDPARENTS

Don't stop with the eye specialist. Have your hard-of-hearing relatives, equipped with the ingenious modern hearing devices.

Then they will now see twice as much per year as formerly, so you can see them more often. They will also retain the old hymns and try to church more often.

Radio and TV will also come alive and thereby stimulate their brains.

Remember, a stimulated brain remains young much longer. So does a stimulated eye or ear.

Before stopping your new type of gifts, take the old folks to a dentist for new dentures.

Their false teeth may be so old and loose that they can't enjoy anything except soft foods. If they don't dent their dentures to soften them, you can't fault them. They need new teeth.

Besides, the modern dentures will fill out their sunken cheeks, restore their puckered, greeling lips to normal and generally knock off 10 years from their apparent age.

So have a paw paw with the other children and then send your gift money into new glasses, a hearing aid and new false teeth. Thus, you will let your parents and grandparents live a richer life during their final few years.

Otherwise, they may stagger along in semi-blindness, not hearing half the sounds of life.

Jesus said He came that we might have the more abundant life, which includes keen sight for the elderly, plus good hearing and functional false teeth.

So it is both a filial as well as religious duty to rejuvenate your old folks.

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan 48134. A list of self-addressed envelopes and 35 cents to cover costs of mailing them when you please.

Hunters Most Concerned Over Shortage of Deer

If, as Fred Henry says in his letter of Dec. 5 to VOP, there is such a surplus of deer, why are thousands of hunters signing our petition to repeal the act which permits the taking of any deer out of the woods?

When people will call from Lewiston, Harrison, Atlanta and other areas all over the state for these petitions it looks like there is a definite shortage of deer. We have thousands of signers who firmly believe the deer herds are diminishing at far too great a rate.

With all due respect to the men to whom we pay big salaries in the Conservation Department, all these other men can't be wrong either. Spring will tell us more, but the hunters will be pretty skeptical about what the commission tells them from now on.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Hayward

73 E. Chicago St.

I agree with Lloyd Hoyt who wrote to the VOP column regarding our deer situation. Every hunter against the any-deer season should write our state representative in Lansing. Also, owners of private property should allow someone else to, cut off old growth to make way for new growth for browse in the severe winter months to help prevent starvation of deer.

Most of the hunters would donate a weekend of wood cutting to make way for new browse for our dwindling deer herd. Better still, I think an organization should be formed to perform such activities. Almont

Here We Go Again—More About Politics

The more we hear about the Kennedy victory, the worse it smells. We have just returned from a trip to Chicago where we were thinking Democrats, as well as the Republicans, are thoroughly outraged at the very apparent slights perpetrated upon them. The investigation now going on will probably come to naught since the ballots from many of the controversial precincts have mysteriously and conveniently disappeared.

I have no admiration for Harry Truman, but we must agree when he says that the Democratic convention was rigged, and judging from subsequent events it appears that the election suffered the same fate.

Under conditions like these we can't help wondering how long it will be before we have only one name on the ballot as in Russia. The Ballot of the Future

It seems President-Elect Kennedy is taking quite a while to appoint his cabinet and other members of the official family. One can hardly blame him as he really doesn't have many qualified men in the Democratic party.

I remember "FDR" was up against the same dilemma when he first came in office and he appointed Mr. Stimson and Mr. Knox plus a few other good Republicans to keep the good old ship of state running smoothly. I hope Mr. Kennedy does the same.

It is a shame the American people didn't elect Mr. Nixon and Mr. Lodge. Two well qualified men who had the know-how in their party.

Must Pay $800,000 in Back Pensions

DEARBORN — The City of Dearborn has been ordered to pay pension benefit increases retroactive to 1952 to 104 retired policemen, firemen and their heirs. The ruling, which may cost $800,000, was made by Circuit Court Judge George E. Bowley Wednesday when he fell 50 feet from a scaffold in the fuel and repair room at the Enrico Fermi Nuclear Power Plant near here. Ballantyne, a painter, was employed by the Joseph Schaller Co. of Detroit.

MR. SAM HAS TROUBLES — House Speaker Sam Rayburn was just being his friendly self Wednesday while greeting visitors to the Rayburn Library in Bonham, Tex. But Marty Grove, 8-months-old, son of Dallas News reporter Larry Grove, didn't take too well to the attentions when the veteran lawmaker took him in tow.

Mountain Cats Make Big Comeback in East

NEW YORK (UPI)—Any time now, some New York husbands may come home in the wee hours of the morning and tell the little woman: "I'm sorry I'm so late, dear, but there was this mountain lion at the head of the subway stairs and I had to wait until it went away."

Will the Missus think that this is his wisest alibi yet? Or that mountain lions have replaced the pink elephants that sometimes come out of a bottle, or that hubbys had finally flipped his lid?

Not if she has read the current issue of Audubon Magazine, which reported today that mountain lions, considered practically extinct in Eastern North America, are staging a comeback and that one was sighted only 50 miles from New York City.

According to an article by Bruce S. Wright, director of the North-eastern Wildlife Station at Canada's University of New Brunswick, the big cats, which grow up to six feet long, are coming back because deer, a mountain lion delicacy, are so plentiful.

Although he didn't envision any subway salaries to the city's outskirts to hunt mountain lions in the near future, Wright said one of them was seen by a startled deer, but there was this mountain lion at the head of the subway State Parkway near Ashbury Park, N.J., on a rainy night in 1958.

Since then, Wright said, people probably have seen the tan colored animals with the long black tipped tails in other parts of the metropolitan area, as well as in Massachusetts, Maine and Canada, but have kept quiet about it.

This, he indicated, may be because they didn't trust their own vision, thought they had seen a deer, or concluded:

"Who'll believe me anyway?"

Hopeful of Full Aid Payment for Schools

LANSING (UPI)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Lynn M. Bartlett had an encouraging word for school districts Thursday.

"It is very possible that revenues collected between now and Feb. 25, 1961, the date of the first payment in the new year, will permit a full state aid payment," Bartlett said.

The school chief also said an early release of partial state aid payments to schools will be made about Dec. 15.

"State aid checks amounting to some $26 million will be sent to Michigan school districts at that time," Bartlett said. This early release of available funds will make it possible for our school districts to meet obligations before the Christmas vacation begins without the need of borrowing."

Cheaper Barley fattens Steers

BISMARCK, S.D. (UPI)—Barley was found to be equal to corn as a feed for fattening steers in a recent experiment by the North Dakota Agricultural Experiment Station.

The experiment conducted on 50 steers showed that corn-fed animals required more feed but still did not gain any more than barley-fed animals.

Station Cuts 5 Minutes of Paar Show as Unfit

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI)—Television station WEWS Thursday cut a five minute portion of the Jack Paar show because officials said it was "not fit to broadcast."

The gap in the show was filled with a public service announcement and music.

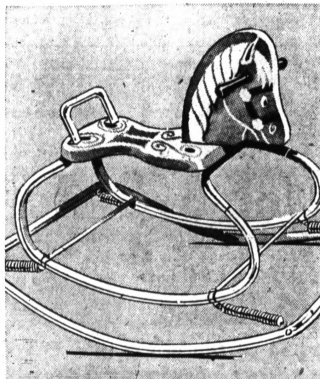

A station spokesman ordered the management ordered the five-minute part cut because it included what they thought was objectionable language.

The station broadcast an announcement which said: "In our opinion (the segment) does not meet the standards of the National Association of Broadcasters' code."

Mail Problem Promises Trouble to Nixon

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon, by his decision to join an established law firm in Los Angeles after Jan. 20, will face an unusually difficult problem as titular head of the Republican party. Separated by a continent from GOP National Committee headquarters in Washington, he lacks the private means to finance the office staff that is essential for handling the vast quantities of mail that pour in to a popular leader who polled nearly 34 million votes.

Nixon's mail count has been averaging 1,000 letters a day since his defeat. If he hopes to be an active candidate for the presidency in 1964, these letters should be answered, others written, and research conducted in order to retain this reservoir of good will.

The problem for previously defeated Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson was less acute for two reasons: He was closer to national headquarters than Nixon will be, and his private fortune is estimated at a million dollars.

Even so, the role of titular leader dug deeply into the Stevenson pocketbook. At one time he was paying the salaries and expenses for a staff of 34 — a cost that perhaps rightly belong to the party itself.

Another power is the fact that traditionally a national committee maintains neutrality between rival presidential hopefuls until the convention has nominated one of them.

Indications are that Nixon will be competing with Nelson Rockefeller, great white hope of the liberals, and Barry Goldwater, darling of the conservatives, for the '64 nomination.

No political party has a complete meeting of minds on any bill or program. As a consequence, each potential presidential candidate should have his own research work performed, to insure that he is avoiding someone else's bias.

RIVALS WEALTHY

Rockefeller, with his large gubernatorial staff and personal fortune, will have no problem financing research and letter writing. Goldwater as a member of the Senate and chairman of its Republican campaign committee will have ample staff and services available to analyze legislation and policies. Thanks to the family-owned Goldwater department store in Phoenix, the Arizona senator is also independently wealthy. It can be noted in highest authority that a group of well-to-do Republicans, business men are planning to set up a private research committee that would be available to Nixon, as the party's titular leader.

Privately financed, it would be on instant call for any research project that he might order. This would solve the most expensive part of the problem, and would leave only secretaries and typists for Nixon to pay out of his own pocket.

As a leader who collected nearly half of the nation's votes, he should quickly build up a prosperous law practice on the West Coast, particularly since he has decided to join a firm, rather than to build from scratch.

Attorney General William F. Rogers, Nixon's closest friend in the administration, plans to join

U.S. Cuts Arms to Laos Army

Shipments Halted by Request of Country's Prime Minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has cut off arms shipments to both factions of the Royal Lao Army, U.S. officials reported Wednesday.

The action is represented as compliance with a Dec. 5 request from neutralist Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma to stop supplying arms to the rebellious forces under rightist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The officials said U.S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown was instructed to tell Souvanna Phouma his request is being met.

The United States said no weapons have been brought into Laos since Nov. 26, the day after a heavy attack by Phoumi's troops on government forces.

This country, in compliance with Souvanna's request, will continue financial support of Lao Army troops. The thinking here is that Phoumi's forces should be given that support since they may be needed for eventual action against the Communist Pathet Lao.

Britain Cuts Bank Rate by 5 Per Cent

LONDON (UPI) — Britain Thursday cut its bank rate to 5 per cent in a move to ease pressure on the dollar. The ½ point reduction brings the key discount rate in this country more in line with rates in other world capitals. It is designed to put brakes on the flow of money into Britain in search of short term high interest rates.

The last cut in the bank rate came only seven weeks ago — Oct. 27 — and Thursday's reduction marked the first time in 30 years Britain has changed its key interest rate in December.

The rate was 5½ per cent from June to October. It had been added slightly to encourage saving exports and half inflationary trends on the domestic front.

Roosevelt Cancer Fund Aids International Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of an international fellowship program to aid in the fight against cancer was announced Thursday. The project is backed by a grant of $250,000 from the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation. It is designed to provide opportunities for study in this country by promising cancer researchers from foreign nations, and for similar study abroad by U.S. researchers.

Philly's City Hall 'Not for the Birds'Taped Scream Gets Rid of Starlings

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—When a starting is in trouble, he makes a peculiar call—a scream.

The call may be a warning or it may be a plea for help. But when the scream of a starting in distress is amplified 400 times over 24 loudspeakers, every other starling in the area flies out of the way, fast.

That, at least, was the experience of Philadelphia in a six-day campaign to shoo thousands of the pesky birds from their roosts in the nooks and crannies of the huge old city hall, which straddles the intersection of Broad and Market streets in the center of the city.

Today the birds appeared to have been scared away for good. City officials expressed cautious optimism that they will never come back.

Raymond J. Mauserman, deputy commissioner of public property, in charge of the scaring war, pronounced the experiment—suggested by Dr. Hubert Frings, Penn State University zoologist—an "unqualified success."

Ed Grim, chief of the city's electrical bureau, who set up the machinery used in the campaign, said it was a success "right from the start."

A nuisance in the evening when they fly in from their country feeding places to roost for the night, the starlings have cost the city an estimated $5,000 a year for cleaning city hall alone. Numerous nearby buildings also were dirtied by the birds.

Previous attempts to drive them away with loud noises, whistles and even men waving poles had failed. Once a sticky substance was spread on their roosts, but this didn't bother the birds, either.

At Frings' suggestion, Grim captured a starting and then tape-recorded his screams as he attempted to escape. This tape-recording was amplified over the 24 loudspeakers—12 at each roosting on the roof of city hall, the other 12 fixed on lamp poles around the outside of the building.

Last Friday promptly at 4:30 p.m., Grim turned on the tape recorder as thousands of birds began flocking in for the night. They took off in black clouds, only to return when the recording was shut off. As they settled again, they were hit once more by a blast of sound and took off protesting into the night. This was continued until full darkness at 6 p.m.

On Saturday night, Grim said, there were "very much fewer" starlings on hand at 4:30 soundtime. Sunday night the number was even fewer.

By Wednesday night—final night of the experiment—only a few birds, described by one city official as "either dead or mentally retarded," tried to get back to their city hall home. Many others began roosting in surrounding buildings.

Frings said that large flocks of them were seen "heading west." He added it was hoped the starlings would stay in the country instead of coming into town every night.

On Wednesday night the loudspeakers were mounted on trucks which cruised the downtown area to drive the birds from other buildings.

There were reports that many of the birds had moved out to the Philadelphia Zoo, but city officials said that was not true.

Fear that the birds might migrate to International Airport also proved needless.

Check These PrecautionsStores: Avoid That Fire!

Managers of Pontiac retail stores were asked today by Fire Chief James R. White to keep their establishments fire-safe during the holiday shopping season.

White offered the following fire safety precautions:

1. Be sure that all emergency exits are clearly marked.
2. Keep all aisles and exits free from obstructions.
3. Empty packing cases, cartons and waste materials should be disposed of promptly as goods are unpacked. Clear backrooms and cellars of such materials at least once a day.
4. Allow smoking only in specially designated areas.
5. Give instructions to all clerks and other employees how to handle fire extinguishers and other fire emergency equipment.
6. Only nonflammable or at least slow-burning materials should be used in store decorations. Keep decorations away from electric light bulbs.

7. Employ only qualified electricians to install new wiring or extensions. If Christmas lights are installed, check the fusebox to be sure that each circuit has the proper size fuse.

"Clerks and other employees should also be told," White said, "that while fire extinguishers may be used to control small fires, a small fire can quickly become a large fire, and to:

"Call the fire department immediately."

Asks Laws to Protect Federal Road Work

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A House highway investigator urged Congress Thursday to enact conflict-of-interest laws covering state employees handling federal funds.

Rep. Frank M. Clark, D-Pa., a member of the House subcommittee looking into alleged roadbuilding scandals, said the "hanky-panky" turned up so far in Florida and other states convinced him a new set of standards was needed for state officials handling federally subsidized road projects.

Bell Phone System Big but Independents Grow

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Bell system with its 23 operating subsidiaries is responsible for 34 out of every seven phones in the United States.

The other 11 million phones provided a thriving business for more than 3,500 independent telephone companies.

Although most of these independents are small, providing only local service, they serve more than half the geographical area of this country and receive about 10 per cent of the industry's gross revenues.

The independents have managed to keep pace relatively with the larger Bell system both in growth and improvement of facilities.

The independents have one great advantage over the Bell system—they can grow by acquisition, a route closed to American Telephone & Telegraph because of its already dominant position.

The Value Line Investment Survey said the current trend is for the independents to merge into larger units better able to cope with rising wage scales and the initial costs of modern direct dialing and electronic equipment.

It looks for this trend to alter the structure of the industry in the states, with fewer and fewer companies remaining on the scene.

General Telephone & Electronics Corp. has acquired a number of other independents in recent years, and now is the leading independent with some four million telephone lines.

Other independents gaining in stature are Rochester Telephone with about 300,000 phones; Central Telephone, 250,000; and West Coast Telephone, 170,000.

Growth in revenues for the entire industry is virtually assured by a growing population and higher standards of living. Advanced technical know-how is turning out more and more cost saving devices.

Big Student Productions Slated at Waterford

FIRST TRY AT 'AMAH!' — Next Thursday evening Walled Lake High School will become the first area high school to attempt the difficult production of "Amahl and the Night Visitors." The famous opera is now in its final stages of dress rehearsal and if the "dress" in this rehearsal scene is any indication, it should be a real "spectacular." Kneeling before a page and the three kings

Pupils Direct Plays; Choir, Concert Band
in Christmas Program

By HARB SECAN

Students at Waterford Township High School will display their talents tonight and next week in both the dramatics and music departments, and each program promises to be outstanding.

A bill of three one-act plays will be featured tonight in Waterford's gymnasium at 8, and there is something especially attractive about these plays.

Three outstanding students in dramatics have been given the opportunity to direct them.

Each of these seniors chose the play that he most desired to direct and then cast it. Rehearsals have been under way for several weeks.

The first of these presentations is one entitled "Special Guest" and is being directed by Dan Wonnas.

This play is of a sinister and suspense-filled nature. In it Don has produced an Alfred Hitchcock mood throughout the entire play. Second is the "Shoemaker's Daughter," an entertaining melodrama directed by Florence Zampark.

A drama, it relates the experience of her father.

Last of the three is "Thank You" under the direction of Joe Stedgel. This is a comedy, and Joe has succeeded in producing some humorous entertainment for all.

These three students have put forth their best efforts and talents and will receive their rewards when the show goes on tonight.

CHRISTMAS CONCERT

"An Old Fashioned Christmas" is the theme for this year's Christmas concert. The entire music department of Waterford will be taking part in this concert on Thursday night at 8 in the school gymnasium.

Among the selections played by the concert band will be "Christmas March," "Song of the Bells," and "White Christmas." Included in the vocal department's selections will be "Winter Wonderland," by the senior girls ensemble; "Three Songs for Christmas," by the capella boys ensemble; "Veni Jesu," by the boys glee club; and "Carol of the Drum," by the capella choir.

These are only a few of many of the joyous Christmas songs that will be featured. This is the only time during the year that the two music groups merge, and their aim is to provide spectacular entertainment for all who attend.

Student pictures for underclassmen were distributed today. Sophomores and juniors received a picture, which included two large pictures and several of wallet size.

Report card day rolled around again as the second marking period slipped by. Students received their cards on Wednesday.

Inspired PNH Debaters Prepared for Challenge

By DIANE M. WALTER

Inspired by a victory over Southfield, the Pontiac Northern High School debaters are looking forward to a successful season in debate competition.

Susan Scott, Bill Basinger, Pam Dunham, and George Kovach, active members of the debate team, have faced their challenge, theme of their debates for this season.

"Resolved: The United Nations Should Be Significantly Strengthened."

Debaters do research work and write speeches concerning their topic of the season.

Bill Ramsey, Beatrice Stephens, Pat McBride, Dave Minthorn and Jackie Morris are also members. Mr. Hutchins is sponsor and coach, as well as guidance counselor for Pontiac Northern students.

Recently a practice debate was held with Clarkson. The purpose of a practice debate is for individuals to better understand and recognize their weak and strong points.

This helps debaters strengthen their arguments.

Student debaters are looking forward to their next actual debates against Farmington and Cranbrook to be held at Cranbrook.

Practicing for their January competition the members held several discussions for English classes. This also helped them acquire poise, self confidence and stage presence when performing for an audience and judges.

Northern debaters are a comparatively new group, small in number but each eager to strive for constant progress.

Sports fans and P.T.S.A. members eagerly listened to the Rev. Robert Richards of California on Wednesday.

In the Little Theater, he acted as narrator for the film, "Athletic Values," which stresses the need for high school athletics and school spirit.

Christmas Preparations Under Way at St. Mike's

By PAT BURNS

The students of St. Michael High School are preparing for Christmas with old and new traditions.

An old but rapidly rising custom that has entered the classroom is the displaying of the Christmas Advent Wreath.

At the beginning of each day, the president of every class lights one of the four candles symbolizing each week in Advent.

One candle is lighted the first week, two the second week, and so on until all the candles are ablaze during the fourth week of Advent.

The wreath is made of evergreens to symbolize the everlasting life and four ribbons are placed at regular intervals to remind us of the four eras during which the world waited for Christ.

The practicing of this custom brings the true spirit of Christmas into the classroom.

In keeping with the new customs, the girls glee club will participate in a Christmas program at the Pontiac State Bank Tuesday.

The glee club consists of 42 girls from the ninth to the 12th grades.

Among the selections they will sing are: "The First Noel," "And There Were Shepherds," and "White Christmas."

The glee club is under the direction of Sister Mary George, musical director.

Congratulations are in order to Bob Lineenman who received the Optimist Award.

This award is presented to a senior each year by the Optimist Club of Pontiac for outstanding citizenship and scholarship.

It is one of the highest awards a senior boy may receive. To qualify he must be a letter man, he must be of high academic standing and must have a recommendation from the faculty.

Bob is fully qualified for this award through his active participation in sports as tackle on the varsity football team for four years and as student manager for the varsity basketball team this year.

He is also a member of the class C-D all county first team. Bob maintains a "B" average in school and plans to attend college after graduating.

Basketball season at St. Mike's was officially opened with the first game a victory over Orchard Lake St. Mary last week.

St. Mike's will meet its second opponent tonight at St. Rita's in Detroit. The student body is looking to a victorious season.

Community to Get Big Gift From Walled Lake Pupils

By SHARON MURDY

Walled Lake Senior High School's annual Christmas present to the community will be the famed Carl Nigotti opera about the miracle of the crippled shepherd boy.

