Chrysler Nearing Settlement on New Contract

SHERMAN ADAMS

Since last June a spirited controversy has taken place in which I, Sherman Adams, assistant to the President, have found myself cast in a principal role. This controversy has at times unfortunately displaced public consideration of much more important and far reaching problems that directly affect the welfare of our country and its people.

It is quite probable that a great many of you now listening to me have expressed some time in the course of this controversy and as private citizens your views on the matter. It seems to me that nearly everyone active in public life, in one capacity or another, has done so. I am here tonight to express mine.

★ ★ ★

Several months ago, a committee of the House of Representatives started hearings designed to elicit information as to whether or not any person or persons had exerted improper influence upon the

President, Few Others Chorus Regrets; Yankee Goes Down Fighting

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sherman Adams resigned as President Eisenhower's chief White House aide. He said he did not want to risk hurting the Administration's program or Republican chances in November's Congressional elections.

The 59-year-old official, whose job was perhaps the second most important in government, broke the news to a nationwide radio-TV audience after first telling the President at his vacation White House in Newport, R.I.

Eisenhower accepted "with sadness . . . warm regard and highest esteem." He voiced "complete trust, confidence and respect" in Adams who had been his closest adviser and confident for the last 5½ years.

Some, like Adams, assailed the House Influence investigators whose hearings had stirred up the political storm which swept Adams out of office. Others said Adams took the only way out.

But several Democrats disputed Adams' insistence that he had done no wrong in accepting costly gifts from Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine and checking into Goldfine's troubles with federal agencies.

Adams said in his dramatic radio-TV speech that his resignation, which will take effect as soon as "an orderly transition" of his duties can be made, is "final and unqualified" and "not open to reconsideration."

Adams' words of resignation were frequently biting as he lashed out at his political tormentors. But the President's top adviser bore the markings of months of worry.

The 59-year-old New England Yankee looked thinner than usual, drawn about the face and as serious as a mourner when he undertook his painful chore last night.

He said he had made his de-

Dems to Speak in Turn

NEW YORK (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Paul Butler will address the nation tonight on "the other side of the Adams case." Mutual and CBS said they would carry Butler's speech from 5:35 to 5:45 p.m. EST.

NBC said it was ready to telecast and broadcast the Butler remarks, but that it had not yet received any direct request to do so. ABC still was weighing the matter.

Mary Roberts Rinehart, 82 Famed Mystery Writer, Dies

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mary Roberts Rinehart, whose popular mystery novels depicted many aspects of violent death, died in her sleep in her Park Avenue apartment Monday night at the age of 82.

Mrs. Rinehart, who averaged writing a book a year for 40 years, had become wealthy from her career of fiction writing which began in 1908 with the publication of her first book, "The Circular Staircase."

The dramatization of that book alone, under the title "The Bat," was said to have brought her $9,000,000.

In addition to a prolific output of mystery novels for which she was known best, Mrs. Rinehart wrote novels on medical themes. Her interest in the subject might be traced to the fact that she married a doctor, Stanley M. Rinehart, at the age of 20 after training as a nurse.

She also served as a war correspondent in World War I. During that phase of her career she interviewed such royal subjects as Queen Mary of Great Britain and King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium.

MARY ROBERTS RINEHART

Mrs. Rinehart continued her writing career late into life. At the age of 76 she wrote "The Swimming Pool," a "whodunit" with the locale of her home town of Bar Harbor, Maine.

Even before the publication of that book, it had been estimated that her books had sold more than 10 million copies in 13 languages.

Though her large production of books might seem to stem from a facile ability, she once described writing as "the hardest work in the world."

She was born into a modest Pittsburgh family in 1876. She is survived by three sons and six grandchildren. Her husband died in 1932.

Reuther Warns Firm to Sign Pact Quickly

UAW Boss Threatens to Add More Demands, Leave Negotiations

From Our Wire Services

DETROIT — Chrysler Corp., threatened with additional demands if it doesn't reach a contract agreement with the United Auto Workers Union by tomorrow noon, appeared about ready to settle today.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther turned pressure on Chrysler to settle before tomorrow noon by telling company negotiators he would leave Chrysler negotiations at that time to participate in talks at General Motors.

"If we haven't reached a contract agreement before I leave here, Chrysler will have to suffer the consequences of being last to settle," Reuther said. "From its experience in 1955, Chrysler knows what it is to be last to settle. I don't think I have to explain it for them."

Although Reuther refused to explain his threat any further to newsmen, company officials said they presume he meant the last company to settle would have to give better contract terms than any of its predecessors.

Although this was not the case when Chrysler was the last to settle in 1955, Chrysler spokesmen pointed out the union usually demands a little more after each settlement.

SILENT ON ISSUES

Both Reuther and John Leary, Chrysler vice president in charge of personnel, were silent about the issues remaining when they adjourned last night.

But it was obvious Reuther was standing his ground and it appeared the company would have to give way if a settlement was to be reached before the deadline.

"We have not made as much progress as I had hoped for but there is still plenty of time to reach an agreement before I leave here," Reuther said. "These negotiations never jell until the last minute."

He pointed out that the offer which finally led to an agreement in negotiations with Ford Motor Co. last Wednesday was not presented until less than 12 hours before the settlement was announced.

Reuther obviously was expecting a similar last-minute offer from Chrysler.

The union yesterday presented its counter-offer to Chrysler's proposal to settle on the same terms as Ford did.

SAME SCHEDULE

Company and union negotiators at General Motors were following the same schedule as the Chrysler negotiations, but most interest centered around the Chrysler talks because of Reuther's presence there.

Both GM and Chrysler have been operating without union contracts since the old pacts expired during the Memorial Day weekend. The union still represents 325,000 workers at GM and about 95,000 at Chrysler, how-

Is Justice Handed Out in State's J.P. Courts?

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of three articles on justice courts, and justices of the peace. Criticism of the justice system, and recommendations for improvements will be treated in later articles.)

By HAROLD S. COHEN

Is there any justice in a justice court?

For the first time in a hundred years people throughout Michigan, and not just attorneys and jurists, are beginning to have second thoughts about the venerable office of justice of the peace.

CHORUS SWELLS

In letters to newspapers, in complaints to law enforcement agencies such as the State Police, in neighborhood talk, a mounting chorus of discussion and dissension is heard.

And the echo is reverberating in the legislative halls in Lansing, in the circuit courts and the Michigan Supreme Court.

The justices themselves, through their state association, are hard at work seeking self-improvement and the Michigan Bar Assn. has expressed the lawyers' concern by appointing a study committee on J.P. courts.

PROBE SHORTCOMINGS

The Legislature at its last session had a special committee probe shortcomings in the justice courts.

On all sides snap remedies are heard—abolish the office, make only attorneys eligible for the office, restrict their jurisdiction, and so on.

Why the outcry? Mainly it is because of abuses by individual justices who through temperament or training are not qualified for the job.

Partly because weaknesses in the system have been exploited by attorneys, State Police and sheriff's departments and other persons who should know better.

Speed traps, "hanging" judges who ignore defendants' rights and due process of law, fee seekers and political hacks who get elected to the office have combined to lower its prestige.

The history of justices of the peace is lost in the dim recesses of Anglo-Saxon history. When the office first appears historically, it is in 12th century England.

The first justices were not petty judges but knights who administered oaths to keep the peace.

By the 14th century, they saw to internal trade, road construction, public health, welfare and other administrative matters.

Gradually during later reigns, the justices were given more local judicial duties and less administrative ones until they began to approximate their present functions.

More Education Needed on New School Bus Law

By PETE LOCHBILER

More law enforcement and public education are needed to make the new two-way stop school bus law effective.

This is the consensus of school bus drivers in the Pontiac area after 10 days of transporting children under the new safety measure.

Some drivers felt that public observance of the new regulations was pretty good, others called it "terrible."

All agreed that public education is needed to inform drivers who are disregarding the double stop out of ignorance of the new law.

The new state law is designed to protect children who cross the street before they get on the school bus in the morning or after they get off it in the afternoon.

Modeled on regulations that are in effect in 46 other states, the law requires cars traveling in both directions to halt whenever the bus stops to take on or let off children. The old law required only those cars that were following the bus to halt.

Like the old law, the new one is effective only in unincorporated areas, unless adopted on an individual basis by cities and villages. Pontiac hasn't done this.

In nearby Waterford and Avon Townships, bus drivers have strong feelings about how the new law is working out.

Waterford School District drivers have more complaints than Avondale School District drivers. And the Waterford complaints hit hard at women drivers.

"Nine times out of 10, the violators of the new law are women," said bus driver George Davis, of 8445 Pontiac Lake Rd., White Lake Township.

"And usually these women have their children with them, taking them to or from school. You'd think they'd be concerned about

Sunny Skies Mark First Day of Fall

The first day of autumn brought summery temperatures throughout Michigan today.

Fall arrived at 8:10 this morning with bright, sunny weather and more of the same is forecast for tonight and tomorrow. Tonight's low will be near 60 degrees.

For the next five days temperatures will average two or three degrees above the normal high of 71 and normal low of 51. Thursday, Friday and Saturday will be a little cooler. Rainfall will total one-half to one inch as showers Thursday and Friday.

Fifty-five was the lowest recorded temperature in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading at 2 p.m. was 77.

What a Crime, Only Comment From Goldfine

BOSTON, Mass. (AP)— Friends of Bernard Goldfine quoted the textile industrialist as saying "what a crime" when he heard Sherman Adams announced his resignation last night.

But there was no direct comment from the man whose generosity led to the difficulties that brought about the resignation.

Goldfine's attorney, Samuel Sears, reiterated today he expected no comment from the industrialist. Last night, Sears told newsmen "I feel certain that Goldfine is not likely to comment or say anything about anyone any more."

Goldfine's gifts to Adams—a vicuna coat, an Oriental rug and $3,096 worth of hotel accomodations for himself and Mrs. Adams—led to an investigation last June by a House subcommittee seeking evidence of improper influence upon government agencies.

Alcorn Had to Tell Adams to Resign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Time magazine says this week that President Eisenhower had decided Aug. 28 that Sherman Adams should resign.

"With agonizing reluctance, Dwight Eisenhower agreed to let Adams go," the magazine said. "But he could not bring himself to ask for the resignation himself.

"To Meade Alcorn, long-time Adams friend and a fellow Dartmouth graduate, went the unenviable assignment of telling Adams.

" 'You've got to handle it,' said Ike. 'It's your job, the dirtiest I can give you.'

"Alcorn was delayed only by a frantic last-minute call from Maine's Republican Sen. Frederick Payne, who insisted that, because both he and Adams had accepted Goldfine gifts, to impute dishonesty by firing Adams would surely beat him in his race for re-election against Democrat Edmund Muskie.

"But it was much too late for Fred Payne. He got swamped in Maine."

Dixie Attorneys Again Try to Block Integration Order

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

Attorneys made a final effort today to block desegregation order that threatens to turn about 10,000 more Virginia students out of school.

The lawyers, representing the Norfolk City School Board, held out little hope that Chief Judge Simon E. Sobeloff of the U.S. 4th Circuit Court of Appeals at Baltimore would grant a stay of the order.

Sobeloff already has turned down similar requests from Charlottesville and Warren County, Va., and state law has closed three schools. An adverse ruling in the Norfolk case would force a shutdown at three junior and three senior high schools.

A hitch appeared in efforts at Charlottesville to set up classes on an emergency basis for those displaced by the closing order. The 50 teachers at Idle Lane High School served notice on two rival parent groups, that they must agree on a single teaching plan.

About 75 pupils from Lane High met yesterday and drew petitions asking the governor to reopen the school. The petitions made no mention of the racial issue.

At the Southern Governors Conference in Louisville, Ky., Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus told reporters that four schools in Little Rock will be reopened next Monday regardless of the outcome of a Saturday vote on the integration issue.

In Little Rock, school superintendent Virgil Blossom said the number of transfer from Little Rock's closed high schools to other public schools is approaching 10 per cent of the entire student body. Blossom said the students are living with relatives and friends in other districts and going to open schools.

Press Previews Chevrolet Today

Broadly Redesigned Car to Be Introduced for All 1959 Lines

By DAVID J. WILKIE
AP Automotive Writer

DETROIT — Chevrolet, the world's biggest motor vehicle producer, has a broadly redesigned and restyled line of cars for 1959.

Representative models of the new line were assembled at General Motors multi-million dollar Technical Center at Van Dyke and 12-Mile roads for a press preview today.

The cars, with wholly new bodies and horizontally flaring rear fender fins, go on sale Oct. 16. Ford Division, Chevrolet's chief competitor in the larger volume field, is expected to introduce its new models at about the same time.

This will signalize the start of another battle for production and sales leadership between the two giants of the industry. Chevrolet has held the No. 1 spot during most of the last quarter century although it lost it to Ford by a small margin last year.

This year the big GM money maker recaptured top place. Its output volume for the year to date totals 889,147 cars to Ford Division's 657,286.

Complete details of the new Chevrolet styling and engineering are being withheld until dealers have been stocked with the new cars. Those who have seen them, however, say the cars present a wholly new concept in styling and numerous engineering refinements.

Chevrolet and Ford started 1959 model output last week. In 1957 their combined output represented approximately 50 per cent of the 6 million cars the industry built.

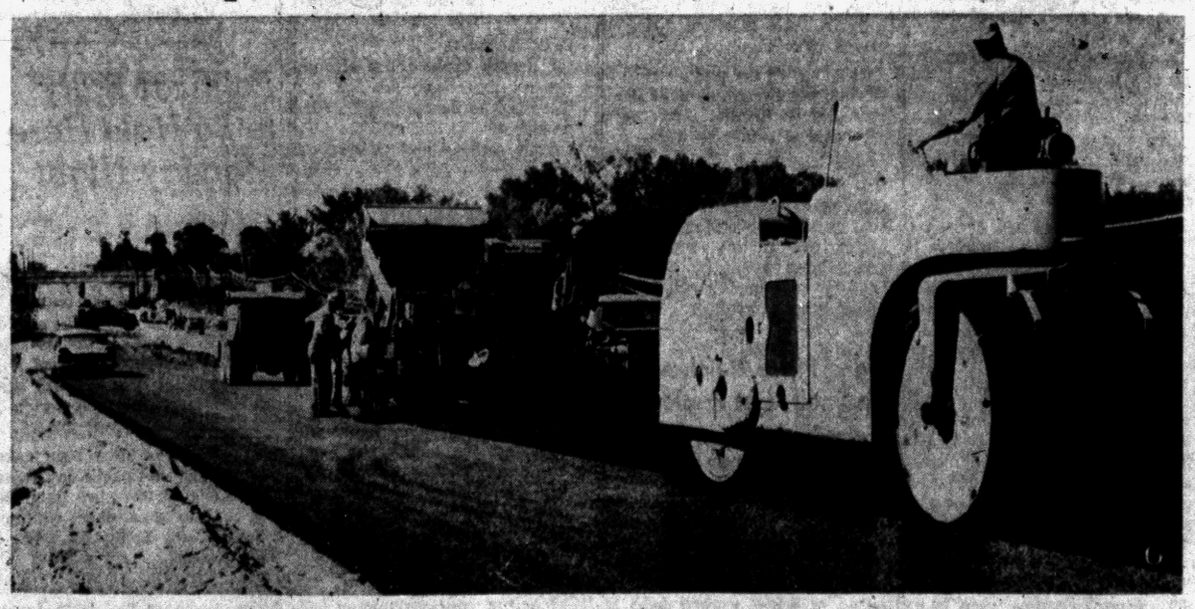

★ ★ ★

Both have indicated they plan a fast start on volume production of the new models. If they maintain their share of the industry volume, their combined production for the October-December quarter could total close to 725,000 cars.

Hoffa May Quit Post

CHICAGO (UPI) — The powerful Central Conference of Teamsters opened its sixth annual meeting today with reports that President James R. Hoffa will give up his post as chairman of the 12-state group. It also was reported that Teamster Executive Vice President Harold J. Gibbons of St. Louis was ready to relinquish his post as secretary-treasurer of the conference.

cision despite his "distaste for giving any grounds whatever to the charge of retreating under fire." He also flung a parting shot at his critics, accusing them of "a campaign of vilification" aimed at removing him from public life for their own "personal advantage."

Adams named neither critics nor political parties. However, most of the clamor for his resignation has come from Republicans worried about the political effect of the House group's hearings. The GOP's smashing defeat in Maine two weeks ago brought pressure to a boil.

TONE IS SOLEMN

Adams appeared calm and relaxed as he told the American public his decision. But his tone was solemn and it took on some of the icy sharpness for which he is famed when he struck back at those who had sought "up to this very moment" to get rid of him.

"These efforts, it is now clear, have been intended to destroy me and in so doing to embarrass the administration and the President of the United States," he declared.

Adams' attractive, soft-spoken wife, Rachel, was calm and dry-eyed when she talked to a reporter after watching her husband at home on television. She said she thought he did a beautiful job but declined further comment.

When the Adams controversy first began, she had said she expected the Democrats to hound her husband until they drove him out of Washington.

★ ★ ★

Democrats felt little hesitation about flinging back at Adams the barbs he had thrown in the 1952 election campaign when he led a drive to "clean up the mess in Washington."

SHOUT LOUDEST

But it was the Republicans, with just this situation in mind, who shouted the loudest for Adams to resign. Among them were Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland, running for governor of California, and Rep. Kenneth Keating, running for senator from New York.

Adams completed his talk to the nation in less than the 10 minutes of free time the networks had granted him at White House request. At 6:05 p.m. (EST), about 20 minutes after finishing his talk, he arrived back home, driving the green family station wagon into the garage adjoining the kitchen wing where his wife was waiting.

Adams walked into the kitchen and a bit later came out to try to pull down the sliding garage door. It stuck and as photographers tried to snap pictures he said, "Not now."

Quickly giving up the attempt to get the door closed, he went back into the house where the window curtains were drawn against a handful of reporters and cameramen on the sidewalk.

And that was how it was.

regulatory agencies of the government. In the course of those hearings, I testified before that committee.

The sworn testimony that I then gave, together with that of every responsible official of whom the committee made inquiry, clearly established that I had never influenced nor attempted to influence any agency, or any officer or employe of any agency in any case, decision, or matter whatsoever.

Despite the fact that this testimony is wholly undisputed, a calculated and contrived effort has nevertheless been made to attack and discredit me.

As part of this effort, the committee received completely irresponsible testimony and, without conscience, gave ear to rumor, innuendo and even unsubstantiated gossip.

A campaign of vilification by those who seek personal advantage by my removal from public life has continued up to this very moment. These efforts, it is now clear, have been intended to destroy me and in so doing to embarass the administration and the President of the United States.

An easy and obvious way to bring such an attack to an end is to remove the target. There were those who thought I should resign because they felt I had been imprudent in not foreseeing the interpretation that could be placed upon my exchanging gifts with a friend, even of some fifteen years standing.

I am sure that many of you have wondered why I have not chosen that course, why — at the very begining of the controversy— I did not immediately resign. I would like to tell you why.

First, it is not — nor has it ever been — my nature to run in the face of adversity and, in my years of public service — nearly twenty now — I have never once done so.

Second, since I have done no wrong, my resigning could have been construed as an admission that I had, in the atmosphere which has surrounded the controversy.

Third, when a man has been afforded the privilege that has been mine of serving a great American, a great humanitarian, and a great President — when a man has come to understand the selflessness and the dedication with which that President has served all of our people, regardless of race, creed, religious or political persuasion — it poses a decision, as I am sure you can readily appreciate, difficult in the extreme to make.

★ ★ ★

Against my distaste for giving any grounds whatever to the charge of retreating under fire, against my desire to complete my duty during the remaining two years of the term for which president Eisenhower was elected, I must give full consideration to the effect of my continuing presence on the public scene.

