U. S. May Erect Formosa Base to Defend Island

Jet, Marine Installation Would Be a Factor in Negotiating Truce

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is considering establishing an American base on Formosa under its treaty guarantee to defend the Chinese Nationalist island against any Communist attack.

The base plan is part of a series of arrangements being developed by the State Department, Defense Department and White House which would be factors in negotiating a cease-fire and possibly an eventual settlement of the whole Formosa problem.

Further decisions on the actual steps to be taken are due to be made following the return this weekend of Asst. Secretary of State Walter Robertson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

They have conferred at Taipei in the last few days with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and other Chinese Nationalist officials.

Establishing an American base of jet fighter planes and Marine units, as it is presently contemplated, would have importance in several respects, officials said.

First of all, it would be a symbol of American determination to prevent the island's falling to the Communists.

This, it is believed, would have the effect of offsetting Chinese Communist propaganda to the effect that the United States is a "paper tiger" afraid to fight in a showdown.

Such propaganda might be made by the Reds in event of the ceasefire or if, later on, some settlement was worked out which led to the Nationalists giving up Quemoy and Matsu.

Even more important, it was said, the assignment of an American force more or less permanently to the island, even though a small token force, would increase the Chinese Nationalist sense of security and thereby compensate them for abiding by any cease-fire which the United States succeeded in negotiating for the Communists.

Pontiac Education Association Presents Service Award to Louis Schimmel

"For earnest and sincere efforts in helping to provide better schools for the boys and girls of Pontiac and the State of Michigan . . ."

Thus read a distinguished service award presented to Louis Schimmel Thursday night by the Pontiac Education Association at its annual spring banquet held at Devon Gables.

Schimmel was the recipient of the first award ever given by the local organization. He was honored for his work in drafting and promoting the new constitutional amendment, (Proposal No. 3) which was endorsed by the voters of the state on April 4.

Under this proposal, school districts of the state are able to borrow from a state loan fund for building and all districts, if they wish, have an extended payment period (25 to 30 years). Many districts, according to Schimmel's Plan, can refinance their callable school bonds over a longer period at a lower rate of interest.

Henry Elling, president of the PEA, said that Pontiac was indeed fortunate to have Schimmel on its board of education and as a member of its community.

"This has been a great thing that Mr. Schimmel has done for the education in this state and I understand this idea is now catching on nationally," stated Elling.

Delivering the main address of the evening was Maurice Guy, principal of the Southeast Intermediate School at Saginaw, Michigan.

A teller of "Paul Bunyan Tales," Guy, the son of a former state lumberman, related in true Bunyan style the saga of Michigan's most colorful woodsman.

"No one wants to go back to the horse and buggy days, but we should all strive to preserve the natural beauties and resources of this state for the boys and girls of tomorrow," he declared.

Serving as toastmistress for the event was Helen Lapisch. She introduced Guy, Joanne Wilson, the soloist, and Dr. Robert Jones who played the organ.

FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE—Louis Schimmel, member of the Pontiac Board of Education and father of the new constitutional amendment which will provide opportunity for school districts to construct needed buildings, was honored by the Pontiac Education Association Thursday night. At the annual PEA spring banquet, Schimmel received the first distinguished service award ever presented by this local group. Henry Elling, left, president of the PEA, made the presentation.

Broomfield Bill to Abolish MTA Dies in Senate

Royal Oak Legislator Blasts Senator Nichols' 'Outrageous Conduct'

By BURDETT C. STODDARD

Toll road news broke hot and heavy yesterday.

First, a bill to abolish the Michigan Turnpike Authority (MTA), thus quashing toll roads completely, died in the Senate Highways Committee.

But another anti-turnpike measure sponsored by Rep. Lucille McCollough (D-Dearborn) was reported out of the House Roads and Bridges Committee.

It would give cities, villages and townships the right to prevent a toll road from coming through their area.

Loss of the Senate bill brought a blast from Oakland County's Sen. William S. Broomfield, who sponsored the measure, against another Republican senator, Haskell Nichols, chairman of the highways committee.

The day's toll-road events were capped when State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler described what seems a corridor 10-miles wide running west of Pontiac as "the scope involved" in locating a north-south freeway planned for construction if the Rockwood-Saginaw turnpike is torpedoed.

Broomfield accused Nichols of "outrageous" conduct in refusing to deliver the Oakland senator's bill dissolving the MTA onto the Senate floor for consideration.

Broomfield's outburst followed his attempt to amend another toll road bill to restrict the MTA in a manner similar to that attempted by the McCollough bill in the House.

The Oakland lawmaker said he had majority support for the amendment in the highways committee, but Nichols ruled it out of order and adjourned the meeting, refusing to call another.

The deadline is today for committee action on bilsl in their house of origin.

"It is shameful what some people will do to protect this turnpike authority from a forthright debate and vote by the Senate," said Broomfield.

Ziegler spoke in Cranbrook Auditorium before the Citizens Protective Assn. of Michigan, a group opposing the Rockwood - Saginaw toll route.

He displayed a map showing a planned extension of Northwest-

A-Bomb Blast Delayed Again

Pontiac City Manager, Other Observers Leave Scene for Homes

City Manager Walter K. Willman was en route home today from Yucca Flat, Nev., where he and thousands of other civil defense observers, newsmen and military personnel have been awaiting an atomic bomb explosion since Tuesday morning.

Willman telephoned his office last night to say he would return after government officials announced the blast might be postponed until tomorrow or even next week. He had gone to Nevada last Thursday.

More than a fourth of the 1,300 civil defense workers who went to watch the explosion have returned home.

High crosswinds which threatened to carry the bomb's radioactive fall-out over heavily populated areas caused three postponements.

The test includes the first civil defense maneuvers under simulated attack by nuclear weapons.

At Yucca Flat, Val Peterson, Federal Civil Defense Administration director, expressed disappointment that many of the observers had to return home. But he added:

"Even those who had to return home learned much from coming here. The briefings and lectures have been invaluable. So have the studies of many civil defense tests and our survey of the houses and buildings to be subjected to the blast."

More than 5,000 persons are participating in the multiphase test, including soldiers, armored troops and Marines.

Social Security Deadline for Domestic Help Nears

WASHINGTON (AP)—Tomorrow is the first deadline for something like a million of Uncle Sam's new tax collectors—the householders who pay a domestic helper an average of $4 a week or more.

The new social security law that went into effect Jan. 1 qualified domestic help for social security if they make $50 a quarter, or more, from any one employer. That figures out to about $4 a week.

The householder is required to make the social security payments, and the first one is due no later than tomorrow.

Payments are due for any help around the house who earned as much as $50 during January, February and March, including a baby sitter, maid, handyman, laundress, cook, housekeeper, gardener, janitor, furnaceman, governess, valet, butler, chauffeur or other help.

The law puts the entire responsibility for making the social security tax payment for a domestic on the householder employer. It makes no difference if the domestic does not want to join up in social security. Nor does age make any difference — the teenage baby sitter is qualified.

Here is what the law requires the householder to do:

1. Deduct 2 per cent of the employe's cash wages.

2. Add another 2 per cent from your own pocket. (If you prefer, you may pay the entire 4 per cent, deducting none from your employe's wages.)

3. Get from your local internal revenue or social security office a form — which is an envelope — called "Employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household employes." You fill this in and mail it with the 4 per cent tax to your district director of internal revenue. He then puts you on a mailing list, and

Nichols Defends Wire Tappings

FBI Official Declares 'Clandestine Methods' Needed to Fight Reds

NEW YORK (INS) — Louis B. Nichols, assistant to the director of the FBI, declared last night clandestine Communist conspiracy can only be penetrated by "clandestine methods."

Defense of the use of informers was made at a forum conducted by the Anti-Defamation League of the B'Nai B'rith at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

He also defended wire tapping, saying:

"There are less than 150 wire-taps, by the FBI, in existence throughout the United States and territorial possessions, each authorized by the attorney general and each in a case involved security."

Nichols said "informants have become a necessity in the protection of internal security." He added that every effort is made to check information obtained from ex-Communists or other informants.

"The Communist Party," he continued, "has made a most vigorous campaign against informants, seeking to discredit the former Communists whose testimony is necessary to expose the Communist conspiracy.

"They have another reason: They want to discourage informants and other former Communists from telling the truth.

"The Communist Party is now down to a hard core of dedicated, fanatic revolutionaries. Its danger increases in proportion to the number of its sympathizers and muddle-headed persons."

Fine Weekend Promised for Pontiac

Pontiac residents will have fine weather for the weekend, with the prediction for fair skies and temperatures four points above normal.

In a five-day outlook, mild days are seen through Sunday. It will be cooler late Monday and Tuesday, with a warming trend to follow. Showers, starting Sunday night through Monday and again about Tuesday night, will bring a half-inch precipitation total.

Today in downtown Pontiac, the temperature hovered at the 76 mark at 2 p.m., after reaching a low of 50 degrees before 8 a.m.

Area Trouters Mark Time for Season Opening

Pontiac and Oakland County trout-fishing addicts today were marking time until start of the Michigan trout season. This momentous event is set for midnight, and its was expected that hundreds of anglers would be ready to try their luck in the early morning hours along the scores of spots afforded these fishermen.

Bald Mountain pond, Orchard Lake and a number of other Oakland County lakes, Paint Creek, in the Rochester section, Clinton River, the Huron River, and other area streams have planted trout in them to test the anglers' skill.

Some 200,000 were expected to hit the state's most favored trout areas Saturday and during the weekend. Good weather has promised one of the best opening days in years. Most northern Lower Peninsula streams, and those in this area were reported today clear, and at normal levels.

Some fly hatches have been reported in this area, and similar reports have come from Grayling, the Tawases and around Cadillac. However, the most universal lure probably will be the good old garden hackle, the lowly worm.

Calls It Prosperity Insurance

Ford Reveals Expansion Plan to Cost $625 Million

NEW YORK (AP)—Henry Ford II, announcing a 625-million-dollar, three-year expansion program for the Ford Motor Co., says he favors a new kind of prosperity insurance for workers.

He told the Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. last night that his company's spending plans for new plants and equipment means "we are building for the future every day."

Apparently with the proposed guaranteed annual wage in mind, he said the word "security" does not scare him and added:

"Perhaps what is needed is a new kind of prosperity insurance policy based on a reasonable, businesslike, pay-as-you-go plan, with limited and predictable costs."

Ford's company currently is bargaining with the CIO United Auto Workers on a union demand for a guaranteed annual wage — a guarantee of pay for so many weeks a year even if there are seasonal layoffs.

In commenting on the negotiations, Ford said:

"I'd like to make it perfectly clear that nothing I say in this connection should be interpreted as representing a Ford Motor Co. position either for or against the guaranteed annual wage."

In Detroit, Walter P. Reuther, CIO president and auto workers' head, said:

"We are prepared to discuss the soundness, the justice and the merits of our demands across the bargaining table. I hope Mr. Ford will meet his responsibility by participating in these negotiations . . . I hope Mr. Ford will join us at an early date."

Ford, in his talk, said he is interested in steady employment "not just because unemployment might lose me some customers."

"I realize," he said, "how much a real sense of job security would promote the psychology of optimism and well-being which will keep us moving forward at top speed . . .

"There's no question in my mind, then, that we should continue to explore means to so desirable an end."

But he cautioned against any rigid freezing of the labor pattern.

Telegraph Road By-Pass Is Set for Late Summer

Construction of the Telegraph Rd.-Orchard Lake Ave. grade separation will not begin until work on Detroit's Lodge Expressway is completed, State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler told the Pontiac Press last night.

He said that means crews should begin working on the separation sometime after midsummer.

The highway department early last month issued orders for the purchase of right-of-way for the project and is now acquiring property.

The separation will cost $500,000 with the federal government paying half and the city and state paying $125,000 each.

Believes Ike Will Run

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland said last night "I kinda have a hunch" President Eisenhower will run in 1956. "Lord help us if he doesn't run," he added.

Youngsters Watched

No Cause for Alarm Seen in State Polio Inoculations

DETROIT (AP) — Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit health commissioner, says parents of Michigan children inoculated with Salk polio vaccine distributed by the Cutter Laboratories of Berkeley, Calif., have no cause for alarm.

Enough of the California-made vaccine for 882 shots reached commercial outlets and hospitals in Detroit, Adrian, Grand Rapids, Lansing and Wayne.

The U. S. Public Health Service has clamped an embargo on the California vaccine. Six children in western states developed paralytic polio after being inoculated with it.

The government agency has emphasized, however, it has not been determined whether the vaccine was to blame.

"Dr. Molner said state health authorities in Michigan know just where the vaccine went and what children got it. He promised a strict watch would be kept on the youngsters inoculated with the Cutter-made vaccine.

"There is nothing to worry about," said Dr. Molner. "It appears that the West Coast children stricken with polio contracted the disease either before, at the time or immediately after they got their shots.

"Everyone should bear in mind that there still will be some polio cases from this time forward. I hope everyone can realize that."

No ill effects have been reported from any Salk polio vaccine inoculations in Michigan. None of the Cutter vaccine was used in the state's official inoculation program for first and second graders.

Apparently only scanty amounts of the Cutter vaccine was used in private inoculations in Michigan.

Most of the commercial outlets and hospitals that got Cutter vaccine have returned it intact.

Eased Bonanzagram Rules Will Help You Win $700

Having trouble winning that Bonanzagram jackpot?

Starting with the current Bonanzagram, puzzles are getting a bit hard week by week, but since no one has yet turned in a perfect answer the Press has modified the rules slightly.

Starting with Bonanzagram No. 8, appearing for the last time today on page 10 the following modifications will be made in the rules:

1. A perfect answer (all letters and ALL punctuation) will still win the prize.

2. If no perfect answer is submitted the prize money will be awarded for any solution with ONLY ONE punctuation error. All missing letters must be correct, as in the original rules.

This will give fans a little more leeway in trying for the prize, which thus far has remained tantalizingly just beyond the reach of some contestants.

The new rules start with the current Bonanzagram, No. 8, appearing today on page 10. Be sure and read the revised rules, and remember your answer must be in by 5 p. m. Tuesday.

Correct answer to puzzle No. 7 appears today on page 10. The cash prize is now $700. If no one wins on No. 7 the weekly $100 will be added to the current puzzle, making the total then $800.

Royal Oak Man to Head Water Study Committee

Mayor Howard K. Kelly, of Royal Oak, has been named chairman of Oakland County's 13-person water study committee which will work with similar Macomb and St. Clair groups in attempting to develop a tri-county surface water supply.

Kelly's appointment was announced by Floyd Andrews, chairman of the Oakland Board of Supervisors. The committee will include six other supervisors not yet named, four plan commission members, Pontiac City Manager Walter K. Willman, and one unappointed representative of industry.

"More and more people are realizing the importance of starting work now on a future water supply capable of handling the wants of expanding industry and population," said George N. Skrubb, director of the county plan commission.

The plan commission has been studying the problem since January 1954 on request of the supervisors. Its findings have been instrumental in getting the present project under way.

"I don't think we've been hurt by lack of water as yet," Skrubb stated. "New industry locating here is still able to obtain sufficient water.

"But Wayne County has approved a $50,000,000 revenue bond issue to establish an independent water project with a new treatment plant taking in water from the Livingston Channel in Lake Erie."

The Detroit-Wayne system will supply only a small portion of Oakland County.

The Oakland water-study committee was authorized April 17. Macomb formed a nine-member group April 12, and St. Clair a three-man body April 18.

The three groups are expected to get together for an organizational meeting early in May, said Skrubb.

Conferences Reduce Docket

Jury Trials in April Term Are Cut by 26, Saving $5,000

Pre-trial conferences completed yesterday have cut the number of jury trials slated during the April Circuit Court term by 26, saving Oakland County some $5,000, Prosecutor Frederick C. Ziem said today.

Oakland is probably the only Michigan county which uses the conferences at which an accused person, with his attorney, meets with the judge and prosecutor to discuss his case.

"Many persons who would come into court after a jury is assembled at the county's expense and immediately plead guilty, make their plea after the conference thus eliminating the cost and time lost in arranging a trial," Ziem said.

During the conferences this week, 23 persons who first claimed innocence or stood mute, changed to a guilty plea, three other cases were dismissed.

The pre-trials were launched by Ziem and Chief Assistant Prosecutor George F. Taylor a year ago.

"When a jury convenes only to find the accused pleads guilty, they have no job to do, but still must be paid by the county. They lose time from their jobs and businesses as do police officers, judges and members of our staff," Ziem stated.

The schedule of criminal trials also is arranged during the conferences, he added.

Home Owners Warned About Offer by Mail

Pontiac homeowners today were warned about a "model home" offer being made by mail which promises home improvement jobs at a fraction of actual cost.

"In every case I know of, these companies charge more than local reputable firms would charge for the same job," said John W. Hirlinger, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce.

Hirlinger, speaking for the Chamber's Business Ethics Board, said the offer is for siding, roofing and other improvement jobs. The homeowner is told his home will be used as a display model.

Sometimes he is also told he will receive a commission on sales made as a result of persons viewing his home, Hirlinger said.

Both the homeowner and the company are liable to federal prosecution for violation of the FHA laws if they sign a Title 1 contract for the job with such an understanding, he said.

Under the law, according to Hirlinger, the buyer when signing the Title 1 papers declares no agreement was made offering him a commission or other inducement.

Condemnation Suit Jury Deliberating

An Oakland County Circuit Court jury began deliberating at 10 a.m. this morning on Birmingham School District's suit to condemn land at Lahser and Fourteen Mile Rds. in Southfield Township for a building site.

The area includes nine parcels containing 30 acres. Only two lots, totaling about seven acres, remain in dispute.

The district plans both elementary and junior high schools on the land. Judge George B. Hartrick told the jury they must decide if the land should be condemned, and, if so, how much should be paid for it.

Timidity No Excuse

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP) — Compensation Commissioner Harold Strauch ruled that a woman who refused a job selling Bibles door-to-door was eligible for unemployment benefits. Strauch said the woman couldn't take the job because she was too timid.

Maryland Cats Are Still Entitled to Their Nights

BALTIMORE (AP)—Every dog has his day, but the cats in Prince Georges County will still have their night—thanks to a bill vetoed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin today.

The bill would have provided for the 'control, regulation and restraint of cats running at large" in the county.

Tracing the cat's relationship to the lion, tiger, puma and 'others of the genus felis which still enjoy the largesse of unlimited liberty in their native habitats," McKeldin said:

"Thus, the cat is, by nature, a roamer and a prowler, and, like his distant cousins, prefers the gentle cover of the night, both for reason or romance and pursuit of prey."

Senate Passes Education Bills

Measures Implement the School Bond Issue OK'd by Voters

LANSING (AP)—Legislation was approved by the Senate today to implement the 100 million dollar state bond issue for local school construction passed by the voters April 4.

The bills now go to the House.

Sen. William S. Broomfield (R-Royal Oak), one of the sponsors, paid tribute to Sens. Edward Hutchinson (R-Fennville) and Frank D. Beadle (R-St. Clair) for tightening the legislation "so that the people can be assured their money will be spent without extravagance."

"These bills make certain this will be no grab bag," he said.

Other bills passed and sent to the House today would:

Establish a state board of registration in veterinary medicine.

Permit the State Water Resources Commission to enter into contracts with municipalities to survey new water supplies.

Transfer licensing of nursing and convalescent homes from the State Welfare Department to the State Health Department.

Make it illegal to interfere with a person using another's duck blind in the Great Lakes waters in good faith.

Forbid public grazing on state conservation land without a permit.

Add a Spanish War veteran to the Board of Control of the State Veterans Facility.

Allow local units by ordinance to penalize persons driving on a revoked or suspended license a second time.

Formosa Unhappy Over Talk Prospect

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—Uncertainty hangs over Chiang Kai-shek's capital these days, feeding upon the fear that proposed talks between the United States and Communist China would do the Nationalist Chinese government no good.

The official policy is to say nothing just now.

Despite this reticence signs of worry find expression.

The Kung Lun Pao, a paper published by Formosan interests, said today Red China is baiting a trap for the United States and that the United States might fall for it.

This is the return covering receipts for the first three months of the year.

Diem Proclaims Victory in War

U. S.-Backed Premier Defies the Authority of Viet Nam's Ruler

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Premier Ngo Dinh Diem claimed victory in bloody civil strife today and defied the authority of Chief of State Bao Dai to remove him.

Diem's American-backed government, in the second day of a showdown battle with the Binh Xuyen society, said the Premier was "indispensable" to the country.

Despite the victory claim, fighting which had caused casualties of perhaps 1,000 killed or wounded continued in the area between Saigon and its Chinese suburb of Cho Lon.

One clash flared only four blocks from the U.S. Embassy. Fires raging the past 24 hours made thousands of persons homeless.

The government said its shock troops had blasted the last of the Binh Xuyen from their lone remaining stronghold guarding approaches to the society's headquarters in Cho Lon. The building was reported ablaze from Nationalist artillery.

Bao Dai, who lives on the French Riviera, summoned Diem to confer with him there by Tuesday. This was regarded as virtual dismissal for Diem.

Employers who wilfully neglect to file and pay are subject to fines up to $10,000, or to a prison term up to one year, or both.

Young Bride's Trousseau Saved From Fire Here

A roof fire this morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Collis A. Scott, 31 Franklin Blvd., was only a minor blaze, according to Assistant Fire Chief Max W. Wells.

But the blaze could have postponed a wedding in Lansing this afternoon between the Scotts' daughter, Susanne, 20, and her fiance, Thomas L. Houle, 21, of Franklin Village.

Here's what happened:

The housekeeper, Mrs. Glynn Ross of 185 W. Ypsilanti St., discovered the roof ablaze over an upstairs room containing Susanne's large wedding trousseau.

Scott, who was summoned from work, and Mrs. Ross carried the trousseau from the burning building to safety and called the fire department.

Meanwhile, Susanne and her mother, Valeria, were returning home from the hair dressers.

"I saw smoke and first thing I thought about was my trousseau I'd been getting ready for a long time. I was worried we'd never get to the wedding in Lansing in time now. I can still get married, although I might be a little late for the wedding."

Advises Senator to Shut Mouth, Give Ike Chance

HONOLULU (AP) — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr. (D-NY) said last night that Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) "would do well to keep his mouth shut for about 30 days and give President Eisenhower an unimpeded chance to bring about peace in the Far East."

Powell talked to reporters as he arrived from the Asian-African conference at Bandung, where he was an unofficial observer.

He referred to Knowland's opposition to negotiating with Communist China.

Powell said Eisenhower would be on safe ground to confer with Red China's Premier Chou En-lai "on general tensions in the Far East, excluding Formosa."

Powell said the Bandung conference "put Chou on the spot. Now he is on trial before his 28 African and Asian neighbors."

Warehouse Fire Loss $500,000

Lansing Firemen Quell Huge Blaze in Store's Merchandise Stocks

LANSING (AP)—Fire in a department store warehouse caused damage estimated at half a million dollars here this morning.

The warehouse, on South Pennsylvania Ave. was leased by the F. N. Arbaugh Co. Department Store for its stock of general merchandise.

The blaze discovered about 8:30 a.m. this morning, caused extensive damage to the cement block building and its contents.

Lansing Fire Chief Charles Decker estimated damage to the building at $150,000 and to the contents at $350,000.

Decker said the fire apparently started in a boiler room and might have smouldered all night before it was discovered this morning.

Black clouds of smoke poured from the warehouse as the assortment of department store merchandise provided ready tinder for the blaze. The fire was brought under control about 10 a.m.

By noon, only the shell of the walls of the one-story warehouse was standing as firemen poured water into the smouldering interior. Nearby gasoline tanks were wetted down to prevent an explosion.

The fire was Lansing's largest since the spectacular state office building blaze five years ago.

Police Seek Arsonist in Two Chicago Fires

CHICAGO (UP) — A three-pronged search was launched today for the arsonist who set fire to a crowded hotel and may have touched off a tenement building. Twelve persons were killed in the two blazes.

Inquests into the twin tragedies were to open today and a three-day investigation was ordered by Gov. William Stratton, Mayor Richard J. Daley and Coroner Walter E. McCarron.

The blazes broke out almost simultaneously on the near north side early yesterday. Seven residents and a heroic fire captain perished in the flaming Green Mill Hotel. Three children and a young man were trapped in their rooms and died in the tenement six blocks away.

Union Extends Pact With Parke-Davis

DETROIT, (AP)—Parke, Davis & Co. and the CIO Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers have agreed on a union proposal to exterid their contract on a day-to-day basis beyond its May 1 expiration date.

The proposal was made last night as management and the union continued bargaining sessions with federal and state mediators on a new contract for some 2,000 Parke Davis employes.

The union said it asked for the extension rather than interrupt the flow of Salk polio vaccine by a walkout. Parke Davis is a major producer of the vaccine.

At issue are wage demands, a guaranteed annual wage and fringe benefits.

Proteins are always colloidal.

Left-Wing Chief Elected in Italy

Christian Dem Choice Becomes 2nd President in Parliament Voting

ROME (AP) — Giovanni Gronchi, 67, leader of the left-wing element of Italy's majority Christian Democrat party, was elected Italy's second president today.

Gronchi, a World War II resistance leader, was elected on the fourth ballot at a joint session of Parliament. Three previous ballots, taken yesterday, had failed to find a successor to 81-year-old Luigi Einaudi, first president of the Republic.

Gronchi, president of the Chamber of Deputies since 1948, presided over the session of senators, deputies and regional representatives that elected him. Only a few minutes earlier he had been designated as official candidate of his party.

His election came as a heavy blow to Premier Mario Scelba, recently back from a triumphant trip to America. Scelba had asked his Christian Democrat party to support an independent. He personally had thrown his weight behind the Senate president, Cesare Merzagora, who withdrew just before today's vote.

Broomfield Measure to Kill MTA Dies

ern Highway northwesterly to hit US-23 south of Fenton. "This route will be built whether or not a north-south toll road or freeway is constructed farther east," he declared.

The commissioner then pointed out a route mapped in 1951 entering Oakland County near the southeast corner of Southfield Township, running north to intersect Telegraph road near the corner of Franklin just south of Pontiac, then cutting northwest almost touching Pontiac's west city limits.

The 10-mile-wide area between the Northwestern extension and the 1951 route is all under consideration for locating a north-south freeway, he stated.

At a public hearing on the Broomfield bill held April 20 in Lansing, Ziegler said the 1951 route might be moved only a mile or two in either direction to accommodate communities and property owners.

He explained last night that since 1951 "the rapid expansion of both business and residential construction along this proposed route . . . makes it necessary . . . to study a wider area in light of these developments."

The Pontiac metropolitan areas would receive "full consideration" in determining any final freeway path, Ziegler asserted.

He described a $750,000 origin and destination traffic survey now under way which includes Wayne County, part of Macomb and Oakland south of Pontiac.

"The results of this study will have tremendous influence on the final location of the freeway from Detroit to Bay City. The final report will be received the latter part of June."

An informed source close to the survey group said, however, that no report is expected out until early in August and it will contain only statistics.

The final report, with specific road improvement suggestions, is not expected until next year, it was said.

Estimated cost of a 96-mile north-south freeway is $78,000,000. Under the present set up, the federal government would pay 60 per cent of this. "If the President's program is enacted, federal funds will provide 75 or possibly 80 per cent," said Ziegler.

When asked his opinion on the need for toll roads, Ziegler said, "In my opinion there is no place in Michigan for a toll road."

A freeway running close to Pontiac plus the Northwestern extension both would probably be needed if Detroit should be evacuated in event of enemy attack, the commissioner stated.

Robert VanderKloot, the citizens association president, urged the gathering to get behind the McCollough bill. "It will force the MTA to bypass communities which protest against a toll road cutting them in two," he stated.

School Board Will Study 3-Year Expansion Plan

BIRMINGHAM — A three-year plan to construct new schools and expand and modernize older buildings will be presented to the Board of Education at its meeting Tuesday.

The program, contained in a study along with recommendations, purports to be able to solve problems of overcrowded schools without undue expense to the taxpayer.

Louis A. Bauer, chairman of the facilities planning committee of the independent Citizens Committee for Education, will make the presentation along with three subcommittee chairmen—Carl Ingraham, Paul Fleck and Stanley Gillen.

Since November, the committee has been studying needs for additional classroom space and for bringing existing facilities up to acceptable standards and financing. The committee is sponsored by the PTA Council.

Officials also indicated the committee probably will recommend that a school bond proposal be submitted to voters June 13.

If the school board acts on the recommendations it would have to adopt necessary resolutions by May 23, deadline for getting them placed on the June ballot.

Recommendations in the study go only through the 1957-58 school year. Committee members said they felt short-term recommendations were best, considering steady population increases in the district.