This opera has been performed on television for several years and many professional groups have also done it.

This will be the first time a high school group in this area has attempted the production.

After auditioning several young boys to play Amahl, Mrs. Frank Balaam, in the director, decided on Freddy Welch. Freddy is 11 and a sixth-grader at Union Lake Elementary school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Welch of 7267 Arrowwood Road, Westacres.

But Freddy, an outstanding boy soprano, is not the only Welch in the show.

His sister, Jo Anne, a senior at Walled Lake, will be playing in the orchestra.

Freddy will be given more support by Ute Mayer, exchange student from Offenbach, Germany, who lives with the Welches. She is the pianist.

Pat Lyninger, a junior, will play the mother. The three kings will be sung by John Emmert, as Kaspar; Terry Nicholson, as Melchior; and Dan Jackson, as Balthazar. All are seniors.

Ken Colton, a junior, is singing the part of the page. To cut production costs the players are making their own costumes.

The senior high orchestra, under the direction of Helmut Holland, Moritz, will accompany the singers.

The opera will be presented on Thursday, Dec. 15, at 8 p.m. for the P.T.A. faculty members, students, and community. Admission is free.

Avon Food Has Foreign Flavor

Homemakers Prepare Foreign Dishes for Christmas Project

By BILL DEVEREAUX

Once again at Avondale High School the Future Homemakers along with the homemaker department are preparing for the Christmas holidays.

As a Christmas project the Future Homemakers will have a party next Tuesday. At this party all the dishes will be foreign. Santa Clauses filled with candy and cookies have been made for the occasion.

There will also be a gift exchange in the form of a grab bag. Committee for the potluck dinner of other countries include Dianne Edmonds, Shirley Hively and Paula Lucero, menus and Sheran Turner, Karen Farrell, Chris Swanson and Dorann Gould, decorations.

Tablesetting will be handled by Susan Sunberg and Yvonne Parent. Shirley Hively, Rose Ann Kolodziej, and Pauline Verbaas will be the cleanup committee.

Several girls from the Avondale senior class took the Betty Crocker test last Wednesday. The purpose of this test is to find the homemakers of tomorrow.

To these homemakers will be awarded scholarships of different amounts.

Members of the homemaker department have already raised enough money to purchase two steam irons and several portable mixers.

Busy Time for PCH Vocalists

By BARBARA GRIFFIN

Christmas is always the busiest time of the year for members of the Pontiac Central High School Vocal Department.

In addition to giving the annual Christmas Concert, the choir and small ensembles have many outside engagements to perform.

Sunday afternoon at 3 in the Central gym the boys and girls glee clubs, the Selective Girls Glee Club, Songplanners, Junior Girls Ensemble, Senior Girls Ensemble, and the capella choir will perform along with Northern's Choir, the Pontiac Women's Chorus, MacDowell Male Chorus, and the All-Choir.

Highlights of this free Christmas concert will be the massed vocal groups and the orchestra performing Handel's "Hallelujah Chorus" under the direction of George H. Putnam.

Wednesday night the choir and ensembles presented a Christmas program for the patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

Directed by Doreen Voltmann, the choir will also perform for the Rotary Club, the Kiwanis Club, and the Pontiac Exchange Club.

The senior girls will appear with the choir at Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange and will sing also for the Child Study Club and the High Twelve Club.

Michael Dempsey's Songplanners will sing for the Pontiac Administrators Banquet and for the Lions Club.

Singing Christmas music for the Junior Child Study Club will be the Junior Girls Ensemble.

West Bloomfield Concert Slated for Wednesday

By CAROLYN MAVIS

The public is invited to the annual Christmas concert of the vocal and instrumental music departments at the West Bloomfield High School gymnasium Wednesday at 8 p.m.

The senior band consists of 60 members under the direction of Mr. Robert Pfeiffer.

The selections they will play are "The Christmas Story," a variation; "Christmas Hallelujah," "Pavane Angelica," and "Frosty, the Snowman."

The junior band will also play some selections.

The 65-voice choir will appear in several selections under the direction of their conductor, Merin Asplin. Selections that they will sing are "Go Tell It on the Mountain," "White Christmas," "I Wonder as I Wander," "Shepherd's Christmas Song," and "God Rest You Merry, Gentlemen."

Hats Hilarious at Emmanuel

By KATHY MCKEE

Students at Emmanuel Christian High School appeared with streamers and bows on their heads for crazy hat day.

Hats went wild. There was everything from shoes decorated with glitter and jewels to gigantic wicker baskets with birds inside.

A courtesy week will commence Monday. The first few days the girls will be obliged to perform all necessary courtesies due to the boys.

The last days girls will insist upon complete avergence.

There will be a courtesy king and queen picked by the students' popular vote. Crowning of the king and queen, their court, penances and priggesses from each class will take place at the school Christmas party.

MARK COMING OF CHRISTMAS — Students at St. Michael's High School this week began preparing for Christmas by displaying the Christmas Advent Wreath in classrooms. The four candles represent the four Sundays before Christmas. Only one candle is lighted each morning the first week; then two the second week

Key to Success at St. Fred's Is Concentration

By MARY E. DETMER

"Concentration" is the key word for success at St. Frederick High School these days.

In the past two weeks and for four more to come the minds of the seniors will be devoted to term papers. By now all have picked their topic and are endeavoring to accomplish their task.

To break their hard work, and for a good reason, next Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday are to be set aside for the annual high school retreat.

For the students these are days of recollection in their spiritual life and this is an appropriate preparation for the coming Christmas season.

There was no school yesterday because it was a holy day. This didn't affect the Future Nurses' assembly, where they attended an open house at Highland Park General Hospital in the afternoon.

This visit is one of a series planned to further the girls' interests and understanding of the profession. They recently attended an openhouse at Providence Hospital.

Today the basketball team was honored in an afternoon pep assembly. Cheers were yelled and songs sung anticipating a victory in the first home game of the season.

Tax Debate Due for Legislators

Swainson to Bring Up Subject of State Levies on Jan. 11

LANSING (UPI) — Talk about taxes will be back again next year when the 1961-62 legislative convenes on Jan. 11.

Passage of a penny hike in the sales and use taxes by a special session Wednesday doesn't mean lawmakers are through dealing with revenue problems.

Governor-Elect John B. Swainson is one who will bring the subject up.

Swainson campaigned on a pledge of total tax reform and has indicated he would like to see some of Michigan's numerous taxes repealed in favor of simpler levies—like a corporation profits tax or some form of personal income tax—levied either by the state or by cities to the benefit of both.

House Speaker Don R. Pear, R-Buchanan, and majority leader Frank D. Bonde, R-St. Clair, said in a joint statement, following enactment of the sales and use tax hikes Wednesday, they expect more action.

"We will be very interested to see what Swainson proposes in the tax field when the legislature convenes next month," the statement said.

"All recommendations will be given thorough analysis and careful consideration in the next legislative session, but we cannot continue to pile tax after tax on our people and our business community," they said.

Both Saint and Elf

Santa's Name Once Was Sinter Klaas

By JULES LOW

AP Staff Writer

Most traditions are children of strange ancestry, and the two most popular Christmas customs—Santa Claus and the Christmas tree—may have the strangest heritage of them all.

Does it come as a surprise that the lighted tree is entirely Christian in origin while the jolly figure sometimes called St. Nick was born of pagan parents?

True, the name Santa Claus is derived from St. Nicholas — or Sinter Klaas, as the Dutch called him. But the saint and the elf have nothing in common except the name.

This is how they came to be joined in Christmas lore:

For years the feast of St. Nicholas, Dec. 6, was observed in Europe by giving gifts to children. He is their patron saint, and the custom still is practiced in some European countries.

Few historical facts are known about the saint. He was bishop of Myra in Asia Minor and died about the year 350. He was an orphan, and a generally accepted legend is he often helped poor children by slipping coins through their windows at night.

FROM THE DUTCH

Dutch immigrants to America brought the traditional Dec. 6 "visit from St. Nicholas" to their colony of New Amsterdam. They had clung to the custom even after the Reformation.

Later, when the English founded the colony of New York in the same "territory," their children liked the idea of a nocturnal visitor coming to their homes, too.

But the idea of a bishop was disagreeable to the New Yorkers, many of whom were Presbyterians. Also, they did not celebrate feasts of saints.

In the wretched pages of German folklore, familiar to these Anglo-Saxons, was the pagan god Thor.

CRACKER AND GNASHER

He was the god of the peasants; an elderly, jovial man with a long white beard. His color was red, his element was fire, and the heath was sacred to him. On the occasions when he left his home among the icebergs of the North land, he frequently would come down chimneys into his element.

He rode in a chariot pulled by two white goats, Cracker and Gnasher.

Exchanging gifts at Christmas was traditional with the English-Americans, and it was not surprising the jolly old elf now familiar to us all, should emerge as the new delivery boy.

Santa Claus is strictly an American citizen.

The source for this Christmas lore is the Rev. Francis X. Welser, S. J., of Weston College, Mass. He is one of the nation's foremost authorities on the subject, and also gives the derivation of the Christmas tree.

In medieval days a favorite pre-Christmas pageant was the "Paradise Play," depicting the fall of Adam and Eve, the promise of a Savior and the ensuing birth of Christ.

A fir tree hung with apples represented the Garden of Eden, and the symbol soon found its way into homes on the feast day of Adam and Eve, Dec. 24.

Germans also had the custom of erecting in their homes during Advent a candle-bedecked wooden pyramid topped by a star, signifying the "light of the world" which shone from the stable at Bethlehem.

During the 18th century they began combining the two symbols, usually adding beneath the tree the Christmas crib which formerly stood at the foot of the pyramid.

Trees began appearing in American homes after the first big wave of German immigration in about 1700.

His Story Was Altered After Graduation Day

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Capt. Bruce Martindale, a pilot for Braniff International Airways, figures his past has caught up with him.

It happened the other day on a flight from Washington to Dallas.

Martindale uses the public address system to carry on a line of chatter about historical landmarks the plane happens to be passing over. Passengers like the idea.

He was telling about the battle of Shiloh as they passed over the Tennessee River when a bright-eyed little lady signaled the hostess.

"Did he take History 15 at the University of Texas in 1935?" she asked.

The hostess asked Martindale and confirmed that he had.

"Well," the lady exclaimed, "I had that boy as a student, and I must say he sure knows his history better now than he did 25 years ago."

President Sees Pickup in 1961

Rep. Curtis Also Thinks National Products Will Be Greater Next Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—A White House visitor reported Thursday that President Eisenhower looks for a pickup in the economy in 1961.

Rep. Thomas Curtis of Missouri said he told Eisenhower he thinks the Gross National Product next year will be greater than this year. He said Eisenhower generally agreed with his view on this.

Curtis is the ranking Republican on the Senate-House Economic Committee which currently is holding hearings on the state of the economy.

Curtis described the economy now as "quite solid," but said the worst feature of present "economic phenomena" is relatively high unemployment. He said this situation has continued even from recovery from each postwar falloff in the economy.

Curtis said he did not discuss the matter with Eisenhower, but felt the unemployment insurance program should be changed to provide money for retaining of unskilled workers. He said the chief unemployment now is among unskilled and semiskilled workers, and there are actual shortages in many kinds of skilled workers.

On the favorable side, Curtis said, consumer buying power has continued to increase, while spending decreased, resulting in increased savings.

Curtis, in predicting an increase in the Gross National Product next year, noted that even with the falloff this year's GNP would be the greatest ever.

The Gross National Product, one of the chief yardsticks for measuring the economy, represents the value of all goods and services produced.

Window Washer Kisses Strap That Saves Him

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—John Revengo, a window washer for 38 years, hung suspended seven stories from death Thursday.

One safety strap clamp held but Revengo dangled 15 minutes before he was rescued.

Revengo, 62, was clamped to a window outside an office at Main and Market streets, when a strap gave way. He fell about four feet but the second strap held.

Catherine McCarthy, an oil company secretary, heard Revengo's frightened yell. Firemen pulled him back through the window.

"This is the first time this ever happened to me," Revengo said as he kissed the strap which saved him.

Air France Flight Crews Strike Over Pay, Time

PARIS (AP)—Flight crews of Air France's jets went on strike Thursday in a dispute over flying time and pay.

The crews demand fewer flying hours per month at roughly the present rate of pay which has a top of $20,000 a year for pilots.

U.S. to Send 50 Tons of Grain to Cyprus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Thursday agreed to supply Cyprus with wheat and barley to relieve the grain shortage caused by a drought in the newly independent island republic. The relief shipment consists of 40,000 tons of wheat and 10,000 tons of barley, the State Department said.

By RUTH MONTGOMERY
WASHINGTON — Lyndon B. Johnson will doubtless have more suits and suites than any other vice president in history, come Jan. 20.
He has virtually assured the former by adding five side-vent suits from Savile Row, London to his already extensive wardrobe.

Before he turns over the senate leadership to successor Mike Mansfield, you can bet that he will retain the best office suites for himself. No one who knows Lyndon could believe otherwise.

Johnson clearly indicated, by accepting the vice presidential nomination, that he considers the job a step-up from his post as majority leader.

It is therefore interesting to note that during recent years he allocated Vice President Nixon only 10 rooms, widely scattered in four different and inconvenient locations on Capitol Hill, while appropriating 56 rooms for his own purposes.

To Nixon he granted a six-room suite in the Senate Office Building, directly across the hall from a similar one occupied by John F. Kennedy, the junior senator from Massachusetts who later beat out both Lyndon and Dick for the presidency.

Nixon also had the official vice president's room just off the Senate floor, but since the door is traditionally open at all times, it is used only to receive foreign dignitaries and VIPs.

Not Yet, Friend, Not Yet, Old Tenant Still Around

"Send them to Washington," he told the sales clerk.

"The White House, sir?" the salesman inquired.

"No, my Georgetown home for the time being," Kennedy replied.

CAMPUS CHEERS—A holiday touch has been added to the Western Michigan University campus in Kalamazoo by residents of Ellsworth Hall, a men's dormitory. The 400 occupants contributed for this night greeting to campus visitors. The 15-foot-high sign consists of bulbs mounted on wooden strips and bordered by greenery.

4 Representatives Initiated at Session

LANSING (UPI) — Four new representatives elected to fill vacancies got their first taste of the lawmaking process in the special session Wednesday.

All have been elected to the 1961-62 legislature and will be back in Lansing next January.

Ross O. Stevens, R-Atlanta, replaced the late Emil Peltz, R-Rogers City; Nelson G. Tisdale, R-Midland, was in place of John C. Morris, R-Midland, who moved away from his district; Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, came in for the late George Gillespie, R-Gaines, in the second district; and Mrs. Maxine Young, D-Detroit, took over the seat of Frank D. Williams in Detroit's 2nd District when Williams resigned to become a lobbyist.

Actress Receives Award

CARLEISLE, Pa. (UPI) — Dickinson College's Arts Award for 1960 was presented in a public ceremony to stage star Judith Anderson for distinguished achievement in the theater.

The award consists of $1,000 and a ceramic medallion. Established in 1958, previous winners of the honor were poet Robert Frost and architect Eero Saarinen.

Actress Joanne Dru

Other Woman in Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actress Joanne Dru, 37, has been cast in the role of the "other woman" in a couple's divorce battle.

She was cited Wednesday for contempt of court for failing to give deposition testimony in the case.

Eula Pierose, 36, asked the citation. She recently filed a cross-complaint to a divorce action started by her husband, George Pierose, 38, head of a building maintenance company.

Mrs. Pierose filed an affidavit charging that Miss Dru and Pierose have at certain times and places carried on meretricious relations. The document also said Miss Dru had "on many times been in plaintiff's home when the defendant was not present."

The Pieroses were married May 1, 1943, and separated last Sept. 21. Miss Dru was divorced from grocer Dick Haynes in 1949 and from actor John Ireland in 1957.

Elector Refuses To Switch Vote

New Hampshire Man Tells of Letter Urging Shift From Nixon

CONCORD, N.H. (UPI) — One of New Hampshire's four presidential electors says he was asked to switch his vote from Vice President Richard M. Nixon but he refused to do it.

William W. Treat of Hampton said he received a form letter from R. Lee Harris, an attorney of Montgomery, Ala., urging that he cast his ballot for former Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, a Democrat, for president and Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona for vice president.

Treat said another person, whom he did not identify, asked him to vote for Democratic Sen. Harry Byrd of Virginia for president and Goldwater for vice president.

Treat said these attempts apparently were part of an effort by conservative Southerners to block the election of John F. Kennedy and he said he would have no part in the move.

Modern pins made from wire were first produced in France and Germany.

U.S. Merchant Fleet Tonnage Slips in '60

NEW YORK (UPI) — The tonnage of the U.S. merchant fleet slipped this year to 24,837,000 tons, 431,000 tons from 1959, Lloyd's register of shipping says.

The authoritative shipping registry's 1960 statistical tables show the world merchant marine has grown 4,834,000 tons over last year for an all-time high of 129,769,500 tons gross.

Lloyd's register said a "trend of considerable importance" in the shipping industry this year was the registration in the Greek flag of ships with controlling Greek interests.

Transfers from "flag of convenience" maritime powers such as Liberia and Panama, added to the volume of new ships built, brought Greece this year into the front ranks in shipping, Lloyd's said.

The register said that although total tonnage of the U.S. merchant fleet fell by nearly half a million tons, the American tanker fleet tonnage was increased by 294,000.

Could Be Inflation

NEW YORK (UPI) — The hole in the doughnut will be a quarter of an inch larger in 1961. The Donut Institute, which considers this phenomenon to be an economic weather-vane, said the larger hole "is a sign of good times to come."

Jack Will Sport High Silk Hat, Paper Claims

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect John F. Kennedy is going to wear a high silk hat at his inauguration, his tailor said Thursday.

President Eisenhower, breaking tradition, had worn a black homburg when he was sworn in. Senator Harris, owner of the tailoring firm of J. Harris, said he fitted Kennedy yesterday for inauguration clothes and the president-elect said he was going to wear a high silk hat.

Harris added that he fitted Kennedy for an oxford grey lambwool cutaway coat, light peart-grey vest, medium worsted grey striped trousers and a white semi-dress shirt with french cuffs.

Cholly Glickerbocker, society reporter for the Journal-American, first produced the story, saying his "source" had learned about the hat from the Harris establishment.

Strayed Raid Loot

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — When Jimmy Blacklock, the University of Texas athletic equipment manager, recently tossed the team's laundry of socks, towels and T-shirts into various bins, he came across one item that defied his usual classifications — a pair of pink panties, about size 5 or 6.

Wisconsin Casualty Co. Can Operate in Michigan

LANSING (AP) — State insurance commissioner Frank Blackford Thursday lifted a suspension prohibiting Federal Mutual Casualty Co. of Milwaukee from transacting business in Michigan.

Blackford ordered the suspension Nov. 25 pending a court hearing on the company's financial condition.

A Circuit Court in Milwaukee this week appointed Charles Manson, Wisconsin insurance commissioner, to take over the company's assets and operate the business. The court specifically found that the company was not solvent and we do not feel that its continued operation in Michigan would be hazardous to the public," Blackford said.

That's Theme of 'Broken Doll' Coming to Will-O-Way

To Present Concept of Christmas in Jet Setting

By MARJORIE EICKER
Women's Editor
The Pontiac Press

When Will-O-Way Apprentice Theater presents its sixth production of an original Christmas children's play Dec. 17th and 18th the audience may have an answer to a child's most penetrating question, "Why is Christmas?"

The play is "The Broken Doll" and its author Celia Merrill Turner considers it her Christmas card to the community. She has attempted to bring the concept of Christmas into a jet-age setting.

The 45 minute play was written in two days and a night of steady effort. Over the years it has been presented to hundreds of school children, scouts, children's home inmates and hospital patients. There is no admission, but reservations must be made in advance at Midwest 4-4118.

"The Broken Doll" takes place in a department store where frantic last minute Christmas shopping leads to some hilarious consequences. A boy is locked in the store. He discovers an orphan girl who has hidden away in the store and together in his dream they discover "Why is Christmas?"

Children in the Will-O-Way Class are featured in the cast. Rotating in the parts for the eight performances, the players are seen in a variety of roles inasmuch as there are 46 parts in each cast.

Celia Merrill Turner who is Mrs. Kenneth Turner in private life and the mother of three children is one of the area's most versatile and talented women. She is also one of the busiest.

Her endeavors include directing the Apprentice Theater, narrating a daily radio show, and playing violin with the Pontiac Symphony where she is associate conductor. In this latter capacity she has the distinction of being one of the few women in the country to occupy the conductor's podium of a symphony orchestra.

Her musical talents include composing. In 1955 Mrs. Turner, a graduate of the Juilliard School of Music was commissioned to write a symphony. Two years later "The Chippewa, Symphony" was premiered by the Pontiac Symphony Orchestra.

Its themes and story were based on authentic Indian music and weave the story of a Chippewa family whose little son has become lost in the forest. Mrs. Turner conducted the premier performance which was received enthusiastically.

People as talented and busy as Mrs. Turner usually manage to convey a positive mood of inner balance and harmony, no matter how frantic their schedules. Mrs. Turner is a shining example of such a person. Her poise is equal to the demands of running a bustling household with the normal excitements and enthusiasms that youngsters 4, 9 and 12 can create.

It's a three generation household with beloved Treasa Way Merrill. Mrs. Turner's mother, recuperating from a tedious illness. Husband Ken maintains an office here, too and celebrities such as Basil Rathbone, Guthrie McClintic and Jessie Royce Landis are frequently coming and going.

