PARIS (AP) — France's 1969 atomic test program in the South Pacific will be canceled and credits will be reduced for the supersonic transport plane Concorde to save the franc, Premier Maurice Couve de Murville announced today.

Couve de Murville gave the National Assembly the news on civilian and military projects that will suffer in a cutback of the 1968 budget deficit from 11.7 billion francs — $2.34 billion — to 6.35 billion francs — $1.27 billion.

President Charles de Gaulle announced the deficit cut Sunday night in a radio address, but left it up to the premier to spell out details.

Couve de Murville said the military budget will be trimmed by 400 billion francs — $80 million — and that the 1969 atomic test program cannot be held.

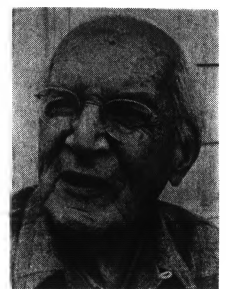

Mine Decision Near

Rescue Try Over?

MANNINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — Rescue leaders and company officials indicate they may have to reach an immediate decision on whether they have gone as far as they can in trying to rescue 78 men trapped for six days in a coal mine wracked by explosion and fire.

Most of those directing the rescue operation said they were "not quite" ready to make such a decision but time and continued setbacks are working against them.

Almost every rescue method, almost every device known—except for sealing the mine and the fate of the 78 along with it—has been brought into play in the tense six days since the first blast shattered through Mountaineer Coal Co. No. 9 mine.

CONCORDE COSTS SOAR

The Concorde supersonic transport project is a joint venture with Great Britain. Its costs have ballooned from an estimated $448 million in 1962 to about $2 billion. The cut announced by Couve de Murville will be $12 million in the French contribution for 1969. It was not known how much delay this might cause in the program. The first prototype is scheduled to fly late in December.

Couve de Murville said the French program would be based on three points: protect the franc from speculation, re-establish a balance in the economy, and continue without letup the expansion of production.

Subsidies granted to nationalized industries such as coal mines, railroads, gas and electricity, and the Paris public transport system will be cut by 1.150 billion francs — $230 million.

Couve de Murville spoke amid signs of calm in Europe's money markets after last week's heavy speculation against the franc. France's decision not to devalue the franc had a temporary bracing effect.

The franc was firmer in Paris, and gold buying dropped off. The British pound moved ahead for the second day and the U.S. dollar was steady on Europe's markets. Devaluation of the franc had threatened both the pound and the dollar.

Senator Urges Probes on Costs of Cargo Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department and the General Accounting Office were asked today to undertake full-scale investigations of why the C-5A cargo plane—backbone of airlift planning for the next decade—may cost $1.2 billion more than original estimates.

The demand was made by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee that recently heard testimony on contract overruns for the world's largest airplane.

It would be a dereliction of duty, said Proxmire, for Congress to permit payment "of such an exorbitant increase in contract costs without scrutinizing the reasons given for the increase and, indeed, the entire circumstances."

"In view of the testimony we received in our hearings," the senator said, "very serious questions about the cost of the plane have been raised. For example, there is some evidence that poor management on the part of the contractor may be a significant cause of the increase in cost."

AF ESTIMATES

Earlier this month the Air Force said the price of the C-5A could run $2 billion over original estimates of $3 billion for the first 120 planes. Later, however, "in response to queries," the Air Force put the figure at a more conservative $1.2 billion.

The higher price tag has been attributed to increased costs for labor and materials, introduction of new technology and unexpected technical troubles.

The C-5A is designed to carry troops as well as big equipment like tanks and trucks. The first model flew last spring and the Pentagon has maintained the craft will exceed performance guarantees of Lockheed.

Proxmire asked the General Accounting Office, spending watchdog for Congress, to report to him within six weeks.

At the same time, he wrote to Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford urging Clifford to direct personally a study of "the enormous cost overruns."

Noted Author Is Dead at 90

BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Upton Sinclair, a prolific author who earned the title "King of the Muckrakers" during a 63-year career, died at the age of 90.

Sinclair died yesterday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat-packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws.

PULITZER PRIZE

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

Waterford School Needs Detailed by Superintendent

(EDITOR'S NOTE—This is the second of five articles in which Waterford Township School Supt. Dr. Don O. Tatroe answers frequently asked questions on the $10.8-million bond proposal to be voted on Dec. 1.)

Question: What is the proposal which the citizens will be asked to vote upon?

Answer: There will be one question. It requests authority for the district to bond itself in the amount of $10.8 million to build a fourth junior high school, a Twin Lakes Elementary School; additions at the four older secondary schools and five elementary schools; a storage room addition at the maintenance center, and minor improvements at all schools.

New sites and site additions are to be purchased and some site development will also take place. A tax increase is not required to finance these facilities since they can be managed within the present 8-mil tax rate for indebtedness.

Q: Where does the school district obtain funds for construction purposes?

A: All funds for construction are obtained through a special vote of the people authorizing the district to sell bonds. When the bonds are sold the funds derived are used to build and equip the school buildings and to purchase and develop school sites.

LIMITED PURPOSE

The funds voted for these purposes may not be used for any other purpose; for example, they may not be used to pay operating costs of the district.

Q: What is the tax rate for school construction?

A: The district levies a total of 8 mills to retire its indebtedness. This is the same tax rate which has been levied since 1963. If the 8 mills is insufficient, the district is authorized to borrow from the State School Bond Loan Fund, but we must continue to levy the same 8 mills until the loan fund is repaid.

S. Viet on Verge of Joining Paris Talks on Peace

PARIS (AP) — A mystery envoy from Saigon was reported in Paris today, preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the Paris peace talks is nearing its end.

Qualified informants said that if all goes well Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

South Vietnamese officials suggested that the agreement under which Thieu would agree to participate in the Paris talks might take this form:

● South Vietnam would have the "leading role" on the allied side of the table when certain major issues were discussed, particularly anything touching on the political settlement of the war.

● The United States would have to say on such matters as withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam and a matching North Vietnamese pullback.

● The United States would assure South Vietnam again that it would resist any Communist effort to impose a coalition government on the South.

● The South Vietnamese would "ignore" the presence at the table of the National Liberation Front.

Sealab to Probe Bottom of Sea

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sealab 3 is off on a voyage to the bottom of the sea that may open a new world of riches and resources for exploration.

The 57-by-12-foot, sea-floor habitat, which looks like a tank car with observation rooms where the wheels would be, has been carried by barge to a spot near San Clemente Island.

Sometime in the next few days it will be lowered 600 feet by crane to the Pacific Ocean bottom, where it will serve as working and living quarters for two months for five teams of eight to nine men.

The teams will spend 12 days each at such varied tasks as setting up an underwater trolley line, building a dry and lighted hut on the sea floor, starting a lobster farm with succulent transplants from Maine and training porpoises and sea lions to fetch and carry.

AMBITIOUS EFFORT

A day or two after Sealab 3 touches bottom, the first team will start descending in diving bells, called personnel transfer capsules, capable of carrying three to four men at a time.

Sealab 3, a $10-million project, is the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt yet to add the world's submerged continental shelves—which range from a few miles to hundreds of miles in breadth—to its theater of operations.

Such depths are ideal hiding places for submarines, including stations, missile launching sites, and antisubmarine warfare gear. They also hold untold wealth in oil, minerals and scientific lore, exploitable when men learn to live and work for long periods at great depths.

Securities Firm Punished by SEC

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission today punished Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith and 10 of its executives and salesmen for disclosing inside information to select big investors.

The information had to do with a report that the Douglas Aircraft Co. would show a sharp drop in earnings for the first part of that year and that the outlook for the remainder of 1966 was gloomy.

The SEC ordered the securities firm to suspend all activities of its New York institutional sales office for 21 days starting Dec. 5 and the firm's West Coast underwriting office to shut down for 15 days starting Dec. 11.

The 10 executives received censure or

'Not Parkinson Disease'

HST Symptoms Cited

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Former President Harry S. Truman has some of the symptoms of Parkinson's disease, his personal physician says, but not the disease itself.

Dr. Wallace H. Graham said Monday night that the symptoms, including tremors and rigidity, are not uncommon for a man of Truman's age.

"I never said that President Truman was suffering from Parkinson's disease," he added. "He is still out taking walks. He is a bit shaky, but he is 84 years old."

Graham, who was Truman's physician in the White House, made the statement following a talk given by Everett Dudley, an attorney for the National Parkinson Institute at Miami, Fla.

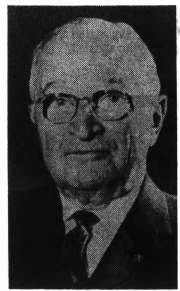

TECHNICAL DATA

Dudley outlined the benefits of the proposed center of Miami Monday and said, "Even the personal physician of former President Truman has sought the help of the institute. Mr.

Truman has Parkinson's disease," Graham said he requested technical information from the institute on treatment and added: "I have one young lady patient who definitely has Parkinson's disease, and I have others."

Mrs. Jeanne Levey, who founded the National Parkinson Foundation and built the institute after the death of her husband, said in a telephone conversation to the Kansas City Star that she had received a letter from Graham about two weeks ago in which he indicated that Truman had Parkinson's syndrome, "but as I recall, he didn't say outright that he had the disease."

Mrs. Levey said Graham stated in his letter that he was giving Truman parolol and artane, two drugs which often are given to Parkinson's victims. She said that, at Graham's request, the institute was going to send him a drug called L-Dopa, an experimental drug that she said had "dramatic" effects on some Parkinson victims.

Burned Boy Going Home

DETROIT (UPI) — Gary Shapiro will be home in time for Thanksgiving.

The 13-year-old suburban Southfield boy has been hospitalized since he was burned over 75 per cent of his body last June in a back yard cooking accident.

Gary was near death in August when a public appeal brought donations of cadavers for use in skin transplant operations. In all, Gary received skin grafts from 11 cadavers in 30 operations within the past three months.

The cadaver skin was not grafted permanently to the boy's body. Instead, it was used to cover the badly burned areas until skin could be permanently transplanted from healthy areas of Gary's body.

Pontiac Twp. Planners 4 Members Shy Amid Tiff

By JEAN SAILE
PONTIAC TOWNSHIP — The township today remained four members short on its planning commission.
An attempt by Supervisor Roy Wahl last night to seat the two recently defeated trustees — one of whom had served as chairman of the commission — was aborted after two 4-1 votes for rejection by the board.
Wahl never introduced the other two names to allow a board vote.
By law the supervisor has the right to appoint planning commission members, but their appointment must have approval of the township board.

"This is a farce," said Wahl. "I won't submit any more names."
Political affiliations seemed to play a heavy part in the votes with only Mrs. Ronald E. Drake, recently elected to the board by a 52-vote margin over her Democratic husband, voting for Wahl's appointments.
Clerk Mrs. Grete Block was absent, but Trustees John Richardson, Walter Smith, Robert Grusnick and Treasurer Goldie Mailhau voted against the appointments on motions by Richardson, seconded by Smith.
All members of the board with the exception of Supervisor Wahl are Republicans.
In answer to a question from the audience as to why the appointments of Drake and Claude Arnett were refused, Richardson said, "Voters have given an expression of the way they feel. If they had been pleased with the two removed from office it would have been different. Evidently they have not worked to the wishes of the people."

Richardson went on to say the margin of defeat was not important, Drake lost by 52 votes and Arnett by 176 votes of nearly 4,000 cast.
Wahl pointed out that Arnett had been a long-term member of the planning commission and that he and the group had spent many hours revising a master zoning plan. He spoke of the need for experienced people to complete the job.

Interrupted by members of the audience, the board at one point heard Harold R. Davis, local funeral home director and civic leader, say, "I think the behavior of elected officials should be settled not on the basis of Republicans and Democrats, but on what is good for the community. I am very disappointed in the attitudes of all you people who sit in judgment and put party before community."
BACK TO CONSTITUTION
He concluded, "If you can't sit up there and express your ayes and nays on questions good for all of us, then it's time we go back to the constitution where we have the opportunity to impeach."

Davis' comments followed a heated exchange between Wahl and Richardson in which at one point Richardson asked Wahl to resign.
Wahl produced a letter from attorneys regarding the board's action on dissolving the township's first planning commission, appointed by the late supervisor Leonard Terry.
He was accused of having hidden the letter and of having illegally invalidated Terry's appointments.

The letter refuted Richardson's contentions.
Wahl then refused to make a recommendation for the board's appointment of a member to the zoning board of appeals.
"That's your job," said Wahl. "My job is appointment of members to the planning commission, and I'm not going to become a stooge for the board."
On Trustee Smith's motion, Richardson was named to the board of appeals.
In other business the board adopted a recreation zoning ordinance providing for both private and commercial parks and amusement areas.

Rochester Acts on Traffic Problems

ROCHESTER — Stage one — data gathering — was approved last night by the City Council as part of an expected long-range program to solve parking and traffic movement woes in the downtown area.
Council approved retaining a pair of and Draker Associates Inc. of Birmingham, planning consultants, at a cost not to exceed $5,000.

While the council okayed the combined studies, Mayor Roy Rewold emphasized his special parking committee recommended the move on the basis that the program would be carried through.

Draker Associates will carry out a market study of downtown Rochester, establishing a picture of present patterns and projecting the future trade potential. There also will be an analysis of existing parking.

STILL SMILING — Defeated Pontiac Township Trustee Ronald E. Drake (left) smiles as he congratulates his wife, Marjorie, and Robert Grusnick, successful candidates for the board. They took office last night. Drake lost the election to his wife by 52 votes.

Rochester Board Explains Need for School-Bond Issue

ROCHESTER — The need for an $8-million school bond issue to provide classrooms for an expected 3,000 student growth in the next five years was explained to some 45 citizens of the district last night.
The board of education sent out 160 invitations to the meeting, held at Central Junior High School, and issued a blanket invitation to all members of the community to attend.
Those present did not deny the need for additional facilities, Supt. of Schools Douglas Lund said, but they did state their feelings on increasing property taxes.
The bond issue is expected to increase tax bills at the rate of $2.20 per $1,000 assessed valuation.
The board made plans to reactivate a

22-YEAR PLAN
The consultants are to furnish a parking plan that would be valid through 1990. Included would be a recommended program for the staged development of necessary street patterns and parking facilities.
City officials indicated that eventually a bonding program and special assessments may be necessary to finance construction of the necessary improvements.

COURT FACILITIES
Mayor Rewold designated a three man committee — Sinclair, Councilman Burdette Lewis and the mayor — to meet with county officials on facilities for the new Rochester District Court, which is to begin operation Jan. 2.
Sinclair reported last night on appointments and new officers of the city's beautification council. The officers are Lawrence Hopp, president; William Potere Jr., vice president; Cecil Ennis, secretary; George Marquart, treasurer; and Charles Rosemergy, publicity.

In offering the motion to approve the parking and traffic studies, Councilman Thomas Case said, "I feel this is vital to the life of Rochester, and I think this shows our (the city's) good faith."
Meeting yesterday morning, the mayor's parking committee recommended retaining the two consulting firms.
Reid and Cool will determine the current use of parking facilities, both on and off the street, study the flow of LAKE ORION — The Village Council turned down an agreement which provided for continuance of a $1-per-year township rental of the fire hall at 37 E. Flint.

The sum is that of past rental agreements, but the council's consideration of the need to provide water, heat and lights to the hall prompted them to refer the matter to the village attorney and manager for study.
Orion Township maintains two fire stations, one of them housed within the village and the other in the community of Gingerville. It provides village fire protection and pays the village $500.43 per month for the services of a fire call radio operator.
The agreement as presented by the township provides that equipment necessary to the protection of the village will not be withdrawn.
The present lease expires Jan. 1. The offered agreement was for a four-year period.

W. Bloomfield's New School to Serve 'Walkers'

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP — Discussion at last night's special meeting of the board of education centered around the new Doherty Elementary School, which is set to open next Monday.
The board adopted a resolution naming Doherty a "walk-in" school (children may go home for lunch) designating the serving area boundaries as Maple on the south, Middle Belt on the east, west to Orchard Lake, and the northern boundary to be fixed by the administration.
"The school will open with four classes made up of students presently holding classes in the United Presbyterian Church of Our Savior, 6655 Middle Belt."
Supt. Anthony P. Witham said he expects the rest of the school to be in operation by Jan. 1.

Lake Orion Nixes Pact for Township Rental of Fire Hall

FURNITURE BIDS
The board gave the administration authority to accept bids on the furniture for the school.
Witham said the furniture will be paid for from money presently in the general fund. The estimated cost is $30,000, he added.
The board then moved into closed-door executive session to discuss the projected needs for future building and site purchases.
Discussion on a projected time schedule for a special referendum on a $600,000 bond issue to finance construction of a swimming pool for the new West Bloomfield High School was scheduled for the executive session, but did not take place, Witham said.

False-Lockup Suit to Go to Jury Trial
WOLVERINE LAKE — A false imprisonment suit against the village and the village manager will reach jury trial, probably some time next spring, according to Oakland County Circuit Court officials.
A pretrial hearing was held yesterday before Circuit Court Judge Robert L. Templin.
Carl E. Hess, who identifies himself as a resident of the village, charges actions by Village Manager Clifford Cottrell caused him to be imprisoned for some five hours without process of law or legal authority.
He is asking $25,000 plus interest and attorney and court costs.
Court officials said there is no likelihood of settlement at this time and attorneys for both parties will continue to negotiate.
No trial date has been set.

Doctor in Wrong County

No Help for Troubled Girl

ROYAL OAK (UPI) — In William Beaumont Hospital sits a pretty blonde girl who cannot speak of the torment in her soul nor hear words of encouragement and hope.
A few miles away, her parents sit in anguish, postponing what must be done, seeking her commitment to a state mental hospital where she cannot be helped.
And yet a few miles farther distant, there is a doctor who could help Sheri Fay Painter but who cannot because Sheri is an adult and he is hired by the state of Michigan to work with mentally troubled deaf-mute children.
Sheri is 21 now and has been diagnosed as a catatonic schizophrenic. She is withdrawn, pallid, sometimes violent, a tragic reversal of the happy, enthusiastic girl who was pretty and popular and who got good grades at the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint.
LIFE WAS FUN
She swam, skated, danced and dated. After she was graduated four years ago she went to business college and then worked as a key punch operator.
Sheri's parents moved to Michigan from Indiana so that their daughter, who was born unable to hear or speak, could attend schools for the deaf here. Now they think Sheri adapted to her handicap too well, that she was in the world of the normal but not of it.
"Sheri always had very high goals. She had a taste for the better things," says her mother, Mrs. Joseph Painter.
Among the better things, doctors think, was a boy named Jim in Sheri's 16th summer. When the summer was gone, so was Jim, eventually to die in Vietnam. But Sheri thinks Jim went away at the end of that beautiful summer because she wasn't like normal girls.

SHERI PAINTER

Brandon Taxpayer Association Backs Wudarcki for Supervisor

BRANDON TOWNSHIP — The local Homeowners and Taxpayers Association has recommended John Wudarcki, 205 Wolf, to fill the unexpired term of township supervisor created by the election of Richard Wilcox to the Oakland County Board of Supervisors.
Wudarcki, if appointed to the position, would propose that the salary for township supervisor be reduced to $3,000, with a 10-cent-per-mile allowance for the use of his vehicle while on township business, according to D. V. LaBarge, president of the association.
"The association has felt that the $6,000 salary for the supervisors position is too much of a burden to place upon a township of the size of Brandon, for a part-time position," LaBarge said.