U. S. in Probe of 'Pink Wheat'

Federal Investigators Tracking Down Grain Shipped to State

LANSING (AP)—A federal investigation is under way into the rash of poisonous "pink wheat" that has been showing up in shipments to Michigan milling concerns.

Clarence Prentice, state administrator for the Agricultural Stabilization Committee, said investigators from the compliance and investigation division of the federal Agriculture Department are looking into the situation.

Prentice said the federal government is interested because some of the wheat was sold to the Commodity Credit Corporation under the federal price support program.

"Pink wheat" is wheat treated with a mercurial compound to prepare it for use as seed. It is unfit for human consumption.

Miles A. Nelson, head of the marketing and enforcement division of the State Department of Agriculture, gave this progress report on the work of his men in running down the pink wheat.

He said three freight cars of wheat and one lot from a farmer had been segregated and were found to contain mercury. Two more freight car loads in Detroit have been analyzed and found unfit to use as food.

Four additional suspected freight car loads have been sampled and the laboratory report is pending. Two more suspected cars are being traced and will be sampled when run down.

City Police Hold Man on Fugitive Warrant

Pontiac Police today were holding Robert Lee Holcomb, 30, on a fugitive warrant by authorities in Kennett, Mo., charging breaking and entering in the night-time of a restaurant in Cardwell, Mo., last Saturday.

Detectives Olin Hoffman and Sgt. John A. DePauw arrested Holcomb last night at 1630 Opdyke Rd. after learning of his whereabouts from Missouri authorities. Capt. Clark M. Wheaton, chief of detectives, said the sheriff's department there is being notified of Holcomb's arrest.

Dems Filibuster on Labor Bill

Wisconsin Solons Fight in Vain Against Halting Union Money Donations

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—Democratic senators wrote Wisconsin political history today in an admittedly hopeless filibuster on a bill that would prohibit labor unions from contributing money to political campaigns.

The eight Democrats in the 33-member Wisconsin Senate started their fight against the Republican-sponsored bill early yesterday and continued it through the early hours of today without letup.

* * *

They were determined, according to their floor leader, Sen. Henry Maier, of Milwaukee, to continue the discussion indefinitely if possible in an effort to dramatize their opposition to the bill. Maier admitted that his forces could not win but said they would not quit until they were convinced they had made their point.

* * *

Republicans, who control the Senate as well as the Assembly, were riding out the discussion apparently with little concern and said they had no plans to check the Democrats although they could do so by parliamentary procedure.

The bill, fought vigorously by labor leaders at a public hearing recently, passed in the Assembly last week 59-40.

Women Become Alexander Graham Belles

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK (INS) — The hot fashion trend of the day is to coordinate your clothes with your new colored telephone. In other words, you'll excuse the expression, be an Alexander Graham belle.

The theory behind this is that if one is called to the phone while one has guests, it would be truly embarrassing to clash with one's dial tones. Say you have one of the new green phones, and you're wearing a turquoise dress.

Ugh.

This trend can be likened, roughly, unto the fight being put up by auto-makers to get women to use more taste on the road. The sincere car dealer has been trying for months now to discourage red-haired women from purchasing lilac, shrimp and coral cars and pressing them (often against husbands' wishes) into the more subdued convertibles, such as golden rod and blush-glow.

Sports car makers are urging ladies in red racers to buy custom wardrobes that match their cars identically, as off-shades decidedly spoil the effect. And there is scarcely a woman to be found in a cerulean limousine these days who has not been talked into a blue chiffon gown or tissue-wool motor coat. Not to mention a silverblue mink which is considered a smart accent to this color Cadillac.

There is also the big business of adjusting one's wardrobe to the interior decor of the home. You have a beige rug, you should have a beige housecoat, the decorators say. You have gray drapes, you should encourage gray hairs. I myself own a giant stuffed leopard which is displayed on my bed and am thus forced, aesthetically, to be polka-dotted upon retiring.

The phone trend is the easiest mix-and/or-match job women have yet had to face, mainly because phones come in less exotic colors than cars or interiors. So far, anyway, the only colors you can get phones in are ivory, green, blue, red, yellow, gray, brown, beige and the old conservative colors sometimes known in telephone color circles as "yak-yak black."

The Western Electric people have just issued the dope on what to wear with your new telephone in their house publication (for chariness begins at home), and here is what they recommend

For ivory-colored phones, W E suggests a beige jumper with crisp white blouse to pick up and bring out the dial face. For the green phone, they suggested a simple green sweater, again with white skirt.

The yellow phone presents a challenge because blondes look quite sallow when using it; however, this can be overcome by a helmet hat that completely hides the hair, and to pick up the phone's tones—a yellow sash.

For the red phone, they suggest a red "topper coat" with hat to match. (This seems fine for people suddenly called to the phone from the porch on a chilly day, but for the girl who must race to the phone from the bridge table, the suggestion is awkward and unnatural.)

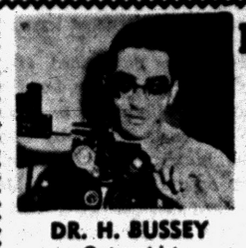

The gray phone is a trifle drab and calls for sharp accent colors. W E suggests a multi-colored striped blazer jacket. For the blue phone there is a blue dimity frock and shoes dyed to match. For the black, anything goes, just so it is not so gaudy as to detract from the elegant simplicity of the telephone itself.

After all, it is the phone that is being featured and you must set it off. Think of all the times it's set you off—on one goose chase or another. Turnabout is fair play.

Uses Trap to Clip Bills

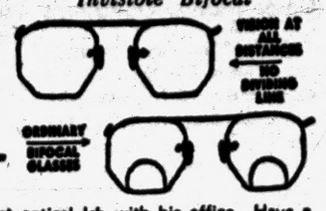

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP) — The man may not have built a better mousetrap, but he made good use of one he had. Mrs. K. H. Snider was eating in a restaurant when she saw a man pull a mousetrap from his pocket and take a bill from the "folding money" clipped to the trap to pay his bill.

Australians have 15 telephones, 12 cars, 29 radio sets for every 100 persons, compared with 29 telephones, 28 cars and 59 radios for every 100 Americans, but the difference is diminishing.

Fred Astaire Can't Sing

By MARGARET LATROBE

The other night Fred Astaire was described on the air as "one of the greatest singers there is." The famous dancer giggled modestly and allowed that he just didn't happen to think so. Nor do I.

It isn't surprising, though, that artists in one field have come to believe they can sing as well as dance, play piano, act or win a beauty contest. They listen to certain idols crooning, groaning and weeping up the melody for a million a year, and the perfectly normal reaction is, "If this guy can sing, so can I."

Before you dump the coffee grounds in the middle of this page, let me swear devotion to Como and Kitt and Dizzie. There are times when I am avidly interested in such crumby folk as "No Account Joe." Nor do I "want no Ricochet Romance," any more than do the Maguire sisters or the Fontaines.

This is merely to point out that the voice box, the pipes and the rounded tones are no guarantees of success in the ballad business. Musical notes formerly confined to the morning shower curtain have emerged to the foremost stage curtains of our land. Except that of the Met, of course, which still requires a somewhat rigid adherence to the do-re-mi department.

To further separate the two schools of singing, one has only to watch the amusing spectacle of an opera star — with an eye on the money bags — assuming that he or she can handle a popular song. Before the chorus is half through it is evident that the trained voice is on pitch — on beat and clinging in cowardly fashion to the band — none of which will put over the song.

You feel in your bones that this Faust fellow doesn't give a hang about No Account Joe. That this mezzo-soprano who lilts a mean Carmen is way out of character in her efforts to cry in the same league with Johnnie Ray.

Sixty per cent publicity, 38 per cent personality, and two per cent laryngitis seems to be the formula in some cases. Although certain popular singers can hold a note until the orchestra gives up, although they may carry a tune in any named direction — still it doesn't matter much. An emotion-packed musical recitation is enough to send listeners into ecstasy, particularly when enough gossip has been printed about fist fights and/or lost loves.

Mr. Astaire, the greatest ballroom dancer we ever saw, is not a singer. Some say he just makes records to prove that a man doesn't have to excel in everything. Which is perhaps as good a reason as any.

'Copter Travel on the Upswing

Many Cities Now Have Shuttle Service To and From Airports

CHICAGO (UP) — Helicopter travel someday may be as common as travel by automobile, according to the American Society of Planning Officials.

The society takes note of the helicopter's future in a report on "Heliports in the City Plan."

It said the evidence points to wider use of helicopters for trips of 25 to 200 miles.

Cleveland has a new helicopter taxi service between the airport on the West Side and its lakefront airport, for example.

Passenger helicopters have been placed in service also between Los Angeles International Airport and downtown Long Beach, Calif.

The helicopter service between Miami Beach and West Palm Beach now carries about 1,000 passengers a month, the society said.

The Helicopter Air Service of Chicago has filed application with the Civil Aeronautics Board for authority to carry passengers as well as mail to about 70 towns.

The company also seeks approval of a shuttle service between Chicago airports for night flights.

New York already has permission for after-dark flights. New York also has passenger helicopter service between the three major airports in the area and to White Plains, N. Y., Stamford, Conn., and Trenton, Princeton and New Brunswick, N. J.

Stock Margin Boost No Cause for Worry

There is no cause for alarm over the Federal Reserve Board's order to increase stock margin requirements to 70 per cent.

Instead, that order in conjunction with a boost in the bank discount rate from 1.5 to 1.75 per cent is reassuring. It is evidence that the board is maintaining careful watch over the current bull market. The market itself took the order in stride. After a brief setback its upward trend was resumed.

★ ★ ★

The results should be increased stability of the economy and greater safety for investors, especially small investors. The latter came into the market in large numbers since World War II.

This latest Federal Reserve order marks the second time this year that the board has felt it necessary to tighten the brake on stock speculation. Back on January 5 the margin requirement was raised from 50 to 60 per cent.

Actually the economy is in excellent health. It has regained almost all the ground lost last year. Moreover, it has done this without any price inflation.

★ ★ ★

In our view the board's action not only is justified but timely because of the continued construction boom and rising stock prices. As Federal Reserve Chairman Martin said, there is no reason to fear prosperity but there is every reason to guard against speculative fever.

Individuals Must Help in Fight Against Cancer

With the April Cancer month observance nearing its end it is fitting to remind readers once again that this cruelest of all diseases can be defeated if detected soon enough.

This also is an appropriate time to emphasize the fact that victory over cancer can't be won by the medical profession, the cancer society or research alone. Much depends on the individual. He must know the seven danger signals and the wisdom of periodic physical examinations to ensure early detection if cancer is present.

He also must realize that thus far only three methods of treating cancer — X-ray or radium treatments and surgery, have been generally accepted. Dr. Richard Olsen, president of the local branch of the cancer society, points out, no cancer ever has been cured by pills, powders, any home, quack or secret remedy.

Relentless though cancer is, enough progress has been made to give promise that it will be conquered. Last year alone approximately 75,000 Americans were saved from cancer deaths. Of these 200 are residents of Oakland County and 1,300 live in Wayne.

In the past 10 years the American Cancer Society has spent nearly $35,000,000 on research. The 1955 budget is $5,500,000. This is helping to support research by 1,000 top flight scientists in 132 hospitals, universities, laboratories, etc. It also helps maintain the 633 ACS clinics.

From time to time some research man or clinic reports a cure for cancer has been found, but thus far none has offered proof that has been convincing to either the U. S. Public Health Service or the medical profession generally.

Help the society fight this terrible disease by contributing to the United Fund and by periodic visits to your own physician.

Prejudice is the child of ignorance.

Anti-cold Vaccine Nearer

From Chillicothe, Ohio, comes the cheering news that something is being done about the common cold.

Long ago the public, rightly or wrongly, got the impression that modern medicine couldn't do much about this annoying if not dangerous ailment.

Dr. Robert J. Huebner of Bethesda, Md., chief of the virus section of the Microbiology Institute, National Institute of Health, doesn't share that view.

More important, with his assistants he is resuming experimental research work on the problem at the Chillicothe Reformatory. So far he has been able to isolate 10 types of viruses, all related, that produce symptoms of a cold.

Some 70 volunteers among the inmates have been given what Dr. Huebner calls APC adenoidal-pharyngeal-conjunctival) virus. Within a month he hopes to inoculate the volunteers with a vaccine that will do for cold sufferers what the Salk vaccine can do to prevent paralytic polio.

All 164,000,000 of us, Dr. Huebner, are awaiting the chance to cheer the man who finds the key to conquest of the common cold.

Another precaution a man should take when he's chasing a blonde is to guard against being waylaid by a brunette.

David Lawrence Says:

Hypocritical Nehru Tries to Take Portuguese Land

LISBON—Nowhere in the world is more convincing proof to be found of the double-talk and hypocrisy of Prime Minister Nehru of India and some of his colleagues at the recent Afro-Asian Conference than right here in Portugal.

For, despite all those professions of high purpose—such as non-violence and non-aggression—the Portuguese can give you an account of the teritorial greed and aggression by India which makes all the pious utterances of Nehru about "anti-colonialism" seem rather hypocritical.

* * *

Portugal has for 400 years owned Portuguese India. The largest of its three districts is Goa, a small territory of about 1,350 square miles on the coast of India which today is inhabited by more than 500,000 people, almost all of whom are Portuguese. There is no trade or commercial relationship or exploitation involved—only a cultural tie.

Portuguese inhabitants of Goa have married Indians and have been living peacefully there for a long time. Some of their number have come to Portugal to study and have become a part of the government. One full-blooded Indian has become a member of the Supreme Court of Portugal — there is no discrimination here on the basis of race or color.

But in 1947 India, inspired by Communist pressure, began to move in on the territory of Goa. Armed raids have been staged. Demands have been made by Nehru that Portugal give up her territory, and an economic blockade has been imposed. Portuguese India isn't a colony. It is an integral part of the Republic of Portugal, just as much as Alaska is a part of the United States.

The Communists have kept up a steady needling of Nehru at New Delhi on the Goa issue, and their aim undoubtedly is to stir up friction between Portugal and her allies. For Portugal is a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and is important strategically to the defense of Europe by air and sea. Portugal, moreover, controls the Azores, which are a vital base for the United States military forces.

* * *

Thus far the Washington government has steered clear of the controversy, though there is no good reason why the United States shouldn't join Britain in manifesting moral support for the position of Portugal in desiring to hold on to her overseas territories. There is less reason for giving up Goa, which is represented directly in the Lisbon Parliament and is thoroughly Portuguese, than for Britain to give up Hong Kong, with its many Chinese inhabitants.

There is no issue of self-determination involved in Goa. For any plebiscite held would bring an overwhelming vote by the people in favor of remaining a part of Portugal. Indeed, under the terms of the Portuguese-British treaty, Great Britain is specifically committed to the defense of all Portuguese territory. Likewise, under the North Atlantic Treaty, a legal case can be made for the protection of all Portuguese territories against attack.

But the issues will probably never be settled by force because India boasts of her desire to adopt peaceful methods, and the government here is assuming that, when all the chips are down, there will be no attempt to take Goa by force.

Nehru of India talks a great deal about colonialism but, in seeking to annex Goa, he is proposing to add to India a territory inhabited by an entirely different race of people with a totally different culture and to force it to amalgamate with a system of life not of its own choosing.

Baering Down

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

(International News Service)

In 1939 we stood outside of 10 Downing Street waiting for the Churchillian pronunciamento that would bring disorder out of chaos.

International events were spilling like a drunk's coffee.

Shickelgruber had just told Mussolini at their famous one-man meeting, "Benito, at the next changing of the guards I will change 'em for Germans."

We had seen the switching of the sentinels that very day. We had tried to interview one. But got no more answer than an investor complaining about his Canadian uranium stock. The guards were serious young men with heavy hats.

I was with an English reporter who had been patrolling 10 Downing Street for eleven hours. It was one of those crises where you couldn't send in for a sandwich.

Finally, in the twilight we saw the knob on 10 Downing Street turn slowly as a trained elephant on a painted tub.

The crowd of seventy or eighty reporters brought the pencils to port arms and their pads to attention.

'Local Doctors, Nurses, Hospitals Deserve Credit for Polio Work Along With Dr. Salk'

Letters will be condensed when necessary because of lack of space. Full name, address and telephone number of the writer must accompany letters but these will not be published if the writer so requests unless the letter is critical in its nature.

Let's give credit where it's due. Although Dr. Salk is responsible for the polio vaccine, many of our local hospitals, doctors and nurses deserve much credit for what they have done for polio patients in the past and are now doing.

Only last summer when our local little "leaguers" were practicing in the vacant lot, a polio victim watched them as he leaned on his crutches. He could stand by himself so they induced him to pitch for them. He seemed to be doing well at it until the smallest player yelled, "Hey, don't hit the kid's bike." But the smart owner of the bike rode it out of the way, circled the poor crippled boy and said, "I'll bet you could ride this bike."

Incidentally, later he told me a nurse at the hospital told him to exercise his leg muscles, so the next day I saw him on a bicycle and he wasn't even carrying his crutches. It seems baseball players never lose!

Infirmary Medical Staff Gets Praise From R. N.

As a former employe of the Oakland County Infirmary and Convalescent Hospital, the articles and pictures you frequently run are always of great interest to me. Citizens of Oakland County can well be proud of this hospital and the fine care given.

I notice most of the stories stress the occupational therapy division and pictures are of uppatients or home department patients. I think more credit should be given to the medical and nursing division and the care of the really ill people. I have seen some wonderful recoveries there, due to skilled medical attention and tireless nursing care.

The work of many through the years has brought about the desirable condition of our hospital. It did not just happen. Space does not permit a list of their names, but if they read this, they'll know and get a warm glow of satisfaction in knowing they had a part. I even like to think I had some small part in the hospital's progress.

'Person's Speech Reflects Type of Individual He Is'

People know you by the way you walk and talk. Believe in yourself, speak naturally and cultivate the ability to make yourself understood. Faulty expressions or use of words implies faulty thinking. As Shakespeare wrote, "The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars, but in ourselves."

Make sure that your choice of words is in accordance with your personal satisfaction and happiness. In other words, feel that when you speak you have done so to the very best of your ability. Start a new cycle for yourself—that of voice development. Regardless of age, one's voice and word values can be magnetized from right thought and word tone. Only we as individuals have the power to direct our thoughts and the words we speak. It is much like the people who say they are holding good thoughts in mind. This is not good enough. Good words reflecting the thoughts must be spoken. You will grow into finer opportunities in life to the same extent that you cultivate the use of word tone and word value.

Speaking with people is much like taking a picture with a camera. Taking the picture parallels the words which you are saying. The developed and finished print of the picture parallels the impression your words make upon your listeners.

Youths Need Knowledge of How to Handle Money

By MERRYLE RUKEYSER

(International News Service)

With the rapid increase in the United States of the incidence of emotional, nervous and mental ailments, it seems to me that a little more horse sense in the training of young folks in money matters would be of great preventive importance.

Specifically, goofy teachings about money, in some "idealistic" quarters, leads to avoidable maladjustments.

While there is, of course, wisdom in efforts not to overstress materialistic considerations, excesses on the reverse side can also be disturbing.

One of the costs of a free-choice society, which throws off the highest dividends in living standards, leisure, and spiritual self-expression, is the pressure on breadwinners. This is occasioned by the fact that, while family habits tend to make expenses more or less a fixed charge, income tends to be speculative, and to vary not only in accordance with the general business cycle but also in accordance with the personal success cycle of the individual.

Likewise, since pre-World War II even the well-disciplined family budgeters have been harassed by pressure resulting from (a) rising taxes, which ate into "take home" pay, especially in the middle and higher brackets; and (b) by inflation, which reduced the value of more or less fixed incomes.

One of my English professors when I was a student at an eastern university loved culture, and withdrew from the vulgarities of the market place. In the middle of his career, there was a readjustment in the faculty, and he suddenly found himself without employment.

After a worried interlude, he ultimately became a librarian at another university. But the experience changed his attitude. I met him in the subway in this later period, and asked: "Doctor, what's your favorite book this season?" He answered: "My check book."

It is not preparing young people for life to understate the importance of continuity of money income. Instead of creating a nuerosis or fear complex, it is healthy to diffuse the notion that an individual achieves economic security through cultivating personal talent and know-how.

But, while talk is cheap about the vulgarity of money, many marriages break up because the breadwinner is not economically well-adjusted. The mature person doesn't overvalue material things, but at the same time he knows that he must deal with landlords, super-markets, transportation and light and power companies, telephone enterprises, and others who regularly expect cash on the barrelhead.

It is my lay opinion that mental and emotional strain would be reduced if parents, teachers, and the clergy would pass along to young people a scientific attitude toward money management.

There Is No Real Future in Any Job . . . It Lies in Person Who Is Working

Bert is loafing and sponging off his parents for board and room because he has the wrong idea about vocational guidance. There is no future in any job! The future always lies in the worker who holds that job, so get into gear. Take the "callus test" below and expend a lot of "elbow grease."

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Case O-317: Bert M., aged 20, has a high I.Q. but little horse sense.

"Dr. Crane, he sits around the house watching TV and mooching cigarettes when he ought to be working," his older married sister protested.

"But Bert says he can't afford to take any old job. For he coaxed my dad into spending $500 on a lot of psychological tests and vocational advice for Bert.

"And because the analyst told Bert that he had talent for advertising, Bert refuses to take any job except with an advertising agency.

"He has turned down good offers from one of our banks and also from an insurance company.

"And he has been loafing for three months. Don't you think he ought to take a job and repay my parents some of the money they've spent on his college education?"

There is no future in any job! For the future always lies in the man who holds that job.

Jobs are just rungs on the ladder of success. But those rungs don't move. They don't go anywhere.

Any ambitioius young person, however, can step on those rungs and climb to the top.

But it takes a lot of rungs to reach the pinnacle. Applied to life, it usually requires a great many different jobs before a person has enough experience to be the top man in his field.

The vocational analyst may have been right in telling Bert that he had talent for advertising.

But advertising includes bank publicity as well as insurance advertising and many other varieties, so Bert would have been a better advertising man to have worked in banking or insurance companies for awhile.

Nowadays it takes versatility to reach the top, so Bert should have accepted the best job available at the moment.

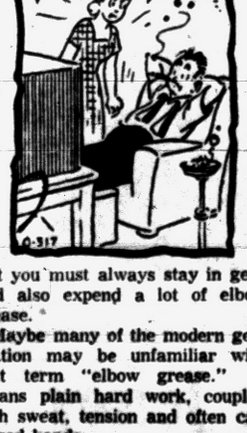

Then he should have done it to the utmost of his ability. But meanwhile he should have kept his eyes open for the breaks.

That's the proper formula for vocational success. A man should always be employed, and then shift from one job to another job.

Success seldom comes by a shift from loafing to a position with some company.

Since there is no future in any job, then get into gear and start bringing home a paycheck regularly. Square accounts with your debtors and get a good personal credit rating.

Regardless of whether you start as a dishwasher in a restaurant or a messenger boy, a bank clerk or a farmer, you can get to the top.

But you must always stay in gear and also expend a lot of elbow grease.

Maybe many of the modern generation may be unfamiliar with that term "elbow grease." It means plain hard work, coupled with sweat, tension and often calloused hands.

Too many modern youth get callouses on that part of their anatomy in contact with swivel chairs, instead of on their palms.

Sitting in front of TV sets doesn't get you to the top. Neither does the snobbery of disdaining calloused or greasy hands.

A farmer is a private businessman. So is a gas station operator. And they both have maybe $25,000 tied up in equipment, which is more than many intellectual snobs will ever have to their account.

So get wise to the facts of life. Send for my "Vocational Guidance Kit," enclosing a stamped, return envelope, plus a dime. It's a road map to success.

"Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 3c stamped, self-addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his psychological charts.

Dentists, Brady Disagree on Causes of Pyorrhea

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

I ought to stipulate at the outset that I am no authority on pyorrhea or anything else and whatever I may say about it is merely my belief or opinion.

Pyorrhea is a misleading term —it means flow or discharge of pus. The full term is pyorrhea alveolaris, flow or discharge of pus from tooth socket.

Old timers in the dental profession regarded pyorrhea as a specific disease and accordingly named it "Rigg's disease (after John M. Riggs, an American dentist of the 19th century).

Pyorrhea alveolaris, according to Louis I. Grossman, D.D.S., D.M.D., "denotes a group of complex pathological manifestations which arise primarily from a functional atrophy of the alveolar process"—the part of the maxilla, the upper jaw bone, supporting the tooth sockets. This is one of many definitions of pyorrhea, though there are many others—each authority seems to have his own concept.

Just what functional atrophy means, I don't know. Atrophy, says Webster, means wasting away for want of nourishment, nutrition, that is.

Atrophy is indeed an effect of malnutrition, undernutrition, starvation, deprivation. And when I went to school (medical school) impairment of function was the feature of atrophy with which physicians were most concerned.

Some of my medical col....., I was going to say colleagues, but perhaps I had better say my medical critics can dismiss my teachings with an air that leaves no doubt in the gullible customer's mind as to who knows about these health questions. But at that, the physicians can't hold a candle to the dentists.

I can't blame the dentists so much. After all, who caught 'em teaching that "a clean tooth never decays"? Sometimes dentists express their synthetic repugnance to my teaching that it is a waste of time and money brushing the teeth . . . and they imply that my mouth must be—well, you know.

Nevertheless I'm always ready to submit to examinations of my mouth and teeth by experts and comparison with the condition of the mouths and teeth of any group of men of my age. I never brush my teeth but I believe in spending my spare change for treatment by my dentist rather than squandering it on glorified soap that purports to contain some mysterious substance that kills the germs in a few seconds.

In pieces about pyorrhea to follow I'll tell what I believe causes the trouble and give the best advice I can about prevention and treatment. If my medical or dental critics believe I'm wrong about any point I'll show them the same professional courtesy I'd expect if I protested against or contradicted anything one of them might say. If any physician or dentist wishes to express a view contrary to mine I'll be glad to print his or her statement and withhold or reveal his identity as he prefers.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long, pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not to disease, diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady if a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent to the Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

Rancher to Raise Bison as Reminder of the Past

MOSES LAKE, Wash. (UP)—J. A. Peters has bought two bisons and plans to stock his big ranch with the shaggy creatures "just so people can look at them."

Peters has lived at the ranch near here for 50 years. He once raised wheat.

Now he wants to raise buffaloes because:

"They were a great animal of the West, and they remind me of the pioneer days. I just want people to come out and see them."

Namesakes Complicate Matters in Courtroom

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (UP)—Two men named Carlson complicated things for Judge Walter Conway.

They stood up when Conway called out the name of Robert D. Carlson. Both men, unrelated, were charged with minor offenses.

Searching for a handy way to identify the two, Conway asked the first what his middle name was.

"Dale," the man replied.

Then Conway asked the second Carlson the same question.

"Mine is also Dale," he replied.

Here's to Old Miami U. — but to Which One?

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UP) — University of Miami students and officials are quick to criticize anyone who calls their institution "Miami U." They don't like to have it confused with Miami University in Oxford, Ohio.

But the most popular football song played by the college band is "Hail to the Spirit of Miami U." To make matters more confusing, the university is not located in Miami, but in Coral Gables, an incorporated suburb.

Take Risk in 'Mailing' Letters in Trash Cans

KEARNEY, Neb. (UP) — The Kearney Daily Hub warned citizens that the city does not guarantee delivery of letters "mailed" in the city's new trash cans.

The city placed 16 of the new cans on Central avenue to help keep the city clean.

But the newspaper reported that "because the containers are about the same color of letter drop boxes, some persons have been putting in mail."

Texas Boasts Big Oil Reserve

Secondary Supplies of 3,500,000,000 Barrels Are Estimated

AUSTIN, Tex. (UP) — Texas' secondary-recovery oil reserve—at least 3,500,000,000 barrels—equals the estimated primary reserve of the entire United States 25 years ago, according to a joint report by the University of Texas, Texas A & M College and the Texas Railroad Commission.

A University of Texas petroleum engineer, Dr. George H. Fancher, author of the report, said the total Texas oil reserve is about 26,200,000,000 barrels, 15,700,000,000 of which are primary reserves obtainable by customary methods.

Texas researchers found there are at least 2,369 oil fields in the state, with production in 187 of Texas' 254 counties.

Fancher said the field-by-field and reservoir study, the first of its kind in Texas, covered 130,309 oil wells in 4,396 separate reservoirs.

A vast amount of oil exists in every part of Texas, but much of it is unrecoverable by any process short of actual mining of oil-bearing sand.

However, the report said, possibilities of secondary recovery by known techniques "are so great as to stagger the imagination and to constitute a challenge to the oil industry which cannot be ignored."