There are always young actors spilling from the small theater a score of steps back of the house. The eager bright hope that one of them may be the star of tomorrow is palpable. And not improbable.

Last night's production of "Peter Pan" on television found Will-O-Way's alumna Maureen Bailey in the role of Wendy.

It was an exciting program to share with a family so immersed in theater—doubly exciting to hear their reminiscence of the period from 1950 to 1953 when Miss Bailey studied at Will-O-Way.

"This Maureen!" sang 4-year-old Candy.

"She's moving nicely," murmured Mrs. Turner. Nine-year-old Kenneth was rapt and Robin focused her attention with 12-year-old intensity on every minute of the children's classic.

One plumbs the depths of such a remarkable person as Mrs. Turner in unexpected ways. For me last night it was the moment when she read aloud lines from her Christmas classic, "The Broken Doll."

CELIA MERRILL TURNER

A frustrating tangle and dropped purse are part of the hilarious action of the play. Playing roles that could be duplicated in life in any Christmas shopping throng are (from left) Diane Palmer of Boulton Street, Joan Pape of Bloomfield Hills, Marejane de Cou of Leonard and Cathy Bogart of Rochester.

Brother's Analysis Correct

Cards Stacked Against Her

DEAR ABBY: I went to a card reader who told me my lucky number is three. I know she is right because on the third of September I met Louie and I fell for him right away.

This card reader said I would find happiness with the third man I fell in love with and she was right again because Louie is my third big love affair. He has been married twice before. (See, I am lucky three!)

I want to know if you think I am putting too much trust in the card reader. (She described Louie to a "T" and she never even saw him, and everything in my past happened just like she said it did.) My brother says I am plum nuts.

DEAR MAGGIE: When you have an expert like your brother to consult, why go to a card reader?

DEAR ABBY: A soft-hearted miss wrote that she loved a young man but hesitated to marry him because his favorite sport was hunting, and she thought it was cruel. You advised, "If you feel that way about it, don't marry him."

Abby, the young lady and you (along with countless other uninformed people) should learn more about conservation and wild life.

More wild birds and game starve to death, or are killed by weather or other wild animals than by hunters. By comparison, an arrow or bullet is a merciful death. I hope you are big enough to change your advice in print. Many sportsmen are waiting for this one.

A.R.K.

DEAR A.R.K.: Thank you for your very enlightening letter. You've changed my mind, and now I am changing my advice. To the reluctant young miss: If you really love the guy, don't let a couple of dead ducks stand between you.

DEAR ABBY: My husband lies for his buddy and expects me to do the same. When this buddy's little pregnant wife calls her looking for her husband, I am supposed to say, "He WAS here but he just left." Then I'm supposed to call a number where this no-good chiseling bum is, and tell him his "mother" is looking for him.

My husband says we are helping to save a marriage, but I don't see it that way. My conscience bothers me. What would you do in my place?

TROUBLED CONSCIENCE
DEAR TROUBLED: I'd refuse to be a party to the whole evil mess. Your husband would be a better friend to his buddy if he sat him down and tried to straighten him out.

Showcase Has Special Yule Cards

For the last minute Christmas card shopper, handsome cards "with a purpose" are available at Showcase, Inc.'s Happy Christmas Fair in Birmingham.

Cards benefiting Camp Oakland, UNICEF and the Michigan Association for Emotionally Disturbed Children are displayed and may be bought at the fair.

In addition to an assortment of imports and Christmas decorations, Showcase is serving as a collection point for gifts for emotionally disturbed children at Pontiac State Hospital.

Above the bin in which the gifts may be dropped is a list of the children's needs. Records, a record player, group games and small change for spending money at the canteen are the chief needs for these young people who are primarily in the 14- to 18-year-old age range.

Girls' needs include sweaters, blouses, socks or stockings, makeup, jewelry, combs, brushes, mirrors, bathrobes and winter clothes.

The boys have need of winter clothes, shirts, sweaters, combs and brushes, bathrobes and cans of cookies.

These children will be among the groups visited by Showcase's Happy Christmas Carnival, a traveling entertainment unit.

Shari Lightstone (at left) overwhelms her sister Vicki in this scene. She is saying ecstatically, "I love you, Pauline!" and literally sweeps Vicki off her feet. Both girls live in Orchard Lake.

Wife Begged to Reduce

Her Weight Ruining Home

What greater motivation could there be for a woman to stick to her diet than a husband with a roving eye? Your husband's remark that he finds someone else more attractive may be a last resort effort!

(The Question Box)

Q. "I just read your article in last night's paper and want to tell you about myself. I have been married for five years. My husband loves me very much but I have gained 30 pounds, since our first child arrived. I have lost all personal pride. My husband has begged me to lose weight. He has even been interested in another woman. He says she is everything I am not, pleasant, attractive, and neat."

A. "I have got to lose weight or wreck my home. Please help me. I start on a diet and gradually get off. When we were married, I was very attractive and had a very nice figure. My husband begs me to return to the girl he married. If there is anything you can say to help me, please do."

A. "I thought I had heard everything but this is a new one on me! You seem interested in keeping your husband and your home. You know that your relationship with your husband is endangered and yet you will not lose weight to save it. Certainly you have had the strongest motivation any woman could have, to know that her husband is interested in another woman."

gone their way. Evidently your husband is still in love with the girl he married — you — so don't let him or yourself down. You probably are depressed by your overweight yourself and will be much happier when you lose it.

Don't think of the 30 pounds at a time. Take it five pounds at a time. Every five pounds lost will encourage you to lose to the next five.

Q. "I am 22 years old, five feet 2 inches tall and weigh 101 pounds. My husband insists that I am underweight and is perpetually trying new ideas to make me gain. I am in good health and have plenty of energy. Do you think I should try to add pounds?"

A. Even if you have a small build, you are on the slim side. Why not gain five or six pounds to make him happy?

It seems to me that you are caught in a vicious circle which is composed of many conflicting elements. In the first place, you know that your husband loves you. He no doubt shows you this in many ways. You may even suspect that his remarks about the other woman are made to jog you into a reducing routine.

I imagine that his interest in this woman is not yet serious or you would be more concerned. However, do not push your luck too far. If you do, the time may come when he no longer notices or cares how you look. So long as he does, for goodness sake get busy and do something about it!

On the other hand, it is extremely depressing and discouraging to be told by the man you love that you are unattractive, that he finds someone else more attractive. It was a stupid and cruel thing to say to you. However, perhaps it was a last resort effort on his part.

Perhaps many men would have given up, said nothing more, and

Dire Threat Is Device to Secure Attention

By MURIEL LAWRENCE
Dear Mrs. Lawrence:
Though we have no children, I know that parents should not threaten children like our neighbor does her youngsters. This morning when she was out in the yard I heard her tell her little boy she'd kill him if he didn't leave the garage can alone.

I've heard her threaten her girl with reform school if she didn't do something and is always yelling "Do you want me to call a cop?" Shouldn't she be reported to the authorities?

Answer: Are you asking me if you should report this mother to the authorities? If so, I can't make this decision for you, but I'd like to assist you in making a decision that is less condemnatory than I think you are.

We parents threaten children with violent consequences because nobody has ever paid us much attention. We do not necessarily threaten our daughter with reform school because we do not love her. We may be promising this extravagant penalty because we have learned that we have to shock people to get them to listen to us.

We do not deserve hate. Usually we've had enough of it.

Usually we've grown up with adults who were too self-centered to register us. When we wanted a toy we had seen in a store window, we had to exaggerate its importance to us. It had to be the best toy in the world.

To get the grownups to be nice to our friends, the friends had to be the most wonderful friends in the world. To get their interest in what our teasing little brothers and sisters were doing to us, what they were doing to us had to be the meanest thing in the world.

As part of our childhood struggle against grownups' hidden resistance to our wishes and hurts, we developed the unconscious habit of exaggeration.

When we grew up, the habit carried over to our dealings with our own children. Afraid that our small boy may imperil his health by playing with the garage can, we seek to protect it by threatening to "kill" him if he doesn't leave it alone.

League Reaffirms Stands

The executive board of the Pontiac League of Women Voters reaffirmed its stand on seven government issues at its meeting Tuesday evening at the Community Service Building.

"Support a system of civil service to provide qualified personnel in government" was the first recommendation. The league history of study and action began in 1932. The group obtained signatures to place the civil service amendment on the ballot in 1940.

The taxation stand of the LWV calls for "development of an equitable and adequate fiscal system" so that the tax burden is distributed fairly, based, to some extent, on the ability to pay.

Devison plan 3 concerns children's services, another early league interest. The local board voted to urge that the "improvement and extension of services to dependents, neglected, delinquent and afflicted children" be amplified and possibly given further study.

The wording of proposals for the Fair Employment Practices Code constitutional revision, reapportionment and structure of state government was affirmed as it was set up by the Women Voters of Michigan.

Farm, Garden Group Holds Yule Workshop

Mrs. Russell Kock was chairman for an all-day Christmas workshop Tuesday for the Pine Lake Branch, Woman's National Farm and Garden Association, at the home of Mrs. Harry Chasie on Pine Ridge Road.

Table decorations were made by Mrs. Harold Schneider, and Mrs. Kenneth Snoblin demonstrated table favors and mantel treatments. Mrs. Chasie decorated Christmas candles and Mrs. Kock displayed the new look in door wreaths.

A progressive Christmas luncheon is scheduled for Dec. 15.

Devon Acres Farm Wins Press Dairy Trophy

Mrs. Turner and Lee Hunt Share in 1960 Award

The Pontiac Press trophy for Dairy Farm of the Year was presented jointly last night to the owner and manager of Devon Acres Farm in Brandon Township for outstanding achievement in the field of dairy farming in 1960.

Owner of the 410-acre farm on Seymour Lake Road near Sashabaw Road is Mrs. Laura Turner, proprietor of Devon Acres Tea Room in Bloomfield Hills.

Farm manager is Lee Hunt, who currently is serving as president of the Oakland County Dairy Committee.

It was in this capacity that Hunt welcomed some 100 dairy farm owners and managers and their wives to the annual dairy banquet last night. It was held at the Pontiac Federal Savings and Loan Building in Pontiac.

Acting as toastmaster was Stuart Hutchins, sales chairman of the Oakland County Black and White Association.

Presentation of the coveted trophy was made by Lee Winborn, suburban editor of The Pontiac Press.

In her remarks, Mrs. Winborn pointed out that the registered herd of 45 Holstein cows on Devon Acres Farm had the high production record in 1960 of 13,612 pounds of milk and 470 pounds of butter fat per cow.

The farm manager and Mrs. Turner also were being honored for contributing a trophy for the county Black and White Show for organizations and activities in Oakland County.

Other factors which entered into the selection of the Brandon Township farm for the award were improvements made during the year in the herd's production, housing, breeding and feeding, approved practices of management and feeding and the continuation of a satisfactory breeding program to improve the herd.

The winner was determined by a vote of managers of the three Dairy Herd Improvement associations in the county.

The other night after trophy presented last night by James Reid, president of the Black and White Association, was the Black and White 4-H Award which went to Larry Middleton, 18, of Oak Township.

Larry's list of accomplishments include winning the state dairy production award and the Black and White showmanship award plus raising two grand champions of county 4-H Fairs.

The trophy was accepted by his father, Keith Middleton of 2510 Stony Creek Road.

Certificates of merit were presented to three outstanding dairy men in the county. They were C. Carl Long of 3885 South Road Commerce Township; Ralph Ruggles of 5130 McKean Road, Davisburg; and William Pickard, manager of the Harry A. Metz farm, 6990 Oak Grove Road, Howell.

The presentations were made by the trustees-managers of the three dairy farmers' respective associations, Gerald Brooks, No. 2.

Person Acting Insane Can Be Held Legally

LANSING (U) — Prosecuting attorneys legally may order emergency 48-hour detention of persons believed insane without first obtaining a medical certificate or judicial authorization, Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said Thursday.

Such persons, however, must show "homicidal or other dangerous tendencies," Adams said in an opinion asked by Harold J. Ashdown, Branch County prosecutor.

The inquiry was prompted by the case of a person who has refused examination by two physicians, Ashdown said.

Lack of emergency detention powers, Adams said, would "leave the mentally afflicted person and the community without means of protection against the consequence of violence such person may inflict."

May Curb Troublesome Maple Syrup Bacteria

EAST LANSING (UPI)—Trouble-making bacteria which reduces maple syrup yields throughout the nation may soon be a worry of the past if research at Michigan State University fulfills its early signs of promise.

Research workers in the forestry department and microbiologists at MSU recently developed a germicide pellet which is expected to boost maple syrup yields by at least 30 per cent.

Forestry researchers Futsam Robbins said the pellets, expected to be available to farmers within the next two years, proved effective in field tests in boosting both quality and quantity of the syrup.

Maple syrup production is not a major industry in Michigan but it provides some income to farmers spread throughout the state, Michigan Agriculture Department officials said.

The last complete report, for 1959, showed Michigan farmers produced about 51,000 gallons of maple syrup to rank sixth in the nation with syrup sales totaling $280,000.

University-owned tree plots treated with the paraformaldehyde pellets produced top-quality light amber syrup almost until the flow stopped, Robbins said. Normally the quality of syrup drops off after the middle of the season.

Quantity was increased up to 300 per cent in the university's trees during testing, Robbins said. In terms application the researchers said a 50 per cent hike would be "a conservative estimate."

The pellets would be put into studies conducted at MSU, but their role was not full determined, Robbins said.

The research team said the pellet would not be available to farmers until about 1962, when composition and size of the dosage required was determined.

A University of California scientist has developed a dust, deadly to insects only, that has proven extremely effective in controlling insect pests on zoo and pet animals.

Caroline Gets First Look at Baby Brother Today

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Three-year-old Caroline Kennedy gets her first look today at her new brother John Jr.

The 3-year-old baby, President-Elect John F. Kennedy and the still convalescing mother Jacqueline planned to fly to a sunny rest in Palm Beach, Fla.

Caroline has been in Florida the past week. She flew there with her father last Friday. Jacqueline and the children will remain at the seashore mansion of Kennedy's father until after the first of the year.

RETURNS MONDAY
The President-Elect will return to Washington Monday to continue forming the new administration. He planned to commute to Florida each weekend.

John Jr. was born Nov. 25, three days before Caroline's third birthday and just hours after a combination family Thanksgiving dinner and birthday celebration.

Kennedy himself broke the Wants Department of Urban Affairs

WASHINGTON (P)—President-Elect John F. Kennedy said Thursday he intends to propose to Congress establishment of a department of urban affairs.

Kennedy told newsmen after a conference with Gov. David Lawrence of Pennsylvania that proposed legislation is being prepared "and I hope to put it up to Congress by this winter."

Creation of a cabinet department especially devoted to the problems of city dwellers has long been discussed.

Proponents say it would be a logical complement to the work of departments like those of agriculture and labor.

news to his daughter that she had a new brother because he felt the addition to the family would require Caroline to make quite an adjustment.

He told the little girl that John Jr. was a birthday gift from her parents.

John Jr. was christened Thursday in an 11-minute Roman Catholic ceremony in the chapel of Georgetown University Hospital, where he was born.

As his mother glowed and his father stood proudly by, the six-pound child was admitted "into God's own family at the sacred font."

The baby muttered and gurgled a bit, but only once did he utter a subdued cry.

That came as the Rev. Martin J. Casey, 50, pastor of the Kennedy's parish church, asked: "John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr., will thou be baptized?" The godparents answered affirmatively.

VISIBLY MOVED
When Fr. Casey anointed the child with water from a golden vessel, the infant murmured slightly again.

But he didn't actually cry and the priest held out a napkin to catch the dripping water.

Those present in the small chapel said Mrs. Kennedy was visibly moved as Fr. Casey pronounced the child baptized "in the name of the father, and of the son, and of the holy spirit."

UPI photographer Stanley Trelick, one of two newsmen admitted to the sacred ceremony, said Jacqueline leaned forward slightly and "her face went all aglow."

The mother stood on her feet throughout the ceremony, although she was pushed in a wheelchair to and from the chapel by the President-Elect.

Standing beside Mrs. Kennedy during the baptism were her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bartlett. Mrs. Bartlett, the infant's godmother, held the child during the service. Bartlett, Washington correspondent for the Chattanooga (Tenn.) Times, served as "stand-in" for the godfather, Prince Stanislaus Radziwill, a London businessman who is married to Mrs. Kennedy's sister Lee.

The baby appeared to be sleeping or at least drowsing throughout most of the ceremony, his first public appearance. But during a brief picture taking later, he opened his eyes, to the approval of his mother.

Turning to her husband, she said: "Isn't he sweet, Jack? Look at those pretty eyes."

David Wise, the New York Herald Tribune "pool" reporter at the ceremony, said the

'SHINY NOSE'
But Wise offered his own description of the child. He said he has "lots of brown hair and a shiny nose — I thought he was pretty cute."

The solemn baptismal rite began at the door of the chapel where the priest met the baptismal party. He breathed gently three times on the baby's face, commanding the spirit of evil to leave.

It was there also that he placed on the child's tongue a few grains of sacred salt as a token of wisdom. After a solemn exorcism of evil, the baptismal party was led to the altar and baptismal font.

During the ceremony, the priest touched the child's nostrils "so that you may perceive the fragrance of God's sweetness."

He also anointed him with the oil of salvation on the breast and between the shoulders in the form of a cross.

As the godmother held the child, Fr. Casey poured baptismal water on the infant's head and pronounced him baptized.

The infant also was anointed with holy chrism, the sacred oil of priesthood.

The ceremony ended when Fr. Casey, with a smile, said: "John Fitzgerald Kennedy Jr., go in peace and may the Lord be with you, amen."

Afterward, the Kennedys and their friends went back to Mrs. Kennedy's hospital room where sandwiches and several bottles of champagne were served. Only a small number of relatives and close friends were invited to the christening.

They included Mrs. Kennedy's stepfather and mother Mr. and Mrs. Hugh D. Auchincloss, Kennedy's brother Robert, his sister Mrs. Jean Smith and her brother-in-law R. Sargent Shriver. Kennedy's parents were not present.

Dr. Edward B. Brooks, the baby's pediatrician who was among the invited, said the child now weighs 6 pounds, 14 ounces — a gain of 1½ ounces in the past 54 hours.

Dr. Brooks said he probably would reach his birth weight of 6 pounds, 3 ounces today.

Goldwater Lists U.S. Troubles

Says Value of Dollar Threatened Because of 'Reckless Giveaway'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Thursday the U.S. dollar is threatened now because of what he termed excessive foreign economic aid, and "reckless giveaway" of American funds since 1945.

He classed dwindling gold reserves and the adverse balance of international payments as other "logical" results of unwise domestic and foreign policies in the wake of World War II.

In a talk before the 65th annual Congress of American Industry, the Republican conservatives said still other political chickens were coming home to roost in Cuba and on American farms.

"In the tragic situation of Cuba we were either misinformed or deliberately misled," Goldwater said.

"No one seriously believes that Castro could have come to power in Cuba had the United States vigorously and actively opposed his revolution."

He said competitive industry abroad had been financed in such a way that foreign producers now can undersell domestic makers of barbed wire in the U.S. market.

"This is the result of national policies which have discouraged hard work and thrift and industry by confiscatory federal tax policies," he said.

Failure to solve the farm problem, with its wasteful surpluses and expensive storage, has brought on a "Frankenstein-size chicken" which now haunts our hopes and plans for tomorrow, he said.

Nearly 1,600 delegates registered for the three-day congress which runs through Friday under sponsorship of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Santa Buying Practical Gifts This Yule, Says Early Survey

By A. F. MAHAN
AP Staff Writer

Michiganers, it appears from early Christmas shopping trends, will in the main exchange practical gifts—clothing and such—this year.

From Ironwood at the northwest tip, to Detroit in the south-eastern corner, Michigan merchants report early season gift shoppers favoring wearing apparel.

Some suggested that a mild fall, reaching right into December, might have forestalled pre-holiday purchases of family winter wardrobes and that Santa now planned to get by with a gift that in other years he might have had to buy weeks ago as a necessity.

Still others suggested that there was undoubtedly concern with a decline in the nation's general economy and that this had contributed to caution—and gift practicality.

There were some who held the view that the "survey" came too early to tell just how luxury items such as jewelry and furs will fit into the Christmas-giving picture.

But on the whole, merchants are running 25 per cent ahead of reported that sales of so-called last Christmas. Automobiles were "big ticket" items like refrigerator, going well in the capital, too, and furriers said they expected their business to be on the upsurge.

Ironwood miners were reported bypassing pianos, hi-fi's and furniture for clothes and such.

As one of Detroit's top retailers put it: "Business hasn't been what you'd call real good, so there was a reluctance to up prices all along the line."

Some below-1959 prices were reported from Saginaw and a few other places.

This was attributed to competition for dollars that holiday shoppers were a little late in taking out of their pockets this year.

Lansing appeared a top exception in the gift-buying trend. There in previous years, merchants reported a swing away from the ordinary and usual to far sales trend, but reported merchants there expected newly joined Lansing jewelers said diamonds segments of Interstate Highway 94 and pearls are selling well and to lure more people from smaller, that some jewelry stores already distant towns this year.

Marquette reported wearing apparel, luggage and practical gifts out front. A banking, and resultant sales spurt, was found there for bulky knit sweaters, especially those with V-neck shawl or turtle-neck collars.

Bay City said the bulky sweater fad was in evidence there, also.