Wudarcki, who is in the construction business, is a member of the association.
Wilcox has been township supervisor for five years. He will step down from this position at the township board's Dec. 2 meeting, when the new supervisor is expected to be appointed.
Two other men besides Wudarcki reportedly have turned in applications for the supervisor position to township clerk Lucille Saunders.

The payment is the initial dividend paid by the bank, which commenced operations March 1964.

Improvements in Planning Are a Must, Says Expert

By TOM GRAY
BLOOMFIELD HILLS — The complex problems of today's society may be only a taste of what the future holds unless there is a sharp improvement in present planning methods, a leading development consultant told architecture students yesterday.
William R. Ewald Jr., speaking before the 14th annual forum of the American Institute of Architects at the Cranbrook Art Academy, compared contemporary developments with the beginnings of the agricultural and industrial revolutions.
"Short-sighted planning programs, have resulted in governments 'working with folklore in a time of enormous change,'" he said.
Society, Ewald added, has set up a system of "rewards and incentives" for short-range thinking, both on the part of public officials and private industry.

INSUFFICIENT PLANNING
A seven-year look into the future is the longest being attempted today by private industry in the United States, the development consultant added, and governmental forecasts are even shorter.
"Our gross national product for the rest of this century will amount to about $55 trillion. But we have no long-range program for using it. We are operating on a two-year basis," he added.
Ewald suggested that a planning and communications institute financed by both government and private industry might meet the need for a broader approach.
Since it would not be bound by the necessity of immediate short-term results for profit or popularity, such an institute would be free to take up questions of a more fundamental, long-range nature, he said.
Among them Ewald listed problems both scientific such as the determining the best environment for human beings and philosophic, for example social goals and purpose.
"What is missing today is communication," he declared. "We need real choices, not the present barrage of propaganda."

Ewald has served as assistant commissioner of the Urban Renewal Administration, senior vice president of Doxidax Associates, Inc., and chief of development for the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission under Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller.
The forum, which opened yesterday in Ann Arbor, includes representatives from student chapters of the AIA in 91 schools of architecture in the United States.

British Race Law Goes Into Effect as Public Debate Rages

LONDON (AP) — Britain's new race relations act went into effect Monday amid a stormy public debate over the proper way to approach the nation's growing race problem.

The act empowers the Race Relations Board to investigate and seek compliance with the law over a wide field of alleged acts of discrimination against Britain's 1 million colored people—2 per cent of the population.

Up to now, the board was limited to investigating complaints of discrimination in certain public places. This resulted largely in efforts to conciliate between Asian, West Indian and African immigrants and pub owners who refused to serve them drinks.

Now the board's investigative powers have been broadened to acts of discrimination in the provision of any goods, facilities or services. This includes housing, hotels, educational institutions, banking, insurance, entertainment, travel and the service of any business, profession, trade or public authority.

Ten days ago, Enoch Powell, a rebellious Conservative foe of colored immigration, proposed in a speech that Britain rigidly limit the flow of immigrants and set up a government ministry to assist the repatriation of those already here.

PROJECTION FOR 2000

He predicted there would be 45 million colored people in Britain by the end of the century, with whole communities becoming predominantly or exclusively Afro-Asian. There would be, he said, "Several Washingtons in England," unless this was done.

"The people of England will not endure it," Powell said. "I do not believe it is in human nature that a country should passively watch the transformation of whole areas which lie at the heart of it into alien territory."

Powell's speech triggered a public outcry, but the attorney general declined to take action under a law prohibiting public acts likely to stir up racial hatred.

Mark Bonham Carter, chairman of the Race Relations Board, said at a news conference Monday race relations in Britain "are much better than you would conclude they were if you only heard the speeches of some politicians." But he said the new act does not allow the board to proceed against politicians or others discussing racial questions because this is in the attorney general's jurisdiction.

Bonham Carter said the board is not empowered to initiate criminal proceedings. It may only undertake conciliation and, if this fails, go to the civil courts.

He said the act is only the bloody-minded who try to get written assurance against further discrimination. Complaints of discrimination have been established around the country with plans for more.

Wayne County Bench Is Filled

LANSING (UPI) — Gov. George Romney yesterday filled the last existing vacancy in the Wayne County court system by naming William C. Hague, 58, to the Traffic and Ordinance Division bench of Detroit Recorder's Court.

Hague, a Republican, will be the sixth Negro judge in the Recorder's Court structure but the only one among the three Traffic Court judges. His salary will be $30,000 a year.

Hague has served on the Michigan Employment Security Appeal Board since being appointed by Romney in 1963. Before moving to Detroit, Hague served as municipal judge, assistant city attorney and member of the board of education in Ecorse.

He will take office Dec. 2 to succeed Richard M. Maher, who was elected Nov. 5 to fill a vacancy on the Wayne County Circuit Court. Hague's term will run until Jan. 1, 1971, as the judgeship will be up for election in 1970.

Foundation Head

ANN ARBOR (AP) — The Michigan chapter of the American Schizophrenia Foundation elected George Bunnell of Wyandotte as president at a week-end Ann Arbor meeting. He succeeds the Rev. William Buckman of Lansing. Bunnell's wife was named vice president.

Dr. Cyrenus G. Darling Jr.

Death claimed a dedicated man of medicine when Dr. CYRENUS G. DARLING Jr. suffered a heart attack Friday night.

DR. DARLING

Born in Ann Arbor and a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School, Dr. DARLING had begun practice in this locality more than four decades ago.

Few individuals had lived as full and zestful a life as Dr. DARLING. A keen and sympathetic interest in his fellows and a ready wit made him a welcome figure in any group — professional or social. Though his professional life left little time for recreation, Dr. DARLING found enjoyment at the piano, where he displayed great artistry, and in fishing, at which he was equally adept.

The host of friends, associates and patients who deeply mourn the passing of an estimable man will find comfort in the knowledge that he left an outstanding record of service to his community.

Cleveland Leads in 'Moving' Airports Downtown

Those who wonder how the Federal government ever got so involved in local affairs and who think it ought to get the heck out forthwith might devote a little study to the history of Cleveland's airport rapid transit.

That city has just become the first in the Western Hemisphere to provide a public rail link-up between its major airport and its downtown.

Cleveland Transit System authorities are confident the new line will add some 1½ million patrons a year, who will invest 35 cents and 20 minutes for the ride to and from the airport instead of the $1.60 to $5 and one hour involved in taking limousines and taxis.

Air-conditioned, stainless steel cars with baggage racks service the 19-mile route. Eventually, airline passengers flying out of Cleveland may be able to check their baggage at the CTS downtown terminal and forget about it until they arrive at the airport of their destination.

In one city, at least, no one can complain any more that "it took me longer to get from the airport to downtown than it did to fly halfway across the country."

Cleveland became the first city to apply for a Federal grant under the Mass Transit Act passed by Congress in 1964, and in 1966 the first shovelful of dirt was turned.

Today the Rapid stands completed at a cost of $18.6 million, two-thirds of which is represented by Federal funds — or, more accurately, by money contributed by taxpayers in all the 50 states.

Other cities will benefit from the Mass Transit Act, including San Francisco, which initially hoped to go it alone in building an ambitious subway system but has since found it necessary to seek Federal aid. Taxes paid by Clevelanders will go to help make that city's dream become a reality.

It is, quite literally, one for all and all for one in this Nation of 50 United States. Anyone who knows a better way of doing things is free to come forward.

Nerve Wacking, Isn't It?

David Lawrence Says:

Plane Hijacking Curbs Needed

WASHINGTON — The hijacking of two American planes over the weekend raises some questions of international law and emphasizes the need to develop safety measures for passenger planes threatened usually by persons from other countries.

If any foreign citizens seized an American vessel on the high seas, there would be immediate concern as to what part some foreign government might have played in the episode. The tendency lately has been to take it for granted that the hijackers were merely operating on their own and had no connection with the Cuban government.

But it is unfortunate that, although guilty of a grave crime, the hijackers are not extradited back to the United States from Havana. Not long ago, when the suspected slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., fled to England, the British government promptly cooperated in returning the fugitive to America. This is the responsible attitude of most countries in the world today.

Not long ago, when the suspected slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., fled to England, the British government promptly cooperated in returning the fugitive to America. This is the responsible attitude of most countries in the world today.

Although the United States does not recognize the government in Havana, this does not mean that international law can be disregarded by either.

On many occasions persons have fled from a country and have been given asylum in other lands, but where a crime is involved, the custom is to examine the facts and return those who are suspected of having committed the offenses.

To impel the lives of any of the 90 or 100 passengers and crew members on an airliner is certainly a crime warranting a most severe punishment.

If a government does not wish to place in trial a fugitive accused of such an offense, surely tribunals could be established by the United Nations to pass judgment on those persons charged with forcing a plane outside the boundaries of a country.

Greater precautions could, of course, be taken by the airlines in this country to deter the seizure of the planes. Passengers could be searched before boarding, and credentials identifying them could be carefully examined.

But perhaps the most practical measure would be to place on every airplane which materially reduced two armed guards in plain clothes who would be seated among the passengers. If such a step were widely publicized, it is likely that the number of hijackings would be reduced.

There have been in the last two years at least 17 hijackings of United States planes, plus 11 Latin American planes and one from the Bahamas.

Although only one fatality has occurred, there are risks involved which warrant security measures of maximum effectiveness.

While the Cuban government has not interfered with the return to the United States of passengers who have been forcibly carried to improvement in the relations between Cuba and this country if the hijackers were sent back here for trial.

Some of the hijackers of Latin American planes were Castroists and may have been engaged in espionage for the Cuban government. Many of the hijackers, however, are undoubtedly criminals who are trying to escape from this country and who think they may be protected in Cuba.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Republican leader in the House, has declared that the federal government has a responsibility to take steps to protect airline travel.

In the coming session of Congress, it would not be surprising if proposals were made that would necessitate a discussion between the United States government and the Cuban government through the medium of the Swiss Embassy in Havana in order to find some practicable way to discourage hijacking.

Bob Considine Asks:

Jackie Onassis's Ordeal: How Long Will It Last?

NEW YORK — One could feel only sympathy for Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis on the fifth anniversary of the slaying of her first husband.

However she did that day, or didn't do, evoked criticism. One wonders how long that particular kind of ordeal will last.

With the brutal murders of her husband and brother-in-law Sen. Robert Kennedy this mother of two growing children found herself in need of a man who could guide, protect and direct her young.

A couple of years ago a demoted woman pounced on Caroline as the child and her mother were leaving mass at St. Ignace Loyola on Park Avenue, claved the child and screamed terrible nightmarish things about the mother and the dead president.

Several days later, while walking John home from his school on the third anniversary of his father's death, a little group of John's classmates followed them. One of the kids kept chanting, "Your father's dead, your father's dead, your father's dead."

I believe the reports that the woman who set the ultimate standards for courage under great pressure, during the murder, wailing and burial of her first husband, will leave this country and take up residence abroad.

Charles A. Lindbergh was driven to it, and probably would be a British citizen today if World War II had not erupted just after he moved his beleaguered family there.

There's a 4,000-book library at the Gen. Douglas MacArthur memorial at Norfolk, Va. The patient curator, Philip Brown, formerly of the National Archives in Washington, pines over what it might have been.

I've been told that the MacArthur Library once numbered 40,000 volumes," he told me recently. "His father started it, and the son expanded it. It was perhaps the greatest collection of books about war, military concepts and such."

"MacArthur had it shipped from Washington to Manila when he went there in the middle 1930s to build up the Commonwealth's military forces. When the Japanese invaded Manila, he ordered all U.S. warehouses blown up. The 40,000 books were in one of the warehouses."

"An aide reminded him that his treasure of books was in one of the warehouses."

"Blow it up," MacArthur ordered."

Suggestion to Parents on Training Children

Every year Halloween tricks continue through the Christmas holidays. Why? Parents, teach your children to put things in their proper category. Eggs and vegetables are to be eaten. Soap is to wash with. You could be rewarded with healthier, cleaner families. There are no bad children — parents just train them that way.

'Welfare and Projects Eat Up Tax Dollars'

Foolish wars are not the only things that eat up our dollars. In ten years the number of people on public welfare has increased 50 per cent to 8.2 million, while the cost has skyrocketed nearly 120 per cent to almost $7 billion. Some of the taxpayers' "small change" goes to a government project which has given $5,000 for analysis of violin varnish used prior to 1737, $20,000 to study German cockroaches; and $11,782 for a social history of French medicine from 1789-1815.

OLD FUDDY

Letters Discuss Waterford Township Taxes

When the parents of Kettering students must raffie off a TV set to provide film and football equipment, it's time to find out where our tax money is going. We must defeat the bond and millage issues in the upcoming school election. We are taxed heavily enough for what we get for our money. Give our school superintendent $50,000 a year if you like, but provide for the kids first.

GEORGE MOREY
4011 W. WALTON, DRAYTON PLAINS

If the gentleman who bought his house in Waterford Township in 1947, and objects to continued taxes, will give us his name, we will make a free appraisal of his home to convince him that the taxes he has paid have been the best money he has ever invested. We believe that through fine schools and past improvements he will have more than doubled his original investment.

JACK W. KENT
1309 PONTIAC STATE BANK BLVD

Wake up, voters of Waterford Township. We don't need men like Bruce Anne and Fredrick Koble to tell us we can afford another raise in our taxes. They were raised with silver spoons in their mouths and had their business handed down to them. How do they know what we working people can afford as far as another raise in taxes is concerned? I am sure they can afford it, but what about the less fortunate and the retirees?

Question and Answer

We live across from a gas station and all night young boys race their motors and squeal their tires. Some nights we get very little sleep. We've called Waterford police several times, but it seems to do no good. What can we do?

WONDERING

REPLY

You live from a very busy commercial intersection across from an all night gas station, so you will probably have to live with some of that noise. Waterford Police said they'll send someone out on any complaint, but if the offender is gone, there's nothing he can do, unless you have the license number. Failing that, you might talk to the station owner and see if he will help identify the offenders. You said other neighbors had complained, so maybe if enough of you get together, you can work out a plan with the owner.

Question and Answer

Recently in a custody hearing, both parents, their lawyers and Friend of the Court were notified of a two week postponement. However, the judge ruled on the original date. Who grants postponements and how could the judge make a fair ruling with none of the parties present?

INTERESTED IN CHILDREN

REPLY

You gave us no details of the case, and your phone is unlisted. Consequently, we can only give you a general answer. The assignment clerk issues postponements, and Mr. Teus is the Oakland County attorney who handles cases for the judge you named. You might talk to either one of them. It seems unlikely the judge made a ruling with no one present, and it was up to the attorneys involved to find out why this happened, if these are the complete facts. Is it possible the lawyer slipped up? Or are you an interested bystander who might not have given all the details? We suggest you check out all these possibilities.

Nixon Aware of Adviser Problem

By RAYMOND MOLEY

President-elect Nixon has indicated that he plans to reduce the size and influence of the president's inner staff of advisers. This, like so many New Year's resolutions, may not outlast the winter. But it shows that he understands what has become a serious disarrangement in the federal establishment.

MOLEY

Woodrow Wilson, like most of his predecessors, had only one male secretary. The faithful and politically sophisticated Joseph Patrick Tumulty not only arranged the President's appointments but was the contact with the press and the liaison with Congress and the Cabinet.

Herbert Hoover had three men with the title of secretary and also a man who was called special assistant to the president.

When FDR became president the jealous Louis Howe assumed sole title to the office of secretary and reduced Marvin McIntyre and Stephen Early to assistant secretaries. And he abolished the office of assistant.

REORGANIZATION ACT

After Howe's death and in the second Roosevelt term, Congress passed the Reorganization Act. This provided for six "assistants to the president." They were, according to one of the authors of the legislation, to have a "passion for anonymity," a phrase attributed to Sir Morris Hankley.

long secretary of the British cabinet. Needless to say, these were not anonymous people. They were both seen and heard. And during World War II all sorts of advisers and functionaries accumulated in the White House.

In the Eisenhower years advisers and specialists gathered like flies on a fruit cake. Over them loomed Sherman Adams as a sort of exalted prime minister.

It was in the Eisenhower era when there was an unprecedented growth of the White House staff. The budget for fiscal 1962, which was prepared by President Eisenhower, estimated the total cost of the White House staff at $2,112,000. This was to cover 272 people.

Some of this was for the many factotums who shuffle papers and maintain the routine business of the executive office. The physical maintenance of the place is another category.

But in the Camelot era President Kennedy enlarged his staff with quite an array of well-known and well-publicized personalities. Presumably, this was to win the "intellectuals" of the country by giving some of them a piece of the action. This cost an additional $250,000 in the 1964 budget.

Lyndon Johnson, with some what less accent upon the academic, but with more pay, enlarged the estimates until in the present fiscal year 1969 the figure reached $3,299,000 of which $2,707,000 is for salaries.

But the most interesting evidence of growth is that there is provision for 14 people with salaries up to $30,000. This is beyond the compensations of most college presidents and is only a rather small margin below that of Cabinet members. And it was recently reported that the first Nixon designee as a presidential assistant, Bryce Harlow, is to get the top figure mentioned above.

The nonpecuniary advantages of those top positions are considerable. Their letters go on prestigious White House stationery and their telephones are on the White House board. And when they decide to leave they are eagerly sought by private agencies for jobs in the $100,000 range.

CONSEQUENCE OF GROWTH

The unfortunate consequence of the great growth of the White House staff is that it diminishes the responsibility and prestige of the Cabinet office. Surrounded as he was by superadvisers, why should the president use the Cabinet as counsel? In fact, JFK called fewer and fewer Cabinet meetings. Why consult the secretary of state when he had under his roof the ex-Harvard dean, McGeorge Bundy, and the royal historian, Arthur Schlesinger? And also brother Robert.

It will be well if the new president should restore the official Cabinet to its historical role — a real council of advisers. And Richard Nixon should know that better than anyone else. For when President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack, "prime minister" Adams took over and Vice President Nixon was allowed only a seat in the Adams office.

Superintendent Details Waterford's Needs

This allows us to construct the school buildings that we need during this period of rapid growth, and later as the growth levels off we will then continue to levy 8 mills to repay the school bond loan.

Q: When will the district face its next construction program?

A: It appears that the current construction program will satisfy the school housing requirements for perhaps as many as 10 years. It is necessary to vote now on this proposal if we are to avoid sufficient construction time to have the junior high school ready by 1971 and the elementary school by 1970.

ENOUGH CLASSROOMS

These facilities, along with the additions, will give the school district enough classrooms to last for a minimum of five and perhaps up to 10 to 12 years.

Q: Is Waterford school construction expensive?

A: It has not been expensive compared with others. Construction costs traditionally have been considerably less than those of similar schools built in other communities at the same time.

In addition, the district uses repeated designs and carefully plans its buildings for future additions as methods of saving costs.

Each time a project is planned its specifications are reviewed carefully to assure that there are no unnecessary spaces which would add to the cost.

Also, the district negotiates for nominal architect's fees and selects architects based on their ability to produce soundly built but reasonably priced schools.

Q: Why would we build new school buildings when we can't afford to operate the ones we have now?

A: If it appeared that our inability to operate the schools was to be a permanent situation and we were to indefinitely embark on a period of half-day sessions, then, of course, we would not build any further facilities.

But the administration and the board of education has to accept the present operating difficulties as temporary problems which are ultimately to be resolved.