Sets Basketball Record

MARTIN, Tenn. (UP) — Joe McKnight of Bemis, Tenn., broke a 26-year basketball scoring record at the University of Tennessee, Martin branch, when he scored 460 points in the 1953-54 season. The former record of 363 points was set by Marvin McKnight, his father.

Transport Woe Plagues Madrid

Bus and Tram Service Inadequate for Swiftly Growing City

MADRID (UP)—Riding the Madrid public transport to work these days is getting to be a job for a cross between a hermit, a sardine and a hefty football player.

The hermit, because, patience is needed waiting for the transport to arrive.

A sardine, because, once the doors of bus tram or train are opened, it is a case of one aboard, all aboard until the coach is at bursting point.

A football player, because, trains excepted, most Madrid transport is based on the two-door principle —one door to come in by and one to go out by. To reach the exit when there are 100 tightly wedged passengers ahead needs more than ballroom dancing technique.*

The municipality admits it needs urgently 50 more trams, 150 more trolley buses and 100 auto buses.

It also says that the very efficient subway system needs to be rapidly expanded. The municipality estimates it would cost $16,000,000 to buy the new equipment, not to mention the projected extension of the underground network. But where to get the funds?

Root of the trouble is threefold—lack of foreign exchange to import adequate transport from abroad, inability of Spanish manufacturers to keep pace with demand, and the tremendous growth of Madrid.

In 1947 Madrid had an estimated population of 1,500,000. Today there are 2,000,000 persons living here, and more keep pouring in. New housing districts are springing up on the outskirts of the town, throwing a big strain on the transport system, which must get its passengers to and from work twice daily.

The long midday break here means that most workers travel home for lunch, return to their offices or factories in the afternoon and return home again in the evening.

HE'S A HERO — "G.I. Joe," an Army pigeon stationed at Fort Monmouth, N. J., has been awarded a service citation as an "outstanding hero of World War II." The pigeon saved 1,000 British troops from possible annihilation at Colvin, Italy, by flying a message to them warning of an impending bombing.

Wood Railroad Caboose Being Replaced by Steel

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Another standby of railroading—the wooden caboose—is on the way out. Twelve steel cabooses have been received him by the Northwestern Road which has 25 more on order.

The new steel cars are run by electricity and have running water, desk lamps and comfortable sleeping facilities. But they still have oil - burning lamps hanging on hooks in their cabinets—just in case.

Fast Bottle Service

LONGMEADOW, Mass. (UP)—Miss Olive P. Rice dropped into the Mediterranean Sea a letter in a bottle with instructions that the finder forward it to a Longmeadow couple. Four days later the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Hayden, received the letter with a Torre, Italy, postmark. There was no indication who picked up the letter.

Seeks Recognition for Pure Science

MADISON, Wis. (UP)—A botanist at the University of Wisconsin says pure science isn't getting the recognition it should receive.

Prof. John T. Curtis said the "great outpouring of useful gadgets is ultimately based upon the results of basic, pure research work."

The professor showed how the basic research of Charles Darwin in 1881 eventually led to new weed-killing herbicides.

He said that Darwin's demonstration of the fact that plants grow in the direction of light was the first step in a long chain that led to modern weedkillers.

Corny but Delicious

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (UP)—Under the watchful eyes of several canning officials, a 63-year-old can of corn was opened and tasted here recently. "It was creamy white and the flavor was good," commented T. P. Cobb, Rochester representative of American Can Company. The can was the property of W. R. Olney, 80, who worked for a New York canning company in 1891 when the corn was sealed in the metal container.

At one time, up to about 1900, Brazil produced and exported 99 per cent of all the world's rubber.

Hal Boyle Says:

Think of Job in Terms of Romance

NEW YORK (AP) — The tired businessman might prolong his health and life if he really learned to think of his job in terms of romance rather than work.

"I have been resurrected by this idea," said Harvey Greenspan, a former six-ulcer man.

At 42 Greenspan, a financial genius, cashed in his chips, figuring he would soon die. Now at 61 he has chipped in his cash — some $400,000 — to pioneer in the marketing of a new vitamin-rich fruit juice concentrate made from a little-known Puerto Rican cherry called the acerola.

* * *

"It is my latest and maybe my last romance," he said cheerfully during a visit here. "But however it turns out, it is more fun than buying chorus girls jewelry. I don't want that kind of romance."

Greenspan learned the bitter way the dolor that can come from pursuing the dollar too hard for its own sake.

He worked his way through Columbia University here, specializing in business law. At 30 he had his own financial firm. For the next dozen years he worked himself ragged flitting back and forth across the country buying, reorganizing and selling corporations. One day in 1936 he collapsed. In addition to wealth he had piled up six king-size ulcers.

"I had more ulcers than freckles," he recalled. "A doctor told me that if I didn't undergo an operation for the removal of my stomach I'd die."

* * *

Greenspan thought it over and decided he'd rather die than part with his stomach. He sold out his business interests and moved to Florida, figuring "I might as well be warm while I was dying.

"I decided I'd better do all the things I'd wanted to do and hadn't found time. One thing I'd always wanted was a home of my own on an island. I told an architect to build me one, and be quick about it. He did and I furnished it just the way I thought it should be.

"I took good care of my ulcers. For two years I did nothing but loaf and fish. Then I began to fear I'd die of boredom.

* * *

"All of us have a hidden romance in our souls. When you are out of circulation, this piles up in you. During those two years I decided that business really was my romance in life, but I hadn't been looking at it from that angle.

"I swore that if I ever got well, I'd be the busiest — and happiest — man in 48 states. And I am."

Greenspan never fully conquered all his ulcers but, as he says, "we worked out an agreement so we'd be able to get along together on a basis of mutual respect."

In a few years Greenspan became a citrus magnate. In keeping with his new philosophy, his office in his Lakeland, Fla., canning plant is in a kitchen, where he directs operations from a comfortable armchair. The telephone is in the next room.

* * *

In 1949 while developing a citrus concentrate that could be taken by children allergic to orange juice, he conferred with Dr. James R. Wilson of the American Medical Assn. in Chicago. During the conversation Dr. Wilson, a nutritionist, mentioned that the Puerto Rican acerola was up to 80 times as rich in vitamin C as orange juice, and should prove a good natural source of this vital element for undernourished children.

'It was his idea," said Greenspan. "I just picked it up and shot craps with $400,000 to see if it would work."

* * *

After five years of experimentation and plantation building in Puerto Rico, he has 25,000 producing Acerola trees, 25,000 more planted. This year he expects to market six million cans of apple juice blended with acerola concentrate, estimates a market of 24 million cans within another few years, but sees no prospect of the product drying up the nation's thirst for orange juice.

"It should become a major industry in Puerto Rico and have a big market in Europe," he said. "Other producers are now entering the field. Maybe it's true that all pioneers die broke — but I've had a wonderful romance."

Those who know Greenspan best, however, doubt that he will ever be without a smile, an ulcer — or money in the bank.

Newspaper Editor Names Nickle Plate

CLEVELAND, O. (UP) — The name of the Nickel Plate Railway is believed to have come from the mind of a Norwalk, O., editor who wanted the road to run through his city.

The Norwalk Chronicle of March 10, 1881, carried a story of engineers who had arrived to survey for a "great New York and St. Louis double-track, nickel-plated railroad."

The editor of the paper was F. R. Loomis. He later referred to the road again as "nickel-plated," apparently because of its prospects and solid financial backing.

Nickel Plate honored Loomis in 1882 as originator of its name by granting him complimentary pass No. 1.

But he hd to go to nearby Bellevue to use it. The Nickel Plate never got to Norwalk.

Indian Painted Murals

COOLIDGE, Ariz. (UP) — The paintings of members of the Holy Family which adorn the walls of a Roman Catholic mission near here were painted in 1941 by an Apache Indian. James Stevens, a cotton farmer, painted the murals on the walls of the Holy Family Mission located in the Gila Indian reservation.

Up-to-Date Housing

PROVIDENCE, R. I. (UP)—Although this city is one of the oldest in the nation, it boasts no 17th Century houses. Roger Williams settled Providence in 1636. The oldest house in the city—the King farm house—was built in 1705.

Out of Adjectives? Then Try This One

PEORIA, Ill. (UP) — If Hollywood producers are looking for better adjectives to describe their work, Franklin Schlatter may be able to help.

The 21-year-old Bradley University history major offers "sucosendeous" as a substitute for some of the more tired descriptives such as "colossal" and "sensational."

He coined the word by putting together parts of various adjectives, he said.

Victor W. Weidman, representative of a dictionary firm who heard about Schlatter's new word lost no time in putting "sucosendeous" on file for future consideration.

Average temperatures in Canada are rising at a rate of three degrees every 70 years.

Pin Lost 22 Years

DELAWARE, Ohio (UP)—Twenty-two years ago, Ralph Burns lost his Alpha Sigma Phi fraternity pin at Ohio Wesleyan University here. The pin was returned to him by a laundryman who had kept it in his store safe, hoping the owner would show up. Only recently, Jeck Hing, laundry owner, noticed the fine engraving on the back of the pin which gave the owner's name.

Bonanzagram No. 8

Edward E. Johnston, sales manager for the Underwood Nurseries, left his office early one Wednesday afternoon in April for a visit to the company's experimental herb laboratory in the nearby countryside. He left with his secretary, Miss M. Spence, a towering pile of unfinished work, some of it personal. Arriving at work the following morning, he found a note on his desk, apparently tear-stained in the writing, so that some of the letters were illegible. Without Mr. Johnston's knowledge of the business, can you figure out, as he did, what Miss Spence intended to convey in her message?

How To Play "Bonanzagram"

Solve the "Bonanzagram" by filling in all the missing letters, as indicated by the underscores, in the message. Insert only one letter above each underscore. Many clues to the missing letters are hidden in the story, or anecdote, accompanying the message. Clues may also be found in the message itself, and, in a few cases, the contestant's general knowledge should provide the correct letter. The contestant will note that the message is unpunctuated. Punctuation as well as words must be correct for a perfect solution.

However, starting today, if no perfect solution (all missing letters and punctuation) is submitted, a solution with all letters correct and only one punctuation error will be declared a prize winner.

When properly filled in, the "Bonanzagram" will spell out a clear message that will conform in every way with the clues. In many cases it will seem that more than one word would be the correct one. That's part of the fun! You should weigh the clues and select the BEST possible word in each case.

How to Submit Entries

1. After solution is completed, "Bonanzagram" should be clipped and pasted to a two-cent postcard with your name and address.

2. Entries will be received at the Pontiac Press office, 48 W. Huron St., until 5 p. m. Tuesday, May 3. Mail entries must be postmarked before midnight Tuesday, May 3 for Bonanzagram No. 8. Address "Bonanzagram, %, Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Mich.

3. Entries may be mailed in envelope but contestant's full name and number of puzzle must be printed in upper left corner of address side of envelope.

4. Copies of the Press need not be purchased to enter. Facsimiles made by hand and corresponding as closely as possible to the original "Bonanzagram" printed in the Press will be accepted but are limited one to a family. Mimeograph, duplicator or other unofficial mechanical reproduction is forbidden.

How to Collect the Prize

The entrant must work out and keep duplicate solution as a claim check. When the solution is published in the Press, he should compare his "claim check" with the published solution, and, if his claim check is identical, he should call in person with his claim check at the Press office, 48 W. Huron St., before 5 p. m. on the Monday following publication of the solution.

If a winner cannot call at the Press office in person, he should mail his solution to "Bonanzagram Editor." Postmark on this letter must be not later than 5 p. m. the Monday after publication of the answer. Correct answers are void unless the contestant reports his claim by the deadlines listed here.

About Eligibility, Information, Etc.

1. Anyone is eligible for the "Bonanzagram" contest except employes of the Press and members of their immediate families. (Immediate family means all those living in an employe's household.)

2. No question as to winners will be answered by phone.

3. The Press will award a prize of $100 to the winner of each weekly "Bonanzagram." If more than one winning answer is received, the prize will be divided equally among the winners. If no correct solution is received, the $100 will be added to the next week's prize. If the winner is a subscriber of record to the Press a $20 bonus will be added to the $100.

4. Only one winning entry from a family will be eligible for the prize, but there is no limit on number of entries.

5. The Press retains the right to correct typographical errors.

6. Judges' decision will be final and contestant's submission of entries indicates acceptance of these rules.

7. No liability is accepted for entries that fail to reach us.

8. The Press reserves the right to alter rules and/or discontinue the contest at its discretion.

New Antique Desk Owner Reads Letter

I'M NOT GOOD AT WAITING. MUST PEN THIS WITH GUILT UPON ME, AND SHALL IN HASTE, FOR NIGHT IS FALLING. SINCE MY HEALTH IS OF SUCH CONCERN TO ALL, KNOW THAT I AM GETTING LETTER READY TO ARRANGE FOR LEASING MILL, SO YOU NEED NOT BORROW. ALL PREMISES TO BE KEPT, AND FIELDS SHARED, AS SETTLED BY MY FORMER FRIEND WHO PLANNED THE DEEDS. MY HARD-EARNED STOCK EXPECTED SOON. IT WILL BE BOON TO HEAR SAME WORTH SOMETHING. FOR EVERY GRATEFUL GESTURE I THINK YOU DESERVE BONUS. BLESSINGS. HANDY DANDY

Mrs. King finally completed the message she found on the back of the antique desk she purchased. If you worked out the same answer you may win the $700 Bonanzagram prize. The completed message appears with this article.

This is how she figured it out:

I'M NOT GOOD AT WAITING—WAITING is more in accord with the evidence then WRITING, for the person who wrote this message has obviously waited too long to disclose the facts given here. He goes on to say MUST PEN THIS WITH GUILT UPON ME, AND SHALL IN HASTE. Although he is probably an invalid, he would not be apt to say WITH QUILT UPON ME, AND SHAWL; this information would not be necessary for his family, but he does want to confess his GUILT. FOR NIGHT IS FALLING—this may be a simple statement of fact or an indirect way of saying that he knows he has not long to live.

It is better than LIGHT or SIGHT IS FAILING; the introduction described "neat but spidery scrawls" and indeed the writer is preparing another letter, mentioned later on, so that his SIGHT presents no problems and he would probably have enough LIGHT to write by.

SINCE MY HEALTH IS OF SUCH CONCERN TO ALL — this fits better than MY WEALTH IS OF MUCH CONCERN, because the whole tone of the message is kind and loving and does not seem to be addressed to a family whose major concern is with WEALTH. Then comes the belated information, KNOW THAT I AM GETTING LETTER READY TO ARRANGE FOR LEASING MILL. The phrasing here rules out the idea of LEAVING WILL; people make wills, but don't necessarily leave them. A MILL was a usual source of income in old New England, and much of this message is devoted to news of financial arrangements, so that LEASING MILL is logical here. And it is followed by a logical corollary, SO YOU NEED NOT BORROW. The writer is a reserved New Englander who would not be apt to mention SORROW, and the BORROW idea ties up with his GUILT feelings because he has let his family get to the point of needing to BORROW.

ALL PREMISES TO BE KEPT —this refers to the real estate, houses and buildings and has more meaning then PROMISES here. AND FIELDS SHARED—another provision made for the family, and better than YIELDS SHARED, because if they each took their shares of the FIELDS they would be sharing the YIELDS also.

AS SETTLED BY MY FORMER FRIEND WHO PLANNED THE DEDS. FORMER FRIEND, who was probably a lawyer already passed to his reward, is better than FARMER FRIEND WHO PLANTED THE SEEDS. The latter phrasing would not make so much sense in this message full of plans for the future welfare of the writer's family.

MY HARD . EARNED STOCK EXPECTED SOON. STOCK could refer to liveSTOCK, logically enough; and any other wording here, such as, MY WARD WARNED STORK EXPECTED SOON, would be out of keeping with the general aim of the message. Therefore the next words are IT WILL BE BOON (that is, benefit) TO HEAR SAME WORTH SOMETHING. Meaning that the expected STOCK, whether it be liveSTOCK or STOCK in some business venture, will probably help the financial status of the family.

The final sentence is a restrained expression of thanks—FOR EVER GRATEFUL GESTURE (better than GRACEFUL; the writer is probably an aged person and has been the recipient of GRATEFUL acts by his family) I THINK YOU DESERVE BONUS.

This is more in character than I THANK YOU; RESERVE BONDS. The BONUS he is thinking of may be the STOCK mentioned above, or it may be a wish for their future rewards in heaven, for his last word is BLESSINGS.

His signature is not HANKY PANKY — that wold not be in keeping with his revealed character. Nor is it HANDY YANDY, although that sounds like the traditional Handy Andy. In an echo of Yankee Doodle, his signatre is HANDY DANDY.

AMA Protests Drafting Doctors to Treat Civilians

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The American Medical Assn. protested as "unfair" today the drafting of doctors to care for civilian dependents of military personnel.

Dr. Walter B. Martin, of Norfolk, Va., president, and other AMA spokesmen urged the House Armed Services Committee to end the draft of doctors and dentists when the present law expires June 30. The committee is considering a measure to extend the law for two more years.

* * *

Dr. Martin described the law as "discriminatory." It makes doctors and dentists subject to enforced military service until they are 51. The regular draft law applies only to men up to 26.

As an example of the growing amount of dependents' care, he said more than 145,000 babies were born in military hospitals in 1953, compared with 42,000 in 1948.

In a statement prepared for the committee, he said the AMA had supported the doctors' draft during the Korean War.

* * *

Now, he said, "it is our belief that the continued use of discriminatory legislation in peacetime is unnecessary and inadequate to solve existing medical manpower problems."

Military officials say a continued supply of doctors is needed to keep up military medical services to both troops and dependents.

Dr. Martin said the AMA three times since 1952 has offered to get together with Pentagon officials to work out a method of encouraging more medical men to join the services.

* * *

"No action has been taken," he added.

He proposed appointment of a civilian committee "to investigate ways of increasing the attractiveness of military service for physicians and allied health personnel."

State X-Raying 1,500 Every Day for TB

LANSING (AP)—The State Health Department reported today that more than 1,500 persons are being checked thruogh department X-ray units daily in the drive to find tuberculosis in its early stages.

Dr. Albert E. Heustis, state health commissioner, said this compared with a rate of about 900 a day for the program at this time last year.

Dr. Heustis meanwhile reaffirmed his previous stand against the transfer of any state TB sanatoria at this time for mental health or other use.

Other agencies backing the stand of the Michigan TB Sanatorium Commission against proposed transfer plans included the Michigan Tuberculosis Assn. and the Michigan Sanatorium Assn.

Farmer's Wife Killed Helping to Pull Stumps

ALLEGAN (AP)—Mrs. Earl Gunneman, 28, of rural Holland, suffered fatal injuries yesterday when she was pinned beneath a farm tractor which overturne das she was driving it.

Allegan deputies said Mrs. Gunneman had been assisting her husband in a stump-pulling operation on their farm.

COME ON IN— the price is fine!

UNLESS we miss our guess, a lot of surprised people are going to do some new back-of-an-envelope arithmetic when they see the Buick price shown here.

Because we know that many folks still don't realize how little a Buick really costs—that the dollar difference between this big Buick SPECIAL 2-door, 6-passenger Sedan and the leading smaller cars has virtually disappeared.

Buick Sales Are Soaring As Never Before

But more and more of them are finding it out. And that's a major reason why Buick production and Buick sales are soaring to all-time highs today—and why Buick again is outselling all other cars, regardless of price range, except two of the well-known smaller cars.

Big reason, too, for this soaring popularity is Buick's full line of automobiles, giving you a choice in any price class—the rock-bottom-priced SPECIAL, the high-powered CENTURY, the supremely spacious SUPER, and the custom-built ROADMASTER.

But above all, more and more people are discovering that the price you pay for a Buick buys more sheer automobile than the same money buys elsewhere.

More advanced styling, more deep-down comfort, more pure power thrill, more ride steadiness and handling ease and solidity of structure.

More spectacular performance, too, from the modest extra cost of Buick's automatic transmission.

For here you get Variable Pitch Dynaflow†—the new wonder drive born of modern aeronautics to give you instant full-power getaway and acceleration when needed—and far better gas mileage when cruising.

Why not come see us this week, for sure? We'll be happy to have you test-pilot a new Buick, just for the sheer thrill of it—and show you quite clearly that if you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

†Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series.

Court Denies Contract Fee

Rules Out Collection of $6,000 by Salesman in Government Deal

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals has ruled out collection of contingent fees—5 per cent or otherwise—to "drum up" government business.

The ruling was in a suit brought by Dwight Webb Jr., a former Navy man, who sought to collect $6,000 from the Le John Manufacturing Co. of Huntington, W. Va.

Webb, claiming he was entitled to receive a 5 per cent commission of the company's sales to the government, won a judgment in U. S. District Court.

* * *

The Court of Appeals, in a unanimous decision, reversed the lower court and said the contingency contact in the case violates the public policy declared by an executive order of 1951. Accordingly, the court said, the contract cannot be enforced.

Webb claimed the commission on the basis of sales by the company to the armed forces, chiefly electric fans.

* * *

The company contended it canceled an agreement with Webb whereby he would get the 5 per cent fee on government sales, and subsequently negotiated a Navy contract on its own hook. The company contended furthermore that contingency contracts are void and unenforceable in the courts.

Dist. Judge Alexander Holtzoff, in upholding the contingency agreement, said the efforts of Webb on behalf of the company "did not involve the use of any political or special influence or any corrupt or sinister practices contrary to the public interest."

The appeals court said actual evidence of improper conduct is not necessary to make such agreements unenforceable, and quoted another appellate court this way:

"The law looks to the general tendency of such agreements; and it closes the door to temptation by refusing them recognition in any of the courts of the country."

BALLWIN, Mo. (AP)—"I wouldn't be here today if it weren't for that freckle-faced boy of mine."

Raymond Hendrix, 39, was describing from a hospital bed today how his 11-year-old son, Richard, had saved his life by stopping an out-of-control tractor and applying a tourniquet to his injured arm.

The tractor suddenly reared straight up and crashed upside down against a trailer, pinning Hendrix.

"One wheel of the tractor kept moving toward me," he related "It was heading straight for my chest and just a few inches away when Dickie shut off the ignition."

The boy, remembering his Boy Scout training, used his belt for a tourniquet. The accident occurred on the Hendrix farm near Ballwin, about 25 miles west of St. Louis.

Guidance Clinic Offers Aid for 'Different' Child

By ABBIE KUCSERA

If you've a child whose "different" behavior worries you, there's help near—as near as the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic, 113 Franklin Blvd.

The parents of 345 Oakland County children have wisely taken advantage of this free, confidential service during the past year.

One child, Sam, withdrawn and shy, was not able to read. His parents took him to Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic, where staff workers spent many hours with both boy and parents.

After months of regular weekly appointments, Sam walked out of the clinic a happy, expressive youth who is now getting over the hump with special tutoring (for which he was not even ready when the staff first saw him). Most significant was this statement made by his happy mother:

"It's not just Sam who has changed, but everybody in the family."

Edna, 10 years old, was taking money, skipping school and buying lavish gifts for those with whom she wished to be friends.

This little girl was described as untrustworthy by all grown-ups. Clinic workers discovered she was untrustworthy simply because no one had ever trusted her. The slow process of re-education in teaching Edna to believe in herself and to believe that people do trust her.

Since the work of the clinic is naturally confidential, parents and children alike come to know that nothing they say will ever be passed on without their permission. Names in the above cited cases are ficticious.

The problem of mentally sick children has always been with us, and in days of chaos and confusion even more emotionally disturbed children are developed.

Because parental neglect is common, juvenile delinquency and problem children are on the increase.

In the belief that prevention is better than penalty, the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic is sponsored and partially financed by the State Department of Mental Health, with additional financial help coming from the Oakland County Board of Supervisors and the Pontiac United Area Fund.

Children from birth to 16 years (or any high school student) may receive service at the clinic.

Referrals are usually made by schools, physicians, nurses, social agencies and others working closely with children. A high percentage comes from the parents themselves.

There are no fees for any service at the clinic, whether the child is seen once or many times for study.

A phone call, a letter or a personal visit to the clinic can bring into action diagnostic treatment and consultation which may spell mental health and happiness for your child.

The director of the clinic, who is also the chief psychiatric social worker, is Madeleine Half. Psychiatrist is Joseph Fischhoff, M.D.; psychologist, F. Robert Wollaeger; psychiatric social workers, Mrs. Elsie Lifton and Oliva Viola and Genevieve Trainham. Staff secretaries are Mrs. Virginia Huntzinger and Mrs. Doris Parker.

Chairman of the 1955 directors for the clinic board is Dr. Robert J. Mason.

Open house will be held Thursday, May 5 at the Pontiac Child Guidance Clinic, 113 Franklin Blvd., in conjunction with National Mental Health Week.

A film, "Preface to a Life," produced for the National Institute of Mental Health, will be shown, both at 3:30 and at 7:30 p.m.

Says U.S. Ignorant About Red Threat

Urges Volume on Communism

USIA Head Endorses Program to Educate American Public

WASHINGTON (INS) — Theodore C. Streibert, director of the U.S. Information Agency, says the American people are "dangerously ignorant" about communism.

In a letter to Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa), which the congressman made public today, Streibert wrote:

* * *

"Our people are dangerously ignorant of facts about both the creed and conspiracy of communism."

Streibert endorsed a proposal by Flood to inform the public about "the theories and practices of atheistic communism," through a textbook on communism prepared by Congress.

Flood is sponsoring a resolution to create a commission to "prepare material" for such a book.

In introducing his resolution, the congressman said the nation was confused and bewildered by charges and counter-charges about the Communist menace. He suggested a presidential commission to sift the facts.

* * *

Streibert also endorsed Flood's suggestion that the commission prepare courses of studies which schools, colleges and universities could use.

The purpose of these courses would be "to make clear the basic differences between the theories and practices of the American way of life" and those of communism.

Included in the volume, under Flood's proposal, would be testimony taken under oath by various committees of Congress which have investigated Communist activities.

* * *

The communision would be composed of 11 members representing the House and Senate, the American Bar Assn., and an educational organization. A private citizen would act as chairman. All but the four congressional members would be named by President Eisenhower.

PSYCHOLOGY ENTERS PICTURE — F. Robert Wollaeger, 259 Chippewa road, administers psychological tests to the patient in order to gain further knowledge of his ability and personality. Child model is John Huntzinger. Both John and Susie are children of the clinic secretary.

Reuther Enters Ford GAW Negotiations

DETROIT (UP)—CIO President Walter Reuther personally entered the United Auto Workers union talks with Ford Motor Co. today to buoy a drive for a guaranteed annual wage.

Reuther's announcement yesterday that he would enter talks increased speculation that the union planned to concentrate on Ford in its drive for the controversial wage issue.

GAW is the central issue in negotiations with Ford, General Motors and other auto producers for new pacts to replace five-year contracts which expire at varying intervals beginning May 29.

General Motors' contract with the union will be the first to expire but it can be extended beyond the May 29 deadline by agreement of both the company and the union. Any extension could be terminated by either the union or the company 30 days after filing termination notice.

In announcing he would attend the negotiations, Reuther, who also is president of the UAW, invited Ford President Henry Ford II to "join us at an early date."

"We are prepared to discuss the soundness, justice and merits of our demands across the bargaining table," Reuther said. "I hope Mr. Ford will meet his responsibilities by participating in these negotiations."

Union negotiators have been meeting with Ford and General Motors since early this month. Spokesmen for both sides declined to reveal what progress, if any, had been made in the earlier negotiations.

The union is expected to file a notice with the National Labor Relations Board within the next few days that its "dispute" with Ford still exists. The notice, a formality required by the Taft-Hartley law, was filed earlier this week in negotiations with GM.

Envoy Flying Back to Post as Viet Nam War Flares

WASHINGTON (AP) — Special Ambassador J. Lawton Collins hurried back today to his post in South Viet Nam where a civil war between government and rebel forces is raging.

He wound up a week of urgent review of the Vietnamese outlook with a farewell conference with Secretary of State Dulles late yesterday.

As he left by plane, Collins was understood to be under instructions to continue supporting the government of Premier Ngo Diem, which is locked in a bloody battle with the rebel Binh Xuyen society.

* * *

Fighting broke out while Collins was in Washington reporting on pressures which already were heavy against Diem.

The State Department was understood to be hoping that the shooting would end quickly, lest it plunge South Viet Nam into chaos.

The department is reported to have told Bao Dai, the Viet Nam Chief of State, that he should not try to impose a new government but should let the Vietnamese decide themselves whether one was necessary. Bao Dai, living on the French Riviera, ordered Diem there for a quick conference, a move which would weaken Diem's hand. Diem refused to go.