★ ★ ★

Under the circumstances and in light of the events of the past three months in which I have been made to be directly concerned, I must ask myself whether my retention in office might conceivably delay or retard, even in small degree, the achievement of those goals of President Eisenhower which yet lie ahead. Another factor that I feel I must consider is whether the retention of my services might possibly diminish the chances which my party has of regaining control of the Congress in the November elections.

★ ★ ★

Within the past few days I have reached a decision. Early this morning I flew from Washington to the President's vacation headquarters at Newport. I conferred with him and, in the course of that conference, tendered my resignation. This he has accepted, to be effective as soon as an orderly transition can be arranged for the assumption of my duties and responsibilities.

This action of mine is final and unqualified. It is not open to reconsideration.

It is my steadfast belief that the principles and programs for which Dwight Eisenhower stands serve the best interests of our country and, indeed, the people of the free world.

They deserve to be strengthened through the support of everyone of us. I believe that I can now best serve my president, and contribute to the support of his objectives, by the course that I have undertaken to follow.

I am now about to retire, after nearly six years, from the position in which I have served with pride and which I have given my best efforts to hold with honor.

Now nearly twenty years of public service come to a close, but I can say that it has brought a depth of satisfaction that will always be with me.

Henson Insane, Doctors Testify

2 Psychiatrists State He Can't Stand Trial for Wife's Murder

Frank W. Henson is insane and not capable of standing trial for the murder last December of his wife in Hazel Park, two psychiatrists testified yesterday before Oakland County Circuit Judge Frank L. Doty.

Judge Doty today was to sign commitment papers admitting Henson, 54, to Ionia State Hospital.

Dr. Ivan A. LaCore, medical superintendent of Pontiac State Hospital, and Dr. Abraham Tauber took the stand in a sanitary hearing to disclose the findings of an examination of Henson conducted last week.

Both doctors agreed that Henson was not mentally capable of assisting his attorney, James G. Hartrick, during the course of a second-degree murder which was pending against him.

Police last Dec. 23 found the body of Henson's wife, Helen, 57, sprawled on the kitchen floor of the Henson home, 62 W. Maxlow St., Hazel Park. Henson denied any knowledge of her death. The woman had 13 scalp wounds.

Henson's daughter, Mrs. Margery Tupiak, of 29116 Shirley St., Madison Heights, petitioned for the sanity hearing claiming her father had become insane as the result of the death.

George F. Taylor, chief assistant Oakland County prosecutor, said the murder charge against Henson would still stand.

"As soon as he gets a clear bill of health we will push for an immediate trial," he said.

Taylor said he will seek these monthly reports because Dr. Tauber testified he believed Henson's "acute symptoms will subside in a matter of a month."

The Day in Birmingham

Prepares Traffic Report Looking 20 Years Ahead

BIRMINGHAM — Traffic problems in Birmingham 20 years from now are being projected in a report being prepared for the State Highway Dept. by City Manager L. R. Gare and City Engineer Grover Serenbetz.

The report, accompanied by a map, was requested by the state which is seeking to get an over all picture of needs in Michigan cities so a workable highway network can be planned to keep pace with increasing traffic.

Gare told the City Commission at its meeting last night that his main concern is relief for an already overloaded Maple avenue, the main east-west route through the city.

"Improvement of 14 and 16-Mile roads to handle more traffic would take the load off Maple," Gare said. "If the state estimate that traffic will increase 250 per cent in Michigan is correct, it is certain that different routes will have to be available east and west through Birmingham."

Streets now used as feeder routes, leading traffic to the main thoroughfares, will remain on the map in this capacity. Gare said a few are being tagged for extension and in the more heavily traveled areas, new feeder streets are being selected.

He emphasized that the city is not bound by ideas he and Serenbetz are suggesting.

In other business, commissioners approved special assessment districts for sidewalk construction on Bates and Henrietta streets.

The hearing on the access drive at Woodward Avenue and Redding road was tabled to permit engineers to prepare plans and cost estimates.

The first in a series of five classes for diabetics began today at the Birmingham office of the County Health Dept. in the Municipal Building.

The weekly classes already have been filled but plans are being made for another to open early in November.

The Bloomfield Hills Club annual "Gasorama" will be held Thursday at Ed Haselhuhn's service station, Telegraph and Long Lake roads.

Richard E. Brown

Service for Richard E. Brown, 77, of 1119 E. Maple Ave., Birmingham, will be held at 3 p.m. Thursday at the Manley Bailey Funeral Home. Burial will be in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

Mr. Brown died Monday at his home following a long illness.

Former plant manager at Fisher Body Division in Pontiac, he retired in 1940. Mr. Brown later was associated with the R. E. Brown Lumber Co. in Detroit.

He was a member of Myrtle Lodge, F&AM, in Montour Falls, N.Y.

Paull Fitzpatrick

Service for Paull Fitzpatrick, 69, former vice president of the National Bank of Detroit, will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at Bell Chapel of the William R. Hamilton Co., Birmingham. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, who made his home at the Fort Shelby Hotel, Detroit, died Sunday at the University Hospital, Ann Arbor, after a long illness.

He also had been personnel director of the Home Owners Loan Corp., Detroit, and a charter member of the Trinity Lodge 502, F&AM, Detroit.

Surviving are two brothers and two sisters.

New School Bus Law Broken

There was agreement from three other Waterford drivers, Mrs. Franklin Smith, of 3549 Watkins Lake Rd.; Mrs. Louis Bianco, 3300 Elizabeth Lake Rd.; and Mrs. Arnold Schott, 7280 Ida Terrace, all in Waterford Township.

Mrs. Schott recalled in dismay an incident that occurred after she stopped her bus on Pontiac Lake road to left off a little girl.

As the girl began to cross the street, Mrs. Schott had to sound her horn to attract the girl's attention to make her stop.

"There was a car approaching us and even though my flashing lights were on, it didn't stop. The driver ignored the fact that the little girl was half way out in the street."

Noting that drivers still pass her halted bus from the rear, even though this was prohibited by the old law, Mrs. Bianco felt that the situation has not improved with the new law.

"No one on Dixie highway pays any attention to the new law," she complained. And drivers on heavily-traveled routes such as Airport and Williams Lake roads are not much better, she reported.

She angrily related that last week on Williams Lake road an approaching driver whipped past her halted bus, striking a dog that suddenly ran out in its path.

"What if that had been a child who was crossing the street instead of a dog?" she asked.

"The biggest violator is the woman driver," Mrs. Smith stated emphatically. She, too, could recall disturbing incidents in the past week.

★ ★ ★

"One woman driver overtook and passed both my bus and another one at a stop on Elizabeth Lake road," she said. "To top it off, she narrowly missed hitting another car that was coming towards us and kept on going, even though we were stopped."

Davis had one bright note to add to the picture. Truck drivers, he said, are cooperating "100 per cent," probably because they have been coached in the new regulations by their companies.

In Avon Township, Mrs. Edwin Armstead, of 2850 Hartline St. and Mrs. Phillip Holland, of 75 Juniper St., Auburn Heights, both felt that the law was being observed by the majority of drivers.

"Even before the new law, many of the approaching drivers would stop for the children, although they weren't required to," observed Mrs. Armstead.

Mrs. Holland recalled that sheriff's deputies have nailed four drivers who passed her bus headon while it was stopped at the bottom of a hill on Auburn road.

"The drivers were coming down the hill and maybe it just seemed to them to be too much effort to stop," she said.

The bus drivers listed a number of things about the new law which they felt the driving public should be aware of:

—Even though the bus pulls over to the shoulder to stop, the law is still the same: drivers in both directions have to stop.

—The law is as applicable on big, crowded streets like Dixie Highway as it is on side roads.

—Under the new law, bus drivers no longer use a sidearm to signal a stop. They use flashing red lights located on the front and rear of the bus.

—Drivers probably will find the easiest way to obey the new law is to begin slowing down as soon as they see that the stop lights are flashing.

—It's smart to be on the lookout for school buses during the morning and afternoon hours that children are headed for school or home.

Chrysler Appears Ready to OK New Agreement

ever. Sept. 30 has been set as a strike at GM.

Both have agreed to accept substantially the same agreement which the union won from Ford but Reuther and his aides have told them they would have to solve additional "contract problems" before coming to terms.

The number of strike idled auto workers climbed past 30,000 today but Union leaders indicated half the total would be back on the job tomorow at Ford's big Rouge plant.

Reuther showed some irritation at the continuing walkout of tool and die and maintenance workers which has idled 16,000 at the Rouge, in suburban Dearborn.

However, Carl Stellato, president of UAW Local 600, said he expected operations would be back to normal tomorrow.

Some 15,000 were out at General Motors and Chrysler plants because of strikes over local grievances. Contract talks are going on at both firms.

GM has 10,300 out at five plants including 4,000 at the Detroit Transmission Division and 3,000 at the key steering gear division in Saginaw.

Management charged the Saginaw strike was meant to exert pressure on GM in the contract negotiations. However, UAW Local 699 said it was the result of unsettled local grievances.

In other strikes about 3,500 Chrysler employes were idle in Indianapolis and Kokomo, Ind., and another 1,500 in two Detroit plants. Union spokesmen said all ensued from local grievances.

General Motors said 1,500 men walked out at its Buick-Oldsmobile-Plymouth plant in Wilmington, Del., yesterday on the day shift but that night shift workers came to the job.

GM also reported a small jurisdictional strike at Pontiac Motor in Pontiac. About 35 Fisher Body workers refused to cross picket lines set up in protest of assignment of paint repair jobs.

Ford reported settlements at its engine and foundry plant at Lima, Ohio, and forge plant in Canton, Ohio. A total of about 1,600 employes were involved.

About 2,500 tool and die men at Ford's big Rouge plant in Dearborn, were to vote today on a proposal to return to work.

This would not mean, however, that the Rouge plant would reopen if the vote were affirmative. Others besides skilled workers have paralyzed the factory with strikes complaining over the Ford-UAW contract settlement terms of Sept. 17 or local grievances.

Lions Place Reichow on Shelf, Cut Paolucci

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions today trimmed their roster to the legal limit by releasing lineman Ben Paolucci and placing end Jerry Reichow on the injured reserve list.

Paolucci, though given little chance of making the club at the outset of drills, worked hard and nearly won a spot.

Mrs. Stewart Dies at Age 77

Wife of Businessman Was Active in Musical, Art Circles Here

Mrs. John F. (E. Frances) Stewart, whose husband is a partner of the Stewart-Glenn Co. here, died yesterday in Pontiac General Hospital after an illness of several weeks. She was 77.

A native of Richmond, Mrs. Stewart is a graduate of the Richmond High School and Detroit Business Institute.

She was a member of Central Methodist Church where she had been active in several organizations.

A city resident for 40 years, Mrs. Stewart had been active in the Tuesday Musicale. In her later years she took up painting as a hobby and won several ribbons in local exhibits. She also belonged to the Pontiac Society of Artists.

She leaves her husband with whom she made her home at 2579 Woodbine Ave.; two daughters, Mrs. Addison K. Oakley of Pontiac and Mrs. Roy Schaeffer of Lorain, Ohio; six grandchildren; and a sister, Mrs. Alfred Tivy of Detroit.

Mrs. Stewart's body will be at the Sparks-Griffin Funeral Home until noon Thursday when it will be taken to the Central Methodist Church for service at 2 p.m. Burial will follow in Woodlawn Cemetery, Detroit.

No Solution in Sight

Warsaw Talks Stalled

WASHINGTON (AP)—The third round of talks between the United States and Red China at Warsaw reportedly has brought no fresh hope of a break in the Formosa deadlock.

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles were expected to review the critical situation upon the President's return today from his Newport, R.I., vacation headquarters.

There is increasing concern that unless there is a favorable break, Red China's avowed determination to take Chinese Nationalist territory by force and drive U.S. forces from the Formosa area may lead to conflict.

U.S. Ambassador Jacob Beam and Ambassador Wang Ping-nan of Red China held their third session on the crisis in Warsaw yesterday. It lasted 1¾ hours.

Diplomatic informants said that Red China was standing firm on its demand that the United States agree to abandon Formosa. U.S. officials said this was so completely contrary to basic American policy in the Far East as to be entirely beyond serious consideration.

★ ★ ★

The United States, for its part, insisted again that the Reds agree to a cease-fire that would halt their shelling of the Nationalist-held island of Quemoy.

Beam and Wang agreed to meet again Thursday.

Daring Jail Fugitive Eludes Searchers

Hartman, 38, of Port Huron, who broke out of Bay County Jail Sept. 13 and is described as "dangerous," eluded searchers overnight after an aunt reported he had prowled at her home.

The aunt, Mrs. Margaret Hartman, who lives five miles southeast of here, said Hartman took dry clothing and food from her home Sunday night. She said she was too frightened at the time to call police.

Tuscola County officers were joined by sheriff's men of Sanilac and Huron Counties in a house to house search after Mrs. Hartman's report.

Pontiac Driver Robbed by Stranger With Gun

A Pontiac motorist was robbed of $27 at gunpoint early this morning, according to Pontiac Police.

William Smith, of 113 Lafayette St., told police that he had stopped at the intersection of Bagley and Wessen Streets while going west on Wessen.

He said that an unidentified man wearing a checkered shirt approached the car and shoved an automatic pistol through an open front window and demanded his wallet. The man took the money from the wallet, and then escaped on foot.

Are Justice Courts Places of Justice?

England and retained it after independence was won.

It became an integral part of the American scene and is an office provided for in the Michigan constitution—a fact which makes proposals to abolish the office by simple legislation somewhat irrelevant at this time.

Critics of the system ask the question: "How can this office, designed for a light rural population, adequately meet the needs of a heavy industrial and urban population?"

The critics maintain that it cannot. Defenders say it does and with a few changes can do an even better job.

Here are a few facts about our courts:

The justices have the duty to try cases involving misdemeanors or crimes punishable by not more than a $100 fine or 90 days in jail or both.

They also examine persons charged with a felony and decide whether to bind them over to circuit court for trial.

They have jurisdiction in any part of the county—not just in their own township or municipality. They issue warrants for arrest and search and seizure and set bonds and take oaths. They also try minor civil cases.

They are paid by fees set by law and draw no salaries.

Oakland County has 48 township justices, two for each township, plus 14 in cities and two associate city justices, for a total of 64.

Of these, 24 are attorneys and the others businessmen, salesmen, office and government workers and factory workers.

Many are active as justices, deriving the majority or all of their income from the office, while others almost never hear a case.

Their income from fees of office range anywhere from $5 a year to $30,000 a year. From this, the more active ones maintain offices and hire secretaries to aid in handling the large volume of cases.

Fees in criminal cases run about $4 to $5 per case in state law and traffic cases. These funds are turned into the county along with fines. Fines go to the state library fund and the county keeps the costs if any, after paying the justice his fees.

Ordinance violation fines go to the township or city where the justice claims his fees, unless, in the case of cities, he has agreed to a salary arrangement.

Last year, Oakland County, on state cases, received $158,450 in justice court costs and paid out to the J.P.'s $135,306, with the balance going for other justice court connected expenses.

Thirty-nine courts cost more to operate than they took in, while 22 were in the black.

(Tomorrow, the report of a special legislative committee on J.P. Courts will be discussed).

No Frost on Fall's First Day

Warm Air Blankets U.S.

By United Press International

The season of the harvest moon, flying footballs and falling leaves made its entrance at 8:10 a.m., EST.

The autumnal equinox means the sun is directly over the equator, splitting day and night exactly into 12 hours everywhere on earth except at the poles.

The full moon, known as the harvest moon, also will shine this week, on Saturday. And, with luck, sometime in October or early November there will be a spell of warm, Indian summer weather, coming after the season's first killing frost.

There was no hint of frost in the air today as overnight readings got no lower than the 70s as far north as South Dakota and Southern Minnesota.

The warm southerly winds reached gusts of 20 to 30 miles per hour over much of the plains during the night.

The heaviest rain occurred in the southwest desert region as Monday's showers along the Gulf Coast and lower Mississippi Valley diminished to a few scattered sprinkles.

BORDER DRENCHED

Heavy showers continued along the Mexican border, with Carlsbad, N. M., doused with a 2.46-inch downpour Monday night, and Douglas, Ariz., recording nearly one-half inch.

Scattered showers also ranged along a band of cooler air over the Pacific Northwest and as far south as Central California.

Sunny, warm weather is forecast for the first day of fall in the Northeast while afternoon readings climbed into the 80s and 90s southward through the South Atlantic States. A few scattered showers were expected in Florida.

Scattered afternoon thundershowers also were expected along a front extending from Lake Superior southwestward into the Southwest Desert, the Central Rockies and Plains.

Thundershowers were predicted for much of the Gulf region and parts of the Mid-Mississippi Valley. Clear skies were seen for the coastal sections of the Pacific Northwest.

President Expresses Sadness

Ike's Letter to Adams

Newport, Rhode Island
September 22, 1958

Dear Sherman:

I deeply deplore the circumstances that have decided you to resign as the assistant to the president.

Your selfless and tireless devotion to the work of the White House and to me personally has been universally recognized. In discharging the responsibilities of your vitally important post, with no hope of reward other than your own satisfaction in knowing that you have served your country well, your total dedication to the nation's welfare has been of the highest possible order.

Your performance has been brilliant; the public has been the beneficiary of your unselfish work. After our six years of intimate association you have, as you have had throughout, my complete trust, confidence and respect.

I accept your resignation with sadness. You will be sorely missed by your colleagues on the staff and by the departments and agencies of the government, with which you have worked so efficiently.

With warm regard and highest esteem,

As Ever,
Dwight D. Eisenhower

Political Rally to Be Held Here Monday Night

Do you want to know what the many candidates for elective office in this fall election have in the way of qualifications and how they feel on different issues?

This opportunity will be afforded Pontiac and Oakland County voters Monday when the League of Women Voters of Pontiac will stage a 7:45 p.m. rally to which all candidates have been invited.

"Candidates have been asked to discuss what particular phases of legislation they are interested in and to give their qualifications," said Laura M. Belz, of the League.

All candidates seeking county offices, those in the State Legislature, and in the Congress have been invited to speak at the rally to be held at the Pontiac Central High School auditorium.

Bob Considine Says:

Adams Hard as Ever, Even to Bitter End

NEW YORK — No air-conditioning was needed in the studio from which Sherman Adams announced his departure from the office of Presidential Assistant. The featured performer supplied the coolness.

I wonder if in all history there has been a calmer, more glacial resignation under fire. The size of most TV and radio audiences can be only the most harrowing guesswork, but it seems possible that on this occasion ten times more people heard and watched a man toss in the towel than ever before.

This was Richard Nixon's TV defense of himself, the Checkers speech of 1952, with a switch ending. Adams's punchline was that he was bowing out, even though cleaner than a hound's tooth.

It was a sad speech, I thought, this one by Sherman Adams. It must have made a lot of people wonder how they themselves would have fared if the question of presents they had received through the years was ever illuminated.

Adams's valedictory was as flinty as any order he ever issued at the White House, including the orders cutting down on coffee breaks, use of the water cooler, smoking, and showing up two minutes late. He ran a taut ship of state. In this farewell he seemed to drive himself just as hard.

Human nature demanded of him a certain amount of self-pity. He kept it at a steely minimum, I thought, though he did made two or three references to "twenty years of public service." It was not an amateur undertaking, that service.

The way the speech was written there were moments, three or four minutes, when I thought he was going to close with something like, "So, I'm staying on, see?"

He spoke of that damning Congressional committee as "without conscience." It "gave ear" to various villainies perpetrated versus him. The "responsible" witnesses before that committee cleared him, he said.

Those who spoke against him were traffickers in, among other things, gossip, as indeed some of them were. He saw the whole thing as a "calculated and contrived" effort to discredit him and to embarrass the President and frustrate the remainder of the President's program.