When they are resolved, we would need the facilities we presently have plus ones proposed if we were to house all of the children on a regular basis.

LEAD TIME VITAL

The lead time required for new facilities is such that if we don't authorize the construction now they won't be ready at the time that we need them. Further than this, if we delay the construction of these facilities the prices will inflate further making these same facilities more expensive to build later.

Q: Could some construction projects be abandoned to save funds for operation?

A: No. Construction funds are earmarked for construction. They may not be used for operation.

Q: When will these new school buildings be needed?

A: The new elementary school is needed by September 1970, and the new junior high school by September 1971. We are asking voter approval to build them now so that they will be ready by the time the children are ready to occupy them.

For one or two years it will be necessary to divide ninth grades between the junior and senior high schools we now have. But by 1971, we will have overflowed the facilities we now have and the fourth junior high school will be needed.

Q: What is the picture for future growth and school construction?

A: With the completion of the program in this construction we will have space for about 21,000 school children. We could reach to as many as 50,000 school pupils by 1990 to 2010.

CAN BE ENLARGED

However, though we will eventually more than double our school population we will not need to double the number of school buildings we have since most of the existing schools and the ones planned for the future can be enlarged to meet the space requirements.

Further, we should be able to finance our construction needs for the indefinite future within the revenues derived within our present 8-mill debt levy.

We will need to continue that 8-mill debt levy until our school bond loan is paid to the State of Michigan as well as retiring the bonds held by our bond holders. Construction and equipment moneys are not the difficult part of financing Waterford Schools. It's finding the operating funds.

Traffic Ills Increase

Construction of "flare-offs" or right-hand lanes in addition to the regular traffic lanes to allow turning vehicles an opportunity to get out of faster-moving traffic and prevent stack-ups at corners.

STATE JURISDICTION

Nepling said that since West Huron is part of the state highway system (M59) the state has responsibility and jurisdiction over the road.

The State Highway Department, he said, intends to take some steps to provide improvement. He said that the department wishes to widen West Huron from West Wide Track to State to relieve some congestion by 1970.

Nepling said he also wants concurrent work on the flare-offs and a realignment of the State-Williams intersection.

This would require realigning State to bring it more at a right angle to West Huron and establishing three lanes on Williams — one for left turns at the West Huron intersection.

AT ONE POINT

At one point it was thought the congestion along West Huron between West Wide Track and Saginaw would be relieved by a state highway-city program to ban parking on the street, making it a five-lane route — two lanes in each direction with a center lane for only left turns.

Opposition from some merchants along the south side of West Huron led to the City Commission directing the city staff to oppose this move — by the State Highway Department — at a Lansing public hearing.

The merchants signed petitions protesting the parking ban but did not appear at the public hearing. The administration then was put into the position of being against a move which they feel would improve the flow of traffic because of the City Commission feeling that the merchants should be protected.

Although the hearing took place several months ago a final decision has not been reached by the State Highway Department.

MAY BE JUSTIFIED

Nepling said that perhaps because of the increased number of customers in the downtown area — due to the parking malls — removal of the parking and meters on West Huron may be justified.

Of all the traffic aids, the most difficult and most expensive would be the grade separation and overpass at the Grand Trunk Western Railroad crossing of West Huron.

There are no current engineering studies to show the cost, he said, but a good estimate of an overpass bridge could cost more than $350,000.

He said total costs for street realignment, acquisition of property and related expenses, might bring total cost of the project to $1 million.

Antimilitary Ball

CINCINNATI (AP) — An underground newspaper circulating on the Xavier University campus and pledged to an anti-war theme says it will stage its own "coming out" party when the ROTC holds its military ball Dec. 7. It will be tagged the antimilitary ball, the newspaper "Attempt" said.

Make Rules When Dating First Begins

By ELIZABETH L. PSOT

Parents and teen-agers alike face the beginning of a girl's dating life with a certain amount of confusion and trepidation. Both think that they know more than the other.

The parents must resist the temptation to say "We had to do this and so when we were your age." You, the teen-ager, on the other hand, must not fall back on that over-worked, "But everyone else can do it, why can't I?" Along with these attitudes go all the natural fear that every young girl has about her own popularity and social success.

Parents can, and should, of course, insist that certain standards be maintained. Number of dates, hours, places to go, and with whom, are legitimately within their jurisdiction. Their decisions, however, should be tempered by consideration of local customs and accepted dating practices, and about this you may well know more than they.

Parents should help by giving you advice, but if there is still doubt or disagreement, these few simple rules, with a liberal dose of common sense, may solve some problems. They may not make you the belle of the ball, but at least they will help you to relax and enjoy yourself.

When you first start dating, at 12 or 13, do it in groups. Go to movies or to dances or, for more inexpensive dates, school games, at-home parties or picnics. You won't have your own transportation, but an obliging parent may take you and your friends where you want to go and pick you up later.

LEARN TALK

The most important thing you can do at this stage is just to get used to being together and learn how to talk to boys and girls and feel comfortable with each other.

After about a year, you can start branching out into single dates for movies or school dances. If the party you are attending is not within walking distance, a parent or older brother or sister should still drive you there and pick you up, or public transportation may serve.

By the time you are 15, you will be dating for many events. To avoid trouble and future fights at home, sit down with your parents and try to arrive at a sensible curfew hour with respect to the event that you are attending.

Be sure to tell your parents where you are going. After a date, girls can invite the boys into their houses, if their parents are home, but not if the house is empty.

When you're having a party, the first rule is not to make it on a night when your parents are away. That is a sure way of getting into trouble and "blowing your reputation." Even if nothing has happened, your friends' parents will undoubtedly hear that there was no chaperon and you might well find yourself friendless.

PCAC, Public Schools Cooperate in Art Venture

By YOLANDA BENAVIDES

School on a six-day basis has, by tradition, been sighted by the younger set with anything but enthusiasm. Unless, that is, one's referring to the Saturday sessions at the Pontiac Creative Arts Center.

Here, for the second experimental class year, a hand-picked crop of creatively artist-minded youngsters busy themselves exploring the world of their own imagination.

The session, a joint venture on the part of the PCAC and the Pontiac Public School System, is constructed around a ten-class program. Groups are loosely divided into the grammar school set and junior and high school students.

COOPERATION

All work materials for the program are financed by the school system with facilities and staff provided by the Center.

Students, (there are now some 30) are chosen for their ability by their individual school instructors and principals.

Once their names have been submitted, the Center takes over the programming and instructions under the supervision of Mrs. Raymond Hayes, PCAC educational instructor.

"Freshness of imagination is what I emphasize with my students," says Tim Haven, who instructs the latter half of Saturday's group.

While Haven dislikes the use of the term "class for the creatively gifted" (he feels all children are relatively gifted), he finds the majority of his students more dedicated to the class goals.

ADVANCED OUTLOOK

"This group is mentally mature for an advanced approach to art apart from a school art class and this is my intent," he says.

In the same vein, however, Haven declines any role as critic of their efforts.

"My place is not to give criticism but to give them room to experiment with what they can do," he added.

For added stimulation, Haven frequently calls on the use of new materials and concepts unknown in a public school setting.

Among the areas he has stressed are work with collage, papier mache, painting on water-resistant pastels and clay sculpturing.

A new approach that Haven, who is studying for his masters degree in art at Cranbrook Art Academy, would like to utilize for the spring session, is the assembling of a set of puppets for a stage show.

With the conclusion of this week, the fall session will likewise end. But according to all past indications from instructors, planners, and students, experiment Saturday session is making the grade.

Allows No New Habits at 100th Birthday Party

MONROE (UPI) — A 100th birthday celebration is set for Friday for Sister Hortense but nuns wearing the new habits are not invited.

"I don't like those short habits the Sisters are wearing — they're kilts," she said firmly.

Sister Hortense was a housekeeper for 50 years at the IHM Order motherhouse here and in convents at Detroit, Wyandotte and Port Huron, before retiring 21 years ago.

One of the younger nuns reported Sister Hortense probably wouldn't care for the English Mass either, but she's a bit hard of hearing and still thinks it's in Latin.

CONSTANT HEADER

DEAR READER: Those "bells" don't ring out the same message to everyone. To some it signals "the last call for supper" while to others, it's a prelude to a heavenly romance. Some bells are cracked, and some listeners have a hearing loss, so tell your friend not to wait too long or she's apt to wind up with the Good Humor man.

DEAR ABBY: To my great disappointment, I find that my wife's obstetrician does not permit the husband to be present in the delivery room to witness his wife giving birth. I would like to know from whom these OB doctors expect to get paid for their services.

DEAR RESENTFUL: The husband usually pays. I'm sure. But he pays for the services the doctor performs. Not for a front row seat to the performance.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our forties and this is the second marriage for both of us. We were recently blessed with a beautiful baby girl who was born five months early. (She is now 8 months old.) My husband's whole family, including his ex-wife and teen-aged children, know nothing about our marriage and baby. He says he prefers to keep it that way for the time being as they may be bitter or angry with him.

This is so hard for me. Abby: I should think his family would be happy to know that he is not alone, but happily married and the father of a beautiful baby girl.

Should I take it upon myself to send them pictures of me and the baby? Or should I wait until he is ready, which could be in a year or more.

It's Tardy Bell for Her; She Can't Wait for More

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: It is possible for a 50-year-old woman to still hear "bells" ring when she meets the right man? I have a friend who has had many opportunities to marry, but she has held off because she was waiting to hear "bells" ring. Should she wait any longer? Or should she settle for less?

DEAR READER: Those "bells" don't ring out the same message to everyone. To some it signals "the last call for supper" while to others, it's a prelude to a heavenly romance. Some bells are cracked, and some listeners have a hearing loss, so tell your friend not to wait too long or she's apt to wind up with the Good Humor man.

DEAR ABBY: To my great disappointment, I find that my wife's obstetrician does not permit the husband to be present in the delivery room to witness his wife giving birth. I would like to know from whom these OB doctors expect to get paid for their services.

(She is now 8 months old.) My husband's whole family, including his ex-wife and teen-aged children, know nothing about our marriage and baby. He says he prefers to keep it that way for the time being as they may be bitter or angry with him.

This is so hard for me. Abby: I should think his family would be happy to know that he is not alone, but happily married and the father of a beautiful baby girl.

Should I take it upon myself to send them pictures of me and the baby? Or should I wait until he is ready, which could be in a year or more.

DEAR BEWILDERED: Don't send any pictures of yourself and the baby. I think your husband is being childish to "hide" the truth from his family, but if that's the way he wants it, let it lay.

DEAR ABBY: I offered to give a bride-to-be a bridal shower, and I asked her for a list of guests she wanted me to include.

On her list were two ladies who are bitter enemies. (This is no secret.)

I told the bride-to-be that I couldn't invite those two ladies to the same party, and suggested that one of them be put on another list.

The bride's mother then informed me that she was responsible for the guest list, and that I had no authority to take anyone off that list. She said she had never heard about the "feud" between these two women, which seems impossible to me.

What does one do in such an awkward position?

DEAR HOSTESS: If you are giving the shower, why then is the bride's mother "responsible" for the guest list? It's your party. Use your own judgment.

DEAR ABBY: I am a married girl (22) and my husband is 26. I have a brother-in-law (21) who is getting married soon. He and his fiancée are planning a nice wedding, but they don't have much money. They are counting on the wedding gifts of cash to pay for the wedding dinner and reception, as many couples do.

They came right out and told us that the wedding dinner will cost $675 a plate. My husband and I are both working and we expect to pay our share, but how about the other folks? Should they be told how much the dinner will cost so they'll be sure to give at least enough to cover it?

DEAR WANTS: That "many couples" count on wedding gifts of cash to pay for the dinner and reception is news to me. If the bride's parents cannot pay for the wedding, the bride then pays for it herself. In any case, I have never heard of a wedding where the guests go "Dutch."

DEAR ABBY: Ever since I was 13 I have liked Rick, the boy who lives across the street from me. I just turned 16 and Rick is 18. Last year, when I was only 15, Rick asked my mother when I could date. She told him when I reached 16. Well, I have been 16 for two weeks already and Rick hasn't asked me out yet. Maybe he doesn't know I'm 16 now.

Rick had a girl friend, but one of my friends told me he didn't like her that much anymore. What should I do?

DEAR WAITING: Wait.

DEAR ABBY: I'm writing in reference to "WORRIED," who stated her dilemma about whether to tell her neighbor with a four-year-old boy about the teenager on their street who has molested children. You said, YES, by all means tell her.

I say, YES, YES, YES, tell her immediately! We lived on our street for two years with our two beautiful pre-school-age daughters, when we learned that a neighbor had a history of child molesting. When I mentioned this to several neighbors to warn them to watch their children closely, they said they already knew about it, but no one wanted to tell us for fear of "upsetting" us.

To keep silent when one knows of an evil is to condone it. If one of my neighbors had been molested, those silent neighbors would have been morally guilty.

NO NAME, PLS.

CONFIDENTIAL: T.O.L. OF PHILLY: Yes, sex is "natural." But so is eating. Uncivilized people control their appetites. They don't walk into a bakery and grab everything that looks good to them.

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, in care of the Pontiac Press, Dept. E-68, P.O. Box 9, Pontiac, Mich. 48056 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Children of Large Families Not as Bright'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A leading government psychiatrist today urged the Nation's "social pacemakers" to have fewer children. He said offspring from large families usually are not as bright.

Dr. E. James Lieberman, chief of the Public Health Service's center for studies of child and family mental health, said "extra stress and strain on the family" from too many children exhausts the parents and deprives children of proper care.

Lieberman predicted many middle class parents who now have three or four children would be satisfied with one or two if they could pick each child's sex in advance. In perhaps 20 years, he said, we will probably be able to choose the sex of offspring.

Too many families now have a third or fourth child to soften the blow if one dies, Lieberman said in an interview, even though "in our society almost 100 per cent of the children survive."

"The country cannot afford an extra child for every family as insurance," he said. In a paper presented to a recent medical meeting, Lieberman said the U.S. birth rate is about 3.2 children per couple, "ahead of most other industrialized countries."

"This growth is due not to uncontrolled reproduction among the poor, but to the deliberate attainment of three and four children by the better-off majority of our population," he said. "In fact, the poor prefer smaller families than the average but attainment of their goals has been more difficult."

The three and four child family seems to be gaining as an ideal. When you go above two children or certainly three, for most parents the mother and father just don't have the time and energy to raise the family and the children begin to suffer.

Lieberman, 34, a father of two, cited studies including one in Scotland "which showed progressive decline in intelligence score with increasing family size regardless of social class."

In the United States, he said,

Go Well With Ponto

Chunky-heeled shoes make great accessories for the ever-popular pants suits. They're comfortable and attractive, the perfect design for anyone who is fashion-minded.

"70 per cent of selective service mental rejects come from families of four children or more, although only 33 per cent of the nation's children come from such families."

Another study, he said, contradicts the belief that "children from large families are more self-reliant and mature."

"In the nursery school setting they demand more frequent contact with teacher than their peers from small families, which the scientists theorize is due to relative maternal deprivation at home," he said.

BIRTH SIGNS

Even at birth, there are significant differences, the infants from smaller families being more vigorous and responsive.

Wedding Plans Are Announced

William J. Mathus of Camp Oakland, Oxford, is announcing the engagement of Catherine Howick to Edward D. Sherman. He is the son of the W. Don Shermans of Kalamazoo.

Catherine is a graduate of a two-year executive secretarial course at Ferris State College where her fiancé is a senior. A Dec. 21 wedding is planned.

Lieberman said studies in themselves should prompt England indicate that "physical 'social pacemakers' to lower development also seems to be the national birthrate to two related by increased family children per family."

"The more affluent members of society cannot merely sanction small families for the poor, hold down population growth as if those with less money coupled with harmful effects of should have less children," he said. Large families on the children said.

It's Time to Consider Gift Tax Exemptions

By MARY FEELEY
Consultant in Money Management
Consultant in Money

This may be the first year your estate looks like it's growing fat enough to suggest you might want to start giving some of it away. There's another reason, too, why the gift tax exemption may be significant to you this year: you may be reaching the age where the disposition of your estate is more of your mind.

Tax exemptions on gifts of money—or for that matter, real estate, bonds, stocks or other property—can be very attractive under the present tax set-up. There's this thought to keep in mind: if you do plan to make any gifts, so that your estate will benefit from the tax break, you have nothing to gain by thinking it over for a few years.

The word is out that among the many tax reforms being discussed in high places, one of the favorite targets is the gift tax package.

The thinking in some official quarters is that the present gift tax rulings offer too juicy and opportunity for potential big tax sources to get out from under a substantial tax liability, in perfectly legal maneuvering.

Even though the gift tax exemption helps the modest estate save some in its estate tax problems, and that's okay, it may help the big one too much. Very often gifts are also made by parents to children in order to save income tax liability.

Just when any drastic changes might be made in these rulings is anybody's guess, but there's a lot of conversation going on about the subject.

EXEMPTION

Be that as it may, as things stand now, you might want to analyze your assets before the end of the year. If you decide to make any gifts over $3,000 to any one person this year, you'll have to file Form 709 by the same date your 1968 federal income tax is due, April 15, 1969.

Filing this form is required whether there's any tax due on your gift or not. While it's the amount over $3,000 which may be subject to tax, you have an additional lifetime exemption of $30,000 ($50,000 for a married couple) which can be used to cover the more-than-$3,000 gifts.

A gift of $3,000 or under doesn't require you to fill out Form 709 and file it. However, it might still be a good idea to go ahead and do it anyway. An accountant I was talking to remarked that while reporting a $3,000 gift—or less—wasn't generally done or recommended, it sometimes makes very good sense to go on record that a certain transaction was actually a gift.

Especially where there's no other evidence to support the claim. He cited the case of a client whose husband had died and left her all the stock in the family business. Her two sons help run the shop. She gives them each a share of stock every year as a gift—a little less than $3,000 each time. She reports each gift on Form 709. She wants to be sure that these gifts can never get involved in estate taxes.

NO TAX

While the government taxes the donor rather than the recipients for all such gifts made, gift tax rates are lower than estate tax rates. You pay no tax as the donor if you don't give more than $3,000 each year to any one person or $6,000 by a married couple.

In no event does the beneficiary of the gift pay any income tax on it.

You won't want to give away a dime, of course, without first discussing your plans with your lawyer and your tax accountant. Their advice on a gift program is better than yours. If you must file Form 709 next April, it should be filed with the District Director of Internal Revenue for the district in which your legal residence or principal place of business is located.

If neither of these is located in an Internal Revenue district, then the gift tax form should be filed with the Director of the Office of Internal Operations, Internal Revenue Service, Washington, D.C. 20225.

Reagan Rift Delays Cabinet Job for Aide

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—"But I can't see anyone being his political supporters generally," California Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch's entrance into a top job in President-elect Richard M. Nixon's administration is being delayed because he and Gov. Ronald Reagan haven't agreed on a successor, sources close to both men indicated today.

Finch's friends said he has been offered a Cabinet job and wants to accept it if he and Reagan can get together on a new No. 2 man for the California state government. Finch, who ran Nixon's 1960 presidential campaign, is one of the president-elect's closest advisers.

Reagan is considered more conservative than Finch, and

ROBERT H. FINCH

Finch, who polled more votes than Reagan when both were elected in 1966, has said he wants to run for political office in California in the future, preferably for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Republican George Murphy.