PRESSing Questions:

Detroit Tiger Fans Predict Club's Finish

The time: Wednesday afternoon.
The place: North Saginaw Street.
The question: Where do you think the Tigers will finish this season?

The answers:

WOOD

JUDAH

Herschel Wood, 182 Russell, Pontiac Motors repairman—I think they have a good chance this year. Kaline should help a lot, and it looks like the Tigers could win a pennant.

Wayne Judah, 461 S. Jessie, salesman—If they had a different manager, they could finish the season on top. The way it is, they will probably wind up in the first three somewhere.

IRWIN

TOUTANT

Bob Irwin, 313 W. Huron, real estate and insurance salesman—I think the Tigers will be in third or fourth place at the end of the season. They're a young club, and their best bet is to build for next year.

Bernard Toutant, 115 State—Their chances are only fair. I think the team will finish about the same as it did last year, maybe a little better.

ANN ARBOR (UP)—The 28th annual convention of the Michigan Interscholastic Press Assn., sponsored by the University of Michigan, got under way today.

Cancer Office Busy

It had been a busy day at the American Cancer Society office in Pontiac, at 66 W. Lawrence St.

A busy day, yes . . . but not any busier than usual.

Mrs. Milo McLintock, in charge of the office that day, had arrived at 10 a.m. and the phone was ringing before she had her coat off.

But she was used to it, for she had been giving a full day each week as a volunteer Cancer Society worker for the past eight years. Miss Barbara Amundson is the only paid worker but besides Mrs. McLintock, she has many enthusiastic helpers in the fight to control cancer.

'Louise,' as she is known to her fellow workers, hurried to answer the telephone. It was a harrassed voice, a Mrs. A, who asked, "Is there a detection center in Pontiac?" The question was answered, the local program explained, and perhaps one more life was saved.

The door opened and Mr. B walked in. He was after the loan of a hospital bed for his mother who had failed to see and to heed the film 'Breast Self Examination' in time.

Then the committee chairman of the VFW Auxiliary Post 1008 came in to get enough cellulose filler for 100 cancer pads for the Post women to make. They furnished the salvage material for the coverings.

A veteran of World War I walked in next to get a supply of pads for himself, a man still on his job in a Pontiac plant. He wasn't able to come in often so he was given about 300.

Then one of the Woodcreek Ladies from near Farmington, in Pontiac to do a little shopping, brought in 250 finished pads from her group.

And it was only 10:45. The three regular volunteers for the day had arrived by now, and one of them started typing letters of acknowledgement for the gifts which had come in the previous day. There were four interested, generous persons to be thanked.

Another volunteer worked on new membership cards and brought the posting up to date, while the third went to the bank, then sent in a report to the Southeastern Michigan Division of the Cancer Society in Detroit.

In the meantime, Mrs. McLintock was welcoming a woman from Milford, a new volunteer, explaining the sewing regulations for the pads, and the inspection which necessarily must follow.

The phone was ringing again and a Mrs. C wanted to know if Dr. Blank, who adverstised a cancer 'cure' was recommended. She was told no quacks were recommended and that she should go to her own family pysician.

Two county Extension women from Drayton Plains came in next to spend the rest of the day helping to cut material for dressings.

Another phone call . . . a business club requested information about a film to be shown at its next meeting.

Could they have a speaker, a projector and an operator? At no cost? Yes, indeed, said Mrs. McLintock, and she immediately got in touch with Dr. Kenneth VandenBerg of Pontiac, chairman of the speakers' bureau.

Two women opened the door hesitantly but determinedly and asked for the application blanks in order to take advantage of the detection program . . . the best insurance agaiinst cancer.

Then a Salvation Army lassie happily brought in 75 bed pads, made in between busy moments, for someone, anyone, who needed them.

It was noon and after a bite of lunch nearby and a short rest, the women went back to their satisfying work, cheered on by seeing a man about town come in and unobtrusively hand a check to Mrs. McLintock . . . a check in memory of a loved one to help out with the monthly office expenses . . . to supplement the funds from the United Fund.

Ring a ling, ling . . . It was Mr. D asking if there would be a carton of cellulose ready for him to pick up for his wife who was chairman of the sewing group of one of Pontiac's churches.

More finished dressings were brought in from the Pythian Sisters, the Women of the Moose, the League of Catholic Women and the First Presbyterian Women's Association.

Miss Amundson, the executive secretary, dashed in to get her notes. She was hurrying to get to a women's club meeting to give a talk on cancer detection . . . EARLY cancer detection.

The day was not over but these hours were only typical of the work that goes on hour after hour, day after day, at the Cancer Society office in Pontiac.

Remember, cancer is curable if detected and treated early. No cancer ever cures itself. There is hope but it is up to you.

Learn the seven danger signals. They may save your life.

'Neptune's Paradise' Keeping Junior Class Hopping at PHS

Spring Activity Floods School

Students Plan Concert, Boat Trip, a Banquet and Camp-Out

Pontiaic High School juniors are all set for their big event of the year, the Saturday evening J-hop entitled "Neptune's Paradise."

Seniors made final payments for their boat trip this week as the day draws near. Students who are going to attend the spring camping session also tended to their payments.

Today marked the end of the second marking period and prospects of report cards Monday.

All spring functions are now well under way, with this week winding up the magazine drive, vocal department making last minute preparations for its spring concert, school publications holding Annual Publications Banquet, and seniors starting review for senior exams.

Room 125, Mr. R. F. Beauchamp's senior English class, emerged as highest room in the school, and will attend a Tiger baseball game soon.

Thursday and Friday the vocal department's "Say It With Music" will be presented. Wednesday in the school cafeteria, members of the Quiver, Tomahawk, print shop, and Epistolae Scholae and guests attended the Annual Publications Banquet.

Fifty-three will attend the camp session, leaving May 15 for Sleeper State Park. There they will get practical experience in outdoor living and conservation methods, at the same time enjoying recreation. A number of the school's faculty members will act as advisers during the week at camp.

Highlighting the spring activities for the Retailing Club will be their employer-employe banquet Tuesday in the Waldron Hotel. Main speaker for the evening will be Howard Van Dusen of Waite's Department Store. At the banquet, employers of students on the retailing program will be honored.

Chairman for the banquet is Eleanore Wood, with Barbara Snever heading the invitation committee and Betty Anderson and Shirley Dunn assisting her. Linda Fenchel assisted by Janice Roberts and Pat Middleton will handle decorations. Janice Foeman along with Melva Vincent and Janet Zatick will work on the program, with Sharon Savedge, assisted by Pat Carline and Jean McLean working on the host and hostess committee.

Members of the Future Nurses Club recently heard a guest speaker from the University of Michigan. Jane Flynne, sophomore at U.M School of Nursing, spoke on life as a student nurse.

Today, Quiver members and members of the Tomahawk journeyed to Ann Arbor to attend the Michigan Interscholastic Press Association convention.

Members of the Tomahawk staff will present, at the conferference, a mock editorial board meeting showing a typical editorial board meeting and the questions and problems that arise and how they are met.

Also today, fencing club members are going to Detroit to view the amateur fencing championship bouts in women's foil and men's foil, saber, and epee.

RETREAT REGISTRY—Reading, instruction and personal chats are all part of the Rev. Raymond Schlinkert's guidance program during upcoming retreat for St. Michael students. Accidents Fatal to 5 in Michigan

Detroit City Veterinary Killed When Car Slams Tree Near Gladstone

By UNITED PRESS

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Michigan yesterday.

Dr. Reuben Rath, 66, Detroit Health Department veterinarian, was killed when his car struck a tree 20 miles north of Gladstone in the Upper Peninsula.

Charles Goda Jr., 5, Monroe County, was killed when he ran in front of a car near his home.

Harry Blizmick, 72, Detroit, was killed while crossing a Detroit street.

Miss Marie Van Marcke, 45, Frazer, was killed when her car collided with a car driven by Claude Greer, 52, Detroit. Greer was held for investigation of negligent homicide after witnesses testified that he had run a traffic signal.

Mrs. Eileen Sopp, 37, Pontiac, was killed when a car in which she was riding swerved to avoid hitting another car and crashed into a tree.

State Labor Committee Backs Minimum Wage

LANSING (AP)—The House Labor Committee has reported out a bill providing for a 75-cent minimum hour wage.

A federal minimum wage law of 75 cents an hour covers only those eemployes eengaged in interstate commerce.

The Labor Committee's bill was substituted for a Democratic-sponsored measure asking for a $1.25 minimum hourly wage.

It would not apply to farmers, household workers, and persons who receive tips as part of their wages, said Rep. George Van Peursem (R-Zeeland), committee chairman.

Doctor's Ouster Sets Off Battle for Independence

THORSHAWN, Faeroe Islands, (AP)—The squabble over attempts to remove an expelled physician from the Danish-held Faeroes appeared today to be developing into a political struggle for island independence.

The revolt started with resistance of Bordo Islanders to attempts to remove Dr. Olaf Halvorsen from his hospital post at Klaksvig, Bordo's main town. It mushroomed into a general strike which has paralyzed industry throughout the 21 isles.

Halvorsen indicated in a telephone interview yesterday that his role in the dispute had become a minor one.

• • •

"I would return to Denmark immediately, if it were up to me," he said, "but it is not certain that I myself am allowed to decide."

Irate islanders, meanwhile, fashioned crude hand grenades as 120 husky Danish riot policemen waited offshore for orders to go in and get the doctor.

The dispute over Halvorsen now appeared to have become a fight between authorities in Klaksvig and Thorshavn, and a conflict between advocates of independence from Denmark and pro-Danish groups within the islands.

The Faeroes are in the North Atlantic between Iceland and the Shetlands, between 600 and 700 miles from the Danish mainland.

All Sports Fete Due at St. Mikes

Student Athletes Will Pick Outstanding Pair for Trophy Awards

With a whoop and a holler, St. Mikes Wild West Show closed its third performance Monday evening in the parish hall with a suare dance.

With the annual All Sports Banquet looming on the social horizon, preparations are under way for the event. In connection with the May 10 affair, Coach Bob Mineweaser announced that votes for the outstanding boy and girl athlete would be tabulated this week.

All seniors who participated in sports are eligible for the award and each high school student may cast one vote for the boy and girl of his choice. The trophies will be presented at the banquet by Rose Griffin.

St. Michael girls are looking forward to the coming Mother-Daughter Breakfast in the hall Sunday. It will be served by the fathers and sons of the parish.

The juniors class is in a flurry of preparation for the forthcoming prom and, much to their chagrin, the senior classmen have been able to obtain no clues as to the theme of the big event.

With the coming of spring, St. Mike's girls blossomed forth in an array of rainbow colors this week, and, as usual the young men's fancy lightly turned to thoughts of leaving ties at home. However, 'uprising" was iqush'IktDD this "uprising" was quickly brought to a halt by the imposition of "fees" on all those not sporting ties.

Michaelites became a quiet prayerful group this week as the annual three-day retreat started Wednesday with 10:00 a.m. Mass. The retreat, conducted by the Rev. Raymond Slkinkhert closed Friday with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the church. This gave students an opportunity to reflect on the past and to resolve for the future, and seniors in particular were thankful for the opportunity with graduation only a month away.

As St. Michael's contribution to the "stage," Fred West andMarcee Hill are industriously studying scripts in their few free moments as they both take part in the Circle Players production of "You Can't Take It With You," soon to be produced in St. Michael Hall.

There's Music in the Air

St. Freds Selling Tickets for Big Spring Festival

The senior room looked as if it had taken on a new enrollment, early this week, as heads partially gray from powder that did not brush out, and orange faces from makeup that hadn't yet worn off appeared here and there about the room.

These were the results of the play "The Little Dog Laughed" which was brought to a successful close Tuesday.

Farewells and a great big thanks for one of the best plays ever, was shown Natalie Sayers, director, with the presentation of a bouquet of roses and a bracelet from the senior class on Tuesday night. After which the seniors went to Mario's for pizza and Carolyn Robichaud's for coffee and donuts.

The sophomores enjoyed a class party at the house of Eleanor Arno last week. Dancing, eats, and clowning around, as only the sophomores know how, kept the party fun and lively, reported sophomores.

It seems the Rams have to battle "old man weather" along with the rest of the league this year as rain and cloudy skies have stopped the playing of their two games with Center Line and St. Benedicts.

The school was busy this week making plans and chartering buses to attend the Marian Day Services at the U. of D. Stadium in Detroit May 8.

This Sunday at 3 p.m. seniors will travel to Center Line to see the way they present their senior play, "The Little Dog Laughed." Last Saturday, Center Liners were guests of St. Fred's for their afternoon production. A coke and chat session was enjoyed by all following the play.

An informal get-together was held at Judy Dean's house Thursday night in celebration of Elinor Schutt's 18th birthday.

While waiting for term papers to be corrected and returned, fourth-year English students turned to the reading of "Macbeth."

Homeroom winners of the Patron-Sponsor Drive for the senior play enjoyed ice cream, pop, candy, and other treats, compliments of the seniors, Wednesday during last hour.

Members of the choral began the sale of tickets this week for their spring festival, "Music in the Air," to be given May 21 and 22.

If the beautiful melodies floating down the halls these days are any indication, the festival is going to be something no one will want to miss. Hard work and long hours of practice have been put in by choral members.

A tour of Pontiac State Hospital is being planned for Wednesday, May 4, by St. Frederick seniors, on a free day to be had in honor of their bishop's feast day, Tuesday.

Their tour of the hospital will be made during an open house to be held May 1-4, in cooperation with National Mental Health Week.

Runaway Girl, 14, Stopped by Dad on Red Border

HONG KONG (AP)—A frantic Chinese dentist from Singapore caught up with his 14-year-old daughter here today, just in time to prevent her going into Red China.

The girl, Lim Peck Lian, left home last Saturday without her parents' permission or knowledge. With a party of student friends, she boarded the Dutch ship Tjiwangi for Hong Kong. Here they planned to cross the border into China and enter Communist schools.

Dr. Lim Kim Tong flew here yesterday to intercept her. She had neither money nor clothes when she left home.

Thai Premier Says Aid Stopped Reds

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — The Thailand Prime Minister told a press conference here that his country's "full economy and aid from the United States" enabled it to resist the threat of communism.

Field Marshal P. Pibulsonggram said, "I can safely say there is no internal disturbance in my country today."

"Communism is very near, however," he added. "The Reds are more of a threat now than ever before since Viet Nam is divided."

He said solution of the Formosan crisis would greatly ease tension in Southeast Asia.

Rap Training of Undergrads

Doctor, Dean Criticize Preparation for Law, Medicine Courses

EAST LANSING (AP) — A law school dean and a leading physician criticize the educational preparation given law and medical school students.

Dean E. Blythe Stason of the University of Michigan law school and Dr. Ernest Irons, Chicago physician and past president of the American Medical Assn., voiced their comments at Michigan State's centennial year symposium on general education.

Dean Stason said that "with few shining examples, students come to law school unprepared.

"They are," he said, "tragically often unable to think; many cannot write well; many cannot spell common words, and many are uninformed about facts of general knowledge."

Dean Stason complained that the reading of classical literature "has almost disappeared from students' equipment."

Dr. Irons said the increasing flow of new scientific knowledge has weighted medical education in favor of science and has reduced the emphasis on cultural subjects as history, philosophy, languages and literature.

This, he said, "does not prepare the medical student to know his future patients as men and women. It inclines him to treat disease as purely a technical problem."

There is well merited criticism, Dr. Irons said, of the medical profession for over-specialization.

High School Students Write History Text

NEWTON, Mass. (AP) — Grade School pupils in Newton are getting a new text book — written by a group of high school students.

"A Young Citizens' History of Newton" started as a routine project by members of the high school's English club two years ago.

Faculty adviser M. Roland Heintzelman was impressed by the students' research in local history. Under his guidance, a club member, Joyce Dudley, put them together in book form.

"This is the first time that school children have actually written and published their own community's history," Heintzelman said, "and the first time such a student publication has been used as a text for lower grades."

P. S. 47 Devoted to Deaf Youngsters

Children's Chattering Never Heard in New York School Nursery

NEW YORK (AP)—P. S. 47 looks like any other New York school—weather-worn brick, flush on a busy street between a piano store and a moving company.

But inside, in the first classroom you come to, you notice the difference. It's a nursery, and underneath the surface noise of blaring radio and children banging blocks is a layer of silence.

* * *

The only voice you hear is the teacher's, purposefully chattering away as if her small charges could hear every word. If any of them talked back to her, it would be one of the happiest days of her life.

The best she can hope for is a meaningless babble, the beginning of a functional voice.

Public School 47 is New York City's school for deaf and hard of hearing children, the largest in the country. It has 550 students, from nursery tots to ninth graders.

* * *

Children start in the nursery at 2 years, 8 months.

"That's the time we must start making them conscious of speech," says Mrs. M. Catherine Wilman, assistant principal.

"The first time you realize you've gotten into the child's mentality is when he moves his lips like yours, but doesn't make a sound. It's a great day and you kiss him and make a fuss over him."

* * *

In the nursery all activity is on the directed-play level. Banging is encouraged and the radio is on all day at varying degrees of loudness — both for noting the children's reaction.

Mothers accompany their children to the nursery and stay until the tots can say goodby easily, usually a matter of a few weeks.

Teddy bears and dolls scattered around the nursery have hearing aids to help accustom the child to the devices. They are never forced on him. Sometimes the cloth harness containing the battery is worn a month before the second part is fitted in the child's ear.

* * *

Hearing aid companies have given the school $10,000 worth of equipment for children up to 5 years. After that age, it's up to the parents to provide them.

At P. S. 47, subjects in classrooms above the nursery level parallel those taught in regular schools.

This enables P. S. 47 graduates to go on to regular high schools, either trade or academic—and 70 per cent do. In the high schools, special teachers are assigned to watch out for deaf and hard of hearing students.

* * *

At P. S. 47, development of manual dexterity is stressed so the youngsters will have skills for making a living. All boys and girls take all shop courses: Typing, cooking, sewing, metal work and carpentry.

Underlying all classroom instruction, however, is the emphasis on teaching the students to speak and to interpret the partial sounds they hear.

* * *

What about hand signs?

"We fight them constantly," Mrs. Wilman says, "although some schools over the country are still teaching them. Signs are all right if the children are always going to be with other deaf or hard of hearing people, but they've got to learn to read lips and speak if they're going to be able to get along at all in the outside world."

College Lecturer Quits Columbia in Loyalty Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Corliss Lamont, under indictment for alleged contempt of the U.S. Senate, said yesterday he has withdrawn as lecturer in philosophy at Columbia University until his case is clarified.

After a report yesterday in the New York Post that he had been dropped from the university faculty, Lamont issued a statement saying:

"I have voluntarily withdrawn my course at Columbia . . . until my contempt case is clarified. There is no suspension or dismissal involved."

* * *

Columbia said in a statement that Lamont's action was "without prior suggestion by any officer of the university."

Lamont, 52, who has espoused left-wing causes but denies being a Communist, was indicted by a federal grand jury here last October for refusing to answer questions about a book he wrote before a Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis).

After pleading innocent to the contempt charge, Lamont has been free in $2,000 bail.

Solves Crime in Hospital

BOSTON (UP) — A cop stationed at a hospital usually doesn't get the opportunity to solve a robbery. Patrolman John McCarthy did so without leaving his hospital beat. He noticed two youths dividing a large number of quarters. One was waiting for treatment of a cut hand. McCarthy investigated and got the pair to confess that they had just broken into a tavern and were dividing the loot.

Hint Chiang Talked War at Meeting With Radford

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

One of the things that must have been discussed in the latest United States-Chinese Nationalist negotiations, is the fact that the Communists now have a "privileged sanctuary" opposite Formosa.

This singular situation is seldom emphasized in the talk about a Formosa cease-fire agreement.

But it certainly must have been emphasized in the negotiations held by Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chief of Staff; Assistant Secretary of State Walter S. Robertson and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Official sources in Taipei, the Formosan capital, where the negotiations were held said that basic principles involved in obtaining a cease-fire were discussed.

But the belief was expressed in American diplomatic and military circles in Tokyo that Chiang's desire to attack the Communist air bases played a big part in the talks.

That sounds logical. Chiang wants no cease fire. He wants to attack the Communists — frankly hoping that the United States will be drawn into war on his side.

The United States wants a cease fire, not only to end the present dangerous tension but to effect the freeing of American war prisoners still held by the Communists in flagrant violation of the Korean armistice.

So far, the cease fire situation is still in the diplomatic feeler stage.

But the way things are shaping up, it looks as if the United States eventually will have to let Chiang start bombing the Red-held mainland unless a cease fire is arranged.

Of course the Communists themselves could start things, if the cease fire feelers fail, by attacking the Quemoy and Matsu islands in preparation for an attack on Formosa.

But they still do not know whether the United States will go into action to help Chiang and his Nationalists defend the two island groups.

The Reds do know that the United States is pledged to defend Formosa itself.

And if they have any sense at all, they will not lightly risk a major war with the United States. They have troubles enough of their own—notably a chronic agricultural crisis which leaves millions of Chinese people hungry.

One thing about cease fire talks is that, if they fail, the situation which they concern gets worse than it was before.

That undoubtedly will happen if a Formosa cease fire proves impossible.

The situation in that area is perhaps the most tangled one in the whole field of East-West issues. It cannot continue forever—and the United States cannot forever tolerate a Red "privileged sanctuary" opposite Formosa like the one in Manchuria during the Korean War.

Cast Does Special Show for Margaret

LONDON (AP)—The cast of the all-Negro musical "Jazz Train," financed by 65 U. S. Air Force officers, gave a show-after-the-show last night for Princess Margaret.

At the regular performance, the princess noticed omission of one scene mentioned by critics after the show's first night.

Director Mervyn Jones explained that the scene—excerpts from "Carmen Jones," "Blackbirds" and "Porgy and Bess"—had been cut because "Jazz Train" was running too long.

"But if you would like to stay, we'll put it on for you," he offered.

Margaret stayed—along with her escort Mark Bonham-Carter, the Hon. Dominic Elliot and Lady Elizabeth Cavendish. All four applauded vigorously.

Patti Won't Be Waggin in USC Campus Show

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The dean of students at the University of Southern California has stepped in to stop a strip-tease artist from dancing for a student show.

The burlesque performer, who calls herself Patti Waggin, was scheduled to go through a rehearsal on the campus yesterday but students met her at a school entrance and told her of the dean's edict against her.

Dean Bernard L. Hyink issued this pronouncement: "This type of program is not in keeping with the dignity of an educational institution."

Diana Back in Show

BOSTON (AP)—Actress Diana Barrymore returned to her role in the play "Pajama Tops" last night. She said the overdose of sleeping pills which put her in the hospital Wednesday night was taken to "calm my nerves."

Britain Facing Threat of General Rail Strike

LONDON (AP)—Britain still faces the threat of a nationwide railway strike at midnight Sunday.

All-day negotiations between the Ministry of Labor and the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen failed yesterday to produce any agreement to prevent a stoppage of the government owned railroads.

The engineers and firemen, 65,000 strong, are demanding an across-the-board increase amounting to $1.12 weekly in wages now averaging $27.30. Management has offered 76 cents.

Sweden is about twice the area of Great Britain.

More than 360,000 miles of oil pipeline are in operation in the U. S.

San Salvador Jolted

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP)—A sharp earthquake shook San Salvador on the anniversary of this country's worst quake, which destroyed the capital 36 years ago. No injuries or damage were reported yesterday.

Drivers' Tests Tough in Vienna

Motorists Must Pass Several Examinations to Get License

VIENNA (UP)—Driving license tests here are reputed to be the world's stiffest. Besides proving you can drive, you have to know how to take a car apart and put it together.

Moreover, you must pass a college type of test in traffic law and undergo a complete physical examination.

The tests are so tough that few Viennese try for a license without graduating first from an approved driving school.

Scores of schools have mushroomed as postwar traffic has increased, and newcomers to Vienna are astonished at the number of cars bearing "Traffic Academy" signs.

Applicants are advised to complete 15 driving lessons — plus their homework — before trying to solo. Such a course costs about $50. No one is admitted to the exams without proof he has been to a licensed school or had private training with a learner's permit.

Three oral tests are conducted by three different examiners.

If you pass the examiner on Austrian traffic law, you move on to an engineering examiner who tests your knowledge of how an automobile works and how to repair any kind of breakdown. Test headings include "engine," "brakes," "gears," "steering," "carburetor" and "tire structure."

The third part of the oral covers "Behavior in Dangerous Situations"—what to do when your car skids on ice, catches fire or gets involved in other awkward predicaments.

"If at any point during the examination the candidate is found wanting, the tests are stopped and he must repeat the whole examination, including those parts he had already passed," applicants are warned.

The physical examination is approximately the same as that required for life insurance.

The final hurdle, the driving test itself, includes starting, turning, fast braking, passing and parking drills in the city's narrow streets with an official tester calling the signals.

Officials say the percentage of failures among the student drivers is far greater than at Austrian public schools and universities.

Hold Ice Cream Social

HARTFORD, Conn. (UP)—Contributors to a "church fund" learned from police their donations never got farther than the corner drug store. Three small boys who solicited a total of $10 promptly spent it on ice cream and candy.

CURTAIN GOING UP!—On the fancy framework beneath Topsy Kueppers' skirt, that is. The lovely singer was standing back-stage in Munich, Germany, waiting for her cue in a new operetta, when she was caught by surprise by a ventilator that had just been switched on.

Raps Unnecessary Adenoids Surgery

He voiced his criticism in a talk before the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otological Society.

DETROIT (UP)—A professor at Indiana University's medical school says that many children believed to have adenoids trouble merely are allergic to such things as household dust.

Dr. Kenneth L. Craft said that because of these allergies too many unnecessary operations are performed on children for the removal of adenoids.

Before adenoids are removed, Craft said, children first should undergo tests to determine if they have allergies.

"If an operation has to be done," he said, "it is better to apply the allergy treatment first so that the child will be in better condition for the operation. If the adenoids are not part of the trouble, they can be left in and will atrophy (waste away) eventually."

Boy, 11, Expert on Fishing Flies

Turns His Hobby Into Small but Flourishing Business

BUFFALO, N. Y. (UP)—The role of business executive came early to 11-year-old Michael J. Donohoe, an ardent fisherman.

As a hobby, the suburban sixth grader began tying his own flies a few years ago. Then he sold some to a local sporting goods dealer.

Before he realized what was happening, young Mike found himself president, general manager—and chief laborer—of the M. J. D. Company.

In February, Mike delivered his largest single order of flies, 60 dozen to a chain department store here.

"It took me about two months, working a couple of hours each day, to finish the order," he said.

Mike hopes to expand his business by contact with other local sporting goods stores.

He now makes more than 50 different kinds of flies, but plans to concentrate on the more popular types such as the Yellow Sally and White Miller.

His best customer is his father, James Donohoe, a co-pilot for American Airlines.

"Mike and I do a lot of summer fishing together and we have nailed some big ones with his flies," Donohoe said.

Delicate Noses, Maybe

NORTH PLATTE, Neb. (UP)—The trucker was fined $104 in Lincoln County court—but he had to admit that local officials were cooperative. The man was arrested for overweight at noon on a Saturday when county officers normally knock off for the weekend. But the officials agreed to stay open a bit longer than usual to give the trucker a break because of his cargo—a load of fresh fish.

Newsmen on Stiff Schedule at Las Vegas

LAS VEGAS (INS)—It's easy to cover an atomic bomb test if your system doesn't ask for a little sleep every three or four days. Nod your drowsy head just once, after spending a couple of subarctic nights on Yucca Flat, and you'll never win a Pulitzer Prize. Conk off during a six-hour briefing on thermal effects on plastic doorknobs, in a hot and airless auditorium the next day, and your card in the Atombombwatchers Society will be picked up.

Here's the schedule of a fellow I know who came out for Operation Cue, the atomic test named in honor of all reporters with a misspent youth:

5 p. m.—Learns that the scheduled test for the next dawn was postponed the previous Wednesday, but the fellow who was supposed to let him know if there was a postponement couldn't get the hotel on the phone. And the management had banked dice tables against all doors, to keep the people from venturing out.

5:01 to the following dawn—Celebrates fact that the test has been postponed and he doesn't have to miss a full night's sleep.

Dawn to 9 a. m. — Celebrates some more. Can't remember just what it is he's celebrating. Wonders whether he dreamed he was playing 10 dollar chips on "the field" for the past two hours. Feels pockets numbly. Realizes it wasn't a dream.

9:01 to 9:02—Cold showers and a fresh set of eyeballs.

9:30 to 12:30—Briefing by Dr. Cramswell Chumley on radiation effects in seventh generation of newts found lurking in palms during Bikini tests.