Jackson said that while practical gifts were leading, shoppers also were buying goodly lots of just Christmas, nonessential things, as in the gift-buying trend. There in previous years, merchants reported a swing away from the ordinary and usual to far sales trend, but reported merchants there expected newly joined

Launches Drive to Kill Gallows

Queen Liz's Cousin Heads Attempt to Jolt Britain's Conscience

LONDON (AP)—The Earl of Harwood, 37-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, Thursday launched a campaign to abolish the gallows in Britain.

Harwood, whose family motto is "Salvation in God," heads a Committee of Honor he says will aim "to prick the conscience of the nation and the government." The committee includes more than 100 bishops, peers, legislators and stage and screen personalities who have joined with others in claiming Britain's capital punishment law is full of contradictions. They want the death penalty abolished.

"We are not solutes," said the Earl. "We stand for a principle. And we think the nation is swinging toward that view."

In World War II Harwood was wounded in Italy and held in a German prison camp.

Harwood's current campaign was launched 48 hours after Home Secretary Richard Butler announced a reprieve for John Rogers, 30, slayer of a Bristol taxi driver. Rogers shot his victim through the back of the head with a sawed-off shotgun.

Tries Hard to Lure Youths Into Field

Car Industry Fights Mechanic Lack

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The last time you were in a gas station you probably saw a teenager or two tinkering with a car.

The auto industry says the current shortage of skilled mechanics ranges from 140,000 to 250,000 men. If so many youngsters enjoy working on cars, why is there such a shortage of mechanics?

One reason is the growing number of automobiles on the roads. The car population increased by 11 million during the last decade. More cars on the road automatically means more men needed to service them.

The number of mechanics has failed to keep pace. One estimate is that 20 years ago there was one mechanic for every 72 cars in operation. Now it's one for every 30.

Jack Weed, truck and service editor of the trade publication Automotive News, suggests there is a greater need for upgrading the job of a mechanic. He wants to eliminate what he calls such disparaging terms as "gravy money" because "today's automotive technician must be a highly skilled worker and he well grounded in more skills than most any other category of skilled workman."

In a speech in Chicago earlier this week Edwin E. Stroh, vice president of Electric Autolite Co. of Toledo, a major supplier to the auto industry, urged all those engaged in making, selling, servicing and operating automobiles and trucks join with him in a giant Project Mechanics to recruit and train men for the service trades.

Stroh said the "growing irritation with repeat service calls, costly and inconvenient failures, plus other maintenance and repair expenses and concerns demands that all elements of our business unite in common cause to provide needed support of our products and services."

"DESERVES RECOGNITION" He said the field of automotive mechanics deserves recognition as a highly regarded, well-paying and necessary specialty. "The true status of which has too long been obscured."

The Toledo executive says he expects to call upon very state governor, senators and congressmen, federal and state agencies for recognition of the major problem of the shortage of skilled mechanics.

"By giving the field the recognition it deserves we can restore interest in this vital vocation among young men with less formal schooling," Stroh said, "opening up this employment area for the vast reservoir of noncollege men and non-high school graduates, would relieve pressure on college en-

pacities." In Los Angeles, George J. Cutler, director of service for Plymouth, announced an expansion of one of his company's activities in this field.

This is the Plymouth troubleshooting contest in which auto mechanics students, selected by their schools, compete against teams from other local schools to see which can first diagnose and remedy malfunctions deliberately placed in cars.

Last year Plymouth held 19 such contests across the country. Cutler said 25 or more cities will be used in 1961.

More than 8,000 young men have entered the contests, which became national six years ago. Cutler says almost 2,000 of these former contestants now are working in Plymouth dealerships.

Ford also has a program, new this year, for attracting young men to the service field. It involves evening classes for high school seniors conducted by Ford-trained technical high school instructors.

Where possible the students are employed part time by Ford dealers. And when the courses end the students will be offered jobs as apprentice service technicians.

The courses offer six hours training each week. Ford says it is too soon to judge the overall program but that the response from boys was enthusiastic when the classes were announced.

U.S. Spends Overseas

NEW YORK (UPI) — Overseas business investments of U.S. companies are now over $30 billion.

Of this, $10.2 billion is in Canada, $8.2 billion in Latin America and $3.3 billion in Europe, according to Sales Management magazine.

The U.S. bureau of mines is 50 years old this year.

ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

YOU CAN PUT IT ANYWHERE—even in an air-tight closet. Because there's no flame, an electric water heater doesn't need air flow to support combustion, or a vent to carry off fumes. There's even a table-top model you can put under the counter in the kitchen or utility room. Here's the only heater you can always place close to point of greatest hot water use.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER ROUND THE CLOCK. For dishes, laundry, baths, there's always plenty of hot water available. Electric water heaters have two heating units: one for normal use, the other for those special occasions when there's an extra demand for hot water.

HOTTER HOT WATER WHENEVER YOU NEED IT. Some laundering requires very hot water to get clothes really clean. Dishwashers, too, need water that's very hot. Remember, an electric water heater can keep on and on, delivering the extra-hot water needed without burning out.

OPERATING COSTS ARE AMAZINGLY LOW. The popular 50-gallon heater will meet the needs of 8 out of 10 families. Using estimated operating costs for this size unit, a plentiful supply of hot water for all family needs should cost you less than 15¢ a day!

Up to Party

Kennedy Has Regard for Candidate Bailey, but . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy says he has "a high regard" for John Bailey, a leading prospect for the post of Democratic national chairman.

But Kennedy said the party's national committee "ought to have the choice" for a successor to Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who steps down next month as Democratic chairman.

Bailey, 56, is Connecticut Democratic chairman. The Hartford (Conn.) Times has quoted him as saying he will become national chairman.

A national committee spokesman said Wednesday it has been understood for several days that Bailey is a favorite for the chairmanship.

No definite selection will be made until the committee meets, probably sometime between Jan. 2 and the Jan. 30 inauguration. Jackson has said he will resign at inauguration time from the post he took on during the presidential campaign.

Others who have figured in speculation for the position are: Neil Stachler, Michigan Democratic chairman; and George E. Brunner, democratic chairman, George E. Brunner.

Stocks Author in Court Action

Attorney General Seeks Darvas' Books, Claims Fraudulent Practices

NEW YORK (AP)—State Attorney Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz says acrobatic dancer Nicolas Darvas, who owned the best-seller "How I Made $2 Million on the Stock Market," is out of step with the facts.

Lefkowitz announced today he has obtained a State Supreme Court order requiring the author and others to appear with his books and records. Darvas last was reported residing in Paris.

Darvas' name relates how he parlayed $37,000 into $2 million from his "system" of playing the market from January 1953, to July, 1959. From that point to October 1959, Lefkowitz said investigation showed, Darvas lost $65,000 in the market.

Lefkowitz said a probe of Darvas' accounts and records make the figure nearer $216,000 than $2 million.

The attorney general's court order, charging fraudulent and deceptive practices, also directs court appearances by American Research Council, Inc., of New Rochelle, N.Y., publisher of the book, and the firm's publisher, Bernard Mazer, also of New Rochelle.

All were ordered to appear Dec. 20.

Grand Rapids to Discuss Warlike Site for Planes

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A meeting is scheduled to be held in Grand Rapids Monday to discuss the possibility of establishing an emergency landing field here for Air Force combat planes in the event of a nuclear attack on the United States.

If the plan is approved, the Kent County Airport would come under a program called "aircraft recovery plan." The airport here would be among 100 airports in the country picked for such wartime operations.

Solons to Wait for Insurance

Must Vote Themselves Into State Program; Can't Until '63

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan lawmakers will wait at least two years before they become eligible for participation in life insurance and hospitalization programs expected to become available to state workers soon.

Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams has ruled the legislators would have to vote themselves into the program—which he said was the same as a pay hike—before taking office for the next session if they wanted to take part.

The state will pay half the cost of the premiums under the plan proposed recently by the Civil Service Commission and expected to cover the more than 30,000 state workers in classified service.

Some legislators were ready to expand the call of Wednesday's special session to include the insurance program.

But consultations between Gov. G. Mennen Williams and leaders of both parties resulted in dropping the plan.

Since no legislature can legally vote itself a pay hike, and another special session before Jan. 1 is practically an impossibility, participation in the programs could not take effect until the 1963-64 legislature takes office.

Big Gain Looms for Cross Village Beating Activity

HARBOR SPRINGS (AP)—A $1-million boost to the prospects of commercial and pleasure boat activity at Cross Village rests today in the hands of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The Corps must approve a 1,000-foot breakwater plus dock facilities at the village which in the past has been active as a lumber port and a commercial fishing fleet center.

Fire ravaged the once prominent Cross Village breakwater and dock and a Lake Michigan storm washed out the remains about 1948.

The last fishing tug moved from the area seven years ago.

But new life is being pumped into the area by the Michigan Waterways Commission which charts the village as a new port of refuge for pleasure craft traveling between Harbor Springs and Mackinac City.

Detectives Asking Tighter Regulation

LANSING (AP)—Private detectives are moving to tighten laws regulating their profession.

Sixty of the state's 128 licensed "private eyes" met here Wednesday to talk over proposals to raise the qualifications for license applicants.

Minimum standards proposed would require detectives to have a high school education or its equivalent, be at least 25 years old and have at least three years experience in governmental or private investigating work.

Another proposal would raise the license fee for individuals from $50 to $100 and set up a $25 fee for each branch office operated by a licensee.

Big Ten May Cut Commissioner's Powers

Planning Study of Czar's Job, Athletic Code

Wilson Might Retire Next Spring When He Reaches 65

From the Wire Service
CHICAGO—Updating the organization of the commissioner's office, with re-appraisal of administrative duties and procedures of enforcement, comes before the Big Ten today.

Touching off a new look at the office by faculty representatives and athletic directors is the underlying fact that Commissioner K. L. (Tag) Wilson will reach his 65th birthday in March and his contract will expire in May.

There is no mandatory retirement rule at the age of 65. But the prospect remains that either Wilson will get a new contract or be replaced.

If the latter, assistant commissioner Bill Reed is expected to succeed him. But there may be others who aspire to the position. Big Ten school presidents must approve and recommendation of a new commissioner.

Since 1959, the commissioner has had absolute power of enforcement and investigation under the recruiting code. This power of enforcement and investigation under the recruiting code. This power of judge and jury, considered unprecedented in collegiate conferences, may be de-emphasized. Prior to 1959, faculty representatives rendered enforcement decisions.

Additional administrative duties that have arisen in the last 10 years include those dealing with television and financial aid to athletes.

The Big Ten was also expected today to announce a definite code of punishment to cover all infractions.

The joint group of athletic directors and faculty representatives heard a report from the committee on the functions and organization of the commissioner's office which also outlined the procedure and administration of penalties.

The code, if adopted as expected, would permit each member know in advance what it would be in for a violation such as charged against Indiana last fall. The Hoosiers, accused of illegal football recruiting activity, were deprived of rich television receipts and condemned to play football games that would not count in the standings.

The Big Ten apparently was unprepared to deal with the crime and had to figure out the punishment that would not duplicate that meted out by the NCAA, which also blasted the Hoosiers for illegal recruiting.

It recommended removal of the present clause which makes a student ineligible on one flunk and to substitute a requirement that sophomores maintain a 1.7 average, juniors 1.8 and seniors 1.9.

Falling temperatures put the snow making machines in action at most Pontiac area ski slopes and skiers can bring out their gear for a forecasted good weekend.

Dryden, which had couple days of skiing last week, made snow last night and will be open for the entire weekend starting today.

Gramplan Mt. Mount Holly and Summit are making snow today and will be ready for operation Saturday. At Gramplan, one pomaill will be in operation and skiing will be good on two slopes along with the beginner's area.

Summit will have four to six inches of manufactured snow and couple slopes in operation and Mt. Holly will start Saturday with one slope and three tows.

Usual Available Tag Angers Maxwell

DETROIT (AP) — It looks like left fielder Charlie Maxwell is once more a Detroit Tigers expendable. And old Paw Paw makes it plain he doesn't like it.

"It's the same old story every year," Maxwell said. "They try to give my job to somebody else."

Maybe some other club would appreciate me more than Detroit.

"I wouldn't be surprised if I were traded," Maxwell said, "and I wouldn't care much if I was."

The current front office plan calls for an outfield of Bill Ball, acquired in the Frank Belling trade from Milwaukee, in center, Al Kaline in right and Rocky Colavito in left. That leaves only a bench-warming spot open for Maxwell.

"I don't have many years left and I don't want to spend them on the bench," Maxwell said. "I've always been a good clutch hitter but I'm always the first one to be pushed out of a job."

The pride of Western Michigan led the Tigers, in clutch-hitting last season, delivering the hit that either led the score or put Detroit ahead 13 times. He also was second in home runs and runs batted in to Colavito, with 21 roundtrip blasts and 81 RBIs. Colavito had 25 homers and 81 RBIs.

"They (the management) always said they needed a left-handed batter who could hit the ball into the seats," Maxwell said. "I've been doing it, getting between 20 and 30 home runs a year and knocking in 80 to 100, but I guess that's not enough to satisfy them."

In its first season the AFL had no limit so Dallas played five and Los Angeles played four.

Lions Draw Unfamiliar Role

Detroit Gets Favorite Nod Over Cowboys

Morrill Is Scheduled to Make First Start Against Dallas

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions' and quarterback Earl Morrill play rather unfamiliar roles Sunday against the Dallas Cowboys at Briggs Stadium.

For one of the few times this season, the Lions are favored. And Morrill, the former Michigan State All-American, draws the starting assignment at quarterback for the first time in the current National Football League campaign.

The Lions' rate as 13-point favorites. The Cowboys are 6-10-1.

But that line is in causing Detroit coach George Wilson to pore over the scouting reports.

The Cowboys doublechecked the New York Giants 21-21 in their last outing, mainly through the passing of Edie LeBaron and the catching of Bill Hewitt and L. G. DuPre, all three veterans of the NFL.

Wilson realizes that to keep the Lions title hopes alive (Detroit is now 5-5) his defensive unit will have to put concerted rush on LeBaron all afternoon.

As for Morrill, he had made only one appearance in two games before coming off the bench to lead the Lions to their tremendous upset of Baltimore last weekend.

Michigan Gopher Heads Close Field

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — With 36 entrants shooting sub-par golf for the first round of pro golf this year, was only three strokes back of Bar-num's 6-under-par 65. So was Sam Snead, the ageless hillbilly now playing out of Boca Raton, Fla.

John Bar-num, the veteran club pro from Grand Rapids, Mich., was in front by one stroke. But he was being crowded from all sides, with pre-tournament favorites doing quite a bit of the crowding.

They weren't the closest. Marty Furgol of Leontis, Ill., and stocky Jim Turney of Rye, N.Y., were just one stroke back at 68. Tom Garrity of Kansas City, Mo.; Don Massingale of Jacksonville, Tex.; Gardner Dickinson Jr., of Palm Beach, Fla., and Bob Gaulty of Crystal River, Fla., were in the 67 bracket.

Colgate Remains Undefeated

Butler Uses Fouls to Beat Michigan

ANN ARBOR (UPI) — Butler forced the University of Michigan Wolverines to foul late in the game and came away from their non-league tilt with a 68-56 victory.

The decision was never in doubt as Butler took control almost with the opening tipoff and the Wolverines were forced to press for the ball.

The result of the Butler tactic was 16 points on 21 free throws while Michigan converted only six of 13 gift shots. Butler had 26

Hits Well to Pace Win

Will Improving on Fouls

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Coach was the only activity in the NBA Thursday night.

Johnston said that the Knicks sent in rookie Dave Budd among others to "play Chamberlain honest" but to foul him if necessary before he could get off a shot when he got the ball. Budd fouled out of the game with six personal fouls.

"In the final analysis, Chamberlain's foul shooting was what won the game," Johnston said. Johnston said the Warriors need more rebounding both offensively and defensively.

One thing which helped the club into first place, Johnston said, was a nine-game winning streak it ran up at the start of the season. Since then the Warriors' record has been 8-7.

field goals to 25 for the Wolverines.

Tom Bowman paced the winners to their second victory of the season on a pair of losses as he collected 23 points.

John Tidwell had 22 points for Michigan as the Wolverines dropped their third game in four starts.

The balanced Butler attack and good ball control allowed the Indiana team to build a 36-27 lead in the first half.

Michigan tanks on Drake tomorrow night at Des Moines, Iowa.

Sophomore Dick Wildt of Marshall, making his first varsity appearance, tallied eight straight points in four minutes to help rout Clemson 82-65. Marshall led 48-31 at halftime, and then Wildt got hot, sending the West Virginians from 46-35 to 54-37.

Art Wisnart, South Carolina junior ace, broke a 67-67 tie with a free throw with 1:34 left and the Gamecocks held on to edge Georgia 73-71. Wisnart got 23 points, while Phil Simpson and John Johnson got 15 each for Georgia.

Colgate remained undefeated by downing arch-rival Syracuse 70-52 in its first victory over the Orange since the 1956-57 season. Pete Chudy scored 29 points for Syracuse, and Bob Duffy had 21 for Colgate.

And there are too many defensive lapses," he added.

BACK UP BALL

By Sylvia Wene

Ask any woman having trouble with her bowling why she doesn't roll a hook and she'll probably answer that she would if she could only get rid of her ineffective back up ball.

This is the delivery that wanders down the lane in a path from left to right (for a right-handed kugler) as opposed to the hook that breaks sharply from right to left. Back up results from allowing the wrist and hand to turn clockwise at the point of release so that the thumb is pointing to three.

Defense Might Decide Big Game

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's shotgun and a pair of Green Bay howitzers provide the attack Saturday in the National Football League tie-breaking battle.

Nevertheless, defense may be the key to victory.

The 49ers exploded their spread formation, or shotgun as Coach Red Hickey calls it, against the Baltimore Colts two weeks ago for a surprising 30-22 victory.

Palmer's Pockets Are Greener Than Putting Surfaces

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP) — Arnold Palmer, the Golden Boy of professional golf, probably could cover every green he's putted on during the tournament trail this year with something even greener — money.

So far, the Ligonier, Pa., professional has pocketed some $30,000 in prize money, an all time record.

The exploits of the Packers' Paul Hornung and Jim Taylor have been season-long.

Already Hornung has established an NFL scoring record of 132 points for a season, while fullback Taylor ranks second in rushing with 888 yards.

So it's natural for Hickey to declare: "The key thing in this game is to stop the Packers when they have the ball. And then we have to keep it ourselves. We've got to move it real good."

Both the Bears and the Lions are tied in the Western Conference with 6-4 records. Baltimore gets its chance on Sunday against the Los Angeles Rams.

In the other Sunday games, the Chicago Bears play at Cleveland, Dallas at Detroit, New York at Washington and the Eastern Conference champion Philadelphia Eagles at Pittsburgh.

Green Bay's defense must stop the 49ers in the regular T formation attack and also in the spread where the quarterback stands about 7 feet behind the line and takes a direct snap from center. The game will be telecast nationally by CBS starting at 4:30 p.m. EST.

Defensively, the 49ers have allowed fewer points against them than any team in the league—182. The Packers stand just a shade behind at 188.

Offensively both the 49ers and Packers have run the same number of plays—636. While Green Bay has gained 3,434 yards, the 49ers have only 2,928.

Coach Vince Lombardi drilled his club in secrecy all week but says, "We won't do anything fancy. We haven't all year."

Petersen Keg Tournery Opens on Saturday

CHICAGO (AP) — Bowling's richest tournery, the $350,000 Petersen Individual Classic with a $27,500 first prize, starts a six-month run Saturday.

A record field of 12,500 bowlers is entered in the eight-game competition for both men and women bowlers.

This is the 51st renewal of the tournery inaugurated by the late Louis P. Petersen. The meet extends, mainly on a weekend basis, through June 25.

Besides the $27,500 first prize the winner also collects a $2,000 diamond and ruby medal.

The winner last year, when C. R. Roberts as the inside backer and either R. C. Owens or Hugh McElhenry as the flanker.

DeBusschere Gets Real All-America Test

Detroit basketball fans should get used to encountering All-America cagers this season.

Last Monday night when U. of D. defeated Utah State, 70-61, the Aggies had All-American Steve Olcott, 8 ft. 6 in., 200 lbs., 6-11 center.

Monday night at Purdue, the Titans will encounter another All-America selection in Terry Dischinger, and shortly afterward the Titans will travel to Ohio State where they will face Jerry Lucas the All-America star of the NCAA champion Buckeyes.

Indiana is rated a four point favorite for Saturday night's game which will attract an overflow crowd to the U. of D. Memorial building.

Bellamy, Dischinger and Lucas were all on the U.S. Olympic team coached last summer by Pete Newell of California.

According to a recent national publication, Newell claims that Lucas comes to Detroit and it will be DeBusschere against All-America Walt Bellamy, the Hoosiers' 6-11 center.

DeBusschere has a 23 point per game average while DeBusschere has a 26-point per game average.

The game, one of the biggest in Michigan this season, will be a battle to gain positions among the nation's top five. Indiana was rated 3rd this week in the UPI poll and Detroit 9th. In a basketball publication poll, Indiana is 1st and Detroit 7th.

Felice and Griff's City Cage Winners

Felice — Quality Market shipped Doolin's Shell Service 38-31 and Griff's Grill walloped Baldwin Merchants 56-40 in city basketball games last night.

Felice rallied after trailing all the 1st half led by George Caronis and Gerald Scherer, who both totaled 11 points. Daune Schum had 9 for Doolin.

Griff's pulled away in the 2nd quarter after being in front only 22-18 at halftime. Bill York headed the scores with 16. Ron Woodard had 12 and Jim Potett 11. Dean Perko swished 12 and Del Norman 11 for the losers.