But Murphy reportedly has told Finch he will seek another term in 1970 — and Finch isn't likely to shatter party unity by challenging him in a primary.

PICKS 'TOO LIBERAL'

Sources said Finch has proposed names backed by Republicans whom many Reagan supporters consider "too liberal." Among them are Robert T. Moynihan, scheduled to be the new GOP speaker of the State Assembly, and Assemblyman John G. Veneman of Modesto, who has frequently opposed Reagan on tax matters.

Reagan's choices, sources said, included National Committee member Reed; Dr. Gaylord Parkinson, the former GOP state chairman who helped plan the 1966 victory; and Gordon Luce, the chief of the state's transportation agency.

The Senate is split 20-20 between the parties with Republican Finch now casting the deciding vote in the rare case of a tie.

Whooping Crane Flock Is Settled for Winter

AUSTWELL, Tex. (UPI) — If you've seen 49 wild whooping cranes, you've seen them all. Some 43 adult cranes — including two bachelors — and six youngsters have settled down for the winter at the Aransas Wildlife Refuge in Austwell.

The Interior Department said this represented the entire U.S. population of the nearly extinct giant birds.

This is an increase of one bird since the whoopers left Texas for the Canadian wilds after last winter. Gordon Hanfen, the refuge manager, said six birds made their first journey to Texas this year.

3 MORE COMING

He also said three more birds may arrive although yesterday was the last date the cranes traditionally arrive.

In their fight to save themselves from extinction, whooping cranes do not believe in the strength-in-numbers adage. Birds of the whooping crane feather definitely do not flock together.

"The birds live in family groups," Hanfen said. "When they arrive at the refuge, they stake out their territories in which they and their families will spend the winter."

Although the cranes will allow ducks and geese to wander over their territorial boundaries, the head of a whooping crane family will not allow a fellow crane to invade his property.

LINES ARE RESPECTED

"The other birds usually respect these imaginary lines until spring, and then we may have a minor scuffle of two," Hanfen said.

Hanfen reported the two bachelors in the group have staked out small territories off by themselves.

Nixon's Aid Sought to Streamline Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two aid Nixon point to the need for Republican members of Congress to pass legislation during the coming year to streamline what one calls the "bureaucratic thicket" of federal government.

Sen. James B. Pearson of Kansas said Monday he planned to reintroduce early in January enabling legislation to set up another Hoover commission.

Pearson cosponsored similar legislation in the last Congress where said Monday he has spoken with Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn. It passed the Senate but never came to a vote in the House.

"I was pleased to hear Ribicoff spent months trying to catalogue the number and variety of various grant-in-aid and other federal assistance programs and ran into a series of roadblocks by various agencies."

Roth said there are such a bewildering variety of federal aid programs that even Congressmen have difficulty determining what is available.

CHANCES EXCELLENT

"Considering that the bill passed the Senate last session and in view of Mr. Nixon's attitude, I think the chances for its final passage in 1969 are excellent," he said.

Rep. William V. Roth of Delaware said Monday he has spoken to Nixon about his own effort to streamline the government in a similar vein, and never came to a vote in the House.

Both spent months trying to Hipple, now western director of public relations for American Airlines, was the Associated Press war correspondent on the beach at Tarawa atoll in the Western Pacific Ocean when the Marines landed 25 years ago. He returned to Tarawa this week to commemorate the anniversary.)

TARAWA, Gilbert Islands — Exactly 25 years later we came ashore to this lonely atoll astride the Equator in the mid-Pacific where 5,800 men had died for their beliefs in four days of vicious fighting.

This time we were met by happy, dancing Gilbertese natives in grass skirts and flowered print clothing and piled with freshly cut coconuts filled with sweet cool milk. White-clad British officials welcomed us with handshakes and bows.

Very few of these people were the same. Our party of five, who had been on the original invasion, was led by Gen. David M. Shoup, former commander of the U.S. Marines and Medal of Honor winner for his heroic leadership on this island.

Gen. Shoup came out of retirement for eight days to represent the United States at formal ceremonies commemorating the 25th anniversary of the assault.

of Marine and naval forces against this Japanese-held fortress.

PLAQUE DEDICATED

The plaque which Gen. Shoup dedicated at the end of the pier on Betio, the tiny one-half square mile island of this atoll where the assault took place, says, "This was the first American assault against a fortified atoll—the testing ground for Marine amphibious doctrine and techniques that paved the way for the island campaigns that followed and saved thousands of American lives along the road to victory in the Pacific."

Of course, it could not tell the full story of the 1,067 U.S. Marines killed and 2,292 wounded and 4,690 Japanese dead.

British, Australian, New Zealand and Gilbert and Ellice Island officials participated with Gen. Shoup and U.S. Vice Consul Peter Maher from Fiji in the dedication of the monument.

GREATEST THRILL

The day before held the greatest thrill for those of us who had been there. We flew in over Tarawa from Kwajalein, circling the 30-mile long series of islands in our C-119 Hercules turboprop flown by Maj. Marvin Mann of Goshen, Ind.

As we came over little Betio, Gen. Shoup, peering from a porthole, exclaimed, "My God, look at those thousands of palm trees. There were only a couple left intact when we left here."

There is a new pier on Betio now, built close to the one on which or nearby so many Marines died. As we approached by sea, there were three amphibious tractors resting on the reef. On the other side of the pier, we saw several LVTs—landing vehicle tanks—still resting there. Farther out was the bulk of a Japanese freighter which we remembered so well. Japanese troops had fired from it on the first morning, inflicting heavy casualties on boats trying to get over the reef and on men wading ashore.

Our launch crept slowly down the right of the pier on the exact route I had taken to shore with the second wave of the 2nd Battalion, 2nd Marine Regiment on the morning of Nov. 20, 1943 under murderous fire. Our battalion commander, Lt. Col. Hersey R. Army, had been shot through the head a few feet from me as we waded in after our amtrak was hit.

BRITONS REMEMBER

This time we were met at the beach by the British district commissioner, R.E.N. Smith. He led us back on the pier to display the 20-foot monument which the British have erected on their own volition. The British plaque, to be dedicated with the U.S. plaque the following day, said, "In memory of those who fell—November 1943."

Warsaw Pact Council Opens Amid Rumors

VIENNA (AP) — A military conference of Warsaw Pact countries opened in Bucharest today amid rumors of new Kremlin pressure on Romania to allow Soviet troops on her territory for joint maneuvers.

A brief announcement said the four-day meeting was called to "analyze problems of combat training." Soviet Marshal Ivan Yakubovsky, the alliance's military commander, was presiding.

The Romanian president and Communist party chief, Nicolae Ceausescu, is known to have turned down earlier Soviet requests for maneuvers following the invasion of Czechoslovakia, which was preceded by Warsaw Pact maneuvers that brought Soviet, East German and Polish troops into Czechoslovakia. Recently Ceausescu indicated no joint military exercises would be held in Romania this year.

However, western observers feel that Ceausescu cannot still indefinitely and eventually will agree to maneuvers next spring.

But these sources say he insists on safeguards before he gives his approval, including a guarantee that Soviet and other foreign troops will leave the country immediately after the maneuvers.

Gen. Shoup was anxious to find his old command post, a Japanese bunker leached with concrete, steel and coconut tree logs, near Red Beach Two, right of the pier, where he had established headquarters that first morning as commander of the 2nd Regiment 2nd Marine Division.

Police Instruction

A Police Instructor Training Course will be offered at the Oakland Police Academy at that spot to Gen. Julius Smith's headquarters on board the battleship Maryland the second afternoon: "Casualties: many. Township, from Dec. 9 to 17. Percentage dead: not known. Combat efficiency: we are winning."

Detroit Latest to Adopt Plan

Bus-Holdup Defense 'Success'

By the Associated Press

A plan to cut down on bus driver holdups by requiring passengers to put the exact fare in a robbery-proof box is being called a success in six of the nation's largest cities and is spreading to more.

Robberies of bus drivers, which were running as high as two and three a day, have virtually ended in Baltimore, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, Cleveland, San Francisco and Washington, D.C., since each of those cities adopted the plan.

The system also is in operation in Milwaukee, but police there say it is too soon to evaluate results. Detroit will try the exact fare policy into effect Nov. 30, and New York has taken the program under study.

In at least three cities—Baltimore, Washington and Pittsburgh—the death of a driver during a holdup was partially responsible for the move to adopt the exact fare system.

HOW PLAN WORKS

Although there are variations from city to city, basically the plan works as follows:

The driver carries no change tokens, so the passenger must deposit exact change or a token. If the passenger lacks the right change, he may overpay and be given a refund slip redeemable later. The fare box is locked and the driver does not carry a key.

The one drawback that has emerged is that, in the few instances where a determined bandit has held up a bus anyway, it was not the farebox but the passengers who were robbed. Such instances have so far been the exception.

At the time Baltimore adopted the plan last June, bus driver robberies were averaging two a day. "Now it's unusual to hear of a holdup," says one veteran police observer.

SUCCESS IN CLEVELAND

In Cleveland the exact fare plan went into effect Nov. 3. There was one holdup attempt the same day, but the would-be robber fled when the driver told him he had no change. Police have no record of any bus holdups since.

"I don't think we have had any holdups in Philadelphia since we adopted this plan Sept. 22," said Georg Lloyd, spokesman for the South East Philadelphia Transportation Association.

"We're issuing fewer than 200 rebate slips daily out of 1.5 million riders a day systemwide," Lloyd added. "This means the public is taking it to."

The reason for Detroit's adopting the plan was given by Robert E. Toomey Monday. He said, "In 1966, 11 drivers were robbed. The figure went to 48 in 1967. So far in 1968 over 72 drivers have been robbed."

The success of the exact-fare policy was summed up by a police spokesman in Washington. He said the plan "has cut down robberies 99 per cent. In fact there haven't been any since it started that I know of. It's very effective. They don't have any money, so there's no use robbing them."

Pearson said 70 departments and agencies report directly to the president—"far in excess of any reasonable span of executive control."

Still another example of the need for reform, said Pearson, is that "at present there are approximately 33 federal agencies engaged in 296 consumer protection activities."

"If the quality of American life is to be preserved, we must begin now to examine the bureaucratic thicket that has sprung up in the last 13 years," Pearson said.

Pearson said the field of grant-in-aid programs is a prime example of what can happen when project growth is loosely controlled.

He said "In April 1964, there were approximately 239 such programs. Today there are over 400. And the administration predicted that these programs may quadruple in five years."

Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower suggested during his second term that there was a need for another massive attack-to-cellar exploration of the federal government structure. But there has been nothing like the Hoover Commissions since 1955.

"If the quality of American life is to be preserved, we must begin now to examine the bureaucratic thicket that has sprung up in the last 13 years," Pearson said.

Pearson said the field of grant-in-aid programs is a prime example of what can happen when project growth is loosely controlled.

Javits: Keep at Least One Key Negotiator

NEW YORK (UPI) — President-elect Richard M. Nixon is considering keeping on at least one of America's two chief negotiators at the Vietnam talks in Paris after he takes office.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York, who returned from a two-week fact-finding tour of Europe Friday, said he recommended that either W. Averell Harriman or Cyrus Vance continue on the American negotiating team in the Nixon administration in order to provide continuity to the talks.

Nixon met with Javits, chairman of the political committee of the North Atlantic Alliance, for more than an hour yesterday in his Hotel Pierre headquarters. He got a report from Javits both on his soundings at the NATO ministerial meeting in Brussels and a week-long swing to Germany, France, England and Italy.

In a session with newsmen, Javits said he told Nixon he found America's European allies anxious for an end to the Vietnam war and a general lessening of tensions between the Soviet Union and the United States.

Nixon also met with Sen. John Tower of Texas and Gov. James Rhodes of Ohio yesterday to discuss programs and personnel for his administration. He is putting together the cabinet that will run the government after Jan. 20 and canvassing Republican leaders throughout the country for their opinions.

"He's looking for people with great professional competence who are capable of managing bureaucracy," Tower said when he emerged from the meeting.

Javits said he had also recommended to Nixon that a "consultative group" from the Congress be established to work directly with the negotiators at the Paris talks in an advisory capacity.

There was no indication of Nixon's reaction to this proposal.

Wolverines, Buckeyes Rule All-Big Ten

Johnson, Curtis Are Unanimous; MSU Gets 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State, bound for the Rose Bowl as undefeated champion, landed four spots and runner-up Michigan collected six to dominate the All-Big Ten offensive-defensive 1968 football squad named Tuesday by The Associated Press.

All conference universities but Illinois gained representation on the first team. Purdue placed three men; Minnesota, Iowa and Michigan State two each; and Indiana, Wisconsin and Northwestern each one.

The only unanimous choices by the AP's selection board were Ron Johnson, Michigan's record-breaking runner; defensive back Tom Curtis of the Wolverines, who set an interception mark; and Dave Foley, Ohio State's huge offensive tackle. Chuck Kyle, Purdue middle guard, missed unanimity by one vote.

SECOND TIME

On offense, Johnson and injury-handcapped Leroy Keyes of Purdue repeated from the 1967 No. 1 lineup. Holdovers on defense were Kyle, and Bob Stein of Minnesota and linebacker Ken Criter of Wisconsin. Advancing from the 1967 second team to first were center Jack Rudnay of Northwestern and defensive back Ted Provost of Ohio State.

The squad is one of veterans, although this was an outstanding year for sophomores. Only one rookie made it — Ohio State's roving linebacker John Tatum. Fifteen seniors and six juniors were named.

The offensive line averages 230 pounds, hinged by the Buckeyes' two 6-foot-5 senior tackles, 246-pound Foley and 250-pound Rufus Mayes. Exclusive of the backs, the defense averages 218 pounds.

Winning backfield spots with Johnson and Keyes by close margins were Michigan's Dennis Brown, the Big Ten's total offense leader, and Ed Podolak, making the conversion from quarterback to tailback in Iowa's record-pacing attack.

PASS CATCHERS

Rounding out the defense were Phil Seymour of Michigan; tackles Chuck Bailey, Michigan State, and Tom Coss, Michigan; linebacker Noel Jenke, Minnesota; and back Al Brenner, MSU.

Air Force Junior Captures National Harrier Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ryan, an aspiring fighter pilot who calls Okinawa home, has proven his speed aloft by capturing the NCAA cross country championship in a duel with two Eastern distance stars.

Ryan, a 5-foot-7, 145-pound junior at the Air Force Academy, beat Georgetown's Steve Stageberb by 60 yards Monday for the individual NCAA crown, with Art Dulong of Holy Cross third.

Villanova took the team title for the third straight year although its top finisher, Tom Donnelly, placed eighth in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park. The Wildcats compiled a low score of 78 points. Stanford was second with 101 and Southern California third with 108.

Ryan, who was born in Ithaca, N.Y., but lists his home as Okinawa, where his father is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, took the lead from Dulong at the four-mile mark and won in 29 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

Knee Surgery Slated for Lions' Mel Farr

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Lions' offense is scheduled for knee surgery. Mel Farr, without whom the Lions' offense has been able to produce just three touchdowns over 23 quarters of National Football League play, is slated for an operation Wednesday to repair cartilage damage to his left knee. He will be lost for the duration of the season.

The Detroit halfback, who was leading the NFL in rushing prior to his injury Oct. 27, thus joins Chicago's Gale Sayers as the second No. 1 runner to be felled by knee trouble this season. Sayers underwent surgery three weeks ago to correct more serious torn knee ligaments.

Buckeyes Take Top Spot in AP Poll

By The Associated Press

Ohio State's convincing 50-14 rout of Michigan vaulted the Buckeyes into first place in The Associated Press' weekly major-college football poll Monday, ahead of Southern California, their Rose Bowl Opponent.

Southern Cal had led the poll for six weeks but fell to second place after a hard-fought 28-16 victory over UCLA.

Ohio State's margin was 10 points — 935 to 925 — in the balloting by 50 sports writers and broadcasters across the country, even though Southern Cal received 24½ first-place votes to 21½ for the Buckeyes.

The Buckeyes, Big Ten champions cemented their lead by being named first, second or third on every ballot, while some selectors dropped Southern Cal as low as fourth.

MICHIGAN DROPS

There was little change among the rest of the Top Ten, Penn State, with a 9-0 record like Ohio State and Southern Cal, retained the third spot at 773 points after walloping Pitt 65-9.

Michigan was the hardest hit, bouncing from fourth to 13th.

Idle Georgia hopped from fifth to fourth while Kansas climbed from seventh to sixth by edging Missouri 21-19. Texas, also idle, stayed in sixth place while the rest of the Top Ten — Tennessee, Arkansas, Notre Dame and Houston — each moved up one spot.

Tennessee beat Kentucky 24-7.

Kentucky Grid Post Possible for Pete

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Pete Elliott, former head football coach at the University of Illinois, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Charlie Bradshaw at the University of Kentucky. The university's acting athletic director, Harry Lancaster, confirmed late Monday night that Elliott had been recommended for the head football job at Kentucky.

Elliott reportedly was recommended for the post by Bud Wilkinson, a former coach at Oklahoma.

The former Illinois coach, whose brother, Bump Elliott, is head coach at the University of Michigan, was ousted from his job in February 1967 after a slush fund for athletics was uncovered. He was ordered fired by a board of the Big Ten Conference and the action caused considerable controversy.

Seymour Is All-American; 'M' Stars on Second Team

By United Press International

Six Michigan college football players gained fame today for votes received in the balloting for 1968 United Press International All-American and an expatriate playing at Notre Dame made the coveted first string.

End Jim Seymour was elected All-American end for his play as the target of Notre Dame quarterback Terry Hanratty, who also took first-string honors. Seymour is a senior from Royal Oak.

University of Michigan star halfback Ron Johnson was edged off the first-string in the fierce competition with Southern California's O. J. Simpson, Purdue's Leroy Keyes and Oregon State's Bill Eynart.

Johnson received 38 votes and Eynart 45.

SECOND-STRING

Wolverine teammate Tom Curtis was voted second-string All-American as a defensive back.

Michigan State's Al Brenner was also elected to the second team as a defensive back.

In the honorable mention categories, honors were bestowed upon two Michigan State Spartans, tackle Charles Bailey and linebacker Rich Saul, who suffered a knee injury a few weeks ago. Also given honorable mention was Wolverine defensive back George Hoey. Simpson, who often makes the difficult look easy, accomplished the "impossible" when he got the nation's sports writers and broadcasters to agree on one thing unanimously.

The record-breaking running back from Southern California was a unanimous choice on all 292 ballots cast.

FIRST TIME

It marked the first time in the history of the team — the only All-American chosen by direct vote of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters — that one man was named on all the ballots. The closest previous approach to perfection came in 1966 when end George "Bubba" Smith of Michigan State missed a unanimous vote by seven ballots.

It also marked the second straight year that Simpson, now a senior, had led the voting for the All-American team and for the second year in a row versatile back Leroy Keyes of Purdue, who received votes both on offense and defense, was runner-up with a total of 191 ballots.

OFFENSE

Ends — Jim Seymour, Notre Dame, and Ted Kwalick, Penn State.

Tackles — Dave Foley, Ohio State, and George Kuntz, Notre Dame.

Guards — Charles Rosenfelder, Tennessee, and Guy Dennis, Florida.

Center — John Didion, Oregon State.

Backs — Terry Hanratty, Notre Dame; O. J. Simpson, Southern California; Leroy Keyes, Purdue; and Bill Eynart, Oregon State.

DEFENSE

Ends — Ted Hendricks, Miami Fla. and John Zook, Kansas.