12:30 to 12:35 — Nourishing lunch of a double double martini and a shot of morphine.

12:36 to 6:30—Briefing by Dr. Emmaline Quagmire on mass feeding of St. Bernards in event of radioactive fall-out over the Brenner Pass.

6:30 to 10:30—Celebrates not being at briefing. Looks out window during Liberace show at Riviera and decides there can be no test at dawn. It's snowing. Friend races by, says "Come on, the busses are leaving for Yucca Flat." Says, "Look, snow." Friend says, "That's Liberace's new sequin tails, stupe, come on."

2:30 a. m.—Steps out of steam-heated bus at News Nob, Yucca Flat, and immediately freezes into a stickless good humor. Remembers before becoming frozen that pongee shorts no outfit for desert at night. Thaws out with aid of civil defense worker, who pours five gallon tin of hot coffee over his head.

2:31 to 4:28—Tries to hear instructions on what to do when bomb goes off. Can't hear because of chatter of teeth. Tries to light box of matches for warmth. Given stiff rebuke by NBC, CBS, ABC, FCC, AEC and FCDA.

Curls around a joshua tree for warmth. Freezes to it in grotesque position, like appendage. Is sustained only by knowledge that when bomb goes off it will cast a warm glow for miles around and thaw him loose.

4:28—Man on the loud speaker says, "Oops, sorry, no bomb tonight. Goodnight."

4:29—Truck runs over joshua tree, breaking him loose. Misses last bus pulling out for Las Vegas, 100 miles away. Gets lift from man going there via Barstow.

Noon—Arrive Las Vegas in time for Chamber of Commerce lunch with speech on health advantages of life in Las Vegas area.

1 p. m.—Gets to hotel room, falls in bed and just hits pillow, sound sleep, when phone rings. Its old J. P. in the New York office, wants three-part series on newts, past and present, by 3 p. m. at the latest.

3:01-10:30—Celebrates finish of newt series and fact that test probably can't be held on account of bad sandstorm. Learns he's been staring at brown wall, not sand storm. Barely makes bus headed for Yucca Flat.

Clerks Deny Leave Abuse

Post Office Federation Hits Federal Report on Sick Time Cheating

WASHINGTON (AP)—The AFL National Federation of Post Office Clerks today described as "misleading" a report in which government investigators charged widespread abuse of sick leave privileges by U.S. postal employes.

E. C. Hallbeck, legislative director of the clerks federation, said there are "thousands" of days of accumulated sick and annual leave left unclaimed every year by retiring workers.

"In terms of extra services to the taxpayer, not to mention the money savings involved, such renunciation runs into the millions both in hours and dollars," he declared in a statement.

The report with which Hallbeck took issue was filed with the House Post Office Committee by the Government Accounting Office. It was released without comment by the committee last week.

Annual leave is the government equivalent of vacation time. Sick leave is intended to be granted under the law for specified periods only when the employe is sick. The GAO report dealt only with use of sick leave.

A federal employe is entitled to 13 days of sick leave with pay each year. This is cumulative, so that if an employe has 10 years of service he is entitled to 130 days of such leave less any time he has taken off for illness.

EVA PERON, Argentina (AP) — Police said they had broken up a plot engineered by Roman Catholics and members of the opposition Radical party to "disturb the peace" during May Day labor celebrations.

Asks Airport Grants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) has introduced a bill to provide 63 million dollars in federal grants annually for the next four years for airport construction. The administration has asked 11½ million for next year.

Girls Learn About Fabric, Design

"As ye 'Sew' so shall ye reap" might well be the motto of industrious young women at Pontiac High School, whose fingers fly busily through the air each school day.

The teen-agers' fingers aren't waving in the air to dry their nail polish—there's more serious business at hand. That's the serious business of learning, through sewing, to be better groomed, more attractive, and in the long run, better citizens in the adult world into which they will soon enter.

As such, the daily classes are more than mere courses in sewing. Teachers refer to them as homemaking. Students are carried back to the days of Anne Boleyn and beyond, as they study the history of costume. The evolution of textiles is taken up in all phases.

With this, the girls combine a study of room planning, housing and home management.

Good grooming, color design and wardrobe planning are all thought out carefully and then comes the waited-for magic of turning a piece of yard goods into a billowy-skirted dress or a perky blouse or a cute pleated skirt.

First, the basic principles of sewing, beginning with the operation of the sewing machine, are taught by able instruction on the part of the girls' teachers.

Patterns are studied for size and suitability, as is material, before it is purchased. A guide sheet is followed to the letter for a single slip of the scissors might well mean disaster.

What is known as stay-stitching is used to prevent stretching of the fabric, particularly where it has been cut on the bias. In between bastings and fittings, an iron is in constant demand, for that is what partially makes for that "professional" look the young stylists are striving for.

Quality counts and no one likes to be spotted for the "homemade" dress she is wearing. Usually the sewing pupils are their own severest critics.

The would-be seamstresses start out with simple skirt and blouse patterns, but as their ingenuity increases they apply their talents to dresses, jumpers and even suits. Children's clothes are also tackled by the girls.

It is this that gives them the insight to judge quality in all clothing, whether they are the sewers or the purchasers. Nor is it long before their tastes are better molded to suit their own figures and personalities. This same keen judgment may well be applied to every-day happenings throughout their lives.

And it just could be that neat, well-groomed appearance that may land them that first and oh, so important job after diploma-time, or make them the belle of the ball at college.

Naomi Maloney of Carter street (left) and Elizabeth Rodgers of West Pike street, clothing instructor, mark the skirt which Dolores Rains of Park place has ready for hemming.

Copy-Cat Annoying to Reader

Woman Complains About Losing Her Individuality

By EMILY POST

A reader writes me as follows: "Will you please tell me how I can discourage a friend who copies me to such an extent that I feel she is robbing me of my individuality. Whenever I buy a new dress, or hat, or something new for my apartment, she turns up with one exactly like it a short time afterwards.

"I think this is very unfair to me and would like to tell her so, but how can I do this without breaking our friendship?"

Answer: Why not tell her that copying you is very flattering but too many things of yours duplicated by her will end by boring those who are friends of both of you and thereby lose their charm.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: In a house without service, where the serving dishes are put on the table, how are the dishes started around the table? When we have company, the guests seem to hesitate about picking up the service dishes and helping themselves.

Should the host pick up the first serving dish and hand it to the woman on his right so that she may help herself, and then pass it to her right? Just how is this handled correctly?

Answer: The host should start by offering a dish to the woman on his right, and the hostess from her end of the table starts another dish on its way around the table.

* * *

Dear Mrs. Post: Several women friends spent the afternoon here recently and they stayed on and on, each seeming to wait for the other to suggest leaving.

One of the women had driven the others and I felt that they were waiting for her to suggest going. Was it her place to do this?

Answer: Yes, it was—unless they were very intimate friends. In this case, any one of them would have felt free to say, "Don't you think we ought to go?" But if they did not know her very well, they would have waited for her to ask them if they were ready to leave.

Mauritz Stiller (Moje) Knows What's Best for Greta

By JOHN BAINBRIDGE

V

The first showing of Gosta Berling's Saga, Garbo's first film under the direction of Mauritz Stiller, the strange and gifted man who was to play such a dominant role in her career and the shaping of her personality, was held in Stockholm in March, 1924. While the popular reaction was generally favorable, the critical acclaim was restrained, and none of the critics devoted much space in their reviews to the newcomer Greta Garbo.

In her first serious screen role the actress who was to become an international symbol of the cool, ethereal temptress looks as innocent and buxom as a cherub. Wearing a variety of low-cut gowns that permit the display of a rather ample bosom, she drifts woodenly through the picture, coming to life but once.

This occurs in a rousing chase sequence, when she and the hero, escaping in a one-horse sleigh across a frozen lake, are pursued by a pack of "wolves"—actually a bunch of German police dogs, whose tails Stiller had had filled out with crepe hair and weighted with lead, the latter measure to prevent any inappropriate wagging.

During the almost interminable pursuit across the ice, Greta Garbo registers fright by furiously rolling her eyes, heaving her chest and crying "Vargar! Vargar!" as she flings her arms to indicate the approaching pack. The pursuers finally fall to scrapping among themselves, and hero and heroine gallop on to safety behind their trusty nag.

At Stiller's insistence, Greta Garbo had kept up her studies at the Academy during the filming of Gosta Berling. In addition to her classroom work, she was now having the useful and pleasurable experience of taking small parts in regular productions of the Royal Dramatic Theater. Her first role on the so-called "Big Stage" was that of Mrs. von Brandt in the German comedy, The Tortoise Comb, which had a run of forty-three performances.

While Greta Garbo was pursuing her studies at the Academy, Stiller, following the Stockholm premiere of Gosta Berling, was engaged in editing a version of the film to be shown in Berlin. After much shrewd bargaining, Stiller contracted to sell the German exhibition rights for 100,000 marks, a huge sum for that period. The buyer was the Trianon Film Company, a Berlin firm whose president was David Schratter.

Early in September, 1924, Greta Garbo traveled with her mentor to the German capital to attend the Berlin premiere. The fashionable first-night audience applauded wildly when the picture was over and cried for Stiller to take a bow. He did and then, as the newspapers later reported, grasped the hand of his shy companion and propelled her to the edge of the box so that she might also acknowledge the applause.

Greta Garbo was photographed en route to Turkey where she made a German film in 1925. Wherever she went, the famous Swedish born star drew crowds about her.

The German critics wrote rave reviews about Gosta Berling, describing it variously as "an unparalleled epic of the screen," "the height of filmic art," and "a masterwork of beauty and characterization." Greta Garbo, too, fared better away from her native land.

The Berliners commented favorably on her acting, and the picture settled down for a long run in Berlin. The exhibitors had figured on getting their investment back in four weeks; they got it back in one.

The Trianon Company was so gratified with this bonanza, they urged Stiller to produce a picture for them. "I have a contract with Greta Garbo," he told Schratter. "If you want me, you'll have to take her too." Gratter agreed. "Now I also have a contract with the great young Swedish actor Einar Hanson," Stiller said, and Schratter, with a sigh, agreed to give Hanson a contract also.

The discussion then turned to the film Stiller was to make. The Trianon people were under the impression that he had agreed to produce a film version of a sentimental German love story. The scenario for this had already been prepared. Stiller said he had a better idea.

During the filming of Gosta Berling, Stiller had read in a Stockholm newspaper a melodramatic serialized story written by a Russian refugee named Vladimir Semitjov. Impressed with the movie possibilities of the work, Stiller had bought the screen rights and with the help of the author and Ragnar Hyltén-Cavallius reworked it into a screen scenario.

Schratter was dubious, but eventually succumbed to Stiller's high-pressure salesmanship. Having gotten this much settled, Stiller broke the news that he planned to shoot most of the film in Constantinople. While Schratter held his head and muttered about expense, Stiller explained how, by producing the picture in Constantinople, Trianon would not have to spend any money on sets.

With Greta Garbo and Hanson in the leading parts, the cast could be filled out with the addition of a few bit players, who, Stiller said, could be hired cheap in Turkey. In the end Stiller had his way, as usual.

Toward the middle of December, 1924, the quartet of adventurous Swedes—Greta Garbo, Stiller, Einar Hanson and Ragnar Hyltén-Cavallius—left Stockholm to try their luck in Turkey. After stopping over in Berlin to pick up a German camera crew, they continued on to Constantinople, arriving there shortly before Christmas.

With characteristic expansiveness Stiller promptly purchased two fine automobiles as well as two trucks. He and Greta drove around the city, taking in the polyglot atmosphere and looking for backgrounds. They were usually followed by one or both of the trucks carrying the camera crew and their equipment.

From time to time the motorcade stopped while Stiller directed the photographing of a teeming street scene, a view of the breath-taking floating domes and minarets or some other picturesque sight that he planned to use in the movie.

When Stiller discovered that he had run out of money he borrowed some funds from a Russian friend to take care of the emergency, and took the train to Berlin. There he found that Trianon had gone hopelessly bankrupt. Any thought of continuing work on the Constantinople epic under Trianon's auspices was out of the question.

Stiller wired Hanson to bring Greta Garbo and the other members of the company to Berlin. This assignment was easier ordered than executed, since none of the company had funds to make the trip. However, the Swedish Legation in Constantinople came to the rescue and bought railroad tickets for the three Swedes; the German Legation performed the same service for the camera crew. In spite of their bad situation, Hansen later told friends, Greta Garbo seemed quite unconcerned.

Dining with her the night before they were to entrain for Berlin, Hanson said something about their bad luck and expressed his concern about what they were in for next. Greta Garbo was blandly reassuring. "Don't worry," she said. "Everything will be all right when we get to Berlin. Stiller will take care of everything."

When Garbo and Hansen returned to Berlin, they found Stiller living in an expensive suite at the first-class Esplanade Hotel. He arranged for them to move in too. Stranded in a foreign country, they all did their best, as theatrical tradition requires, to put a good face on things.

They were rescued by a young German film director named G. W. Pabst. Having recently turned from the theater to motion pictures, he was then casting his second film. It was called Die Freudlose Gasse, exhibited later in America as The Street of Sorrow.

The picture was to depict in starkly realistic fashion the devastating physical, moral and psychological effects of war as revealed through the lives of residents on a small, dark street in postwar Vienna.

Pabst had assembled an excellent cast but had been unable to cast to his satisfaction the part of the elder daughter of an upper-class Viennese family impoverished by the war. It was the daughter's unhappy task to try to keep her family from starving without sullying her honor.

Pabst had learned that Greta Garbo, whom he had admired in Gosta Berling, was in Berlin, and set his secretary to calling the hotels to locate the Swedish actress. When reached by phone at the Esplanade, she told Pabst he would have to discuss the matter with Stiller and quickly turned the phone over to him.

Assuming his usual bargaining stance, Stiller said he didn't think Greta Garbo would be interested in the part. However, on Pabst's urging, he agreed to take a look at the script. After studying it, he suggested a number of changes, especially in the part offered to Greta Garbo, and let it be known that she might consider accepting the role if Pabst would meet her financial terms.

For her work in the film Stiller demanded the exceedingly steep sum of four thousand dollars—to be paid, furthermore, in United States currency. Pabst consented to this figure and method of payment.

By working at forced draft, Pabst completed The Street of Sorrow in thirty-four days.

A shortened version, exhibited in the United States in 1927, went almost completely unnoticed. Soon after shoting began Pabst made it clear that he preferred that Stiller stay away from the set when Greta Garbo was working.

Stiller submitted to the ban, but it angered him and aroused his jealousy, which could reach towering proportions. Furthermore, without consulting Stiller, she had been talking informally with Pabst about the possibility of signing a long-term contract with his company.

When Stiller learned of Pabst's maneuvering, he flew into a violent rage. In one particularly stormy session, he accused his protegee in front of Einar Hanson of deciet, ingratitude, and all manner of wrongdoing.

Embarrassed and in tears, she promised to take no further steps without his approval. Changing from the outraged protector to the patient father, Stiller took her hands in his. "Stay with me, Greta," he said. "Moje knows what is best for you."

Deeper Problem Masked by Inconsistent Discipline

Father May Be Using Child to Show Resentment Toward His Wife

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Mrs. S. says she and her husband disagree over the discipline of their children.

One recent Saturday, Mr. S. told his 8-year-old son not to come near him while he was painting the garage. His wife took special pains to support this request. But after lunch, she came up from the cellar to behold Danny, happily bespattered with paint, helping his father.

She writes: "My husband is always doing inconsistent things like this. As he reads your column, I wish you'd discuss the danger of discipline disagreements between parents . . ."

Unfortunately, I don't revere consistent action toward children. I think it's quite possible not to want Danny to help you paint at 11 a.m., and enjoy his cooperation at 2 p.m. And that your inconsistency will appear most reasonable to your litle boy. I think that his acceptance of your changed feeling is entirely a matter of your your own acceptance of it.

The inconsistency that's harmful is the kind that is motivated by feelings we do not accept.

For example, my husband may prefer not to know how intensely he resents my overconscientioins passion to have everything "just so" around me. So he may not roar at me, "Will you leave my pipe alone? If I want it in the rack, I'll put it there!"

Instead of resisting me directly, he might use inconsistency toward our children to resist me. And upset the order of my discipline to avenge himself for the stiffness of my attitude toward him.

Under such circumstances, my problem would not be his inconsistency toward the children but hurt that he cannot tell me about.

It is discipline disagreements of this nature that have adverse effect on children. For they bring to normal friction between parents deeper tensions that justify Dan in the belief that he's the star of great drama.

Naturally, he enjoys this top billing. And to retain it, he can become a nasty little opportunist running back and forth with tales between his parents to foment the big scenes which have really nothing to do with him.

So I hope Mrs. S. will ponder the possibility that she objects, not to her husband's treatment of their child, but to his treatment of her. Then, with her conclusion, she can resolve her problem herself.

I bet she thinks him "irresponsible." I bet he thinks she pushes him around. If there's truth in either of these feelings, the way to change them is to get them out in the open.

Icebox Cake Easily Made Tastes Good

Mrs. Sloan Adds Juice to Crumbs for Pineapple Treat

By JANET ODELL

Pontiac Press Food Editor

A year or so ago we thought we had had all the recipes there are for a Pineapple Refrigerator Cake. The following recipe from Mrs. James H. Sloan proves how wrong we were. One of the nice things about this recipe is that it does not call for whipped cream in the cake itself. That will make it more acceptable to many.

Mrs. Sloan doesn't want us to write "a whole history" about her. We'll comply with her wishes by merely stating she keeps busy with a family of five youngsters, belongs to Sacred Heart Guild of her church — and — is nearly through with her housecleaning!

Pineapple Refrigerator Cake
By Mrs. James H. Sloan

½ cup butter or margarine
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup crushed pineapple
½-1 cup nutmeats, chopped
3 tablespoons cream or canned milk
1 box graham crackers, rolled fine

Cream butter and sugar, add egg beaten until it is light and foamy. Add cream and pineapple.

Line a cake pan with waxed paper. Cover with ½-inch of crumbs and sprinkle with 6 tablespoons of pineapple juice to moisten crumbs. Press down on bottom of pan.

Add 1-3 of first mixture, sprinkle with nuts. Continue alternating crumb and other mixtures until there are three layers, ending with crumbs. Cover with waxed paper. Let stand in refrigerator 24 hours. Cut into squares and serve with whipped cream if desired. Garnish with a cherry.

New Heating Units Are More Adaptable

Central heating once invariably meant a furnace in the basement. But it's not true any more, thanks to the ingenuity of the makers of gas heating equipment.

There are installations that can be placed in the attic, utility room, or the back porch—whichever suits your fancy and fits your budget best.

Oscar Schmidt Is Music Guild President

Oscar Schmidt was re-elected president of the Pontiac Music Guild when members gathered at the West Iroquois road home of Elda Sutter.

Mrs. Don Derragon was elected vice president; Mrs. Walter Schmitz, secretary; Mrs. William Heitsch, treasurer; and Miss Sutter, corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Heitsch and Mrs. Carl Clifford gave reports on a meeting of the Michigan Music Teachers Association held recently at Saginaw.

Mrs. Deeragon, program chairman, introduced Marilyn Colton and Francine Brown who played a piano and organ selection. Charles Wilson and Mr. Schmidt also played organ selections.

Mrs. Roy Larmee and Mrs. Roy Wright were guests at the Tuesday meeting. An annual banquet will be held May 4 at First Congregational Church.

Shirts of Kidskin

Leather is just everywhere. Now it's a man-tailored shirt of softest kidskin.

It comes in pastel colors and would go perfectly with a cashmere skirt, dye matched.

Bachelor Girls, Don't Listen to Men!

By ANNE HEYWOOD

While 21 may be the age of the average girl at marriage, my experience has been that more and more career women are getting married in their late 30s and early 40s.

It used to be that the girl who hadn't snared herself a husband by 30 was as good as hopeless, and was bound to be an old maid the rest of her life. But not today. Moreover, these marriages mostly turn out to be very happy ones.

But there are many pitfalls, just the same, which face the girl in her 30s who isn't yet married. Most of her friends, especially the married ones, give her up as a lost cause.

Her parents act as though she weren't quite normal, and report wistfully on the progress of all her classmates, who are suitably married and having babies. And she gets all kinds of advice, mostly bad, from men she knows.

"They tell me I'm too smart," one young woman reported tearfully, "and that I should try to act dumb if I want to get married." So she tried to act dumb, only it didn't work.

"They tell me I ought to give up, and sublimate everything by getting a do-good job, especially working with children," another said.

"They tell me I should move to Montana, where there are more men than women," another young woman reported.

What is the answer? Well, acting dumb, or getting into a do-good job you hate, or slavishly following census reports, or faking domesticity when you're no good at it, are not the answers.

The girls I know who have licked this problem, who have found wonderful husbands when they were pushing 40, have always done it by just being themselves.

They have turned a deaf ear to the advice given so lavishly, and have done what they feel like doing. They live their own lives, with jobs they like, and the next thing you know, they're married.

Above all, they pay no attention at all to the advice given them by men.

"After all," as one happy married woman told me, "men who are always analyzing you, and acting as if they understood you, are just whistling in the dark.

"The men who really understand women wouldn't be caught dead yacking about it!"

"I get to play twice as much golf, now that Helen has a car of her own!"

"You see, when we had only one car, I used it week days on the job. Helen had to have it week ends for shopping and a dozen other things. Now that she has her own Rambler, we're both free all the time."

Every woman should have a car of her very own!

For shopping

The Rambler costs so little, gets up to 30 miles on a gallon — it's easy on the budget. The Cross Country Rambler, above, was designed for shopping. It's a full-size station wagon for 6, and easy to park in small spaces. Loading the rear deck cuts chores in half.

For the children

The new Rambler is a great all-family car. And it's twice as safe because American Motors' Double Strength Single Unit car construction is actually twice as strong as bodies and frames bolted together. That's important with children in the car.

For social activities

With its smart Pinin Farina lines and decorator interior, your Rambler is as much at home at the swankiest parties as it is in front of a super market. And its exclusive Deep Coil Ride floats you along three times more softly and steadily. This is the "go-anywhere" car that's perfect for Mrs. America.

Tories, Labor Draw Platforms

Britain's Major Parties Square Off for General Elections May 26

LONDON (AP)—Britain's two major parties squared off today with lengthy manifestos outlining their platforms for the May 26 general elections.

Both promised to work for peace and more prosperity. Both said they would seek early talks with the Russians. Both said they would keep Britain's defenses strong until world disarmament is a reality.

Otherwise their programs differed sharply.

* * *

Prime Minister Sir Anthony Eden pledged that his Conservatives, if kept in office, would try to agree with the Soviet leaders on "proposals which will make a fresh advance towards disarmament and security for all peoples."

On the home front, the Conservatives promised to develop Britain into a "property-owning democracy." More export trade, in line with the party's "trade not aid" policy, was again a cardinal point.

The Labor party of former Prime Minister Clement Attlee promised to work for neutralization of Formosa, an immediate end to H-bomb tests, early peace talks with Russia, cuts in the cost of living and further nationalization of industry to broaden the welfare state.

Eden said his party has far-reaching plans for Britain's future.

"We need a mandate measured not in months but years," he said, in an appeal for a strong working majority in the House of Commons, where the Conservatives now have an over-all margin of only 19.

* * *

Eden said Britain must resign itself to continued high spending to keep defenses strong.

"However costly, its price is worth paying to avoid war," he declared. "We must make it certain that any would-be breaker of the peace knows beyond all doubt aggression will be met and at once by overwhelming retribution."

Wife Charges Beatings, Refuses to Make Up

CHICAGO (AP)—Mrs. Anna E. Benjamin, 41, who charges that her husband beat her at least twice a week during their 25 years of marriage, yesterday rejected his proposal that they become reconciled.

Her attorney, Norman Becker, told Superior Judge Elmer N. Holmgren she remained with her husband, John, 47, a painter and decorator, because of their son, Ronald, 18.

Judge Holmgren said he would hear Mrs. Benjamin's pending divorce suit May 6.

Michigan State Scholarships Given in County

Michigan State College entrance scholarships have been awarded 13 high school students in Oakland County from a 358 total given throughout the state, according to J. Robert Stewart, university scholarship director.

Joan Skelley and Barbara Wilkinson from Pontiac High, received two of the scholarships. One student from Lapeer High School and one from North Branch High School were named award winners.

Becoming effective in the fall semester of 1955, the scholarships were given on the basis of leadership, scholarship and citizenship, Stewart said.

Besides Nancy Beardsley from Lapeer High School and Virgil L. Horton from North Branch High School, winners were: Ann Seymour, Birmingham; Carol Walker, Clarkston; Shannon Louise Bettison, Southfield; Rodger and Ronald Clarke, Farmington; Claudette Lee Goff, Lincoln High, Ferndale; Teresa Urban, Lake Orion; Marilyn Davis, Milford; Nancy Sweeney, Oxford; Barbara Locke and Carole Anne Polkinghorn, Royal Oak High; Gerald Contos, Troy Township High School, Birmingham; and Tonia Gail Horstman, Walled Lake High School.

Linoleum was invented in England in 1636, but its use was widely extended by development of a new process in 1860.

City's Own Gangbuster to Be Cited

Detective Hero Named by Chief

James H. LaPonsie Is Picked to Receive the Phillips Lord Award

JAMES LaPONSIE

A brave police detective, who in a real-life drama tracked down two hold-up men in daring pursuit, disarmed one as he held 25 patrons of an inn at bay, thus thwarting a planned robbery, is due today to receive the Phillips H. Lord "Gangbuster" award of merit and scroll.

He is James H. LaPonsie, named for the honor by Herbert W. Straley, Pontiac chief of police.

Detective LaPonsie was officially commended by Straley "as an outstanding and brave police officer, the type who exemplifies the highest standards of tradition and character in his profession."

The citation came from Straley in answer to the search of Floyd Wesp, Strand Theater manager, who sought Pontiac's own cop hero in connection with the factual crime film, "Gangbusters," which opens here Saturday.

It was less than five months ago, on the night of Dec. 7, 1954, that LaPonsie performed his exemplary service for the city.

Working alone and due to go off duty in a few minutes, the detective received a "tip" that some men were planning an armed robbery within a few minutes of downtown Pontiac.

Disregarding the fact that his duty was finished for the day, he patrolled the area until he spotted a car answering the description of the one the holdup men planned to use.

Attempting to radio police headquarters his whereabouts, LaPonsie discovered his police radio was not operating.

At that moment two men came out of a nearby bar and drove away.

The detective abandoned his car, commandeering a radio-dispatched Yellow Cab. Trailing the suspects as they drove around the city, LaPonsie used the cab's radio to report his progress and location.

Continuing east to suburban Auburn Heights, the men parked their car, left the motor running and entered Avon Inn. Detective LaPonsie dismissed the cab driver and followed them inside.

Seated at the bar, the two ordered drinks. The policeman stationed himself at the opposite end of the bar to keep them under observation.

Suddenly one of the pair walked behind the bar and seized the proprietor, Steve Grapsas, forcing him into the office at the back.

Simultaneously his accomplice in front pulled out a pistol, ordering the 25 customers there to remain seated, warning them, "This is a stick-up!"

The detective stepped quickly toward the gunman, without drawing his weapon because exchange of gunfire might endanger patrons. He identified himself as a police officer.

The cursing holdup man hollered "Sit down or you'll get plugged."

The fast-acting detective, ordering the thug to disarm, maeuvered to a position where no patrons were in line of fire. With a quick movement he whipped out his revolver, disarmed the gunman and handcuffed him.

About that time, other officers whom he had alerted by radio, rushed into the bar and subdued the second bandit.

It is for this brave performance, above and beyond the call of duty, that Detective LaPonsie will receive his Phillips H. Lord award.

The presentation is sponsored by the Mutual Broadcasting Co.

Police Have Last Laugh on 'Drowned' Swimmer

SIOUX FALLS, S. D. (UP) — A young practical joker fooled his pals here by pretending that he had drowned in the Big Sioux River.

The boy slipped away from a swimming party and let the others search for his "body" for a time before showing up to laugh at the joke he'd played.

However, the companions had the last laugh. Police, who had been summoned to hunt for the missing swimmer, booked him on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Chicago Suburbs Engulfing Farms in Cook County

CHICAGO (UP)—Sprouting suburbs have wiped out more than 25,000 acres of county farmland in the last five years, according to Carl F. Mees, Cook County farm adviser.

He said builders are willing to pay such high prices for the land that the farmers can't compete with them.

Since 1950, he said, 600 farms have given way to the growing suburban home movement. There are only about 2,600 farms still remaining in Cook County, he added.