But then there was the quick summation and announcement that he had that very day submitted his resignation to the President and that Ike had accepted it. There would be a little buffer period, enough time for him to clean out his desk.

Adams spoke of his political life as finished and done, and it is. But his cool presence and the words employed were not so much a play for compassion as a curt announcement that the people of the United States would henceforth be denied his services.

With tiny but granite chin thrust high in the air he said that his resignation was "final and unqualified and not open to reconsideration." The immediate undertone was that there had been a tumultous demand that he not resign.

There had been no such demand for a simple reason. In six years with the President, Adams had become the voice of conscience of the administration, the man who even more than Ike represented the forces that had "thrown the rascals out."

He was the enforcer of the new political virtue; the hatchet man of the wavering. But for inscrutible reasons he took a lousy rug and gave the gagsters in Washington a new description of vicuna — "the soft underbelly of the Eisenhower Administration."

President Eisenhower and former President Truman have not been as friendly as they once were. The President has not had the ex-president as a guest at the White House.

But there must be a genuine sympatico between them today. Once upon a time Harry Truman stuck out his chin and walked behind the bier of a man who helped him named Pendergast. Today the President of the United States, chin up, must walk behind Adams.

Offshore Units 25 Per Cent Larger

Chiang Bolsters Island Forces

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nationalist China apparently has increased the size of its forces on the offshore islands by more than 25 per cent since last spring.

At that time, Chiang Kai-shek was estimated to have approximately 75,000 regular army forces manning garrisons on Quemoy, Matsu and the smaller islands in both areas. Today's estimate is slightly over 100,000.

The estimate for Big Quemoy is 80,000 soldiers. The total civilian population on that island is believed to be about 40,000. Quemoy is the focal point for Communist attack, hammered daily by siege guns from the nearby Red mainland, with the primary purpose of attempting to stop or seriously restrict arrival of supplies.

The apparent increase of forces was made before the Reds suddenly opened their artillery — and political — offensive against Quemoy.

Why did Chiang send more troops to the exposed positions?

The only completely official interpretation here has come from President Eisenhower. In a news conference last month, Eisenhower said that about a third of the Nationalist forces are deployed on the islands west of Formosa and the nearby Pescadores.

Eisenhower said then that the deployment of the forces through the offshore islands "make a closer interlocking" between the defense systems of Formosa and the offshore islands. Before that, said the President, the offshore islands were largely thought of as outposts.

★ ★ ★

"Now apparently, the thing, the philosophy" is to hold the whole complex of islands as "part of the territory from which they hope to make their living," Eisenhower said.

Pneumonia Hinders Dr. King's Recovery

X-rays disclosed the pneumonia in King's lower right lung. Doctors said it had been expected and was nothing to worry about.

The 29-year-old Montgomery, Ala., pastor, advocate of nonviolent resistance for Negroes in their struggle against segregation, has been on the critical list at Harlem Hospital since Saturday. He was stabbed with a steel letter opener by a Negro woman in a Harlem department store as he autographed copies of his book "Stride Toward Freedom."

The woman, Mrs. Izola Ware Curry, 42, is under mental observation at Bellevue Hospital, where doctors said she could give no coherent explanation for the attack on King.

Polio Claims Life of School Official

ALMA (AP) — Dean Naldrett, superintendent of the New Baltimore schools, died yesterday of polio. He was 42.

Naldrett died in Gratiot Community Hospital here.

Naldrett had attended an educational conference at Mackinac Island over the weekend. While there he complained of feeling ill. On returning home, he stopped to visit relatives in Ithaca. He became severely ill there and was taken to the Alma hospital where he died. His family said he did not have the complete series of Salk polio shots.

Iron Curtain Leaks Dissatisfaction With Communism by Students

Editor's Note: The Soviet Union is still a land of mystery to most Americans, but some U.S. exchange students have been given the opportunity to see it first-hand. Beverly Deepe, a 23-year-old Phi Beta Kappa graduate of the University of Nebraska just back from there, introduces some Soviet students in this first of four articles on her experiences in the Soviet Union and the satellite countries.)

By BEVERLY DEEPE
Written for The Associated Press

It was a rare invitation—and I accepted promptly. Not every day does a Soviet student ask an American girl to his home.

At the set hour, Ivan appeared at my living quarters. We left without being seen by guards, evaded two pairs of "big ears" which followed us and finally we slipped into a courtyard filled with trees and grape arbors adjoining Ivan's one room and kitchen unit.

Inside, several of his friends were waiting to meet me.

In the center of the room stood a table covered with worn oilcloth. The walls were ringed with a refrigerator four feet high, a cot, a sofa, a bookcase, a dish cupboard, a tape recorder and a short wave radio.

★ ★ ★

Someone flicked on the radio and brought in the Voice of America. Elvis Presley wailed out in deafening volume—and for a moment I thought I was back in the United States instead of an exchange student in the U.S.S.R.

After urging by his friends, Ivan asked me to jitterbug. It was a new style for me—with jerky arm motions and uncertain steps.

"We aren't supposed to dance the rock 'n' roll," he said, "but everybody does in his home."

Then we started talking, and from the Russians came a barrage of questions.

"Do you like classical or progressive jazz best? I like Louis Armstrong."

"What American authors are the most popular now? Faulkner will be translated here this fall."

The students said Jack London, Theodore Dreiser and Mark Twain were the American authors most read in the Soviet Union. Some of the works of Hemingway and Steinbeck are available.

I started to answer, but one student came back. Ivan quickly changed the subject.

Ivan was one young Russian apparently willing to express doubts about Soviet standards of truth. But in my experience he was an exception. Only on rare occasions will Soviet students—even in private conversation—unveil dissatisfaction with their country. Then it concerns mainly the shortage of consumer goods.

Usually the Russians quizzed furiously. But when they were present in large numbers the questions were almost always argumentative: "What are your troops doing in Lebanon? Why is there racial discrimination in the United States? Why do you have unemployment?"

Other than Ivan's interrupted query about Hungary, the most pungent expression of disrespect for the system came when one of the Americans asked a Russian what he thought of Komsomol, the young Communist League.

"Well, I think you have an expression, pain where you sit down," he answered in broken English.

While dissatisfaction with communism appeared rare in the Soviet Union, the reverse seemed to be true among students in Poland. There I found that students work under far less control. They don't ask about jazz; they take you to a student dance where U. S. hepcats could find their match. They don't ask about modern art; colorful and modernistic advertising posters enliven billboards and walls.

In fact, a Polish student has much more to tell than ask.

One Pole made numerous anti-Soviet remarks to me and accused Poland's leader, Wladyslaw Gomulka, of "fouling up," especially in handling church-state relations.

He pulled out a copy of Pravda, flipped the pages and said: "Look, it says nothing here but 'keep smiling.'" Thn he showed me a Polish student newspaper which is free to print such Polish quotations as "Poles are not geese, they have their own tongue" or "Freedom means as much as life."

But he shook his head.

"We have no hope of being independent; the Soviet Union is too close and too big. They have troops in the Warsaw suburbs.

"But what can Poland do?" I asked.

"Just keep smiling," he replied. Later, I noticed how a Polish newspaper phrased the thought: "He who laughs, lasts."

"You've been to Soviet Union," he said. "Tell me, which is stronger—Russia or the United States? This is the big question the Poles are asking."

Chehab Takes Oath in Beirut

As Leader of Lebanon He Immediately Pledges Withdrawal of GIs

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gen. Fuad Chehab was sworn in today as the third president of independent Lebanon and immediately pledged the withdrawal of American troops.

Chehab was elected by nearly all factions of Parliament July 31 as a compromise choice to end the political tension which erupted into open rebellion more than four months ago.

★ ★ ★

American Marines and Army troops began arriving here July 15 in response to the call of Chehab's predecessor, President Camille Chamoun, who charged that Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic was attempting to overthrow Chamoun's pro-Western regime.

Chamoun had embraced the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Shooting again broke out in Beirut last night on the eve of the inauguration, and tension again climbed after a lull since Chehab's election. A curfew around the clock was in force as a result of mass kidnapings by political factions.

He started his speech by listing what he called six problems to solve. Perhaps significantly, the withdrawal of foreign troops was listed last.

★ ★ ★

The points as he listed them were:

1. The internal security of Lebanon.
2. The collection of arms from the population.
3. Reviving Lebanon's industrial capacity.
4. Reconstruction of buildings and installations that were damaged during the rebellion.
5. Removal of tension between Lebanon and some of the other Arab countries.
6. Withdrawal of foreign forces.

Car Prices to Remind Buyers of War Debt

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The new federal law requiring price stickers on 1959 automobiles may cause problems, Kentucky car dealers were told today.

"When people see that sticker, they're going to think of the war debt," said Francis M. Messick, director of industry relations for Associates Discount Corp., South Bend, Ind.

The salesman's solution is to "convert the price sticker very fast into monthly payments," Messick said. "That'll take the shock out of the thing and get you back into a selling basis."

Tragic . . . Good Riddance

Bouquets and Brickbats Are Hurled at Adams

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sherman Adams is bowing out as President Eisenhower's chief assistant amid both bouquets and brickbats, both praise and denunciation.

There was agreement that his action came as no surprise. Some said it was long overdue. Others expressed regrets.

"Because to do his job well he had to say 'No' more often than 'Yes,' he has his share of critics," Nixon said, "but any fairminded observer who examines the whole record will conclude that he made a superb contribution to the efficient operation of the executive branch of the government."

In a similar vein, Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield said, "The tragedy of it is that because of a few minor errors a man who is without a shred of dishonesty is lost to public service."

Sen. Prescott Bush (R-Conn) expressed "great regret because to my certain knowledge, he has been a great public servant and a great American."

Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn put the blame on the Democratic-controlled House subcommittee that investigated Adams' relationship with Boston millionaire Bernard Goldfine.

★ ★ ★

"It is tragic and ominous," Alcorn said, "that an honest man can be smeared into leaving office by the most outrageous use of innuendo and gossip and disregard of American principles of fair play in the history of congressional investigating procedures."

★ ★ ★

"It was inevitable," said New York's Democratic Gov. Averell Harriman, "that the Republican high command would force Mr. Adams' resignation in the hope of removing him as an issue in the campaign."

Sen. John Sparkman (D-Ala) said, "The demands from Republican candidates' virtually forced him out."

Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla) said he looks on Adams personally as an honorable man. But he added: "I can't say that, having kept Adams this long, the President is being especially bold or courageous in letting him go now because Republican candidates are having trouble carrying Adams on their own backs."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore) said Eisenhower "has been grossly derelict in keeping pace with his campaign promises by not removing Adams long before this."

Sen. Frank Barrett of Wyoming, a Republican seeking re-election and one of those who has called for Adams' resignation, said Adams did "the only thing he could do in deference to the President."

Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel (R-Kan), chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee, also welcomed Adams' announcement.

"To have remained in the face of the many implications, I feel, would have been detrimental to the administration as well as to Mr. Adams personally," Schoeppel said in Kewanee, Ill.

Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956, said in Chicago: "No political party will ever have a monopoly on virtue. But I have nothing to say about Gov. Adams' resignation, I don't believe in kicking a man when he is down, and I wish him well."

★ ★ ★

In Kansas City, former President Truman said: "I don't think there is any reason for me or anyone else to comment further on the matter except to say that the facts speak for themselves very eloquently."

Railroad Annuities Go Up

Social Security Tie-In Aids

By RAY HENRY

Some 325,000 people—nearly half of those now getting railroad retirement monthly payments—will find increases in their February checks.

The raises will go to:

—All retired railroad workers' wives if their annuities are $54.30 a month. Their checks will jump to $58 a month.

—Most widows, children and aged parents of deceased railroad men. The increases will be about seven per cent.

—Retired railroad workers if their present annuities were computed under the Social Security formula for figuring payments rather than the Railroad Retirement formula. The raises will be about seven per cent.

The increases will be paid automatically. So those eligible to get them need not apply.

Here's how:

The Railroad Retirement law says no one covered by it will receive less than what he could get from Social Security if the railroad work on which the annuity is based had been covered by the Social Security system.

NEW LAW

Due to changes just made by Congress, Social Security payments go up in February. So, Railroad Retirement payments tied to the Social Security system also go up.

This is how:

Under the Railroad Retirement law, a disabled railroad worker who meets the requirements to get both Social Security disability payments and railroad disability payments can collect the higher of the two.

The requirements to get the two payments are different, with those to get Social Security disability payments the most difficult.

Now Congress has eased the Social Security disability requirements. So, from now on, it'll be easier for a disabled railroad worker to get Social Security disability payments if they're higher than he could get from railroad disability.

A disabled railroad worker can now meet the Social Security disability requirements if:

1. He's between 50 and 65 and for six months had a permanent disability so severe he couldn't do any real work and

2. He worked in a job covered by railroad retirement for five of the last 10 years before he was disabled.

Previously, he was additionally required to have worked in a railroad job for 1½ of the last three years before the disability.

Also, due to the tie-up with Social Security, a disabled railroad worker who meets the Social Security disability requirement may now collect additional money if he has both a wife and dependent children or only dependent children.

The addition to his check can be as high as $91.50. He may also get another increase of up to $54 a month after Jan. 1.

Ike Faces Task of Replacing Aide as Vacation Ends

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — President Eisenhower ends a 25-day vacation mixed with work today and flies back to Washington to a big job—selection of a new chief aide.

The resignation of Sherman Adams as Eisenhower's top assistant — No. 2 White House position — leaves him without the man who for more than six years has helped ease the President's burden more than any other official.

The few Eisenhower aides in Newport said they had no information as to whom Eisenhower will pick to succeed Adams.

Despite the Adams problem, the Far East crisis and the continuing school integration controversy —all of which flared with considerable intensity during the last three weeks — the President returns to Washington noticeably refreshed.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the White House physician, said the Newport vacation did Eisenhower much good.

The President got in 18 holes of golf almost every day and he went fishing three times.

He also planned conferences with Secretary of Defense McElroy and Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Bagwell Campaigns in Oakland County

Paul D. Bagwell spent today in Oakland County drumming up votes in his bid to unseat Gov. Williams Nov. 4.

The Republican Committee of Oakland County organized a blitz schedule for his entourage, taking the party from a morning meeting in Royal Oak and back to that city for a campaign "pep-rally" in the evening.

In between the Republican candidate will visit several south Oakland County industries before atparty leaders at 6 p.m. at the Kingsley Inn, Bloomfield Hills.

Chicago Man to Head Polish Catholic Union

DETROIT (AP)—The Polish Roman Catholic Union of America elected officers yesterday at its 47th convention in Detroit, attended by more than 900 delegates. The convention ends Friday.

★ ★ ★

Named chairman was Ted Borun of Chicago. Other officers elected were Circuit Judge Victor A. Targonski, vice chairman, who will serve with Isabella Subka of Chicago; Chester Ziemba, Detroit, secretary.

Sell 20,000 Buicks in First Two Days

FLINT (AP) — Buick dealers sold an estimated 20,000 new cars during the first two days the 1959 Buick was on display, Edward T. Ragsdale, general manager of Buick and vice president of General Motors, reported today.

A representative group of 42 dealers from all parts of the country delivered 271 cars and took orders for 146 on Friday and Saturday, Ragsdale said.

"Projecting this throughout the entire country, we estimate that our 3,500 dealers sold in the neighborhood of 20,000 cars during the first two days the 1959 models were on display."

2,764 Servicemen Aided by Pontiac USO in Year

The Greater Pontiac USO had a busy time in the past year.

Its annual report, recently issued by chairman Irving Steinman, listed a host of activities for the 1957-1958 season.

Most of the efforts were directed towards servicemen stationed at the Auburn Heights and Commerce Township Nike bases. For them, 551 junior and senior volunteers put in 2,087 hours at USO dances and programs.

The local USO also provides kits containing candy, combs and pens for inductees leaving the Pontiac area for service.

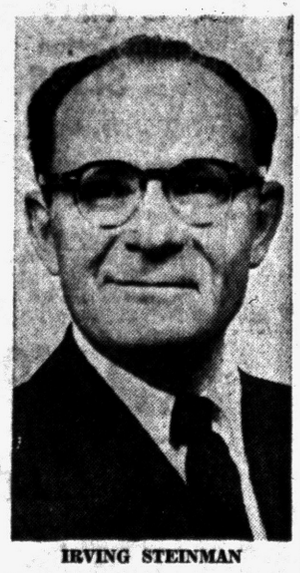

A total of 2,764 servicemen, inductees and enlistees were aided by the Pontiac USO last year, the report said.

According to Steinman, the local USO strives to carry out the national objective of serving the religious, spiritual, social, welfare and educational needs of the men and women in the armed forces and their families.

"We have tried to funnel the resources of our community into the lives of those boys who have been called to serve their country. We have provided them with a 'home away from home.'

"The USO Committee of Greater Pontiac can forthrightly say that we have answered the call," Steinman said.

In its report, the USO noted its dependence on the help of more than 50 other local organizations, especially women's groups that have donated time and energy to make USO programs successful.

IRVING STEINMAN

"We extend our thanks to the greater Pontiac community for its generous support and cooperation," Steinman said.

have you any wool? "Oh, I wish I had some wool" thought tiny Leila. She had learned to knit in her small, crowded school in the Near East. If Leila had wool she could knit a sweater for her brother—and maybe herself. They never had enough warm clothing. Perhaps praying would help. And it must have, because one day a lady from America came in a jeep—bringing supplies from an OVERSEAS AID Program of America's religious faiths. In one of the bales was knitting wool. To Leila it was even more important than the other vital supplies. Now she could do something to help!

Help Leila and so many others to help themselves. Support your faith's OVERSEAS AID Program.

Resignation of Adams Was Long Overdue

SHERMAN ADAMS has resigned as the Chief Assistant to the President. This long overdue move was asked for by The Pontiac PRESS when the BERNARD GOLDFINE investigation first came to light.

Fairly or unfairly, he has given a public impression of a man who had to be forcibly separated from a vast authority which only he failed to realize he had prejudiced.

ADAMS' relations with GOLDFINE gave the Democrats ammunition which will not be blunted by his retirement. His staying on for this long set him up as a sort of double ethical standard in the EISENHOWER administration.

From all indications he has not done anything dishonest. But by accepting gifts from GOLDFINE, he put himself in a very unfortunate position in the eyes of the general public.

His actions cannot be excused since he is an old hand at political savvy. Having served a term as Governor, he was well aware that his actions would be carefully scrutinized.

The gifts he accepted, plus his close association with GOLDFINE, infringed on the Administration's rigid code of untarnished conduct. The Republican party is bound to suffer because of his long resistance.

President EISENHOWER'S original statement "I need him" was about as far off beat as the President could get. The plain fact is that his usefulness was long gone.

★ ★ ★

Be on Guard, Alabama, for KKK Terrorizers

News dispatches from Alabama suggest that the Ancient Order of Pillow Case Wearers is about to reconvene. This seems absolutely impossible in 1958. The last time that there was an offstage threat from these proponents of Un-American terrorism, some ex-servicemen assembled and chased the silly klan-ers into the far reaches of the night.

★ ★ ★

Alabama, awaken.

Take action—and promptly.

Logical Theory Made by Penn State President

Recently, when President ERIC A. WALKER of Pennsylvania State University was here, he made some interesting observations on the weather.

★ ★ ★

"We've had rain some part of the last 46 days," said he. "This is very 'unusual' in Pennsylvania and I don't use the word with any of the old Florida or California connotations.

★ ★ ★

"It's simply contrary to previous facts and customs," he continued, "but we believe we understand why. Nature's east-west jet stream that normally passes hundreds of miles north, has been flowing over Pennsylvania this past summer and we hold this accountable."

