

ON THEIR WAY — A bus bearing "freedom riders" leaves Montgomery, Ala., today, en route to New Orleans via Jackson, Miss. Seventy-five National Guardsmen were ordered to escort the bus to the Mississippi state line.

2,000 to March Memorial Day

Spanish American Vet to Be in Fore of Annual Pontiac Parade

Close to 2,000 participants will march in Pontiac's Memorial Day Parade May 30, the parade marshal, Gunney Sgt. R. L. Woodruff of the Marine Corps recruiting station here, announced today.

And, if the pleasant weather holds out, another several thousand persons are anticipated to line the parade route up Saginaw Street. Led by the Marine Corps color guard, a smartly attired marchers will pass any given point along the way for a solid half hour, to the tune of city high school bands.

In the fore will be the venerable Spanish American War veteran, 82-year-old Edward Tanner. As honorary parade marshal, he will ride in an open car along with members of the City Commission.

Next in the line of march will be the Pontiac Central High School Band, 118 uniformed National Guardsmen and the city's Gold Star Mothers.

They will be followed by a unit of Spanish American War veterans and their wives, members of the American Red Cross, high-stepping majorettes and the Pontiac Northern High School Band.

Then, resplendent in plumed hats and Union blue, the Eighth Michigan Cavalry will march past, keeping the spirit of the Civil War alive before viewers. The city's veterans' organizations and auxiliaries will follow in the spirit of other great battles of the past.

Marching units will form at 8 a.m. on South Saginaw Street at Jackson and Whittemore streets and stop off at 10 a.m. The parade will terminate before the city's war memorial at the Oakland Avenue intersection with a simple but fitting ceremony—a salute to all of the nation's fallen soldiers.

Following this, marchers will reassemble at Perry Memorial Park Cemetery to place wreaths on veterans' plots in a memorial ceremony, at which Chester Burton, state commander of the American Veterans of Foreign Wars, will be the main speaker.

Rev. Charles Cushing of St. Michael's Church will give the invocation and the final salute of the day will be the immortal "Taps" followed by a volley from the firing squad.

The city's Navy Mothers will walk to the cemetery pond for a quiet ceremony in memory of their departed sons. A large wreath will be cast on the still waters.

Test Tense Mississippi Bomb Threat Greets Riders

Dynamite Stick Reportedly Was Ready at Border

Was to Be Tossed Into Bus at Halt to Transfer National Guardsmen

From Our News Wires

Meridian, Miss. — A bomb threat greeted the entry of a dozen "freedom riders"—white and Negro—into Mississippi today.

Maj. Gen. W. P. Wilson, adjutant general of Mississippi, said there was a report a short-fused stick of dynamite would be tossed into the bus when it stopped at the state line for the transfer of Alabama and Mississippi national guardsmen.

The guardsmen lined both sides of the road where the bus was to stop and cleared the area of all motorists.

Four Mississippi national guardsmen replaced the half-dozen Alabama guardsmen on the bus.

The bus, the first of two carrying "freedom riders" from Montgomery, Ala., did not stop at Meridian where the bus terminal awaited with more than 100 armed national guardsmen and scores of city police.

It instead went on to the state capital of Jackson.

Ten Negroes and a white college student ate breakfast at the previously all-white lunch counter at the Trailways bus station in Montgomery, then set out at 8:10 a.m. (Pontiac time) aboard a bus for Jackson, Miss., and ultimately to New Orleans.

At the same moment, a second group of "freedom riders" boarded another bus in Montgomery for the trip through Alabama and Mississippi, and a third group left Atlanta, after flying south from Connecticut, for a similar trip.

The first group entered Mississippi just east of Meridian after a three-hour ride aboard the Trailways bus and a rest stop at the border town of Cuba, Ala.

A caravan of highway patrolmen and Alabama national guardsmen, followed the bus from Montgomery.

National Guard troops and civilian police kept the Montgomery bus station under armed guard and cleared the entire block where the terminal is located.

23 Players at 15 Colleges Cage Scandal Spreading

NEW YORK (U)—The college basketball scandal investigation in New York spread today to a total of 23 players from 15 colleges.

New York Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said 14 more players and 10 additional colleges were involved in the mushrooming scandal.

Hogan made the disclosure when announcing that Joseph Harkness of New York had been indicted on charges of conspiracy and bribery to fix basketball games.

Two basketball players from St. John's University of Brooklyn and one from New York University were named. Players from other schools had not been implicated previously.

Hogan, in making the announcement, also said that a player from the Dayton University and another from the University of Iowa had acted as intermediaries in recruiting college players for bribes.

Hogan named the New York U. player as Raymond Paprocky, 23, and the St. John's player as Michael Parenti, 25, and William J. Chrysalis, 26.

Hogan named as the intermediaries Roger Brown, 18, of Dayton, and Cornelius Hawkins, 19, Iowa freshman from New York who left school recently.

LAST CONTINUES

In addition, Hogan named two players from Seton Hall University, both mentioned previously in the investigation—Henry Gunther, 22, and Arthur Hicks, 22.

Hawkins, a sensational high school player in his native Brooklyn, was the first player on a Big Ten school ever to be implicated in the basketball scandals.

The last big scandal in 1951 involved 33 players from seven colleges.

Hogan also said a bribe had been offered to but rejected by Fred Crawford, 19, sophomore star for St. Bonaventure's University.

The weatherman is a little undecided what he will do about temperatures for the next five days. Tonight's low will be about 30, Thursday's high near 68.

He said the mercury will register 3 degrees below normal with Thursday cooler and Friday warmer. Saturday will be cool again but temperatures will warm up once more Sunday and Monday.

Rainfall will average .3 to .5 of an inch as showers and thunderstorms Sunday and Monday.

Southwesterly morning winds at 8 miles per hour will become westerly at 10 to 20 m.p.h. this afternoon and tonight.

Forty-seven was the lowest recording in downtown Pontiac preceding 8 a.m. The reading was 82 at 2 p.m.

Get a Horse? Naw, Make It a Scooter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Getting a horse doesn't work. Despite nostalgic speculation, a horse and buggy is no longer the fastest way to get across Manhattan Island at Midday.

The quickest way is by motor scooter.

This was proved Tuesday in the first running of the 51st Street Derby—a crostown 14-mile race between a Vespa motor scooter, a taxicab, a Rolls Royce limousine, a horse and buggy and a pedestrian.

The pedestrian was Kyle Rote, offensive team captain of the New York football Giants and sports director of radio station WNEW, but even so he finished last.

Dodging and sidestepping his way along the sidewalk, Rote took 28 minutes and 42 seconds to make it from the East River to the Hudson.

The horse, given free rein by its top-hatted coachman, obviously longed for the cool, great expanses of Central Park. It finished fourth, only about four minutes ahead of Rote.

The Rolls Royce, moving with stately, unruffled elegance, looked good but came in third—19 minutes and 45 seconds.

The motor scooter and the taxi—maneuverability versus experience—fought it out for the lead and finished only 10 seconds apart.

The scooter's time was 16 minutes and 30 seconds, and might have been even better if the driver hadn't had trouble getting it into gear at Broadway.

Its passenger, long-legged showgirl Betty Kent who hung on sidesaddle through the race, hopped off and gave it a push.

The taxi was less than a block behind and gaining as the scooter crossed the finish line.

JFK to Address Congress on U.S. 'Needs' Thursday

WASHINGTON (U)—President Kennedy will address a joint session of Congress Thursday "on urgent national needs," the White House announced today.

In making the announcement, Assistant Press Secretary Andrew T. Hatcher declined to say what subjects Kennedy would discuss.

Democratic congressional leaders said after their weekly meeting with the President Tuesday, however, that Kennedy would ask for sharp increases in spending for space, ground forces, civil defense and foreign aid, especially for Southeast Asia.

There were indications that among other things, Kennedy would ask congressional support for a sharply increased program of providing fall-out shelters to protect civilians against nuclear attack.

The White House announcement came a short time after the House started arranging for the joint meeting with the Senate to hear Kennedy. The Senate quickly followed the House lead in passing the necessary resolution.

HOUSE INTERRUPTED

The House was in the midst of debate on a $12.5-billion defense authorization bill when Majority Leader John W. McCormack, D-Mass., interrupted to announce plans for the joint session.

The Senate interrupted debate on a school aid bill to hear and act on the news.

Hatcher said Kennedy would begin delivering his message at 11:30 p.m. (Pontiac time) and estimated the length of the message at 4,000 words.

Hatcher said the radio and television networks have been notified, but he said he has not yet received a reply as to the extent of live coverage.

As to Kennedy's part in enlisting them in this effort, White House aides gave this report:

After Castro publicly offered to swap the prisoners for tractors, there were several private moves to take him up on the offer. One was by Mrs. Roosevelt. Kennedy was concerned that there be no live coverage.

18 Servicemen Killed in Fiery C124 Crackup

Four Critically Injured as Military Plane Falls Just After Take-Off

McCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (U)—A big military transport returning servicemen from maneuvers met disaster five miles from take-off today in a flaming crash that killed 18 men and left 4 injured critically.

One died a few hours later.

The C124 Globemaster fell in a wooded area minutes after it lifted from a McChord runway in pre-dawn darkness, headed for Ft. Sil, Okla., with 15 Army men and its Air Force crew of 7.

Somewhere five men got out of the shattered, burning plane and were rushed to Madigan General Hospital, at nearby Ft. Lewis. One died a few hours later.

Three Army men and one Air Force crewman remained at Madigan in critical condition.

"One of the first men at the scene heard a man calling for help," said Capt. Joseph Wiggins, McChord public information officer. "The survivor, in shock, was found sitting on a log near the wreckage."

FLASH IN THE SKY

The Globemaster, from Donaldson AFB, S.C., took off in foggy weather about 2:20 a.m.

"There was a flash in the sky," said a sheriff's officer. "We could not tell whether it came from an explosion in the air or after the plane hit the ground."

The $1.5 million plane apparently came down sharply. Although it landed in a heavily wooded area it cut no swath and knocked down only a few trees.

"When we arrived it was a big fiery mess," said Deputy Sheriff Bob Benson. "It was all white, everything burning; parts of the airplane scattered around among the trees. Air police and my partner, Deputy Grant Dodge, brought me, survivor out to the car."

"Both his hands and face were burned. All his hair was singed off and he had a deep gash in front of his right ear. We saw several bodies, badly charred."

Nearly everything burned. Even metal melted. Hours after the crash the wreckage still smoldered.

The injured were evacuated by helicopter.

The C124 was returning men who had participated in recent Army Air Force maneuvers, called Exercise Lava Plains, at Yaktima, Wash., 150 miles east of McChord.

The plane came down on the edge of the Ft. Lewis military reservation, adjacent to McChord. The bases are 10 miles southwest of Tacoma, Wash., and about 40 miles south of Seattle.

Waxed Paper Ad in Today's Press Something New

The Pontiac Press today is providing its readers with a special colorful insert of waxed paper—something you might want to wrap tomorrow's lunch with.

This unusual new concept of advertising and product sampling of the FRESH-wrap waxed paper appears in all copies of today's Press.

In order to run the ad, the company furnished approximately 27 miles of the waxed paper.

The paper came in rolls weighing approximately 300 pounds, with each roll producing about 12,000 copies of the advertisement.

State Guardsmen to Join Police for Memorial Day

EAST LANSING (AP)—Some 200 Michigan National Guardsmen will join state police and sheriff patrols this weekend in an effort to hold down the traffic deaths toll on Michigan's highways over the extended Memorial Day holiday.

As in recent years, some of the guardsmen will ride as second men on two-man state police patrols and on highway point control. Others will aid sheriff's deputies.

Twenty-one motorists were killed over the Memorial Day weekend last year, an average of one death every three hours and 45 minutes.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs said increased traffic patrols will begin at noon Friday, and continue to midnight Tuesday.

Robert S. McNamara Emerges As Leader

As time passes, it becomes increasingly apparent that Michigan's contribution to the KENNEDY cabinet is assuming a leading role in national matters.

Secretary of Defense, Robert S. McNamara, is creating a very favorable impression on his associates and those with whom he is working. When you toss a handful of men into a closely knit organization without much experience of the kind they are newly taking up, it is difficult to determine in advance who will emerge as the leaders.

Michigan can be happy over the fact that our own fellow citizen is stacking up as an individual of fine caliber and one of those destined to play a formative hand in most of the general policies that are formulated by the KENNEDY administration.

According to reports, he has already crossed swords with the military bloc which seeks to keep the upper hand and a finger on all expenditures. The Michigan man has let it be known that his word will be final — and not theirs — and that's what he's not there for. There will be an unending battle beneath the surface but we don't think McNamara will be pushed around.

Why Shouldn't Women Serve Our Country?

The status of women in Western civilization has long since reached the point of equality — in fact they are now being accused occasionally of usurping the superior role of the male.

They are voting, running businesses, working at equal pay rates with men, and competing on an even basis quite generally.

Commensurate with the increase of freedoms and rights, their responsibilities have not developed apace. One of the areas in which their responsibility has been extended is service to the country.

2) Hunter women's service is proud of their tradition, and they have served well. But they are an elite corps, because all of them wanted to join.

3) In the month, when boys and girls graduate from high school, the boy faces a period of service to the country, but the girl doesn't.

Why not? Psychological studies have shown that women are more capable in both physical and mental endurance.

4) Not advocating the use of women in combat, although this is a logical step in complete equality. But they certainly can do the same length of "time" as the male draftees, and work for the Government in some capacity, the original idea of the draft was for defense, and the girl should work in accordance with this intent.

5) A survey of teen-agers indicates a majority favor selective service for girls, and the girls themselves were receptive.

6) There would be some problems, to be sure, but it would bring the responsibilities of their country home to the girls as well as the boys.

The Full Circle...

Well, golf has turned the full circle. JACKIE KENNEDY is NOT giving husband JACK an abbreviated golf course for his birthday Monday.

No course is under construction, a press aide reports, but four stakes HAVE been placed out in a cow pasture. He added that there are no greens, no fairways, and no putting cups.

Anyone got one of those old leather-covered golf balls stuffed with feathers? Might make a fitting birthday present.

THE LENIN peace prize has been awarded to CASTRO, a peaceable fellow who would never think of having scores of people shot down in cold blood without first trumping up some sort of excuse for doing so.

Michigan Week: A good time to show off one of the top reasons why it is a great state—Oakland County.

Fourteen miles northwest of Pontiac, at 10655 Dixie Highway, where the M-87 pavement branches off, is the Going Enterprises, owned by Facts and Charlie Geing, where there's a spectacular bee exhibit that merits your attention.

Making honey in a glass hive, so you can witness the complete operation, are many thousands of bees. There are 30,000 in the project, but this includes the drones, who don't do any work, so are killed by the others, for their laziness.

The queen will be pointed out to you. Her only task is to lay a few thousand eggs every day, for which she is treated with due respect by her subjects. On the whole it is a shining example of continual motion.

The connection with the outdoors is through a glass tube about an inch in diameter, in which are two continuous lines of bees, one arriving with loads of honey, and the other going out for more. This is fruit blossom time and the workers are speeding up. The bees work so hard during the day that no night shifts are necessary.

Admission to the exhibit is free, together with a transcribed talk that proves that the bee is a prime requisite for man's existence. The hours are nine to six o'clock seven days a week.

We Need More Than That for a Fence

David Lawrence Says:

Unwise to Seek Tractors for Fidel

WASHINGTON — "A million dollars for Fidel Castro, dead or alive — but preferably alive."

This is the latest suggestion made by a reader in answer to those who want to raise $15 million to pay off Castro and liberate the 1,200 Cubans taken prisoner in the recent "invasion" attempt.

The reason for wanting to form a committee to induce the Cuban people to capture Castro and send him to some foreign country is so he may be tried for international crimes just as Adolf Eichmann is being tried in Israel today.

The capture of Eichmann was accomplished privately within a foreign country where he had taken refuge, but in the case of Castro, who is still in his own country, it would be natural for citizens there to seize him and bring him to justice in Cuba.

For he is guilty of the mass execution of innocent persons on hearsay evidence and without benefit of a fair trial.

There must be many persons inside Cuba who would wish to see Castro punished.

The fact that a committee of prominent American citizens is ready to do business with Castro in order to liberate some of the prisoners he holds is provoking differences of opinion in Washington.

DISGRACEFUL

While it is argued that the committee is solely interested in saving human lives—even raising what is admittedly a ransom—there are many others who think that this would be a disgraceful concession to Castro's inhumanity.

Indeed, the Cuban dictator now says he wants the money as an "indemnity" from the United States because of the recent "invasion."

Whatever interpretation he may put on it, there are many Americans who will donate money to save lives.

The instinct is commendable but the maneuver cannot but place Castro in a position of strength. For it will mean that his demand for what he calls "indemnity" will be proclaimed throughout the world as having been met.

Also, it will give the people of Cuba the impression that the American people are afraid of Castro and are ready to bow to his demands and those of his Communist associates who doubtless thought up the ransom scheme.

Failure of the "invasion" was a psychological blow to the hopes of those who have sought to liberate Cuba. The United States is blamed for not following through with adequate air support at the critical moment.

The effect throughout Latin America has been one of disappointment with the United States. While outwardly the usual fears are expressed that intervention in Cuba would seem to be a precedent for similar intervention by dictators arise in other Latin American situations, many thoughtful persons of prominence in countries south of us are saying privately they wish the United States had followed through on the recent expedition started by the Cuban exiles.

WILL HURT CAUSE

The widespread publicity given the American committee which has just started out to raise $15 million to buy tractors for the exchange of the Cuban prisoners is bound to hurt the cause of liberation inside Cuba.

For it pictures the American people as interested in saving 1,200 Cuban prisoners but not so much concerned about the entire Cuban nation which has been taken prisoner by Castro and his Communist partners.

There is little hope, incidentally, that the exchange of tractors for the prisoners will go through. It isn't easy to raise $15 million for any reason inside the United States, and in my opinion it is not safe to proceed the sum over being collected even for a famine or earthquake disaster.

Fight Chronic Rheumatism by Improving Nutrition

A Chicago reader asks why I print only letters that bear out my pet theories? Why not be fair and print also letters which prove that Metcortin can help chronic joint disability? The reader declares that she has been helped by Metcortin, and gives the name and address of her doctor, who she says will back her claims, which are as follows:

"I suffered from joint and muscle pain. I don't care what name you call it, which made life miserable for me for more than thirteen years. I am 39 years old and have small children, and it was almost impossible for me to give minimum care to my family.

I used loads of aspirin, with little relief, used cortisone for a year since February I have been using Metcortin, first four tablets a day, and later two tablets a day, and for all this time have been feeling perfectly well, and I still take two tablets of Metcortin each day.

"I know another woman who has been helped just as much for arthritis of the knee which had crippled her for years. She has been taking Metcortin since the end of January, and still feels wonderful.

"Why do you discourage people who might be helped by this wonderful remedy? It has made life again worth living, and might do the same for many others if they would give it a try."

(Signed) — I have received numerous letters from people who seem to have made a real recovery from chronic rheumatism (rheumatoid), I call it, or degeneration of joint tissues, or chronic joint disability) which had progressed for years, from periodic or temporary disability to total disability, a recovery that has enabled them, in many instances, to return to jobs their rheumatism had forced them to give up.

In none of these cases was the improvement attributed to medicine. In all of them the recovery (renewed energy) was credited to better nutrition.

From your letter, Ma'am, I gather that cortisone or Metcortin has to be continued indefinitely, like aspirin or other analgesic (painkillers).