Higher taxes might have made farming less profitable and thereby reduced the number of farms, according to Mees. But mostly, he said, the reduction was due to the farmers' inability to pay the high prices that builders pay for land.

Mees also said some of the farmland was better suited for farming than house building. It's too low for houses, he said.

Triplet Calves Born

WOODSOCKET, R.I. (UP) —A Holstein cow belonging to Adelbert H. Whipple, dairy farmer, gave birth to triplets that weighed 70 pounds each.

Snow Shoveler Wins Sympathy From Judge

FALL RIVER, Mass. (UP) — Joseph Labrecque, 33, of Fall River was hauled into district court for throwing snow into the street while shoveling out a driveway.

A patrolman told the court he warned the defendant not to pile the snow near parking meters, but when he returned an hour later, Labrecque was still pushing snow out at a furious rate.

However, the police department dropped its case after a searching query from Judge Benjamin Cook.

"Where else is he going to shovel it?" the judge asked.

Cellophane Tape Now Seals Wounds

CHICAGO (UP)—Cellophane tape is being used to close wounds and is proving superior to stitches in many cases, according to Science Digest.

Dr. Paul Williamson, of Walsh, Colo., reported in an article that he used the tape in closing 91 skin lacerations, and that results have been encouraging.

He said there is a relative absence of pain compared with stitching, and the final appearance of the wound has been better. Healing also is speeded up, he said.

Williamson said stitches "may soon become a cruel and archaic way to close minor lacerations." He added that studies already are under way on the use of cellophane tape in closing major surgical wounds.

EXHIBIT IN SHOW—One of the features in the Waterford Home and Garden Show which opens tonight in the CAI Building on Williams Lake road is an exhibit of flowers and shrubbery by McNeil's Nursery on Dixie Highway. Above, Mrs. Russell McNeil displays a box of pansies, part of the exhibit. The Waterford show will run three days, from 6-11 p.m. today and from 1-11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. In addition to floral displays, it will include home furnishing booths, building material setups, cabinet shop, and many others. A model home, complete with shrubbery, is one of the exterior displays of the show.

Don't Lose Hope Too Soon; Some Seeds Sprout Slow

Flower seeds differ greatly in the time they take to germinate. Unless you know when to expect tiny sprouts to appear where seed was sown, it is easy to lose patience, and give the sowing up as a failure.

Varieties which have the reputation of being "difficult" may only be slow germinators; and the skill required to grow them is a question of knowing how long to wait, so when they do appear they will not have been abandoned.

Flowers which germinate quickly are most popular for sowing directly in the garden.

Among those which should germinate in 5 days are: Ageratum, amaranthus, anthemis, candytuft, cardinal climber, centaurea, clarkia, calliopsis, cosmos, cynoglossum, dahlias, annual pinks, helenium, helichrysum, annual mallow, marigold, mignonette, four-o-clocks, Virginia stocks, viscaria, and zinnia.

When, in addition to quick germination, a flower has large seed and colorful blossoms, it is bound to be widely grown and popular, because easy to grow.

Marigolds and zinnias, which share with petunias the popular leadership, are fast growing, large seeds; yet petunias, which rival them in popularity have the smallest seeds of any, may take 12 days to germinate and are seldom sown directly in the garden.

The small seeded, slow germinators are as easy to grow as the fast ones if they are started in a seed box. Success may even be surer, because of reduced hazards.

But it helps to know how long you must wait for the sprouts to appear, as it enables you to sow varieties of about the same germination period in the same box.

Ten day germinators include acroclinum, pimpernell, anchusa, snapdragons, asters, balsam, brachycome, calendula, carnation, cerastium, cleome, cosmidum, dimorphotheca, California poppy, gypsophila, lobelia, lupin, nigella, pansy, poppy, portulaca, scabiosa, tithonia.

Varieties which take from 15 to 20 days to show growth include begonia, datura, annual larkspur, godetia, impatiens, kochia, primula, salvia, salpiglossis, sweet peas.

Of these, larkspur and salpiglossis seldom thrive when transplanted, and can be grown from seed sown direct in the garden, if care is taken not to disturb the seed bed before they appear.

Ugly Praying Mantis Will Protect Garden

This spring thousands of tiny praying mantises will emerge to feast upon caterpillars, aphids, bettles and other destroyers in the garden.

Never destroy a praying mantis, even if it does look like a strange other - world creature.

An adequate water system for a modern farm must be able to deliver from 300 to 600 gallons per day.

Michigan Man Began Tradition

J. Sterling Morton Was Tree Lover Who Started Annual Planting Custom

By WILLIAM AHO
Pontiac Parks & Recreation Dept.

Today is Arbor Day in the Pontiac area and throughout the State of Michigan. In many places, garden clubs, civic groups and individuals are observing the day by planting trees.

Let's trace its origin and see what Arbor Day really means to us.

Webster defines Arbor Day as a day set aside by the states for the purpose of planting trees.

The founder of this day was J. Sterling Morton, who grew up in our state. He attended the University of Michigan but left a short time prior to graduation. He received an honorary degree from Union College in New York in 1858.

After college, Morton worked in Detroit as a reporter and then moved to Nebraska. He entered politics and held several state government jobs.

While he was a member of the Nebraska State Board of Agriculture he made a resolution naming April 10 as Arbor Day.

It is significant to note that over one million trees were planted in Nebraska on the first Arbor Day. Later the State Legislature of Nebraska set aside J. Sterling Morton's birthday, April 22, as Arbor Day and it was made a legal holiday.

Today Arbor Day is observed in all states. Michigan first observed it in 1858 by a proclamation from the governor.

Morton's love for trees is the reason Arbor Day was orginated. He carried on many experiments in tree planting and wrote extensively on forestry and related fields.

Have you ever wondered what the State of Michigan would look like without trees? If this were the case, I am afraid that the "Water Wonderland' inscribed on 'our car license plates would not be there.

Trees have been called a wonderful blessing to man. They cool him during the summer heat, give him beauty, influence the health of the community, prevent soil erosion, protect our watersheds and give us other numerous benefits.

Because of the good things trees give for so little, many people are continuing in the Morton tradition of planting a tree on Arbor Day.

The Parks and Recreation Department has gone on record as favoring this observance, and is urging parents to encourage their children to carry on the practice.

Staff members are always ready with advice and information for those who request it.

Only by carrying on the tradition of planting trees can the observance of Arbor Day be continued.

Borers Can Ruin Iris

Pesky borers which start in the spring can ruin iris. Watch for signs of damage and control it by spraying the plants every ten days with five per cent DDT treated to stick to waxy leaves.

Curry Lawn With Care

Use the broom-type rake or the closely-set lawn sweeper to get rid of winter's debris. Don't be too rough lest you uproot valuable grass.

ARBOR DAY TRADITION—Pontiac Parks and Recreation Dept. worker Lyle LaVoye prepares to plant a flowering crabapple tree as part of the Arbor Day observance here, while his fellow worker James Fink waters the ground. The tree being placed in the Osceola-Ogemaw triangle is one of a number donated by the Pontiac branch of the National Farm and Garden Club.

Eliminate Fruit on Apple Tree

For Ornamental Use, Spraying Will Avoid Windfall Nuisance

Many property owners who have apple trees which they cherish as ornaments would like to avoid the nuisance of disposing of the windfall fruits. Through the magic of modern chemistry, it is now possible to keep these beautiful trees and yet prevent them from developing fruit.

According to Karl Bailey, district horticultural agent, the use of naphthalene acetic acid will do the trick. He states a thorough spraying of the tree which will leave it dripping wet is necessary.

Do this at full-bloom or 10 days later at "clayx time." The material can be combined with most other spray chemicals.

Trade names for naphthalene acetic acid include "Apple Set" and "End Drop," both of which are available in the Pontiac area. Use ⅛ pound of Apple Set in 100 gallons of water if spraying at full-bloom. Increase to ¾ pound per 100 gallons for the later spray at "calyx time."

End Drop requires one quart per 100 gallons of spray at full-bloom. Three pints per 100 gallons for the calyx spray.

An effective job of spraying will result in a temporary distortion of the leaves. The fruits of some varieties are harder to remove than others and a second spray may be necessary in 10 days or two weeks.

Keep Garden Diary for Use Next Year

A little extra work this year can make next year's gardening a lot easier. Start keeping a "garden diary," noting the seeds you buy, the variety, amount, cost. At planting time enter the dates planted.

Also record tools, kind of fertilizer and other supplies you have to buy.

In the fall note how the various crops came out.

As time goes on the diary will grow—and it will contain much useful information you might otherwise forget.

Five states have towns called Amsterdam, says the National Geographic Society.

"Lieutenant," meaning one who takes the place of another, comes from the French words "lieu" (place) and "tenant" (holding).

Garden Tips, Nagging Wife Real Formula for Trouble

Dear Garden Editor:

Boy, have I got news for you.

Last Friday, my wife gets hold of the paper before I get home, and right away she starts in clipping stuff out of the garden page to torment me with.

I have hardly got the back yard raked up so I can put in a garden like she has been nagging me to do ever since the snow started to melt, and now I got troubles I never worried about.

She read that story where it says "It isn't too late to give your lawn a once-over to put it in top shape."

So first thing, as soon as I drag in the front door from work, she starts. "Why don't you get busy and fix up the front lawn," she says, while I am still hanging up my jacket.

"Look sweetie," I tell her, "You can't grow grass on that sand. I would have to put in some topsoil, and that is not only too expensive but it is also more work than I could do in two months with the help of a large crew of coolies."

Right away, I get an argument. She says, no, you can get all the topsoil you want for nothing. Mabel's husband got a couple of tons last week from where they are digging some gravel pit.

"Lissen," I try to reason with her, "even if I did want to get some topsoil, what would I bring it home in, my pockets?"

This witty remark is wasted on my wife, who has less sense of humor than a goldfish. It is no use talking to her when she has her mind made up. That woman has got a head of iron, and you can't hammer any sense into it no matter what.

After supper I call a guy I work with, and he says sure, he will lend me his trailer to haul topsoil.

It is practically dark when I find a place way out on a dirt road, where it looked like nobody owns anything, and I start to shovel dirt into the trailer. No sooner do I get it half loaded than this hayseed comes stomping out of the brush, and he wants to know what do I think I am doing.

Now that I think about it, I should have hit him with the shovel and got about 20 years maybe. Instead of that, I tell him how I am just getting some old dirt for my front lawn, and he tells me I am trespassing and stealing topsoil and if I don't pay he will call a cop.

Well, I pay, but I am far from happy. When I get home, I dump the dirt out in front of the house, take the trailer back and then come home to go to bed.

As I walk in the door, mad enough to chew holes in the carpet, my little woman says to me, well, what took you so long?

This is the final straw. Pow. I blow my top so loud it must have shook all the windows in the block, and lo and behold, my wife shuts up. This is the first time in history she has ever slowed down long enough for me to get a word in edgeways, and it stuns me so I am speechless.

And before I know what is happening, she has soft-soaped me into promising I will get some more dirt and finish the front lawn real nice.

So now I got to worry about the front lawn, besides which it is time to plant stuff in the garden out back, and with grass to cut in front and weeds to pull in back, I can see my whole summer is going to be one big pain.

Now, how about laying off these new ideas that just make more work for me, and put in the paper something about how it is better to relax once in a while or else a guy could drop over from too much heavy labor.

You should try doing some of this gardening stuff instead of just writing about it.

I Should Live So Long,
Joe McTrowel

GARDENERS GET ADVANCE POINTERS—Football player Reginald (Tulsa Bob) Smith (left) of 6850 Oakhills, Bloomfield Twp., rests on his hoe and picks up a few gardening tips as Alice Wessels Burlingame gives William Marshall Dawe of 3890 W. Lincoln, Bloomfield Twp., advance pointers on indoor planting. Mrs. Burlingame, Birmingham gardening authority, lecturer and pioneer in horticultural therapy, will conduct a five-week course in gardening starting Saturday at the Birmingham Community House. The "Men Only" classes, from 10 a.m. to noon, will include instruction on "practical gardening of a type to appeal to men," together with field trips to gardens in the area said Mrs. Burlingame. The classes are part of the community house craft and hobby program.

Quizzing the Gardener

Q—Can you tell me why my amaryllis does not bloom?

A—Nonblooming may be caused by any of several reasons. First, it is generally believed that too large a pot tends to discourage blooming.

A pot an inch larger in diameter than the bulb is the size most often used. Also, the bulb may be young and has not yet reached flowering size or it may not have been able to store up sufficient nourishment to produce blooms.

However, growing it through the summer under favorable conditions and letting it rest in a dry condition in the autumn should help. A little superphosphate worked into the soil may also help.

Q—Our basement harbors some repulsive insects — millipedes I believe they are called. What can be done to eliminate them?

A—A thorough cleaning of the basement to rid it of any decaying bits of wood or other damp debris, plus spraying or dusting with DDT, chlordane or Lindane, should do the trick. Follow maker's directions if the chemical is used as a spray. A 3 to 5 per cent dust is generally effective.

Q—Would you consider the Christmas rose suitable for cemetery planting as ground cover on the grave?

A—Christmas roses are too demanding and too costly for such a purpose. They must have a sunny exposure in winter and shade in summer, and I doubt if the cemetery maintenance would water them in summer— a most necessary chore. Better use Baltic ivy or pachysandra.

Asparagus Spring Treat

Fresh, green asparagus is a springtime change of pace for the family table. Select asparagus with tightly closed buds for peak-of-flavor goodness. Break off the tough ends—don't cut them. Stalks will snap at the point where the tender part starts.

Why Not Build a Cold Frame?

Start Seeds Growing for Later Transplanting in Garden

So you are interested in gardening this summer. Why not start now and build a cold frame to get your plants growing right away.

Here's how Lyle Abel, Oakland County Agricultural Agent, says it should be done:

The frame for the sash can be built right on top of the ground and should be five or six feet wide and as long as you need. Build the back side up to 18 inches and slant it toward the sun.

Glazed cold frame sash 3x6 feet can be purchased, or you can build your own frames and cover them with heavy gauze-polyethlylene film.

Seed of lettuce and many flowering plants can be sown directly in the cold frame and given adequate spacing when they are one to two inches tall.

Muskmellon, cucumber, watermelon, and even sweet corn can be planted in a cold frame either this week or the first week in May, depending on whether you live in the north of south of Michigan. Seeds of these crops must be planted in clay or paper pots or veneer bands as their roots must not be disturbed during transplanting to the garden, caution horticulturists.

If your cold frame is large enough, an early planting of radishes, lettuce and even onion sets can be made now for use right out of the frame in late May.

These crops can be followed coli, and cauliflower seed for set-by a planting of cabbage, broc-ting out in the garden in late June or early July.

Your cold frame operation can be an interesting and profitable venture in the spring from April to after the first of July.

Climbers Save Space

Where garden space is limited, get your vegetables off the ground and up in the air. Tomatoes, beans, peas, and squash do better when they have a fence to climb on or a support to cling to.

Ex-Cabinet Official Sees Dem Victory

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Charles Brannan, agriculture secretary under former President Harry S. Truman, says the Democrats will win the White House in 1956. "Eisenhower is as invincible in 1956 as Dewey was in 1948," he told reporters yesterday.

Brannan also said farmers had lost 13 per cent of their income during the Republican administration and would lose another 5 per cent by the end of the year.

Mitzi Will Get to Dance With Fred Astaire in Next Film

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD (INS)—The thing that really broke up Mitzi Gaynor and 20th Century-Fox was when she didn't get to play with Fred Astaire in "Daddy Longlegs." Mitzi had dreamed of dancing with Fred.

Now it looks as if she'll get her heart's desire. As soon as she finishes "Anything Goes" with Bing Crosby, she'll dance with Fred in "Dry Martini," his next picture.

Mitzi never looked better in her life. She's slim and she's plenty hot after "No Business Like Show Business," and next comes her picture with Bing and Donald O'Connor.

Marilyn Monroe made a stunning appearance before 2,000 publishers and editors attending the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn. I am very grateful to Marilyn for making this appearance since it was I who asked her to do it as a personal favor.

I am also happy to say that I have reason to believe her troubles with 20th Century-Fox will be ironed out very soon. She's had herself a great time in New York and now I believe she'll be ready to come back to California if the deal now pending is worked out.

Just heard from Anthony Quinn who is in Mexico with "Seven Cities of Gold," that Mrs. Quinn (Katherine De Mille) had flown there for their wedding anniversary.

Tony gets another trip to Europe in July when he joins Kirk Douglas in "Lust for Life," the Van Gogh story. Tony plays Gauguin, Van Gogh's closest friend, and Kirk, of course, is Van Gogh. The friendship between these two artists began when neither could sell a picture. They lived together in Arles, France. They argued so violently that Van Gogh ran Gauguin out of their house with a butcher knife, causing the natives to believe he was even crazier than they had thought.

A very cute test was made of Elizabeth Montgomery for the second lead in "Too Late My Love." Mike Curtiz filmed the test when he was in New York and it's in the form of an interview with Mike, himself.

Mike says, "What's your name?" She replies, "Montgomery."

He replies, "I once directed a man named Montgomery. His name is Robert Montgomery. Is he any relation to you?"

Says Elizabeth, "He's my dad."

Elizabeth is not only photogenic, but she has been a hit in many television shows. I can't believe she's grown up. I remember when Bob Montgomery telephoned to tell me he had a baby girl.

In Europe, most of the film companies are wise enough to appreciate the older actresses.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Kathryn Grayson's father, Charles E. Hedrick, is planning to marry his nurse, Katie tells me she's glad and likes the bride-to-be.

PHS Thinclads Shooting for 5th Straight in CMC Relays

Rolling along on one of the most brilliant track seasons—if not the finest season—in its history, Pontiac High School today was shooting for a 5th straight track victory.

Saturday, at Mt. Pleasant, Coach Wally Schloerke's thinclads will tangle with the cream of Michigan's schoolboy athletes in the Central Michigan College outdoor relays. Chiefs won the CMC indoor event a month ago and are unbeaten in four straight outings.

Pontiac is rated tops by meet officials. The finely-balanced squad has accumulated important points in every event on the usual meet program, and is favored to emerge as the relays' champion, in Class A.

Schloerke's squad included some 32 athletes. They will compete in 16 events, including 4 relays, the 440, 880, mile and 2-mile. Chiefs' runners for these events were not announced today, but Schloerke said that others would include:

Willie Wilson and Hayes Jones in low hurdles.

Jones and Jim Taylor in the highs.

E. J. Harris and Alex Barge in the 100-yard dash.

Perry Williams and Gene Cretal in the mile.

George Thrasher and Ted Munger in the pole vault.

Jones and Hudson Ray in the high jump.

Jones, Freeman Watkins in the broad jump.

Herb Butler and Alvin LaMotte in the shot.

Other members of the squad will be Robert Anderson, Leonard Briscoe, Archie Brooks, Fred Barger, Marv Cagle, Bill Douglas, Lonnie Humphrey, Norris Jackson, Robert McDonald, James Patrick, Charles Robinson, James Shorter, Charles Spann, Rod Treais, Frank Whitlock, and several others not yet selected.

Chiefs have already outscored the defending champions, Saginaw, in the 1st meet. They will oppose Arthur Hill, Bay City Central, Ann Arbor, Detroit Catholic Central, Flint Central, Birmingham, Lansing Eastern and Sexton, Lapeer, Midland, Muskegon, Port Huron, Detroit St. Joe and Grand Rapids Catholic Central.

Farmington and Oxford have teams in the Class B division of the meet, starting today.

Three-Way Tie Exists at Top of W-O League

Clarkston, Brighton 9s Win, Join Clarenceville in Loop Lead

Traffic was jamed at the head of the Wayne-Oakland Baseball League today after Thursday afternoon's games. Clarkston and Brighton gained victories which pushed them into a first-place tie with idle Clarenceville.

Clarkston downed Northville, 8-1, and Brighton out-lasted West Bloomfield, 15-11. In the other W-O tilt, Milford got back to the .500 mark with a 7-1 triumph over Holly.

Madison spoiled Avondale's bid for a share of first in the Oakland-B by handing the Yellowjackets a 10-2 lacing.

In other games, Rochester tripped Utica, 6-3, behind Larry Howe, and Romeo shut out Oxford, 4-0, with Bill Krohn hurling 2-hit ball and fanning 12. His catcher, George Green, belted out a double and triple.

North Branch got back to its winning ways by downing Mayville, 5-3, despite being out-hit, 7-2. Southpaw ace Dick Griffin retired after 2 innings with a sore arm. The North Branch club had lost its first game in 3 seasons last Monday to Otisville, 2-1.

In Clarkston's win over Northville, Bob Yanke pitched no-hit ball for 5 1-3 innings, then stepped out as Gary Nelson and George Lang finished up. Yanhke yielded just one hit and struck out 13 in his 6-inning chore.

Vern Carmean hit a 2-run homer in the 6th, batted in 3 runs and scored three for the Wolves. Bill Nicholson had four hits despite West Bloomfield's loss to Brighton. Dan Lancaster throttled Holly on 3 hits and fanned 13 to give Milford its victory.

Gary Himes was the Redskins' best hitter with 2 doubles and a single.

Imlay City blanked Ortonville, 12-0, as Duane Maison and Charles Berry divided mound duties and each gave one hit. Owen Whitkopf had a double and 2 singles for Imlay.

St. Fred Nine Bows to Eaglets

Pitching and Fielding Falter as Orchard Lake Club Wins, 14-5

St. Frederick's pitching and fielding fell apart Thursday afternoon and the result was a 14-5 lacing by Orchard Lake St. Mary in a Suburban Catholic League baseball game at Pontiac's Columbia-Joslyn south field.

It was St. Fred's 2nd straight day of action, the Rams having dropped a hard luck 6-5 decision Wednesday to Highland Park St. Benedict.

Eaglets coupled nine hits with a leaky Rams' defense to score in every inning but two, the 1st and 3rd.

St. Fred's committed 10 errors afield to provide very shoddy support for its hurlers. Three pitchers twirled for the Rams—Tom Israel, Don Cox and Dick Doyon. Pete Ziebron went the distance for OL.

St. Frederick's next SCL game is Monday afternoon at Columbia-Joslyn south field against Royal Oak St. Mary.

Tiger-Oriole Swap Rumored

Birds Seeking Pitcher for Bobby Young, Pick of 3 Outfielders

DETROIT (UP)—Rumors of a trade between the Detroit Tigers and the Baltimore Orioles circulated today after Oriole general manager Paul Richards conferred with Tiger brass.

The reports said Richards was seeking pitchers to go along with the Orioles' power hitters, George Zuverink, Ray Herbert and Paul Foytack were mentioned as possible trade choices.

In return, the reports said, Richards was offering 2nd baseman Bobby Young and a combination of outfielders drawn from among Gene Woodling, Gil Coan and Cal Abrams.

Bud Black Quits Tigers, Goes Home

Pitcher Bud Black packed up his gear yesterday and left the Detroit Tigers, presumably heading for his home in in St. Louis.

The Tigers reportedly were ready to send Black to one of their farm teams. Black, a returning serviceman, aparently felt he should stay in the majors. He had pitched to only two batters this spring.

Tigers Run Win Streak to 5 in a Row

DETROIT (AP)—Everything is new about the "new" Billy Hoeft—he has a new delivery, new confidence and a new two-game winning streak.

Billy the Kid, who claims this is his year to become a winning pitcher, hurled the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the Washington Senators last night.

Hoeft gave up only six singles and walked only one batter in stretching the Tigers' winning streak to five games, boosting them into a 2nd place tie with the Cleveland Indians, just a half step behind the league-leading New York Yankees.

After the game, Hoeft was a tired but happy young man.

"It sure feels good to win two in a row," he smiled. "Now they can't say my three-hitter against Cleveland last week was a flash in the pan.

The 22-year-old southpaw was never in serious trouble as he won his 2nd game of the season against one loss. Washington's lone run was unearned, resulting from two Detroit errors.

* * *

The Tigers, meanwhile, backed up Hoeft with an eight-hit attack which included a home run by Bill Tuttle and a two-run single by Harry Malmberg.

Malmberg's safety—a single to center in the 6th inning—was his 1st hit in the big leagues. It snapped a 1-1 tie and sent Dean Stone, Washington's 24-year-old lefty, down to his 2nd defeat of the season. Last year, Stone beat the Tigers four times without losing.

But Hoeft was the big story as a good crowd of 20,820 turned out on a pleasant evening for the 1st night game of the season in Briggs Stadium.

"These two wins have given me a big boost," he said. "When you win one game they can say it's an accident. But two straight can't be a fluke.

"I won two straight at one time last season, beating Washington 3-2 and then shutting out the Yankess. But my pitching was better in these two games."

Bucky Harris, Tiger skipper, pointed out that Hoeft hasn't given up an earned run in his last two games—18 innings.

"This may be the year we've been waiting for," Harris enthused.

Hoeft, who had losing records in his 1st three years in the majors, says much of his improvement stems from the fact he has shortened his stride on the pitcher's mound.

"Each winter my high school coach back in Wisconsin used to tell me to shorten my stride," Hoeft said. "But I figured I had enough stuff to get by without doing that.

"Then this spring our coach, Jack Tighe, and scout George Moriarity told me to shorten my stride. I figured if they said the same thing as my high school coach, there must be something to it after all.

"As soon as I used the new delivery, my pitching improved."

Tighe, who serves as the Tigers' bullpen boss, says the shortened stride has cut down on Hoeft's wildness.

"You'll notice," Tighe said, "that he no longer throws wildly up high. Any wildness he has now is down low—where it should be."

Then, as Tighe walked out of the Tiger dressing room, he turned and said:

"The kid is going to have a great season. I just know it."

ALL NEW—Billy Hoeft, 22-year-old southpaw, pitched the Detroit Tigers to a 4-1 victory over the Washington Senators last night in Detroit. It was Detroit's 5th straight and Hoeft's 2nd win against one loss. With a new delivery, new confidence and a new winning streak, Billy says this is his year to become a winner.

Chuck Davey Indicates He May Try Comeback

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Chuck Davey, welterweight, once the idol of television boxing fans, said yesterday he would try a comeback "if the right offer comes along."

Davey told Ray Grody, Milwaukee Sentinel boxing writer, in a telephone interview from Birmingham, Mich., that he misses the fight game but he's not broke. He retired from the game last May.

"I own my own home and have a good bundle of cash in the bank. But everyone says there is a dearth of fighters today and perhaps I could still earn some pretty good money if I came back," Davey said.

The former Olympic boxer is up to a pudgy 170 pounds, but he said "I'm sure I wouldn't have any trouble getting down to a welterweight again." His normal fighting weight was 147.

Davey retired from boxing a year ago after being knocked out by Vince Martinez. Before that he took a severe pounding from Kid Gavilan, former welter champ. Up until those thrashings, the lefthander had built a reputation with a series of telecast victories.

Shamrocks Win 2nd Straight in Extra Innings

Two-Run Rally in Top of 9th Beats Clements at Center Line 4-2

Pontiac St. Michael continued its drive for a Suburban Catholic League title Thursday afternoon, by scoring a 4-2 extra-inning victory over Center Line St. Clement at Memorial Field in Center Line. It was Shamrocks' 2nd win in a row.

Coach Bob Mineweaser's club pushed two runs across in the top half of the 9th frame to break a 2-2 deadlock. Three hits were combined with a walk to produce the winning tallies.

St. Mike's opened the scoring with a run in the 5th, but St. Clement retaliated with two runs in its 5th to take a temporary lead.

Then the Shamrocks knotted the count in the 6th inning to set the stage for the 9th inning triumph.

Dave Smith hurled fine baseball for St. Michael and had a no-hitter going for 4 and 2-3 innings until an error paved the way for St. Clement's 1st hit, a rousing triple. Smith struck out 12 batsmen and walked seven. In addition to his steady pitching, Smith led his team offensively with three hits, one of them a double. Teammate Joe Wilhelm contributed two hits.

St. Michael resumes its SCL activity next Monday afternoon against a tough foe, Highland Park St. Benedict. Game will be played at Pontiac's Columbia-Joslyn field on the north end diamond.

BATTING: Ray Jablonski, Redlegs—Batted in all three runs with a homer and a two-run double as Cincinnati beat Pittsburgh 3-2 to end a six-game losing streak.

Suggs Favored at Spartanburg

Louise Tied With Trio of Women Golfers in Peach Blossom Test

SPARTANBURG, S.C. (AP) — The third annual Peach Blossom-Betsy Rawls $5,000 Open golf tournament moved into its second round here today with only a six-stroke spread among the top 21 leaders.

Louise Suggs of Sea Island, Ga., winner of the two previous tournaments here, established herself as a definite threat again, firing a one-over-par 72 during yesterday's opening round.