★ ★ ★

We accept the suggestion of the great eastern educator. There is no positive proof and the whole subject is open to conjecture. Scientists in many lines have scoffed at the H-bomb advocates who contend these powerful explosions around the world have upset nature's normal balance.

★ ★ ★

Most people in this area are under the impression that we've had more rain than usual this summer. If the actual statistics show the period to be normal, it just means it has rained at more inopportune times.

That could be.

★ ★ ★

Cheerio.

Solomon, Too, Had a Tough Job

David Lawrence Says:

Political Hangmen Lynched Adams

WASHINGTON — An innocent man went to the gallows of American politics Monday night — convicted not by "a jury of his peers" but by the political hangmen of the hour. His head was not bowed in shame. For his conscience was clear. He yielded only to the law of expediency, which enforces its cruel verdict to satisfy the passions of the mob even in politics.

LAWRENCE

For the political "lynching" of Sherman Adams was no less an injustice because it was carried out under the "code" which demands that, in order to win elections, suspicion must be accepted as proof. The lifelong reputation of an individual for honesty and integrity must bear now the stigma of an involuntary resignation from a high post in government, though necessarily couched in the phrases of a voluntary act.

Sometimes, however, more votes are lost by the sacrifice of a principle than are gained by a seeming display of virtue. Granted that Sherman Adams accepted gifts from a close personal friend doing business with government agencies, and granted that he performed for him the same service in obtaining information that was given to others who were not friends, will men in public life ever again be given the benefit of the rule that a man is presumed honest until proved dishonest?

Will the general public feel now that all men appointed to government who have contributed money to campaigns really owed their appointments to merit? And will those individuals who accept campaign contributions now and are elected to office be free from suspicion that they cannot serve the public interest impartially?

For the martyrdom of Sherman Adams can become sooner or later the martyrdom of any public official who has accepted favors, large or small, from anybody outside the government. The whole political system is adjudged now to have been "corrupted" by this practice. If the elimination of Sherman Adams means that everyone who has accepted gifts is suspect, then the candidates concerned should in all candor withdraw from the race this autumn.

Every candidate who has accepted money for his campaign from any labor union organization or from any employer organization must disclose all the facts of and explain his voting record with reference to those interests. The new "code" sternly requires it. How many candidates for Congress will come forth to do what Sherman Adams found himself compelled to do?

It has been said on the floor of Congress this year that $700,000 was spent to elect a Democratic senator with funds collected from labor union members. It has been said also on the floor of Congress recently that in the last election 175 members in both Houses owed their success in part to labor union money.

What's the difference between a few hundred dollars paid for a hotel bill or a gift coat and tens of thousands of dollars paid to insure that certain members of Congress will vote on legislation as labor shall dictate? There is none—if suspicion is the only test.

Maybe the Adams case will prove salutary. It will be small comfort to the man himself, who is the victim, though in a larger sense it could do a great deal of good. Hypocrisy, however, reigns here and in the precincts of politics. The only persons who are crucified are those who have the ill luck to be made the victims of party pressure as a result of exposure by the opposite party, which happens to be in control of the investigative machinery in Congress.

The probabilities are that the Republicans will not win the election just because they think they now have divested themselves of the smears of the Democrats by bringing about the departure of Sherman Adams from the White House. On the contrary, there will be division in the Republican ranks because of the episode, and many will voice their protest against the "lynching."

Here Are Two Recipes for Dandruff Remedies

If any reader of this piece who had dandruff a year ago has none now, I respectfully request that he or she does a good deed for today by writing me, confidentially of course, to tell me how come.

DR BRADY

There is no scientific evidence that dandruff is infectious or communicable or that dandruff, with or without falling hair, is due to a specific germ.

In the booklet The Hair and Scalp (35 cents and stamped, self-addressed envelope) I describe in detail how to control dandruff. This is old stuff, not my discovery. All I know about dandruff is that if you have it you're stuck with it from now on.

Once a week is ordinarily often enough to wash or shampoo the hair and scalp. With plain toilet soap and water. No "medicated" soap has any superiority over plain toilet soap.

After washing or shampooing, rinse thoroughly with clear water to remove all the soap. Dry well and immediately apply your dandruff pomade. Or, if you use a liquid rather than pomade or ointment, apply the liquid before the hair dries.

USE ATOMIZER

The best way to apply a liquid dandruff remedy is with an atomizer. Spray the liquid on the scalp sparingly, with nozzle nearly touching the scalp.

Best way to apply pomade or ointment is by parting the hair and rubbing a wee bit of the medicament into the scalp with the tips of the fingers. Cover about a quarter of area of the scalp in this way each day. Do this carefully and the hair does not get too greasy.

Best liquid remedy for dandruff and excessively oily or greasy hair is a solution of ten grains of salicylic acid in the ounce of any toilet water.

The best pomade I know for the control of dandruff is a dram (teaspoonful) of milk of sulfur and 20 grains (1/3rd teaspoonful) of salicylic acid rubbed to impalpable fineness in an ounce of cold cream (freshly made ointment of rose water).

To clean comb and brush each time you shampoo, wash them first with soap and water, then let them stand for an hour in formaldehyde solution — about a tablespoonful of the standard (U. S. P.) Liquor Formaldehyde, which is 37 per cent strength, in about 6 fluid ounces (teacupful) of water.

Rinse the formaldehyde away with running water before you handle or use the implements disinfected. Formaldehyde is sometimes called formalin or formol.

Signed letters, not more than one page or 100 words long pertaining to personal health and hygiene, not disease diagnosis or treatment, will be answered by Dr. William Brady, if a stamped self-addressed envelope is sent to The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan.

'Association Members Are Entitled to Representation'

It's a free country, I thought, so why shouldn't the police officers association have every right to present any petitions they think fit to our City Commission?

The Commissioners are supposed to be representing them, too. They're Pontiac boys and pay taxes on their homes like everyone else. Most of them were here before Straley and will be here when he's gone, so naturally they're interested in having a good police department.

They Can't All Be Wrong

American by Choice Questions Editorial

In an editorial The Press justly criticized the British because of their criticism about the racial problem and justly pointed out that they should take care of their own Negro-white problem, and the race riots in London before they criticize us.

★ ★ ★

But you did not explain their problem was more of economics, caused by the influx of migration from Jamaica and East Indies. England is a country that can't supply its own dairy needs and in no way can sustain itself other than industrially, and that not 100 per cent.

★ ★ ★

The violence was caused by a minority classified as "hoodlums" and nine of the youthful ringleaders were sentenced to four years, and were well reprimanded by the judge. No editorial was written about the swift act of justice and the answer of the British authorities, who are determined to quell any future riots.

★ ★ ★

A former British subject, I'm now a naturalized American and proud to be a citizen. I don't want to be misunderstood. My criticism is directed only at The Press for not giving the same publicity to the British authorities when they gave their answer as you did when you criticized them and asked for an answer.

★ ★ ★

Our problem is different here, but to acts of violence let justice be meted out to those who are responsible, regardless of the color of their skin. Let's all try to accept people for what they are and teach our children the ways of Christ to be charitable to all and forget ancient wrongs, to live as "one nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all" and the present problems will solve themselves quicker than we think.

'G.M. May Lose at Either Turn'

For the good of the country it would have been better to have worked under the "old courant." Industry wouldn't have had any excuse to have boosted the price of cars above the 1958 level. General Motors is in a bad position. If it turns down the union demand and locks its doors, Ford will have the market. If it accepts the union demand, it will need to advance its prices of cars above the Ford rate or accept a smaller percentage of profit. The general buying public is in no position to take on a price rise. It needs a turning downward and the union's action may lose for it the market for the manufactured product.

'Godless Universe Would Be Chaos'

While we cannot give you a picture of God, to deny there is a God is to say our vast universe was created by accident. This is preposterous, because surely there's a Divine Mind or plan back of the creation of it. If not, it would not be long before some of the suns or stars would get out of line and the whole universe would explode and there would be utter confusion.

It surely behooves us to believe in God, have faith in Him and live according to His Divine Laws and live a happier life on earth and be in proper shape to face God when our time comes.

Smiles

A writer says that too many people think too much of their bank rolls. What bank rolls?

Case Records of a Psychologist:

Women Prefer Advice From Men

Ladies, see if you can answer Eileen's questions. And ask yourself whether you'd rather consult a woman doctor or a male doctor? Why do you suppose male advisors are more popular not only with men but even more so with women? Despite Dorothy Dix's splendid pioneering male "advice" columnists have the breaks.

By GEORGE W. CRANE

CASE Z-326: Eileen G., aged 20, is a journalism student at College.

DR. CRANE

"Dr. Crane, my father is a newspaper editor." Eileen began, "and he tells me your column is more widely read than those 'advice' columns written by women.

"Do you think that is due to your greater scientific prestige, such as your being a Doctor of Philosophy as well as a Doctor of Medicine?

"Or do you think your literary style is better or what else could be the explanation?"

FEMALE PSYCHOLOGY

When Editor Leon Parkinson introduced me at Muncie, Indiana, a year ago, he mentioned that 91 per cent of women and 86 per cent of men follow this column every week.

★ ★ ★

That is obviously a very high readership. So how would you "fans" of this column answer Eileen if she were to ask you those questions?

Before you try to make up your minds, let me remind you of a psychological rule that is often overlooked in American journalism.

Women prefer male advisors:

That's why most women consult male physicians and dentists and lawyers, even though they may have superior women doctors and lawyers in the same town.

★ ★ ★

Oddly, enough, American newspapers were slow to realize the need for columns on "Human Relations". It was Dorothy Dix who proved the vital need for such an "advice" column.

And because Dorothy Dix was a talented woman, editors got into the habit of thinking women should write such "advice" columns, even though on second thought, they'd realize that women prefer male counselors.

MEN GET THE BREAKS

Even if I did not have two doctor's degrees (Ph.D. & M.D.) and even if I used the same literary style and the very same type of cases as women writers, I'd still get the breaks, just because women prefer to look to men for professional counsel.

★ ★ ★

It isn't a matter of logic, nor do we males necessarily merit such greater prestige.

But women do not stick together when it comes to seeking counsel, whether in law or medicine or religion or family problems:

Very few women want a female clergyman in the pulpit. And a female dentist or physician or lawyer must usually be far smarter and much more competent than average in order to win even a fair break in those professions.

Modern editors realize that it is thus smart to get men writers even for recipe columns:

Reader interest thus tends to drop, other things being equal, as soon as a woman writes on finance or even child rearing, love or marriage.

LADIES, BE CAREFUL

Now, ladies don't blame me for stating these self-evident truths. I don't say that men deserve their greater prestige:

All I am mentioning is the simple fact that you wives and mothers repose more belief or credulity in male advisors.

If my column rates tops, it may also be due in part to the fact that I use actual office cases, instead of letters from readers.

Besides, you know I am a happily married man and father of 5 children, so you realize I am not a "braintruster" or flippant writer who makes jokes out of the serious problems of teen agers or distraught wives and mothers.

★ ★ ★

Counseling is serious business since it involves a mixture of medicine, psychology, morality and many other fields.

★ ★ ★

Always write to Dr. George W. Crane in care of The Pontiac Press, Pontiac, Michigan, enclosing a long 4c stamped, self-addressed envelope and 20c to cover typing and printing costs when you send for his psychological charts and pamphlets.

Dem Governors Split on Schools

But They Doubt Third Party Will Develop Out of Integration Issue

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—Democrats at the Southern Governors Conference are well and truly split today over desegregating the schools, but they agree completely on one point:

They doubt that a third political party will develop out of the towering controversy.

Some express emphatic opposition. Others simply say the possibility of another break-away movement, as in 1948, is remote. None reports any serious talk of it in his respective state.

"We're not going to be chased out of our own house," said Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia.

"I don't think there will be a third party for the simple reason that it would only give aid and comfort to the Republicans," said Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi.

★ ★ ★

The only reservation expressed came from Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler of Kentucky, who said, "It could be, if there are enough bitter-enders."

Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas said he saw little likelihood of an insurgent movement within the party.

What will the Democrats do about a civil rights plank in the 1960 platform?

Chandler — who proudly relates how desegregation was accomplished in Kentucky—said, "You can't write one, as things stand now. It would be impossible."

Others gave we'll-have-to-wait-and-see answers.

Bilge pumps are now being made of polyethylene for boat owners. Made entirely of plastic, the pumps are designed to float if accidentally dropped overboard. They are resistant to salt water and oil, are manually operated, and will pump 10 gallons a minute.

MARQUETTE (UP) — The Michigan State AFL-CIO will hold its fourth annual Upper Peninsula Teacher's Institute Saturday and Sunday at Lake Gogebic, near Marenisco. August Scholle, state AFL-CIO president, will be a principal speaker.

WSU Seeks $27 Million

DETROIT (UP) — Wayne State University's board of governors has voted to ask the Legislature for $19,130,515 in operating funds and $7,710,000 for capital outlays in the 1958-60 fiscal year. The operating funds would top those for 1958-59 by $1,700,000.

Yom Kippur Begins at Sundown Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)— Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement and the most sacred day of the Jewish year, begins at sundown tonight.

The High Holy Day, which ends at sundown tomorrow, will be observed by prayer and fasting.

On Yom Kippur Jews around the world confess their sins against God and ask forgiveness. Evening services will be held in synagogues and temples.

Sundown tomorrow will conclude the 10-day period of prayer and repentence that began with Rosh Hashana, the Jewish New Year 5719.

Vandals Remove Tree Cherished by Mormons

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — The demise of a withered old cedar tree raised a question yesterday over its historical worth.

The tree was sawed down by vandals Sunday. According to legend it was the only tree in the Salt Lake Valley when Mormon pioneers arrived in 1847.

★ ★ ★

"It's very discouraging," said Mrs. Kate B. Carter, president of the Daughters of Utah Pioneers. "The Utah Daughters have fought hard for the preservation of these old relics."

★ ★ ★

But Utah Historical Society Director A. R. Mortenson labeled the tree "a historical fraud." He said it was ridiculous to believe it was the only tree in the valley in 1847.

Manhattan Rents High

NEW YORK (UPI) — The average three-room-apartment in new buildings in Manhattan rents for $184 a month, the City Planning Commission said. Elsewhere in the city, the commission said, rental for a similar apartment is $151.

'Psychological Block to Industry'

Bagwell Raps Williams for Links to Union Bosses

DETROIT (UP)—Paul D. Bagwell describes Gov. Williams as a "psychological block" to new industry from outside the state because of his association with "labor bosses."

The Republican candidate for governor made the statement in a hard hitting campaign speech last night in the labor and Democratic stronghold of Wayne County.

Bagwell, addressing a 17th District Republican rally, rapped what he called Williams' present or past labor "boss" connections.

He called the Democratic governor the "handservant of one union leader"—an apparent reference to Walter Reuther—and said he has in past years been "as intimately linked with another" — presumably James R. Hoffa.

As a result of this, Bagwell said, business leaders outside the state have told him they are "afraid of Michigan."

Bagwell's references to Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers, and Hoffa, president of the scandal-marked Teamsters Union, were made indirectly. But they appeared clear. He said:

"There is something rotten in Michigan, and it is not going to be cleaned up as long as we retain in office a governor who is the handservant of one union leader and in past years has been as intimately linked with another.

"If there is one subject on which Governor Williams qualifies as an expert, it is Hoffa-type and Reuther-type unionism—he has accepted help from both with fine impartiality as it suited his political purposes."

At this point in a formal abstract of his speech Bagwell denounced Wayne County's Democratic prosecutor, Samuel Olsen, for accepting an $11,000 campaign contribution from Hoffa's Teamsters Union. Olsen is a candidate for election in the fall. Bagwell called him "Jimmy Hoffa's man."

"Governor Williams, whether he knows it or not," Bagwell said, "has become a psychological block to industry and business leaders outside our state."

Ford Frick Undergoes Emergency Operation

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford C. Frick was rushed to Lawrence Hospital in Bronxville last night for an emergency appendectomy, his office announced today.

Don't Fence Him In

BURNSVILLE, N.C. (AP)—Zona Stiles is about ready to give up on the picket fence in front of his home. An auto swerved out of control on a curve recently, knocking the fence down for the 19th time in the last 10 years and for the third time in 11 months.

Dear Abby....

'Waitresses Serve Too Much Gush'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

"DEAR ABBY: You have taken the waitress' part, now how about giving the customers a chance? I am a business woman who eats most of her meals out and I am so tired of having waitresses gush over me and call me 'Honey' and 'Dear' I am tempted to write the Union. Why are they so familiar? They always greet you with, 'How are you?' That is too much for me! The next waitress who asks me how I am, I am going to tell her, 'This is not a doctor's office. I came here to eat!'

ABBY

"Then you say they should be tipped generously because they stand on their feet all day. Ditch-diggers work harder than waitresses and nobody walks by and tosses them quarters!"

A READER

DEAR READER: If you resent being asked how you are and feel a tip is not forthcoming for service, I think you ought to please yourself (and the waitresses) and eat at home.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I play the piano (classical and jazz) and wherever I go I am asked to play the piano. That's not my problem. I enjoy playing. A friend of mine has a piano that hasn't been tuned since World War One and when I have to play that piano I simply die. Should I mention to my friend that his piano needs tuning or should I just send a piano tuner over and pay for it myself? How do I go about handling a delicate situation like this?"

PIANIST

DEAR PIANIST: Since the owner of the piano obviously isn't bothered by it, casually ask him if he has any objection to your sending your piano tuner over to tune his piano (at your expense.) How can he refuse?

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: Who do some teachers think they are anyway? The President? Yesterday our teacher told the class that if she caught anyone wearing Elvis Presley jewelry who couldn't prove they were Elvis Presley, they were going to get thrown out of school. Does she have the right to tell us what to wear?"

DEBBY

DEAR DEBBY: I don't see how jewelry (if it doesn't clang and disturb others) could be reason enough to "throw a student out of school." Until someone gets "thrown out" you have no problem.

★ ★ ★

"DEAR ABBY: I started writing to you several times but never mailed the letters because my problem is kind of silly for a grown woman. You see, I have been married for 12 years but I don't love my husband. I love his best friend. He tells me he doesn't love me but I can tell by the way he looks at me that he does. He tells me to go away and not bother him but I think he is just playing hard to get. What is your advice?"

LOVE THAT MAN

DEAR LOVE: I can't improve on the advice the gentleman gave you. Go away and don't bother him.

"DEAR ABBY: One night about a year ago my husband came home from work early because he had a headache. I was having Club that day (my Club is two tables of bridge). My husband forgot all about his headache and took a couple of hands as a joke. He joined right in when I served the coffee and sandwiches. The girls fussed over him and naturally he ate it up.

"Now he keeps asking me when I'm having Club because he likes to be here. He comes home early and acts like one of the girls. I hate to tell him he is making a pest of himself, but I am going to have to do something about the situation as he is getting on my nerves."

THE WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Lay your cards on the table and tell your "joker" that he is overplaying his hand. If he doesn't know when you are having the girls over he can't very well join you.

Don't Let Small Defects Matter

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

I discovered a long time ago that others are not nearly so interested in the way we look as we think they are—and it was a great relief to me. They are much more conscious of their own appearance.

For this reason it seems such a waste of happiness when a woman allows some small defect in good looks to make her self-conscious and to damage her personality. I receive hundreds of thousands of letters a year and know that many women fail to make friends and to enter into life as they would have done because of some complexion or figure fault which others do not even notice.

Everyone has imperfections, some greater than others. Actually these have little to do with attractiveness unless we allow them to change or affect our personalities. No one is so conscious of your defects as you are. They are either thinking of their own, or have a broader outlook as to charm.

So what! Maybe you hate your stubby fingers, perhaps you have a slightly receding chin. You may dislike the little crook in your nose or your hairline may not be what you wish. All such faults are very small parts of the lovely whole.