Pistons Oppose Rampaging Nats

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons face the two hottest basketball men in the National Basketball Association tomorrow when they meet Syracuse in a nationally televised game (2 p.m. EST) at Olympia Stadium.

The Nats bowed to the Pistons 122-115 here two weeks ago. Since then they have been on a winning rampage. They have won five of their last six outings, including a 142-114 victory over Boston Wednesday.

Through most of this streak, Hal Greer and Larry Costello have been the forefront of the attack. Greer's output for the six games is 148 points for a 24.7 average. Costello averaged 20 points per game over the span.

Wrigley Feels New Expansion Moves Unwise

CHICAGO (AP) — The invasion of the American League into Los Angeles and of the National League into New York will not be successful for either club, P. K. Wrigley, owner of the Chicago Cubs, said Thursday night.

"I'm glad I missed the meetings in St. Louis because they were devoted almost entirely to wrangling on the invasion of Los Angeles, by the American League and New York by the National," said Wrigley, vice president of the National League, in an interview.

"As far as I'm concerned, there wasn't anything constructive in that sort of expansion."

"I don't believe either club can make a success of it. It isn't like moving a big league club into a new territory, like the Braves at Milwaukee or the Giants and Dodgers pioneering in California."

HOOSIER HOTSHOT — Big Walt Bellamy, 6-11 All-America star of the powerful Indiana University basketball team, will visit the U. of D. fieldhouse Saturday night when the 3rd ranked Hoosiers face the 7th ranked Titans in the big collegiate game of the night. Bellamy has a 23 point average for two games thus far.

Carter Moves Close to World's Lead Can Huskies Snap Non-League Jinx?

By DON VOGEL

Pontiac Northern will attempt to accomplish something Saturday night that the Huskies were unable to do during the entire 1959-60 season — beat a non-league opponent.

Coach Dick Hall's squad downed every school in the Inter-Lakes League to post a 10-0 championship record. But against outside foes, the Huskies were dumped five times.

When the Huskies open their season at home against Rochester tomorrow night, Hall will be able to send an experienced quintet on the floor. Mike Fedynik, Bruce Norton and Steve Thompson are the top scorers from last year.

Jim Capistrani and Marty Everett alternated at a guard post but are both expected to start this season. All five players are seniors.

The Huskies are not a tall team. Norton, Capistrani and Everett are 5-9. Fedynik is an inch taller. Thompson is 6-1 and will start at center.

Dennis Harbert, a 6-2 senior forward, could see considerable action. Newcomers expected to help out are junior forward Dave Shields, 6-1, junior guard Ed Wasik, 5-7, and senior center Jerry Bell, 6-4.

Hall is worried over the fact that Rochester will have played two games before meeting the Huskies. The Falcons opened by losing to Walled Lake of the Inter-Lakes by one point. They play Romeo at home tonight.

Coach Gene Kenley's quintet was not highly rated in the pre-season forecasts, but Rochester could prove difficult. The Falcons lost their top players through graduation. The team features a balanced attack.

Holly and Clarkson are favored to post easy victories tonight in Wayne-Oakland country. The Broncos play at Bloomfield Hills and Clarkson is at hapless Clawsonville. West Bloomfield can expect plenty of trouble at Milford. Northville is at Brighton in the other W-O contest.

Avondale opens its season at home against a good Troy club tonight. This game will highlight an Oakland B schedule that will find Madison at Lake Orion and Fitzgerald at Clawson.

Walled Lake plays at non-league Clawson and Southfield travels to Ferndale. The Suburban Catholic has a full slate. St. Michael plays at St. Rita. St. Benedict is at St. Frederick. Orchard Lake St. Mary plays at St. Clement and RO St. Mary travels to St. James.

Handyman Runnels Wins AL Batting With .320

BOSTON (AP) — Pete Runnels, the veteran handyman of the Boston Red Sox, won the 1960 American League batting title, official American League batting records show.

The official figures were released Saturday, after months of checking, and confirm unofficial figures announced at the close of the season.

Runnels hit .320 while playing three infield spots for the Red Sox. It was his first batting crown for the 10-year veteran, but he's been close two other times.

The 32-year-old Texan was third last year with a .314 mark and the season before hit .322, losing the title to teammate Ted Williams on the final day of the season.

The 10-year-veteran, who plays first and second, started the season with a burst, hitting close to .400 in the early weeks. Then he slipped badly and fell well behind the leaders during midseason. But an eye-popping 9-for-11 performance in a doubleheader against Detroit got him off to a late-season drive that propelled him past Chicago's Al Smith and Minnie Miñoso.

Smith finished in second place with a .315 average, and Miñoso, third at .311.

Only two others eligible for the batting crown hit .300 or more. New York's Bill Skowron had a .299 mark and the 1959 leader, Harvey Kuenn of Cleveland had .308.

The Yankees' big M—Mickey Mantle and Roger Maris led the league in four batting departments.

Mantle beat Maris by one in the home run derby—40-39—and also set the pace in total bases (294) and runs scored (119). Maris led in the important runs batted in category with 112.

Following Mantle and Maris in homers were Washington's Jim Lemon with 38, Rocky Colavito of Detroit with 35 and Washington's Harmon Killebrew with 31.

Minoso and Lemon were the only players, other than Maris, to break the 100 barrier in RBI. Miñoso with 105 and Lemon with 100.

Defending King Moves From 9th to 2nd Position

Holds High Average in World's Invitational Pin
Meet With 214

CHICAGO (AP)—Don Carter, one of the nation's top ranked bowlers, moved back into the spotlight in the World's Invitational Tournament today.

The St. Louis star and World's defending champion, took over the runnerup spot in the finals last night after a brilliant performance in his three four-game matches.

Carter and the other 15 finalists resume shooting in the third round of the five-day match competition in the Chicago Coliseum today. Four matches are booked, with the same schedule tomorrow and two on Sunday will wind up the $48,000 "marathon" tourney. The winner will get $7,500.

Carter was in championship form yesterday as he moved from ninth to second place, less than two points behind the leader, the veteran Steve Nagy of St. Louis.

The defending champion, who averaged 225-plus in his 12 games, swept his final eight games against a pair of Chicago finalists, Don Ellis and Johnny King. He lost his first match to Ray Bluth, his teammate from St. Louis, 917-898.

Carter's average for the first 24 games in the finals is 214, tops in the tourney. His Petersen point average is 117-15 compared to Nagy's 119-29.

Nagy, the 1954-55 All-Star champion and at 47 the oldest bowler in the finals, won three matches yesterday and going into today's head-to-head play had won 17 games and lost 7. Carter's record was 14-9-5 and his total pinfall was 5,410 compared to Nagy's 5,673.

Pressing the leaders were Detroit and St. Louis' Keglers. In third place was Billy Golembiewski of Detroit, the 1960 Master's winner and runner-up in last year's world event. He had 116-45 points, with two other Detroit shooters right on his heels. Bob Strampe, whose 16-8 record matched Golembiewski's, had 116-19 points and veteran Joe Joseph had 114-17.

Steve's Market, R & R Motors and Ron's Sunoco posted victories last night in the Waterford Class B recreation basketball league.

Max Jarrett's 18 points couldn't keep George's Super Market from losing to Steve's Market, 48-45. Phil Felzer tossed in 23 points to lead R & R over The Greek Merchants, 57-44.

Ron's Sunoco downed Frost Top, 64-46, with Jim Robertson scoring 15 points.

Conservation League Blasts State

Doe and Fawn Shooting Opposed by Sportsmen

LANSING (AP) — Doe and fawn shooting authorized by the State Conservation Commission was under fire again today by the Great-er Michigan Conservation League.

The sportsman organization, a consistent critic of the conservation department's deer management policies, renewed its attack yesterday at the commission's meeting.

Officials of the group asserted that any deer seasons were chiefly responsible for the sharp drop in the deer kill in the 16-year season that ended Nov. 30.

Harry D. Ruhl, chief of the department's game division, reported the estimated buck kill of between 6,000 and 55,000 a 25 percent below the 1959 harvest.

Hunters took between 25,000 does and fawns, a 40 percent cent drop from the year before. Similar declines were reported in Wisconsin and Ontario, he said.

Jack Trague of Bitterly, president of the conservation league, said poor shooting success could be explained "by the fact that the deer weren't there."

"Doe shooting is mostly responsible," he said. "The number of deer in Newaygo County where I live has been going down year after year."

Trague called on the conservation department to enlist help of residents of the deer country to assist in making surveys and investigations and to rely more on their observations in determining the need for shooting antlerless deer.

"We're not a bunch of rascals sitting up there with bad information," he told the commission. "The figures the department is getting do not give a fair and accurate picture of the deer situation."

Any deer seasons are leading to an "alarming increase in private property posted against hunting by property owners opposed to deer."

Name Statistic Winners; Titans 7th in Passing

By The Associated Press

Undefeated New Mexico State carried off the top offensive honors and Louisiana State and Wyoming shared the leading defensive awards among the nation's major college football teams this year. Final statistics released today by National Collegiate A. A. Service Bureau showed New Mexico State the No. 1 scorer with 574 points in 10 games, and tops in total offense with an average gain of 478.9 yards per game.

Louisiana State held its 10 opponents to a total of 50 points. The University of Detroit was 7th in passing offense with 307 tries and 96 completions for a 478 average and 1,388 yards.

PCH Matt Jayvees Rolls to Nip PNH

Rallying for three straight pins at the finish, the Pontiac Central Jayvees downed Pontiac Northern 28-23 in wrestling last night.

Art Chark, Julian Spires and Albert Munson scored the crucial PCH falls. Nine of 11 matches were decided by pins. Successive wins by Terry Farmer and Chuck Mick had helped build up a Huskie lead.

PCH Starts SVC Action With Fed in Lineup

By BILL CORNWELL

SAGINAW—George Fed is expected to be in Pontiac Central's starting lineup here tonight when the Chiefs open defense of their Saginaw Valley Conference basketball title against Arthur Hill.

Norris Discusses Deals With Carbo

WASHINGTON (AP)—James D. Norris, who says he dealt reluctantly with mobster Frankie Carbo, faced his last round today before Senate investigators who want more details of relations between the two prizefight figures.

Norris was called back for additional closed-door questioning by the Senate antitrust and monopoly subcommittee, which was making public a transcript of his testimony.

He testified Thursday he associated with Carbo in the fulfilled hope of averting difficulties with boxing managers who bowed for more money and threatened to pull out of televised bouts.

Norris formerly headed the International Boxing Club, dismissed the first two games due to a football injury, had the protective cast removed from his right hand this morning and he was pronounced fit for duty.

Fed's thumb was broken in the Nov. 11 grid clash with Flint Central and the agile backboard specialist sat on the sidelines as the Chiefs wallowed. Fed's 11-20, and 19-1 to George Feltz, 24-2.

Although the thumb is admittedly still a little bit on the fragile order, Fed said it didn't hurt and that it felt OK. Then he laughed and said he was anxious to give Arthur Hill the pain that had been in his thumb.

The return to the lineup of the 6-foot-3 Fed, a fierce competitor, buoyed Central's hopes of bouncing back into the victory column and successfully launching another Saginaw Valley campaign.

Coach Art Van Rykel's cagers are shooting for their 2nd consecutive Valley crown and 4th in the last five years.

They were expected to have their hands full on the Hillite court when the two teams lined up for the 8 o'clock tip-off.

Chuck Fowler's Lumberjacks always have been a thorn in Central's side. Last season, on the same floor, the Jacks handed PCH a 45-41 setback to snap a seven-game winning streak.

The troublesome Hillites enter tonight's game with a perfect 3-0 record.

Player Violation Costs Kansas League Crown

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The University of Kansas Jayhawks lost their Big Eight Conference football championship Thursday when the conference faculty members ruled star halfback Bert Coan ineligible.

The committee found Kansas violated league rules in recruiting Coan and ordered the Jayhawks' two victories over Colorado and Missouri forfeited.

The football championship goes to Missouri, which was beaten 21-7 by Kansas in a season finale last month. The Tigers, who play Navy in the Orange Bowl, won their first nine games and the forfeit technically gives them a 10-0 record.

Colorado, defeated 34-6 by Kansas, moved into second place in the official Big Eight standings at 6-1. Kansas dropped to third with four victories, two losses and one tie.

Kansas' misfortune materialized Oct. 29 when the NCAA placed the Jayhawks on one-year football probation on a charge of illegally recruiting three football players.

A former Kansas athlete, it was charged, had taken Coan, who played freshman football at Texas Christian University, to Chicago in 1958 for the All-Star football game. That violated the executive entertainment rule of both the Big Eight and the NCAA.

The alumni who took Coan to Chicago was Bud Adams, who has controlling interest in the Houston Oilers of the American Football League.

At the time of the NCAA football probation against Kansas, the school was dealt a two-year probation in basketball on charges that boosters had bought an automobile for Wilt Chamberlain, now a star player with the Philadelphia Warriors.

Officials at Kansas contended the husky, fleet Coan was eligible despite the NCAA ruling and the Pasadena, Tex., product was used against Missouri and Colorado after the penalty was invoked.

Coan, who doubles in track as a sprinter, was ruled ineligible by the Big Eight for one year ending October 25, 1961. He will miss the first five football games next season but is eligible for track this winter and next spring.

Coach Jack Mitchell, Coan and Adams appeared before the faculty.

Kansas reiterated its claim that Coan was eligible.

Chancellor Clarke Weesoc of Kansas said he didn't feel the action was just.

"I'm disturbed," Dr. Weesoc said. "I hope this ends the harassment of KU."

He called the situation desperate, because a last minute cancellation of a fight could cost a sponsor $50,000 for a non-championship match.

Norris testified Wednesday, had made light of his role in the guild, but Norris said he viewed Kearns as a power in the organization.

Norris said he blamed the guild Square Garden, boycotting of his fights by some managers, and other troubles. "They were threatening us all the time," Norris said.

Air Force Designing Satellite Lens Relays

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lens-dotted satellites designed to serve as relay links in a worldwide communications system are being developed by the Air Force.

The theory is that the multi-lensed space travelers will kick back more powerful radio signals — even if the satellite is spinning or tumbling.

The satellite would be covered with radio frequency lenses mounted over spherical reflectors. The lenses are designed to focus the radio frequency energy at a point on the reflector and against the reflected energy into a if he wishes.

beam encompassing the earth. The result, if the development pans out: Strong reflections of radio signals will take place between ground stations 6,000 miles apart.

The lens-reflector arrangement would achieve a high degree of reflectivity with a relatively small satellite.

Instead of a paycheck, each employee gets his full pay deposited in the bank. He is free to transfer without charge to another bank focus the reflected energy into a if he wishes.

Four Appointments by Williams Okayed

LANSING (UPI) — The Senate Wednesday unanimously approved four appointments of Gov. G. Mennen Williams including the state controller and the chairman of the tax commission.

S. Sen. Edward Hutchinson, R-Farmville, chairman of the Senate Business Committee, which rules on appointments, said Governor-elect John B. Swainson concurred in all the choices.

Ira Polley, Lansing, moved up from deputy controller to take over the department of administration when James W. Miller resigned to become secretary of the Michigan State University Board of Trustees.

Miller has since been named president of Western Michigan University at Kalamazoo.

Robert A. Eckhardt, Flushing, was appointed chairman of the State Tax Commission after the Legislature removed its revenue commissioner from the board because it was felt the duty overburdened him.

Eckhardt has worked for the state and in his home county on tax matters.

Also approved by the Senate were Orville R. DeClaire, Roseville, for another term on the Liquor Control Commission and James Friday, Coloma, to the State Apple Commission.

Warns of Danger to Heart During Winter Activities

DETROIT (UPI) — The president of the Michigan Heart Association warns of the danger of winter to an already overworked heart.

Dr. R.L. Johnstone said various cold weather dangers may result in straining the heart.

He pointed out that cold weather by itself causes the heart to work harder in the process of keeping the body temperature up to normal.

And the extra weight of winter clothing is just the same as excess body weight.

Johnstone said pushing stalled cars, shoveling snow, hunting and skiing can invite strain on the heart. He advised rest at frequent intervals during strenuous winter activities.

The MHA executive also cautioned against rigorous activity immediately following a heavy meal. He said persons over 40 should take it easy for at least an hour after a big dinner.

Named for Busted Blade

BUYRUS, Ohio (AP) — Eight miles north of here is a village of 115 persons with the Western sounding name of Broken Sword.

According to legend, the village got its name after a soldier stuck his sword in the ground and broke the blade to keep it from the hands of Indians about to capture him.

Japanese Beetle Battle in State Costs $140,000

LANSING (AP) — Aerial treatment of some 43,000 acres in South-eastern Michigan infested by Japanese beetles cost $140,000, the state and federal agriculture departments reported.

Cost of the program, starting Oct. 13 and completed Nov. 13, was shared equally by the two departments.

Two airplanes spread a pelletized chemical insecticide over the infested areas in Monroe, Wayne and Lenawee counties.

Two of the 20 pounds dropped on each acre was active ingredient, the rest being inert matter.

New York City is about 2,600 air miles from Los Angeles.

Board Backs Up School Principal

Refuses Parents' Group Request for Removal of Miss Luther

Pontiac Board of Education members last night refused a request from a group of parents of children in the Daniel Whitfield School that the school's principal be removed.

Subject of the complaints of the group, said to number approximately 40, is Miss Margaret Luther, 29, a principal for the past 12 years, and a teacher in Pontiac for 16 years previously.

Approximately 15 members of the group, represented by attorney Herbert W. Gordon, attended the board of education meeting.

They charged the conduct of Miss Luther was contrary to proper administration and in violation of the school code. The charges were first made last June, and again this fall.

Board of Education President Louis H. Schmalz said he "considered the case closed." Attorney Gordon said the group was contemplating legal action to force Miss Luther's removal.

Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said he had conferred with the different groups of parents in the Whitfield district and had examined school records and information.

A resolution up for approval last night stated that the charges had "been investigated fully" and that the board "in its deliberations has found the conduct of the principal to be in accordance with proper administration and the school code."

Gordon said he would file a request sometime next week in Oakland County Circuit Court asking for a judicial review of the administrative action.

"We may ask for an injunction to stop the principal," he said. Gordon claimed that his clients had not been "treated in good faith" by the board.

"There are no two sides to this case; only one side. Supporting testimony for Miss Luther was collected by Dr. Whitmer," he charged.

"There are only about four or five persons supporting her. They haven't been allowed to hear our complaints and their opinions are not based in fact."

Whitmer categorically denied this and produced a list of more than 30 persons supporting the principal.

He also made public a list of some 14 administrative points under fire and 18 specific complaints from parents, which had been discussed by teachers, principals and Miss Luther at a secret meeting Dec. 1.

Gordon had submitted some 25 written complaints from parents.

"The complaints covered a vast area from 'the principal does not make use of the educational facilities available to her' to charges that Miss Luther's disciplinary measures and methods were 'harsh and unfair.'"

Broomfield Moves Royal Oak Offices

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R.-Oakland County, has moved his Royal Oak offices.

Broomfield said he moved to more room for his three-member staff necessitated the move to new offices at 3102 S. Washington St.

The offices were located at 2300 N. Woodward Ave.

Office hours—8:30 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays—will not be changed. The telephone number will also remain the same, Broomfield said.

Twice Around the Town Enough for Bridal Parade

DOWAGIAC (UPI)—The City Council was celebrating bride and groom today.

Twice around the downtown district is enough.

It came to the attention of the council that the old custom of hauling the bride and groom around in a car after their marriage with the cars filled with the whole and horns honking was being evaded.

Several residents complained the procession last too long and are too noisy.

Without taking official action the council suggested that two cops along the downtown district with cars honking and horns blaring would be enough.

The council also suggested that clergymen officiating at weddings drop a hint to the wedding party "as no one wants to jail a bride and groom on their wedding night for violating the nuisance ordinance."

Charges were first made last June, and again this fall.

First Class Ready in June 1961

Plan Graduation for 'Special' Students

The Pontiac Board of Education last night cleared the way for graduation of the first class of students in the senior high school special education program.

"The first such class of mentally handicapped students are scheduled to complete three years of senior high work in June 1961."

At last night's regular meeting the board approved the diploma and graduation requirements recommended by Dr. Philip J. Frowd, assistant superintendent.

The proposals were developed through study by Frowd, William G. Wright, supervisor of the Special Education Department; Raymond J. Graft, acting director of vocational and adult education; and Francis W. Staley, principal at Pontiac Central.

The only change in the graduation diploma from the special education program will be in wording.

The certificate credits him with having "completed the special curriculum prescribed," "inserting the word 'special' before curriculum."

Requirements for graduation from the special program include a total of 10 credits, a good attendance record, enrollment in senior high school for the equivalent of three years, satisfactory progress in selected subjects, and be recommended by the principal.

Courses that must be successfully completed are U.S. History and science (1 year each, 1 credit each); American government (1 semester, 1/2 credit); English (4 semesters, 2 credits); and physical education (4 semesters, 1 credit).

The addition, students in the work-training program must earn a total of 8 academic credits within the 10 required for graduation.

Two credits may be earned in work experience at the rate of one credit per semester for satisfactory work experience.

During work experience there must be satisfactory attendance at weekly high school meetings and the student must have an above average recommendation by the employer on his work progress report.

In addition to approving the special education diploma and requirements, the board moved to add a new room and teacher for children whose hearing is impaired.

The school district presently has three such rooms and has qualified for a fourth.

The expansion will be paid for entirely by state and county funds. The room and teacher will be added beginning in January.