She found herself in a four-way tie for first with Babe Zaharias of Tampa, Fla., Betty Jameson of San Antonio, Tex., and Peggy Bell Kirk of Pine Needles, N.C.

Trails Leaders

Miss Rawls, a native of Spartanburg for whom the tournament is named, was right behind the four leaders with a 73, tied for fifth with Marilynn Smith of Wichita, Kan.

There were three tied for seventh at 74. They were Betty Dodd of San Antonio, Tex., Patty Berg of St. Andrews, Ill., and amateur Greta Leone of Chicago.

Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga., who recently turned pro after several seasons of amateur play, and Faye Crocker of Montevideo were next with 75.

The 72-hole tournament will run through Sunday. The field includes 22 pros, including the top 10 money winners on the women's professional circuit, and 10 amateurs.

Stanky, Leo Great Kidders

NEW YORK (AP)—Eddie Stanky stood in front of the St. Louis dugout, his hands jammed into his back pockets, enjoying a whiff of air after four straight off days.

"No, I wouldn't say got off good," he said to a group of baseball writers. "You never get off good unless you're in first place."

A man who had listened to other Western managers rave about the Cardinals, asked, "Is it true that the Cardinals are loaded, like Birdie Tebbetts says?"

"We've got a good ball club," said the dandy little manager. "Like I said in Florida, we'll go as far as our pitching will carry us.

"So far, I have been pleased with the work of some of my young pitchers, especially in the bullpen, Herb Moford, Bob Tiefenauer and Barney Schultz. Larry Jackson pitched a good game his first time out but was hit by Milwaukee. Luis Arroyo did a good job as a starter, too. He may go here Saturday.

"Our new third baseman (Ken Boyer) is a good boy and the kid in center field (Bill Virdon) was going real good until he came down with a strep throat. He was out about 10 days.

"What happened to Rip Repulski? (He was hitting .417 going into yesterday's game despite a lifetime .279 average). "I never talk about my men who are hitting real good."

A reporter walked over from the Giants bench with a note to Stanky from Leo Durocher, the New York manager. Stanky read it and passed it around with a grin.

The note read:

* * *

"It is customary in the interests of amicable relationship between contesting athletic rivals, if one manager desired to engage in extra-curricular activities to make his request as follows:

1. From the other manager.
2. Should said manager refuse, the opposing manager may submit his request to the higher echelon.

LEO

(Stanky had asked permission to work out after the game at the Polo Grounds but had gone to Chub Feeney, the Giants' vice president, instead of Durocher.)

Picking up the gag in a hurry, Stanky commented, "Leo didn't write that. One of his intelligent coaches did."

Jimmy Gorey, the public address system announcer, walked over to ask Stanky for his lineup. Eddie saw a chance to get even with Leo, who had refused to release his batting order at Brooklyn Sunday.

"Not on your life," he said. "You'll have to wait until I give it to the umpire."

As soon as the joke had been fully appreciated, Stanky gave Gorey his lineup and the game started.

Relays Director Scents a 4-Minute Mile for Wes

DES MOINES, (AP)—That elusive American 4-minute mile may come from Wes Santee's long legs tomorrow.

Thwarted by only the thinnest of time margins in the past, the former University of Kansas distance runner may achieve his goal in an invitational mile, the feature attraction of the final day of the Drake Relays.

Relays Director Tom Deckard said there definitely is a good possibility Santee will become the first American to break the 4-minute time barrier in his appearance here.

"If he is as good as he was at Texas he'll break 4 minutes," Deckard said.

Santee raced to an American record of 4:00.5 at the Texas Relays this spring, missing his goal by only a half second.

Deckard ticked off several reasons for his statement. He listed the rebuilt track, fastest in history here; an enthusiastic Drake Relays crowd, always pro-Santee in his other performances here, and capable rivals to push the Kansan throughout the race.

Running against Wes will be former teammate Art Dalzell, who has served as a pacesetter for Santee in previous mile runs; Fred Dwyer, formerly of Villanova who beat Santee in the Millrose Games with a 4:06.2 race; Selwyn Jones and Henry Kennedy, both of Michigan State; Bill Tidwell of Emporia (Kan.) State Teachers, and Charles Jones, Iowa freshman.

HE HAS A CRUST — Chipmunks being one of the most timid and elusive of the forest creatures, Aksel Nohr, Provo, Utah, photographer, was pretty well stymied in his attempts to get a close-up photo. But ingenuity paid off when he got the idea of baiting his foot with a piece of bread. Greed won over fear. The little fellow approached and Nohr, holding camera at arm's length, snapped this picture.

Racing Fool Still 'Odd Piece' in Derby 'Jigsaw'

LEXINGTON, Ky., (AP)—Racing Fool may be everything his name implies, but — even with four straight wins to his credit—he remains an odd piece in the Kentucky Derby jigsaw puzzle.

Eight Derby hopefuls trailed in foolish pursuit yesterday as the trim bay son of Jet Pilot, a Derby winner, won his most important victory, the 31st Blue Grass Stakes.

Blue Grass winner usually land in the thick of Derby speculation. So do strong sons of past Derby champs.

Unkind as it may seem, however, expert observers still say the most foolhardy thing Racing Fool might do is tackle the likes of Nashua and Summer Tan in the 1955 Derby May 7 at Louisville's Churchill Downs.

Even serious-minded Henry Moreno, who rode Racing Fool to his Blue Grass win, has his eye on another horse from the same Cain Hoy stable if he has his pick for a Derby mount.

"The horse I've been riding, Flying Fury, is the most horse," Moreno said after yesterday's race.

Moreno was picked by Cain Hoy Owner Harry F. Guggenheim for the Blue Grass ride when it was decided to hold Flying Fury for the Derby Trial next Tuesday at the Downs.

The jockey was reminded that Racing Fool defeated Flying Fury by 3½ lengths in a 7-furlong allowance race last week.

"Flying Fury ran wide in that race," Moreno explained. "Besides he likes the longer distances."

Tigers Regain Stuart

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers Thursday bought veteran pitcher Marlin Stuart from Denver of the American Assn. for delivery to the Tigers' Buffalo farm club in the International League. Stuart pitched in the majors for the Tigers, the old St. Louis Browns, Baltimore and the New York Yankees.

Dietrich Jr., Hurls No-Hit Game in Minors

GREENVILLE, Miss. (AP) — Although Bill Dietrich Jr. pitched a no-hit baseball game last night, he could still use a pointer or two from his pop—the former Chicago White Sox pitcher.

Young Bill's wildness prevented him from getting a shutout as his Monroe teammates beat Greenville 5-2 in a Cotton States League opener.

Bill Sr. twirled an 8-0 no-hitter for the Sox against the old St. Louis Browns on June 1, 1937.

Dietrich Jr. struck out eight and didn't allow a safety, but he walked nine men, hit three and uncorked two wild pitches.

Vejar Favored Against Melis

Chico Rated 3 to 1 Edge in Tonight's TV Battle at Syracuse

SYRACUSE, N.Y., (AP)—Chico Vejar, the fighting collegian, is a 3-1 favorite to beat Italy's Paolo Melis tonight and stretch his latest unbeaten string to 10.

The two welterweights meet in a 10-rounder at the War Memorial Auditorium. The bout will be broadcast and telecast (NBC) starting at 9 p.m. (EST). Melis is making his TV debut.

This is Vejar's second straight TV bout in the Auditorium. The 23-year-old NYU dramatic student from Stamford, Conn., outpointed Billy Graham for the second time on April 1. In his last nine scraps, Chico won eight and drew in the other with Jed Black. His record is 60-4-1, including 31 knockouts.

John L. Rice, newest addition to the American League umpire staff, served in the Marine Corps four years during World War II.

Culbreath, Sbarra in Spotlight as 61st Annual Penn Relays Track Test Starts in Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (AP)— Four major college events feature today's opening program of the 61st annual Penn Relay Track and Field Meet with Morgan State's Josh Culbreath and Manhattan's Bob Sbarra sharing the spotlight as defending champions.

A record entry of more than 3,100 athletes will compete in the two-day carnival with 8 college relay titles, 4 high school, 2 preparatory and 11 special event championships to be decided. The extravaganza's annual feature, the Ben Franklin Mile, won't be run this year because Penn officials were unable to gather a top-flight field.

Culbreath will seek his third consecutive 400-meter hurdle crown in the first big event of the meet. He again faces the challenge of Cornell's Andy Dadagian, runner-up last year, and Temple's Santee Ruffin, tied for third in 1954.

Pittsburgh's great half-miler, Arnold Sowell was originally scheduled to face Culbreath. But Pitt Coach Carl Olson decided to use him instead in the mile, sprint and distance medley relays.

Sbarra's main competition in the 2-mile run should come from George Terry, Boston U's IC4A indoor champion, and cross country titlist, Don Townsend, St. John's (Brooklyn), second indoors this winter, is another threat in the event won by Sbarra in 9:27.4 on Franklin Field last April.

The other two championships to be contested today, the discus and the distance medley relay, are undefended. Stew Thomson of Yale, is favored to take over the discus championship held the past two years by Michigan's Roland Nilsson; Villanova, Penn State, Cornell, Pittsburgh, Manhattan, Camp Lejeune and New York University will run for the medley crown won last year by Oklahoma A&M in 10:08.

The meet will feature four of the outstanding performers in the recent Pan-American Games at Mexico City. They are Culbreath, winner of the 400-meter hurdles in 51.5; Sowell, an 800-meter victor in 1:49.7; Rod Richards, former UCLA star now an Army lieutenant at Camp Lee, Va., victor in the 100 and 200-meter events in 10.3 and 20.7 seconds respectively, and Adhemar de Silva of Brazil, who took the hop, skip and jump with a world record of 54 feet, 4 inches.

4th Annual Pontiac Press Prep Golf Test May 23

Fourth annual Pontiac Press Invitational High School golf tournament is scheduled for Monday, May 23. The event, which in its brief 3-year history has become a fixture on the golf schedules of many Oakland County area schools, will be played over the Pontiac Municipal golf course.

As usual, the Pontiac Parks and Recreation Department is cooperating in conduct of the tourney and is donating the use of the course.

An 18-hole medal play event for 5-man teams, the affair has the full approval and sanction of the Michigan High School Athletic Association. Total medal score for the five players determines the team champion.

Highlight of the awards, presented by the Pontiac Press, is the beautiful team championship trophy, which rotates annually to the winner of the tournament. In addition, the victorious school receives a permanent trophy and there are individual medals as well.

Because of the dearth of Class C schools in the county, this division has been dropped and the tourney will be played in two divisions, Classes A and B. Any Class C schools entering will compete with "B" golfers.

Medals go to the five members of the championship team, and to the low-scoring players in Classes A and B. In addition, the overall tourney medalist and runnerup will receive medals.

All participants must be eligible under MHSAA rules. Entry blanks, which have been mailed to invited schools, must be accompanied by the current eligibility list (form 2) and the deadline for official entry blanks is Wednesday, May 18.

Pairings and starting times will be announced following that date.

Birmingham High School will be seeking its 3rd straight victory in the tourney. Pontiac's Chiefs won the inaugural event in 1952, while the Maples have taken top honors for the past 2 years.

Last May, Joe Borovick's crew barely edged out Southfield by 5 strokes, 400 to 405. The Maples seem to thrive on the close competition for they were victors in 1953 by a scant 3 strokes over Shrine.

Waterford was 3rd in last year's tourney, followed by Milford, Bloomfield Hills, Royal Oak, Rochester, Fitzgerald, Avondale and Northville.

Official entries are already in from Southfield and Fitzgerald and Troy High has joined the tourney field for the 1st time. Avondale, Brighton, Holly, Milford, Rochester, and Waterford are among the schools which have indicated their schools will be represented.

Other schools are requested to notify the Press' sports department as soon as possible of their intentions of entering.

One defending medalist is back. Tim Baldwin, who paced Birmingham to its team victory, won the Class A honors in a sudden-death playoff with Bob Turner of Southfield after each had posted a 76 for the 18-hole test.

Bob Stallsmith of Milford, who won in Class B, has been graduated. Dave Van Every of Bloomfield Hills won the final Class C medal.

Capt. Terry Laundry and Jim Kraus are gone, but in addition to Baldwin, the Maples still have Mike Conroy and Bob Goldsmith in their bid for a 3rd straight title.

Most of the lower scorers from last year's tourney will not be back, so a wide-open race for honors is expected. In addition to the graduated seniors, Southfield's Turner, only a junior, also will miss the event because of illness.

$100,000 Pettit Optioned Out of Coast Loop

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The Hollywood Stars have optioned Paul Pettit, $100,000 bonus player who failed as a pitcher and is trying a comeback as a first baseman, to the Mexico City Azuls of the Mexican League.

Pettit hit only .114 in 14 games with the Stars this spring. He hit .324 with Salinas in the California League last season. He signed for the big bonus with Pittsburgh in 1950.

The Stars returned Ron Necciali, 22, to Waco of the Class B Big State League. He struck out 27 batters in a game when with Bristol of the Appalachian League in 1952.

Kennedy, Jones Enter International Mile in Drake Relays

EAST LANSING (UP)—A pair of Michigan State runners are scheduled to challenge America's top miler, Wes Santee, Saturday in the Drake Relays at Des Moines, Ia.

Henry Kennedy, a MSC freshman, and Selwyn Jones will meet Santee in the international mile. Twelve other Spartan trackmen are entered in the meet.

Michigan State tennis and golf teams also will be in action tomorrow.

Tennis squad will host Indiana, defending Big Ten champion, while MSC golfers entertain University of Detroit. Golf team travels to Detroit Monday.

Foil Title on Line

Judy Goodrich of Lapeer will defend her women's foil championship tonight in the state fencing meet at the Shelby Hotel, starting at 8 p.m. Her opponent will be Jo Ann Snyder of Detroit.

'Spoil Sport' Wants Yale Cyclists to Be Serious

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Every year a bunch of Yale students hold what they call a "beer n' bike race" from New Haven to Vassar College in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., a distance of 85 miles.

They have a whale of a time, but they dont break any bicycling speed records.

Can't see it, say the Yalies. They're going through with their annual race tomorrow beer and all.

It's a staggering race. They break into teams. Group No. 1 starts the race here by guzzling down a quart of beer. They pump to a point about 15 miles outside New Haven and another group takes over, after drinking a quart of beer as fast as they can. In all there are five relay points before the winnig team rolls through the Vassar gates for a heroes' welcome by the women at the college.

Now this fellow, Everitt Cassagneres, wants to cut out all this. Cassagneres practically lives on a bike. The holder of an American bicycling record, he rides 20 miles every night after a full day's work.

"I'd like to see this Yale event develop into a real good athletic event," he said. "A Yale team could challenge another college and the boys could make a greater impression on the girl.

Nothing doing, say the Yalies, but Cassagneres can continue to ride along in the race. He rode last year and still is a little red faced about what happened.

He packed a lunch (sans suds) and started out on the 85-mile grind. He was five miles ahead of the pack when he came to a fork in the road. He took the wrong road and ended up riding 110 miles before he got to Vassar.

Old Timers Workout

Pontiac Old Timers Baseball club will have another workout Sunday, at Washington Junior High School field. Players are requested to be at the field by 9 a.m. Bud Leslie, manager, says practice will run through to noon. All old time ball players wishing to try out for the club are invited to attend this session.

Low Scoring Output

CHICAGO — The Chicago Black Hawks during the 1953-54 league season came through with only 12 wins out of 70 hockey games.

Jackie Robinson, Dodgers' veteran, is 36 years old.

Michigan State's intramural program includes 23 sports.

quick now: what word rhymes with VIRACLE?

You've probably guessed it, and we won't be so immodest as to say it right out, but some customers say that word (it begins with "M") comes pretty close to describing the Viracle. Viracle is Hart Schaffner & Marx' Dacron and wool* tropical . . . a suit unmatched for all-round summer excellence. It resists wrinkles . . . keeps its press through the hottest weather. It's feather-light and cool (even feels cool). Most spots sponge off in a whisk. Wear it day after day . . . it "bounces back" fresh and neat as new. Harbert, Furgol, Littler Set Vegas' Pace

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Samuel Jackson Snead, it appears, saves his best golf for the event that qualifies him for the rich Tournament of Champions.

Then fate, or Sam's broken hand or something, combine to throw him out of gear, and his wonderful swing goes haywire.

* * *

So it was that Snead set forth today in the second round of the $37,500 desert golf attraction reclining in a tie for 15th place (correct) in a field of 21 professionals.

* * *

Leading the field over the Desert Inn Country Club course were three other name pros, all tied with first-round 69s.

They were Ed Furgol, the reigning U.S. Open champion; Chick Harbert, the 1954 PGA champion, and Gene Littler, the young pro from Palm Springs, Calif.

One stroke off the pace were five men—Bob Toski, last year's leading money winner; Lloyd Mangrum, former National Open champion; Los Angeles, Jerry Barber and Eric Monti, and Pete Cooper, a dark horse from Birmingham, Mich.

Eleven players broke par the first day over the 7,102-yard, par 36-36—72 course.

Rounding out this array were Cary Middlecoff, the new Masters champion, big Mike Souchak, the Durham, N.C. strongboy, and Marty Furgol from Lemont, Ill., who is no kin to St. Louis' pride, Ed Furgol. All were tied at 71.

The scoreboard for the rest read like this:

72-Tommy Bolt and Bob Rosburg; 73-Bud Holscher; 74-Snead and Bo Wininger; 75-Art Wall, last year's winner here; Julius Boros and Doug Ford; 77-Wally Ulrich and Billy Maxwell.

Snead barely qualified for this tournament in winning the recent Greater Greensboro. It takes a victory in a major PGA Open event to get into the lineup here. The year before he qualified by winning the Masters.

* * *

Each year Sam was betting favorite in this betting-minded resort. In 1953 Sam started out with a 79 and finished the 72 holes in 18th position in a 20-man field. Last year he led off with a 73 and ended the tournament in a tie for ninth.

"I tell you," said Sam, back on the putting green for more practice after his round yesterday, "you can count on one hand the fairways I hit off the tee. I don't know. . . ."

* * *

Snead, on request, displayed his ailing hand. A small bone break still is a handicap.

Kuenn Is Stopped, Kaline Carries On

DETROIT (AP)—Al Kaline kept his hitting streak going last night, collecting a single and a double, but Harvey Kuenn's streak came to an end.

Kaline has hit safely in every Tiger game this season—13 so far. The young outfielder had a perfect night against Washington, walking twice in addition to his two hits. He again leads the American league in batting with a .460 average.

Kuenn went hitless in four tries. He had hit safely in the Tigers 1st 12 games.

'Billiards With a Suntan'

Writer Scoffs at Article Which Says Golf Isn't Game, Players 'Automatons'

NEW YORK (INS)—Several million golfers will be surprised to learn that their favorite game is not a sport.

They also may be shocked to learn that all golfers are merely "automatons playing a silly game scorned by any real athlete and best suited to infirm old men, eager-beaver salesmen and idle housewives."

Golf, according to an article we have just been reading in Saga Magazine, is only "billiards with a suntan" and "golfers are just pool sharks with delusions of grandeur." And, get this:

"Golf will not become a sport until the other guy stands over the cup with a 7-iron and dares you to put the ball in the hole."

The bird who wrote that probably never had a golf club in his hand. Or if he had, he must be a disgruntled hombre who never broke a hundred in his life.

When he says golf is "scorned by any real athlete" he is completely off his trolley. Hundreds of our greatest baseball, football, tennis, hockey players and fighters are golfers, and many of them are very good ones.

The article further contends that golf is a "discipline, a matter of muscle memorization."

There is no doubt that it is a "discipline," but if muscle memory is al that it requires we wonder why Ben Hogan, Sam Snead and other stars can't always remember to shoot 67's.

Moreover, it appears golf can't be a sport because men in their 40's can win. Let's see. Isn't Ellis Kinder, 41, still pitching for the Red Sox? Wasn't Jack Quinn still winning for the Dodgers when past 50? Wasn't Bob Fitzsimmons still fighting when past 50? And haven't there actually been hundreds of athletes in all sports when past 40?

Finally, it seems no game can be a sport if the other fellow doesn't do something against you. Certainly no opponent is going to hit you a punch in the nose on the golf course, but the golfer has the toughest of all opponents to lick—his own nerves.

Sam Snead's Golf School

PGA FUNDAMENTAL 4—DELAYED WRIST ACTION

I think the PGA Teaching Committee's 4th fundamental of a correct swing—delayed wrist action—is just about the most important one.

Too many average golfers seem to have no understanding of this. The result is they "throw the clubhead from the top." That is, they uncock their wists at the start of the downswing and therefore come across the ball from the outside in, creating a slice. This also robs them of considerable power.

Your downswing must not start with arm or wrist action. It must start with a rotation of hips and shoulders. The feeling I get is one of driving the grip end of the club toward the ball.

Your wrists remain fully cocked until your hands are almost into the striking zone—until it almost seems too late. Thus the clubhead is not out in a wide arc from your body during most of the downswing, but hovering over your right shoulder, more or less.

It's actually impossible to delay the uncocking of the wrists too long, if your head remains steady throughout the swing. The accelerating weight of the clubhead will force your wrists to uncock in ample time.

10-Team League Sought by City

Church Circuit Plans Final Session May 2; 8 Teams Now Signed

Organization of the Pontiac Church Sofeball League for 1955 is well under way, with eight team now official members of the circuit. A 10-team league is sought, leaving openings at present for the 1st two that make definite commitments.

Further plans for the loop will be discussed at a meeting of league managers and the official committee next Monday night, May 2, at 7:30 p.m., at the Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Members of this year's committee directing league activities are Robert Fleming, Five Points Community Church; Robert Gavette, Marimont Baptist Church; and Kyle Wilson, First Baptist church.

Games will be played on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights, and four diamonds in the city have been reserved for church league use. Primary purpose of the Pontiac Church Softball League this summer is the dual emphasis of Christian testimony and fine sportsmanship.

Medalist Smith Gains Semis of Pinehurst Test

Glenn Johnson Ousted by Bisplinghoff, 2-1; Campbell Advances

PINEHURST, N.C. (AP) — Dave Smith, whose fine play in the North and South Amateur Golf Tournament this week has been a revelation, met another "tiger" today in the 18-hole semifinals, 20-year-old Don Bisplinghoff of Orlando, Fla.

The winner will move into the 36-hole finals tomorrow against the survivor of the match between Bill Campbell, the Walker Cup player from Huntington, W.Va., and Ed Gravely, 34-year-old tobacco man from Rocky Mount, N.C.

* * *

Smith confessed he hadn't expected to be here this long and has had to buy additional clothing. The 28-year-old automobile dealer from Gastonia, N.C., who stands 6-5 and weighs 240, removed any doubts as to his skill and courage under pressure in the quarter-final yesterday when he took a heart-stopping, pressurized 21-hole duel from Dale Morey, Walker Cup player and former professional from Indianapolis.

Smith, who won the medal with a five-under par 67 Monday, still had to convince the skeptics that he was the real thing, especially after he had squeaked by his first two matches 1-up.

He started to win them over with a 4 and 2 trimming of Bill Hyndman, a "class" player from Abington, Pa., Wednesday. Yesterday he removed all doubts.

Big Dave was the only player to stay even par with the 7,000-yard No. 2 course of the Country Club, and he did it for 21 holes.

Bisplinghoff, a confident youngster who has won the last three Florida State amateur titles, two at medal play, ousted Glen Johnson of Grosse Ile, Mich., 2 and 1.

* * *

Bill Campbell, still not satisfied with some of his shots, took a 2 and 1 decision from last year's runner-up, Alex Welsh of Rockford, Ill., and a short time later retired to the practice area with Dick Chapman as tutor to iron out some of the troubles.

Gravely's victory over Meister, National Amateur semifinalist last year, matched former Yale golf captains — Meister in 1940 and Gravely two years later.

* * *

Gravely, who has never been this far in several previous attempts here, won with unexpected ease, 4 and 2, shooting the 16 holes in three over. He hasn't been extended beyond the 16th hole in four matches. It was he who whipped Chapman, 4 and 3, in the third round.

Speiser Back to Ring

DETROIT (UP)—Chuck Speiser, former stablemate of Chuck Davey who recently returned from the army, will return to the fistic wars next Tuesday in an 8-round featured light heavyweight bout with Frank Degazio at the Motor City Arena.

Speiser has scored two knockouts since his return from the army.

Yanks Take 1st Place as White Sox Fall

Bombers Easy Victors Over Athletics, 11-4

Delock's 3-Hitter Puts Pale Hose Out of AL's Top Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Except for some shabby fielding and wild pitching by the Kansas City Athletics last night, the Tigers would be in first place today with Cleveland instead of sharing second with the Indians. The A's failures allowed the New York Yankees an 11-4 triumph and with it the Bombers jumped back into the lead.

* * *

Chicago's White Sox tumbled out of first in a day game, losing to Boston and Ivan Delock, who spun a three-hitter for a 3-1 victory. Cleveland and Baltimore were idle.

In the National, Brooklyn opened up a four-game spread over second place Milwaukee, coming from behind to beat the Chicago Cubs 4-2.

* * *

The Braves were beaten by Willie Jones' homer in the ninth last night at Philadelphia 3-2. Cincinnati broke up a six-game losing streak 3-2 at Pittsburgh under the lights and New York's Giants beat St. Louis 6-4 at the Polo Grounds.

The Yanks tagged five Kansas City pitchers for 13 hits — including a two-run homer by Mickey Mantle — but ran three runs across in the sixth without a single safety. Two hit batsmen, three walks and an error that prevented the third out accounted for the gifts.

Delock, a 25-year-old right-hander, didn't give the White Sox anything more potent than a single, but Chicago paired two of them with a walk to spoil his shutout in the seventh. Ivan had them hitless to that point.

* * *

Brooklyn was handcuffed by the Cubs' Bob Rush until the seventh. Then the Dodgers scored four—three on Carl Furillo's seventh home run—to overcome a 2-0 Chicago lead provided by Rush's home run in the fifth. Clem Labine was the winner.

* * *

Philadelphia also had a tough time getting hits until late in the game. Gran Hamner led off the eighth with a double, only the third hit allowed by Lew Burdette, and scored on a fly to tie it at 2-2, setting up Jones' winning blow in the ninth. Robin Roberts was the winner.

* * *

The Cardinals, idle all week, blew a three-run lead in the fourth when the New Yorkers scored four times and the Redbirds committed three of their four errors. That wiped out the benefit of Stan Musial's two-run homer and sent Harvey Haddix to his first defeat. Jim Hearn won his third.

Five From One Team

MONTREAL—For a time during the 1954-55 season, and for the first time in National Hockey League history, five players from the same team — the Montreal Canadiens—led the league in scoring.

KNUCKLE DOWN—The characteristic stance of the marble shooter provides just the right frame around the target marbles at Tinsley Green, England. The frame is 75-year-old Sid Town, one of the starring players of the Arundel Mullets team competing in the British Marbles Championship.

'Laying Off Bad Pitch' is Aiding Bruton's Hit Rate

NEW YORK (AP)—Bill Bruton, hitting almost 70 points above his lifetime average at .333, credits his early season success to "laying off the bad pitch."

The fleet Milwaukee center fielder said last night he had opened up his stance a little and adopted a half crouch at the plate.

"They've been getting me out for two years with that high pitch," he said. "I made up my mind to lay off. I have to keep telling myself not to go for it but, so far, it works. Even if it looks like it might be a strike, I let it go, unless it would be a third strike."

* * *

"I find by opening up my stance and crouching I can see the pitch a little better. It helps me leave that high one alone."

A year ago the Braves called in Paul Waner, the Hall of Famer, to help Bruton learn to hit the ball where it was pitched. As a left-handed batter, he had fallen into the habit of trying to pull everything to right. With Waner's guidance, the slender Negro started to punch the ball to left.

Waner worked with Bruton this spring for a brief period and tried to encourage him to take advantage of his speed by bunting more often.

* * *

Bruton, base stealing champ of the majors the last two years, hasn't stolen a base this season.

"I tried once and was caught by Harry Chiti of the Cubs," he said. "I started five or six other times but each time somebody hit the ball.

"Stealing a base doesn't mean anything to me, personally. It's immaterial how many I get or whether I lead the league. The important thing is — can I get home with a run after I steal. It's much more important that I get on base more often than that I steal bases."

5,000 Deer Die From Starvation

NE Lower Peninsula Is Listed as Trouble Spot in Michigan

LANSING (AP)—Some 5,000 deer died of starvation in the lower peninsula last winter, the conservation department said today.

The announcement came on the heels of the most comprehensive survey of deer losses ever conducted by the department.