It is downright tragic to allow imperfections to affect your approach to life. Don't allow yourself self-consciousness concerning them or let them act as a curtain between you and the people you meet. If you do, it always will be there, denying you complete enjoyment of others.

Even the severely-handicapped people often rise above their seeming burden to develop a charm and fascination which others with no disabilities cannot achieve. Two of the most magnetic personalities I know are severely crippled, but you never even think of it because they don't.

They are completely lacking in self-consciousness about their afflictions because they are too intrigued with the potentalities of the heart and mind and too interested in people and the world about them. They are gay and vibrant people it is always a joy to know.

Knowing people like this makes us realize what a waste it is to fret and worry over comparatively slight physical imperfections.

Of course you all know that I believe in correcting any defects in beauty which it is possible to correct, and today almost anything is susceptible to improving. There is an answer to practically all defects in figure, hair and complexion. But if you can't overcome them, don't let them throw you!

Alpha Beta Unit Has Initiation, Hears Program

The initiation ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Elsie Welch assisted by Mrs. Dodson, Pat Knudsen, Mrs. Gertrude Ealy, Mary Barmes, Mrs. Honora Kinsella, Mrs. Lorena Adams, Helen Bulla and Mrs. Olive Lord.

Airliners Lose U. N. Emblem

Too Much Controversy Given as Reason for Removal by Company

NEW YORK (AP) — The emblem of the United Nations — a polar view of a world map encircled by a wreath—has been removed from planes of United Air Lines in response to a number of protests.

The protests came from "individuals as well as organized groups," UAL President W. A. Patterson said yesterday.

"Our company came to the conclusion that we did not desire to enter into any controversy on international policy or philosophy. The insignia was removed," he added.

Half a dozen of UAL's 190 airliners bore the emblem as part of a program started last May in support of the U.N.

A group of [illegible] by Capt. Charles Dent of Allentown, Pa., had initiated the program, hoping that all United States and overseas airlines would affix the insignia to their planes.

Underneath the emblem were to be the words, "We believe."

United was the only airline to subscribe to the program.

In an editorial to be published in the Saturday Review next Saturday, Cousins says the protests came from "extreme anti-U.N. organizations and individuals." The airline is being "bullied out of its convictions by a few sharp voices," he writes.

Patterson did not identify the protesting groups or individuals.

The United States Committee for the United Nations, a private organization, has published a brochure explaining the program.

A committee spokesman said yesterday the group had been successful in enlisting support among a number of schools, local and national groups and concerns, which print the U.N. insignia on their stationery.

The emblem is to appear in commercial advertisements next month, he said.

Mechanical Gadgets Forecast Weather

DENVER (AP) — Mechanical weather observers that will funnel information at the rate of 1,000 words a minute to electronic computers are being developed.

He said the machines, being developed at the Lincoln Laboratories in Massachusetts, will report their information automatically to one of six automatic data computers along the East Coast.

The computers will digest the information, prepare forecasts and draw national weather maps which will be transmitted throughout the country in minutes.

Teens and Adults to Be Instructed in Dancing

Waterford Township teenagers, as well as adults, may learn the fundamentals of popular social dances, in a course scheduled to begin Monday at the Community Activities Center.

This will be the fifth year that the Recreation Department has offered the course to boys and girls. Instruction for adults was so successful last year, and the request of many more dance students was so great, that the course has been scheduled again this year, according to director Tom Belton.

Along with learning the courtesies of ballroom dancing, pupils will be taught fox trot, rumba and waltz techniques, instructor Carol Wolfe said.

Dance instruction for pupils from the 7th through the 12th grades, will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. Mondays, and from 8 to 9 p.m., the adult course will get under way.

On Wednesdays, two separate sixth grade classes will be held from 7 to 8 and from 8 to 9 p.m. Registrations may be made the first night of instruction, at the CAI.

Don't Take It for Granted!

Student From Little Rock Likes MSU Just Fine

EAST LANSING (AP) — Ernest Green, a central figure in racial turbulence at Little Rock, Ark., last year, says he's going to like it just fine at Michigan State University.

"Everything about it is wonderful, including the friendly way people have treated me," said the 17-year-old freshman. "I'm looking forward to four years at this school."

Green is the first Negro graduate of Little Rock's Central High School, focal point of racial strife in attempts at integration in the city school system. He'll enroll at MSU this week with some 4,600 new students and transfers.

With about 1,000 other men students, he's living at rambling Shaw Hall dormitory. His roommate is Larry Osterink, a white boy, a scholarship student, an intended engineering major and a former star athlete at East Grand Rapids.

"I like Larry a lot, and I think he likes me," said Green. "I know we're going to get along fine together."

More than two dozen other Negroes are housed at Shaw Hall, and most have white roommates. They're paired up largely on the basis of mutual interests. Their application cards, in fact, don't indicate racial background.

That's due in part to John A. Hannah, MSU president, who has discouraged racial discrimination at every level in university life. Hannah also is chairman of President Eisenhower's Civil Rights Commission.

Green is something of a celebrity on campus because of his Little Rock background. Students, both white and Negro, pepper him with questions on his experiences.

Says Plane Trouble Same as Before

HONOLULU (AP) — A passenger aboard a four-engine Military Air Transport Service plane which limped into Oahu Monday with two dead engines says the aircraft had the same trouble before.

The Superconstellation landed safely with 38 passengers and 10 crewmen at Hickam Air Force Base after a tense flight from Wake Island. Two engines were out and a third was going out when the plane was 200 miles west of Honolulu.

Sgt. 1C. John F. Woods, a passenger from Ironton, Ohio, said the same thing happened when the plane was going to Wake two days ago.

★ ★ ★

"The same two engines went out," he added. "We spent a day on Wake while they worked on them. It took us seven hours to get out of Tachikawa in Japan because of maintenance on the bum engines.

"When I get to Travis (northeast of San Francisco) I'm going to take a train home."

New Building Starts at Wayne University

The building, to be completed in early 1960, will house the university's college of nursing, school of social work, and graduate school. The building memorializes the late Richard Cohn, Detroit businessman and philanthropist.

Novi Becomes Largest Village in Oakland County

Charter for Incorporation Passes by 594 to 470 Vote

NOVI — Oakland County's largest village was created yesterday as voters in a 30-square mile area of Novi Township approved the proposed charter, officially incorporating the village. The vote was 594 to 470.

TUCK LEADS VOTE

Leading vote-getter among 10 candidates for five council seats was Walter Tuck, chairman of the Charter Commission. Tuck polled 678 votes.

Runner-up was J. Philip Anderson, with 552. Other winners were Dirk H. Groenenberg, 464; A. Russell Button, 458, and Dicron Taflalian, 446.

Tuck and Anderson will serve four-year terms as the result of having finished one-two in the voting. The other councilmen will serve for three yars.

Nearly 82 per cent of the registered voters in the two precincts—1,125 of 1,380 qualified electors—went to polls in the special election.

SWINGS ELECTION

Precinct 1, located at Novi Township Hall, swung the election with 333 votes for the charter to 175 against it. Precinct 2, located in the Novi Community Building, registered 261 "yes" to 295 "no" votes.

★ ★ ★

It now appears the village and township will share the same building. Both township and village officials agree it probably will take several months before transition matters are settled.

Margin of 1 Vote Ups School Tax

NOVI TOWNSHIP — A 2½-mill tax increase for five years was approved by Novi Township School District voters yesterday by the narrowest of margins — 201 to 201.

The money will be used for operating expenses.

Arthur Heslip, Board of Education president, estimated the tax levy will produce $25,000 to $30,000 in additional revenue. The increase will amount to $2.50 for each $1,000 of equalized property valuation.

The steady increase in enrollment created the need for more operating funds, Heslip said.

A second elementary school is being completed at 10-Mile and Meadowbrook roads. Four of the schools' eventual 12 classrooms already are in use.

Puts New Law for Juveniles Into Practice

A new law which permits 17 and 18-year-olds charged with a crime to be placed under the jurisdiction of juvenile authorities, was put into practice yesterday for the first time in Oakland County.

Circuit Judge Clark J. Adams signed an order transferring William Harmon, 17, of 1013 Argyle Ave., Pontiac, from the usual adult jurisdiction of Circuit Court to the Juvenile Division of Probate Court.

Although he criticized the law, which became effective Sept. 13, as not being altogether sufficient, the judge praised it for allowing some teenagers, not destined for a life of crime, to begin a new life without a criminal record hanging over them.

The law, approved by the Legislature in May, allows the judge to waive the customary higher court jurisdiction on the motion of either the prosecuting attorney, the person charged with the crime, or his or her representative.

In the case of Harmon, who was arrested in West Bloomfield Township in June for car theft, the motion was requested by attorney Verne C. Hampton.

Under the law the person must fall into any of several criminal tendencies ranging from use of alchol or drugs, "to habitually idling away his or her time." The latter applied to Harmon, Hampton said.

Public Act 212 is just the reverse of a law which permits juvenile authorities to waive their jurisdiction over a juvenile charged with an "adult" crime, such as murder.

Bus Line Taxes on City Agenda

Commission to Discuss Supporting Relief for Ailing Public Lines

City Commissioners will be asked tonight to support state tax relief for ailing public bus lines.

The Michigan Motor Bus Assn. is asking the city to take the stand in time for the Friday meeting of the Michigan Municipal League in Detroit.

At that time, the association said, cities will be asked to unite behind legislation to grant bus companies a three-year moratorium on fuel taxes and reduce license plate fees to 50 cents apiece.

Tax relief would give bus companies breathing space to bolster their shaky finances, the association said. Pontiac City lines, a member of the association, is expected to support the move.

In a report to the commission, the company's vice president, R.E. James, said that this year's loss is the largest yet.

He said there was a 41 per cent drop in passengers last month and that the drop in patronage so far this year was 31.9 per cent, or 539,156 passengers.

He said that the company's operating costs consumed 97.1 per cent of its revenues.

Revenues so far this year have amounted to $193,301, James said, while operating expenses stand at $187,692.

Commissioners, in other business, will be asked to give final approval to an ordinance transferring the violations bureau from the police department to municipal court.

They are scheduled to hold public hearings on four proposed street name changes and will receive four recommended zoning changes from the Planning Commission.

New 1959 DeSoto Models Will Be Shown Oct. 24

By DAVID J. WILKIE

DETROIT (AP) — The 1959 model De Soto line, with styling and engineering advances, will be introduced Oct. 24.

New styling gives the 1959 cars a lower and wider appearance. The cars have new two-section front bumpers with a long horizontal air scoop dividing lower and upper sections. Dual headlamps are set lower.

A new spear-like color sweep runs the length of the car's side. It is available optionally with a fluted anodized aluminum insert. Just beyond the rear wheels the sweep turns sharply upward to the top of the fins. Immediately below the fins are the three-tiered taillights, retained for 1959.

Offered with the line are the new swivel front seats that swing out at a 40 degree angle to facilitate ease of entry and exit.

The 1959 line will be produced in four series with 18 body styles. The Firesweep series will have a 290 horsepower engine; the Firedome 305; Fireflite 325 and the limited production Adventurer series 350. All have 10 to 1 compression ratios.

DeSoto reported that 13 accessories which were optional in 1958 models have been made standard on many models.

With the new 1959 models, De Soto Division has inaugurated production in new facilities at East Jefferson avenue, where improved production handling and the newest in manufacturing techniques are available to De Soto.

J. B. Wagstaff, general manager, De Soto Division, said that "in keeping with a generation of fine cars, the 1959 De Soto was designed as a car of performance and prestige. We feel that this De Soto can do everything a motorist can possibly ask of it.

"The 1959 De Soto is an excellent tribute to our 30 years as a manufacturer," he said, "but is only the beginning of a very promising future."

Williams Says He Feels Sorry for Adams

LANSING (AP) — Democratic Gov. Williams has issued this statement on the resignation of Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams:

"It is possible to feel genuinely sorry for Sherman Adams personally—especially since his resignation at this late date changes nothing.

"The administration was willing to keep him on as long as they thought they could get away with it. His retention in the White House damaged the prestige of the American President at home and before the whole world at a critical time when the office should have been beyond reproach.

"Now Adams is leaving—not because they see anything wrong in his conduct but because he has become a political liability. The spurious sign of 'holier than thouism' has been thoroughly expunged from the escutcheon of the great crusade."

Chrysler Gets Contract for Work on Jupiter

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has awarded contracts totaling $3,250,728 to Chrysler Corp. for work on Jupiter intermediate-range missiles at Chrysler's Warren, Mich., plant.

Rep. Robert J. McIntosh (R-Mich), who announced the awards, said the contracts would mean employment for 279 workers for a year.

U. N. to Vote on Red China

See General Assembly Again Refusing to Admit Peiping Into World Body

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UPI) — The General Assembly was expected to vote today on Communist China's claim to a U. N. seat, but once again it appeared that Peiping had shot itself out of a membership.

★ ★ ★

Gromyko injected the Formosa crisis into early debate and Lodge demanded in turn that Moscow use its influence to get the Chinese Reds to cease their "violent" and "murderous" attacks against the Quemoys.

"The Chinese Communists are rapidly shooting themselves — and the world — out of a chance to settle this question as it should be settled," Lodge said.

It appeared Lodge's charges against the Communists would result in a vote similar to last year when the Assembly voted 48 to 27 not to consider the seating of the Peiping regime.

4 County Bands Set to Appear at MSU Event

Four Oakland County high school bands will be represented at the fourth annual Band Day Saturday at Michigan State University.

High school musicians from Farmington, Ferndale, Rochester and Royal Oak Kimball will be among the 2,500 participating in the half-time ceremonies at the Michigan State-California football game.

Howard E. Akers, musical education director for a New York publishing firm, will lead the combined bands in a dedication of his new composition, "Michigan State March."

Ferndale Man Killed in Crash

John Chartier, 31, Dies, Inkster Driver Injured as Car Overturns

FERNDALE — A 31-year-old Ferndale man was fatally injured last night when the car in which he was riding went off the road and overturned in Dearborn Township.

John W. Chartier of 1641 Channing St. was killed instantly, Dearborn Township Police said.

Witnesses told police the car, driven by Alvin C. LaCroix, 30, of Inkster, was traveling at a high rate of speed and apparently went out of control.

'Social Service Center' to Be Topic of Speech

Major Ernest Alder of the Salvation Army Men's Social Service Center will speak on "The Purpose and Objectives of the Men's Social Service Center" when the Methodist Men of Central Methodist Church gather in the church for a dinner at 6 p.m. Tuesday.

Newly elected officers of the Methodist Men's group include Donald Tryon, president; Robert Bentley, membership chairman; Percy Shea, secretary; Robert Byrnes, treasurer; and Burton Wheeler, program chairman.

SHARON ANN FALK

Mr. and Mrs. William Falk Jr. of 1042 Lakeside Dr., Milford, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Ann, to Joseph C. Congressman to Speak at Republican Rally

LAKE ORION — A Republican rally will be held tomorrow from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. at Al Hanoute's auditorium on M-24.

Appearing at the meeting will be Congressman William S. Broomfield, State Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson of Waterford and Daniel T. Murphy Jr., Oakland County register of deeds.

Refreshments will be served, and the public is invited.

Pygmalion Scheduled by Players

WEST BLOOMFIELD TOWNSHIP—A dramatic reading of George Bernard Shaw's "Pygmalion" will be presented Thursday evening at the West Bloomfield Town Hall by the Township Players of West Bloomfield.

The September workshop project of the group, it will be performed in the auditorium of the hall, at 4460 Orchard Lake Rd., following a brief business meeting at 8:30.

Workshop productions are interim activities between public productions and ordinarily presented for members only, according to John Onken, membership director. A limited number of guests interested in joining the Players will be welcome at Thursday's performance, however.

The Players' fall production, their eighth since the group was formed in November, 1956, is now being prepared.

Set Pooch Party for Saturday at Oakland Park

A trained dog act will be an extra feature at the Department of Parks and Recreation's ninth annual Pooch Party, beginning at 1 p.m. Saturday at Oakland Park.

The dogs are being furnished by the Detroit Police Safety Squad, according to recreation supervisor Leonard T. Buzz, and their act emphasizes a safety message.

The rest of the program is for boys and girls from seven to 17 and their pet dogs, Buzz said.

Whether the pet is a thoroughbred or not makes no difference so far as the contests are concerned.

"Any entry that is 'just plain dog' will have as much consideration as a pedigreed pooch," Buzz said.

The only requirement: all dogs must have a collar and leash that is not more than six feet long.

Contestants will be divided by age into junior and senior divisions and there will be four contests in each division, Buzz said.

There will be trophies and ribbons for: (1) the best groomed dog; (2) the best trick dog; (3) the best informed dog owner; and (4) the best pet combination.

Entry blanks and information about the best-informed-owner quiz are available at local schools or the parks and recreation office at city hall.

The Pontiac Kennel Club has donated the prizes and will judge the contests, Buzz said. Registration for the contests will begin at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Given Award by WSU

DETROIT (AP) — Wayne State University's Distinguished Service Award was presented Monday to K. T. Keller, former chairman of Chrysler Corp. Keller is chairman of the Detroit Arts Commission and of the Committee on the (Detroit) Cultural Center.

Waterford Sets Date for Bids

Township to Decide Oct. 20 on Project to Improve Streets

At a brief Waterford Township board meeting last night, members set Monday, Oct. 20 as the date for opening sealed bids for blacktopping two streets in the township.

★ ★ ★

Approximately one mile on Lansdowne street from Hatchery to Williams Lake roads and one block on Camley street from Elizabeth Lake road to Edgefield street has been scheduled for blacktopping.

A special assessment district has been established with a bond covering a 10 year period for cost of the improvements, engineers Johnson and Anderson have submitted an estimate of $25,000 for these projects.

A request from the Waterford Township Junior Chamber of Commerce to hang two banners over main highways advertising their future Minstrel Show was approved by the board and the request will now be sent to the state highway department for approval.

Following adjournment of the township board meeting the board of health convened. (Township board members are also the board of health).

Action was approved to have the township engineers stake out 300 graves in the Crescent Hills Cemetery to be known as Babyland.

The lots will be located in the west section of the township-owned cemetery and will be priced at $35 each including grave services.

JOAN MILKA

The engagement of Joan Milka to Donald Keely has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert J. Milka of 4159 Foley Dr., Waterford. The prospective bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Keely of 15337 Lahser Rd., Detroit. The wedding has been set for Oct. 18.

Suggests McClellan Quit Senate

I Won't Resign, Says Hoffa

CHICAGO (AP) — James R. Hoffa says he won't resign his Teamsters president post and that Sen. John McClellan (D-Ark), who suggested it, should withdraw from the Senate.

Hoffa told newsmen yesterday that McClellan should give up his Senate seat because the legislator's home state is violating the law of the land in failing to integrate schools, and that McClellan himself "doesn't believe the U.S. Constitution applies to everyone."

Hoffa is in Chicago for a three-day meeting of his union's central conference. He is scheduled to address the opening session today.

Some 600 conference delegates representing 12 midwest states and central Canada are on hand to map new labor contract goals and new areas to be organized.

McClellan, chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee which for weeks has probed affairs of the Teamsters Union, called for Hoffa's resignation "for the good of the country and the labor movement."

Hoffa replied he has no intention of quitting and that he expects to be re-elected chief of the 1.6 million member union at its convention in February.

Area Newlyweds Reside in Ypsilanti, Go to College

The former Cheryll Louise Turnbull, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Turnbull of 24721 Cloverlawn St., Oak Park. Parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Lewis of 3746 Auburn Rd., Auburn Heights.

The bride chose a floor-length, white velvet gown with a chapel train. Seeds pearls trimmed the scoop neckline and waist-length sleeves. Her fingertip veil fell from a seed pearl crown, and she carried a bouquet of stephanotis and white roses, centered by a white orchid.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Rolf Ramelmeir of Ypsilanti. Bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Mary Anne, and her cousin, Barbara Clark.