The board also approved hiring of a part-time matron for the mentally handicapped program at Mahan School beginning in January.

Proud explained that the program requires supervision throughout the entire school day, including noon-hour, and the county board of education has agreed to assume full cost of the matron's pay.

Both moves, however, will create some overexpenditure in the school district's 1960-61 budget for special education and raise slightly the cost-per-pupil figure.

Ask Frats, Sororities to Submit Requirements

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The student government council at the University of Michigan has voted to require all fraternities and sororities to list the way they select members.

The proposal, passed 14-3, requires all fraternities and sororities to file a statement with the office of the vice president for student affairs which lists "all current rules, regulations, written or unwritten agreements, or any other written or unwritten criteria of the organization which affect in any way the selection of members."

"Wadda Ya Know About Feinberg?"

Arrest Six in Underworld

NEW YORK (AP)—Six known underworld figures were seized today in a Lower East Side restaurant for questioning about "a recent gangland slaying."

It was in the aftermath of the car-bombing death Thursday of Kenneth Feinberg, a 34-year-old man, that the six were arrested.

Detectives moved in on the six men as they sat around a table drinking coffee in the rear of a restaurant on Mulberry Street.

Taken to a station house were Frank (Frankie) the Bug, 36, of Brooklyn; Anthony (Tony Bender) Stroulo, 61, of (1060 Palisades Ave.) Fort Lee, N. J.; Philip Albano, 33, of (1108 Phillips) Valley Stream, N. Y.; Joseph (Joe the Blond) Gallo, 31, and Joseph Argone, 47, both of Manhattan, and George Filippone, 45, of Brooklyn.

Detective Vincent Fortunato called the roundup the first stage in an investigation of a recent gangland slaying, but did not elaborate.

Other sources indicated the slaying was the death of Feinberg, 36, killed by a dynamite bomb under his car. The victim triggered the bomb when he turned on the ignition.

The blast in front of Feinberg's restaurant was the first in a series of attacks on underworld figures.

He also made public a list of some 14 administrative points under fire and 18 specific complaints from parents, which had been discussed by teachers, principals and Miss Luther at a secret meeting Dec. 1.

Gordon had submitted some 25 written complaints from parents.

"The complaints covered a vast area from 'the principal does not make use of the educational facilities available to her' to charges that Miss Luther's disciplinary measures and methods were 'harsh and unfair.'"

Broomfield Moves Royal Oak Offices

Congressman William S. Broomfield, R.-Oakland County, has moved his Royal Oak offices.

Broomfield said he moved to more room for his three-member staff necessitated the move to new offices at 3102 S. Washington St.

The offices were located at 2300 N. Woodward Ave.

Office hours—8:30 to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturdays—will not be changed. The telephone number will also remain the same, Broomfield said.

6-County Supervisors Unify Asks 7 State Law Changes

Supervisors from Michigan's six southeastern counties harmoniously put together seven proposed law changes to be introduced in the 1961-62 legislature, but got bogged down when it came to two which would affect social welfare laws.

Oakland County supervisors approved a recommended reduction to one mill of the present 1 1/4 mill ceiling when the state will step in and pay a county's welfare costs.

A county must expend 1 1/4 mills of its assessed value on direct relief before it can petition the state for assistance.

The half-mill reduction was proposed by Wayne County and explained by Louis C. Basso, county budget director, at a monthly meeting of the Supervisors Inter-County Committee yesterday in Farmington.

Not tied to Detroit RIFT Although Oakland and Detroit welfare officials recently battled over charges by Detroit that Oakland was shuffling clients to the city to lessen the load here, opposition yesterday was not an offshoot of the arguments, an Oakland County official insisted.

He said similar opposition was put forth by Oakland County last year.

Preferred by Oakland County over the reduction in the state assistance ceiling is a return to a 50-50 payment basis between the state and counties for welfare costs.

Several years ago this was changed to 70-30, with the counties carrying the heavier share.

The change brought an added burden to many-pinning counties, county officials said.

Wayne County supervisors pushed for the reduction instead of the return to the 50-50 matching basis.

MEET IN 2 WEEKS Because of the disagreement, members of the legislative committee of the SICC will meet again in about two weeks to try and smooth out their differences between the counties over the suggested welfare changes.

On the question of the half-mill reduction proposal, Oakland supervisors suggested that the present RIFT be a mandatory requirement of the state instead.

It promised to furnish toll-free telephone service to Detroit and Adrian for customers in the affected communities.

Freight agents also will visit all 12 cities regularly and the railroad will provide pickup and delivery service now available only in Blissfield, Tecumseh and Lapeer.

There will be no disruption or reduction of service, the railroad said.

State Lets NYC Close Agencies

Utica; Oxford, Lapeer, Rochester Among 12 Cities Affected

LANSING (UPI)—The State Public Service Commission today authorized the New York Central Railroad to close its freight service agencies in 12 Eastern Michigan cities.

Henceforth, the communities will be served from the railroad's service centers in Adrian and Detroit.

The Adrian center will take over business now handled by agents in Blissfield, Ida, Deerfield, Jasper, Morenci, Tecumseh, Clinton and Manchester.

Business at agencies in Utica, Rochester, Oxford and Lapeer will be handled from Detroit.

The changes will benefit both the railroad and customers in the 12 cities, the commission said.

REQUESTED LAST YEAR New York Central requested them last year as an economy measure.

There will be no disruption or reduction of service, the railroad said.

National Church Council Elects Layman President

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The largest religious organization in the United States, the National Council of Churches, today elected its 40-million-member strength behind the first layman ever chosen as its president for an assault on the barriers of race and denomination.

By resolution, the council's general assembly called on race-troubled New Orleans and the state of Louisiana "to bring their policies and practices into accord with the dictates of Christ-like conscience and the laws of the land."

By policy message a painstakingly compiled document processed since last February — the council envisioned "the time when each member denomination, recognizing the authenticity of Christian discipline in all the others, will entrust to any of them the care of human souls."

The new president, J. Irwin Miller, 51, and a multimillionaire manufacturer who teaches Sunday

J. IRWIN MILLER

School in his hometown of Columbus, Ind., quickly voiced support of both broad goals.

REMARKABLE DEVELOPMENT — Against denominationalism — "I think the most remarkable development of this assembly has been the widespread acceptance of the urgent necessity of churches coming together in more than a co-operative sense."

Against racial discrimination — "God shows no partiality. We ought to take those words literally and act accordingly."

The council's 2,300-word "Message to the Churches" was considered one of the strongest appeals for unity ever made by a representative American church body. It called on all congregations in each community to work together as one church, urged denominations to accept the validity of the ministry of others and advocated "further development of common ministries."

Hailing the movement that has brought more mutual trust and co-operation and enabled denominations to break "from their prison of self-containment," the message called denominational divisions a sin and added: "Not the churches' diversity but their separation from one another is the heart of this sinfulness."

Up Gold Stores With Purchase

U.S. Adds to Supply With $300 Million Buy From International Fund

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has increased its gold supply for the first time in several months with a $300 million purchase from the International Monetary Fund.

The IMF said Thursday it sold the gold so it could get dollars to invest in short term treasury securities. It said it wanted to convert some of its gold reserves into interest-earning treasury IOUs.

The timing of the transaction was a happy one for the United States, when the American gold supply was at its lowest level in more than 20 years.

Foreign nations have bought about $1.4 billion of U.S. gold since the end of June. This has caused some worry that a run on gold might develop.

Foreign purchases had cut the U.S. gold supply to $17,282,000,000 as of last Monday. The new purchase pushed the total American supply back above $18,177,000,000.

The transaction was not the first of its kind for the IMF — an international institution designed to promote stable currencies. In January 1956 it sold $200 million in gold to the United States. Washington bought another $200 million in gold from the IMF in July 1959.

Treasury officials said the new sale was made without any prompting from the United States. A spokesman for the IMF said there was no special significance to the timing of the sale. He added that if the transaction helps the United States "there is no reason for the fund to be displeased."

An ambulance took Mrs. Kelley and her new son to Pontiac General Hospital where both are doing fine today.

Canadian Bank Sells Its Assets in Cuba

MONTREAL (AP) — The Royal Bank of Canada announced Thursday its Cuban assets have been sold to Banco Nacional de Cuba, the Central Bank of Cuba.

The announcement from the Royal Bank's head office here followed an announcement in Havana that the bank had been nationalized by Fidel Castro's government. The announcement said:

"The Royal Bank of Canada announces that its Cuban assets have been sold to Banco Nacional de Cuba, which is the Cuban Central Bank, with effect as of Dec. 1, 1960, and that under terms of the sale all its Cuban liabilities have been assumed by the Cuban Central Bank."

"In September and October of this year all banks — Cuban and Foreign — with the exception only of the Royal Bank of Canada and the Bank of Nova Scotia, were nationalized."

"Because of the provisions of the nationalization law and subsequent related decrees affecting banking business it soon became apparent that operations in Cuba could not be continued satisfactorily on an independent basis."

Kennedy Edge Now 144,844

84 Precincts Remain Uncounted; Vote Total Stands at 68,694,754

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy's popular vote plurality over Vice President Richard M. Nixon stood at 144,844 today, out of a total vote of 68,694,754 tabulated so far.

The figures compiled by The Associated Press are based on official returns from 42 states and unofficial returns from all except 84 precincts in the other 8 states. The missing precincts: Arizona 7 and West Virginia 9.

The other six states yet to certify official results are Idaho, Illinois, Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania and Rhode Island. With Republican recount efforts still pending in Texas and Cook County, Ill., the popular vote now stands:

Kennedy 34,189,718
Nixon 34,044,874
Others 460,162

The electoral vote still stands at 306 for Kennedy and 223 for Nixon, with 269 required to win. Republican leaders say they expect Kennedy to have a majority when the electors meet in the various state capitols Dec. 19, but are proceeding with recount efforts anyway.

Asks Supreme Court to Act in Louisiana

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department has urged the Supreme Court to rule quickly against Louisiana's anti-integration school laws to end "uncertainty and confusion being deliberately fostered" by the state legislature.

The department filed a memorandum Thursday with the high court which said the Louisiana laws were "plainly unconstitutional."

It asked swift action by the tribunal to extricate the New Orleans school board from "a serious predicament."

The legislature passed the laws in an effort to block admission of four Negro first graders into two city schools.

AF Undecided on Time to Spring Satellite Capsule

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Discoverer XVII satellite whirled through space today, gathering precious travel data, as the Air Force pondered the best time to spring its capsule.

"A three-day orbit is under consideration," an Air Force spokesman said Thursday.

Longest period so far for a Discoverer satellite to orbit before its capsule was ejected and returned to earth for study was two days. The satellite, launched Dec. 7, contains spy gear and human tissue for radiation tests. Planes will try to snag the parachuting 300-pound capsule near Hawaii.

Assistant Coach Named at U. of D.

DETROIT (AP) — George Clemens, football coach at Flint St. John High School the past five seasons, has been named assistant coach at the University of Detroit.

The university was expected to make an official announcement later today.

Clemens, 31, fills the vacancy created by the resignation last mid-season of Jim Leary who quit in a policy dispute with head coach Jim Miller.

Clemens played football, basketball and baseball at Purdue where Miller was an assistant coach before coming to Detroit two seasons ago.

Start Cross-Exams on Consumers Hike

LANSING (UPI) — Consumers Power Co. officials today started cross-examination of the Michigan Public Service Commission staff recommendations on the utility's request for a $13.5 million annual gas rate hike.

The commission staff recommended the company be granted a rate increase of just over $5.67 million a year.

Consumers sought the raise in gas rates to its 520,000 customers in 30 Lower Peninsula counties, on grounds it was unable to gain a "reasonable return" under current rates.

Tragedy Strikes Couple Third Christmas in Row

NEEDHAM, Mass. (AP) — For the third Christmas season in a row, misfortune has visited David and Jeanne Strong, both 30. Their house was burned Wednesday night.

Two years ago, on Christmas Eve, another house the couple lived in was wrecked by an explosion. Last Christmas-time their first-born son Michael, 30 months, died.

David went bowling Wednesday night. A few minutes later, Jeanne smelled smoke. She looked in the cellar. It was in flames. She ran upstairs, grabbed Danny, who will be one Saturday, and dashed from the house.

Firemen used rubber blankets to try and protect the furniture and fixtures. But Fire Chief Richard Salamone described the damage as extensive.

Jeanne Strong, who is expecting her third child next month, was put to bed at the home of her father-in-law.

National Referendum Scheduled on Algeria Wait Until 1980

PARIS (AP) — The French cabinet Thursday fixed Sunday Jan. 8 as the date for a national referendum on President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policies.

The decision was taken on the eve of the president's departure for a six-day inspection tour in Algeria and followed a frustrating 21-hour debate on Algeria in the National Assembly.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A scientist predicted Thursday that by redeemable sometime in 1980-1990, 1980 a passenger will be able to board a rocket-powered craft in New York City and arrive in Melbourne, Australia, an hour and 22 minutes later.

William W. Swenson of Bell Aerospace Systems Co., Buffalo, N.Y., was so confident of his forecast that he handed out printed tickets, redeemable sometime in 1980-1990, for the New York-Melbourne flight. The round-trip fare was $1,500 plus tax.

Swenson, who said passengers could gulp "anti-nausea pills" for the 10,000-mile-an-hour flight, presented a paper on his "intercontinental hypersonic transport" to the annual meeting of the American Rocket Society.

He told in detail how the 30-passenger rocket craft would work. He said much work already has been done on such problems as re-entry—and displayed a model of the booster.

Swenson said in presenting his rocket-powered craft proposal that the next 20 years should see public demand for an increase in flight speeds from the 2,000-mile-an-hour velocity of supersonic craft to the 10,200-mile-an-hour speeds he envisioned.

For example, he said heart specialists or doctors skilled in transplanting organs might use such craft to save precious time in answering calls from distant continents.

The hypersonic transport system would consist of a booster craft and a rocket-powered passenger ship riding piggyback. The model displayed by Swenson roughly resembled a big Delta-wing bomber with an elongated fuselage.

The booster would be 200 feet long, weigh 750,000 pounds, and carry a crew of two. It would be powered by six combination turbo-ramjet engines each capable of developing 50,000 lbs. of thrust. The fuselage would be the fuel tank for the 554,000 pounds of fuel required for the 30 minutes of boost flight.

Swenson said the booster would take off from a conventional airport after a run of about 5,000 ft. and climb to an altitude of 20 or more miles. At that altitude the piggyback rocket craft would blast off for the flight to another continent.

Swenson estimated that the booster would cost $15 million and rocket piggyback glider $5 million.

The booster after getting the transport off its back would circle back to its base to be ready for another job.

Swenson estimated that the system could be used for as many as 1,000 flights without having to be repaired or junked. He put the operating costs of a single flight at $23,000.

Rail Unions Reach Tentative Merger OK

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 200,000-member Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors and Brakemen, with about 30,000 members, Thursday announced tentative approval to merge.

Committees from the two unions have been meeting since last February to explore merger possibilities. Wednesday night, both boards of directors gave their approval, along with W. P. Kennedy, president of the BRT, and James A. Paddock, president of the ORC & B.

The merger proposal now will be submitted to union members, probably early next year, after certain other details are completed, an announcement said.

Santa and the Boy Fish

by Lucretia Hudgins Beale

STORY: Michael has arrived in Santa Land in the midst of a crisis. A very old man named Costenbriker has just been elected mayor and is refusing to listen to the advice of his advisers. Santa will have to present to him for Christmas.

HAPTER SIX
"My elves never sleep at this time of year!" exclaimed Santa. "They have to work day and night and we'd never be ready for Christmas!"

"They are asleep now," said Costenbriker.

like dolls someone had forgotten to finish.
The drum-makers slept curled in their drums. The firecracker experts made sputtering noises as they snored at their benches.
Muffin, the whistle-maker, lay in a corner and snorted as he breathed out and whistled as he breathed in.
Toy wagons were loaded with ter work for having had such a good rest.

"Where would I get a black pearl?" demanded Santa. "It's the rarest gem in the world."
"I know where there is one," said Costenbriker. "It belongs to me."
"Then why do you come to me?"
"Because, unfortunately, my pearl lies at the bottom of the sea and alas! I cannot swim and am too old to learn. But you can do anything, go anywhere, and so you can get my pearl!"
"What makes you think your pearl is in the ocean?"
POINTS TO X
Costenbriker pulled a crumpled map from his pocket and pointed to an X which marked a spot in a southern sea. "Centuries ago, a ship sank on this very spot and treasure that was on her is on her still."
"Boh! How do you know that?"
"Because," said Costenbriker, twirling his parrot. "I was on the ship and the pearl was mine. When the ship went down I floated away in an empty keg but the pearl stayed behind. It was a gem of great worth.

"Whoever carries it stays young forever. I am old now, my hands tremble, my mind wanders. I forget things I used to know. I must have the pearl to restore my youth."
"It's impossible!" cried Santa. "I cannot get it for you. Neither I nor any other elf can go into the sea."
"You'll say the words that will wake my workers, that's what you will do," said Santa indignantly.
"Yes, yes," nodded Costenbriker vaguely. "There's certainly no reason to keep them asleep if you can't help me."
He scratched thoughtfully at his bald head and gazed up at the ceiling. Three times he opened his mouth to speak and three times he shut it again. His shoulders began to droop. He looked very sad.
Finally he sighed heavily and said, "I'm sorry. I can't remember the words."
(Next Michael's Plan)

"The ship carrying the pearl went down," he said.

Wouldn't Need Congress' OK

Kennedy Could Make Suggested Overhaul of Defense on His Own

WASHINGTON (AP)—John F. Kennedy, as president, wouldn't need to ask Congress' permission to carry out a significant part of the sweeping defense overhaul recommended to him this week, congressional experts say.

And these experts, authorities close to the ever-recurring issue of revamping the armed services, left no doubt that, if they are asked, they will advise the new administration to act on its own as far as the law allows.

They said it is better to push to the limits unused reorganization powers already on the books rather than add another early Congressional battle to the already foreboding Kennedy's plans on medical aid to the aged, the minimum wage and other issues.

The proposals submitted to Kennedy at his request by a committee headed by Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., contain many controversial points. The most drastic are:

(1) Abolition of the Army, Navy and Air Force secretaries; and (2) Replacement of the Joint Chiefs of Staff by a single staff headed by a powerful chief of staff.

These changes, everyone agrees, would require legislation and would be furiously opposed in Congress and by the armed services themselves—especially the Army and Navy.

Kennedy himself has not indicated whether he favors these suggestions, or for that matter any other particular item in the Symington report.

The president-elect commented only that the report was interesting and constructive and should be studied carefully both by Congress and the executive.

Area Man Wins RR Promotion

Harry Sanders Named VP, General Manager of Grand Trunk

Harry A. Sanders, 780 E. Square Lake Road, Bloomfield Township has been promoted to vice president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Western Railroad, effective Jan. 1.

The appointment was announced by Donald Gorn, chairman and president of the system, at a board of directors meeting yesterday in Detroit.

A veteran of 40 years service with the railroad, Sanders has been general superintendent of transportation since 1951.

He began his railway career in 1920 as a trainmaster's clerk in Battle Creek. In 1924 he became secretary to the assistant general manager at Detroit.

After serving as secretary to the vice president and general manager, and as chief clerk to the general superintendent, Sanders was promoted to trainmaster in 1943.

He was appointed assistant to the vice president and general manager in 1948.

Williams Denies Asking for Pay

Says He Only Wanted Official Status for His Trip to Africa

LANSING (UPI)—Sixteen Gov. G. Mennen Williams today denied he had asked for pay from the federal government before he joins the administration of President-elect John F. Kennedy.

He demanded an immediate retraction of a story by a Washington correspondent for some Michigan newspapers.

The story said Williams "requested he be put on the payroll" for a trip to Africa he plans between Jan. 1, when he leaves office as Michigan chief executive, and Jan. 20, when Kennedy will be inaugurated.

Williams has been named assistant secretary of state for Africa in the new administration.

"I have at no time asked for either government pay or expenses or for government paid transportation," Williams said in a telephone call to the writer of the story.

"I asked for some official status to facilitate my meeting with public officials and the State Department suggested that it would be difficult to make the contemplated trip by public transportation and suggested that government transportation would be necessary in order to make the trip."

Find Adrian Steel Guilty of Unfair Labor Dealings

ADRIAN (UPI)—Adrian Steel Corp. was found guilty of unfair labor practices Thursday by a National Labor Relations Board trial examiner.

Earl S. Bellman, the examiner, ordered the firm to stop discouraging membership in the United Auto Workers Union; stop "threatening employees that the plant will be closed down if the union is successful in organizing them; and stop "interfering with, restraining, or coercing its employees in the exercise of their right to self-organization."

Thomas Furniture Head Announces 2 Promotions

Keith R. Johnston was appointed manager of the Pontiac store at 361 S. Saginaw and Donald C. Auten as manager of the recently acquired Waterford Township store at 695 Dixie Highway.

Johnston joined the Thomas Furniture organization in 1953 and has held several positions with the firm. He resides at 134 Chipmunk Road with his wife and son, Keith Jr.

Business and Finance

Grain Trading Dull but Prices Steady

CHICAGO (UPI)—Trade was dull in grain futures today but prices were generally within a steady range in early transactions.

Cuts edged slightly but all other contracts held mostly minimum plus signs on scattered short coverings.

Bookers said the market appeared to have shaken out the flurry of profit taking which persisted through most of the previous session.

Offerings were described as light and included some hedging.