Tackles — Bill Stanfill, Georgia, and Joe Greene, North Texas State.

Middle Guard — Chuck Kyle, Purdue.

Backs — Roger Wehrli, Missouri, Mike Battle, Southern California, Jake Scott, Georgia, and Al Worley, Washington.

Pitt Again Looks for Football Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, once a football power but now just another loser, is searching again for a coach.

The search began Monday when Dave Hart, an enthusiastic but unproductive coach, resigned.

Not since 1963 when Pitt had a 9-1 record has the school had a winner. Hart's three teams shared 1-9 records, but the season just ended may have been the worst.

Opponents racked up 333 points against Pitt, the most in the school's history. Scores like 63-7, 48-0, 50-17 and 65-9 are in the record book.

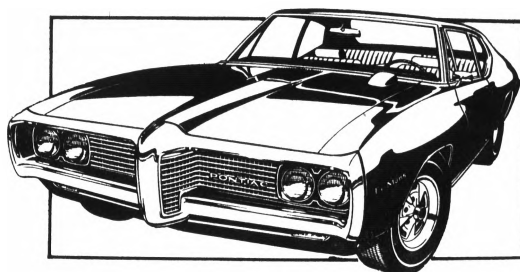

Hart was hired in 1965 to rejuvenate a sliding team under John Michelosen. But Hart's record was worse.

Army QB Doesn't Fit Mold

WEST POINT, N.Y. (AP) — A few of the uninitiated television fans watching the Army-Navy football game Saturday may get a jolt when Steve Lindell pops on the screen as the Army quarterback.

"Do they call that guy a passer?" may be the first astonished remark. "Heavier told him he was a quarterback."

The shock will stem from the fact that Lindell is far from the image of the classic quarterback. Sometimes he throws the ball and over end. Other times the ball seems to wobble and fade in the air.

From his quarterback slot, Lindell scouts and scrambles. He often doesn't follow the pattern. At first glance, it appears he is lost and doesn't know what he is doing.

However, he usually gets the ball away and usually somebody catches it. Statistically, he is the best passer in Army's long and glittering football history.

NOT FOR PROS

"He isn't what you would call a classic passer," says Army Coach Tom Cahill. "I doubt if the pros would be interested in him even if he weren't committed to a military career."

"He's simply a guy who gets the job done. He has been a great inspiration for our team."

When Lindell ends his varsity career against Navy Saturday, he will have wiped out some of the proudest offensive records in Army football, eclipsing marks set by the great Chris Cagle, Carl Stuehweh and Pete Vann.

He already has beaten Cagle's mark for most plays. In three seasons, Lindell has had part in 743 plays compared with Cagle's four-year total of 613 from 1926 through 1929.

As a sophomore in 1966, Lindell had a hand in more plays than any Army player ever—281.

TEAM RECORDS

In passing alone, Lindell has thrown 455 times and completed 227, both Army records, and needs only 15 more yards through the air in the Navy game to surpass the total aerial yardage set by Pete Vann. The latter held the record of 372,164.

The Army quarterback, a six-foot, 180-pounder from Princeton, the little town of Minneapolis, 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, burst into bloom as Army's unorthodox but effective quarterback in 1966, the year that

Outlook Brightens for Bosox Pitcher

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox received a favorable medical report Monday on right-handed pitching star Jose Santiago, who missed the second half of the 1968 season because of elbow tendonitis.

Dr. Thomas Tierney, the Red Sox team physician, said an examination showed that Santiago's arm was "considerably improved."

Santiago, who won nine games before he was stricken by the elbow ailment last June 27, is under orders not to do anything until spring training.

However, he has been given special arm-strengthening exercises by trainer Buddy LeRoux.

passes and 174 completions for 2,915 yards.

Lindell needs only 199 yards more, either running or passing, to overtake Stuehweh's record of 1,471 yards for one season set in 1964.

The Army quarterback, a six-foot, 180-pounder from Princeton, the little town of Minneapolis, 30 miles northwest of Minneapolis, burst into bloom as Army's unorthodox but effective quarterback in 1966, the year that brought Cahill in as head coach. Lindell starred in a 29-7 victory over Navy. Last year he completed 13 of 21 passes for 173 yards and two touchdowns against Utah. This year he scored 26 yards against Pittsburgh and 41 against Boston College for touchdowns and kept Army in the game against Penn State, losing to the unbeaten Nittany Lions 28-24.

"None of it will matter much unless we beat Navy," Lindell said.

Arrasparger said, "and he wants to be."

Bubba was about to open at tackle for the Colts in 1967, but missed almost the entire season after injuring his right knee in a preseason game.

"This is almost like my rookie year," he said. "But I'm picking up little things from each opponent and gaining confidence. If I can get everything together, I might be a decent end."

Bubba also hopes the entire Smith family puts everything together next season.

"Today transferred from Michigan State to Southern California and missed this season," Bubba said. "He'll be a junior next year."

7 Negro Gridders Gather Support at San Jose St.

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—San Jose State's seven embattled Negro football players, in danger of losing their scholarships if they boycott Saturday's game with Brigham Young University, have received support from their counterparts in other sports.

Representatives of the basketball and track teams said at a meeting Monday that the Negroes on those teams and in other sports had all voted to turn in their scholarships if the football players lost theirs.

The football players have said they will refuse to play against BYU here because of alleged racial policies of the Mormon Church, which runs the university.

ONE TOUCHDOWN

The Colts' defense has allowed one touchdown in the last four games and its 100-point yard for the season is the lowest in the league.

"New things still happen to Bubba every week," says Bill Arrasparger, Baltimore's defensive line coach. "But he's reacting well and showing good progress."

"He has the size, speed and quickness to be a great end,"

Midwestern Wins

Midwestern Baptist ran its record to 2-0 Saturday with a 68-57 victory over Grace Bible of Grand Rapids. Don Wingate tossed in 19 points to pace the attack, with help from Dave Smith (18) and Gary Forker (12).

Gate Receipts Dip; Badgers Face Deficit

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — A University of Wisconsin spokesman said Monday the school faces a $175,000 athletic department deficit because of a drop in football game receipts.

Reuben H. Lorenz, associate vice president for finance, said the deficit poses "very serious problems" for the university and added the subject will be on the agenda for the next board of regents meeting Dec. 5.

The Wisconsin football team concluded its second straight winless season Saturday. Attendance for 1968 was 261,349 for six home games and 173,218 for four away games. Last season, the Badger team drew 553,372, including 310,359 fans for six home games. Big Ten schools share a percentage of the gate at out-of-town games.

Camp Randall Stadium, the Badgers' home field, seats 77,000.

Soccer Style Booter 'Big Chief'

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Jan Stenerud hasn't really learned to block, tackle, throw or catch a football. Yet, he may be the most valuable player in the American Football League this season.

The Norwegian soccer-style kicker no longer leads the AFL in scoring and successful field goals, but the Kansas City Chiefs most certainly wouldn't be tied for the Western Division lead without him.

When the Kansas City offense was functioning on about half its cylinders earlier this season because of injuries Stenerud kicked field goals in eight straight games.

He kicked four field goals in a 28-21 victory over Houston and another four in a 20-19 loss to the New York Jets. In a victory over Denver, his two first-half field goals gave the Chiefs a lead until the offense got started. He added two more field goals in a win over Miami.

FOUR BOOTS

Against Buffalo, his four field goals were the difference in a 18-7 victory, and in a 13-7 triumph over Cincinnati, he booted two. His field goal widened Kansas City's halftime lead over Oakland to 17-6 in an eventual victory. And, against San Diego, he kicked two in a 27-20 victory.

"We enjoy the record of 9-2 now because of the great kicking of Stenerud," Coach Hank Stram said. "I really think a pro football team is going to win or lose four to six games a year on the kicking game. It's going to be the difference between winning a championship and coming close."

"We would have won two other championships with sufficient kicking."

In two seasons with the Chiefs, Stenerud has booted 47 of 67 field goal attempts and 73 of 74 extra point attempts.

Not bad for a lanky 6-foot-2, 185-pounder who came to this country on a ski scholarship and started kicking a football almost by accident at Montana State.

Catch Up Football Can Be Dangerous

By DUFFY DAUGHERTY
Head Football Coach
Michigan State University

You may have been wondering all season how a closely fought football game between two evenly matched teams can turn into a one-sided victory. This happens when one team finds it necessary to play what we coaches call "catch up" football.

When one team gets two touchdowns behind in the second half that team invariably will desert its game plan and gamble on plays that have a greater risk involved.

The losing team will start throwing passes on long yardage situations when the defense of the leading team can afford double coverage on receivers. This type of play often ends up in an interception and leads to another touchdown for the team in the lead.

From all accounts this is what happened when Rose Bowl bound Ohio State turned back Michigan 50-14 to give Woody Hayes his fifth Big Ten championship. Two last quarter interceptions helped the Buckeyes roll up their huge margin.

OVERANXIETY

A team often hurries its plays when trailing. Its overanxiety to score in a hurry invariably throws its timing off. Missed assignments and offside occur, and often that old bugaboo of fumbling rears its ugly head.

On the other hand, the team leading by two TDs can play a relaxed brand of football and feel secure in that it will not have to take unnecessary gambles.

The team in the lead often resorts to the ground game to eat up valuable time. The opposing defensive secondary moves up closer to stop the rushing game. This leaves the defense extremely vulnerable for the long touchdown pass.

The leading team knows there is very little risk involved on the long pass. They can gamble because an interception near the goal line is just as valuable to the leaders as a coffin corner punt.

This season many teams experienced the sight of three and four TDs in a matter of minutes.

HALFTIME SCORE

While pacing up and down the sidelines of our Northwestern game, the field announcer said: Yale 29, Harvard 13.

I thought, here's the fine end of a career of a great quarterback — Yale's Brian Dowling, whom we tried to recruit because he came from Ohio. While at quarterback he had been in on 22 Yale victories, and it appeared he was leading the Elis to their big victory of the year.

I was surprised to learn that Harvard had scored twice in 42 seconds to gain a 29-29 tie. The Crimson's catch up effort paid off. Frank Champy, a second string QB who tosses the javelin, must have been watching Dowling operate on a 22-0 lead and thought: "Why can't I do that?"

Champy went into the game.

By the Associated Press

The Miami Floridians tried harder, in fact they tried twice as hard but still remain No. 2 in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association.

Miami edged to within one-half game of leader Minnesota but had to go into double overtime Monday night before subduing East cellar-dweller Indiana, 126-121.

In other ABA action, Oakland topped Houston 111-102 and New Orleans tripped Los Angeles 124-115.

In the only National Basketball Association contest, Seattle whipped Milwaukee 123-113 at Vancouver.

The Pontiac racer won two fifty lappers, a one hundred lap Invitational and the first running of the Class City "200".

He tied his one lap track record on opening night with an 1871 second qualifying lap. He wound up the holder of the record with an 1824 second tour of the high banked asphalt half mile oval on August 4.

In the final Flat Rock Speedway point tally, Fair placed third behind champion Ron Grana of Farmington, Mich., and Danny Byrd of Dearborn Heights.

Joy led the main event department with seven of the eighteen races with Grana second with three victories. Two of Fair's triumphs came in fifty lap contests.

Ex-Minnesota QB Cashing In Stock

MARSHALL, Minn. (AP) — A young Marshall, Minn., businessman says he has offered to buy Minnesota Vikings football team stock now held by Atlanta Coach Norm Van Brocklin and expects to close the deal Wednesday.

David Weiner, 29, said Van Brocklin had accepted his telegraphed offer.

Weiner didn't disclose the amount but it was reported to be in the vicinity of $250,000. Vikings net worth has been estimated at $11 to $12 million.

Van Brocklin took over coaching chores of the Atlanta Falcons of the National Football League this year after the season had started. As Atlanta coach he has to sell his three per cent interest in the Vikings.

Willie Murrell's 30-footer at Jay Miller topped Los Angeles with 22 points.

Len Wilkens' 29 points triggered Seattle's NBA conquest of Milwaukee in British Columbia. The sharp-shooting veteran hit for 10 points in the last period as the Sonics broke the game open after entering the fourth quarter ahead by three.

Wilkens clicked for four field goals early in the stanza as Seattle opened a 101-92 bulge. The outcome was never in doubt after that. Rookie Bob Kauffman contributed 22 points for the winners.

Houston rallied to within 106-100 with a minute remaining to play but the Oaks, who lead the West by five games, converted four shots to win going away.

At New Orleans, Jimmy Jones paced the Bucs with 32 points and 10 assists and into a second-place tie with the Stars.

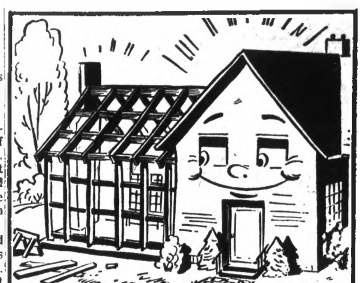

New Orleans, which never trailed, led 57-52 at halftime.

Semifinals Dec. 15Keg Qualifiers Marking Time

For 90 bowlers in the area, those who have already qualified in the Pontiac Open championship it's a time to relax and wait.

Many of them will be practicing for the semifinals which will take place Sunday, Dec. 15, at Huron Bowl.

If past tournaments hold true there will be another 200 to 300 more bowlers who will be on the firing line when the semifinals start and the bid for the $1,000 first prize takes place.

The 1967 champion Hal Marsh was among Sunday's qualifiers as was the 1965 champion Joe Sawyer.

The 10 qualifying sites will again have their squad times set for Sunday and in some instances several of the houses have Sunday times arranged.

CONTINUOUS TIMES
Huron Bowl and 300 Bowl will have squads running continuously from 10 a.m. going every hour and half Sunday.

Bowlers will find afternoon squads at all houses and can call the establishment in which they wish to qualify to arrange a squad time.

Some bowlers are failing to take advantage of the other features of the tournament which can earn them extra prize money such as the Mix 'n' Match doubles and Mix 'n' Match Team event.

Win, Lose or DrawCoach's Wife No Fair-Weather Fan

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — Katie Hess is proud of Ohio University's unbeaten football team and Coach Bill Hess.

She should be. The coach is her husband.

But Mrs. Hess felt the same way about the school and the coach three short years ago when Ohio finished with a terrible 0-10 record.

"I was just as proud of Bill and the team in 1965 as I am of them now," she said. "They played to the best of their ability and held their heads high. I have just as much love for them as I have for this team."

TANGERINE BOWL
The Bobcats, who will play in the Tangerine Bowl against Richmond Dec. 27, whipped Northern Illinois last Saturday to complete a 10-0 campaign, matching the gaudy record of Hess' 1960 club.

How did Coach Hess take that losing season, his worst in an 11-year career here?

"I thought his personal pride was cut down. But he carries loss, and before he gets well, it everything inside."

Was Hess tough to live with during that season?

"Bill has a lot of faults but, one thing about him, he doesn't bring too many of his problems home."

"Let's face it—the public is easier to live with when you're winning. But there was no change in the way our friends acted. They were marvelous. Are things brighter at home now?"

"Sure, when you do well on your job, you're bound to have more satisfaction."

Does Coach Hess talk much about football at home?

NO QUESTIONS

"If he wants to talk football, we talk. Otherwise, I only know what I read in the paper. I never question him on football."

Kansan Named

Top-Level Appointee Is Ex-Congressman

NEW YORK (AP) - Robert F. Ellsworth, former Republican congressman from Kansas, was named today by President-elect Richard M. Nixon to be a top level White House assistant.

Ellsworth, 42, is the third person appointed by Nixon with the title of assistant. Press spokesman Ron Ziegler said there would be no further appointments in that category but did not rule out that others later would be named to posts at the same level-but with different titles.

House Member from 1961 to 1967

Ellsworth was national political director for the Nixon campaign.

Ziegler said Ellsworth would be a generalist in the true sense of the word and will involve himself in a broad range of duties, foreign and domestic.

LONDON MEETING

Ellsworth will fly to London tonight to meet with the staff of the Institute for Strategic Studies there—a "think tank" operation. And he will be back in New York on Sunday for a luncheon meeting with industrial leaders.

He will be back in New York on Sunday for a luncheon meeting with industrial leaders and other leaders of the National Alliance of Businessmen.

The National Alliance of Businessmen was created by President Johnson in an effort to enlist private enterprise in training and finding jobs for hard-core unemployed

Ellsworth said Nixon is greatly interested in the work of the London institute and wants him to gain insights into the operations of the income administration to take full advantage of the idea-generating capabilities of similar organizations in the United States.

No Big Drop in Mart Seen

BAIBSON PARK, Mass. - "There is very little room in this market for any important decline, one, say, on the order of 50 to 60 points," states Roger E. Spear, president of Spear & Staff Inc. investment advisers.

"I believe," Mr. Spear goes on to say, "that the current shadows being cast by less favorable business conditions will be market setbacks. There always have been setbacks, but there always will be. But, with a stronger long-term pull market now under way and with the blue chips and better quality stocks participating to a greater extent than in the past, such setbacks are likely to be limited."

Spear concluded by saying that the market's recovery is assured especially in the case of the Paris peace talks, renewed local-area fighting in Vietnam, and the international monetary crisis, have already been largely discounted.

"Of course," continued Spear, "the market will be market setbacks. There always have been setbacks, but there always will be. But, with a stronger long-term pull market now under way and with the blue chips and better quality stocks participating to a greater extent than in the past, such setbacks are likely to be limited."

Battle Over Franc Hitting World Franks

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK—If pride, love of country and determination could do it, French President Charles de Gaulle would win his battle.

That, really, is his arsenal in the battle of the franc.

Realistically, the world's financiers and bankers do not respect these attributes. They look instead to the amount of CUNIFF inflation, the balance of payments, the direction of the economy, the soundness of fiscal policy.

These are the things that determine a currency's worth, its strength. As with a corporation, so with a nation. Investors avoid owning shares of firms with poor earnings, low worker productivity, mismanagement, bills due.

On the side of the franc is a good deal of will power, but even de Gaulle cannot stare down an attack on his currency. Those who attack have their fortunes at stake, and their sensibility is to mathematics rather than psychology.

PROGRAM MAY WORK

An austerity program, they agree, is the method by which the franc can be returned to full value. But investors and speculators alike note that it was a rebellion against austerity that brought about the present crisis.

Cuba Exiles Defend U.S. Life

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuban exiles have disputed the contention of Havana Radio that America is so unbearable it drives people to air piracy to get back to life with Fidel Castro.

Havana Radio quoted the unidentified hijackers of two jet airliners on the weekend as saying they could not adapt to life in the United States because of "economic and work difficulties."

Eugenio Sanchez, a spokesman at the U.S.-operated Cuban Refugee Center, said that actually employers throughout the country are vying for Cuban workers and offering attractive pay.

"We are flooded with letters from California to Massachusetts asking for exiles to fill jobs," he said. "Any able-bodied Cuban can get good employment in the United States."

Antonio Sales, a newly arrived refugee, said, "In Cuba the average salary is $80 to 90 pesos per month." The peso officially is pegged to the U.S. dollar but brings much less on the open market in Cuba.

Sanchez, headed for a job in Los Angeles, said a Cuban in the United States can expect to earn $3 to $4 an hour to start. As he spoke, other refugees nodded in agreement.

The weekend air pirates hijacked an airline jet enroute to Miami from Chicago and diverted it to Havana. Then another jet from New York on the way to Puerto Rico was forced to Cuba. The passengers on both planes were returned.