William Lewis was his brother's best man, and ushers were another brother, Robert, Larry Bradford and Keith Barnhart, all of Pontiac, and Rolf Ramelmeir of Ypsilanti.

Club President, John Fetzer, Pledges Rebuilding of Detroit Fortunes

Questions Answered on Future of Tigers

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The man with the most control over the Detroit Baseball Co., is John E. Fetzer of Kalamazoo. As chairman of the board, Fetzer is the chief executive officer for the owners who purchased the club two years ago. The new owners have been keenly disappointed over the Detroit Tigers' showing and Fetzer has pledged himself to rebuilding Detroit baseball fortunes. In an interview recently Fetzer discussed the organization's problems and how the club hopes to cure them).

By DAVE DILES
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP)—There is no problem in Detroit Tiger baseball that a winning team would not solve.

Attendance has sagged and the Tigers, who have been without a pennant since 1945, are feeling critical stings from their fans. Booing this season has been greater than at any time since 1952, when the team finished in the American League basement for the only time in history.

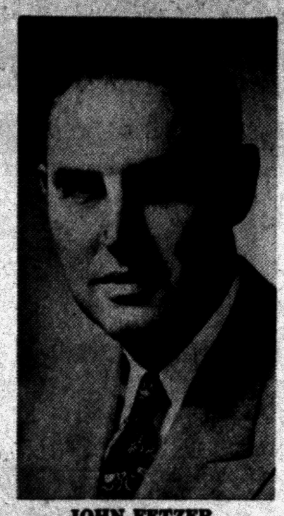

John E. Fetzer, chairman of the board of directors, admitted recently the Tigers—both in the front office and on the field—have oversold themselves on their talent.

In an interview, Fetzer said he does not believe overtaking the New York Yankees will be a simple or short task. It will call for building from the ground up within a team's own system—but he believes the Detroit Tigers can do it.

Question—What can you promise Detroit fans for 1959?

Fetzer—"The first thing I'll promise is a team that will battle nine innings every day. If work and sweat are rewarded, perhaps some of it will show in the final standings next year. We can't do in one season what the club has failed to do in the last 13."

JOHN FETZER

Question — How are you going to improve the ball club?

Fetzer—"You can't buy or trade for a pennant winner. We must develop players on our farm teams. Most of them were successful this year."

Fetzer — "It's better to win with old-timers than lose with players who are never going to make good. Our better players were in the lower classification and will move up this year."

Question — Does that mean the Tigers won't be a contender in the immediate future?

Fetzer—"Building a pennant winner is a long process. We believe we have made progress. We know you can't buy or trade for top flight players. You can get occasional help, that's all."

Question — In a year of wild bidding, more than six million dollars was spent on bonus players but the Tigers spent only $300,000 of that. What does that mean?

Fetzer—"We are against big bonus payments as a matter of policy. This bonus spending is grotesquely out of line. We are not going to get into that melee to that extent. A player with an outlandish price tag seldom helps a team. He's under too much pressure and so is the front office. It doesn't help the morale of a club to have a player who got $100,000 sitting around contributing nothing."

Question—What is the alternative to bonus payments?

Fetzer—"Signing as many good young players as you can and building from the bottom up, no matter how long it takes."

Question—What was the thinking behind first hiring Bill Norman and then signing him for next year, long before the usual time for rehiring a manager?

Fetzer—"Johnny McHale knew and liked Norman and his way of running a club. When we signed him, we could have announced then it was for 1959, too. Certainly he was entitled to a full year on his own and he was sure to return—even if the club finished seventh."

Question—How does the front office feel about general manager McHale?

Fetzer—"He has the complete confidence of everyone in our organization. He is in complete charge of all personnel including the hiring and firing of managers. All trades are under his jurisdiction.

"McHale is one of the most respected men in the game. Other baseball men consider him wise beyond his years, and on a par with any general manager in the business."

Question — The booing at Briggs Stadium has been the worst since 1952. Attendance has dropped despite the addition of seven night games. Is this cause for alarm?

Fetzer—"I can understand the booing. It's been a long wait. But I have confidence in the innate fairness of our fan—he has the capacity to see and understand what we are trying to do. We know our weaknesses."

Question—What are you trying to do?

Fetzer—"First of all, build a sound organization that will produce winning baseball teams. I'm board chairman or president of 10 corporations, and I can't see why baseball can't be run as orderly as any other business. Everyone will be judged on his merits. There will be no favoritism or buddyism—and no cliques. Incompetence won't be tolerated. As long as a man does his job, we'll keep it. When he fails, someone else will get a chance."

Question—Is the Detroit Baseball Co. on a sound financial basis?

Fetzer — "You would have to understand corporate structure and practices to know what we are doing, but let me say this: We are right up to the minute on our long-term planning. Every bill has been met and all payments on preferred stock have been made."

Question—Have any owners indicated a desire to get out?

Fetzer—"There always are feelers from people who thing they would like to run a baseball club. None of our directors has indicated a willingness to sell. If they wanted to sell, there are plenty of buyers among the other owners."

From the Press Box

The pros of the National Football League get down to serious business this weekend, and as much as we hate to admit it, the luck of the Detroit Lions may have run itself out.

The ball may be bouncing differently in 1958 compared to 1957.

Most everyone admits that the 1957 World Champions won the title, lacking personnel, but with sound, hard football, lots of desire and plenty of good breaks.

The Lions have the core of that team and are still the defending champions and the team everyone else will have to beat for the Western Division title, but as many of the other teams have improved, status quo has prevailed with Detroit.

In fact there might be some question now on whether the Lions may have given away too much, especially in sending Ray Krouse to Baltimore, a team which appears to have the manpower to take the crown this year.

Coach George Wilson has traded this year, but the trades have been designed to stock up on draft choices, thereby indicating that the Lions themselves are leery about the 1958 outcome and are actually setting their plans for the future.

Five teams owe Detroit 1959 draft choices, from recent trades, so you can be sure that Bob Nussbaumer, who rounds up the college talent, is already lining up the Lions' future stock.

BALTIMORE, CLEVELAND TITLE CHOICES

As we mentioned, we believe the Colts have the personnel to win the title this year, and the "Monsters of the Midway", namely the Chicago Bears, look like the top contenders.

Here is how we see the Western Division of the NFL race:

1. Baltimore Colts
2. Chicago Bears
3. Detroit Lions
4. San Francisco 49ers
5. Los Angeles Rams
6. Green Bay Packers

In the Eastern Division:

1. Cleveland Browns
2. Philadelphia Eagles
3. Washington Redskins
4. Pittsburgh Steelers
5. New York Giants
6. Chicago Cardinals

DITTOS FROM THE PRESS BOX

Both teams have a good stock of local products and the outstanding back on each squad, Walt Poe of Hillsdale and Walt Beach of Central, both hail from Pontiac.

Pete Dawkins, the former Cranbrook grid ace, is the 69th cadet to captain the football team at West Point. He is the president of the class of 1959 and he wears the gold stars symbolic of academic excellence. He was the All-America choice of Cranbrook football coach Fred Campbell the day he played his last varsity game for the Cranes.

The build up for honors on the Army team is going to Bob Anderson. Our vote goes to Dawkins.

How Good Are Chiefs? SVC Foes Will Decide

By BILL CORNWELL

Did Pontiac Central's 26-0 triumph over Waterford last Friday herald a successful football campaign for the Chiefs?

Or will the 1958 story have the same old ending—victories on the debit side of the ledger?

As might be expected, the Chiefs left many questions unanswered when they scored four touchdowns in the 2nd half to smother a Waterford team of still unknown ability.

After all, it was the 1st game of the season—for both schools—and it's virtually impossible to draw any accurate conclusions on a gridiron machine after just 48 minutes of performance.

A lot of questions will be answered during the next two weeks. Some of them should be answered this Friday night at Wisner Stadium when Jesse MacLeay's forces come to grips with a trouble-making Wyandotte team.

Ferndale, which looks vastly improved this fall, will offer a few more answers on Oct. 3 when PCH visits the Dales.

But the real important questions will go unsolved until the Chiefs open their Saginaw Valley Conference schedule on Oct. 10 at Saginaw Arthur Hill. Then there will be some rapid-fire answers.

Arthur Hill will be followed by Valley rivals Saginaw, Flint Northern, Bay City and Flint Central, with only non-league Melvindale on Oct. 31 providing a so-called "breather."

The Saginaw Valley—generally acknowledged as the toughest Class A athletic loop in Michigan—that's the acid test for the Chiefs.

Pontiac displayed good team speed against Waterford, a priceless asset to any football team, but the Chiefs have been swift in the past and their speed alone has seldom paid off in victory.

Their 371 rushing yards against the Skippers were the most generated by a PCH offense in quite a spell. Junior Frank Ellison made an impressive debut as a starting halfback and Harrison Munson had flashes of stardom at quarterback.

The Chiefs added versatility to their attack as Munson completed five out of six passes for 63 yards and two touchdowns. Their defense perked up in the 2nd half and they overcame 95 yards in penalties to conquer the Skippers.

It's been a long time since PCH has enjoyed a winning year. Because of the gridiron famine, not even the staunchest Pontiac fan is predicting a miracle. But with a little luck along the way, the Chiefs could top 500 per cent this year and that would be a decided turn for the better.

One thing is certain—Friday's 26-0 win at Waterford gets MacLeay off to a better start than last season when Wyandotte marred his debut as head coach with a 32-7 rout of the Chiefs. Jesse's boys hope to square accounts with the Dottes on Friday night.

Sceptre Does Cleaning Job

Cup Race Delayed a Day

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The America's Cup races, which have been almost motionless, came to a dead stop today.

Both yachts were given the day off after the British challenger, Sceptre, signalled she wanted a postponement to clean her bottom.

Racing won't resume until tomorrow when the Sceptre and her Yankee opponent, Columbia, try again over what has been so far a breathless stretch of the Atlantic Ocean.

Yesterday's race without a finish was a disappointment to both crews. The sleek 12-meter sloops, which can go upwards of 11 miles an hour, had five and a half hours to circle a 24-mile triangular course.

There was so little wind they didn't come close. Columbia, with a half-mile lead, was four miles from the finish line when the deadline gun sounded.

So instead of a victory for Columbia, the contest was called "no race" leaving the American defender with a triumph in the only completed race.

The race was a sea-going still life. For two hours the only motion was the gentle rocking of the sloops and the flap-flap of their huge sails as they slatted from side to side like bed sheets drying on the line.

Braves Lose Rookie Joey Jay for Series

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Rookie righthander Joey Jay is lost to the Milwaukee Braves for the World Series and manager Fred Haney must now decide between Bob Rush or Carl Willey for his third game starter.

Jay's ring finger on his left hand was operated on Monday night by Dr. Bruce Brewer to repair a double fracture which he suffered last week when hit by a batted ball at St. Louis.

The Braves immediately asked commissioner Ford Frick to put veteran relief pitcher Ernie Johnson, whom they sent to Wichita at mid-season, on the World Series squad. Johnson was effective in relief against the Yankees last year although he lost.

Bruin Tries Comeback

BOSTON (AP) — Winger Real Chevrefils, demoted to the minors for disciplinary reasons last season, is making a strong bid to regain a berth with the Boston Bruins for the 1958-59 National Hockey League champion.

Tigers Begin 'Decision' Series

First Division Spot Hinges on Split in Finale

Chisox Win Will End 2nd Place Hope; Martin Back on Third

Chicago (AP) — The Detroit Tigers' long quest for something better in '58 than they got in '57 starts getting its final answer tonight.

Question marks to the very end, the Tigers open a three-game series with the Chicago White Sox which will help to tell their finishing position in the American League.

The Tigers, not a good road team this season (31-40), have to get at least an even split in the six games left of the season in order to be sure of a first division finish.

Following the current three-game series with the White Sox comes another three-game set at Cleveland with the Cleveland Indians, and that will conclude the year.

Paul Foytack (13-13) is ticketed to pitch tonight for Detroit against Early Wynn (14-14).

As of today, the Tigers were tied for third place with Cleveland and the Boston Red Sox — each with a 74-74 record. Last year Detroit finished fourth with a 78-76 record.

For the season the Tigers have a slim edge on the second place White Sox, having won 10 of 19 games.

If the pitching goes as planned, the threesome of Foytack, Frank Lary and Jim Bunning will take care of all the remaining six games.

Lary and Bunning are to follow Foytack in Chicago in the order named and the three will go in the same rotation for the Cleveland series.

Chicago can officially eliminate Detroit from a second place finish with a victory tonight and the White Sox need only two decisions in their final six games to throw off Cleveland and Boston regardless of what the Red Sox and Indians do.

In an effort to gain Detroit's highest finish since 1950, Norman decided to put Billy Martin back on third base. Martin was benched in favor of Reno Bertoia but the Windsor infielder's unsteady fielding caused Norman to put Martin back on third.

Close Finishes Mark Watkins Lake Events

Two of the events in last Sunday's sailoff race at Watkins Lake were close affairs Jack Flack and Chuck Morris edged Guy and Nancy Duffield for the place in the snipe division. Bob and Don Newman were 3rd.

Glen Fries, Bruce Brede and Dave Green sailed a very tight race for the lightnings, with the boats finishing in that order. There was a time difference of only 1:10 between first and third boats.

Harm Gillen took, and held, a long lead in the thistle race. Don Zannoth was 2nd and Karl Kreitz 3rd.

SPORTS

Ashburn Regains NL Batting Lead

Phils Win 2, Set Record

By United Press International

That was quite a fanning bee in Philly, but no one could buzz the ball by Richie Ashburn, who regained the National League batting lead with a .343 figure.

A total of 38 strikeouts—which set two Major League records—were registered last night as the Phillies swept a twi-night twin-bill from the Pirates. The Phils won the 14-inning opener, 3-2, and the nightcap, 1-0.

Ashburn was one of the few players on both clubs who didn't strike out once. He collected two hits in six trips during the opener and went four-for-four in the finale to boost his average five points and move ahead of San Francisco's Willie Mays, who is second with .342.

Three Philadelphia pitchers — Seth Morehead, Dick Farrell and Jack Meyer—contributed to a record in the opener when they struck out 21 Pirate batters. That broke the previous record of 20 strikeouts set by St. Louis Browns' pitchers in a 15-inning game against the Washington Senators, July 25, 1913.

Ronnie Kline went the route for Pittsburgh and had five strikeouts himself. He gave up the winning run in the 14th on singles by Bobby Young, Ed Bouchee and Dave Philley.

In the nightcap, Jack Sanford of the Phillies struck out 10 pitching a seven-hitter and notching his 10th victory.

Bennie Daniels, the loser, struck out two and gave up the only run of the game in the seventh inning. Ashburn bunted safely, then stole his 29th base and came around on Ted Kazanski's single off second baseman Bill Mazeroski's glove.

It marked the fourth straight game in which the senators were blanked by the identical 2-0 score. That tied them for the Major League record and they can set a new one if they are white-washed again tonight.

Bob Nieman produced both of Baltimore's runs with a Texas League double off loser Russ Kemmerer in the third inning.

Clawson Jayvees Routed

Eight different players scored touchdowns Monday night as Center Line's junior varsity football team handed the Clawson jayvees a 51-0 drubbing at Center Line. Ray Steffen, Larry Coates, Ed Anderson, Tom Potyok, Dick Ryan, Rudy Evans, Clyde Barnhart and Pat Zaremba each scored one TD for the winners.

BETTER BE GOOD — Bloomfield Hills will be among the last area grid teams to swing into action when the Barons play at Brighton Friday night. He also will be doing the kicking—left-footed that is.

Schmidt Wins Lion MVP Award Again

Wilson Hoping to Obtain Ends Cut by Rivals

Two Rookie Linemen May Be Dropped Today by Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — All-pro linebacker Joe Schmidt has been named the Detroit Lions' most valuable player for the second straight year.

Selection of the former Pitt great was announced last night at the annual directors' party for Lion coaches, players and their wives.

The big prize — a new automobile — went to another linebacker, Roger Zatkoff. For the 2nd straight year, a member of the defensive platoon won the draw for the new car.

In his annual speech, President Edwin J. Anderson put the team and the coaches squarely on the spot. He compared the Lions of 1958 to the Milwaukee Braves, who just clinched the National League pennant for the second season in a row.

"The Braves had injuries, too," said Anderson. "One of their best pitchers, Bob Buhl, was out of action several months with an injury —and they had other injuries, too. But they won. And the Lions can win, too."

But at another time, Anderson said, "it goes without saying that Los Angeles, Chicago Bears, Baltimore and San Francisco have better personnel than the Lions."

He said the Lions can repeat as National Football League champions if they exhibit the same spirit as last year.

Coach George Wilson brushed aside the pre-season schedule in which his team won only two of six games.

"Now we're playing for keeps," he said, "we wanted to take a good look at the rookies, and that's all over now. Every rookie who comes up with the Lions will get a fair chance."

Speaking directly to the players, the coach said:

"Right now, we don't have that desire that we had last season. I hope we get it, we'll be tougher as we go along. If you fellows want to go all out, I think we can do it."

Wilson, an anxious eye out to see if the other 11 clubs will release any ends today, had the problem of making two cuts himself.

★ ★ ★

One thing was certain—Wilson won't be parting company with any flankers. He has been trying to cook up a deal to alleviate the lack of receivers.

Only three able-bodied ends are on the roster—Jim Doran, Dave Middleton and rookie Tom Rychlec. Jerry Reichow and Steve Junker have knee injuries.

The Lions are down to nine rookies and 28 veterans. Unless a deal is made, it's expected that two rookie linemen will be put on waivers today.

On the happier side of the Lion office—in "coach" Maurie Shubot's ticket department — single game sales hummed yesterday as a constant stream of fans made purchases. Shubot said he wouldn't have the exact figure of season tickets sold until later but it's more than 42,000.

Pittsburgh, Green Bay, the Eagles and Browns all announced personnel moves yesterday. The Steelers obtained rookie halfback Dick Christy from Green Bay to help boost its backfield weakened by the loss of Birmingham boy Tom Tracy for several weeks. The former Lion spent the weekend in a California hospital after suffering a sprained neck in Sunday's exhibition.

The Eagles signed speedy ex-Michigan State halfback Billy Wells and released four rookies. Three-year veteran Hal Bradley, a guard, and two rookies were dropped by the Browns.

Spartans Stressing Defense for California

'M' Expects Busy Saturday

Michigan's coaching staff was dumbfounded by Southern California's easy 21-0 upset last weekend of Oregon State. The Trojans were beaten nine times in ten 1957 starts, one a 16-6 whipping by Michigan.

Two sets of fast backs complement the Trojan line. Their t-formation is quarterbacked by Willie Wood, an accurate passer at long distances. Bob Arnett, Rex Johnston and Clark Holden round out the backfield.

The Wolverines were at full strength yesterday except for center Dick Syring. The former Bay City All-Stater remained inside to treat his bruised hip. Veteran fullback Gene Sisinyak was tried at center to bolster Michigan's thinnest position.

East Lansing, Mich. — The Michigan State Spartans opened their week before the season football opener yesterday with a light workout but a heavy few days of drills was in prospect.

Coach Duffy Daugherty said he would run all the known California offenses against all of his defenses this week. The California plays came from MSU line coach Bert Smith who scouted the California 24-20 loss to College of the Pacific Saturday.

Duffy said he had cut out wind sprints for his varsity gridders, apparently because the squad was in top physical condition.

On the subject of his two near-even fullbacks — Bob Bercich and Don Arend — Daugherty said he hadn't decided which would be tabbed as first string.

Chamberlain 'Greatest' Trotter Coach Asserts

Chamberlain has been with Saperstein's Harlem Globetrotter squad since the middle of summer. He quit Kansas and signed a $65,000 one year contract which expires in April.