Incidentally, yours is the most enthusiastic report I have had from people who have taken such medicine. That's why I decided to print it here.

I hope God will forgive me if I do wrong.

Sees Little Improvement Since Kennedy Took Over

Jack Kennedy is finding the way his father bought him more difficult to operate than he thought. I fall to see how the world picture has recently improved, unemployment substantially decreased, or "prestige" skyrocketed. Once in office, Kennedy quietly dropped the information agency's "prestige" pills.

He has talked of need for "sacrifice," though Greenback Jack himself has probably known few. He talked of moving forward again... meaning a renewal of the spirit of FDB and Truman (who allowed 600 million humans to slip to Communist slavery). With Jack's liberal attitude toward a recognition of Red China, he has truly begun "to move forward again."

Once again, as a century ago, the GOP and Gettysburg can play a real part in influencing positively the course of history. Perhaps the people's greatest "sacrifice" occurred last November; the questionable election of 1960.

Favors Purchasing Local Products

Mr. Bresler was right in his recent letter in which he recommended buying local products provided the price differential was not exorbitant.

A reversal was demonstrated at the Waterford Township School Board meeting when they agreed to buy four 60-passenger Ford school buses in preference to buying GMC school buses even though the Fords did not meet specifications in all respects. The price differential was less than six per cent.

A great many GMC employees pay taxes in Waterford whereas very few Ford employees do. This argument in favor of buying GMC school buses was very quickly dismissed by these board members.

When area people insist on spending local tax dollars on competitive products, it's a sad situation.

Current Bill Threat to Monetary System

The Citizens Foreign Aid Committee is deeply disturbed over the unfavorable balance of payments and the flight of gold. Bill HR 6000, which would lift the restriction on a fixed gold reserve, heightens this apprehension. Passage of this measure would make it possible for foreign holders of dollar credits to exhaust our gold reserve.

The cure is not to make possible the sale of all our gold, but to stop the drain on it by reducing the outflow of dollar credits.

The principal cause of this outflow is the overseas payments by the U.S. Government for economic aid and military assistance.

HR 6000 is a fatal threat to our monetary system.

'Notifying Parents Proves Helpful'

It is impossible for parents to know what their teen-agers are doing all the time due to the family automobile.

slips. They generally don't pass malicious information around by word of mouth.

But many men cause untold unhappiness for their wives by being too tight lipped.

And children often get astray because they think their father hates them or at least doesn't love them... all because he never says anything!

Thomas Carlyle was a husband much like Henry. His devoted wife worked hard to please him. She decorated the table with flowers. She baked and cooked his favorite recipes.

She ran errands for her literary husband and tried her very best to make him happy.

One night at the table, when she felt as blue as Henry's wife, she finally asked Carlyle:

"Why don't you praise me more often? Do something you like. Didn't the dinner taste good?"

Carlyle roused from his reverie and sternly looked at her in shocked surprise.

"Woman," he intoned critically, "must you be paid for everything you do?"

Then he abruptly left the table to hide away at his attic desk where he pushed his quill pen.

When his wife died a few years later, Carlyle was distraught. In his grief, he thrust through his diary his wife had faithfully kept, and on the pages thereof, many of which were stained with her tears, he found this recurring question:

"Oh, why can't you say something if you have pleased your own way? Why must I be so quiet and moody? I am starving for just a word of praise from you."

When a teen-ager is stopped by a traffic violation they send out a very polite, factual letter to the parents stating the time and place of violation and any record of previous violations.

This program is worthy of consideration by our state enforcing agency, PTA, church groups, and teen-agers.

What in the world would you think... That I might be in love with you... I have never said a word... To indicate that this is true... I simply cannot understand... How it would ever come to be... That even in your wildest dreams... You came to think such thoughts of me... When I look back across our days... No single instance I recall... Where I so much as hinted at... Or even thought of love at all... And though I may have stood at times... Beneath your pallid window light... I never even once have tried... To kiss you when I said goodnight... I am in every way perplexed... And at a total loss to know... Just how it possibly could be... You saw my heart's feelings show.

Successful Space Shot Sent U.S. Prestige Soaring in Europe

Editor's Note: The first reaction in Western Europe to the U.S. space survey shows that this was not a surprise reaction—but among serious thinkers, a new wave of confidence in U.S. space strategy.

By PAUL R. ALLERUP

LONDON (UPI)—Now that the first excited gap at the American astronaut flight is over, the question is how much real good did the United States do itself overseas.

The answer: A tremendous amount, both scientifically and politically.

Alan Shepard's flight went far toward restoring what had been a sagging confidence in American strength, leadership and scientific know-how.

Some of the continent's top commentators and highly regarded men of science have been nearly as enthusiastic as the free-swinging newspapers and sensation-seekers.

There is some concern that the United States—in its excitement over the success of Lt. Cmdr. Shepard's sky-ride—may rush ahead too fast in an effort to overtake and surpass the Russians.

Most European scientists dislike the idea of an American-Soviet space "race." They see the two countries' accomplishments, rather, as complementing each other.

Two of Britain's most respected newspapers, the Times of London and the Guardian of Manchester, touched on this in editorials assessing the U.S. achievement.

The Times said of Shepard: "If he will have exorcised, may hope, the demon of inferiority which, since Oct. 4, 1957 (Russia's first Sputnik) has disturbed American self-well-being... Let the Americans take credit, then, not as competitors in a race won or lost, but as contributors to what, in the end, will be a common heritage."

The Guardian said: "To the extent that human flight has a bearing on scientific understanding, the Americans have done more (than Russia) to further this cause. At the same time, they have earned the admiration of the nontechnical world by the frankness with which the show at Cape Canaveral was staged."

Accountants who are not presently members of this association are invited to attend. They will hear Marlin R. Hemphill of Royal Oak, a national director of the association, and two members of the headquarters staff in New York, who will speak of the many services and advantages of the association.

The association, established in 1919, is the largest organized accounting group with some 100 chapters and 50,000 members throughout the world. Membership is available to those who are associated with any phase of accounting work. Through monthly meetings, local chapter publications and the national publication, "The Bulletin," members are enabled to keep in touch with the latest in accounting techniques and developments.

The organizers of the new chapter have long felt that the growing suburban area had become too large to be adequately served by the Detroit Chapter.

With the help of the national organization and the parent Detroit chapter, the new group plans to be in full operation by July 1. More information can be obtained from W. E. Craig, chairman of the organizing committee, at Allegheer Ludlum Steel Corp., 1500 Jarvis, Ferndale.

Accountants Call Meeting to Form an Association

The first step in organizing an association for accountants in the north suburban Detroit area will occur next Wednesday. A group of accountants who either live or work in this area and presently belong to the Detroit chapter of the National Association of Accountants, have called an organization meeting for 8 p.m. at the Elk Temple here.

Accountants who are not presently members of this association are invited to attend. They will hear Marlin R. Hemphill of Royal Oak, a national director of the association, and two members of the headquarters staff in New York, who will speak of the many services and advantages of the association.

(But) the reports that President Kennedy is looking around for some means of competing with the Russians in extra-terrestrial space... are less comforting... to engage in purposeless endeavor must be a confession of intellectual slowness of the kind which the new administration once promised would be abolished."

Alexandre Ananov, president of the French Astronautical Society, hailed Shepard's flight as an important "leap... jump... that must precede a truly cosmic flight."

But he added "as a matter of fact, one begins to realize that for some time now Russian and American space research have been complementary to each other."

Scientifically, the most significant thing was that the astronaut actually controlled the space capsule during a part of the flight. This was a very important result to have achieved."

More than any other single thing, Europeans were impressed by the carrying out of the flight while the entire world was an audience, minute by minute. Here are some typical comments:

The Cologne, Germany, "Rhein Zeitung": "The lead of the Soviets... is not at all as tremendous as had been generally assumed... our pleasure is enhanced because the last argument in support of the apparent superiority of achievement by a dictatorial system has been destroyed."

The Paris "Le Monde": "With the flight of Cmdr. Shepard the Americans have carried off a double success... first to make sure man could withstand certain conditions imposed by space flight, and to confirm the good behavior of their space capsule... The directors of NASA should be somewhat proud and it must be hoped that nothing will happen to lessen their confidence, so great are their ambitions."

European scientists also praised the astronaut's epoch-making flight.

Prof. Herman von Oberth, father of German rocketry, said the flight was "one of the first successful steps in overtaking the Soviets, and now perhaps by the end of this year it can be done."

Rafael Carrasco, director of Madrid's astronomical observatory: "The first American astronaut has raised the prestige of American science... it has shortened the distance between the two countries (the United States and Russia)... the United States should be praised not only for the successful launching but the way it was carried out..."

Prof. Eugen Saenger, pioneer German rocket scientist: "American prestige, if it ever had suffered, was restored by Shepard's successful flight... the enormous number of American space projects compared to what is known of the Soviets' even leads to the belief that the Americans have overtaken the Russians..."

European scientists also praised the astronaut's epoch-making flight.

Prof. Herman von Oberth, father of German rocketry, said the flight was "one of the first successful steps in overtaking the Soviets, and now perhaps by the end of this year it can be done."

Rafael Carrasco, director of Madrid's astronomical observatory: "The first American astronaut has raised the prestige of American science... it has shortened the distance between the two countries (the United States and Russia)... the United States should be praised not only for the successful launching but the way it was carried out..."

Prof. Eugen Saenger, pioneer German rocket scientist: "American prestige, if it ever had suffered, was restored by Shepard's successful flight... the enormous number of American space projects compared to what is known of the Soviets' even leads to the belief that the Americans have overtaken the Russians..."

Asger Lundbak, chairman-elect of the Danish Astronautical Society: "The Russians (still) are ahead in many respects... but the U.S.A. has achieved, in scientific results, as much as the U.S.S.R."

bridge University's Mullard Radio Astronomy Observatory, said: "The U.S. space launch certainly has done a great deal for American prestige. Scientifically, the most significant thing was that the astronaut actually controlled the space capsule during a part of the flight. This was a very important result to have achieved."

More than any other single thing, Europeans were impressed by the carrying out of the flight while the entire world was an audience, minute by minute. Here are some typical comments:

The Cologne, Germany, "Rhein Zeitung": "The lead of the Soviets... is not at all as tremendous as had been generally assumed... our pleasure is enhanced because the last argument in support of the apparent superiority of achievement by a dictatorial system has been destroyed."

The Paris "Le Monde": "With the flight of Cmdr. Shepard the Americans have carried off a double success... first to make sure man could withstand certain conditions imposed by space flight, and to confirm the good behavior of their space capsule... The directors of NASA should be somewhat proud and it must be hoped that nothing will happen to lessen their confidence, so great are their ambitions."

European scientists also praised the astronaut's epoch-making flight.

RO Township Chief Is Mute

Innocent Plea Entered in Embezzlement Case Against Fire Head

A plea of innocent was entered in Oakland County Circuit Court Monday when former Royal Oak Township Fire Chief Samuel D. Mitchell stood mute to a charge of embezzlement.

Mitchell, suspended by the township after his arrest, is accused of using about $215 worth of coal patch, an asphalt paving material, belonging to the county road commission, and using it on the driveway of his home at 20789 Mitchelldale St. between May 19, 1959 and Sept. 1, 1960.

Asst. Prosecutor John N. O'Brien said Mitchell is suspected of converting about 20 tons of material. O'Brien said the township fire chief used about six tons on his driveway, and the rest he ordered for a private housing development.

He appeared before Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro with his attorney Emmett J. Traylor who asked that Mitchell's $2,500 bond be continued. It was and Mitchell remains free awaiting trial.

No date was set.

Once Faced Life in Prison; Gets 1 to 15 Years

A 20-year-old Royal Oak Township man, who once faced life imprisonment in the shotgun slaying of a Detroit man, Monday was sentenced to 1 to 15 years in Jackson Prison by Circuit Judge William J. Beer.

George Ross Jr., of 10752 Hinsdale Court, pleaded guilty April 27 to a second count of manslaughter in the Feb. 11 shooting of Henry Warren, 29.

Once charged with first-degree murder along with a second man who was later discharged for insufficient evidence, Ross pleaded guilty to the reduced charge before Judge Beer soon after his trial had begun.

The trial saw Ross' brother and sister jailed for contempt of court in attempting to protect their brother in their testimony.

Reappointed to State Job

LANSING (U) — Mrs. Helen Bevens of Detroit has been reappointed as state superintendent of private employment bureaus for a term expiring Dec. 31, 1962.

Votes of Kent County OK School Bond Issue

A proposed $12.5-million bond issue for school building purposes was rejected last year. The district hopes to start construction of its new 500-capacity high school by next September.

Stephen Kalmar
Honored at GMFeted by Engineer Staff for Lengthy Service in
Automotive Field

After more than 35 years of automotive engineering service, Stephen Kalmar of 3423 Chickering Lane, Bloomfield Hills, was honored by his General Motors engineering staff associates Monday night at the Kingsley Inn.

Officially, he will become a retiree June 1 under the GM retirement program. Behind him lies a technical career that started in Hungary, which in 1896 was part of Yugoslavia and now is part of Yugoslavia. He was born there, and in 1914 was graduated from high school.

From 1914 to 1918 he was in World War I military service. Following the war he attended Technical University at Budapest, and in 1919-1922 was a student at Berlin-Charlottenburg Technical University, from which he received his MS in mechanical engineering. He became a doctor of engineering in 1922 by decree of the Italian government.

Until 1924, Kalmar was an engineering draftsman for Berman Corp., Berlin, handling layout and design of automotive chassis and engine components. He entered the United States on May 18, 1924, with a professional visa. By 1931 he was an American citizen.

CONTRIBUTED TO CODE

For about a year he designed adding machine mechanisms for Burroughs Adding Machine Co. and then joined GM Research Laboratories in 1925. Here he specialized in automotive engine combustion studies and design of combustion chambers, and helped develop the GM Engine Test Code.

From 1928 to 1946 he was chief test engineer for AC Spark Plug Division, in charge of operations for development and performance of spark plugs.

In May of 1946, Kalmar was named assistant engineer in charge of the GM engineering staff's power development section, and in 1957 he was appointed executive assistant engineer in charge.

For many years he was a violinist with the University of Michigan Extension Symphony Orchestra.

Under Kalmar's name is a long list of technical publications both in American and European journals, and he has served on engine committees in the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Afflicted Youth
Gets Probation,
Plus Lecture

A 19-year-old Royal Oak youth, afflicted with cerebral palsy, got probation and a lecture from Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero Monday for the attempted armed holdup of a motel.

"You have a handicap," the judge told Claude T. Williams, of 2175 Parker St., "but that does not give you license to violate the laws."

Williams pleaded guilty May 8 to assault with intent to rob while being armed after he brandished a .45-caliber revolver and demanded the cash box from the clerk of the Holiday Motel, 2112 N. Woodward Ave., Royal Oak.

Judge Dondero placed Williams on probation for three years and ordered him to pay $150 court costs after reminding him that his crime carries a maximum term of life in prison.

The new electronic typewriter, developed by scientists at Kyoto University, converted spoken Japanese words into printed form.

Couple Gets Lease for Airport Cafe

The proprietors of the Pontiac Municipal Airport terminal restaurant describe themselves as an "air-minded" couple taking pride in restaurants with a good reputation.

"We don't plan one of those glorified hamburger stands you used to see at airports," said Richard E. Vance Sr., a Lansing restaurant owner.

"We're air-minded and don't see why an airport restaurant can't be just as fine a place as any eating establishment."

Vance and his wife Florence last night won a five-year lease at the airport from the City Commission at a rate of $250 a month or 6 per cent of their monthly gross, whichever is greater.

Vance said he wanted to open up the terminal's dining facilities by June 15, in order to be in operation when the terminal, in dedicated Sunday, June 18, during the Greater Pontiac Centennial.

Homer D. Hoskins, airport manager, said that of five prospective proprietors interviewed, the Vances were the only ones willing to enter into the strict, 20-page lease adopted by the Commission on recommendation of Hoskins and Robert A. Stierer, assistant city manager.

In the restaurant and catering business in Lansing seven years, the Vances have operated the dining room at Lansing's Capital City Airport during the past five years, watching it grow from a 30-seat to a 200-seat operation.

KNOWN STATEWIDE

Gaining a statewide reputation, they have just contracted for the restaurant at the new terminal building at Jackson airport.

The Pontiac restaurant will carry the same name as the Lansing eating place — Dick Vance's Skyroom.

Vance said he plans to cater to the Pontiac community, not just to airport traffic. He said he plans promotions to encourage group, service clubs and family business.

Like many governmental officials who often travel in and out of the airport at Lansing, Hoskins is a fan of the Vances.

"The food is good, the prices right and the operation is clean and attractive," he said. "Moreover, the Vances are experienced in airport operations. We're very happy about getting them in Pontiac."

Hoskins said that large Detroit caterers expressed little interest in the Pontiac Municipal restaurant because initial business apparently will be of low volume.

"We agreed that this might be so."

"But we're in the airport business and are willing to grow with it. We're thinking ahead to five years or so from now, because we know the air business is going to grow."

Crowd of 'Nazis' Hits Trouble in New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—A busload of "Nazi Stormtroopers" ran into rain and an unsympathetic police officer in their confused and unglorious entry into the city Tuesday night.

The American Nazi party members first were headed out of town by police, then turned away by a motel operator, and finally permitted to stay in town overnight after compromising on their "hate" signs.

But the Nazis insisted their "hate campaign" against CORE, the NAACP and Otto Preminger's film "Exodus," will come off as scheduled today.

New Allegheny Head Is Silent

Murchison Leaves Big Decisions to Board — Says Kirby's Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The battle is over and where do we go from here is the question today facing stockholders in the Allegheny Corp. who voted a change in command of an empire controlling $5.1 billion.

John D. Murchison, 39, the Texan who successfully led the dissidents in an uphill assault, declined to go beyond a hint of his wishes.

He deferred to a meeting today of his new board of directors virtually all decisions on the day-to-day operation of the holding corporation and any radical change in the use of the millions of dollars at its disposal.

ONLY ONE DIVIDEND

The 31-year-old corporation has paid only one dividend of a nickel, ridiculed by Murchison, and that was at the height of the battle this year for control.

Murchison voiced only one dictatorial dictum Tuesday in Baltimore after he had won control of Allegheny by nearly 54,000 votes out of more than nine million cast in this century's biggest struggle on the financial field.

That was that Allan P. Kirby, 68, the power behind and in front of the Allegheny Corp. since 1937, has not and will not be offered a spot on the board of directors. "It's up to him" to make any peace overture, Murchison said. Kirby is the biggest single individual stockholder in Allegheny with one-third of its shares.

OK Bid for Facilities at New Courthouse

A combined bid of $100,052 for a parking lot, sidewalks, storm sewers and lighting at the new courthouse was approved yesterday by the ways and means committee of the board of supervisors.

Contractor Stanley B. Jones submitted a total bid of $73,752 for the construction work, while the Schultz Electrical Corp. submitted the low bid of $26,300 for the lighting.

The full board of supervisors must pass the contracts.

Woman Loses Ton of Scrap to Junk Thieves

A new racket operating in Oakland County came to light yesterday when an Avon Township woman found she had been hoodwinked by well-organized junk collectors.

Mrs. Irma Tyler of 410 Tienken Road is out the price of a couple thousand pounds of scrap iron today.

She called Munson Scrap Iron Co., at 44 Kossow Road, Pontiac, Saturday offering to sell them an old plow, field discs, drags and a planter for whatever they are worth as scrap.