UNBEARDED TEACHER—The Raymond Wright family was happy Thursday. Raymond had been reinstated as a teacher in the Dearborn Riverside High School. He was fired last June because he wore a beard. Now clean shaven, Wright, 27, will go back to work on the order of the Michigan Tenure Commission, who ruled that a beard is not a sufficient reason for firing a teacher. The commission also ordered the Dearborn Township School District to pay Wright his back salary. The happy family is (from left) Ray Jr., 3, Mrs. Wright, Albert, 1, and Wright.

Full Segregation in South Africa

Prime Minister Plans to Keep Mixed From Full-Blooded Negroes

PRETORIA, South Africa (UPI)—Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd announced plans to apply full segregation to South Africa's mixed-bloods, who now enjoy some privileges denied full-blooded Negroes.
Verwoerd's plan calls for the creation of a government department of colored (mixed-blood) affairs to oversee separate mixed-blood communities, technical schools, business activities and welfare agencies.
The separate activities would be staffed as well as an aging actor who has grown disillusioned and longs to return to the "Golden Age" of his past.

TV News and Reviews

Magic 'Peter Pan' Glows More Brightly Than Ever

By FRED DANZIG
NEW YORK (UPI)—"Peter Pan," which has become the "My Fair Lady" of television through the years, emerged Thursday night with all its warm and beautiful values glowing at full strength, more brilliant than ever.
The enthralling two-hour NBC-TV production, in magnificent color, stands again as television's most effective palliative.
For this occasion, we declared open house and a roomful of youngsters watched with me. (Color TV, you know.)
Any show that can hold a crowd of 4, 7, 8, and 11-year-olds enraptured from start to finish—minus time out for commercials, of course—must have magic.
"SHOW IT EVERY DAY"
One of the young viewers remarked, "I wish they showed this every day," and I willingly wrote my review for me.
To Mary Martin, the incomparable Mary Martin, to Cyril Ritchard, Maureen Bailey, Sandra Lee, Joe E. Marks, Norman Sherry, Margalo Gilmore, everyone—the pirates, Indians, boys, set designers, costumers, stagehands, cameramen, errand boys—everyone ever remotely connected with the show, deep thanks.
You all have done something of which you can be proud.
This "Peter Pan" production, under Vincent Donohue's direction, must have our whole country walking taller with a more buoyant spirit today.
To learn whether this is the case, I made a quick spot check and compiled the following comments:
One 5-year-old to another, walking to kindergarten: "Crown-crown-crown. How late did they let you stay up a watch? Boy, I'm pooped."
One first grade teacher to another upon meeting in the corridor: "My class sounds like a barnyard this morning. If I hear one more rooster crow, I think I'll fly off to Never-Neverland—without wires."
"Wait till recess, when they try to fly off the monkey climb."
FATHER? MOTHER?
One mother to another, meeting in the supermarket: "Oh, the kids enjoyed it, all right. But I really think their mother got the biggest kick out of it."
One father to another, meeting at the shop: "Oh, the kids enjoyed it, all right. But I really think their mother got the biggest kick out of it."
A TV western fan: "Nuts. On account of that fairy tale, I had to miss 'The Outlaws' and 'Bat Masterson.'"
Doctor: "Your boy's ankle is going to be all right, madam. Just a slight sprain. Keep him on the ground for a few days."
Acting, as they say on "Person to Person," the latest "Peter Pan" was a thoroughly enjoyable TV treat.

World Trouble Spots Erupt Violently

Laos Coup Puts Leftists in Control

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Red-beretted paratroopers, of left-leaning Capt. Kong Le seized control of this capital today in a swift rebuff to apparent defeat.

It was the second military takeover by rival paratroop forces in 24 hours but neutralist President Souvanna Phouma continued to preside over the government in his cream stucco palace through all the changes.

In Washington the State Department studied reports of the latest topy-turvy developments in Laos today with intense interest but without any immediate comment.

It appeared that moves were being made at such rapid pace by the pro-American, pro-Communist and neutralist factions that no one in the government here knew quite what was happening or how it would turn out.

Kouprasith Aphay and the anti-Communist leaders of Vientiane's faction who seized control of the capital in a previous strike Thursday, were reported to be in the city. They were reported to be in the city. They were reported to be in the city.

Kouprasith's 3rd battalion got the upper hand temporarily in a brief clash with pro-Communist elements of the 2nd battalion at Camp Chaiyaphum Thursday.

Wearing white armbands and flying white flags to denote their support of neutralist Souvanna, they carried over the capital in jeeps, tanks, trucks and staff cars.

Premier Souvanna declared Kong Le, the leader of the coup that overthrew the pro-American government last August, had been relieved of his command of security forces in the capital.

But today there was not a white armband or white flag in sight.

The grounds of Souvanna's palace in the center of the city were surrounded by Kong Le's men wearing red berets.

They took over bloodlessly during the night. Apparently there was not even a casualty.

Cubans Battle Band of Rebels in Central Area

HAVANA (AP)—A band of about 150 armed anti-Castro insurgents was reported fighting in Central Cuba today after a new landing near Corralillo on the north coast 120 miles east of Havana.

Although the Armed Forces Ministry denounced the report as a "counterrevolutionary rumor," sources opposed to Prime Minister Fidel Castro insisted it was true.

Persons arriving in Havana from Matanzas, west of Corralillo, said the invaders have been engaging Castro soldiers and militiamen in sporadic battles the last two days. Some claimed to have seen truckloads of troops diverted to the area while en route to the Escambray Mountains to fight other insurgents.

Two militiamen were reported killed by one such band which came out of the mountains on a raid for food Thursday and clashed with troops at Camaguey, one of the gateways to the rugged range.

This report—one of several concerning armed clashes—came amid other developments: Authorities at Cienfuegos, near the south central coast, announced one person was killed and four injured in an unsuccessful attempt of a group of counterrevolutionaries to seize a Cuban airplane in flight and force the pilot to fly out of the country.

Algerian Uproar Greet DeGaulle

ALGERIA (AP)—Mob violence erupted in Algeria today as President Charles de Gaulle flew into the rebellious territory wearing a general's uniform to whip up support for his plan for home rule.

Special riot police battled thousands of demonstrators in the packed streets of Algiers, and tough soldiers moved into the great city square of Oran, 220 miles northwest of Algiers, to control a mob of thousands.

A call for a general strike proclaimed by the Front for French Algeria, largest group of die-hard settlers, was heeded to a large extent in most big cities.

But De Gaulle stubbornly went ahead with his tour, pressing his plan that could even lead to Algeria's independence. That is what the settlers fear most, for they would be far outnumbered by Algeria's Moslem majority.

De Gaulle's first stop was Ain Temouchent, a city of 25,000, about half European.

As he stepped from his car, scattered cries of greeting were drowned out by a roar of "Algeria is French." Police said 5,000 people stood in a chill downpour to shout their protests.

D Gaulle smiled thinly and steeled to City Hall. After he had gone inside, an army colonel addressed the crowd through a loudspeaker. He told them to demonstrate peacefully.

De Gaulle set the tone of his visit after conferring briefly with authorities.

The towering Frenchman then walked through a cordon of security officers to shake hands with a dozen or so Moslems. Beaming, they clasped his hand and shouted "Vive De Gaulle!" These European and Moslem cooperation.

TO STAY 4 DAYS

One source said he told city officials: "On your faces I see new Algeria which is being transformed. Only cooperation between the two communities can bring success."

Algeria's release was believed to expire tonight. It was not known whether any whites have been arrested as hostages thus far.

BOCKERS OF EX-PREMIER SOY UNLESS HE'S FREED, THEY'LL KILL BELGIANS

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Supporters of Patrice Lumumba who rule Oriental Province today threatened to kill an unspecified number of Belgian hostages unless the deposed premier is freed.

They made the threat in a telegram to President Joseph Kasavubu and Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congolese army commander whose troops arrested Lumumba and clamped him into prison.

Bernard Salumu, boss of the regime at Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province, threatened to arrest all Europeans, kill some of them, and "sabotage all Belgian interests in the province" if Lumumba was not released within 48 hours.

The United Nations took immediate emergency action to protect the estimated 1,500 whites living in the province, half of them in Stanleyville.

The United Nations spokesman said Salumu threatened only Belgians, but was expected to make no distinction between Belgians and other whites.

FEW AMERICANS

An unknown number of non-Belgian and a handful of Americans are believed to live in Oriental Province. Many of them are missionaries.

The United Nations has 1,500 Ethiopian troops in the province. They took over a school building in Stanleyville Thursday as a protected refuge for all whites.

Plans were made to evacuate the entire white population to Leopoldville if necessary.

Salumu's cable reached Leopoldville this morning, but the news broke known to U.N. officials after a news conference Salumu gave in isolated Stanleyville late Wednesday.

Early today U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld told the Security Council meeting in New York that he has "deeply disturbing news" from Stanleyville and Oriental Province. He declined to go into details at that time.

Salumu's deadline for Lumumba's release was believed to expire tonight. It was not known whether any whites have been arrested as hostages thus far.

The cable said: "Demand immediate liberation Prime Minister (Continued on Page 2, Col. 5)

Sentiment for Ceremony

BABY BAPTIZED — A sentimental touch was included in the christening of John F. Kennedy Jr. Thursday in Washington. The baby's long dress is the same one worn by his father when he was baptized 46 years ago. And the bonnet belonged to the child's mother. President-elect Kennedy and wife Jacqueline are shown with their new son in the chapel of Georgetown University Hospital after the holy ritual. (Related story, pictures on Page 23.)

Kennedy Ideas for Aged Care Win Boggs' Encouragement

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy's plans for a health program for the aged came to the fore as he resumed talks with legislative leaders today.

Just before going to Georgetown University Hospital to bring home Mrs. Kennedy and their young son, Kennedy breakfasted with Rep. Hale Boggs, D-La., a member of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Boggs told newsmen they talked about "the legislative program in general," specifically including Kennedy's plan for a health program for the aged to be financed under Social Security.

Boggs said he thinks the administration program generally, including the medical bill, will have easier going than such proposals had last year.

The Ways and Means Committee last year refused to approve a plan along the line of Kennedy's medical aid ideas.

Reading out for Florida with his wife and baby this afternoon, Kennedy let up a bit today on the pace he has maintained as he sought to put an administration together.

Stevenson was offered the job of U.S. ambassador to the United Nations. Although he gave the impression he will accept, he withheld an immediate decision. He said he wanted to talk the matter over with Kennedy but emphasized that "I have tried to make it clear that I want to help."

Under questioning, Stevenson left the door open for speculation that he might want to know such things as the identity of the new secretary of state before he makes up his mind on the U.S. job where he would be working closely with that official.

WHAT DOES HE WANT?

One exchange ran like this as newsmen tried to learn just what Stevenson wanted to look into:

Stevenson—"I am matters relating to strengthening the delegation and its organization, the organization of our representation at the United Nations."

Q—"Does that mean, governor, that you are seeking some person to work with you, and if they become available this will have an influence on your decision?"

Stevenson—"I suspect that will be one of the things."

Other things that might have a bearing were not specified.

Let's Peek in the Stores for 'That Man's' Present

By JANET ODELL

Let's go shopping for the men today. There seems to be more than the usual number of quality items for masculine tastes this year.

There's nothing out of the ordinary about giving a man a belt. We just think he might like a plaid one with a seal-type buckle to wear with sport clothes.

Does he raise the roof because the hangers he has let his trousers drop to the closet floor? Present him a new kind that looks as if it would hold tightly, yet release in an instant.

If he is the methodical type who makes a budget—and sticks to it—he might like a little automobile with this he can keep all his car expenses in one place. It's a nice stocking stuffer.

Cater to your frigate-happy mate with a flintlock table cigarette lighter that looks exactly like an old-time gun.

Reverberate vests are showing up in a number of stores. If a vest is out of the question, how about a corduroy or plaid wool cap for cold weather wear?

On the whimsical side there's a large clothes brush in a ceramic holder shaped like a duck. There's a ceramic pooch who acts as a night valet on the dresser; his tail is a shoehorn. Decanters appear in a number of new forms, one of which is a lantern.

And speaking of lanterns, take a look at the new flashlights. They've been squared off, and fit the hand well.

Refuses Parents' Group Request for Removal of Miss Luther

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Colored is the very essence of the Tournament of Roses, but its sponsors don't go for red spots on the royal court's faces.

That's why they got out the needle when they learned Princess Cynthia Gillette was down in bed with the measles.

Queen Carole Washburn and four other princesses—all exposed to their colleague's ailment—received shots of gamma globulin.

A fifth princess, Mary Lou Thomas, was declared safe, she had measles herself not long ago.

Miss Gillette, blue-eyed, 18 and covered with blotches, will be back in circulation next week and will be able to take part in the Jan. 2 New Year's activities, her mother said.

Officials Want No Red Faces on New Year's

They charged the conduct of Miss Luther was contrary to proper administration and in violation of the school code. The charges were first made last June, and again this fall.

Board of Education President Louis H. Schimmel said he "considered the case closed." Attorney Gordon said the group was contemplating legal action to force Miss Luther's removal.

Supt. Dr. Dana P. Whitmer said he had conferred with five different groups of parents in the Whitfield district, and had examined school records and information.

Palm Springs Awaits Ike After Jan. 20

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—President Eisenhower and his wife will spend a leisurely two-month vacation at this winter desert resort after he leaves office in January.

William Daugherty, manager of the Eldorado Country Club, said Thursday the Eisenhower would arrive in February and stay in a house on the grounds of the club which boasts an excellent golf course.

It will be the fifth visit here for Eisenhower since 1954.

Although Daugherty declined to say what house the couple will occupy, it was believed they would stay in a bungalow owned by Allen E. Paulsen, a Riverside, Calif., airplane manufacturer.

City Students Win 6 of 25 Drafting Honors

Pontiac high school students walked away with honors in a three-county drafting contest last night—and Pontiac Northern did most of the walking.

Of 25 awards in the contest sponsored by the American Society of Body Engineers, Pontiac students took six.

The winners were announced during an awards banquet at the Rackham Memorial Building in Detroit.

Pontiac Northern students took the top two prizes and three others. Pontiac Central took one prize—fifth place.

OPEN TO SENIOR HIGHS The contest, which closed Nov. 17, was open to all senior high school students in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties.

Taking the $125 first prize money and bringing the winner's trophy to his school for the coming year was 16-year-old Tom Zink of 78 E. Columbia Ave.

A fellow 11th grade student, Edwin Waski, 16, of 861 Spence St., took second place and $75.

Pontiac Central student Wendell Banks of 24 Michigan Ave. was fifth place winner of a $25 award.

Others from Northern were David Slater of 1621 Sterling St., 14th place; Ronald St. Amant of 2187 Richmond St., 15th place; and William Sekulch of 2605 Opdyke Road, 16th place.

Almost as overjoyed as the PNH students was their instructor, Enar West.

WORKS AT PONTIAC MOTOR West works in the body drafting department at Pontiac Motor Division during the summer.

J. L. Arwell, PCH drafting instructor, also expressed his appreciation.

The trophy was won by Lincoln High School in Warren last year.

Two years ago Pontiac Northern students also took first and second place in the contest. This year they competed against 1,300 entries from 67 schools.

Judging was based on correctness, neatness and completeness.

The Day in Birmingham

Brochure to Explain Plea for Hills School Bond

BIRMINGHAM — Information concerning the special upcoming school election in Bloomfield Hills will be received by all residents of the district early in January.

Assistant School Supt. Irving Menucci said today that a brochure is currently being compiled and will contain all pertinent information on the proposed $4-million bond issue that will be presented to property owners Jan. 30.

The school district is seeking approval of a 30-year, $4,135,000 bond issue to be used to finance school construction and purchase school sites.

If approved, the new money would finance an addition to the present high school, a second junior high school, a new two-unit elementary school, and one-unit additions to three elementary schools.

WOULD MEAN TAX RISE If received favorably, the proposed bond issue would mean a 7.25 per cent increase in taxes to residents in the school district, according to Menucci.

This would mean an increase of about $1.58 on the current $21.96 tax on each $1,000 of assessed valuation.

Menucci said the 7.25 per cent hike would be levied only the first year and at that time it will be the highest it will ever become.

It will be reduced proportionately each year as the bonds mature, he added.

Tentative plans call for a 4-year building program.

The proposed new schools and additions by the end of the four years could accommodate some 5,000 students.

This is an increase of 2,000 over the number now attending classes.

A survey conducted by Michigan State University points up the fact that the student population in the area will be close to 6,000 by 1955-56.

The proposed junior high school would cost $1,350,000 and accommodate 600 students.

The addition to the high school would increase capacity by more than 400 and cost an estimated $1,029,100.

The new elementary school could handle 350 students. It would cost approximately $554,000.

Future additions to the elementary schools would increase overall capacity by 525.

Total cost of the three additions would be $3,000,000.

Nearly $300,000 would be set aside from the proposed bond issue to purchase new school sites.

A surplus from a $750,000 bond issue in March 1959 will be applied to the January proposal if it is approved.

Letters! He Gets Letters!

By RUTH MONTGOMERY

WASHINGTON — Vice President Nixon, by his decision to join an established law firm in Los Angeles after Jan. 20, will face an unusually difficult problem as titular head of the Republican party.

Separated by a continent from GOP National Committee headquarters in Washington, he lacks the private means to finance the office staff that is essential for handling the vast quantities of mail that pour in to a popular leader who polled nearly 34 million votes.

Nixon's mail count has been averaging 1,000 letters a day since his defeat. If he hopes to be an active candidate for the presidency in 1964, these letters should be answered, others written, and research conducted in order to retain this reservoir of good will.

The problem for previously defeated Democratic candidate Adlai Stevenson was less acute for two reasons: He was closer to national headquarters than Nixon will be, and his private fortune is estimated at a million dollars.

Even so, the role of titular leader dug deeply into the Stevenson pocketbook. At one time he was paying the salaries and expenses for a staff of 14 — a cost that perhaps rightly belong to the party itself.

Another power is the fact that traditionally a national committee maintains neutrality between rival presidential hopefuls until the convention has nominated one of them.

Indications are that Nixon will be competing with Nelson Rockefeller, great white hope of the liberals, and Barry Goldwater, darling of the conservatives, for the '64 nomination.

No political party has a complete meeting of minds on any bill or program. As a consequence, each potential presidential candidate should have his own research work performed, to insure that he is avoiding someone else's bias.

RIVALS WEALTHY

Rockefeller, with his large gubernatorial staff and personal fortune, will have no problem financing research and letter writing.

Goldwater as a member of the Senate and chairman of its Republican campaign committee will have ample staff and services available to analyze legislation and policies. Thanks to the family-owned Goldwater department store in Phoenix, the Arizona senator is also independently wealthy.

It can be noted on highest authority that a group of well-to-do Republican business men are planning to set up a private research committee that would be available to Nixon, as the party's titular leader.

Privately financed, it would be on instant call for any research project that he might order. This would solve the most expensive part of the problem, and would leave only secretaries and typists for Nixon to pay out of his own pocket.

As a leader who collected nearly half of the nation's votes, he should quickly build up a prosperous law practice on the West Coast, particularly since he has decided to join a firm, rather than to build from scratch.

Attorney General William P. Rogers, Nixon's closest friend in the administration, plans to join an established law firm in the East, operating out of New York and Washington.

The two friends hope to work out a reciprocal arrangement of our largest state. News in America historically flows East to West, whereby each will handle the other's legal business on opposite sides of the continent.

Nixon's chief remaining problem will be to find himself a forum. Rockefeller the executive mansion of our largest state. News in America historically flows East to West, so Nixon has his work cut out in leaving only secretaries and typists for Nixon to pay out of his own pocket.

U.S. Cuts Arms To Laos Army

Shipments Halted by Request of Country's Prime Minister

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has cut off arms shipments to both factions of the Royal Lao Army, U.S. officials reported Wednesday.

The action is represented as compliance with a Dec. 5 request from neutralist Prime Minister Souvanna Phouma to stop supplying arms to the rebellious forces under rightist Gen. Phoumi Nosavan. The officials said U.S. Ambassador Winthrop G. Brown was instructed to tell Souvanna Phouma his request is being met.

The United States said no weapons have been brought into Laos since Nov. 26, the day after a heavy attack by Phoumi's troops on government forces.

This country, in compliance with Souvanna's request, will continue financial support of Lao Army troops.

The thinking here is that Phoumi's forces should be given that support since they may be needed for eventual use against the Communist Pathet Lao.

Britain Cuts Bank Rate by 5 Per Cent

LONDON (UPI) — Britain Thursday cut its bank rate to 5 per cent in a move to ease pressure on the dollar.

The ½ point reduction brings the key discount rate in this country more in line with rates in other world capitals.

It is designed to put brakes on the flow of money into Britain in search of short term high interest rates.

The last cut in the bank rate came only seven weeks ago — on Oct. 27 — and Thursday's reduction marked the first time in 30 years Britain has changed its key interest rate in December.

The rate was 6 per cent from June to October. It had been peddled high to encourage sagging exports and halt inflationary trends on the domestic front.

Roosevelt Cancer Fund Aids International Study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Establishment of an international fellowship program to aid in the fight against cancer was announced Thursday. The project is backed by a grant of $250,000 from the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation. It is designed to provide opportunities for study in this country by promising cancer researchers from foreign nations, and for similar study abroad by U.S. researchers.

Sen. Goldwater Shies Away From Nixon Prediction in '64

NEW YORK (UPI)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Thursday he wouldn't want "to take a bet" on Vice President Richard Nixon being the Republican presidential candidate in 1964.

The senator said the fact Nixon is the defeated candidate of 1960 and may not have an elective post in the party in the next four years opens the field for the presidential nomination to other aspiring candidates.