Chamberlain was introduced to Chicago news, radio and TV men by Saperstein, who said:

"When people see him with a team behind him who can play with him, they will say this is the greatest baskeball player who ever pulled on a shoe."

"If I were a coach and had to defense against a player like myself I would use a man 6-4 or 6-3 —a comparatively short man who was strong and fast—a fellow who could run the big boy down.

"When I left high school I had 200 offers from colleges. I boiled them down to Kansas, with Indiana second choice. After my sophomore year I got thinking about turning pro. I was dejected with the type of ball Kansas played—hide-and-seek kind.

"College players reflect what their coaches teach. With the pros there is more chance for individual flexibility. The first difference I've noticed is that the pros stress defense less than in college.

"The roughest time given me in college was by Johnny Crawford of Iowa State. He was like glue. Right now, I think Oscar Robertson (Cincinnati) is the greatest college player. He is a tremendous scorer.

"In college ball, I've found that they shoot better in the East, they defense better in the West, and they play better fundamental basketball in the Midwest."

Injury May End 'Man's' Racing

By The Associated Press

Trainer Johnny Nerud shook his head sadly.

Now he may never run again. Even if he does, whatever chance he had of gaining Horse of the Year honors have evaporated. Yesterday, Nerud discovered he had popped a splint on the inside of his left front leg.

"Possibly he could come back in time for the big ones next winter. Or he could be sent to stud."

At any rate, Gallant Man is out of the $100,000-added Woodward Stakes at Belmont Park Saturday and that was a blow to Nerud. This was to be the big showdown between Gallant Man and Round Table. The last time they hooked up in the Sysonby, Round Table won.

Only Standing Room Left for Series Fans

MILWAUKEE (AP)—World Series fans can still apply for standing room in Milwaukee's County Stadium and bleacher seats and standing room in Yankee Stadium in New York.

Everything else has been sold out, according to officials of both the Milwaukee Braves and the New York Yankees.

Yardley Signed for '58-'59 Year

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Pistons have signed ace forward George Yardley, the National Basketball Assn.'s scoring champion, to a contract for the coming season.

Detroit General Manager Nick Kerbawy said Monday Yardley came to terms at his Santa Ana, Calif., home. He is expected to join the team at its West Branch, Mich., training site Saturday.

May Add More 'Closed' Tilts

LANSING (UPI) — Two other Big Ten games may be carried by closed circuit television in Michigan if the telecast of the Oct. 4 Michigan State-Michigan game is successful, promoters of the MSU-U of M telecast said today.

They also said there was a "possibility" the Oct. 4 game may be carried into the Kalamazoo-Battle Creek area. Plans already have been announced for televising the sellout contest in Detroit, Wyandotte, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Flint, Saginaw and Toledo.

The officials said the Oct. 18 Purdue-Michigan State game and the Nov. 22 Michigan-Ohio State contest might be carried if the Oct. 4 project is successful.

One of the officials, C.W. (Larry) Smith, Detroit, said he would consider the project "highly successful" if 30,000 fans paid to see the closed-circuit showing. The seating capacity of theaters committed to the project so far is 43,000.

Stoneham Trial Over to Nov. 17

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The manslaughter trial of Charles Horace (Pete) Stoneham, 30, was postponed Monday until Nov. 17.

The son of Horace Stoneham, owner of the San Francisco Giants, had been scheduled to go on trial on charges arising from the traffic death of Mrs. Jennie Leach, 55, of Victoria, B.C.

Mrs. Leach was killed last February in Phoenix when a car in which she was riding collided with an auto driven by Stoneham.

Barons, Eaglets Will Open on Road

County Teams Prep for 2nd Week

By CHUCK ABAIR

With opening night jitters out of the way and many of the usual first-game mistakes corrected, the majority of Oakland County's prep grid teams go into their 2nd tests of the new season Friday.

Such area battles as Birmingham-Royal Oak Dondero, Rochester-Farmington and Waterford-Lapeer will be among the featured contests while league play gets under way, full force in the Wayne-Oakland and Southern Thumb loops and partially in the Oakland B and South Central Conference.

On Sunday, Suburban Catholic League play begins with St. Frederick the only local team at home. The Rams will host St. Clement. St. Michael will travel to Ferndale St. James and Orchard Lake St. Mary goes to Royal Oak St. Mary.

Waterford survived its defeat by Pontiac in good physical condition and hopes to take its wrath out on the speedy Lapeer contingent which won Friday impressively.

Birmingham and Dondero are both hurting. The Maples lost the services of center Leigh Stowell, the biggest player at 212, for Friday due to a sprained knee suffered in the win over Cranbrook. Back Phil Russell missed the opener and is still on the doubtful list. Star passer Mike OMalev is out of action for Dondero with a concussion. Birmingham coach Carl Lemle is making changes this week to strengthen his defense.

The same is true of Gene Konley at Rochester. He may move Roy Book and offensive end Gene Lothery into the defensive unit at Farmington. Big Falcon line ace Gary Meissner is hobbling on an injured knee. Farmington will go with the same lineup that produced an impressive first win.

Gene Wright at St. Frederick is planning no lineup changes at St. Frederick despite that Sunday blanking while it is just the opposite at St. Michael. Several shifts are expected in the Shamrock starting unit.

The only strong favorite on the W-O slate will be West Bloomfield playing at Clarenceville. Defending champion Northville is picked over top contender Holly but the Broncos are anxious to make up for that close loss to Grand Blanc. Coach Al Gratsch is stressing more speed in his line. Clarkston at Milford and Bloomfield Hills at Brighton are rated even.

Lake Orion begins defense of the Oakland B crown in top shape at home against Madison which has lost defensive back Ray Pineau for four weeks due to cracked ribs. Clawson is at Fitzgerald in the other loop tilt while Avondale takes on Romeo of the Tri-County at home. The Yellowjackets started strong and may have Gary Acker back.

Dave Smith at Walled Lake takes his Vikings to Howell for a final tuneup before Inter-Lakes games begin. Cranbrook may have four new starters playing at Lake Forest (Chicago). Halfback Dave Fry and linemen John Reynolds, Don Johnson and Kim Morris were not eligible earlier.

Strikes and Spares

By Joe Wilman

Today's drawing shows the path a ball will follow for a short hook bowler. Note how the ball will roll in almost a straight line down the alley until it nears the pins. Then, the hooking action or "stuff" applied when the ball was released takes over and turns the ball into the pocket.

Early in the season, however, many bowlers will find that their ball doesn't hook as much as it normally does. There are two logical reasons for this.

First, most bowling alleys have been resurfaced during the summer months. They have been sanded and had new coatings put on them. So, they'll be a bit "stiff" or "slick" until they've been bowled on for several weeks. You'll probably hear other hook ball bowlers complain the same as you.

Second, a bowler who hasn't bowled steadily during the summer months doesn't get as much hooking action on his ball until his fingers and wrist are strengthened, and until he can apply more finger lift and/or wrist turn to the ball as he releases it.

So, if your ball doesn't hook as much as normal early in the year, don't worry too much about it. Make the adjustment necessary and figure on less break for a few weeks.

To Make Public Tax Exemptions

Internal Revenue Will Open Files Under New Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service said today it will open its files Nov. 3 to disclose all approved applications for income tax exemptions granted nonprofit educational, charitable and religious organizations.

The action will be taken under a new law which permits the service to make public the applications together with its reasons for granting the exemption.

A revenue service spokesman said both the agency and the Treasury Department favored the change. He said the agency often has been asked by Congress members and others for an explanation of its actions on exemption applications, but has been barred by law from giving one.

There has been debate in Congress over tax exemptions granted a number of organizations including the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the Fund for the Republic.

All approved applications will be available for public inspection, together with any papers submitted in support of them. Provision is made for withholding supporting documents which might disclose defense or trade secrets or other information that would adversely affect the organization.

Soviet Paper Raps Rejection of Note

LONDON (AP) — The Soviet government newspaper Izvestia charged today President Eisenhower's rejection of Premier Khrushchev's latest Far East message was "proof of the unwillingness of American ruling circles to listen to the voice of wisdom."

★ ★ ★

Izvestia repeated Soviet claims the U.S. action was a "violation of generally accepted diplomatic regulations" and was "conducive to deterioration in the international situation."

★ ★ ★

The 13-page note demanded U.S. forces get out of Formosa and Formosa Strait.

Millions of Asians Give Up All for Freedom

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — It has been revealed in Washington that Americans today own more television sets than bathtubs.

The score, officially, is 42,400,000 instruments for watching—41,500,000 for washing.

This doesn't indicate, necessarily, that our hygienic standards are dropping, or that Perry Como has displaced the Saturday night soaping. It does indicate, however, that philosopher Sam Levenson had something when he told us:

"We have raised the richest and most bored generation that ever lived.

"I think it's because the adults of today represent my gang—the depression babies," Sam went on. "They want 'things' for their kids. They say, 'My kid's gonna have everything I didn't have, even if he doesn't want it.'

"We've reached a height of wonderful confusion. We're a real no-standards civilization. What do we want out of life? We don't know, so we figure it must be money."

This, Sam says, is what's responsible for the decline of the family. Everybody feels entitled to "things." Among the things is a concrete sort of happiness.

"In the days of our mothers and fathers, people were simple. They settled for less out of life. They didn't have psychologists saying, 'You must find your individual happiness.'

"When things went bad, my mother said, 'My mother told me there'd be days like this'—and her mother HAD, too.

In those days, people had the notion that hard work, honesty and integrity were the way to success. It gave them a standard of living.

"Today, in our no-standards civilization, anybody can read the papers and see you don't make money that way," Sam says. "Today you gotta have what we call a 'breark.'

"The 'break' is everything. Make a hit record and you're wealthy overnight. You don't have to work hard and take lessons and be smart. So that's what's happening to the kids of today; they're sitting around waiting for the 'breaks' which will make a million dollars.

"The car is a symbol of success, like the television set. So a kid says, 'If I'm gonna be a failure without a car, I'd better steal a car.' Then he feels like a big success until they catch him."

"Love is the greatest antibiotic in the business." But almost everybody's lost the prescription for it.

Started as Lumberjack

Adams Came Long Way to the Top

By United Press International

Sherman Adams, of proud but modest New England heritage, is a self-made man in the American tradition. On his ability he worked his way from lumberjack to business success, to Congress, to the governorship of his state, and to the powerful role of Assistant to the President.

By reputation and in his effect on people, Adams is known as granite hard and blunt-talking in his official dealings, stiffly reserved in demeanor; professionally he is a coldly efficient, driving worker.

Adams was born in East Dover, Vt., on Jan. 8, 1899, the son of a grocer and member of the same Adams family that produced two early American presidents: John and John Quincy Adams.

At the age of 14, his family moved to Providence, R.I., where his father still lives. Adams interrupted his education at Dartmouth College to enlist in the Marines during World War I. He returned to Dartmouth after the war, earned his degree and, with his wife Rachel, moved to New Hampshire to take a job in the lumber industry, where—despite his slight size—he's now a compact 143 pounds—he did a hitch swinging an ax.

Adams worked his way to the post of manager of the Park Young Co., a relatively small lumber firm, which led to interests in New Hampshire's railroading and banking operations.

Despite his activities, associates of that period in his career have said he probably never earned more than $10,000 a year before he entered politics, which he did in 1940 on the advice of his lumbermen employers.

He was named speaker of the New Hampshire House of Representatives shortly after his election to it the next year. He served in the State Legislature for two terms and, in 1944, was elected to the United States House of Representatives.

Adams served one term in Congress, returning to New Hampshire to become a goodwill ambassador for the American Pulp and Paper Assn. He spent two years talking up the advantages of wood and in 1946, by now an accomplished speaker and mixer, tried for governor of the state. He was defeated in the primary, but tried again in 1948 and won election.

Being governor of New Hampshire meant taking a salary cut. Adams received $6,000 a year during his first term. The salary was raised to $10,000 during his next two-year term.

State records show he drew $32,100 in salary and an additional $30,000 for expenses during his four years in the state House at Concord.

While governor, Adams concentrated on economy, for himself as well as the state. He went so far as to carry his lunch to work with him. He and his wife—they have four children—rarely gave or attended parties. When Adams took time out for golf, he visited a semi-public course instead of Concord's exclusive Concord Country Club.

No one can accuse Adams of hopping on the Eisenhower bandwagon. He practically had to build it and start it rolling. The building began in the summer of 1951, while Adams was attending a governors' conference in Tennessee. At the time, political speculation centered around Gen. Eisenhower's political plans, if any.

Adams, never much of a straddler, boldly announced he would enter Eisenhower's name in the New Hampshire primary of March 1952. The primary results, of course, started the Eisenhower bandwagon rolling as the general, then in Paris heading NATO, swamped Sen. Robert A. Taft.

Later that year, shortly before the GOP convention, Eisenhower and Adams met for the first time. Obviously, they hit it off. Candidate Eisenhower named Adams his floor manager for the convention battle against Taft. When the Eisenhower-Adams team won that victory, Adams was named personal campaign manager to Eisenhower.

And when the voters put Eisenhower in the White House, Adams went with him as Assistant to the President, a post created by President Truman in 1946.

The White House job, which paid Adams $22,500 a year plus $12 a day travel expenses, enabled him to handle patronage, policy, political strategy, sit in at cabinet meetings, meet with congressional leaders and the National Security Council.

Because of the dedication Adams brought to his White House job, and the wide range of responsibilities Ike laid in his lap, his official title was shortened unofficially by Washington politicos to "assistant president."

Hollywood Headlines

Alan Marshal's Returning to Films After Fadeout

By BOB THOMAS
Ap Motion Picture Writer

Fifteen years ago, he was riding the crest of popularity. A handsome leading man in films like "Lydia" and "Tom, Dick and Harry," he seemed to have everything he needed—success in his profession, fame, etc.

He played opposite Irene Dunne in the immensely popular "White Cliffs of Dover," followed it with a comedy, "Bride by Mistake," with Laraine Day. Then he disappeared from sight.

Fourteen years later, he is making another movie, "The House on Haunted Hill." What happened in between?

He gave some explanation during a lunch break as he was finishing the movie at Allied Artists. The suave mustache was gone, but he seemed as deucedly handsome as when he was playing opposite the screen's loveliest ladies.

"I underwent a kind of mental turmoil," he explained. "There was a long period when I didn't appear to be able to make up my mind. Producers would send me scripts and I'd read them. But I couldn't tell them whether I would or would not do the pictures. Gradually they stopped sending me scripts."

He didn't elaborate on the nature of his turmoil, but said with an English reserve that he didn't think the public would be interested. He did say that he did not consult a psychiatrist, but felt he could cure his problem by himself. After a number of years, he felt that he had made the cure.

★ ★ ★

"But then it was too late," he remarked. "The picture business had passed me by. The producers seemed to have forgotten me."

Unable to find work in films, he went East and got a few roles in TV dramas. He toured briefly in a play, then returned to Hollywood. Still, his luck was bad.

In recent months, his career has brightened. He made a good impression in a Perry Mason film, then did a G.E. Theater and a couple of Western TV segments. "The House on Haunted Hill" developed and there are other roles in the offing for him.

Dinah's Daughter to Star

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Melissa Ann Montgomery, 10-year-old daughter of George and Dinah Shore Montgomery, will appear with her mother in an episode of the Danny Thomas television show. Both Melissa and Dinah will play themselves. And she has another job. "Just playing myself on my mother's program," Melissa explained. "We're type-cast."

But It May Be Long Time Coming

Able to Cut Smog of Car Fumes

DETROIT (UPI) — Smog-causing automotive exhaust fumes can be controlled but it may be a long time before the gadgets needed to do the job appear on the standard production automobile.

The first break through the smog barrier was a device to control exhaust fumes of the small vehicles used in factories and warehouses.

Those who are working on the problem say it is much easier to remove the hydrocarbons from unleaded gasoline than it is to remove them from the fumes of gasoline needed in the high-compression engines of today's cars.

For a time, it was believed impossible to remove hydrocarbons used a catalyst to remove from exhaust fumes all the hydrocarbons which are believed to cause smog.

One of the groups working on the problem reported last year from the fumes of leaded gasoline through a catalytic process.

But researchers have proven that false.

They have developed a complete package device which effectively on development of a catalyst material which appeared to perform well in the presence of leaded gasoline. Work was continued at a rapid pace on the practical application problems involved in using this catalyst with modern production automobiles.

A new report will be made on this catalyst early next year and it was understood the report would be encouraging.

One of the major problems is that no one knows for sure whether the public would buy a device to control exhaust fumes if one were marketed. But, on the assumption that it could be marketed, the auto industry, through a committee set up by the Automobile Manufacturers Assn. has been studying the problem since 1952.

Several devices have been tested and various techniques explored. The latest device developed could be installed in a standard car. But before the product is marketed, the auto industry would like to see its cost reduced (although industry spokesmen were unwilling to pin any exact cost on the latest device it would probably be in the neighborhood of $75), the life of the catalyst increased, a greater amount of hydrocarbons removed with a smaller amount of catalyst, and reduction of the time needed to activated the catalyst after starting the car.

On top of all these problems there is a possibility the catalyst might emit obnoxious odors under certain conditions.

Before the device is marketed all these problems will have to be solved. And that may take quite a while yet.

Aunt Says Escapee Visited Her Farm

UNIONVILLE, (m) — A frightened woman told officers that her jail-breaking nephew prowled her farm for more than an hour before daylight today, then escaped into the nearby woods.

Mrs. Margaret Hartman, who lives on a farm five miles southeast of this Tuscola County Community, notified Deputy Sheriff Frank Kroswek at 8 a.m. that William F. Hartman had been at the farm during the night.

Hartman, who is considered dangerous, broke out of the Bay County Jail at Bay City a week ago yesterday. He was being held on an armed robbery charge.

Mrs. Hartman said she was too scared to notify officers while her nephew was near her house. She said he took dry clothing and food but did not otherwise bother her.

Charles B. Hartman, a cousin of the wanted man, told oficers his family heard noises in the basement of their farm home during the night and their dog barked. But a search of the house showed no trace of William Hartman.

3 Rebels Killed in Paris Battle

French Soldiers Find Mass Grave of 500 Insurgents in Algeria

PARIS (AP) — Submachine guns chattered in a vacant lot early today in the Aubervilliers section of Paris near the municipal slaughterhouse.

Ten minutes later the three terrorists were dead.

At Metz in eastern France about the same time, an Algerian fired three bullets at a French noncommissioned army officer.

Across the Mediterranean in war-weary Algeria, authorities said French soldiers came across the mass grave of between 400 and 500 Algerian nationalist rebels.

An official announcement last night said notes found with the bodies proved they were slain by their former comrades in arms for threatening to abandon the four-year-old rebellion. They all belonged to a rebel unit led by a Col. Amirouche, the Fernch said.

A turncoat rebel doctor led French troops to the scene in a deep ravine of the Kabilyie Mountains, about 100 miles east of Algiers, the announcement said. Some 4,000 rebel troops in the area withdrew when army troops approached, it added.

French soldiers said the throats of most of the slain had been cut and some were shot after torture, mostly within the past week.

In Algeria, the rebels are trying to warn the people away from the polls, which will be open there Friday through Sunday. In France, where all voting will be Sunday, the rebels are trying to raise an outcry that would force the government to negotiate.

Grain Futures Ease Slightly

CHICAGO (AP) — The grain futures market eased slightly in slow early dealings today on the board of trade.

All prices were within minor fractions of previous closes except rye which slipped as much as a cent a bushel on liberal liquidation.

Wheat was unchanged to ⅝ cent a bushel lower near the end of the first hour, December $1.91⅝; corn ⅛ to ½ lower, December old type contract $1.14¾; oats ⅛ to ⅜ lower, December 63⅛; rye ¼ to ⅝ lower, December $1.31¾; soybeans unchanged to ⅜ higher, November $2.19⅞.