Later in the day two nondescript trucks pulled up at the Tyler farm. Workers loaded the scrap material and informed Mrs. Tyler they would haul the iron in to weigh it and establish its worth.

When Mrs. Tyler heard nothing more about being paid, she telephoned the Munson Scrap Iron Co. again yesterday. She was informed the firm had not picked up her missing scrap and knew nothing about it.

Apparently someone else learned of Mrs. Tyler's offer to sell the scrap and decided to cash in on the deal for themselves.

She called the sheriff's department. Detectives were seeking the thieves and stolen property today.

June Allyson Is Gaining After Second Operation

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Actress June Allyson is recovering from her second throat operation within a month.

Her physician said her condition was fine after Tuesday's surgery, and added: "It was just what we expected, a polyp. Everything went well and she'll be out in a couple of days—whenever she wants to leave."

Miss Allyson, who was divorced Jan. 31 from TV actor-producer Dick Powell, underwent a similar operation April 27.

Brown's Status in Doubt

2 School Board Candidates Out

Two of the seven original candidates for the June 12 Pontiac School District election have been ruled ineligible by the school district.

One of the ineligible candidates today planned to contest his ineligibility in court.

Russell L. Brown, a mathematics and science teacher at Bloomfield Hills Junior High School, was notified late Tuesday that he is ineligible by state law to run for one of the two school board seats.

Earlier, this week, Rev. Amos G. Johnson, pastor of New Bethel Baptist Church, was ruled ineligible.

Two of the requirements for being a candidate in a school election are that the candidate must be a property owner in the school

BY HOME PAYMENTS

Brown, when notified he is ineligible, stated that he paid his taxes as part of monthly payments on his home.

"I recorded the deed to my home in August 1959," Brown asserted.

"I have tax receipts in my name for the past two years. As far as I'm concerned, if I pay my taxes I should be on the tax roll," Brown said.

His attorney, L. C. Burch of Pontiac, agreed. "It would appear that the assessing officer is at fault, or that someone in the city assessor's office erred in not recording Mr. Brown's name."

If the court decides that Brown's name should legally appear on the tax roll, and has been omitted through no fault of his own, this would remove the only obstacle in his path.

"According to the school district attorney, Harold Dudley, the state law on these requirements is very clear," Schiller explained.

"We have no other choice but to rule Mr. Brown ineligible."

Legally, Brown's name cannot be placed on the roll until next year. The tax roll was finalized by the board of review in April and cannot be altered for the rest of the calendar year.

Crime Increase Alarms Hoover

Big-City Lawbreaking Figures Show Upswing in Rape, Murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increase in crime in the nation's largest cities, including Detroit, during the first three months of 1961 over the first three months of last year brought an expression of alarm today from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover viewed as ominous an upsurge of crimes against the person, particularly rape.

In Detroit, rape cases increased from 68 in the first quarter of 1960 to 92 in the first quarter of 1961.

Murder and nonnegligent homicide increased from 27 to 33, but robberies fell off from 877 to 784. Aggravated assault cases increased from 1,020 to 1,068; burglaries from 3,496 to 3,769 and larceny over $50 from 960 to 1,114. Auto theft decreased from 1,530 to 1,462.

Competitive swimming and diving instruction is Fridays, 9:30-11 a.m.

Adults age 18 or more can register for a beginning swimming class for eight weeks on Mondays, 7-8 p.m.

Open swimming periods for all ages are scheduled each week Monday through Friday, 1-2:45 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday, 7-9 p.m.; and Saturdays, 9 a.m. and 10-45 a.m.

Open swimming for adults only is scheduled for Mondays, 8-9 p.m. Fees are $5 for youngsters' beginning and advanced instruction (16 sessions); $3 for adults' beginning instruction (eight sessions); $3 for competitive swimming and diving instruction (eight sessions); 15 cents for children in the open swimming periods in the mornings and afternoons and 25 cents at night; 35 cents for adults 14 years of age or older in the open swimming in the morning and afternoon and 50 cents at night. Settle on 5.25 Tax Rate for Oakland County in '62

Oakland County's tax rate this year will be 5.25 for every $1,000 of equalized property valuation, and supervisors will not appeal the rate although it means nearly $300,000 loss in tax receipts.

For the second time in a week, the Oakland County Tax Allocation Board yesterday reacted to urgent pleas from county supervisors and tacked on another .05 of a mill to the county rate.

First it was going to be 5.15, and after the first appeal this was upped to a preliminary rate of 5.24.

The county's rate, which will be formalized Friday when statisticians chop the added .05 from what school districts were slated to receive, is .23 of a mill below the 1960 rate of 5.48 and 14 below the 5.39 supervisors shot for to meet "a very realistic and tight budget" for 1962.

David Levinson, chairman of the Board of Supervisors' Ways and Means Committee, said an appeal would not be made with the State Tax Commission, but should economic conditions not improve next year some cuts are in store.

"This means we're going to have to use the entire welfare reserve $329,348 fund, some of the contingent fund ($106,000), and if conditions don't improve a curtailment of services might be necessary," Levinson said.

While the county's rate is apparently cemented, one for West Bloomfield Township still hangs in the balance. The six-member tax board delayed until their final meeting Friday any action on relief that might be granted the township since the board knocked 1.75 from its requested 3.15 millage.

MINIMUM BUDGET

Reinforced by township attorney Joseph T. Brennan Jr., Supervisor John C. Rehard said the budget submitted "is the absolute minimum."

Paying for Evergreen sewer bonds and meeting library obligations are in jeopardy under the slice of about $70,000 Rehard said.

A move to set the county rate at 5.25 by the county's representatives on the board, Robert Y. Moore and Charles A. Sparks, failed 4-4 after County School Superintendent William J. Rosen said the county wasn't taking into account what he predicted would be a better year economically.

"I wish we had a crystal ball," said Will J. Oliver of Southfield. In a seven-page handout to tax board members, Levinson's committee said the county faced deficit financing for the first time if the fall 5.25 rate. This rate passed 4-2 with dissenting votes from Moore, chairman of the board of auditors, and Sparks, county treasurer.

He made no mention of this later when identified by Moore of the final 5.25 rate. This rate passed 4-2 with dissenting votes from Moore, chairman of the board of auditors, and Sparks, county treasurer.

The .05 of a mill added $100,000 based on the county's 1961 state equalized valuation of $2,094,683.

CENTRAL CITY, Colo. (AP) — When the transformer house burst into flames at a Glory Hole Mine building Monday night, it was obvious Central City's fire truck with its 400-gallon water capacity couldn't put it out.

So, firemen directed the burning building into a creek. Mission accomplished.

Firemen Scatter 200
Youths; One Arrest

BENTON HARBOR, Mich. (UPI) — Benton Harbor police today announced a "crackdown" on juvenile offenders after they were forced Tuesday to call in reinforcements to quell a mob of stone-throwing youths involved in an apparent racial disturbance.

Focal point of the disturbance was a downtown Benton Harbor intersection where an estimated 200 youths between 12 and 18 had gathered for a fight.

The youths — white and Negro — failed to break up when the first police officers arrived and eventually 50 officers and the local fire department were summoned.

As firemen were about to turn water hoses on the youths, the mob began throwing stones, some denting the fire equipment.

However, no injuries were reported.

It took police and firemen two hours to force the youths to disperse. One boy, Terry Bradford, 17, of Benton Harbor, was arrested. Bradford, white, was charged with loitering and police said he would possibly face additional charges of agitating a riot.

Sgt. Jack Weatherly of the Benton Harbor Police Department said the incident started when a gang of white youths apparently tried to start a fight with some Negro boys.

MIRACLE MILE SHOPPING CENTER

Shell experts test for knock by accelerating up steep grade. In another test, this "fifth wheel" in the back is lowered onto the road to measure mileage precisely.

TOP PERFORMANCE:

Shell test crew reveals five ways to test your car for top performance—and how the 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell can help you get it

To John Baker and John Watson of Shell Research, top performance is a scientific standard. They measure it with precision instruments. But any good driver can run a version of their basic tests. Here are five they recommend.

Is your car really delivering its best? "It's easy to find out," says John Baker of Shell Research. "Just run these simple tests."

Test #1. Quick starting

Count the seconds it takes to start your car. The engine should "snap to" in about two to three seconds. A slow start drains your battery. And it may flood your cylinders, causing performance troubles.

If your engine is balky, try Super Shell. It's blended with a frisky ingredient called Butane—to give you quick, easy starts.

Test #2. Smooth running

Pay close attention to your engine in traffic. Does it vibrate roughly when you stop for a traffic light? Does it seem to "surge" as you pull away, then falter and fade?

Sometimes these troubles can be corrected by minor adjustments of the carburetor and spark timing. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

But sometimes, the problem can be the wrong blend of gasoline.

In summer, for example, excessive heat can make winter grade gasoline bubble in the fuel line. Bubbles can interfere with the flow, causing rough running.

Shell scientists don't let that happen with Super Shell. When hot weather threatens, they adjust Super Shell's 9-ingredient formula to give it the correct volatility for smooth summer driving.

Test #3. Reserve power

On a turnpike, in light traffic, accelerate suddenly from about thirty miles an hour to the legal limit. Now ask yourself:

1. Did your car accelerate smoothly—with no faltering, no bogging down?

2. Do you have plenty of power to spare? If you feel you've "run out of engine," it's time to do something about it.

Super Shell may be your answer. It contains TCP,* to help restore power lost to combustion chamber deposits.

And another Super Shell ingredient, called Platformate, contains components that release 11 per cent more energy than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

Test #4. Knock

Accelerate up a long, steep hill and listen carefully.

"If you hear a sound like marbles falling into an empty oil drum," says John Watson, "you've got knock. It could cause your engine trouble."

Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell. Its formula includes no less than three ingredients to fight the various causes of knock.

Test #5. Miles per gallon

Don't trust your fuel gauge when you measure miles per gallon. Take these three simple steps and be sure:

1. Start your test by filling your tank. Make sure the gasoline comes up to the brim. Write down your mileage reading.
2. Drive in your normal manner for at least three tankfuls. Keep a record of the exact amount you buy.
3. Finally, fill your tank to the brim again. Add up all the gallons you've bought (not counting the initial fill-up in step 1.) Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives you your average miles per gallon.

Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell. You may be pleasantly surprised.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients

Here's a brief rundown of all nine ingredients in today's Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance.

- #1. TCP additive, to restore up to 15 per cent of lost power, and add up to 17 extra miles per tankful.

Abby Sure You'll Find Him

Just Be Yourself, Dear

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl who wasn't born beautiful supposed to do? I am 13 and have never had a boy friend.

I am of medium build, maybe a little underweight. Anyway, my figure is nothing sensational, and the way my mother makes me dress, even if it were no one could notice it.

My hair is light brown, gets oily fast and just hangs. I wear glasses and braces.

Believe me, it is not an inferiority complex that gives me the idea that no boy would look at me twice.

I have tried to be the kind of person who is fun to have around, but I am a big flop. Can you give me a few tips on how to get a boy to notice me?

NOTHING SPECIAL

DEAR "NOTHING": Maybe you're trying too hard? And maybe the fish you're casting for are too big for your line? Be yourself. Be your best-groomed, kindest, sweetest self. Pay particular attention to the shy little guy, whom no girl notices. I'll bet you catch something pretty special.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an expensive one. Whenever I wash, my neighbor washes, and she takes my good diapers off the line and leaves me her old ragged diapers, which are full of holes.

I have never seen her do it, but I know she does. Diapers cost $2.58 a dozen, and I am tired of buying new ones all the time.

Print this. Maybe she will take the hint. I don't want to accuse her.

DIAPER POOR

DEAR DIAPER POOR:

'Write your initials in indelible ink in the corner of each new diaper.

Then tell your neighbor (in a friendly way) that you think you have been getting your diapers mixed up with hers, and have marked yours so it won't happen again. And I'll bet it doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a big-hearted woman who feels sorry for a friend of hers who happens to be a widow.

When I drive this woman home my wife always says, "Honey, be sure to kiss Vera goodnight." Vera is not hard to kiss, but I don't think it's right for me to ask me to kiss a woman just because she has no one else to kiss her.

We have been friends for years, and I know Vera doesn't take me seriously, but don't you think eventually this could lead to trouble?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Only if you do!

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Love Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3363, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Help for Bulgy Tummy

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

So many women have a lovely figure except for a protruding abdomen! This is such a prevalent figure fault that I like to give you a few preventative and corrective exercises every once in a while. The following three are splendid ones.

Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor overhead. Bend both knees up close to your abdomen and grasp the knees with the hands. Straighten the legs and return legs and arms to starting position. Stretch out. Continue, slowly.

Another: Take the same starting position, but tuck your toes under a divan or a chair or ask someone to hold your feet to the floor. Raise the trunk and arms and touch the fingers to the toes. Lower trunk and arms to the floor and continue.

Another: Lie on the floor on your back with your arms resting on the floor, extending straight out from the armpits. Palms face the floor. Bend both knees up close to the abdomen. Straighten legs, toes pointing toward the ceiling. Slowly lower the legs to the floor, with stiff knees. Continue.

UP, DOWN, UP, DOWN
Take the same starting position used in the preceding exercise. Raise the right leg up with a stiff knee. As you lower your right leg, raise your left. As you lower your left, raise your right. In other words, one leg moves up as the other moves down. Do not touch the heels to the floor but bring them close to the floor.

Bend the left knee up close to the abdomen, kick toward the ceiling, straighten the knee. Lower left leg to the floor. This time bend the right knee, straighten and lower to the floor. Continue, alternating left and right.

If you would like to have my routine of abdominal exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 2. Address Josephine Lowman in care of The Pontiac Press.

Strict Rules Manage for Two Wives

By The Enslty Post Institute
Q: My father and mother were divorced two years ago. There was another woman involved whom my father later married. Together they gave my mother a very bad time.

I occasionally see my father and we correspond every once in a while. Neither he nor my mother lives in this city. Within a month I am to be married and my problem is whether my father's wife has to be invited to the wedding.

My mother will of course be there and I would like my father to be present too.

However, I feel that my stepmother's presence at the wedding will cause great distress to my mother, and I would like to avoid hurting her any more than she already has been hurt. Will you please tell a confused bridegroom what to do?

A: Your father will certainly not come to the wedding without his wife. If they are invited, their invitation must be only to the church and your mother will have no contact with them. They are seated in the third or fourth pew on your side of the church.

Your mother comes in just before the bride's mother and after your father and stepmother as well as all the other guests have been seated. After the ceremony, she will be escorted to her car before your father and stepmother leave the church.

Q: When a girl is visiting a boy's family and she and the boy are going to a dance, must the boy's mother wait up for them—no matter how late?

A: The boy's mother is responsible for the girl and should know when she comes in. She may, however, go to bed and later go down in a housecoat to let her son and the girl in, when they ring the doorbell.

Q: My husband's parents are going to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary shortly. A reception is being planned by their children.

Would it be proper to invite guests to such a reception from a distance of 175 to 200 miles and not serve anything to eat except coffee and cake?

A: Something more substantial, even if only party sandwiches should be served.

SEW SIMPLE
By Eunice Farmer

"Dear Eunice,

"I am making a dress of a very open embroidered eyelet material. There are actually empty spaces in it. I don't see how I can sew the seams together.

"My daughter wants me to make her a pair of summer slacks that are made of an open weave cotton lace. We have seen these ready made and they are very expensive. The ready-made ones are lined. If I should use lining for both of these garments, please tell me what kind to use?"

MRS. R.F.

Both fabrics you have described would look better if they were completely lined. In this way, you will have the same color showing throughout the garment.

It would be very attractive to use a bright colored, fine cotton such as polished cotton for this lining. You would baste each piece of lining to the wrong side of your eyelet or lace fabric, now treat as one piece.

A cummerbund or tie-belt would be an attractive accessory made-out of your lining fabric. If you are making a skirt, shorts or slacks, you might consider using the plain colored fabric for a blouse. This will tie the whole ensemble together nicely.

TRIM OFF EDGES

"Dear Eunice,

"When I see an applique used on ready made clothes, the edges seem to be sewed on with a zig-zag machine stitch. The edges of the applique look so neat, but when I try to do this with my sewing machine, the edges curl up and twist and I can't get them to look professional. Also, please tell me how to make them look puffy like the ready to wear clothes look."

Try not cutting the design out on the edges, but leave roughly 1/2" extra around all edges. Now zig-zag the applique onto your garment at the edge of the design, not the edge of your fabric. After it has been stitched on, you may carefully cut away the excess fabric close to the machine stitching.

To make it look puffy, you must fill the design with nylon yarn which is threaded through the wrong side of the garment and cut off at each edge of your design. The yarn will stay inside the design and make it stand up and give it a three-dimensional look.

STITCH MARKS STAY

"Dear Mrs. Farmer,

"Is there anything that will take the stitching marks from velvet? The skirt of my dress had to be let out, leaving the marks."

Mrs. C.S.

I'm afraid there is nothing that will successfully remove these marks completely. The pile of the fabric has been flattened from the machine stitching and pressing.

You may try steaming the seam and also pressing it on a velvet board if one is available.

SEWING GLOSSARY:

Applique:

A design of self or contrasting fabric to be used for decorative purposes. If edges of applique are to be finished by hand instead of machine, turn under 1/4" of the cut edge and slip stitch to garment with tiny, invisible stitches. These stitches should not show from right side.

Parsons-Robinson Rite
Read Before 300 Guests

MRS. FRANCIS D. PARSONS

The Francis D. Parsons left for a honeymoon in the Blue Ridge Mountains following Saturday evening vows in Christ Lutheran Church Waterford. The Rev. Arvid Anderson performed the candle-light ceremony before some 300 guests.

The John Robinsons of South Marshall Street, parents of the former Mary Jean Robinson were hosts at a buffet dinner, dance and reception in the Gingsville Community Hall.

Tulle inserts distinguished the bridal gown of white Chantilly-type lace styled with basque waistline and chapel train. Finger-tip veiling of pure silk illusion fell from a Swedish crown of pearls and sequins.

The bride wore a strand of cultured pearls and earrings, gift of the bridegroom, and held a cascade of white carnations and stephanotis centered with red roses.

Cascades of pink carnations complemented blue taffeta sheath dresses with bouffant overskirts for Alice Kabolian, honor maid, and Marydell Johnson. Short veils fell from their Swedish crowns.

Duane Parsons stood as best man for his brother. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Parsons of Baldwin Avenue. Seating guests were Carl Robinson, the bride's brother, Jack Martin of Lake Orion, and Ted Blanz of Gingsville.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Robinson chose blue lace over taffeta. The mother of the bridegroom appeared in beige eyelet organza over taffeta. Both mothers wore pink roses.

The newlyweds will make their home in Pontiac.

3 Youths Held in Royal Oak

Charged With Beating Couple Parked in Car on Coolidge

ROYAL OAK—Three Oak Park youths, charged with beating a 15-year-old girl and a 17-year-old Birmingham youth early today, are being held by Royal Oak police.

Police said June Lockwood, a ward of the Oakland County Juvenile Court, was abducted after the beatings. Her companion, Gary Kaiser, 17, of 700 Shepard Road, was left lying on the ground following the attack.

Being held are three accused attackers, Raymond Buchanan, 2618 Republic St., Edw. Varshadina, 2340 Seneca St., and Jack Lahtinen, of 3668 Rosedale Road.