Sales said, "In Cuba prices are low but you can't find much to buy. So you buy 'por la libra,'" which means on the black market.

"And that way," he said, "a chicken costs 12 to 14 pesos." As to another complaint by the hijackers, gangsterism in the United States, the refugee said, "Their own act was gangsterism at its worst."

'Crop Spray Doesn't Pollute'

Urban Pesticide Use Blamed

DETROIT (UPI) — An official of the Michigan Agricultural Conference charged yesterday that the use of pesticides in cities causes far more pollution than does spraying on farms.

And, said conference president Duane Baldwin, there could be a 50 per cent jump in the price of farm products should farmers be restricted in their use of pesticides.

Baldwin charged some conservationists and "so-called experts" with using scare tactics to pressure the Legislature into passing new restrictions on pesticides.

"Farmers are being singled out as the leading contaminants of the environment," Baldwin said at a news conference. "The farmer does not pollute the environment."

"MORE URBAN USE" "There is more spraying done in urban areas than in the rural areas, and it is the pesticides in the cities which run off into the environment."

Baldwin said agricultural pesticides are absorbed into crops and soil and that there is "no truth to the claims that they are running off into the lakes and killing off the fish."

He said the efficient use of agricultural pesticides actually cuts down waste, improves crop quality and increases yield.

Giocalone Gets High Court No

LANING (AP) — The State Supreme Court Monday denied an emergency appeal to allow reputed Mafia leader Vito Giocalone free on bond pending sentencing for illegal possession of a blackjack.

Giocalone, to be sentenced Dec. 5, will spend Thanksgiving in the Wayne County Jail unless his attorneys win favorable results in a federal court.

Wayne County Circuit Judge Victor Baum canceled Giocalone's $10,000 bond earlier this month after a Centreville jury convicted him on the blackjack charge, a felony.

The State Court of Appeals refused to overturn Baum's decision, citing Giocalone's "reputation in the community" and the "arsenal in his home" that was discovered with the blackjack.

Chief Appeals Court Judge T. John Lesinski said that, under the State Constitution, the court is empowered to take into consideration factors other than the specific charge when considering bond for a convicted felon.

Turkey in Store for Jailbirds on Holiday

If your chances for a traditional Thanksgiving feast look slim, consider the Oakland County Jail for dining out come Thursday.

A properly timed misdemeanor will lead to quite a holiday feast, according to Sheriff Frank W. Irons.

The menu for prisoners announced today will include roast turkey with dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, peas, carrots, cranberry sauce, sweet pickles, bread, either mince meat or pumpkin pie and coffee.

Those who must contend with lengthier sentences will also enjoy (?) the traditional leftovers.

Between the homeroom collection and the paper drive, Kettering students collected $400 for the Drayton Plains Nature Center.

Red Chinese Invasion

Marian Stages Model U.N.

By LAURA GAY

Guns blasting and people yelling marked the surprise invasion by Red China of the 1968 Marian High School Model United Nations (MUN), highlighted by the performance of the U.S.S.R., winner of the major delegation award.

Therese O'Bringer, Barb Blake and Claudia Savage comprised the Soviet delegation.

The minor delegation award was presented to the Union of South Africa, represented by commended delegate Beth Noonan, Denise Fox and Rose Anne Wolfe.

Rose Ann was on the minor delegation that captured the same award last year.

BROTHER RICE BOYS

Recipients of the research award, Russ Monahan, Jim Stoepfer, and Steve O'Sullivan, from Brother Rice, represented the U.S.

Five major performance awards went to Jeff Browning, China; Ann Therese Darin, Korea; Barb Aderente, U.K.; Beth Noonan, South Africa; and Barb Allen, France.

Commendations were given to 10 active participants.

Request for withdrawal of Cuban rifles and Congolese sidearms, complaints of an ineffective sergeant-at-arms, and a peace sit-in in the gallery, demonstrated the humor that was possible after six months of hard work.

NTATIONAL COSTUMES

Of further interest to the audience, were the costumes that ranged from Greek togas to Mexican serapes. Personal greetings from individual countries awaited delegates at their desks Saturday morning. Israeli matza crackers, Liberian uncut diamonds (rock candy) and English tea bags were just a few.

Caviar, baklava, Chinese egg rolls and rice, spaghetti and apple pie were among the native dishes served at the International supper Sunday evening.

sponsored by the United Kingdom and France.

Moderators for the MUN included Sister Veronika who is completing her final year at Marian, Patricia Mahoney and Bernard Cowan.

Announcement period is too close to lunch hour for junior Barb Allen. During a recent announcement, Barb said that the forthcoming Brother Rice game would be played at Hamburger Field instead of Hammsburg Field.

ATHLETICS

Marian High School is off and running this fall with sports activities. Mrs. Joseph Grant, physical education director, and members of the Girls Athletic Association (GAA), have planned a full season of autumn sports.

Volleyball began Nov. 1. The annual tournament will end later this month when the trophy is awarded to the victorious team.

New on the schedule this year is Marian's first badminton tournament. Horseback trail rides and canoe trips are also pending. Archery is again being offered after school.

Study and hard work mixed with a little fun characterize the publications staff, which will attend the journalism workshop in Chicago during Thanksgiving vacation.

JOURNALISTS SPEAK

Throughout the workshop, staff members will hear lectures from famous journalists.

The workshop is conducted by the National Student Press Association (NSPA). Marianews was awarded All American, a superior rating, and will be displayed at the convention.

The Marian Way took first place with an All American rating.

Sisters Raphael, Trinita, and Mary Ambrose will accompany the students. Staff members will leave Thanksgiving Day by train.

The girls also will attend an awards breakfast on Saturday morning.

The senior class of 1969 has chosen New York City as its senior trip destination.

Students will sell Christmas package bows as a money-making project this week. One box (10 bows) will be sold for $1.

Thursday and Friday, there will be no school due to the Thanksgiving holiday.

St. Lawrence Set for the Holiday

By MAUREEN CHAPATON

Activities for the Thanksgiving week are numerous at Ulica St. Lawrence. Tonight, the boys' basketball team will face its first opponent at home. The game against St. Mary's of Royal Oak starts at 8.

Tomorrow night, a dance will be presented by the Student Council in the gym. The Fluid, a local group, will provide the entertainment for this casual dress dance. Admission is $1. The dance begins at 8 and ends at 11:30. All area teens are welcome.

On Thanksgiving Day, a Mass will be offered for the intentions of all present in St. Lawrence Church.

Friday, the boys' team will once again swing into action against Emmanuel Christian. This game is home and the Mustangs efforts will hopefully produce a victory. If they do win, a victory dance will follow the game.

NHS SELECTION

National Honor Society memberships are being considered for the 1968-69 school year by the faculty. Eligibility requirements include a B average and the qualities of leadership, service and character.

The selected members and their officers will be announced shortly by moderator Sister Jean Michael.

Tradition Ends at Country Day

By JANET IVORY

A tradition ended when the Rev. Chandler Benton returned to Bloomfield Country Day School to give his final chapel talk before Thanksgiving. Benton, who has been at Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian Church in Detroit, is moving to East Jordan to be in charge of the First Presbyterian Church.

At present, Benton is working on a book, and he gave the girls an opportunity to be a part. It concerns the meaningful things in life. He asked the girls to think about this subject and write him if they have any concrete feelings on the matter.

At this time of year when people are giving thanks in various ways, the girls of BCD are showing appreciation for the plenty we have.

Mrs. Forrest Wood from Pontiac General Hospital picked up the stuffed animals, which are to be donated to Children's Village. The office is now filling up with Barbie dolls, games and other toys for Pontiac General Hospital.

Pontiac Central Players Plan 'Dark of the Moon'

By PURVIS HUNT JR.

Pontiac Central's drama presentation for this year, "Dark of the Moon," will be performed Dec. 4-7 at 8 p.m. Tickets to the play can be purchased either during lunch periods or the night of the performances. The price will be $1 for adults, and 50 cents for students.

This drama, which is replacing the traditional PCH children's production, is based on the haunting ballad "Barbara Allen."

N. Farmington Plans for 2 New Swimming Pools

By KATHI CAMPBELL

The North Farmington swimming pools, when completed, will provide a great asset for the entire surrounding area.

A plan is being worked out so that the pool facilities will be put to their best possible use. The complete program will include all levels of instruction — elementary school through adult, as well as a well-rounded community recreation program.

There will be a boys' swimming team coached by Pat Duthie. The team will swim 15 to 20 meets a year. This season starts in December through the middle of March.

Duthie feels the only way to develop into a good team is to compete against good teams, so he hopes to plan his schedule with some of the tougher teams in the area.

GIRLS PLACE THIRD

There will also be a girls' swim team. The coach at the moment is not known. Girls' swimming teams are new and the season is shorter. It usually runs through September and October. Mrs. M. Keen organized a temporary girls team and competed in the Northwest Suburban League meet. They came up with a promising third place.

There will be no interscholastic competition for the boys team with perhaps one exception.

"If the pool is done by January there is a possibility that we will be able to send some representatives to the League meet in March," stated Duthie. He also said that there is a chance that students will be able to come out of their study halls to take swimming instructions next semester.

The NFH pool area will include two pools, one for swimming and one for diving.

The swimming pool will be 75-feet long and 42-feet wide. It will be divided into six 7-foot competitive swimming lanes. It will be 3-feet deep at both ends and will slope to a five-foot depth in the middle.

SECOND POOL

The other pool will be a smaller, deeper, diving pool. It will be 4-by-16-feet and will be 10 feet deep. There will be a one-meter diving board with an adjustable fulcrum at each end of the pool.

The pool has been designed and engineered with the most modern conveniences possible. There is no glass surrounding the pool to make it easier to control the temperature for swimming and easier for maintenance purposes.

There will be a new type of water circulating system in which the geyers will be made of easily cleaned stainless steel. The diving equipment will be the best available.

There will be plenty of spectator seating available.

The play takes place in the Smoky Mountains and tells the story of an elin witch boy who one day sees the beautiful Barbara Allen and immediately falls in love with her.

A compact is made in which he will be able to woo and marry her, on condition that she remains true to him.

PREDICTS SUCCESS

Director Peter Ugolini stated that "The play is very challenging." He also added that "the students have become very involved in this provocative and controversial play, and, if done correctly, it will be a tremendous success."

Student teacher Sandy Pilon from Michigan State University, is the co-director for the drama. While attending MSU she has been director and in the casts in several plays.

In her opinion, "The students have worked right long, hard weeks to make this play a success. Their willingness to work, their ability to perform as a group and not as individuals, and the excellent coaching by Peter Ugolini should make this play very successful."

Faculty members and students are constantly asking how can they help to eliminate problems throughout the Pontiac area. Now that they have the chance to do so, they are avoiding the opportunity.

SLOW DRIVE

PCH's annual "Thanksgiving Basket Drive" has been going slowly due to this lack of participation. Tomorrow is the last day for contributions, and the Student Council is again urging everyone to help.

Central's varsity and junior varsity cheerleading squads chose new captains for the 1968-1969 basketball season.

During the football season Sherry Powell and Doreen Corpron were captain and co-captain for the varsity squad. Chosen as captain and co-captain for the rest of the year were Marilyn Quance and Cynthia Walker.

The junior varsity girls chose Polly Schmitz as their captain and Delores Burns as co-captain. Carol Taylor and Claudetta Shorters were captains during the football season.

CHEERLEADERS

This winter, the varsity girls will cheer at varsity basketball games. Junior varsity girls will be kept busy at home since they cheer at all home JV games. Home swim meets and home wrestling meets.

Pontiac Central's Biology Club, sponsored by Robert Robb, meets every Thursday after school. The club will have at least one field trip a month, the first of which will be to the Research Center at the University of Michigan.

Officers for this year are: Molly McIntyre, president; Ruth Estrada, vice president; Janet Christian, secretary; Cynthia Springer, treasurer; Cathy Harris, sergeant-at-arms; and Linda Cantu, historian.

Diversified Intramural Setup

Rice Expands Sports

By STEPHEN PALMS

The intramural athletic program at Brother Rice High School has been expanded and diversified. Under the guidance of faculty moderator Brother Gaertner and intramural committee chairman Scott MacGudwin, a successful basketball season was just completed. Assisting Scott, and taking a share of the organizational load, are Steve Mikus, John Levinson and Tom Clark. These three were instrumental in the success of the basketball season. At present, soccer is under way, with Russ Monahan serving as commissioner.

Two leagues, each consisting of five teams, compose the soccer program. Two games are played each afternoon on two regulation size fields. About 17 students comprise each team, and other Rice students serve as referees. The referees are under the jurisdiction of Larry Lambie.

Later in the year, when the ice hardens and "Lake Wietatz" is flooded and frozen, intramural hockey will begin. Work has just begun on the rink, and if everything goes as planned the second intramural hockey season will begin in mid-December.

Looking ahead to the Spring, a golf tournament is definitely planned, due to the avid participation in last year's tourney. Also, a tentative program has been set up for a handball elimination tournament.

There are possibilities for a softball league and a tennis tournament.

All intramural sports activities are closed to varsity and reserve athletes in their letter sports, so lettermen serve as referees. On occasion, faculty members officiate also.

The one requirement for participation in intramurals is the purchase of an intramural membership card. One card is good for all sports. The purpose of the fee is to obtain the essential equipment, uniforms, trophies and medals. Project '69 has a tutoring program at St. Rose grade school in Detroit. This program is also done in conjunction with Marian High School. Each Saturday morning a group of about 20 students go to St. Rose.

TUTORIAL PROJECT

The students tutor underprivileged children in math and English for about an hour and a half. This will continue throughout the school year.

Kingswood Girls Undeclared at Field Hockey

By MARY STEWART

With the field hockey season at its close, Kingswood's team can look back on an undefeated record.

In addition to this performance, Kingswood placed a large number of girls on All-Detroit Hockey Squads in the Hockey Playday at Grosse Pointe University School recently.

Each game included participants of six Detroit area schools who were judged on their ability and skill in hockey.

Pam Jahneke, Leslie Waterman, Camille Wilson, Carol Lerchen, Margo Goodale and Dee Flannery are on the All-Star First Team.

ALL-DETROIT TEAM

Selected for the second all-star team was Julie Matthaei.

Beth Quay and Julie Coulter were chosen for the All-Detroit Reserve team, and Prudy Vogt received an honorable mention.

The response to the appointment of Francis Donahue as headmistress of Kingswood School was said to be "enthusiastic and overwhelming."

Previously, she has held the positions of dean and acting head at Kingswood.

Milford Students Plan Variety Show

By ROSE MAKI

Choral Director Mrs. Eleanor Beam and student Shelly Dahn will select talent for the program.

Talent will include bands strumming out their rhythmic beats, plus soloists and choral members.

Lahser Student Paper Office Gets Welcomed Full Overhaul

By GRETCHEN HAAS

"Storage closets" has been cured at Bloomfield Hills Lahser High School. Thanks to recent redecoration of the office of "The Page," Lahser's newspaper, the room has been transformed from a

"suffocating closet" to a more work-inspiring area.

During the summer, staff members of the Page began the process of converting the cramped, cluttered quarters into a livable place which would facilitate the needs of a 18-member staff.

The arid climate was eliminated when journalism students requested that the heating be turned off in the storage room. Cushioned chairs and a coffee table were moved into the room in order to create a more pleasant working atmosphere.

Eugene McCarthy and Lenny Bruce seem to jump out at those who enter the office as they hang in poster portrait form on the walls.

RESTING PLACE

Typewriters, which previously rested on the nearest flat surface now stand on tables.

Lunch trays remain off the premises and waste paper has been discarded.

Painting is next on the agenda for improvement. Staff members plan to paint the walls bright colors and to plaster the ceiling with pictures and posters. Comic strips will don one wall.

Not to forget Christmas, the students hope to string colored lights from wall to wall during the holidays.

OPINION POLLS

Although they find imaginative design to be fun, staff members realize that there are still deadlines to meet; their third issue featuring coverage of student opinion polls at Lahser was distributed on Friday.

Virginia Kibler, editor-in-chief, said that this year the staff is working for "a balance of social and political problems and school news" in each of the publications. A basic theme will highlight each issue.

Other staff members are Gildana Hegyan, news editor; Renee Constantini, assistant news editor; Doug Leonard, feature editor; Bill Crawford, assistant feature editor; and Chris Buzan, Richard Craig, and John Ulrich, sports editors.

Still others are Linda Priest, advertising manager; Debbie Parsons, public relations; and Sean Elwood and John Krost, photographers.

FACULTY SPONSORS

James Hinga, journalism and humanities instructor, and Charles Ellenbaum, behavioral science instructor advise the group.

Juniors elected class officers last week. Cliff Gracey is president, Dave Torbi vice president, Chris Fischer secretary, and Pat Hall treasurer.

'Penny Days for Jung Soon Bok'

By MOLLY PETERSON

Yesterday through tomorrow is designated as "Penny Days for Jung Soon Bok" at Rochester High School. Jung Soon Bok is the school's adopted foster child, a Korean orphan. She has been under the sponsorship of RHS for the past few years.

Through the Student Council, food, money and clothing are sent during the year to Jung Soon Bok.

The "Penny Days" are being sponsored to give the student body of RHS a chance to help the child by donating pennies to her fund for Christmas gifts to brighten her holiday.

Projects for the needy seem to be the vogue at RHS this year. The Student Senate met last week to discuss and decide which area of the nation and possibly the world will be chosen for the recipient of the proceeds from Rochester's "Food for Somebody Needy" program.

FOOD DRIVE

Food stuffs and canned goods will be collected by the senate with the help of the students and sent to the area chosen. Today, basketball season opened at RHS and to boost the spirit of the team a pep assembly was held. At the assembly, the cheerleaders performed a pompon routine to the tune of the song "Joshua."

To commemorate the Thanksgiving holiday, an assembly will be held tomorrow. The Concert Choir will sing traditional Thanksgiving songs. The Rev. A. A. Hadley from the Congregational Church of Rochester will speak at the assembly.

The Concert Choir of RHS is holding a bake sale today. Proceeds are marked for the choir's new uniforms. The girls in the choir now wear long navy blue skirts and white turtled blouses. The boys' new uniforms consist of a light blue blazer and bow ties.

The senior class held a bake sale on Friday to build the class treasury for June graduation costs.

Waterford Schools Feature Occupational Education

A receptive business community, a large group of ambitious teens and a strong Waterford Township School System program have combined to produce a highly successful cooperative occupational education venture.

The co-op program is designed for seniors in Waterford, and more than one-third of the 1,052 seniors are enrolled. This represents a 20 per cent increase over last year.

Perhaps the key factor in the growth and success of co-op is the receptiveness of the Waterford-Pontiac area businessmen. Generally, the business community is well pleased with the performance of the green, but eager, employees recruited from the Waterford high schools.

Charles Alford, manager of the Montgomery Ward's store in the Pontiac Mall called the co-op program a fine way to get young people committed to Ward's. "We find it a good way to develop solid department managers", he said.

The opportunity for valuable work experience and income is generally cited by students as the reason for their enthusiasm in the co-op program.

Now more than 400 in number, the co-op people carry their work experience as part of a full schedule of school work.

The co-op students work an average of 23 hours weekly beyond their classroom commitment.

The four occupational areas in the co-op program, according to its director, Dr. Burton K. Thorn, are: office education, distributive education, trade and industry and health-related vocations.