★ ★ ★

Some rather heavy hedge selling is expected in the market although processors are understood to have purchased sufficient supplies at gathering stations to maintain crushing operations well into October.

$42,000 Settlement Granted Worker

A settlement of $42,000, believed to be one of the highest in Oakland County Circuit Court history, has been granted a 32-year-old Detroit Edison Co. worker who lost a leg in a 1955 accident.

★ ★ ★

Circuit Judge William J. Beer signed the settlement order against Everett M. Clayton, of Orlando, Fla., for failure to appear in the law suit filed against him last November.

Recipient of the settlement is Royce J. King, of 424 Burgess St., Milford. King, while working on a job for Edison on Auburn road east of the viaduct in February of 1955, was struck by a car driven by Clayton.

Pull Coach Wilson Off Television Show

DETROIT (AP) — Coach George Wilson of the Detroit Lions had his own football television show lined up. It was to have begun at 6:45 o'clock last night. But Wilson never got on the air. The Lions forced him to cancel out.

President Edwin J. Anderson of the Lions said today Wilson was asked to cancel out because "A sponsor thought it would preempt the Wednesday night show" which is handled by Van Patrick, regular play-by-play announcer for the Lions.

Assistant coaches Aldo Forte and Buster Ramsey handled Wilson's show in his absence last night. It was on WJBK-TV (Channel 2), which also carries Van Patrick's Wednesday night "Lions Quarterback Club."

Anderson declined to name the protesting sponsor, who, The Detroit Times said, knocked Wilson off his program only two hours before it was to go on.

Prices Slip Off on Active Mart

Pivotal issues were off fractionally for the most part. There was a scattering of gainers.

The opening was brisk and the ticker tape fell behind the pace of transactions for three minutes.

Motors were especially active and all were at a bit on the downside, except Studebaker Packard which rose ⅛ to 9⅛ on a big opening block of 15,000 shares. The firm has begun recalling workers for production of 1959 models to be introduced around mid-November.

Du Pont, Baltimore & Ohio and International Paper were down about a point apiece. Fractional losses were shown by such stocks as U.S. Steel, New York Central, Union Carbide, Standard Oil of Indiana, Loew's, Boeing, Goodyear and Raytheon.

Notice is hereby given that in conformity with the "Michigan Election Law," I, the undersigned Clerk, will, upon any day, except Sunday and a legal holiday, the day of any regular or special election or primary election, receive for registration the name of any legal voter in said Township, City or Village not already registered who may apply to me personally for such registration. Provided, however, that I can receive no names for registration during the time intervening between the Thirtieth day before any regular, special or official primary election and the day of such election.

Notice is hereby given that I will be at my office Monday, October 6, 1958, last day, the thirtieth day preceding said election as provided by Section 498, Act No. 116, Public Acts of 1954, from 8 o'clock a.m. until 8 o'clock p.m. on said day for the purpose of reviewing the registration and registering such of the qualified electors in said Township, City or Village as shall properly apply therefor.

The name of no person but an actual resident of the precinct at the time of registration, and entitled under the Constitution, if remaining such resident, to vote at the next election, shall be entered in the registration book.

Sec. 504. Any elector who is unable to make personal application for registration because of physical disability or absence from the Township, City or Village in which his legal residence is located, may be registered prior to the close of registration before any election or primary election by securing from the Clerk of the Township, City or Village in which is located his legal residence, duplicate registration cards and executing in duplicate the registration affidavit before a notary public or other officer legally authorized to administer oaths and returning such registration cards to the Clerk of the Township, City or Village before the close of office hours on the last day of registration prior to any election or primary election. The notary public or other officer administering the oath shall sign his name on the line for the signature of the registration officer and designate his title.

Unregistered persons not entitled to vote.

Sec. 491. The inspectors of election at any election or primary election in this State, or in any District, County, Township, City or Village thereof, shall not receive the vote of any person whose name is not registered in the registration book of the Township, Ward or Precinct in which he offers to vote. (As provided under Act 116, P.A. 1954.)

Sec. 506. Any registered elector may upon change of residence within the Township, City or Village cause his registration to be transferred to his new address by sending to the Clerk a signed request, stating his present address, the date he moved thereto, and the address from which he was last registered, or by applying in person for a transfer. The Clerk shall strike through the last address, ward and precinct number and record the new address, ward and precinct number on the original and duplicate registration cards, and shall place the original registration card in proper precinct file. Such transfers shall not be made within the (30) days next preceding any election or primary election, (unless such 30th day shall fall on a Saturday, Sunday, or legal holiday in which event registration shall be accepted during the next full working day), provided that no such transfer shall permit any person to vote in any Township, City or Village in which he had not resided (30) days next preceding any election or primary election.

Transfer of registration on election day

Sec. 507. Any registered elector who has removed from one election precinct of a Township, City or Village to another election precinct of the same Township, City or Village shall have the right to make application to have his registration transferred on any election or primary election day by executing a request over his or her signature for such transfer and presenting the same to the election board in the precinct in which he is registered. Upon receiving such request the inspector of election in charge of the registration records shall compare the signature thereon with the signature upon the applicant's registration record and if the signatures correspond then the inspector shall certify such fact upon said request and the applicant for transfer shall then be permitted to vote in such precinct for that election only. The application for transfer shall be filed with the Township, City or Village Clerk who shall transfer such voter's registration in accordance with the application. When the name of any street in a Township, City or Village has been changed, it shall be the duty of the Township, City or Village Clerk to make the change to show the proper name of street in the registration records, and it shall not be necessary for the elector to change his registration with respect thereto in order to be eligible to vote.
MARJORIE B. WILLSON,
City Clerk
Sept. 23, '58.

Gets License Back, Placed on Probation

The driver's license of Kenneth Hinton of 3158 Winterberry St., Orchard Lake, has been returned to the owner and he has been placed on "good driving probation until March 1, 1959," according to the Michigan Secretary of State's office.

Alfred H. Daughtery Sr. of White Lake Township has been ordered by the Michigan Secretary of State's Office to furnish financial responsibility for drunk driving.

Last week, due to errors of the Michigan Secretary of State's office, the Press printed that Hinton's license and Alfred H. Daughterty's of Waterford Township, who is Daughterty's son, had been taken away.

Real Trouper Clicking Good

"No question about it," the razor-witted Schultzy of Bob Cummings' Tuesday night NBC show says flatly and without apology, "it's show biz for me.

"I don't knock the homemaking bit. It's fine for those who want it, but this is the only thing I've really wanted, and I love it. Anyway, I have a twin sister in Massachusetts who's already three kids up on me, and I've given up hope of catching up with her."

Up to the point where Cummings stepped into her nomadic theatrical life, Ann's largest paycheck was $50 a week, and she got that while working in a department store.

As an actress in tent shows, barn theaters and little known night clubs, she generally worked for figures more in the neighborhood of $35 a week, or nothing at all but room and board.

"Once I came clear across the country to work for room and board," she recalls without the slightest twinge of regret. "And do you know what the board was? It was $25 a month! I used to go out and buy $25 worth of canned goods, and that was it.

"But I was just as happy then as I am now, and I'm a pretty happy kid. I've done everything in the theater from cleaning the powder room to publicity, and I never felt I was abused.

"I grew up thinking the most exciting thing in the world was to go to a theater and watch a rehearsal. My family wasn't really a theatrical one, either. My father did some theatricals in college, though, and my mother was always very active in amateur theatricals. My brother, of course, always wanted to be a singer and dancer."

When Annie delved into higher learning at the University of Michigan, she was temporarily sidetracked by the vision of a medical career. But the perplexing problems of chemistry soon put an end to that.

To Ann, her present bulging bankroll, spreading fame and the golden Emmy on her mantelpiece are only nice pluses in a career she wouldn't surrender regardless of whether it prospered.

"I never really thought about fame," she says with obvious honesty. "I never thought about seeing my name in lights or any of that stuff. All I ever wanted was to keep working as an actress.

★ ★ ★

"I was nominated for Emmys three times, and I always thought before that it was pretty good to be among the exclusive company of losers. But I'll have to admit that it's better to win. The day after the awards I was so nervous I couldn't even read my lines wrong the same way twice."

Care of the Aged Called Big Problem

DES MOINES (AP) — Dr. Joseph G. Molner, Detroit health commissioner, said one of the most important problems facing the medical profession is the care of the aged.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Molner spoke to the 10th annual meeting here yesterday of the Iowa chapter of the American Academy of General Practice.

He said there are 15 million persons in the United States 65 years of age and over—or one out of every 12 persons.

The increase in the number of aged, he said, is expected to reach 21 million by 1975 and is attributed to improvements in medical care, public health services and standards of living.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Molner suggested that the older people be provided with rehabilitation services and "creative and recreational pursuits to prevent premature deterioration."

Slays His 2 Children, Wife, Kills Himself

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Salesman Harry Wein, 41, killed his wife and two children in their suburban Shaker Heights home last night then took his own life by hanging himself in the bathroom, police said today.

Patrolmen George Lamboy and John Ritien discovered the bodies of Wein; his wife, Matilda, 38, and their two sons, Neal, 8, and Robert, 4, about 12:30 o'clock (EST) last night.

Police were asked to investigate the home by a friend of Wein's, who became suspicious when he received no answer after ringing the doorbell.

'Sir Lancelot' Fails to Regain His Gwenivere

Mrs. Hamm filed for divorce from the 42-year-old real estate broker Sept. 2, leaving their home at nearby Belevedere with their two children.

Hamm rode a white horse down the main street of this San Francisco suburb and hitched it to a parking meter while he entered the Albert building to meet his wife and her attorney.

Gwenivere didn't see the white charger—she entered and left the building by a rear door—and she went on to Superior Court and asked for temporary alimony and child support.

Business Women's Club in Area Meets Thursday

The first fall meeting of the Waterford-Clarkston Business and Professional Women's Club will be held Thursday at St. Andrew Episcopal Church on Hatchery Rd.

Following the dinner-meeting at 6:45 p.m., the program for the evening will be in the form of a social affair with committee chairmen discussing their plans for the coming year.

The Executive Board will be in charge of arrangements, and each membe has been invited to bring a guest.

Grandmother at 28 Expecting New Arrival

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Mrs. James Wilmoth is just 28 years old, but she already has two grand children.

Tot Strangles in Stroller

DETROIT (AP) — Three-month-old Scott Miley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miley of Detroit, strangled Monday when he caught his head on the crossbar of a baby stroller.

Child Is Polio Victim

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP)—Macomb County has listed its first polio death of the year. The victim was 6-year-old Donald Burley, of Warren. The child had not received Salk vaccine. The county has had 44 polio cases this year, compared with 26 in the same period a year ago.

Elvis to See Duty as Tank Crewman

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) —It'll be tank detail for Elcis Presley, the rock 'n' roll singer, when he reports for Army duty in West Germany.

★ ★ ★

U.S. Army officials said today the Memphis singer will be assigned as a tank crewman in the 1st Medium Tank Battalion of the 3rd Armored Division.

With 1,360 other Army trainees, Presley sailed yesterday from aboard the troop transport Randall. The ship is due to arrive in Bremerhaven on Oct. 1. Presley will report to his unit on Oct. 2.

Mother Found Guilty of Making Bombs

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)— A 19-year-old Greek Cypriot mother, standing in the court with a baby cradled in her arms, was sentenced to 12 years imprisonment today on a charge of having under her control a large quantity of bombs.

This was the heaviest jail sentence passed on a Greek Cypriot woman accused of a crime connected with EOKA, the Greek underground.

The woman, Nina Soteri, gave birth to her child, now 2 months old, after police discovered a bomb-making factory in her Larnaca home. Nina's husband, who was not at home when the police raided the place, is still missing.

Says Farouk Too Fat to Fit in His New Car

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — Former King Farouk of Egypt has a stunning new American sports car—but he isn't driving it.

The car arrived here from the United States a few days ago. Ever since it has been sitting in a garage.

Slate Story Hour for Children at Main Library

Children's story hours will begin their second straight season at Pontiac's main library Saturday, with a variety of tales told by Mrs. John Eddy, children's librarian.

Although grade school children of all ages are welcome, the first half of story hour will be aimed primarily at first and second graders, she said, and the second half at third and fourth graders.

Story hour will run from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. every Saturday, she said.

Scheduled for this Saturday are such stories as "Poke-along, a Turtle Story," "Pet of the Met, a Colorful Mouse Tale," "Sneakers, the Cat," "The Twelve Dancing Princesses," and "Lunching with the Dragons."

Mrs. Eddy also announced that plans are being developed for a contest to name a children's library newsletter, which will be a new innovation this fall.

Married Seven Months and They're Still Happy

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—We just had a cocktail party interview with Rita Hayworth and husband Jim Hill, who are as delirious as turtle-doves. Rita happened to say, "It took me a year to catch him."

WILSON

"I understand that; I knew a lot of girls who were always trying to call him," the B.W. whinnied.

"After all"—Jim's brow rose loftily — "I didn't give my phone number to just every girl who asked for it."

Married Feb. 2, they're blissful now that their film, "Separate Tables," is coming in a winner. Jim'll shoot a picture in Mexico, Rita'll do one in Nevada, and they'll settle down in Hollywood again in March.

Rita's famous daughters, Rebecca Welles and Princess Yasmin, are in school in California. Discussing the fact that kids don't work nowadays, I said to Jim, "Whatever happened to paper routes?"

"A great thought!" Jim boomed. "The girls are going to get paper routes immediately—and I'm arranging a separate one for Rita."

Czech Soldier Granted Asylum — but Not Dog

PASSAU, Germany (AP)—A 21-year-old Czech soldier crossed into West Germany with his army dog today and asked for political asylum.

Border police said he will be granted asylum but the dog will be returned to Czechoslovakia.

Q. I have been told that my child has 20/20 vision, yet she is not doing well in school, would glasses be of any help? P. J. O.

A. Vision for school achievement depends on many visual skills that cannot be tested by reading a chart at twenty feet. A complete eye examination might bring out difficulties in eye coordination or the ability to understand reading materials.

Q. What is the condition of the eyes called Glaucoma that I have been reading about. Mrs. D. C.

A. An increased pressure is produced due to poor circulation of the fluids within the eye and could lead to a complete loss of vision. Your optometrist is qualified to recognize Glaucoma and his competence is attested to by his state granting him a license to practice Optometry.

Q. Are Contact Lenses easy to apply and remove? J. T.

A. So easy that in just about ten minutes, your eye doctor can show you all there is to know about wearing them all day.

Emerson Sees County Being Short-Changed by State

Wants to Realign School Aid

An amendment in the law providing distribution of state aid to county schools, so that Oakland County might receive a more quitable share, was recommended yesterday by Dr. William J. Emerson, county school superintendent.

"All we ask is that the state lend some sort of support to Oakland County as other counties are enjoying," Emerson said.

He criticized the present law that, he said, provides more money to out-state schools.

"Many county school offices in the state receive over 60 per cent of their income from the state," Emerson said. "We receive less than 20 per cent of our income from the state."

Emerson's proposal, along with another one to change the policy of holding county school board hearings, were among six law changes which the Legislative Committee of the Board of Supervisors agreed to push for in next year's session of the State Legislature.

The committee, handicapped by a bare quorum and absence of officials, scheduled a second meeting for Oct. 1 to study further law changes.

Receiving little discussion at Monday's meeting was a suggested change in five laws to enable the consolidation of the present Drain Commission office into a re-organized Department of Public Works. But the move was approved by the committee anyway.

One of the three legislative candidates who attended the hearing, Rep. Lloyd L. Anderson, of Waterford Township, predicted a rough road ahead in Lansing next year for this proposal.

"We will be unable to show other lawmakers anything concrete, in the way of projects, accomplished by the present DPW," said Anderson.

Delos Hamlin, board chairman, said he hoped that legal barriers holding up many DPW projects would be lifted by 1959 so that Oakland legislators could point up what has been done.

Among the other legislation suggested was a law which would correct the situation of the small "no man's land" in Troy which presently is without governmental authority. Such a measure failed in the last session of the Legislature.

'Voters Tired of Labor Bosses'

GOP May Pull Surprise This Fall, Says Alcorn

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican National Chairman Meade Alcorn said today Republicans may surprise the experts in the November elections.

He said the average citizen is "fed to the teeth with the activities of power-hungry and sometimes corrupt politico-labor bosses" and may decide to voice his silent anger and concern Nov. 4.

"If this happens," Alcorn added, "it seems fair to assume that Republican candidates generally will be helped while Democrats will suffer."

Alcorn, in an address prepared for a National Press Club luncheon, also predicted Southern Democrats will run a third party presidential candidate in 1960 because the "emotion-packed issue of civil rights will not down."

He said the Democrats must face that issue "and yet they cannot without forcing a devastating party split."

Whatever political upheavals result from the civil rights issue in 1960, Alcorn continued, the eventual result will be a strong two-party system in the South. He said this would be a healthy development for the South and nation.

Attacking Democratic forecasts of election gains this November, Alcorn said the Republican party is not about to lose a dozen Senate seats and 50 to 60 House seats.

"The way the Senate comes up this year," he said, "the Republican party certainly gets no breaks. Nevertheless, as of today, I do not know of a single Republican Senate seat that we are sure to lose in November. Admittedly we face some rugged contests. Possibly we won't win them all. But we won't lose them all either."

As for the House prospects, Alcorn said: "I have said that the Republican party could win the House in 1958. That is a large order, admittedly. But it could happen. It will happen if we Republicans do just two things: Campaign vigorously and get out our vote."

The GOP leader conceded it is a big job to produce large turnouts of voters in midterm elections, but continued: "I honestly believe we may surprise the experts this November."

In his attack on politico-labor bosses, Alcorn once again struck out at Walter Reuther, head of the United Automobile Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO. He said Reuther is the best known example of the type he had in mind.

More recent developments, Alcorn said, have given new substance to fear that "what the Reuthers seek primarily are not better wages and improved working conditions for workers, but sweeping social changes and political power to make them."

Father and Son Hurt in 3-Car Smashup

A Waterford Township father and son were injured Monday afternoon in a three-car smashup on U.S. 10 at Silver Lake Rd., Waterford Township, according to State Troopers.

Harold Goodman, 33, of 2625 Dixie Highway, was treated at Pontiac General Hospital and released. His son Terry, 13, was admitted with a possible fractured skull and is in satisfactory condition.

Troopers said the Goodman auto was stopped for a traffic signal when it was struck from behind by a car driven by Elgin Smith, 35, of Flint. The Goodman auto was pushed into one driven by James Sullivan, 43, of Alma, said police.

Typhoon Ida Heading Northwest of Guam

TOKYO (AP)—U.S. Air Force weathermen reported Typhoon Ida was 550 miles west-northwest of Guam at 6 p.m. today and was moving northwest at 10 miles an hour with 150 m.p.h. winds.

The center of the typhoon was expected to be 700 miles northwest of Guam at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

Runs Into Moving Car, Township Youth Hurt

A Pontiac Township youth was injured Monday when he ran into a moving auto at the Auburn Heights Trailer Park, 170 Opdyke Rd., in Pontiac Township, according to Oakland County Sheriff's Deputies.

Everett Phelps, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Phelps, 160 Hillfield Rd., suffered a fractured leg and was treated at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital.

Deputies said the lad was playing with several other boys when he suddenly turned and ran into the side of a passing auto driven by Ervin Boyd, a resident of the trailer Park.

Youth Drowns in Pool

DETROIT (AP)—James O. Moss, 15, of suburban Highland Park, drowned Monday during a swimming class at Highland Park high school. Police said the boy was taking his first swimming lesson. They said he was in the pool with 30 other students and was not missed until his body was found at the bottom of the pool.