All three youths are 18 years old. Lahtinen allegedly is the girl's ex-boy friend.

NEAR APARTMENT
—Officers said Kaiser and the Lockwood girl were sitting in a parked car at 2 a.m. behind the apartment where she lives at 330 Coolidge Highway when the incident occurred.

The three youths drove up to where the couple was parked and one of them smashed a window on Kaiser's car with his fist, according to police.

—Officers said the girl was dragged out of the car, beaten and dragged off by the trio. Kaiser also was attacked and left lying near his auto while the youths escaped with the girl in their car.

Police arrested Varshadina and Buchanan on Woodward Avenue about two hours later. A bloody shirt was found in the car they were driving.

—Lighten was picked up by authorities in Oak Park. The Oak Park youths were to make a statement at the prosecutor's office here today.

Young Awaiting Sentence June 5

Area Man Pleads Guilty to Manslaughter Count in Rowley, Death

Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondero will sentence Richard L. Young on June 5 after the 22-year-old Waterloo Township man pleaded guilty yesterday to a second count of manslaughter.

Young's plea came while he was free on a $10,000 bond awaiting trial on a charge of second-degree murder in the March 13 bludgeoning slaying of Floyd Rowley 47, of 6761 Andersonville Road, Independence Township.

The murder took place after the two men had been drinking together earlier in Rowley's cabin home.

"We didn't feel we could go all the way in proving the specific intent of murder," said Asst. Prosecutor Richard P. Condit. "There had been a lot of drinking."

—Young's wife said she fled the cabin when her husband went berserk. Deputies later found a battered wooden chair and a shoe fitted with a steel clamp, and belonging to Young, lying next to Rowley's body.

Rowley died four days later.

The other three Lyon candidates are Alfred B. Usher of 3801 Six Mile Road; Rita Cheneveth of 9465 Rushton Road, South Lyon; and Gordon Byrm of 9791 Matthews Road, South Lyon.

Two candidates, including the incumbent, met the deadline for filing for the single three-year opening on the Dublin Board of Education.

Master of ceremonies was Wallace Crane, president of the Orion Community Center, Inc. which co-sponsored the show with the local women's apparel shops that participated.

Fashion narrator was Mrs. Carroll Kirkpatrick, with Mrs. David Erickson in charge of the program and script.

Furnishing between-acts entertainment were the Jackie Rae Dance Studio, Pontiac, and a girls' vocal sextet from the local high school music department.

Ceremony in Royal Oak

Joyce Ann Reynolds Weds

ROYAL OAK—Joyce Ann Reynolds and Richard J. Tenniswood were united in marriage in candle-light rites Saturday evening at the First Baptist Church here.

Rev. Roland Lattig of the Fargo Church of Christ, Fort Huron, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vern Reynolds of Royal Oak. The bridegroom's parents are the Ralph Tenniswoods of 1100 Stockport Drive, Avon Township.

For her wedding, the bride chose an organy over "I Do" taffeta gown featuring a re-embroidered orchid pattern, Sabina neck and short sleeves. The skirt ended in a chapel train.

A crown of tiny seed pearls and beaded sequins held her finger-tips well of illusion. She carried a spray of stephanotis centered with a white orchid atop a white Bible.

Mrs. Raymond Thornton was matron of honor for her sister. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Joseph Kukola of Flint, niece of the bridegroom, and Jean Clark of Pontiac.

The bridegroom's twin brother Robert assisted him as best man. Groomsmen were twins Darrell and Delbert Townsley of Alma. Gary Kipp of Rochester and Richard Wiersma of Fort Huron were ushers.

A reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church immediately following the nuptials. The newlyweds then left on a honeymoon trip to Washington, D. C., Norfolk, Va., and the Smoky Mountains.

(Editor's Note—In a scene Mrs. Kennedy's trip to Paris next week with the President will be like going home. Of French speech, she speaks fluently and has studied of the French language since she was a child. Mrs. Kennedy will be going to the Elysee Palace to meet the President and will be going to the Louvre to see the Mona Lisa. Mrs. Kennedy's trip with France in the history of the world.)

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — If the French take to Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy as she has long taken to them, there will be plenty of excitement in Paris next week. Mrs. Kennedy has lived in Paris as a student and has traveled in France as a devotee of French history, art and literature.

On May 31, she will be returning as America's First Lady, joining the President for a major state visit abroad.

Mrs. Kennedy has ancestral ties in France, she speaks the language fluently and she already is acquainted with France's president, Charles de Gaulle.

SUITED TO EACH OTHER

It probably would be hard to find a place better suited to the tastes and interests of the 31-year-old First Lady.

Mrs. Kennedy, just a little more than four months in the White House, already is eclipsing the official foreign travel records of most of her predecessors, with the obvious exception of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She will be the first since Mrs. Woodrow Wilson to accompany her husband on an official visit to Paris.

Mrs. Kennedy has the benefit of knowing what to expect after last week's two-day state visit to Canada, the Kennedy's first trip outside the country since inauguration.

In Ottawa, the capital of a country with many French-speaking inhabitants, Mrs. Kennedy won high praise from top officials and drew admiring crowds on her brief public appearances.

Fashion-conscious, young, beautiful and new in the role of First Lady, Mrs. Kennedy undoubtedly will create wide interest abroad. She proved in Canada that she has something of the drawing power and popularity of a movie star.

IN AUGUST '60

Mrs. Kennedy was last in France on a visit in August 1959. She first went there years ago, and spent her junior year in college studying at the Sorbonne.

On her father's side, Mrs. Kennedy traces her ancestry back to France. A great-great-grandfather, Andre Eustache Bouvier, came from the neighborhood of Grenoble in southeastern France.

When John F. Kennedy was elected president last November, Mrs. Kennedy received congratulations from officials in several French towns, indicating the Bouvier family came from their community. But the White House hason June 5.

They will go on to Vienna for Kennedy's meeting with Soviet leaders, noting that there are London to visit relatives of Mrs. Kennedy and to dine with Queen Elizabeth in Buckingham Palace.

Editorial Raps Gov. Patterson

Alabama Paper Says His Policies Encouraged This Violence

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP)—The Montgomery Advertiser said today in an editorial that Gov. John Patterson "is not the exclusive author of Montgomery's troubles by any means, but he is the chief author because his is the supreme responsibility as chief guardian against disorder."

"The measure of his errors is this. These 'Freedom Riders'—condemned passed through every state from Washington to Alabama. But only Alabama among the states now has a problem because of it."

The editorial said Patterson "started out by saying that he would not nursemaid the agitators and he might arrest the U.S. marshals. But before it was over Patterson was baby-sitting the agitators all night in a church and the highway patrol was working in harness with the federal cops."

The paper charged Patterson's policies had encouraged violence and that the governor has now "reaped the whirlwind."

It added: "It is outrageous that the White House should make a political yoyo out of Alabama to ingratiate itself with Harlem."

Man Admits Burglary; to Be Sentenced June 5

Two weeks changed Donovan P. Graves' mind, so he appeared before Circuit Judge Stanton C. Dondro Monday and admitted the burglary of money and tools from a Bloomfield Township gas station. The 28-year-old Graves, of 21800 Inkster Road, had stood mute when arraigned May 8. He is charged with breaking and entering during the nighttime.

Judge Dondro lowered his $2,500 bond to $1,000 to enable him to return to his wife and children before he is sentenced June 5.

Ike Will Raise Funds for GOP

Expected to Draw In $600,000 of Dinner Appraise JFK Moves

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican leaders said Tuesday they expect to raise about $600,000 June 1 when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower addresses a party fund-raising dinner here. It will be Eisenhower's first formal speech since leaving the White House.

"We expect a sell-out," Arthur E. Summerfield, former postmaster general and chairman of the dinner committee, told a news conference.

There is room for 6,000 diners and tickets are $100 each.

Summerfield said Eisenhower would be the only speaker, and that he expected the former president to make "a kindly, thoughtful appraisal" of the Kennedy administration.

"There has been a great fall in prestige of this nation during the last 100 days," Summerfield said, mentioning Laos and Cuba.

HIT KENNEDY

Other Republican leaders sat in on the news conference. They got in some licks at the Kennedy administration and made predictions of winning the House and picking up Senate seats in next year's congressional elections.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., said Republicans believe most "Americans are tired of rocking chairs and oratory" and "opposed to professional-diplomatic" dances with those who seek to destroy us.

Rep. William E. Miller of New York, chairman of the House GOP campaign committee, said the Republican campaign will stress the eight-year Eisenhower administration record of meeting difficult challenges "without war or surrender."

Thieves Explain Everything to Irate Car Owner

DETROIT (AP) — William LeVey came out of a movie with his wife to find the hubcaps missing from all the wheels of his car. The left rear tire was flat, too.

But then LeVey cooled off a little.

Stacked on the ground near the front of the car were the four hubcaps with a note saying: "Didn't fit. Thanks anyhow. P.S. We didn't give you the flat tire. You already had it."

Michigan: Apples, Cherries and Peaches

Editor's Note: The following article is one of a series written by Michigan newspapermen as a contribution to Michigan Week.

By JOHN A. TIESHORM
(Farm Editor, The Muskegon Chronicle)

Lake Michigan, the cooling breezes of which make Western Michigan the "playground of the Midwest" in summer, serves as a tempering reservoir in winter to make the same region one of the great fruit producing areas of the world.

It has made the region the country's greatest producer of tart cherries, 60 per cent coming from the West Central and Northwest districts of the Lower Peninsula.

$18-MILLION BUSINESS

From Benton Harbor, with the country's biggest fresh fruit market with a $18-million annual business on the south, to Traverse City, with its big Cherry Festival on the north, are produced and processed not only the bulk of the tart cherries of the country, but sweet cherries, peaches, apples, plums, pears, grapes, and in small trellis, strawberries, raspberries, blackberries, and cultivated blueberries.

What the fruit crop means to the economy of Michigan is made impressive by realization of the fact that the 1960 crop was worth some $56.7-million to growers.

Processing for market adds materially to this value. This is more complicated to determine. On the one hand, strawberries are relatively cheap to process when compared to their fresh value. On the other hand processing about doubles the value of the tart cherry crop.

Overall, processing is conservatively estimated to add about 30 per cent to the value of the state's fruit crop.

While Michigan is noted for its cherries — and is increasing its plantings faster than any other region, according to Lyle E. Thompson, Michigan State University extension specialist in horticulture for the West Central District — apples constitute the leading fruit crop. The crop in 1960 was valued at $19.1 million.

Committee of 6 Filled In for Ike

Sherman Adams Says Group Ran Government After Heart Attack

NEW YORK (AP)—An unofficial committee of six ran the government during the two months Eisenhower's assistant from 1952 to 1958, makes this disclosure in an installment of his memoirs. Looking back on this period while he was in the White House, Adams says:

"There never was a move on the part of any of us to 'seize power' or to take an unwarranted action that Eisenhower would have disapproved. We made sure that normal activities of the government went on as usual."

LETTER TO VP

Adams writes that after Eisenhower's heart attack in 1953, the President "placed in his file a letter to the vice president covering an understanding between them of the procedure that would be followed in the event of a presidential disability."

Adams said he never saw the agreement, but added that Eisenhower told him about it.

It provided, Adams writes, that "if the president became disabled, he would inform the vice president who would then serve as acting president until the period of disability ended."

Noting that this was "only a personal understanding," Adams says that Eisenhower and Brownell "tried to initiate a constitutional amendment that would establish the validity of the office of acting president if one were needed in future years."

All-America Title Won by Grand Rapids Coed

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — South High School junior, Jane Leann Lebeck, 16, travels Thursday to Washington, D.C. to address a congressional breakfast at Miss All-America City.

She was named Monday from among five finalists surviving an original field of 40 candidates for the title which follows the choice of Grand Rapids earlier this year as an all-America city in a national competition.

Miss Lebeck addresses the breakfast with her winning essay, "Why I am Proud to Live in Michigan's All-America City."

recent years have been strawberries, valued in 1960 at $7.2 million.

Cultivated blueberries have been grown on a major scale in Michigan only for the past 15 years or so. They were adapted to Michigan mainly through the work of Stanley Johnston, superintendent of the Michigan State University experiment station at South Haven.

The crop has put under cultivation thousands of acres previously unproductive because of high acidity of the soil. These heretofore almost worthless lands today are

Bendix at Ann Arbor Gets Naval Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — A contract for designing a ship-based tracking system for a communications satellite was awarded by the Navy today to Bendix Corp.

The satellite, known as Advent, will be used in conjunction with two shore stations at Fort Dix, N. J., and Camp Roberts, Calif., and a mobile terminal aboard a ship.

The Advent project calls for a satellite which will orbit above the equator, at an altitude of about 22,000 miles, relaying radio signals from the shore stations. The $670,000 contract for the ship-based station is with Bendix Systems Division at Ann Arbor, Mich. The company will prepare the plans for tying together tracking, telemetering, computer and other equipment into a single unit.

among the most valuable fruit lands in the state.

CUCUMBERS ALSO

While not a fruit crop, cucumbers for pickling constitute an important processing crop in Michigan. Whereas the crop once centered in Western Michigan with Oceana the greatest pickle-producing county, production in recent years has shifted more to the central and eastern areas of the state.

Oceana, which until a few years ago had around 4,000 acres under pickles, now has only about 400, William J. MacLean, extension service director for the county, points out. He attributes this to difficulty in getting harvest hands in this area. The central and eastern regions have the advantage in that contract labor is brought in for other "seasonal" crops.

Processing plants, for both hot pack and frozen fruits, are to be found in almost every town in the "fruit belt." They range from small plants to some of the greatest in the business, such as the Gerber Baby Foods plant at Fremont; the Stokely-Van Camp plant at Hart; and the Michigan Fruit Cannery plants at Farmville, South Haven and Benton Harbor.

There is the H. J. Heinz Co. pickle plant at Holland, largest of its kind in the world. The West Michigan Dock and Market Corp. facilities on the Muskegon lakefront do a large business in storing processed fruit.

CONTROLLED ATMOSPHERE

Latest development in apple-storage facilities is the controlled atmosphere storage, as developed by Michigan State University horticultural and agricultural specialists. Here the oxygen content of the air in the storage is kept at a constant percentage for preservation of the apples.

Only this year the state of California began admitting Michigan apples, from these controlled atmosphere storage plants. The first truckload was shipped from the Kenneth Ball orchards at Bailey, Muskegon County, in February.

Michigan puts glamour into its fruit industry, notably with the Blossom Festival at Benton Harbor and the Cherry Festival at Traverse City, where some 200,000 annually crowd the little city to witness the pageantry and crowning of the Cherry Queen.

"Far more important than the total volume today," says Clarence C. Mullett, MSU extension specialist in horticulture for Northwest Michigan, "is the prospect for increased importance of the fruit growing business in Michigan."

Michigan folk, and the populace in general, can look forward to increasingly luscious fruits as Michigan State University experiment stations develop ever improved varieties of apples and peaches, and strawberries and blueberries. And Stanley Johnston, who developed the cultivated blueberry for Michigan is succeeding today in developing a Michigan acclimated apricot.

GIANT BELL SYSTEM ANTENNA for catching and amplifying signals from satellite will be 177 feet long and about as high as an 8-story building.

Bell System Is Far Advanced on Satellite to Extend Microwave Communications across the Seas

Microwave system overseas via satellites is a natural extension of today's nationwide telephone and TV networks

The Bell System is ready right now to move fast on a communication system using satellites in outer space.

We've already made telephone calls from coast to coast by bouncing radio signals off NASA's Echo I satellite.

We're well along on designing and building an experimental active satellite and are prepared to pay for the launching and for transmission facilities on the ground.

Our aim is to create more high-quality voice channels, and, ultimately, global television channels. We would connect our U.S. communication network with those of other countries and provide international overseas service.

There's one thing we'd like to make completely clear. The Bell System is not seeking a monopoly of space communications.

There would be all kinds of opportunity for the producers of electronic gear and other products because of the need to purchase many parts of the system from these producers.

We believe that the Bell System's proposals offer the best means to serve the public's interest in a broader communication network for tomorrow. We believe, also, that they offer the best means to get a working system "in being" in the shortest possible time.

Work-Camp Bill Suffers Veto

Swanson Nixes Plan Allowing Counties to Join in Construction

A bill which would have permitted counties to join together to construct work camps for delinquent minors has been vetoed by Gov. Swanson.

It was the sixth veto by the governor of bills from the 1961 legislative session. The governor yesterday signed five minor bills into law.

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, who has spearheaded a similar work-camp program for 35 youngsters at Camp Oakland, said he "can't understand" the governor's veto of the bill.

He said he didn't feel it would effect the local program at all.

Those familiar with the problems know that work with education is imperative in solving these problems," the judge said.

In objecting to the work-camp bill, Swanson said previous legislation in the field called for the hiring of professional people to study the delinquent minors and aid in solving their problems.

Work camps would not lend themselves to meeting this objective, he said.

If such a program is contemplated, he said, it should set standards for the operation and programs of the work camps. He also suggested that study be given to a program of state subsidy for such camps.

750,000 at Mecca for Moslem Service

CAIRO (AP)—A huge throng of 750,000 Moslems gathered tonight for a service commemorating the annual pilgrimage that is the most sacred event in a devout Moslem's life.

Many of the pilgrims are Saudi Arabians. The rest come from throughout the Moslem world. There are 55,000 from the United Arab Republic, the largest foreign contingent.

The Saudi ambassador in Cairo, Mohamed Elzoghbeiy, said there have been no epidemics so far this year among the pilgrims and all hospitals are on the alert to care for any sick.

EXPECT 500 DEATHS

Even so, it is expected that 500 or more pilgrims will die near Islam's holiest of cities, the birthplace of the prophet Mohammed. That is the usual number of deaths from sunstroke or infirmities of very aged pilgrims, many of whom arrive hoping to die inside the holy city.

The pilgrims have poured into Jidda—a port on the Red Sea near Mecca—by land, sea and air. For the past fortnight 30 planes have landed daily at Jidda bringing pilgrims from all over the world. The harbor is crowded with big passenger ships and tiny sailing vessels that ferry pilgrims from the Sudan, Ethiopia and Somaliland across the Red Sea. Thousands come on foot from Yemen and Aden to the south, bringing provisions on their backs.

Most of the pilgrims have saved for a lifetime to make this trip.

Says Race Incidents Hurt U. S. in Africa

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Information Agency blames racial incidents in this country for part of the decline in U.S. prestige in Africa.

Testifying recently before the House Appropriations Committee, Edward V. Roberts, assistant USA director for the African area, said "racial incidents in this country frequently attract more attention in Africa than in the United States."

Roberts' testimony behind closed doors was made public today by the committee.

It will include colorful aerial shell bursts, pinwheels, bombs, "fountain-in-the-air shells," "whiz bangs," "Egyptian rain" and soaring rockets.

Memorial Day features will include use of the shaded picnic groves, a large beach for swimmers, boating, fishing and thrill rides.

20-Cent Dividend Declared by Higbie

A regular quarterly dividend of 20 cents per share on $1 par value common stock in Higbie Manufacturing Co., Rochester, has been declared by the firm's board of directors, Norman Elliott, treasurer, announced today.

Dividends are payable Aug. 1 to stockholders of record July 17.

In a financial statement covering nine months ended April 30, the firm listed net earnings of $215,000 on net sales of $4,933,960.

The earnings fell $166,500 short of those recorded for the same period in 1960 when the figure was revealed as $381,500 on net sales totaling $5,748,850.