Of the 5,000 total, 4,000 deer starved to death in the northeastern part of the lower peninsula, the survey showed.

Harry Ruhl, chief of the department's game division, said no comparison could be made with starvation losses of past years because previous surveys were far less accurate than the one just completed.

"But the figure indicates the state deer herd and supply of food for the deer is still out of balance," Ruhl said.

The survey also showed the following: Some 14,000 deer died of gunshot wounds, about 1,700 died from attacks by dogs, 700 were killed in accidents and 10,600 died from unknown causes.

Holman Vaults Into Fifth on Upset of Ez Charles

NEW YORK (AP) — Johnny Holman's astonishing 9th round knockout of Ezzard Charles vaulted the comparatively unknown Chicago fighter into a 5th ranking today in the heavyweight division in the monthly ratings of Ring Magazine.

Editor Nat Fleischer moved the 27-year-old Chicago Negro behind Cuba's Nino Valdes, England's Don Cockell, Pittsburgh's Bob Baker and New York's Hurricane Tommy Jackson.

Charles, the 33-year-old ex-champion, was dropped from 4th to 6th place. The other members of the heavyweight's elite 10 include Earl Walls, Toronto; Rex Layne, Utah; Heinz Neuhaus, Germany, and James J. Parker, Toronto and Paterson, N.J., in that order. Charley Norkus of Port Washington, N.Y., who was 10th a month ago, was eliminated to make room for Holman.

Holman and Tony DeMarco, the Bostonian who won the welterweight crown by stopping Johnny Saxton in the 14th round, were named the fighters of the month by Fleischer.

Saxton was ranked as the No. 2 contender behind Carmen Basilio, of Canastota, N.Y. Basilio meets DeMarco for the title in Syracuse, N.Y., June 10.

There were many other changes in the rankings of the eight divisions.

Coach Kobs to Miss Spartan Road Trip

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State College, the defending Big Ten baseball champion, took off for its first conference road trip today without veteran coach John Kobs, hospitalized after a gall bladder operation.

Kobs was reported in a "good" condition at the Lansing St. Lawrence hospital.

Assistant coach Frank Pellerin left with the traveling squad for the plane trip to Indiana and Illinois. The Spartans meet Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., this afternoon and have a doubleheader Saturday against Illinois.

In games so far this season, the Spartans have featured heavy hitting but have had only one pitcher—Walt Godfrey—able to go the distance.

Britons Square Record

ALBION (UP) — Albion College reached a .500 record in the MIAA baseball standings yesterday by defeating Hillsdale, 4-3. Victory gave Albion a 1-1 conference record. Hillsdale has lost two games this season without a victory.

Eaddy's Hit Beats Irish for UM Nine

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Don Eaddy singled in the 8th inning yesterday to drive in two runs and give Michigan a 2-1 decision over Notre Dame in a baseball game.

The safety was one of three singles given up by sophomore hurler Dick Bunker.

Notre Dame scored in the 6th on singles by Jim Cusack and Bill Teschke.

Loss was the 4th in six games for the Irish. The triumph gave the Wolverines a 12-4 season record.

Sees Runaround From Marciano

Valdes' Manager Fears Cuban Would Be Given Brushoff for Bout

LAS VEGAS, Ney. (UP)—Heavyweight Nino Valdes' manager says he is "very pessimistic" about landing a championship fight with Rocky Marciano even if his Cuban challenger whips Archie Moore in their 15-round outdoor fight here Monday night.

"We are fightin' the toughest guy in the world in Archie Moore, but I just know we'll get the runaround from Marciano if Nino wins this one," declared Bobby Gleason, Valdes' pilot. "Weill isn't going to take any chances," he went on, referring to Marciano's manager, Al Weill. "I can see it in the cards already. They're building Bob Baker up for a soft touch."

Valdes is generally recognized as the No. 1 contender for the heavyweight title and the 30-year-old puncher has won 11 straight victories, seven by knockouts.

A TRIP TO THE CIRCUS—5
The Tightrope Walker

"Introducing little Mee Mee doing her celebrated tightrope act. She comes from Japan and she can run up and down on this wire as easily as you can run along the sidewalk. She balances herself with her two Japanese parasols.

"Her family are all circus people, tumblers and jugglers and tightrope walkers. You should see her little brother roll himself into a ball to be tossed back and forth by his father and uncle as they lie on their backs with their feet in the air.

"You saw her before in the grand parade at the beginning of the circus. But here she is walking and dancing high above the ground. We're all proud of Mee Mee. You may be scared, watching her—but she isn't. There's the whistle. Bravo! Mee Mee."

This is the fifth in the exciting week-long series on the circus and its performers. Color Mee Mee's outfit gayly and add her to your collection.

2 Major Prizes to Be Given at 3-Day Exhibit in Waterford

WATERFORD TOWNSHIP — An automatic dryer and an inboard motor will be the two major prizes to be awarded during the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce Home and Garden Show, opening this evening.

The show will be open from 6-11 p.m. today, and from 1-11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday at the Community Activities Center on Williams Lake road, Drayton Plains.

Eighty-five indoor and outdoor exhibits and booths have been reserved by Waterford and Pontiac merchants participating.

General chairman John Chase has announced that in addition to the larger prizes, prizes will be given away during each evening of the show.

Porceeds of the show are pledged to the community work of the Jaycee organization.

State Apple Farmers Watching Weather

LANSING (AP)—Weather will be a determining factor in the size of Michigan's 1955 apple crop, the State Department of Agriculture said today.

The department said that late March freezes killed or seriously damaged apple buds east of the Rockies and south of a line from Central Virginia to Central Missouri. The states hardest hit were Arkansas and North Carolina.

With early May the earliest date for the last killing frost in Michigan's lower counties, growers are concerned about the chance of fruit buds coming through without experiencing a similar kill to the one that hit other apple regions this spring.

Mother-Daughter Banquet Slated at Rochester

ROCHESTER — The Congregational Church Mother and Daughter banquet will be held at 6:30 p.m. Thursday at the church, put on by the congregation.

A trick dog act will be featured as entertainment, offered by John Webb and his family. Mrs. Robert Brown is general chairman of the event.

Special prizes will be awarded for the oldest and youngest mothers and daughters.

LAKEVILLE — At a candlelight ceremony in the Methodist Church Saturday evening, Marilyn Jean Weigold and Donald David Arnott exchanged marriage vows.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Weigold of Leonard are the parents of the bride.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Alfred E. Eddy of Oxford, before 125 guests.

A floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta was the bride's choice for the rites. It had a stand-up collar, long pointed sleeves, a tight bodice and a full skirt.

Her fingertip veil of tulle was held in place by a small fitted lace cap.

Eileen Matey of Detroit was the maid of honor, and Joseph Armsteadt of Waterford served the bridegroom as best man.

Herman Weigold Jr., brother of the bride, seated the guests.

A reception immediately following the ceremony was held in the church basement. The couple will return to Michigan State College of Agriculture and Applied Science after a short trip.

Residents Score Special Session

Adjournment Follows Requests for Action on Recall Election

ROYAL OAK TOWNSHIP—A tumultuous board meeting of the George Washington Carver School had to be adjourned last night, even before minutes of a past meeting had been approved.

The latest development in the tangled history of the school district saw 75 residents and teachers vigorously oppose approval of minutes of a special board meeting.

When three private policemen, hired by the board to maintain order, were unable to stop the disturbances, the meeting was adjourned.

Residents present were outraged at the results of a special meeting of the board held April 11 at the home of board secretary Mrs. Loretta Baker.

Included in the disputed minutes was a decision to appeal to the state Supreme Court an Oakland County Circuit Court order for a recall election.

A new 3-year contract at $8,980 per year for Superintendent of Schools Walter Buffington also had been approved in the special meeting.

Both measures passed by a 3-2 vote, with members Mrs. Baker, Chester Carter and Mrs. Lucille Taylor favoring and members James E. Harrison and Samuel Jackson opposing.

Board member James Harrison questioned the legality of the special meeting, in that the public was not allowed to attend.

On March 31 the three Oakland County Circuit judges ordered a recall election for two school board positions, within 30 days.

The judges ruled petitions valid which had been circulated against board members Mrs. Loretta Baker and Chester Carter. The courts also ordered the school board to name an individual other than Mrs. Baker to conduct the election.

The recall petitions had been filed by Harrison, who has bee claiming reforms are needed in the school's administration.

Demands were made from the audience last night that the board name the person to conduct the recall election.

Violence and fist fights have highlighted more than one board meeting in the past years since the formation of the school district in 1945.

Last night Mrs. Taylor tried unsuccessfully to have teacher Magnolia Sims ejected from the meeting, and Mrs. Baker left her seat to denounce resident Otis Eaton for taking her picture. Mrs. Baker's husband led her from the room.

Special legislation eliminating property ownership as a requirement for school board candidates in this area has been proposed from several sources. This would make a larger number of residents eligible to seek board positions.

At present there are only about 65 residents who may seek election while 8,000 live in the district.

Play at Romeo to Mark Group's 10th Year

By LEE WINBORN
Press Romeo Correspondent

ROMEO—It isn't necessarily a question of talent—interest is the major requirement for membership in the Romeo Players, a local dramatic group celebrating its tenth anniversary this season.

The presentation of "Angel Street" at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Romeo High School auditorium will officially mark a decade of growth for the organization.

In 1945 ten enthusiastic thespians joined forces to form the nucleus of the present group which has 60 members on its roster. Two of the original players, Mrs. Frank Webber and Mrs. George Tapley, continue to perform in many of the semi-annual productions.

The organization has offered a number of ambitious plays during its ten years of existence including one-acts and both comic and highly dramatic three-act presentations.

Some of the most memorable plays staged by the Players include "The Little Foxes," "Papa Is All," "You Can't Take It With You" and "Blithe Spirit." One-act favorites include "The Bishop's Candlesticks," "Twelve Pound Look" and "If Men Played Bridge Like Women Do."

The Players have taken another step recently toward the fulfillment of the dreams of the original ten who visioned plays presented in a playhouse owned and operated by the organization.

With its new articles of incorporation, the Players' group may purchase property and have a place in which to conduct rehearsals and store theatrical properties and costumes.

The anniversary presentation of "Angel Street" under the direction of Robert G. McGuire was staged in Hartland on April 16 as part of the Hartland Spring Festival.

Saturday night's production in Romeo is expected to attract the club's regular devoted following as well as other interested spectators.

Grains Easing in Steady Trade

CHICAGO (AP) — Most grains developed a slightly easier trend after a steady opening on the Board of Trade today. Old crop soybeans were off most.

Selling in old crops soybeans wasn't heavy. It appeared to be based mainly on fears a government report on supplies in all positions, scheduled to be issued after the close, would show very large stocks of beans in the country.

Wheat near the end of the first hour was unchanged to ⅝ lower, May $2.09⅝; corn unchanged to ¼ higher, May $1.43½; oats unchanged to ¾ lower, May 72¼; rye unchanged to ¼ higher, May 97¾; soybeans ¼ to 1 cent lower, May $2.49; and lard unchanged to 8 cents a hundred pounds higher, May $12.40.

50-Cent Coins Rain Upon Road

Eager Motorists Grab Half Dollars Spraying From Truck

ST. PETER, Minn. (UP)—Half dollars flew "like silver ducks" over U. S. Highway 169 yesterday and motorists jammed on their brakes to stock up.

Up ahead, a semi-trailer truck was rolling peacefully along, its driver unaware that his vehicle was sprayng money along the highway.

The strange procession continued for three or four miles before the leak in the money truck was discovered.

When the truck finally stopped, a trail of eager motorists were busy scooping up from $400 to $500 in half dollars.

Most of them surrendered their loot, but at least one sped away with the cheerful cry of "Thanks for the dough."

The truck was carrying a money shipment, estimated at $250,000, from Denver, Colo., to the Federal Reserve Bank at Minneapolis, A Brinks, Inc., armored car was following it.

A guard in the armored car, Marvin Ince, suddenly became aware that something was wrong up ahead.

"First we thought they were cigarette papers," Ince said. "Then we noticed it was money. They looked like flying silver ducks.

"Then it took us half a mile to stop the semi-trailer."

The Brinks men were competing with happy motorists in picking up the money, he said.

Senate Will Back Ike, Capehart Declares

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Sen. Capehart (R-Ind) said today he thinks most Senate Republicans will back any decisions President Eisenhower makes in dealing with the Chinese Communists and the Formosa situation.

Capehart said in an interview he could not go along with his colleague Sen. Jenner (R-Ind), who proposed yesterday a resolution to put the Senate on record that no government official "may take part in any conference" which might result in the transfer of any territory to a Communist state.

* * *

Jenner's resolution, which would be merely an expression of Senate opinion, obviously was prompted by the increased prospect of some kind of talks between the United States and Communist China aimed at relaxing tensions in the Formosa Strait.

Red Chinese Premier Chou En-lai suggested such talks last weekend. President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles have endorsed the idea, with the condition that there must be some evidence of Communist sincerity.

Justice Dept. Seeks Agreement on Ads

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The Justice Department will try to negotiate an agreement with publisher and advertising representatives to end what it considers antitrust law violations in fixing advertising agency commissions.

Atty. Gen. Brownell said yesterday his department has invited the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., The American Assn. of Advertising Agencies and other affected groups to discuss the situation.

* * *

He said the department is preparing to proceed to halt the practices, but expressed hope the matter can be worked out by mutual agreement leading to a consent decree. He said only associations—not individuals—are involved in the proceedings. It is based on a study started last year.

He said the associations require "that a compulsory 15 per cent commission be maintained for the (advertising) agency placing the advertising with some publication."

Brownell announced the action at a news conference after Elisha Hanson, ANPA general counsel, discussed the situation at the ANPA's national convention in New York.

Food Costs Down During 1st Quarter

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumers paid 3 per cent less for the farm foods in the "market basket" in the first quarter of this year than in the 1954 January-March quarter, but the farmer received 8 per cent less.

Reporting this today, the Agriculture Department said costs for marketing averaged slightly higher, with the result that the farmer's share of the consumer's dollar dropped to 42 per cent. This compares with 45 per cent in the first quarter last year.

The "market basket" contains the average quantities of farm-produced foods bought for consumption at home by city families.

Electric Auto Lite Co. Income Soars in Quarter

TOLEDO, Ohio (INS) — Electric Auto Lite Co. announced net income for the quarter ended March 31 of $3,274,054, equal to $2.05 a common share. This compared with $397,985, or 25 cents a common share, in the same period last year. Sales totaled $80,542,482, a jump of 63 per cent over the initial three months of 1954 and the highest volume of any first quarter since the end of World War II.

Copies Minutes of Land Board

Texas Solon Photostats Notes Before Changes Are Made in Record

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — State Sen. Jimmy Phillips proceeded today with photostating of the minutes of the scandal-rocked Texas Veterans Land Board.

Phillips seized the books by subpoena yesterday after Gov. Allan Shivers and State Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd complained that they were incorrect and said they wanted them changed.

Phillips said his action was "to make certain, in the light of recent developments, that there is a permanent record of the minutes as they were originally entered."

* * *

A determined investigator of the veterans land scandals that have resulted in nearly 200 indictments, Phillips personally carried the books from the State Land Office to the Capitol.

The land board Wednesday ordered correction of the minutes of about 80 meetings since August 1949 on complaints that the records kept under former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles did not reflect "exactly what had transpired at the meetings."

* * *

Giles is one of those under indictment, charged with theft, conspiracy to theft and acceptance of a bribe. Others charged in connection with the 100-million-dollar program include land dealers, attorneys and notarys.

Grand juries have charged that some land dealers bought large blocs of land at low prices and through connivance later obtained state appraisals greatly exceeding the land's worth. This land then was sold to groups of veterans with the state underwriting the payments.

Norton will acquire 20 per cent interest in the Green Bay company, acting as vice president and general manager, according to Ben Laird, company president. Formerly WPON's assistant station manager, Payne has been with the Pontiac station since its inception in December 1954.

Ohio Namesakes Have Only Names in Common

AKRON, O. (UP) — When you holler for "Pat Roman" around the University of Akron, you'd better qualify it.

There are two Pat Romans. One is a sophomore, the other a freshman, but that's only the beginning.

Freshman Roman is a football tackle. Sophomore Roman should be more completely identified as Patricia Ann Roman.

So far as either knows they are not related.

Adenauer, Pinay Are Thrashing Out Details of French-German Saar Pact

BONN, Germany (AP)—West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay sat down together today to work out details of the French-German pact on the industrial Saarland. If they fail to agree, West German rearmament could be delayed still more.

To head off demonstrations supporting Germany's claim to the border territory, Adenauer's government reinforced police in the capital and banned public processions.

* * *

Pinay, arriving by special train from Paris early today, declared French-German understanding "is the key to the security of Western cooperation and of the world in peace."

The 988-square-mile valley of the Saar River, a region of vast coal resources and a big coal and steel industry, was German before World War II. Politically autonomous since 1953, its economy has been linked closely to France's since the end of the war.

* * *

As one of the Paris treaties to return sovereignty to West Germany and rearm her within the North Atlantic Alliance, West Germany and France agreed the Saar would be put under the seven-nation Western European Union until a final peace treaty is concluded with Germany. The French are to retain economic links and their customs union with the territory.

Highly unpopular in West Germany, the Saar agreement was ratified by the Bonn Parliament by only a small majority. The French have insisted the details of the pact must be worked out before they will deposit their instruments ratifying West German sovereignty and rearmament in Bonn, Brussels and Washington. Until all the treaty signatories give that formal diplomatic notice that the pacts are in effect, the occupation cannot be ended and rearmament cannot commence.

* * *

Adenauer and Pinay must settle four major points:

1. The details of future German trade with the Saar. The Germans want more than they've been getting.

2. The identity of the high commissioner who will be the final authority in the territory, representing the WEU.

3. The date for the Saarlanders to vote on their new "European" status. The Paris agreement gives them the right to approve or reject it.

4. The future ownership of the huge Roechling steel plant in the Saar.

Charge GOP Used UM Lists

Dems Believe Leaflets Addressed From Files of University Alumni

LANSING (AP)—The University of Michigan was in hot water with the Democrats today over charges that university alumni lists were used to mail out Republican literature in the April 4 spring election campaign.

The governor's office said that Dr. Harlan H. Hatcher, university president, conceded that some of the lists apparently had been used, although he said the alumni office and alumni catalog office knew nothing of it.

Hatcher promised to continue an investigation of the reports and the governor's office asked for a further report on its survey.

The governor's office said that Lawrence L. Farrell, Gov. Williams' executive secretary, had received copies of the GOP campaign leaflets, addressed in the same way that alumni mailing lists were addressed.

The governor's office quoted Dr. Hatcher as saying that possibly one or more local alumni clubs had given names and addresses for Republican campaign mailings.

This theory was supported, according to Dr. Hatcher, by the fact that many alumni did not receive the literature and that the mailings appeared to be irregular and not sent to all alumni.

The governor's office quoted Dr. Hatcher as saying "the problem presented leads us to insist that there be stronger security applied to the lists and that the university's regulations be strictly enforced."

Dr. Hatcher was quoted as saying "it must not happen again."

Farrell said that Gov. Williams regards the situation as a "very serious matter" and wants a report on the university's continued investigation.

LAKE HOME SUPERB

Deer Lake is rated as one of Michigan's 7 most beautiful lakes and is only 35 miles from Detroit. It is a large deep gravel bottom lake but its wild wooded shore line affords very few building sites. Consequently it is a very private lake. The opportunity to live in this tranquil spot does not come often but the executive owner is retiring and moving north and is offering his 2 level ranch type home for sale through our firm. The home is designed so practically every room has a view of the shimmering water through the pines. The main floor has a 22x15 living room with fireplace, 14x15 bedroom, 12x18 master bedroom, 11x12 den, 9x22 combination kitchen and dinette. A large center hall. Loads of closets. An attached 23x23 garage. The lower level has the same floor plan with a 15x22 recreation room with fireplace. Guest room. Shower and lavatory. Snack bar. Workshop and laundry room. The heating plant is oil fired hot water. As you know the best. The picturesque lot has 68 ft. of lake frontage, 150 ft. of road frontage, 400 ft. deep. Also an additional lake lot available. Good sandy beach with a boathouse. If you want a real lake home in a fine neighborhood don't miss seeing this one! Full price $39,000. Call for appointment today.

'The Psychiatrist' to Preview in Mental Health Week

Show Planned by Steve Allens

Tuesday to Open Series Culminating 2 Years Work by Couple

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK (INS)—Steve Allen and bride Jayne Meadows own a new show, "The Psychiatrist," which will be previewed on Allen's own "Tonight" next Tuesday.

The series represents the culmination of two years' planning by Allen and his actress wife.

Basically the stories will consist of case histories of psychoanalysis, and its introduction during National Mental Health week, May 1-8, is looked upon as the predictable TV reaction to the recent wide-spread interest in the matter, as evidenced by the many newspaper and magazine articles, novels and movies pertaining to mental problems.

ABC-TV will celebrate the opening of Walt's Disneyland amusement park July 17 with a huge 90-minute spectacular.

Gleason's tops in Canada TV, too.

Bob Hope's Tuesday show was the best he's ever done. Line Renaud is a real star, and why not: She looks like Anne Baxter, Margaret Hayes, Margo, Valerie Bettis and, in profile, Laraine Day!

The sketches were uniformly funny and Lloyd Nolan a proper comic aide . . .

Bob said Arthur Godfrey now is "casting director of the Ed Sullivan Show."

The opening underwater dance was brightly fantastic . . . and Bob got the chance to sneak in shots of Jane Russell inhaling underwater.

Big problem for musical shows on film: the soundtrack ages in a hurry . . . Liberace's latest tuxedo is made of real silver cloth . . . Chicago gets its first educational TV station in Sept . . .

Peggy Lee's summer series should be announced any moment . . . Jack Paar's firing the whole U. S. . . . vacations in Nassau (ah!) with Betty Furness subbing.

"Smilin' Ed's Gang" (owned by the late Ed McConnell) becomes "Andy's Gang" Aug. 20 when Andy Devine buys in . . . Jaye P. Morgan's march to stardom nears its peak: she duets on an RCA-Victor record with Perry Como . . . TV cutie Jill Corey moves on to stardom via her first N. Y. cafe date.

Screen Gems signed Eddie Buzzell to produce-direct its "You Can't Take It With You" filmed series based on the Kaufman-Hart Pulitzer prizewinning comedy. No stars signed yet.

Madison Square Garden came out Madisonsquarely for subscription TV. Pay-TV and free TV "can develop and prosper side by side," states Garden pres. John Reed Kilpatrick.

CBS-TV airs a 45-minute panel squabble on the subject Sunday which should be an intelligent and somewhat high-minded look at the inexorable future considering the networks of necessity must be opposed to it as its most frightening competitor.

Photography Too Easy for Everyone but Earl

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Will people living in the 21st Century be able to write? Won't they communicate instead with pictures—taken with their own cameras?

Crazy, huh? Well, did you hear anybody say lately, "I just bought a wonderful new book on how to write a sentence?"

But you must have encountered a dozen chattering about their cameras. It's time to do something about these lunatics—of whom I am one.

★ ★ ★ ★

It's the "Hollywood influence" and it's sad because so many of us got interested in photography in the wrong era. My wife just showed me an ad for a Graflex with "pushbutton focusing."

If I read this correctly, the camera focuses itself.

"Takes the skill out of it, doesn't it?" she taunted.

She's right (this once). With automatic light meters and focusing, who needs a camera, any more?

★ ★ ★ ★

Well, I do, for one. Because no matter how easy the cameras work, I manage to get one that mystifies me.

"What do you do with all your pictures?" Mrs. Joey Adams asked me at a recent party.

"WHAT pictures?" retorted my wife. "None ever come out."

KIM NOVAK

This is untrue. My pictures of Movie Star Kim Novak taken in Hollywood recently came out — in fact, Miss Novak almost came out, too, of her dress.

★ ★ ★ ★

One thing that disturbs any would-be photog is the conflicting free advice he gets from the would-be experts.

Lately the new Tri-X film has enabled the pros to work indoors without flash, or strobe.

(Frequently the drunk turns out to be right—when I'm shooting.)

Then there's the clash between the newspaper photogs and the magazine guys.

"Are you sure you're in focus?" the newspaper fellows say.

Whereas the magazine geniuses who like a dreamy quality are likely to say "Are you sure you're out of focus?"

★ ★ ★ ★

One rule remains good. It concerns girl pictures and may be stated this way: Don't shoot till you see the whites of their thighs."

No, I don't develop my own stuff. I don't have a darkroom. Notwithstanding a crack by my son Slugger who recently said, "If Daddy doesn't have a darkroom—how come all his pictures are so dark?"

EARTHA KITT

THE MIDNIGHT EARL . . .

Movie beauty Cleo Moore—exhausted from her 60-city tour for "Women's Prison"—stopped here to see a doctor. (Oh, Doctor!) Columbia just gave her a new contract . . . Fan mag editors claim that Marlon Brando's threatened to quit "Guys & Dolls" if there's one more fan piece about him, and that Sam Goldwyn's trying to kill some . . . Kaye Ballard signed with Cheryl Crawford to appear in "Reuben, Reuben," the expensive musical starring Eddie Albert.

★ ★ ★ ★

Gina Lollobrigida got a new Mercedes-Benz and caught her hand in the door and hurt herself. (Well, it coulda been worse) . . . Westerner Lucius Beebe was at 21 with gold-plated heels and toes on his boots.

★ ★ ★ ★

Marion Marlowe's fiance, Larry Puck, celebrates a birthday May 3. Could that be the wedding date too? . . . John Barrymore Jr. told London reporters, "You may refer to me as the Salvador Dali of show business" Eartha Kitt appeared at the Page One Ball, Friday, in addition to her three-a-night at the Copa . . . The Guy Vincents (Betsy von Furstenburg) had a girl.

★ ★ ★ ★

Harold Lloyd rejected a million for TV rights to his comedy films . . . Singer Sunny Gale's in Medical Arts Hospital . . . Tyrone Power startled a B'way bootblack with a $5 tip . . . One of the Yankees is making eyes at an East Side hatcheck gal—and his rival's on the Baltimore Orioles.

Alaska Living Is Rugged, but Ex-Flint Man Loves It

FLINT (AP)—The mosquitoes are terrible in the summer and the temperature drops to 70 below zero in the winter—but Alaska, says a Flint man, is wonderful.

After seven years in the territory, 32-year-old Denton D. Howard declares:

"Alaska is the frontier. It's the only place left. There's more work, more money, more hunting and fishing."

Howard, visiting relatives in Flint, plans to go back soon. He says, "People live fast there; there's always something to do."

Howard, a steelworker, was employed by the Civil Aeronautics Authority and the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. Much of his work involved high rigging; putting up transmission and signal towers used in aircraft control systems.

"It pays pretty well," he said. "I used to take home more than $600 a month after income tax, which is pretty steep when you're single. We also pay a territory tax.

"Sometimes we made more. I contracted once for some work for a radio station. I took down one tower and put up another, doing all the 'high' work myself. I made $800 in seven days.

"You don't run into that kind of work every day, but there's an awful lot of work and the pay is good. Living costs are high, but there's still more left than there is in the states."

Howard reported liquor consumption is high in Alaska. Beer costs as much as liquor—about 65 cents a shot, $1 if there is entertainment.

A licensed pilot, Howard found time for some flying and a lot of hunting and fishing in "the brush," the inland area away from the cities and coastal regions.

He said homesteaders from the states who settled in Alaska's Matinuska Valley in 1932 are doing very well.

"They have tractors and modern equipment and sell everything they can raise. The farms have as much as eight feet of really fertile topsoil. There's a three month growing season, with lots of warm rain. They get terrific crops."

Until he returns next month for the summer construction season, Howard is working here putting up television antennas—"so I can keep in trim for that high rigging work."

All of the states in the U. S. have recorded summer temperature of 100 or more.

'Caine Mutiny' Publicist Loses Suit for $400,000

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Press agent Russell Birdwell has lost his $400,000 suit against producer Paul Gregory and actor Charles Laughton, involving his dismissal as publicist for "The Caine Mutiny Court-Martial."

Birdwell charged he was dismissed in violation of an oral contract but Superior Judge Paul Nourse ruled yesterday that the contract could be terminated at will under California law.

Battered Cuspidors Invade Modern Building

DETROIT (AP)—The Wayne County Road Commission is giving the manager of the new ultra-modern City-County building a bad time.

The commission brought along 100 battered brass cuspidors when it moved into its shiny new quarters.

The commission insists the spittoons are needed.

Building Manager Charles G. Oakman plans an informal conference with County Road Engineer Leroy C. Smith.