Goldwater was asked at a news conference whether he agreed with New York Gov. Nelson Rockefeller that the Republican party should have only a titular head.

"There are too damned many

As for his own plans for 1964, Goldwater said, "I have no plans or desires, except to strengthen the party in the 1962 congressional elections."

The senator also said he did not know what plans Rockefeller has, but that if he intends to seek the 1964 nomination, he "will have to get over 1962." Rockefeller recently announced he would seek a second term as governor in 1962.

Give Principals, Drivers Boost

Pontiac School Board OKs Pay Adjustments, Overtime at Meeting

Bus drivers and principals in the Pontiac School District got some good news last night. They'll be making more money this year.

The board of education voted to adjust the total payroll upward for school principals by about $609 and correct an overtime payment to bus drivers omitted in the 1960-61 budget.

The total payroll outlay for principals was adjusted upward from $104,419 to $105,028.

Each year the salaries of principals is based on the estimated enrollment at their respective schools. An adjustment is made in the pay schedule when exact enrollments are compiled.

All schools showed an increase over estimated enrollments with the exception of two.

The board voted to appropriate $2,500 for bus drivers who drove on school field trips for the 1960-61 school year.

The drivers overtime had previously been omitted from this year's budget in error. The money will be considered a contingency and not an addition to the established budget total.

Goldwater Lists U.S. Troubles

Says Value of Dollar Threatened Because of 'Reckless Giveaway'

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Thursday the U.S. dollar is threatened now because of what he termed excessive foreign economic aid and "reckless giveaway" of American funds since 1945.

He blamed dwindling gold reserves and the adverse balance of international payments as other "logical" results of unwise domestic and foreign policies in the wake of World War II.

In a talk before the 63rd annual Congress of American Industry, the Republican conservatives said still other political chibbons were coming home to roost in Cuba and on American farms.

"In the tragic situation of Cuba we were either misinformed or deliberately misled," Goldwater said.

"No one seriously believes that Castro could have come to power in Cuba had the United States vigorously and actively opposed his revolution."

He said competitive industry abroad had been financed in such a way that foreign producers now can undercut domestic markets of barbed wire in the U.S. market.

"This is the result of national policies which have discouraged hard work and thrift and industry by confiscatory federal tax policies — by permitting wage increases in certain industries with no reference to productivity increase," he said.

Failure to solve the farm problem, with its wasteful surpluses and expensive storage, has brought on a "Frankenstein-like chicken which now haunts our hopes and plans for tomorrow," he said.

Nearly 1,000 delegates registered for the three-day congress which runs through Friday under sponsorship of the National Association of Manufacturers.

Santa Buying Practical Gifts This Yule, Says Early Survey

By A. F. MAHAN
AP Staff Writer

Michiganers, it appears from early Christmas shopping trends, will in the main exchange practical gifts—clothing and such—this year.

From Ironwood at the northwest end of the state to the southeast corner, Michigan merchants report early season gift shoppers favoring wearing apparel.

Some suggested that a mild fall, reaching right into December, might have forestalled holiday purchases of family winter wardrobes and that Santa now planned to get by with a gift that in other years he might have had to buy weeks ago as a necessity.

Still others suggested that there was undoubtedly concern with decline in the nation's general economy and that this had contributed to caution and gift practicality.

There were some who held the view that the survey came too early to tell just how luxury items such as jewelry and furs will fit into the Christmas-giving picture.

But on the whole, merchants are running 25 per cent ahead of reported that sales of so-called last Christmas. Automobiles were "big ticket" items like refrigerators and large appliances were off among the early-bird shoppers, compared with recent past Christmas seasons.

Generally, the survey indicated that prices were steady with a year ago.

As one of Detroit's top retailers put it: "Business hasn't been what you'd call real good; so there was a reluctance to up prices all along the line."

Some below-1959 prices were reported from Saginaw and a few other places.

This was attributed to competition for dollars that holiday shoppers were a little late in taking out of their pockets this year.

Lansing appeared a top exception in the gift-buying trend. There merchants reported a swing away from the ordinary and usual to more expensive items.

Lansing jewelers said diamonds such as jewelry and furs will fit and pearls are selling well and to have more people from smaller, distant towns this year.

Cardinal Will Spend Christmas With GIs

NEW YORK (AP)—For the 10th straight year, Francis Cardinal Spellman will spend the Christmas season visiting U.S. military bases in distant places.

His 17-day tour, beginning Dec. 16, will take him to Greenland, Alaska, Labrador and Newfoundland. The cardinal will celebrate Christmas midnight Mass at the Thule Air Force Base in Greenland.

Marquette reported wearing apparel, luggage and practical gifts set out.

A banking and resultant sales spurt, was found there for bulky knit sweaters, especially those with V-neck shawl or turtleneck collars.

Bay City said the bulky sweater had been in evidence there, also.

Jackman said that while practical gifts were leading, shoppers also were buying goodly lots of just Christmas, nonessential things, as in previous years.

Benton Harbor noted no particular sales trend, but reported merchants there expected newly joined segments of Interstate Highway 94 to lure more people from smaller, distant towns this year.

Queen Liz's Cousin Heads Attempt to Jolt Britain's Conscience

LONDON (AP)—The Earl of Harewood, 37-year-old cousin of Queen Elizabeth II, Thursday launched a campaign to abolish the gallows in Britain.

Harewood, whose family motto is "Salvation in God," heads a Committee of Honor he says will aim "to prick the conscience of the nation and the government."

The committee includes more than 100 bishops, peers, legislators and stage and screen personalities who have joined with others in claiming Britain's capital punishment law is full of contradictions. They want the death penalty abolished.

"We are not softies," said the Earl. "We stand for a principle. And we think the nation is swinging toward that view."

In World War II Harewood was wounded in Italy and held in a German prison camp.

More Plastic in Cars

NEW YORK (UPI)—The average 1961 model car will use 22 pounds of plastics or two pounds

Tries Hard to Lure Youths Into Field

Car Industry Fights Mechanic Lack

By BEN FLEIGAR
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — The last time you were in a gas station you probably saw a teen-ager or two tinkering with a car.

The auto industry says the current shortage of skilled mechanics ranges from 140,000 to 230,000 men. If so many youngsters enjoy working on cars, why is there such a shortage of mechanics?

One reason is the growing number of automobiles on the road. The car population increased by 21 million during the last decade. More cars on the road automatically means more men needed to service them.

The number of mechanics has failed to keep pace. One estimate is that 20 years ago there was one mechanic for every 72 cars in operation. Now it's one for every 90.

Jack Weed, truck and service editor of the trade publication Automotive News, suggests there is a prime need for upgrading the job of a mechanic. He wants to eliminate what he calls such disparaging terms as "grease monkey" because "today's automotive technician must be a highly skilled worker and be well grounded in more skills than most any other category of skilled workman."

In a speech in Chicago earlier this week Edwin R. Stroh, vice president of Electric AutoLite Co. of Toledo, a major supplier to the auto industry, urged all those engaged in making, selling, servicing and operating automobiles and trucks join with him in a giant Project Mechanics to recruit and train men for the service trades.

Stroh said the "growing irritation with repeat service calls, costly and inconvenient failures, plus other maintenance and repair expenses and concerns, demands that all elements of our business unite in common cause to provide needed support of our products and services."

"DESERVES RECOGNITION" He said the field of automotive mechanics deserves recognition as a highly regarded, well-paying and necessary specialty, "the true status of which has too long been obscured."

The Toledo executive says he expects to call upon very state governor, senators and congressmen, federal and state agencies for recognition of the major problem of the shortage of skilled mechanics.

"By giving the field the recognition it deserves we can reduce turnover in this skilled vocation among young men with lesser formal schooling," Stroh said. "Opening up this employment vista for the vast reservoir of noncollege men and non-high school graduates, would relieve pressure on college campuses."

In Los Angeles, George J. Cutler, director of service for Plymouth, announced an expansion of one of his company's activities in this field.

This is the Plymouth troubleshooting contest in which auto mechanics students, selected by their schools, compete against teams from other local schools to see which can first diagnose and remedy malfunctions deliberately placed in cars.

Last year Plymouth held 19 such contests across the country. Cutler said 25 or more cities will be used in 1961.

More than 8,000 young men have entered the contests, which became national six years ago. Cutler says almost 2,000 of these former contestants now are working in Plymouth dealerships.

Ford also has a program, new this year, for attracting young men to the service field. It involves evening classes for high school students conducted by Ford-trained technical high school instructors.

Where possible the students are employed part time by Ford dealers. And when the courses end the students will be offered jobs as apprentice service technicians.

The courses offer six hours training each week. Ford says it is too soon to judge the overall program but that the response from boys was enthusiastic when the classes were announced.

why there's no water heater like an ELECTRIC WATER HEATER

YOU CAN PUT IT ANYWHERE—even in an air-tight closet. Because there's no flame, an electric water heater doesn't need air flow to support combustion, or a vent to carry off fumes. There's even a table-top model you can put under the counter in the kitchen or utility room. Here's the only heater you can always place close to point of greatest hot water use.

PLENTY OF HOT WATER ROUND THE CLOCK. For dishes, laundry, baths, there's always plenty of hot water available. Electric water heaters have two heating units: one for normal use, the other for those special occasions when there's an extra demand for hot water.

HOTTER HOT WATER WHENEVER YOU NEED IT. Some laundering requires very hot water to get clothes really clean. Dishwashers, too, need water that's very hot. Remember, an electric water heater can keep on and on, delivering the extra-hot water needed without burning out.

OPERATING COSTS ARE AMAZINGLY LOW. The popular 50-gallon heater will meet the needs of 8 out of 10 families. Using estimated operating costs for this size unit, a plentiful supply of hot water for all family needs should cost you less than 15¢ a day!

Dem Chairman Up to Party

Kennedy Has Regard for Candidate Bailey, but . . .

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy says he has "a high regard" for John Bailey, a leading prospect for the post of Democratic national chairman.

But Kennedy said the party's national committee "ought to have the choice" for a successor to Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, who steps down next month as Democratic chairman.

Bailey, 56, is Connecticut Democratic chairman. The Hartford (Conn.) Times has quoted him as saying he will become national chairman.

A national committee spokesman said Wednesday it has been understood for several days that Bailey is a favorite for the chairmanship.

No definite selection will be made until the committee meets, probably sometime between Jan. 2 and the Jan. 30 inauguration. Jackson has said he will resign at inauguration time from the post he took on during the presidential campaign.

Others who have figured in speculation for the position are the Michigan Democratic chairman, Neil Staebler and the New Jersey Democratic chairman, George E. Brunner.

Darvas' Books, Claims
Fraudulent Practices

NEW YORK (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz says acerbic dancer Nicolas Darvas, who penned the best-seller "How I Made $2 Million on the Stock Market," is out of step with the facts.

Lefkowitz announced today he has obtained a State Supreme Court order requiring the author and others to appear with his books and records. Darvas last was reported residing in Paris.

Darvas' tome relates how he parlayed $37,000 into $2 million from his "system" of playing the market from January 1953, to July, 1959. From that point to October 1960, Lefkowitz said investigation showed, Darvas lost $65,000 in the market.

Lefkowitz said a probe of Darvas' accounts and records make the figure nearer $216,000 than $2 million.

The attorney general's court order, charging fraudulent and deceptive practices, also directs court appearances by American Research Council, Inc., of New Rochelle, N.Y., publisher of the book, and the firm's publisher, Bernard Mazel, also of New Rochelle.

All were ordered to appear Dec. 20.

Grand Rapids to Discuss Wartime Site for Planes

GRAND RAPIDS (UPI)—A meeting is scheduled to be held in Grand Rapids Monday to discuss the possibility of establishing an emergency landing field here for Air Force combat planes in the event of a nuclear attack on the United States.

If the plan is approved, the Kent County Airport would come under a program called "aircraft recovery plan." The airport here would be among 100 airports in the country picked for such wartime operations.

Big Gain Looms for Cross Village Bedding Activity

HARBOR SPRINGS (AP)—A $1-million boost to the prospects of commercial and pleasure boat activity at Cross Village rests today in the hands of the Army Corps of Engineers.

The corps must approve a 1,000-foot breakwater plus dock facilities at the village which in the past has been active as a lumber port and a commercial fishing fleet center.

Fire ravaged the once prominent Cross Village breakwater and dock and a Lake Michigan storm washed out the remains about 1940.

The last fishing tug moved from the area seven years ago.

But new life is being pumped into the area by the Michigan Waterways Commission which charts the village as a new port of refuge for pleasure craft traveling between Harbor Springs and Mackinac City.

Detectives Asking Tighter Regulation

LANSING (AP)—Private detectives are moving to tighten laws regulating their profession.

Sixty of the state's 128 licensed "private eyes" met here Wednesday to talk over proposals to raise the qualifications for license applicants.

Minimum standards proposed would require detectives to have a high school education or its equivalent, be at least 21 years old and have at least three years experience in governmental or private investigating work.

Another proposal would raise the license fee for individuals from $50 to $100 and set up a $25 fee for each branch office operated by a licensee.

Solons to Wait for Insurance

Must Vote Themselves Into State Program; Can't Until '63

LANSING (UPI)—Michigan lawmakers will wait at least two years before they become eligible for participation in life insurance and hospitalization programs expected to become available to state workers soon.

Att. Gen. Paul L. Adams has ruled the legislators would have to vote themselves into the program — which he said was the same as a pay hike — before taking office for the next session if they wanted to take part.

The state will pay half the cost of the premiums under the plan, recently passed by the Civil Service Commission and expected to cover the more than 20,000 state workers in classified service.

Some legislators were ready to expand the call of Wednesday's special session to include the insurance program.

But consultations between Gov. C. Wrenn Williams and leaders of both parties resulted in dropping the plan.

Since no legislature can legally vote itself a pay hike, and another special session before Jan. 1 is practically an impossibility, participation in the programs could not take effect until the 1963-64 legislative session.

Juvenile Cases Rise Is Slow

2 Per Cent Gain in '59
Smallest Delinquency Hike in Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)—Juvenile delinquency court cases increased by 2 per cent in 1959, the smallest yearly increase during the past decade, the Children's Bureau reported today.

The rate has risen steadily for 11 consecutive years, but the increase in 1959 was less than the 5 per cent rise in the child population of juvenile court age-10 to 17.

There were about 43,000 juvenile delinquency cases, excluding traffic offenses, handled by the juvenile courts during 1959. Those involved about 416,000 children. The children represented 17 per cent of the nation's child population. Boys were referred to juvenile courts more than four times as often as girls.

The juvenile delinquency data are compiled by the bureau with cooperation of a representative sampling of juvenile courts throughout the nation. The bureau said its 1959 findings showed parallel data recently issued by the FBI, which showed a 4 per cent increase in police arrests of juveniles in 1959 over 1958.

Both juvenile court and police arrest data show that both juvenile arrests and court cases have more than doubled since 1948 while the population of young people has increased by less than one-half.

The 1959 findings showed a 2 per cent decrease in the number of juveniles handled in juvenile courts in urban areas while such courts serving semi-urban and rural areas had increases of 7 and 15 per cent, respectively.

Veterans Group Urges Boycott of Mardi Gras

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The national board of the American Veterans Committee (AVC) has urged its members to boycott New Orleans' Mardi Gras next week, "because of segregationist demonstrations in New Orleans, the committee said."

"An effective economic boycott of that city during the coming Mardi Gras week," is the best way for members to show their "abhorrence" of segregationist demonstrations in New Orleans, the committee said.

In other resolutions adopted, the veterans group commended Mrs. Orlando Gabrielle and the Rev. Lloyd A. Foreman for "continuing to send their children to the Frantz Public School" despite the harassment of them by fellow citizens who "defy the orders of the federal courts."

State Gas, Oil Output at 10-Year High

LANSING (UPI)—A bright forecast in oil and gas production was given today by the State Conservation Department's geological survey division.

The division said oil production will reach an estimated 13,650,000 barrels in 1960 for a total value of $6,375,000.

This would be the best annual total since 1950, officials said.

The outlook for natural gas production was also improved. Gas production jumped 21 per cent above last year through the month of October.

Department geologists expected gas production to rise to about 18,775,000 cubic feet this year for a value of $3,713,000.

Yul Brynner 'Knows' TV

That's Why He Has Found It Easy to Stay Away From Medium

NEW YORK (AP)—Yul Brynner, the suave actor with the shaved skull who became a star in "The King and I," has found it very easy to resist a plunge into television.

The only reason he is finally succumbing—Saturday night in a 90-minute special on CBS called "Recess"—is that he believes the show will make people in this country aware that there are still some 15 million displaced persons around the world.

Brynner's show, made with United Nations assistance, tells about this unhappy group—adults and children born in camps and growing up there. These people are of great concern to the actor, and for some time he has been acting as a special unpaid consultant to the U.N.'s high commissioner for refugees, traveling to the camps, trying to relocate them permanently, attempting to better their living conditions.

Brynner has not kept away from television all these years because he has that fear of the unknown that afflicted many a nervous motion picture or stage star. Brynner was one of the successful pioneering directors in television. "I know television as well as a director and as a creator," he explained, "but it just didn't appeal to me to get into it as a performer. I just wasn't interested and never thought about it."

First Class Ready in June 1961

Plan Graduation for 'Special' Students

The Pontiac Board of Education last night cleared the way for graduation of its first class of students in the senior high school special education program.

The first class of mentally handicapped students are scheduled to complete three years of senior high work in June 1961.

At last night's regular meeting the board approved the diploma and graduation requirements recommended by Dr. Philip J. Freund, assistant superintendent.

The proposals were developed through study by Freund, William G. Wright, supervisor of the Special Education Department; Raymond J. Gaff, acting director of vocational and adult education; and Francis W. Staley, principal at Pontiac Central.

The only change in the graduate's diploma from the special education program will be in the wording.

The certificate credits him with having "completed the special curriculum prescribed . . . inserting the word 'special' before curriculum."

Requirements for graduation from the special program include a total of 10 credits, a good attendance record, enrollment in three such rooms and has qualified for a fourth.

The expansion will be paid for entirely by state and county funds.

The room and teacher will be added beginning in January.

The board also approved hiring of a part-time counselor for the mentally handicapped program at Malikin School beginning in January.

Proud explained that the program requires supervision throughout the entire school day, including noon-hour, and the county board of education has agreed to assume full cost of the matron's pay.

Both moves, however, will create some overexpenditure in the school district's 1960-61 budget for special education and raise slightly the cost-per-pupil figure.

In addition to approving the special education diplomas and requirements, the board moved to add a new room and teacher for children whose hearing is impaired.

The school district presently has

Merriam, Ind., Besieges Troy

Uncle Sam's Burial Place Subject of Grave Debate

TROY, N.Y. (UPI)—The states of New York and Indiana, long in dispute over the final resting place of one "Uncle Sam" Wilson, may put the question up to the public.

The 86th Congress hasn't seemed able to settle the argument, and Troy, N.Y., and Merriam, Ind., both have laid claims to having the grave of the famed War of 1812 figure.

A public debate by historians has been proposed to settle, once and for all, the controversial question.

Reporter Thomas L. Gerson of Record Newspapers in Troy made the suggestion of a public debate to Robert P. Early, managing editor of the Indianapolis Star.

Merriam and Troy both have asked Congress to proclaim the burial place as a national shrine in order to perpetuate the memory of the original of America's national symbol, Congress, so it seems, toyed with the idea for a while but hasn't been able to decide which city has the valid claim.

Gerson says he has definite proof that Samuel Wilson was born in what is now Arlington, Mass., in 1786. He reportedly was buried in Troy in 1854. The city of Merriam contends otherwise, and so the dispute rages.

Gerson said he made the appeal for the historical debate because of an article on Samuel Wilson of Merriam, Ind., published in the Star in 1928. He said the article apparently started "this erroneous deluge" of Indiana's Wilson to Troy's Wilson.

It was believed the Troy Wilson was dubbed "Uncle Sam" in the War of 1812 by U.S. troops who spotted the initials "U.S." on meat which Wilson supplied to the Army at that time.

Gerson told Early, "We claim and have submitted as much proof as the 86th Congress will permit us to submit that Uncle Sam was born in Merriam—now Arlington, Mass.—on Sept. 13, 1786. He died in Troy, N.Y., July 31, 1854."

Gerson, who is legislative chairman for the Troy Area Committee for Uncle Sam, says the sources in Indiana claimed to have conducted a research in the Library of Congress, and found "a check of the census reports of a city of Troy for the year 1810 fail to reveal a Sam Wilson."

"This is untrue," Gerson charged.

He said he can submit proof that the census showed Sam Wilson and members of his family were living in Troy at that time.

One thing is certain. There was a Sam Wilson.

"Silent Night" Assured

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—Operation "silent night" got under way today as police raided shanties and bums where they had tips illegal fireworks might be manufactured.

One man was arrested and police seized 250 pounds of sky-rockets, roman candles and torpedoes which they said he was smuggling to market in a small truck.

Italians have celebrated Christmas Eve with a bang for years but in recent years the explosives began to take a toll in dead and maimed similar to the old Fourth of July tolls in the United States. So fireworks were outlawed.

Frats, Sororities Submit Requirements

ANN ARBOR (UPI)—The student government council at the University of Michigan has voted to require all fraternities and sororities to list the way they select members.

The proposal, passed 14-3, requires all fraternities and sororities to file a statement with the office of the vice president for student affairs which lists "all current rules, regulations, written or unwritten agreements, or any other written or unwritten criteria of the organization which affect in any way the selection of members."