Earnings of 57 cents per share on 377,600 shares of common stock outstanding as of the end of last month compared with 96 cents as of April 30 last year.

The firm estimated its federal income taxes for the past nine months at $215,000. During the same period last year it paid $331,500 in federal taxes.

Figures for this fiscal year to date are subject to adjustment by examination of independent accountants at the end of the year, Elliott noted.

Swainson Helps Greet Officials From Canada

DETROIT (U) — Gov. Swainson, an Ontario import to Michigan, joined state officials today in welcoming officials from the Canadian province to the state. Swainson is a native of Windsor.

The across-the-border visit is part of the Michigan Week celebration. The group includes Prime Minister Leslie Frost and members of his executive council, province governing body.

After a greeting at the Windsor airport and a crossing through the international tunnel, the group was to be welcomed at a reception at the Detroit Civic Center.

Morning activities scheduled included a tour of the Wayne State University campus, an airplane trip along the joint boundary and a reception at Lansing followed by a noon luncheon.

The afternoon program included a stop at the state capital, a visit to the Michigan State University campus and a motorcade back to Detroit, via Jackson and Ann Arbor, for a dinner at the Detroit International Center.

To Dedicate Garage

LANSING (U) — Formal dedication of the State Highway Department's $120,000 Coldwater maintenance garage will be conducted Thursday.

Seal-of-Quality Bill Signed by Swainson

LANSING (U) — Michigan today has a seal of quality for its above average agricultural products.

Gov. Swainson signed the bill establishing the seal Tuesday, ending its 12-year history of defeat in the legislature. The bill—a perennial favorite of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams—was defeated by the Republican-controlled legislature twice during each of Williams' six terms.

Swainson said he would send Williams, now assistant secretary of state for African affairs, the bill used to sign the bill.

Anti-Castro Unit May Fall Apart With Resignation

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—An internal political explosion threatens to rip apart the anti-Castro Revolutionary Council, the Miami Herald said today.

Mamuel Ray, head of the People's Revolutionary Movement, has decided to withdraw from the council and "go it alone," the Herald said.

Ray's decision could sound the death knell for the council, through which the Central Intelligence Agency operated in the ill-fated Cuban invasion last month. His decision was not unexpected in view of his statements since the invasion. Ray had expressed disgust with the council's surrender of authority to U.S. officials before the invasion and the fact that his underground was never notified of invasion plans for its date.

South Korean Junta Bans U.S. Cigarettes

SEOUL, Korea (U) — American cigarettes, preferred by many Koreans, are gone from South Korean shops for the first time since U.S. troops arrived 15 years ago.

The ruling military junta, hoping to halt the expenditure of an estimated $5 million a year on foreign tobacco, today threatened severe punishment for anyone caught carrying U.S. cigarettes.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — Bus driver George Bess nearly choked on his coffee when he looked out a window at the Union Bus Terminal Tuesday and saw his coach departing a few minutes ahead of schedule.

Bess called police and told them the bus he was scheduled to drive from Indianapolis to Vincennes, Ind., had pulled out of the station without him at the wheel.

What's more, he said, it had turned left instead of right.

Police found the bus stalled on Monument Circle, its rear wheels stuck against a curb. Aboard was a passenger wondering what was happening.

The passenger, Wilfred Williamson, said he was seated on the bus waiting for it to leave the station when a stranger got aboard and started driving away in the wrong direction.

He said the stranger fled when the bus got stuck. Williamson gave a description of the driver. So did Bess.

Police picked up a man who identified himself as Thomas Podrasty, 22, Detroit, Mich. They said Podrasty admitted he took the bus "to prove I could steal a bus and drive it to Detroit."

Consumers Asks Okay to Sell $40-Million Bonds

LANSING (U) — Consumers Power Co. of Jackson has asked the State Public Service Commission for permission to sell $40 million in first mortgage bonds to help finance its expansion and improvement program.

The utility said it spent $104.3 million last year on expansion and improvement of electric and natural gas facilities in 65 Michigan counties and planned to spend a total of $38.4 million this year.

Bond Issue Okayed for School Additions
A $500,000 bond issue for additions to four Pontiac elementary schools was approved yesterday by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

Pontiac school officials plan to advertise and sell the bonds as soon as possible. Although the bonds won't mature for 25 years, the school district already has most of the money to buy back the bonds, and officials expect all bonds will be paid off within the year.

The school district had to go through the bond sale procedure to get the money into its building and set fund.

The $500,000 will cover costs of classroom additions at Alcott and Emerson schools, and kitchens at Webster and Whitfield schools. All four projects have been under way for some time and are due for completion this summer.

U. of M. Working Out Full-Year Schedule

ANN ARBOR (U-P)—A committee of eight faculty members has decided a year-round academic schedule at the University of Michigan is "necessary and desirable," and has set up a timetable to have it in full swing by 1965. The committee was named three months ago to study year-round operation as a means of saving money through acceleration of the education process and making fuller use of university facilities.

U. of M. President H. H. Hatcher will submit the report to the Senate Advisory Committee on University Affairs for advice.

The U. of M. Board of Regents is expected to approve the report — perhaps with minor changes — at its June meeting.

The committee calls for a school year of three terms, with the third — or summer term — split into two parts. This would give students the option of taking a full three semesters of work, or 2 1/2 semesters with a 70-week vacation.

DIFFERS FROM MSU
In this way it differs from the "quarterly" system used by Michigan State University and the "trimester" (three semester) program at the U. of M. Dearborn Center.

The split summer term, under which students could enroll for a full 15-week semester or either one of the two 7-week semesters, program, said William Haber, U. of M. economist who heads the committee.

"In the majority of cases this might approximate the two-semester schedule used at present," he said. "But it would permit those students who so wished to accelerate their program."

Senate Blocks Goldwater Bid

Attempt to Cut Teacher Salary Funds Out of School Bill Defeated

WASHINGTON (U-P)—The Senate today turned down by voice vote attempt by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to knock funds for teacher salaries out of the $2.55-billion school aid bill.

This was the first of a series of votes on what Senate leaders expected to be the final day of consideration of amendments to the bill. This is the seventh day of debate.

The Senate met three hours early to expedite the voting. However, final passage of the measure is not expected before tomorrow.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen he hoped to dispose of all remaining amendments to the hotly disputed $2.55-billion public school measure today.

QUICK START
Mansfield called the Senate in three hours early to try to get a quick start on beating down four or five expected amendments. He said some lengthy opposition speeches undoubtedly would delay the roll call to pass the bill until Thursday.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., for one, has prepared a 9-page speech lambasting the measure — a major item on President Kennedy's 1961 program. Thurmond estimated it would take three or four hours to make his point.

The House Education Committee meets again today on its version of the school legislation and may clear it for floor action.

The administration won a big victory in this group Tuesday when supporters of aid for private schools withdrew their amendment. Administration forces feared incision of such a provision would kill the bill.

From 1908 until 1945, Juan Vicente Gomez was dictator of Venezuela. He frequently circulated rumors of his death and shot anyone who started celebrating.

4th-Class Schools Use Old Voting Date

LANSING (U-P)—Atty. Gen. Paul L. Adams said today that fourth class school districts may hold their annual election on the second Monday of July this year, despite a law passed by the legislature specifying such elections must be held on the second Monday in June.

The bill was signed by the governor and given immediate effect, but Adams said:

"It is impossible to give immediate effect . . . for the reason that it would bar school electors from registering to vote for such annual election in 1961, and it would be impossible for candidates to file nominating petitions to be placed on the ballot for that election."

Cuban Rebel Movement Pulls Out of Council

NEW YORK (AP)—The People's Revolutionary Movement, a major Cuban exile group, has decided to pull out of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, a spokesman said today.

The move was viewed by some as an internal explosion that might wreck the council which has been the top command of groups opposing Cuban Premier Fidel Castro.

Appeals 'Drunken' Fine

Mike M. Shupenia, 54, of 85 E. Highland Ave., was fined $100 for drunken driving by Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum and ordered to pay a $100 fine or spend 15 days in the Oakland County Jail. He appealed the case to Circuit Court.

Pollution of State Waters a Big Headache

(Editor's Note: Among major problems facing Michigan are (1) what to do about existing and potential water supply for the state and (2) how to curb pollution of the state's river systems that threaten the state's industrial growth.)

By HOMER DOWDY
Flint Journal
Written for The AP

Pollution of the state's river systems by sewage and other wastes threatens the future of Michigan's industrial growth.

The residue of treated sewage—called effluent—is choking the life out of many streams.

The State Water Resources Commission, watchdog of Michigan waters, may call a halt to further industrial expansion in critical spots.

Most cities and major industries have taken steps to reduce pollution. While some cities are still guilty of discharging inadequately treated sewage into streams, the big offenders today are the suburbs. Their booming populations have been nurtured on septic tanks sunk in inhospitable clay soil.

But according to Milton P. Adams, executive secretary of the commission, there is a new factor growing more serious by the day in the pollution control effort. Should suburban sewage receive the same degree of treatment as city sewage, future growth of many urban centers still would be threatened.

This is because the rivers that receive sewage effluent are too small or too sluggish to do the job they are being called on to do in this age of increased water use.

They must absorb the effluent from too big a community, too many communities or too many industries—or all three.

The commission puts the finger on these rivers as having about all the sewage effluent they can take.

Rosale, Rouge, Clinton, Flint, Grand, Kalamazoo, Huron, Tittabawassee, Paw Paw (because of irrigation) and Black (in South-west Michigan).

Adams says: "We will have to be selective on what type of industry is permitted on these rivers."

COSTLY ALTERNATIVES
There are two expensive alternatives.

One is to step up considerably the degree of municipal and industrial waste treatment.

The other is to enlarge the flow of streams by feeding them additional water from "minimum flow" or dilution reservoirs.

A good many sewage plants provide only primary treatment. To build additional, or secondary, treatment is costly. Even then, treatment efficiency seldom exceeds 90 per cent.

It is increased to be economical.

caly prohibitive is partly that last 10 per cent. With enough volume, even 90 per cent purified effluent can drain the life-giving oxygen out of a stream.

Some studies have shown it to be a tossup whether secondary treatment or dilution reservoirs are more expensive. In some instances, both better treatment and more water in the river are required and even then the growth potentiality afforded by the size of the stream is limited.

A third alternative is to drop all efforts of pollution control in Southern Michigan... this, in the face of Michigan's reputation as the nation's leader, so far, in cleaning up polluted waters.

Overloaded sewer systems already have crimped residential growth of some cities. Livonia, for example, is allowed no further sewer hook-ups after its present small quota is used up. The ban will continue until this hitherto fast-growing city ties in with a super sewer system being planned for Wayne County.

The Wayne system will cost $40 million. Communities in South Michigan County must come up with $50 million for a system that will get them out of immediate trouble. Until millions more will be required to ward off future sewage problems.

Both Flint and Grand Rapids are involved in multimillion dollar expansions of their sewer systems. Their fringes will have to spend as much or more.

South Oakland County cities are plagued by raw sewage standing in ditches and backing up in basements. It will take an estimated $50 million or more to correct the situation.

Recent or current sewage projects are costing million in Jackson, Kalamazoo, Battle Creek and Traverse City. During the 1950s, 38 Michigan cities built new sewage treatment plants, four replaced old plants and 13 built additions.

Sometimes a community has a good treatment plant but is faced with giant expenditures in laying new sewer lines or replacing worn-out and too-small sewer networks.

YEAR BY YEAR
Typical of these is Niles. Because voters have rejected bonding to do the whole job at once, the city administration is pecking away at the problem year by year.

The dilemma is whether to give priority to extending service to new areas or renewing facilities outmoded by time and population growth.

But, as Adams warns, completion of pending projects will not provide the "Water Wonderland" with the healthy, clear lakes and rivers Michigan people demand.

When the Flint urban area is completely sewered, for example, the Flint River will still not be a good stream. The city is contemplating a new water source and would use its present reservoir to flush the river. But with this done and still limited by the river's absorption ability, Adams says, Flint some day may have to pipe its sewage effluent 50-odd miles to Saginaw Bay.

Great Lakes dumping is in the realm of possibility for more of inland Michigan.

Lutheran Merger Has Been Ratified

NEW YORK (AP)—The United Lutheran Church in America announced today ratification of a merger with three other Lutheran bodies to form a 32-million-member Lutheran Church in America.

Ratification became effective when the Texas-Louisiana Synod voted approval to the move today in Houston, Tex. It became the 22nd synod to approve. Approval by two-thirds of the synods composing the United Lutheran Church was needed to complete ratification.

'Be Our Guests,' Midland Tells Canada Tourists

MIDLAND (AP)—"Pull over to the curb," growled the Midland cop. The car with Canadian plates complied.

"Welcome to Michigan," smiled the officer. "Be our guests."

Tuesday was Hospitality Day of Michigan Week, and Midland went overboard welcoming visitors to its city.

Five Canadian visitors who drove to Midland to see the Dow Chemical Co.'s agriculture research center left after a healthy, free meal and with gifts.

The visitors were taken to dinner and dined with the mayor and other notables. They were showered with gifts made by Dow—plastic icebuckets, plastic gloves, shaving lotions, kids' toys, suede shoe saver, etc.

Divorcees Charged in Support Picketing

JACKSON (AP)—Jackson County's picketing divorcees appeared in Circuit Court Tuesday on charges of violating an injunction restricting picketing of the county friend of the court's office.

Mrs. Bettie Brown and 13 other members of the group pleaded innocent to the charges before Judges John Simpson and John Dalton.

The divorcees were held in the county jail until $300 bond was met for each. The women were to appear for examination today.

Mrs. Brown and the group have been picketing the office of Herbert Heumann in protest over what they say are delays in collecting child support and alimony payments.

The court last week issued an injunction restricting the number of pickets in front of Heumann's office to four. Sheriff's deputies said the women ignored the order.

Missing Candidate
Cinch to Be Elected

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—George W. Hawkins is a cinch to be elected as constable in Campbell County's 7th Magisterial District—if he can be found.

Hawkins, of Permission Grove, has been missing since April 3. In Tuesday's Democratic primary election, he got 46 votes to 45 for George W. Sexton.

Michigan Rhubarb Ranks as Big Business

Mrs. Josephine L. ... information ... true to the tradition of doing things in a big way, produces about one fourth of the nation's rhubarb. Macomb county grows almost 800 acres of the 3400 total grown in the United States. About 55 per cent of the hothouse rhubarb is grown in Macomb county.

It is estimated that over five million pounds of hothouse rhubarb produced there represents a $1,000,000 business each year and provides employment for thousands of farm families in the area.

In most markets rhubarb is sold by the pound. One pound of fresh rhubarb can be expected to yield five one-half cup servings of sauce. Careful shoppers will choose rhubarb that is crisp, fresh appearing, either red or pink in color. The stalks should be fairly thick.

Rhubarb has been known as the pie plant for a long time. But certainly there are many other uses. Besides rhubarb pie or sauce there are rhubarb ice, molded salad, cobbler, pudding, Betty, sherbet, and baked rhubarb just to mention a few.

Rhubarb is 94.9 per cent water; so it takes very little water to cook it. It is very easily and quickly cooked. To cook rhubarb cut the stalks into 1/2 inch pieces and place in a pan with just enough boiling water to cover the bottom of the pan. Cover the pan and let the rhubarb cook until tender. Then add the desired amount of sugar.

In many recipes that call for apples, rhubarb can be substituted. To be sure that the rhubarb is of the consistency of apple sauce, it is necessary to drain the rhubarb of excess liquid. To make rhubarb sauce, lemon, and orange are good flavorings to use with rhubarb.

Rhubarb sauce can be prepared by baking. Combine rhubarb, sugar, and a dash of salt; place the mixture in a covered baking dish and bake in a hot oven 40 degrees F., until tender. Baked rhubarb tends to hold its shape better than that cooked on top of the stove.

Rhubarb Sherbet
1 cup stewed rhubarb
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup granulated sugar
1 cup chilled milk
1 teaspoon granulated gelatin

Bake Breakfast Eggs in Cheese, Mustard

Baked eggs are good to serve at breakfast. If you prepare them first, they will be done by the time the fruit is eaten and the toast is ready.

Mustard Baked Eggs
1/2 pound sharp cheddar cheese
4 eggs
1/2 teaspoon light cream
1/2 teaspoon powdered dry mustard
1/2 dash ground cayenne pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 tablespoon butter or margarine

Shred cheese on a coarse shredder and sprinkle over the bottom of a buttered glass 9-inch pie plate. Break 4 eggs over cheese, being careful not to break the yolks. Combine cream, mustard, cayenne pepper and salt and pour over the eggs. Dot with butter or margarine. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 15 to 20 minutes or until eggs are set and cheese is melted. Makes 4 servings.

1/2 cup heavy cream, whipped stiff
To the unwhipped, cold, stirred rhubarb, add lemon juice, salt, sugar, and corn syrup. Blend carefully, but thoroughly with the milk. Then add gelatin soaked in cold water for five minutes. Dissolve by holding gelatin and water in top half of double boiler, over hot water in lower half. Mix well and chill. Lastly, fold in the stiffly whipped cream, and freeze until mushy.

Rhubarb Pie
4 cups rhubarb, cut in 1/4 inch pieces
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup boiling water
1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Make pastry for double crust pie. Place rhubarb in mixing bowl and blend through it, the sugar, nutmeg, and salt which have been mixed together. Put in pastry lined pie plate. Dot with butter. Put on top crust and seal. Bake at 425 degrees for 40 to 50 minutes. Serve slightly warm. One 9-inch pie.

Rhubarb Tapioca Pudding
1/2 cup rhubarb, cut in 1/4 inch pieces
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup boiling water
1/2 cup butter
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup dried rhubarb
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg

Combine in upper part of a double boiler the tapioca, water, sugar, and salt, and cook over hot water until the tapioca is clear. Add the rhubarb and continue cooking until tender. Serve hot or cold with light cream. Serves 4 to 6.

A pretty pink pie is as sure a harbinger of Spring on your table

Rhubarb Cream Chiffon Pie
1/2 cup lemon flavored gelatin
1/2 cup boiling water
1/2 cup sugar (depending on sweetness of rhubarb)
1/2 cup lemon juice and grated peel
1/2 cup whipping cream
1/2 cup cooked sweetened rhubarb
1/2 cup baked pie shell

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water. Add sugar, lemon juice and peel. Chill until consistency of unbeaten egg white. Whip cream, fold in rhubarb and fold into gelatin mixture. Spoon into baked pie shell and chill until firm.

Flour, Eggs, Crumbs Coat Veal Chops

Veal chops get a crisp exterior.

Good Veal Chops
4 veal chops
1 large egg
1/2 cup flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter (soft)
1/2 cup cornflake crumbs
2 tablespoons butter (soft)

Skewer ends of chops, pinwheel fashion, with wooden food picks. Beat egg with milk, salt and pepper to taste. Dip chops, one at a time, in flour crumbs. Cook chops in hot butter in heavy skillet until browned on both sides.

Cover skillet and cook slowly about 15 minutes. Remove cover and re-crisp chops, cooking about 10 minutes longer. Remove food picks before serving.

Instant Coffee Makes Sauce for Ice Cream

Ice cream makers cater to our fondness for change by offering dozens of different flavors of ice cream, and usually they choose this time of year to trot out some new ones for our approval.

But if you're like most home-makers who try assorted flavors only once in a while and stick to vanilla as the mainstay, it's wise to have a few sauces on hand whenever your intuition tells you it's time for a change.