Dr. Thorn feels strongly that all high school students should have some "world of work" experience whether they plan to go directly into a job situation from high school or to continue their education.

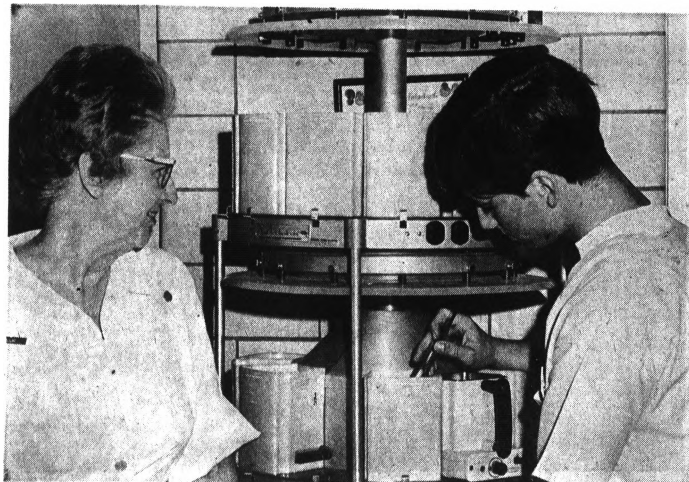

"For the majority of our students, we see cooperative education as a way of bridging the gap between high school and full-time employment", Dr. Thorn said.

"It serves as a testing ground for the high school senior to try out the skills and attitudes he has learned in school in a real work situation."

Besides the excellent involvement of the business community, Dr. Thorn also cites the work of the teacher-coordinator staff as being instrumental in the success of the program.

The seven teacher-coordinators oversee the on-job progress of students and take an active part in solving any job problems that arise between employee and employer.

Employers have the satisfaction of seeing student learners progress on the job and develop into responsible employees and citizens.

HEALTH—Eleanor Beaulac, a registered technician at Pontiac State Hospital Pathology Laboratory, looks on at her health related co-op student learner, Jon King Jon, a senior at Waterford Township High School, is shown here examining some tissue in the auto technician solution machine which processes tissue. Jon plans to enter a University of Michigan premedical program next fall.

Allen Says Sullivan 'Ed' Result of Ed's Stealing Elvis

By EARL WILSON
 NEW YORK — Steve Allen laughed softly recalling those days and nights when he was supposed to chase Ed Sullivan off the air.

Probably nobody could do it, and it would have been a tragedy if anybody had, because he proved one of the great things of TV," Steve said. He remembered a dull news day when there were headlines about their feud. He recalled that he put Elvis Presley on the Sunday night TV circuit and that Ed matched him away.

"I'd seen Elvis on the Dorsey Brothers show. We had him in white tie and tails singing 'Hound Dog.' The hound dog was on top of a low Grecian column.

"Sullivan called up backstage at our theater and offered Presley fabulous money and five shows.

"And Colonel Parker took it. Ed is a great booker as he proved that night."

Steve brought along many who were to be stars later.

"Andy Williams worked for me singing with a girl named Pat Kirby," Steve said. "About 1954-55-56. He had left his brothers and we made a boy-girl team of him and Pat Kirby.

Andy was so good, I didn't figure he'd ever make it with his records.

"The hit records were being made by people who were screaming or breaking chairs. I didn't think the public which was buying that garbage would go for Andy, but it turned out that the public did appreciate Andy."

Steve wrote names of some other people he helped along, giving first important TV exposure . . .

"Marilyn Maye, Shelley Berman, Skitch Henderson, Doc Severinsen, Mort Sahl, Tom Poston, Tim Conway, Gene Rayburn . . .

EL DORADO, Kan. (AP) —

"Now I know why you kept my glasses," William C. Turner, 20, said to Sheriff Sidney Blake-man. "I can't see a thing with-out them."

Turner, one of two prisoners who escaped from jail early Monday, was captured Monday night as he groped his way across a downtown parking lot.

The other fugitive, Danny Lewis Bailey, 20, had walked into the sheriff's office and surrendered earlier.

"I don't want to run any more," said Bailey, who was being held on a murder charge. "I knew I'd done wrong (by escaping)."

The two prisoners, both from El Dorado, had fashioned a fake gun out of soap and used it to bluff a young deputy into un-locking their cell.

Turner, charged with felonious assault and grand larceny, had spent the day hiding on downtown rooftops.

Astronaut Hunting, Fishing a Success

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Astronauts Walter Schirra and Walter Cunningham each shot a deer Monday as the deer season opened in western North Carolina.

A third astronaut along for the visit, Jack Swigert, elected to fish. He caught several rainbow trout, some of trophy size, up to 24 inches.

The three were guests of Hendersonville lawyer Monroe Redden Sr., a former congressman, at his hunting lodge in the Mills River section of Henderson County.

Redden said, "We had to carry him because his feet were so sore."

A Look at TV

Sinatra Does Thing Well

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Albert Sinatra Does His Thing!

does seem to be a title of a show that is both arch and slapstick sketch in which Carol performs. But since Francis Al- bert does his thing—i.e., sing—very well, indeed, and since he brought some interesting per- formers along with him into our girl's hand or pouring steaming living rooms Monday night, it coffee in her lap was more like- ly to make the viewer cringe in sympathy than roar with laugh- ter.

The program, perhaps, lacked the class and dramatic simplic- ity of his first two specials and the musical impact of his show with Ella Fitzgerald. But there was plenty of singing by Sinat- ra, a couple of numbers by the decorative Diannah Carroll and more by the Fifth Dimension, a singing group with an interest- ing and sophisticated sound.

The first, "Storybook Squares" is a pint-sized spin-off on the daytime "Hollywood Squares." The second, "Un- tamed World," comes out of the shop that put together CBS' National Geographic series.

The star moved easily from his opening "Hello, Young Lovers" through a number of stand- ards and lesser known numbers. He made some small, easy jokes and joined Miss Carroll for some Negro spirituals. Then he worked with the singing group all in the same light- hearted manner.

REUNION
 The CBS special was followed by the Carol Burnett Show, notable for a reunion of the star and her old colleagues, Garry Moore and Howard Kirsby.

The three worked nicely to- gether—so nicely, in fact, one wished they had had better material for their sketches.

In the first, Moore and Kirby were dressed up as a pair of swinging old ladies visiting with Carol and Harvey Korman, who were doing one of their regular characterizations, the snappy old couple. The jokes, reaching for the double entendre more of- ten than for witty repartee, were pretty dreary. Later, Car- ol and Howard engaged in a slapstick sketch in which Carol was knocked off her chair and stepped on. This took good tim- very well, indeed, and since he brought some interesting per- formers along with him into our girl's hand or pouring steaming

Meet Santa Claus' TOY DESIGNER

THE DESIGNERS AND THE LADY look over one of the year's newest toy creations — Sound-A-Round. Marvin Glass, left, the country's largest independent toy designer, and Manager Harry Disko observe this young lady's reaction to the world's first talking puzzle. The round puzzle is encircled by a record which emits sounds when the player rotates the tone arm. No batteries or electricity are needed to make the sound. There are five different records with five matching puzzles. A picture story book comes with each one and elaborates on the record's story. This toy is one of dozens designed by Marvin Glass and manufactured by the nation's leading toy manufacturers. Whitman Publishing Company makes Sound-A-Round.

A puzzle that talks... a three-faced baby doll... a bucket that throws out what you put in it... a stick with hands on the ends.

These could be sights and sounds from a dream scene in "A Christmas Carol," but they're not. They are sights and sounds designed by a 1968 creator who easily exceeds Dickens' fertile imagination — he's America's leading independent toy designer, Marvin Glass.

Proof of Glass' pudding is found in the fact that he has consistently designed best-selling toys year after year. In 1968, 33 Glass designs will sell across the counters for $100 million.

"My toys are designed to stimulate and fulfill the child's mentality. Children are neither intellectually or psychologically ingenious enough to create toys themselves," says Glass.

The Chicago designer maintains a large staff of artists, designers and engineers — most of them men — to develop his ideas. They function in a cocoon of greatest secrecy, not even being allowed to share their projects with their wives.

When it comes to educational toys, Glass stands firm: "A toy is for fun," he says. "If it teaches a child something, so much the better." He also takes a stand against marking a toy for a specific age range: "As soon as a parent sees a toy labeled for a specific age range, the tendency is to underestimate or overestimate the mentality of the child."

Glass, who admits to having a child's heart, almost instinctively knows when a toy is right. "If I can enjoy playing with the toy at the roughed-out stage, we go into the final stage of building a prototype."

The real difficulty in toy designing is to come up with a toy that's tough enough to withstand a child's play, simple enough to easily manufacture, but still be fascinating to the child.

"Sometimes it seems like an impossible task," Glass says with a sigh, "since it can take up to five years to work out the kinks."

Shown on this page are a few of the 1968 creations from Santa's top designer — Marvin Glass—who lives Christmas morning every day.

A BUCKET OF FUN is what these kids are having. The balls fly out of the bucket and scatter. The players have to gather them up and place them in the matching tubes on the bucket's side. The first player who has all four in his tube is the winner. A Glass design by Milton Bradley.

THE THREE FACES OF Little Lost Baby with three different expressions to show her moods. This young lady holds three of the Marvin Glass designed dolls with a switch in the back that turns Lost Baby from a crying doll to a happy doll to a sleeping doll. With her blond hair, blue eyes and pink hooded outfit, Lost Baby looks almost like her real live playmate. By Ideal.

LOSE WEIGHT, KEEP AGILE and have fun too! Swing-ing hips to keep Hip Flip moving loosens up the tightest of players. The point of this Parker Bros. game, created by Marvin Glass, is to swing the pendulum over the bar without using hands or letting the pole drop from the body.

Saigon Is on Verge of Joining in Talks

PARIS (AP)—A mystery envoy from Saigon was reported in Paris today, preparing for the arrival soon of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky. This indicated South Vietnam's boycott of the Paris peace talks is nearing its end.

Qualified informants said that, if all goes well, Ky is likely to arrive with a South Vietnamese delegation by next week, clearing the way for the resumption of the negotiations that have been suspended since Nov. 6.

An American-South Vietnamese agreement on the terms of Saigon's participation in the conference is imminent, according to reports from both Saigon and Washington. President Nguyen Van Thieu is expected to announce his government's readiness to participate in the Paris talks with the United States, North Vietnam and the Vietcong's National Liberation Front in a few days.

Informants said the mystery man from Saigon arrived during the weekend to arrange the many protocol details connected with the reception and accommodation of the South Vietnamese vice president.

NAME IS WITHHELD

He was reported to be a high official in Ky's own office, but the South Vietnamese mission withheld his name "for reasons of security."

The official will be returning to Saigon in the next two days or so, sources said.

South Vietnamese officials suggested that the agreement under which Thieu would agree to participate in the Paris talks might take this form:

• South Vietnam would have the "leading role" on the allied side of the table when certain major issues were discussed, particularly anything touching on the political settlement of the war.

• The United States would have top say on such matters as withdrawal of its troops from South Vietnam and a matching North Vietnamese pullback.

• The United States would assure South Vietnam again that it would resist any Communist effort to impose a coalition government on the South.

• The South Vietnamese would "ignore" the presence at the table of the National Liberation Front.

'UTMOST CAUTION'

High State Department sources in Washington viewed the situation with "utmost caution" and none would venture a guess whether announcement of a U.S.-South Vietnamese agreement might come in hours or days.

France Cancels A-Tests, Slashes SST Plane Role

PARIS (AP) — France's 1969 atomic-test program in the South Pacific will be canceled and credits will be reduced for the supersonic transport plane Concorde as part of the French austerity program to save the franc, Premier Maurice Couve de Murville announced today.

Couve de Murville gave the National Assembly the news on civilian and military projects that will suffer in a cutback of the 1968 budget deficit from 11.7 billion francs — $2.34 billion — to 6.354 billion francs — $1.27 billion.

CONCORDE COSTS SOAR

The Concorde supersonic transport project is a joint venture with Great Britain. Its costs have ballooned from an estimated $448 million in 1962 to about $2 billion. The cut announced by Couve de Murville will be $12 million in the French contribution for 1969. It was not known how much delay this might cause in the program. The first prototype is scheduled to fly late in December.

Meanwhile, as new currency regulations went into effect, squads of security police manned border crossings and airports and searched travelers to make sure they took out no more currency than the relatively small amounts decreed Monday. Airlines and tourist agents reported heavy cancellations. "You can't go to New York for 21 days with $140 in your pocket," said one, that being the maximum amount allowed a French tourist.

Sealab to Probe Bottom of Sea

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Sealab 3 is off on a voyage to the bottom of the sea in a joint venture with the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt to add to the world's submerged continental shelves.

The 57-by-12-foot, sea-floor habitat, which looks like a tank car with observation rooms where the wheels would be, has been carried by barge to a spot near San Clemente Island. The deadline in the next few days it will be lowered 600 feet by crane to the Pacific Ocean bottom, where it will serve as working and living quarters for two months for five teams of eight to nine men.

The teams will spend 12 days each at such varied tasks as setting up an underwater trolley line, building a dry and lighted boat on the sea floor, starting a lobster farm with succulent transplants from Maine, and training porpoises and sea lions to fetch and carry.

AMBITIOUS EFFORT

A day or two after Sealab 3 touches bottom, the first team will start descending in diving bells, slant personnel transfer capsules, capable of carrying three to four men at a time.

Sealab 3, a $10-million project, is the U.S. Navy's most ambitious attempt to add to the world's submerged continental shelves—which range from a few miles to hundreds of miles in breadth—to its theater of operations.

Such depths are ideal hiding places for submarine refueling stations, missile launching sites and anti-air warfare gear. They also hold untold wealth in oil, minerals and scientific lore, exploitable when men learn to live and work for long periods at great depths.

Two earlier Sealab projects gave promise that it can be done. Sealab 1 at a depth of 193 feet off Bermuda in 1961. A year later, in Sealab 2, three teams of 10 aquanauts spent 15-day periods 265 feet deep off La Jolla, Calif.

Sealab 3, at three times the previous depths, is the first experiment. From it will evolve mobile habitats—vehicles that can move like submarines or crawl along the bottom—carrying skilled technicians for salvage, rescue, construction and research.

D.C. School Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The District of Columbia has another small step toward self-government today, choosing its first elected school board.

Voters will pick 10 board members from 19 candidates in the balloting that has some racial implications. Three of the 19 are running for at-large seats.

Senator Urges Probes on Costs of Cargo Plane

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department and the General Accounting Office were asked today to undertake fullscale investigations of why the CSA cargo plane—backbone of airlift planning for the next decade—may cost $1.2 billion more than original estimates.

The demand was made by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee that recently heard testimony on contract overruns for the world's largest airplane.

"It would be a dereliction of duty, said Proxmire, for Congress to permit payment of such an exorbitant increase in contract costs without scrutinizing the reasons given for the increase and, indeed, the entire circumstances."

"In view of the testimony we received in our hearings," the senator said, "very serious questions about the cost of the plane have been raised. For example, there is some evidence that poor management on the part of the contractor may be a significant cause of the increase in cost."

AF ESTIMATES

Earlier this month the Air Force said the price of the CSA could run $2 billion over original estimates of $3 billion for the first 120 planes. Later, however, "in response to queries," the Air Force put the figure at a more conservative $1.2 billion.

The higher price tag has been attributed to increased costs for labor and materials, introduction of new technology and unexpected technical troubles.

The CSA is designed to carry troops as well as big equipment like tanks and trucks. The first model flew last spring and the Pentagon has maintained the craft will exceed performance guarantees of Lockheed.

Proxmire asked the General Accounting Office, spending watchdog for Congress, to report to him within six weeks.

At the same time, he wrote to Secretary of Defense Clark M. Clifford urging Clifford to direct personally a study of "the enormous cost overruns."

Noted Author Is Dead at 90

BOUND BROOK, N.J. (AP) — Upton Sinclair, a prolific author who earned the title "King of the Muckrakers" during a 63-year career, is dead at the age of 90.

Sinclair died yesterday at the Somerset Valley Nursing Home near here. A memorial service will be held at St. Paul's Episcopal church in Bound Brook at 11 a.m. Saturday.

During what he described as a 63-year battle for social justice, Sinclair wrote 89 full-length books. One of his best known works, "The Jungle," catapulted him to fame at the age of 28 in 1906.

The book exposed filthy conditions in the Chicago meat-packing industry and led to the nation's pure food laws.

PULITZER PRIZE

It was one of the major reasons for the title "King of the Muckrakers." Sinclair's dedication to social reform incurred the enmity of powerful personalities and the support of many famous men.

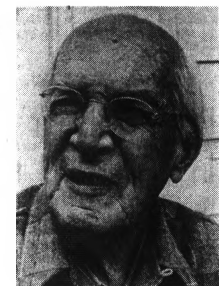

Mine Decision Near

Rescue Try Over?

MANNINGTON, W.Va. (AP) — Rescue leaders and company officials indicate they may have to reach an immediate decision on whether they have gone as far as they can in trying to rescue 78 men trapped for six days in a coal mine wrecked by explosion and fire.

Most of those directing the rescue operation said they were "not quite" ready to make such a decision but time and continued setbacks are working against them.

Almost every rescue method, almost every device known—except for sealing the mine and the fate of the 78 along with it—has been brought into play in the tense six days since the first blast shattered through Mountaineer Coal Co. Co. 9 mine.

Traffic congestion on West Huron leading to Pontiac's downtown has been a long-time problem that is getting worse. In fact, Joseph E. Neippling, city director of public works and service, said the success of the city's parking customers to downtown stores is adding to the problem.

Traffic Jams Occur Almost Daily On West Huron Leading To Downtown Pontiac

The situation is liable to get worse before it gets better, he said.

Neippling said that a 1965 traffic count showed there were 22,000 cars per day using West Huron. He said that if traffic hasn't reached 30,000 yet it soon will.

DECREASING WIDTH

"From our point of view the street gets into trouble at Franklin Blvd because of the decreasing width up to Saginaw," he said.

"The section of West Huron which actually carries the greatest volume is where there is the most restriction," he said.

Neippling said that under the city's traffic plan West Huron will eventually become a one-way east-bound artery with Elizabeth Lake Road becoming a west-bound artery.

But, he said until this is implemented — at some undetermined time in the future — there are possible steps that would make West Huron a traffic carrier. Among them are:

- Widening West Huron from West Wide Track to the State-Williams intersection.
- Realigning the State-Williams-West Huron intersection.
- Removal of parking from West Huron, Saginaw to West Wide Track and transition to a five-lane route with a center lane for left turns only.
- Construction of an overpass over West Huron to carry railroad traffic over the street at a point just west of West Wide Track.

Death claimed a dedicated man of medicine when Dr. CYRENUS G. DARLING Jr. suffered a heart attack Friday night.

DR. DARLING

Born in Ann Arbor and a graduate of the University of Michigan Medical School, Dr. DARLING had begun practice in this locality more than four decades ago.

Few individuals had lived as full and zestful a life as CY DARLING. A keen and sympathetic interest in his fellows and a ready wit made him a welcome figure in any group — professional or social. Though his professional life left little time for recreation, Dr. DARLING found enjoyment at the piano, where he displayed great artistry, and in fishing, at which he was equally adept.

The host of friends, associates and patients who deeply mourn the passing of an estimable man will find comfort in the knowledge that he left an outstanding record of service to his community.