For instance, the instant coffee on your kitchen shelf can be a start towards converting vanilla ice cream into lip-smacking Mocha Sundae.

Mix 2 tablespoons instant coffee, 1/2 cup water, 1/4 cup brown sugar, 1/4 cup granulated sugar, 1/4 cup corn syrup, and 1/4 cup butter. Cook until a drop of syrup forms a soft ball in cold water. (235 degrees on a candy thermometer).

Cool slightly and stir in 1/2 cup evaporated milk and 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. This recipe makes almost 2 cups of Mocha Sundae Sauce.

Delicate Dessert Salutes Spring

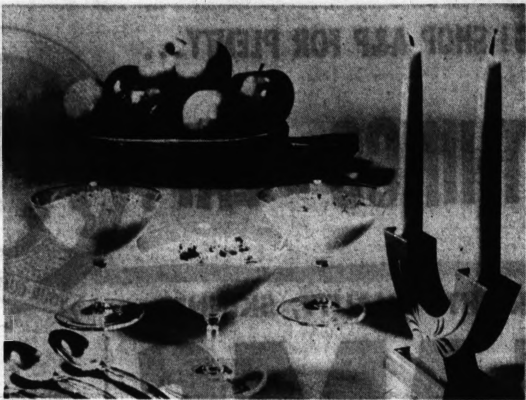

Of course Michigan is well known for its apples. At this time of year most of the state is fairland of blossoms. Next fall the air will be fragrant with the apples themselves.

The apple tree, which migrated to America from Europe, right along with our own ancestors, has enjoyed a phenomenal success in the fruit business in this country. The 1960 crop, for example, piled up an impressive 167.4 million bushels. About 65 per cent of these apples have been coming to market in fresh form, since this is one of our most convenient and flavorful fruits for eating out of hand, as well as excellent for desserts and salads.

Apples do not come true from seeds, so whenever young Pete, Pedro or Pietro tosses aside an apple core there's a chance a brand-new variety of apple will grow from that spot. In America, immigrants coming from Europe, pioneers on their way West, had to take apple seeds with them to start new orchards. That's the reason we still find a few old trees in out-of-the-way places bearing apples which nobody can name.

Fresh Apple Fromage
2 pounds tart cooking apples
1 cup water
1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons macaroni crumbs
Wash, peel and slice apples. Place in a saucepan with water. Cover and cook until apples fall apart. Put through a sieve. Add lemon juice and rind and sugar. Fold in whipped cream.

Serve in sherbet glasses with 1 tablespoon macaroni crumbs sprinkled over each. (To make macaroni crumbs heat macaroni in moderate oven (350 F.) 15 minutes. Cool. Roll between sheets of waxed paper to make crumbs. Yield 8 servings.

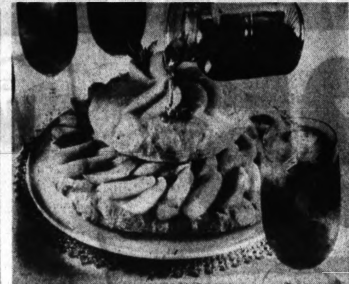

FRESH APPLE FROMAGE—Apple sauce with a French accent you might call this Fresh Apple Fromage. It's a light and lovely dessert, very easy to make and a dainty the whole family will enjoy.

Minted Pea Stuffing Good With Lamb Chops

Freshly minted and coined for spring suppers—lamb chops with minted pea stuffing. First, prepare the stuffing—1 1/2 quarts soft (1/2-inch) bread cubes, 1/2 teaspoon each of salt and savory, 2 teaspoons dried mint leaves, and 1/4 cup melted butter, combined and mixed with 1 (10-ounce) package frozen peas.

Place in a baking dish and, on top, arrange 6 lamb chops or patties. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) for 30 minutes.

Stir 1/4 teaspoon ground cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger into canned baked beans before heating them.

MAPLE PEACH SHORTCAKE — A handsome peach shortcake will make a hit with family and friends. Fruit shortcakes are doubly delicious when they are served with maple-flavored corn syrup. Fresh mint sprigs are a colorful garnish. Feed tea is the beverage.

Trio of State's Products Used

About three million bushels of peaches raised in the state last year placed Michigan third in the country. Full of tree-ripened flavor, Michigan peaches usually have a delicious cloudy juice when canned and they are almost never rubbery. Pickled peaches are mighty tasty, too.

Michigan peach time is some months away. First there will be peaches from the southern states. You will be getting out your old tried and true recipes. Clip this recipe to use then and later, when our own home grown peaches come to market.

flavor from maple syrup poured over it just before serving.

And since Michigan is the nation's third largest producer of prepared fruit mixes, you'll be using 3 Michigan products in one recipe.

Maple Peach Shortcake
4 cups biscuit mix
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup maple syrup
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
6 eggs sifted peaches
Combine biscuit mix, sugar and milk; mix well. Knead gently 8-10 times on lightly floured surface. Roll 1/2 of dough on lightly floured surface into 6-inch circle. Roll remaining 1/2 dough into 6-inch circle. Place on baking sheets. Brush dough with butter or margarine. Bake in very hot oven (450 degrees) 15 minutes, or until lightly browned. Arrange alternate layers of shortcake and peaches on serving plate. Serve with syrup.

Onion Top Buns Great for Picnic Hamburgers

The time — spring or summer. The place — your backyard or perhaps a nearby picnic grounds. The occasion — a picnic, of course. And what a picnic you can have with this good eating idea! Plan that old familiar picnic food, hamburgers. Charcoal broil the hamburgers — then tuck them into delicious, home-made Onion Mustard Sandwich Buns.

These buns are the perfect choice for picnic time suppers. This flavor appeal goes almost without saying — a terrific onion and mustard combination.

There's a second good reason for you to prepare Onion Mustard Sandwich Buns, too — their nutritional content. Because these sandwich buns are made with enriched flour, they offer liberal amounts of the B-vitamins — niacin, thiamine and riboflavin — and the mineral iron.

Flour enrichment is of prime concern this month because May, 1961, marks the twentieth year of enrichment. In the twenty years since 1941, the enrichment program has grown to remarkable magnitude. It is estimated that today 80 to 90 per cent of all bread and flour is enriched. As enrichment has marched ahead, the so-called vitamin-deficiency diseases caused by lack of these nutrients in the diet have decreased markedly.

Watch now for that "enriched" label on the flour and bread products you buy. They make good foods like Onion Mustard Sandwich Buns even better with enriched flour. And if time is short, visit your grocer for fresh sandwich buns — his baked products are also prepared with enriched flour.

Onion Mustard Sandwich Buns
1 package yeast, compressed or dry
1 cup water (lukewarm for compressed yeast, warm for dry)
1/2 cup milk
2 tablespoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
1/2 cup instant minced onion
1/2 cup instant minced onion
1/2 cup sifted enriched flour (about 1 cup)
2 tablespoons instant minced onion
1 egg
Soften yeast in water. Scald milk. Add sugar, mustard, salt, black pepper, 2 tablespoons instant minced onion, and shortening to milk. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour and beat well. Add softened yeast and eggs. Beat well. Add enough more flour to make a very stiff batter. Beat thoroughly until smooth. Cover and let rise until bubbly (about 1 hour). Stir down.

Turn out half of batter on lightly-floured board. Roll or pat into 3-inch square. Using sharp knife cut into nine 3-inch squares.

Shape each square into round roll by tucking corners under. Place on greased baking sheet and press down firmly with palm of hand to flatten buns. Repeat with remaining batter. Let rise until doubled (about 30 minutes).

Meanwhile, preheat 2 tablespoons instant minced onion according to package directions, or by mixing with 1/4 cup water and allowing it to stand five minutes. When buns have risen, sprinkle with freshened instant minced onion and poppy seeds, pressing lightly into surface. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 18 round sandwich buns.

Buttermilk Gives Chicken New Taste

If you've shopped the food aisles, you've noticed how often fryer chickens appear at almost unbelievably low prices. This is a reflection of the big supply and also the fact that chicken farmers have learned how to put meat on a chicken at remarkably low cost.

A plump fryer chicken represents the result of so much thought and care on the part of scientists and chicken farmers that it warrants more than extraordinary attention on your part when you get it home. So why not give it an extra twist of ingenuity when the time comes to prepare it for the table.

Buttermilk Fried Chicken
Everything as usual for ordinary fried chicken, except this: dip each piece of chicken into fresh buttermilk just before frying. There will be a trace of buttermilk flavor that will tell the family know this is no ordinary fried chicken.

Always rinse an egg beater that has been used in an egg mixture in cold water before washing it in hot water.

Canned Red Cherries Wonderful for Tarts

Michigan is the nation's largest producer of tart cherries. With a record in the past decade our state has not failed to produce more than 50 per cent of the total national crop. Last year's production of this beautiful red fruit was 80,000 tons which brought growers in excess of $12,000,000.

The national leader in red tart cherries, Michigan stands second with Oregon in the production of sweet cherry varieties. This volume amounted to 14,000 tons last year.

Michigan packers are still working on the idea that the tart red cherry has other uses than pie filling. Dieters should welcome this fruit canned in water, for the calorie count is low.

But cherry pie will always rate high on the list of favorite American desserts. Cherry pie a la mode is merely gilding the lily.

Ever wonder how pie a la mode got its name?

Well, it all goes back to the naughty nineties, when an eminent professor of Cambridge, N.Y., visited the famous Delmonico's in New York City. He called loudly for a dessert which was then a specialty of the Hotel Cambridge in his native town—and known casually as "pie a la mode."

Delmonico's chef had to retire in confusion because he had never heard of the "mode"—the combination of ice cream with fruit pie. From that day forward, the fashionable New York restaurant, not to be outdone, featured "pie a la mode" every day—and Americans took to the combination as a national institution. And what a happy blend it is, sweet-tart fruit pies, with creamy scoops of ice cream on top.

Cherry Tarts

Pastry for double crust
1 cup sugar, or to suit taste
2 tablespoons flour OR 1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1 can (No. 21) tart red Michigan cherries
4 drops almond extract
Line 6 tart pans with pastry. Mix sugar, salt and flour together in saucepan; blend in juice drained from cherries. Cook over direct heat, stirring constantly until mix-

America Crunches Michigan Celery

Next time you carry home a bunch of crisp green or white celery from your store, you might remember that you're carrying home a highly prized trophy equivalent to a gold medal or a silver loving cup. You see, centuries ago, when the athletes of ancient Greece came together to contest with each other in running and jumping, the award that was given to the winner was a bunch of celery. That's what the historians tell us.

Celery was a highly prized vegetable in ancient Greece and in other parts of Europe, probably because it was supposed to be good medicine. Nobody seems to be quite sure of the reason why celery was so greatly honored, but we do know that doctors in Greece, in Egypt and elsewhere had the notion that medicine was better for people if it had a strong, bitter taste. And the early celery certainly provided that kind of flavor.

Our celery today has had the bitterness taken out of it, so we think of it as a very mild, rather sweet article to eat by itself, or to give its distinctive flavor to soups, poultry stuffing, or other dishes. Most people seem to think that the green variety, Pascal, is a bit sweeter than the white or yellow varieties.

Parmesan Cheese

8 ribs celery
1-inch beef stock in saucepan
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/4 cup milk
Green pepper strips for garnish

Wash celery and cut each rib into 3 pieces. Place in a saucepan with stock and salt. Cover and cook 10 to 12 minutes or until crisp-tender. Remove cover. Place over low heat to evaporate the stock. Add butter or margarine, white pepper and toss lightly. Place in a serving dish. Sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. Garnish with fresh parsley and green pepper strips. Yield: 4 servings.

Braised Celery Peppers
1 quart celery, cut into 1-inch pieces
1/2 cup boiling water in saucepan

1/2 cup dried green pepper
1/2 cup dried red pepper
1/2 cup chopped green onions (scallions)
1/2 cup grated sharp Cheddar cheese
1/2 cup milk
1/8 teaspoon ground black pepper

Place first 3 ingredients in a saucepan. Cover and cook only until crisp tender, 10 to 12 minutes. Drain. Add green and red pepper, green onions, cheese, milk and black pepper. Mix thoroughly. Heat until cheese begins to melt. Serve at once. Yield: 5 to 6 servings.

Judge McCallum Gets Ace

Pontiac Municipal Judge Cecil McCallum, abandoned his gavel for a golf club and made a loud "noise" out of court.

Using a No. 3 wood, Judge McCallum scored a hole-in-one on the 200-yard 5th hole at Silver Lake Golf Club.

Witnessing Judge McCallum's "perfect" shot were playing partners Jack Holmes and Oscar Denham. He carded 53 for nine holes.

Judge McCallum's ace was one of an epidemic of four holes-in-one reported by four different Oakland County clubs.

Carl Carr of Waterford aces the 185-yard 5th hole at Highland Hills with a No. 2 wood. Carr shot 41 and was accompanied by Bill Sebring, Ralph Florio and Charles Cohen. It was the 1st ace of his career and the 1st at Highland Hills this season.

Twin Lakes had its 2nd ace of the year when Pontiac's John Fabina knocked an 8-iron shot into the cup on the 135-yard 4th hole. It was the 1st hole-in-one for Fabina after 20 years of effort. He carded 38. Witnesses included Russell Parker and Edward Briggs.

T. C. Naquin of Bloomfield Hills aces the 115-yard 10th hole at Forest Lake Country Club and it enabled him to break 130 for 18 holes. Naquin made his ace with a 3-wood and shot 129 for the round.

Cronin Favors Spitball Return

BOSTON (AP) — Joe Cronin, president of the American League, said today he favors reinstatement of the spitball as a legal pitch in baseball.

"There's nothing dangerous or bad about the spitball," Cronin said. "I had to bat against both and I'll tell you a good knuckleball is much harder to hit than a spitball."

Cronin's comments came after Chicago Manager Al Lopez complained to the league office about alleged use of the spitball by Ryne Duren, the ex-Yankee relief pitcher recently traded to Los Angeles. The White Sox asked Cronin: "What are you going to do about the spitball?"

Although the pitch was outlawed in 1920, a number of major league pitchers still use moist deliveries with water mopped from the brow, neck, sweat-soaked uniforms or clammy hands—intentionally or otherwise.

WDGA Tourney Playoff Is Won by Mrs. LeClair

Mrs. Keith (Susie) LeClair of Barton Hills won her 2nd Women's District Golf Association tournament of the season Tuesday at Washtenaw Country Club.

The sharp-shooting Ann Arbor housewife, last year's State Amateur champion, won the extra holes to defeat Mrs. E. L. Goddard of Indianwood and Mrs. Frank Campsie of Grosse Ile in a sudden-death playoff after the three golfers ended their regulation 18-hole rounds with 85.

Mrs. LeClair and Mrs. Goddard, 1959 Michigan Amateur champ, parred the first two holes with Mrs. Campsie bowing out on the 2nd hole. Then Mrs. LeClair parred the 300-yard 3rd hole to win the tourney as Mrs. Goddard bogied.

Mrs. Bruce Overby of Indianwood added another highlight to the weekly event by scoring a 200-yard 2nd hole to win the 145-yard 12th hole with a No. 5 wood.

Influenza, Fever Put Dressen on Sidelines

MILWAUKEE (UP) — Manager Charlie Dressen of the Milwaukee Braves planned to continue resting today after being hit by influenza and a virus that sent his temperature up to 103 at one time.

The 62-year-old Dressen had to take to his bed at an east side hotel yesterday because of the illness. His wife is at his home in Los Angeles.

Sears Files Suit Against Knicks

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Professional sports contracts are up for another test in the courts today and this time the controversial option clause will get its first judicial airing.

Veteran pro basketball star Kenny Sears filed a suit against his old team, the New York Knickerbockers, charging that the National Basketball Association and its teams "agreed not to compete for the service of players, agreed to regulate and limit salaries, and agreed to blacklist players who refused to play for the teams by which they had been selected (drafted)."

Sears, 28, a 6-foot-9 sharpshooter and rebounder, jumped the Knicks earlier this year and signed with the San Francisco Saints of the new American Basketball League.

The Knicks used to keep Sears and his counter-suit in U.S. District Court here charged the Knickerbockers with monopoly and violation of anti-trust acts. He asked $50,000 treble damages from the Graham-Paige Corp. of Michigan, owners of the New York NBA team.

The Sears suit drew the legal battle lines between the established NBA and the fledgling ABL, scheduled to begin play next season.

Sears, a former Santa Clara University star, signed a $14,000 contract March 11 to play again for New York. Then, on April 20, he signed a 1961-62 contract to jump to San Francisco of the ABL at an undisclosed salary.

In his suit, Sears claimed he had not been free to negotiate with potential employers the past four years and that this had cost him $30,000. Under provisions of the Sherman and Clayton Anti-Trust Acts, Sears is seeking treble damages.

NBA contracts, like those of the Summed up, Sears charged, NBA negotiated radio and television contracts to eliminate competition between individual league members.

Sears earlier had been quoted as saying that he had been unhappy with the Knicks' management the past two seasons.

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Kerry Don't relief pitcher Lindy McDaniel offered to sign a contract with the Cardinals, 17-year-old brother of the St. Louis Cardinals, is expected to sign a contract with the Cardinals.

Tigers Don't Count in Richard's Book

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore Manager Paul Richards today shrugged off the Detroit Tigers as American League title threats and said he's concentrating his ammunition on New York, Cleveland and Chicago.

But he allowed as he was mighty surprised — something he has in common with the other managers in the league — at the threatening gestures of the two new clubs, Washington and Los Angeles.

"The Tigers do not appear to me to have the personnel to carry them all the way," Richards said. "You certainly can't take away the victories they already have in the book. And if their new players hold up, they will win a lot more games . . . but I believe they'll come back to us."

GOODYEAR TIRES ARE MADE IN MICHIGAN BY MICHIGAN PEOPLE

Beginning to Publicize Attractions Outside of Michigan

State Has Most In Outdoor Recreation

LANSDING (UPI)—Michigan offers the most in recreational facilities in the nation.

During Michigan Week this year, the state has been throughout the state at any given time from any source.

This particular comment, however, came from Gov. John B.

Swanson on one of his several stops around the state to help local communities bring about their facilities.

"In the spring, the streams summon our fishermen.

"In summer, our 3,121 miles of Great Lakes shoreline; our 11,037 land lakes and more than 36,000 miles of streams offer wonderful opportunities for boating, swimming, fishing or just plain relaxing.

AUTUMN SPLENDOR

"In the fall there are hunting and color tours of autumn splendor that defies the ability of both artist and camera to fully capture.

"In winter there is ice fishing, skating, tobogganing. Our winter resorts are expanding and this broadens the scope of our industry adds to the health of our economy."

Michigan as a year-round haven for the outdoorsman—whether he be armed with a rifle, rod and reel, camera or just wide eyes—has been well known to state residents for many years.

The idea that Michigan's attraction needed widespread promotion outside the state is a relatively recent idea.

Since a promotional campaign is only as good as its backers, it might be wise to set down some of the facts about Michigan's great outdoors.

Here are just a few:

The state is bordered by four of the Great Lakes and has the longest shoreline of any state except Alaska. This, combined with Michigan's unique shape means there is no place in the state more than 35 miles from one of the Great Lakes.

Michigan has 19 million acres of forest land, in which are situated 61 state parks and recreation areas.

GOOD HIGHWAYS

A great highway system, ranked No. 1 in the nation, makes Michigan's many recreation areas more easily accessible than ever before.

Michigan is more than ready for its visitors year-round. Some 28,000 businesses are devoted entirely to tourism, the state's third largest business which grossed more than $50,000 in 1960.

These are some of the facts of Michigan in 1961.

Looking toward the future, the state has plans for a multi-million dollar expansion and development of the parks system and reserves of conservation management are carried on constantly.

Press Contest, Open for Pike, Big Bluegills

Carp Day is Saturday at Quorton Lake; Trout Fishing Improves

Somewhere in Oakland County there is a large northern pike just waiting to be caught. Spring is the best time for big pike and bluegills. The rainbow division is open, too, for the first time in a 3½-pound trout in the lead.

Black bass become eligible when the season opens June 15.

The annual Carp Festival at Quorton Lake is Saturday. Planned as part of Michigan Week activities by the Birmingham Recreation Board, Carp Day will be from 9:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

Various prizes will be awarded to the youngsters making the biggest individual catch and the total catch of the day. Mostly carp are taken from the lake.

A Birmingham fisherman took top daily honors at Delray Beach, Fla., recently. Jim Stephenson made the best catch, a seven-foot sailfin. His father, J. Albert Stephenson of 31767 Lahar Road, came in with two barracuda and a big kishish.

The commercial catfish pond at Williams Lake Road and M59 opens Saturday after being closed for two years. The pond is stocked with 2- to 15-pound catfish.

Rainbow fishing has picked up on area lakes. Good producers have been Macedonia, Elizabeth, Orchard, Sugden and Deer lakes. Bluegills are hitting on the Silver Lakes chain.

Along the Outdoor Trail

NEW FAMILY — Mother and father Canada geese herd their young away from the camera at Kent Lake in Kensington Park. A large number of geese are raising families in the park.

There's Big Difference Between Ducks, Geese

By DON VOGEL

Outdoor Writer, Pontiac Press

"I didn't realize ducks stayed around all summer," said the middle-aged man as he stood on the shore of a pond behind the Kensington Park nature center.

"Look at those two with their young," his wife exclaimed, pointing to the far shore, "aren't they cute?"

One of the naturalists from the nature center stepped forward and said quietly, "Those are Canada geese, not ducks."

The man looked stunned for a moment, then remarked:

"I guess I've lived in the city too long. How else would I make such a mistake."

The couple turned and walked to the nature center. If they knew very little about Michigan's natural wonders when they entered, they were better educated when they left.

KENSINGTON HIGH SPOT

A trip through the center and along its four nature trails invariably is one of the high spots of any trip to Kensington Park. The park is located half in Oakland County and half in Livingston County, three miles south of Milford. It is operated by the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Authority.

The nature center does not contain many exhibits. Those in the building are simple and easy to understand.

A series of color exhibits depict the changes in Michigan's topography from the glacial age to the present. There is a display of stuffed animals found in the park.

One of the most interesting exhibits is one containing a large number of minerals and precious stones found in the state. The average person looking at the many rocks and stones suddenly realizes the work of this state.

Of all the exhibits—beetles, fish, turtles, pond life — the one that draws the most people is the beehive. It is inside a wooden showcase with windows on each side. Worker bees can be seen crawling over the combs making honey. A plastic tube leads to the outside, allowing the bees to come and go at their pleasure.

One goose can be seen incubating eggs on a nest built on a platform in the pond. Deer and fox tracks are found next to the trails. A deer mouse can be seen nibbling on tender new grass.

MANY WONDERS OF NATURE

Over 30 different trees can be observed and countless varieties of wild flowers. These trails produce good results for bird watchers, too. Like the rose-breasted Grosbeak who let people take pictures of him from about six feet.

This nature center and its trails, and others in the state cause many people to realize that there is a reason for boasting about the Water Wonderland during Michigan Week.

Dogs, Cats Harmful to Young Wildlife

By United Press International

In the spring a young man's fancy . . . and a young animal, too.

This is the most active season of the year for wildlife. For the next two months game birds and animals will be mating, nesting and producing young.

All of these activities require a great deal more foraging and thus a great deal more exposure to the dangers civilization holds for wild creatures.

In Michigan the next six weeks are critical for this fall's pheasant crop. Rabbits are producing their second litter during this period.

Many states, particularly in the east, have educational programs aimed at "giving wildlife a brake" during this period of the year.

There are other things which should be given extra consideration during this period, also.

WILD DOGS

Dog owners are prone to say, "Not my Rover," when they hear of dogs running in packs, destroying wildlife, and domestic livestock and poultry as well.

The plain fact is that any dog will become a hunter if given the chance. Many areas in Southern Michigan have been hard hit in recent years by prowling dog packs, innocent owners turned into wild packs of killers.

If you have a dog keep it on the premises night and day. You will save wildlife and you may save yourself embarrassing acquaintance with the law.

Cat owners who are settling back with a smug look about at this point should be advised that they are dealing with an even more destructive marauder than a dog.

NOCTURNAL PROWLER

The natural instinct of a cat is to pounce, particularly at night. Experts agree that centuries of breeding have only half civilized cats. It is their very resemblance to their forebears which make them attractive to some people.

Cats are killers, particularly of birds, and their climbing ability makes them twice as dangerous in this respect as dogs.

Most pet owners say loudly that they "love animals." If they mean it, the best way to prove it is to give all animals a chance, including the wild ones and keep their pets under control.

Urge Park Users to Buy Permits Before Holiday

LANSDING (UPI)—The State Conservation Department today warned Memorial Day travelers there may be lines for state park permits if the holiday travelers don't buy permits now.

Sales of the parks permits for the first four and a half months of their use totaled about 19,300, the department said. This was only about 500 below the estimate for this time of year, but the department said some 250,000 vacationers are expected to start converging on the parks during the holiday at the end of this month.

The vehicle permits are required to enter any part of 40 extensively developed state parks and major portions of 15 other parks and recreation areas.

Preparing Sale of Park Bonds

LANSDING (AP)—State Conservation officials and their attorneys are set to work out a schedule for sale of $5 million worth of bonds to finance expansion and improvement of the state parks system.

The legislature has approved, with several modifications, a plan for the first land purchases and parks improvements.

It cut back development plans for Sterling State park in Monroe County and dropped proposed improvements at the area in Forcett Mountains state park and Grayling winter sports park.

It also canceled proposed acquisition of 40 acres at Fort Cresent park and added for purchase a 180-acre parcel at Harbor Springs which turns some 1,000 feet of shoreline along Little Traverse Bay.

The changes and bond sale schedule need approval of the State Conservation Commission at its June 9 meeting at Higgins Lake.

The first bonding programs call for $1 million for new parks land. The rest will go for parks improvements.

The bond issue will be retired from a parks fee system which went into operation Jan. 1. Annual parks permits for auto sales at $2 and daily admission permits at 30 cents.

Grid All-American Looks to Baseball

GRENADA, Miss. (AP)—Jake Gibbs, already a legendary athlete in the Frank Merriwell tradition in Mississippi, today will sign a professional baseball contract at a bonus estimated at near $100,000.

The football All-American won't say which team he plans to sign with.

It was speculated that the 22-year-old Gibbs would join the New York Yankees of the American League or the Milwaukee Braves of the National League.

Gibbs, who played third base for the Rebel baseball team and quarterbacked the football team, had been expected to sign a baseball pact earlier. However, Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick ruled in March that teams must wait until final examinations, or, if it came later, the collegiate season's end, before signing college players.

Big Tennis Upset in French Tourney

PARIS (AP)—Suzi Kormoczy of Hungary scored a stunning upset over Maria Ester Bueno Tuesday in the women's singles quarter-finals of the French Tennis Championships by defeating the second-seeded Brazilian star 6-3, 6-3.

Nicola Pietrangeli, Italy's Davis Cup star, needed four sets to dispose of Gerard Pilet of France 6-4, 6-8, 6-3, 6-1 in a men's quarter-final match.

The last U.S. players were eliminated from the singles Monday. Miss Buding defeated Dore Hare of Montebello, Calif., and Rod Laver of Australia eliminated Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn.

Skeet Shooters Earn Positions on U.S. Team

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP)—Crack skeet shooters won places on the U.S. 1961 International Shooting Team last week.

Minor Clift, 17-year-old gunner from Chidlersburg, Ala., shattered 391 out of 400 clay targets over the Infantry Center's International Skeet Course to clinch first place.

Clift smashed strings of 100-98-96-91 in the four-day shoot, two birds ahead of second place Kenneth Soderbeck of Baldwin, Mich., U.S. Navy seaman who scored 389-400.

Army 2nd Lt. Gordon Homer of San Francisco, Calif., and civilian Gene S. Staley of Columbus, Ga., won third and fourth team slots with twin scores of 389-400.

The U.S. Navy won another team slot when COP Kenneth Pendergast of Jacksonville, Fla., grabbed fifth place with a four-day total of 387-400.

The skeet squad will compete in the world's championships in Oslo, Norway, June 7-17.

ANOTHER TRAGEDY — A tree goes up in flame and smoke in Northern Michigan. This fire is one of several that have caused more damage so far this year than all of 1960. Northern woods are tinder dry.

Hazardous Fire Conditions

Forest and grass fires added in this part of the state. In the heat of the Conservation Department, Upper Peninsula, fires hit 86 acres, raising the region's figure to 1,106 acres.

The fire rangers showed the 1961 acreage toll on private and public lands to 5,554, double the year-end figure for 1960.

Fires continued to lash out hardest at lands in the northern Lower Peninsula, damaging 758 acres. Some 3,801 acres have burned in this region to date.

Next highest on the fire damage list were lands in the southern Lower Peninsula where 333 acres burned. Losses cover 1,047 acres.

Deeryard Cuttings Expected to Help

LANSDING (AP)—The State Conservation Department estimates that deeryard timber cuttings last winter will support some 100,000 extra white tail deer in the Michigan herd.

Both deer and small game gained immediate and long-range help from the cuttings on 58,000 state-owned acres, the department said. The program, coordinated by the Conservation Department and game men and carried out by commercial loggers on a permanent basis, yielded nearly $22 million worth of on-the-spot and future winter deer browse, experts said.

$700 Million Okayed for Ocean Research

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Commerce Committee has approved a $700 million research program designed to match Russia's growing knowledge of the ocean depths.
The legislation would authorize construction of 61 research ships, training for marine scientists and construction of marine laboratories, over the next 10 years.
Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., sponsor of the bill, warned that the Soviet Union has vastly expanded its knowledge in the field of oceanography.
He said Congress expects to vote $1.7 billion for space programs next fiscal year while the marine sciences "go neglected."

HE BUYS STOCKS

The corporate treasurer has cash on hand and sees a greater return from common stocks than from buying government securities or other forms of savings. So he buys some stocks.
Often these are in firms in the same field as his own company. Many times long held stocks are in corporations that supply or buy from the holding firm. Sometimes the shares are just good buys in entirely unrelated fields.

For example, one of Du Pont's chemical rivals owns shares in a synthetic textile firm, a steel company and two glass makers.

As a different kind of example, a mining and shipping firm holds sizable blocks of stock in steel, coal, mining and petroleum companies.

France Will Call Cary 'Archie' From Now On

NEW YORK — Cary Nuyen's around looking her slimmet and prettiest — and has had dates with Cary Grant — but the other night she turned down Cary to dine with a girl friend — then went to the Copacabana to cheer Connie Francis' swingin' singin'.

Dieting now, and seeming to be relaxed and happy, Miss Nuyen was ecstatic hearing that Grant was once Archibald Leach, Conny Island still-walker.

"I'm going to call him Archie from now on!" France announced. "It's so funny — it doesn't suit him at all."

Curiously, her new picture's titled "The Last Time I Saw Archie," which'll help her remember Cary's real name. I asked, would she get married some time? "Eventually!" she said.

It's a crazy world! Yul Brynner's aide, Stephen Brooks, writes from London that Yul will be 41 NOT 45, as some newspaper files say — on July 11. His ex-wife, Virginia Gilmore, says: "That's right. The files are wrong, because when he was younger, he liked to appear older. Now he's just trying to even it all up."

THE MIDNIGHT EAR... Eddie Fisher's got a new movie career since his Las Vegas Desert Inn reopening. Actor Fred Clark arrived at the plush "On the Double" premier by cab, posed for pictures — and was called back by a cop when he forgot to pay the ticket.

★ ★ ★ TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A true baseball fan is one who asks, "What's the name of that girl Joe DiMaggio went around with?"

★ ★ ★ CARLY'S PEARS: When a fellow says, he has two little ones at home, you don't know whether he means kids or cars. That's earl, brother.

Get a Horse? Naw, Make It a Scooter

NEW YORK (UPI)—Getting a horse doesn't work. Despite nostalgic speculation, a horse and buggy is no longer the fastest way to get across Manhattan Island at Midway.

The quickest way is by motor scooter.

This was proved Tuesday in the first running of the 1st Street Derby—a crostown 1 1/4-mile race between a Vespa motor scooter, a taxicab, a Rolls Royce limousine, a horse and buggy and a pedestrian.

The pedestrian was Kyle Rote, offensive team captain of the New York football Giants and sports director of radio station WNEW, but even so he finished last.

Dodging and sidestepping his way along the sidewalk, Rote took 28 minutes and 42 seconds to make it from the East River to the Hudson.

The horse, given free rein by its top-hatted coachman, obviously longed for the cool, great expanses of Central Park. It finished fourth, only about four minutes ahead of Rote.

The Rolls Royce, moving with stately, unruffled elegance, looked good but came in third—19 minutes and 45 seconds.

The motor scooter and the taxi—maneuverability versus experience—fought it out for the lead and finished only 10 seconds apart.

The scooter's time was 16 minutes and 30 seconds, and might have been even better if the driver hadn't had trouble getting it into gear at Broadway.

Its passenger, long-legged showgirl Betty Kent who hung on sidesaddle through the race, hopped off and gave it a push.

The taxi was less than a block behind and gaining as the scooter crossed the finish line.

2,000 Marchers Will Form City Memorial Day Parade

Close to 2,000 participants will march in Pontiac's Memorial Day Parade May 30, the parade marshal, Gunery Sgt. R. L. Woodruff of the Marine Corps recruiting station, announced today.

And, if the pleasant weather holds out, another several thousand persons are anticipated to line the parade route up Saginaw Street. Led by the Marine Corps color guard, similarly attired marchers will pass any given point along the way for a solid half hour, to the tune of city high school bands.

In the front will be the venerable Spanish American War veterans of 85-year-old Edward Tanner, as honorary parade marshal, he will ride in an open car along with members of the City Commission.

Next in the line of march will be the Boy Scouts proudly carrying the national colors and trailed by the Pontiac Central High School Band, 15 uniformed National Guardsmen and the city's Gold Star Mothers.

They will be followed by a unit of Spanish American War veterans and their wives, members of the American Red Cross, high-stepping majorettes and the Pontiac North High School Band.

Then, resplendent in plumed hats and Union blue, the Eighth Michigan Cavalry will march past, keeping the spirit of the Civil War alive before the eyes of the city's veterans' organizations and auxiliaries will follow in the spirit of other great battles of the past.

Following this, marchers will resemble at Perry Mount Cemetery to place wreaths on veterans' plots in a memorial

18 Servicemen Killed in Fiery C124 Crackup

Four Critically Injured
as Military Plane Falls
Just After Take-Off

MCHORD AIR FORCE BASE, Wash. (AP)—A big military transport returning servicemen from maneuvers met disaster five miles from take-off today in a flaming crash that killed 18 men and left 4 injured critically.

The C124 Globemaster fell in a wooded area minutes after it lifted from a Mchord runway in pre-dawn darkness, headed for Ft. Sill, Okla., with 15 Army men and its Air Force crew of 7.

Somehow five men got out of the shattered, burning plane and were rushed to Madigan General Hospital at nearby Ft. Lewis.

One died a few hours later.

One Army man and three Air Force crewmen remained at Madigan in critical condition.

"One of the first men at the scene heard a man calling for help," said Capt. Joseph Wiggins, Mchord public information officer.

"The survivor, in shock, was found sitting on a log near the wreckage."

FLASH IN THE SKY
The Globemaster, from Donaldson AFB, S.C., took off in foggy weather about 2:30 a.m.

"There was a flash in the sky," said a sheriff's officer. "We could not tell whether it came from an explosion in the air or after the plane hit the ground."

The $15 million plane apparently came down sharply. Although it landed in a heavily wooded area it cut no swath and knocked down only a few trees.

"When we arrived it was a big fiery mess," said Deputy Sheriff Bob Benson. "It was all white, everything burning; parts of the engine scattered around among the trees. Air police and my partner, Deputy Grant Dodge, brought one survivor out to the car."

"Both his hands and face were burned. All his hair was singed off and he had a deep gash in front of his right ear. We saw several bodies, badly charred."

Nearly everything burned. Even metal melted. Hours after the crash the wreckage still smoldered.

The injured were evacuated by helicopter.

The C124 was returning men who had participated in recent Army Air Force maneuvers, called Exercise Lave Plains, at Yakima, Wash., 150 miles east of Mchord.

The plane came down on the edge of the Ft. Lewis military reservation, adjacent to Mchord. The bases are 10 miles southwest of Tacoma, Wash., and about 40 miles south of Seattle.

To Save Money on Sewage Cost

Plant Expansion May Be
Up to $300,000 Less Than Anticipated

It'll cost $200,000 to $300,000 less than anticipated to carry out the court-ordered sewage treatment plant expansion, City Manager Walter K. Willman predicted last night after city commissioners accepted construction bids totaling $2,507,260.

Supplementary costs—for engineering, administration, construction supervision, site and right-of-way—will push the cost to around $315 million, Willman told commissioners.

This means that the proposed general obligation bond issue of $3.5 million will probably be reduced considerably before it is offered for sale, Willman said.

The bonds are about to go on the market, without any public vote, to finance expansion under the order obtained by the Water Resources Commission to end Pontiac pollution of the Clinton River.

The city's consulting engineers—Jones, Henry and Williams of Toledo—had estimated expansion would cost $3.53 million.

Noting last night that strong competition nowadays among the construction trades had stimulated "very favorable" low bids, the commission (Continued on Page 2, Col. 7).

New Korean Chief Feels Chill

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—Lt. Gen. Chang Do-yung announced today he will visit Washington to see his military regime to President Kennedy, but his plan got a cool reception from U.S. officials in Korea.

The premier of the military junta in applied for a U.S. visa, then summoned the U.S. charge d'affaires, Marshall Green, who opposed the military coup that toppled the civilian government last week.

Green gave Chang no encouragement in his hopes of seeing Kennedy without long advance arrangements. It was the first face-to-face meeting between Chang and Green since the general came to power.

Green was said to have urged the military leader to adopt the kind of policies that will make possible good relations with the United States—such as an early return of civil government and democratic freedoms.

It was learned that the U.S. diplomat specifically condemned political arrests.

ARRESTS CONTINUE
Political arrests under the new regime were continuing. A reliable report said Suh Min-bom, vice speaker of the disbanded National Assembly, has been jailed without charge in Seoul. Suh was a leader of the conservative New Democratic party who had spoken out in favor of an exchange of newspapers with Communist North Korea.

Most of the cabinet of deposed Premier Kim Chang also is under arrest, along with some top generals who resisted the coup and hundreds of the teachers, professors and students suspected of Communist sympathies. Ex-Premier Chang himself is a prisoner at his own home.

Green said Gen. Chang's proposal to visit Washington as soon as possible has been referred to Washington.

The general told newsmen that "reliable informants have told me that President Kennedy wants to see and talk with me personally." The Embassy said it had no information on this.