Cleveland Leads in 'Moving' Airports Downtown

Those who wonder how the Federal government ever got so involved in local affairs and who think it ought to get the heck out forthwith might devote a little study to the history of Cleveland's airport rapid transit.

That city has just become the first in the Western Hemisphere to provide a public rail link-up between its major airport and its downtown.

Cleveland Transit System authorities are confident the new line will add some 1 1/2 million patrons a year, who will invest 35 cents and 20 minutes for the ride to and from the airport instead of the $1.60 to $5 and one hour involved in taking limousines and taxis.

Air-conditioned, stainless steel cars with baggage racks service the 19-mile route. Eventually, airline passengers flying out of Cleveland may be able to check their baggage at the CTS downtown terminal and forget about it until they arrive at the airport of their destination.

In one city, at least, no one can complain any more that "it took me longer to get from the airport to downtown than it did to fly halfway across the Country."

Cleveland became the first city to apply for a Federal grant under the Mass Transit Act passed by Congress in 1964, and in 1966 the first shovelful of dirt was turned.

Today the Rapid stands completed at a cost of $18.6 million, two-thirds of which is represented by Federal funds — or, more accurately, by money contributed by taxpayers in all the 50 states.

Other cities will benefit from the Mass Transit Act, including San Francisco, which initially hoped to go it alone in building an ambitious subway system but has since found it necessary to seek Federal aid. Taxes paid by Clevelanders will go to help make that city's dream become a reality.

It is, quite literally, one for all and all for one in this Nation of 50 United States. Anyone who knows a better way of doing things is free to come forward.

Nixon Aware of Adviser Problem

By RAYMOND MOLEY

President-elect Nixon has intimated that he plans to reduce the size and influence of the president's inner staff of advisers. This, like so many New Year's resolutions, may not outlast the winter. But it shows that he understands what has become a serious disarrangement in the federal establishment.

Woodrow Wilson, like most of his predecessors, had only one male secretary. The faithful and politically sophisticated Joseph Patrick Tumulty not only arranged the President's appointments but was the contact with the press and the liaison with Congress and the Cabinet.

Herbert Hoover had three men with the title of secretary and also a man who was called special assistant to the president.

When FDR became president the jealous Louis Howe assumed sole title to the office of secretary and reduced Marvin McIntyre and Stephen Early to assistant secretaries. And he abolished the office of assistant.

REORGANIZATION ACT

After Howe's death and in the second Roosevelt term, Congress passed the Reorganization Act. This provided for six "assistants to the president." They were, according to one of the authors of the legislation, to have a "passion for anonymity," a phrase attributed to Sir Morris Hankey, long secretary of the British cabinet. Needless to say, these were not anonymous people. They were both seen and heard. And during World War II all sorts of advisers and functionaries accumulated in the White House.

In the Eisenhower years advisers and specialists gathered like flies on a fruit cake. Over them loomed Sherman Adams as a sort of exalted prime minister.

It was in the Eisenhower era when there was an unprecedented growth of the White House staff. The budget for fiscal 1967 which was prepared by President Eisenhower, estimated the total cost of the White House staff at $2,122,000. This was to cover 272 people.

Some of this was for the many factotums who shuffle papers and maintain the routine business of the executive office. The physical maintenance of the place is another category.

STAFF OF PERSONALITIES

But in the Camelot era President Kennedy enlarged his staff with quite an array of well-known and well-publicized personalities. Presumably this was to win the "intellectuals" of the country by giving some of them a piece of the action. This cost an additional $250,000 in the 1964 budget.

Lyndon Johnson, with somewhat less accent upon the academic, but with more pay, enlarged the estimates until in the present fiscal year 1968 the figure reached $3,209,000 of which $2,707,000 are for salaries.

But the most interesting evidence of growth is that there is provision for 14 people with salaries up to $30,000. This is beyond the compensations of most college presidents and is only a rather small margin below that of Cabinet members. And it was recently reported that the first Nixon designee as a presidential assistant, Bryce Harlow, is to get the top figure mentioned above.

The nonpecuniary advantages of those top positions are considerable. Their letters from prestigious White House stationery and their telephones are on the White House board. And when they decide to leave they are eagerly sought by private agencies for jobs in the $100,000 range.

CONSEQUENCE OF GROWTH

The unfortunate consequence of the great growth of the White House staff is that it diminishes the responsibility and prestige of the Cabinet office. Surrounded as he was by superadvisers, why should the president use the Cabinet as counsel? In fact, JFK called fewer and fewer Cabinet meetings. Why consult the secretary of state when he had under his roof the ex-Harvard dean, McGeorge Bundy, and the real historian, Arthur Schlesinger? And also Robert Robert.

It will be well if the new president should restore the official Cabinet to its historical role — a real council of advisers. And Richard Nixon should know that better than anyone else. For when President Eisenhower was stricken with a heart attack, "prime minister" Adams took over and Vice President Nixon was allowed only a seat in the Adams office.

David Lawrence Says:

Plane Hijacking Curbs Needed

WASHINGTON — The hijacking of two American planes over the weekend raises some questions of international law and emphasizes the need to develop safety measures for passenger planes threatened usually by persons from other countries.

LAWRENCE

If any foreign citizens seized an American vessel on the high seas, there would be immediate concern as to what part some foreign government might have played in the episode. The tendency lately has been to take it for granted that the hijackers were merely operating on their own and had no connection with the Cuban government.

But it is unfortunate that, although guilty of a grave crime, the hijackers are not extradited back to the United States from Havana.

Not long ago, when the suspected slayer of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., fled to England, the British government promptly cooperated in returning the fugitive to America. This is the responsible attitude of most countries in the world today.

CAN'T BE IGNORED

Although the United States does not recognize the government in Havana, this does not mean that international law can be disregarded by either. On many occasions persons have fled from a country and have been given asylum in other lands, but where a crime is involved, the custom is to examine the facts and return those who are suspected of having committed the offenses.

To imperil the lives of any of the 90 or 100 passengers and crew members on an airliner is certainly a crime warranting a most severe punishment.

If a government does not wish to place on trial a fugitive accused of such an offense, surely tribunals could be established by the United Nations to pass judgment on those persons charged with forcing a plane outside the boundaries of a country.

GREATER PRECAUTIONS

Greater precautions could, of course, be taken by the airlines in this country to deter the seizure of the planes. Passengers could be searched before boarding, and credentials identifying them could be carefully examined.

But perhaps the most practical measure would be to place on every airplane which might be used to go to Cuba hijackings would be materially reduced. Two armed guards in plain clothes who would be seated among the passengers. If such a step were widely publicized, it is likely that the number of There have been in the last two years at least 17 hijackings of United States planes, plus 11 Latin American planes and one from the Bahamas.

MAXIMUM EFFECT

Although only one fatality has occurred, there are risks involved which warrant security measures of maximum effectiveness. While the Cuban government has not interfered with the return to the United States of government officials who have been forcibly carried to improvement in the relations between Cuba and this country if the hijackers were sent back here for trial

Some of the hijackers of Latin American planes were Castroites and may have been engaged in espionage for the Cuban government. Many of the hijackers, however, are undoubtedly criminals who are trying to escape from this country and who think they may be protected in Cuba.

Rep. Gerald R. Ford, Republican leader in the House, has declared that the federal government has a responsibility to take steps to protect airline travel.

In the coming session of Congress, it would not be surprising if proposals were made that would necessitate a discussion between the United States government and the Cuban government through the medium of the Swiss Embassy in Havana in order to find some practicable way to discourage hijacking.

Jackie Onassis's Ordeal: How Long Will It Last?

NEW YORK — One could feel only sympathy for Mrs. Jacqueline Onassis on the fifth anniversary of the slaying of her first husband.

What she did that day, or didn't do, evoked criticism. One wonders how long that particular kind of ordeal will last.

With the brutal murders of her husband and brother-in-law Sen. Robert Kennedy, the mother of two growing children found herself in need of a man who could guide, protect and direct her young.

A couple of years ago a demoted woman pounced on Caroline as the child and her mother were leaving mass at St. Ignace Loyola on Park Avenue, clanked the child and screamed terrible nightmarish things about the mother and the dead president.

Several days later, while walking John home from his school on the third anniversary of his father's death, a little group of John's classmates followed them. One of the kids kept chanting, "Your father's dead, your father's dead, your father's dead."

There's a 4,000-book library at the Gen. Douglas MacArthur memorial at Norfolk, Va. The patient curator, Philip Brower, formerly of the National Archives in Washington, pines over what it might have been.

"I've been told that the MacArthur Library once numbered 40,000 volumes," he told me recently. "His father started it, and the son expanded it. It was perhaps the greatest collection of books about war, military concepts and such."

"MacArthur had it shipped from Washington to Manila when he went there in the middle 1930s to build up the Commonwealth's military forces. When the Japanese neared Manila, he ordered all U.S. warehouses blown up. The 40,000 books were in one of the warehouses."

"An aide reminded him that his treasure of books was in one of the warehouses."

"Blow it up," MacArthur ordered."

Suggestion to Parents on Training Children

Every year Halloween tricks continue through the Christmas holidays. Why? Parents, teach your children to put things in their proper category. Eggs and vegetables are to be eaten. Soap is to wash with. You could be rewarded with healthier, cleaner families. There are no bad children — parents just train them that way.

'Welfare and Projects Eat Up Tax Dollars'

Foolish wars are not the only things that eat up our dollars. In ten years the number of people on public welfare has increased 50 per cent to 8.2 million, while the cost has skyrocketed nearly 130 per cent to almost $7 billion. Some of the taxpayers "small change" goes to a government project which has given $5,000 for analysis of violin varnish used prior to 1737; $20,000 to study German cockroaches; and $11,782 for a social history of French medicine from 1789-1815.

When the parents of Kettering students must raffie off a TV set to provide film and football equipment, it's time to find out where our tax money is going. We believe that through fine schools and past improvements he will have more than doubled his original investment.

Wake up, voters of Waterford Township. We don't need men like Bruce Annett and Fredrick Poole to tell us we can afford another raise in our taxes. They were raised with silver spoons in their mouths and had their businesses handed down to them. How do they know what working people can afford as far as another raise in taxes is concerned? I am sure they can afford it, but what about the less fortunate and the retirees?

Question and Answer

We live across from a gas station and all night young boys race their motors and squeal their tires. Some nights we get very little sleep. We've called Waterford Police several times, but it seems to do no good. What can we do?

WONDERING

REPLY

You live at a very busy commercial intersection across from an all night gas station, so you will probably have to live with some of that noise. Waterford Police said they'll send someone out on any complaint, but if the offender is gone, there's nothing he can do, unless you have the license number. Failing that, you might talk to the station owner and see if he will help identify the offenders. You said other neighbors had complained, so maybe if enough of you get together, you can work out a plan with the owner.

Question and Answer

Recently in a custody hearing, both parents, their lawyers and Friend of the Court were notified of a two week postponement. However, the judge ruled on the original date. Who grants postponements and how could the judge make a fair ruling with none of the parties present?

INTERESTED IN CHILDREN

REPLY

You gave us no details of the case, and your phone is unlisted. Consequently, we can only give you a general answer. The assignment clerk issues postponements, and Mr. Tew is the Oakland County attorney who handles cases for the judge you named. You might talk to either one of them. It seems unlikely the judge made a ruling with no one present, and it was up to the attorneys involved to find out why this happened, if these are the complete facts. Is it possible the lawyer slipped up? Or are you an interested bystander who might not have given all the details? We suggest you check out all these possibilities.

Wolverines, Buckeyes Rule All-Big Ten

Johnson, Curtis Are Unanimous; MSU Gets 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Ohio State, bound for the Rose Bowl as undefeated champion, landed four spots and runner-up Michigan collected six to dominate the All-Big Ten offensive-defensive 1968 poll squad named Tuesday by The Associated Press.

All conference universities but Illinois gained representation on the first team. Purdue placed three men; Minnesota, Iowa and Michigan State two each; and Indiana, Wisconsin and Northwestern each one.

The only unanimous choices by the AP's selection board were Ron Johnson, Michigan's record-breaking runner; defensive back Tom Curtis of the Wolverines, who set an interception mark; and Dave Foley, Ohio State's huge offensive tackle. Chuck Kyle, Purdue middle guard, missed unanimity by one vote.

SECOND TEAM

On offense, Johnson and injury-handicapped Leroy Keyes of Purdue repeated from the 1967 No. 1 lineup. Holdovers on defense were Kyle, end Bob Stein of Minnesota and linebacker Ken Criter of Wisconsin. Advancing from the 1967 second team to first were center Jack Rudnay of Northwestern and defensive back Ted Provost of Ohio State.

The squad is one of veterans, although this was an outstanding year for sophomores. Only one rookie made it — Ohio State's roving linebacker John Tatum. Fifteen seniors and six juniors were named.

The offensive line averages 230 pounds, hinged by the Buckeyes' two 6-foot-5 senior tackles, 246-pound Foley and 250-pound Rufus Mayes. Exclusive of the backs, the defense averages 216 pounds.

Winning backfield spots with Johnson and Keyes by close margins were Michigan's Dennis Brown, the Big Ten's total offense leader, and Ed Podolak, making the conversion from quarterback to tailback in Iowa's record-pacing attack.

PASS CATCHERS

Rounding out the defense were end Phil Seymour of Michigan; tackles Chuck Bailey, Michigan State, and Tom Goss, Michigan; linebacker Noel Jenke, Minnesota; and back Al Brenner, MSU.

Air Force Junior Captures National Harrier Crown

NEW YORK (AP) — Mike Ryan, an aspiring fighter pilot who calls Okinawa home, has proven his speed and skill by capturing the NCAA cross country championship in a duel with two Eastern distance stars.

Ryan, a 5-foot-7, 145-pound junior at the Air Force Academy, beat Georgetown's Steve Stageberber by 60 yards Monday for the individual NCAA crown, with Ari Dulong of Holy Cross third.

Villanova took the team title for the third straight year although its top finisher, Tom Donnelly, placed eighth in the six-mile test at Van Cortlandt Park. The Wildcats compiled a low score of 78 points. Stanford was second with 101 and Southern California third with 108.

Ryan, who was born in Ithaca, N.Y., but lists his home as Okinawa, where his father is a lieutenant colonel in the Air Force, took the lead from Dulong at the four-mile mark and won in 29 minutes, 16.8 seconds.

Knee Surgery Slated for Lions' Mel Farr

DETROIT (UPI) — The Detroit Lions' offense is scheduled for knee surgery.

Mel Farr, without whom the Lions' offense has been able to produce just three touchdowns over 23 quarters of National Football League play, is slated for an operation Wednesday to repair cartilage damage to his left knee. He will be lost for the duration of the season.

The Detroit halfback, who was leading the NFL in rushing prior to his injury Oct. 27, thus joins Chicago's Gale Sayers as the second No. 1 runner to be felled by knee trouble this season. Sayers underwent surgery three weeks ago to correct more serious torn knee ligaments.

Buckeyes Take Top Spot in AP Poll

By The Associated Press

Ohio State's convincing 50-14 rout of Michigan vaulted the Buckeyes into first place in The Associated Press' weekly major-college football poll Monday, ahead of Southern California, their Rose Bowl opponent.

Southern Cal had led the poll for six weeks but fell to second place after a hard-fought 28-16 victory over UCLA.

Ohio State's margin was 10 points — 935 to 925 — in the balloting by 50 sports writers and broadcasters across the country, even though Southern Cal received 24½ first-place votes to 21½ for the Buckeyes.

MICHIGAN DROPS

There was little change among the rest of the Top Ten. Penn State, with a 9-0 record like Ohio State and Southern Cal, retained the third spot at 773 points after walloping Pitt 65-9.

Michigan was the hardest hit, bouncing from fourth to 13th.

Idle Georgia hopped from fifth to fourth while Kansas climbed from seventh to sixth by edging Missouri 21-19. Texas, also idle, stayed in sixth place while the rest of the Top Ten — Tennessee, Arkansas, Notre Dame and Houston — each moved up one spot.

Tennessee beat Kentucky 24-7.

Kentucky Grid Post Possible for Pete

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Pete Elliott, former head football coach at the University of Illinois, has been mentioned as a possible successor to Charlie Bradshaw at the University of Kentucky.

The university's acting athletic director, Harry Lancaster, confirmed late Monday night that Elliott had been recommended for the head football job at Kentucky.

Elliott reportedly was recommended for the post by Bud Wilkinson, a former coach at Oklahoma.

The former Illinois coach, whose brother, Bump Elliott, is head coach at the University of Michigan, was ousted from his job in February 1967 after a slush fund for athletes was uncovered.

He was ordered fired by a board of the Big Ten Conference and the action caused considerable controversy.

Bowl for Grambling

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Grambling College of Louisiana and Sacramento State will play in the Pasadena Bowl football game Dec. 6, officials announced Monday.

Arkansas bombed Texas Tech 42-7, Notre Dame had the week off while preparing for Southern Cal this Saturday while Houston blitzed Tulsa 100-6, the first major college team in 19 years to hit the century mark.

Oklahoma jumped three places to 11th by bouncing Nebraska 47-0 and Purdue remained 12th with a 38-35 cliff-hanger over Indiana.

IDLE TEAM

Oregon State rose two places to 14th by walloping Oregon 41-19. Alabama, another idle team, stayed 15th. Missouri's second straight loss dropped the Tigers from 13th to 16th. Ohio State completed a 10-0 regular season with a 28-12 win over Northern Illinois and retained the 17th position.

Auburn was up one spot to 18th after a weekend off while the 19th and 20th spots listed two newcomers — Arizona and Arizona State. Arizona tripped Wyoming 14-7 and the Sun Devils clobbered San Jose State 66-0. They replaced California, which had been 19th but lost 20-0 to Stanford, and Wyoming.

University of Michigan star halfback Ron Johnson was edged off the first-string in the fierce competition with Southern California's O. J. Simpson, Purdue's Leroy Keyes and Oregon State's Bill Enyart.

Johnson received 38 votes and Enyart 45.

SECOND-STRING

Wolverine teammate Tom Curtis was voted second-string All-American as a defensive back.

Michigan State's Al Brenner was also elected to the second team as a defensive back.

In the honorable mention categories, honors were bestowed upon two Michigan State Spartans, tackle Charles Bailey and linebacker Rich Saul, who suffered a knee injury a few weeks ago. Also given honorable mention was Wolverine defensive back George Hoey.

Pitt Again Looks for Football Coach

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The University of Pittsburgh, once a football power but now just another loser, is searching again for a coach.

The search began Monday when Dave Hart, an enthusiastic but unproductive coach, resigned.

Not since 1963 when Pitt had a 9-1 record has the school had a winner. Hart's three teams shared 1-9 records, but the season just ended may have been the worse.

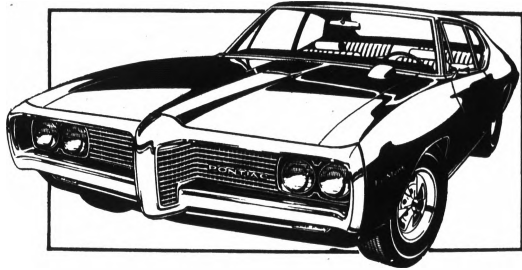

Opponents racked up 393 points against Pitt, the most in the school's history. Scores like 63-7, 48-0, 50-17 and 65-9 are in the record book.

Hart was hired in 1965 to rejuvenate a sliding team under John Michelosen. But Hart's record was worse.