There were reports that the junta leader is ready to leave for Washington within hours if he receives any encouragement from the White House.

On his application for an American visa, filed by an aide, Chang gave as his purpose for wanting to enter the United States, "to visit the President."

Chang is head of the ruling military council, premier, defense minister and army chief of staff.

At the same time, it was disclosed that Kennedy participated in getting together the group which is conducting the drive for money.

This includes Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers, and Dr. Milton S. Eisenhower, president of Johns Hopkins University. In his statement, Kennedy said:

AMERICAN TRADITION
"The United States government has not been and cannot be a party to these negotiations. But when private citizens seek to help prevent suffering in other lands through voluntary contributions—which is a great American tradition—this government should not interfere with their humanitarian efforts."

Kennedy said that while the government is "putting forward neither obstacles nor assistance to this wholly private effort, I hope that all citizens will contribute what they can." He added:

"If they were our brothers in a totalitarian prison, every American would want to help. I happen to feel deeply that all who fight for freedom—particularly in our hemisphere—are our brothers."

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant White House press secretary, said he did not know whether the President had contributed personally to the campaign for funds.

He said, however, that "as a private individual it is very likely that he would make a contribution to this fund."

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — An interracial group of "freedom riders" left this riot-scarred city today in a Trailways bus and headed down highway 80 toward Jackson, Miss. — the hardcore center of segregation in the South.

They were escorted by 16 highway patrol cars, containing three guardsmen and two highway patrolmen each.

A National Guard plane and other small planes circled overhead as the caravan rode west.

The Justice Department in Washington said the Kennedy administration has been given assurances by Mississippi officials that the students will not be harmed.

Gov. Ross Barnett issued an immediate appeal urging citizens to "let the officers handle the situation."

But he said the interracial group will be arrested if it violates Mississippi segregation laws.

Other "freedom riders" waited behind with announced plans to board another bus at 11 a.m. for the same destination.

FEW BYSTANDERS
More than 250 national guardsmen and highway patrolmen lined the Montgomery bus terminal to protect the students while they boarded the bus.

Only a few bystanders watched from across the street. There was no evidence of the mob that customarily hounded the students when they arrived here Saturday.

Before boarding the bus, most of the Negro riders walked calmly to the bus station lunchcounter benches reserved for white passengers, and ordered breakfast. No attempt was made to refuse them.

The bus station manager, W. E. Evans, said no Negro had ever eaten there before.

Thirty minutes after the bus left the station headed south, the highway patrol broadcast an alert to all cars near the route to "be on a sharp lookout right and left," especially along stretches of U.S. 80 bordered by dense woods.

The first scheduled stop for the bus was just across the border at Meridian, Miss.

Vice President Heads for Report to Kennedy Right After Arrival

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson returned today from a 23,000-mile diplomatic mission to Asia with recommendations to President Kennedy for new military techniques and bold economic measures to prevent a creeping Communist takeover of the area.

Arriving at Andrews Air Force Base at 10:02 a.m. Johnson told newsmen "This was by all odds the most challenging trip of my life."

"I said before I left my mission was one of hope," he said. "I have returned to give President Kennedy a report that embodies much more hope than I thought possible when I left."

He put off further comment until a 2:30 p.m. news conference to be broadcast and televised.

GOES TO WHITE HOUSE
The final leg of the vice president's trip was a flight from Bermuda.

Quickly after his arrival at the airport, Johnson boarded a helicopter for a trip to the White House and a report to Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk.

Johnson was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Smith. Mrs. Smith is the president's sister.

The vice president carried more than a score of points to the White House conference on what needs to be done now to arrest the Communist tide in Southeast Asia.

Flooded Rivers Cover Thousands of Kansas Acres

By United Press International
Floodwaters covered 175,000 acres of Kansas farms and homelands today and an Army engineer estimated total damage at $2 million.

Spring planting suffered heavy setbacks on hundreds of farms. Livestock losses were equally heavy in flooded marshes and dry-cropland areas of Eastern Kansas.

Col. A. P. Rollins Jr., district engineer for the corps of engineers at Kansas City, Mo., conducted a preliminary survey Tuesday and set the $2-million damage estimate.

The picture was brightened by a steady rain on Kansas' Neosho and Cottonwood rivers and a widespread pattern of warmer weather that covered the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

No one family in Bermuda made more than one automobile, according to present vehicle restrictions.

Senate Blocks Goldwater Bid

Attempt to Cut Teacher Salary Funds Out of School Bill Defeated

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today turned down by voice vote an attempt by Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., to knock funds for teacher salaries out of the $2.35-billion school aid bill.

This was the first of a series of votes on what Senate leaders expect to be the final day of consideration of amendments to the bill. This is the seventh day of debate.

The Senate met three hours early to expedite the voting. However, final passage of the measure is not expected before tomorrow.

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana told newsmen he hoped to dispose of all remaining amendments to the bill by the end of the day.

He said some lengthy opposition speeches undoubtedly would delay the roll call to pass the bill until Thursday.

QUICK START
Mansfield called the Senate in three hours early to try to get a quick start at beating down four or five expected amendments.

He said some lengthy opposition speeches undoubtedly would delay the roll call to pass the bill until Thursday.

He holds a bachelor's degree in political science from Michigan State University and a master's degree in education from MSU. He was graduated from Birmingham Seaboard High School.

Should he be nominated and then elected Sept. 12, Whitmer hopes the new state constitution will grant more authority for local governments, allowing them to solve their own problems; discontinue an overlapping of responsibilities in state offices; and grant the legislature more freedom in dispersing state funds instead of the present tight system of earmarking the majority of funds.

Whitmer's only political experience came when he was a member of the Young Republicans at MSU.

U. S. Approves Adding 2 Lands to Laos Talks

By JOHN BAUMANN
GENEVA (AP) — The United States today supported a Thai proposal to add Indonesia and Malaysia to the East-West conference on Laos, anticipating that they would swell the pressure for a sound plan to pacify and demilitarize the Southeast Asian peninsula.

The American delegation in a statement said enlarging the conference as Thailand proposed Tuesday would be in line with U.S. policy favoring the widest possible consultation by countries in areas where problems occur.

U.S. delegates were reported to feel that Burma, Cambodia and Thailand — Southeast Asian countries already at the conference — had shown a strong desire for a truly neutral Laos. The Americans believed Malaysia and Indonesia would add to the pressure that this pro-neutrality bloc could exert on the Communists.

2 Holly Twp. Cottages Ransacked by Vandals

Break-ins in Holly Township were being investigated today by sheriff's department detectives.

Windows had been smashed and glass from broken bottles strewn throughout the cottages on Bank Lake, off Gringehall Road.

Vandals had written foul words in coal oil on the walls and ceiling of one of the cottages, set a match and burned the words into the material. This cottage belongs to the Francis Tennings of 1419 Fagan Road in the township.

The other cottage belongs to the Leon Browns of 1552 Falk Road, also in the township. Both owners discovered the ransacking when they checked yesterday.

First Seizable Town

Seima was the first town of any size along the route. The caravan then passed through Demopolis and on to the Mississippi border and Meridian.

It was due at Meridian about noon (Pontiac time). Plans for a stop at that point were indefinite and apparently blinged on the reception the students receive there.

The bus passed through only about three blocks of Seima, and then cut back on the open highway.

As the caravan sped through town, a patrolman leaned out a car window and shouted: "Boy, don't take my picture, I'm not smiling!"

Mississippi State Highway Patrol Commissioner T. B. Birdson arrived at Meridian, about 18 miles inside the border, to take charge of the patrol units which have moved in there.

All city and county police units in Lauderdale County (Meridian) were mobilized and coordinating their efforts through Birdson, a source reported.

Bond Issue Okayed for School Additions

A $500,000 bond issue for additions to four Pontiac elementary schools was approved yesterday by the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission in Lansing.

Pontiac school officials plan to advertise and sell the bonds as soon as possible. Although the bonds won't mature for 25 years, the school district already has most of the money to buy back the bonds, and officials expect all bonds will be paid off within the year.

The school district had to go through the bond sale procedure to get the money into its building and site fund.

The $500,000 will cover costs of classroom additions at Alcott and Emerson schools, and kitchens at Webster and Whitfield schools. All four projects have been under way for some time and are due for completion this summer.

Centennial Citizens

A master farmer whose famous dairy herd has been supplying milk to Pontiac almost since the city was founded 100 years ago, Miss Sarah Van Housen Jones has long been one of the area's leading benefactors.

Dedicated to farm improvements, Miss Jones served 15 years as member of the State Board of Agriculture, and has valued 300 acres of her Centennial Farm to Michigan State University for educational purposes.

Miss Jones' ancestors carved the farm out of virgin forest in 1822. Known as Stony Creek, the lands have remained in the family ever since.

One of the best holiday-traveler dairy herds in the country has been developed on the farm, which Miss Jones has actively managed for the past 30 years.

Crime Increase Alarms Hoover

WASHINGTON (AP) — An increase in crime in the nation's largest cities, including Detroit, during the first quarter of 1961 over the first three months of last year brought an expression of alarm today from FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover.

Hoover viewed as ominous an upsurge of crimes against the person, particularly rape.

In Detroit, rape cases increased from 62 in the first quarter of 1960 to 65 in the first quarter of 1961.

Murder and nonnegligent homicide increased from 37 to 38, and robberies fell from 877 to 874. Auto theft decreased from 1,530 to 1,422.

Aggravated assault cases increased from 1,020 to 1,063; burglaries from 3,495 to 3,760 and larceny over $50 from 960 to 1,114. Auto theft decreased from 1,530 to 1,422.

Stephen Kalmar Honored at GM

Feted by Engineer Staff for Lengthy Service in
Automotive Field

After more than 36 years of automotive engineering service, Stephen Kalmar of 3223 Chickering Lane, Bloomfield Hills, was honored by his General Motors engineering staff associates Monday night at the Kingsley Inn.

Officially, he will become a retiree June 1 under the GM retirement program. Behind him lies a technical career that started in Plume, which in 1926 was part of Hungary and now is part of Yugoslavia. He was born there, and in 1914 was graduated from high school.

From 1914 to 1918 he was in World War I military service. Following the war he attended Technical University in Budapest, and in 1919-1923 was a student at Berlin-Charlottenburg Technical University, from which he received his M.S. in mechanical engineering. He became a doctor of engineering in 1925 by decree of the Italian government.

Until 1924, Kalmar was an engineering draftsman for Berman Corp., Berlin, handling layout and design of automotive chassis and engine components. He entered the United States on May 18, 1924, with a professional visa. By 1925 he was an American citizen.

CONTRIBUTED TO COODE

For about a year he designed adding machine mechanisms for Burroughs Adding Machine Co. and then joined GM Research Laboratories in 1925. Here he specialized in automotive engine combustion studies and design of combustion chambers, and helped develop the GM Engine Test Code.

From 1928 to 1946 he was chief test engineer for AO Spark Plug Division, in charge of operations for development and performance of spark plugs.

In May of 1946, Kalmar was named assistant engineer in charge of the GM engineering staff's power development section, and in 1957 he was appointed executive assistant engineer in charge.

For many years he was a violinist with the University of Michigan Extension Symphony Orchestra.

Under Kalmar's name is a long list of technical publications both in American and European journals, and he has served on engine committees in the Society of Automotive Engineers.

Afflicted Youth Gets Probation, Lecture

A 19-year-old Royal Oak youth, afflicted with cerebral palsy, got probation and a lecture from Circuit Judge Stanton G. Dondoro Monday for the attempted armed holdup of a motel.

"You have a handicap," the judge told Claude T. Williams, of 3172 Parker St., "but that does not give you license to violate the laws."

Williams pleaded guilty May 8 to assault with intent to rob while being armed after he brandished a .45-caliber revolver and demanded the cash box from the clerk of the Holiday Motel, 2712 N. Woodward Ave., Royal Oak.

Judge Dondoro placed Williams on probation for three years and ordered him to pay $150 court costs after reminding him that his crime carries a maximum term of life in prison.

The new electronic typewriter, developed by scientists at Kyoto University, converted spoken Japanese words into printed form.

Cuban Situation Promises to Get Worse

By BOB CONSIDINE

WASHINGTON — It is generally agreed here that things are going to get a lot worse in Cuba, from the U.S. point of view, before they get better. If they get better.

Despite the journalistic scuttlebutt, we had — and continue to have — excellent intelligence in Cuba.

"If we didn't know exactly what was going on in a place 90 miles from our shores we ought to go out of business," a CIA man puts it.

A dark picture has been evaluated from the information coming out of Castro's island fortress, where the dawn comes up like the Organization of American States to take an open stand against Castro.

INVASION FLOP HURT

—The failure of the invading force expanded the number of and diluted the strength of the now more than 100 separate Cuban political and resistance refugee factions in the U.S. This will make more difficult the mounting of another expeditionary force in the foreseeable future.

—The isolated rebel training camp in Guatemala has been closed.

—The presence of a Cuban fighter and fighter-bomber force capable of flashing attacks on many Latin American nations is expected to reduce further the will of the Organization of American

States to take an open stand against Castro.

South African Police Arrest Organizers

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—South African security police in pre-dawn raids today arrested several organizers of a three-day nationwide strike proclaimed for next Monday.

Among those reported seized were members of the African National Congress which planned the strike in demand of political rights for the nation's nonwhite majority. The strike will provide the proclamation of the South African republic May 31.

The South African Press Association said hundreds of plainclothesmen assisted by uniformed police carried out the sweep. It was one of the biggest raids yet by the all-white government in an attempt to smash the strike before it starts.

Gray whales once roamed the North Atlantic. Today, their sole range is the Pacific, along North America's shores from the Bering Sea to Lower California and from Korea to Russia's Okhotsk Sea.

Abby Sure You'll Find Him

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: What is a girl who wasn't born beautiful supposed to do? I am 13 and have never had a boy friend.

I am of medium build, maybe a little underweight. Anyway, my figure is nothing sensational, and the way my mother makes me dress, even if it were no one could notice it.

My hair is light brown, gets oily fast and just hangs. I wear glasses and braces.

Believe me, it is not an inferiority complex that gives me the idea that no boy would look at me twice.

I have tried to be the kind of person who is fun to have around, but I am a big flop. Can you give me a few tips on how to get a boy to notice me?

NOTHING SPECIAL

DEAR "NOTHING": Maybe you're trying too hard? And maybe the fish you're casting for are too big for your line? Be yourself. Be your best, groomed, kindest, sweetest self. Pay particular attention to the shy little guy whom no girl notices. I'll bet you catch something pretty special.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is an expensive one. Whenever I wash, my neighbor washes, and she takes my good diapers off the line and leaves me her old ragged diapers, which are full of holes.

I have never seen her do it, but I know she does. Diapers cost $2.58 a dozen, and I am tired of buying new ones all the time.

Print this. Maybe she will take the hint. I don't want to accuse her.

DEAR DIAPER POOR:

Write your initials in indelible ink in the corner of each new diaper.

Then tell your neighbor (in a friendly way) that you think you have been getting your diapers mixed up with hers, and have marked yours so it won't happen again. And I'll bet it doesn't.

DEAR ABBY: My wife is a big-hearted woman who feels sorry for a friend of hers who happens to be a widow.

When I drive this woman home my wife always says, "Honey, be sure to kiss Vera goodnight." Vera is not hard to kiss, but I don't think it's right for me to ask me to kiss a woman just because she has no one else to kiss her.

We have been friends for years, and I know Vera doesn't take me seriously, but don't you think eventually this could lead to trouble?

IN DOUBT

DEAR IN: Only if you do!

Yes, Abby will answer your letter personally if you write to ABBY, Box 3385, Beverly Hills, Calif., and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Getting married? For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Love-ly Wedding," send 50 cents to ABBY, Box 3385, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Work-Camp Bill Suffers Veto

Swainson Nixes Plan Allowing Counties to Join in Construction

A bill which would have permitted counties to join together to construct work camps for delinquent minors has been vetoed by Gov. Swainson.

It was the sixth veto by the governor of bills from the 1961 legislative session. The governor yesterday signed five minor bills into law.

Probate Judge Arthur E. Moore, who has spearheaded a similar work-camp program for 25 youngsters, at Camp Oakland, said he "can't understand" the governor's veto of the bill.

He said he didn't feel it would effect the local program at all.

"Those familiar with the problems know that work with education is imperative in solving these problems," the judge said.

In objecting to the work-camp bill, Swainson said previous legislation in the field called for the hiring of professional people to study the delinquent minors and aid in solving their problems.

Work camps would not lend themselves to meeting this objective, he said.

If such a program is contemplated, he said, it should set standards for the operation and programs of the work camps. He also suggested that study be given to a program of state subsidy for such camps.

Successful Test Puts Titan Close to Combat State

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The successful 5,000-mile test flight of a Titan missile has moved the giant space-launching weapon a step closer to combat-readiness.

The 96-foot rocket, biggest in the U.S. arsenal, streaked to a South Atlantic target Tuesday night, covering the distance in 30 minutes at peak speed of more than 17,000 miles an hour.

Within a few weeks, Air Force troops are expected to launch a Titan from Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif. If the test is successful, the missile will be ready for combat.

Controversial 'Prestige' Polls Are Dropped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Information Agency (USIA) has dropped its controversial overseas "prestige" polls which caused a furor during last year's presidential campaign.

The decision was reported today in testimony released by a House appropriations subcommittee headed by Rep. John J. Rooney, D-N.Y.

USIA Director Edward R. Murrow said the new administration had "no desire to spend the taxpayers' money running what might be called a rating system of relative popularity as between the United States and the Soviet Union."

State Dems Split Vote on School Grants Bill

WASHINGTON (U-P) — Michigan's Sen. Philip A. Hart was one of the two Democrats Tuesday supporting an amendment to the school aid bill by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., which proposed to authorize court tests of the constitutionality of grants under the bill. The amendment lost 63-32.

Voting against the amendment was Michigan's other senator, Democrat Pat McNamara.

There are 4.5 million two-car families in the U.S. and the auto industry estimates the number will increase to about 70 per cent in the next 20 years, according to present rates.

Mourn Death of Joan Davis

Heart Attack Closes Spectacular Career of 'Comedy Queen' at 48

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The entertainment world is mourning Joan Davis, often called "the queen of comedy," whose zany antics and tall-girt acrobatics brought laughter to millions.

Her death of a heart attack Tuesday at 48 ended a spectacular career in virtually all theatrical media — stage, screen, radio and finally television.

The blonde comedienne was stricken Monday night at her desert home here, where she had lived quietly in semi-retirement. Physicians at an emergency hospital labored in vain to save her life.

Romance ends

The actress' last publicized romance, with realtor Harvey Stock 35, ended in 1959 when she charged her suitor knocked her down during an argument. She was divorced from Seymour Willis in 1947 after 16 years of marriage.

Miss Davis, who began her theatrical career in vaudeville at the age of 7, once was the highest paid woman on radio, ranking only behind Bob Hope and Jack Benny.

As an actress, she portrayed a frustrated, heckles, gawky female. In private life, she was an attractive woman who spoke in a quiet voice and dressed smartly.

Rosary will be recited Friday and Mass will be said Saturday at St. Paul's Church, Los Angeles.

Lack of Facilities Cited in GR Enrollment Limit

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — Lack of facilities, not funds, was cited today by Dean John E. Visser for Grand Rapids Junior College plans to limit enrollment in the next school year.

Major state-supported schools have announced plans to limit enrollment because of austere budget appropriations by the state.
